The Domesday Book, 1086, records that 'the Bishop holds Crundele; it has always belonged to the Church.' It goes on to state: 'There is a church there, worth twenty shillings.' This church, of course, was Saxon, the sole relic of which is the font.

During the latter half of the 12th century the present Norman church, dedicated to All Saints, was built. This consisted of a nave, with two lean-to aisles and chancel, and a central tower over the chancel arches. To the north of the chancel, a stair turret still exists, which gave access to the rood loft, and also to the great central tower.

The bosses in the chancel roof bear the stamp of having been carved by one of the carvers who were engaged at Canterbury, under William de Sens, c.1176. There are two styles at Canterbury, the second being derived from the first, but different from it in many respects. The second style spread to various places in Sussex, Hampshire, Surrey and elsewhere. But the first style of Canterbury has not been met with anywhere but in the Cathedral itself and at Crondall.

The stability of the ancient Norman tower became a matter of serious urgency in the year 1642. In that year a new bell frame was placed in the old tower, and the bells rebung. In 1653 the old tower was re-leaded, after which it was evident that the last straw had been added to the camel's back, and steps had to be taken to remove the old tower and build a new one. This was carried out in 1657, and the present tower built in 1659; the bell frame, which had been made in 1642, being transferred from the old tower to the new. It still bears the date of its making, and the names of the churchwardens and carpenter.

BELL FRAME 300 YEARS OLD.

Bells in the old Norman tower can be traced in the churchwardens' accounts as far back as 1543, when repairs were charged for 'the third bell,' 'the great bell,' 'the second bell' and 'the foremost bell.' In 1546 one 'Olyver of Froyle' mended 'all the iii bell clappers.'

The bell frame of 1642 was obviously made to carry six bells, but it is not known exactly when the ring was increased.

The treble bell bears the inscription: 'Henry Knight made this bell 1616. W.B.' This bell was recast in 1556, and again in 1616. A bell, not specified, was recast in 1586, probably the treble bell.

No. 2 bell has the inscription: 'William Baker and George Burt, churchwardens, 1619. H.K.' There is no specific reference to this in the accounts.

No. 3 bell is inscribed thus: 'Robert Wells, Aldbourn, Wilts, fecit, 1788.' This was a recasting.

No. 4 bell has a curious inscription: 'This bell gayned by William Baker, and his naybors, W.C., E.H., G.B., B.H., 1616; and new cast by H. Knight, 1619.' This, again, is not mentioned in the accounts.

No. 5 bell has a Latin hexameter line for its inscription: 'Me resonare jubet pietas, mors, atque voluptas, 1650. William Baker and William Reeves, Churchwardens.'

The tenor bell records that it was made by Robert Wells, of Aldbourn, Wilts, in 1788. This bell was recast in 1616, and, before that, was mentioned in the earliest accounts of 1543.

The tenor was badly out of tune and has now been recast by Messrs. Mears and Stainbank, who have returned and rebung the rest of the bells. The old frame, which proved to be in excellent condition, has been retained and strengthened, and given the additional support of three beams of Australian jarrah wood.

There is a curious entry to the ringing room. The ringers use the old stairway that formerly led to the rood loft, then pass across an external wooden bridge, to the doorway leading into the ringing chamber in the new tower.

The tenor bell has again been recast as a memorial to Capt. Cecil Maxwell-Lefroy, C.M.G., R.N., and now bears three inscriptions: 'Recast 1616,' its 1788 inscription, and a new one, viz.: 'Recast, 1937. C. R. Anson, J. W. Taylor, Churchwardens. R. P. Butterfield, Vicar.' A memorial tablet or plate will also bear the inscription: 'To the memory of Captain Cecil Maxwell-Lefroy, C.M.G., R.N. The tenor bell restored by his wife, Beatrice W. Maxwell-Lefroy, 1937.'

The greater part of the cost has been raised within the parish, but among the gifts from outside was a donation of 30 guineas from St. Cross Hospital, Winchester.

The restored bells were dedicated by the Bishop of Guildford on Sunday week in the presence of a large congregation, which included Mrs. Maxwell-Lefroy and her son, Mr. J. R. Maxwell-Lefroy, who took part in the procession to the tower.

The Bishop's address dealt with the long history of the parish of Crondall and its church. Such traditions, he said, were a rich inheritance.

ARCHITECTS AND BELL RESTORATIONS.

To the Editor.

Sir,—I know nothing of the circumstances at Thetford, other than as reported in your issue of April 16th, but, putting personal matters aside, there is, I think, a good deal to be said for the Advisory Committee's work. All bell founders or hangers are not equally competent, nor are all ringers even, and certainly not churchwardens. There is a tendency sometimes to exaggerate the antique side at the expense of the practical, but there is certainly an equal tendency to do the opposite. This is where the Advisory Committee is, or should be, able to guide both sides into the right channels. To do this they must have on the committee some competent architect and some competent ringer with a knowledge of what is good art as well as what is practical. The obvious person for this latter duty is the president or Master of the local Diocesan Guild. And it is certainly time that the Guilds got together, perhaps through the medium of the Central Council, and pressed for a representative on the Advisory Committee. In my diocese this has already been done without pressure, the Bishop inviting me, as Ringing Master, to be a member.

Some trouble is undoubtedly caused by antiquaries ignorant of the art of ringing, but, in my experience, there is far more danger from the desire to have something new and perfect at the expense of art. All pre-Reformation bells and a good many cast since should be treated primarily from the art side. To cut the cannons off a good old bell unnecessarily is a crime.

Prior to my appointment, within the last few years in one tower alone three medieval bells, uncracked, were put into the melting pot, and the other had its cannons removed when a ring of six was installed. This is merely one instance of many. As an instance of good work, take the following. A tower with one medieval bell requiring a complete ring. It was decided locally, with the advice of the founder, to cast a complete ring and keep the medieval as an art treasure. But supposing the contract had appeared before the Advisory Board with the inclusion of this ancient bell to be recast, are they to be considered 'silly old fossils' because they refuse to recommend the faculty? If so, I am a silly old fossil.

One could go on indefinitely, but I have already written enough to show that, in my view, it is not the existence of the Advisory Board which is wrong, but the fact that probably in some cases they do not go wide enough in their membership. It is, of course, absurd to botch up an old wood frame if the parish is prepared to go to the expense of a new one; but is it so equally absurd to refuse a grant to alter entirely the character of an old bell by cutting off its cannons unless there is some defect which makes this desirable? 'NEMO.'

WORM-EATEN FRAME 'TOO OLD TO BE DESTROYED.'

Dear Sir,—In reference to your recent leader, with which we quite agree, the Bishop's Advisory Committee certainly use very little commonsense in some of their decisions, as, for instance, when they decided that the old worm-eaten frame in which the six bells at Solihull Toney, Norfolk, had swung for so many years was too old to be destroyed, and had it fixed over the new frame, an excellent teak one, recently erected by Bowell and Son. Perhaps the local Church Council intend making a charge for viewing.

A RINGERS' MEETING

heritance and an inspiration, and the efforts of Crondall churchpeople in restoring their ancient peals of bells showed that they were not forgotten.

The collection, which was for the New Cathedral Fund, amounted to £7 16s. 10d.

After the service the local ringers first rang, and then ringers from various parts of the diocese took part in touches of Minor and Doubles on the restored bells. Mr. A. A. Hughes, representing the firm of Messrs. Mears and Stainbank, took part in the ringing.

There was a large gathering of ringers and friends at Crondall last Saturday, when a joint meeting of the Farnham District of the Guildford Diocesan Guild and the Southern District of the Ladies' Guild was held. Some good ringing was enjoyed in spite of the bells being hung anti-clockwise. The Rev. R. P. Butterfield (Vicar of Crondall) conducted the Guild service and interested the ringers with an address on the history of the Crondall Church and bells.

Tea was served at The Cricketers, a company of nearly 50 sitting down. The Farnham District business meeting was presided over by the Vicar, and three ringing members and one honorary member were elected.

Mr. J. W. Carter (Seale) congratulated the Vicar, ringers and all concerned upon the carrying out of the work of restoration in the tower. The bells were now a pleasure to ring, he said.

The Vicar responded and a vote of thanks was accorded to the Vicar, the organist and local ringers with acclamation.

The Ladies' Guild business meeting was presided over by Mrs. Bruce. It was decided to hold the annual district meeting at Frensham in June, and the next quarterly meeting at Aldershot on October 30th.

Ringing in the evening was directed by Mr. R. Hasted (District Ringing Master) and Miss H. Mills (hon. secretary, Ladies' Guild). Representatives were present from Ash, Aldershot, Seale, Worplesdon, Fleet, Farnham, Bramley (Hants), Bentley, Haslemere, Yorktown, Frensham, Long Sutton, Pirbright, Portsmouth and the local company.

EIGHTY—NOT OUT.

MR. GEORGE WILLIAMS, OCTOGENARIAN.

Last Friday, Mr. George Williams, Master of the Winchester and Portsmouth Diocesan Guild, reached the age of 80 years, and received the congratulations of many friends. Unfortunately a peal of Stedman Caters on the bells of North Stoneham Church in honour of the event was lost after about an hour and a quarter's ringing, much to the disappointment of all the band, not least to the conductor, one of George Williams' many pupils. In the comb-out of a rather bad mix up, after some excellent ringing on this almost toy-like ring of ten, there was a change course, and, despite the occasion—well, that was that.

Of course, it was not the first peal George Williams had lost, nor even the first on a great occasion, and he took it with the philosophical calm that has been a characteristic of his long ringing life. Has anyone ever seen George Williams excited, or ruffled in temper? I never have and I have known him for nearly 45 years. He still smiles his way through life, with that merry twinkle in his eye, that is so well known to his friends.

MR. GEORGE WILLIAMS.

Last Friday I found him at his home at Eastleigh, where he has lived since he gave up work, surrounded by many reminders of his long career in ringing, and which recalled to me events of 40 years or so ago. For instance, there was a framed record of the first peal rung by a lady, when Mrs. Williams rang 1-2 to a peal of Grandsire which her husband conducted. Then there was the photograph of a group taken outside Winchester Cathedral in 1899 after the first peal of Stedman Caters in Hampshire and by the Winchester Guild.

'We thought we had done something to talk about when we rang that peal, George,' I said to him.

'Yes, and so we had,' he replied. 'Peals were peals in those days and you had to earn them.'

And so we did. Those whose peals in these days come almost for the asking hardly realise the difficulties that had to be overcome. When George Williams rang his first peal, rung at Soberton, Hants, which incidentally was the first peal in the county by the then newly-formed Winchester Guild, two counties had to be scoured to find ringers capable of ringing a peal of Grandsire Triples.

Since those days Mr. Williams has rendered yeoman service to the cause of ringing not only in Sussex and Hampshire in particular, but in the Exercise in general. It has been the encouragement he has given to youngsters throughout his long life that is the outstanding merit of his career. Scores and scores he has taught to ring; scores and scores of others owe their advancement to him. I am among the latter, and gratefully I acknowledge the encouragement I received from him when, as a lad, I was privileged to join in the practices at St. Peter's, Brighton, when that society were making history in advanced method ringing, but were never too concerned with their affairs to give opportunities to one much below their own ringing stature. George Williams was the mainspring behind the progress made at St. Peter's. His encouragement of the lesser fry, however, helped to make ringers of the future; and he was as ready to ring a peal of Grandsire Triples for a beginner as he was to ring a peal of London Surprise or in some new method with his own accomplished band.

And thus he has gone on through the years, giving his service to helping others and gaining his own reward thereby. He was for years a district secretary of the Sussex County Association when he lived at Brighton, and when he left was made an honorary life member. After returning to his native Hampshire he filled the office of hon. secretary of the Winchester Diocesan Guild, of which he was afterwards made a vice-president and Master—offices which, under the enlarged title, he still holds.

At North Stoneham, the tower with which he became associated when living at West End, near Southampton, he built up a new band and quickly got the bells augmented to eight. To celebrate their golden wedding Mr. and Mrs. Williams gave two new treble bells, and recently, in memory of his wife, who died about two years ago, Mr. Williams presented to the church a handsome oak belfry screen, to which, on his 80th birthday, was attached a bell metal tablet recording the purpose of the gift. It has effected a great improvement in the conditions for ringing, which is done on the ground floor and was formerly open to the church.

George Williams is 80 years young, and the wish of all his many friends will be that he may long be spared to enjoy the art of which he has been such a brilliant exponent. He has now rung 1,422 peals, of which he has conducted over a thousand.

NEW BELLS IN SUFFOLK VILLAGE.

STOKE ASH RING AUGMENTED TO FIVE.

A ring of five bells has been installed in the Parish Church of the little village of Stoke Ash, in Suffolk, and they were dedicated on Sunday week by the Bishop of St. Edmundsbury and Ipswich. The tower formerly contained four bells of considerable age, but they had got into a very dilapidated and dangerous condition.

Some time ago the late Mrs. Brance Bowen, widow of the late Rev. E. J. O. Bowen, bequeathed the sum of £100 to the Church Council to spend and use on the bells in memory of her husband, who was Rector from 1898 to 1920. This amount was insufficient to meet the cost of procuring a peal of five bells, and an appeal for further help, in conjunction with an appeal for a new organ, was made, and as a result the sum of £112 was collected.

The Church Council decided to have some of the bells recast, and the work was entrusted to Mr. Alfred Bowell, of Ipswich. Nos. 1 and 2 were cast from a part of the old tenor bell, which was of the pre-Reformation period. The part bearing the inscription is now in the church. The two new bells bear the inscription, 'Alfred Bowell, Founder, Ipswich. Cast from old Tenor Bell, 1937.' No. 3 is another ancient bell bearing the inscription, 'William Dobson, Founder, Downham, Norfolk,' and was in good condition. No. 4 was recast, being an old Bury bell, and bears the inscription, 'Recast by Bowell, of Ipswich. Coronation of George VI., May, 1937. F. H. R. Perkins, Rector. G. H. Lunnis, E. F. Poppy, Churchwardens.' No. 5, a Bury bell of the period 1527-1587 and bearing the inscription, 'Sancta Anna Ora Pro Nobis,' was in good order.

The weights of the bells are: Treble, 2 cwt. 3 qr. 17 lb.; 2nd, 2 cwt. 3 qr. 23 lb.; 3rd, 3 cwt. 2 qr. 21 lb.; 4th, 4 cwt. 1 qr. 7 lb.; tenor, 6 cwt. 2 qr. 24 lb.; a total weight of 20 cwt. 2 qr. 8 lb.

The church could not hold all who sought to be present at the dedication, and over a hundred were unable to obtain admission. The congregation included ringers from far and near, including the Master of the Suffolk Guild of Ringers, Mr. C. J. Sedgley, and followers of campanology from Bentley, Boxford, Braiseworth, Cotton, Creetingham, Debenham, Eye, Goldhanger, Helmingham, Ipswich, Kenton, Mendlesham, Norwich, North Walsham, Saxlingham, Sproughton, Wetheringsett, Wickham Skeith, Woodbridge, Wymondham, Thorndon, Thornham, Stouham, Diss, Newmarket, Wrentham, Palgrave and Garboldisham.

The service, which was conducted by the Rector, the Rev. F. H. R. Perkins, commenced with the singing of the hymn, 'Unchanging God,' followed by the 84th Psalm. The first lesson was read by the Rev. P. T. E. Wareham, and the choir rendered the anthem, 'Make a joyful noise.'

The second lesson was read by the Rev. W. E. Mattinson, and the Bishop and the clergy then proceeded to the ringing chamber, where the churchwardens, Mr. Lunnis and Mr. Poppy, were awaiting them.

After the dedicatory prayers the bells were rung in rounds while the procession returned to the chancel. The Bishop, in his address, referred to the ministry of the late Rev. E. C. J. Bowen, and spoke of the place of the bells in the lives of the people and history of the nation. The call to prayer and worship, he said, ought to be answered more regularly than it was at present. To attend church for worship was the height of good living.

At the conclusion of the service 120 Bob Doubles was rung by E. F. Poppy 1, Miss Phyllis Tillet 2, Miss Eleanor Reeve 3, Miss Bertha Reeve 4, Miss Sylvia Bower 5. The ladies are ringers at Ipswich. Afterwards visiting ringers in turn rang on the bells and later were entertained to tea in the Parish Room, where the Rector thanked them for their interest.

CLERICAL RINGING WEEK.

VISITS TO MANY CHURCHES ROUND EVESHAM.

The clerical ringing week was held this year with headquarters at Evesham, again under the efficient leadership of the Rev. E. V. Cox (Brampford Speke, Devon). The rest of the party were as follows: The Revs. E. G. Benson (Burghill), H. G. Benson (Nyasaaland), C. Carew Cox (Lyne Regis), F. L. Edwards (Kington Magna), E. B. James (Fareham), F. H. S. Marle (Deane), the Rev. and Mrs. E. S. Powell (Staverton), the Revs. B. F. Sheppard (Cambridge), A. G. G. Thurlow (Wokingham), W. M. K. Warren (Binegar), C. Elliot Wigg (High Wycombe) and R. F. Wilkinson (Ordsall) and Mr. Chris. W. Woolley, who had somehow forgotten to bring his clerical collar with him (O, these forgetful clergy!), and although he is sometimes known as a wizard, he couldn't manage to produce one! Some of us were, unfortunately, only able to appear for part of the week.

The programme opened on April 5th, punctually at 2.30, at Ashchurch, near Tewkesbury, where the six bells were raised and lowered in peal (this was always done when possible), and rang Bob Minor, Cambridge and Stedman. Mr. Harris kindly met and rang with us. After touches of Kent and Oxford at Overbury (6, tenor 9½ cwt.), we were kindly invited to tea by the Vicar; whence we went on to Breton's Norton (6, tenor 6 cwt.), where Mr. Attwood met us. Here the back five are by Rudhall. After spliced Kent and Oxford (when some wit remarked that the clergy had often spliced people, but not methods before), etc., we went to our headquarters, the Hampton House Hotel, Evesham, a very nice place, where they do not mind if you ring handbells till midnight.

SALLY NEARLY SEVEN FEET LONG.

On Tuesday we arrived first at Elmley Castle (6, tenor 18 cwt.), where the two trebles went tuning badly. Here we rang Cambridge, and, after 'a little something' at the Vicarage, went on to Little Comberton (6), and Great Comberton (6, tenor 8 cwt.), where the Rev. J. F. Hastings (who was, unfortunately, only able to be with us for a few hours) nearly got stuck in the narrow staircase. After Stedman and Double Court, we found a delightful spot near the River Avon (don't ask me which Avon!) for picnic lunch. Then on to Croome D'Abitot. Here the key, which ought to have been in the fust, or under the harmonium, or somewhere, had to be fetched some distance. After a long delay, which E. V. stood with amazing patience, we eventually got up to the bells, which hadn't been rung for two years. However, E. V.'s castor oil worked wonders, and the bells were soon going. The tenor sally is nearly 7ft. long. It was rather curious, while raising her, to have the top of the sally rising at handstroke, while the bottom was still coiled up in one's hand! How did the pigeons, hatching in the bell chamber, like our Grandsire, I wonder?

Then to Pershore Abbey (8, tenor 31 cwt.), where we rang Stedman and Bob Major, suspended 'twixt heaven and earth—heaven seemed terrifyingly near, and earth an uncomfortable distance away! After a hasty look round the glorious church and the nearby Church of St. Andrew, where the six are to be restored, we had tea at the Vicarage; then to Norton (St. Egwin, 6 bells, tenor 15 cwt.). After Grandsire and Cambridge here and dinner at Evesham, the day finished with London, etc., at Hampton (6, tenor 9½ cwt.), where we had the pleasure of meeting Mr. Hemming and other friends.

We started at Offenham (6) on Tuesday, and there rang Queens and 'fired' the bells for the Vicar and Mrs. Combs' wedding anniversary. Then to Badsey, a nice ring of 8, tenor 15 cwt. After Double Norwich we went to Child's Wickham (6, tenor 11 cwt.), where the ringers of 4 and 5 can see their bells swinging. Unconducted touches are the most successful at this place. Mary Lane is buried here; she died, aged 133, in 1741. Then to Willersey, a nice 6 by Rudhall, tenor 11½ cwt. Here Mr. Heath rang with us, and later we had a 720 of Cambridge. At Saintbury, very near by, we rang Stedman, etc., on a nice ring of 6, tenor 11½ cwt., and also had the pleasure of ringing with Miss Mavis Brighton. Next, at Mickleton (8, tenor 18 cwt.), we rang Treble Bob (both variations) and Double Norwich and Stedman. Messrs. L. Kinchin and F. Tuffley rang with us, while Cyril Tuffley, aged 8½, showed us how to ring a bell solo. At Brefforton (6, tenor 8 cwt.), Mr. Perkins met us, and we rang Kent, etc. After a touch of London, off to dinner at Evesham. After this the Cambridge Guild members rang Grandsire Cinques and Bob Major and Royal, Double Norwich, etc., on handbells, other members joining in too.

AN INTERESTING CHURCH.

Thursday began with Stedman and Cambridge at Bidford-on-Avon (6, tenor 13½ cwt.). At Alcester (6), the 5th slipped wheel and set during the first touch. After producing enough keys to unlock all the doors in Alcester, the Vicar's daughter kindly found the bell chamber key, and we righted things and had time for a short touch before leaving for Stratford-on-Avon. Here we rang Cambridge and Double Norwich on a beautiful ring of eight (tenor 17½ cwt.), and after lunch, a photograph and a look at Shakespeare's tomb, went on to Snitterfield, where the Rev. Thomas met us, and we much enjoyed Bob Minor, etc., on a fine six (tenor reputed 20 cwt.). At Quinton (6, tenor 19 cwt.) the Vicar, who afterwards kindly gave us tea, seemed rather perturbed at being told that his tenor would eventually come off the headstock if not tightened up. At Chipping Camden (8, tenor 25 cwt.) we were delighted to find one of the most beautiful

DURHAM AND NEWCASTLE DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION.

DISAPPOINTING ATTENDANCE AT FENHAM MEETING.

The 'luxury meeting,' as it was termed by Mr. C. L. Routledge, held at Fenham, proved unsuccessful from the point of view of the attendance, only 15 members sitting down to tea when nearer 50 were expected. The feelings of those present, however, were not damped and good use was made of the bells, Cambridge Surprise Major, Duffield and Double Bob Major, the special method, being the most noteworthy methods brought round.

In the absence of the vice-president, Mr. M. D. Onbridge, Mr. Routledge presided over the meeting and thanked the Vicar, Canon S. Redman, for the use of the bells. The Vicar, in replying, referred to the fine effect produced by the use of the new silencers. The bells were almost inaudible at the foot of the tower, but at a distance they are sweetly and clearly heard.

Mr. John Anderson thanked the ladies for the splendid tea.

It was decided that no meeting should be held on Whit Monday, but St. Paul's, Whitley Bay, was proposed for the Saturday following, i.e., May 26th, and London Surprise Major was adopted as the special method for practice.

A district practice was also proposed for May 6th at St. George's, Jesmond where the bells have been recently rehung. Both proposals were agreed to.

The secretary informed the meeting that the report of the sub-committee on Coronation ringing was not yet ready.

Following the adjournment, the handbells were rung to Grandsire Caters, Stedman and Grandsire Triples, and further ringing took place in the tower.

BATH AND WELLS DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION.

PRESENTATION TO FORMER CARY DEANERY SECRETARY.

A gathering of about 30 ringers attended the meeting of the Cary Deanery Branch of the Bath and Wells Diocesan Association at Bruton on Saturday, April 24th. Fourteen towers were represented and visitors were welcomed from Melksham, Pensford, Zeals and Stourton. Ringing in various methods of Doubles and Minor took place in the afternoon and evening.

At the business meeting following the tea the president (Rev. F. H. Lang) presented Mr. E. F. Creed with an inscribed inlaid barometer as a token of appreciation of his work as hon. secretary of the branch since 1919. Mr. Creed taught first lessons in change ringing at many towers, and acknowledging the gift, said he was pleased to see there that day many of his pupils of years ago.

The secretary (Mr. W. A. Osborne), speaking on the subject of Coronation ringing, said that he hoped all tower leaders would make careful arrangements for ringing, and suggested that if a full peal was not possible a half or quarter-peal should be attempted, but whatever ringing was done nothing should be attempted that could not be perfectly done. The times for ringing should be arranged to fit in with the local celebrations, but no ringing should take place during the Abbey service broadcast or other important broadcasts.

Votes of thanks were accorded to the clergy, organist and choir and to the ladies who provided the tea.

of the little Cotswold towns, with a grand church, similar in many ways to Northleach, with some fine old brasses, and the oldest cope and altar frontal, etc., still remaining in its own church in England. The cope dates from 1380, and the altar frontal (1480) was copied by command of Queen Mary for the high altar of Westminster Abbey for the Coronation in 1911. Here we rang Double Norwich, Stedman, etc.

After dinner we visited the Bell Tower at Evesham, built by Clement Lichfield, the last Abbot of Evesham but one, about 1525. Here we enjoyed Grandsire and Stedman Caters and Kent and Bob Royal on the fine ring of 10 (tenor 31 cwt.), and were very pleased to meet Mr. Hemming and other friends again.

An important discussion took place at the hotel in the evening. On Friday the only peal attempt of the week (Double Norwich) 'went west' after a little over an hour. This was at Hinton-on-the-Green. After ringing Cambridge, etc., during which Miss Johnson rang with us, we went on to lunch at Broadway, another delightful Cotswold village. After Double Court, etc., on the fine six at Broadway Old Church, on to Stanton, perhaps the least spoilt of all the villages we saw. Cambridge, etc., on the six here was followed by tea at Stow-on-the-Wold. We had meant to ring handbells in the four counties round the Four Shire Stone nearby, but as no one thought of bringing handbells, we contented ourselves with an unmusical course of Bob Minor on some of the table bells in the cafe at Stow. At Stow Church, our last tower, the Rev. Hare met us, and we had a pleasant finish to the week with Stedman and Bob Major on a fine eight (tenor 30 cwt.).

In conclusion, we should like to thank the clergy for the use of their towers, those clergy and their wives who gave us tea and other refreshment, the steeplekeepers and other ringers who rang with us, and most of all the Rev. E. V. Cox, to whose wonderfully efficient organisation the success of a most delightful week was so largely due.

DON'T SCRUB YOUR HANDS!

skin this simple way*

To many people, the problem of getting the hands really clean without harming the skin is a serious one. Grease and grime, which become deeply ingrained into the pores of the skin, are extremely difficult to remove, and ordinary washing with soap or even scrubbing will fail to remove them completely. Housewives, particularly, who complain that their hands get ruined by the nature of their work, will find the preparation called DERMAFOAM, a real "godsend." DERMAFOAM just smooths away dirt and grease without effort. It gets right down into the pores and removes every particle of grime, leaving skin beautifully supple and healthy.

Men, too—when you've finished that dirty job on the car, DERMAFOAM will quickly banish all grease and oil from your hands. It acts almost magically—working under and around the nails and into every minute crease, removing all trace of dirt in a flash.

Engineers, Painters, Car Mechanics, Printers — everyone — will welcome DERMAFOAM, the modern method of cleansing and protecting the hands.

RINGERS 'DID THEIR BIT.'

Well and truly did the bells of old England, and of Wales and Scotland, too, celebrate the Coronation of King George and Queen Elizabeth. There was, of course, never any doubt that they would play their traditional part, but if the information, which has ever since been pouring in to us, is any criterion, never before has so much ringing been done on one day. Peals there were in plenty—our peal columns will testify to that—and half peals, and quarter peals innumerable, to say nothing of the infinite number of shorter touches which were rung. The little villages have contributed their share as well as the towns and cities; indeed the villages, just as they have more than held their own with their greater neighbours in their decorations and celebrations, have vied with the more populous places in the enthusiasm of their ringing.

Early and late the bells were ringing. In several cases a 6 a.m. start heralded the day, and in one instance at least—at Guildford—ringing at 11 p.m. was part of the ordered programme of the day. And the bells were only a part of the expressed love and loyalty of this country to the throne, which is deep rooted in the hearts of the people. It was not only London, the centre of the solemn ceremonies, and the setting of the great pageant, that rejoiced. Everywhere the public, in their masses, and in every walk of life, joined in the celebrations, and those who imagine that a monarchy in this country is but a decaying institution must have realised last week that they are woefully out of touch with the real spirit of the nation. The sounds of the bells, if they heard them, must have jarred upon them as they often do upon those who, on other occasions, neglect the things to which the bells direct attention Sunday after Sunday.

Ringers themselves will be able to look back with satisfaction to the part they played on May 12th, 1937. Many old hands, while taking their share in the events of the day, were able to recall their exploits of previous Coronations, for quite a number must have counted this as the third in which they have helped in the celebrations at the end of a bell rope. Younger ringers, as they get on, will have happy recollections. Many of them rang their first peal or their first quarter peal. In a few cases whole bands have scored their first peal and there could have been no more auspicious occasion for so doing. To record the activities of ringers on Coronation day we have this week enlarged 'The Ringing World,' but so great has been the demand upon our space that even four extra pages will not accommodate all the reports sent to us and there are many other peals and interesting items of news to appear in our later issues.

LINCOLN DIOCESAN GUILD

ENTHUSIASM AT GRIMSBY DISTRICT MEETING.

A very pleasant meeting of the Grimsby District of the Lincoln Diocesan Guild was held at Alford on Saturday, May 8th. The good weather brought together many ringers. Members attended from Bigby, Burton-on-Slather, Ulceby, Grimsby, Killingholme, Mablethorpe and the local members. The members were glad to welcome the Guild Ringing Master (Mr. R. Richardson), who brought with him Mr. and Mrs. A. Walker, of Birmingham, and Mr. and Mrs. P. E. Pervin, of Coventry. Ringing friends from Lincoln were also present. The lovely peal of six were rung to a large variety of methods.

Service was conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. W. Whitehead), who gave a hearty welcome to the members and also an excellent address. Mr. Graves presided at the organ. Tea was served in the Church Hall, kindly arranged by churchworkers, and a party of 34 sat down.

The business meeting was presided over by the president (Archdeacon Parry), supported by the Vicar and churchwardens (Mr. G. Muston and Mr. W. J. Humphreys). Mr. G. Muston was elected an honorary member. The Vicar and both churchwardens of Alford are now honorary members.

The collection for the District Bell Fund amounted to 9s. 8d.

The President informed the members of the sad death of Mr. W. Fisher, who was accidentally killed in a motor-cycle accident on Saturday, May 1st. He was at one time a ringer at St. Andrew's Church, Grimsby. Members stood in silence to his memory.

Mr. J. Bray welcomed the visitors and said he hoped they would see them again if possible. Mr. A. Walker replied and expressed the pleasure of the visitors in attending the meeting. If they had larger gatherings at their meetings in the Midlands, he was sure there was more enthusiasm at that meeting. Members were attending from as far as 65 miles and he hoped that interest would continue.

Mr. Bray proposed a comprehensive vote of thanks to the Vicar for conducting the service and for the bells, to the caterers and to those who had made arrangements. Mr. M. Walker seconded and the president supported the vote of thanks, to which the Vicar suitably responded.

A hearty vote of thanks to the president for presiding brought a very happy meeting to a close. After some good ringing on handbells the tower was again visited.

DEDICATED ON CORONATION DAY.

NORTHREPPS BELLS REHUNG.

The peal of five bells at Northrepps has for some years been in an almost unringable condition, but in spite of this several ringers have been taught on them, and attempts have been made to ring the bells for services up to a few months ago. Then the Rector (the Rev. Charles H. Winter) organised an appeal, and the work of rehanging the bells in a new steel frame, with new fittings, including cannon-retaining headstocks, and retuning the peal, was entrusted to Messrs. John Taylor and Co., who have carried out the work satisfactorily.

The rededication service was conducted by the Rector, following a Coronation service, on May 12th. Visitors included Mr. N. Golden, general secretary and treasurer of the Norwich Diocesan Association, and Mr. W. R. West, of Wiveton. After the new ropes had been replaced by used ones, extents of Grandsire were rung, and, following the crowning of the King, further ringing took place.

The Rector hopes to have a sixth bell installed by July 6th next.

LEICESTER CATHEDRAL BELLS OPENED

TRANSFORMATION OF RINGING CHAMBER.

The new ring of 12 bells at Leicester Cathedral were opened on Coronation Day, together with the new electrically driven clock and chimes. At 8 a.m., Colonel Sir Frederick Oliver performed the opening ceremony by striking the first few blows on the tenor, which, by permission of H.M. the King, is inscribed 'The Coronation bell of His Majesty King George VI.'

A few rounds were rung upon the ring of 12 followed immediately by rounds upon the light eight, utilising the flat sixth bell. Afterwards Stedman Cinques and other methods were rung until 10.45. In the afternoon a peal of Stedman Cinques was successfully accomplished.

LEICESTER CATHEDRAL.

The bells, which are of exceptionally fine tone, are by the famous Loughborough Foundry. Hung on ball bearings in an iron frame with all up-to-date fittings, the 'go' is excellent. The clock and chimes are by Messrs. Gent and Co., electrical engineers, of Leicester, whose reputation for this kind of clock is world-wide.

In addition to new bells, clock, etc., the tall spire of the Cathedral has been restored and the ringing chamber transformed from the former barn-like structure into a very pleasant apartment. All the old encumbrances have been removed; the upper walls cleaned down and colour-washed, the lower portions panelled in oak. Oak doors have been fitted in the north and south doorways, a new oak floor laid and oak furniture installed. With a rearranged lighting system the whole combine to make what must be one of the finest ringing chambers in the country.

A very regrettable feature of the opening ceremony was the absence, through a serious illness, of the Provost of the Cathedral (the Very Rev. F. B. Macnutt), who was responsible for the work being done. He raised the necessary funds in an incredibly short period of time. Gramophone records of the proceedings were taken to enable the Provost to hear the opening ceremony in his own home. The ringers wish him a speedy recovery.

It is hoped to arrange an 'open day' for visiting ringers in the near future, of which notice will be given in 'The Ringing World.'

After having been in charge of ringing affairs at St. Martin's Cathedral, Leicester, since the Coronation of King George V., Mr. Fred Dexter has thought it time that someone else should take over

YORKSHIRE ASSOCIATION.

AMENDED RULES ADOPTED.

A general meeting of the Yorkshire Association was held jointly with the Sheffield and District Society at Rammoor, Sheffield, on Saturday, May 1st, when the light peal of ten bells was made good use of by the members.

A meeting of the General Committee was held in the Church Hall during the afternoon, and a short service, conducted by the Rev. — Adams. About 80 sat down to tea in the Church Hall—many more than had sent in their names, but fortunately the Rammoor company were equal to the occasion.

The general meeting was held immediately after in the same room, the president of the association (Canon C. C. Marshall) being in the chair.

The thanks of the company to the Vicar and churchwardens for the use of the bells, to the Rev. — Adams for conducting the service, and to the organist for his services was voiced by the chairman and acknowledged by the Rev. — Adams in the absence of the Vicar. Thanks to the local company for the arrangements they had made for the success of the meeting and to the ladies for waiting at the tea tables was also passed, Mr. P. J. Johnson at the same time making some pointed remarks to those who had failed to send in their names for tea.—Mr. C. Haynes acknowledged the vote of thanks on behalf of the Rammoor company.

It was decided to hold the next general meeting at Kirkburton, near Huddersfield, on September 18th, or, failing that, at some other tower in that district.

The proposed alterations to the rules were explained at length by Canon Marshall, and on his proposition, seconded by Mr. P. J. Johnson, the alterations were carried, after discussion on two or three points.

Some animated exchanges took place during discussion on Rule 3, paragraph 1, in relation to Rule 10. After it had been proposed, seconded and carried that the meeting proceed with the next business, the following motion was tabled for the September meeting, proposed by Mr. G. Robinson and seconded by Mr. R. H. Vigor:—

'In view of the fact that the revenue (yearly) account of the association continues to show a substantial credit balance, the cost of providing the teas at the annual general meeting be met annually out of the aforesaid account, to all those members who give due notice of their intention to be present, provided that the liability thereby involved does not exceed the sum of £7 in any one year, in which case a small charge per head be made to cover the cost over and above the said amount.'

Messrs. Geoffrey Kibblewhite and Harry Barnes were elected members, and Mr. C. Metcalfe, of Mansfield, was elected a non-resident life member of the association.

Mr. C. Haynes informed the meeting that the new peal of eight at Harthill would be open to the Sheffield and District Society on May 29th.

This concluded the business and further ringing took place.

WINCHESTER AND PORTSMOUTH GUILD.

CONGRATULATIONS TO THE MASTER.

A quarterly meeting of the Southampton District of the Winchester and Portsmouth Diocesan Guild was held at Dibden on Saturday, May 8th, when there was a fair attendance representing the following towers: Dibden, Eling, Fawley, Bishopstoke, North Stoueham, Ringwood, Southampton (St. Mary's), Upham, Winchester and Wimborne. The service was conducted by the Rector of Dibden, the Rev. G. T. Tritton, who is chairman of the district. At the business meeting after tea he congratulated the Master of the Guild and of the Southampton District, Mr. George Williams, on attaining his 30th birthday on the previous day, and, in referring to the wonderful ringing record set up by Mr. Williams, recalled the fact that last August the Master's one thousandth conducted peal on tower bells was rung at Dibden, though unfortunately the honour had since been transferred to another tower in the Guild (Curdridge) by the elimination of a false peal.

Mr. Williams, in replying, said he hoped that he might be spared for many years to continue his active ringing, and also the work of helping to teach others the art.

The towers of Fawley and Eling, as well as Dibden, were available during the afternoon and evening, and were made use of by the members. The methods rung ranged from Grandsire to London and Cambridge Surprise Major.

At the business meeting a cordial invitation from the new Rector of Eling to the Guild was conveyed by Mr. W. Pearce, the captain of Eling tower. It was decided to accept the invitation for the summer of 1938.

the duties. In future, therefore, all correspondence in connection with the bells there should be addressed to Inspector H. J. Poole, The Wayside, Narborough Road, Leicester, or to Mr. Harry Broughton, The Glen, Cooden Avenue, Leicester, who have been appointed Ringing Master and hon. secretary respectively.

QUEEN MARY'S GIFT TO BELL FUND.KING'S BROMLEY BELLS RECAST.

The bells of King's Bromley, or, to give it its older title, Bromley Regis, were first hung in the tower the year before the union of England and Scotland, an event which was, no doubt, the first of national importance which they were called upon to celebrate. History does not record the many and varied occasions for which they have been rung, and it was deeply regretted by the inhabitants that their bells were in no fit order to be used for celebrating the Jubilee of King George V. and to be sounded in muffled ringing at his passing. But they were restored for the Coronation of King George and Queen Elizabeth, and made ready to take part in the national celebrations.

The six bells have been recast at Loughborough and now form a very handy ring, tenor weighing approximately 11 cwt. It is interesting to note that the enthusiasm of the people of the village was stimulated by a personal gift to the bell fund from H.M. Queen Mary.

The completed work was solemnly dedicated by the Bishop of Stafford on Tuesday evening, May 4th, in the presence of a large congregation. An interesting feature to the villagers was the number of visiting ringers who were present in spite of the lateness of the hour, amongst them being Mr. W. A. Stote, of Coventry, Mr. L. Oliver, of Bridgnorth, Mr. J. H. Swinfield, of Burton, Mr. J. P. Fidler, of Loughborough, and members of the band from Overseale, under Mr. J. W. Cotton. Everyone expressed their pleasure at the beauty of tone and improved 'go' of the bells, the work having been carried out in the usual thorough manner of Messrs. Taylor and Co.

FORMER GRIMSBY RINGER KILLED.FATAL RESULT OF AN ACCIDENT.

It was with deep regret that the members of the Grimsby District of the Lincoln Guild and others heard of a fatal motor-cycle accident to Mr. W. Fisher, 'Little Billy' as he was affectionately known in Grimsby. Until four years ago he was a member of the band of St. Andrew's Church, where he rang his first peal. Previous to coming to Grimsby he resided at Bigby. His father was killed in the Great War and he was brought up under the kindly guidance of Archdeacon and Mrs. Parry. He removed to London, where he was doing well in his trade as a cabinet maker and had a promising career before him. On Saturday, May 1st, whilst motor-cycling with a young lady companion, he met with an accident which caused his death in a few hours and injuries to his companion.

The funeral took place at Belchford on Thursday, May 6th. The last sad rites were conducted by the Ven. Archdeacon Parry, president of the Grimsby District. Mr. R. Sutton represented the Grimsby ringers, who sent a wreath in the form of a bell.

SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD.DORCHESTER BRANCH ENTERTAINED AT BUCKLAND NEWTON.

In delightful spring weather the quarterly meeting of the Dorchester Branch of the Salisbury Diocesan Guild was held at Buckland Newton on April 24th. A party of ringers were there on the stroke of 3 o'clock to raise the bells in peal, assisted by Mr. J. H. Shepherd, of Swindon, who had already taken particulars of the tenor bell. He thus added another tower to his long list, and followed with another later.

The Guild service was conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. F. Fitzpatrick), and the chairman of the branch (the Rev. A. W. Markhy) read the lesson.

Tea was served in the Schoolroom, followed by a short business meeting, presided over by the branch chairman, supported by the vice-chairman (the Rev. R. P. Farrow).

The secretary reported that the next quarterly meeting would take place at Wyke Regis in July. It was resolved, among the practice meetings during the summer, to hold one at Hilton, and thus help forward the ringing at that tower. It was also decided to hold one or two Thursday afternoon practice meetings.

The chairman made sympathetic reference to the sudden passing of one of their promising young change ringers, the late Arthur Groves, captain of the St. Peter's, Dorchester, band, and the members stood in silence as a mark of respectful sympathy.

One associate member was elected.

The Chairman, in proposing a comprehensive vote of thanks, thanked the Branch Ringing Master, Mr. P. Field, for the kind hospitality that afternoon in providing, in co-operation with his mother, the excellent tea they had enjoyed. This was received with acclamation. Thanks were also accorded to the Vicar for taking the service and use of the bells, and to Mr. M. E. Blessley, to whom great credit was due for all the local arrangements.

The following towers were represented at the meeting: Bradford Peverell, Buckland Newton, St. Peter's, Dorchester, East Lulworth, Preston, Stratton, Upwey, Wyke Regis, Wareham, Lytchett Matravers, Shooton, Iwerne Courtney, Thornford, Sherborne Abbey, Longburton and Lydlinch. There were welcome visitors from Swindon and Cookham, Berks, making a total of over 50 members and friends present during the afternoon and evening. The methods rung were Grandsire, Plain Bob and St. Dunstan's Doubles, Plain Bob, Double Oxford and Oxford Bob Minor.

MERE, WILTS.—On Sunday evening, May 2nd, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples: V. Hill 1, G. Coward 2, J. Paul 3, J. Gray (conductor) 4, G. Bunce 5, W. Keats 6, E. Coward 7, H. Jordan 8. First quarter-peal for ringers of 1, 2 and 8, also as conductor.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

Mr. T. H. Taffender (Master of the London County Association) has been decorated with the King's Coronation Medal for his services in the Post Office.

We regret to record the death of an old Sussex ringer, Mr. George Walder, of Bolney, who died on May 7th at the advanced age of 81 years.

The death occurred on Coronation Day of the Rev. John Freeman Russell, Dean of Oriel College, Oxford. He was 39 years of age. When a student at Pembroke College he learned to ring, and since his return to the district he has frequently rung both with the University and Oxford City ringers, by whom his early death is much regretted.

It must be rather unusual for a ringer to ring a peal of Superlative Surprise Royal before ringing a peal of Superlative Surprise Major, but, having rung the Royal some time ago, Mr. F. E. Darby, of Beddington, has just rung his first in the method on eight bells.

The golden wedding of Mr. and Mrs. Kerley was celebrated at Aberdare by a peal of Grandsire Triples. Mr. Kerley was a ringer for 22 years before the war. The peal in honour of the golden wedding was conducted by his son.

The peal rung at Cockington, Devon, on April 23rd, should be credited to the Devon Guild.

The Coronation peal of Stedman Triples at Marlow, Bucks, last Saturday was the first peal on the bells for a period of 33 years. Now that the ice has been broken it is to be hoped that such a long period will not be allowed to lapse before the next peal is recorded.

The first peal of Rochester Surprise Royal was rung at St. Mary-le-Tower, Ipswich, on Saturday. F. J. Smith, who was a member of the band, has rung the method on 8, 10 and 12 bells, being the first to gain such a distinction.

Mr. J. H. Cheesman, the noted North Kent ringer, added another link to his record on May 13th when he rang his 100th peal of Cambridge Surprise Major at St. John the Baptist Church, Erith.

IN RURAL MIDDLESEX.

MIDDLESEX ASSOCIATION'S UNUSUAL TRIP.

The recent notice of a meeting of the Middlesex County Association at Bedfont, Stanwell and Harmondsworth, optimistically referred to 'buses from Hounslow.' The complete absence of such apparently kept the greybeards at home, and we now report the May run of 'the South and West District Cycle Club.' 'Tis true there were two hikers, but the rest were all cyclists. There were big, little, heavy, light, old and new cycles of every description with handlebars of wonderful design! There were also two pairs of braw knees on view.

Rev. G. H. Bradley, Vicar of Bedfont, welcomed members to his tower, and expressed his pleasure at their visit. And so to the bells, a tuneful ring of six (when heard at a distance!). There is the story of the village idiot who, when asked why he was clouting his own head, replied that it was so nice when he left off. Such is the din in the ringing chamber at Bedfont that one has a somewhat similar feeling when the bells are set up!

At Stanwell, Rev. H. F. Gaster greeted the party, and remained with them throughout their visit. It was refreshing to meet a cleric so genuinely interested in ringing and ringers. He presided over the tea, and later, in his study, presented the secretary with a guinea towards the association funds. The five bells proved more difficult than many expected. The beginner is told to hold his bell up more when hunting up and the reverse when coming to lead. The lower the number of bells, the more marked the difference. If eight-bell ringers would bear this elementary rule in mind, their attempts at five and six-bell ringing would be more successful! Stanwell tenor was cast in 1766. On the belfry wall are details of 'a record peal of two hours,' in which two men rang the tenor! No doubt a notable achievement in local history.

The last town, Harmondsworth, presented no difficulties. A nice handy ring of six, they were rung to various methods, including Cambridge Surprise.

From the top of the tower, a vast mound of gigantic stones could be seen set in a field. It was the remains of Waterloo Bridge, and not a pyramid in course of erection, as first suspected! Certainly an odd sight in a district chiefly agricultural.

And so to a final impression, the 'club' spinning along the homeward round in orderly formation. An enjoyable meeting, notable for its friendly atmosphere.

The next meeting will be held at Sunbury on June 12th.

MR. F. WHITE'S 200 PEALS.

Mr. F. White, of Cranbrook, Kent, rang his 200th peal on Saturday, April 24th. His total is made up of: Grandsire Triples 5, Caters 5, Stedman Triples 41 (2 in hand on 7-8), Caters 7, Cinques 1, Plain Bob Major 4, Royal 2, Maximus 1, Kent Treble Bob Major 8, Royal 10, Maximus 1, Oxford Treble Bob Royal 1, Spliced Treble Bob Major 1, Royal 1, Double Norwich Major 22, Cambridge Surprise Major 18 (one New Cambridge), Royal 2, Superlative 47 (conducted 2), London 9, Bristol 6 (including 12,160), Norfolk 3, Yorkshire 3, Little Bob Maximus 1, Canterbury Pleasure Maximus 1, total 200. Rung in 80 towers, in 17 counties, with 360 different ringers.

THE CENTRAL COUNCIL.

TUESDAY'S MEETING AT CANTERBURY.

President Elected an Honorary Member.

The second session of the sixteenth Council, the 45th annual meeting, was held in the Chapter House at Canterbury Cathedral on Tuesday.

There were present 83 representative members and 12 honorary members, 51 representative and four honorary members being absent. Of the 50 affiliated societies, 19 associations were fully represented, 20 partially represented and 11 were unrepresented.

The chair was occupied by the president (Mr. E. H. Lewis), who is a representative member of the Cambridge University Guild, but the affiliation fee of the Guild not having been paid, under the rules Mr. Lewis was debarred from speaking or voting. The situation was met by electing him an honorary member.

Before the meeting opened, however, the President said that, had his engagements permitted, the Archbishop of Canterbury would have been present to welcome them, but he had had to return to London. Fortunately, they had someone else to welcome them to the county of Kent and the city of Canterbury in the person of an old member of the Council, who was for many years secretary of the Kent County Association—Canon Helmore (applause).

Canon Helmore, who is now considerably over 80 years of age, was received with renewed applause. He welcomed the Council to the Cathedral, the city and the county. He wished the Council success in their deliberations and hoped the result of their meeting would be the progress of the Council and the cause they had at heart. He added that he used to be a member of the Council, but that was a thing of the past.

The hon. secretary (Mr. G. W. Fletcher) reported as to the constitution of the Council, which consisted of 50 affiliated associations, entitled to 138 members, of whom 135 had been elected, and 15 hon. members. He added that the subscriptions of the Durham and Newcastle, the North Notts, the North Wales and the Cambridge University Guild had not been paid.

The difficult situation in which the president was thus placed was surmounted by Mr. A. Paddon Smith immediately proposing the election of the president as an honorary member.

Mr. S. H. Wood seconded, and, as a member of Cambridge University Guild, expressed regret for the omission which had produced the rather unfortunate situation.

The motion was carried with applause.

MESSAGE FROM THE KING.

The following message of loyalty and congratulation to the King was passed by the members standing:—

'The members of the Central Council of Church Bellringers, who represent 21,000 change ringers, assembled for their annual meeting in the Chapter House, Canterbury Cathedral, wish to repeat to your Majesty the message of congratulation and loyalty which rang out last Wednesday from the church towers of the country.—Edwin H. Lewis, President.'

During the afternoon the following reply was received from Buckingham Palace:—

'President, Central Council of Church Bell Ringers.

'The King is much gratified to receive your message of congratulations on the occasion of His Majesty's Coronation. I am desirous to express his warm thanks to all who joined in these good wishes.—Private Secretary.'

After the reading of the message the members joined in singing the National Anthem.

The following retiring hon. members were re-elected: Rev. H. S. T. Richardson, Messrs. A. A. Hughes, E. C. S. Turner and S. H. Wood.

After the presentation of new members to the president and the reading of a long list of apologies for absence, reference was made by the president to the members and past members who had died during the year, and the Council stood for a few moments in silence as a mark of respect to the memory of the departed.

GLOSSARY TO BE GIVEN AWAY.

The report of the hon. librarian referred to the additions made during the year to the library and asked for instructions as to the disposal of 962 copies of the 'Glossary,' much of which was out of date. It also called attention to the fact that the following books were exhausted: 'Rules and Decisions of the Council,' 'Model Rules for a Local Company' and 'Preservation of Bells.' The two latter are in demand.

The Council adopted the report and decided to distribute the copies of the Glossary to associations free of charge, on payment of carriage, and to reprint 'Model Rules' and 'Preservation of Bells.' They also decided to reprint 'Hints for Instructors and Beginners' if necessary.

Thanks were accorded to the donors of books to the library.

The statement of accounts showed that the receipts, which amounted to £51 13s. 5d., included £30 15s. from affiliation fees for 1936-7 and 10s. in arrears for 1935-6, £1 10s. from hon. members' subscriptions, £5 from interest on stock and £14 3s. 5d. from sales of publications. The expenditure amounted to £15 3s. 1d., leaving a balance on the general account of £105 11s. 7d., compared with £68 16s. 3d. last year.—The accounts were adopted.

A METHODS REGISTER.

The Methods Committee, in their report, pointed out that they had in working order a scheme by which all methods can be tabulated and indexed, and any information regarding them can be obtained in a very few minutes. The assistance of the Council was asked in making it operative. Several thousands of Surprise methods are available, and any information respecting them will readily be given to any ringer or band asking for it.

The report went on to deal with the question of claims to methods by those who work them out. These men, the committee said, had a right to claim that they had composed the methods, but the claim to ownership and exclusive rights had failed. That, however, did not diminish the credit which rightly belongs to those men who have made so many good methods available for the Exercise.

The following recommendation of the committee, as well as the report, was adopted.

'That in order to assist the Council in keeping up to date a Register of Methods which have been rung, the secretaries of affiliated associations be asked to forward to the Council the figures of any method rung for the first time, and the composition, together with particulars of the first performance.

ANTI-NOISE LEAGUE LEAFLETS.

The Towers and Belfries Committee in their report said that the committee had given advice in some dozen cases. In several of the towers advice was asked about modification of sound near the church. Since the last meeting of the Council the Anti-Noise League had printed a pamphlet on the subject. The committee thought it desirable to co-operate with the Anti-Noise League as far as possible, and, after reviewing the pamphlet, decided to send copies to all Archdeacons with a covering letter recommending it to their serious consideration.

WELDING USELESS FOR CRACKED SOUND BOWS.

In moving the adoption of the report, the President gave an interesting dissertation upon the welding of bells. As the result of what he had seen in the case of a bell welded, which had cracked again, he expressed the opinion that it was useless to weld a bell cracked at the sound bow. Mr. Lewis explained the scientific difficulties in the way of successful welding.

He also gave some important details as to the effect upon weak towers of the lowering of bells in peal, and, referring to the recent case of the refusal of a faculty at Thetford, reminded the Council of the importance of the various associations having someone on the Diocesan Advisory Committees wherever possible.

Discussion took place, and on the president's suggestion a resolution was passed to obtain from the affiliated associations information as to what was happening in the dioceses, so that they might know which associations had representatives on the diocesan advisory boards and which had not. When they had that information, the President said, they could consider what further action could be taken.

A discussion next followed as to the insurance of ringers, which elicited the information that the Ecclesiastical Insurance Company was prepared to insure against accidents to ringers (whether paid or voluntary) in the belfry and in going to and from ringing, at the rate of one shilling per ringer per annum, with a minimum of ten shillings.

It was resolved to make a donation of one guinea to the Anti-Noise League in recognition of the gift to the Council of the leaflets sent out to the Archdeacons, and to keep the Council in touch with the League's activities.

The report of the Literature, Press and Broadcasting Committee reviewed the treatment of ringing by the Press, and referred to the principal events in broadcasting in which bells had figured.—The report was adopted.

COLLECTING INFORMATION.

In the report of the Peal Boards Committee it was stated that many interesting records had been received, including a complete list of 48 peals rung by the Society of Sherwood Youths, which was established in 1672. Many records had been sent without the names of the performers. The committee asked the Council's opinion whether the names of the performers should be obtained and recorded, and it was decided that the fullest information should be obtained and recorded.

The Biographies Committee reported that only slightly over half the number of forms sent out had been returned, and asked those who had the remainder in their hands to send them in at an early date. Permission was asked to spend up to three guineas for the necessary albums, and also to incur expenditure in having certain photographs copied that were at present only on loan.

The report was adopted, together with a suggestion by the Standing Committee that the Biographies Committee be empowered to have all the necessary photographs copied to bring them to a uniform size. The committee were also authorised to obtain biographical details and photographs from present members of the Council, for future use, the committee having expressed the opinion that this course would save much trouble in the future.

A report, arising out of last year's discussion on the subject of increasing the circulation of 'The Ringing World,' said that the request to members of the Council and secretaries of affiliated societies for suggestions had an extremely disappointing result, and it was resolved to give a further opportunity for suggestions to be sent in.

The president presented a report upon the question of muffled ringing, which was approved in general outline, and when further information as to local customs has been obtained it will be submitted to the authorities of the Church for their approval.

CORONATION JOY BELLS.

HOW RINGERS CELEBRATED THE GREAT EVENT.

News from All Parts of the Country.

Everywhere throughout the country, from the tower of Westminster Abbey itself to the tiniest village church, the bells celebrated the Coronation of King George VI. and his Queen. A large number of peals were rung, many were attempted but lost, but in the vast majority of places the ringers were content with shorter lengths. We print to-day many interesting details with regard to Coronation Day ringing.

The peal records, elsewhere, begin with the achievement at Westminster Abbey, where, after the King and Queen had left, a peal of Stedman Triples was rung.

Listeners throughout the world heard over the ether the ringing of the bells at St. Margaret's, Westminster, as their Majesties approached the Abbey, and at the climax of the wonderful service, when the King was crowned, the 'firing' of the bells of the Abbey. Then, after the ceremony and before the peal began, the bells were 'fired' 42 times—the King's age—separated by the Queen's change, as a salute for Her Majesty.

A peal was begun immediately after the Abbey service at St. Clement Dances in the Strand and successfully completed, as recorded elsewhere.

It had been hoped to attempt a peal at St. Martin's-in-the-Fields, but a stand erected on the roof of the church made continuous ringing for this length of time impossible. However, the Cumberland Youths rang touches of Stedman Cinques and a course of Cambridge Surprise Maximus during the afternoon, in which the following members took part: Mrs. G. H. Cross, Miss J. Thompson, G. Radley, J. H. Cheesman, H. Hovard, H. E. Audsley, H. Parkes, F. J. Cullum, J. Bailey, T. Newman, N. Summerhayes, G. W. Steere, W. J. Nudds and G. H. Cross.

Ringings took place also at many of the London churches. The peal attempt at St. Paul's Cathedral had to be postponed until Saturday, when, however, it was unfortunately lost after two and a quarter hours' excellent ringing.

At Kingston Magna, Dorset, the bells were rung at intervals from 5.30 a.m. to 10 p.m. and 'fired' as a bonfire was lit at nightfall.

A RECORD.

'Teddy' Barnett, of Crayford, has made another record, and one which will probably stand for a long while. He is only eighteen years of age, but the Coronation peal which he conducted was his one hundredth peal in his own tower, and is the third generation of his family to reach this number, for both his father and grandfather surpassed this number at Crayford.

At SS. Peter and Paul's Church, Farningham, Kent, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Doubles: G. Mills 1, F. Mason 2, W. Wingate 3, J. Couchman 4, A. Bates (conductor) 5, B. Garman 6.

A band who only started method ringing in October last year rang a quarter-peal of Grandsire Doubles at Longparish, Hants. It was their first quarter-peal and first attempt. They are all Sunday service ringers: G. Brown 1, F. Tonge 2, A. Boudall 3, A. Turton 4, L. Trickey 5, F. Sully 6. The conducting was shared by A. Boudall and L. Trickey. An attempt for a peal on the following evening failed in the 20th extent.

HARD LUCK FOR BOURNEMOUTH RINGERS.

The St. John's, Bournemouth, ringers had hard luck with a peal of Stedman Triples. After three hours' excellent ringing, the bells just 'piled up' with only a few minutes to go. The band wish to congratulate the tenorman, Mr. F. Longman (who is in his 72nd year), on his steady ringing throughout the peal.

A 720 of Bob Minor was rung at Willingham, Lincs: W. Roberts 1, H. Bingham 2, P. A. Lunn 3, N. B. Thurlby 4, F. Scrimshaw 5, George L. A. Lunn (conductor) 6.

C. Sharpe 7, I. Beale 8.

MR. JAMES GEORGE COMES BACK.

It seems very fitting that on Coronation Day Mr. James George, who, by the way, is in his 84th year, should renew his peal ringing activities after an absence of 13 months. On Wednesday he rang the 7th at Thurstaston to a peal of Stedman Triples. He has lost none of the knack of putting a bell in its place, and to ring a 'five thousand' of Stedman without a single mistake is truly a remarkable performance, even for such an octogenarian.

A first quarter by all the band, who are Sunday service ringers, was scored at Ticknall, Derbyshire, on Coronation Day, 1,260 changes of Grandsire Doubles was rung by W. Scar 1, J. Hulse 2, G. Hill 3, T. J. Marriott (conductor) 4, F. Hulse 5, A. Woodward 6.

Coronation Day ringing at St. Margaret's Church, Uxbridge, consisted of a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples: Miss V. Cooper 1, Miss E. Bedford 2, G. Gutteridge 3, A. Bray 4, B. Marson (first 'inside') 5, F. Corke (conductor) 6, C. Nicholls 7, J. Childs 8.

After a peal attempt failed at Thatcham, Berks, on Saturday, May 15th, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples was rung by T. Fisher 1, H. Lawrenson 2, W. Warrick 3, Miss S. Davis 4, S. Quintin 5, G. Fowler 6, E. W. Rex (conductor) 7, C. Tilling 8.

Two twelve-year-old ringers achieved their longest lengths on Coronation Day. Enid Richardson, of Surfleet, daughter of the Master of Lincoln Diocesan Guild, rang her first quarter-peal, and to add to the distinction it was conducted by her mother—Mrs. Richardson's first quarter-peal as conductor. Unfortunately, his recent accident prevented 'daddy' taking part as well.

An outstanding performance was that at Wigston Magna, Leicestershire, where a peal of Spliced Surprise Major in seven methods, with a change of method at every lead, except three, when a Before was called, was rung. And its merit was enhanced by the fact that all the band are Sunday service ringers at the church, and that it was the first 'spliced' peal by all the band.

The Sunday service band at St. Mary's Cathedral, Glasgow, did well in scoring the first peal of Grandsire Caters for the Scottish Association. Only two of the ringers, the conductor (Mr. W. H. Pickett) and Mr. R. O. Street (of Cambridge University Guild) had previously rung a peal of Grandsire Caters.

Five of the bells at St. Edburgha's Church, Yardley, Birmingham, have rung for no fewer than twelve Coronations, for they date back to the early part of the 17th century. The present peal of six was completed by the addition of a treble to commemorate the Coronation of King Edward VII. in 1902. On Wednesday, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Doubles was rung on them by Conrad Phillips 1, Roland Edwards 2, Albert T. Scrivens 3, George H. Taylor (conductor) 4, William Mullock 5, John Lindon 6.

All the ringers who took part in the peal of Stedman Cinques at Walsall are Sunday Service ringers at St. Matthew's Church, and at Stourbridge, Worcestershire, a local band rang a peal of Grandsire Triples.

CELEBRATIONS IN FIVE REIGNS

At the Parish Church, Brighouse, for 9.30 a.m. service, the local ringers, assisted by a recruit from Stainland, rang 720 Kent Treble Bob Minor, after which the bells were 'fired' 41 times in royal salute: Jack Whitely 1, Arthur Hinchcliffe 2, George Drake 3, Cyril F. Sutcliffe 4, James Pulman 5, W. E. Holroyd (conductor) 6. The ringer of the 3rd has now rung for celebrations in five reigns.

Two ringers, A. White and E. Rodenhurst, who rang in the tower at Stanton-on-Hine-Heath, Salop, for the Coronation of King George V. on June 22nd, 1911, rang last Wednesday for the Coronation of King George VI. For the Coronation service, 960 Grandsire Doubles: J. Bayley 1, A. White 2, A. Bayley 3, A. Jones 4, E. Rodenhurst (conductor) 5, P. Davies 6.

The peal at East Ilsley, Berks, on May 5th, was specially arranged as a prelude to the Coronation festivities in the village.

The Coronation was celebrated at Marple, Cheshire, by the first peal on the bells by an entirely local band—a peal in two methods of Doubles. Two of the ringers, including a lady, rang their first peal at the first attempt, and two others, including the lady's husband, their first peal away from the treble. It was also Mr. A. Whiting's first peal as conductor.

Another good performance was at Kirkby-in-Furness, where five of the local band rang their first peal at the first attempt. The conductor was Mr. N. M. Newby, the district secretary of the Lancashire Association.

At Whittle-le-Woods, Lancs, a peal of Kent Treble Bob Major was rung. The ringers defied superstition and rang Mr. Arthur Knight's composition No. 13. It was a 5,088, reduced from 7,360, and was rung for the first time. Nothing untoward happened, so the superstition had another blow.

SO NEAR AND YET SO FAR.

The peal of Stedman Triples, rung at Dartford for the Coronation, had only just been completed, and the bells were being lowered in peal, when an ominous thump overhead announced the fact that the tenor clapper had broken off short below the staple.

Twin sisters and twin brothers took part in a peal of Bob Major at Sutton-on-Trent on Coronation morning. The Misses Kath and Grace Burchmell, who have rung over a hundred peals together and never one apart, rang the treble and 2nd, and Jack and Thomas Vessey, who were making their first attempt for an eight-bell peal, rang the 3rd and 4th. And they got up early to do so, for 'Go' was called at exactly 6 a.m.

This peal was called by Clifford Vessey, another brother, who later conducted the quickest peal rung at Barnby-in-the-Willows, Notts, where the tenor is only 6½ cwt. This was in seven methods, and occupied only 2 hrs. 24 mins. And yet another member of the family participated, for Miss Dorothy Vessey rang the 4th.

The bells of St. Hilda's Church, South Shields, were rung for a few minutes following the actual crowning of the King in Westminster Abbey. The bells had also been rung from 6.30 to 7 o'clock in the morning, and after the broadcast of the Abbey service 2,160 Bob Minor was rung: R. Keddie 1, T. F. Preston 2, S. Patterson 3, C. Lea 4, H. Lea 5, W. Robson (conductor) 6. This is a comparatively new band, it was the longest length by any of them except the conductor.

The quarter-peal (1,344 Bob Major) was rung by Miss Enid M. Richardson 1, C. Dobney 2, J. W. Carter 3, J. W. Flowers 4, C. C. Rawding 5, E. T. King 6, N. T. King 7, Mrs. R. Richardson (first quarter-peal as conductor) 8.

The other young ringer was F. Perrem, of Brampford Spoke, Devon, who scored his first 720, when he rang the treble to an extent of Bob Minor, the band being F. Perrem 1, W. J. Baker 2, W. J. Andrews 3, W. H. Key 4, H. J. Rowe 5, Rev. E. V. Cox (conductor) 6.

The first peal on the bells at St. Mark's Church, Bath, was rung on Coronation Day, and by a band all attached to the church.

In a peal of Doubles, with 4-6-8 covering, at Sunbury-on-Thames, four of the band rang their first peal at the first attempt, and another rang his first peal 'inside.'

For the broadcast Coronation service, in the Parish Church of St. Martin, Tipton, Staffs, a quarter-peal of Stedman Triples: W. Williams 1, N. Leech 2, B. Windsor 3, G. Hughes 4, R. Morton 5, A. Rowley (conductor) 6, C. Winwood 7, G. Morton 8.

The first 720 of Double Oxford by all but one of the ringers was rung at Bergh Apton, Norfolk: A. Boggis 1, L. Jermy 2, R. Warman 3, H. Boggis (conductor) 4, R. Drane 5, L. Lester 6. First by all, except the ringer of the third.

At Stavley, near Chesterfield, a quarter-peal of Bob Major (1,264 changes): Miss M. Harris 1, Lewis G. Palmer 2, George Willis 3, Frederick E. Parsons 4, Herbert Stowe 5, Dennis Parsons 6, William T. Palmer 7, Alfred E. Palmer (conductor) 8. First quarter-peal by the ringers of the treble and 3rd, and first quarter-peal 'inside' by the ringer of the 6th.

An attempt for Heywood's peal of Stedman Triples, at Kingsteignton Parish Church, Devon, failed after 2 hours 5 minutes' good ringing owing to a shift course: A. L. Bennett 1, H. G. Lewis 2, J. E. Lilley 3, C. R. Walker 4, E. J. Taylor 5, H. C. Collyer 6, C. R. Lilley (conductor) 7, H. J. Hole 8.

WEDDING GIFT AFTER CORONATION RINGING.

Touches of London and Bristol Surprise Major were rung on Coronation morning at Irthlingborough. At the conclusion of the ringing a set of carvers was presented to Mr. Fred Palmer, of Irthlingborough, as a wedding gift, the presentation being made by Mr. A. Y. Tyler (foreman). Mr. Palmer was married at the Rushden Independent Wesleyan Church on Saturday to Miss M. Lawson, of Rushden. The same day in honour of the Coronation and also as a wedding compliment an attempt was made for a peal of Superlative Surprise Major at Irthlingborough. After 1 hour and 20 minutes' good striking the peal was lost. The ringers were E. Shelton 1, B. Morris 2, H. Chambers 3, F. Tite 4, C. Bird 5, B. Saddington 6, A. Bigley 7, A. Y. Tyler (conductor) 8.

His Majesty is patron of the living of Landulph, Cornwall, and it was only natural that the bells there should be rung with special significance. Members of the Truro Diocesan Guild rang, first 720 Grandsire Doubles: Mrs. H. J. Clark 1, F. Hosking 2, G. Snell 3, H. M. Brown 4, H. J. Clark (conductor) 5, L. Clark 6. The first 720 by the treble and tenor ringers. This was followed by a quarter-peal of 1,320 Grandsire Doubles: R. Hosking 1, F. Hosking 2, G. Snell 3, H. M. Brown 4, H. J. Clark (conductor) 5, H. Hosking (first quarter-peal) 6. The conductor is one of His Majesty's tenants.

But the peal had been rung, and the ringers were more fortunate than a band at Yeovil, where a peal of Stedman Caters was lost at the very last change. We are informed that 214365879 came up—and then it 'bust.' What luck! We should have liked to hear the 'inquest' that followed.

HALF-PEALS.

Among the company was the veteran Robert H. Brundle, who although in his 86th year rang in both the Cambridge and Superlative Maximus—really a wonderful performance.

After 9 a.m. service further ringing took place with 'firing' at intervals. Time would not permit an attempt of a peal.

SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD.

SIGNS OF ADVANCE IN THE ART.

Hon. Secretary's Cheerful Outlook.

The Earl of Shaftesbury (president) presided over the luncheon and meeting of the Salisbury Diocesan Guild at their annual festival at Salisbury on May 1st. He was supported by the Bishop of Salisbury, the Dean of Salisbury, the Master (the Rev. R. H. Gundry, Ringwood), and the hon. secretary (the Rev. F. L. Edwards, Gillingham). A company including many clergy, and numbering 162, sat down.

The loyal toasts and that of the Bishop of the Diocese were honoured.

The annual meeting followed, and the hon. secretary, in his report, stated the number of peals rung was naturally below the outstanding record of 1935. The list included one notable achievement in the first peal of Cinques on the twelve bells of Trowbridge. It was rung by the local band, to whom cordial congratulations were offered. 'Considerable progress in change ringing is being made in different parts of the diocese,' continued the report. 'The formation of a ringing society at the Theological College is a step of great practical value; some of our younger enthusiasts are showing praiseworthy activity in training bands of beginners in the art, while more experienced bands are making steady advance under skilled direction. Practical proof of this fact is to be found in the peal record—as well as in the variety of methods rung at some of the brunch meetings.'

SATISFACTORY FEATURE OF PEALS.

A most satisfactory feature of the whole list of peals was that in no less than 31 out of the 37 rung one or more of the band scored a first peal, or else first in the method or the number of methods. The progressive company at Lyme Regis lost no time in inaugurating the new reign. Within a week of King George VI.'s accession to the Throne they rang the first peal of Bob Major ever accomplished by a local band in West Dorset, with the Vicar, the Rev. C. C. Cox, as conductor. The first peal of Cinques in the county of Wilts, in the diocese and by the Guild brought the record for 1936 to a memorable conclusion on the last day of the year.

'In the coming year,' stated the Master's report, 'I rejoice to see signs of an advance in the art of change ringing; there are more taking advantage of the services of the instructors and interest in different methods, so that there is every prospect of good peals being accomplished.' A great debt of gratitude was owed to instructors.

The statement of accounts showed the income for the year to be £67 4s. 9d. and the expenditure 60 18s. 11d., the credit balance being £66 13s. 4d., as against £60 2s. 6d. the previous year.

The report and accounts were adopted.

Officers for the ensuing year were elected as follows: Master, the Rev. R. H. Gundry; hon. secretary and treasurer, the Rev. F. L. Edwards; hon. assistant secretary, Mr. F. Green, Devizes; hon. auditors, the Rev. R. E. G. Newman, Gillingham, and Mr. H. R. Hopkins, Kingston Magna; committee, the officers of the Guild and of the branches, the Rev. Canon R. E. P. Gorrings and Mr. E. P. Field.

Messrs. W. J. Mees, Hilberton, and William Williams, West Lulworth, were elected life members, and Mr. H. D. W. Bishop, of Evershot, was appointed an instructor.

ADDRESS TO THE KING.

On the motion of the Earl of Shaftesbury, it was agreed to send the following loyal address to H.M. the King on the occasion of his Coronation: 'Members of the Salisbury Diocesan Guild of Ringers, assembled at their annual meeting in this year of the Royal Coronation, humbly desire to assure your Majesty of their loyal devotion to your throne and person, and pray that for many years to come it will be the privilege of the ringers of this ancient diocese of Salisbury to celebrate your Majesty's birthday with the music of the church bells.'

The sum of 19s. was voted to the Bishop Donaldson Memorial Fund. Mr. Jennings proposed that grants be made to the following towers: St. Peter's, Dorchester, Rampisham, Wyke Regis and Poole.

The Rev. A. Wilkinson Markby, whilst thanking the Guild for their kindness, said St. Peter's could now see their way to meet their needs and would like to stand down for some other tower in greater need (applause).

The other grants were passed.

MUSIC OF BELLS.

The Guild service was held in the Cathedral, when the Bishop, in his address, said the great significance of a bellringers' festival was that brethren of the craft, a holy craft, came together to realise the greatness of the contribution which they made to the united religious life of the country. There is in this country, declared the Bishop, no music so ancient as that to which we have listened in its miniature form in the course of this service (a peal was rung on handbells during the service). There is no music so widely diffused over the country, except, of course, in the miracle of broadcasting, there is none so widely spread and coming from so many points as the music of the church bells. There is no music in the land which engages so many instrumentalists at the same time as the church bells on any Sunday morning, Sunday evening or Coronation Day. 'God speaks through your bells, and you do well to make your ringing as scientific, as skilful and as beautiful as you can.'

About 400 attended the service, and the collection, £4 6s. 1d., was on behalf of the Cathedral Spire Fund.

The methods rung at the various churches through the day were Grandsire, Stedman, Plain Bob, Cambridge, London and Superlative Surprise.

MANCHESTER TOWN HALL BELLS.

FINE RING OF TWELVE FOR THE CITY.

An Eight-Ton Hour Bell.

Messrs. J. Taylor and Co. have just completed a magnificent set of bells for Manchester Town Hall, and they are crowned with an eight-ton bourdon on which the clock will strike. During the past few weeks drays with heavy hoisting tackle, followed by others with steel girders and then, later, others with bells, have created interest in front of the main entrance at Manchester Town Hall. Crowds of onlookers gathered to watch the manœuvring of the great compound girders of the new bell frame and the 'handing' of the larger bells up the steps and through the main doorway. All this was part of the work of rehanging the recast bells in the tower of the Town Hall, which is one of the few civic buildings to possess a ringing peal of bells.

There are now 24 bells all told, the great hour bell, weighing 8 tons, being hung in the dome of the tower, with the remaining 23 bells below. Thirteen of the bells are hung for ringing, there being a ring of 12, with tenor 43 cwt., note B, and, in addition, a sharp 2nd, so as to produce a true diatonic octave with the 8th as the tenor bell, which will be found to be very useful for practice purposes.

The other ten bells are hung rigid, and they, together with the 13 bells of the ringing peal, will be connected up to an electro-pneumatic player, whereby well-known tunes will be played at specified times of the day. When the Town Hall authorities placed the contract with Messrs. Taylor and Co., Loughborough, the wish was expressed that everything possible should be done so that the ringing peal would be in order for the celebration of the Coronation, and in the limited time at their disposal for a great work of this nature the bell foundry are to be congratulated on what they have accomplished.

The peal was formally opened at noon on Saturday, May 8th, the Lord Mayor of Manchester, Alderman J. Toole, giving the signal to commence the ringing. The ringers (members of the Police Force) then broke into rounds, and then was heard for the first time the beautiful effect as the trebles sounded out, followed down the scale by the larger bells. Grandsire Cinques and Treble Twelve followed.

Mr. J. Wilson, who is in charge of the bells, regrets that notice of the formal opening of the peal was too short to allow of any announcement in 'The Ringing World,' and he hopes that no one will feel aggrieved because they were not informed of the event. A few outsiders, however, either got to know of the ceremony or by chance heard the bells being rung, and upon ascending the tower were made welcome and took part in the ringing. Amongst the ringers present were Supt. P. R. Williams (president of the National Guild of Police Ringers), Mr. W. H. Shaker (secretary of the Lancashire Association), and visitors from Didsbury, Ashton, Reddish, Marple and Bolton, whilst Mr. J. P. Fidler represented Messrs. Taylor and Co., of Loughborough, the contractors for the whole of the bell restoration scheme. The work has included the recasting of 20 bells and adding three new smaller ones, the peal being equipped with modern fittings throughout, and hung in a massive cast-iron and steel framework upon a grillage of steel girders. The bells are inscribed as follows, each bearing a line from Tennyson's immortal poem, 'In Memoriam'—

Tenor.—M. C. Ring out the grief that saps the mind.

This peal of bells was recast and rehung in the Coronation year of King George VI., 1937.

22nd.—W. H. T. For those that here we see no more.

11th.—J. B. Ring out old shapes of foul disease.

10th.—J. G. Ring out the narrowing lust of gold.

9th.—W. B. Ring out the thousand wars of old.

8th.—J. M. B. Ring in the thousand years of peace.

7th.—P. F. W. Ring in the valiant man and free.

6th.—B. N. The larger heart, the kinder hand.

5th.—J. K. Ring out the darkness of the land.

4th.—J. G. L. Ring in the Christ that is to be.

The three smallest bells have no inscriptions.

The Loughborough foundry have added another glorious peal of twelve to their imposing record. The bells are now rung from the chamber above the previous ringing chamber, and the shorter draught will no doubt be much appreciated by all those who are familiar with the tower. There is no doubt that the Police Guild will make good use of this, their first ring of twelve bells.

PEALS OF DOUBLES.

The following motion was then discussed:—

That so much of all previous resolutions of the Council as defines or attempts to define what shall be recognised as a peal of Doubles be rescinded and that the following be substituted therefor:—

1. Peals of Doubles shall consist of 5,040 or more changes rung in:—
 - (a) True and complete Six-Scores, without interval between any two Six-Scores and without rounds or any other row being struck more than once before the next change is made.
 - (b) Round blocks consisting of two or more Six-Scores, provided that each of the Six-Scores which comprise the round blocks shall be itself a true and complete round block.
 - (c) Twelve-Scores known as Morriss' and Pitman's.
 - (d) Combinations of (a), (b) and (c) above or any two of them.
2. At the conclusion of 5,040 or more changes, rung in accordance with (1) above, one true touch of any length less than 120 changes may be added.
3. Peals of Doubles may be rung with or without a covering bell.

It was moved by Mr. Wilfred Wilson, in a 'maiden' speech. He reviewed the course of the controversy on Minor and Doubles peals, commencing with the Hereford meeting in 1928, and urged the Council to adopt his proposal as placing Doubles on the same basis as Minor, since the admission of the Bankes James arrangement.

The motion was seconded by Mr. E. C. S. Turner, and opposed by Mr. S. H. Wood and Mr. J. S. Goldsmith.

Mr. J. Hunt, Mr. C. T. Coles and Mr. P. J. Johnson spoke in support, the last-named on the ground that the Council should be consistent in its inconsistency.

An amendment, moved by Mr. Trollope and seconded by the Rev. H. Drake, to omit clause 2, was carried, but another amendment, moved by Mr. W. B. Kynaston and seconded by Mr. S. H. Hillier, to delete sub-clauses (b), (c) and (d), was defeated by a considerable majority, and the resolution, as proposed, was then adopted.

The Council by a large majority decided to meet next year at Leeds. Other places proposed were Leicester and Dublin.

CONGRATULATIONS.

On the motion of Mrs. Fletcher, seconded by Mr. Trollope, it was resolved to send a letter to the Ancient Society of College Youths congratulating them upon attaining their tercentenary.

On the suggestion of Mr. F. W. Rogers it was also decided to send a letter of congratulation to the Ladies' Guild on reaching their silver jubilee.

The subject of 'radio' bells was ventilated, but no action taken.

Mr. A. J. Harris broached the subject of the publication of notices of matters of major importance at least six months before the Council meeting, so that associations might have the opportunity of considering them at their own annual meetings.

It was pointed out that, to enable all associations to have this opportunity, motions would have to be handed in a year ahead.

The President ruled that no action could be taken that day as an alteration of the rules was involved, and due notice must be given.

PROPOSED MEMORIALS TO PAST MEMBERS.

It was resolved, subject to the scheme being carried out to provide a memorial to the late Canon H. J. Elsee, to subscribe a sum of three guineas. The scheme at present before the committee of the Lancashire Association consists of improvements in the tower of St. George's Church, Bolton, estimated to cost about £450.

A sum of three guineas was also provisionally voted to a scheme, if one were set on foot, for a memorial to the late Rev. B. H. Tyrwhitt Drake, who was librarian of the Council.

RAISING AND FALLING BELLS.

The President made reference to the practice in some places of jangling the bells up and down, and called attention to a previous resolution of the Council that bells should preferably be raised in peal, but where it was necessary to raise them otherwise it was desirable to raise them singly and in order. He hoped that ringers would adhere to this practice where they could not raise or lower the bells in peal.

An omnibus vote of thanks to all concerned in the arrangements for the meeting was passed, and hearty thanks were also accorded to the hon. secretary and Mrs. Fletcher, and to the president.

This brought the meeting to a close soon after 5 p.m.

Members and friends afterwards took tea at the County Hotel as the guests of the Kent County Association, and later there was a social evening.

Throughout the week-end there was much ringing done on the bells of the Cathedral and other churches in Canterbury and neighbouring places. There was also a tour of the grand old Cathedral conducted by Mr. Morton Pierce.

A fuller report of the meeting will be commenced in our next issue.

ALDERSHOT, HANTS.—On May 2nd, for evening service at the Church of St. Michael the Archangel, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples: Miss I. Tuck 1, Miss E. Southby 2, T. E. Denyer 3, G. W. Challen 4, W. Denyer 5, E. J. Gower 6, W. H. Viggers (first quarter-peal as conductor) 7, R. Kenward 8.

DON'T SCRUB YOUR HANDS!

To many people, the problem of getting the hands really clean without harming the skin is a serious one. Grease and grime, which become deeply ingrained into the pores of the skin, are extremely difficult to remove, and ordinary washing with soap or even scrubbing will fail to remove them completely. Housewives, particularly, who complain that their hands get ruined by the nature of their work, will find the preparation called DERMAFOAM, a real "godsend." DERMAFOAM just smoothes away dirt and grease without effort. It gets right down into the pores and removes every particle of grime, leaving skin beautifully supple and healthy.

Men, too—when you've finished that dirty job on the car, DERMAFOAM will quickly banish all grease and oil from your hands. It acts almost magically—working under and around the nails and into every minute crease, removing all trace of dirt in a flash.

Engineers, Painters, Car Mechanics, Printers — everyone — will welcome DERMAFOAM, the modern method of cleansing and protecting the hands.

THE COUNCIL MEETING.

Those who attended the Central Council meeting at Canterbury last week must have been quite satisfied with a day well spent. It was not an occasion when the agenda produced much diversity of opinion, except on the definition of what should constitute a peal of Doubles, but there was some very solid work done, which revealed once more the continued and useful activities of the committees of the Council and its officers. The proceedings of the Council have been reduced to a very businesslike basis, but despite this, the meeting lasted, in all, nearly five hours, and interest was thoroughly maintained throughout.

Canterbury is the only place which the Council has visited more than once, if we except Birmingham, where the preliminary meeting, to pass resolutions forming the Council was held, followed by a routine meeting two years later. The first annual meeting of the Council was held in London in 1891; it was not until 1905 that a visit was paid to Canterbury, and it is instructive to contrast the interest displayed in the meetings of the Council in those days with the present time, judged by the attendance. At the first Canterbury meeting, when the total membership of the Council was exactly a hundred, the attendance was 41. There have never been fewer at a meeting, but it was not much below the then average provincial gathering; for the ten meetings outside London up to that time had had an average attendance of only 45. Last week the attendance was 95, out of a total membership of 150. Only five members present in 1905 were at Canterbury in 1937. They were Canon Cole-ridge, the only person who has attended every meeting of the Council since its formation, and Messrs. J. H. Cheesman, C. Dean, R. Richardson and J. A. Trollope. Indeed, there are not many members left who were associated with the Council thirty-two years ago. Time, even so comparatively short a time, works wondrous changes, and one of the most noticeable differences is in the atmosphere of the gatherings. In these days the social distinctions have entirely disappeared.

This year's meeting was marked by an unprecedented incident. The rules debar any representative member of the Council from voting at a meeting if the affiliation fee of his society is unpaid. The President found himself in this rather unfortunate position, for the Cambridge University Guild, of which he is a representative member, had failed to pay the necessary fee before the meeting. The Council, therefore, took the step of electing the President an honorary member as a solution of the difficulty. It seems strange that so important a person as the President should be dependent for the discharge of his office upon the payment or otherwise of the current subscription of the society which he has been elected for three years to represent, but it was a position that was not foreseen when the rules were drafted. It might be well in future if steps were taken to place the three chief officers of the Council above this risk, because there may not always be vacancies among the hon. members of which advantage can be taken.

MORE RECORDS OF THE CELEBRATION.

Another attempt for the Coronation peal at St. Paul's Cathedral is to be made to-morrow. On Saturday week, the peal of Stedman Cinques came to grief after two and a half hours' ringing.

By a printer's error the peal on Coronation Day at St. Martin's, Birmingham, was described last week as Grandsire Cinques. The peal was Stedman Cinques. As a matter of fact, it is over 40 years ago—to be precise, on December 28th, 1896—that the last peal of Grandsire Cinques was rung there.

Among those who took part in the Coronation peal were Messrs. Walker, Mansell and Paddon Smith, who also rang in a peal of Stedman Cinques at St. Martin's for the Coronation of King George V. and Queen Mary, on June 22nd, 1911—the only twelve-bell peal rung on that date.

For a united service held on Coronation Day at St. Mary's Church, Fairford, a quarter-peal of Minor in different methods was rung after meeting short for Triples, viz., Double Court, Oxford Bob, Kent and Oxford Treble Bob and Plain Bob: B. Guy 1, Miss F. M. Hope 2, W. A. Law 3, E. Cooper 4, H. Accock 5, J. Hope (conductor) 6.

A quarter-peal of Grandsire Doubles was rung at the Old Church, Smethwick, Birmingham: T. Johnson 1, C. Hastings 2, R. Willetts 3, D. T. Matkin 4, S. O'C. Holloway (conductor) 5, F. Masters 6. All except the ringer of the 4th are members of the local band, and it was their second attempt for a quarter-peal.

A quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples was begun at St. James' Church, Taunton, at 6 a.m.: B. T. Holt (first quarter-peal) 1, J. Hunt 2, W. T. Jeanes (first quarter-peal with a bob bell) 3, A. A. Walker 4, A. H. Reed 5, H. Bungay 6, W. G. Gigg (conductor) 7, T. Jarman 8. At 9 a.m. a start was made for a quarter-peal of Stedman Triples, but a shift occurred in the last course of the 3rd part. J. Hunt has now rung for three Coronations.

SUFFOLK RINGING.

Ringling commenced at Halesworth, Suffolk, at 7 a.m. A royal salute was 'fired' on the bells, and touches of Kent Treble Bob Major, Bob Major and Triples were rung. The ringing was continued at intervals throughout the day.

At Wissett, too, the six bells were fired at 7 a.m. and touches of Grandsire Doubles rung by the local band at intervals until 3 p.m.

Ringling, which began at 9 a.m., carried on until 6 p.m. at Chediston, Suffolk, while at Wenhamston the bells rang before and after the united service at the Parish Church.

The newly-formed young band at Ramburgh rang the five bells in call changes and 'fired' a royal salute. Many touches were rung on the eight bells during the day at Southwold.

A Coronation touch was rung at Highclere, Hants, after evening service on Sunday, May 16th. It was 720 Bob Minor after meeting short for Triples: Miss Irene Knapp 1, A. Challice 2, Miss Doris Honeywell 3, P. Batchell 4, F. Knapp (conductor) 5, G. Chesterman 6.

Seven members of one family took part at Appleton, Berks, in a quarter-peal of Grandsire Caters (1,259 changes): F. S. White 1, F. C. White 2, G. Holfield, sen. 3, H. C. White 4, F. Messenger 5, A. H. White 6, C. G. White 7, G. Holfield, jun. (conductor) 8, R. White 9, F. White 10.

KING'S EMPLOYEES RING PEAL.

The only peal of bells on the King's Sandringham estate is at Dersingham (a mile from Sandringham), and it was fitting that a peal should be rung there on Coronation Day. The peal was rung by the regular Sunday service ringers, most of whom work on the estate. The Vicar took part in the peal.

The Coronation peal on the new bells at Croydon Parish Church was rung by twelve members of the regular Sunday service band, of whom six rang their first peal on twelve bells and one other his first ever. This is a good 'send-off' for the peal ringing history of this fine ring, the product of the local foundry.

A peal at Kidsgrove, Staffs, was in honour of the centenary of the church as well as of the Coronation.

At Moorside, Oldham, the Coronation peal, rung on May 10th, was also in honour of the diamond wedding of Mr. and Mrs. F. Crossland, of New Earth Street, Oldham.

The ringers of the Priory Church of St. Mary, Lancaster, must be a proud band. Their peal of Grandsire Triples on Coronation Day was the first peal by all the band.

At Willesden on May 11th, 1,440 Spliced Bristol, London, Cambridge and Superlative Surprise Major: F. B. Bartley 1, J. A. Trollope 2, J. H. Riding 3, T. J. Lock 4, Miss K. M. Bradford 5, C. C. Mayne 6, H. Kilby 7, E. C. S. Turner (conductor) 8. Rung after an unsuccessful peal attempt for the same methods.

At Kilmersdon, Somerset, a quarter-peal of Doubles, consisting of three six-scores of Plain Bob, three of Old Doubles and 42 Grandsire: E. Connock (first quarter-peal) 1, H. K. Rhymer 2, R. W. Rhymer (conductor) 3, W. Johnson 4, E. H. Nash 5, F. Dredge (first quarter-peal) 6.

EARLY BELLS.

Ringling began at 6.10 a.m. at St. James Church, Taunton, with a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples: B. T. Holt 1, J. Hunt 2, T. Jeanes 3, A. Walker 4, A. H. Reed 5, H. Bungay 6, W. G. Gigg (conductor) 7, S. Jarman 8.

At Selby Abbey ringing began at 5.45 a.m. when an attempt was made for a peal of Kent Treble Bob Major. This, however, came to grief owing to a 'change course' after 1½ hours' ringing, but afterwards a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples was rung, with F. Cryer taking the place of W. Terry, of Hemingbrough: F. Cryer (Selby) 1, Mrs. E. Bradley 2, Miss M. D. Hawley 3, F. Terry (Hemingbrough) 4, R. H. Vigor 5, H. S. Morley, conductor (Selby) 6, E. Bradley 7, T. H. Foster (Selby) 8. Ringers of 2, 3, 5 and 7 from Sherburn-in-Elmet.

The peal at Hethersett, Norfolk, was begun at 6.17 a.m. It was rung by the local company, with the inclusion of the hon. secretary of the Norwich Diocesan Association as conductor.

Messrs. Cotton, Dexter and Taylor, who took part in a peal of Stedman Cinques on the new ring of twelve bells at Leicester Cathedral, rang in peals in the same tower for the Coronations of King Edward VII. and King George V.

The bells at Apsley End, Herts, went into changes at six minutes to six a.m. and came round at 8.38. That was an early start. At the conclusion of the peal the bells were fired.

One of the earliest peals in the area of the North Staffordshire Association was rung at Norton, where seven Surprise methods were begun at 6.40 a.m.

A HAPPY COINCIDENCE.

Mr. John Flint, of Bolsover, rang his 500th peal on Coronation Day—a very happy coincidence. It was also the 150th peal which he and Mr. Jesse Moss had rung together.

The first peal of Stedman Triples in West Dorset ever rung by a local band was scored at Lyme Regis, under the conductorship of the Vicar (the Rev. C. C. Cox). The band are all Sunday service ringers and three of them rang their first peal of Stedman.

The treble to a peal of Kent Treble Bob at Lindley, Huddersfield, was rung by Geoffrey Gee, a 16-year-old youth, who thus rang his first peal after only six months' training. He had never rung the method before, and his striking roused the admiration of the whole band.

The local band at Evershot, Dorset, rang a peal of Doubles in seven methods, and special credit is due to Maurice Batten, who scored his first peal at the first attempt. He was 15 years 14 days old on Coronation Day and only learned to handle a bell 16 months ago.

The band who rang the peal at Monk Bretton, Yorks, afterwards went on to Barnsley and were hospitably entertained by Mr. C. D. Potter.

Prior to 8 a.m. Communion service, at Chilvers Coton, Warwickshire, a quarter-peal of Stedman Triples: C. E. Rayson 1, H. Harris 2, J. Draycott 3, Mrs. D. E. Beamish 4, P. Stone 5, J. Gibbons 6, A. H. Beamish (conductor) 7, J. E. Moreton 8.

At Christ Church, Swindon, Wilts, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Caters (1,259 changes): A. Lawrence 1, R. G. Townsend 2, S. Palmer 3, W. W. T. Daniel 4, H. W. Bishop 5, W. B. Kyuaston (conductor) 6, A. G. Wells 7, H. W. L. Wells 8, E. J. Berry 9, A. E. W. Smith 10.

At St. Mary's Church, Southampton, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Caters (1,331 changes): J. W. Faithfull (conductor) 1, H. Smith 2, E. J. Trimmer 3, R. Curtis 4, N. Curtis 5, L. M. Squires 6, F. Mursell 7, H. Reeves 8, E. Brown 9, J. Elliott 10. Roy Faithfull was the reserve for the occasion.

A HALF-PEAL

At Ottery St. Mary, Devon, on Coronation Day, a half-peal of Grandsire Triples, 2,520 changes (the first half of Holt's Ten-Part), was rung in 1 hour 34 minutes: Victor Pyne 1, John H. Godfrey, jun. 2, Lewis Hine 3, Charles J. Turner (conductor) 4, John H. Godfrey 5, Edward Marks 6, John Arbury 7, Robert Wood 8. It was the longest touch of Grandsire for all the band with the exception of the 5th and 7th ringers.

Three local ringers scored their first quarter-peal at Bray, Berks, on May 12th, when 1,260 Grandsire Doubles was rung by N. Tomalin 1, W. Clark 2, F. J. Russell (conductor) 3, B. G. Ludlow 4, H. W. Russell 5, J. Hine 6. It was the first quarter-peal by ringers of 1, 2 and 6, and all the band are regular service ringers at this church, where the tenor is 27 cwt. and the bell frame is supported on stanchions carried up from the ground floor.

A quarter-peal of Grandsire Doubles was rung at All Saints' Church, Weston, Bath: R. Brewer (first quarter-peal) 1, G. H. Cross, sen. 2, G. H. Cross (first quarter-peal away from treble) 3, G. Brewer 4, S. S. Woodburn (conductor) 5, G. Drew 6.

At Chattham, Kent, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples: R. Norris 1, H. Poulter 2, D. T. Hills 3, F. G. Southgate 4, F. Belsey (conductor) 5, C. E. J. Norris 6, W. A. J. Knight 7, G. Lawrence 8.

After ringing for service at 8.45 a.m., the ringers of Manaccan, Cornwall, met again at 2 p.m. for a peal of Doubles. The conductor, Mr. J. Ninnies, whose first attempt at conducting a peal it was, had unfortunately a badly sprained ankle. However, he gallantly made the attempt, but after half an hour he was only able to stand on one foot. In spite of this, he went on to call the bells round to a splendid quarter-peal (1,260 changes). All 10 callings were used—a very creditable performance at a first attempt with a dog 'gnawing at your foot': O. Lovesy 1, C. F. Jerram 2, R. Vague 3, E. Cossentine 4, J. Ninnies 5, J. Vague 6.

As a prelude to the Coronation festivities at Crawley, Sussex, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples was rung: C. Charlton 1, Reginald V. Johnson 2, Miss F. Whymman 3, Cecil Ince 4, K. Snelling 5, N. Elliott 6, O. Sippetts (conductor) 7, W. Diplock 8.

Miss Peggy Marsh, of Lytchett Matravers, Dorset, is probably the youngest ringer to ring a peal on Coronation Day. She is only eleven years of age and is to be congratulated on ringing her first peal upon such an auspicious occasion. She had rung her first quarter-peal two days earlier, for a Confirmation service. In both she rang the treble and the method was Grandsire Doubles.

Another young ringer to score his first peal during the Coronation celebrations was Reginald W. Collis, of Croft, Leicestershire, who, at 13 years of age, rang the treble to a peal of Doubles in five methods. Harry Cheesman scored his first peal at the age of 14, at Banstead, on May 17th; and it was a peal of Stedman Triples, too.

The Coronation peal rung at St. Giles', Camberwell, by the London County Association was also as a compliment to the Master of the association, Mr. T. H. Taffender, who had received direct from His Majesty the King the King's Coronation Medal for his service as a senior supervising officer in the General Post Office.

LOYAL SENTIMENTS ON OLD BELLS.

At Pavenham, Beds, where a Coronation peal was rung on the five bells on May 15th, the 2nd bell is inscribed, 'God save the Queen, 1602,' and the tenor, 'God save the King.'

The Coronation peal at Mullion, Cornwall, was the first peal on the bells. The peal of Doubles at Rampisham, Dorset, was also the first peal on the bells, which have recently been rehung by Messrs. Taylor and Co.

A quarter-peal of Oxford Bob Minor was rung at St. Margaret's Church, Barley, Herts: V. Lee 1, W. Chapman (first 'inside') 2, W. Mannfield 3, H. Howard 4, W. Tack 5, R. Howard (conductor) 6.

On May 15th at Holy Trinity Church, Watermoor, Cirencester, a quarter-peal of Stedman Triples: F. J. Lewis, sen. (conductor) 1, H. L. Cooke 2, Miss Kathleen E. Fletcher 3, Miss Dorothy R. Fletcher 4, H. C. Bond 5, H. S. Parsons 6, W. H. Hayward 7, W. G. Cook 8. Misses Fletcher are from Beaconsfield, Bucks.

At St. Katherine's Church, Merstham, Surrey, 720 Bob Minor: Alec Cheasely 1, George Welch 2, Charles Killick 3, Bernard H. Wells 4, Robert Andrews 5, James Batters (conductor) 6. Afterwards the bells were 'fired' and lowered in peal.

For 10 a.m. service at Burnham, Bucks, a quarter-peal (1,280 changes) of Bob Major by local band: M. A. Blamey 1, P. A. Blamey 2, J. E. Taylor 3, C. A. Burgess 4, B. O'Neill 5, G. W. Limmer 6, G. H. Limmer 7, G. Gilbert 8. From 8 a.m. until 8 a.m. early celebration, touches of Little Bob, Kent and Bob Major were rung by the same band.

In the evening at Hitcham, Bucks, a quarter-peal of Minor (consisting of 720 Plain Bob, 360 Canterbury Pleasure and 180 Single Oxford): H. Webb 1, Miss J. A. Blackman (Wokingham) 2, A. J. N. Rance (Binfield) 3, W. C. Woodley 4, R. W. Walker 5, J. E. Taylor (Burnham) (first quarter-peal as conductor) 6. First quarter-peal of Minor by 1, 3 and 4, who are local men.

The Coronation peal at Barton-on-Humber on May 15th was also rung as a compliment to Miss M. Eayres and Mr. G. Johnson, both members of the local band, on the occasion of their marriage, and in honour of the birth of a son to Mrs. H. J. Chapman, wife of another local ringer, who took part in the peal.

A band who had arranged a Coronation peal at Stamford, Lincs, on Whit Monday, looked like being one short for the attempt, but Mr. W. H. Smith stepped into the breach at the last moment to ring the treble, and the peal was successful. The rest of the company are grateful to Mr. Smith for his kindness.

CITY WITHOUT BELLS.

The city of Ely was without bells for Coronation Day. The ring of eight at St. Mary's Church are silent, as the foundation beams and frame have been condemned, and it is feared that ringing would damage the tower. It is hoped a restoration may soon be undertaken, but matters have been delayed, as the parish at present is without a Vicar.

The peal rung at Marlow, Bucks, for the Coronation was the first in the tower for 33 years!

The band which rang the peal of Stedman Cinques at St. Nicholas' Church, Liverpool, on May 15th, in honour of the Coronation, was practically a 'local' band, Mr. J. Ridyard, who hails from Southport, being the only member who could not be strictly termed 'local.'

It is interesting to recall that the last occasion on which a local band rang a peal of Stedman Cinques at St. Nicholas' was for the late Queen Alexandra's funeral (November 28th, 1925). Messrs. Newton, Hammond, Cave, Davies and Caunce were in both peals.

A quarter-peal of Bob Major in honour of the Coronation was rung at Overseale, Derbyshire, on Whit Sunday for evensong: H. C. Adams 1, G. W. Clayfield 2, L. Freeman 3, W. Brooker 4, W. E. Clayfield 5, P. W. Grice 6, J. W. Cotton 7, W. H. Curson 8. First quarter-peal of Major by the local band.

A touch of 1,764 Grandsire Triples was rung on May 15th at Harwell, Berks, to commemorate the Coronation: H. Bishop 1, W. V. Webb 2, G. F. James 3, W. Lambell 4, R. G. Rice (conductor) 5, E. R. Robey 6, J. Nobes 7, E. Mulford 8.

A quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples was rung on Coronation Day at Hatfield, Herts: R. Young 1, A. Shepherd (conductor) 2, S. W. Cull 3, J. G. Dunham 4, W. T. Holmes 5, H. Nobbs 6, A. R. Lawrence 7, L. V. Cull 8.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

Mr. Maurice Atkins was a sufferer from the failure of the Cambridge University Guild to pay the affiliation fee for its representatives on the Central Council. He broke his holiday in Devonshire and travelled all the way to Canterbury—for nothing.

We regret to record the sudden death of one of the band of ringers at St. Paul's Cathedral, Melbourne, Australia. Mr. J. Birtles, who was a native of Great Budworth, Cheshire, expired suddenly while attending a dog show on Easter Monday.

If anyone should ask Messrs. John Worth and Wilfred Stevenson, of Macclesfield, what they think of the view of the Manchester Ship Canal from Warrington Swing Bridge, they will be surprised at the lack of these ringers' appreciation of a wonderful piece of engineering.

They had been invited to take part in the Coronation peal at St. Nicholas', Liverpool, and were held up en route at the bridge for 20 solid minutes. They arrived finally at the tower just in time to hear the bells break into rounds.

Albert Tyler, a son of the late Mr. Jesse Tyler, who rang the treble to a peal of Stedman Cinques at St. Mary Redcliffe, is only 14 years of age and has just left Redcliffe School. His only two previous peals have also been Stedman Cinques.

Among the visitors to this country for the Coronation are the Ven. Archdeacon Blackwood and Mrs. Blackwood, of Hobart, Tasmania. The Archdeacon is Vicar of Holy Trinity, where two peals were rung on the Australian tour in 1934, and the tourists are looking forward to meeting these visitors before they return to the other side of the world. This week they have been spending a day or two with Mr. and Mrs. Rupert Richardson at Surfleet.

The King has been pleased to acknowledge through his private secretary a letter of loyal assurances on the occasion of their Majesties' Coronation sent by the St. Mary's Cathedral, Glasgow, Society.

Mr. Tom Fowler, of Cookham, a well-known member of the Oxford Diocesan Guild, won the 75 yards race for grandfathers, starting from scratch, at the local Coronation festivities. His prize was a bread knife. A few years ago he won two pairs of hair brushes in one day—and he was as bald then as he is now!

LOST PEALS.

HOW MANY FAILURES?

In due course reports of all the peals rung in celebration of the Coronation will be published in these columns. Up to the present we have received records of over 200.

It would add interest in the activities of ringers on this historic occasion if it were possible to ascertain how many Coronation peals were lost. Will our readers help us to do this by sending a postcard in all cases where a peal was lost, stating

Date of attempt

Method
Time rung

CAMBRIDGE U.G. OFFICIALS' APOLOGY.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—May we, through the medium of your paper, express our regret that, owing to an oversight, the Cambridge University Guild was blacklisted at the recent Central Council meeting for non-payment of subscription.

We tender our apologies to all concerned, and especially to the Guild's representatives.

ROGER D. ST. J. SMITH, Master.

MICHAEL B. SHAW, Hon. Secretary.

THE PEAL AT ST. MARY'S, WALTHAMSTOW.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—I find that I made an erroneous claim in connection with the peal of Yorkshire Surprise Royal rung at Walthamstow on April 24th, as about six years ago a similar peal was rung on the bells. I should, of course, have known better, but I was 'aided and abetted' in this error by some ringers in the earlier peal. I rather fancy they imagined the date to be April 1st instead of the 24th. With apologies to all concerned.

C. T. COLES.

SCHOOLBOYS' QUARTER-PEAL.

At East Buckland, Devon, on May 3rd, the West Buckland School Guild of Ringers rang a quarter-peal of Doubles, being 660 of Stedman and 600 of Grandsire rung in alternate six-scores: J. A. Turner 1, P. R. Dale 2, H. L. Morgan 3, E. V. Westcott 4, the Rev. J. E. B. Andrews (conductor) 5, F. P. W. Bray 6.

First quarter-peal by ringers of 1 and 6, and first quarter-peal 'inside' by ringer of 4th. It was the first quarter-peal in two methods, or in either Grandsire or Stedman, by any of the band.

The boys have been ringing Stedman since February, but they rang their first 120 of Grandsire only last week.

MEMBERSHIP OF THE COUNCIL.

After the Council had been welcomed by Canon Helmore, the hon. secretary (Mr. G. W. Fletcher) reported that the Council had now 50 affiliated societies, entitled to elect 138 members. The total elected was 135. There were 15 honorary members. All subscriptions had been paid except those of the Durham and Newcastle, North Wales and North Notts Associations and Cambridge University Guild (of which the president is one of the representatives).

Mr. A. Paddon Smith said it was unfortunate that the Cambridge University Guild subscription had not been paid. It made it impossible under the rules for the president to speak or vote at that meeting, because he was a representative of the Guild. That was an impossible position for the Council to be in, and in order to regularise the situation he had great pleasure in proposing that the president be elected an honorary member of the Council.

Mr. S. H. Wood, in seconding, said, as a member of the Cambridge University Guild, he would like to express regret that the omission of the Guild had placed the president in that rather unfortunate situation.

The motion was carried with applause.

The President proposed that a message of loyalty and congratulation be sent to the King upon his Coronation.

The text of the message (which was carried by acclamation), together with the King's reply, was published in our last issue.

On the motion of Mr. J. A. Trollope, seconded by Mr. C. F. Johnston, the following retiring hon. members were re-elected: The Rev. H. S. T. Richardson, Messrs. A. A. Hughes, E. C. S. Turner and S. H. Wood.

Two members attending a Council meeting for the first time were presented to the president.

Apologies for absence were received from the Rev. Canon C. C. Marshall (Yorkshire Association), the Rev. E. V. Cox (Devon Guild), the Rev. W. M. K. Warren (Bath and Wells Association), Messrs. R. G. Black (Peterborough Diocesan Guild), H. Barton (Winchester and Portsmouth Diocesan Guild), G. Chester (Lincoln Diocesan Guild), G. Lindoff (Irish Association), W. H. J. Hooton, hon. Librarian (Midland Counties Association), S. E. Armstrong (Sussex County Association), G. R. Newton (Lancashire Association), E. P. Duffield (Essex Association), C. J. Sedgley (Suffolk Guild), A. E. Sharnan (Bedfordshire Association), K. Thacker (North Staffs and District Association), W. Saunders (Shropshire Association), G. E. Barrett (Norwich Diocesan Association), S. H. Symonds (Suffolk Guild), W. T. Cockerill (Ancient Society of College Youths), F. Colclough (North Staffs Association), C. H. Woodberry (Worcestershire Association), W. J. Davidson and W. H. Barber (Durham and Newcastle Association), H. E. C. Goodenough and C. W. Woolley (Hertford County Association), Alderman J. S. Pritchett, the Rev. H. S. T. Richardson and Mr. C. W. Roberts (hon. members).

LOSSES BY DEATH.

The President referred to the loss of members and past members by death. They included the Rev. A. H. F. Boughey, an hon. member of the Council from 1892 to 1928, and president from 1918 to 1920. The President said they all knew Mr. Boughey so well that he need say little about him at that moment, except, possibly, to refer to his extraordinary capacity for teaching young ringers both on handbells and in the tower. A great many of his pupils had occupied positions of importance in the Exercise, particularly among the clergy.

Others who had passed on were the Rev. E. W. Carpenter, representative of the Kent County Association and afterwards an hon. member, a member of the Council 1891-1932; Mr. F. Wilford, Central Northants and Peterborough Associations, a member of the Council 1904-1936; Mr. A. Coppock, Midland Counties Association and Sherwood Youths, a member of the Council 1924-1935; Mr. J. Phillips, Lincoln Guild, a member of the Council 1932-1935; Mr. H. S. Ellis, St. James' Society, a member of the Council 1912-1914; Mr. R. J. Dave, Sussex Association, a member of the Council 1909-1911; Mr. A. E. Wrecks, Lancashire Association, a member of the Council 1895-1896; and Mr. G. W. Stokes, Sussex Association, who was elected last year but never had the opportunity of attending a meeting.

Referring to the late Rev. E. W. Carpenter, the Rev. H. Drake mentioned that he was one of two famous brothers who served on the Council. Only a year or two before he died he gave a new treble bell to Stoke-by-Clare tower, had the bells rehung and taught a band of ringers.

The members stood for a few moments in silence as a mark of respect.

The minutes of the last meeting, held in London, having been printed, were taken as read, and adopted.

'GLOSSARY' STOCK TO BE GIVEN AWAY.

The report of the hon. Librarian was presented by the hon. secretary. It was as follows: The thanks of the Council are due to the following persons for gifts to the library: Canon Elsee (through Mr. Peter Crook); 'Carillons of Belgium and Holland' (Gorham Rice, 1915); 'Curiosities of the Belfry' (Briscoe, 1883); Church Bells of Leicestershire (North), Suffolk (North), Warwickshire (Tilley and Walters), Mr. R. A. Daniell: Note book, photo of Stedman's will. Mr. J. A. Trollope: 'Church Bells' ('Arts of the Church' series).

The only purchase has been a copy of the 'Tintinnologia' reprint. The library list is being revised.

As far as publications are concerned, I should be glad to have instructions for the disposal of 962 copies of the 'Glossary.' These might be sold at a reduced price if the Council thinks it advisable to circulate a book containing much out-of-date matter.

Stocks of the following books are exhausted: 'Rules and Decisions,' 'Model Rules for a Local Company,' 'Preservation of Bells.' The two latter are in demand and should be reprinted, while the stock of the 'Plain Major and Cater Methods' book is getting low.

The new book of 'Doubles and Minor Methods' and the book on the 'Law Affecting Church Bells' are in the press.

Two orders for books came from Australia, and a letter from Sydney asking for information about patent clappers for practice.

More than one inquiry for a book on double-handed handbell ringing had been received.

The secretary reported that the Standing Committee had considered the various recommendations in the Librarian's report. As to the disposal of the 962 copies of the 'Glossary,' the committee recommended that they be offered to associations free of charge, on payment of carriage, as it was thought they might be given away by the associations to people who would benefit from their use.

BOOKS TO BE REPRINTED.

With regard to 'Model Rules for a Local Company' and 'The Preservation of Bells,' the committee recommended that the reprinting be undertaken, and asked the Council to allow the committee to decide what number shall be printed, as they first wanted to make an estimate of the likely demand. As to a book on double-handed hand-bell ringing, the committee recommended that it be left to the officers to consider. The committee also recommended that a further supply of 'Hints to Instructors and Beginners' be printed.

The Rev. H. Drake suggested that the remaining copies of the 'Glossary' be destroyed. It did not seem to be right, he said, that they, as a Council, should continue to publish a book which the librarian said contained much that was out of date. Far too many were printed to start with, and he thought the best thing to do was to destroy the old copies and start making a new Glossary.

Mr. E. Alex. Young seconded the proposal, pro forma.

Mr. A. Paddon Smith said although the 'Glossary' was not entirely accurate, it contained very much useful information. The committee's proposal was that they should make use of it by distributing it free, on payment of postage, and that, he thought, the Council should do.

Mr. J. A. Trollope said the 'Glossary,' as far as it was a glossary, was one of the best books ever published by the Council. It was the work of Earle Bulwer, who devoted an enormous amount of research work to the compilation of the book. What was out of date about it was the final chapter, which consisted of about a quarter of the book; that was written before sufficient was known about the subject. The 'Glossary' itself was one of the best books the Council had ever issued.

Only the proposer voted for the motion to destroy the copies and all the recommendations of the committee were adopted, together with the suggestion of Mr. S. H. Wood that the final chapter of the 'Glossary' should be stamped 'out of date.'

THE PRESIDENT'S 'SHOP.'

The librarian's accounts showed that £18 18s. 2d. had been received from the sale of publications, and in addition 18s. from the Durham and Newcastle Association and 18s. 5d. from the president of the Council—making a total of £20 14s. 7d. After paying expenses there was a balance on the year of £14 3s. 5d.

The President said in the accounts he was down as an agent, having sold 18s. 5d. worth of books. It might interest members to know that he took a bagful of books with him to the annual meeting of the Kent County Association and opened a 'shop.' In about ten minutes he had 18s. 5d. in his pocket. He recommended that course of action to other members. There were still a number of copies of publications out on sale or return, and in these cases the librarian did not know what sales had been made, as there had been no return.

The hon. secretary said Mr. A. E. Sharman, of the Bedfordshire Association, had presented to the library a book written by Mr. Charles Herbert, of Woburn, containing all the 40,320 changes of Bob Major.

A vote of thanks was passed to all donors of books to the library.

FINANCIAL.

The statement of the Council's accounts was submitted by Mr. G. W. Fletcher, who is hon. treasurer. The receipts were as follow: Balance, Whitson, 1936, £68 16s. 3d.; affiliation fees, 1935-36 arrears, 10s.; 1936-37, £30 15s.; subscriptions, hon. members, £1 10s.; interest on Conversion Stock £2 9s. 8d.; interest on Consols, £2 10s. 4d.; sale of publications, £14 3s. 5d. The expenditure included: Publications, £1 1s. 1d.; 'Tintinnalogia' reprint, 6s.; Carter ringing machine (fees and expenses), £1 3s.; advertisements, £2 2s.; stationery, printing and postage, £10 9s.; Ringers' Directory, 2s.; balance in hand, £105 11s. 7d. The market value of the investments was £141 19s.

The accounts were adopted on the motion of Mr. A. A. Hughes, seconded by Mr. C. T. Coles (auditors).

CARTER RINGING MACHINE.

Mr. E. A. Young, as a trustee, reported on the Carter Ringing Machine. The machine had been examined, and although it showed signs of wear, they detected no particular fault. On account of alterations being carried out at the Museum, it could not be run on power, but the demonstrator revolved it by hand and it ran over a plain course of Grandsire.

Mr. Hughes, the other trustee, seconded the report, which was adopted.

The President said he had had a letter from Mr. G. F. Woodhouse, of Sedburgh, Yorks, who regretted that, owing to the distance, he could not bring his machine to Canterbury for demonstration. As he could not travel more than 20 miles an hour when conveying the machine, it would take him three days to do the journey. He hoped, however, to be able to demonstrate the machine to the Council at some time when they came north.

The Standing Committee reported that they had considered the agenda and recommendations thereon had been or would be placed before the Council.—This was adopted on the motion of the secretary, seconded by Mrs. Fletcher.

PEAL COLLECTION DELAYED.

The hon. secretary said he had received a letter from Mr. Gabriel Lindoff, dated May 12th, in which he said that owing to several members of the Peals Committee not having yet returned their selection of peals, he was still unable to hand in the completed collection.

This letter was adopted as the report of the committee, on the motion of Mr. J. A. Trollope, seconded by Mr. W. H. Hollier.

AN AUTHOR'S RIGHT TO A METHOD.

The report of the Methods Committee was as follows: At the last session of the Council we reported that the MSS. of the book on Surprise Major Methods and the third edition of the Minor Methods Collection had been handed over. The Council has already approved publication of these and it awaits favourable financial conditions.

During the past year the question has again been raised of forming a Register of Methods. We wish to point out that the committee has in working order a scheme by which all methods can be tabulated and indexed, and any information regarding them can be obtained in a very few minutes. This scheme will be explained in detail at Canterbury and the assistance of the Council asked in making it operative.

The MS. collection given by the committee to the Council's library at Shrewsbury contains 817 of the best of the Surprise methods, complete with a full lead, diagram, false course-ends and a comprehensive collection of suitable peal compositions. These are arranged on a plan by which any method can readily be turned up once the places in it are known.

In addition the committee has a manuscript collection containing several thousands of Surprise methods and other members of the Exercise (notably Mr. Driver and Mr. Lindoff) have large and more or less exhaustive collections.

There is, therefore, no lack of methods, and any information respecting them will readily be given to any ringers or band asking for it.

But perhaps that is not what is asked for. It seems that what some people want is a scheme by which, when a man has worked out a method which he has reason to believe has not previously been rung or published, he can register a claim to it as his composition and property. If that is what is wanted we fear it cannot be done. It might have been possible years ago when every method was considered to be a separate thing, each with its own composer and owner, but a study of the mathematical laws which control method construction has shown that methods are not independent, but that the existence of one implies the existence of many more. We cannot separate methods and say that this one is the composition of A and that of B, this one belongs to C and that to D.

Given the existence of Stedman's Imperial Bob, such methods as Norfolk and Peterborough and Cornwall and many others automatically follow. Cambridge and Yorkshire were undoubtedly composed quite independently of each other, yet a man who knows the construction of Cambridge knows that Yorkshire must exist and that its lead ends and rows must be thus and not otherwise. It would be absurd to give to the man who first composed a method the credit for all those which spring from it about which he knew nothing, and it is impossible to consider any man as the author of a method which could have been got from an older one by merely mechanical means, no matter how it actually was got. Further, during the last 30 years many clever men have been working at methods, some on comprehensive and exhaustive lines. Their work overlaps and the same method may and probably has been composed by several persons. Between them it is not possible to distinguish. The old test of priority of publication altogether breaks down, for the vast numbers have never been published, yet no one can say they have not been composed. If A writes out a method on Monday and B works out the same on Saturday, quite independently, it is difficult to see why A should be considered the exclusive owner, especially as he may merely have more or less blindly written out some figures while B had worked on some definite plan. Therefore, even if a man could prove that he was the first to write out the lead of any method, we cannot see that he has acquired any ownership or proprietary right.

We must, however, emphasise the fact that this does not diminish the credit which rightly belongs to those men who have made so many good methods available for the Exercise. These men have the right to claim that they have composed methods. It is the claim to ownership and exclusive rights that fails.

Mr. J. A. Trollope formally moved the adoption of the report and Mr. E. C. S. Turner seconded. The latter remarked that the committee had the proofs of the new edition of the Doubles and Minor book in hand, and they hoped it would be on the market very soon. They noted that the librarian had reported that the Plain Major methods was nearly sold out. The committee would take the reprinting of it in hand.

The report was adopted.

AN INDEX FOR METHODS.

Mr. S. H. Wood moved the following recommendation on behalf of the committee: That in order to assist the Council in keeping up to date a Register of Methods which have been rung, the secretaries of affiliated associations be asked to forward to the Council the figures of any method rung for the first time and the composition, together with particulars of first performance. Mr. Wood said that practically as long as he could remember, speaking campanologically, the Exercise had been calling, about every six months, for two things. The first was a register of compositions and the second a register of methods. So far a register of compositions had been ruled out as impracticable, and, as far as he could see, it would be impracticable for many years to come, for these two reasons: As far as he knew there was no method of working out all the possible compositions of even one method, say Bob Major, and if it was possible to work them all out, was there anybody in that Council who would be prepared to say whether any particular two of them were the same compositions, or variations, or different compositions?

In regard to methods, however, they were on very different ground. There was nothing to prevent somebody writing out all the possible

Surprise Major methods, except that it would probably take longer than one man's lifetime; but it was a perfectly straightforward job. Although, perhaps, no one in that room was prepared to say how many there were, there was a definite number. Unlike compositions, there was no question of any two methods being the same; therefore, it was possible to have a register of methods. It seemed to him, however, that what was really required was a system of indexing, so that any method could be placed in its proper category and thus avoid two methods being rung under the same name, or two names given to the same method.

There were in existence a number of registers of methods—there was nothing new about that. The Records Committee had a very excellently kept register, which was indexed by names, but if somebody rang a new method and gave it a name there was no simple way of finding out whether those figures had been previously rung under a different name, which was what, it seemed to him, the Exercise really wanted. He had been working on a system lately which would fulfil the requirements. He need not describe the system, but it would be sufficient for the Council to know that if he were given half a lead of a Surprise Major method, he could tell them in less than one minute whether it had been rung before, and, if so, give them details. It was based upon the half-lead end, which was the first of the two rows in which treble lay behind. He had worked out all the possible half lead ends which would give regular methods. There were 1,116 of them, and they were written out in the index.

Mr. Wood proceeded to show by the example of Cambridge how the system worked, and went on to say that the recommendation asked that the Council should be furnished with the details of methods claimed to be rung for the first time, and as soon as they got the figures they would be able to say if they had been rung before. He thought it was clear that if a band wanted to make certain before ringing a new method, that had not been previously rung, they should write to the Council or to him and he would be glad to reply by return of post.

Mr. E. C. S. Turner seconded the motion, which was carried.

THE PEALS ANALYSIS.

The Council next had before them the report of the Peals Analysis and Records Committee, published in our issue of April 23rd last.

Mrs. Fletcher, in moving its adoption, said that since the publication of the report it had been pointed out that a peal of Bob Minor, published as a non-association peal, had been credited to the Ely Association and this alteration had been made in the records. A peal in seven Surprise Major methods was omitted from the list of new methods and this had now been included.—Mr. G. R. Pye seconded the report.

Mr. A. D. Barker asked for information about the peals of Doubles which had included a method described as Oxford Singles.

The President said they had found out that Oxford Singles was a method with one bell lying eight consecutive blows behind. The Standing Committee had passed a recommendation that the Council regret that such a method should be rung, considering the number of methods there are. He added that with regard to the peal of Minor, in which an odd course of Woodbine Treble Bob had been rung, the Standing Committee recommended that further inquiry be made to ascertain at what stage of the peal this addition was included.

Mr. W. Ayre said the peals which included Oxford Singles were rung for his own association, the Hertford. He intended to bring the matter up before the association and suggest that these peals be deleted from the records.

ADVANTAGES OF HANDBELL PEALS.

The Rev. F. L. Edwards referred to the decrease in the number of handbell peals. The ringing of handbell peals should be encouraged as much as possible. He thought there were three advantages in handbell ringing. First it required a larger amount of skill and that was all to the good of the Exercise and progress. Second, it could be done without any annoyance to the neighbourhood, and, third, it was much easier for four people to meet for repeated attempts than it was for a larger number.

There was also, said Mr. Edwards, a serious decrease in the number of ringers ringing their first peal. So far as the Salisbury Guild, which he represented, was concerned, he was glad to say it was a conspicuous exception. In a large proportion of the peals rung by the Guild there was a ringer who rang his first peal or his first in the method. One other point he had noticed in the report was that seven peals were rung on royal occasions or birthdays and over 200 birthday peals as compliments to one or another of the band. It was very nice and very friendly to have these birthday peals rung, but he thought ringers would do well to consider the attitude of the general public towards it. The public could understand a peal rung for a royal birthday, but a peal for the birthday of an individual ringer appealed to no one outside the band of ringers. Ringers would do well to make the occasion for peals in these days more occasions of public interest (hear, hear).

Mr. J. S. Goldsmith, referring to the committee's statement that their inquiries as to Oxford Singles had not, at the time of the report, brought forth any information, moved that it be an instruction to the committee that, when necessary information is not forthcoming, when the statistics are made up, the peals should be ignored

THE DEVONSHIRE GUILD.

The 63rd annual meeting of the Devonshire Guild was held at Newton Abbot on Whit Monday with a gathering of about 150 members and friends from all the branches of the Guild. A service in St. Leonard's Chapel, conducted by the Rev. C. E. W. Russell, Rector of Wolborough, with Mr. C. R. Walker at the organ, was heartily rendered.

Luncheon was served at the Globe Hotel, followed by the business meeting, with the president (the Rev. E. V. Cox) in the chair. Reference was made to the death of Bishop Cecil, and the meeting stood in silence in respect to his memory as a worthy patron of the Guild. The president announced that his successor, Dr. Curzon, had consented to continue the patronage.

The report and statement of accounts for 1936 as published were adopted. The officers were re-elected as follows: President, the Rev. E. V. Cox; eleven vice-presidents, of whom three were present; general secretary, Mr. T. Laver; general treasurer, Mr. T. G. Bartlett; auditor, Mr. J. C. Oke; and honorary members' representative to committee, Mr. A. Langman. Two places were proposed for the annual meeting in 1938, Cullompton and Plymouth, and on a show of hands Cullompton was chosen by a large majority. Six ringing and one honorary members were elected, and two from Ilfracombe re-elected. Mr. Southwood appealed to representatives of hands to make every effort to rope in young ringers in order to fill vacancies.

Votes of thanks to the Rev. T. C. Walters for his splendid address and the organist and Rectors of Highweek and Kingsteignton were carried with applause. Ringing was kindly permitted at intervals at Wolborough, St. Leonards, Highweek and Kingsteignton.

WIRKSWORTH BELLS RESTORED.

SPECIAL ATTENTION TO SOUND.

The rededication of the ring of eight bells at Wirksworth Parish Church, near Derby, was carried out on Friday evening, May 7th, by the Very Rev. Herbert Ham, M.A., F.R.C.O., Provost of Derby Cathedral. Other clergy taking part in the service were the Vicar, the Rev. S. L. Gaiger, B.A., B.D., Canon G. A. Hazlehurst, Rural Dean of Wirksworth, and the Revs. W. J. E. Williams, R. H. S. Currey, M.A., H. Pickles and F. Kelly.

In 1934 the old bell frame and supports were found to be rotten, owing to the ravages of beetle grub, and it was, therefore, decided to discontinue ringing of the bells, except for very special occasions, until such time as the peal was thoroughly restored. This work has now been completed, the bells having been equipped with modern fittings and hung in an entirely new frame by Messrs. John Taylor and Co., Loughborough. Particular attention has been paid to the question of the sound of the bells both from the ringers' point of view and also to those residents in the immediate vicinity of the church. In the ringing chamber the sound of the bells is nicely subdued so that they can be tapped in the way which all good strikers delight in, whilst in the churchyard there is no 'shouting down at you' to interfere with the quietest of conversation.

During the rededication the bells were rung by members of the local band—G. H. Bowmer, L. Hanson, T. H. Greatorex, Brian Hilditch, J. Flint, K. Hanson, F. Johnson, B. Greatorex (captain). The Hanson family have been ringers for four generations. Mr. Fred Turner, a local ringer for over 50 years and an octogenarian, was in the belfry during the ringing. The visitors included ringers from Derby, Mallock, Ashover and Loughborough, the contingent from the latter place including Mr. Charles Allsop, a native of Wirksworth, where he first learnt the art of ringing, and he was privileged to call the first touch on the restored peal.

'They've made a fine job' was the general opinion expressed on Messrs. Taylor and Co.'s work.

EDINBURGH RINGERS VISIT NEWCASTLE.

St. Mary's Cathedral Society, Edinburgh, held their annual outing on April 19th, when they visited Newcastle-on-Tyne.

In the morning they rang touches of Grandsire Casters and Stedman Triples at All Saints' Church, Gosforth, and in the afternoon visited St. George's, Jesmond. The most interesting and enjoyable part of the day was a visit to the Cathedral, when they had an opportunity to ring Cinques.

The Newcastle Cathedral ringers gave the Edinburgh visitors a warm welcome and made their visit most enjoyable. It was interesting to meet again Mr. C. L. Routledge, who is an honorary member of St. Mary's Society, and Mr. W. H. Barber, who was conductor at St. Mary's, Edinburgh, for a number of years. The trip was an interesting departure for Scottish ringers.

and omitted from the Analysis. Mr. Goldsmith said the Council could not expect the committee to hold up their work for the sake of dilatory correspondents, and it was unfair to ask them to expend endless time on seeking information. The Council could be quite sure that the committee would require only reasonable information.

This motion was seconded by Mr. A. Walker and carried, as were also the recommendations of the Standing Committee. The report was adopted, and, on the motion of Mrs. Fletcher, seconded by Mr. F. Pevrins, Mr. Walter Ayre was added to the committee.

FOR BEGINNERS.

COURT AND DOUBLE COURT BOB.

In these notes a fortnight ago we had something to say about double methods and the grouping of methods. Let us look now at another well-known method which produces a perfect double. It is Court Bob, and it belongs to the group of which Oxford Bob is a member.

If you studied Oxford Bob you will remember that the main feature of its construction was the 4th's place made at each end of the lead as the treble passed up through 2-3 and down through 3-2.

The leads themselves are joined by 2nd's place made when the treble leads its whole pull, causing the two pairs in 3-4 and 5-6 to dodge.

Now Court Bob is exactly like Oxford Bob, without the 2nd's place when the treble leads. Row for row the leads of a plain course are alike in the two methods, except that they are joined by 2nd's in Oxford Bob and 6th's in Court Bob. Those who wish to study the method should be able to write out the course without further instruction and make their own diagram.

When they come to ring it, they will find that the change in the 'link' between the leads cuts out certain dodges and connects up the other work into a different sequence—but the construction of the method is the same.

The double method has the same relationship to the single version as Double Oxford has to Oxford Bob.

Places are made in corresponding places with the treble above 3rd's as when it is below 4th's. Thus the 4th's when the treble passes through 2-3 and 3-2 is duplicated in 3rd's when the treble passes through 4-5 and 5-4.

But while in Double Oxford there were places in 5th's and 2nd's with the treble behind and leading, respectively, in Double Court (following the example of the single method) there is neither 5th's nor 2nd's. Here again you should, with this information before you, be able to construct your own course and make your diagram. Just try it; the effort to do these things for yourself will enable you to learn much more than having the figures given to you.

This is how the places are made 'across the treble' in Double Court:

The second lead head of Court Bob (rounds being the first) is 135264. The second lead head of Double Court is, therefore, 135264 transposed by 135264, which produces 156342.

Because of the absence of 2nd's place when the treble leads, the calling of these two methods is not the same as Oxford Bob, viz., Wrong, Right and Wrong. As we pointed out recently, methods with 6th's made when the treble leads have as their 'standard' calling 'In, Out and In'—that is, bobs called when the observation bell runs IN to take the treble off, and when it runs OUT from the treble. In the case of Court Bob, if the tenor is the observation bell, the plain 'Out,' that is the 'Out' where there is no bob, comes first (at the 2nd lead) and the first bob 'In' the following lead. In the double method the plain Out comes at the first lead and the first bob 'In' at the fourth lead.

Denyer (conductor) 8. This is the first quarter-peal in the method for all except the ringers of the 1st and 6th.

DEATH OF THE DEAN OF ORIEL COLLEGE.

HIS SERVICES TO RINGING IN OXFORD.

On Wednesday, May 12th, after an illness of some months' duration, the Rev. John Freeman Russell, Lecturer, Fellow and Dean of Oriel College, Oxford, passed to his rest. A contributor has sent us the following appreciation of a most valued personality:—

Mr. Russell's name is one which will be unfamiliar to the majority of the readers of this journal, but he was typical of the best type of clerical ringer. He learnt to ring when he was an undergraduate at Pembroke College, Oxford, and though never an advanced ringer himself, he was a steady striker, and could be relied on in the standard methods.

But those who knew him will remember chiefly his unflinching readiness to help with the teaching and practice of beginners. In this direction there will be many members of the Oxford University Society and of the ringers at Cuddesdon College, who will remember him with gratitude and affection—gratitude for the many hours of unselfish labour which he put in on their behalf, and affection for one who was never impatient, who was always ready to give of his best to those who needed his help, and who was a real friend to all those with whom he came in contact.

Mr. Russell's distinguished academic and clerical career—he was only 39 when he died—would have been considered by a lesser man to have entitled him to a more prominent position in the ringing fraternity; he was, however, one of the most humble of people, and it would have been abhorrent to him to have pushed himself forward in any way. He remained in the background, ready to be of service when wanted.

The present writer desires to acknowledge the debt that he owes to Mr. Russell, from whom he learnt something of how a ringer should behave in the belfry. Mr. Russell never shouted, and never forgot that the belfry is part of the church. When asked to do so, he would conduct a touch, but when not conducting he never interfered; he sought no honour for himself, but was always ready when wanted.

He will be greatly missed by the ringers at Cuddesdon, and by the Oxford Society and the Oxford University Society. For the past two years he had been a vice-president of this latter society.

Those who knew him will feel that they have lost a friend, and the Exercise will be the poorer by the death of one who always put himself last.

BELLS UNUSED FOR TWENTY-FIVE YEARS.

RESTORED FOR CORONATION.

Unused for a quarter of a century, the bells of St. Michael's Church, Llanfihangel Rhydithon, Radnorshire, have been restored and augmented and were ready in time to ring for the Coronation.

The present Vicar, the Rev. E. W. Fowler, was inducted twelve months ago. A keen bellringer, he found on his arrival in the parish that the peal of five bells were out of order and had not been rung for 25 years. He launched an appeal for funds to restore the existing five bells and put in a new treble to augment them to six, and on Wednesday, April 28th last, his ambition was realised when the bells were dedicated by the Lord Bishop of Swansea and Brecon (Dr. John Morgan, D.D.) before a large congregation.

The lessons were read by Canon Griffith Thomas, R.D. (Llandrindod) and Canon T. S. P. Griffiths (Knighton). The Bishop took for his text I. Chronicles xxix., 6. He spoke of the beautifying of the House of God and appealed to all churchworkers to carry on the good work in which they were engaged.

The work of rehanging the existing five bells and adding a new treble was entrusted to Messrs. Gillett and Johnston, Croydon, and everybody present expressed their pleasure at the 'go' and tone of the restored peal. The new treble weighs 3 cwt. 2 qr. 20 lb.

The opening touch was a six-score of Grandsire Doubles by C. M. Davies 1, B. H. Davies 2, W. D. Griffiths 3, D. H. Bennett (conductor) 4, S. C. Powell 5, S. L. Speake 6. The ringers were the winners of the Swansea and Brecon Guild 1936 bellringing contest. Other ringers were present from Brecon, Talgarth, Kington, New Radnor and Mr. J. H. Sheppard (Swindon) and Mr. J. E. Hyett, Worcester-shire Association Northern Branch secretary, were also present. Messrs. Gillett and Johnston were represented by Mr. S. R. Roper.

DEATH OF AN OLD LEICESTERSHIRE RINGER.

We deeply regret to announce the death of John Hutchin Wildman, of Croxton Kerrial, Leicestershire, who passed away on April 22nd after a very short illness.

Mr. Wildman, who was 74 years of age, had been a ringer for 62 years. He was a member of the Framland Deaneries Guild and also a member of the Lincoln Diocesan Guild.

He was a good and well-known ringer in the Grantham and Melton Mowbray districts, and as a last token of respect four of his fellow-ringers rang a course of Grandsire Triples on handbells at the graveside on Monday, April 26th.

After the funeral service the tower bells were half-muffled, and 720 of both Kent and Oxford Treble Bob Minor were rung: H. Thorpe (Grantham) 1, Sidney Proctor (Grantham) (conductor) 2, R. Bartram (Melton Mowbray) 3, A. Ward (Bottisford) 4, W. Thorpe (Grantham) 5, P. C. H. R. Woods (Grantham) 6.

BELLS FOR NEW CHURCHES.

BISHOP OF SHEFFIELD'S HOPE.

The ring of six bells at Harthill, Yorks, has been recast and augmented by two trebles by Messrs. Gillett and Johnston, Ltd., of Croydon.

The old bells varied in dates and were hung in an oak frame which had become unsafe, and the bells themselves formed no kind of nucleus for a satisfactory diatonic scale. They had been silent for some years, and eventually it was decided to make an effort to raise subscriptions in order that the work of recasting and also rehanging in an iron frame could be put in hand and completed in time for the Coronation.

As the parish is not a large one and is mostly agricultural, the self-sacrifice of the parishioners is to be highly commended, whilst special mention should be made of the splendid example set by Mr. H. Garbett, a local gentleman, who has been responsible for raising some hundreds of pounds towards the total expenditure by the production of village pageants, etc.

A large congregation attended the ceremony of dedication, performed by the Bishop of Sheffield (Dr. L. H. Burrows), the seating capacity being taxed to the utmost. The service was conducted by the Rector of Harthill (the Rev. H. R. Everson). Amongst the clergy present were Canon S. T. G. Smith (Attercliffe), the Rev. R. Hodgson (Anston), the Rev. A. D. Alderson (Todwick), the Rev. A. E. Lewis (Thorpe Salvin), the Rev. W. A. Surtees (Maltby) and the Rev. A. M. Selle (Wales), who acted as Bishop's chaplain.

The Bishop gave an excellent address on the origin and uses of bells. He laid particular stress upon their connection between the church and the people, inasmuch as although serving their mission in summoning the parishioners to worship, they also, amongst other things, conveyed a message of comfort to those unable to attend through sickness and other causes. He also spoke of the present-day expansion of our town and city parishes, and stated that he hoped that every effort would be made by those responsible to instal a peal of bells wherever a new church was erected. Finally he tendered praise to the parishioners for their noble self-sacrifice, to the former Rector (the Rev. P. E. Boswell), who started the scheme, and to the present Rector, who took over the completion of the scheme on his induction to the parish some four months ago.

NEW BAND OF RINGERS TO BE FORMED.

The South Anston Sunday service ringers rang rounds at the actual dedication, and immediately after the service the same band rang a well-struck touch of Bob Major, when the beauty and full tone of the new peal was heard to good effect by a large number of visiting ringers from Eckington, Handsworth, Killamarsh, Rotherham, Retford, Sheffield, Workson and Wortley. Touches were afterwards rung by the various visitors present, the bellfounders being represented by Mr. Cyril F. Johnston, of Croydon.

The Yorkshire Association was represented by Mr. Sidney F. Palmer (hon. treasurer), Mr. George Lewis (vice-president, Southern Division), and the Sheffield and District Society by Mr. M. E. Wilson, hon. secretary.

At present there is no band of ringers at Harthill, but a number of young men have shown interest and offered to take up the mystic art, and there was every indication of active encouragement and assistance from leading ringers of the district in the creation and development of a band worthy of the tower and the new peal.

At the invitation of the Rector, an open ringers' gathering will take place on Saturday, when all ringers will be welcomed.

The former bells were six in number, with a tenor of 18 cwt. They have been recast into a magnificent ring of eight, with an 18½ cwt. tenor in F. They have been hung with the latest type of modern fittings in an all-steel frame, which looks and is a first-class engineering job.

The work has been carried out in a most satisfactory manner by Messrs. Gillett and Johnston, who are to be congratulated on supplying South Yorkshire with yet another excellent peal, the 'go' of which is everything that could be desired.

OPEN BELLS FOR RINGER'S FUNERAL.

SUSSEX VETERAN'S WISH.

Owing to failing health, Mr. George Walder, the Sussex veteran, whose death at the age of 81 years, on May 7th, we briefly recorded in our last issue, had not been able to ring for the last few years.

He had expressed a wish that the bells of Bolney Church, where he had been a ringer for so many years, should be rung with open clappers immediately after his interment, and this was accordingly done, touches of Grandsire Triples being rung by past and present members of the Bolney Church Ringers' Society.

One of the original members of the above society, Mr. Walder was its secretary until the year 1930, and has left many interesting notes in the minute book on the Bolney bells and the early struggles of the society.

He conducted its first peal (Grandsire Triples) on November 9th, 1894.

HILLINGDON, MIDDLESEX.—On Easter Sunday for evening service at St. Andrew's Church, a quarter-peal of Bob Major: A. Bray (first quarter of Major) 1, Miss E. Bedford 2, P. E. Jones 3, C. W. Smith (Cambridge) 4, W. S. Childs (first quarter of Major) 5, E. Hancox 6, C. Nicholls 7, F. Corke (composer and conductor) 8.

WELLINGBOROUGH BELLS REDEDICATED. TUNED AND REHUNG IN TWO TIERS.

Scarcely two hours elapsed between the finishing touches being put to the newly-rehung bells of All Hallows' Church, Wellingborough, and their rededication on Monday, May 10th, by the Archdeacon of Northampton. The peal of eight bells have been tuned and rehung with new fittings in a steel frame, 1, 3, 5 and 7 being hung above the 2nd, 4th, 6th and tenor. The tenor is now a fine bell, weighing 28½ cwt., and the work has been carried out very successfully by Messrs. Gillett and Johnston, Croydon.

Following the words of rededication, the bells were rung again for the first time since October last to a course of Stedman Triples by A. H. Martin (Higham Ferrers) 1, A. Bigley (secretary of the Wellingborough Branch of the Peterborough Diocesan Guild) (Irthlingborough) 2, H. E. Plowman (Wellingborough) 3, T. Hensher (Finedon) 4, J. R. Main (Finedon) 5, F. Barber (Mablethorpe) 6, W. Perkins (Irthlingborough) 7, E. Pettitt (Wellingborough) 8.

A large congregation, representative of the town, waited in hushed silence to hear the familiar peal once more.

After the dedication the clergy passed back to the choir stalls for the remainder of the service, which was conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. C. C. Chambers).

A collection was taken for the Tower and Bell Fund, £150 still being required to meet the cost.

Besides the Archdeacon and Vicar, other clergy present were the Revs. A. G. Bagshaw, president of the Wellingborough Branch of the Peterborough Diocesan Guild (Finedon), E. J. Atkins, R.D. (Isham), G. S. J. Downes (Wellingborough All Saints'), R. H. Robinson, D.D. (Witby), and W. C. Knight (curate at All Hallows').

After the bells had been lowered in peal, the local band, together with the visitors who took part in the opening course of Stedman, were entertained at the Vicarage to light refreshments.

Mr. F. Barber, of Mablethorpe, at one time belonging to the Wellingborough band, and former branch secretary of the Peterborough Diocesan Guild, congratulated the Vicar on his very successful accomplishment. He also wished the local team happiness in their future church work.

The Vicar replied and said that soon after he came to Wellingborough Mr. Barber had told him of the condition of the bells and he had promised to get them in order eventually. That evening he was delighted to entertain the ringers and to prove that he had kept his word. He also spoke of the way Messrs. Gillett and Johnston's men had worked overtime, willingly, to get the job done for the Coronation, and he found that bellhungers as well as ringers were very enthusiastic in their work.

Mr. F. C. W. Stevenson, who represented Messrs. Gillett and Johnston, thanked the Vicar for his remarks and said how sorry Mr. Cyril Johnston was at being prevented from attending the service.

Visiting ringers, numbering about thirty, were present from 14 different towers, and as the time allowed for ringing, after the service, was only half an hour, very short courses were the order. The bells have been lowered in the tower and a ringing floor built above the ground floor originally used, making a handy and majestic peal of eight bells.

ANOTHER OCTAVE IN BUCKS.

GENEROUS GIFT TO STEWKLEY.

The new treble bells at Stewkley, Bucks, were dedicated on April 29th by the Bishop of Buckingham. The service was conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. D. R. A. Williams), and numerous local clergy were also present.

The bells are the gift of Mr. T. A. Bliss, a former resident of the village, in memory of his parents. The donor also defrayed the expense of rehanging and retuning the old six, and erected a tablet in the church giving the details of what had been done to the bells.

In the course of the service, eight members of the Oxford Diocesan Guild rang a course of Grandsire Triples, and at the conclusion of the service the same band rang a well-struck 504 of Stedman Triples: R. White 1, Rev. C. E. Wigg 2, G. Holfield 3, J. Puppitt 4, F. Mears 5, T. C. White 6, R. T. Hibbert (conductor) 7, A. White 8.

Afterwards a sumptuous tea was provided in the Schoolroom for all, at the expense of Mr. Bliss, and the inhabitants were pleased to have Mr. Bliss with them.

The work of rehanging the new bells was in the hands of Mr. R. White, of Appleton, the new bells having been cast by Messrs. Mears and Stairbank, to whom credit is due for the excellent 'splice.'

On Saturday, May 8th, eight members of the Oxford Diocesan Guild rang a peal of Grandsire Triples, the first peal ever rung on the bells.

DON'T SCRUB YOUR HANDS!

skin this simple way*

To many people, the problem of getting the hands really clean without harming the skin is a serious one. Grease and grime, which become deeply ingrained into the pores of the skin, are extremely difficult to remove, and ordinary washing with soap or even scrubbing will fail to remove them completely. Housewives, particularly, who complain that their hands get ruined by the nature of their work, will find the preparation called DERMAFOAM, a real "godsend." DERMAFOAM just smooths away dirt and grease without effort. It gets right down into the pores and removes every particle of grime, leaving skin beautifully supple and healthy.

Men, too—when you've finished that dirty job on the car, DERMAFOAM will quickly banish all grease and oil from your hands. It acts almost magically—working under and around the nails and into every minute crease, removing all trace of dirt in a flash.

Engineers, Painters, Car Mechanics, Printers — everyone — will welcome DERMAFOAM, the modern method of cleansing and protecting the hands.

A USEFUL COMMITTEE.

Of all the reports presented to the Central Council by the numerous committees, that of the Towers and Belfries Committee provided the most interesting discussion—a discussion which ranged over a wide field, from the welding of bells to questions of insurance against accidents to the person. There had been, the President revealed, some criticism of the committee outside the Council, the allegation being that it serves no useful purpose. Only a prejudiced individual could take up that attitude, for the Towers and Belfries Committee does some of the most practical work which goes on behind the scenes throughout the year. There have been numerous cases where the advice tendered by members of the committee have saved peals of bells from a type of 'restoration' which would have left them largely unfitted for ringing, and the outstanding achievement of the committee was its success in convincing the Society for the Protection of Ancient Buildings that some of the ideas which they formerly pursued were fallacious. But for this, ringers would to-day have had, in many cases, to sacrifice their craft to the whims of the 'die-hard' antiquarians.

The committee has constant opportunities of proving its usefulness. When architects and bellfounders disagree, the committee has often been able to influence Advisory Committees on the points at issue and the advice is the more readily accepted because it is realised that it has no axe to grind. The committee has, among its members, a large store of scientific and technical knowledge, which is always at the disposal of those who are responsible for restorations and the committee is more and more, through the Council, becoming a recognised authority on the subject. The bell founders, as the critics apparently have said, may be able to fight their own battles, but when they have to meet Advisory Committees, weighted with antiquarian prejudice, their proposals are not infrequently treated as 'suspect,' commercially, and in such cases the unbiassed opinion of a member of the Towers and Belfries Committee may often be the deciding factor.

There is no committee of the Council which has more fully justified its existence, and, in view of the many activities of bodies outside which bring pressure to bear on church authorities, the need of such an expert committee will be more than ever necessary in the future. What we feel is important is that something should be done to train—if that is the right word—a few of the younger men in the Exercise so that they may later take up this work, when present members of the committee quit their task. Questions relating to strains and stresses on towers are scientific, and need study and exploration. Bell restorations require experience, and in both these things we would like to see some of the younger men of real ability taking an interest. There is more in this kind of work than visiting a belfry and condemning an old frame or recommending the recasting of a bell. There is sometimes the question of saving a tower from damage, often the necessity of proving an architect mistaken—neither of them always an easy matter. Both are quite beyond the capacity of the inexperienced individual, but if the work of the Towers and Belfries Committee is to go on successfully young men must be brought on to take over the work.

ESSEX ASSOCIATION.

ANNUAL MEETING AT CHELMSFORD.

Following long established custom, the annual meeting of the Essex Association was held at Chelmsford on Whitsun Monday and there was a large and representative gathering.

The service in the Cathedral was conducted by the Provost, the Very Rev. W. E. R. Morrow. The lesson was read by the Master of the association (Dr. P. T. Spencer Phillips), and the Rev. A. G. G. Thurlow, of Wokingham, Berks, gave the address, in the course of which he referred to the importance of doing the small things first in order to understand the greater things later on. It applied to everything through life. Everyone, said the preacher, was stirred by the wonderful service and ceremonial of the Coronation, but it was only those people who love regular Communion and prayer who were most truly stirred and helped by that service. Continuing, the preacher said:—

'It is the same with the attitude of the general public to ringing; an attitude which I am afraid often proves annoying to us, as ringers. Nearly all people want and expect ringing on great occasions, and it is quite right that they should expect it. On great occasions, we, as ringers, are often told by members of the general public just how and when we ought to ring, and if we do not do all that is expected of us we are told we ought to have done better. But this same general public is often too ready to criticise us when we ring a peal, or when we hold our ordinary practices. They never realise, unless they try and take up ringing themselves, the immense amount of hard practice that is necessary before we are good enough to ring on great occasions. They never realise that if they want to hear us ring really well on occasions such as the Coronation they must endure our frequent Sunday ringing and our week-night practices.

'What of the attitude of ringers themselves to our art? Everyone who is worth calling a ringer at all is keen to come to a wonderful tower, like this one at Chelmsford, and to have the privilege of ringing fine bells. But if we are to produce expert ringers for our greater churches, we must help forward the ringing at our parish church, great or small. And to those who are beginners—who is not one?—I would say you may find it hard, and perhaps even dull at first, but do not mind that, keep it up. Accept willingly all the criticism and advice that better ringers give you, and never take offence. Good ringers always give their advice in a kindly spirit. You cannot become a good ringer without constant practice of mind and arm. If it were easy to become a good ringer it would not be worth while. If you do get rather bored with practising, think over what a wonderful and romantic exercise ringing is. Think of the age-long part that bells have played in our country's history. Think of all the romance and legend that clings to so many of our old bells. Think how, when you help to ring, you are helping to lift up the hearts of all those within hearing, helping to tell people of the good and righteous things of life, the things that really matter, the eternal joy of the knowledge and love of God.'

DECLINE IN PEALS.

The business meeting followed in the Cathedral Chapter House. Dr. Spencer Phillips was enthusiastically re-elected Master, Mr. L. J. Clark hon. secretary and treasurer, and Mr. L. W. Wiffen peal secretary.

The 58th annual report, presented by the Master, stated that the year had been one of steady work and some progress. The register of towers in affiliation had been revised, and now numbered 107, a decrease of seven, due to some towers having no ringers. The membership was: Honorary members 83, ringing members 774, and non-resident members 249, a decrease of two. The district meetings had been, on the whole, well attended. Once again there had been a sharp decline in the number of peals rung under the auspices of the association, but it was to be noted that more rang their first peals, and still more their first in the method, which was more important than that a larger number of peals should be recorded by a few old stagers. The standard of ringing had been well maintained, and Belgrave Surprise was rung for the first time for the association. Thirty-three members rang their first peal, and 76 their first in the method. Satisfactory restorations had been carried out at both North Weald and Great Waltham, and it was hoped in the near future to take in hand the ring at Belchamp Walter. Regret was expressed at the loss by death of an hon. member in Canon Macdonald; also of E. W. Lillywhite, St. Saviour's, Walthamstow; W. J. Schofield, St. Peter's, Colchester; H. W. Richardson, Great Bardfield; and A. Tarbun, sen., Widford. Each year they lost some valuable members by the Great Reaper, and it was satisfactory to note that their numbers were made up again by new members. The accounts were satisfactory, subscriptions being slightly greater than last year, so that, in spite of the subscription to the William Pye Memorial Fund of £15, their balance was only £13 less than last year, and they had been able to help substantially both the restorations at Great Waltham and North Weald, and also Popping. The Bell Restoration Fund showed a balance of £58 12s. 10½d. An effort had been made during the year to help start a young band of ringers at Purleigh, but had not yet met with much success, owing to lack of keenness on the part of the learners. Hope was still entertained of achieving the desired result. Dr. Spencer Phillips offered best thanks to the general secretary and district officers for the hard work they had put in during the year, and to whose efforts their success was due.

LONDON COUNTY ASSOCIATION.MEETING AT STREATHAM.

An enjoyable meeting of the Southern District was held at Streatham on Saturday, May 29th. Owing to a wedding, ringing at St. Leonard's did not commence until 3.45 p.m., but was continued until 5.30 p.m. Tea at the Manor Arms, to which 21 sat down, was followed by the business meeting, presided over by Mr. H. Mance (District Master).

Messrs. E. L. Miles and G. W. Fogden, of Streatham and Beckenham respectively, were elected members, and Isleworth chosen for the next meeting on July 17th, subject to permission being granted.

A hearty vote of thanks was accorded the Vicars of St. Leonard's and Immanuel Churches for their kindness in granting the use of the bells, and especially to Mr. J. W. Chapman, who very kindly allowed members to come after four previous applications to other towers had been unsuccessful.

After the meeting members went to Immanuel Church until 8.30 p.m. The methods rung at both towers included Grandsire, Stedman, Plain Bob, Kent Treble Bob, Double Norwich, Cambridge and Superlative, but the striking was not up to the usual standard. But for the presence of six friends from Kent, the attendance would have been very poor.

THE FINANCIAL POSITION.

The general account showed a credit of £30 14s. 7d., compared with a balance brought forward of £44 11s. 11d. The subscriptions amounted to £85 17s. 6d. The reserve fund showed an amount on deposit of £112 15s. 10d., interest £2 14s. 3d., and £150 Conversion Loan.

The report and accounts were adopted.

Messrs. W. Keeble, F. Dench, G. Green, G. R. Pye and H. T. Wilson were reappointed members of the General Committee; and Messrs. G. L. Joyce, G. R. Pye, W. Keeble and F. Dench were re-elected on the Peal Committee. Mr. G. W. Faulkner, one of the auditors, did not seek re-election, and he was cordially thanked for his services. Mr. J. Crampin was appointed in his place, and Mr. W. H. Theobald was re-elected.

It was agreed to make a grant of five guineas towards the restoration of the Belchamp Walter bells.

Canon S. L. Brown (Brentwood) and Mr. G. Dent (Potter Street) were elected life members of the association.

Subsequently the members had luncheon at the Golden Fleece Hotel.

Ringing took place during the day at the Cathedral and at ten other churches in the district, and ranged from Doubles to Cambridge Maximus.

LINCOLN DIOCESAN GUILD.RETIREMENT OF NORTHERN BRANCH SECRETARY.

The annual meeting of the Northern Branch of the Lincoln Diocesan Guild was held at Gainsborough on Saturday, May 22nd, when 59 members were present representing the following towers: Ashby-de-la-Launde, Bigby, Burton-on-Stather, Blaukney, Lea, Lincoln Cathedral, Scunthorpe, Springthorpe, Ulceby, Upton and Willingham. There were also unattached members from Lincoln and Grimsby. Mr. R. Richardson (the Guild Ringing Master), Mrs. and Miss Enid Richardson and ringing friends from Surfleet and Relford also attended. The bells of the Parish Church were made good use of during the afternoon and evening.

Service was conducted by the Vicar (Canon C. E. A. Whitworth), who gave a most interesting address. An excellent tea was provided in the Sun Hotel, presided over by the president of the branch (the Ven. Archdeacon Parry).

All the officers were re-elected with the exception of the hon. secretary (Mr. F. S. W. Butler), who wished to resign and hand over to a younger man. The President spoke of the great work Mr. Butler had done during 14 years in that office, and said how difficult it would be to replace him.—Mr. Butler, who was very warmly applauded, briefly replied.

Mr. J. Bray, of Burton-on-Stather, was unanimously elected to the office.

Apologies for absence were received from Mr. H. Morgan (Gainsborough District secretary) and Mr. and Mrs. C. McGuiness, of Lincoln.

New members were elected as follows: Messrs. W. A. T. Brimacombe, H. Croft and M. Freeman, of Lincoln, and Mr. D. Houlthby, of Ulceby.

The next annual meeting was fixed to take place at Grimsby on Saturday, May 28th, 1938.

Mr. George Chester (Lincoln) made reference to the death of Mr. N. E. Snow, of Sleaford, an original member of the Guild, and suggested that a note of his death be placed on record.

A collection was taken towards the rehanging of Haxey bells, which amounted to £1 11s. 6d.

Votes of thanks to all who had contributed to its success brought a pleasant meeting to a close.

RINGING AT STEDMAN'S CHURCH.

Visitors to Cambridge are asked to note that service ringing takes place at St. Bene't's Church, associated with Fabian Stedman, at 10.30 a.m. on alternate Sundays—June 13th, 27th, etc.

Last Sunday morning 720 Bob Minor was rung: A. Rayner 1, E. G. Hibbens 2, S. Goodwin 3, A. Hurst (first 720 of Minor) 4, C. W. Cook (conductor) 5, H. L. Martin 6.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

A faculty has been applied for to allow for the recasting and re-hanging of the peal of eight bells of St. Peter's, Parish Church of Bournemouth, to commemorate Coronation year, 1937. A Sanctus bell in memory of the late Archdeacon A. F. Dady, for 16 years Vicar of St. Peter's, will be installed at the same time.

The work of the restoration of the peal is made possible by two very generous gifts to the fund, one from a prominent Bournemouth resident and the other from a gentleman well known to the Exercise.

Mr. George Williams, Master of the Winchester and Portsmouth Diocesan Guild, wishes to thank all those who sent him telegrams and letters of congratulation on his 80th birthday.

We regret to record the death of Mr. Arthur R. Davis, formerly well known in London ringing circles. He passed away on May 17th at the age of 65 years.

A cousin of Mr. James E. Davis, deceased was a member of the Royal Cumberland Youths, the Waterloo and St. Margaret's, Westminster, Societies. Owing to business he had not taken part in ringing in recent years.

'Real Double Norwich,' upon which we commented recently, is not a new designation. A board in Woolwich tower records a peal of 'Real Double Norwich,' conducted by William Banister nearly a century ago. This peal had one reverse bob in each part. But we still think the title a misnomer.

Cyril E. Lanxon, of Truro Cathedral, is the first native of Cornwall to ring a Surprise peal.

Bro. G. R. Newton, of Liverpool, was prevented from taking part in the Masonic peal at Shoreditch owing to his sister being dangerously ill. His place was taken at short notice by Bro. R. Brough, to whom the thanks of the band are due. The composition was John Reeves' 19 courses with the 6th at home, arranged by Bro. G. R. Newton. It was the first peal of Bob Maximus rung by a band of Freemasons.

The Chesterfield veteran, Mr. Arthur Knights, rang the treble in a peal of Superlative at St. Marie's, Norfolk Row, Sheffield, on Whit Monday, 1937. On Whit Monday, 1884, he rang the treble at the same church to his first peal of Stedman Triples. It was conducted by the late Mr. C. H. Hattersley, and rung by eight members of the College Youths. Mr. James Dixon, who also rang in the peal, is still a service ringer at St. Marie's.

A peal rung at Eckington on May 18th was the 58th anniversary of Mr. Knight's first peal, rung at Diss, Norfolk, in 1879, conducted by the late William Ireland.

We regret that many reports of peals and other matters are unavoidably held over.

VETERAN YORKSHIRE RINGER PASSES.

The many friends of Mr. Fred Scholefield, of Intake Lane, Ossett, Yorks, will regret to learn of his death on Saturday, May 22nd, at the age of 75 years. Although he had been in failing health for some years and had not done any active ringing for a long time, he had always taken a keen interest in the Yorkshire Association, of which he was one of the earlier life members. His passing severs another link with the old Ossett company.

The funeral took place at Holy Trinity Church, Ossett, on Tuesday, May 25th. Deceased leaves a widow, but no children.

COURT BOB.

To the Editor.

Sir,—At least once I have asked in your columns why the name Court Bob was first employed. In your column 'For Beginners' last week you supply the answer. At the time this name was first used a bob was a dodge, and 'court' was a fuller form of 'cut' or 'cut.' Now you say that Court Bob 'cuts out certain dodges' of the sister method, Oxford Bob. What could be a plainer meaning for the name? The reason for it is as simple as Treble Bob for a method in which the treble dodges all the time.

HERBERT DRAKE.

Woodbridge, Suffolk.

IPSWICH MEN'S JOURNEY TO LONDON.

On Saturday, May 22nd, St. Mary-le-Tower Society, Ipswich, chartered a motor-coach and journeyed to London to attempt a peal of Cambridge Surprise Maximus at St. Giles', Cripplegate. The band was as follows: W. Tillet, G. J. Sedgley, W. J. G. Brown, E. H. Smith, H. R. Roper, L. W. Wiffen, G. A. Fleming, F. J. Smith, C. A. Catchpole, F. J. Tillet, G. E. Symonds, E. P. Duffield. After 1½ hours' ringing the 6th rope broke.

This attempt was made possible on the very nice suggestion of Mr. E. H. Lewis, Master of the Ancient Society of College Youths, conveyed to the ringers by Mr. W. T. Cockerill, the hon. secretary.

The College Youths attempted a peal in the same method on the same day at Bow, Cheapside, and broke down at the same time.

THE CENTRAL COUNCIL.

CO-OPERATION WITH ANTI-NOISE LEAGUE.

The report of the Towers and Belfries Committee was as follows: During the year the members of the committee have given advice in some dozen cases, applying the principles with which the Council are familiar. In several of the towers advice was asked about modification of sound near the church. Since the last meeting of the Council the Anti-Noise League have printed a pamphlet on this subject, being mainly the reprint of an article which appeared in the 'R.I.B.A. Journal.'

Your committee think it desirable to co-operate with the Anti-Noise League as far as possible, and, after reviewing this pamphlet, decided to send copies to all Archdeacons, with the following covering letter: 'For some years past the Towers and Belfries Committee of the Central Council of Church Bell Ringers has been advocating appropriate treatment of church towers in cases where the sound of bells is likely to be a source of annoyance to people living in the neighbourhood of a church.'

Recently the Anti-Noise League have had the same subject under consideration, and have issued a pamphlet of which we enclose a copy for your consideration, in case it has not already been brought to your notice.

The book by Sir Arthur Heywood, to which reference is made, was written while he was president of the Central Council of Church Bell Ringers, and with its support, and three of the present members of the Towers and Belfries Committee contributed chapters to that book.

The committee is, therefore, wholly in agreement with the pamphlet now enclosed, and recommend it to your serious consideration.

The members feel strongly that it is better that, where bells are unduly loud in the vicinity of a church, action should be taken before complaints are made, rather than as a result of representations from persons who have come to live in the vicinity.

The members of the committee are always ready to give further information and technical advice in any particular case.

As an addendum to the report for 1935-36, the committee said: At the Council meeting of 1935, a request was made that the committee should inquire about the so-called 'silencers' and make a recommendation as to their use.

The 'Davis silencers' have now been used over a considerable period in several towers with success, and your committee think that they are well worth a trial in towers where it is desired to reduce the volume of sound during practices and peals without taking any permanent steps such as blocking up louvres.

The silencers consist of a leather pad resembling a muffle, with a thin steel plate attached to the face. The result of their use is to give an effect rather like muffled ringing, while retaining a certain amount of metallic tap of the clapper. To get the best effect in each individual case, it is evident that experiments should be made with different thicknesses of leather. For this purpose the committee are obtaining samples of different thicknesses which can be lent to towers for this purpose at no cost other than postage both ways. These silencers are not expensive and have shown little wear after twelve months' use.

A REPLY TO CRITICS.

The President, in moving the adoption of the report, said he had heard, since he came to Canterbury, that there had been some slight criticism of the committee that they did not do very much good; that the bellfounders could get on very well without them and that it would be better to leave these matters to the foundry. He thought half the cases he had dealt with had been dealt with at the request of bellfounders, who had asked for his help in getting over snags with diocesan bodies or with architects. He hoped that answered the criticism.

A few of the jobs where they had helped were Boston Stump, Croydon, North Weald, Chiddingfold, Crondall, Shalford and others. In several cases they were of assistance in getting over the difficulty of the antiquarian architect. That brought him to the question of Thetford, where a restoration scheme was held up by the Chancellor of the Diocese. If on the Diocesan Committee, which dealt with these matters, there had been a representative of the ringing fraternity, this difficulty would probably not have arisen (hear, hear). He proposed to ask the Council later to take steps empowering them to obtain the names of Diocesan Committees where they had a representative who knew something about bells and of those who had not, so that the Council could take some steps to get a representative of ringers on every Diocesan Advisory Committee.

Recently, said the President, there was a letter in the Press referring to Saham Toney. He was called in with the late Mr. Powys, secretary of the Society for the Protection of Ancient Buildings, and he was entirely in favour of keeping that old bell frame. It was unfit to carry the bells, but was an extraordinarily interesting old frame. They arranged that it should be offered to a museum, but neither South Kensington nor Norwich could take it. If it was to be kept elsewhere than in the tower it would have meant that the parish had to provide some sort of shed to house it, but they had it lifted higher in the tower and those interested could now see it. The bells had been relunging in a perfectly good teak frame, lower down in the tower, where they should be hung. He thought they were right in preserving that old frame (hear, hear).

Mr. A. L. Coleman (late secretary of the Norwich Diocesan Association) said they had tried hard to get a representative on the Norwich Diocesan Committee. They had pointed out that there was nobody on the committee who knew anything about the technique of bells and bellhanging. Unfortunately, the reply was that they had quite sufficient members on the committee already and did not want any more, and they ignored the suggestion that they should have a representative of the association on the committee. With regard to Thetford, he thought, if only they had had a representative, the point raised there might have been put right. Their president, Archdeacon McDermott, agreed with him with regard to their representation, but the Bishop thought otherwise.

EFFECT OF LOWERING BELLS IN PEAL.

Mr. J. A. Trollope remarked that it had been said in several cases that if they had a weak tower and dropped the bells in peal, it was liable to endanger the safety of the structure. He asked the president if the committee could give any definite information on that point.

The President said that, as members probably knew, every tower had a natural period of oscillation of its own, which could not be altered, unless they altered the structure of the tower, or added or subtracted a large weight to some portion of the tower. Normally speaking, each tower had a natural period of oscillation, and it was a curious fact that the natural period of the forces set up in ringing a normal peal of bells nearly coincided with the average period of oscillation of the average tower. Therefore, they would find in nearly every case there was one particular speed of ringing which did get the two sets of oscillations in tune one with the other. He could quote a good example of that. If strangers went to ring the bells at St. Andrew's, Holborn, they nearly always found they had got a man's job, or even more than a man's job, because they rang the bells at what they considered the normal speed of bells of that weight. The local band rang the bells without any difficulty whatever, because they rang them a little bit quicker. St. Andrew's tower was rather tall for its width; there was a fairly big tower arch. One might call it a 'whippy' tower and its period was rather slow; therefore, if the bells were rung at normal speed for bells of that weight, they got the two forces in step. If they rang a little quicker all was well and there was no trouble about ringing. He could quite understand there were certain towers which had a rather quicker period, either short towers, or towers which were thick in comparison to their height. He could conceive that bells when part of the way down would get in step with the tower, and if they were to continue to ring the bells at that height it was possible it would do some damage to the tower, but they would have to do so for some considerable time, unless the tower was so weak that they ought not to ring at all.

Mr. Trollope said the tower he had specially in mind was Guildford Cathedral.

Mr. E. A. Young said they were progressing so rapidly that the thought had occurred to him that it might be possible in time for experts to find out the exact speed at which every individual peal of bells should be rung so that accentuation of oscillation could be prevented. One of these times they would, perhaps, have issued by every firm of bellfounders a statement showing in every instance what the speed of ringing should be, whether bells must not be lowered in peal, or, if lowered, not maintained in a certain position. The knowledge they were gaining emphasised the great value of the Towers and Belfries Committee.

Mr. A. H. Pulling said, with regard to Guildford Cathedral tower, after ringing on Coronation Day the bells were lowered in peal, and there was a bigger vibration when the bells were half-way down than he had ever known before. They were always warned not to lower them in peal by the late Mr. John Taylor. After their experiment the other night, he did not think they would try it again.

The President said Guildford Cathedral tower was of a distinctly 'whippy' type. Not only was it unbuttressed, but it was built of brick, with many courses of mortar and liable to more movement than a tower built of stone with fewer joints. What happened at Guildford was, probably, that when the bells were half-way down they got, not in tune with the tower, but in tune with the octave of the tower.

THE BELLS OF ALL HALLOWS', LOMBARD STREET.

Replying to Mr. E. C. S. Turner, who asked if the Council proposed to take any action with regard to the bells of All Hallows' Church, Lombard Street, which is to be demolished, the president said two societies, the College Youths and the Middlesex Association, had written to the Bishop of London requesting that when the bells were taken down they should be removed to some other church as a whole peal and not split up. He thought those representations would have some effect, in view of what happened in the case of St. Andrew's, Wells Street, but it might be a good thing if the Council also passed a resolution.

Mr. S. F. Palmer asked if anything further had been done or heard with reference to Chesterfield.

The President said the next move with regard to Chesterfield was with the Vicar. The Council could not very well butt in any more. They did as much as they could in the first instance, and the Vicar promised to write and report further, but he had never done so.

Mr. Palmer said he was sorry to say the ringers were not taking any active interest in it at all. They were waiting for the authorities to move.

The President said the committee suggested the Council might buy a set of Davis Silencers, which could be put on loan to people who wanted to try them, on payment of postage. The Standing Committee recommended that such purchase be authorised, and he proposed that the silencers be purchased and be loaned to any responsible person who asked for the loan of them, in order that they might be tried out.

This was agreed to.

With regard to the circulation to Archdeacons of the pamphlets issued by the Anti-Noise League, the President said these pamphlets were given to the Council by the League, although they normally made a charge. The Standing Committee thought it very desirable that the Council should keep closely in touch with the Anti-Noise League and to have the League on their side rather than against them. In order to show their goodwill in a practical form, he proposed that the Council send the League a donation of a guinea, partly in gratitude for the pamphlets they had had and partly in anticipation of favours to come (laughter).

The proposal was agreed to.

The President then moved that the Council send an appropriate letter to the Church authorities with regard to All Hallows', Lombard Street, asking that when the bells were moved, they be moved as a whole peal and not split up.

The Rev. F. Ll. Edwards: And hung for ringing.

The President: Yes, we will put that in, and add 'in a proper tower.'

The motion was carried.

DIOCESAN ADVISORY COMMITTEES.

The President next moved that the Council take steps through the local secretaries to find out which of the Diocesan Advisory Committees had got a member who knew anything about bells and bell-hanging, and which of them had not. They might then take steps, he said, to bring a little pressure to bear, so that on each Advisory Committee there was at least one member with a knowledge of bells; even if he were only elected an ad hoc member for cases in which bells were involved.

The President added that in his own diocese they had not got anyone directly on the committee, but he mentioned a case in which he had been consulted by the Archdeacon of Tonbridge. The Archdeacon wanted to know what he should do about a certain bell that had been welded three times and had once more cracked. The diocesan authorities were inclined to recommend that the bell be welded again. He (Mr. Lewis) promised to look into the matter and he went to see the bell. It was quite true that it had been welded three, if not more, times. About a year before he had heard a clock strike on it, and if it had struck on two or three feet of rusty iron girder it would have been much more musical than the welded bell (laughter). The bell was quite hopeless, and entirely devoid of tone. He doubted if it was ever a good bell. He told the Archdeacon it would be foolish to attempt to retain the bell. He pointed out that at the time of Stalschmidt's survey there were at least 70 other bells by the same founder in the county, so it was not a unique example, and the authorities at Rochester had, a few years before, destroyed at least one if not two bells by the same founder in their own Cathedral. The Archdeacon saw sense in the matter and was willing to have the bell recast. That showed what could be done if there was someone in touch with the diocesan authorities who could advise them. That was why he wanted to see someone in every diocese who could be sent for, even if he was not a member of the Advisory Committee, when questions concerning bells arose.

THE WELDING OF CRACKED BELLS.

The President continued that he did at one time think that welding might be worth a trial in cases where the Church authorities were prepared to risk welding, rather than have a bell recast, if it were definitely pointed out to them that welding was an experiment and might succeed, and if it did succeed the first time it might cost them less than recasting; but that they always had to face the possibility of several re-welds, and if it had to be done more than once the result would cost them more than recasting in the first place.

If authorities were prepared to face these risks and the cost of taking the bell down and replacing it more than once, he was at one time prepared to recommend it, but he was inclined now to say that welding at the sound bow was quite hopeless. The reason was this: He had seen a piece of a bell which was welded and where the weld had broken the metal had not gripped at all, except in odd spots. It was not a proper weld and he believed that was probably the case in most welds of old bells. Although they might look all right on the surface, the metal had not got a proper grip inside. To unite an alloy of copper and tin must be extraordinarily difficult, because tin rapidly oxidised and burned out. In welding they had to build up the metal, after having first opened the crack. Allowance would be made for a certain amount of burning out, but it must be very difficult to hit off the right amount of tin for the process and to get the new metal built up to resemble the old in its exact composition. He had come to the conclusion, therefore, after having seen the result of a broken welding, that only in very exceptional cases should welding be tried.

KENT'S CENTENARIAN RINGER.

MR. CHARLES SLINGSBY'S ONE HUNDREDTH BIRTHDAY.

The oldest ringer, Mr. Charles Slingsby, of Aldington, Kent, celebrated his 100th birthday on May 26th, and on Saturday a meeting in his honour was held by the Ashford District of Kent County Association and the Romney Marsh Guild. There was a record attendance of over a hundred members, and Mr. Slingsby was the recipient of a host of congratulations. All the village joined in the celebrations.

Despite his years, Mr. Slingsby was able to mix with the many visitors and thoroughly enjoyed the proceedings. Ringers were present from over a wide area, extending to Tunbridge Wells, Gravesend, Canterbury and Dover, New Romney and Tenterden.

With the parishioners the church was filled to its capacity for the short service, conducted by the Rector, and at which the address was given by the Bishop of Dover.

Tea was served at the Rectory, over 200 being catered for. Mrs. Long, on behalf of the parishioners, presented to Mr. Slingsby a wallet containing Treasury notes, and Mr. Slingsby, in acknowledging the gift, said how much their kindness was appreciated.

Mr. F. M. Mitchell, general secretary, had with him the Kent County Association peal book, which revealed that Mr. Slingsby rung in the second peal entered in the book, and his signature is now beneath the entry written by himself and without the aid of spectacles, as someone present remarked. All present were grouped on the lawn for the usual photographs.

Mr. Slingsby has been a ringer for nearly 80 years, for he started at a very early age and has been connected with the church all his life. On his 90th birthday he was presented with a small model of Aldington treble bell in recognition of his long service to the church. He has always taken the keenest interest in ringing and was a foundation member of the Kent County Association. He was also one of the ringers who formed the Romney Marsh and District Guild.

At the business meeting of the Guild it was decided to place a tablet in the tower to commemorate the centenarian's birthday.

RINGING FOR THE CORONATION.

PERFORMANCES AND PERSONALITIES.

Abbey Ringers Receive Coronation Medals.

Amongst those who have received the King's Coronation Medal are the members of the Westminster Abbey company of ringers.

They were received in the Jerusalem Chamber by the Dean, and each member was presented with the medal and a letter from Buckingham Palace expressing the King's Command.

The College Youths brought round two peals of Stedman Cinques in London last Saturday in honour of the Coronation—one at St. Paul's Cathedral and the other at Southwark Cathedral.

A peal of Bob Major attempted at St. Michael's, Blackburn, on Coronation Day, ended in 2 hours 55 minutes two and a half courses from home through a broken rope.

Ringers gave a 'send-off' to the official programme of the Coronation festivities at Bournemouth, a well-struck quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples starting at 9 a.m.: F. Frankland Rigby 1, R. Dear 2, W. Garrett 3, H. Roberts (first quarter-peal 'inside') 4, C. R. Forfitt 5, P. W. Witham 6, A. V. Davis (conductor) 7, H. Osborne 8.

Mr. C. R. Forfitt, the 74-year-old veteran of St. Peter's band, has now rung for the accession of four Kings of England and three Coronations as well as for Queen's Victoria's Diamond Jubilee.

A Coronation peal was attempted at Wimborne St. Giles' Church on Wednesday, May 19th. Unfortunately, the ringing came to grief within four minutes of completion owing to three successive trips occurring in the last two courses which ended in the treble losing itself. The excellence of the striking of Grandsire Triples, the method selected, probably contributed to the failure, the errors coming about when success seemed assured.

CORONATION DAY IN VANCOUVER.

In Vancouver, British Columbia, there was a gathering of ringers who celebrated the Coronation by ringing the bells of the Cathedral of the Holy Rosary in short touches for nearly three hours. Many of them came from a considerable distance.

Among the touches were 336 Grandsire Triples: A. B. Lomas 1, A. C. Limpus 2, R. Pitman 3, F. M. Bressey 4, G. W. Foster 5, Frank Dunaway 6, W. Sampson 7, R. Tapper 8, and a 504 in the same method: A. C. Limpus 1, A. B. Lomas 2, R. Pitman 3, F. M. Bressey 4, G. W. Foster 5, Arthur King 6, W. Sampson 7, R. Tapper 8. Also a further 336. All these were conducted by George W. Foster, who had come from Port Haney, 30 miles distant. Mr. Bond also 'covered' for several short touches, and rounds and 'queens' were rung and a royal salute of 21 'shots' was fired.

At 2 a.m. some of the ringers had heard the bells of St. Margaret's, Westminster, through the radio, and afterwards a few good rounds and plain hunting on the splendid peal in Christ Church Cathedral, Victoria, but this was cut off after two minutes as the programme of the Canadian B.C. was interrupted.

For 50 years Messrs. J. Jagger, J. Walker and J. Screen, who rang together at Christ Church, West Bromwich, for the Coronation of King George VI. and Queen Elizabeth, have rung for all the principal royal events—Jubilees, Accessions and Coronations.

John Jagger, the senior member of the trio, had his first lesson in ringing on May 6th, 1867, when his father took him to St. Thomas' Church, Oxford. He has thus completed 70 years as a ringer.

These three veterans took part in a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples at Christ Church, West Bromwich, on May 29th, rung by H. Morton 1, J. Sheldon 2, J. Jagger 3, F. Horsfield 4, J. Walker 5, J. Screen (conductor) 6, E. Parish 7, J. Reed 8. On Coronation Day only plain ringing and 'firing' was possible.

BAD LUCK IN GLAMORGANSHIRE.

It is 25 years ago since the last peal was rung on the bells at Radyr, Glamorganshire, owing to objection by residents adjacent to the church. Permission was, however, granted by the Vicar for an attempt for a Coronation peal on Saturday, May 22nd. All went splendidly until the middle of the 11th part of Parker's Twelve-Part peal of Grandsire, when the Vicar unlocked the belfry door and asked for the bells to be stopped at once. The ringers shouted only about 20 minutes to go, but he insisted on stopping and then explained that a woman was ill opposite the church suffering from blood pressure. The Vicar was as much disappointed as the ringers, but messengers to his house and the constant ringing of his telephone compelled him to stop the ringing. Those taking part were as follows: A. W. Heath 1, G. Talbot 2, J. W. Jones 3, E. Stitch 4, R. E. Coles 5, G. Poppell 6, J. Phillips (conductor) 7, S. R. Barker 8.

A run of bad luck in Coronation peals dogged Mr. E. Stitch, district secretary of the Swansea and Brecon Guild. He had five failures and no success.

A peal of Bob Minor came to grief at Cadoxton, near Neath, in the middle of the fourth 720 on Coronation Day: W. Lewis 1, E. Phillips 2, B. Devonald 3, E. Stitch 4, B. Williams 5, G. I. Lewis (conductor) 6.

The bells were rung at Aberavon, Glam., on Coronation Day, and a peal of Grandsire Triples attempted on Saturday, May 15th, but unfortunately came to grief in the seventh part through a shift course: G. Chappel 1, P. E. Stone 2, E. Phillips 3, J. T. Williams 4, G. I. Lewis 5, E. Stitch (conductor) 6, A. J. Pitman 7, T. M. Roderick 8.

A peal of Grandsire Doubles was arranged at Baglan, Glam., for Wednesday, May 19th, but the band met one short. With the help of Penarth ringers, who were on their outing, a few six-scores were rung. The bells were rung by the local band on Coronation Day.

The bells at Newton, Porthcawl, Glam., were rung by the local band on Coronation Day, and a peal of Grandsire Doubles attempted on Thursday, May 20th, but it came to grief in the 27th 120, through one of the ringers missing the sally: H. E. Carpenter 1, V. Smith 2, C. M. Davies 3, T. M. Roderick 4, E. Stitch (conductor) 5, A. E. Bacon 6.

CHURCH AND CIVIC EMPHASIS.

At Penwortham, Lancs, the ringing on Coronation Day was given official backing by resolutions passed both by the Parochial Church Council and the Parish Council. Thus church and civic emphasis was given to the ringers' own loyal intentions. The bells were rung to a 720 of Kent Treble Bob before an early celebration, and for an hour before the service at Westminster. This ringing included two 720's of Kent Treble Bob.

Two quarter-peals were rung at Donington, Lincolnshire. The first for Coronation service was the first on the bells since they were rehung in a new frame. It consisted of 720 and 360 of Oxford Treble Bob and 180 of Plain Bob by Gerald Short 1, Jesse Pearson 2, Fred C. Pearson (conductor) 3, Ernest Staples 4, Percy Markham 5, Cyril Wander 6. In the evening a quarter-peal comprising 720 of Kent Treble Bob, 360 of Oxford Treble Bob and 180 of Plain Bob: H. Woods (conductor) 1, Jesse Pearson 2, Percy Markham 3, Ernest Staples 4, Cyril Wander 5, Stanley Woods 6.

Prior to the Coronation service at St. Mary's Church, Maisey Hampton, Glos., a date touch of Grandsire and St. Dunstan's Doubles (1,937 changes) in 1 hour 11 minutes: H. Prophet 1, L. W. Cuss 2, W. C. Cuss (conductor) 3, N. J. Pearce 4, G. Pearce 5, W. A. Godwin 6.

The first quarter-peal on the bells was rung to commemorate Coronation Day at Iwerne Minster, Dorset. It was 1,260 Grandsire Doubles, rung by F. W. Chant 1, Edward C. Chant (conductor) 2, A. Roberts 3, T. Wareham 4, W. G. Dawen 5, J. Kiddle 6. First quarter-peal for treble, 3rd and 4th ringers.

LOST PEALS.

Visiting Royston, Herts, for a Coronation peal on Thursday, May 13th, the following rang over two hours in an attempt for London Surprise Major: Miss V. Shorter 1, A. E. Pitstow 2, B. Wayman 3, C. W. Cook 4, F. G. Gleaves 5, R. L. Lathbury 6, F. Dench 7, P. Warrington (conductor) 8. It was a new composition for Mr. F. Dench and was lost with seven more courses to ring.

On Saturday, May 15th, at Eaton Socon, Beds, the conductor had more 'bobs' than 'sovereigns', and let the band down in the eighth course of a 15-course peal of Kent Treble, this also being a new composition by Mr. Deuch: H. L. Harlow 1, S. Goodwin 2, F. G. Gleaves 3, A. E. Austin 4, H. J. Parker 5, R. D. St. J. Smith 6, F. Warrington (conductor) 7, H. Fields 8.

A Coronation peal was attempted but lost at Moreton Corbet, Shropshire, on May 17th. Afterwards 720 Cambridge Surprise Minor was rung: T. Leech 1, T. Price 2, W. J. Chester 3, E. V. Rodenhurst 4, F. Price 5, A. Pritchard (conductor) 6. First 720 of Surprise by ringers of 1 and 6.

A Coronation peal of Stedman Triples was attempted at Bucklebury, Berks, on Saturday, May 8th, but unfortunately was lost after ringing two hours, up to which point there had not been a trip of any sort: Miss S. Davis 1, G. Hesketh 2, G. Fowler 3, H. Smith 4, G. Stocker 5, R. W. Rex 6, E. Humfrey (conductor) 7, P. Dyke 8.

A peal on Coronation Day at Dodderhill, Droitwich, had to be abandoned, as the conductor was suffering from tonsillitis. A quarter-peal was, however, accomplished with another conductor, but the invalid had recovered sufficiently to call a peal on the following Monday.

A FLOODLIT STEEPLE.

Ringers began at 6 a.m. at St. Augustine's, Kilburn, and to synchronise with the floodlighting of the steeple in the evening a quarter-peal of 1,260 Grandsire Triples was rung: Miss D. Vale 1, A. Bone 2, R. Gilbert 3, Mrs. R. Pacey 4, S. Pacey 5, C. Nichols 6, E. M. Atkins (conductor) 7, J. Wilkins 8. First quarter-peal by ringers of treble and tenor. Afterwards a royal salute of 21 'shots' was fired.

Commencing at 7 a.m. on Coronation morning, a quarter-peal of Minor 720 of Cambridge Surprise, 360 New London Pleasure and 240 Woodbine was rung at Little Munden, Herts: W. Williams 1, A. Woolston 2, W. H. Lawrence 3, A. Phillips 4, E. Overall 5, S. Carter (conductor) 6.

The first quarter-peal on the recast bells at Rishton, Lancs, was rung on Coronation Day. It was Kent Treble Bob Major: R. Atherton 1, J. Parr 2, E. Brunton 3, R. Balderstone 4, L. Williams 5, J. Clegg 6, F. Read 7, L. J. Williams (conductor) 8. The bells have just been recast by Messrs. Gillett and Johnston.

The official programme at Kington, Herefordshire, on Coronation Day, was opened by ringing on the church bells. This consisted of 1,260 Grandsire Doubles by Bert Price (first quarter-peal) 1, Percy Evans 2, Trevor Jones (conductor) 3, Tom Giddings 4, William Price (first quarter-peal 'inside') 5, Reg. Edwards 6.

At the Parish Church, Ickleton, Cambs, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples was rung: W. Smoothery 1, P. Webb (conductor) 2, L. Lilley 3, R. Clements 4, L. Flitton 5, G. Lilley 6, W. Flitton 7, A. G. Lilley 8.

At Great Totham, Essex, on Sunday, May 9th, for special morning Coronation service, a quarter-peal of Minor, being 720 Cambridge Surprise, 504 Kent Treble Bob and 36 Plain Bob: H. Seager 1, G. W. SWANSEA AND BRECON GUILD. CEFN COED'S PERFECT PERFORMANCE IN ANNUAL COMPETITION.

The annual competition was held this year at St. Elli's Church, Llanelly, Breconshire, on May 22nd. Owing to the Coronation and Whitsun holidays, many ringers found it impossible to lose another day, with the result that only four teams entered, viz., Talgarth, Cefn Coed, St. Mary's, Brecon, and Llanelly, Breconshire. The competitors completed their tasks during the afternoon and then sat down to an excellent tea, kindly provided by the Rev. Perry Jones (Vicar of Llanelly) and a band of his parishioners. After tea the Vicar called upon Mr. W. H. Fussell, Slough, for his adjudication. Mr. Fussell said his task had been a simple one, due to the fact that the entries were small. Cefn Coed were outstanding; in fact, he could not penalise them at all, his only criticism being that their ringing was on the slow side.

Mrs. Parry Jones presented the shield to Mr. Bert Hunt (captain) and also handed a silver medal to each member of the winning team. Talgarth, the runners-up, with 12 faults, received a certificate. Brecon, 32 faults, and the home team were third and fourth respectively.

Mr. S. T. Rackham (Master of the Guild) proposed a hearty vote of thanks to Mr. Fussell, and the Rev. Gurnos Davies, in seconding, mentioned that it was the 15th occasion upon which Mr. Fussell had obliged the Guild.—The vote was carried unanimously with three hearty cheers.

Mr. Fussell, responding, said it was a real pleasure for him to come to Wales to judge the Guild's competition, as it gave him an opportunity of meeting old friends as well as making new ones. He deplored the fact that we were passing through a period when Sunday sport and amusement seemed to have more adherents than the services of the Church. He made a strong appeal to the ringers to play their part in church life by keeping the bells going and by each ringer bringing along one new member to the tower.

The proceedings closed with a vote of thanks to the Rev. Parry Jones, Mrs. Parry Jones and her lady helpers for the excellent meal which had been provided.

The winning team was as follows: A. Hunt 1, Ray Chappell 2, V. Chappell 3, C. Chappell 4, E. Woolley 5, W. Thomas 6.

A PILGRIMAGE.

A party of Oxford Guild ringers recently made their annual pilgrimage to East Garston, the resting place of the late Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn. A 720 of Bob Minor, such as he would have loved to hear, was rung by a band, all of whom have happy memories of the late Master: Miss M. Field 1, R. T. Hibbert 2, R. Warwick 3, Miss S. Davis 4, W. Hibbert, jun. 5, C. J. Hibbert (conductor) 6. The ringing was completed with 120 each of Stedman and Grandfire Doubles, with G. Woodley at the tenor.

THE CENTRAL COUNCIL.

Mr. A. Walker said that while the welding of iron or steel was a success, he agreed with the president that it must be very difficult to re-weld old bells, considering the constitution of the metal and the different fusing points. He agreed it should not be encouraged.

Mr. E. A. Young asked the president if his remarks referred only to welding in the sound bow and not necessarily in the crown of a bell?

The President said he did not know of any case where a bell welded in the sound bow had been finally successful without cracking again. He knew some bells had apparently been welded in the crown, and as far as one could say up to date had been more or less successful, but he still rather mistrusted it. If it were not for the expense he would like to see a bell carefully broken up to see what actually had happened.

DON'T SCRUB YOUR HANDS!

To many people, the problem of getting the hands really clean without harming the skin is a serious one. Grease and grime, which become deeply ingrained into the pores of the skin, are extremely difficult to remove, and ordinary washing with soap or even scrubbing will fail to remove them completely. Housewives, particularly, who complain that their hands get ruined by the nature of their work, will find the preparation called DERMAFOAM, a real "godsend." DERMAFOAM just smoothes away dirt and grease without effort. It gets right down into the pores and removes every particle of grime, leaving skin beautifully supple and healthy.

Men, too—when you've finished that dirty job on the car, DERMAFOAM will quickly banish all grease and oil from your hands. It acts almost magically—working under and around the nails and into every minute crease, removing all trace of dirt in a flash.

Engineers, Painters, Car Mechanics, Printers — everyone — will welcome DERMAFOAM, the modern method of cleansing and protecting the hands.

ADVISORY COMMITTEES.

The absence of any member on many Diocesan Advisory Committees capable of giving practical advice on questions relating to bells and bell hanging from the bellringers' angle has long been a sore point, and the Central Council has once more determined to investigate the question. Some years ago the matter was discussed and an effort made through the various affiliated societies, to remedy what is felt to be an omission in the constitution of Diocesan Committees. No substantial progress was, however, made on that occasion, partly, we think, because the Bishops concerned failed to realise the importance of the subject from the ringers' standpoint, and partly because of indifference, and, perhaps, obstinacy. Let it be at once admitted that bells and bell restoration schemes form only a small part of the cases that come before the committee, but that, in our opinion, is no reason for the exclusion of the advice which a competent person could offer in these matters. Other members of the committee hold their position because of their special knowledge of particular subjects—artistic, antiquarian, ecclesiastical among them. In those cases where Diocesan Committees include a member with sound knowledge of bells and the requirements of ringing, the advice at their disposal has been of really great value, and equally useful results would follow similar appointments to other committees.

What ringing associations feel is that where the practical ringer's views are not available, either through a member of the committee or a consultant, to whom bell cases are submitted as a matter of routine, the dice are loaded in favour of the antiquarians, whose opinions are accepted without question. The prejudices of some ecclesiastical architects also weights the scales against common sense restoration in frequent instances, and one of the things which seems to us most important is that Advisory Committees should be 'educated' in regard to bell matters. They are amply circularised and 'spoon fed' on the antiquarian diet and, never hearing the other side of the case, naturally conclude that there is only one view worth consideration. At the moment all the Central Council proposes to do is to collect information as to the position in each diocese, and it will be at least another year before any further step can be taken. In the meantime, however, we suggest that the Towers and Belfries Committee should prepare a propaganda programme on the practical side of bell restoration, so that, when the information as to the constitution of Advisory Committees is available, a further year will not elapse before anything can be done. We think, too, that they should give serious consideration to the suggestion of approaching the Central Council for the Care of Churches. All the Advisory Committees are represented on this body, and their views have, naturally, great influence in the dioceses. We fear that the stumbling block at present is that Advisory Committees, or, perhaps, the Bishops who have the appointment of them, think of ringers as of little importance in matters of this kind, and think of them, also, as having 'an axe to grind.' This is an entirely mistaken view. Even where there are no principles to be argued, the advice of a practical ringer could often avert mistakes or omissions, which, though small, may prove a constant source of irritation and annoyance to those who are responsible for ringing the bells and who have to use the tower week by week.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

There is to be a rally of the British Legion in Hyde Park, London, on Sunday, June 27th. There are likely to be several provincial ringers visiting the Metropolis for the occasion, and we have already had an inquiry as to evening service ringing in London. If secretaries of London towers will send us the information we shall be pleased to publish the places and times of ringing for the benefit of visitors.

The bells of Welling, Kent, are apparently not good enough for ringing for weddings, and the parish cannot afford to pay for a better peal. Accordingly a gramophone, with amplifier in the tower, has been installed and a record of the bells of St. Margaret's, Westminster, is to be played.

To what depths is the Church descending! It is not that we object to 'tinned' bells in their proper place, but we do think this kind of make-believe, in connection with the solemn services of the Church, is lowering to its dignity and prestige.

Will Mr. H. Parkes please send his present address to the hon. secretary of the Kent County Association, 114, Sun Lane, Gravesend?

Mr. Cyril E. Lanxon is not the first native of Cornwall to ring a Surprise peal. That distinction, writes Mr. W. G. Hiscott, probably belongs to the late Mr. William J. Rundle, a native of Fowey, Cornwall, who rang the 4th to a peal of Cambridge Surprise Minor at Holbeton, Devon, on Saturday, March 3rd, 1928.

The peal at Brierley Hill on May 13th was rung for the Worcester-shire Association.

DEATH OF MR. F. W. THORNTON.

We regret to record the death of Mr. Frederick William Thornton, of Greenwich, who passed away on Monday last after only a week's illness.

The first part of the funeral service will be at St. Alphege's Church, Greenwich, on Friday, at 12.30. Mr. Thornton was long associated with this church as ringer and chorister, and was also a member of the Parochial Church Council. He sang in the choir up to the Sunday before his last illness.

WELL-KNOWN RINGERS WEDDED.

MR. J. THOMAS AND MISS AMY R. JOHNSON.

A wedding ceremony, at which the bride, bridegroom, bridesmaids and best man, to say nothing of a large part of the congregation, were all ringers, was solemnised at the Parish Church, Hinton-on-the-Green, Worcestershire, on Wednesday, June 2nd, when Miss Amy R. Johnson, of Hinton, was married to Mr. John Thomas, of Edmonton, Middlesex.

Both bride and bridegroom are well known and have a large circle of ringing friends, the bride being well known in Worcestershire ringing circles. Mr. Thomas, of course, is well known throughout the country by virtue of his work as a bellhanger. He is a member of many ringing associations.

The bride was given away by her mother, Mrs. F. J. Johnson, an honorary member of the Worcestershire Association, and attended by her sisters, the Misses Ruth, Florence and Kathleen Johnson. Mr. W. Thomas, of Bristol, was best man. The Rev. V. C. Blyth, Rector of Hinton, a vice-president of the Worcestershire Association, officiated.

A reception was held at the bride's home, after which Mr. and Mrs. Thomas left for their honeymoon, which is being spent touring in Cornwall.

After the ceremony the bells were rung and 'fired,' and during the evening a peal of Stedman Triples was rung by a mixed band.

LADIES' PEAL ATTEMPT.

The Ladies' Guild made an attempt for a peal at Edenbridge on Saturday, May 29th, to celebrate the 21st birthday of Miss Frances Humphrey. Unfortunately, it failed, but afterwards a quarter-peal of Stedman Triples was rung: Mrs. P. Humphrey 1, Miss D. Colgate 2, Mrs. F. W. Housden 3, Mrs. R. F. Deal 4, Mrs. J. E. Davis 5, Mrs. G. H. Cross 6, Mrs. G. W. Fletcher (conductor) 7, Miss F. Humphrey 8.

DIOCESAN ADVISORY COMMITTEES.

Speaking on the report of the Towers and Belfries Committee with regard to Diocesan Advisory Committees, Mr. George Pullinger said that about seven or eight years ago the Winchester Diocesan Guild approached the Bishop in an indirect way—if approach were made in a direct way they often got refused—through a member of the committee. The result was that in matters relating to bells Mr. Wilfred Andrews or Mr. George Williams was asked to give advice.

Mr. Walter Ayre said in Hertfordshire they had great difficulty in getting any voice in bell matters when they came before the Advisory Committee. He approached the chairman, who told him they had enough to do with the bellfounders. They had an axe to grind and did not seem to know anything about the other part of the job at all. Later in regard to another matter two representatives of the Bedfordshire Association and Hertfordshire Association, which made up the diocese of St. Albans, met the Bishop, and he seemed greatly in favour of having someone who knew about bells and bellhanging on the committee. So they lived in hopes.

Mr. J. Hunt pointed out that Advisory Committees met on church matters a dozen times a year, but might only have to deal with a question relating to bells once in a year. It was unnecessary to have to attend a committee twelve times to discuss bell matters only once.

Mr. C. F. Johnston said Thetford had been referred to. Unfortunately, he knew a little about Thetford. If anybody could be found who could get the Advisory Committee to give instructions how to rehanging the bells on the old headstocks, four of which are entirely derelict, the bellfounders would be very grateful.

The Rev. H. Drake said there were two difficulties about having a representative on the Diocesan Committee. One had been referred to. If they had a member of an association on the Diocesan Committee, he had got a great deal of work to do that had nothing to do with bells. Bells did not come up very often, perhaps only two or three times a year. In Suffolk they had had the same trouble that most of them had. They had approached the committee and had had a nice answer, but nothing seemed to have been done. What they really wanted was not to have a member on the Advisory Committee as a ringer, but someone who should be elected ad hoc, or as an assessor for bells, and that the Advisory Committee should not pass any work on bells until the assessor had been consulted and probably called to advise the committee at a particular meeting. The other difficulty was one of their own. All associations were not coterminous with dioceses. Those which were diocesan associations could readily get into touch with the Diocesan Advisory Committee or the diocesan authorities, but all associations could not do that, because some were county associations and in some cases two associations covered one diocese, or two dioceses were covered by one association. Could they not do something through the Central Council for the Care of Churches instead of through the separate Diocesan Committees? If they could get the Central Council for the Care of Churches to agree that every Diocesan Committee should have an assessor to deal with questions relating to bells, he thought it would be better step than each association approaching its own Diocesan Committee. If necessary he would move a resolution to that effect.

The President said the resolution before the Council was that in the first place they should get information as to what was happening in the dioceses. After that they could take further action.

The motion was carried.

INSURANCE AGAINST ACCIDENTS.

The Rev. H. Drake referred to a recent letter in 'The Ringing World' and asked the committee to consider the question of the legal liability of church authorities in the case of accident to a member of the public after a tower had been declared to be unsafe for ringing. He thought when a tower had been declared unsafe, authorities 'gave themselves away' if an accident happened or a malingeringer pretended to have sustained some injury from the tower. He thought the Towers and Belfries Committee should consider, as soon as they could, the question of insurance in such circumstances, and, if possible, get something printed about it which could be published in the 'Law of Church Bells.' It was important it should be done, because even where church authorities had insured their church generally about accidents of this kind, it was quite certain if they were to forbid ringing because of the condition of the tower and were not to inform their insurance company, the company would refuse to pay. It was most important that church authorities should know that, and that, if they were going to forbid ringing, it might involve them in the event of an accident.

The Hon. Secretary said the proofs of the revised booklet on 'Laws' was in his hands and would shortly be printed. There was a paragraph with regard to the insurance of ringers. The view was expressed that there was no obligation to insure voluntary ringers or other voluntary churchworkers against accident. The Ecclesiastical Insurance Company, however, had a special scheme of insurance based upon a premium of 1s. per ringer, with a minimum premium of 10s. That provided, he thought, for £250 in the event of a fatal accident, £125 for partial disability or disablement and 30s. a week during temporary disability for any ringer injured in any tower where he had gone for practice, or while travelling to or from his own or other tower.

The Rev. H. Drake said that did not cover his point. Suppose a member of the public was going past a tower where change ringing had been forbidden and pretended that he had been injured by something falling from the tower, the church authorities would have considerable difficulty in proving they were not liable.

Mr. L. J. Williams said that was a matter for the church authorities and not for the Council.

The President said Mr. Drake had raised the question of a tower said to be unsafe for ringing. He had never yet found a tower unsafe because of ringing; it might be unsafe for other reasons.

Mr. J. W. Jones said his Vicar had told him that since the case in which damages were awarded for an injury in church, through a defect in bell fittings, he had paid for insurance of the bellringers, the choir and even the congregation against any accident happening in church.

Mr. F. W. Rogers asked what the Council recognised as the definition of a paid ringer and a voluntary ringer. This was rather important when they talked about insurance claims, because in some churches, although they might not pay their ringers, they made them a gratuity which was shown in the church accounts as 'payment to ringers.' Were the ringers bound to sign some form to say they were paid ringers?

The Hon. Secretary said it had never been decided what was a 'paid' ringer, and the Insurance Company would not decide it. Their scheme was devised to get over the difficulty, so that in the event of a claim arising, which might be a Workmen's Compensation Act claim, no question would arise.

Mr. Trollope said he thought the company took the position that they insured the ringers and did not bother whether they were paid or not.

The President said the only condition was that the church authorities paid ten shillings a year to insure them.

NOISY TOWERS.

The Rev. H. Drake said with regard to the question of noise outside a tower, he had advised several towers to have their windows bricked up. Now it had come to a question of his own tower, what he had had done had not been successful. He would like to ask the committee to go further into the question of lessening the sound outside towers.

The President said if Mr. Drake would send him the particulars of the tower, with full dimensions and details of what he had done and what substance he had used, he would go into the matter.

The committee's report was adopted.

THE PRESS AND BELLS.

The Literature, Press and Broadcasting Committee presented the following report:—

Numerous references to bells and ringing in the London and provincial Press have manifested a sympathetic and friendly attitude, with increasing appreciation of change ringing as a national art and of the part played by bells in our national life. The tercentenary of the Collegio Youths has attracted attention. In the Midlands the bells of Birmingham Cathedral have been very much in evidence. Several articles on the subject, with pictorial illustrations, have been published in the local Press, while Sir Charles Hyde, owner of the 'Birmingham Daily Post,' himself guaranteed the cost of the new peal. The record set up in Dorset by the band of ringers at Marshull in completing 40 years of continuous service figured prominently in the 'Daily Express.' The 'Morning Post' published an article 'In Praise of Campanology' over the signature Sentinel, which elicited from an appreciative correspondent a somewhat unusual comment: 'It is a happy thought,' he wrote, 'that bell music is the only medium of expression that has never come to base uses. . . . The organ is too often degraded. . . . The pianoforte has lost its character. But the bells are still left to send out their uplifting message free from jazz.' (This last sentence suggests an apt moral; never to let change ringing 'lose its character' by the admission of any jazz rhythm!) Agents of the district Press were diligent in their attention to the party of clerical ringers recently visiting Evesham, and Press photographers awaited them at Stratford-on-Avon.

The official organ of Imperial Steel Works, Ltd., would seem one of the most unlikely of publications to invite the attention of its readers to the history and traditions of church bells. That journal, however, which has for its title 'The Edgar Allen News,' published a few years ago, 'in fear and trepidation,' as the editors tell us, an article on bells. 'The result was surprising. From all quarters of the world letters and comments came in, showing how greatly the subject of bells interested readers.' Further articles on bells have accordingly appeared from time to time, and last June three pages were devoted to a review of Mr. E. Morris' recently published work, 'Legends of the Bells,' reproducing a number of the illustrations and recommending 'all interested in bells to make a point of buying it.'

The 'Church Assembly News' in two successive numbers contained admirable articles, with good illustrations, on 'Bells, their care and their use,' by a ringer. An article on the Guild of Ringers appeared in the current issue of the 'Salisbury Diocesan Gazette.' The 'Radio Times' of last December contained an interesting paragraph on bells, with reference to a talk on that subject arranged in the Northern Ireland programme. 'The Bells of England,' by Hugh M. Blendel, appearing in 'The Sign' for March, was written in the right spirit and well illustrated, but contained not a few inaccuracies. One sentence, which follows up a reference to bells installed in celebration of Queen Victoria's Jubilee with the strange statement that 'the decline of the art will find few such additions to mark the Coronation this year,' is conspicuously wide of the mark in view of the fact that the bell foundries have all been working at high pressure and that just lately a whole column in 'The Ringing World' was taken up with notices of opening of bells.

The committee are glad to be able to issue an exceptionally satisfactory report on broadcasting. Many of the services transmitted have been introduced by the church bells, and, with one or two unfortunate exceptions, the ringing has been worthy of its purpose, while the voice of the announcer no longer interrupts for an undue length of time. Well-struck touches of Caters on the fine peal of bells lately installed at Croydon have been a great feature of the Sunday morning programmes. Amongst the evening broadcasts the bells of St. Mary's, Nottingham, and those of Stepney have been heard with especially beautiful effect.

On New Year's Eve and in other Christmas programmes the bells of St. Mary's, Redcliffe, and of village churches were a delightful feature. On one notable occasion especially the English art of ringing came into its own. New Year's greetings were broadcast from the various countries of Europe, with music or song in the characteristic idiom of each nation. The contribution of England took the form of records of the bells of Westminster Abbey and of a country church.

The series 'Churches and Chimes' was well conceived, but the time allotted to the bells in each case was disproportionately short. Talks on clock chimes have been interesting, and handbells have been introduced with good effect. Our ancient art was put to its most modern use on Christmas Day, when four College Youths featured with handbells in a television programme at the Alexandra Palace, and proved one of the most successful 'turns.'

With the greatest satisfaction of all we record the fact that the parody of bell music produced by the chiming apparatus, which for the last ten years has been employed as a prelude to the monthly service broadcast from St. Martin's-in-the-Fields, has given way to genuine ringing on this well-known peal of bells, well and worthily carried out by the Royal Cumberland Youths.

On May 1st the B.B.C. devoted a quarter of an hour of their Saturday evening programme on the Midland Regional to the new bells of Birmingham Cathedral. The bells had been dedicated at a service about an hour before, and they were 'on the air' in some excellently rung Stedman Caters. Councillor A. Paddon Smith, a member of this committee, broadcast a description of the rejuvenated peal and something of their history. It was a very successful and interesting broadcast and another evidence of the increasing publicity which is being given to bells.

In moving the adoption of the report, the Rev. F. Ll. Edwards apologised for one omission. There should have been included, he said, a notice of an interesting work recently published by Canon Perkins on the bells of Westminster Abbey. In the report was a reference to a team of ringers at Marnhull, Dorset, who had completed 40 years' service together as ringers. Since that appeared, the Press had referred to some other old ringers in Wiltshire who had rung together for 48 years.

The report was seconded by Mr. A. Walker and adopted.

OLD PEAL RECORDS.

In the afternoon the reception of committee's reports was continued. Mr. W. H. Hollier submitted the following report of the Peal Boards Committee: We are pleased to be able to report considerable progress since the last meeting of the Council. We have received details of many interesting records of peals rung before 1826, as well as many of a later date.

Many details sent to us do not contain the names of the performers—only the date, place and name of method rung being given, and others do not give the name of the conductor. The committee desire the Council's opinion whether the names of the performers should be obtained and recorded.

We have received a complete list of 48 peals rung by the Society of Sherwood Youths (established 1672); a record peal of Minor, 15,120 changes, rung at All Saints', Wath-on-Dearne, on Shrove Tuesday, 1816, in 8 hours and 27 minutes, in 21 methods; a peal of Double Norwich Royal rung at St. Peter Mancroft, 5,040 changes, on Monday, April 17th, 1769, this being 'the first complete 5,040 that ever was rung in the known World'; a peal of Oxford Treble Bob Royal, 6,200 changes, at St. Leonard's, Shoreditch, by the London Youths on Monday, January 19th, 1767, in the Year of Bells 3257.

Other notable peal records of which details have been received include: St. Paul's, now the Parish Church of St. Mary, Oldham, three peals of Bob Major—10,080 changes (1793), 14,480 changes (1794) and 15,120 changes (1821). Also a peal of Treble Bob Major, 14,016 changes (1821).

Many of the old peal boards record the first peal rung on the bells or the first in a new method, i.e., 5,040 Treble Bob Triples at St. Peter's, Huddersfield (1821), and 5,040 Oxford Treble Bob Caters at St. Martin's, Birmingham (1817).

The committee tender their sincere thanks to all who have assisted them in this interesting historical work and to those who have promised to do so. They will be pleased to receive assistance from any interested ringer during the coming year.

In moving the adoption of the report, Mr. Hollier called attention to the committee's wish for instructions as to obtaining further details of the records, where the names of the ringers had not been supplied. There were many cases in which they could not obtain the names of the conductors as they were not recorded on the boards. Mr. Hollier specially directed attention to the peal at Wath-on-Dearne referred to in the report as one of special interest. This record was as follows: All Saints' Church, Wath-on-Dearne. On Shrove Tuesday, February 27th, 1816, the following 21 methods were rung, being 720 each of Evening Delight, Cambridge, Morning Exercise, Primrose, College Pleasure, Saint Anne's Delight, Duke of York, Evening Star, Symphony, Morning Star, Tulip, London Scholars', Navigation Bob, City Delight, Cheapside, Bob Royal, Morning Pleasure, College Treble, Oxford Treble, Violet, Rodney's Victory, making 15,120 changes, which were brought round in a grand and masterly style in eight hours and twenty-seven minutes without a man quitting his rope, while the whole was performed by the following persons: Treble, Christopher Taylor; second, Joseph Blackburn; third, Joseph Myers; fourth, Edward Myers; fifth, Matthew Blackburn; sixth, William Blackburn. The whole was conducted by William Blackburn.

Mr. Hollier said they had only received two records of peals of Minor rung up to the year 1826. The committee thought there must have been more rung than that, and he appealed to members to assist the committee in tracing the records.

Mr. W. Ayre seconded the adoption of the report, which was agreed to.

Mr. A. D. Barker moved that the committee be instructed to get as many details as possible from the old records.—Mr. R. Richardson seconded.

Mr. P. J. Johnson said on some of the old peal boards the calling of the peal was given. Such an instance was at Wakefield, where there was the record of a peal of Cambridge Royal rung nearly a hundred years before the cue at Cheltenham.

The President said all possible details ought to be recorded.—The motion was adopted, and Mr. Wilfred Wilson's name was added to the committee, the President remarking that he would be of great assistance in preparing the records in a suitable form for retention in a book.

BIOGRAPHIES OF PAST MEMBERS.

The Biographies Committee submitted the following report: Since the last report of the committee, 54 further forms, giving biographical details of past members of the Council, have been received, bringing the total up to 163. This, however, is only slightly over half the number of forms sent out, and the committee hope that the remainder may be received at an early date from the secretaries of associations or others in whose hands the forms now are.

It is proposed to collate the biographies in a loose-leaf book, so that it may be conveniently added to from time to time, but owing to the great variety in the style and size of such photographs as have been received, the committee consider it will be necessary to have a separate photographic album, with cross-references to the subjects in the biographical volume. The committee ask the permission of the Council to incur an initial expense, up to three guineas, for the purchase of these books.

In a few cases the photographs which have been sent in are only on loan. The committee recommend that the Council should give them permission to have these pictures suitably copied, at a cost not exceeding 1s 6d. each.

In view of the difficulty that has been experienced in obtaining details of many past members, with whom contact has been lost or who are largely unknown to the present generation, the committee think it would be a good plan if, during the coming year, they are allowed to collect biographical details of the members of the present Council. Particulars of future members can be obtained as they come to the Council. These details could be kept for future reference and added to the albums when the subjects cease to be members of the Council. This plan, the committee feel, would have the advantage of securing the necessary information from the members themselves, which afterwards need only be brought up to date, and would also enable photographs to be obtained of the members during their term of office.

The adoption of the report having been formally moved by Mr. J. S. Goldsmith and seconded by Mrs. Fletcher, the hon. secretary said the Standing Committee had considered the recommendations contained in the report and wanted to amend them. They thought it would be best if the photographs could be kept with the biographies, and in order that a satisfactory job might be made of it the Standing Committee recommended that all the photographs should be reproduced in one uniform size. The committee had suggested that biographical details of present members should be collected, and the Standing Committee recommended this should be done.

Mr. Goldsmith said the Biographies Committee were glad to accept the recommendations of the Standing Committee. Their original recommendation was made as being the cheaper method. He appealed to those who had in hand forms which had already been sent out to return them as soon as possible to facilitate the committee's work. The committee's object in suggesting the collecting of biographies of present members was to make it easier to collect the information. Particulars of some past members were unknown to CORONATION BELLS.

HIS MAJESTY'S INTEREST IN MASONS' PEAL.

Oldest and Youngest Coronation Peal Ringers.

A report of the Masonic peal of Bob Maximus, rung at Shoreditch, was sent with expressions of loyalty to their Majesties and graciously acknowledged by them in the following letter from Buckingham Palace, dated May 25th: "Sir,—I have laid before the King and the Queen your letter of May 24th. Their Majesties were much interested to hear of the fine performance given by the twelve Master Masons at the Church of St. Leonard, Shoreditch, and greatly appreciated the loyal assurances contained in your letter.—Yours truly, (Signed) A. Lascelles."

The reports of peals rung on Coronation Day reveal that the oldest ringer was Mr. James George, who rang the 7th at Thurcaston, Leicestershire, to a peal of Stedman Triples at the age of 83 years, and the youngest Peggy Marsh, who, only eleven years of age, rang the treble to a peal of Grandsire Doubles at Lytchett Matravers, Dorset.

PEGGY MARSH,

Youngest Coronation Peal Ringer.

It is interesting to recall that Mr. George rang in a peal of Stedman Cinques at Birmingham for the death of Queen Victoria in February, 1901. He also took part in peals at Cripplegate (Stedman Cinques) and Ashton-under-Lyne (Kent Treble Bob Maximus) for the death of King Edward VII. in May, 1910.

In June, 1911, he finished a peal of Stedman Triples at North Stoneham, Hants, at half-past seven in the morning for the Coronation of King George V. and Queen Mary, and later in the day scored a peal of Stedman Caters at Wimborne Minster.

At the age of 72 he rang the 53 cwt. tenor at Bow, Cheapside, to a half-muffled peal of Treble Twelve for the late Queen Alexandra, and since then he has taken part in peals for the Silver Jubilee, in May, 1935, and for the death of King George V., in February, 1936. He was the oldest person to ring a peal for the Silver Jubilee as well as for the Coronation.

Of all the young ringers who will have reason to remember the Coronation of King George VI. and Queen Elizabeth, by the part they took in ringing for this auspicious event, none is likely to have a happier recollection of it than Peggy Marsh, of Lytchett Matravers, Dorset.

She rang her first peal on Coronation Day, having rung her first quarter-peal two days earlier. We are told she rang the treble admirably for one of her years. We hope she will live long to ring peals on many future royal occasions. She has been ringing for just over a year and also sings in the choir.

At St. Mary's, Prestwich, before evensong on Sunday, May 9th, in honour of the forthcoming Coronation, 720 Bob Minor: G. A. Bell 1, R. H. Bert 2, F. Reynolds 3, W. Bullough 4, A. Turner 5, W. Foster 6, F. J. Maude (conductor) 7, S. Reynolds 8. Rung with 6-8 covering.

The bells at St. Nicholas' Church, Great Yarmouth, were fired in a royal salute of 21 'shots' at 12 noon, and straightway they went off into a quarter-peal of Grandsire Caters (1,259 changes): Peter Newstead 1, Alfred Moy 2, John Kenyon 3, John G. W. Harwood 4, Reg. J. Davey 5, Clayton Parnell 6, William J. Lee 7, Robert Tooley 8, Edwin G. Kett (conductor) 9, Herbert Jermy 10. In the afternoon after the Abbey service a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples: P. Newstead 1, J. G. W. Harwood 2, R. J. Davey (conductor) 3, C. Parnell 4, W. J. Lee 5, R. Tooley 6, E. G. Kett 7, H. Jermy 8.

Mr. W. H. Barber, of Newcastle, who took part in the peal at St. Paul's Cathedral, as well as in the abortive attempt, travelled over a thousand miles for the purpose.

The Coronation peal at Brading, Isle of Wight, rung on May 29th, recalls the fact that the first peal on the then newly-restored bells was rung almost 50 years ago—on June 18th, 1887—in commemoration of Queen Victoria's Jubilee. Mr. George Williams, now Master of the ringers of to-day, while others were completely lost sight of. If information were collected from the members themselves, although it would not go into the biographies until they ceased to be members of the Council, the committee would have authentic information to work on.

Mr. C. T. Coles said the difficulties of association secretaries in getting some of the forms completed was that they got into the hands of friends who had no interest in the matter, or of past members themselves whose interest had entirely evaporated. In some cases, in spite of several appeals, the papers had not been returned.

The report, amended by the recommendations of the Standing Committee, was adopted.

the Winchester and Portsmouth Diocesan Guild, conducted both these peals and is the only survivor of the 1887 peal. The last peal was also a birthday compliment to Mr. B. J. Snow, who rang the 6th and who has done valuable work for the Guild on the Island.

Among the peal attempts in celebration of the Coronation was one at Tichmarsh, Northants, on May 15th, when a 'George' peal of Bob Major was lost after 2 hours 40 minutes.

MR. JAMES GEORGE.

The Oldest Coronation Peal Ringer.

A quarter-peal of Grandsire Caters in celebration of the Coronation was attempted at Manchester Cathedral on May 12th, but came to grief when only two leads from the end, owing to the second rope breaking. The quarter-peal was, however, rung on Sunday, May 30th, by H. Longden 1, H. Hollingworth 2, J. Simpkins 3, H. B. Wickon 4, W. Owens 5, A. Ridyard 6, B. Walehaw 7, F. Reynolds 8, R. Langden (conductor) 9, J. W. Wright 10.

The first peal of Major on the recast bells of Leeds Parish Church was rung in celebration of the Coronation on May 22nd. It was rung on the light eight. It is approximately 40 years since a peal of Major was rung at this church, which, as is well known, possesses a ring of twelve. This early peal of Major was the first rung in the city of Leeds.

The Coronation peal at Queenborough, Isle of Sheppey, rung on Saturday, May 29th, was also a birthday compliment to Miss J. Naylor, Mr. W. J. Wood and Kent's centenarian, Mr. C. Slingsby. At Frant, Sussex, the Coronation peal was also a birthday compliment to Mrs. L. W. Jarvis, wife of the ringer of the treble.

Kenneth Shelley, of Draycott, Staffs, has to be added to the young folk who have scored their first peal in celebration of the Coronation. He is only 13 years of age, and on May 27th rang the treble at his home tower to a peal of Grandsire Doubles. Two other Draycott ringers took part, and it was the first peal in which three members of this tower have rung together.

Members of the local company at Thornford, Dorset, took part for the first time in a peal on the bells on May 22nd. One rang the treble and the other the tenor to 5,040 of Doubles in three methods. After the peal the band were hospitably entertained at Bombury House by Mrs. and Miss Davidson.

Coronation and Empire Day were jointly celebrated by the peals rung at St. Botolph's, Bishopsgate, London; Twerton-on-Avon, Bath; and Holy Trinity, Bolton.

After losing their peal in Coronation week, through the treble rope slipping wheel, after eleven six-scores had been rung, a band at Publow, Somerset, were successful on May 23rd.

MANCHESTER CATHEDRAL RINGERS' CELEBRATION.

LEADERSHIP AND LOYALTY.

Meeting at 10 a.m. on Coronation Day, the Cathedral ringers at Manchester were unable to commence ringing before 1 p.m., owing to the delay of the Abbey service. This gave the ringers an opportunity to listen to the proceedings until 12 noon. At the invitation of their leader, Mr. W. C. Bridgeford, they then celebrated the occasion with a luncheon at the Victoria Hotel, Manchester, at which past and present members of the band were present.

Luncheon over, Mr. R. Longden proposed a vote of thanks to the host and spoke of the long service Mr. Bridgeford, Mr. Morris and Mr. Fairley, who had rung the Cathedral bells on royal occasions for the past 50 years, and of other members who could show a good record, especially in their attendance for service ringing. He hoped they would be spared to receive the reward of their labours for many years to come.

Mr. Bridgeford, replying, spoke of leadership and loyalty. It was essential in all companies that hoped for progress and fame to have a leader with tact and personality to make the team work of enthusiasm and success. It was not necessary that the leader be an expert, but the greater the knowledge the easier the ideal. The leader's views, which he used for the general benefit, must be consistently followed. As soon as conflicting arguments or undercurrents were introduced, it meant disaster. Much had been written of how to form a company, but very little of how to keep one together. The gathering, he added, gave him the greatest pleasure, and he felt rewarded for any effort he had made to create fellowship and goodwill.

Mr. Charles McLaughlin then proposed the toast to the King, who had just been crowned. The ceremony had been heard over the wireless in the adjoining room, the whole company rising for the occasion.

Returning to the tower, a general 'salute' was accorded to the newly-crowned King and Queen. After evensong the band attempted a quarter-peal of Grandsire Caters, but, unfortunately, with only two leads to go the rope of the second bell broke, robbing the band of what they would have been proud to record, an excellent quarter-peal, well struck, with a right royal spirit.

Among the disappointments on Coronation Day was a lost peal of Oxford Bob Triples at Margate. After nearly three hours' ringing, 'Stand' was called owing to a shift course. If successful it would have been the first peal in the method for seven out of the eight ringers, who were: R. Dadds 1, F. Gadsden (conductor) 2, J. Waghorn 3, A. Dadds 4, E. Speckett 5, J. Fifield 6, A. Saxby 7, R. Whybrow 8.

A quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples was rung at Osseley Parish Church on Coronation Day: W. Jeavons 1, A. Baker 2, F. Holden 3, A. Cope 4, W. Grimsell 5, S. Baker 6, W. Fisher (conductor) 7, D. Holden 8. Other ringing was done during the day.

A peal in seven Treble Bob Minor methods was lost at Shenfield, Essex, on May 15th, in the fifth 720, but the band made amends on May 31st, when another attempt was successful.

At Sedburgh, Yorks, in honour of the Coronation, 576 Yorkshire Surprise and a quarter-peal of Superlative Surprise (1,280 changes) were rung on May 18th: H. Dawson 1, Miss N. Harrison 2, E. Pennington 3, J. Smith 4, T. Sisson 5, J. W. Pennington 6, H. Haresnape 7, G. F. Woodhouse (conductor) 8. The band are the regular service ringers at Sedburgh.

An attempt for a peal of Minor at St. Martin's Church, Brasted, Kent, was lost after ringing 720's of Oxford Treble Bob, Kent Treble Bob, Double Bob and Double Oxford Bob: G. W. Davey 1, J. O. Weller 2, F. W. Budgen 3, C. E. Townner 4, Stafford H. Green 5, E. H. Lewis (conductor) 6.

Ring on Coronation Day at Bishop's Stortford, Herts, commenced at 7 a.m., and during the afternoon three 504's and two 336's of Grandsire Triples were rung as well as touches of Stedman Triples. The ringers taking part were Miss D. Wacey, H. Wacey, H. M. White, F. Bird (conductor), W. T. Prior, P. Springham, W. Wilkinson, T. Ward, H. Bull, H. Bird, E. Ansell. At Thorley, near Bishop's Stortford, Grandsire and Stedman Doubles were rung by H. Bull, H. M. White, W. T. Prior, H. Bird, F. Bird, E. Ansell.

CHURCHWARDEN'S FIRST PEAL.

At Wareham, Dorset, Dr. Alan M. Cunningham, one of the churchwardens, rang his first peal in connection with the Coronation celebrations.

A peal rung on Whit Sunday at Bradford Abbas, Dorset, commemorated both the Coronation and the Whitsun festival. Four local ringers rang their first peal and it was the first on the bells in which members of the local band had taken part.

On Coronation Day at Newport, Isle of Wight, 350, 1,260 and 742 Grandsire Triples were rung at different hours during the day. Those taking part were W. Scott, sen., W. Scott, jun., S. Moody, F. Taylor, A. Callaway, W. Chambers, W. Upton, J. Leal and W. G. H. Scott. All are Sunday service ringers at this tower.

In honour of the Coronation at Thorverton, Devon, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples was rung on May 25th: J. Ridler 1, R. B. Ford, jun. 2, B. F. Milford 3, T. H. Pook 4, H. J. Corry (conductor) 5, A. G. Selley 6, F. J. Milford 7, R. B. Ford, sen. 8.

NORWICH DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION.

SUCCESSFUL MEETING AT CROMER.

Album Presented to Mr. A. L. Coleman.

The North Norfolk Branch held its second meeting of the year at Cromer on Saturday, May 29th, when all four branches were represented to pay further tribute to Mr. A. L. Coleman, who recently retired from the office of hon. secretary and treasurer. He was presented with an album containing the names of the subscribers to the testimonial presented to him at the annual meeting.

The six bells were available from 3 o'clock, and the recently restored peal of five at Northrepps were visited in the evening.

The Rev. H. Stonely, curate, conducted a service, with Mr. E. E. Chasteney at the organ.

Forty-three members and friends sat down to tea at The Rendezvous Tea Rooms on The Parade. At the business meeting which followed the chair was taken by the Rev. H. W. Benson, supported by Mr. A. L. Coleman (vice-president), Mr. N. Golden (general secretary and treasurer), Messrs. W. C. Duffield and G. Mayers (members of the committee) and ringers from Buxton, Glandford, Hethersett, Norwich, Northrepps, Wiveton and Wymondham, and a strong muster of the local band, while the other branches were represented by members from Dersingham, Fakenham, Gressenhall, Halvergate, Happisburgh, Reedham and Saxlingham. The Rev. H. Stonely, the Rev. C. H. Winter (Rector of Northrepps) and Messrs. E. E. Chasteney and A. Woollard were also present as guests of the association.

Mr. Henry Tooke, of Wymondham, was elected branch secretary in place of Mr. N. Golden, the latter being thanked for his services to the branch.

The re-election of Mr. D. Grimble, the ratification of the belfry election of Mr. A. R. Dawes, of Watford, and the election of Mr. George E. Catchpole, formerly of Buxton, as a life member, were carried unanimously.

It was decided to visit Marsham on September 18th.

On behalf of the association the chairman presented Mr. Coleman with an album, bound in black leather, containing an illuminated frontispiece and a list of the 251 subscribers to the gold watch recently presented to him as a token of the members' esteem and appreciation for almost 20 years' devoted service as general secretary and treasurer.

In reply, Mr. Coleman expressed his thanks for the kind recognition of his work. He hoped the support and assistance he had always received would be transferred to his successor, Mr. Golden. Mr. Coleman spoke with pride of the way in which the association had, since its formation, kept its records complete, especially the register of compositions rung.

The Rev. Charles H. Winter expressed his debt to the association for its help, and thanked Mr. Golden for drawing his attention to the deplorable state of his bells. Now that the Northrepps bells had been rehung he hoped that the members would pay the village a visit.

Mr. Golden thanked all those who had contributed to the success of the meeting—the Rev. H. Stonely, Mr. E. E. Chasteney and Mr. E. C. Wilson, captain of the Cromer band of ringers.

KENT COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

DISTRICT MEETING AT QUEENBOROUGH.

On Saturday, May 1st, in spite of the attractions of a broadcast of the cup final, in addition to the difficulties of local travel now prevailing through the busmen's strike in Kent, a good meeting of the Rochester District of the Kent Association was held at Queenborough. This was probably due largely to very happy memories of a former meeting held there five years previously.

Touches in Doubles and Minor were arranged to suit the tastes and capabilities of members, and the association's form of service was conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. W. H. Clay). The organist very kindly attended to lead the singing, and a collection, in aid of the Benevolent Fund of the association, was taken during the closing hymn.

After the service the ringers with their wives and friends, numbering about fifty, were very generously entertained to tea by the local ringers and friends, and, in addition to the Vicar, the district officers were supported by Mr. Weekes, an honorary member of the association, and also Mr. Mason. A very gallant attempt was made to clear the tables, but the Queenborough folk had evidently been determined that nobody should leave feeling 'just comfortable.' A course of Grandsire Caters on the handbells was rung after tea.

The business meeting was conducted under the able chairmanship of Mr. Mason, and it was unanimously decided to hold the next meeting at Tunstall, about mid-July.

The district secretary pointed out that the next issue of the report would contain the new rules of the association, and asked that every member should make himself acquainted with them.

Very hearty votes of thanks were passed to the Vicar for permission to hold the meeting, to the organist for his practical help, and also to all who had been associated with providing such a sumptuous meal, not forgetting the ladies who waited upon the party with such grace. —Mr. W. J. Wood replied on behalf of the local ringers and said his only regret was that the company was not much larger.

The district secretary would like to take this opportunity of apologising to the Exercise for the omission of not completing the notice of meeting in 'The Ringing World.'

SUSSEX COUNTY ASSOCIATION ANNUAL MEETING.

Divisional Committees to be Reduced in Size.

Favoured with one of the most brilliant days of the year, the annual general meeting of the Sussex County Association took place at Chichester on Saturday, May 29th.

Although the numbers were not up to the usual standard, as Chichester is situated at the very end of the county, the encouraging number of 55 members and visitors were present. The eight bells of the Cathedral, hung in a campanile separate from the main building, were kept going from 3 p.m. in methods ranging from Grandire to Spliced Surprise, with rounds for those not so far advanced. Although some found that the size of the tower and the long draught proved somewhat of a handicap, a fair amount of good ringing was heard.

The service took place in the sub-deanery church, adjoining the Cathedral, and the new form of association service was tried out in its final form for the first time. Canon Mortlock, Precentor of Chichester, preached from the text, 'Their voice is gone out to all people,' drawing a simile between the voices of the bells in spreading the Gospel and those of the missionaries in distant lands. A particularly interesting association was called up by the preacher when speaking of the voices of the bells and their tuning, when he recalled his friendship with the late Canon Simpson during the time the latter was experimenting with his new system of tuning, which has so exercised the minds of ringers since that time. After speaking of the beauty of sound produced by bells, the preacher referred in an audible aside to the one which was even then calling him to his next duties in the Cathedral as 'that wretched bell'!

At the business meeting the Master, Mr. H. R. Butcher, took the chair, supported by Mr. F. B. Tompkins (some time secretary of the association), Mr. S. E. Armstrong (hon. general secretary) and the divisional secretaries. Three new members were elected, Messrs. F. Ottaway, J. Butcher and S. Russell.

STRONG FINANCIAL POSITION.

The balance sheet was accepted, as was the report of the Master and hon. secretary and peal secretary's report.

The general account showed receipts of £65 3s. from affiliated towers, £1 5s. from non-resident members, £2 10s. from hon. members, £1 from unaffiliated members, 6s. 3d. from sale of reports, £1 15s. from interest on Conversion Loan and £1 16s. 10d. interest on reserve fund. Divisional expenses had been £27 6s., £1 10s. had been spent on instruction, £3 on a presentation to Mr. A. W. Groves, £9 18s. 3d. on rail fares and part cost of teas, and £36 6s. 1d. on printing and other expenses. The balance, which stood at £133 16s. 9d. at the beginning of the year, was £129 12s. 6d. at the end. The reserve fund stands at £50, the Benevolent Fund at £77 19s., and the Certificate Fund at £3 13s. 9d. The total balances amount to £261 5s. 3d.

The Benevolent Fund received £1 16s. 10d. from interest and £3 17s. 3d. from collections. The grants totalled £8 8s.

The report presented by the Master and hon. secretary said the past year might well be considered as the first of a new period in the history of the association, which celebrated its jubilee in 1935.

Although no outstanding feature has marked the year in our own organisation, we are sure that all members will have watched with sympathy the great national events which have made 1936 notable. The death of His Majesty King George V., following so soon after his Jubilee, cast a shadow over the whole nation, and the bells of the Sussex churches played their part in the country's mourning. The accession of King Edward VIII., his abdication and the accession of King George VI. are events which will make the year long remembered in history. God save the King!

We are glad to report a steady progress in the attendance at meetings, and that the affiliated towers have continued their valued support and encouragement. To those towers, and to the honorary members, we should like to express our thanks, as also to the clergy, to whom we are indebted for the use of the bells and their work at our meetings. Yet we must remind ringers that if the benefits given to members at the meetings are to be continued, a prompt payment of the affiliation fees is an essential, for it is from them that practically the whole of our income is derived.

Grants from the Benevolent Fund have this year exceeded the income, and, although this is a good indication of the usefulness of the fund, a falling balance in any branch is to be deplored, and we appeal to the members to give generously to the benevolent collections.

As the years pass, death takes its toll of our companions, and we should like to mention in particular six members who have rendered splendid service for many years: Mr. F. Arthur, of Chichester; Mr. R. J. Dawe, of Lewes; Mr. H. Rann, St. Nicholas', Brighton; Mr. L. Payne and Mr. J. Welch, of Henfield, and Mr. G. W. Stokes, who passed away while holding the office of hon. treasurer and trustee. Their deaths will leave gaps which it will be difficult to fill, and we earnestly appeal to those remaining to give every assistance to those younger ringers who, in the future, will have to step into the positions of tower leaders and association officers. It should be remembered that the divisional meetings are the training grounds for the inexperienced, and we wish to see more becoming regular attenders.

In conclusion, we must record our expression of thanks to Mr. A. D. Stone, for many years secretary of the Central Division, who retired from the general secretaryship at the annual meeting in 1936.

The Master, as delegate to the Central Council, gave a brief summary of the business that was transacted at Canterbury.

MIDDLESEX COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

PLEASANT MEETING AT HARROW WEALD.

The meeting of the North and East District, held at Harrow Weald on May 29th, was not too well attended, but was much enjoyed by the 30 or so members who paid a visit to that delightful spot. As usual, the beautiful garden of Mr. Hart, father of one of the ringers, was open for the use of members, who were able to rest between their ringing exertions, or display their prowess (?) on the bowling green. To say the least of this matter, there were no ringers present named after Francis Drake!

The service was conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. C. S. Durham), who gave an address on the reasons for, and lessons of, the Coronation ceremony.

An excellent tea was followed by the business meeting. The Vicar had to leave early, so Mr. G. W. Fletcher (vice-president) asked him to accept the sincere thanks of the members for a pleasant afternoon's ringing.—This was duly acknowledged.

The death of Mr. F. Edwards, of Bushey, who died on May 11th, was referred to. He had been a member of the association from 1897 to 1912, and from 1918 onwards, and had been of great assistance to the Stanmore ringers. As a mark of respect, all present stood in silence for a few moments.

The hon. secretary (Mr. C. T. Coles) reported on Coronation ringing, which had been quite satisfactory. Most of their bells had been rung at some time or other on the great day, and during the days following some seven peals were rung.

A brief account of the proceedings at the Central Council meeting was also given by the secretary, and Mr. Fletcher followed this up by congratulating Mr. W. G. Wilson on the success of his maiden effort at a Council meeting.

Arising out of the report, it was decided to ask for a supply of Council publications, on sale or return.

Hendon was chosen for the next meeting on July 10th, with Double Stedman Slow Course as the special method.

The recipients of votes of thanks included Miss Fletcher, Mr. Holmes and friends, for tea, flowers, etc., and Mr. Goodship and the local ringers for a cordial welcome, not forgetting Mr. and Mrs. Hart for the use of their garden and for refreshments.

The District Master, Mr. T. J. Lock, looked after the ringing, and it was noticed that whilst the special method for the day, St. Lawrence Little Bob Major, was in great demand, it was not allowed to interfere with the wants of those members who had not come prepared to ring it.

FILLING VACANT PLACES.

At the election of officers, the president, the Bishop of Chichester, and all the vice-presidents were re-elected, and Mr. H. R. Butcher was re-elected to the post of Master for a further year. The office of hon. treasurer, vacant through the death of Mr. G. W. Stokes, was filled by Mr. A. D. Stone, who had retired from the general secretaryship in 1936. The hon. general secretary, Mr. S. E. Armstrong, accepted election for a further year, and Mr. F. I. Hairs undertook the office of peal secretary once more. A vacancy in the auditors, caused by the resignation of Mr. N. Elliott, was filled by Mr. J. T. Toms, who thus occupies the office jointly with Mr. W. C. Hart. Messrs. F. B. Tompkins and H. R. Butcher continued as hon. trustees of the funds, together with Mr. F. Dallaway in the place of Mr. Stokes. Mr. Dallaway also filled the vacant place as representative on the Central Council.

Two places were voted on for the next annual general meeting, and Horsham was carried by a majority.

Mr. A. C. Pankhurst proposed that the divisional committees be reduced in order to save expense to a maximum of two members each instead of the previous three as opportunity permitted. The Executive Committee, stated Mr. Pankhurst, numbered about 20 and was unnecessarily large. A reduction would reduce the cost of rail fares to the meetings and would render the committee more workable. On the other hand, old members might feel that compulsory reduction was a poor reward for services rendered, so the phrase 'as opportunity permits' was inserted.—The motion was carried unanimously.

Mr. Elphick's proposal, that in the opinion of the meeting the association should be represented on the Diocesan Advisory Committee on Faculties, received strong support, and Mr. Tompkins spoke of it as an excellent suggestion. The exact procedure as to its membership, however, was not known, and Mr. Tompkins offered to make inquiries and put the suggestion before the proper authorities.

The meeting closed with a very pleasant piece of business in the form of a presentation of a gold watch to Mr. A. D. Stone, as a memento of the many years' service he had rendered as secretary of the old Central Division, and latterly as hon. general secretary.

Mr. Butcher and Mr. Tompkins both spoke in appreciation of Mr. Stone's abilities in these onerous posts, and mentioned that they welcomed him back to an official position as treasurer.

In reply, Mr. Stone thanked the members for their gift and assured them of his best services in their interests for the future.

The presentation was endorsed with enthusiasm by all present.

DON'T SCRUB YOUR HANDS!

skin this simple way*

To many people, the problem of getting the hands really clean without harming the skin is a serious one. Grease and grime, which become deeply ingrained into the pores of the skin, are extremely difficult to remove, and ordinary washing with soap or even scrubbing will fail to remove them completely. Housewives, particularly, who complain that their hands get ruined by the nature of their work, will find the preparation called DERMAFOAM, a real "godsend." DERMAFOAM just smoothes away dirt and grease without effort. It gets right down into the pores and removes every particle of grime, leaving skin beautifully supple and healthy.

Men, too—when you've finished that dirty job on the car, DERMAFOAM will quickly banish all grease and oil from your hands. It acts almost magically—working under and around the nails and into every minute crease, removing all trace of dirt in a flash.

Engineers, Painters, Car Mechanics, Printers — everyone — will welcome DERMAFOAM, the modern method of cleansing and protecting the hands.

IT RESTS WITH RINGERS.

Among the subjects discussed on report by the Central Council was that of 'The Ringing World.' The question of securing the future of a ringing journal by providing a satisfactory circulation has been before the Council at two or three previous meetings, but very little of a practical nature has ever come out of the discussions, and it was so on this occasion. We know, as well as most people, how the circulation of 'The Ringing World' might be increased, but we have not yet found anyone who is able to tell us how the compensating financial support is to be assured. We also know, probably as well as most people, how 'The Ringing World' could be made to cater for even wider interests than it is able at the moment to do. Many folks are ready to advise us on this score, but what they always fail to do is to give us any practical suggestions to ensure that the increased cost would be met by a corresponding increased sale among the ninety per cent. of ringers who do not at present buy the paper, although there are large numbers who do not hesitate to read a copy which someone else has purchased. The example quoted by Mr. Percy Johnson, who said he knew of one twelve bell tower where the ringers shared one copy between them, is a typical instance of what happens in many places, but 'The Ringing World' is not alone in suffering from this attitude of ringers towards ringing. The associations themselves suffer badly from the type of individual who refuses to join because he looks at everything from the attitude of what he is going to get out of it, instead of what he can put into it. If ringers would think more of what they could contribute to the advancement of the art by supporting 'The Ringing World' and enabling us to make it more worthy of the Exercise, the difficulties would rapidly disappear and the future of the ringers' journal would be secured.

We appreciate very much the goodwill of the Council in the interest they have shown, but it is really not surprising that so few practical proposals have been forthcoming from the opportunities which have been offered. Business men know that business developments are impossible without an expansion of capital, unless profits have provided an ample reserve. If the Exercise wishes for an expansion of its paper either by way of a larger journal or a reduced price it must provide either capital or profits to enable it to be done. That, when it comes to rock bottom, is the position, and until some practicable steps in this direction are possible the Exercise—we say it with regret—cannot be given what it does not pay for. Criticism of details in a matter of this kind are worthless in solving the larger problem. The Council has not yet

DEATH CURTAILS RINGING.

The Shropshire Association met at Oswestry on May 29th, but owing to the very recent death of the Rector (the Rev. A. R. Langford Brown), only a short half-muffled touch was rung and a short service held.

After tea some members and visitors went to Whittington, where permission to use the bells was very kindly given at a moment's notice by the Rev. Thursly Peilham.

The half-muffled touch was 420 of Grandsire Triples. At Whittington methods up to Cambridge Minor were rung. There were 19 members present for tea.

DEATH OF A SWINDON RINGER.

We regret to record that Mr. Robert W. Hyner, a member of Swindon Parish Church company, and one time district secretary of the Gloucester and Bristol Association, passed away suddenly on Thursday, June 3rd.

The funeral took place at Swindon Parish Church on Monday week.

LEEDS AND DISTRICT SOCIETY.OPEN-AIR MEETING.

Batley tower is of the convenient type for a meeting in warm weather, such as prevailed on a recent Saturday, when Leeds and District Society held its May gathering. The tower door is on a level with the churchyard, and, with only two steps down, ringers are in the ringing chamber. The fact that there were no steps to climb was greatly appreciated by those who chose Batley from the three meetings held adjacent to Leeds. During the afternoon and evening, ringers waiting for a touch were able to sit on forms outside the belfry door, and, while listening to the ringing, to see into the belfry.

The business meeting was held just outside the tower. The president was chairman, and members were present from Arnley, Burley, Birstall, Bradford Cathedral, Caiverley, Drighlington, Elland, Earlsheaton, Holbeck, Idle, Rothwell, Shipley and the local company, also Mr. Brothwell, of Rotherham, and Mr. Dove, of Headingley.

Mr. H. Burton, of Batley, was elected a member of the society.

Mr. F. Rayment, in proposing a vote of thanks to the Vicar, churchwardens and the local company, said that while thanking the church authorities for allowing the use of the bells, he would like to thank the president for his kindly thought in providing the forms to enable the meeting to be held in the open air on that lovely day.

At the express wish of the ringers at Idle, it was agreed to hold the next meeting there on Saturday, June 19th. Will members please note this will be one week earlier than the usual meeting day.

NORTH STAFFS AND DISTRICT ASSOCIATION.A DINNER TO BE ORGANISED.

A meeting of the North Staffordshire and District Association was held at Kingsley on Saturday, June 5th. Forty members and friends were present from Burslem, Bucknall, Buddulph, Cheadle, Draycott, Kingsley, Leek, Longton, Norton, Newcastle and Stoke-on-Trent. A service was held, which was conducted by the Rev. W. Williams (Rector of Kingsley), who also extended a warm welcome to all present.

A vote of thanks was accorded to the Rector and ringers for the use of the bells and for the splendid way the visitors had been catered for.

Two new members were elected, viz., Mr. F. Box, of Burslem, and Mr. J. Ryles, of Norton.

A committee meeting was held after tea, with Mr. Thomas Hurd in the chair, supported by Mr. Andrew Thompson (hon. secretary) and Mr. Kenneth Thacker (assistant hon. secretary).

After a short discussion it was proposed by Mr. E. Steele, of Longton, seconded by Mr. W. Fradley, of Bucknall, that the association should hold a dinner, and it was pointed out by the secretary that it would most probably take place in February, 1938. The following committee was set up to make the arrangements: Messrs. E. Steele, C. H. Page, T. Hurd, K. Thacker and A. Thompson.

A report of the Central Council meeting was presented by the hon. secretary.

After moving the adoption of the report, a vote of thanks was proposed to the secretary by Mr. E. A. Ridgway, of Leek, seconded by Mr. J. E. Wheeldon, of Norton, the latter remarking that it was the first time they had had a report of a Council meeting from a representative.

A suggestion was made by the secretary regarding the advertising of meetings of the association in 'The Ringing World' that meetings should be advertised for two weeks, the association to pay for one and the tower where the meeting was to be held to pay for the other.

Eventually it was decided that this be left to the discretion of the ringers where the meeting is to be held.

Mr. Alan D. Steel, of Stoke-on-Trent, was unanimously elected Ringing Master for eight-bell towers on the motion of Mr. H. Carnwell, seconded by Mr. C. H. Page. Nominations had been sent to the secretary from four towers, all of which nominated Mr. A. D. Steel for the position.

Under the heading of 'any other business' it was strongly suggested that the association should have its name changed to 'The North Staffordshire Association of Change Ringers,' and the matter was left to be decided at the next committee meeting.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

The Chester Guild band which has been helping to break records in the number of methods rung in a peal of Minor, have carried the total a step further, by scoring on Saturday a peal in 73 methods. Five of the extents have been rung previously, but the peal included two new ones, one in six methods arranged from Mr. A. G. Driver's tables, and one which Mr. Driver has compiled, with 13 methods changed at every lead. In all, the peal contained 142 changes of method.

The 'ringing tour' season starts next week, when some of the old stagers will ramble through Hampshire 'seeking what they may devour' in the way of peals. Other tours in contemplation are in Devon, Lincolnshire, Oxfordshire and Somerset.

Here is an opportunity which all the young lady cyclist-ringers should jump at: Wanted, girl, age 17-25, to join a band of young people on a cycling-ringing holiday in Somerset, August 21st to 28th. Must be a good cyclist and preferably a ringer. Apply to Edna Bedford, 52, The Greenway, Uxbridge, Middlesex.

Congratulations will be extended to Mr. W. H. J. Hooton (hon. Librarian of the Central Council) and Mrs. Hooton upon the birth of a daughter, and to the president of the Central Council and Mrs. Lewis upon the arrival of their first grandchild.

Mrs. F. M. Mitchell, wife of the general hon. secretary of the Kent County Association, gave a talk to the members of the Milton Branch of the Gravesend Constitutional Association on Tuesday week on 'Church Bellringing,' with demonstrations by a working model of a bell. The listeners were greatly interested, and Mrs. Mitchell was asked to give a longer talk on the subject in the autumn.

Mr. C. H. Howard, of Braintree, formerly Master of the Essex Association, has recently presented to St. Michael's belfry his most interesting collection of ringing books, chief among which are 'Church Bells of England,' 'Clavis,' 'Among the Bells,' 'The History and Art of Change Ringing,' Stedman's 'Tintinnalogia,' 'Church Bells,' Shipway's 'Campanologia,' 'Stedman' and a collection of books on various methods, etc.

At one of the Leeds towers, it is the practice of the members to take turns in tolling for the 8 a.m. Communion service on Sunday mornings. Last week the Vicar and the vergers, also the neighbouring residents, were roused from their slumbers at a quarter to seven by the vigorous tolling of one of the bells.

The Vicar upon investigating was amazed to discover the lady member (whose turn it happened to be) of the local band performing her duties in the usual manner, being under the impression that it was a quarter to eight. After the Vicar had assured her as to the correct time, she spent the remaining hour improving her knowledge of the art of ringing by reading old copies of 'The Bell News' which were available.

Strange to say, the tower in question has a very good clock with four faces, all of which have recently been gilded, but as there have been numerous questions in recent weeks from her colleagues regarding the date of the wedding peal, the reason for this remarkable oversight on the part of the lady is, perhaps, not far to seek.

The peal of Grandsire Doubles rung at All Saints', Weston, Bath, should have been credited to the Bath and Wells Association.

The ringer of the 5th in the peal at Eckington on May 18th was John W. Sykes, not John W. Knights as printed.

HALF A CENTURY OF RINGING.

THE LATE MR. F. W. THORNTON.

The funeral took place on Friday last, June 11th, of Mr. F. W. Thornton, whose death on the previous Monday we briefly recorded in our last issue. There was a service at the Parish Church, Greenwich, and the interment took place at Shooters Hill Cemetery.

For many years Mr. Thornton was a member of the Greenwich Parish Church bellringers, and his name appears on numerous tablets now in the belfry recording notable peals. The last time he rang was as recently as May 31st, on the occasion of the annual Pepys commemoration service at St. Olave's, Hart Street, E.C.

Mr. Thornton's interest in ringing had extended over 50 years, and as a member of the now defunct Trinity Youths, represented the society in the first Central Council (1891-1893). Afterwards, from 1897 to 1902, he represented the Kent County Association.

Mr. Thornton, who was 73 years of age, was a member of one of the oldest families in Greenwich, and macebearer to 18 mayors of the borough. He lived at Crooms Hill, Greenwich. He retired from the office of macebearer in 1929, when the then Mayor and eleven former Mayors of the borough joined in presenting him with a gold hunter watch. On the same occasion he received a luminous travelling clock, the gift of Mr. F. J. Simpson, town clerk at the time, and an oak clock from the Town Hall staff.

He leaves a daughter and three sons, the eldest of whom, an Engineer-Lieutenant in the Royal Navy, was made a Member of the Order of the British Empire in the Coronation Honours List.

GRAMOPHONE RECORD OF 'SPLICED' RINGING.

The order list will close on Wednesday next, after which no further applications will be considered. To cover actual costs of record, packing and postage it has been found necessary to charge 5s. 6d. per record. All remittances should now be sent to G. W. Fletcher, 45, Walsingham Road, Enfield, Middlesex.

THE CENTRAL COUNCIL.

'THE RINGING WORLD.'

At the last meeting of the Council the following resolution was carried: 'That this Council requests all members and secretaries of affiliated societies to send in suggestions with a view to increasing the circulation of "The Ringing World," that the suggestions be considered by the officers of the Council and Mr. Goldsmith, and that a report be circulated to all members.'

The report has not been circulated because the response to the request contained in the resolution was extremely disappointing. Only three letters were received—one from an affiliated society containing a resolution passed at an annual meeting, one from a ringer, and one from a District Master of an association.

Among the suggestions were a reduction in price, if necessary, by means of subsidies or guarantees from the associations; payment for the publication of peal reports; also that all reports should be reduced to not more than half a column in length to make room for more items of news.

With regard to the financial suggestions, the report said that perhaps the following figures would assist members in their consideration of the present position: Taking the present circulation as a basis for each 1d. in the reduction of price, the annual sum of £866 13s. 4d. has to be guaranteed or subscribed, which, if apportioned between societies on the basis of their membership of the Council, is equal to £6 5s. 7d. per member of the Council annually. This does not seem to be a solution, for there are many societies who already have difficulty in paying current expenses.

The other main suggestions are that the contents need revision so that instead of long articles about one particular event a series of shorter articles covering a wider field would create more interest. In this, unless the Editor is to rewrite all reports, the remedy seems to be in the hands of those who send in the reports, etc., for publication by ensuring that the matter has the widest possible interest, and that those local details which are so often inserted are eliminated.

As regards payment for the insertion of peal reports, we believe this would to some extent result in non-publication unless members of societies were bound by the rules of their societies to do so, and this also applies to the payment suggested for the publication of reports of meetings.

INADEQUATE SUPPORT.

In considering this matter the following points must be borne in mind: (1) 'The Ringing World' is a privately owned venture, and the Council has no control over it. (2) The Editor, anxious for the continuance of the paper if he is compelled to give up, has called attention to the fact that with the present circulation it is improbable that anyone would undertake the financial responsibility. (3) The Editor regrets that he is compelled to charge 3d. per copy, but has generously agreed to give the Exercise the first benefits which arise from increased circulation, either by increasing the size of the paper or reducing the cost. (4) The Editor is willing to consider all practical suggestions, but cannot shoulder further financial burdens.

With regard to this last point, the officers of the Council feel that as the present support is so inadequate (under one-fifth of the annual subscribing members of societies represented by the Council), 'The Ringing World' cannot be expected to shoulder further financial burdens.

The officers think that a further opportunity should be given to members and secretaries to send in their suggestions, and propose that the final report in this matter be deferred. In the meantime, they would like to point out that adverse criticism if unaccompanied by constructive proposals tends to decrease rather than increase the circulation.

Mr. T. Clark asked if it was the business of the Council to deal with this matter. He thought it put the burden on the wrong shoulders. 'The Ringing World' did not do the Council as much good as it did the individual ringer, and he thought they should try and increase the sale through the associations. He brought the subject up at the meetings he attended, and he had sold a good number of copies in that way. They would do better by getting back to the associations.

Mr. P. J. Johnson said in Yorkshire ringers took a good deal of satisfying. When they talked to a Yorkshireman about spending 3d. he looked at what was on the other side. He knew of at least one twelve-bell tower that took one copy of the paper for the twelve ringers ('Shame'). He sincerely sympathised with 'The Ringing World.' When they realised that the Exercise numbered somewhere about 40,000 it was hopeless to expect that they were going to get a large proportion of them sufficiently interested to buy the paper. Another thing he was convinced of was that it was quite hopeless to expect they were going to get another enthusiast such as the present Editor to shoulder the responsibility and to pay for other people's luxury of getting their reports on the cheap. He thought, sooner or later, the Council would have to consider a scheme for the future of 'The Ringing World.' Those who were or had been secretaries of associations had been speaking on this matter for a good many years, but in looking round and seeing what they had done it seemed to him they were nearly as badly off as they were at the start. He had fought many battles for 'The Ringing World' and would be interested to know the experience of other representatives. He felt they would not get another man in all England with the enthusiasm of the present

Editor, and he shuddered to think what would happen when he lost his enthusiasm or the health to carry on.

The Hon. Secretary said on the basis of Mr. Johnson's estimate of 40,000 ringers he could amend his note and say, not that not one-fifth, but not one-tenth of the ringers supported the paper.

The report was adopted.

MUFFLED RINGING.

The President submitted the report of the officers as to muffled ringing. He said he hoped the Council would adopt it as far as its main suggestions were concerned, and he then wanted them to leave it to the officers to add further details and allow them to circulate it and get it finally passed by the ecclesiastical authorities without delaying it to next year's meeting.

The report was as follows: The practice of muffled ringing for Royalty, or indeed for any person, is comparatively recent. As far as we can trace, ringing with bells half-muffled or fully muffled was first practised by ringers as a mark of respect to deceased ringers about the beginning of the 18th century, and was later introduced for persons other than ringers.

Various customs have grown up in different parts of the country, and we think it undesirable that these customs should be changed. Where there is no fixed custom we should recommend the following practice:—

1. That as a mark of respect bells should be rung half-muffled (open at handstroke).
2. That bells should not be rung muffled for a service on a Sunday or feast day, unless the service is a funeral or of the nature of a memorial service.
3. That if the death of Royalty occurs, or a death in a parish where a meeting has been arranged, either the bells should not be rung or be rung muffled in a few touches with carefully chosen hands. We deprecate the holding of an ordinary practice meeting with the bells muffled.
4. That all muffled ringing should be in as slow time as possible.
5. That certain local customs are worthy of more general adoption. For example, the Cambridge custom of setting up one bell at a time, gradually reducing the number and then tolling the age on the tenor, is very effective.

For this last reason we should like association secretaries to send us particulars of local customs in order that a selection might be added in our final report.

We suggest that this final report should be circulated to the Standing Committee, and, if approved of by them, circulated to all members, and finally sent to the ecclesiastical authorities. If they also approve it could be published without further delay.

The President added that he would be glad to hear any criticisms or suggestions on the five main points which were recommended for use in places where they had no established local custom.

Mr. J. Hunt said one vital thing was omitted from the report.

Muffled ringing should always be done with the tenor behind.

The President: No, I don't agree.

Mr. Hunt: As a ringer for over 40 years I have never heard ringing that sounded as solemn as when it is well struck with the tenor behind. I think that point ought to be added.

Mr. S. H. Wood: I disagree entirely. I think the most beautiful ringing is in Major when you get the minor changes, that is 6587 followed by 5678 coming up muffled.

Mr. L. J. Williams: What is the point of putting in Mr. Hunt's suggestion when a band can only ring one method?

Mr. P. J. Johnson said in the district in which he lived (Leeds) they generally muffled the bells at handstroke, the idea being that, in ringing Major, the tenors struck in their right order with an open backstroke. Another advantage was that it hid any bad leads at handstroke (laughter).

Mr. C. Mee said in Suffolk they always had the handstroke open.

THE OLDEST CUSTOM.

Mr. J. A. Trollope said the oldest custom in connection with ringing for funerals was the custom of ringing 'three times three' for a man, and 'three times two' for a woman. That was not only English, but European, and went back certainly to the early middle ages. What they did at his church was to ring three whole pulls slowly, before and after the other ringing, not only because it was rather effective with the bells half-muffled, but also because it helped to continue to some extent a custom which, like so many others, was dying out rapidly, especially since the war.

Mr. F. W. Rogers asked if the committee could give them any information as to the occasions on which to ring bells fully muffled.

The President said the committee and the Standing Committee did not recommend fully muffled ringing. Fully muffled ringing had, to a large extent, the same effect as shuttering up the windows—it reduced the carrying power of the bells, but had not the same appeal to the public as half-muffled ringing. They did not get the striking contrast between the two blows, which was so effective.

Mr. Crawley said that at his church they had rung two peals fully muffled and the bells were heard at a greater distance than when they were open (laughter).

The President: Very often, when windows are blocked up, the bells are heard better at a distance.

The Rev. H. Drake supported what Mr. Trollope had said, and added that 'three times one' was used for a child. He suggested that that be added to the report.

YORKSHIRE ASSOCIATION.

SUCCESSFUL MEETING AT KILDWICK.

Mr. Joe Broadley's Retirement From Office.

Although most of the country had been under the spell of thunder, which was already on its way to Yorkshire, the 'Clerk of the Weather' was able to postpone the downpour until the Western Division had concluded a most satisfactory meeting at Kildwick on Saturday, June 12th. Considerably over 80 members were present, representing more than 30 towers, and it was pleasing to notice the number of ringers who had brought their wives and friends to enjoy the beauties of this part of Yorkshire. Almost everyone took the opportunity of looking through the grounds and gardens of Kildwick Hall—one of the noted places in the district.

The bells of Kildwick are rung from the ground floor, and very full use was made of them from 2 o'clock until well after 9 p.m. A large variety of methods was rung, ranging from Bob Major to Cambridge and Superlative Surprise, and for a meeting the striking throughout the day was particularly good. Not a drop of rain fell during the day, and we have heard of at least two young ringers who were so thoroughly enraptured with Kildwick that it was only with great difficulty that they were able to tear themselves away after a little gentle persuasion by their bus driver.

A splendid tea was served in the Parish Room by the local company. The business meeting, which was held in the schools, was presided over by the association's president, Canon Marshall M.A., in the absence of the vice-president, Mr. P. J. Johnson, who was unable to be present.

The Chairman intimated that the main business of the meeting was the appointment of a Ringing Master in succession to Mr. Joe Broadley, who had recently resigned. Mr. Broadley had been a member of the General Committee over 44 years, and had been Ringing Master of the Western Division over 20 years. He felt that a great debt of gratitude was due to Mr. Broadley for the enormous service which he had given to the association. He was indeed sorry that the time had come when Mr. Broadley had to lay down the reins of office, but he knew that his interest would always be with the association and that his help and advice would always be available.

Mr. W. Barton also spoke of the work which Mr. Broadley had done for the association and expressed his regret at the parting.

Mr. Broadley, in replying, said that he had only been too pleased to do what he could for the association. Although he was not in at the start, he had known Mr. Jasper Snowden personally and had rung five peals with him. He would still continue to attend meetings wherever possible and would gladly give any advice whenever necessary.

MR. W. AMBLER PROPOSED AS RINGING MASTER.

The Chairman intimated that one nomination had been received for the Ringing Mastership, but that the nominee on being approached had felt unable to undertake the work. Mr. Barton thereupon proposed and Mr. Hardcastle seconded that Mr. William Ambler, of Queensbury, be approached. Mr. Ambler said that it was rather sudden and he would like a few days to consider the matter more fully, but he would make up his mind as soon as possible.

The secretary proposed a hearty vote of thanks to the Vicar and wardens for kindly granting the use of the bells, and expressed pleasure at the splendid response of the members in being present and making the meeting such a success.—This was seconded by Mr. John Cooper and also supported by the chairman, who expressed regret at the absence of the Vicar, who was unavoidably detained at a garden party.

Mr. J. W. T. Holgate proposed a hearty vote of thanks to the local company for their splendid arrangements, also to the ladies who so kindly waited at the tea tables.—Mr. A. West, of Sutton, also supported this resolution, which was carried in the usual manner.—Mr. Charles Law, in replying, said it had been a real pleasure to entertain the association at Kildwick.

Replying to Mr. F. Warrington, the President said the committee was not concerned with customs of chiming; their reference was with regard to muffled ringing.

Mr. W. A. Cave pointed out that there was nothing in the report referring to the 'whole pull and stand.'

The President said that was one of the customs which they proposed to add at the end.

Mr. Cave said there was nothing more effective than this for a memorial service or when the coffin was being taken from the church to the grave.

Replying to Mr. Mee, the President said he did not think they should attempt to collect all the chiming customs. They were already recorded, as far as many counties were concerned, in the county histories.

Mr. G. Cross seconded the adoption of the report, which was agreed to, together with the recommendation that it should be completed and circulated before the next meeting.

This completed the committee's reports, and Canon Coleridge proposed a vote of thanks to all committees for their laborious work and for all they had done.—Mr. T. Groombridge seconded and the motion was carried.

RINGERS' DAY AT BIRMINGHAM CATHEDRAL.

A SURVIVOR OF THE 'FORTY THIEVES.'

A ringers' opening was held at Birmingham Cathedral on June 5th. Approximately 60 ringers and friends attended, and from 3 p.m. until 6 p.m. the bells were rung in various methods, including London Surprise Major and Cambridge Surprise Royal.

At the conclusion of the ringing, tea was taken at Kunzle's Cafe, Union Street, during which Mr. A. Paddon Smith, Mr. Albert Walker and Mr. T. H. Reeves all congratulated Messrs. Gillett and Johnston, Ltd., upon the excellency of their work, and also the Cathedral authorities on the delightful ring of bells which they now possessed.

Reference was also made to the old bells, which both from the point of view of 'go' and tone were among the worst in the country, and also to the now non-existent Birmingham Amalgamated Society, whose members were known as the 'Forty Thieves.' This society was formed by the ringers of the Cathedral in opposition to the St. Martin's Youths.

Unfortunately, the Provost of the Birmingham Cathedral (Bishop Hamilton Baynes) was unable to be present; and Sir Charles Hyde, whose generosity made the restoration possible, was prevented from attending by a previous engagement.

Mr. W. P. Waller, people's warden, represented the Cathedral; and Mr. G. E. Fearn, Ringing Master, said that Mr. Waller had taken a great interest in the scheme. It was due to his efforts that the ringing chamber had been redecorated.

Mr. C. F. Johnston, who represented the founders of the bells, mentioned that illness prevented him from being at the dedication service, but that he listened to the bells when they were broadcast, and he congratulated the ringers who took part upon the excellent striking during the touch.

After tea an informal social evening was held at the Tamworth Arms, Moor Street. Mr. Harry Withers tapped a course of Double Norwich on the piano and also sang his very popular song, 'Bob Major.' Several touches in various methods were rung on handbells, and tunes were played by Messrs. A. Walker, H. Withers and T. Miller. The last named was one of the 'Forty Thieves,' and he entertained the company with his quaintly-told stories of old Birmingham ringers.

Altogether the evening was typical of the sociability of ringers in general, and Birmingham ringers in particular.

OXFORD DIOCESAN GUILD.

NORTH BUCKS BRANCH SATISFACTORY POSITION.

The annual meeting of the North Bucks Branch of the Oxford Diocesan Guild was held at Bletchley on Saturday, June 5th. The weather was fine and the attendance about 70, representing the following towers: Beauchampton, Buckingham, Bladwell, Chicheley, Drayton Parslow, Emberton, Fenny Stratford, Loughton, Newport Pagnell, Newton Longville, Olney, Shenley, Stony Stratford, Whaddon, Weston Underwood and the local ringers. Service was conducted by the Rev. — Partridge, who gave a short address, which was very much appreciated by the members.

At the business meeting, held on the Rectory lawn, with the Rev. H. Byard in the chair, the hon. secretary (Mr. W. Sear) presented the statement of accounts, together with his report. He said that it was his 21st annual report and he was pleased to state that the branch was stronger now than it had been at any time during the period he had been their secretary. There was a membership of 225 and 29 towers in union with the Guild. Financially the branch was in good condition, and he was sure, with the same support in the future, it would grow stronger.

Both the chairman, the Rev. H. Byard, of Newport Pagnell, and the secretary and treasurer (Mr. W. Sear) were unanimously re-elected.

The Guild officials attending were the Rev. C. E. Wigg (Deputy Master), Mr. A. D. Barker (Guild treasurer) and Mr. R. T. Hibbert (Guild secretary).

The Deputy Master complimented the branch on the satisfactory way the work was being carried on, and felt sure it would give no anxiety for the future.

The Rev. Williams, of Stewkley, and six ringing members, were elected.

Votes of thanks were passed to the Rev. and Mrs. Partridge for kindly placing the Rectory grounds at the disposal of the members and for making all arrangements for such a successful meeting.

Ringing during the afternoon ranged from Grandsire and Stedman to Cambridge Major.

GLOUCESTER AND BRISTOL DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION.

MEETING AT BISHOPSTONE.

The half-yearly meeting of the Swindon Branch was held at Bishopstone on Saturday, June 12th. Favoured with beautiful weather there was a good attendance.

The hon. secretary gave a brief report of the Central Council proceedings at Canterbury, while the places for the next three meetings were provisionally fixed as Sevenhampton (for a Wednesday evening), Cricklade and Malmesbury.

Good practice was obtained in the standard methods, also Double Norwich and Cambridge Major. Members and visitors attended from Blunsdon, Rodbourne Cheney, Swindon, Aldbourne, Cirencester and Faringdon.

CORONATION BELLS.

CATERS, AND NOT CINQUES.

The peal in celebration of the Coronation at Haslemere was Major J. H. B. Hesse's 600th peal.

It was only natural that the Editorial 'leg' should be pulled for the error that crept into the report of this peal. We have seldom received so many postcards and letters over an error in our columns as over the slip which was allowed to creep in. But, then, we do not often make mistakes of this kind.

The peal was, of course, Stedman Caters and not Stedman Cinques; the two treble ringers did not also ring one handbell apiece; no congratulations are due to the first band to ring a peal of Cinques on ten bells, and the Editor has not taken part in the most unique performance of all time.

The Peals Analysis Committee will, doubtless, take note of all this, and there is nothing wrong with that wonderful little peal of bells upon which Major Hesse expends so much care.

The Coronation peal at Hughenden, Bucks, on Sunday, May 16th, also coincided with the christening of the daughter of Mr. E. Clark, a member of the choir, and the 74th birthday of Mr. J. W. Wilkins, who rang the treble to the peal. These two events are, therefore, coupled with the performance.

At St. Helens, Lancs, the Coronation peal was also in honour of the birth of a son to Mr. and Mrs. N. Heaps.

After meeting short for a peal of Major at Headcorn, Kent, on May 15th, a peal of Grandsire Triples was rung, Mr. W. H. Dartnell coming in to fill the gap at the last minute and ringing the tenor to his first peal on eight bells. Mr. J. W. Jones, of Newport, Mon., took part.

At St. Andrew's Church, Wiveliscombe, Somerset, on Coronation Day, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples was begun at 6.30 a.m. and rung by W. Hartnell 1, W. Hartnell, jun. 2, C. Tarr 3, C. Parkman 4, G. Sparkes (conductor) 5, J. Hartnell 6, D. Parkman 7, C. Bellew 8.

At Chipstable, Somerset, 1,440 Kent Treble Bob Minor was rung: S. Smith 1, J. Summerhayes 2, E. Purchase 3, C. Tarr 4, A. Turner 5, E. Quick (conductor) 6. This touch was rung after an attempt for a peal of Stedman Doubles had been called round at the seventh 120. On ringing the 120 again it turned out that the bells had been in order.

The bells at St. John's, Silverdale, Lancs, were fired at 6.30 a.m. on Coronation Day and touches of Oxford, Kent, Duke of York and Woodbine Treble Bob and a 720 of Cambridge Surprise were afterwards rung: J. Holme 1, D. Holden 2, T. Dobson 3, C. Hall 4, C. Lockwood 5, W. Bolton (conductor) 6. It was the first 720 of Cambridge Surprise by all but the treble ringer. The ringing also commemorated the birth of a great-grandson to the treble ringer and a son to C. Lockwood.

At St. Martin's Church, Fynsford, Kent, on Saturday, May 22nd, a peal of Grandsire Triples in honour of the Coronation was lost after an hour's good ringing, owing to a shift course. Not to be outdone, the band rang a quarter-peal of Bob Major: F. V. Crosskey (first quarter-peal) 1, G. W. Pogden 2, H. Mackinder 3, J. E. Lyddiard 4, A. J. Hopper 5, G. V. Murphy 6, D. M. Sharp (conductor) 7, P. A. Corby 8.

COMMEMORATIVE QUARTER-PEAL

At Redruth, on Coronation Day, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Doubles was rung, after meeting short for eight: Vivian Williams 1, Stephen Jeffery (first quarter) 2, Harold Seymour 3, William Reed 4, Frederic Harris (conductor) 5, Percy Williams 6.

A 720 of Kent Treble Bob Minor was rung at Treeton, Yorkshire: James H. Haywood 1, John J. L. Gilbert 2, Frederick Cardwell 3, John E. Turley 4, Fred Watkinson 5, Leslie Haywood (conductor) 6.

At Barrow-in-Furness, for Coronation service evensong, on Sunday, May 9th, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples: G. Slack 1, J. Bagnall 2, M. G. Wheat 3, F. H. Crawley 4, A. Steadman 5, J. E. Burles 6, C. J. A. Cushing (conductor) 7, S. Hyder 8.

The Rev. R. F. R. Routh, who has recently been inducted Rector of Beaconsfield, rang in the Coronation peal at his own church on May 15th. It was his first peal of Cambridge Surprise Major.

A quarter-peal of Minor was rung at Holmer on Monday, May 10th, in honour of the Coronation. It comprised 720 of Oxford Bob, 360 Canterbury Pleasure and 180 Plain Bob: Charles H. Tomkins 1, George T. Cousins 2, Walter S. Evans 3, Joseph W. Downes 4, William Duggan 5, Ernest P. Salmons (conductor) 6. First quarter-peal of Minor in three methods for all the band.

At Little Shelford, Cambs, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Doubles was rung for service on Coronation Day: C. Hurst 1, A. Thorogood 2, T. Sherman 3, B. Dean 4, A. Hurst 5. All are members of the local band. Longest length by ringers of treble and 3rd.

Ringings commenced at Stowmarket, Suffolk, at 7 a.m. Touches of Grandsire Triples were rung and the bells were 'fired.' Ringing was continued at intervals during the day in touches of Bob Major, Kent and Oxford Treble Bob, Double Norwich and Cambridge Surprise, 12 ringers in all taking part.

As a prelude to the day's festivities, at Rickmansworth, Herts, the bells were rung by the St. Mary's Guild from 10 o'clock for one hour previous to the Abbey service broadcast in the church. Several touches of Grandsire Triples, including one of about 400 changes, 9-8-10 covering, by W. Crowsley 1, F. W. Elliott 2, E. Hookham 3, A. E. Millett (conductor) 4, A. W. Howlett 5, J. E. Jones 6, T. Long 7, T. Reeves 8, A. Walker 9, T. Gander 10.

A LANCASHIRE RESTORATION.

RECAST OCTAVE AT RISHTON.

The peal of eight bells which has recently been recast and rehung in Rishton Parish Church tower, Lancashire, was dedicated at a well-attended service on Saturday afternoon, May 22nd, the ceremony being performed by Canon G. S. Perry, Rural Dean of Blackburn, assisted by the Vicar (the Rev. W. I. Brown) and the Rev. A. Scott, of Bolton, president of the Lancashire Association. Among those present were Mr. R. Parkinson, of Blackpool, formerly of Oswaldtwistle, who had the privilege of conducting the first peal on the old bells at Rishton Church; Mr. A. Tomlinson, Blackburn, a joint secretary of the Lancashire Association; Mr. A. Blogg, secretary of the Preston Branch. Representatives also attended from the Todmorden, Rochdale and Fylde branches of the association. Mr. Cyril P. Johnston was present to represent the bellfounders.

In the ceremony the Rural Dean was requested by the churchwardens (Mr. F. Pickup, J.P., and Mr. G. H. Ashworth) to 'dedicate to the glory of God and the use of this church, this peal of bells,' and the Rural Dean, having received from the wardens the ropes of the bells, delivered them to the Vicar 'as a sacred trust, committed to thee as the appointed minister of Christ in this church and parish.'

The Vicar then called upon the ringers to ring a short peal, solemnly charging them 'to be good men and true, to uphold the honour of our belfry, and loyally to observe and keep all our rules and laudable customs.' The bells were then rung by A. Yates 1, F. Read 2, L. Williams 3, R. Atherton 4, B. Crabtree 5, R. Balderstone (capt.) 6, W. E. Wilson 7, L. J. Williams 8.

In his short address, Canon Perry emphasised that the highest of all purposes associated with the function of bells was that expressed by their use in the church. He congratulated the parishioners of Rishton upon their enterprise in carrying out this improvement of their belfry, which represented, he said, an undertaking of no inconsiderable difficulty, and one which had involved them in rather heavy cost. In these modern times, the sound of bells often fell on deaf ears. The answer to that criticism was that they always had done, yet the message of church bells, sounded through the ages, would continue.

Following the service the bells were rung to short touches in the following methods: Grandsire and Stedman Triples, Bob Major, Treble Bob Major, Cambridge Surprise Major and Double Norwich Court Bob Major, by ringers from Blackburn, Blackpool, Chorley, Church, Bolton, Oswaldtwistle, London, Whittle-le-Woods, Todmorden and Helmshore.

The new bells, which have been tuned on the latest principle, are hung in a massive cast iron frame, supported by steel girders. The tenor—note F sharp—now weighs 15½ cwt. The bells are hung on ball bearings with the latest type of headstocks and self-lubricating clappers, and are a fine example of modern bell founding and installation, reflecting great credit on Messrs. Gillett and Johnston, who carried out the work.

All present at the dedication service expressed delight at the 'go' and tone of the bells, and residents generally have voiced their appreciation of the musical qualities of the new peal.

TWO CONDUCTORS FOR A PEAL.

The band at Longparish, Hants, all rang their first peal in honour of the Coronation. Their first attempt failed after 1 hour 25 minutes, but the second was successful. They had two conductors, who each called 21 six-scores. It was rung on the birthday of F. Tonge, ringer of the 2nd bell.

Leatherhead's Coronation peal was rung on May 29th and was also a compliment to Mr. W. Mossam, who attained the age of 80 years on May 13th. He has been a service ringer at Leatherhead for 57 years and is still on the active list.

Mr. A. V. Davis, of Bournemouth, writes: By responding to your request for reports of lost 'Coronation' peals, I am afraid I have been guilty of sending a badly framed report of the unsuccessful attempt at Wimborne St. Giles on May 19th. May I, with all possible speed, explain that I did not wish to blame the treble ringer or any other ringer for the collapse of the peal. If any have read the report in this way I ask them to accept my sincerest apologies. I was in the unfortunate position of a conductor caught 'napping' by the unexpected in some very excellent ringing, and am prepared to take the blame, if any there be, for not rising to the occasion. I sincerely hope the matter has not strained any friendships and that we may score the peal at some future date.

The peal at Dodderhill, on Whit Monday, was rung for the Worcestershire and Districts Association.

In the peal of Doubles at Northmoor, the ringer of the treble was F. Trinder, not Friender as printed. It was rung as a Coronation peal.

On Coronation morning eight of the service band turned up at St. Mary's Church, Helmingham, at 8 a.m. and rang three courses of Cambridge Surprise Major and 504 Stedman Triples. Then, after 'firing' the royal salute, they went on to Framdsen and rang a course each of Superlative, Bristol and London, again firing the royal salute. Those taking part were J. H. Arbon, W. J. Button, L. G. Brett, T. W. Last, G. Pryke, L. C. Wightman, A. E. Whiting and G. Whiting. The remaining three of the band, J. Bennett, G. Bennett and W. G. Whiting, went to make up a band for the six at Otley.

DON'T SCRUB YOUR HANDS!

skin this simple way*

To many people, the problem of getting the hands really clean without harming the skin is a serious one. Grease and grime, which become deeply ingrained into the pores of the skin, are extremely difficult to remove, and ordinary washing with soap or even scrubbing will fail to remove them completely. Housewives, particularly, who complain that their hands get ruined by the nature of their work, will find the preparation called DERMAFOAM, a real "godsend." DERMAFOAM just smoothes away dirt and grease without effort. It gets right down into the pores and removes every particle of grime, leaving skin beautifully supple and healthy.

Men, too—when you've finished that dirty job on the car, DERMAFOAM will quickly banish all grease and oil from your hands. It acts almost magically—working under and around the nails and into every minute crease, removing all trace of dirt in a flash.

Engineers, Painters, Car Mechanics, Printers — everyone — will welcome DERMAFOAM, the modern method of cleansing and protecting the hands.

A PEAL OF DOUBLES.

The Central Council, by a motion passed at Canterbury, has enlarged its definition of what it will recognise in future as a peal of Doubles. The position has hitherto been that the basis of a peal was forty-two true extents, but all along the Council has tacitly admitted peals which have included what are known as the Pitman and Morris arrangements of Grandsire Doubles—compositions which are not true extents, but are in blocks of 240 changes with each change occurring twice. Inasmuch as these peals have been included in the Peals Analysis every year since they were first rung without demur, the Council has, by its latest resolution, merely 'legalised' what it had hitherto failed to discourage. It was probably this, rather than any belief in the virtues of the compositions themselves, that led the majority of the members of the Council to vote as they did.

Very different, however, was the motive behind the support given to the resolution by a small section of the Council. These members hold the view that any arrangement of changes, rung in a recognised method, is permissible as a peal as long as, in Doubles, each appears 42 times, and, in Minor, seven times. They argue that true extents are not necessary, and, on the plea that Pitman's composition of Doubles is on all fours with the Bankes James' arrangement of Minor (which it is not) and that these compositions are in demand (which is more than doubtful) they have got what they failed to get on a direct vote at Chelmsford.

In our view the Council has taken a distinctly retrograde step in lowering the standard of what should be required in the truth of peals on five or six bells. If it is not possible to ring 5040 of Minor or Doubles without repetition, it should, at least, be essential that the composite parts should consist of separate and complete extents. It is true that at the moment the Council have specifically mentioned only the 'Pitman and Morris twelve-scores,' but it cannot stop there. There are other arrangements of Doubles equally adaptable which, if rung, will have to be admitted because they are equally as 'true' in round blocks as those to which recognition has now been given.

The mere fact that these compositions have been rung and tacitly accepted by an indifferent Council in the past is no real ground for refusing to acknowledge them in the future. Indeed, there is precedent for such refusal. The Council passed a resolution in the 1911-1912 session, laying it down that peals of Minor should consist of at least seven true and complete 720's. Previously many peals consisting of fourteen 360's and even twenty-one 240's had been rung and accepted in the Analysis. That standard was rejected by the new definition, but no action was taken on the performances already recorded. Obviously you cannot legislate in ringing for the past, but if the standard is ever to be raised, the Council must have no compunction in declining to accept for the future things which men have practised in the past merely because they have been practised. If they do, ringers will just ignore the rulings of the Council because they know they have only to go on doing a thing long enough and the Council will give it official acknowledgment, whether it is worth it or not. We cast no slur whatever on the performances that have been rung, but we ask our readers who seriously consider these things to think of the already open door which there is for 'wangling' in Grandsire Doubles and of the much wider breach that is made for the unscrupulous conductor if he is to be encouraged to provide himself with opportunities to juggle with these modern 'arrangements.' We think thoughtful conductors, on contemplation, will leave these 'scrambled' compositions alone.

PEAL NOTES.

Two ladies (Mrs. Jack Bray and Miss Dorothy Vessey) took part in a peal in 20 Minor methods at Barnby-in-the-Willocks, Notts, on June 5th. It was the first peal in 20 methods by all the band.

The peal of Bob Major at Chard, Somerset, on June 12th was arranged by Mr. P. Merson to enable Mr. Pat Cannon to ring a peal at the church in which he was confirmed and which he attended when at school at Chard.

Sunday service ringers at Netherscale, Derbyshire, rang, on June 8th, the first peal in the tower since the bells were rehung prior to the Coronation.

A composition by Mr. Nolan Golden, hon. secretary of the Norwich Diocesan Association, the first of its kind to be rung to Double Norwich, was called by the composer at Kenninghall, Norfolk, on Sunday, June 6th. The only calls are singles, and the sixth is never away from either 5th's or 6th's at a course-end. It is a 48-course peal and at Kenninghall was reduced to 5,120, the 2nd thus never being in 6th's at course-ends. Here are the figures:—

A hand 'met short' for a peal of Treble Ten at Stonham Aspell, Suffolk, on June 12th, and consoled themselves by ringing a peal of Kent Treble Bob Major.

The peal of Kent Treble Bob at Milton-next-Gravesend, Kent, on June 11th, was rung 'true and complete' to replace one, rung at St. George's, Gravesend, on June 12th, 1920, and conducted by the late Mr. W. H. Judd, of Prittlewell, which has had to be numbered among the slain since the discovery was made that the abbreviated version of F. Robinson's peal was false. This time the full 5,184 was rung.

On June 12th a peal of Cambridge Surprise Royal was rung at North Stoneham, Hants, to welcome home from their honeymoon Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Smith, the former being organist of the church.

LEICESTER CATHEDRAL BELLS.

RINGERS' OPENING BRINGS LARGE GATHERING.

By A CORRESPONDENT.

On Saturday, June 12th, the new ring of 12 bells at Leicester Cathedral was 'open' to visitors, and the event brought together a 'crowded house,' over 80 ringers arriving from all points of the compass. The first arrival was the 'globe trotter' from Swindon complete with 10ft. rule. Yes, the tenor bell was well and truly measured. Can any bells be said to be 'open' until Mr. Shepherd has performed this ceremony? He regretted his inability to stay long, as he was due at another measuring party in Somerset the next day.

Among other old timers present were Jack Holman, of Sheffield, Harry Chapman, late of Manchester and now of realms unknown, Harry Bartram, of Melton, and Jack Swinfield, S.O.F., that old stalwart of Midland Counties ringing, who hails from the town on the Trent where the river water is put into casks and bottles and retailed to thirsty and long suffering ringers under the name of beer! Birmingham, Walsall, Rugby, Nuneaton, Nottingham, Derby, Northampton and Kettering were all represented and quite possibly other places too.

Ringling in various methods took place on the 12, 10 and both eights, courses and short touches being the order of the day to enable everyone present to have a pull.

At 4.30 a service was held in the Cathedral, the Midland Counties Association form being used. The service was conducted by the Precentor of the Cathedral, who, in a short and appropriate address, mentioned that the Provost of the Cathedral, who has been ill for some time, was now somewhat better, and sent a hearty greeting to the ringers.

Mr. Harold Dexter, son of Mr. F. H. Dexter, officiated at the organ. In the evening the bells were again set going, but as time crept on the number in the ringing chamber gradually diminished. It is believed that the missing ringers had gone to study articles on 'elbow bending' and 'throat massage' in an adjacent free library!

During the afternoon many expressions of appreciation of the bells were offered—they really are a very fine lot. The fine appearance of the newly refitted bell chamber also brought much favourable comment. Who was the oldest ringer present is doubtful, but the youngest conductor was aged exactly 12 weeks! His parents—both ringers—are evidently bringing him up in the correct manner.

THE LATE MR. R. W. HYNER.

FORMER SECRETARY OF GLOUCESTER AND BRISTOL ASSOCIATION.

The funeral took place on Monday, June 7th, of Mr. R. W. Hyner, whose sudden death has already been briefly recorded in our columns.

Deceased was 62 years of age and a native of Ledbury, where he learned to ring, and, despite the handicap of a deformed hand, was an excellent ringer and striker. He was a member of several associations, including the College Youths, Hereford Association and Salisbury and Oxford Guilds.

He joined the Swindon Parish Church Guild in 1902 and was a member up to the time of his death, acting as tower secretary for many years, while from 1915 to 1918 he was hon. secretary of the Gloucester and Bristol Diocesan Association. He also served the association as branch secretary for some years. Not a great peal ringer, his peals numbered 63, consisting of Grandsire Doubles, Triples and Caters, Stedman Triples and Caters, Plain Bob, Kent Treble Bob, Double Norwich and Superlative Major and Plain Bob and Kent Royal, while he had conducted peals of Grandsire Doubles, Triples and Caters and Double Norwich Major.

The funeral service at the Parish Church was conducted by the Rev. L. Gollidge, and, in addition to the family mourners, there were representatives of the Swindon Press, Ltd., by whom deceased had been employed for 40 years. The Gloucester and Bristol Association was represented by Messrs. W. H. Trueman and W. B. Kynaston (chairman and secretary, Swindon Branch). St. Mark's ringers were represented by Mr. N. Allnatt, whilst among his old colleagues who attended to pay their last respects to a faithful member of the tower were Messrs. Berry, Bishop, Gardner, Lawrence, Palmer, R. G. Townsend, G. W. Townsend, Smith and H. W. Wells.

The bells were rung half-muffled before and after the service, and wreaths were sent from the Parish Church ringers, St. Mark's ringers and the Swindon branch of the association.

THE LATE MR. F. W. THORNTON.

With the bells half-muffled as a last token of respect for the late Mr. Frederick W. Thornton, 672 Stedman Triples was rung on Sunday, June 13th, for evening service at St. Olave's, Hart Street, City: R. Hoazel 1, E. J. Beer 2, Mrs. J. E. Davis 3, Mrs. G. H. Cross 4, G. H. Cross 5, W. J. Beer 6, G. W. Steere 7, H. Willson, jun. 8. The bells were also rung half-muffled for the morning service by the local company. St. Olave's was the last church at which the late Mr. Thornton rang.

LLANDAFF AND MONMOUTH ASSOCIATION.THE NEW PEAL FOR EBBW VALE.

A quarterly meeting of the Llandaff and Monmouth Diocesan Association was held at Llanfrechfa on Saturday, June 12th. Lovely weather prevailed, and at 3 o'clock the bells, a light ring of eight, recently augmented from six, were raised and rung in various methods. The Vicar officiated at the service and gave an interesting address pertaining to church bellringers.

Tea was served in the Church Hall and was followed by the business meeting, Mr. C. Addams-Williams, the donor of one of the new bells, being present, and, at the conclusion of the meeting, becoming an honorary life member.

Instructors', restoration and augmentation reports were read, mention being made that the proposed new peal of bells for Ebbw Vale were to be installed and dedicated about the middle of September.

A report of the Central Council meeting held at Canterbury was given by one of the representatives who attended.

New members were elected from Caerleon and Magor towers.

The usual vote of thanks to the Vicar for his kindness and hospitality closed the meeting.

The bells were afterwards kept going until late in the evening, bringing to a close a pleasant and successful meeting.

THE LATE DEAN OF ORIEL.

On Wednesday, May 26th, at the Parish Church, Redruth, Cornwall, a half-peal of Grandsire Doubles, with 4-6-8 covering, was rung in 1 hour 45 minutes: Stanley Seymour 1, William Sanders 2, Vivian Williams 3, Edward Sanders 4, Harold Seymour 5, Harry Mitchell 6, Frederic Harris (conductor) 7, William Simmons 8. This half-peal was rung half-muffled as a tribute of respect to the late Rev. John Freeman Russell, Dean of Oriel College, Oxford, whose death on Coronation Day was announced in a previous issue of this paper, but contrary to the report which says he learned to ring whilst a student at Pembroke College, he, as a matter of fact, learned to ring at Redruth, and, together with his brother, were two of the first of the local band to be awarded the Guild medal for proficiency in change ringing, and it is interesting to note that two of his sometime fellow-ringers, H. and S. Seymour, stood in this half-peal.

BOYS' FIRST QUARTER-PEAL.

A quarter-peal of Grandsire Doubles (1,260 changes) was rung at the Church of St. Matthew, Oxhey, before Confirmation service on Sunday, June 6th: Kenneth C. Curtis (age 13) (first quarter-peal) 1, P. W. Brinklow 2, Jack L. Rosson (age 14) (first quarter-peal 'inside') 3, P. J. Bowley 4, F. A. J. Steward (first quarter-peal as conductor) 5, A. E. Nye 6, P. Bishop 7, R. French 8. Rung with 7, 6, 8 covering.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

Realistic sounds of church bells played a part in the Aldershot Tattoo, which concluded on Saturday. Part of the scenery represented old London, with church tower, complete. From this tower the pealing of bells in a course of Triples (provided by gramophone and amplifiers) heralded the opening item of the programme and was heard again in another part of the wonderful pageant.

Members of the Archdeaconry of Staffs Society will hold their annual meeting in Lichfield on July 10th, but, although they meet as usual in their own Cathedral city, they will not have the use of the Cathedral bells—because this is not the year for them. It is strange that a diocesan organisation may only ring the bells of their Cathedral once in two years.

Special interest attaches to the meeting of the Salisbury Guild at Wyke Regis on July 10th, and members should make a point of being present.

The ringer of the eleventh in the peal at Liverpool on May 15th was Edward, and not Ernest Canuce as published.

SPICED PEALS.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—The Central Council, at its meeting last year, made certain decisions in respect of spiced peals. In view of these decisions, is the peal rung at Wymondham on May 12th correctly described? I ask in the interests of accuracy, and for no other reason.

LEEDS' GOOD EXAMPLE.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—As a staunch supporter of our excellent paper, 'The Ringing World,' and as one who has read with great interest the debate which took place at the Central Council meeting, I feel I cannot allow the opportunity to pass, without endorsing entirely the remarks that were made and the soothing, but none the less true, references to towers which take only one copy of the paper among their total strength.

Mr. Percy Johnson cites an instance of a twelve-bell tower where this position obtains. Assuredly this is despicable. I may say that at Leeds Parish Church we have eleven members, six of whom take the paper regularly, and in addition we also take one copy for the tower. Of the remaining five who do not take the paper it is only fair to say that their ages range from 65 to 78 years of age. Then again the problem of unemployment has been acute.

However, I feel that if all towers supported the paper in this proportion, the troubles of 'The Ringing World' would, to say the least, be greatly reduced. In conclusion, I trust your article will be read, marked, learnt and inwardly digested by all who have the interests of ringing at heart. I may say I have taken the paper since its innovation and am now 75 years of age. HARRY SMITH,

Hon. Sec., Leeds Parish Church.

CHESTER CATHEDRAL BELLS.

THE NEW TREBLES.

In order to commemorate the jubilee of the Chester Diocesan Guild two bells have been added to the Cathedral peal in order to bring it to ten. The occasion has also been used to recognise the great work which has been carried out by the Dean and also the Coronation of King George VI.

The bells bear the following inscriptions:—

1.—Think and thank. F. S. M. Bennett, Dean. Cast to celebrate the jubilee of the Chester Diocesan Guild of Bellringers, 1887-1937.

2.—Benedictus Benedictat. Cast in the year of the Coronation of H.M. King George VI., 1937. God Save the King.

The Diocesan Festival is to be held on Saturday, July 17th, when the Lord Bishop will declare the full peal open.

The service will commence at 3.30, followed by tea at 4.30 and the annual meeting at 5.15.

Several towers in the city will be open for ringers who wish to 'have a pull' and in this way celebrate the occasion.

BIRMINGHAM CHURCH TO BE DEMOLISHED.

LAST PEAL ON THE BELLS.

On Wednesday, June 9th, was rung what will probably be the last peal upon the bells of Deritend Church. The church, a plain red-brick structure, is scheduled for demolition in the near future, to make way for a road-widening scheme. The bells, a tuneless peal of eight, were installed in 1777 by Robert Wells, of Aldbourne, Wilts. They had been silent for some five years, chiefly because, with so many modern peals in the vicinity, they were not considered to be worth ringing. However, with a borrowed set of ropes, and after several afternoons had been spent by one or two of the band in greasing the bells and tightening bolts, the bells were made pealable.

Peccoliarly enough, the sixth bell, which is the only bell in the tower to be hung on ball bearings, has the worst reputation for 'go.' The following inscriptions may be of interest:—

4th.—May the town of Birmingham be ever held in esteem for its manufact. R. Wells. Recit.

6th.—Wisdom to the Council of the State and success to the British Fleet.

7th.—May Great Britain ever stand unrivalled in her commerce.

THE CENTRAL COUNCIL.

PEALS OF DOUBLES.

The following motion was on the agenda:—

That so much of all previous resolutions of the Council as defines or attempts to define what shall be recognised as a peal of Doubles be rescinded and that the following be substituted therefor:—

1. Peals of Doubles shall consist of 5,040 or more changes rung in:—
 - (a) True and complete Six-Scores, without interval between any two Six-Scores and without rounds or any other row being struck more than once before the next change is made.
 - (b) Round blocks consisting of two or more Six-Scores, provided that each of the Six-Scores which comprise the round blocks shall be itself a true and complete round block.
 - (c) Twelve-Scores known as Morris' and Pitman's.
 - (d) Combinations of (a), (b) and (c) above or any two of them.
2. At the conclusion of 5,040 or more changes, rung in accordance with (1) above, one true touch of any length less than 120 changes may be added.
3. Peals of Doubles may be rung with or without a covering bell.

In proposing the motion, Mr. W. G. Wilson said he made no apology for bringing the matter before the Council, because the position which arose on the Peals Analysis Committee's report last year made it inevitable that something should be done to clear the question up. The definition in the motion meant that peals should be recognised if they consisted of the ordinary 120's or of 'spliced' 120's. Examples of 'spliced' 120's were included in the second edition of the Doubles and Minor Collection. They consisted of round blocks, in which a six-score was commenced and before it was finished, one or more other six-scores were rung, and then the first was finished. With regard to the Morris and Pitman arrangements, the latter was equivalent to the Bankes James arrangement on six bells and the Council had already approved of that. In the Morris arrangement the 120 changes were rung at handstroke and also at backstroke, so that they had two 120's intermingled more than they had with an ordinary round block.

WHEN THE TROUBLE STARTED.

Mr. Wilson went on to review the attempts which the Council had made to deal with the matter. Doubles had never been dealt with before the Hereford meeting in 1928 and that was when the trouble started. In 1928 Mr. Goldsmith moved a resolution trying to define what peals on five or six bells were. The one relating to Doubles was: 'That peals of Doubles consist of 42 true and complete 120's rung without interval and without rounds or any other row being included, or rung more than once in any 120. A peal may be lengthened by any number of 120's fulfilling the same conditions, with or without one touch of less than 120.' That definition said, '42 true and complete 120's.' The Minor definition was exactly the same, except that it referred to seven 120's, although Mr. Goldsmith claimed that it would enable Bankes James' Cambridge to be rung. He also said it would allow Pitman's, but excluded Morris'. The Rev. H. Law James seconded that motion. Several people felt doubtful, if a peal was to consist of 42 120's, whether Pitman's and Morris' could be rung, and whether round blocks of 240's would be excluded, and Mr. James said definitely 'No.' Although that definition excluded everything except 120's, the proposer and seconder said the only thing it did exclude was Morris'. The Council passed the resolution. The next lot of trouble was in 1929 at Chelmsford, when the Methods Committee reported that they wanted to include certain compositions in the new edition of their book, it being said that if the Exercise found they were valuable they would get used; if they found they were of no use they would disappear, but, said Mr. Wilson, they had not disappeared yet. During the debate Mr. Goldsmith said he was in favour of including the Bankes James Cambridge, but hoped the Council would decide that the other compositions in dispute should be excluded, although, said Mr. Wilson, he had assured the Council in the previous year that they were included in the resolution. That 1929 meeting was the year when they had an amendment to exclude the compositions from the book passed by one vote, 30 to 29, but could not carry it as a substantive motion, which showed there was a good deal of doubt. When it was suggested it should be included as an appendix with an indication that the insertion did not commit anybody to the opinion that the compositions were suitable for peal ringing, it was carried by 44 votes to three, which seemed to him to bring out the fact that a lot of members thought they were valuable enough to put in the book, even if they were doubtful about ringing a peal containing them.

INCLUDED IN THE ANALYSIS TABLES.

After that debate Mr. Whittington had a motion which was deferred until a later date, but he did ask one question: Would the inclusion of these compositions in the book commit the Peals Analysis Committee to accepting them in their report, and he was definitely told 'No.' But every year since then they had been included in the report, and the Council had approved of the tables without debate, and had even done so again that morning. In 1929 there was an article in 'The Ringing World' which said the position with regard to peals of Doubles was in a most unsatisfactory state, that things could not remain as they were and sooner or later the question would have to be settled. That was eight years ago and still the question was not settled. They had a rest for a year or two and the question was next brought up in 1934 when the Council decided that, notwithstanding any definition to the contrary, peals in any recognised Minor method containing compositions on the Bankes James plan were, in the opinion of the Council, permissible. That settled the Minor question and was a commonsense way of dealing with it, although they were warned on that occasion that it would bring other things in its train. As far as Minor was concerned they had had no more of it. What he was asking the Council to do that day was the same as they had already done for the Minor. The immediate thing that caused that motion to be put on the agenda was the decision of the Council last year, when, they would remember, the Council considered a report of the Peals Analysis Committee and a peal of Minor was mentioned which had been rung in 1935 and did not conform to the decision of the Council, because it contained three 480's of Little Bob. The Analysis Committee was then definitely instructed to exclude it from the report, but no one suggested that they should exclude peals in which Pitman's and Morris' arrangements had been rung. The Council also instructed the committee to exclude from their tables any peals which were contrary to the decisions of the Council and to draw the Council's attention to them for discussion. That made the question bound to be considered that day. Even if his motion had not been on the paper, said Mr. Wilson, the Council would have had to consider it that morning on the report of the Analysis Committee. There were three things which the Council could do. They could carry on as they were now doing, disapproving of these peals on paper and allowing them in the report. He did not think the Council would agree that that was satisfactory. They could decide to enforce the original motion on Doubles and exclude everything except 120's. If they did that they would be treating Doubles ringers different to the way in which they treated Minor ringers, with less reason, because Doubles ringers were more restricted. The other course, and the one he wanted them to choose, was to pass his resolution and face up to the situation that progress had been made in composition; that five-bell ringing could do with something extra, and should be dealt with in the same way as six-bell ringing. He was asking them to do nothing terribly revolutionary. They had done it for Minor, and in 1928 they were assured by the proposer and seconder that Pitman's and Bankes James' arrangements were included.

Mr. Wilson was warmly applauded on the conclusion of his 'maiden' speech in the Council.

Mr. E. C. S. Turner, in seconding, said that from the Analysis Committee's report he observed that one of the affiliated societies had rung no less than 13 peals during 1936, which included these 240's. He thought that was a good reason for passing the resolution.

'NOT A LEG TO STAND ON.'

Mr. S. H. Wood congratulated Mr. Wilson on the way he had stated his case in his first speech to the Council, especially bearing in mind the task he had got, for he had not got a leg to stand on (laughter). It took a certain amount of courage to talk about Doubles or Minor at all. The grounds on which he (Mr. Wood) opposed the motion were, first, the length and complicated nature of the rule. The existing rule seemed to him to be quite simple and concise, it was understood by everybody. It might not have been at first, but he thought they all now understood what 120 of Doubles was and what 720 of Minor was. He felt the Council was going to be a laughing stock if it could not say what it would accept as a peal of Doubles without taking up half a page of the printed agenda paper and having three clauses and four sub-clauses to explain it. As regards Morris' and Pitman's arrangement he did not feel very much either way. He did not do much Doubles ringing himself and he would like to hear the views of Doubles ringers as to whether they wanted to continue ringing these compositions. He could not see that they wanted to alter the whole principle of a peal. Recently he went through the whole history of the controversy. It seemed to him that one main thing came out of the long and bitter years of struggle and that was that after a certain amount of dithering and wavering on the part of the Council they did, in the end, reaffirm the previous principle that peals on six and five bells should consist of the requisite number of extents. The Bankes James Minor was not recognised by the Council until it was proposed that, notwithstanding that it was not in conformity with the existing definition of a peal, it should be accepted. He could not see why they could not do the same with the Doubles and say that the Morris and Pitman arrangements could be let in as exceptions. Mr. Wilson himself said that when they passed the resolution on the Bankes James arrangement it ended the controversy and nothing more had been heard of it. Everybody was satisfied and everybody would still be satisfied with regard to the Doubles.

Mr. J. A. Trollope congratulated Mr. Wood on the most persuasive way he had talked the largest amount of tosh and tripe that he had heard for a long time (laughter). When he talked about the Bankes James composition having been let in as an exception, he was not speaking the truth. That was brought in 'notwithstanding anything to the contrary.' As to Mr. Wood's objection to this definition of a peal of Doubles on the score of its length, he (the speaker) had been a member of the Council for 40 years and he had seen a number of attempts to formulate definitions. Most of them had shown how extraordinarily difficult it was. There was one criticism of the present motion he would offer, and he would move as an amendment the omission of the second clause about ringing an odd touch. He did not know where that came from. A peal of Doubles should be in multiples of six-scores and a peal of Minor should be in multiples of 720. (A Voice: Hear, hear.)

Mr. Trollope: I know exactly what I am saying, you won't get me on that (laughter). It was extraordinarily difficult, continued Mr. Trollope, to say in a definition exactly what they meant by truth and completeness except on seven bells. They all agreed that on seven bells a peal should consist of 5,040 changes 'without repetition of a change or a bell out of course.' If they were to ring Holt's ten-part peal and at the end ring a touch of, say, a thousand in the same method without interval, could they claim they had rung a peal of 6,000 of Grandsire Triples? He thought not. They would have rung a peal and a touch; the fact that they had been rung without interval would not alter the fact. The same principle ought to be made to apply to Doubles. The ringing of odd bits was not only contrary to the principle on which peal ringing should be done, but he did not think it was wanted. He moved the deletion of Clause 2.

Mr. J. S. Goldsmith opposed the motion on the ground that what should constitute a peal of Doubles was already adequately defined. It was quite true that when he moved the definition at Hereford he said he considered it included the Pitman Doubles, and he now frankly confessed that he changed his opinion on this point very soon afterwards, and that was the reason he opposed its inclusion in the 'Doubles and Minor Collection' at Chelmsford. The Morris and Pitman arrangements were not on the same footing as the Bankes James arrangement of Cambridge Minor, and in proof of this the speaker quoted the Council's own rules on 'Regular Methods.' In these rules it was laid down that 'in methods with one hunt, which included Minor, the division between the leads was between the first and second blows of the whole pull of the hunt, before or behind.' Therefore, Minor methods had rounds as the first row of the method, and, that being so, the Bankes James arrangement consisted of true extents. But when they came to Doubles the Council's rules laid it down that 'in methods with two hunts (the treble and another) the division between the leads was midway between the whole pull of the first hunt and the whole pull of the second hunt, before or behind.' Thus rounds was not the first row of Grandsire Doubles, and consequently Pitman's arrangement did not consist of true extents. There was, therefore, a definite distinction between the Minor and Doubles, and he asked the Council not to accept the motion on the ground that the Doubles should be admitted because they had accepted the Minor.

NO REAL DEMAND.

As to whether there was any real demand among ringers to ring these compositions, as was suggested by Mr. Turner when he said that last year one association had rung peals including these arrangements 13 times, Mr. Goldsmith said an entirely different complexion was put upon this fact when they realised that 12 of these peals were called by the same conductor and the other by one of his band. Only on three other occasions had this arrangement been used by other conductors, and even then in one case only 240 was used and in another only a 720. He suggested that these facts showed there was no real demand for the admission of these compositions as peals, and in any case if conductors and ringers wanted greater variety in their peals they could get it by the far more interesting way of substituting other bells than the treble as the hunt bell, and by doing so they could continue to ring true extents, which should be the basis of all peals of Doubles and Minor. He warned the Council that this motion was only the thin end of the wedge on the part of those who held that any sort of arrangement of Doubles or Minor should be accepted as a peal as long as a recognised method was used and every row of Doubles appeared 42 times and every row of Minor seven times. He contended that this was against the tradition of peal ringing and asked the Council to vote against the motion.

The President asked if the 13 peals rung by one association had been rung in five-bell towers.

Mr. Goldsmith said in only two or three instances was that the case.

The President said he asked in case the band was limited to ringing Doubles.

'CONSISTENT INCONSISTENCY.'

Mr. P. J. Johnson said it seemed to him that the Council, having accepted certain things, must accept certain other things, and he could not see how they were going to get out of it. Once having accepted the Bankes James arrangement they must, to be consistent in their inconsistency, accept this motion. It was wrong to have accepted the Bankes James arrangement, but, having done so, they must accept this other. One or two of the speakers, continued Mr. Johnson, had put up the argument that these compositions were something that ringers wished to ring. He thought that was one of the things that settled the Bankes James job. What they had to decide, however, was not what ringers cared to ring—that had nothing to do with the matter at all—but a mathematical problem. What they had to decide was whether they were going to ring repetitions, but, having decided to accept the Bankes James composition, to be consistently inconsistent they must accept this motion.

The Rev. H. Drake supported the amendment to leave out paragraph 2 and was prepared also to leave out paragraph 3.

Mr. C. T. Coles, in congratulating the mover and seconder on giving the Council the only subject for discussion that day, apart from the committee reports, said, from his own experience, he was astonished at their temerity in reintroducing the subject. With regard to the number of peals rung, said Mr. Coles, Pitman's composition was published in December, 1923, and Morris' in December, 1926. Up to the end of 1930 Pitman's composition had been rung in peals, wholly or in part, some 139 times by 15 associations. About that time the controversy began and people began to look upon them suspiciously as being false. Since then there had been a considerable falling off. This year, up to date, they had been rung three times, by three associations and three different conductors. The compositions had never been rung by the association which Mr. Wilson and he represented, so they did not attempt to regularise them for their own sake, but for the sake of the Exercise at large. A composition of Triples or Major if known to be false was ignored; ringers would have nothing to do with it; but there were a considerable number of people who did not consider that the Morris and Pitman arrangements could be regarded as false. If they had had any doubt on the subject they would have ignored them. He reminded the members that these compositions had been published by the Council; were they, then, to be told that they encouraged the ringing of them but refused to recognise them in peals? If they did they would certainly, as Mr. Wood said, make a laughing stock of themselves. If these compositions were to be barred, were the Council going to delete the peals from all previous analyses or only from last year's; or would it be only from this year's or only from that day? If they were false why should they not all be cut out? Another difficulty the committee would be faced with was that peals were not always fully described. Occasionally a report merely stated '5,040 Grandsire Doubles.' Were the committee to write and ask for further details or were the committee to be allowed to put these particular peals in the analysis and so encourage a certain amount of dishonesty among conductors, who could ring Pitman's and Morris' compositions to their heart's content and not describe them? It was said that the Bankes James peal consisted of true 720's because rounds was the first row of the method. If it consisted of true 720's there was no need to bring up the resolution three years ago admitting it as an exception. In conclusion, Mr. Coles asked members of the Council who were not six and five-bell ringers, and who had fundamental objections to six and five-bell peals, not to enter the controversy, but to let it be settled by those who were in sympathy with the six and five-bell ringers. The Council had published these compositions in one of their publications and had included the peals in the analysis tables for the past 14 years; if they were to be consistent, therefore, they must admit them at this stage.

NO MORE ADDED TOUCHES.

Mr. J. Hunt said he did not agree with accepting the Minor, and he still did not agree to-day, but he felt, in justice to the five-bell ringers, that, having accepted the Bankes James Minor, they must accept this resolution. He, however, supported the deletion of Clauses 2 and 3. They did not want to finish a peal with a touch of two bobs. With regard to the covering bell, they had been ringing peals with that for the last 40 or 50 years or more.

Mr. Wilson accepted the amendment to delete Clause 2 relating to the additional touch at the end of a peal, although, he said, he did not know there was anything fundamentally wrong about it.

Mr. Kynaston then moved as an amendment to delete all the motion after 1(a).—Mr. Hollier seconded, but the amendment was lost.

Mr. S. H. Wood moved that sub-clause (b) be deleted. He said this provided for starting a 120, and then splicing into it another 120. It would be possible, he said, to go on splicing the six-scores one into the other, until they got a one-part 5,040, the only thing about which was that they had each change 42 times.

Mr. Goldsmith said to delete this would be more inconsistent than ever, and Mr. Coles said if it were taken out it would be one of the most foolish things the Council had ever done.

Mr. A. D. Barker said the Bankes James and the Morris and Pitman arrangements were not rung as much as they used to be, and he thought the use of them would die out in time.

Mr. Wood's amendment was negatived, and the original motion (omitting Clause 2), on being put, was carried, the President remarking that it was by about a three to one majority.

BELLS OF ST. PETER'S, BOURNEMOUTH.

A RESTORATION FUND.

A fund has been opened to provide the necessary money to completely restore the bells of St. Peter's, the Parish Church of Bournemouth, in commemoration of Coronation year.

It is proposed to recast and relang the peal in modern fittings at a cost of £500, and in connection with the recasting work a very generous offer has been made to the Vicar.

The raising of the required balance would not be formidable but for the presence of a large deficit on parochial funds, a deficit which has accumulated since St. Peter's has become bereft of its residential congregation and has become something of a 'city church' surrounded by business establishments. There is no doubt as to the urgency of attention to the peal of eight bells, and it is hoped to raise the money to allow for the completion of the work during Coronation year.

It may be that some of the visiting ringers who have been welcomed at St. Peter's might like to help. Contributions may be sent to the Vicar, Canon Hedley Burrows, St. Peter's Hall, Hinton Road, Bournemouth, and will be gratefully acknowledged.

WORCESTERSHIRE ASSOCIATION.THE IMPORTANCE OF QUARTERLY PEALS.

Thirty-three members put in an appearance at the summer meeting of the Western Branch, held on Saturday, June 12th, at Longdon, 13 miles from Worcester, and lying between Upton-on-Severn and Tewkesbury. Considering the travelling distance and difficulties of access (for Longdon is a village situated on a secondary road, and buses touching the place are few and far between), this number was satisfactory. The old church possesses a ring of six bells supplied by T. Mears, in 1835, tenor about 12 cwt., which were rehung by Mears and Stainbank in the early part of this year, and although the tone leaves something to be desired, the 'go' is excellent.

The Rev. W. Griffiths, curate of Upton-on-Severn, kindly took the service in place of the Vicar of Longdon, the Rev. G. W. Webb (clerical secretary), who, unfortunately, lies ill in a Malvern nursing home. Consequently arrangements for tea were re-made at short notice, and it was held at the Plough Inn, no member being 'out of course.'

In the Vicar's absence, Mr. R. G. Knowles (vice-president) was voted to the chair. The first matter arising out of the minutes was the last quarterly peal, but no one knew whether it had been successfully rung. The conductor was not present and no notification of its having been rung had reached the meeting, whereupon Mr. S. T. Holt observed that the quarterly peal had been instituted primarily for the benefit of local bands and to encourage budding conductors, and, whether successful or otherwise, the result ought to be made known to the meeting. He expressed the hope that conductors would treat the quarterly peal seriously, and look upon it more as an honour at being elected to call the peal.

The hon. secretary (Mr. G. E. Large) told the meeting that in spite of their proposing and accepting the Bushley ringers, he had spent quite a lot of postage in trying to obtain that band's subscription, but without result, so that he feared it was now a hopeless case.

The quarterly peal, to be rung at Longdon, was left in the hands of the Branch Ringing Master, Mr. C. Camm, while it was decided to hold the branch annual meeting at St. John's, Worcester.

LOCAL RINGERS ABSENT.

The Chairman expressed his pleasure at seeing so many young ringers present. They were very necessary, he said, if the place of older ones was to be taken, to say nothing of keeping bellfounders in business!

The secretary asked members if they would point out to him any errors in his 'Report' so that they could be rectified.

Mr. Holt proposed a vote of thanks to the Rev. G. W. Webb for allowing the use of Longdon Church and bells, to the curate of Upton for taking the service at short notice, and to Mrs. Webb for playing the organ. He also proposed that the secretary write to the Vicar expressing the meeting's wishes for his speedy recovery.—These proposals were carried unanimously and ended the business meeting.

There followed a further hour or so's ringing, ranging from rounds to two successful touches of Spliced London and Cambridge Surprise, though it must be admitted that the 'splice'—Cambridge to London—nearly ended in a 'clean break' on several occasions.

Old stalwarts in the persons of Mr. Tom Elcox, who came from Arley Kings, a distance of about 27 miles each way, and Mr. Bill ('Evergreen') Ranford, who came from Suckley, 24 miles, were an example to many of the younger members of the branch who live only half the distance away and yet who failed to turn up.

This meeting, arranged at Longdon especially to encourage the new local band just forming there, did not have the desired effect, as all were taking part in a cricket match at Worcester!

OXFORD DIOCESAN GUILD.

A successful meeting of the Sonning Deanery Branch of the Oxford Diocesan Guild was held at Binfield, Berks, on Saturday, June 5th, when members and visitors were present from Hurst, Sandhurst, Sonning, Waltham St. Lawrence, All Saints', Wokingham, Finchampstead, Burnham, Hillingdon, Pirbright and the local band. Tea was served in the Parish Hall by Mrs. Rance and friends, who were warmly thanked by the branch chairman. Service was conducted by the Rector (the Rev. C. Ellwood), who gave a helpful address, his subject being the 'joy of living,' which, he said, ringers in their work helped to bring out.

It was a pleasure to have present Canon Coleridge, Master of the Guild and branch chairman, who was able to take part in a six-score of Stedman Doubles and afterwards gave some practical advice to some present as to the correct way to handle a rope.

The ring of six bells was made good use of in the following methods: Grandsire, Stedman and Bob Doubles, London, Cambridge and Norwich Surprise, Plain Bob, Oxford Bob, Canterbury, St. Clement's, Oxford and Kent Treble Bob Minor and rounds for beginners.

At Great Gransden, Cambs, to open the Hunts Branch meeting of the Ely Diocesan Association, on Saturday, June 5th, a 720 of Cambridge Surprise Minor: H. Fields 1, S. J. Peck (first 720 of Cambridge) 2, H. J. Parker 3, F. W. Lack 4, A. E. Austin 5, P. Warrington (conductor) 6. The conductor's 2,237th 720.

SURREY ASSOCIATION.VICAR LEAVES CRICKET MATCH TO CONDUCT RINGERS' SERVICE.

When members of the Surrey Association visited Christ Church, Epsom, for the North-Western District meeting on Saturday week, the Vicar, the Rev. John E. Matthews, B.A., was playing cricket for the local side on the common by the church. He left word for the visitors that he would come along in the tea interval to conduct their service, and he did. 'I want,' he said in the course of a short address, 'to express my gratitude to you all for the work which you do Sunday by Sunday for the Church and to give you a word of appreciation and encouragement in that work. I also desire to thank you most heartily for the peal of welcome which you tried to ring at the time of my induction.' (This was a peal of Kent Treble Bob Major which came to grief after 2½ hours' ringing.) Immediately after the service the Vicar returned to the cricket field as the hope of his side. Verily, a sporting parson.

The company held their tea and meeting in the Parish Hall. The attendance numbered 40, representing Banstead, Beddington, Benhilton, Camberwell, Chelsea, Croydon (St. John's and St. Peter's), Ewell, Leatherhead, London (St. Lawrence Jewry), Uckfield, Wimbledon and the local band.

At the commencement of the business meeting the company stood in silence for two minutes as a tribute of respect to the memory of the late Mr. Allen Silas Gower, who died on May 19th, aged 82 years. For a quarter of a century Mr. Gower was a ringer at Christ Church, Epsom, and for many years was the association's honorary auditor.

The secretary (Mr. F. G. Woodiss) gave a short résumé of the ringing which had been done in the district in connection with the Coronation, with special reference to the first peal of Cinquus at Croydon, and requested those tower secretaries who had not yet done so to send particulars of any Coronation ringing that was done at their towers to the general secretary without delay.

The secretary also reported that an invitation had been received from the Middlesex Association to join with them and the Oxford and Guildford Diocesan Guilds in the combined meeting to be held at Staines and Egham on Saturday, August 28th, and that that invitation had been accepted on behalf of the Surrey Association.

A proposition arising out of a meeting of the District Committee regarding the printing of the cover of the association's report for 1937 (Coronation year) was discussed. It was decided that this year's cover be printed, if possible, in the national colours (red, white and blue) to a design to be approved by the General Committee.

Mr. J. R. Mackman, of Benhilton, was elected a member of the association, and the election of Mr. E. T. Woolloff in the belfry at Banstead prior to a peal on Whit Monday was ratified.

Apologies for unavoidable absence were received from the Master, Mr. D. K. C. Birt, and from Mrs. Kippin, a member of the committee, who had that day had to enter hospital for an operation.

The meeting terminated with the usual vote of thanks to the Vicar, and to Mr. J. Crawford for making arrangements for the meeting to be held and for its successful conclusion. The ringing during the afternoon and evening ranged from Grandsire Triples to Spliced Surprise Major.

A PENWORTHAM CELEBRATION.225th ANNIVERSARY OF A LANCASHIRE RING.

The ancient Church of St. Mary, Penwortham, on its wooded escarpment on the south bank of the Ribble, was an fête on Saturday, June 12th, the occasion being the 225th anniversary of the bells, a ring of six by A. Rudhall, augmented by the Freemasons of the North-West Province to an octave some years ago.

The celebration was originated by the local veteran, Mr. J. R. Taylor (who has been a ringer at Penwortham for 50 years), in a desire to further the public interest in beltring matters. Ringing took place in a variety of methods from 2.30 till 4 p.m., when a service was held, the prayers being said by the Vicar (the Rev. O. Burton) and a very helpful address delivered by the president of the Lancashire Association (the Rev. Arthur Scott).

Afterwards an adjournment was made to St. Mary's Hall, where an admirable tea was spread and 'changes' swiftly made at the tables, also in a variety of methods.

Welcoming the visitors in a witty speech, the Vicar recalled the bicentenary of the bells, which, he said, seemed only yesterday. During and also after tea Mr. J. and Miss Booth, of Standish, gave selections on the handbells, which were much appreciated, and Mr. J. R. Taylor sketched the history of bells and ringing in Penwortham from 1858 till now. He appealed for more young folks to take up the art of change ringing, at the same time extending the invitation to the gentler sex.

The president of the association also emphasised the appeal in his response to the welcome. He said there was a danger of ringing becoming a lost art if we did not keep our belfries filled with recruits.

Mr. J. Roskell, the local captain, thanked all those who had helped in any way to make the event such a memorable one.

Asked to say a few words at the end of the proceedings, Mr. F. G. Bradloy, Preston branch president, in expressing the appreciation of the members, remarked that there appeared to be no danger in Penwortham of catering becoming one of the lost arts.

Further ringing on the handy little ring till 9 p.m. ended a very happy day in the Preston Branch.

DON'T SCRUB YOUR HANDS!

skin this simple way*

To many people, the problem of getting the hands really clean without harming the skin is a serious one. Grease and grime, which become deeply ingrained into the pores of the skin, are extremely difficult to remove, and ordinary washing with soap or even scrubbing will fail to remove them completely. Housewives, particularly, who complain that their hands get ruined by the nature of their work, will find the preparation called DERMAFOAM, a real "godsend." DERMAFOAM just smooths away dirt and grease without effort. It gets right down into the pores and removes every particle of grime, leaving skin beautifully supple and healthy.

Men, too—when you've finished that dirty job on the car, DERMAFOAM will quickly banish all grease and oil from your hands. It acts almost magically—working under and around the nails and into every minute crease, removing all trace of dirt in a flash.

Engineers, Painters, Car Mechanics, Printers — everyone — will welcome DERMAFOAM, the modern method of cleansing and protecting the hands.

AN IMPORTANT SUBJECT.

Among the general items which came before the Central Council, under the heading of 'Other business,' was one which was mentioned by the President and passed over without further comment. And yet, in regard to the practical side of ringing, it is by no means the least important subject which should concern us. We refer to the method by which bells are raised and lowered before and after ringing. At all too few towers is this matter given the attention it deserves. The correct way to begin and end ringing is by raising and falling the bells in peal and there is no other effective substitute. There are expedients which minimise the unpleasant effect of bells raised or lowered indiscriminately, such as pulling them up or dropping them singly and in order (which is probably the best method if it is not done in peal), or by doing it in chords. Too frequently, however, no attention is paid to these preliminaries, or finalities, often because ringers will not take trouble to practise.

In the old days, before the use of stays and sliders, raising and falling was necessary in connection with every bout of ringing, and was an essential preliminary of every ringer's training. To-day it seems to be one of the last things the majority of ringers learn. Yet raising and falling in peal, well done, not only, as the President pointed out, puts a polish to a performance, but is actually one of the best methods of teaching a beginner bell control. There are, of course, quite a number of bands who make it a practice to do this thing properly, and it is often the least accomplished change ringers who are most assiduous in their attention to it, indeed, the 'round' ringers of the West Country would not dream of doing anything but pull their bells up and down in peal.

We hope the President's remarks will receive the attention they deserve, and that, particularly for service ringing, ringers everywhere will improve their efforts in this direction. Raising and falling cannot be accomplished properly without practice, but for the sake of the general effect on the ears of the public it would be all to the good if the 'jangling' of bells indiscriminately before and after ringing were entirely avoided. If, because of the weight or for other reasons, all the bells in a tower cannot be raised or lowered in peal, the President's suggestions are those which cause the least offence to the ear; and particularly should it be made a practice, where raising and falling cannot be carried out, to get the bells up and down, one at a time and in order from treble to tenor. The effect of many a good touch has been spoiled by clashing bells in discord afterwards, but

THE COLLEGE YOUTHS.

THE MASTER'S GARDEN PARTY AT BRASTED.

On Saturday last, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis entertained a number of the officers (past and present) and such other members of the society as were able to accept the general invitation extended to them. This being the festival year, it was hoped that many ladies would come with their manfolk. They formed about a fourth of the party, which mustered about 45 in all.

The London contingent mostly availed themselves of the private bus placed at their disposal by Mr. Lewis, and which left St. Paul's Churchyard at 1.30. Others arrived by car, and at 3 o'clock Mr. Lewis and family were welcoming quite a big assembly on the lawn and forecourt of Moorcocks (formerly the old Rectory) at Brasted. To those who do not know the lovely Westerham valley in which Brasted lies, it may suffice to say that it is Kent at its best and that the Pilgrims chose it in forming the 'Way' to Canterbury.

Reassembling, the party drove away over wooded hills and by winding lanes to Penshurst, a village known for its beauty even amongst Kentish villages. The bells had been kindly placed at the party's disposal and were rung to several 'touches.' Time did not allow of a visit to Penshurst Place adjoining. Our memories are, however, awakened by seeing this famous Elizabethan house, and we think of the Virgin Queen, of Leicester, Sir Philip Sydney (poet and hero of Zutphen) and others associated with Penshurst.

The return journey was by the main road through Sevenoaks, affording a glimpse of Knowle, another famous mansion (they seem to cluster in these parts), and so again to Brasted. We are late and there is Mrs. Lewis waiting for her guests to do justice to the temptingly spread tables. These old rectories! How easily they absorb a crowd and exhale hospitality.

Skirting the flower beds, the great cedar and the chestnuts, for Moorcocks is embowered on three sides by stately trees, we find two meadows, a brook, and there is Brasted Church. The massive old tower has six bells, and, the day being their anniversary, they are doubtless well satisfied at the way in which it was celebrated.

The ringers being thus employed, the ladies explore the gardens, now at their best, and which also supply two dozen beautiful bouquets for them and those others who were unable to be there. The last of these pleasant hours soon passes in refreshment and chatting on the lawns, with the tinkling handbells for musical background. Nine p.m. and all join in heartily thanking Mr. and Mrs. Lewis, with cheers for them and all their family. And so home.

Amongst the past and present officers of the society who attended were Messrs. Hughes, Dawe, Passmore, Groombridge, Young, Fenn, Porter and Waugh.

KENT COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

CANTERBURY DISTRICT'S BYE-MEETING.

A pleasant bye-meeting of the Canterbury District of the Kent County Association was held at Throwley on Saturday, June 12th.

Fifty members and friends attended, representing 13 towers and four districts of the association. There was also present a visitor from London.

Ringing took place on the eight bells, and the association's form of service was conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. C. D. B. Somerville), who also gave a short address.

Tea, kindly provided by local friends, was partaken of on the Vicarage lawn and was thoroughly enjoyed by all present.

One new member was elected, and the election of a member previous to a peal attempt was confirmed.

Hearty votes of thanks were passed to the Vicar for the use of the bells, the service and address, and also to the local people for providing the tea.

After 'snaps' had been taken by one of the younger members, a return was made to the tower and further ringing enjoyed until late in the evening, rounds, Grandsire and Stedman Triples, Kent and Oxford Treble Bob, Double Norwich and Cambridge being practised.

FOR BEGINNERS.

We regret the interruption of this series of articles, owing to the pressure on our space by the large number of peals rung in celebration of the Coronation. This week we take up the broken thread of Minor methods which are related in their construction. The last article appeared in our issue of May 26th.

HEREWARD AND LONDON BOB.

In preceding articles we dealt with double methods and method grouping—the real object of which has been to show that ringers, with the exercise of average intelligence, will find it perfectly easy to extend their practice from one to a number of methods—let us look at some other methods which come into the group of which Double Oxford and Double Court form part.

It has previously been pointed out that certain blocks of changes, forming plain courses, may have their constituent 'leads' united either by 2nd's place or 6th's, when the treble leads, thus forming two different methods. In addition, the same changes can be used to make other methods by the use or omission of 5th's place when the treble lies its whole pull behind. Thus the changes of a plain course can be knit together in one or other of the following ways:—

By 2nd's only, when treble leads.

By 6th's only, when treble leads.

By 5th's, when treble is behind, and 2nd's.

By 5th's, when treble is behind, and 6th's.

Strictly speaking, 6th's, in Minor, is not a 'place' 'within the meaning of the Act,' or, shall we say, within the meaning of the application of the word 'place.' It is only a necessary whole pull in one position to enable a bell, which has been hunting up, to reverse its course and hunt down. But as 4th's place at the lead head of a regular method is a bob, it follows that if 2nd's place is not made when the treble leads, the bell behind must of necessity lay a whole pull, and so we have our methods divided into 2nd's place and 6th's place methods.

Double Oxford, as we have explained, is, constructionally, Double Court, with the addition of 5th's place when the treble is behind and 2nd's place when the treble leads.

There are two other methods in this group which are obtained by the employment, in one case, of 2nd's only and, in the other, by the use of 5th's only. The former is Hereward Bob and the latter London Bob.

When you come to write out the methods you will find that London Bob is the same as Double Oxford, row for row, until the treble leads, and then 2nd's is omitted, and 6th's place is necessarily made by the bell behind.

Hereward Bob follows Double Court, row for row, until the treble leads, when 2nd's has to be inserted. In each half-lead of all these four methods places are made across the treble, 4th's and 3rd's as it passes up through 3-4; and 3rd's and 4th's as it comes down through 4-3. The difference in them all is the link that joins the half-leads.

Here is an interesting thing to do: Write out a full course of one of the methods, cut it into ten pieces by dividing it between the rows when the treble is behind and when it is leading. With these ten pieces you can reconstruct any one of the four methods.

The 'standard' callings as applied to Double Oxford and Double Court apply to these two other methods. Hereward, having 2nd's place, is called Wrong, Right, Wrong; and London Bob, having 6th's when the treble leads, In, Out, In.

This is when the 6th is observation bell and the tenors are brought up always the right way behind. If the 5th is to be used as the observation bell and you 'keep the tenors the right way'—as you should—the calling to be used is, 'Right, Wrong, Right in the 2nd's place methods; and Out, In, Out in methods without 2nd's place. This applies to all regular Minor methods.

In plain methods two singles are necessary to complete the extent, and they are called at what would otherwise be a 'plain' Right or a plain 'Out,' according to whether it is a 2nd or 6th's place method, if the 6th is the observation bell; and at a plain Wrong or plain In if the 5th is the observation bell. The first single may be called in either the first, second or third part of the first half, as long as the second single is called in the corresponding part of the second half.

SUSSEX COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

WESTERN DIVISION MEETING AT WASHINGTON.

A meeting of the Western Division of the Sussex County Association was held at Washington on Saturday, June 12th, when 40 members attended from Arundel, Angmering, Heene, Lynminster, Rudgwick, Shoreham, Twineham, West Tarring, West Grinstead and the local band. There were also two visitors from Hayes, Kent.

Ringing during the afternoon was followed by a short service, conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. F. O. Houseman). After tea the business meeting was presided over by the Vicar. Four new members were elected, viz., Messrs. R. Burch, A. Blackman, H. Bentinck and H. Parsons.

A vote of thanks was accorded to the Vicar for the use of the bells, and Mr. Houseman, in replying, gave the ringers a cordial welcome, also remarking on the big attendance. Further ringing until 8 p.m. brought a very successful and enjoyable meeting to a close.

LEEDS AND DISTRICT SOCIETY.NOT IDLE AT IDLE.

On Saturday, June 19th, the Leeds and District Society visited Idle, near Bradford, for their June meeting. The weather was far from the 'Flaming June' of the poet's phrase, as it was raining most of the afternoon and evening, but this did not deter ringers attending from Armley, Batley, Bradford Cathedral, Burley, Calverley, Drighlington, Holbeck, Lindley, Leeds Parish Church, Headingley (St. Chad's), Rothwell, Shipley and the local company.

The business meeting was held in the tower, with the president in the chair.

One new member was elected, viz., Miss Edith Mansbridge, of Drighlington.

The usual vote of thanks to the Vicar, churchwardens and the local company was proposed by Mr. Lofthouse, and seconded by Mr. Rayment.—Mr. Thomas Hill, who is churchwarden as well as ringer, replied.

The next meeting is to be held at Drighlington on Saturday, July 24th.

Discussion was invited on the question as to how the circulation of 'The Ringing World' could be increased.—Mr. Simpson (Shipley) suggested all new or young ringers should be advised to take a copy.—Another suggestion was that all towers be asked to inquire the number of copies taken, with a view to an increase in each tower.

LADIES' GUILD.CENTRAL DISTRICT AT BEDDINGTON.

An enjoyable meeting of the Central District of the Ladies' Guild was held at Beddington and was very well attended, about 40 people being present. Tea was partaken of in the Church Hall, and Mrs. Deal presided at the business meeting which followed.

Two new members were elected, i.e., Mrs. F. E. Collins, of Thornton Heath, and Miss M. Proxham.

St. Giles-in-the-Fields was chosen for the annual meeting on July 3rd. Braintree was selected for the September meeting. The next Wednesday meeting has been arranged for June 23rd at Sevenoaks.

Mrs. G. W. Fletcher requested all those who require tickets for the Jubilee dinner of the Guild to send their names to her or their district secretary as soon as possible, as the number is limited.

A vote of thanks was accorded to the Rector, the organist and Mrs. C. Kippin, who had to make such hasty arrangements for this meeting.

The ringing in the tower included a course of Grandsire Caters, Stedman Caters and a touch of Double Norwich by members of the Guild. London and Cambridge Major and Cambridge Royal was also rung, three parts of the band in each case being composed of members. The ringing, on the whole, was of a very high standard.

DUDLEY AND DISTRICT GUILD.MEETING AT COSELEY.

The quarterly meeting of the Dudley and District Guild was held at Christ Church, Coseley, Staffs, on Saturday, June 5th, in ideal summer weather. The attendance of members was below the average. The bells were kept going in various methods, and service was conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. N. W. Watson), who gave a very interesting and homely address. After service the members adjourned to the schools, where a bountiful tea was in readiness, kindly provided by the Vicar, and it was regretted that there were not more present to partake of the good things provided. It is hoped that those who sent in their names and did not turn up will kindly make a note of this for future occasions.

The usual business meeting was held under the chairmanship of the Vicar, who welcomed the members to Coseley and said he hoped that they would enjoy their visit.

The secretary mentioned that since their last meeting they had lost by death one of their oldest and most respected members, a pioneer in the formation of this Guild—he referred to the late Mr. John Goodman, sen., 'father' of the Dudley Guild.—Mr. Isaac Evans, of Willenhall, was elected a member of the Guild. It was decided that the next quarterly peal be attempted at Coseley, and the next quarterly meeting held at Enville, Staffs, subject to the usual permission being obtained, failing which the secretary make other arrangements. The arrangements for the quarterly peal are left in the hands of Mr. W. Fisher.—Mr. C. Wallater proposed and Mr. S. J. Hughes seconded the best thanks of the meeting to the Vicar of Coseley for his kindness in regard to the meeting and service; to the organist, Mr. F. Flavell, and especially to the Vicar and Mrs. Watson for the splendid tea that they provided, and to the ladies who prepared and served the meal; also to Mr. Dennis Holden for making the necessary arrangements and to all who had in any way assisted in making the meeting an enjoyable and happy one.—Mr. Fisher, on behalf of the Vicar and Mrs. Watson and all concerned, thanked the members for their appreciation and thanks.

There was further ringing afterwards in various methods.

UNDERGRADUATES' FIRST QUARTER-PEAL.

On Friday, June 18th, at St. Mary Magdalene's, Oxford, by members of the University Society, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Doubles: J. E. Taylor (Kemble) 1, H. Miles (St. Catherine's) 2, S. Lester (Pembroke) 3, Rev. H. T. Wisdom (Exeter) 4, Rev. C. E. Wigg (Kemble) (conductor) 5, H. W. Horlock (Pembroke) 6. First quarter-peal by ringers of 1, 3 and 6, who are undergraduates.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

The claim of a band of the Essex Association to have rung the first peal on the bells of Stoke-by-Clare, Suffolk, is not correct. According to a Suffolk correspondent, the first peal was rung on February 16th, 1803, when a band of the Ely Association rang a peal of Bob Minor, called by Mr. R. Gowers. 'These bells,' our correspondent adds, 'are a maiden peal and are just as they came out of the foundry, Osborn's, Downham, in 1788. They run the wrong way round.'

A successful week's ringing tour in Hampshire concluded on Friday, June 25th. Six of the eight peals rung were conducted by Mr. Frank Bennett, the others being called by Mr. George Williams and Mr. George R. Pye.

Twice the Rev. C. E. Wigg started to call a peal of Cambridge. At Hursley the rope of the fifth slipped after an hour's good ringing, and at Lymington somebody in the church below pulled the hammer that was used for service chiming right into the path of the tenor, which took it squarely with the inevitable result of stopping the peal. Fortunately the bell escaped injury, but the hammer was knocked clean out of its bolts.

We understand that the two historians of the party made their usual collection of notes on the backs of an apparently unlimited supply of envelopes. When these are deciphered, 'Ringing World' readers are promised a choice story!

The ringer of the fourth in the peal of Grandsire Triples rung at Newcastle-under-Lyme, Staffs, reported in our last issue, was Frederick A. Forster.

The claim made for the first peal on the bells, at Marksbury, Somerset, on May 18th last, does not hold good. A peal of Minor had previously been rung there.

Three of the ringers who took part in the Coronation peal of Oxford Treble Bob Minor, at Wollaston on May 29th—Messrs. J. Bass, R. Matthews and W. Short—have now rung peals of Oxford and Kent Treble Bob, Plain Bob and Cambridge Surprise from Minor to Maximus, and Grandsire and Stedman from Doubles to Cinques.

The conductor of the peal of Treble Bob Royal at Isleworth on June 12th was Thomas H. Taffender and not as stated in our last issue.

A diary correction to hand. The joint meeting and social at Hillingdon between the Oxford Guild, Ladies' Guild and Middlesex Association will be held on October 16th and not October 9th.

VALUABLE BOOKS AT POPULAR PRICES.

CHEAPER EDITIONS OF 'BELLS THRO' THE AGES' AND 'HISTORY AND ART OF CHANGE RINGING.'

Ringers will welcome the announcement that Messrs. Chapman and Hall have published cheap editions of the two books, 'Bells Thro' the Ages,' by J. R. Nichols, and 'History and Art of Change Ringing,' by Ernest Morris, F.R.Hist.S. The new edition of each is now priced at 7s. 6d. and can be obtained through any bookseller.

The books, each in their particular sphere, when first published filled a place in bell bibliography which had long wanted filling. Neither subject had been really adequately covered in any one volume, and the student had, perforce, to glean his knowledge of bells and bellringing from many sources.

Mr. Nichols did a great service in bringing together within one volume the story of bells down the centuries, and, in the same way, Mr. Morris compiled an invaluable book of reference when he brought together the mass of information and records crowded into the nearly 700 pages of his history of ringing.

Equally Messrs. Chapman and Hall have now rendered a great service to ringers and the art of ringing by placing these volumes on the market at a price within the reach of a far larger circle of interested readers, both inside and outside the Exercise.

The volumes are complete reproductions, as far as contents are concerned, of the originals, and ringers who were unable to purchase the first editions will welcome the opportunity now presented of securing these books for their own shelves, for they are not only full of passing interest, but invaluable for reference.

BASINGSTOKE BELLRINGERS' FEAT!

STRANGE HAPPENINGS AT EAST HAGBOURNE.

We know that ringers do strange things at times, but until now we have never heard of them Morris dancing while they rang the church bells. But here is what a Berkshire newspaper printed the other day (the italics are ours):—

Members of the Basingstoke Bellringers' Society visited East Hagbourne on Saturday on their annual outing. At the tower of St. Andrew's they rang touches of Grandsire Triples and Cambridge Surprise. They were welcomed by the foreman of the tower (Mr. A. H. Webb). During the ringing and after the visitors gave displays of country dancing and Morris dances round the Upper Cross. The party danced under the direction of a special instructor, accompanied by their own music of violins and drums.

THE PEAL OF TREBLE BOB AT WYMONDHAM.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—With reference to Mr. Coles' inquiry, the peal rung at Wymondham on May 12th was erroneously described as a 'spliced' peal. In the records of this association the peal is written down as 'a peal of Kent and Oxford Treble Bob Major, Worcester Variation,' and will appear in our report for the current year as such.

THE CENTRAL COUNCIL.

LEEDS FOR THE NEXT MEETING.

When the Council was called upon to decide the place of the next meeting, the President said the Standing Committee recommended that the Council should visit Yorkshire.

Mr. P. J. Johnson (Leeds) said the matter had been discussed in the past by the Yorkshire Association, who would rather the Council visited Leeds. Leeds was in the centre of some of the finest scenery in the finest county of England (laughter and applause), with some of the finest bells in England and some of the finest-looking ringers (laughter). He proposed that the next meeting of the Council be held at Leeds.

Mr. S. F. Palmer (Sheffield) seconded. He did not agree with all Mr. Johnson had said (laughter), because they had some of the best scenery in England round Sheffield and they had some fine bells.

The Hon. Secretary said that at their meeting on the previous evening the Standing Committee received an invitation for the Council to visit Leicester.

Mr. J. Harris, who proposed that the meeting be held at Leicester, said that although there were good bells in Leeds, they claimed to have better bells in Leicester (laughter). They opened, on Coronation Day, what they considered the finest peal of twelve they had ever heard, and they were the only city in the world, outside London, that had two rings of twelve. In Leicester also they claimed to have three town halls—a Roman forum, a thirteenth or fourteenth century town hall and the present town hall. If the Council would go to Leicester they would be sure of a good welcome.

Mr. J. H. Swinfield seconded.

The Hon. Secretary said the last meeting in Yorkshire was in 1904 and the previous meeting to that in 1895. There were only two occasions since the formation of the Council when they had been north of a line from Liverpool to Sheffield—York in 1904 and Newcastle in 1913. The last meeting at Leicester was in 1911.

Mr. C. Mee asked if they had not promised the Irish Association that they would go to Dublin. He thought it was time they considered that, and proposed that the Council visit Dublin next year.—Mr. Crawley seconded.

The President pointed out that next year it was, according to the general rota followed, the turn of the North to have a meeting.

The places were put to the vote and Leeds was carried by a large majority.

Mr. S. H. Wood suggested that the Council should consider visiting Edinburgh in the not too distant future—possibly the next time they went North. Although Edinburgh was a rather long way, it would be the first time the Council had gone over the border. While he could no longer speak for the Scottish Association, he was sure the Council would get a warm welcome from that association.

CONGRATULATIONS TO THE COLLEGE YOUTHS.

Several minor matters were discussed under the heading of 'Other business.'

Mrs. G. W. Fletcher proposed that the Council send a letter to the Ancient Society of College Youths congratulating them upon attaining their tercentenary (applause).

Mr. J. A. Trollope, in seconding, said his qualification for doing so was because he was not a College Youth and because to some extent he represented the only other society which could, in antiquity and historical interest, equal the College Youths—he meant the Norwich Scholars. It was not the fact that the society was 300 years old that mattered, but the Exercise was indebted to the society because during its 300 years of existence it had preserved the continuity of the art and science of change ringing. Without it, or something of the sort, change ringing would undoubtedly have lapsed, even if it had been invented. He did not suppose that anyone inside or outside a lunatic asylum would invent it to-day, but, having been invented as it was, the only way in which it was possible to continue it and hand it on was by means of such a society as the College Youths. The society had had its ups and downs, but it had, until modern times, always stood at the top of the Exercise and had been, so to speak, the aristocracy of the art, taking the position which, in much the same way, that Council filled at the present time. The whole Exercise was really indebted to the society, to the men who were dead and gone, for the science and art which they had to-day, and it was only right that that Council should offer its congratulations.

The motion was carried with applause, and the president (who is also Master of the society) said he would convey the good wishes to the College Youths. He was sure they would be much appreciated.

Mr. F. W. Rogers said he thought they might also congratulate the Ladies' Guild on the occasion of the Silver Jubilee this year.

In putting this to the meeting, the President said he felt, in doing so, he was getting a little of his own back on Mrs. Fletcher (laughter).

The motion was agreed to.

'RADIO' BELLS.

The Hon. Secretary said that during the year he had received a letter asking for the opinion and criticism of the Council on the subject of 'radio' bells, which were to be installed in certain churches. He wished to give the members the opportunity of expressing their views on this subject, which was becoming very important.

Mr. S. H. Wood said that there had recently been an article in the 'Guardian' on a new kind of 'carillon,' electronic in character. The first public demonstration had been given, and it was described as a new departure in the art of campanology (laughter). Mr. Wood said he thought they had got to be careful about these things. It was no good 'going off the deep end' about it. Personally, if he heard of a church being built which was not going to have a tower, or any chance of ever having a tower which would carry a peal of bells, he would much rather it had something of this sort, or 'radio' bells, so that it could provide some good bell music on a Sunday morning, rather than use one single bell, or no bell at all. There was, of course, the danger about such remarks printed in the Press as to it being the beginning of a new era in the art of campanology. For one thing, that statement was not true. Such an instrument could not have anything to do with campanology because it had no bells. He thought, however, that they ought to work in conjunction with the builders of this new instrument rather than against them.

Mr. Trollope said this development was probably done for organ work in cinemas, although, no doubt, the makers would like to sell it elsewhere if they could.

Mr. Cave said that at St. Christopher's in Bristol they used records and an amplifier and they heard the bells quite clearly where he lived. Many people had been taken in and thought a peal of bells was ringing.

Mr. Wood said there were actually three such cases in Bristol.

Mr. L. J. Williams said there were already four or five installed in the Blackburn district.

No action was taken by the Council.

A QUESTION OF PROCEDURE.

The Hon. Secretary said a suggestion had been received regarding motions of major importance, particularly those relating to what should constitute a peal. It had been suggested that such notices should be in the hands of the secretary of the Council six months before the Council meeting. The idea was that they should be circulated to associations some time before the Council meeting to give an opportunity to associations to discuss them and give their representatives some idea of what the members wanted.

Mr. J. Harris, who was responsible for the suggestion, said there was only one object in view and that was to enable associations to discuss matters of importance at their annual meetings. If they looked through the issue of 'The Ringing World' which was published the week before Easter they would find that eight of the big associations had their annual meetings on Easter Monday. Unfortunately, the secretary could not get the Council's agenda through to the representatives in time for those meetings. He thought it would relieve the secretary of a good deal of stress at the last moment if notices were in his hands some time before, and it would be better for all concerned. It could not be said there was anything so urgent that it could not be got in six months before, and if it was not important enough for that it was not worth considering. If longer notice were given every member of the Council could learn the views of his own members and everyone would benefit. He suggested that the last date for notice be December 31st.

The President said the Council would sympathise with what Mr. Harris had said, but he did not think they could pass it as a resolution, because it involved the alteration of rules.

Mr. Harris said perhaps it could be kept in view for future action if nothing could be done that day.

Mrs. Fletcher pointed out that many of the associations held their annual meeting just after the meeting of the Council. Her own Guild was an example. Their annual meeting was in July, and if they were to have a chance of considering motions, these would have to be in the hands of the secretary of the Council within a fortnight after the last meeting.

DONATIONS TO MEMORIAL FUNDS.

The President said Mr. George Newton, had he been present at the meeting, wanted to mention the project of raising a memorial to the late Canon Elsee. It was to take the form of an alteration to the tower of St. George's, Bolton, and he (Mr. Newton) added that he thought the Council would be glad to subscribe to the memorial.

Mr. T. B. Worsley said the Lancashire Association had had an estimate for the work. It amounted to about £450, and he was afraid that would be rather too much to raise.

Replying to a question, Mr. Worsley said the matter would come to a head before the next meeting of the Council and the scheme accepted or rejected.

On the motion of the Rev. H. Drake, seconded by Mr. E. A. Young, it was decided to vote the sum of three guineas to the scheme, if carried out.

The President said the Ely Diocesan Association had asked whether the Council contemplated providing any memorial to the late Rev. B. H. Tyrwhitt-Drake (the Council's honorary librarian), and whether, if they were doing so, the co-operation of the Guild would be acceptable. The President said the Council could not undertake anything, but if the Ely Association were prepared to do so he had no doubt the Council would be ready to subscribe. If the Ely Association went on with the scheme he thought the Council might contribute three guineas.

This was agreed to.

THE CENTRAL COUNCIL.

RAISING AND LOWERING OF BELLS.

The President said some time ago the Council passed a resolution that bells should preferably be raised in peal, but if not it was desirable they should be raised singly and in order. He was afraid, in spite of that, in parts of the country bells were still jangled up anyhow. Not very long ago he went to the opening of a new peal of bells, and, getting there early, sat in the church. The ringers began to pull the bells up, and the lady who was with him remarked, 'What dreadful bells.' The bells were all right, said the President, but the local ringers started by pulling up the second and seventh together. It did not give the bells the best chance. He suggested that members of the Council, where possible, should get the Council recommendation followed. These little things did count with the public. Another thing which might be done in many places where there were ten or twelve bells and they were not all lowered in peal, but were let down anyhow. It would be better if the back four were dropped singly and the front six in case of ten and the middle six in case of twelve let down in peal, finishing with chiming the bells round. It would put a little polish to it.

MEMBERSHIP LIST TO BE ISSUED.

The Hon. Secretary pointed out that in the case of some societies changes were made in representation and the alteration was not notified to him according to the rules. He was getting out a little booklet which he proposed to issue to every member of the Council. It would contain the names and addresses of all representative members of the Council, and if alterations were made without notification the book would be out of date before it was issued. He appealed to all members to get the secretaries of their societies to send him full information as far as representation was concerned.

The Hon. Secretary then reported that at that meeting there were 83 representative and 12 honorary members present, a total attendance of 95. Fifty-one representative members and four honorary members were absent. Nineteen societies were fully represented, 20 partially represented and 11 were unrepresented.

VOTES OF THANKS.

The President proposed an omnibus vote of thanks expressing gratitude to the Dean and Chapter for the use of the Chapter House, to the Kent County Association for the tea which they were going to provide for the members and their friends, to Mr. Mitchell, hon. secretary of the Kent County Association, and Mr. Luck and the committee of the association appointed to make the arrangements for the meeting; also to Mr. T. E. Sone for undertaking the peal arrangements at the various towers, to the various church authorities who had given them the use of the bells, and to the towerkeepers; also to Mr. Martin Pearce, who had conducted members round the Cathedral.

The motion was carried with acclamation.

Mr. W. Ayre proposed a vote of thanks to the hon. secretary for the tremendous amount of work he had done in connection with the meeting.—Mr. J. S. Goldsmith, who seconded, referred to the work which Mrs. Fletcher also had done, particularly in typing all the reports of the committees, which had been of great assistance to the members.—The motion was carried with applause.

Canon Coleridge proposed a vote of thanks to the president. They were deeply grateful to Mr. Lewis, he said, for the admirable manner in which he had conducted their proceedings (applause).

The President, in acknowledging the motion, which was carried by acclamation, said his task was greatly lightened by all that Mr. Fletcher did for them.

This concluded the business and the Council then rose.

Afterwards a large party were the guests at tea of the Kent County Association at the County Hotel, where, later, a social evening was spent. In the meantime there was ringing on bells at various Canterbury churches.

DEVON GUILD.

JOINT MEETING AT TEIGNMOUTH.

The Exeter and Mid-Devon Branches of the Devon Guild held a joint meeting at Teignmouth on Saturday, June 12th, when ringers were present from Exeter, Brampford Speke, Thorverton, Milverton, Ide, Kenn, Newton Abbott, Torquay, Buckfastleigh, Christow and Cockington, etc. Ringing commenced at St. Michael's Church soon after 3 o'clock, and a service was later held at St. Michael's, conducted by the Rev. H. S. Wyatt (Vicar), who based his address on the words, 'O that men would praise the Lord for his goodness.'

Tea afterwards followed at the London Hotel, and the Exeter Branch subsequently held a short business meeting.

Hearty votes of thanks were accorded the Vicar of St. Michael's for the use of his bells and for conducting the service, to the organist for his assistance, and to Mr. A. L. Bennett, of Buckfastleigh, for making all the arrangements.

It was resolved to hold the next meeting at Dunsford and district on Saturday, September 4th.

The visitors afterwards returned to the tower for further ringing, some of the members also visiting the neighbouring parish of Bishopscote. The methods rung during the afternoon included Grand-sire and Stedman Doubles and Triples, Plain Bob Minor and Double Norwich Court Bob Major.

THE MINOR RECORD.

CHESHIRE MEN RING 73 METHODS.

As we briefly mentioned last week, the Chester Guild band, who are such experts at ringing Spliced Minor, have now increased the record to 73 methods in seven extents, and finally has, it is believed, been reached in one direction at least. This peal, rung at Fairfield, Buxton, on June 12th, contains the maximum number of Treble Bob methods which can be spliced into seven extents. Altogether there were 142 changes of method.

One of the two new extents introduced was arranged by Mr. A. G. Driver and contains 13 methods (Treble Bob and 3rd's Place Delight), with a change of method every lead. The other new 720 consists entirely of Surprise methods and was arranged from Mr. Driver's tables. The other 720's comprising the peal have been rung and published previously.

The holding of the record in the number of methods incorporated into a peal has alternated between Cheshire and Lincolnshire. Before the peal at Buxton, the Algarkirk, Lines, band held it with 70 methods, rung on December 5th last. During 1936 the number of methods rose to 57, 60 and 61 in Lincolnshire, which the Cheshire band capped with 66 and then 68, to be followed by the Lincolnshire total of 70, all in one year. Now comes Cheshire's 73. What about it, Lincolnshire?

BRIDAL PARTY RING WEDDING TOUCH.

MARRIAGE OF MR. J. E. BAILEY AND MISS J. M. THOMPSON.

The wedding took place at Swanscombe Parish Church on Saturday, June 12th, of Mr. James E. Bailey, only son of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Bailey, of Leiston, Suffolk, and Miss Jean M. Thompson, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Thompson, of Swanscombe, Kent.

Given away by her father, the bride wore a dress of white satin beaute, with veil and wreath of orange blossom, and carried Madonna lilies.

Canon E. F. Campbell-Ward (Rector) officiated and Mr. N. Summerhayes acted as best man.

After the signing of the register, a bob-course of Stedman Triples was rung on the bells, in which the bride and bridegroom took part, together with their respective fathers, the best man and captains of Dartford, Swanscombe and Northfleet towers. The touch was conducted by the bridegroom.

Mr. J. E. Bailey, who is junior steward of the Society of Royal Cumberland Youths, is a member of the Dartford Parish Church and St. Martin-in-the-Fields companies of ringers, his father, Mr. James M. Bailey, being one of the famous 'Bailey brothers' of Leiston, Suffolk. The bride has been a member of the Swanscombe band for several years, and her father, Mr. A. J. Thompson, is also a member. The best man is the acting hon. secretary of the Royal Cumberland Youths.

The reception was held in the Parish Room, about 30 guests being present.

In the evening, some of the guests took part in a peal of Cambridge Surprise Major at Northfleet, Kent, in honour of the occasion, and on the following Monday a peal of Double Norwich was rung at Dartford.

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Bailey have taken up residence at 20, Swaisland Road, Dartford.

PEAL NOTES.

The present year is a noteworthy one in the church history of St. Mary's, Slough, where a peal was rung on June 12th in connection with the centenary of the church, which was dedicated in 1837. Not only is it thus 100 years since the church was opened, but it is also just 1,000 years since the original mother church of Slough, St. Lawrence, Upton, was built.

Other interesting anniversaries: Fifty years since the present Bishop of Buckingham, once Rector of Slough, was ordained; sixty years since Mr. W. H. Fussell, who took part in the peal on July 12th, rang his first peal at St. Mary's.

He has rung at this church for every royal event since—the accession of four sovereigns, the funerals of three, three jubilees, and three coronations. You must be getting old, Master William!

A wedding peal was rung at Maidwell, Northants, on June 19th, as a compliment to one of the local ringers, Mr. Charles Dixon, who was married on June 12th to Miss Dorothy Noble. Afterwards the ringers enjoyed Mr. and Mrs. Dixon's hospitality.

A number of birthdays were celebrated by a peal rung at Sittingbourne, Kent, on June 20th, those thus honoured including three of the ringers and two of their daughters. One of the latter, Miss Doris G. Dobbie, was unable to take part in the peal through indisposition, and Mr. W. Spice took the vacant rope at short notice. Four members of the Dobbie family, however, rang the four back bells.

The peal of Bristol Surprise Major rung at Diss, Norfolk, on Sunday, June 20th, was the first peal in the method in the diocese of Norwich since May 16th, 1914, when a 5,024 was rung at Quidenham, conducted by the late Mr. Edwin Whiting.

The golden jubilee of the Church of St. Mary-Without-the-Walls, Chester, was celebrated on June 19th by a peal. Mr. Gilbert Gerrard, who took part, rang for the opening of the bells in 1887.

The half-peal end of Mr. Nolan Golden's composition of Double Norwich, published last week, should read 24356.

The peal of Bob Major at Eastwood, Rotherham, on June 15th, was rung as a welcome to the new Vicar of St. Stephen's (the Rev. P. Kennedy), who was inducted the previous week, and also to celebrate the engagement of Miss Frey Shimmin to Mr. David Cedric Switson, both of Melbourne, Australia, which was announced just over a month earlier. Miss Shimmin is the only Australian lady ever to ring a peal. She took part in the peal of Grandsire Cinques at St. Paul's Cathedral, Melbourne, on Armistice Day, 1934, which was rung by six Australian and six English ringers.

The composition of the peal of Bob Major, which is believed to be rung for the first time, contains twelve 4-6-8 and twelve 6-4-8 courses, the rest being 4-7-8 or 6-7-8. It is by the late Mr. Arthur Craven.

Mr. R. T. Holding, of Crewe, rang in a peal of Grandsire Doubles at Acton, Cheshire, on June 12th, and thus completed peals of Doubles, Triples, Caters and Cinques in the method.

The first peal on the bells at Binegar, Somerset, was rung on June 14th. These bells, originally three, were increased to six, with a tenor of 9½ cwt., by Messrs. Taylor and Co.

The first peal of Major on the bells at Bridgerule, Devon, was rung unexpectedly on June 16th. Originally the peal was arranged for Stratton, in Cornwall, where there is a Taylor eight, with 22 cwt. tenor.

When the band reached Stratton Church, however, they found workmen in possession, treating the roof for the death-watch beetle. Ringing is done from the ground floor of the tower, open to the church. To attempt a peal was out of the question. The fumes were overpowering and the workmen were using gas masks!

Straightway it was decided to try Bridgerule. The distance of about ten miles was covered in record time, permission was readily given, and a well nigh perfect peal was scored on this musical little product of the Croydon Foundry.

A peal of Double Norwich Major on Saturday, June 19th, at Oxhey, Herts, celebrated the 50th anniversary of the opening of the bells. The late Mr. E. P. Debenham, so long hon. treasurer of the Hertford County Association, rang in the first peal on the bells; his son, Mr. G. W. Debenham, took part in the jubilee peal.

Mr. Andrew Powell, of Eardisland, Herefordshire, rang his first peal for 27 years on June 19th, when he rang the tenor to a 5,040 Grandsire Doubles, which commemorated the 20th anniversary of the institution of the Vicar, the Rev. P. A. H. Birley.

Jack Dear rang his first peal at the first attempt at the age of 14 on June 19th at Rushden, Herts. There are five bells in the tower, all cast by John Briant, of Herford, about the year 1786, and this is believed to be the first peal ever rung on them.

LATE NOTICE.

LINCOLN DIOCESAN GUILD. — A quarterly meeting of the Sleaford Branch will be held at Ewerley, near Sleaford, on Saturday, July 10th. Bells (10) of St. Andrew's Church will be open from 2.30 p.m. Tea will be served at the Hatton Arms. Will all those who require tea please notify Mr. H. S. Hinkins, Elmside, 41, The Grove, Sleaford?

YORKSHIRE ASSOCIATION.

EASTERN DISTRICT ENTERTAINED AT KIRK ELLA.

By the kind invitation of the Vicar, the Rev. R. Foord, M.A., and the Parochial Church Council, the June quarterly meeting of the Eastern District of the Yorkshire Association was held at the pleasantly situated village of Kirk Ella, near Hull, on Saturday, June 19th, and was attended by over 40 ringers from Beverley Minster, Campsall, Cottingham, Goole, Hemingbrough, Hessle, Hull, Market Weighton, Poutefract, Sherburn-in-Elmet, Selby Abbey, Sutton-on-Hull and the local company, and visiting ringers from Grimsby, Lincolnshire.

Apologies for absence were received from the York Minster ringers, who were holding their annual outing, Mr. M. Walker, of Ulceby, Lincolnshire, and Mr. R. H. Vigor, of Sherburn-in-Elmet.

A short service was held in church, at which the Vicar gave the address.

Tea, which was generously provided by the church authorities, was held in the Memorial Hall, and was followed by the business meeting, over which the Vicar presided.

Three new members were elected—Messrs. M. Terry, of Hemingbrough, J. R. Whitehouse, of Cottingham, and A. Davies, of Market Weighton.

An invitation to hold the September meeting at Campsall was accepted.

Mr. Crier proposed and Mr. Pearson seconded a vote of thanks to the Vicar, who, in his reply, welcomed the association to Kirk Ella. He stressed the importance of ringers being punctual in beginning ringing for church services.

A hearty vote of thanks was passed to the ladies who served at tea, special mention being made of Miss Fox, daughter of Mr. A. H. Fox, captain of the local ringers and organist of Kirk Ella Church, for her kindness in coming from London in order to organise the arrangements for tea. Thanks were also accorded to the local ringers, and Mr. Dan Meadly responded.

Mr. Fox very kindly conveyed those present by car from the Memorial Hall to the church after the meeting, a distance of nearly a mile, owing to the showery weather.

Further ringing till 9 o'clock concluded a very happy meeting.

A special practice meeting is to be held at Hedon on July 17th.

DEATH OF VETERAN GLOUCESTERSHIRE RINGER.

Cheltenham Branch of the Gloucester and Bristol Diocesan Association have recently lost by death one of their oldest and most respected members in the person of Mr. William Dyer, leader of the Charlton Kings Society. He had taught many in the district to ring, and had rung a good many peals from Doubles to Cinques, including Treble Bob and Double Norwich, and had conducted Grandsire and Stedman Triples and Caters.

Many ringers were present at the funeral. The bells were rung muffled and a peal of Stedman was to have been attempted. One of the band, however, failed to turn up and a quarter-peal of Stedman Triples was, therefore, rung at St. Mary's Church: W. Townsend 1, H. Holford 2, W. Yeend 3, G. Walters 4, T. Dyer 5, T. Boreham 6, J. F. Ballinger (conductor) 7, R. Hemming 8. The whole pull and stand was rung 75 times, corresponding with deceased's age. The many floral tributes included one in the form of a bell from the association.

ESSEX ASSOCIATION.

YOUNG RINGERS AT BARDFIELD.

A meeting of the Northern Division of the Essex Association was held at Great Bardfield recently, it being the first meeting to be held in the parish since July, 1931. The following twelve towers were represented: Chelmsford, Halstead, Boreham, Sudbury, Little Waltham, Dunmow, Greenstead Green, Great Bardfield, Sible Hedingham, Earls Colne, Springfield and Bocking. The Vicar (the Rev. K. E. Cartwright) conducted a service in the Parish Church, Mrs. Jackson being at the organ. Before his address the Vicar, on behalf of the churchwardens and parishioners, extended a warm welcome to all the ringers.

An excellent tea was provided by the Vicar, and, the weather conditions being favourable, it was arranged on the Vicarage lawn, 35 participating.

The business meeting followed, at which the Vicar presided, being supported by the District Master (Mr. A. A. Saunders), the district secretary (Mr. F. Ridgwell) and the general secretary (Mr. L. J. Clark).

Three new ringing members were elected, and Witham was chosen for the next meeting in August.

The District Master proposed a hearty vote of thanks to the Vicar for the use of the bells, his excellent address and kind generosity in providing tea. Thanks were also accorded the organist for her services.

In reply, the Vicar said it was a pleasure to hear their secretary speak of the young ringers taking part. He agreed that it was always encouraging to see young ringers in the tower and sticking to it with a view to becoming efficient. He was glad and happy that they had young ringers in Bardfield.

Mrs. Jackson also briefly replied.

Handbell ringing on the lawn was much appreciated and the ringers subsequently returned to the tower, where the following methods were rung: Bob Major, Stedman Triples, Kent Treble Bob, Double Norwich Court, Superlative, Cambridge and London Surprise.

DON'T SCRUB YOUR HANDS!

skin this simple way*

To many people, the problem of getting the hands really clean without harming the skin is a serious one. Grease and grime, which become deeply ingrained into the pores of the skin, are extremely difficult to remove, and ordinary washing with soap or even scrubbing will fail to remove them completely. Housewives, particularly, who complain that their hands get ruined by the nature of their work, will find the preparation called DERMAFOAM, a real "godsend." DERMAFOAM just smoothes away dirt and grease without effort. It gets right down into the pores and removes every particle of grime, leaving skin beautifully supple and healthy.

Men, too—when you've finished that dirty job on the car, DERMAFOAM will quickly banish all grease and oil from your hands. It acts almost magically—working under and around the nails and into every minute crease, removing all trace of dirt in a flash.

Engineers, Painters, Car Mechanics, Printers — everyone — will welcome DERMAFOAM, the modern method of cleansing and protecting the hands.

ANOTHER INCONSISTENCY.

One of the things which the Central Council did at their meeting was to accept without demur, and probably with little thought, the proposal to delete from the motion defining a peal of Doubles, the permission to add at the end of any peal a shorter length than 120 as long as it was a true touch. As so much stress was laid upon the fact that the introduction of the motion was to remove an injustice to Doubles ringers by putting them on the same footing as Minor ringers in regard to certain compositions (although actually the motion has done something totally different), it seems strange that the same people should rob the Doubles ringers of one of the things it was proposed to give them in common with the six-bell fraternity. Ever since there has been a definition of a peal of Minor, introduced in 1911 to secure the use of true extents only, Minor ringers have had the privilege of extending their peals by the addition, at the end, of any true touch—a concession obviously granted so that they could, if they desired, ring some special length for a special occasion.

Only on seven bells has the number of changes constituting a peal ever been settled by hard and fast rule. On all numbers above, ringers have had the undoubted right to ring any length they choose, as long as it conforms to the method and does not fall below 5000 changes. Where a smaller number of bells permits similar treatment there seems no logical reason for refusing the same concession. Custom has laid it down that Doubles and Minor should not fall below 5040, and we think it would have been a good thing if our forefathers had always accepted that standard and never rung as a peal any number of changes below it, however many bells they employed, but the fashion of counting anything not less than 5000 on eight bells and upwards sprang up at a very early stage of peal ringing. There is nothing, however, to prevent any desired number of changes above that number being rung, and if a band wants to ring 5400 of Minor, or 5100 of Doubles there seems 'nothing fundamentally wrong with it,' as the proposer of the original motion remarked.

But the Council have said that the Doubles ringers are not to have that concession, which hitherto they have enjoyed without question—whether they have exercised it or not is another matter—from the beginning of five-bell peal ringing. Minor ringers, however, may continue to do the same thing and their peals will be recognised by the Council. And the members talk about justice to the Doubles ringers! Truly Mr. Percy Johnson was right when he said the Council were only consistent in their inconsistency. This particular deletion was done quite casually, without apparently any real thought as to the logical result or the reason which lay behind its original introduction. Short of restoring the clause, the only sensible thing which the Council can now do is to rob Minor ringers of a privilege which, whether they have used it or not, has always been theirs. The wise thing for the Council to have done would have been to have kept the clause in this new definition and at some future time discussed the principle of these lengthening touches and dealt with the Minor and Doubles together and on the same footing. Actually the matter is not one of vital importance, but these slipshod methods of doing things do the Council no good in the eyes of lookers-on.

VETERAN YORKSHIRE RINGER.

PRESIDES AT CLEVELAND ANNUAL MEETING.

Glorious weather favoured the Cleveland and North Yorkshire Association when they visited Ripon on June 26th for their annual meeting. The fine day made the visit to this ancient city, with its lovely Cathedral and splendid peal of bells, a great pleasure.

The Dean of Ripon, a remarkably active man considering his 82 years of age, met the ringers at the Cathedral and gave them a hearty welcome to Ripon.

Tea was held at the Black Bull Hotel, when over 50 ringers and friends were present. In the unavoidable absence of the president, who sent a letter of apology, Mr. T. Metcalfe was voted to the chair. Mr. Metcalfe expressed his great appreciation of the honour conferred upon him. The secretary (Mr. J. Reed) voiced the congratulations of the company to the chairman on completing 60 years' service as a ringer and celebrating his 72nd birthday a fortnight ago by conducting a quarter-peal of Stedman Triples from the 7th.

Replying, the Chairman recalled some of his early experiences and the miles he used to cycle going to different places to ring. He hoped that others would get the same amount of pleasure out of ringing, as he had spent the happiest time of his life ringing.

The secretary's report and balance sheet were accepted unanimously. The balance sheet showed a credit balance of £28 10s. On the proposal of the chairman and seconded by Mr. W. N. Park, the secretary was thanked for his work during his first year of office. Mr. J. C. Pollard, of Middlesbrough, was re-elected president, and Mr. J. Reed, of Guisborough, secretary and treasurer. One new honorary member and three new performing members were elected. Certificates for the Sunday service ringing were presented to the winners, Tadcaster, and Ripon second, and it was hoped that more towers would compete this year. Meetings were arranged to be held throughout the year, September meeting at Ormesby, January at Northallerton, April at Richmond, and the annual meeting at Saltsburn.

A vote of thanks was given to the Dean and Chapter for the use of the bells. The meeting concluded with a vote of thanks to Mr. Metcalfe for presiding.

Ringings at the Cathedral continued until 9 p.m., the methods rung being Stedman Caters and Triples, Grandsire Caters and Triples, Kent Royal and Major, Double Norwich Major and Bob Major. Ringers attended from Whitby, Skelton, Saltsburn, Guisborough, Ormesby, Middlesbrough, Darlington, Thirsk, Ripon, Tadcaster and Leeds.

CHESTER DIOCESAN GUILD.

STOCKPORT BRANCH MEETS AT REDDISH.

A meeting of the Stockport Branch of the Chester Diocesan Guild was held at St. Elizabeth's Church, Reddish, when some 35 members and friends were present. The eight bells were requisitioned early in the afternoon and a variety of methods rung. Service was conducted by the Rector (the Rev. R. W. Watson), who also gave a short address. The singing of the hymns was greatly assisted by the presence of the choir, and the accompaniment to the singing was upon the magnificent organ, an instrument which is quite in keeping with what may be considered one of the most beautiful churches in that part of the country.

After service, tea, partaken of in the adjacent schools, was followed by the business meeting. Mr. W. W. Wolstencroft, the branch chairman, who presided, apologised for the Rector's inability to be present owing to other duties. The Rector had assured him that he was exceedingly pleased to welcome the Guild.

Reference was made to the passing to higher service of Mrs. W. Wilde, and those present stood for a moment in silence as a tribute to her memory.

There was very little business to be disposed of—a short report of the committee meeting, a strong recommendation to all to read the excellent article on Coronation ringing in the current issue of 'The Ringing World' and apply it to their individual cases, comprised the main points.

The meeting terminated with a hearty vote of thanks to the Rector for permission to hold the meeting, to the local ringers for having everything in readiness, to the choir and the organist for their services, and to the ladies who so admirably attended to the needs of the company at the tables.

Further ringing then took place until a late hour and ranged from rounds to Cambridge Major.

KENT COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

ASHFORD DISTRICT.

The quarterly meeting of the Ashford District held at New Romney on Saturday, June 19th, was attended by 30 members representing eight towers. The bells were made good use of during the afternoon and evening, two young members ringing their first touches on eight bells.

A short service was conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. W. F. Scott). Tea was served in the Church Hall, followed by a business meeting, at which the Vicar presided.

Thanks were accorded to the Vicar for taking the service, for the use of the bells and for his kindness in providing the excellent tea.

The Vicar was elected an honorary member.

FOR BEGINNERS.

HOW TO SET ABOUT CALLING GRANDSIRE TRIPLES.

Many beginners in conducting make a start with Grandsire Triples and we have been asked to devote one of these articles to telling the novice how to set about it.

Let us say, first of all, that the man who aims at being a 'conductor' must endeavour to make himself something more than a mere 'bob-caller.' The real conductor shoulders more than the responsibility of putting in the bobs and singles at the right place. He must know whether the bells are right or wrong, so that he does not have necessarily to go to the end of the touch or peal before he knows if the bells will come round.

At first, perhaps, he will only be dead sure of his ground at certain intervals, when some definite change, which he has previously memorised, turns up. To do this he must be able to read the ropes, but it is better to be able to watch the bells working up to the required positions than to rely upon the eye at some particular fall of the ropes. One can be so easily deceived.

In cultivating the ability to watch the gradual development of the various positions of the bells, the conductor also acquires the knowledge and ability to correct mistakes if they should occur. It is easy, of course, to tell a man to dodge with him if the other ringer has shown that he is going to miss the dodge, but without a more extensive knowledge of the relative positions of all the bells it is not so easy to give prompt and definite instructions when, say, the conductor is on the front and the two bells behind are clashing in obvious uncertainty as to which should be the first to hunt down.

From this it will be seen that the young conductor must extend his studies beyond mere bob-calling. In plain methods, for instance, he should be able to observe the coursing order of the bells, that is the order in which the bells follow one another through the sequence of the work of the method and come to lead.

For example, in Grandsire Triples, with two bells plain hunting—the treble and another—there are five bells 'working.' The conductor should first know the order in which they are coursing, next he should be able to anticipate any change in this order which a bob or single will cause, so that when the call has been made he is certain that the bells have come correctly into their new positions, or, if not, is able to direct them into their right place without hesitation.

A ringer with good 'rope-sight' can easily 'pick-up' the coursing order of the bells, but the anticipation, which is so necessary to real conducting, is more difficult, because it involves an additional mental process. It means that the conductor must hunt his own bell correctly, at the same time remember the existing coursing order of the bells, and also be able to transpose them into the next sequence in anticipation of the call he is going to make.

The novice must not expect that he can do all this at once; the ability comes only by study and practice. Some of it can be acquired when other people are calling by a close observation of what is going on.

First of all, note the bell in the hunt, then look for the order of the bells following the treble and the bell in the hunt. In the plain course they are 3, 4, 6, 7, 5, and this cycle will be maintained until a call is made, the only variation being that the last bell in one lead becomes first in the next. Thus the first lead of 3.4.6.7.5 becomes 5.3.4.6.7 in the second and 7.5.3.4.6 in the 3rd and so on. This is brought about by the last bell in the series (having come to lead immediately in front of the treble) making 3rd's place and coming back in front of the rest.

When a bob is called, the transposition is different. The bell that has been in the hunt has then to be taken into consideration.

The bells as they course after the treble in the first lead are 2.3.4.6.7.5. If a bob is called the transposition moves the two last bells into position in front of the bell that has been in the hunt, and the first of these two becomes the new hunt bell, and can then be left out of consideration in the mental operations until the next call comes along. Thus a bob at the first lead changes the 2.3.4.6.7.5 order into 7.5.2.3.4.6; another bob at the following lead would make the coursing order 4.6.7.5.2.3; but a plain lead would make it 6.5.2.3.4 (that is, always remembering that the 7th continues to course after the treble).

As a first step to conducting, then, we recommend the beginner to study the coursing order of bells in touches which other people are calling, afterwards he can go on to the bob calling himself. We know that very often the process is reversed; that all the beginner troubles about is to call the bobs in the right place and leave the rest to luck, or somebody else. We, however, think that the most efficient way is to begin by understanding what the bells themselves are doing.

Angwin's fifty peals, which have all been rung on a working bell except one of Grandsire Doubles on the tenor and one of Grandsire Triples on the treble: Grandsire Doubles 12, Triples 18, Caters 3, Stedman Triples 2, Plain Bob Minor 2, Major 7, Royal 2, Minor (3 methods) 2, Kent Treble Bob Major 2.

Towerkeeper and a member of St. David's Church, Bangor, for 40 years, Mr. J. H. Midwinter died on June 26th after a short illness, aged 67 years.

At his native village of Charlton Kings, Gloucestershire, Mr. Midwinter learnt to ring. He had rung 62 peals, consisting of 1 Grandsire Doubles, 1 Minor, 23 Grandsire Triples, 8 Stedman Triples, 11 Bob Major, 8 Kent Treble Bob Major, 3 Double Norwich Court Bob Major, 2 Superlative Surprise Major, 2 Grandsire Caters, 1 Kent Treble Bob Royal, 1 Grandsire Cinques, 1 Bob Maximus.

The funeral on June 30th at St. David's Church was conducted by the Rev. R. C. Jones (Vicar), assisted by the Rev. G. Hughes (curate). Handbells were rung at the graveside by T. Jones, J. G. Davies, A. E. Pegler, sen., A. E. Pegler, jun., who also acted as bearers, assisted by W. T. Pegler and A. Ferries (a great friend).

The bells were rung half-muffled in the evening by the local band and also ringers of Holy Trinity Church, Llandudno, Mrs. G. D. Kelly, of Handsworth, Sheffield, and J. T. Bartram, of Misterton, Notts. Methods that were rung during the evening were Bob Major, Grandsire Triples and the whole pull and stand.

DARLEY DALE TOWER BEREAVED.

By the tragic and sudden death of Mr. W. E. Blagshaw, aged 34 years, the Darley Dale belfry has lost one of its most valued members. He was of a cheerful and pleasant disposition, regular in his Sunday service ringing and worship, a useful and willing member in all church activities.

Mr. Blagshaw was not a great peal ringer owing to his employment as a nurseryman and the distance he lived from the belfry. He had taken part in seven peals for the Midland Counties Association, but he was always ready to help in progressing the art of change ringing, being a good ringer in a number of plain methods; in fact, he was a good example of what a ringer should be. He will be long missed and remembered at Darley Dale.

His funeral took place on Sunday afternoon, July 4th, in the churchyard he loved so well. The Rector of Darley Dale conducted the service. Four of his fellow-ringers rang a plain course of Grandsire Triples on handbells at the graveside. For evening service on the day of his burial the tower bells were rung half-muffled to a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples, the striking being very good, by R. Benton (first quarter-peal) 1, B. Allsop 2, V. E. Taylor 3, H. W. Gregory 4, H. E. Taylor 5, R. Allsop 6, G. R. Paulson 7, E. Paulson 8. G. H. P.

DEATH OF MR. WILLIAM MAUND.

Mr. William Maund, one of Warwickshire's oldest bellringers, passed away suddenly on June 29th. A man with a high sense of devotion to duty will be greatly missed by all, but by none more than by the members of St. John's Church, Coventry, where he had held the office of vergor for the last eleven years.

He was born at Whitbourne, Herefordshire, and his early ringing was done in that county. Later he went to Bridgnorth, where he rang three peals—two of Grandsire and one of Darlaston Bob Triples for the Hereford Diocesan Guild. He came to Coventry about 35 years ago, and was one of the pioneer members of the Warwickshire Guild when it was formed in 1907. Whenever duties allowed, he was to be found ringing the bells he loved, those of Stoke Parish Church, and it was at this church where he rang his seven peals for the Guild, three of Grandsire and four of Stedman.

The interment at the Coventry Cemetery was preceded by the funeral service at St. John's Church. With the little company of mourners, seven members of the Guild followed his body to its last resting place, and as a last tribute to his memory a course of Triples was rung over the open grave.

BALLOONIST AND BELLRINGER.MR. HARRY HENDEN DIES IN AUSTRALIA.

An Australian paper records the death, at the age of 89 years, of Mr. Harry Henden, of Orange, New South Wales. He was born at Dartford, Kent. In 1873, says the report, Mr. Henden, was widely known for his daring balloon ascents in London and Australia. He made 230 ascents in all, including several in Sydney, Melbourne, and Orange, where he had worked for 52 years before his death as a watchmaker and jeweller.

'Mr. Henden,' the report adds, 'was also expert in the art of bell-ringing and was the oldest member of the ancient society of the London College of Bellringers. On the occasion of the diamond jubilee of his wedding, which he celebrated in Orange seven years ago, members of the society pealed the bells in London in his honour.'

A MEMORIAL TOUCH.

At Leicester Cathedral Church of St. Martin, a quarter-peal of Stedman Cinques with half-muffled bells was rung on Saturday, May 15th, in memory of the late Canon Winckley, of this Cathedral, in 55 minutes: S. Cotton 1, L. E. Allen 2, H. J. Poole (conductor) 3, Dr. F. S. Poole 4, S. Cheney 5, C. F. Howitt 6, P. L. Harrison 7, H. G. Jenney 8, F. E. Wilson 9, A. I. Harris 10, F. H. Dexter 11, T. Taylor 12. First quarter-peal on 12 bells by 4, 5 and 10.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

The William Pye memorial peal tablet will be unveiled and dedicated on July 20th at St. Mary-le-Bow Church, Cheapside, at 7.30 p.m. Mr. John G. Ames, Ringing Master of the Elloe Deauneries Branch of the Lincoln Diocesan Guild, was married on July 3rd to Miss E. H. Stocks, of Pinchbeck. The occasion was honoured by a peal of Bob Major.

As good as ever is the report sent of the handling of Mr. Alfred Lawrence, the 84-year-old member of the Christ Church, Swindon, band. On July 4th he participated in a birthday compliment quarter-peal of Stedman Triples. Another member of the band, Mr. W. W. T. Daniell, also received birthday felicitations, and the occasion was the first quarter of Stedman away from the tenor of A. G. Wells.

Connected with the bells of St. Deny's, Ibstock, for over 60 years, Mr. J. W. Hopkins celebrated his 84th birthday on June 24th. For 30 years he has been churchwarden. A touch of Grandsire Doubles, consisting of 840 changes—the 84 lead-ends being appropriate for his age—was rung by A. Overton 1, C. Verey 2, A. R. Tonks (conductor) 3, H. Tonks 4, J. W. Atkins 5, W. H. Ball 6.

More about veterans. Midsummer Day was the 78th birthday of Mr. J. A. Dixon, who has rung at St. Marie's, Sheffield, for over 60 years. Mr. Dixon took part in a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples at St. Marie's on June 27th in honour of the event, the company consisting of J. Osgathorpe 1, F. Gates 2, A. Chaddock 3, G. C. Kibblewhite 4, J. A. Dixon 5, R. Harrison, jun. 6, R. Harrison (conductor) 7, H. Hurst 8.

There is a possibility that the bells of Prittlewell, Essex, where Mr. William Dudley has completed 50 years of change ringing, will be augmented to twelve. A firm of bellfounders have estimated for the work.

In honour of Mr. Dudley's golden jubilee as a ringer, a peal of Stedman Caters was attempted on June 13th, but unfortunately broke down after 1½ hours' good ringing. Another attempt, it is hoped, will be made later.

THE HAMPSHIRE TOUR.

A CHOICE STORY.

As suggested by the Editor of 'The Ringing World,' I am sending a couple of chapters with the hope that he may be able to spare room to publish same.

Chapter I.—East Tytherley.

'Time there was but it is gone;
'Time there may be—who can tell?
'Time there is to act upon,
'Help me, Lord, to use it well.'

Chapter II.—Sherfield English.

'All that pleases is but for a moment,
'All that grieves us is but for a moment,
'Nothing is important but that which is Eternal.'

Milan Cathedral.

The above lines may be read at the respective churches. Our visit coincided with the first day of summer, in glorious weather, amidst peaceful and picturesque Hampshire scenery, recalling a well-known poet's verse, 'Oh! to be in England, when the village bells are ringing.'

W. H. F.

BELLS SHOULD SOUND THEIR LOUDEST.

In his address to members of the Southern District of the Surrey Association at Bletchingley on June 26th, the Rector said that ringers should always ring their bells in such a good manner that the bells would always sound their loudest—the best praise to God. This praise should also be shown by ringers in their lives. The heart as well as the head should be in bellringing and then the message of the bells would sound all the clearer to people not thinking of God.

The 60 odd feet of draught and new ropes did not deter the ringers from making good use of the bells. Of the company of 25, members came from Lingfield, Buckland, Reigate, Redhill (St. John's), Mersham, Banstead and Uckfield, and the mobile section of the Northern District, headed by 'the broadcasting bellringers Nos. 1, 2 and 3.'

At the meeting sympathy was expressed with three members who were ill—Mr. Batten (Mersham), Mr. Fuller (Reigate) and Mr. Whitmore (Horley).

THE ADMIRATION OF THE EXERCISE.

To the Editor.

Sir,—On page 422 in your issue of June 25th is recorded a peal of Minor, the ringers of which have surely earned the admiration of the whole of the Exercise. I refer to the peal at Fairfield, Buxton, in the maximum number (73) of Treble Bob methods it is possible to ring in seven extents.

As readers of 'The Ringing World' will have observed, this band of Spliced Minor experts have been steadily increasing the number of methods in their peals, and their efforts have now culminated in this truly splendid achievement.

It reflects not only the exceptional ringing ability of the performers, but also their co-operation and loyalty as a band over a long period, qualities which are, in far too many cases, lacking at the present time.

It is the more remarkable that the band should have such widely differing ages, as to range from the youngest in his early twenties to the eldest in his sixties. Heartiest congratulations to them all!

WOODFORD RINGERS' OUTING.

Ideal weather favoured the Woodford ringers and their friends on June 27th, when a party of 32 visited some interesting churches of Suffolk and Essex. An early start was made to enable them to ring for the morning service at St. Mary's, Woodbridge.

True to time the bells were set going, and touches of Grandsire Triples, Kent Treble Bob and Bob Major, not forgetting some 'call changes' for the learners, were rung on a very tuneful eight, tenor 25 cwt., all cast by Thomas Osborne, of Downham Market, in 1799. Well may Mr. G. J. Trotman, who welcomed the party, and his local band be proud of their bells which grace a lofty flint tower!

The next halt was made at St. Mary's, Bury St. Edmunds, where Mr. Chinnery welcomed the visitors, and touches of Grandsire Triples, Stedman Triples and Kent Treble Bob were rung on an excellent ring of eight, tenor 28 cwt., also cast by Thomas Osborne. The church, one of the largest in England, is full of interest, ranking with the Cathedral Church of St. James close by as outstanding Perpendicular edifices.

After the long fast had been broken at the White Lion, a short run brought the party to Lavenham, where Mr. A. Symonds, who figured in the Lavenham broadcast of a year ago, extended a genial welcome. This was indeed the 'climax' of the outing. The picturesqueness of the mediaeval cloth-exporting town is only excelled by the magnificent Church of SS. Peter and Paul with its rich sounding peal of bells, tenor 23 cwt. The tenor, cast by Miles Gray in 1625, must be the envy of all bellfounders! Touches of Kent Treble Bob, Grandsire and Stedman Triples were rung and well struck. The tower, built about 1483 and rising to 141ft., is worthy of such a peal. No pains were spared to use the best of materials, and Barnac stone and Brandon flint are both in evidence. Strong buttresses give strength and beauty to this crowning glory of an outstanding edifice.

St. Mary's, Bures, was reached in time for touches of Oxford, Kent and Cambridge Minor to be rung prior to the evening service on a good going tuneful six, tenor 22 cwt., Mr. Bower and Mr. Ives joining in. The church, with its 14th century embattled and pinnacled tower, stands near the Stour and adds charm to a typical Suffolk scene. Tea was well served at the One Bell, and at the conclusion of the refreshing meal Messrs. S. Webb, F. Corner and C. Morss were specially thanked for arranging a most enjoyable outing.

The final halt was made at St. John's, Fincham, where touches of Grandsire, Stedman and Kent Treble Bob were rung on a good eight, tenor 18 cwt., Messrs. H. Samms and D. Jennings, of the Bardfield band, joining in. The 12th century west door and the 15th century rood screen with its elaborate tracery are outstanding features of an historical church.

By 11.20 Woodford was reached and all quickly dispersed, having seen the country gaily bedecked with flowers and foliage, viewed from winding roads and charming hillocks, and having heard tuneful bells which peal from some of the most interesting churches of East Anglia.

HELMINGHAM RINGERS VISIT KENT.

On June 26th, the Helmingham band, with a few friends, making a party of 20, held their annual outing. A few minutes past 6 a.m. a start was made by motor-coach for Woolwich, St. Mary's Church being reached just after 10 a.m. A few good courses of Surprise were rung, then on to St. John's, Erith, where Mr. and Mrs. George H. Cross met them, and acted as guides for the rest of the day. Lunch at Dartford was followed by a visit to the tower just in time to ring a happy bridal pair out of church. The next call was Northfleet, and then to Gravesend for tea and the final ringing for the day. The methods rung during the day were London, Bristol, Cambridge, Superlative Surprise, Double Norwich and Stedman Triples.

At 7.40 p.m. we bid farewell to our guides at the Ferry and the drive home in the beautiful summer's evening was delightful. Home was reached about 11.45, everyone happy although tired, but St. Mary's bells were tapping off Cambridge and Superlative at the usual time on Sunday morning. The party thank, through 'The Ringing World,' incumbents for use of bells and towerkeepers for having bells ready, and lastly Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Cross for making the arrangements.

FIVE TOWERS VISITED BY BOLSOVER RINGERS.

Bolsover ringers held their annual outing on June 26th and had a very enjoyable day in the Derby district. Ringing took place at Rolleston-on-Dove, Burton-on-Trent, Overseale, Ashby-de-la-Zouch and Melbourne. The methods rung were Plain Bob Major, Kent Treble Bob Major, Double Norwich, Norfolk Surprise Major, Superlative Surprise Major, Cambridge Surprise Major, Little Bob Major, Little Bob Royal and Kent Treble Bob Royal.

A pleasant event took place at tea at Ashby-de-la-Zouch, when the ringers presented Mr. John Flint with a walking stick, suitably inscribed, to mark the ringing of his 500th peal which he conducted on Coronation Day at Bolsover. Glowing tributes were paid to Mr. Flint's efforts on behalf of the Exercise both at Bolsover and in the district, and the ringers showed their gratitude for the excellent way in which he carries out his duties as captain and tutor of the local band.

YORK MINSTER RINGERS AMID THE DALES.

York Minster ringers repeated last year's outing to Derbyshire for their 'annual' on June 19th, when a party of 18 had a most enjoyable day. The arrangements were in the hands of Mr. S. F. Palmer, who met the company on arrival at Sheffield with a luxurious coach, fitted with knee rugs and wireless, and acted as guide, philosopher and friend throughout the journey.

Hope was our first stopping place, which was reached via Fox House, The Surprise and Bamford. The Surprise View, met unexpectedly, was a lovely sight right across the valley, with well-wooded country beyond. It was well worth the two or three minutes we stopped to take it all in. At Hope we were met by Mr. B. Hadfield, and soon the bells were going to Stedman Triples and Bob Major. They are a nice light peal of eight, and we thoroughly enjoyed our ring, more especially as we were given to understand that previously permission for visitors to ring on these bells was unobtainable.

From Hope to Tideswell, where dinner was provided at the George Hotel (proprietor, Mr. James Buckley), and an excellent dinner it was. During the 'courses' fresh salmon ('surprise') came on and we went to the extent (of the salmon). After grace a course on handbells was rung for the benefit of the local customers. It was a really beautiful drive to Ashover, travelling through Taddington, Dale, Bakewell, via Gallia Dale, Crowfoot and Matlock. Here ringing was arranged by Mr. A. W. H. Bowler. The tenor is approximately 18 cwt., and the difference between the 7th and tenor is about 8 cwt. Nevertheless, they are a nice musical peal. The third bell dates back to 1625 and the 7th to 1630, quite the most ancient bells that any of our party had been privileged to handle.

At both Hope and Ashover a wedding had just taken place previous to our ringing. At Ashover we stood on one side until the man with the camera had taken the wedding party. Then we did our bit on the bells—no, it didn't lead to anything! and we hope neither of the respective brides or bridegrooms' health will suffer in consequence.

Back to Matlock, where a substantial meat tea was provided (by W. H. Moore and Sons). After tea most of the party made their way up to the church there, where Messrs. Victor and E. Taylor kindly met us and had all ready. The very steep hill to the church was accomplished by our 84-year-old colleague (Mr. A. Haigh) in good style. Some good touches in various methods were rung, the bells running very well. Four of our party decided on a game of bowls instead of the climb up to the church, but, unfortunately, it was a 'Crown' green instead of their accustomed 'flat.' We accepted with some reserve the 'fine ends' they played, especially as one of them would persist in playing wrong 'bias.' Nothing transpired on the journey to Sheffield except we ran past The Peacock at approximately 20 miles per hour. There wasn't time!

The train journey was enlivened by some courses on the handbells and we arrived back to York at 10.50 after a most enjoyable day. I take this opportunity of saying 'Thank you' to the incumbents of the churches visited for permission to use their bells, and also to the gentlemen previously mentioned for meeting us and making arrangements which contributed largely to the success of our outing.

WESTON-SUPER-MARE RINGERS' OUTING.

Ideal weather conditions, ringing in four towers and a jolly party made the outing of the Weston-super-Mare bellringers memorable on June 19th.

After calling at Bristol to pick up Mr. W. H. Thomas, the party of 30 was welcomed by Mrs. Onkhill, wife of the local captain at Wotton-under-Edge, where ringing was enjoyed at the Church of St. Mary the Virgin.

Lunch at the Falcon Hotel, Painswick, was followed by ringing in this famous church and a cordial welcome by Mr. Goulding, the local captain. At Great Malvern, the party were greeted by Mr. J. C. Lawrence, local captain of the ringers at the Priory Church, and the ringing was most pleasurable. A saunter round the town followed tea. On the homeward trip a halt was called at Deerhurst, where Mr. W. Bartlett, the captain of the ringers of the quaint old Church of St. Mary, received the party, and more ringing enjoyed. Supper was served at the Montague Hotel, Bristol, and Weston was reached at 12.45 a.m. Thanks are due to Messrs. Poplun and Minifie for making the arrangements.

FAKENHAM COMPANY IN FENLAND.

Accompanied by the Rector (the Rev. Dr. E. F. Morison) and members from Dersingham, Sculthorpe and Gressenhall, the Fakenham company held their annual outing on June 12th.

Their tour took them through Swaffham, Brandon, Mildenhall and Soham to Ely in the morning, where lunch was served at the Bell Hotel and the Cathedral was visited. In the afternoon the party continued on through Littleport, Hilgay and Denver to King's Lynn. Tea was very kindly provided by Archdeacon Ward at Hilgay. The members enjoyed touches in various methods on the bells of each church visited.

A DAY IN THE WEST.

LONDON RINGERS' EXPERIENCES.

Nine kindred spirits of the London County Association—Messrs. Waugh, Cousins, Brightley, Cockey, Start, Shorter, Murrell, Richards and Cannon—tell this story of their outing to Somerset and Wiltshire on June 27th.

Headed by the famous red sports model, the party left London at 6.45 a.m., and 3½ hours later had accomplished the journey to Wells Cathedral.

This famous peal of ten, tenor 56½ cwt., was soon rung to Grandsire, Stedman Caters and Bob Royal. The party were joined by Messrs. Melville and Stote from Coventry, always welcome visitors. The funny incident of the day occurred here. An electrical engineer from Essex and a tower-grabber from South-West London were deputed to ring the tenor to some Stedman. By some mistake the 'man on the box' had hold of the strapping rope and the 'strapper' had hold of the tail end. The result on pulling off was that the uppermost ringer had about 5ft. of slack, and the poor strapper was just able to hold the extreme end of the tail end! Amid laughter, the ropes were changed over and no damage done. No names are mentioned, but suffice it to say that they both wore 'plus-fours'!

After saying farewell to the local ringers and taking lunch, a move was made to Wedmore, and this fine peal of eight, tenor 30 cwt., were much enjoyed to Cambridge, Double Norwich, Treble Bob, Stedman and Grandsire. These bells are similar to St. Lawrence Jewry, both rehung by Mears and Stainbank. Mr. William Hibbert was in the district and rang Cambridge with the party.

Leaving the village at 2.15 p.m., the journey was continued through the beautiful Cheddar Gorge. Wending their way over the Mendip hills, through Chewton Mendip, Wells and Frome, the next tower, Westbury, Wilts, was reached at 4.15 p.m. Mr. R. H. Newton met us, and we heard these fine bells to advantage in Cambridge. Plain Bob, Treble Bob and Stedman. The tenor is 35 cwt., the second heaviest eight in the country.

The last tower of the day, Trowbridge, was reached at 5.30 p.m., and Mr. Samuel J. Hector and his merry men gave us a hearty welcome. This handy little ring of 12, tenor 24 cwt., were soon tapping out Stedman Cinques, Grandsire Cinques and Caters, and even the veriest tyro should be able to ring 12 bells here with little difficulty. Thanks and farewells were exchanged and supper taken at the King's Head. The homeward journey started at 7.45 p.m., and singing and exchanging pleasantries with village 'belles' helped to pass the time away. A stop was made at Thatcham to settle expenses and thanks accorded Mr. Waugh for his excellent arrangements. A. F. C.

UNIVERSITY OUTING FOR CAMBERWELL RINGERS.

The St. Giles', Camberwell, Society held their outing on Sunday, June 27th, at Oxford, leaving Paddington in the morning by train, and were met at the station by Mr. R. A. Post, who was responsible with the help of Mr. Bennett, secretary of the Oxford Society, in a hectic but thoroughly enjoyable day being spent.

The party were shown round many interesting colleges and a brief history told of them. Particularly delighted were we when we visited Christ College to be shown the Bellringers' Corner, where the memorials to the Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn and the Rev. F. E. Robinson are to be seen. In the afternoon permission to ring on the bells of Merton College was obtained, in which we were successful in bringing round touches of Stedman Triples and Kent Treble Bob Major. By changing the exercise we rowed to Ilfley for a brief ring on the peal of six at St. Mary, Ilfley, and, returning to Oxford, rang for evening service at St. Giles' Church touches of Stedman Triples, Kent Treble Bob and Cambridge Major. Between this and 7.15 p.m. the next tower arranged for our benefit, we managed to secure a little tea and light refreshment, then we made our way to the tower of St. Mary the Virgin, Oxford, a beautiful ring of six, which were set going to Kent and Cambridge Minor. On leaving the tower we had but three-quarters of an hour left to ourselves out of the whole day in which to make our way back to the station for train to London.

We wish to thank most gratefully both Mr. Bennett and Mr. Post for the arrangements made on our behalf, which we think could not be improved upon, and to the clergy concerned in allowing us to ring on their bells at the various times and to our brother ringers for making us at home. T. W. T.

IPSWICH RINGERS VISIT ESSEX.

St. Mary-le-Tower Society, Ipswich, decided for their annual outing on June 26th to ring on some of the well-tuned bells of Essex, viz., Great Baddow, Rayleigh, Prittlewell, Hornchurch, Brentwood, Chelmsford Cathedral.

At Rayleigh there was the pleasure of meeting an old Ipswich friend in the person of Mr. G. F. Margetson, who is in his 88th year, and rang a course of Kent Treble Bob Major with Mr. Bob Brundle, in his 86th year, and three generations of Tilletts. All the usual plain methods and four Surprise methods were rung during the day, finishing up with (as a splendid finale) a course of Superlative Surprise Maximus on the 12 good bells at Chelmsford. Home was safely reached at midnight after an 18 hours' journey.

This society wish, through the medium of this paper, to thank all steeplekeepers and others for their co-operation in making the outing so successful and enjoyable.

HESTON RINGERS IN HAMPSHIRE.

SURPRISE TWICE.

So popular has the Heston ringers' Whit Monday annual outing become that the usual 32-seater coach was found to be totally inadequate. Two members (Messrs. Bird and Cattermoul), therefore, very kindly drove their own cars to convey the overflow. A start was made at 9 a.m., the coach being suitably decorated for the Coronation. The peals of eight rung on during the day were at Shalford, Grayshott, Privett, New Alresford and Farnham. Lunch was taken at the Fox and Pelican, Grayshott—some preferred it 'al fresco' on the village green.

Six of the ringers shared the bob-calling and five towers were numbered among the guests. Ross-on-Wye can certainly call humble Grandsire Triples, Chiswick (who have made rapid progress in their ringing) suggested Cambridge Major, at which surprise was expressed, but they can sing and sleep well. Isleworth tried to teach Twickenham Oxford Bob Triples, but the lady's blackboard was missing, and he who was being taught always learns by diagram. Putney has at long last rung a course of Oxford Treble Bob Major. Much Stedman, Bob Major (with vocal accompaniment) and Double Norwich were also rung.

Heston produced an insistent carillon player and an outing secretary with a hustle but without whip. The wives (bless 'em all) caused him a spot of bother at Privett when they asserted their women's rights by ordering cups of tea at a cottage just when the party were due to leave this more than delightful spot.

The Vicar of Heston, who always enjoys the company of bellringers, motored down to New Alresford to be one of the 49 who sat down to a meat tea at the Bell Hotel, but where was the bread? Unfortunately, the Rector of Alresford could not stay to the tea, but he looked in to say 'a quick one' by giving the invaders a warm welcome to his parish and hoped they had had a good day at their ringing. The Vicar of Heston, on behalf of the ringers, thanked the Rector for the use of such a beautiful peal of bells over and above the allotted time.

Before the coach left on its return journey 'surprise' was sung at the call of Mr. H. C. Chandler, and the outing secretary learned, for the first time in his life, that he was a jolly good fellow.

The home tower was reached at 11.30 p.m., when the company fell into the arms of the law, the only person to be seen being a member of the Police Guild, who, perforce, had to be on duty during the day and consequently was unable to participate in the 'best ever' Heston outing.

All the peals rung on were perfect going eights, especially Shalford and Privett, and the best thanks are due to all towerkeepers who met the visitors, also the incumbents who so readily gave permission to ring. W. F. E.

AMONG SUSSEX VILLAGE TOWERS.

SURREY RINGERS' VARIED EXPERIENCE.

A number of Surrey rural towers was visited by a party of Surrey ringers from Mersham, Chariwood and Buckland, who joined forces for an outing. As a result they gained a varied experience and spent a very enjoyable day, the pleasure of which was enhanced by glorious weather and a drive through some very beautiful country. Anticipated difficulties at Hartfield were quickly dispelled and the ringing on the handy little peal of six greatly pleased the visitors. At Wadhurst, however, they found it rather disconcerting to ring on bells with the circle anti-clockwise, and as a result the ringing was not all that could be desired. Burwash, once the home of Rudyard Kipling, provided bells even more difficult to handle. A very short draught and thick sallies which bounced off the beams of the ceiling overhead did not help matters, but the handicaps were more than discounted by the warm welcome offered by the captain of the local ringers, Mr. Douch.

After lunch at the Bear Hotel, the journey was continued to Warbleton, where some excellent ringing was done on some lovely bells, and then to Hellingly, where tea was partaken of after ringing. Loughton with another good six and Ringmer with its fine eight brought the ringing programme to a close. At the latter place the Vicar is the Rev. A. H. Robinson, formerly Rector of Mersham, and naturally the ringers received a very warm welcome from him. Ample light refreshments were awaiting the party on the Vicarage lawn, and the hospitality of Mr. and Mrs. Robinson was much appreciated.

MALDON RINGERS' EXCURSION.

The ringers of All Saints' Church, Maldon, Essex, together with their wives and friends, went for their annual outing on Saturday, June 19th. Starting from Maldon at 7.30, they first visited Finchamfield, where the first stop was made and the bells were soon going merrily in Stedman, Kent and Bob Major, while the fair sex had a look round the village, which is one of the beauty spots of Essex. At Saffron Walden the party were met by Mr. Pitstow and afterwards by the Vicar (the Rev. Hughes), formerly Vicar of Maldon, who gave them a hearty welcome to his church. After an enjoyable ring on the bells, a move was made to Cambridge, where lunch was partaken of at the Dorothy Cafe. This was followed by a ring on the heavy peal of bells at the Roman Catholic Church. After tea at Royston, the party went on to Sawbridgeworth, where they were met by some of the local ringers and some good ringing was much enjoyed. Home was reached at 11 p.m.

PEAL NOTES.

It was appropriate that the first peal on the newly-augmented ring at Llanfrechfa, Monmouthshire, should be rung as a 21st birthday compliment to Lieut. Hopton Addams-Williams, of Spencer's Horse, who is now serving in India.

One of the two new bells to make the octave was given by his father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Christopher Addams-Williams, to mark his coming of age. The other new bell commemorates the Coronation of King George VI. Five local ringers took part in the peal and it was their first peal of Triples.

The peal of Kent Treble Bob Major at Rishton, Lancs, on June 23rd, was the 200th peal for the Lancashire Association by L. J. Williams.

A peal of Oxford and Kent Treble Bob Minor at Donington, Lincs, on June 19th, was conducted by Mr. Herbert Woods, the 71-year-old verger of the church.

The peal of Cambridge Surprise Major at Drighlington, Yorks, on June 26th, was the 50th occasion the conductor (Mr. Leslie W. G. Morris) has 'turned in' the tenor to a peal.

The centenary of Queen Victoria's accession to the Throne was remembered at Wath-on-Dearne, Yorks, by a peal of Treble Bob Minor. It was also a birthday compliment to A. Panther.

Congratulations to Miss C. Dutton, aged 14, who rang her first peal in Grandsire Triples away from the treble at Hertford on June 26th. By this peal Mr. G. Gray 'circled' the tower.

Another association with Queen Victoria was the peal at Little Munden, Herts, to commemorate the first peal on the bells on Queen Victoria's Diamond Jubilee, in which the brothers Lawrence rang their first peal.

While participating in the Hampshire tour, Mr. Frank Bennett recorded his 1,400th peal. The peals at St. Michael's, Highclere, and All Saints', Milford-on-Sea, were the first peals of Superlative on the bells. Cambridge in peal form was introduced for the first time at St. Michael's, Southampton, and All Hallows', Whitechurch.

PRESENTATION TO MR. H. R. COBBIN.

The St. Peter's, Nottingham, ringers met on June 22nd to honour their Ringing Master, Mr. H. R. Cobbin, who had completed 40 years as a ringer, and the last 20 years as their leader. The gift was a silver bell inkstand, which bore the inscription, 'To H. R. Cobbin, Esq., Ringing Master. Presented by the ringers of St. Peter's Church, Nottingham, as a mark of esteem and appreciation, and to commemorate 40 years of faithful service. June 22nd, 1937.'

In the name of the company, Mr. J. A. Barratt handed over the gift, alluding to the esteem in which he was held by all, and to the fact that he had completed 40 years as a ringer that very day.

Mr. M. Ward (honorary member) said Mr. Cobbin commanded the respect of all and they hoped he would be spared many years to continue in office. He wished to assure him of their continued loyalty. Mr. R. Narborough, Ringing Master at St. Mary's, expressed the best wishes of St. Mary's ringers and congratulated Mr. Cobbin on the attainment of such a remarkable record.

Mr. Cobbin said the gift would recall many pleasant and happy associations with past and present ringers. 'I have had the maximum amount of pleasure out of ringing,' he declared, 'and especially in this tower.' He greatly appreciated the spirit that prompted the gift. A start was made for a peal of Stedman Caters, but it came to grief owing to the second rope breaking after ten minutes' ringing. A peal of Grandsire was successfully brought round.

RINGERS' WEDDING.

The marriage of Mr. Reginald Bray and Miss Vera Cooper, both members of St. Margaret's Church bellringers, Uxbridge, took place on June 6th. The bridegroom rang his last quarter-peal as a benedict before morning service, those taking part being G. Gutteridge 1, R. Bray 2, Edna Bedford 3, E. Hancock 4, S. Childs 5, G. Blake 6, C. Nichols 7, F. Corke (conductor) 8. The wedding took place in the afternoon and after the ceremony the local ringers 'fired' the bells and rang touches.

DON'T SCRUB YOUR HANDS!

skin this simple way*

To many people, the problem of getting the hands really clean without harming the skin is a serious one. Grease and grime, which become deeply ingrained into the pores of the skin, are extremely difficult to remove, and ordinary washing with soap or even scrubbing will fail to remove them completely. Housewives, particularly, who complain that their hands get ruined by the nature of their work, will find the preparation called DERMAFOAM, a real "godsend." DERMAFOAM just smooths away dirt and grease without effort. It gets right down into the pores and removes every particle of grime, leaving skin beautifully supple and healthy.

Men, too—when you've finished that dirty job on the car, DERMAFOAM will quickly banish all grease and oil from your hands. It acts almost magically—working under and around the nails and into every minute crease, removing all trace of dirt in a flash.

Engineers, Painters, Car Mechanics, Printers — everyone — will welcome DERMAFOAM, the modern method of cleansing and protecting the hands.

THE NEW MINOR RECORD.

The congratulations offered to the band who recently rang the spliced peal of Minor in seventy-three methods are well deserved. The rapid manner in which they have added to the record in this type of ringing marks them as exponents of exceptional ability and enterprise. When, some few years ago, the Norbury men packed thirty-five methods into seven extents it was felt that the human factor in ringing had almost reached its zenith, but this other Cheshire band have gone on to achieve a peal with more than twice as many methods and they have now accomplished a performance which presumably will stand as a record in its class for all time, for the peal is believed to be the limit in the number of Treble Bob methods that can be included in seven true extents. That, in itself, marks a new stage in ringing. A peal with more methods within the bounds of seven 720's is possible, but the extents have to include plain and alliance methods, and some day, perhaps, we shall be able to chronicle such a performance, but the Cheshire men will hold the indisputable laurels of being the first to ring a peal that goes to the Treble Bob limit.

Once more we feel we must point the moral. This latest achievement again visualises the vast field which lies before the six-bell ringers. Time was when a peal in seven different Minor methods was the limit of aspiration, and also it was seldom that anything less than this was recorded as a peal—or even attempted. Then came the stage when the standard drifted backward and seven 720's, all in one method, became a common practice and still remains the maximum performance of many ringers. As we have often pointed out, such a peal may be justified in exceptional circumstances, but we cannot believe that all the one-method peals that are rung are compelled by the exigencies of the case. In recent years there has been a compensating set off to this lower standard, by the introduction of spliced ringing; and it is the one gratifying feature in what has become a gradual 'cheapening' of Minor peal standards. Performances such as this latest achievement of the Cheshire men come as a welcome refresher. Not every band can hope to attain the heights which they have reached, but the whole field is open to others as it was to them. There is an old saying that if you aim at the sky you may reach the top of the trees. With the example before them of this peal in seventy-three methods, few six-bell ringers ought to be content with stagnating in one method. Recent articles in our 'Beginners' column have shown how an advance from method to method may be achieved with just a little study and application, and we hope those bands who have been content to stand still will

PERSONALITIES AND PERFORMANCES.

The first peal of Major rung at Leicester Cathedral for more than a century took place on June 26th. The occasion was the wedding of Mr. W. E. Rawson, one of the Cathedral band, and Miss H. Hay. The peal of Minor at Nutfield on Saturday was the first on the bells for 13 years.

Hearty congratulations to Mr. G. Fisher, who has been a ringer at St. Helen's Church, Stapleford, Notts, for nearly 53 years and at the age of 67 has rung his first peal. Three other members of the company were also first pealers, and the occasion was the first peal of Doubles by the band.

Mr. G. W. Limmer, Burnham's popular captain, participated amid members of his own company, with one exception, at Hitcham in a birthday peal on July 3rd.

Youthful memories were recalled by Mr. J. Bennett when he rang peals at Otley and Ashbocking (Suffolk) the other week-end. At Ashbocking he received his introduction to the rudiments of the art of change ringing, and the two peals were arranged specially for his convenience.

Among the last tributes to ringers recorded this week is the muffled peal of Minor at Bootle, Lancs, to the memory of the late Mr. D. Lea, who died about a year ago. This was the first peal on the bells since they were rehung on ball bearings by Messrs. Burnand and Day, who are to be complimented on their workmanship.

There were quite a number of 'firsts' connected with the peal of London Surprise Major at Harmston, Lincolnshire, on July 3rd. The conductor, Mr. John Freeman, rang his first peal of Major and first peal as conductor on eight bells. He is the 17-year-old son of the leader of Lincoln Cathedral band and has already called Stedman Cinques.

Will Madeley, Staffordshire, be the last of the Coronation peals? Their peal was scored on June 29th.

Owing to the bad 'go' of the two tenors, a peal of Minor was abandoned at Tenbury Wells, Worcestershire, and a fresh start made with a peal of Doubles, which proved successful.

Beddington ringers were hustling on July 3rd, when a peal of Stedman Caters was brought round in 2 hours and 55 minutes. This is the quickest peal of Caters on the bells, the tenor of which weighs 18½ cwt.

Meeting short for Cinques, a peal of Stedman Caters was rung at the Collegiate Church of St. Peter, Wolverhampton, on July 3rd. Mr. H. Knight generously stood down.

Mr. William J. Platt by a peal on July 3rd completed his circle of the tower of Redenhall, Norfolk.

Mr. Joseph Bailey, the well-known Midland Counties ringer, completed his 250 peals on June 30th with a peal of Grandsire Triples at Netherseale, Derbyshire.

The peal of Cambridge Major at St. Andrew's, Rugby, on June 28th, was the first in the method on the bells.

The interesting records of the Hertford County Association have been added to by a peal of Spiced Plain Bob and Double Norwich Major rung at Bushey on July 8th.

The consistent efforts and success of the handbell band at Stockport, Cheshire, is well marked by the fact that on July 7th a peal of Kent Treble Bob Major was called by Mr. Allen F. Bailey and was his one hundredth peal 'in hand' as conductor.

The statement that the peal of Superlative at Highclere on June 22nd was the first on the bells is not correct. On November 22nd, 1930, a peal of Superlative was rung at Highclere for the Royal Cumberland Youths conducted by Mr. G. Williams. Several correspondents have pointed this out.

Similarly a peal of Superlative had been previously rung at Milford-on-Sea, curiously enough on the Saturday following the first at Highclere.

The first peal on the new bells at Manchester Town Hall was rung by the National Police Guild on July 3rd.

Members of the Manchester Police Force are responsible for the official ringing at the Town Hall, and it was only fitting that a band of policemen should score the first peal on the new twelve. The ringers included a superintendent, an inspector, a sergeant, six P.C.'s, an ex-sergeant and an ex-constable, and Leicester, Birmingham and Bolton were represented in the band, as well as Manchester.

Three first peals and two first peals 'inside' was the splendid achievement in a peal of Grandsire Doubles at Trysall, Staffs. Congratulations to Conductor B. G. Key! The peal was also a birthday compliment to Mr. A. Clarke.

The five oldest Wolvey ringers rang the first peal on the bells of Burton Hastings, Warwickshire, on June 26th. The peal was a compliment to Mr. J. P. Toone, of High Cross, grandfather of the conductor (Mr. Joseph H. Beale), and father of Mr. P. Toone, churchwarden of Wolvey.

A HALF-PEAL.

On Tuesday, May 25th, at Guisborough Parish Church, 2,520 Bob Minor in 1 hour 28 minutes: W. Smith 1, G. Husband 2, J. Drury 3, E. Potter 4, B. Pybus 5, J. Read (conductor) 6. Rung after commencing a peal, which unfortunately broke down.

BATH AND WELLS DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION. ANNUAL MEETING AT BATH.

Some seventy members and visitors attended the annual meeting of the Bath and Wells Diocesan Association at Bath on July 3rd. The Guild service was held at St. Mark's Church, conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. A. Dann), who gave a helpful address. Tea and business meeting followed in the St. Mark's Church House, where the Master, the Rev. W. M. K. Warren, supported by the Rev. Preb. D. M. Ross, took the chair.

After the routine business had been disposed of, Mr. James Hunt gave an account of the Central Council meeting, and made some trenchant remarks in regard to the circulation of 'The Ringing World' and to the Towers and Belfries Committee of the Central Council.

Arising out of the former matter, various suggestions were brought forward, but, as was aptly remarked at one of those informal discussions which take place near churches after ringing, it was a case of preaching to the converted. If only those who do not attend meetings could be persuaded to take the paper, there would be no complaint.

Mr. Prescott (Bath) and Mr. Farley (Stourbridge) contributed to the discussion during the meeting.

In regard to the Towers and Belfries Committee, Mr. Starr (Swainswick) instanced the case of a badly designed frame which had long outlived its usefulness and which had been condemned by four authorities, being preserved by patchwork. The original estimate had been far exceeded and they still had the badly arranged frame of doubtful timbers.

It was proposed by Mr. Hunt that the association print an annual obituary list, but the motion failed to find sufficient support.

New members, in the persons of Mr. A. P. Cannon, Mr. R. G. Cross and Mr. M. Clark, were elected.

The recommendation of the committee that quarterly meetings be held at Bridgwater, Long Ashton and Crewkerne was adopted.

Elections of officers caused no change, and the Rev. W. M. K. Warren as Master, Mr. J. T. Dyke as hon. treasurer, and Mr. D. G. Taylor as hon. auditor were re-elected.

An omnibus vote of thanks was proposed by Mr. W. A. Osborn (North Cadbury) to all who had made the meeting a success, viz., the Rev. A. Dann, the Ven. the Archdeacon of Bath, the Rev. G. G. Hickman, Messrs. Th. Grant, Selley, T. F. King and W. G. Brown, the organist and the ladies who provided tea. This was carried with acclamation.

Ringing, ranging up to Treble Bob Royal, London Surprise Major and various Minor methods, took place at Bath Abbey, Twerton and St. Mark's.

ST. MARTIN'S GUILD.

VISIT TO THE 'VILLAGE' OF SOLIHULL.

The summer quarterly meeting of St. Martin's Guild for the Diocese of Birmingham was held at Solihull on Saturday, July 3rd. This delightful Warwickshire 'village' (with a population of some 19,000), situated about seven miles from Birmingham, although rapidly becoming modernised, still retains many of its old rural aspects. Its fine Norman church, now almost completely restored, is well worth a visit, while the peal of ten bells are a pleasure to ring. The bells were raised at 3.30, but at 4 o'clock a break was made whilst a village couple were married. The ringers entered into the spirit of the event and gave the happy couple a wedding peal as they left the church.

Tea was partaken of in the gardens of Dascombe's Cafe, and a short business meeting followed, Mr. Councillor Padden Smith being in the chair. Apologies for absence were read from the Master, Alderman J. S. Pritchett, who was away in Edinburgh, and Mr. W. O. Dowding.

A letter of appreciation and thanks was read by the secretary from the Vicar of Oldbury, acknowledging the donation of £3 5s. towards the restoration fund of Oldbury Parish Church bells. Attention was also called to the cheap editions of Mr. Ernest Morris' works.

The tower elections of Mr. Percy G. Rainey, of Aston, and Mr. C. H. Webb, of Coventry, were duly ratified, the former being congratulated on ringing his first peal of Grandsire Cinques for the Coronation.

It was decided to hold the next quarterly meeting at Coleshill, on the first Saturday in October. Arrangements for the bi-quarterly meeting were left in the hands of the Ringing Master.

The Chairman gave an interesting resume of the proceedings at the Central Council meeting at Canterbury, and recommended all ringers to read the full report appearing in 'The Ringing World.'

Mr. W. Griffin, of Walsall, referring to the dedication of the new peal of bells at the Cathedral and the broadcasting in connection with it, said he would like to congratulate the Guild and the ringers who took part on the excellence of the striking. It was a real pleasure to listen to.

A vote of thanks to Mr. Roland Bragg for making the local arrangements concluded the business, and a return was made to the tower, where further ringing was enjoyed.

BEGINNING YOUNG.

J. G. Davidson, aged eleven, of Mitcham, Surrey, rang his first quarter-peal on Sunday, July 11th, for evensong. This was 1,260 Grandsire Triples: J. G. Davidson 1, W. S. Smith 2, W. H. Joiner 3, H. Tourle 4, R. Charge 5, C. Potheary (conductor) 6, C. W. R. Grimwood 7, W. Sparkes 8.

BELFERY GOSSIP.

A Bristol paper last week recorded what it truly described as a 'fine feat of ringing at Burrington'—if it had been correct. 'Burrington ringers,' it said, 'gave a special quarter-peal Grandshire Doubles at Burrington Parish Church on Sunday. The peal, comprising 95,040 changes, was rung in 40 minutes.' The black is ours.

Latest to the ranks of octogenarian ringers is Mr. Thomas Wick, of Shildon, Durham, who was admitted to this select circle on June 28th. A complimentary peal to him was rung five days later.

Mr. William Dudley has just completed 50 years' service as a ringer at Prittwell, Essex, and a peal of Cambridge Surprise in his honour was rung on Saturday. The veteran took part and rang the treble.

Mr. Kenneth Lewis, who conducted the peal of Minor in 73 methods, rang his first peal of Grandshire Triples on Saturday. This will seem upside down to ringers of the old school.

There is to be a two days' ringing tour by motor in Herts and Essex on July 24th and 25th. There are a few vacant seats. See notice columns.

THE COLLEGE YOUTHS' TERCENTENARY.

To the Editor.

Sir,—May I, through your columns, bring to the attention of country members of the Ancient Society of College Youths the suggestion that they should in their several districts arrange for bands to ring at least one peal for the society during the current year? The most appropriate days for such peals would naturally be November 5th or 6th, though these dates may not be convenient for such members as intend to come to London for the annual feast.

It would be desirable that notice should be given beforehand of the reason for peals so arranged through the local Press, the Parish Magazine or otherwise.

EDWIN H. LEWIS, Master.

Brasted, Kent.

MR. EDWARD WHITBREAD.

DEATH OF FORMER RINGER AT ST. ALBANS ABBEY.

We regret to announce the death of Mr. Edward Whitbread, who passed away at the age of 69 on June 26th at the Royal Bucks Hospital, Aylesbury. Mr. Whitbread will perhaps be best remembered as a prominent figure in Hertfordshire ringing circles in the years prior to the war.

He commenced his ringing career as a young man at his birthplace, Hanslope, Bucks, and in 1899 he became a member of the St. Albans Cathedral Society, of which he was conductor for many years. A member of the Ancient Society of College Youths since 1900, his name is to be seen on peal boards in many counties.

Since 1924 Mr. Whitbread lived at Stoke Mandeville, near Aylesbury, where for a time he took an active part in local ringing affairs. In recent years he was content to keep in touch with things through the medium of 'The Ringing World,' but his keen interest remained until the end.

The bells of St. Mary's Church, Stoke Mandeville, were rung half-muffled by his friends in the local band.

50 YEARS A RINGER.

PRESENTATION TO VETERAN PRITTEWELL RINGER.

A gold medallion fashioned in the shape of a circlet, enclosing a bell inscribed 'The Essex Association of Change Ringers—The Parish Church of Prittwell—Presented to William Dudley after 50 years' service, June 28th, 1937,' has been presented to Mr. William Dudley, who has completed 50 years as a change ringer. The presentation was made by the Vicar (Canon E. N. Gowing) in the presence of the ringers and members of the Parochial Council. After the presentation the bells were fired and Queen's and Tittums were rung.

Mr. Dudley was for some years secretary of the tower. He has rung 100 peals, 52 of which were rung in his own tower. His list of peals is of interest: Cambridge Royal 1, Oxford Treble Bob Royal 1, Kent Treble Bob Royal 7, Granta Royal 1, Oxford and Kent Royal 1, Stedman Caters 2, Grandshire Caters 5, Bob Royal 4, Cambridge Major 2, Superlative Major 2, Oxford Treble Bob Major 6, Kent Treble Bob Major 21, Bob Major 20, Bob Triples 1, Stedman Triples 3, Grandshire Triples 8, Double Norwich 13, Minor peals 2, total 100.

ADMIRATION OF THE EXERCISE.

To the Editor.

Sir,—I would very much like to be allowed to endorse all the remarks of your correspondent under the above heading which appeared in your last issue concerning the band who rang the spliced peal of Minor at Fairfield, Buxton. Having had the privilege of ringing in several peals (not spliced) with this wonderful band, I would add that their activities are not confined to six-bell ringing. They are equally as capable on eight, ten or twelve bells; their versatility is really amazing.

It is not my intention here to laud any particular member of this band, but to extend my hearty appreciation to the lot of them. That they may have 'more power to their elbows' is the wish of

'BUSMAN'S HOLIDAYS.'SHEFFIELD CATHEDRAL COMPANY'S OUTING.

On Saturday, June 26th, the Sheffield Cathedral company, with a few invited friends, had their annual outing when they visited Selby Abbey, Howden and Goole. Travelling by motor-bus, Selby Abbey was reached at 3 p.m., where the party were met by their old friend, Mr. F. Cryer, and Mr. H. S. Morley, the genial secretary for the Eastern Division of the Yorkshire Association. The bells were raised in peal and some good touches of Forward Royal and Stedman Caters duly brought round. As time did not permit of a lengthy stay, the bells were lowered and thanks tendered to Messrs. Cryer and Morley.

On reaching Howden, some ten miles away, the visitors were met by the secretary, Mr. J. W. Thompson, and several of the local ringers, who kindly had everything ready. More touches of Forward and Stedman were the order on this lovely peal of eight (tenor 23 cwt.), and it was with reluctance that the visitors were compelled to leave them in order to comply with the programme. The bells are a beautiful peal and certainly rank as one of the finest toned and best going in the North. They are a real delight to the ringer with a musical ear.

A short run of four miles via Boothferry Bridge brought the party to Goole, where tea was enjoyed at Messrs. Hockforth's Cafe. Steps were then immediately turned to the tower, where an old friend in Mr. Joe Drake and others were waiting to receive the visitors. Here again Forward and Stedman were indulged in on the light peal of eight for about an hour, when the bells were lowered in peal, everyone being satisfied.

By the kindness of Mr. Drake, who acted as guide, an enjoyable hour was spent in looking round the docks and shipping before making the return journey, which was completed by 11 p.m.

Thus ended a most enjoyable and ideal half-day's outing, and warmest thanks are tendered to all the Vicars for the use of their bells and to the ringers concerned for having everything in readiness.

Readers will probably notice that only two methods were rung throughout the trip. These were not the full repertoire of the company, but specially chosen as the best to hear the tenors in and out in short touches for the ringers' own satisfaction, also with a view to good striking, and thus avoiding that tendency to bad rhythm when a number of more complicated methods are attempted on strange bells.

BURTON-ON-TRENT DISTRICT'S 'OVERFLOW.'

So popular has the Burton District annual outing become that the usual 20-seater coach was found to be totally inadequate for the excursion on Saturday, July 10th, and two cars had to be used to convey the 'overflow.'

The first call was Hoar Cross, and here the heavy peal was soon ringing out to a touch of Bob Minor, followed by Kent Treble Bob and some Grandsire Doubles for the learners, while the rest of the party looked round this beautiful church.

The journey was continued via Sudbury and Cubley to Ashbourne, where 40 sat down to tea at the Corner Cafe.

This was followed by an hour's ringing on the Parish Church bells. The long draught of rope (70ft.) made them difficult to handle, and as a result the ringing was not all that could be desired.

The final halt was made at Rochester, where touches of Grandsire Triples, Doubles and Bob Major were rung on a handy peal of eight.

The homeward journey was made via Sudbury and Tutbury, Burton being reached after a most enjoyable afternoon.

The party wish to thank all incumbents for the use of the bells, and Mr. Bull (Ashbourne) and Mr. Bullock (Rochester) for other arrangements made on their behalf.

SUNDERLAND RINGERS VISIT NORTH YORKSHIRE.

The quaint old seaside resort of Whitby, and the beautiful moorland village of Pickering were selected for the annual outing this year of the ringers of St. Ignatius', Sunderland, and the choice proved to be a very happy one, resulting in one of the most enjoyable of the society's many outings. So many friends wished to accompany the party that the Vicar's motor-car had to be requisitioned in addition to the fine 32-seater saloon bus.

Leaving Sunderland shortly after 8.30, a stop was made at the beautiful village of Ormesby, where Mr. Thomas Metcalfe, president of the Cleveland Association, joined the excursionists, and touches of Stedman and Cambridge were rung on the very fine bells.

A further stop was made at Guisborough, and then a lovely run over the Yorkshire Moors led to Whitby. Dinner awaited the party, and the remainder of the afternoon was spent by the non-ringers in examining both the ancient and the modern parts of this interesting little town, while the ringers and a few stalwarts climbed the 199 steps of the tower of the ancient Parish Church of St. Mary, which has a good peal of ten bells. Stedman Caters was attempted, but as the majority had little experience in ten-bell ringing, the result, at any rate from the ringers' point of view, was not very satisfactory.

A move was next made towards Pickering, through Ruswarp and Sleights, and up the famous Blue Bank amid lovely moorland scenery.

Arriving at the destination, it was found that the caterers had had to arrange for the use of the Wesleyan Schoolroom for tea for the large party. Full justice was done to the meal, and a very happy hour was spent in listening to a message from the late Vicar of St. Ignatius', now Bishop of New Guinea; a cheery speech from Canon E. Sykes, another former Vicar now in retirement at Ripon, and also from Mr. Harry Blakey, a member of the Guild who emigrated to Canada with his family 25 years ago and is now on a short visit to the old country. A cablegram was afterwards sent to the Bishop of New Guinea conveying greetings to him.

The visitors would have liked to spend a much longer time in this lovely village, but they had to leave for home, via Helmsley and Stokesley, at 7 p.m., and a tired but very happy party arrived in Sunderland shortly after 10.30 p.m.

PETERBOROUGH DIOCESAN GUILD.DAVENTRY BRANCH OUTING.

Members of the Daventry Branch and their friends, together with several ringers from the Guilsborough Branch, enjoyed a pleasant afternoon's outing on June 12th. The first stop was at West Haddon, with a peal of five bells, where they were met and welcomed by the Vicar, the Rev. A. C. Hooper. From there to Welford, where they were joined by the local secretary, Mr. G. Hollick, and others. Here Grandsire Triples were rung on a nice peal of eight with a tenor of 12½ cwt. The Vicar (the Rev. F. C. Woodhouse) looked in for a short time.

At Kibworth Beauchamp a number of the parochial ringers awaited the visitors, and joined in touches in various methods on a fine ring of eight, with a tenor apparently far more than its recorded weight of 10½ cwt. At tea the thanks of the party were offered to Mr. Martin, who had gone to much trouble in making the arrangements.

After tea a hasty return was made to the tower by a few enthusiastic Major ringers, but half-way through the first touch the treble rope broke—possibly a judgment for having overstepped the time limit. A stop was next made at the old church of Foxton, where the Vicar (the Rev. W. E. Cary) explained some of the interesting features of his church. The six bells seemed rather overdone with the weight of their ropes. At Maidwell was found a very nice ring of six, and some good touches of Minor, including Cambridge, and Doubles were brought round. The last call was at Hazellieach, a tiny village with a ring of eight bells and a beautifully kept churchyard. A tired but happy bus load parted company at Daventry just before 10 p.m., full of enthusiasm for another outing next year.

(Reports of other Outings will appear in due course).

A YORKSHIRE RINGING CONTEST.

LIVERSEDGE WIN BARNESLEY SHIELD COMPETITION.

There were nine entries for the annual shield contest of the Barnesley and District Society, held at Cawthorne on Saturday, July 10th. The teams rang in the following order: 1 Liversedge; 2 Sandal 'B'; 3 Holmfirth; 4 Shelly; 5 Wath; 6 Sandal 'A'; 7 Felkirk; 8 Friezland; 9 New Mill. Ringing commenced at about 3 o'clock, and Mr. J. R. Brearley, of Bolsterstone, and Mr. W. Idle, of Dewsbury, acted as judges, with Mr. C. Robinson, of Cawthorne, as marker. Later tea was served in the Spencer Arms, a company of about 80 sitting down. After the usual routine business had been disposed of, the judges gave their decision as follows: Liversedge, 30 faults; Sandal 'B', 229 faults; Holmfirth, 66 faults, 10 penalties, rung out; Shelly, 131 faults; Wath, 154 faults, 5 penalties; Sandal 'A', 106 faults, 5 penalties; Felkirk, 165 faults; Friezland, 53 faults, 10 penalties; New Mill, 81 faults.

Liversedge, therefore, became the holders of the shield and winners of six cases of fruit spoons. Friezland took second prizes, consisting of six cases of carvers, and New Mill third prizes, comprising six rose bowls.

The prizes were presented by Mrs. Jarman, of Cawthorne, who also offered a few comforting words to those who had not been successful. The usual vote of thanks concluded the proceedings.

MIDLAND COUNTIES ASSOCIATION.

SUCCESSFUL GENERAL MEETING AT BOLSOVER.

A quarterly meeting of the Midland Counties Association was held at Bolsover, Derbyshire, on June 19th, when in the splendidly kept belfry the bells were kept going to various standard and Surprise methods by a good company of members and friends from Burton, Derby, Chesterfield, Hinckley, Leicester, Loughborough, Nottingham and elsewhere.

The general meeting took place after tea, presided over by Mr. E. Denison Taylor (president), supported by the Rev. Canon J. E. Paget (Vicar), Mr. W. E. White (treasurer) and Mr. Ernest Morris (general hon. secretary). The president, in his own inimitable way, gave a review of the past quarter's peals and other items of the association's activities. He specially commented on the Coronation peals rung, noting in particular the first peal of Stedman Cinques on the newly-restored and augmented bells of Leicester Cathedral; also the excellent performance of the Wigston Magna band on their spliced peal of Major in seven Surprise methods. He thanked the Vicar for the use of the bells and for his presence at their meeting, and Mr. Flint for the arrangements made.

The Rev. Canon Paget, responding, said how pleased he was to welcome the association to Bolsover. He added that all would be delighted to see their leader, Mr. John Flint, amongst them again restored to health after a trying illness, and trusted he would long remain to keep up interest in the art at Bolsover.

Referring to the Central Council meeting at Canterbury, both Mr. J. H. Swinfield and Mr. A. J. Harris said that after the excellent reports in 'The Ringing World' they could add very little comment. However, both gave very interesting reviews of various items raised at that meeting.

New members, proposed since the last meeting, viz., 18 ringing, 3 honorary, 5 rejoins, 1 life, were duly elected.

This concluded a successful meeting and further ringing terminated a good afternoon's enjoyment.

The next quarterly meeting will be at Burbage, near Hinckley, in September.

NORTH STAFFORDSHIRE ASSOCIATION.

SEVEN FIRST PEAL CERTIFICATES PRESENTED.

A meeting of the North Staffordshire Association was held at Draycott on July 3rd. Twenty-nine members and friends were present from Burslem, Brown Edge, Braintree, Cheadle, Draycott, Kingsley, Longton, Norton, Newcastle and Stoke-on-Trent.

A service was held, which was conducted by the Rev. C. Codling (Rector of Draycott). At the commencement of the service all present stood in silence for a minute in memory of those who had been killed in the mine disaster at Newcastle-under-Lyme. Tea was held in the schoolroom, where a hearty welcome was extended to all by the Rector.

A vote of thanks was proposed by Mr. C. Steele, of Longton, seconded by Mr. G. Hall, of Brown Edge, to the Rector and ringers for the use of the bells and the very warm welcome extended to them.

Seven first peal certificates were presented to ringers of Draycott, Longton and Burslem by the Rector of Draycott. One new member, Mr. A. Griffiths, of Newcastle, was brought forward for confirmation, as he was proposed prior to a peal.

A short report was read by Mr. J. E. Wheeldon on Coronation peals rung for the association, which number ten, and the one rung at Norton was the earliest peal on record for the association; the starting time was 6.30 a.m. on Wednesday, May 12th.

Two of the peals were rung at unaffiliated towers, being Keele and Madeley, and both were rung by the ringers of Newcastle-under-Lyme.

GUILDFORD GUILD FESTIVAL.

SUMMER GATHERING AT EPSOM.

The summer festival of the Guildford Diocesan Guild was held at Epsom on Saturday and was attended by nearly sixty ringers representing all the districts of the Guild. The ten bells of St. Martin's—the parish church—were fully employed during the afternoon and evening, but the ringing did not reach a consistently high standard. However, everyone enjoyed a pull and spent a very pleasant time.

The Guild's service was conducted by the curate (the Rev. J. H. McKitterick) in the absence of the Vicar (Canon Muir), who was away on holidays, and the singing was led by the choirboys.

Afterwards tea was partaken of in the Church House, the catering being very efficiently done by ladies of the congregation.

The thanks of the Guild to all concerned were voiced by the hon. secretary (Mr. J. S. Goldsmith), who also extended a warm welcome to the visitors, who included Mr. H. H. Fearn, of Birmingham, and Mr. E. F. Pike, of London.

Before the ringers returned to the tower they were entertained by the Misses S. and G. Harman to pianoforte and violin duets; the Cobham men rang tunes on handbells, while Stedman Triples 'in hand' was also rung. Later several of the company visited the neighbouring tower of Ewell.

The back eight of the peal at Epsom are a mixed eighteenth century lot, two of them by Phelps, 1714, being the oldest. Thomas Janaway, of Chelsea, recast the original treble in 1781 and put on it the inscription, 'Musica est mentis medicina' (Music is medicine for the mind). The old second, undated, bears the couplet, 'Although I am but small, I will be heard above them all.' Samuel Knight recast the third and tenor in 1737, Richard Phelps the seventh in 1733, and Thomas Swain the sixth in 1769.

STRAWBERRY TEA AT FRENESHAM.

The strawberry and cream teas provided by Mrs. Collingwood Bruce, president of the Southern Branch of the Ladies' Guild, are well known among ringers. A company of 73 enjoyed her hospitality at a joint meeting of the Ladies' Guild and Farnham Branch of the Guildford Diocesan Guild at Frenesham on June 26th. She was heartily thanked for her hospitality by Mr. C. W. Denyer, and, in responding, Mrs. Bruce invited everyone to come again next year, when they would have 'one more strawberry all round.'

Mrs. Bruce afterwards presided at the 18th annual meeting for the Southern District of the Ladies' Guild. The Guild welcomed Mrs. Welton back as a member after a few years' absence. Mrs. Bruce was unanimously re-elected vice-president and again heartily thanked for all she had done for the Guild. The secretary and committee were all re-elected. It was decided to hold the next annual meeting in conjunction with the most convenient Guildford diocesan district meeting.

Eleven towers were represented, viz.: Ash, Seale, Bagshot, Farnham, Aldershot, Bramley (Hants), Crondall, Blackmoor, Cranleigh, Overton and Frenesham.

The service in the afternoon was fully choral and was conducted by the Rev. W. E. Palling. The Farnham District also held a short business meeting and elected Mr. E. Overington, of Frenesham, a member. Ringing was supervised by Miss H. F. Mills (hon. secretary of the Ladies' Guild).

THREE GUILDS MEET.

TRIPLE GATHERING AT NEWARK.

The Ladies' Guild, Sherwood Youths and North Notts Association combined for the afternoon of July 3rd and visited the Church of St. Mary Magdalene, Newark, where the ten (tenor 33 cwt.) were at their disposal from 3 to 4.15 p.m. and again from 6.30 to 8 p.m. This fine peal attracted ringers from Anstey (near Leicester), Barnby, Bottesford, Collingham, Hough-on-the-Hill, Lincoln Cathedral, St. Peter's, Mansfield, St. Mary's, Nottingham, Ordsall, Sutton-on-Trent, and the home tower was well represented. Miss I. B. Thompson, joint secretary of the Ladies' Guild (Northern District) acted as Ringing Master, and all had good opportunity to ring what they wanted. Stedman and Grandsire Caters and Triples, Bob Royal, Cambridge Major were all rung, and, for a mixed company, rung well except for two unfortunate courses of Caters, which were very patchy.

Tea was taken at 4.15, votes of thanks to the Vicar and home ringers passed and a few courses rung on handbells before the return to the tower for a course of Grandsire Caters for evensong. Everyone attended evensong in the chapel behind the altar. Canon A. Parkinson, in a short address, welcomed the ringers to his church and spoke highly of the work they do in others and in that church. He recalled the faithfulness of the ringers of the church he had recently left, East Retford, and also, at Newark, the sight on November 11th, 1918. The proclamation of peace was read and immediately afterwards the ringers commenced to ring the bells; before they had been ringing half an hour this church was packed with 3,000 people, although no notice of any service had been given. He felt that those ringers were responsible for that great service, and wished those present success in their very real part in the church's work.

Afterwards ringing continued, as did the arrival of visitors, and finally came to a conclusion at 8 o'clock with a well-struck touch of Stedman Triples. This was the first time for some years that a meeting had been held at Newark, and it proved to be very enjoyable. It is hoped to pay more frequent visits to this tower in the future.

BEENHAM BELLS REHUNG.SOME INTERESTING REMINISCENCES.

About 55 ringers attended the public opening of the newly-hung bells at Beenham, the occasion also being the summer meeting of the Newbury Branch of the Oxford Diocesan Guild. The work was carried out by Messrs. Gillett and Johnston, and Mr. C. F. Johnston was among those present. The towers represented were Beenham, Bucklebury, Beedon, Chieveley, Hampstead Norris, Newbury, Thatcham, East Ilsley and Compton. In addition, many visitors attended from Croydon, Hillingdon and Willesden, Twyford, Reading, Oxford, Chearsley, Overton, Abingdon and Bradfield. Short touches in various methods were rung, including Grandsire, Plain Bob, Stedman, Treble Bob and Surprise methods.

At the service the address was given by the Deputy Master, the Rev. C. E. Wigg, who spoke of Beenham's long association with the Oxford Guild, mentioning the names of Hatto, the first foreman, and Richardson, whose families have carried on the good work through the years since the tower's affiliation to the Oxford Guild in 1886. Though no ringers of the name of Hatto remain in the village, the Richardsons are still represented in the tower by Mr. Ted Richardson, a regular ringer for Sunday services. Mention was also made of the history of the bells, which in 1800 were destroyed by fire. They were recast by the celebrated Whitechapel firm and have been rehung once since that date till the present occasion.

Following the service an inspection of the new bell frame was invited, the bells having been lowered for that purpose. Many ringers, including several ladies, undertook the long climb up the ladders, and with Mr. Johnston in charge spent an interesting time among the bells.

Tea was prepared by Mr. and Mrs. W. Hamblin in the Victory Hall. The members were the guests of the Vicar and Mr. Cyril Johnston, their hospitality being greatly appreciated.

At the business meeting which followed, the branch chairman (the Rev. W. Kingsley Kefford) presided, supported by the branch hon. secretary (Mr. H. W. Curtis). The autumn meeting was fixed for September 4th at Bucklebury. Votes of thanks were accorded the Vicar and Deputy Master for the service, to Mrs. Howes for her services at the organ, and to the Vicar and Mr. Cyril Johnston for generously providing the tea. In responding, the Vicar spoke of the form of service to be adopted for ringers' meetings. He also spoke on the financial aspect of the restoration work done, pointing out that, though the Newbury Branch had so far received no monetary benefit from the transference of the Beenham tower from the Bradfield Branch, yet they had generously contributed £33s. towards the appeal. Mr. T. Hibbert, general organising secretary, recalled memories of Beenham's early ringing days, expressing the Guild's appreciation of their 41 years' loyalty to the Bradfield Deanery Branch. The meeting closed with thanks to the chairman for presiding, and ringing continued till 9 p.m.

RESTORATION OF HARSTON BELLS.NEW COMPANY OF RINGERS FORMED.

A very successful meeting of the Ely Branch of the Ely Diocesan Association was held at Harston on Saturday, July 10th. During the afternoon and evening about 40 ringers were present to try the bells, which have just been restored and augmented to a ring of six by Messrs. J. Taylor and Co.

Of the four old bells, three have been incorporated in the new peal. The old tenor, a sixteenth century bell by Austen Bracker, has been preserved and is now standing on a pedestal in the tower.

The other three old bells have been recast, a new tenor about 24 cwt. and two new trebles having been added. The peal has been rehung in a new steel frame and are now a nice handy and musical little ring.

On Saturday the Vicar, the Rev. P. G. Ward, gave a hearty welcome to the visiting ringers. He conducted the service, at which quite a number of parishioners were present, and afterwards entertained the ringers to tea.

The bells were first heard on Sunday, July 4th, the first 720, Bob Minor, being rung for evening service by C. W. Cook 1, A. E. Austin 2, F. G. Gleaves 3, W. Winter 4, F. Warrington (conductor) 5, J. W. Ward 6. For morning service on Sunday, July 11th, 720 London Surprise was rung by R. Lathbury 1, F. G. Gleaves 2, B. Wayman 3, C. W. Cook 4, F. Warrington (conductor) 5, E. H. Finch 6.

A local company of ringers is being formed and many recruits are showing great enthusiasm. It is to be hoped that one result of some years of labour by the Vicar and parishioners may be the establishment of a good local band.

FOR BEGINNERS.TOUCHES OF GRANDSIRE TRIPLES.

Having got an insight into the working of the bells in their coursing, the beginner can go on to the bob calling. He will probably have observed that a bob cuts out one plain dodging place so that, for example, instead of dodging in 5-4 (down) in the lead after making 3rd's place, a bob causes him to stop in 7-6 (down) and have a double instead of a single dodge.

If he is calling the bobs by the fixed positions of Wrong (7-6 down), Home (6-7 up), Middle (4-5 up), In (into the hunt), Out (out of the hunt) or Before (3rd's place), he must be prepared for this omission. Wrong will come in the lead after 3rd's; Home in the lead after 5-4 (down); Middle in the lead after 7-6 down; In, the lead after 6-7 up; but Before comes in the lead after 4-5 up, because it is the one position that a bob does not affect. The 'Out' comes at any given number of leads from the time the bell is called In; and obviously no other call can be inserted between an In and an Out.

The time to call the bob is when the treble is in 3rd's place on the way down. That may not be easy to observe, but, if you have mastered the ropesight of coursing, you will readily see the bell hunting down immediately in front of the treble. The call is made when that bell begins to lead. As a help you can remember, also, that the call comes as you arrive in your dodging place, or, if you are going into the hunt yourself, immediately you leave the lead.

As a simple beginning you can try any of the following touches:—

- 3, 5, 6 or 4 called Middle three times.
- 3, 5, 7 or 6 called Wrong three times.
- 3, 5, 7 or 4 called Home three times.
- 7, 6 or 4 called In and Out (next lead) three times.
- 2 called Out and In three times.

Here are 18 different ways of calling a touch of 168.

You can extend these by calling a single for the last bob, and then repeating the whole, except in the case of the 2nd Out and In, when the Single should be called at the last Out. This use of singles doubles the length of the touch.

Other touches of 336 can be got by using the calling of the 7th In and Out and the 6th In and Out in any combination of three courses repeated. Thus:—

7th In and Out twice, 6th In and Out once, repeated.

6th In and Out twice, 7th In and Out once, repeated.

For brevity these might be indicated by the figures 7.7.6 repeated and 6.6.7 repeated. Other combinations which beginners can work out for themselves are 7.6.7; 6.7.7; 6.7.6; and 6.6.7.

Many longer touches can be made up by the same process, but ringers who work out their own must not overlook the risk of repetition. It would be good practice to write out the lead-ends of the touches, and these can be produced by the following transpositions: 253746 for a plain lead; 752634 for a bob lead. If no singles are used, the touch is true if none of the lead-ends repeat.

SUCCESSFUL PEAK MEETING.

The Ashover meeting of the Peak District Society, held on June 26th, was extremely successful. A very fine afternoon brought about 30 members and friends together, and some good ringing was enjoyed by all on this recently rehung peal of eight. Everyone voted the 'go' as excellent, and gave Messrs. Taylor, of Loughborough, credit for another splendid piece of work. Towers represented were Derby, Dore, Ashover, Matlock, Darley Dale, Sheffield, with friends from Stoke-on-Trent. Touches were rung in the usual standard methods and a good course of Cambridge brought round.

WEDDING BELLS.MARRIAGE OF MR. A. H. HUGHES, OF BRADFORD.

At Holy Trinity Church, Low Moor, Bradford, on June 19th, the marriage took place of Miss Phyllis Boyes, younger daughter of Mrs. Boyes, of Wesley Place, Low Moor, and the late Mr. George Boyes, to Mr. Albert Henry Hughes, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert J. Hughes, of Green Lane, Wyke, Bradford.

The Vicar of the Holy Trinity Church, which is the Wibsey Parish Church, officiated and suitable music was played by the organist of the church.

The bride, who was given away by her brother, Mr. William Boyes, was attired in a dress of white ivory satin, an embroidered veil and coronet and carried a bouquet of red roses. She was attended by her sister, Evelyn, and two younger bridesmaids, the Misses Gladwys and Freda Middleton.

Liversedge Parish Church ringers celebrated the occasion by 'firing' the bells and ringing touches of Kent Treble Bob Major and Double Norwich Major.

Mr. Albert J. Hughes is well known amongst ringers in North Wales, Yorkshire and the Midlands, whilst his son, Mr. Albert H. Hughes, and Mr. William Boyes are local ringers.

A quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples, from Holt's Ten-Part, was rung at Rotherfield, Sussex, in honour of the wedding of Mr. F. R. Moberly and Miss P. M. Huddart on Saturday, June 19th: J. Lovell 1, H. Hammond 2, R. Mitchell 3, A. F. Lowry 4, F. Hammond 5, E. Bishop, sen. 6, C. Brasier 7, F. H. Hicks 8.

DON'T SCRUB YOUR HANDS!

skin this simple way*

To many people, the problem of getting the hands really clean without harming the skin is a serious one. Grease and grime, which become deeply ingrained into the pores of the skin, are extremely difficult to remove, and ordinary washing with soap or even scrubbing will fail to remove them completely. Housewives, particularly, who complain that their hands get ruined by the nature of their work, will find the preparation called DERMAFOAM, a real "godsend." DERMAFOAM just smooths away dirt and grease without effort. It gets right down into the pores and removes every particle of grime, leaving skin beautifully supple and healthy.

Men, too—when you've finished that dirty job on the car, DERMAFOAM will quickly banish all grease and oil from your hands. It acts almost magically—working under and around the nails and into every minute crease, removing all trace of dirt in a flash.

Engineers, Painters, Car Mechanics, Printers — everyone — will welcome DERMAFOAM, the modern method of cleansing and protecting the hands.

CHESTER GUILD'S JUBILEE.

The Chester Diocesan Guild now joins the list of ringing organisations which have attained the honourable distinction of celebrating their jubilee, and they have marked it in a highly commendable way. The Guild have presented two new treble bells to the mother church of the diocese and no more fitting commemoration of the auspicious event could have been adopted. Moreover, the jubilee happily coincides with the year of the Coronation of King George and Queen Elizabeth and the gift to the Cathedral has enabled this royal occasion also to be commemorated.

The enlargement of a ring of bells is always interesting, but it cannot always be said that an increase to ten or twelve bells adds to the satisfying qualities of a peal. In the case of Chester, however, the heavy bells, which have been in the Cathedral for just 70 years, have metal more than sufficient to justify the step that has been taken.

The Exercise will extend its congratulations to the Chester Guild upon reaching its jubilee and upon its method of commemorating it. When it was founded it filled a gap in a corner of the country bordered by the Midland Counties and the Lancashire Associations where no organisation existed, and took up the good work which, by that time, had spread nearly throughout the country. The advantages of this form of organisation among ringers was rapidly becoming realised among those who recognised the need for belfry reform, not altogether from the point of view of the conduct of ringers, but in order to link bell ringing with service to the Church. In the middle of last century very little of the ringing that was done was practised with the higher motives which it is the aim of the associations to foster—a point which to-day is sometimes lost sight of, because the ringer's part as a member of the church organisation is now largely taken for granted.

Ringling in those days was usually regarded as a pastime, or from a mercenary standpoint albeit the 'loaves and fishes' were small. It was the growing desire of those who felt that church bell ringing should stand on a higher plane, that led to the formation of the county and diocesan associations. The movement began from within the ranks of the ringers themselves, and it is to the credit of the 'reformers' of those days that the network of societies, which now covers the country, was established. The service which these associations and guilds have rendered to the Church and to the cause of ringing cannot be over-estimated. Much of what they set out to achieve has been accomplished, although, strangely enough, recognition by the clergy of the place which ringers should take in church organisation was one of the last things realised in some places. Ringers have to thank the pioneers of fifty or sixty years ago for the position they hold to-day and the facilities which they now enjoy for the furtherance of their art.

PEAL NOTES.

PERFORMANCES AND PERSONALITIES.

There were great rejoicings in Wales on the occasion of their Majesties' tour of the Principality last week. Two peals were rung in connection with the visit. One was Grandsire Caters at Cardiff, which not only celebrated the Royal visit, but also the King and Queen's Coronation, in honour of which latter event a previous attempt failed.

The Rev. G. J. Richards, Master of the Llandaff and Monmouth Association, was one of the band who took part in a peal of Minor at Llanfrechfa, Mon., on July 14th, when the King and Queen visited Newport. Four of the ringers had helped earlier to ring the bells at All Saints' Church, Newport, at the coming of their Majesties to the borough.

Members of St. Martin's Guild for the Diocese of Birmingham have rung the first peal of Cambridge Surprise Royal in the county of Shropshire, at Coalbrookdale. The Guild has made quite an interesting 'collection' of 'firsts' in the past. Some that we can recall are the first Surprise peal rung out of England (at Bray, Ireland), the first Surprise peal in Wales, the first true peal of Treble Ten in Ireland, the first twelve-bell peal in Devon (at Exeter), and the first peal on the sea (crossing from Dublin to Holyhead).

A half-muffled memorial peal to the miners who lost their lives in the pit disaster at Brymbo Colliery, Chesterton, Staffs, has been rung at Longton.

Mr. James T. Stevens, a member of the band at St. John the Baptist's Church, Erith, was married on Saturday to Miss Irene Eva Medhurst and a peal of Stedman Triples was rung in honour of the event. The bride and bridegroom kindly entertained the band to tea after the peal, and a toast to their future health and happiness, coupled with good wishes, was drunk.

Mr. John W. Carter, no relation, by the way, to the inventor of the ringing machine, but an enthusiastic member of the Farnham District of the Guildford Diocesan Guild, is leaving the district, much to the regret of his many friends. A farewell peal of Minor (Mr. Carter's first of Treble Bob) was rung at Seale, to which church he has been attached. Mr. Carter is going to Coleman's Hatch, Sussex.

Sussex will gain another ringer by the removal to Horsham of Mr. Sydney Taylor, who is shortly leaving Chelmsford. On July 7th a farewell peal of Stedman Triples was rung at Boreham, Essex.

At Crayford, Kent, the first peal of Painswick College Bob Major (No. 44 in the C.C. Collection) was rung on July 16th. There are many interesting plain methods in this collection and we would like to see more of them rung. By the way, Crayford has often been the tower for 'first peals,' and E. A. Barnett is following in Grandpa's footsteps in calling new things.

What is believed to be the first peal in seven Surprise methods in the Eastern Branch of the Lincoln Diocesan Guild rung by branch members was scored at Benington on July 10th. Two ladies took part and it was the first peal in seven Surprise methods by all the band.

The peal of Kent Treble Bob Major rung at Great Baddow, Essex, on July 17th, was specially arranged for Miss Sylvia R. E. Bowyer, one of the brilliant young lady ringers of St. Mary-le-Tower company, Ipswich.

Messrs. Gillett and Johnston recently overhauled the bells at Llanfihangel Rhydythor, Radnorshire, and added a new treble to make a ring of six. The first peal was rung on them on Sunday, July 11th. The method was Grandsire Doubles.

The peal of Grandsire Triples rung at Aberavon on July 16th was arranged for Mr. Howard Howell, who was on a visit to South Wales from Walsall, Staffs. It was also a birthday compliment to Mr. F. E. Stone.

The Norwich Diocesan Association has peals in a great variety of methods in its records, but it was not until last week that a peal of Oxford Bob Major was added. It was rung at Wymondham and was the first peal in the method by all the band.

The peal of Bob Major at Mayfield, Sussex, on July 10th, was rung after an attempt, lasting 20 minutes, for a peal of Oxford Treble Bob.

REDEDICATION OF CRICKLADE BELLS.

ROPES AMONG THE CHOIR STALLS.

The bells of St. Sampson's Church, Cricklade, Wilts, have been recently restored by Messrs. Taylor and Co., and were rededicated by the Bishop of Bristol on July 5th. The bells, a 'left-handed' ring of five, with a tenor of about 15 cwt., have been rehung on ball bearings with all new fittings, and the 4th, which was badly cracked, has been recast and the other bells tuned.

The service was conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. S. W. L. Richards), the lessons being read by Sir Percy Laurie. Immediately after the Bishop's prayer of rededication, the bells were chimed in rounds for a few minutes, it being impossible to ring owing to the ropes falling among the choir stalls. After the service the bells were raised in peal, and the opening touch, three courses of Bob Singles and 120 of Grandsire Doubles, was rung by C. J. Gardner 1, E. J. Berry 2, W. H. Trueman 3, H. W. Bishop 4, W. B. Kynaston (conductor) 5. Other ringers from Cirencester and district afterwards had a pull, and the general opinion was that the bellhangers had done their work in an excellent manner, the bells being rung very easily despite the very long draught of over 90ft. of rope. Cricklade now possesses an easy going, pleasing little ring, which were reopened practically free from debt, only £6 being required.

FOR BEGINNERS.

GRANDSIRE IN THREE-LEAD COURSES.

Some of the earliest peals of Grandsire Triples were composed on what is known as the three-lead course plan, that is a plan by which the observation bell comes back to its plain course position every third lead. Such peals are not now much in favour, principally on the ground, we believe, that the observation bell never does the whole of the work included in a plain course.

There are only three positions in which it can fall, and these are Wrong (7-6 down), Middle (4-5 up) and Before (3rd's place). The observation bell never goes into the hunt or dodges in 5-4 down or 6-7 up, and many people, therefore, look upon such peals as lacking in interest.

Nevertheless, this short-course plan provides excellent music for touches, for it is possible for instance by this means to get the full extent of 6-7 together at course-ends in a touch of only 1,008 changes.

Peals on these lines have usually the 6th as the observation bell, but the 5th or 3rd is sometimes used. If you want to keep the 6-7 together throughout your touch you must keep both these bells fixed and you do it by calling a Single at the first lead (bringing the 6th into 4-5 up and the 7th to make the long 3rd's). A three-lead course also necessitates a call to bring 6-7 together behind—it is that, indeed, which makes the three-lead course.

It is easy to call from any bell. Note the course-end, call a Single the next lead; have a plain lead when the 6th comes Before (unless your composition, as it may, provides for a Bob), and call a Bob or Single next lead as required.

When written out the calls may be noted as M., B. W., or 1, 2, 3, the figures denoting the lead of the course. Thus a touch of 168 can be written in either of the following ways:—

345267	S	—	—	345267	S	—	—
452367	S	—	—	452367	S	—	—
523467	S	—	—	523467	S	—	—
234567	S	—	—	234567	S	—	—

This touch can be doubled in length by calling a Single for either of the Bobs, and lengthened again by calling a Single for one of the other Bobs in alternate parts.

You can make up a great variety of touches for yourself, and you can get the 1,008 to which we have referred by using the following:—

423567	S	S

Repeat this five times with a Bob for Single at the end of the third and sixth parts.

If you want a 504 with twelve 6-7's, call the four course three times exactly as set out.

A very symmetrical five-part peal on this plan was composed by Thomas Thurstans, of Birmingham, for ever famous for his Four-Part peal of Stedman Triples. It is based on these four-course blocks.

In the first block a Bob at 2 (the 6th Before) is called. The rest is like the touch of 1,008. It brings up the part-end 723465, and that is one-fifth of the peal.

TROWBRIDGE RINGERS' LONG DAY'S TRIP

The ringers of the Trowbridge Parish Church, accompanied by a few friends from Bath, had their annual outing on June 20th. Starting at 7.30 a.m., they proceeded by road to Winchester, where they were met by the Cathedral ringers, who pointed out many interesting and historical features in the ancient pile. The Trowbridge men had been granted permission to ring for the morning service, and Stedman Cinques was rung on the very fine peal of twelve recently installed. These bells are a revelation of what can be achieved by the bell-founder with a modest weight. They can best be described in one word, 'Grand.'

The party afterwards proceeded to Portsmouth, staying at Cosham to take lunch. An enjoyable hour or two was spent on the sea front, and then, after tea, they arrived at St. Mary's, Portsea, where Messrs. Greenwood and Rogers were waiting to receive them. Here touches in various methods were rung for evening service on an excellent peal of eight. The splendid 'go' of the bells and the well-kept belfry were greatly admired by the visitors. The return journey was made via Southampton and Salisbury, Trowbridge being reached at 11.15 p.m. Everyone voted the long day a great success, thanks to the efficient organisation of Sam Hector and his able assistants. Thanks are also hereby accorded to all who contributed to the comfort of the party.

J. F. S.

ROYAL VISIT TO EDINBURGH.

In honour of the State Entry of their Majesties the King and Queen into the Scottish capital on Monday, July 5th, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Caters was rung at St. Mary's Cathedral by J. Middlemass 1, M. A. K. Simpson 2, H. Chandler (Royal Navy) 3, A. G. Collinson (first quarter-peal of Caters) 4, W. C. S. Heathcote 5, B. F. Vernon 6, J. Marshall 7, G. Marshall 8, C. R. Raine (conductor) 9, J. H. B. Pryde 10.

YORKSHIRE ASSOCIATION.A USEFUL PRACTICE MEETING AT HEDON.

A meeting of the Eastern District of the Yorkshire Association was held at Hedon on Saturday, July 17th. The fine peal of eight and the large, cool belfry were much appreciated by everyone, and some well-struck touches were brought round. The warm and close weather made the tea at the Queen's Head Hotel doubly welcome.

Mr. R. H. Vigor informed the members that the next meeting had been arranged for Bridlington on August 14th, and hoped that they would do their best to attend, as it was some time since a meeting was held there. He mentioned that though there was a very fine peal of eight at Bridlington, the bells had been neglected and there would be a good chance of doing some 'missionary' work by endeavouring to get them overhauled and put in order.

The meeting at Hedon was held especially for the practice of methods which members are unable to obtain locally owing to the great size of the district and the sparsity of towers, and besides the standard methods for the less advanced, many rang their first touches of Double Norwich, Little Bob and Oxford Treble Bob. Ringers were present from Hull, Selby, Sutton-on-Hull, Sherburn-in-Elmet, Hemingbrough, Headingley, Holbeck and Barton-upon-Humber.

MIDDLESEX COUNTY ASSOCIATION.A SIX-BELL MEETING.

The North and East District of the Middlesex County Association and London Diocesan Guild met at Hendon on Saturday, July 10th, and for a six-bell meeting there was quite a good attendance, some 32 ringers putting in an appearance.

At the business meeting Mr. A. W. Coles (Master of the association) took the chair in the absence of Mr. G. W. Fletcher (vice-president), who was attending a meeting of the Ladies' Guild at Sheffield!

Five new members were elected, and the arrangements for the next meeting left to the hon. secretary.

The usual votes of thanks were accorded to the Vicar (the Rev. N. R. Boyd) and to Messrs. Barnard and Martin and the local ringers for arrangements made.

A number of Central Council publications were on sale, and quite good business was done.

Members attended divine service at 6 p.m. immediately after the business meeting.

Ringing, under the guidance of Mr. T. J. Lock, continued until about 8.30 p.m., with Graudsire and Stedman Doubles, Bob Minor, Kent and Oxford Treble Bob, Cambridge and London Surprise, and the special method for the day, Double Stedman Slow Course!

WORCESTERSHIRE ASSOCIATION.SUCCESSFUL MEETING AT NETHERTON.

The summer meeting of the Northern Branch of the Worcestershire Association was held at Netherton, when about 50 members were present, including Mr. William Short, Master of the association. Ringing, which took place in the afternoon and evening, ranged from rounds to London Surprise Major. The Surprise methods, however, did not go too well. The bells are a peal of eight with tenor about 13 cwt., recently recast by John Taylor and Co. from an earlier peal. They are of excellent tone and 'go,' which, combined with a well-appointed ringing room, provide ideal ringing conditions.

The Vicar (the Rev. H. L. Warren) was away on holiday, but the Rev. Frank Carr, curate of Netherton and a member of the local band, took the service and made arrangements for an excellent tea in the adjoining schoolrooms.

A collection at tea, for the Belfry Repairs Fund, realised 12s., which result justified the departure from the usual practice of taking it in church during the service.

The Rev. Frank Carr presided over the business meeting which followed. The annual meeting of the branch will be at Bromsgrove in September, subject to permission being granted and the arrangements for the quarterly peal, to be rung at Netherton, were left in the hands of the Branch Ringing Master (Mr. T. Hemming), the chairman giving permission on behalf of the Vicar.

Two performing members, Mr. Tom Parsons and Mr. William Parsons, of Cradley, were elected ringing members, and a churchwarden, of Netherton, Mr. Jordan, an honorary member.

The branch secretary (Mr. J. S. Mason) drew attention to the annual dinner, which would be held at Worcester on the last Saturday in September. Although it was looking ahead for several months, he urged members to book the date and give their support.

Discussion arose over the question of travelling, and the branch secretary intimated that he was quite willing to arrange facilities if a sufficient number would guarantee to give their support. He pointed out that arrangements could be made if all names were handed in not later than the September meeting.

The meeting closed with a vote of thanks to the chairman and to all who had contributed to the success of the occasion. To this the chairman suitably replied and the members left to revisit the tower for further ringing.

His many ringing friends will be pleased to hear that Mr. Albert Prestidge, the leader of the Netherton ringers, is able to be about once more after his recent illness, and although he is not sufficiently well to take a really active part in change ringing, his interest has in no way diminished.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

Will all who intend visiting the Middlesex and Hertfordshire joint meeting on Saturday next kindly note that, owing to illness at Hadley, the meeting will be held at Barnet. Particulars are given in the usual columns.

Canon G. F. Coleridge, in his 80th year, has again accepted office, at the unanimous request of the members, as Master of the Oxford Diocesan Guild.

Recently Canon Coleridge had another accident and hurt his already damaged knee. Happily it responded to treatment and his leg is now better than it has been at any time since his first mishap. Getting downstairs is his greatest trouble.

New trebles are being added to the ring of eight at Poole to celebrate the Coronation, and it has been announced that they will be dedicated on September 25th.

Reference was made at the Central Council meeting to Leicester being the only city outside London with two rings of twelve bells. But Birmingham also has two—St. Martin's and Aston—to say nothing of others in the immediate vicinity of this Midland 'village.'

We are glad to say that Mr. Oliver Sippetts, of Crawley, who recently underwent a slight operation in hospital, is home again and making excellent progress towards recovery.

The attention of members of the Ancient Order of Foresters attending the High Court at Ipswich is directed to a notice in another column with regard to ringing at St. Mary-le-Tower Church.

Once a year a bellringers' festival is held at Coalbrookdale, Shropshire, when special sermons are preached and the offertories during the day are given to the bellringers' fund. This year's festival is fixed for Sunday next.

A party who visited Devon last week on a ringing holiday attempted one peal only each day. They rang five peals and lost one.

After ringing three hours and with only eight courses to go, an attempt on Saturday for the first peal of Stedman Cinques on the new bells at Manchester Town Hall was stopped in a peremptory manner by Lord Mayor O'Toole in person. We understand that the reason given was that a priest in a neighbouring Roman Catholic Church was unable to hear confessions, owing to the bells.

'CHANGE RINGING WITHOUT BELLS.'

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—I enclose an advertisement from the 'Church Times' which may well put ringers on their guard.

I doubt the veracity of the statement: 'A single operator can achieve elaborate change ringing without previous knowledge of campanology.' Nevertheless, many of the clergy reading this and not understanding ringing may think—

- (a) The instrument a cheap way out;
- (b) The instrument a thing of superior musical charm to badly rung bells;
- (c) The instrument capable of achieving change ringing in a perfect way.

It, therefore, behoves all campanologists to 'pull up their socks.'

Melton Mowbray.

VERNON TAYLOR.

The advertisement referred to describes the instrument as 'a carillon without bells.' It claims as its merits that it requires but a few cubic feet of space, it imposes no strain on the fabric and its cost is only a fraction of the expense entailed by a set of bells.

The statement that 'a single operator can achieve elaborate change ringing without previous knowledge of campanology' is, however, obviously absurd.

LADIES' GUILD.

MEMBERSHIP NOW THREE HUNDRED.

The annual general meeting of the Ladies' Guild was held at Handsforth, Sheffield, on Saturday, July 10th. There were 27 members present, representing all the districts with one exception.

Ringing took place in the afternoon and evening at the Parish Church, and a short service was conducted by the Rector, Canon Baker. Mrs. Baker presided at the organ.

Tea and the business meeting followed, at which the president, Miss E. Steel, took the chair. The accounts were presented and showed an excess of income over expenditure of 2s. 6d., and the hon. treasurer pointed out that if subscriptions had all been paid up to date the excess would have been considerably larger.

Miss Steel was re-elected president and Mrs. G. W. Fletcher hon. secretary and treasurer. Mrs. Deal was appointed auditor.

As the membership of the Guild had now reached 300, it was decided to send a third representative to the Central Council, and Miss Steel was unanimously elected.

A lengthy discussion then took place on the working of the districts with a view to a possible rearrangement of the areas covered, to ensure that the whole country was adequately served. A scheme was suggested by the hon. secretary, and it was agreed that details of this scheme be sent to all district secretaries for further consideration under working conditions. If found satisfactory, the slight alteration necessary to the rules will be considered at the next annual meeting, which it was decided should be held in London.

The usual votes of thanks were passed to all who had helped to make the meeting such a success.

NEW BELLS AT CHESTER CATHEDRAL.

DIOCESAN GUILD'S JUBILEE GIFT.

Dedication at Festival Service.

The jubilee festival of the Chester Diocesan Guild was held in the ancient Cathedral on Saturday, July 17th. The festival service took place in the nave, and a large congregation of ringers, citizens and visitors was present to witness a ceremony which was unique in the long history of this beautiful House of God.

The office hymn, 'Swing them gently in our towers,' was followed by the 148th and 150th Psalms, and the lessons were read by the Dean (the Very Rev. F. S. M. Bennett, D.D.) and Canon A. E. Simpson, B.D. Purcell's delightful anthem, 'Rejoice in the Lord alway,' was sung previous to an inspiring sermon by the Lord Bishop.

Following the concluding prayers, the hymn, 'When morning gilds the skies,' was begun, and after the fourth verse a pause was made while the Master of the Guild (Mr. J. W. Milner) presented to the ringers. They were Messrs. H. A. Heywood, J. Morgan, A. Smith, E. Breeze, S. Morton and I. Wood.

Mr. W. Wilcox, another original member, much regretted his inability to be present.

The business meeting followed, with the Master in the chair. The accounts were adopted. The hon. secretary's report showed that the membership of the Guild remained practically the same as in the previous year, 40 honorary members and 637 ringing members, but pointed out that several towers were still not in union. Peals numbered 77, with 163 members taking part, 18 ringing a peal for the first time. Congratulations were offered to the multi-method Minor band on their outstanding performances, and the same band was later congratulated by the meeting on their recent success, in which 73 methods were rung in a peal.

It was resolved that the first peal on the ten bells at the Cathedral should be attempted by a band representing all branches of the Guild.

CHESTER'S ANCIENT CATHEDRAL.

In the Tower of which two additional bells have been placed to celebrate the Diocesan Guild's jubilee.

Dean ropes attached to the two new trebles. Holding the ropes in his hand, the Dean said that it gave him great pleasure on behalf of the Cathedral to accept the new bells as a gift from the Diocesan Guild. In monastic times a Dean was a person who had charge of ten men, and as a modern Dean he was glad to feel that he was now in charge of ten bells.

It was an impressive moment when, as the Dean and the Master walked back from beneath the tower to their seats, the ten bells rang out from above. Rounds were rung for two minutes, beautifully effective in the stillness of the Cathedral, and as the ringing ceased the notes of the great organ took the place of the bells and the hymn was concluded. The Bishop pronounced the Blessing before the kneeling congregation, and the Sevenfold Amen brought to a close a service which will remain long in the memory of those who were privileged to be present.

A cheerful gathering, 120 strong, sat down to tea in the Refectory, the Lord Bishop presiding, and a happy diversion was created when the Dean was asked to accept a silver inkstand, suitably inscribed, with the good wishes of the Chester Branch of the Guild and as a token of deep affection.

The Dean, who retires in a few weeks' time, has been chairman of the Chester Branch for 17 years, during which time his unfailing cheerfulness, sympathy and interest in the work of the branch has endeared him to the hearts of all its members. He takes with him to Taunton, in his native county of Somerset, the good wishes not only of the Chester Branch, but of the whole Guild.

In a charming reply, the Dean said that he could not promise to write to everyone present, but the inkstand, which would have a place on his study table, would serve to remind him—if any reminder were needed—of his associations with ringers in Chester.

It is interesting to record that six of the members present were also present at the Refectory on November 12th, 1887, when the Guild was formed following a resolution of the Diocesan Conference, 'That it is desirable to form a Diocesan Guild or Association of Church Bell-

It was decided to hold a jubilee dinner in November as near the foundation date (November 12th) as possible.

Several towers were open for ringing during the evening, but the main attraction naturally was the augmented ring at the Cathedral. An excellent splice has been made by Messrs. Mears and Stainbank, and Mr. A. A. Hughes, representing the firm, was congratulated on all sides. The Cathedral, without doubt, now possesses a fine ring of ten bells, and the Guild feels that it has celebrated its jubilee in a manner worthy of the occasion.

The inscriptions of the new bells are:—

Treble.—Think and Thank. F. S. M. Bennett, Dean. Cast to celebrate the jubilee of the Chester Diocesan Guild of Church Bellringers. 1887-1937.

2nd.—Benedictus Benedict. Cast in the year of the Coronation of H.M. King George VI., 1937. God save the King.

On Tuesday evening there was a special broadcast of the bells in the Northern Regional programme, with a brief and well-planned talk by Mr. J. W. Clarke on ringing and bells in general, and Chester Cathedral bells in particular. The bells formed a background to the talk and were then opened up so that listeners heard the last lead of a course of Grandsire Caters and rounds and the Queen's change.

DEATH OF A BEENHAM RINGER.

The death occurred on Monday, July 5th, of Mr. Andrew James Churchill, who for about 40 years had been a member of the old Beenham band of bellringers and an ardent churchgoer. He was one who could always be relied upon to be in attendance at all Sunday services, until about eight years ago, when his health prevented him from attending.

The funeral took place on Wednesday, July 7th, after which a half-muffled 720 of Grandsire Doubles was rung by the local band.

STAFFORD ARCHDEACONRY SOCIETY

PRESENTATION TO CLERICAL HON. SECRETARY.

The annual meeting of the Society for the Archdeaconry of Stafford was held at Lichfield on Saturday, July 10th, when upwards of 70 members and friends put in an appearance. The bells of St. Mary's (8) and St. Michael's (6) were available during the afternoon and evening, but the members were not permitted to ring at the Cathedral this year. A sumptuous tea was prepared in the Wade Street Hall and was followed by the general meeting, at which the Venerable R. L. Hodson, Archdeacon of Stafford, presided. Apologies for absence were read from Mr. H. Boswell (retiring Ringing Master), Messrs. T. J. Elton and H. Butler.

The committee's report and the accounts were adopted, the latter showing a credit balance of £26 13s. 9d.

The joint hon. secretaries, auditor and committee (under Rule 6) were re-elected.

The names of two members were put up for Ringing Master—Messrs. B. Horton and B. G. Key—and on a show of hands Mr. Key was declared elected.

The following places were selected for meetings to be held during the coming year: Aldridge, September; Coseley, January; Wednesbury, April; and the annual meeting at Lichfield in June. Also bi-quarterly meetings for practice: All Saints', West Bromwich; Penkridge and Trysull, notice of which will be printed in 'The Ringing World.'

REV. C. H. BARKER,
Clerical Secretary of the Society.

A suggestion that a memorial to the late Mr. George Hughes, of Wednesbury, in the form of a brass or bell-metal tablet, to be placed in the belfry at Wednesbury, was favourably received, and a committee of three (Messrs. A. J. Hubble, A. Hingley and H. Smith, of the Wednesbury band) were elected to proceed with the project.

To mark the completion of 21 years' service as honorary clerical secretary and treasurer to the society, the Rev. C. H. Barker, L.Th., was the recipient of a fountain pen.

Mr. H. Knight (lay secretary), in making the presentation, spoke of the valuable service Mr. Barker had rendered to the society during that long period, and asked him to accept the small gift as a token of esteem in which he was held by the members.

Mr. Barker, in thanking the members for their kind thought and action, said the work had been a labour of love.

The President said he, too, would like to thank Mr. Barker for the good work he was doing amongst ringers in the Archdeaconry. Continuing, he said he was pleased to see present so many youngsters, to whom they had to look for the future welfare of the society. He added that he had read the book, 'The Nine Tailors,' and was very much struck with it. He suggested that a copy should be added to the library in every tower.

PRESIDENT OBJECTS TO 'GRAMOPHONE' BELLS.

The President, in conclusion, said he had a strong objection to the use of the loud speaker for gramophone records of bells, and advised all ringers to take every opportunity to check it.

A vote of thanks to the chairman concluded the business.

The committee, in their report, said meetings were held during the past year at Lichfield, Codsall, Tipton and Sedgley. All were moderately attended except the one at Tipton, where, owing to severe wintry weather, the attendance was not as good as might otherwise have been expected. In addition, two bi-quarterly meetings, for practice, were held at Shreshill and Wednesbury, the latter being well attended.

Since the last annual meeting, four bell restorations had been completed, viz., Coseley, King's Bromley, Longdon and Willenhall, with very satisfactory results.

The number of peals rung during the year was 27, as against 37 for the previous year. There was not much variety in the methods rung, but one peal was worth mentioning, viz., the peal of Staffordshire Surprise Major—the first in the method for the society and first in the county of Stafford—which gave a lead which the younger members might emulate. A peal of Doubles rung in five methods, at Patshull, was also noteworthy. Only one Coronation peal was accomplished, and that was one of Stedman Cinques at Walsall; other attempts were made, but were not successful. A peal of Stedman Caters at Wolverhampton was rung as a farewell to Bishop Kempthorne, who had

PAULERSPURY BELLS.

YOUNG RINGERS' APPEAL FOR ADDITIONAL TREBLE.

To the Editor.

Sir,—In the report, published some weeks ago, in 'The Ringing World' of a quarter-peal rung by the Paulerspury band, you incorrectly stated, 'E. Smart, conductor, 5, P. Foster 6.' It should have read, 'E. Smart 5, and P. Foster conducted.' We are all learners in our belfry and it is beyond our scope to ring and conduct more than one or two 120's yet.

We have been congratulated by friends on the quarter-peal and also upon the 6th bell, which, however, we have not yet got. But it has awakened a desire to try for a 6th, or, rather, a new treble bell, for which a space is prepared in the new steel frame, which was put in last year at a cost of about £300.

Our Rector (Rev. E. Kenworthy-Browne) has given us permission to start a fund for this purpose, on condition that we do nothing to take money away from other urgent church repairs, such as a new heating apparatus, renewing beams and lead in the roof of the chapel and also repairs to the top of the tower—all very expensive items. We have already been promised £8, and, of course, should welcome any outside help which would ease the burden on the village people, who have done so well in the past and of whom so much is expected in the future.

B. L. SMART, Hon. Sec. of the Fund.

ANOTHER EIGHT FOR DEVON. NEW TREBLES AT SILVERTON.

St. Mary's Church, Silverton, Devon, now possesses a ring of eight bells, two new trebles having been dedicated by the Bishop of Exeter on July 9th.

For many years the church has had a ring of six, and the octave has now been secured through the addition of bells commemorating the late Rev. G. E. F. Molineux and Commander K. E. Poyntz-Stewart, former parishioners. The bells have been hung in a new frame, and repairs have been carried out to the tower, the whole scheme costing about £500.

The church was crowded for the blessing ceremony, many former parishioners being among the congregation. The Bishop was accompanied by the Rev. L. G. Ketchley (Rector of Hemmock and Rural Dean) as his chaplain, and among the robed clergy present, in addition to the Rector (Preb. T. C. Walters), were the Revs. E. V. Cox (Brampford Speke, president of the Guild of Devonshire Ringers), who read the lesson, and F. Carter (Witchleigh, chairman of the North-Eastern Branch of the Devon Guild). The Bishop and clergy were accompanied to the ringing chamber by the churchwardens, Messrs. W. Ackland and C. Medland, and the eight bells were rung following the blessing.

In his sermon the Bishop said he had been in the diocese long enough to realise that Devon had the largest number of bells and the largest number of bellringers, and he was sure that Devon people loved their bells and were ready to give most generously when they needed attention. Although he had not a great knowledge of bells as yet, he judged that at Silverton they had a very beautiful peal.

Going on to remark that bells often uttered messages which could not be expressed in words, the Bishop said that on Sundays they announced the invitation, 'Come, for all things are now ready.' One of the truths which this generation needed to remember most of all was that men missed the very good things of life not because they were wicked, but because they were too busy thinking about other things.

'This is not a wicked generation,' said the Bishop. 'Far from it. But it is a very busy one. There are so many wonderful things to do, so many wonderful gifts of science—the wireless, motor-cars and cinemas—and the world has become such an interesting place that there are fewer to-day responding to the appeal of the bells.' He hoped the bells would say to those who were always intending to go to church, 'Do it now; time is passing.'

After the service the bells were rung by visitors from Exeter, Plymouth, Sidmouth, Broadclyst, Thorverton, Brampford Speke, Bampton, Bradninch, Rewe, Washfield and Cullumpton.

The restoration of the peal, which has included the provision of modern fittings throughout and the supplying of the two new bells, has been carried out by Messrs. Taylor and Co., of Loughborough. The tenor of the augmented peal weighs 16 cwt. 11 lb.

retired from the See of Lichfield. The conducting of the several peals was shared by ten members. The peals were: Doubles (two methods) 4, Doubles (five methods) 1, Grandsire Doubles 2, Grandsire Triples 5, Stedman Triples 1, Stedman Caters 4, Stedman Cinques 4, Bob Minor 1, Bob Major 1, Kent Treble Bob Minor 2, Kent Treble Bob Royal 1, Staffordshire Surprise Major 1, total 27.

Judging by the report of the Peals Analysis Committee, there were more twelve-bell peals rung during 1936 by this society than for any other in the country.

Regret was expressed at the loss, through death, of the following members: The Rev. E. H. Rogers, Vicar of Tamworth; the Rev. A. H. F. Roughey, of Cambridge; Mr. Alfred Butler, of Tettenhall; Mr. H. Williams, of Tipton; and Mr. George Hughes, of Wednesbury.

OXFORD DIOCESAN GUILD FESTIVAL.

ALTERATIONS OF RULES.

Oxford still favoured as Meeting Place.

Once again the members of the Oxford Diocesan Guild have in no uncertain way declared that they desire to hold their annual festival in Oxford itself. Nearly every year this practice is challenged, but it is a long time since the meeting has been held elsewhere. At the annual meeting on Saturday a majority recommendation of the committee that next year Reading should be chosen was defeated, and once again Oxford carried the day.

The meeting was attended by members from most parts of the diocese, which covers the three counties of Oxford, Berks and Bucks, and they first met in Christ Church Cathedral for their festival service, at which the preacher was Bishop G. B. Allen, the Archdeacon of Oxford, whose text was 'Make a cheerful noise unto the God of Jacob' (Psalm 81, v. 1). The text, said the Bishop, described exactly what the bells did, and they did it in accordance with the natural human instinct, consecrated to the service of God. Having referred to the use of bells in distant ages, the preacher reviewed the subject of ringing as part of divine service. What a difference, he said, bells made, not only to our worship, but to the very life of town and country, and how painful and poignant was the contrast in countries where there were no bells. Bells were a true and integral part of English life. Although the bells of Christ Church were at present out of use, owing to repairs, no one in that city could ever forget the solemn and joyful functions of these ministers of God. Wolsey's great bell still tolled nightly over that House and city. Oxford was a city of bells, but not only the city, but the towns and villages of the diocese were gladdened and, he believed, inspired by this gracious ministry. Bells were something between the silent and the articulate spokesman. They conveyed their message through the ear and their sound was heard where the living voice of the preacher could not penetrate. The work of the ringers was an honourable ministry, and in so far as they were ministers of God, consecrated to Him, bellringers should be communicants and all ringers should attend the services for which they rang. As he went about to the country churches he could not help noticing where ringers went when the bells were rung down. He was glad to be able to say, as far as his observation went, during his nine months' happy work in the diocese, that as a rule the ringers went the right way, showing that they highly valued their office. Every time the bells sounded from tower or steeple throughout the land they bore their far-reaching message to the truth of the eternal God and the truth that the things which are seen are temporal, but the things which are unseen are eternal.

The collection for the Restoration Fund amounted to £2 9s. 9d.

MASTER DEPLORES WEAKENING OF BRADFIELD BRANCH.

The business meeting was held in the Chapter House, the Master (Canon G. F. Coleridge) presiding over a gathering of about a hundred, supported by the Deputy Master (the Rev. C. E. Wigg), the secretary (Mr. R. T. Hibbert) and the hon. treasurer (Mr. A. D. Barker).

The reports of the officers were first adopted. That of the Master referred to the meeting at Theale, in the Bradfield Deanery Branch, the outcome of which was the transfer of three towers to neighbouring branches. 'I deeply deplore this, as it results in the weakening of a branch, small already in towers and membership. The old proverb, "Unity is strength," holds true, everywhere and at every time—the strong helping the weak should be the rule throughout the Guild.'

The report continued: I am glad to know that advice I have given to various incumbents on bell restoration has in each case been followed with very satisfactory results. It is a great satisfaction to me that our general secretary, Mr. R. T. Hibbert, still holds office and that our finances are in the very capable hands of Mr. A. D. Barker, elected at the annual meeting in place of Mr. A. J. Wright, whose long term of office was ended by failing energies. Judging by the keenness of the General Committee, there is strong hope that the Guild will continue to prosper.

The Deputy Master, in his report, said: The year 1936 has been one of steady progress, both in new methods practised and in the conscientious carrying out of routine work; service ringing and the training of beginners. I am convinced that it is upon this latter part of its work that the Guild must concentrate increasingly. In an age when the attention of young men and women is so easily distracted from religious duties, any effort made to interest them in a specific piece of work for the Church is of great value. I have been present at meetings of all the branches during the past year, including one held at Thame by the South Oxon and Mid-Bucks Branch, which was of especial interest, as being the first public meeting held by this branch for several years. It has been a source of encouragement to me to notice the good attendances including a large proportion of the younger members at these meetings.

In the course of his report, the secretary said the Guild made steady progress during the year, the number of towers affiliated increasing by eight. The number of hon. members stood the same, 219. Ringing members, including non-resident life members, showed an increase of 64. The figures were: Towers 258, hon. members 219, ringing members 2,445. The number of peals rung showed a slight falling off, but several young ringers rang first peals, and first in method, and one or two names appeared as conductor for the first time.

At a special meeting of the Bradfield Deanery Branch, three towers made application to go to other branches. Aldermaston and Beenham to Newbury Branch, and Burghfield to Reading Branch. After discussion the Master regretfully gave his permission, hoping it would be to the benefit of all.

The secretary said he had made inspections and given advice at Tilehurst, Ufton Nervet and Stoke Poges, and had passed work as well done at Newton Longueville, Strentley, Tetsworth and East-hampstead. At the annual meetings of all the branches he found the spirit of brotherhood very much alive, and although the branch secretaries had their difficulties, they tackled them with an indomitable spirit and kept things going in a very fine manner. If all did their best during 1937 he saw no reason to be downhearted about the future of the Guild.

The hon. treasurer reported that the general funds of the Guild amounted to £275 2s. 2d., of which £84 1s. 7d. was in the Restoration Fund. As no percentage of hon. members' subscriptions had been transferred to the Restoration Fund since 1929, a recommendation from the General Committee was desirable. Branches failing to send their contributions to the hon. treasurer by December 28th would be too late for inclusion in the current year's accounts in future.

CANON COLERIDGE RE-ELECTED MASTER.

The Master said when he undertook office, at the time the Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn died, and there seemed really to be no one else capable of undertaking the Mastership, he felt he was getting old, and he was older still now. The services of the Deputy Master had been invaluable and of enormous help to him in every possible way. When he (the Deputy Master) was appointed, he was what was called an 'assistant curate' and not his own master, so he could not very well undertake the duties of Master of the Guild. Now they could congratulate Mr. Wigg on having become Vicar of a Buckinghamshire parish and he was able to get about as he wished. If the Guild desired to elect Mr. Wigg as Master he (Canon Coleridge) would be perfectly ready to make way for him.

Mr. T. Trollope proposed that Canon Coleridge should remain as Master for another year. If, he added, he then wishes to get out, perhaps we will listen to him (laughter).—Mr. A. D. Barker seconded the motion, which was carried with applause.

Canon Coleridge, in acknowledging his election, said he was willing to serve the Guild to the best of his ability, but, as he had told them before, his parochial duties often prevented him from attending meetings on a Saturday. He was always at their disposal if they wanted his advice or help (applause).

The Rev. C. E. Wigg was unanimously re-elected Deputy Master, Mr. A. D. Barker was reappointed hon. treasurer, and Mr. R. T. Hibbert secretary, both of them unanimously.

The twelve elected members of the committee were re-elected en bloc, viz.: Miss V. Robinson, Miss S. Davis, Messrs. J. Evans, G. Caudwell, G. Holfield, W. Hibbert, sen., G. Martin, R. White, A. D. Cullum, H. Sear, J. W. Wilkins and W. F. Judge.

On behalf of a committee appointed to revise the Guild service book, the Master said it was decided to await the appearance of the Hereford Diocesan Guild's new service book. That book had recently come into his hands and had been considered by the committee, who at once realised that it did not meet the needs of the Oxford Guild, although it contained certain features well worthy of their consideration. The committee, therefore, decided to proceed with a new service book on liturgical lines, embodying parts of the old form used by the Guild, with the addition of new prayers, hymns and so forth. They decided to include a dozen hymns, but the selection gave them considerable difficulty for what some members thought were good and suitable hymns others disliked.

After a short discussion, in the course of which the suggestion that a draft of the service should be submitted to the branches for consideration was rejected, the committee were empowered to proceed with the preparation and printing of the service books, Canon Coleridge remarking that any suggestions sent to him would be considered by the committee.

ALTERATIONS TO RULES.

Three alterations of rules came up for consideration. Rule 3 for Local Branches was altered to read as follows: 'The secretary of the branch shall collect and forward to the hon. treasurer on or before December 21st, in each year, the subscriptions of the members of the branch, retaining not more than one half for local needs. He shall also send a statement of the branch accounts to the hon. treasurer, and a correct list of members to the general secretary, with the provisional date of the annual meeting of the branch, to enable dates to be arranged to prevent two branch annual meetings coinciding. The list of dates to be printed in annual report.'

The most important effect of this is to ensure that the subscriptions shall be forwarded to the hon. treasurer on or before December 21st, instead of on or before the annual festival, and the Master asked for the co-operation of the members in this, to assist the officials.

The following alteration to Rule 10 stood in the name of Mr. T. Trollope:—

'The annual festival and general meeting shall be held in July at Oxford.'

'An additional ringing meeting shall be held in the autumn, at some other place to be selected by the members at the annual festival. Arrangements for both meetings to be left in the hands of the committee.'

At the suggestion of the Master, Mr. Trollope divided the motion into two parts and moved the first paragraph, which the Rev. St. George Edwards seconded. There was no discussion, and, on being put to the meeting, the Master declared it carried.

When Mr. Trollope moved the second part of the motion, several members raised objection to treating the motion as two independent resolutions, as, it was argued, one was dependent on the other. Mr. D. Boreham remarked that it robbed them of their fight every year to change the place of meeting from Oxford.

The Master agreed to the motion being treated as a whole, and an animated discussion turned on whether there should be an autumn meeting.

The Secretary said if the majority of the members attended as many branch annual meetings as he did, they would realise another Guild meeting was not necessary. If the idea was carried out, the hard-worked secretary would advertise the meeting in 'The Ringing World' and leave the officers of the branch in which it was to be held to do the work (laughter).

The view was expressed that a Guild meeting was of different standing to a district meeting, and Mr. W. J. Paice (Sonning branch secretary) suggested they might try joint branch meetings. What they wanted to do, he said, was to get rid of the feeling, which he thought some members had, that they were not welcome at the meetings of other branches.

The Rev. St. George Edwards said every year there was opposition to holding the annual meeting always in Oxford; this motion would meet this objection, by providing Guild meetings in other parts of the diocese.

There was some confusion when the voting took place, but the Master declared the motion lost.

The committee (by a majority of four votes) had recommended that the next annual meeting be held at Reading, and this was proposed by Mr. A. D. Barker and seconded by Mr. D. Boreham.

Mr. A. D. Cullam proposed Oxford as an amendment, and Mr. W. Hibbert, jun., seconded. On being put to the meeting Oxford was chosen by a large majority.

THE RESTORATION FUND.

The hon. treasurer moved that Rule 17 be altered as follows:—
'The Restoration Fund shall be augmented by (1) a collection taken during the service at the annual festival. (2) 25 per cent. of subscriptions received by the hon. treasurer from honorary members. (3) Interest on War Loan or such other investments as may be held by the Guild.'

Mr. Barker said the old rule was obsolete, no one understood exactly what it meant, and it had not been acted upon. What was proposed in the motion was what was actually done in practice.—The motion was carried unanimously.

The following grants, duplicating the amounts voted from the branches, were made for bell restoration funds: Tilehurst, £5 5s.; Stoke Poges, £5 5s.; Wroxton, £2 2s., or, if a more comprehensive scheme is undertaken, £5 5s.; and Beenham, £3 3s.

Mr. R. Post presented a report on the Central Council meeting, at which he was one of the representatives of the Oxford Guild.

Mr. W. Hibbert, jun., said a detailed report had already been published in 'The Ringing World,' and he thought these reports by a member were a waste of time. At the suggestion of the Deputy Master, Mr. Post's report was taken as read, and he was thanked for its preparation.

Mr. Trollope asked if copies of 'The Ringing World' were available if there were any members who had not read the report.

The Master said, as he had often remarked, he considered it the bounden duty of every ringer to be a weekly subscriber to 'The Ringing World.'

The meeting confirmed the election of 174 members elected since the last annual meeting, and Bishop Allen, Archdeacon of Oxford, who was an ex-officio vice-president under the rules, was also elected a member.

In view of the possibility of a difficulty during the year with regard to audit, it was agreed that if the present auditor resigned the Master and hon. treasurer be authorised to appoint an auditor.

The Master read a letter from the editor of the 'Oxford Times' offering, with a view to increasing local interest in the work of the Guild, to publish photographs of ringing teams, either present or past. The Master said he was very much gratified at receiving the letter and asked ringers who wished photographs of their teams published to communicate with the 'Oxford Times.'

LUNCH IN CHRIST CHURCH HALL.

This terminated the business meeting and a large company then took lunch in the magnificent dining hall of Christ Church. Canon Coleridge presided, and after the toast of 'Church and King' had been honoured, proposed a comprehensive vote of thanks to all concerned in the day's arrangements. He specially thanked the Dean and Chapter, the governing body of Christ Church, the organist and Bishop

Allen. He said it was a very liberal thing indeed for the governing body of Christ Church to give them the use of that hall. There was not a guild or society in the country that would not rather come there than anywhere else for such an occasion, full, as it was, of historic interest. They thanked Bishop Allen most warmly for preaching to them and for the interest he was taking in the Guild. It was with great thankfulness they found Bishop Allen taking the place of Bishop Shaw. Canon Coleridge added that when he was an undergraduate in 1876 and they used to practise on Christ Church bells, the belfry door was opened for them by a man whom he, even then, looked upon as 'old.' He was the man who carried the 'holy poker' before the Dean in the Cathedral (laughter). He referred to Mr. Francis, who always took the greatest interest in the Guild. Mr. Francis was 97 that day (applause). He (the Master) suggested that the secretary should send him a line of congratulation and good wishes (applause).

Bishop Allen responded to the vote of thanks and extended a welcome to the Guild on behalf of all his colleagues. Mr. Francis, said the Bishop, had told him that morning that he was 'very well inside, but not so good about the legs' (laughter). Mr. Francis still went to church more often than most people, said the Bishop, and went to the 'flicks' three times a week (laughter and applause).

Canon Parham proposed 'Success to the Oxford Diocesan Guild.' The Guild, he said, showed what could be done by fellowship in church work. What the Guild owed to their chairman only ringers knew. There was not a belfry in England where the name of Canon Coleridge was not known, and there was no gathering of ringers where he would not be an honoured guest (applause). In honouring the Guild they were honouring their Master, and they wished him long years of continuance in his office (applause).

Canon Coleridge, in reply, said as long as he could be of help to the Guild he was at their service. He recalled an early festival at Abingdon when the Guild gave a free dinner. Something like 300 ringers turned up and the Guild nearly went bankrupt. He hoped the Guild would continue to flourish and that the healthful state of their funds would enable them to reduce the price of the dinner from 2s. to 1s. 6d. (laughter). They had had a happy year in the past and he hoped they would all try to do their best in the future both in the interests of change ringing and of the Church. He commended to the notice of the younger members the recent performance of a peal in 73 Minor methods rung in Cheshire. This was an example to them all, and although they might not all reach that standard, he urged them not to remain content merely with ringing Bob Minor.

Mr. W. Collett took the opportunity of urging on members the importance to the Exercise of supporting 'The Ringing World.' If they did not do so there might be grave danger of their being left without a paper. He hoped the day was far distant when the present Editor would relinquish his work, but if he did so the Exercise might be faced with a serious position. The solution lay in every ringer buying the paper, and in considering the cost he asked them to realise that it was equivalent to only one packet of cigarettes a month. They must agree, he thought, that ringing, which took such a great place in their life and interest, was certainly worth that amount of sacrifice. The way to pay for it was to place a weekly standing order with their newsagent. They would not then notice the amount when they paid their weekly bill. He asked them to act before it was too late.

The Rev. C. E. Wigg said he had another suggestion to make. He did not believe there was a single person in that room who did not take a copy of the paper weekly, and Mr. Collett was 'preaching to the converted.' He suggested, therefore, that each of them, during the year, should see to it that someone else bought a copy of 'The Ringing World' and that when they met in that hall next year they should have a show of hands to see how many had succeeded (applause).

At the close of the proceedings in the dining hall, the members dispersed to the many towers in the city, where ringing was enjoyed during the afternoon and evening.

MOONRAKERS VISIT DEVONSHIRE.

The Swindon Parish Church Guild held their annual outing on June 19th. On reaching Torquay by excursion train, the company were soon howling along for Buckfastleigh, where Mr. A. L. Bennett met the party and two short touches were enjoyed on this handy little ring. An excellent lunch was served at the King's Arms Hotel, and a vote of thanks was passed to Mr. Bennett for his assistance in arranging the outing.

Permission had been secured to ring at Buckfast Abbey, and all were loud in their praises of this excellent peal, and some Stedman Caters was rung on the back ten, but only rounds was attempted on the twelve. Messrs. Charles and James Lilley joined the party here, also Mr. J. P. Fidler, of Loughborough. The next call was Ashburton, general disappointment being expressed both as to the tone and 'go' of the bells, Stedman Triples and Cambridge Major being rung. The last tower of the day was Wolborough, and was a fitting climax—good bells and no hard work for sore hands. After saying good-bye to our Devonshire friends, a return was made to Torquay. The return journey was started at 9.15 p.m. and was helped along by a little handbell ringing, Swindon being reached at 12.50 a.m., after a most enjoyable outing. Thanks are extended to all who helped towards such a successful day. W. B. K.

DON'T SCRUB YOUR HANDS!

skin this simple way*

To many people, the problem of getting the hands really clean without harming the skin is a serious one. Grease and grime, which become deeply ingrained into the pores of the skin, are extremely difficult to remove, and ordinary washing with soap or even scrubbing will fail to remove them completely. Housewives, particularly, who complain that their hands get ruined by the nature of their work, will find the preparation called DERMAFOAM, a real "godsend." DERMAFOAM just smoothes away dirt and grease without effort. It gets right down into the pores and removes every particle of grime, leaving skin beautifully supple and healthy.

Men, too—when you've finished that dirty job on the car, DERMAFOAM will quickly banish all grease and oil from your hands. It acts almost magically—working under and around the nails and into every minute crease, removing all trace of dirt in a flash.

Engineers, Painters, Car Mechanics, Printers — everyone — will welcome DERMAFOAM, the modern method of cleansing and protecting the hands.

PIONEERS OF SURPRISE RINGING.

A note concerning a peal of London Surprise rung at Royston, Herts, is a reminder of how modern is the general practice of Surprise ringing. In these times the methods of London, Cambridge and Superlative are in everyday use and are rung by hundreds of ringers. Last year the peals in these methods exceeded those of Stedman Triples and were nearly as many as Grandsire Triples—which shows, quite apart from the rest of the Surprise peals, over a hundred in number in more than thirty other methods, how far and how rapidly method ringing has advanced. Our note recalls that Mr. Frederick Dench, whose name was more prominently before the Exercise a generation ago both as a ringer and composer than it is to-day, rang his first peal of London Surprise in 1895, as a member of a celebrated band at Crawley, Sussex. Up to that time only twenty-six peals of London Surprise had ever been rung! And, apart from three early peals, rung up to the year 1870, and regarded almost as freak performances, the bands concerned could be numbered on the fingers of one hand, while even in the whole twenty-five years, to the end of the nineteenth century, during which period Surprise ringing was being popularised, the conductors of London Surprise peals numbered a bare twenty, while, perhaps, only five of those could really be regarded as frequent conductors of these methods.

Surprise ringing in those days was practically limited to London, Cambridge and Superlative, and the men who rang them not unjustifiably regarded their performances as the 'top of the tree.' It was the band at Burton-on-Trent, of which William Wakley was the leader, that really showed Surprise ringing to be something more than the 'crank' stuff it was often previously, and even afterwards, termed. They laid the foundations of its popularity and demonstrated that competent bands could practise it with success. Oxford Guild ringers, with J. W. Washbrook and the Rev. F. E. Robinson, followed the lead of the Burton men, and soon the society at St. Peter's, Brighton, took up the example set, until, in the early nineties the interest which Surprise ringing provided over what were known as 'standard' methods, was beginning to be widely recognised. Nevertheless, peals were by no means 'cheap.' The men who rang them earned their success, and they deserve all the credit which is theirs for raising ringing from the rut of the previous century, and laying the foundation of the aspirations of the majority of ringers to-day. A peal of London, Cambridge or Superlative raises little comment now; but fifty years ago it was a thing to stir the interest of every change ringer with an outlook not confinned by the four walls of his own tower. It is just as well, perhaps, in these times when Surprise ringing has reached a stage undreamt of a generation ago, that ringers should be reminded of the pioneer days and of the men, some, happily, still living, whose enterprise and perseverance brought Surprise ringing within the realm of "practical politics."

PEAL NOTES.

PERFORMANCES AND PERSONALITIES.

Mr. Fred Dench, of Saffron Walden, who began his ringing career with the Crawley, Sussex, band in the days when Mr. James Parker was the leading spirit in that tower, conducted a peal of London Surprise at Royston, Herts, on July 22nd. It is 42 years since he rang his first peal in the method, at a time when London Surprise was a limit which very few ringers had reached.

When Mr. Dench rang his first peal of London, fewer than 30 peals had been rung in the method, and, of those who had conducted them, only Messrs. Joseph Griffin, George Williams, John Evans and James Parker are among us to-day.

A peal of Double Norwich Major, rung at Redenhall, Norfolk, on July 24th, was arranged to enable Messrs. E. F. Poppy and F. W. Munnings to ring a peal together. The last time they rang together was when they lost a peal of Treble Bob a few changes from the end on the same bells as long ago as the year 1899!

'Completing the circle,' which is ringing each bell in a tower to a peal, is a fairly frequent occurrence in these days. Mr. Charles Loane has now done this at St. Mary Magdalene's Church, Pulham, by ringing the treble to a peal of Kent Treble Bob Major on July 21st. The peal was in honour of the 70th birthday of the Rector of Pulham Market (the Rev. R. H. Stacey).

The first peal on the bells at Garvestone, Norfolk, since October 7th, 1909, was rung on July 24th. It was seven 720's of Cambridge Surprise Minor.

The first peal on the bells at East Buckland, Devon, which were rehung last September, was rung on July 17th. The Rev. J. H. B. Andrews (chaplain) and three of the boys of West Buckland School took part, and it was the first peal by all except the conductor.

After the bells had been restored, a School Guild of ringers was formed at West Buckland, and the boys have made excellent progress, as this peal testifies. They ring regularly for Sunday service at East Buckland.

The other two ringers in the peal belong to Combe Martin. Mr. Ambrose Hayward was the conductor, and Mr. Yeo, who also scored his first, learned to ring at East Buckland when there were but four bells there. Two trebles were added in 1906.

A 'Coronation' peal at Wissett, Suffolk, was rung on July 22nd, when 5,040 in four methods of Doubles was rung. An attempt for the peal was made some weeks ago, but was lost after two and a quarter hours through one of the ringers missing the sally.

Harry Cheesman, of Banstead, Surrey, rang his first peal of Major on July 17th. He is only 13 years of age and he rang the treble to a peal of Double Norwich—not the easiest thing in change ringing by any means.

The enterprise of some of the young ringers in Nottinghamshire is a promising feature in the north of the county. Clifford Vessey and his band have now scored their first peal of Gainsborough Little Bob, and another company, with the same conductor, have rung their first peal in seven plain Minor methods.

They have rung other peals of Minor, but this was the first in which extents of Treble Bob were not rung. Four members of the Vessey family took part in this.

The Gainsborough Little Bob was rung at Worksop Priory Church and was Frank Vernon's 25th peal. All of them have been rung with Clifford Vessey.

The first peal by the Norwich Diocesan Association in 14 Minor methods in seven true extents was rung at Wroxham on July 22nd.

The first peal of Treble Bob entirely by members of the Eastern Branch of the Lincoln Diocesan Guild was rung at Surfleet on July 24th. Sidney Appleby, aged 16, rang his first peal, five others (including the conductor) rang their first peal of Treble Bob and one his first peal of Treble Bob 'inside.' Rupert was not on the remaining bell. Puzzle: Where was he?

GUILDFORD DIOCESAN GUILD

LEATHERHEAD DISTRICT AT NEWDIGATE.

Over 30 ringers from Capel, Cobham, Dorking, Epsom, Leatherhead, Ockley and the local band, with visitors from Billingshurst, Cranleigh, Haslemere, Kingston and the secretary of the Chertsey District, attended the Leatherhead district meeting at Newdigate. A good variety was introduced into the ringing and the service was conducted by the Rev. A. Stone.

Tea was served in the Six Bells. At the business meeting the elections previous to peals of H. E. Good, of Ewell, and E. W. Bugden, of Leatherhead, were ratified, and a sub-committee was formed to make arrangements for the summer festival.

The secretary (Mr. A. H. Smith) mentioned that the two books, 'Bells Thro' the Ages' and 'The History and Art of Change Ringing,' were now available in a 7s. 6d. edition. The meeting closed with hearty thanks to all who had helped in making such a successful and pleasant meeting.

Mr. James and his band gave a few of their handbell selections before going back to the tower, where everyone's requirements were successfully attempted—from rounds to London Minor. It was lucky that an old edition of Standard Methods was available when 'Violet' Treble Bob was asked for, as some of the 'experts' had to swot that and College Exercise up. The bells were finally lowered in peal at 9 o'clock.

WINCHESTER & PORTSMOUTH GUILD. ANNUAL GENERAL MEETING AT PETERSFIELD.

Satisfactory Financial Position.

A fine summer day favoured the annual gathering of the Winchester and Portsmouth Diocesan Guild at Petersfield, and some 70 members and friends attended from Alton, Basingstoke (All Saints' and St. Michael's), Bishopstoke, Blackmoor, Buriton, Deane, Froyle, Gosport, Hawkley, Kingsworthy, North Stoneham, Newport (I.O.W.), Portsmouth (Cathedral and St. Mary's), Privett, Petersfield, Steep, Soberton, Upham, Wickham, Winchester and West Meon. There were many visiting ringers from Brighton, Guildford, London, Sandhurst, Shoreham-by-Sea and Leatherhead.

The Guild service was held in St. Peter's Church, conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. E. O. A. Kent), who also gave a very interesting and helpful address. Tea and business meeting followed in the Church Hall, the Vicar expressing his pleasure in welcoming the Guild and apologising for not being able to remain during the meeting. The latter was presided over by the Master (Mr. G. Williams), who gave a warm welcome, on behalf of the Guild, to the many visitors present. The annual report was presented to the members.

VOLUNTARY SPADEWORK.

The report of the Master and hon. general secretary said that a very useful and successful year had been enjoyed. From subscriptions paid into the districts, however, there appeared to be a slight decrease in membership—175 honorary and 698 full, as compared with 180 and 728 respectively in 1935. This small difference might be due to the fact that some members might not have paid their subscriptions rather than lapsed membership. A definite increase in the next report was hoped for. The financial position of the Guild remained sound, upon which district secretaries and all contributors were sincerely congratulated.

Whilst no large sums appear to have been spent in instruction, continued the report, we should like to point out that this very important spadework is still being undertaken by quite a number of our members in a voluntary spirit. We should like to thank them especially for their efforts to teach beginners the art of change ringing, and trust they will bear fruit.

Perhaps not since the Armistice and peace celebrations of 1918 and 1919 have our bells been used to mark the occasion of national feelings as in 1936. To our deepest sorrows our bells rang out their muffled notes to mark the passing of our beloved King George V. Then the joyous pealing to herald the Accession of the new King, and before the close of the year to acclaim his successor, our present King, George VI.

We hope that more conductors and members will be found in the columns of the coming year's peals records. We should like to draw attention to the fact that still a number of members fail to send in their quarter-peals and 720's to the recorder of peals for publication in the report. Generally speaking, this shows a truer indication of the standard of ringing amongst the towers, as very often, for numerous reasons, peals are sometimes out of the question.

We regret to say that a few towers have for various reasons withdrawn from the Guild. Whilst deplored these losses and trusting that in the near future we may welcome them once more in our ranks, we have on the other hand to record that new towers have become affiliated during the year.

We had the opportunity to congratulate one of our presidents, formerly first Bishop of Portsmouth, on his preferment to our neighbours in the diocese of Salisbury, to which he sent a very courteous acknowledgment. We should like to express our warmest welcome and thanks to the present Bishop of Portsmouth (Dr. Frank Partridge), who so readily consented to fill the vacancy thus caused.

CROWNING ACHIEVEMENT IN BELL RESTORATION.

Numerous reports of bell restorations in the diocese show that our towers are making real efforts to restore their bells where necessary. Perhaps the crowning achievement of all is the complete restoration of the ring of 12 at Winchester Cathedral. A magnificent peal now replaces what was generally regarded as an indifferent lot, and our sincere thanks and appreciation are due to our generous benefactors, the Emma Barron Bell Trust, and also the Friends of the Cathedral. We hope that where appeals are made for restoration work our members will not be lacking in their support.

The hon. treasurer's balance sheet showed receipts of £50 5s. 10d. from the districts. The expenses were £38 4s. 11d., leaving a balance in hand of £103 18s. 6½d., compared with £91 17s. 7½d. in the previous year. In addition there is a balance of £47 14s. 6d. in the general purposes fund, from which a grant of £2 2s. was made to Longparish Bell Fund.

The districts have an aggregate balance in hand of £87 16s. 7½d., compared with £71 12s. 7d. in the previous year.

The Recorder of Peals (Mr. R. C. H. Connolly), in his report, said: One cannot belie the fact that 1936 did not prove so satisfactory a year from the point of view of peal ringing as its predecessor. The numbers are down in all departments except the number of conductors. Only 32 (45) peals were rung, in which 112 (122) ringers participated, and of these 11 (23) scored their first peal and in addition 24 (21) ascended higher the ladder of achievement by doing something in advance of their previous best. The figures in brackets denote the corresponding numbers for 1935. The upper half of the table showing the methods rung in 1936 does not show much change except for a peal of Cinques, and the falling in numbers is chiefly at the more elementary end of the list. This is probably due to the younger ringers (in the sense of years of ringing) attempting higher methods without quite the success they attained in simpler ones. There is no doubt that many attempts have failed in more advanced methods; but excellent practice may be obtained though the actual peal be lost, and, as one great object of peal ringing is improvement in striking, it is hoped that Sunday service ringing has benefited in quality. There are, however, some bright spots in the gloom. The peals at Blackmoor and Hawkley must have given great satisfaction to both bands. H. P. Reed called his first peal before he was 15 years of age, and the band included one ringer of 13 (first peal) and one 'first inside.' We hope others will follow suit and that this is only the beginning of brilliant careers. At the other end of the scale Mr. Woodley shows that it is never too late to start. Our Ringing Master has crowned his remarkable career by calling 1,000 peals on tower bells, being forestalled only by that ringing marvel, the late William Pyc. He also collected a star at Christchurch where Mr. Preston conducted a peal of Grandsire Cinques with nine 'stars' in the band. The peals were rung in 24 towers and there were 16 conductors.

OFFICERS RE-ELECTED.

The Master, in the absence of the hon. treasurer, congratulated the Guild on its finances and remarked that it was the first time that the balances in the hands of the districts had reached over £200, thanks to the hard work put in by the district secretaries.

The officers, except for a change of peals recorder, necessitated by the departure of Mr. R. C. H. Connolly to Watford, were re-elected, viz., Mr. G. Williams, Master; Mr. F. W. Rogers, hon. secretary; Rev. Evan Jones, hon. treasurer. Mr. R. A. Reed was appointed peals recorder.

It was unanimously agreed to elect as an additional vice-president the Rev. N. C. Woods (Winchester) as an appreciation of his valuable services to the Guild.

New members elected were Messrs. J. Forder, A. Swatton, E. Barrett (Privett), C. A. Snell (Blackmoor), E. Glaspool, H. Nash (Froyle) and Mr. W. J. Parker, of Sandhurst, a compounding member.

It was decided to hold the next annual meeting at Winchester on July 2nd, 1938.

After the routine business had been disposed of, Mr. G. Bullinger gave a comprehensive report of the recent Central Council meeting, emphasising many of the points under discussion which were of particular interest to the Guild. The other representatives present confirmed what had been reported to the members.

Grants of five guineas each were made towards the restoration of the bells at St. Peter's, Bournemouth, Soberton and Bishop's Waltham. Votes of thanks were accorded the incumbents of the various churches whose bells were placed at the disposal of the members, also to the organist and caterers.

During the afternoon and evening ringing took place at Petersfield, Privett, East Meon, Buriton and Steep, the methods ranging from Doubles to Spliced Surprise Major.

MIDDLESEX AND HERTFORD ASSOCIATIONS.

JOINT MEETING AT BARNET.

Originally arranged to be held on Saturday last at Monken Hadley, a joint meeting of the Middlesex and Hertford Associations took place at Barnet, by the kindness of the Rector (the Rev. P. C. Dean), as serious illness at the former place prevented ringing for any length of time.

The attendance was by no means anything to boast about, albeit some 30 ringers attended, including some welcome visitors in Mr. C. Raine (Edinburgh), and Messrs. G. Fearn (Birmingham) and M. Melville (Coventry), who, with a ringing friend, were on their way to a London twelve-bell tower for a peal attempt.

The two associations participating were officially represented by Mr. G. W. Fletcher (vice-president), Mr. A. W. Coles (Master) and Mr. C. T. Coles (hon. secretary), Middlesex Association; and Mr. W. Nash (district secretary), Hertford Association.

Tea, served at 5 o'clock, was quite an 'easy going' meal. There was no official business to transact, but there was, of course, the very necessary vote of thanks. This was duly proposed and seconded by the two secretaries, Mr. Coles expressing the gratitude of the company to the Rev. P. C. Dean, Rector of Barnet, for coming to the rescue at short notice when it was found that ringing could not take place at Monken Hadley. Mr. Coles also thanked Messrs. Arbin and Eldred for taking the matter in hand during the previous week-end, when the change was found to be necessary.

Congratulations and good wishes were sent to Mr. J. Sumpster in anticipation of his 86th birthday (July 26th).

The ringing during the afternoon and evening was under the able guidance of Mr. A. W. Coles, and included Grandsire and Stedman Triples, Plain Bob, Double Norwich, Superlative, Cambridge, London and Spliced Surprise Major (four methods). A feature of the afternoon was a touch of Stedman Triples by eight 'Georges,' conducted by George Pyc. There was nearly a touch of 'rounds' for Mrs. George Fletcher, but only nearly. Perhaps she will try next time!

CUMBERLAND YOUTHS AT PINNER.SMALL ATTENDANCE AT SUMMER MEETING.

The summer meeting of the Society of Royal Cumberland Youths was held at St. John the Baptist, Pinner, on Saturday, July 17th. Very few 'Youths' attended, chiefly, it is supposed, owing to holidays and other attractions. The excellent peal of eight (tenor 19 cwt.) were got going somewhere in the region of 4.15 p.m., and Plain Bob, Grandsire and Treble Bob were rung with varying success.

The service, unfortunately, had to be cancelled, owing to the fact that the Vicar had to be present at a local children's fête. A halt for tea was called at 5 o'clock, and the small gathering sat down to an excellent repast in the hall of the adjacent Conservative Club. After tea touches were rung on the beautiful peal of handbells kindly brought along by Mr. C. W. Taylor, of Watford.

A short business meeting was held, Mr. W. Bottrill presiding in the absence of the Master, Mr. George Cross, who was away on holidays. Reference was made to the passing of Mr. G. A. Card, late hon. secretary of the society. Letters of sympathy from the Middlesex Association and the Ancient Society of College Youths were read, and those present stood in silence for a few moments as a tribute of respect.

It was announced that the autumn meeting would be held at St. George the Martyr's Church, Southwark, on a date to be fixed later.

The business concluded with votes of thanks to the Vicar for the use of the bells, and to Mr. Harding for having made such excellent arrangements.

After further handbell ringing a return was made to the tower, where ringing included Treble Bob, Stedman, Grandsire and Cambridge Surprise. The meeting was brought to a close at 8.15 by lowering the bells in peal, the hope being expressed that the autumn meeting would be attended by a record number of 'Youths.'

FIRST QUARTER-PEAL ON BITTON BELLS.

The first quarter-peal on the bells at Bitton, Glos., since their augmentation from six to eight by Messrs. John Taylor at the beginning of the year was rung on July 1st. The founders are to be commended on their excellent work. The 'splice' is as nearly perfect as possible and the 'go' all that can be desired. The method rung was Grandsire Triples, and it was specially arranged for Mr. F. Beer, the leader of the Bitton ringers. It was his first quarter-peal in the method and on eight bells: Miss Norah G. Williams 1, Miss Nesta Gardiner 2, Frank Beer 3, Frank Skidmore (conductor) 4, Alfred Maggs 5, Joseph T. Dyke 6, Bertram G. Worsdell 7, John G. Jefferies 8.

CHESTER DIOCESAN GUILD.STOCKPORT BRANCH AT POYNTON.

A meeting of the Stockport Branch of the Chester Diocesan Guild was held at Poynton on Saturday, July 10th, when about 35 members and friends were present from all parts of the branch and neighbouring branches. The weather was exceedingly hot and this caused the ringing to be confined to rather shorter touches than usual on the recently rehung six bells, but, nevertheless, a variety of methods was rung before the service, which was conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. K. B. Somerville), who gave the members a hearty welcome to Poynton. In his address he laid special emphasis on the duties of ringers both within and without the tower.

Tea followed in a nearby cafe where a substantial meal was soon disposed of.

The business meeting was held under the chairmanship of Mr. S. Hough, in the unavoidable absence of the branch chairman. He said how much the visits to Poynton were always enjoyed, and extended the congratulations of the branch to the band which had just recently rung the record Minor peal.

Details of the annual festival, to be held at Chester on July 17th, were announced, and the meeting was asked to elect, subject to the proposal to be submitted to the Guild general meeting by the Grappenhall Branch being accepted, a representative to take part in the first peal attempt on the ten bells at Chester Cathedral. Mr. A. Barnes was unanimously elected.

The meeting closed with votes of thanks to the Vicar, wardens, organist, the ladies who served tea and the local ringers for their efforts on behalf of the members.

Those were replied to by the local secretary, Mr. G. Turner, who said he was always pleased to welcome any ringers to Poynton, as were also his colleagues, one of whom was prevented from being with them that day by sickness.

The meeting decided to send a message expressing their regret at his absence and best wishes for his speedy recovery.

A return was then made to the tower, where the ringing ranged from Bob Minor to Spliced Minor in various methods.

DEATH OF A DARESBURY RINGER

The death occurred on Wednesday, July 21st, of Mr. Joseph Littler at the age of 41 years. He had been a member of the Daresbury tower attached to the Grappenhall Branch of the Chester Diocesan Guild for a number of years, and was an able ringer and conductor.

The funeral took place on Saturday, when all the towers of the branch were represented. The local ringers rang a short course of Bob Minor with the bells fully muffled.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

The distance covered on the South Devon tour was close on a thousand miles, counting the outward and the return journey.

Only one peal of Cambridge Surprise Major has ever been rung by eight brothers and that was by the famous Bailey family of Leiston, Suffolk. That peal was rung 15 years ago last Saturday.

The name of Mr. S. Moston was inadvertently given as Morton in the report of the annual meeting of the Chester Diocesan Guild. Mr. Moston is one of the few survivors who attended the first meeting of the Guild in 1837.

Longton, Staffs, has lost the youngest member of the tower—Eric Holland, aged 13. A half-muffled peal of Grandsire Triples was rung in his memory on July 22nd.

BROADCASTING.

FALLING OFF IN QUALITY OF RINGING.

To the Editor.

Sir,—After the plain and salutary remarks of the president and the strong comments made by others at last year's meeting of the Central Council there was a distinct improvement in the quality of the ringing broadcast from various churches, but the effect seems most regrettably to have since worn off. Ringing, broadcast on two or three recent Sundays, has been anything but a credit to the Exercise.

Where a local band cannot undertake to ring half-pull changes with faultless accuracy, it is incomparably better to be content with well-struck rounds—and in some cases further practice is needed even to do that.

PROPOSED RESTORATION FUND.

The proposed launching of a restoration fund came up for discussion again at the quarterly meeting of the Warwickshire Guild at Southam on July 17th. The Chairman (the Rev. Canon O. M. Jones, Rector of Southam) said such a fund would be an excellent idea. Authorities at many churches where the bells were in a bad state, he continued, would receive encouragement to proceed with their repair if they were to get a grant from a body like the Guild. He mentioned instances of rings of bells in his rural deanery which might soon be put in order if the Guild were to set the ball rolling by giving the first subscription.

Several methods of building up such a fund were put forward at the meeting, among them being that a collection be made at the quarterly services, or at the tea table; that a certain percentage of the Guild's income should be set aside annually and credited to the fund.

The latter idea was thought to be preferable, as it gave everyone in the Guild an opportunity of subscribing, whereas collections at the meetings would always come upon the same faithful few who regularly attended the meetings.

A resolution was passed, proposed by Mr. Stone and seconded by Mr. Burt, that the annual meeting be asked to consider the setting aside of a certain proportion of the Guild's income annually in order to build up a restoration fund.

Earlier in the afternoon ringing had taken place on the five ring of eight bells until 4.45 p.m., and a short service held, conducted by the Rev. Canon O. M. Jones, the Rural Dean.

At the business meeting the following towers were represented: Allesley, Exhall, Bulkington, Nuneaton, Chilvers Coton, Lillington, Rugby, Stratford, Leamington Hastings and members of the local band.

Meeting places for the next three months were arranged as follows: August, Arley; September, Church Lawford; October, Stratford-on-Avon.

The following new members from Leamington Hastings were elected: Messrs. F. J. Briscoe, K. Gardener, F. Gurney, C. Goode and E. Hopkins. The election previous to peal attempts of Messrs. William Thorpe and James Upton, of Wolvey, and Mr. E. H. Johnson, of Stoke, was also ratified.

The bells were again put to good use, and a well-attended and thoroughly successful meeting came to an end at 8.30 p.m.

ROUND THE EMPIRE. CELEBRATING THE CORONATION IN THE DOMINIONS.

Ringling News from Canada, Australia and Tasmania.

News of ringing in distant parts of the Empire has reached us, and will be read with interest by ringers of the homeland.

The Coronation was celebrated with ringing in Vancouver, and Victoria in Canada, in Australia and Tasmania.

On the new ring of bells, with tenor of 34 cwt., recently installed at Christ Church Cathedral, Victoria, ringing began on Coronation Day at 7.30 a.m. Pacific Standard time, and was broadcast over the British Broadcasting Corporation, Canadian Broadcasting Corporation Network and the American stations, coming on the air immediately after the Empire Coronation broadcast. The bells were heard in England for three minutes. The ringing for the broadcast consisted of rounds, Queen's and the Plain Hunt well struck. The original programme of ten minutes was cut short on account of the additional time taken by the procession.

ST. PAUL'S CATHEDRAL, MELBOURNE.

The Bells (13 in number) hang in the right-hand tower.

After the ringing the ringers had breakfast with the Rt. Rev. Bishop Sexton and Mrs. Sexton.

The bells were rung again, starting at 11.45 a.m., and at midday were fired 21 times for the 'Royal Salute,' the ringing finishing with Grandsire Triples.

In Hobart, Tasmania, the new bells at St. David's Cathedral were rung prior to a special service at 8 p.m. on Coronation Day (corresponding with 10 a.m. in England). Some of the newly-formed band, augmented by ringers from Holy Trinity Church, and the Rev. A. A. Bennett (Vicar of St. George's, formerly of Gloucester), took part.

On the previous evening Holy Trinity bells were rung to Doubles and Minor and the bells were also 'fired.' The tower was very effectively floodlit, with electric light totalling 5,000 candle power. The interior of the belfry was decorated, the flag presented by Mr. W. H. Fussell, on the occasion of the English ringers' visit in 1934, being included. At the close of the ringing the National Anthem was sung.

On Coronation morning the Union Jack was flying from the tower and the bells were broadcast over the Australian national network from 9.20 to 10.35 a.m. The ringing included six-scores of Grandsire Doubles and courses of Bob Minor. The striking was good and the Hobart ringers are justly proud of their performance.

Holy Trinity ringers also helped to celebrate the birthday of the Governor of Tasmania (Sir Ernest Clark), who has shown his interest in the society by various kindly acts. The bells were rung on April 13th in honour of the occasion, and afterwards the hon. secretary (Mr. A. R. Wilson) received a letter from the Governor, in which he said, 'Please convey my very sincere thanks to the Holy Trinity bell-ringers for their most kindly thought in ringing a peal on my birthday. Our mutual goodwill and regard has been a great pleasure to me during my stay in Hobart.'

Special ringing took place at Holy Trinity in connection with the patronal festival of the church, which was observed by a week of celebrations from May 23rd to 30th.

Some slight overhaul has been given to Holy Trinity bells, and the 7th has been placed on ball bearings.

In May the Rev. A. A. Bennett visited Melbourne, where he formerly resided for a time and used to ring at St. Paul's Cathedral. The Cathedral Society gave him a specially warm welcome, and a quarter-peal of Grandsire Caters (1,260 changes) was rung in 56 minutes: Miss Frey Shimmis 1, F. Broughton 2, J. Murray 3, W. Waghorn 4, Rev. A. A. Bennett 5, J. P. Trotter 6, H. J. Ross 7, A. A. Savage 8, J. W. Spencer (conductor) 9, E. B. Nott 10. It is interesting to note that this band included all the six Australian ringers who took part in the peal of Grandsire Cinques on Armistice Day, 1934, and that Mr. Bennett was the only Tasmanian resident to take part in a peal during the English visit to Hobart.

The King's birthday was celebrated on June 9th in Victoria, British Columbia, by a 'royal salute' of 21 'shots,' fired on the bells of the Cathedral, followed by Grandsire Triples. The ringing was broadcast, those taking part being E. W. Izard, A. C. Meluish, R. Lane, W. P. Jaime, Com. C. H. Brown, T. Quest, R. Carrier, E. Lake, H. Lingham, E. J. Merrett, O. A. Gill and J. Beckerleg.

On Sunday, June 27th, seven members of the Vancouver Guild visited Victoria and shared in some excellent ringing. The visitors were A. C. Limpus, A. King, R. Pitman, F. Hird and Mrs. Hird, W. Sampson, A. Lomas and W. Watts.

The visitors left Vancouver by the midnight boat, and, seemingly little more than drifting across the intervening 83 miles of water, arrived at 7 a.m.

One course of Stedman Triples, two touches of 168 Grandsire, our touch of 476 Grandsire, one of 252 and another 266 Grandsire Triples, conducted by A. Lomas, were rung for morning service. Several plain courses of Grandsire Triples were accomplished by the Victoria ringers, some of whom also took part with the Vancouver ringers on inside bells in two of the above touches.

The visitors spent part of the morning exploring the beautiful surroundings of the city, and in the afternoon, with several of the Victoria Guild, had tea in Mr. and Mrs. Izard's garden overlooking the water at Portage Inlet. After tea they rang several touches on the handbells. It was a fine clear afternoon, and the bells sounded very beautiful over the water, being heard nearly a mile away. They also rang for evening service at the Cathedral, scoring a course of Stedman Triples and 476 of Grandsire, and later they rang the congregation out of church with further touches.

PETERBOROUGH DIOCESAN GUILD.

WELLINGBOROUGH BRANCH VISITS ISOLATED TOWER.

A quarterly meeting of the Wellingborough Branch of the Peterborough Diocesan Guild was held on Saturday, July 17th, at Whiston, quite a small village and rather difficult to get to, unless by one's own means. The church is situated on the top of a hill overlooking the Nene Valley and is well worth a visit. A short service was held during the afternoon, conducted by the Rector (the Rev. H. J. Smale), and the organ was played by his sister. Ringers were present from Higham Ferrers, Irthlingborough, Wellingborough, Brayfield, Yardley Hastings, Stanwick, Eton, Cogenhoe, Earls Barton, Grendon and Whiston, and 25 sat down to an excellent tea.

The Rector presided over the business meeting which followed. The branch president (the Rev. A. G. Bagshaw) and Lord Northampton were among those who sent apologies for absence.

Wilby was chosen for the October meeting, and Mr. A. E. Johnson, of Eton, was elected a new ringing member.

The branch secretary reminded the members of the Guild's decision to hold the next general annual meeting at Wellingborough and hoped they would do their best to make it a success.

He also read the telegram sent to H.M. King George from the last annual meeting and the reply since received.

Thanks were offered to the Rector for the use of the bells, for conducting the service and arranging for the tea, also to the organist and the ladies who served the tea.—The Rector suitably replied.

The meeting closed with selections of tunes and change ringing on handbells by the Irthlingborough party and Mr. Martin, of Higham Ferrers.

There are five bells in the tower of fine tone, and these were kept going during the afternoon and evening. Although it was the smallest meeting of the branch for some years, nevertheless it was a very pleasant one.

ANOTHER MEMORIAL TO WILLIAM PYE.

TABLET ERECTED AT FAMOUS CITY CHURCH.

As announced in 'The Ringing World' of February 12th last, when the balance sheet of the William Pye Memorial was published, the committee had decided to use the surplus of £8 in the fund to record one of the late Mr. Pye's greatest ringing performances, the 7,392 Cambridge Surprise Maximus at St. Mary-le-Bow, with an appropriate footnote, as a further memorial to that great ringer.

This decision has been given effect to, and on Tuesday, July 20th, the peal tablet was dedicated in the presence of a representative gathering of ringers and friends, including three brothers and the son of William Pye, nearly all the surviving members of the band that rang the peal, and Messrs. G. W. Fletcher and J. A. Trollope (vice-presidents) and W. Oram (treasurer) of the Middlesex Association.

After the peal board had been unveiled by Mr. C. T. Coles, the Rector (the Rev. S. Gordon Ponsonby) dedicated the record with the following prayer: 'To the glory of God, we dedicate this tablet recording the peal of Cambridge Surprise Maximus rung in the steeple of this church, in memory of William Pye and as an example to those that come after him. In the name of the Father and of the Son and of the Holy Ghost. Amen.'

Then followed appropriate prayers and collects, and an address by the Rector, who referred to the work of Mr. Pye and ringers generally, for which they of the Church were grateful.

Mr. J. A. Trollope referred to the Memorial Committee's decision to erect this tablet as one which, he felt sure, would commend itself to all subscribers to the fund raised last year. He went on to speak of the late Mr. Pye's great abilities as a ringer and conductor, and of his long ringing career, during which his determination enabled him to perform many great things, including the ringing of this long peal on a tenor of over 50 cwt.

Mr. G. W. Fletcher thanked the Rev. S. G. Ponsonby for giving his permission for the erection of the tablet, and for his services that evening; and Mr. E. S. Underwood, surveyor, for his great assistance.

The Rector, in reply, expressed his own thanks to the Exercise for the board.

The peal board, which is made of oak, in fluted frame with gilded bosses, is written in gold on black enamel background. It records the peal of 7,392 Cambridge Surprise Maximus rung on December 19th, 1925, in 5 hours and 38 minutes, with the following footnote:—

'This tablet is erected by the Ringing Exercise to the memory of the conductor, William Pye, who died on March 8th, 1935.'

After the service the bells were rung to Grand sire and Stedman Cinques, the ringing ending with six leads of Cambridge Surprise Maximus by the eleven surviving members of the peal band, assisted by Mr. E. Barnett.

The cost of the tablet was wholly met by the balance of the memorial fund, which is now entirely disposed of and closed.

The main memorial to the late Mr. Pye is at St. John the Baptist's Church, Leytonstone, where two treble bells were installed to increase the ring to eight, and a recording tablet placed in the church porch.

DEATH OF MR. JAMES BATTERS.

VICE-CAPTAIN AND CONDUCTOR AT MERSTHAM.

The ringers of St. Katherine's, Merstham, have sustained a very deep loss in the death of Mr. James Batters at the early age of 31 years. The deceased first learnt to handle a bell on leaving school and the choir, at about 14 years of age, and throughout the whole of the intervening 17 years of his life remained a regular and punctual member of the Merstham band. He had held for a time the office of secretary, but, owing to business reasons, he relinquished this office. He was, however, persuaded to become vice-captain, an office he well and truly fulfilled until his untimely death.

Business claims gave him but little opportunity for peal ringing, and he had in fact, only rung a few, but he was a good ringer and able to ring practically any method. He early took to conducting and became the 'genial conductor' at his own tower. Very popular with his fellow-ringers, his smile and kindly nature will be greatly missed by his fellow-ringers.

The interment took place at Merstham on Wednesday, July 7th, when a large number of villagers as well as ringers were present. Among those who attended were Mr. D. K. C. Birt (Master of the Surrey Association), Mr. Walter Claydon (secretary, Southern District), Messrs. Sanders and Robinson (Ruckland), Mr. R. Fuller (Master, Southern District) and all the Merstham ringers.

Among the many beautiful wreaths was a white floral bell from his fellow-ringers and a wreath from the Surrey Association.

THE LATE MR. WILLIAM PYE.

SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD.

WEDDING GIFT TO DORCHESTER DISTRICT RINGING MASTER.

The summer quarterly meeting of the Dorchester Branch of the Salisbury Diocesan Guild was held at Wyke Regis on July 10th and was attended by over 100 ringers and friends. A short but beautiful service was conducted by the Rector, the Rev. E. de B. Thurston.

The Rector, in his address, spoke of the bells of Wyke Regis Church and their particular associations with the parish. Originally, he said, there were only four bells, which were later removed, supposedly by order of the King (but of that there was no proof), and later a peal of seven bells was hung and these in their turn were restored in 1891. They were not now bells in the strict sense of the word, but the old metal had been melted down and new material added, and so they had new bells, but made from the old metal.

An excellent tea, served in the Memorial Hall, was provided by the wives and friends of the Wyke Regis ringers and was greatly enjoyed. In the absence of the chairman (the Rev. A. W. Markby), the Rev. R. P. Farrow presided over the business meeting and was supported by Mr. C. H. Jennings (secretary), the Rev. E. de B. Thurston, the Rev. K. E. Alexander, Capt. G. Wheeler (churchwarden) and the Rev. F. Llewellyn Edwards, general secretary of the Guild. There were also present representatives of the following towers: Abbotsbury, Bere Regis, Bradford Peverell, Buckland Newton, Dorchester, Frampton, Preston, Sydling, Upwey, West and East Lulworth, Wool, Wyke Regis, Bourneouth, Lytchett Matravers, Lytchett Minster, Poole, Swanage, Wareham, Wimborne, Ferndown, Andover, Bovington Camp, Swindon and Thornford. Other distinguished visitors included Mr. C. H. Kippin, of Beddington, assistant secretary of the Surrey Association, Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Melville, formerly of Guildford and now of Winchester, and Mr. D. Cooper, of Croydon Parish Church, and other ringers from Surrey.

When it was announced that the next meeting would not be held at Frampton as previously decided on, the Chairman said, 'Frampton is one of those places where they want a Vicar, but cannot afford to pay him, and, of course, even the clergy have to live. If there is anybody here who knows of a person who would be willing to take on the job, Bishop Joscelyne would be very pleased to hear of him.'

It was decided unanimously to hold the meeting instead at Maiden Newton, on the first Saturday in September.

The Chairman then extended a warm welcome to the visitors and new members, especially the visitors, remarking that he never attended more sociable and jolly meetings than in Dorset. He announced that the dedication of the two new bells to make a peal of ten at Poole, hung to commemorate the Coronation, would take place on Saturday, September 25th.

A vote of thanks was accorded the Vicar for the use of the bells and the Memorial Hall, and the Chairman further thanked the organist (Mrs. Howard), the organ blower (Mr. J. Rose) and the local ringers for preparing the meeting.

In responding the Rector expressed his pleasure at the meeting, and added: 'There is one regret this afternoon, namely, that Mr. Alfred Rose, a member of Wyke Regis Guild for 40 years and lately our captain, is no longer with us.' He asked the company to stand for a few seconds in silent tribute.

The Chairman further expressed thanks to Mr. C. H. Jennings, who was directly responsible for the organisation of the whole meeting. The Rev. F. L. Edwards said he would like to associate himself with this vote of thanks and he paid a high tribute to the work Mr. Jennings did on behalf of the Guild. In reply, Mr. Jennings said he was always ready and willing to do anything for the dear old Church, and in these days when people were so indifferent it was up to every body to 'do their bit' (applause). Mr. Jennings, continuing, said the meeting was a unique one, for there was to be a presentation in recognition of his work for bellringing in Dorset to their Ringing Master, Mr. E. T. Paul Field, who was to be married in a fortnight's time. The gift was a peal of handbells in the key of C. He hoped every time this peal was brought out for practice, or ringing a peal, it would bring back happy memories of times spent among bellringers in Dorset, and particularly the Dorchester Branch, by Mr. Field and his bride.

The Rev. Llewellyn Edwards, in making the presentation, said Mr. Field had always been a very valuable officer to the Guild. He was marrying a Dorset woman who was herself a ringer, and was to settle down and live in Dorset. Mr. Field was a pupil of Mr. William Shuttle—who he was glad to see present—and had often given help and instruction to other members and to other guilds (applause).

The Chairman joined in the congratulations to Mr. Field and wished him and his bride every happiness.

Mr. Field, whose fiancée was also present, in reply, said that he was very grateful to the Guild for giving him such a beautiful present, and assured them that it would always remain one of his most treasured possessions.

Afterwards a trio of Poole ringers, conducted by the chairman, demonstrated the beautiful tone of the handbells, and a course of Grand sire Triples was also rung on them.

The meeting concluded with a resolution to hold a by-meeting at Hilton. Everybody agreed they had spent a very pleasant afternoon. In the evening the Wyke bells worked overtime and could be heard until a late hour. Methods rung ranged from rounds to Cambridge Major.

FOR BEGINNERS.

CALLING THE BELL ROUND IN GRANDSIRE TRIPLES.

While on the subject of calling touches of Grandsire Triples, it will not be out of place to give the beginner a few hints on the way to call the bells round. Perhaps, when ringing, something goes wrong; there may be a 'change course,' or it may be that some error is made in the calling of the pre-selected touch. If it is merely something rung for practice, there is no harm in the conductor going on and bringing the bells round, even if it turns out afterwards that the touch was false.

It is of no use to go on calling bobs or singles haphazard to do this, the bells might never come home, but with a little knowledge of how to proceed it can always be done within a reasonable length.

A first essential qualification for the bob caller is to be able to 'read' the coursing order of the bells. In a recent article we dwelt upon this part of the conductor's training, and we will assume that the necessary powers of observation have been acquired.

The simplest way to call the bells round in Grandsire Triples is first to get 6-7 into their proper coursing order, if they are not already there.

Get one or other into the hunt as quickly as possible, and then, if it is the 7th, call the 6th Before; if it is the 6th, make the call the lead after the 7th comes Before. This will put them together in the right order.

If it happens that there is only one bell coursing between 6 and 7 you can bring them together, and sometimes more quickly, by simply calling the 7th Before, thus sending the intervening bell into the hunt.

The next bell to concern yourself with is the 5th. If 6 and 7 are coursing, there are only four positions which the 5th can occupy; one is its right place—coursing the 7th. Another is in the hunt. If the 5th is in the hunt you put it in proper coursing order behind 6 and 7 by calling the 7th 'Before with a double'—a term which means calling the 7th Before and a bob at the next lead.

A third position in which the 5th may be found is immediately in front of the 6th: that is, 5, 6 and 7 are coursing in that order. The 5th can be placed behind the 7th by calling the 6th Before and then the 7th Before, the 5th being in the hunt between the two bobs.

The only other position is when there is one other bell coursing between 7 and 5. You get rid of the intervening bell (into the hunt) by calling the 5th Before.

When you have got 5-6-7 into position, the bells may be in the plain course. If they are not, make a call to bring 5-6-7 Home, that will be the lead after the 6th comes Before. Use either a Bob or Single as required. If this call brings the 4th out of the hunt (in other words, if the 4th went into the hunt at the previous call), use Bob or Single, whichever will bring the 2nd into the Hunt. If 3 comes out of the Hunt 4 must be brought in; if 2 comes out, 3 must be brought in. If 2 goes in rounds are produced; if 4 goes in rounds are got by another bob Home; if 3 goes in call the 5th Before with a double.

Sometimes it is quicker to bring the bells round at the handstroke lead of the treble, particularly if 7-6-4 are coursing in that order, or even, merely, if 6 is after 7. You then treat the 4th as if it were the 5th, and 3-2-5 to correspond with 2-3-4 respectively. Do not, however, overlook the fact that if you bring the bells round with a Single your touch is inevitably false, for you have reversed the first lead.

In this matter of calling the bells round, a little preliminary study with pencil and paper is well worth while. Put down a few lead-ends at random and apply the rules which are set out above. It will not only enable you to see how they work, but will also probably reveal how from certain combinations there may be quicker cuts to rounds.

ELY DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION.

BISHOP OF ELY WITH THE RINGERS.

The summer festival of Ely Diocesan Association was held at Soham on Saturday. The Vicar, the Rev. P. F. Boughey, conducted service and the Rev. J. Cook read the lesson. An inspiring address was given by the Bishop of Ely, who spoke of the importance of corporate worship. He sounded a note of encouragement in saying we need not feel dismayed by times of unhappiness in our own lives, for God is sure to answer in some way our prayers for help. The evil in the world around should not discourage, because it will be finally overcome, and 'Jesus shall reign.'

A generous tea was provided by Mrs. Boughey and helpers in the Church Hall. A short business meeting followed, and it was a very great honour to have the president, the Rt. Rev. Bishop Heywood, in the chair.

It is hoped to hold the 1938 summer festival at Wisbech.

A hearty vote of thanks was passed to the Rev. R. Copeman for his handsome gift of the book, 'Legends of the bells,' by Ernest Morris.

The Rev. P. F. Boughey was elected an honorary member of the association. The Rev. J. Cook and Messrs. R. E. Cavey, C. E. Cavey, J. Edwards, V. Johnson, L. Long, R. Palmer and F. Pluck were elected ringing members, and Mr. Wright, of Mildenhall, a non-resident life member.

Proceedings concluded with votes of thanks to the Lord Bishop, the Vicar and to the ladies who prepared tea.

The Vicarage gardens were thrown open to the visitors by the kindness of the Rev. and Mrs. Boughey.

SHEFFIELD SOCIETY'S SIX-BELL CONTEST.

BOLSOVER WON FOR THIRD SUCCESSIVE YEAR.

The six-bell ringing contest for the Sheffield and District Society's silver cup took place at Dronfield Church on Saturday, July 17th. The bells, a splendid ring, recently rehung, are all that can be desired for such an event.

The cup was won by the Bolsover Parish Church company, this being their third successive achievement in holding the cup, which is competed for annually.

The judges (Messrs. George Lewis and S. F. Palmer) presented a most interesting and instructive report on the contest. The errors of each band were pointed out, with an explanation why and how the faults mounted up against the competitors.

The Vicar of Dronfield arrived just as tea was over and gave the society a very hearty welcome. He also conducted a short service in the choir stalls.

Ringling was continued until 9 p.m., the tower being open to all after the contest. Every one departed with the satisfaction of having spent the day well.

TYNEMOUTH BELLS.

SCHEME FOR RESTORATION.

The parishioners of Christ Church, North Shields, the Parish Church of Tynemouth, are making an effort to get their bells tuned and rehung. Saturday, July 10th, was observed as a 'gift day,' when the clergy sat at the church door to receive contributions. Collecting envelopes had been previously distributed. The bells were rung at various times, in which the Whitley Bay ringers assisted, and also a few touches on handbells.

The result of the appeal was that 237 envelopes were returned containing an aggregate of £73, which brought the fund up to a total of £103. The appeal is for £400. This is a large sum for the parish to raise, but a great effort is being made to get it, and assistance from any ringer friends would be gratefully appreciated. Contributions may be sent either to the Vicar (Canon C. Milner) or the captain of the ringers, Mr. J. E. Scott, 74, Hollywell Road, North Shields.

The condition of the bells, which are a pair of ten, has been a cause of trouble and anxiety for some years. Six of them were cast at the Whitechapel Foundry in 1769. In 1874 two were added to complete the octave, and in 1879 two others were hung to make the ten. Having been cast in three instalments they are not accurately in tune, and now they are heavily corroded, which reduces their resonance. To make the ring perfectly satisfactory it is necessary to dismantle the ten bells and send them to a foundry to be cleaned by sand-blast process and correct their notes and harmonic tones; fit new clapper staples and clappers; provide new headstocks for the ten bells; and rehang the bells with new steel gudgeons and self-aligning ball bearings fitted in dust-proof housings. The timbers of the bell frame appear to be sound and no work in respect of the frame or its supports is necessary.

In their appeal for the sum of £400 the Vicar and churchwardens say: 'Christ Church bells have been ringing for 166 years. We feel it is our duty to ensure their continuance and at the same time improve their tone. We have a band of ringers who are devoted to the old English art of change ringing, and we believe that the music of the bells is appreciated by everyone who hears it.'

LEEDS AND DISTRICT SOCIETY.

INVITATION FROM BARNSELY SOCIETY.

The July meeting of the Leeds and District Society was brought forward a week in order to allow those ringers to attend who will be affected by the Leeds holidays, which start to-morrow.

Ringling, slightly delayed at the outset owing to a funeral, continued from 3.30 until 9 p.m., except for the breaks when tea and the meeting intervened. The latter was held in the tower. Mr. H. Davison (vice-president) was in the chair, and members were present from Armley, Batley, Burley, Birstall, Bradford Cathedral, Brighouse, Felkirk, Headingley (St. Michael's and St. Chad's), Idle, Holbeck, Leeds Parish Church, Rothwell and the local company, also friends from Aston-under-Lyne, Rotherham and Ulverston.

One new member was elected, Mr. V. Bairstow, of Denholme.

The usual vote of thanks to the Vicar, churchwardens and local company was proposed by Mr. L. W. G. Morris and seconded by Mr. A. Armitage.—Miss Mary Stilson replied for the Drighlington ringers.

The next meeting is due to be held at Shipley on Saturday, August 28th, but an invitation to hold a joint meeting with the Barnsley and District Society at Horbury on August 14th was received. After discussion it was decided that owing to the holidays and short notice it would not be possible to hold a joint meeting on that date, but hope was expressed that as many of the Leeds members who could get to Horbury on that date would do so.

Methods rung during the day were Plain Bob Major, Kent and Oxford Treble Bob Major, Double Norwich Court Bob Major, Superlative, Stedman Triples, College Exercise, Cambridge and Oxford Minor.

A VILLAGE CALAMITY.

ATTRIBUTED TO ST. MARGARET'S, WESTMINSTER, RINGERS.

St. Margaret's Society, Westminster, visited Kent and Sussex for their annual outing. Leaving Kennington Church just after 8 o'clock, a couple of hours of beautiful travel through Kentish lanes at their best brought them to St. Mary's Church, Lenham. Stedman Triples and Cambridge Surprise were successfully accomplished, and it would have been better for the Double Norwich if 'non-intervention' had prevailed. In the middle of it a farrier in the village burst into the belfry in a frenzied state and shouted to the ringers, in an almost incoherent voice, to stop 'pulling the bells' because his horse had stumbled and refused to get up. The Double Norwich was, however, finished in spite of such a village calamity.

Afterwards the journey was continued to Wye. Here upon a very nice peal the first touch of Spliced Surprise Major of the day was attempted, but at the ninth and last lead it went where so many more have gone before. A touch of Grandsire Triples was rung for the representative of the local company, who afterwards joined the party at dinner and welcomed the visitors to Wye on behalf of the Vicar.

At Ashford the ringing was curtailed owing to a funeral, and a course each of Treble Bob and Superlative were all that could be managed at this very beautiful church. Over the border, in Sussex, the ringers reached Salehurst in time to ring before tea. London Surprise and Grandsire Triples were rung on this lovely peal. After a very excellent tea thoroughly enjoyed, the journey was continued to Fairwarp. Here upon a new and very handy little peal a course of Bristol was rung as the opening touch, followed by Stedman Triples. Two youths of the local company who came to welcome the party said they could not hunt the treble to Grandsire, so the day's ringing concluded with some call changes with which the Fairwarp ringers were very pleased. This was a rather unusual method for the Westminster band. A couple of stops on the way home and Kennington was reached about 10.30 p.m. with repeated thanks to Mr. W. H. Hewitt for all his excellent arrangements. G. M. K.

LYME REGIS RINGERS' TRIP.

A LONG DAY IN WILTS AND SOMERSET.

Lyme Regis ringers made Trowbridge their objective for their annual outing on Saturday, July 10th. A 7.30 a.m. start brought them to Blandford by 9.15, where they found a well-lighted ringing chamber and a grand ring of eight, all recently rehung and tuned. Some well-struck Grandsire and Stedman Triples and Kent Major were thoroughly enjoyed, ringing finishing with a good fall in peal. The organist keeps a little tea parlour here, and showed the visitors a unique apple tree in his garden, the trunk being quite hollow, while the branches are laden with fruit. From Blandford the road took the excursionists via many alarming corners into Shaftesbury, eventually broadening out over fine Wiltshire Down country, which provided some splendid panoramic views. Nearing Westbury three magpies took flight from a fence—poetic precursors of a wedding—and, sure enough, the wedding was met on the approach to Westbury Church! Here the visitors were welcomed by the Vicar, the Rev. R. C. Turner, and some of the local band. Heavy metal had to be encountered, but good going bells, and a touch of Bob Major was somewhat indifferently struck. Grandsire and Stedman Triples, however, went along quite respectably.

Trowbridge was reached a little late, but luncheon was none the less acceptable. After a leisurely meal, Messrs. S. Hector and C. Raison welcomed the party at the tower, with its graceful, lofty spire. It is recorded that handbells have been rung here by ringers sitting on the weathercock! Ringing was limited owing to illness near the church. While it is true to say that Grandsire and Stedman Caters were attempted, it would be better to speak of the Kent Major and a course of Double Norwich as rung, finishing up with a touch of Stedman Triples. An hour or so was left for shopping, and after tea the road was taken again to Beckington. Here a long draught of rope interfered sadly with the 'rise,' but, once up, the bells responded well to Grandsire and Stedman Triples, though wandering sallies provided occasional acrobatics. From there, through Frome, a very pleasant run brought the ringers to Stourton, one of the 'show' places of Wiltshire. Some hours could well have been spent here exploring the lovely park and gardens of which the visitors had to be content with only a corner, but that of real beauty. The little church nestling under a hill had a nice ring of six, which by some mistake had been left half-muffled. As a parish party from Weymouth was waiting to hold a service ringing was cut down to a short touch each of Kent Minor and Stedman Doubles.

The final tower of the day was Templecombe, reached punctually to programme. Here Mr. Stuckey and another member of the local band welcomed the ringers, the Rector, Preb. Windsor, arriving a little later. The good going ring of six were kept on the move for some time in Boh Minor, Kent, Cambridge and London. Thence, after some delay for such refreshment as could be found at that hour of the evening, the car made steadily homewards, landing the party in Lyme at 10.40 p.m.

The thanks of all are given to the incumbents who granted, in every case, most willing permission to ring; also to all who either left everything in readiness for the party or met them in the towers. With kindly weather, bells worth ringing and beautiful scenery en route, a happy and interesting day was spent. C. C. C.

AMONG EAST SUFFOLK TOWERS.

A SIX-BELL EXCURSION.

The ringers attached to St. Matthew's Church, Ipswich, had their first outing on Saturday, July 10th. It took the form of an afternoon and evening tour by coach to some East Suffolk towers. They were joined by the five lady members. Travelling via Bromswell and Eyke and over several miles of heathlands, the first stop was at Tunstall (6), where they were met by the Rector and his wife, who were interested, as they had not met lady ringers before. Leaving here a short run brought the party to Blaxhall (6). The bells here hang left-handed and caused some trouble at first to the less experienced. The next stop was at the fine old church at Aldeburgh (6). Here the ladies took part in some Cambridge Surprise and other Treble Bob methods. Tea was well served at the East Suffolk Hotel. After looking round the town and a walk on the sea front, a move was made to Little Glemham (5), a church difficult to find. It stands in a fine park and is only reached after some rough riding. However, after a ring and a group photo had been taken by one of the party, the homeward journey was begun. On the way a stop for a short ring was made at Wickham Market (6), and the last stop was at Pettistree (6), where, owing to late arrival, it was necessary to search the church for a lamp. Here a good course of Cambridge Surprise brought the ringing for the day to a close. A run of 12 miles brought the band home by 10.30 after a most successful trip. During the day the band, assisted by the ladies, rang Oxford, Kent, Plain Bob, Cambridge and Ipswich Surprise. They wish to thank all who met them or had the bells ready for them.

TOLD IN VERSE.

ST. ANDREW'S, HOLBORN, RINGERS' OUTING.

On Saturday, July the 3rd—a warm and sunny day—
To Reading Town from Paddington we made our early way.
Some thirty in the party—and all of us were males—
We very soon had started, and were speeding o'er the rails.
Some members of the Guild we missed, no Norton and no Hughes,
But they had reasons good, the invitation to refuse.
Our leader was J. Hawkins, who his father brought along,
And many more—too many to be named in this, my song.
But our photographer was there, his young son by his side,
And camera, which, through the day, he diligently plied.
Arrived at Reading, there we found our coach and took our place,
And drove along the country roads at quite a gentle pace.
To Londoners it was a treat to note each country scene;
The trim and flowery gardens, and the fields and hedgerows green.
At times the trees which bordered the roads down which we passed,
Their spreading branches, full of leaf, a welcome shadow cast:
Haymakers, here, were seen at work; there, fruit pickers as well,
But it would take too long of all the pleasant sights to tell.
Cows many—mostly black and white—and chickens by the score,
Beehives in cottage gardens, or a child beside the door.
At last we stop—Great Milton—we get down and leave the coach,
And to the Parish Church, close by, we one and all approach.
While some go up to ring the bells, the others saunter round,
And view the church and village, while the chimies melodious sound.
Then on again to Woodstock, a most pleasant country town,
Where Blenheim Park and palace tell of Marlborough's renown.
'Twas here we lunched at the hotel—the sign before the door
Showed 'Bear' and dog at deadly grips—such sights were seen of yore.
The sun was hot, the wind was fresh, and clouds of dust did greet
Those of us who, to see the place, had wandered down the street.
There was a 'ring' here, too, and then, with all aboard,
The coach drove on to Gloucestershire, and dropped us at Fairford.
Here, as before, the ringers rang, but not in belfry hid,
But, standing on the church's floor, their skilful task they did!
And many stood to watch them, while the others walked about
To see the famous windows, English work without a doubt.
There, drawn and highly coloured, one traced the fall of man,
Our Saviour's birth and death, and how Redemption it began,
There was the Resurrection, the stone just rolled away,
The Lord's return to heaven, and the future judgment day!
The time passed all too quickly, for there was so much to see,
And we were due at Wantage, where we planned to have our tea.
But, first, to work, some climbed the tower, and rang round after round,
And passers-by stayed on their way to hear that cheerful sound.
The Red and White Refreshment Room meanwhile set out its best,
And those who rang required more cups of tea than all the rest!
But 'ere the meal was ended, and the journey back begun,
A pleasant little ceremony waited to be done.
A short address was read aloud, expressing their regret
That they must lose their Rector soon, though he was with them yet.
Their feelings there they showed in song familiar, and meanwhile
Their president had hid his face—but looked up with a smile,
To take their gift—a case of pipes—and, as if not enough,
A tin of choice tobacco, too, was given him to puff!
The company applauded as, his thanks the Rector spake,
But one thing more remained before their homeward way they take:
A cordial vote of thanks to him who had arranged the treat.
(Our secretary's organising powers there's very few can beat.)
Now wasn't that a birthday to be stored in memory?
A happy day for all who went—but most for E. C. B.

NORWICH DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION.SOUTH NORFOLK BRANCH.

A very successful meeting of the South Norfolk Branch took place at Kenninghall on Saturday, July 10th. The Rev. W. M. Harper Mitchell, Rector of Quidenham, conducted the service and gave an excellent address.

Afterwards over 30 members and friends attended the tea and meeting. Mr. W. L. Duffield presided, supported by Mr. A. L. Coleman (vice-president), Mr. P. Nolan Golden (general secretary and treasurer), Mr. A. G. Harrison (branch secretary) and members from Alburgh, Diss, Garboldisham, Palgrave, Pulham, Redenhall, Saxlingham, Shelfanger and Winfarthing. Other branches were represented by members from Buxton, Dersingham, Norwich and North Walsham, while Suffolk towers represented were Debenham, Stoke Ash, Redgrave and Newmarket. Mr. F. Hurry, of Cambridge, was also present.

Rounds for beginners and methods up to Cambridge and Superlative Surprise were rung at both Kenninghall and Quidenham.

It was decided to hold the next meeting at Bergh Apton on October 9th. The methods chosen for practice on that occasion are London Surprise and Oxford Bob Minor.

LONDON COUNTY ASSOCIATION.SOUTHERN DISTRICT VISIT CHISWICK.

For the first time since 1922, the London County Association on Saturday, July 17th, visited Chiswick. It was hoped, especially as it was a fine afternoon, to get a better attendance than usual, but the 20 members and friends who did avail themselves of the opportunity thoroughly enjoyed themselves. A short service was conducted by the curate, the Rev. Fellowes-Brown, and an excellent tea was served in the Parish Hall.

The business meeting followed, with Mr. H. Mance in the chair.

Mr. E. R. Bowman, of Hammersmith, was elected a member, and Kingston proposed for the next meeting, on September 18th, subject to permission being granted.

A very hearty vote of thanks was accorded the Vicar (the Rev. E. R. Rich) for his kindness in granting permission for the use of the bells, to the curate for conducting the service, to Mr. N. Manning for his valuable assistance in obtaining the necessary sanction to ring, and to the caterers for the tea.

After the business meeting, handbell enthusiasts demonstrated how to ring Stedman Triples. Other members returned to the tower and rang the bells going until 8.10 p.m., when they were lowered in peal.

Methods rung during the day included Grandsire and Stedman Triples, Double Norwich, Cambridge, Superlative and a good course of London Surprise Major. Members and friends attended from Barnes, Chiswick, Chelsea, Hammersmith, Isleworth, Streatham, Twickenham, Ealing, Kensington, Bishopsgate, and welcome visitors included Mr. H. H. Pearn, of King's Norton, Birmingham (back from a holiday in Paris) and the popular Northern District secretary, Mr. J. G. A. Prior.

ESSEX ASSOCIATION.A PROMISING YOUNG MEMBER.

The South-Eastern Division of the Essex Association had a very successful meeting at Goldhanger on July 3rd, when 35 members and friends were present from Great Baddow, Boreham, Broomfield, Chelmsford, Goldhanger, Maldon, Springfield, Great Totham, Little Waltham, Writtle, Blackmore, Newmarket, Sawston and Swindon.

Several of the party took advantage of travelling by the coach which had been booked for the purpose, and enjoyed a run through the country on a perfect summer day.

Ringing in the afternoon was followed by the association's form of service. The Rector of Goldhanger (the Rev. R. Gordon Roe) welcomed the ringers and gave a very interesting and helpful address. The singing of the hymns and psalms was led by the organist and choir, the lesson being read by the hon. secretary.

A very welcome and enjoyable tea was partaken of at the Chequers, and this was followed by a short and pleasant business meeting.

The Rector was elected an honorary member with the hope that he would soon be eligible as a ringing member, and Mr. J. South, of Tolleshunt D'Arcy, was elected a ringing member. One other ringing member was elected, H. Alan Shadrack, of Springfield, who on the Sunday week previous had rung his first 720 of Bob Minor for his twelfth birthday. A remark was made that if he continued as he was going he would make a better ringer than his father, who is divisional hon. secretary.

It was proposed to hold the next meeting at Great Waltham (where the peal of eight bells have recently been rehung by Messrs. Taylor and Co.) on the last Saturday in August, if this date should be convenient.

A vote of thanks to the Rector, the organist and choir and Mr. J. D. Buckingham was proposed by the Divisional Master, Mr. H. Mansfield, and, in reply, the Rector reiterated his welcome and said they were proud to have the association at Goldhanger. He greatly appreciated them electing him an hon. member. He apologised for the absence of the Vicar of Tolleshunt D'Arcy (the Rev. W. J. Sullivan), who was unable to be present owing to a church fete being held in his garden.—Mr. Buckingham also replied.

After handbell ringing and ringing at the tower, a general move was made to Tolleshunt D'Arcy and Tolleshunt, where the bells were available for the evening, ringing at the latter place continuing until about 9 p.m., when another enjoyable gathering came to a close.

DON'T SCRUB YOUR HANDS!

skin this simple way*

To many people, the problem of getting the hands really clean without harming the skin is a serious one. Grease and grime, which become deeply ingrained into the pores of the skin, are extremely difficult to remove, and ordinary washing with soap or even scrubbing will fail to remove them completely. Housewives, particularly, who complain that their hands get ruined by the nature of their work, will find the preparation called DERMAFOAM, a real "godsend." DERMAFOAM just smoothes away dirt and grease without effort. It gets right down into the pores and removes every particle of grime, leaving skin beautifully supple and healthy.

Men, too—when you've finished that dirty job on the car, DERMAFOAM will quickly banish all grease and oil from your hands. It acts almost magically—working under and around the nails and into every minute crease, removing all trace of dirt in a flash.

Engineers, Painters, Car Mechanics, Printers — everyone — will welcome DERMAFOAM, the modern method of cleansing and protecting the hands.

SUBSTITUTES FOR BELLS.

In these days we are constantly hearing of substitutes for church bells and the latest instrument to come on the market is a very ingenious apparatus. It is claimed that the effect of a peal of bells of any weight or note can be produced, and, in extolling the virtues of the new invention, an assertion has been made—utterly absurd, of course — that a single operator can achieve elaborate change ringing without previous knowledge of campanology. More than sixty years ago another substitute for bells was seriously advocated, and it was suggested that their manufacture would form a new branch of industry. The substitute in that case was steel bars, which 'produce a very pure, distinct and particularly melodious sound, with many other advantages over church bells of moderate size.' The claims of steel bars were put forward by a serious journal, 'The Choir,' but we know of no case where the experiment was tried. As instruments of tone and tune, however, the steel bells produced from a factory in Sheffield about that time were dismal failures, as the few examples now left to us prove.

Threats to the bell industry are thus no new thing, but modern methods and propaganda often have far reaching results. There is a growing tendency to use mechanical aids, and there are a number of churches where gramophone bell records and amplifiers are already in use. The electronic instrument, which has now been introduced, is not a mere contrivance for reproduction of records, but can be operated in the same way that a carillon can be played. We do not think, however, that there is any real danger of church bells being ousted from their place, either in the purpose which they serve, or in the position they occupy in the sentiments of the majority of the English public. There may be, indeed, something to be said for the contention, put forward at the meeting of the Central Council, that amplified records, which reproduce good change ringing on well-known peals of bells, are to be preferred to the monotonous clang of a single bell. Operated with skill, also, the public would probably rather hear the new musical instrument than the ting-tang of some of those unmelodious things which pass for bells, but the drawback to artificial devices is that they are a temptation to church builders to be content with something cheap, and to put permanently out of consideration any idea of completing their work with a noble tower and a peal of bells, with which it was the delight of our forefathers to crown their efforts in church building. As ringers it should be our duty to influence, as far as possible, the provision of proper rings of bells in new churches and to prevent the spread of the idea, that modern inventions are any real substitute for bells and still less a substitute for the fine old art of change ringing. 'Canned' bells may have their uses, but there is, we hope, little real danger of them taking the place of the products of our English foundries as long as the love of bells continues in this country and ringers can be found to man the ropes and ply their centuries' old craft.

On Thursday, July 29th, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples was rung at Holy Trinity Church, Llandudno, in honour of the silver wedding of Mr. and Mrs. F. V. Mr. G. Bromley, who has been totally blind from birth, rang the 6th to 504 Grandsire Triples, conducted by W. H. Lawrence.

PEAL NOTES.

MEN AND EVENTS.

The first peal on the bells at the village of Steep, Hampshire, in which local ringers have taken part, was rung on July 22nd. It was a peal of Doubles rung as a birthday compliment to Mr. James Knight on reaching the age of 70 years. Mr. Knight has been a Sunday service ringer at Steep for 50 years.

At the age of 82 years, Mr. Albert Tanton still rings for Sunday service at Lyminge, Kent. In honour of his having completed 60 years as sexton at the Parish Church, a peal of Grandsire Triples was rung on Sunday, July 25th. It was also a birthday peal for Mr. Walter J. Prebble, who reached the age of 70, and rang the treble. The ringers wish to thank Mrs. Webb for her hospitality after the peal.

The Suffolk Guild have added another new Surprise method to their long list of first performances. Mr. Gabriel Lindoff's No. 70 has been named Minsmere.

To obtain a new peal of Cambridge Surprise Major is a distinction for any composer, and Mr. C. H. Kippin has conducted a peal composed by himself to replace one rung four months ago which afterwards turned out to be false. It is believed to be the first peal of Cambridge Major with the sixth six courses at home.

A peal of Grandsire Triples was rung at Wrotham, Kent, on Saturday, in honour of the wedding of Mr. R. G. Rayfield and Miss V. L. Ford. The bridegroom is one of the local ringers and after the peal he entertained the band to a meat tea.

The 71st birthday of Mr. George Ladd, of Pinchbeck, the genial hon. secretary of the Elloe Deaneries Branch of the Lincoln Diocesan Guild, was suitably celebrated by a peal of Stedman Triples at Spalding on Saturday.

In the neighbouring parish of Surfleet another peal of celebration was being rung at the same time on the lightest ring of twelve in the country. There was a 'gathering of the clans,' and 5,005 Stedman Cinques came round in honour of the birth of the conductor's third granddaughter.

It was John Holman's 300th peal and his first for exactly a year. The Sheffield veteran has rung his peals in 99 towers in 23 counties.

Half the band who rang at Surfleet on Saturday rang in another peal of Stedman Cinques on Monday at Saffron Walden, Essex, this time in honour of one of the oldest ringers, the 77th birthday of Mr. Ernest Pitstow, one of the celebrated family, of which the late Mr. Nathan Pitstow was such a distinguished member.

The peal of Kent Treble Bob Major rung at Surfleet on July 24th was not the first by all Eastern Branch members of the Lincoln Guild, as one was rung at Silsey on November 28th, 1929.

Old-fashioned Bob Triples is a feature among the peals of last week. Rung as a farewell to the Vicar of Grimsburgh, Suffolk, on his retirement, it was the first peal of Bob Triples by all the band and by the Suffolk Guild. It will probably be the last for a good long time.

The brothers Ernest and Stanley Dobbie rang their 100th peal together on Monday when they took part in Folkestone's Coronation peal. The band received a hearty welcome from the Rector and local ringers.

HAPPY MEMORIES FROM OUTINGS.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—It has been my pleasure for the past eight or nine years to arrange for our band the annual and other outings, and visiting the counties of Herts, Beds, Bucks, Berks and Essex.

I am very pleased to say that everywhere the local ringers and rectors too have given me help in making arrangements and a great welcome to our band, with a cheery 'Come and see us again' when we have left their tower.

If our country friends knew how much we enjoyed these excursions into the wide open spaces they would know how much we have appreciated their efforts to make our tours a success.

To them all we say 'Thank you' and hope we shall see them again some time. In the meantime, if anyone would like to visit us when passing this way I am sure they will be welcome, although I'm sorry we cannot offer the wide open spaces.

Finchley, London, N.3.

CLIFTON RINGERS' FIRST 720.

At Backwell, Somerset, on June 17th, 720 Bob Minor by Hedley Gregory 1, Miss I. Hastie 2, William Bonner 3, Hedley Gregory, jun. 4, Wilfred Webb 5, Stephen H. Wood (conductor) 6. First 720 by ringers of 1, 3, 4 and 5. The above are all Sunday service ringers at Clifton Parish Church, Bristol.

BANSTEAD, SURREY.—At All Saints' Church for evensong on Sunday, July 18th, a quarter-peal of Stedman Triples (Thurstans): H. N. Pitstow 1, S. R. L. Dearn 2, A. E. Cheesman 3, J. Hobden 4, F. G. Woodies 5, T. E. Norman 6, A. J. Adams (aged 16, conductor) 7, E. T. Wooloff 8. Rung on the 17th birthday of the ringer of the 2nd.

FOR BEGINNERS.

TREBLE BOB IS NOT REALLY DIFFICULT.

It is not really a very difficult step from Plain to Treble Bob, but, when mastered, it opens up a much wider scope for the ringer's talents.

When plain hunting, the ringer takes his bell regularly from place to place, a step at a time. After leading he moves into 2nd's, then into 3rd's, next into 4th's, and so on, until he gets behind all the rest of the bells. He turns about by having a whole pull behind, and then comes down step by step, just as he went up, until he reaches the lead, where he has a whole pull, which really is only the means of turning round to hunt in the opposite direction, just as was his whole pull behind.

If the ringer has gone any step beyond ringing the treble in a plain hunt, he will know what dodging is. It is one step back in some place, which breaks up the regularity of the forward march.

Treble Bob consists of a series of backward steps throughout the lead. It is, in fact, a dodging hunt. It is based on a dodge in every dodging position; that is 1-2, 3-4, 5-6, etc., and the treble keeps to this dodging path. The other bells cannot keep strictly to it, or no progress could be made in the production of changes, but in the simpler Treble Bob methods they keep fairly closely to it.

The work of the treble in Treble Bob consists of three steps forward and one back, allowing, of course, for the turning round in front and behind. The treble starts by making one blow in 2nd's place, and stepping back at the next blow to lead a half-pull, at backstroke. Then it hunts forward three places, bringing it into 4th's, and steps back one into 3rd's (at backstroke). Then forward again three places and back one into 5th's (at backstroke). If you are ringing Minor the whole pull behind comes next, and then, corresponding with the blow in 2nd's on the front, one blow in 5th's and a step back into 6th's (at backstroke); forward three places to 3rd's, and a step back into 4th's (at backstroke), forward three places to lead, and a step back into 2nd's (at backstroke) and then the whole pull at lead.

You will have noticed that the step back is always at backstroke. It may help you. If you are not quite sure of your position, you know for certain that the next pull, if it is a handstroke, cannot be a backward step.

For a young band who are all just tackling Treble Bob for the first time it is not bad preliminary practice for all the bells to carry out a dodging hunt on these lines. There will be repetition of changes, but it will help the ringers to get used to a continuous dodging hunt and also to pick out the dodging places.

Kent Treble Bob is probably the easiest of all Treble Bob methods to ring. In each lead one bell remains in front, alternately leading and making 2nd's place (a whole pull in each) except when dodging with the treble. This is called the 'Slow' work and results in there being no dodging in 1-2, except with the treble; while, when the treble is in 1-2, place-making is substituted for dodging in 3-4, the bells going up making 3rd's (a whole pull) and 4th's (a whole pull) and those coming down 4th's and 3rd's. These places begin at backstroke.

There are some simple rules to guide you to this place-making. When you leave the Slow work, by dodging in 1-2 with the treble, make 3rd's and 4th's places going out; make similar places the next lead, immediately after passing the treble in 2-3.

When you pass the treble in 4-5 make 4th's and 3rd's places on the way down; make similar places the next lead, after you have dodged in 5-6 with the treble.

When the places are completed and you go down to lead, you will find yourself with the treble on the front. Dodge with the treble and begin the Slow work, which, as mentioned above, consists of a whole pull at lead and a whole pull in 2nd's alternately, until the treble comes back again.

There is no other dodging on the front, but with the exceptions in 3-4, while the treble is in 1-2, every bell dodges in every dodging place, whatever the number of bells employed, be it 6, 8, 10 or 12.

We suggest that beginners should endeavour to construct a lead or two of the method.

1 2 3 4 5 6
2 1 3 4 6 5
1 2 4 3 5 6
2 1 4 3 6 5

2 4 1 6 3 5
4 2 6 1 5 3
2 4 6 1 5 3

These figures show you how to start. You repeat the work of the second section until the treble has completed its dodge in 4-3 on the way down, and then put in a section corresponding to the first. That completed, make 6th's place when the treble leads and it should give you 142635 at the new 'lead head'; that is the row in the second lead corresponding to rounds in the first. Just try it!

SAILORS' SERVICE.

The special service held in Southampton Docks for the Merchant Navy and Fishing Fleets on Sunday, July 18th, was preceded by ringing at St. Mary's Church, a quarter-peal of Cambridge Surprise Major (1,344 changes) being rung by O. N. Curtis 1, L. Knott 2, J. W. Faithfull 3, George Williams (conductor) 4, A. J. Corrigan 5, R. Brown 6, H. Reed 7, R. Reed 8. First attempt for ringers of 1 and 2.

SOUTH DEVON TOUR.

A WEEK FULL OF INTEREST AND ENJOYMENT.

On Saturday, July 10th, a party of 18 ringers and wives left home by road for a week's ringing tour in South Devon. These included, apart from the peal ringers, Mr. and Mrs. C. Parks and Mr. C. Dean, of Croydon, Mrs. R. Collins (Sevenoaks) and Mrs. W. Melville (Winchester).

The main object being to see as much of the country as possible in the short time available, peal attempts were restricted to one each day, commencing on Monday.

Headquarters were at Newton Abbott, and ringing for Sunday morning service took place at St. Leonard's tower, where the visitors were warmly welcomed by Mr. Chris. Walker and others. The church was demolished in 1836, leaving only the tower, from which until recently curfew was rung every evening. Stedman and Cambridge were successfully brought round on the interesting light ring of eight. A stroll up the road brought the party to Wolborough, where they listened to rounds and call changes rung in the perfect Devonshire style by the local company. Sunday evening saw the tourists at Paignton, where they rang touches of Cambridge, Stedman and Grandsire for service at the Parish Church. A visit to the picturesque fishing village of Brixham concluded the day, which, although showery, had proved very enjoyable.

On Monday morning the first peal attempt was successfully concluded. This was Cambridge Major on the fine ring of eight at Totnes, one of the band being Mr. T. Myers, of Plymouth. The church is interesting for its unusual stone screen, thought to be the finest in Devon. A damp morning gave place to a fine afternoon, when the party drove to the charming village of Berry Pomeroy, and rang there a course of Superlative and touches of Stedman and Grandsire Triples. The remainder of the day was spent on Goodrington sands.

On Tuesday the company set out for the stately Church of Plympton St. Mary, where a course of Cambridge and touches of London, Stedman and Grandsire were rung on the noble peal of eight. Plymouth was the next stop, and at Charles Church, which has an excellent light ring of ten, Grandsire Caters and Cambridge Royal were rung. Mr. Myers ringing his first course in the latter method preparatory to starting for a peal of it in the evening. A delightful afternoon in beautiful weather was spent on the Hoe, where the party watched with great interest the movements of seaplanes and other craft in the Sound. After a false start, the peal of Cambridge Royal at St. Andrew's was successful, and Mr. Myers is to be congratulated on his splendid performance.

THE ONLY PEAL FAILURE.

The next day an early start was made for a peal of London Surprise Major at Highweek, a mile from headquarters, but this unfortunately came to grief and the bells were then set going to a course of Bristol and touches of Stedman and Grandsire. This attempt proved to be the only failure among the peals. In the afternoon a visit was paid to Kingsteignton, which stands at the beginning of the beautiful Teign valley, and here the party rang courses of Cambridge and London and touches of Stedman and Bob Major on the musical octave. A strenuous game of football on the sands at Dawlish followed, and the day ended with a drive round some of the surrounding country before turning in to headquarters.

On Thursday the tourists journeyed to Buckfastleigh, home of Mr. Aubrey Bennett, who rang in the successful peal of Stedman Triples in his home tower and to whom they were indebted for the privilege of ringing at Buckfast Abbey. Here the ladies were at first refused admission to the belfry, but after some delay consent was given. Ringing on these grand bells consisted of Grandsire Cinques, Stedman Caters (in which two ringers on holiday from Basingstoke took part) and Bristol Major on the back eight. After admiring the Abbey, with its wonderful golden altar, and purchasing souvenirs from the monks, the party lunched and then drove to Widecombe-in-the-Moor, scene of the famous fair. Nothing could be more beautiful than this little village, with its lofty church rising from a cluster of tiny cottages and the wide sweep of Dartmoor beyond. The nice peal of six were set going to Cambridge and Kent Minor and Grandsire Doubles. Then came a drive through the incomparable beauty of the moor to Princetown, so called in honour of the Prince of Wales, afterwards George IV., because it forms part of the estates of the Duchy of Cornwall. Tea at Princetown was followed by the long drive home to Newton Abbott.

On Friday morning a peal of Cambridge Major (in which Mr. C. Walker rang the treble) was scored at Moretonhampstead, and after lunch the party went on to Bovey Tracey, where they met Dr. Taylor, of Sevenoaks, who, although the real instigator of the tour, was unable to join in it. He had just returned from Sweden and was then on his way to Cornwall. After stopping to call a touch of Stedman, he said 'Au revoir' to the party, who concluded the ringing with a course of London and a touch of Grandsire on this well-going peal of eight. The church screen, a very fine and ornate piece of workmanship, was duly admired by the visitors. The next stop was Teignmouth, where the time was occupied either by bathing or enjoying a motor boat trip along the coast. Later in the evening came a drive to the old-world village of Stoke-in-Teignhead, en route for Newton Abbott.

The last day of the tour started well by a peal of London Major being scored at Kingsteignton. Mr. Walker, who was to have rung

DEATH OF A RAUNDS RINGER.

FORMER STEEPLEKEEPER AT ST. PETER'S CHURCH.

The death occurred on Monday, July 19th, of Mr. Horace Copperwheat, who, for about 40 years, had been a member of the St. Peter's Society, Raunds. Deceased had been towerkeeper for a considerable number of years, and under his care the bells and belfry were always in good condition. He was not a great peal ringer, but had rung about 20 peals in most of the standard methods from Flim Bob to Superlative Surprise Major.

A man of very quiet disposition, he regularly attended branch meetings up to about two years ago, when he ceased ringing altogether. He also gave up the position of towerkeeper at the same time, his son, Mr. W. Copperwheat, taking over the duties. Deceased had never told anyone why he had resigned, but when it was learned, a few weeks before his death, that he was suffering from cancer, it was realised that it must have been through ill-health.

The funeral took place on Thursday, July 22nd, after which touches were rung half-muffled by the local band and G. H. Roberts, Ringstead. Deceased, who was 57 years of age, leaves a widow, three sons and three daughters in bereavement.

SUMMER MEETING IN DEVON.

ENTHUSIASTIC SCHOOLBOYS.

A summer meeting (the first of its kind) of the North Devon Branch of the Guild of Devonshire Ringers was held at East Buckland and proved very successful. Twelve of the probationers of the West Buckland School Guild, who ring at East Buckland, were present, and the two other towers in the branch, Combe Martin and Ilfracombe, were well represented. Visitors, including the president of the Guild (the Rev. E. V. Cox) and the treasurer (Mr. T. G. Bartlett), came from Milverton, Calverleigh, Bampton, Bramford Speke, Upton Pyne, Exeter and Ide, making a total attendance of 42.

Ringing began at 2.30 and continued in the four standard methods until evensong at 4.30. After tea many of the company tried the new ring of six in the neighbouring church at Charles.

One most notable feature of the meeting was the eagerness of the more experienced ringers to help the boys of the School Guild, who took part in Grandsire, Stedman and Kent Treble Bob. Ringing in both towers ceased at 7.30, for the boys had to be back in school, and many of the visitors had 30 or 40 miles to go home.

SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD.

DEVIZES BRANCH HOLDS SUCCESSFUL MEETING AT MELKSHAM.

The half-yearly meeting of Devizes Branch of the Salisbury Guild was held at Melksham on July 3rd. The bells, an excellent ring of eight by Taylor and Co., were made good use of throughout the afternoon and evening. The service was conducted by the Vicar (Rev. Canon F. H. Sangster), whose address was greatly appreciated. The organ being out of commission, Mr. A. T. Weeks accompanied the singing with the piano. Tea, which had been prepared by lady members of the branch, was held in the Parish Room and 40 sat down. The Vicar, who is an hon. member of the Guild, having to leave early for another engagement, offered the members a hearty welcome.

Mr. E. F. White presided at the meeting which followed. He mentioned ringers who were present from outside the Guild area from Cirencester, Overton, Hants, and Chippenham, and hoped they would have a happy time.

Mr. K. C. Davis, of Blagdon, was elected a life ringing member of the Guild.

Rowds was decided upon for the next meeting, with Upavon (provisionally) for September and Westbury for the quarterly meeting in October.

Votes of thanks were passed to those who had contributed to the success of the meeting. Mr. Garrett (Overton, Hants) thanked all for the excellent welcome the visitors had received, and this was endorsed by Mr. F. J. Lewis, of Cirencester.

Ringing was then continued, methods being rung up to Cambridge Surprise Major. The following towers were represented: Bishop's Cannings, Bratton, Chippenham, Cirencester, Devizes (St. John's and St. Mary's), Bradford (Holy Trinity), Market Lavington, Melksham, North Bradley, Rowde, Southbroom, Trowbridge, Overton, Frome, Westbury and Warminster. Altogether about 56 members attended at the tower for ringing, and the meeting proved a most successful and enjoyable one.

the treble to this peal, was prevented by business from doing so. In the afternoon the party split up, some going to Slapton Sands for bathing and others to Salcombe, where they paid a visit to the Herzogin Cecilie, the famous windjammer that went ashore last year and is now to be broken up.

On Sunday an early start was made for home, after a week packed full of interest and enjoyment, no small part of which was due to local gentlemen who welcomed and helped the visitors at the various stopping places. Mr. F. E. Collins, who is fully conversant with this part of the country and arranged all the ringing and excursions, must be heartily congratulated on the success which has crowned his efforts.

LADIES' GUILD.CENTRAL DISTRICT ELECT OFFICERS.

The annual meeting of the Central District was held at St. Giles-in-the-Fields, London, about 35 people attending. Little ringing took place during the afternoon owing to the heat, and tea was welcomed at the early hour of 4.30 at the Express Dairy.

A business meeting afterwards took place, Mrs. R. Deal presiding. Seven new members were elected, viz., Miss Hooker and Mrs. Tanner, both of Throwley, Kent; Miss B. Colgate, Miss D. Corke, Mrs. R. Collins, Miss M. Crouch and Miss O. Matthews, all of Sevenoaks, Kent.

The following officers were re-elected: Vice-president, Mrs. R. Deal; hon. secretary, Mrs. G. H. Cross; assistant hon. secretary, Miss K. Bradford.

The committee was chosen as follows: Mrs. A. D. Barker, Mrs. C. H. Kippen, Mrs. F. M. Mitchell (re-elected) and Mrs. Massey, elected to fill the vacancy left by Miss K. Bradford becoming assistant secretary.

It was announced that the arrangements had been made for a meeting to be held at Great Baddow, Essex, on September 4th, following the suggestion made at the Beddington meeting. Isleworth was proposed as the place of the November meeting, the date to be the 13th. Mrs. Fletcher (general hon. secretary) drew the attention of members to the expenses incurred through the number of notices sent out during the past year to members, and it was decided that only those members who specially requested it should have the notices sent to them.

Mrs. Fletcher said that up to the present applications for about 40 tickets for the silver jubilee dinner had been made. Early application was desirable by those who did not want to be disappointed.

After a vote of thanks had been accorded to the Vicar for the use of the bells and to Mr. R. Geare for making all the necessary arrangements, a move was made to the belfry by all but the Dinner Committee, but great disappointment was felt when, on arrival, a request came through to the vergers that no further ringing should take place, as there was serious illness in the vicinity of the church.

PROGRESS OF NORTHERN DISTRICT.

All the officers and committee of the Northern District have been re-elected as before, and one new member, Miss Mary Richardson, of St. Mary's, Nottingham, was elected.

The secretaries' reports and accounts were read and passed and pleasure expressed at the progress made by the district during the past year in spite of the difficulties that had to be contended with.

KENT COUNTY ASSOCIATION.CANTERBURY DISTRICT MEETING.

The summer meeting of the Canterbury District of the Kent County Association was held at Ash on Saturday, July 10th, when 30 members attended, representing Canterbury (four towers), Wickhambreaux, Eythorne, Dover, Ospringe, Boughton, together with the local band.

Tea in a nearby hostelry was presided over by the Rev. Mahon, but as he was prevented from taking the chair at the subsequent business meeting his place was filled by Mr. H. Whitehead (Dover).

Two new members were elected, and Quex Park was chosen as the venue for the next meeting, the provisional date being fixed for August 28th.

After handbells in the garden a return was made to the tower and further ringing took place until 8.30 p.m., rounds, Grandsire and Stedman Triples, Bob Major and Kent Treble Bob being rung.

The thanks of the members were expressed to the Vicar of Ash (the Rev. C. McGraw) for the use of the bells, to the Rev. W. Mahon for conducting the service and his address, to Mr. W. E. Pitman for his services at the organ, and to Mr. W. C. E. Goldup for making the local arrangements.

A FIVE-METHOD QUARTER-PEAL.

At Watford, Herts, on Sunday, July 11th, for evening service at the Parish Church, a quarter-peal of Spliced Surprise Major in five methods, viz., Superlative, Cambridge, Bristol, London and Watford (1,280 changes): W. Norris 1, W. G. Paul 2, A. W. Dix 3, H. L. Long 4, S. H. Hoare 5, R. G. Bell 6, G. E. Howchin 7, H. G. Cashmore (conductor) 8. First quarter-peal in five methods on the bells. It was rung by the local band.

Eleven new members had been elected during the past year, practically a new member each month, so that it was felt the district was progressing and was encouraged to go forward.

Eleven members were present at the meeting, held at St. Mary's, Nottingham, and apologies for absence, owing to distance, were received from four, while three were prevented from attendance through sickness. Mrs. Kelly (joint secretary) had to stay at home at the last minute through the illness of her husband. The members expressed regret and wished all a speedy recovery.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

A useful collection of touches of Stedman Caters and Cinques, compiled from various sources by Mr. W. A. Cave, has just been printed and will be welcomed by conductors on ten and twelve bells. Mr. Cave will send a copy free on receipt of a stamped addressed envelope, forwarded to him at 29, Victoria Street, Bristol. His kindness will be appreciated.

The peal rung at Garveston (not Garvestone) on Saturday, July 24th, was rung under the auspices of the Norwich Diocesan Association, a fact which was omitted from the particulars sent to us regarding the performance.

A correspondent asks what is the best thing to use on tender hands, to keep them from blistering when ringing. Perhaps some of our readers, who have suffered in this way, can offer suggestions.

STEEL BARS FOR BELLS.

A SUBSTITUTE SUGGESTED SIXTY YEARS AGO.

'At a time when efforts are being made in different parts of the country to raise peals of church bells, a suggestion on the subject in 'The Choir' is opportune. Dr. Ferdinand Rables, of Malvern House, South Hackney, writes suggesting the use of steel bars as a substitute for cast bells. They are, he says, introduced in the United States and Germany with great success, and would form a new branch of industry should the manufacture of them be taken up in this country. There is not only a large area for them in England, but a great demand may be expected from the flourishing colonies of Canada, Australia, New Zealand and India as soon as they are known in those regions. The following outlines will explain their particular merits, combined with cheapness of production: Steel bars produce a very pure, distinct and particularly melodious sound, with many other great advantages over church bells of moderate size. The power of a clear and sonorous sound can be obtained equally well, if not superior, to that cast from bell-metal or steel. Their weight will be light in comparison to the present ponderous productions. They will not burden the steeple so much, and consequently, will give more scope for architectural design, and have the merit of far sounding. Their winding and hanging up will not be so difficult, dangerous and expensive. They are not liable to crack, as is often the occurrence with bells, and, therefore, adapted for use in any climate. By a simple and mechanical contrivance they are more easily set in motion. The cost, compared with manufactured cast bells, is so trivial that small churches and chapels, and especially mission stations abroad, will be enabled to secure a peal. Three or four steel bars, forming a peal whose weight would not exceed 100lb., could be manufactured for £11 or £12, whereas only three cast bells of the same power would at least amount to £50 or £60.'

This paragraph appeared in 'Church Bells' of July 12th, 1873, and to it was attached the following comment: We insert the above, which has been kindly sent to us as a cutting from some newspaper, for the amusement and instruction of our readers. If the only object be to make a noise for calling people to church, or for occasions of rejoicing, no doubt steel bars would answer well enough; so would a lot of old frying pans; but neither one nor the other would be bells; therefore it is vanity to talk of such substitutes.

A MEETING AT SCARBOROUGH.

To the Editor.

Sir,—I had a most interesting experience recently whilst on my holidays at Scarborough. At the boarding house where I was staying the visitors are accommodated at various small tables in the dining room, and at my first meal on Saturday evening, my wife and I were introduced to our table companions, a lady and gentleman from Bletchley and two other young people from the North. We talked, as people do, of everything under the sun, and so ended Saturday.

Sunday morning came, with breakfast at 9 o'clock. I kept my eye on the time, as I intended to be in the Parish Church belfry at 9.45 a.m.

I noticed that the gentleman from Bletchley also seemed to rush breakfast and that he left the house before me, presumably for a sharp walk along the front.

Imagine my surprise when, on entering the belfry, the first man I saw was my table companion, just about to take off his coat for a ring—Mr. Sears, of Bletchley, well known in ringing circles, but until then known to me by name only. I don't know which of us was the more surprised when we faced each other in the belfry.

Needless to say, we had many interesting talks during the holiday, and they were not all about the weather.

R. D. LANGFORD.

WEDDING BELLS.

A quarter-peal of Grandsire Doubles was rung at St. James' Church, Devizes, on the occasion of the wedding of Mr. R. T. Kemp and Miss R. L. Cannon on July 28th: R. W. Bridges 1, A. T. Weeks 2, J. S. Weeks (conductor) 3, T. Weeks 4, G. Winter 5, D. Cleverley 6. All are Sunday service ringers at this church with the exception of the ringer of the 5th.

A YORKSHIRE RINGING COMPETITION

FREIZELAND COMPANY WIN HALIFAX ASSOCIATION'S SIX-BELL CONTEST.

The annual meeting and six-bell contest was held at Almondbury on Saturday. Seven teams had entered the competition to ring 600 changes with a plain course for practice. The draw for the order of ringing was as follows: 1 Holmfirth, 2 Sandal, 3 Freizeland, 4 Liversedge, 5 Meltham, 6 New Mill, 7 Shelley. All the teams rang Oxford except Meltham, who rang Kent.

Tea was served in the Parochial Hall, to which about 50 sat down, and, after listening to some further excellent ringing, all again adjourned to the Parochial Hall for the meeting.

The balance sheet for 1936-7 was presented and adopted, and it was decided to hold the next committee meeting at Shelley on September 18th.

The officers were re-elected for the ensuing year.

After the usual vote of thanks to the clergy, churchwardens and local ringers, the judge (Mr. H. H. Smith) announced his decision as follows:—

Holmfirth: 17 faults, 5 penalty, total 22.
Sandal: 107 faults, total 107.
Freizeland: 11 faults, 5 penalty, total 16.
Liversedge, 20 faults, 5 penalty, total 20.
Meltham: 45 faults, total 45.
New Mill: 52 faults, 5 penalty, total 57.
Shelley: 137 faults, total 137.

Freizeland company were, therefore, declared winners and each ringer received a clock. Holmfirth ringers, who were second, each received a pair of 'Nell Gwyn' candlesticks.

The following new members were elected: Mr. R. Armitage, Mr. S. Manchester and Miss M. Byrom. Miss Byrom is believed to be the first lady member of the Halifax Association.

WINCHESTER AND PORTSMOUTH DIOCESAN GUILD.

PORTSMOUTH DISTRICT.

A quarterly meeting of the Portsmouth District was held at Curdridge on Saturday, July 24th, members attending from Alversloke, Bishop's Waltham, Curdridge, North Stoneham, Hedge End, Portsmouth (Cathedral and St. Mary's), Swanmore and Wickham.

The Guild service was conducted by the Vicar of Curdridge (the Rev. A. H. Starey). An excellent tea was served in the Reading Room, after which the Master of the association (Mr. G. Williams) presided over the business meeting in the absence of the Vicar.

Messrs. E. F. Hancock and R. Burnett, of the Cathedral and St. Mary's, Portsmouth, respectively, were elected members of the Guild. The election of Mr. E. J. Charman, prior to a peal attempt, was also confirmed.

Bishop's Waltham and Hambledon were both proposed for the next meeting, the former being selected, the date to be October 16th.

The Chairman proposed a vote of thanks to the Vicar for the use of the bells and for officiating at the service. Votes of thanks were also accorded to the organist (Mr. H. V. Harris) and the lady who provided the excellent tea.

The sum of 12s. 6d. was collected for the Soberton Bell Fund, and the members returned to the tower for further ringing, which ranged from Grandsire and Stedman Triples to London and Bristol Surprise Major.

ANOTHER RING OF SIX FOR WARWICKSHIRE.

NEW BELLS ADDED AT CHURCH LAWFORD.

The Church of St. Peter, Church Lawford, Warwickshire, until recently possessed only four bells. By the generosity of a friend of the Rector, these have been rehung in a new iron frame with all new fittings, the old treble recast and two new trebles added, making a very musical ring of six in the key of B flat, with a tenor of 7 cwt. 3 qr. 5 lb.

The bells were dedicated on Saturday, July 24th, by the Bishop of Coventry, who was accompanied by the Rev. W. H. Trickett (Rector), the Rev. T. N. R. Prentice, Vicar of Newbold-on-Avon, and Canon Ashton. The dedication took place in the tower, and, following the blessing, the bells were rung by six members of the Warwickshire Guild and also again immediately after the service. Tea was then partaken of at the Parish Room, a bountiful spread having been generously provided by the ladies of the Church Council, to whom the best thanks of the ringers are due.

A large number of ringers were present, including Mr. R. F. Deal, of London, and the methods rung during the evening ranged from Grandsire Doubles to London Surprise Minor.

On the following day for morning service, 720 of Bob Minor was rung: W. Vann 1, B. Beebee 2, C. Rayson 3, J. B. Fenton 4, C. H. Webb 5, J. H. White (conductor) 6.

The restoration has been carried out by Messrs. Taylor and Co., of Loughborough, and is another excellent example of their work. Mr. J. P. Fidler represented the firm.

COLLEGE YOUTHS' TERCENTENARY.

SOCIETY'S INTERESTING MEMENTO.

Over 300 tickets for the tercentenary dinner of the Ancient Society of College Youths on November 6th next have been bespoken. As the company is limited by the available accommodation to 400, those who wish to be present and have not already applied for tickets should do so at once.

A souvenir of the event is being issued by the society to all those who purchase tickets. It is a colotype reproduction of the original ornate invitation issued by the society to their guests in the early eighteenth century. Bow, St. Bride's and St. Saviour's (now Southwark Cathedral) churches are illustrated upon it.

The only alteration made has been to adapt the original wording to the present occasion, and the souvenir forms a very interesting memento of the auspicious event.

Only two copies of the original invitation are known to exist, one in the British Museum and the other in the Guildhall Library, London.

Lord Brereton, one of the founders of the College Youths and first Master, died and was buried at Brereton in Cheshire. Last Saturday in honour of the tercentenary a peal of Doubles was rung there by Cheshire members of the society through the kindness of the Rector (Canon H. H. Pitts), who generously provided refreshments for the ringers after the peal.

RINGING AND CRICKET AT TUNSTALL.

ENJOYABLE KENT MEETING.

The members of the Rochester District of the Kent County Association, as usual for the summer meeting, arranged a visit to the country and a very successful gathering took place at Tunstall on Saturday, July 24th. Representatives were present from Northfleet, Frindsbury, Rochester, Hoo, Chatham, Gillingham, Rainham, Bobbing, Queenborough and Sittingbourne, together with visitors from the Canterbury district and the local company in full force.

A cricket match was arranged in conjunction with the ringing, and this turned out to be a very 'Spicy' affair, although the 'Luck' appeared to be against the home side. The arrival of the district secretary to strengthen the batting of the home team was anxiously awaited, but when the time came, as a chip basket was not available for protection, the secretary deemed it wise not to rely on pads only and refused to be slaughtered. The smoking of pipes on such occasions should be debarred, and it is rumoured that a further sub-committee is foreshadowed to deal with this point with regard to the association's rules. It is also considered that the local cricket captain should be reprimanded by his belfry captain for allowing the visitors to bat first and so handicap the home side owing to the quick growth of the grass.

The association's Guild service was conducted by the Rector, the Rev. A. A. Midwinter, an honorary member of the association, and the collection for the Benevolent Fund of the association amounted to £1.

The ringers with their wives and friends after the service adjourned to the Parish Hall, where they were right royally entertained to tea by the generosity of the Rector, Mr. Churchwarden Wills, also an honorary member, being present to support the Rector and encourage the ringers. A very special assortment of 'cherries from heaven' arrived, as is usual, at Tunstall.

The business meeting was quite formal, the only important item being the venue of the annual district meeting, which it was decided to hold at Rochester.

Very hearty votes of thanks were passed to the Rector for taking the service and for his kind generosity, to Mr. Wills for his support, Mrs. Spice for her help at the organ, and all the ladies who so graciously waited upon the ringers.

RINGERS TOUR THE COUNTRYSIDE. MANY EXCURSIONS DESCRIBED.

Excursions in these days take ringers farther and farther afield, and on these 'busmen's holidays' the countryside is scoured for likely and unlikely places to ring. A large number of outings have taken place in recent weeks and here are a few reports sent in to us by correspondents who have participated in the trips.

CONTRASTS IN ESSEX.

HOW KELVEDON RINGERS WERE RECEIVED.

The ringers of St. Mary's Church, Kelvedon, had a thoroughly enjoyable half-day's outing on Saturday, July 17th. The first call was at Nayland, and then on to Stoke-by-Nayland. After ringing this heavy peal with some success, the company adjourned to the local inn for tea, and subsequently proceeded through the beautiful Constable country to Elgham and Stratford St. Mary. A successful day's ringing was brought to a close at the picturesque little church at Langham.

Touques were rung on all the peals mentioned, and the thanks of the company are extended to the incumbents of the churches concerned, and to those gentlemen who were kind enough to meet the visitors at the churches and who helped to make the trip so successful.

The outing was in no way marred by the ultra modern young housewife, who burst into one of the churches, hatless and stockingless, and informed the company that they had awakened her baby, that she couldn't hear the wireless for the bells and she was really very tired of bellringers. Rather was the outing made more enjoyable by the lady who met the company as they emerged from the same church, and who was really delighted that the bells had been rung by a visiting company. There certainly are extremes among the womenfolk, even in rural Essex, but luckily for bellringers the latter type prevails.

DISS RINGERS IN THE 'SHIRES' AGIAN.

A 221 MILES' TRIP.

Leaving Diss at 6.30 a.m. on Saturday, July 17th, in ideal weather, the St. Mary the Virgin Society set out for their annual outing. At Cambridge Mr. Tom Chevery (well known in the Diss District) joined the party and was of great assistance as guide for the rest of the day. On arrival at St. Neot's, touches of various methods were rung on the fine peal at the Parish Church. Then on to Finedon, where Mr. Tom Hensler was waiting to welcome the party, who, after ringing on the bells of the Parish Church, went to 'Tom's' hotel, the Prince of Wales, and partook of an excellent lunch. The next call was at the Church of the Holy Sepulchre, Northampton. On the homeward journey the ten-bell tower of St. Paul's Church, Bedford, was visited, and touches of Stedman and Grandsire Caters and Kent Treble Bob Royal were rung. After tea in Bedford, the party made for Cambridge and rang touches of Stedman Caters on the back ten at Great St. Mary's Church. A social hour was then spent at the Ringers' College, where good-bye was said to Tom Chevery. At Bury St. Edmunds, at 11 p.m., 'Sam' smelt fish and chips and demanded that the bus should be stopped. After a good supper 'Sam' returned to his back seat, where he had been guarding certain 'luggage' during the day. Diss was reached at midnight after a journey of 221 miles in 17½ hours. The ringers would like, through 'The Ringing World,' to thank all incumbents for the use of the bells and the ringers who assisted them, especially Mr. Tom Chevery.

NORTH WEALD RINGERS GROW AMBITIOUS.

AND GO ON A RINGING TOUR.

The St. Andrew's North Weald, Guild had their first ringing tour on July 10th. Hitherto they have had a seaside outing with little or no ringing. It should be explained that the Guild is young as yet and only struggling with method ringing, but, having mastered Grandsire Doubles, Bob Doubles and Bob Minor, they grew ambitious. The towers of Bedford, Cambridge and Huntingdon were chosen for the excursion, and the selection of suitable six-bell towers and other details of the tour were settled after consultation with Miss Kitty Willers. The Guild are very grateful for her advice. As a consequence a very enjoyable and interesting tour was arranged, i.e., Elston (Bedford), Eynesbury, Hemmingford Grey, Swavesey, Histon, St. Benedict's, Cambridge, and Trumpington. Elston, reached at 10.30 a.m., has a very nice old church and tower. The bells went well, and John Bunyan himself did not manage his bell better than those who rang it. Eynesbury came next, but of this place a sad tale is to be told. There is a fine church and tower, but the bells are very awkward. Three ropes are close together in the doorway, and they run the wrong way round! This caught the boys guessing and only Grandsire Doubles was rung successfully. Very little time was spent here. The ringers retreated in haste and made their way to Hemmingford Grey, where everything went well. Swavesey was reached just an hour behind schedule, but here the Guild would have liked to stay the rest of the day. A lovely church with lovely bells. The three 120's Grandsire Doubles and Bob Doubles and 360 Bob Minor were perfect. At Histon a fete in the grounds adjoining the church curtailed the ringing, but the two handbell ringers of the party went into the grounds and gave a few tunes. Then came Cambridge and St. Benedict's. All were anxious to visit Stedman's church, but whether it was nerves, because the church was half full with sightseers, or because it had been impressed upon them that here must be good ringing, no one knows, but, alas! the only 720 (Bob Minor) arranged for the day failed. A touch of 120 was, however, brought round.

A stay of ¾ hours was made in Cambridge, where a splendid meal tea was enjoyed. The last tower, at 7.40 p.m., was Trumpington, where Miss Willers was present to meet the visitors, but the ringers did not show to advantage. By this time they were tired. The party reached home at 11 p.m., having thoroughly enjoyed themselves.

ANOTHER BUSMAN'S HOLIDAY.

AN ADVENTURE AT PERSHORE.

On Saturday afternoon, July 17th, the ringers of St. Ambrose's, Bristol, and Mangotsfield combined for their annual outing, when they made an excursion into Worcestershire. They journeyed by train to Cheltenham, where two luxurious motor-coaches were waiting to convey them to Evesham (via Cleve Hill, Winchcomb and Broadway). The view from the Cotswold Hills en route was greatly admired.

On arrival at Evesham the party were met by Mr. Jack Thomas and his wife, and all thoroughly enjoyed tea at the Avon Hotel. Ringing was indulged in at the bell tower, Grandsire and Stedman Caters being thoroughly enjoyed, and there was also round ringing for the learners.

Saying 'good-bye' to Evesham at 7.15 p.m., the party went on to Pershore, where at the Abbey they climbed up to the ringing chamber, which is a square cage, supported on arched timbers and surrounded by iron railings and wire netting, about 100ft. above the west end of the nave. It is approached by an ordinary stairway at the end of the south transept, thence over the top of the transept into two galleries which surround the inside of the tower. These are connected by short stairways, and one has to confine oneself into as small a space as possible to get round the galleries. From here the ringing cage is reached by a small spiral metal stairway, and you say 'thank you' when you get there. Ringing here is a 'a man's job,' but the ladies were not to be deterred.

One of the party on coming down lost himself in one of the galleries, which he kept going round, failing to find the exit door. It caused much amusement to the remainder of the party to hear him calling out repeatedly, 'Mother, where are you?' meaning, of course, his wife, who was in the other gallery.

The return to Cheltenham was made in time to catch a train at 10.20 p.m. Supper was served on the train and Mangotsfield was reached about 11.30 p.m. A motor-coach awaited the St. Ambrose party at Mangotsfield to complete the journey, and everyone was put down at their own homes by midnight after a very enjoyable half-day's outing, said to be 'the best yet.' Thanks are accorded to the incumbents for the use of their bells and the local ringers for having everything in readiness. Special thanks are due to the L.M. and S. Railway Co. for the excellent facilities afforded to the party. F. S.

A LONG DAY FROM GREAT TEY.

A beautiful day favoured the ringers of St. Barnabas' Church, Great Tey, Essex, when they had their annual outing on July 14th. The Vicar and two churchwardens accompanied them. The party, numbering 32, left the village at 7.30 a.m., their first halt being at St. Mary's, Woodford, where they were met by Mr. Marss. The next stop was at Christ Church, Ealing, where they were received by Mr. J. A. Trollope, and afterwards they went to St. Margaret's, Uxbridge, where they were met by Miss Bedford. At each place they enjoyed some very nice ringing. After lunch they visited Windsor Castle, and also rang at St. John's Church, where they were met by Mr. Smith. On the way home they called at St. Andrew's, Hornchurch, but had to leave out St. Margaret's, Barking, as time would not permit stopping, much to the disappointment of the ringers. At Hornchurch they were met by Mr. Dale. Home was reached at 11.15 p.m. after a most enjoyable day. The ringing included Grandsire Triples, Bob Major and Oxford and Kent Treble Bob Major. The ringers, through 'The Ringing World,' thank all steepkeepers or those in charge, whose kindness greatly added to the day's enjoyment.

AN OUTING IN SUSSEX.

Christ Church, Southgate, band visited Sussex for their annual outing. Leaving about 8 a.m. and travelling by coach, they went first to Cuckfield, where, at Holy Trinity Church, they rang Stedman Triples, London Surprise and Spliced London, Bristol, Cambridge and Superlative. The journey was continued to St. Nicholas', Brighton, where they were met by Mr. F. Bennett and their old friend Mr. W. Pickworth. Stedman Triples and Caters and Cambridge Surprise Royal were rung on this good going peal of ten.

After dinner the rest of the afternoon was spent by various members in and on the sea. At 4.30 they rejoined the coach and travelled through Lewes and Uckfield to Fairwarp, where they had tea, and, on the new peal of bells, rang some excellent Stedman Triples, Cambridge Surprise and Spliced Surprise, also a course of Grandsire Triples with one of the local band on the treble. A very pretty ride through Ashdown Forest and on through Godstone and the Caterham Valley eventually brought the party back to Southgate about 10.45, after a most enjoyable day. S. W.

INTERESTING CHURCHES.

WANSTEAD RINGERS IN KENT AND SUSSEX.

A tour in Kent and Sussex on Saturday, July 10th, constituted the outing of the Wanstead ringers, augmented by ringing friends from Woodford, Leytonstone, Hornchurch and Witham, and they visited some of the most interesting parts of these two counties.

The first halt was made at Charing, a charming and compact village situated on the chalky slope of the North Downs. The party was met at the Church of SS. Peter and Paul by the veteran ringer, Mr. Good, and touches of Cambridge Surprise, Kent and Oxford Treble Bob were rung on a tuneful six, tenor 13½ cwt. The present church, dating back to the 13th century, stands on the ground given by King Ethelred to St. Augustine, who, tradition has it, erected a mission church on the site. Much of the interior of the original 13th century building was destroyed by fire in August, 1590, through, it is said, the careless act of a local farmer, whose shot at a pigeon perched on the roof fired the belfry timbers, causing an outburst during the night. The original bells melted away, and until 1878 only one bell, recast from the molten metal, summoned the people to worship. The windows, several of which depict biblical incidents in skilful colouring, reveal in form fine Plantagenet workmanship. A wooden sundial above the south porch bears the following inscription: 'Life's but a shadow. Redeem the Time. Tempus fugit.'

Just before noon Hythe was reached and a happy 45 minutes was spent in the Parish Church of St. Leonard. Here Mr. Fright welcomed the ringers, and well-struck touches of Kent, Double Norwich and Plain Bob Major were rung on a splendid peal of eight, tenor 19 cwt. The outstanding feature of a very interesting edifice is the magnificent Gothic chancel, raised high above the nave level, giving it a cathedral-like appearance. The parvise over the 13th century south porch served as the Council Chamber up to 1794. The ancient church registers, dating back to 1566, are kept in an ancient iron chest, said to have been taken from one of the Spanish Armada vessels. The crypt contains a great number of human thigh bones and skulls, remains of inhabitants who lived between 1200 and 1450 A.D.

A run across Romney Marsh brought the ringers to St. Nicholas', New Romney, where Mr. Humphrey greeted the party. Touches of Kent, Stedman and Double Norwich were rung on a well-sounding eight, tenor 18 cwt., which grace a very interesting late Norman tower divided into five distinct stages of architecture, surmounted with four turrets between which may be seen the base of a one-time spire. More excellent work is seen in the nave pillars, whilst the spacious chancel belongs to the 14th century. Squints are in the walls which separate the side chapels from the high altar. A large monument, 'The Stappenny Tomb,' in the south chapel, is associated with local government, for it was the place where the Mayor and councillors of the old Cinque Port held their elections and meetings.

A WOODEN BELFREY.

Lunch was well served at Pope's Hotel overlooking the sea. Then followed a visit to St. Augustine's, Brookland, a most attractive church built in the 15th century, famous for its wooden belfry detached from the church. Various legends are told of this strange erection, octagonal in shape, resembling a mighty extinguisher, divided into three sections. Much to the joy of the villagers the bells were set going, and with the aid of candles a course of Bob Doubles was rung. The 3rd bell was cast by Henry Jordan (1442-1468), the others being the work of John Hodson, 1685.

Battle was the next objective and was reached via Rye and Hastings. Picturesque scenes were plentiful, with the South Downs making a charming background. Messrs. W. Franks and J. Sinden gave a genial welcome to the party at St. Mary's, where touches of Double Norwich, Stedman and Plain Bob were rung on a tuneful eight, tenor 23½ cwt. No little skill was needed to keep the tenor going! Time was too limited to view the many interesting features of a beautiful building with fine Norman and Early English work, especially the Norman font.

The last stopping place was Chiddingfold, reached after an intensive survey of signposts. A refreshing tea at the Six Bells was thoroughly enjoyed, and before rising Messrs. H. Barratt and J. Chalk, on behalf of non-ringers and ringers respectively, thanked Mr. J. Crampion for organising such a delightful tour. Messrs. W. Butler (Witham) and R. Smith (Leytonstone) expressed their gratitude at having been included in the party. Owing to the critical condition of the proprietor, the bells of the church close by were not rung. The Rector, the Rev. H. Overs, kindly conducted the party round the church, one that does not bear a name. Much of the work dates back to the 13th and 14th centuries. An imposing alabaster monument, 18ft. by 12ft., stands to the memory of Sir John Jefferay, Chancellor to Queen Elizabeth. Two chairs of Charles II.'s reign stand near the altar. The 15th century tower has a stone spire 150ft. high, one of four such spires in the county.

At eight o'clock the homeward journey began via Tunbridge Wells and Sevenoaks. All will hold dear the memories of such a joyous day! Sincere thanks are offered to the incumbents for the use of the bells and to the ringers who extended such genial welcomes to the party.

WEDDING BELLS AT STOCKPORT.

At St. George's Church, Stockport, on Saturday, June 5th, for the wedding of Mr. J. J. Battersby's daughter, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples: C. Harris 1, G. L. Burgess 2, F. Twigg 3, E. Jackson 4, H. Meakin 5, A. F. Bailey 6, H. Ashton (conductor) 7, P. Laffin 8.

A VISIT TO LONDON TOWERS.

BRAINTREE RINGERS TRY CITY BELLS.

On July 10th members of St. Michael's Guild, Braintree, with a few friends, held their annual outing and made a trip to London. The journey through the fine scenery of Epping Forest brought the party to the first stop, Loughton, where Mr. Rann had made the arrangements, then on to Chigwell Row, which, at the last moment, through the courtesy of Canon Thomson, was substituted for Woodford, where the Vicar had suffered a great bereavement. The next stop was at Leytonstone to ring on the William Pye memorial bells, and Mr. E. W. Pye welcomed the visitors. After lunch they went on to St. James', Clerkenwell, where Mr. A. W. Coles and Mr. J. Bennett were waiting, and afterwards to St. Andrew's, Holborn, where Mr. J. Hawkins had everything in readiness and Mr. Potheary also welcomed the party. The tower won here. At St. Lawrence Jewry, Mr. A. A. Hughes welcomed the Guild, and Mr. G. Debenham, with Mr. W. Martin, from the county of broad acres, joined in the ringing. After tea St. Mary's, Lambeth, was visited, Mr. Hardy being in charge, and a good day's ringing was concluded with courses of Bob Major, Cambridge, Superlative, Bristol and London. After an hour's run in the city the party left about 9 o'clock and reached Braintree about midnight.

The Guild took this opportunity of thanking the respective incumbents for the use of their bells and also the friends mentioned and others who assisted in an enjoyable and successful outing.

IRTHLINGBOROUGH RINGERS' EXCURSION.

RIVER TRIP INCLUDED IN TOUR.

Irthlingborough ringers and their friends are once more very indebted to their brother ringers and the clergy for a very successful outing, held on July 10th, when four good peals of bells were sampled and glorious scenery enjoyed. Bicester was first visited, and Mr. T. Clifton conducted the party to the ringing chamber of the fine Parish Church. After enjoying some good ringing, a move was made to Henley-on-Thames, via Oxford. Luncheon was partaken of at the Armistice Cafe, and afterwards Mr. W. Appleby met the party. After looking round the church, a lovely view of the Thames was obtained from the tower. The fine peal of bells (tenor approximately 21 cwt.) were set going to Superlative, Stedman Triples and Kent Treble Bob.

The tit-bit of the day was the journey by river steamer from Henley to Great Marlow. The trees and riverside gardens were at their best, and ringers are recommended to make a note of this for some future outing. The use of Marlow bells could not be obtained, but tea was enjoyed at the Bridge Restaurant. Taking to the road again, a short ride brought the party to High Wycombe, just in time to get the bells up and ring one course of Stedman Triples for six o'clock service. After service Stedman Caters were rung with the help of Mr. R. Coles and members of the local band. The tenor is about 31 cwt. and the music of the ten bells was very much enjoyed by all.

On resuming the journey, the British Film Studios were passed, and a view of some 'Indian' scenes, etc., showed how easily the public are deluded by the pictures made. Rickmansworth was the last call for ringing, and the visitors were met by Mr. F. W. Elliott. Stedman Caters, Superlative and rounds were rung, after which the bells were lowered in peal. The ringers wish to thank all those friends who kindly helped in any way to make the day so very enjoyable. A. B.

A DAY IN WORCESTERSHIRE.

A VISIT TO THE TWELVES AND TENS.

The ringers of St. Laurence's, Reading, had their 'busman's holiday' in Worcestershire. Meeting at the tower at 6.30 a.m., a good run was made to Evesham, where the fine ten were rung for a short hour. Then to Pershore Abbey, where one or two of the band thought the floor unsafe and suffered from something like mal-de-mer. All Saints', Worcester, where more Stedman Caters were rung, brought dinner time, and a good meal was much enjoyed. Then the fine peal of 12 at the Cathedral was sampled, Grandsire Cinques and Stedman being brought home. Kidderminster twelve was the next item, and the weight and 'go' suited the visitors very nicely, for it was very like ringing at home. Bromsgrove, with its old peal of ten and old-world streets, was much enjoyed, as was also a good tea. A 20 miles run to Banbury took the party back into their own diocese, and the fine little ten there were much enjoyed by all, Stedman Caters and Bob Royal going well. A social hour with the Banbury friends brought starting time, and Reading was safely reached at 10.30 p.m., everyone having had a most happy day. Will all those who did so much in making arrangements and who met and welcomed the visitors at all the places accept the heartfelt thanks of the St. Laurence's ringers? R. T. H.

LAVENHAM RINGERS IN ESSEX.

The Lavenham Society held their annual outing on Saturday, July 24th, when, travelling by motor-coach, they visited the following churches: St. Andrew's, Halstead; St. Andrew's, Earls Colne; St. Peter's, Colchester; All Saints', Feering; St. Peter-ad-Vincula, Coggeshall; and St. Barnabas', Great Tey. Luncheon was served at the Cherry Tree Inn, Brightlingsea, and this was followed by tunes and changes on the handbells.

The chief toast was 'Arthur Symonds, the G.O.M. of the society,' who suitably responded.

Methods rung during the day were Grandsire, Stedman, Plain Bob, Double Norwich, Kent and Oxford Treble Bob, Cambridge and Superlative Surprise. The ringers wish to thank the incumbents of the various churches, the friends who met them, and all who helped to make the outing a big success.

IN NORTH NORTHUMBERLAND.

PENHAM RINGERS' TREK.

Holiday influences were largely responsible for the ringers of SS. James and Basil, Penham, Northumberland, deserting their own church and accepting the invitation of the Vicar of Embleton to ring for services at his church on Sunday, July 11th. Reaching this small seaside village shortly after 9.30 a.m., the five ringers, who travelled by car, were met by Mr. D. Reay, who was camping nearby.

Soon the light(?) peal of six (11 cwt.) were re-echoing through the village, and several visitors were tempted into the belfry to investigate the mysteries of change ringing and the ringers themselves turning into grease spots. In this way a touch of 860 changes of Minor, consisting of 240 Cambridge Surprise, 360 Kent Treble Bob and 360 Plain Bob was brought round.

The afternoon saw a further trek north to Bamburgh, where permission to ring the fine peal of eight (14 cwt.) was given. Double Court, Kent Treble Bob and Plain Bob were the methods rung in this beautifully kept belfry.

In the evening a return was made to Embleton, and courses of Double Court, Double Bob, Kent Treble Bob and Plain Bob were rung for evening service.

Then the long drive back was taken, but only with much regret, after such a perfect day. The Vicar of Embleton's most enthusiastic invitation to return is not likely to go begging. Those taking part in the day's ringing were T. W. Crowe, N. Paiman, C. E. Lawson, J. Roach, D. Reay and K. Arthur.

BOYNE HILL RINGERS' OUTING.

BABY CAR'S ROAD DIAGRAMS.

The Boyne Hill ringers, accompanied by a few friends, held their annual outing in Hertfordshire. Rickmansworth was the first call, where good use was made of the splendid ring of ten bells by Taylor, of Loughborough. Next they made for Hertford, stopping en route for a wayside picnic lunch. At Hertford they were met by one of the local band, and after a look round the beautiful church the bells were set going to Stedman Caters, Double Norwich, Stedman and Grandsire Triples. The bells are a lovely ring of ten by Mears and Stainbank, and have needed no adjustment since they were placed in the tower about 35 years ago—a year or so after the church was rebuilt following a disastrous fire. Some of the bell metal which was recovered from the debris was used in making these lovely bells, the tenor of which is about 25 cwt.

The return journey was made via Watford, where an excellent tea was served at the King's Head Hotel. The party then visited the tower, where there is a very musical ring of eight by Gillett and Johnston, of Croydon. Here the visitors were joined by some of the 'locals,' and methods from Grandsire Triples to Cambridge Surprise Major were splendidly struck. The tenor bell in this tower is about 24 cwt. in the key of E flat.

The al fresco supper, the songs and the handbells enjoyed at a half-way house, opposite a village smithy which really does stand under a spreading chestnut tree, was a good finish to a very enjoyable day. Maidenhead was reached at 10.30 after a rather exciting run from Slough behind a cheeky 'baby' car, whose front 'legs' were either banded or crossed. Probably the occupiers had been (or were going) to the 'dogs.' The diagram made by that car would make some of our standard methods look like straight lines.

The ringing and the arrangements throughout the day were of the highest standard, and those who made up the party will look forward to next year's outing with all the keenness they possess. T. J. F.

ST. MARY ABBOT'S GUILD IN SUSSEX.

St. Mary Abbot's Guild (Kensington) held their annual outing on Saturday, July 24th. The party of 30 included Messrs. A. B. Bennett and W. H. Hollier. Visits were made to East Grinstead, Coleman's Hatch and Turner's Hill, Sussex. The Vicar of St. Mary Abbot's, Preb. A. E. Smith, met the party at East Grinstead and took tea with the Guild. After the tea a short touch of Stedman Caters was rung on the handbells. The bells of the three churches visited were rung to a variety of methods, including Stedman, Double Norwich, Cambridge and London Surprise. At Turner's Hill the party were met by Mr. O. Sippetts, to whom the Guild is indebted for making the arrangements, for what was unanimously agreed to have been a very enjoyable outing.

SERVICE RINGING IN BANBURY BRANCH.

The annual meeting of the Banbury Branch of the Oxford Guild was held at Adderbury, about 60 being present. Ringing commenced at 2.30 p.m., after which service was held, conducted by the president of the branch, the Rev. A. L. E. Williams, Vicar of Banbury and Rural Dean. The sermon was preached by the Rev. C. E. Wigg, Deputy Master of the Guild.

The business meeting followed the tea. In his report, the hon. secretary (Mr. E. Pearson) referred to the fact that several honorary members had not paid their subscriptions, and that he had, therefore, only been able to forward £5 18s. to the general treasurer. The statement of accounts showed a balance of £25 in hand. The secretary also regretted that service ringing and practice was not so well maintained in some towers and appealed for support.

Mr. L. J. Malings, commenting on this, said he was glad Mr. Pearson had not shirked the question. One way suggested to counteract this falling off was to have plenty of recruits, but he believed this was only partly true. It was not altogether quantity but quality that was wanted. He urged ringers to hold out the high ideals of fellowship and service in the tower, branch or guild, to young ringers, since he believed youth was ready to follow ideals if they were high enough.

The officers were all re-elected for the coming year, with the chairman as trustee (a new post). There were two honorary members and two ringing members elected.

Swalcliffe was chosen as the place of the next meeting, the date being left to the secretary.

Mr. R. T. Hibbert, general secretary of the Guild, and the Rev. C. E. Wigg contributed 'the usual few words' expected of them at these annual meetings, and held out encouragement towards continued progress.

Following a comprehensive vote of thanks, ringing was resumed at Adderbury, while others went on to King's Sutton and Deddington.

Eleven branch towers were represented, and there were a large number of visitors, including one who arrived on a cycle from Tewkesbury at 6.30 p.m., left King's Sutton tower at half-past eight to mend a puncture and commence the journey back home! One felt this was an object lesson in keenness which might be taken to heart by all who feel their inability to attend when a meeting is held at the other side of their branch's district. Other visitors were present from Coventry, Exhall, Twyford, Oxford, Abingdon, Leicester and Cammorr.

DON'T SCRUB YOUR HANDS!

skin this simple way*

To many people, the problem of getting the hands really clean without harming the skin is a serious one. Grease and grime, which become deeply ingrained into the pores of the skin, are extremely difficult to remove, and ordinary washing with soap or even scrubbing will fail to remove them completely. Housewives, particularly, who complain that their hands get ruined by the nature of their work, will find the preparation called DERMAFOAM, a real "godsend." DERMAFOAM just smoothes away dirt and grease without effort. It gets right down into the pores and removes every particle of grime, leaving skin beautifully supple and healthy.

Men, too—when you've finished that dirty job on the car, DERMAFOAM will quickly banish all grease and oil from your hands. It acts almost magically—working under and around the nails and into every minute crease, removing all trace of dirt in a flash.

Engineers, Painters, Car Mechanics, Printers — everyone — will welcome DERMAFOAM, the modern method of cleansing and protecting the hands.

IMPROVE THE STANDARD OF RINGING

There are in these days all too many bands of ringers who are content with indifferent striking. Even in broadcasting, as a recent letter in 'The Ringing World' reminded us, the standard is frequently far below what it should be. When bells are 'on the air' it is most important that the ringing should be as near perfection as possible, by reason of the vastness of the circle of listeners. But whether the bells are being broadcast or not, ringers should have a care over their striking. There is no justification for inflicting the noise of bad ringing even upon those only within earshot of the tower, but unfortunately there are many places where the public have to suffer, albeit they may suffer in silence. All this, of course, has been said many times before, but perhaps it cannot be said too often. There is no real excuse for a band of poor strikers if they never improve their ringing, but it may sometimes be an explanation that they do not actually know how bad their ringing is. Such bands really require the help of a thoroughly competent instructor, and we are convinced that in the hands of the right man great improvement could generally be effected. The difficulty that lies in this matter is the delicacy of suggesting to a company that they need an instructor for such a purpose, but in view of the growing sensitiveness of the public this is a problem which ringing associations ought to face.

We know that many ringers are averse to anything in the nature of competition in ringing. Their opposition has grown out of the abuses of prize ringing in the 'bad old days,' but we are not certain that contests between bands for the credit of doing the best ringing might not be one of the ways by which the general standard of ringing could be raised. The spirit in which ringing is carried out nowadays is totally different to that prevailing when prize ringing was a 'sporting' event, and we cannot but think that properly organised ringing competitions could be run without any lack of reverence for the buildings in which they much necessarily take place and with every prospect of improving the standard of the ringing of those who take part. Such contests are already run in a few centres and the interest which they engender among the competitors and the practice which they involve lead to some fine performances, which are, of course, reflected in the service ringing. To be of general use, however, the competitions would have to be graded, and some classes might have to consist purely of round ringing. For the more expert there would be method ringing, but, whatever the class, the inducement to improve would be stimulated. In Yorkshire, Brecon, Devon and elsewhere where such competitions now

PEAL NOTES.

INTERESTING POINTS CONCERNING MANY PERFORMANCES.

A band of College Youths on July 31st rang a peal of Cambridge Surprise Royal at St. Clement Danes, London, in honour of the wedding of Mr. John W. V. Hesse (son of Major J. H. B. Hesse, of Haslemere, a Surrey, a popular member of the society and Master of the Guildford Diocesan Guild) and Miss Doris Winifred James, which took place at St. Clement's earlier in the day.

Several of those who took part in this peal had further successes on the two following days. On Sunday, August 1st, they rang a peal of Spliced Surprise Major in four methods at Crawley, Sussex, and on Monday a peal of Cambridge Surprise Royal at Newbury, Berks.

An interesting family handbell peal was rung at Lincoln on August 4th, when Mr. John A. Freeman and his two sons rang seven different 720's of Bob Minor. One son, John, called the peal from 3-4, and another, Michael, who was a week under 12 years old, rang his first peal. It was the first peal 'in hand' for the other two.

After meeting short for a peal of Double Norwich Major at Old Basford, Notts, a peal in seven Minor methods was rung by members of the North Notts Association. It was Harold Denman's fiftieth peal with the Misses K. and G. Burchinal, twin sisters, who have never rung a peal apart.

Mr. Thomas E. Sone has called peals on all numbers from Doubles to Maximus, completing this achievement with a peal of Treble Twelve at Canterbury Cathedral on August Bank Holiday. Arthur Knights' composition No. 80 was rung for the first time.

A peal of Bob Minor rung at Holmer, Herefordshire, on July 26th, was in honour of the visit of Queen Mary to Hereford. It was also the quarterly peal for the Hereford District of the Guild and rung by a band of Sunday service ringers at Holmer Church. In addition, it was a farewell to Arthur J. Gough, a member of the band, who is taking up residence at Goodrich.

Mr. J. A. Burford's round 5,000 of Cambridge Surprise Royal was rung at Beddington on Saturday, the first time this number has been rung in the method in Surrey.

For 49 years Mr. George Thompson has been a ringer at St. Mary's Church, Hinckley, Leicestershire, and in honour of his 70th birthday a peal of Grandsire Triples, in which he took part, was rung on Saturday.

The ten bells at Christ Church, Crewe, have come into the peal news again. It seems a long time since the previous peal was rung there.

TONY'S 'DOUBLE.'

Mr. Tony Price (one of the lightweights) turned in St. Peter Mancroft tenor, nearly a 33 cwt. bell, to Kent Treble Bob Major on August Bank Holiday.

The bells at Saham Toney, Norfolk, have recently been rehung by Mr. A. Howell, of Ipswich, and last Friday the first peal was rung on them, conducted, appropriately enough, by Mr. 'Tony' Price.

By retuning, the bells of St. Wendreda's Church, March, Cambs., have been turned into a glorious six by Messrs. John Taylor and Co. The tenor is 16½ cwt. in E and the whole ring has been rehung. The first peal on the restored bells was rung on Saturday in seven methods. The previous peal on them was Bob Minor, rung in 1819!

The peal of Stedman Caters (the first on the bells) at St. Mary's, Southampton, on August 4th, and the peal of Double Norwich Major at Romsey Abbey on Saturday, were arranged for Mr. R. W. Rex, who was on holiday in the district.

The Wicken (Northants) ringers and their friends, who rang a peal of Double Norwich at King's Sutton on August Bank Holiday, will be glad if any of our readers will inform them of any peals which may have been rung at this church. A peal board in the tower records two peals rung in 1799 and 1802.

The Worcestershire men are not wasting their opportunities with the twelve bells at Kidderminster. They are introducing variety into the peals there, and have now rung the first of Bob Maximus on the bells. Incidentally it was the first peal of 'Plain Twelve' by ten of the band, only those old 'war horses,' Bill Short and John Bass, having rung a peal of Bob Maximus before, although most of them have rung Cambridge Maximus. Bob Maximus provides better music than some of the methods that have been rung on twelve bells.

A band meeting short for a peal in seven Minor methods at Copdock, Suffolk, on Friday, 'roped in' Mr. C. A. Andrews at short notice and rang a peal in three methods instead. They proposed Mr. Andrews as a member of the Suffolk Guild before starting.

As a birthday compliment to George and Alan Andrews and Urban Wildney, a peal in seven methods, the first in this number by five of the band, was rung at Thorington, Essex, on Saturday.

The peal of Oxford Treble Bob at Marsham, Norfolk, on August 3rd, was arranged for Mr. Henry W. Gayton, of Harrold, Beds.

The first peal on the bells since 1928 and the first in three methods was rung at Shipdham, Norfolk, on August 4th. It was conducted by Mr. A. J. E. Smalls, who was on holiday in his native parish. He wishes to thank the Rev. C. H. V. Eva for the use of the bells, and the band, especially Mr. J. A. Godfrey, for making the arrangements.

Our comment last week on the peal of Bob Triples at Grundisburgh, the first in the method on the bells and by the Suffolk Guild, that 'it would probably be the last for a good long time,' has led Mr. Cecil Pipe to ask what we really mean by the remark.

'A HISTORY OF THE COLLEGE YOUTHS.'

By J. ARMIGER TROLLOPE.

To be published in September by
'The Ringing World'

This new contribution to the literature of bell ringing will be found to be a volume of engrossing interest. It is based on new material brought to light by the author's own researches, and it is by far the most exhaustive history of the Society yet presented to the public.

As the Society goes back almost to the beginnings of change ringing, the development of the art has been coincidental with the life of the College Youths. The author's story, therefore, contains much of the history of the first two centuries of ringing, as well as of the Society itself. Distant events are reconstructed from a skilful analysis of old documents; men who, until now, have existed for later generations only in name, become once again personalities of interest.

This volume, coming in the centenary year of the Ancient Society, should be doubly welcome to the members, and will prove full of interest to every ringer.

It is to be illustrated by reproductions of old prints, and drawings of numerous London churches. Bound in cloth covers, the book will be published at 5/- (postage and packing 6d. extra). Obtainable only by direct application to 'The Ringing World,' Lower Pyrford Road, Woking.

SPECIAL OFFER

TO SUBSCRIBERS, whose orders, with remittance, are sent direct to 'The Ringing World,' BEFORE SEPTEMBER 18th, the volume is offered at the REDUCED PRICE OF 4/- (plus 6d. for postage and packing).

SHROPSHIRE ASSOCIATION'S 'GARDEN PARTY.'

The Shropshire Association meeting at Moreton Corbet on July 24th resembled a garden party as much as a ringing meeting. Over 60 ringers, together with a number of ladies, enjoyed the hospitality of the association treasurer, the Rev. E. C. Pigott. In the intervals of taking a turn in the diminutive belfry the 'guests' played bowls, deck tennis, etc., in the beautiful vicarage gardens which adjoin the church. Among those present were ringers from Chester, Wem, Wellington, Berrington, Clive, Shrewsbury, Coalbrookdale, Malins Lee, Hodnet, Montford, Great Ness and Standon, Bilston and Norton (Staffs).

The secretary found it impossible to hold a business meeting, but all united in the service, conducted by the Rector, at which the Rev. T. N. Crowther-Green (Malins Lee) addressed the congregation.

A touch of Grandsire Triples and a course of Caters on Mr. William Saunders' handbells were much appreciated, especially by the ladies.

The methods rung included London, Ipswich, Wells and Cambridge Surprise Minor, as well as the standard six-bell methods.

It means just what it says, that it will probably be a good long time before another peal of Bob Triples is rung for the Suffolk Guild. Bob Triples is not the best or the most popular of methods, and, except as a curiosity, no one ever rings it now. All of which ringers well know. It was just these facts that made us surmise that it will, perhaps, be some time before another peal of it is rung for the Guild, but, after this, some band will probably ring another in Suffolk on purpose to prove that we are wrong.

MARRIAGE OF MISS DOROTHY SAUNDERS.MUCH RINGING IN HONOUR OF COALBROOKDALE BRIDE.

The wedding took place at St. Chad's Roman Catholic Cathedral, Birmingham, on Saturday, July 31st, of Miss Dorothy Saunders, only child of Mr. and Mrs. William Saunders, of Coalbrookdale, and Mr. James Joseph Salley, youngest son of the late Councillor and Mrs. Robert Salley, of Newcastle-on-Tyne. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Father Joseph Boland.

The bride is well known to many ringing friends. 'Doss' has always been a good critic when bands of 'rhythm wreckers' have visited Coalbrookdale, where her father is the popular leader of the ringers.

A great compliment was paid to her on the occasion of her wedding by ringers of St. Martin's Guild for the Diocese of Birmingham. Special permission had been granted by the Rev. Father Canon Roskell (priest in charge of the Cathedral) for the bells to be rung, and it is interesting to note that among those who took part were Mr. James George (aged 83), Mr. John Jagger (aged 76), also Walter Lago and Alfred S. Bayley, Coalbrookdale, with Mr. George E. Fearn and several other members of St. Martin's.

Afterwards the ringers gathered at the Beehive Hotel. It was here that the bride and bridegroom and the bride's parents and several other friends looked in to thank them, only to find that 'William' had dared to come without his famous handbells. Good wishes were expressed to the happy couple.

In the afternoon the bride and bridegroom left Snow Hill Station en route to St. Anne's-on-Sea, where the honeymoon is being spent. Their new home will be at Sheldon, near Birmingham.

On Monday, August 2nd, a few Birmingham and district and Shropshire friends met at Coalbrookdale, where a peal of Grandsire Caters had been arranged as a further wedding compliment. The holiday made it very difficult to get a band together, with the result that a peal of Bob Major was suggested, but after an hour's good ringing something happened which made the conductor call 'Stand.' It was a pity, for it would have been his 350th peal.

After refreshments and handbells at headquarters a move was made to St. Michael's, Madeley. The party arrived just in time for a wedding. Grandsire and Stedman Doubles, Plain Bob, Oxford and Kent Treble Bob and Cambridge Surprise Minor were very well rung. The visitors then went on to Shifnal for tea, after which Mr. Percy Baker (local captain) arrived and gave the party a very hearty welcome. The grand old eight by Pack and Chapman were rung to Grandsire and Stedman Triples, Plain Bob and Kent Treble Bob Major. A fine run down with the usual 1, 2, 3 and Coalbrookdale Queen's made a good finish. The usual social hour, spent at Shifnal with Billy's handbells, completed a very happy day.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

A party of holiday ringers, several of them actively connected with the Central Council, spent last week in Somerset. A rumour has reached us that they were 'pinched' for exceeding the speed limit in a built-up area, or some equally serious offence. That may be the explanation of the fact that, at the time of writing, we have heard nothing officially of the ringing results of their tour.

One peal they rang, however, was at Wedmore, where the bells were recently restored by Messrs. Mears and Stainbank. Mrs. G. W. Fletcher rang the 30 cwt. tenor, which, we believe, is the heaviest bell yet rung to a peal by a lady.

A bachelors' party, with a limited number of benedicts to chaperone them, begin a week's peal ringing in Gloucestershire, Wiltshire, Oxfordshire and Worcestershire on September 4th. They travel together by motor-coach. Is this to prevent any slipping away when other attractions call?

In the following week another party are to tour Cheshire and North Wales.

There were 152 changes of method in the peal of Minor in 20 methods rung at Barnby-in-the-Willows, Notts, for the North Notts Association, on June 5th.

The number of changes in the peal of Cambridge Surprise (composed by Mr. C. H. Kippin), rung at Coleman's Hatch on July 28th, was 5,088 and not 5,056 as published.

At Bourn, Cambs, on Thursday, August 5th, an attempt for a peal of London Surprise Major came to grief in the 5th course, but good practice resulted. If the peal had been successful it would have been the first ever by all residents in Ely diocese. The band was Miss V. Shorter, Miss K. Willers, A. E. Austin, C. W. Cook, E. G. Hibbins, F. G. Gleaves, T. R. Dennis and P. Warrington.

A halfpenny stamp only need be affixed to the addressed envelope sent to Mr. W. A. Cave, 29, Victoria Street, Bristol, 1, by applicants for his booklet of touches of Stedman Caters and Cinques.

There were two errors in the names given beneath the picture of the Friezeland ringers in our last issue. The fourth from the left was Alfred and not Wilfred Bennett, and on the extreme right was Joseph Burgess and not Bennett.

Frederick G. Cole rang the 4th in the peal of Superlative at Sheffield English, Hants, on July 31st.

THE COLLEGE YOUTHS' TERCENTENARY.

EARLY MASTER'S TOMB TO BE RESTORED.

One Lord Mayor of London was also Master of the College Youths during his year of office. This was Sir Henry Tulse, who died in 1689 and was buried at St. Dyonis-Backchurch, in the City of London. He was Master in 1684.

The stone which marked his vault is one which, with others, was preserved when the Church of St. Dyonis-Backchurch was demolished in 1878. It lies on the north side of the old burial ground, which is off Lime Street in the City, and it reads as under:—

this Stone Lyes Buried the Body of Sr HENRY TULSE, who Departed this life the 31st day of August, 1689.

It is proposed to touch up the inscription where visible and recut it where lost. Below this inscription is a considerable space; in the lower portion it is proposed to add:—

SIR HENRY TULSE was a Benefactor of the Church of St. DYONIS BACKCHURCH, formerly adjoining. He was also Grocer, Alderman and Lord Mayor of This City.

This Stone was restored by
THE ANCIENT SOCIETY OF COLLEGE YOUTHS.

August 31st, 1937, during the 300th year of the Society's Foundation, as a Memorial to the above who was Master during the year of his Mayoralty in 1684.

The unveiling is provisionally fixed for the afternoon of August 31st (the anniversary of his death) about 4 p.m., and it is hoped there will be a good muster of members of the society. Any members who may be visiting London on that day will be specially welcome.

ELY DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION.

SIXTEEN TOWERS REPRESENTED AT DISTRICT MEETING.

A very pleasant meeting of the Wisbech Branch was held at Upwell on Saturday, no fewer than 16 towers being represented. The ringing included Double Norwich, Cambridge and London Surprise. Among the visitors were Mr. G. Mayers, of Norwich, Mr. A. E. Austin, of Newmarket, and Mr. Tony Price, of Feltham, Middlesex.

The general secretary (Miss K. Willers) presided at the business meeting, at which Mr. G. Mayers was elected a non-resident life member of the association.

The secretary (Mr. W. W. Cousins) extended a welcome to the visitors, and Mr. Tony Price (who is a native of the district), in reply, said how pleased he was to be present and to find the branch in such a flourishing condition.

The next meeting is to be held at Denver.

LONDON RINGER HONOURED.

IMPERIAL SERVICE MEDAL FOR MR. T. H. TAFFENDER.

Recipient of the King's Coronation Medal last May, Mr. Thomas H. Taffender, one of London's best known ringers, has just been decorated with the medal of the Imperial Service Order, on his retirement from the Postal Service. Reaching the age of 60 on July 25th, Mr. Taffender relinquished his duties on the previous day, when a peal in honour of the occasion was rung at Streatham.

Mr. Taffender entered the Postal Service nearly 47 years ago and for 41 years has been an established Civil Servant. Since rising to the supervising grades, his promotion in recent years has been very rapid. He enjoyed the complete confidence of the Department and has held appointments as officer in charge of some of the largest postal areas in London.

Many speeches have been made and much regret expressed at his departure and the loss of his services to the department. Reference has also been made as to Mr. Taffender's youthful appearance, and even to cast suspicion on the validity of his birth certificate. His reply has been that the youthfulness is due to his activity in campanology.

At the recent Coronation of King George, Mr. Taffender was honoured by the King by being decorated with the Coronation Medal. At his retirement, for his meritorious services in the Post Office, he received further recognition, and His Majesty has decorated him with the medal of the Imperial Service Order. The Postmaster-General also has sent him a personally signed emblem expressing his appreciation of his faithful service to the State for nearly 47 years.

On Sunday, July 25th, at St. Giles, Camberwell, for evening service, a quarter-peal of Stedman Caters was rung to celebrate the 60th anniversary of Mr. T. H. Taffender's birth. It was rung by W. D. Grainger 1, Miss B. M. Mills 2, B. R. Harris 3, T. H. Taffender (conductor) 4, A. S. Richards 5, T. W. Taffender 6, F. D. Bishop 7, N. W. Manning 8, E. J. King 9, F. Hopgood (first quarter-peal on ten bells) 10.

Mr. Taffender has long been one of the most active ringers in London, and throughout a career extending over 45 years his interest in the art has never flagged. He began his ringing towards the end of 1892 at the Church of St. George the Martyr, Southwark, and continued a little later at Holy Trinity, Newington. He joined the Ancient Society of College Youths in December, 1893, and rang his first peal with them the same month. He was elected Master in the year 1911. Prior to that he was appointed an official member of the St. Paul's Cathedral Company, and is still one of the band.

As a member of the old St. James' Society, Mr. Taffender took a leading part in widening its sphere of activity and in changing its name to the London County Association. This was carried out during his secretaryship and for many years now Mr. Taffender has filled the office of Master. Under his guidance the association has achieved much success. His son, Mr. T. Wilfred Taffender, is now the hon. secretary.

It is unnecessary here to refer to Mr. Taffender's achievements in the belfry. He is among the foremost conductors and has taken part in many notable peals, among them the first Surprise peal (Superlative) in the city of London in 1901, the first peal on the bells of the Imperial Institute, rung for the Coronation of King Edward VII., the 17,104 Double Norwich Major at South Wigston, Leicestershire, in 1904, and in the fathers' and sons' peal of Stedman Cinques at Shore-ditch in 1928.

But Mr. Taffender's ringing activities have by no means centred in peals. He has always shared energetically in Sunday service ringing, and, in addition to his duties at St. Paul's Cathedral, has organised and helped to maintain Sunday ringing in a number of churches. In the leisure which, we hope, long lies before him, he will doubtless continue to devote his energies to this useful end.

THE LATE MR. J. BATTERS.

To the Editor.

Sir,—The ringers of SS. Peter and Paul's Church, Bromley, Kent, would like to express, through the columns of 'The Ringing World,' their very deep sympathy with the relatives and also with the Merstham ringers in the loss they have sustained by the death of Mr. James Batters. Whenever he was in the neighbourhood of Bromley Mr. Batters was a very welcome, enthusiastic and useful ringer.

P. SPICE.

MR. T. H. TAFFENDER.

TRURO DIOCESAN GUILD.

NEW MEMBERSHIP BADGE ISSUED.

The annual festival of Truro Diocesan Guild was held at Truro on August Bank Holiday, when the bells of the Cathedral (10), Kea (8), Kenwyn (8) and St. Erme (6) were used. Rounds, call changes, Grand-sire Doubles, Triples and Caters, Stedman Triples, Bob Major, Royal and Kent Treble Bob were rung.

Among those present were Dr. Symons (president), Miss Symons, Lt.-Col. C. F. Jerram (Ringing Master), H. Dunstan (treasurer), W. Sleeman (Ringing Master of the Cathedral tower), the Rev. F. F. Gilbert (secretary of the Mid-Cornwall Association), ringers from the Cathedral, Bridgerule, Callington, Calstock, Cury, Gwennap, Kea, Munnacan, Perranzabuloe, St. Anthony-in-Meneage, Towednack, Zeenor and visitors from Barking, Coventry, Loughborough, London, Oxford and Plymouth.

The new Guild membership badge was issued and the ringers attended evensong in the Cathedral, at which simple chants and the hymn, 'O worship the King,' were sung. The service was conducted by Canon Sedgwick, the sub-dean, and the Rev. W. H. R. Trehwella, secretary of the Guild.

In his address, the Canon, having welcomed the ringers to the Mother Church of the Diocese, said that while on the Continent bells were merely clanged and clanged, in England the bells were rung to produce music, and in the Dictionary of Music many pages were devoted to the science of English bellringing.

Tea, provided by members of the Cathedral company of ringers, followed the service, and ringing in the four towers continued until about 8.30 p.m.

WORCESTERSHIRE ASSOCIATION.

TWENTY-TWO NEW MEMBERS ELECTED AT DISTRICT MEETING.

The Southern Branch of the Worcestershire Association held a most enjoyable meeting at Norton on Saturday, August 7th. The service was conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. T. Lloyd), and the collection, in aid of the Belfry Repair Fund, amounted to 17s.

The ringers were afterwards the guests of the Vicar, and about 45 members, visitors and friends sat down to tea on the Vicarage lawn.

The business meeting which followed was also held in the open air. Twenty-two new members, ten from Kidford-on-Avon, six from Hampton and six from Norton, were elected. This number constitutes a record for the Southern Branch.

Mr. J. W. Heath, Branch Master, conveyed a kind invitation from the Rev. R. R. Brown to hold the next meeting at Willersey. This will probably take place the third Saturday in October.

The general secretary reminded those present of the annual dinner to be held at Worcester on the last Saturday in September, and asked for names to be sent to the branch secretary so that a conveyance could be ordered if numbers warranted it.

The proceedings terminated with a vote of thanks to all who had contributed to the success of the meeting, proposed by Mr. J. Hemming and carried with applause.

The members afterwards returned to the tower for further ringing, which ranged from rounds to Cambridge Minor.

RINGERS WED AT FOLKINGHAM.

MR. J. H. BOTHAM AND MISS FRANCES HUMPHREY.

In the presence of many friends and relations, the wedding took place at St. Andrew's Church, Folkingham, on July 31st, of Mr. John H. Botham, only son of Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Botham, of Willesden, and Miss Frances Humphrey, eldest daughter of the late Mr. F. Humphrey and Mrs. Phyllis Humphrey, of Kensington, London. Both the bride and her mother started their ringing career at Folkingham. It was also in this tower that the first peal was accomplished in which mother and daughter took part. In her early teens the bride took part in several peals of Surprise Minor and Major.

The marriage ceremony was performed by the Rector (the Rev. F. V. Heath, R.D.) and was fully choral. The bride wore a dress of white silk cloque, and her lovely old embroidered veil was kept in place by a halo headdress of orange blossom. She was given in marriage by her cousin, Mr. George Mason, and attended by two bridesmaids, Miss Pat Humphrey (sister) and Miss A. Bostleman, who wore dresses of mauve flowered crepe-de-chine and carried bouquets of mauve sweet peas. The duties of best man were carried out by Mr. T. McNally.

After the ceremony, as the bridal party left the church, the bells were 'fired' followed by a 720 of Oxford Treble Bob.

The reception was held at the Village Hall, about 50 guests, including many ringers, attending. The bride was presented with a suitably inscribed silver bell inkstand by Mr. C. T. H. Bradley on behalf of her many ringing friends in South Lincolnshire. Among the many presents received by the bride was a canteen of cutlery in an oak case from the St. Mary Abbot's Guild, Kensington, of which she and her mother are members.

As the happy couple left for their honeymoon the bells were again ringing, and last Saturday a peal in honour of the event was rung. The future address of Mr. and Mrs. Botham will be 3, Bush Hill Road, Kenton, Middlesex.

RINGING EXCURSIONS.

WELSH RINGERS' TRIP THROUGH FOUR COUNTIES.

The Talgarth Church bellringers held their seventh annual outing on August Bank Holiday, August 2nd, the venue being Worcester. Leaving home at 8 a.m. and travelling down the Wye valley via Leominster, the first stop was made at Stoke Prior, Herefordshire, where is a very handy ring of five bells, which hang in a steel frame. Some of the younger ringers found them a little difficult to handle, but some six-scores of Grandsire were rung and the bells lowered in peal. Whitbourne, just over the Worcestershire border, was next visited, and here the party were met by the Vicar (the Rev. Stanner), who gave them a very hearty welcome. The bells are a good ring of six with a very nice tone and 'go.' After some six-scores and a vote of thanks, passed to the Vicar for the use of the bells and for his welcome, the party moved off through beautiful country to Clifton-on-Teme, which was reached at 12.30. They arrived while a wedding was in progress and were able to ring a 'wedding peal.' A vote of thanks was accorded to the Vicar and a move made to Martley, where the party were met by the Rev. J. M. Hastings, who is a well-known Worcestershire ringer. A hearty welcome was extended to the visitors, who were very pleased to be able to ring on the oldest original peal of six bells in England. The Vicar explained that all the bells were cast close to the church in 1673, each bell bearing that date. The excursionists finally reached Worcester at 3.15 p.m., where the party broke up to look round the city, but most made for the Cathedral, where a long time was spent inspecting the beautiful edifice. Some made the long climb up the tower. Leaving Worcester at 9.15 p.m., home was safely reached about midnight after a long but pleasant day. D. H. B.

HALF DAY IN EAST KENT.

YOUTHS WITH NO COMPLAINTS.

Willesborough and District Youths set off on their seventh annual half-day run on July 17th. At Eythorne the locals were there to meet the party, but the Youths were looking for the other one. After ringing on the little peal of five bells, they went on to Northbourne, with its beautiful church and good bells. The way up to the ringing chamber, however, caused one of the ringers to do some pretty hard thinking before making the attempt. He was not to be beaten, however, and, although the last one up, had his reward for the struggle—for struggle it was and no doubt about it.

Great Mongeham, the next call, provided a better ascent with something to 'plant 'em on.' Another nice little six was set going. One rope looked a bit queer, but this was soon put right and an enjoyable hour was spent. Then away to the Parish Hall, Upper Deal, for tea. This proved a lovely 'touch.' No matter whether full work front, or back places, in or out, it was beautifully struck. Next, across the road to St. Leonard's Church, up the roundabout, another hour of good ringing and away to Wingham. All too soon came the time for departure, and home was reached after another enjoyable run round of 70 miles, in beautiful weather through lovely country. With five towers, 12 methods attempted and nine coming home, there were no complaints.

The Youths, through the medium of 'The Ringing World,' wish to thank the incumbents for the use of the bells, the towerkeepers and local ringers for meeting them, to Mr. and Mrs. Verrier and lady friends for their splendid arrangements for tea, not forgetting the little maid with dustpan and brush. TWO DAYS IN HERTS AND ESSEX.

PUTNEY RINGERS' EXCURSION.

St. Mary's, Putney, ringers spent a couple of days on their annual outing. They started at 8.15 a.m. on Saturday, July 24th, travelling in a small coach. The record of the excursion is told in the following story: Bowling through Middlesex, we picked up two 'cads' on the way. 'Hullo, cads,' said we, nice work to be punctual. Without mishap and only one error we reached Broxbourne at 9.30, the first call. A welcome from the Vicar and a local ringer, and a nice peal, of about a ton, was soon giving tongue to Stedman and Bob Major. These bells were much appreciated, and some were loth to leave, but the new 'O.S.' like the 'old 'un,' must push us on to the next tower, soon reached, to wit Hoddesdon, where hang a Warner eight of about 12 cwt. Justice was done here for a while, the young lady in charge finding opportunity to ring her first touches of Grandsire Triples. Speaking of 'firsts,' Mrs. Twickenham here enjoyed her first pull (on the stairs). There being now time in hand before lunch, Mr. E., well known at Heston, took us on a mystery tour, objective Hunsdon, but there was 'nothing doing.' We'd passed the Vicarage two miles back, so a 'place' was found where the unwise 'chaps' cleared Mr. and Mrs. Boniface out of all catables. Some others had brought 'Pie.' Braughing was the next stop, a bit late on account of the mystery tour, and here was found a good eight of very old style, about 14 cwt. and going well. Passing through Little Hadham, we soon reached Bishop's Stortford, where we were met by the Vicar with a hearty welcome. The writer noticed a great change here since his last visit (breathe it not!) 37 years ago. There is a very nice ring of ten, about 16½ cwt., which some years ago were reconditioned by Messrs. Mears and Stainbank, and on which Stedman and Grandsire Caters were accomplished off our own bat.

'Twas now nearing late afternoon, so Felstead was aimed at. Here another Warner peal in a church dating from 1140 A.D. was much appreciated, as was the tea which followed nearby. Witham was the next objective, and here we were met by several of the local band, and with their help were able to 'knock off' a couple of courses of Double Norwich in clinking style; also some novel Bob Minor on hand-bells at the instigation of the late O.S.

Headquarters at Chelmsford was reached in good time for a look round, and then supper and bed. The usual 'late bird' arrived about midnight, and was duly consoled with supper and bottle complete.

After breakfast next morning, we made our way to Great Baddow, where there was a welcome by the Vicar and Dr. Spencer Phillips. Splendid service ringing was done on a fine peal of eight, including Double Norwich with local help. The O.S. gave leave of absence (till teatime (bar dinner), and we felt we were free men once again. After tea we were 'on the dot' at Writtle for service ringing. We were met and welcomed, found good bells and satisfaction. Later good-byes were said, and we were definitely on the homeward trek. But, 'ah! we stop at Loughton to ring out,' says Mr. O.S., and so we did right merrily, being welcomed by the Vicar and a local lady and gentleman ringer. Shadows were falling on Epping Forest as we left, and reached Putney safely at about 10.30 p.m., having dropped the 'cads' en route.

We should like to thank all who met and welcomed us and the clergy who kindly gave permission to ring, also Mr. Elson, who so well organised the trip. During the tour conducting was shared by Messrs. Ellingham, Elson, Malins, Cassell, Wicks and J. H.

A JAUNT IN BUCKS AND HERTS.

TOO MANY 'DICTATORS.'

The Heston, Middlesex, ringers had their second outing this year on August 7th, when they had a short Saturday afternoon jaunt by motor-coach.

The first call was at Stoke Mandeville (Bucks) and 6ft. ringers had blistered hands in ringing the second on account of a very low sally. However, four methods were rung, including Oxford Bob Triples without the diagram.

A move was then made to the Woolpack, where an 'al fresco' tea was enjoyed and group photographs taken.

Out of Bucks into Herts, the ringers arrived at Northchurch, where there is a recent Taylor augmentation to eight. Four methods were rung, a pleasing feature being a touch of Oxford Treble Bob Major. Then on to Hemel Hempstead, where the party was met by the veteran Mr. Golding and heavier bells found. Oxford Treble Bob also went very well here as the last touch.

The methods rung were Grandsire, Stedman, Oxford Bob Triples, Plain Bob, Double Norwich and Oxford Treble Bob, but some of the touches of Stedman were failures, owing to the bob-caller not being a conductor in the strict sense, and when 'dictators' disagree trouble ensues. Perhaps it was due to the excessive heat of the afternoon?

The president of the Tower Grabbers Union was an honoured (and noisy) guest, and he was able to announce to all and sundry that Hemel Hempstead was his 600th tower. He drank to his own health in 'grape fruit.' Arrangements for the afternoon and evening were in the capable hands of Mr. E. R. Gladman.

A SUSSEX EXCURSION.

On Saturday, July 17th, the Twineham (Sussex) company with their wives and friends had their annual outing. Travelling by motor-coach in lovely weather, the party went through Burgess Hill, Ditchling and Lewes to Alfriston, where an hour was enjoyed ringing on the bells of St. Andrew's Church. After tea at the Tudor they went on to Pevensey, where more ringing was done on the bells of the Parish Church. A long drive home ended a most enjoyable and ideal half-day's outing to the strains of 'Old Father Bowles' bus keeps rolling rolling on.' Warmest thanks are tendered to the respective Vicars for the use of their bells and to the ringers concerned for having everything in readiness.

CYCLING TRIP TO SUFFOLK.

As a result of an overnight cycling expedition to Suffolk from Woodford, Essex, two quarter-peals were rung. The first at St. Mary's, Woodbridge, for 10 a.m. service on Sunday, August 1st, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples: B. Weaver 1, A. S. Woodard 2, F. G. Woodruffe 3, William A. Woode 4, F. W. Corney 5, F. L. Fisher (conductor) 6, C. J. Trotman 7, R. Malster 8. For evensong at St. Margaret's, Leiston, a quarter-peal of Bob Major (1,264 changes): B. Weaver 1, Mrs. J. E. Bailey 2, E. S. Bailey 3, C. Whiting 4, J. G. Rumsey 5, F. W. Corney 6, J. M. Bailey 7, J. E. Bailey (conductor) 8. Messrs. Weaver and Corney wish to thank the ringers in both towers for making this a memorable Sunday for them. The former returned home the same night.

FOR BEGINNERS.OBSERVING COURSING ORDER.

Every young ringer is a potential conductor, but not all reach the stage of competency in this direction, nor even try to do so. Many ringers are content to go on just 'ringing' and leaving 'calling' to others. Whether or not they desire to assume responsibilities as conductors, however, we think every ringer should know something about conducting, even if only because it helps to give him a closer insight into method ringing.

To stick to one's own job and mind one's business is as meritorious in ringing as in other walks of life, but there are times when some knowledge and a little interest in the other man's job comes in very useful. It helps a ringer to keep himself right when trouble occurs and may help him to help others.

The man who knows how to conduct a touch or peal must of necessity know more about the method than the man who just does his ringing by rule of thumb. For instance, the man who only knows where to dodge in Bob Minor by the place he passes the treble or by recollecting where he dodged last time is not as safe a ringer as the man who, in addition, knows the coursing order of the bells and how a bob is going to affect them, but these are things which every conductor studies if he is worthy of the name.

Even if a young ringer has no immediate prospect of becoming the bob caller in his tower, he should lose no opportunity of watching what is happening among the other bells while he is ringing, as soon as he can begin to think of something else besides finding his way through the method. Above all, there is no reason why he should not study these things on paper, at home, for this is the one road to success in the tower.

In the simpler methods the crux of successful conducting is in the ability to watch the coursing order of the bells and to be able to anticipate the changes of coursing order which will be made by the bobs.

Despite dodging and place-making, the bells in these simple methods keep to a fixed cycle until they are disturbed by a bob (or single). Coursing order is, generally speaking, the order in which the bells come to lead, or follow each other out behind. It also keeps them to a regular succession in the 'work' of the method, and if the conductor knows the coursing order, he not only can tell the bells when to lead, or the order in which they should come away from behind, but by the position of one or more he can tell a ringer who has gone astray exactly what piece of work he has to do next, and thus set him fairly quickly on his feet again—unless the delinquent happens to be one of those unfortunate ringers who, when they get out, have not the capacity to get right again without infinite trouble.

A knowledge of coursing order is, therefore, a first essential for those who wish to study anything more than the merest elementary phase of ringing. Indeed, the power to observe and memorise the order in which bells are coursing is the greatest aid to hunting. If you know the coursing order, there is no need to look about to find the next bell to strike over, with the possibility of missing it altogether; the ringer knows exactly which bell to look for.

Suppose it is Plain Bob we are ringing. Let us look at the coursing order first from the treble, when all the working bells come up without interruption. As you hunt out you have them in the order 2.4.6.5.3, and you take them back in precisely the same order. Then, when you lead, the last bell the treble struck over makes 2nd's place and takes the treble from lead. In hunting out and back next time, therefore, you put the last first and keep the others in the same order 3.2.4.6.5. In the next lead this order becomes 5.3.2.4.6 and so on until the end of the course or a bob is called.

A bob in Bob Minor causes 4th's place instead of 2nd's to be made, and consequently the bell coursing in front of the treble and the one behind it continue in that order and a different bell is displaced.

As we have seen, the coursing order in the first lead is 2.4.6.5.3, and, in the second without a bob, 3.2.4.6.5. If, however, a bob is called, it is not the last bell that you meet first, but the same bell as in the previous lead. The bell met next to last turns round in 4th's place and comes in and you have a coursing order of 2.5.4.6.3 instead of 3.2.4.6.5.

It seems a little more complicated in explanation than it really is in practice, and with careful application the young ringer will know as quickly which bells to look for after a bob has been called as he will after a plain lead.

If he is ringing an inside bell, he has to take the treble into account in the coursing order, and he will find that what happens is that the five working bells retain their order and that the treble moves through them one place each lead. Thus (suppose he is ringing the 2nd) he first leads and then he meets the bells 4.6.5.3.1, and after 1 comes his own bell in the cycle, giving an actual coursing order of 4.6.5.3.1.2.

The 2nd's place made by 3 transposes the bells in the next lead to 4.6.5.1.3.2, and in the next to 4.6.1.5.3.2, and so on, the treble moving one place at a time, the others keeping their coursing order except for this disturbance. If a bob is called, there is a wider transposition and instead of 4.6.5.3.1.2 you get 4.6.3.1.2.5.

It is worth while going to a little pains to understand this. Get a pencil and paper and write out two or three leads of Bob Minor and note the order in which the bells come up behind and come to lead.

Then write out three leads in which bobs are made and observe in these how the coursing order is changed. It will enable you to grasp it much more clearly when you go into the belfry.

FIRST LADY TO RING 300 PEALS.MRS. G. W. FLETCHER'S RECORD.

Mrs. G. W. Fletcher is the first lady to reach a total of 300 peals, and her performances, from their great variety as well as their high standard, form an extremely interesting record. No fewer than 77 of the peals were on handbells and she conducted 110.

WEDDING BELLS.

In honour of the wedding of Mr. E. Whittaker and Miss B. James, a quarter-peal of Doubles (1,260 changes) in eleven methods was rung at Evershot, Dorset, on Thursday, August 5th. The methods were one extent each of Place Bob, Chase, New Doubles, St. Dunstan's, St. Bartholomew, Reading, St. Simon's, Stedman Slow Course, Reverse Canterbury and Plain Bob and 60 changes of Grandsire: Mrs. H. D. W. Bishop 1, H. Smith 2, H. D. W. Bishop (conductor) 3, Mrs. H. Smith 4, A. G. Chubb 5, W. Ruttle 6. This was also a compliment to W. Ruttle on his 65th birthday.

For the wedding of the Rev. J. K. Mitchelson, Vicar of Strensall, Yorkshire, and Miss R. A. Foster, of Pontlands, Great Baddow, Essex, on July 1st, at Great Baddow, a quarter-peal of Kent Treble Bob Major was rung by G. Green 1, H. Devenish 2, E. Clark 3, S. Everett 4, H. Carter 5, C. Pennack 6, H. Pennack 7, P. Green (conductor) 8. The wedding ceremony was conducted by the Archbishop of York, assisted by the Rev. R. H. Holmes, Vicar of Great Baddow. Later, as the bride and bridegroom left the parish, 504 Grandsire Triples was rung, conducted by G. Green.

At St. Mary's, Chatham, for a wedding, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples: F. Belsey 1, D. T. Hills 2, F. Southgate 3, H. Springate 4, C. Belsey 5, W. Walker (conductor) 6, C. Norris 7, G. Lawrence 8.

TWIN BROTHERS CELEBRATE BIRTHDAY.

At the Parish Church, Swaffham, Norfolk, on Sunday, June 27th, before evening service, a quarter-peal of Bob Major (1,264 changes) was rung as a birthday compliment to the twin brothers A. and W. Houghton: S. Flint 1, W. Buckenham 2, A. Houghton 3, W. Houghton 4, J. Buckenham 5, H. Tuttle 6, E. Barker 7, L. Houghton (conductor) 8.

DURHAM AND NEWCASTLE ASSOCIATION.A BANK HOLIDAY MEETING.

Bank Holiday meetings of the Durham and Newcastle Diocesan Association had not been held for some years until the practice was revived last week at Sunderland, when it seemed to be the unanimous opinion of those present that this should be an annual function.

The meeting place was St. Michael's, Bishopwearmouth, where several touches of Grandsire and Stedman Triples and Kent and Double Norwich Major were rung. Unfortunately, the ringers were only 15 in number, so were unable to make up a band for Holy Trinity Church.

The Vicar (the Rev. G. H. Marshall) and also the president of the association (Councillor Arthur Payne, of Gateshead) joined the gathering at tea at St. Ignatius' Institute. The Rectors of St. Michael's and Holy Trinity and the Vicar of St. Ignatius' Church were thanked for the use of their bells, and thanks were accorded also to the ladies who had provided the tea.

An invitation had been received from the Rector of South Church, Bishop Auckland, to hold a meeting there, on the occasion of the unveiling of a Coronation peal board, and it was decided to accept this offer, the arrangements being left in the hands of the secretary.

Further ringing on the bells of St. Ignatius' brought a very pleasant and helpful meeting to a close.

RINGING TOUR IN LINCOLNSHIRE.PEAL ATTEMPTS AT 16 TOWERS.

A peal ringing tour in Lincolnshire, organised by Mr. Frank Bennett, of Brighton, begins to-day. An ambitious programme has been planned, which covers 16 attempts in all, with two 12, three 10 and eleven eight bell towers at the visitors' disposal. The party is made up of well-known ringers, and their headquarters will be at Spalding, where the first peal attempt is to be made this evening. The other towers in the tour are:—

Saturday: Ewerby (10) and Heckington (8).
 Sunday: Pinchbeck (8).
 Monday: Wisbech (10) and Long Sutton (8).
 Tuesday: Holbeach (8) and Fulney (8).
 Wednesday: Walsby (8) and Lincoln (12).
 Thursday: Swinshead (8) and Boston (10).
 Friday: Caythorpe (8) and Edenham (8).
 Saturday: Sutterton (8) and Surfleet (12).

JOINT MEETING IN SURREY.

In spite of the stormy-looking clouds, the weather behaved itself and kept fine for the annual joint meeting of the Leatherhead District of the Guildford Diocesan Guild and the North-Western Branch of the Surrey Association at Rammore Common on Saturday, July 24th. The threatening skies, however, had an effect on the attendance. Among the first arrivals were those who had been touring the wilds of Devon, and the bells were kept going until 5 o'clock, when the ringers' short service was conducted by the Rector (the Rev. W. R. Crichton). After welcoming the ringers to Rammore once again, he gave a short applicable address on 'Humble ye yourselves to serve one another.'

In spite of only 27 sitting down to tea when nearly 40 were expected, there was not much left on the tables when everyone had finished.

As usual there was no real business to transact, but it was fitting that those present should observe a few moments' silence on the death of Col. T. F. Parkinson, of Banstead, a member of both societies and of the College Youths. He was donor of the bells at Holy Trinity, Wandsworth, and was also responsible for several improvements at Banstead since his association with that tower.

Mr. F. G. Woodiss (Surrey district secretary) mentioned that the next meeting was at Egham and Staines on August 28th, and, as it was a joint meeting of four associations, he hoped to see his district well represented there.

After a hearty vote of thanks had been passed to the Rector, the organist and Mr. Dobinson for their part in making the meeting possible, and to Mr. A. H. Smith (Leatherhead district secretary) for making the necessary arrangements, the bells were once again made full use of under the mastership of Mr. Dan Cooper in a variety of methods until they were finally lowered in peal at 9 o'clock.

FIRST QUARTER PEALS

HILLINGDON.—On June 24th, at St. John the Baptist's, Hillingdon, for the patronal festival service, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Caters (1,259 changes): Miss G. Thetford 1, F. W. Goodfellow (conductor) 2, E. Hartley 3, A. R. G. Twinn 4, G. H. Gutteridge 5, J. J. Pratt 6, F. G. Boldwin 7, R. W. Darvill 8, F. Corke 9, C. A. Over 10. MR. J. M. BAILEY'S INTERESTING RECORD.OVER EIGHTY PEALS RUNG BY BROTHERS.

When Mr. J. M. Bailey, of Leiston, rang his 400th peal in celebration of his son's wedding, he completed a list which is in many ways remarkable, not least from the fact that so many of his performances were rung entirely by he and his brothers.

All the handbell peals and 218 of the tower-bell peals were rung at Leiston, Suffolk, and only one, the 400th, away from East Anglia. Included in the peals of London and Bristol were the first in the method by all, in both cases rung at St. Margaret's, Leiston, Suffolk. Mr. Bailey rang 50 consecutive Surprise peals on Leiston bells and has 'circled' the tower in each of the 'standard' Surprise methods. He took part in the first of each of the following Surprise Major methods: Suffolk, Dublin, Rochester, Camden, Essex, Waveney and Edinburgh.

DON'T SCRUB YOUR HANDS!

skin this simple way*

To many people, the problem of getting the hands really clean without harming the skin is a serious one. Grease and grime, which become deeply ingrained into the pores of the skin, are extremely difficult to remove, and ordinary washing with soap or even scrubbing will fail to remove them completely. Housewives, particularly, who complain that their hands get ruined by the nature of their work, will find the preparation called DERMAFOAM, a real "godsend." DERMAFOAM just smooths away dirt and grease without effort. It gets right down into the pores and removes every particle of grime, leaving skin beautifully supple and healthy.

Men, too—when you've finished that dirty job on the car, DERMAFOAM will quickly banish all grease and oil from your hands. It acts almost magically—working under and around the nails and into every minute crease, removing all trace of dirt in a flash.

Engineers, Painters, Car Mechanics, Printers — everyone — will welcome DERMAFOAM, the modern method of cleansing and protecting the hands.

THE PLAIN METHODS.

It is strange how sometimes a flippant remark may lead to a serious argument. A fortnight ago we published the report of the first peal of Bob Triples rung by the Suffolk Guild and, in pointing this out among 'Peal Notes,' casually and rather lightly suggested that it would probably be the last for a long time. We were promptly challenged to explain and, having, in response, suggested that Bob Triples is not the best or the most popular of methods, now find that there is still left at least one champion of this somewhat despised member of the Plain Bob family. Let it be at once admitted that if a band can put it to any useful purpose—and even if they can't—there is nothing to prevent them ringing a peal of it if they so desire. And the Central Council will recognise it, although deprecating its performance. The method may be all that our correspondent claims for it—a helpful step from Minor to Major—but that does not make our statement that it is not the best or the most popular of methods, any less true. None of the backstroke leads of the treble is a Triples change; there are four blows behind every time the treble leads. These are blemishes sufficient to justify discouragement of the use of the method, and they are so well recognised that few people ever desire to ring it. As well ring Grandsire Minor—it serves an equally good purpose to take the beginner from Doubles to Triples; but nobody does from the point of view of progress.

If, as our correspondent says, the step from Grandsire to Stedman is too much, there are other and more interesting things which can be rung instead of Bob Triples. Indeed, we could wish that many bands, who practise Grandsire entirely, would turn their attention to some of those methods published by the Central Council in their 'Collection of Triples Methods.' This book has been prepared specially for such ringers and provides them with material which should add to their interest in ringing as well as their competency in the art. There are several good methods which would be found quite easy for a Grandsire band of average ability and one of the most surprising things is that there is not more variety introduced into Triples ringing. Last year there were 163 peals of Grandsire Triples rung, but only 16 in other plain methods. Oxford Bob seems to be gaining a little ground, for nine of the sixteen were in that method—but out of the total there were only two peals of Plain Bob. Variety in pure Triples methods is, of course, much more limited than in Major or even Minor, but the best use is certainly not made of such scope as there is. methods. Double Norwich and Plain Bob last year accounted for 213 peals, but only 22 were rung in other plain methods, mostly Little Bob and St. Clement's, when there are scores, opening up a wide field, which might be practised.

A SOMERSET WEEK.

TWENTY TOWERS VISITED.

The following peals were rung during a week's holiday at Wrington. Four other attempts were made which proved unsuccessful. In all, 20 towers, mostly with six bells, were visited, and as a great many were rung from the ground floor, Canon Coleridge was able to join in a good deal of the ringing. At Worle he rang the treble to 720 Bob Minor. At Binegar the party were entertained to tea by the Rev. W. M. K. Warren, Master of the Bath and Wells Diocesan Association, and Mrs. Warren, and to them, and the various incumbents who gave permission for the use of their bells, the party tender their grateful thanks.

A DOUBLE BIRTHDAY CELEBRATION.

On Tuesday, August 10th, at Billesdon, Leicestershire, a quarter-peal of Minor (Oxford and Plain Bob) was rung by J. Norton 1, R. Russell 2, H. Faulkner 3, J. G. Geary 4, A. N. Geary 5, Ernest Morris (conductor) 6. It was specially arranged to mark the 60th birthday of the treble ringer, who retires from the Post Office with over 47 years' service, also for the 21st birthday of Miss Margaret L. Morris, daughter of the conductor. Miss Morris rang the treble to 360 Grandsire Doubles prior to the quarter-peal.

PEAL NOTES.

INTERESTING DETAILS.

A Freemasons' peal of Stedman Caters was rung at Wimborne Minster, on Saturday week, as a welcome to the new Bishop of Salisbury, Dr. Neville Lovett, who was recently transferred from the See of Portsmouth. A previous attempt for the peal came to grief.

The report of a peal of Grandsire Doubles at Weston, Bath, has been sent without the date.

While on holiday in Lancashire, the Rev. C. C. Cox, Vicar of Lyne Regis, Dorset, rang two peals. The first, which was arranged for him, was Cambridge Surprise rung at Whalley, and the second Double Norwich at Churchkirk, which was his one hundredth peal.

The weight of the tenor at March, Cambs, on which the first peal since their restoration in 1929 was rung on August 7th, is 15 cwt. 2 qr. 13 lb. in E. In the peal report sent us it was given at 16½ cwt., but the correction arrived too late to be made last week.

A peal of Kent Treble Bob Major, rung at Bovey Tracey on August 11th, was arranged for Miss F. Wyman and Mr. Oliver Sippetts, who were spending a holiday in 'glorious Devon.'

An odd 240 changes in four spliced methods was added at the end of seven 720's rung at Sandal, Yorkshire, on Sunday, August 8th. It, of course, counts as a peal of 5,280, but if a band ringing Doubles added an odd touch in the same way, the oddment would not count—under the recent ruling of the Central Council.

Four ringers taking part in a peal for the North Notts Association on August 12th at Barnby-in-the-Willows rang their first peal in 14 methods.

A peal in six methods of Minor was rung with the bells half-muffled at Willesborough, Kent, on Saturday, as a token of respect to a much esteemed parishioner, Mrs. Garner, headmistress of the infant school of the village for 32 years and a member of the Parochial Church Council. It was the first peal in six methods by all the band and believed to be the first in the district by an entirely local company.

Mr. Leslie Thrift, of Chadwell Heath, rang his first peal of Stedman on Saturday. It was Cinques! Not often does a ringer begin his peals of Stedman on this number. The peal was rung by the Cumberland Youths at Shoreditch, and afterwards congratulations were extended to Mr. Tom Bevan, senior steward of the society, upon his silver wedding, which he celebrated on August 11th.

In March two trebles were added by Messrs. Gillett and Johnston to complete the octave at All Saints' Church, Okehampton, Devon. The first peal on the bells was rung on Saturday.

Wheatley Surprise, of which the first peal was rung at Erith on Saturday, is another method by Mr. E. W. Tipler and the composition is by Mr. A. G. Driver. The band wish to couple with the peal the name of Mr. E. A. Barnett, who was in the two previous attempts. Mr. D. M. Sharp filled his place.

This is the third Surprise method rung to a peal for the first time at St. John the Baptist's Church, viz., Erith, Lessness and Wheatley.

The peal of Cambridge Surprise Maximus rung at Ipswich on August 14th was a birthday compliment to the mother of the ringer of the 11th. As Mr. Symonds has been ringing nearly 51 years, one can almost guess the age of his mother, although she is younger than the veteran Robert H. Brundle.

It was Mr. Symonds' one hundredth peal in the tower. These peals include some notable first performances.

The first handbell peal by the North Wales Association was rung on Sunday, seven 720's of Bob Minor being rung at Mold, Flintshire. Was it also the first handbell peal in Wales?

Mr. E. W. Tipler, of Lutterworth, who has produced many new Surprise methods, in ringing his first peal of Stedman Triples as conductor, 'completed the circle' at Gilmorton Church, Leicestershire, on Sunday.

Mr. Robert Matthews, who took part in the peal of Bob Maximus at Kidderminster, recorded last week, had previously rung a peal in the method. His name should have been included in our note with those of Messrs. Short and Bass as the only ones in the band who had previously rung a peal of 'Plain Twelve.'

Five towers were represented in the band who rang a peal of Stedman Triples at Monks Kirby, Warwickshire, on August 11th. The ringers of treble and 2 were from Leicester, of 3, 4 and tenor from Lutterworth, 5 from Croft, 6 from Hinckley, 7 from Burbage.

WORCESTERSHIRE RINGER'S GOLDEN WEDDING.

The golden wedding of Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Knowles has been celebrated by a peal at Madresfield, at the church where they were married on August 11th, 1887, and where Mr. Knowles has been a ringer since 1881.

Mr. Knowles was for several years hon. secretary of the Western Branch of the Worcestershire Association and, later, Master. He has also been a representative of the association on the Central Council.

Mr. Knowles has spent much time in instructing beginners and helping struggling bands, and has done much towards raising the standard of ringing in the district.

Congratulations and good wishes have been extended by many friends to Mr. and Mrs. Knowles, who lost two sons in the Great War, and have four daughters and two grandchildren living.

5,000 TREBLE BOB ROYAL.

A COMPOSITION WITH SPECIAL FEATURES FROM OVERSEAS.
Remarkable Coincidence.

Mr. Cornelius Charge, formerly of the Metropolitan Police, who has for some years been residing in Auckland, New Zealand, has sent the following composition of 5,000 of Treble Bob Royal. In forwarding it, he asked if a peal with the same qualities has been published before, viz., the 6th its extent at home, all combinations of 4-5-6 in 5-6, the 2nd and 3rd never in 6th's, the 2nd only one course-end in 5th's, and an even 5,000, without a bob affecting the position of the four back bells.

These figures reached us a fortnight ago. Last Monday identically the same composition was sent to us by Mr. Nolan Golden, who had also produced it and called it at Wisbech on August 12th. He, of course, knew nothing about the existence of the figures by Mr. Charge. It is interesting to compare his description with that given above. 'The first peal of Treble Ten rung in the minimum number of changes containing all combinations of 4-5-6 in 5-6 and the 6th the extent home, with the 2nd one course only in fifth's and calls only at M. W. and H.,' is the way Mr. Golden describes it.

CLOCK HAMMER STOPS PEAL.

An attempt for a peal of Grandsire Triples at SS. Mary and Cuthbert's Church, Chester-le-Street, on August 11th, came to an end after an hour and a half's ringing through the clock hammer coming in contact with the tenor. The ringers were J. E. Scott 1, T. F. Preston 2, Miss M. A. P. Bertie 3, S. Patterson 4, A. Cook 5, W. Sheraton 6, K. Arthur (conductor) 7, J. Scott 8.

NEW BAND'S PROGRESS.

Four members of the recently-formed band at All Saints' Church, Birchington, rang their first 518 Grandsire Triples on August 11th: W. Huckstepp 1, *J. Russell 2, F. Gadsden 3, *H. Luck 4, G. Wilshire 5, F. Reeves 6, *A. Hincksley 7, F. Finnis 8. * Longest touch.

ADAY IN HANTS.TIME TABLE GETS OUT OF HAND.

On a recent Saturday, the ringers of Leatherhead Parish Church, Surrey, with friends from Ashted, Ewell and Cobham, to the number of 15, made an enjoyable motor-coach tour into Hampshire. An early start enabled the first place of call, East Meon, to be reached soon after 9.30. Here touches of Grandsire Triples and Bob Major and a course of Cambridge Surprise were rung. Then on to North Stoneham, where they met their old friend Mr. George Williams, who was waiting to welcome them. At a second attempt a touch of Grandsire Caters was brought round on this merry little ring of ten. Although the front bells are of little weight, it was found they were no playthings, but had to be rung. Next a short touch of Grandsire Triples and, to finish, a course of London Surprise, with George and one of his 'boys' standing in. St. Mary's, Southampton, was next visited, and Grandsire Triples and Caters and three leads of Treble Ten were rung on this grand peal. Dinner, the next item, was, as usual, brought round without any false starts, but after this the time table got out of hand a bit. Some of the party went on a wild goose chase and found an 'Aviary'; at least that was their explanation when they left for Hursley nearly half an hour late. On arrival they found a nice ring of bells already up. A touch each of Bob Major and Grandsire Triples and a half-course of Cambridge were enjoyed before going on to Twyford still behind schedule time. Here they were met by a one time Ashted ringer, Mr. Harry Wilkinson. After a touch each of Oxford Bob Triples and Double Norwich, it was decided to move on and try and make up leeway. However, on reaching Alresford they were still 30 minutes adrift. Mr. Newnham, an old Leatherhead ringer of 40 years ago, was waiting patiently for the visitors. This was the first tower of the day where the bells were down, and it gave an opportunity of raising the back six in peal. A touch each of Grandsire and Stedman Triples, Plain Bob, Kent and Double Norwich Major were brought round and the back six lowered in peal. A meat tea and a chat with Mr. Newnham occupied the next hour, after which the party left for their last port of call, the Jolly Farmer at Puttenham. Here legs were stretched (and pulled) and elbows exercised in the usual ringers' manner for 40 minutes or so while the engine cooled. Then as the shades of night were falling fast (yes, very fast), the last 16 miles were safely accomplished and Leatherhead was reached soon after 10 p.m. after a happy and successful day. Through the medium of 'The Ringing World' the ringers wish to express their thanks to the various clergy and ringing friends who helped to make this possible.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

Every ringer should secure a copy of Mr. J. A. Trollope's new book, 'A History of the College Youths,' which 'The Ringing World' will publish towards the end of next month. Subscribers who apply for copies, with remittance, before September 18th can obtain them at 4s. each, with 6d. extra for packing and postage. After that date the price will be 5s. and postage. Therefore, order at once.

Owing to unexpected difficulties, the date (31st inst.) provisionally fixed for the unveiling of the Sir Henry Tulse tombstone has had to be postponed until the College Youths' Festival, November 6th, of which due notice will be given.

An interesting photograph of the six brothers White, of Appleton, appeared in the 'Evening Standard' on Saturday, but the author of the story which accompanied it went badly astray. The article was headed, 'Six brothers rang bells for 12 hours.' This and some of the other statements must be rather embarrassing to the modest band of Appleton brothers. As a matter of fact, only Dick and Harry were in the record peal of Stedman Caters in 1922.

The meeting of the Hunts branch of the Ely Diocesan Association at Stanground to-morrow has been cancelled.

A BADGE FOR IDENTIFICATION.

To the Editor.

Sir,—With regard to the 'meeting at Scarborough,' I have often thought it would be an advantage to ringers in their travels if the Central Council issued a small official badge, preferably in the shape of a bell, to be worn in the buttonhole, and, therefore, easily recognisable by a brother ringer, although I was greatly surprised to read that two ringers were in each other's company for a whole evening and during the course of their conversation the subject of bells and ringing did not crop up.

THE SOMERSET TOUR.

A DISCLAIMER.

'Twas not that we were speeding within a built-up part,
'Twas wrong to say our brakes were weak, for we tried them at the start.

Our number plates were also clean, and cars quite spick and span,
For, being most particular, we clean whenever we can.
'Tis true our names were taken, and what names they were, by jove!
'Twas Jack, and Frank, and, let me see—who was the other cove?
Methinks it was a Film Star, her name may not be guessed,
But you can see her on the films, if you take a jaunt up West.
'Twas early in the morning, so we really felt quite fine,
But having halted at the 'Halt,' we failed to toe the 'line.'
The policeman said: Your guide was good, he stopped where all good drivers should.

'Tis true we argued with the 'Cops,' but whatever good was that,
Their minds were definitely made up to have us on the mat.
'And so to Court,' they said, 'you go,' which brought a smile from leader Joe.

For Court was fixed to be in Wells—a chance for peal upon those bells.
We passed the hat to raise the fine for jumping o'er that nice(?) white line.

But e'er we'd raised the thirty bob, the 'beak' refused to take the job.
Our copy books were sent straight back, 'You're warned!' they said,
So that is that. GWEKT.

DEATH OF A HILLINGDON RINGER.

The death occurred on Monday, August 2nd, of Mr. J. H. Lucas, who had been a member of St. Andrew's tower, Hillingdon West, Middlesex, for nearly 14 years. He regularly attended Sunday service ringing and branch meetings until about two years ago, when he gave up through illness. He was not a great peal ringer, but had rung 38 in the standard methods.

The funeral took place on Friday, August 6th, and in the evening a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples was rung with the bells half-muffled: A. Bray 1, P. Jones 2, E. Hancox 3, S. Childs 4, F. Bolton 5, F. Corke (conductor) 6, R. Carter 7, C. Nicholls 8.

Deceased, who was 57 years of age, leaves a widow and two sons in bereavement. Mr. Lucas' peals were: Minor in 3 methods 2, in 2 methods 1, Grandsire Doubles 1, Grandsire Triples 8, Grandsire Caters 2, Bob Minor 3, Bob Major 2, Kent Treble Bob Minor 1, Kent Treble Bob Major 1, Stedman Triples 15, Oxford Bob Triples 2, total 38.

COMPLIMENT TO BELL DONORS.

In honour of Mr. J. and Mrs. A. Hatt, donors of the bells at Tetsworth Church, on the occasion of their visit to the parish on August 13th, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Doubles by the Sunday service ringers: J. Stone 1, R. Lindars 2, A. Peasley 3, J. Hedges 4, W. Gibbard (conductor) 5, F. Smith 6. First quarter-peal by all except the conductor and his first quarter-peal as conductor.

LONDON BELLS BEFORE THE GREAT FIRE

HOW THEIR NUMBERS INCREASED.

By J. ARMIGER TROLLOPE.

One of my tasks in writing my 'History' was to find out, if I could, how many ringing peals there were in London before the Great Fire of 1666, and especially how many bells there were at St. Michael, Paternoster Royal, and St. Martin-in-the-Vintry, where, we are told, the College Youths first practised.

It is usually assumed that the only sources of information are Stow's 'Survey of London' and its various continuations, and such of the parish accounts as have survived, none of which tells us very much. But Mr. C. T. Flower, the secretary of the Public Record Office, very kindly made some investigations for me among State papers and afterwards put me in the way of making others myself. As a result I have found out that there were in London in olden times very many more bells than is usually supposed.

In 1552 and 1553 inventories were made of the goods, ornaments and bells of all the parish churches throughout England and Wales. Many of these inventories still exist, those for some counties (Norfolk and Surrey, for example) being practically complete. In London at the time there were 105 parish churches and there are inventories for 95. But nine of them are mutilated and tell us nothing about the bells.

In the remaining 86 churches there were two rings of six, 34 of five, 26 of four and 21 of three. All of them had, in addition, a saunce or sanctus bell. St. Margaret, Pattens, is the only one that possessed a single bell, and that was because the steeple was being rebuilt when it was stopped by a dreadful fire which destroyed many of the houses in the parish and caused the death of nine persons. All Hallows, Lombard Street, had but two (one of them a saunce bell). A parishioner had bought the bells of the dissolved priory of St. John-at-Clerkenwell for the steeple, but he died and his son and heir refused to complete the gift. St. Pancras, Soper Lane, also had but two, but that was a tiny church.

In addition, there were rings of five at St. Paul's Cathedral and the Conventual Church of St. Martin-le-Grand. Soon after 1553, however, both these rings were destroyed. St. Martin's was broken up and sold, and St. Paul's perished by fire in 1561. The five at St. Anne and St. Agnes were also destroyed by fire. But all the rest were not only preserved and well looked after between 1552 and 1666, but in many instances were augmented. All Hallows, Staining, four in 1552, were made five; St. Andrew, Holborn, were increased in 1578 from four to eight; St. Alphage, London Wall, from three to six; St. Andrew, Undershaft, from four to six; St. Botolph, Aldersgate, from three to five; St. Botolph, Bishopsgate, from three to six; St. Christopher, Stocks, from five to six; St. Giles, Cripplegate, from five to six; St. Mary-le-Bow, from five to ten; St. Michael, Cornhill, from six to eight; St. Olave, Hart Street, from four to six; and All Hallows, London Wall, from four to six.

Probably there were other rings which were augmented, for a man left money for the bells of All Hallows, Bread Street, to be rung on certain occasions, and they were only four in 1552. All Hallows, Barking, too, for which there is no inventory, were made six in 1659, and

St. Bartholomew by the Exchange, of which the inventory is defective, were five at the end of the 16th century.

At St. Martin-in-the-Vintry there were 'V bells of on accord and a lesser bell.' Neither the inventory nor any parish accounts of St. Michael, Paternoster Royal, survive, and we shall never know what bells were there before the fire, but judging by comparison with other churches of a like importance, we may say that probably it had a ring of five.

The inventories for the Westminster churches have not survived, but we know from other sources that in the early 17th century St. Martin-in-the-Fields had five bells, the Abbey six, and St. Margaret's six. At St. Saviour's, Southwark, there was a heavy ring of six in 1552, increased to eight in the 17th century; St. Olave's had five; and Lambeth had five. St. Giles-in-the-Fields had three in 1552 and six in 1635.

All these bells were hung for ringing and were rung regularly, even the little threes in what were scarcely more than turrets.

The old societies rang on three and four bells as well as on fives and sixes, and we know from extant rules that it was their custom to go about from belfry to belfry, as fancy or convenience dictated; so that they had pretty nearly a hundred towers within walking distance to chose from.

The College Youths, in this respect, were not different from other societies. They were not specially connected with any one City church, and there is not a scrap of evidence to show that they had anything to do with any church on College Hill, even if there was a ringing peal there. In any case, the oft-quoted statement of Shipway that they rang Stedman's Principle at a church on College Hill cannot be true. The Principle was not composed until shortly before 1677 and all the bells at St. Michael, Paternoster Royal, and St. Martin-in-the-Vintry perished in the fire of 1666.

BOB TRIPLES.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—I have read your reply to my letter re the peal of Bob Triples at Grandsire, and I am sorry to note your remarks are again very vague.

Apparently you do not consider Bob Triples serves a part in 'the advancement of the art of change ringing,' and that is where we disagree.

I am well aware that Bob Triples is greatly despised, especially in this part of the country, and it is mainly due to this fact that I feel inclined to give an opinion in favour of the method. Bob Triples is rarely, if ever, practised in this district, which may explain to a certain extent the difficulty one experiences in finding a tower where a band can ring anything other than Grandsire.

Do not misunderstand me. Grandsire is a good old-fashioned and simple method, and contains greater musical qualities than Bob Triples. But what a great percentage of our ringing friends who never advance further than Grandsire, the method they were first taught! You, yourself, have deplored that fact only recently, and have more or less considered the problem unsolved. A puzzle is made to be solved by the application of a little thought and rearranging, and that is where Bob Triples comes in.

I strongly maintain that if beginners are first of all taught the Plain Bob method on four or five bells, they will in a surprisingly short time master Bob Major. The point I am endeavouring to make understandable is that Bob Triples is a valuable stepping stone in the elementary course of a young ringer and should be encouraged. In other words, the stages from Plain Bob four or five bells to Bob Major and then to Treble Bob is much more simple than placing a beginner, with only rounds experience, to an 'inside' bell in Grandsire Triples, ultimately expecting him to conquer Stedman Triples as the next method.

The stepping stage is too great and only a few reach it, and the tower is left with a band of a few insiders to Grandsire and the remainder tenormen, neither of whom has a further desire for advancement.

COMPETITIVE RINGING.

ITS DRAWBACKS AND A POSSIBLE WAY OUT.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—With regard to your leader of August 13th, putting on one side the Church, as distinct from the secular side of competitive ringing, there is a good deal in what you say, but there are some points which never are considered amongst those who live in a competitive country and see them daily.

The first result of competitive ringing is undoubtedly to improve the standard of the method rung, be it rounds or anything else. It is a question as to whether this improvement (very temporary as will be seen) is worth the expense.

The second result, simultaneous with the first, is, in my experience, a complete selfishness on the part of a few ringers, resulting in loss of all progress and a final break up of the band. It stands to reason that, if you are going to have a competition, you must practise for that competition and that alone, if you are to do any good. The result is that six or eight ringers, according to the number of bells, constitute themselves 'the ringers, par excellence,' take up the whole of the practice time and discourage others from joining. If there are any other ringers they soon get disgruntled and leave and no one takes their place. One of the regulars dies or leaves the district, and the remainder, being used to perfect ringing, will not readily ring with a new man, who has to be taught from the beginning, or even with one of the band not in the clique, and the band breaks up.

I can show you dozens of such cases in a Round Ringing Country, and it appears at least possible that the same would happen in change ringing.

As to progress, the same applies. If you are to have any chance of a first place in the competition, you have no time for the practice of new methods. The prize ringing towers, which really count, in a Round Ringing Country do not even practise call changes.

Finally, such competitions discourage conductors and encourage the one conductor tower. It is possible that a very thorough organisation, by giving points for the number of conductors, number of ringers, and changing ringers around on different bells (most important of all), may get rid of these disadvantages. But they must be considered before any action is taken.

Crack ringers may be inclined not to treat the above very seriously; but it is not the cracks who will be taking part. For the rest I would warn them that the path of the competitive ringer is far from being a smooth one.

Now one word as to the church side. Competition will never and should never receive any encouragement from the Church. If some such scheme as you outline should, therefore, ever materialise, I would most strongly urge something which would have the same effect without the stigma of competition.

Such a scheme has been devised by a ringing association which is now affiliated to its diocesan guild. The ringing is judged as is 'prize ringing,' but no marks are issued. First, second and third class certificates are issued according to a standard in the hands of the judges, and as ringing improves so these standards become higher. The whole of the entries or none may, therefore, receive a first class.

It has proved very successful and it is hoped that advance in method ringing may be obtained later by having different classes. If this comes about it will have achieved a great object in combining all ringers into one brotherhood. But two things remain to be seen:—

(1) Whether it could survive an ultimate change of leadership.

(2) Whether the good of the show will triumph over the natural selfishness of the average ringer (I class myself in this, so no one need be hurt!).

The above scheme is, I think, a good one when the proposal is to combine, in one association, the competitive and non-competitive ringer, but I am firmly convinced that where it is merely a case of improving striking within an association (important as this is), any form of test should be avoided like the devil.

TENDER HANDS.

WHAT IS THE BEST REMEDY?

The inquiry of a correspondent whose tender hands suffer when he indulges in ringing has brought the following suggestions, which may be useful to other of our readers who 'blister.'

Mr. W. B. Kynaston (Swindon) says he finds surgical spirit (bought from the chemist's) a good preventive; also a remedial agent.

A wash leather 'end' for the rope is advocated by Mr. H. D. Harris (Woburn). He says: I think your correspondent will find that by far the most effective way to prevent blistering of the fingers is to obtain a piece of wash leather, about 10 to 12 inches long and 2 inches or so wide, and make it into a tube by neatly stitching the sides together the whole length so that it will slip over the tail end, which then forms a miniature sally. Two small holes should be made at either end, sufficient to pass a piece of thread through, so that it can be tied to the rope to prevent slipping. He can, of course, carry it about with him in his pocket wherever he goes to ring, as it only takes a few minutes to adjust.

Mrs. E. (a ringer) writes: Re the correspondent who asks what is the best thing to use on tender hands to keep them from blistering when ringing, I suggest that he (or she) tries doing a few months of housework, at the end of which his hands will probably be nicely hardened.

'A HISTORY OF THE COLLEGE YOUTHS.'

By J. ARMIGER TROLLOPE.

To be published in September by
'The Ringing World'

This new contribution to the literature of bell ringing will be found to be a volume of engrossing interest. It is based on new material brought to light by the author's own researches, and it is by far the most exhaustive history of the Society yet presented to the public.

As the Society goes back almost to the beginnings of change ringing, the development of the art has been coincidental with the life of the College Youths. The author's story, therefore, contains much of the history of the first two centuries of ringing, as well as of the Society itself. Distant events are reconstructed from a skilful analysis of old documents; men who, until now, have existed for later generations only in name, become once again personalities of interest.

This volume, coming in the tercentenary year of the Ancient Society, should be doubly welcome to the members, and will prove full of interest to every ringer.

It is to be illustrated by reproductions of old prints, and drawings of numerous London churches. Bound in cloth covers, the book will be published at 5/- (postage and packing 6d. extra). Obtainable only by direct application to 'The Ringing World,' Lower Pyrford Road, Woking.

SPECIAL OFFER

TO SUBSCRIBERS, whose orders, with remittance, are sent direct to 'The Ringing World,' BEFORE SEPTEMBER 18th, the volume is offered at the REDUCED PRICE OF 4/- (plus 6d. for postage and packing).

ORDER AT ONCE

DEATH OF MR. H. FOLKARD.

RINGER AT EALING FOR 35 YEARS.

We regret to announce the death of Mr. Harry Folkard, which took place on Thursday, August 5th, at the age of 68 years. The deceased was a Suffolk man, born and learnt to ring at Framlingham, but for the last 35 years had lived at Ealing and rang at Christ Church and St. Stephen's, Ealing, and with the College Youths.

The funeral, on the 13th inst., at Ealing Cemetery, was attended by Mr. P. E. Clark (representing Christ Church and St. Stephen's), Mr. E. Harris, Mr. J. A. Trollope (representing the Middlesex Association), Mr. E. J. Walsam and Mr. C. F. Winney (representing the College Youths). A muffled peal was rung at Christ Church in the evening.

SUSSEX COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

A meeting of the Eastern Division of the Sussex County Association was held at Battle on Saturday, August 7th, over 30 members attending from Brighton (St. Nicholas), Eastbourne (St. Mary's, St. Saviour's and Christ Church), Mayfield, Uckfield, Heathfield, Brede, Hawkhurst (Kent), Sutton (Surrey), as well as Mr. Haig, of Etchingham, and members of the Battle company. A short service was held, and Mr. W. D. Smith presided at the tea and business meeting which followed.

The election of the following life members was confirmed: Messrs. Ernest Bishop and Stanley Etheridge, of Hawkhurst, and A. P. Cannon, of London. Messrs. John Downing and Jack Pennells, of Hastings, were elected members.

A vote of thanks was proposed by the divisional secretary (Mr. A. G. Pankhurst) to the Dean for the use of the bells, and to Mr. Sinden for making arrangements for the meeting.

The members then returned to the tower, and, in spite of the hot weather, the bells were kept going until 8 o'clock.

GLORIOUS DEVON.

HARTLAND'S WONDROUS CHURCH.

On Saturday, August 7th, the ringers of the Thorverton band held their annual outing. The party made its first halt at Okehampton, where the new peal by Gillett and Johnston responded to touches of Triples. The only 'grouse' was the ascent of the long path to the church.

The run to Great Torrington was particularly admired by the ladies of the party, and the views of Exmoor away north and the receding prospect of the Tors of Dartmoor provided something to think about. Who could not admire the deep vale of the Torridge as it half encircles Great Torrington?

The little market town, midst its commons on the hill, has a fine church (destroyed by gunpowder in 1645 and rebuilt in 1655) and spire, while its bells gave pleasure in every way. After ringing the party had luncheon in the 17th century inn in the square. Of course, the baskets were well packed. The journey was continued by way of the Torridge valley to Bideford and Hartland. Hartland Point, 'where the grey seas glitter and the sharp tides shift,' was the limit of the tour. Time, however, prevented the party from reaching the Point.

ST. NECTAN'S CHURCH, HARTLAND,
With the tallest tower in Devon.

Hartland has a wondrous church, much as it was in the late 14th century, when its builders set up a glorious rood screen and erected the tallest tower in the county of Devon. They preserved a beautifully carved Norman font, and in the parvise over the north doorway may be seen many relics of historic Harton. The tower is 126ft. high and is a landmark for ships entering the Bideford Bay. But Harton bells, cast by the firm of Taylor, when located at Buckland Brewer in 1826, provided a man's job. They run 'tother way,' the tenor is a ton and they go hard. Their tones reminded the ringers of the waves moaning by the Bar. But the fresh breezes direct from the Atlantic, the panorama of the Bay even to Baggy Point, and the distant prospect of Dartmoor, gave something to be remembered.

The road runs high from Harton to Bideford, and the Leighs and Grenvilles of the past went that way to Stowe down in Cornwall. A diversion through Abbotsham gave the ringers a near view of Westward Ho. They glimpsed the Pebble Ridge and the white flecks of the crested waves lapping the boulders; they thought of Kipling and 'Stalky and Co.,' nor did they forget 'Ayacauora' and 'Amyas Leigh' in Kingsley's 'Westward Ho!'

Bideford was reached by 5 p.m., and when it is stated that the tide was up, there is convincing evidence of the glory of 'the little white town on the Torridge.' And Bideford bells (a Taylor peal, 1929) were splendid in every way and led to expressions such as 'I'd like to ring

MIDDLESEX COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

WELCOME TO CELEBRATED COMPOSER.

The storm might have completely washed out a meeting of the North and East District of the Middlesex County Association and London Diocesan Guild, held at Willesden on Saturday last. That it did not do so was to the credit of the ringers who attended, who were repaid for their enthusiasm by enjoying some good ringing in good company, and participating in a good tea.

It was regretted that the absence on holiday of the Vicar (Rev. G. H. Perry) prevented the usual service being held, although this gave a little more time for a chat after tea and some handbell ringing.

At the business meeting Mr. G. W. Fletcher (vice-president) took the chair. The provisional elections to membership of three ringers were confirmed, amongst these being Mr. Albert J. Pitman, of Port Talbot, who was present at the meeting. Mr. C. T. Coles (hon. secretary) said that Mr. Pitman was provisionally elected in that tower on the previous Tuesday. It was fitting that he should become a member of this association at Willesden, which was the tower at which the first of his many wonderful peals of Spliced Surprise Major was rung, one in ten methods, and which was followed by several others in different numbers of methods. Mr. Coles added that although Mr. Pitman was disappointed at losing his peal at Willesden, he was glad to say that one attempted at St. George's, Southwark, on Thursday, was successful, and Mr. Pitman rang his first Surprise peal.

Mr. Pitman acknowledged his election by thanking Mr. E. C. Turner and Mr. Coles for arranging ringing for him, and expressed his pleasure at spending such an enjoyable holiday amongst Middlesex ringers.

Finchley was chosen for the next meeting on September 18th, if available, the special method to be London Bob, No. 6 in the O.C. collection of Plain Minor methods.

Mr. J. A. Trollope called attention to the notice in 'The Ringing World' advertising the book to be issued next month, 'A History of the College Youths.' This, he said, was being published by Mr. Goldsmith, who was undertaking all financial risk in connection with it. Of course, he, Mr. Trollope, was hoping that the book would sell well, he did not deny that, but he was also very anxious that Mr. Goldsmith should not incur financial loss, and he, therefore, asked everybody present to send in their orders early, and to push the sales of the book to their utmost. It was not necessary to be a member of the College Youths to be interested—the book was more than a souvenir—it was a serious attempt to write up a history of change ringing, of people who were just as much the ancestors of all of us as they were of the members of one society.

Mr. Fletcher urged early purchase, saying 'Do it now!'

The hon. secretary reminded members that 'to-day, August 14th, is the birthday of that great ringer, William Pye,' and he asked all present to show respect to his memory by standing in silence for a few moments.—This was accordingly done.

The Chairman proposed a vote of thanks to the Vicar for allowing the meeting to be held, and added that Mr. Perry had expressed his regrets at his absence on holiday.

Thanks were also accorded to Mr. H. Kilby, also on holiday, and Mr. T. J. Lock for arranging the meeting, and to Miss K. M. Bradford, Miss Wright and members of the Guild of St. Catherine for preparing an enjoyable tea.

Central Council publications went very well, and the hon. secretary almost sold out his stock.

An attempt for Edmonton Bob on handbells was 'only nearly' successful, and Double Norwich was rung instead.

In the tower most of the standard methods from Grandsire to London Surprise were rung, and two or three touches of Edmonton Bob, the special method for the meeting, were successfully brought round.

FIRST QUARTER-PEALS.

LONDON.—On Sunday, August 8th, for evening service at the Church of the Immanuel, Streatham, S.W., a quarter-peal of Stedman Triples: Miss O. L. Ashbrook 1, T. H. Taffender 2, E. J. King (conductor) 3, E. L. Miles 4, P. A. Corby (first quarter-peal in the method) 5, A. P. Cannon 6, F. E. Darby 7, F. Hopgood 8.

WILLESDEN.—At the Church of St. Mary on Monday, August 9th, a quarter-peal of Double Norwich Court Bob Major: Miss K. M. Bradford 1, C. E. Lankester 2, G. M. Kilby 3, W. G. Turner (first quarter-peal in the method) 4, J. H. Riding 5, E. B. Hartley 6, H. Kilby 7, T. J. Lock (conductor) 8.

a peal here.' Ringing done, Friendships provided an excellent tea. After tea 'Sonny' (grandson) Ridler appeared rather concerned about his half-crown. But he got it all right and thoroughly enjoyed himself amongst the boats, while the party found diversion in the shipping activities near the ancient long bridge.

The return journey through Barnstaple and the Taw Valley will be remembered even in dull November. The waters above the Bideford Bar were as peaceful as a lake as the great red sun dipped over the ocean beyond. All were indebted to Mr. Ridler and his lieutenants, Messrs. Cory, Milford, treasurer, and Pook, timekeeper. He calls himself 'Marshal,' perhaps it's his joke. Mr. Ridler has, for something like half a century, trained young hands in the art of change ringing. He is over eighty and it seems wonderful to say that he took part in most of the touches rung during the day. But his motto is 'Doing what we ought, we desire no praise.'

FOR BEGINNERS.

COURSING ORDER IN KENT TREBLE BOB.

The coursing order of the bells in Treble Bob can be followed with as much ease as that of Plain Bob. The essential difference is that the bell in the 'Slow' work (described a fortnight ago) is taken out of the coursing for the time being. In Kent Treble Bob the treble meets the bells in the order 2.4.6.5.3, as it does at the beginning of Plain Bob, but instead of hunting back through them in the same order, 2, having to remain in the slow, is missing, and in retracing its steps the treble meets the bells in the order 4.6.5.3 and then picks up 2 on the front. Next time, 4 goes in Slow and the order out is 4.6.5.3.2 and back 6.5.3.2.4.

If you are ringing one of the working bells you maintain the same cycle of coursing, but substitute the treble for whichever bell is in the Slow. Thus in the first lead of the plain course the cycle is 1.4.6.5.3 (2 being in the Slow), in the next lead 2.1.6.5.3 (4 being in the Slow), in the next 2.4.1.5.3 (6 being in the Slow), and so on. Or, beginning always with the treble, 1.4.6.5.3; 1.6.5.3.2; 1.5.3.2.4, etc.

When a bob is called, the bell immediately in front of the treble 'makes the bob' and is turned in its coursing order so that it follows immediately after the treble. Thus if the bells are coursing 1.4.6.5.3 (1, etc.) in the first lead and a bob is called, the coursing order becomes 1.3.6.5.2 in the next lead, and then 1.6.5.2.4 if a plain lead follows, or 1.2.6.5.4 if there is another bob.

If you are ringing on more bells than six, the coursing order follows the same rules. When you ring the method on eight you merely put 8.7 every time between 6 and 5; and if you go to ten you put 8.0.8.7 in that order between 6 and 5.

A knowledge of coursing is, of course, essential to the successful conductor. He must not only be able to 'read' it from the bells themselves, as he goes along, but he must be able to anticipate it; that is to say he should know before he calls a bob exactly what change will take place in the sequence of the bells.

Suppose he is calling Treble Bob Minor. He knows that the bob will have no effect on the bells going into and coming out of the 'Slow' work, that one bell is going to make 4th's and return to lead; while the others stop for the extra double dodging.

The three bells round the treble transpose their places thus: The one behind the treble goes into the Slow; the one from the Slow takes its place in front of the treble; while the one that had previously been immediately in front of the treble, having made the bob, becomes the one immediately behind it. While this was going on, the rest of the bells had been delayed and they fall into position behind the bell that made the bob in the same order as before the call, whether it be two bells in Minor, the four in Major, and so on to the higher numbers.

The ability to see this coursing order enables the young conductor to call his touches or peals from bells other than the observation bells. He can, for instance, tell when to call the bobs at 'In' or 'Out' when the tenor is the observation, although he may be ringing any of the others. He can, in fact, call the observation bell into any position required, by noting its position in the coursing order, and he will be able, with experience, to know where every bell should be each lead.

We do not pretend that what we have said will enable the beginner to 'read' the bells right off at once. We have only endeavoured to show him what to look for when he is ringing, to help him develop his powers of observation. He must apply it when he is in the tower and make a study of it on paper at home.

COMING-OF-AGE CELEBRATED.

For morning service on Sunday, August 8th, the local band at East Ilsley, Berks, met early and rang a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples to celebrate the coming-of-age of Miss Elsie Risien: W. Hibbert, sen. 1, Elsie Risien 2, Marjorie Field 3, R. Warwick 4, Mrs. E. Sneller 5, E. Sneller 6, C. J. Hibbert (conductor) 7, P. Carter 8.

It was intended to ring another quarter-peal in the evening, but the Rector was called away on urgent business and evensong cancelled, so three of the Ilsley people visited Reading and rang 503 Grandsire Caters for service at St. Laurence's: Marjorie Field 1, Mrs. C. J. Watts 2, R. T. Hibbert (conductor) 3, W. Hibbert, sen. 4, C. J. Hibbert 5, H. Smith 6, E. Humfrey 7, C. Pullen 8, C. J. Watts 9, G. White 10. The ringers of both towers wish Miss Risien many more happy and prosperous years and more good peals. The touch at Reading was Miss M. Field's first experience on ten bells.

FORMER RINGER AND CHURCHWARDEN.

DEATH OF COLSTON BASSETT VETERAN.

We regret to record the death, at the age of 79 years, of Mr. John Smallwood Faulks, of Colston Bassett, Notts, who was a ringer for nearly half a century. He began his ringing at the old church and was one of the band who first rang at the present church, which was erected 40 years ago. He was also churchwarden for some years.

Although he had ceased to take an active part in ringing he never lost interest and was always glad to help and encourage young ringers.

On Sunday, August 8th, prior to a memorial service, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Doubles, with 6.4.8 covering, was rung with bells half-muffled by: P. Greaves 1, G. W. Creasey (conductor) 2, G. Payne 3, G. Spencer 4, P. Richards 5, A. Boyce 6, H. Wagstaff 7, J. Spencer 8.

SPliced SURPRISE IN FULL COURSES.

THE PEAL IN SEVEN METHODS.

A peal in seven Surprise methods was rung, it will be remembered, at Wigston Magna on May 12th.

All courses were rung with a lead each of Wigston, Leicestershire, Loughborough, Crayford, Huntingdon, Bognor and Buckingham in that order. At the Bob Before in each part two consecutive leads of Crayford were rung.

The composition was a 5,024, shortened from 5,472 by Mr. A. G. Driver.

DEATH OF MR. HERBERT W. NEEDHAM.

AN ORIGINAL MEMBER OF THE MIDLAND COUNTIES ASSOCIATION.

It is with deepest regret we report the death of Herbert White Needham, formerly of Leicester, which occurred on Wednesday, August 4th, at his son's residence at Coalville. Deceased, who was 76 years of age, had a stroke some years ago, since when he had retired from actual ringing, and, leaving Leicester, lived with his other son at Lutterworth. Mr. Needham was born at Barwell, but at an early age went to Leicester, where he took up ringing before the advent of the Midland Counties Association.

He was present at the first meeting held in St. Margaret's Schools on January 13th, 1883, when the title of the association was changed from the Derby and District Association to the Midland Counties Association, and his name as a peal ringer appears under No. 17 of the societies' performances at St. Saviour's, Leicester, June 5th, 1883.

Later Mr. Needham migrated to Hull, and rang frequently with members of the Yorkshire Association in many towers of the district. Then he returned to the Midlands and was in Nottingham for a number of years. Eventually returning to Leicester, he attached himself to St. Martin's company, and although never a prolific peal ringer, could always be relied on at practices and for Sunday service ringing. When St. Martin's (now the Cathedral) company essayed and rang many different Surprise Royal peals, 'old Herbert' was a source of great help when any vacancies occurred at practices—and he filled those vacant places well and truly!

He was laid to rest in Lutterworth Churchyard on Saturday, August 7th. Besides the family mourners, most of Leicester Cathedral Society followed the cortege, as well as Mr. Ernest Morris (general hon. secretary, M.C.A.), Messrs. A. J. Harris and H. Perkins (chairman and local secretary, M.C.A.), Mr. J. H. Swinfield (Burton), Mr. J. B. Fenton (Rugby), Mr. R. Barrow (Belgrave) and others. A wreath from the Cathedral Society bore the inscription:—

'No more the distant tenor sounds,
His life's full peal goes into rounds.'

A course of Grandsire Caters was rung over the grave by P. L. Harrison 1-2, S. Cotton 3-4, H. J. Poole 5-6, E. Morris 7-8, F. E. Wilson 9-10. Immediately afterwards a muffled peal of Stedman Triples was attempted at Lutterworth Parish Church, but unfortunately lost after ringing 2½ hours.

DON'T SCRUB YOUR HANDS!

skin this simple way*

To many people, the problem of getting the hands really clean without harming the skin is a serious one. Grease and grime, which become deeply ingrained into the pores of the skin, are extremely difficult to remove, and ordinary washing with soap or even scrubbing will fail to remove them completely. Housewives, particularly, who complain that their hands get ruined by the nature of their work, will find the preparation called DERMAFOAM, a real "godsend." DERMAFOAM just smoothes away dirt and grease without effort. It gets right down into the pores and removes every particle of grime, leaving skin beautifully supple and healthy.

Men, too—when you've finished that dirty job on the car, DERMAFOAM will quickly banish all grease and oil from your hands. It acts almost magically—working under and around the nails and into every minute crease, removing all trace of dirt in a flash.

Engineers, Painters, Car Mechanics, Printers — everyone — will welcome DERMAFOAM, the modern method of cleansing and protecting the hands.

A NEW HISTORICAL WORK.

Announcements in 'The Ringing World' have informed readers of the forthcoming publication of an entirely new historical work, written by Mr. J. Armiger Trollope, whose contributions to the literature of ringing during the last forty years have stamped him as one of the ablest and most versatile writers in the Exercise. This book is on entirely fresh lines so far as our art and those connected with it are concerned, for it deals at length with the story of the College Youths, particularly in the seventeenth and eighteenth centuries, during a period when the foundations of change ringing were being laid. Although the work was first undertaken a good many years ago, without any anticipation of the event which will be celebrated next November, it is certainly appropriate that the book should appear in this tercentenary year of the society.

Peal boards and peal books have handed down to us for over two hundred years details of many of the notable performances which have marked the evolution and progress of the art of change ringing, and from time to time much of this material has been presented to the public in various forms. We know a considerable amount about what has been done, but what we have not known, or known only to a very limited degree, is anything about the men of bygone times who took part in these performances. Their names have been left to us but little else that could help us to know something of the manner of these ringers, of one, two or three centuries ago. Only deep research, and a careful analytical examination of such material thus made available could hope to provide this generation with any knowledge of the personalities which dominated the Exercise in those distant times; and by a combination of the gifts of patience and an 'infinite capacity for taking pains,' Mr. Trollope has succeeded in giving us, in this 'History of the College Youths,' a peep at the characters of the men to whom the art of ringing owed so much in its early days. We believe the thing which will strike the reader of this book more than anything else is its revelation of the personalities, as shown by their recorded actions, of the men who played a leading part in London ringing circles, particularly in the eighteenth century. Their achievements and their disagreements are brought into focus and the history is written in a manner that will maintain the reader's interest from beginning to end. It is not in any way a rehash of previously accepted beliefs, but an entirely new review of all the known facts—many of them recently brought to light by Mr. Trollope from the recesses of the British Museum and the Public

BOB TRIPLES.

To the Editor.

Sir,—I must disagree with you over Bob Triples, and support my friend, Mr. C. W. Pipe. His phrase about so many towers ringing nothing but Grandsire has the matter in a nutshell. Grandsire Triples may be a 'good old-fashioned method,' but it is an absolutely 'blind alley' method, and leads nowhere in its extension. Every Major method has dodging in even places, Grandsire and Stedman odd places (as everyone knows), and therefore to a comparative beginner of only average ability the different dodging place in Plain Bob will seem a strange stepping stone from Grandsire. Long before your Bob Triples comment I was of the opinion that if fingers were taught on Bob Triples or (better still) Bob Major they would progress much quicker in method ringing, as Plain Bob is the basis of all even-bell ringing.

It is only a well-worn convention that Grandsire is the standard fare of everyone, and presumed to be the easiest. Personally, at the risk of appearing revolutionary, I should like to see Grandsire die a timely death as a beginner's method. The alternative is Bob Triples or Bob Major or Minor, but not Oxford Bob. That has exactly the same defects as Grandsire, viz., odd-place dodging.

Balham.

A. P. CANNON.

A MEANS TO AN END.

Sir,—My first peal rung here in February, 1893, was in the above method. Since that time I have taken part in 444 peals, but still retain a kind of sneaking affection for that particular one, due, no doubt, to its being my first ever. In those days it was a means to an end, as the more advanced methods followed in due course, and I think, perhaps, that is what Mr. Pipe really intends to convey.

W. C. RUMSEY.

Stowmarket.

THE GRUNDISBURGH PEAL.

Sir,—Your leading article, Mr. Pipe's letter and the remarks in 'Notes to peals' are very highly interesting, but how many of the rank and file of ringers, also composers, know that this particular peal of Plain Bob Triples rung at Grundisburgh is obtained without the use of singles? This seems remarkable, as it is impossible in the methods of Grandsire and Stedman Triples, as well as 720 Plain Bob Minor, to get the extent without singles.

GEORGE E. SYMONDS,

St. Mary-le-Tower Society.

[Perhaps we need hardly remind Mr. Symonds that there is the equivalent of a Grandsire or Stedman Single in every lead of Bob Triples.—Ed., 'R.W.']

MEMORIAL RINGING.

To the memory of the late Bishop of Middleton (Dr. Cecil Wilson), who expired suddenly, alone, at his residence close to the church during the week, half-muffled touches were rung at Christ Church, West Didsbury, on Sunday, for morning service, 640 Kent Treble Bob Major: H. Jones 1, T. Jones 2, N. Heaps 3, H. Brickell 4, G. Newton 5, E. Murgatroyd 6, A. Frost 7, R. Davies (conductor) 8. For evening service, 504 Grandsire Triples: G. Whitelegg 1, A. Frost (conductor) 2, T. Jones 3, H. Brickell 4, N. Heaps 5, E. Murgatroyd 6, H. Jones 7, F. Lapham 8.

PEAL NOTES.THE LINCOLNSHIRE TOUR.

A nine-day 'week' in Lincolnshire resulted in fourteen peals being rung in sixteen attempts, which is remarkably 'good going,' especially as among the successes only Cambridge and London Major were rung more than once, and that out of the twelve visiting ringers no fewer than nine shared in the conducting.

Yorkshire, Lincolnshire and Norfolk Surprise Major were rung for the first time in the county, and these, with London, Cambridge, Superlative and Bristol, made up a tally of seven different Surprise Major methods. In addition, Double Norwich Major, Treble Bob and Cambridge Royal, and Stedman and Grandsire Cinques were rung.

The Grandsire Cinques at Surfleet provided a batch of 'stars,' but of those who had previously rung a peal in the method, Mr. and Mrs. Rupert Richardson and Mr. George Martin had gained their 'decoration' in far-off Melbourne.

This was the concluding peal of the highly successful tour and, together with the peal at Sutterton in the morning, celebrated Mr. Richardson's birthday. After the Surfleet peal, all the party were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Richardson at dinner.

The only two peals lost were Yorkshire Royal, after an hour, at Wisbech; and Lincolnshire at Holbeach, after three hours of splendid ringing. The first and only trip was so unexpected that it put 'paid' to an attempt in which not a word had been spoken except for the calling of the bobs.

Mr. W. H. Fussell, at 76, is still 'going strong.' He not only took part in nine peals on the tour, but reached his 1,100th with the peal at Pinchbeck.

Mr. George Martin rang his 500th during the week.

The peal at Sutterton was the first on the bells since they were rehung.

The peal of London Surprise Major at Witley, Surrey, on Saturday, was rung on the birthday of the conductor, Mr. Wilfred Williams, who has now called a peal in the method from every bell.

The first peal of Treble Bob composed by Mr. Arthur Knights, of Chesterfield, one of the most prolific and versatile of composers, was completed on February 15th, 1882. It is his No. 211, and was rung at Bromley Common, Kent, on August 16th. The peal was specially rung as a compliment to Mr. A. Purdon, secretary of the local band, who was married on the previous Saturday. It was also the 38th anniversary of the wedding of Mr. and Mrs. Edmund Mounter. Mr. Mounter took part in the peal.

By ringing the tenor to a peal of Oxford Treble Bob Major, at St. Margaret's Church, Lowestoft, on August 19th, Mr. Richard Coates 'completed the circle' of the tower.

Miss Sylvia Bowyer, one of the talented young ladies who ring at St. Mary-le-Tower Church, Ipswich, rang her first peal as conductor on August 18th, when she rang the tenor and called a peal of Minor in three methods at Tuddenham, Suffolk. She is the first lady to conduct a peal for the Suffolk Guild and also to ring the tenor to one.

Mr. Charles Camm rang his 500th peal on Saturday at King's Norton, Birmingham, where a peal of Stedman Caters was rung in honour of the marriage of the Vicar's son.

The 'coming of age' of Miss Marion Jarvis, daughter of the Vicar of Wymondham, Norfolk, was celebrated by a peal rung at the Parish Church on August 16th.

Mr. Frederick White, of Cranbrook, Kent, is a native of Oxford. A peal of Cambridge Surprise was rung at St. Ebbe's Church, on August 19th, which had been specially arranged to enable him to ring a peal in his native city.

Mr. Pat Cannon, who makes a hobby of 'collecting' towers either for peals or quarter-peals, on Saturday 'bagged' his 70th peal tower—and he has not been long about it either.

P.O. H. T. Chandler, who spends most of his time at sea with the Navy, has 'completed the circle' in peals on the bells of his 'home' tower—Lyonshall, Herefordshire. At the same time his wife rang her first peal 'inside.'

Mr. H. J. Tucker, formerly of Bishop's Stortford, and now of Chichester, celebrated his 79th birthday on Saturday by calling a peal of Bob Major at the Cathedral campanile.

Mr. Tucker called one of his own compositions. Simplicity with musical qualities have marked Mr. Tucker's compositions, which were obtained in the days before peals were produced by mathematical formula.

Mr. Howard Howell, at Netherseale on Saturday, rang his first peal of Stedman Triples, and thus completed peals in the method on all numbers. It must be almost, if not quite, unexampled for a ringer to ring peals of Stedman Doubles, Caters and Cinques before ringing Stedman Triples.

A peal was rung at the Deanery Church of St. Mary-the-Virgin, Bocking, Essex, on Saturday, to commemorate the 40th anniversary of the Dean of Bocking into Holy Orders. It was also a birthday compliment to Norman Grinham, who rang his first peal.

Very few incumbents except heads of Cathedrals have the title of Dean. Bocking is one, Battle, in Sussex, is another.

Parties of eight or more may travel at reduced fares to Blackpool for the annual dinner of the Lancashire Association at the County Hotel, Blackpool, on October 30th. Enquiries at any L.M.S. booking office.

A one-time ringer at St. John's, Blackpool, and a member of the Cambridge University Guild, Mr. C. N. Sharples, of the India Civil Service, only surviving son of Mr. and Mrs. C. Sharples, of Blackpool, was married on Saturday, August 14th, at the Church of Our Lady, St. John's Wood, to Miss Joan Gilbert, eldest daughter of the late Mr. Charles Edward Gilbert, C.I.E., chief conservator of forests, Bombay Presidency, and Mrs. Gilbert.

The hon. librarian of the Central Council would be glad not to receive further orders for C.C. publications until September 11th.

The next meeting of the Northern Branch, Worcestershire Association, will not be held at Bromsgrove as originally arranged. Repairs to the fabric of the church make ringing there out of the question. Further information will be given later in the notice columns.

Last Sunday was the anniversary of the ringing of Holt's Original for the first time, conducted by one of the ringers in the peal.

It was recorded thus in the 'Norwich Mercury': 'On Saturday, August 22nd, 1752, was rung at St. Michael's Coslany a Complete 5,040 of Mr. Holt's Tripples in 3 hours, without Changes alike or a bell out of course. It being the first time ever performed by Eight men only so intricate it was thought no man could ring a bell and call the Bobs. It has been rang in London and Stonham Aspal with prompts but was rang by these men without a prompt.'

William Dixon was the conductor of this peal, and he repeated his feat—for feat it was—at St. Giles' Church, Norwich, on October 22nd in the same year.

The peal of Cambridge Surprise Major, rung on August 7th for the Chester Diocesan Guild, was rung at Great Budworth, and not Beedworth, as published.

Mr. Charles Hodges, of Hardwick, Glos, rang the tenor to his own wedding peal.

A peal of Grandsire Caters at St. Peter Mancroft, Norwich, on August 17th, was a birthday compliment to Mr. J. G. W. Harwood, hon. secretary of the East Norfolk Branch of the Norwich Diocesan Association.

The peal at Great Finborough, on August 9th, was conducted by Sheldford Sparrow, not A. R. Woodard. It was rung on the occasion of the marriage of Mr. F. Roper, not F. Raper.

COMPETITIVE RINGING.

To the Editor.

Sir,—My attention has been called to a point in my letter last week which might be misunderstood. I referred to the difficulties of any change of policy in a guild or association and, to illustrate, remarked that I knew of a most successful case, but 'it remains to be seen whether it would survive a change of leadership.'

In this I was speaking generally, with little thought of the association I had in mind, and certainly no thought that any change would be advantageous. I most sincerely hope that the leaders of that association may live for ever and continue to run it. My intention was a final warning that, in any change of policy, after the enthusiasts had worked it all out and got it going, until it had time to set, it might quite easily be entirely wrecked by a change of leadership caused by death, removal from the district or resignation.

A YORKSHIRE CHALLENGE.

Dear Sir,—Your correspondent C. F. J., in his letter in your last issue, gives some hard knocks and bitter pills for some of our association ringers to swallow. His exposition on the failure of good bands to hold together is common to all bands. The poet says there is no flock, however well tended, but one dead lamb is there. 'Tis pity 'tis true. As president of the Barnsley and District Association, let me say we own a shield which cost £13. This is competed for annually. Prizes for domestic use are given, in addition, to the winners. The church does not give these prizes, yet there has never been closer association with the church and clergy of to-day. The path of the competitive ringer may not be easy, but it is worth the gallant attempts duly made and often rewarded.

Our members demanded these rewards, and never is there dissatisfaction. Fair play is a British 'jewel,' and ringers are straightforward, even to bluntness.

I would suggest that C. F. J. bring a band into Yorkshire and enter a contest without reward, and a band worthy of their steel would meet them. It would clear some of the cobwebs out of the eyes of C. F. J.

THE BELLS OF ST. MICHAEL'S, CORNHILL HOW A REJECTED TENOR GOT TO THE ABBEY.

By J. ARMIGER TROLLOPE.

The bells of St. Michael's, Cornhill, are one of the famous rings of London. In this article Mr. J. Armiger Trollope tells us of their early history, and explains how a bell, cast for St. Michael's, came to be the tenor of the peal at Westminster Abbey.

In 1421 a new steeple was erected and in it was hung a 'fair ring of five bells,' which, according to custom, were dedicated to various saints. The tenor was called St. Michael; the fourth, the Lady bell; the third, the as it appears to-day from the top of an adjacent building.

Trinity bell. This ring evidently was tuned (as were many medieval rings) to the minor scale and about 1430 John Whitewell, Isabel, his wife, and William Rus added a tenor to make a ring of six in the major scale. Who cast the tenor we do not know, but she weighed somewhat over 30 cwt. and was a noble bell, the pride and treasure of the parish. She was named Rus, after her donor, who was an alderman and a great benefactor to the church.

In the inventory of 1552, among the 'goodes remaynyng' in the church were 'vj greate belles and ij litle belles.' In the churchwardens' accounts there are references to these latter. In 1457 two shillings and fourpence was paid for 'two hawdricks for the two little bells,' and in 1460 'elevenpence for two ropes for the small finall bells.' One was the Sacring bell or, as it is termed in one place, the houseling bell, housel being an old English name for the Eucharist. It is also referred to as 'the little bell that ringeth afore the Sacrament.' This bell was hung inside the church. The other was the Saunce or Sanctus bell.

In nearly all London churches the Sanctus bell was in the steeple with the ringing peal, but at St. Michael's it is probable that it hung in a cot above the chancel. The Sacring bell disappeared during the spoliation at the time of the Reformation; the Sanctus bell remained, but it got broken, and in 1585 the vestry decided that 'ye broken Sauncebell shalbe solde and that anewe rome shalbe byllydd for ye flagotts in ye churcheyarde.

Whoever made the frame and hung the six bells did his work well and for nearly one hundred and sixty years Rus was rung single-handed, not only for curfew and knells but also in peal. At the time it was usual to put three or four or even more men to a bell of that weight.

In 1567 one of the bells was broken and Robert Doddes was employed to recast it. Mr. H. B. Walters has suggested that Doddes was the predecessor of Robert Mot and the first in the long line of Whitechapel bellfounders.

In 1585 the treble was broken and recast and two years later the parish suffered a disaster, for Rus, the noble tenor bell, was cracked. A founder named Laurence Wright was employed; but, whether through misfortune or incompetence, his work was badly done, and when the bell was hung it gave great dissatisfaction and generally 'was not liked of' in the parish.

The churchwardens seem to have been undecided as to whether they should accept the bell and pay for it, and the matter was referred to the vestry. In the end it was agreed to pay Wright £3 17s. for new metal supplied, and £9 6s. 9d. for the recasting. That was as much as 'his due is to be accounted justly'; but the parish made the sum up to the round £14 'out of benevolence,' and promised 'to consider of him better if the bell hold and be better liked of than it is now.' Wright had a similar trouble at Hillingdon, and there the parish refused to pay at all.

As time went on the bell was not 'better liked of.' The parish was proud of its bells and the new tenor spoilt the ring, and so in the following year, 'upon further advice of the parishioners,' the vestry agreed that 'our bell Rus shall be new cast.' The work was entrusted to Robert Mot, who was making a name as the leading London bellfounder and establishing the reputation of the famous Whitechapel foundry.

On the 8th of November the bell was taken to Mot's house and there weighed and two days later an agreement was signed for the recasting. When the new bell was ready the churchwardens and other leading men of the parish went to Whitechapel to view it and they took with them a musician to sound the bell. Everything seems to have been done this time to ensure that the new bell should be in tune. The 'waites of the City' 'took pains to take the note of our bells and to go to Mr. Motts to take the note of the new bell then cast,' for which they received eighteenpence, and a shilling was paid 'to a company of other musicians to take a further note of the same bell.'

It rather looks as if the parish refused to accept the first bell cast by Mot, for it was inspected on the first of December, 1588, and it was not until the twenty-second of the following June that 'Mr. Mott was paid £17 17s. for the new tenor bell called Rus which was last cast weighing 33 cwt. 42 lbs.'; and not until the twenty-fifth of July that the trial was made in the steeple, when the ringers received three shillings and fourpence.

Meanwhile, the frame and fittings of the bells had become decayed and worn out. Gone were the days when six men could ring the bells in peal. It now required four or five at a time to 'overhaul' Rus and the ringing shook the tower so much that it was found it might endanger the steeple.

So a John Brissendon was employed to rehang the bells and he undertook to do it so that eight, nine, or ten men at the most could ring them. 'It was well liked that such amendment should be' and a committee was appointed to deal with the matter.

In 1598 Rus was again broken. The vestry had lately spent a lot of money on the bells and when a motion was made for the new casting it was decided 'to rest awhile and use it as it is until we see further occasion.' But a broken Rus was a disgrace to the parish and so at a vestry holden 2nd of February, 1599, it was agreed that Mr. Mott should have for the casting of the bell £18, 'hangst and set up and taken down all at his charges.'

When the new bell was hung in the tower with the others it proved a failure and on the first of November it was agreed that 'it shall be notified by the churchwardens to Mr. Mote that the bell is not according to his agreement neither in weight nor goodness and therefore they will have a bell in the place thereof or else have his bond.' Mot had to submit and undertook to supply a new bell, and on the 29th of August the vestry decided that he should hang it up in the tower, but if it did not agree with the rest of the bells to the liking of the parish then he should have forty shillings to cover the cost of taking it down, and should go on casting until he did produce a bell that satisfied the parish. His bill came to £12 1s. 2d., 'and we are content to make it up £13 by reason he casted it so often.'

But that is not the end of the story. Mot, at the time, was doing work for Westminster Abbey. He cast the present fifth in 1598 and the next year he took the rejected Rus and made her the tenor of the Abbey ring. No doubt the Dean and Chapter were less critical and more easily satisfied than St. Michael's parish. But she was a bad bell. Laughton heard her in 1734 and says she was 'dull and melancholy,' and four years later Lester and Phelps were employed to recast her. The original inscription copied more or less from that on the first Rus was reproduced on the new bell.

It is usually said that when and why a bell cast for St. Michael's got into the Abbey tower 'is an unsolved mystery'; but the matter is quite clear. The inscription on the present bell says that it was new cast in July, 1599, and in April, 1738. The St. Michael's vestry agreed to give Mot the order for the bell in February, 1599, and on the following November he was notified that they refused to accept the bell.

The present tenor at Westminster was never at St. Michael's. As stated above, it was cast in 1738.

ORDER AT ONCE

BARNSELY AND DISTRICT SOCIETY. RINGING AT HORBURY AND OSSETT.

A meeting was held at Horbury on Saturday, August 14th, when the bells were rung in the afternoon and after tea in the various methods of Minor and Major, and also Grandsire Triples. Tea was served in the Vicar's classroom, about 20 sitting down.

Mr. A. Panther (vice-president) presided over the business meeting, at which the following towers were represented: Adwick-le-Street, Barnsley, Earlsheaton, Felkirk, Rotherham, Sandal, Wath and the local company. It gave the members great pleasure to see some of the Leeds and District ringers with them.

After the usual business, thanks were accorded on the motion of the chairman, seconded by Mr. W. Moxon, to the Vicar and churchwardens and the local company for all the arrangements made.

Mr. Moxon also moved a vote of thanks to the Vicar, churchwardens and local company of Ossett for the use of the new peal of ten bells.

Some of the ringers occupied themselves with the handbells, while the others went to Ossett and some returned to the tower to ensure ringing at both places. Ringing continued until about 9 p.m., when the bells were lowered, and a very good meeting was brought to a close.

COMPOSITIONS OF ROYAL.

To the Editor.

Sir,—Referring to the 5,000 Treble Bob Royal composed by Messrs. C. Charge and N. Golden, published in your issue of August 20th, it is stated that the 'second is never in sixth's place and only once in fifth's.' What has the second done to be subjected to such humiliations?

During the last century the writer was discussing with a well-known ringer the disfavour in which the poor second had fallen with composers. He said, 'Why don't composers compile peals leaving the second out?'

The second in ten bells is the same note as the 9th, but an octave higher, so 2-10 dodging behind would be a musical combination, and a change from 9-10.

In Bungay steeple there is a footnote on a board recording a peal of Bob Major to the effect that the sixth was kept from home till the last course. Undoubtedly that peal was better struck than those which are rung (?) just for the sake of getting them.

FOR BEGINNERS.

APPLYING COURSING ORDER TO CALLING.

There are two advantages in a thorough knowledge of coursing order. One is that it enables the conductor, with more certainty, to know if the bells are right and, if there is an error, to correct it. The other is, it helps him materially if he wishes to call a touch or peal from one of the 'working' bells, and that is a thing which every conductor should try to do. To ring an 'observation,' or fixed, bell, is useful, particularly in the early stages of conducting, because it simplifies the task, but it is a mistake never to attempt to call from another bell, and, in our opinion, the sooner the young conductor tries to do this the better. He may make mistakes at the outset, but we learn by our mistakes, and if his tower companions are eager for his progress they will encourage him and not complain when touches go wrong.

Coursing order, if closely followed, helps the beginner to call his bobs in the right place. We saw, in a previous article, how, in Bob Major, one bell in each lead moves from in front of the treble, to a position immediately behind it; that is, from coursing before the treble to coursing after it. Thus the bells in front of the treble get one place nearer to it, and those behind get one place further away each lead.

As you watch the tenor in its relation to the treble in Bob Major you can call your bobs with certainty where they are required.

The bell that courses after the treble is going to dodge in 4-3 (down) if no bob is called, the bell behind that will dodge in 6-5 (down), whether there is a bob or not; the next bell will dodge in 8-7 (down), and the next in 7-8 (up), and so on.

A bob 'Middle' is called when the tenor dodges in 6-5 (down), a bob 'Home' when it dodges in 8-7 (down), a bob 'Wrong' when it dodges in 7-8 (up).

Therefore, if you want to call a bob Middle you do so in the lead in which the tenor is coursing next but one after the treble; a bob Home comes in the next lead when the tenor has two bells between it and the treble; and a bob Wrong when there are three bells between. There should be no difficulty about seeing this, because the alert bob caller will have watched the gradually widening gap in the coursing order between the treble and tenor, but even if he has had a mental lapse he should be able quickly to pick up the position again.

As to the exact moment when the bob should be called, that again can be determined by watching the coursing. The proper place is at the handstroke lead of the bell coursing in front of the treble; and this is the position of the tenor when you have to call a bob 'Before.'

There are, of course, other guides to calling from a 'working' bell. It is often easy to know where the next bob comes from your own position. As a simple example, if you are the 6th's place bell, you know perfectly well that if a Home is to be called you will be in the Middle, or 6-5 (down), or, if a Wrong, you will be in the Home position, or 8-7 (down). If you are 5th's place bell, and thus coursing the 7th, a Middle brings you to 7-8 (up) (dodging behind with the 7th), a Home to 5-6 (up), and a Wrong causes you to make the bob.

Then, too, if you are one of the bells concerned in the bob, either running in or out or making 4th's, you can easily fix your position at the next bob. There is a cycle, which we will call I (In), O (Out), B (make the Bob). If you have bobs exactly a course apart and the first brings you to either of the places, the second will be called when you are at the next of these positions in the cycle; thus I and O, or O and B, or B and I.

It is when you have calls at less than a course apart that you have to be careful, and it is here that a close watch on coursing order helps.

Here, however, are one or two hints. Remember that at a Wrong the 5th's place bell makes the bob. If the Wrong is followed by a Middle, the same bell makes the bob at each of the two calls, and this bell, before the bob, is coursing next but one in front of the treble.

The bells concerned at a Wrong at 5.3.2, and at a Middle 2.4.6. The Wrong gives you a new 5th's place bell and Middle a new 6th's place bell, but a Home affects neither of them.

The conductor should know the 5th and 6th's place bells of his touch or peal, and he can then make certain of calling his Wrongs and Middles in the right courses.

When he has to change the 5th's place bell he watches the new bell until it runs Out at a Home. A bob Wrong (at the next lead) will then put this bell into 5th's place.

When he has to change the 6th's place bell he waits until the new bell he wants runs In at a Home, and calls the Middle in the succeeding course, when this bell will make the Bob.

When he has to change both the 5th and the 6th's place bells, he calls the Wrong as already mentioned, and the bell he thus takes away from 5th's will come into 6th's place by making the bob Middle.

Very good practice is to write out the lead-ends of a touch and examine the positions of the bells at the bobs. Any one with bobs in each of the three positions will do. For example, W M H, and H, twice repeated. Not very musical, perhaps, but it will serve the purpose and not prove too laborious, because in the courses with only the H the course end will be sufficient, as it is the only lead with a bob in it.

WHAT OTHERS THINK.

COMMENTS OF A CHESTER NEWSPAPER.

Complaints of the activities of ringers often appear in the public Press. Here is what the 'Observer,' a Chester paper, had to say with regard to church bells last Saturday in some editorial notes. Our readers will agree that it admirably sums up the feelings of ringers, although, as far as we know, it is from the pen of a writer unconnected with the Exercise.

'In these days of radio time-signals and cheap watches, church bells may be regarded by those whose standards are merely utilitarian as quite unnecessary. Occasionally letters appear in the Press from irate correspondents, who complain that they have been awakened too soon from their Sunday morning sleep by the too-insistent clamour of church bells summoning the faithful to an early service. Sometimes such complaints may be justified, for admittedly there are church bells and church bells. Few people would deny that the single, and often far from tuneful, bells of some modern churches are, if rung too frequently and at unseasonable hours, more likely to induce ill temper (than devotion on the part of residents in the immediate vicinity. It is not, however, of such inharmonious "tinklers" that most of us think when church bells are mentioned, but rather of those peals of bells which still sound from the towers of so many of our country and city churches. Even such peals, if not properly hung and properly rung, can remind us all too forcibly of Shakespeare's phrase about "sweet bells jangled, out of tune and harsh," but such cases are rare in these days when churches pride themselves on the possession of a good peal, and a band of enthusiastic ringers, who have really mastered the art of change ringing.'

'Even if they themselves disregard the summons to worship broadcast from the church tower, to many people there would be something lacking in that indefinable "atmosphere" which, in these days of hurry and noise, still characterises Sunday in the English countryside, were our church bells to be silenced and "liquidated" as mere luxuries. But "the music of those village bells" is, indeed, one of those concomitants of the English scene which we home-staying folk take for granted.'

DEATH OF OLD MARKET DEEPING RINGER.

It is with much regret, we record the 'passing on' of Mr. Walter Day, of Market Deeping. The deceased was never a prominent peal ringer, but for over 25 years was connected with St. Guthlac's belfry, where he was a regular Sunday service ringer. He was also a member of the choir. He had been in failing health for some years, and his death took place on August 18th, at the age of 58 years.

The funeral took place on Saturday afternoon at Market Deeping, and was conducted by the Rector, the Rev. F. L. Pigott. The deceased leaves a widow and brother (Mr. Horace M. Day) to mourn his death.

In the evening the bells were rung half-muffled as a last token of respect, and 720 of Spliced London and Wells was rung by W. Oldman 1, J. Freeman 2, H. M. Day 3, C. T. H. Bradley 4, A. E. Scott 5, J. O. Landon 6.

EYNESBURY BELLS.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—With regard to the recent tour of the North Weald ringers, whilst we have the greatest respect for this band of beginners, and hope they will not be discouraged, we cannot help expressing the hope that an altogether wrong impression of the state of Eynesbury bells will not be given to readers of the report in 'The Ringing World.' Although the 'go' may leave much to be desired, we ring four or five methods regularly on Sundays. It is felt by us that it is a poor return for hospitality to make an offensive noise by raising the bells two at a time, give an exhibition of poor ringing, and then go away blaming the 'go' of the bells. The anti-clockwise arrangement of the ropes will give this band no trouble when they have had more practice. There are many worse towers to ring in than Eynesbury, unfortunately.

LEEDS RINGERS MARRIED.
MEMBERS OF BRAMLEY BAND.

The bells were rung at St. Peter's Church, Bramley, Leeds, on Saturday, August 21st, for the wedding of Mr. John Marsh and Miss Constance M. Wade, both of whom are ringers at this church.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a pale pink satin gown, with a halo headress and veil to match, and carried a bouquet of pink and yellow roses. The bridesmaids were Misses Kathleen and Brenda Marsh (sisters of the bridegroom). The former wore a pink and green flowered chiffon gown, and the latter pale pink taffeta. Both carried bouquets of sweet peas. The best man was Mr. Lawrie Wade (brother of the bride).

Rounds and 'Queen's' were rung on the bells for half an hour before the wedding, and as the happy couple left the church the bells were 'fired,' and then rounds and touches of Oxford Treble Bob were rung.

Before morning service on Sunday, August 22nd, 720 Oxford Treble Bob was rung: N. Greaves 1, R. Greaves (conductor) 2, D. Margaret Roby 3, F. Jackson 4, E. Redshaw 5, S. Helliwell 6.

SUFFOLK RINGERS' DAY IN LONDON.

When Stowmarket ringers held their annual outing, they spent the day in London. At Liverpool Street they were met by Mr. J. Euston and Mrs. Davies, who accompanied them throughout the day to the various churches. At St. Dunstan's, Stepney, ringing was indulged in till 11.45. The party had lunch at the London Tavern and went on to St. Olave's, Hart Street, and afterwards to St. Margaret's, Westminster, where they were met by Mr. T. Sparrow, a former Stowmarket ringer, and Mr. R. Sanders, who joined the company for the rest of the day. Ringing at St. Andrew's, Holborn, was followed by tea, at which they were joined by Mr. J. E. Davies. Then they visited St. Botolph's Church, and finally St. Leonard's, Shoreditch. Thanks are extended to Mr. and Mrs. Davies, Messrs. Euston, R. Sanders and T. Sparrow, and to all church authorities and steeple-keepers for the use of the various peals of bells.

A DISTRICT SECRETARY'S DEPARTURE.

NEWCASTLE RINGER GOING TO EDINBURGH.

SS. James and Basil Guild, Fenham, Newcastle-on-Tyne, are unfortunate in losing the services of their hon. secretary and conductor, Mr. K. Arthur, who is taking up an appointment in Edinburgh. By his departure, too, the Northern District of the Durham and Newcastle Association are losing their secretary.

On Sunday, August 22nd, as a farewell compliment, 720 Cambridge Surprise Minor and 120 Oxford Treble Bob were rung: J. Roach 1, C. E. Lawson 2, D. Reay 3, K. Arthur (conductor) 4, T. W. Crowe 5, P. Wishart 6, R. Crosby 8.

Two farewell peals were unfortunately lost, one of Stedman Triples at Fenham on the 13th, and one of Minor at Lanchester on the 21st.

The best wishes of the Fenham ringers are extended to Mr. Arthur in his new sphere.

DON'T SCRUB YOUR HANDS!

skin this simple way*

To many people, the problem of getting the hands really clean without harming the skin is a serious one. Grease and grime, which become deeply ingrained into the pores of the skin, are extremely difficult to remove, and ordinary washing with soap or even scrubbing will fail to remove them completely. Housewives, particularly, who complain that their hands get ruined by the nature of their work, will find the preparation called DERMAFOAM, a real "godsend." DERMAFOAM just smoothes away dirt and grease without effort. It gets right down into the pores and removes every particle of grime, leaving skin beautifully supple and healthy.

Men, too—when you've finished that dirty job on the car, DERMAFOAM will quickly banish all grease and oil from your hands. It acts almost magically—working under and around the nails and into every minute crease, removing all trace of dirt in a flash.

Engineers, Painters, Car Mechanics, Printers — everyone — will welcome DERMAFOAM, the modern method of cleansing and protecting the hands.

WHAT WE RING.

There is a good deal in the contention that ringers' natural instinct for good methods decides what they ring. In the very early days of the art, when practice was confined largely, if not exclusively, to five and six bells, the men of those days produced quite a number of primitive methods, but it was only a few that survived the test of time. In the same way the eighteenth century saw many methods, particularly on six and eight bells, brought to light, but the Exercise accepted for general use only a very few of them. Whatever its other merits may be, Bob Triples for example, is not a good method, and although it is one of the oldest and best known, it has only seldom been rung, not simply because it has, in a sense, been discredited by the pundits, but because ringers themselves realise its imperfections. Grandsire and Stedman have survived the test of centuries and still command the attention of ringers everywhere, not merely by long usage, but on their merits as true Triples.

On the other hand, one cannot ignore the fact that use and tradition do count for a good deal in what we ring. Particularly is this so in regard to Major and ringing on the higher numbers. It takes a long time for a new method to gain anything in the shape of popularity. Bob Major, Double Norwich Major, Kent and Oxford Treble Bob have had their popularity hardly touched by the many more interesting methods of their respective classes. Similarly in the Surprise category, with all the vast and varied selection that is now available, the old methods Superlative Cambridge and London are still easily a first choice, despite the fact that Surprise ringing has come into vogue only comparatively recently, and that there are many better methods. Bristol and Yorkshire, which are two among them, are slowly gaining 'a place in the sun,' but of the others some are rung once or twice and afterwards neglected; the rest remain undisturbed and largely unwanted. Individual bands have done something to bring new methods to light, but they do so only for the novelty of it and seldom with the idea of popularising anything, however good it may be. Indeed, it is noticeable that the bands who make a practice of ringing a variety of fresh methods seem to avoid everything which another company may have rung. It is, in fact, the idea of ringing 'the first in the method' that appeals to them, rather than ringing something that should be really worth while, especially if it may previously have been rung by others. What is desirable is that more good methods of every variety should be more widely rung. It is, of course, as well that we have certain 'standard' methods which are in use everywhere. It

PEAL NOTES.

SIDELIGHTS ON PERFORMANCES.

The first peal on the new bells at Birmingham Cathedral was rung on Saturday. A peal had not been rung there since August 22nd, 1903, a period of 34 years.

It is remarkable that in such a long interval only one of that band, Thomas Reynolds, has passed away. Three of them, Messrs. Allaway, Paddon Smith and Albert Walker, took part in the first peal on the new bells on Saturday.

The first peal rung at Petersfield, Hants, by an entirely local band for 32 years was accomplished on August 26th. None of the ringers, with the exception of the conductor, had ever stood in a peal in their own tower previously. The peal was rung as a farewell to Mr. C. S. West (tower secretary), who is to be married shortly and will then live at Midhurst, Sussex.

Mr. Harold V. Frost, who, at the age of 20, rang Cambridge Maximus as his first Surprise peal, rang his first peal of Cambridge Major, and conducted it, on Saturday at North Minns. Mr. Frost is one of the secretaries of the St. Albans District of the Herts Association.

A peal of Cambridge Surprise Major was rung at Gravesend, Kent, on Saturday, as a compliment to Mr. E. Hadlow, the veteran steeplescraper, on reaching his 78th birthday.

No fewer than eight Whites took part in a peal of Grandsire Caters at Appleton (which produced most of the 'family') on August 20th. One of the several Fredericks in the peal was of Cranbrook, Kent, the rest were Appleton ringers. Although rather late in the day, the peal was rung as a Coronation peal for Appleton.

Mr. Fred White rang the tenor to the peal. It was his one hundredth peal in the tower and on the same bell! He rang it to the 21,363 Stedman Caters on April 22nd, 1922—the record length by any one set of men—in 12 hours 25 minutes. He and the tenor must know each other well.

A peal of 5,056 Rob Major was rung at Swaffham, Norfolk, on August 26th in 2 hours 51 minutes. It was the shortest time in which a true peal has been completed on the bells, the tenor of which is just under 16 cwt. The composition by the conductor, Mr. Nolan Golden, was rung for the first time. It contains the 7468's, the 6th the course-end extent home and all the 6-5's and 6-4's.

Four first peals of Kent Treble Bob Major was the fine achievement in the peal at Repton, Derbyshire, and credit is due to the band which hails from seven towers. The ringers were: Treble from Spondon, 2 and 3 from Oversale, 4 from Hugglescote, 5 from Norton-in-the-Moors, 6 from Wolverhampton, 7 from Walsall and 8 from Anstey.

The bells at Gorleston, Suffolk, have recently been augmented to eight and the first peal on the octave was rung on August 21st. Mr. J. A. Godfrey, who took part, also rang in the first peal on the ring of six, in the year 1901.

Two ringers at Burton-on-Stather, Lincs, Philip Barnes and Fred Jeffery, rang their first peal on August 25rd. It was Minor in three methods—and a good performance, considering it was their first attempt for a peal.

The Yorkshire Association's first peal of Surprise Minor was rung at New Mill on Saturday in honour of the golden wedding of Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Potter, of Barnsley. The peal was also a Barnsley Society peal, for Mr. Potter is president of this organisation.

The birth of a grandson to Mr. E. F. Poppy, of Stoke Ash, Suffolk, was celebrated on Saturday with a peal of Kent Treble Bob Royal at Stonham Aspal, in which Grandpa took part. The composition, by Arthur Knights, was rung for the first time.

Miss Sylvia Bowyer, of Ipswich, who, as recorded last week, rang her first peal as conductor (Minor in three methods) has now called a peal of Kent Treble Bob Major at the first attempt and from a working bell. She is the only lady, up to the present, to call a peal for the Suffolk Guild.

ESSEX RINGER'S GOLDEN WEDDING.

PRESENTATION AT MALDEN.

Mr. and Mrs. R. Hutson, of Malden, Essex, have just celebrated their golden wedding. They were married at Heybridge Church on August 20th, 1887, and in honour of their jubilee a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples was rung at All Saints' Church, Malden, on Friday week, Mr. Hutson ringing the treble. Mr. Hutson is 'father' of the Malden ringers and has been a member of the Essex Association for 56 years.

The quarter-peal was rung by R. Hutson 1, Miss A. E. Waldo 2, W. H. Chalk 3, A. South 4, S. Easter 5, F. Lewis 6, H. J. Mansfield (conductor) 7, E. Richardson 8.

Afterwards Mr. Hutson received the hearty congratulations of his belfry colleagues and the Vicar (Canon Seymour), who, on behalf of the ringers, presented Mr. Hutson with a walking stick and wallet and Mrs. Hutson with an umbrella.

Mr. Hutson, who was taken by surprise, thanked the ringers for their kindness and afterwards entertained them to refreshments at his residence, where handbell ringing and a chat over old times passed a very pleasant evening.

On Sunday, August 29th, for evensong, 720 Bob Minor was rung by E. Richardson 1, R. Hutson 2, A. Mansfield 3, A. Hubble (first 720) 4, A. South 5, H. J. Mansfield (conductor) 6.

FOR BEGINNERS.

FROM GRANDSIRE TO PLAIN BOB.

The controversy which has arisen in 'The Ringing World' over Bob Triples has centred round the question of the utility of this method as a 'stepping stone' from Minor to Major. We are not among those who think that Triples of any kind is necessary as a stepping stone between the two even-bell groups, any more than Grandsire or Stedman Major is necessary to the practice of those who want to go from Grandsire or Stedman Triples to Caters. This, however, is not the place for us to air our views on the controversy, but we want to make it an opportunity to try and show beginners who are ringing Grandsire how they can step easily to Plain Bob as a means of going on to those 'illimitable realms' that lie before those who practise even-bell methods.

It may be helpful, perhaps, if we look for a moment at the difference in construction between the two methods; it may simplify things a bit.

The principle in Plain Bob is one hunt bell (the treble) with a bell making 2nd's when this bell leads, and the others dodging in pairs behind them; that is in 3-4, 5-6, etc.

Grandsire has two hunt bells (the treble and another) with a bell making 3rd's, when these two are leading, and the others dodging in pairs behind them; that is in 4-5, 6-7, etc.

Whether you learn to ring Bob Doubles or Grandsire Doubles in a five-bell tower you are taught to lead off the last bell of the preceding change; so that in going on to Minor leading from the last bell presents no difficulties.

If you have learned to ring Doubles in a six-bell tower, where the tenor has always been covering, you have got to acquire the skill to lead off the last bell when you ring Minor—whether your efforts have previously been devoted to Bob or Grandsire Doubles.

A little careful practice will enable you to do this. You probably know already that there should be a slight extra pause, or space, between the last bell in the backstroke change and the bell leading in the next handstroke change. That is particularly necessary in even-bell ringing; otherwise there is nothing whatever to mark the 'beat', and the ringing goes on like a barrel organ.

You have first of all to use your eyes to pick out the last of the ropes falling at backstroke, and then hold your bell for a trifle longer before pulling off at hand. The exact period, of course, depends upon the size of the bell you are ringing, and to judge this you must use your ears.

The difficulty which some ringers seem to find in going from an even-bell to an odd-bell method is in the dodging places. If they have always rung Grandsire and desire to turn over to Plain Bob they find that the habit of dodging in 4-5 makes it difficult to change over to dodging in 3-4 or 5-6, but there is no real obstacle to quickly acquiring the new condition.

A dodge, as we have often explained in these articles, is a step backward. Count yourself on to the farthest point of the dodging position, 5th's or 7th's, for 4-5, or 6-7 up in Grandsire; 4th's or 6th's or 8th's for 3-4, 5-6 or 7-8 in Plain Bob, then take one step back before going on again. Whether it is Grandsire or Plain Bob, every blow in an even place, 2nd, 4th, 6th or 8th, going up is at handstroke, and every blow in an odd place, 3rd, 5th or 7th, is at backstroke. Conversely, coming down, every even place is backstroke and every odd place is handstroke.

If you have been ringing Grandsire, you have probably learned by this time that the step back in your dodge is always at handstroke. In Plain Bob the step back is always at backstroke. A knowledge of this is helpful in fixing your dodging place.

In both methods the dodges follow in sequence, 5-4, 7-6, 6-7, 4-5 in Grandsire; 4-3, 6-5, 8-7, 7-8, 5-6, 3-4 in Bob Major, but Plain Bob is simpler in the bob making than Grandsire, inasmuch as a call only affects three of the working bells, instead of all but one. Whereas in Grandsire a bob involves double dodging above 3rd's place, the bells above 4th's in Plain Bob continue an unbroken course of single dodging.

The real secret of going from one method to the other is to count your places and remember that the dodging step back in Grandsire is at handstroke and the dodging step back in Plain Bob is at backstroke.

BACHELORS' RINGING TOUR.

THE WEEK'S PROGRAMME.

 Tuesday, September 7th: Swindon (10) and Bampton.
 Wednesday, September 8th: Northleach and Burford.
 Thursday, September 9th: Appleton (10) and All Saints', Oxford.
 Friday, September 10th: Stow-on-the-Wold and Chipping Norton.
 Saturday, September 11th: Bourton and Kingham.

WHY FRANCIS IS GIVING UP.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—Two or three years ago, when I was at school, I was persuaded by a friend of mine to learn ringing, because he said that ringers were all intellectual men with brains. I did so, and now I find that most of them believe—

- That the more a bell is 'tucked up' the quicker it swings.
 - That if you stand on a box to ring a tenor, you get a better pull than if you stand on the floor.
 - That a tenor quick at backstroke is easier to ring than a tenor slow at backstroke.
 - That a bell with a big wheel and a lot of rope swings slower than one with a small wheel.
 - That Cambridge Surprise Royal is more musical than Treble Bob Royal.
 - That if you cut the slow work out of Treble Bob Major you will improve the music.
 - That it matters a —, when you make a cup of tea, whether you put the milk and sugar into the cup before the tea or not.
- I like to associate with intelligent people, and so I am giving up ringing.

PRACTICE MEETING IN THE HEART OF DORSET

SALISBURY GUILD'S SUCCESSFUL GATHERING.

In ideal summer weather the Dorchester Branch of the Salisbury Diocesan Guild held a very successful meeting for practice at Hilton on Saturday, August 21st. The bells were kept going in various methods from 3 o'clock until 5, when members and friends adjourned to the Vicarage lawns, where an alfresco tea was awaiting them, the beautiful surroundings, including Milton Abbey Park, adding to the enjoyment of the gathering. After a chat over the tea cups, a hearty vote of thanks was passed to the Vicar (the Rev. H. A. Cary) for permitting the use of the bells, his gardens and lawns, and to Mrs. Pinder for preparing the tea. Unfortunately, the Vicar was absent as he was taking the choirboys for an outing.

Those members of the Guild who required a change from the ringing chamber indulged in handbell ringing (the Vicar supplying two octaves), croquet, swings, etc. But the more ardent ones returned to the tower and continued some good practice until late in the evening, the Ringing Master (Mr. P. Field), assisted by the North Dorset Branch Ringing Master (Mr. W. Shute), doing some excellent spade-work.

Between 30 and 40 members and friends were present, representing the following towers: Bradford Peverell, Preston, Upwey, Hazelbury Bryan, Hampreston, Bovington, Lydlinch, Poole, Rampisham, Shroton, Staplehill, West Parley, Stoke Wake, Wyke Regis and there were welcome visitors from Reading. The following methods were rung: Grandsire, Reverse Canterbury Pleasure, Stedman, Stedman Slow Course, Plain Bob, St. Simon's Doubles, Plain Bob, Reverse Canterbury Pleasure, Oxford Treble Bob, Kent Treble Bob and Oxford Bob Minor. All the visitors agreed they had spent a very happy time in the heart of Dorset 'far from the madding crowd.'

DEATH OF MR. F. G. WILSON, BASINGSTOKE.

NEARLY FIFTY YEARS A RINGER.

We deeply regret to record the death of Mr. Frederick George Wilson, of Basingstoke. Although not in the best of health, Mr. Wilson was at work as usual until two days before his death, which took place on Thursday, August 26th. He was 64 years of age.

Mr. Wilson had not been able to ring during the past three years, but previously he had been a most regular Sunday service ringer at St. Michael's Church, Basingstoke. He had rung many peals with the late Mr. Henry White, for the old Winchester Diocesan Guild, but in later years he had devoted his time to teaching others to ring. Altogether Mr. Wilson's ringing career had extended over a period of nearly 50 years.

The funeral, which took place at Basingstoke on Saturday afternoon, was attended by Mr. George Williams (Master) and many other members of the Winchester and Portsmouth Diocesan Guild. The bells were rung half-muffled before and after the funeral service.

The deceased leaves a widow, son and daughter to mourn his death.

THE LINCOLNSHIRE TOUR. SOME NOTES ON CHURCHES AND BELLS The Story of an Interesting Week.

On a plot of rising ground I hear the far off Curfew sound,
Over some wide watered shore, swinging slow with sullen roar.
Maxwell.

By the time this account of the Bennett tour of 1937 appears in print most of my readers will have 'weighed up' the peal columns and summed up the week's work as reported in the last issue of 'The Ringing World.' To begin, the organiser in his letter of invitation modestly referred to his 'pretty stiff programme,' adding that he had confidence in the band, which eventually scored 14 peals in their list of 16 towers and completed them without mishap to man, bell or fittings.

A capable Master of the Guild had knowingly planned the daily route, encouraged by the respective clergy and foremen of belfries, who heartily welcomed the tourists at the various parishes. The team of 12 men were the same as on the Newcastle tour of last year. With three motor-cars at their disposal, they were able to travel in comfort and with punctuality.

The Cross Keys, Spalding, was headquarters—an historic old property, belonging to the Duke of Buckingham and dating from 1460. Here the tourists were received by Mr. and Mrs. R. Richardson on their arrival—six by train and six by car—in time to take tea and get ready for their first peal attempt on Friday, August 13th.

The Parish Church of Spalding, dedicated to SS. Mary and Nicolas, is well portrayed in a small guide book by J. P. Hoskins, B.A., of London. One's first impression on entering the north door is 'she's as long as she's broad' with five aisles. It was built by the Benedictine Priory, which existed at Spalding from its foundation in 1051 to its surrender to the Commissioners of Henry VIII. in 1540. Fortunately many of the Priory records are extant and from them something of the history of the church is learnt.

Prior Simon de Hautebache (1228 to 1251) is recorded to have begun to build the parishioners a new church within the precincts of the monastery. This building was finished by his successor (Prior 1251 to 1274) and seems to have been known as St. Mary Stock. Prior William de Littleport (1274-1293) decided to transfer and rebuild the church, and the dimensions of this building are almost exactly those of the present structure. The Colc MSS. in the British Museum give particulars of agreements about building, etc., and amongst them, 'Land was to be given by the Priory for the enlargement of the cemetery and two bells of the price of £20 sterling, which were not to be rung when the monks were in their dormitory, except for fire, flood or other great disaster.'

LEANING TOWERS.

The tower and spire, over 150ft. high, leaning distinctly towards the north-east, began to subside very seriously in the middle of the seventeenth century. The cause of this was probably the digging of vaults inside the church by the north wall of the tower. Extensive cracks appeared in the east and north faces of the tower, the latter going up right into the spire and being large enough for a boy to squeeze through in many parts. To support the tower the western arch of the arcade was walled up in 1664, and the eastern arch of the tower in 1683, but nothing was done to the vaults that had undermined it and the tower grew more and more unsafe with the passing of the years, so that the architect who examined it in 1865 exclaimed, 'Why it does not fall I don't know.'

At the west end of the church is a small sanctus bell of great interest, bearing the letters I.N.R.I. and the date 1501. This is probably the only pre-Reformation bell not recast in existence for many miles around. It was bought in 1840 by a former Vicar from the Town Crier of the nearby village of Whaplode.

The bells were more than once the cause of disputes between the Priory of Spalding and the parishioners. The Priory agreed to provide two bells at the building of the church about 1284. The Prior appealed to the King (Henry IV.), the parishioners submitted an address in French, then the dispute was referred to the Bishop of Lincoln A.D. 1401, but his decision unfortunately does not seem to be known. North tells us the old ring of six bells were made up by a new treble added and the tenor recast by Dobson, of Downham, in 1801. Also William Carter, bellringer, was paid for his year's stipend in 1519 VIII. IIIId., and, for ringing when the tempest was, IIIId.

It will interest members of the Ladies' Guild to hear of the widow of the sexton of Spalding, who carried on his duties in the early part of the 19th century. She was also a washerwoman engaged at a clergyman's house with others. She used to leave her tub to ring the bell. On one occasion one of her companions wrapped a white sheet around her and followed the sexton to the south porch standing up on the bench there. As the old woman was locking the door the ghost started moaning, thinking to frighten her, but the old lady quickly drew the huge key from the lock and rushed at the figure with the exclamation, 'Be ye live or dead, here's a go at yer,' and nearly slew the would-be ghost.

The parish registers of Spalding begin in 1538. They are complete and in excellent condition. The present Vicar is the Rev. Canon

B. G. Nicholas, R.D., one of the 17 Spalding hon. members of the Elloe Deanery Branch of the Lincoln Guild. On the conclusion of the peal he sent a kind message of congratulation saying 'how much he had enjoyed listening to the ringing.'

The visitors were met at the church by Messrs. Knight, Ladd, Farr, Ames and others, and took a brief glance at the tablets on the belfry walls, which record among other things that Churchwarden Jarvis celebrated his 100th birthday on May 29th last year and that Richard Mackman was verger 1876 to 1923, had charge of the tower and for 50 years was a member of the association.

The present ring of eight bells was cast from old bells in 1926 and rehung by Taylors in new iron frame and fittings; each bell is dedicated to a different saint, the 7th being known as Gabriel. The following was written by the Vicar, January, 1936, and gives some idea of the district to those who have not 'done' the county: 'South Lincolnshire has been disparagingly written of as a land of "fens and fogs and flats"; since it has been my privilege to live and labour there I have found it to be the land of the prosaic potato; of the golden corn; of the daffodil and the tulip in countless varieties and colours; the land of splendid sunsets and glorious churches unsurpassed by any in the Kingdom.' He might have added also the first to possess a ring of bells in all England, namely, at Croyland a few miles away.

EWERBY'S GRACEFUL RINGING 'ROOM.'

Ewerby, visited on Saturday, was the home of the late Fred Holden, whose first peal I conducted at Staines before he joined the Royal Navy. Alas! he now rests beside the chancel, but has left a fine family of boys to 'carry on.'

Our team arrived at the Church of St. Andrew at 9.30, and some time was spent in putting things right 'up above.' The Rector kindly gave us a welcome in the ringing room, which is conveniently on the ground floor level and a very handsome feature at the west end of the nave with graceful arches on three sides open to the church and a groined ceiling. The carved hexagonal font formed a centrepiece as the team surrounded it for Cambridge Royal.

The church is built entirely of stone, of handsome proportions, especially the tower and spire, and the cunning way in which the roomy spiral stairs up to the bells are constructed, in the south-west angle, is an object lesson to modern architects. The north aisle has a paving stone which serves to remind us of the disastrous period in the history of the Church of England, and here is the inscription: 'Here lyeth interred the body of pious and learned Mr. Silvester, gent, who faithfully and diligently served the Vicarage of this parish for above 50 years, died March, 1730, aged 81 years. He gave the sum of £5 a year to the said Vicar for ever supposing he do reside upon the same Vicarage.

Another interesting tombstone is that of George William, Earl of Winchelsea, at the east of the chancel, who died in 1858. He was also a practical bellringer and gave the front six bells to make up the peal of ten with the four old ones. The Earl left a fund to give the ringers an annual Christmas supper and £1 per man as a Christmas box, and he generally, while in residence, took part in such festivities. The old tenor is dated 1616, and is 47 inches in diameter. In 1568 the churchwardens reported that two handbells, which belonged to this church in Queen Mary's time, had been sold to one Cuthbert, a pewterer of Lincoln.

Ewerby men have scored a peal of Caters on the bells conducted by Fred Holden, but of recent years it has been impossible to find and train ten men to man the bells regularly. Work and population are declining here, as in many other agricultural centres throughout England.

A large block of stone, with two stout iron ring handles, stands near the font. It is now used to stretch the bellropes, but I believe it formed, at one time, part of the market cross in front of the churchyard, and was used to tether cattle and the horses of the farmers attending Sunday service. Two o'clock lunch at the Hatton Arms was served by hostess Mildred Porter, and twelve signatures were added to her petition for permission for Sunday opening.

Heckington, which was visited in the afternoon, has a ring of six bells that were increased to eight in 1880 by two new bells—treble and tenor—cast by Mears and Stainbank. The old tenor, supplied by Warner and Son, 1859, is now the 7th. Many a dispute and wager have taken place in the village with regard to the figure on the 6th, in reference to William Taylor's gift of metal to this bell because 'he loved ringing so well.' They are a fine ring of bells, with a good belfry, the light, circle of ropes, draught and sound all being suitable for practising advanced methods. The walls of the belfry are carved in many places with the names and initials of old ringers dating from 1677. We were met by Mr. T. H. Clark, who did duty for us as tower warden. His connection with St. Andrew's belfry has lasted nearly half a century. Our cars were parked opposite the police station, near the tower, where the officer in charge expressed gladness at our departure, as the office books were in arrears. I referred him to Inspector Poole, of Leicester, and mentioned we had added a new method to the county list and celebrated the birthday of a famous London ringer, the late William Pye.

ROUND BERKSHIRE TOWERS.A TIME TABLE THAT WORKED.

The ringers of St. Mary's, Rodbourne Cheney, together with a few colleagues from other Swindon towers, held their annual outing on Saturday, August 21st, accompanied by the Vicar (the Rev. S. F. Allison). A time table had been worked out, which, contrary to the general custom, was strictly adhered to during the course of the tour. Permission had been granted to visit half a dozen Berkshire towers. After the 'gathering of the clans' from various points, an early start was made and the party were soon speeding away over the open downs into the Lambourn Valley, where the first call was made at Great Shefford. This is a 'left-handed' peal of six, and trouble was encountered by several of the novices before the 'hang' of things came 'right.' To the old 'uns it held no terrors, and good touches of Stedman, Grandsire and Minor were rung. Incidentally the writer was initiated into the art in this tower many years ago.

From here the excursionists passed on through the whole length of the delightful Lambourn Valley until Chieveley was reached. There another peal of six was encountered, and, although hung in an old wood frame, was found to be in excellent going order. This soon put the visitors into a happy mood and several well-struck touches were called. Apart from ringing, this tower is worthy of note, possessing some very antiquated steps to ascend into the bell chamber. The drive was continued through the pine woods of Hermitage to Hampstead Norris, where the bells were found already raised for action, and proved to be almost perfect both for handling and for sound. Some good ringing resulted.

Tea was partaken of at Compton, where the visitors were met by representatives of the local band. Ringing at the church followed. The tower appealed very much to some of the party. Others, however, developed 'dart-bagatelleitis' and failed to turn up at the belfry until the departure time. East Ilsley was next visited and the party were accompanied by some of the Compton band. The ring of eight was found to be a lovely going light peal, which, especially to the old 'uns, were a treat to ring. At no time were ropes going a-hogging. Some of the best ringing of the day was carried out here. At Wantage, the last tower, the metal of this peal of eight proved a bit too cumbersome for the majority of the party, but touches of Stedman and Grandsire were rung. During a short spell for light refreshments, touches of Stedman, Grandsire, etc., together with a few tunes by the 'musical stars' of the party, were rung on the handbells and brought a delightful day to a close. The ringers wish to thank the various incumbents and towerkeepers for the use of the bells and arrangements that were made, the whole combining into a very pleasant and interesting outing.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

All those who have reserved tickets for the Ladies' Guild jubilee dinner should redeem their reservations at once. No ticket, says a notice in another column, can be reserved after September 25th.

After the joint meeting of four associations at Staines on Saturday, ringing took place at St. Mary's Church, where a band of 'experts' rang a course of Bob Triples as a special compliment to Mr. Cecil Pipe, of Staines.

A day in Oxfordshire for young ringers is being arranged for Saturday, September 11th, leaving Maidenhead Station by motor-coach at 9.15 a.m. Lunch, tea and fare, 7s. inclusive. There are a few vacant seats, for which application should be made by September 7th to Mr. T. J. Fowler, Cookham, Berks.

St. Peter's Church, Dorchester, is quite near the Dorset County Prison. The Rector, who is chairman of the Dorchester Branch of the Salisbury Guild, is also prison chaplain, and on a recent visit to the 'house of correction' a prisoner told him how much he enjoyed listening to the bells, but that he would 'like to hear them ring in "Queen's" more.'

At the last two practices, arranged for visitors to that part of Dorset, Queen's have been rung for a few minutes in the hope that the nearby listener enjoyed the ringing.

As a result of the distribution of the booklet of touches of Stedman Caters and Cinques, Mr. W. A. Cave has been asked for touches of Grandsire Caters. He has prepared a small collection of musical touches and will send them to any who require them on receipt of a stamped (halfpenny) addressed return envelope.

In the peal at Chichester on August 21st the ringers of the 7th and tenor were Raymond Wood, jun., and Frederick W. Burnett respectively.

AUSTRALIAN LADY RINGERS.

NEARLY FORTY SCHOOLGIRLS LEARNING ON HANDBELLS.

Miss Joan H. Kynaston, who went out from England about two years ago to a teaching appointment at Frensham School, Mittagong, New South Wales, has been doing some splendid work among the pupils, which, we may hope, will benefit the art of ringing in Australia in the future.

Although there are no church bells available, change ringing is taught on handbells, and Miss Kynaston has now got nearly 40 keen ringers in the school, ranging from seven years old to the senior girls. There is also one learner among the staff who, it is hoped, will be able to carry on when Miss Kynaston returns to England at the end of the year.

This month one of her ringing pupils, Miss Joyce Layton, arrives in England, and will be in residence at the Physical Training College, Bedford. She hopes to get a practical acquaintance with church bell ringing during her stay, and we are sure she will be heartily welcomed by Bedford ringers.

BOB TRIPLES.

To the Editor.

Sir,—May I reply to the advocate of Bob Triples, Mr. A. P. Cannon? What methods are rung in peals concerns me not at all, but when he talks of teaching beginners Bob Triples instead of Grandsire he encroaches on Sunday service ringing, of which I am afraid he knows very little. There are ringers, I am afraid, who never pass beyond covering and others who get as far as plain hunting and then stop, but they are of much more use to a tower with their regular attendance than the expert change ringers whose attendances on Sunday are few and far between. With two treble ringers and one tenorman, the Plain Bob band would be tied to Bob Minor with two covers, instead of courses of Grandsire Triples. With six inside, one treble and one tenor they would ring Bob Triples. To ring Bob Major requires seven inside and one treble, and unless this number were in the tower no music would ever be heard from their bells.

May I also point out that Grandsire is not a 'blind alley method leading nowhere.' There is a book of Triples methods published by the Central Council leading from Grandsire. I also fail to follow Mr. Cannon's reasoning that a ringer who finds a difficulty in grasping Bob Major after ringing Grandsire Triples could very easily learn the higher major methods if first taught Bob Triples. He could, at least, ring Grandsire Major and discourse the same sweet music as the Bob Triple ringer. I think Mr. Cannon will find that the 'blind alley' Grandsire, with its 'defects,' will long continue as the standard fare.

FOUR ASSOCIATIONS MEET ON THAMES-SIDE.

LARGE GATHERING AT STAINES.

The Value of Co-operation.

Four societies joined forces in a meeting on Thames-side on Saturday. At the invitation of the South and West District of the Middlesex Association, the East Becks and South Bucks Branch of the Oxford Guild, the Chertsey District of the Guildford Diocesan Guild and the North-West District of the Surrey Association visited Staines, and a gathering of between 80 and 100 ringers and friends was the result. The morning had not been too promising, but the sun broke through the clouds in the afternoon and the visitors found St. Peter's Church, the centre of activities, in a charming setting on the river bank.

In addition to St. Peter's, the bells of St. Mary's, Staines, were open, as were also those of Egham, on the Surrey side, and Wraysbury, just over the Bucks border. All these are eight-bell towers and full use was made of them, St. Peter's, as was, perhaps, not to be wondered at, being specially crowded.

A service was held here, conducted by the Vicar, Dr. Flecker, and a new ringers' hymn, 'Ringslip Bells,' was used for the first time. Mr. J. A. Trollope (vice-president of the Middlesex Association) read the lesson.

The Rev. A. C. Tranter, Vicar of Egham, gave a forceful address, in the course of which he spoke of the conflicting voices in the world of to-day. The invention of radio had, he said, filled the air with voices to which men could listen if they would. But there were other voices. The voice of the bells was calling men to God, if they would but listen, and he asked ringers to remember when they were ringing, whether for Sunday service or practice, that they were sending out a message—a message of comfort in the everlasting love of God, a message to men to prepare for the coming King.

Commenting on the uncertainty of life, the preacher incidentally remarked that one of the most important things a man should do was to make his will. 'Why,' he said, 'I have got the hymn picked out for my funeral, but,' he added, 'that does not mean that I am going to die yet.'

After service, tea was served into St. Peter's Hall, but there were many more present than had notified that they were coming, with the result that the caterers were hard put to it to provide for the wants of the large gathering. Mr. J. A. Trollope presided and three general secretaries were present (Middlesex, Oxford and Guildford) in addition to the four district secretaries and ringers from nearly 40 different towers. Specially welcome visitors were Mr. C. J. Sedgley, of St. Mary-le-Tower, Ipswich, and the Rev. R. H. Gilding (curate at St. Peter's).

The Chairman extended a cordial welcome to the visiting associations. That, he said, was something more than merely a pleasant gathering; it was the outward and visible sign of the unity and good fellowship that existed among ringers, which was one of the finest characteristics of the Exercise to-day. Towers and associations alike benefited from the spirit of co-operation, but this spirit of co-operation had not always existed among ringers. In days gone by old societies like the College Youths and Cumberlands not only did not fraternise, but a member of one could not be a member of the other. In the case of these two societies this latter rule existed to-day, and it came about, as explained in the Cumberlands' rule book, in order to promote friendly rivalry. It was a survival of old traditions which existed two centuries ago, when every society kept itself to itself. It was only since the territorial associations came into existence that that spirit was really broken down, and it was largely because it had been broken down that the Exercise had progressed in the last half-century as much as it had done. He was casting no aspersions on those old societies, which looked back with pride on their past. Ringing owed a debt to them for what they had preserved. They had preserved this tradition, but in these days it was an anachronism, and he thought, might well be honoured in the breach. Wherever they went throughout the country a man who was a ringer was welcomed in any belfry, and that was a thing which ringers had a right to be proud of. That was the spirit which brought about meetings of that kind, and for that reason he was glad to see such a large and representative gathering present that day.

Mr. J. S. Goldsmith (Guildford Guild), Mr. A. D. Barker (Oxford Guild) and Mr. D. Cooper (Surrey Association) acknowledged the welcome given to the visitors and spoke of the success of the gathering.

A vote of thanks to the Vicar of St. Peter's was proposed by the chairman and acknowledged by the Rev. R. H. Gilding, and Mr. P. W. Goodfellow (Middlesex district secretary) moved a vote of thanks to the preacher, the organist and the caterers.

GREAT STAUGHTON'S OLDEST RINGER.

DEATH OF MR. G. FRANKLIN.

Great Staughton band has lost its oldest member with the passing of Mr. George Franklin, who died in hospital on August 24th after an operation, at the age of 67 years. Mr. Franklin had rung only one peal, but he was a regular service ringer and Sunday after Sunday would be at his post both morning and evening.

The funeral, which was choral, took place on Saturday, and immediately afterwards a quarter-peal of Grandsire Doubles was rung with bells half-muffled by R. Stratton 1, N. Smith 2, J. Smith 3, H. J. Parker 4, P. W. Lack 5, F. Reeve 6.

LEEDS AND DISTRICT SOCIETY.

A WELCOME TO SHIPLEY.

The monthly meeting of the Leeds and District Society was held at the Shipley Parish Church on Saturday. Owing to the holiday season being in full swing, and the fact that the opening games of the football season were taking place in such glorious weather, the attendance was below expectations. About two dozen members were present from Armley, Burley, Headingley (St. Chad's and St. Michael's), Holbeck, Idle, Rothwell, Sherburn, Drighlington and the local company, as well as a visitor from Kirkby Stephen. The bells were kept ringing from 3 o'clock until finally they were lowered about 9 p.m.

The business meeting was held in the tower, and in the absence of the president and vice-presidents, Mr. P. J. Johnson (a former president) occupied the chair. A vote of thanks to the Vicar, wardens and the local company for their welcome was proposed by Mr. W. Jackson, and supported by Mr. F. Rayment, who congratulated the Shipley company on the splendid progress which they were making. After a number of very lean years, and years of hard work, they were at last reaping the benefits of their labours, and he hoped the progress would continue.

The Chairman, in putting this vote to the meeting, dwelt reminiscently upon several of the early Shipley ringers.

The Rev. T. Perrett, in replying, said how pleased he was to welcome the society to Shipley and hoped they would come again in the near future, when he himself anticipated being able to take a more active part in the proceedings. He always felt that ringers had such a grip on one another, a grip of comradeship—just like the grip one had on one's 'sally.'

Mr. Ernest Simpson also spoke for the local company and expressed his pleasure at the meeting.

A vote of thanks was accorded to Mr. Johnson for presiding.

The Chairman said he could not close the meeting without a reference to the death at the great age of 76 of Mr. Herbert Needham, the first secretary of the Leeds and District Society. The late Mr. Needham moved away from Leeds about 40 years ago, but he did a great deal of pioneer work for the society in its early days.

The next meeting is due to be held at Holbeck on September 25th, but an announcement will be made in the Press in due course.

After the meeting, the Vicar took part in the ringing before leaving to continue his other duties. The methods rung during the day ranged from Grandsire Triples to Cambridge and Superlative Surprise.

ELY DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION.

CHATTERIS RINGERS' EXAMPLE.

A meeting of the Central Branch was held at Chatteris on Saturday, August 28th. There was a good attendance of visitors and branch members. The general secretary of the association (Miss K. Willers) was also present. Ringing commenced at about 2.30 p.m., Mr. A. J. Abrams being in charge, the Ringing Master arriving after tea.

It is worthy of note that nearly all the Chatteris ringers attended this meeting, which gives one food for thought, as, when going to other towers, the leader of the company is often the only local ringer present. If bands would follow Chatteris ringers' example, more Sunday service ringing would be done.

The Guild service was held in church at 6 p.m., conducted by the Vicar.

It is hoped to hold the next meeting at Haddenham if permission is obtained.

Methods from Plain Bob to London Surprise were rung, and the meeting proved a happy one.

IN PLEASANT SURREY BY-WAYS.

Some 16 members of the Sonning Deanery Branch of the Oxford Diocesan Guild, with wives and friends, enjoyed an afternoon's outing on Saturday in the neighbourhood of Woking, Surrey. Chobham was the first tower visited, and Mr. A. Coleman had everything in readiness. A delightful surprise was the visit to the belfry of Messrs. Goldsmith, Hazelden, Corbett and Grover (of the Guildford Diocesan Guild), who were en route for Egham to attend a joint meeting. A journey of two miles brought the party to Horsell, with its perpendicular ladder leading to the curious ringing chamber, but very handy ring of six. Then into Woking for tea at the Sunray Restaurant and a look round the busy little town before ringing on the good going eight at Old Woking, the belfry hallowed by the memory of that friend of ringers, the late Admiral T. P. Walker. A pleasant run as the daylight faded brought the party to Pirbright, with its interesting church in a peaceful spot, where lie the remains of the great African explorer, H. M. Stanley. The nice going musical ring of six bells in the tower were well used until 9 p.m.

After crossing the Berkshire border on the homeward journey, passengers were gradually set down and 'good nights' shouted until the last reached home about 11 p.m., all tired but well content. Thanks are accorded to the four incumbents, their steeplekeepers and all who assisted to bring success and enjoyment, including Mr. J. S. Goldsmith, whose help was invaluable. The standard methods were rung in all the churches, and, in addition, at the six-bell towers, London and Cambridge Surprise.

ALL HALLOWS', LOMBARD STREET.

S.P.A.B. AND DEMOLITION OF FAMOUS LONDON CHURCH.

The 60th annual report of the Society for the Protection of Ancient Buildings again forms an interesting record of the work carried out by the society in many directions during the year. Numerous church restorations have been executed with the collaboration of the society, but the matter, reported on at some length, which will interest ringers most, is that relating to the demolition of All Hallows' Church, London.

All Hallows' has a ring of ten bells, and London ringing organisations have directed the attention of the authorities to preserving the peal intact and erecting it in some other church where there is a tower which will enable the bells to be rung.

The S.P.A.B. report, as will be seen below, touches upon important matters relating to Diocesan Advisory Boards, who, given the additional powers proposed, may exercise still greater restraint in matters relating to bell restorations, although their jurisdiction, of course, touches practically everything connected with the fabric and the furnishing of the church.

The report on All Hallows' Church says:—

The decision to remove this church is a great disappointment to the society and to all those who have worked for its retention. That such a decision could be taken without reference to the London Diocesan Advisory Committee or to the Central Council for the Preservation of Churches, reveals an extraordinary state of affairs.

When the late Archbishop of Canterbury, Dr. Davidson, secured the exemption of churches from the Ancient Monuments Act in 1913 he certainly gave no pledge that every single church, early or late in date, should be preserved. No building-owning authority could do that, not even the Office of Works. But he did promise that the Church would set up efficient machinery to deal with questions of this kind. What has happened is not that the particular machinery has broken down in this case, but that All Hallows' has managed to escape it.

It is an amazing thing, but it is actually the fact, that, while it is and has for long been practically impossible to pull down a piece of an ancient church to add a vestry or an organ chamber in the Victorian manner, or even to carry out an old-fashioned 'restoration,' it is really possible to destroy a whole church! Such apparently is the state of the law.

NO CONTROL BEFORE CONSECRATION.

We understand that there is a strangely parallel situation in regard to new churches. It is not possible to place fittings or monuments in existing churches without the closest scrutiny, but prior to consecration there is no control over what may be placed in a new church. There is urgent need for some alteration in the law.

But there is no doubt that very real difficulties are arising in consequence of the shifting of the population and the traffic problems of urban areas. Certain recent schemes show that the municipalities are likely at any time to wish to destroy valuable buildings in central areas. How far State Control could protect some of them nowadays is a difficult problem. A Government department would certainly have to balance various interests against one another, and it might well be that without great expenditure of money and elaborate protective town planning, some loss would be inevitable in overcrowded areas. The Society for the Protection of Ancient Buildings may congratulate itself that in the case of All Hallows' it has done all that could be done, and that the agitation has shown the public that buildings of a certain degree of importance cannot be touched without an outcry.

It is also satisfactory to note the change of opinion that has come over the country in regard to renaissance art. Notwithstanding the destruction of All Hallows', the balance of opinion in favour of the importance of preserving renaissance work is more with the Church authorities than with the State. The Royal Commission on Historical Monuments in their reports ignore everything from a few years after the date of All Hallows'. One may search most of their reports in vain for notice of anything of the later years of Wren or the work of his followers, while most of the Diocesan Advisory Committees are slow to tolerate interference with any eighteenth-century work of real distinction. The irony of the situation is that while a church like All Hallows' is to be pulled down, the London diocesan authorities have been encouraging the expenditure of vast sums of money in repairing the other city churches, and on the lines approved by this society.

What seems to be required is some new legislation by the Church Assembly to secure that cases like that of All Hallows' should come before the Advisory Committee at the very beginning of any scheme. The serious thing is that there may be other cases in the future. We must admit that according to the most reliable information, none of the other city churches in London are in any danger. New uses are being found for some of them: most are now well used on week-days. The scheme for pulling down nineteen is certainly a thing of the past. It is rather in some of the provincial towns that the danger lies, e.g., Sheffield, York, Norwich and Worcester. In none of these cases, as far as we know, has the Advisory Committee been consulted, though the destruction of valuable churches is contemplated as a consequence of urban depopulation.

There is another matter which requires ventilation. In London, notwithstanding the All Hallows' scandal, the Advisory Committee is a very weighty body, doing excellent work. But in some parts of the country it does seem possible to say that there has been culpable neglect in fulfilling the pledge that the Archbishop gave the nation in 1913. For the Advisory Committee system is either not working at all or else working very badly. Take the diocese of Hereford for example, or that of Derby, or of Durham. We do not know who their secretaries are, or what they are doing. And it still seems possible for an ignorant incumbent or parochial church council to hold up their work by sheer defiance. In the city of London the Church of St. Olave, Hart Street, has the unenviable distinction of possessing the dirtiest monuments. In the same church the advice of the eminent architects responsible for recent repairs was ignored by the parish on points of great importance. We could quote other similar cases. Though less spectacular, these are matters of grave concern, because, unlike All Hallows', they are within the sphere of responsibility of the new protective system.

It is only fair to say that legislation is now pending before the Church Assembly in which it is intended to stiffen up procedure before the Consistory Courts, and to strengthen the hands of the Advisory Committees and the Central Faculties Council. But the unhappy experience of All Hallows', Lombard Street, shows that that is not everything, as it is difficult to see how it will affect those unwanted churches in depopulated urban areas.

The All Hallows' case has shown the value that is attached to the city churches and to the work of the English renaissance. It is poor compensation for the loss of the church, but it is something to be able to recall the fact that, whereas in Victorian cases of destruction of city churches little care was taken of their contents, in this case the greatest care will be exercised even to reproducing in the new suburban church which will succeed All Hallows' the conditions of the east and west ends, so as to contain the woodwork in surroundings such as it was intended to fill.

It is clear that there are elements in the Church which still do not take their responsibilities seriously enough where artistic and architectural considerations are concerned. Unless new legislation is carried through and made to apply more widely, and unless local disloyalty to their own system can be stopped, the Church authorities are quite likely to encounter a renewal of the agitation for the taking over of buildings by the State. The Advisory Committee system has certainly made far-reaching changes in the last twenty years, not least by its insistence on the value of renaissance work, but events are showing that it has not gone far enough, and that its net must be made closer and stronger.

QUEX PARK.

A RECORD PICNIC MEETING.

A by-meeting of the Canterbury District of the Kent County Association, held at Quex Park on Saturday, August 28th, broke all records for attendance at any similar meeting of the district. Members and friends, numbering 80, were present, and 15 towers were represented.

The afternoon's ringing was broken off at 4.30, for those present to be shown over the Natural History Museum of Col. Powell-Cotton attached to the Mansion. They were taken round by the Curator, Mr. Penfold, who explained the many exhibits to them. The exhibition is unique in the fact that all the specimens, with the exception of three, were shot by one man. The posing of the animals in their natural surroundings gave rise to many expressions of delight by those who were fortunate to be present.

A picnic tea in the park followed. This was provided through the generosity of Mr. Harrison Smith and Mr. Jack Walter, and, needless to say, was enjoyed to the full by all. Thanks to these gentlemen and to Miss H. Smith for her 'home made' were expressed in no mean measure. The weather proved fine, and members were able to choose which 'chair' they liked, the most comfortable posture proving to be the 'back to back' position.

Birchington tower, with seven members, was re-elected, and notice was given that the annual district meeting would be held in Canterbury on October 9th.

A vote of thanks was passed to Mrs. Powell-Cotton for the use of the bells, for allowing the members to picnic, and for the opportunity of being able to look over the museum.

During the ringing the back ten of the ring of twelve were rung by a band composed entirely of ladies, the Wickhambreaux 'belles', having their first pull on ten.

Darts proved to be very popular during the afternoon and evening, a tree forming a good substitute for the more usual background.

The bells at Birchington Church were open during the evening, many having a pull there before leaving for home.

The gathering proved one of the happiest meetings at which the writer has been present.

THE 'OLD 'UNS' HAVE AN OUTING.

AGE TELLS ITS TALE.

Loughton ringers, most of whom are getting on in years, with friends and three other old ringers from Woodford and West Ham, had their annual outing on Saturday, August 21st, when they visited Essex and Suffolk towers. Pinchingfield, first on the list, was reached about 9 a.m. The bells were set going to Grandsire, Stedman and Bob Major, and call changes for the probationers. A nice run through winding roads then brought the party to Woodbridge, where further touches were brought round. The steps up to this ringing room were more than one old and respected ringer of Loughton could manage. He had to be content with listening to the bells and expressing his great disappointment at not being able to have a pull. Dinner was served at the White Horse Hotel, Leiston, and ringing afterwards took place at the Parish Church, made famous among ringers by the performances of the Bailey brothers. This tower pleased the old warriors in the party, for they were able to ascend with ease. Touches were brought round in various methods, two of the local ringers joining in. The journey was then continued to Halstead, where Miss H. Snowden and her brother met the party. Tea was awaiting the party in the Lads' Drill Hall, and after the meal thanks were accorded to the organisers and a move was then made to the tower, where touches of Grandsire, Stedman, Kent and Bob Major were brought round. Loughton was eventually reached about 9.30 after another most enjoyable day. The ringers wish to thank all incumbents and tower masters for their kind help and permission for use of bells, and especially Miss H. Snowden for her willing assistance.

COMPOSITIONS OF ROYAL.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—I read with interest, in the current issue of 'The Ringing World,' Mr. G. E. Symonds' letter under the above heading. He therein declares that the second has been 'subjected to such humiliations.'

Some time ago, I worked out a 5,080 of Treble Bob Royal, in which the second comes into its own, by being at home at every course-end. Surely in a peal of this sort the second plays an important part.

RINGING ON CARD INDEX SYSTEM.

HOW IT FAILED.

Salehurst, Sedlescombe, Brede, Rye, Winchelsea, Hastings, Bexhill, Brightling and Burwash were visited by members and friends of St. Peter's Society, Tunbridge Wells, on August Bank Holiday. It is rather a funny business going out with the St. Peter's ringers, the ringing being done on a kind of card index system. Each ringer has his or her card (provided with a small hole in which to place a piece of string to hang round the neck), on which is printed the number of the bell the performer will take in a certain band. It is a fine idea; you don't have ringers rushing to ring bells they wouldn't dare touch at home; in fact, there is no rush at all until the end of the day, when everybody begins to find out how to read the cards and looks at, instead of sitting on, them. Everything started in a very orderly way. The time schedule was worked out to the minute—bang on time starting, bang on time at Salehurst; Stedman, Bob Major, Oxford Bob Triples, Double Norwich and Kent, 14 ringers taking part, and the card index putting the party 15 minutes late in getting away.

Six musical bells at Sedlescombe were rung to Grandsire Doubles, Bob Minor, Kent and Cambridge. Then to Brede, where is a beautiful church, containing many objects of interest, among them being an oak cradle, said to have been that of Dean Swift, author of 'Gulliver's Travels,' 'A Tale of a Tub,' etc. Quite a nice six at Brede, which were got going after juggling with the cards, to the above mentioned methods. After a little light refreshment, the party set off for Rye. No ringing at Rye, but luncheon. The orderliness began to vanish, some of the lighter-minded no doubt had visions of previous outings. Of course, the captain of the band was the last to get his first course, and quite a young Ladd was first to get all the courses. And when it was discovered that it was possible to get something to drink besides water, there was no end of a row, because the captain had filled the glasses with water. However, the young Ladd sitting close to one of the windows speedily disposed of the water, and everything settled down again, with little outbreaks of mirth occasionally, no doubt due to something a man said who used to live at Tenterden.

After lunch, a course of Triples on the handbells, and off to visit the historical old church, with its profusion of different periods of building, stained windows and the peculiar pendulum of the clock, which swings over the heads of the visitors as they enter through the doorway at the base of the tower. Mermaid Street, with its cobbles and quaint old timbered houses, provided the way to the 'charn,' which some of the less educated of the party would call the motor-coach. The journey to Hastings was made in rather a quieter mood; whether this was the effect of the lunch or the fact that the perfect time schedule had side-slipped to the tune of about three-quarters of an hour, it would be hard to say. A stop was made at Winchelsea to renew acquaintance with the wonderful old church. Here again the time of departure got 'hooked up.' You see, the man who used to live at Tenterden is something like the sailor who had wives in every port. He has friends in every port. However, the party didn't have to wait more than half an hour for him, and arrived at All Saints', Hastings, just in time to stop Mr. Levett from going home to tea. A fine peal here, but a little noisy. Off went the card index to Grandsire, Oxford Bob and Stedman Triples, Kent and Superlative Surprise. The non-ringers, who had been consuming great quantities of ice-cream and crossing the Atlantic on the boating pool, were picked up on the front, and the party set off to Bexhill. Owing to the fact that several of them knew Bexhill very well, the 'chara' went quite a long way past the church and the place for tea, and they had to ask a policeman where it was.

It is always a job to get postcards of the various churches on Bank Holiday, but the captain (he's a bit of a 'smart Alec' sort of fellow) found a shop where they sold quite good photographs of the church for one penny each. He bought about a dozen, got late for tea, had to hurry through the first part to be in time for a cream bun or two. He then collected for the waitresses, collected pennies for the postcards, got it mixed up and, well, the waitresses didn't do so badly. But that isn't the end of the story. Owing to their 'punctuality,' the verger at Bexhill thought they had been tipped into the sea or blown up, and, having something else to do besides wait about all night for a band of ringers who seemed to think time was nothing, went off with the key, and the party didn't ring at the place they had postcards of after all. So they went on to Brightling, card indexes came out, everybody knew just which bell to grab, including the lady who made a mistake in the number and rang the tenor at Hastings (Brightling tenor is quite light, too). But disappointment awaited them. They were met by Mr. G. Pont and informed that owing to a death nearby there could be no ringing. Burwash was on the route, and off they went in the hopes of obtaining the use of the bells there. However, it being rather late in the day, other diversions were tried by various high lights of the party, and found to be very successful. So home to Tunbridge Wells after a very enjoyable day.

HALF-PEAL AS A FAREWELL.

On August 26th, at St. Benedict's Church, Wombourne, Staffs, as a farewell to Mr. E. Lindley, who is leaving Wombourne to take up teaching duties in Kenya, Africa, a half-peal of Grandsire Triples (2,520 changes): E. Lindley 1, L. Key 2, H. Howell 3, N. Leach 4, K. Pardoe 5, A. Collins 6, B. Key (conductor) 7, A. Clarke 8. The original intention was a peal, but it was called round at half-way owing to the bad 'go' of the bells.

DON'T SCRUB YOUR HANDS!

skin this simple way*

To many people, the problem of getting the hands really clean without harming the skin is a serious one. Grease and grime, which become deeply ingrained into the pores of the skin, are extremely difficult to remove, and ordinary washing with soap or even scrubbing will fail to remove them completely. Housewives, particularly, who complain that their hands get ruined by the nature of their work, will find the preparation called DERMAFOAM, a real "godsend." DERMAFOAM just smooths away dirt and grease without effort. It gets right down into the pores and removes every particle of grime, leaving skin beautifully supple and healthy.

Men, too—when you've finished that dirty job on the car, DERMAFOAM will quickly banish all grease and oil from your hands. It acts almost magically—working under and around the nails and into every minute crease, removing all trace of dirt in a flash.

Engineers, Painters, Car Mechanics, Printers — everyone — will welcome DERMAFOAM, the modern method of cleansing and protecting the hands.

OUTLIVED USEFULNESS.

Very little of the spirit of rivalry exists between ringing associations nowadays, and it is all to the good that it should be so. All associations are working for the same objects and while there is, in some cases, an overlapping of areas, a spirit of mutual understanding and forbearance makes it possible for the societies to promote their own welfare without friction with their neighbours. Among the larger organisations which rub shoulders where diocesan and county status happen to spread partly over the same areas there is, almost everywhere, a noticeably friendly feeling prevailing, while even the existence of district societies within the sphere of operations of larger territorial organisations provides evidence, not merely of toleration, but of a genuine spirit of goodwill. The explanation, of course, is to be found in the good sense of the ringers themselves, exhibited often in the fact that they enjoy a dual membership, and thus have a personal interest in both the major and the minor associations.

There is, however, an interesting exception to the interchange of membership in the rules which forbid a ringer to be a member of both the two old London societies—the College Youths and the Cumberlands—at the same time. This is a relic of the days when the two organisations were jealous rivals and when bell ringing was practised for a totally different reason to that which characterises it to-day. The changed order of things makes this now a totally unnecessary prohibition, but those who set high store on tradition, even when tradition restricts adaptation to modern conceptions of usefulness, would not, we believe, lightly alter the established custom. There is, however, no place in the Exercise for prejudices of past centuries, and those who maintain them are only standing in the light of progress. As a matter of fact there are comparatively few ringers who see any advantage in the mutual barrier between these two old London societies, which in the early days of ringing did so much for the advancement of the art. It is not merely in the matter of peal ringing that one sees the futility of the arrangement; it has its influence in other directions, and there are many members of both, especially in the provinces, where, after all, lie the greatest numerical strength of the societies in these days, who would like to see an end put to this survival of an age when ringing was purely a sport and bands were in as keen rivalry as clubs in many branches of sport now are. It may be that ringers who actually live in London have no desire for dual membership, but often visitors from the provinces would be prepared and, indeed, would esteem it a privilege, to join both societies, if only for the opportunity of

PEAL NOTES.

A NEW PEAL OF BRISTOL SURPRISE MAJOR.

The first peal of Bristol Surprise in Bolton, Lancs, was rung on August 28th at St. Peter's Church. The composition, by Mr. T. B. Worsley, was rung for the first time. Here are the figures:—

23456 M B W H	23645 M B W H	32546 M B W H
32654 2 — 2 2	26435 1 — 2 2	35426 1 — 2 2
36524 1 — 2 2	23564 2 1 1	24536 — — 2 2
54263 2 — 2 2	25634 1 — 2 2	32465 2 — 2 2
23645 2 — 2 2	32546 2 2 2	34625 1 — 2 2

In this form it is a 5,056, but it can be reduced to 5,024 by using the alternate calling in the tenth course.

There were some veterans in the peal of Bob Major at Netherton on September 1st, conducted by Mr. D. T. Matkin. James George, who is nearly 84, was, we are told, in great form both on the tenor and afterwards. Mr. Samuel Hughes, who is over 70, stepped into a gap at the last moment, and made his first peal attempt for three years.

It is a pleasure, too, to notice the return to peal ringing of Mr. Matkin. It is over a year since he made a peal attempt, owing to an attack of sciatica. We hope his recovery is permanent.

A farewell peal to the Rev. R. G. and Mrs. Bradshaw, who are going to Merton, was rung at Woolwich on August 28th.

Edmonton Bob, a plain Major method in the C.C. Collection, is not often rung, and, if recollection serves us, the peal at Twickenham on Saturday was only the second in the method, the first having been rung at Willesden in 1924.

The tenor at Rolvenden, Kent, was rung to a peal of Grandsire Triples on Saturday by Mr. Alfred Blackman, who is over 70 years of age.

A Sussex Association peal was rung at Lamberhurst, Kent, on Saturday, and in it five of the six ringers scored their first peal in five Minor methods. The only one of the band who had rung five methods in a peal before was Mr. Albert Relfe, the conductor.

After 37 years as vergers and sexton at Maulden, Beds, Mr. Charles Sharp retired on August 31st. The next day a peal of Minor was rung by members of the Bedfordshire Association as a compliment to him.

A peal in the Isle of Wight is not a very frequent occurrence, but one was rung on Saturday at Brading as a birthday compliment to Mr. Albert R. Ward.

A peal of Cambridge Surprise Royal was rung at St. Mary Redcliffe, Bristol, on Saturday. The tenor is 50½ cwt.

By ringing the seventh to a peal of Stedman Triples at Crayford, Derek M. Sharp has now 'circled' the tower. This is always an interesting performance, but not a difficult one at Crayford, where, we should imagine, more peals are now being rung than at any other church.

Two first peals, a first of Major 'inside' and a first as conductor, all at the first attempt, marked the peal of Bob Major at Halewood, rung as a 64th birthday compliment to Mr. Edward Caunce, one of Lancashire's stalwarts.

The first peal of Kent Treble Bob Maximus on the bells at Walsall was rung on Saturday, when no fewer than ten distinctions were earned. There were six first peals of Maximus, three first peals of Treble Twelve and the first peal of Maximus by Mr. T. J. Elton as conductor.

Mr. G. E. Large, having been instrumental in getting the Ombersley band to join the Worcestershire Association and having since taken a personal interest in their progress, has been rewarded by getting five of the band through a peal of Grandsire Doubles. Three rang their first peal and one his first peal of Doubles (his only other peal being a peal of Minor on the treble). Useful spade-work this.

The peal of Kent rung at Bunbury on Saturday was Mr. E. V. Roden-hurst's 350th peal. It was also his 50th peal of Kent Treble Bob Major. His performances in this method include peals of 7,488, 9,344, 10,400 (the longest peal rung in Wales) and 17,280 (the Kent record).

The peal of Cambridge Royal rung at Ewerby during the Lincolnshire tour contained 5,000 changes, and not 5,040 as reported.

FOR BEGINNERS.

EXTENTS OF TREBLE BOB.

A correspondent, who says he has just learnt to call Treble Bob Minor and would like to attempt a peal, asks us to give him seven 720's, as he is unable to obtain a copy of the 'Collection of Minor Methods' published by the Central Council.

This 'Collection' is at present out of print, but a revised edition will, it is hoped, be on the market ere long.

There are a number of extents of Oxford and Kent Treble Bob Minor, the calling of which keeps the 'tenors' the right way whenever they come behind together, and these are always to be preferred to those which bring them up the wrong way, that is 6-5 at back-stroke instead of 5-6.

There are two useful 'standard' callings which keep the tenors right, and those who begin to call Treble Bob on six bells should make these part of their 'stock-in-trade.' One extent is got by calling the tenor In and Out, in one course, and In, in the next, alternately for the six courses. You can be sure of the course in which only one bob has to be called, because the 5th will make the bob and thus come back to its normal position after the 6th.

The other 'standard' extent is obtained by calling the 5th, Out, in one course, and In and Out, in the next, alternately for the six courses. A guide to the course in which only one bob is called—in this case the omission is the In and not the Out—is when the 5th has been coursing the 6th before the bob is called.

It may seem unnecessary even to suggest that guides are necessary in such a thing as this, but the wise conductor always keeps his eye open for 'landmarks' when studying his composition. It saves many a slip when memory—as it has a habit of sometimes doing—lapses for a moment. Therefore, get into the habit of 'tabbing' your guides from the start.

Other extents cannot be memorised quite so simply as these 'standard' 720's. They are 'one part' extents and really necessitate learning all the positions into which either or other bell is called. But if seven 'different' 720's are desired there is no need to memorise five other extents beyond the two 'standard' callings. In each of these the part ends 42356 and 34256 crop up at regular intervals of two courses, with, of course, 23456 at the end.

Now 42356 and 34256 must occur somewhere in the one part 720's, so that if you take an extent of this kind, you can make it serve the purpose of three by beginning the calling of the two additional ones from the 42356 and the 34256.

In the following these leads turn up plain. We give the bobbed leads and show the other two between lines:—

23564	5	64235	2
52364	1	35264	3
26435	4	23564	1
54263	2	64523	3
25463	1	35642	2
P.L. 42356	1	P.L. 42356	3
25634	4	63425	2
62534	1	46325	1
45623	2	53462	2
23645	3	36245	4
62345	1	23645	1
45362	3
23456	1	23456	1

You can start the calling of either of these from 23456, 42356, or 34256—they are equally true, and, as the changes come up in a different order, they are different extents.

Thus by learning the calling of two 720's, and marking your 'part ends,' when 5-6 are together behind, you provide yourself with six different extents. Any other one-part can be treated in the same way.

A 4½ CWT. TENOR.

Ringers from Newbury, Thatcham, Beedon, Chieveley, Compton, Kingsclere, East Isley, Peasemore and Woolton Hill, with Mr. D. Cooper, of Croydon, and Mr. T. Lock, of Willesden, had a half-day trip on Saturday, August 21st, and the first place at which they called was Tetsworth, where, having been greeted by the Vicar and Mr. Gibbard, they rang on a new light peal of six, the tenor of which is only 4½ cwt. Grandsire and Stedman Doubles, Plain Bob and Kent Treble Bob Minor were rung before going on to Haddenham to tea. Mr. D. Chapman welcomed the party, and the bells, a peal of eight (tenor 19½ cwt.), were soon afterwards going to Grandsire and Stedman Triples and Bob Major. Thame was reached at 7.30 p.m., and the eight bells (tenor 13 cwt.) were rung for an hour in Grandsire and Stedman Triples and Bob Major. Newbury was reached via Oxford at 10.45 after a pleasant run over the Downs and a very enjoyable trip.

RINGERS IMPROVISE SERVICE.

GUILDFORD GUILD OVERCOME ABSENCE OF CLERGY.

As no clergyman was available to conduct the service at the meeting of the Farnham District of the Guildford Diocesan Guild on Saturday at Bagshot, hymns and psalms, announced by the district secretary (Mr. C. W. Denyer) and led by the organ, were sung, and the lesson read by Mrs. M. Welton, one of the Bagshot ringers.

A company numbering 35 sat down to a splendid tea generously provided by Mr. J. Corbett (Bagshot), hon. treasurer of the Guild. A special vote of thanks was accorded Mr. Corbett on the call of the secretary, seconded by Miss W. Manfield (Ash).

The District Ringing Master (Mr. R. Hasted) presided over the business, at which Miss E. Pascoe, of Aldershot, was elected a member and welcomed.

Mr. R. Whittington (Cranleigh) stressed the importance of ringers purchasing 'The Ringing World' each week, and said it would be a serious thing for the Exercise if for any reason the paper should cease being published. He thought it was a matter for the Central Council to discuss.—Mr. Nye and the secretary also spoke on this matter.

MID-WEEK MEETINGS SUGGESTED.

Another matter brought forward by Mr. Whittington was the holding of ringing meetings on Wednesday afternoons. It was thought that a number of ringers were unable to attend on Saturdays, but could do so if meetings were arranged for Wednesdays. It was suggested that the Farnham and Guildford Districts should combine at some convenient tower for a Wednesday meeting.

A lively discussion followed, and it was finally decided that the secretary write to all district towers enquiring the number of ringers able to attend on Wednesdays; to write to the Guildford District hon. secretary on the matter, and also put the matter on the agenda for the next Executive Committee meeting, with a view to a resolution being made to the annual general meeting.

Votes of thanks were accorded the organist, local ringers and caterers, and appreciative remarks paid Mrs. Welton and others concerned with the conducting of the service.

Towers represented at the meeting included Aldershot, Ash, Seale, Farnham, Bagshot, Cranleigh, Chertsey, Uxbridge, St. Stephen's, Westminster, Uckfield, Yorktown, Haslemere and Guildford.

Ringing took place during the afternoon and evening in the standard methods, and those present spent a very pleasant time.

RINGER DIES FROM WASP STINGS.

ATTACKED WHILE ATTEMPTING TO DESTROY NEST.

Whilst attempting to destroy a wasps' nest on the farm at which he was employed at High Halstow, Kent, on Tuesday, August 3rd, Mr. Lawrence Hales was attacked by the swarm and severely stung behind the ear. He was, at the time, close to his home, which he managed to reach, but within about 20 minutes had succumbed to heart failure.

Mr. Hales had been a member of and instructor to the Hoo, St. Werberg, band of ringers for about three years and applied himself with great diligence, coupled with distinct credit, to this very uphill task of teaching a completely new band. He was also a very enthusiastic member of the Rochester District of the Kent Association, very seldom missing any of the periodical meetings and also bringing along other members of his band.

The interment took place at High Halstow on Saturday, August 7th. The Rector (the Rev. T. W. Longfield), officiated and those present included the Vicar of Hoo (the Rev. L. J. Walters), his workmates from the farm, members of the Hoo band of ringers, and Messrs. Allen and Belsey, representing the Kent County Association. Amongst the floral tributes was a wreath from the Hoo ringers and also one from the Rochester District.

After the funeral, Hoo bells were rung half-muffled and a 720 of Bob Minor was successfully accomplished by the following members of the association: F. Boorman, A. Bloxham, W. Easter, F. Belsey, H. Springate, E. A. G. Allen (conductor).

The sympathy of the whole of the Exercise will be extended to the bereaved family. The association can ill afford to lose men of Mr. Hales' calibre.

CHESHIRE AND NORTH WALES TOUR.

To-morrow another peal ringing tour starts, organised by Mr. C. T. Coles. It is in Cheshire and North Wales:—

Reeve 7, T. Wellbourn 8, H. Mance (conductor) 9, A. Williams 10. First quarter-peal of Caters by ringers of 1, 3, 8 and 10.

THE LINCOLNSHIRE TOUR.

SUNDAY AT SURFLEET AND PINCHBECK.

Gosberton Church is very high,
Surfleet Church is all awry,
Pinchbeck Church is in a hole,
And Spalding Church is big with foal.
Local Doggerel.

The morning service on Sunday at St. Lawrence's, Surfleet, was attended by the visitors en bloc, after ringing Cambridge Maximus and Stedman Cinques more or less with success! We received a warm welcome from the Vicar, the Rev. G. H. Clark, and heard a homely sermon with due attention. An old tablet over the stair door—the belfry floor is several feet below the nave owing to tower subsidence—records: 'These bells were new hung in the year of our Lord 1809. The Rev. Sam Elsdale, office minister; Henry Smith, Wm. Baxter, churchwardens.' Although not an ordained minister, he must have made a favourable impression upon the inhabitants of Surfleet, because I found his name upon another stone behind the organ with the heading, 'Many are the friends of the rich,' which states he was a friend of the poor and died aged 83 years. There is a tradition that on the marriage of William Bird and Ann Rose in October, 1801, a wedding peal was rung here by a team of females. North tells us the third bell of the old ring of five was cracked. All was in a very dirty state and the bells seldom used. They were variously dated from 1607 to 1694. From five to ten these bells were augmented by the Rev. Law James—incumbent for 34 years—and other important work carried out in the church, near which he now rests from his labours. Incidentally about 50 years ago I helped him to ring his first peal at Stroud. The Diocesan Guild added the trebles in 1933 'in memoriam' from ringing friends and members, and they are now claimed to be the lightest twelve-bell peal in the Kingdom. Some of our men found they wanted expert 'fickling.'

ST. MARY'S CHURCH, PINCHBECK.

At Glyn Garth hot luncheon was served at 12.20, fourteen sitting round the jovial board to test the efficiency of the sprained wrist of the carver. He got through his duty as host, with Mrs. Richardson's help, but some of the guests—if they stayed in Surfleet—would soon emulate his 'Slim Girth.'

London Surprise at 1.30 p.m. at St. Mary's, Pinchbeck, was affected by some of the Surfleet 'trifle,' and a third 'go,' or helping, was called before settling down to the real method. During the ringing the dull and rough weather seemed to be leaving us; for the remainder of the week it was very enjoyable.

An altar tomb near the chancel, with richly carved panels, to Sir Thomas de Pinchbeck, 1500, a fine roof with shields and carved oak angels are features of the church. On the porch wall is a panel in memory of John Healey, who died 1850, and 27 children buried near, with seven children surviving him. Mr. George Ladd, captain and churchwarden, in the absence of the Vicar, who was on holiday, welcomed us, and was as pleased as myself with the success of the peal.

There is a fine ringing room similar to Heckington but far more steps up to it. This tower leans to the south-west, but not so much as Surfleet. The belfry walls disclose that Matthew Laxton rang a peal of Doubles on the old five bells in 1816. He and his family were vergers here for 124 years. The old bells had no cannons. They were cast by Tobie Norris at various dates from 1624. The tenor was 48 inches diameter. Now there is a good going octave, upon which some 14 peals have been achieved since their restoration. Here is a local smith's belfry candlestick of four arms, similar to that at Surfleet, preserved with the old weather cock and vane when the tower was struck by lightning in 1893. Amongst the church records is the village carpenter's account, in verse, dated 1769:—

Oil for little and great bell,
T'other three went very well	0 1 0
To eating and drinking at the Bell,
For ringing Christmas in so well	0 12 6
To a new pulpit, oak the wood,
As parson Townshend said it should	5 5 0

Returning to Surfleet, service ringing consisted of Grandsire Cinques and Double Norwich Major. After tea a rest, a smoke, a look at Sunday's newspapers and some to a little tennis finished the day's programme before the Cross Keys, Spalding, locked up for the night.

I love ye chimes of Motherland,
With all this soul of mine,
And bless the Lord that I am sprung
Of good old English line!

W. H. Weiss.

To Wisbech. We left the Cross Keys on Monday morning at 9 o'clock upon a bright and promising day, running our cars on level roads that have no boundary, hedgerow or fence, only the deep fen-land dykes, which afford extensive views of the broad acres for miles and lie open to the North Sea breezes. Along these roads I saw here and there quite half a dozen steeples each peeping up above a clump of old trees surrounding the church. The whole landscape is bare in places, only a farmhouse now and then, with a few cottages for the labourers. These steeples, in the morning distance, seemed to offer up an invitation; to ask if we were about to pay them a visit? Amongst our list of 16 there was found the 'Lincolnshire steeple' at 11 of the churches we paid our respects to, and the week's tour could not be extended. At ten of our towers the belfry was on a level with the church, and with a small car one could drive straight into the ringing room, easy going for men who have passed the allotted 'span.' The above verse was selected because I had never visited my mother's native town, so it was a double pleasure to me to ring upon the old church bells she had often listened to about a century ago.

A NOTABLE CHURCH.

SS. Peter and Paul's Church holds a prominent place amongst the notable churches of East Anglia by reason of its large dimensions and extraordinary plan. Beginning with a Norman building of small and obscure origin (some say in the year of 'four ones,' 1111), it has twice been enlarged. Increasing wealth of East Coast woollen trade and a flourishing port on the River Nene created a prosperous market noted for its numerous rich religious guilds.

Controversy arose as to how the various periods of architecture became confused in the construction of the church, which were elucidated by Sir G. Scott L. and the Vicar, Howson, who afterwards became Dean of Chester. The plan of Wisbech Church comprises the following elements: North nave with north aisle, and long north chancel 6ft. wider than the nave; south nave with south aisle, and a short south chancel with a large sacristy beyond it on the east; south porch, west turret and north-west tower.

During Henry VII.'s reign further important alterations and additions were made, the former being necessitated by a partial collapse of the west tower. In 1406 there were ten chantry chaplains serving at Wisbech. There is a large brass, 1401, to the memory of Thomas Brankstone, Constable of Wisbech Castle.

Much of my information is taken from a booklet of the church by P. T. Jones, B.A., in which he also tells us that the present clock was erected in 1866 at a cost of £400 by James Dann as a gift to the town of Wisbech. The belfry of the tower contains a peal of ten fine toned bells cast in 1823 by Dobson, of Downham Market, tenor 21 cwt. 2 qt. 15 lb. The most ancient of the old bells was founded in 1566 and another gave its uses in Latin, translated:

I praise the true God. I summon the people to prayer.
I gather the clergy together. I mourn over the dead.
I drive away pestilence. I add grace to festivities.

My readers will probably agree that such a valuable instrument ought to have been preserved after centuries of six-fold devotion: without the 'ringer' it may as well have been a lump of lead.

LONG SUTTON'S WONDERFUL SPIRE.

Our party surveyed the church and admired a very fine ringing room, easy of access, over the north porch with a useful trap door ventilator in the floor between the two tenor boxes. It has four large windows and old beams across the ceiling which give an impressive air of the 17th century apartments. The tower louvres are fitted with shutters, that save complaints from the professional and business people crowding in the narrow streets around the church. A rare ikon is to be seen, brought from Russia and presented by Mr. Bray.

Mr. Freeman, with the keys, did yeoman service to secure our team a good start, but only one hour of Yorkshire Royal could be accomplished. If I ask the popular question, 'Where's George?' I tell no tales out of school—there were four of them in the attempt. We were pleased to learn that Golden Nolan had paid a successful visit here for a peal the week before, and we found the bells going well, having been rehung by Mears and Stainbank in 1934. The present Vicar, the Rev. H. K. Stallard, is mastering bellringing.

Rather more than two years ago these bells were rededicated by the Rural Dean, when an address was given by the late Rev. B. H. Tyrwhitt-Drake, Rector of Walsoken. The restoration was practically the last undertaking he promoted before meeting with that tragic accident in the grounds of his home that robbed the Exercise of a valuable minister, ringer and librarian.

We rested at the ringers' house, The Griffin, and left at low tide after lunch without seeing the museum, with its valuable collection, lately increased by the generosity of Mr. J. L. Kirk, of Maidenhead, who is a native of Wisbech.

Arriving at St. Mary's, Long Sutton, soon after 3, it was nearly 4 o'clock before the Bristol Major began. We were kindly received by the Rector (the Rev. H. Gorse, late of Warrington), the captain (Mr. J. Smith) and Messrs. Hammond and Burridge. The old six bells here were founded by Henricus Penn, of Peterborough, in 1716. The tenor, 39½ in. in diameter, was cracked when ringing for the funeral of the Rev. R. Leigh Bennett in November, 1886, the last of three Vicars of that name who covered the century 1784-1886. It was recast as a jubilee bell for Queen Victoria in 1887.

In the belfry is a small miniature model of the old bell (made with metal from it) and presented to the church by Mr. James, of Llewellyn and James, Bristol, and has the original inscription reproduced. Messrs. Taylor and Co. made a good job of the two additional trebles, recasting the old six (tenor 15 cwt.) and rehanging the peal in 1935.

Like many of the steeples in Lincolnshire, this spire has suffered from storms and was struck by lightning in 1934. The old weather cock now rests in the belfry. The church is built of stone containing some good work of all the styles of ecclesiastical architecture—Norman, Early English, Decorated, Early and Late Perpendicular, and consists of a chancel, clerestoried nave of seven bays and aisles, north and south porches, a south-west tower, with angle buttresses, rising in the third storey into octagonal turrets, crowned with tall pinnacles and a lofty octagonal timber spire, sheathed in lead, 162ft. high, was added to the church about the time of King John. This tower and spire constitute one of the most remarkable designs of the Early English or Lancet period in the kingdom. From it Boston 'Stump,' 15 miles away, can be seen, and it is the only one which has survived fire and decay. There are but three similar spires in England, and of these St. Mary's is the best example. As recently as 1820 it was proposed to pull down the spire and replace it with a stone one; fortunately the scheme never came into action. Many years previous to this the four arches of the tower were open. They were built up to strengthen the steeple.

From the Register of Castle Acre Priory, it appears that about 1120 Robert de Haye gave a piece of land to the Priory for the purpose of erecting a church at Sutton. The second step in its history occurs about 1180, when William, son of Erneis, caused a new church to be erected.

Three generations of the Winter family have been organists and choirmasters at the church, serving for 125 years. A large flat stone near the chancel has only three words upon it, 'Alas! Poor Bailey.' He was the doctor of the town, who, while visiting a country patient, was foully murdered on a lonely road at night through an error of identification.

Our party 'baited' at the White Horse, although no wind, no water or petrol was required, and we left for Spalding at 7.40. Query, what was the bait?

BELFRY GOSSIP.

News from the front, in Oxfordshire: The first three peals of the 'Bachelors' tour have been rung—at Magdalen College, Oxford; Banbury, and Great Tew, while Adderbury also looked like turning up 'trumps.' When our dispatch left, London had been going well for 2½ hours.

The meeting of the Hnuckley District of the Midland Counties Association at Claybrook on September 18th has been cancelled.

The customary peal attempt on his birthday was denied to Mr. R. T. Woodley, known familiarly as 'Young' Woodley, on his 78th birthday on August 29th. For some years past—six in succession—he has suitably celebrated the event with a peal, but this year he was indisposed. Although he had recovered sufficiently to accompany the Lowestoft ringers on their outing on September 2nd, a peal on August 29th was impossible.

We regret to record the death at Cuckfield, Sussex, on September 1st, of Mr. William Watts, formerly of Stausted, Essex, at the age of 72 years.

SPALDING BELLS.

OUTCOME OF THE FOURTEENTH CENTURY DISPUTE.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—Mr. Fussell, in his article on the Lincolnshire tour, refers to the dispute between the Priory of Spalding and the parishioners, and says the conclusion is not known. I think I can tell him.

The matter was referred to Rome, and in the Papal archives is a copy of a licence, issued by Pope Boniface IX., by which the parishioners are permitted to ring, whenever they please, the bells in the Chapel of St. Thomas, which the Prior and Convent had converted, at no small expense, into a parish church, notwithstanding the agreement made at the time of its building that the parishioners should not ring the bells while the Convent was in dormitory, except for certain solemn feasts and at divers occasions.

But the monks strongly objected to having their sleep at night disturbed by bellringing. They appealed against this licence and got it revoked (July 2nd, 1401). The Pope ordered that in future, at night, after the ringing of the Priory bell went to be rung pro ignitegio (i.e., the curfew) until in the morning it is rung for prime, the bells cannot and shall not without evident necessity be rung in the same church.

The Prior and Convent were directed to build a new church for the parish at a distance from the Priory and across the water (i.e., the River Welland). The parish had to erect its own bell tower, but 'the Priory shall give the parishioners two bells price £20. (This was in 1401, not about 1284 as stated by Mr. Fussell). The parishioners shall not ring in their church at such times as the Convent is reposing in dormitory, except on Christmas Day and night, or for fire, flood or other grave misfortune.'

I have notes of one or two other similar disputes.

I do not quite know what to make of this all night ringing. It was strongly objected to by the monasteries as a nuisance, and later by the Reformers, and was forbidden by royal injunction in 1547 as superstitious. It was done by laymen. Martin Bucer, a famous German and theologian living at Cambridge, wrote about 'a custom still kept up by superstitious men and foolish boys that carry the ringers beer and ale to drink, and that it is against reason to ring all the day time and all the night, too, when they please.'

I think we have here the beginnings of our ringing Exercise.

J. ARMIGER TROLLOPE.

P.S.—Mr. Fussell should not attribute Milton's well-known lines from 'Il Penseroso' to Maxwell.

THE LATE CANON E. C. CORFE.

FOUNDER OF TRURO CATHEDRAL COMPANY.

His many friends in Truro heard with deep regret of the death on August 28th at Pulborough, Sussex, of Canon E. C. Corfe, M.A. He was 85 years of age.

Canon Corfe was Precentor of Truro Cathedral from 1904 to 1930 and was mainly instrumental in the formation of the Truro Cathedral company of ringers in 1910. During the 20 years prior to his retirement he was the representative of the company on the Dean and Chapter and watched the progress of the company with keen interest. In 1929, after his completion of 25 years as Precentor, a peal of Grand-sire Caters was rung at Truro Cathedral in his honour. He was well known and beloved by many Truronians, and his death will be greatly felt by all.

On Tuesday evening, August 31st, a quarter-peal of Grand-sire Triples was rung half-muffled at the Cathedral as a tribute of respect. The ringers were A. Treganowan (first quarter-peal) 1, W. H. Southard 2, C. E. Lanxon (conductor) 3, W. E. Minors 4, H. Williams 5, Rev. W. H. R. Trehwella 6, W. H. Sleeman 7, J. Treloar 8.

A CHANGE OVER.

A 720 Kent Treble Bob Minor was rung at Waltham St. Lawrence for evensong on Sunday. Half-way through the ringer of the third was changed, to give all present the opportunity of a pull: W. Pearson (first 720) 1, A. Pearson (first 720 'inside') 2, J. Cooper, sen., and W. Mortimer 3, V. Darvill 4, J. Darvill 5, T. Tilley (first 720 as conductor) 6.

YORKSHIRE ASSOCIATION.

WESTERN DIVISION RINGING MASTER ELECTED.

The Western Division of the Yorkshire Association held a very successful meeting at Drighlington on Saturday, September 4th, when about 60 members attended from a wide area. This fine old church has contributed more peals for the Yorkshire Association than any other tower. The ringing on Saturday was interrupted for a short time by a wedding which was taking place in the church, and as the happy pair left the ringers suitably honoured the event by a nicely arranged touch of Queen's and Stedman Triples, intermixed with firing.

A splendid tea was served in the schools, at which about 45 members sat down, and this was followed by the business meeting, presided over by the vice-president (Mr. P. J. Johnson) and supported by the association's president, Canon Marshall.

The Chairman intimated that the main business of the meeting was the appointment of a Ringing Master, as this office was still vacant. On the proposition of Mr. T. Kendal, seconded by Mr. W. E. H. Ash, Mr. T. W. Strangeway, of Rothwell, was nominated. Mr. Strangeway consented to accept office, and the Chairman, in welcoming him to the position, said his patience would no doubt be sorely tried, but as he was a married man he was sure that it would be equal to the task (laughter).

Canon Marshall proposed a hearty vote of thanks to the Vicar and wardens for kindly granting the use of the bells and for the welcome which they had accorded to the association.—This was seconded by Mr. Sherwood and carried in the usual cordial manner.

A vote of thanks to the local company for providing tea, and also to the ladies and helpers for so ably assisting, was proposed by Mr. Lofthouse, who said the arrangements were admirable and well deserving of the highest praise.—This was seconded by Mr. Gill and supported by Mr. J. W. T. Holgate.

Mr. Jack Stitson replied for the local company and expressed his pleasure at welcoming the association to Drighlington. As it was 21 years since the last visit, he hoped they would not have to wait so long before the association came again to the tower.

Five new members were elected, viz.: Louis Hollas, Philip Murdoch and Edward Hanson, of Elland; Roy Mann, of Halifax, and Jack Leaver, of Ripponden.

The Chairman reminded the members of the annual Snowdon Dinner, which is to be held at Leeds on October 9th, and hoped that as many as possible would attend. He assured them that a good programme had been arranged, and he was able to say that adequate refreshments would be available at reasonable prices. He also reminded the members that the association's financial year closes this month and that all outstanding subscriptions should be paid before then.

After the meeting ringing continued in a large variety of methods from Plain Bob to Cambridge and Superlative Surprise until after 9 o'clock.

The following towers were represented: Armley, Batley, Bramley, Bradford Cathedral, Bolton (Bradford), Birstall, Burley, Drighlington, Denholme, Elland, Guiseley, Holbeck, Hunslet, Headingley (St. Chad's and St. Michael's), Idle, Keighley, Lindley, Leeds Parish Church, Pudsey, Rothwell, Ripponden, Shipley and Newcastle.

It is hoped to arrange the next meeting at Earlsheaton on December 11th, but an announcement will be made in due course.

DEATH OF MR. JOHN TUKE, SHEFFIELD.

A NARROW ESCAPE RECALLED.

The St. Marie's Company, Norfolk Row, Sheffield, regret to announce the loss of one of their members in the person of Mr. John Tuke, who passed away on September 1st at the age of 66 years. Mr. Tuke began his ringing career when a peal of six was installed at Walkley about 45 years ago, being one of the first company.

He later became a member of the Police Force and had to give up his ringing ambitions for some time.

In the course of his duties he was stabbed in the neck, but fortunately recovered. His assailant was sentenced to a long term of imprisonment and was lucky to escape a more serious charge, for Mr. Tuke's jugular vein was missed by only half an inch.

After serving some years in the force he returned to his employment as a bricklayer, during which he had a fall from a scaffold which resulted in serious spinal injuries. From these he never recovered and had gradually got more infirm with advancing years.

He became a member of the belfry at St. Marie's when the company was re-formed after the Armistice, and was a member of the Yorkshire Association and the Sheffield and District Society. Mr. Tuke had two peals to his credit, but his greatest contribution to ringing was his most punctual and regular attendance as a service ringer.

He was interred on Saturday at Walkley Cemetery in the presence of a large gathering of relatives, friends and ringers. A course of Grand sire Triples was rung at the graveside by four of his colleagues, and the muffled bells of St. Marie's were rung during the evening. The large number of beautiful wreaths sent was a proof of the respect in which the deceased was held.

He leaves a widow, son and two daughters to mourn his passing.

COMPETITIVE RINGING.

EXPERIENCES IN DEVON.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—I have just come back from my holiday to find three copies of 'The Ringing World' waiting for me, and, much as I had looked forward to reading them, I had no idea that I should find anything so welcome as your leading article, 'Improve the Standard of Ringing.' As my friends know, I am a keen advocate of competitions as a means to this end, and your article sets out an unanswerable case in their favour.

In far too many towers a poor striker is rarely reproved, unless he makes a series of really vicious blows, and scores of ringers have never been trained to listen to their own bell (I have often wondered what possible enjoyment a poor striker can derive from ringing). The contrast between this state of affairs and that in districts where competitions are held is remarkable.

I may, perhaps, here mention that this summer I had the pleasure of introducing to call-change ringing in North Devon a well-known College Youth, who has helped to make history for the Ancient Society, and whose dislike of poor striking is as keen as your own. Apart from the lack of open leads, which sounded strangely to his ears, he was delighted with what he found: the almost mechanical accuracy of the striking, the instant reproof by the captain of the band of the slightest irregularity, and the general air of keenness which filled the belfry. He himself rang the tenor to a 'peal,' and he tells me that he will always be proud of the compliment paid him afterwards by the local captain, who was quite unaware of his visitor's reputation. On his way home from his holiday he fell in with a touring band and rang a course of Surprise Major with them. He could not help comparing the quality of the striking with that which he had experienced in the depths of 'Stoney' Devon. There is no need for me to say which way the verdict went.

That competitions are largely responsible for the keenness with which Devon call-change ringers listen to their striking cannot be doubted. I wish that your correspondent, C. F. J., had been with me at the Barnstaple Deanery Festival, held at Atherington a few weeks ago. Several of the competing bands brought their incumbents with them, and the value of competitions was stressed by the Vicar of the parish in his address. The very friendliest atmosphere prevailed throughout the day, and no one was heard to question the judges' verdict. When this had been delivered, the local band, who were debarred by rule from competing, entered the belfry and gave an exhibition of their skill, which a few weeks previously had won for them the six-bell shield in a competition open to the whole county. C. F. J. will be interested to learn that they have attained this eminence, not by discouraging the youth of the village—a very small one—from learning to ring. There are no less than 17 members of the band, every one of whom is given his turn on practice night. Nor is Atherington unique in this respect. Two and sometimes three bands from one tower frequently enter for these competitions.

I sincerely hope that your article will stimulate the interest it deserves. I am convinced that if once the idea took practical shape it would spread with rapid popularity and result in a great improvement in striking generally.

'A HOPELESS CASE.'

Dear Sir,—'C. F. J.' does not say what competitive country he lives in, but he makes me sigh, for his is a hopeless case. I find more stigma in his article than I have found in or around any competition I have taken part in and I am sure that any other competitor will think the same. His letter makes me wonder if he has heard a really good and inspired ring. I would like him, before he writes another article condemning competition ringing and its effects afterwards (and not temporary), to come within the area of Huddersfield Association and visit a few towers. I am sure he will be given the feeling that we do really care for each other and that no selfishness is created.

I appeal to 'C. F. J.' and all ringers for a better understanding with each other and of the bells.

NORFOLK AND SUFFOLK RINGERS MEET.

A joint meeting of the Eastern Branch of the Norwich Diocesan Association and the Suffolk Guild was held at Bungay and Ditchingham, adjoining parishes on the border line of the two associations' territory, on Saturday. Early in the afternoon the recently restored peal of six at Ditchingham and the eight at Bungay were set going, and ringing continued at both towers in most of the standard methods until late in the evening, except for an interval for tea.

A gathering of about 30 members sat down to an enjoyable meal at Bungay, where the Vicar (the Rev. W. E. Harper) paid a short visit and welcomed the ringers.

The thanks of the ringers are tendered to both incumbents for their permission to ring at their respective towers, to Mr. H. Barrell, of Bungay, for having the bells in readiness and for arranging the tea, and to Mr. C. Woods for having everything ready at Ditchingham.

BOB TRIPLES.

PLAIN BOB AND GRANDSIRE THE SAME METHOD.

To the Editor.

Sir,—When one begins to teach change ringing, the first step is the 'six'—the changes on three bells. First on paper, then on handbells and then on tower bells—by themselves, and then with a covering bell or bells.

The 'eight' on four bells follows, and the 'picture,' seen by the beginner, is compared, row by row, with that seen on the 'six.'

The 'four and twenty' on four bells follows, and until the beginner has mastered this thoroughly—hunting, place-making and dodging—he should not be allowed to go further. Moreover, he will also learn to strike his bell well. He should be taught striking while learning the 'six,' but he probably will not be able to strike well till he has mastered the 'four and twenty.'

His next step will be the plain course of Grandsire Doubles, and he should notice that this is exactly the same piece of ringing as the four and twenty, except that there are two bells in the hunt instead of one. The coursing order and the order of 'duty' of corresponding bells, will be the same: the 'picture' (or 'ropesight') of corresponding rows in each will be the same; and if he can 'strike' the one well he will be able to 'strike' the other equally. All through Grandsire Doubles he will look on the treble and the bell in the hunt as one indivisible entity, which cannot be separated till a call is made.

The step from this to Plain (usually called Plain Bob) Minor will now be seen to be the same as from the Six to the Four and Twenty. There will be another step when the same changes are rung with two hunts, and the method is now called Grandsire Triples; because the name is changed it does not now mean that the method is changed.

It ought not to be necessary to have any intermediate method between this and Plain Major. If Plain Triples be rung, it should only be a course or so, for the sake of practice, and never for a peal. It should be made clear to beginners that this is only a variation, not a new method, and not a variation to be encouraged.

What is to be emphasised is that all these are one and the same method.

HERBERT DRAKE.

PLAIN BOB MORE BENEFICIAL TO BEGINNERS.

Sir,—My thanks to the boys who rang the course of Bob Triples at St. Mary's, Staines, on August 28th. I was amused when I read of the performance, and regret I was not present to hear those wicked four blows coming up at every lead-end. I hope they enjoyed it.

In any case, it was something fresh to those who had never heard it before, and, as my friends were 'experts,' their striking must have been perfect, and it is likely the listeners may have thought the music not so very awful as it has been made out to be.

But I did not intend the subject to go so far as it already has. I have never said Bob Triples is superior to Grandsire. Nor have I stated it should be substituted for Grandsire in service ringing.

There are always those who will deliberately misconstrue a fellow's meaning and cause unnecessary argument and waste of space in columns that could be used to better advantage.

In my humble way I said I thought it more beneficial to a learner to begin change ringing by being taught Plain Bob first.

Let it not be thought I wish to 'ram' Bob Triples down anyone's throat. I merely support the method on account of its construction being on the Plain Bob principle.

To be quite candid, I (like a few more) prefer to hear the tenor 'in.' That's all.

CECIL W. PIPE.

GRANDSIRE A 'CONVENTION.'

Dear Sir,—I was interested to read Mr. C. A. Levett's reply to my letter. He will doubtless agree with me when I say that the purpose of church bells is principally a Sunday one, but if he will agree with me when I say that Sunday service ringing should also be made as interesting as possible, then I will explain why I advocate Plain Bob rather than Grandsire.

If we are going to make ringing as interesting as possible, the sooner a ringer is started on even bell methods the sooner will he become interested. Once a beginner has mastered Plain Bob, it is not a very big step to Treble Bob, Double Norwich and the Surprise methods. But I think I should be correct in saying that to jump from Grandsire to Treble Bob would be rather difficult. What, then, is the intermediate step? Obviously our old friend Plain Bob on six, seven or eight bells. Why, therefore, should a learner waste a considerable time learning Grandsire and Stedman when he can go straight to Plain Bob, the path to those 'illimitable realms,' to use your words in the last issue of 'The Ringing World.'

I think I can prove that, generally speaking, those who commence on an even-bell method are better strikers and quicker to pick up advanced methods than those who start with the conventional Grandsire. I have visited over 30 counties for ringing, and the three best counties for striking, in my opinion, are Yorkshire, Norfolk and Suffolk, and in these counties even-bell ringing is usually the standard fare.

I said previously that I thought Grandsire a 'blind alley method.' I still do, though Mr. Levett mentions the Central Council book on Triple methods. The majority of these are merely Minor methods

MARRIAGE OF MR. M. A. NORTHOVER.
A WELL-KNOWN SURREY RINGER.

Mr. Maurice A. Northover, a well-known member of the Surrey Association and treasurer of the Reigate Society, was married at Reigate Parish Church on Wednesday of last week to Miss Gladys Mary Frost, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Frost, of Reigate.

Mr. Northover is a member of a family long connected with business circles in Reigate and has taken an active part in the public and social life of the town, as well as in numerous organisations associated with the Parish Church. The happy event, therefore, aroused much local interest.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, was attended by three bridesmaids, and Mr. Douglas A. Northover was best man. The Rev. O. C. McDowell Morgan, Vicar of Billesden, Leicestershire, and formerly curate at Reigate Parish Church, a very old friend of the bride and bridegroom, officiated at the service, which was fully choral and included the hymn, 'Love divine,' and Parry's anthem, 'Jerusalem.'

The bells rang merrily in honour of the occasion, and after the ceremony a reception, attended by a large number of guests, was held at Hillbrow.

with a bell in the hunt added and are much better rung as Major methods. When one is rung it is usually simply to claim 'first in the method'—they never become popular.

Anyway, my whole argument can be put in a single sentence—why waste time learning odd bell methods, when, before any advanced even bell method can be rung, Plain Bob must be learnt? Why not start with Plain Bob right away? The existing convention is like taking a turning off a main road and rejoining the road two miles later. In ringing language it is generally two years later that the beginner finds himself on the path to success.

STEPPING STONE TO CHAOS.

Dear Sir,—Having had a few colts through my hands at various times, may I be permitted one little bark up the 'odd-num-even tree'? I think most instructors will support me when I say that the colt's chief trouble is not hunting up, but getting down to lead again after the whole pull behind. This being so, I have had a fair measure of success in this problem by emphasising the work from behind and easing the burden of counting by taking the bells in pairs (quite as orthodox as counting in whole pulls). Thus—Grandsire Triples 6-7 down, dodge with your first bell: 4-5 down, pass one pair and dodge with the next; Bob Major, 7-8 down, as 6-7 in Grandsire, 5-6 down as 4-5 in Grandsire, 3-4 down pass two pairs, etc. So perhaps Grandsire does lead us somewhere after all, whereas to try and instil into the mind of a colt the unorthodox action of striking one bell for luck before he starts on his hunt proper is going to lead him 'up the garden'—5-6 down after 7th's place is about as helpful as teaching him to dodge 2-3 up, and, besides, it 'isn't done.' Ring Bob Triples by all means, for a change, for a few 'stars,' or even for a lark, but for heaven's sake keep the colt (at least until he has found his feet) off the stepping stone—to chaos.

FRANCIS 'COMES A CROPPER.'

MATHEMATICIAN DISPOSES OF SOME OF HIS ARGUMENTS.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—In the last issue of 'The Ringing World' is a letter by one Francis Bacon, in which a number of points are raised relative to the knowledge or lack of same on the part of certain members of the Exercise with whom your correspondent is acquainted. It is, however, unfortunate that the writer of the letter does not follow in the footsteps of his more famous deceased namesake and search more diligently after truth, as not all the points which he treats are the fallacies which he apparently believes them to be. Thus if we take them in order:—

I quite agree with him when he says that most ringers would say that the more a bell is tucked up the faster it will swing, but most would, mentally at any rate, qualify the statement so as not to include the case when the bell is so far tucked up as to be balanced in any position, when its motion will obviously be sluggish in the extreme. To go further and say when this slowing down will begin to occur is, I grant, beyond the powers of the majority of the Exercise, not, however, on the grounds of lack of brains or of intelligence, but solely as a result of a lack of a sufficiency of mathematical training which can occur from a variety of causes, few of which reflect on the person affected. The fact that the majority would say that a bell does swing more rapidly when tucked up is, indeed, a proof that the average ringer is not without intellectual powers, as the effect of tucking a bell up is that stated in the majority of cases and the correlation of observations in this manner is true science.

Without going into the matter deeply it will be sufficient to say that the time taken for a bell to swing can be represented by an equation of the form—

$$T = C \sqrt{\frac{h + k^2}{h}}$$

Where C is a constant for any given set of conditions; including size of wheel, strength of pull, angle through which pull is effected (i.e., length of pull), and angle through which the bell is swinging.

h is the distance of the centre of gravity from a line joining the centres of the gudgeons.

k is the radius of gyration of the bell about a line through its centre of gravity parallel with the line joining the gudgeons.

This time will have a minimum value when $(k^2 + h^2)/h$ is a minimum, i.e., when

$$\frac{d}{dh} \left[h + \frac{k^2}{h} \right] = 0$$

Performing the differentiation, we get

$$1 - k^2/h^2 = 0$$

so that there is a minimum value of the time when $k=h$. Now the value of k is constant for any given bell, so that, as bells are usually hung so that k is less than h, any decrease in h leads to a decrease in the time of swing. Therefore, Francis seems to have been objecting to truth.

In the second case with regard to the purpose of using a box for ringing a tenor or other heavy bell, I have never heard anyone suggest that there is any difference with regard to the pulling of the bell, but there is a reason why one should be used, which I think is quite generally recognised, and it might pay Mr. Bacon to ascertain it.

With regard to the third point, it seems to be merely commonsense which he is attacking, unless he is one of those talented ringers who can set his bell at both strokes when ringing and still strike his bell properly.

When he attacks the Exercise with respect to the time a bell takes to swing when equipped with different sized wheels he again 'comes a cropper' as the following argument will show.

As before, the time of swing is given by equation (1), so that, if we investigate the various points of difference which occur in the two cases, we can say with certainty what will happen on changing the size of the wheel.

Assume first of all that no difference occurs with regard to the pull on the bell, either as to weight or distribution over the angle through which the bell has swung, then, as increasing the diameter of the wheel cannot alter the value of h owing to the mirror symmetry of the wheels, we have where A is a new constant involving C and h.

Hence the time will be directly proportional to k, and as the moment of inertia of a large wheel is greater than that of a small wheel, then k, for the system bell+large wheel, is greater than that of the system bell+small wheel, and the times of swing are, therefore, in the same ratio.

With regard to the assumption that has been made with regard to the distribution of pull, it can readily be demonstrated that the effect of any difference is in the same direction. Thus a man ringing his bell properly makes a steady pull from the extent of his easy reach to somewhere in the neighbourhood of his waist. Let this pull be X pounds weight and the distance through which the pull is made be y feet, then the work done is Xy foot pounds. In the case of a bell with a wheel s feet in diameter this work is impressed on the system while the bell moves through an angle of y/s radians, whereas if the wheel is as feet in diameter the angle will be only y/as radians, so that in this case the bell will be accelerated to a greater extent in the early part of its swing with a corresponding decrease in the time of this part of its swing.

Points (e) and (f) of his letter are matters of opinion, and, as Mr. Bacon does not indicate the method of cutting out the slow in Treble Bob Major to which he refers, it is impossible to discuss it.

With regard to the last point of his letter, Francis again has made an unfortunate choice of an example, as there is a difference in the two ways of making tea as may be shown experimentally. The purpose of putting milk in tea is usually said to be to remove the 'tannin', but, whatever the truth of this statement, the fact remains that prior to the addition of the milk the tea is clear, but immediately on the addition of the milk it goes cloudy, owing to the presence of small globules of fat and small particles of solid matter derived from the 'tannin' and the various constituents of the milk. Now, if the tea was the same if prepared by the two methods we should expect to have equal numbers of these suspended particles in a given volume of the tea; whereas it is an experimental fact that the numbers are not the same, so it is possible that some people can detect the difference by means of taste, which, after all, is only another experimental method. Again F. B., after having left school a few more years, might find himself linked to another for life who would probably insist on him putting in the milk first, merely for the sake of preserving her best china, and he would find then that he could not give up matrimony to associate with the intelligentsia, which might cause him to say the word he does not appear to have the moral courage to write.

G. WILFRED SLACK, B.Sc., Ph.D.

The University, Leeds.

P.S.—I wonder if it would be considered impertinent if one asked how fast F. B. progressed with his ringing and suggest that before he casts the mantle of a ringer from him that he does something requiring a little intelligence, a little work and a little originality, and would suggest that he tried composing a peal of Stedman Triples, say, an exact two part with only two singles.

TOO DEVASTATING TO PASS UNCHALLENGED.

Dear Sir,—Writing in this week's 'Ringing World', Mr. Francis Bacon states that he is giving up ringing because he likes to associate with intelligent people, and gives a number of reasons, from which, I presume, he draws his conclusion that ringers are not intelligent people. This is rather a devastating criticism for us ringers to allow to pass unchallenged. Looking through the reasons given by Mr. Bacon, I fail to see in them—such, no doubt, is my lack of intelligence—any indication of ringers' alleged shortage of brains!

Take one instance only—reason (b), 'That if you stand on a box to ring a tenor, you get a better pull than if you stand on the floor.' Perhaps Mr. Bacon will enlighten me in what way this displays a lack of intelligence on the part of the ringer. The reason, I have always thought, that one stands on a box to ring a tenor is because the larger wheel employed necessarily takes up the rope higher as the bell swings, and consequently the average ringer would not be able to reach the rope at backstroke if he stood on the floor. What that has got to do with a lack of intelligence, I utterly fail to understand!

I will not analyse any of the other reasons given by Mr. Bacon, as none of them will 'hold water.'

The real reason Mr. Bacon is giving up ringing is most probably because he originally approached the art in the wrong frame of mind, and has now ceased to find any interest in it. Or is it, perhaps, that his intelligence is such that he is able to grasp 'Spiced Surprise' at a glance, and, therefore, finds ringing too easy to engage his attention to its full capacity?

LIVERPOOL RINGERS' EXCURSION.

WREXHAM AND CHESTER CATHEDRAL.

A most enjoyable trip was undertaken by the St. Nicholas', Liverpool, ringers on their annual outing. The party of 12 left Birkenhead soon after noon for Wrexham, where they were met by Messrs. Catherall and Jones. Touches of Stedman and Grandsire Caters and a course of Cambridge Major were enjoyed on this fine peal of bells, which hang in a magnificent tower, rightly described as one of the glories of Wales. From there bus was taken to Holt, where was found a nice peal of six. Several methods were rung here prior to walking to Farnon on the English side of the River Dee. Messrs. Richards and Mee had made arrangements for the visit to this tower, and the touches on this very pleasant peal of eight were much enjoyed. It was a matter for regret that the party had to leave for Chester immediately after tea owing to the infrequent bus services, for Farnon is a particularly attractive village, the riverside adding to its fascination. Mr. J. Swindley met the visitors on their arrival in Chester, where they were privileged to ring on the Cathedral bells recently augmented to ten. Several touches were rung, in which Messrs. Swindley and Harris took part. The visitors were pleased to meet Mr. J. Flint, of Bolsover, who they were glad to see had recovered from a recent injury. They were pleased also to have the company of Mr. J. C. E. Simpson to the station, and regretted he had been unable to accompany them to the various towers. The Liverpool men are much indebted to the clergy and local ringers at each place visited for meeting them and making the half-day so very pleasurable.

DON'T SCRUB YOUR HANDS!

skin this simple way*

To many people, the problem of getting the hands really clean without harming the skin is a serious one. Grease and grime, which become deeply ingrained into the pores of the skin, are extremely difficult to remove, and ordinary washing with soap or even scrubbing will fail to remove them completely. Housewives, particularly, who complain that their hands get ruined by the nature of their work, will find the preparation called DERMAFOAM, a real "godsend." DERMAFOAM just smooths away dirt and grease without effort. It gets right down into the pores and removes every particle of grime, leaving skin beautifully supple and healthy.

Men, too—when you've finished that dirty job on the car, DERMAFOAM will quickly banish all grease and oil from your hands. It acts almost magically—working under and around the nails and into every minute crease, removing all trace of dirt in a flash.

Engineers, Painters, Car Mechanics, Printers — everyone — will welcome DERMAFOAM, the modern method of cleansing and protecting the hands.

THE ART OVERSEAS.

The art of change ringing in places overseas has never had other than a precarious footing, and, much as ringers in this country would like to see it fostered and flourish, there seem to be such innumerable difficulties that, up to the present, it has done little more than raise its head in a place or two and droop again. In Melbourne alone has it had any long continued survival, for, while there may be a few other places about the world outside these islands where the bells have been more or less frequently rung, only in this Australian city has the practice of change ringing been maintained through the years. In other parts of the Commonwealth, in America and the far West of Canada, in South Africa and New Zealand the plant, carried from the old country by ringers who have gone out to seek their fortune in the distant places, has blossomed after much labour, only to fade almost, and in some cases entirely, away.

The reasons, of course, are not far to seek. In those great lands the men are widely scattered; the towers are, for the most part, still more widely separated, and nowhere, except perhaps in and around Sydney, N.S.W., and Boston, U.S.A., is there any group of towers within practicable reach of each other. What isolated bands there are have to be dependent entirely upon their own unaided efforts, and it is not surprising that their interest and enthusiasm evaporates in time, and an effort, courageously made, flickers out, for want of help and encouragement.

In a letter elsewhere in this issue the question of what can be done to stimulate and assist these lone companies is discussed by one who has had real experience of the adverse conditions under which they carry on. Mr. A. E. F. Trotman has seen the difficulties which confront those who are seeking to establish change ringing in Western Canada, and he asks what can be done by ringers in this country to help. Visits such as that paid to Australia three years ago serve to raise local enthusiasm, but the effect lacks real permanency. Moreover, such organised visits cannot be made with the frequency necessary to keep the interest alive; distance, time and expense are all too great. And yet it ought to be possible to devise some means of keeping in touch and carrying on instructional work greater than exists at present. The pioneer work, such as was done by Mr. I. J. Attwater at Kent School, Connecticut, and is now being put in in a ladies' school in New South Wales by Miss Kynaston, cannot be overrated. It is the most practical means of spreading knowledge and interest and, although these pupils may eventually settle in places where they are unable to continue practice, one never knows what seeds may be planted and eventually bear fruit. THE LINCOLNSHIRE TOUR.

A HOLBEACH PUZZLE.

Holbeach and Fulney towers, not far away, were our venue for Tuesday. The two steeplekeepers were faithfully waiting to receive the party at the respective churches. Holbeach has a very handsome church, dedicated to All Saints, with an exceedingly fine battlemented tower with inset tall spire. A framed panel tells us the electric lighting was in memoriam George Lamb, 48 years organist at this church. Another frame gives the list of approximate dates of the several parts of the building: Nave and aisles 1340, chancel 1355, clerestory 1380, tower and spire 1380, turret of north porch 1526. The tower and spire was restored in 1932.

Looking from the chancel down the nave to the west, the general view of the interior is equal to that of the reverse direction. A bold, lofty arch open to the nave; a ground floor ringing room; three immense windows (that to the west filled with stained glass); a bold stone groined ceiling with the ropes falling in a circle in the centre of the room with their coloured sallies, altogether form a unique picture.

Whilst we were ringing people came to look round the church, forgetting the spring latch on the north door, which closed with a loud bang as each visitor left. 'Go, Lincoln,' was called at 9.57 a.m. by the bold belfry clock. At one o'clock the conductor had the misfortune to call out 'Set 'em up!' How the bells went into a 'heap' after safe ringing for so long is a Holbeach puzzle.

The bells, musical and in excellent order, are a pleasure to handle and listen to. North describes them as a fine ring of bells in perfect time. In his day the inscriptions told of a ring of eight, cast in 1770 by Joseph Eayre (with two of the old bells of 1648 retained). The tower is in E flat and 45 in. diameter. In 1776 the clock and chimers were installed, and amongst nine items played on the bells, 'Ladies of London' and 'Lady Chatham's Jig' are mentioned.

Owing to the Vicar being on holiday, the local captain, Mr. F. Lightning, and Mr. F. W. Bennett met us, and offered condolence at our sad loss, but did not remind us that 'sweet are the uses of adversity.'

INTERESTING BELLS AT FULNEY.

St. Paul's, Fulney, the church of the flowers, was found to be a modern building, the foundation stone laid in 1877, with vicarage, schools and endowment similar to All Saints', Maidenhead. It stands prominent beside the main road, upon a sector of the county somewhat above the usual level of the fen areas, and it is noted for the fertility of its soil. In season many acres of brightly coloured blooms from bulb cultivation are a striking feature of the landscape. In this belfry J. G. Ames learnt to ring, and it was the favourite of the late Law James. Here we were met by the Rev. J. E. Callister (Vicar) and Mr. A. Farr, and the peal of Cambridge duly scored. These bells are interesting from the fact that they were cast at Shepherd Lane, Brixton, London, by the firm of T. C. Lewis and Co. and hung in substantial cast-iron cradles. They were presented by Miss Charlotte Charinton, the foundress of the church, who gave the site, built the church and schools and endowed it.

All reported at headquarters at an earlier hour than usual and compared notes—Rupert Richardson with 260 miles added to his 'taxi' after driving his daughter to her girl guide camp in Yorkshire.

The visit to Lincoln on Wednesday provided a big day, with 50 miles to travel via Sleaford and Walesby. On this route we had an agreeable change of scenery, with hedgerows and big timber at the roadside, and, as we climbed the hills, beautiful views of the district with the distant Cathedral crowning its valleys.

All Saints', Walesby, is a time-worn mellow old church, upon an eminence, which necessitated empty cars for the last quarter-mile. The whole place is reminiscent of West Wycombe, or the Welsh churches by Brecon. The building consists of a western tower, nave and chancel in line, north and south aisles and a south porch. During repairs in 1931 examination revealed the ancient stairs to the rood loft, which were replaced in 1933, in lieu of the remnants of the original of 1566, that had been burnt, portions being used to repair the church benches. The isolated position of All Saints' probably saved its destruction, as proposed when erecting a new church in the rapidly growing under part of the parish.

First peal of Major on the bells.

The three ancient bells of 1553 did duty at the new church for about 20 years. They form a useful little octave to-day, after additions, and restored fittings, by Mears and Stainbank in 1935.

In the absence of Rector Arnold, we were met by the Rev. N. S. Harding, the promoter of the bell restoration, who also took a rope with us, and Mr. J. Freeman, of Lincoln. After a good peal of Superlative Major, during which the conductor must have recalled North Stoneham we left All Saints' crouching upon its mount as if to defy the North Sea storms and the unkind efforts of time and mankind.

LINCOLN CATHEDRAL.

'And when evening shadows soften
Churchyard-cross, and tower, and aisle;
These shall blend their vesper summons
With the day's departing smile.'

At Ashton-under-Lyne, 1871.

We pulled up at 3 o'clock on the north side of the Cathedral, scarcely realising the gradient of the winding roads up through the older parts of the city surrounding the venerable pile. A nearer view of this magnificent building impressed one with its huge proportions: its monster central tower, its wonderful west-front and the remarkably good material preservation of the whole structure. This Cathedral stands pre-eminent among the many cathedral churches of Great Britain, besides being one of the most ancient. Ruskin said that it was worth two of any others and that it was out and out the most precious piece of architecture in the British Isles.

We went 'down' to luncheon at Boots' establishment via the Exchequer Gate, down Steephill, which cars never use, past the house of Aaron the Jew, said to be the richest man in England in the reign of Henry II., and another, belonging to a Jewess, Balaset of Wallingford, who was hanged in 1200 for debasing the King's coin. Down, down until my knees went over a bit, into the High Street that connects with Ermine Way, a Roman thoroughfare. The Newport Gate, and part of the town wall, is the oldest Roman arch in Britain, built some time before A.D. 45, the walls of the city enclosing some 40 acres on the crown of the hill.

Under the guidance of brother Lindoff (a resident here 40 years ago) the half-dozen tourists not ringing in the morning were able to explore many more historical features.

At 4 p.m. we were all united again at the west front, listening to two deep-toned bells tolling for evensong, joined by Mr. Freeman (tower warden) and others, and kindly shown the way in, through the Ringers' Chapel, up the south-west 'Hugh' tower to the handsome ringing room.

So much of the early story of our art is included that the book will appeal to every ringer.

Many events in the first two centuries of ringing are reconstructed in the light of information gathered from researches among old manuscripts, and men, for generations known by name only, become personalities of interest.

A MODEL RESTORATION.

There followed the usual preliminary proceedings, and when all was ready 'Go, Stedman,' was called. Very little was said afterwards until 'This is all' by the conductor, when a most enjoyable performance became a thing of the past and with no errors to regret.

Like Ipswich tower, if you cannot ring well at St. Hugh's there must be something below first-class standard at the rope's end, because circle, draught, light and sound give testimony to a first-class piece of workmanship.

This restoration scheme constitutes a model for other church authorities to learn and profit by. Bellfounder, architect and engineer have all combined to secure perfection. Its recent completion has been so fully reported in 'The Ringing World' that further reference to it now is unnecessary, except to add that the 'Lewis paneling' in the ringing chamber will be an everlasting tribute to the science of its inventor.

As our team were leaving the room an active dozen of strapping young men of the Cathedral company congratulated us and kindly offered to lower the bells in peal. As listeners outside this was a real treat to us all. An excellent fall, the rich notes of the bells echoing across the green forecourt, with a full moon peeping over the ancient houses opposite, roused personal feelings and emotions not easily described in cold print.

Ye ancient ringers' house, The Black Boy, near the Hugh tower, has been converted into a private residence. It has been the scene of many a Christmas and New Year's gathering and patronised by past ringers whose names are in black letters on the tower walls to-day. It once possessed a 'Jack,' or black leather jug, which for centuries distilled sweet sustenance, but is now an object of veneration in the City Museum. However, another ancient hostelry, the Black Horse, housed us until 10 o'clock, when our party left to enjoy a moonlight drive back to Spalding.

'Dark grow the windows, and quench'd is the fire;

Sound fades into silence, all footsteps retire.

No voice in the chambers, no sound in the hall!

Sleep and oblivion reign over all.'

FOREMAN RINGER MARRIED.

In honour of the wedding of Mr. F. Honey, foreman of the local band, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Doubles (1,260 changes) was rung at Sunningwell, Berks, on Saturday, September 4th: R. White 1, F. Clinkard 2, J. Nobes (conductor) 3, C. Betteridge 4, W. Cudd 5, J. Wilks 6.

THE LATE MR. WILLIAM WATTS.

CLOSE OF A LONG RINGING CAREER.

Mr. William Watts, who, as already briefly mentioned in our columns, passed away at the age of 72 years on September 1st, began his ringing career about 50 years ago in the Eastern Counties, and was for long a ringer at Staunsted, Essex. He rang many peals for the Essex and Norwich Diocesan Associations.

He migrated to Sussex in 1918 and joined the band at Lindfield. He went to Lower Beeding in 1923, and after retiring in 1936 lived at Cuckfield, where he died. He was an ever-ready helper in any district in which he resided, and in the mid-Sussex area will be greatly missed.

He was an excellent ringer and conductor and had called 104 of his 228 peals; in fact, he had called peals in all the methods he had rung except Bob Royal, Grandsire and Stedman Caters and Court Bob Triples. In some methods, among them London and Bristol Surprise, he had called all he had rung. Appended is his list of peals, as far as they can be ascertained.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

His friends will regret to hear that Mr. W. D. Smith was suddenly taken ill while in Eastbourne on Saturday. He was removed to his home in Folegate, where latest reports indicate, we are pleased to say, satisfactory progress.

Mr. Smith is one of the oldest members of the College Youths. He was Master first in 1891 and again in 1903 and 1904. He was for years connected with the ringing at Hackney.

Congratulations will be extended by the Exercise to Alderman J. S. Pritchett, Master of St. Martin's Guild, and Mrs. Pritchett, of Hill Top, King's Norton, on the celebration of their golden wedding day on Tuesday.

There is to be a meeting of the Warwickshire Guild at Lawford, near Rugby, to-morrow, and a quarterly meeting at Stratford-on-Avon on October 16th.

The Durham and Newcastle Diocesan Association celebrates its diamond jubilee this year, and particulars of the arrangements for the annual meeting and dinner on September 25th will be found in our notice columns.

Mr. E. Barnett, of Crayford, writes: Your remarks in 'Peal Notes' about 'circling a tower' has reminded me of Mr. J. R. Sharman, of Cogenhoe, Northants, whose record in this, I should imagine, is unique. At Easter, in the years 1901-2-4-5, he visited Quex Park, Birchington, rang 12 peals in 12 attempts, and each on a different bell.

MELBOURNE CATHEDRAL SOCIETY.

CHANGE OF HON. SECRETARY.

Mr. A. A. Savage has resigned the hon. secretaryship of the St. Paul's Cathedral Society, Melbourne, Australia, which he has filled since 1925. Mr. Savage, who learned to ring at Turvey, Beds, first migrated to Australia in 1912, served in the Great War, and returned to Australia in 1919, but it was not until 1924 that he joined the Cathedral Society. He has done splendid work as secretary and his resignation is much regretted.

He is succeeded in the office by Mr. J. Roper, one of the younger members of the society.

Recently the society has received an influx of 'recruits,' four young men and one young lady having joined. It is hoped that this acquisition of strength will ensure the maintenance of ringing at the Cathedral.

OLD BELL METHODS HELP BEGINNERS.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—Mr. Cannon may have visited over 30 counties for ringing, but it is evident, from the conclusions he draws, he has never been to Birmingham. When he does come to 'grab' a few towers round that district, he will be able to hear striking equalled by very few bands. And, sir, may I point out to him that, in that home of Stedman, most of the ringing is done in odd bell methods.

In my humble opinion, good striking can only be obtained when the bells lead correctly, and how can the beginner do this when the bell he has to lead off is constantly changing?

BOB TRIPLES.

THE BIGGEST WORRY.

To the Editor.

Sir,—It is not my intention, nor do I wish to waste valuable space in 'The Ringing World' by entering into a lengthy correspondence with Mr. A. P. Cannon. The letters by Messrs. H. Drake, C. W. Pipe and T. Groombridge should effectively silence him (if that is possible). He has failed to grasp the meaning of my letter. I will say again that if a band is not strong enough for Major, stick to Triples. The Triples methods, he says, are merely Minor with a bell in the hunt added. That may be, but the fact remains they are Triples. By taking Bob Minor and adding a hunt bell we get Grandsire Triples. The so-called Bob Triples are not Triples at all. I call it Plain Bob spoilt.

If ever Mr. A. P. Cannon takes up Sunday ringing he will find his biggest worry is not how best to get a learner on to Surprise, but how to keep his bells ringing at all.

FRANCIS BACON REPLIES.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—My thanks to Dr. Slack. His equations are better than crossword puzzles. But why should he recommend me to try to compose a peal of Stedman Triples in two exact parts with only two singles? Surely any person of average intelligence can see at a glance that that is impossible. It cannot be that Dr. Slack does not see it.

Mr. Daniel's reason for using a box when ringing a tenor is delightful. Personally, I have usually found that the best thing to do when one cannot reach a bell at backstroke is to lengthen the rope.

FRANCIS BACON.

RINGING IN DISTANT LANDS.

AN APPEAL FOR HELP FOR THE ART OVERSEAS.

To the Editor.

Sir,—Your article in 'The Ringing World' of September 3rd on 'Australian Lady Ringers' and the excellent work being done among them by Miss Joan H. Kynaston is a timely one, and raises important questions for the ringer who is interested in 'Empire ringing.' Quite recently, also, we have read of the dedications of new peals at Victoria, British Columbia, and at Hobart, Tasmania, and of the training of boys at both places to ring them.

What is to happen to these new and isolated companies of ringers? Are they to be left to their own fate in their struggle for existence, or are they going to receive active encouragement and support from their richly endowed brothers in the 'old country'? The task of keeping the bells rung in this country is hard enough, especially in some country districts. But it is infinitely harder in a dominion tower. It usually depends on the goodwill of the few 'immigrant' ringers who happen to be in the neighbourhood. The training of native sons and daughters usually ends in complete failure, partly because of the lack of tradition and the 'pull' of counter-attractions, but chiefly because of a dearth of fresh towers and ringers with whom the keen youngster can associate. His early enthusiasm soon flags, and there is no peal ringing to act as an incentive to higher effort.

It would seem that the least we can do is to ensure visiting ringers from the Dominions a hearty welcome and plenty of instructive practice. The impression made by her visit on Miss Joyce Layton, for instance—the lucky girl from Mittagong—will do much to encourage or discourage her less fortunate friends in Australia.

But cannot something more be done in the course of time? Could not regular visits be organised on the lines of that excellent 1934 tour of ringers to Australia. The British Columbia ringers are eagerly looking forward to such a visit. And could not the visits be in both directions, because a visit to this country by Dominion ringers would be of more real value to those ringers than vice versa? Or are exchanges of visits the sole prerogative of test match cricketers and rugby footballers?

Another suggestion one could make is that disused peals like that at the Church of St. Peter-in-the-East at Oxford might be sent to a city or town in the Empire. I could name many such in Canada which would be only too glad to have them. There must be numbers of other ways, too, by which we can lend a helping hand to these struggling bands of ringers. But the purpose of this letter is merely to point to the need for help.

This year, at the time of the Coronation, we witnessed Dominion troops taking over the 'guard' at Buckingham Palace, each contingent for a week. Is it too much to hope that at the next Coronation the bells of Westminster Abbey will be rung by representatives of Dominion ringers? A. E. F. TROTMAN.

LINCOLN DIOCESAN GUILD.

BARTON CAPTAIN'S LONG SERVICE.

A meeting of the Grimsby District was held at Barton-on-Humber on Saturday, September 11th. The lovely peal of eight at St. Peter's Church was kept going during the afternoon and evening by ringers from Ulceby, Grimsby, Burton-on-Stather, Scunthorpe, Barrow-on-Humber and the local members. Mr. and Mrs. J. Brothwell, of Treeton, and Mr. Chamberlain, of Hull, were also among those present. The service was conducted by the Rev. Goulding (curate). The address was a very homely talk.

After service the members adjourned to the Assembly Rooms, where an excellent tea was awaiting them. Twenty-five sat down, including the Vicar, Canon W. E. Varah, R.D., the Rev. and Mrs. Goulding and Dr. F. P. H. Birtwhistle (an honorary member). The Vicar, in the absence of the president of the district, presided over the meeting. Mr. E. Brittain proposed a hearty vote of thanks to the Vicar for the use of the bells, to the curate for conducting the service and for his address, to the caterers for an excellent tea, and to all those who had made the arrangements.—This was seconded by Mr. J. Bray and carried.

In reply, the Vicar said it was always a pleasure to welcome ringers to Barton. Bells were made to be rung, he said, and they were rung at Barton. He was greatly indebted to the Barton band and to Mr. A. W. Hoodless for his untiring interest in the bells, as captain of the band during his (the Vicar's) 26 years in the parish. Canon Varah also welcomed the Vicar of Ulceby (the Rev. R. Marsden).

BARNSELEY AND DISTRICT SOCIETY.

VALUABLE SERVICES RECOGNISED.

The long service rendered to the Barnsley and District Society by its president (Mr. C. D. Potter) and a former secretary (Mr. A. Panther) have been marked by presentations to these two gentlemen in recognition of their ungrudging work for the society for many years.

Each has been the recipient of a walnut-cased clock with Westminster chimes and suitably inscribed, and the presentation took place at a happy gathering at Barnsley on September 4th, when about 40 members were present, and the following towers were represented: Adwick, Arksey, Almondbury, Bolsterstone, Cawthorne, Eastwood, Earlsheaton, Felkirk, Friezland, Horbury, Hoylandswaine, Hands-worth, Metham, Rotherham, Sandal, Shelly, Wath, Wortley and the local company.

Ringing commenced about 3 p.m., and later a service was held, conducted by the Vicar, Canon Wilkinson.

The presentations were made after tea in the new Parish Room. The Vicar (Canon Wilkinson), who presided, said it was the first time he had had the opportunity of meeting the ringers, and he was very pleased to be present on such a memorable occasion. He gave the society a cordial welcome and hoped it would not be long before they came again.

Mr. Ricketts spoke of the early days of the Barnsley Society and of the good work that had been done both by Mr. Potter and Mr. Panther. Mr. Potter was one of the founders of the society, and Mr. Panther was secretary and treasurer for a long period.

Mr. Brearley supported these remarks and praised the good work done by the society in improving the ringing in the district, both in methods and striking. He had done a lot of judging in the society's shield contests, and it was very worthy of note how this competition had improved the ringing.

Mrs. Wilkinson, with a few happy words, then presented the clocks, first to Mr. Potter and then to Mr. Panther; both of whom suitably acknowledged the gifts and the honour thus done them. Mr. Moxon moved the usual vote of thanks to all who had made this meeting such a happy gathering, and this was endorsed by all.

A social evening followed at the Royal Hotel, with handbells and other items, while some returned to the tower to ring various touches of Minor and Major.

The meeting was one of the happiest events in the history of the Barnsley and District Society.

A peal in 14 methods of Treble Bob Minor was rung at Felkirk on September 7th in honour of Mr. Potter's 79th birthday, which occurred on September 2nd.

SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD.

ENTERTAINED AT SYDLING.

The Dorchester Branch was again favoured with glorious weather for the quarterly meeting at Sydling—a village nestling between the hills and still unspoilt—on Saturday, September 4th. Coming as it did within a fortnight of the practice meeting at Hilton, the attendance of members and friends was very gratifying.

The bells, a fine mellow peal of five, tenor approximately 19½ cwt., were available from 3 p.m. The party in the touring coach were there on time and found the local band in the tower with everything in readiness. Practice with mixed bands was continued until the service, conducted by the Rev. A. S. Bryant (Rector of Upwey). The Vicar (the Rev. J. Wynn Wernick) gave an excellent and helpful address. The service was choral and very bright. Afterwards all adjourned to the Vicarage lawns, where, as a fortnight previously, an alfresco 'Dorset' tea was awaiting them. The members and friends, numbering 47, were the guests of the Vicar and local ringers. Needless to say, out in the lovely sunshine and amid such surroundings, this was greatly enjoyed.

The business was cut to a minimum. In the absence of the chairman (the Rev. A. W. Markby), the vice-chairman (the Rev. R. P. Farrow) took the chair. Two new members were elected.

The usual vote of thanks was proposed by the chairman and seconded by the Rev. A. F. Godley (Vicar of Bradford Peverell). The Vicar was particularly thanked for his great kindness in allowing the members the use of his gardens and lawns during the whole afternoon and evening.

In supporting the vote of thanks, the Rev. A. S. Bryant paid a great tribute to the excellent work the Vicar had done, and said at the end of this month he would complete 60 years in the ministry of the Church. A thanksgiving would be held at Sydling to commemorate this.

The lady ringers of Sydling, who had done their part so well, were not forgotten in the speeches.—The Vicar, replying, thanked them all. He said it was always a pleasure to welcome the Guild.

The members again returned to the tower, where under the guidance of the Ringing Master one or two were piloted through their first 120. Some went on to Cattistock and had a short touch on the eight bells hung for ringing, after which the visitors heard the carillon, which consists of 35 bells, play two well-known tunes. A short halt was also made to ring on the handy peal of six at Maiden Newton.

Thus ended another happy gathering, at which the following towers were represented: Bradford Peverell, East Lulworth, Hazelbury Bryan, Preston, Stratton, Stoke Wake, Sydling, Wyke Regis and a welcome visitor from North Cadbury.

GUILDFORD DIOCESAN GUILD

PROPOSED WEDNESDAY MEETINGS.

The meeting of the Guildford District of the Guildford Diocesan Guild at West Clandon on Saturday attracted nearly thirty ringers, and some good practice was put in in the 'standard' methods on the eight bells of St. Peter and Paul's Church during the afternoon and evening. The hon. secretary had received names of 16 who had said they would be present at tea; courageously he ordered tea for 30 and, as things turned out, made a very good guess, despite the fact that some of the 16 did not put in an appearance.

In the absence of the Vicar, the Guild service was taken by the Rev. L. Starey, Vicar of the adjoining parish of Merrow, who has himself begun ringing and took part in some rounds before service.

He also presided at the business meeting when two new members were elected, including Mr. A. J. Corrigan, until recently of North Stoneham, who has now come to reside at Woking.

The members discussed the question of holding occasional meetings on Wednesdays. The matter had been before the Farnham District the previous week, and was introduced to the Guildford District by Mr. R. Whittington.

Mr. R. Gordon Cross, who was present, said in one of the branches of the Oxford Guild in which he was interested, Wednesday meetings were instituted and proved successful the first year, but afterwards they were attended chiefly by those who were also present at Saturday meetings.

It was pointed out that the object of the meetings would be specially to encourage the attendance of those who were at present unable to attend Saturday meetings, and it was thought that steps might be taken to ascertain how many members there were in the district who were thus situated and who would attend Wednesday meetings if they were arranged.

The subject is to come before the next meeting of the Executive Committee.

A vote of thanks to the Rector of West Clandon, to the Rev. L. Starey and to the organist was passed on the motion of the general hon. secretary (Mr. J. S. Goldsmith), and acknowledged by the Rector of Merrow.

The bells of West Clandon are a good ring of eight, very noisy in the ringing chamber and several of them 'odd struck,' but they go well. The trebles were added about five years ago, almost entirely by the efforts of the West Clandon ringers, but there has been no peal rung on the octave yet—the first 'local' peal being still awaited.

In 1913 the old ring of six perished in a fire that destroyed the contents of the tower. Thomas Lester had cast the peal in 1714, but 3, 4 and 5 had been recast in 1875 by Mears and Stainbank.

In the second inventory of the reign of King Edward VI. there were three bells in the steeple, of v, iij, iij cwt., with a saunce bell.

This second inventory was taken because of the disappearance from many churches of the goods enumerated in the earlier catalogue, some having been sold for legitimate purposes, others purloined.

There does not seem to be any record, in Surrey at any rate, of bells being stolen, but in West Surrey the churches seem to have suffered from an epidemic of thefts of more portable goods. At West Clandon the second inventory records, 'The rest of the former inventory stolen and robbed by thieves,' and there is a similar endorsement in the case of a dozen or more adjacent parishes.

ESSEX ASSOCIATION.

SUCCESSFUL MEETING AT GREAT WALTHAM.

The meeting of the South-Eastern Division at Great Waltham proved to be very enjoyable, about 50 ringers from 21 towers being present.

In the absence of the Vicar (the Rev. R. F. Burnett), the service was conducted by the Rev. Egerton Ward, Vicar of Finiscliffe, Lancs, who gave a very inspiring address. The singing was accompanied by the organist and the lesson read by the Divisional Master (Mr. H. Mansfield).

Tea was served in the Village Club, after which the business meeting was presided over by the Divisional Master.

The election of W. Dawkin, of Boreham, previous to a peal was confirmed, and it was decided to hold the next meeting at Rettendon on Saturday, October 9th.

To avoid the clashing of dates for the divisional annual meetings it was proposed that the South-Eastern Division hold theirs on Saturday, November 27th, at Writtle.

The thanks of the meeting was tendered by Mr. W. Chalk to the Vicar for allowing the use of the bells, to the Rev. Egerton Ward for conducting the service and for his address, and to Mr. Day and the local band for having everything in readiness.

The following towers were represented: Great Baddow, Boreham, Broomfield, Chelmsford, Danbury, Ford End, Fryerning, Goldhanger, Maldon, Springfield, Great Waltham and Writtle, and visitors from Popping, Newmarket, Woodford, Hornchurch, Melbourne, Great Bardfield, Leyton, Stoney and St. Lawrence Jewry.

PULFORD.—On Monday, September 6th, at St. Mary's Church, after a peal attempt had failed, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples (from Holt's Original): Arthur Prince (conductor) 1, Rev. Arthur Minns 2, Harry Lewis 3, George Williams 4, Thomas R. Griffiths 5, William E. Fletcher 6, John W. Best 7, Arthur Tilston 8.

PEAL NOTES.

THE COTSWOLD TOUR.

Eleven peals were rung out of fourteen attempted on the tour of the Cotswold country which concluded last Saturday.

The successes included two peals of Cambridge Surprise Royal, one of Yorkshire Royal and one of these two methods spliced; two peals of Bristol Surprise Major, two of London and one each of Yorkshire, Cambridge and Spliced Surprise Major in four methods. The three peals lost were Spliced Surprise, Cambridge and Superlative. A good week, with a very Royal touch about it!

Mr. Cyril Pooley, of Northrepps, Norfolk, introduced Mr. Nolan Golden (now hon. secretary of the Norwich Diocesan Association) and Mr. Hanbury F. Carter to change ringing at the Parish Church, where he is the leader of the local band. After long effort Mr. Pooley succeeded in getting the bells, a ring of five, restored this year, Messrs. Taylor and Co. completing the work in May.

The first peal on the bells was rung on August 31st, conducted by Mr. Nolan Golden, and Mr. and Mrs. Hanbury Carter took part. It was their first peal of Doubles and the first peal of Doubles in two methods by Miss E. J. C. Angwin and Mr. A. S. Roberts, of Truro, Cornwall. The ringers wish to associate Mr. Cyril Pooley's name with the peal.

It seems strange to notice that Mr. Dan Cooper, who has taken part in so many peals, particularly at Beddington, where all sorts of Surprise peals on ten bells have been rung, has just called his first peal of Royal—a peal of Treble Ten. But Dan, the leader of the band at Croydon Parish Church, from which we have heard such excellent broadcasts, is like that. He prefers to keep in the background.

A handbell peal of Kent Treble Bob was rung at Stockport on September 9th as a compliment to a newly-married couple, Mr. H. Ashton and Miss J. Stevens. The bridegroom rang the tenors to the peal.

Mr. George Williams, Master of the Winchester and Portsmouth Diocesan Guild, took part in a peal of Stedman Triples at East Hagbourne, Berks, on Saturday. It was rung as a birthday compliment to Mrs. W. A. Goodenough (whose husband rang the tenor) and Mr. V. P. A. G. Scardfield, nephew of Mr. Williams.

Victor Scardfield learned to ring at St. Peter's, Brighton, many years ago, when living with his uncle and aunt, but, entering the journalistic profession, his opportunities for following the art disappeared. His interest in ringing, however, continues.

The first peal on the bells at Ufford, Suffolk, where the Rev. Herbert Drake is Rector, was rung on Saturday.

Cam Treble Bob, which is one of the methods by the Rev. E. B. James for cutting the tenors out of the 'slow,' is not often rung, but a peal was scored at Eritia on September 8th, with five of the band ringing their first in the method.

Miss Constance Ditton, who rang her first peal of Stedman Triples on Saturday at Cheshunt, Herts, is only 15 years of age.

A peal of Grandsire Triples at Christ Church, Eastbourne, on September 8th, was rung in celebration of the birth of a daughter to Mr. Harold S. Hobden. It was conducted by Mr. C. A. Savage, who thus was successful in his first peal attempt as conductor.

The first peal in the city of Salisbury was rung on September 3rd, 1887, at St. Martin's Church, and to commemorate the jubilee another peal was rung in the same tower on September 4th last. The first peal was in honour of Queen's Victoria's Jubilee, that rung a fortnight ago was a Coronation peal for King George VI.

The first peal was Holt's Ten-Part, and those who took part were H. D. Adams, the Rev. F. J. O. Holmore, W. E. Tydeman, C. A. Clements, J. R. Jerram, T. Blackburn (conductor), W. W. Gifford and C. Gaisford.

A board in the ringing room commemorates the peal, and, in addition to the usual details, bears the names of John Wordsworth, Bishop of Sarum; Felk Griffin, Mayor of Salisbury; C. N. Wylde, Rector; and A. Tucker and W. T. Webb, churchwardens.

Miss Kathleen E. Fletcher scored her one hundredth peal on September 4th, when she took part in a peal of Double Norwich at Hughenden. The ladies, whose peals run into three figures, are now growing numerous.

The ubiquitous Mr. Pat Cannon has just had a holiday in Yorkshire. At Marsden he 'turned in' his fiftieth different tenor to a peal, and at Pontefract rang his fortieth peal as conductor, spread over 39 towers. On the way back he rang a peal at the Bell Foundry, Loughborough. As he rang the tenor at both the last-named places we suppose his total of tenors 'turned in' is now 52.

The peal of Bob Major at Loughborough Bell Foundry on September 2nd was arranged for Mr. Arthur Davis, of Bourne-mouth.

The peal of Grandsire Triples, rung at Dartford, Kent, on September 6th, was arranged for Mr. R. Malster, of Woodbridge, Suffolk, who was spending a holiday in the district.

A wedding peal at Trysull, Staffs, was the first in three Minor methods by five out of the six ringers.

LANCASHIRE INTEREST IN LADIES' GUILD.

GROWING MEMBERSHIP.

The jolly sound of Ashton's lovely peal of eight at St. Peter's Church greeted members of the Ladies' Guild on their arrival for their quarterly meeting. After an all-round introduction in the belfry a good hour's mixed ringing was enjoyed before service, at which Canon A. Scott, of Bolton (president of the Lancashire Association), and the Rev. F. Bonner, of St. Mary's Church, Stockport, officiated.

After the service a hurried departure was made to the tearooms, a biting cold wind making speed a necessity. Mrs. Wolstencroft received the company, having prepared, with helpers, a delightfully original tea, to which a large gathering sat down.

Later Canon A. Scott put into words what the ladies and visitors had already felt—a very warm welcome to Ashton. The Canon thanked Mrs. Wolstencroft and helpers, also Mr. Ridyard and all those who had worked so hard to make such a good meeting.—The secretary of the Ladies' Guild thanked Canon Scott and his seconder for their welcome.

At the meeting six new members were elected to the Guild, four from Bolton and one each from Stockport and Ashton.

Owing to the greatly increasing interest in this district, an invitation to hold the annual meeting at Bolton was accepted and provisionally fixed for June 18th, 1938.

After returning to the tower, the ladies 'manned' the bells for a while. Then Mr. Hulme, who stated that he had been a ringer for the last 60 years and had seen a few changes since he first learned to handle a bell, told of things that had happened in the old days and thrilled his listeners also with the account of the introduction of ladies to the Ashton belfry to fill the gaps left by men during the war. In his own words, 'when the bells needed ringing the Lancashire girls were the "boys" to do it.'

He went on to tell how they had advanced since then and hoped that they would keep on striding ahead. He was pleased to see in the belfry the oldest lady ringer in England, a jolly good ringer at 65, also Mr. Harrison, the oldest ringer of Ashton, who is now 85.

Time sped all too quickly and those with long journeys had to make their departures, the writer to make a long ride over the wild, wind-swept Derbyshire moors by Kinder Scout, accompanied by a bus load of jolly Yorkshire folk and the pleasant memory of yet another successful meeting.

A MEETING AT LEICESTER.

Saturday was a busy day for Leicester. All trains and buses for that city were packed and visitors seemed to pour in from all parts. We may as well admit at once that the chief attraction was the football match between Leicester and Arsenal.

Compared with their gate, the meeting of the Ladies' Guild, Northern Branch, was a very small affair, but the members were none the less enthusiastic. The venue was the Church of St. John the Divine, and visitors were pleased to meet there such old ringing friends as Mr. William Willson, Mr. W. E. White, Mr. George Ladd and members and friends from Anstey, Collingham, Duffield, Lincoln, London, Nottingham and the local ringers.

The bells are a very nice peal, very suitable for ladies to handle. Unfortunately, owing to illness near the church, they were only available until 4.30, but good use was made of them until that time, when an adjournment for tea was made.

After this the ringers betook themselves to St. Margaret's, these bells being placed at their disposal for the evening through the kindness of the Vicar and Mr. Ernest Morris, F.R.Hist.S., who met them at the church and gave them a very hearty welcome.

Here some availed themselves of the rare opportunity of ringing on 12 bells, and a good course of Grandsire Cinques was rung with two ladies taking part. This was followed by various touches of Caters, Major and round ringing for learners. To finish up, a course of Grandsire Triples was rung on the heaviest peal of handbells in existence, a lady ringing 1-2.

Sincere thanks are tendered to the Vicars for the use of the bells, to Mr. Clark, Mr. E. Morris and especially Mrs. Hardy, who had considerable difficulty in finding a spot for tea, owing to the large number of visitors to the city.

CENTRAL DISTRICT ELECTS SEVEN NEW MEMBERS.

A very enjoyable and pleasant meeting of the Central District of the Ladies' Guild was held at Great Baddow, Essex, on September 4th, when ringing commenced soon after 3 p.m. A service was conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. Holmes), assisted by Mr. Gray at the organ. A bountiful tea was provided in the Church Hall by members of the local Ladies' Institute and thoroughly enjoyed by all present.

After tea, the Vicar said how glad he was that the Guild had visited his church for their meeting, and he was pleased to know that Mr. E. H. Lewis, the president of the Central Council, had also honoured them with his presence.

Mr. Lewis thanked the Vicar for his welcome and said that was the first ladies' meeting he had been able to attend.

The company were delighted with the handbell ringing, provided by Mrs. Fletcher, Mr. G. W. Fletcher, Mr. Lewis and Mr. G. Cross.

A short business meeting followed, Mrs. J. Davis presiding.

Seven new members were elected, viz.: Miss Linn and Miss French, of Great Baddow, Miss Waldoek, of Maldon, Essex, and Miss M.

FOR BEGINNERS.

HOW METHODS ARE VARIED.

The peal of Edmonton Bob Major recorded last week is another reminder that there are numerous easy methods which ringers of Plain Bob ought to make a practice of ringing, by way of variety. In these days there is no need for stagnation, for quite a number of plain methods (all of which can be found in the Central Council's 'Collection' published at 1s. 9d.) can be learned with comparatively little effort.

For instance, this Edmonton Bob has no fewer than seven relatives, the whole family being descended from the same method, and if you can master one member of it, it needs only a little study and application to ring the rest.

If you ring Bob Major, you know that when the treble leads and a bell makes 2nd's place over it, all the other bells above dodge in pairs. In Reverse Bob, instead of making 2nd's over the treble when it leads, you make 7th's under the treble when it lies a whole pull behind; and the dodging which you get in Bob Major when the treble leads, you have, instead, in Reverse Bob when the treble is behind.

When you reverse a method you just substitute work from behind for work from the front, and vice versa. And that is what happens in the production of many methods.

Numerous plain methods have as the basis of their construction places 'made across the treble,' that is to say the bell hunting (up or down) in front of the treble stops to make a whole pull in some place, steps back across the treble, and, making another whole pull in the new place, takes up a hunting position behind the treble.

This placemaking across the treble necessitates dodging by the bells on that side of the 'place' farthest from the treble. Thus, if the places made are 4th's and 3rd's as the treble goes up, the bells in 5-6 and 7-8 dodge when 4th's is made, and the bells in 1-2 dodge when 3rd's is made.

Perhaps you will see it better from this:—

13	25	4768
12	34	5678
21	43	6587
24	13	5678
42	31	6587
24	36	1857
42	63	8175

In regular methods the work in each half of a lead is similar, and, if there are places in 3-4 when the treble goes up, there are places in 3-4 also when it comes down. And that is just what Shipway's Court consists of. (It is No. 4 in the Collection.)

Its variations can be extended by adding 2nd's at the treble lead, or 7th's when it is behind, or both. In actual ringing you get a different method, because those places in 2nd's or 7th's add extra dodging to the work. But you can realise the relationship between them all.

Now if you reverse Shipway's Court, that is, move the places from 3-4 to 5-6, or, in other words, do from the back what was done in Shipway from the front and vice versa, you have a method known as Lavenham Court, and to this you can also add 2nd's, or 7th's or both, so that you actually have eight methods of this type in their simplest form.

Then, of course, you can join them together and have double methods, by making places both in 3-4 and 5-6 and you get another group of four, of which Double Norwich corresponds to Shipway, and is varied by the addition of 2nd's or 7th's or both.

Shipway's Court would make a simple method for a Bob Major company to start on. Try first to construct a course on paper, by writing out the figures lead by lead. In the first lead make 4th's and 3rd's with the 3rd across the treble as the latter goes up through 3-4, and 3rd's and 4th's with the 5th across the treble as it hunts down through 4-3. This will produce 15738264 as a lead head. Make sure of this first and the other six leads should follow without trouble, if the construction is closely followed.

The placemaking bells in the second lead will be 7 and 8; in the third lead 6 and 4, in the fourth lead 2 and 3, in the 5th lead 5 and 7, in the sixth lead 8 and 6 and in the last lead 4 and 2.

When you have written out your seven leads, draw a continuous line from top to bottom over one of the figures, say 2 or 8, and you will have a diagram which you can use, not only to ring Shipway Court, but which will help you, in a way we hope to explain later, with the other methods. By the way, keep your figures in regular column and not too close together. The advantage of this you will find when you want to use them again presently.

Delves, Miss G. Jennings, Miss B. Reeve and Miss M. Sinker, all of Ipswich, Suffolk.

It was announced that the next meeting would be held at Isleworth on Saturday, November 13th.

The place proposed for the meeting in January was St. George's-in-the-Borough, London.

A vote of thanks was accorded to the Rev. Holmes for the use of the bells and for conducting the service, to the organist for his services, to the ladies for providing tea, and also to Mr. George Green, who so kindly made all the necessary arrangements. Further ringing afterwards took place.

DON'T SCRUB YOUR HANDS!

skin this simple way*

To many people, the problem of getting the hands really clean without harming the skin is a serious one. Grease and grime, which become deeply ingrained into the pores of the skin, are extremely difficult to remove, and ordinary washing with soap or even scrubbing will fail to remove them completely. Housewives, particularly, who complain that their hands get ruined by the nature of their work, will find the preparation called DERMAFOAM, a real "godsend." DERMAFOAM just smoothes away dirt and grease without effort. It gets right down into the pores and removes every particle of grime, leaving skin beautifully supple and healthy.

Men, too—when you've finished that dirty job on the car, DERMAFOAM will quickly banish all grease and oil from your hands. It acts almost magically—working under and around the nails and into every minute crease, removing all trace of dirt in a flash.

Engineers, Painters, Car Mechanics, Printers — everyone — will welcome DERMAFOAM, the modern method of cleansing and protecting the hands.

HANDICAPS OF BEGINNERS.

The subject of the best way to instruct beginners must always be an important one, and the recent discussion on the advantages of Plain Bob over Grandsire, as the first method to teach, has led Mr. Stephen Wood to traverse the ground fairly exhaustively in an article, in this issue, which may well be read with close attention. Many of the points which he makes have been urged previously in our columns, especially in the articles for beginners (which have often been equally useful as hints to instructors), but they cannot be too frequently stated. With all of Mr. Wood's deductions there is unlikely to be universal agreement, but experienced ringers will admit the truth of many of his statements.

There is no question that indifferent ringers are often made by the reluctance of instructors to correct early faults, either through fear of offending the sensitive beginner or, as sometimes, happens, through his own incompetence as a teacher. Too frequently, also, in the anxiety to encourage the pupil and maintain his interest the beginner is pushed much too soon into an attempt to ring changes. There is no exaggeration in the statement that some men have learned to ring Surprise Methods before they have learned to handle a bell properly. These are the two main causes of bad striking and should be guarded against by those who are responsible for training young ringers. The hand, the ear and the eye all need to be instructed, and of these probably the ear is the most neglected. In good ringing it is the rhythm that counts, and one indifferent striker can mar the efforts of all the rest of the band. Good handling comes first and, before the young ringer goes on to the stage when rope sight becomes imperative, the ear should be trained so that he may be able to distinguish his own bell among the rest. While admitting that there are some ringers who, from various causes, are never likely to be good strikers, much bad ringing could be avoided if there were less anxiety to push beginners so quickly into change ringing.

Another serious handicap to beginners is that instructors are themselves sometimes indifferent ringers. They very willingly give up their time to teaching others, and are to be commended for the spirit which they thus display, but it is not infrequently the case that they themselves do not handle their ropes properly and are poor strikers. They probably are not aware of it, but they pass on their own defects to their pupils and the young ringer is trained in a school of bad striking without knowing that there is anything better. The ringing chamber is not a barrack square, but there are many places where the advent of a 'sergeant-major' is badly needed. Unfortunately, for improved ringing, candid criticism is not always taken very kindly by the not-too-average ringer, and, as there are no visible honours to be gained by submitting to the kind of treatment which, for instance, rowing men quite well understand, there is a tendency to resentment which frequently leads to resignation when plain speaking is indulged in. This brings us back to our earlier statement that many indifferent ringers are made by the reluctance of instructors to correct early faults, but, if, assuming they are competent enough to recognise these errors, they would be firmer in the beginning, the way would be open for a more effective training throughout the tuition of the pupil, who, when he reached even a fairly advanced stage, would take instruction in the spirit in which it is intended.

CHESHIRE AND NORTH WALES TOUR

The ringing tour in the Chester District and in North Wales, which took place last week, was a success both for peal ringing and for sightseeing.

Eleven peals were rung out of thirteen attempts, nine of the party sharing in the conducting. Some hundreds of miles were covered and some of the finest beauty spots in Wales visited.

A brief account of the tour will be given in a later issue.

THE COTSWOLD TOUR. A HAPPY AND SUCCESSFUL WEEK.

The 'Bachelors' sixth annual ringing tour began on Saturday, September 4th, the district selected being amongst the Cotswold hills, mainly in the counties of Oxford and Gloucester. A full programme of 14 peal attempts had been arranged by Mr. Wilfred Williams. There were 12 in the party, of whom eight are bachelors, and the headquarters for the week was at the Old New Inn, Bourton-on-the-Water, Glos.

THE FINE TOWER OF MAGDALEN COLLEGE, OXFORD.

A coach, complete with driver, was hired for the week, and, starting from Brighton, collected various members of the party on the route, at Crawley, Guildford and Reading.

A run through very pleasant scenery in the Thames Valley brought the party to Oxford in good time for the first peal attempt, scheduled to start at 3 p.m. Magdalen College has a fine square, lofty tower and is the first tower seen on entering the city, on the right of the road immediately after crossing the River Charwood. Messrs. W. F. Judge and F. E. Taylor, of Oxford, who were in the band, were waiting and had the bells up in readiness. Eventually a start was made for Cambridge Royal and an excellent peal was rung in 3 hours and 21 minutes. It was the first Surprise peal on the bells, a pleasant, tuneful peal with tenor 20 cwt. in E, but very seldom rung. The tourists greatly appreciated the privilege of being allowed to ring a peal there.

After a late tea and a wait to pick up the two remaining members of the party, who arrived at Oxford by train, a move was made on the 30-mile run to headquarters at Bourton-on-the-Water, where our host for the week, Mr. Morris, extended a hearty welcome.

Some interest was aroused as to our mission in coming to Bourton, as the organiser, Mr. J. M. Cripps, had only mentioned that 'a party of 12' would require accommodation for a week. It was surmised that we were cricketers, until someone 'let the cat out of the bag,' then all sorts of questions had to be answered. They could not imagine a party going around the countryside ringing bells for a week's holiday.

Before ringing for service on Sunday morning we had a walk around the lovely little village, certainly very peaceful in the morning sunshine, until numbers of coaches arrived to disturb the quiet of the place. Bourton is well known locally as a 'beauty spot'; we were told quite confidently that it is the most beautiful village in the country.

The River Windrush ambles alongside the main street and is crossed in half a dozen places by very low pointed stone bridges, giving the place quite a Venetian aspect. With the numerous stone cottages with their stone roofs, the effect was very pleasing and we were quite ready to endorse what we had been told.

VILLAGE BLACKSMITH JOINS IN.

Mr. Bernard Phillips, the local blacksmith, is the captain of the Bourton ringers, and, when we finally ran him to earth in his allotment, he was only too eager to unlock the belfry door and let us have an hour's service ringing. The Church of St. Lawrence has a peal of eight, with tenor 14 cwt. in F, fair in tone and quality. The original six were cast by Rudhalls, of Gloucester, and in 1913 the two trebles were added by Mears and Stainbank.

Mr. Phillips took part, to his great pleasure as expressed by him, in the first touch, Stedman Triples, then, with another local man, Mr. O. Pratley, in a touch of Bob Major. A course of Superlative and a touch of Spiced Surprise, well struck, completed the ringing.

The second peal of the tour was due to begin at Banbury, Oxon, at 2.30. We arrived in good time, to be welcomed by Mr. H. Impey (captain) and other local ringers. Banbury Church is of unusual design, giving one the impression of being a museum rather than a church. It is built of the local yellow Horton stone and has a circular dome and tower over the entrance porch. In 1930 the old peal of eight were recast and augmented to ten by Taylors, and there is now a splendid peal, with tenor 17 cwt. 1 qr. 19 lb. in E. The bells were set going to Cambridge Royal, and a well-struck peal was successful in 3 hours 32 minutes. It was W. T. Beeson's 300th peal. With the help of the local ringers the bells were lowered in peal prior to the service, and later the tourists returned to Bourton well pleased with having rung the first two peals.

On Monday morning an early start from headquarters was necessary to cover the 25 miles to Great Tew, Oxon, but the coach covered the ground quickly via Stow-on-the-Wold and Chipping Norton, and we arrived according to schedule. The Church of St. Michael is situated in glorious surroundings in a park, formerly the property of Lord Falmouth, but now owned by the Misses Bolton. The bells are a really beautiful peal of eight, with tenor 22 cwt. 10 lb. in D, the gift of Anthony Keck in 1709. They were rehung in a steel frame by Mears and Stainbank in 1925. A really well-struck peal of Bristol Surprise was brought round in 3 hours and 31 minutes, and, on these fine bells, the method was ideal. Being their centenary year, it was decided to credit the peal to the College Youths.

A MAGNIFICENT CHURCH.

After lunch at the Falkland Arms and an entertaining hour with the landlord, Mr. Davies, the six-mile run was made to Adderbury, Oxon, to be met by Mr. Parrott, the sexton, who was very anxious that we should view his wonderful church before commencing to ring. Dedicated to St. Mary, the building is magnificent, of almost cathedral-like proportions, surmounted by a tall spire. Arriving at 3 p.m., we were greeted by a tune on the carillon, 'Hard times come again no more.' A different air is played each day, at intervals of three hours.

We were shown a brass tablet in the floor of the church, bearing the date February 30th, 1508, and a wonderful stone chancel built by William of Wykeham, Bishop of Winchester, in the 14th century and restored in the 19th century. Transepts, nave and tower are all 13th century, and the vestry has a fine bay window, reputed to be the only one of its kind in the country. The original peal of six bells were recast in 1789 into a peal of eight by John Briant, of Hertford, and the whole peal were rehung by Taylors in 1928, the present tenor being 24 cwt. 14 lb. in D. We had been told that we should have our work cut out to ring a peal, and certainly the task was not an easy one. However, the bells were set going to London Surprise, and an excellent peal was completed in 3 hours and 20 minutes, the first peal of London on the bells.

On Tuesday morning the organiser had the party up early for the 30-mile run due south, via Burford and Lechlade, to our only tower in Wiltshire, Swindon. Arriving at 9.30, we were greeted by Mr. C. J. Gardiner, who had everything in readiness. The church is a local landmark and is situated in the older part of Swindon on high ground to the south-east of the town. Christ Church has a fine easy-going peal, recast and augmented from eight to ten by Taylors in 1924. Coming into a new diocese it was necessary to elect quite a number of the band to membership of the Gloucester and Bristol Diocesan Association.

FIRST FAILURE OF THE TOUR.

Eventually a start was made for Spliced Cambridge and Yorkshire Surprise Royal, the methods being changed at the Wrong and Home, and a really well-struck peal was brought round in 3 hours and 25 minutes, the first Spliced Surprise peal to be rung for the association. After the peal Messrs. Gardiner, Palmer and Kynaston, of the local band, were waiting to conduct us to an excellent lunch at a place which, we understand, is much frequented by ringers.

Bampton, Oxon, 18 miles away, was on the programme for the afternoon. The Church of St. Mary the Virgin is very old and of large dimensions. It has a tall, pointed spire, the belfry, being central and enclosed, has artificial light. There are eight bells, with tenor 26 cwt. in D, rather a heavy turning peal. Several ropes had first to be taken up on the wheels, but eventually a start was made for Cambridge Surprise Major. After ringing well for half an hour, however, 'stand' had to be called in the fourth course owing to imposition of one of the band, and our sixth attempt of the week became the first failure, it being too late to start again.

After tea at Witney, famous for its blankets, the coach was directed to Oxford, where the party joined with the thousands who were merry-making at St. Giles' Fair. This is held annually on two days in September and occupies the whole of one of Oxford's main streets for half a mile—a sight well worth seeing.

Hearing the six bells being rung up in peal at the Carfax tower, by the cross-roads at Oxford's centre, some of the party proceeded there, to be greeted by Mr. F. E. Taylor and other local ringers, and we had a few touches with them. The bells are rung only occasionally, one of the occasions being for this annual fair. It was, indeed, very late when our coach was headed on the 30-mile run to Bourton. Let it not be told at what time we arrived, but our organiser managed to get us in all right, without (we hope) disturbing any of the other guests at the Old New Inn.

A TOWER BUT NO CHURCH.

A quarterly meeting of the Swindon Branch of the Gloucester and Bristol Diocesan Association was held at Malmesbury on Sept. 11th. The tower and spire, which contain five bells, are all that remain of the Church of St. Paul, which was demolished many years ago, the bells being rung for services in Malmesbury Abbey.

A fair number of visitors and members attended and some of the local men were put through their first 120.

At the business meeting the places for the next three meetings were provisionally arranged as St. Mark's, Swindon, Stratton St. Margaret and Christ Church, Swindon.

CORNWALL GAINS ANOTHER OCTAVE.A NEW RING OF EIGHT AT LANSALLOS.

The district of Looe, south-west of Liskeard, Cornwall, has had its rings of bells enriched by the provision of a complete new ring of eight at Lansallos, about two miles from Polperro on the south coast. 'Lan Salus' means the place of deliverance. The ancient Parish Church is dedicated to St. Ildierna and has an embattled western tower of three stages, built in the 15th century. Until recently there was only one ancient bell. This has now been placed inside the south door of the church. It is inscribed 'Sancta Margareta ora pro nobis' in Gothic lettering. There are also three shields, two with coats of arms, while the third is considered to be the stop used by John Bird. The bell is, therefore, thought to be of 15th century date.

In May, 1936, the Rector (the Rev. N. A. Rivers-Tippett) issued an appeal for funds for a ring of bells. The task at first seemed too great, but the money came. A generous gift from the Barron Bell Trust gave great encouragement to the whole scheme, which, now completed, has cost approximately £300. The tenor of the new ring is 10½ cwt., and the casting and hanging has been done by Messrs. John Taylor and Co., Loughborough. Two new floors have been erected in the tower.

The whole of the work was dedicated on Saturday last by the Bishop of Truro (the Rev. J. W. Hankin, D.D.). Unfortunately the Rector was unable to be present at the service through illness.

The Bishop, in his address, said he had just had a few words with the Rector, who was indeed disappointed at not being able to be present, but, he added, 'he will be listening to the bells from his bedroom, and I am sure they will put new life and joy into his heart.'

The service was conducted by the Rev. R. de C. Marley (Rector of Lanreath). Canon W. H. Rigg (Vicar of Launceston) was also present and his band of ringers from St. Mary's, Launceston, opened the bells. Many other Cornish ringers were present also.

FOUR-SCORE YEARS.PENDLEBURY VETERAN'S BIRTHDAY.

Mr. Thomas Lingard has been a ringer at Christ Church, Pendlebury, Lancs, for 64 years. On Saturday he celebrated his 80th birthday, and the event was suitably honoured. A long touch of Grandsire Triples (3,220 changes) was conducted by Mr. Lingard, and when the bells came round they were 'fired' 80 times. Mr. Lingard was the recipient of congratulations and good wishes from the band: Frank Sharples 1, Thomas Lingard 2, Fred Green 3, Norman Tompkins 4, Albert Wallwork 5, James Kershaw 6, Alfred Thomas 7, Bernard Smith 8.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

Mr. Robert Brundle, of Ipswich, has just celebrated his 86th birthday, and a peal in honour of the event was rung at Stowmarket on Saturday.

There are four nominations for the office of vice-president of the Lancashire Association, and the election takes place at the annual meeting to-morrow: The Rev. J. A. Briggs (Liverpool), Mr. E. R. Martin (Preston), Mr. J. Ridyard (Southport) and Mr. C. Sharples (Blackpool). Mr. C. Crosthwaite and Mr. T. Wilson have been nominated for the office of ringing secretary.

A number of alterations to rules, chiefly in relation to the constitution and election of the committee, are to be considered at the meeting.

The Durham and Newcastle Diocesan Association celebrates its diamond jubilee to-morrow.

The report of a peal at Colne Engaine has been sent without the name of the conductor.

Mr. Leslie W. G. Morris, of Holbeck, Leeds, was last Saturday elected general secretary of the Yorkshire Association in succession to Mr. J. E. Cawser, who has resigned owing to increased business engagements.

We are glad to be able to report that Mr. W. D. Smith, of Eastbourne, one of the oldest College Youths, has made excellent recovery from the illness which suddenly overtook him a fortnight ago. Mr. Smith is in his 80th year.

RINGING FROM A BOX.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—It may interest Mr. Bacon to know that it is not quite as silly as he seems to think to stand on a box when ringing a heavy bell, because a heavy bell means a large wheel; a large wheel means a long length of rope below the sally; a long length of rope below the sally means (unless the ringer stands on a box) a lot of slack rope round the feet when the bell is set at handstroke. Further, if the rope should be at all stiff, the sally tends to jump when the rope hits the floor; and this is also largely overcome by using a box.

I think any heavy-bell ringer (which I certainly do not profess to be) will agree that it is more comfortable to ring a big bell from a box than from the floor.

BOB TRIPLES.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—I suppose I ought to feel properly squashed and remain silent after reading Mr. C. A. Levett's reply to my letter. Unfortunately, his uncalled for remarks have no effect on me! I merely feel sorry for him, because he, like so many otherwise very pleasant ringers, is unable to argue without entering into personalities. That line of argument usually shows that the writer does not understand his subject properly.

Mr. Levett is so full of his Sunday service gospel that it is he who cannot grasp the meaning of our argument. The question I raised, supporting Mr. Pipe's first letter, was—Which is it best to learn first, Grandsire or Plain Bob? And, if the latter, then Bob Triples is a useful member of the method. I have already enumerated my reasons in support of Plain Bob, but Mr. Levett is so eager for the chance to attack me personally that he simply cannot follow them. It is, therefore, no use continuing the argument.

Before finally closing, however, I must answer his reference to my Sunday service ringing. The remark in his last paragraph is deliberately misleading, and should be withdrawn. I have been a Sunday service ringer since I left school in 1930. Wherever I have been living, I have always attended the nearest tower at least once a Sunday, when I have been at home. And for the other Sunday service, when at home, I have always assisted somewhere. On many occasions I have made up the number for the eight bells at Mr. Levett's church at Hastings, when staying there. I would add that I have always had a pleasant welcome and enjoyed myself. I expect I shall be in the neighbourhood again soon, and shall look forward to ringing some well-struck Bob—no, Grandsire Triples, of course!

A. PATRICK CANNON.

Balham.

P.S.—Mr. Mcville is quite correct! I have not yet been to Birmingham, but I am looking forward to a visit soon.

THE SECOND IN TREBLE BOB.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—I note with pleasure Mr. F. E. Darby's figures of a peal of Treble Bob Royal in your issue of the 3rd inst. with the 2nd at home every course-end.

I constructed a similar 5,040 Treble Bob Maximus, as below. Like Mr. Darby, I do not claim originality.

G. E. SYMONDS.

THE INSTRUCTION OF BEGINNERS.

WHY EVEN-BELL METHODS ARE BETTER THAN ODD-BELL METHODS.

By STEPHEN H. WOOD.

I do not wish to join in any controversy as to whether or not Bob Triples is worth ringing, but I am interested in the recent correspondence in 'The Ringing World' because it has touched the fringes of a subject of wider interest and far greater importance, namely, which is the best method on which to start beginners?

Mr. Pipe may or may not be right in saying that Bob Triples is a useful stepping-stone from Grandsire Triples to Bob Major; and Mr. Cannon may or may not be correct in his assertion that the average ringer, brought up on Grandsire, finds difficulty in mastering the different dodging places of Bob Major (though personally I should have thought that a man brought up on Bob Major would find an exactly similar difficulty when he first tackles Grandsire).

But the matter goes far deeper than that; and if we can find a convincing answer to the question of which is the best method for a beginner to learn first, we shall, in the process, have answered the subsidiary question of why it is that so many ringers who start on Grandsire never master anything else.

I think it will be universally admitted that, at the present time as in the past, the majority of ringers start their change ringing career on Grandsire Triples; yet I have no hesitation in saying that the wisest instructors are those—still unfortunately the few—who start their pupils on even-bell ringing. I will go further and say that a great deal of the thoroughly bad change ringing which is still heard up and down the country, and accepted with tolerance if not complacency, is directly traceable to the traditional practice of learning the odd-bell methods first.

MISTAKEN RELUCTANCE TO POINT OUT FAULTS.

Now I do not expect this statement to meet at once with universal agreement, and I should not be so bold as to make it if I were not prepared to substantiate it in the chapter and verse. Before doing so, however, I might add that next to this the most important contributory factor is a well-meant but mistaken reluctance on the part of the good ringers to point out the bad ones' faults and endeavour to correct them. It would be a thousand times better for the community and kinder in the long run to the individual, to tell him straight that he is a thundering bad ringer, provided, of course, that this naturally not very welcome information is accompanied by useful advice which will help him to eradicate his faults and improve his standard of ringing. For I am convinced that the majority of bad ringers—and there are plenty of them—have no idea how bad they are. It is not their fault; the blame must be laid at the door of the instructors who allow them to ring badly without criticism or comment.

We will assume that a beginner has reached the stage when he is ready for his first lesson in change ringing; this should mean (though I am afraid that in many cases it does not) that he has complete control over his bell and can ring it perfectly in Rounds. The first thing that his instructor has to teach him is to Plain Hunt—first in theory and then in practice. It is a good idea before actually putting him into changes to let him get some experience of how much he has got to hold up or cut down in order to change his position by the place; this can best be done by means of a few call-changes and by making him dodge with the bell next him (first one way and then the other). Nearly all instructors teach the same method of Hunting Up—namely, by striking after the bell that strikes after you in the previous change until you get up behind, thus introducing him to 'ropesight,' i.e., the ability to pick out the various bells with his eyes. On no account allow him to learn off a string of numbers and strike the bells in this order through thick and thin (even at the beginning). This kind of beginner (the parrot type) is easily recognised, because the first time the bell he expects to find in a certain position is not there he tends to set his bell in and wait for him—and nothing so completely destroys the 'beat' as this. Teach him, rather, to hold up a little bit at each stroke and gradually learn to pick out the order in which the other bells pass him on their way down, thus instilling him with a sense of rhythm and the determination to stick to his place no matter who else goes wrong.

THE USE OF EARS.

Different instructors favour different methods of teaching hunting down; my own preference is for making him follow his course-bell, not bothering too much at first about the actual bells he is striking over (though this must come later), because in this way the beginner is introduced as early as possible to the absolute necessity of training himself to pick out the bells with his ears as well, so that he can listen to his own bell and the one he is coursing and learn to judge correctly the interval between them.

When he can Plain Hunt reasonably well the next step has to be decided upon; and this is, perhaps, the most important moment in a man's whole ringing career, because on the selection of the next step depends to a great extent what kind of a ringer he is likely to make. So many instructors at this stage immediately rush their pupil on to an inside bell and teach him a method—probably Grandsire Triples—and by this one action put him well on the way to becoming a thoroughly bad ringer, because there are two points of the greatest importance which it is absolutely necessary for him to learn and thoroughly master as early as possible, and if he does not learn them at this stage it quite often happens that he never does so at all.

These two points are GOOD STRIKING and PROPER LEADING, and it is in these two points that the essential difference between starting on odd and even-bell ringing lies. By good striking is meant putting your bell exactly into, say, 4th's place, as opposed to being satisfied with roughly half-way between 3rd's and 5th's. And by proper leading is meant striking your bell exactly in 1st's place, wide at handstroke and close at backstroke—the correct 'width' at handstroke being obtained by leaving sufficient interval after the end of the last change for one extra (imaginary) bell—as opposed to striking roughly at the beginning of the change and leaving the others to follow as best they may.

Now it is not possible to lay down hard and fast rules for teaching good striking. Some ringers have an inherent sense of rhythm which enables them to understand exactly what is required; these will know at once whether they are striking correctly or not, and with them it is just a matter of practice. Others, however, are not so fortunate and have to be told whether they are striking too wide or too close. Nearly always it is because they cannot pick out the sound of their own bell amongst the rest; this is a common difficulty in the early stages, but in ninety-nine cases out of a hundred it can be overcome with a little patience and determination, provided the pupil has two reasonably good ears.

START ON A SMALL NUMBER OF BELLS.

Various useful ways of helping him will occur to any instructor with a little imagination, perhaps the most obvious being to start him on a very small number of bells, say four, and gradually work up to the higher numbers. But it is the bounden duty of every instructor to tell his pupil when he is striking badly—and to go on telling him, I know that the reason why so many ringers will not do this is the well-meant one of not wishing to discourage a beginner or hurt his feelings; but what are one man's feelings against the nerves of the rest of the band and all the listeners (willing and unwilling) outside? And how often does the well-meaning instructor pause to realise that by refraining from telling his pupil his faults (and he need not be told unkindly) he is depriving him of all the future enjoyment which he would otherwise obtain from his ringing and aiding and abetting him to become a thorough nuisance both to his fellow-ringers and the general public?

There is, however, one definite rule about striking which every beginner can and should be taught; if he has a sense of rhythm and good ears he may soon find it out for himself, but if not it should be explained to him at the earliest possible opportunity. This is that heavier bells have a longer period of swing than lighter bells; consequently when following a heavy bell it is necessary to strike wider over him than when following a light one, and vice versa. This fact, self-evident though it may seem to those who know, is one which is not so very obvious to a complete beginner; remember that he can never discover it in ringing rounds, and when he first starts change ringing he will find plenty of other things to occupy his mind to the full; and so, if it is not explained to him, it may be years before he discovers it—particularly if he is started on Grandsire Triples.

ESSENTIAL DIFFERENCES.

This is the first of the two essential differences between Triples and Major that I am leading up to. True it is only a difference of degree; if you are ringing the treble to Triples you have got to strike wider over the 7th than over the 2nd, but not so very much; and if you do not make the necessary allowance it may not be very noticeable on a light peal. But when you come to Major and the tenor is turned into the changes the difference in weight is probably half as much again, and even on a light peal the gap that must be allowed when striking over the tenor becomes definitely noticeable. This, much more than the different dodging places, is one of the main difficulties which a man brought up on Triples has to contend with when he first tries to ring Major. If, on the other hand, he is started on Major, and has this point properly explained to him, he will have an immediate opportunity of observing how it works out in practice and learning to allow for it. And when he has mastered this he has learnt something of real value, something, moreover, which he could not have learnt so thoroughly on Triples; the Triples man may have been told about it and understood it in theory, but he does not get the same opportunity to put it into practice.

The other main point of difference between odd and even-bell ringing is in the Leading. If a man starts on Triples he will probably be taught to 'lead off the tenor'; this may answer reasonably well as long as he sticks to Triples, but when he gets on to Major he will come up against a serious difficulty, because there will be no tenor for him to lead from; he will, in fact, have to start all over again and learn to lead properly—i.e., with his ears. It is better, therefore, to start him on Major and let him learn to lead properly from the first.

Now it may be argued that, even admitting the points I have tried to make (indeed, because of them), it is better to start a man on Triples, because there is not so much for him to learn as there is in Major. On the face of it, this argument is reasonable enough, but my experience has been that in actual fact it is unsound, for this reason; most beginners think that, when they have learnt to ring one method reasonably well, all they have to do to ring other methods is to learn the different 'work.' If the one method they can ring is Bob Major this may be true, but it is not necessarily true; it depends on how well they have mastered the real elementary principles of their art—i.e., good striking and proper leading, on which depend the rhythm or 'beat,' which is the first essential of all good change ringing. And I have shown above that if you start on Triples you do not get the same opportunities of learning these things thoroughly, which in my opinion is the reason why so many Grandsire Triples ringers never master them at all.

BAD HABITS IN RINGING.

It is a truism that in every walk of life it is easier to fall into bad habits than to get out of them when once acquired. This is, perhaps, especially true in ringing; once let a man get into bad habits such as wrong handling of his rope or lazy leading or slipshod striking, and it may take years to cure him of them. Therefore, it is worth while going to a little extra trouble to ensure his getting a thorough grounding in these essential points while he is learning his first method; and in my opinion even-bell ringing affords the best opportunities for this, for the reasons given above.

It will be appreciated that, although I have referred almost exclusively to Triples and Major, exactly the same arguments apply to Doubles and Minor. In fact, the average beginner will do better to make his first attempt at change ringing on six bells—with Bob Minor as the method. With only six bells to worry about he will find it easier to pick them out individually with his eyes and his ears, and furthermore the wider gap between each bell—in addition to helping still further with this picking out process—will necessitate his moving the position of his bell a greater amount between each change, thus teaching him better bell control. But when he has mastered Bob Minor, get him on as soon as possible to Bob Major, and let him come back to Triples later.

To sum up, therefore, if you are an instructor with a prospective pupil and you are wondering whether to start him on odd or even-bell ringing, you have got to look ahead and decide what is your ultimate object. If you are only concerned with getting him up to the stage of ringing one method reasonably well in the shortest possible time, then by all means start him on Grandsire Triples (or Doubles). But do not be upset if in 20 years' time he can still ring nothing else!

If, on the other hand, you take the wider view and are really interested in your pupil's future career; if you are anxious to give him the best possible grounding in the essential principle of change ringing, so that by the time he can ring one method he is properly equipped to go ahead and conquer fresh fields in the more complicated ones, then start him on Bob Major (or Minor). It may take a little longer in the early stages, but it will be worth it in the long run; for if he is worth teaching at all, the time will come when he will be grateful to you for your wisdom and foresight. And when, in later years, you call 'That's all' to a peal of Double Norwich or Cambridge Royal, in which he has struck his bell perfectly throughout and set a perfect beat at the lead, you will have your reward.

HANDBELLS OVER BARHAM'S GRAVE.SEVENOAKS RINGERS' TRIBUTE.

On Saturday, September 18th, the band of the Parish Church, Sevenoaks, had their annual ringing day. The party, made up to 25 by friends from neighbouring towers, left at 9 a.m. for the Weald of Kent. At Leeds several members had their first pull on ten bells, courses of Stedman and Grandsire Caters being brought round, but Treble Ten came to grief. Before leaving, a course of Bob Major was rung on handbells over the grave of that wonderful old ringer, James Barham, who, with the Leeds Youths, scored the first peal on the bells of Sevenoaks (1770). And so to Headcorn, where some good touches in various methods were brought round, the party being joined by Mr. E. H. Lewis, who, unfortunately, could not be with them earlier. Several of the local band met them at High Halden, a most interesting church with shingle spire. Here the six-bell ringers came into their own, successfully spicing St. Clement's, Oxford, Plain and Little Bob. Another short run brought them to Tenterden, where the grand peal (tenor 30 cwt.) was made good use of, although some members found the majestic pace and 'left-handed' circle a little disconcerting. Just across the road a true ringers' tea awaited the party and delayed their arrival at Benenden by half an hour. The bells were set going to Double Norwich, etc., and all too soon a move was made for Goudhurst, the last tower of the day, where 'heavy going' was expected, but the bells had been recently rehung and were kept going from rounds to Cambridge. Home was safely reached at 10.30 p.m. after a very enjoyable day. Thanks are due to the steeple-keepers who had everything in readiness, to the incumbents for the use of their bells, and to Mr. F. W. Housden, who acted as Ringing Master for the day.

INTERESTING PERFORMANCE AT PENGE.

On Monday evening at St. John's Church, Penge, as a farewell to the Rev. A. M. and Mrs. Stibbs, a quarter-peal, consisting of ten and a half differently called six-scores of Grandsire Doubles, was rung: E. J. Barrett 1, P. A. Corby (conductor) 2, D. G. Brown 3, N. T. Hext 4, J. E. Pullin 5, R. W. Darvill 6. Longest length by ringers of 1, 3, 4 and 5 and first quarter-peal of Doubles by ringers of 2 and 6. All but the tenorman, who is from Hillingdon, ring regularly at St. John's. This is the longest length on the bells since they were put in ringing order about four years ago, and probably the first quarter-peal since 1913.

Mr. and Mrs. Stibbs are to take up residence at Southgate, where Mr. Stibbs is to become a tutor at Oakhill Theological College.

PEAL NOTES.MR. G. R. PYE'S 1,800th PEAL.

The peals which were rung on the tour in Cheshire and North Wales last week are recorded elsewhere. Eleven were scored in thirteen attempts.

The last of the series, Superlative Surprise, rung at Llandudno was Mr. Bob Pye's 1,800th peal. Only his brother, the late Mr. William Pye, rang more than this number.

Honour was paid to Alderman J. S. Pritchett, Master of St. Martin's Guild, Birmingham, on Tuesday, September 14th, on which day he and Mrs. Pritchett celebrated their 'golden wedding.' A peal of Stedman Cinques was rung at St. Martin's Church by members of the Guild the first time such a compliment has been paid to a Birmingham citizen.

It is interesting to note that the peal was called by an old member of the society, Mr. William H. Barber, of Newcastle, who used to ring in Birmingham—well, we hardly like to say how many years ago.

Mr. W. H. Fussell, young as ever, reached his 76th birthday on September 16th and celebrated it with a peal of Oxford Bob Triples at Wraybury.

The district round Gainsborough is losing an enthusiastic ringer by the removal elsewhere of Mr. Clifford Vessey, who has put in some excellent work in North Lines and Notts. A farewell peal was rung on September 14th.

Beddington and Wallington have received a charter of incorporation, and Beddington bells played their part in celebrating the auspicious event. A peal of Kent Treble Bob Royal was rung on the morning of September 15th.

Mr. Jim Bennett, now rapidly reaching his one thousandth peal, rang his first peal of Bob Royal as conductor last Saturday at Prittlewell.

It is not often that two peals of Oxford Bob Triples are rung in a week, but, in addition to the one at Wraybury on Thursday, another was rung at Claines, Worcestershire, on Saturday.

In honour of the wedding of Mr. G. Biddulph, of Lawton, Cheshire, on Saturday, a peal of Bristol Surprise Major was rung later in the day.

By ringing in the peal of Bristol Surprise Major on Saturday, September 11th, Mr. R. H. Bartram, of Melton Mowbray, has taken part in 'the first in the method' of all peals rung on the eight bells at Ashby Folville. This was his 150th peal.

Two Suffolk Georges, George Pryke and George Bennett, have now rung 200 peals together. They completed the double century at Woodbridge on September 11th.

During the Cambridge University Guild's recent week in Somerset, the Rev. E. Bankes James reached his jubilee as a ringer, September 6th, 1887, being the foundation date of the St. Michael's Juniors, Gloucester, of which he and his brother were distinguished members. The Rev. Bankes James had the satisfaction of celebrating the occasion with four peals on successive days, one with the Bath and Wells Association and three with the Cambridge Guild.

Three members of the Cambridge University Guild, who had just finished their 'week' in Somerset, and five Bath and Wells Association ringers, met on a recent Saturday morning for Stedman Triples at a church not far from Bristol. After half an hour's excellent ringing a loud knocking on the door started, and as this persisted the band came to the conclusion that the Vicar wished to stop the ringing on account of illness or other reasonable cause, and the conductor therefore reluctantly called 'Stand.'

The unlocking of the door revealed the Vicar, who explained that he had 'just come up to see how the ringers were getting on,' and added that 'when they went on with their peal he would like to come in and watch for a few minutes.' The situation was explained to him as tactfully as possible, and he left his belfry richer by the knowledge that, although ringers are always pleased to see the clergy in their belfries, the middle of a peal of Stedman Triples is not the most appropriate time for such visits!

RINGERS' PROGRESS AT SHERBURN-IN-ELMET.THREE FIRST QUARTER-PEALS ON THE BELLS.

The band at Sherburn-in-Elmet are to be congratulated on the excellent progress they have made during the last 2½ years, largely through the enthusiasm of Mr. R. H. Vigor, late of Bromley, Kent, who has been living in the village. With the assistance of Mr. A. P. Cannon, who was on holiday with Mr. Vigor, the following quarter-peals were rung recently, each being the first in the method on the bells: On Sunday, August 29th, 1,264 Bob Major: *W. Hawley 1, *H. Bradley 2, A. P. Cannon (conductor) 3, †Miss D. M. Hawley 4, †Mrs. E. Bradley 5, *Mrs. S. Render 6, †E. Bradley 7, R. H. Vigor 8. On Monday, August 30th, 1,344 Double Norwich Court Bob Major: †Mrs. S. Render 1, †Miss D. M. Hawley 2, †E. Bradley 3, R. H. Vigor 4, †Mrs. E. Bradley 5, †F. Terry 6, †W. Terry 7, A. P. Cannon (conductor) 8. * First quarter-peal. † First quarter-peal in the method. On Sunday, September 5th, 1,260 Grandsire Triples: *H. Bradley 1, Miss D. M. Hawley 2, Mrs. E. Bradley 3, R. H. Vigor 4, A. P. Cannon 5, *Mrs. S. Render 6, E. Bradley (first quarter-peal as conductor and first attempt) 7, *W. Hawley 8. * First quarter-peal of Triples.

MIDDLESEX COUNTY ASSOCIATION.HOW A RINGERS' HYMN CAME TO BE WRITTEN.

The South and West District of the Middlesex County Association and London Diocesan Guild held a very enjoyable meeting at Ruislip on Saturday, September 11th. A fine sunny day, although tempered by a keen wind, helped to attract an attendance of 33. The ringing was of a very good standard for a meeting, and Mr. George Kilby had a busy time in his capacity as acting Ringing Master. Rounds and various methods, including Surprise Major, were rung.

The usual service was conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. Canon E. Cornwall Jones, assisted by the Rev. K. H. Jocelyn. The district vice-president (Mr. J. A. Trollope) read the lesson. The new hymn for ringers, 'Ruislip Bells', was sung, the music of which was composed by the local organist, Mr. A. W. Owen, who was at the organ.

A visit to the George Hotel, opposite to the church, was made for tea, with the Vicar, curate and organist all present. At the subsequent meeting the hon. secretary announced details of the forthcoming joint meeting with the Ladies' and Oxford Diocesan Guilds at St. St. John's, Hillingdon, on Saturday, October 16th. A feature of the social would be a handball (balloon) contest. Teams of seven aside from any tower were invited to enter forthwith. He trusted there would be less bloodshed than on previous occasions!

It was provisionally arranged to visit Twickenham on November 13th and Feltham on December 11th. The annual supper was fixed to be held at Heston on Saturday, January 22nd, while the district annual meeting would be at the same place, probably on February 5th.

Mr. Trollope, in proposing a vote of thanks to the Vicar, stressed the point that ringers were rather apt to take for granted the hospitality offered to them on visits to towers for peals, meetings, etc. He thought that, on the whole, the clergy were very generous in their treatment of ringers. Continuing, Mr. Trollope said he would like to take the opportunity of congratulating Mr. Owen on the new hymn, which had been aptly entitled 'Ruislip Bells.' The speaker had studied English literature fairly extensively and he thought the words a good deal above the usual. The tune was also attractive and good.

Mr. Owen replied on behalf of the Vicar and himself, and said he had noticed that two hymns containing references to bells pealing were sung frequently at ringers' meetings, although not written specially for that purpose. They were 'When morning gilds the skies' and 'Hark, hark, my soul.' He mentioned the matter to a business colleague (Mr. James Benson), who was also a very fine poet, and suggested they might collaborate in producing something for ringers. One day he produced the four verses and in each was included a bell-ringers' prayer. He, Mr. Owen, was struck by the beauty of them, and when he had produced the music for them, obtained the Vicar's permission to call the hymn 'Ruislip Bells.' He added that all proceeds of sales of the hymn sheets (1d. each) went towards the maintenance of the Parish Church.

Before and after business some change ringing on Mr. C. W. Taylor's fine handbells took place. The welcome extended by the clergy, laymen and ringers (especially Mr. Tom Collins) was much appreciated.

DEATH OF MR. R. T. CLARK.A POPULAR DOVER RINGER.

His many friends will hear with sorrow of the death of Mr. R. Thos. Clark, of Dover, at the age of 47 years. After undergoing two operations at the Royal Victoria Hospital, Dover, deceased rallied for a time, but his strength gradually ebbed and he passed away on Friday, September 10th. 'Tom,' as he was popularly known, was ever ready to discuss ringing with a smile. He was always foremost to assist in ringing for any service at the church, his advice to learners was looked upon as a most valuable help coming from one who had made a study of ringing for many years. He was a member of the Kent Association and also the Bath and Wells Association.

He was laid to rest on Wednesday, September 15th, when among those present at the church were the Mayor and Mayoress of Dover. The numerous beautiful floral tributes spoke of the esteem in which he was held. The following were sent from the ringing societies with which deceased had been connected: The ringers of St. Mary's Church, Timsbury; Frome Branch, Bath and Wells Diocesan Association of Change Ringers; St. James' belfry, Dover; St. Mary's, bellringers, Dover. Following the service at the graveside, a course of Grandsire Triples was rung on handbells by Messrs. H. Whitehead, H. J. Saunders, C. Turner and L. Leach, concluding with the ringers' final salute.

In the evening a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples was rung half-muffled at St. Mary's Church by a band representing the Kent Association: G. Eagles 1, S. A. Wells 2, W. Terry (Deal) 3, F. A. Rye (Walmer) 4, W. Kitchen (Folkestone) 5, H. J. Saunders 6, C. Turner (conductor) 7, H. Whitehead 8.

Are you a College Youth?

If you are, you will want to read the new history of the Society, which this year celebrates its Tercentenary.

Mr. J. Armiger Trollope has written a volume of great interest, which brings to light many hitherto unpublished details of the first two centuries of the Society. Facts have been revealed for the first time by the investigation of old manuscripts in the British Museum and Public Record Office.

The early history of the College Youths is largely the story of the development of the art of ringing in the seventeenth and eighteenth centuries, and members will gain a new knowledge of the foundation of their Society, as well as much information about early members hitherto unknown except by name.

The progress of the Society through the years, with its vicissitudes and successes, is accurately traced and admirably told. Every ringer should read this book, which will be published shortly.

It is demy 8vo. in size, bound in cloth covers, and the 112 pages are illustrated by numerous reproductions of old prints in the British Museum, photographs and drawings of famous London churches.

OXFORD DIOCESAN GUILD.NEWBURY BRANCH MEETING AT BUCKLEBURY.

The autumn meeting of the Newbury Branch of the Oxford Diocesan Guild was held at St. Mary's Church, Bucklebury, on September 4th, when about 40 members attended, including visitors from Abingdon, Kingsclere, Bramley, Overton, Reading and Stratley. The service was conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. E. M. Thorp), who also gave an address. Mr. Sidney Lodge, of St. Laurence's tower, Reading, played the organ.

Tea was provided in the Victory Hall by Mrs. N. J. Blunden, and was followed by the business meeting. The chairman of the branch (the Rev. W. Kingsley Kefford) presided, supported by the general secretary (Mr. R. T. Hibbert) and Mr. H. W. Curtis (hon. branch secretary).

The next meeting was fixed for Farnborough on Saturday, October 2nd.

A vote of thanks to the Rev. E. M. Thorp for his address and welcome, to Mr. Lodge for playing the organ, and to Mrs. Blunden for providing the tea, was proposed by the chairman and carried with applause.

Various methods, including Cambridge Surprise and Double Norwich, were rung during the afternoon and evening.

DIAMOND WEDDING.

At Milton-next-Gravesend, Kent, on September 15th, a quarter-peal of Stedman Triples was rung in honour of the diamond wedding of Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Sandford, residents of the parish, which they celebrated that day: C. R. Goodburn 1, Mrs. F. M. Mitchell 2, H. Argent 3, F. A. Mitchell 4, J. Burles 5, G. Morrad 6, F. M. Mitchell (conductor) 7, F. Seabright 8.

Among the many munificent acts of Mr. and Mrs. Sandford in the town was the gift of a new bell to the church when the peal was augmented to eight in 1930 in memory of their son, who was killed in the Great War.

In company with their fellow-townpeople the ringers sent heartiest congratulations.
