THE NEW YEAR.

The year which opens to-day should be a notable one in the long history of ringing. A Coronation is one of the great events in the life of a nation, and in this land of ours the bells for centuries have been used to express the feelings of the people. Next May the ringers will be called upon to play their part in the national celebrations. The 'pealing of the bells' will be expected in every town and village where possible, and it will be the bellringer's great opportunity, not only to share in the rejoicings in his own peculiar way, but to demonstrate the recognised part which the bells play in events of real importance. The more ringers can show that they are ready to discharge these duties on public occasions the more ready will the public be to accept the activities of the ringers on other occasions.

There are two things in this connection to which ringers should forthwith devote their attention. One is that they should see that their bells are in reasonable ringing order. It is not always a question of calling in a bell hanger; a spanner put round the frame and on the nuts on the headstocks will often work wonders, if applied with intelligence. Many a bad-going bell is the result of negligence. The importance of keeping the bolts of the frame and the bells tight is often overlooked. They should be regularly overhauled at all times, but we drop the hint that they should receive special attention now, with the Coronation in view, because good ringing can hardly be expected on bells that go badly.

That leads us to the second point—good ringing. Do not let us imagine that because the bells are to be rung for an occasion of public rejoicing that any kind of ringing will do. Let every band try to put up really good ringing—not only for their own pleasure and satisfaction, but because the public appreciates good ringing. Because the public does not understand our art, let us not run away with the idea that they do not know the difference between good and bad ringing. They do know the difference. It should always be the aim of ringers to improve their striking, and it is as important that the ringing for the Coronation festivities should be good as it is that Sunday service ringing should reach a high level. Let ringers see to it, therefore, that they perfect themselves as far as possible between this and the great event next May. Practise with the definite idea of being able to ring at least one method well for the King's Coronation and thus make the ringing worthy of the occasion.

So, at the outset of what will doubtless prove a memorable year, let the ringers lay their plans in order that in their particular department they may do themselves justice. Let them also lend a helping hand to their weaker neighbours who may be struggling to get some sort of efficiency into new and raw material. It may not be an interesting task, but it may be of immense value to some other band. Indeed, if there is one thing we would urge as a 'good resolution' for this new year it is that ringers should not only strive to make themselves more proficient, but should seek out those less able than themselves and help them with practical assistance and moral encouragement. And so we wish our readers a happy and prosperous new year, success in their undertakings and plenty of good ringing.

EDGBASTON'S CHRISTMAS 'SURPRISE.'GRAMOPHONE BELLS.

We quote the following from the 'Birmingham Post' of Monday. 'Gramophone bells' may be a change for St. Augustine's parishioners, but the development is not one which ringers—or bellfounders—will appreciate.

'The greater part of Edgbaston had a pleasant surprise this Christmas, when peals of bells were heard from the tower of St. Augustine's Church, which has only one bell.

'No appeal fund for bells had been launched; no wealthy benefactor had announced such a gift; no workmen had been seen hauling tons of metal to the tower. The secret had been well kept, and it provided the main topic of conversation for people over the breakfast table.

'Few guessed the reason why, instead of the monotone call to eight o'clock service, everybody had heard a peal of Stedman Caters, with all the dignity and liveliness of the bells of St. Margaret's, Westminster.

'When, before Matins, there was another beautiful peal—Bow Bells this time—curiosity increased. People went early to church to find out what was happening.

'The secret was soon out. The Ven. J. H. Richards, Archdeacon of Aston and Vicar of the parish, had caused recordings of famous peals of bells to be "broadcast," and their music was heard up to half a mile away in each direction.

'On all sides there were enthusiastic comments about the quality of tone, and Archdeacon Richards said last night, after further peals had been rung, that no complaint had been made.

'He added that so far it has been possible to give peals of Stedman Caters and Grandsire Caters from St. Margaret's, Westminster, and of Bow Bells. By the aid of twin records on an apparatus operated in the vestry, the clergy can cause the bells to ring as long as they desire. At the end of a clock may be made to chime the hour. In the tower are four amplifiers of modern design.

'Very few installations of the kind have yet been made anywhere in the country. The firm producing the apparatus is Birmingham Sound Reproducers, Ltd., of Old Hill.

'The installation is experimental, and the period of "probation" will end with the ringing in of the New Year.

'One reason for the experiment, the Archdeacon said, was that he always regretted it was impossible to have bells for weddings at St. Augustine's. Everybody who was married there wanted bells. When he heard of the new apparatus he resolved to try it, and to do it as a Christmas surprise for Edgbaston people.'

THE SEVENTY MINOR METHODS PEAL.CORRECTIONS TO FIGURES.

Mr. Vernon Taylor, the conductor of the peal rung at Algarkirk in 70 Minor methods, writes to correct some errors appearing in the published figures of three of the 720's printed on page 807 of our issue of December 11th. The five leads credited to Benington Alliance should have been:—

46325	Benington Alliance
34562	Frampton Alliance
25634	Frampton Alliance

SOME FURTHER CORRECTIONS TO FIGURES.

There are some further corrections to the figures which we published on page 807 of our issue of December 11th, in connection with the 70-method peal of Minor.

In the nine-method 720, the first lead of the second part, 42356, should be Gedney Alliance.

In the 12 Alliance-Little-method 720, the fourth lead, 63524, should be without a bob.

In the ten plain-method 720, the 35264 should be bobbed instead of plain.

None of these errors was ours.

The following officers were elected for 1937: Chairman, Mr. W. H. Trueman; hon. secretary, Mr. W. B. Kynaston; representative on Management Committee, Mr. C. J. Hathaway.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

To the list of twelve-bell towers which we published last week should have been added Buckfast Abbey, Devon, where there is a new ring by Taylor and Co., with tenor 41 cwt.

Willenhall, Staffs, is to have a ring of ten bells. Messrs. Gillett and Johnston, Ltd., Croydon, have received the contract for the restoration and augmentation. The work includes new frame and fittings, recasting the existing ring of eight and adding two trebles.

Following a peal of Kent Treble Bob at Marden, Kent, on Boxing Day, the same band had two and a half hours' good ringing for a peal of Double Norwich at Linton, when a splice in one of the ropes pulled out.

At Marden the conductor (Mr. T. E. Sone) rang his 250th peal for the Kent Association and completed the calling of a peal from each bell in the tower. Had the peal at Linton been successful, Mr. Sone would have called a peal from every bell in that tower also. After the Marden peal the band enjoyed the hospitality of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Sone, whom they have once again to thank for their kindness.

The new bells of Croydon Parish Church are to be broadcast on Sunday morning at 9.25 on the National (long) wavelength. The method will be Grandsire Caters.

The hon. secretary of the Central Council thanks the Ladies' Guild for the liquid refreshment received in a can, and wishes all the members a happy new year.

A peal of Minor in 14 methods has been rung on handbells at Burton-on-Stather, Lincs. Is this the greatest number of methods in seven 720's rung in hand? If there have been more, we should like to know.

WELL-KNOWN WEST RIDING RINGER.

DEATH OF MR. G. H. HARDY.

The death of Mr. G. H. Hardy on December 5th takes from the Exercise another of the famous band of Dewsbury and, later, Earlsheaton ringers. Mr. Hardy was a well-known local and Heavy Woollen District composer and conductor of Treble Bob. He was one of the famous Dewsbury band, who were noted for their consistent striking abilities, and winners of contests when a quarter-peal of Major was the contest length. For the last 35 years of his ringing career he had been with his native village team at Earlsheaton. That team won the Halifax and District Cup no fewer than a score times. He was also a member of the Dewsbury band of tune ringers and helped to win contests at Belle Vue, Manchester. He was always a willing helper in teaching recruits and brought out many at his local tower. He was very keen on good striking. Striking, with him, was the first thing to consider both for the team and the public. He was 76 years of age and had been a ringer for 60 years. He was a life member of the Yorkshire Association.

He was interred at Earlsheaton on December 9th and many local ringers attended. A touch of Grandsire Triples was rung at the graveside by Hy. Dransfield 1-2, G. Bennett 3-4, Herbert Dransfield 5-6, R. Thickett 7-8. An attempt for a half-muffled peal of Treble Bob on Boxing Day morning unfortunately came to grief after two hours' good ringing, when the 3rd rope broke. The peal was one of Mr. Hardy's compositions and called from his favourite bell, the sixth. The band consisted of two with whom he learned to ring and the remainder were all his pupils, the band being: W. Idle 1, P. Byram 2, H. Lumb 3, Hy. Dransfield 4, M. Hodgson 5, W. H. Senior 6, Herbert Dransfield 7, Norman Ling 8.

FALSE PEAL OF STEDMAN CATERS.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—I regret very much to inform you that the peal of Stedman Caters rung at St. Nicholas', Liverpool, on March 28th last is false. The figures appear in the last issued report of the Lancashire Association, and my attention to their falsity has been drawn by Messrs. C. W. Roberts and A. N. Wood. I sincerely apologise to the band and trust they will forgive me for not exercising greater care. The figures are under my name on page 77.

RECORD PEAL COMMEMORATED.

ST. MARTIN'S GUILD AND THE 11,111 STEDMAN CINQUES.

Boxing Day was the anniversary of the record peal of 11,111 Stedman Cinques rung at St. Martin's, Birmingham, on December 26th, 1901, in 8 hours 2 minutes. Of the band there still survive seven: Messrs. W. Short, H. Middleton, A. E. Pegler, G. R. Pye, W. H. Barber, G. Lindoff and John Barber.

It was decided to attempt a commemorative peal last Saturday and the seven survivors were invited to take part. Only three, however, were able to stand in, Messrs. Short, Middleton and Pegler. Mr. W. H. Barber, who was to have conducted the peal, was prevented at the last moment. Mr. John Barber met the band before the peal and wished them success. As will be seen from the report elsewhere, the peal only 'came home,' the composition including the starting and turning courses of the original peal.

The performance of 1901 is recorded in St. Martin's belfry on a handsome board.

HOBART'S NEW PEAL OF BELLS.

DEDICATION BY BISHOP OF TASMANIA.

Completion of the Cathedral.

With impressive ceremony the new tower and bells of St. David's Cathedral, Hobart, Tasmania, were dedicated on Sunday, December 6th, in the presence of an immense gathering of the public, which filled the Cathedral and all the space surrounding the building.

The blessing of the tower and bells was performed by the Bishop of Tasmania (the Rt. Rev. Dr. R. S. Hay), the ceremony being attended by the Archbishops of Sydney and Melbourne, Bishop Reginald Stephen (former Bishop of Tasmania), and the Australian Bishops of Newcastle, Gippsland, Riverina, St. Arnaud, Bendigo and Goulburn. The Governor of the Island (Sir Ernest Clark), the Lord Mayor of Hobart (Mr. J. J. Wignall), prayer,' and preached a striking sermon from words in Psalm 48, 'Great is the Lord, and greatly to be praised in the city of our God, in the mountain of His holiness.'

After the sermon, the hymn, 'The Church of God a Kingdom is,' was sung, and, following a special prayer of thanksgiving and exhortation, the choir rendered Handel's 'Hallelujah Chorus.'

Then followed the 'Clipping of the Cathedral,' culminating in the blessing of the bells. In this ceremony there were five processions. Escorted by the surpliced choir, the first, comprising members of the congregation, proceeded through the cloisters round the building, and when the circuit had been completed, they joined hands, thus encircling the Cathedral Church. This was done to the accompaniment of the hymn, 'Onward, Christian Soldiers,' symbolising a further notable achievement by the Church in Tasmania.

The second procession of leading lay officials of Tasmania followed, and was headed by the Governor and the Lord Mayor, followed by the visiting bishops' wives and their hostesses, headed by Lady Clark (wife of the Governor), Mrs. Hay (wife of the Bishop of Tasmania), Mrs. Wignall (Lady Mayoress) and Miss Rivers (sister of the Dean). The third procession was of diocesan lay officials, members of Synod, the Diocesan Council, the church trustees, headed by the Cathedral Board and the Church Advocate. Then followed the visiting Arch-representatives of the Navy, the Army and civic life shared in the proceedings which formed a memorable occasion in Church history in Tasmania. Incidentally, it was the first time for more than forty years that a ringing peal of bells had been opened in Australia. The new ring forms part of a chime of thirteen, cast by Messrs. J. Taylor and Co., of Loughborough, and the erection of the tower completes the Cathedral building.

THE BLESSING OF THE NEW TOWER AND BELLS. FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.

By Air Mail.

The great day has come and gone and will live long in our memories. When the bells of St. David's Cathedral were heard for the first time a crowd estimated at 15,000 was waiting in the vicinity to hear them and were thrilled with the beauty of their music.

All day we had taken part in services both appropriate and significant, which reminded us of the culmination of the years of sacrifice and loyal endeavour which have gone to the completion of our Cathedral.

Sixty-eight years ago the foundation stone of the Cathedral was laid; on this day, Sunday, December 6th, 1936, we met within its walls—vice-royalty, prelates and clergy, representatives of the Army and Navy and of all sections of the community—to thank God for the completed building.

The service began with the processional hymn, 'Rejoice to-day with one accord.' Then the Archbishop of Sydney recited a 'bidding bishops, wearing their colourful robes, and their chaplains. The last procession was that of the clergy of the diocese of Tasmania, headed by the Bishop.

When all those taking part had taken up their respective stations, the Bishop, who was surrounded by the visiting prelates, blessed the tower and the bells, dedicating their service to God, and handing them into the care of the Dean. It was a short and simple ceremony, but none the less impressive, and its deep symbolical import was not lost on the huge throng of spectators.

The ceremony concluded with the National Anthem and the Blessing. And then for the first time the bells were heard. They were first rung by boys of St. David's, the Dean's servers, who are forming a band. They rang six bells in rounds and a few call changes. Afterwards the ringers of Holy Trinity Church took charge and rang plain courses of Grandsire Doubles on 1.2.3.5.7., with 4.6.8 behind. The striking was good and the performance very creditable, as the bells had previously only been handled with the clappers tied.

We got a tremendous thrill when the sounds broke out overhead. The bells are a truly magnificent peal, worthy of the famous bell-founders who have supplied them. The 'go' is excellent.

The Holy Trinity Association's ringing was done by A. R. Wilson 1, A. Taylor 2, S. Smith 3, T. Le Rossignol 4, S. Taylor 5, J. Lucas 6, J. Quarmby 7, J. Newell 8.

On the following day we finished up with a garden party at Government House with an attendance of 1,100 visitors. Amongst all the Archbishops, Bishops and other celebrities I felt more than proud to be a bellringer, and, most of all, that I represented my dear English friends. The afternoon, being showery, was spent mostly indoors. Sir Ernest Clark will never forget the handbell ringing in the ballroom by the English ringers when they visited Tasmania.

So far the St. David's boys have broken three stays at their practices, but one other incident might have ended in serious catastrophe. About a month before the opening, a boy went up into the tower unauthorised and held down the rope connected with the chiming hammer of the tenor. The bell was being rung down by one of our members, and the chiming hammer was snapped off. The bell was slightly chipped at the lip. It was fortunate that no further damage was done.

RAY WILSON.

ARCHBISHOP OF SYDNEY'S ADDRESS.

Clergy were present at the ceremony from all parts of the State of Tasmania, among them, in addition to the Dean (the Very Rev. A. R. Rivers), being the Ven. Archdeacon D. B. Blackwood, of Hobart, who played so large a part in arranging for the entertainment of the English visitors in 1934, and the Ven. Archdeacon H. B. Atkinson (Launceston).

In the course of his address the Archbishop of Sydney said the erection of the tower had completed a beautiful building situated in the heart of a beautiful environment. In the symbolism of religion, a tower stood primarily for the presence of God in the midst of His people, and all that that presence could mean to them. While it was true that a church tower was not intended to meet a material need or serve material needs, yet, because of the spiritual significance attached to it, it was most fittingly incorporated in the scheme of have entrusted confidently to us the duty and responsibility of going forward from the point where they had been called away, and so one generation depends upon the faithfulness of another, and this should bring home to us, in special way, a sense of the responsibility which rests on us here and now with regard to the future. We have need to ask ourselves, in a spiritual sense, if we are allowing what others have built to fall into ruin and decay; and if we are leaving in a state of incompleteness some work nobly begun; if we are building, and if we are building unfaithfully work that will stand neither time nor eternity? We are living in a day of superficiality, and we must continually ask ourselves with what materials are we building the spiritual house of God? Is Jesus Christ himself really our foundation stone? Are we building indeed on Him? We must build with the materials God has provided, and we must build in accordance with His plans.

The Archbishop said there was a reminder, too, that the tower, through the ministry of its bells, would speak with no uncertain sound to the community, arresting the thoughts, sometimes careless and forgetful, of all who heard it, into the homes on the mountain-side, over the waters of the beautiful bay, and along the reaches of the wide river their sacred music would extend itself, and through it, in yet another way, the church would speak. The bells were the voice of the church, and their meaning was manifold. The tower and bells would provide not only a memory, but the influence for good of those whose gifts and benefactions made possible their erection and installation.

church buildings as proclaiming far and wide, with strength and beauty, the message of God's presence, His holiness and His protective love.

'If the citizens of Hobart will look upon this stately tower in that way,' continued Dr. Mowll, 'and if the Church and those associated with it will regard it as a witness for God, then all the wealth that has been spent on it will be repaid a thousandfold, and all the labour put into the effort to upraise it will not be in vain in the Lord.'

'Pointing upwards, it will ever be a reminder that God is for all; rising from its foundations, so close to the touch of the hand, it will ever proclaim that God is in our midst. How beautifully sanctified and how greatly strengthened and certain life would be if that great religious truth were better realised and more seriously taken to heart!'

MESSAGE IN THE HISTORY OF THE BUILDING.

'The history of this pile,' continued Dr. Mowll, 'is another message for us—a message concerning man's labour's for the expansion of God's kingdom. Like many cathedrals, it was begun by one generation and completed by another. The work of those who laid the foundations has been entered into by other faithful servants of God, until to-day we see the completed structure, a monument of past faithfulness and present zeal, and a challenge also to the generations of the future calling on them to assert themselves vigorously for the building of that spiritual church which the Great Architect himself has planned, and the extension and completion of which still awaits the devoted labours of master builders under His supreme supervision. How great the privilege is ours to-day that we are permitted not only to be fellow-citizens with the great and good men of the past, but also to share in carrying out enterprises which they began. The magnitude of their undertaking begun in faith, hope and courage left much which they could not perform, but they did labour, and, having laid the good foundations and having done their work, they

THE TOWER AND BELLS.

The fine tower, which now completes St. David's Cathedral, has cost about £15,000 to build. As will be seen from the illustration, it stands a little away from the main building, to which it is connected by a broad corridor, the entrance to which is through the base of the tower. A happy link with English cathedrals is to be found in stones from some dozen or more of them set in the walls of the corridor and each identified by a small brass plate.

The tower is 116ft. high to the top of the turret and a further 18ft. 6in. to the tip of the small spire, making 134ft. in all. The main walls are 3ft. thick and the overall width at the base 32ft. The interior width is 20ft. and the circular staircase is 5ft. in diameter. The tower had previously been carried to a height of 22ft., at which point the floor of the ringing room is laid. The bell chamber floor is 66ft. from the ground, with an intervening floor at the 43ft. level.

The thirteen bells in the tower range in weight and diameter from 1½ cwt. and 1ft. 6in. respectively to 15 cwt. and 3ft. 7in. Five of the bells are hung rigid and the remainder form the ringing peal. They are, of course, equipped with modern fittings, and will, we hope, provide an encouragement for the development of ringing in Hobart.

PRESENTATION TO THE DEAN OF ST. DAVID'S.

On the evening preceding the dedication a conversazione to welcome the Archbishops and Bishops who were visiting Hobart for the ceremony to mark the completion of the Cathedral was held in the City Hall and attended by a large and representative gathering of citizens. The distinguished visitors were welcomed by the Bishop of Tasmania, who spoke of the bequests which had made the completion of the Cathedral possible, and the enthusiasm shown through the years by the Dean (applause). The Dean not only had shown keen interest, but had inspired others, and the result had been the formation of the Friends of St. David's, who had raised in the vicinity of £2,000 in the past seven years. The Cathedral stood in the heart of the city, not only as an architectural adornment, but as a witness to God and of the Christian spirit of the people of Tasmania. They were grateful that the Australian Church was represented by so many high dignitaries of the Church on the mainland.

The Archbishops of Sydney and Melbourne replied, the former recalling the fact that Dean Rivers was the first Precentor of the Cathedral at Sydney.

During the evening the Bishop of Tasmania, on behalf of the clergy and laity of the diocese, presented a silver tea service and tray to Dean Rivers in recognition of what he had done for the Church and in the building of the Cathedral.

CENTRAL COUNCIL'S CONGRATULATIONS.

A letter of congratulation from the Central Council, signed by the president, Mr. E. H. Lewis, was addressed to the Very Rev. the Dean of Hobart, in the following terms:—

Sir,—On the occasion of the dedication I send to you, on behalf of the ringers of this country, congratulations on the completion of the new tower and bells of St. David's Cathedral, with our greetings to the church and ringers of Hobart and our hope that the English art of change ringing may become established in Tasmania. (Signed) E. H. Lewis, President.

ENGLISH TOURISTS' MESSAGE TO DEAN.

The following message was sent by Mr. J. S. Goldsmith on behalf

SETTING THE COPING STONE.

On October 28th the setting of the coping stone was marked by a ceremony. The Union Jack floated proudly at the scaffolding peak when the last stones were placed in position, and among those who were present at the top of the tower were the Bishop of Tasmania, Dean Rivers, Archdeacon Blackwood and Lady Clark (wife of the Governor of Tasmania).

The day's rejoicing was completed when, at the Imperial Hotel, the Dean entertained at dinner the workmen associated with the building of the tower and afterwards was their host at a theatre party.

HOBART BELLRINGERS' ASSOCIATION.

The other peal of bells in the city is at Holy Trinity Church, where the tenor is 9½ cwt. These bells were erected in 1847. There has been a Bellringers' Association at this church for 50 years, and a new stimulus has been given to it by the arrival of Mr. S. Smith, a ringer from Staffordshire, England, who is now Deputy Ringing Master.

Here is an interesting extract from 'The Mercury,' Tasmania's principal newspaper, of November 14th, 1886—fifty years ago, recording the founding of the Hobart Bellringers' Association:—

'A meeting of those interested was held on Friday evening last, when it was resolved that an association for the purpose of cultivating the art of bellringing, and for ringing and chiming the bells of Trinity Church be formed, the same to be called "The Bellringers' Associa-

COPING STONE CEREMONY.

A group photographed at the top of the tower when the coping stone was set in position. From left to right: Mr. G. Sorell, Archdeacon Blackwood, Mr. A. Johnston (architect), Dean Rivers, Mrs. Hay, Lady Clark, the builders' representative, Canon Wilson, Mr. A. R. Wilson (representing the bellringers), Dr. Hay (Bishop of Tasmania), Mrs. May, the Rev. M. J. May (Precentor of the Cathedral). On the way down, Lady Clark, accompanied by the Bishop and Mr. A. R. Wilson, went into the belfry, and a bell, chimed by her hand, sounded over the city.

of the English ringers who visited Tasmania two years ago, to Dr. Rivers, Dean of Hobart:—

On the occasion of the dedication and opening of your new tower and bells, I am asked by the English ringers who visited Australia two years ago to express our sincere congratulations upon the completion of the project. We are delighted to know that in some small way, perhaps, we were instrumental in securing that an octave of the bells should be hung for ringing. We hope that the bells will prove an added glory to your beautiful Cathedral and a joy to all who hear them. We trust also that men may be found who will learn to ring them and that they may be heard over your city rung at least for the Sunday services.

We shall follow with the closest interest the progress made in the great and ancient art of change ringing by those who have the privilege of handling your bells, and hope that in time to come they may emulate the performances of their brethren in England.

We shall be with you in spirit on December 6th; we trust the day will be a very happy one and, in conclusion, send our warmest greetings and good wishes to the people of Hobart, and particularly to the many friends we made during our never-to-be-forgotten stay in your lovely Island.

CONGRATULATIONS FROM MELBOURNE.

Conveying congratulations from the St. Paul's Cathedral Society, Melbourne, to their ringing brethren in Tasmania, Mr. A. A. Savage, the hon. secretary, wrote:—

'You are to be congratulated on having another peal of bells. Hobart will be very rich with ringable church bells; really much better off than we in Melbourne, as those at St. Patrick's Cathedral are a poor lot. I feel a little envious of you! What a thrill you will get when the bells of St. David's ring out for the first time.'

tion." The rules were adopted, and the following officers appointed: President, the Rev. G. W. Shoobridge; vice-presidents, Messrs. A. Dobson, A. Crisp, M.H.A., C. H. Grant, W. Lovett and Bryant Webb; master ringer, Mr. E. J. Rogers; assistant master ringer, Mr. H. L. D'Emden; secretary and treasurer, Mr. A. E. Lovett; committee, the president, master ringer, assistant master ringer, secretary and treasurer, with Mr. W. F. Turner.

It is interesting to note that Mr. Rogers and Mr. D'Emden, original members of the society, were among those who welcomed the English ringers to Hobart on their visit in 1934. They were also among the Tasmanian ringers who visited Melbourne for the opening of St. Paul's Cathedral bells in 1889.

CHRISTMAS BELLS.

The bells of old England have played their traditional part in celebrating the Christmas festival. In some towers they rang on Christmas Eve for the midnight Mass, in many a town and village they awoke the folk from their slumbers in the early morn, and for the church services later in the day they played their part. Below we print reports of a few of the touches rung for the occasion.

CHRISTCHURCH, HANTS.—On Christmas Day, for the 10 o'clock service, a quarter-peal of Bob Maximus (1,320 changes) in 63 mins.: G. Preston (conductor) 1, Miss C. Sparshott 2, Miss P. Hodges 3, E. Hinton 4, R. O. Street 5, W. M. Stone 6, G. Stone 7, K. Derham 8, F. Sparshott 9, J. H. Howell (Hull) 10, G. Scragg 11, W. Fowler 12. First quarter-peal of Maximus by all the band.

WORPLESDON, SURREY.—For service on Christmas morning, 720 of Doubles (240 each of St. Simon's, Bob Doubles and Grandsire): R. Petter 1, Miss K. Avenell 2, S. Petter 3, H. Rance 4, G. Chandler (conductor) 5, V. Gay 6. First 720 by ringers of 1 and 6.

NEW RING OF EIGHT AT BALCOMBE, SUSSEX.

ARCHDEACON'S QUESTION TO RINGERS.

The Archdeacon of Lewes performed the ceremony of dedication of the ring of eight bells at Balcombe, Sussex, on Saturday, December 5th. Five bells of the original ring of six have been recast, and two new trebles added by the parishioners of Balcombe to celebrate the Silver Jubilee of his late Majesty King George V. and Queen Mary.

There was a large congregation present for the service, which was conducted by the Rev. D. L. Secretan (Rector of Balcombe), who was accompanied by the Archdeacon of Lewes (the Ven. F. H. D. Smythe), the Rev. W. A. Dengate (Vicar of Staplefield) and the Rev. Harold J. Scott (Ardingly). Dr. R. F. H. Newton (churchwarden) was present, the other warden (Mr. H. Faure Walker, J.P.) being unable to attend.

A large number of ringers were present from Balcombe, Crawley, Cuckfield, Lewes, Slaugham, Lindfield, Worth, Turner's Hill, Uckfield, Godstone, and from St. Nicholas', St. Peter's and the Church of the Good Shepherd, Brighton. The number included Mr. H. Meads (Crawley Down), who rang at Balcombe Church on the occasion of Queen Victoria's Jubilee in June, 1887.

During the course of his address the Archdeacon said: 'The sound of your bells will go over the land, and I do think we ought to realise what it should mean to us in these days when at least 23,000,000 people in this land are out of touch with organised religion.'

Later he said that the bells were a watchman continually reminding them of the praise and worship in which they should join at the church. They were a witness, sounding a telling plea to the people to come to worship. Let them hope that the ringers would never be ashamed to witness that they, by their worship, followed the call they gave to others. There were 14,000 paid and 33,000 voluntary ringers in this land, and it was quite a serious thing to ask how many did that which they called others to do?

Special hymns were sung, and the service concluded with 'God save the King.'

RECAST BELLS IN REINFORCED FRAME.

Touches were then rung on the bells by visiting ringers, and at 8.15 p.m. the bells were lowered in peal, the visitors being subsequently entertained to supper in the Parish Room by the Rector and churchwardens.

The Rector, in welcoming the ringers to Balcombe, told the company how the scheme had gradually taken shape. He referred to a lifetime's friendship with Mr. Cyril F. Johnston, and expressed the appreciation of the Balcombe people for the excellent work that the bellfounders had done.

The Rector was followed by Dr. Newton, who made an amusing speech and recounted tales of Council meetings and deliberations that night, he said, be almost confidential.

Mr. Johnston thanked the Rector for all that he had said, and he knew that the enthusiasm of the local band would receive the support and assistance of the many expert ringers in the district, so that the accession of the trebles would quickly lead to the practice in the tower of the higher methods in eight-bell ringing.

The proceedings ended with a hearty vote of thanks to the Rector and wardens for their welcome to Balcombe and their hospitality, ably put by Mr. A. D. Stone, formerly hon. secretary of the Sussex County Association.

The old bell frame has been reinforced in many parts and anchored to steel girders, a new metal frame having been erected to carry the two new trebles. No. 7 bell of the new peal is the only bell of the old ring of six which has not been recast; this bell bears date 1628. No. 5 bell now has inscribed upon it the names of the present Rector and churchwardens. All the bells are fitted with modern improvements, and the new peal is highly praised by the ringers. Messrs. Gillett and Johnston are again to be congratulated on producing a fine peal of bells.

SIXTY YEARS' SERVICE.

At the Parish Church, Skipton, Yorks, on Sunday, December 20th, for evensong, and to commemorate 60 years' service at the church of Mr. W. Billows, a quarter-peal of Kent Treble Bob Major (1,472 changes) was rung: W. Billows (conductor) 1, E. Metcalfe 2, R. S. Stanforth 3, E. Wharton 4, J. Garlick 5, W. Bailey 6, H. Stanforth 7, J. Smith 8.

AND A WORD TO OLDER HANDS.

GIVING THE 'YOUNGSTERS' A START.

This is New Year's Day, so to all Beginners, whether they are beginning Grandsire Doubles or Spliced Surprise, or anything that comes in between, we would first of all extend our good wishes for health, happiness and prosperity. For our art may it be a year of unexampled progress, and may it bring a large influx of new ringers, and advance to every one of us already engaged in its pursuit.

New Year resolutions will be plentiful to-day—most of them to be quickly forgotten. But we hope that in every belfry the ringers will make a determination to go ahead; to fill up the gaps, to push on with the art; and, if they themselves are without opportunities of going further, then do their best to raise others less advanced to at least their own standard.

And what about giving some of those youngsters who as yet know nothing about change ringing a little more encouragement and help? They, or others like them, have got to take your places some day, so they ought to be helped along. Besides the quicker they move forward, the sooner you will get their assistance in things which you would like to do, but cannot for want of others to help you. If you find teaching difficult, encourage these youngsters to follow up the articles in this column. The learners can, we think, help themselves a great deal from what appears, and, with your assistance, the stumbling-blocks to change ringing ought to be overcome fairly easily.

With a complete novice, we always think it is essential that he should first understand something of what change ringing is, before he is made to do something in the tower which he doesn't really grasp. We have heard ringers say to the veriest tyro, 'Now, come on, see if you can hunt the treble.'

Except that he knows he has got to do something different to striking over the same bell all the time—which is all he has done up to this stage—he has only the foggiest notion of what is required of him. So the instructor stands behind him and every pull tells him to follow this, that, or the other bell, or to lead, and at the end the beginner is often more bewildered than when he started.

A little preliminary explanation with pencil and paper, or by some other means of illustration, is well worth while. It is not a bad idea to start with a few playing cards. The 'object' of changes can be explained with three; the 'movement' of the bells in changes can quite well be illustrated with the ace, two, three, four and five. The ace, as the treble, can indicate how that bell hunts up and down, and with careful manipulation the work of the other bells can be made plain. If you have an objection to the use of playing cards, get five post-cards and write large on them the figures 1 to 5.

It will give your beginner an interesting exercise to manipulate the cards accurately enough to produce rounds at the end of a given number of changes.

Make it plain to him that two pairs of cards must be changed each time, and that each pair that is changed must be two adjoining cards. Start him first of all changing the two front and the two back pairs alternately and let him see how the 'bells' come round after ten changes.

Next show him that he can extend this ten to thirty, if after No. 1 has appeared twice at the beginning of the line, he changes the front and the back pair, instead of the two front pairs. Don't forget to remind him that he must do this immediately he starts, for No. 1 has already been in the appropriate position.

An exercise like this on the table will go a long way to showing the beginner what he has to do in the tower, and it is helpful if, when he can manipulate the cards successfully, he will copy down in a column on paper the rows as he produces them. The manipulation of the cards will show him the movement of the bells in changes, the record on paper will enable him to examine the detailed effect of that movement. A process that will give a beginner something that he can see and understand from the first will give him an interest in applying it in the belfry and enable him all the quicker to grasp what he is required to do when he is at the rope end.

RECORD MINOR PEAL NOT ATTEMPTED.

ILLNESS KEPT BAND FROM MEETING.

It was not found possible to attempt the record peal of Minor at Felkirk, Yorks, as had been intended on Boxing Day. Through illness the band, as arranged, could not be got together.

However, a company was made up and two 5,040's of Minor rung, one at Felkirk in the morning and the other at Barnsley later in the day. After the peal at Barnsley the company were entertained to 'a good square meal' by their old friend Mr. C. D. Potter, and an enjoyable social evening was spent.

UNCLES AND COUSINS RING FOR WEDDING.

At St. Martin's Parish Church, Ruislip, on Boxing Day, the Rev. K. Jocelyn, Ruislip's ringing parson, officiated at the wedding of Miss Mary Ive, formerly a ringer at Ruislip, to Mr. Reginald Peckham, of Wembley.

After the ceremony a touch of Bob Minor, with tenor covering, was rung by G. Bunce, C. Poultier, W. Bunce, jun., J. Bunce, W. Bunce, sen., Tom Collins and H. Ive, the ringers being two uncles and five cousins of the bride.

REGISTER OF METHODS.

The suggestion that there should be a 'register' of methods kept by the Central Council is, we admit, an old idea. We ourselves have put it forward on more than one occasion in the past, but nothing has ever been done about it, except to some extent to put it into the same category as a register of compositions, which is now admitted to provide a task that it is practically impossible to carry out effectively. A register of methods, however, is nothing like so formidable a proposition as a register of compositions. The object of the latter, if it were possible to work it, would be to establish authorship, but there are two weighty arguments against it. One is the difficulty in having to decide what is an original composition and—as is revealed in present correspondence in our columns—whether two apparently similar compositions are actually the same or different. The other, and less generally accepted, is the question of whether anyone has the 'right' to a composition, it being asserted by those who throw doubt on this right that the production of peals is only the application of mathematical formulæ.

Be that as it may we still think there is ground to ask the Central Council to establish a register of methods—not so much for the purpose of recognising authorship as to save the confusion which arises from a method being rung under different names. There have been many such instances in the past and there was the recent case of the method, rung years ago as Brighton 'Surprise, rung again under the name of Burton. The point in favour of a register of methods is that a vast amount of the necessary material already exists, both in the published books of the Council and in the large accumulation of unpublished methods in the hands of the Methods Committee. The difficulty in checking a method is hardly to be compared with that of identifying a composition and its many possible variations and transpositions, and if there were some central register to refer to it would save not only duplication but often irritation and bad feeling.

A letter from a correspondent this week emphasises what we mean. In 1928 he published four Surprise Major methods in 'The Ringing World.' One of them, obtained from the Central Council's unpublished collection, has now been rung and designated 'Cornwall,' and the fact that our correspondent has received no credit for his share in the proceedings gives him cause for a letter of complaint. In this instance we do not think that anyone else has claimed what he produced, for in the Council's collection it was only identified by a number, but when an author has obtained something of which he is proud we can understand he feels slighted if his name is not associated with it. It is a little courtesy to which he may well think himself entitled. It may be, however, that in this case Mr. Tipler's association with the method was entirely unknown either to the Methods Committee or to the ringers. Such a thing is quite possible. The Council's Collection was the product of mathematics, and although the figures of this method had been previously published, it is quite easy to see that the two sets of figures may never have been brought together for comparison. If a register existed, the author of a method could send it for registration, and, if it was already in existence, he could be so informed. If a band practises a fresh and, to them, unnamed method, they would have a means of ascertaining whether or not it had already been given a title, and whether it had previously been rung. We suggest that a scheme for a register of methods might well be further considered by the Council.

DEATH OF MR. C. J. PARTRIDGE.

A NOTTINGHAMSHIRE RINGER.

We regret to record the death of a well-known Sutton-in-Ashfield ringer, Mr. Cornelius John Partridge, who passed away at the age of 55. He was a man of genial disposition and courteous manner, and a popular figure in the towers of Notts and Derbyshire. Mr. Partridge had resided at Sutton for over 20 years, and when the ring of bells at the Parish Church was augmented to six in 1920 he became a useful change ringer and regular attendant at Sunday services.

His peal record is not available, but he had taken part in a number of peals of Major and Minor in the standard methods. He was a member of the executive committee of the East Derbyshire and Notts Association, and also of the North Notts Association and the Midland Counties Association.

His fatal illness commenced with influenza, which developed into pneumonia, and, following an operation for the removal of fluid, he passed away in Mansfield Hospital on Monday, December 28th.

The interment took place in the cemetery on Thursday, December 31st. A service was previously held in the Parish Church, and the muffled bells were rung by his friends from Sutton, Mansfield Woodhouse, Tibshelf and South Normanton. In addition to the family mourners, several members of the Parochial Church Council and railwaymen were present, and the East Derbyshire and Notts Association was represented by Mr. W. Allin (vice-president), Mr. T. Clarke, Mr. C. M. Heathcote and Mr. L. Rawson.

The sympathy of his fellow-ringers is extended to the widow and family of two sons and two daughters.

THE BELLS OF BIRCH.

TO BE REOPENED BY THE BISHOP OF MANCHESTER.

While a Parish Church has an intimate appeal to its parishioners and congregation, the belfry and ring of bells has an appeal which extends throughout a very wide area, due to the personal interest which ringers display wherever there is enthusiasm for the art. This is very true as regards the Church of St. James, Birch-in-Rusholme. We publish in another column an advertisement in connection with the 'opening of the bells' ceremony, after rehanging, etc., by Messrs. Taylor and Co., of Loughborough.

The bells of this church, which are well known and thought of in the North of England, have been in use for 72 years, and it is 32 years since they were completely overhauled. This time a full set of self-aligning ball bearings have been fitted, and the trial 'touches' have shown the ringers that the physical effort necessary is greatly reduced and the control of the bells greatly facilitated.

We understand that the Birch band of ringers is one of the youngest in the Manchester Diocese, and it speaks volumes for the interest shown in their welfare that the help and advice of the older and experienced members of the art are on all occasions given unstintingly. When the Bishop of Manchester reopens the bells of Birch, any ringers, if they happen to be in the Manchester neighbourhood, will be very welcome.

FOR BEGINNERS.

THE IMPORTANCE OF BELL CONTROL.

We hope the 'five-card trick' which we endeavoured to explain to beginners last week may have interested those who are just starting change ringing. It was designed to show how changes are formed, and the 'movement' of the bells among each other—that is the varying positions they take in relation to each other in the succession of 'changes.'

To do this in the tower with real bells, the ringer has to learn to 'place' his bell in the required position, by pulling his rope at the exact moment which, allowing for the longer or shorter period of the revolution of the bell, according to its size, will result in its striking at the proper interval after the one immediately in front of it. The beginner, therefore, will realise that to pull just 'somewhere' after the other man is not sufficient, if there is to be good ringing—and good ringing, by which we mean keeping time and rhythm, is the first essential.

The larger the bell, the longer it takes to revolve and consequently the longer it takes for the clapper to strike. If two bells of approximately the same size are pulled off together they will, assuming they are properly hung and in good order, strike simultaneously. You can hear the effect of this if you will pull off together the treble and second in your tower. Having done so—and set them again as quickly as possible, for the sake of the public, if nothing else—pull off the treble and tenor together. Unless the bells belong to a very small peal, you will find there is a very perceptible interval between the striking of the two bells.

In actual ringing this difference in the period of revolution must be allowed for and it is necessary to allow more space in striking over a big bell than over a little bell. Two things are essential to perfecting your striking. First you must have complete control of your bell, and, secondly, you must 'use your ears.'

To begin with, you cannot control your bell unless you hold your rope properly and pull correctly. Keep your hands close together, whether at rope end or on the sally, and grasp both with all four fingers of both hands. Let your hands go well above your head every time, and don't snatch. A steady pull and a long one is the effective way of ringing a bell. Ring with your arms and not with your waist, and if you want a little extra weight occasionally, get it by bending the knees.

Before you begin change ringing, which, to be well struck, needs perfect bell control, get some practice with call changes so that you will learn how much 'space' to give each bell as you pull over it. Use your ears. Listen for the sound of your own bell among the rest. It may not be easy to pick it out at first, but if you will count the bells round as they strike, beginning when they are in 'rounds,' you will soon know which is yours; then make sure that it is striking at the right interval—that is with the same interval as between the other bells. Nothing is more irritating than to have the bells going round with a 'jazz' effect; some 'close,' others 'wide.'

The only point at which there should be a break in the 'periods' between the blows is at the 'hand-stroke' lead. Then there should be the space of an extra bell between the last bell at backstroke and the first at the next handstroke. On six bells you should have twelve even blows, and then a one bell interval. On eight there should be 16 even blows and a one bell interval, and so on.

We do not recommend any beginner to attempt change ringing, much as he may be anxious to do so, until he has obtained complete mastery of his bell in rounds and call changes. It is useless to think he can concentrate on changes until he can, practically without conscious effort, 'put' his bell where he wants to, without 'dropping,' or 'over-pulling' it. Apart from creating bad ringing, the beginner who cannot 'place' his bell where it ought to go has little chance of finding his way among the others in changes. Better take a little longer in mastering the fundamentals than pushing on eventually to become a 'poor striker.' There is no greater compliment that can be paid to a ringer than to have it said of him that he is a 'perfect striker.'

Do not be anxious, then, to run before you can walk. If you first learn to strike your bell properly that essential part of your ringing equipment is never likely to desert you, but you will find it difficult to become a 'good' ringer, if you attempt change ringing before you can completely control your bell. Many 'bad' ringers have been made in that way.

WALTHAMSTOW RINGING MASTER'S DEATH.

It is with deep regret that we have to announce the death of Mr. Ernest D. Lillywhite, who passed away on December 18th at the age of 61 years. Deceased had been Ringing Master for 30 years at St. Saviour's Church, Walthamstow, and will be sadly missed for the congenial atmosphere he created in the belfry. Although he had rung several peals, he concentrated mostly on teaching ringing to the young recruits.

The funeral took place at Walthamstow Cemetery on December 23rd, the Vicar officiating. The ringers were represented by Mr. G. B. Lucas, the former Ringing Master of St. Saviour's. Wreaths were sent from St. Saviour's and Southwark Cathedral ringers and many other friends. Sympathy goes out to the widow and family in their bereavement.

HOBART BELLS.DEAN'S LETTER TO ENGLISH RINGERS.

The Very Rev. the Dean of Hobart (Dr. A. B. Rivers) has sent the following letter to Mr. J. S. Goldsmith, under date November 28th:—

'I am asked by the St. David's Ringers to express their gratification at receiving the kindly congratulations forwarded by you from the English Ringers who visited Hobart. Your presence in Hobart was an inspiration to our boys, which came to them as we were attempting to enrol volunteers. We have a goodly number who have been practising on the Holy Trinity bells, and we hope that they will give a good account of themselves on Sunday week, when the first peal will be rung. With many thanks and kind regards.'

PEALS IN HOBART.

Until the installation of the new bells at St. David's Cathedral, Tasmania, of course, had only one ring, that at Holy Trinity Church, Hobart. Four peals have been rung on them; the first two by the Victorian Society (Melbourne):—

December 29th, 1890, Davies' five-part peal of Grandsire Triples, conducted by Harry Adams (a native of Kidderminster).

December 31st, 1890, Holt's ten-part peal of Grandsire Triples, conducted by Joseph Clarke.

November 6th, 1934, Bob Major, conducted by Rupert Richardson.

BELL FOUNDRY BELLS' BUSY AFTERNOON.

After ringing a peal of London Surprise Major on the bells of the Campanile at the Loughborough Foundry on Saturday, December 19th, the same band started for a peal of New Cambridge, which, however, came to grief after half an hour's ringing. Time being too short to permit another start, the opportunity was taken of doing a bit of spade work by ringing a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples so that Geoffrey Harrison, aged 12, could register his first quarter-peal: Geoffrey Harrison 1, Colin Harrison 2, Fred Hill 3, Kenneth Roe 4, J. F. Milner 5, Alec Hutchinson 6, Frederick H. Dexter (conductor) 7, Roger St. John Smith 8.

WEDDING ANNIVERSARY.

At Farmborough, Somerset, on December 12th, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Doubles was rung after an unsuccessful attempt for a peal. It was rung in honour of the tower secretary's 22nd wedding day: William Rosewell 1, A. Gould 2, F. Flower 3, William Shore 4, H. Parfrey (first quarter as conductor) 5, E. Barter 6.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

The honour accorded in death to Harry Pasmore, one of London's most brilliant ringers, of lying on the night before his burial in Westminster Abbey, is one which, by a recent decision of the Dean and Chapter, is extended to all who serve the Abbey in whatever capacity. Mr. Pasmore was a member of the Abbey band. The coffin was placed in the Warriors' Chapel and was covered by the pall that was used for the Unknown Warrior.

Three generations of one family took part in a peal at Staveley, Derbyshire, on New Year's Day. It was conducted from the tenor by Mr. Alfred E. Parsons, whose father, Frederick G. Parsons, rang the 4th, and son, Dennis, rang the treble. It was the latter's first peal. He is only 16 years of age, and great credit is due to him for the way in which he handled his bell.

Mr. John Flint, of Bolsover, who three months ago sustained severe injuries in a coal mining accident, has now recovered, and on Sunday rang again for the first time since the occurrence. After leaving hospital he had an attack of pneumonia. Mr. Flint desires to thank all those who have written to him and his family conveying expressions of sympathy and good wishes.

The many friends of Mr. William Keeble will be interested in his own footnote to the handbell peal rung at Colchester on the last day of the year. The peal is the surest proof that Mr. Keeble is well on the road to the recovery of normal health.

His many friends will regret to learn that Mr. Raymond Philpott, of Portsmouth, and formerly of Guildford, is seriously ill from toxic poisoning. The latest report is that his condition is showing a slight improvement.

The ringer of the treble to the peal of Stedman Triples at St. Mary's, Walthamstow, on Boxing Day, was Francis W. Corney.

The heavy ring of eight at Wellingborough Parish Church is to be tuned and rehung in a new frame by Messrs. Gillett and Johnston, Ltd., Croydon.

Congratulations will be extended to the Trowbridge ringers who, on the last day of the old year, rang the first peal of Cinques on their own bells and, incidentally, in the county of Wilts.

Not only is credit due to them for ringing the peal at the first attempt, and the fact that there were eight first peals of Cinques, but also for overcoming an unexpected obstacle.

After ringing had been in progress about 2½ hours the electric light was switched off at the main for several seconds, came on and was switched off again. At the conductor's urgent call they kept going in the hope that the light would come on again, which it did, and the bells were soon righted. It transpired afterwards that some mischievous choirboys were having a game with the main switch.

A handbell peal rung on Wednesday evening of last week at St. Albans is the result of constant practice during the last nine months. Previous to that time ringers of 1-2 and 5-6 had done no handbell ringing, and have now rung a peal 'in hand' of Major and Minor.

A peal rung at Haworth, Yorkshire, was the first on the bells for 33 years. It was rung as a compliment to Mr. James Riley, of Haworth, who has completed 60 years as a ringer. It is believed that, prior to the peal of 1903, only one other peal had been rung on the bells, namely, in the year 1853.

Mr. James George extends his hearty greetings and good wishes for the coming year to all his friends. Unfortunately he is not making the progress he would like after his illness. The effects of the whooping cough, from which he suffered after his fall, are still painful, but he hopes for greater improvement when the weather gets warmer.

The ringer of the 4th in the peal at Boreham (Kent Treble Bob Major) on Monday, December 21st, was Ernest J. Runter, not Rutter as printed.

METHODS AND AUTHORS.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—May I be allowed a little space in which to point out that the figures of a method appearing in 'The Ringing World,' dated December 18th, 1936, namely, 'Cornwall Surprise,' also appeared in your columns, together with three others, in the issue of September 7th, 1928, and under my name. As this was well in advance of the formation of 'The Methods Supply Stores,' I have every right to believe that the name of the author should have been added in the Central Council's MSS., and not a number, as though it was unfit to be owned by anyone.

In view of the fact that many errors have lately occurred, may I suggest that when a method is rung it should be published with as little delay as possible? This would enable a mistake (if any) to be rectified.

Many methods have never appeared at all. Some have been published more than once. Some have appeared without the name of the author, as was 'Erith.' Others have been wrongly claimed. What a state of affairs! To get full support for 'The Ringing World' all tastes must be catered for. There should be no 'secret society,' and, above all, interest for all. May I ask, just as a special new year's favour, if you would kindly let us have the figures 'Leeds'? There are many others outstanding, but for the time being the above method will satisfy.

Lutterworth.

DEATH OF MR. HARRY R. PASMORE.

WESTMINSTER ABBEY HONOURS.

'We with uncovered head
Salute the sacred dead,
Who went and who return not.'

In the early hours of Christmas Day, when the world was as yet unawake, at the Charing Cross Hospital, Harry Pasmore breathed his last, and the ringing world and we, his friends, are sad at his passing in his 56th year.

After a severe operation several years ago he had not enjoyed robust health, but at the same time he was able to continue his duties at the G.P.O. and also partake of his great hobby, both on tower and handbells, although in a very minor degree, but in early November he was advised to take a long rest from duty and finally entered the hospital on November 27th.

Friends visited him, and Dr. Perkins, of Westminster Abbey, was with him just before the end.

At the special request of the Dean of Westminster Abbey, his mortal remains were taken to rest one night in the majesty and beauty of our national Valhalla, a tribute of love and affection by Dr. Perkins (who is in charge of the belfry), which will ever be remembered by his family and friends.

The funeral was at 4 o'clock on Thursday, the last day of 1936, at Wandsworth, and the services, both in the church and at the graveside, were conducted by Dr. J. Perkins.

Canon of Westminster Abbey. Officials of the Ancient Society of College Youths present: Master Lewis, Secretary Cockerill, Treasurer Hughes, Trustees Challis Winney and Bob Newton, and the following members paid their last respects to their friend: Messrs. Young, Fenn, Gray, Rumley, Butler, Green, Horton, G. Debenham, Oxborrow, MacDonald, Miles and also Miss Cockerill, Miss Deer, Miss Gray and Mrs. H. Langdon. The Royal Cumberland Youths were represented by Mrs. C. Matthews.

A course of Stedman Triples was rung on handbells by W. Roughton, C. F. Winney, H. Langdon and A. B. Peck.

A BRILLIANT CONDUCTOR.

During his membership of the Ancient Society of College Youths—about 40 years—Harry Pasmore was prominent throughout, being a brilliant conductor on tower bells or handbells. He was a member of the bands at both St. Paul's Cathedral and Westminster Abbey, acting as secretary to the former, where he had a reputation for strict impartiality as regards fines. Not all the wiles of his friends could ever lure him to remit one which was justly due.

It is by no means an exaggeration to say that 'Harry' had a great gift for ringing; in fact, he was quite exceptional and attracted notice from his very earliest days.

Apparently he found ringing, both on the tower and handbells, so easy he could never quite understand others having the slightest difficulty in acquiring various methods.

When the Rochester Row band were at their best they rang on two occasions three peals of Surprise Major in one day, in three different counties, Harry being one of the band both days. He conducted the first peal of Cambridge Maximus rung in London and the first peal of Spliced Surprise Major called from an 'inside' bell.

But it was on handbells that he was seen at his best, and he can have had few superiors. Possibly his greatest performance was to conduct from 34 the first peal of Surprise Major, viz., Superlative, ever rung double-handed. Besides conducting peals of Stedman Cinques from each pair of bells, he conducted on handbells peals of Stedman and Grandsire, Triples, Caters and Cinques and Treble Bob and Plain Bob Major, Royal and Maximus.

He was a member of the band that rang Carter's 'Odd Bob' one-part peal of Stedman Triples double-handed non-conducted. Another notable peal in which he took part was the non-conducted peal of Stedman Cinques, rung at St. Michael's, Cornhill.

The actual total of his peals is not available, but without a doubt it would be a difficult matter to find another record to compare with his for merit and quality. The number could have been much greater were it not for the fact that only the best was acceptable to him.

Of very truth a great ringer, a greater conductor and a warm-hearted companion and friend. We shall miss him more than words can express.

CORONATION DAY BROADCAST.

SUGGESTION TO MAKE BELLS FEATURE IN PROGRAMMES.

An effort is being made to get the bells of old England put into a leading place in the broadcast programmes on Coronation Day. The B.B.C. already recognise the characteristic English nature of church bells well rung. They recognise it in the interval signal, which introduces Bow Bells; in the Sunday programmes of church services; and last Sunday they used church bells as the characteristic feature of English life, when it came to Great Britain's turn in the exchange of greetings among 24 European nations. The bells of a church in Northern Ireland and the bells of Westminster were the B.B.C. contribution to the programme.

The proposal that bells from well-known belfries should be heard over the air from time to time throughout Coronation Day, as a preface to each of the many items which will make up the programme, would add to the 'national' character of the B.B.C.'s output, and we hope it will materialise. The suggestion is sponsored by the Rev. Walter Pitchford, the well-known Midland broadcaster, whose talks on 'Bell Chimes,' 'Cathedrals,' etc., have been so widely appreciated. Backing of the proposal by members of the public might be an added inducement to the B.B.C. to carry out the scheme.

BROADCASTING FROM CROYDON.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—The first service broadcast of the year deserves favourable comment. Listening this morning to the Croydon bells was a great pleasure—a fine peal, excellently struck; it should stimulate others to do as well when opportunity arises. There have recently been too many indifferent service broadcasts. We expect the best music, etc., over the air; why not the best ringing? Congratulations to Croydon.

WONDERFUL RECORDING.

B.B.C. AND ST. MARY REDCLIFFE BELLS.

An electrical recording of the bells of St. Mary Redcliffe, Bristol, was made on December 20th. The engineers visited the tower and had a look at the bells, the tenor being raised singly for close observation. The bells were then raised, and the van with the recording instruments moved into a favourable position on Redcliffe Hill. After the ringing had concluded the record was 'run over' for sound, and proved 'O.K.' the sound of the bells being plainly heard by some of the ringers who looked out of the belfry window some 80ft. up.

The record will form part of a talk on 'Bells of the West,' some of which have already been recorded, and others are to follow.

When the conductor was told about what was to be done, he had to put on his thinking cap, to consider what would be best. He decided on 'Original' Cinques. This met with opposition from many. One said, 'Here we have a good Stedman Cinques band, and we are going to ring this stuff.' However, the conductor had his way, and afterwards everyone agreed it was best. One ringer put it very well when he said, 'It showed the beauty of the bells and not the skill of the ringers, and that is what was wanted.'

AMERICAN APPRECIATION OF BROADCAST BELLS.

MALDON LINK WITH WASHINGTON.

By the kind invitation of Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Mansfield, the ringers of All Saints', Maldon, were again entertained to supper on New Year's Eve, 14 ringers accepting the invitation.

It is a time-honoured custom at All Saints' to ring during the evening and again at midnight on the last day of the year.

After supper some of the letters were read which the Rector of Purleigh had received from American people expressing their appreciation of the broadcast of a service, including 120 changes of Minor on the bells, rung by six ringers from All Saints', Maldon.

This broadcast on July 5th was in connection with the tercentenary of four of the bells which were put into the tower in the year 1636, during the time that the Rev. Lawrence Washington was Rector, he being the great-great-grandfather of George Washington, the first president of the United States.

When the Rev. Lawrence Washington left Purleigh he came to live at Maldon, and was buried in All Saints' churchyard on February 27th, 1652, and in the year 1928 the American people gave a beautiful stained glass window to his memory. This is fixed in the south aisle of All Saints' Church.

Among the letters received some were from New York, Montreal, Florida, California, Victoria, etc., and in every case the broadcast was said to have been very clear. It made some of the writers feel that they were in Purleigh Church listening to the service.

STAFFORDSHIRE SURPRISE.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—Having had the honour of naming 'Staffordshire Surprise Major' through the kindness of Mr. Gabriel Lindoff, I wish to congratulate the members of the Stafford Society who were recently successful in ringing the first peal of this beautiful method in its home county.

ST. MARTIN'S GUILD.BIRMINGHAM SOCIETY'S ANNUAL MEETING.

The annual meeting of St. Martin's Guild for the Diocese of Birmingham was held on Saturday. Owing to the Saturday market in the Bull Ring ringing at St. Martin's Church was restricted to one hour. During this time the bells were kept going and several methods were rung.

The business meeting took place in the Tamworth Arms, Moor Street, at which the Vice-president, Councillor A. Paddon Smith, presided in the absence of the Master, Alderman J. S. Pritchett, M.A. An apology for non-attendance was read from Vice-President J. George.

All the officers of the Guild were re-elected as follows: Master, Alderman J. S. Pritchett, M.A.; Ringing Master, Mr. F. E. Haynes, M.A.; trustees, Messrs. T. Russam and Councillor A. P. Smith; auditors, Messrs. J. Preston and E. T. Allaway; librarian, Mr. G. F. Swann; hon. secretary and treasurer, Mr. T. H. Reeves.

The treasurer presented the balance sheet and reported an increased balance in hand of £5, which he thought was very satisfactory. The auditors having given their report, the accounts were unanimously adopted.

The tower election of Mr. T. W. Lewis, of Worcester, as a life member was duly ratified.

An invitation to hold the next quarterly meeting at Aston Parish Church on Saturday, April 3rd, was unanimously accepted. It was also agreed to hold the bi-quarterly meeting at Shirley Parish Church.

HENRY JOHNSON COMMEMORATION DINNER.

The secretary reported that in accordance with the resolution passed at the previous quarterly meeting he had booked the Connaught Room at the Imperial Hotel for Saturday, February 27th.

On the proposition of Mr. W. Davies, seconded by Mr. F. Price, it was unanimously decided to invite the Vicar of Aston (the Rev. H. McGowan, M.A.) to preside on this occasion. Several members complained of the inconvenience caused by ringers applying for tickets as late as the dinner day, and suggested that a time limit should be fixed. After some discussion it was decided to leave the matter in the hands of the secretary.

Under 'any other business' the Ringing Master called attention to the Tuesday night practice at St. Martin's. He complained that for several months these had been rather poorly attended, and asked for better support this year.

Mr. Albert Walker said it would be a pity to stop the practices. The bells had been rung regularly on Tuesday nights since 1755, and it was recognised by the people who held open-air meetings in the Bull Ring that they could not be held on Tuesdays, as that was 'the bellringers' night.' He promised to give the Ringing Master all the support he could and urged others to do likewise.

This concluded the business and the remainder of the evening was given up to social intercourse. Several good touches were brought round and tunes rung on the handbells, whilst others were not so successful. With Mr. Albert Walker at the piano, Mr. Harry Withers in good form and voice, and Mr. Paddon Smith and others in reminiscent mood, many interesting incidents which had taken place in that house '10, 20, 30, 40, 50 years ago' were recalled. This ended another very pleasant evening.

BOXING DAY RINGING TOUR.CYCLING THROUGH BEDFORDSHIRE.

Meeting at Silsoe Church on Boxing Day morning, a number of Bedfordshire ringers were joined by Mr. W. Stote, of Coventry, and a start made by ringing the five bells at this pretty little church, a handy ring with tenor somewhere in the region of 8 cwt. The next tower was Upper Gravesham, which was duly discovered after a long ride through a private park, and past the front of a magnificent mansion, which, fortunately, was unoccupied. The Church of St. Giles contains a ring of five, with an 11 cwt. tenor; bells 1, 2 and 4 were cast by Miles Graye. On to Shillington by fog-bound lanes and by-ways plentifully supplied with mud. Shillington Church is a fine structure, with a tower of brick which replaced the old steeple when it crashed down in 1704. The 'splice' is not a happy one, but the tower contains a fine ring of five bells with tenor 1 ton (approx.), rung from the ground floor. After a good pull here the local inn provided the company with welcome refreshment. The bells were described by the numerous inmates as the best in the county, but the visitors decided that Christmas was the best time of all to be in harmony with all men and so disputed it not.

Soon after, they passed over the boundary to visit Pirton, which is in Hertfordshire, and enjoyed a ring on another five, with tenor 11 cwt., restored by Mears and Stainbank in 1839. These go very well and the ringers stayed for some time, making themselves a nuisance at the local shop and Post Office in search of postcards in spite of these being closed. But the people were very kind and the ringers got what they wanted. Next came Meppershall, with a central tower. Here the ringers have to stand in the choir stalls to ring. The seats are hinged and are moved back to allow room. Through the kindness of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence, the party were entertained to tea, after which the towers of Campton and Maulden

FOUR YORKSHIRE RINGS RESTORED.BELLS REOPENED AT WATH, KIRBY MOORSIDE, NEW MILL AND MELTHAM.

Within six weeks no fewer than four restored rings of six bells have been reopened in Yorkshire, and in all four cases the work has been carried out by Messrs. J. Taylor and Co., of Loughborough.

The light ring at Wath, near Ripon, tuned and rehung with new fittings in a new metal frame, was reopened on Saturday, November 21st, while on the following Thursday the Bishop of Whitby rededicated the six bells at Kirby Moorside, near York.

This restoration has been made possible through the generosity of Capt. Holt, of Ravenswick, Kirby Moorside, and the bells have been recast and hung with new fittings in the old frame, which has been strengthened.

Owing to the fog and the remoteness of the village only a few ringers were present, including Mr. J. P. Fidler, representing the founders, and visitors from Headingley, Pickering and Scarborough, but all were agreed that Kirby Moorside now possesses a ring of bells which is both a delight to handle and to hear, the only regret being that the octave had not been completed—an omission which it is hoped may be remedied before long.

On Monday in Christmas week the Lord Bishop of Wakefield dedicated the restored bells at New Mill, near Huddersfield.

These bells, cast by Taylors in 1864, have a 12 cwt. tenor, and a marked improvement has resulted by cleaning and tuning, while iron headstocks and ball bearings and all other modern fittings contributed to the easy 'go' of the bells.

Ringers were present from Friezland, Kirkburton, Holmfirth, Shelley, Almondbury and Huddersfield, and after the opening course of Oxford Treble Bob by the local company, all were given an opportunity to try the bells, good use of which was made until a late hour.

Meltham, near Huddersfield, has had a ring of six bells since 1836, when Messrs. Taylor, then of Oxford, installed a ring with a 13 cwt. tenor, and until these bells celebrated their centenary nothing in the way of repairs had been carried out. A few months ago, however, the old oak frame was found to be decayed, and, on the advice of the founders, the bells have been rehung with new fittings in an 'H' type cast iron frame, on steel girders. Four treble bells, fixed stationary with a carillon machine capable of playing 14 tunes on all ten bells, was installed by Messrs. Gillett in 1879. These four bells have now been recast, and the carillon is being reconditioned by Messrs. Potts, of Leeds.

The Bishop of Wakefield rededicated the bells on New Year's Eve, in the presence of a large congregation, which included ringers from Kirkburton, Almondbury, Huddersfield, etc. At the dedication three well-struck leads of Oxford were rung by the local company.

Great pleasure was expressed by residents at hearing the sound of the bells once more, after an absence of over three months, and the parishioners now look forward to hearing the almost forgotten tunes of the carillon, which has not been in use since the first year of the war.

NORTH STAFFORDSHIRE ASSOCIATION.A TOWER FOR SURPRISE METHODS PRACTICES.

A meeting was held at Longton on Saturday, January 2nd. Thirty-five members and friends were present from Burslem, Burton-on-Trent, Cheddle, Draycott, Kingsley, Longton, Leek, Norton, Newcastle, Uttoxeter and Stoke-on-Trent.

After tea, held in the Dorothy Cafe, the Rector of Longton (the Rev. Samuels) extended a welcome to all present, and expressed pleasure at meeting Mr. J. H. Swinfield once more.

The Rector also stated he was pleased to have a band of ringers who were interested in ringing and regularly attended the services.

A vote of thanks to the Rector and ringers was proposed by Mr. R. G. Lewis, of Uttoxeter, and seconded by Mr. J. E. Wheeldon, of Norton.

Three peal certificates were presented, viz., to William Bloor, Edward Cheadle and William Wade, jun., all of Longton. The presentation was made by Mr. William Wade, sen., former leader of Longton tower, who will complete his 50th year as a ringer next Easter.

The following new members were elected: E. Atkinson, of Newcastle, and W. Carter, H. Carter, T. Reeves and N. Holland, of Longton.

The chairman of the committee announced that he had got permission to use Tunstall bells on Wednesday nights for practising Surprise methods. The hon. secretary appeals to all ringers who have reached this stage of ringing to write to Mr. T. Hurd, Bethel House, Regent Street, Burslem, for further particulars.

were visited. Mr. A. Linfield met the company at the last place, where touches of Cambridge Minor and Spliced Oxford and Kent were rung. Mr. Linfield later provided refreshments to a tired but contented party before they broke up to go their different ways.

The company wish to say 'Thank you' to the incumbents of the various towers visited, and to Messrs. Jeffries, Lawrence, Hilliard and Linfield for help and hospitality.

ANOTHER PEAL AT QUEEN CAMEL.

MISFORTUNES ON THE ROAD—SUCCESS IN THE TOWER.

Saturday, January 2nd, 1937, will not easily be forgotten by those who had the pleasure and privilege of ringing a peal on the finest and heaviest peal of six bells in the country. Apart from the actual performance itself, the incidents and misfortunes occasioned in getting to the village of Queen Camel and how they were surmounted are not uninteresting. The attempt came about thus: After three of the band had rung a peal at Hoar Cross, Staffordshire (tenor 30 cwt.), last September, the idea of attempting an eight-method peal at Queen Camel was suggested.

QUEEN CAMEL CHURCH, SOMERSET.

The tower contains the heaviest ring of six in the country.

The first step was a visit to the tower one Sunday in December by Messrs. R. G. Cross and A. P. Cannon, who travelled by motor-bike from Basingstoke. They were made very welcome by Mr. F. J. Reeves, the local captain, and permission for a peal was readily given. A date was suggested and the band got together. Saturday arrived at the end of a hectic week of last minute telegrams, postcards and telephone calls, mostly by A. P. C.!

The Rev. C. E. Wigg kindly took two of the band in his car, and Mr. Gordon Cross took Messrs. Cannon and Richards. A start was made from Reading at 10.30 for a journey of 95 miles or so. The two cars kept together as far as Andover. Just after that Mr. Wigg passed Gordon's car and was soon out of sight. Then our trouble began! Just outside Amesbury our car, which incidentally Gordon had hired for the day, refused to go another inch! Serious and expensive engine trouble had arisen, and the only thing to do was to 'phone' a garage and request a 'tow.' After a wait of some 30 minutes, the breakdown car arrived and the 'casualty' was towed into Amesbury. Time: 12.35 p.m. An inspection of the car revealed that it would take a week to repair the damage. There were no trains and no buses, and at 1 p.m. we were still 35 miles from our destination, at which we were due at 2 p.m.

The only thing to do was to hire a taxi at 6d. a mile. The taxi's return fare to be paid as well! The cost was 35s. The taxi was excellent and we arrived at Queen Camel at 2.25 p.m. Mr. Reeves met us at the church and the others of the band were waiting up in the tower.

A wedding was in progress, and when this was over the bells were pulled up and ropes adjusted, the 5th and tenor ropes having been taken up, before starting, on the wheel. Owing to the writer exerting too much strength on the 4th, when pulling it up, he broke the stay, and this again delayed us 30 minutes or so while Mr. Reeves kindly mended it with screws very efficiently.

METHODS AND COMPOSITIONS.

FALLACY IN MR. G. BAKER'S REASONING.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—In 'The Ringing World' dated November 27th last there appeared a letter from Mr. George Baker, of Brighton, asking the Methods Committee for a mathematical proof whether or not two given compositions were the same. The committee failed to rise to the bait, and four weeks later another letter from Mr. Baker attempts to explain why these two compositions are different. It would seem, therefore, that he did not really require the information, but merely wished to contradict the statement he expected the committee to make.

We, the undersigned, being two members of the Methods Committee, would like to give our own personal opinions on the subject and to point out to Mr. Baker the fallacy in his reasoning. Firstly, we wish to state as a fact that of the two compositions, one is the reverse of the other.

(1) and (2) below are the two compositions referred to, whilst (3) is (2) adapted for a method with an H lead end. It will be seen that in H and J methods the bobbing positions occur in the same order, but the course-end appears between O and F in the former and between I and O in the latter.

(1) H Method i.e. 5738264 (8ths)	(2) J Method i.e. 7856342 (8ths)	(3) H Method i.e. 5738264 (8ths)
23456 F I O	23456 O F I	23456 F I O
35426 — — —	63254 — — —	32654 — — —
23564 — — —	25346 — — —	53246 — — —
32465 — — —	34256 — — —	42356 — — —
35264 — — —	35264 — — —	35264 — — —

Now, a comparison of the bob intervals shows that (3) is the reverse of (1), and nothing Mr. Baker may say can dispute it; and, since (2) and (3) are the same it follows that (2) also is the reverse of (1).

In conclusion, we would point out to Mr. Baker that in comparing two compositions for methods with 8th's place made at the lead end, it is best to take as the course-end the natural course-end after the 'Out' position in each course.

ERNEST C. S. TURNER.
STEPHEN H. WOOD.

THE SEVENTY-METHOD MINOR PEAL.

The 'correction' made in our last issue to the 720 in 12 Alliance-Little methods was 'incorrect.' The fourth lead end should be 63524 (instead of 62534) and the bob should be retained.

It was not until 3.55 p.m. that the peal was commenced. Incidentally the weights of these fine bells are not uninteresting:—

Treble: 8 cwt. 2 qr. 27 lb.
3rd: 15 cwt. 3 qr. 9 lb.
4th: 20 cwt. 11 lb.
5th: 26 cwt. 3 qr. 6 lb.
Tenor: 36 cwt. 3 qr. 7 lb.

None of the band had rung at the tower before, except Messrs. Cross and Cannon, who had only rung Doubles with the local company. The striking throughout the peal was most creditable and there was scarcely a mistake. Double Oxford coming No. 4 was rather hard work, and the writer was glad when that method was finished, with three-pull dodging and spapping four times in each course.

To single out any ringer as being especially competent would be most unfair. Everybody pulled their weight, and the conducting was most efficient. But special mention must be made of the member of the fair sex who rang the 2nd. She kindly took the place of the Rev. A. G. G. Thurlow, laid up with flu, right at the last moment. She rang her bell faultlessly, with no mistakes and seemingly no effort. It is a splendid thing to say for the 'go' of the bell that she did not complain of any fatigue, and could easily have rung another 720. Not once did she 'clip' any of the bells, and never once did the bell 'drop.'

The bells came round at 7.28 p.m. and everyone was delighted. A pleasant hour in the Mildmay Arms was spent with the company of Mr. Reeves, and at 9 o'clock Messrs. Wigg, Golden and Richards and Miss Cross departed for home, arriving at Reading at 1.45 a.m. on Sunday. On the way they ran out of petrol which delayed them half an hour.

The only thing for Gordon and the writer to do was to stay the night at the Mildmay Arms and then catch the 10.54 a.m. train on Sunday back to Reading at an additional cost of 17s. So for a few weeks they will be 'on short commons'! But it was well worth all the trouble and expense.

Before closing, the band wish to thank Mr. F. J. Reeves for his unflinching help and courtesy to them, for giving them permission and meeting them at the tower and getting everything ready. The writer would also like to thank all the band for their valuable assistance in helping him to achieve his greatest six-bell ambition at the age of 23. Incidentally all the band were 'under 29,' their average age being just 25 years.

CONTRASTS.

What contrasts we find in connection with ringing! The same post brought us a record of the doings during 1936 in the tower of St. Mary-le-Tower, Ipswich, where over 118,000 changes were rung in successful peals and touches, and the almost pathetic story of the heartbreaking task confronting the leader of the band at St. Giles'-in-the-Fields, London, to maintain Sunday ringing and practice. One tower still on a flood tide, which has carried the company on its crest for years; the other struggling, almost submerged, in despair to keep the bells ringing at all. Ipswich is one of the outstanding examples of a tower blessed for more than a generation with the possession of a competent band, whose enthusiasm and enterprise seem to grow with the years. The ceremony which took place there only a few weeks ago is evidence of that. Ipswich has made twelve-bell history and the society, with many grey heads among its members, is showing it is still possessed of the spirit of youth by electing one of its youngest members—and a lady member at that—as 'Master' for the year. It is a pleasing compliment to pay to an accomplished young ringer, but it is a proof that the society has confidence in youth, when supported by the experience of age, and is not afraid to entrust its offices to the rising generation.

The difficulties confronting the band at St. Giles'-in-the-Fields are those which have come in the past to many London towers. There are very few in the inner radius of the Metropolis where ringing can be regularly maintained. Where service ringing is done, it is by bands who, for the most part, have to come in from the outer suburbs for the purpose. Indeed, in all the large towns and cities it is increasingly difficult to keep ringers at the churches. The migration to the outskirts has made service in this direction not only more costly in money, but also in time, and it is not easy to see what remedy can be applied. Ringers who are able to lend a hand at St. Giles'-in-the-Fields, and at other churches where similar difficulties are to be found, will, needless to say, be cordially welcomed, but it seems to us the only real hope is to strengthen the band from among those who are worshippers at the church. Those who already have an interest in the services are more likely to respond to a call for help than those who have no present association with the church. This line of action has already proved itself in the City of London, and we believe is the only course that can be pursued with any hope of lasting success. We trust, however, that an appeal for help in building up a band may not fall upon deaf ears among the many ringers in and around London. Temporary help is often possible, where a promise of permanent assistance may be out of the question. Perhaps some form of pooling of resources might be a way of strengthening ringing in some of the London churches. The difficulties are numerous, but, we hope, not insuperable. The many ringing organisations which cover the greater London area might well discuss this subject, for St. Giles'-in-the-Fields is not the only church at which assistance would be valued, and if only the societies would draw closer together instead of seeming, officially, to keep as wide apart as possible, something useful might be done.

LADIES' GUILD.

To the Editor

Dear Sir,—It is a pleasure to read in your leader of December 25th that the general secretary of the Ladies' Guild is able to report 'increase in membership and renewed interest.' I think most ringers will hope that the secretary will again next year be able to make a like report.

The ladies have had to fight for this result and thoroughly deserve whatever success they have achieved. But there—where pluck and 'sticking to it' is concerned, the ladies beat us hollow.

With reference, Sir, to your remarks, 'Despite the scoffers who think the Guild redundant,' and again, 'there are still some ringers who think the belfry should be the exclusive preserve of the male sex,' may I say that, from experience gained in the early days of ladies' ringing, I believe that such men were always in a very small minority indeed.

I taught my wife to handle a bell in the years 1908-9, and between that time and 1918 we had cycled to, and rung in, just over 400 belfries, from Newcastle-on-Tyne to Penzance. Perhaps we were lucky, but we have nothing but the most pleasurable recollections of every one of the towers we visited, and in a very great number of those towers my wife was informed that she was the first lady ever to have handled a bell.

It surely goes without saying that the presence of a good woman in the belfry (as any and everywhere else) cannot but have an upward trend.

'To chase the clouds of life's tempestuous hours,
To strew its short but weary way with flow'rs,
New hopes to raise, new feelings to impart,
And pour celestial balsam on the heart;
For this to man was lovely woman giv'n,
The last, best work, the noblest gift of Heav'n.'

Why bar the belfry from all such advantages? God bless the ladies and their Guild, say I.

ROBERT WHITTINGTON.

Cranleigh, Surrey.

CENTRAL DISTRICT IN HERTS.

A very enjoyable meeting of the Central District of the Ladies' Guild was held at St. Augustine's, Broxbourne, Herts, on Saturday, January 2nd, and, in spite of the 'flu' epidemic, was fairly well attended.

The service was conducted by the Rector, the Rev. Murray Walton, who welcomed the Guild to his church. Miss Bradford (assistant secretary) officiated at the harmonium.

Tea was held at the Welcome Cafe and was thoroughly enjoyed by all. The Rector was present. Unfortunately Mr. Radley, who had been making all the necessary arrangements for the meeting and was present to welcome the visitors at the church during the afternoon, became a victim of the 'flu' and had to leave the party before tea much to his great regret.

After tea a very short business meeting was held.

Beckenham was proposed as the place of the next meeting, to be held on Saturday, March 6th, with Beddington as an alternative.

The next Wednesday meeting will be held on February 1st at Laytonstone.

Further ringing took place afterwards.

ST. MARY-LE-TOWER SOCIETY.

118,000 CHANGES IN A YEAR.

The annual meeting of St. Mary-le-Tower Society, Ipswich, was held on January 5th, when the following officers were elected for the ensuing year: Master, Miss Phyllis E. Tillet, who is the first lady to occupy the 'chair' in this society; Deputy Master, George A. Fleming; treasurer, Charles J. Sedgley; steeplekeeper, Frederick J. Tillet; auditors, Robert H. Brundle and William P. Garrett; secretary, George E. Symonds, 28, Chevallier Street, Ipswich. The secretary, in his report, stated that during the year the society rang the first peal of Double Norwich Royal on the bells of Stonham Aspal; a grandfathers' peal of Stedman Triples at St. Margaret's, Ipswich, by a band all residents of the borough; and Cambridge Minor at Ashbocking. In addition the changes rung on St. Mary-le-Tower bells for services, practice and peals were as under: 1 peal Superlative Maximus, 5,280 changes; 1 peal Cambridge Maximus, 5,280; 1 peal Kent Treble Bob Maximus, 5,136; 2 peals Stedman Cinques, 10,014; 31 courses Cambridge Maximus, 16,368; 19 courses Superlative Maximus, 10,080; 10 courses Rochester Maximus, 5,424 (some being bob courses). Other methods of Maximus included Little Albion, 4,032 changes; touches of Cinques, 11,069; Royal, 25,320; Caters, 6,469; Major, 12,348; Triples, 1,798; grand total 118,618.

This is an average of 2,281 changes per week. The methods of Royal and Major included Cambridge, Rochester, Kent and Oxford Treble Bob, Double Norwich, Plain, Bristol, Superlative, London and Forward, Caters and Triples, Stedman and Grandsire.

These figures do not include failures in peals and touches. The total for 1935 was 117,035.

FOR BEGINNERS.

PLAIN HUNTING.

If the beginner has learned thoroughly to control his bell, the sooner he can get on to change ringing the better. He may not find it very easy at first, and we want to warn him not to be dispirited if he does not grasp it as quickly as he thinks he ought to do.

Change ringing is a curious thing to learn. Some people can see it almost straight away; others seem to grope about in darkness for quite a long time, until all at once the light of understanding breaks upon them—and they think how stupid they must have been not to have 'seen' it before.

The point we want to make is, if you do not grasp the idea of ringing changes straight away, don't give up. Stick to it and eventually you will master it and find what a fascinating thing it is.

If you studied the little practice 'game' we gave you a fortnight ago, you will have observed from the manipulation of the cards how changes are made. When you come to apply this to your actual ringing you have got to acquire the facility of 'seeing' where your bell is among the rest as the changes are produced at every pull on the ropes. This facility is called 'ropesight,' that is you have got to be able to distinguish, as you ring, which rope you are pulling after, and which rope is being pulled after yours. All your observations in the ringing chamber have to be made by the ropes as they rise and fall—if the ropes follow each other in the right order, of course the bells are in the right order in the changes.

Changes are produced by what are known as 'methods,' that is by systems which automatically carry on the sequence of changes from the 'rounds' from which you start, until 'rounds' again comes up, and your 'touch' or 'peal' is completed.

To ring changes successfully you must memorise your method and know exactly what to do at every change from beginning to end. That does not mean that you have to learn beforehand the order in which you will strike over the bells; but you must know the 'path' or track which you have to follow—it may be a straight path up and down, like the treble in Grandsire, or it may be an intricate one, such as is followed by a working bell in the more complicated methods.

A straight path is called 'plain hunting' and the beginner will do well to content himself for his first lesson in doing this plain hunting. If the hand to which he belongs are change ringers they will probably put him to ring the treble to Grandsire as a matter of course. If all the band are beginning change ringing together, their first step should be to learn to hunt their bells, and they can do this by a method called 'Original,' which in its plain course produces twice as many changes as there are bells engaged.

It will help things also if at the start changes are rung with the tenor 'covering,' so that you not only have a bell to keep the 'beat,' but you know exactly which to lead from, which is a great help in keeping good striking.

A little thought will show you that in hunting up, after you have led, your pace will be just a little slower than when you strike continually in the same place in rounds, because one more bell has to strike before you than in the last change. If you are ringing on six bells and are leading, between your two blows at handstroke and backstroke five other bells have struck, but when you move into 2nd's place six bells strike between your own two blows, and so on all the while you are moving up.

Whenever you remain a whole pull in one place, as you do at lead, or in lying behind, there are only five bells between your pulls, as in rounds, and when you hunt down, from back to front, there are only four bells before you pull again. This means that in coming down towards the lead, you pull in more quickly. Indeed, it is essential that in this hunting down you should do it smartly, not only to secure good striking, but to keep your place. You get lost more quickly by being slow in hunting down than in any other way.

Remember this, once you have pulled your bell off, nothing you can do can alter the place where it will strike at that change—it may be a good blow, it may be a bad one, but you can't alter it. Therefore, once you have pulled off, you can concentrate your attention entirely upon the next bell you have got to follow.

If you are hunting up it is fairly simple. It will be the bell that is following you this time. Look for him immediately you pull off. With only four other bells to trouble about, you will soon learn to spot him quickly. And, as you go, remember to count your places; that is the position in which your bell is striking, 2nd, 3rd, 4th, 5th.

Here is another point to remember. As you hunt up (or down, for that matter), once you have struck over a bell, you can dismiss it from your attention until you turn round and hunt in the opposite direction. Thus, as you hunt, you gradually reduce the number of bells from which to pick out the next you require, so that if you have already passed in turn over 2 and 4 you know the next must be either 3 or 5, and, if it is 5, then next time there is only the 3rd left. This knowledge simplifies your task very much, especially when hunting down, which is, perhaps, just a little more difficult in its ropesight than is hunting up.

It is for that reason that it is important to know the place in which your bell strikes. If you are ringing changes on five bells with the tenor covering, after you have led, and, in hunting up, have struck in turn over the other four, you are in fifth's place. Before you actually start hunting down you have to have one more blow

DEATH OF MR. PERCY W. H. CAME.

BRISTOL RINGER'S LONG ASSOCIATION WITH ST. MARY REDCLIFFE.

The death took place last week at Bromley, Kent, at the residence of his son, of Mr. Percy W. H. Came, who had been an outstanding personality at St. Mary Redcliffe, Bristol, for over 70 years. As a boy he went to the school on Redcliffe Parade, a stone's throw from the church, and also sang in the choir of the Parish Church as a boy. He learnt to ring a bell there, and when at one time things were not exactly as they should be in the tower, the Vicar sent for him and asked him to take over control of the tower and bells. This he did, with beneficial results to the Exercise in Bristol, for, soon after, united practices were held which resulted in peals of Stedman and Grandsire Cinques and Bob Maximus being rung under the conductorship of the late Mr. H. Porch, and the powerful backing of the late Mr. James Hinton.

After the bells had been restored and the weight of the tenor increased from 39 to 50½ cwt., Mr. Came was the first to ring it to a peal. He rang many other peals, the most noteworthy being the peal of Stedman Triples at the Church of St. Helena, Lundy Island, in the year 1905.

He was senior sidesman at St. Mary Redcliffe, where the funeral took place on Saturday last, when a goodly gathering of old friends and representative people attended the choral funeral service, with Mr. Ralph T. Morgan at the organ. The 23rd Psalm and the hymn, 'Praise, my soul, the King of Heaven,' were sung by the congregation, and the choir sang 'I hear a voice from heaven,' and the Russian Contakion for the Departed, 'Give rest, O Christ.'

The ringers taking part in the muffled ringing before and after the service were Messrs. E. J. Brown, H. H. Tucker, G. T. Daltry, C. H. Gordon, M. Osmond, F. G. Leaker, A. Pearce, G. Pearce, E. Clark, F. Porch, E. Pring and W. A. Cave, and Mrs. E. Wilkins. Canon Coleridge, who was also in the peal at Lundy Island, travelled from Crowthorne to pay his respects to his old friend, and the family of the deceased expressed their deep appreciation of this act. Whatever faults the deceased ringer may have had, his enthusiasm and encouragement did their part in the advance of change ringing which took place in Bristol during 1897 and onwards.

A MIDNIGHT BELL TRIAL.

INTERESTING RESTORATION AT SAHAM TONEY, NORFOLK.

On New Year's Eve the newly-rehung bells at Saham Toney, Norfolk, were given a first trial by the local and district ringers for the 'watchnight' service. The bells, it may be remembered, were dedicated on October 18th, but owing to the great amount of concrete used in restoring the tower, it was not deemed advisable to have them rung for three months. The old framework, one of the oldest in England, has been lifted bodily some 10ft. higher in the tower by the builders, who have tied the tower together with a concrete grill floor. On this has been erected a new teak frame, and the six bells (tenor 13½ cwt.) rehung on teak headstocks with all new modern plain bearings and fittings.

The work of restoring the tower was carried out under the supervision of Mr. Weir, the architect, by Messrs. Peek Vout, of Watton, Norfolk, and the restoration of the bells was carried out under the supervision of Mr. J. E. Burton, of Norwich, himself a ringer, by Mr. Alfred Bowell, of Ipswich.

Great satisfaction was expressed by all present with the 'go' of the bells. A representative party from the neighbouring towers attended, in spite of the very late hour of 11.30 p.m., for the trial. The old treble and fifth bells have been recast and all were tuned.

WEDDING BELLS

On Wednesday, December 23rd, at St. Peter's Church, Pentre Rhondda, immediately after the wedding of Miss D. M. Spenser Jones, daughter of the Vicar of the parish, a quarter-peal of Stedman Triples: W. Page 1, G. Wines 2, G. Page 3, J. W. Jones 4, T. J. Hamlin 5, A. W. Heath 6, T. Page (conductor) 7, H. Crabb 8.

(making a whole pull in 5th's). This gives you time to observe the four bells in front of you.

You have, at the next pull, to quicken your pace, so as to strike fourth instead of fifth. You must look for three ropes to go and pull smartly over the third one. Next time there will be only two to go before it is your turn and then only one. After which it will be your turn to lead. Do this steadily, leaving space for one bell between the backstroke of the tenor and your own handstroke. Don't forget, in hunting down, as you pull over each bell, you can ignore it until you have led.

It is a help also if you can remember the order in which you strike over the bells as you hunt up (with the treble in Grandsire). You will take the bells in the same order on your way down.

If you are all beginners, try a plain hunting course of Original. The odd bells (1 and 3) start by hunting up, and the even bells (2 and 4) start by hunting down. No. 5 will hunt down after lying one blow behind. This can be your first step, and if you are in an eight-bell tower you can try it out on seven bells with the tenor covering.

TITLES IN PEALS.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—May I enter a plea for the retention of titles in the records of peals? It seems to me that the record not only suffers from a degree of inaccuracy, but that in years to come it will lose some of its historical interest. The omission of 'Mr.' can lead to no misunderstanding and in no way lessens the position of man as 'Master,' nor is it likely to belittle him in the eyes of the opposite sex! But, in the interests of accuracy, I much regret the occasional absence of 'Mrs.' and 'Miss,' and of titles denoting office or rank.

DUNCHURCH BELLS.

CONGRATULATIONS ON NEW YEAR'S EVE RINGING.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—I should like to give a word of praise to the ringers at Dunchurch for the way they rang the new year in. The Moulton Radio Handbell Ringers were returning from the Birmingham B.B.C. Studio to Northampton, and about midnight reached Dunchurch, and, hearing the sound of village bells, stopped the car to listen. The music of those bells was most delightful and the tapping was perfect. I do not suppose the ringers realised that a party of change ringers were listening to them and enjoying the way they handled the ropes. We passed on resolving to imitate them.

BROADCASTING.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—I would like to supplement what my friend, Mr. Coles, wrote last week re the broadcast of Croydon bells. I was fortunate to hear the last four leads of the Caters and they came over perfectly and striking was 'O.K.' I had the pleasure of hearing them in Myland Lodge, Colchester, where I expect to remain for a short period. Will Croydon please give us some more in the near future?

W. KEEBLE.

P.S.—It is also to be hoped that we shall get bells on the air during the Coronation proceedings.

ELY DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION.

ANNUAL MEETING OF CENTRAL BRANCH AT ELY.

By kind permission of the Vicar, the Rev. Elliott Simpson, the annual meeting of the Central Branch of the Ely Diocesan Association was held at St. Mary's, Ely, on Saturday. Mr. H. Cole, of the local company, was there to receive the ringers about 3 p.m., and good practice ringing took place.

A short Guild service was conducted by the Vicar of St. Mary's, his address being much appreciated. Basing his address on the words, 'We have seen His star in the east and have come to worship Him,' the moral could be summed up in these words, 'The ringers, by ringing the bells, reminded people of the call to prayer, also that their own presence was required at worship.'

After the service tea was partaken of at Bonnett's, and the business meeting followed, the Vicar presiding. The balance sheet of the branch was presented and passed, and several new members were elected.

The election of officers resulted as follows: President, the Rev. Elliott Simpson, M.A.; secretary, Mr. F. Warrington (Over); Branch Ringing Master, Mr. F. Thulbon (Wilburton); the committee to consist of captains of belfries attached to the branch.

Votes of thanks were accorded the Vicar for allowing the use of the bells, taking the Guild service and presiding.—The Vicar suitably replied.

The ringers returned to the church, where further ringing took place, the bells being lowered just before 9 p.m.

It was proposed that the next annual meeting take place at Over.

ROYAL CUMBERLANDS AND THE DUKE OF KENT.

ROYAL REPLY TO MESSAGE OF CONGRATULATION.

A peal of Stedman Triples was rung by the Royal Cumberland Youths at St. Martin's-in-the-Fields on Boxing Day, in honour of the birth of a daughter to the Duke and Duchess of Kent. The Master (Mr. G. H. Cross) sent an intimation of this celebration, with the congratulations of the society, to H.R.H. the Duke of Kent, and has received the following reply from the Private Secretary:—

'I am desired to convey to you and to the members of the Society of Royal Cumberland Youths the sincere thanks of His Royal Highness the Duke of Kent for their kind message of congratulations.

'His Royal Highness was very pleased to hear of the peal of bells that was rung at St. Martin's-in-the-Fields by eight members of the society.'

"GENTLEMEN,

"I have pleasure in enclosing cheque in settlement of accompanying account.

"The work you have done gives more than satisfaction. It has called forth many expressions of admiration, not only from our own ringers but from many others from neighbouring parishes who have visited our tower since the ring was installed again. The old bells have, by your treatment, greatly improved in tone, while that of the two new bells is particularly sweet. We are being told that we have now one of the most melodious rings in the county. The chiming apparatus is found to be most effective, as well as easy to manipulate and control.

"We thank you very much for the care and attention you have given to the work, and for what you have done for us.

Yours sincerely,
(Signed) F. H. W. TAYLOR."

BELFRY GOSSIP.

A broken clapper put an end to an attempt for a peal of Treble Twelve at St. Mary-le-Bow, Cheapside, on Saturday.

Members of the Royal Cumberland Youths should note that the annual meeting, at St. Martin's-in-the-Fields, is to be held on the 30th inst., and not the 23rd as advertised last week.

A nice compliment has been paid to that brilliant young lady ringer, Miss Phyllis Tillet, who, at the age of 18, has been elected Master of St. Mary-le-Tower Society, Ipswich—an office never before filled by a lady. Miss Tillet comes of a long line of ringers, covering at least five generations, and she will now have the privilege of 'ordering' her father and grandfather, who are active members of the society.

Five members of the Aldershot band rang in a peal of Superlative Surprise Major last week without having previously made a bob in the method. Things like this happen, of course, among those expert bands who make a habit of ringing peals in new methods without previous practice, but that does not in any way detract from a fine performance by these young ringers, three at least of whom can count their peals on the fingers of one hand.

When Mr. Albert Relfe, of Lamberhurst, Kent, rang his 200th peal last Saturday (92 of which he has conducted), the rest of his band consisted of his own pupils.

There are few rings of bells which remain in a tower for a hundred and sixty years before a peal is rung on them, but such has been the case of the bells of Methwold, Suffolk. They were converted to six by Osborn and Arnold in 1778, and the first peal was rung on them last Saturday.

In connection with the deaths of Messrs. H. Rann and R. J. Dawe, recorded in this issue, it is a melancholy fact to record that four of the band who took part in the first peal rung by the Editor of 'The Ringing World,' on April 8th, 1893, have passed away in little over a year, the others being Messrs. G. B. Bleach and E. C. Merritt. There is only one other survivor of the band, Mr. A. F. Nye, who has long since given up ringing.

FALSE PEALS.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—I very much regret to find two peals of Treble Bob Major variations of F. Robinson's 5,184 which I have called are false, viz., 5,024 rung at Tenterden, April 2nd, 1923, and 5,056 at Farnham, May 21st, 1923. I used the alternate calling in last course of two parts. I tender my sincere apologies to those who took part in these performances.

FALSE PEAL OF BOB ROYAL.

Dear Sir,—It has been pointed out that the peal of Bob Royal (5,040 changes) by H. Dains, rung for the Salisbury Guild at Wimbome on October 22nd, 1921, is false. As the conductor, I offer my sincere apologies to the members who took part in same.

PRESENTATION TO MR. MAURICE E. WILSON.

WEDDING GIFT OF CHIMING CLOCK.

A very pleasing ceremony took place in the Sheffield Cathedral belfry on Sunday last, when Mr. Maurice E. Wilson was presented with a clock, with Westminster chimes, by the members of the Cathedral company, on the occasion of his marriage to Miss Eva Chafer, which took place on December 12th last.

The presentation was made by the Master, Mr. Harold Naylor, who spoke of the loyal support to the company given by Mr. Wilson during the past 15 years, in the course of which he had been a consistent member. He hoped Mr. Wilson would accept the gift as a mark of appreciation and esteem from the whole of the members, together with their best wishes for a long and happy union in the future.

Mr. S. F. Palmer, secretary, supported the Master's remarks.

Mr. Wilson feelingly thanked the members for their generous gift and hoped the good feeling that already existed amongst the members of the company would long continue.

NEW SURPRISE METHODS.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—There is not the slightest wish to lessen the credit due to those men who have supplied the Exercise with so many good methods, but to put authors' names to the methods in the Central Council MS. collection is simply impossible. Cornwall Surprise, which Mr. Tipler claims, is one of those obvious methods which anyone who is interested in method construction is pretty sure to write out sooner or later. It has been composed by several people. Who was the first I do not know, but Henry Dains forestalled Mr. Tipler by many years.

J. ARMIGER TROLLOPE.

TWO SUSSEX RINGERS DEAD.

HERBERT RANN AND ROBERT J. DAWE.

Sussex has lost two well known ringers by the deaths of Herbert Rann, of the St. Nicholas' Society, Brighton, who died on Dec. 29th, at the age of 67 years, and Robert James Dawe, of Southover, Lewes, who passed away at the same age, on Jan. 4th.

By the death of Robert James Dawe, who died suddenly at his home at Southover, Lewes, on Monday afternoon, January 4th, Sussex ringing has lost a familiar figure, the County Association a stalwart supporter, and many ringers a valued friend. For 48 years 'Bob' Dawe was active in Sussex ringing, and the association owes a great deal to him for the quiet but excellent work which he did on its behalf while secretary of the Central Division from 1905 to 1912.

When Mr. Dawe began his ringing in 1889 at Lewes, there were not many places in Sussex where change ringing had been firmly established. The County Association was in its infancy and at his own tower only 'stone' ringing prevailed. Purchasing Snowden's 'Rope-sight,' Bob Dawe began to study change ringing and persuaded some of his friends to join him in the tower. About this time the late Rev. C. D. P. Davies was curate at Ringmer, a village three miles away, and regularly for the weekly practice Bob Dawe did this journey on foot, with such others of his band as would join him, to learn something more of the mysteries of change ringing.

He was an apt pupil, and in May, 1891, he rang a peal of Grandsire Triples, followed little more than six weeks later with Stedman Triples, with which peal began a long and intimate association with Mr. George Williams, who called the peal, and afterwards close on a hundred others in which Mr. Dawe took part. Bob Major and another peal of Grandsire followed in September of the same year, and in the meantime he was coaching the band in his own tower in the Plain Bob method. In October, with four of his pupils standing in, he called a peal of Bob Triples. Before the year was out he had rung the treble to a peal of Double Norwich, and the way was paved to an interesting career in peal ringing.

FIRST SURPRISE PEALS.

After spending a couple of years at Eastbourne, where he assisted Christ Church Society, he moved to Brighton, where greater opportunities were opened up by membership of the St. Peter's Society, at that time reaching the peak of its fame in Surprise ringing, under Mr. George Williams' conductorship. In the years that followed Mr. Dawe took part in the first peals of Norfolk, Westminster, Oxford and Bristol Surprise ever rung, and in the first peals of London in the City of London and in Hampshire.

In gauging the value of these performances one has to remember how little Surprise ringing was practised in those days. A Surprise peal was really a performance of considerable merit, and it was largely the activities and success of the Brighton company of that period that popularised this form of ringing.

Among other peals in which Mr. Dawe took part were 6,720 of London Surprise in 1901, at St. Peter's, Brighton, the only peal of Double Norwich Royal ever rung in Sussex (1902), and (in 1911) the first peal of Cambridge Surprise Royal in the county.

With a peal of Stedman Triples at St. Clement's, Hastings, in 1912, Mr. Dawe was the first ringer to ring a peal on every ring of eight and ten bells then in the county. He afterwards rang peals on most of the new rings that were installed, but at the time of his death there remained one or two on which his ambition had not been fulfilled.

The total of the peals in his carefully kept peal book number 484, and it is strange that in this issue of 'The Ringing World' one of these peals, rung at Parnham in 1923, is withdrawn as false. Mr. Dawe never counted himself as a 'conductor,' preferring to leave that department to others, and he had called, in all, only 23 peals. He was, however, a very safe and good ringer. His peals for the Sussex Association numbered over 400, and others were rung for the

THE LATE MR. R. J. DAWE.

Kent County Association, the Winchester Diocesan Guild, the Oxford Guild, the Midland Counties Association, the Llandaff and Monmouth Diocesan Association and the Royal Cumberland Youths.

One of his closest ringing friends for something like 40 years was Mr. Frank Bennett, and it is interesting to note that he conducted no fewer than 180 of the peals in which Mr. Dawe took part.

Mr. Dawe's association with St. Peter's, Brighton, lasted from 1894 to 1906, when he removed to Seaford, before returning to reside again in Lewes. Throughout all his ringing career he has never ceased to be a member of the Southover, Lewes, Guild. In addition to serving the association for seven years as a divisional secretary he also represented the association on the Central Council from 1909 to 1911.

Mr. Dawe had not enjoyed very good health for some two or three years past, but his death came quite unexpectedly. He attended the funeral of his old ringing friend, Mr. Herbert Rann, at Brighton, on Saturday, January 2nd. On Sunday, he rang as usual for service, and went to work on Monday morning. He was taken ill in the afternoon and died within a few hours.

Widespread sympathy with the widow and family in their bereavement showed itself in the attendance at the funeral on Friday afternoon. A large number of parishioners attended the service at Southover Church, which was conducted by the Rector (the Rev. D. G. Matthews). The ringers present were Messrs. A. J. Turner, G. P. Elphick, F. J. Crees, T. W. Woolston, W. J. Coppard, W. Ward, W. A. Boyes, G. Wiggins, C. J. Rugg and H. S. James, of the local band, F. Bennett (Brighton), J. S. Goldsmith (Woking), A. Simmonds, O. Wood, P. G. Piper and E. Garbutt (Seaford). The choir led the singing of the hymns, the 23rd Psalm and the Nunc Dimittis, and the interment took place in the churchyard, not far from the tower where he had given loyal service to the church and spent so many happy hours.

In addition to the widow, a son and two daughters are left in bereavement. Mr. R. W. E. Dawe is now the conductor of the band at Southover.

HERBERT RANN.

Herbert Rann, who died at Brighton on December 29th at the age of 67 years, was associated for most of his ringing career with St. Nicholas' Church. He began his ringing at the little Sussex village of Waldron, where a young band struggled successfully to learn Grandsire Triples. It was not many years, however, before Mr. Rann removed to Brighton, where like Messrs. Merritt, Dawe and Bennett—he was employed at the Railway Works, and became a carriage examiner.

For a short time he rang at St. Paul's in West Street, where now the bells are entirely unused for ringing, and then Mr. Rann transferred his energies to St. Nicholas' Church, where he was a member of the band for considerably over 40 years. As a ringer he never aspired to anything above the standard methods, but he was a safe conductor of Grandsire Triples and Caters, of which he called many peals for the Sussex Association.

The funeral took place on Saturday, January 2nd, and was attended by several old ringing friends.

GUILDFORD DIOCESAN GUILD.

ANNUAL DINNER.

Central Council President on Coronation Ringing.

A very enjoyable evening was spent on Saturday by members and friends of the Guildford Diocesan Guild on the occasion of the seventh annual dinner, which was held at the Lion Hotel. About 80 were present, the chair being taken by the Master (Major J. H. B. Hesse), who was supported by the Ven. E. J. Newill (Archdeacon of Dorking), Mr. E. H. Lewis (president of the Central Council) and Mrs. Lewis, the Rev. Canon Coleridge (Master of the Oxford Diocesan Guild), Mr. W. Harrison (vice-president of the Guildford Guild), Mr. J. Corbett (hon. treasurer) and Mrs. Corbett, Mr. J. S. Goldsmith (hon. secretary), Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Hughes (London), Mr. F. E. Dawe (Woking), Mr. Newsom (Croydon), etc. Members were present from Aldershot, Bagshot, Farnham, Guildford (Cathedral and St. Nicolas'), Godalming, Haslemere, Leatherhead, Mersham, Pirbright, Seale, Thames Ditton and West Clandon.

After an excellent dinner, the loyal toast was honoured on the call of the chairman.

A BROKEN LINK.

Mr. J. S. Goldsmith, having mentioned that apologies for absence had been received from, among others, the Lord Bishop of the Diocese, Bishop Golding-Bird (Archdeacon of Surrey) and the Mayor of Guildford, proposed the toast of 'The President, Vice-President and Honorary Members.' While they regretted the Bishop's absence from that gathering, he said, they appreciated the fact that the Bishop occupied the office of president of the Guild. It showed his interest in their work and gave them a status in the diocese which they could not otherwise hope to occupy. They had met that evening, the speaker continued, under the shadow of a great loss. The death of the Provost of Guildford had removed one of their vice-presidents and it was difficult to say what they all must feel on such an occasion. They, as a guild, would miss the Provost very much indeed. He not only took an active interest in the Guild, attending their meetings and being present at their dinners, but they looked upon him as a liaison officer with the diocesan authorities. He was the strongest if not the only link with the ecclesiastical organisation of the diocese. That link had been broken and it would be difficult to replace. That it should be replaced, he was sure, would be the Provost's own wish. He hoped it might be possible to find in the diocesan hierarchy someone who would associate himself with the Guild sufficiently closely that they might feel that the Guild was still intimately allied, as they wished it to be allied, with other branches of church work in the diocese. It might be that they had with them that night a representative of the Church to whom they might look to succeed to the place in the Guild formerly occupied by the Provost. Mr. Goldsmith added that he wished to take that opportunity of associating the Guild with the many expressions of deep regret at Provost Kirwan's death that had been voiced throughout the diocese.

They were left, he continued, with only one vice-president at the moment, and they were very happy to have Mr. Harrison with them. He was no mere figurehead. Only those who had worked behind the scenes knew what the Guild owed to Mr. Harrison. From the Guild's formation he had thrown himself into the work with an enthusiasm which, had he (the speaker) not seen it, he would not have believed possible for one who was not actually a ringer. Mr. Harrison had served them without stint in everything they had asked him to do (applause). Mr. Goldsmith expressed appreciation of the support given to the Guild by the hon. members, but added that, while the Guild valued the financial assistance they received, they would like to see more of the hon. members among them on such occasions as that. He could assure them, however, that their money was well spent. But for their help the Guild would not be able to make the grants they did to bell restorations in the diocese, grants which, though of modest dimensions, showed that they were at least prepared to give as well as to take (applause).

LACK OF CLERGY'S INTEREST.

Mr. Harrison, who responded, also paid tribute to the late Provost, his co-vice-president, whom he had known, he said, probably longer than anyone else in the room. He had had the closest friendship with him for 42 years. It had been a privilege to know him and he was favoured with his friendship and his approval—or disapproval, if, as sometimes happened, he disagreed. Mr. Harrison asked the company to stand a few moments in silent tribute to the memory of the Provost.

Resuming, Mr. Harrison said their success as a Guild was tempered with one or two things which one would like to improve upon. There was no doubt about the harmony of the Guild and the good fellowship, but he did wish that one or two of the weaker districts could receive a little more attention with the hope that they would take a fuller share in the corporate work of the Guild. Then there was the more or less vexed question of the attendance and interest of the clerical side of the diocese in matters relating to the Guild. He thought they ought to make a special effort during the next twelve months to see if they could not get the clergy to take an interest in their towers and particularly in the men in the towers. It was a pity that, even allowing for 'Mr. Influenza,' they only had with them that night their old friend Canon Coleridge, and Mr. Archdeacon Newill, whom they cordially welcomed to that gathering. He hoped more clergy would be induced to take a keener interest in the Guild and help them in the various projects and questions which they had to face (applause).

PEAL RINGING FOR SPECIAL OCCASIONS.

Mr. E. H. Lewis proposed 'The Guildford Diocesan Guild,' and expressed his pleasure at being again asked to join the Guild at their annual dinner. They were very lucky in their Guild in having one of the best Masters and one of the best possible secretaries (applause). They alone should ensure the Guild a successful future. He congratulated the Guild upon the bell restorations which had taken place last year in the diocese. Several important works had been carried out during the past year. It was, perhaps, fortunate that the bells were ready, because this year should be a bumper year for ringing, owing to the fact that in a few months they were going to celebrate the Coronation of their beloved King and Queen. He hoped the members of the Guild were already practising for that event, so that, whatever ringing was done—and he hoped there would be ringing in every church in the diocese—would be of the best possible quality, not necessarily in method, but in the excellence of the striking and rhythm maintained (hear, hear). Another thing they might try and do was to ring the bells at some of the towers which had been closed for peal ringing in recent years.

A suggestion had recently been made that the length of a peal should be shortened. He personally was very much against anything of the sort (hear, hear). There was an historical and a mathematical reason for the standard length of a peal. If shortening the length of a peal would cause more peals to be rung, he did not think it would be an advantage. He thought that already too many peals were 'got.' If only peals that were rung correctly were counted, there would not be so many published week by week in 'The Ringing World,' and that would be a great advantage. He thought peal ringing should be kept for special occasions, or for occasions where bands can really ring perfectly. On other occasions they should be content with shorter lengths.

Mr. Lewis made an appeal for more honour to be given to quarter-peals. A quarter-peal was a very suitable length for practices. It was long enough to enable ringers to settle down and not enough to annoy the public, except a small minority who could not stand bells at all. If they had more quarter-peals and kept peals for special occasions, he thought it would be a good thing.

Returning to the subject of towers where peal ringing is banned, Mr. Lewis said it was probably due to the fact that the bells were noisy outside the tower. That was quite unnecessary, for the sound could be modified. They had an excellent example in the diocese at Haslemere, where great pains had been taken to modify the sound so that the bells were no nuisance to the public. That could be done, given sufficient pains, in practically all towers, and as a rule it was not a very expensive business.

Mr. Lewis added that quite recently a small leaflet had been issued on the subject by the Anti-Noise League. It was very well done, and when he saw it he wondered where the information had been obtained, because he did not know of any ringer having been consulted. But when he got the pamphlet he found that most of it was taken from Sir Arthur Heywood's book, 'Bell Towers and Bell Ringing.' A description of what had been done at Lincoln Cathedral was given, together with a plan of a cross section of the south-west tower. It would be a good thing, said Mr. Lewis, if that leaflet was circulated to all Archdeacons, so that they might be able to advise on this subject of the sound of bells, and he had already suggested to the secretary of the Central Council that they should take steps to have this done.

BELL RESTORATIONS.

The Master, in responding, said it was quite true that several of the towers in the diocese were closed for peals. Last year the Guild rang 21 peals, three of them on handbells. The others were rung in only eleven towers, which left a good many towers untouched. He would like to draw attention to one of the peals in particular, a peal of Grandsire Triples at Aldershot, rung fully muffled for our late King. In that peal, rung by an entirely local band, there were five first peals, and he would like to congratulate Mr. Charles Denyer on his success (applause). With regard to restorations, he was pleased to say several important restorations had taken place, including Shalford, Chiddingfold and Yorktown, which were done under his own supervision. He was allowed to do exactly as he liked (applause), but it was sometimes after a big struggle (laughter). At Witley there was not as much done as he would have liked, but the bells had been rebung on ball bearings.

Proceeding, Major Hesse said the Benevolent Fund established a year or two ago was, on the whole, going on well. The more they gave to it the better for the future, because they never knew when a member might need its help. He hoped every member would do his best for the fund. The Master added his tribute to the late Provost and said what a friend they had always found him. With regard to the future of the Guild, he agreed with what Mr. Harrison had said and they must try to get further help from the clergy and see if they could not get some of the towers opened for the Coronation that were now closed. He supported Mr. Lewis in what he had said about the desirability of moderating the noise of bells outside the towers wherever this was necessary. They had an excellent example of what could be done in the case of the Cathedral in Guildford, and he was now trying further experiments at Haslemere, where much had already been done. The openings were being shuttered so that they could be closed for peals and opened for service ringing, and the cost would be not more than £10. He hoped those in charge of towers where this sort of thing could be done would bring the matter to the notice of church authorities.

ARCHDEACON'S INTEREST.

Mr. J. Corbett proposed the toast of 'The Visitors,' to all of whom he extended a hearty welcome. Their presence, he said, showed that they were interested in the work of the Guild. Archdeacon Newill had heard what had been said about the late Provost, and he must feel how much the Guild appreciated all the Provost did for them. He (the speaker) hoped, after hearing that, the Archdeacon would extend to them the same sympathy and interest that Provost Kirwan did (hear, hear). They wanted someone to step into the breach and help them forward in their work. They offered him a very hearty welcome indeed (applause). Their Guild, continued Mr. Corbett, was one of the youngest in the country and they were trying to emulate all the best there was in the old guilds and associations. They aimed at the very fundamentals of change ringing; that was, service ringing, and he was glad to say that in their towers service ringing was the primary object of the Guild (applause). He had to couple with the toast the name of Archdeacon Newill, and also that of Canon Coleridge. Although the latter was not strictly a visitor, he came from over the border and they could not let him go away without having a few words from him (applause).

Archdeacon Newill, in reply, spoke of an association and friendship with the late Provost extending over 32 years, and said that if in any way he could fill in some small part the breach caused by the Provost's death, he would be only too happy to do so and to know that he was doing something to help on the work the Guild was doing (applause). As a very young Archdeacon, he had obtained a useful 'tip' that evening. He would be holding his 'visitation' shortly after Easter, and, like other Archdeacons, he was at the present moment drawing up a list of questions to be answered by the churchwardens. He had really got a new idea with regard to the shuttering of bells, and he had learned quite a lot from Major Hesse, which he hoped would prove very useful. He suggested that no time should be lost in distributing the pamphlets to Archdeacons, as Mr. Lewis had suggested.

Canon Coleridge, who was very cordially received as an old friend, said he had that day attended a funeral at Bristol of a ringer who was a member of the band who 32 years ago rang the one and only peal ever rung on Lundy Island. Only three survivors of that peal were present. He had come straight back from Bristol to keep his engagement with them that night. He brought them greetings from the Oxford Diocesan Guild, which, as they knew, was a very much bigger concern. The diocese covered three counties and was very difficult to work. The Bishop found the diocese almost impossible to work, and, as Master of the Oxford Guild, he also found it impossible. To attend a meeting in North Bucks would break into two days unless one had available a fast motor-car. He attended what meetings he could, but by contrast with the Guildford Guild the area of his own Guild was too big to be convenient. He was very happy to be able to do what he could, for, after his accident three years ago, his doctor told him he would not be able to get about again except in a bath chair. He was determined, however, that he would. The only thing he could not trust himself to do was to mount belfry stairs, and he had to confine his ringing to towers where the ringing was done on the ground floor. Canon Coleridge concluded by wishing the Guildford Guild every prosperity.

The musical programme consisted of handbell solos delightfully played by Mrs. A. A. Hughes, songs splendidly sung by Mr. H. Platt, and community singing. In addition a touch of Stedman Triples was rung on handbells by Messrs. C. Hazelden, E. H. Lewis, A. H. Pulling and W. Melville, and a 'running commentary' was given on a bell-ringing performance at 'Seareham.' A very enjoyable evening terminated with a vote of thanks to the artistes (proposed by the Master) and 'Auld Lang Syne.'

ROUND BLOCKS AND TRANSPOSITIONS IN PEAL COMPOSITIONS.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—Two of the Methods Committee have at last replied. They calmly ignore the new discovery of round blocks and transposition in peal compositions, and they give an asymmetrical peal for comparison with two symmetrical peal compositions.

Following is their asymmetrical peal with its round blocks and transpositions, so that they, or anyone who cares to take the trouble, may compare with the three symmetrical peal compositions published in 'The Ringing World' on December 25th last.

GEORGE BAKER.

BELLS IN TELEVISION PROGRAMME.

COLLEGE YOUTHS AT THE ALEXANDRA PALACE.

On Christmas Day four College Youths met at Baker Street and drove up to the Alexandra Palace, where they were due at 2.30, to prepare for their turn in the 'Picture Page' of the B.B.C. Television Programme. Three of them were wondering what the conductor would say when he realised that he would have to be 'made up.' They were disappointed to find that their peculiarities required no emphasis, and after a very brief wait in a dressing room they were shown into the studio, where most of the other 'turns' were waiting.

One end of the studio, which formed the stage, was lighted with a battery of very powerful lamps. The background was formed of screens of neutral grey colour, and facing the stage were two or three 'cameras' on movable stands, with microphones suspended above. The other end of the room seemed to be littered with properties and a number of chairs, which could be arranged in front of a receiving set, so that the waiting performers could see those who were acting both in the flesh and 'as received.'

After watching a group of Chelsea Pensioners rehearse their bit, the College Youths had to face the 'camera' for a trial. This was mainly for focussing purposes. Chalk marks were made on the floor when the positions were satisfactory so that later there should be no delay in being in the line. Just before three o'clock a roast turkey was wheeled in on a trolley by a chef. This quite upset the handbell conductor, who had had nothing to eat since an early breakfast. Here again there was disappointment. The bird was for demonstration only.

Punctually at three o'clock the programme was announced by Miss Joan Baxter at the telephone, and then the picture page started with 'How to carve a turkey' by the chef. While the next item was being 'shot,' apparently in another studio, the College Youths lined up, and, after a short wait, which, however, was long enough to make the heat of the lamps almost unbearable, the signal was given to 'go Stedman' on the handbells. After about half a course the second camera was turned on to the next item and the ordeal was over.

There followed an amusing three-quarters of an hour watching the other illustrations on the page, which included, besides the Chelsea Pensioners, Pop-eye the Sailor Man, a Saharan Princess, Father Christmas and a Policeman, Shackleton the Arctic Explorer, a L.P.T.B. interpreter, the chief of the Gravesend Pilots, a Plumber and his mate, and Miss Joan Baxter impersonating an American telephone girl. It was lucky that no ringers' wives were listening to the ticking off she gave her boy, when she found he was trying to telephone to another dame in the hotel. They might have learnt a bit too much.

Mrs. Hughes very kindly lent a brand new set of handbells for the occasion. Just in case the B.B.C. thought the reflections from the bright bell metal might spoil good reception, an old set were taken also, and the authorities at once chose the latter.

After a brief visit to Whitechapel for a cup of tea, the performers returned to their family circles, feeling proud that they had been able to give the first visible demonstration of change ringing by wireless.

There cannot be very many receiving sets in private use. The owner of one has been traced and he said that the College Youths made one of the best turns that have come through so far.

IPSWICH BELL FOUNDER BUSY.

Mr. Alfred Bowell, of Ipswich, has in hand the restoration of the bells, with new teak frame, at Hinton Blewitt, Somerset, a new oak frame for Meldreth, Cambs, and a new oak frame for Earsham, Norfolk. He is also recasting all five bells and rebanging in a teak frame at Ranworth, Norfolk; recasting two bells into three to make a ring of five and rebanging peal with new fittings at Stoke Ash, Suffolk; and restoring the fine heavy ring of eight at All Saints', Sudbury, Suffolk.

He has recently rehung on ball bearings the back four bells at Barton-le-Cley, Beds, where he added the three trebles 34 years ago.

BIRTHDAY CELEBRATION.

SEVENTY-TWO LEADS OF TREBLE BOB AND A RABBIT PIE SUPPER.

On Saturday last, January 9th, the Earlsington Society and a few friends were entertained to a 'rabbit pie supper' in celebration of the 72nd birthday of Mr. Walter Idle, which occurred on Friday, January 8th. In the afternoon a start was made for a touch of 72 leads of Kent Treble Bob Major (2,304 changes), but after ringing three courses one of the ringers was taken ill and 'stand' was called. Then an adjournment was made to the Park Hotel, where the party sat down to an excellent meal. Afterwards another attempt was made for the 72 leads, which was successfully brought round in 1 hour and 25 minutes, the ringers being Walter Idle 1, Percy Byram 2, Hemmingsway Dransfield 3, Harry Armitage 4, Maurice Hodgson 5, Harold Senior 6, Herbert Dransfield 7, Norman Ling 8. The touch was composed and conducted by Maurice Hodgson. Messrs. Senior and Hodgson are service ringers at Batley Parish Church, and Mr. Armitage is a service ringer at the Huddersfield Parish Church. The rest belong to the local company.

'OUR YOUNG RINGERS.'

It is seldom a new subject is introduced into the toast list of a ringers' dinner. Usually the toasts follow a somewhat hackneyed, if time-honoured form, and it is refreshing, therefore, to find that, at the annual dinner of Bristol United Ringing Guilds, a new toast appeared—'Our Young Ringers.' We congratulate, whoever it was, who had this inspiration. All sorts of institutions and people are honoured on these occasions, but surely there is no section of the ringing community which deserves recognition on such occasions more than the youngsters who, later on, will have to carry on the good work now being done by their elders, and to whom we look not only to maintain present standards, but to go on raising the level of ringing and the status of ringers.

The speech in which the toast was commended to the company was one which every ringer would do well to read, and which everyone responsible for the teaching of young ringers would do well to ponder. Although it was made by a non-ringer, it was full of understanding, common sense and good advice. The Rev. M. Paterson's wide experience of youth in a great city like Bristol fitted him admirably for the task. He pleaded for encouragement and sympathy on the part of tutors, and he put into words exactly what we might expect a youngster to think when he first tries his hand at the end of a bellrope, but which, of course, he has not the courage, or shall we say the audacity, to put into words.

There are often regrets expressed that young ringers cannot be got, or, if obtained, cannot be kept. Very frequently the cause is attributed to lack of interest, but we think there must be many cases where pupils, having entered the belfry, have left it again because they do not feel themselves in a sympathetic atmosphere. It may not be entirely the fault of the older ringers, but there is sometimes that lack of encouragement which is sufficient to keep a beginner plodding along a rather difficult path in which he has largely to make his own interest. Patience with beginners may sometimes be sorely tried, but both master and pupil must possess this virtue if the best is to be made of raw material. We need youngsters in the belfry everywhere. The band that goes on year after year without recruiting new blood are doing a disservice to the cause which they believe they have at heart, for sooner or later there must come a time when the old hands will drop out. But youngsters will only be kept if they are encouraged and their interest fed. We would like to see the Rev. M. Paterson's words hung in every belfry where there are beginners — and that ought to be in every belfry in the land.

The actual work of the bells at a bob varies with the method. In Grandsire it is effected by an additional 3rd's place made at the handstroke lead of the treble, and causes all the bells above that place to alter the order of their work, although the actual transposition of coursing order only affects three bells.

FOR BEGINNERS.

SIMPLE METHOD CONSTRUCTION.

Last week we endeavoured to explain what is meant by 'hunting,' which enables a beginner to grasp the first principles of change ringing. Hunting will help him to acquire rope-sight, but it is not advisable to continue a plain hunting course for too long a time, because, after a while, one gets to know it by heart, and its usefulness, at any rate for the purpose of teaching rope-sight, is lost.

As soon as the beginner can pick out the bell he has next to follow, by using his eyes, he should go on to learn a 'method.' If he is in a five or six bell tower, Grandsire Doubles is the method he will probably turn to first.

There are a number of methods of 'Doubles,' but only a few of them are 'pure Doubles,' that is to say, changes produced entirely by moving two pairs of bells every time. There are some methods which are constructed by the use, once or oftener in a lead—a lead for this purpose meaning the changes from one lead of the treble to the next lead of that bell—of a change made by moving only one pair of bells.

If, for instance, you have one row of figures 13254, you can produce either 31524, or 31245, or 12345 by means of 'Doubles'—that is by changing two pairs of bells. But in some methods, in order to produce the extent of the changes on five bells, it is necessary periodically to move only one pair of bells, such as, after 13254, having 13524. This change is really a single change, and in some of the very old ringing books methods in which a number of such changes occurred were known as 'Singles and Doubles.'

If you are going to produce a method which does not consist solely of a plain hunting course, there must be, within each lead, one or more 'places' made.

A 'place' is made by a bell remaining two blows (a whole pull, either at handstroke and backstroke, or backstroke and handstroke) in the same position in the interior of the change.

Thus on five bells a 'place' can be made in 2nd's, 3rd's or 4th's, but only 3rd's place enables the succession of pure Doubles to be maintained. If you write out a few changes and introduce 2nd's or 4th's, you will soon discover why.

In the construction of Doubles the number of available 3rd's places is very limited, hence the limited number of possible methods. If we confine ourselves for the moment to methods in which the treble keeps to plain hunting, then there are only four possible 3rd's places in any one lead. The different methods depend upon the different positions in which these 3rd's places occur.

The formation of the Grandsire method is caused by making 3rd's place at the first available opportunity, that is at the very first change.

Now, no method of pure Doubles based upon a treble with a plain hunt will produce the extent of the changes in a plain course.

The use of 'bobs' and 'singles' is necessary. A bob is the introduction of an additional 3rd's place, and has to be signified by the conductor, who at the stated intervals calls out 'Bob.'

For a reason which we need not go into now, plain leads and bobs alone in a pure Doubles method will produce only half the possible changes; it needs a 'single' to produce the other half and a second 'single' before the bells can be brought round.

We have already indicated what a Single is—it is, in Doubles, the movement of only one pair of bells in the change.

Before we go on to the actual explanation of how to ring Grandsire, we would like our beginners to try and work out for themselves some of the methods which can be produced. Remember there are four places in which 3rd's can be used, let us call them a, b, c, d. These can be used singly, as 'a' in Grandsire, or in any combination as 'a' and 'c' in what is known as Double Grandsire. In 'skeleton' this is where the places can occur, the letters representing the places, 1 the treble and the dots the other bells:—

. 1 a . .
. . 1 . .
. . b 1 .
. . c 1 .
. . 1 . .
1 . a . .

While on this question we would like to answer an inquiry which we received the other day, 'What is a "bob" and "single"?'

A bob causes certain bells to alter the path of their regular work—that is, it transposes their coursing order. Usually only three bells are affected, but the work of any odd number of bells may be affected. The bob is 'called' by the conductor.

A 'single' effects the transposition of the work of two bells (instead of three) or some even number of bells. It, too, is called by the conductor.

WINCHESTER AND PORTSMOUTH DIOCESAN GUILD.

SOUTHAMPTON DISTRICT PROGRESS.

Satisfactory progress was reported at a meeting of the Southampton District of the Winchester and Portsmouth Diocesan Guild, held at Southampton on Saturday, January 9th. During the afternoon and evening there was ringing on the ten bells of St. Mary's (which were half-muffled on account of the death of Col. Sir Edwin Perkins), St. Michael's and Holy Rood, and a variety of methods up to Cambridge Royal was rung.

The Guild service in St. Mary's Church was conducted by the Vicar, the Rev. Canon R. B. Jolly, who also gave an address.

Mr. George Williams, Master of the Guild, presided at the business meeting, supported by the Rev. Evan Jones (hon. treasurer of the Guild), Mr. D. Cecil Williams, Mus.Bac. (University College, Southampton), Mr. J. W. Faithfull (secretary, St. Mary's Guild), Mr. George Pullinger (district secretary) and Mr. Wilfrid Andrews (captain of Winchester Cathedral band).

The towers represented were Southampton, Eastleigh, North Stoneham, Bishopstoke, Romsey, Dibden, Eling, Fawley, Netley, Lockerley, Mottisfont and Upham, and members were also present from Portsmouth Cathedral, Portsea, Wickham, Titchfield, Soberton, Fareham, Bournemouth, Poole and Winchester.

Mr. Wilfred Andrews announced that Winchester Cathedral bells, taken down for recasting, would be dedicated on March 20th, some weeks earlier than was expected.

The Master will celebrate his 80th birthday on May 7th, and the hope was expressed that attempts will be made for peals in a number of towers in celebration of the event.

The audited accounts showed a balance, and it was agreed to make the collection up to £1 ls. for the St. Mary's Restoration Fund.

The secretary reported on a successful year, and urged greater effort in ringing for the ordinary Sunday services, even at some personal sacrifice. A total of 16 honorary and 88 ringing members had paid subscriptions. The bells of Mottisfont were in a bad state, but in the other churches of the district they were in good order.

Several new members were elected, and the election of Messrs. G. H. King (of Breaston, Derby) and G. Parsons (of Blackfriars, London) prior to peals was confirmed.

General regret was expressed at Mr. Pullinger's request to be relieved of his office, and his valued services not only to the district, but also to the Central Committee were mentioned. He was warmly thanked for his work, and eventually was persuaded to carry on with Mr. A. J. Corrigan (North Stoneham) as joint hon. secretary.

The Rev. G. T. Tritton, who was unable to attend owing to illness, was re-elected chairman, and Messrs. J. W. Faithfull and W. T. Tucker, North Stoneham, were chosen as representatives on the committee. The re-election of Mr. G. Williams as Ringing Master was greeted with applause.

District meetings agreed to were: February 27th, Mottisfont and Romsey; May 8th, Dibden; July 17th, Lockerley and Tytherley; October 2nd, Netley.

DURHAM AND NEWCASTLE DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION.

PEAL BOARD UNVEILED AT EASTERN DISTRICT MEETING.

A special meeting of the Eastern District was held at West Hartlepool on Saturday, January 9th, the occasion being the unveiling of a peal board commemorating a peal of Grandsire Caters rung by Miss Stephenson, one of the local ringers, who was the first lady to ring a peal on ten bells in the County of Durham.

Ringers were present from Middlesbrough, Saltburn, Darlington, Sunderland, Penham, Chester-le-Street and the local ringers.

A short service was held, the Rev. T. H. Lilburn officiating, after which the ringers went to the belfry, where the Vicar dedicated the peal board, Miss Stephenson unveiling it.

Tea was held in the Mission Hall, after which there was a short meeting, Mr. R. L. Patterson presiding.

After the loyal toast the Chairman said it was a great pleasure to him to see each district of the association represented at the meeting, and heartily welcomed the visitors. He was pleased to see so many ringers present and specially mentioned the members of the Cleveland and North Yorkshire Association. He hoped both associations would meet on other occasions.

Mr. T. Metcalf thanked the Vicar for the use of the bells and also Miss Shepherd for her services at the organ.—The Vicar suitably replied, and said he was delighted again to have the ringers at West Hartlepool. They were always welcome.

Mr. Titt proposed a vote of thanks to the ladies for the splendid tea, and Mrs. Robson replied.

The Rev. J. P. Pelloe, of St. Columbia's, Sunderland, was elected a member.

It was proposed that the next meeting be held at Houghton-le-Spring, notice of which will be published in 'The Ringing World.'

The bells were kept going until 8.30 p.m., the methods rung being Grandsire Triples and Caters, Stedman Triples and Caters, Kent Treble Bob Major and Royal and Double Norwich Major. It was a most successful meeting and all had a very happy time.

DEATH OF MR. B. JARMAN.

FORMER PRESIDENT OF HERTFORD COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

The death took place in the London Hospital on Thursday of last week of Mr. Ben Jarman, of Harpenden, Herts. He was 62 years of age.

All his life Mr. Jarman was associated with Harpenden Parish Church, joining the choir as a boy and remaining a chorister during the incumbency of six Rectors.

He had been a ringer for over 37 years and was captain of the company. In 1926 he served in the office of president of the Hertford County Association. His death is keenly felt by a host of Harpenden friends, by whom he was much esteemed.

AN APPRECIATION.

Ben Jarman was a very capable change ringer, and had rung many peals in a variety of methods for the Hertford County Association, who in 1926 honoured him by electing him as their president. Possessed quite naturally of a genial and friendly disposition, he was greatly liked, for he was one to whom the ringers could always appeal, either to 'make one' to complete a team for a peal, or render any helpful service in connection with the County Association. He had the secret of living an unperturbed and unselfish life.

The earthly career of our friend has ended, and, whilst we deeply mourn his departure, we rejoice that the trumpets of welcome have sounded for him on the other side; but we shall ever cherish the memory of 'Ben' with true affection. 'Then I heard in my dream that all the bells in the city rang again for joy, and that it was said unto them, "Enter ye into the joy of the Lord."'

His body was laid to rest in the Parish Churchyard on Monday, amid many tokens of respect from a large congregation, the service being taken at the Parish Church in the absence of the Vicar by assistant clergy of the parish. The service was choral and included the 23rd Psalm and the hymns, 'Lead, kindly light' and 'Abide with me.' Besides the local company of ringers there were also present, representing the County Association, Mr. G. E. Debenham (treasurer), Mr. G. W. Debenham (assistant hon. secretary), Mr. Walter Ayre (district secretary, Western Division), Mr. A. King (Luton, Beds Association) and others.

A course of Grandsire Triples was rung upon the handbells during the service in church by Messrs. H. Jarman 1-2, R. Newson 3-4, A. Day 5-6, W. Hill 7-8. Previous to the service a half-muffled touch was rung upon the tower bells. There were many wreaths, including one from the president, officers and members of the Hertford County Association.

On Monday evening a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples was rung half-muffled by the following: *Walter Hill 1, C. Shadbolt 2, A. Dockerill 3, G. W. Debenham (conductor) 4, *R. Eley 5, R. Newson 6, Arthur Day 7, G. Cull 8. * First quarter-peal.

FIRST PEALS ON OLD BELLS.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—I note with interest that a peal has been rung at Methwold 160 years after the ring was converted to six. At Redruth, Cornwall, the tower was built during the reign of Henry VII. (1485-1509), and a ring of six hung by Thomas Lester in 1744. These bells, however, were rehung when the church was restored in 1878, and again in the same frame and on the same headstocks in August, 1935. The first peal was then rung in September, 1935—one hundred and ninety-one years after the bells were placed in the tower. Two trebles were added in November, 1935.

I suppose the bells at Methwold have been rehung or reconditioned since 1778.

PINNER RINGING SOCIETY.

The annual meeting of the Pinner Society, Middlesex, held on Wednesday, January 13th, was preceded by some excellent touches on the tower bells, conducted by Messrs. A. J. Harding and T. Collins. The meeting was held at the Conservative Club, the chair being occupied by the Vicar (the Rev. Eric Barnes), supported by the Rev. C. T. Chapman, the Vicar's warden (Mr. J. S. Hogg, J.P.) and the captain (Mr. A. J. Harding). The people's warden, Mr. A. Townsend, was unavoidably absent owing to a prior engagement.

The balance sheet was accepted, and the chairman distributed the annual grant of £1 ls. to each of the members. He also nominated the parish ringers for 1937.

On the proposition of Mr. J. S. Hogg, supported by the chairman, Mr. A. J. Harding was elected captain, hon. secretary and treasurer. Mr. Harding thanked the members for their support during the time he had been captain.

Mr. C. A. Kim was elected vice-captain.

The Chairman thanked the society for the work they had done during the past year and also said what pleasure it was to be with them that evening, it being his first meeting as Vicar. He looked forward to a happy time with them.

Mr. Harding thanked the Vicar for presiding and also Mr. J. S. Hogg for having engaged the room and provided refreshments.

DEATH OF MR. FRED WILFORD.

FORMER SECRETARY AND MASTER OF PETERBOROUGH DIOCESAN GUILD.

Too much regret to record the death of Mr. Fred Wilford, formerly secretary and later Master of the Peterborough Diocesan Guild, who passed away at the age of 66 years on January 11th at Chapel Brampton, Northants, where he had been living since retiring from the service of the Northampton Corporation Water Department. For some time past Mr. Wilford had been in indifferent health. He leaves in bereavement a widow, with whom much sympathy will be felt.

Born at Ringstead, Northants, Mr. Wilford went to Northampton in 1887 and was appointed a water inspector under the Northampton Corporation in 1903. He began his ringing career at St. Giles', Northampton, in 1897, at the time when the bells, having been rehung, and increased from eight to ten, a new band was being formed. He was then already a member of the choir and superintendent of the Sunday School.

His first peal was rung in 1898, the first peal on the bells at St. Giles'. This peal, Grandsire Caters, he rang on the tenor, and his first peal on an 'inside' bell was also Grandsire Caters in the same tower in 1900. His first peal of Major was Treble Bob, rung in 1901, and in the same year he scored his first of Stedman. This and his first peal of Double Norwich in 1903 he rang in London. His first peal of Superlative was at Irthlingborough in 1904.

In 1901 he was made foreman of St. Giles' belfry and held the office until 1909. When, in 1905, the Central Northamptonshire Association was split up into districts, Mr. Wilford was appointed secretary of the Northampton District, and in the following year was elected general secretary of the association.

He was largely instrumental in the transformation of the Central Northants Association into the Peterborough Diocesan Guild in 1924, and was elected Master. He held the office until 1935. On his resignation he was succeeded by the Rev. E. S. Powell. In October of that year Mr. Wilford's services to the Guild were recognised at a special meeting at Northampton, when he was presented with a roll of notes and an album suitably inscribed, which contained the names of 438 subscribers.

Mr. Wilford's services to Northamptonshire were, indeed, great. He laboured ungrudgingly in the cause of the art, and his personal example was a great encouragement to all who had ringing at heart. For many years Mr. Wilford made a point of attending all the quarterly meetings throughout the district and often assisted, as a licensed lay reader, in conducting the services.

In 1904 he was elected a member of the Central Council, and remained a representative of his Guild up to the time of his death.

He had rung about two hundred peals, of which he had conducted a considerable number, and was a member of the following associations: Bedfordshire, Midland Counties, Yorkshire, Oxford, Kent, Middlesex and London County.

The funeral took place on Thursday of last week.

BARNSELY AND DISTRICT SOCIETY.

RETIREMENT OF HON. SECRETARY.

The annual general meeting of the Barnsley and District Society was held at St. Mary's, Barnsley, on January 9th, the following towers being represented: Ackworth, Adwick-le-Street, Darfield, Eastwood, Felkirk, Hoylandswaine, Pontefract, Rotherham, Sandal, Shelly, South Kirkby, Sheffield (Cathedral and St. Marie's), Wath, Wragby and the local company. Ringing commenced at three o'clock, and at 5 p.m. a short service was conducted by Canon Hone. Tea was served in the Station Restaurant, 40 sitting down.

The business meeting followed, the honorary president (Canon Hone) presiding. The balance sheet for 1936 was presented and carried unanimously. Four new members were elected.

The president and treasurer were re-elected. It was with deep regret that the resignation of the secretary had to be accepted, as he has not enjoyed good health for some months past. He had sent an apology for not being able to attend through illness.

There were two nominations for the post of secretary, namely, Mr. E. Brookes, of Hoylandswaine, and Mr. D. Smith, of Felkirk, and, on being put to the vote, the latter was elected.

In recognition of the services rendered by Mr. Panther, who has been in office either as treasurer or secretary since 1910, he was unanimously elected honorary vice-president, and everyone present wished him a speedy recovery so that he may long be able to fill his new office.

Canon Hone said, as he was leaving the district very soon, it would no doubt be the last time he would preside at the annual meeting, but he hoped the society would continue to prosper as it had done in the past.

Mr. C. D. Potter expressed the feelings of all when he said how sorry he was to lose Canon Hone, as he had always found him a real friend to ringers. He wished him success in his new home, which is at Godalming, Surrey.

Cawthorne was chosen for the next meeting on February 13th. Further ringing followed until 8.45 p.m. in Major, Triples and Minor, including both London Major and Minor. The bells were then lowered and a most enjoyable meeting concluded.

LEICESTER CATHEDRAL NEW BELLS.

TO BE RUNG ON CORONATION DAY.

The new ring of 13 bells (12 and semi-tone) for Leicester Cathedral are now cast and the frame erected. They will be first dedicated on the floor of the church, and then erected and rung for the first time on Coronation Day.

Although the cost of the bells has been assured by the generosity of individual donors, there is a great expenditure on the tower and belfry, and an appeal was issued to all ringers and friends—especially in the Leicester Diocese—to defray this cost. Will all those who have the special appeal forms please return same as soon as convenient to Mr. Ernest Morris, 24, Coventry Street, Leicester.

LOST PEALS IN CORNWALL.

THE LADY WHO WROTE A POEM.

Peals are difficult to get in Cornwall at the best of times, but lately they have been particularly elusive. Three attempts have failed in the last two months, one through the light failing a quarter of an hour from the end, and one through sickness under the tower.

The third attempt was made on Boxing Day for Holt's Original at Camborne, by W. J. Sanders 1, C. E. Lanson (conductor) 2, Miss E. J. C. Angwin 3, F. Harris 4, E. Sanders 5, W. H. Sleeman 6, A. S. Roberts 7, P. R. C. Williams 8. The ringing was good for an hour and a half, when the sudden entrance of a woman behind the conductor caused a slight trip. This was put right, however, and the woman left the belfry, only to return a little later when she started to whisper to one of the ringers. She was politely but firmly asked to leave the belfry. This she did, but returned a quarter of an hour later with a note which she tried to fix so that one of the ringers could read it. It fluttered to the ground and her efforts to retrieve it took the attention of the ringers off the method so that the bells set up after two hours 10 minutes.

The woman could not then be found. The note read: 'I wanted to tell Camborne Church bellringers that I wrote a poem for them in this week's "Cornish Post." All Camborne has read it. I knew if I spoke it would upset the ringers. Tell them to read the Christmas Carol I wrote for them.'

A quarter-peal from the 'Original' was rung at Truro Cathedral for the last practice of the year on Tuesday, December 29th: Miss M. Penrose 1, W. H. Southard 2, Miss E. J. C. Angwin 3, W. E. Minors 4, A. S. Roberts 5, W. H. Sleeman 6, C. E. Lanson (conductor) 7, J. Jose (first quarter-peal) 8. Another attempt was to have been made for a peal on Saturday, January 9th, at Mawgan, the lightest peal in Cornwall. Unfortunately, two of the ringers were lost on the road and when they arrived at the church a peal was impossible. However, half of Parker's twelve-part was rung in 1 hour 26 minutes. The ringers were W. J. Sanders (longest length of Triples) 1, C. E. Lanson (conductor) 2, Miss E. J. C. Angwin 3, E. Sanders 4, A. S. Roberts 5, F. Harris 6, W. H. Sleeman 7, P. R. C. Williams 8. It is hoped that a peal will be safely brought round in the near future.

WARWICKSHIRE GUILD.

REPORT FOR 1935 AND 1936 TO BE ISSUED.

The quarterly meeting of the Warwickshire Guild on Saturday last at Nuneaton was very well attended, and an excellent start to the new year was made. The bells of the Parish Church were raised in peal soon after three o'clock, and were kept going in various methods during the afternoon. The service was conducted by the Vicar (Canon J. L. White), a former president of the Guild. The presence of the choirboys was appreciated by all, and their singing helped greatly towards the beauty of the service.

Nearly forty ringers and their friends sat down to an excellent tea in the Parish Hall, prepared by Mrs. Argyle and other local ringers' wives. Canon White presided at the business meeting. Apologies were received from Messrs. J. W. Taylor, H. C. Burt and H. F. Ashley.

It was proposed that a subscription of one guinea should be sent to the Vicar of Wolvey for the Burton Hastings Bells Restoration Fund.

Meeting places for the next three months were decided as follows: Bulkington on February 20th, Exhall on March 20th, and the annual meeting at Rugby on April 17th.

Geoffrey Stoneley, Wilfred H. Argyle and Roy Hayne were elected members of the Guild.

It was decided to issue a report for the years 1935-36, and the secretary was instructed to proceed with the preparation of the same.

The meeting closed with votes of thanks to the Vicar, to the organist and choirboys, and to the ladies who had kindly prepared tea. This was proposed by Mr. White, Ringing Master, and carried with applause.

KENT COUNTY ASSOCIATION.MAIDSTONE DISTRICT DISCUSSES STRIKING.

A very enjoyable meeting of the Maidstone District of the Kent County Association was held at Wrotham on January 9th. The fine weather and the fine peal of bells brought many visitors of the useful kind, who can ring anything, so that the district experts were given a chance 'to clear the cobwebs from the attic.'

The association service was conducted by the Rector, Canon A. P. Pascoe, who is a change ringer. He illustrated his address in an interesting way by pointing out the lessons which were to be learned from the art.

After tea the business meeting was conducted. West Malling was chosen for the next quarterly meeting on April 10th, and Yalding for a by-meeting in February.

Mr. F. Leeson, district representative, gave a full account of the November committee meeting, and the position with regard to the amended rules.

A sharp discussion on the subject of 'striking' ensued, the secretary being criticised for being too outspoken in his remarks to the committee.

However, whether benefiting from the discussion or not, some good striking was obtained afterwards, courses of Cambridge and Superlative being rung. A feature of the meeting was the number of handbell enthusiasts present, the four standard methods being attempted and brought home.

Towers represented at the meeting were Wrotham, Egerton, Staplehurst, Maidstone, Ightham, West Malling, Linton, Sevenoaks, Bromley Common, East Peckham, Hayes, Crayford and St. Martin-in-the-Fields.

CORNWALL SURPRISE.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—As I was the conductor of the peal of Cornwall Surprise, and sent the figures to 'The Ringing World' without the name of an author, I think that I owe Mr. Tipler just a word. I did not know that he had produced this method, nor did any of the band. Mr. Trollope sent the method to us and stated that it had been published by several people years ago, H. Dains being one of them, so it would be difficult to put anyone's name to it as the author. However, I congratulate Mr. Tipler upon producing it, as it is one of the most musical Surprise methods that I have had the pleasure of ringing.

KOMNEY MARSH GUILD.ELECTION OF OFFICERS.

By kind permission of the Vicar (the Rev. A. S. Mayne), the annual meeting of the Romney Marsh and District Guild was held at Appledore on Saturday, January 16th. Ringing commenced at 3 p.m.; the Guild service was conducted by the Vicar; tea was held at the Swan Hotel, and the business meeting followed, the Vicar presiding.

The balance sheet was presented and passed and a few new members elected.

Before the election of officers took place the company stood for one minute in silence as a mark of respect to the late president, the Rev. G. Wright. Officers elected for the year were: President, the Rev. A. S. Mayne; vice-presidents, the Rev. G. S. Long and Dr. Cock, J.P.; Master, Mr. C. W. Everett; hon. secretary and treasurer, Mr. P. Page, who was also elected on the Central Council.

Mr. C. Tribe proposed a vote of thanks to the officers for their services during the year, and thanks were also accorded, on the motion of Mr. T. Conley, to the Vicar for giving permission to hold the meeting and for conducting the service, also to Mr. W. Capeling and his assistant for playing the organ.

The rest of the evening was spent in harmony. Those taking part in the programme were Mr. W. Capeling, Mr. W. Capeling, jun., Mr. and Mrs. P. Wood, Mr. R. Maile and Mr. Balcomb, Mrs. Wood and Miss French. The party broke up at 10 p.m. after a very enjoyable evening.

WATCHNIGHT SERVICE IN THE BELFRY.

The bells at St. Thomas' Church, Norbury, Cheshire, were rung for service at 11.15 p.m. on New Year's Eve, after which the old year was rung out and the new year in.

It is the custom for the Vicar (the Rev. A. J. Humphreys) to hold the first service of the year in the belfry. On this occasion he was accompanied by the chairman of the Hazel Grove and District Council (Mr. C. Allen), who had come specially to thank the ringers for ringing for the centenary of the village and other public functions during 1936.

The chairman wished the ringers 'a happy new year' and expressed the hope that it would not be the last time that a chairman of the Council would attend the service.

The Vicar moved a vote of thanks to Mr. C. Allen. The usual service was then held, conducted by the Vicar, after which a short touch of Bob Major was brought round: Mrs. J. Fernley 1, T. Entwistle 2, R. E. Jones 3, W. Fernley 4, F. Jones 5, J. Fernley 6, E. Bennett (conductor) 7, J. W. Hartley 8.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

Messrs. Gillett and Johnston, Ltd., Croydon, have been entrusted with the contract for the restoration of the bells at Bickleigh Church, Roborough, South Devon.

The subject of 'Combined Practices' came in for serious discussion at the annual meeting of the Sonning Deanery Branch of the Oxford Diocesan Guild at Wokingham on Saturday. A report of the meeting will appear in our next issue.

Mr. W. E. Jelley, who has been a member of the Holy Trinity Society, Guildford, since 1900, has resigned. In recognition of his long and faithful service to the tower, his fellow-members have elected him a life honorary member. In recent years Mr. Jelley has been hon. secretary to the tower, and his successor in this office is Mr. T. W. White, Bingham, Stoke Road, Guildford.

Rumours from Bristol after the Bristol United Ringing Guilds' annual dinner on Saturday lead us to ask: Who locked one of the visitors in his bedroom at the Grosvenor Hotel and then lost the key?

Who purloined the trousers of two well-known King's Norton ringers?

Who found the establishment where they could get their 'shoes mended' on Sunday morning?

What business was transacted at the committee meeting that detained an important speaker so long that he 'missed the boat,' when it came to his turn to respond to a toast?

The restored peal of six bells at Lanchester Parish Church is to be rededicated to-morrow afternoon. This is short notice for ringers, but doubtless the members of the Durham and Newcastle Diocesan Association will see to it that they are well represented. Further particulars will be found in our notice columns.

The number of 720's rung at Little Mundeu, Herts, during 1936 was 110 in 20 methods. The bells were rung for both services every Sunday throughout the year.

That is an excellent record of consistent service, but Little Mundeu has for long been conspicuous for the loyalty of its ringers, in spite of the fact that it is a small parish with less than 400 inhabitants.

For 34 years a band has been kept together and they have missed ringing for only one Sunday service during the whole of that time, except in the evenings during the war and whilst the bells went to the foundry.

In that period they have lost quite a number of ringers—two last year, and once in their career they lost in one year five who could ring Surprise Minor.

The Oxford Diocesan Guild has lost an old member by the death of Mr. Frank Boreham, who passed away after a brief illness on January 11th. He had been a member of the Guild for upwards of 40 years and formerly was associated with the Hughenden Society. In later years he was a member of the High Wycombe company. On Sunday a muffled peal of Stedman Caters was rung at High Wycombe as a last mark of respect.

A peal of Grandsire Triples was rung with half-muffled bells at Southover, Lewes, on Wednesday week, in memory of Mr. R. J. Dawe, whose death we recorded in our last issue. At the first pull after the bells came into rounds the sixth rope broke!

We referred last week to the fact that all the band who rang with the Editor of 'The Ringing World' in his first peal, in 1893, had now 'crossed the bourn,' except one, Mr. A. E. Nye, who 'had long since given up ringing.' This paragraph has brought us the news that Mr. Nye, after an absence from the Exercise of over 20 years, has recently returned again to the 'fold,' and now rings with the Oxhey band. We are delighted to hear it.

LADIES' GUILD.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—Mr. Whittington quotes woman 'as the last best work, the noblest gift of Heav'n.'

Woman was one of God's good gifts, but she was tempted and brought man into the temptation and fall. Not that man is to be excused for yielding to the temptation, but God gave to man and to woman a greater gift than either. He provided the Sabbath, a spiritual gift, a day that He specially blessed, a day prepared by Him for communion with Himself. Man is of 'the earth, earthy,' and this includes women. The Sabbath has for its special content God Himself. St. John, speaking of himself on the Christian Sabbath, saith, 'I was in the spirit on the Lord's Day.' Hence the Sabbath is a greater gift than either woman to man or man to woman.

PARENTS RING FOR SON'S BAPTISM

At St. Laurence's Church, Reading, on Sunday, January 10th, Cyril Ernest, the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. Lewington, was baptised by the Rev. N. R. Raper. A 516 of Stedman Cinques was rung in honour of the event, the parents taking part: Mrs. (Pat) Lewington 1, Miss N. Belcher 2, R. T. Hibbert (conductor) 3, S. Lodge 4, S. Davis 5, W. Lewington 6, W. Hibbert 7, H. G. Foxall 8, H. Smith 9, C. Pullen 10, O. J. Watts 11, E. G. Foster 12. The band afterwards drank to the health of the young ringer, with the hope that he will become a better ringer than any of the above band.

BRISTOL UNITED RINGING GUILDS.

LARGE GATHERING AT ANNUAL DINNER.

A New Toast.

Enthusiasm and success marked the sixteenth annual dinner of the Bristol United Ringing Guilds, held at the Cadenz Cafe, on Saturday. There was a representative company of over 200 present, and an interesting innovation was the introduction of a toast to 'Our Young Ringers.'

The arrangements made by the committee, of which Mr. Edgar Guise is the energetic hon. secretary, were much appreciated by the many visitors. Not only were the bells at many Bristol churches available on Saturday afternoon, but a special coach trip to Bitton was an attractive feature. Some 30 ringers took advantage of the excursion and enjoyed ringing on the recently restored eight bells. The old six were tuned and two trebles added, making a perfect octave. The bells in Bristol which were open to ringers included St. Mary Redcliffe (12), St. Stephen's (10), St. Philip's, Temple, and St. Thomas' (8). Tea was served in St. Thomas' Schoolroom.

Mr. John Austin, of Gloucester, presided at the dinner, and the vice-chairman was Mr. D. Marsh. Among those present were the Rev. E. C. Pritchard (Rector of St. Michael's, Gloucester), the Rev. M. Paterson (St. Thomas', Bristol), the Rev. E. Beddoe (St. Werburgh's, Bristol), the Rev. E. Bankes James (Fareham, Hants), Mr. S. Romans (Master of the Gloucester and Bristol Diocesan Association) and Mrs. Romans, Mr. A. A. Hughes (London), Mrs. E. Wilkins, Mrs. V. Marsh, Mr. and Mrs. J. Williams (Newent), Mrs. Tindale (Gloucester), Mr. J. S. Goldsmith (Woking), Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Emery, Mr. and Mrs. C. Read, Mr. and Mrs. Ford (St. Thomas'), Mr. W. H. Shuker (hon. secretary, Lancashire Association) and Mrs. Shuker, Mr. J. W. Jones (hon. secretary, Llandaff and Monmouth Diocesan Association), Mr. J. D. Johnson (hon. secretary, Worcestershire Association) and Miss A. Johnson, Messrs. G. E. Fearn, H. H. Fearn, G. Williams, V. Homan, H. Stanley (Birmingham), Mr. and Mrs. J. Preston, Mr. R. C. and Mrs. Ingram, Mrs. Belfield, Messrs. G. F. Swann and Williams (Erdington), S. Holt (Manchester), J. Holman (Sheffield), W. A. Stote (Coventry), J. S. Hawkins, P. E. Clark and E. Hancox (London), W. B. Kynaston, W. Bishop and party (Swindon), W. H. Harris (Lydney), W. J. Prescott (Bath), H. Knight and party (Wringtoun), J. E. Nailor and party (Chippenham), J. White (Weston-super-Mare), E. Griffiths (Gresford, North Wales), etc. Other towers represented were Mells, Churchill, Portishead and Clapton-in-Gordano, Somerset; Westbury-on-Trym, Henbury, Coalpit Heath, Mangotsfield and the following Bristol churches: St. Stephen's, St. James', St. Thomas', St. Ambrose's, St. Matthew's, St. Werburgh's, St. Philip's, Emmanuel and St. Mary-le-Port.

Among the regretted absences were those of Mr. E. J. Brown (the pro-vice-chairman) and Mr. S. Palmer (Sheffield) through bereavements. Many others were unable to attend through indisposition.

The Chairman, in proposing the toast of 'The Church,' spoke of what ringers owed to the Church for the facilities to practise their art. He compared the general condition of belfries, when he began ringing, 40 or 50 years ago, when they formed the receptacle for all the rubbish which could not be accommodated elsewhere in the Church, with the conditions of to-day, when most of the belfries were well cared for. Ringers, however, would like to see more of the clergy in the towers when ringing was going on, he said. Things in this direction were improving, but he wished more of the clergy were like the Rev. M. Paterson, of St. Thomas', Bristol, who showed a constant interest in the ringers. The clergy would be welcomed in the belfry, and ringers, especially the younger members, would like to have more of their encouragement.

The Rev. E. C. Pritchard, who responded, referred to the respect in which he and all the ringers in the West of England held Mr. John Austin. He was specially happy to be associated with him on that occasion in Bristol, as he was on other occasions in Gloucester.

MR. JOHN AUSTIN.

He referred to his own association with Bristol, where he was born, and said he congratulated himself upon being a Bristolian, because his father used to say that Bristol boys always slept with one eye open (laughter).

Continuing, he said he was deeply sensible of the debt the Church owed to ringers. Although he did not yet understand the art of ringing, he hoped one day to find time to learn to ring and take his part with the ringers of St. Michael's, Gloucester (applause). The Rev. E. B. James had often spoken to him of the great value of the clergy joining in with the ringers, and it would be his endeavour, during the next few years, to associate himself more closely with the ringers at his church. He thought the clergy of to-day were much more sociable people than they had the reputation of being in the past, and he hoped the wish expressed by Mr. Austin that they would mix more with the ringers would be realised. If any of them felt that the churches were not filled to-day as well as they might be, he asked the laymen to remember that they were as much a part of 'the church' as the clergy, and it was up to them, as much as to the clergy, to see that the churches were filled (applause).

BUILT ON FINE TRADITIONS AND HARD WORK.

Mr. A. A. Hughes, in proposing the toast of 'The Gloucester and Bristol Diocesan Association and Bristol United Ringing Guilds,' said it was always a pleasure to come to Bristol. Personally, he got a 'thrill' every time he came to Bristol, for he could picture those great men of the past, the merchant venturers and the sailors, who went out from that city and had a big share in laying the foundations of the British Empire. Bristol was famous for its sailors and beautiful women; perhaps some of their descendants were present that night.

The Gloucester and Bristol Association, continued Mr. Hughes, was founded 59 years ago, and was one of the first three diocesan or county associations formed. In that diocese they had seen a marvellous improvement in the belfries and status of the ringers in that time. The association had been built up very strongly on fine traditions and the hard work of its foundation members; he referred particularly to the late Rev. C. D. P. Davies, Mr. G. H. Phillott, the Rev. A. H. Cockey, the wonderful performances put up by the Cheltenham band under Mr. Pates, and the work of the brothers Bankes James and Law James in Gloucester. It was up to the present members of the association to keep that great work going and to foster the social side of ringing. He remembered the passing of their old friend Jack Wilkins. He had a feeling then that the social side of ringing in Bristol might go out, but the introduction of the United Ringing Guilds' organisation had maintained the social aspect of the work. In conclusion, Mr. Hughes stressed the advice so often given by the president of the Central Council, that ringers should more and more strive for accurate striking, which was far more important than intricate method ringing, because, after all, the ringers in the tower were very few, while the people outside, who had to put up with bad ringing when it occurred, could be numbered by hundreds and sometimes by thousands. Their first consideration, therefore, should always be for good striking (applause).

Mr. S. Romans, who replied to the toast, mentioned the names of the stalwarts of the past, who built up the early fortunes of the Gloucester and Bristol Association. These men, he said, were the pioneers, and ringers of to-day were enjoying the benefit of their labours. It was for them, now, to uphold the tradition and do all they could for the furtherance of the association. They had in Mr. Guise a very able and hard working secretary (applause). He took a great interest both in the Gloucester and Bristol Diocesan Association and, in the social side of the work, in the Bristol United Ringing Guilds.

ENCOURAGING PROGRESS.

It had been his privilege, continued Mr. Romans, to visit many of the districts during the past year, and he could not speak too highly of the work of the assistant secretaries. The meetings had been most encouraging. He had found that where in some places in the previous year they were struggling to ring Grandsire, to-day they could ring all the standard methods (applause). That was progress in the right direction, but they needed more young members. He had appealed to the clergy from time to time to help them in this respect. If they could get young men from the church, the choir and the Bible class they were likely to keep them. He was very pleased to say that that appeal had not been in vain. During the last few months they had started a young band in Gloucester. They were now just able to ring their bells nicely, and ring rounds for the first time on New Year's Day (applause). He hoped by next year they would have three times the number; then he did not think they could complain.

Several restorations had taken place in the dioceses during the past year. At St. Michael's, Gloucester, where when the Rector first arrived they contemplated putting eight bells in order, they would now be able to get all ten restored, thanks to a handsome donation given to the fund by one of their past Masters, the Rev. E. B. James (applause).

Referring to the forthcoming Coronation, Mr. Romans said they wanted, if possible, to get all the bells in the two dioceses rung on that occasion. He particularly asked that they would try to ring the methods they were most acquainted with, so as to get the best striking possible. He also made the suggestions that where there were towers with a surplus of ringers, they should try to transfer some of the men for the day to those towers where there was a shortage, so that all the rings of bells could be set going. At the Silver Jubilee of the late King George they adopted that principle at Gloucester and found that it worked very well. They rang at their own churches and afterwards split up into two parties and visited the parishes nearby. The festivities were at full swing, but they would have been incomplete without the pealing of the bells. The incumbents were very grateful to them and so were the villagers, because, in some places, the bells had not been rung for a considerable time (applause).

The Rev. M. Paterson next proposed 'Our Young Ringers.' He said he felt highly honoured that he was the first person to propose that toast, which appeared on their programme for the first time. A friend of his, a clergyman, who attended a ringers' dinner, came away with the confused notion that the world was created in order that towers might be built and bells rung (laughter). He felt surprised, on consulting the first chapter of the Book of Genesis, to find no mention of towers or bells (laughter). That, said the speaker, was obviously a rather exaggerated view, but they were all very much interested in bellringing. What he wanted to suggest was that it was the duty of the Guild not only to maintain a high standard of ringing, but it was equally their duty to gain recruits. A little while ago he saw in a paper a picture of a group of old men, he believed all over 70, who had rung together for over 50 years. Now those old gentlemen, he had no doubt, had won many disciples and had taught many young men to ring, but on the face of it, all that picture told them was that seven or eight old gentlemen had thoroughly enjoyed themselves for over 50 years (laughter), and the letterpress not only did not add to their information, it only told them that the career of those old men in the tower had been diversified by one terrific row with the Vicar about the mastication of a halfpenny bun (laughter).

'THOUGHTS' OF A YOUNG RINGER.

He (the speaker) wished to suggest another picture: one that had never been published; one that, perhaps, never would be published, of six or seven young fellows, all under 21, who all belonged to the same tower. That picture would speak for itself. It would show the Guild was doing at least one half, and a very important half, of its duty; that it was not only maintaining a high standard of ringing, perhaps, but was most certainly doing what should be the duty of bellringers—gaining recruits (applause).

There was, continued Mr. Paterson, to be a response to that toast, and he did not know what the responder would say, but sometimes they older men could enter into the minds of the boys perhaps even better than their friends and companions could. He wanted to put into words what he thought a young recruit would want to find in a tower.

I think, said Mr. Paterson, if he is of the right sort, the sort I have known for a good many years, he would say: 'I should like sometimes a little praise, for it encourages me, but I don't want to be flattered, it only makes me feel awkward. I should like to have an instructor who is patient, who remembers that he was a beginner once himself; who knows that boys are not always as they would wish to be, but they are as God made them, some are slow and some are quick. I think I would like to find good fellowship. I do not want to be admitted on sufferance, but to be welcome.'

I would underline this: My boy would say: 'I want you to make me feel that, in spite of my blunders and mistakes, I am of some real help to you.'

If, concluded the speaker, you will not give them that you will not get them, or if you get them you will not keep them (applause).

Master A. Tyler, aged 13, the youngest ringer present, had to reply to the toast. He said: 'Mr. Paterson, I thank you for toasting the young ringers. Ladies and gentlemen, I thank you for the way in which you received the toast. Mr. Paterson, I have been asked by the committee of the United Guilds to present to you these pipes and tobacco to remind you how much we appreciate your active interest in church bellringing at St. Thomas' (applause).

The Rev. M. Paterson expressed his thanks for the gift. Mr. D. Marsh proposed 'Kindred Guilds and Visitors,' and extended a hearty welcome to the visitors present. He referred to the good work done by the associations throughout the country, and, to the non-ringers present, he suggested they should take up ringing in this Coronation year. They would find it a nice hobby and one in which, on the social side, they would meet people of more diversified professions than in any other type of Guild they could find.

Mr. G. E. Fearn, who responded, congratulated the committee on the excellent arrangements they had made for the entertainment of the visitors and also for the wonderful hospitality extended to them. Of all the ringers' dinners held in this country, those of the Bristol United Guilds were second to none when it came to the arrangements for the entertainment of the visitors.

LONDON COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

CHANGE OF SECRETARY IN SOUTHERN DISTRICT.

The annual meeting of the Southern District of the London County Association and North Southwark Diocesan Guild was held on Saturday, Jan. 16th, at St. Gabriel's, Warwick Square, and St. Stephen's, Rochester Row, Westminster, and was attended by some 35 members and friends. Ringing commenced at St. Gabriel's, Pimlico, at 3 p.m., and Grandsire, Stedman, Cambridge and London Surprise were rung until 4.10 p.m., when, to everybody's regret, illness nearby prevented further ringing. Members made their own arrangements for tea, and reassembled for the business meeting, which was held in the Vestry Hall at St. Stephen's, Rochester Row.

The District Master, Mr. H. Mance, took the chair, and was unanimously re-elected Master. Mr. R. Mackrill was re-elected treasurer, and Mr. W. Essery steward. The only change was in the office of hon. secretary, Mr. C. M. Meyer, the retiring secretary, intimated that he wished to resign, and forthwith proposed Mr. A. P. Cannon. This was seconded by Mr. E. J. King and carried.

St. Mary's, Lambeth, was chosen for the place of next meeting, and the date fixed for March 20th, subject to permission being granted.

Mr. T. H. Taffender proposed a vote of thanks to the district officers for their services in the past year, especially to the retiring secretary, Mr. C. M. Meyer.

Mr. Taffender also proposed and Mr. R. Mackrill seconded that the respective incumbents at the two churches be thanked for the use of the bells, and Messrs. P. Carter and C. Meyer, of Rochester Row, for their valuable help with the arrangements. Further ringing afterwards took place at St. Stephen's, the ringing including Grandsire, Stedman, Double Norwich, Cambridge, Superlative and London, and a well-struck touch of Spliced Surprise in four methods. A broken rope at 8.15 p.m. put an end to a very successful meeting.

BOURNEMOUTH LADY RINGER WEDS.

MARRIAGE OF MISS MARCIA WHITE.

On Saturday, January 16th, at the Church of St. John the Evangelist, Bournemouth, the marriage was solemnised between Mr. Fredk. John Marshallsay and Miss Marcia White. The bride is a well-known ringer in the Bournemouth district and a member of the Ladies' Guild. Attired in a white broche satin gown with veil and head-dress of orange blossom and carrying a bouquet of red and white carnations, the bride was accompanied by two bridesmaids (her sisters), who were dressed in red ring velvet and carried bouquets of white carnations.

The bride was given away by her mother, and the best man was Mr. Frank Marshallsay (brother of the bridegroom). Organ music was rendered by Mr. E. Pilcher.

The reception was held at the home of the bride and was attended by 50 guests, including her fellow-ringers of St. John's, who rang the bells as Mr. and Mrs. Marshallsay left the church after the ceremony.

The ringers of St. John's presented the bride with a canteen of cutlery, and the staff of Messrs. Hendy Bros., with whom the bridegroom has been connected for several years, gave an oak electric clock.

The happy couple left by car for a honeymoon, which is being spent in touring Devon.

The future residence of Mr. and Mrs. Marshallsay will be 11, Exton Road, Boscombe East, Bournemouth.

Mr. W. B. Kynaston gave the toast of 'The Ringing World,' to which the Editor (Mr. J. S. Goldsmith) responded.

Mr. W. Rose thanked the artistes, and Mr. J. Nott replied on their behalf.

As usual, the entertainment was of a very diversified nature. Miss Marjorie Hall and Mr. Leonard Nott sang songs, Miss Anne Kelly gave amusing monologues, Mr. George Cooper and Mr. Clifford Hensley gave individual comedy turns. Handbell selections were given by St. Thomas' Guild and a course of Stedman Caters was rung on handbells by Messrs. J. Thomas, J. D. Johnson, G. F. Swann, R. C. Ingram and G. Fearn. Much appreciation was shown for all the items, but nothing raised greater enthusiasm than a 'turn' by Mr. John Austin (aged 74) and Mr. J. Williams (aged 84), who, seated back to back and with 'four in hand,' struck off a course of Grandsire Triples, which they followed with some tunes.

Many of the visitors stayed overnight and had the opportunity of ringing at Bristol and nearby churches during Sunday.

HOBERT DEAN'S REPLY TO CENTRAL COUNCIL.'ENCOURAGEMENT TO YOUNG RINGERS.'

The president of the Central Council (Mr. E. H. Lewis) has received the following reply from Dean Rivers, of Hobart, Tasmania, to the congratulations and greetings sent by the Council on the occasion of the completion of the tower and bells of St. David's Cathedral: 'My best thanks for the kind and welcome congratulations of the English Bellringers on the occasion of the Dedication of the Tower and Bells of St. David's Cathedral. Your letter will give great pleasure and encouragement to our band of young ringers, whose privilege it will be to ring the first peal on Sunday, December 6th.'

LEEDS AND DISTRICT SOCIETY.ANNUAL VISIT TO PUDSEY.

On Saturday, January 16th, Leeds and District Society once again enjoyed the hospitality of the Pudsey company. It needs no reiteration to say how much the society values this visit.

The bells were rung up at 3 p.m. and ringing continued until 9 p.m. except for a break for tea and the business meeting, which were held in the Park Hotel.

The president was delayed at work and the chair was taken by Mr. H. Davison (vice-president).

One new member was elected, viz., Mr. W. Hall, of Calverley.

Mr. George Barraclough proposed and Mr. G. Titterton seconded that the best thanks of the society be accorded the Vicar and churchwardens of Pudsey for the use of the bells, and to the local company for the other arrangements.—Mr. J. W. Baxendale replied for the Pudsey ringers.

Mr. P. J. Johnson moved that the best wishes of the society be conveyed to Mr. Pratt Cordingley, together with the hope that his health would improve and enable him to be amongst the ringers again.

Further ringing on the tower bells took place by some of the members, whilst others remained for handbell ringing, when, as a variation from changes, the Leeds Parish Company, assisted by one ringer from Armley, rang 'Caller Herrin.'

Members were present from Armley, Batley, Bradford, Birstall, Calverley, Drighlington, Guiseley, Headingley (St. Michael's and St. Chad's), Holbeck, Leeds Parish Church, Rothwell, Selby, Sherburn and the local company.

A MID-DEVON PRACTICE MEETING.

A number of Devon Guild members living in the Newton Abbot district visited Bickington, near Newton Abbot, on Thursday evening, January 14th. The bells are a ring of six with a 9 cwt. tenor, and are in good going order. Some excellent practice was obtained, and, in addition to a 360 of Double Court Minor, a couple of courses of Cambridge Surprise Minor were successfully brought round. Some plain courses of Grandsire Doubles were also rung to give the local ringers present some idea of half-pull ringing, and the evening was wound up with 468 of Minor in the following methods: Cambridge Surprise, Double Court, Oxford and Kent Treble Bob, Plain Bob and Grandsire. All the methods were well struck, and it was generally agreed that the practice had been in every way successful. The rise and fall too, were worthy of mention.

CANON SOLLOWAY'S JUBILEE.A POPULAR YORKSHIRE VICAR.

The Vicar of Selby, the Rev. Canon J. Solloway, D.D., has just celebrated his golden jubilee in the ministry of the Church, having been ordained in York Minster on December 18th, 1886. Large congregations were present at the services in Selby Abbey on Sunday, December 20th, to take part in the thanksgiving to God for all Canon Solloway's work in the past half-century and particularly for the last 26 years as Vicar of Selby.

Before the morning service 504 Grandsire Triples was rung, and for evening service a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples: C. Rayner (first quarter-peal) 1, R. Fenton 2, F. W. Hinton 3, E. Storr 4, A. Cryer 5, T. H. Foster 6, H. S. Morley (conductor) 7, T. Strudwick 8.

Canon Solloway is an honorary life member of the Yorkshire Association, and is extremely popular among the members.

GOOD METHODS NEED POPULARISING

There are just a few bands up and down the country who make a hobby of ringing peals in new methods and some of them, notably the Helmingham men and some of the Berkshire ringers, have recently done quite a lot in this direction. It is the result of a commendable spirit of enterprise, and one which might add to the interest of other companies if they would apply themselves to the subject and do likewise. The scope is wide for the 'Surprise' ringers, and there is an almost equally open door for those who consider 'Surprise' methods too far advanced. Most of the methods in the Central Council's Collection of Plain Major Methods are still unringed, and these should commend themselves to ringers who imagine that Double Norwich is their limit. It is a great pity that more of the musical methods in both categories are not generally practised, and that is the point to which we want to direct attention in this article.

In the great majority of cases, when fresh methods are once rung, one never hears of them again. Among them are methods good, bad and indifferent from the ringing point of view. The bad and indifferent can, of course, well be discarded, but we could wish that the 'good' methods would come into more general use. Ringers, for the most part, are very conservative in their practice. It was, for example, years before Bristol Surprise, musical though the method is, began to be treated as anything more than the freak which an earlier generation thought London, Cambridge or Superlative to be. Other Surprise methods equally as interesting as or more musical than the three historic ones have now been rung; but, from lack of knowledge on the part of ringers, or through the conservatism to which we have referred, have been cast aside and left untouched by the general body of the Exercise, when they are well worthy of general practice.

The same thing applies to the Plain methods. There are many as 'good' from the ringing point of view—that is interest and 'music'—as Double Norwich that deserve to be widely rung, but they remain unpractised. Along with the 'exploitation' of new methods, we would much like to see a movement to save the best from the limbo of forgotten things and an effort made to bring these best into general use. Hundreds of ringers in these days are able to ring Cambridge Surprise, yet great are the limitations of the method! Other methods there are, on the same principle, equally interesting to ring and lending themselves to far more musical compositions, which on their merits ought to oust Cambridge from its pride of place—and would do so if it were not that Cambridge has become just a 'habit' with the majority of Surprise ringers. Cambridge served its purpose well when there was nothing else, but there are better, if less hoary, methods to-day. We would like to see leading ringers turning their attention to some few of these very excellent methods, both Plain and Surprise, and popularising them among their fellows. It would be a sign of real progress.

WINCHESTER AND PORTSMOUTH DIOCESAN GUILD.

PORTSMOUTH DISTRICT.

The annual meeting of the Portsmouth District was held at Fareham on Saturday, January 16th, when members attended from Alverstoke, Bishopstoke, Bishop's Waltham, Curdridge, Fareham, Gosport, Hambledon, Netley, North Stoneham, Portsmouth (Cathedral and St. Mary's), Southampton, Soberton, Swanmore, Titchfield, Twyford, Winchester and Wickham.

The Guild service was held in the Parish Church, the Vicar (the Rev. A. Cory) officiating and giving an address.

Tea was served in the Church Hall, after which the business meeting was held, the Master of the Guild, Mr. G. Williams, being voted to the chair in the absence of the Vicar. The report and balance sheet were read and adopted. The sum of £5 5s. was voted from the district funds towards the cost of restoring Soberton bells, subject to the order being placed with the bellfounder.

All the officers were re-elected for the ensuing year. Mrs. F. W. Lager and Mrs. M. Stansfield were elected honorary members of the Guild, and ringing members were elected from Fareham and Alverstoke.

The Cathedral, Portsmouth, was selected for the next annual meeting, to be held on Saturday, January 15th, 1938.

Votes of thanks were accorded the Vicar for the use of the bells, for officiating at the service and for granting the use of the Church Hall for tea.

The members afterwards returned to the tower for further ringing, which ranged from Grandsire Triples to Cambridge Surprise Major.

YOUTHFUL HANDBELL RINGERS.

QUARTER-PEALS BY REV. H. S. T. RICHARDSON'S DAUGHTERS.

At St. Nicholas' Rectory, Hereford, on handbells, during the Christmas holidays, three quarter-peals of Bob Major were rung—1,254, 1,280 and 1,296 changes, and (on December 31st) a date touch of 1,936 Bob Major—by Monica Richardson (age 12) 1-2, Rev. H. S. T. Richardson (conductor) 3-4, Brenda Richardson (age 14) 5-6, Dorothy Richardson (age 10) 7-8. And 720's of Double Bob Minor and Oxford Bob Minor (Monica Richardson 1-2, Rev. H. S. T. Richardson 3-4, Brenda Richardson 5-6). Every member of the band has rung 720's of Bob Minor on every pair of bells, one of these being conducted by Brenda.

MIDDLESEX COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

SOUTH AND WEST DISTRICT SUPPER AND SOCIAL.

The fifth annual supper and social of the South and West District of the Middlesex County Association and London Diocesan Guild, held at Heston on January 16th, was attended by about 70 members and friends and was an unqualified success. After ringing during the afternoon at Heston (8) and Norwood Green (6), the company assembled in the Village Hall at 6 p.m., under the chairmanship of the Rev. G. Craggs, Vicar of Heston, supported by the vice-president of the association (Mr. J. A. Trollope), all the district officers, and members from most of the towers in the district and some from the North and East District.

An excellent supper was quickly and efficiently served and disposed of as efficiently, if not quite so quickly.

After the toast of 'The King' had been honoured, the Chairman proposed the toast of 'The Association,' and assured the members of his pleasure in welcoming them to Heston. He evidenced the activity of the local band in a story of a man who went to Heston on Christmas Eve for a rest after a strenuous week's work. When he arrived the bells were ringing. When he woke up on Christmas morning the bells were still ringing. On Boxing Day he woke to find them still ringing and they went on for about three hours. On the following morning (Sunday) they were ringing again, so that the visitor was glad when Monday came and he was able to go back to work and get some peace and quietness.

After a touch of Grandsire Triples on handbells by Messrs. G. Kilby, E. O. S. Turner, J. Herbert and W. G. Wilson, the vice-president replied to the toast. He thanked the Vicar for his welcome and drew attention to the difference in the status of ringers at the present time compared to the early days of the association.

Mr. H. W. Lidbetter proposed a vote of thanks to the Supper Committee (Messrs. Chandler, Gladman and Goodfellow), and this was carried with acclamation.

By this time the tables had been cleared and removed in readiness for the social programme, for which Mr. Lidbetter was M.C. Community singing, led by Mr. Herbert, with Miss Bradford at the piano, gave a good start to a programme, consisting of games of the Christmas party type, violin solos by Mr. Leonard Townsend and dancing. The Rugby international held at Twickenham was quite overshadowed by what was called in the programme 'balloon handball.' Teams of seven were made up from four towers, and goals were scored by knocking a balloon over strings suspended about 10ft. high at each end of the hall. The Hillingdon team beat Heston by 2-0 after an exciting game, in which Mr. Corke's nose was mistaken for the balloon—at least it is hoped it was a mistake. Failing heat Islworth by 4-0, although the latter team, which included four ladies, put up a strong resistance.

After an interval for refreshments and more games, the final between Hillingdon and Heston was keenly contested, and Hillingdon gained the victory by 3-2 after extra time and a little bloodshed.

More community singing round a 'camp fire,' a dance and Auld Lang Syne ended a happy evening about 11.30 p.m., and the members who worked so hard to make the event a success are assured that they did so.

W. G. W.

SUSSEX COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

SOUTHERN DIVISION MEETING AT BURGESS HILL.

On Saturday, January 23rd, a quarterly meeting of the Southern Division was held at Burgess Hill, about 30 members being present from towers in the district.

The peal of eight bells was kept going from 2.30 to 8.30, except for an hour and a half break for tea and service, a variety of methods, ranging from rounds to London and Bristol Surprise, being rung.

Owing to the illness of the Vicar, the service was taken by the Rev. H. Birmingham, who gave a brief and interesting address on the subject of churchworkers as a great and united family.

At the business meeting, Mr. T. Holman, people's warden, presided, and, after the minutes of the last meeting had been signed, the ringers present stood for a moment in silence as a mark of respect to the memory of four members who had passed away since the last time the division met—Mr. R. J. Dawe, Lewes; Mr. H. Rann, St. Nicholas, Brighton; Mr. J. Welch, honorary member, Henfield; and Mr. G. W. Stokes, trustee and hon. treasurer of the association.

Three new members were elected, viz., Canon D. C. Dunlop, Henfield; Mr. H. S. James, Lewes; and Mr. H. Packham, Twinelham.

The meeting closed with a hearty vote of thanks to all who had helped to make the day a success, including Mr. T. Holman, who very kindly entertained the ringers to tea.

FOR BEGINNERS.

FROM PAPER TO BELLS.

The 'pencil and paper' work, which we suggested last week beginners should do, will, we hope, have shown something of the construction of methods of pure Doubles in which the treble retains a plain hunting course. Those who worked out these courses will have found that wherever a 3rd's place is made, two bells (on the opposite side of the 'place' to the position of the treble) had to make a 'dodge'; that is each had to retrace its steps one place before going on again.

In Grandsire, which, as we explained, is the method with one 3rd's place in each 'lead,' made immediately the treble has led, the dodge takes place between the bells in 4-5. The bell that makes the 3rd's place has its course reversed, and, instead of continuing hunting up it has to turn round and hunt down to lead again. The bell that does this is often said to 'make 3rd's, and lead,' and you should remember this in case, at some time, you go astray and are suddenly given this injunction. Remember, too, that the 3rd's place is always made at backstroke and handstroke, which is sometimes called 'the wrong way,' or 'wrong,' as opposed to places made 'right,' which is at handstroke and backstroke.

The 'dodge' occurs immediately after one bell has laid its whole pull behind. This bell is said to dodge 'down,' because actually it is in its hunting course on its way down. The other bell is said to dodge 'up,' because it is in its upward hunting course, and does not lay its whole pull behind until after the dodge is completed. It is useful to know that the whole pulls behind in Grandsire are always at backstroke and handstroke.

The bells that have been dodging behind come down to lead in the same order that they hunted up, but the bell that made 3rd's place hunts down in front of them, instead of being behind them. It is by this transposition of work that the three leads forming the plain course are produced.

The 3rd's place puts the last one first. Suppose they are running in the order a, b, c; c makes 3rd's place; then the order is c, a, b. Next b makes 3rd's, and the order becomes b, c, a. In turn a makes 3rd's and the order is once more a, b, c.

Of the other two bells the treble, as you already know, is plain hunting. The other bell also keeps to plain hunting until a bob or single is called, and in simple Grandsire this bell continues to 'course' the treble; that is, it takes it off at lead, and turns it from behind, and there is never more than one other bell (a bell going in the opposite direction) between them at any time.

The three dodging and place-making bells follow a regular cycle of work—indeed, in all methods the 'working bells,' as they are called, follow a regular cycle, until a bob (or single) shunts them off into another part of the same cycle.

The cycle of work in Grandsire Doubles is:—

Make 3rd's, and lead.

Dodge 5-4 down.

Dodge 4-5 up.

In the plain course the bell in the hunt with the treble is the 2nd. In previous articles we have attempted to explain how to hunt, so all that it should be necessary now to elaborate is the differences in the work.

You will know when it is your turn to make 3rd's place by the fact that immediately before it the treble will have taken you off the lead; in other words, you will have 'passed the treble' in 1-2. At your backstroke lead the treble strikes over you, at your first blow in 2nd's you strike over the treble. That is 'passing the treble' in 1-2. Your next blow will be over the bell in the hunt, and that is your first blow in 3rd's. In these two blows you are hunting up—they require a little 'holding up' on your part, to keep the rhythm. Your next blow in 3rd's requires an interval in your pull equivalent to the space in rounds, and then you hunt down to lead by 'pulling in' just a little each time. The two bells you strike over in turn are the treble and the bell in the hunt—the same two in the same order that you met after leading.

Whichever way you are dodging you must 'pull in' a little to strike into 4th's and 'hold up' a little to go back into 5th's.

After making 3rd's and leading, you 'pass the treble' in 3-4 before dodging in 5-4 down, and in 2-3 before dodging in 4-5 up. This passing of the treble should be one of your main guides to your next work, and if you are to rely upon it you must count your places as you pass through them.

Here is a simple table which gives you the complete work in a plain course of Grandsire Doubles. Learn it:—

Lead.	Pass treble 1-2.	3rd's.
Lead.	Pass treble 3-4.	Lie. Dodge 5-4 down.
Lead.	Pass treble 2-3.	Dodge 4-5 up. Lie.
Lead.

Write out your course of Grandsire Doubles, check over with the figures the work of the different bells as explained here and then endeavour to put it into practice in your tower, or, if your tower bells are not available, then on handbells, ringing the bells upward for the handstrokes and downward for the backstrokes.

LONDON RINGING SOCIETIES.

To the Editor

Sir,—Your reference to the relationship between the ringing societies in the London area, in your issue of January 15th, will, I hope, encourage some action to be taken. Too long have they gone on 'officially' trying to ignore each other's existence. As one who has mixed a good deal with those who ring in London, I have generally found them quite amiable and sociable individually, yet in their organised relationship they adopt towards each other a curiously, and altogether unnecessary, frigid attitude.

There is really no reason for this aloofness, or any need for airs of superiority. A cordial spirit of co-operation among the organisations covering London might, at this time, do much good in the interests of ringing. This Coronation year offers a great opportunity. Cannot the ringing societies bury their petty differences—if that is what is keeping them apart—and show the real spirit of brotherhood towards each other?

'SUBURBAN RINGER.'

SHROPSHIRE ASSOCIATION.

SHREWSBURY BELLS.

The annual meeting of the Shropshire Association was held in Shrewsbury on Saturday, January 16th. After ringing at St. Chad's Church, the members attended a service, conducted by the Rev. E. B. M. Close, Vicar of St. Chad's. Tea was served in the Parish Room.

The attendance was representative of the towers with which the association is in contact, and 47 members were present.

The Rev. E. C. Pigott presided at the business meeting which followed, there being an apology for absence, owing to illness, from Major E. R. T. Corbett, the Ringing Master.

The balance sheet was adopted, there being a slight increase in the balance carried forward.

The report of the committee was also received with approval, and recommendations that an annual report should be issued, and that three additional summer meetings should be arranged, were accepted.

The report of the committee also contained an announcement that the Vicar of St. Mary's, Shrewsbury, had been interviewed, and that he had agreed to provide new ropes for his bells, and expressed his wish that the bells should be rung occasionally. The committee is also to inspect St. Alkmund's bells and are in touch with St. Julian's authorities with a view to getting the bells in order for ringing.

Confidence in the officers was expressed by their re-election, together with the committee, Mr. J. Griffiths only receiving a new office, in connection with the peal books, for greater convenience.

The following meetings are to be arranged, if possible, during the year: Pontesbury, Clive, Oswestry, Wroxeter, Wem, Great Ness, Moreton Corbet, Church Stretton and Much Wenlock.

A hearty vote of thanks was accorded to the Rev. R. B. M. Close and the Rev. E. C. Pigott.

During the day touches of Grandsire Caters, Triples and Cinques, Stedman Triples and Caters, Plain and Treble Bob Major and Royal were rung, and also an excellent course of Cambridge Surprise Major.

LINCOLN DIOCESAN GUILD.

GAINSBOROUGH DISTRICT RINGING MASTER APPEALS FOR MORE BEGINNERS.

The annual meeting of the Gainsborough District of the Lincoln Diocesan Guild was held at Gainsborough on Saturday, January 16th, and was attended by a good company of ringers from Brigg, Lea, Upton, Willingham, Surfleet, Lincoln, Uleby, Retford, Warsop, North Wheatly, Treton and the local tower. The excellent ring of eight (tenor 19½ cwt.) at the Parish Church was made good use of in a large number of methods during the afternoon and evening.

Service was conducted by Canon Witworth. Before his address he extended a very hearty welcome to all to Gainsborough and said how pleased he was to meet the members of the Guild, it being the first opportunity he had had of doing so since he came to the town. In his interesting address he said that unfortunately the proverb, 'Out of sight out of mind,' was too often applicable to bands of ringers, but he assured them that the majority of people appreciated their services. Bellingring was one of those works of which no man could estimate the value.

After tea the business meeting was held. Owing to officers having left the district, three vacancies had occurred during the past year.

Canon Witworth was elected president, Mr. George L. A. Lunn Ringing Master and Mr. C. Hooton representative on the committee.

Miss K. M. Smith, of Lea, was elected a ringing member. Four meetings were agreed upon for the year, viz., at Lea, Bigby, Willingham and Haxey in April, June, August and October respectively, subject to the necessary arrangements being made.

In thanking members for the honour they had conferred upon him, the new Ringing Master drew attention to the declining number of ringers in the district and pointed out that several towers had barely as many ringers as bells. 'Let us make a special effort during 1937,' he said, 'to swell our ranks.' As a solution, he suggested that each member should try and introduce one new ringer to his tower.

This concluded the business meeting, and ringing was resumed until 8.30 p.m., bringing to a close a very enjoyable meeting.

ELY DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION. HUNTINGDON BRANCH.

The annual meeting of the Huntingdon Branch of the Ely Diocesan Association was held at Godmanchester on Saturday. Visitors were present from Coventry, Newmarket, Easing, Fulbourn, Sawston, Cambridge, Dersingham, Wisbech, Terrington St. John's, Chatteris and Trumpington.

Ringling commenced at 3 p.m., and the Vicar (the Rev. L. Douglas) conducted the usual service at 4.30 p.m. He also gave the ringers a warm welcome to Godmanchester and said how he loved to hear the bells rung each week, although he had a feeling of home sickness each time he heard them, for it reminded him of the hospital work he had just left near St. Paul's Cathedral, and how he used to love to listen to the bells of St. Paul's being rung while carrying out his duties at the hospital nearby.

Tea and business meeting were held at the Dorothy Cafe, arranged by Mr. Matson.

Mr. Harry Chapman presided over the business meeting, the Vicar being unable to attend.

The following officers were elected for the ensuing year: District secretary, Mr. H. Parker; Ringing Master, Mr. H. Fields; committee, Messrs. F. Lack, S. Peck, S. Coleman and E. Wakeling.

One new ringing member was elected and the usual vote of thanks was accorded to the Vicar and all who had helped to make the meeting such a success.

THOMAS OSBORN'S FIRST RING OF EIGHT.

The annual meeting of the Wisbech Branch was held at Hilgay on Saturday, January 16th, and, considering the weather, was well attended. A pleasing feature of the meeting was the excellent striking of the more advanced methods. The methods rung included Double Oxford Major, Double Norwich and Cambridge Surprise Major. The service was taken by the curate, the Rector (the Ven. Archdeacon Ward) being ill with influenza.

Archdeacon Ward was re-elected president of the branch, the Ringing Master (Mr. R. W. Crofts) and secretary (Mr. W. W. Cousins) being also re-elected. The committee was re-elected en bloc.

The members were kindly entertained to tea by the president, to whom a hearty vote of thanks was accorded.

It is interesting to note that the ring of eight at Hilgay were the first complete peal to be cast by Thomas Osborn after he had commenced business on his own account at Downham Market (only three miles distant) in 1779. The tenor was recast by him in 1798, since when, apart from rehanging, the peal has not been touched, and their condition is still quite good.

DONCASTER AND DISTRICT SOCIETY. BENTLEY WIN THE WALKER CUP.

The annual meeting of the Doncaster and District Society was held at St. George's, Doncaster, on Saturday, and, in spite of the wet weather, was attended by upwards of 40 members and friends. Ringing commenced at 3.30, and at 4.30 a short service was held in the Forman Chapel, conducted by the president, Canon A. Ll. Davies, Vicar of Doncaster, who gave an inspiring address on unity and fellowship. One of the ringers officiated as organist.

Tea was provided in the Memorial Hall, to which 31 sat down. At the general meeting held afterwards, the Vicar presided, supported by the Ringing Master and the Vice-president.

The report was accepted, as was also the balance sheet, which was considered very satisfactory, a gain of £1 15s. being shown on the year's work.

Mr. G. Halksworth was again re-elected vice-president for a further period of three years. The auditors were re-elected and the committee re-elected en bloc to serve another year.

Adwick-le-Street was selected for the next meeting, to be held on Saturday, February 27th.

Seven new members were elected, viz., the Rev. P. Chappell, A. K. Traylen, Tony Traylen and P. Jeffries, of Doncaster, J. Elm and V. Dimon, of Burghwallis, and H. S. Morley, of Selby.

Mr. G. Halksworth proposed a vote of thanks to the ladies for providing the tea and to the Vicar for presiding at the committee and general meetings, also for the service and for his kindness and help generally.

The Vicar, in reply, thanked the members for their welcome to him, which he appreciated very much, and also for the help he had received from the secretary in arranging things.

The Walker Cup for the best average attendance at Sunday service ringing has left Doncaster for the second time in its history, Arksey having won it once several years ago. The president now presented it to Mr. J. E. Stephenson, the captain of St. Peter's, Bentley, company, who showed a return of practically 100 per cent. for 1936, only one service having been missed. Doncaster came second with 74 points out of 78.

The President congratulated Mr. Stephenson, and said although he was sorry Doncaster had lost the cup, it had been worthily won, and he hoped they would repeat their win many times in the future.

Mr. Stephenson thanked the Vicar and also the society for the help that had been given to St. Peter's, Bentley. When the bells had been stopped, several members travelled a long distance to ring for Sunday service.—This concluded the business and the tower bells and handbells were brought into use.

APPRECIATION

THE VICARAGE,
COSELEY, STAFFS.

January 17th, 1937.

"MESSRS. JOHN TAYLOR & Co.

"GENTLEMEN,

"I am very happy to forward enclosed cheque for the repair of the Coseley Church Bells.

"I have had a talk with my Ringing Master, who tells me that he and the other ringers are more than satisfied with the job. As far as I am concerned, and my people, we are delighted to have so musical and so perfectly balanced a peal of bells. We have met with the utmost courtesy from you and your employees. We think your bellhanger the most efficient, good-natured and hard-working employee that we have ever had to do with. But he only represented the willingness and spirit of co-operation which we encountered from all connected with Messrs. John Taylor's."

"I am sorry to close the Appeal for the bells. It has been received so enthusiastically, and responded to so generously, that it has been a real pleasure to launch it and to see it through.

Yours faithfully?

(Signed) NORMAN W. WATSON."

BELFRY GOSSIP.

The ring of eight bells at Rishton, near Blackburn, Lancashire, is to be recast and hung in a new frame by Messrs. Gillett and Johnston, Ltd., Croydon.

Congratulations to Mr. Edward Clapshaw, Farnham's veteran ringer, who was 92 on Tuesday.

It is hoped that the bells of Willenhall, Staffs, which are to be recast and augmented to ten, will be completed in time for the Coronation. There is still £300 to be raised and another appeal is being made to the townspeople.

According to the 'Daily Sketch,' the Earl of Cranbrook, soldier, politician and explorer, has become a bellringer at Great Glenham Church, which is on his estate near Saxmundham, Suffolk. There are five bells at Great Glenham, but the ringers had dwindled to three in number. The Earl of Cranbrook and, it is hoped, the new Vicar will make up the band.

The death occurred on Friday last of Mrs. R. Bevan, widow of the late Mr. Dick Bevan, a former well-known member of the Royal Cumberland Youths, and mother of Mr. Thomas Bevan. Mrs. Bevan was 78 years of age.

Somerset ringers are getting more 'musical.' According to the 'Somerset County Gazette,' a band at Barton St. David, to celebrate the return of Mr. and Mrs. Withers from their honeymoon, 'rang a quarter-peat in four movements.' The ringers were E. V. Barrington (captain), T. Marks and S. Rickett (Yeovil), G. W. Randell (Hardington) and P. Rainey (Somerton).

Mr. T. W. Last, of Helmingham, Suffolk, has rung 100 peals in his home tower. What adds to the interest of this performance is that these peals have been rung in no fewer than 46 methods.

At least three fresh towers were added to his record list by the president of the 'Tower Snatchers' Union' when he spent the weekend in the Bletchley district in order to be present at the dedication of a new treble at Cosgrove, Northants, which increased the ring to six.

If all's well, it will not be long before Mr. J. H. Shepherd has visited and rung in 3,000 towers! A truly amazing number. Ringers are sometimes inclined to joke about Mr. Shepherd's special hobby, but it is one full of interest.

Owing to the clashing of dates, the meeting of the Eastern Division of the Hertford County Association, which was to have been held at Cheshunt to-morrow, has been postponed for a fortnight.

The engagement is announced between Mr. E. T. Paul Field, of Stoke Wake, Dorset, Ringing Master of the Dorchester Branch of the Salisbury Diocesan Guild, and Miss Joan P. S. Davidson, of Thornford, Dorset, a member of the local company of ringers.

Littleton Church, near Winchester, is to have a peal of six bells. This is the generous gift of Mrs. Arthur Deane, of Littleton House, in memory of the late Mr. Arthur Deane, for many years churchwarden and treasurer to the city of Winchester. It is hoped the bells will be dedicated soon after Easter. Mrs. Deane is an honorary member of the Winchester and Portsmouth Diocesan Guild.

THE LADIES

MR. WHITTINGTON'S REPLY.

We do not wish to appear frivolous on such a subject, but in admitting Mr. R. Whittington's letter in praise of ladies in the belfry in a recent issue we appear to have opened the door to a 'spot of bother' in our columns. With Mr. Whittington's letter below both sides will have expressed their views on the point at issue, and we must ask them to leave it at that.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—I am afraid I cannot agree at all with Mr. Lucas' expressed opinion, that the Sabbath is a greater gift from God to man than is woman; nor can I see what good any other gift whatever would have been to man if he had not had the gift of woman. God 'provided' the Sabbath certainly, but mankind could, if he had so desired, and of his own freewill, have made the seventh day (already 'provided') holy, in exactly the same way as many people now make Wednesday or Saturday recreative.

Man could not, however much he may have desired, have created woman. To observe the seventh day as the Sabbath was a commandment of how to use a day already 'provided,' whereas the gift of a woman to man, according to Genesis II., 21-22, was a creation. Mr. Lucas seems also to wish to belittle the woman's worth as the 'noblest gift of Heav'n,' 'because she was tempted and brought man into the temptation and fall'—but I read in Genesis I., 31, that 'God saw everything that he had made, and behold it was very good'—and, as I seem compelled to look at things, in that 'everything' that God had made must be included the agency which was used to tempt the woman, and, to my, perhaps ignorant, mind, it looks like God's scheme of things generally, and that the 'fall' had to happen.

However that may be, I shall still quote woman as 'the last best work, the noblest gift of Heav'n,' and I am, perhaps wickedly, inclined to look upon the 'fall' in the same way as the soldier looked upon his seven days' 'C.B.' for overstaying his leave. He said, 'Oh, well, it was worth it, anyway.'

ROBERT WHITTINGTON.

AN OLD BIRMINGHAM RINGER.

DEATH OF MR. THOMAS RUSSAM.

Three weeks before reaching his 80th birthday, Thomas Russam died at Birmingham on Saturday. He passed away at his home, 267, Stratford Road, Sparkbrook, after having been in failing health for some years. He suffered chiefly from asthma, and his end was not unexpected.

For well over 60 years he had been a bellringer; one who had made his mark in Birmingham ringing circles, had been associated with several of the churches, notably Bishop Ryder's, Aston and St. Martin's, and had held an honoured place in the ranks of Midland ringers.

His death breaks another link with a receding generation of Birmingham ringing 'giants.' When he began to ring, men like Johnson, Chattell, Perks, Hallsworth, Biddlestone and others were at the peak of their careers, and as a young ringer Tom Russam used, as it were, to sit at the feet of the mighty and glean knowledge from their conversation.

THE LATE MR. T. RUSSAM,

As his old friends will best remember him.

Mr. Russam was born in Bishop Ryder's parish, was brought up almost under the shadow of the church tower, and became a member of the choir. As a lad, with others of his age, he used to climb to the belfry and watch with wondering eyes the old sexton, called 'Puffer' Malin, because he was also organ blower, pulling the single bell for service. The boys eventually almost used to fight to see who should have a pull.

When the peal of bells was put in in 1869, Tom Russam, then only 12 years old, became a regular ringer. J. Banister, of Woolwich, became the towerkeeper, and under him the boy became an apt pupil. He was also one of the privileged few who were allowed to go to Billy Chattell's bakery, where this worthy used to demonstrate the 'slow work' in Stedman by a novel method of his own.

Even in those early days handbell ringing commanded a lot of attention in Birmingham, and Mr. Russam had a great flair for this form of change ringing. Practices, it is said, used to commence on Monday and finish the following Sunday evening, usually at a place known as 'Old Joe Nixon's.' Certainly Mr. Russam became a very accomplished ringer on handbells. He had an exceptionally graceful style, and was very safe in a peal. He had rung everything from Triples to Cinques in Grandsire and Stedman, and put the coping stone to his performances when he rang a pair (1-2) to the one and only peal of Stedman Sextuples in 1922.

In his younger days Mr. Russam spent a lot of time teaching ringing and tuneplaying. For some time he was towerkeeper at Bishop Ryder's, and afterwards for many years at Aston, when that tower was St. Martin's Guild's 'other headquarters.'

WORK IN MANY CAPACITIES FOR THE SUSSEX ASSOCIATION.

Sussex ringing has suffered another severe loss by the death on Thursday of last week at Eastbourne of Mr. George W. Stokes. Mr. Stokes, who was 66 years of age and formerly held a responsible position in the P.O. Telephone Service, had recently undergone two operations, from which he never fully recovered.

He began his ringing career in Wiltshire and was afterwards at Crawley, Sussex, before going to Eastbourne, where he was associated with the band at St. Saviour's Church.

For some years he was the Eastern Divisional Hon. Secretary, served on the Association Committee and later became hon. treasurer and a trustee of the Sussex County Association. At the last annual meeting of the association, when it was decided that the association should be fully represented on the Central Council, he was elected one of the representatives, but, of course, had had no opportunity of attending a meeting.

In his various capacities he had done much excellent work for the Sussex Association, the members of which will greatly regret his death.

NORWICH DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION.

SOUTH NORFOLK BRANCH ANNUAL MEETING.

That there is no want of interest in the Norwich Diocesan Association was apparent by the support which was given to the annual meeting of the South Norfolk Branch, which took place at Saxlingham on Saturday last, when members from Acle, Alburgh, Dickleburgh, Diss, Garboldisham, Halvergate, Norwich, Pulham, Reedham, Shelfanger, Starston, Winfarthing, Wymondham and Yarmouth turned up in force and took part in touches from Grandsire Triples to Double Goslany Court, Cambridge, Superlative and London Surprise Major.

At the business meeting, which followed a short service conducted by the Rector (the Rev. J. S. Deuchar), all the officers of the branch were re-elected.

Herbert Howlett and Cecil Poynitz, a promising lad, both of Saxlingham, were elected members.

It was decided to hold the next meeting on April 24th at Redenhull, and to practise Bristol Surprise Major, which has been rung at infrequent intervals in Norfolk for many years.

The branch secretary (Mr. N. Golden) thanked the Rev. J. S. Deuchar for conducting the service; Mrs. Deuchar, the Misses Duffield and Mr. W. L. Duffield for so kindly providing tea for the company of fifty which sat down; Mr. C. D. Thornton, of Long Stanton, for officiating at the organ; and the contingent from Acle, Halvergate and Yarmouth.

This concluded the business of the meeting, when the members dispersed for handbell ringing and further touches on the tower bells.

NOTABLE PERFORMANCES

Mr. Russam was a member of the old Birmingham and District Association and the Birmingham Amalgamated Society from their formation until they were disbanded. He was also a member of the Holt Society until it was absorbed by St. Martin's Guild. Previous to the amalgamation the Guild was known as St. Martin's Society. He conducted the first peal rung under the auspices of the Guild.

Although he kept no accurate record of his peals, Mr. Russam had rung something over a hundred and fifty. This is not a large number on the part of so competent a ringer for such a long period, but Mr. Russam was never anxious to ring a lot of peals. He preferred 'one good one now and again.' And they had to be good to please him. For, excellent striker himself, he had little patience for those who were careless over their ringing.

Among the notable performances in which he took part, in addition to the Stedman Sextuples, were the first peal of Grandsire Cinques on handbells and the first double-handed peal of Stedman Cinques out of London, this being the second ever rung. His handbell peals also included a 10,000 of Grandsire Major. On tower bells he took part in the first peal of Duffield Maximus.

Tom Russam's early ringing brought him into touch with some interesting characters, and when he was in reminiscent vein many were the good tales he could tell. Those who heard him propose the toast of 'The Memory of Henry Johnson' at the Johnson Commemoration Dinner a few years ago will remember the wealth of anecdote with which he adorned the toast. He was of a retiring disposition, but was held in high esteem in Birmingham ringing circles.

Ill-health had prevented him from much active participation in recent years in the art he loved so well, and of which he was so able an exponent, but he never lost his interest in ringing. From time to time a little note of comment, criticism or congratulation on a passing event would come into the office of 'The Ringing World' in his neat and perfectly formed writing, for he had been a jeweller's engraver by trade. He was a delightful and well-informed correspondent, and in all his communications as in all his contacts with others he proved himself ever one of Nature's gentlemen.

The funeral service took place at Yardley Wood Church on Wednesday, when several members attended to represent St. Martin's Guild and handbells were rung over the grave.

OXFORD DIOCESAN GUILD.

SONNING DEANERY DISCUSSES COMBINED PRACTICES.

The annual meeting of the Sonning Deanery Branch of the Oxford Diocesan Guild was held at Wokingham on Saturday, January 16th. Ringing took place at the towers of St. Paul's and All Saints' Churches. Service was held in St. Paul's Church, Canon G. F. Coleridge, Master of the Guild and chairman of the branch, being the preacher. A collection for the Branch Restoration Fund was taken and realised £1 10s.

The Master took for his text Ezekiel, 40, v. 3, and, in the course of an inspiring address, brought out the following points, from the superman with a line of flax in his hand and a measuring reed. In the course of the preparation for rebuilding the temple seen in the vision, the line of flax and the reed were used and the smallest details were carefully taken. The line of flax would appeal to bellringers as their bell-rope. The narrative taught the need of preparation—not to leave all till they reached the belfry. The Master impressed the need for careful attention to punctuality and the full use of time, which should not be wasted. There was an art which required earnest application if the full value of it were to be realised in their work.

The ringers then adjourned to St. Paul's Parish Room, where a sumptuous tea was provided, and included the famed meat pies, also mince pies, and a fine Christmas cake, kindly presented by Mrs. P. O. Watson, of Cantley, Wokingham.

The Master, who presided, thanked the great number of good people for 'making this excellent provision for us.' He named Mr. Churchwarden Newbery and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Eamer, and Mrs. Watson for her kind gift (applause).—Mr. Newbery briefly responded for all the helpers.

Canon Anderson (Rural Dean) thanked the churchwardens and authorities of St. Paul's for the use of their church and tower; the organist, Mr. F. A. Burgess; and last, but not least, Canon Coleridge for the sermon. No one, he said, was better qualified than Canon Coleridge to speak on such an occasion as that from the pulpit (applause).

THE ANNUAL MEETING.

The Master, as chairman of the branch, presided at the annual meeting, and there were also present the Rural Dean, the Rev. C. E. Wigg (Deputy Master), the Rev. A. P. Carr, the Rev. L. R. Majendie, the Rev. A. G. G. Thurlow, Mr. A. D. Barker, of Slough (Guild treasurer), Mr. R. T. Hibbert (Guild secretary), Mr. W. J. Paice (deanery secretary), Mr. F. Dentry, Mr. J. Moth, other foremen and ringers, including several ladies.

The secretary, by permission, stated that he had received a letter from Tilehurst (not in their deanery) inviting assistance in re-conditioning their ring of eight bells before the Coronation. The cost would be £300.

The response to this appeal was immediate—the plate was passed round and £1 5s. subscribed at once.

Arising from the minutes, the hon. secretary said that Easthampstead Rector and churchwardens, as their appeal had been generously responded to, had returned the five guineas voted by the Sonning Deanery last year, with deep expressions of gratitude, feeling that by so doing they might help some other tower more in need than themselves (applause).

Apologies were announced from the Rev. R. W. Tuesday (curate in charge of St. Paul's), who was away on a short holiday, after a time of strenuous work; Canon E. J. and Miss Norris, Mr. R. Bagley (Easthampstead), Mr. J. White, Mr. E. Foster (St. Laurence's, Reading), and Mr. W. J. Fuller (Wargrave), who, although not now an active ringer, enclosed subscriptions for himself and wife. The secretary mentioned two deaths, not at the moment connected by membership with the branch, viz., Canon Parsons, who for 41 years was Rector of Sandhurst, and Viscount Mountmorres, late Rector of St. Paul's, Wokingham.

FINANCIAL.

Mr. Paice then, as treasurer, reported a credit balance on the general fund of £9 7s. 7d., some £2 below that of last year, and £9 15s. 6d. in hand in the Branch Restoration Fund.—Mr. Owen Goddard, hon. auditor, was thanked for his services and the report was adopted. As secretary, Mr. Paice next reported a membership of 28 hon. members and 141 ringers, total 169. Three members—the Rev. J. C. F. Wimberley, of Hurst, Mr. G. Green (All Saints', Wokingham) and Mr. W. Penton (Binfield)—had died during the year. The branch had a good number of young ringers—keen to get on in learning methods to ring their first peal. The Sunday service ringing had been well maintained. The half-yearly meeting at Wargrave was quite a success. A cordial welcome was given by the Vicar and the local band. Peals, in which branch members took part, had been rung at Binfield, Easthampstead, Pinchampstead, Waltham St. Lawrence and Sandhurst (half-muffled in memory of Canon Parsons). The report also noted the rehanging of Easthampstead bells by Messrs. White. Fitted with ball bearings, they were now in excellent ringing order. The report closed with thanks to Rectors, officials and foremen of towers for their help and ready co-operation.—The report was adopted on the proposition of Mr. Dentry, seconded by Mr. Houlton.

Elections then took place. The chairman (Canon G. F. Coleridge) was proposed for re-election by the Rural Dean, and seconded by Mr. W. Houlton. The proposer, amid applause, happily remarked of Canon Coleridge that 'though prevented from getting up the towers, he is still a tower of strength to the Guild, his work being appreciated by all in the deanery. If anybody has the right to preach about what ringers should do, surely he has (applause). He has practised what he preached.' The resolution was endorsed by acclamation.

Canon Coleridge thanked the branch and said he was always glad to serve to the utmost. This year he hoped to reach 80; it was not his inability to get up the towers, but to get down, that was the trouble. He promised to do his best for the branch in any way.

The hon. treasurer and secretary (Mr. W. J. Paice) was re-elected, with cordial expressions of appreciation. Expressing thanks, he recalled that it was ten years ago that night, in that very room, they first elected him as secretary.

The Branch Committee, consisting of the foremen of the towers, was then re-elected, Mr. H. Goodey succeeding Mr. R. Bagley (retired) as foreman at Easthampstead. Branch representatives to the Guild Committee were next re-elected, viz., Messrs. F. Dentry, J. Moth, J. Rance and J. White.

The half-yearly meeting was fixed for early in June at Binfield and combined practices as before, both at the suggestion of the committee.

COMBINED PRACTICES.

The committee further invited suggestions for making combined practices more useful, stating that the matter had been brought up by a young ringer to the Branch Committee. The suggestion was that some of the combined practices be given up to learning a new method. Some objections, which might now be voiced, were raised at the committee.

Mr. R. G. Cross, the young member in question, then referred to late attendance, which impaired the usefulness of the practices by losing valuable time; also to time lost between touches, which themselves were sometimes too long. He advocated shorter touches and more of them, so as to avoid long pauses between the ringing.

The Rev. A. G. G. Thurlow supported Mr. Cross, who, he said, 'practices what he preaches.'

Mr. Moth spoke of the local bands not attending these practices, and remarked that six-bell towers were not so good for the purpose as eight-bell towers.

The secretary stressed the necessity of looking up the method at home before going to combined practice, and agreed with the disadvantage of arriving late. So many ringers, too, were not able to ring their bell and ring rounds properly. That marred combined practices. He wanted to see young ringers at these practices. His advice was, 'Learn to ring in rounds in your own tower.'

The Guild Secretary (Mr. R. T. Hibbert) said the art of handling the bell should come first, and referred to the valuable articles for beginners now running in 'The Ringing World,' which he advised young ringers to study. He referred humorously to the fine in some towers for late attendance. He hoped the virtue of punctuality would be seen among them in the coming year on all occasions. It was very nice to see young members in the branch who had the courage of their convictions. He was glad to see the young ringers and advised them to spend a couple of hours now and then at home with paper and pencil, learning the diagram of a bell so as to be able to put the bells just where it ought to be put (applause).

Mr. A. D. Barker, the Guild treasurer, congratulated the officers on their balance sheet. He did not know about combined practices, but suggested that to take away from the secretary the hardships of looking after the ringing would help him in carrying out his other duties. He suggested one or two who could relieve him in that respect.

PETERBOROUGH DIOCESAN GUILD.

TOWCESTER BRANCH AND DEATH OF LATE MASTER.

The annual meeting of the Towcester Branch of the Peterborough Diocesan Guild was held on Saturday at Paulerspury, where there is a peal of five bells, lately rehung by Messrs. Taylor and Co., which require careful handling on account of long draught without guides.

The service was conducted by the Rev. E. Kenworthy-Browne (Rural Dean), who also gave an excellent address. Tea was partaken of in the Institute, amongst those present being Capt. and Miss Grant-Ives, the Rev. and Mrs. Kenworthy-Browne, the Rev. E. V. Fenn (hon. secretary), etc.

At the business meeting which followed regret was expressed at the death of Mr. F. Wilford, late Master of the Guild, and a vote of sympathy was passed with Mrs. Wilford. The late Master attended many meetings of the branch, and his presence and advice will be sadly missed.

All the officers were re-elected, and Mr. B. Smart, of Paulerspury, was added to the Branch Committee.

The usual votes of thanks were recorded.

THE LATE MR. F. WILFORD

At Woodford, Northants, on Wednesday, January 20th, a muffled quarter-peal was rung as a token of respect to the oldest ringer of the village, Mr. John Bunning, and to Mr. Fred Wilford, who for some years was Master of the Peterborough Diocesan Guild. The quarter-peal consisted of 720 Oxford Bob and 540 Plain Bob: G. H. Roberts 1, J. M. Nickerson 2, O. Tincey 3, C. Allen 4, T. Jervis 5, C. Wilson (conductor) 6.

Mr. Wilford was born within two miles of this tower, although most of his life was spent at Northampton.

KENT COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

PROGRESS OF THE BENEVOLENT FUND.

The Rochester District of the Kent County Association held a quarterly meeting at Milton-next-Gravensend on Saturday last and over 70 members attended.

The tower was open from 3 o'clock till 9, and, throughout, the ringing was of the highest quality, both from the methods rung and the striking, which was a credit to all concerned.

Service was conducted by the Rector, the Rev. H. J. Powell, an honorary member of the association, and Mr. H. E. Champion, L.R.A.M., the organist, accompanied the singing, which was up to the usual Kent standard. The Rector gave a short and inspiring address, which was greatly appreciated.

A collection at the close for the Association Benevolent Fund realised 14s. 6d.

The company were afterwards entertained to tea in the Johnston Institute by the general hon. secretary and Mrs. F. M. Mitchell, the Rector and Mr. Powell being among those to partake of the hospitality provided.

The business meeting followed, the Rector presiding. The district secretary (Mr. S. J. T. Shellock) was unavoidably absent owing to a family bereavement, and the general hon. secretary deputised on his behalf. It was unanimously resolved that the sympathy of the members be extended to Mr. Shellock.

The business was conducted in a completely harmonious spirit. Three new members were elected, and Queenborough was chosen without opposition as the place of the next meeting.

Mr. Allen, the district representative, gave a full and comprehensive report of the committee meeting held at Maidstone in November. He stated that the committee decided, among other things: That the annual meeting should be held at Ashford on Easter Monday, when the association would entertain the members to lunch; another sub-committee had been appointed to discuss the various amendments to the new rules, and submit the new draft to the annual general meeting; at the Central Council meeting, which this year was being held at Canterbury, the County Association would offer hospitality to the visitors; and £22 had been paid to deserving members from the Benevolent Fund.

Mr. Allen was thanked for his report.

Mr. Allen proposed that hearty thanks be extended to the Rector for his many efforts on their behalf, and said how much they appreciated his helpful address.

The Rector responded and said they were always pleased to welcome the association to Milton. He was sure they would wish him to extend their best thanks to Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell for providing them with such an excellent tea.—Mr. W. Spice (Tunstall) associated himself with these remarks.

Needless to say the thanks were accorded in real Kentish style.

Mr. Mitchell said Mrs. Mitchell and he were very pleased to see such a large number present. He was doubtful if at their next meeting at Milton their hall would be large enough to hold the 100 he expected to attend. They contemplated building a new Parish Hall, and he wondered if the ringers would like to leave a memento of their visit in the form of a 'whip round.'

This met with a generous response, as £1 5s. was contributed to the fund.

Mr. Mitchell also gave some interesting figures of the association's Benevolent Fund. When he became the general secretary, he said, the balance stood at £142 13s. 8d. It had now reached £268 5s. 1d. During the past year £22 had been paid to aged and deserving members, and £17 10s. 4d. had been collected at meetings in the county.

Mrs. Mitchell also responded and said the gathering gave her the opportunity of repaying the many kindnesses that had been extended to her by the members of the association.

The handbells were brought into use, and the company were delighted to hear a course of Grandsire Cinques rung by three of the visitors ringing four bells each: Messrs. C. Hopper 1-2-3-4, D. Sharp 5-6-7-8, A. Hopper 9-10-11-12.

The tower was again visited and the bells kept 'on the go' until 9 o'clock, when a very enjoyable meeting terminated.

COSGROVE'S NEW BELL.

TREBLE ADDED IN NORTHANTS TOWER.

The dedication of a new treble bell at Cosgrove, Northants, by the Bishop of Peterborough, took place on Sunday week in the presence of a large congregation. After the dedication a short touch of Bob Minor was rung by J. H. Shepherd 1, A. J. Green 2, E. C. Lambert 3, J. Higgins 4, E. Hillyer 5, H. Ridgeway 6.

The Bishop gave an inspiring address. He spoke of the service ringers gave to the church and of the great and noble character of the late King George V., to commemorate whose Jubilee the new bell was installed.

In addition to the ringers of the district visitors were present from Hemel Hempstead, Woburn, Watford, Swindon, etc.

The opinion of the ringers present was that Cosgrove has now a pretty ring of six. The tenor is 10½ cwt. The work was carried out by Messrs. J. Taylor and Co.

CHESTER DIOCESAN GUILD

CREWE BRANCH ANNUAL MEETING WELL ATTENDED.

The annual meeting of the Crewe Branch of the Chester Diocesan Guild took place on January 16th at Christ Church, Crewe. There was a splendid attendance, 68 members being present, representing the following towers: Acton, Alsager, Barthomley, Crewe, Nantwich, Lawton, Marbury, Wistaston, Davenham, Wrenbury and the Potteries.

Ringling commenced about 3.30 p.m., under the guidance of Mr. G. Biddulph, the Ringing Master, and many enjoyable touches were rung on the 10 bells.

A service was conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. S. T. Stevens), who is chairman of the branch. The preacher was the Rev. C. R. England, Vicar of Church Lawton, and the lesson was read by the Rev. C. G. Dickson, of Christ Church, Crewe. Mr. W. Dunning officiated at the organ.

Tea was afterwards partaken of in the Schoolroom, at the kind invitation of the Vicar and wardens, and was much appreciated. In addition to the members present there were the Rev. S. T. Stevens, the Rev. C. R. England, the Rev. C. G. Dickson, the Rev. C. Coomber (Wrenbury), Mr. W. Curtis and Mr. W. Thomason (churchwardens) and Mr. R. Owen (secretary, Parochial Church Council).

The business meeting followed, with the Vicar in the chair. The following elections of officers for 1937 took place: Chairman, the Rev. S. T. Stevens (Crewe); hon. secretary, Mr. R. D. Langford (Crewe); hon. treasurer, Mr. W. T. Holding (Crewe); instructor, Mr. A. Crawley (Wistaston); Ringing Master, Mr. G. Biddulph (Lawton); representative on General Committee, Mr. W. Sutton (Nantwich).

During the meeting a grant of £1 ls. was made to the Chester Cathedral Bell Fund from the branch, and a further collection was taken which realised £1 12s. 6d.

A hearty vote of thanks was accorded to the branch officers for the work done during 1936; to the Vicar and wardens for the splendid tea; to those who officiated at the service; and to the ladies who catered.

The ringers afterwards adjourned to the tower, where the bells were kept merrily going until nine o'clock, the methods rung being Grandsire Caters, Stedman Caters, Cambridge Major and Bob Royal.

THE BELLS OF BIRCH

YOUNG RINGERS' GIFT TO BISHOP.

On Saturday last the reconstructed ring of bells at Birch Church, Manchester, was reopened by Dr. Guy Warman, D.D., Lord Bishop of Manchester. The service was well attended by people from the parish and district, and, in addition, many bands of ringers renewed acquaintance with this well-known belfry, attending even from so far away as Greenfield, Todmorden and Loughton (Staffs.).

In his address the Bishop sketched what he considered was the ideal band of ringers, and from this proceeded to lead up to the pressing need of the present day—the duty of the individual to the team and the team's duty to the individual, that all should work together in harmony and with due regard to each other's idiosyncrasies.

A pleasing interlude occurred during the proceedings when the eight young ringers presented to the Bishop an illuminated booklet, written and actually printed by two of their number using founts of type belonging to the Rector, the Rev. A. E. Horner, L.Th., Hon. C.F., giving details of the Birch bells and their history, the art of bell-founding, and a short symposium on the mysteries of bellringing.

After the service various visiting bands of ringers celebrated the occasion with short touches. Altogether a memorable date in the annals of Birch.

PRESENTATION TO LINDFIELD RINGER.

MR. A. TOMSETT'S FIFTY YEARS' SERVICE.

The annual meeting of the Lindfield (Sussex) Bellringers' Society took place at the Tiger House on Thursday, January 14th. After the usual business had been transacted, the chairman, Mr. S. E. Armstrong, hon. general secretary of the Sussex County Association, called upon Mr. G. W. O. Huddart, tower secretary and warden, to present a small token of the members' appreciation to Mr. A. Tomsett, the retiring captain.

Mr. Huddart mentioned that Mr. Tomsett had been connected with Lindfield Church for some 50 years in the capacity of ringer, and for more than forty as captain. Lately he had also represented the ringers on the Church Council, and this he was prepared to continue if re-elected. On behalf of the present band, Mr. Huddart then handed to Mr. Tomsett a silver inkstand, suitably inscribed, as a memento of his services.

In the course of his reply, Mr. Tomsett thanked the members for their gift, and recalled the great number of ringers who had passed through his hands during the time he had been in charge of the tower. Few of the old members now remained, some having left the district, and time had taken its toll of others.

Mr. Tomsett's resignation was received with regret, and despite a request to reconsider it, he handed over to his successor, Mr. E. Barnes.

YOUNG RINGERS' OPPORTUNITIES.

It is not a bad thing when we find youth criticising youth for failing to take its fair share in the concerns of ringing. One of the characteristic, and interesting, features of 'reports' presented to members of the Guildford Diocesan Guild has been the frank comments of those responsible. There is never any attempt to make things look better than they are in the affairs of the Guild; on the contrary it is apparently felt that a little frank speaking is likely to shake into thought those who prefer to let others do the work while they sit back and grumble; or, if they are of the easy going type, imagine that all is for the best in best of all possible worlds. At different times the clergy and the lethargic or dissatisfied members have come under the lash. We are not sure that it has much effect, but it is better than leading the members either into further somnolence or to believe that all the grievances of those who have any are justified while they make no effort to remedy them. There are folks of this type in all associations—some who are content to let things drift; others who complain; but none of them apparently prepared to do anything by way of helping to improve matters. Probably if they did they would find that the task is not so easy as they imagine.

The criticism which was offered at the Guildford Guild meeting to which we refer was made by the Farnham District Secretary. He is himself among the 'youth' of the Guild, and as one who ungrudgingly puts more time and energy into ringing for the benefit of others than perhaps any other member of the Guild, is fully justified in offering criticism. He complains that some young ringers do not take advantage of the opportunities that are offered them, and points out that it is their duty to do everything they can to maintain the high standard reached by many older ringers and not to leave the latter to do all the irksome tasks necessary in running a belfry. If they have faults to find they should help to improve matters; not absent themselves from the belfry and grumble outside about what should be done.

This is very sound advice. A fortnight ago we pleaded the cause of the young ringers with the older members of the Exercise. The report to which we now refer provides the opportunity of pleading the cause of young ringers with themselves. Associations, by their frequent meetings, provide many opportunities for 'young' ringers of all ages, and if the latter do not take advantage of the facilities they then have little cause for complaint. They should recollect that those ringers whose skill they see exercised in the belfry were once beginners like themselves and very few men have reached the top of the tree who have waited for the opportunities to be made for them. Those who have been most successful have been those who have endeavoured to help themselves. The older men, as a rule, are ready to assist any youngster who shows a determination to get on, although we know there are towers where the so-called leader has very little patience with or interest in a beginner, and his chief object is to impress others with his own exalted status. Even if there seems to be little of encouragement in his own tower, however, the youngster should not neglect his opportunities in any other direction that offers itself and should not be shy to accept office or responsibility if it comes his way. If he has ideas let him ventilate them—others will probably welcome them. His own shoulder must go to the wheel if he wants progress.

SURREY ASSOCIATION.
SOUTHERN DISTRICT AT REIGATE.

The annual meeting of the Southern District, Surrey Association, was held at Reigate on Saturday, January 23rd. In spite of the very inclement weather, a gathering of 44 assembled, much to the delight of the secretary. Most of the district towers were represented, together with the motoring section of the Northern District and others from such far-flung outposts (campanologically speaking) as Uckfield (Sussex) and Oxhey (Herts). The fine peal of 10 bells, said to be one of the finest 10 in Southern England, were set going to Stedman and Grandsire Triples and Caters. Service was conducted by the Rev. R. Talbot, who heartily welcomed the ringers to Reigate, and preached an interesting sermon, the theme of which was 'Youth.' He was glad, he said, to see a few of the younger members present, and hoped they would continue and persuade other younger ones to take up ringing. He hoped they would also try and come to the service after calling others to church. When a small boy in the North of England he heard of a man who, every Sunday morning, went for a long walk so as to be able to be beyond the sound of church bells, as he hated them so much. He (the Vicar) felt very sorry for that man, and it left a lasting impression upon him. Only the other day, however, a parishioner stopped him in Reigate and said how he loved to hear their bells rung, and wished they could be rung oftener. On the other hand, some people complained very insistently and wanted to have the bells stopped altogether. The ringers, therefore, could see how difficult it was for him to steer a neutral course.

Alderman Temple-Newell sprang a delightful and pleasant surprise on the members by paying for the tea, which was served in the Church Hall. It was followed by the business meeting, at which the officers were elected for the ensuing year, viz.: Master, Mr. R. Fuller; treasurer, Mr. M. Northover; secretary, Mr. W. Claydon; auditor, Mr. A. Gear; committee, Messrs. H. Wallis, A. Weller and A. Bull.

The next annual meeting is to be held at Horley, and meetings are also to be held at Mersham, Kingswood and Betchworth. A hearty vote of thanks was accorded to Mr. Temple-Newell and the ladies who served tea.

During tea-time a fine touch of Stedman Triples was rung on hand-bells by the Northern District motoring section. An adjournment was again made to the tower for further ringing.

FOR BEGINNERS.

HOW TO RING 120 GRANDSIRE DOUBLES.

Last week we endeavoured to explain how the Grandsire method on five bells is rung. We showed that the 'work' of the method produced three leads, which is thirty changes, but that, of course, does not exhaust all the possible changes on five bells. As readers well know, the extent of changes on five bells is 120, or a 'six-score,' as old ringers were wont to call it.

To produce a 120 in any method of pure Doubles, as we explained a week or two ago, requires certain departures from the 'method,' and these departures are known as 'bobs' and 'singles.' The proper insertion of these 'calls'—because they are called by the conductor—makes it possible to extend our 30 changes to the full 120.

The 'bob' in Grandsire consists of the introduction of another 3rd's place. In the construction of the method itself, as we have seen, 3rd's place is made on every occasion immediately after the treble has led. The 3rd's place, to make a bob, is made when the treble leads its first blow—that is the two 3rd's places, when a bob is called, are consecutive, and they are made by the two bells hunting immediately in front of the treble.

The effect on the actual work of the bells is this: The bob (that is the 3rd's place before the treble completes its lead) is made by the bell that passed the treble in 2-3. Having made 3rd's, it strikes over the treble and then leads. It is then 'in the hunt,' where the 2nd is in the plain course, and all it has to do is to continue plain hunting until the next call is made.

The bell that makes the ordinary 3rd's place does not have its cycle of work disturbed, but the two other bells are detained in the 4-5 dodging place. One of them is the bell which has been 'in the hunt.' The call comes when he is completing his whole pull behind and he makes a double dodge in 5-4 (down).

A single dodge, which occurs in the plain lead, is just one step back in the hunting—into 5th's (from 4th's) if you dodge down; into 4th's (from 5th's) if you dodge up. When you 'double dodge' you step up, or down, twice, so that when you have to 'double dodge down' in Grandsire Doubles you first lay your whole pull behind, step down into 4th's, up into 5th's, down into 4th's, back into 5th's, and then go on down to lead.

Double dodging up is the reverse of this, and is done before lying the whole pull behind. This is done at a bob by the bell that passed the treble in 3-4; and the bell he follows to lead is the bell that dodges with him.

The dodging behind is the same at a single as at a bob, but the other two bells are reversed in their coursing order. Both 3rd's places are made by one and the same bell, the bell that passed the treble in 2-3. The other bell—that passed the treble in 1-2—lies a whole pull in 2nd's place over the treble, then leads again, and is 'in the hunt.' Now examine the difference in the working of the bells under these three sets of conditions. These figures show the essential work at the treble lead:—

Plain Lead.	Bob Lead.	Single Lead.
51423	51423	51423
15243	15432	15432
12534	14523	15423
21543	41532	51432

The proper place for the conductor to call the bob or single is when the treble strikes in 3rd's place on its way down. The dodging bells are then in the place where they have to dodge, the bell in front has sufficient notice to change its course. When you begin calling, however, you may not be able to 'see' the treble, although you want to cultivate the facility to do so as much as possible. It may, therefore, be necessary just at the start to 'call' your 120's by a fixed rule. If you ring the 3rd or 5th you make a call when your bell will have to stop and double dodge in 4-5 up.

In doing this, your only other work will be making 3rd's place at the alternate lead. As you hunt up and pass the treble in 3-4, make your call as you strike over the treble. Thus you have alternately one plain lead and one lead at which a call is made—that gives you in the 12 leads six calls in all. Two of these calls must be singles. You can put your first single at any one of the first three calling places, but the second single must come at the corresponding place in the next three.

If you call the first half P.B.P.B.P.S. (P standing for plain lead, B for bob lead and S for single lead), then the second half must be called in exactly the same way.

The 'calls' come at the 2nd, 4th and 6th leads if you use the 5th as the 'observation' bell, and at the 1st, 3rd and 5th leads if you use the 3rd as the 'observation' bell, and with these two forms of calling you can obtain six different 120's—different, that is, in the sequence of the changes.

SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD.

SLOW PROGRESS OF CHANGE RINGING IN DORCHESTER BRANCH.

In his report to the Dorchester Branch of the Salisbury Diocesan Guild, at the annual meeting at Dorchester on Saturday week, the Hon. Secretary (Mr. C. H. Jennings) expressed regret that no restoration or augmentations had taken place among the bells in the district during the year, although it was greatly needed in some of the towers.

Prior to the meeting ringing took place at St. Peter's Church, and the Guild service was conducted by the Rector (the Rev. A. Wilkinson Markby), who also gave an appropriate address on the inscription, 'Te Deum Laudamus,' on the sixth bell at Portsmouth.

After tea, the business meeting, held in St. Peter's Institute, was presided over by the Rector, who was supported by the Rev. R. P. Farrow (vice-chairman) and Mr. C. H. Jennings (hon. secretary). There was a large and representative attendance from the towers in the branch.

The Hon. Secretary (Mr. C. H. Jennings), in his annual report, stated that a steady year of good work had been accomplished. In addition to the quarterly and annual meetings, an excellent meeting for practice was held at Whitechurch Canoniscom and Bridport, with the co-operation of the West Dorset Branch, and there had been united practices at Abbotsbury and Wyke Regis. A great feature of the meetings had been the warm welcome extended by the incumbents and friends.

The membership remained about the same in regard to ringing members and associates, but there was a slight decrease in honorary members. Regret was expressed that no restoration or augmentation of existing peals had taken place, although it was greatly needed in some of the towers.

Six peals had been rung in the branch during the year. Change ringing was making on the whole rather slow progress, and it was hoped, with the assistance of the vice-chairman and Ringing Master, to hold still more practices for the instruction of members. An appeal was made for more members to fill the places of those who had left the district.

On the death of King George V. every tower in the branch rang with half-muffled bells.

The death was recorded with regret of the Rev. E. S. Field; Mr. Herbert Runyard (captain of the Wool Branch since its formation); Mr. William Bedford (who gave the treble bell and restored the present peal of six at Bere Regis); Mrs. Hunt, wife of Mr. J. Hunt, Buckland Newton; Mr. Alfred Rose (captain of the Wyke Regis band for about 25 years); Mrs. Moule, wife of the Ven. Archdeacon W. S. Moule, Vicar of Abbotsbury.

The Hon. Secretary concluded with an expression of thanks to many who had contributed to the success of the branch.

The financial statement showed a balance of £15 9s. 1d., as compared with £17 18s. 1d. at the beginning of the year.

It was decided to hold quarterly meetings at Buckland Newton, Wyke Regis, and Frampton, and the annual meeting at Dorchester St. Peter's.

APPEAL FOR MORE ADVANCED METHODS.

The following new members were elected: Ringing members, Mr. H. Emery (Bradford Peverell), Miss J. Chick and Mr. T. W. Chick (Stratton), Messrs. E. B. Randall and R. F. Cheeseman (Preston), Cornick and Swaffield (Wyke Regis), W. Mayo and C. E. New (Frampton), and Miss Barbara Baker (Upwey); associate member, Rev. R. C. Herring (Bere Regis); life members, Mr. Philip Henry Toccock, R.T.C., Bovington.

The Chairman extended a cordial welcome to the Rev. R. C. Herring, Mr. Martin Stewart (Wimborne), and ringers from Poole, Thornford and Stratton.

The officers were re-elected: Chairman, the Rev. A. W. Markby; vice-chairman, Rev. R. P. Farrow; Ringing Master, Mr. E. T. P. Field; Deputy Ringing Master, Mr. C. Smart; hon. secretary and treasurer, Mr. C. H. Jennings.

The Rev. R. P. Farrow proposed a vote of thanks to the chairman for granting the use of St. Peter's bells. He also made an appeal for more advanced methods of change ringing to be learnt. Ringers represented a strong body and a strong force in the church. As the Archbishop of Canterbury wished for a renewal of spiritual life, he thought that ringers could help a lot in this respect. Their position was very much higher and more honourable than it was many years ago.

The Rev. A. F. Godley seconded the vote of thanks.

Thanks were also accorded to Mr. Perham (St. Peter's organist), to the ladies for providing the tea, to the Revs. D. F. Slembeck (Charminster), A. S. Bryant (Upwey), and Gilbert Jessop (Fordington St. George) for permitting the use of the bells in their parishes, and to Mr. J. W. Smith for making the local arrangements.

GRANTS FOR RESTORATIONS.

The Chairman said that as the result of an inspection of St. Peter's tower and belfry the bells would have to be put on ball bearings during the year as the gudgeons were wearing. It was an expenditure that would have to be faced and would be something in the nature of £150. Like the Macedonians, he would say, 'Come over and help us,' and if they at St. Peter's could have anything more than mere words of sympathy they would be delighted to receive it. He wanted the work to be proceeded with so that it might be completed before the Coronation. He did not think it was too much to ask the Dorchester rural deanery and Dorchester town to help them to foot the bill.

After discussion it was resolved that a donation of £5 be given from the branch funds, and in an expression of thanks the Chairman said that it would be an encouragement to the members of St. Peter's Church Council and congregation to do their bit.

Mr. Jennings mentioned that at Wyke Regis they had got to within £400 of the £1,500 appealed for on behalf of the church and tower, and it was unanimously resolved to make a grant of £2 2s. from the branch funds.

SALISBURY BRANCH ANNUAL MEETING.

PRACTICES FOR THEOLOGICAL COLLEGE STUDENTS.

In spite of the wintry weather, there was a very good attendance at the annual meeting of the Salisbury Branch, held at St. Paul's, Salisbury, on Saturday last. Ringers present represented the towers at Berwick St. John, Britford, Wyke, Wilton, the city churches of St. Paul, St. Thomas and St. Martin, the Diocesan Theological College, Amesbury, Dinton, Martin, Damerham, etc., and there were visitors from the Devizes and the North Dorset Branches.

The Guild service was conducted by the Rev. S. B. Wingfield-Digby, assistant curate at St. Paul's, the address being given by the Rev. H. L. Bowen, priest-in-charge of St. Michael's, Bemerton, while the Rector, Rev. N. E. W. Bradyll-Johnson, was at the organ.

Tea followed in St. Paul's Parish Rooms, after which the general meeting was presided over by the branch chairman (Mr. E. G. Caple), who was supported by Mr. F. W. Romaine (branch secretary and treasurer) and Rev. Bradyll-Johnson (hon. member).

Mr. Caple and Mr. Romaine were re-elected as chairman and secretary and treasurer respectively. Messrs. L. Harris, F. C. Smith and W. Roberts were re-elected Ringing Masters. The committee was re-elected with the addition of Mr. O. Haines (Wilton).

In thanking the members for re-electing him, Mr. Romaine remarked that he was now in his fourteenth year as secretary, and during that time the branch had more than doubled its membership. He hoped that in time the branch would be as strong as that at Devizes.

New members were admitted as follows: H. Hawker (Wilton), B. Safe (Sarum St. Thomas), Rev. S. B. Wingfield-Digby (St. Paul's), J. Beverstock, H. Scammell and J. Haines (St. Martin's), R. S. Jones and T. Gould (Salisbury Theological College); also the new band of ringers recently formed at Compton Chamberlain.

Mr. R. S. Jones (Theological College) stated that the college students were interesting themselves in change ringing, and were practising with the St. Martin's band, but in view of the difficulty they had in attending evening practices they would be glad to hear of any opportunities of ringing during afternoons of any day, or Saturday evenings.

Mr. Roberts (Berwick) and Rev. R. S. Smith (St. Martin's) both stated that they could arrange afternoon or Saturday evening practices, and would welcome the theological students at any time.

It was resolved that the next three meetings of the branch be held at Berwick St. John, Amesbury and Compton Chamberlain, and the secretary was asked to inquire whether Barford St. Martin bells would be available when the Compton Chamberlain meeting took place.

The Chairman proposed a vote of thanks, seconded by the secretary, to the Rev. Bradyll-Johnson, for receiving the branch, and to the Rev. Wingfield Digby and Rev. Bowen for the part they had taken in the service.

In replying, the Rector reiterated his delight at again having the Guild with them at St. Paul's, where they knew they were always welcome. He was anxious that his bellringers should become efficient change ringers, and to this end he was contemplating making application for the appointment of an official instructor.

There was some confusion in the Rector's mind over Ringing Masters and ringing instructors, and Mr. E. F. White (chairman of the Devizes Branch and a ringing instructor) explained the position, stating that, subject to the Rector making application through the official channels and the general secretary's consent, he, Mr. White, would be willing to undertake the instruction of St. Paul's band under the rules of the Guild.

The Rector thanked Mr. White for his explanation, and stated he would go into the matter fully. He reminded the ringers of the opportunities the forthcoming Coronation would give to bellringing.

The Secretary announced that the date of the Guild Festival had been provisionally fixed for May 1st at Salisbury Cathedral, but there would be more information on this matter later.

Ringing was then resumed at St. Paul's, also at St. Edmund's and St. Martin's.

LONDON.—On Sunday, January 10th, at St. George-in-the-Borough, a quarter-peal of Stedman Triples: Mrs. P. Humphrey 1, Miss H. Oakshett 2, Miss S. Thursfield (first quarter-peal in the method) 3, Miss E. Greenall 4, Mrs. J. E. Davis 5, Mrs. G. W. Fletcher (conductor) 6, Norman Bagworth 7, Richard F. Deal 8.

MR. JOHN AUSTIN'S BEREAVEMENT.

Mr. John Austin, of Gloucester, has sustained a severe and unexpected bereavement by the death of his wife, who passed away after only a few days' illness on January 21st.

On the previous Saturday Mr. Austin presided at the annual dinner of Bristol United Ringing Guilds, and Mrs. Austin was to have accompanied him. An apparently slight indisposition, however, prevented her from being present, but her illness later took on a serious turn.

The deepest sympathy will go out to Mr. Austin and his family in their great loss.

The funeral took place at St. Michael's Church, Gloucester, on January 25th, and was conducted by the Rev. E. C. Pritchard (Rector). The principal mourners were Mr. J. Austin (widower), Mr. Harold Austin (son), the daughters and son-in-law, ex-Sergeant J. Williams and Mrs. Tyndal. Among those present were Mr. S. E. Romans (representing the Gloucester and Bristol Diocesan Association), Mr. H. Halford (the Cheltenham Branch of the association), and many old friends.

The service was of simple character. The 23rd Psalm was chanted and the hymns, 'Jesu, Lover of my soul,' and 'The King of Love my Shepherd is,' were sung.

The interment took place at the cemetery, and there were many floral tributes, among them one from the Gloucester ringers. A muffled touch was rung on the bells after the service by T. Baldwin, H. Case, J. Whiting, J. Gillet, W. H. Harris, S. E. Romans, G. Condict (conductor), and A. Martin.

LINK WITH THE 'QUEEN MARY.'CUNARD CHAIRMAN GIVES BELL TO DEVON VILLAGE CHURCH.

Sir Percy Elly Bates, Bt., director of the Cunard Steamship Company, has given a tenor bell to the Parish Church of Charles, in North Devon, as a thankoffering for the launching of the world's greatest and fastest ship afloat and for the winning of the Atlantic Blue Riband by the 'Queen Mary.'

The Rector and churchwardens of Charles have obtained a faculty for this reconstruction of the peal of bells, and it is hoped that the new bell will be dedicated, and started by Sir Percy in person, in time to be used for the Coronation in May.

The work is being carried out by John Taylor and Co., who cast the ship bells of the 'Queen Mary.' The inscription on the new bell mentions this latter fact.

The little village of Charles has been long distinguished for its Blackmore traditions of 'Lorna Doone' fame.

PETERBOROUGH DIOCESAN GUILD.WELLINGBOROUGH DISTRICT ANNUAL MEETING.

About fifty ringers attended the annual meeting of the Wellingborough District of the Peterborough Diocesan Guild, held at Higham Ferrers on January 23rd.

A service was held in the beautiful old church during the afternoon, conducted by the branch president (the Rev. A. G. Bagshaw), whilst the Vicar read the lesson and took from it the subject for his very able and interesting address, 'Noise and sound.' He hoped that the ringers would realise their responsibility and see to it that the angel voices of the bells were never silent.

Ringers were present from a wide area, including Finedon, Wellingborough, Irthlingborough, Irchester, Ecton, Stanwick, Earls Barton, and a number of the local band. The Kettering district and the Thrapston branch were also well represented. Three enthusiasts of the Bedford Association were present, and also Mr. W. A. Stote, of Coventry, and the Rev. E. S. Powell (the Guild Master) and Mrs. Powell, together with the Guild general secretary, Mr. R. G. Black.

After tea, the meeting opened with references to the deaths of Mr. W. H. Ette (Wellingborough) and the late Master, Mr. F. Wilford, the members standing in silent tribute. The Rev. E. S. Powell spoke very highly of Mr. Wilford's life.

The branch officers were re-elected as follows: President, the Rev. A. G. Bagshaw, M.A., R.D.; secretary and treasurer, Mr. A. Bigley; Central Committee, Messrs. G. Basford and A. Plowman; branch committee, Messrs. A. Y. Tyler, F. Jones and A. H. Martin; auditor, Mr. E. W. Johnson; Branch Ringing Master, Mr. W. Perkins.

It was reported that the membership stood as follows: Three hon. life; 18 honorary and 148 ringing members.

The accounts showed an increased balance of £2 16s., and after a little discussion it was agreed to make a grant of £3 from the branch funds to the Wellingborough Restoration Bell Fund.

The secretary read a letter of good wishes from Mr. F. Barber (past secretary), who had hoped to be present, but was prevented through influenza.

Six new members were elected, two from Earls Barton, two from Mears Ashby, one from Irchester and one from Finedon.

The next quarterly meeting is to be held at Wollaston on April 17th.

The meeting closed with votes of thanks to all concerned, and bells were again set ringing to various wishes of the visitors. During the afternoon and evening methods ranged from rounds to Superlative, Cambridge and London Surprise Major.

Owing to pressure on our space we regret we have been compelled to hold over reports of the meetings of the Middlesex Association (North and East District), Surrey Association (North-Western District), and Worcestershire Association (Western District) and other contributions.

Messrs. Gillett and Johnston, Ltd., Croydon, have been entrusted with the contract for the restoration of the bells at Shepperton Church, Middlesex.

Chief Inspector William Bottrill, of the Metropolitan Police, retires this week after 29 years' service. Mr. Bottrill is president of the Metropolitan Police Guild of Ringers and vice-president of the National Police Guild. It was through his efforts that the Metropolitan Guild was established and became a recreative organisation recognised by the authorities.

A peal of Cambridge Surprise Major is being arranged at Edgbaston Parish Church, Birmingham, starting at 2 p.m. on February 27th, on the occasion of the Henry Johnson Commemoration Dinner. Any visitors who would like to stand in should write as early as possible to the Ringing Master, Mr. F. E. Haynes, Northdene, 102, Vicarage Road, Smethwick.

Following in father's—and grandfather's—footsteps! Geoffrey Harrison, son of Mr. Colin Harrison, of Loughborough Foundry, has rung his first peal—the treble to Grandsire Triples on the back eight of the Foundry bells. His father called the peal. What a pity his grandpa, a well-known Sheffield ringer, was not also in the band.

Another of Mr. Arthur Knights' old compositions has now been rung for the first time. A peal of Treble Bob, which he put on paper in 1883—fifty-four years ago—was called at Brownedge, Lancs, on Saturday. It isn't as if he is an unknown composer, either.

The death occurred on January 28th of Mr. Joseph Hands, who had been a member of St. Peter's Society, Caversham, for 53 years. He was 79 years of age. The funeral took place on Monday.

Will any person who may have found or taken a silk scarf in mistake at St. Bride's, Fleet Street, on Saturday last, please return it to R. Fenn, 118, St. Audrey's Road, Barking, Essex.

A REGISTER OF METHODS.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—In view of the leading article in your issue of January 8th you may be interested to know that a register of Surprise Major methods, on much the same lines as those suggested therein, is already in course of preparation.

Obviously it is easy enough to make out a list of methods rung and to add each new one as it is published. The difficulty is to arrange them in such an order that any given method can be turned up from the figures in the shortest possible time.

I have been doing some work on this problem recently, and have now got out a method of indexing which overcomes this difficulty. I am at the moment applying it to the Surprise Major methods, and I hope by the time of the next Central Council meeting to have completed the indexing of all the methods of this class that have been rung.

They are arranged in such a way that if the figures of a half-lead of any given method are produced its correct position in the register can be found in a few moments; if it has already been rung it will be found there, together with its name and details of first performance, etc., and if it is not there then it has not previously been rung and can be inserted.

Although, so far, I have only applied it to the Surprise Major methods, the same system of indexing can be used for any class of method in any number of bells.

LANCHESTER BELLS RESTORED.

OPENING BY DURHAM AND NEWCASTLE ASSOCIATION.

The renovated peal of bells at Lanchester Parish Church was rededicated on Saturday, January 23rd. In the absence of the Archdeacon of Auckland, who was unable to be present through family illness, the ceremony was performed by the Rev. Jenkin Jones, Vicar of Blackhill.

The bells were originally installed in the year 1810, and were very heavy going, but Messrs. Mears and Stainbank have now made them into a fine ring of six, the tenor being 8½ cwt. Three bells have been recast, the other three retuned, and all hung on ball bearings.

After the dedicatory prayers, the Rev. L. Heatherington, Vicar of Lanchester, tolled the fifth bell. At the close of the service the bells were raised in peal, and the first touch rung on them by L. Richardson 1, G. L. Routledge (conductor) 2, H. Tyson 3, W. Brown 4, J. A. Brown 5, S. Thompson 6.

The President of the association (Councillor A. Payne) afterwards proposed a vote of thanks to the Vicar and churchwardens for inviting the association to reopen the bells, and referred to the fine 'go' of the peal and the excellent way they had been rebung.

Ringers were present from Newcastle Cathedral, Chester-le-Street, Benfieldside, Tanfield, Blackhill, Whickham, Consett and the local tower.

After tea the belfry was again open, and touches in various Minor methods were rung.

PEALS IN 1936.

OVER ONE HUNDRED LESS THAN IN 1935.

The total number of peals rung in 1936 was 1,750, of which 1,675 were on tower bells and 75 on handbells. This is more than one hundred less than in the preceding year, when 1,863 were rung. In 1934 the total was 1,784; in 1933, 1,833; and in 1932, 2,202.

Here is a detailed comparison for the last three years:—

A CONTRAST IN BELL BROADCASTS

To the Editor

Sir,—I wonder if any of your readers listened to both Romsey and Sherborne bells on Sunday evening, January 24th? I tuned in first to Sherborne and was at once struck by the extraordinary roar. The dominant notes of the bells were anything but clear, so that I was unable to spot the method being rung, except that it was Triples. I then cut across the dial to Romsey and was astonished at the difference. Here the bells sounded clear and musical, and one could follow the method easily. Back I went to Sherborne, and again that most unpleasant roar—so back to Romsey. I did this continuously as long as the broadcast lasted.

Sherborne bells are of recent casting, or was it only the tenor that was recast? Query: Are these bells Simpson tuned, and how are the Romsey bells tuned?

If the Sherborne are Simpson tuned and Romsey not, then I would consider the Simpson method a 'wash-out.'

We are getting increasing complaints about the ringing of bells, and this may account for it.

I shall be interested to hear if any other readers switched over from the one to the other, and, if so, what they thought about the comparison.

D. G. TAYLOR.

Ilminster.

THE EXPLANATION.

This contrast in the two broadcasts which, taking place simultaneously, enabled comparison to be made, is extremely interesting. Both Sherborne and Romsey have not so long since been through the same foundry, both restorations having been carried out by Messrs. Mears and Stainbank.

Sherborne tenor only was recast; at Romsey three of the bells were recast. In each case the whole peal was subjected to modified 'harmonic' tuning, and not Simpson tuned. Both rings of bells are thus on approximately the same harmonic scale.

The explanation of the difference in the way the bells came over the ether is, therefore, due, not to the bells themselves, but to the relative positions of the microphones. We understand that at Sherborne the 'mike' was on the roof of the Abbey, not very far from the belfry windows, and apparently much too close for such a heavy peal of bells.

POPULARISE GOOD METHODS.

To the Editor.

Sir,—Your leading article of January 29th has my fullest sympathy. May I say in the first place that there is not a method that I have rung with worse music than Cambridge!

In Ipswich we have a good ringer, who never goes inside a belfry now, but delights in listening to all ringing with a keen ear. He says, 'Why do you ring that method?' referring to Cambridge.

What is wanted is a composer to broadcast a few methods which extend from six or eight bells to 12 as well as Cambridge does, for this, in my opinion, is the only reason Cambridge is so popular. Superlative, London and Bristol all fail in this respect.

You are quite right to advise all bands to practise something new to keep their interest alive. The idea of Mr. Nolan Golden in his notice of the North Norfolk Branch of the Norwich Diocesan Association to practise something off the beaten track is to be highly commended.

YOUNG RINGERS CRITICISED.

COMMENTS AT A GUILDFORD GUILD MEETING.

A striking call to the younger ringers was made in the report presented by the hon. secretary (Mr. C. W. Denyer) to the annual meeting of the Farnham District of the Guildford Diocesan Guild on Saturday week. He said:—

'It has been noticed that the younger ringers in some towers do not attend meetings, although every opportunity is offered for their advancement. It is entirely the duty of we younger ringers to do everything possible to maintain the high standard reached by many of the older ringers. Surely it is unfair to leave the "old uns" to do all the irksome duties necessary for the running of a belfry. The modern generation is criticised in most things; let it not be so with our younger ringers. Too often we find fault with others who are doing their best to improve matters, and then, when asked to help, refuse to hold office or even make suggestions. If you are dissatisfied with your captain, vote for someone else or try taking the office yourself. Don't absent yourself from the belfry and grumble outside about what should be done or what you would do if you were in charge.'

The report further stated that, although 1936 did not show any outstanding improvement in the affairs of the district, neither could it be said that there had been any serious backsliding. Ringing members had increased by four and honorary members decreased by one. They had 125 ringing and 29 honorary members. The passing of the Hon. Mrs. Randal Parsons (Horley), Canon M. C. H. Collet (Frensham), and Mr. Walter Cleaves (Farnham) was recorded with regret. Altogether the district had subscribed this year towards the benevolent fund the sum of £5 18s. 8d. Tower collecting boxes brought in £4 1s. 2d., collections at meetings 17s., and subscriptions £1 10s. 8d.

Only two peals were successful in the district in 1936. On January 25th a local peal of Grandsire Triples, rung with fully muffled bells, was rung at Aldershot in memory of his late Majesty King George V. In this peal five ringers rang their first peal in the method, one his first peal in the method away from the treble, and the conductor his first of Triples as conductor. The other was a peal of Bob Major, rung at Farnham on November 21st, the conductor being the Ringing Master, Mr. Hasted. Several ringers from the district had rung peals outside the district. This year they hoped for many more successful peals. A good opportunity will be in May, when the Coronation celebrations are taking place. It was most important that the bells in every tower should be rung on Coronation Day.

The work of retuning and rehanging the bells at St. Michael's, Yorktown, had been completed, and the ring of eight was now in excellent order. Great satisfaction had been expressed at the way in which the bell hangers carried out the job. Crondall bells were at the foundry, and it was expected that they would be back in the tower by Coronation Day. Funds were still needed. Restoration work was necessary at St. Peter's, Ash, but nothing had been done. It was hoped that something would materialise in 1937.

SUNDAY SERVICE RINGING

The report added: It is thought that the majority of towers showed no marked progress, although service ringing has been maintained generally. The greatest disappointment is at Seale, a belfry which has received more assistance than any other in the district, where, although subscriptions were received from 12 members, it has been practically impossible to ring the six bells on Sundays. At Farnham, too, eight ropes have not always been manned for service ringing. Any suggestions for improving these conditions will be welcomed by the officials.

The Rector of Farnham (Canon E. M. Girdling) presided over the meeting, supported by the Ringing Master (Mr. Hasted), Mr. A. J. Stedman (hon. member), Capt. H. J. Cann (Brookwood), Mr. J. Cobbett (general treasurer) and Mr. C. W. Denyer (district hon. secretary). Towers represented were Aldershot, Ash, Farnham, Bagshot, Bentley, Crondall, Seale, Yorktown, Guildford (Cathedral), Frensham and Clandon. Visitors were present from Wokingham, Rickmansworth and Watford.

Apologies were received from several hon. members and from Mr. J. S. Goldsmith (Guild secretary, who was indisposed).

No other nominations having been received, the following were declared elected: Ringing Master, Mr. R. Hasted; hon. secretary, Mr. C. W. Denyer; hon. auditor, Mr. P. L. Eldridge; executive committee representatives, ringing, Messrs. F. Nye and T. Upshall; honorary, Mr. W. A. Dollimore.

Nominations for Guild officers were made as follows: Major Hesse (Master), Mr. J. S. Goldsmith (hon. secretary), Mr. J. Corbett (hon. treasurer), Mr. Hasted (hon. auditor).

Towers selected for 1937 meetings were: Aldershot (eight bells), Bagshot (eight), Crondall (six), Frensham (six).

The balance sheet for 1936 showed receipts totalling £33 9s. 5d., and an expenditure of £17 19s. 5d., leaving a balance in hand of £15 10s. The statement was adopted.

Three new hon. members elected were Mr. H. Cole (Aldershot), the Rev. W. J. Blaikie (Ash), and the Rev. W. Towney (Yorktown).

Mr. Nye proposed a vote of thanks to Capt. Cann (Brookwood) for his donation of £1 to the district, and Mr. Ewens thanked the district for a donation of £1 to the Yorktown bell restoration fund. The hon. secretary was instructed to write to Mr. E. Clapshaw congratulating him on his 92nd birthday on January 26th. It was directed that a special vote of thanks to the hon. secretary for his work in the past should be recorded in the minutes.

Mr. W. Melville (Guildford) congratulated the five Aldershot ringers who rang their first peal of Superlative Surprise at Yorktown recently. It was, he said, a fine performance.

Mr. J. Corbett (Bagshot) proposed a vote of thanks to Canon Girling for the use of the bells, for his fine address and for taking the chair at the meeting; to Mr. G. C. Macklin, organist of the Parish Church, and members of the choir; to Mr. Hasted for arranging the meeting; and to the vergers and caterers.

Prior to the meeting, ringing had taken place at the Parish Church under the direction of Mr. R. Hasted, Ringing Master, and the service was conducted by Canon Girling, whose striking address is reported below. Tea and the meeting took place at Rogers' Cafe, after which there was further ringing, the methods ranging from Grandsire Triples to Cambridge and Superlative Surprise Major.

RINGERS' GREAT OPPORTUNITY.

In town and in village our church bells to-day
Cry 'Come, you good people, and put care away,'
For He who made blossom and sunlight and May,
Be certain rejoices in hearts that are gay.

The theme of the joy of ringing church bells in praise of God, running through the hymn, a verse of which is quoted above, was taken by Canon E. M. Girling as the subject of his address.

Canon Girling said it had been remarked about English people that they took their pleasures sadly. No doubt it was said by a foreigner when he had been looking at the crowds on Waterloo Station before a holiday. If that same foreigner had gone into a ringing chamber during a peal, and had watched people concentrated for all they were worth on the ringing of bells; if he had seen them at the end of three and a quarter hours' ringing, wet with their labour, quite unpaid, that same foreigner might have said, 'These English men, and possibly English women, do take their pleasures sadly.'

And yet, said Canon Girling, bellringing is intended to express the joy of life and the joy of religion. There are other people who express their joy in rather a similar way. The baby with his drum, the boy who whistles as he goes to school or comes back from school, the girl singing 'Miriam' with her tins, dancing in front of the people after a great deliverance, the violinist or the cornet player—they all belong to the same fellowship of those who try to express their joy in the most natural way of all by uttering songs of happiness and glee. Even that foreigner, when he had left the belfry and perhaps when he had come some way by the Castle, listening to the sound of our bells floating across the fields, could not help feeling elated or could not help thinking there was joy in these English after all. Perhaps he had made a mistake.

It is so natural, is it not, on all occasions of national rejoicings and so on, almost the first thing people say is, 'Oh, we must have the church bells.' Why? To express their joy. That surely is the main thing. It is true there is another side. I do not forget that life is not all joy all the time. There is the muffled bell that we ring on proper occasions; there are those nine tellers, as they call them, for the passing of the human soul. Bellringing reflects the whole of life.

But to-day there is a very great need to emphasise the joy of true religion, because so many people have got the idea that religion is a dull, gloomy thing, something that prevents you from enjoying life, and all that sort of nonsense. That is an entirely wrong conception of it. I know there have been times when perhaps the Puritan was in the ascendant, and Sunday was a day of gloom, when no bells were allowed because they were regarded as being evil in some way. But, speaking generally, bellringing is most typical of what religion should be, and that is a thing of joy.

SOUND OF BELLS TOUCHES PEOPLE'S CONSCIENCES.

And when the bells before a service are ringing it is not to remind people that they ought to perform a rather unpleasant duty. That is the idea some people seem to have; perhaps it is one of the reasons why some people object to bellringing altogether. I don't think it is altogether that they have got a headache and cannot stand a noise; perhaps sometimes it is because it touches their consciences—the bells remind them of it and they object very strongly to bellringing. Bellringing is not meant to call us to an unpleasant duty, but to remind us of one of the most splendid privileges we have, the privilege of worship in God's house. If one could only get young people to realise that it is not simply a duty but a very glad and high privilege!

If that be so, ringers can play a very important part in religion. I dare say you have all heard on the wireless the Archbishop's 'Recall to Religion.' It is something that I hope will be no mere stunt but that it will have a very great effect upon this nation.

There you ringers have your part. Naturally you must not only be skilful in the ringing of the bells—I know you are that and in—

CAMBRIDGE UNIVERSITY GUILD.

NEW PRESIDENT ELECTED.

At a business meeting of the Cambridge University Guild, held on January 18th, the Rev. A. C. Blyth, M.A., fellow and tutor of Selwyn College, was unanimously elected president of the Guild in succession to the late Rev. A. H. F. Boughey.

Mr. Blyth was nominated by the Master (Mr. R. D. St. J. Smith, Selwyn), and seconded by the hon. secretary (Mr. M. B. Shaw, Peterhouse), and the Rev. B. F. Sheppard (Trinity) also spoke strongly in favour of the nomination.

As an undergraduate, Mr. Blyth filled the office of secretary in 1912, during the Mastership of Mr. E. M. Atkins, and for the past few years has, as vice-president, deputised for the late president when failing health prevented him from taking his former part in the activities of the Guild.

Mr. Blyth has rung a number of handbell peals for the Guild, including Bob Major, Kent Treble Bob Major and Grandsire Triples.

BIG CLOCK FOR EGYPT.

FIVE AND A HALF TONS HOUR BELL.

Messrs. Gillett and Johnston, of Croydon, are carrying out an important clock and bell contract for Egypt. It consists of an all-electric clock and five bells, which are to be erected at the University of Giza, near Cairo.

The clock has 10ft. dials, and is provided with an auxiliary equipment which will ensure that the mechanism will continue to operate for 24 hours in case of failure of the electric current.

The hour bell weighs 5½ tons, and the Westminster quarter chimes will be struck on the other four bells.

On Tuesday afternoon the clock and bells were inspected by the Egyptian Charge d'Affaires, His Excellency A. B. Rahman Bey.

WEDDING BELLS.

At St. Giles' Church, Willenhall, Staffs, on Saturday, January 16th, the bells were 'fired' and touches of Bob Minor (with 7-8 covering) and Grandsire Triples were rung immediately after the wedding of Miss Mary Gwendoline Wallater (eldest daughter of the conductor of the local band) to Mr. Norman G. Ravenscroft, of Short Heath, Wolverhampton. The ringers were W. Edge, A. E. Reed, A. Evans, B. Munday, J. Luck, J. Picken, R. Sidebotham, E. Hortin, S. H. Coley, F. Magness and J. Pritchard.

DEATH OF A BOWDON RINGER.

MR. JOSEPH HOLT'S 47 YEARS' SERVICE.

A ringer at Bowdon Parish Church, Cheshire, for more than 47 years, Mr. Joseph Holt passed away recently after only a short illness.

Mr. Holt, who was a native of Bowdon, had been for 22 years a licensee of the Railway Inn, Ashley Road, Hale, and was well known in the district. In addition to having been a bellringer at Bowdon Parish Church, he was also at one time a chorister at the church, and was the first telegraph boy at Bowdon Post Office. The bells of the Parish Church were rung fully muffled on the day of Mr. Holt's death.

The funeral took place at Altrincham Cemetery, the Rev. W. H. Brind (curate at Bowdon Church) officiating.

In addition to the family mourners many friends gathered at the graveside, among them being Messrs. D. Vincent, S. Mottershead, G. Ollier and P. Cross (representing the ringers).

As a last token of respect the bells of Bowdon Parish Church were rung half-muffled in the evening. The touches included 360 of Minor, with 7-8 behind, by G. Ollier 1, D. Vincent (conductor) 2, H. McKinnell 3, A. Brown 4, J. Hassell 5, A. Elkins 6, P. Cross 7, S. Mottershead 8. This was followed by a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples by J. Hassell (first quarter-peal of Triples) 1, H. McKinnell 2, J. Saunders (first quarter-peal) 3, C. Tomlinson 4, D. Vincent (conductor) 5, A. Brown 6, A. Elkins 7, S. Mottershead (first quarter-peal) 8.

This was the first quarter-peal rung on the bells by an entirely local company since the bells were augmented to eight in 1923.

After the 'whole pull and stand' had been rung a few times the bells were stopped one at a time, commencing from the treble.

Mr. Holt's age was then tolled on the tenor bell by S. Mottershead, who now has the longest service at this church as ringer.

A two minutes' silence was observed before the company dispersed.

creasingly so—you must not only take an interest in the belfry, you must also find your place and fill this place in the church. You must have in you the spirit of true religion and the joy of religion. If you experience that for yourselves I am perfectly certain it will have an effect even upon the bellringing itself. There will be no more complaints about people getting slack, no difficulty in getting together the necessary eight or ten. On the contrary, all the members of the company will be there because they know that that is their place, because they are going to take part in the worship of God and because they know the true joy of religion. And if that can happen, if all of us are sincerely converted Christians, think what your bellringing can be. It can be a sacrament.

ROYAL CUMBERLAND YOUTHS.

REVIVING ACTIVITIES IN LONDON.

The revival of the annual dinner and a decision to arrange for Sunday service ringing at additional churches in London were matters of special interest before the annual meeting of the Royal Cumberland Youths at St. Martin's-in-the-Fields on Saturday. Despite a very dismal day, over fifty members attended, many of them coming from far afield. In the afternoon there was ringing both at St. Bride's, Fleet Street, and St. Martin's, and tea was served in the crypt at the latter church, where for the entertainment of the ladies who served the meal a touch of Stedman Caters was rung on handbells belonging to Mr. C. E. Waters, of Watford.

The business meeting was held in St. Martin's Vestry Hall, the Vicar (Rev. Pat McCormack) presiding, supported by the Master (Mr. G. H. Cross), the hon. secretary (Mr. G. A. Card), and the hon. treasurer (Mr. G. W. Steere).

The last-named presented the balance sheet, which showed receipts, including the subscriptions of thirty new members, of £13 16s. 6d. The expenditure amounted to £19 8s. 5d., and included £6 16s. for the memorial to the late Master (Mr. J. D. Matthews), £1 1s. to the Wm. Pye memorial, £1 Central Council subscription, and £2 2s. to the funds of the Central Council Entertainment Committee. The balance in hand at the end of the year was £9 15s. 1½d.—The accounts were adopted.

The Hon. Secretary, in his report, said the year 1936 had been one of steady progress in the annals of ringing. During the year the society rang 12 peals, consisting of Stedman Cinques 2, Caters 1, Bristol Surprise 1, Cambridge Surprise 1, Superlative Surprise 1, Stedman Triples 1, Grandfire Triples 1, Minor in seven Surprise methods 1, Bob Minor 2, and one peal of Stedman Triples on handbells. One lady ringer rang her first peal of Stedman Cinques, and on behalf of the society he extended to her hearty congratulations. The peal of Stedman Triples on Boxing Day at St. Martin's was rung in honour of the birth of a daughter to the Duke and Duchess of Kent. Information of the peal was forwarded to Belgrave Square, and a suitable reply was received. One encouraging feature last year was the steady increase in new members, 30 having been elected. The society owed a debt of gratitude to the Vicar and Church Council of St. Martin's for allowing them to place their safe and boxes in the choir vestry, thus bringing to an end a controversy as to the custody of the safe. Three quarterly meetings had been held, the most successful being at Gravesend. That at Beddington was held jointly with two other societies, but the one which should have been held at Walthamstow had to be transferred to Romford owing to a misunderstanding. As a result of this experience he advised more thought being given to the places selected for the quarterly meetings.

OFFICERS RE-ELECTED.

Mr. George Cross was re-elected Master, and in acknowledging the compliment said there was no need for pessimism with regard to the position of the society. In addition to the twelve peals rung, they attempted Cambridge Maximus, which was lost after two hours, two peals of Cambridge Royal, a peal of Spiced Surprise Major, and a peal of London. The influx of young members was very encouraging.

Mr. G. A. Card was re-elected hon. secretary, with Mr. N. Summerhayes as assistant secretary.

Mr. G. W. Steere was re-elected hon. treasurer, and Messrs. F. G. Symonds and A. Hardy trustees. Mr. T. Bevan was elected senior steward, and Mr. J. E. Bailey junior steward.

The election of four members prior to peal attempts was confirmed, and the following new members were elected: Mr. W. Stofe, Coventry; Mr. E. Bowman, Feltham; Miss D. E. Colegate, Sevenoaks; Mr. H. S. T. Willson and Mr. H. M. Mears, St. Olave's, Hart Street, London; Mr. B. W. May, Bobbing, Kent; Messrs. J. T. O'Dell, R. H. Harman, D. F. Harman and D. H. A. Pestall (Hampstead) and Mr. T. Collins (Ruislip).

It was decided to hold quarterly meetings at Hampstead, with Highgate and Gospel Oak, on March 6th; Pinner on July 10th; and St. George's, Southwark, in October.

In conformity with a motion passed at a quarterly meeting, it was announced that the annual dinner was to be revived and arrangements had been made to hold it at the Bedford Head Hotel, Maiden Lane, on March 13th. The hope was expressed that members and their friends (including ladies) would support the function.

The Master referred to the society's service held in December at St. Olave's, Hart Street. Some of the ringers from that church had joined the society, and the Vicar would like it very much if the society would ring there for services on Sunday evenings occasionally. St. Bride's tower had also been opened to them again, which they very much appreciated, and he suggested that the society should arrange to ring on Sunday evenings at each of the churches once every six weeks. They already rang at Shoreditch twice a month.

After some discussion the Master's suggestion was adopted, and it was decided to set up a voluntary rota of members for the purpose. All members of the society within reach of London were invited to put their names on the list, in order to take their turn as required. They should send their names and addresses to the assistant secretary (Mr. N. Summerhayes), 26, Wilnot Road, Dartford, Kent.

CHESTER DIOCESAN GUILD.

STOCKPORT AND BOWDON BRANCH ANNUAL MEETING.

On Saturday last the annual meeting of the Stockport and Bowdon Branch of the Chester Diocesan Guild was held at St. Peter's Church, Ashton-under-Lyne, when, in spite of exceedingly cold and wintry weather, some 45 members and friends were present at the service in church, conducted by the Vicar, the Rev. R. L. Owen, who also gave a very interesting address. He took as the basis of his remarks the text, 'Rejoice in the Lord always, and again I say rejoice.' He stressed the necessity of attendance at practice if ringers were to make any real service of their ringing, and urged them not to look upon it as sacrifice but as a pleasant duty. He deplored the installation of 'canned' bells, and said that, while he agreed that the machine was the friend of man, he thought we might at least leave the arts free from this mechanisation. He reminded those present that they sent out Sunday after Sunday and at other times the call of the Christian faith. They should therefore see to it that this faith was shown in their daily lives and that they regarded their religion as a living thing and not merely a sort of insurance policy for the life to come.

After service, a bountiful tea was served in the schools. The business meeting followed under the chairmanship of Mr. W. W. Wolstencroft (branch chairman), who apologised for the absence of the Vicar, who was just recovering from a bout of the fashionable complaint, influenza, and did not think it wise to stay out too long. He had, therefore, returned home after conducting the service. He extended a cordial welcome to the Guild, and hoped the members would approve of the restoration work done.

The sudden death of Mr. Adam T. Marsland, of Disley, was announced, and came as a shock to many present, as also did the deaths of Messrs. Holt and Dean, two of the older ringers at Bowdon. The meeting stood for a moment in silence, and then instructed the secretary to convey the sympathy of the branch to the relatives.

The annual report and statement of accounts were read and adopted, and the election of the officers for the ensuing year then took place.

Votes of thanks were accorded to the Vicar and wardens, the local ringers and their ladies, the organist and to all who had in any way contributed to the success of the meeting.

A return was made to the tower, where good use was made of the bells, and there were many highly complimentary remarks made on the fine way in which Messrs. Taylor and Co. have restored this peal of eight through the generosity of the Barron Bell Trust.

CLEVELAND AND NORTH YORKSHIRE ASSOCIATION.

SMALL MEETING BUT PLENTY OF RINGING.

The January meeting of the Cleveland and North Yorkshire Association was held at Skelton-in-Cleveland on Saturday, January 23rd. The attendance was not quite all that could be desired, but the unfavourable weather and the influenza epidemic probably kept some away. An excellent tea was provided in the Church Room, presided over by the president of the association, Mr. J. C. Pollard.

There was no business to be discussed, and, after giving a vote of thanks to the Vicar and wardens for the use of the bells and electing a new member (Mr. J. W. Moorhouse, of Saltburn), a return was made to the tower for more ringing. With the exception of the break for tea, the bells were going from 3 p.m. until 8 p.m., the following methods being rung: Grandfire and Stedman Triples, Bob Major, Kent Treble Bob, Double Norwich and Superlative Surprise Major.

Members attended from Ripon, Ormesby, Darlington (Holy Trinity), Guisborough, Saltburn, Middlesbrough and the local company.

The next meeting will be held at Whitby on April 24th.

LINCOLNSHIRE VICAR LEAVES MONEY FOR BELLS.

At Burton-on-Stather, Lincs, on Monday, January 25th, after failure of peal attempt, 720 changes of St. Clement's Minor: B. Gillatt 1, A. Thornton 2, A. Tomlinson 3, J. Bray (conductor) 4, E. Brittain 5, B. Gillatt, jun., 6. Rung with bells half-muffled as a last token of esteem for Canon F. A. Jarvis, 39 years Vicar of the parish. Canon Jarvis was responsible for the three old bells being made into six in 1920, giving one of them himself. He has left, in his will, a sum toward the cost of adding two trebles.

A vote of thanks to the Rev. Pat McCormack was proposed by Chief Inspector Bottrill, seconded by Mr. A. Pye, acknowledgment being made of the Vicar's interest in the society, of the use of the bells, of the tea in the crypt, and of his presiding at the meeting.

The Vicar said he was delighted to welcome the society, and wished them a successful year.

Thanks were accorded to the officers for their services during the past year, and to Mr. T. Bevan and Mrs. Cross for their activities in obtaining many new members. Mr. Bevan was also thanked for getting the bells of St. Bride's ready that day.

Mr. Bailey expressed appreciation of the attendance of the members who had come long distances to be present, and the Master appealed for a better attendance at the monthly meetings at Shoreditch.

Tribute was paid to the memory of members who had passed away during the year, and the meeting then terminated.

THE LATE MR. H. R. PASMORE'S PEALS. DISTINGUISHED PERFORMANCES.

Some reference has already been made in 'The Ringing World' to the peal performances of the late Mr. Harry R. Pasmore, who was a member of both St. Paul's Cathedral and Westminster Abbey bands. He was a ringer and conductor of exceptional ability. In his first 12 months as a peal ringer he rang eight peals, which included Superlative and London Surprise, at the age of 17. Before he was 20 he had rung in the first three Surprise peals rung in one day, and also non-conducted peals of London and Cambridge Surprise. Later in the same year he conducted the first handbell peals of Superlative ever rung, and afterwards took part in that wonderful performance, Carter's Odd Bob One-Part peal of Stedman Triples non-conducted on handbells.

The following is the list of his peals:—

FUNERAL OF MR. G. W. STOKES.

The funeral of the late Mr. George W. Stokes, of Eastbourne, who filled many offices in the Sussex County Association, including that of secretary of the Eastern Division from 1920 to 1922, took place on Monday, January 25th. The first part of the service was held in St. Philip's Church, and the interment took place at Langney Cemetery. The association was represented by Mr. A. C. Pankhurst (hon. secretary of the Eastern Division), Mr. F. Dallaway and Mr. H. Hobden (St. Saviour's) and Mr. G. Piper. The Vicar of St. Saviour's, where Mr. Stokes had been a member of the company for 16 years, was also present.

Among the many wreaths was one from the Sussex Association, one from St. Saviour's band and one from St. Mary's company.

At St. Saviour's Church on the previous day a half-muffled quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples was rung by G. Hobbs 1, H. G. Reynolds 2, H. S. Hobden (conductor) 3, E. Bray 4, F. H. Dallaway 5, E. Gover 6, A. C. Pankhurst 7, L. Faulkner 8.

Mr. Stokes, who was 61 years of age, will be particularly missed at Eastbourne, while the association also has sustained a great loss. In addition to his service as divisional secretary, he had served on the Committee of Advice, was a trustee for five years and hon. treasurer for two years. He had rung about a hundred peals.

ATTENDANCE AT DISTRICT MEETINGS

If the trouble were taken by all District Secretaries to analyse the attendances of individuals at association meetings, we wonder what proportion of the actual membership would be found showing their active interest and support in this direction? We are prompted to ask this question as the result of certain statistics presented to a ringers' meeting on Saturday, when it was revealed that in a district with over 160 members, the main support had come from seventeen only. The district in question is not geographically large and presents no unusual difficulties in regard to communications, yet the figures showed that, all told, less than a quarter of the members took the trouble to attend any meeting. We have no doubt there are many areas where, if an analysis were made, similar facts would come to light. In every association there are ringers who loyally support the meetings arranged for their interest and benefit, and every secretary knows his 'regulars' who are the backbone of whatever success may attend a gathering. We are far from suggesting that meetings miss their object when the presence of the stalwarts has to be solely relied upon, but they would serve an even more useful purpose if 'new faces' were constantly appearing.

The wider the attendance at meetings, the more are officials encouraged, and let it not be forgotten that officials need and deserve encouragement. They carry the burden of the day; they have to do the work; they are the people who are grumbled at if things go wrong, but members seldom think how disheartening it is when, after all the labour expended, those for whose benefit everything has been done fail to respond. The very idea behind district meetings is to bring these gatherings close home to the members; to give them facilities for meeting and ringing such as centralised management could not be expected to provide, particularly in big associations. There never was a time when ringers of all classes were given so many opportunities to get together for mutual practice and social intercourse, and yet many fail to grasp these occasions to expand their knowledge and make a growing circle of ringing friends. Those who miss the social side of ringing do not know the full pleasure of being a member of the Exercise, but even though they are content to miss this phase of it, they should at least feel it a duty to support their association's meetings. Sometimes ringers complain that they get nothing out of membership of a Guild; that is because they put nothing into it, except, perhaps, an annual subscription. They would get interest and pleasure in abundance if they would make the most of the facilities provided and join their fellows in district and

FOR BEGINNERS.

TRY TREBLE BOB.

There are always a number of six-bell ringers who, either by lack of opportunity or want of initiative, seem to stick at Bob Minor. They seldom go to other towers, and if they do are not prepared to try anything beyond what they already know; indeed, it is often because their knowledge is so restricted that they will not go to other towers for fear of showing up their limitations.

Well, this inferiority complex is all wrong. It discourages effort to make progress. There are lots of things that Bob Minor ringers could ring, with very little difficulty, if they would put their minds to it, but steps in ringing seem to be standardised to some extent, and the next stage to Bob Minor, in six-bell ringing, is usually Treble Bob. The man who can ring an inside bell to Plain Minor should be able with very little study to ring Treble Bob. When ringing the plain method he knows how to dodge in 3-4 or 5-6 when he comes to the proper positions; he knows, also, how to lead and make 2nd's place.

If he wants to ring Treble Bob—and no one should stagnate on Bob Minor—this knowledge can be usefully applied, and can form the basis of the new work.

In Plain Bob the dodging comes once in every lead; in Treble Bob there is a continuous succession of dodges. In a sense, therefore, the dodging is easier, because instead of having to find the right position once every lead, in Treble Bob you just dodge in every dodging place as you come to it—what you really have to learn is when not to dodge.

A dodge in Treble Bob is exactly the same as a dodge in Plain Bob, that is you go back one step, when you reach 4th's or 6th's going up, and 5th's and 3rd's coming down. In certain circumstances, also, you dodge in 1-2, or 'on the front' as it is sometimes called.

If you are practising Treble Bob as a band of beginners it is not a bad thing to grasp the general idea by ringing a 'dodging lead.' You may, perhaps, have got your first ideas of Plain Bob by ringing a 'plain hunting course'; apply this to the Treble Bob principle. All the bells (treble included) dodge in every dodging place as they come to it. The treble, for example, begins by dodging in 1-2 up, then in 3-4 up, then in 5-6 up, before lying a whole pull behind; then in 6-5 down, 4-3 down and 2-1 down before leading a whole pull. The other bells do the same from their respective positions, the 'odd' bells (3 and 5) going up and 'even' bells (2, 4 and 6) down. This 'dodging' lead will give a repetition of changes, but for the purpose of practice it will not matter; it will teach you how to find your way from one dodge to the next.

The easiest of the Treble Bob methods to ring is Kent. It is produced by two deviations from the continuous dodging which you had in the 'dodging lead'; one is that a bell stays 'on the front,' alternately leading a whole pull and lying a whole pull in 2nd's place, from the time the treble goes away from its dodge in 1-2 until it returns to dodge in 2-1. The other deviation is that, while the treble is 'on the front' (dodging down in 2-1 and then, after leading, up in 1-2), the two pairs of bells which come together in 3-4 make places instead of dodging; the bells going up making 3rd's and 4th's, and the bells going down making corresponding places in 4th's and 3rd's.

To begin with it may be as well to remember that the places down are made after dodging 5-6 up with the treble, or passing the treble in 4-5. The places up are made after passing the treble in 2-3 or dodging with the treble in 1-2 up—this latter you do after you come out of the 'slow work,' as the alternate leading and 2nd's place-making is called.

And one other thing. The slow work prevents any dodging on the front except with the treble, so that after dodging in 4-3 each bell goes straight to lead and straight out to 3-4.

All this may seem rather a lot to remember, but we have gone into some detail with the explanation because we want you to understand how the method is made up. Try and write out a lead or two to see how it goes. Here is half a lead to give you a start:—

124356
214365
241635
426153
421635
264513

Briefly put, the rules for ringing the method are: When you dodge in 2-1 with the treble, stay in the 'slow' until the treble returns to you. Then, having dodged with the treble in 1-2, make 3rd's and 4th's going out.

In the next lead, pass the treble in 2-3, and again make 3rd's and 4th's. Except for this always dodge in 3-4 and 5-6 both up and down until you pass the treble in 4-5, then make 4th's and 3rd's coming in; and again in the next lead, having dodged in 5-6 up with the treble, make 4th's and 3rd's, which brings you to dodge on the front with the treble and so into the 'slow.'

There is no dodging in 1-2 except with the treble. The places in 3-4 are made the 'wrong way,' that is backstroke and handstroke.

A DISTRICT SECRETARY'S STRAIGHT TALK

GUILDFORD GUILD MEMBERS 'ENJOY' A CASTIGATION.

Suggested Cathedral Bell Fund Scheme.

Another of the district secretaries of the Guildford Diocesan Guild has 'unburdened his soul' in his annual report. This time it is the secretary of the Guildford District. Every year the members of the district attend their annual meeting with the sense of lively anticipation of 'things to come,' and they are never disappointed. Mr. G. L. Grover's habit of 'calling a spade a spade' leads to outspoken criticism. Last Saturday the members again enjoyed their 'castigation,' and at the close passed a genuinely sincere vote of thanks to their secretary for his labours and his report.

Here are some points from the report, and they will probably interest others than the members of the Guildford Guild, because there must be many other associations who suffer, more or less, from the same kind of apathy, which is the burden of this report.

Judged from the balance sheet and the number of members who paid subscriptions for last year, a casual observer would say that the district has jogged along satisfactorily during the last year. No special payment having been made in the past year, the balance in hand has increased to £25 6s. The number of ringing members paying for 1936 was 163, as against 171 who paid for 1935, not a great loss considering one tower fell out altogether. Our list of honorary members continues to shrink; only 11 paid for 1936, as against 17 in 1935. I do remind you all, and tower secretaries in particular, that local effort is almost the only possible means of obtaining and retaining honorary members.

Five district meetings were held and only on one occasion (that, unfortunately, the very occasion when we required an exceptionally good attendance) was the attendance of district members startlingly poor. Although, as I say, the position judged from the balance sheet, the list of members and the fact that no district meeting was an absolute "wash out" does not look too bad, but beauty, after all, is often only skin deep, and a closer analysis of the situation reveals a state of affairs not too encouraging to district officers.

We lately appear to have lost, at any rate for the time being, two towers from which in previous years we have always had a fair number of subscriptions. It is a great pity to lose towers like this and we really ought to make a great effort to avoid such things.

To my mind the district is not held together very securely. We are a long way as yet from having achieved that first object of the Guild, namely, "To unite in one organisation the separate companies of church bellringers within the district for the purpose of mutual support and encouragement."

There are now five towers in our district from which we have no members at all, and there are four further towers with less members than they have bells.

SUPPORT OF DISTRICT MEETINGS ANALYSED.

The report then went on to give an analysis of the manner in which the district towers supported their district meetings. By a process of awarding marks for attendances at meetings away from their own towers, the secretary had arrived at a schedule which must have surprised the members.

The best tower had 15 marks, which meant 15 attendances at meetings during the year, but the comment here was that four members from that tower earned all the marks. In practically every case the attendances were made by just a very few of the members, and in the case of ten towers who made no attendances the report said it was 'all a waste of postage stamps and the secretary's time so far as concerns district meetings.' The report proceeded: 'Five members made four attendances each, eight members three each and four two each, so that 17 members actually formed the backbone of district meetings—17 out of 163! Does it look as if the majority of our members are doing anything towards helping "to unite in one organisation the separate companies in the district"? How can you contribute to unity if you stand isolated? It seems that most of our members look upon the payment of a subscription as being their only duty to the Guild, and upon their own tower, not as being part of a district, but as an isolated self-contained centre.'

'I trust,' continued the secretary, 'that you will not go away tonight convinced that everything is going on smoothly without your help and that you can leave the district officers and those 17 members who saved our district meetings last year to keep things going during this coming year. I trust that all the district members will this year make a genuine and very determined effort towards attaining real unity and being a real source of encouragement and support to their fellow-ringers. I do not ask you even to hope that you will make every ringer in the district into a faultless producer of changes, but I do ask you to do quite a lot more towards making the district an organisation and not just a collection of towers, each filled with ringers who think that they, by their own unaided efforts, are better than their neighbours.'

Referring to the question of peal ringing, the secretary said: 'I will give you a few details and leave you to form your own opinion as to whether our efforts in peal ringing are any sign of progress as regards the district as a whole. Eighteen district members took part in peals during the year, and of that number only three rang in four or more peals. Only four towers are represented in the list of peal ringers. There was one first peal. The circle of towers for peal ringing was limited to five.'

The report referred to a scheme for the interchange of visits on practice nights by neighbouring towers which had been initiated, and the hope expressed that the scheme was being carried out, although no reports had been received as to its progress.

NEW CATHEDRAL BELLS FUND.

The secretary, in conclusion, drew attention to the New Cathedral Bell Fund, which the Guild inaugurated three years ago. That the Cathedral when completed shall have a peal of bells hung for ringing is, said the report, a matter which merits the earnest attention and efforts of the Guild, and I am not really sure that our New Cathedral Bell Fund is given enough prominence. For your very serious consideration I suggest that we recommend to the Guild that each tower in the Guild be invited to subscribe an annual minimum sum to the fund. The minimum could be the very modest sum of 1s. per tower. My proposition is, therefore, that the Guild be asked through its Executive Committee to consider the possibility of obtaining annual contributions to the Cathedral Bell Fund from towers in the diocese, and, if thought practical, to arrange accordingly.

The Ringing Master, in his report, stated that in the towers which he had been able to visit Sunday service ringing appeared to be maintained, even if practices were not so regular. The custom of some towers in dropping summer practices might be the cause, as he had found it was often difficult to revive them when autumn arrived. If practices were maintained during the summer even only to a limited extent, say once a fortnight or once a month, it would do much to help keep interest alive, especially among the younger members. A good deal had been mentioned lately about keeping the interest of learners. It appeared that some interest besides ringing was needed to keep them in the bellfries. Several boys or young men who were 'pals' were more likely to attend frequently than one who had no special 'chum' learning at the same time. He thought that if a learner was really interested in ringing he would do his best to become proficient by attending all the service ringing and practices in his own tower, and, what was more important, by going out to other towers on practice nights as often as possible. He would receive a hearty welcome wherever he went.

The report added that tower captains always emphasised that they were pleased to see visitors at all times, and sometimes they bemoaned the fact that no outside ringers went near them. Perhaps if they took the initiative and went out themselves, more interchange of visits would result. A large number of ringers never visited any other tower.

The report went on to refer to the five district meetings which were held, to the reopening of the recast bells at Chiddingfold and Shalford, and to the eleven tower-bell and two handbell peals rung during the year.

The meeting, which followed ringing and service at S. Nicolas' Church, was attended by about 50 ringers.

Thirty-three district members were present from eleven towers: Cranleigh, Ewhurst, Guildford (Cathedral and S. Nicolas'), Haslemere, Pirbright, Shalford, West Clondon, Woking, Wotton and Worplesdon. Other towers represented were Aldershot, Bagshot and Chertsey, and visitors included Miss Oakshott and Mr. F. Oakshott (Hayes) and Mr. J. Bennett (Catford).

Major J. H. B. Hesse (Master of the Guild) presided over the meeting, at which the loss of members by death was first referred to, and regret marked by those present standing in silence.

The accounts, which showed £16 8s. from ringing members' subscriptions and £1 7s. 6d. from hon. members, revealed an increased balance of £4 14s.

In the discussion which followed the hon. secretary's report, members reported on the result of the interchange of visits between towers on practice nights, and in several cases this seemed to have worked satisfactorily, but in others lack of local interest had led to failure to establish successful working.

It was decided to adopt the hon. secretary's suggestion to extend the appeal for the New Cathedral Bell Fund, and also (subject to the approval of the general meeting of the Guild) to vote £5 from the district funds for the purpose.

The Secretary's and Ringing Master's reports were formally received.

All the district officers were re-elected, and the ringing members chosen for the Executive Committee were Messrs. W. Melville (Cathedral) and R. Cherrymman (Pirbright).

The eight-bell towers of Chiddingfold, Godalming, Shalford and West Clondon, and the six-bell tower of Albury, were chosen for meetings during the forthcoming year. The secretary caused amusement after the selection of Albury (19 votes) over Pirbright by asking those who voted for this tower for their names, so that he could check up their attendance when the meeting took place.

Messrs. E. and J. Denver (Ewhurst), W. Cone, J. Webb, J. West, A. W. Barley and G. Riddle (S. Nicolas', Guildford) were elected members of the Guild.

The Guild officers were renominated en bloc, and the meeting terminated with a vote of thanks to the district officers for their service.

The Rector of S. Nicolas' was thanked for the use of the bells and conducting the service, and the preacher, the Rector of West Clondon (the Rev. M. O. Boyd) for his address. Thanks were also accorded to the authorities at the Cathedral for the use of the bells during the afternoon. After the meeting there was further ringing at S. Nicolas' Church.

WILLIAM PYE MEMORIAL. DISPOSAL OF THE BALANCE.

The receipts and expenditure account of the William Pye Memorial Fund is given below. It has been audited by Mr. G. W. Fletcher, hon. secretary to the Central Council.

The disposal of the balance of the fund, amounting to £8, was considered by the Memorial Committee at a recent meeting, and, after several suggestions had been discussed, it was unanimously agreed to record one of the late William Pye's greatest performances, viz., the 7,392 Cambridge Surprise Maximus, to which he rang the tenor, at St. Mary-le-Bow, Cheapside, on December 19th, 1925. It is hoped that the authorities at that church will agree to this, and permit an appropriate footnote to be placed on the tablet as a memorial to William Pye, from the Ringing Exercise.

The Memorial Committee take this opportunity of thanking all subscribers to the fund. The generous response made by the Exercise enabled them to carry out, without stint, all that they desired, and the results have given the utmost satisfaction. It is hoped to place a record of the work, a list of the subscribers and a copy of the accounts amongst the church records at St. John's, Leytonstone.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

Peals in two fresh Surprise methods are recorded this week, Lutterworth, by Mr. E. W. Tipler, at Old Windsor, and Knebworth, by Mr. H. G. Cashmore, at Aldenham.

Mr. Alfred E. Pitstow, one of Saffron Walden's veterans, took part in a peal at Shoreditch on Saturday. It was his first peal with the Royal Cumberlands for 45 years.

The handbells used at the meeting of the Royal Cumberland Youths were brought by Mr. C. W. Taylor, of Watford, an hon. member of the Herts County Association. Although not a ringer himself, Mr. Taylor is keenly interested.

Congratulations to the Oxford Diocesan Guild band, which included one lady, who rang an unconduted peal of Stedman Triples at Goring-on-Thames on Saturday. We would like to see more such performances in other guilds and associations.

The North Staffs Association has already taken steps to organise peals in celebration of the King's Coronation. At a meeting last Saturday plans were laid, and it was suggested that any peals rung during May should be recognised as 'Coronation peals.'

A CONTRAST IN BELL BROADCASTS.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—On reading the correspondence and explanation re the above in last week's issue, it struck me that, while you gave a brief explanation of the case in point, you did not go to the root of the matter raised by your correspondent, Mr. D. G. Taylor.

Bells are not fitted with dampers like a piano, and, therefore, will always be liable to produce the roar complained of, just the same as a piano would if forced to emit the 1812 Overture with the loud pedal fastened down.

Bells are apparently at the mercy of the engineer in charge of the broadcast. If he is resourceful enough or lucky enough to find a spot for the 'mike' where it can pick up just the necessary amount, and no more of the disturbance than is required, well and good; if otherwise, well, the roar will be there, Simpson or no tuning at all, and I would suggest to any listener seeking a fresh stick to beat Simpson tuning with, that he postpone any further correspondence until after March 7th next, when I believe there will be a good answer to this query if he will tune in to Droitwich at 9.25 a.m.

A MODEL PERFORMANCE.

Dear Sir,—Surrey, Lancashire and the B.B.C. all played their part nobly on Sunday. The Grandsire Caters and Stedman Triples were beautifully struck and came over the air to perfection. Also in the evening we were permitted to hear Bolton bells go off from rounds into changes and finish up with a few rounds at the end. Altogether a model performance.

POPULARISE GOOD METHODS.

To the Editor.

Sir,—May I associate myself with your excellent leading article of January 29th, with which I am fully in agreement? The number of Surprise methods worth ringing, rung and still to be rung is legion. In this corner of the country many Surprise Major methods have been rung, some 12 of them for the first time. Practically all of these are worth popularising. In order to become popular it seems to me that a method must fulfil the following conditions: (1) It must be easy to learn; (2) it must be musical, given the right composition; and (3) it must lend itself to the production of plenty of good compositions. Now Ashted Surprise Major stands out in the Surprise class, for it has a clean proof scale and all the before-mentioned attributes. Will all the 'Cambridge' ringers try it and see if they don't agree with me?

Mr. G. E. Symonds asks for a few methods which extend from six or eight to twelve as well as Cambridge does. May I refer him to the Rev. E. Bankes James' 'Painswick,' a most musical Surprise Major method. The extensions to ten and twelve have not yet been rung, and I am sure are well within the capabilities of the Ipswich band.

Let us now hear some recommendations from somebody for the Plain methods.

VICAR SPOILS HIS 'FAREWELL PEAL'

On Sunday week, as a farewell to the Vicar, the local band at Christ Church, Eastbourne, attempted a peal of Grandsire Triples. The band consisted of all youngsters, and would have included three 'first pealers.'

All went well until after 3 hours 5 minutes, with only five calls to go, when the Vicar (who had obtained another key) walked into the centre of the tower and commenced a speech of thanks to the ringers. This was too much for the 'first pealers,' and 'stand' had to be called. Apologies followed, of course, but it was a very disappointed band that came down from the tower.

BIRMINGHAM CATHEDRAL BELLS. SIR AUSTEN CHAMBERLAIN AT RECASTING CEREMONY.

Distinguished Visitors at Croydon Foundry.

The first of the new bells for Birmingham Cathedral were cast at Croydon Bell Foundry on Tuesday morning in the presence of a distinguished company, including no fewer than six of Birmingham's Members of Parliament, headed by Sir Austen Chamberlain. The others were the Rt. Hon. L. S. Amery, Comdr. J. A. C. Wright, Sir Patrick Hannon, Mr. E. W. Salt and Mr. J. Smedley Crooke. They were received at the Foundry by Mr. Cyril Johnston and Mrs. Johnston, and the other guests included Mr. H. G. Williams, M.P. for Croydon, and Mrs. Williams, the Mayor and Mayoress of Croydon, Dr. Newnham (town clerk of Croydon) and Mrs. Newnham, Mr. H. Berney, D.L., J.P., Mrs. Berney, and others.

The visitors were first escorted on a tour of the works, where they saw the various processes of bell-making in operation. The massive frame for the Cathedral bells was under construction, and it is obvious that the founders are providing a structure which is going to 'do its job' perfectly. Another frame which was of great interest was that destined for Darlington. It is 'the bell frame of the future,' all the members being welded instead of bolted together. This is a comparatively new departure in bell-frame construction, but it has great possibilities.

Many bells and frames in process of preparation were on view, but the visitors found the new 5½ ton bourdon bell and the four quarter bells for the great clock at Giza, near Cairo, an 'exhibit' of great interest.

The visitors assembled in the foundry for the casting, and a considerable gathering watched the operations, silver coins being tossed into the molten metal, as it was poured, by Sir Austen Chamberlain and others. The bells cast were the 4th, 5th, 6th and 9th of the peal, and the coins had been specially provided by the principal donor of the bells, Sir Charles Hyde, those selected being of a 'purer vintage' than those in common use to-day.

MESSAGE TO PROVOST.

After the ceremony the interesting clock factory was inspected, and afterwards the M.P.'s with Mr. Cyril Johnston were entertained to lunch at Croydon Constitutional Club by Mr. Herbert Williams and Mr. Henry Berney.

The following telegram was sent to Bishop Hamilton Baynes, Provost of the Cathedral, before the company dispersed:—

'The undermentioned have authorised me to send the following message

CYRIL JOHNSTON,
Gillett and Johnston, Ltd., Croydon.

'Good luck to new peal of ten bells, some of which we saw cast successfully this morning.

BELLS TO BE LOWER IN THE TOWER.

The bells are to be completed in time for the Coronation rejoicings, and the new tenor will be slightly heavier than the old one—about 31 cwt. They will be brought eight feet lower in the tower, thus adding strength to the building by the scientifically constructed frame and the reduced strain on the walls. There will be the further advantage, that the noise immediately outside the tower—an important factor in a busy city—will be substantially reduced.

The old inscriptions are to be reproduced, with the addition of 'Recast by Gillett and Johnston, Croydon, 1937.'

Treble, 2nd, 3rd, 4th, 7th and 9th record that Thomas Lester, of London, cast them in 1750. The 3rd also bears the couplet:—

'At proper times my voice I'll raise,
And sound to my subscribers praise.'

Pack and Chapman cast the 5th and tenor in 1772, and Thomas Mears the 6th and 8th in 1796 and 1823 respectively.

The inscription on the new tenor is to be:—

Pack & Chapman, of London, Fecit 1772.

These bells were recast for the Coronation of King George VI. chiefly through the generosity of Sir Charles Hyde, Bart.

In wedlock band shall ye who join with hands yours hearts unite;
So shall our tuneful tongues combine to laud the nuptial rite.

CAMBRIDGE UNIVERSITY GUILD.

THE NEW PRESIDENT.

We announced last week the election of a new president of Cambridge University Guild. The office became vacant by the death of the Rev. A. H. F. Boughey, who had been the Guild's president from the first year of its existence.

The new president is the Rev. A. C. Blyth, M.A., fellow and tutor of Selwyn College, who was secretary and treasurer of the Guild in 1910. The Guild thus has the advantage of having at its head and in the one executive post that can retain continuity, another resident in Cambridge.

Cambridge University Guild was established in February, 1879, as the result of the efforts of Mr. W. C. Pearson, of Clare College. The society was at first called the 'Clare Association of Ringers,' but a few days later was changed to the University Guild of Change Ringers. In May the Rev. A. H. F. Boughey was elected president, and retained the office until his death a few months ago. The other offices, those of Master, secretary and treasurer, have, perforce, to change holders almost every year, as they are held by undergraduates. The names of many men who have since become leading figures in the Exercise appear in these lists.

KENT COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

DISPOSAL OF COLLECTIONS AT DISTRICT MEETINGS.

The quarterly meeting of the Lewisham District was held at St. Nicholas', Deptford, on Saturday, January 30th, when some 50 members braved the inclement weather and put in an appearance. Good practice was obtained in various methods during the afternoon and evening by ringers from Beckenham, Bromley, Chislehurst, Crayford, Dartford, St. John's (Deptford), Deptford, Dartford, Eltham, Erith, Lee, Lewisham, London and West Wickham.

Service was conducted by the Rev. V. S. Dodson, Th.L. (curate), and the organist and a small choir were in attendance. A collection for the Association's Benevolent Fund realised 12s.

After service the members were the guests at tea of the Vicar and churchwardens. The curate presided, and regretted the absence of the Vicar (the Rev. T. W. Pitman) through indisposition.

The business meeting was opened by the chairman (the Rev. V. S. Dodson) with prayer. Later he gave a short and much appreciated address (time not being allowed him to do so during the service) before proceeding with the ordinary business.

Six new ringing members were elected, and the election of two members previous to peal attempts was confirmed.

Mr. F. J. Cullum read a report of proceedings at the committee meeting held at Maidstone in November, and Mr. J. Wheadon expressed his entire agreement with the report, which was adopted with a vote of thanks to the representatives for preparing it.

Chelsfield was chosen as place for next meeting, to be held, if possible, on Saturday, April 17th.

The matter of the disposal of the proceeds of the collection at the meetings was discussed. Some members felt that such occasions put the church visited to quite considerable expenditure, and suggested that all or part of such offerings be allocated to the church expenses fund, to meet, in part, the expense so incurred.

The Chairman explained the legal standing of the churchwardens in the matter of church collections, and gave very useful advice as to method of procedure when it was desired by the subscribers that certain collections should be earmarked for special purposes.

It was agreed that the subject be placed before the Management Committee in order to get some standard practice in all the districts in the association.

The meeting congratulated Mr. E. Barnett on the completion, that day, of his fortieth year as a member of the association.

Votes of thanks to the Vicar, curate, churchwardens and the ladies who had arranged the tea, for their generous hospitality; to the Vicar for the use of the bells; to the curate, organist and choir for the enjoyable service; to the curate for presiding at tea and meeting; and to Mr. J. Forwood, the local secretary, for the arrangements he had made, were carried with enthusiasm.

YORKSHIRE ASSOCIATION.

PRESIDENT'S 'SILVER JUBILEE.'

Presentation to Canon and Mrs. Marshall.

The sixty-first annual meeting of the Yorkshire Association, held at Far Headingley on Saturday, January 30th, was made memorable as marking the Rev. Canon Marshall's 'silver jubilee' as president. The bells of St. Chad's, Far Headingley, St. Michael's, Headingley, and St. Matthias', Burley, were available for the use of the visitors, and ringers packed the ringing chambers until, at St. Chad's, they rivalled tinned sardines.

The annual service was held in St. Chad's Church at 4.15 p.m., when the association was honoured by the presence of the Lord Bishop of Ripon. The service was conducted by the president of the association (Canon C. C. Marshall), and members of the choir were also present.

CANON C. C. MARSHALL.

The sermon was delivered by the Bishop of Ripon, who brought with him greetings from the ringers of St. Mary's, Portsea, his former parish, who had written to him saying that they would be thinking of him and the gathering at Far Headingley that afternoon. This kindly thought of the Portsea ringers was much appreciated. His Lordship spoke of the special significance of that gathering, at which Canon Marshall completed 25 years as president of the Yorkshire Association, and of the innumerable ways in which God throughout the ages had tried to speak to man.

Tea was generously provided in the schools by Canon and Mrs. Marshall, a real ringers' tea, and, despite the weather, snow and slush, well over 200 ringers and friends sat down. Among those present were the president (Canon C. C. Marshall) and Mrs. Marshall, the Bishop of Ripon, Mr. S. F. Palmer (hon. treasurer), Mr. W. Barton (peal secretary), Mr. G. Lewis (vice-president, Southern Division), Mr. F. Cryer (vice-president, Eastern Division), Mr. P. J. Johnson (vice-president, Western Division), Mr. G. Barracough, of Leeds, who was present at the foundation meeting of the association in 1875, and a welcome visitor in Mr. H. C. Bond, formerly of Cirencester and now of Hull.

As the Bishop had to leave soon after tea, it had been arranged that the presentation to the president in appreciation of his 25 years of untiring work for the association should be made immediately after tea instead of at the business meeting.

PRESIDENT'S SERVICES TO THE ASSOCIATION.

Mr. P. J. Johnson said it was his privilege to voice the appreciation and gratitude of the members that day for the 25 years' devoted service which Canon Marshall had given to the association. It was his privilege to have known some of the earliest officers of the association, and at the last presentation of that kind, in 1912, they had present some of the officers who had been original officers of the association. He was pleased to say that day they had at least one member present who was present at the foundation meeting of the association in 1875, Mr. G. Barracough (applause). They of the Yorkshire Association took pride in the fact that with the exception of the Devon Guild theirs was the senior county association in England. Their first president, J. W. Snowden, in his short 11 years as president, was remembered for the principles of change ringing laid down in his books, which to-day were still recognised as the standard text books in the Exorcise. To follow men like him and his brother, William Snowden, was no easy task.

He had known Canon Marshall to be invited to all parts of the county to advise on bell restoration, and it was anything but a profitable speculation when he became president. Much of the work he did was unseen, and the good feeling between the association and the district societies was mainly due to the president (applause). Special commendation was due to him for his efforts to come to an understanding with the Cleveland and North Yorkshire Association.

They would like him to know, proceeded Mr. Johnson, that the interest in this presentation was very widespread, not for the intrinsic value of the presents, but as an expression of goodwill and thanks for all Canon Marshall had done during his presidency.

The only person who knew how long a ringer was away from home was the ringer's wife (laughter). They had bought a small present for Mrs. Marshall for lending out the Canon on so many occasions in the past and in anticipation of further favours to come (laughter and applause).

CANON MARSHALL THANKS THE MEMBERS.

Turning to the Lord Bishop of Ripon, Mr. Johnson said, 'May I ask you, my lord, to present these to Canon Marshall from the members, and we do hope whenever he sees them they will remind him of his many happy associations with us and our appreciation of his many kindnesses to us.'

The Bishop then handed a clock and a pair of binoculars to Canon Marshall and a leather bag to Mrs. Marshall, at the same time expressing his own appreciation of what Canon Marshall had done.

Amidst applause Canon Marshall accepted the gifts, and expressed his grateful thanks for them, saying they would always remind him of the many happy times he had spent with the bellringers of Yorkshire. When he accepted office he did so in fear, but he had received such uniform kindness from the officers and members that he was proud of the extraordinary goodwill which existed among them. He would ever be grateful to those ringers at Birstall who first persuaded him to take up ringing.

Three things stood out with regard to his ringing career. First, he was brought into contact with a wonderful number of people whom he was proud to call his friends; second, his office as president of the association which had taken him all over the county; thirdly, it had enabled him to do a piece of church work which someone had to do and which it seemed he was called upon to do. There were many personal memories of which he would like to speak, but he would conclude by saying, 'Thank you very, very much.' He was proud of that day and of all that it meant (applause).

THE BUSINESS MEETING.

At the business meeting which followed, a vote of thanks to the respective incumbents and churchwardens for the use of the bells that day was carried, as was also the hearty thanks of the company to Canon and Mrs. Marshall for the generous tea provided that day, and to the ladies who had so kindly helped at the tea tables.

In presenting the annual report, Canon Marshall alluded to the debt of gratitude they owed to Mr. W. Barton, the peal secretary, for the vast amount of work he did in compiling his report. A pleasing feature of the report was the number of peals rung by entirely local bands and also the peals rung in towers and districts which had been 'dead' to the association for many years. There had been a net gain of 31 members during the year.

The report was accepted, as was also the auditors' report, and the auditors (Mrs. Cotterill and Mr. P. G. Sherwood) thanked for the work they had so kindly and thoroughly done.

Mr. S. F. Palmer was re-elected hon. treasurer for a further term of three years.

Eleven new ringing members and one honorary life member were elected.

After discussion, it was decided to hold the next meeting on May 1st jointly with the Sheffield and District Society.

It was agreed that a copy of the proposed alterations of rules should be sent to each tower, and any unattached member who required a copy could have one by applying to the general secretary.

Mr. Sherwood suggested that an attempt should be made to visit towers where at present the association had no members.

Apologies for absence had been received from Messrs. T. Latimer and J. Ewhank.

A vote of thanks to the chairman brought to a close a memorable and happy gathering.

HERTFORD COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

ANNUAL MEETING OF THE WESTERN DISTRICT.

A meeting of the Western District of the Hertford County Association recently held at Apsley, although the annual one for the district, was very poorly attended.

Mr. A. V. Good was appointed chairman, in the absence of the Vicar. The secretary (Mr. W. Ayre), being willing to carry on, was re-elected. The Ringing Master and District Committee were also re-elected. Messrs. H. L. Waite and W. C. Hughes were elected to serve on the General Committee.

The next meetings were arranged as follows: February 20th, Hemel Hempstead; March 20th, Redbourn.

The secretary was asked to write a letter of congratulation to Mr. F. Norris, of Berkhamstead, on ringing the old year out and new year in for the 62nd time.

Votes of thanks were accorded to the Vicar for the use of the bells, etc., to Mr. F. Tompkins for the tea arrangements, and to the two Wendover visitors.

The secretary reported a very successful year of ringing, though mainly done by the Apsley band. Tower-bell peals: 12 methods of Minor (Plain, Treble Bob and Surprise); seven Surprise Minor (both half-muffled for H.M. King George V.); Little Oxford Major (first peal in the method); Bob Minor: 14 methods spliced (first in county and by the band); nine Surprise Minor; Double Norwich; three Minor methods; seven Surprise Minor; Oxford Treble Bob Major. On handbells: Bob Minor (in a charabanc), three, five and seven methods of Minor, and Double Bob Major. The Apsley band had also rung touches or 720's in 44 methods, 30 of which were Surprise, for Sunday services and practices.

A vote of thanks to the chairman concluded the meeting, after which further ringing took place in a variety of methods.

MIDDLESEX COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

FINANCIAL ARRANGEMENTS TO BE RECONSIDERED.

The North and East District members of the Middlesex County Association and London Diocesan Guild held their annual meeting on Saturday week at St. Augustine's Church, Kilburn, and the first touch of winter did not encourage the 'fine weather' ringers to turn out. Consequently the attendance was below the average. However, nearly 50 braved the elements and enjoyed some good ringing on the light peal of eight bells.

The usual meeting of the District Committee was held in the afternoon, and was followed by a short service, at which the Rev. B. F. Shepherd preached on the text 'Whatsoever thy hand findeth to do; do it with all thy might,' which he applied to our religion, our daily work, and our ringing. The lessons which the preacher drew from his text might, so far as ringers are concerned, be thought of seriously by many who take their ringing in a lackadaisical way.

After tea, the business meeting was held, with Mr. G. W. Fletcher (vice-president) in the chair. He was supported by several officers of the association, including the Master (Mr. A. W. Coles), his fellow-vice-president (Mr. J. A. Trollope), Mr. T. J. Lock (District Master), Mr. C. P. Coles (hon. secretary), Mr. W. H. Oram (hon. treasurer) and Mr. G. R. Goodship (assistant secretary).

The hon. treasurer submitted a satisfactory balance sheet, showing excess of receipts over expenditure amounting to £5 12s. 10d., and assets to the value of £108 16s. 1d.—This was adopted.

Two honorary and fourteen ringing members were elected, the latter including the members of a newly-formed band at St. Ann's, Stamford Hill, who were receiving tuition. Two elections made prior to ringing a peal were confirmed, making a total of eighteen.

To show respect for members deceased since the last meeting of the district, all present stood in silence for a few moments.

The whole of the district officers were re-elected, as well as the three representatives to serve on the Central Committee, the auditor and the trustees of stock.

The Chairman moved a resolution requesting the Central Committee to examine the existing rules of the association, particularly those governing finance, with a view to revision, the committee to report at the annual general meeting. In doing so, he asked members to consider whether the finances of the association could not be used to better advantage. At present one district of the association and the Central Fund were hard pressed, whilst another district was fairly well off.

This point of view was supported by the hon. secretary and Mr. G. R. Goodship, and the proposal was carried.

APPEALS FOR VOLUNTEER HELPERS.

In connection with Coronation ringing, the hon. secretary said he thought it difficult to arrange much special ringing, as local bands would no doubt be anxious to ring at their own towers. He urged that the members of each band should do their utmost to get their bells rung on that occasion; at the same time it was possible that many unattached ringers would be glad to know where they might ring. To these he appealed, asking them to let him know, and he would do his best to see that they helped to make up a band for that great occasion.

Mr. Coles also asked ringers who were free on Sundays to assist the band at St. Giles-in-the-Fields for morning ringing at 10.20, and to help at their practices on Mondays at 7.30.

Mr. W. E. Troke supported this.

Mr. E. M. Atkins asked for similar help at St. Augustine's, Kilburn, on Sundays at 10.15 a.m., and on Thursdays at 8 p.m.

It was decided to hold the next annual meeting of the district at St. Giles-in-the-Fields. The arrangements for the next meeting were left in the hands of the hon. secretary, with a preference for St. Ann's, Stamford Hill. Should the meeting be held at that tower, the special method for the occasion to be Double Stedman Slow Course.

The Chairman proposed votes of thanks to Father Atkinson (Vicar) for the use of the bells; to Father Moncrieff for assistance at the organ; to the Rev. B. F. Shepherd for preaching; and to Mr. E. M. Atkins for arranging the meeting. Mrs. Atkins and friends were also cordially thanked for arranging an excellent tea. The votes were carried in the usual way, and were replied to in turn by Father Moncrieff, on behalf of the Vicar; by the Rev. B. F. Shepherd, who, as a ringer, expressed his great pleasure at being present; and by Mr. E. M. Atkins, on behalf of the Kilburn ringers.

The hon. secretary appealed to tower secretaries to send him, as early as possible, particulars of ringing times, and of quarter-peals rung during 1936 for the annual report.

During the meeting Mr. Fletcher asked that members should volunteer for instruction work, and appealed to any willing to do this to send in their names to the hon. secretary.

After the meeting several members took part in some handbell ringing, whilst the bells at Kilburn and Willesden were used for some excellent practice, the special method for the day, St. Clement's Bob Triples, being in great demand.

SURREY ASSOCIATION.

GENERAL SECRETARY AND ASSISTANT SECRETARY TO CHANGE PLACES.

The North-Western District of the Surrey Association had a successful day on Saturday, January 30th, when they held their annual meeting at Streatham. The attendance totalled 65 members, representing most of the towers in the district, with visitors from the Southern District and from Hillingdon, Middlesox and Uckfield, Sussex. This attendance rather overtaxed the available accommodation, both in the belfry of St. Leonard's Church (a chamber about 10ft. square) and at the Manor Arms, where tea was served, and where the members, having once sat down, had to 'stay put' until the meal was over, it being impossible to move or pass between the tables. However, these were regarded as just temporary inconveniences which ringers know best how to get over, and were made the subject for much joking and 'leg-pulling.'

The association was welcomed to St. Leonard's by the Rev. P. R. Wansey, M.A., himself a ringer, who, in the absence of the Vicar, conducted the service. In the course of a short address he said that bellringing was not only a great art, but also a great religious service in itself. As ringers they could never know the extent of that service, for he liked to believe that, in addition to calling faithful Christians to worship Sunday by Sunday, the ringing of the bells served to revive in the breasts of those who now seldom attend a place of worship the remembrance of former Christian teaching, and, perhaps, in some mysterious way, rekindle a desire to return to the old church. Religion was a harmonising thing. Bells, when they were properly rung, were also harmonious, for all the bells worked together in an ordered purpose, and what we wanted more than anything else to-day was religion and harmony amongst men. He wished the association 'good luck' in its work.

NOMINATION OF OFFICERS.

The business meeting was held immediately after tea at the Manor Arms, presided over by Mr. D. Cooper, the District Ringing Master. Eight new members were elected.

The treasurer's balance sheet, showing a small balance of £10 10s. in hand for district expenses, was approved.

The committee's annual report was read and adopted, and the following places of meeting were chosen for the ensuing year: Easter Monday, March 29th, Croydon Parish Church; Saturday, June 5th, Epsom (Christ Church); July 24th, Ramore (joint meeting with Leatherhead District of Guildford Diocesan Guild); September 25th, Lambeth and St. John's, Waterloo Road; November 27th, Mitcham Parish Church; January 29th, 1938, Kingston-on-Thames (annual).

The following were elected as district officers: Master, Mr. D. Cooper; treasurer, Mr. H. W. Simmons; hon. secretary, Mr. F. G. Woodiss; auditor, Mr. R. A. Simmons; three representatives on District Committee, Mrs. C. H. Kippin, Mr. H. V. Young and Mr. W. H. Hewett.

The question of nominating general officers was next on the agenda, and in this connection a letter was read from the Master, Mr. D. Kenneth C. Birt, to the hon. secretary (Mr. C. H. Kippin) informing the meeting that he was much better in health and that he would be pleased to carry on as Master of the association for another year. This was received with general satisfaction, and the meeting was told that Mr. Birt had been nominated for re-election at the Southern District meeting on the previous Saturday at Reigate.

The names of Mr. A. T. Shelton and Mr. D. Cooper were also submitted for election to the position of Master of the association.

Mr. Shelton was also nominated for election as general treasurer.

Mr. C. H. Kippin informed the meeting that he did not wish to seek re-election as general secretary. After 10 years in that position he was of the opinion that, in the interest of the association, a change should be made, and he forthwith nominated Mr. E. G. Talbot, the present assistant secretary, for the post. This was seconded and carried.

Mr. Kippin said that he was willing to act as assistant secretary for one year. His nomination for that position was immediately made.—Mr. G. W. Steere was nominated for re-election as auditor.

The meeting closed with the usual votes of thanks, a special reference being made to Mr. J. W. Chapman, of St. Leonards, who had carried through all the arrangements for the comfort of the visitors.

After more ringing at Immanuel Church, Streatham Common, the remaining company adjourned to The Pied Bull, where handbell ringing and community singing was enjoyed until 10.30 p.m.

LADIES' GUILD.

MID-WEEK MEETING AT LEYTONSTONE.

A most enjoyable mid-week meeting of the Ladies' Guild was held on Wednesday, February 3rd, at St. John's Church, Leytonstone. About 20 members and friends attended, and methods ranging from Grandfire Triples to London Surprise were rung. The Vicar (Canon Brown), who had kindly made all arrangements for the tea, welcomed the members and conducted them to a local tea shop, where their wants were amply satisfied.

After the evening ringing a service was held at which Canon Brown gave a short address. This was much enjoyed by those present, and was a fitting conclusion to a very happy time.

A hearty vote of thanks was accorded to the Vicar for his interest and help and to the local ringers who met the visitors.

RETIREMENT OF MR. W. T. PATES.RELINQUISHES LEADERSHIP OF CHELTENHAM BAND AFTER 36 YEARS.

Mr. William T. Pates, the Cheltenham veteran, has retired from the leadership of the Parish Church bellringers, of whom he has been captain since 1891.

He will be 84 years of age on the 28th of this month, and has been a ringer for over 60 years. Throughout his long career Mr. Pates has been one of the great enthusiasts for ringing, and among his big performances have been the 13,054 of Stedman Caters at Cheltenham in 1888, and the 15,227 Grandsire Caters in the same tower in 9 hours 43 minutes on April 22nd, 1889, which he conducted. At that time it was the longest peal of Caters ever rung. There was a friendly rivalry between Appleton and Cheltenham, and in the previous December the Oxford men, with J. W. Washbrook as conductor, had rung 15,041 Stedman Caters.

Mr. Pates was one of the band who set up the 'old age' record at St. Olave's, Hart Street, London, in October, 1933, when a company, all College Youths, rang a peal of Stedman Triples at the average age of over 76 years.

Mr. W. Dyer, of 69, Gloucester Road, Cheltenham, has been appointed to succeed Mr. Pates as captain of the Cheltenham company.

WORCESTERSHIRE ASSOCIATION.RINGING MASTER'S FIFTIETH ANNUAL SUBSCRIPTION.

The Northern Branch of the Worcestershire and Districts Association held their January meeting at St. James' Church, Wollaston, near Stourbridge. There were about 45 members present, including visitors from the Western Branch of the association. A short service was held with an address by the Vicar (the Rev. J. R. Bamber), whose remarks made clear the fact that he had more than a passing knowledge of ringers and ringing. Tea was partaken of in the schools nearby, after which the usual business meeting was held under the chairmanship of the Vicar.

It was decided to hold the next branch meeting at Netherton, or at Kinver should Netherton not be available.

Mr. William Short, Association Ringing Master, proposed that the quarterly peal be attempted at Wollaston and that the arrangements be in the hands of Mr. J. Bass.

Ten new members were elected, there being nine performing and one life member.

The tea was provided by the Church Council, and a vote of thanks was passed to them for their hospitality and to the Vicar for permitting the meeting to be held at Wollaston.

Before the meeting closed, Mr. William Short paid to the secretary his 50th subscription to the association. He also exhibited the receipt which he received for his first subscription.

Upon the proposition of the chairman, the congratulations of the meeting were given to Mr. Short, to which he suitably replied.

A number of the ringers then went to the tower for further ringing in a variety of Doubles and Minor methods, while several others remained behind for handbell ringing.

NORWICH DIOCESAN ASSOCIATIONNORTH NORFOLK BRANCH ANNUAL MEETING.

The North Norfolk Branch met for the annual election of its officers at Wymondham on Saturday. Members were present from Buxton, Halvergate, Hethersett, North Walsham, Norwich, Reedham, Saxlingham and Great Yarmouth, and included Mr. A. L. Coleman, general secretary and treasurer; Mr. W. L. Duffield, chairman of the South Norfolk Branch, and Mr. J. G. W. Harwood, hon. secretary of the East Norfolk Branch.

The Rev. F. Jarvis, Vicar of Wymondham, conducted a shortened form of evensong, and gave a most inspiring address on the service of ringing and the needs of man.

At the business meeting, the Rev. H. W. Benson, Vicar of Buxton, was unanimously re-elected chairman of the branch and thanked for his past services. Mr. N. Golden, branch secretary, and Messrs. H. F. Carter, G. Bailey, W. J. Clover, W. C. Duffield and G. Mayers, members of the committee, were all re-elected, while Messrs. Bailey and Duffield were asked to serve again on the Central Committee of the association.

Mr. W. C. Duffield moved a vote of thanks to the Vicar for allowing the members the use of the bells. Mr. N. Golden, in seconding the motion, expressed the gratitude of the ringers of the diocese to the Rev. Jarvis for the welcome he had always given them and for so kindly arranging a service, which he (the speaker) felt sure everybody had enjoyed.

In reply, the Vicar said he appreciated the words spoken, but he had considered it a duty to give permission for the use of the bells, and remarked that the members rang bells better than they sang hymns.

During the afternoon and evening a number of 'touches' in a variety of methods were brought round, and several members took part in their first 'touches' of Erin Triples and Duffield Major.

It is hoped that the South Norfolk Branch will attend the meeting on April 24th at Redenhall, the Rector, the Rev. B. M. Pickering, having kindly consented to conduct a service at 4 p.m. The methods selected for practice are Bristol Surprise and Cambridge Court.

LONDON COUNTY ASSOCIATION.NEW RECORDS IN NORTHERN DIVISION.

The annual meeting of the Northern District of the London County Association and North Southwark Diocesan Guild was held in the City of London and proved very successful, with some very good ringing achieved during the day.

The ringing took place during the afternoon at the twelve-bell tower of St. Giles', Cripplegate. Rounds on ten, Grandsire and Stedman Caters, Stedman Cinques and Kent Treble Bob Maximus were rung. Several members rang their first touches on twelve bells.

At the business meeting the district officials were able to report on the most successful year's work in the history of the district. Five Saturday meetings were held, with an average attendance of 32, a record for the district, the previous best being an average of 27 in 1933.

The Stepney meeting created a record for the district, some 50 members as well as several visitors being present. Five mid-week practices were held, with an average attendance of 26.

For the fourth year in succession the cash statement showed a record balance.

The secretary, in presenting the report, said he thought it could be said that the district was now in a strong position, and that the improvement which started four years ago, after a long period of semi-stagnation, had steadily increased. It was hoped that this improvement would continue.

In his report, the Master said the striking at the meetings, although far from the desired perfection, had greatly improved. A district outing, arranged as an experiment, was held in September. Several Essex towers were visited, and the venture proved a great success. Friendly relations with neighbouring associations had been maintained and it was hoped to arrange some joint meetings in the near future. Regular monthly ringing for Sunday evening services had taken place at Cripplegate and St. Mary-le-Bow on the second and fourth Sundays respectively.

The Master thanked all those who had assisted to make the year's work so successful.

The election of the district officials resulted as follows: Master, Mr. J. A. Waugh; hon. secretary, Mr. J. G. A. Prior; treasurer, Mr. R. G. Cousins; steward, Mr. E. Holman; committee, Messrs. C. A. Hughes and G. W. Cecil.

An invitation from the secretary of the Holloway hand to hold the April meeting at that tower was accepted.

The meeting closed with a vote of thanks to the incumbents and steeplekeepers at Cripplegate and Holborn for permission to ring and for the arrangements made.

The members then went to St. Andrew's, Holborn, where they were met by the popular and genial steeplekeeper, Mr. J. S. Hawkins. Various methods from Grandsire Triples to London Surprise Major were rung on the fine-toned ring until 8 p.m., when the meeting concluded.

During the day favourable comments were made about the broadcast from St. Dunstan's, Stepney, on a recent Sunday, by members of the association, including eight of the district members, six of whom were members of the young local band.

DURHAM AND NEWCASTLE DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION.COMBINED PRACTICES AND DISTRICT PEALS.

In order to encourage combined practices in the Northern District of the Durham and Newcastle Diocesan Association the vice-president and secretary are to draw up a list of towers and submit a scheme to the members.

District peals are also to be attempted, the first of these being Grandsire Triples at Gateshead on February 13th.

These steps were decided upon at a district meeting, attended by nearly 30 members, at Benfield, when among the methods practised were Double Oxford Bob and Cambridge Surprise Minor.

The next meeting of the district is to be held at All Saints', Newcastle, when Erin Triples is to be the method for special practice.

LOSS TO THE DISLEY BELFRY.

The death took place suddenly on Wednesday, January 27th, of Mr. A. T. Marsland, secretary of the Disley (Cheshire) ringers. He had been a ringer at the above tower for over 30 years, and was also a member of the Chester Diocesan Guild.

The late Mr. A. T. Marsland was possessed of a quiet, unassuming manner, but had a ready smile for all comers. He will be greatly missed by his fellow-ringers.

The funeral took place on Saturday, January 30th, at St. Mary's Church, Disley. The bells were rung fully muffled while the cortege was proceeding from deceased's home to the church. Afterwards his fellow-ringers rang a peal of Treble Bob Minor with the bells fully muffled.

WEST WICKHAM, KENT.—At the Parish Church of St. John the Baptist, on Wednesday, January 20th, a quarter-peal of Doubles in four methods (1,260 changes), comprising one six-score of Stedman, two of April Day, four of Plain Bob and 3½ of Grandsire, all six-scores being called differently: J. Page-Wood 1, P. S. Davis (first quarter-peal away from the treble) 2, W. Hollamby (first quarter-peal of Doubles) 3, H. Mackinder 4, A. S. Richards (conductor) 5.

DEATH OF MR. JOSEPH HANDS.

AN OLD MEMBER OF CAVERSHAM BAND.

As we briefly recorded last week, St. Peter's Society, Caversham, have suffered a great loss by the death of Mr. Joseph Hands, who passed away on January 28th, at the age of 79 years.

He had been a member of the band for 53 years, and rang in most of the peals in any of the standard methods with the old Caversham society. He rang his last peal three years ago to commemorate his ringing for fifty years with his old friend, George Essex.

Mr. Hands was a most regular attendant, and was ringing up till Christmas week, when he was taken ill and never recovered, despite every care.

A fine striker, circumstances never allowed him to travel far in pursuit of ringing, but he gave of his best to his own tower. He attended the last annual dinner of the College Youths and was full of delight at meeting so many old friends. He was a most lovable man and respected by all with whom he was brought into contact.

He leaves a widow and eight children to mourn their loss.

The funeral took place on Monday week, the first part of the service being held in the Parish Church, the Rector (the Rev. W. A. Wood) officiating. The lesson was read by Mr. Hands' old ringing friend, Canon Coleridge, who also took the committal.

The 'whole pull and stand' was rung 79 times by deceased's friends immediately after the service. Many and beautiful were the floral tributes. 'Joe,' as he was affectionately known, has passed, and will always be remembered by his friends as one of 'nature's gentlemen.'

PEALS OF DOUBLES.

We have been asked the question whether the Central Council recognises as a peal 5040's of-Grandsire Doubles, in which Pitman and Morris' 'arrangements' and Lindoff's 'spliced' extents are rung? The simple answer is 'Yes,' inasmuch as hitherto such peals have been included in the yearly analysis and the analysis has been accepted. But, strictly speaking, the two former are against the spirit of the rule which the Council laid down at Hereford in 1928, and, in the opinion of many ringers, Lindoff's spliced extents are also ruled out by the Council's definition. There has since been a fight (or should it be fights?) over the similarly worded rule regarding Minor, and while in this the Council's ruling is accepted, the definition of a peal of Doubles is honoured in the breach as well as in the observance. If we were asked why it is that ringers choose their own course in regard to Doubles, we would say, frankly, it is because the large majority of the Exercise have little or no interest in peals of Doubles, and therefore do not care what happens. If the rules regarding peals on higher numbers were broken as frequently and claim laid to the performances as peals there would be a great outcry. Because these peals are rung on only five bells no one bothers about what is done.

The Council's rule, laid down at Hereford, provides that 'Peals of Doubles shall consist of at least 42 true and complete 120's rung without interval and without rounds or any other rows being included or rung more than once in any 120. A peal may be lengthened by the addition of any number of 120's fulfilling the same conditions, with or without one touch of less than 120.' That wording is very definite, and conforms to the views of those ringers who think that peals rung on less than seven bells should be made up of true 'extents,' whether on six or five bells. There is a school of thought, however, that takes another view—that as long as no change is rung more than 42 times in a 5040 of Doubles, no matter in what order the changes occur, so long as they conform to a recognised method, that performance should rank as a peal. But without going here into the argument as to what should constitute a peal of Doubles, we feel that the ruling of the Council should be accepted and acted upon, as much by ringers of Doubles as by those who ring peals of Minor. If the rules are wrong they should be altered, but they cannot with justice be altered to suit one section of the Exercise alone. Whatever latitude is given in Doubles must be given in Minor. The plea that one is more limited in its scope than the other really carries little weight now that the possibilities

DURHAM AND NEWCASTLE DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION.

The pre-Lent meeting of the Durham and Newcastle Diocesan Association was held at Chester-le-Street on Saturday, February 6th. The bells of the ancient Collegiate Church of SS. Mary and Cuthbert were kept going during the afternoon and evening to Grandsire and Stedman Triples, Plain Bob, Oxford and Kent Treble Bob, Double Norwich and Cambridge Surprise Major and on the whole the ringing was good.

A short service was conducted by the Rector (the Rev. H. J. Wilkinson), who gave an interesting address—not about bells and ringers. He was assisted by the Rev. J. P. Pellie, a ringer, who was recently ordained.

At tea, provided by the local ladies, the Rector welcomed the association to Chester-le-Street, in a humorous reply to the vote of thanks, proposed by Mr. John Anderson, of Newcastle.

A vote of thanks to the lady helpers at tea, proposed by Mr. W. N. Park, of Darlington, concluded the proceedings, and an adjournment was made to the tower for more ringing.

ASTON, BIRMINGHAM.—At the Parish Church on December 20th for evening service, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Caters (1,259 changes): A. Edgerton, jun. (aged 13) 1, A. Short 2, F. Price 3, W. Whiston 4, G. Williams 5, W. Pettigrew 6, W. Best 7, E. Evans 8, W. Davies (conductor) 9, A. Edgerton 10. First quarter-peal by ringers of 1 and 4. First quarter-peal of Grandsire Caters by ringer of 2nd. First quarter-peal on ten bells by ringers of 6, 7 and 8. All are Sunday service ringers at this church.

FOR BEGINNERS.

BOBS IN KENT TREBLE BOB.

Having had explained to him how Kent Treble Bob is rung, the next thing the beginner will want to know is, how to make a bob.

In Minor, when a bob is called, only three bells are affected. The bell that comes out of the 'slow,' and makes places in 3rd's and 4th's, and the bell that makes 4th's and 3rd's and goes into the 'slow' (that is, the bell that dodged in 5-6 up with the treble) are not concerned in the bob making. They pursue their work as if no call had been made.

The bell that passes the treble in 2-3 and then makes 3rd's and 4th's, when a bob is called makes an additional 4th's and 3rd's and goes down to lead. Actually he lies two consecutive whole pulls in 4th's place, each made at backstroke and handstroke. (For those who know how to ring Grandsire Doubles it is like the 'long 3rd's' made at a single in that method.) The bell that 'makes the bob' at one lead in Kent Treble Bob will go into the 'slow' at the following treble lead.

The bells 'behind,' that is the pair that are dodging together in 5-6, have an additional double dodge; that is, having stepped back in their path once, they have to step back twice more before they finally continue their course.

If the bob is called at the right moment they will find they have already begun dodging together, and they must be careful that they complete three dodges in all before the bell going down passes on to dodge in 4-3 with the treble and the bell dodging up lies its whole pull behind.

You can make a check on the number of dodges. Each bell in the course of its operations strikes four times in 5th's. Suppose the other bells were known by letters instead of numbers, the bells behind strike over them like this: a, b, b, c, so that as soon as they have struck over the third bell (there having been two blows, with a backward step between over the second of the bells) they know that the dodge is completed. The bell dodging up has then to lie its whole pull behind, and the one dodging down to pass on immediately to the 4-3 dodge.

It is sufficient, of course, to count the dodges, if they are counted correctly, but everyone is liable to make a slip, and these additional aids to memory always come in useful—as the young ringer will find if he goes on to more complicated methods.

In case there are any bands of ringers who are trying Treble Bob without outside help, perhaps a word or two about the bob calling may be useful. The actual call should be made in the change when the treble has its 'snapping' blow at lead—that is its blow at lead in its dodge in 2-1 down. Some conductors leave it just a fraction later—to the beginning of the following change—but it makes very little difference.

The effect of a bob is that the bells above 4th's place are thrown back a lead in the course and after their dodging do exactly the same work as in the previous lead—they meet the treble in the same places. The bobs are thus said to cause 'repeating leads,' and the effect is that only the three front bells—whichever are in 2nd's, 3rd's and 4th's at the lead end—are really affected in coursing order, and bobs at three consecutive leads bring the bells back to where they were before the first bob was called.

Beginners can, therefore, if they wish, begin their bob practice with a short touch of 72 changes produced by bobs at each of the three leads.

When they go on to ring extents of the method, they will probably want at first to use one of the 'standard' callings. The best known of these is that which corresponds to the 'Wrong,' 'Right' and 'Wrong' in Bob Minor. But as in Treble Bob, the bob is made on the three back bells instead of the three front ones, the calling is 'In,' 'Out' and 'In.' The 'In' is when the observation bell is going into the 'slow' and the bob is thus called when it strikes its second blow in 4th's on the way down (after dodging in 5-6 with the treble).

'Out' comes at the following lead, and, as is fairly obvious, is when the observation bell is coming out of the 'slow.' The call is made when it begins its dodge with the treble after completing the slow work.

A touch of two courses, or 240 changes, can be rung by calling any bell 'In' and 'Out' in each course, except that if the 'observation' is the 2nd bell, it must be 'Out' and 'In,' because the 2nd is already in the slow at the beginning.

The full 720 is obtained by calling the first course 'In' and 'Out' and the second course 'In,' and then repeating this calling twice.

Beginners should examine closely the work at a plain lead and a bob lead shown in the accompanying figures. They each relate to the first 'lead end':—

Plain Lead	Bob Lead
231546	231546
213456	213456
123465	Call 'Bob' Here 123465
214356	214356
124365	124365
142635	142356
412653	412365
146235	143256
416253	413265

ESSEX ASSOCIATION.NORTHERN DIVISION AT SIBLE HEDINGHAM.

Eighteen towers were represented at the meeting of the Northern Division of the Essex Association, held at Sible Hedingham on Saturday week. The 37 members present attended from Halstead, Greenstead Green, Earls Colne, Dunmow, Great Bardfield, Great Yeldham, Sawbridgeworth, Long Melford, Sudbury, Fulbourne, Sible Hedingham, Great Tey, Little Waldingfield, Braintree, Exning, Bocking, Castle Hedingham and Great Cornard.

Service in the Parish Church was conducted by the Rector (the Rev. F. H. Moore), who gave a warm welcome to the ringers and thanked them for their services, which meant so much to the church.

After the service, tea was partaken of at the White Lion, the Rector presiding. At the business meeting which followed he was elected an honorary member of the association. One ringing member was also elected. It was decided that the next meeting should be at Peering on April 17th.

The District Master (Mr. A. Saunders) moved a hearty vote of thanks to the Rector for the use of the bells, for his inspiring address and for presiding at the tea. He said they were very pleased he had been elected an honorary member. Mr. Saunders also thanked the organist, the organ blower and the visitors for their attendance.

The Rector, in reply, said he was glad of the opportunity to attend the meeting. He could only repeat what he had said in church in extending a cordial welcome to all. He was pleased to see so many ringers in the delightful parish of Sible Hedingham and hoped they would pay another visit. He would take an early opportunity to visit the ringers in the tower. They had nice bells at Sible Hedingham and good ringers, and he hoped shortly to hear them twice on a Sunday. That would be a true answer to the Bishop's appeal. Before he left Leeds the bells of his church were augmented to eight and rehung. They had several obstacles to overcome, but there was now a steady company who were building up ringing.

Handbell ringing was afterwards resorted to and others returned to the tower where ringing went on until about 9 p.m.

LONDON RINGING SOCIETIES.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—I have had no experience of London ringing circles, but can visualise the conditions outlined by 'Suburban Ringer.' Where similar organisations operate in the same area there is bound to be some disagreement.

Great as the traditions of the London societies are, let them make new history now by merging into one United Association.

I am sure by taking this step more real progress in London ringing would result than by all 'friendly co-operation.'

WELFORD RINGER'S RETIREMENT.FAREWELL GATHERING.

On Monday evening, February 8th, the ringers of St. Mary the Virgin, Welford, gathered for a dinner and social evening at the Village Hall. Eleven members attended, together with the Vicar (the Rev. F. C. Woodhouse), and partook of an excellent meal, which was prepared and served by Mrs. E. and Miss A. Buswell, wife and sister, respectively, of one of the ringers.

The occasion marked the retirement of Mr. E. Bott as captain of the band, the completion by him of 44 years as an active member of the company, and also his 73rd birthday, which occurred on February 7th.

The Vicar paid tribute to the work Mr. Bott had done during his time as a ringer, and said that although he was retiring from the captaincy and from regular service, this need not necessarily mean that he was giving up ringing altogether. He hoped that he would still turn up and have a ring at any time he felt disposed.

The Vicar then went on to say how pleased he was to be present at the dinner, as he thought it was only by co-operation that anything could be accomplished. He looked for the united support of the ringers in the future and hoped that this occasion was the forerunner of many such gatherings. He also thanked the ladies for the splendid way they had catered for the party.

Mr. G. A. Hollick was unanimously elected captain to succeed Mr. Bott, and Mr. T. Miller was elected vice-captain to succeed Mr. Hollick.

With various games, in which the Vicar joined with real enthusiasm, an enjoyable evening was brought to a close.

WEDDING BELLS.

At the Parish Church of St. Mary, Barnes, Surrey, on Saturday, February 6th, the wedding took place of Mr. John Strickland, elder son of Mr. G. J. Strickland, of St. Mary Abbot's Guild and the London County Association, with Miss Elfrida Newall, of Barnes. Touches of Stedman Triples were rung, and the bells were 'fired' as the newly-married pair left the church by the following Sunday service ringers: W. H. Wood 1, E. R. Mackerell 2, H. G. Miles 3, W. E. Judd 4, F. Skevington 5, A. Harding 6, C. Hunt 7, C. Warner 8.

At St. Mary's Church, Beenham, on Monday, February 8th, 1,224 of Oxford Treble Bob Minor as a compliment to Miss Pamela Strange, whose wedding took place in London on that day: W. Greatham 1, A. Churchill 2, Rev. R. Howes 3, E. Richardson 4, E. Wallace 5, G. Fowler (conductor) 6.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

Congratulations and good wishes to Mr. Joseph Wood, of Friezland Greenfield, near Oldham, who to-day reaches the age of 80 years. He hopes to celebrate his birthday on Sunday by taking part in a 720 for morning service. It will be exactly 64 years that morning since, at Saddleworth Church, he rang his first 720 for service.

It is not often that a ringer of any age rings a peal of Stedman Cinques as his first peal, but this Albert Tyler did on Saturday, four days before his 14th birthday. He acquitted himself with the greatest credit. The peal was rung at Tewkesbury Abbey.

Albert Tyler is a son of the late Mr. Jesse Tyler, for many years a bellhanger employed at the Whitechapel Foundry. He was the spokesman for 'Our Young Ringers' when they were 'toasted' at the Bristol United Guilds' recent dinner.

Mr. Arthur Knights' early compositions are being at long last 'dragged' into the daylight. A fortnight ago we chronicled the fact that his 'No. 2,' composed in 1883, had been rung for the first time. Last Saturday his 'No. 3,' composed in August of the same year, was heard on the bells for the first time. It was rung at Penwortham, Lancs. Of course, when these peals were worked out, Arthur Knights was a practically unknown composer, but it seems strange the peals should have waited more than 50 years to be rung.

A half-muffled peal was rung at Longton, Staffs, on Saturday, as a last token of respect to the late Mrs. Beatrice Steele, wife of the leader of the local band, and to the late Mr. R. G. Lewis, leader of the Uttoxeter company, who passed away suddenly. The deepest sympathy is felt with Mr. Steele and with Mrs. Lewis and family in the bereavement they have sustained.

On a visit to Cheshire and Lancashire last week, three peals were rung by Messrs. J. W. Jones (Newport) and A. W. Heath (Cardiff). The latter was elected a member of the Lancashire Association and Chester Diocesan Guild before starting for peals on Tuesday and Friday respectively.

Here is progress! A year ago six ringers rang their first peal. It was a peal of Bob Minor at Barnby-in-the-Willows, Notts. Last week the same six ringers celebrated the first anniversary of that performance by ringing their first peal of Cambridge Surprise Minor. Congratulations to the Vessey family and their colleagues.

A peal of Doubles was rung at St. James' Church, Blunham, Beds, last week, the first peal on the bells. They are a fine-toned ring of five, but, although rehung 11 years ago, still go very badly, and the tenorman is to be congratulated on having stuck his task to the finish.

At the annual Parochial Church Council meeting held at Linslade, Bucks, Mr. F. Vickers (the foreman ringer) was elected to the post of vergier and sexton in the place of his late father, who held the post for over 50 years.

P.O. Ronald Hagley was congratulated by the Woking magistrates on Saturday for his astuteness in apprehending a man who had stolen some chicken. He is the third generation of a family of ringers, his father being P.S. Hagley, of Chiddingfold, Surrey.

We much regret to announce the death of Mr. John William Malyan, of St. Albans. Mr. Malyan, who was 52 years of age, had been in failing health for some time. At the funeral on February 2nd handbells were rung over the grave.

CHESTER CATHEDRAL BELLS.

NEW TREBLES TO BE DEDICATED IN SOUTH TRANSEPT.

The two new trebles which are being installed in the Cathedral tower as part of the jubilee celebrations of the Chester Diocesan Guild are expected to leave the Whitechapel Foundry early next week so as to arrive in time for the dedication ceremony on Saturday, February 27th.

The Dean and Chapter expressed a wish that the bells should be dedicated before being hoisted to the tower, and not, as is usual, on the completion of the work. While the ceremony will lack the customary rounds as the procession moves from tower to chancel—admittedly one of the most impressive parts of the service—it is felt that to have the bells actually in sight of the congregation during the dedication will more than compensate for this.

The Lord Bishop of the Diocese will dedicate the bells, as they lie in the south transept, during evensong at 4.15, and a large congregation of ringers and citizens is anticipated. It is not probable that the Cathedral eight will be available for ringing on that day, but arrangements have been made for other towers in the city to be open if desired.

The addition of these two trebles gives Chester its first ring of ten. The new bells, however, will not be used until the Guild's jubilee festival on July 17th, when the augmented ring will be officially opened.

MEMORIAL DEDICATED AT LOUGHBOROUGH.

CEREMONY ATTENDED BY NEARLY 300 RINGERS.

Mr. Denison Taylor's Gift.

The quarterly meeting of the Midland Counties Association, held at Loughborough on Saturday, February 6th, will be long remembered, for it provided a record attendance for any quarterly meeting ever held since the association's foundation. After a spell of very inclement weather, the occasion was favoured with a glorious day, and this—added to the generosity of the president, Mr. E. Denison Taylor (the dedication and unveiling of a memorial to past Loughborough ringers—and the further attraction of the famous bellfoundry being open to visitors, without doubt brought many who otherwise might not have attended. The grand ring of ten bells at the Parish Church, and the light ten at the Bellfoundry Campanile, were kept going to a variety of methods to suit all comers, and good use was made of the opportunity offered.

The committee of the association met in the afternoon, and as a result of their deliberations grants were made from the Bell Repair Fund to Leicester Cathedral, where the old ten bells have been recast and augmented to twelve, with a semitone; and to Netherseale, where the tower is being restored and the bells recast and rehung. It was decided to print the annual report as usual, and this will be in circulation as quickly as possible.

At 4 p.m. an interesting ceremony was performed in the Parish Church during a special service conducted by the Rector, the Rev. Canon W. J. Lyon, assisted by the Rev. C. B. G. Watson (curate) and the Rev. Canon G. W. Briggs, now Canon Residentiary at Worcester, former Rector of Loughborough.

During the service the Loughborough ringers, headed by the youngest (G. Harrison) and oldest (E. Reader), proceeded to the tower, followed by Mr. E. Denison Taylor (president), Mr. William E. White (hon. treasurer), Mr. Ernest Morris, F.R.Hist.S. (secretary), and the clergy. Arrived at the tower, Canon Briggs performed the act of dedication of the memorial tablet bearing the names of 29 former ringers of Loughborough. This was then unveiled by the oldest Loughborough ringer, Mr. Edward Reader.

THE MEMORIAL.

The handsome memorial, which measures 3ft. 5in. by 2ft. 5in., is of bell metal and was cast in the Loughborough Foundry. It was presented to the church by Mr. Denison Taylor. The tablet is surmounted by the old foundry crest, a shield charged with a coronet between three bells. The 'past ringers of this tower' whose names are recorded are:—

J. H. Bradley	William Fewkes
Henry Bramley	W. Horrigan
James Cook	James Hood
George Cook	Leonard Taylor
Joseph Cook	W. A. Tyler
Alfred Fewkes	Joe Ward

Thomas Grundy, jun.	1845-1907
William Henry Pym Taylor	1878-1909
John William Taylor, jun.	1853-1919

In the case of the first twelve the years of birth and death could not be ascertained.

The tablet is fixed on the north wall of the ground chamber of the tower, between the tablets recording the long peal of Stedman Caters (18,027 changes, rung on Easter Monday, 1909) and the peal rung on the signing of Peace in 1919. The gift is one of a series which Mr. Denison Taylor has made during the last few years with a view to beautifying the Ringers' Chapel.

'THE HOME OF CHURCH BELLS.'

Service was conducted by Canon W. J. Lyon (Rector), who in his address said that Loughborough Parish Church was one of the oldest in the Midlands and one of the most beautiful. Loughborough itself, he said, was in a real sense the home of church bells, for bells from Loughborough were ringing in every part of the world.

In the Parish Church they had a notable peal, which he knew was a pleasure to ring and a pleasure to hear. They were especially glad that ringers from far and near had joined with them in the dedication of the tablet to the former ringers.

In the fellowship of ringers there was a real quality, and, indeed, as they knew, change ringing demanded it. Fellowship, he said, meant consideration one for another, and he supposed it was more necessary than the technical ability—it was the ringers' consideration one for another that was an essential factor in bellringing.

There was, said Canon Lyon, one thing he would like to remind them of—that was the Archbishop of Canterbury's recent broadcast appeal for the people of this country to be recalled to God and religion. He would suggest to them that they as bellringers were doing that same thing by broadcasting Sunday by Sunday an appeal to the people to return to God, and so as members of a great fellowship—as fellow-workers of Jesus Christ—they were bearers of a great message which the Archbishop had made—a great message which the times demanded.

Following the service the company, numbering between 280 and 300, adjourned to the Pearson Hall to enjoy a 'fine spread,' kindly provided through the generosity of Mr. Taylor. All the seven districts of the association were represented, viz., Burton, Chesterfield, Derby, Hinckley, Leicester, Loughborough and Nottingham, as well as friends from Erdington, Sutton Coldfield, Norton (Staffs), Warwickshire, Yorkshire and elsewhere.

After tea a course of Grandsire Caters was rung on handbells by C. Harrison 1-2, A. H. Ward 3-4, G. F. Swann 5-6, E. Morris 7-8, A. Braines 9-10.

PRESIDENT TALKS OF RESIGNATION.

The meeting was presided over by Mr. E. Denison Taylor, supported by Canon Lyon, Canon Briggs and Mrs. Briggs, the Rev. A. H. Roberts, of Stanton-by-Dale, Messrs. Lax and Barker (churchwardens) and Mrs. Barker, Mr. W. E. White and Mr. Ernest Morris. The President in his own breezy way, said how delighted all were to see such a goodly assembly—a record for a quarterly meeting. The past quarter showed an improvement over previous quarters in the number of peals rung (23), which included six different Surprise methods. One peal called for special attention—a humble peal of Bob Minor at Woodhouse Eaves—this being the general secretary's 750th peal, and by this visit he (the secretary) had introduced the whole local company to the association, and seven new members were made. They welcomed them that day and trusted their enthusiasm might long continue. They regretted the passing of Mr. Alfred Cufflin, of Anstey, whom they had so recently elected a hon. life member. He was for many years towerkeeper and had just seen the restoration of the bells of his native place. Another regret they all felt was in the death of Mr. Fred Wilford, of the Peterborough Diocesan Guild, a valued life member of the association.

Mr. Taylor then caused some consternation and regret among the whole assembly by intimating that he felt he was growing too old adequately to fill the office of president, and hoped they would elect a successor. He would continue his interest in the progress of the association and would watch its development with great interest.

Mr. Taylor then gave a hearty greeting to Canon and Mrs. Briggs, who had made a by no means short journey in order to grace the gathering. It had been chiefly Canon Briggs who was responsible for the placing in the tower of the tablet recording the names of past ringers, and after very careful research he trusted it was complete and no one had been omitted. They were also indebted to the Rector (Canon Lyon) for the very beautiful service, which was appreciated by the large congregation present.

Canon Briggs then replied and said how grateful he was to Mr. Taylor and everyone for such a hearty welcome. He and Mrs. Briggs retained many happy memories of Loughborough, and especially of the gatherings, such as this, of the bellringers, but he thought this was the best ever. It was a great privilege to him to come to dedicate the beautiful tablet now erected to past ringers, which had been somewhat delayed, not through any fault of those responsible, but because they were anxious to get all names complete and the list as accurate as possible. He thought Loughborough tower must be unique in England for its memorials, tablets and other fittings, all due to the thoughtfulness and generosity of the Taylor family.

The Rector (Canon Lyon) then thanked Mr. Taylor for his gracious act in providing the splendid tablet, for his generosity in giving such a grand reception to the gathering now assembled, and said how pleased he was to co-operate in the service.

Mr. William E. White said how deeply all present would regret the remarks of Mr. Taylor, when he talked of resigning as president of the Midland Counties Association. He sincerely hoped Mr. Taylor would reconsider his decision and carry on, as most certainly they could find no one who could take the office and uphold it so worthily as Mr. Taylor did (applause). He urged all those present to do all they could to dissuade Mr. Taylor from resigning.

The secretary then read over the names of new members proposed since the last meeting, who were duly elected, viz., 4 honorary, 25 ringing and 7 rejoining. Two auditors were re-elected, Messrs. C. Harrison and J. H. Dean.

The secretary next made an appeal to all present for the restoration of Leicester Cathedral bells, urging all those who had not done so to send in to him the special forms with any donations as quickly as possible. The service of dedication would take place on Saturday, April 10th.

This concluded the business, and further ringing on handbells and tower bells was enjoyed. Visitors flocked to Messrs. Taylor's foundry, where they saw in various stages of completion Leicester Cathedral bells, Manchester Town Hall recast bells, the large chime of eight (tenor 2 tons) for Vancouver, bells for Australia, Canada, India, Africa and many old bells undergoing restoration.

It can safely be said that this was one of the best meetings the Midland Counties Association has ever held.

MIDDLESEX COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

PRESSING NEED FOR RECRUITS.

Committee to Examine Financial Arrangements.

The annual meeting of the South and West District of the Middlesex County Association and London Diocesan Guild was held at All Saints', Isleworth, on February 6th. After ringing on the ten bells during the afternoon, a short service was held, and the Rev. C. A. De Jong gave a brief but interesting talk, based on the lesson read by the vice-president (Mr. J. A. Trollope) relating the story of the Prodigal Son. About 50 members and friends then enjoyed an excellent tea in the Church Hall.

The vice-president presided over the business meeting which followed, and he was supported by all the district officers and by the association treasurer (Mr. W. H. Hollier). A cordial vote of thanks was given to the Vicar (the Rev. P. W. Shepherd Smith) for his welcome to Isleworth, to the Rev. De Jong for conducting the service, to the organist, to Mr. Lidbetter, of the local band, and to all who had provided and served the tea.—The Vicar and curate each replied and gave a hearty invitation to visit Isleworth at any time.

The vice-president then referred in humorous vein to the 'balloon handball' at the supper held in January, reported in a previous issue, and called on the captain of the Hillingdon team to receive a trophy which had been presented to mark the prowess of the victors. The Hillingdon band are now responsible for the safety, for twelve months, of an old china cup—without a handle.

The secretary's report for 1936 was then read and adopted. Interesting points were: The average attendance at the eight meetings held was 36, a marked improvement on 1935, when it was 31. Two joint meetings with neighbouring Guilds were also held, and three of the towers in the district (Heston, St. John's, Hillingdon, and Christ Church, Ealing) were represented at all ten meetings. Service ringing had not been maintained at last year's level, chiefly through a decrease in the strength of several bands. Certain towers were exceptions to this, and at each of these places there was definitely the co-operation of the church authorities, which indicated a very necessary factor in maintaining a band.

MEMBERS LOST THROUGH UNPAID SUBSCRIPTIONS.

Seventeen tower-bell peals and one handbell peal were rung in the district, compared to 12 tower-bell peals in 1935. The outstanding performance was the peal of Spliced Surprise Major in seven methods, composed and conducted by Mr. E. C. S. Turner, which was the first Surprise peal in seven methods by Miss Bradford and Messrs. Turner, Locke, Riding and Corke. Only ten members were elected in the district in 1936. Against this, 37 members lapsed owing to unpaid subscriptions, and the need for new recruits was pressing. In October Mr. C. T. Coles completed 25 years as a joint secretary of the association. He has been largely responsible for the association's annual reports, and few realise the amount of time, energy and thought he has given to the association. The report concluded with thanks to all the district officers, who have an excellent understanding and have supported each other's efforts to the full.

The meeting was unanimous in its praise of the secretary for the thoroughness of his report.

The treasurer's report, showing a slight decrease in the balance during the year, was read and adopted. Mr. Chandler presented the report of the Supper Committee showing that the supper had been a success financially as well as socially. The committee (Messrs. Chandler, Gladman and Goodfellow) were re-elected with thanks for their services.

The next business formed a direct response to the secretary's appeal for recruits: 22 new members were elected, and the belfry election of one member was ratified. This is probably a district record.

It is the custom of the district to elect a new Ringing Master each year, and Mr. Turner was elected in the place of Mr. W. H. Coles. Mr. J. Herbert was elected Deputy Master. With the exception of the substitution of Mr. Coles for Mr. Turner as one of the auditors, the other officers were re-elected, namely: Treasurer, Mr. T. Collins; secretary, Mr. F. W. Goodfellow; assistant secretary, Mr. W. G. Wilson; District Committee, Messrs. Chandler, Corke and G. Kilby; and the other auditor, Mr. Lidbetter.

On the proposition of Mr. C. S. Bird, it was resolved that the Central Committee be requested to examine the existing rules of the association, particularly those governing finance, with a view to revision, and that the committee consider an addition to the rules providing that resident members shall be exempt from payment of subscriptions on reaching 65 years of age if 15s. has been paid in subscriptions.

It was decided, on the proposition of Mr. Wilson, seconded by Mr. Turner, that the district business be transacted at the March, June, September and December meetings (instead of one month earlier in each case, to avoid the annual meeting held in February), it being understood that members may be elected at any monthly meeting.

Three places were nominated for the 1938 annual meeting, and on a vote Heston was chosen. It was agreed to hold the March meeting at Chiswick and to invite Guildford Diocesan Guild and the East Berks and South Bucks Branch of the Oxford Diocesan Guild to a joint meeting at Staines in September and the Ladies' Guild and the Oxford Guild to Hillingdon in October. A successful meeting was ended by touches on handbells and more tower-bell ringing. W. G. W.

DEATH OF MR. GEORGE HUGHES.

A CELEBRATED ONE-ARM RINGER.

We regret to record the death of Mr. George Hughes, of Wednesbury, who died on February 9th, aged 74 years. He was celebrated in the 'Black Country' as a one-arm ringer.

The funeral service on Saturday was held at St. Bartholomew's Church, Wednesbury, conducted by the Rev. Preb. H. W. Jones, R.D., Vicar of Wednesbury, and assisted by the Rev. C. H. Barker, L.Th. (clerical secretary of the Society for the Archdeaconry of Stafford). Six of his old ringing friends acted as bearers, viz., Messrs. W. E. Brittan, H. Smith, C. Wallater, W. Fisher, B. Horton and H. Knight. The chief mourners were Mr. T. Hughes (son) and Mrs. Hughes, Mrs. Pilgrim (sister) and others, also Messrs. J. Barber, B. Gough and A. J. Hubble (ringing friends). The interment took place in St. Mark's Churchyard, Ocker Hill, Tipton. There were many floral tributes.

THE LATE MR. GEORGE HUGHES.

The deceased was born at Hanbury, Worcestershire, and at the age of nine years went to work on a farm. Through getting entangled in some machinery his right arm had to be amputated at the shoulder. In later years he migrated to Wednesbury, in Staffordshire, and for many years was employed by Messrs. Chance and Hunt, chemical manufacturers. His work consisted of shovelling and loading a wheelbarrow with raw material used in the chemical industry and wheeling it a distance of some 50 or 60 yards. He thus moved about 30 tons per day—and with only one arm! He also had a well-cultivated allotment, on which he did the work himself.

George Hughes, despite his handicap, was a fine ringer. Unfortunately, he was of too retiring a nature, otherwise he would have been one of the 'bright lights' of the Exercise. He was fond of dabbling in figures and composed peals in Plain Bob, Canterbury Pleasure and Forward Major, also Double Norwich Major and Caters. He was a careful striker and good conductor. As a pastime he once wrote out a peal of Carter's Scientific Triples, change by change.

He had rung 159 peals, of which the following is the list: Bob Minor 1, five Minor methods 1, seven Minor methods 1, Grandsire Triples 16 (conducted 6), Darlaston Bob Triples 1 (1), Oxford Bob Triples 1 (1), Stedman Triples 23 (7), Bob Major 18 (10), Canterbury Pleasure Major 1, Double Oxford Major 2, Double Norwich Court Bob Major 13 (2), Superlative Surprise 3 (1), Cambridge Surprise 4, New Cambridge 1, Norfolk 1, Bristol 3, London 3, Grandsire Caters 11 (7), Stedman Caters 21 (9), Stedman Cinques 3, Erin Cinques 1, Bob Royal 3 (2), Bob Maximus 2, Double Oxford Bob Royal 1, Kent Treble Bob Major 3, Oxford Treble Bob Major 2, Bob Triples 2, Forward Major 1, Kent Treble Bob Royal 2, Oxford Treble Bob Royal 2, Double Norwich Caters 1, Erin Caters 1 (1), total 159 (47).

GUILDFORD GUILD & CATHEDRAL BELLS

PROPOSED EFFORT TO INCREASE FUND.

The Leatherhead District of the Guildford Diocesan Guild, at the annual meeting, decided to support the proposal made the previous week at the Guildford District meeting, that the towers in the Guild should be invited to pledge themselves to contribute a definite annual sum to the New Cathedral Bells Fund, established by the Guild about three years ago, and also voted a sum of £2 from the district balance for the purpose.

The meeting was one of the best held in the Leatherhead District. Every affiliated tower except one (from the members of which an apology was received) was represented, and, with visitors from the Surrey Association and other districts of the Guild, an attendance of about 50 was made up. The district towers were Leatherhead, Banstead, Ockley, Ashted, Ewell, Cobham, Dorking and Epsom (St. Martin's and Christ Church). Visitors were present from St. John's and St. Peter's, Croydon, Bagshot, Guildford (Cathedral and S. Nicolas'), Godalming, Haslemere and West Clandon. A short service was conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. G. H. B. Coleridge), who afterwards presided at the tea and meeting, held at the Duke's Head.

A NEEDED BELL RESTORATION HELD UP.

In his report the hon. secretary (Mr. A. H. Smith) said that financially the year had been much better than 1935, 65 subscriptions having been received, as against 58 in the previous year, while the expenses had been lighter. The balance, therefore, showed an increase of nearly £2. The average attendance at meetings had been well maintained, but there were still many members who did not attend even one meeting a year. Efforts had been made to get into touch with the Vicar of Capel in the hope of getting the bells of that church restored. He had been interviewed by the Rev. H. C. Martin, of Ockley, who had reported that there had been many expensive and important tasks at Capel and these were not yet over. The Vicar had said that in his opinion the belfry, which would need very considerable strengthening before the bells could be used, must still wait for a bit, and mentioned a sum of £300 as the likely cost of restoration. In addition he was somewhat disturbed by the habit of bell-ringers coming to practice and not on Sundays, or of coming on Sundays to ring and not staying to service.

On this point the Rev. H. C. Martin added, in his letter: 'So am I and many others at times, and I wish we could do something about it where that custom is prevalent. I have such a great admiration for the splendid body of ringers in the country that it hurts all the more to hear criticisms.'

The District Secretary said in thanking the Rev. H. C. Martin for his efforts, he had said that as the bells at Capel had been unringable since he first came into the district in 1929, he could not say how much cause the Vicar of Capel had for his complaint, but he did not think his methods would do much good; rather, he thought, Mr. Martin's method of becoming a fellow-ringer and so making friends with his band was much more likely to prove successful (applause).

In reply to a question, it was stated that there had been no band of ringers at Capel for years.

In concluding his report, the hon. secretary stated that a new system of working combined practices had been in operation, by which in each case two neighbouring towers exchanged visits on practice nights. The results seemed fairly satisfactory, but the committee felt that if only more members would get that spirit of friendly co-operation with the surrounding towers, a great deal more good would result. It was only by helping one another that they helped themselves, and in ringing that was specially true. He asked the members, in the words of a well-known petrol advertisement, to put into the spirit of the district 'that little bit of something the others haven't got.'

The secretary was thanked for his report, which was adopted, as was also the balance sheet, showing an increased balance of £1 18s. 11d., which was considered very satisfactory.

All the officers of the district were re-elected, and, on a ballot, Messrs. G. Marriner and F. G. Woodiss were re-elected on the Executive Committee of the Guild.

CATHEDRAL BELLS FUND.

The hon. general secretary (Mr. J. S. Goldsmith) introduced the subject of further support for the Guild's New Cathedral Bells Fund. He pointed out what the Guildford District had done, and said in view of the intensive effort being made throughout the diocese to bring the Cathedral into being, and the Bishop's appeal for the Million Shillings Fund, he thought the Guild should make a special effort. When the Bells Fund was established some time ago in a modest way it was felt that it might be, perhaps, 50 years before the addition of a peal of bells was contemplated, but there now seemed a probability of much faster progress and the opportunity of having a peal of bells might come much sooner than they had anticipated.

Mr. G. L. Grover (hon. secretary of Guildford District) also spoke in support of the proposal, and said the Guildford District voted 25 from its funds.

The meeting voted the sum of £2 from its balance and passed a resolution asking the Executive Committee to formulate a scheme for annual subscriptions from towers.

The meeting concluded with a vote of thanks to the Vicar and to Mr. G. Marriner for the arrangements made for the meeting.

NORTH STAFFORDSHIRE'S LOSS. DEATH OF A RINGING MASTER.

Members of the North Staffordshire Association and the Midland Counties Association attended the funeral on Saturday of Mr. Robert George Lewis, of 36, Heath Cross, Uttoxeter, on Saturday.

Mr. Lewis, who was 61 years of age, commenced ringing in Cheshire, and he was also for a few years ringing in Ireland, before going to Uttoxeter about 1911, where he had been attached to St. Mary's Society. He was elected Ringing Master in 1933, and he will be particularly missed in North Staffordshire and District Association, of which he had been Ringing Master for eight-bell towers since 1926.

The interment was preceded by a service at St. Mary's Parish Church, conducted by the Vicar of Uttoxeter (the Rev. W. E. Charlton), who also officiated at the cemetery. The service was a simple one, which included two hymns, 'Jesu, Lover of my soul' and 'Abide with me.'

The hearers were deceased's fellow-ringers: Messrs. G. Burrows, G. Ward, E. Roberts, F. Richardson, E. Elliot and G. Tomlinson, and the four latter rang handbells at the graveside.

In addition to the family mourners the following ringers attended: Messrs. Andrew Thompson (Newcastle), hon. secretary; Thomas Hird (Burslem), chairman of committee; John E. Wheeldon (Norton), Ringing Master for six-bell towers; F. Oliver and J. Buxton (Uttoxeter), C. H. Page (Stoke), W. Carnwell and A. W. Hall (Kingsley), J. Cartledge (Cheadle), J. W. Bullock, G. L. Burton, J. Walker, E. Burton, G. Cottrell, A. Coxen and E. Whitehouse, of Rocester, and J. H. Swinfield, representing St. Paul's, Burton, and the Midland Counties Association.

Among the many wreaths one was from the North Staffordshire Association, one from St. Mary's Society, Uttoxeter, and one from the ringers of Rocester.

The bells were fully muffled afterwards, and the ringing included the 'whole pull and stand' 61 times, Kent Treble Bob Major and Stedman Triples.

The ringing during the afternoon and evening ranged from rounds to Cambridge Surprise Royal.

The following new members were elected: Messrs. F. Johnson (Ashted), H. J. Parker and H. Cheesman (Banstead), and A. Hadley (Ewell). Mr. Hadley was formerly at Arklow, Ireland.

It was decided to hold district meetings at Christ Church, Epsom, Newdigate, Rammore (joint meeting with Surrey Association), Cobham and Dorking, and next year's annual meeting at Leatherhead.

The Guild officers were all renominated.

CHERTSEY DISTRICT ANNUAL MEETING.

The annual meeting of the Chertsey District was held at Chertsey on Saturday, January 30th. The weather was not very good, but about 30 turned up during the afternoon and evening, 26 sitting down to tea. After tea Capt. H. J. Cann was elected to the chair, the curate, who took the service in the absence of the Vicar, having to leave. The question of Walton bells was raised again, the secretary reporting on what had taken place and the steps he proposed to take in the future.

The following officers were elected for 1937: Ringing Master, Mr. W. Simmonds; hon. secretary, Mr. F. E. Hawthorne; hon. member on committee, the Rev. C. L. Wanstall; ringing members on committee, Messrs. H. J. Chaffey and D. Sleet.

The balance sheet, showing an increased balance of 4s. 3d. on the year's working, was passed as satisfactory.

The retiring Ringing Master (Mr. H. J. Chaffey) gave a short report on the year's work, showing that progress was still being maintained.

The hon. secretary reported that there had been a slight increase in the numbers attending the meetings, but they were usually the same members. It would be more gratifying if others would attend. Sometimes one wondered whether the members at some towers were pulling their weight, or whether they thought the officers existed for the purpose. In these times of extremist views about church bells they would do well to think whether they could stand alone if someone complained about the ringing, or whether by belonging to the Guild they would be able to receive such advice and assistance as would smooth things over. He would like the clergy to know that the Guild was always ready to assist in any way with regard to bells.

The secretary added that the first outing was a great success, and appealed for more support at district meetings. One peal had been rung during the year, in which four members of the district took part.

The reports were accepted, the Chairman remarking that he thought it was the personal interest in each tower taken by the officers that seemed to improve the working and interest taken by the members as a whole.

Meetings for 1927 were proposed as follows: Thames Ditton, Otlands Park, Staines and Egham (joint meeting with Middlesex Association), Horsell, and Chertsey for the annual meeting.

The general officers of the Guild were renominated en bloc.

A hearty vote of thanks was accorded to the preacher, the local ringers for their hospitality, and to the lady organist, who also joined the company at tea. Thanks were also accorded to the officers for their work during the year. The tower was then again visited. The methods rung were mostly Triples, viz., Grandsire, Stedman and Erin, with some short touches of Bob Major, but the going of the back bells compelled keeping the touches short.

ANOTHER GREAT HANDBELL PERFORMANCE.

OXHEY MEN PUT FIVE SURPRISE METHODS IN A PEAL.

The Oxhey handbell band have accomplished another great performance. They have now rung a peal in five Surprise methods, Ealing having been added to London, Cambridge, Superlative and Bristol.

Those who saw their exhibition at the last dinner of the College Youths will appreciate the greatness of the performance. The peal was rung in 2 hours 16 minutes, a rate of about 37.4 changes per minute. Thus, five bells were struck every second. Think of that and it will be realised that in such a complicated task, with 120 changes of method, there is no room for errors. No words can express the admiration we feel for this talented company.

Here is the composition, the production of the conductor, Mr. Harold Cashmore:—

THREE GENERATIONS.

GRANDFATHERS RING PEALS WITH SONS AND GRANDSON.

We record two peals in this issue in which three generations of a family took part. At Loughborough Bell Foundry, Mr. R. Harrison, of Sheffield, took part in a peal of Bob Major, conducted by his son, Mr. Colin Harrison, and in which his grandson, Geoffrey Harrison, who has just passed his 14th birthday, rang the treble.

At Matlock, Derbyshire, on Saturday, three generations of the Paulson family rang in a peal of Grandsire Triples. Mr. J. H. Paulson has been a ringer some 50 years, first learning to ring at Collingham, Lines, moving on to Nuneaton in the late 80's. He became a well-known ringer there and was one of a band which rang several handbell peals at Nuneaton. Mr. Paulson has been ringing at Matlock since 1895, and has taken a leading part in maintaining a change ringing band at that church, where he was also verges and sexton for 30 years. He retired from this appointment a few years ago. About 40 peals in various methods stand to his credit, and he is still willing to take part in any peal attempts. G. H. Paulson, his son, and E. Paulson, his grandson, ring at Darley Dale.

ARCHDEACONRY OF STAFFORD SOCIETY.

A quarterly meeting of the Society for the Archdeaconry of Stafford was held at the Pepper Box, Tipton, on Saturday, January 30th. The weather being anything but inviting, a meagre attendance resulted. The bells were raised soon after 3 o'clock and were kept going in a variety of methods until 4.45.

The service which followed was conducted by the Rev. A. L. Chapman (Vicar), who also delivered a stirring address.

The Rev. C. H. Barker, L.Th. (clerical secretary of the society), presided at the organ.

A bountiful tea was prepared in the Schoolroom, to which 23 sat down.

It was resolved to hold a bi-quarterly meeting, for practice only, at Wednesbury, on Saturday, March 6th. The next quarterly meeting was arranged to take place at Aldridge on April 10th or 17th.

DEVON GUILD.

MID-DEVON BRANCH COMES SUCCESSFULLY THROUGH DIFFICULT PERIOD.

The annual meeting of the Mid-Devon Branch of the Devon Guild was held at Ipplepen, Newton Abbot, on Saturday, and was highly successful, ringers being present from Exeter, Brampford Speke, Kenn, Sidmouth, Newton Abbot, Cockington, Torquay, Paignton, Collaton, Buckfastleigh and Milverton.

Ringings commenced at three o'clock, and a service was later held in church, conducted by the Vicar of Ipplepen (the Rev. R. D. Cooke), who, in an excellent address, extended a very hearty welcome to the members. He mentioned that the present church was the third to stand on the site, and that it was about 500 years old.

A collection during the last hymn for the Guild Bells Restoration Fund amounted to 11s. 6d.

About 34 members and friends sat down to tea in the Schoolroom, and this was followed by the business meeting, presided over by the Rev. W. R. D. Mills (chairman).

A letter was read from Mr. A. I. Pope, of Paignton, resigning his membership of the branch. The chairman pointed out that this was owing to business reasons, and he promised to see Mr. Pope on the matter.

The secretary's report was unanimously adopted. It stated that three meetings had been held during the past year. Three peals of Major had been rung in the branch, and although the membership was still below that of previous years, seven new members had been elected. Three members had also qualified for Guild certificates.

The treasurer's report showed that the branch had paid its way during 1936, and that there was a balance in hand of 2s. It was unanimously adopted on the motion of the chairman, seconded by Mr. C. F. Austin. The president of the Guild (the Rev. E. V. Cox) congratulated the branch on having pulled through a difficult period.

The following officers were unanimously re-elected: Chairman, the Rev. W. R. D. Mills; secretary, treasurer and Ringing Master, Mr. A. L. Bennett; auditor, Mr. C. R. Walker; and two representatives on the General Committee, Messrs. R. Whiting and J. Olding. The third representative, Mr. Austin, did not seek re-election, and Mr. Walker was appointed to the vacancy.

A certificate was presented by the president of the Guild to Mr. A. P. Pontin.

The election of Mr. E. J. Taylor, of Torquay, as a member of the branch prior to starting for a peal was confirmed, and Mr. R. Pollard, of Collaton, was elected a member of the branch.

With regard to the date and place of the next meeting, a proposal was put forward that this be at Teignmouth on Saturday, June 12th, in conjunction with the Exeter Branch meeting. It was also proposed and seconded that the next meeting be at Bickington, Newton Abbot, on Saturday, May 8th. On the recommendation of the chairman, it was unanimously resolved to hold both meetings, subject to the necessary permission being obtained.

The Chairman voiced the thanks of the visitors to the Vicar of Ipplepen for the use of the bells, for conducting the service, and for his excellent address. Votes of thanks were also accorded to the organist, and to the ladies for the tea arrangements. A vote of thanks was also passed to the secretary for his work in the branch.

Mr. L. Howard appealed on behalf of Cockington band for instructors, and the Collaton members offered assistance. It was also resolved to apply to the General Committee for a grant towards instruction expenses.

The Vicar of Ipplepen replied to the votes of thanks, and remarked that he hoped the branch would soon come again.

This concluded the business and the visitors adjourned to the tower for further ringing. The methods rung during the afternoon and evening were Grandsire Doubles, Stedman Triples, Kent Treble Bob Major, Double Norwich Court Bob Major and Cambridge Surprise Minor, and it is interesting to note that this is the first occasion that Double Norwich has been rung at a meeting of the branch.

NEWBURY BRANCH SUCCESSFUL MEETING.

A very successful meeting of the Newbury Branch of the Oxford Diocesan Guild was held at Brightwalton on Saturday, February 6th, when 35 members attended from Beenham, Bucklebury, Brightwalton, Compton, Chieveley, Farnborough, Newbury, Peasemore and Thatcham. A short service was conducted by the Rector of Brightwalton (the Rev. H. N. Bates), who also gave the address.

Tea was served in the Village Hall by Mrs. W. J. Sayers, 32 sitting down, including Miss Caldicott (an honorary member of the Guild).

The Rev. H. N. Bates presided at the business meeting in the absence of the chairman of the branch (the Rev. W. Kingsley Kefford), who was unable to be present.

The spring meeting was fixed for Aldermaston in April.

Votes of thanks to the Rev. H. N. Bates for his address and welcome, to Miss Wells for playing the organ, and to Mrs. Sayers and her helpers for providing the tea, were accorded with acclamation on the motion of Mr. H. W. Curtis (branch secretary).

The tower was again visited and the following methods rung: Grandsire and Stedman Doubles, Plain Bob, Kent and Oxford Treble Bob Minor.

KENT COUNTY ASSOCIATION.CANTERBURY DISTRICT MEMBERS ENTERTAINED AT BOUGHTON.

The spring meeting of the Canterbury District of the Kent County Association was held at Boughton on Saturday, and one result was the rejoining of the local band. Fourteen towers in the district were represented, other members of the association coming from Tunstall, Queenborough, Sittingbourne and Brabourne. The local tower was strongly represented, and the 'gentleman with the rule' was also present.

The association's form of service was held in the church, conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. W. A. Leach), the lesson being read by Mr. E. Trendell.

About 50 members sat down in the Church Room to an excellent tea, provided through the generosity of the Vicar, who presided, and later took the chair at the business meeting.

The re-election of Boughton tower, with 13 members, was unanimously accepted.

Teynham was chosen as the place for the next by-meeting.

A report of the Central Committee meeting held in November was given by the district secretary.

At the close of the business Mr. Trendell proposed a very hearty vote of thanks to the Vicar for the use of the bells, his service, for presiding over the meeting and for his generosity in entertaining the members to tea.

The Vicar said that he was very glad to have the members at Boughton. He was sorry they had to walk such a long way to and from the church to tea, but their numbers were too great to entertain them in the Vicarage as he had intended to do.

It was suggested that as the Vicar had entertained the members to tea, there should be a 'whip round' for the Benevolent Fund. This was readily agreed to, the amount raised being 15s. 7d.

It was stated that the rededication of Hernhill bells was provisionally fixed for Sunday, March 7th, but full notice would be given in 'The Ringing World'.

After several touches had been rung on the handbells, a return was made to the tower, where further ringing was enjoyed until nine o'clock. The bells, rehung last year, were kept going busily.

The Vicar decided, after the meeting was over, to join the association as an honorary member.

VICAR RAISES QUESTION OF QUALIFICATION FOR MEMBERSHIP.

The Tonbridge District held its first meeting of the year at Sevenoaks on Saturday, February 6th, when 43 members were present. Ringing during the afternoon and evening, for some obscure reason, was of rather a low standard in regard to striking, although methods up to London Surprise were attempted. The customary service was held, conducted by the Rector (the Rev. E. L. Langston), who, later, also presided at the business meeting.

The District Secretary informed the members of the loss of another honorary member. This time the loss created a precedent, for the hon. member had left the association out of sympathy with a band of ringers who had ceased to belong to the association for some little time.

After some discussion, the Rector proposed that some future effort be made to try and prevail on the band to rejoin.

A rather spirited report upon the General Committee meeting, held in November last, was given jointly by the secretary and the two representatives, Messrs. A. Richardson, E. Everest and A. J. Battin.

In view of certain matters brought before the General Committee, Mr. A. J. Battin said he thought that any district business should be conducted through the district secretary and not direct with the general secretary.

The members present agreed with this recommendation.

The Rev. F. L. Schreiber, Vicar of Shipbourne, spoke with regard to the qualifications necessary before a ringer could join the association. Were members accepted indiscriminately, he asked, or were there some qualifications in regard to the church itself which members had to have before being able to join the association?

After some discussion, Mr. E. H. Lewis (vice-president) said he thought that the new rules which were being submitted to the members would have some provision in regard to this matter. Mr. Lewis also suggested that it would be useful for ringers to obtain 'The Manual for Ringers,' published by the S.P.C.K.

Votes of thanks were passed to the Rector for his very helpful address and for the use of the bells, etc., to the organist, and to Mr. H. J. Ford and Dr. E. L. Taylor for kindly helping to provide tea.

BONDAGE OF STANDARD METHODS.

A few of the enterprising bands about the country have, within the last few weeks, added to the number of new methods rung. All the peals have been in the 'Surprise' class, and it is gratifying to find these companies still intent on showing that ringing need not be 'pegged down' to what we know as the 'standard' methods. But these performances only serve to indicate to what extent ringers, in the mass, limit their practice. 'Standard methods' is an elastic term, which in the course of years has taken on a little wider meaning than the old idea of merely 'Grandsire, Stedman, Plain Bob and Treble Bob,' but its scope is still restricted, and yet, despite the vast opportunities and choice offered to the ringers of to-day, the great majority in the Exercise are quite content to plod along in these well-worn paths. As a training ground, 'standard methods,' which means what everybody else rings or ought to ring, may be an excellent foundation, but to be satisfied with the limitations which the term imposes, marks a lack of enterprise that is little short of stagnation. 'Standard methods' has become almost a bondage.

One of the reasons why ringers seem to be tied to this small group of methods is that the older text books contemplated nothing beyond them, and at meetings, where ringers 'most do congregate,' effort is seldom made to introduce anything new. Just recently, in one or two cases, there has been a commendable endeavour to introduce something fresh, and we hope this practice will be greatly extended. After our recent appeal, a correspondent this week makes a suggestion for popularising good but little known methods. The Central Council some time ago published their book of Plain Major methods and contemplate another on Surprise methods in the near future—the work being already in manuscript. But the Plain Major book has not popularised any of the many good methods it includes, and we doubt if a comparatively expensive volume of Surprise methods will do anything much to get the best of them rung, except perhaps just once by those bands who make a hobby of ringing new methods. We need these pioneers to 'blaze the trail,' but to raise the general practice of ringing other than standard methods, something which will make a different appeal to the ordinary ringer is needed. The man who makes music a hobby does not content himself with playing just half a dozen tunes; he is constantly enlarging his repertory. The singer is not satisfied to go through life singing only two or three songs. He moves with the times, and out of the manifold material before him chooses constantly a new selection. The position of ringers is almost, if not quite, analogous. They have heaps of material; yet there are many who limit their practice throughout their ringing career to a mere handful of methods. Is it not time that they took a different view of their art and began to enlarge the field of methods with which they are familiar?

READING BRANCH OFFICERS RE-ELECTED.

The annual meeting of the Reading Branch of the Oxford Diocesan Guild, held at Reading on Saturday, February 15th, was well attended. In addition to members of the branch, visitors came from Somerset, Slough, Oxford, Norwich, Newbury, High Wycombe, Abingdon, Slough, Cookham, Farnham Royal and Twyford.

The bells of the Churches of St. Laurence, St. Mary and St. Giles were utilised from 3 p.m. to 5 p.m., all the usual standard methods being rung from Stedman and Grandsire Doubles to Cinques, Double Norwich and Cambridge Major. A service was held in St. Laurence's Church, at which the address was given by the Rev. Sherwood, Rector of Tilehurst. This was followed by tea at St. Mary's Church House, to which 66 sat down.

The business meeting was presided over by Canon G. F. Coleridge, the Master of the Guild, in the absence of Dr. Joyce, the chairman of the branch, through illness. All the officers of the branch were re-elected, viz.: Chairman, Dr. Joyce; secretary and treasurer, Mr. E. G. Foster; auditors, Messrs. Cullum and Wiggins; representatives to the General Committee of the Guild, Messrs. Humphrey, Swain and Runham.

The secretary reported an increased balance of £7 ls. 9d., with membership about the same.

The meeting agreed to admit the Burghfield tower to the branch, and also voted a grant of £5 5s. to the fund for the restoration of Tilehurst bells.

Quarterly meetings were fixed for Burghfield, Checkendon and Tilehurst.

The meeting expressed its regret at the absence of the chairman, and the secretary was instructed to write a letter of sympathy, with wishes for a speedy recovery.

Reference was made to the death of Mr. J. Hands, who had been a ringer at Caversham tower for 53 years.

The meeting was addressed by the Guild officials present, Canon Coleridge (Master), the Rev. C. E. Wigg (Deputy Master), Mr. A. D. Barker (hon. treasurer) and Mr. R. T. Hibbert (hon. secretary).

The meeting closed with a vote of thanks to the Rev. Sherwood for the address, to Canon Coleridge for presiding, to the Vicars of St. Laurence's, St. Giles' and St. Mary's for the use of the bells, and to Mr. P. Dyke for so ably serving the tea.

WARWICKSHIRE GUILD.

EXCELLENT SUPPORT FOR MONTHLY MEETING.

Once again, ringers from all parts of the county flocked to Bulkington for a monthly meeting of the Warwickshire Guild on Saturday last. The fact that Bulkington is well situated, coupled with the excellent welcome always extended to visitors, makes the meetings at this village among the most enjoyable held by the Guild.

Members were delighted to see the Rev. J. E. Wigram, from Leamington Hastings, together with three of his ringers. They have just had their bells restored, and the newly-formed band is making excellent headway. The Guild are looking forward to enrolling them all as members before very long.

The bells were raised soon after three o'clock, and from then until tea-time were kept going in a variety of methods. Rounds and touches in the simpler methods were rung for the most part for the sake of the less proficient.

The usual high standard was maintained by Mrs. Hinde and other ladies, who had prepared the tea, and in spite of a rather larger number turning up than had been expected, no one was allowed to go hungry. Close on 40 ringers and their friends were present, representing the following towers: Allesley, Exhall, Coventry, Nuneaton, Chilvers Coton, Bulkington, Arley, Stoke, Bedworth, Wolvey, Leamington Hastings and Shilton.

The secretary mentioned the death, at the age of 83, of Mr. George Over, of Rugby. He had been an honorary life member of the Guild since 1908, and was a keen supporter of all church organisations. As a mark of respect, the company stood in silence for a few moments.

Further ringing took place on the tower bells in the evening until a late hour.

WINCHESTER AND PORTSMOUTH DIOCESAN GUILD.

BIG ATTENDANCE AT BASINGSTOKE DISTRICT MEETING.

The annual meeting of the Basingstoke District, held at Basingstoke, was attended by 75 members, the following towers being represented: Basingstoke, Oakley, Yateley, Silchester, Overton, Sherfield-on-Lodden, Baughurst, Rotherwick, Wootton, Bramley, Odiham and Upton Grey. Visitors were present from North Stoneham, Bishopstoke, Highclere and St. Mary Bourne, and Mr. G. Williams, Master of the Guild, was a very welcome guest.

Service was held in St. Michael's Church, the Vicar (the Rev. A. W. Chute, M.A.) conducting the service and preaching an interesting sermon. He extended a welcome to all the ringers and remarked that he thought bellringing was one of the arts connected with the Church that was most precious and was a great force in the country.

Tea was served in Church Cottage, and the Rev. G. H. Jendwine, R.D., presided at the meeting which followed.

Major J. D. Stillwell (hon. district secretary), of Yateley, extended a hearty welcome to the Rev. A. W. Chute, and, in presenting his report, revealed a very satisfactory state of affairs.

The officers elected were: The Rev. G. H. Jendwine, chairman; Major J. D. Stillwell, hon. secretary and treasurer; Mr. C. Ostler, Ringing Master; Messrs. J. Chesterman and H. Balam, representatives on the Executive Committee of the Guild; Mr. G. Ives, auditor. Quarterly meetings were fixed for Sherborne St. John on April 17th, Yateley on July 10th, and Upton Grey on September 25th.

Ringling continued until 8 o'clock, and ranged from rounds to Cambridge Surprise.

A FAKENHAM CEREMONY.

DEDICATION OF MEMORIAL PEAL BOARD.

A large number of ringers visited Fakenham to attend the dedication of a peal board to commemorate and record a peal of St. Clement's Major rung half-muffled on the church bells as a tribute of respect to the late Mr. P. T. Cooke, formerly for over 39 years a ringer at this tower and latterly of Peterborough.

The beautifully designed board was of selected oak panelled with letters, left raised in sunk panels, decorated and ornamented in style, with neatly carved raised framing and surmounted with the symbol shield of SS. Peter and Paul, and carved large and small bells. The board was the work of Mr. Flint, of Dersingham, who rang the treble bell in the peal.

An appropriate service was arranged and many other friends attended. Mrs. F. Cooke (widow), with Mr. and Mrs. Jorden (son-in-law and daughter), came specially from Peterborough to attend the ceremony and, in addition, Mr. and Mrs. Watson, Dersingham, and other relatives were present. The Rector (Dr. E. F. Morison), who conducted the service, made appreciative reference in accepting the board on behalf of the church, and paid tribute to the work of the late Mr. Cooke and his interest, love and time given in the science of change ringing.

After the service the board was hung on the walls in the belfry and the bells were rung during the day.

An excellent tea, to which about 40 sat down, by kind invitation, was provided in the Rectory basement room, and at the close complimentary speeches were made. Praise was accorded to Mr. Flint for his work, and he suitably replied. Hearty thanks were accorded to the ladies and helpers with the tea.

Ringers were present from the following towers: Walsoken, King's Lynn, Dersingham, Gressenhall, North Elmham, Gaywood, Wiveton, Terrington, Brinningham, Bodham, Foulsham and the local company.

FOR BEGINNERS.

FROM KENT TO OXFORD TREBLE BOB.

One of the first Treble Bob methods was Oxford. It came into being long before Kent, which, when it was first introduced, was known as 'New' Treble Bob.

Oxford, especially on the higher numbers, is not, in these days, rung anything like as frequently as is Kent, but in six-bell ringing it forms a very useful contribution to the seven-method peal, which is the least that six-bell ringers should aim at.

To those who can ring Kent Treble Bob, the Oxford method is comparatively easy to learn. Actually it is merely a reversal of the bells in 3-4. Here are figures (at the first lead of the treble) which will show this:—

Kent	Oxford
231546	241536
213456	214356
123465	123465
214356	213456
124365	124365
142635	142635
412653	416253
146235	146235

The reversal of the bells in 3-4, however, leads to some essential differences in the work, but first of all let us look at the similarities of the two methods. All the dodging is precisely the same (though not always, in corresponding places, with the same bells). There is also a 'slow' work common to both methods—the whole pull at lead and 2nd's place alternately from the time the treble leaves the front until it returns—and this slow work is done by the bells in the same order.

Another important point in the relationship of the two methods from the conductor's point of view is that the compositions of one method run true to the other.

And now the differences in the work of the method.

In Kent we had this:

Pass the treble in 2-3, make 3rd's and 4th's and go up.

Dodge with the treble in 1-2, coming out of 'slow,' make 3rd's and 4th's and go up.

In Oxford, each of these bells makes 4th's only and goes back to lead.

Pass the treble in 2-3, make 4th's and go down into the 'slow.'

Dodge with the treble in 1-2, make 4th's and go down to lead.

In Kent, after passing the treble in 4-5 or dodging in 5-6 up with the treble, make 4th's and 3rd's on the way down.

In Oxford both these bells make 3rd's only and go back up to dodge in 5-6.

Briefly, the two bells going up make 4th's and go back; the two bells going down after the treble make 3rd's and go up.

A bob in Oxford Treble Bob causes both the 3rd's places to be made by the same bell, but with a 4th's place (the actual bob) between. Thus the bell that has to make the bob dodges in 5-6 up with treble, follows it down, makes 3rd's, 4th's and 3rd's (a whole pull in each place) and goes up in front of the treble. It comes into the 'slow' work the next lead.

The conductor should note that, while in Kent the bell that is going into the 'slow' comes down behind the treble, in Oxford the next bell to go into the 'slow' is the bell that comes down in front of the treble. That is important to remember when he is calling from a non-observation bell.

Touches of Oxford can be called like touches of Kent, and here is another 720 which will go to either method, without bringing the 'tenors' (5 and 6) up the wrong way at a lead end; in other words, whenever they are together when the treble leads they strike in their natural order, 5-6, at backstroke.

Last week's 720 was: Call the 6th In, Out and In three times. The other 720 is: Call the 5th Out, In and Out three times. If, for this latter, you want to make the 6th the observation bell, you can do so by calling it to make the Bob in the first course, and then call it twice Wrong (successive leads) in the 2nd course; and repeat twice.

The bell that makes the bob in Oxford is the one that dodged in 5-6 up with the treble and the call can be made as it strikes its first blow in 3rd's place. Contrary to Kent, in which the places are made the 'wrong' way (backstroke and handstroke), the places in Oxford are made the 'right' way (handstroke and backstroke).

To call a bell 'Wrong' in Oxford or Kent Treble Bob causes it to have an extra double dodge in 5-6 up, and the call comes in the lead when the bell has dodged in 3-4 up with the treble.

A HALF-PEAL AT BISHOP'S STORTFORD.

At St. Michael's Parish Church, Bishop's Stortford, on Thursday, February 4th, the first five-parts of Holt's Ten-Part peal of Grandsire Triples (2,520 changes) were rung in 1 hour 41 minutes: Miss D. Wacey 1, H. Bird 2, S. Brookes 3, H. M. White 4, F. Bird (conductor) 5, H. A. Wacey 6, E. Ansell 7, W. Wilkinson 8. Longest touch by the ringers 1, 2, 7, 8. The half-peal was rung as a birthday compliment to Mr. H. A. Wacey.

NORTH STAFFORDSHIRE ASSOCIATION.CORONATION PEALS.

A meeting of the North Staffordshire Association was held at Fenton on Saturday, February 6th. Thirty-four ringers were present from Bucknall, Cheadle, Draycott, Fenton, Hanley, Kidsgrove, Kingsley, Leek, Longton, Norton, Newcastle, Stone, Stoke, Tunstall and Wistan-ton. Tea, served in the Church Hall, was kindly given by the Fenton ringers.

The Rev. J. Howse (Vicar of Fenton) extended a very hearty welcome to all present, and went on to say that he learnt to ring a bell a number of years ago, but had lost touch of ringing. North Staffordshire would welcome a few more ringing parsons, as there was only one, the Rev. J. B. Prith (Rector of Swynnerton).

Two new members were elected, J. Lawson, of Tunstall, and W. Fradley, of Bucknall.

A committee meeting was held after tea, with Mr. Thomas Hurd in the chair, supported by Mr. Andrew Thompson (hon. secretary) and Mr. Kenneth Thacker (assistant hon. secretary). The secretary presented a report, stating that the meeting had been called to arrange peals for the Coronation of King George VI. He would like all towers who can ring a peal on Wednesday, May 12th, to do so, and he thought the following should be able to do so: Leek, Stoke, Biddulph, Bucknall, Kingsley, Norton and Stone, and most probably Fenton, Uttoxeter, Burslem and Kidsgrove. He hoped arrangements would be made at that meeting for peals to be rung on Saturday, May 15th, or Monday, May 17th, which was a holiday, at Hanley, Tunstall, Brown Edge, Swynnerton, Longton, Silverdale, Walstanton, Rocester and Draycott. Arrangements had been made for a peal to be rung at Newcastle later in May. The following towers had promised to attempt peals on Wednesday, May 12th: Kingsley, Stone, Kidsgrove, Norton and Hanley.

Mr. C. H. Page promised to arrange two peals, and Mr. J. E. Wheeldon proposed that all peals rung in May should be recognised as Coronation peals, and that further arrangements be left to the discretion of the ringers.

A proposal to hold an annual dinner was discussed. It was pointed out by the secretary that only two dinners had taken place, one in 1911, and the other, the jubilee dinner, held in 1933. He thought it was most essential for an association to hold a social evening once a year.

Mr. A. W. Hall thought a dinner would probably help to get younger ringers to take a more active part in the association's work.

It was proposed by Mr. J. E. Wheeldon, seconded by Mr. C. H. Page, that representatives should inquire at their towers to see if the proposal met with approval.

CORNISH BELLS RECAST.POUGHILL PLEASED WITH NEW PEAL.

The delightful and unspoiled village of Poughill, situate midway between Bude and Stratton, North Cornwall, celebrated in true style the dedication of its recast ring of six bells on Saturday, February 20th. The Lord Bishop of Barking (Dr. J. T. Inskip) performed the ceremony.

The bells have been silent since May, 1935, when it was found that the old frame was unequal to the strain placed upon it, and that the bells themselves were in a poor condition. On Saturday the new bells made up for lost time and they were tried 'true and proper.' The ringing was of a very mixed character, rising and falling in peal predominating. One or two 'scientific' hands managed to get made up and were allowed to have a pull.

All who were conversant with the old peal commented upon the vast improvement in the tone and 'go,' but such improvement is expected when Messrs. John Taylor and Co., of Loughborough, are entrusted with a job of this sort.

The 2nd and tenor are the oldest bells in the peal. They bear the inscription: 'IP x CP 1790. Digory Jose, Vicar. John Bray and Thomas Taylor, Churchwardens.'

The 3rd and 4th were recast in 1861 by John Warner and Sons.

The treble was cast in 1907 by Llewellyn and James and inscribed, 'T. W. Lemon, D.D., Oxon., Vicar. S. Prouse, Churchwarden. Maria Somes, of Annery House, N. Devon, Lady Patron.' There was a similar inscription on the 5th, also recast in 1907, but dating originally from the 18th century.

Each of the bells now also contains a reference to the recent work done by the firm of John Taylor and Co.

An entirely new all-metal bell frame has been erected to carry the bells, which have been provided with the latest type of bell fittings. Ringing is still carried on from the ground floor, but as the draught of rope is not exceptionally long it is a comfortable place to ring at.

The weight of the old tenor at Poughill was 9½ cwt.; the weight of the new tenor is 12 cwt. 3 qr. 26 lb. in F sharp.

Following the dedication service, tea was provided in the Village Hall at a very moderate cost of sixpence, but the meal did not interfere with the ringing, as bands could go in and out according to the ringing programme.

A number of visiting ringers also took the opportunity of visiting Stratton, where permission to ring had been obtained.

Owing to a misunderstanding in connection with a service, ringing at Poughill was curtailed, but it enabled the visitors to find out that Stratton bells have lost nothing by usage.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

The Rector of Maresfield, Sussex, the Rev. A. C. Dudley Ryder, has just celebrated his 90th birthday, and on Saturday a peal in honour of the event was rung at the Parish Church. The Rector met the ringers after the peal and entertained them to tea. It had been intended to attempt Cambridge Surprise, but, meeting short, Bob Minor had to be substituted, Mr. G. Avis standing in at a moment's notice.

The augmenting of the ring of six at Llanfrecchfa is being done, but the dedication will not take place until after Easter.

The tenor bell of Ightham Church (Kent) has been repaired by welding specialists three times, and on each occasion it has again become cracked. The bell has now to be recast. This bell is dated 1620 and was cast by John Witnar.

There will be no more ringing at St. John's, Cardiff, for a time. The tower is undergoing repairs.

The two back bells of the ring of eight at St. Peter's, Carmarthen, have been put on ball bearings.

A SECRETARY'S 25 YEARS' SERVICE.

PROPOSED TESTIMONIAL TO MR. C. T. COLES.

In October, 1935, Mr. C. T. Coles completed 25 years' service as a secretary of the Middlesex County Association and London Diocesan Guild, and it is proposed to mark this by giving him a testimonial at the annual meeting of the association, to be held on April 17th.

There must be hundreds of ringers throughout the country who will be glad of this opportunity of showing their respect and affection for Mr. Coles, who has not only done a vast amount of work for his association, but has devoted himself to furthering the art in many directions, including long service on the Central Council. All who would like to contribute to the testimonial should send their donations to Mr. W. H. Hollier, hon. treasurer, 29, Duke Road, Chiswick, W.4, or Mr. E. C. S. Turner, hon. secretary, 65, Kingsley Avenue, West Ealing, W.13. The other members of the committee are Messrs. J. A. Trollope and G. W. Fletcher (vice-presidents of the association), G. R. Goodship, G. M. Kilby and T. J. Lock.

TO POPULARISE NEW METHODS.

A SUGGESTION.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—May I suggest that the most practical way to popularise new methods is for the Methods Committee to pick out a number of methods of special value, chosen for musical and other suitable reasons, and recommend these for adoption as 'standard methods,' as additions to, or in place of, the existing standard methods.

These should then be universally rung by the associations at meetings, and thus give ringers a chance to learn and ring them. At present, with the exception of a few isolated instances, the opportunities of ringing these methods are practically nil for both old or young ringers. I believe this would also add to the attractiveness of meetings to many who are just a little tired of ringing the same old methods meeting after meeting with nothing of fresh interest.

I quite realise, of course, that it is not an easy task, but as there seems to be a new type of ringer coming into existence who is willing at least to try something besides the old, if he gets the opportunity, it is worth while endeavouring to give it him, and at the same time show appreciation of the immense amount of work done by the producers of these new methods.

SUGGESTED MEMORIAL TO LATE REV. B. H. T. DRAKE.

ELY ASSOCIATION MEMBERS OFFER SUPPORT.

A meeting of the Central Branch of the Ely Diocesan Association, held at Chatteris, offered to support a scheme for a memorial to the Rev. B. H. Tyrwhitt-Drake. There was only a moderate attendance early, but Mr. A. J. Abram, on behalf of the local company, gave the members a warm welcome. Some good practice took place. Tea was partaken of in St. Peter's Hall, after which a short business meeting was held, Mr. F. W. Thulbon, Ringing Master, presiding.

The question of a proposed memorial to the late general secretary, the Rev. B. H. Tyrwhitt-Drake, was discussed, and the meeting decided that 'should the Central Council prefer to do anything of this kind (the rev. gentleman was their librarian), members of this branch would support such a suggestion at the annual general meeting of this association.'

'GRAN'FERS' CELEBRATE.

On Friday, February 5th, two members of the Oxford Diocesan Guild became grandfathers, and to celebrate the event the 'omit' 504 Stedman Triples was rung on the back eight of St. Laurence's, Reading: E. Humfrey 1, R. T. Hibbert (conductor) 2, C. Pullen 3, G. Foster 4, H. Smith 5, L. Sadler 6, W. Hibbert 7, Grandad E. J. Foster 8. This should have been a good touch of Stedman Cinques, but owing to the inclement weather the tower was far from full. The other 'Granfer' (ex-Sergt.-Major W. Hibbert, R.I.A.) celebrated at East Ilsley. However, at both places the two daughters were 'toasted' and wished a long and happy life.

WORCESTERSHIRE ASSOCIATION.STALWARTS AND YOUNGSTERS AT WESTERN BRANCH MEETING.

The Western Branch of the Worcestershire and Districts Association held its first meeting of the year at Wychbold, near Droitwich, last Saturday, in cold but fair weather. The church is situated upon a seam of salt, which is causing some concern about the safety of the church in the future, owing to the tremendous amount of brine pumped out of the earth by the salt works at Stoke. The ground in several places has sunk, and Judge Amphlett's home, not far distant, has been condemned for this reason, but up to the present no serious cracks have appeared in the church's fabric.

The bells, recently rehung by Taylor's, are handy and light, and were made good use of by about fifty members present, including very welcome visitors from Clent, Bromsgrove, Kidderminster, Smethwick and Coventry. A gratifying feature was the presence of many of the new recruits gained last year, and these were given ample opportunities by the Branch Ringing Master. To see treble and tenor ringers on an 'inside' bell certainly justified the time given to these new members, and, as many of them are now taking 'The Ringing World,' they will doubtless read this report and may be assured of similar treatment at future meetings. The more advanced members, besides getting a 'kick' out of their efforts in helping the learners, relieved the tedium of Doubles by touches of Cambridge, Double Oxford and St. Clement's.

A short service, fully choral, was held, conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. A. E. Gibbs), who gave a very interesting address on the lines familiar at these meetings. It was pleasing to note the presence in church of the Rev. A. H. Lewis, Vicar of St. Peter's, Droitwich, and an honorary member, who was accompanied by Mrs. Lewis. The Parochial Church Council very generously provided the tea, which was served at The Croft at the kind invitation of Miss C. E. Mule, the Vicarage Room being too small to accommodate both ringers and the choir.

At the business meeting which followed, the Vicar presided and was supported by Mr. W. Short (Master of the association), Messrs. C. Camm (Branch Ringing Master), G. E. Large (branch secretary) and W. Ranford (Central Committee). Apologies were tendered for Mr. E. P. Thomas (vice-president) and Mr. E. Barber (auditor).

One life, one honorary life member, four honorary and twelve performing members were elected.

Mr. Short proposed that the quarterly peal be rung at Wychbold, and to include as many of the local ringers as were capable, emphasising the need of encouraging local bands. Mr. W. H. Raxter was appointed conductor.

It was agreed to hold the next meeting at Longdon, where, Mr. Camm said, there would be an opportunity to get a newly-formed band to join the association.

The rest of the business was of a routine character and soon disposed of, after which Mr. Short thanked the Vicar, choir, organist, ladies and the local band for the part they had all played in making the meeting so enjoyable. The secretary, in seconding this, said it had been a pleasure to arrange this meeting, and he had had his task made easy by the willingness and co-operation of all the kind friends at Wychbold.

The close of the meeting brought an old member, Mr. E. F. Spalding, to pay his 37th subscription, and mention may be made of some other 'old-timers' present—Tom Elcox, of Areyley Kings, Charlie Smith, of Dodderhill, and Tom Davies, of Droitwich, the last of whom, with George Green, having overcome many difficulties and setbacks, has now a promising band of eight youngsters. On the homeward journey one was set pondering over the activities of these stalwarts through the years, remembering with pleasure that they, along with others whose names are more familiar, are still with us to inspire, by their loyal service to the association, those who have similar paths to tread.

MR. GEORGE WILLIAMS' GIFT TO CHURCH.SCREEN IN MEMORY OF HIS WIFE AT NORTH STONEHAM.

A handsome west screen has been erected in North Stoneham Church, Hants, by Mr. George Williams, Master of the Winchester and Portsmouth Diocesan Guild, in memory of his wife. The dedication ceremony was performed by the Rector, the Rev. F. J. Peile, M.A., on Sunday, February 21st, in the presence of a large congregation.

The screen is of dark oak, designed by Mr. E. A. Young, to harmonise with the fixtures of the ancient building, and it takes the place of the curtains which hitherto inadequately served to screen the ringing chamber from the nave of the church. It is a valuable addition to the comfort of the ringers, as those who took part in Saturday's peal of Treble Ten and in the service ringing on Sunday were quick to testify.

The work of erection was carried out by Mr. James Parker, of Edmonton, who was a welcome visitor at the weekly practice during his stay in Eastleigh, and assisted in ringing Cambridge from Minor to Royal, Superlative and London: a full programme for one night, especially as the learners had their turn as well.

It will be remembered that Mr. and Mrs. Williams gave the two trebles to North Stoneham Church to commemorate their golden wedding.

LONDON COUNTY ASSOCIATION.LARGE ATTENDANCE AT ANNUAL MEETING.

The annual general meeting of the London County Association and North Southwark Diocesan Guild was held on Saturday, February 13th. Ringing took place in the afternoon at St. Leonard's, Shore-ditch, St. Lawrence Jewry, St. Mary-le-Bow and St. Clement Dances. A splendid service followed at St. Clement Dances, the preacher being the Rt. Rev. Lord Bishop of Stepney, who had a congregation of ringers numbering about 100 persons. He took for his text 1st Cor. x. 31: 'Whatsoever ye do, do all to the glory of God.' The Bishop began by saying that bellringers gathered together in the love of art. Ringing, like all other arts, had its foundation in and was dependent on the Christian religion. In the earliest days artists were inspired by a religious motive, as shown by the fact that they invariably depicted Biblical subjects. He emphasised that ringers likewise should dedicate their endeavours to the glory of God. In his experience of bellringers one of the greatest joys they possessed was that wonderful gift of friendship. The trouble to-day abroad was due to suspicion caused by lack of comradeship, and in times of distrust between nations the world is sorely in need of the human touch and the drawing together in real live friendship. He begged all ringers to spread abroad the spirit of goodwill and comradeship.

Tea was taken at a nearby restaurant, at which 72 members sat down. Afterwards some adjourned to St. Clement's for more ringing; others stayed behind to hear handbell ringing by various parties.

The business meeting in the Parish Room followed. Four new members were elected and the election of six others ratified. The presentation of accounts by one of the auditors revealed a satisfactory position, the year finishing with a small balance of income over expenditure. The accounts were adopted. The records of 16 peals rung last year were accepted and will be sent to peal writer.

The report on the year's progress and position was given by the Master (Mr. T. H. Taffender), who referred to the satisfactory practices both at St. Clement's and Lambeth. There was, however, still room for further advancement. The peals rung during the year showed that 49 persons had taken part.

Respect was paid to those members who had passed away during the year by the meeting standing in silence.

The secretary (Mr. T. W. Taffender) said he was disappointed not to have the annual report for sale that evening, as the printer could not get them ready in time. After explaining the contents of and the work involved in compiling the report, he said he would be glad if members could encourage the sale of them at the small charge of sixpence, which would only cover cost of production on this the original production.—The election of officers, which usually causes some amusement and waste of time, was on this occasion soon disposed of, as the officials were all re-elected as follows: Master, T. H. Taffender; secretary, T. W. Taffender; assistant secretaries, F. E. Hawthorne and N. H. Manning; treasurer, E. A. Young; stewards, T. Wyatt and P. Carter; trustees, A. H. Keighley and F. E. Dawe.

Dissatisfaction was expressed concerning the demolition of All Hallows' Church, Lombard Street, E.C., and the removal of the bells. The secretary pointed out that the authorities had been written to, but no reply had been received. It was hoped that the bells would be hung in a tower sufficiently strong to enable them to be rung for service.

Votes of thanks were recorded for the arrangements of the day, especially at St. Clement's and the other towers where ringing had taken place.

As there was only one band prepared to enter the handbell contest for the Dawe Cup, another band was summoned from a local tower in order to make a contest. The bands then completed their methods, and the result from the three judges was soon forthcoming. They decided that the contest was a draw. The evening concluded with some Grandioso Cinques by the brigade from Dartford ringing four bells each.

POLICE RINGERS VISIT LIVERPOOL.

NATIONAL GUILD HOLD THEIR ANNUAL MEETING.

Reception by Lord Mayor.

The annual meeting of the National Police Guild was held in Liverpool on Saturday, February 13th, the following forces being represented: Metropolitan, Manchester City, Leicester City, Birmingham City, Cardiff City, Liverpool City, Reigate Borough, Bolton Borough, Northampton County, Lancashire County and Leicester County.

Visitors commenced to arrive about 10 a.m., with the exception of the Metropolitan 'early birds,' who, having travelled throughout the night, were already on the scene of action. The bells of St. Francis Xavier's Roman Catholic Church, Salisbury Street, were rung to various methods until about noon, and then a move was made to the Bear's Paw Restaurant, in Lord Street, for luncheon. The Guild were honoured by the presence of Mr. A. K. Wilson, Chief Constable of Liverpool; the Rev. D. Raiton, Rector of Liverpool; the Rev. A. Scott, of Bolton, the president of the Lancashire Association; Mr. W. H. Shaker, hon. secretary of the association; and Mr. G. R. Newton. Apologies for absence were received from Mr. O. J. B. Cole (Chief Constable of Leicester), Supt. W. Green (Deputy Chief Constable of Oxfordshire), Supt. A. Wiggins (Deputy Chief Constable of Berkshire), Supt. C. P. Hilton (Surrey County), and other members of the Guild.

After luncheon, the president of the Guild, Supt. F. R. Williams, Manchester City, extended a welcome to the guests. Suitable replies were made by the Rev. D. Raiton and Mr. A. K. Wilson. The latter said he knew nothing about bellringing, but he was very interested in a course of Grandsire Triples rung on the handbells shortly afterwards.

An official reception was given by the Lord Mayor of Liverpool, Alderman Denton, and the Lady Mayoress at the Town Hall at 3 p.m. In welcoming the Guild, Alderman Denton referred to the important part to be played by bellringers in the forthcoming celebrations for the Coronation, and appealed to all ringers to do all they could to make the celebrations successful.

The president of the Guild replied on behalf of the Guild members and the Rev. D. Raiton for the ringers of Liverpool. A course of Grandsire Caters was then rung on the handbells by members of the Manchester City and Leicester City Forces, followed by the tunes 'Blue Bells of Scotland' and 'Drink to me only.' The Lord Mayor and Lady Mayoress were very interested in the ringing.

VISIT TO NEW CATHEDRAL.

A visit then followed to the new Cathedral. Canon Soulsby very kindly conducted the party through the Cathedral and explained in detail the various parts of it. Truly a magnificent building now, but what a pleasure in store for those who may be able to see it completed.

Tea was partaken of at the Bear's Paw Restaurant, after which the business meeting of the Guild was held.

The following officers were re-elected: Supt. F. R. Williams, Manchester City, president; ex-Chief Inspector W. Bottrill, Metropolitan Police, vice-president; Inspector H. J. Poole, Leicester City, hon. secretary and treasurer; Sergt. H. G. Jenney, Leicester City, auditor. The following members constitute the committee: Sergt. H. G. Jenney, Leicester City; P.C. N. Bagworth, Metropolitan; P.C. D. Brown, Manchester City; P.C. E. C. Birkett, Liverpool City; ex-Sergt. W. Dowling, Birmingham City; ex-Sergt. A. Lawrence, Herts County; ex-P.C. F. Page, Manchester City; and ex-P.C. W. Clayton, Reigate Borough.

Congratulations of the Guild were extended to Supt. F. R. Williams on the recent honour conferred upon him in receiving the King's Police Medal.

It was decided to hold the next annual meeting of the Guild in February, 1938, at Nottingham.

Ringings afterwards took place on the peal of twelve bells at St. Nicholas' Church until about 8 p.m., and then a return was made to the Bear's Paw Restaurant for the social evening. Entertainment was provided by P.C.s Frankland and Hughes (Liverpool City), P.C. W. Pye (Manchester City), ex-Sergt. W. Dowling (Birmingham), Mr. S. Jones, Mr. B. Lloyd and Mr. Frost (Liverpool). Selections on the handbells were rendered very effectively by Mr. I. Booth and Miss Booth, of Standish, near Wigan, Miss F. A. Poole, the Guild secretary's sister, accompanying on the piano.

The thanks of the Guild are due to Chief Inspector J. Meldrum and P.C.s E. C. Birkett and T. R. Butler, of the Liverpool City Force, for the excellent arrangements which were made. Also to Mr. G. R. Newton and other members of the Lancashire Association who assisted in any way to the making of such a successful meeting and enjoyable day.

THE LEICESTER PARTY'S EXPERIENCES.

The Leicester contingent, writes a correspondent, met at 7 a.m. and all reported promptly, with the exception of one 'Raw-son of a Gun,' renowned, apparently, for punctuality. The party numbered 24 and included the 'ever-present,' dare we say 'evergreen,' 'F. H. D.' The journey commenced in good style in a specially reserved saloon, and soon the handbells were tinkling (tinkling's right) with tunes and changes. After a time, it was obvious that more than one member of the handbell band was interested in scenery, and on reaching Derbyshire it was a case of 'all eyes on deck' for 'Abraham's Heights.' Either something was amiss with our look-out or the heights had been lowered, because nothing was seen of them. Someone suggested that there was a famous mill in the district, but we neither saw the 'Mill' nor the stream.

On reaching Ambergate we were officially received by a representative of the L.M. and S. Railway Co., a porter aged 14 years, who rubbed his ear against the saloon window in an effort to hear more of the bells. Judging by the wagging of his ears and the astonished look upon his face, he had never heard anything so weird before. He handed his cap through the window to receive a collection made for him and his face fairly 'lit up' as we left him on the platform.

Please note that this 'lit-up' has no connection with the 'lit-up' in the 'Dexter Code.'

During this time a member of the 'solo' school had been making steady progress, and it was a question whether or not he would require a 'Carter' to carry off the bunce. 'The Unlucky Old Soldier' was in the school again.

We arrived at Liverpool in good time and made our way to St. Francis Xavier's Church, Salisbury Street. The next spectacle we observed was a Guild member and another ringer, quite tall enough for a policeman ('no names, no packdrill'), trying all the doors of a licensed house. Their efforts were in vain. Cries of 'Shame' from the crowd. 'Open doors' was not until 11.30 a.m. and it was now only 11.28 a.m.! This time they certainly were not 'Lit-up,' but very much 'Blacked-out.'

Our next concern was the luncheon delay. A complete party was missing and the only news of them was that they had gone to ring at a church a few miles out of Liverpool. When they did arrive no one would wear the blame, and the only reasonable excuse forthcoming was that the church in question had been moved further from Liverpool.

SEVEN IN A TAXI FOR FOUR.

If there was one thing more than another we all wanted to see it was the famous Mersey Tunnel. The following is an account of one of the parties: During our visit to the new Cathedral one female excursionist mentioned to a policeman on duty outside the Cathedral that we wanted to go through the tunnel. He made no more to do than order at once a taxi. Maybe he was on commission. Anyhow a great struggle followed; half the party in the Cathedral and waiting to see more of that and the other half outside marking time on the taxi driver. Poor Fred (not Dexter this time) was the runner between the parties, pleading to each for a mutual settlement. Eventually we all assembled at the taxi. Now for another calamity—taxi to hold four persons and seven in the party. After some argument the taxi driver exclaimed, really as a last hope, 'Well if you don't mind the crush, I don't.' In we all pushed. What a crowd. Poor Fred could neither stand up nor sit down. When he did eventually get down he appeared to make room for three more. We could hear the springs playing a tune on the back axle as we went bouncing through the streets. The next trouble was a scarcity of fresh air, but fortunately we were able to get a window open before the tunnel entrance was reached. Someone said, 'What a pity the Roes are not here.' Surely a misunderstanding; we were going under the Mersey, not over it—no rowing needed. For the benefit of those who have not visited the tunnel, it may be well to explain that there is a lane for slow traffic and one for fast traffic in each direction through the tunnel. What a scream went up as the driver cautiously entered the lane for 'Slow traffic.' Never a better example of 'safety first.'

After the wonderful experience of the tunnel we wanted to return to the cafe for tea. Then came a guessing competition for the name of the cafe. We knew it was something to do with an animal's foot, 'Cow-heel' was one suggestion. 'Sheep's trotter' another, and in despair someone shouted 'The Boar's Head.' It's something to do with a poor bear. Ah! 'Bears Paw,' that's it. The taxi driver landed us back safely and no one enjoyed the trip more than he did.

We fully enjoyed the evening's entertainment, but had to leave before the finish. Another 'hold-up.' One of our Freds put on a coat—not his own. Unfortunately, it was not nearly so good as his own—hence the delay for the change.

The journey home was enjoyed in various ways. Solo school, handbell band and the 'shut-eye' party. Leicester was reached about 3 a.m. all well satisfied with the splendid day.

One important item missed. F. H. D. did not ring on the peal of twelve, but this time it was not our fault, but his. If he admits it, it must be so.

PASSING OF A HAMPSHIRE VETERAN.

The death took place at New Alresford, Hants, on February 10th, of Mr. Edwin Knight, after a short illness, at the age of 84 years. He had been connected with the bells for nearly the whole of his life and for many years was captain of the local band. He was not a change ringer, but he loved and took especial pride in the church bells and was a most regular attendant at Sunday service ringing. No one was more delighted than he when the recent restoration of the bells was completed.

He was laid to rest on Saturday, February 13th, and many of his old friends gathered to ring a muffled farewell. The whole nill and stand was rung 84 times by the local band, assisted by Mr. G. Noice, district secretary of the Winchester and Portsmouth Diocesan Guild.

THREE GENERATIONS.

THE HARRISON FAMILY AT LOUGHBOROUGH.

In our last issue we recorded a peal of Bob Major in which three generations of yet another family took part together. Geoffrey Harrison, aged 13, rang with his father and grandfather. This photograph of them was taken in the ringing room at the Bell Foundry tower.

Mr. Robert Harrison began his ringing career at the Parish Church, Sheffield; this was whilst still in his teens, in 1888,

It was natural for Geoffrey to accompany his father into the Foundry Campanile on practice nights, and at nine years of age he could handle any of the ten bells there. He was determined to ring a peal before he was thirteen, and fate nearly intervened to prevent this—a week before he was thirteen Geoffrey was laid up with the 'flu, and then his father started with the same symptoms, which seemed to put 'paid' to any idea of getting the peal. However, they pulled round in time to make the attempt and score on January 27th, as has been previously recorded.

There had been the thought of including 'Grandad,' but there was a little doubt as to whether Geoffrey would have the stamina to stand and since then he has been associated with the Cathedral and St. Marie's companies, except for a brief spell in London in 1891-2. He has rung 45 peals.

His son, Colin, also first learned to ring a bell at the Parish Church, Sheffield, as a boy ten years old. He served four years in the Army during the Great War and upon his return joined the Cathedral company and later the St. Marie's company. In 1928 he took up his present post with Messrs. Taylor and Co., of Loughborough, over whose foundry he has acted as guide to hundreds of ringers. He has rung 120 peals, ranging from Minor to Maximus, and conducted peals from Minor to Cinques.

the time, so the idea was abandoned until he had proved differently, and, as we recorded last week, the three generations took part in a successful peal of Bob Major on Monday, February 8th. Young Geoffrey is only a lightweight, but he has got the knack all right and has started what everyone hopes will turn out to be a promising ringing career.

Other families who have in recent years had the distinction of ringing peals in which three generations have been included have been the Barnetts, of Crayford, the Groombridges, of Kent, the Tillets, of Ipswich, the Symonds, of Suffolk, and the Paulsons, of Derbyshire.

SHERWOOD YOUTHS.

WILL W. D. CROFTS MEMORIAL DINNER BE REVIVED?

The annual meeting of the Society of Sherwood Youths was held on Saturday, February 13th, in St. Mary's tower, Nottingham, the Master, Mr. A. Coppock, presiding.

The accounts were presented and passed and three new members were elected.

On the proposition of Mr. Metcalf, seconded by Mr. Kirton, the officers were all re-elected.

The possibility of reviving the W. D. Crofts memorial dinner was put forward by one of the members and several expressed regret that this gathering had been allowed to lapse. After a short discussion the matter was commended for further consideration.

Suitable places of meeting for this year were then considered, and an invitation from Mr. Kirton to visit Bottesford in the summer was accepted. The usual votes of thanks brought the meeting to a close.

Further ringing was then enjoyed, a variety of methods being rung and every touch save one being successfully brought round.

SUSSEX COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

The annual meeting of the Western Division of the Sussex County Association was held at Chichester on Saturday, February 13th, when 30 members attended from the following towers: Arundel, Angmering, Bosham, Heene, Lyminster, Portsmouth, Portsea, Rudgwick and the local band.

At the business meeting the Divisional Secretary and Committee of Advice were re-elected. One change was made on the General Committee, Mr. E. Treagus, of Arundel, being elected in place of Mr. Adams.

A vote of thanks was accorded to the Dean of Chichester Cathedral for the use of the bells, on which ringing took place during the afternoon and evening. The methods rung ranged from rounds to Double Norwich.

LINCOLN DIOCESAN GUILD.

UNPAID SUBSCRIPTIONS IN GRIMSBY DISTRICT.

The annual meeting of the Grimsby District of the Lincoln Diocesan Guild was held at St. James', Grimsby. The bad weather kept a large number away, but members attended from Bigby, Burton-on-Stather, Scunthorpe, Louth, Alford, Ulceby, Killingholme, Barrow-on-Humber, Thornton Curtis and the local members. Service was conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. E. Lisle Marsden), who gave an interesting address.

Twenty-one sat down to tea. In the absence of the president (Ven. Archdeacon Parry), the Vicar kindly presided at the business meeting.

The secretary's and Ringing Master's reports on the past year's work were presented, and a vote of thanks passed to them.

Apologies were received from the Guild Ringing Master (Mr. R. Richardson) and the president of the branch.

The secretary reported that they had lost a few members during the past year and quite a number had not paid their subscriptions. He hoped they would make amends during 1937.

The Vicar was welcomed as an honorary member. It was reported that the District Bell Fund amounted to 7s. 6d., and the Bell Fund accounts were accepted.

The places and dates of meetings, proposed by the District Committee, were accepted, viz.: Thornton Curtis, April 10th; Alford, May 8th; Bigby, June 19th; Burton-on-Stather, July 17th; Barton-on-Humber, September 11th (subject to alteration). Combined practices were arranged for Waltham on February 13th, Barton-on-Humber on March 6th, and Elsham on March 13th.

A hearty vote of thanks was given to the Vicar for conducting the service, for the use of the bells and for his excellent address, to Mr. H. Rushby for presiding at the organ, and to the caterers for the excellent tea.

In reply, the Vicar said he was very glad to welcome them at Grimsby. Members then returned to the tower for further ringing.

THE LATE MR. J. W. MALYAN.

'FATHER' OF RINGERS AT ST. STEPHEN'S, ST. ALBANS.
As we briefly recorded last week, the death has taken place at St. Albans of Mr. John William Malyan.

Mr. Malyan, who was 52 years of age, died at his home after a long illness. He leaves a widow and one daughter, with whom much sympathy is felt.

Mr. Malyan started his bellringing career in 1902 at St. Albans Abbey, after which he identified himself with St. Stephen's Church, where he became a member of the choir in the time of the late Rev. W. D. W. Dudley. He had been the conductor of the St. Stephen's Society of Ringers since about 1906 and had taken part in the ringing of over a hundred peals. Members of the present St. Stephen's company regarded him as the 'father' of the band because he instructed them all in the art of campanology.

In his younger days, Mr. Malyan was a keen footballer. He played in local junior games and for two seasons before the war he captained St. Albans City's second eleven.

The first part of the funeral service, held in St. Stephen's Church, was conducted by the Rev. B. E. P. Mitchell (Vicar of St. Michael's), who gave a brief address in which he paid tribute to deceased's courage and fortitude during his long and painful illness and expressed sympathy with the relatives. Mr. Mitchell also officiated at the graveside. Handbells were rung over the open grave after the committal by Messrs. W. Ayre, G. Debenham, F. Kirk and C. Jeffs.

Before the service, and afterwards, the following members of the St. Stephen's hand rang half-muffled touches of Grandsire Doubles in memory of their late conductor: Messrs. G. Pratt (conductor), R. Ewer, A. Ewer, R. Andrews, R. Bedford and A. Halsey.

In the evening half-muffled touches of Plain Bob and Grandsire Doubles were rung at St. Michael's Church, St. Albans, by Messrs. F. Giddings, A. Eaton, A. Halsey, sen., L. Turner, F. Peters, E. Hunt and S. Farmer (St. Michael's), F. Kirk (St. Peter's) and C. Ewer (St. Stephen's). A half-muffled touch was also rung at St. Albans Abbey.

A numerous congregation attended to pay a last tribute of respect, and among the ringers present in addition to those already mentioned were Messrs. F. L. Whiteman, T. Blow and C. Walklate representing the Cathedral Society of Change Ringers, and Messrs. J. F. Chatley and E. J. Gale were present on behalf of St. Peter's Society.

Among the many wreaths were the following: 'With deepest sympathy, from his fellow-workmates at Messrs. Dunham and Martin'; 'In affectionate remembrance of our Conductor Jack, from his fellow-ringers at St. Stephen's, George, Reg, Bob, Abel, Dick and Ron. This is all. Stand'; 'With deepest sympathy, from the Cathedral Society of Change Ringers'; 'With deepest sympathy, from St. Peter's Society of Change Ringers'; 'With deepest sympathy, from St. Michael's Women's Meeting and Mothers' Union.'

BEDFORDSHIRE ASSOCIATION.

MR. A. E. SHARMAN GIVES UP LUTON DISTRICT SECRETARYSHIP.

The annual meeting of the Luton District was held at the Priory Church, Dunstable, and was fairly well attended. The bells were rung to various methods from 2.45 p.m. to tea time. Tea was served in the Temperance Hotel, and was followed by the business meeting, presided over by the Rector of Dunstable (Canon H. A. Griffith), supported by the Mayor of Dunstable (Councillor F. Kenworthy), Councillor S. G. Biswell and others.

The chairman congratulated the district secretary on being (since their last meeting) elected to the Town Council.

The officers elected for the ensuing year were: Chairman, Mr. A. King, Luton; hon. secretary, Mr. F. J. Plummer, Leighton Buzzard; to the General Committee, Mr. H. H. Smith, Husbome Crawley, and Mr. H. D. Harris, Woburn.

Mr. A. E. Sharman, on resigning the post of district secretary, said that it was on February 14th, 1920, that he was first appointed, almost 17 years to the day. That was a long time in the life of a voluntary organisation. He felt compelled to resign owing to the pressure of other work. He hoped the members would help Mr. Plummer all they could.

The Rector said the news that Mr. Sharman intended to resign had come as a shock to him, and he proposed that the best thanks of the members should be accorded to Mr. Sharman for all he had done and be recorded in the minutes.

The four quarterly meetings were fixed as follows: Luton, April 17th; Woburn, July 17th; Leighton Buzzard, October 16th; and Dunstable, February 12th, 1938.

A vote of thanks was passed to the Rector for the use of the bells, and a course of Grandsire Caters 'in hand' was afterwards rung. The tower was again visited and the bells were kept busy in many methods until 8 p.m.

Mr. Sharman, although giving up the secretaryship of the Luton District, still retains the more important office of general secretary of the Bedfordshire Association.

BOSTON, LINCOLNSHIRE.—On Sunday, February 14th, for evening, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples (1,260 changes): S. Appleby 1, J. Sharpe 2, S. Jesson 3, A. Appleby 4, R. Brown 5, A. Ellis 6, F. Dewey (conductor) 7, W. E. Clarke 8. Specially arranged and rung as a 21st birthday compliment to Phyllis, daughter of the conductor.

DEVON GUILD.

NORTH-WEST BRANCH ANNUAL MEETING.

Great Torrington was the venue of the annual meeting of North-West Branch of the Devon Guild of Ringers, and members from Bridgwater, Holsworthy, Petersmarland, Poundstock, Pyworthy, Plymouth and Sutcombe assembled in support of the chairman, the Rev. W. H. Ravenhill.

The service in the Parish Church was conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. Keble Martin), the Revs. W. H. Swale and W. H. Ravenhill being also in attendance. In his address the Vicar stressed the desirability of sympathy and unanimity between all who work in the service of God.

A collection was made on behalf of the Guild Church Bell Restoration Fund.

Tea was served in the Globe Hotel, after which followed the business meeting, when the report and balance sheet were accepted. Five members of the Poundstock band and Mr. Gomer (Weare Gifford) were elected to the Guild.

The Rev. W. H. Ravenhill (chairman), Mr. J. W. Sangwin (hon. secretary), Mr. W. J. Shears (treasurer) and Mr. F. Sangwin (Ringing Master), with the representatives to the Guild Committee, were re-elected for the ensuing year and heartily thanked for past services.

A cordial vote of thanks was given to the Rev. Keble Martin for his interesting address and the use of the bells, as well as to the organist (Miss Wright).

Ringling on the beautiful peal of eight, recently rehung by J. Taylor and Co., tenor 15 cwt., consisting of rounds, Stedman and Grandsire Triples, continued till 7.30 p.m., when the bells were lowered in a style worthy of the best 'Devonshire' tradition.

DEARTH OF YOUNG RINGERS.

SUSSEX FINDS DIFFICULTY IN FILLING GAPS.

The dearth of young ringers in Sussex was referred to at the annual dinner of the Southover (Lewes) Guild, held on Tuesday, Feb. 9th, at the King's Head Inn, when the Rector (the Rev. D. G. Matthews) presided and was supported by Mr. H. E. White and Mr. R. Curtis (vice-presidents).

After the loyal toast had been honoured, Mr. F. Bennett (Brighton) proposed 'The Southover Bellringers' Guild,' and referred to the loss they had sustained in the recent death of Mr. R. J. Dawe. Proceeding, he said the trouble nowadays was that the old enthusiasts were passing on and few younger men came forward to take the vacant places.

Mr. G. P. Elphick (hon. secretary of the Guild), responding, said although the Guild was running very well they wanted more young men to take an interest in bellringing.

Mr. A. J. Turner (captain of the Guild) proposed 'The Sussex County Association,' and referred to the times when bellfries were not kept in as good a condition as they were to-day. In those days the bellfries were often a source of danger to the ringers and there was no authority to inspect them.

Responding, Mr. S. E. Armstrong (hon. secretary) said the Sussex County Association were finding a dearth of young ringers. There were so many other attractions for the young men of to-day that it was very hard to get them interested.

Mr. W. Ward proposed 'The President and Vice-Presidents,' and said that the Rector of Southover had been with them over six years. He had interested himself to a great extent in all the activities of the church, especially the bellringers. He joined heartily in everything which they did and they hoped that Mr. Matthews would have many more years with them. With the toast he coupled the name of Mrs. Matthews, and musical honours were accorded.

The Rev. D. G. Matthews remarked on the excellent secretary and treasurer the Guild had and on the businesslike way in which the Guild was managed.

Mr. F. Crees proposed 'The Host and Hostess,' and Mr. and Mrs. J. Muzzell replied.

The musical programme was sustained by Messrs. A. J. Turner, J. Crees, T. Woolston, F. Taylor, W. Ward, G. Elphick and others.

MR. JOSEPH SADDINGTON'S LONG SERVICE.

SIXTY YEARS A RINGER.

Mr. Joseph Saddington, of Burton Latimer, Northants, has completed 60 years as a ringer, first at Cranford and the last 18 years at Burton Latimer. For evening service on Sunday, February 14th, and to mark this long period of service, a quarter-peal of Kent Treble Bob Major (1,280 changes) was rung at Burton Latimer when the veteran ringer took part: G. Lines 1, M. Hobbs 2, H. Turner 3, F. J. Tite 4, J. Saddington 5, B. J. Saddington 6, B. P. Morris 7, R. G. Black (conductor) 8.

At the annual meeting of the Parochial Church Council recently, the Rector (the Rev. H. T. Edwards, M.A.) presented Mr. Saddington with a clock and added that his record of service to the church was one of which any Christian might be proud.

All his ringing friends wish Mr. Saddington health and strength long to continue, and to add more years to this wonderful record.

A CORONATION YEAR 'PUSH.'

Those who have at heart the future of the Exercise will give their approval to the suggestion, made by Mr. Frank Perrons on Saturday at the Henry Johnson Commemoration Dinner at Birmingham, that in this Coronation year a great 'push' should be made to increase the number of bell ringers. It is not only that ringers will require to be at full strength to do justice to the great national celebrations in May, but the maintenance of the art demands that a united effort should be made to increase the ranks of those responsible for ringing in the future. In some places, it is true, there are fortunate bands of ringers who regularly ring all their bells for the Sunday services, but there is a large number of towers where the personnel is definitely short of the number of bells or where the circumstances are such that a full band cannot always be depended upon. These bands need supplementing. Further, there are other towers where the bells are silent for want of ringers, and efforts are needed to re-create an interest in the belfry.

Bells are going to play an important part in the Coronation celebrations in thousands of towns and villages, and the coming event provides one of the best opportunities that have occurred for more than a quarter of a century, for advocating the claims which church bells should have upon the interests of the public and the need there is for recruits. Except where the payment of the ringers keeps their little coterie a 'closed' society, recruits are always welcome, but this is an exceptional opportunity for interesting suitable recruits. Ringers, however, must be prepared to shoulder the task themselves and use every means at their disposal to make the matter known in every likely quarter. The church organisations should be able to provide much suitable material, but acceptable recruits might well be found outside, if the ringers themselves make it their special business. It may mean real endeavour, but much would be accomplished if every ringer set himself to bring in a recruit during this year and teach him to ring a bell. What is needed is definite and determined effort. Any source that may be useful should be tapped and the aid of the clergy and even the public press might be enlisted, but the real brunt of the task must fall upon the ringers. The reviving of interest in those places where there are now no ringers will be a more difficult business, perhaps, and it is the associations and guilds that can take a hand in such cases, by first enlisting the sympathy and help of the clergy and Church Council to collect likely recruits and then supplying instructors. Our belfries, nearly all of them, need recruits and, as Mr. Perrons pointed out in his speech, there never was a more favoured time than that provided by Coronation year for a great effort to obtain them.

EFFECTIVE SOUND ADJUSTMENT.

SUCCESSFUL RESULT IN LINCOLNSHIRE TOWER.

Messrs. Gillett and Johnston have received the following letter from the Rev. G. A. Elson, Vicar of Donington, Lincs:—

'I have received safely the framed record of our bells restoration, and have to offer you on behalf of the ringers and congregation my sincere thanks.

'I hear very excellent reports from my ringers of the going of the peal, and it will always afford me much pleasure in testifying to the work done by you in this tower. You will be interested to hear that the partial boarding-up of the open windows, while not impairing the sweetness of the ring, has been a success in softening the sound to dwellers just under the spire. It is always a pity that even a few should suffer from what brings such keen joy to very many—not so near!'

FOR BEGINNERS.

PROVING BOB MINOR.

There are many beginners, and many more advanced ringers, too, who like to dabble a little in composing, if only to while away odd moments. They love to try their hand, for instance, at putting together touches of Grandsire Triples, or even finding a new method. It may not always be a profitable occupation, but it is very fascinating.

And yet, we think, there is something to be gained from it, even if the material results are very small. By 'experimenting' with figures, the student may learn quite a lot.

Composing, without proving, is, of course, a waste of time. The ringer who 'composes' touches or peals leaves his work incomplete if he does not 'prove' that what he has composed is true. A composition is worthless unless it is true.

A reader, who has been working on Bob Minor, asks us to deal with the proof of it in this column. He says, 'It does not always follow, I find, that even if the lead ends do not repeat, the touch need necessarily be true. In Bob Major, I believe I am right in saying, provided the tenors are kept together, then a touch or peal is true if the lead ends are true. Of course, I appreciate that in Minor the tenors cannot be kept together throughout the whole of a 720.'

First with regard to Bob Major, it is the fact of keeping two bells (the tenors) constantly in the same relationship that ensures the truth of a composition, if the lead-ends are true. If the tenors are parted, then there is a risk of repetition unless certain safeguards are taken. Just as an example, taken at haphazard, the change 61725846 can occur, when the treble is coming down, before the lead-head 16725846 and after the lead-head 16278564 with the treble going up. Just take paper and pencil and work it out for yourselves.

In Bob Minor the same risk occurs when the 'tenors' are parted, and, as they must necessarily be parted to obtain the full extent of changes, the mere checking of the backstroke treble leads is not sufficient.

Our correspondent asks us to use the following example, which he specially compiled, to illustrate our explanation:—

— 23564	S 54263	— 42563
36245	46532	— 42635
S 36524	— 63254
S 63245	— 63542

In Bob Minor the two bells behind are not affected by a bob, and by the use of bobs and singles they can come together six times, but they may sometimes be coursing in a reverse order, and when you check your composition you must make sure that the reverse order does not give you the same change at handstroke that you have already had elsewhere at backstroke; if you do, you have repeated, in the reverse order, the preceding eleven changes.

Wherever, therefore, you find you have bells in 5-6 reversed, you must check the handstrokes as well as the backstrokes, and if you are using singles, you must check both hand and backstrokes, whichever way the bells turn up behind. As the proof of Bob Minor, in any case, is not a very lengthy business, it may be quicker and safer in the long run for the beginner to write down every handstroke and backstroke of his composition. The handstrokes of the above touch are:—

S 63425	64352	24365
S 36542	— 36245
S 63254	— 36524

Now compare these rows against the previous set of backstrokes and you find repetition between Lead 2, Column 1, and Lead 4, Column 2; Lead 4, Column 1, and Lead 5, Column 2; Lead 3, Column 2, and Lead 5, Column 1.

In this particular touch there is one other thing which will be obvious to the student. You cannot have more than six rows with the same pair of bells in 2-3, when the treble is leading. When a single is made that pair of bells is in 2-3 both at handstroke and backstroke, and the single, therefore, accounts for two of the six changes. A glance at the figures of the above touch, therefore, reveals falseness at once, for 6-3 are in front twice at singles (which accounts for four changes) and three times elsewhere, so that even if all the six rows had been used (actually only five are) the touch must be false.

Perhaps our readers would like to try their hand at the following touch of 240 and see whether or not it is true:—

— 23645	56423	26534	56432
34256	— 56234	63245	63524
	63542	34652	32645

MIDLAND COUNTIES ASSOCIATION.

BURTON DISTRICT APPOINTS A RINGING MASTER.

A meeting of the Burton-on-Trent District was held at Rolleston-on-Dove on Saturday last, and, considering the unsettled state of the weather, there was a good attendance. The following towers were represented: St. Paul's, Burton, Overseale, Netherseale, Newhall, Ticknall, Tutbury, Lullington, Castle Donnington, Melbourne and Norton-in-the-Moors, together with the local company.

Members were delighted to have present with them the chairman of the district, Mr. W. W. Worthington, J.P., of Maple Hayes, Lichfield, and at the suggestion of Mr. Worthington the first touch was Stedman Triples. Touches in the simpler methods were then rung for the sake of the less proficient. The company were entertained to tea by the Rector of Rolleston (the Rev. William Bagnall).

At the opening of the subsequent business meeting Mr. J. H. Swinfield referred to the loss the district had sustained in the death of Mr. R. G. Lewis, of Uttoxeter, and as a mark of respect the company stood in silence for a few moments.

One new honorary member and three ringing members were elected. It was decided to elect a Ringing Master for the district, and, on the proposition of Mr. W. H. Curson, seconded by Mr. J. W. Cotton, Mr. J. H. Swinfield was unanimously chosen to this new appointment.

Ticknall having been chosen for the place of the next meeting on April 10th, it was decided that the special Minor method for practice should be Double Court.

The meeting closed with a hearty vote of thanks to the Rector of Rolleston for his kind hospitality and for use of the bells.

Ringings continued until 7.30 and ranged from Grandsire Doubles to Kent Treble Bob Major.

LEEDS AND DISTRICT SOCIETY

RINGERS' COMMUNION SERVICE TO BE HELD.

At this time of year attendances at meetings depend very much on the state of the weather, and as the Leeds area had had a very drenching time lately, ending with a very heavy fall of snow, the attendance at Liversedge on Saturday last was not a record.

The bells were rung up at 3 p.m., and, except for the usual breaks, continued until 9 o'clock. The business meeting was held in the tower, when the chair was taken by the president. Three new members were elected, Mr. F. Popplewell, of Brighouse, and Messrs. F. Gibbard and A. Wright, of Burley.

The vote of thanks to the Vicar, churchwardens and the local company was proposed by the president and seconded by Mr. L. Drake. Mr. F. Hodgson replied for the local company.

Members were present from Armley, Batley, Burley, Drighlington, Idle, Birstall, Eland, Sherburn, Shipley, Lindley and the local company, also Mr. Deal, of London.

The next meeting will be held at Armley on Saturday, March 20th. This is one week earlier than the usual date owing to Easter falling on the last week-end in March.

It has been decided to hold a ringers' Communion service at this meeting, which is also the nomination meeting of the Leeds Society for the coming year.

FIRST 720 OF MINOR AT WING, BUCKS.

BUT BELLS 'UNPEALABLE.'

The village church of Wing, near Leighton Buzzard, is noted for possessing some fine architectural features, including an early Norman nave, a Norman apse and a perfect Saxon window. Ringers, however, will be more interested in the bells, which are an ancient peal of six, with a tenor of 29½ cwt., the fourth heaviest six in the country. They are dated 1654, 1640, 1635, 1635, 1842 and 1863 respectively, from treble to tenor. The usual ringing chamber is on the ground floor with a draught of 70ft! Previous visits by bands have all brought the same remarks, 'Nearly unringable!' Once, however, a party decided to take some ropes and ring from the floor under the bells. And on that occasion there was a great improvement.

Another band of enthusiasts decided to follow their example, and after spending 2½ hours sitting on ropes, oiling the bells and doing other adjustments, started for a 720 of Cambridge Surprise. To the pleasant surprise of everyone, this was duly completed, and at the finish it was unanimously decided that the bells, especially the tenor, are definitely unpealable (a point which our correspondent asks other enthusiasts to note). The band who rang the 720 were Miss M. R. Cross 1, A. S. Richards 2, A. P. Cannon 3, H. H. Alexander 4, F. D. Boreham 5, Rev. C. E. Wigg (conductor) 6.

ESSEX ASSOCIATION.DIVISIONAL MEETING AT FRYERNING.

The South-Eastern Division of the Essex Association visited Fryerning for their meeting on February 13th, there being 29 members and friends present from Great Baddow, Boreham, Broomfield, Chelmsford, Ford End, Fryerning, Maldon, Springfield, Little Waltham, Sudbury, Leytonstone and Wanstead.

The association form of service was conducted by the Rector, the Rev. C. S. Trimble, who gave the ringers a very warm welcome. The lesson was read by the Divisional Master, Mr. H. Mansfield, and the singing led by the organist, Mr. F. A. Bradley, who very kindly left his work to do so, and had to return to his duties immediately afterwards.

Tea, which was kindly provided by the local ringers and their friends, was served in the Parish Room and was followed by the business meeting, at which one new ringing member, Mr. N. F. Grinham, of Boreham, was elected.

It was decided, subject to the necessary permission being granted, to hold the next meeting at Widford on April 24th.

Mr. S. Taylor, on behalf of all present, thanked the Rector for the use of the bells and for taking the service, the local band and their friends for providing and serving the tea, and Mr. A. Bradley for making the arrangements, also the organist and organ blower. He was especially grateful to the organist for transposing the hymns into a lower key so that all could sing the higher notes.

The Rector, in reply, repeated his welcome and said that when they came to Fryerning again he hoped they would come in the summer, when he would be very pleased to throw open the Rectory garden.

Handbell ringing followed and a return made to the tower. Several ringers called at Ingatestone on the way home, the bells there being available during the evening.

SILVER WEDDING CELEBRATED.

At Cirencester, Glos., on February 15th, to celebrate the silver wedding of Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Lewis, a quarter-peat of Grandsire Caters (1,295 changes), composed by R. F. Deal, was rung at the Parish Church: H. L. Cooke 1, F. J. Lewis, jun. 2, A. Painter 3, F. J. Lewis, sen. (conductor) 4, J. C. Eden 5, W. G. Cook 6, S. R. Hicks 7, H. S. Parsons 8, W. H. Hayward 9, F. F. Bloxham 10.

The ringers afterwards adjourned to the conductor's home, where a convivial evening was spent and tunes and changes rung on the handbells. Mr. F. J. Lewis, jun., also entertained the company by tapping tunes on the handbells and ringing tunes on the fairy bells.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

There is special interest in the handbell peal rung at Cambridge on February 21st, for one of the two undergraduates who then rang their first peal was B. P. Tyrwhitt-Drake, of Pembroke College, whose father, the late Rev. B. H. Tyrwhitt-Drake, was a prominent member of Cambridge University Guild, and librarian of the Central Council, in succession to the late Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn. The Rev. B. H. Tyrwhitt-Drake, it will be remembered, was accidentally killed by a falling tree about a year ago.

The first peal of Lessness Surprise Major, a method by E. W. Tipler, was rung at Erith on February 26th. A previous attempt by the same band, on February 13th, came to grief after 2 hours 34 minutes, through the breaking of the tenor clapper.

By the way, what does the title mean? Has it anything to do with thought, or care, or hope? Will the next in the series be 'Fullness'?

It is strange that on the same day that a peal of 'Lessness' was rung, a peal of another new Surprise method was also recorded—Droitwich rung at Helmingham.

To record a ringer's 900th peal is a rare occurrence, yet this week we publish the fact that two ringers have reached this large total—Mr. James Bennett, at Crayford last Friday, and Mr. William Short, at Cheltenham on Saturday.

Many friends of P. C. Perkins will regret to hear of a serious accident which happened to him while on duty on Wednesday week. He slipped on the pavement and fractured his thigh. Mr. Perkins has just been appointed Leicester Branch secretary of the Midland Counties Association, and was most enthusiastic. Everyone will wish him a speedy recovery.

At Grundisburgh, Suffolk, on Saturday, a peal of Cambridge Surprise Major was rung. Changes commenced at 3.25 p.m. at a brisk pace without a single thought as to the need for switching on the electric light until dusk began to fall, when whispers went around. However, as no one could reach the switch, the peal progressed, although at retarded pace, and eventually came round at 6.20 p.m. in total darkness. Well done!

Mr. George S. Soames, a ringer for many years at Marsham and Aylsham, Norfolk, died suddenly on February 21st while a peal attempt was in progress at Marsham. The same band on Saturday rang a half-muffled peal in his memory.

The dedication of the new ring of twelve bells at Winchester Cathedral, which have been provided by the generosity of the Friends of the Cathedral Society and the Barron Bell Trust, will take place in the afternoon of March 20th. Particulars will be found in our notice columns.

Through a misunderstanding, the dedication of the new treble bell at Yetminster was inadvertently advertised to take place on February 27th.

BELL RINGING WITHOUT BELLS.

'CHANGE RINGING WITHOUT PREVIOUS KNOWLEDGE'

The doom of church bellringing appears to be sealed. There will no longer be need for bells or ringers, for a new invention may take their place. Last week's issue of 'The Church of England Newspaper' contained the following:—

'A large party of bellringers and friends from St. Paul's Church, Egham, visited the works of the John Compton Organ Co., Ltd., at North Acton, N.W., on Friday evening last to witness a demonstration of a new kind of carillon, which is entirely without bells. This new invention, which is electronic in character, had never before been publicly demonstrated. It produces (not reproduces) bell music by new scientific means, and such famous carillons as those at Bruges and Malines, and the peals at Canterbury and Winchester Cathedrals, can be given with the utmost fidelity.

'The apparatus is controlled from a small keyboard or desk, which can be placed in any convenient position, such as porch, vestry, or organ-loft, and a single operator can achieve the most elaborate change ringing without previous knowledge of campanology. By the same method, clocks can be provided with chimes. Any depth or weight of tone can be provided, and even automatic change ringing can be fitted.

'This new (fully patented) apparatus employs no gramophone records or oscillating valves. It is purely electrical and requires but a few cubic feet of space. It imposes no strain whatever on the fabric, and its cost is only a fraction of the expense entailed by a set of bells.'

We have not heard this 'carillon without bells,' but we can imagine that the instrument must be of a very ingenious nature. We are, however, surprised to hear that a large party of bellringers should go anywhere to listen to and possibly approve of a piece of machinery that is going to deprive them of their art.

But possibly the 'bellringers present' have no art, for St. Paul's Church, Egham, does not happen to have a ringing peal of bells.

For those who find quite as much as they can manage to ring even a pair of handbells to changes, the prospect of a single operator being able to 'achieve the most elaborate change ringing without previous knowledge of campanology' is really staggering. A new kind of man, as well as a new type of machine, must have been invented.

THE HENRY JOHNSON COMMEMORATION.

ANNUAL GATHERING AT BIRMINGHAM.

Appeal for a Coronation Year 'Push.'

Henry Johnson, greatest of all Birmingham's ringers, who died at Aston in 1890 at the age of 80 years, has a niche in ringing history all his own. In his day he was not only one of the most knowledgeable men in the Exercise, but in his own particular circle created an 'atmosphere' that had an elevating influence. He was honoured in life; he is commemorated in death. Every year ringers from all parts of the country continue to gather to keep green his memory, and last Saturday a party numbering nearly a hundred and fifty assembled for the annual dinner arranged by St. Martin's Guild, which marks the anniversary of his birth, which took place on February 28th, 1899. The number of those living to-day who actually knew Henry Johnson is rapidly diminishing, but there are still a few who had the privilege of the old man's acquaintance, and eight of them were present on Saturday.

Ringling took place in the afternoon at various churches in Birmingham, and the dinner was served at the Imperial Hotel, under the genial chairmanship of the Vicar of Aston, Canon H. McGowan, who was accompanied by Mrs. McGowan. Among those present were Alderman J. S. Pritchett (Master of St. Martin's Guild), Canon S. Blofeld (Vicar of Edgbaston), the Rev. R. S. O. Stevens (curate at Aston), Messrs. F. W. Stevens (churchwarden of St. Martin's), W. R. Heaton (Solihull), W. A. Clark (hon. member), F. E. Haynes (Ringing Master), Councillor A. Paddon Smith, Messrs. A. Walker, J. George and J. H. Sheppard (vice-presidents), Mr. T. H. Reeves (hon. secretary), Mrs. Reeves, Mrs. A. Walker, Mr. W. Griffin and Miss Griffin (Walsall), Mr. G. W. Fletcher (hon. secretary, Central Council), Mrs. Fletcher (hon. secretary, Ladies' Guild), Mr. R. Richardson (Master, Lincoln Diocesan Guild) and Mrs. Richardson, Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Perrens, Mr. and Mrs. F. Pervin (Coventry), Messrs. S. Palmer (treasurer, Yorkshire Association), A. H. Ward (Derby), J. F. Smallwood (Bath), F. E. Dawe (London), Mr. G. H. Cross (Master, Royal Cumberland Youths) and Mrs. Cross, Mr. H. Knight (hon. secretary, Staffs Archdeaconry Society), Mr. E. Guise (hon. secretary, Gloucester and Bristol Association) and Mrs. Guise, Messrs. W. H. Thomas, W. Knight, P. C. Williams and H. Birt (Bristol), J. P. Fidler (Loughborough), S. R. Roper (Croydon), E. H. Nash (Mells, Som.), H. Boswell (Wolverhampton), T. J. Elton (Walsall), J. Pagett (Derby), P. J. Johnson (Leeds), G. Horner (York), G. L. Hewitt (Wellington), W. Parley and F. Nicholls (Stourbridge), G. J. Lewis (Powick), S. Briggs and F. Chaddock (Rotherham) and representatives from the various hands in the diocese.

Among those who sent apologies were the Rector of Birmingham (Canon Guy Rogers), who has presided on many occasions, and who was on his way to America, the Lord Mayor and Lady Mayoress of Birmingham, the Bishop of Birmingham, Mr. E. H. Lewis (president of the Central Council), Mr. A. A. Hughes and Mrs. Hughes (Whitechapel), Mr. C. F. Johnston (Croydon), Mr. F. B. Yates (King's Norton), etc.

The evening was a very successful one, thanks largely to the excellent arrangements made by the hon. secretary.

GOOD FELLOWSHIP AND MUTUAL UNDERSTANDING.

Mr. F. W. Perrens, in proposing the toast of 'Church and State,' referred to the many problems which confronted the world to-day as the result of the fast changing times in which they lived, problems which, he said, could be faced successfully if they had the backing of the community in general. With regard to the problems which ringers had to face, they had to ask themselves what they could do both to help themselves and at the same time to help the Church and State. There were two points which he would put before them. First let them foster good fellowship and mutual understanding, already so evident among ringers (hear, hear). He put that first because it was most important, and what applied to any body of ringers applied equally well in the Church and in the State. Let them put aside all petty jealousies and grievances and substitute goodwill and fellowship (hear, hear). His second point was more or less in the nature of an appeal; it was an appeal to each and every one to do what they could to help get recruits for the Exercise; for by so doing he thought they would do their little bit for the Church and State. Of recent years a large number of bell restorations had been taking place up and down the country, and this year there were more bells than ever in this country to ring. Were they doing anything like sufficient to get ringers to ring those bells? The bells were put in the towers to be rung, and it was their duty, as far as they possibly could, to provide ringers for them. He appealed to all ringers and associations to make, in this Coronation year, when they would be doing a great deal of ringing, a great 'push' for ringing recruits (hear, hear). They heard from time to time suggestions that they should go to the choir and other church organisations for their recruits for ringing. Let them cover these fields as far as they could, but there were so many more outside who would be interested and make good ringers if they could get hold of them. If they got hold of 'outsiders' they would be serving the double purpose of enlarging their own ranks and the ranks of real churchmen. He appealed to everyone in the Exercise to do their level best to get at least one recruit during this Coronation year. Even if they only kept 20 per cent. of the recruits they would go a long way towards securing the regular ringing of bells that were at present silent (hear, hear).

Mr. Perrens went on to refer to the happy feeling existing in this country between Church and State, and remarked that in both they had men who would be able to overcome the difficulties that would have to be faced in the future. They had had remarkable proof of that during the last twelve months, especially in the State.

The Chairman, who replied to the toast, said ringers as a body were staunch supporters of the Church, and he was glad to say his experience had not been the experience occasionally put to him by some of his brother clerics that hellringers called the people to church, but could not hear the sound of their own bells. That had not been true of the ringers at the two churches where he had had the opportunity of working most harmoniously with his own ringers; and he did not think it was true of the many towers represented there that night. Such associations as that Guild fostered the happy relations between the ringers and the clergy and church where they did their work.

The Church, continued the Chairman, was a queer sort of institution. It was spread all over the land, but in spite of all the difficulties which were bound to occur, wherever human beings were trying to do something about which they felt very deeply, they all knew that the existence of the Church in this land, spread about in every parish, was something that this country could not do without (applause). The Chairman went on to refer to the relations between Church and State and to compare the conditions in this country with other countries in Europe. Church and State in this country had a much lighter relationship than formerly. That, perhaps, was a good thing, but there was still a desire that the Church should keep in touch with the important things affecting the lives of the people, a desire felt not only by the comparatively small body of people who met for worship and supported the Church's institutions, but among the great mass of citizens of the country, who, though they might not accept the regular ministrations of the Church, still looked to it for a lead, were still willing to co-operate with it on occasion, and still called upon it in emergency to comfort or help them.

ONE OF ASTON'S GREAT WORTHIES.

In calling upon Mr. W. Griffin to propose the toast of 'The Memory of the late Henry Johnson,' the Chairman said Johnson was one of the great worthies at Aston. His name appeared in the belfry on many records, and his monument, erected by the ringers of all England, stood in the churchyard. They at Aston were very proud of that connection.

Mr. Griffin, who as a very young ringer remembered Henry Johnson, told numerous anecdotes of ringers and ringing in those now distant days, and referred to some of the early celebration dinners. He said he first met Johnson when he (the speaker) came from Sunday School to help William Hallsworth, another famous ringer, to chime the bells in Walsall tower. In those days Johnson used to be spoken of almost with awe, and he, as a boy, began to think Johnson was something to be afraid of. But when he did meet him he found he was the most kindly old gentleman he had ever met. He thought of him as like 'Father Christmas.' Johnson had a cheery word for him, congratulated him and hoped he would make a good ringer. In after years when he (Mr. Griffin) came to St. Martin's he found out what a really great man Johnson was. The atmosphere at St. Martin's was all Johnson; everybody seemed imbued with what he did or thought about ringing. Henry Johnson was one of whom they could truly say that all the elements were so mixed in him that everyone could stand up and say he was a typical English gentleman.

The toast was drunk in silence, and a count was taken of those who knew Henry Johnson in the flesh. The number had dwindled to eight. Afterwards a well-nigh perfect course of Stedman Cinques was rung on handbells by Messrs. A. E. Norman, F. Pervin, A. Walker, G. F. Swann, F. E. Haynes and M. J. Morris.

Alderman Pritchett submitted 'Continued Prosperity to St. Martin's Guild.' He said it was a great pleasure to find himself once more able to be with them after his serious illness last year. He thanked the Guild for again electing him Master, despite the fact that he was 82 years old. He had also been re-elected an Alderman of the City of Birmingham for six years. He hoped they would be able to elect him as Master for six years as well (applause). It was very gratifying to have such kind friends among the ringers. Alderman Pritchett went on to mention the names of the members lost by death during the year. First and foremost was their dear old friend Thomas Russam. He was a great ringer. He had nearly attained his 80th birthday, and during the whole of that period he had spent his ringing career in connection with St. Martin's Guild. He (the speaker) had been with Mr. Russam on many occasions, especially at Aston, where he was in charge for many years, and where he (Alderman Pritchett) got his first practice on ten bells. They also very much regretted the loss of Mr. Leader, of Sutton Coldfield, and Mr. George Hughes, of Wednesbury. Mr. Hughes was a one-armed ringer who was a perfect marvel. He always chose a heavy bell and the way he managed it made him one of the most remarkable ringers who ever lived. Con-finning, Alderman Pritchett said they had with them some 'old stagers,' among them Tom Miller, who was one of a band of ringers, headed by Henry Johnson, who visited him at Oxford in his undergraduate days. They were also pleased to see Mr. James George, who, unfortunately, fell downstairs and seriously hurt himself. Mr. George had had an unexampled career as a ringer. He had been incapacitated for nearly a year, but had just begun to ring again. They hoped he would continue to improve and resume that remarkable activity as a ringer that had made him so well known all over the British Isles.

With regard to the progress of the Guild, they had held eight meetings during the year. At the quarterly meetings they had had an average attendance of 40, and at the bi-quarterly meetings an average attendance of 20. He thought, therefore, that their meetings might be regarded as successful. Thirteen peals had been rung, with seven conductors, including the first peal rung on the augmented bells at Aston. They had a band there of young ringers who were making very good progress (applause). The Vicar of Aston must be very gratified with the success of his young ringers. The Guild continued to progress under very good auspices. The clergy of the city were taking a deep interest in ringing and giving the Guild every encouragement. The Guild welcomed the restoration of the Cathedral bells. In his early ringing days they were a horror to him. He tried to ring on them on several occasions with very indifferent success, but he doubted whether the way they were hung was quite as bad as the sound of the bells themselves (laughter). He was very glad the old bells had disappeared and were to be replaced with bells with all modern improvements.

Alderman Pritchett made sympathetic reference to the absence from the gathering, which she had attended many times, of Mrs. J. S. Goldsmith through illness, and went on to say that Mr. George Swann had completed 500 peals, 400 of them having been rung in connection with that Guild. He did not, of course, anything like approach the record of Mr. James George, but he had made a good start (laughter and applause). In conclusion, Alderman Pritchett said the Guild was greatly indebted to the indefatigable hon. secretary (Mr. Reeves) and to the Ringing Master (Mr. Haynes) for all the work they put in. He added that his own first peal was rung in 1874, conducted by Harry Bastable, a name that ought not to be forgotten on occasions like that (hear, hear). He was very proud of it and was still proud of it. A very cherished memory was his association with that dear old gentleman (applause).

GUILD 'GOING ON NICELY.'

The Hon. Secretary, in replying, first thanked the artistes who contributed to the musical programme, and then went on to thank his wife, who was beside him. The organisation of that gathering and the work of the Guild generally, he said, entailed a good deal of work. He, as most of those present knew, was away from home a good part of the week, and at week-ends he had to give up a lot of his time—time that he could otherwise spend with his wife and family—in order to carry on his duties as hon. secretary. On behalf of the members of the Guild, he thanked her for the indulgence she had shown him (applause). Continuing, Mr. Reeves said St. Martin's Guild honoured the men of the past. They were the men who built up that old Guild, and it was up to the ringers of to-day to sustain the honour and dignity of the Guild. Those dinners were inaugurated about the time that there was a great awakening in the recognition of the duties of ringers as churchworkers. In the old days ringers were known as 'buttrisses' of the Church rather than 'pillars' of the Church (laughter). To-day that had been altered, and he trusted they were pillars of the Church. They had choirmen among them, church councillors and churchwardens, and so he thought they could say truthfully that the status of the ringer had greatly improved. What he was particularly anxious about was that they should do nothing to break their tradition. He had in mind that some time ago a writer in 'The Ringing World' said that it ought not to matter about a peal being false as long as it was well struck. Such a view would not have held for a moment in the past, and he did not think it ought to hold in the future (hear, hear). That was one of the things they must guard against.

Continuing, Mr. Reeves said this year they would be celebrating the Coronation in every tower in the country. They in Birmingham were going to make almost a week of ringing in the various belfries, and in due course the local secretaries would hear from him regarding what they could do in the matter. When the occasion arrived let them see to it that when they rang they put their best into it (applause). Let their striking be perfection—that was what they wanted to aim at.

Their Guild, added Mr. Reeves, was going on very nicely at present. They were making new members, and he was sure there was still a big future before the Guild. As their secretary he appreciated the help and support the members always gave him at their meetings and at that annual gathering (applause).

The Ringing Master, in proposing 'The Visitors,' extended to them all a hearty welcome. They had seldom had, he said, a gathering so representative. There was, however, one face missing. Although he could not be included as a visitor, they were all sorry their old friend

Harry Withers was not present. Had he been there it would have been his thirty-ninth consecutive appearance at that gathering, but owing to ill-health he was now in a convalescent home and they wished him a speedy recovery.

They frequently, said Mr. Haynes, heard stories of the lack of young ringers, but he felt that as long as ringers' gatherings continued to attract the numerous attendance they obviously did attract, they had no cause to despond. The shortage, he thought, was only a temporary phase, and in years to come ringers would be produced in the numbers they had always been produced. It was true that more peals of bells were being put in and peals of eight augmented to ten and twelve. That was bound to cause a difficult situation for the time being, but he felt that in, say, ten years' time their reason for anxiety would have disappeared, because, at bottom, the same spirit that inspired the masters of old was still with them.

In coupling with the toast the name of the secretary of the Central Council, Mr. Haynes paid a warm tribute to the work done by Mr. Fletcher, which was a model of efficiency and enthusiasm (applause). Mr. Fletcher, in reply, said he was one of the favoured people given a job to do, but he would not be able to do it were it not that he received great assistance from his wife and a great amount of help from the secretaries of the affiliated societies. If there were any bouquets to be given they should go to the secretaries of the affiliated societies. So far as his part of the work for the Council was concerned, he got a great 'kick' out of it, and he appealed to young ringers to find some job in their own societies, for they would discover that it gave an added interest to their own ringing activities. They should not ring merely for the sake of their own performances; it was far better to do something for the good of ringing.

EFFECTS OF THE WAR.

At the present time, said Mr. Fletcher, they were suffering from the effects of the war. In the war they lost ringers who would now be in their middle age, round about the 40's, and who would be the connecting link between the old ringers and the young. They had gone, and it was for the young ringers who came after to go forward quicker than they might otherwise have done and for the old ringers to be more tolerant towards the young ringers.

Mr. Fletcher went on to thank the Birmingham ringers for all they did for the entertainment of the visitors. They knew Birmingham ringers at one time as Radio 'stars,' but they had been on vacation. He hoped the vacation would not last much longer, because they wanted to hear them on the wireless again (applause).

Mr. Albert Walker proposed the toast of 'The Ringing World' and first paid a tribute to the manner in which the Press as a whole was now giving prominence to the subject of bells and ringing. A sympathetic press was very helpful. Mr. Walker went on to speak in terms of warm appreciation of the work of Mr. Goldsmith as Editor of 'The Ringing World,' and urged a greater measure of support for the paper, especially among young ringers, who would benefit greatly by the study of the articles for beginners. In connection with young ringers, he congratulated the young members of the Aston band on their progress.

The toast was acknowledged by Mr. J. S. Goldsmith.

Councillor A. P. Smith gave the toast of 'The Chairman' and thanked him on behalf of all present for the able and efficient manner in which he had presided over the proceedings. Aston, for the most part, said Mr. Smith, had been fortunate in its Vicars, and it was fortunate still. Mr. Smith referred to the Archbishop of Canterbury's broadcast of his 'recall to religion.' He said he strongly disagreed with the Archbishop's suggestion that there was a falling away from religion. He (the speaker) was just an ordinary business man, mixing with business men, and he could assure the Archbishop, if he might be so presumptuous, that his experience led him to say there was no falling away from religion. He believed, indeed, that people were more religious than they had ever been in his memory. That there was a falling away in attendance at church was true. That was easily to be seen and many of them were aware of many of the reasons for it. But falling away in church attendance was a very different thing from a falling away from religion. Aston was fortunate in its Vicar, and the fine old church frequently described as the 'gem of the Midlands,' was one of the busiest centres of religion in the city at the moment and one of the most important.

The Chairman, in responding, said it was a great privilege to preside over the gathering. He was proud of his church, proud of his bells and just as proud of his band of ringers. He expressed his gratitude to the ringers and particularly to Mr. Davies, the leader, for the work they were doing.

The most enjoyable programme was contributed to by the Lyric Male Quartette, Mrs. D. Smith, Mr. A. S. Downes and Mr. M. Mackenzie, who sang songs, and Mr. A. Deeley, who contributed a monologue. Mr. E. J. Woodhall was the accompanist. In addition to the course of Stedman Cinques mentioned above, a course of Grand-siro Caters was rung on handbells by Messrs. Pearn, F. Price, F. Ferrons, R. Ingram and T. Miller. The long programme, in which interest was sustained to the end, concluded at 11 p.m. with 'Auld Lang Syne,' and the party broke up to find a storm had been raging outside and the streets were deep in snow.

On the following day many visitors who stayed overnight were entertained to a 'sandwich lunch' at the Tamworth Arms, a well-known Birmingham 'ringers' house.

'SNOWED UP!'RINGERS' EXPERIENCES AFTER JOHNSON DINNER.

The 'Johnson' dinner is seldom blessed with good weather. More often than not the climatic conditions that week-end have been unkind to visitors to Birmingham, but never, perhaps, more unkind than on Sunday. The guests left the hotel on Saturday night with heavy snow falling, and miniature blizzards swept the city at intervals on Sunday.

In the thick of it on Saturday night one party had a motor drive to Coventry. Before they started out, the screen-wiper of their car was accidentally broken! It is not true that the secretary of the Central Council offered to stand on the running board and keep the screen clean during the journey. Nor is it true that the language of the driver melted the snow.

Quite early on Sunday—early, that is, for 'the morning after the night before'—two well-known Guild secretaries put in their good deed for the day by doing a spot of snow shovelling and sweeping before breakfast.

On Sunday afternoon Mr. and Mrs. Rupert Richardson left for Surfleet. Soon after passing Market Harborough they were caught in a severe storm, and when it abated it took them an hour and a half to dig their car out of the snow.

They decided to return to Market Harborough, and, driving into the yard of an hotel, the wheels on one side sank into a pipe-trench and another hour was spent in extricating the car. They stayed the night at Market Harborough and reached home about noon on Monday.

It would appear to be the duty of St. Martin's Guild to ensure more congenial weather for the occasion of the annual dinner in future.

THE ELLACOMBE CHIMES.

To the Editor.

Sir,—The Rev. H. T. Ellacombe, Rector of Clyst St. George from 1850 to 1885, was a pioneer in the restoration of parish churches. He was also the greatest authority of his time on church bells, having an unrivalled personal knowledge of bellfries, both in England and abroad. Standard books on the subject, e.g., 'The Bells of a Church,' 'The Church Bells of Devon,' etc., and on change ringing were written by him, and his practical genius was displayed in various mechanical inventions for bell furniture and fittings. The system of chiming bells, now in common use and bearing his name, was introduced by him, and his original model is to be seen in our church. He was a prominent member of the Ancient Society of College Youths, and to his energy and enthusiasm, more or less directly, many guilds and associations of ringers throughout the country owe their birth.

Unfortunately, through long wear and the depredations of the death-watch beetle, the framework and fittings of our six bells (one of them of pre-Reformation date and beautiful tone, and three of them inserted by Henry Ellacombe himself) urgently need to be renewed. In this tiny agricultural parish, population 210, we are endeavouring to raise £340 to cover the cost.

I believe that far beyond the limits of Devon there must be many lovers of our ancient churches and their bells willing to help us to do honour to a great benefactor of the church at large by maintaining the belfry which was so dear to him.

Donations for the 'Church Bells Restoration Fund' will be gratefully welcomed by

W. M. MITCHELL, Rector.

MUFFLED BELLS.

At St. Mary's Church, Selly Oak, Birmingham, for evensong, on Sunday, February 21st, a quarter-peal of Stedman Triples (1,260 changes) in 45 minutes: W. B. Cartwright 1, J. L. Boylin 2, H. Haslam 3, D. J. Marsh 4, N. J. Goodman 5, C. H. Stanley 6, V. G. H. Hemus (first quarter-peal of Stedman as conductor) 7, E. Holt 8. First quarter-peal of Stedman by ringers of 2nd, 3rd, 4th, 5th and tenor. Rung with the bells half-muffled as a last token of respect to the late Mr. Joseph James, Clerk of the Peace for the City of Birmingham and one of the patrons of the living of St. Mary's.

FORMER HIGH SHERIFF.

At St. Mary's Church, Hitcham, on February 17th, a quarter-peal of Minor, consisting of 360 Canterbury Pleasure Reverse, 180 Oxford Single Bob and 720 Plain Bob, was rung with half-muffled clappers as a token of respect to Mr. Percy Noble, of Taplow Priory, who was interred at Remenhall Church, near Henley-on-Thames, earlier in the day. Mr. Noble was a Justice of the Peace for Bucks and was High Sheriff of Buckinghamshire 1930-31. He was 71 years of age. The ringers were P. Blamey 1, W. Woodley (first quarter-peal in three methods) 2, G. J. Berry 3, J. E. Taylor 4, B. O'Neil 5, G. Gilbert (conductor) 6.

DEATH OF VICAR OF WESTHOUGHTON.

As a tribute to the memory of the Rev. Canon George Henry St. Patrick Garrett, B.D., for 29 years Vicar of Westhoughton, who died on January 27th, a quarter-peal of Stedman Triples was rung with the bells half-muffled before evening service at the Parish Church on Sunday, January 21st: R. Walmsley 1, H. D. Shackleton 2, J. L. Wright 3, R. V. Hart 4, A. Greenhalgh 5, A. W. Leigh 6, T. W. Smith (conductor) 7, R. R. Woodward 8.

BLIND RINGERS AT OXFORD.TWO SIGHTLESS UNDERGRADUATES LEARN TO RING.

Oxford University Society has two members who deserve hearty congratulations upon the courage and ability they have shown in triumphing over severe handicap. They are both blind, yet they have learned to ring.

The two members concerned are Mr. Shephard-Welwyn, of Oriel, and Mr. G. Bromley, of St. Catharine's. Mr. Shephard-Welwyn has been learning for about three months and can already handle a bell in rounds quite well. Mr. Bromley has been ringing for rather less than twelve months and has been included in round ringing for some time, and on Sunday last at St. Martin's and All Saints', Oxford, he rang the tenor without assistance of any kind to two courses of Grandsire Doubles, and kept a good beat, in spite of the fact that, owing to one or two learners being included, the ringing was not too even.

They have to rely entirely on a sense of touch and of rhythm, but somehow they manage to handle their bells well, and follow the bells in front as well or better than most learners of their limited experience.

This achievement speaks volumes for the grit and perseverance of these two young men in learning a difficult art under such adverse circumstances. Also a good deal of credit is due to their fellow-members of the Oxford University Society, and to Mr. Walter F. Judge, of St. Martin and All Saints', Oxford, who have so patiently and carefully instructed them.

Men who have been ringers and have lost their sight have continued their practice of the art, but this is the first time, as far as we are aware, that blind men have learned to ring.

'MEN OF MERIT.'

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—I saw in 'The Ringing World' some time ago that the Central Council was going to make a national biography of past members. May I ask if the Council is going to extend the biography and include other 'men of merit' who, in their lifetime, did so much for change ringing. Some of these have come and gone. I think they ought to have a place in the biography, just as much as those that have had a seat on the Council. Not every 'man of merit' has had a seat on the Council for various reasons, and I do not think it right that these men should be forgotten or ignored. I shall look for a reply to this query.

COUNCIL PUBLICATIONS.

Central Council affairs will soon begin to occupy attention, and those members who have matters which they wish discussed must send in their notices forthwith, if these are to be included in the printed agenda. At the moment there seems to be no question of outstanding interest or division among ringers, as there have been in some recent years, but there is still opportunity for someone to start a 'heresy hunt' or find a committee to 'bait.' On more than one occasion in the past the 'ragging' of the Methods Committee has added spice to the proceedings of the Council, for their reports have usually been the only ones to challenge disagreement. Whether that committee will produce contentious matter this year remains to be seen, but this can be said of them, that through the years their work has been heavy and continuous as well as helpful and valuable to the Exercise. Their labours have made possible many of the advances in the art, and their efforts have resulted, directly or indirectly, in raising the level of method ringing, particularly among those who devote their attention to Minor methods.

On the other hand, there is much useful material, which they and the Council have been at great pains to provide, which has not produced the results hoped for. Their book of Plain Major Methods, which met with a fair sale, has not led to any noticeable extension of the methods rung, and to this extent the outcome must be considered disappointing. There ought to be a more practical use made of this book than leaving it unopened on the ringers' bookshelves. Not even the Council can be satisfied with merely selling a book. These volumes are produced to expand the art of change ringing, and it is a great pity that some of the fine methods which this volume contains are not in much more general use. We are beginning to wonder whether the explanation is not partly to be found in the fact that ringers will not take the trouble to see what kind of things these methods are. We believe that if someone would undertake to provide diagrams instead of just blocks of figures, from which the ringer has to work out his own clue to ringing methods, they would be rapidly taken up. Snowdon popularised the 'Standard' methods because he printed the figures with a blue line superimposed. It is an expensive process, but the majority of progressive ringers in these days ring by diagram, and it needs some such aid to induce them to take up new methods.

Half a dozen bands are showing their enterprise by ringing new Surprise methods, and these might be glad to see the appearance of the book which the committee has prepared on this section of the art. But when it does make its appearance we doubt if it will do very much to extend Surprise ringing in new quarters. As a treatise on Surprise methods the book surpasses anything that has ever been produced, but we are more and more coming to the conclusion that this is not the form in which ringers want their methods presented to them, although, of course, we fully recognise that where hundreds of methods are to be published in one volume, considerations of space and cost, to say nothing of the mathematical side of the question, demand that the methods be represented by figures.

FOR BEGINNERS.

CALLING GRANDSIRE TRIPLES.

A beginner has asked us for a little help in calling Grandsire Triples. Like many others, he can ring the method fairly well, but he cannot make much headway in calling touches.

The first thing to know is, when to call the bobs; by which we mean the place in the lead where the actual word of command has to be given. If you examine the figures of Grandsire Triples you will see that the effect of the bob takes place before the treble completes its whole pull at lead. If no bob is called, nothing interferes with the plain hunting of the bells until the treble has finished leading. In practically all even-bell methods, such as Bob Minor and Major, the bob is effected by varying the position of three (or more) of the bells at the backstroke lead of the treble. In Grandsire the effective movement has taken place before that.

7561423	7561423
5716243	Call Bob 5716243
5172634	5172634
1527364	1576243
1253746	1752634
2513746	7512634

The bob, therefore, must be 'called' in good time, and the correct moment is at the beginning of the change in which the treble strikes in 3rd's place on the way down. Now, while it may not be easy to see, while ringing another bell, exactly when the treble is in 3rd's place, there happens to be a particularly good guide to the place where the bob should be called. It is at the moment that the bell, which is going to make the ordinary 3rd's place, pulls off at lead. The bell to go into the hunt gets sufficient notice, and the dodging bells are in their dodging places. The bell that is coming to lead when the bob has to be called is the one hunting down immediately in front of the treble, so you ought not to mistake it.

Every place into which a bell can fall at a bob has a distinctive name:—

Middle, or M.,	4-5 (up).
Before, or B.,	3rd's place.
In, or I.,	Into the hunt.
Out, or O.,	Out of the hunt.
Wrong, or W.,	7-6 (down).
Home, or H.,	6-7 (up).

One of the important things to remember in calling Grandsire is that, compared with a plain lead, a bob cuts out one dodging position, that is to say while the dodge in 6-7 (up) follows that in 7-6 (down) at a plain lead, a bob would cause the bell to double dodge in 4-5 up (or Middle). If you want to call a bell into the Home position, you must do it the lead after it has dodged in 5-4 (down). If you want to call it into the hunt, you do it the lead after it has dodged in 6-7 up. The only position that is not disturbed by a bob is the Before, which follows the dodge in 4-5 up. It is the cutting out of a dodging place that sometimes fogs those who are beginning to call touches. Here is a little table that shows the differences made between Plain and Bob leads:—

After	Plain Lead	Bob
3rd's	dodge 5-4 down	dodge 7-6 down
5-4 down	dodge 7-6 down	dodge 6-7 up
7-6 down	dodge 6-7 up	dodge 4-5 up
6-7 up	dodge 4-5 up	Into Hunt
4-5 up	make 3rd's	make 3rd's

Just master this first, before you begin to call. It is also a great help to know you should call the bob when striking your first blow in your dodging place (whether 4-5 or 6-7, up or down). When going into the hunt call the bob when you are in 2nd's, going up, and the treble is striking over you. A bob when you are yourself coming Before is called when you begin to lead.

When you first begin calling, it may be just as well to ring the observation bell and learn your touch by the places into which it will be actually called, thus a 336 called from the 7th: Before, Wrong, In, Out at 1 (it is necessary to know how many leads the observation bell is to remain in the hunt). This calling twice repeated brings the bells back into the plain course.

If you get a touch which is all in one part, don't forget that you can treat any bell as the observation bell. For instance, this little touch of 266 has no special bell for observation. It is as easy to learn it from one bell as from another. Bobs are called at the following intervals, 1, 1, 2, 3, 4, 2, 1, 3, 1, these figures representing the number of leads between the calls.

The conductor should know how to write out his own touches, and readers should figure out this one, as an example. The transpositions, if you do not happen to know, are 253746 for a plain lead and 752634 for a bob lead.

Thus a bob at I from rounds produces 752634, and a bob at the following lead (752634 transposed by 253746) 467352. Follow this with a plain lead, 467352 transposed by 253746, which gives 436275, and so on; the treble, being recurrent in front of the whole of the rows of figures, is omitted.

We will return to the subject of calling Grandsire Triples next week.

FAMOUS BIRMINGHAM RINGERS OF THE PAST.

AN INTERESTING GROUP.

This picture, taken seventy years ago, forms an extremely interesting link with a past generation of Birmingham ringers, whose memory is recalled by the recent commemoration dinner.

The group is from a photograph of members of St. Martin's Guild taken when Henry Johnson was secretary.

In front are: Thomas Day, Henry Johnson, William Haywood, John Perks and Job Joynes.

Some of these men helped to make history. Johnson's services to the art are well known. Thomas Day was a composer of repute and was the author of the famous record lengths of 15,840 and 16,608 Treble Bob. With Johnson, William Haywood and John James took part in the record length of Stedman Cinques (7,392) rung at Birmingham in 1868.

SURPRISE METHODS THAT EXTEND TO 10 AND 12 BELLS.

A NEW SERIES FOR ADVANCED RINGERS.

Very few Surprise Major methods make perfect extensions both to ten and twelve bells. There are some, like Cambridge and Yorkshire, and we hope to bring others to the notice of the Exercise.

There is really very little variety practised in the methods rung on the higher numbers, and we think ringers will welcome the opportunity of trying something different, which gives the same scope as the two mentioned. There is something more attractive in ringing a method on eight bells which, it is known, can be rung, if desired, on ten and twelve by retaining the same 'work.'

With a view to stimulating interest in this matter, Mr. Gabriel Lindoff has furnished us with a short series of methods which deserve attention and which those who have the opportunity may care to practice.

In placing these methods before the Exercise Mr. Lindoff has selected only those that conform to the commonsense rule, that 'Places make the method.' In these methods, therefore, it must be the places that are extended; the other work takes care of itself.

Two methods that have been accepted by the Exercise as correct extensions are Treble Bob and Cambridge.

In Treble Bob the places (2nd's) are extended downwards. In Cambridge the places are extended across. No fixed rule can be observed, therefore. They may be downwards, across, or both, whichever the method demands.

York Surprise, here given as the first of the series, is a method that extends from six. Though simple, its music will, when practised, be highly appreciated.

A DEVON BAND'S SUCCESS.

DOUBLE NORWICH AND OXFORD TREBLE BOB BY RESIDENTS.

On Wednesday evening, March 3rd, eight members of the Devon Guild rang a peal of Oxford Treble Bob Major at Highweek Parish Church, Newton Abbot. The peal was the first in the method for six of the band, and it was also the first peal in the method for the Guild by a band resident in the county of Devon. It was the first peal of Major on the bells, and the striking was excellent throughout.

Incidentally the same band met at Buckfastleigh about six weeks ago and rang a peal of Double Norwich, this also being the first peal in the method for the Guild by a band resident in the county. The peal of Oxford is recorded in the appropriate columns.

BROADCASTING.ST. MARTIN'S-IN-THE-FIELDS BELLS.To the Editor.*

Dear Sir,—Cannot something be done to end the broadcasts of wretched 'still' bells from St. Martin's-in-the-Fields? If I remember right, an effort was made a few years ago to get the bells of this church rung, but this does not seem to have been successful.

I am convinced that the present method of chiming them must be regretted by all ringers, and not least by the Society of Royal Cumberland Youths, whose chief tower I believe St. Martin's to be. Would it not be possible for this society, and perhaps also the Central Council, to approach the powers that be with a request that the bells be rung on the occasion of a broadcast? As the bells are radiated through the principal British stations, it seems such a pity that so vast a listening audience should get a false impression of the traditional British style of church bellringing, possibly confusing this chiming with the true change ringing.

Certainly the noise produced by the present method is deplorable. An organ voluntary is much to be preferred every time.

SUFFOLK GUILD.UNFREQUENTED TOWERS FOR SUMMER MEETINGS.

On Saturday a district meeting of the Suffolk Guild was held at Stowmarket, Suffolk, when a fair number attended, about 30 being present at tea or later in the evening. At the meeting the chair was taken by the new Vicar of Great Finborough, who had kindly lent his bells for the evening.

The secretary (the Rev. H. Drake) reported that he had again tried to get Bury St. Edmunds for the annual meeting, but the authorities would not agree, so it has been decided to hold the annual meeting on April 3rd at Sudbury, where two rings of eight will be available; All Saints' are under repair and may not be ready by that date.

It was suggested that some of the more unfrequented towers be visited for meetings during the summer months and so revive some interest.

New members were elected from Rushmere St. Andrew, Sproughton, and St. Margaret's, Ipswich. It was very pleasing to note so many young ringers present, including two ladies, one only 12 years old. Ringing ranged from rounds to Superlative Surprise Major, several having their first 'run' on eight bells.

After tea some went by car to Great Finborough (6), while others went to Barking (6) and back to Finborough.

HELP NEEDED.SMALL WORCESTERSHIRE PARISH'S GREAT EFFORT.

An appeal has been issued for funds for the restoration of the tower and bells of Bishampton Church, Worcestershire.

The tower was built about the year 1400. The original six bells were cast in 1696 by William Bagley, of Ecton, Northants, but the fifth was recast in 1705 by Sanders, of Bromsgrove.

At present the bells are silent. The tower had been neglected and cracks appeared. The fabric has now been repaired at a cost of over £500. The bell frame is decayed and the bells have never been turned since they were put in. It is proposed to rehang the bells in a new frame and new fittings and put in a new floor for the ringers. The cost of this work is estimated at about £300, towards which just over £170 has been raised.

Here is a case where ringers should be glad to help. Their donations will be welcomed and acknowledged by the Vicar, the Rev. T. Wilkinson, Bishampton Vicarage, Pershore, near Worcester.

NORWICH DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION.EAST NORFOLK BRANCH.

The annual meeting of the East Norfolk Branch of the Norwich Diocesan Association was held at St. Margaret's, Lowestoft, on Saturday, February 27th. Ringing took place during the afternoon, and after service, conducted by the Rev. H. C. Neusome, tea was served at St. Nicholas' House.

The Rev. H. C. Neusome presided over the business meeting, supported by Mr. W. J. Lee (chairman), Mr. A. L. Coleman (general secretary), Mr. J. G. Harwood (secretary) and Mr. Nolan Golden (secretary of North and South Norfolk Branches).

Mr. W. J. Lee was re-elected chairman of the district and Mr. J. G. W. Harwood hon. secretary. The following were elected on the Branch Committee: Messrs. A. Moy, W. R. Barber, C. Parnell, J. Taylor and R. T. Woodley, and Messrs. A. King and R. Davey were re-elected on the General Committee.

Six new members were elected and a vote of thanks was passed to the Rector for the use of the bells, to the Rev. Neusome for presiding at the meeting and taking the service, also to the matron and staff at St. Nicholas' House for catering for tea.

Thirty-one members attended from Norwich, Great Yarmouth and Gorleston, Wymondham, Beccles, Lowestoft, Kessingland, Baugham, Reedham, Norton, Halvigate, Acle and Southwold. The methods rung during the day were Cambridge, Superlative, Double Norwich, Oxford and Kent Treble Bob and Bob Major, Stedman and Grandsire Triples.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

The band at Crayford, Kent, has accomplished two highly creditable performances within the past week—on Saturday, the first Surprise peal by a local company at this tower, and a peal of Bob Maximus on handbells on Sunday, with three of the band ringing their first peal on twelve bells.

It is many years, apparently, since a local band in Kent rang a Surprise peal—which is strange in view of the talent which has always existed in the county, and that at one time one tower possessed a local band that could ring London. There seems to be no trace of any local Surprise peal since Gabriel Lindoff called the first peals of Cambridge and Superlative in the county in 1893.

Yesterday was the fiftieth anniversary of a performance which still ranks among the most noteworthy peals in history. On March 11th, 1887, at the Goose and Gridiron, St. Paul's Churchyard, four members of the Ancient Society of College Youths rang Holt's Original on handbells, non-conducted. 'The striking was faultless,' and the peal was pronounced by the competent witnesses present, representing both the College Youths and Cumberlands, to be 'a masterpiece of intellectual ringing.'

Three of the band are happily still alive. They are Messrs. J. C. Mitchell, W. H. L. Buckingham and C. F. Winney. The fourth ringer was Mr. G. T. McLaughlin. Last night Mr. Mitchell entertained a small private party to celebrate the jubilee, and thus fulfilled a hope that was expressed at a similar gathering exactly ten years ago.

The peal of Grandsire was the second ever rung 'silent' on handbells, and, strangely enough, it was rung on the anniversary of the first non-conducted peal, which John Cox, William Cooter, Henry Haley and Matt. Wood rang for the St. James' Society on March 11th, 1854. That was Stedman Triples.

One hundred years ago next Monday a peal of 10,133 Grandsire Caters was rung in Bristol in 5 hours 54 minutes.

The ringer of the 7th in the peal at Southwark Cathedral on February 20th was Henry G. Miles. In the peal of Spiced Surprise at Acton on February 27th the ringer of the 5th was Ernest C. S. Turner.

The peal at Cheltenham on February 27th was the first of Stedman Cinques by R. Woodyatt.

Among those who hope to attend the dinner of the Royal Cumberland Youths in London to-morrow are at least two with over 50 years of membership—Mr. George Williams and Mr. W. H. Fussell.

LONDON TOWERS.

A HINT TO SECRETARIES.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—Appreciation would, I think, be felt on the part of many ringers, particularly those resident in and near London, if the secretaries of the various ringing associations would endeavour, when they are able, to give some indication in their notices in 'The Ringing World' of the whereabouts of towers where ringing meetings are to be held.

When there are several churches in one district or neighbourhood it is often difficult to get directed to the right one. The police are usually at a loss when one asks the way to a church, whereas they are able to direct one to any particular street without hesitation.

I would suggest, therefore, that when there is any likelihood of difficulty in finding a church, secretaries should give the name of the street in which it is situated.

My reason for writing this is that I recently had the bitter experience of not finding a certain church at all, in spite of inquiring of every other passer-by and walking some three or four miles.

WING BELLS.

'A BOLD STATEMENT.'

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—In my opinion it is rather a bold statement to make to say the bells of Wing are not pealable. Did the band that tried them consist of the 'champion heavy bell ringers' of England? On February 15th, 1913, I took a band to St. Dunstan's-in-the-East, London, for a peal of Triples. The tenor was not going any too well, so a man who claimed to be a great heavy bell ringer tackled her. After about 50 minutes he gave up and said no one could ring it to a peal. The following Saturday the Middlesex Association rang a peal of Bristol Surprise Major on them. The late Mr. W. Pye rang the tenor and conducted the peal. I heard a good deal of it and it was well rung.

I venture to suggest that had the Rev. C. E. Wigg and friends rung a peal on Queen Camel bells before Messrs. Taylor rehung them, they would have had something to write home about. As it was, the tenorman had enough in the fourth 720. I know the bells very well and had a touch or two on the tenor before they were rehung. I am of the belief that very few ringers in England would have rung her to a peal. The glory, and any gold medals, due for a heavy job on six and eight bells belong to Mr. J. T. Dyke. He it was who rang this tenor to a peal when they wanted a good deal of skill and pulling to get a peal out of them.

SURREY ASSOCIATION.

SECRETARY AND ASSISTANT EXCHANGE OFFICES.

Question of Introducing New Blood.

A very satisfactory state was revealed in the affairs of the Surrey Association at the annual meeting, held at Leatherhead on Saturday, and members showed their interest by attending to the number of nearly eighty, representing 13 out of the 18 towers in the North-Western Division and four out of the nine towers in the Southern Division. The towers represented were Ashted, Banstead, Beddington, Benhilton, Carshalton, Croydon (St. John's and St. Peter's), Epsom (Christ Church), Ewell, Kingston, Leatherhead, Lingfield, Merstham, Mitcham (Christ Church), Redhill, Reigate and Wimbledon. In addition visitors were present from Beckenham, Brockley, Chertsey, London, Shoreham, Tunbridge Wells, Windsor and Uckfield.

The spacious belfry was well filled during the afternoon and again in the evening, when the ten bells were kept fully utilised under the competent direction of Mr. Dan Cooper, Ringing Master of the North-West Division, in which Leatherhead is situated.

In the absence of the Vicar (the Rev. G. H. B. Coleridge), the curate (the Rev. P. W. H. Isdell-Carpenter) officiated at the service, and in a brief address welcomed the association to Leatherhead on behalf of the Vicar, and spoke of the fellowship and service of ringers.

Tea at the Institute was followed by the business meeting. In the regretted absence of the Master (Mr. D. K. C. Birt) through illness, Mr. J. S. Goldsmith was made chairman, and was supported by the Rev. P. W. H. Isdell-Carpenter, the hon. secretary (Mr. C. H. Kippin), the assistant hon. secretary (Mr. E. G. Talbot) and other officers of the association.

The hon. treasurer's statement of accounts showed receipts amounting to £36 18s. 3d. from members' subscriptions and an increased balance in the general account of £15 0s. 9d., due in some measure to the increase from 50 per cent. to 75 per cent. in the allocation from the districts.

A member expressed dislike to the charge of a guinea for the bells at Southwark Cathedral on the occasion of the last annual meeting.

The hon. secretary explained that this charge had been made by the authorities since 1921, when the bells were put in order, and was paid for the use of the bells for peals and meetings. Since the charge was instituted the bells had been well looked after.—The balance sheet was adopted.

THE YEAR'S RECORD.

The committee in their annual report said one of the outstanding events of the year was the recasting of the eight bells of Croydon Parish Church and their augmentation to twelve. The association is fortunate, said the report, in having for the first time in an affiliated tower a twelve-bell peal, and it is hoped that members will take the opportunity of increasing their knowledge on the higher numbers on this ideal ring.

Another event was the scoring of the first peal of Spliced Surprise Royal in four methods in the country, rung by members of the North-Western District at Beddington, conducted by Mr. C. H. Kippin.

An unfortunate incident was the discovery that a composition of Treble Bob Major (an abridged version of P. Robinson's 5.184) was false. This composition has been rung on 12 occasions by the association, including a peal on the back eight at the Church of St. Mary-le-Bow, Chesham. The peal records have been amended accordingly.

Twenty-six peals were rung during the year, an increase of five over 1935. Methods: Spliced London, Bristol, Cambridge and Superlative Surprise Royal 2; London—Royal 1, Major 2, Minor 1; Cambridge—Royal 3, Major 5; Kent Treble Bob—Royal 1, Major 1, Minor 1; Oxford Treble Bob Major 1; Plain Bob—Royal 1, Major 1; Double Norwich Major 1; Stedman—Caters 1, Triples 2; Grandshire Triples 2; Minor (3 methods) 1. Eighty-four members took part, six ringing their first peal and 55 their first peal in the method.

District meetings had been well attended. In the North-Western District the average attendance was 38, and the Southern District 27. An interesting feature was the number of joint meetings. Six were held, one jointly with the Guildford Guild and Society of Royal Cumberland Youths, three mid-week meetings with the Ladies' Guild, one each with the Sussex Association and East Grinstead Guild, all of which were well attended. The committee were of opinion that these joint meetings were excellent for promoting good feeling between neighbouring associations, which had always been the aim of the society, and should be encouraged as much as possible.

Ringing had still been carried on monthly by the association at Southwark Cathedral, but during recent months the attendance had not been up to the usual standard. Further volunteers were necessary if this ringing was to be carried on successfully.

The committee regretted to report the death of Mr. John Lee, of Streatham, an old and respected member of this association, and the Rev. H. T. Lewis, late Vicar of Horley, who was an honorary member for several years.

The membership of the association had slightly decreased during the year, the total of annual subscribing members being 287, as against 297 at the end of 1935. In the North-Western District there is a reduction of 14, but the Southern District had an increase of four members.

Finance was still satisfactory, the balance in hand in the Central Fund and the districts having increased by £6 10s. 10d. during 1936 from £39 8s. 1d. to £45 18s. 11d.

In concluding their report, the committee congratulated the Master, Mr. Birt, upon the great improvement in his health after such a long illness, and expressed the hope that he would have a speedy and complete recovery.

Mr. H. V. Young called attention to the falling off in the attendance for ringing once a month at Southwark Cathedral, and appealed for more ringers who would be prepared to attend there once every three months.

The report was adopted.

Mr. J. Corbett (hon. treasurer of the Guildford Diocesan Guild) and Mr. A. Watson (Benhilton) were elected members of the association.

Three places, Reigate, Kingston and Croydon, were proposed for the next annual meeting, Reigate being selected by a large majority.

REASON FOR CHANGE.

The election of officers provided some changes, but these were all of a voluntary nature. The Bishop of Croydon remains president and Mr. D. K. C. Birt, Master. Mr. D. Cooper had also been nominated for the latter office, but withdrew, saying that he allowed his nomination to go forward under a misapprehension. At the time it was thought Mr. Birt intended to retire on account of the condition of his health, but now that he was recovering and was willing to continue he (Mr. Cooper) would not think of contesting the office (applause).

In declaring the election of Mr. E. G. Talbot as hon. secretary and Mr. C. H. Kippin as assistant hon. secretary, the Chairman said he could not let it pass without a reference to the change that was taking place and to Mr. Kippin's services. Mr. Kippin and Mr. Talbot had changed offices, because the former was of opinion that a change would be beneficial. Mr. Kippin had served as hon. secretary for ten years with great ability and efficiency, and the association owed him a great debt of gratitude (applause).

Mr. C. H. Reading endorsed the chairman's remarks, and said the members were very conscious of and appreciated the work which Mr. Kippin had done.

Mr. Kippin said he had resigned the secretaryship not through any lack of interest or differences with the committee. The reason was that he believed new blood should be introduced. He had been secretary for ten years, and if a man went on too long it made him appear indispensable. He would continue to have just as much interest in the association, and he wished his successor every success in the office. He hoped the members would give him every support.

The new hon. secretary acknowledged his election. He said he felt very diffident in taking on the work after Mr. Kippin, but he would do his best, with the help of the members, to carry on efficiently.

The remaining office, that of auditor, was filled by the re-election of Mr. G. W. Store.

It was announced that the committee had considered the question of holding the annual dinner this year, and, in view of the close proximity of the College Youths' Tercentenary dinner, recommended that the dinner be not held. Mr. Kippin explained that the feeling of the committee was that a good many ringers would want to attend the College Youths' commemoration, and as they could not all afford to go to both, the attendance at a Surrey dinner was bound to be affected, and they did not want to risk a loss.

CORONATION RINGING.

The committee's suggestion was confirmed—as was also the following recommendation of the committee: 'That ringing takes place as far as possible at every affiliated tower on the day of the Coronation, May 12th next; record of performances to be ascertained by the secretary.'

Mr. Talbot explained that on the occasion of the Silver Jubilee only one peal was rung by the association, and, on the face of it, it seemed a very poor recognition of the event. Actually there were several attempts and many touches were rung. The object on this occasion was to obtain a record of what was done.

Later Mr. Willett said he had read in 'The Ringing World' of the suggestion by one association that any peals rung by its members in the month of May should be recognised as Coronation peals. He asked whether that should be done in the Surrey Association, and if it was to be generally adopted.

The Chairman, asked to give his view on the matter, said he considered that any peal definitely arranged as a Coronation celebration, if rung within a reasonable time of the event, should be recognised as a Coronation peal. Peals casually arranged which happened to be rung soon after the Coronation ought not to be treated as Coronation peals, but those specially arranged for the purpose should be recognised, even if they were not rung in Coronation week.

A suggestion by Mr. W. H. Hewitt that a joint meeting with the Guildford Guild and Middlesex Association should be held at a tower near the Thames in the autumn was referred to the North-Western District Committee, it being pointed out that a joint meeting was to be held at Staines for the Middlesex, Guildford and Oxford Guilds.—The Chairman said he had no doubt the other societies would welcome the Surrey Association on that occasion.

Mr. Randall (Benhilton) suggested that in future no officer should hold his position for more than three years in succession.

Considerable discussion followed upon this, when the advantages and disadvantages were pointed out by various speakers.

Mr. Randall and others argued that it would give the opportunity of introducing new blood. At present if a man was willing to con-time in office he could not be very well turned out without feeling a sense of slight.

On the other hand, it was pointed out that an opportunity occurred annually to change officers if it was thought desirable, and there was also the difficulty which frequently occurred of finding suitable men for office.

Mr. Claydon (a district secretary) said it took a secretary three years to get into the job properly; were they, he asked, going to turn him out as soon as he knew his job?

Mr. C. H. Reading said if they had a good man they should stick to him.

REFERRED TO COMMITTEE.

In the end, it being understood that the meeting was not committed to any definite views, the matter was referred to the committee for consideration on condition that if they had any recommendation to make, the secretary and assistant secretary were not to be retired in the same year. The reference to the committee included both the general and district officers.

On the motion of the chairman, it was decided to ask the committee to consider the omission from the annual printed report of the tables giving statistics of the performances of those members who had rung peals in the preceding years. The Chairman, speaking from the sympathetic standpoint of a guild secretary, pointed out that it was a record of only limited scope, it put an immense amount of work on the secretary and added to the cost of the report. All the information was in the records of the peals, which members could extract for themselves, if they were interested.

Mr. Kippin said he had continued to prepare the tables every year because they had been compiled before he took office, but he endorsed what the chairman said about the labour involved. The preparation of these tables took as much time as all the rest of the report.

Mr. W. Hewitt said he should be sorry to see these statistics omitted from the report, but the meeting referred the matter to the committee.

On the motion of Mr. Hewitt, it was decided to leave the peal books in the custody of Reigate tower, and Mr. J. Beams was thanked for his services in writing up the records. At present they had only been brought up to 1926, as the association was for many years without books in which the entries could be made.

It was decided to record on the minutes a hearty vote of thanks to the retiring hon. treasurer (Mr. C. Dean) for his services to the association. It was pointed out that Mr. Dean had been a member of the association for 47 years, and had been in office since 1895, for two periods as hon. secretary, for many years as a representative of the association on the Central Council, and latterly as hon. treasurer. He was retiring now on account of the claims of business on his time.

A similar vote of thanks was passed to Mr. Kippin for his services for ten years as hon. secretary, and ordered to be recorded on the minutes.

Votes of thanks were passed to the Vicar of Leatherhead for the use of the bells and to the curate for conducting the service, also to Messrs. G. Marriner and H. V. Young for the local arrangements made.

It was also resolved to send a letter of condolence to Mr. Arthur Dean, an old Leatherhead member of the association, in his continued illness and good wishes for his speedy recovery.

The meeting terminated with a vote of thanks to the chairman.

ROYAL CUMBERLAND YOUTHS. SUCCESSFUL MEETING IN NORTH LONDON.

A quarterly meeting of the Society of Royal Cumberland Youths was held at Hampstead on Saturday, and, despite Arctic weather, about 40 ringers attended, representing the following towers: Ealing, Northfleet, Bishopsgate, Ruislip, Bromley Common, Watford, Kingsbury, St. John's Hillingdon, Sunbury, Gravesend, North Stoneham, Hamstead, Burnham, Finchley, Beckenham, St. Lawrence Jewry and St. Martin-in-the-Fields. Visitors also came from Coventry.

Ringing took place during the afternoon at St. Ann's, Highgate (Grandsire and Stedman Triples, Plain Bob Major, Cambridge and Bristol Surprise), and at St. Stephen's, Hampstead (Grandsire and Stedman Caters and Cambridge Royal, together with rounds for the beginners).

The service was held in St. Stephen's at 6 p.m. and was conducted by the Vicar of Hampstead, the Rev. A. F. Sharp.

Tea was served in the Church Hall of St. Stephen's. The Rev. A. F. Sharp having to leave before the business meeting, the Master (Mr. G. H. Cross), on behalf of those present, thanked him for his address and welcome and also for granting permission to ring.

After the inevitable touch on the handbells, the business meeting took place, the Master taking the chair. It was announced that the next quarterly meeting would be held at Pinner in July.

Mr. J. E. Bailey, secretary of the Dinner Committee, appealed for support for the dinner to be held on the following Saturday, and the meeting closed with a vote of thanks to Mr. T. Bevan for making such satisfactory arrangements.

Further ringing took place in the evening at Gospel Oak, where the methods rung included Grandsire and Stedman Doubles, Plain Bob, Treble Bob, Double Oxford, Double Court, Woodbine, Cambridge and London Minor.

LEICESTER RINGERS' ANNUAL DINNER.

THE FUN WAS 'FAST AND FURIOUS.'

Each year we have been able to report the result of the Leicester and District's annual dinner as 'the best yet.' This year's gathering was every bit as successful, and from a social point of view could not be surpassed. As a preliminary the bells of St. Margaret's (12) and St. John the Divine (10) were available for an hour to give visitors a chance of a pull, but evidently this was considered a secondary consideration with the majority, as the bells were not so keenly patronised as one might have expected. It was said most of the visitors were concentrating on the dinner! They were not disappointed. At 6.30 p.m. a 'gathering of the clans,' numbering over 100, met at the George Hotel, and among the towers represented were Anstey, Belgrave, Billesdon, Burbage, Croft, Glen Magna, Kirkby Mallory, Loughborough, Nottingham, Oakham, Wigstons Magna and South, as well as the local companies. Grace was said by the Leicester ringers' chaplain, the Rev. W. Groome-Merrilees, now of Ellistown, and the company enjoyed a good repast. The proceedings following dinner were free from any formality, set speeches and such like, and in the social that followed the fun was fast and furious. For several years past Leicester has struck a modern idea of what a dinner and social evening should be, and this was 'it.'

The genial chairman (Mr. Jim Harris) was in good form and carried through the programme in his usual breezy style. It was deeply regretted that the newly-appointed local secretary, P.C. J. W. Perkins, was absent owing to an unfortunate accident during the week. The chairman expressed the sympathy of all the company, and promised to convey to him their good wishes for his speedy recovery.

A course of Stedman Caters 'in hand' was rung by A. Ballard, H. J. Poole, E. Morris, F. E. Wilson, J. Morris. Then followed violin solos by P.C. Vines, and songs by Mr. A. Chiswell. A special feature was the entertainment by Mr. C. Grimes, who got 'sweet music' out of many and curious instruments, which was greatly appreciated.

Novelty competitions interspersed the proceedings, and the balloon blowing for ladies resulted in an appropriate prize of a specially constructed bottle with a rubber end. It was noticed that the winner quickly returned to the 'nursery' stage again, although what she extracted was not 'grade A.' It was also observed that 'our Albert and Freddie' insisted on having a suck! The 'Ananias Club' winner proved to be F. Mason, of St. Margaret's, who said he had a grandfather clock so old that the shadow of the pendulum swinging had worn a hole in the case at the back!

The special feature of the evening was the chairman's 'surprise packet' for one who had been at the recent police gathering at Liverpool, and who had been dismayed at his inability to get liquid nourishment—see 'Ringing World,' February 26th, page 128, column 2. This surprise packet caused endless hilarity in that the Sergeant-Major was made to 'open up,' and the revelation was a stunner! However, being a good sportsman, he promised to have the receptacle filled with 'the best,' providing the chairman had the first drink from it. Needless to say, the offer was accepted. This caused further amusement, but it was the last 'straw' when George carried the utensil around, offering 'good health' to all and sundry.

A competition, in which practically everyone in the room had a prize of either one of Jim's famous pipe-lighters or a coathanger, was won by one who made a Balla(r)d out of the photo of a certain lady's pet love. Handbell selections were delightfully rendered by the 'youngsters,' viz., S. Harrison, H. Hammersley and John Hill.

And so the fun went on until all too soon the landlord called 'Time, please,' thus terminating one of the best social gatherings ever held in Leicester.

BLIND RINGERS.

To the Editor.

Sir,—We have read with great pleasure the article in 'The Ringing World' of March 5th with regard to the blind ringers of Oxford.

Mr. G. Bromley, who is also blind, belongs to Llandudno and we are very proud to have him ring with us at Holy Trinity Church tower during vacations.

Mr. Bromley has on two occasions taken the treble through 120 Grandsire Doubles, and also an 'inside' bell through a course of Triples on handbells. He is a great help for Sunday service ringing when he is with us.

(Mrs.) M. OWEN.

KENT COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

The quarterly meeting of the Ashford District of the Kent County Association, held jointly with the Romney Marsh Guild at Biddenden on Saturday, March 6th, was very successful. Thirty members attended representing twelve towers. The bells were raised at three o'clock and were kept busy during the afternoon and evening, all the visiting ringers obtaining good practice from rounds up to Cambridge Surprise Major.

The usual service was cancelled owing to the Rector's ill-health. Tea was served at The Chequers, and was followed by the business meeting, at which six new members were elected. A vote of thanks was passed for the use of the bells, and the members returned to the tower, ringing continuing until 8.30 p.m.

RINGS OF EIGHT IN CORNWALL.

HOW THEY HAVE INCREASED.

The first church in Cornwall to possess a ring of eight bells seems to have been Bodmin, a complete octave for this tower having been cast in 1767 by Thomas Rudhall. The tenor weighed 16 cwt. 2 qr. In 1808 the sixth was recast by John Rudhall. By 1877, a period of 110 years, the number of octaves had increased to seven. Of these seven octaves three have been completely recast and are among the finest rings in the county, namely, St. Austell (1902), Kenwyn (1905) and Penzance (1928). All are from the Loughborough Foundry. The remaining four rings have been partially recast and all have been rehung.

From 1877 to 1900, a period of twenty-three years, six more octaves appeared. All the bells of this period remain intact except those of Stratton, which were made eight in 1878 by Messrs. Mears and Stainbank with a 20 cwt. tenor, but in 1911 were rehung by Messrs. J. Taylor and Co., and the weight of the tenor increased to approximately 22 cwt.

This shows how slow the process was of hanging rings of eight in Cornwall. It took one hundred and thirty-three years for the first thirteen rings to appear.

This century, however, has seen an increase of twenty, bringing the number up to thirty-three complete octaves. The period can be divided into two, for there were no augmentations from 1914 to 1919 inclusive.

In the period 1901 to 1913, augmentations started in the eastern end of the county when, in 1901, trebles were

NORTH STAFFORDSHIRE ASSOCIATION.

THE VACANT RINGING MASTERSHIP.

A meeting of the North Staffordshire Association was held at Newcastle on Saturday. Thirty-six members were present from Brown Edge, Burslem, Cheadle, Crewe, Kettering, Kingsley, Longton, Norton, Newcastle, Stoke and Uttoxeter.

A short service, lasting only twenty minutes, was conducted by the Rector of Newcastle (the Rev. C. J. Watkins). The choir were also in attendance, and were entertained to tea by the ringers. The order of service was written by Mr. Kenneth Thacker, assistant hon. secretary. After an exhortation, the following special prayer was offered: 'Grant, O Lord, that Thy blessings may be with us Thy servants who are gathered here now. May we in our appointed ministry and in our daily lives serve Thee faithfully. May our service in the belfry ever be a means of drawing us nearer to one another and to Thee. May our membership in this society tend in some measure to build up Thy Kingdom, and may we, who by the bells send forth Thy loving invitation to a sinful world, ourselves hear Thy voice of love; may we obey Thy voice and do Thy bidding by keeping ourselves pure in will and deed. For these and all our other needs we pray to Thee for the help of Thy Holy Spirit, through Jesus Christ our only Lord and Saviour.'

Then followed the Lord's Prayer, the Collect for the Day and a short lesson. After a hymn came the address, and the service concluded with another hymn and the Blessing.

Tea was held in the Parish Hall, and the Rector extended a very hearty welcome to all present. A vote of thanks was proposed to the Rector for his very interesting address, and to the ringers for having everything ready for the use of the visitors, by Mr. A. D. Steel (Stoke), seconded by Mr. T. Hurd (Burslem). Mr. J. E. Wheeldon also thanked the ladies for serving the tea so well and the choirboys for coming along to make the service so much brighter.

The company then stood in silence for a minute as a last mark of respect to Mr. R. G. Lewis, of Uttoxeter, late Ringing Master for eight-bell towers of the association.

A letter was read by the secretary from Mrs. Lewis thanking the ringers of Cheshire and of the North Staffordshire Association for their sympathy and also for the beautiful flowers sent.

All eight and ten-bell towers were asked to send in nominations for the election of a new Ringing Master.

Three new members were elected, viz., Mr. H. Thelwell, of Wistaston (life member), the Rev. C. J. Watkins (Rector of Newcastle) and Mr. L. A. Madew (Rector's warden) as honorary members.

Members are reminded that Minor, Major, Doubles and Triples can be rung at the ten-bell towers besides Caters and Royal, and the officials would like to see more members present at ten-bell meetings.

FIRST QUARTER PEAL

HILLINGDON.—At St. John the Baptist for evensong on Sunday, March 7th, a quarter-peal of Stedman Triples: F. W. Goodfellow 1, A. R. G. Twinn 2, J. J. Pratt 3, G. P. Mitchell 4, T. Cullingworth (Ashford) 5, W. H. Coles 6, R. W. Darvill (first quarter-peal in the method as conductor) 7, C. A. Over 8.

added to the sixes at St. Mary, Launceston and Liskeard; in both cases by Messrs. Mears and Stainbank. The work went on steadily with an octave being installed in the new tower at Kea in 1904, the church having been shifted to a more central part of the parish. Two old bells from the old square tower which still stands on the banks of the river Fal were included in this ring.

In 1907 a beautiful ring with an 18 cwt. tenor was installed at St. Keverne, there being only three bells previously. Both rings are from Loughborough. This pre-war period ended in 1913, when Messrs. Warner added two trebles at Gulval in the extreme west, making ten additional octaves.

Since 1920 there have been a further ten additions. At Tuckingmill the bells have been increased from one to eight, and in three cases from three to eight. In the remaining six cases trebles have been added either in additional framework or at complete restorations.

There are now only four octaves on which peals have not been rung. These are Tuckingmill, St. Mawgan-in-Pyder, Altarnan and St. Mabyn. The encouraging feature of a general interest in the bells of Cornwall is that all the thirty-three octaves are in ringing order.

RECORD PEAL ATTEMPT.

19,040 DOUBLE NORWICH MAJOR.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—I wish to give notice through the medium of 'The Ringing World' that, D.V., a band of the Oxford Diocesan Guild hope to make an attempt on the Major record at Kingham Parish Church, near Chipping Norton, Oxon, on Easter Monday, when an attempt will be made to ring 19,040 Double Norwich Court Bob Major.

The figures by F. E. Taylor are given below; these have been checked by Mr. J. W. Parker, of Sunderland, and Mr. W. Willson, of Leicester, to whom the company offer sincere thanks.

PREVIOUS RECORDS.

The present Major record was made at Bennington, Herts, on June 5th, 1933, when 18,144 Bob Major was rung in 10 hours 52 minutes.

Other peals of Major of a progressive length have been:—

- 15,120 Bob Major at West Ham, 1737.
 15,840 Kent Treble Bob at Bethnal Green, 1868.
 16,608 Kent Treble Bob at Mottram, 1883.
 17,024 Double Norwich at Kidlington, 1899.
 17,104 Double Norwich at South Wigston, 1904.
 17,230 Kent Treble Bob at Over, Cheshire, 1923.
 17,824 Oxford Treble Bob at Heptonstall, 1927.

There are records of two peals of Bob Major of longer length than any of these, rung by James Barham and his band, but in those peals more than eight men took part. In 1753 they rang 20,160 Bob Major at Lenham, and in 1761, 40,320 at Leeds, Kent.

LADIES' GUILD.

NORTHERN DISTRICT'S VILLAGE MEETING.

The fourth quarterly meeting of the Northern District of the Ladies' Guild was held at Gamston, near Retford, on February 27th. Members gathered early in the afternoon and were joined by the local band and members of the Notts Association, including their secretary and the Rev. R. F. Wilkinson, Rector of Ordsall.

Owing to the long distances having to be travelled by the ladies, a service was not arranged, as time was too limited.

An excellent tea was provided for the ringers at the only shop in the village. One new member from St. Mary's, Handsworth, Sheffield, was elected to the Guild. This makes a total of five ringing and two hon. members from this tower, with 33 years of active ringing between four of them.

It was arranged to hold the September meeting in Manchester.

The secretary personally thanked those who had helped to make the meeting a success.

After the meeting more ringers joined the company and a good variety of methods was rung, with two courses each of Bob Minor for the four learners.

CHISLEHURST.—On Wednesday, March 3rd, at the Church of the Annunciation, 720 of Kent Treble Bob Minor on the back six: T. Groombridge, sen. (conductor) 1, G. W. Fogden 2, P. A. Corby 3, E. G. Groombridge 4, J. Batters 5, W. Smith 6. This is the first 720 on the bells.

AN OLD LONDON SOCIETY.

The revival of the annual dinner of the Society of Royal Cumberland Youths was a well merited success, with an attendance beyond expectations. The event had been allowed to lapse for many years, but a new spirit of enterprise, introduced by younger members, is leading to greater activities and the interest shown in last Saturday's venture promises a rejuvenation of this old London Society whose history goes back over two hundred years. Like other similar organisations, the Cumberlands have had their up and downs, but their long, unbroken existence gives them a proud position in the Exercise.

The history of ringing in London was, for nearly two centuries at any rate, written round the Cumberlands and their still older 'rivals,' the College Youths, with, through part of the time, a link between them in the old St. James's Society, since expanded into the London County Association. But with the College Youths and Cumberlands in the 'good old days' rested the maintenance and expansion of change ringing in the Metropolis. Their rivalries led to many great peal performances, and personal jealousies resulted in quite a number of leading ringers at different times going from one society to the other, and sometimes, as we know, back again. To this day no man can be a member of both societies at the same time, and there is no sign of this traditional mutual bar being broken down. The 'feeling' between the two societies has sometimes been strong, but the founding of the St. James's Society in the early part of last century brought the members into closer ringing contact, for in those distant days, of course, there were no territorial associations to provide a common meeting ground. Nevertheless, there have often been signs of ill-feeling, which, we hope, with the coming of a new generation, will entirely disappear. On Saturday expressions of goodwill and friendliness were made on both sides, and there could be no more fitting occasion than this tercentenary year of the College Youths for a complete rapprochement.

In these days of a changed outlook on the whole purpose of church bellringing there should be no room for partisan strife. Opportunities for practising the art are now so much enlarged that there is ample room for all, and these two old societies especially can find plenty of scope for their energies without any treading on corns on either side. We believe that the younger men who are now taking up the reins, or will soon do so, will have a wider outlook than some of their predecessors, from the mere fact that they approach their ringing from a different angle. The time has gone by for narrow pre-

SPLICED SURPRISE RINGING RECORDED.

WATFORD MEN'S HANDBELL PERFORMANCE.
To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—Your readers will, I am sure, be pleased to know that a record has now been made of the 'Spliced' Surprise handbell ringing by the Watford band. The recording is of a touch of 352 changes in five Surprise methods, contained on two sides of a 12 inch record, and, I understand, except for two small trips on the second side, the record is perfect. The conductor is also heard calling the bobs and the change of methods.

The record has been made privately, but, provided sufficient orders are received, a limited supply, at an approximate cost of 4s. 6d. each, will be made available for those who require them. The cost will include carriage.

If any of your readers wish to take advantage of this offer and will advise me at once, I will pass the information to the right quarter.

G. W. FLETCHER.

The Wrong in the second touch need not give any trouble, as it is called in the lead after the last Before.

When you have a series of calls in one position, like the three successive Betimes in the second touch, it is as well to make some other 'observation' so that you will know when the last of these calls has been made. In this case quite a good one would be to note that when the third Before is called the bell that comes out of the hunt is the one coming Before at the next part end. The good conductor, of course, always knows what his part ends are going to be. In this touch the last Before puts this particular bell in coursing order behind the second.

FOR BEGINNERS.

MORE ABOUT CALLING GRANDSIRE TRIPLES.

In addition to calling Grandsire Triples by the position of the 'observation' bell; that is, the bell that returns to the same position at each part end, it is often possible and even more convenient to call touches and peals by the bells 'Before.' This means that you have to memorise the bells that will make the ordinary 3rd's place at the bobs.

An easy example of this kind of thing is the touch of 350 which can be got by calling any of the bells (except the 2nd) five times Before. The place to make the actual call, as we pointed out last week, is when the bell hunting down in front of the treble begins its whole pull at lead. What the bob caller has to watch for, therefore, is the lead in which the bell he has selected to call Before is hunting in front of the treble, and call the bob when that bell reaches the front.

This, in turn, implies that he must be able to watch the coursing order of the bells. At first perhaps he will be able to do this only as he passes them with his own bell, but he will see a lot more than that as he progresses. He must learn to make a mental note of the order in which he meets the bells. In this way he will soon have such a command of the ringing that if two bells try to do the same work he will be able unerringly to put them into their right coursing order.

Only practice will make a conductor efficient in this, but there are certain things which he can learn that facilitate his mental transpositions. The first and simplest is that when he meets the treble, the next bell must be the bell in the hunt. Another is that the bell that is hunting in front of the treble in one lead will be after the bell in the hunt in the next. And that leads to the 'cycle' which all the bells follow. This is how the bells come to lead in the plain course after the hunt bell (the 2nd) has led the first time:—

Notice how the order remains unchanged except that the bell in front of the treble takes its place next time immediately after the 2nd. It is hardly necessary, perhaps, to explain that the last 2 in the series is really outside this plain course.

When a bob is called the transpositions affect three bells instead of one. The bell in the hunt is changed and a new cycle is set up. Suppose we call a bob at the first lead, then the order becomes

The last two bells in front of the treble take their places immediately after the treble and in front of the bell leaving the hunt. Then the cycle plan proceeds as for a plain lead with the changed hunt bell.

When the touch is being called by the bells 'Before,' the conductor must follow this cycle of hunting, and, if he is observant, he will notice how in each lead the bell he is waiting to call Before will gradually close up to the treble. After he has called it Before once, he will find that the next time he meets it he will have four bells between it and the treble; the next lead three bells; the next lead two and the next one bell. In the following lead it will be immediately in front of the treble and then the next bob has to be called.

Sometimes it is useful to be able to base your observations upon the bells going into the hunt as well as those Before. In that case you call the bob in the lead when you have one bell between the bell going in and the treble. If you watch the coursing order carefully to note the wanted bell closing up to the treble, you should not have much trouble in observing it, but remember the actual 'call' has still to be made when the 3rd's place bell leads.

Now here are two quarter-peals of Grandsire Triples that have been sent us by Mr. H. J. Trim, which will give the young conductor good practice. They lend themselves to calling either from the 'observation' bell, which is the 2nd, or by the bells Before and In. They are each in five parts and the part ends are the lead ends of the plain course, in varying order. In the first, the leads of the plain course are in reverse order. At the side we have put the calling positions of the observation bell.

WING BELLS. AND THE PEAL AT QUEEN CAMEL.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—As I was the one responsible for sending you the account of the ringing at Wing, Bucks, I feel I must write a reply to Mr. J. Hunt. My statement that the bells are unpealable would, I am sure, be corroborated by other bands who have rung them. If we had rung them from the ground floor (the usual ringing room), we should not have been able to ring even a 720. By ringing in a room right under the bells we made things a bit better, but had the disadvantage of excessive noise, and also a tendency on the part of some of the ropes to slip wheel, due to the smallness of the holes in the floor through which the sallies had to pass (though this luckily did not occur during the 720). Still, the bells are there for any who would like to try their luck, but those who do so will have to be prepared to put in nearly three hours getting them ready before starting, and that might damp their enthusiasm a bit!

Now to the second paragraph in his letter re the peal at Queen Camel. I don't quite see what that performance has to do with ringing at Wing. However, I should like to correct one misapprehension in his letter, viz., 'the tenorman had enough in the fourth 720.' This is entirely misconstrued. What I said in 'The Ringing World' for January 8th was 'Double Oxford coming No. 4 was rather hard work, and the writer was glad when that was finished.' That statement certainly does not imply I had 'had enough'! It meant that I was glad to change to a method which did not require so much dodging and snapping. As a matter of fact, having now rung a peal there, I and the rest of the band do not consider it such a hard task as we had expected.

The excellent 'go' of the bells helped us considerably, and I can fully appreciate what they were like before they were rehung, and also Mr. J. T. Dyke's fine achievement in ringing the tenor to a peal of Minor in 1925. As they are now, the Rev. C. E. Wigg or myself would be quite prepared to ring the tenor again to a peal in an increased number of methods. But we don't want to be greedy, so what about another band, entirely strangers to the bells, having an attempt? Now then, you heavy bells aspirants, roll your sleeves up!

TENOR RINGERS' QUALIFICATIONS.

Dear Sir,—In reference to the letter in your last issue from an old friend, J. Hunt, of Taunton, may I be allowed space to add a few comments? In my varied experience there are two kinds of tenormen. One, the tenor ringer, the other a tenor 'slogger,' and I will go further and say without fear of contradiction that to become a tenor 'ringer' requires three important things: patience, endurance and skill, which can only be acquired by constant practice.

In some cases there are other factors which have to be taken into account. I quote one only for illustration. Some years ago I got together a band to attempt a peal of Cambridge at Great Waltham, Essex, and we were successful, notwithstanding these noble bells had had such a bad reputation for years, but we were lucky in that we went just after a long period of wet weather. The tenor was rung by the popular District Master of the Northern Division, Mr. A. Saunders, I myself calling Middleton's 5,056 from the 6th. I may add that six of the band are still alive and can verify my statement. Some time after this peal the late Mr. W. Pye took a band there to attempt another Surprise peal, but, although stripping to the skin, they had, after several fruitless starts, to admit defeat, the simple reason being the weather.

I hear these noble bells are to be rehung in an entirely new frame and fittings, and, if so, they will be a valuable addition to the ringable bells of Essex.

'MEDALS,' BUT NOT OF GOLD.

Sir,—The letter from the pen of Mr. J. Hunt questioning as it does the opinion of the Rev. C. E. Wigg re the condition of the heavy six at Wing is nothing short of colossal impudence. I was one of a party (including the Rev. C. E. Wigg) who rang at Wing on August 4th last. We rang from the ground floor and I was invited to ring the tenor to 120 Bob Minor and call it. The tenor hunted itself to lead, but it required the proverbial 'gas engine' to hunt it back to 6th's place again, and I was glad to give in at the end of a course. The Rev. C. E. Wigg afterwards rang it to a course of Cambridge Minor, but not without great physical effort. We all respect Mr. J. T. Dyke as one of the finest heavy bell men the Exercise has ever known. Should he, however, go to Wing with the idea of attempting a peal and see for himself, I, for one, cannot believe he would be so foolish as to start. The bells at Wing are not unpealable? Oh, no! So roll up the men who put difficulties in the way of bad-going bells being rehung by attempting peals on them, and men who must ring a peal at any price. What price will they have to pay at Wing? They will go home minus a peal and any glory whatsoever. Of medals they will collect plenty, but not of gold. The sort I refer to are sore, blistered hands, aching shoulders and strained stomach muscles, and that will not be half of what they will deserve.

PETERBOROUGH DIOCESAN GUILD.

VISIT TO LOWICK.

A special meeting of the Thrapston Branch of the Peterborough Diocesan Guild was held at St. Peter's, Lowick, on Saturday week. The bells, a peal of six, have recently been rehung by Messrs. John Taylor and Co. The visiting ringers, who came from a wide area, were very interested in the fine old church, which contains marble and alabaster tombs and beautiful stained glass windows.

Ringling commenced at 3 o'clock. At the Guild service held later the Rector (the Rev. P. W. Worster) gave a short and helpful address. After tea at the White Horse Inn thanks were expressed by the president of the branch for the use of the bells and to the hostess for such a fine spread.

Afterwards the ringers returned to the tower, where ringing, from rounds to Cambridge Surprise, was done. All were pleased with the 'go' of the bells, which were lowered in peal at 8 o'clock. Nineteen towers were represented, viz., Aldwinckle, Great Addington, Brigstock, Burton Latimer, Geddington, Kettering, Islip, Keyston, Pytchley, Raunds, Ringstead, Great Staughton, Swindon, Sudborough, Stanwick, Warkton, Woodford, Titchmarsh, Twywell and the local band.

NEWPORT RINGER'S LONG SERVICE.

FIFTY-SIX YEARS AT ST. WOOLLOS.

In honour of Mr. F. Atwell, who has given 56 years' service at St. Woollos', now the pro-Cathedral Church of Newport, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Caters (1,277 changes) was rung for evening service on February 7th: E. Howlett 1, F. Crabb 2, A. Slatter 3, F. Atwell 4, J. Bullen 5, F. Greedy 6, C. Greedy (conductor) 7, R. Lewis 8, W. Phillips 9, A. Thomas 10. After the service the ringers were entertained to supper in the Deanery by the Dean, the Very Rev. J. L. Phillips.

During his long service Mr. Atwell has seen the bells of St. Woollos' increased from six to eight, then the eight recast and two bells added to make ten. He hopes to see them increased to twelve in the near future.

'LESSNESS' SURPRISE.

NAME TAKEN FROM AN OLD ABBEY.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—To anyone unacquainted with North Kent, the name given to the new Surprise method in your issue of March 5th certainly is rather puzzling, and I am not surprised that you mention it in 'Belfry Gossip.'

Mr. Cullum, in naming it 'Lessness,' has perpetuated the name of an old Abbey which existed at one time in the parish of Erith, and from which the town of Abbey Wood (still in the civil parish of Erith) takes its name.

Lessness Woods, presumably part of the Abbey grounds, were acquired some few years ago to form part of London's 'green belt.' Crayford.

SERVICES AT RINGERS' MEETINGS.

MIDDLESEX ASSOCIATION DISCUSS THE QUESTION.

One of those now rare phenomena, a fine day, coincided with the meeting of the South and West District of the Middlesex County Association at Chiswick. This brought some old friends from a long hibernation, as well as the 'regulars,' the attendance reaching 40. A very good assembly at the appointed hour proved too unusual and proceedings were quickly interrupted with a broken rope. The doughty Joe then took the visitors in hand, and by the riverside they were treated to a discourse on rowing. The appearance of the Oxford crew at practice set the critics' tongues wagging, and it was agreed that the Dark Blues looked safe for a place! The raising of the delinquent bell announced the resumption of ringing activities and the 'watermen' were soon back at the ropes.

A short service, with a very reasoned discourse on the difficulties of the Church to-day, was conducted by the Vicar, the Rev. E. C. Rich. Tea, ably served by Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Thurley and friends, followed in the Schoolroom. The Vicar came along and gave a greeting and handshake to everyone. Before leaving he was thanked for his hospitality by the vice-president, Mr. J. A. Trollope.

It is said an Englishman takes his pleasures sadly. If we said slowly and with great deliberation we should aptly describe how ten minutes' business took an hour to transact!

Arising out of the minutes, the question was raised on the amount of notice required to move a motion with the object of omitting the usual service at monthly meetings. After much cross talk, it was ruled from the chair that the matter was solely one for the annual general meeting of the association.

Returning to the subject later, an effort was made to direct the secretary to approach the clergy on the point when meeting arrangements were made, but this was rejected by the meeting. The tone of the meeting certainly appeared against any change in the usual practice of holding a service. Some speakers appeared convinced that at heart the clergy would rather have their Saturdays free from duties of this description, but no evidence from present incumbents was produced. Indeed, the secretary said his experience indicated that the clergy were delighted with the idea of the monthly service. The question, therefore, appears to be not whether the clergy want the service, but whether the ringers do not. And that question was not decided.

It was agreed to apply for Feltham bells for a meeting on May 8th, and Sunbury and Hampton on June 5th. The annual meeting of the association is to be held on April 17th at Cripplegate, and no district meeting was arranged for that month.

On the motion of the secretary, it was agreed to invite the Surrey Association to the three Guilds (Guildford, Oxford and Middlesex) meeting at Staines and Egham, provisionally fixed for August 28th.

The question of Coronation ringing was discussed, and the secretary agreed to make what arrangements he could with regard to ringing at towers with depleted band, or no ringers at all. Any volunteers for this work on May 12th should get into touch with Mr. Goodfellow at once.

News of an accident to Mr. C. S. Bird, of Heston, on the Great West Road, was received with much regret, and the best wishes of the meeting were sent to him, congratulating him on his escape from more serious injury.

And so the meeting closed with hearty thanks to Mr. and Mrs. Thurley for their labours in providing for the comforts of their visitors. Further ringing was curtailed to an hour. Rounds and methods including Surprise Major were rung under the able direction of the Ringing Master, Mr. E. C. S. Turner.

MARRIAGE OF MR. E. P. DUFFIELD.

CEREMONY AT COLCHESTER.

The marriage took place at Lion Walk Congregational Church, Colchester, on March 4th, of Mr. Edward Patrick Duffield, second son of Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Duffield, of Mill House, Saxlingham Thorpe, Norwich, and Miss Doris May Piper, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur William Piper, of Cranbrook, Fitzwalter Road, Colchester. The ceremony was attended by a large congregation, for both the bride and bridegroom are actively connected with the church and well known in Colchester.

The Rev. L. J. Tizard officiated at the service, which was choral. The bride, who was given away by her father, was attended by two bridesmaids, Miss Muriel Peck and Miss Christine Cross (friends). Mr. W. C. Duffield, the bridegroom's brother, was best man. A reception was held at the Albert Hall, Colchester, and afterwards Mr. and Mrs. Duffield left for a honeymoon in the South of France.

Mr. E. P. Duffield is one of the best known ringers in the Exercise and served for two years as Master of the College Youths, concluding his term of office last November.

The bride, whose father is an Alderman and ex-Mayor of Colchester, is local hon. secretary of the Surgical Aid Society and assistant hon. secretary of the Colchester Operative Society, in whose past productions she has taken a prominent part.

Mr. and Mrs. Duffield's residence is Acland Lodge, Acland Avenue, Lexden, Colchester.

DEATH OF THE REV. E. W. CARPENTER.

SECRETARY OF TWO ASSOCIATIONS.

We much regret to record the death of the Rev. Edward Westall Carpenter, who passed away at his home at Stoke-by-Clare, Suffolk, at the advanced age of 81 years, on February 9th.

In a quiet way, the Rev. E. W. Carpenter did a great deal to further the art of change ringing and raise the status of the ringer. He was not among those who made a name by peal ringing, but it was in organising that his services to the Exercise will be best remembered.

THE LATE REV. E. W. CARPENTER.

While Vicar of Bobbing, Kent, in 1889, he succeeded the Rev. R. Knatchbull Hugessen as hon. secretary of the Kent County Association, and during the time he held this office, the association, mainly at his instigation, was divided into districts for administrative purposes. In 1891 he removed to Margate, and gave up the post of secretary, in which he was followed by the Rev. F. J. O. Helmore.

Later, Mr. Carpenter was preferred to the living of Thorpe, near Chertsey, Surrey, and for four years, from 1902 to 1906, was hon. secretary of the Winchester Diocesan Guild, in which he was succeeded by the late Rev. C. E. Matthews, who afterwards held successively the offices of Master and president.

The Rev. E. W. Carpenter was for a long period a member of the Central Council. He was first elected to represent the Kent County Association, and when he retired about two years ago he had been an honorary member for many years. For a considerable time he shared the rather arduous duties of the Analysis Committee.

Mr. Carpenter was a scholar of Gonville and Caius College, Cambridge, and took his B.A. degree in 1878, proceeding to his M.A. in 1881. He was ordained deacon in 1881 at Canterbury and priest in the following year. He was curate at Milton-next-Sittingbourne 1881-83, and Vicar of Bobbing 1883-1891. After a curacy at Margate he returned to Milton as Vicar in 1893 and remained there until 1900, when he became Vicar of Thorpe. This living he held until 1907, when he was preferred to the Rectory of Boothby Pagnell, near Grantham, Lincs, and remained until 1917. He continued to reside in the diocese of Lincoln until 1933 when he retired to Stoke-by-Clare, Suffolk. Even in his advancing years he taught a band to ring in this parish, and our photograph shows him in the belfry.

NORTH NOTTS ASSOCIATION.

A SUCCESSFUL MEETING AT BARNBY-IN-THE-WILLOWS.

Last Saturday, the North Notts Association paid its first visit to Barnby, where 28 ringers met to try the light six (tenor 6½ cwt.). The following towers were represented: Balderton, Eastwood, Farn-don, Hough-on-the-Hill, Lincoln Cathedral, Newark Parish Church, Nottingham (St. Mary's), Ordsall, Sutton-on-Trent and the home tower. Ringing commenced at 2.15 and went on until 9 o'clock except for the interval for tea.

The Vicar of Barnby, in opening the business meeting, welcomed the association to his tower, and paid a warm tribute to the local band who did so much for the church in that small village.

The hon. secretary (Mr. R. Towler) announced that arrangements were being made for the joint meeting of the Doncaster District of the Yorkshire Association and the North Notts Association at Blyth on April 3rd. The annual meeting had been altered to April 10th.

The Rev. R. F. Wilkinson, Rector of Ordsall, in replying to the Vicar's welcome, also complimented the Barnby ringers. They were, he said, very enthusiastic and had done great good in the district.

Votes of thanks to the Vicar for the use of the bells and to the ladies for providing an excellent tea were passed.

The Rev. R. F. Wilkinson raised the question of reports of the association's meetings being sent to 'The Ringing World' for publication, and proposed that the secretary be asked to forward a short account to the Editor. Mr. T. Vessey seconded, and the secretary replied that he would attend to the matter for this and future meetings.

A set of handbells was produced, and the company was delighted to hear courses of Bob Major, Stedman Triples and Grandshire Triples and Caters. On returning to the tower, further methods were rung, and a very successful meeting brought to a close towards 9 p.m.

ASHBRITTLE, SOMERSET.—At St. John the Baptist's Church, a quarter-peal of Grandshire Doubles, with ten callings, was rung for morning service on January 31st: S. Bristow 1, J. Manning 2, F. Alderman (conductor) 3, L. Alderman 4, H. Bristow 5, J. Alderman 6.

'MARCH 4th' AT APPLETON, BERKS.

On Saturday, March 6th, the 119th anniversary of Appleton bells was celebrated in the usual way. Visitors from many parts assembled and some good touches of Grandsire and Stedman Caters were brought round. Many young ringers from far away rang their first rounds on ten bells and were delighted with that experience. Between forty and fifty sat down to dinner at The Thatched Tavern, and no one 'went empty away.'

After the tables had been cleared and 'The King' toasted, tune ringing and song singing were the order of the evening, during which, for the benefit of many whose first visit it was, the veteran, Mr. G. Holifield, gave his usual interesting history of Appleton bells and the things that have been done there. One thing they have to be proud of is that from a population of only 400 there is once more a local Stedman Caters band, which is really a remarkable thing.

The evening was too short for most of those present; in fact, more than one was heard to say, 'Well, I shall come again, but next time I shall stay the night.'

BLIND RINGERS.To the Editor.

Sir,—Having read with interest the letters published in your journal re 'blind ringers,' I should like to mention one, John Kittle, who, having been blind from the age of four years, learned to ring here at St. Peter's Church, Colchester, in the year 1890, and rang several 360's of Bob Minor on an 'inside' bell. He was a very capable ringer on handbells, ringing two 'inside' bells and conducting 720's of Grandsire, Bob, Kent and Oxford Minor. He also rang double-handed several quarter-peals of Bob and Grandsire Triples, and just before he died rang half-way in an attempt for a 5.040 Bob Major.

BLIND ORGANIST—RINGER.

Dear Sir,—I have read with interest the correspondence in 'The Ringing World' with reference to blind ringers.

At Chiseldon, Wilts, the organist, Mr. H. Whittaker, who is blind, is also a regular ringer, having learnt to ring long after he lost his sight.

He rings and conducts several methods of Doubles from any bell in the tower (five bells, tenor 14½ cwt.), and has rung in at least one quarter-peal.

MR. J. J. PARKER, 84.COMPOSER OF THE FAMOUS 12-PART.

On Monday, March 8th, on the occasion of the 84th birthday of Mr. J. J. Parker, of Farnham Royal, the bells of Hitcham Parish Church were rung to a 720 of Oxford Bob Minor and touches of Kent and Little Bob, Farnham Royal bells not being available. It was also a birthday compliment to the father of the captain of the Hitcham company, Mr. Berry, who has reached the age of 82 years. The ringers were Martin A. Blamey treble, Peter A. Blamey 2, George J. Berry 3, Bryan O'Neill 4, John E. Taylor 5, George Gilbert tenor. With the exception of Mr. Berry, all are members of the St. Peter's Society, Burnham. This was the Blamey brothers' first 720 of Oxford.

Oxford Bob was rung as it is a favourite method of Mr. Parker. A message of greeting was sent to the old gentleman by the young bloods of Burnham.

The bells at Stoke Poges were also rung in honour of Mr. Parker's birthday.

Mr. Parker, as most of our readers know, is the composer of the famous 12-part peal of Grandsire Triples and scores of other peals.

GLOUCESTER AND BRISTOL DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION.SWINDON BRANCH AT HIGHWORTH.

A good number of members and visitors attended the quarterly meeting of the Swindon Branch of the Gloucester and Bristol Diocesan Association at Highworth on Saturday, March 13th, and some very useful practice was obtained in the standard methods and Double Norwich and Cambridge Major.

At the business meeting the places for the next three meetings were provisionally arranged as follows: Purton, South Marston and Bishopstone.

Ringers were present from Bishopstone, Blunsdon, Cirencester, Coventry, Faringdon, Rodbourne Cheney, Swindon, Stratton St. Margaret, Southwark and South Cerney.

NEW VICAR'S INDUCTION.

At St. Mary's Church, Frensham, Surrey, on Saturday, March 13th, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Doubles (1,260 changes): N. Overington 1, G. Ackerman 2, Miss D. I. Aslett 3, E. J. Pepler 4, A. J. Clutter (conductor) 5, K. Dalton 6. First quarter-peal by ringer of the tenor. Rung as a welcome to the new Vicar, the Rev. Canon L. G. Buchanan, M.A., on the occasion of his institution and induction to the benefice of Frensham.

GOOD FRIDAY.

On account of Good Friday, 'The Ringing World' will be published a day earlier next week.

Correspondents are reminded that all matter intended for publication must reach our office NOT LATER THAN MONDAY.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

The sympathy of the whole Exercise will go out to the Essex veteran, Mr. W. J. Nevard, of Great Bentley, in the bereavement he has sustained by the death of his wife. Mr. and Mrs. Nevard had been married for 59 years.

The hon. secretary of the Swindon Branch of the Gloucester and Bristol Diocesan Association must look a poor, harassed old bachelor. When he visited Highworth the other day to arrange a meeting, he was asked if he had come to have the banns 'put up'!

The Rev. E. W. Carpenter, whose death is reported, was one of the very few men who had had the distinction of serving two different associations as general secretary. He was secretary of the Kent County Association and afterwards of the Winchester Diocesan Guild.

Mr. Arthur L. Coleman, secretary of the Norwich Diocesan Association, was formerly secretary of the Warwickshire Guild. Mr. George Williams has been secretary of the Winchester Diocesan Guild, after serving as a divisional secretary of the Sussex Association.

Mr. Challis Winney celebrated his 73th birthday on Wednesday, the day after his old friend, Mr. Francis E. Dawe, reached his 75th birthday. The Exercise will extend their good wishes to these two veterans.

The report of the Dudley and District Guild annual meeting will appear in our next issue.

PEOPLE'S MEMORIAL TO CANON ELSEE.

RINGERS' PROPOSALS FOR FURTHER COMMEMORATION.

On Sunday, March 7th, another memorial was dedicated to the memory of the late Canon H. J. Elsee, who had been president of the Lancashire Association for 45 years. The Church Lads' Brigade subscribed for a tent and altar rail, the local clergy have also a scheme in hand, so have the local Hospital Committee.

On Sunday the memorial was that provided by the congregation of St. George's, Bolton, where Canon Elsee had been Vicar for the past forty years.

The memorial is in three parts, comprising panelling to the baptistry, four pew frontals to the east end of the nave, and two choir screens in the chancel, all in oak.

The panelling to the baptistry is constructed as a background to the font, and it harmonises with the adjoining panelling to the main columns. Rising above the centre of this part of the memorial, at the angle of the north-east corner of the church, are two oak panels to which are secured bell-metal tablets referring to the late Canon and mentioning that he was Hon. Canon of Manchester Cathedral, Hon. Chaplain of the Forces, Rural Dean of Bolton, Proctor in Convocation and president of the Lancashire Association of Change Ringers. Surmounting these tablets is a carved oak quadrant of a bell, and inside the bell is a light to illuminate the tablets with a floodlight effect.

The details for the pew frontals are in accord with the adjacent choir and clergy stalls. The late Canon frequently expressed a desire that the seating accommodation to the centre and wings of the nave should be completed in this manner. The choir screens are also designed to match the choir stalls and are required to shield the choristers from draughts. They are fitted with leaded lights, glazed with two shades of amber glass to correspond with the new clerestory windows in the chancel. The latter, the gift of Mr. Thomas Booth in memory of his wife, were also dedicated.

The gifts were dedicated by the Bishop of Manchester (Dr. Warman) in the presence of a large congregation. The bells were rung from 2 p.m. to 3 p.m. and also after the service, in touches of Double Norwich, Stedman and Grandsire Triples, by ringers from many parts of Lancashire, including the hon. secretary (Mr. W. H. Shuker) and hon. treasurer (Mr. C. I. Davies).

A ringers' memorial has been occupying the attention of a committee for some time. The late Canon had often expressed a wish to see a peal of ten in Bolton Parish Church, and the fact that he was the Rural Dean caused efforts to be made towards that object, but it proved too big an undertaking for ringers only. It had been hoped to get the co-operation of other sections. Steps are, however, being taken to put St. George's bells into first-class order. It has been suggested that they should be put into a new frame at a lower level in the tower, and, if the response is good enough, add two trebles. If the church authorities grant permission for this, an appeal will be made for subscriptions.

HISTORIC PERFORMANCE RECALLED.HOW HOLT'S ORIGINAL WAS FIRST RUNG 'SILENT.'A Jubilee Celebration.*

A unique celebration took place a week ago, when, on Thursday evening, Mr. John Christopher Mitchell entertained a small party of ringing friends at his charming home in West Norwood. It was the fiftieth anniversary of a wonderful handbell performance. On March 11th, 1887, four College Youths, of whom Mr. Mitchell, then 19 years of age, was the youngest, rang Holt's Original 'silent' for the first time. The other members of the band were W. H. L. Buckingham, C. F. Winney and G. T. McLaughlin, and the peal was rung at the old headquarters, the Goose and Gridiron, in St. Paul's Churchyard, a hostelry which has since disappeared.

Of those who took part, Mr. Buckingham and Mr. Winney survive with Mr. Mitchell, but Mr. McLaughlin died some years ago, and the two umpires, Messrs. J. W. Rowbotham, of the College Youths, and W. Baron, of the Cumberlands, are also no longer with us.

AFTER FIFTY YEARS.

The little gathering that met last week as the guests of Mr. Mitchell included, in addition to Messrs. Buckingham and Winney, Messrs. E. H. Lewis (Master of the College Youths), A. A. Hughes (treasurer), F. E. Dawe (who was one of the unofficial witnesses of the peal) and J. S. Goldsmith, while other members of Mr. Mitchell's family present were Miss H. Mitchell and Mr. B. Mitchell. Unfortunately the weather prevented Mr. W. T. Cockerill (hon. secretary of the College Youths) from joining the party, but during the evening he was greeted on the telephone with good wishes and returned his congratulations.

After a happy meal together, during which tongues wagged and reminiscences of past days were retold, the proceedings were continued in the lounge, where handbell ringing took place and the three heroes of the great event of half a century ago showed they had lost little of their ability. When they sat down for the first touch, with F. E. Dawe at the tenors, Winney was asked to call a bit of Grandsire, but, presumably from force of habit, said 'Go Stedman,' and these youths, whose ages totalled 293 years, made no 'bones' about it. (Continued in next column.)

CENTRAL COUNCIL'S PUBLICATIONS.THE VALUE OF THE SURPRISE MAJOR COLLECTION.To the Editor.*

Dear Sir,—May I make one or two short comments on your interesting article in last week's issue?

Personally, I am quite satisfied with the effect that the Major Methods Collection has had. I never expected that there would be an immediate increase of peals in Plain Major methods, for it takes a long time before the Exercise is ready for any great advance in such matters. The number of these methods that have been rung is greater than perhaps some people suppose and the full effect will not be seen for many years.

At present most ringers think that a Surprise method must be a better thing than a Plain method and so rather neglect the latter. Actually the average Plain method is better than the average Surprise method, and especially so on ten and twelve bells. Our Minor Methods book revolutionised six-bell ringing, but it was futile to imagine that a similar thing would happen on eight bells, at any rate for many years. But it is instructive to compare a list of the new methods rung in (a) the 18th century; (b) the 19th century; (c) the present century before the war; (d) the present century since the war. You have there a conclusive reply to those people who think that the Central Council books have not done an enormous amount to extend method ringing.

The new Surprise book is intended not only to make a large selection of methods available for ringers, but also to give information which is interesting to the great mass of ringers who have not the opportunity of actually practising new methods—information which will further the development of the art indirectly in many ways. When I was preparing it I considered the question of giving diagrams, and my then connection with 'The Ringing World' (from which I have benefited more than I should have thought possible) enabled me to get some information, from which I reluctantly came to the conclusion that the cost was prohibitive. You know much more about that than I do, but I fancy you will agree.

Of the value of diagrams there can be no question. When dealing with the Surprise methods I worked them all out and the selection was made from the diagrams in the first instance and not from the figures. If we could be sure of a sale of five thousand copies of the book spread over twenty or twenty-five years, it would be good business to have the blocks made. But where is the necessary capital to come from? I feel that a good deal can be done to improve the books which the Council publishes, and I am sure that the new Surprise book is on the right lines. For one thing, it is a book to be read and studied, and not merely a collection of figures which are of interest only when a band wants something new to ring.

LONDON TOWERS.To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—I had almost the same experience as Mr. Corby described in your last issue, and it was only by hearing the bells that I found the church. Even the 'Bobby' I asked didn't know. A good suggestion, Mr. Corby!

F. WARRINGTON.

Afterwards other touches of Stedman, Grandsire and Bob Major were rung in which all present shared, and old times discussed until the little party broke up, with thanks to Mr. Mitchell for his hospitality and the hope that, despite the advance of 'Anno Domini,' these veterans might be spared to meet again.

In the days when this memorable peal was rung Messrs. Mitchell and Buckingham were living at St. Albans, but, being in business in London, were able to meet constantly for practice. It was Challis Winney's 'bright idea' that they should attempt the Original 'silent,' and they met at all hours of the day and night, often at Mr. Winney's home in Chelsea. On one occasion, when Mr. Mitchell was detained at business until 10 p.m., they started for a peal at nine minutes to 11 and finished at twenty minutes past one next morning. This peal was rung without bobs being called, but trips were corrected. Mr. Bill Garrard was the witness and it was the eighth meeting the band had had.

This was on February 25th, 1887, and enthusiasm had reached almost fever heat. On February 28th over half a peal was rung in strict silence. On March 2nd two-thirds of the peal was accomplished under similar conditions before it came to grief. On March 8th, 4,600 changes were rung. This peal was lost, so it was said at last week's gathering, because 'Buck' thought he heard St. Paul's Cathedral clock strike thirteen when it should only have struck eleven. Next evening nearly half a peal was rung, but nothing daunted by these failures, a further attempt was made on the 11th and triumph was achieved in 2 hours 39 minutes.

Many ringers heard the peal in an adjoining room and testified to the perfection of the performance, which stands out as one of the finest handbell achievements of all time.

It was fittingly the anniversary of the first silent peal of Stedman Triples rung 33 years earlier at the Whitlington and Cat. Bethnal Green, by J. Cox, W. Cooter, H. Huley and M. Wood.

BROADCASTS FROM ST. MARTIN'S-IN-THE-FIELDS BELLS TO BE RUNG IN FUTURE.

In future, when the bells of St. Martin's-in-the-Fields are broadcast they will be rung instead of chimed.

This announcement was made by the Vicar of St. Martin's (the Rev. Pat McCormick) on Saturday, at the annual dinner of the Royal Cumberland Youths, the society which is responsible for the service ringing at the celebrated church in Trafalgar Square. The announcement will be received with great pleasure by ringers everywhere, for the chiming that has been heard for years has been a miserable travesty of church bell music, and in no sense befitting the dignity of the services which have followed.

The Rev. Pat McCormick was responding to the toast of 'The Church,' and, in reference to the increasing difficulty of getting ringers to ring for service in London, said it was a matter which rather perturbed him, because he was hoping very much that the Cumberland Youths were going to do another bit of work for St. Martin's.

I am sure all of you here, he said, will be glad to hear that arrangements are nearing completion and I hope will eventuate by the next broadcast service from St. Martin's (loud applause).

There are one or two reasons why I would like to have the bells pealed properly. One is because it will save me a great deal of correspondence (laughter). Not only do I get letters from bellringers protesting against this chiming, but also crowds of letters from other people saying that our bells are out of tune. As you know, it is nothing to do with the bells, but with the hammers. If the hammer is the slightest bit out of place where it strikes the bell, the bell sounds out of tune. I have to write back to all these people and explain so often that I get 'fed up' with it (laughter).

The other reason is, I think it is rather a scandal, having such a magnificent peal of bells as we have got, that they should not be rung properly so that people all over the world are able to hear them (applause).

We shall, of course, get a great many criticisms. We shall get criticism from the old ladies who love to hear the hymn tunes played on the bells. It is quite extraordinary what a number of people do like that. I suppose it brings back old tunes to them, or something of that sort, but we all know that is not the method of ringing bells.

I had hoped it would be possible to begin the new arrangement to-morrow. When I spoke to the Religious Director of the B.B.C. the other day he said, 'When are you going to have your bells properly rung?' I said, 'We are waiting for you, please.' Things of this sort have to pass through so many channels that they had not then been able to trace the correspondence, but the Director himself is also 'fed up' with the chiming of the bells of St. Martin's, so I am glad to be able to announce that we hope in future to have them rung (applause).

I am sure you will agree, continued the Vicar, that not only in the interests of bellringing, but also in the interests of what I may call the 'pride' of St. Martin's-in-the-Fields, it is right that the bells should be pealed (applause). It means, however, that you will only be 'on the air' a short time. None of your running over time (laughter), because even if the bells are faded out I do not want to have to compete with the bells when I am taking the service. We cannot give you more than ten minutes to ring, because, as some of you probably know, we have a 'preparation service' before the broadcast service, and it would mean that that preparation would have to be cut down and would not be of the value that it is and ought to be. I believe that little preparation service, when we practise the hymns and say a prayer, is one of the chief factors which enables St. Martin's services to get over the air and be of such infinite value to listeners all over the world (applause). I hope you will all enter into the spirit of it and that by next time a broadcast takes place we shall have the bells properly pealed (applause).

We shall do away with the services of Mr. Blewitt, and for that I am sorry. He has played the bells ever since the first broadcast and has never missed once (applause). I shall be sorry for him, because I know he loves it, but he has retired actually from St. Martin's and has been coming up for this only bit of his duty left to him. I shall be sorry for him, but I am quite convinced, for everybody's sake, that the bells ought to be properly rung (hear, hear).

Speaking later, Mr. E. H. Lewis, president of the Central Council, said he was very pleased to hear what Mr. McCormick had said about the ringing of St. Martin's bells for the broadcasts. He hoped the Society of Cumberland Youths, when ringing for these services, would show some other parts of the country what broadcast ringing should be like. He got into trouble a while ago for some fairly pointed remarks about certain broadcasts, but he was not in the least repentant. They had had some better ones since. The last he heard was Croydon and it was really a treat to listen to. At Stepney, in view of the fact that a number of the band were comparative beginners, the broadcast was quite successful. They had a delightful course of Superlative from Pudsey, except for one trip, which was far better than certain broadcasts from another county in the North.

YORKSHIRE ASSOCIATION.

WESTERN DIVISION MEET AT SNOWBOUND LONGWOOD.

The West Riding of Yorkshire had been practically snowbound for over a fortnight, and the winter was showing its very worst side on Saturday, yet it was in such conditions that the Western Division held their annual meeting at St. Mark's, Longwood. Only a few days before the meeting there had been another exceptionally heavy fall of snow and many of the roads on the Yorkshire Moors were impassable. The stalwarts of the Western Division made light of these difficulties, however, and one party at least travelled over 40 miles by road, through snow and fog—such was their enthusiasm. When the first of the visitors arrived, Mr. Rothery and the local company were busily engaged in excavating their church from the snow. Over 40 members were present from 20 towers and all helped to make a very successful meeting.

St. Mark's, Longwood, has a fairly modern tower, which was added to the church in 1914, and the peal of eight which it contains is one of the finest in the county. The bells were raised about 2.30, and, excepting for the tea interval, were kept moving until after 9 o'clock, when they were finally lowered in peal. The striking throughout the day was of a particularly high standard for meetings, and another pleasing feature was the number of young ringers who are being trained in the district.

The Rev. W. M. Griffiths, M.A., conducted a short Litany service in the church prior to the tea, and gave an inspiring address which was greatly appreciated. An excellent tea was served in the schools by the local ringers, to which over 30 members sat down. This was followed by the business meeting, presided over by Mr. W. H. Senior in the absence of the vice-president, who was called away immediately after the service.

A telegram was read from the association's president, Canon Marshall, expressing his regret at his unavoidable absence, and wishing the meeting every success. A letter was also read from Mr. Knight, of Stanwick, enclosing a short history of St. Mark's, and this was greatly appreciated by all present.

The three retiring members of the committee, Messrs. F. W. Dixon, J. Hardcastle and R. Bottomley, were elected for a further period of three years.

MR. JOE BROADLEY RESIGNS RINGING MASTERSHIP.

A letter had been received from Mr. Joseph Broadley, the retiring Ringing Master, expressing his desire to resign the office on account of his age. Mr. Broadley, who is now 78 years old, recently rang his 400th peal for the association.

It was decided to defer the appointment of a successor until the next quarterly meeting in June, when due notice would be given for nominations for the office.

The Chairman voiced the thanks of the association to the Vicar and wardens for kindly granting the use of the bells and for the welcome which had been received. He particularly thanked the Vicar for his inspiring address, which they had all enjoyed.—This was supported by Mr. Knight.

The Rev. W. M. Griffiths, M.A., in replying, said how sorry he was that the weather had been so bad, but assured the members, amid laughter, that he really was not responsible for it. He delighted his hearers by recounting his earliest experiences with ringers, and showed how, from his boyhood, he had always appreciated the comradeship which their calling implied.

Mr. Leslie Morris proposed a hearty vote of thanks to the local company for their splendid arrangements and for providing such an excellent tea, also to the organist for officiating at the service. This was supported by Mr. Hutchinson, and Mr. Ralph Williams replied for the local company.

The association's thanks are also due to Mr. Mellor for kindly placing Lindley bells at the disposal of the meeting, and had the weather been normal there is no doubt that both towers would have been fully occupied all day. The secretary reported that in his advertisements in 'The Ringing World' he had erroneously described the Lindley bells as having been recast. This was an error, as the bells had only been retuned, and whilst perhaps little difference would be noticed between the two, he wished to correct the matter so that no wrong impressions would be gained.

Two new members were elected—Mr. T. Lancaster, of Middlesbrough, and Mr. Andrew Blackburn, of Longwood.

The Chairman mentioned that as there had been some discussion on the subject of forming a district society round Huddersfield, he felt that there was plenty of scope, and if carried on in harmony with the Yorkshire Association he was sure that nothing but good would result. The Western Division covered a very wide area embracing over 80 towers, and as they only had four meetings every year, it was obvious that some considerable period must elapse between their visits to individual places.

An invitation had been received to hold the June meeting at Giggleswick, but owing to the great distance it was felt that it would be more advisable to try a place a little nearer, and so cover the whole of that area equally as well. It is, therefore, hoped that a meeting can be arranged in the Kildwick district about the second Saturday in June, but an announcement will be made later.

The following towers were represented at the meeting: Almondbury, Armley, Batley, Elland, Huddersfield Parish Church, Idle, Kirkburton, Lindley, Longwood, Meltham, Holbeck, Queensbury, Rothwell, Thadlington (St. Chad's and St. Michael's), Rippenden, Sherburn-in-Elmet, Friesland, Heninghrough and Mirfield.

ROYAL CUMBERLAND YOUTHS.

ANNUAL DINNER REVIVED.

The Society of Royal Cumberland Youths held a very successful dinner in London on Saturday. It was a revival after a great many years, and members from many distant places rallied to the committee's effort. After ringing at several churches in the afternoon, the company, numbering altogether 92, including 22 ladies, assembled at the Bedford Head, Maiden Lane, Strand, under the chairmanship of the Master (Mr. George H. Cross). Among those present were the Rev. Pat McCormick (Vicar, St. Martin's-in-the-Fields), the Rev. F. Ll. Edwards (hon. secretary, Salisbury Diocesan Guild), the Rev. A. G. G. Thurlow (Wokingham), Mr. E. H. Lewis (president, Central Council, and Master of the College Youths), Mrs. G. H. Cross, Mr. T. Bevan (senior steward) and Mrs. Bevan, Mr. J. Bailey (junior steward), Mr. G. W. Steere (hon. treasurer), Mr. N. Summerhayes (assistant hon. secretary), Mr. F. Smith (trustee), Messrs. J. Parker (Edmonton) and G. Gilbert (Maidenhead), Central Council representatives; Mr. T. H. Taffender (Master, London County Association), Mr. T. W. Taffender (hon. secretary, London County Association), Mr. J. Waugh (Master, Northern District of London County Association), Mr. W. Bottrill (vice-president, National Police Guild), Mr. G. Williams (Master, Winchester and Portsmouth Diocesan Guild), Mr. W. H. Fussell (Slough), Mr. F. E. Dawe (Woking), Mr. A. F. Martin Stewart (Dorset), Mr. G. Pullinger (Bishopstoke). There were also members and visitors from Maidenhead, Northfleet, Gravesend, Guildford, Brentwood, Romford, North Stoneham, Hampstead, Sevenoaks, Bishopsgate, Dartford, Swanscombe, Chiselhurst, St. Olave's, Hart Street, Shoreditch, Woodford, Broxbourne, Burnham, Christchurch, Oxford, etc. Apologies for unavoidable absence were received from the Rev. A. Taylor (St. Bride's), the Rev. Wellard (St. Olave's, Hart Street), Messrs. A. Hardy (trustee), G. Card (hon. secretary), J. Hunt (Taunton), H. Hopkins (Whitstable), A. H. Pulling (Guildford) and many others.

SERVICE RINGING IN LONDON.

The Master, at the conclusion of the meal, submitted the loyal toast, and afterwards, in thanking the company for making the gathering such an excellent one, expressed the hope that it would prove the forerunner of many more and that the next would be even better attended than this. There were, he said, two old friends who would specially be thinking of them, Mr. George Card, the secretary, who was in hospital, and Mr. Arthur Hardy, one of the trustees, who was absent through a family bereavement. He (the Master) thought they should write and tell these old members what a good gathering they had had.

Proceeding, the Master proposed the toast of 'The Church.' This was Coronation year, and the Church, he said, had a very important task to perform, namely, that of blessing the new reign. In that connection ringers would be expected to do their part in ringing at all the churches where ringing was possible. Sunday service ringing in London, said Mr. Cross, was very difficult, and he appealed to members of the society to give their fullest support to the service ringing for which the society was responsible. In conclusion, the Master said this was an interesting year for ringing in London, for the College Youths would celebrate their tercentenary. The Cumberlands all wished them the best of success (applause).

The Rev. Pat McCormick, in responding to the toast, said they in the Church knew they could not do without the bellringers. The close friendship between the two must always exist. The churches depended on the ringers, but the ringers also depended on the Church, because there were very few bells they could ring that were not in churches. He was glad to hear what the Master had said about ringing for services. He agreed that it was a very difficult thing for the London churches. It was all right in the country, because ringers lived, generally, fairly close to the church, but the position was rather perturbing him, as he was very much hoping the Cumberland Youths were going to do another bit of work for St. Martin's-in-the-Fields.

The Vicar then went on to speak of the proposed ringing of St. Martin's bells before the broadcast services, which is reported under a separate heading. Then, returning to the subject of the toast, he said that this was a very important year for the Church, not merely on account of the Coronation, but in the whole life of England. If only taken properly he believed this year might be a year of real advance for the Church.

HISTORICAL REVIEW.

Mr. W. H. Fussell, one of the oldest members of the society, proposed the toast of 'The Society of Royal Cumberland Youths.' The Cumberlands, he said, had two legs to stand on, and they went back before 1745. He thought he might put the toast by asking them to drink to the Ancient Society of London Scholars and the Society of Royal Cumberland Youths. He thought one or two historical facts might be interesting to the younger members and encourage them to think that this old society was worth supporting and worth working for. In 1702 a work upon change ringing was published by two members of the London Scholars. Those members, with other members of the old society, must have known a good deal about campanology even at that early day. A few years later, in 1716, a peal of Caters was rung on the bells of St. Bride's. This was recorded on a tablet in the belfry and it was the first performance ever known in the way of a full peal. He saw no reason for refusing to accept Mr. Osborne's statements contained in the MSS. in the British Museum. Just as the great fire of London in 1666 destroyed the early documents belonging to the Ancient Society of College Youths, founded in 1637, so the early records of the London Scholars were lost and their foundation was unknown. What fragments of history of these ancient societies had survived showed that both had manned the bells of the churches of London with never failing efficiency on all important occasions. The two old societies were promoting the art and science of ringing three hundred years ago.

A turning point in the history of their own society was in 1745, when they lost touch with the London Scholars, after the rebellion in the North, when there was a battle royal between Bonnie Prince Charlie, grandson of James II., and William Augustus, second son of George II. The latter proved the victor and received the title of Duke of Cumberland and a pension of £25,000 a year. The use of the name 'Cumberland' became fashionable. Streets and inns were named Cumberland, and the ringers who practised at Shoreditch either had that title bestowed upon them or acquired it by some unknown means. When the Duke returned to London by the road which entered the city by the old church at Shoreditch there was great rejoicing and no doubt the bells were fully employed.

In the year 1747 a new code of rules was drawn up by the society under its new title, and in 1748 a peal of Bob Major was rung at Shoreditch, which was the beginning of the long list of ringing records to be found to-day in their Volume I., which contained a portrait of the patron Duke on the front page.

Mr. Fussell went on to recall the Cumberlands' song of 1802, which said:—

For Cumberlands we are,
And Cumberlands we will be
To perform with any ringers
In town or country.

He regretted to find there were a few old faces missing—men who had been members for over 50 years. They remembered Ben Foskett and Edwin Barnett, but they were pleased to have with them Mr. George Williams in his 80th year (applause). He (Mr. Fussell) was elected a member of the society in the belfry of St. Giles in 1881. Mr. Fussell concluded by remarking that the present Royal Family, through Queen Mary, were in direct line of succession from the famous Duke of Cumberland, and if they wanted to compliment the youngest member of that royal house, they could ring a peal on the birthday of Princess Margaret Rose (applause).

WELL WORTH SUPPORTING.

Mr. Norman Summerhayes expressed great regret at the absence of Mr. George Card, the hon. secretary, who was ill in hospital at Fulham. Mr. Summerhayes gave a long list of apologies from members and friends and went on to refer to the fact that since the last time they had held a dinner they had lost Mr. J. D. Matthews, who was their Master for 21 years. During the time he was Master he built up the society into a strong organisation and had a great deal of support from the members. It was Mr. Matthews' great desire that the society should long continue to flourish and grow, but with his passing there was a falling off in the vigour that was shown. Members who had been very enthusiastic supporters failed to maintain their enthusiasm as they might have done. The society was well worth supporting and deserved the support of all the members. Last year they made 45 new members, and he thought they would agree that that was a very good year's work (applause). If they could do that in one year they could do it the next, and if the old members would continue to support them, they could progress and build up a position which would be the envy of all other societies (applause). He hoped this year would be one of renewed activity and that they would have the support of all the members. They had made a very good start with that dinner (applause).

Mr. George Gilbert proposed 'Kindred Societies.' He said they, unfortunately, often found that the spirit of 'kindred' was left out of relations between ringers and societies. He had found that there was a little too much of the 'peal at any price' in some quarters; and much of not wanting to ring with 'so and so.' That was not 'kindred' and it was not 'society.' He would like to see a little closer association at the root of the societies. In the past there had been petty bickerings, even to the extent of 'hammer and tongs' arguments, instead of a friendly rivalry to advance the science. They were told, said Mr. Gilbert, that ringers could not be got. He challenged that statement in any village. They would not come, but they could be got if the ringers would go out and fetch them. He had often wondered how many ringers rang to the honour and glory of God? If they did not ring to the honour and glory of God, then, he said, they had never heard bells rung as they should be rung. On behalf of the Cumberlands present and many who could not get there, including Mr. Harry Hopkins, of Whitstable, who joined the society on January 14th, 1872, he wished success to kindred societies.

CORONATION OPPORTUNITIES.

Mr. E. H. Lewis, in replying to the toast, said he had been much interested in what Mr. Gilbert had said, and he agreed with a great deal of it, particularly about the quality of ringing. He felt very strongly there was a great opportunity for ringers in this Coronation year, when a large part of the public will be expecting a great deal of ringing, to show what they can do in the way of quality. He hoped all the bands who rang during the Coronation ceremonies would only attempt what they could ring perfectly and not go in for new or complicated methods with which they were not quite familiar. They should ring so well that people will say how nice it is. In that way they could recover some of the sympathy for ringing which he was afraid they had lost in previous years, owing to the prevalence in many parts of the country of striking that was not good.

Continuing, Mr. Lewis said that in years gone by there was a good deal of bitterness between their society and his society, but he hoped that was a thing of the past (applause). 'Although we are mutually exclusive,' said Mr. Lewis, 'we can, I hope, be very good friends (applause). We, at any rate, wish to be friendly with you, and I feel certain you wish to be friendly with us (hear, hear). Before I received the invitation to this dinner, my Dinner Committee had already decided to send an invitation to your Master to our tercentenary dinner on November 6th this year' (applause).

Referring to the subject of getting ringers, Mr. Lewis said he agreed it was quite possible to get them in a village, but he was convinced the first thing to do was to pick their recruits from the congregation, who were already churchpeople. He knew that occasionally they could get someone outside who was not a churchman and eventually, perhaps, interest him in the church, but it was far better, to his mind, to begin at the other end and pick their recruits from members of the congregation. Then, he thought, they would not find a difficulty in keeping them as ringers, provided they gave them plenty of interest in their ringing. Mr. Lewis illustrated his point by quoting his own experience at Brasted, and spoke of the advantages of teaching absolute novices, by being able to train them to handle their bells properly.

VISITORS WELCOMED.

Mr. G. W. Steere proposed 'The Visitors,' whom he welcomed. There were some, he said, who were not ringers, but he hoped their presence would increase their interest and that they would come again. With regard to the feeling between their own and other societies, their society was only too willing to be friendly with any other society in London or the provinces (applause).

Mr. F. E. Dave replied to the toast. He remarked that he joined the College Youths fifty years ago, and while he had many old and good friends in that society, he also had a remarkable number of friends in the Cumberland Society, for whom he had the greatest possible respect. He was one of those who regretted that the project, put forward about 50 years ago to permit anyone residing more than 25 miles from London to belong to both societies, was rejected. Mr. Dave mentioned many of his friends among the Cumberlands of a bygone day whom he knew well, and particularly John Cox. He had, he said, many letters from him, as he also had from men like Jasper Snowden and Henry Johnson, and when he had time he intended to collect them and hand them over to the Masters of the various societies. Through his friendship with old Cumberlands he was able to call five peals of Cinques, divided between St. Martin's and St. Bride's. There was one tower left in London where he would like to call a peal, and that was at Shoreditch. He did not know whether it would be possible to make arrangements for him to do this by ringing it for the old St. James' Society, which was now the London County Association. He would very much like to do it. In conclusion, he wished both his old and his young friends in the Cumberland Society, good health and long life to carry on the ever pleasant and interesting science in which they were engaged (applause).

MORE PUBLICITY NEEDED.

Mr. J. E. Bailey proposed the toast of 'The Press.' He said they often heard of the difficulty of getting young ringers because of the counter attractions that were offered. Other forms of entertainment attracted young people by publicity, and he thought it was up to them as ringers to meet their opponents on their own ground and to use greater publicity through the local and national Press. Mr. Bailey paid a warm tribute to the services rendered to ringing by 'The Ringing World' and its Editor, whose name was coupled with the toast.

Mr. J. S. Goldsmith, in responding, said it gave him special pleasure to do so as an old Cumberland. Ringing to-day, he said, was well treated by the Press in general and this year offered a great opportunity to ringers everywhere to show the Press that ringing was a great art and worthy of consideration and sympathetic treatment.

This concluded the toast list, in the course of which a course of Stedman Cinques, and songs by Miss Dawson had been interspersed. Miss Dawson greatly delighted the company with 'Ring, bells, ring,' and 'Bells across the meadows.' Mr. V. Harrington was the accompanist. Later an entertainment of a varied kind, which was thoroughly enjoyed, was given by the Co-optimists Concert Party, and further handbell ringing took place. The success of the evening was largely due to the efforts of the Dinner Committee and particularly of the energetic dinner secretary, Mr. J. E. Bailey.

DON'T SCRUB YOUR HANDS!

skin this simple way*

To many people, the problem of getting the hands really clean without harming the skin is a serious one. Grease and grime, which become deeply ingrained into the pores of the skin, are extremely difficult to remove, and ordinary washing with soap or even scrubbing will fail to remove them completely. Housewives, particularly, who complain that their hands get ruined by the nature of their work, will find the preparation called DERMAFOAM, a real "godsend." DERMAFOAM just smoothes away dirt and grease without effort. It gets right down into the pores and removes every particle of grime, leaving skin beautifully supple and healthy.

Men, too—when you've finished that dirty job on the car, DERMAFOAM will quickly banish all grease and oil from your hands. It acts almost magically—working under and around the nails and into every minute crease, removing all trace of dirt in a flash.

Engineers, Painters, Car Mechanics, Printers — everyone — will welcome DERMAFOAM, the modern method of cleansing and protecting the hands.

WEDDING BELLS

RINGING FAMILIES UNITED.

On Saturday, February 27th, at the Church of St. Laurence in Reading, the marriage of Mr. W. Hibbert, to Delia, youngest daughter of the late Mr. Henry White, of Basingstoke, was solemnised. The Rev. Canon G. F. Coleridge (Master of the Oxford Diocesan Guild) officiated. The ringers assembled to give 'Young Bill' and his bride a send-off. The bells were 'fired' and two courses of Stedman Cinques rung in good style. An interesting fact was that listening to the ringing were two of the bride's sisters, once peal ringers of note when they were the Misses Alice and Dora White. The ringers wish the couple a long and happy life.

WINCHESTER CATHEDRAL'S NEW BELLS

The opening of the new ring of twelve bells at Winchester Cathedral is a reminder of two things; one the vast improvement that has been effected in the last three decades in the art of the bell founder; the other the great and crowning dignity which a noble peal of bells gives to a church of the grandeur of Winchester Cathedral, internally one of the finest ecclesiastical buildings of this country, and hallowed by centuries of Christian worship. There are few churches in England that can claim with positive documentary evidence the possession of bells in the eleventh century, before the coming of the Conqueror, but the authentic history of the bells at Winchester goes back at least as far as a gift of two by King Canute. Nine hundred years of bell history! And at intervals since that time generous benefactors have added to the number and dignity of the bells in the Cathedral of the ancient city which was the seat of government of King Alfred. These bells must have rung for the Coronation of most of the Sovereigns through these ages, and now, for the crowning of King George VI, a new peal of twelve bells of glorious quality will be heard over ancient Winchester. They take the place of a ring of twelve which had come at different times through the last two centuries from several different founders, and, for the first time for two hundred years, Winchester has a peal of bells all of one 'family.'

Those who remember the old ring, of mixed age and quality, will find in the new peal a revelation of the modern founder's art, something entirely satisfying in its tonal qualities and robustness. Founders to-day are able to produce bells of deeper note and finer qualities with less metal than their predecessors, thanks, of course, to the tuning methods which they now apply, by which the whole bell contributes to the purity and perfection of the tone. In these days, indeed, there is no need for peals of excessive weights to produce all that the critical ringer can desire. There are, perhaps, a few ringers, who like to think of tenors in tons of metal, who will disagree with us when we say that in these days peals up to forty hundredweight are sufficiently heavy for all practical purposes. We know that modern hanging can make much heavier bells pealable single-handed, by a handful of men of exceptional strength and skill, but with the present high state of craftsmanship in turning out perfect bells, peals of the size and weight of Winchester or thereabouts are amply satisfying both from the average ringer's and the public standpoint. Do not let it be thought that under any circumstances we deprecate the installation of heavier bells, but the circumstances need to be very exceptional to justify it; and when it comes to putting in a peal with a four ton tenor, as is contemplated in Liverpool Cathedral, we confess we can see little practical purpose if general use is to be made of the bells as a ringing peal. Bells considerably more than twice the weight of Winchester, tuned under modern conditions, will, we feel, prove something of a 'white elephant' from a ringers' point of view.

A WELCOME TO BISHOP'S CLEEVE.

A meeting of the Cheltenham Branch of the Gloucester and Bristol Association was held at Bishop's Cleeve on Saturday, March 13th. Ringing took place from 3 o'clock onwards on this fine peal of six bells. The service was conducted by the Rector (the Rev. T. Jesson), who also gave a very interesting address. By the kind invitation of the Rector and Mrs. Jesson, the ringers were their guests at tea in the spacious hall of the Rectory.

A short meeting afterwards took place, the Archdeacon of Cheltenham being in the chair, supported by the Rev. T. Jesson, Mr. J. K. Armstrong and upwards of 40 members from most of the towers in the district.

Reference was made to the sad loss of Canon Edgar Male, who for long had been a valued member of the association, and those present stood in silence as a mark of respect.

Several new members were elected and it was decided to hold the annual outing on June 19th, the route chosen being Warwick, Banbury, etc.

The place and date of the next meeting were left in the hands of the secretary to arrange.

Mr. Walter Rose proposed a vote of thanks to the Rev. Jesson, Mr. G. Tolley (tower captain) and all at Cleeve who had helped to make the meeting so successful, also to Archdeacon Sear for taking the chair. The Rector, responding, said how pleased he was to see so many present, and added that he would be pleased to welcome the ringers at any time.

PETERBOROUGH DIOCESAN GUILD.

A meeting of the Towcester Branch was held at Cold Higham on Saturday, March 13th, when about 30 members attended. The service was conducted by the Rector (the Rev. — Carpenter), who gave an interesting address. Having travelled a great deal, he has seen the Great Bell of Moscow, a monument of the founder's work, but as a bell of no use at all. He also referred to the bell on the Mount of Olives, which could be heard for miles.

At the tea which followed, the Master (the Rev. E. S. Powell) and Mrs. Powell were present, and the Master proposed a vote of thanks to the Rector and all who helped to make the meeting so enjoyable.

FOR BEGINNERS.

CALLING STEDMAN TRIPLES.

There are many ringers who are fond of ringing Stedman Triples, but never trouble themselves about the calling of it, yet Stedman Triples is a very interesting method to conduct. It is a method that keeps the conductor specially alert by reason of the constantly changing coursing order of the bells.

In this method, as in any other, the young conductor should aim at a certain amount of proficiency in keeping the bells right, and he can obtain it by study and practice. There are some ringers who can follow the working of the bells 'in the slow,' wherever they may be themselves, and while that is the ideal standard to which every Stedman conductor should try to attain, there is no reason for a ringer to be discouraged if he finds his abilities do not reach as far as that. He can content himself with much less and still have a good working knowledge of his job, if he will really study the subject on paper as well as in the tower.

It is hardly necessary, perhaps, to tell the budding Stedman conductor that a bob in the method can be made at any 'six.' The bob change is the first change of the 'six,' and, therefore, has actually to be called before the end of the previous 'six'—usually at the handstroke change before the 'six-end.'

Usually touches and peals are composed with the 7th as the 'observation' bell, and, except sometimes at singles, it is not usually disturbed. In order to do this, bobs have to be made when the 7th is below 5th's place, which means that they must come when the 7th is in 5-4 down, in the slow, or when it is a quick bell.

There are six sixes when a bob may be called while the 7th is a 'slow' bell and two in which a call may be made while it is 'quick,' without disturbing its course. The bob places are known by the number of the 'six' in the course.

A bob at 3 is called when the 7th is completing its dodging in 5-4 (down) before going in 'Slow.'

A bob at 4 at the first handstroke of the first whole-turn.

A bob at 5 at the handstroke of the 3rd's place before the first half-turn.

A bob at 6 at the handstroke before the last half-turn.

A bob at 7 at the first handstroke of the last whole-turn.

A bob at 8 at the handstroke in 3rd's place before going out of the Slow.

A bob at 12 is called when the 7th is completing its dodging in 5-4 (down) before going in 'Quick.'

A bob at 13 at the handstroke in 2nd's on the way out.

Usually bobs come in pairs in Stedman; that is, a bob at 3 is followed by one at 4; a bob at 5 by one at 6; a bob at 7 by one at 8; and a bob at 12 by one at 13.

A pair of bobs at 3-4 is sometimes indicated by the letter S (meaning 'Slow'); at 5-6 by H (meaning half-turn); at 7-8 by L (meaning Last whole-turn); and at 12-13 by Q (meaning 'Quick'). The calling of your touch or peal may be written either way. For instance, here is a touch of 252:—

2314567	5-6	12-13	2314567	H	Q
2314567	—	—	2314567	—	—

At any time you want two courses, or 168, you can get it by calling any one of the pairs of bobs in each course; thus 3-4 twice, or 5-6 twice, etc. Three courses are produced by calling any one pair twice followed by another later pair twice as 3-4, 3-4, 12-13, 12-13; but, remember, the two middle pairs are in the same course.

This is how you can work out touches for yourself:—

For 2 courses, call either S.L., S.Q., or L.Q. and repeat.

For 3 courses, in addition to those mentioned above, you can call either S.H.L. or H.Q. three times.

For 5 courses either S.H., S.H.Q., H.L. or H.L.Q. five times.

You can join some of the touches together to lengthen them, as long as in doing so you do not ring more than a plain course without a bob. You may run the risk, in some instances, of ringing a false touch (by a repetition of changes), but that is not a serious matter when you are practising calling. For instance, if you have rung two courses produced by calling S.L. twice, you cannot get a true touch by tacking on Q. twice, because S.L.Q. is a touch which produces rounds, and would, therefore, bring you back to changes which you have already rung.

Evidence that composition is not as simple as it looks is provided by the figures of the quarter-peals of Grandsire Triples by H. J. Trim, which we published in the Beginners' article last week. Examination shows them to be false. In the first the leads of the plain course are repeated; in the second two leads in each part repeat with two leads in a previous part.

BIRTHDAYS.

A quarter-peal of Grandsire Doubles was rung at St. Michael's, Yorktown, Surrey, on March 14th, for evening service and the birthdays of F. Marchant and H. Noakes and the 'coming of age' of S. Beck; H. J. Hunt 1, F. Parr (first quarter-peal 'inside') 2, F. Marchant (conductor) 3, S. Beck 4, H. Noakes 5, Edwin Hunt 6.

MEMBERSHIP.

The hon. secretary called attention to the new rules, and reported on those governing affiliation as follows:—

The operation of the rule governing affiliation divides the associations into two groups: (1) Territorial associations and (2) non-territorial associations.

In Group 1 there are three sections: (a) Associations with annual subscribing members; (b) associations whose members pay one life subscription only; (c) associations made up of affiliated towers with no individual subscriptions.

In this Council we have 43 associations in Group 1, of which 41 are in section (a). The aggregate membership of this section is returned as 21,860, made up of 19,445 annual subscribing ringing members, 1,674 annual subscribing honorary members, 438 resident life ringing members and 303 resident life honorary members.

Two associations previously associated with the Council are no longer included. The Sherwood Youths have advised me that they could no longer show a minimum membership of 75, and the Sussex County Association are considering the matter at their meeting on June 20th. The North Wales Association have rejoined.

The representation of this section is 116, but only 111 members have been elected—vacancies being left in Bath and Wells, Lancashire, North Notts, North Wales, Swansea and Brecon, and Worcester and Districts Associations.

The London County Association falls into section (b). No particulars as to numbers of its members are available, but efforts are being made to obtain them. The secretary has estimated that the numbers justify three representatives.

The Truro Diocesan Guild has 88 towers affiliated with a fee of 5s. per tower. They have elected one representative only.

In Group 2 are the following associations: Ancient Society of College Youths, Society of Royal Cumberland Youths, Cambridge University Guild, Oxford University Society, Oxford Society and the Ladies' Guild. The Oxford Society and the Ladies' Guild are the only two associations in this group to furnish actual figures of membership. Approximate figures have been supplied by the Society of Royal Cumberland Youths. The group is represented by 14 representatives.

An affiliation fee of 5s. has been received from the St. Clement Youths, but no particulars of membership are available, and no member has been elected.

Excluding the St. Clement Youths, the total membership of the Council is as follows:—

Associations affiliated	...	49
Total members to which entitled	...	134
Total members elected	...	127

All these associations have given an undertaking to loyally abide by the rules and decisions of the Council.

The total number of honorary members is 15.

With the exception of two associations, the North Notts and the Swansea and Brecon, who, whilst entitled to elect two representatives each, have only paid the fee for one member, all affiliation fees due to the Council have been paid.

ADDRESS TO H.M. THE KING.

On the motion of the president, it was resolved to send the following message of loyal congratulation:—

'The Central Council of Church Bellringers, assembled in the Council Chamber, Guildhall, London, for their 44th annual meeting, take this, the first opportunity in your Majesty's reign, humbly to express to your Majesty the loyalty of the 20,000 change ringers they represent, and pray that your Majesty's reign may be long and prosperous.—E. H. Lewis, President.'

During the day a reply was received as follows:—

'Please convey to the Central Council of Church Bellringers assembled in the Council Chamber, Guildhall, the King's sincere thanks for their kind and loyal message of good wishes.—Private Secretary.'

The Rev. F. L. Of 24 replies received, 17 were favourable, and these included the replies from four Archbishops.

REPORTS.

The following reports, etc., were circulated to all members and associations, and have been published in 'The Ringing World.' They are preserved in the Council's records and are available for inspection.

Owing to the death of the Rev. B. H. Tyrwhitt-Drake, the report was presented by the hon. secretary and was published in 'The Ringing World' on June 5th, 1936.

The president stated that Alderman J. S. Pritchett had now completed the revision of the pamphlet, 'The Law Affecting Church Bells,' and had considered the question of insurance of ringers.

On the motion of Mr. J. A. Trollope, seconded by Mr. E. J. Butler, the report was adopted.

STATEMENT OF ACCOUNTS.

The annual accounts were presented by the hon. treasurer and published in 'The Ringing World,' June 5th, 1936.

The accounts had been audited, and on the proposal of Mr. A. A. Hughes, seconded by Mr. G. T. Coles, were adopted.

REPORT OF THE TRUSTEES OF THE CARTER RINGING MACHINE.

The report was presented by Mr. E. Alex. Young and published in 'The Ringing World' on June 19th, 1936.

The trustees recommended the appointment of Mr. A. G. Driver as an additional demonstrator.

The report and recommendation were adopted on the proposal of Mr. E. A. Young, seconded by Mr. A. A. Hughes.

REPORT OF THE STANDING COMMITTEE.

A formal report was presented by the hon. secretary, stating that the agenda has been considered and recommendations would be placed before the Council.

In moving the adoption, the president drew attention to the fact that the Standing Committee did not try to rule the Council, but that, by its previous consideration of the agenda, it endeavoured to assist the conduct of the business.

The report was adopted.

ELECTION OF COMMITTEE.

(Note.—In 1933 the Council agreed that the Standing Committee should consist of (1) the president, hon. secretary and treasurer, hon. librarian and conveners of committees ex-officio; (2) twelve elected members.)

It was proposed by Mr. A. Paddon Smith, seconded by Mr. E. Denison Taylor and carried, that the two auditors, Messrs. C. T. Coles and A. A. Hughes, should also be ex-officio members of the committee, together with the ex-president, Canon Coleridge, and ex-secretary, Mr. E. Alex. Young, who are still members of the Council.

It was proposed by Mr. E. J. Butler, seconded by Mr. J. H. Swinfield and carried, that the following six members be re-elected: Alderman J. S. Pritchett, Messrs. W. A. Cave, W. T. Cockerill, C. F. Johnston, A. Paddon Smith and E. Denison Taylor.

For the remaining six vacancies, twelve names were proposed and seconded, and after ballot the following were declared elected: Archdeacon Parry, Major J. H. B. Hesse, Messrs. J. T. Dyke, R. Richardson, A. Walker and S. H. Wood.

REPORT OF THE PEALS COLLECTION COMMITTEE.

The report published in 'The Ringing World' on May 29th, 1936, was presented by Mr. G. Lindoff, who also moved the adoption. The motion was seconded by Mr. G. R. Newton and carried.

Election of Committee.—On the proposal of Mr. G. R. Newton, seconded by Mr. G. H. Cross, the following members were re-elected: Rev. E. S. Powell, Rev. H. S. T. Richardson, Messrs. G. Lindoff, G. R. Newton, G. R. Pye, C. W. Roberts, J. A. Trollope, with the addition of Mr. T. B. Worsley in place of Mrs. E. K. Fletcher, resigned.

REPORT OF METHODS COMMITTEE.

The report was presented by Mr. J. A. Trollope and published in 'The Ringing World' on May 29th, 1936.

The Standing Committee reported the receipt of the book on Surprise Major Methods and recommended that printing be deferred in view of the estimated cost, to enable some opinion to be formed as to possible demand. The officers of the Council to consider the matter and if necessary to obtain permission from the Standing Committee to print, otherwise to report again next year.

The report and recommendation were adopted on the proposal of Mr. J. A. Trollope, seconded by Mr. S. H. Wood.

Election of Committee.—On the motion of Mr. E. J. Butler, seconded by Mr. W. Ayre, the following were re-elected: Messrs. J. A. Trollope, E. C. S. Turner and S. H. Wood, and on the proposal of Mr. E. J. Butler, seconded by Mr. W. A. Cave, Mr. Trollope was appointed convener.

REPORT OF THE PEAL ANALYSIS AND RECORDS COMMITTEE.

The adoption of the report published in 'The Ringing World' on May 22nd, 1936, was moved by Mrs. E. K. Fletcher and seconded by Mr. G. R. Pye.

Mr. J. S. Goldsmith proposed and Mr. C. T. Coles seconded that the peal of Minor rung at Wistaston for the Chester Guild on July 15th, 1935, be deleted from the Council's records, as it did not conform to any decision of the Council regarding a peal of Minor. (Note: The peal was stated to contain three 480's of Little Bob.)

The amendment was accepted by the committee and the report was adopted.

In reply to an inquiry by Mr. F. W. Rogers, the president stated that the Chester Guild must withdraw the peal.

Mrs. Fletcher reported that since the publication of the report the record peal of Stedman Cinques had been proved false, and would, therefore, be deleted from the records.

Instruction to Committee.—It was proposed by Mr. J. S. Goldsmith, seconded by Mr. G. L. Grover and carried, that it be an instruction to the Analysis Committee not to include in the statistical tables any peal which was contrary to the decisions of the Council, but to draw attention to it in their report for decision by the Council.

Election of Committee.—It was proposed by Mr. G. R. Newton, seconded by Mr. S. F. Palmer and carried, that the following be re-elected: Mrs. E. K. Fletcher, Messrs. C. Dean, G. L. Grover and G. R. Pye, with Mrs. Fletcher as convener, proposed by the Rev. F. L. Edwards, seconded by Mr. R. Richardson.

REPORT OF THE TOWERS AND BELFRIES COMMITTEE.

The report published in 'The Ringing World' on June 5th was presented by the president, who also reported on the steps taken to obtain the reopening of the Chesterfield bells, the ringing of which had been banned by the architect.

The committee reported on the Davis silencers and recommended the use of such silencers as well worth a trial in those cases where the bells were a serious source of nuisance on practice nights. They did not take the place of properly blocking up the windows, where the windows should be blocked up to render the bells quieter at all times, but in cases where funds were not available for this, the silencers were very well worth trying. The committee thought it desirable, before purchasing a complete set, that trials should be made to find the most suitable thickness of leather and steel, as each tower required to be treated on its merits.

The report and recommendation were adopted on the president's motion.

Election of Committee.—It was proposed by the Rev. F. L. Edwards, seconded by Mr. A. Paddon Smith and carried, that the following be re-elected: Mr. E. H. Lewis, Major J. H. B. Hesse, Mr. E. Alex. Young and Mr. J. Hunt, and, on the motion of Mr. S. H. Wood, seconded by Canon G. C. Marshall, Mr. Lewis was appointed convener.

REPORT OF THE LITERATURE, PRESS AND BROADCASTING COMMITTEE.

The Rev. F. L. Edwards presented the committee's report, which reviewed the notice given to ringing during the year by the Press and others, together with a report on broadcasting published in 'The Ringing World,' June 19th, 1936.

After a lengthy discussion on broadcasting, it was agreed, on the suggestion of Mr. F. W. Rogers, supported by Mr. E. P. Duffield, that the committee should approach the B.B.C. and endeavor to obtain advance information of bell broadcasts for the next twelve months and try to influence the various local incumbents and local bands to give the best possible ringing.

The report was adopted on the motion of the Rev. F. L. Edwards, seconded by Mr. A. Paddon Smith.

CHESTER DIOCESAN GUILD.

A most enjoyable meeting of the Crewe Branch was held at Church Lawton, and members visited this delightful spot from Alsager, Acton, Crewe, Wistaston, Lawton, Kidsgrove, Norton, Northwich and the Potteries.

Ringing commenced about 3 o'clock, under the guidance of the Ringing Master, Mr. George Biddulph.

A service was conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. O. R. England), and the Vicar of Mon Cop (the Rev. W. McTear) preached a most eloquent sermon.

Tea was afterwards served in the Institute, kindly given by Mr. Hollinshead, of Lawton.

The Vicar, in a happy speech, welcomed the visitors most heartily to Church Lawton, and hoped they would arrange to come each year.

Ringing again took place after tea, and some good practice was put in, ranging from Grandsire to Cambridge Surprise.

The following committee was re-elected on the proposal of Mr. H. Barton, seconded by Mr. C. H. Jennings, Mrs. E. K. Fletcher, Messrs. W. A. Cave and J. S. Goldsmith, and on the motion of Mr. G. H. Cross, seconded by Mr. S. F. Palmer, Mr. Goldsmith was appointed convener.

THANKS TO ALL MEMBERS OF COMMITTEES.

On the president's motion, the thanks of the Council were accorded to all members of committees for their work during the past three years.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

Moulton Radio handbell ringers have been requested to go 'on the air' again on Good Friday, 4 p.m. to 4.30, in connection with the Rev. Walter Pitchford's talk on church bell chime music. All are members of the Peterborough Diocesan Guild.

The ringers gave such satisfaction to the officials at Birmingham on New Year's Eve that they were urgently requested to come again. This time they are playing in conjunction with the B.B.C. Choir and Orchestra, the items being transmitted to all stations, and an Empire broadcast.

Messrs. Gillett and Johnston, Ltd., Croydon, have received the contract for the restoration of the bells at Great Toller Church, Dorchester, Dorset. The work includes new frame and fittings and the addition of an Ellacombe chiming apparatus.

Heartiest congratulations are extended to Mr. George Henry Coombes, of 25, Swanmore Road, Isle of Wight, who (D.V.) celebrates his 94th birthday on Easter Day. This grand old veteran has been a ringer at All Saints' Church, Ryde, since 1886 (when the bells were installed in the tower), and he continues to ring regularly for divine services and seldom misses the weekly ringing practice on Tuesday evenings. He is the oldest ringing member of the Winchester and Portsmouth Diocesan Guild, and is believed to be the oldest 'active' service ringer in the British Isles.

The Rev. C. E. Wigg, Deputy Master of the Oxford Diocesan Guild, has been preferred to the living of Chearsley-cum-Nether Winchendon, near Thame, Oxon, and will be inducted about the end of April. At present he is filling a curacy at High Wycombe.

Everyone will wish success to the band of the Oxford Guild who on Monday will attempt to break the Major record by ringing a peal of 19,040 Double Norwich at Kingham, Oxfordshire, where the tenor is about 12 cwt.

The band comprises W. F. Judge (conductor), the Rev. C. E. Wigg, F. E. Taylor, P. E. May, H. Alexander, A. D. Barker, F. D. Boreham and R. A. Post. A start will be made at 8 a.m.

Attention is directed to the notice of the Ely Association's annual meeting on Easter Monday, with changed time of ringing at Eynesbury.

LEICESTER CATHEDRAL BELLS.

FORTHCOMING DEDICATION.

The recast and augmented ring of 12 bells for Leicester Cathedral (St. Martin's) will be dedicated (on the floor of the church) on Saturday, April 10th, by the Lord Bishop of Leicester (the Rt. Rev. C. Bardsley, D.D.), with sermon by the Provost (the Very Rev. F. B. Macnutt, M.A., P.R.Hist.S.). Admission to service by ticket only, owing to limited space available. Will subscribers to the Restoration Fund who wish to attend please apply to Mr. Ernest Morris, 24, Coventry Street, Leicester, at once, and any towers which have not sent in special appeal forms please do so at once, as Mr. Morris wishes to close this fund as soon as possible? St. Margaret's (12) will be available for visiting ringers from 6 to 7 p.m. on this date.

HIS 75th BIRTHDAY.

MR. F. E. DAWE CELEBRATES IN HIS NATIVE VILLAGE.

Mr. Francis E. Dawe, a well-known College Youth, who has made one of his hobbies in life the ringing of peals at as many cathedrals as possible—there are now only two or three left at which he has not been successful—reached his 75th birthday on March 16th.

To celebrate the event, a peal, specially arranged for the occasion, was rung at West Meon, Hampshire, his birthplace. The large, picturesque thatched house, wherein he first saw the light, still stands in the middle of the street—always greatly admired by visitors to this delightful spot in the Meon Valley. The church bells nearby were ringing for service on the Sunday morning in 1862 when he was born. His eldest brother was one of the ringers, and three other brothers were sitting in the belfry as well.

The peal last week was Kent Treble Bob, Mr. Dawe conducting his own composition. After coming into rounds, the bells were 'fired' eight times.

The band and other friends were entertained to dinner at the Red Lion Hotel. When this was over Mr. E. A. Young (who always attends as an honoured guest) in a neat little speech affectionately expressed the congratulations and good wishes of the assembled company. This was acknowledged by Mr. Dawe, who, unfortunately, was suffering from a severe chill and had been in pain all through the peal. He endeavoured heartily to thank those present for coming so far to oblige him at much inconvenience to themselves on a day in mid-week, and particularly Mr. T. H. Taffender for undertaking the arrangements, there being many difficulties in the way of raising a band of the right quality.

Double-handed Stedman Triples and Treble Bob Major on Mr. Young's handbells by the London contingent was greatly enjoyed by other visitors in various parts of the building.

It is interesting to recall that peals had been rung at West Meon previously for Mr. Dawe's 50th, 60th and 70th birthdays, but on this occasion, in consequence of the heavy downpour of rain, the usual photograph of the party had to be abandoned.

THE NEW PEAL AT WINCHESTER CATHEDRAL.

RING OF TWELVE DEDICATED.

Bishop and English People's Love of Bells.

Amid civic pomp and with inspiring religious ceremony the new ring of twelve bells at Winchester Cathedral was dedicated and opened on Saturday. The Mayor and Corporation of the City attended the service in State, and the Lord Bishop, supported by the Dean and Chapter, the Honorary Canons and a large number of other clergy, performed the dedication. Many hundreds of ringers, Friends of the Cathedral and citizens of Winchester were present, and the impressive event will long leave pleasant memories with all who were privileged to share in it.

The great scheme for the recasting of the bells was carried out by the generosity of the Friends of the Cathedral and the liberality of the Emma Barron Bell Trust. At first it was intended only to rehang the old peal, but the larger scheme was eventually decided upon and it has been carried through to a highly successful conclusion. It was found possible to retain the old frame, part of it put in with eight bells cast in 1734 by Richard Phelps. The bells, however, have been increased in weight and the tenor now weighs 35 cwt. 2 qr. 6 lb. The present work has been carried out by Messrs. John Taylor and Co., and they have given the Cathedral a truly magnificent peal, worthy of the grand old building which for so many centuries has been a great centre of religious life in this country.

KING CANUTE'S GIFT.

Winchester Cathedral had bells in Saxon times, and from some historical notes by Canon Goodman compiled in connection with the dedication, we find that King Canute is recorded in the 'Annals of Winchester,' under the year 1035, to have given two bells to the church.

Bells are mentioned on various occasions through the centuries. In 1248 'a vane fell from the tower of St. Swithun's at the time when the evening peal was ringing.' In 1334 Prior Alexander in London ordered the monks of St. Swithun's to assemble in church, ring the bells and sing a Te Deum, praising God and their patron saints for the happy reconciliation of Bishop Adam, of Orlton, with King Edward III.

In the winter of 1630-31 a new frame for the bells was made, in view of the alterations in the tower carried out in 1634. Previously the tower had been an open lantern, now it was arched and the present ringing chamber constructed over the new ceiling.

Before the Restoration there were seven bells, but in 1734 the Dean and Chapter delivered 'all the Bell metal belonging to the said Cathedral Church' to Mr. Richard Phelps, of Whitechapel, who undertook to make 'eight new musical Bells of the weight of Five Tunns or thereabouts, the Tone of the Tenor to be in D sol re agreeable to the tone of the Organ in Saint Michael's Cornhill in London.'

At various times between 1734 and 1936 all but two of Phelps' bells were recast, the tenor in 1891.

In 1892 two additional bells, increasing the number to ten, were given respectively by the city and the Diocesan Guild, and two others to complete the ring of twelve were given as a ringers' memorial of those comrades who fell in the Great War.

On each of the bells it is recorded that it was 'Recast by John Taylor and Co., Loughborough, 1937.'

IMPRESSIVE DEDICATION SERVICE.

The service in the Cathedral was a most impressive one, and the great nave was well filled with a congregation that began to assemble an hour before the ceremony. Ringers came from all parts of Hampshire and the Isle of Wight, and others were present from the neighbouring dioceses of Salisbury, Oxford and Guildford, and even farther away still. The ringers and their friends had reserved seats on one side of the aisle and the Friends of the Cathedral on the other. Shortly before 3.30 a civic procession entered the west door. Beadles, with their maces, preceded by a burly police officer, led members of the Corporation, wearing their robes, up the centre aisle, with the town clerk and the city macebearer, followed by the Mayor, bringing up the rear. At the same time the choir passed along the south aisle to meet a procession of invited representatives. Headed by the cross-bearer and the choir, this procession passed slowly up the Cathedral. It included the officers of the Diocesan Guild of Ringers, the representatives of the bellfounders, the Friends of the Cathedral and the Managing Trustees of the Barron Bell Trust, the chairman of the Hampshire County Council and the clergy of the Rural Deanery, the Honorary Canons of the Cathedral and the Dean and Chapter.

The procession moved solemnly on its way to the strains of the ringers' hymn, 'Unchanging God.' At first its notes came from the choir at the west end, but soon it swelled in great volume to the high vaulted roof as the congregation joined in singing the words, so familiar at ringers' gatherings.

While the procession was slowly making its way, the Bishop, attended by his chaplain, passed almost unnoticed to his throne.

The Precentor offered the prescribed prayers, and the lesson from Isaiah LV. was read by the Mayor of Winchester. Then came the hymn, sung to a special setting, made up of three stanzas from well-known lines in Tennyson's 'In Memoriam,' prefaced by an appropriate verse, specially written for the occasion and sung by the Lay Clerks only:—

BISHOP AND BELLS.

Ring forth, O bells, across the vale,
Ring forth the Gospel's glorious word,
Let good St. Swilhun's peal be heard,
Far through the land o'er hill and dale.

While this hymn was being sung the Bishop was escorted to a place in the choir underneath the central tower, accompanied by representatives of the donors, the Mayor of Winchester and other clergy.

The Dean having requested the Bishop to dedicate the bells, his lordship offered special prayers and then pronounced the dedication. A prayer invoking the blessing of God upon all those 'by whose labours and gifts this work has been done and these bells restored to Thy service,' concluded the ceremony, and as the Bishop proceeded to the pulpit the bells rang out from the tower overhead with the Cathedral ringers at the ropes. In the Cathedral it was difficult to hear them fully, but the booming notes of the larger bells came down with a satisfying effect to the eager listeners below.

ENGLISH PEOPLE FOND OF THEIR BELLS.

In his address the Bishop of Winchester said: After an interval of many months, the Cathedral bells have once again rung out. For centuries past the bells have been rung from this great Church of God, calling people to praise and thanksgiving and prayer, and in commemoration of great events which have taken place both in Church and State. As long ago as the year 1035 there is a record that two bells were given to this Cathedral by King Canute. Since then, at various times, the bells have been changed and new bells have been given. Continuously bells have been rung from the Cathedral, but of late years from various causes bellringing became difficult here. So it was decided that the whole peal should be recast and rebung, and through the liberality of the Friends of the Cathedral and the Emma Barron Trust, which has already done so much for the bells of this county, it was possible to do this. The bells were taken down, sent on their long journey, and now they have returned home and once again we have heard them sending forth their message to the people.

We English people are, indeed, fond of our bells. Throughout Christendom bells are a characteristic feature. There are countries in which bells are rarely, if ever, heard; there are lands in which the worshippers are summoned to their places of prayer either by the beating of a gong or by the call from the minaret. There are even lands in which until quite recently bells were heard; now they are silent. In Russia and in Turkey no longer are bells heard. They have been silenced by the enemies of Christianity. But in Christian lands, where worship is freely allowed, the bells ring forth their message to rich and poor.

PEOPLE ARE PROUD OF THEIR BELLS.

It is true there are some who from time to time complain of the ringing of bells. The Bishop, I suppose, is the first to hear such complaints, but those who make those complaints are not speaking for the great mass of the people. The majority of the people of our country are proud of their bells.

As long as they are rung well, as long as they are well tuned; as long as they are not rung at all hours and at unreasonable times, the people are proud and thankful for their bells.

Certainly this is the case in our own county. In village after village there are to be heard good sets of bells well and faithfully rung. Parishioners take a real pride in their bells, and when sometimes bells have to be silenced for rebanging or recasting, I have heard parishioners say that during the time of silence it seemed as if their church was gone.

Our bells are associated in our minds with many recollections and many memories. I think the real reason why people are so fond of their bells and regard them as so characteristic of English life is that they have so many associations. There are, of course, the historical associations, and bells had at one time an active part in the social and political life of the community, whether that community was to be found in town or in country. There are many people, too, who have their own individual reaction and associations connected with bells. Bells not only recall places, but events in their lives; you look back to moments in the past which are evoked again by the sound of the bells.

But first and foremost our bells are associated with God. They speak to us of God and of the Unseen World. Even on the bells themselves there are inscriptions, as there are on these bells, speaking of the praise they offer to God. From the bells there goes up to Almighty God praise, thanksgiving, intercession and petition, and as the bells ring forth they give a call from God, to come together to worship God in His house.

BELLS AND THE RECALL TO RELIGION.

We hear to-day about the recall to religion, and one aspect of this recall should be a summons to those who have become careless about churchgoing, to return once again to join in the weekly corporate act of prayer. As you listen to the bells, calling you to come with your fellows and to worship God, calling you to come, with Christians all over the world, to join in praise of the Most High, that is one of the messages which they are seeking to give us all. They are calling also to the individual in his everyday life. The rush of life is so great that God is often forgotten in the clamour and noise around us. Amid the distractions of daily life the bells ring out with their message to us, whether in the fields, or whether in places of business, in shops or in the streets, calling us for just a moment to think of God and his claims on our life.

When you hear these bells or the bells of your own parish church ringing out, sometimes on a weekday as well as on Sunday, if you are not able to respond by going to church, at any rate for a moment think of God; think of Eternity.

I think the bells, especially in these days, give us another message. Bells are often associated with peace; I suppose it is because so often they have been rung at the declaration of peace. The bells which have been ringing this afternoon are wrought of the metal which must have rung on various occasions in the past when peace at last has come to an anxious nation. Bells are associated with the call to peace. The world needs peace; but the world seems to be drifting towards war; statesmen and people seem almost powerless in the face of a doom that seems to be hanging over mankind. Man is failing; but where man fails God can succeed. The world is shuddering and shaking and trembling to-day because it has so largely forgotten God. Without God we cannot have permanent and righteous peace; with God in the hearts of individuals and ruling over the destinies of nations peace can come. So, sometimes, when the bells ring, offer up a prayer for peace; pray that the statesmen of the world may be guided so wisely that the peril of war will fade; pray that people of the world may be filled with the passion for peace—for righteousness and peace; pray that God may give us all that peace which He alone can give, the peace that passeth all understanding.

The service ended with the hymn, 'Now thank we all our God,' and the Blessing, pronounced by the Bishop. The collection was on behalf of Winchester Guild and the funds of the Friends of the Cathedral. As the congregation dispersed the Cathedral company rang the bells in a touch of Grandsire Cinques, which gave visitors the opportunity of wandering into the Cathedral Close and listening to the new peal. The only criticism which was offered was that the shuttering up of the belfry windows had been rather overdone, but we understand they remain as they were with the old peal. Certainly the residents round about the Cathedral will have no cause to complain of excessive noise. In the city streets the bells can hardly be heard. In the ringing room the bells are a little noisy, but that will be remedied when the 'trap' in the ceiling has been sealed down again.

Visiting ringers and their friends were entertained to tea in the City Hall, and in the evening when the bells were open for ringing scores of ringers flocked to the great ringing chamber—nearly 40ft square—and tried their hand at the bells. Many rang on twelve for the first time, and, as is often the case on such occasions, some of the ringing was indifferent. However, many courses and touches of Stedman Cinques and courses of Grandsire Cinques were brought round, and an excellent course of Double Norwich showed up the back eight to great advantage. Everyone was delighted with the bells, which are a well-balanced and really noble peal.

EASTERN DIVISION ANNUAL MEETING.

The annual meeting of the Eastern Division was held at Christ Church, Eastbourne, on Saturday, March 6th, when members attended from Heathfield, Brighton (St. Nicholas' and the Good Shepherd), Battle, Hastings (All Saints'), Willingdon, Eastbourne (St. Saviour's and St. Mary's), Mr. Piper and members of the local band. Mr. H. R. Butcher (Master of the association) was also present.

The service was conducted by the Rev. M. G. Handiside, who gave a very much appreciated address on 'Peace.'

The Master presided at the tea and business meeting which followed. He referred to the great loss both to the Eastern Division and the association of Mr. G. W. Stokes, who had passed away since the last meeting, and as a mark of respect the members stood in silence for a few moments.

Mr. W. Booth was elected to the Committee of Advice in the place of Mr. G. W. Stokes, and the remaining officers were re-elected.

Three new members were elected, one from Christ Church and two from St. Mary's, Eastbourne.

A vote of thanks was accorded to the Rev. M. G. Handiside for conducting the service, to Mr. A. Piper for defraying part cost of the tea, and to the lady helpers at the tea.

A collection for the Benevolent Fund realised 12s.

Some of the members then returned to the tower, the remainder going on to St. Saviour's, where the bells were kept going until 8.30 p.m.

DUDLEY AND DISTRICT GUILD.PRESENTATION TO BE MADE TO THE HON. SECRETARY.

The annual meeting of the Dudley and District Guild was held at Dudley Parish Church on Saturday, March 6th. The weather was very wintry, but a large number of members attended. The bells were at the disposal of the members from 3 o'clock until 4.30 p.m., when the usual Guild service was held, conducted by the Ven. Dr. A. P. Shepherd (Vicar and Archdeacon of Dudley and president of the Guild). The lesson was read by the Rev. W. H. Waring (curate), and the address was given by the Rev. B. H. Green (Rural Dean of Dudley and Vicar of St. John's). A substantial tea, provided by funds collected by the hon. secretary from prominent members of St. Thomas' congregation and other friends, was served in the Parish Hall, the tables being presided over by Messdames Tait, Barry, Clarke, J. Goodman, sen., and J. Goodman, jun.

At the business meeting, the president occupied the chair, supported by the churchwardens (Messrs. J. McD. Tait and W. E. Barry), the Rev. B. H. Green, the Rev. W. H. Waring, Messrs. Herbert Shepherd (hon. secretary) and John Goodman, jun. (hon. treasurer).

The Chairman heartily welcomed the Guild again to Dudley and said how pleased he was to meet them once more. The large attendance that afternoon showed their real interest in bellringing.—The hon. treasurer then presented the balance sheet, which compared very favourably with those of the last few years. The statement showed that for the year ended February 25th, including a balance from the previous year of £14 15s. 10d., there was a credit balance of £11 7s. 0d.—The Chairman congratulated the treasurer and members on the satisfactory financial position of the Guild.

The Ven. Dr. A. P. Shepherd was re-elected president, and, in thanking the members for the honour they had conferred on him, he said he would do all he could to further the interests of the Guild.

The vice-presidents were re-elected as follows: The Rev. E. L. Warren (Vicar of Netherton), the Rev. Prebendary H. W. Jones, M.A., R.D. (Vicar of Wednesbury), Dr. P. S. Blaker, Messrs. J. McD. Tait, W. E. Barry, W. Shuttleworth, J. W. Naylor, C. E. Lloyd, A. E. Meredith, Arthur Spittle and A. Winbow.

Mr. Alfred Davies (Netherton) was unanimously elected as Ringing Master to succeed Mr. Clifford Skidmore, who wished to retire. Mr. Herbert Sheppard was again elected as hon. secretary, Mr. John Goodman as hon. treasurer, and Messrs. G. T. Guest and T. H. Justice as auditors. All were thanked for their services.

Several new members were elected, and it was left with the secretary to try and arrange the next meeting either at Enville or Cosley if possible. The annual peal was proposed to be attempted at Dudley, the Vicar readily giving his consent.

Mr. Tait and Mr. Barry spoke in terms of appreciation of the ringers' services at their several churches and especially at Dudley, and said they were glad to see the spirit of goodwill and brotherly feeling that existed among them.

Mr. John Goodman, jun., referred to the poor attendances at the quarterly meetings. He urged upon the members to see if they could not attend these meetings in little stronger force, as it was discouraging to those Vicars who gave permission to hold the meetings at their churches and to the local members who made the necessary arrangements to see such a small number present.

Mr. S. J. Hughes said that since he came into the room he had heard that that was the completion of 25 years' service to the Guild of Mr. H. Sheppard as hon. secretary. He thought that a slight recognition of Mr. Sheppard's valuable services should be shown to him, and he proposed that a presentation be made.

The proposal was received with approbation, and the President suggested that a small committee should be formed to carry it through. Messrs. John Goodman, jun., S. J. Hughes, C. Skidmore and J. H. Cox were elected to form the committee, and any ringing friends who would like to contribute to the presentation fund should remit their contributions to Mr. John Goodman, jun., 45, Holcroft Street, Burnt Tree, Tipton, Staffs, who will acknowledge all amounts received.

On the motion of Mr. S. J. Hughes, seconded by Mr. J. Goodman, jun., the best thanks of the meeting were given to the Vicar of Dudley, to the Rev. W. H. Waring, the Rev. B. H. Green and to the organist, and also special thanks to the donors to the tea fund, and to the ladies who presided at the tables and prepared and served the tea.—The Vicar replied to the vote and then closed the meeting with prayer.

Afterwards several members again kept the church bells merrily going in various methods until nearly 9 o'clock, when another happy and successful meeting was brought to a close.

FATHERS' AND SONS' LOCAL QUARTER-PEAL.

Three fathers and three sons took part on Sunday, March 14th, in the first quarter-peal of Stedman Triples rung by an entirely local band in the Diocese of Swansea and Brecon. This was at St. Catherine's Church, Gorseinon, and was rung by J. Williams 1, C. Pettit (first quarter-peal of Stedman Triples) 2, A. W. Dobbins 3, L. Williams 4, J. Hanson (first quarter-peal of Stedman Triples) 5, W. Dobbins 6, H. Dobbins (conductor, aged 18 years) 7, Reg. Dobbins 8.

CORONATION RINGING.AN EXAMPLE FROM THE GUILDFORD DISTRICT.

Guildford District of the Guildford Diocesan Guild is not leaving the question of church bellringing on Coronation Day to chance. A questionnaire has been sent to all towers in the district by the hon. district secretary (Mr. G. Grover) inquiring as to their arrangements and whether they required assistance from the Guild to ensure that their bells should be rung.

A report on the questionnaire was presented by Mr. G. Grover at a meeting of the Guildford District at Chiddingfold on Saturday, when the Ringing Master (Mr. C. Ernest Smith) presided. From the replies received it was elicited that in two towers—Bramley and Dunsfold—the ringers would be unable to ring. Bramley, in their reply, stated that they would have no objection to any band going to their tower and ringing what they liked, as all their ringers would be otherwise engaged. Dunsfold stated that they had not enough ringers, and if anybody liked to go there for a peal they would be welcome. There was also a conditional promise on behalf of Albury that visitors could attempt a peal by arrangement.

Among other towers the following is an extract of the replies: Chiddingfold propose to attempt a local peal; Cranleigh will be able to ring for the Coronation, but will not attempt a peal; Holy Trinity and St. Nicolas', Guildford, were making their own arrangements; Grayshott will ring for the Coronation, but they did not want any help; Haslemere proposed to attempt a peal; Pirbright and Warpleston were making arrangements for ringing, and if there was any peal ringing they would make their own arrangements; Pittingham would be able to ring, but they did not propose to attempt a peal; Shere proposed to attempt a peal; West Clandon will ring for the Coronation and will perhaps attempt a peal; Wonersh will ring for the Coronation and will attempt a local peal; Ewhurst were ringing on Coronation Day and during the year would attempt a peal; Shalford were ringing and probably a peal would be attempted.

Mr. Grover also stated that he understood that Ockham bells would be available on Coronation Day. Their captain, unfortunately, was in the Royal Surrey County Hospital.

Mr. J. Bartlett said he would try and arrange for a party from Chiddingfold to ring at Dunsfold, and Mr. Leslie Hunter promised that he would see if Shalford could make arrangements for the ringing of Bramley bells.

A pertinent question was asked the chairman as to what constituted a Coronation peal. The chairman replied that he assumed that a peal rung during the week before the Coronation and the week after could be classified as a Coronation peal.

The election of Mr. John O. Weller as a compounding member previous to the ringing of a peal at Godalming was confirmed. Mr. W. E. Coe and Mr. B. F. Coe (Holy Trinity, Guildford) were elected Guild members.

The meeting, which was held in conjunction with the Ladies' Guild, was highly successful, and was attended by over 40 ringers. The Rector (the Rev. C. H. R. Baldwin) conducted the Guild service and was thanked at the tea which followed at the Swan Hotel for placing the bells at the Guild's disposal and for his helpful address.

THE CORONATION YEAR 'PUSH.'SUFFOLK GUILD TO MAKE SPECIAL EFFORT.

At the meeting of the Suffolk Guild at Stowmarket on Saturday, March 6th, consideration was given to the leading article in 'The Ringing World' of the previous day, advocating support for the suggestion for a Coronation year 'push' to encourage an influx of new ringers. It was agreed that during this Coronation year a great effort should be made by all who are interested in bells to get every bell in the county put into good ringing order. Moreover, it was pointed out that as good ringing of bells would be wanted at the time of the Coronation, in every parish (and, therefore, places would not be able to help one another) attempts should be made at once to obtain new recruits for ringing everywhere; also that arrangements should be made without delay to teach such beginners.

Mr. H. G. Herbert, of Sudbury, was elected secretary to fill up the interval till the annual meeting, which is to be held at Sudbury on April 3rd.

ELY DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION.CENTRAL BRANCH AT WHITTLESEY.

By the absence of Ely members the Central Branch meeting at Whittlesey might have been a dismal failure, but visitors from Peterborough and Ramsey made it more harmonious and successful. These very welcome visitors included Mr. Willis (Ramsey), Messrs. Goakes, Rose, Vaughan and Waldren (Peterborough). Ringing, which commenced about 3 p.m., reached a good standard, the methods rung including Superlative, Treble Bob, Spliced Treble Bob, Double Norwich, Bob Major and Stedman Triples. Tea was partaken at Mr. C. Brittain's (an old Whittlesey ringer), a very nice hour being happily spent. Both peals of eight were tried, but St. Mary's were most in demand. These are a nice Taylor job. St. Andrew's is a lovely peal, but there is something not quite right about their 'go.' An overhand might do good. Although only a small number were present, a most enjoyable afternoon and evening were spent.

DON'T SCRUB YOUR HANDS!

skin this simple way*

To many people, the problem of getting the hands really clean without harming the skin is a serious one. Grease and grime, which become deeply ingrained into the pores of the skin, are extremely difficult to remove, and ordinary washing with soap or even scrubbing will fail to remove them completely. Housewives, particularly, who complain that their hands get ruined by the nature of their work, will find the preparation called DERMAFOAM, a real "godsend." DERMAFOAM just smoothes away dirt and grease without effort. It gets right down into the pores and removes every particle of grime, leaving skin beautifully supple and healthy.

Men, too—when you've finished that dirty job on the car, DERMAFOAM will quickly banish all grease and oil from your hands. It acts almost magically—working under and around the nails and into every minute crease, removing all trace of dirt in a flash.

Engineers, Painters, Car Mechanics, Printers — everyone — will welcome DERMAFOAM, the modern method of cleansing and protecting the hands.

BARNSELY AND DISTRICT SOCIETY.

GIFT FOR THE LATE HONORARY PRESIDENT.

The Barnsley and District Society held their monthly meeting at Crofton, near Wakefield, on Saturday, March 13th. Although wintry weather prevailed, the following towers were represented: Adwick-le-Street, Badsworth, Barnsley, Felkirk, Sandal, South Kirkby, Wath, Wragby and one member from Leeds and the local company. Ringing commenced at about 3 p.m.

At the business meeting, which followed tea in the new Church Hall, the Vicar (the Rev. P. B. Brass) presided. Apart from routine affairs, the chief concern was the selection of a gift for the late Vicar (Canon H. E. Hone) and Mrs. Hone, who are now at Godalming, Surrey. A choice of presents, brought by the president (Mr. C. D. Potter), was on view, and it was eventually unanimously decided to present Canon and Mrs. Hone with a set of solid silver hors d'œuvre dishes, to be suitably inscribed and forwarded to them.

Canon Hone was honorary president, and both he and Mrs. Hone had always been ready to further the objects of the society.

After the usual vote of thanks, further ringing continued until 9 p.m. Although the variety of methods was rather restricted, some good 'spade work' was put in which it is hoped some day will have good results.

Felkirk was chosen for the next meeting, to be held on April 10th.

THE COLLEGE YOUTHS' HISTORY.

Ringers throughout the country, whether they are members or not, are greatly interested in this year's celebration of the Tercentenary of the Ancient Society of College Youths. The long history of the society, with the traditions surrounding it, have given it a place high in the esteem of the Exercise, and anything that is done to mark this auspicious year will be followed with the closest interest both inside and outside the ranks of the A.S.C.Y. The culmination of the celebration will, of course, be the annual dinner on November 6th, but we understand that there is a prospect of further marking the year by the erection of a suitable memorial, as suggested in this column, to the first Master of the Society, Lord Brereton, who was buried at Brereton Church, Cheshire, but whose association with the society remains uncommemorated. Lord Brereton was the leader of the little band of aristocrats who took up bell ringing as a sport, and who on November 5th, 1637, laid the foundations of an organisation which, despite inevitable vicissitudes, has come down to us through three centuries and provides us with an unbroken link with the earliest days of change ringing.

Hitherto only the scappiest of information has been available to the Exercise concerning the history of the old society. Those who have been fortunately placed have had the opportunity of examining the ancient records of the Youths, but even to the general body of members there has been nothing available in the shape of history except the sketchy outline, published in the rule book revised in 1928. For the ringer outside the membership, there has been up to the present no authentic history available, for at no time has there been published for all to read any account of the society, let alone one which did justice to its long existence and the important role which it has played in the art. That omission it is now hoped to make good. For many years Mr. J. Armiger Trollope worked upon a history of London Ringers and Ringing in the Seventeenth and Eighteenth Centuries, in which the activities of the College Youths and the personalities which made up its membership occupied a prominent place. Mr. Trollope's exacting researches led to the discovery of many hitherto buried facts, which have thrown an extensive light upon the art in those distant days. The portion relating to College Youths has been drafted into a separate volume, and, although it was completed without any idea of associating it with the society's tercentenary, there could be no more opportune time than this year to issue it to the world. It will prove one of the most deeply interesting,

A QUARTER PEAL OF STEDMAN TRIPLES.

The bell that 'makes' the first bob of either of these pairs—that is the bell that makes 5th's and turns round in 4-5—is always a quick bell, and, if four bobs are called, makes the last as well as the first bob, but being then (as the second of a pair) always slow.

Pairs of bobs called at Q. have precisely the opposite effect both on the bells in 6-7 and the bells making the bobs.

These are some of the simpler things which we advise young conductors to assimilate and then to make a further study of touches for themselves to see how the calling of bobs transposes the relationship of the bells.

Here is the calling of a famous quarter-peal which you may like to try your hand on:—

4325617 S. H. Q.
3425167 H.

(Repeat that calling four times. Your other part ends will be:—

4531267

We would ask those who are interested in calling Stedman to make a careful study of this quarter-peal, because we shall return to it later on.

SUSSEX WEDDING BELLS.

On Saturday, March 27th, at St. Deny's Church, Rotherfield, the wedding was solemnised between Miss Dolly Hammond, of Rotherfield, and Mr. Ernest Holt, of Mayfield. The bride is the eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hammond, of Rotherfield. The bride's father, who is a local ringer, has been a member of the St. Deny's Guild of Ringers for over 25 years and is the steeplekeeper. As the bride and bridegroom left the church a 720 of Kent Treble Bob Minor was rung: C. Brasier (conductor) 1, J. Hack 2, R. Mitchell 3, A. F. Lewry 4, E. Bishop, sen. 5, F. H. Hicks 6, H. Hinson tenor (covering).

On Sunday, March 28th, for evening service in honour of the occasion and with the bride's father taking part, a quarter-peal of Bob Triples was rung: J. Lovell (first quarter in the method) 1, R. Mitchell 2, A. F. Lewry 3, S. Russell 4, F. Hammond 5, E. Bishop, sen. 6, C. Brasier (conductor) 7, H. Hinson 8.

FOR BEGINNERS.

AIDS TO CALLING STEDMAN TRIPLES.

If the young conductor of Stedman will carefully study the method, he will find many things that will assist him in 'keeping the bells together.' He must not expect to see everything at once—only practice will enable him to become a master of his job—but there is no need to wait for things to become apparent by constant occurrence. Study of the figures will enable the 'bob caller' to pick up many useful hints to make himself a 'conductor.'

For example, you probably know that the bell immediately in front of you and the one immediately behind you in the dodging are going into the work in front, in the opposite way to you. If you are a 'slow' bell, they are 'quick'; if you are 'quick', they are 'slow.' The mere knowledge of the fact will often enable you to prevent a trip when you see a hesitating blow on the part of either of these ringers.

Again, when you are dodging up, the bell you are dodging with will go in, the same way that you have come out. This applies on all numbers, but we are more particularly concerned here with Triples.

Another very useful thing to bear in mind is the relationship between two bells, not actually coursing in the dodging, but separated by a six. When you have trained yourself to know, subconsciously as it were, what the bells thus separated are doing, you have a very helpful knowledge of what the majority of the bells are doing.

You already know that the bell in front of you and the one behind go out into the 'slow' (for that is a general way of describing the work of the front three bells, even if the six happens to be a 'quick' six) the opposite way to yourself. If you are 'slow' they are quick and they are soon out of the way; if you are quick you leave them both in the slow, and, as they are separated in their work by a six, if you know what one is doing, you automatically know what the other should be doing. That, with your own bell, gives you a grasp of five of the seven bells.

The relationship between these 'separated' bells is not difficult to follow. In between the quick sixes—when one has finished and before the other begins the quick work—they dodge together in 4-5, and while one is in 'quick' the other is in 6-7. This dodge in 4-5 is the only time they dodge together while in this relationship. At other times when they are dodging one is in 4-5 (up) when the other is in 7-6 (down); when the latter is in 5-4 (down) the former is in 6-7 (up).

When they get into the 'slow' together the first one in does its last half-turn when the second one does its first whole turn; and when the first one does its last whole turn the last one does its first half-turn.

Now, when your own bell is in the 'slow,' you can, with the above in mind, keep your eye on both the slow bell ahead of you and the slow bell behind you. And in the spaces between you have a pair of 'quick' bells, in similar relation to each other.

Suppose you are ringing the 7th in the plain course, when you go into the slow you find the 4th there; as the 4th leaves the treble comes to its slow work. Here you will see it in figures:—

347	174
374	7142563
734
4735612	127
	217
7453162	271
754	721
547
4751326	716
	761
417	1673254

Examine the relationship between the 4 and 7 and then between 7 and 1. You cannot expect to get all the detail into your head in one 'go,' but study and practice will teach you quite a lot, which, presently, will become as much a part of your ringing as is the actual method itself.

The real difficulty in following Stedman, of course, is the rapid changes caused by the bobs; but here again you can go on picking up 'tips' if you use pencil and paper at home and use your eyes in the belfry.

The orthodox touches and peals of Stedman Triples have bobs only in pairs, and, although odd bobs can be used, we are not troubling about that now.

You remember what we said last week about the calling places for pairs of bobs being designated S. H. and L. for the three pairs 3-4, 5-6 and 7-8 respectively, and Q. for the 12-13. One useful thing to remember is that the bell dodging 7-6 (down) at either S. H. or L. is always a quick bell afterwards; and consequently the bell dodging 6-7 (up) is always a slow bell afterwards.

THE CENTRAL COUNCIL.

MINUTES OF THE LONDON MEETING.

MOTIONS

It was proposed by Mr. S. H. Wood, seconded by Mr. C. T. Coles, and carried, 'That compositions which contain more than one method shall be called "Spliced," provided that the methods are so joined that the fundamental units of which they are constructed (i.e., the "leads" in the case of treble-dominated methods, the "sises" in the case of Stedman, Duffield and similar methods, etc.) remain intact.'

'That reports of all spliced peals shall include a reference to the number of methods rung and the number of changes from one method to another during the peal.'

An amendment that the words 'provided' to 'intact' be deleted was lost.

The above motion was by permission substituted for the motions numbered 14 and 15 in the published agenda.

On the motion of Mr. F. E. Dawe, seconded by Mr. E. Alex Young, 'To call attention to the present very inadequate support given to "The Ringing World," and to consider what steps can be taken to increase the circulation,' the following resolution, proposed by Mr. G. W. Fletcher and seconded by Mr. F. E. Dawe, was carried: 'That this Council requests all members and secretaries of affiliated societies to send in suggestions with a view to increasing the circulation of "The Ringing World," that the suggestion be considered by the officers of the Council and Mr. Goldsmith, and that a report be circulated to all members.'

It was proposed by Mr. J. S. Goldsmith and seconded by Mr. G. W. Fletcher: 'That, with a view to providing future guidance, the officers of this Council be requested to consider the question of the correct method of muffling and ringing church bells on occasions of national and local mourning, and, after consulting at discretion those who may be able to give information, draw up a recommendation on the subject, which, if possible, shall be submitted to the Church authorities for approval, and laid before the Council at the next meeting.'

As an amendment, it was proposed by Mr. E. P. Duffield, seconded by the Rev. F. L. Edwards, supported by the Rev. H. Drake, and carried, that the words 'which if possible shall be submitted to the Church authorities for approval,' be deleted. This to give the Council the opportunity of agreeing the recommendations before they are submitted to the Church authorities.

The motion in its amended form was carried.

It was proposed by Mr. G. Pullinger and seconded by Mr. F. W. Rogers: 'That in the opinion of this Council the morning session of the Council meeting should where possible commence at 10 a.m.'

An amendment to fix the time at 10.30, proposed by the Rev. F. L. Edwards, seconded by Mr. J. S. Goldsmith, was lost, no one voting.

The motion was also lost.

It was proposed by Mr. E. H. Lewis (president), seconded by Mr. G. W. Fletcher and carried: 'That all persons having collections of books on ringing matters be invited to supply particulars to the hon. librarian and to indicate whether they are willing to give access to their collection.'

PLACE OF NEXT MEETING.

It was decided on the proposal of Mr. F. M. Mitchell, seconded by Mr. A. A. Hughes, to hold the next meeting at Canterbury.

OTHER BUSINESS.

On the proposal of Mr. J. S. Goldsmith, seconded by Major J. H. B. Hesse, it was decided to send a letter of greeting and congratulation to the church and ringers of Hobart, Tasmania, on the occasion of the dedication of the new tower and bells of St. David's Cathedral.

On the president's motion, it was decided to convey the Council's congratulations to the handbell band at Oxhey, who had rung a peal in four Spliced Surprise methods 'in hand.'

Mr. C. T. Coles reported the completion of the William Ewe Memorial, and, on behalf of the Memorial Committee, tendered thanks to all who had assisted the scheme.

VOTES OF THANKS.

On the president's motion, the thanks of the Council were accorded to the Lord Mayor and Corporation for the use of the Council Chamber, the Dean of St. Paul's for his welcome, H.M. Office of Works and Church authorities for the use of bells, and to all steeplekeepers.

To the following associations and their representatives for making arrangements: Ancient Society of College Youths, Mr. A. A. Hughes; Society of Royal Cumberland Youths, Mr. G. H. Cross; Essex Association, Mr. E. J. Butler; Middlesex Association, Mr. C. T. Coles; London County Association, Mr. T. W. Taffender; Kent County Association, Mr. F. M. Mitchell; Surrey Association, Mr. C. H. Kippin.

Thanks were also given to Mr. A. A. Hughes, who was solely responsible for obtaining permission to use the Council Chamber for the meeting.

On the proposal of Canon Coleridge, a vote of thanks was passed to the president, and, on the president's motion, thanks were accorded to the hon. secretary.

The meeting terminated at about 5.30.

LEEDS AND DISTRICT SOCIETY.

CORPORATE COMMUNION SERVICE AND MEETING AT ARMLEY.

The Leeds Society invaded Armley for their biennial visit on Saturday week, and at this meeting the nominations for officers for the forthcoming year were received. The bells were rung up at 3 p.m. and ringing continued until 4.15 p.m., when in place of the usual evensong, a ringers' corporate communion service was held. Twenty-two ringers attended. Instead of a sermon the Vicar of Upper Armley (the Rev. Dr. J. S. Hollingworth, M.A., D.L.L.) gave the society a warm welcome to the church and the ringing chamber. He referred to the service, which he understood to be an innovation, and said he was pleased to be associated with it. Although not held in the early morning, as some desired it, nor yet as a supper as when first instituted, the time was immaterial if the spirit of approach was right. He was glad that the ringers gathered that day were showing people that they not only invited others to church, but themselves attended.

After the service the Vicar showed some of the ringers the main points of interest of the church, which is of early English design with wonderful Gothic arches. The reredos is of Caen stone, the chancel and baptistry floors are laid with Italian marble.

Owing to insufficient numbers having sent in requests for tea, the members present were divided into small parties and invited to tea at the homes of the local company.

The business meeting was held in the tower, the president (Mr. Senior) being in the chair. Members were present from Batley, Birstall, Bramley, Burley, Bradford, Drighlington, Guiseley, Headingley, St. Chad's, Holbeck, Idle, Leeds Parish Church, Rothwell, Shipley, Sherburn, Sutton and the local company. Two new members were elected, viz., Messrs. James Hodgson and Arthur Barlow, of Liversedge.

The usual vote of thanks to the Vicar of Upper Armley and the local company was proposed by the president and seconded by Mr. A. E. West.—Mr. Lofthouse replied for the local company.

Mr. R. H. Vigor proposed that special methods be named for practice at the monthly meetings, and after discussion (during which it was pointed out that claiming one meeting for one method did not help the society in ringing or attendance) it was decided that individual attention should be given to new methods with a view to trying them out at meetings.

The following nominations were received: President, Mr. W. H. Senior; three vice-presidents, Messrs. H. Davidson, T. W. Strangeway and S. Barron; Ringing Master, Mr. L. Drake; secretary and treasurer, Mr. H. Lofthouse; trustees, Messrs. F. Rayment and L. W. G. Morris; auditors, Messrs. F. Rayment and F. Hutchinson.

The general meeting is to be held on April 24th at Leeds Parish Church.

LINK WITH FOUNDATION OF BAGSHOT CHURCH.

RINGER FOR OVER FIFTY YEARS.

A link with the early history of St. Anne's Church, Bagshot, Surrey, has been severed by the passing of Mr. Thomas Gould, at the age of 79 years. He was a member of the band of ringers formed when the bells were dedicated in 1885, and previously had been a chorister from the foundation of the church, having been present at the laying of the foundation stone.

Although a cripple, Mr. Gould attained considerable skill in the art of change ringing. At the time when there were only six bells, Bagshot boasted an exceedingly efficient company of ringers, whose achievements are commemorated by records now hanging in the ringing chamber, and the name of T. Gould occupies a very prominent position.

Although in more recent years his health did not permit him to attend service ringing as regularly as was his custom for many years, his heart was always in the belfry, where his valued assistance and ready wit were always welcomed and appreciated.

His loss will be keenly felt by St. Anne's band of ringers, in which a gap is left that will be exceedingly difficult to fill.

Mr. Gould died suddenly in his chair on Sunday, March 14th, while the bells were ringing for evening service.

SHAFTESBURY BELL RESTORATION.

On Sunday evening, March 7th, the bells of St. James' Church, Shaftesbury, were dedicated after restoration by Gillett and Johnston, of Croydon.

The Archdeacon of Dorset performed the ceremony and also preached to a large congregation. The collection for the bell fund amounted to £14.

After the service visiting ringers rang Grandsire and Stedman Doubles and Bob Minor.

The tenor is 6 cwt., and the inscriptions on the bells are:—

- No. 1.—Draw near to God. 1875.
- No. 2.—O praise God. 1597.
- No. 3.—Sancte Iagobe Ora Pro Nobis (52).
- No. 4.—N.C.E.C.I.D. O give thanks unto the Lord. 1629.
- No. 5.—Serve God. 1875.
- No. 6.—Hope in God. 1875.

SURPRISE METHODS.

MAJOR THAT EXTENDS TO 10 AND 12 BELLS.

Below we print another Surprise method which is equally perfect on ten and twelve as it is on eight bells, and does not disturb the coursing order of the bells above 4ths.

It is Mr. Gabriel Lindoff's No. 61, as yet unring on any number.

OKEHAMPTON'S NEW OCTAVE.

DEVON'S LEAD IN BELLS.

The Bishop of Exeter (Dr. C. Curzon), on Wednesday, March 24th, dedicated two new bells and rededicated the six old bells in a ceremony which he stated to be the first he had performed.

Of the six old bells, four have been recast, the tenor being added to, to make its weight 16 cwt. 2 qr. 17 lb., and the octave rebung in a metal frame with modern fittings.

The old peal of six was cast in the churchyard by T. Wroth in 1750. The old inscriptions have been added to by reference to the Coronation year of George VI. The additional trebles weigh 4 cwt. 1 qr. 17 lb. and 4 cwt. 1 qr. 23 lb. The total cost of the scheme has been £253, of which only £50 is left to be raised.

The Rev. F. R. Burnaby, Vicar of Samford Courtenay, acted as the Bishop's chaplain, and the Revs. R. Y. Holmes (Monkeokehampton), C. Lister (Belstone) and the curates at the Parish Church of Okehampton were in the procession. The service was conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. R. B. Welchman).

In a short address the Bishop referred to the fact that the Exeter Diocese had more than 1,000 bells in excess of any other diocese in the country, and, therefore, he supposed, 1,000 more ringers. He rejoiced in the tongues of the bells because they seemed to voice 'the deeper things in life which cannot be spoken.'

At the dedication rite in the tower the patron of the living, Mr. Charles Calmady-Hamlyn attended with the Bishop and robed clergy. Mr. Cyril Johnston was also present.

The local band rang the opening rounds, after which teams from North Tawton and Winkleigh, as well as a band of 'Guild' change ringers, who rang touches of Stedman and Bob Major, continued the ringing. Messrs. Gillett and Johnston did the work in their usual excellent style and are to be congratulated on adding another fine and handy octave to the 53 or so octaves in Devon. The 'go' and 'tone' were appreciated by 'old hands.'

QUARTER PEAL AT QUEEN CAMEL.

On March 20th, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Doubles was rung at Queen Camel by Dr. C. N. Vaisey 1, G. J. Hawkins 2, F. C. Mogford 3, G. H. Cross 4, S. Woodburn (conductor) 5, H. Ellis 6. Dr. Vaisey is from Freshford and it was his first quarter-peal.

BEVERLEY.—At the Minster for evening service on March 21st, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Caters (1.259 changes): B. Weaver (first quarter of Caters) 1, C. P. Bradley 2, R. Owen 3, J. W. Braithwaite 4, F. W. Corney 5, G. J. Constable 6, L. Daggit (conductor) 7, F. Osgerby 8, W. Middleton 9, J. Wilson (first quarter of Caters) 10. This quarter-peal was arranged for ringers of 1 and 5, who were on an excursion to Beverley from Woodford, Essex, and who wish to thank Mr. and Mrs. Middleton for their hospitality before and after the ringing.

POYNTON BELLS REOPENED.

SUCCESSFUL OUTCOME OF RINGERS' EFFORTS.

After months of untiring effort by the local ringers, the bells of Poynton Parish Church, Cheshire, were reopened on Sunday week, after having been rehung by Messrs. John Taylor and Co. Special services were held and the preachers were, in the morning, the Vicar, and in the evening the Rev. A. J. Humphreys, Rural Dean, who delivered an appropriate address, taking as his text verses from the 8th Chapter of Proverbs, beginning from 'Doth not wisdom cry out, understanding put forth her voice, etc.'

The preacher referred to the great number of church towers and steeples which are dotted all over our English countryside, and said he imagined that the bells from each tower called out to the other towers, like deep calling unto deep. Bells had also a peculiar interest in our literature, as, for example, in 'The Chimes' by Dickens, in Tennyson's immortal poetry, and in more recent years in the play 'St. Joan'. He said he thought, perhaps, the reason why some people disliked the sound of church bells could be traced to the fact that they recognised the invitation given to attend worship, and through neglect by getting out of the habit of thanking God for His mercies, they came to resent being reminded by the bells of their slackness. Then, in times of rejoicing, such as jubilees and coronations, where should we be without our bells? Throughout the ensuing Holy Week he thought the bells would remind us, and particularly on Good Friday, of the significance of the message of Easter, and he hoped they would say to the many people who were intent on getting abroad at this time, 'Is it nothing to all ye who pass by?'

There was a good attendance at both services, but, owing to it being Sunday, very few outside ringers were able to be present. Those who managed to attend, however, found that a decided improvement has been effected in the going of the bells, and the ringers of Poynton have good cause to be proud of their efforts so that their bells might be put in good order once more.

The first 720 on the bells since their rehanging was rung prior to evening service, being 720 Plain Bob: G. Turner (Poynton) 1, T. Downes (Poynton) 2, A. Barnes (Reddish) 3, S. Smith (Poynton) 4, K. Lewis (Marple), conductor, 5, H. Jackson (Poynton) 6. The method was Plain Bob.

LONDON COUNTY ASSOCIATION

SOUTHERN DISTRICT'S SUCCESSFUL MEETING AT LAMBETH.

A very successful meeting of the Southern District was held at St. Mary's, Lambeth, on Saturday, March 20th. There was an attendance of nearly 40 members and friends, and 28 sat down to an excellent meat tea at the Parish Institute.

At the business meeting, presided over by Mr. H. Mance, the District Master, two new members were elected, viz., Mr. P. A. Corby, of Beckenham, and Mr. W. A. Stote, of Coventry.

The place of next meeting was fixed for Barnes, subject to permission being granted, and the date suggested was May 22nd, as the usual third Saturday was Whit Saturday.

Votes of thanks were accorded to the Rev. A. Llewellyn Jones, Vicar of Lambeth, for kindly granting the use of the bells, Messrs. W. Hardy and T. Wyatt for their valuable help with the arrangements, and Miss Hare and helpers for the first-class tea provided.

The hon. district secretary (Mr. A. P. Cannon) mentioned that he had a large number of the new reports for sale at 6d. a copy, and urged everyone present to buy one.

He was supported in this by Mr. F. E. Hawthorne, and their remarks apparently had the desired effect, as 25 were sold in a very short time.

The business meeting over, members returned to the tower and continued ringing until 8.45 p.m., with a break at 7.30 p.m. to attend the usual evensong.

During the proceedings touches and courses in the following methods were successfully accomplished: Grandsire, Stedman, Plain Bob, Treble Bob, Double Norwich, Cambridge, Superlative and London.

DURHAM AND NEWCASTLE DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION.

APPEAL FOR SUPPORT FOR MEETINGS.

A meeting of the Eastern District of the Durham and Newcastle Diocesan Association was held at Houghton-le-Spring on Saturday, March 20th, ringers being present from Sunderland, South Shields, West Hartlepool, Chester-le-Street, Whickham, Newcastle and the local ringers.

A short meeting was held, with Mr. R. L. Patterson in the chair. After the loyal toast, the Chairman said it was gratifying to see so many young ringers present, and it was up to the older members to help them and give them an interest to come to these meetings. He deplored the fact that some members did not support the meetings as they should do, and hoped they would come and see for themselves what happy meetings they were.

Mr. W. Robson proposed a vote of thanks to the Rector for the use of the bells, this being carried with acclamation.

The next meeting will be held at Gateshead on April 24th, and due notice will be given in 'The Ringing World.'

The bells were kept going from 2.30 p.m. to 8.30 p.m., the methods rung being Bob Major, Kent Treble Bob and Double Norwich Major, Grandsire and Stedman Triples.

Although there was only a fair attendance, it was an excellent meeting and all agreed it was a success.

YORKSHIRE ASSOCIATION.SOUTHERN DISTRICT ANNUAL MEETING AT WATH.*Protest Against Peal Ringing on Meeting Days.

The annual meeting of the Southern Division of the Yorkshire Association was held at Wath on Saturday, March 20th, when the towers represented were Sheffield (Cathedral and St. Marie's), Eastwood, Wortley, Doncaster, Rawmarsh, Arksey, Adwick-le-Street, Felkirk, Penistone, Cawthorne and Wath. Previous to a short service a party was conducted over this fine old church by the Vicar (the Rev. Russell), who pointed out the various interesting features and gave a short history of the building. This inspection of the church was a real pleasure to all those who were present.

Tea was provided in the Church Hall and was followed by the business meeting. Owing to a previous engagement the Vicar was compelled to leave before the meeting and was heartily thanked for the use of the bells and Church Hall and for his very interesting address at the service.

In reply, he said how pleased he was to welcome the association, and while he was Vicar they need never be short of a meeting place. He would always be glad to see them at Wath.

Mr. G. Lewis (vice-president) took the chair at the business meeting, at which the following were elected members of the association: Messrs. R. Hill and J. T. White (Felkirk), B. Birkett (Arksey) and T. R. Hadon (Barnsley).

The Rector of Rawmarsh and the local company sent an invitation to the association to hold the annual joint meeting at their tower, and this was accepted, the date fixed being June 19th.

Owing to having been appointed hon. treasurer of the Yorkshire Association, the retiring Ringing Master (Mr. S. F. Palmer) was desirous of giving up the office, but no volunteer being forthcoming, he was persuaded to undertake another term of three years, with the best thanks of the members for his past services.

The retiring members of the local committee, Messrs. G. Halksworth (Doncaster), A. Panther (Wath) and T. C. Ryder (Rotherham), were also re-elected for a period of three years. Mr. Halksworth was also elected to the General Committee and all were heartily thanked for past services.

Some discussion took place on the subject of peal ringing by members on quarterly meeting days, and opinion was expressed very forcibly that it was not 'playing the game' for members to arrange peals on meeting days. It was decided to ask towers not to allow peal attempts on these days and to record this decision in the minutes of the district.

Votes of thanks to the local company for the arrangements made were moved, and replied to by Mr. Panther on their behalf.

MIDDLESEX ASSOCIATION AND THE LADIES' GUILD.JOINT MEETING AT EDMONTON.

Upwards of 40 ringers and friends attended an enjoyable meeting of the above societies, held at Edmonton on Saturday, March 20th. A short service was conducted by the Vicar, the Rev. R. C. Evill, at which Miss G. Church, a member of both societies, played the organ. The Vicar afterwards pointed out objects of great interest in this ancient and historic church.

To the regret of the company, the Vicar was unable to be present at tea, but Messrs. Edmunds and Barrett, churchwardens, attended.

Before the business meetings, the vice-president of the Middlesex Association (Mr. G. W. Fletcher) thanked the churchwardens for their attendance and asked them to convey thanks to the Vicar for his kindness in allowing the meeting to be held at short notice, and for conducting the service.

A brief interlude on handbells consisted of two courses of Stedman Caters, conducted by Mr. C. W. Roberts.

At the business meeting of the Middlesex Association, with Mr. Fletcher presiding, one new member was elected and four provisional elections confirmed.

Pinner was chosen for the next meeting on May 1st, and St. Laurence Little Bob Major as the special method. Mr. T. J. Lock, District Master, urged members to learn these special methods prior to the meetings. It should be noted that any, or all, of the usual standard methods may be rung at meetings; the special method is an attempt to widen the scope of ringing.

The hon. secretary made another appeal for volunteers for Coronation ringing from those members not engaged on that day. He would be glad to place such ringers with an otherwise short-handed band.

A question was asked about the bells at All Hallows', Lombard Street, and the hon. secretary stated that a letter sent to the Bishop of London had been forwarded to the Ecclesiastical Commissioners and acknowledged by them as being under consideration.

At the close of the Middlesex Association meeting the mere men withdrew, leaving the Ladies' Guild in possession.

The chair for this meeting was taken by Mrs. R. F. Deal, vice-president. The place selected for the next meeting was Beckenham on Saturday, May 8th, whilst a mid-week meeting was announced for Wednesday, April 7th, at St. George the Martyr, Borough.

Ringing during the day included rounds and methods ranging from Grandsire Triples to Bristol Surprise and Spliced Surprise, and included Cambridge Court Bob Major and St. Clement's Bob Triples. These latter methods caused some little trouble, possibly due to lack of study outside the tower, a matter which may easily be remedied.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

The band who rang the peal at Trowbridge on Monday would like to associate with it the name of Mr. W. J. Prescott, who was one of those who received an invitation to take part. Mr. Prescott, however, was engaged on more important business, for that afternoon he gave his daughter, Miss Kathleen Prescott, in marriage to Mr. Harold Hatherill. The ceremony took place at Bath Abbey.

In view of the attempt for the Major record on Monday, it is interesting to recall that on April 3rd, 1899, a 15,072 Double Norwich was rung at Erith, Kent, in 9 hours 24 minutes, conducted by the late William Pye.

One of the very earliest 'long' peals was rung 210 years ago yesterday. This was 10,080 Oxford Treble Bob Major, rung by Norwich men at the Church of St. Michael Coslany, in 6 hours 28 minutes.

Next Wednesday and Thursday are the anniversary of the 40,320 Bob Major rung at Leeds, Kent, in which James Barham and 13 others took part, in the year 1761. It occupied 27 hours.

Much sympathy will be extended to Mr. James Hunt and his family, of Taunton, in their bereavement by the death of Mrs. Hunt. The deceased lady had been a great sufferer for many years.

The ringer of the tenor in the peal of Bob Major at Enderby, reported in last week's issue, was Arthur Debenham, of St. John's, Leicester. and not Alfred as reported.

DEATH OF MR. ALBERT COPPOCK:

LOSS TO NOTTINGHAM RINGING.

We much regret to record the death of Mr. Albert Coppock, of 33, Hazelwood Road, Nottingham, leader of the St. Mary's Society, who passed away on Easter Day, after only three days' illness, from pneumonia.

Mr. Coppock came of a ringing family, and had been a leading personality in Nottingham ringing for many years.

He was a great-grandson of James Coppock, one of the band who used to ring with William Doubleday Crofts and who were known as the Sherwood Youths. They made quite extensive journeys in the latter part of the eighteenth century to ring at distant churches. On one occasion in 1775 they opened the new ring of ten bells at Grantham with a peal of Grandsire Caters. It took two men to ring the 9th, one of whom was Crofts, and three to ring the tenor, one of whom was James Coppock, who, being mentioned first in the record, was presumably 'on the box,' the other two being strappers.

Mr. Albert Coppock after the war resuscitated the Sherwood Youths and became Master. For some few years an annual dinner was held, and the society continues to hold frequent meetings at the towers round Nottingham.

It was largely owing to Mr. Coppock's continued pressure that the authorities eventually took in hand the recasting and rehanging of the bells of St. Mary's, Nottingham, and he effected a vast improvement in the belfry arrangements there.

Mr. Coppock's keenness and leadership will be much missed at St. Mary's, and the sympathy of a large circle of friends will go out to the widow and two daughters thus suddenly left in bereavement.

SILENT BELLS.

SMALL HAMPSHIRE PARISH'S GREAT NEED.

An appeal has been issued for funds to restore the tower and bells of Soberton Church, Hampshire.

This peal has now been silent for about 12 months, and it is beyond the resources of the parish to raise the £500 required for restoration unaided.

There are eight bells. The tenor (14 cwt.) was cast in 1623. Numbers 6 and 7 bells date from 1527. The present oak frame is too slight to carry the peal, and its movement, when ringing, has weakened the tower, thus greatly increasing the cost of restoration. It is proposed to put in a steel frame and new fittings at a cost of £332.

There may be ringers interested in Soberton who can help in this work of restoration. Any donation will be gratefully received by the hon. treasurer, Major E. P. Bickford, Corner Cottage, Soberton.

BELL BROADCASTS HEARD IN INDIA.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—Having read from previous issues of 'The Ringing World' much comment on the 'striking' during broadcasts of English church bells, I should like to know if many home listeners get St. Paul's on the air? I do, at the time of their Empire service relays. Congratulations to the College Youths on their well-struck Stedman Cinques. What a pity this band cannot 'ring the changes' with the interval signal. Some ringers have condemned 'stony' broadcasts; those we get very rarely, but the 'interval signal' daily.

On Sunday, March 7th, I much enjoyed the 'Grandsire' from Croydon Parish Church. The ringers did credit to a very musical peal.

To one who only has the pleasure of hearing daily the clanging of temple bells, the ringing from 'home' is a welcome change. I oftentimes wonder what many of our ringers would prefer. 'A mix up in change ringing' or 'a mix up of temple music'?—With best wishes,
L. H. BAYBUT.

MR. G. RADLEY ELECTED PRESIDENT.

Plea for Wider Support for Benevolent Fund.

The annual meeting of the Hertford County Association was held at St. Albans on Easter Monday, and the members had the opportunity of ringing on the Abbey twelve, the ten at St. Peter's and at St. Michael's and Sandridge. The customary service in the Abbey was conducted by the Dean (the Very Rev. C. O. Thicknesse), who also gave an address.

Following tea in the Abbey Institute, the annual meeting was presided over by the retiring president (the Rev. R. F. R. Routh, Vicar of Hitchin).

The hon. secretary in his annual report had a very satisfactory state of affairs to reveal. The association, he said, in common with other ringing organisations, stresses the importance of Sunday service ringing as an essential duty of every member, and it is gratifying to record that they have again done their best to observe this rule of honour. The advance made in change ringing of recent years, both on tower bells and handbells, by our members, in the ringing of Surprise peals in Spliced and other complicated methods, has brought our association prominently before the whole Exercise. Peal ringing suggests, in my opinion, better service ringing, and the incumbents of our churches, agreeing, many of them, with this assertion, have generously given our members permission to attempt, at least, the ringing of a peal, and have accepted the aftermath sometimes supplied by a disgruntled parishioner. Let me assure any of the clergy who may have had to endure complaints that they have the ringers' gratitude and sympathy, and the assurance of their desire always to minimise even the possibility of complaint from the outside public.

MR. G. W. CARTMEL,

Elected Hon. Secretary of the Hertford County Association for the 34th time.

The peals rung on tower bells, during 1936, number 45, and 11 on handbells, in a variety of methods. The outstanding performances of the year, both for our association and in the history of change ringing, have been the ringing upon handbells of four 'Spliced' Major peals in four Surprise methods, by Messrs. Hodgetts, Woolley, Cashmore and Brinklow.

On tower bells, first peals of Uxbridge Surprise and Cassiobury Surprise Major have been rung, both peals without any previous practice whatever, a most exacting and praiseworthy performance. First peals for the association of Darlaston Bob Triples and Little Bob Royal have also been rung. The Apsley band, under the skilled guidance of Mr. Walter Ayre, have also created records in ringing a peal in nine Surprise methods, and another in 14 Spliced methods, both on six bells. Incidentally, the latter brought Mr. Ayre's total number of peals rung to 400.

The Aldenham company have also scored their first local peal, a peal of Grandsire Triples, conducted by Mr. C. H. Horton, and Lord Aldenham has generously given a tablet to commemorate the peal. Ten members have rung their first peal, and the number of members who have rung their first in a new method is too bewildering for me to analyse. The conductors of peals number 18 on tower bells and three on handbells.

REPORTS FROM THE DISTRICTS.

At the last annual meeting alterations made in the rules gave powers to each district to elect its own district secretary and committee, and, as far as I am aware, the scheme has worked successfully and given impetus in many directions.

From the Northern District, the secretary (Mr. D. Mears) reported that they had exceeded the usual balance in hand by approximately £4, partly owing to a number of members paying up arrears and partly owing to an increase in membership—some 24 new members having been added to the list—a good sign. The District Committee is also a new feature and has done good work. Eleven meetings were held and the average attendance had been good. The combined practices were something new for which the district deserved credit. It was a big venture, but, assisted by a president who takes such an active part, and the support which was received from the members, proved worth while. Some excellent work was done and very much appreciated by a great number.

These practices incurred no expenses upon the association, as a collection was taken at each meeting, which resulted in a balance in hand of 18s. 1½d. It was hoped these practices would be continued, as they are the only means of the association assisting members who do not attend the meetings. Next year it is hoped to see more of these meetings held in towers where ringers are really striving under difficulties or are at a standstill with regard to methods. A word of praise was added to Mr. R. T. Newman, of Baldock, who has taught a band of ringers at Baldock—and kept them interested.

From the Western District Mr. W. Ayre reported a very successful year of ringing, although mainly done by the Apsley band.

Mr. C. H. Horton reported from the Western District that during the year seven meetings had been held, at which 140 ringers attended. Peal ringing has been exceptionally good and the greatest praise should be accorded to the handbell band. Ten new members have been enrolled.

The secretary of the Eastern District (Mr. W. H. Lawrence) reported a successful year with good attendances at meetings.

From St. Albans District Mr. W. Nash reported that six meetings had been held with an average attendance of about 20. The joint meeting was a very happy affair, about 60 ringers attending. The general impression one got from these meetings was that the older ringers were attending and the proportion of young members very small.

Mr. Cartmel reported satisfactory progress of the Benevolent and Bell Restoration Funds, and said the library continued to flourish, and, after thanking Mr. George Debenham for his assistance, added words of appreciation of the services of the district secretaries. Between them, 30 to 40 district meetings had been arranged, which had meant a great deal of labour. Mr. Cartmel concluded: 'I am sure the members are grateful for all that is done for them, but in some districts greater support would bring cheer to the organisers. It is your society, and upon you rests its success, or otherwise. I would add my appreciation of the happy fellowship which I have enjoyed in common with you all, for so many years, and may I also express the hope that the truest and highest spirit of fellowship, which finds expression at Eastertide, may ever continue with the members of this association, for that is the only foundation upon which we can build and successfully maintain, the objects for which this association was formed.'

The financial statement, submitted by the treasurer (Mr. G. E. Debenham), showed that the balance in hand amounted to £7 9s. 11d., but actually on the year's work the association was 10d. down. Members' subscriptions amounted to £21 13s., while subscriptions from honorary and life members totalled £7 5s. 6d.

Mr. Debenham pointed out that the Benevolent Fund, which had a balance of £20 9s. 8d., was now getting to a position in which it could 'stand on its own legs' far better than in previous years, although there was still need for general support throughout the county. The Voluntary Bell Fund, which was now in its second year, had a balance of £2 16s.

Three new honorary members were admitted to the association, they being the Dean of St. Albans, the Sub-Dean (the Rev. G. W. Clarkson) and the Rev. A. M. Furguson (Vicar of St. Peter's, St. Albans).

The following officers, nominated by the committee, were elected: President, Mr. G. Radley (Broxbourne); treasurer, Mr. G. E. Debenham; hon. secretary, Mr. G. W. Cartmel; assistant secretary, Mr. G. W. Debenham; librarian, Mr. H. V. Frost; representative to the Central Council, Mr. A. Lawrence (Hatfield); auditor, Mr. W. Mercer.

The meeting concluded with thanks to the Dean for his address, expressed by Mr. G. E. Debenham, and a vote of thanks to the Vicars of St. Peter's, St. Michael's and Sandridge and churchwardens of St. Stephen's for use of the bells, and the steeplekeepers for their services, proposed by Mr. W. H. Lawrence and replied to by the Rev. Furguson.

A DERBYSHIRE BELL RESTORATION.

IMPROVEMENT OF THE PEAL AT ECKINGTON.

On Sunday afternoon, March 14th, in the presence of a large congregation, the Archdeacon of Chesterfield (the Very Rev. Dilworth Harrison) rededicated the bells and Westminster chimes of Eckington Church, Derbyshire.

The bells before the restoration were cast by John Warner and Sons, Ltd., London, in 1897, and, as on many other things in this world, time had taken its toll. Restoration became necessary. A meeting of the church authorities decided to make an appeal to the parishioners, who were asked to take a collecting box into their homes, and it was also decided to ask those interested in the bells of Eckington Church, round about the district, to support them in their effort.

The appeal was taken up with a spirit of enthusiasm by all, and left no burden for the church authorities to carry now the work has been finished.

As is usual when bells are dedicated, they were rung in rounds during the service by the Sunday service band: P. E. Tomlinson 1, A. Tomlinson 2, A. West 3, P. Jervis 4, H. Nelson 5, G. Graham 6, S. R. Morton 7, T. Howes Smith 8.

The company of ringers at Eckington are to be congratulated on the strides they have made towards the state of efficiency which all ringers like to hear when bells are rung.

The work done to the bells has been to recast 1 and 2, retune the rest, overhaul all the clappers and rehanging the bells on ball bearings. The work was carried out in a highly efficient manner by Messrs. Gillett and Johnston.

An open meeting was held on Saturday, March 20th, when the bells were available for all who cared to try their hand on the newly-restored ring. About 60 ringers were present. Tea was provided in the Parish Room, the Rector and churchwardens joining the party.

After tea the Rector gave a hearty welcome to all who were present and hoped they would be satisfied with the manner in which the work had been carried out by Messrs. Gillett and Johnston. He also thanked the bellhangers and asked Mr. S. Roper to convey to the firm he represented his appreciation.

Mr. S. Roper thanked the Rector for his kind appreciation of the work done.

Mr. C. Haynes, president of the Sheffield and District Society, thanked the Rector and all concerned for the manner in which the ringers had been entertained.

Several touches on the handbells were rung, and then a move to the tower, where ringing until about 9 p.m. brought a most enjoyable day to a close.

CLERICAL RINGING WEEK.

TOURING ROUND EVESHAM.

What has now become an annual 'institution,' the Clerical Ringing Week, begins next Monday. The headquarters this year are Evesham, and the Rev. E. V. Cox (president of the Devon Guild) has again arranged an interesting programme.

The party meet at Ashchurch on Monday afternoon and afterwards visit Overbury, Bredon and Norton. On Tuesday they go to Elmley Castle, Little Comberton, Great Comberton, Eckington, Pershore Abbey, Norton and Hampton.

Wednesday's itinerary takes in Offenham, Badsey, Childs Wickham, Wellersey, Saintbury, Mickleton and Bretforton. On Thursday they go to Bidford-on-Avon, Alcester, Stratford-on-Avon, Snitterfield, Quinton, Chipping Camden, and, in the evening, ring at the Bell Tower, Evesham.

The only peal in the programme is arranged for Hinton-on-the-Green on Friday morning. Later in the day the party will visit Broadway, Stanton and Stow-on-the-Wold.

The party will comprise the Revs. E. G. Benson (Burghill, Hereford), H. G. Benson (Nyasaland), C. Carrow Cox (Lyme Regis, Dorset), E. V. Cox (Brampford Speke, Devon), P. L. Edwards (Kington Magna, Dorset), E. Banks James (Fareham, Hants), F. S. H. Marle (Deane, Hants), B. F. Sheppard (Cambridge), A. G. G. Thurlow (Wokingham, Berks), W. M. K. Warren (Binegar, Bath), G. Elliot Wigg (High Wycombe, Bucks) and R. F. Williamson (Orisall, Notts).

THE RECORD MAJOR ATTEMPT.

'SHIFT COURSE' PUTS END TO PEAL.

The attempt on the Major record at Kingham, Oxfordshire, on Monday, was lost after 3½ hours' ringing, owing to a 'shift course' after about 5,600 changes had been rung.

It is hoped to make another attempt on this record in the near future.

The present Major record is 18,144 Bob Major, rung at Bennington, Herts, in 1933. The attempt at Kingham was for 19,040 Double Norwich.

WING AND QUEEN CAMEL BELLS.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—Had the band that visited Wing said 'in their opinion' the bells were not pealable, no exception could have been taken. The definiteness of their statement makes them out to be an authority. In my first letter I gave an example of a definite statement made concerning a tenor bell as being unringable; then someone else rang it without any difficulty.

Here is another case of working hard at a peal of bells to make them pealable. In 1905 a party visited Lundy Isle on the off chance of ringing a peal. On arrival they found the bells in such a state it was no use thinking of ringing them, leaving out the question of a peal, without first putting in a lot of hard work. Then a start was made for Stedman Triples. But after half an hour's ringing it was found impossible, and the party, beaten and dispirited, prepared for their return voyage. Fortunately for them as it turned out, a gale had sprung up. The steamer could not risk the journey, and this gave the party another day on the island. Next morning, after an enormous amount of hard work, they made another start, and to their delight it was successful in 2 hours and 53 minutes. No one should, therefore, say definitely that any bells are unpealable.

With regard to Queen Camel, I am of the opinion that had the party gone there before the bells were rehung their verdict would have been the same as at Wing.

J. HUNT.

PEALS THAT DO NO GOOD.

Dear Sir,—Perhaps Mr. Hunt will agree there are peals rung where the bells are almost unpealable, but I would like to state that these peals do no good and hamper local authority from getting bells rehung. There is much difference in ringing a heavy bell with the late Mr. Pye's band than with novices. I, for one, know. I have tried both.

F. WARRINGTON.

Over, Cambs.

AN OFFER.

Sir,—May I ask Mr. J. Hunt if he would like to bring a friend for a peal of Minor on the Wing, Bucks, bells? I should be pleased to get four ringers to ring the front four bells. If he comes over afterwards he will be able to write to 'The Ringing World' and say if the bells are pealable or not.

FIGURES AND DIAGRAMS.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—I was interested in your recent leader and Mr. Trollope's letter on the prohibitive cost of producing diagrams instead of the figures of methods. Perhaps I may be allowed to trespass upon your valuable space to show how any ringer, keen enough, can possess a diagram book of methods at practically no expense whatsoever, except his own time.

All the would-be 'diagrammatist' need do is to purchase a suitable book to fit the pocket, which can be obtained from a penny or so up to a few shillings for a super-book, then produce pen and ink and transfer his methods from figures into diagrams. He can write out as many methods as he wants, or as few; those he regularly rings, those he is learning and, if he likes, those he would like to ring. It is quite easy to write these out, and after a little practice one gets quite expert at the job.

Many years ago, when I commenced ringing, I purchased such a book and wrote out all the methods I could lay my hands upon, including standard methods and the Central Council's Collection of Minor Methods; and, as methods have appeared from time to time in 'The Ringing World,' these have been added to the book. I still have this book, and not only has it been a source of pleasure to me in writing it, but it has been seen by quite a lot of ringers and commented upon, and has, on numberless occasions, been the means of enabling a ringer at an outing or meeting to 'polish up' an obscure method which he had not rung for some years and had half forgotten.

The excellent series of method books published by the C.C. should be in every ringer's hands, but it is an unfortunate fact (in my experience, at any rate) that ringers will not buy these books, whether on account of price or apathy I do not know.

HIGH TIDES AND FLOODS IN FENLAND.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—I am sure that many of us, during the flooding of the Fens, must have recalled those chapters of 'The Nine Tailors,' describing the bursting of the waters over the fenlands and the warning boom of the tenor bell.

Not only Miss Sayers, but another lady, Jean Ingelow, has also dealt with this theme, viz., in her 'High Tide on the Coast of Lincolnshire'—one of our most beautiful poems. If it were not that it runs to 22 verses, we might have had a reprint in your columns, for here again the bells play an important part. May I, however, give the first verse?

'The old Mayor climbed the belfry tower,
The ringers ran by two by three;
"Pull if you never pulled before;
Good ringers, pull your best," quoth he.
"Play uppe, play uppe, O Boston bells!
Ply all your changes, all your swells,
Play uppe 'The Brides of Enderby.'"

In no less than seven of the verses is there a reference to the bells of warning, they form a haunting curtain to the progress of the tragic story. Thus:—

'And all the aire, it seemeth mee,
Bin full of floating bells (sayth shee)
That ring the tune of Enderby.'

'Till, floating o'er the grassy sea
Came down that kindly messago free,
The "Brides of Mavis Enderby."'

And, lastly, whilst clinging to the roof amidst the swirl of waters:—

'And awesome bells they were to mee,
That in the dark rang "Enderby."'

I have asked several of my ringing friends if they could throw a light on this curious reference to our art, but to no purpose. (The late Mr. Law James was doubtful about it.) Miss Ingelow has been dead nearly 40 years, and we may never know the genesis of 'Enderby.'

It is a beautiful poem. Try reading it (as I have done) to a Lincolnshire man and watch his face.

PEAL RINGING ON MEETING DAYS.

To the Editor.

Sir,—It seems to be a sore point among many ringers that a local company or any band of ringers should attempt a peal on a day when the association or society of which they are members is holding its quarterly or annual meeting. Not only is it a sore point, but it shows bad taste and lack of interest in the association. It is also disappointing to the secretaries, who have more work to do than many ringers think and deserve all the praise they get; and to the local company where the meetings are held. It is a practice that, it seems to me, will be carried on for ever, unless these bands are penalised by all associations making a rule to have nothing whatever to do with or acknowledge any peal rung on a meeting day, unless, of course, they can show proof that it was for a very special occasion.

ST. MARY ABBOT'S GUILD.
KENSINGTON RINGERS' DINNER.

The annual dinner of St. Mary Abbot's Guild, Kensington, was held at Slater's Restaurant, Knightsbridge, on Saturday, March 6th, when over 30 members and friends were present, some of them having taken part that afternoon in a peal of Stedman Caters, which was rung to celebrate the induction of the Rev. Prebendary A. E. Smith, M.A., as Vicar of St. Mary Abbot's in succession to the late Rev. E. Brooks Jackson. Prebendary Smith presided, and was supported by Mr. H. V. Kenyon, J.P., and Major N. L. Garratt, the churchwardens of St. Mary Abbot's, and the Rev. Kenneth Wood, the chaplain to the Guild. After an excellent dinner, the toast of 'The Guild' was proposed by Mr. Kenyon, and Mr. W. E. Judd, the Ringing Master, replied, giving a brief summary of the activities of the Guild during the past year and expressing gratification at the attendances for the Sunday service ringing.

The toast of 'The Church' was proposed by Mr. G. J. Strickland, who paid tribute to the constant and valuable work of the ministers of the Church.

An adjournment was afterwards made to an upper room, where, with Mr. J. A. Dart and Mr. Roberts Thomas successively presiding at the piano, an enjoyable musical evening followed, which also included touches on the handbells and tune ringing by Mr. J. R. Mackman and Mr. Howard Mackman.

The assistance at the piano of Mr. Roberts Thomas, who was a visitor for the second year, was much appreciated by those present.

DON'T SCRUB YOUR HANDS!

skin this simple way*

To many people, the problem of getting the hands really clean without harming the skin is a serious one. Grease and grime, which become deeply ingrained into the pores of the skin, are extremely difficult to remove, and ordinary washing with soap or even scrubbing will fail to remove them completely. Housewives, particularly, who complain that their hands get ruined by the nature of their work, will find the preparation called DERMAFOAM, a real "godsend." DERMAFOAM just smoothes away dirt and grease without effort. It gets right down into the pores and removes every particle of grime, leaving skin beautifully supple and healthy.

Men, too—when you've finished that dirty job on the car, DERMAFOAM will quickly banish all grease and oil from your hands. It acts almost magically—working under and around the nails and into every minute crease, removing all trace of dirt in a flash.

Engineers, Painters, Car Mechanics, Printers — everyone — will welcome DERMAFOAM, the modern method of cleansing and protecting the hands.

CORONATION DAY RINGING.

Numerous inquiries have come to us on the subject of Coronation Day ringing. There are many towers, apparently, where ringers are desirous of knowing if there is to be any general plan for celebrating this great event, so far as the church bells are concerned. There can, we think, be no general rule laid down. Obviously there must be widely varying local circumstances into which the ringing of the church bells must be made to fit and one of the first things, we suggest, ringers should do is to ascertain what the local programme of festivities is to be and come to some arrangement to fit the ringing in with the town or village scheme.

On this occasion there is another extremely important point to bear in mind—one which has never arisen in connection with previous Coronations. The ceremony in Westminster Abbey is to be broadcast. Nearly everyone who can do so will be listening, at their wireless receivers, to the service, and that makes it essential that nowhere should ringers, however loyal and enthusiastic, ply their art to the disturbance of those who are listening to the proceedings in the Abbey. To do so would be not only an annoyance, but a breach of good manners, and would recoil on the ringers' heads. No doubt the desire of the majority of ringers themselves to listen to the historic ceremony will be sufficient to ensure the silence of the towers during the service, and the bells will come with all the more dignity and effect if they are heard at a more apt time.

It has been suggested in high quarters that ringers might take their cue from the bells of the Abbey itself, which will be heard as their Majesties leave the building. That seems to us very useful guidance, and ringers who are anxious to get to work as soon as possible after the ceremony can lay their plans accordingly. Apart from this, however, we feel that ringers, wherever they can, should herald the great and auspicious day by ringing as early as convenient in the morning. It would give an appropriate and cheerful start to the local celebrations, it would distinctively mark the festival and would not interfere in any way with broadcast reception.

Whatever ringing is done, however, it should be the aim of every responsible ringer, to see that it is the best that the band can produce. Ringing for the Coronation should not be made the opportunity of a practice, or even of a peal for ringers who are not capable of putting up a good performance. The ringing of the bells on that day will be expected by the public; they will be listening more critically than is usual with them, and it is a mistake to run away with the idea that the public do not know the difference between good ringing and bad. There may be some who, having heard nothing but bad ringing, say little about it, but the public do appreciate good ringing, and if a band is not capable of ringing bells well in changes, they should, for this occasion, be content to do something less ambitious. If every ringer will go into the belfry on Coronation Day realising that his reputation is at stake, the public will appreciate the bells, and a good turn will be done for the art, by helping to remove opposition, where there is any, to ringing on other occasions.

ANNUAL MEETING AT NOTTINGHAM.

Central Council to be invited to Leicester.

The weather proved to be kinder on Easter Monday than of late, and this no doubt helped to attract a good number of members and friends to Nottingham for the annual meeting of the Midland Counties Association. A gloom fell over the proceedings, however, for visitors learned, on arrival, of the sudden and lamented death of the talented leader of St. Mary's, Nottingham, band, Mr. Albert Coppock. Consequently St. Mary's bells were rung half-muffled as a token of respect. At St. Peter's, too, an accident to the tenor bell prevented the ten from being rung, and only the front six bells were available. Daybrook bells (8) were open throughout the day, and good practice made by a large number of visitors.

The committee met in St. Mary's Institute at 3 p.m., and as a result of their deliberations, grants from the Bell Repair Fund were made to Long Eaton, Notts, where the eight bells are to be recast, and Kirby Mallory, Leicestershire, where a new treble is to be added to the existing five bells. It was suggested that the general hon. secretary write to the secretary of the Central Council requesting that, if possible, their agenda be published before Easter, to enable those guilds and associations which—like the Midland Counties—hold their annual meetings on Easter Monday, to discuss the various points raised and instruct their representatives accordingly. It was also suggested that the representatives propose that the next meeting (1938) be held in Leicester, as by that date there would be two rings of twelve bells, one of ten, and several eights available.

Following the committee meeting, a special service was held at St. Mary's Church, conducted by the Right Rev. Lord Bishop Neville S. Talbot, D.D. The Bishop opened by saying that the association form of service would be slightly altered on account of the death of Mr. Albert Coppock, which created not only a great loss to St. Mary's Church, but to the ringing community as a whole. A sad feature, too, was the fact that while on what proved to be his death-bed, Mr. Coppock had written to ask Mr. Walter White, of Cotgrave, to play the organ for that service.

As a voluntary Mr. White played 'O rest in the Lord,' and special hymns included 'How sweet the name of Jesus sounds' and 'Abide with me.'

The Bishop, in his brief but inspiring address, made touching reference to the passing of Mr. Coppock, and in view of the Easter message of hope and in the Resurrection, left the sorrowing family with these words of comfort.

After the service, tea was served in St. Mary's Institute, and between 90 and 100 sat down. The general meeting which followed was presided over by Mr. E. Denison Taylor, supported by the Right Rev. Lord Bishop Talbot, D.D., the Rev. R. F. Wilkinson, of Ordsall, Notts, Mr. William E. White (treasurer) and Mr. Ernest Morris (general hon. secretary). Members were present from each of the association's branches, viz.: Burton, Chesterfield, Derby, Hinckley, Leicester, Loughborough and Nottingham, and many friends from long distances, including Mr. and Mrs. Beamish, of Warwickshire Guild, Mr. R. G. Black and Mr. W. Rogers, of the Peterborough Guild, Mr. John Austin, of Gloucester, and others from Sheffield, Birmingham (St. Martin's), Bromsgrove, Smethwick, Macclesfield, Stoke-on-Trent and Cheshire.

In opening the meeting, the president first made touching reference to the passing of Mr. Albert Coppock, who was, he said, a valued and respected member of the association. He asked the general secretary on behalf of all present to send a letter of condolence and sympathy to the sorrowing family, and as a token of respect all the company stood in silence for a few moments.

INTERESTING PEALS.

Mr. Taylor then gave a review of the past quarter's peals rung, which, although very few, were nevertheless interesting. There were 15, including two handbell peals of Stedman Caters and Cinques by the Leicester company. Among the tower-bell peals were three which Mr. Taylor termed 'triprogenitory'—a word he himself coined to describe three generations ringing together in peals at Staveley (Parsons), Loughborough (Harrisons) and Matlock (Paulsons). "Quite a lot of sons!" Mr. Taylor then thanked the Lord Bishop for honouring them with his presence at tea, and also for arranging the beautiful and touching service in St. Mary's Church.

Bishop Talbot, in reply, said, like Boy Scouts, Bishops had to 'be prepared,' usually, however, in their case, to 'say a few words.' Last time he met the association some four years ago he had only just arrived from the Transvaal, where everything was very different from England. Very rarely they saw a complete church, still more rarely one with bells, and it was a great joy to come back to the Motherland with its beautiful churches and their wonderful bells. It was his privilege and pleasure to have had the job of seeing St. Mary's tower and bells thoroughly restored and everything therein put in good order, and he knew the late Mr. Coppock had rejoiced with him equally in this great work. He was very pleased to welcome any ringers to St. Mary's, and trusted that their own ringers would soon be adding many peals to the credit of the association.

The annual report and balance sheet, which has now been printed and is in circulation, was duly passed on the proposition of Mr. Colin Harrison, one of the auditors.

STEDMAN CATERS.

It was not our intention in these articles to go beyond the scope of eight-bell ringing, because we felt that when a beginner had mastered ringing up to eight bells he could go on to the higher numbers by other means than help from this column. However, as we have had in past months several requests for an article on Stedman Caters to assist young conductors, this may be a fitting point, following on the last two articles on Stedman Triples, to devote a little attention to Caters.

We must suppose, however, that our readers know the method and also know that the only differences between Triples and Caters are the two additional dodging places in 8-9 (sandwiched between the dodging in 6-7 up and 7-6 down), and the moving of the bob place from 5th's to 7th's.

In Stedman, therefore, whether in Triples or Caters, only the last three bells are affected by a bob or single. In some respects Stedman Caters is easier to conduct than Stedman Triples, because, apart from a 'going off' and 'turning' or 'homing' course, the bobs do not cut up the coursing order of the bells to anything like the same extent; and the bells are coursing two sixes longer in the dodging places. Moreover, in the body of a long touch or peal only one or two bobs in a course are necessary, and this, again, simplifies the conductor's task.

As in Triples, the calling is done by the sixes, which are numbered from 1 to 18. Composition in Caters is facilitated by keeping 7, 8 and 9 undisturbed in certain relative positions and retaining the same bell in 2nd's and also in 5th's place. Thus five of the nine bells are 'fixed,' which is another great help, for in Triples you have only one.

The result of fixing all these bells is that once you get these 'fixed bells' into position, you are limited, if you do not want to disturb them, to bobs made in the 5th and 16th sixes and called, of course, a whole pull before those sixes begin. These, as will be inferred, are known as bobs at 5 and 16. If the 5th's place bell is changed it is done by a bob at 4. The 2nd's place bell, if it is changed other than in the turning course, is moved by a bob at 15.

The 'tittums' position, in which at the course end the bells behind strike 9-7-8, and come away in the coursing order 7, 8, 9 is generally preferred in peals and long touches, with, often, a change of music by turning over to what is known as the 'handstroke,' that is bringing the back bells into the 'rounds' position at handstroke when they are behind together, so that, if the 6th is the 5th's place bell, the handstrokes, in the 'six' after the course-end, come up 6-7-8-9 and the bells are in the coursing order 7, 9, 8, 6.

We would suggest that those who wish to go further into this should write out full courses of Caters beginning both from 213465978 and 214365879, drawing a line between each six and numbering the sixes, 1 being the first change of the first six. Study the courses well and examine the order in which the bells come up behind.

Next week we hope to say something further about this subject.

FOUR HUNDRED PEALS.

At Trowbridge, Wilts, on Easter Monday, Mr. J. S. Goldsmith rang his 400th peal. He rang his first when he was 15 years of age, and it has taken 43 years to compile this (for these days) modest total.

In this number are three peals of Minor, 98 of Triples (in six methods), 183 of Major (in 20 methods, including 15 of Surprise), 50 of Caters, 28 of Royal, 26 of Cinques and 12 of Maximus. Of the total 73 have been conducted.

Twenty peals have been on handbells and the rest have been rung in 136 towers. The peals have been rung in five countries (England, Ireland, Wales, Belgium and Australia) and on five seas (the Mediterranean, the Arabian Sea, the Indian Ocean, the Pacific Ocean and the Red Sea).

MIDLAND ASSOCIATION MEETING.

As there were no other nominations, Mr. W. H. Curson proposed and Mr. J. W. Cotton seconded that the general officers be elected on bloc, which was carried with acclamation. The officers are Mr. E. Denison Taylor, president; Mr. William Willson, vice-president; Mr. William E. White, hon. treasurer; Mr. Ernest Morris, hon. secretary.

Each of the officers, except Mr. Willson, who was unfortunately absent, replied thanking the members for the honour and assuring all of their continued efforts on behalf of the association's welfare.

The hon. secretary apologised for Mr. Willson's absence, he being unfit to travel owing to illness. Mr. Morris also asked members to let him know at once of any errors they might notice in the annual report and not leave it till too late. Several corrections were needed and it was up to the members to notify them.

New members proposed since the last meeting were 14 new, 2 re-joining, 2 honorary, 1 life, who were duly elected. Three places for next quarterly meetings were then proposed and carried, viz.: Bolsover, June; Burbage, September; Repton, January, 1938.

This concluded the business, and Mr. J. Harris proposed and the Rev. R. F. Wilkinson seconded a hearty vote of thanks to Miss Thompson and the local committee for their arrangements which made the meeting a successful one, also to the incumbents and ringers of the three towers open for ringing.

DOUBLE WEDDING OF RINGERS.RINGING SISTERS MARRY RINGING BRIDEGROOMS.

For the first time, we believe, in history, a 'double' wedding of ringers took place at St. Peter's Church, Rock Ferry, Birkenhead, on Saturday, March 27th. The Misses Elsie and Marjorie Cooke, both ringers, daughters of Mr. J. Cooke, captain of St. Peter's company and Ringing Master of the Wirral Branch of the Chester Diocesan Guild, were married respectively to Mr. Frederick Oldroyd, a ringer at Ossett Parish Church, Wakefield, and Mr. David Meredith Poole, a member of the Rock Ferry band.

Miss Elsie Cooke started ringing when 14 years of age and has rung one peal in five methods. In addition she has rung 720's in various methods, including many of the Surprise methods. Since 1929 she has been a member of the band at West Clandon, a village near Guildford, Surrey. Miss Marjorie Cooke was only 12 years old when she started in the belfry, and has rung three peals, including one in seven Surprise methods, which was the first peal on the bells by the local band. She has also rung a 720 in all the 41 Surprise methods which the Rock Ferry company rang in the year 1934. Mr. Fred Oldroyd learned to ring at Holy Trinity Cathedral, Guildford, and rang one peal there before he left for his Yorkshire home. Mr. Poole began his ringing after his engagement to his bride.

The interesting double ceremony attracted a large amount of interest, and many ringers were among the large congregation of well-wishers. The Rev. J. D. Pearson, Vicar of St. Peter's, officiated, and the brides were given in marriage by their father. They wore similar frocks of ivory satin. Their veils of silk embroidered tulle were held in place by halos of orange blossom and they carried bouquets of pink carnations. Each was attended by two bridesmaids.

During the reception at St. Peter's Hall, which followed the service, two wedding cakes, decorated with silver bells, were cut simultaneously and the company toasted the 'bells' and their grooms.

Needless to say, the bells of St. Peter's Church greeted the happy couples and were rung to various touches in honour of the event.

WEDDING BELLS.

At Lyme Regis, Dorset, on Saturday, April 3rd, a quarter-peal (1,260 changes) of Bob Minor: E. Hawker 1, J. E. Philbrick 2, H. G. Keeley 3, Rev. C. C. Cox (conductor) 4, F. Blackmore 5, C. W. Powell 6. First quarter-peal by the ringer of the treble. Rung in honour of the marriage of Lt.-Comdr. Walpole John Eyre, younger son of the Rev. G. F. and Mrs. Eyre (Mayor and Mayoress of Lyme Regis) to Miss Joy Best, which took place at Merrow, near Guildford, that afternoon. Also as a compliment to Mr. and Mrs. F. Blackmore on the sixth anniversary of their wedding.

SURREY ASSOCIATION.DISTRICT COMMITTEE TO DEVISE CORONATION RINGING SCHEME.

The meeting of the North-Western District of the Surrey Association, held at Croydon Parish Church on Easter Monday, attracted members and friends from a very wide area. Fifty-two ringers attended, representing the following 26 towers: Banstead, Beddington, Benhilton, Bolton (Laues), Camberwell, Chelsea, Croydon (St. John's and St. Peter's), Baling, Edmonton, Epsom (Christ Church), Headingley (Yorks), Kingston, Haslemere, Langport (Somerset), Merstham, Merton, Reigate, Sevenoaks, Southgate, Streatham (St. Leonard's), Sunbury, Tunbridge Wells, Uckfield (Sussex), Wimbledon and Woodford (Essex).

The service was conducted by the Rev. J. C. Kinnear, who conveyed to the meeting the apologies of the Bishop of Croydon for unavoidable absence.

After welcoming the association to Croydon Parish Church, the Rev. Kinnear said he had been warned by his colleagues of the belfry not to talk about bells or bellringing. He could talk about anything else he liked, so long as he did not give an address the subject of which was bells. He had no idea what the penalty would be, but decided not to risk it. So he read a portion of the 24th chapter of St. Luke's Gospel, and then described in homely and familiar terms the journey of the two disciples from Jerusalem to Emmaus. 'Like those disciples,' he said, 'we often fail to recognise the Man who would be, if we so desire, our companion throughout the journey of life, helping us through our difficulties and comforting us in our sorrows. If only,' he added, 'we could realise more fully the nearness of Christ when we were ringing the bells, the message of those bells would always be the right one.'

Tea was served in the Parish Hall, and afterwards some good hand-bell ringing was heard.

The business meeting followed, presided over by the District Ringing Master, Mr. Dan Cooper. Mr. Frank Butler was elected a member of the association.

A discussion took place on the question of ringing for the Coronation, with a view to getting the bells rung at all towers in the district, and, if possible, assisting those towers which are likely to be short-handed. The matter was referred to the District Committee to devise a scheme to this end.

A hearty vote of thanks was accorded the Bishop for the use of the bells; to the Rev. J. C. Kinnear for conducting the service and giving the address; and to Mr. Dan Cooper for making all the necessary arrangements for the comfort and refreshment of the visitors.

A return to the tower was then made, where ringing continued.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

Mr. Edgar Guise was elected hon. secretary of the Gloucester and Bristol Diocesan Association for the twentieth time at the annual meeting at Tewkesbury on Easter Monday.

The Rev. H. Drake, hon. secretary of the Suffolk Guild for the first 15 years of its existence, gave up office at the annual meeting last Saturday. He is succeeded by Mr. Harold Herbert, of Sudbury.

The revised rules of the Kent County Association were adopted at the annual meeting held on Easter Monday at Ashford, when there was an attendance of over 250 members and friends.

Mr. Charles Slingsby, of Aldington, England's oldest bellringer, who will be 100 years old next month, was unable to attend, as he was recovering from influenza. Ringers will celebrate his 100th birthday by a gathering at Aldington on the last Saturday in May.

The Kent Association has 32 life members, 73 hon. members, 968 practising members and 98 juniors, 120 towers in union, and total funds of £971 18s. 5d.

The reports of these meetings will appear in our next issue.

An original copy of Stedman's first 'Campanologia' (1677) recently came to light at Eastbourne. Unfortunately it has a good many pages missing, but through the efforts of Mr. Harold S. Holden it has been secured and will have a permanent home in the ringing chamber at Christ Church.

It is interesting that the name of an early, if not the original, owner of the book is preserved. On the fly leaf is inscribed the name of John Bassett, of Doddsworth, and the date 1698.

The recast bells of the Cathedral of St. Philip, Birmingham, are to be dedicated by the Bishop of Birmingham on Saturday, May 1st. Messrs. Gillett and Johnston are carrying out the work. At the annual vestry meeting on Friday Mr. George E. Fearn was appointed tower warden and Ringing Master. This is good news. Mr. Fearn's enthusiasm for ringing ensures that the new bells will be made use of.

Our reports include one of a peal of Minor rung at South Perrott, Dorset, by members of the Guildford Diocesan Guild! It was a misunderstanding that it was not a Salisbury Guild peal. All the band came from Aldershot, and because some of them were only compounding members they thought they could not elect the others.

If that rule prevailed the peal of Cinques at Trowbridge the same day could not have been rung for the Salisbury Guild, as there were only compounding members present to do the electing.

The enthusiasm of the Aldershot 'brigade' is well known to their friends. Here is a fact that will interest others, besides. Some of this band made four journeys to South Perrott for this peal, and South Perrott is 110 miles from Aldershot! Motor bikes have been employed, but what is the attraction at South Perrott?

We regret to record the death of Mr. George A. Card, hon. secretary for many years of the Society of Royal Cumberland Youths. He passed away on Monday in Fulham Hospital. Mr. Card had been in indifferent health for some time past, and only at the last annual meeting in January an assistant secretary was appointed to relieve him of some of the duties.

The inauguration of the recast peal of eight bells at St. Cuthbert's, Darlington, which Messrs. Gillett and Johnston have hung in a welded steel frame, took place on Saturday. The work was made possible through the legacy of a Darlington lady. A further report of the opening will appear next week.

DEATH OF MR. JOHN WOOD, OF GULVAL.

A WELL-KNOWN CORNISH RINGER.

By the passing of Mr. John Wood, who died suddenly at his home at Gulval, Penzance, on Friday, March 26th, Cornish ringing has lost a familiar figure and many ringers a valued friend. Mr. Wood, with his brother, Mr. William Wood, the late Penzance district secretary, started ringing nearly 50 years ago, and on his moving to Penzance in 1913 joined the Gulval band, where for several years he had been vice-captain and steeplekeeper.

Mr. Wood rang only nine peals, all of Grandsire Triples, but he was always considered to be one of the safest ringers in Cornwall. He rang his first peal at Kenwyn in April, 1927, where he also rang his last in June of last year.

Several ringers from West Cornwall were present at his funeral on Tuesday, when the bells were rung half-muffled.

On Wednesday a peal of Grandsire Triples was rung half-muffled to his memory at Gulval Church.

PROPOSED RING OF TEN FOR POOLE.

TWO TREBLES WANTED.

An appeal is being made to raise a fund to augment to ten the present peal of bells at Poole, Dorset, in commemoration of the Coronation.

The approximate cost of the addition of the two bells will be about £200, of which £50 has already been promised. The remainder of the task is too great for the parish to undertake unaided, and an appeal to all members of the borough, to old parishioners and to all bell lovers, wherever they may be, is made.

Donations will be gratefully received by the Rector (the Rev. E. G. Harris) and by Mr. I. Davis, 35, Tatnam Road, Poole.

Mr. F. W. Townsend is the enthusiastic Ringing Master at Poole, and his many ringing friends will no doubt be glad to support him in the project.

NORWICH DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION.

PRESENTATION TO MR. A. L. COLEMAN.

Hon. Secretary Retires After Nearly 20 Years' Service.

At the annual meeting of the Norwich Diocesan Association at Norwich on Easter Monday, Mr. Arthur L. Coleman relinquished the hon. secretaryship after nearly 20 years' service, and was made the recipient of a gold watch as a mark of the members' appreciation of his long services. Mr. Nolan Golden was elected to the vacant office. Mr. Golden has been serving the association as hon. secretary of both the North and South Norfolk branches.

There was a large gathering of ringers, who had the bells of St. Peter Mancroft, St. Michael at Coslany, St. Giles' and All Saints' at their disposal from 10 a.m. Divine service was held at St. Peter Mancroft Church at 12.30 p.m., when the address was given by the Rev. C. H. Flack, Rector of St. Augustine's, Norwich.

The members afterwards assembled for luncheon at the Bell Hotel, the president, the Ven. G. M. MacDermott, being in the chair, supported by the Rev. H. McMullan (Rector of St. Peter Mancroft) and Mr. Charles E. Borrett (vice-presidents), Mr. Arthur L. Coleman (general secretary and treasurer), Mr. William J. Lee (chairman of the East Norfolk Branch), Mr. William L. Duffield (chairman of the South Norfolk Branch), Mr. Herbert H. Heyhoe (chairman of the West Norfolk Branch), Mr. John G. W. Harwood (secretary of the East Norfolk Branch), Mr. Nolan Golden (secretary of the North and South Norfolk Branches), Messrs. Eric G. Bennett, George Bailey, Robert W. Cooke, William C. Duffield, John A. Godfrey and Arthur G. King (members of the committee), and representatives from Acle, Aylsham, Bergh Apton, Buxton, Caston, Dickleburgh, Diss, Fakenham, Garboldisham, Gressenhall, Halvergate, Happisburgh, Hethersett, Horsham St. Faith, Lowestoft, Northrepps, Palgrave, Paston, Pulham Market, Reedham, Redenhall, Rockland All Saints', Saxlingham, Shelfanger, Shropham, Snettisham, Swaffham, Wiveton, Wroxham, Wymondham and Yarmouth. The Suffolk Guild was represented by Messrs. E. G. Herbert (Sudbury) and E. F. Poppy (Stoke Ash).

Mr. A. L. Coleman presented the 59th annual report, which stated that the work of the association had been well maintained in all its branches. The balance sheet showed a balance of £7 5s. 6d., a decrease of £3 6s. 8d. on last year. Fifty-six new members had been elected, making the total membership 873. The rings at Scottow and Saham Toney had been restored. The Reserve Fund amounted to £150 12s.

Mr. B. S. Thompson, referring to the substantial reserve fund, suggested that some of it might be used in future to pay a part of the expenses of the members attending the Easter Monday festival at Norwich.

The secretary pointed out that the reserve fund had been drawn on for a number of purposes, and if members' expenses were paid, in three years' time there would be no reserve fund at all.

The question was referred to the Standing Committee.

The Archdeacon announced his resignation of the presidency, which he had held for nine years. He proposed that the Rev. H. McMullan, Vicar of St. Peter Mancroft, Norwich, be the new president.—Mr. Coleman, seconding, said that they all regretted that their old president had resigned, but Mr. McMullan would be a worthy successor.—Mr. McMullan was accordingly unanimously elected president.

Mr. W. C. Duffield paid a tribute to the amiability and tact of the Archdeacon.

The President said they accepted with very great regret the resignation of Mr. Arthur L. Coleman from the post of general secretary and treasurer. It had been the wish of the members to present him with a memento of his long years of service to the association.

The Archdeacon of Norwich then presented Mr. Coleman with a gold half-hunter watch, inscribed 'Presented by members of the Norwich Diocesan Association of Ringers to Arthur L. Coleman, Esq., General Secretary and Treasurer 1918-1937.'

Mr. Coleman, returning thanks, said it had been a work of love for him for nearly 20 years. After paying a warm tribute to the branch secretaries, Mr. Coleman said he had shared with the late

MR. ARTHUR L. COLEMAN.

FUNERAL OF MR. ALBERT COPPOCK.

RINGERS AND BRITISH LEGION REPRESENTED.

The funeral of the late Mr. Albert Coppock, Ringing Master at St. Mary's, Nottingham, and Master of the Sherwood Youths, who, as recorded in our last issue, passed away on Easter Sunday, after only a few days' illness, took place on Thursday of last week at Beeston Cemetery, Nottingham.

The news of his death came as a great shock to his many ringing friends and to the members of the Midland Counties Association who met in Nottingham on Easter Monday for their annual meeting. Mr. Coppock was a member of the M.C.A. for about 40 years and had rung 113 peals for the association. He was looking forward to the meeting and keenly anxious it should be a success.

His abilities as a ringer and conductor are well known throughout the Exercise. He conducted the first Surprise peal rung in the county of Nottingham. For 14 years he was a member of the band of St. John's, Beeston, during which period the band reached a very high standard.

In 1924 he took over the tower of St. Mary's, which at that time was in a very poor state. The tower was dark and dingy and there was only a 'stone' band. Under his guidance a wonderful change has taken place. There is a change ringing band in regular attendance for Sunday service ringing and the tower is second to none in the country. Mr. Coppock was a man of deeds, not words, and only those who knew the tower of St. Mary's before his tenure and after can realise the amount of work he accomplished for the church he loved so well. It is a great joy to his fellow-ringers that he lived to see the restoration of the bells and tower of St. Mary's.

The funeral service was conducted by the Vicar, the Right Rev. Bishop Neville S. Talbot, D.D., M.C., and in addition to the family mourners there were present Mr. W. A. Johnson and Dr. Blandy (churchwardens), St. Mary's ringers, Mr. W. E. White (hon. treasurer, Midland Counties Association), Miss I. B. Thompson (hon. secretary, Sherwood Youths and Ladies' Guild), Miss T. Collings (Ladies' Guild), Mr. H. R. Cobbin (Ringing Master, St. Peter's), Mr. F. S. Price (Ringing Master, Holy Trinity, Lenton), and many local ringers.

During the war Mr. Coppock served with the D.L.I. in France, Belgium and Germany. After the committal, Mr. J. Hobbs, of the British Legion, recited the soldiers' farewell; then a course of Grandsire Triples was rung on handbells by F. S. Price 1-2, E. O. Gobey 3-4, F. Gobey 5-6, H. R. Cobbin 7-8.

So was laid to rest a much loved and respected Ringing Master, who leaves behind him an example of thoroughness and duty well done.

In the evening a peal of Grandsire Triples was rung with the bells half-muffled by a band of local ringers. This was the first peal on the bells since their restoration in 1935.

At Beeston, after the funeral, Thurstans' quarter-peal of Stedman Triples, with the bells half-muffled, was rung by F. S. Price 1, H. Rogers 2, J. C. Dickens 3, A. B. Moss 4, M. Kirk 5, A. Lowe 6, P. Price (conductor) 7, A. Watton 8.

SECRETARY OF TWO ASSOCIATIONS.

Rev. E. W. Carpenter the distinction of holding the office of general secretary in two associations. He (Mr. Coleman) was one of the founders of the Warwickshire Guild in 1907 and also its first secretary. He had always been proud of the Norwich Diocesan Association, as he also was of their peal records, which contained many fine performances.

Mr. Coleman went on to say that during his term of office he had registered 956 members, and he expressed his gratitude and thanks to the leaders of companies and all members for their assistance and loyal support. He had spent many happy years in the interest of the association, and he would continue to help it all he could (applause). He had grown up with the association, and as a boy of 15 well remembered its foundation in 1877. His father was one of the founders, and his godfather, the Rev. George H. Harris, the first general secretary of the association.

The President informed Mr. Coleman that later he would receive an album with the names of the subscribers.

Mr. W. L. Duffield, remarking that they were sorry to lose an admirable servant like Mr. Coleman, proposed Mr. Nolan Golden as the new general secretary and treasurer.—Mr. Coleman seconded, and the motion was carried unanimously.

Mr. Golden thanked the members for the expressions of appreciation of his work in the past, and said he hoped he would maintain their confidence in him in the future.

The following new members were registered: The Misses Edith Dove and Gwendoline Walker, of Fakenham, Messrs. Charles A. Farrow and Ernest J. Bessey, of Happisburgh, Mr. Reginald Stone, of Aylsham, performing members, and the Rev. Christopher Chitty an honorary member.

Reference was made to the death of Mr. William Ireland, a foundation member of the association, and the company stood in silence as a mark of respect.

Mr. Golden applied for a grant for the Northrepps Bell Fund, and it was agreed to forward the sum of £2.

A vote of thanks to the incumbents for the use of the bells and to the Rev. C. H. Flack for his address terminated the business of the meeting.

WORCESTERSHIRE ASSOCIATION.

ANNUAL MEETING.

The Restoration of Ripple Tower.

The annual meeting of the Worcestershire and Districts Association was held, as usual, on Easter Monday at Worcester. Unfavourable week-end weather probably decided a number of members living at a distance not to make the journey, and numbers were a little below average. Despite this, however, there was keen discussion at the business meeting, especially with regard to a grant from the general fund towards tower repairs at Ripple.

The meeting was held in the College Hall, by kind permission of the headmaster of the King's School, and was presided over by the Dean of Worcester, the Very Rev. Arthur Davies, D.Litt., supported by Mr. William Short (Master), the Rev. G. W. Webb (vice-president), the Rev. J. F. Hastings, of Martley (clerical secretary), and Mr. J. D. Johnson (lay secretary). Also present were Messrs. R. Matthews (vice-president), J. R. Newman (vice-president), Charles Camm (Master of the Western Branch), S. T. Holt, C. W. Cooper (librarian) and a good number of members.

The Chairman extended a hearty welcome to the association.

The secretary read letters of thanks on behalf of Norton, Wordsley and Upton-on-Severn Churches, to each of which the sum of £5 had been granted for bell repairs.

Acknowledgments of donations of one guinea each to the William Eye and Dean Moore Ede Memorial Funds were also received, and the Chairman said that the latter fund now stood at about £800. It would be used to provide a memorial window in the cloisters opposite Dr. Ede's grave, and any residue would go to endow a choir scholarship.

Mr. S. T. Holt (Crowle) referred to the position with regard to the bells of St. Helen's, Worcester. He said that since last year's meeting there had been big developments, and the committee should keep an eye on what was going to happen at the church. It was proposed to unite the benefices of St. Helen's and St. Alban's with St. Andrew's and All Saints'. He had it on the authority of the Rector of All Saints' that it might mean the closing down of St. Helen's for services in the near future and probably the church would be removed to the suburbs. They must bear in mind the historic peal of bells at St. Helen's. The Rev. W. R. Buchanan-Dunlop had told him that he thought it would not be of much use to send a motion from that meeting, but added that he would notify them if the bells were likely to be removed from the tower. They would then be able to approach the authorities with regard to preserving the peal. There were also several peal boards in the belfry recording notable peals. These ought not to be lost. The set of handbells presented by the late Mr. Harvey Reeves would probably be removed to All Saints', where they would be in safe keeping. He (Mr. Holt) was keeping an eye on the position and would see that the committee had full knowledge of any decisions on the whole matter.

Mr. Holt also reported that he had conducted a peal of Erin Cinques at Kidderminster on March 6th, this being the annual peal for the association.

It was decided to hold the annual dinner again at Worcester on the last Saturday in September.

BELFRY REPAIR FUND.

Discussion followed on a recommendation of the committee to grant the sum of £2 from the general fund towards the restoration of the tower of St. Mary's, Ripple, this being a special case. It was explained that although the matter was not directly the affair of the association, indirectly it affected all ringers, as the bells, which were in perfect order, could not be rung unless certain repairs were made to the tower.

Mr. Charles Camm said that the estimated cost of the work was £704, and that it had already been begun. Meanwhile the bells were silent.

Mr. Robert Matthews asked why the money could not be granted out of the belfry repair fund, but it was pointed out that this fund was only available for work directly on bells. Mr. Matthews then proposed that the minute affecting the allocation of money from the repair fund be altered to include towers, although in opposition to this it was held that in the event of such an alteration calls would probably be made on the fund in cases where ringing was not at stake.

The Chairman, however, ruled Mr. Matthews' proposal out of order, as the rules provide that notices of motion to be brought up at the annual meeting must be given to the secretary at least one month before the meeting.

Mr. Newman explained that the belfry repair fund was formed solely for work on bells. This was a special case and should be treated as such. It was decided to pay the money out of the general fund, and provision was made that, if the composition of the minute governing the repair fund were altered to include tower repair, the money could be repaid from the repair fund to the general fund.

The advisability of consultation with regard to bell restorations was emphasised and the secretary drew attention to a paragraph in the annual report, which read: 'Activity in bell restoration continues. . . Unfortunately, one or two indifferent jobs have come to our notice, in each case the work having been completed without reference either to the Diocesan Advisory Board or to this association, the result being unsatisfactory from the ringers' point of view. We in this diocese are fortunate in being represented on the former body by a practical ringer. We have men appointed who are ready to give advice on all matters in connection with rings of bells, and we regret that more use is not made of their services. We earnestly appeal to all incumbents and parochial church councils having the care of peals of bells, and where restoration schemes are contemplated, to make full use of the practical advice which is available and so ensure that nothing but the best is done for our bells.'

The fifty-second annual report, after speaking of the part it was hoped ringers would play in the Coronation, the changes among the officers of the association and the success of last year's annual dinner, which was attended by 74 members, alluded to the substantial increase in the membership of the Western Branch this year of 19. This increase was, unfortunately, offset by a decrease in the other two branches. The statement of accounts showed a loss on the year's working of £3 2s. 10d., due, in the main, to small extras of a non-recurring type. 'This loss,' the report states, 'should be counter-balanced next year.' Income, together with a favourable balance in hand of £4 13s. 7d., was £66 17s. 7d., and expenditure was £65 6s. 10d., leaving a balance in hand of £1 10s. 9d.—The report and accounts were both considered very satisfactory and were adopted.

Mr. C. W. Cooper reported briefly on the library.

CHANGE IN CLERICAL SECRETARY.

The following were elected officers for 1937 and thanked for past services: President, the Very Rev. Arthur Davies; Master, Mr. William Short; lay secretary, Mr. J. D. Johnson; auditors, Messrs. S. T. Holt and E. E. Barber; treasurer, Mr. W. H. Johnson; the clerical and lay vice-presidents were elected, with the substitution of the Rev. J. F. Hastings (the retiring clerical secretary) for the Rev. G. W. Webb (who was taking up that post).

Mr. Short was congratulated on ringing his 900th peal. Mr. Sid Holt said, 'It is a big thing to do; more than any other member of the association has done.' He went on to say that not all the peals had been rung for their association, but a number of them had been notable and others had helped younger ringers through their first peal. All would join in wishing Mr. Short good health to accomplish the feat of ringing a thousand peals (applause). The number who had rung a thousand was a very small and select company—not more than a dozen in the country (applause).

Mr. J. S. Mason (Northern Branch secretary) called attention to Mr. Short's commencement of his 50th year of membership of the association, and said this was a record of service equalled by few.

With regard to the election of a clerical secretary, the Rev. J. F. Hastings said he had held the post for 25 years, but circumstances had arisen which prevented him from continuing. He proposed as his successor the Rev. G. W. Webb, and this was agreed.

Appreciation of the services rendered to the association by Mr. Hastings was voiced by Mr. J. R. Newman. He said that in his early days Mr. Hastings had been an active ringer. In Martley he was always trying to encourage young ringers, and in this had been successful with many of them. He proposed that the highest thanks of the meeting be given to Mr. Hastings.

Seconding, Mr. Short said they were all sorry to lose Mr. Hastings, but he thought they had a good man in his place.

On the proposition of Mr. Holt, it was agreed to add Mr. Hastings' name to the list of freemen of the association, and this decision was applauded.

Mr. Hastings, acknowledging the compliment, said he had had ringing in his heart all his life and had never spent a happier time than when ringing. He learned to ring at Areley Kings Church by getting up on Sunday morning to ring the 'eight o'clock' bell. He was very proud when he got the fifth bell up—it weighed about 6 cwt. When he went to Oxford he got under Washbrook, Robinson and other famous men, and used to go about with them on 'ringing weeks.'

One life member and three performing members were elected.

After discussion it was agreed that the annual peal be attempted on the Worcester Cathedral bells, and Mr. Sid Holt was asked to conduct.

The meeting closed with a vote of thanks to the Dean and Chapter, to the headmaster of the King's School, and to the incumbents of the various churches for the use of the bells during the day.

Following the meeting, the members attended service in the Cathedral, at which the special preacher was the Rev. J. F. Hastings. He took as his text St. Paul's words, 'Whatsoever ye do, do it heartily.' St. Paul, he said, might be regarded as a saint peculiarly connected with our own land. There was a tradition that he had visited it and our greatest cathedral was named after him. The largest bell in the land was known as Great Paul. St. Paul's Christianity was keen and practical, and ringers would do well to imitate him in their work. It was God's work and ought to be well done. Theory was necessary to their art, but it was useless without a great deal of practice and enthusiasm. The preacher concluded by telling a story of the patience and enthusiasm of a schoolmaster in North Germany. A new bell was needed for the church and he carefully tended a blade of corn and sowed the increase until he was the owner of such a large crop that he was able to sell it and buy the bell—a fine lesson of perseverance.

During the service a collection was taken for the repair fund of Ripple, and the Dean closed with special prayers and Benediction.

The annual meeting is inseparable from actual ringing, and bells were going in the city until quite late. Besides the fine peal of 12 at the Cathedral, which was only available for a short time, the bells of All Saints' (10), St. John's (8), St. Swithun's (6) and St. Nicholas' (6) were used to good effect.

DEATH OF MR. J. J. JONES.AN OLD WINCHESTER DIOCESAN GUILD OFFICIAL.

The death occurred on Saturday at his home in Guildford of Mr. John J. Jones, who formerly was one of the most energetic officers in the old Winchester Diocesan Guild. Mr. Jones was about 79 years of age and had been in failing health for some time, but it was a pathetic coincidence that his wife predeceased him by only a few hours.

Mr. Jones went to Guildford as a young man in the printing trade, and later set up for himself, combining with printing a newsagent's business and later adding a wholesale side to his concern.

His interest in ringing began in the early eighties of last century. He learnt to handle a rope at St. Nicolas' Church, Guildford, where he was a worshipper, and all his ringing life was associated with that tower. He rang his first peal on the old eight there on May 27th, 1889, which Mr. George Williams conducted. Altogether he had rung about 130 peals in twelve methods, but it is many years now since he took part in such a performance.

His work for the Winchester Diocesan Guild made a lasting mark in the area of which Guildford is the centre. When the Guild was split into districts about the year 1895 Mr. Jones became secretary of the Guild-ford District, which then covered an area from Haslemere to Leatherhead, and he threw himself wholeheartedly into the task, encouraging towers to join and doing excellent propaganda work among both clergy and ringers.

He continued in office until February, 1921, when he resigned and in recognition of his valuable work he was made an honorary life member of the Guild. In 1919, on the occasion of his marriage, the members of the Guildford District presented him with a handsome coffee service.

After his resignation as district secretary, Mr. Jones was less seen in the belfry, but he followed the affairs of the Guild with interest, and on the division of the diocese a few years later was one of those who successfully championed the scheme for the formation of the Guildford Diocesan Guild, and his advice and help in this matter was of great value. He became a life member of the new Guild.

Mr. Jones was a member of other associations, among them the Royal Cumberland Youths and the Sussex Association.

DEATH OF MR. WILLIAM IRELAND.A FOUNDATION MEMBER OF THE NORWICH DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION.

One of the few remaining original members of the Norwich Diocesan Association was laid to rest on Tuesday, March 30th, in Diss Cemetery.

William Ireland would have been 85 years of age on May 6th. He had been a ringer at Diss for over 60 years, and had taken part in 103 peals, five of which were rung on handbells. His first peal for the association was at Diss on December 17th, 1877, a 7,040 of Oxford Treble Bob, conducted by James Rudd, while 'Paddy' himself, besides conducting a number of peals of the usual length, called Reeves' 7,296 of Treble Bob Major (Kent Variation) at Debenham on June 26th, 1880, and Sottanstell's 10,272 at the same tower in the same method four months later (October 16th).

On May 12th, 1883, William Ireland set out to call Day's 16,608 of Treble Bob, at Debenham, but one of the band became ill and so the bells were brought round at the first part to give a peal of 5,568 changes. A septuagenarians' peal was rung at Pulham Market on October 28th, 1922, and Diss was represented by both William Ireland and the late John Souther, who rang the tenor and conducted the peal. It is interesting to note that Mr. R. H. Brundle took part in all the above mentioned peals except the one at Diss in 1877. For many years 'Paddy' had been the secretary of the Diss District, resigning in 1929 when the association was reorganised into its present four branches.

The funeral took place at Diss on Tuesday afternoon, March 30th. Four brother ringers—Messrs. George Archer, Albert G. Harrison, Clement J. More and William Steggall—acted as bearers. A wreath inscribed 'In remembrance of our oldest member and former secretary of St. Mary's Church, Diss,' was among the floral tributes, and a course of Grandfire Triples was rung over the grave on the deceased's own handbells.

Other ringers present included Messrs. Eric G. Bennett (Garboldisham), Herbert G. Fulcher (Starston), Nolan Golden (Norwich, general secretary and treasurer), George Mayers (Norwich), Ernest F. Poppy (Stoke Ash), Frederick J. Roope (Pulham Market) and Mr. Frederick C. Roper (Shelfanger).

A well-struck half-muffled peal of Double Norwich Court Bob Major was rung later in the afternoon as a token of respect, and is recorded in the appropriate columns.

DON'T SCRUB YOUR HANDS!

skin this simple way*

To many people, the problem of getting the hands really clean without harming the skin is a serious one. Grease and grime, which become deeply ingrained into the pores of the skin, are extremely difficult to remove, and ordinary washing with soap or even scrubbing will fail to remove them completely. Housewives, particularly, who complain that their hands get ruined by the nature of their work, will find the preparation called DERMAFOAM, a real "godsend." DERMAFOAM just smooths away dirt and grease without effort. It gets right down into the pores and removes every particle of grime, leaving skin beautifully supple and healthy.

Men, too—when you've finished that dirty job on the car, DERMAFOAM will quickly banish all grease and oil from your hands. It acts almost magically—working under and around the nails and into every minute crease, removing all trace of dirt in a flash.

Engineers, Painters, Car Mechanics, Printers—everyone—will welcome DERMAFOAM, the modern method of cleansing and protecting the hands.

ARCHITECTS & BELL RESTORATIONS

Thetford, in Norfolk, wanted its church bells restored and made ready for ringing at the Coronation. The people knew what they wanted, apparently they were prepared to put up the money, but the Bishop's Advisory Committee, backed by the opinion of Mr. William Weir, the architect, successfully appealed to the Chancellor of the Diocese to curtail the plans that had been contemplated. The bells are not to be cut about, the cannons are not to be removed and the old headstocks are to be retained. And Thetford will not have its bells for the Coronation. It will be small comfort that the Chancellor of the Diocese says he is prepared to take the blame for it.

The representative of the Bishop's Advisory Committee had to admit that in Thetford the committee's intervention was regarded as 'unnecessary fuss by a body of faddists,' and, in a letter to the Chancellor, one of the churchwardens wrote that 'the damage already caused to the religious work of the church is such that it will not recover for a generation.' Obviously Thetford deeply feels the snub that the interference of the Advisory Committee has given it, and well it may do so. It doesn't, for instance, help the 'recall to religion' when, in their enthusiasm to improve the possessions of their church, the parishioners find themselves thwarted by the whims of a few outside antiquarians. We can understand resentment at interference of this kind, and especially when the delay involved will also affect the display of loyalty which the people were anxious to give—even if the Chancellor does personally take the blame because, as he said, 'applications to do things in a hurry in order to be in time for particular seasons or occasions harden my heart and make me very suspicious and slow.'

The root trouble with applications for faculties for bell restorations is the prejudice of antiquarians. There are many cases throughout the country where bell restorations have been absolutely spoiled—except as examples of antiquarian preservation—by the imposition, through the Diocesan Advisory Committees, of the will of an architect who in these undertakings is influenced by the desire to preserve ancient things which have outlived their usefulness. When it is a case of saving some old building from collapse these efforts may be praiseworthy enough, but in the case of bells it is a totally different matter. Bells have to be rung by man-power, and if they are to be properly rung, with precision and dignity, they demand modern treatment. It is a pity that ecclesiastical architects are not also bell ringers. If they were, we feel sure that many of the 'botched up' jobs which churches are compelled to be content with, would never be recommended. Some day, perhaps, diocesan architects may have a little more sympathy with those who have to ring the bells, but while antiquarians dominate the Advisory Committees and Chancellors 'harden their hearts and become suspicious' before they have heard the cases, there is little hope either that the public will be given the most musical bells, or ringers receive the consideration they deserve.

SHROPSHIRE ASSOCIATION.

Shropshire's heaviest ring of six, tenor 25 cwt., at Olive, cast by Taylor and Co. in 1894, were heard in some good Minor ringing when members attended the meeting of the Shropshire Association. In addition to Doubles, Oxford, Kent, Cambridge, London, Double Court and Plain Bob Minor were rung.

At the service the Vicar (the Rev. C. Legard) welcomed the ringers in an appropriate address.

No business was transacted, as the extra meetings this year allow for business on alternate dates only.

KING'S BROMLEY, NR. BURTON-ON-TRENT.—On Tuesday, May 4th, at 7.30 p.m., the bells will be re-dedicated by the Bishop of Stafford; ring of 6 bells recast and rehung by John Taylor and Co.

LLANDAFF AND MONMOUTH DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION. PROPOSAL TO FORM BRANCHES.

The annual meeting of the Llandaff and Monmouth Diocesan Association on Easter Monday at Llandaff was splendidly attended by members from both the dioceses. The bells were available in the afternoon and were made full use of until the service at 4 o'clock. The Dean gave the address, which dealt mostly with the origin and use of church towers and bells and was most interesting. At the conclusion of his address he cordially welcomed the ringers to Llandaff and desired that all should take tea with him in the Prebendal House.

The Dean and his wife had very generously provided the meal and it was with difficulty that all were able to get sitting room.

The business meeting followed, the Dean taking the chair. Restoration and augmentation reports were received and also instructors' reports.

The sum of £3 was voted to the Llanfrehfa augmentation of two trebles, which have been installed.

It was decided to hold the next Monmouthshire quarterly meeting at Llanfrehfa and the Glamorganshire meeting at Penarth.

The next annual meeting will be held at St. Woolos', Newport.

The Rev. Ivor Richards was elected Master for the ensuing year. The hon. secretary and hon. auditors were re-elected and a large number of new members were elected.

Notice of motion was given that at the next annual meeting a proposition will be made to divide the association into two branches.

A hearty vote of thanks, which was received with great acclamation, was accorded the Dean, special mention being made of the fact that he most readily agreed to have the meeting at Llandaff. It had previously been arranged to hold the meeting at Cardiff, but owing to tower repairs the bells were not available. It was, therefore, considered best not to visit Cardiff. The Dean was thanked for the use of the bells, for his address and for the hospitality extended by himself and his wife.

The Dean, in reply, said that it was always a pleasure to them both to do whatever they could for the ringers, who, he considered, were doing such useful church work.

The meeting was a huge success.

PASSING OF A VETERAN CO. DURHAM RINGER.

The Chester-le-Street Guild have lost a faithful member by the passing of Mr. William Brown at the age of 75 years. He joined the Durham and Newcastle Diocesan Association in 1884 and has been a regular ringer at Chester-le-Street for the past 55 years.

The bells were rung half-muffled before and after the funeral service on March 31st by his fellow-ringers as a token of respect.

SUSSEX COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

SOUTHERN DIVISION ANNUAL MEETING.

On Saturday, April 10th, the annual meeting of the Southern Division of the Sussex County Association was held at Southover, Lewes, 35 members and friends being present from Brighton (St. Peter's, St. Nicholas' and the Good Shepherd), Henfield, Rotherfield, Lamberhurst, Chiddingfold, Lindfield, Shoreham, Hurstpierpoint, Burgess Hill, Eastbourne, Hastings, Uckfield and members of the local tower.

The Rector (the Rev. D. G. Matthews) presided at the business meeting, and officers for the year were elected as follows: Hon. divisional secretary, Mr. S. E. Armstrong; committee, Messrs. J. Dearlove, G. P. Elphick and K. Hart; Committee of Advice, Messrs. Dearlove, Page and Elphick.

One new life member was elected, Mr. E. H. Preston, temporarily resident at Seaford.

The Master, Mr. H. R. Butcher, proposed a vote of thanks to the Rector for the use of the bells, for the service and for presiding at the meeting.

Ringling ranged from rounds on the ten bells to Stedman Caters and Cambridge and Superlative Surprise, and the tower was made good use of from 2.30 to 9 p.m.

RINGER'S WEDDING AT STEPNEY.

The Archdeacon of Middlesex (Rev. Hon. S. H. Phillimore), assisted by the Rev. R. French, M.A., M.C., Rector of Stepney, officiated at the wedding of Mr. George Fox to Miss Margaret Stracey on Saturday, April 3rd, at Stepney Parish Church.

The bridegroom is well known in the district, not only as a ringer, but as a churchwarden and sacristan. The bride has been closely connected with the work of the church, being a Sunday School teacher, secretary of the Social Club and holding other offices connected with parochial organisations. The best man was Mr. H. Thompson, the secretary of the Guild of Stepney Scholars.

The local company rang the bells in honour of the event, which was favoured with glorious sunshine. It was a scarlet and white wedding, the five bridesmaids being dressed in red velvet, and, judging by the crowded church, the most popular wedding there for a long time.

The reception was held at Red Coat Hall. After the ceremony fellow-members of the London County Association successfully accomplished a peal of Kent Treble Bob Royal, the ringers later attending the reception for refreshment and to express their congratulations. The bridal couple left for an unknown destination for their honeymoon.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

Secretaries and others who have not yet returned the forms seeking biographical information of former members of the Central Council are requested to do so as early as possible to the Convener of the Biographies Committee, J. S. Goldsmith, Southover Cottage, Pyrford, Surrey.

Listeners on Sunday evening heard the bells of St. Martin's-in-the-Fields rung for the broadcast service. It was in great contrast to the travesty the public had for years been used to from this church. The ringing was well done, but there would seem to be some adjustment of the position of the microphone necessary before the bells are heard to full advantage.

The ring of six at Beenham, near Reading, is being rehung in a new metal frame by Messrs. Gillett and Johnston, and the bells will be rung for the first time on Coronation morning.

A ringer's wife, looking through the pages of 'The Ringing World'—as we are glad to know ringers' wives sometimes do—came upon an advertisement for Peal Tablets. 'What are these tablets?' she asked her husband. 'Do you take them before you start a peal?'

A peal of Bob Major was rung at Husborne Crawley on Saturday as a 60th birthday compliment to Mr. Ernest Herbert, vice-president of the Bedfordshire Association. It is interesting to recall that a peal of Bob Major was also rung to celebrate the 60th birthday of his father, the late Mr. Charles Herbert.

At the quarterly meeting of St. Martin's Guild for the Diocese of Birmingham at Aston, the late Mr. Tom Russam's peal of 12 handbells was presented to Aston tower, and a framed photograph of Henry Johnson, presented by Mr. J. F. Smallwood, now of Bath, to St. Martin's tower. A report of the proceedings will appear in our next issue.

Until last Sunday, the bells of Walgrave, Northants, had not been rung since the Relief of Mafeking—37 years ago! They have now been tuned and restored by Messrs. Gillett and Johnston and were dedicated by the Bishop of Peterborough on Sunday afternoon.

It is forty years this month since the first 'silent' peal of Surprise Minor in seven methods was rung at Bucknall, Staffordshire, and the only two surviving members of the band are the brothers J. E. and W. Wheeldon, who are the present leaders at the towers of Norton and Bucknall respectively.

The bells of St. Mary's Church, Shrewsbury, have recently been fitted with new ropes, the belfry has been renovated, and, although the amount of ringing is strictly limited, the bells were twice rung on Easter Sunday by St. Chad's band, and more recently for an important wedding.

We regret that pressure on our space makes it necessary to hold over numerous reports to future issues.

ACCIDENT TO MR. RUPERT RICHARDSON.

FALL IN A LONDON STREET.

Mr. Rupert Richardson, Master of the Lincoln Diocesan Guild, met with an unfortunate and painful accident in London on Thursday last week. He, with Mrs. Richardson and their daughter Enid, had come to London on a day's visit, combining business and pleasure.

Mr. Richardson had visited Covent Garden Market in the afternoon and transacted other business, and was, later, on his way to meet his wife and daughter, who had been shopping in the West End, when, in stepping on to a pavement, he fell and, putting out his hand to save himself, fractured his wrist.

He spent the rest of the evening at Charing Cross Hospital (instead of at the theatre as he intended) and the fracture was set under an anæsthetic. Later he was allowed to go home and travelled by the midnight train from King's Cross.

Mr. Richardson's hosts of friends will wish him a speedy recovery.

ELY DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION.

PROPOSED MEMORIAL TO THE LATE REV. B. H. TYRWHITT-DRAKE.

A goodly number of members and friends journeyed to St. Neots on Easter Monday for the annual general meeting of the Ely Diocesan Association.

Service was conducted by the Vicar, the Rev. W. Knights, who kindly presided at the business meeting. Miss K. Willers and Mr. T. R. Dennis were re-elected general secretary and auditor respectively. The committee were re-elected en bloc.

The 1938 meeting is to be held at Over and a summer festival during the coming June or July, if the Bishop of Ely has a free afternoon to address the association.

It was decided to have 500 service papers printed, subject to the Bishop's approval of the revised form.

A grant of £2 2s. each was voted to Winwick and Horston Restoration Funds.

Opinion was divided on the question of certificates, and finally the matter was left in the hands of the committee.

Members were unanimous in their desire to erect a memorial to the late Rev. B. H. Tyrwhitt-Drake.

Gamlingay is to be transferred to the Huntington Branch from the Ely Branch.

The meeting closed with a hearty vote of thanks to the Rev. W. Knights for taking the service, for presiding and for allowing the bells to be rung; to the organist and to the incumbents of All Saints', Huntingdon, Eynesbury and Eaton Socon.

THETFORD BELL RESTORATION.

BISHOP'S ADVISORY COMMITTEE INTERVENE.

An interesting case, in which a Bishop's Advisory Committee intervened to prevent a bell restoration being carried out on the lines desired by the local church authorities, came before the Chancellor of the Diocese of Norwich (Mr. F. K. North) at the Consistory Court on Saturday week. It concerned the bells of St. Peter's Church, Thetford. The Rector and churchwardens had applied for a faculty giving them permission to take down the bells, recondition, tune and restore them. The application had been adjourned from a previous Court.

On behalf of the Advisory Committee, Mr. H. R. Nevill said he had been to the church, and the committee's intervention was regarded, as usual, as unnecessary fuss by a body of faddists. He had the advice of Mr. William Weir, one of the greatest living authorities on the hanging of bells. Mr. Weir made a detailed inspection of the bells and had said that their condition had been greatly exaggerated. He (Mr. Nevill) and Mr. Weir found that neither the Rector nor the churchwarden who was conducting the business had been in the belfry. Mr. Weir spent 40 minutes examining the bells and found their frame was good but loose. It wanted stressing laterally and vertically.

The peal was put up by Lord Rivers in 1790, when the ancient bells were recast and made into a peal of eight, Mr. Nevill stated. The peal was rehung about 1870. Mr. Weir found that the wear and tear on the bells had not been great. The proposal to quarter-turn them was not necessary, but it was unobjectionable.

COMMITTEE'S OBJECTIONS.

What Mr. Weir and the committee did object to very strongly was a proposal by the firm the Rector and churchwardens had employed to cut off the cannons of the bells and substitute their patent iron headstocks. This would weaken the crowns of the bells. As it was, the elm headstocks put on them in 1870 were in very good condition. They were of seasoned elm and should not be destroyed. Mr. Weir said it would be troublesome, but not impossible, to ring the bells in their present condition, the reason for the difficulty being that the bearings were worn. Mr. Weir suggested that if the Rector and churchwardens wanted any work to be done they should put in modern ball bearings, which would cost £180, as compared with the £300 in the present estimates. The firm had put in an alternative proposal which would retain the wooden headstocks, and the Advisory Committee said if they did that there would be no objection to anything else they did to the bells. They could do anything so long as they did not cut the bells about. That was a highly dangerous and objectionable practice. He could point to one peal that had been ruined by that treatment.

The Chancellor: Where is that?

Mr. Nevill: It is at Scarning. They cannot ring the bells at all now.

The Chancellor said he had had a letter from Mr. T. E. Rudling, one of the churchwardens.

Scanning the letter, he said: 'I am sorry to read this—"The damage already caused to the religious work of the church is such that it will not recover in a generation." I am very sorry for that, though I don't quite follow why it should be. The cutting off of the cannons of the bells seems to me to be a piece of vandalism to be avoided if possible. The fact that it is unnecessary is enough to condemn it as far as I am concerned.'

Mr. Nevill: The reason for the trouble was that they wanted to have the work done in a hurry, and to have the bells ringing for the Coronation. They have given out that the Advisory Committee stepped in and prevented it. As a matter of fact, the committee did nothing of the kind, because the work advised by Mr. Weir is adequate and could have been done in half the time. It might have been done by now.

The Chancellor: At the last Court I said applications to do things in a hurry in order to be in time for particular seasons or occasions harden my heart and make me very suspicious and very slow. If there is any blame to be taken for these bells not being ready to be rung for the Coronation, I am quite ready to take it.

Mr. Nevill: If they had applied to the Advisory Committee first, instead of getting estimates from a firm, as is so frequently done, there would have been no trouble at all.

The Chancellor issued a faculty for the work to be done, subject to the retention of the wooden headstocks on the bells. He said he thought Mr. Weir should superintend the work, and he reserved to the Advisory Committee leave to apply to him again if any difficulty arose. 'I am sorry,' he added, 'that the bells won't be ready for the Coronation, and I am willing to take the blame.'

VICAR PROTESTS AT DELAY.

An interesting commentary on the delays which occur in regard to the granting of faculties occurred at the same Court.

The Registrar (Mr. C. B. Bolingbroke) said: The Vicar of Docking (the Rev. F. G. Ward) had written him an extraordinary letter, in which he said: 'As it is five months since I applied for a faculty for a tablet to be erected by Mrs. P. Have and the citation has been on the church door for four months, I am giving her leave to proceed, as I can get no further by application. You may recall that this is the third letter I have written about this, and two descriptions sent. I am no nearer getting word from you. I have also applied for a faculty for electric light, and as I must have this in time for the Coronation, which I explained in my communication three months ago, I intend to go forward with the matter at once.'

The Chancellor: I will degree the faculty for the tablet, and as for the letter, you had better send it to the Bishop.

SUFFOLK GUILD.

NEW SECRETARY APPOINTED.

A well-attended meeting of ringers was held on Saturday, April 3rd. As the bells of All Saints' are not yet back from the founders, only the towers of St. Peter's and St. Gregory's were available. Ringing began at 2.30, and there was a service in St. Gregory's at 4.30, at which the body of the church was filled. A sermon was preached by the Rev. Canon Round-Turner, Rector of Bealings, which was appreciated by every one of his hearers. He gave instances of the way in which people had been influenced for good by the sound of church bells, and mentioned cases that he had known of people being brought back to the practice of their religion. He spoke of the way in which he had been taught to ring, the importance of details being impressed on him, and most of all that of 'good striking.' He then showed how these lessons applied to our daily life and to our practice of religion.

A large company sat down to tea in the Parish Hall, after which the business meeting was held, with the Bishop of Dunwich in the chair.

The report showed a balance of £25, and spoke of good progress both with new ringers and with new rings of bells.

The Rev. J. F. Hughes proposed the re-election of the Rev. H. Drake as secretary, but Mr. Drake said that he had quite made up his mind to resign. He had been secretary during the 15 years that the Guild had existed, and had watched it grow until it was in the front rank, with about a thousand members and ringing about a hundred peals a year. He had now entered on his 70th year, and it was only fair that he should give way to someone younger. Then, if he be spared for a few more years, he could watch the Guild being safely guided by someone else in its future destinies.

After some discussion, Mr. Harold Herbert, of Sudbury, was elected as secretary.

To fill the two vacancies on the committee, the Rev. H. Drake and Mr. David Elliott were chosen.

The ring at Horham was then discussed. These bells have long been very dilapidated. They are believed to be the oldest in the country to have been cast as now existing, and probably the first ring of an octave to be made, dating as they do from the 17th century. They are also the lightest, the tenor being only 7 cwt. A collection amounting to £2 8s. 3d. was made for these bells.

It was decided to hold the next meeting at Sproughton and a later one at Assington.

NORTH NOTTS ASSOCIATION.

SUGGESTED FORMATION OF DISTRICTS.

The annual meeting of the North Notts Association was held, as usual, at Retford on Saturday, April 10th. The weather was not too good, but this did not prevent 40 ringers from being present. East Retford bells (10, tenor 24 cwt.), West Retford (6, tenor 9 cwt.) and Ordsall (6, tenor 7½ cwt.) were all open for ringing. At the first-named tower various Triples to Royal methods were rung in the afternoon and evening, but only a little ringing took place at Ordsall and that before tea, while West Retford bells did not really get going until after tea, when the tower was almost crowded out. The striking was fairly good; as good, at any rate, as can be expected from mixed companies.

The service was held in East Retford Church, the Rev. Redmund officiating. Mr. H. Blagg played the organ, and the Rev. A. J. Linsell, of West Retford, gave the address. He stressed the point that ringers should be the first to hear the message of the bells. There would then, he said, be more conviction behind that message as it went out over the countryside to other people.

Tea followed in the Ebsworth Hall, the Rev. Redmund welcoming the association to East Retford.

At the business meeting which followed, the election of officers and adoption of the report and balance sheet were carried through.

The question of the division of the association into a Retford and a Newark District was discussed, but no conclusions were reached. The subject will be brought forward again at the next meeting in the Newark area.

It was decided that a memorial to the late secretary, Mr. R. W. Stockdale, consisting of a bronze tablet, should be erected in the nave of Ordsall Church.

The committee's recommendation that Blyth or Harthill should be the tower for the next Crawford Cup contest did not meet with the approval of the members, and it was resolved to visit Sutton-on-Trent, as it was the turn of that tower, which is easily accessible.

With regard to Coronation Day ringing, the secretary (Mr. Roy Towler) asked the captain of every tower to make early arrangements for their bells to be rung some time during the day. If they found this impossible, owing to lack of numbers, they were to write to the secretary, who would try to get outside ringers to assist.

Mr. H. Stenton informed the meeting of the loss of a good ringer by the death of Mr. S. Smith, of Anston, who died on Easter Day. He had been a ringer for many years and was for some time on the committee of the association.

Votes of thanks were passed to all who made arrangements for the day. Some ringers afterwards rang their first touch of Royal, others tried the more intricate Minor methods, at East and West Retford respectively. The lowering in peal of the bells at both towers at 8.30 brought an enjoyable day to a close.

KENT COUNTY ASSOCIATION,

OVER 1,000 PRACTISING MEMBERS.

Revised Rules Adopted.

More than 250 ringers and friends assembled at Ashford on Easter Monday for the annual meeting of the Kent County Association. The attendance was a record, except for the jubilee meeting at Canterbury. After ringing during the morning, service was held in the Parish Church at noon, the Vicar (the Rev. Ronald Sinclair) officiating. At the opening of the service he welcomed the association, and the Archdeacon of Maidstone (the Ven. T. K. Sopwith), in his address, said how deeply and constantly he appreciated the work ringers were doing for the glory and honour of the Church.

'I have many opportunities of appreciating that work,' he said, 'as on most Sundays in the year I travel through that part of Kent in which I exercise whatever jurisdiction an Archdeacon may have and I find bells ringing in the Romney Marsh, the Weald, or in the beautiful village churches around Maidstone, and I hear the bells of the great churches of Ashford and Maidstone to speed me on my way.'

'I rejoice to see you gathered here, my brothers. I say brothers advisedly, because whatever you may think about clergy—and people express their opinions rather freely—you and we are united in the yeoman task of calling people of the country and this county to God and the worship in His house.'

'Do regard your work as a real vocation and real calling,' continued the Archdeacon. 'You make a great contribution to English life and one I hope will never be broken, but you do something more—you are doing a work which God has given you to do.'

Mr. E. H. Lewis, vice-president of the association and president of the Central Council, presided at the luncheon and business meeting that followed. He was supported by the Archdeacon of Maidstone, the Rev. R. Sinclair, and the principal officers of the association.

Mr. F. White proposed the toast of 'The Archbishop and Clergy,' and said the Archdeacon's address had praised them for the past and given encouragement for the future. He also thanked the Vicar of Ashford for the fine service and the use of the rooms, and the organist, Mr. P. Steinitz.

The Archdeacon replied, and, on his suggestion, a message was taken by him to Canon Helmore, who was formerly secretary of the association for 38 years.

HIGHEST MEMBERSHIP FOR FIFTEEN YEARS.

In the annual report, presented by the hon. secretary, regret was expressed at the death of the second hon. secretary of the association (the Rev. E. W. Carpenter). He took over the secretaryship when the Rev. R. Knatchbull Hugessen resigned in 1889, and it was during his term of office that the county was divided into five districts. He resigned in 1891 and was succeeded by the Rev. F. J. O. Helmore.

The report went on to record that the association had over one thousand practising members last year—the first time for 15 years. 'Having obtained these additional members,' continued the report, 'we must all do our best to keep them interested in the art of change ringing and association affairs, and thus, perhaps, be the means of filling the gaps that must necessarily occur as time goes on.'

There were 120 towers in union, an increase of four over the previous year. There were now affiliated to the association one 12-bell tower, five 10-bell, 63 eight-bell, 46 six-bell and five five-bell towers. The life members totalled 32, hon. members 73, adult practising members 960, juniors 98, making a total of 1,053. Ten non-residents have been added to the membership and the total now exceeds 1,500.

An appeal was made to all bands to proclaim the message of the forthcoming Coronation in a fit and proper manner and to see that the ringing is fitting for the occasion. 'Recently,' said the report, 'we have heard caustic remarks concerning the "striking" of bells; let us see it to it that our bells are well struck and the ringing worthy of such an association as ours.'

Thanks were expressed to incumbents at the 31 places where district quarterly or by-meetings had been held and to those who on various occasions had extended hospitality to the members. Thanks were also extended to the members of the committee who had retired.

The peals rung numbered 128, which was 27 less than in the preceding year. The 124 tower-bell peals were rung in 79 towers; 39 members rang their first peal and 137 their first in a method. Nine conducted their first peal and six their first in a method.

In analysing the peals rung, the report said that the Surprise peals were 16 less than in 1935. The association could not boast of any advancement in the quality of the methods rung, but it was hoped that what had been lost in peals had been made up for in extra ringing and good ringing for Sunday services.

SUBSTANTIAL FUNDS.

The general account showed a reduced balance, and stood at £28 14s. 5d. The Benevolent Fund had an increased balance and stood at £268 5s. 1d. Six appeals for help were received and grants were made to the extent of £24. The fund had been helped to the extent of £13 9s. 4d. as a result of collections at meetings.

From the Belfry Repair Fund six guineas had been paid and the balance in hand had increased to £128 5s. 9d. The total funds from all sources was £971 18s. 5d., an increase over last year of £5 4s. 2d.

In moving the adoption of the report, the Chairman referred to the record gathering (excluding the jubilee meeting), and said it showed continued interest in the association. They had reached a thousand members, but they had 1,450 bells to ring, so were still a good deal short of what they should be. There were 216 towers and only 120 in union with the association.

'I do not think we should be satisfied,' he said, 'A little of the energy of the last two years put into the question of rules should be put into missionary work so that we can get 100 per cent. of the towers in union and membership up to the number of bells there are to ring.'

The report and accounts were adopted.

In moving the adoption of the revised rules, the hon. secretary said he hoped that the work of the committee, that had been appointed to consider the various amendments, would be approved. Each district had been represented on the committee and he considered they had done their work well, and their recommendation was unanimous.

Mr. H. Hoskins seconded the adoption.

A lively discussion followed, particularly on the provisions affecting the election of representatives to the committee. The proposed revision included the clause: 'That the district secretaries and two representatives from each district . . . be elected at the annual district meeting . . . or districts may, if so desired, elect them by tower representation.'

Mr. E. Barnett (Crayford) asked what exactly was meant by 'tower representation.'

Mr. A. J. Battin (Tunbridge Wells, St. Peter's): It means the goodwill of the ringers (cheers).

Mr. Barnett said unless they maintained the right to exercise an individual vote they were losing a great English privilege. 'We must guard against a dictatorship,' he said, 'and I propose that the clause be ruthlessly struck out.'

Other speakers pointed out that the proposed revisions had been fully considered by the committee, and it was unfair to question the votes of elected representatives.

Put to the vote Mr. Barnett's proposal was defeated, only four voting in favour, and the revised rules were adopted.

All the officers were unanimously re-elected, which showed that the members were satisfied with the management of their affairs.

In moving the re-election of the hon. secretary, the Chairman said he had opportunities of seeing the work that was done behind the scenes, and he was pleased to say the secretary had been provided with a typewriter, which was a great asset to the association. He felt sure they could not have a better man than Mr. Mitchell.

In returning thanks, Mr. Mitchell congratulated the members on their co-operation in that day's arrangements. He had asked for all applications for tickets to be made by the last post on Wednesday, and the members had excelled themselves, as all had applied at the stated time, which was quite unusual for ringers. He thanked the district secretaries for their work during the year, as without their valued help his duty would be far more difficult.

ENGLAND'S OLDEST BELLRINGER.

The Chairman read a letter from the Rev. Page, Vicar of Aldington, who apologised for the absence of Mr. C. Slingsby, who would be 100 years old in May. He had hoped to bring him along, but he was now recovering from an attack of influenza. He would welcome all ringers to a meeting on the last Saturday in May, at Aldington, to celebrate Mr. Slingsby's 100th birthday.

A collection for this 'grand old man' was made to enable him to take a little extra nourishment, which realised £2 0s. 6d., and was taken to him the same afternoon.

Thanks were voiced to the Vicar and Archdeacon and the clergy of various parishes where church towers had been opened for the ringers. The collection for the Benevolent Fund was £3 1s. 9d.

FOR BEGINNERS.

USEFUL HINTS IN CALLING STEDMAN CATERERS.

Last week we showed that the calling of the 'ordinary' courses of Stedman Caterers is a fairly simple matter, because the bobs usually occur at 5 and 16, with occasional bobs at 4 (to move the 5th's place bell) and, very rarely, at 15 (when it is desired to change the 2nd's place bell). This last is seldom done, because it complicates the composer's task by adding to the risk of falseness.

The bob at 5 changes the 'treble's place' bell, that is, the bell which, at the course end itself, strikes first. Actually this bell is then doing its last whole turn. When the bob at 5 is called this bell is dodging in 8-9 (up) and consequently remains there for another 'six,' and the bell it dodges with (i.e., the bell in 9-8, down) becomes the treble's place bell instead.

The importance of this bell to the conductor is this: If he is a wise man he will memorise the order in which the working bells (usually there are only four) become treble's place bell throughout the touch or peal—just as in calling a peal of Major he will, or should, know the 5th's and 6th's place bells. The bobs at 16 are like calling so many 'Homes' in Major, and it is necessary to know when the last of a set of two or three has been called, for memory is not always reliable.

The treble's place bell is the key to the position. After the last 16, there must be either a bob at 4 or 5. Let us deal with the bob at 5 first, as that is the one that most frequently occurs. You should know beforehand, as we have said, which is to be your next treble's place bell. When you call the last bob at 16, this bell will make the bob and will then be the 'quick' bell at the course end; that is the quick bell in the last six of the course, and will hunt up through the dodging places immediately in front of the existing treble's place bell until it reaches 9-8 (down), when the bob is called to change over the treble's place bell. Thus the conductor has plenty of opportunity to make sure of his position.

If the bob happens to be at 4, the same bell becomes treble's place bell, but dodges up at the bob (which is one 'six' earlier) instead of down. The bell that is leaving treble's place makes the bob.

These are just a few points to help you check up on your calling of 'ordinary' courses, which form the main body of most peals and touches.

The calling of 'starting,' or 'turning,' or 'homing' courses is not quite so simple. A 'starting' course is the one which brings the 'fixed' bells, referred to last week, into their proper positions. A 'turning' course is one which transposes these bells into alternative fixed positions, and a 'homing' course is one employed to bring the bells round. Usually it is unnecessary to employ both a 'turning' and a 'homing' course, because the former is so arranged that the bells will run round automatically after a given number of courses.

There is no really royal road to calling these starting and turning courses. It is safest to learn them thoroughly, and in doing this to know which bells are going to 'make the bobs' and which pairs will be dodging behind at the bobs. With practice you will get to know quite a lot about the construction of these courses, but to go into elaborate details is not necessary in this article.

Conductors should prick out these courses for themselves. They will get all the information they want from the six-ends, but there are certain things to remember. First, the usual 'start' is from 231456789, which is the actual six-end, rounds being really the fourth change of the six. Next, there are two different transpositions of rows which have to be used alternately, one for the 'slow' six and the other for the 'quick' six. The transpositions go thus in pairs:—

346829175

If there are bobs the transpositions are:—

231456789

Bob at 1 342617589, followed by

Bob at 2 346725189

One other thing to remember is that if you want to call a bob at 1, you must do so immediately the bells go off into changes, because it is made in the change after 231456789.

As an experiment, write out a starting course by the six-ends, with bobs at 2, 4, 6, 7, 10, 12, 13, 16. If you do it correctly your course-end should be 412365978. From this go on and write out a homing course with bobs at 2, 6, 7, 8, 9, 12, 13. Your course end will not be 231456789; but see what you can make of it for yourself and then go into the tower and call the touch if you have the opportunity.

DON'T SCRUB YOUR HANDS!

skin this simple way*

To many people, the problem of getting the hands really clean without harming the skin is a serious one. Grease and grime, which become deeply ingrained into the pores of the skin, are extremely difficult to remove, and ordinary washing with soap or even scrubbing will fail to remove them completely. Housewives, particularly, who complain that their hands get ruined by the nature of their work, will find the preparation called DERMAFOAM, a real "godsend." DERMAFOAM just smooths away dirt and grease without effort. It gets right down into the pores and removes every particle of grime, leaving skin beautifully supple and healthy.

Men, too—when you've finished that dirty job on the car, DERMAFOAM will quickly banish all grease and oil from your hands. It acts almost magically—working under and around the nails and into every minute crease, removing all trace of dirt in a flash.

Engineers, Painters, Car Mechanics, Printers — everyone — will welcome DERMAFOAM, the modern method of cleansing and protecting the hands.

THE PEALS OF 1936.

The report of the Analysis Committee of the Central Council reveals, as we indicated some few weeks ago that it would, a considerable falling off in the number of peals rung in 1936, compared with the preceding year. The actual difference was 114. Compared with 1934 it was thirty-five less, and compared with 1932, the decline is no fewer than 450. On the face of it it would appear that peal ringing is less in favour than it used to be, but there are many circumstances which may account for a falling total, apart from lack of interest or enthusiasm. Peal ringing has always been a variable quantity, and we do not propose now to analyse the causes. Probably this year, with the impetus of the Coronation, there may be an upward jump. It is satisfactory, however, to note that, on the whole, the standard of the methods rung has been maintained, as a careful study of the committee's report will show. Despite the fact that there seems to have been a 'slump' in Surprise peals of Major, in the old methods there has been more variety introduced into this class of ringing, which is really all to the good. There is little more credit to a first class Surprise band in ringing a succession of peals in any one of these methods, than to a team of 'rabbits' who only ring peals of Grandsire or Bob Major. The real proof of advance in method ringing is the enterprise that is shown in doing something different and doing it as well as or better than anything that has been done before.

In the peals on six bells contrasting facts emerge. Minor has increased by 31, but Doubles decreased by 33, and while, in the latter, peals in only one method have decreased by 19 and peals in more than four methods have increased by 17; in Minor the peals in one method increased by 25. It is true that peals in over seven methods have risen by 14, but it does not say much for the enterprise of some ringers that 138 peals were rung on six bells in which only one method was employed. We know that a few of these have been peals in the higher methods, such as Cambridge, but it is much to be hoped that those who are, and some have long been, content with Bob Minor will get away from this rut as soon as possible. In the old days ringers used to make it almost a point of honour never to ring less than seven methods in a peal, and we could wish that more would follow that example.

One other point in the report needs emphasising, and that is the falling off again in the number of ringers who rang their first peal. This, to our mind, is much the most serious indication revealed in the report. As we have said on many occasions, peal ringing should not be the 'be all and end all' of a ringer's aspirations, but peal ringing does raise a man's enthusiasm, increase his keenness and, generally, does a lot towards improving his ringing. Every encouragement ought to be given to young ringers to ring their first peal—it is one of the surest ways of keeping their interest. A man who has rung his first peal usually feels that he has done something worth while and that it gives him a fresh footing among his colleagues. It is in the best interests of the art that youngsters should be induced to take up peal ringing.

CHRISTCHURCH BELLRINGERS' LEADER.

MR. GEORGE PRESTON'S JUBILEE.

On Wednesday, April 7th, at the Priory Church, Christchurch, Hants, an attempt was made by the Priory Church ringers to ring a peal of 5,280 changes of Bob Maximus to celebrate the 50th anniversary of Mr. G. Preston as a ringer at this church, but they failed after ringing 3,000 changes.

The ringers adjourned to the King's Arms Hotel for light refreshments, and a presentation was then made, on behalf of the ringers, by the Vicar (Canon W. H. Gay) to Mr. Preston. It consisted of an illuminated address and a Davenport writing bureau. In making this presentation, Canon Gay said what a great pleasure it gave him to be there on such an occasion. He had always found Mr. Preston a man of few words, but what he said he would do he always carried out. The services given by him for the past 50 years had not only been for the church, but for the whole of the deanery.

Mr. W. Tucker, churchwarden, supported the Vicar's remarks and added that he always admired, at the annual meetings of the Guild, the unanimous way in which the members of the district re-elected Mr. Preston as their secretary.

Mr. Preston thanked his fellow-ringers for their gifts, and said what pleasure it gave him to do all in his power for the advancement of change ringing. From the time of commencement as a ringer he had been able to have a band capable of ringing changes for Sunday services, and he hoped to continue his duties as captain and conductor for many years to come.

Mr. F. Sparshott, on behalf of the ringers, congratulated Mr. Preston on his 50 years' service, and said how proud they all were to have such a capable captain and conductor in their tower, as he was far above the average bob caller. He trusted Mr. Preston would be with them for many years to come.

Mr. Hinton supported these remarks, and said that he was the first pupil of Mr. Preston's to learn the art of bellringing 49 years ago.

The address expressed appreciation of Mr. Preston's valuable services and zealous efforts on behalf of all bellringers who had passed through his most talented training, and heartily congratulated him on completing 50 years' service on March 8th, 1937, as a bellringer, conductor and captain of the Christchurch Priory bellringers. It concluded by praying that the blessing of God might rest upon his continued labours and that he might be spared to serve in such capacity for many years to come. It was signed by the Vicar, churchwardens and fifteen ringers.

A further attempt for the commemorative peal was successful on Wednesday, April 14th.

MR. J. GEORGE RETIRING FROM RINGING MASTERSHIP.

H. Fearn 6, F. E. Haynes 7, J. S. Mason 8. This was arranged as a compliment to Mr. James George, who is now retiring from the position of Ringing Master, after 21 years' service to Bishop Ryder's. It was the longest touch he had rung since his illness, and his ringing friends will be pleased to hear of his recovery.

FOR BEGINNERS.

CALLING STEDMAN CATERERS FROM A WORKING BELL.

If you want to call Stedman Caterers from a 'working' bell there are plenty of good guides to help you. There are, of course, the regular positions into which the 'fixed' bells fall, but even without observing these too closely you can have numerous checks upon your calling.

Once you have got over your starting course, in touch or peal of ordinary type there are only four bells which are affected by the bobs at 5 and 16. They are the bells which fall into treble's place, 3rd's, 4th's and 6th's at the course ends, and three of them are concerned at the bobs.

If the bob be at 5, the bells affected are the 3rd, treble's place and 6th's place bells. If the bob be at 16, the 3rd's, 4th's and 6th's place bells are concerned.

Many of our readers will remember what has been said in this column about the positions of the bob-making bells in methods like Plain Bob. Three successive bobs, with an interval of a course between, cause the bells concerned to work in a cycle of In, Out, 4th's when the calls are made.

So in Stedman Caterers there is a cycle which follows the order of 9-8 down, 8-9 up and 7th's (which, of course, is making the bob). Thus you know, if you are called into any one of these places, what your next calling position must be if you have to run a full course.

We explained last week how the bob at 5 changes the treble's place bell, by substituting the quick bell (3rd's place) at the course end. The bell that makes the bob is the 6th. You can watch these bells coming into position from the course end, and, even if you have no other check, you can always see which is the 6th place bell, because when your prospective treble's place bell gets into 4-5 on his way up, the bell he dodges with is the bell that is going to make the bob.

Further, the bells concerned in the bob are the three which course up after the 5th's place bell, which is one of those that are 'fixed.' The first dodges down at the bob, the second dodges up and the third, having dodged with 5th itself in 6-7, makes the bob.

Similarly with a bob at 16, the place to make the call is easy to observe. The three bells concerned course up from the front behind the treble itself (that is if the treble, as is usually the case, is the 2nd's place bell). The bob comes when the treble is in 7-6 down, and if you are the first of the three bells after the treble you call the bob when you are dodging down. If you are the second bell you call the bob when you are dodging up, and if you are the last of the three you find yourself dodging in 6-7 up with the treble and the bob is called at that six-end.

There are only two other calling positions with which you need concern yourself if you are ringing one of the working bells. If you are 4th's place bell at a course end and have to call a bob at 5, remember the call is made as you approach the last half-turn. If you are treble's place bell and have to call a bob at 16, make the call as you begin your first whole turn.

Now the best thing the ringer can do who wants to call Stedman Caterers is to write out one or two courses by the six-ends, in the way we explained last week, insert bobs at 5 and/or 16, and examine the way in which the working bells arrange themselves at these bobs.

If you want to construct a few touches for yourself you can do so with the help of the starting course we gave you last week—2, 4, 6, 7, 10, 12, 13, 16. It produces the course-end 412365978. To find the effect of a bob at 5 transpose by 326451; for bobs at 5 and 16, transpose by 321654; for a bob at 16 transpose by 126354.

You can turn the bells into the handstroke position by a bob at 2, followed by a single at 9, which produce the previous course-end with 8-9 reversed. The bells will come round in the change following the course end 214365879, but do not overlook the fact that you cannot get this with that turning course unless somewhere you have used another single. A single at 5 reverses 3 and 1, a single at 16 reverses 3 and 4, when compared with the transpositions for a bob.

Those of our readers who are interested may like to construct some touches on paper. It will help them, when they have had some experience in the tower, to build up touches as they go. Here is the sort of thing we mean.

The starting course given produces—

412365978

214563 by Bobs at 5, 16

Turning Course 214563 by Bob at 2. Single at 9

412365 by Bobs at 5, 16

214365 by Bob at 5, Single at 16

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AS SECRETARY.

MR. C. T. COLES' SERVICES TO MIDDLESEX ASSOCIATION.

Presentations From Members.

The members of the Middlesex County Association and London Diocesan Guild gave tangible expression to their appreciation of the long service given as one of the joint honorary secretaries by Mr. C. T. Coles, at the annual meeting at Cripplegate, London, on Saturday. Mr. Coles has held office for more than a quarter of a century and was made the recipient of a suitably inscribed gold watch, while Mrs. Coles was presented with a very nice leather handbag.

The presentation took place in the presence of a large number of members, over whom the president of the association, the Rev. W. P. Cole-Sheane, presided.

The proceedings were introduced by Mr. J. A. Trollope (vice-president), who said that last year he called attention to the fact that Mr. Coles had completed twenty-five years as a secretary of the association. They then showed their appreciation of his services by passing a vote of thanks. He was not going to say that words were cheap, because when they passed that resolution they did mean what they said and he was sure Mr. Coles realised it. Some of them, however, thought that the occasion called for something a little more tangible than words, but, as the members would recall, the death of the late Master, Mr. William Pye, had led to their having launched a national memorial to him, and the committee felt they could not make two appeals for subscriptions at the same time. Therefore, they postponed any idea of a testimonial to Mr. Coles to this year. They had now got together a few shillings and he was going to ask the president to present Mr. Coles with a gold watch from the association as a mark of their appreciation (applause). He (Mr. Trollope) need not say that that gift had been earned. Only those who had worked with Mr. Coles intimately for many years knew his real worth, but all of them knew, in greater or less degree, something of what he had done. Mr. Coles was not one who had sought the limelight. He had been content to work and let other people share the credit and the results. Fortunately in the ringing Exercise a man of Mr. Tom Coles' standing and value was not overlooked, and to-day throughout the country among ringers there was no one more honoured and more respected than he was (applause). Like a good many others, he was not as young as he was, but he was still in the prime of life and he was sure they would all unite in wishing Mr. Coles many more years of happiness in ringing and many more years of service to the association and to the ringing Exercise (applause).

The President, in handing the gift to Mr. Coles, who received it amid applause, said he knew it had been the experience of the association always to find him ready, always in the right place and always going strong. He (the president) hoped that the watch would also be always ready, always in the right place and always going strong (laughter and applause).

MR. COLES AND HIS COLLEAGUES.

Mr. Coles, in acknowledging the gift, said he must ask the members to take most of his thanks for granted, for he felt that the occasion was too much for him. It was almost 27 years ago that he first became a secretary of the association—on June 7th of this year to be exact—when the first secretary and founder of the association, Mr. Arthur T. King, retired. The association was founded almost 40 years ago and they had had only two secretaries in the North and East District in the whole of that time, Mr. King for the first 13 years and he (Mr. Coles) for the last 27, with the exception of a period between 1916 and 1919, when he was away on war service, and when the duties were carried on by Mr. W. H. Oram. The association, as they knew, had no general secretary; the two district secretaries were joint secretaries. In the South and West District his colleagues had been four—Mr. H. C. Chandler, who was still a member of the association, Mr. W. H. Oram (who for a time carried on as secretary for both districts and continued in the South and West District afterwards), Mr. W. H. Hollier and, latterly, Mr. Goodfellow. Thus there had not been many officers during the period, and it was due, he thought, not because secretaries were sticklers to office, but because they found it was not so easy to slip out as to slip in (laughter and applause). In the near future they might have to make a change. Although he was not an old man and he did not like even to think he was getting old, one did feel one could not do as much at his age as 20 years ago. It had occurred to him during the last few years that it was too much for a man to be district secretary and joint secretary of the association at the same time. Perhaps when they went into the question of the revision of the rules they might find a way out of the difficulty.

MR. C. T. COLES.

Continuing, Mr. Coles paid a tribute to the support which he had always received from the other officers of the association. The late Mr. William Pye, as Master, was a tower of strength, and any success he (Mr. Coles) attained in ringing was entirely due to him. He was a great help in everything they did; in fact, the association would never have attained the position it did in the ringing world but for Mr. Pye. They had received excellent support from the District Masters, and the present Master was doing a great work in helping ringing at different towers. To all of them he offered his most sincere thanks for their help. The great majority of the members, continued Mr. Coles, had given loyal support to the association, and he would like to urge them to continue to support the officers at the district meetings, which were the means, and the best means, of enabling members to get practice which they could not possibly get in their own towers. In conclusion, Mr. Coles thanked the members for their handsome gift, and added that while he was unlikely to be able to be their secretary for another 25 years, he would, he hoped, have a few more happy years with them yet (applause).

GIFT FOR MRS. COLES.

Mr. G. W. Fletcher (vice-president) said it was only right and proper that they should express their appreciation and thanks to Mrs. Coles for what she had done to keep Mr. Coles 'up to scratch' for the last 27 years (laughter and applause). She had been the power behind the scenes, and no doubt Mr. Coles himself would tell them that without her sympathy and help he would not have been able to devote so much of his time to the association. He asked the president to hand Mrs. Coles a handbag as a token of esteem and with many thanks for her help to the association (applause).

The president made the presentation amid applause, and Mrs. Coles briefly expressed her thanks.

Mr. Coles said his wife could really tell them quite a lot, and ringers with wives would know very well what that would be without his going into detail (laughter). It was true that without his wife's sympathy and help he could not have carried on all those years. It was undoubtedly due to the sympathies of a wife that a man was able to carry on anything. Mrs. Coles greatly appreciated their kindness, and on her behalf he thanked the members very much for their handsome present.

The President said there remained a substantial balance from the presentation, and it was hoped when the fund was closed to present it to Mr. Coles as a purse.

Mr. W. H. Hollier (the hon. treasurer) said, later, that the fund would be closed on May 22nd. He wished Mr. Coles many years still of happy service to the association.

The watch was inscribed: 'Presented to C. T. Coles after 25 years' service as honorary secretary of the Middlesex County Association and London Diocesan Guild of Change Ringers. 1937.'

The report of the annual meeting of the association will appear in our next issue.

DEATH OF MR. J. S. HUTCHBY.

MEMBER OF M.C.A. 'WEDNESDAY BAND.'

Mr. James S. Hutchby, a bellringer at Loughborough Parish Church for 40 years, passed away on Tuesday, March 30th. Although he had been in indifferent health for the past 18 months, the end came very suddenly, and was due to a seizure whilst in his garden.

Mr. Hutchby was a member of the famous 'Wednesday band' which a few years ago, under the leadership of Mr. Maurice Swinfield, used to meet on the 'half-day off' (Wednesday) for peal ringing, and their efforts resulted in a large number of peals, principally Stedman Triples, being rung on behalf of the Midland Counties Association. Whenever he met for a peal it was always with the intention of scoring, and there was no more disappointed man than 'Jim' Hutchby if the attempt proved unsuccessful. He had rung over 220 peals, including the Midland Counties Association's record length of Bob Major (13,440 changes), rung on April 8th, 1922.

Mr. Hutchby was, up to 18 months ago, most punctual in his attendance for Sunday service ringing, and although at the age of 75 it was not to be expected that he would be with us many more years, his passing is greatly regretted, not only by the Loughborough ringers, but also by the wide circle of friends which his kindly disposition won for him in the area of the Midland Counties Association.

At the interment, which took place on Saturday, April 3rd, four members of the Loughborough Parish Church company acted as bearers, handbells were rung at the graveside and the bells of the Parish Church were rung half-muffled, whilst on Tuesday evening, April 6th, a peal of Bob Major was rung half-muffled on the bells in the Bell Foundry Campanile, where Mr. Hutchby had rung so many of his peals. He leaves a widow, but no children.

GEORGE W. FLETCHER, Hon. Sec.

BUSHEY SOCIETY'S PRESIDENT.DEATH OF THE REV. G. MONTAGUE HALL.

On Sunday evening, April 11th, at Bushey, Herts, a quarter-peal of Stedman Triples: J. E. Rootes 1, J. J. Allen 2, E. Jennings 3, P. Parslow 4, M. F. R. Hibbert 5, W. Seeley 6, W. G. Whitehead (conductor) 7, T. Clark 8. Rung with the bells half-muffled previous to the memorial service for the Rev. G. Montague Hall, Rector of Bushey for 39 years.

He was president of the Bushey Society, and patron of the Herts Association for many years, and took a great interest in ringing. He often expressed regret at not having acquired the art in his younger days.

The remains of the late Rector were cremated on the previous Thursday, when a half-muffled peal was rung.

GLOUCESTER AND BRISTOL DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION.NEW RULES ADOPTED.

The annual meeting of the Gloucester and Bristol Diocesan Association was held at Tewkesbury on Easter Monday, there being a good attendance which well represented the branches. By kind permission of the Precentor (the Rev. J. d'Arcy Hutton), the 12 bells were available for ringing throughout the day.

The business meeting was held in the Parish Room at 2.30 p.m., and apologies for absence were received from Mr. W. B. Kynaston, Mr. J. Austin and Mr. F. W. Merrett.

The Master, Mr. S. Romans, in his report, called for united efforts during the Coronation year to fill the towers with ringers. He also appealed to members to support the district meetings. They had been well attended, but usually the local ringers failed in their support. He paid a tribute to the clergy for their efforts, and he was glad to see more clergy in the association's area taking up ringing.

The hon. secretary, in his report, referred to the passing of Mrs. Austin, Mrs. Brown, Capt. H. W. Grant, Mr. H. Green, Mr. E. E. Davies, Mr. W. Curtis, Mr. J. Owen, Mr. S. Phillips and Mr. A. R. Agg.

He recorded that 24 peals had been rung during 1936.

It was also mentioned that Mr. J. Gould, of Henbury, had completed 50 years as leader and conductor at the Parish Church.

The hon. treasurer's statements showed an increased balance of £16 on the year.—The balance sheets were adopted.

A report upon the Central Council meeting at the Guildhall, London, was given by Mr. J. K. Armstrong.

The new rules prepared by the Special Committee were unanimously adopted with one slight deletion. This referred to a quorum at annual meetings, it being decided against stating a definite number.—The Rules Revision Committee were thanked and disbanded.

All the officers were re-elected, the Master for the fourth successive time, the general secretary (Mr. E. Guise) for the twentieth successive occasion, and the hon. treasurer for the ninth successive time.

Messrs. F. G. Leaker, J. H. Shepherd, W. Hale and A. Martin were appointed advisers, and the Rev. E. J. Phillips and Mr. C. H. Gordon were elected auditors.

It was decided to hold the next annual meeting at Bristol on Easter Monday, 1938.

The Master proposed a vote of thanks to the Rev. J. d'Arcy Hutton and Mr. H. Devereux for their kindness in making arrangements.

The Rev. J. E. Staley proposed a vote of thanks to the Master, hon. secretary, hon. treasurer and all those connected with the association for their work.—This was unanimously accorded.

Tea was taken in the Parish Hall and there was more ringing afterwards until time to catch trains and buses concluded the day's proceedings.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

Although 'The Ringing World' is this week enlarged to twenty pages, we regret we are compelled to hold over a number of reports, which will appear as soon as possible.

The death occurred suddenly in Paisley on April 11th of Mr. A. E. Wreaks, who for 25 years, up to September, 1911, was hon. secretary of the Lancashire Association.

The new bells of the Birmingham Cathedral (St. Philip's) will be dedicated by the Lord Bishop of Birmingham, Dr. E. W. Barnes, at a service to be held at 6 p.m. on St. Philip's Day, Saturday, May 1st.

The new ring of ten is by Gillett and Johnston, of Croydon, tenor 31 cwt. 21 lb. in D. The bells will be broadcast on the Midland Regional after the service, from 7.45 to 8 o'clock, and superimposed on the broadcast, for the first five minutes or so, Mr. A. Paddon Smith will give a brief description of them from the Cathedral.

Another new Surprise method, Otley, has been rung at Helmingham. It makes the fortieth Surprise method in which a peal has been rung at this tower.

There are frequent instances of ringers' enthusiasm for their hobby. On Saturday four members of St. Martin's Guild, Birmingham, attended the meeting of the Middlesex Association in London and enjoyed ringing at the City churches where the bells were available.

Geoffrey Harrison, the thirteen-year-old son of Mr. Colin Harrison, of Loughborough, rang his first touch of Grandsire Caters on Sunday evening, when he piloted the treble without a mistake.

A report of a peal rung at Carisbrooke, Isle of Wight, has been sent without the date, and of a peal at Newland, Glos., without the time.

The twelve bells at Christ Church Cathedral, Oxford, are to be rehung by Messrs. Mears and Stainbank.

Two trebles are being added to make eight at Gorleston-on-Sea, Suffolk, and they are to be dedicated in time for the Coronation. The work is being carried out by the Whitechapel Foundry.

The Chester Diocesan Guild meeting, which was to have been held at Market Drayton to-morrow, has been postponed owing to illness near the church.

Mr. T. E. Sone, who has now rung peals with 275 different ringers, has called compositions by 40 composers. Sixty-five peals have been different compositions by Mr. Arthur Knights.

Mr. Alfred Lawrence, who rang in a peal of Grandsire Caters at Swindon on Saturday, is in his 83rd year. His last peal was rung ten years ago, when he gave up peal ringing as he was getting too old for peals!

The dinner which is to be held on October 23rd by the Ladies' Guild to celebrate their silver jubilee will take place at Auderton's Hotel, Fleet Street. Accommodation is limited, and it will, therefore, be necessary to apply early for tickets.

RINGING AT BELL OPENINGS

COUNCIL PRESIDENT ON NEED FOR GOOD STRIKING.

To the Editor.

Sir,—I see from the notices in your last issue that there are to be a number of bell dedications in the next few weeks. May I point out that the greatest possible care should be taken over the arrangements for ringing on the opening day.

On such occasions the public naturally listen with greater attention than at any other time. Any bad striking does incalculable harm to the art of ringing, as far as public sympathy is concerned.

An even more important point is the irreverence of imperfect ringing as part of the offering which is being made. EDWIN H. LEWIS.

CLERICAL RINGERS' GUILD FORMED.

CANON COLERIDGE THE FIRST PRESIDENT.

On a recent clerical ringing tour some priests founded 'The Guild of Clerical Ringers,' with the object of drawing together all clergy who take any part in scientific ringing.

The Rev. Canon G. F. Coleridge has consented to be the first president.

A fee of 5s. is payable for life membership, and further particulars can be obtained from the hon. secretary, the Rev. E. V. Cox, The Vicarage, Bramford Spoke, Exeter.

SUSSEX COUNTY ASSOCIATION.

NORTHERN DIVISION ELECTS OFFICERS.

The annual meeting of the Northern Division of the Sussex County Association was held at Warnham on Saturday, April 10th. Thirty-five members were present from adjoining towers and ringing was commenced at 2.45 p.m. At the service the proposed new form for the association was used. A capital address was given by the Vicar, who also gave a brief history of Warnham Church.

Tea was partaken of at the Sussex Oak, and at the business meeting which followed the following officers were elected: Mr. O. Sippetts, divisional secretary; Messrs. W. Charman, A. E. Laker and R. V. Johnson, committee; Messrs. O. Sippetts, W. Charman and G. Apps, Committee of Advice.

Six new resident members were elected, and the Rev. F. S. Farebrother, Vicar of Warnham, was elected an honorary member.

The Warnham band gave an exhibition of handbells lapped to Treble Ten and Grandsire Caters and received much applause.

The tower was then again visited and the bells kept going to 8.45. Rounds to London Surprise were rung during the day.

GENERAL.

Noteworthy performances include the peal of Spliced Surprise Major in four methods on handbells by four members of the Hertford County Association, which undoubtedly ranks as the greatest performance yet accomplished on handbells.

Other outstanding performances are the peal of Surprise Royal in four methods by the Surrey Association, and the peals of Minor in 42, 48, 51, 57, 60, 61 and 70 methods by the Lincoln Guild, and in 46, 52, 66 and 68 methods by the Chester Guild.

The following are the number of peals rung during each month in 1936 and 1935:—

	1936	1935		1936	1935
January	227	124	July	89	86
February	178	160	August	170	125
March	110	152	September	126	158
April	150	99	October	152	149
May	139	257	November	148	192
June	116	174	December	144	187

FOOTNOTES.

There is a very serious decrease in the number of ringers who have scored their first peals. The number is 517, as against 643 in 1935. On eight bells and over, 69 rang the treble, 92 inside and 51 the tenor; on 5 and 6 bells, 99 rang the treble, 151 inside and 51 the tenor. The number who rang their first peal in a different method or method on a different number of bells is 1,434, an increase of 619. Ringers of their first peal inside number 68; away from the tenor 10; Maximus 5; Cinques 13; Royal 22; Caters 15; Major 72; Triples 24; Minor 127; Doubles 37; on twelve bells 33; ten 66; eight 32; six 13; five 5; Surprise 36; in hand 4; in method in hand 62. New conductors number 57—27 on eight bells and over, and 30 on five and six. This is a decrease of 25. Conductors in new methods number 179. New conductors on handbells number 3.

Other footnotes show that 44 were the first on the bells; 169 the first in the method on the bells; 27 the first since restoration or augmentation.

For the funeral of King George V., 175 peals were rung, muffled and half-muffled. Other muffled peals number 57.

For Proclamations and Accessions 22 peals were rung; Royal birthdays 7; birthdays 241; weddings (including silver, etc.) 97; church festivals and dedications 25; welcome and farewell 58; anniversaries 62.

During the year 27 peals have been withdrawn as follows:—

- Record peal of Stedman Cinques—College Youths.
- 2 peals London Surprise Major—Sussex Association.
- 12 peals Kent Treble Bob Major—Surrey Association.
- 1 peal Kent Treble Bob Major—Guildford Guild.
- 3 peals Kent Treble Bob Major—Middlesex Association.
- 1 peal Kent Treble Bob Major—Suffolk Guild.
- 3 peals Kent Treble Bob Major—Norwich Diocesan Association.
- 1 peal Kent Treble Bob Major—Worcester and Districts.
- 1 peal Oxford Treble Bob Major—Yorkshire Association.
- 2 peals Stedman Caters—Gloucester and Bristol Association.

And these have been deducted from the total of peals rung.

We give below the number of peals rung in each of representative years since 1881, the total for the whole period being 68,706:—

1881	156	1921	1,632
1898	1,002	1932	2,199
1905	1,519	1933	1,833
1913	2,359	1934	1,784
1917 (war year)	130	1935	1,863
1919	1,048	1936	1,749

Included in the tables as peals of Doubles are 13 peals for the Hereford Diocesan, one for the Swansea and Brecon, one for the Devon Guild, and one for the Ely Diocesan Guild, all containing either Pitman's, Morris' or Lindoff's 240's or 'spliced 240's' of Grandshire. We are a little doubtful if the Council has made any decision which expressly recognises these compositions.

We have had in mind the instructions given to us last year by the Council, but in view of the fact that peals containing the compositions referred to have been accepted by the Council in previous years, we hesitate to decide that these peals are contrary to any decision of the Council, and have, therefore, included them.

Two peals of Doubles rung for the Hertford County Association and included in the tables are stated to contain 'Oxford Singles.' Inquiries have been made, but no information has been obtained on which we could definitely decide that these peals should be omitted from the tables.

A peal of Minor in seven methods included in the tables and rung for the Yorkshire Association contained a plain course of Woodbine Treble Bob in addition to an extent in that method. We are not clear as to whether the plain course concluded the peal or was sandwiched between extents.

The committee recommend the appointment of Mr. Walter Ayre to serve on this committee.

KINGSTON-ON-THAMES BELLS RESTORED.

FOUR TREBLES RECAST.

Reopening By Bishop of Southwark.

Kingston-upon-Thames is rich in history. Seven Saxon kings were crowned there, and the stone on which the ceremonies took place is still there to be seen. Through the ages the bells of its Parish Church have proclaimed the loyalty of the royal borough, and now, in time for the Coronation of King George and Queen Elizabeth, they have been set in order to play their part again. There are records of Kingston's bells ringing for the first Queen Elizabeth. In 1570 the 'Ryngars' were paid xij pence 'the first tyme the quene whent in to bare feld,' and again in the following year they received ij shillings at 'the quens comyng' and xix pence at her 'first goyug in to bare feld.'

And the firm of bellfounders, whose history goes back to those distant days, was entrusted with the work of restoring the peal in time for the forthcoming Coronation. For years the bells had been 'a lumpy old lot,' and gradually the necessity of overhaul forced itself upon the authorities. The bell frame has been strengthened, a new belfry floor and deadening ceiling has been provided, the front four bells have been recast, the rest sandblasted and retuned, and the whole peal hung, with new fittings of modern type, on ball bearings. A great improvement has been effected in the tone and the bells now 'go' admirably, but as the old frame was utilised, the ring still runs 'the wrong way' round.

The bells were reopened on Saturday afternoon, when they were rededicated, at a largely attended service, by the Lord Bishop of Southwark, who, in his address, referred to the place which bells in this country had taken in our national life and of the purpose they served as a reminder to all who hear them of the higher things in our own lives.

The service was conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. T. B. Scrutton), and at the completion of the formal dedication the bells were rung by a band consisting chiefly of local ringers. Afterwards an 'opening touch' of Stedman Caters was rung under the conductorship of Mr. T. W. Taffender, who will in future be in charge of the ringing at the church, and, later, other touches were rung, in which numerous visitors took part. Mr. A. A. Hughes represented the Whitechapel Foundry.

THE BELLS.

The tenor, which is now 27 cwt. 2 qr. 24 lb. in D flat, is inscribed round the shoulder, 'T. Mears of London fecit 1830,' and in the waist, 'Recast 1830. Revd. S. W. Gandy, Vicar. George Wadbrook, John Reed, Churchwardens. Samuel Redford, Churchwarden elect.'

The other bells bear the following inscriptions:—

- 9th.—Mears & Staibank, Founders, London. Recast 1879.
- 8th.—The old 8 bells recast and two new Trebbles added to make X by subscription. S. London, S. Belchier, Collectors. 1748.
- 7th.—T. Mears of London fecit. 1826. Saml. Allenby, William Pamphilon, Churchwardens.
- 6th.—T. Mears of London fecit. 1826. James Fricker, John French, Bayleffs.
- 5th.—T. Mears of London fecit. 1826. Richard Carter, Vestry Clerk.
- 4th.—William Blews and Sons, Founders, Birmingham. 1873. Revd. A. Williams, Vicar. Charles Walter, Esq., Philip Jones, Churchwardens.
- 3rd.—Robert Catlin fecit. 1750.
- 2nd.—Thomas Mears, Founder, London. 1841.

Treble.—Intactum silco percute dulce cano. R.C. 1748.

The last four bells bear the additional inscription: Recast 1936. Alfred Dryland, Mayor. T. B. Scrutton, Vicar. R. T. Hesketh, G. J. Dymott, Churchwardens.

It will be seen from the inscription on the 8th that in 1748 the complete ring of ten was cast by Robert Catlin, successor to Samuel Knight, of Holborn.

AN OLD BRISTOL RINGER.

DEATH OF CHARLES H. TOMKINS.

After an illness only lasting a week, Mr. Charles H. Tomkins, of Bristol, passed peacefully away on Saturday, April 10th, in his 79th year. He was for many years a prominent figure in ringing circles in Bristol. He rang his first peal at St. Matthew's, Bristol, in 1891, at a period when peals rung in the city were few and far between. Only three were rung by local men in four years, and he rang in each one, all being Grandshire Triples.

Mr. Tomkins was one of those present at the formation of the St. Stephen's Guild towards the end of 1894, and was an enthusiastic member of the band who made such progress in the art during the years that followed.

He rang altogether about 130 peals, the most notable being the first 'Charles' peal: the 7,023 Stedman Caters at St. Stephen's, the longest peal rung in the city for over 100 years; and the one and only peal rung on the bells of St. Helena, Lundy Island.

The interment took place on Wednesday, April 14th, at Holy Trinity, Kingswood, and was attended by the following: Messrs. C. H. Gordon, W. Knight, G. T. Daltry, H. Tucker, W. H. Thomas, J. Gould and W. A. Cave.

The bells of St. Stephen's were rung muffled at the usual practice on the previous evening.

ST. MARTIN'S GUILD, BIRMINGHAM.

PRESENTATIONS TO ASTON AND ST. MARTIN'S.

A very successful quarterly meeting of St. Martin's Guild for the Diocese of Birmingham was held at the Parish Church, Aston. It was here that such old Birmingham worthies as Henry Johnson, Tom Russam, John Carter and many others used to ring and where many record peals have been rung. It is a fine old church with tower and spire, and, in fact, is claimed by many as 'the gem of the Midlands.' The tower contained a peal of eight bells as far back as 1776, and in 1814 these were augmented into a peal of ten. For some years they were silent, but in June, 1935, they were recast and augmented into a peal of 12, largely through the efforts of the present Vicar, the Rev. H. McGowan.

The Guild's form of service was conducted by the curate, the Rev. R. S. O. Stevens, the Vicar acting as organist and also giving a very helpful address, dwelling on the dignity of the office of bellringer, and urging them, whilst ringing the bells to the best of their ability, not to omit attending the services.

Between 40 and 50 sat down to an excellent tea, provided by the local ringers and well served by their wives and other lady friends. In the absence of the Master, Alderman J. S. Pritchett, M.A., the Vicar, who is a vice-president, presided at the business meeting.

Reference was made to the death of Mr. Tom Russam, who died in January last; and in doing so Mr. Vice-President Paddon Smith said it was very difficult to be sad when talking of Tom Russam, who was really a very happy man. His passing, however, was a great loss to the Exercise and particularly to the St. Martin's Guild. For many years he was in charge of the bells and tower at Aston, and during that time ringers were always made welcome there. He asked all to stand for a moment as a last tribute of respect.

PRESENTATION TO ASTON TOWER.

The hon. secretary (Mr. T. H. Reeves) reported that some time before Mr. Russam's death he expressed the wish that his peal of 12 handbells (which were presented to him many years ago by members of the St. Martin's Guild) should be given to a tower where there was a young and progressive band of ringers. He suggested to Mrs. Russam that Aston fulfilled this condition, and that it would be a suitable place for the bells on account of his long association with the tower. To this Mrs. Russam agreed, and so on her behalf he had much pleasure in handing the bells to the Vicar for the use of the ringers of Aston Parish Church.

The Vicar accepted the gift, and, in handing them over to Mr. W. Davies, the Ringing Master, remarked it was another token of the goodwill which existed between St. Martin's Guild and Aston, and would always remind them of a man who for many years had been connected with the church and tower.

Mr. Reeves also stated that he had received from Mr. J. Frank Smallwood, now of Bath, who for many years was a prominent member of the Guild and still takes a lively interest in its well-being, a framed photograph of Henry Johnson. In his letter accompanying the gift Mr. Smallwood remarked that he thought there should be a photograph of the 'old gentleman' in St. Martin's tower, and so he had much pleasure in presenting one.

The Chairman expressed the thanks of the meeting, and the secretary was requested to send Mr. Smallwood a letter of thanks for his gift.

Owing to the death of Mr. Russam, it was necessary to elect another trustee in his stead, and Mr. E. T. Allaway was unanimously elected. Mr. Fred Price was also unanimously elected auditor in the place of Mr. Allaway.

Mr. E. T. Lloyd, of Hall Green, was duly elected a member, and the tower election of Mr. E. F. Poppy, of Eye, Suffolk, as a life member was duly ratified.

DONATION TO OLDBURY BELLS.

It was unanimously agreed to hold the next quarterly meeting on the first Saturday in July at Solihull. The Ringing Master (Mr. F. E. Haynes) pointed out that the date of the bi-quarterly meeting would clash with the Coronation celebrations, and so he suggested that instead of the meeting several peals should be attempted.

The secretary read a letter from the Vicar of Oldbury appealing for subscriptions towards the recasting of the bells of Oldbury Parish Church. It was proposed by Mr. Haynes and unanimously agreed that a donation of £2 2s. be sent from the Guild's funds. A subsequent collection resulted in a further £1 3s. being added.

The secretary also announced the arrangements made for ringing at the various churches in the city during Coronation Week. These would be included in the official programme, and he urged all those taking part to do their utmost to make the striking as good as possible.

A hearty vote of thanks, proposed by Mr. Haynes to the Vicar and curate for conducting the service, to the ringers of Aston for providing such an excellent tea, and to the ladies for having prepared and served it, was enthusiastically accorded by all. The Vicar and Mr. W. Davies, on behalf of the Aston ringers, responded.

Mr. Russam's bells were then tried out, and, although the clappers in some of them were rather stiff, a good touch of Stedman Cinques was brought round.

A return was afterwards made to the tower, where the bells were kept going in various methods until 9 o'clock, when a social hour spent in another place brought a very enjoyable meeting to a close.

DARLINGTON'S NEW PEAL.

BELLS RECAST BY LADY'S LEGACY.

The inauguration of the recast peal of St. Cuthbert's, Darlington, took place on Saturday, April 3rd. The church, which is one of the Collegiate Churches in the County of Durham, originally possessed a peal of six, which were augmented to eight by the gift of two trebles in 1866 by Joseph Pease, a prominent Quaker of the time, and son of Edward Pease, who founded the first railway company in the world.

Of late years the bells had shown signs of wear, and the authorities of St. Cuthbert's, after investigation, decided to the delight of the ringers in the district to have the whole peal recast and rehung in ball bearings and a new steel frame. The contract was awarded to Messrs. Gillett and Johnston, Ltd., of Croydon, who have carried out their duties admirably, the welded steel frame being a noteworthy feature. April 3rd saw the culmination of their efforts when the peal sounded once more over Darlington. Between 30 and 40 ringers from Newcastle Cathedral, Shildon, Staindrop, West Hartlepool, Ormesby, Saltburn and Leeds, together with members of the three Darlington towers, took part in keeping the bells going, and afterwards the company were entertained to tea at the invitation of the Vicar and churchwardens.

Councillor Arthur Payne, O.B.E., J.P., president of the Durham and Newcastle Diocesan Association, was in the chair, supported by Mr. Roland Park, the hon. secretary, and, in moving a vote of thanks to the Vicar and wardens for their hospitality and invitation to ring on the bells, expressed his pleasure at being able to visit Darlington. Mr. Payne went on to emphasise the work for the Church done by ringers, and how thoughts of religion were carried into many unexpected places by the sound of the bells.

Mr. W. N. Park, of Darlington, seconded the motion, which was carried with acclamation, St. Cuthbert's being assured of the good wishes of the association for success with their new peal.

The Vicar, the Rev. W. C. Jordan, M.A., gracefully responded and mentioned that this was the first occasion upon which he had attended a gathering of ringers. He went on to say how pleased the St. Cuthbert's people were to have the bells in use again, and referred to the 62 years' service to the belfry of St. Cuthbert's of Mr. A. Hodgson.

Mr. W. E. Watson (churchwarden in 1936) explained that the work done had been made possible through the legacy of a Darlington lady. His remarks reflected the keen interest he had taken in the scheme throughout.

After Mr. E. Minors (churchwarden) had endorsed these remarks, and added that, as borough surveyor, he was confident that the job was a sound engineering one.—Mr. Cyril F. Johnston was called upon to enlighten the company as to what had been done. This he did in his usual capable manner.

During the proceedings courses of Grandsire Triples and Caters were rung on handbells by Messrs. C. F. Johnston, J. W. Moorhouse, G. W. Park, W. N. Park and R. Park, and an adjournment was made to the tower for further ringing, which was continued throughout the evening.

Appended are the weights of the new bells with their respective inscriptions:—

'ORANGES AND LEMONS.'

SERVICE AT ST. CLEMENT DANES.

Among the bells of 'London town' oranges and lemons are inseparably associated, in the old nursery rhyme, with St. Clement's, and this connection is picturesquely commemorated every year at the historic Church of St. Clement Danes in the Strand. The annual 'Oranges and Lemons' service took place last Friday, when children from the Danish colony in London distributed oranges and lemons among English children. In connection with the service a quarter-peal of Grandsire Caters (1,259 changes) was specially rung on the bells by Miss D. Bryant 1, E. G. Fenn 2, C. F. Winney 3, A. B. Peck 4, T. Langdon 5, H. Pasmore 6, E. J. Morris 7, G. W. Debenham (conductor) 8, L. B. Porter 9, H. G. Miles 10.

LEICESTER'S NEW PEAL OF TWELVE. FREEMASONS GIVE CORONATION TENOR.

Two impressive ceremonies have taken place at Leicester Cathedral in connection with the coming of the new bells, which are to form a ring of twelve, with an additional half-tone.

On Saturday week the front twelve, together with the clock and chimes, were hallowed, and on the following day a similar service was held in connection with the tenor bell, given by the Freemasons of the Province of Leicestershire and Rutland in commemoration of the Coronation of His Majesty King George VI. At both services the Cathedral was full, that on Saturday being attended by the Lord Mayor of Leicester and Lady Mayoress, while on Sunday a large gathering of Freemasons witnessed the ceremony. Ringers were present from all parts of the diocese and beyond.

The bells were arranged in a semi-circle on the floor of the nave, the tenor bell being placed below the chancel steps. The Bishop of the diocese and the Provost of the Cathedral, with their attendants, were seated opposite the centre of the semi-circle facing eastward, and on the south side were the Lord Mayor and Lady Mayoress; in a semi-circle facing eastward were the donors, while at the foot of the chancel steps, behind the bells, were the Cathedral bellringers.

The service opened with the hymn, 'Unchanging God,' and following intercessions, thanksgivings and the 150th Psalm came the ceremony of the naming of the bells, beginning with the eleventh. The donors were led by the Provost and his vergers, one by one, to the bells, and each formally named their gift.

The anthem, Purcell's 'Rejoice in the Lord alway,' was followed by the ceremony of hallowing, performed by Bishop Bardsley, who afterwards charged the ringers in these terms: 'See that you ring these bells with reverence and devotion to your sacred trust, and as you shall summon the people to worship in this holy house, so be yourselves faithful worshippers of Him who hath called you to this service.'

A short touch was then rung on handbells, and the clock and chimes were next hallowed. After the hymn, 'Ring out, ye bells, to heaven on high,' adapted from the well-known stanzas in Tennyson's immortal poem, the Provost, the Very Rev. F. B. Macnutt, who is also Archdeacon of Leicester, gave the address.

He dealt with the history of the old peal and made mention of the long connection of the firm of Taylor and Co. with the bells of the diocese. He also referred to the patience of his own ringers, during the 18 years of his own connection with St. Martin's, in waiting for the restoration of the bells.

Afterwards the hymn, 'Ring forth, holy bells,' was sung, and a collection taken for the Cathedral Tower and Spire Fund. The service closed with a prayer for the people and the King and Queen, the Blessing, and the National Anthem.

FREEMASONS' SERVICE.

The service on Sunday afternoon followed somewhat similar lines, but with prayers suitable to the special occasion, the Masonic form of 'So mote it be' being used instead of the customary 'Amen.'

The prayers were offered by the Rev. R. C. Johnson, Provincial Grand Chaplain, and the Rev. Henry Lewis, Provincial Grand Chaplain. The anthem was Schubert's 'Where Thou reignest.'

The lesson, from Deuteronomy xxx., 9-14, was read by the Right Worshipful Bro. Sir Frederick Oliver, T.D., D.L., who afterwards, standing by the tenor bell with Bishop Bardsley, was invited by the Provost to name this bell, recast at the cost of the Freemasons of the Province.

The Provincial Grand Master answered: Reverend sir, in loyalty to our sovereign Lord the King, who has granted us his gracious permission, I will name it.

He then unveiled the bell, and, laying his hand upon it, said: 'I, Charles Frederick Oliver, give to this bell the name of The Coronation Bell of His Majesty King George the Sixth. God save the King.'

And all the congregation answered, 'So mote it be.'

The Bishop, at the request of the Provincial Grand Master, then hallowed the bell and pronounced the Ascription.

Again the hymn, 'Ring out, ye bells, to heaven on high,' was heard, and, following it, came a sermon by the Lord Bishop of Salisbury, the Very Worshipful Ernest Neville Lovett, Past Grand Chaplain of England.

The hymn, 'Ring forth, holy bells,' followed, and after the Blessing a memorable service was brought to a close with the National Anthem.

Over 30 ringers attended a most successful meeting at All Saints', Pilgrim Street, Newcastle, on March 13th. Ringing took place both in the afternoon and evening, when the methods rung varied from rounds to Erin Triples, Double Norwich and Cambridge Surprise Major.

At the business meeting, following the tea in the Church Hall, it was decided to meet next at Fenham on April 17th. Double Bob Major was the method proposed for practice.

Coronation ringing was discussed, and a sub-committee, consisting of Messrs. J. Anderson, J. Scott and T. W. Crowe, with the vice-president and secretary, was appointed to investigate and report.

All the band of the local tower were elected members of the association.

DON'T SCRUB YOUR HANDS!

skin this simple way*

To many people, the problem of getting the hands really clean without harming the skin is a serious one. Grease and grime, which become deeply ingrained into the pores of the skin, are extremely difficult to remove, and ordinary washing with soap or even scrubbing will fail to remove them completely. Housewives, particularly, who complain that their hands get ruined by the nature of their work, will find the preparation called DERMAFOAM, a real "godsend." DERMAFOAM just smoothes away dirt and grease without effort. It gets right down into the pores and removes every particle of grime, leaving skin beautifully supple and healthy.

Men, too—when you've finished that dirty job on the car, DERMAFOAM will quickly banish all grease and oil from your hands. It acts almost magically—working under and around the nails and into every minute crease, removing all trace of dirt in a flash.

Engineers, Painters, Car Mechanics, Printers — everyone — will welcome DERMAFOAM, the modern method of cleansing and protecting the hands.

RINGERS' ENTHUSIASM.

To attend a meeting of the Gloucester and Bristol Diocesan Association (Bristol Rural Branch), held at Henbury, Bristol, on April 3rd, a ringer cycled on a 'push-bike' from Fonthampton, Tewkesbury, Glos., 46 miles, to have a ring. This meant a double journey of 92 miles. There was also present a ringer well known in the West Country for his cycling feats, who on Easter Monday cycled from the Somerset side of Bristol to Tewkesbury to attend the annual meeting of the association. Surely this shows keenness.

Owing to the poor attendance at the Henbury meeting, the visitor from Tewkesbury was able to take part in some very useful practices in the usual standard methods, and when he had to leave on his journey home he thanked those present and added that he had been well repaid for his journey.

If this example were followed (even in a lesser degree) by beginners, there would not be much fear for the future of change ringing.

FALSE PEALS.

The number of false peals withdrawn during last year, revealed in the Analysis Committee's report, was rather alarming, although it was due largely to one composition, but it leads a correspondent to suggest measures for helping to ensure that in future there should be increased opportunities for examination of compositions. Such a proposal, if it proved practicable, would undoubtedly be a very desirable thing, although it would not necessarily mean that false peals would always come to light. Mere publication of figures does not ensure their checking by competent investigators, because, for one thing, it does not follow that the compositions, even if printed in association reports, as suggested, would come under the notice of those capable of putting them to the test. Then, too, there is a difficulty in insisting upon associations publishing the figures of new compositions which their members may see fit to ring. Some do not publish reports, others could not afford to print the figures. These objections, however, do not in any way lessen the desirability of exploring means of providing against repetition of some of the unfortunate happenings of the past.

The possibility of human error cannot in any event be entirely averted. Nearly every one of our greatest composers — men in whom the whole Exercise has the greatest confidence — have at some time or other fallen into a mistake, and it is quite possible that many peals by lesser lights have been rung, which, could the compositions be scrutinised, would turn out to be false. Even a double check is not always infallible. There is a very recent instance of a peal composed by an experienced ringer and examined before being rung by an expert composer of long experience, which proved eventually to be false. That unfortunate abbreviation of Robinson's peal of Treble Bob passed through the hands of many ringers and yet its falseness remained undiscovered for years. The figures of the Southwark record peal of Stedman Cinques had been printed ten years or more before its error was brought to light. Some of the false compositions which appeared in the earlier Central Council Collections were not discovered until long after their appearance — not because of any practical difficulty in ascertaining their falseness, but because no one had bothered to apply a check. Compulsory publication, therefore, while offering a better safeguard, will not entirely do away with the risks, and in any case will not prevent false peals being rung, because the figures would not appear until afterwards. On the other hand, it might encourage incompetent composers to put out figures, knowing that someone else may take on the onus of proving them. It seems to us that if associations are to safeguard themselves from recording false peals they must take their own steps of requiring 'certified' figures; certified, that is, not only by the actual author, but also by some other qualified composer. But even this, as we have pointed out, might not prevent an occasional false peal creeping into records, although it would distinctly diminish the risk, and show that the association had taken all reasonable precautions. Eventually, perhaps, we shall have professional peal provers—as there are professional accountants—to undertake this kind of work.

WELLINGBOROUGH, NORTHANTS.—The ring of eight (tenor 29 cwt.), retuned and rehung in a new frame by Messrs. Gillett & Johnston, will be dedicated by the Archdeacon of Northampton on Monday, May 10th, at 7.30 p.m. All ringers welcome.

DEATH OF A BRIDGEND RINGER

Mr. John Evans, a member of St. Iltyd's band, Bridgend, passed away on Friday, April 16th. He had been ill for a long time, but the end came rather suddenly. Owing, of course, to his illness he had not rung for some time.

A regular Sunday service ringer for over 30 years, he was not keen on peal ringing, but had, nevertheless, rung several peals for the Llandaff and Monmouth Diocesan Association. He was only 51 years of age and leaves a widow in bereavement.

A quarter-peal was rung half-muffled to his memory by the following: V. Brown 1, W. H. Evans 2, E. T. Bailey 3, C. H. Perry (conductor) 4, E. M. Smith 5, A. W. Wright 6, D. R. James 7, H. Pitman 8. First quarter-peal for treble and tenor ringers.

FOR BEGINNERS.

OXFORD BOB MINOR.

Emphasis was given in the editorial article in the last issue of 'The Ringing World' to the fact that the peals analysis revealed that last year peals of Minor rung in one method only had increased by 25, although the total number of peals of Minor increased by only 31. We need not here go into the arguments which have often been put forward showing the advantages of practising a variety of methods, particularly on the lower numbers of bells, but we would like to point out to those who at present ring only Bob Minor that it is not at all difficult to get on to new methods, and that it makes ringing vastly more interesting.

For instance, there is the method Oxford Bob. Put simply, it is Bob Singles (the Plain Bob method on four bells), with the other two bells continuously dodging behind from the time the treble leaves the back, until it gets up there again, when the bells behind hunt straight down to lead and two others (who led in turn after the treble) hunt straight up and take their places.

Many ringers will probably be able to step straight into the belfry and ring the method with that explanation, but for the sake of others, let us go into it a little more in detail.

This is a table of rules by which you learn Bob Singles:—

Pass treble in 3-4, lie a whole pull in 4th's, dodge 4-3, and hunt down to lead.

Pass treble in 2-3, dodge 3-4 up, lie a whole pull in 4th's, and hunt down.

Pass treble in 1-2, make 2nd's and lead again.

In Oxford Bob you do exactly the same thing, except that there is sandwiched on each side of the 2nd's place the dodging in 5-6 referred to. This dodging is actually a three-pull dodge. That is to say, in whichever direction you are going, you have to step back three times. You cannot very well make a mistake in it, however, for the two bells dodge until the treble separates them.

Now let us amplify our Bob Singles' table and make it fit our Oxford Bob Minor.

Pass treble in 3-4, lie a whole pull in 4th's, dodge 4-3, and hunt down to lead.

Pass treble in 4-5, a three-pull dodge in 5-6 up, lie a whole pull behind, and hunt down to lead.

Pass treble in 1-2, make 2nd's and lead again.

Pass treble in 5-6, lie a whole pull behind, a three-pull dodge in 6-5 down, and hunt down to lead.

Pass treble in 2-3, dodge 3-4 up, lie a whole pull in 4th's, and hunt down.

Here are the figures of the first part of the course, showing the full dodging behind. Write out a complete course, draw a continuous line over one of the working bells and you have a diagram of the method. From it you can visualise the whole of the work.

The bobs are made exactly as in Plain Bob, but, just a word of warning, a bob 'Wrong' in Oxford comes at the third lead and not at the first lead as it does in Plain Bob. For a 720 you can call the 5th, Wrong, Right, Wrong, or the 5th, Right, Wrong, Right.

ANOTHER MONMOUTHSHIRE OCTAVE.

NEW TREBLES AT LLANFRECHFA.

The dedication of the two new bells at Llanfrechfa, near Caerleon, Monmouthshire, took place during morning service on a recent Sunday.

The ceremony was performed by the Bishop of Monmouth, who received the ropes from the donor and the churchwardens.

The new treble has been presented by Mr. C. Addams Williams and Mrs. Williams to commemorate the coming of age of their son, Hopton, and the new second bell by the churchpeople to commemorate the Coronation of H.M. King George VI.

Immediately following the dedication the bells were rung in rounds by six of the local ringers, with the assistance of Mr. Pratt of Newport, and the Diocesan Association hon. secretary, Mr. J. W. Jones, and again at the conclusion of the service a touch of Grandsire Triples was rung.

The work has been carried out by Messrs. John Taylor and Co., Loughborough.

GREAT WALTHAM'S GREAT EFFORT. BELL RESTORATION SCHEME PAID FOR.

The bells of SS. Mary and Lawrence, Great Waltham, near Chelmsford, after being overhauled and rehung in ball bearings in a steel frame by Messrs. John Taylor and Co., of Loughborough, were rededicated on Tuesday, April 20th, by the Bishop of Barking.

The bells are now hung at a lower level in the tower, thus making them quieter in the vicinity of the church, and are rung from the floor of the tower instead of the former ringing chamber.

About 30 ringers, including the members of the local band, were present from various towers, including Great Baddow, Broomfield, Boreham, Chelmsford, Harlow Common, Springfield and Little Waltham. Among them were the Master of the Essex Association (Dr. P. T. Spencer-Phillips), the hon. gen. secretary of the association (Mr. L. J. Clark) and the hon. secretary of the South-Eastern Division.

During the singing of the hymn, 'Hark the bells with joyous sound,' the Bishop, preceded by the choir, churchwardens and Vicar (the Rev. E. F. Burnett) proceeded to the tower, where Mr. W. E. Davis, the captain of the local ringers, handed the ropes to the churchwardens, who handed them on to the Bishop, requesting him to rededicate the bells.

After the rededication prayers the Bishop handed the ropes to the Vicar with the usual exhortation. The local captain received the ropes from the Vicar and the bells were rung in rounds by W. E. Davis (Great Waltham) 1, G. Green (Great Baddow) 2, L. Day (Great Waltham) 3, H. Edwards (Boreham) 4, H. Bradley (Broomfields) 5, J. Wood (Chelmsford) 6, B. Kemp (Springfield) 7, L. J. Clark (Chelmsford) 8.

In the course of his address the Bishop said he was authorised by the Vicar to say that the whole cost of rehanging (£550) had been met. This was a fine effort, as only recently the parish had raised £100 for installing electric light in the church.

At the conclusion of the service an opening touch of Stedman Triples was rung, conducted by L. J. Clark, followed by touches in other methods, in which all the ringers took part, everyone expressing their appreciation at the way in which the restoration had been carried out and at having this delightful peal in ringing order once again.

MUFFLED BELLS.

At the Parish Church, Prittlewell, Southend-on-Sea, a quarter-peal of Bob Major (1,264 changes) was rung with the bells half-muffled on Saturday, April 3rd: F. Wilding 1, N. Townsend 2, W. Taylor 3, R. Watts 4, A. North 5, F. Luffkin (conductor) 6, S. Baybutt 7, G. Bacon 8. Rung in memory of Mrs. J. Watts Ditchfield, who died March 30th. She was the wife of the Rt. Rev. Dr. Watts Ditchfield, first Bishop of Chelmsford, and mother of Mrs. Gowings, wife of the Vicar of Prittlewell.

YORKSHIRE ASSOCIATION.

EASTERN DISTRICT ELECTIONS.

The annual meeting of the Eastern District of the Yorkshire Association was held at Goole on Saturday, April 10th, when, in spite of bad weather, there was an attendance of over 40 ringers representing the following towers: Beverley Minster, Campsall, Headingley (St. Michael's), Far Headingley (St. Chad's), Hemingbrough, Howden, Hull, Kirk Ella, Pontefract (St. Giles' and All Saints), Selby Abbey, Sheffield Cathedral, Sherburn-in-Elmet, York Minster and the local company. Evensong was held in church, at which the Vicar of Goole (the Rev. L. L. Knightall, M.A.) and the three curates all took part. The Vicar accompanied the singing on the organ and also gave a most interesting address.

Tea was held in Hackforth's Cafe, 48 sitting down. At the business meeting, over which the president (Canon C. C. Marshall) presided, two new members were elected, viz., Messrs. W. Hawley, of Sherburn-in-Elmet, and J. Wilson, Beverley Minster.

An invitation from the Vicar of Kirk Ella for the June meeting to be held there was unanimously accepted.

Two nominations were received for the position of Ringing Master, Messrs. H. C. Walters and F. Terry, and Mr. Walters was re-elected for a period of three years.

Four nominations were received for three seats on the committee, Messrs. West, Pearson, Cook and Imeson; the three first named were elected. Mr. A. E. West was also elected to a seat on the General Committee for a period of three years.

A vote of thanks to the Vicar for the use of the bells and for his address at the service was proposed by Mr. A. H. Fox, seconded by Mr. J. H. Howell, supported by the president and carried with acclamation.—The Vicar, in reply, extended a most hearty welcome to the association.

A vote of thanks to the local company for the excellent arrangements made was proposed by Mr. F. Cryer and seconded by Mr. A. Walker, mention being made of the good service to ringing for 30 years in Goole and for the Yorkshire Association by Mr. J. Drake and also of Mr. C. Hill's enthusiastic work in getting the Goole bells going again after a lapse of 18 months.—Messrs. Drake and Hill replied, and said they had high hopes of getting a good band of ringers together again in Goole now the bells were ringing once more.

Appreciation was expressed at the presence at the meeting of the president, treasurer and also the Southern District vice-president, together with Miss Bowling and Mr. Sherwood, of Headingley, Leeds.

Further ringing till 9 o'clock terminated a most enjoyable and happy meeting.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

Special ringing will take place at a great number of churches in London during Coronation week, and among the peals to be attempted will be one at St. Paul's Cathedral by the College Youths on Saturday, May 15th.

Attention is directed to the preliminary notice of the Tercentenary Dinner of the Ancient Society of College Youths. The number of tickets is strictly limited and early application should be made.

The venue of the Middlesex Association (South and West District) meeting on May 8th has been changed. It was to have been held at Feltham, but it has been transferred to Stanwell, with Bedfont and Harmondsworth towers for afternoon and evening respectively. A special invitation is extended to hikers, cyclists and motorists.

Mr. Rupert Richardson wishes to thank the many friends who have sent letters of sympathy since his recent accident. He assures them he is improving rapidly and hopes to be at the end of a bell-rope again before many weeks are over. Owing to the injury being to his right hand he is unable to answer them individually, and his 'secretary' is working at full pressure to keep the business and household duties going. He also notes the remarks of a sympathiser with regard to 'the scarcity of water,' and will certainly follow the advice.

The bus strike in Kent interfered with peal arrangements at Tunstall on Saturday. A band met two short for a peal of Stedman Triples and had to be content with ringing a peal of Minor.

In the usual monthly service broadcast from Croydon Parish Church on Sunday morning at 9.25 on the National long-wave length, it is hoped to ring the twelve bells. This will be the first time the new twelve have been 'on the air.'

Last Saturday at Chester father and son rang a peal of Stedman Triples together. It was Mr. Thomas Butler's 50th peal and his son, Mr. T. R. Butler's, 100th peal. An interesting coincidence. Has it happened before?

The name of the ringer of the 5th in the peal at Campsall on April 13th was Harry C. Walters and not Walker as printed.

We regret that many reports are unavoidably held over.

CENTRAL COUNCIL MEETING.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—May I appeal to those wishing to take part in peal attempts during their stay at Canterbury to let me have their application, with full particulars, not later than May 5th?

The writer would also be grateful to receive offers of towers that can be put at the disposal of the visitors.

A WORCESTERSHIRE PEAL REHUNG.

Upton-on-Severn bells have been rehung by Messrs. Mears and Stainbank, and were rededicated by the Bishop of Worcester on Sunday morning, April 25th. Besides the local band there were present ringers from Evesham and Worcester.

The Upton band, under their leader, Mr. C. Camm, have now a fine peal of bells both as regards tone and 'go.'

THE LATE MR. GEORGE A. CARD.

MANY PEALS RUNG FOR THE ROYAL CUMBERLAND YOUTHS

The funeral of Mr. George Card, hon. secretary of the Society of Royal Cumberland Youths, who, as already briefly recorded, passed away on April 5th in Fulham Hospital, took place at St. Mary's, Speldhurst, near Tunbridge Wells, Kent, on Thursday, April 8th. The Royal Cumberland Youths were represented by the Master (Mr. G. H. Cross), the treasurer (Mr. G. Steere), Mrs. G. H. Cross and Mr. W. J. Beer. After the interment, St. Mary's bells were rung half-muffled to a touch of Grandsire Triples by W. J. Beer 1, E. A. Turley 2, G. Fuggle 3, Mrs. G. H. Cross 4, G. H. Cross 5, G. W. Steere 6, J. Denton (conductor) 7, J. Meads 8.

The exact number of peals which Mr. Card rang is not known, as he kept no complete record, but the following are known to have been rung for the Cumberland Society between about 1890 and 1934: Stedman Cinques 28, Stedman Caters 4, Stedman Triples 8, Kent Treble Bob Maximus 2, Kent Treble Bob Royal 3, Kent Treble Bob Major 30, Bob Maximus 2, Bob Royal 1, Bob Major 13, Grandsire Cinques 1, Grandsire Triples 13, Double Norwich Major 8, New Cambridge Surprise Major 2, Cambridge Surprise Maximus 3, Cambridge Surprise Royal 1, Cambridge Surprise Major 1, Cumberland Delight Major 1, Superlative Surprise Major 13, London Surprise Major 21, Bristol Surprise Major 3, total 158.

Mr. Card also took part in 11,200 of Bob Major at St. Mary's, Speldhurst, in 1892, rung for the Kent County Association.

On Saturday, April 24th, at St. Leonard's Church, Shoreditch, 1,260 Stedman Triples was rung with the bells half-muffled as a last token of respect to Mr. G. A. Card. It was intended to ring a peal of Stedman Cinques, but owing to illness and business claims three of the band were unable to take part and Mrs. M. L. Cross kindly stood out. The ringers were T. Newman 1, Mrs. C. J. Matthews 2, E. J. Beer 3, W. J. Nudds 4, G. Radley 5, J. E. Bailey 6, G. J. Butcher (conductor) 7, T. Bevan 8.

WESTMINSTER ABBEY BELLS.

NEW VOLUME ON THEIR HISTORY.

Very appropriately, on the eve of the Coronation, there has been published a volume on the organs and bells of Westminster Abbey. The author is Canon Jocelyn Perkins, M.A., D.C.L., F.S.A., Sacrist of the Abbey, than whom, of course, there can be no greater authority on that venerable pile which enshrines so much of England's history. This book follows others dealing with the Abbey by the same author, 'Westminster Abbey, the Empire's Crown,' 'The Chapel of Henry VII. and its High Altar,' 'The Ornaments of Westminster Abbey,' etc., and is, naturally, of special interest to ringers.

Most ringers, we imagine, have hazily associated bells with Westminster Abbey down the ages, but few realise that for hundreds of years such bells as there were were housed in a detached campanile which stood, until less than two hundred years ago, on the site on the north side of the Abbey now occupied by the Middlesex County Hall.

This campanile, erected simultaneously with the thirteenth century choir, was of unusual proportions. It is said to have been no less than 75ft. square, but only to have reached a height of 60ft. The massive structure was crowned, according to the historian Stow, with a tall spire covered with lead.

It was not until the early forties of the eighteenth century that the present twin western towers of the Abbey were completed. In those days, of course, the Abbey had only six bells, but their history is extremely interesting to bell lovers, who will now be able, in Dr. Perkins' book, to read all their known story from the days in 1255, when, according to the patent roll, a grant was made by the King of one hundred shillings per annum to be paid every half-year to the Brethren of the Guild of Westminster 'who are appointed to ring the great bells,' and it was laid down that the Brethren were 'to enjoy all privileges and free customs they have enjoyed from the time of Edward the Confessor.'

Canon Perkins points out the high significance of these words. They indicate, he says, that the ringers of Westminster Abbey occupied at that time a position of real importance; that they formed to all intents and purposes a Royal Foundation.

The author traces the history of the bells through the centuries, gives a short chapter on ancient and modern ringing customs at the Abbey and another with the details of the reconstruction and enlargement of the peal to eight in 1919 by Messrs. Mears and Stainbank, whose foundry ancestor, Robert Mott, put a bell into the old campanile as far back as Queen Elizabeth's reign.

The whole story of the bells will prove a fascinating one for ringers. Equally interesting is the section relating to the organs of the Abbey. Dr. Perkins has traced their history back to 1304, and with a masterly hand presents the story of their vicissitudes from that distant date down to the coming of the new and magnificent instrument that is to be used for the approaching Coronation. He deals, too, with the many celebrated organists of the Abbey, among the great names being Orlando Gibbons and Henry Purcell.

The volume is splendidly illustrated and will appeal to all music lovers as well as ringers. It is published by Messrs. Novello and Co., Ltd., 160, Wardour Street, London, W.1.

ESSEX ASSOCIATION.

NORTHERN DIVISION VISIT TO FEERING.

Despite unfavourable weather, 15 towers were represented by 38 ringers at a meeting of the Northern Division of the Essex Association at Feering on Saturday, April 17th. Ringers were present from Witham, Halstead, Earls Colne, Great Bardfield, Kelvedon, Springfield, Sible Hedingham, Greenstead Green, Feering, Bocking, Dunmow, Coggeshall, Boreham, Sudbury and Turvey (Beds).

Service at the Parish Church was conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. C. B. Howard Knight), and Mr. Fairbrass, of Kelvedon, was at the organ. The Vicar extended a hearty welcome to the ringers.

An excellent tea was partaken of at the Bell Inn, the Vicar presiding. At the business meeting which followed both Witham and Great Bardfield were proposed as the next place of meeting, and on a vote being taken the majority favoured Great Bardfield, and a meeting is being arranged for June 12th.

The District Master (Mr. A. Saunders) proposed a vote of thanks to the Vicar for the use of the bells and his inspiring address, to the organist for his services, and to the visitors.

In reply, the Vicar said he was sure that the meeting was a joy to the local ringers at Feering. He hoped that the visit would do some good and that the young men would take up the art of ringing which was so peculiar to England and helped to keep them fit. The Vicar also thanked the organist and said he was sorry that their old friend, Mr. W. Keeble, was absent through illness, but he would convey to him the best wishes of that meeting.

Regret was also expressed at the absence of Mr. William Elliot, of Kelvedon, who had been indisposed for some time, and the secretary (Mr. F. Ridgwell) was asked to send to him the best wishes of the members.

It was pleasing to see one or two youngsters amongst the company and they appeared to enjoy a few rounds.

Others took part in Grandsire and Stedman Triples, Bob Major, Kent and Oxford Treble Bob, Double Norwich Court, Superlative and Cambridge Surprise.

FALSE PEALS.

To the Editor.

Sir,—One noticed with much interest the fact mentioned in the report of the Peals Analysis Committee that no less than 27 peals had been withdrawn during the year.

The question has often been asked by ringers—How many false compositions are rung? At present, I believe, there is nothing which requires the publication of the figures of any composition, and if the conductor and the peal secretary of the association claiming the peal are satisfied, the peal is accepted and published as true—and yet the figures of the peal may not have been proved except in the most cursory manner. Quite recently a peal was withdrawn, and the conductor honestly admitted in your paper that he had only given the matter the most superficial scan over. It would appear that, provided familiar part ends occur at the correct intervals, in many cases falseness elsewhere is not looked for.

A good example of accepted composition without even the most simple examination was furnished in your issue of March 19th, where the first quarter-peal, given in the beginners' corner, produces 246375 as the first part end, and the next lead is plain! The writer, who, of course, must be an expert or he would never have been asked to write these articles, evidently accepted the figures on the composer's reputation, and the part ends. Had he even thought for a moment he must have realised that rounds were not far away. I wonder how often the second quarter-peal has been rung as a true touch?

How often are peals accepted on reputation and not thoroughly proved?

It had been hoped to bring forward a resolution at this year's Central Council meeting to make it compulsory on all associations to publish their figures in their annual report, and to circulate that report, but, unfortunately, the conditions of Rule 10 were overlooked and this was not possible.

If, however, it is in order and any support is forthcoming, this may be moved when the report of the Peals Committee is being considered.

Another matter which might well be considered by the Council is the publication of a booklet on the proof of compositions.

SCOTTISH ASSOCIATION.

GREATLY IMPROVED RINGING REPORTED.

The annual general meeting of the Scottish Association was held at St. Mary's Cathedral, Glasgow, on Saturday, April 24th, about 40 members being present. Ringing commenced at 2.30 p.m. and the bells were kept going until 4 o'clock, Grandsire and Stedman Caters being rung.

The service was conducted by the Very Rev. K. C. H. Warner, D.S.O., Provost of the Cathedral.

The business meeting followed tea. Mr. Pickett, the Master, in his report, said that the standard of ringing had greatly improved.

The secretary having tendered his resignation owing to pressure of business, Mr. Charles R. Raine, of St. Mary's Cathedral, Edinburgh, was unanimously elected to act as secretary and treasurer.

The Provost, who was in the chair, referred to the loss that the association had sustained through the recent death of Mr. A. E. Wrecks, of Paisley, and the death of Mr. Mann, of St. Cuthbert's, Edinburgh.

After the meeting the bells were kept going till 7.30 p.m., when those who remained finished up with some handbell ringing.

DEATH OF MR. JOHN GOODMAN, SEN.

'FATHER' OF THE DUDLEY PARISH CHURCH BAND.

We regret to announce the death of Mr. John Goodman, sen., of Dudley, Worcestershire, which took place at his residence on April 15th at the ripe age of 83 years. He leaves in bereavement a widow, three sons and four daughters, with whom the greatest sympathy is felt.

Mr. Goodman commenced his ringing career about the year 1871 at Sedgley, Staffs, and after a few years he identified himself with St. Thomas' Church, Dudley, where for upwards of 50 years he had been a regular Sunday service ringer, and the band recognised him as the 'father' of the company because of his interest in beginners.

He rang his first peal in 1872 and had rung altogether 130 peals. He was one of the pioneers in the formation of the Dudley and District Guild in 1899, and remained a member until his death.

The funeral took place on Wednesday, April 21st, the first part of the service being held in Dudley Parish Church, conducted by the Ven. Dr. A. P. Shepherd, Archdeacon and Vicar of Dudley, who is president of the Guild. The interment took place at St. John's Churchyard, Kates Hill, Dudley, the officiating clergyman being the Rev. B. H. Green, Vicar of St. John's and Rural Dean of Dudley.

The Dudley band and Dudley Guild were represented by their secretary, Mr. Herbert Sheppard, and Mr. S. J. Hughes. In the evening a quarter-peal of Grandsire Caters (1,277 changes) was rung at the Parish Church with the bells half-muffled as a last tribute of respect: T. Whorton 1, J. Goodman (conductor) 2, Stanley Prestidge 3, Henry Goodman 4, Harry Goodman 5, Alfred Rowley 6, William Green 7, Harry Hubball 8, William Goodman 9, Samuel Webb 10. The ringers of the 2nd, 4th and 9th are deceased's sons, and of the 5th his grandson.

MIDDLESEX ASSOCIATION TO REVISE RULES.

ANNUAL MEETING AT CRIPPLEGATE.
Loyal Message to the King and Queen.

The prospect of a certain amount of reorganisation in the Middlesex County Association and London Diocesan Guild, whose affairs are now conducted by the district secretaries acting as joint secretaries, was foreshadowed at the annual meeting at Cripplegate, London, on Saturday week. The rules are to be revised, and it was indicated, in a speech by Mr. C. T. Coles, who was the recipient of a token of the members' appreciation of his long services, that this may be one of the points to be specially considered.

There was a large congregation in St. Giles' Church for the service, conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. E. G. Turner). The lesson was read by Mr. J. A. Trollope (vice-president of the association), and the Vicar in his address said it was most appropriate, at that time, to take his text from I. St. Peter, chap. 2:17: 'Honour all men; love the brotherhood; fear God; honour the King.' He was, he said, pleased to welcome the association that afternoon. The connection between the association and St. Giles' had become much closer during the last few years. There had been two peals rung by their members of which the church was very proud, the first, on Monday, May 6th, 1935, in honour of the Royal Jubilee, 5,025 Stedman Cinques, and the second, on June 1st last year, a peal of 5,005 Stedman Cinques, appropriately rung on a great day in English history, the anniversary of Lord Howe's great victory in 1794.

There was one matter, said the Vicar, that he regretted, that the tower was not mentioned in the interesting list of towers in the association's report.

The Vicar went on to give some interesting historical details of the famous peal at Cripplegate, and of the occasions on which they were rung. He also quoted the inscriptions on some of the bells. One of these, closely connected with his text, led him to emphasise the connection between bells and our public and private life. Honour all men, love your own brotherhood, live in peace and good neighbourhood with all men. And again, fear God; be filled with the spirit of God's holy fear. 'This did not mean that they should be afraid of a just God, but that they should have a reverence for Him. And to honour the King was a most appropriate thing to do in this Coronation year.'

Members attended from all parts of the county and from adjacent counties to the number altogether of well over a hundred—one of the largest gatherings in the history of the association. Ringing commenced quite early at St. James', Clerkenwell, where the Master, Mr. A. W. Coles, was in charge. Several methods, including Surprise, were rung. At St. Giles', Cripplegate, Mr. T. J. Lock, District Master, was in charge of the proceedings. Here Grandsire Cinques, Stedman Cinques, Kent Maximus, with sundry 'touches of rounds,' were the order.

The business meeting followed tea at the Zita Cafe, and was presided over by the Rev. W. P. Cole-Sheane (president), supported by the vice-presidents (Messrs. J. A. Trollope and G. W. Fletcher), the joint hon. secretaries (Messrs. C. T. Coles and F. W. Goodfellow), the hon. treasurer (Mr. W. H. Hollier), the Master (Mr. A. W. Coles) and the district officers.

Before the business commenced the following loyal message of congratulation to their Majesties was passed by the members standing: 'The Middlesex County Association and London Diocesan Guild of Change Ringers offer their sincere congratulations to His Majesty King George the Sixth and to Her Majesty Queen Elizabeth upon His Majesty's accession to the Throne, and tender a dutiful expression of their loyalty to your Majesties, and they pray that your reign may be blessed by peace for your people and by happiness for your Majesties' own selves.'

Arising out of the minutes, Mr. Coles said a letter had been sent to the Bishop of London with regard to keeping intact the peal of bells at All Hallows', Lombard Street, when the church was demolished, and a reply had been received from the Ecclesiastical Commissioners stating that the matter would receive attention in due course.

MEMBERSHIP LAPSES.

The annual report recalled the part which had been played by bells during last year on national occasions, and to the completion of the memorial to the late Mr. William Pye by the provision of two bells at St. John's Church, Leytonstone.

Dealing with the membership of the association, the report stated that although three honorary and 80 ringing members were elected, the total at the end of the year showed only a slight increase, it now being 888. Eight members were lost by death and a very large number lapsed through removals, non-payment of subscriptions, etc.

'The lapses through avoidable causes,' said the report, 'is a matter for serious concern, and we do urge local secretaries, not only to see that subscriptions are promptly paid, but to keep the strength of their bands up to a number sufficient to man the bells regularly. Each band, besides being at full strength, should endeavour to teach at least one new ringer every year, and not wait for the time when recruits are so urgently needed that the bells cease, or almost cease, to be rung at all. The future of ringing generally, and of the association in particular, depends upon the efforts of local leaders. See to it now.'

Whilst regretting the losses mentioned above, the report said it was satisfactory to note that a new band had been formed at St.

Matthew's, Bethnal Green, and was making good progress under the tuition of the Ringing Master. At St. Ann's, Stamford Hill, a fresh start had been made, and ringing was in progress, and some recruits who had been given elementary instruction were looking forward soon to start learning change ringing. Help would be appreciated at both these towers. It was hoped next year to record that the towers which had ceased to show any membership at all would once again have come into the fold.

The peal list showed an increase on last year, 55 having been rung. The increase, however, was almost entirely in handbell peals, and it was hoped that in this, the Coronation year, there would be a real revival in peal ringing. Of the 55 peals rung, 10 were on handbells, and the tower-bell peals were rung at 26 churches. The members taking part in the peals numbered 159, a few in excess of last year, and four members rang their first peals. There were 23 conductors, an increase of four. Some 85 members rang their first peals in something new, including several 'firsts' on handbells, five of Spliced Surprise Major in seven methods, two of Cambridge Royal, 21 of various Surprise Major methods, and seven of Stedman Caters.

The report was adopted, as was also the balance sheet, which showed receipts from members in the form of 60 per cent. of contributions from the districts of £22 17s. 6d., and excess of receipts over payments of £1 6s. 2d. The cash in hands of the treasurer is £24 18s. 9d.

Messrs. F. Conley (Chiswick) and W. G. Turner (Willesden) were elected members of the association.

The officers were re-elected as follows: President, the Rev. W. P. Cole-Sheane, who renominated his vice-presidents, Messrs. G. W. Fletcher (North and East District) and J. A. Trollope (South and West District); Master, Mr. A. W. Coles; hon. treasurer, Mr. W. H. Hollier; joint hon. secretaries, Messrs. C. T. Coles and F. W. Goodfellow; auditor, Mr. E. C. S. Turner, A.S.A.A.

It was resolved that the peal books and volumes of 'Bell News' belonging to the association should remain at the Church of St. Giles-in-the-Fields.

Mr. Fletcher stated that a sub-committee had been formed to consider the revision of the association's rules, and hoped at the next annual meeting to be in a position to present a report on the rules. The sub-committee would like to have the opportunity of presenting the drafts to the annual district meetings in the first place, in order to save time at the annual general meeting, and they would also be glad if any members who had suggestions to make or criticisms to offer would send them to the sub-committee for early consideration.

CONGRATULATIONS TO COLLEGE YOUTHS.

Mr. C. T. Coles reminded the members that this year the Ancient Society of College Youths would celebrate their tercentenary. The society was founded 300 years ago and had been in the forefront of ringing nearly all that time. Their records were of the highest class, and no member of the Ancient Society who had taken part in any of their performances had any reason to be ashamed of their achievements. The College Youths had always shown the way in which bells should be rung. He moved that the following resolution should be sent to the society: 'The members of the Middlesex County Association and London Diocesan Guild, assembled in annual meeting, send to the members of the Ancient Society of College Youths sincere congratulations in this, the tercentenary year of that society. Further, they cordially wish success to the members of that society, and a continuance of the high standard of ringing for which they have, for so many years, been famous.'

Mr. Trollope, who seconded, pointed out that the College Youths stood for something more than merely a society. They, in their history, were an epitome of the whole history of the ringing Exercise. Not only the present members, but all ringers were more or less the heirs of that society, and they did well to recognise the great services that the society in the past had rendered to the continuity of the art and science of change ringing.

The motion was unanimously carried.

On the motion of Mr. Coles, seconded by Mr. Goodfellow, a resolution of condolence with the Society of Royal Cumberland Youths on the death of their hon. secretary, Mr. G. A. Card, was passed. Mr. Coles said that Mr. Card, who was 63 years of age, died on April 5th. He was at one time a member of the Edmonton band and of that association. Latterly he did a great work for the Cumberland Youths and was one of those foremost in the recent advance of the society in London ringing.

It was resolved to hold the next annual meeting at Hillingdon.

Mr. Coles urged the members to see that the bells in their own and neighbouring churches were rung for the Coronation. It might be difficult in London to ring all the bells, but those who were responsible for ringing would, he hoped, do their utmost to get the bells rung on that day. He directed attention to the point made in 'The Ringing World' that in places where bells are near houses they should avoid ringing during the time the Coronation service was being broadcast from the Abbey—especially in places where people were apt quickly to get exasperated by the ringing of bells.

Votes of thanks were passed to the Rector of Cripplegate and his assistant priest, to the curate in charge of St. James', Camberwell, and the Rev. A. Lombardini, St. Lawrence Jewry, to Mr. King, the vergier, and to the organist of St. Giles', and to the various tower-keepers and others.

RESTORED PEAL AT WALGRAVE, NORTHANTS.BELLS RUNG FOR FIRST TIME SINCE 1900.

For the first time since they were rung to announce the relief of Mafeking in May, 1900, the bells of Walgrave Parish Church were heard on April 11th on the occasion of the dedication by the Bishop of Peterborough of the restored peal. For nearly 40 years the bells, which were badly out of tune, have been 'tapped' only, as ringing was impossible owing to the unsafe condition of the carrying beams. The bells, a ring of five, with tenor of 13½ cwt., have been tuned and cleaned and now hang in a new metal frame, complete with modern fittings, the work having been carried out admirably by Messrs. Gillett and Johnston, of Croydon.

The Rector (the Rev. A. T. Segger) conducted the dedication service, which was of a bright and simple character, and in the course of it a procession, formed at the altar and consisting of the churchwardens (Messrs. A. Yorke and W. A. Knight), the Rector, the Lord Bishop of Peterborough and the Rector of Isham (the Rev. E. J. Atkins, R.D.), proceeded to the bell chamber, where the ringers were waiting. After the dedicatory prayers five ringers, Messrs. T. Tebbutt, R. Jones, T. Law, G. Valentine and J. C. Deane, members of the Northampton branch of the Peterborough Diocesan Guild, rang a touch of Grandsire Doubles, announcing to the neighbourhood that the bells were again in use.

The Bishop, in the course of his address, said that they were all rejoicing that the bells were no longer dumb, and that the restored peal was now able to fulfil its accustomed task. He had no doubt that all the people in Walgrave had taken a personal concern in the act of restoration, which was first promoted by the Rector about six years ago. They could always appeal for the tower or bells with certainty in any parish, because they were something in which everyone could take a pride. A church building made a special appeal to people, because it was associated with their home. If the church were pulled down and the bells were silent they would feel that something precious had been taken out of their lives.

The Bishop went on to refer to the art of change ringing as very beautiful, and said that its artistic value could not be denied. But the ringing of bells was first and foremost an act of worship, and so it should be regarded. Bellringers were churchworkers in the highest degree, and he wanted them to be recognised as on a level with all other churchworkers.

Other clergy present were the Rev. J. Hotine (Holcot), the Rev. J. M. Turner (Moulton) and the Rev. T. B. Clarke (Loddington). At the close of the service many members of the Diocesan Guild rang on the bells.

Following the service a tea for the ringers was held in the Church School, and the Bishop, the Rector and Mr. Cyril Johnston, of Messrs. Gillett and Johnston, were present.

Recently the Walgrave 'Parish Magazine' found its way to South Africa, and came into the hands of Mr. Nathan Kimbell, who left Walgrave for that country 52 years ago. He at once sent a substantial donation to the Rector and decided to return to his native village for the dedication service. A leaflet with 25 verses of poetry paying tribute to Walgrave bells was handed to each member of the congregation at the service, the poem being entitled 'Walgrave Bells—verses written in 1912 by N.P.K.' 'N.P.K.' proved to be Mr. Nathan Kimbell, who had the satisfaction of assisting in the day's rejoicings at his old 'home town' after an absence of over half a century.

As the bells have been only 'tapped' since 1900 to announce the services, none of the Walgrave ringers has ever pulled a rope. This means that a new hand will have to be trained. A start will be made with 13 men, and if possible 15, so that there will be three teams—the main team, a relief and a young one—each team having five members. Change ringing will be out of the question for some time, but the Rector hopes that the ringers will make good progress and introduce this as soon as possible.

On every hand gratification was expressed at the great improvement effected by the tuning of the bells, and the visiting ringers voiced their complete satisfaction with the 'go' of the peal, both of which facts reflect credit on the bellfounders, Messrs. Gillett and Johnston.

The President also thanked the officers, who, he said, had the complete confidence of the members to conduct the affairs of the association. They should, he said, feel very proud, as a body of ringers, of the most honourable and important place which the bells would have on the occasion of the Coronation. There was nothing more peculiarly national than the ringing of the bells, and many of them would recall the great occasions on which bells had rung out for national events in the past. No other country in the world had such a wealth of bells or such opportunity of celebrating in the most dignified and beautiful way, and one established by such age-long tradition, great national occasions, and ringers felt the reflected honour at the part which fell to them in connection with the Coronation.

The meeting concluded with a vote of thanks to the president. After the meeting, the bells at St. Lawrence Jewry, with the Master in charge, were available, and a large number of ringers took advantage of the opportunity of ringing on this fine peal, in most methods up to London Surprise. At Cripplegate Mr. E. C. S. Turner looked after the ringing, and more Cinques and Maximus, as well as rounds, were rung until 9 o'clock, when ended one of the most memorable meetings in the annals of the association.

WARWICKSHIRE GUILD.SUGGESTED BELL RESTORATION FUND.

Members of the Warwickshire Guild visited Rugby for the annual meeting on Saturday, April 17th, and one of the most important and interesting matters touched upon at the business meeting in the evening was the formation of a bell restoration fund. Mr. Ernest Stone, of Nuneaton, suggested that either a certain percentage of the Guild's income should be set aside annually for building up a bell restoration fund, or that a collection should be taken at each of their quarterly services for the purpose. In view of the large number of restorations which were now going on or being contemplated in Warwickshire, there was a real need for such a fund, and he moved that the question be considered by the committee at their next quarterly meeting.

Other members indicated their support, and Mr. Stone's suggestion was deferred for discussion at a future date.

Ringling during the afternoon took place on the two rings of bells at St. Andrew's Church. As a matter of interest attention was first given to the old ring of five early in the afternoon. The reason for this first choice by the dozen or so ringers who were then present was soon apparent when it was discovered that Mr. J. H. Shepherd was among the early birds and that it was a fresh tower for him. Shortened evensong was held in the church at 4.45 p.m., and was conducted by the Rev. R. S. Wingfield Digby, who also gave the address.

After tea, the business meeting was held in the Church House, and was presided over by the Rev. Wingfield Digby. He was supported by Mr. Joseph H. W. White, Ringing Master, and Mr. Malcolm C. C. Melville, general secretary. Among those present were Messrs. T. W. Chapman and James George (past Ringing Masters), F. W. Perrens, J. A. Fenton, Mr. and Mrs. Hinde, Mr. and Mrs. Beamish, Mr. and Mrs. Argyle, the Rev. J. E. Wigram and ringers from the following towers: Allesley, Nuneaton, Chilvers Coton, Bulkington, Erdington, Lillington, Arley, Monk's Kirby, Stoke, Bedworth, Leamington, Hastings and members of the local band. Welcome visitors included Messrs. E. Pearson, H. H. Alexander and W. Watson, of Banbury, and F. H. Dexter and R. F. Roe, of Leicester.

Apologies were received from the Archdeacon of Coventry, the president of the Guild, and also from the Rev. and Mrs. Moyle, of Chilvers Coton, and Messrs. J. H. Beale, E. Adams and T. Male.

The annual report stated that the total resident membership stood at 137, an increase of seven over the previous year. Twenty-five new members had joined during the year. The peals showed an increase over last year, 16 peals having been rung, making the largest number since 1928. A balance in hand of £25 5s. 6d. was recorded in the financial statement.—Both reports were adopted.

The officers were all re-elected, with the addition of Mr. J. E. S. Moreton as assistant hon. secretary. Mrs. A. Beamish, Mrs. L. J. Hinde and Mr. T. W. Chapman were also elected honorary members of the committee.

Among the 17 new ringing members to be elected were two only 11 years of age, namely, Frank Moreton and Frederick Stone, both of Chilvers Coton. The Rev. J. E. Wigram, the Rev. R. S. Wingfield Digby and Mrs. D. H. Argyle were elected honorary members.

Thanks were expressed on behalf of the Guild by Mr. C. H. Webb to the Archdeacon for the use of the bells and the Church House; to the Rev. Wingfield Digby for presiding at the meeting and taking the service; and also to Mr. E. W. Grocock for presiding at the organ.

Everyone was pleased to see Mr. James George present, and evidence of his recovery from his illness was apparent when he took part in several of the touches. Expressions of appreciation of the work Mr. George had done for ringers at Rugby were given by Mr. J. B. Fenton.

Further ringing took place on the two peals of bells after the meeting until a late hour. Altogether about 50 members and friends were present.

DEATH OF MR. JOSEPH DAVIES.FORMER RINGER AT DERBY, LOUGHBOROUGH AND KIDDERMINSTER.

We regret to record the death of Mr. Joseph Davies, of 13, Stourport Road, Kidderminster, who passed away at his home on April 8th last at the age of 64 years.

Mr. Davies, whose peals totalled 49 (four of which he had conducted), started his ringing career at Crewe and rang his first peal (Grandsire Triples, on the tenor) on July 31st, 1894.

He had resided at Derby and Loughborough, and many of his peals, mostly Grandsire and Stedman Triples, were rung in these districts.

He went to reside at Kidderminster and joined the St. Mary's Church band in 1919. A safe ringer of standard methods, his enthusiasm enabled him to become quite proficient in Surprise methods and later he scored three peals of Cambridge and three of London Surprise Major.

Until two years ago, when he became no longer able to climb the steps, Mr. Davies was a regular Sunday service ringer.

The interment took place on April 12th at Coppenhall, near Crewe, where in his youth he was a chorister for many years. The bells of St. Mary's Church, Kidderminster, were rung half-muffled in the evening.

The sympathy of all who knew him will go out to his widow in her bereavement.

DON'T SCRUB YOUR HANDS!

skin this simple way*

To many people, the problem of getting the hands really clean without harming the skin is a serious one. Grease and grime, which become deeply ingrained into the pores of the skin, are extremely difficult to remove, and ordinary washing with soap or even scrubbing will fail to remove them completely. Housewives, particularly, who complain that their hands get ruined by the nature of their work, will find the preparation called DERMAFOAM, a real "godsend." DERMAFOAM just smooths away dirt and grease without effort. It gets right down into the pores and removes every particle of grime, leaving skin beautifully supple and healthy.

Men, too—when you've finished that dirty job on the car, DERMAFOAM will quickly banish all grease and oil from your hands. It acts almost magically—working under and around the nails and into every minute crease, removing all trace of dirt in a flash.

Engineers, Painters, Car Mechanics, Printers — everyone — will welcome DERMAFOAM, the modern method of cleansing and protecting the hands.

CORONATION BELLS.

Next Wednesday the bells of Great Britain will be celebrating the Coronation of the King and Queen. That they will do it worthily we have not the slightest doubt. There is no event in the life of a nation when the bells more fittingly represent the feelings of the people than when they ring with gladsome clangour for the crowning of a well-loved Sovereign who undertakes the burden of the throne with high hope and expectation. There is something inspiring about the sound of bells heard as part of a people's rejoicing, and nowhere else in the world can bells give such nation-wide expression to this jubilation as in this country. The discordant jangling of the bells in other countries, which sometimes is heard on occasions of festivity, even the playing of the great carillons of Holland and Belgium, cannot convey either in expression or so extensively the spirit of rejoicing as do the hundreds, nay, thousands of peals of bells in city, town and village, far flung throughout this land of ours, when they join their voices in the glad celebrations of the people.

Exactly for how long the church bells have played a part on such occasions, as that in which they will share next Wednesday, it is difficult to know—certainly for nearly four hundred years. The accounts of St. Thomas', Bristol, record ringing for the Coronation of Queen Mary Tudor in 1553 and the accounts of many another church will bear evidence to the ringing of bells for many Coronations, especially after the Restoration, when bell ringing began to make real headway. In the centuries that have passed since then Coronations have always been the occasion for a great ringing of the bells, not only because the ringers themselves have been minded to celebrate the event in that way, but because the public have wanted it and have felt that in the bells was the expression of their own loyalty and rejoicing—that the loud voices of the bells proclaimed, as no other speaker or preacher could, that on that day a Sovereign was crowned and that they were sharing in the nation's pride and joy.

We are sorry for those towns and villages—and there will be just a few—where local circumstances will compel the bells to be silent next Wednesday. These will be chiefly through lack of ringers, but some, like the county town of Oakham, in Rutland, find it impossible to ring the bells through danger to the structure of the tower. Long neglect must have caused this condition of affairs and now, when the bells are wanted, they have got to remain dumb. Oakham has known of the state of the building for at least two years, but nothing was done, and unless the considered advice of the architect is to be ignored, Oakham's bells will not share in the Coronation rejoicing.By happy contrast many places throughout the country have for long past been 'putting their house in order,' in anticipation of the auspicious occasion, among them such important centres as Winchester, Leicester and Birmingham, where the Cathedral bells have in each case been recast. Humbler towns and villages have also done their part in getting their bells ready to acclaim our new King and Queen and to join in the nation's heartfelt expression of love, loyalty and goodwill. Next Wednesday will be one of the greatest days in ringing history.

Ringers, however humble, will be proud to take their part, to put their best into the task which lies before them, and to join in the prayer,

GOD SAVE THE KING.

FOR BEGINNERS.

METHOD GROUPS.

There are many methods which run in groups. They are internally of similar construction, but the various portions are linked together in different ways, it may be by 2nd's or 6th's place when the treble leads, or (in Minor) 5th's place when the treble lies its whole pull behind (7th's in Major when the treble is behind), or it may be by both 5th's and 2nd's or 6th's. In such groups the changes in a course are the same, but the blocks into which they are formed come in a different order, so that in actual ringing the various pieces of work are in a different sequence and a different 'method' is the result. But a knowledge of one method is often a great help in ringing another.

The insertion of a place in the type of methods we are now dealing with causes other bells to dodge; for the same reason the omission of a place eliminates a dodge and the bells, instead, hunt straight off to another position.

In Oxford Bob, which was the subject of an article last week, 4th's place is made twice in each lead and each place compels the bells behind to make a dodge. Between the 4th's places, while the treble leads, 2nd's place is made, which imposes a dodge in 3-4 and 5-6 as well. It is because of these three successive 'places,' 4th's, 2nd's and 4th's, that the two bells behind have a three-pull dodge.

The 4th's places are part of the integral construction of the method, but the 2nd's place is only a link between the leads. In combination with the 4th's places it makes 'Oxford Bob,' but this 2nd's place is not necessary to the construction of a symmetrical method, and when it is omitted it is given the name of Court Bob. But, as was pointed out above, the elimination of a place cuts out a dodge (in this case both in 3-4 and 5-6), and consequently the work occurs in a different order and is linked together in leads, not by a place (2nd's) and two dodges (3-4 and 5-6), but by plain hunting.

Here is a table by which you can ring Court Bob, if you prefer to ring it by that means:—

Pass the treble in 5-6, dodge 6-5 down.

Pass the treble in 4-5, dodge 5-6 up, lie a whole pull behind and dodge 6-5 down (this is sometimes called dodging each way behind).

Pass the treble in 2-3, dodge in 5-6 up.

After the dodging, hunt straight down to lead each time, then:—

Pass the treble in 1-2, make 4th's and lead.

Pass the treble in 3-4, make 4th's and lead.

Observe there is no dodging anywhere but in 5-6.

The natural result of omitting the 2nd's place when the treble leads is to make a 6th's place essential, and in Minor methods, which have 6th's place at the lead end, the bob is made by the bells behind. Whether you have a method with 2nd's place at the lead end or 6th's place, the bob must be made by a bell 'lying still,' that is, making a place, in 4th's. Here are the two forms of bob:—

2nd's Place at Plain Lead	Bob
516342	516342
153624	153624
156342	136642
513624	316524
6th's Place at Plain Lead	Bob
516342	516342
153624	153624
135264	135642
312546	316524

If you want to ring a 720 of Court Bob your observation bell is called In, Out and In, instead of, as in Oxford Bob, Wrong, Right and Wrong; 'In' being, of course, when it runs in to take the treble off the lead, and the 'Out' when the treble takes the observation bell from lead.

Now if you wrote out the full course of Oxford Bob last week, as we suggested, and drew a diagram over it, try an experiment. Cut your strip into five pieces between the changes when the treble is leading; where, in fact, the line appears in the figures above. Then see if you can join these pieces together as Court Bob. Or, if you haven't got your Oxford Bob diagram, write out a course of Court Bob, cut it up in the same way, and transpose the five leads into Oxford Bob. The figures of a lead of Court Bob are the same as those given above the line in the article on page 282 last week. To continue the course, make 6th's place instead of 2nd's in the first row below the line.

THE CORONATION.

PEALS AND OTHER PERFORMANCES.

Important Notice.

It is certain that a large number of peals will be rung on Wednesday and other days next week in celebration of the Coronation.

We urgently request those responsible to forward us the reports immediately after the peals have been rung, and not to wait for several days before posting the details to us.

We are making special arrangements to print as many as possible in the succeeding week's issue, but the intervention of the Whitsuntide holiday will prevent our dealing with them adequately unless those rung on Wednesday are received in this office by Friday.

We shall also do our best to publish Coronation Day touches of not less than 720's on six bells and quarter peals on the higher numbers. We shall also be glad to receive any interesting items relating to ringers or ringing on that day—but all this information must reach us promptly.

Next week, owing to the Coronation, 'The Ringing World' will go to press a day earlier than usual. All matter for insertion must reach the Editorial Office, Lower Pyrford Road, Woking, not later than Monday. The paper will be published on Friday.

HEAVIEST RING OF FIVE IN SOMERSET.

REDEDICATION OF KINGSDON BELLS.

The heavy ring of five bells at Kingsdon Parish Church, Somerset, has been rededicated by the Lord Bishop of Bath and Wells (the Rt. Rev. St. J. B. Wynne Willson). At the same time the Bishop also dedicated an oak tablet bearing the inscription: 'This tablet was placed, and the electric light installed, in this church in memory of John Franklin Neal, died November 29th, 1919, by his widow and children.' In addition to the Rector, the Rev. A. D. Millen, the clergy present at the service were the Rev. C. Large (Ilchester), who acted as Bishop's chaplain, the Rural Dean, the Rev. L. J. Jackson (Vicar of Somerton), the Rev. A. H. Bell (Yeovilton) and the Rev. S. A. Bruce (Pitney), the lesson being read by the Rural Dean.

In his address the Bishop congratulated the parish, the Rector and his helpers on the completion of a 'great task for a small country parish. The glory of Somerset is its towers, and these towers are built for bells. In no diocese is there such a fine collection of towers and bells as here in Somerset. I hope for all time interest will be taken in that fine old English art of bellringing, and that there will always be men and boys coming forward to learn the skill of ringing.'

Among the many ringers present were Messrs. H. Pring (Kingsdon), J. Merritt (Somerton), F. G. Sparks (Charlton Mackarel), W. A. Osborn (North Cadbury), E. T. P. Field and Miss Davis (Thornford), and representatives from Martock, Hewish Episcopi, Yeovil, Tintinhull and Drayton.

Touches of Bob Singles were rung before the service, and Grandsire and Stedman Doubles, in which Mr. Cyril Johnston, of Messrs. Gillett and Johnston, took part, kept the bells going to a late hour.

The bells are reputed to be the heaviest peal of five in Somerset, the tenor weighing 24 cwt. They have been rehung in a new metal frame, which replaces the previous 500-year-old oak frame, which had been severely damaged by the death-watch beetle. No. 4 bell has been recast and now weighs 20 cwt. 3 qr. 13 lb. The other four bells have been carefully tuned and Kingsdon now has a majestic ring of five.

The 'go' and 'tone' reflect the greatest credit on the bellfounders' art, and Messrs. Gillett and Johnston received many congratulations on the excellence of their work.

NEW HYMN FOR RINGERS.

A new hymn for use at ringers' services has been published. The words are by James Benson and the music by A. W. Owen, organist and choirmaster of St. Martin's Priory and Parish Church, Ruislip, Middlesex. The four six-line stanzas are set to a pleasing air. Copies with music can be obtained at the rate of 3s. 6d. for 50 and 6s. per hundred (post free) from Mr. Owen, 17, Lime Grove, Ruislip. The profits will go to the Ruislip Church tower restoration fund. Although the title is 'Ruislip Bells,' the words have no special reference to this Middlesex church, and the hymn adds welcome variety to the limited number of ringers' hymns.

DEATH OF MR. HENRY STAPLETON. WELL-KNOWN BEDFORDSHIRE RINGER.

The death of Henry Stapleton, of Turvey, Beds, took place at his home on Monday, April 26th. He was the esteemed leader of the Parish Church ringers and was only 49 years of age. Born at Keysoe, Beds, he went to Turvey in his early days and had been employed for many years by the L.M.S. Railway Co.

Deceased was taken ill on Christmas Day with heart trouble and was confined to his bed until his death. Of a cheerful nature, he was a man whose company one enjoyed and who could always be relied on. He had marvellous patience with beginners, and during the whole of his connection with the tower he has been continually teaching recruits to maintain the band, for generally as soon as they became a bit proficient his pupils had to leave the village in search of work.

He had kept no record of the peals he had rung, but no doubt they reached a total of one hundred or more, ranging from Grandsire Doubles to Cambridge Surprise Major. He was found mostly on the heavy end, as he was a fine heavy bell ringer. He was a member of the Bedfordshire Association, the Peterborough Diocesan Guild and the Oxford Diocesan Guild. He leaves a widow and grown-up family to mourn their loss.

He was laid to rest in Turvey Cemetery on April 29th amid many tokens of the love and esteem he so much merited, Miss E. Steel and Mr. H. L. Harlow representing the Bedfordshire Association.

Touchoes of Grandsire Triples with the bells half-muffled were rung on Turvey bells during Thursday morning by his old friends and colleagues, and on Friday evening a quarter-peal of Grandsire Doubles was rung with the bells half-muffled at St. Mary's, Keysoe, where his last peal was rung in August last year. It was the first peal on the bells. The quarter-peal was rung by S. Stapleton 1, E. Asque 2, G. Seth 3, A. Stapleton 4, D. Cockings (conductor) 5.

EDINBURGH CATHEDRAL BAND'S SUCCESS.

The first quarter-peal rung by St. Mary's Cathedral band, Edinburgh, without outside help since before the war was achieved on Sunday, April 18th. The ringers are all drawn from the Cathedral congregation, and six of those who took part have been ringing for less than two years. The same band hope to make their first attempt for a peal of Caters on Coronation Day. The method was Grandsire: *G. Duncan 1, *J. Irwin 2, J. Middlemas 3, M. A. K. Simpson 4, H. White 5, B. F. Vernon 6, J. Marshall 7, G. Marshall 8, C. E. Raine (conductor) 9, J. Pryde 10. *First quarter-peal of Caters.

HALIFAX ASSOCIATION.

NEW MILL WIN CONTEST AT LINDLEY.

The quarterly meeting and six-bell contest of the Halifax and District Association was held at Lindley on Saturday, April 24th. Six teams entered the contest to ring 600 changes, with a Plain Course for practice. The draw for the order of ringing was as follows: No. 1 Holmfirth, No. 2 Liversedge, No. 3 Friezeland, No. 4 New Mill, No. 5 Meltham, No. 6 Shelley. All the teams rang Oxford except Liversedge, who rang College Exercise. After the contest the meeting was held in the Parochial Hall, the president (Mr. E. Earnshaw) being in the chair.

It was decided to hold the next committee meeting at Longwood on June 19th and the six-bell prize contest at Almondbury on July 24th, subject to the necessary permission being obtained.

The best thanks of the association were accorded to the Vicar, churchwardens and local company of Lindley.—The Rev. J. B. Elkin, Vicar of Lindley, suitably replied.

The judge (Mr. H. H. Smith) then announced his decision as follows:—

Holmfirth: 72 faults, 5 penalty, total 77.

Liversedge: 241 faults, total 241.

Friezeland: 85 faults, total 85.

New Mill: 58 faults, 10 penalty, total 68.

Meltham: 95 faults, 10 penalty, 105.

Shelley: 205 faults, 5 penalty, total 210.

New Mill were, therefore, declared winners of the cup, and the Vicar of Lindley presented the trophy to the New Mill conductor.

Further ringing on the bells brought another enjoyable day to an end.

RAUNDS RINGER'S WEDDING.

On Easter Monday a pretty wedding was solemnised at the Parish Church, Deeping St. Nicholas, Lincolnshire. The contracting parties were Phyllis Maud, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Ford, Deeping St. Nicholas, and William James, eldest son of Mrs. A. Nunley and the late Mr. G. J. Whitmore, of Raunds, Northants.

The bride, who was given away by her father, was attended by two sisters, Miss Emily and Miss Edith Ford. The best man was Mr. E. E. Whitmore, brother of the bridegroom. A reception was held afterwards at the bride's parents' home.

To celebrate the occasion, touches of Triples and Major were rung during the day at Raunds Parish Church by the local band and Mr. G. H. Roberts, Ringstead.

The bridegroom is secretary of the Thrapston Branch of the Peterborough Diocesan Guild, and both he and the best man are members of the Raunds St. Peter's Society. Their future address will be 80c. High Street, Raunds, Northants.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

Congratulations will be extended to the Guild of Stepney Scholars, who ring the bells of St. Dunstan's Church, upon successfully accomplishing their first peal. Last Saturday they rang Vicars' peal of Grandsire Triples, the first by all the band and at the first attempt.

The Guild was only formed in 1935 and they would like to express their thanks to those ringers from outside who have given them so much help and encouragement.

The Windsor district will miss Mr. Alan Pink, who has removed to Ealing, on transfer from the Eton to the West Ealing branch of the Westminster Bank. During his stay in the Windsor area Mr. Pink put a great deal of enthusiasm into ringing, and, as our readers are aware, pioneered the ringing of many new Surprise methods.

A new composition of 6,176 Bristol Surprise Major, with the 5th and 6th their extent in 5-6, has been rung at St. Peter's, Ashton-under-Lyne. It is the composition of that old ringer, Mr. J. S. Wilde, who for so many years now has been residing in Dunedin, New Zealand. It shows that his interest is still as deep as ever, and that he has lost none of his skill as a composer.

Mr. G. R. Browning, who has just rung his first peal—a peal of Grandsire Doubles at Cockington, Devon—is 75 years of age. He must be nearly if not quite the oldest 'first pealer' on record.

In our report of the hallowing of the bells of Leicester Cathedral the tenor was given as 24 cwt. 0 qr. 20 lb.; it should have been 25 cwt. 0 qr. 20 lb.

Here is another instance of enthusiasm for ringing. Some members of the Yorkshire Association have made a point for some years of travelling to London by a cup final excursion and ringing somewhere outside London. This year four went to Old Windsor for an attempt for Yorkshire Major (and got it). Previous peals have been rung at Ashted and Ewell, and meetings have been attended at Fulham, Mitcham, Leatherhead, Guildford, Lambeth, etc. How's that?

The Exercise will join in offering congratulations to Mr. George Williams, Master of the Winchester and Portsmouth Diocesan Guild, who is 80 years old to-day, and, like a celebrated advertisement character, 'still going strong.'

THE COLLEGE YOUTHS' TRICENTENARY FESTIVAL.

A LORD MAYOR WHO WAS MASTER OF THE SOCIETY.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—In reference to your recent remarks upon the above, we shall all welcome the work of Mr. J. A. Trollope, to whose researches we are much indebted.

I do not know what his reference will be in respect to our Master for 1684, Sir Henry Tulse, who served during his Lord Mayoralty. But I have discovered a few interesting facts as to his life and death. It may suffice, however, for the present if I say that he was held in the greatest respect by both King and citizens, and that he was remarkable for his straight dealing and his attachment to the Church. In enlarging on the latter, I would refer to the now demolished Church of St. Dionis, Backchurch.

On the destruction of the church in the Great Fire, Sir Henry was active in its rebuilding (among his gifts was the font, now at St. Dionis', Parsons Green, S.W.). It was natural, therefore, that he should have been interred in the church. At its demolition, some 60 years ago, his and some other slabs were reset in the small, and still existing, churchyard. It is now indecipherable, but I find that it read thus:—

In a Vault Underneath
this Stones Lyes Buried the Body of Sr. Henry Tulse who Departed this life the 31st Day of August, 1689.

May I suggest that this year (say in August) some suitable notice be taken of this neglected gravestone? I, for one, should be happy to contribute to its recutting as an honour to a famous Master and Lord Mayor of London.

NO BELLS FOR CORONATION DAY.

OAKHAM TOWER UNSAFE FOR RINGING.

The Coronation Committee of Oakham, Rutland, voicing the feeling of their townsmen, desired to have the bells of the Parish Church rung for the Coronation festivities. But Oakham tower in 1935 was declared to be unsafe for the ringing of the bells. At the request of the Coronation Committee, the Vicar (the Rev. C. O. R. Wormald) recently communicated again with the architect, Mr. Leslie T. Moore, F.R.I.B.A., asking his advice concerning the ringing of the bells for the Coronation.

In his reply, Mr. Moore wrote: 'As I presume that the tower is in the same state as when I saw it in 1935, and the balance of the forces produced by bellringing is the same, I must point out that the effect of ringing even for a short period undoubtedly shortens the life of this mediaeval tower and the whole structure of the nave.'

'I am personally very fond of bells, and much regret that those at Oakham should be silent, but, as an architect, I am certain that the whole structure has suffered, and will do so from the mechanical forces set up if the bells, as now hung, are rung.'

BIRMINGHAM CATHEDRAL'S NEW BELLS.

A FINE RING OF TEN.

Broadcast on Opening Night.

A large congregation gathered at St. Philip's Cathedral, Birmingham, on Saturday evening (St. Philip's Day), when the Lord Bishop of Birmingham dedicated the new peal of ten bells, recast to commemorate the Coronation of King George VI. The scheme was made possible largely through the generosity of one of Birmingham's leading citizens, Sir Charles Hyde, Bart., a newspaper proprietor, and the Cathedral now possesses one of the best peals of ten bells at their weight in the country. The work was carried out by Messrs. Gillett and Johnston, who are to be congratulated upon producing such an excellent ring of bells; a peal well worthy of the great city over which they will be heard.

As many of our readers know, the old ten bells, most of them dating from 1750, besides being of very inferior quality, had got into a dilapidated condition. Indeed, no band had tackled a peal on them since the year 1903—and no one wanted to. It was no pleasure to ring there. All this, however, has been changed, and with a ring increased in weight and of the very highest tonal quality—the tenor is now 31 cwt. 21 lb. in D—Messrs. Gillett and Johnston have worthily upheld their high reputation. The resistance of the tower has been substantially increased by lowering the bell frame level some 10ft., coupled with the insertion of massive steel girders to carry the new iron frame.

The service at 6 o'clock was conducted by the Provost (Bishop Hamilton Baynes), and among the congregation was the Lord Mayor of Birmingham. Many ringers were present from a distance, Bath, Swindon, Coventry, Derby, even Scotland being represented, as well as the numerous towers in the Birmingham district. Unfortunately, Mr. Cyril Johnston was prevented by illness from being present. The service began with the ringers' hymn, 'Unchanging God,' and after the verses, Psalm cxii, was sung. The Bishop, preceded by the choir, churchwardens and clergy, then proceeded to the west end of the church during the singing of the hymn, 'O God, our help.' After the dedication, the bells were heard for the first time and created a very satisfying impression. They were rung in rounds, as clergy and choir returned to the chancel, by members of St. Martin's Guild, under the direction of Mr. George Fearn, who has recently been appointed Tower Warden.

After the hymn, 'Rejoice with one accord,' the Bishop offered the special prayers customary to these occasions, including those for the worshippers, the newly-married, the sick, the absent, the departed and the ringers. The anthem, 'Rejoice in the Lord,' was beautifully sung by the choir, and after further prayers the impressive service concluded with the hymn, 'We love the place, O God.'

Subsequently an opening touch of Stedman Caters was rung by the band who had earlier rung the rounds: G. E. Fearn 1, F. E. Haynes 2, D. T. Matkin 3, A. Walker 4, E. T. Allaway 5, H. H. Fearn 6, T. H. Reeves 7, F. Price 8, A. E. Norman 9, W. T. Froggatt 10. The critical listeners outside heard the full beauty of the bells and passed appreciative comments upon them.

THE BROADCAST.

Subsequently other touches were rung, and then, at 7.45 p.m., the bells went 'on the air' through the Midland Regional wavelength for a quarter of an hour, and thousands far beyond the confines of Birmingham heard them.

The broadcast included a talk given by a vice-president and former secretary of St. Martin's Guild, Councillor Paddon Smith, and he gave the public much interesting information, with the sounds of the bells as a background. When he had finished the bells were tuned in at full volume, and the broadcast of Stedman Caters, 'Queen's' and 'Rounds' went on until eight o'clock.

The microphone for the bells was on the roof of the Cathedral; the talk was delivered into another placed near the lectern. The control panel was in the vestry. Some points from Mr. Smith's broadcast will be of interest to those not fortunate enough to have heard it for themselves.

The Cathedral, better known perhaps to the older generation as St. Philip's Church, is a building of stone in the Italian style, commenced in 1711 and consecrated in 1715. It is said that the church was called 'St. Philip's' because it stands on land, formerly called 'The Horse Close,' which was conveyed for the purpose by a family named Philips.

Over the south-west door is a tablet which reads: 'His Most Excellent Majesty, King George, upon the kind application of Sir Richard Gough to the Right Hon. Sir Robert Walpole, gave £600 towards finishing this church, A.D. 1725.' (This was, of course, King George I.)

As a mark of appreciation of his services in this and other directions, the crest of the Gough family, a Boar's Head, was used in the handsome weathervane which surmounts the dome.

The Cathedral is a dignified building, a prominent architectural feature of the city, and Hutton, the historian, was most eloquent in its praise. He says: 'This curious piece of architecture, the steeple of which is erected after the model of St. Paul's in London, but without its weight, does honour to the age which raised it and to the place that contains it. Perhaps the eye of the critic cannot point out a fault which the hand of the artist can amend; perhaps, too, the attentive eye cannot survey this pile of building without communicating to the mind a degree of pleasure. If the materials are not proof against time, it is rather a misfortune to be lamented than an error to be complained of, the country producing no better.'

THE TWO OLD PEALS.

The old peal of bells dated from 1750 to 1823, several of them having been recast at different dates. They were put in the tower to replace a still earlier peal, of which it is recorded under date 1750 that 'the ten bells now being in the said Church of St. Philip, two of which are untunable, and some unfit for use, shall be taken down and sold, and ten other new bells shall be purchased.'

If those words had been written in 1936 about the peal that, in its turn, had just been replaced, they would have been equally true, for a more unmusical, unmelodious ring of bells it is impossible to imagine. In fact, there was only one good one among them, the tenor, or largest bell, which weighed about 29 cwt., and was dated 1772.

In addition to the name of the founders, Pack and Chapman, of London, 1772, this bell bore the inscription:—

In wedlock bands all ye who join
With hands your hearts unite
So shall our tuneful tongues combine
To laud the nuptial rite.

For several years the old bells, besides being untunable, had been unringable, and with the approach of the Coronation, in connection with which it was naturally desired that the bells should be rung, the Church authorities took advice as to what would have to be done in order that the Cathedral bells should play their part in Birmingham's celebrations. Experts were called in and they advised to the effect that not only were the old bells a very poor lot, requiring recasting, but that the old frame, which had done duty for upwards of 200 years, was much decayed and no longer safe.

The firm of bell founders at Croydon, to whom the work was entrusted, guaranteed to have them ready for the Coronation, and they have carried out their contract with a thoroughness and dispatch that are a credit to them.

The new ring of ten bells, which are hung in a massive steel frame, range in weight from the treble, or smallest, which weighs 5 cwt. 3 qr. 2 lb., to the tenor or heaviest (the one with the deepest note), which turns the scale at 31 cwt. 21 lb., whose note is D.

The inscriptions on the old bells have been reproduced, and the new tenor bears the following in addition:—

'These bells were recast for the Coronation of King George VI. chiefly through the generosity of Sir Charles Hyde, Bart.'

Then follows the founders' name and the date 1937. The total weight of the peal is 6 tons 6 cwt. 3 qr. 9 lb.

Several prominent Birmingham men visited the Croydon Foundry to witness the casting of the Cathedral bells, among whom were the late Rt. Hon. Sir Austen Chamberlain, K.G., M.P., Sir Patrick Hannon, M.P., and the Rt. Hon. L. S. Amery, M.P.

Mr. Smith went on to refer to the tuning of bells and added: 'The bells you are listening to have been tuned by the very latest method and are being rung by members of the St. Martin's Guild of Campanologists, one of the oldest ringing societies in the country. It was established in the year 1755, from which date its records have been preserved intact. Many of the records are beautifully embellished and are wonderful specimens of the art of calligraphy, well worth inspection. The books are preserved in the bellry of St. Martin's Church.'

BROADCAST SUCCESS.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—I was agreeably surprised and simply delighted with the excellent broadcast of St. Philip's (Birmingham Cathedral) bells on Saturday evening. From first to last it was remarkably clear and distinct, and certainly by far the best example of 'bells on the air' I have ever listened to!

I would also like to congratulate the ringers of St. Martin's Guild on their magnificent striking on a new ring of bells, especially considering that it was an 'opening,' with the usual difficulties to contend with, such as new ropes, etc.—but we all well know their ability!

Special mention must be made of the exceptional and interesting commentary of Mr. Paddon Smith (which could not have been improved upon). It was typical of his well-known ability as a speaker, the pitch of his voice being simply perfect. Every word came over clearly and distinctly, coupled with actual facts and commonsense, so very different to other 'announcers' we have sometimes been obliged to listen to, whose only aim appears to be to talk a great deal too quickly, thus drowning the music we are supposed to hear, with a lot of senseless twaddle telling us in affected tones about the 'er-a-missege of the-er-a-Billz'—as if we do not know a great deal more about 'Billz' than they do!

FALSE PEAL OF CAMBRIDGE.

Dear Sir,—I regret that the peal of Cambridge Surprise rung at Edenbridge on April 3rd is false, for which I am personally responsible. I tender to the band my sincere apologies for the unfortunate error.

GUILDFORD DIOCESAN GUILD.

NEW CATHEDRAL BELLS FUND.

Bishop Unveils Ringers' Memorial to late Provost.

The annual meeting of Guildford Diocesan Guild was held on Saturday week, when, during the customary service, held in the Cathedral, the Bishop of Guildford dedicated a memorial tablet in the ringing chamber to the late Provost E. O. Kirwan. The tablet records a half-muffled peal rung on the occasion of the Provost's death, and has been erected by the Cathedral Society. The unveiling took place in the presence of the members of the society, those who took part in the peal and the principal officers of the Guild.

Preaching afterwards, the Bishop, basing his remarks on the text, 'I was glad when they said unto me we will go into the house of the Lord,' paid a tribute to the late Provost. In him, he said, the outstanding characteristics of kindness, humour, love of the young, devotion to duty, public-spirited interest in the town in which he lived and served all came quite natural and simply out of the renewal of his mind, heart and spirit as he came day by day, as a vital part of his life, to lead and share in that worship. He found in prayer, praise and sacrament the vital essentials of life and the centre of all was worship.

'You have done the right thing in placing your record of him in the bell chamber, remembering what manner of man he was,' the Bishop continued. 'I am sure he would have appreciated this gift of affection, friendship and loyal remembrance. He was very deeply interested in your work; he often spoke to me about it.'

Expressing his appreciation of the work the Guild was doing for the service of Christ in the diocese, the Bishop said: 'I think all of us who have in one capacity or another to serve outwardly the religion of the Church of Christ, whether a Bishop or a bellringer, have to say we have our special need, and quite humbly and sincerely to think about the deepening of our own faith and life. Don't you feel that one needs to say to one's self sometimes, "God help me to keep inwardly loyal to the cause I serve outwardly"? If this Guild of Bell-ringers helps us in our membership and by our gathering for prayer and praise to be more loyal and sincere, then thank God for it—it is giving the greatest thing for God, and may God prosper its work, counsel and endeavours.'

The business meeting of the Guild was held at the Royal Grammar School. Mr. Walter Harrison (vice-president) was in the chair and was supported by Major J. H. B. Hesse (Master), Mr. J. Corbett (hon. treasurer) and Mr. J. S. Goldsmith (hon. secretary). There was an attendance of 80 members.

MESSAGE TO THE KING AND QUEEN.

At the outset the following resolution of loyal congratulation to their Majesties the King and Queen was passed by the members standing:—

'The members of the Guildford Diocesan Guild of Church Bell-ringers, in annual meeting assembled, humbly beg to offer to your Majesty and to Queen Elizabeth their loyal congratulations upon your accession to the Throne and your approaching Coronation. They pray that your Majesty may have a long and peaceful reign over this country and the Empire.'

The annual report stated that there are still a number of churches in the diocese which are not affiliated to the Guild and where the ringers are not members. In these cases the committee appeal to the church authorities to encourage their ringers to join, and to the ringers to take a wider view of their office than the four walls of their own tower.

The year 1936 was marked by a steady pursuit of the objects of the Guild, but the membership again showed a slight decline. The number who paid their subscriptions for 1936 was 71 honorary and 392 ringing members. This compared with 81 honorary and 396 ringing members in 1935. The falling off in the honorary members was a matter of rather serious concern, for without the help of the honorary members the Guild's work must suffer severely. The committee felt that the ringers at their respective towers should themselves make an effort to bring in more honorary members. The hon. treasurer's statement of accounts showed that the general balance has been increased from £23 12s. 9d. to £25 8s. 3d.

The deficit on the annual dinner continued to grow. This year it was £4 16s. This was due to the diminishing attendance, and, if the function was to be maintained, the committee felt that members must give it better support.

The New Cathedral Bells Fund stood at £5 1s. 6d., but it was hoped to increase this more rapidly from now onward. This fund was one way in which ringers could take their special share in helping forward the completion of the new Cathedral.

The Benevolent Fund had greatly benefited from the collecting boxes placed in the towers. This source produced an addition of £11 5s. 5d. to the fund, which now stood at £29 2s. 9d. Happily there had been no demands upon it up to the present.

The districts were in a healthy financial condition. The aggregate cash balances had increased from £42 11s. 8d. to £46 19s. 11d.

Twenty-three district meetings were held, including two joint meetings with neighbouring guilds and associations. Admirable work was being done in all the districts by the officials, but there was still need for a more general support from the members.

There had again been considerable activity in bell restoration in the diocese, and once more the services of the Master of the Guild (Major J. H. B. Hesse) had been invaluable to the Church authorities in these matters.

During the year 21 peals were rung, of which three were on hand-bells. This was the lowest number in the history of the Guild, and only once before have peals been rung in so few towers. There were 58 churches with rings of bells in the diocese; in only 11 of them were peals rung in 1936. While service ringing should play the most important part in a ringer's activities, peals could be a valuable training in making an efficient ringer, and the committee would like to see much greater interest shown in this direction by all members capable of peal ringing. Four members rang their first peal during the year.

NEED OF MORE HONORARY MEMBERS.

Submitting the annual report, the Chairman called attention to the decline of honorary members owing to deaths and removals, the numbers having dropped from 81 to 71. He thought it would add to the strength of the Guild, and the Guild's finances, if the towers would endeavour to obtain more honorary members and try to raise the number to 100. He congratulated the Guild on the position of its Benevolent Fund, which now stood at £29 12s. 3d. Fortunately they had had no calls on the fund. For the presence of that fund they were indebted to their Master (Major Hesse), who had done such very good work. Mr. Harrison asked the meeting to remember the faithful departed, particularly mentioning the Provost.

The report was seconded by Mr. R. Whittington (Cranleigh) and adopted.

The balance sheet, submitted by Mr. J. Corbett, recorded a balance of £25 8s. 3d., as compared with £23 12s. 9d. at the beginning of the year.

The following officers were elected: Vice-president, Mr. W. Harrison; Master, Major J. H. B. Hesse; hon. treasurer, Mr. J. Corbett; hon. secretary, Mr. J. S. Goldsmith; and hon. auditor, Mr. R. Hasled.

The hon. secretary gave notice that he proposed to retire at the end of the present year, when he would have held the office for 10 years.

Upon the suggestion of the hon. secretary, Archdeacon Newell and Bishop C. H. Golding-Bird were added to the list of vice-presidents.

The Library Committee, consisting of Messrs. C. Hazelden, W. Harrison, S. Radford and S. Petter, was re-elected. The librarian (Mr. C. Hazelden) said they had some interesting and exceedingly valuable books in their library, but there was not a very big demand for them. The library is open every Thursday evening and at other times by arrangement.

It was decided to hold the summer festival at St. Martin's, Epsom, on July 10th.

CATHEDRAL BELL FUND.

Mr. G. Grover said the Cathedral Bell Fund was launched in a humble way with a contribution of one guinea a year. Now that progress was being accelerated on the Cathedral, he proposed that all towers in the Guild should be invited to contribute annually to the fund a minimum of 1s. a year.

Mr. J. S. Goldsmith seconded, and appealed to the Guild, as churchmen and churchworkers, to contribute their quota towards the fund. They would have to put in a lot of work if they were going to provide one or two bells. The resolution did not make it compulsory on any tower to contribute.

Major Hesse supported the scheme, and asked if they could find out whether the architect and bellfounders were going to confer. Was the tower going to be right for sound or ventilation? He could not find anyone who had seen the plans.

Mr. Goldsmith: We have committed ourselves to the principle. The architect is a gentleman who is amenable to reason.

Major Hesse: Can we put it on the minutes that we confer when the time comes?

Mr. Goldsmith: It is on the minutes that the sum is available for the disposal of the Guild for this purpose if they are satisfied with the scheme.

The resolution was then carried.

The Chairman proposed vote of thanks to the Bishop for coming to preach and dedicate the memorial; to the Rev. H. D. Pilcher for arranging the service; to Mr. A. J. B. Green for the use of the Grammar School; to the incumbents of St. Nicolas' and Shalford for the use of the bells, and to Mr. A. H. Pulling for preparing the room.

CONTINUANCE OF ANNUAL DINNER.

Discussion followed on the question of the continuance of the annual dinner in view of the fact that there was a deficit of £4 16s. on the dinner account last year. The meeting decided to continue the dinner.

Major Hesse announced that Mr. W. R. Melville was shortly leaving the district. He felt certain that every one of them would regret his departure. He had been a hard worker for the Guild and a regular attendant at its meetings. They wished him and his family well wherever they went (applause).

The Chairman endorsed the sentiments of Major Hesse, and recalled his long association with Mr. Melville dating back to the time when the meetings of ringers were held at the Star Hotel.

Mr. Melville thanked the company. He said that ringing had always been his greatest pleasure, and he always put his heart into it to do his best for his own tower. He would endeavour to come up for the annual meeting.

Tea was afterwards served at Abbot's Kitchen. Ringing took place during the afternoon and evening at the Cathedral and St. Nicolas' and Shalford Churches.

WILLENHALL'S NEW BELLS.

STAFFORDSHIRE TOWN GETS CORONATION PEAL OF TEN.

The little Staffordshire town of Willenhall, tucked away in the Black Country a few miles from Birmingham, has risen to a great occasion by providing a ring of ten bells at the old Parish Church of St. Giles in time for the Coronation. Formerly its smoke-grimed tower contained a peal of eight with a tenor of just over 12 cwt. These bells have been recast by Messrs. Gillett and Johnston with extra metal, the new tenor being just over 16 cwt., and they are an extremely musical ring in F sharp. Two of the bells have been hung over the other eight, and, as the old clock case, which previously formed a serious obstruction in the ringing room, has been transferred to the floor above, an excellent circle has been made possible.

The dedication of the bells took place on Sunday in the course of the morning service, the Lord Bishop of Stafford performing the ceremony. There was a large congregation, including many ringers. The Vicar (the Rev. C. A. Turner) conducted the service, and after the dedication choral Eucharist was celebrated.

The local band rang the opening rounds on the new bells when the dedication had been completed, those taking part being C. Wallater 1, I. Evans 2, E. Hortin 3, A. Evans 4, J. Luck 5, B. Munday 6, S. H. Coley 7, R. Sidebottom 8, W. Edge 9, A. E. Reed 10. At the conclusion of the service an opening touch of Stedman Caters was rung by H. Knight (hon. secretary of the Society for the Archdeaconry of Staffs) 1, J. S. Goldsmith (Woking) 2, W. Fisher 3, F. Perrens (Coventry) 4, H. Howell 5, E. G. Key 6, H. Boswell 7, B. Horton 8, A. Paddon Smith (Birmingham) 9, T. J. Elton (Walsall) 10. The touch was conducted by Mr. Frank Perrens, who learned to ring at Willenhall.

ST. GILES' CHURCH, WILLENHALL.

Afterwards other visitors had the opportunity of ringing and warmly praised the bells, which are a real delight to hear and ring.

The bells hang in an entirely new metal frame, and have, of course, all the most modern fittings. The back bells bear the inscriptions of the old eight, some of which had done service for a hundred and fifty years. The additional bells are memorial gifts.

The details of the bells as they now hang in the tower are as follow: Treble.—Inscription: Given by his daughters, Emily Fox and Mary Ethel Dyke, in memory of Henry Vaughan, died 1919. Weight, 3 cwt. 2 qr. 25 lb.

2nd.—Given by her daughters, Emily Fox and Mary Ethel Dyke, in memory of Hannah Vaughan, died 1886. 3 cwt. 3 qr. 15 lb.

3rd.—Mears and Stainbank, founders, 1873. We for other churches three. Are ready to make sounds of glee. 4 cwt. 1 qr. 3 lb.

4th.—Come away make no delay, 1786. 4 cwt. 2 qr. 21 lb.

5th.—1786. 4 cwt. 3 qr. 18 lb.

6th.—Peace and good neighbourhood, 1786. 5 cwt. 2 qr. 21 lb.

7th.—Mears and Stainbank, Founders, London, 1873. 6 cwt. 3 qr. 14 lb.

8th.—John Beebe and Thos. Reynolds, Chapel wardens 1786. 7 cwt. 2 qr. 11 lb.

9th.—To the church the living call and to the grave do summon all. 1786. 10 cwt. 2 qr. 15 lb.

10th.—Mears and Stainbank, Founders, London. This peal increased from six to eight by addition of treble and tenor, 1873. George H. Fisher, Vicar. Ralph D. Gough, John F. Seyde, Churchwardens. These bells were recast to commemorate the Coronation of King George VI. 16 cwt. 1 qr. 1 lb.

Total weight of the peal, 68 cwt. 2 qr. 4 lb.

Bells Nos. 3 to 10 have also inscribed on them: 'Recast by Gillett and Johnston, Croydon, 1937.'

LINCOLN DIOCESAN GUILD.

RECORD YEAR OF PEALS.

The annual meeting of the Lincoln Diocesan Guild was held at Lincoln on April 24th. Ringing commenced on the twelve bells at the Cathedral, and at the six-bell towers of St. Peter-at-Gowt's and St. Botolph's at two o'clock, and at 3.15 a special service was held in the Morning Chapel of the Cathedral, when the address was given by the Very Rev. the Dean of Lincoln, president of the Guild. Ninety-four members and friends afterwards sat down to tea at the Co-operative Hall in Silver Street, and the business meeting immediately followed, presided over by the Dean of Lincoln.

The officers were all re-elected, namely, the Dean of Lincoln, president; Mr. Rupert Richardson, Master; and Mr. F. W. Stokes, hon. secretary and treasurer.

The meeting unanimously confirmed the election of 14 non-resident life members. The report and balance sheet were also adopted. The report shows that the Guild has established another record, 118 peals having been rung during the year 1936, as against the previous record of 108 in 1935. The record for the number of methods rung in a peal of Minor is now again held by the Guild, due to the achievement of members of the Eastern Branch in ringing a peal in 70 methods. Another noteworthy performance was the ringing of a peal of Bob Major at Barton-on-Humber by eight churchwardens from the Diocese of Lincoln. The number of 'first pealers' has increased from 15 in 1935 to 26 in 1936, which is a sign of good progress. There were 31 conductors.

Ringings were continued at the several towers during the evening. The Master took charge of the ringing at the Cathedral, although by reason of a broken wrist, sustained in an accident in London recently, he could not himself take an active part in the proceedings.

THE DEATH OF MR. A. E. WREAKS.

LONG SERVICE TO LANCASHIRE ASSOCIATION.

As already briefly recorded, the death took place on April 11th of Mr. Albert E. Wreaks, of Paisley, who was formerly, from 1886 to 1911, assistant and general secretary of the Lancashire Association. Mr. Wreaks was on his way to ring for service when he was suddenly taken ill in a tramcar and passed away almost immediately.

Mr. Wreaks was born at Pendleton, Manchester, and began his ringing at Pendleton Church in 1879. Subsequently, from 1880 to 1889, he was a member of the band at Manchester Cathedral, then for a short time he was at St. Alban's, Rochdale, followed by some 14 years at The Saviour's Church, Bolton. In 1904 he returned to Pendleton, and in 1911 his business took him to Paisley, Scotland, where he had ever since been attached to St. James' Church.

He rang his first peal at Manchester Cathedral (the first in the present tower) on June 19th, 1880, and had rung in all 215 peals, many of which he had conducted. His 60th peal as conductor was rung for the Diamond Jubilee of Queen Victoria.

In addition to his long membership of the Lancashire Association, which he represented on the Central Council in the years 1895 and 1896, Mr. Wreaks joined the Ancient Society of College Youths in 1883 and had thus been a member for 54 years. He was also a member of the Yorkshire Association, the Durham and Newcastle Diocesan Association and the Scottish Association. When he retired from the secretaryship of the Lancashire Association he was presented with a clock as a mark of appreciation of his long services.

BARNSELY AND DISTRICT SOCIETY.

FAREWELL MEETING TO VICAR OF FELKIRK.

The Barnsley and District Society held their monthly meeting at Felkirk, near Barnsley, on Saturday, April 10th, when about 30 members attended from Adwick-le-Street, Barnsley, Badsworth, Cawthorne, Darfield, Earlsheaton, Hoylandswaine, Sandal, South Kirkby, Wath, Wragby and the local company.

The bells were rung in the afternoon, and a short service was conducted by the Vicar, the Rev. H. R. H. Coney, whose address was most encouraging and very appropriate to the occasion.

At the business meeting, which followed tea in the adjoining school-room, the Vicar presided.

The usual business was disposed of and Mr. C. D. Potter moved a vote of thanks to the Vicar for the kindness he had always shown towards the society. As everyone present was aware, it would be the last meeting at Felkirk with the Rev. H. R. H. Coney as Vicar, and the members were more than sorry to lose him. It was, however, nice to think he was not going out of the diocese altogether and that they should be able to keep in touch with him. They wished him much happiness in his new post as Canon Commissioner to Wakefield Cathedral.

The Vicar suitably replied. He said he appreciated very much that the meeting was specially arranged before his departure. He was proud to be present at such a gathering, and in his new work, which would take him far and wide, he hoped to meet many ringers and help them all he could.

Darton was chosen as the next place of meeting, to be held on May 8th. Further ringing continued until 9 p.m. in a great variety of methods.

At a committee meeting held after the usual meeting it was decided to hold the annual shield contest on Saturday, July 10th, at Cawthorne, entries for the contest to close on June 26th.

A 'QUEEN MARY' BELL.SIR PERCY BATES' GENEROSITY.

A new tenor bell has been added to the ring at Charles, North Devon. It is the gift of Sir Percy Bates, chairman of the Cunard White Star Company and patron of the living of Charles, as a thank-offering for the successful launching of the great liner, 'Queen Mary.'

The bells of Charles were formerly a ring of five, cast by William Evans, of Chepstow, in 1733, the tenor weighing approximately 6½ cwt. The new bell, weighing approximately 9 cwt., sounds a whole note below the old tenor, and the old 3rd has been tuned down half a note to suit the key of the augmented peal. The old bells have been rehung with new gudgeons and ball bearings, whilst the new tenor is equipped with modern fittings throughout.

The work has been carried out by John Taylor and Co., of the Loughborough Bellfoundry, and everyone present at the dedication on April 28th expressed their satisfaction as to the 'splice' and at the much improved ringing order of the five original bells.

The dedication was performed by the Bishop of Exeter (Dr. C. E. Curzon), who, in his address, spoke of the beautiful peals of bells in Devon. He said he had discovered there were more bellringers, and therefore, he supposed, more bells, in that diocese than in any other diocese in England. He was very proud of that.

The Rev. W. W. Joyce, the Rector, at a typical Devonian social function which followed the dedication, said their patron had been very munificent. When he (the Rector) came into the parish their patron had paid £500 for dilapidations and other sums ranging from £100 to £25 for other purposes, in all totalling over four figures. He wished publicly to thank Sir Percy Bates for his great benefactions.

The Bishop of Exeter also referred appreciatively to the generosity of Sir Percy Bates, and said he might suggest to other patrons they could equally care for the parishes which were in their charge.

After the service the West Buckland School Guild rang touches of Stedman and Grandsire Doubles. The boys were complimented on their standard of striking. The only other ringers present were from the local and neighbouring bands, who all rang call changes.

GUILDFORD RINGER'S DEPARTURE.RETIREMENT OF MR. W. R. MELVILLE.

Guildford Cathedral and Guildford Diocesan Guild are losing one of their stalwarts by the departure of Mr. W. R. Melville from the town. Recently Mr. Melville retired from employment with Messrs. Dennis Bros., Ltd., the celebrated makers of motor fire engines and commercial vehicles, where he has been engaged in the coachbuilding department for 21 years.

Mr. Melville came to Guildford from Tring, Herts, where he was employed by the late Lord Rothschild for 15 years. Since he has been in Guildford he has been closely identified with the Holy Trinity (now the Cathedral) band of ringers, campanology being his almost life-long hobby. He was for many years steeplekeeper at the tower, and lately was Master of the Guildford District of the Guildford Diocesan Guild, a position he resigned about three years ago. Prior to the formation of the Guild he was actively identified with the Guildford District of the Winchester Diocesan Guild.

He has rung in many parts of the country, and on the occasion of the visit of H.M. Queen Mary to Guildford on April 1st he rang his hundredth peal at Holy Trinity Church.

Mrs. Melville is also a ringer, having taken up ringing during the war years. She is one of the few women to have rung a peal in the Cathedral Church.

For about 15 years Mr. Melville has been a sidesman at Holy Trinity, and was at one time a member of the Parochial Church Council. He is a member of the Executive Committee of the Guildford Diocesan Guild. Mr. and Mrs. Melville have two daughters. The elder, Miss Melville, is assistant superintendent of the Queen's Nurses at Birmingham, and the younger, Mrs. C. H. Kippin, is well known for her ringing ability.

On April 20th, his 65th birthday, Mr. Melville attended a social at the Stoke Hotel, Guildford, to receive parting gifts from colleagues in the coach-building department of Messrs. Dennis Bros. On behalf of the staff, Mrs. A. Whittitt, wife of the manager of the department, presented him with a chiming clock inscribed as follows: 'Presented to W. Melville on his retirement by the coach department of Dennis Brothers, Guildford, 1937.' Mr. Whittitt gave Mrs. Melville a handbag, and the staff also sent two oak fireside chairs.

On Sunday week in the belfry, the Cathedral Society presented Mr. Melville with a case of pipes and Mrs. Melville with a 'Pyrex' dish on silver stand. On Tuesday evening Mr. and Mrs. Melville, with the Rev. H. D. Pilcher, priest in charge of the Cathedral, and members of the Cathedral band, were entertained to supper by Mr. T. W. White (tower hon. secretary) and Mrs. White. The loyal toast was drunk and good wishes expressed by Mr. White to Mr. and Mrs. Melville, to whom the Rev. H. D. Pilcher presented a pair of candlesticks made from the old oak frame removed from Holy Trinity tower at the bell restoration in 1913, and which since that time had been in possession of the late Provost. These candlesticks will be one of Mr. and Mrs. Melville's most prized possessions in their new home.

Mr. and Mrs. Melville left Guildford on Wednesday week for their new home at Kingsworthy, near Winchester.

RINGERS' MEMORIAL.TRIBUTE TO LATE MASTER OF BATH AND WELLS ASSOCIATION.

A memorial to the late Rev. E. S. C. Lock, who was for ten years Master of the Bath and Wells Diocesan Association, has been erected at the entrance to the tower at West Pennard Church, and was dedicated on April 17th by the present Master, the Rev. W. M. K. Warren.

The inscription on the memorial is as follows: 'This tablet was erected by the Bath and Wells Association of Change Ringers in grateful memory of Ernest Seppings Cardew Lock, M.A., Priest, Master of the association 1925-1935.' Mr. Lock was Vicar of West Pennard and Rural Dean. He died on July 19th, 1935. Upon his gravestone in the churchyard were placed a cross and wreath composed of gorse blooms.

Amongst the towers represented at the gathering were those of West Pennard, Glastonbury, Street, Evercreech, Castle Cary, Diunder, Croscombe, Kilmersdon, Radstock, Frome, Chilcompton, Chewton Mendip, Bath, North Cadbury, Bruton, Ilminster and Taunton. The clergy present, in addition to the Rev. W. M. K. Warren, were the Revs. L. S. Lewis, chairman of the Glastonbury Branch, C. L. Buckingham, W. Bromham, Street, C. C. Angell, of Evercreech, with the Vicar of West Pennard (the Rev. T. H. Richards). Members of the family of the late Rev. E. S. C. Lock who attended were Brig.-Gen. Lock and Mrs. Lock (brother and sister-in-law), Mrs. Codner (sister), Mr. E. Lock (nephew), and Miss C. E. Lock (niece). There was a large congregation of parishioners and friends.

Before and after the ringers' service touches in various methods were rung on the peal of six bells in the tower.

The lesson during the service was read by the Rev. W. M. K. Warren, taken from Revelation vii., 9. This was preceded by an appropriate psalm and followed by the Nunc Dimittis. Various collects and prayers followed, and after the hymn, 'O heavenly Jerusalem,' the choir and the robed clergy, the Revs. T. H. Richards, W. M. K. Warren and L. S. Lewis, proceeded to the vestry, and grouped around the tablet were also the official representatives of the association, Messrs. D. G. Taylor (hon. secretary, Ilminster), E. H. Nash (Frome Deanery), W. A. Osborn (Castle Cary Deanery), F. D. Rickards (Jurisdiction of Glaston), P. Merson (Taunton Deanery), J. Hunt (committee member) and J. T. Dyke (hon. general secretary). The dedication was performed by the Rev. L. S. Lewis with appropriate special prayers. The procession then returned to the chancel, where the service proceeded.

An address was given by the Rev. W. M. K. Warren, who said they had dedicated that tablet to the late Master of the association as an offering of their affection for him, that his name might be remembered there, as they would all do though he had gone from among them. He was a man whom they had honoured for his good works. He was a clergyman who had worked in that parish and with them. There were few clergymen who took the interest that he did in their work as ringers. When last week it was necessary to select a clergyman for an office amongst the ringers of one of their deaneries, and they looked through the list of the clergy, it was surprising how few there were who were ringers themselves. Mr. Lock was a ringer as well as a clergyman, and he was valued by their members for his brotherly attitude towards them. That brotherly attitude was characteristic of ringers. They were ready to welcome a stranger who visited the towers, and any clergyman who did so, or a ringer from another place, might be sure of being heartily welcomed, as he had found recently. Those who lived in that parish could tell of his faithful labour among them as a parish priest, and how much work he did for his Master in that place. Through all he was a humble minded man. The last thing that would ever have entered his mind was to think of his name being recorded on such a tablet as they had just dedicated. But they desired to recognise his work as a fellow-labourer with them, as their Master and for his brotherly love to them.

Following the service, tea was served in the Parish Schoolroom, and at its conclusion, whilst other ringers returned to the tower, a meeting of the Glastonbury Branch was held, presided over by the Rev. L. S. Lewis, supported by the secretary, Mr. F. D. Rickards. About a score of members were present. It was decided to hold the next meeting at Street on Saturday, July 17th.

Thanks were accorded to the Vicar, choir and churchwardens, to Mr. Warren for his address, to those who catered for the tea, and other helpers, on the motion of the Rev. L. S. Lewis, seconded by Mr. W. Marsh, of Street. The Rev. W. M. K. Warren briefly responded.

TILEHURST BELLS RESTORED

Messrs Mears and Stainbank have restored the bells at Tilehurst, Berks. The frame has been taken to pieces and re-erected in a quarter-turned position on a double foundation of steel girders. The bells have been rehung on ball bearings.

They were reopened on Saturday, April 17th, and the first quarter-peal since the rehanging was rung on them by the local band on April 19th as a compliment to their foreman, Mr. Harry Goodyear, on the fortieth anniversary of his wedding. The method was Grandsire Triples, and the ringers were: A. Bowers 1, J. Barnes 2, H. Hunt 3, E. H. Langley 4, H. Barnes 5, R. W. Runham (conductor) 6, H. Goodyear 7, D. Sellar 8.

DON'T SCRUB YOUR HANDS!

skin this simple way*

To many people, the problem of getting the hands really clean without harming the skin is a serious one. Grease and grime, which become deeply ingrained into the pores of the skin, are extremely difficult to remove, and ordinary washing with soap or even scrubbing will fail to remove them completely. Housewives, particularly, who complain that their hands get ruined by the nature of their work, will find the preparation called DERMAFOAM, a real "godsend." DERMAFOAM just smoothes away dirt and grease without effort. It gets right down into the pores and removes every particle of grime, leaving skin beautifully supple and healthy.

Men, too—when you've finished that dirty job on the car, DERMAFOAM will quickly banish all grease and oil from your hands. It acts almost magically—working under and around the nails and into every minute crease, removing all trace of dirt in a flash.

Engineers, Painters, Car Mechanics, Printers — everyone — will welcome DERMAFOAM, the modern method of cleansing and protecting the hands.

NEXT TUESDAY'S COUNCIL MEETING

The Central Council's meeting at Canterbury next Tuesday seems likely to be one of the 'quietest' of recent years. Unless the committee reports give rise to unexpected debatable matter, there is only one subject likely to produce diversity of opinion. There are an unusually large number of reports to be dealt with, but except for the Analysis and Records Committee's report, none of them has yet been published. The work of the Council is carried on very largely through its committees, most of whom find work to do throughout the year. Sometimes the early publication of their reports has aroused interest in the Exercise generally, for ringers, like other folk, dearly love an argument. At one time, too, it was the only way in which the members of the Council gained any fore-knowledge of what they were to be asked to discuss. Often, however, a report was only verbally presented at the Council meeting. The adoption of more businesslike methods has now resulted in the circulation of all reports to the members prior to the meeting, which has the advantage of giving the representatives time to make a study of them beforehand.

The only motion on the agenda is likely to arouse discussion, for it brings up again, on the subject of peals of Doubles, a similar question to that raised on peals of Minor. There is most likely to be sharply divided opinion on the motion as it stands, for the admission of anything but true six-scores of Doubles in peals is a matter on which most ringers take a firm stand. As with Minor, there are some people who are prepared to admit that in Doubles anything is permissible so long as the changes are produced by a recognised method and do not occur more or less than 42 times each in a 5,040. They put forward their arguments in the case of peals of Minor, and will doubtless do so again, with equal cogency, in the case of the Doubles.

On the other hand, the majority of ringers, we think, are old fashioned enough to hold that if Doubles are to be allowed to rank as peals—and it is too late now to go back upon that subject—the six-scores, which are the foundation, must be individually true. Some, and probably a large part of the Exercise who give it a thought, hold that rounds must come at the end of each six-score. Between this and the licence which would be given by the movers of the resolution which is to come before the Council, there is a gap, into which the 'splicing' of one six-score into another finds a place. Where exactly between the various degrees of liberty the Council will land remains to be seen, but it must not be overlooked that in this question more is at stake than peals of Doubles.

FOR BEGINNERS.

DOUBLE METHODS.

When the work of a method with the treble in front (that is, in Minor when it is below 4th's, and in Major below 5th's) is reproduced, relatively, with the treble behind (above 3rd's in Minor and above 4th's in Major), that method is a 'double' method. A simple example is Double Bob.

In Plain Bob, the 2nd's place made when the treble is leading causes the bells above to dodge in pairs. If a place is made immediately below the treble when that bells lies its whole pull behind (5th's place in Minor, 7th's in Major), the bells below dodge in pairs. 'Double' Bob is the method in which both 2nd's and 5th's are made and dodging takes place on each occasion.

It is interesting to notice the effect of this on the 'lead head' (that is the position of the bells at the backstroke lead of the treble). Rounds is the first lead head. The second lead head in Bob Minor is 135264; the third lead head is 156342. You get this by transposing 135264 by 135264. Now if you introduce 5th's when the treble is behind as well as 2nd's when the treble is in front, then your second lead head is 135264 transposed by 135264, giving you 156342, and your third lead head is 156342 transposed by 156342, viz., 142635.

Without going into a detailed explanation of the reason, it may be stated that all 'regular' Minor methods produce the same lead heads, although, as we have seen above, they may come in a different order. There are five lead heads in a course, and, beginning, as we always must, with rounds, they can come up in four different orders:—

First lead head:	123456	123456	123456	123456
Second lead head:	135264	156342	164523	142635

If you work out the courses under each of these heads, by using the transpositions shown in each case, you will find that, as we said above, they produce exactly the same lead heads, but in a different order.

All this may seem to have little to do with 'double' methods, but it is one of the established facts about 'regular' methods which beginners should know and remember, because it will help in an understanding of certain groupings of methods, which we hope to deal with later.

But, now, about these double methods. In examining their construction, and, at the moment, we will deal only with Minor, you want to write out a course, draw your diagram over it, and then divide it from top to bottom with a line drawn between the 3rd and 4th figures. When you have done this you will see that the 'work' on each side of the line is exactly balanced, that you can, in fact, turn it upside down, read your method from bottom to top, and find it is the same either way.

When we explained Oxford Bob we said it consisted of 4th's place made twice inside each lead, and 2nd's place when the treble leads. Now Double Oxford Bob contains all these places, made when the treble is below 4th's, and corresponding places, two of them in 3rd's and 5th's place when the treble is above 3rd's. Here is a lead, but we recommend you to write out the full course and study it. Compare its construction with Oxford Bob:—

Oxford Bob	Double Oxford
123456	123456
214365	214365
241356	241356
423165	423165
432615	243615
346251	426351
364521	243651
635412	426315
653142	246135
561324	421653

156342	142635

The two methods are totally different to ring; and in some ways Double Oxford should prove easier than the single variety. There is really very little to remember. There is a three-pull dodge each way (that is, down and up, with 2nd's place between) on the front; and a three-pull dodge each way (that is, up and down, with 5th's place between) behind. In between, whether going up or down, there is a dodge in 3-4, places 'across the treble' (that is 4th's and 3rd's when going up or 3rd's and 4th's when going down), and another dodge in 3-4.

If you look at the figures above you will see the lead head of the double method, 142635, is a double transposition of the 156342 of the single method.

If you want a 720, you can call Double Oxford, as you call the single method (because, in both methods, 2nd's is made when the treble leads) Wrong, Right and Wrong, with an additional single called at the otherwise plain Right, at half-way and end. Remember, however, that while in Oxford Bob the Wrong is the third lead of the course, in Double Oxford the Wrong is the fourth lead.

There is the same alternative extent, with the fifth called Right, Wrong and Right, as there is in Plain Bob.

MR. J. BENNETT IN U.S.A.

RINGING AT KENT SCHOOL.

When the 'Queen Mary' docked at Southampton on Monday, one of her passengers was Mr. 'Jim' Bennett, of Lewisham. He had just finished 'a quick one'—no, not the kind usually associated with that phrase, but a swift visit to the United States. Mr. Bennett travelled out on the 'Berengaria' and spent about four and a half hectic days in America, during which he visited Niagara Falls (463 miles from New York), went to Kent School, Connecticut, and did some ringing, saw the famous carillon of 72 bells with 18 ton bass at Riverside Church, New York, and had a breathless ride to the top of the Empire State Building, 1,250 feet from the ground.

His visit to Kent School took place on Monday, May 3rd, and there he met the students who are endeavouring to carry on the ringing introduced when the new ring of bells was installed at the School Chapel. Prior to the usual short 6.15 p.m. service, various touches of Grandsire Doubles and Triples and rounds on the excellent peal of ten bells were rung.

After service and supper, by the kind permission of the Rev. Father F. H. Sill, O.H.C., further ringing was carried on.

Among the several touches brought round were 120 Grandsire Doubles by Theodore Sterling, jun. 1, James Girdwood 2, James Bennett (conductor) 3, George Mallory 4, Joseph Bodell, jun. 5, William Taylor 6.

Also 168 Grandsire Triples by Theodore Sterling, jun. 1, Franklin Seeley 2, J. Bennett (conductor) 3, Harry Van Rensselaer 4, Joseph Bodell, jun. 5, James Girdwood 6, George Mallory 7, Julian Simmons 8. Two probationers, Dudley Amos and George Whittlesley, also took part in some rounds, etc.

Great credit is due to Father Sill and the students for maintaining a change ringing band at Kent School under very difficult circumstances. No instructor has been available since the return to England of Mr. I. J. Attwater, who first initiated this band into change ringing.

Any visiting ringers to the United States may be assured of a very warm and hearty welcome from Father Sill and the students.

OXFORD DIOCESAN GUILD.

AN HARMONIOUS BRANCH.

The annual meeting of the East Berks and South Bucks Branch of the Oxford Diocesan Guild was held at All Saints', Boyne Hill, Maidenhead, members from Beaconsfield, Boynce Hill, Bray, Burnham, Clewer, Cookham, Farnham Royal, Fulmer, Hughenden, Marlow, Slough, Stoke Poges, Wendover, Old Windsor, Wooburn, High Wycombe and West Wycombe being present. The Guild service was conducted by the Vicar, the Rev. W. S. Mahony, and an interesting sermon was preached by the Rev. Canon C. E. M. Fry, R.D.

Tea was enjoyed by some 60 persons in the Parish Hall, Mrs. Walker and Mrs. Eldridge having provided an excellent repast. Owing to illness, the chairman, Sir Charles A. Bennett, was unable to be present, and the Master of the Guild (the Rev. Canon G. F. Coleridge) was, therefore, asked to preside at the business meeting. The vice-chairman (Mr. W. H. Fussell), Deputy Master (the Rev. C. Elliot Wigg) and general secretary (Mr. R. T. Hibbert) were also present.

Several new members were elected and the statement of accounts was accepted. The district has a balance of £27 14s. 3d. The secretary, having read his report, said that as it seemed to be one long grouse, he would tell them how nearly they had lost it. He caused much laughter with the story.

The Branch Ringing Master's report was unanimously accepted, and a recommendation from the committee that five guineas be given to the Stoke Poges Bell Fund was also passed.

The officers were re-elected en bloc, also the seven representatives for the General Committee.

It was decided to take part as usual in the joint meetings with neighbouring associations and guilds on August 28th and October 9th.

Mr. W. H. Fussell proposed a vote of thanks to all those who had helped to make the meeting a success, the Vicar, the preacher, the organist, Mr. W. H. Walker (foreman) and the ladies who had served the tea.

Mrs. A. D. Barker proposed a vote of thanks to the Master for conducting the meeting, and to the Deputy Master and general secretary for their presence.

Canon Coleridge expressed his very great pleasure at being able to come to this branch annual meeting and see how harmoniously the branch was conducted, which lightened the work of the general officers. He also reminded the members that good striking, the foundation of all good ringing, was the thing all ringers should aim at.

The Deputy Master (the Rev. C. Elliot Wigg) thanked the members for their welcome, mentioned that he had been meeting a certain individual at other branch annuals, and said that, in his opinion, this was the most efficiently run of all branches.

Mr. R. T. Hibbert gave his usual contribution to the proceedings. He said he had been meeting men with whom for over 50 years he had had real friendship. There was no lack of young faces in that branch. He hoped to meet them all for several more years, and if other branches would meet more often, it would help to keep the Oxford Guild at the top of the tree.

A short silence was observed in memory of Mr. Frank Boreham, of High Wycombe.

After the meeting, in answer to a letter from the branch, the following communication was received from Buckingham Palace:—

'The Private Secretary is commanded to convey to the members of the East Berks and South Bucks Branch of the Oxford Diocesan Guild of Church Bellringers the King's thanks for their kind message of good wishes in connection with the forthcoming Coronation of their Majesties.'

NEWBURY BRANCH VOTES GRANT FOR BEENHAM.

The spring meeting of the Newbury Branch was held at Aldermaston on Saturday, April 24th. About 40 ringers attended during the afternoon and evening, the following towers being represented: Bucklebury, Beenham, Chieveley, Compton, East Ilsley, Newbury, Thatcham and Aldermaston. Visitors attended from Basingstoke, Highclere, Overton and Swindon.

The service was conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. F. Newham) and the address given by the Rev. R. Howes (Vicar of Beenham). Mr. L. A. Nutley was at the organ.

Tea at the Hind's Head Hotel was followed by the business meeting, over which the Rev. R. Howes presided in the absence of the Rev. W. Kingsley Kefford (chairman). He was supported by the hon. secretary and treasurer, Mr. H. W. Curtis.

The summer meeting was fixed for Beenham in June.

A grant of three guineas was voted towards the rehanging of the bells at Beenham.

Two new members were elected.

Votes of thanks were accorded to the Rev. F. Newham, the Rev. R. Howes, Mr. L. A. Nutley and Mrs. Hunt for providing the tea. Various methods up to Double Norwich Major were rung during the afternoon and evening.

ALDBOURNE, WILTS.—On March 27th, a quarter-peal of Grand-sire Doubles was rung as a farewell to Miss J. Elliott and D. Avery: H. Palmer 1, W. N. Hawkins 2, T. J. Palmer 3, T. A. Palmer (conductor) 4, P. Newman 5, G. Barnes 6.

MANCHESTER TOWN HALL BELLS.

The new bells at Manchester Town Hall installed by Messrs. J. Taylor and Co. were formally opened on Saturday by the Lord Mayor of Manchester. The bells are now 24 in number. The great hour bell, weighing 8 tons, is hung in the dome of the tower with the remaining 23 bells below. Thirteen of the bells are hung for ringing, these being a ring of 12 with tenor 43 cwt., note B, and an additional sharp second to produce an octave with the 8 as tenor bell.

DEDICATION OF BURTON HASTINGS BELLS.

A GIFT FROM THE BARRON BELL TRUST.

The bells of St. Botolph's, Burton Hastings, were dedicated by the Lord Bishop of Coventry on Saturday, May 1st. The tiny church proved quite incapable of holding all the parishioners and visiting ringers who desired to attend the service, and the congregation overflowed into the church walk and the village street.

The church had three bells, and two trebles have been added to make them into a ring of five. The cracked tenor bell has been recast and the peal hung lower down in the tower, with new fittings and new framework. The inscriptions are as follows:—

Treble.—3 cwt. 1 qr. 18 lb. Note F sharp. J. Taylor and Co., Loughborough, 1937. This peal was augmented to five bells by the Barron Bell Trust, 1937. Emma Barron, Founder; F. Hopkins, C. M. Walroud, W. H. Eldred, Trustees.

Second.—3 cwt. 3 qr. 1 lb. Note E. J. Taylor and Co., Loughborough, 1937. To commemorate the Crowning of King George VI.

Third.—4 cwt. 1 qr. 6 lb. Note D sharp. Bryanus Eldridge me facit, 1659.

Fourth.—5 cwt. 1 lb. Note C sharp. Henry Bagley made mee, 1687.

Tenor.—6 cwt. 3 qr. 9 lb. Note B. Praise God only.

This bell was badly cracked and has been recast; its date is probably about 1600. The original inscription has been perpetuated.

The service was conducted by the Rev. Mostyn Robinson (Vicar of Wolvey with Burton Hastings). Special prayers were said, and the service took the form of shortened evensong.

During the singing of a hymn, a procession was formed and made its way to the west end of the church, where the Bishop, whilst holding a bell rope, dedicated the bells, and asked the Vicar and churchwardens to receive them for the service and glory of God.

Immediately after this a few rounds were rung by the Burton Hastings and Wolvey ringers.

In the course of a striking address the Bishop spoke of the church, which had come down through the ages and yet still stood at the centre of their village life. It was his privilege to thank all who had helped in bringing about that day, so that a dream could be realised, that of Burton's bells ringing for the Coronation. With regard to the bells, they could not have them sending out their message without the ringers. Change ringing was a true English custom. There was hardly any other country where the bells were rung like they were in England. People did all sorts of queer things with bells. When the bells of Jerusalem were broadcast he knew it was said that people wished bellringers from England had been there to ring them. He hoped there would always be the bellringers and that their relationships with the Vicar and congregation would always be of the best.

It was no good, the Bishop continued, dedicating bells to the glory of God unless there were people who were going to answer the summons and call. The bells spoke of the harmony which marked a Christian congregation; expressed sympathy at times of sorrow and joy; whilst they also bore witness to the love of Christ. There were many who never said a word in season about what Christianity had done for them. They might talk about the English reserve in making excuses for that, but he thought it was everyone's duty to tell it out, like the bells, into the streets, the workshops and everywhere.

Immediately after the service a representative band rang the first touch on the bells, and then they were thrown open to visiting ringers. The ringers were also entertained to tea in the Parish Schools by the kindness of the Vicar.

NORTH STAFFS ASSOCIATION.

CORONATION PEALS.

A meeting of the North Staffordshire Association was held at Leek on Saturday, May 1st. Forty-seven members and friends were present from Brown Edge, Burslem, Burton-on-Trent, Cheadle, Draycott, Derby, Kingsley, Kidsgrove, Leek, Longton, Norton, Newcastle, Stone, Stoke-on-Trent, Tunstall and Uttoxeter.

A hearty welcome was extended to all present by the Rev. J. F. S. Martin (curate), and a vote of thanks was proposed to the Vicar and the ringers of Leek for the use of the bells by Mr. T. Hurd, seconded by Mr. A. D. Steel.

Congratulations were extended by Mr. W. P. Deane, on behalf of the association, to Mr. T. Hurd, on completing his 100th peal.

Reference was made to the proposals regarding 'Coronation' peals. Mr. J. E. Wheelton withdrew his proposition that all peals rung during May should be recognised as Coronation peals, and proposed that should a band fail to ring the peal arranged for a Coronation peal in May, it may attempt it until the end of June.—This view was strongly supported by the meeting.

One honorary member, the Rev. Brookes (Rector of Longton), was elected.

NORWICH DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION.SOUTH NORFOLK BRANCH'S NEW SECRETARY.

The South Norfolk Branch of the Norwich Diocesan Association spent an enjoyable afternoon at Pulham Market on Saturday, April 24th, when 39 members supported the meeting, at which a new secretary of the branch had to be elected on account of Mr. Nolan Golden's appointment as general secretary of the association.

The Rev. R. Hugh Stacey, Rector of Pulham St. Mary, conducted the service and delivered an address. Tea was partaken of in the Rectory Room.

At the business meeting which followed, Mr. William L. Duffield presided, supported by the Rev. R. Hugh Stacey, the Rev. Canon T. J. Perowne, Mr. N. Golden (general secretary and treasurer), Messrs. E. G. Bennett, A. G. Harrison, C. J. More, R. Riches and E. Whiting (members of the committee), and representatives from Alburgh, Diss, Redenhall, Saxlingham and the local band, while other branches were represented by members from Halvergate, Norwich, Swaffham and Wymondham.

The Chairman referred to Mr. Golden's appointment to the secretaryship creating a vacancy in the branch officers.

Mr. Golden spoke of the happiness the work had given him, and proposed that Mr. Albert G. Harrison, of Diss, be the new secretary. This was seconded and carried unanimously.—Mr. Harrison expressed his thanks and his willingness to undertake the work.

Mr. Charles Loomer, of Redenhall, was elected a member of the committee in place of Mr. Harrison.

The following elections took place: Capt. Andrew Johnstone, R.N., of Alburgh (performing member), Mr. Robert D. Guntton, of Alburgh (ratification of belfry election) and Mr. Frederick W. Munnings, of Mendham (re-election).

It was decided to visit Kenninghall on July 3rd and to include a visit, if possible, to Quidenham.

Votes of thanks to the Rev. R. Hugh Stacey for his hospitality and for conducting the service, to the helpers at tea and to the organist concluded the business of the meeting.

A variety of methods were rung during the afternoon and evening, including attempts at Bob Major, Kent and Oxford Treble Bob, Double Norwich, Cambridge, Superlative, London and Bristol Surprise.

BURNHAM, BUCKS.—On Saturday, March 20th, after an unsuccessful attempt for a peal of Kent Treble Bob by the local band, a quarter-peal (1,264) Bob Major: B. O'Neill 1, M. A. Blamey 2, P. A. Blamey 3, C. A. Burgess 4, J. E. Taylor 5, G. W. Lommer 6, G. H. Limmer 7, G. Gilbert (conductor) 8. First quarter of Major by ringers of 1, 2, 3 and 4.

MIDDLESEX COUNTY ASSOCIATION.'SPECIAL' METHODS FOR MEETINGS.

A glorious summer's afternoon should have attracted a crowd to a North and East District meeting of the Middlesex County Association and London Diocesan Guild at Pinner on Saturday, May 1st, but there was only a moderate attendance. Perhaps it was the cup final; possibly the bus strike; or a combination of both. However that may be, the 30 or so ringers who did attend were given a real royal welcome. In fact, there were so many flags and banners that it was difficult to see the church when looking up the main street in this fine old village.

Ringling commenced some little time after that advertised, and at 4.30 a short service was held. The Vicar (the Rev. Eric Barnes) gave a cordial welcome, and some interesting and useful thoughts on the Coronation, to the ringers present. After tea the usual business was held, and this very necessary, but sometimes boring, part of the day's proceedings was quickly disposed of, under the able chairmanship of Mr. G. W. Fletcher.

Harrow Weald was chosen for the next meeting on May 29th, and it was decided to give a further trial to St. Lawrence Little Bob Major as the special method. The hon. secretary reminded members that if they experienced any difficulty in obtaining the figures of the methods advertised for special practice, these could be found in the Central Council publications, on sale at a cheap rate, as advertised in 'The Ringing World.'

Mr. G. W. Fletcher proposed a vote of thanks to the Vicar for his address at the service and for the use of the bells, to the organist and choir, and to Mr. A. J. Harding for making arrangements for the meeting. This was carried with acclamation, and the Rev. Eric Barnes, in reply, said he was very glad indeed to see the members of the association, who were always welcome at Pinner.

A brief interlude on the handbells followed, after which more ringling took place on the fine peal in the tower, under the able guidance of Mr. T. J. Lock, who gave opportunity to all to ring the methods of their choice. Included in the ringling were an excellent touch of St. Lawrence Little Bob, the special method for the day; another of Cambridge Court Bob, to show that a previous special method had not been forgotten; and a touch of Spliced Surprise Major in five methods, as a grand finale!

In connection with the special methods chosen for practice, the hon. secretary would like it to be known that these are circulated, with the notice of meeting, to all affiliated towers. He will be prepared to make arrangements with any unattached members to supply them with copies at the time the tower notices are sent out.

BELFRY GOSSIP.

The Rev. F. J. O. Helmore, for many years hon. secretary of the Kent County Association, is about to retire from the position of Minor Canon of Canterbury Cathedral, which he has held for 58 years. A band of grandfathers rang a peal in seven Minor methods at Kempston Beds, on Saturday, and it is believed to be the first rung for the Bedfordshire Association by a band consisting entirely of 'granfers.' Mr. H. L. Harlow, who took part, is also a great-grandfather. The peal was called by the youngest member of the band.

A peal of 'Real' Double Norwich has been rung at Crayford. Other similar peals have been rung before, and we wonder who first seized upon the rather stupid way of describing this form of ringing the method. Double Norwich is just as 'real' whether bobs are made when the treble is behind or not.

Bobs made in 3rd's place when the treble is in 8th's do not make the method any more real; in fact, we should think the only thing they really do is to break away from Double Norwich pure and simple. We don't blame the Crayford men; they have only called it by the name others have used before them. It is another instance of the loose application of terms in ringing.

UNSAFE TOWERS.

To the Editor.

Sir,—Your article on a certain tower in which ringing has been forbidden because the tower is considered unsafe raises the question as to the position in which the Parochial Church Council are thereby placed.

Juries are very inclined nowadays to give heavy damages for injuries, and if ringing has been stopped, evidence of an incontrovertible nature has been gratuitously provided for anyone who may imagine he has been injured by the state of the fabric.

Is there no insurance expert among us who would explain the exact position?

ANOTHER BELFRY ROMANCE.

MARRIAGE OF MR. N. S. BAGWORTH AND MISS M. GREENALL.

At St. Andrew's Parish Church, Enfield, on April 24th, another belfry romance culminated in the marriage of Miss Elsie M. Greenall, a member of the Edmonton band and the Ladies' Guild, and Mr. Norman S. Bagworth, honorary secretary of the Metropolitan Police Guild.

The Rev. E. Cooke, Rector of St. George-the-Martyr, Southwark, the tower at which the Metropolitan Police Guild meet, officiated, and the hymns were 'The Voice that breathed o'er Eden' and 'Praise, my soul, the King of Heaven.'

The bride, who was given away by her father, was attired in a dress of oyster satin, an embroidered veil and halo of orange blossom, and carried a sheaf of arum lilies. She was attended by two bridesmaids, her sister and a friend, who wore ground length frocks of eaudenil satin, and carried sheaves of iris.

After the ceremony, the bride's mother held a reception in the Church Room, which was attended by a considerable number of ringing friends of the bride and bridegroom. Mr. and Mrs. Bagworth left later for Abingdon for their honeymoon.

A peal of Stedman Triples was attempted at Edmonton in honour of the occasion, but, unfortunately, came to grief after 55 minutes. It has been suggested since that the sole cause of the breakdown was 'weddingitis.'

ST. MARY'S, NOTTINGHAM

MR. RALPH NARBOROUGH ELECTED RINGING MASTER.

A meeting was held in the belfry of the above church on April 26th to appoint a Ringing Master in the place of the late Mr. Albert Coppock.

The Right Rev. Neville S. Talbot, D.D., M.C., Vicar of St. Mary's, presided, and on his special recommendation the ringers (with the exception of Miss Thompson, who expressed a wish not to vote) unanimously elected Mr. Ralph Narborough as their Ringing Master.

Mr. Narborough has been a member of this band since 1929, and he has the good wishes of the band now under his leadership. He was formerly Ringing Master at St. Peter's, Wisbech, and formerly represented the old Central Northants Association on the Central Council.

THE FALSE PEAL OF CAMBRIDGE.

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—It was very generous of Mr. O. H. Kippin to take the entire blame for the false peal of Cambridge Surprise Major rung at Edenbridge.

My proving of the peal, as I thought, was entirely separate from the plan used by Mr. Kippin, but in both cases the course had 25346 was the stumbling-block, and I wish to offer my sincere apologies to the band who rang the peal for the oversight (first found by Mr. Kippin), which was as much, or more, my fault than it was Mr. Kippin's.

DEVON GUILD.

BRANCH MEETING AT BICKINGTON.

A quarterly meeting of the Mid-Devon Branch of the Devonshire Guild was held at Bickington, near Newton Abbot, on Saturday, when ringers were present from Kenn, Newton Abbot, Buckfastleigh, Collaton, Paignton and Cockington. Ringing commenced on the handy peal of six bells after three o'clock, and a service was later held in church, conducted by the Rev. W. R. D. Mills, chairman of the branch, in the absence of the Vicar of Bickington, who was away from home. The collection for the Guild Bells Restoration Fund amounted to 4s. 9d.

After ten the usual business meeting was held, the Rev. R. D. Mills presiding.

The Chairman reported that he had interviewed Mr. Pope regarding his resignation, but without success.

It was also reported that the General Committee had made a grant to the branch towards instruction purposes, but that it had not yet been received.

The secretary reported that he had the arrangements in hand regarding the proposed joint meeting with the Exeter Branch at Teignmouth on June 12th, and after a discussion it was resolved to apply for the bells of Bishopstoke only, in addition to St. Michael's, Teignmouth.

Apologies for absence were received from the president of the Guild, the general secretary and Mr. O. R. Lilley.

The following were unanimously elected non-resident members of the Guild, Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Kippin and Mr. D. Cooper, of Croydon, and Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Housden, of Tunbridge Wells.

A certificate was presented by the chairman to Mr. Richard Cann, of Cockington band.

It was resolved to hold the next meeting at Kingskerswell on Saturday, October 16th, subject to the necessary permission being obtained.

Hearty votes of thanks, accorded the Vicar of Bickington for the use of his church and bells, Mr. Christopher for presiding at the organ, and the secretary for the arrangements, concluded the business, and the party returned to the tower for further ringing.

LINCOLN DIOCESAN GUILD.

THIRTEEN MEMBERS ELECTED AT BARKSTON MEETING.

A quarterly meeting of the Southern District was held at Barkston recently and was well attended, some 25 ringers being present from Peterborough, Grantham, Rotherham, Market Deeping, Billingborough, Donnington, Hough-on-the-Hill, Blankney, Folkingham, and Barkston. The musical and good going peal of six was available for ringing during the afternoon and evening, and was kept going to a variety of methods, including Plain, Treble Bob and Surprise. Service was conducted by the Rector, the Rev. F. A. Thorold Eller, who gave a helpful and interesting address and extended a hearty welcome to the visiting ringers. He explained that he returned to England in 1931, after being in Canada for 25 years, and one of the greatest joys to him on his return to this land was the sound of church bells coming across the green fields. He hoped ringers from the various parishes represented at the meeting would endeavour to ring their own bells Sunday by Sunday and to realise the duty and privilege that was entrusted to them. He was sure the average Englishman appreciated the sound of church bells twice on a Sunday, even if they did not often attend a place of worship. Tea was served in one of the large and spacious rooms at the Rectory, with a beautiful view across Syston Park, looking its best in the foliage of spring.

At the business meeting Mr. F. W. Stokes (general secretary of the Guild) presided, and 13 new performing members of the branch were elected, viz., J. E. Allen, A. E. Chilton, A. Chilton, G. S. Collishaw, G. Creasey, F. Carford, S. Wilson, all of Billingborough; J. Whitmore, A. Wilson, Mrs. Coupland, Miss Muriel Wilson, Miss Maud Faulkner, Miss Violet Palmer, all of Rippingdale.

It was decided to hold the next meeting at Billingborough in July.

The meeting concluded with a hearty vote of thanks to the Rector for his hospitality and for the use of the bells and the service, and also to the organist.

The tower was again visited and it was gratifying to see a good muster of young ringers, some ringing their first touch in a method. The bells were lowered in peal at 8.30, and this concluded a very successful meeting.

400 YEARS OF BELL HISTORY.

ANCIENT RING RESTORED IN HAMPSHIRE VILLAGE.

One of the most interesting churches in the diocese of Guildford has just had its six bells restored. The village of Crondall, just inside the Hampshire border, goes back to Roman times; in Saxon days the manor was held by King Alfred. It passed through his successors to King Edgar, who left it in his will, dated A.D. 976, 'to the Church of the Venerated Trinity, lovingly dedicated to Peter and his co-Apostle Paul, in the city of Winchester, as a perpetual pension for the support of the monks dwelling therein, for the propitiation of my sins, and those of my sons, and of the people of the entire kingdom.' The nature and extent of the gift is described as 'a certain portion of land, forty-five cassates, in the famous place, which is called by the well-known name, Crundel.'
