THE UNIVERSITIES

THIS week we feature the dinner and reunion of the Universities Association. While the universities have their own societies as a stimulant towards recruiting and for securing a recognition of the art of change ringing among the activities of a university, in no sense is there a desire for their ringing to be regarded as something apart from the main sections of the Exercise to be found in the guild and territorial associations. Throughout the speeches there was an admission of indebtedness to the ordinary ringers in university cities for their co-operation, not only in the loan of towers but in providing instructors. Ringing is in no sense the exclusive enjoyment of one section of the community, although to the outer world it is often bracketed with the sexton and grave-digger. No, servants of the belfry embrace men and women of all classes—from the trades and learned professions. And let it not be forgotten that however erudite the individual may be there is in the ringing chamber one yardstick by which the individual is judged—his ability to ring his bell accurately and in perfect rhythm with his companions.

Fortunes of university Guilds fluctuate in accordance with the freshmen coming up each year. Reports to hand indicate that, while the Oxford Guild is holding its own, Cambridge is having a struggling time, although history in regard to the emancipation of woman was made in this university as recently as December 19th, when Miss A. B. Stockdale, of Girton, rang the trebles to a handbell peal of Plain Bob Major and became the first woman to ring a peal in hand for this Guild. Bristol is developing its ringing well. Here leadership is in the hands of a member of the medical school, and it is exceedingly fortunate for the advancement of ringing to know that the same guiding influence will operate for the next two years. London is also making headway; Sunday service ringing is divided between two churches, but so far the Guild has not a belfry which is exclusively its own.

At the present time the Universities Association has a membership of 265, and interest in the organisation is revealed in the fact that in response to the recent dinner notices 150 replies were received. This is an unusually high percentage, and it does indicate the interest taken in the Association. Of the members, 89 per cent. come from Oxford, Cambridge, Bristol and London; the other 11 per cent. come from Reading, Durham, Birmingham, Sheffield, Liverpool, Manchester, Leeds, Nottingham, Wales and Edinburgh. It was regarded as no little honour when at the Central Council meeting at Birmingham affiliation was granted to the University Association, and they were allowed one representative. The question of Central Council representation is again in the melting pot. A report on this subject is promised for the York Conference, and the universities submit a plea that this recognition will be continued and that the Central Council will not model its new constitution on the Parliamentary pattern and abolish plurality representation. This would lead not only to the universities losing their members but would affect also the Ancient Society of College Youths and the Society of Royal Cumberland Youths. But that is another subject.

BELFRY GOSSIP

Photographs were taken of the Ven. W. Palin, Vicar of Skelton-in-Cleveland, and the ringers who took part in the peal in honour of his 25 years' ministry on the Tees-side, in the belfry before ringing started on December 18th. Afterwards the Archdeacon entertained the ringers to dinner, when compliments were extended to him on his silver jubilee.

Mr. H. W. Knight, of Wrington, has now rung Stedman from Doubles to Cinques.

Bournemouth Ringers' Rally has been fixed for May 7th at Christchurch.

May we repeat the reminder in last week's issue, that we are hoping to publish a list of those who have rung 40 or more peals during 1948. We require number rung in tower and hand and number conducted.

Most ringers are interested in church architecture. Liverpool Cathedral Picture Book (price 2s. 3d. post free, from Canon C. F. H. Soulby, Residentiary Canon Treasurer, Liverpool Cathedral) is a particularly impressive production.

Mr. A. C. Hazelden, conveyer of the Biographies Committee of the Central Council, is in St. Luke's Hospital, Guildford, having had to undergo a serious operation. The good wishes of his friends for a speedy recovery are extended to him.

Naseby bells were rung to a peal for the royal christening, thus redeeming the failure for the royal birth. It is probable that this is the first peal on the bells which have been five since 1640, and were hung by Messrs. J. Taylor and Co. in 1939.

Mr. T. E. Sone has called Holt's Original five times 'round the circle' of Brenchley tower. Mr. F. J. Lambert, who rang in the peal on December 18th, will be 82 next February. His last peal of Grandsire was over 20 years ago.

First peal on the augmented Lyndhurst bells was by several noted Bournemouth personalities. The conductor reports a long draught of rope plus the oscillation of the tower made good striking difficult. The peal was a very creditable performance despite the unusually high number of blisters collected.

The first peal of Lincolnshire Surprise Maximus has been rung. The honour goes to Birmingham and not Lincoln.

By ringing a peal at Tettenhall, Staffs, Mr. H. W. Bates has resumed peal ringing after a break of 18 years. His last was in August, 1930.

One better is Mr. N. L. Walker, of Stoney Stanton, Leics. It is 40 years since he rang his last peal. The peal was in honour of the 50th anniversary of the dedication of the bells, and he started ringing soon after the installation of the eight bells.

December 13th was the 80th birthday of Mr. S. Jones, sen., towerkeeper at Eccleston, Cheshire, since 1907, and a ringer for over 60 years. At the age of 10 Mr. Jones lost his left hand, but he had no difficulty in managing the fifth at Eccleston in the quarter in honour of his birthday.

Mr. H. E. Hammond rang the third to a quarter of Superlative Surprise Major at Braintree, Essex, for his 83rd birthday. The company was H. Pratt 1, H. E. Collins 2, H. E. Hammond 3, G. Wiffen 4, G. Lindridge 5, R. Suckling 6, L. W. Wiffen (cond.) 7, H. R. Felton 8.

Mr. W. W. Worthington, of Lichfield, patron of the living of Seale, Derbyshire, and president of the Midland Counties Guild, had his 77th birthday honoured by a peal of Cambridge at the Parish Church, Netherseale. The band wish to thank Mr. Worthington for his hospitality after the peal.

THAKEHAM, SUSSEX.

A new treble, making a tuneful ring of six at Thakeham, near Pulborough, recently dedicated by the Rector, the Rev. G. R. Barnett, before Sunday morning service, has an interesting story.

It belonged to Hollycombe Private School (now a Council School), near Midhurst. The bell became redundant, was taken down, and left in a field. The Education Committee gave it to the Bishop of Chichester, to be given preferably to a new church built in West Sussex.

There was no apparent demand for it. Bishop Hordern, then Bishop of Lewes, told the Rector of Thakeham about it, and he approached the Bishop of Chichester and the Director of Education, Chichester, who gave him permission to acquire the bell. It was collected from a muddy location and taken to Messrs. Gillett and Johnston's Croydon Foundry, reduced from 5 cwt. to 3¼ cwt., and tuned to F sharp.

A meeting of the Western Division of the Sussex County Association, held on the Saturday following the dedication, attracted about 60 ringers, who were entertained to tea by the parishioners of Thakeham.

HILLSBOROUGH, CO. DOWN.

The ring of eight bells of St. Malachi's Church, Hillsborough, Co. Down, was rededicated on December 26th, 1948, by the Right Rev. W. S. Kerr, Bishop of Down. After the Bishop completed the rededication, he ordered 'Let the bells ring,' and immediately the bells pealed forth for the first time since V-Day. The bells were cast in 1773 by Rudhall. The restoration was carried out by Messrs. Taylor and Co., of Loughborough.

After the service the bells were available for ringing, and those taking part were very pleased with the 'go' of them. The ropes now hang in a proper circle, whereas previously the tenor rope dropped into the centre of the circle formed by the other seven which meant that the tenor ringer had to be continuously 'on the move.'

It is interesting to record that only three peals have been rung on these bells, all by visiting teams of ringers from England. In the first of these, Mr. James George rang the third to a peal of Stedman Triples conducted by William Pye. This was on September 13th, 1904. On September 15th, 1909, William Keeble called a peal of 5,056 London. James Riding called 5,088 of Kent on September 8th, 1931. We hope that ere long peals will be rung there by resident ringers.

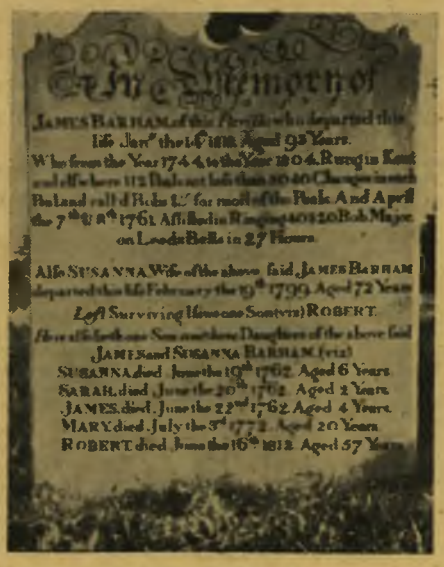
Amongst those in the congregation were the Earl and Countess Granville (Governor of Northern Ireland), the president of the Irish Association, Mr. W. Pratt, Messrs. F. E. Dukes, general hon. secretary, J. T. Dunwoody, district secretary, and H. Brown, district Ringing Master. The opening ringing was by a team of local ringers, which included: F. McBride (captain), 1, D. Rogan (hon. secretary) 2, W. McBride 3, N. Johnston 4, V. Silcock 5, R. Walker 6, N. Boreland 7, and W. Dewart (vice-captain) tenor.

The sympathy of many friends is extended to Mr. R. W. Grimwood, of Hersham, Surrey, in the death of his wife. The funeral was on January 3rd.

Kent County Association

RESTORE FAMOUS MEMORIAL STONE.

Dear Sir,—To preserve the memory of James Barham, of Leeds, Kent, famous during the latter part of the eighteenth century for his activity and endurance in peal ringing, including 40,320 changes of Bob Major, rung at Leeds, Kent, on April 7th and 8th, 1761, the Kent County Association have once again restored the headstone in the graveyard of Leeds Parish Church.



To ringers throughout the country who, by references in past issues of 'The Ringing World' and the activities of the Leeds (Kent) Youths as recorded in Morris' 'History and Art of Change Ringing,' may be interested, the photograph reproduced below, taken after the recent restoration, shows the front of the headstone.

On the reverse of the stone is the following inscription: 'James Barham, deceased January 14th, 1818. Aged 93 years. This stone was restored by the Kent County Association of Change Ringers A.D. 1913.' It is hoped in the near future to add the date of the last restoration.—Yours sincerely,

Sutton Valence, Kent. F. S. MACEY.

ROYAL BIRTH PEALS

Dear Sir,—I wish to draw your attention to an inaccuracy in 'Belfry Gossip' for December 10th. The oldest to ring a peal for the royal baby is said to be Mr. Josiah Morris, aged 81, but Mr. J. W. Jones, Master of the Llandaff and Monmouth Diocesan Association, who rang the 2nd at Llanfrechfa (published December 10th), was one month short of 83 years of age.

A peal at Caerleon, on the eve of his 83rd birthday, is published in your issue dated December 24th.—Yours faithfully,

LESLIE F. G. BAINHAM.

Newport, Mon.

GLOUCESTER AND BRISTOL ASSN.

Ringers from the counties of Berkshire, Gloucester, Oxford and Wiltshire attended the annual meeting of the Swindon Branch at Christ Church, Swindon, on December 11th.

The usual ringing was followed by the Association form of service, conducted by the Vicar (Canon J. Gilbert), who also dedicated a peal board recording a peal of Plain Bob Royal rung to mark the election of the hon. secretary of the Swindon Branch as Master of the Association.

The company was entertained to tea by the Christ Church ringers, and a collection for the Belfry Repair Fund realised £1 7s. At the business meeting the retiring officers were re-elected, and it was proposed to visit St. Mark's, Swindon, South Marston and Rodbourne Cheney during the next three months.

THE UNIVERSITIES ASSOCIATION

Reunion Dinner a Popular Function ..... Extension of London Surprise Major a Motion for The Central Council ..... Fourteen Universities Share Membership

THE reunion dinner of the Universities Association, held at the Three Nuns, Aldgate, on December 30th, was a popular function, members coming from all parts of the country to make the event a success.

To the Exercise at large was the announcement of a peal attempt of an extension of London Surprise, to take place the following day. As the extension is not recognised, the suggestion was made that the peal, if successful, should be called 'London Surprise Royal U.A.' A motion dealing with Surprise extensions is to be submitted at the next meeting of the Central Council.

Mr. E. H. Lewis (the president) presided, and he was supported by Dr. Hatcher, the Revs. C. Elliot Wigg, K. W. H. Felstead, A. G. G. Thurlow, and A. Davis, Maj. A. H. Janes, Lt.-Comdr. and Mrs. R. G. Cross, Mrs. E. E. Davis, the Misses J. Holdsworth, Margaret Fidell, Betty Spice, Mary Kennelly, Anne B. Stockdale, Frances Edgar, Dorothy Richardson, Hilary Steer, Rachael Dodd, Margaret Green, Jean Askew, Jean Southerst, Marie Cross, Jill Brittain, Jan Fulford, Barbara Podger, Mary Bliss and Pam Woolley, Messrs. Paul Taylor, John Richards, R. Clouston, P. Gray, A. York-Bramble, D. Layton, P. Layton, J. Wrenbury, W. H. J. Hooton, A. Jones, G. Beynor, W. E. Court, C. T. Brown, W. Moreton, J. Worrall, S. E. Darmon, C. G. Woodhead, L. C. J. Watson, F. Hayes, F. J. Roan, A. Fabian, P. J. Robbins, M. E. H. Barrow, R. B. Meadows, P. W. B. Semens, F. S. Macey, V. J. Benning, Geoffrey Dodds, A. A. Hughes, George Cross, P. Layton, D. E. Parsons, E. J. Lindley, F. S. Poole, G. Carter, E. M. Atkins, P. Parrott, Wm. Gray and T. W. White.

After the toasts of 'The King' and 'The Church' had been proposed from the chair, Mr. A. Jones submitted the toast of 'The Universities Association.' The first occasion he was permitted to join the Association as a guest was at Worcester four years ago. On that occasion he was of some use as he stood behind some of the younger members trying to coach them through a plain course of 120 Grandsire Doubles. Those same people were now ringing Spliced Surprise.

He did not think they could let the evening pass without paying tribute to the great work of John Spice, who laid the foundation of the Association. A couple of years ago Mr. Lewis had occasion to pass some adverse criticism on the striking. Those who heard the ringing that day would agree that it was of a higher standard, and there were three excellent leads of Treble Ten. It was certainly up to the standard of any diocesan or Guild meeting. He felt that the Association had a great future in front of it.

CHESTER WEEK POPULAR.

Dr. Hatcher, in reply, said their main activities of the year were the annual dinner and the summer ringing week. All of them who went to Chester last August (40 members from eight universities) came away refreshed and inspired and would like to express their great appreciation of the friendliness and welcome given them in Cheshire, North Wales and Lancashire.

At the present time the universities were ringing relatively few peals, and as far as the Universities Association was concerned the peal analysis would show a further decrease over 1947, the number having dropped from eight to four. In six years the Universities Association had rung altogether 53 peals, never more than eight in any year except in 1946, when 23 were rung. Thus the fall from 23 to eight in 1947 was not so much a decline as a reversion to something like normal. Among the 12 conductors only two had more than four peals—John Spice 21 and Richard Speed eight.

During the present year 37 new members had joined the Association, bringing the grand total to 265. Among new members they were happy to welcome representatives from Liverpool, Nottingham and Edinburgh. They had in all representatives from 14 universities.

The toast of 'The Ladies' was humorously proposed by the Rev. A. G. G. Thurlow and responded to by Miss Dorothy Richardson.

Miss Marie Cross gave the toast of 'The Exercise.' She had a special word of thanks to people in university towns who did so much to help them. In connection with the Chester visit they were especially indebted to Mr. Clarke and Mr. George Newton, of Liverpool. In their ringing that day they had to thank Mrs. Davis at Bishopsgate, Mr. Fox at Stepney and Mr. Gregory at Holloway.

TEACHERS OF THE FUTURE.

The President, in his reply, said he thought that ringers up and down the country were beginning to recognise that the Association was doing very good work and was going to do more in the future. There were a number of districts where there were young people anxious to learn to ring, and there was a lack of competent instructors. He hoped they would be the teachers of the future and would always remember to begin at the lowest rung, i.e., that people should handle well and ring good rounds before starting method ringing.

He felt sorry he could not join them at Chester. He spent eight years and lived at Frodsham, where he was largely responsible for getting the two trebles added. He looked on the Bibbys as his pupils, and he was able to help Mr. George Newton with some of the higher methods.

THE BUSINESS MEETING.

The business meeting then followed. The accounts, which showed a balance in hand of £9 11s. 8d., against £10 0s. 2d., were adopted.

The election of the following new members were ratified: Oxford, P. Fabian, F. J. Roam, P. T. Robbins, Miss H. Steer; Cambridge, A. S. Watt, C. G. Woodhouse; London, D. E. Parsons, P. G. Parrott; Bristol, Miss J. M. Brekenbidge, Miss P. M. Coster, H. G. Jones, Miss M. Kennelly, K. E. Pinney, D. B. Palmer, Miss R. Sanger-Davies, I. H. Trueman, J. R. Worrall, L. C. J. Watson; Manchester, R. D. Airey; Nottingham, W. E. Court; Edinburgh, R. St. Clair Wilson.

The meeting decided to hold the ringing week at Exeter from August 13th to 20th, and accepted the offer of the registrar to provide accommodation in St. Thomas' Hall. A condition was a guarantee of 35 members.

It was decided to hold the next annual dinner on January 4th, 1950, at Croydon.

LONDON EXTENSION.

Mr. A. York-Bramble said the Central Council had never recognised the London method rung on a ring of bells past eight—London Royal and London Maximus. There had been peals of London rung as Royal, but they had not been recognised as such. The immediate interest was that their Association was to attempt a peal of the extension of the original London method to Royal. This extension had never been rung and had never been published, but there were members of the Association who considered that it was a straightforward extension for several reasons.

This was hardly the place to go into reasons, but he was grateful for the privilege of saying one thing. As they all knew quite well, in any hunt-controlled or treble-dominated method there was a turning place when the treble leads and a turning place when the treble lies. In Plain Bob the turning place is seconds. In Reverse Bob the turning place when the treble lies is seconds, and that is the main axiom for all hunt-controlled methods. In London, either Major or Minor, they had seconds place for the turning place, and they had when the treble lies fourths from behind.

In considering this axiom in application to Royal they had this turning place at fourths from behind in the sevenths place. One of the reasons why they wanted the method to be attempted was that it had the axiomic feature at the half-lead. If the peal was successful on the following day they understood it would not be recognised and it might not be published in 'The Ringing World' as a peal of London Royal. They had taken the precaution of calling it 'London Royal U.A.'

He proposed that the meeting consider tabling a motion for the Central Council's next meeting, which would serve to permit a recognition of London Royal in some form or forms. He proposed for submission to the Central Council the following resolution: 'That peals of London Surprise Royal be recognised with London places at the pull and half lead.'

Mr. Wilfrid Moreton seconded.

The chairman said there was no question of the peal, if rung, being recognised as a peal because this method was a good method and one which agreed with all the requirements of a method. It was only a question of the name that was in doubt.

The Rev. K. W. H. Felstead asked whether it would not be better to ask the Central Council to instruct its appropriate committee to go into this extension and submit a report to the Council.

The Chairman: That would be the natural course.

After further discussion, Mr. York-Bramble accepted a motion by Mr. Denis Layton: 'That any treble-dominated method, claiming to be recognised as an extension or contraction of a basic method of the same name, shall exhibit, inter alia, the standard requirement of turning or pivot places (counted from the trebles leading and lying) at full and half-leads respectively, exactly as in the basic methods.'

This was carried.

The meeting concluded with a vote of thanks to Mr. Dennis Layton for making arrangements for the ringing that day.

The service at St. Botolph's, Bishopsgate, was conducted by the Rev. John D. Richards and the address given by the Rev. C. E. Wigg.

OBITUARY

MR. R. J. GOATE.

The death took place on December 19th of Mr. R. J. Goate, of Beccles, Suffolk, at the age of 77 years, after a long illness. He learned to ring at Loddon in his youth, and came to Beccles, where he set up business, over 50 years ago, and since that time had been connected with St. Michael's Church.

Although he rang very few peals, he was most regular in attendance for Sunday service ringing and practices, and was Master and district secretary for very many years. He was also, until his illness, a sidesman and member of the Church Council, and took great interest in all the church activities.

MR. W. LINTER.

Mr. William Linter passed away on December 31st, after a short illness. He had been a member of the Winchester and Portsmouth Guild and captain of the Swanmore band for more than fifty years. He was 91.

MR. E. SWAIN.

Mr. E. Swain, a pioneer of change ringing at Holy Trinity Church, Morecambe, has passed away, after a long illness, at the early age of 41 years.

For some years Mr. Swain was secretary of the then newly-formed Lancaster Branch of the Lancashire Association, and put in much spade work in the scattered area which comprises the branch.

At the interment on Monday, December 27th, ringers were present from Barrow-in-Furness, Ulverston, Kirkby Lonsdale, Manchester and Lancaster. The Rector, Canon A. E. Nock, spoke appreciatively of the useful but unobtrusive service which the deceased had rendered to the church he loved and served in many capacities.

Ernie Swain's kindly and cheerful presence will be missed by everyone and by nobody more than his ringing colleagues in Lancaster and Morecambe. J. W.

ST. DAVID'S DIOCESAN GUILD

MEETING AT LLANDILO.

Wet weather and difficulties of travelling did not deter the enthusiasts from Haverfordwest, Llanelly, Burry Port, Carmarthen and Swansea from attending the quarterly branch meeting of the scattered St. David's Diocesan Guild on December 11th at Llandilo. An excellent tea was provided.

Thirty-two ringers attended the service in St. Teilo's Church, which was conducted by Rev. J. Marks, assisted by Revs. J. A. Morgan (Burry Port) and G. H. R. Morgan (Haverfordwest, SS. Mary and Thomas').

The belfry is unique in that the clock pendulum (as large as a 5-gallon oil drum) swings in the centre at eye level. For Grandsire Doubles this does not matter much, but in Minor, especially Stedman, 5 and 2 and 4 and 6 play a game of 'peep bo' with each other and the pendulum in its wood and wire netting cage. Odd drops of rain down the neck of the ringer of the 4th were also unusual. Nevertheless, in the Kent and Stedman, Grandsire and Plain Bob the striking was generally good.

In the business meeting the member for Haverfordwest asked if financial assistance could not be given to instructors to visit branches needing them and to learners to attend practices with efficient bands. His church was 15 miles from St. David's Cathedral and 20 miles from Tenby, and co-operation was difficult. Revs. Marks, J. Morgan and G. Morgan were elected hon. members.

The March meeting will be held at Llanstephan if arrangements can be made.

LOOKING BACK

THE recent announcement in 'The Ringing World' of Mr. Cyril F. Johnston's resignation from the directorate of Messrs. Gillett and Johnston, Ltd., of Croydon, breaks an active partnership of over 40 years with a firm in which for the greater part of that time he was the controlling influence, particularly in regard to bells. Some 10 years after Canon Simpson had introduced his scientific method of tuning bells, Mr. Johnston, then a young man barely out of his teens, decided not only to master the principles but to introduce his own ideas in the development of this science. A life study has borne fruit, and Mr. Johnston can look back to about 50 carillons in all parts of the world which have come not only from his firm but in which he has given that personal supervision in tuning and details of the contract. This is apart from the hundreds of rings of church bells hung for change ringing. It is a record that rivals that of the great 17th century Dutch firm of Haemory Bros., of Amsterdam, which between 1644 and 1684 gave to Europe some 50 carillons.

Two of the largest carillons with which he was associated were provided through the munificence of John D. Rockefeller, jun., who visited Croydon. That at Riverside Drive Church, New York, contains 72 bells in a tower 400ft. high, with ascent by four elevators. The big bass bell in C weighs 18¼ tons. The sister carillon in the chapel of Chicago University has also 72 bells with a bass bell of 17 tons in C sharp.

Another carillon he looks back upon with special pride is that in the Houses of Parliament at Ottawa. These 53 bells, with the largest weighing 10 tons, were provided to mark the 60th anniversary of the confederation of Canadian provinces in 1927. At the inaugural ceremony a squadron of 12 American planes, led by Col. Lindberg, attended, and one of the planes crashed. The funeral march was played on the new carillon by Lefève when the dead airman was buried. As far as London is concerned, probably the carillon that was most publicised was that for the Wellington War Memorial, New Zealand. Recitals were given on it daily by Clifford Ball, of Bournville, in Hyde Park during the summer of 1930.

A memorable day for Mr. Johnston occurred in May, 1925, when King George V. and Queen Mary visited the Croydon works and saw a number of bells cast, including a ring for Great Haseley, in Oxfordshire, and a bell for Buckingham Palace. Some 10,000 people visited the works that day. There have been other royal visits. Princess Beatrice came to see Carisbrooke bells cast, and the Duke of Connaught also attended. But royalty have not by any means been the only visitors it has been Mr. Johnston's privilege to entertain. Many will recall the three mammoth tea parties given by Mr. Johnston to the Exercise—that in 1932, embracing a company of 2,300 ringers and friends. Seventy of the prettiest girls in Croydon acted as hostesses and talked glibly if not always accurately about Superlative and higher methods to the amusement of those present.

Mr. Johnston's reminiscences would indeed fill a book. In the first World War he served with the Grenadier Guards in France, and in the last war was in command of a Works Home Guard Company, which had the benefit of Guards instructors from Wellington Barracks. The Rt. Hon. Oliver Lyttelton was his adjutant in France, and in 1944, when Mr. Johnston was elected Master of the Clock Makers Company (the year of the centenary of the firm) Mr. Oliver Lyttelton was his principal guest. About six months ago his name appeared in the Honours List, when he was appointed an officer of the Order of the British Empire 'for work done in development of the art of bell founding and tuning in this country.'

Like our other principal founders, Mr. Johnston is a practical ringer, being a pupil of the late Dr. Carpenter. He has some 32 peals to his credit, and one in which he has the happiest recollections was that at Edenbridge, called by W. G. Smith, in which all the ringers were members of his firm. He was the hon. secretary of the Surrey County Association for upwards of nine years. His son at Winchester is learning to ring, and Mrs. Johnston has entered very fully into all his activities, having on many occasions acted as clerk to him in the inspection of bells and bell frames. Space prevents us from giving but a cursory glance at a busy life of great interest to the ringing fraternity. A book of reminiscences would make a popular appeal.

STOP PRESS.

Mr. T. H. Reeves, hon. secretary and treasurer, St. Martin's Guild, Birmingham, for the past 20 years, has been succeeded by Mr. G. E. Fearn.

Next week we hope to publish the list of those who rang 40 peals or more in 1948.

BELFRY GOSSIP

To-day is the 50th anniversary of the first peal of London Surprise rung in the City of London at St. Stephen's, Coleman Street. The band were all from St. Peter's, Brighton, and the sole survivor is the conductor, Mr. George Williams.

A Cheshire ringer, noted for his 'cold feet,' presented Mr. and Mrs. Gorden Vincent with an electric blanket as a wedding present.

Mr. W. Twidell, sen., who has rung at Totternhoe, Beds, for over 60 years, rang his longest length on December 26th—1,260 Grandsire Doubles.

An attempt for Parker's One-part peal of Grandsire Triples at Great St. Mary's, Cambridge, on Boxing Day, came to grief five courses from the end. Four were attempting their first peal.

Patrol Leader Marion Davies' question re Girl Guides as ringers has been answered by Hilda M. Shuttleworth, Field Head, Outgate, Ambleside, Westmorland. She rings at St. Michael's, Hawkshead, and is a Patrol Leader in the 1st Hawkshead Girl Guides.

Another Girl Guide ringer is Patrol Leader Joan Greasby, of the 1st Retford, Notts, Guides. She rang her first peal on March 19th, 1948, having started learning at East Retford in November, 1947.

Burford, Oxford, bells have been declared unsafe to ring. The traditional midnight ringing on New Year's Eve was observed by handbell ringing in the centre of the town by J. G. Collett, M. C. F. Collett and B. S. Nichols.

At the R.A.F. Station, Hereford, 'Ring out the old, ring in the new' was observed by F. S. Worth (Plymouth) 1-2, R. W. F. Scarrett (Cheltenham) 3-4, K. M. Cooper (Aldershot) 5-6, D. G. Rice (Plympton) 7-8, at the end of 1948.

Members of the University Association on New Year's Eve had the unpleasant experience in their attempted peal of 'London Royal U.A.' at Rickmansworth to come round after 3 hours 12 minutes 124356789X. It was found that 3 and 4 had changed over a course or two from end. Mr. Wilfrid Moreton was conducting and the company had never stood all together as a band previously. Some had rung only a couple of leads or so of the method and the rest had never struck a blow. Another attempt is to be made.

On Boxing Day Mr. Henry Tooke rang his 200th peal for the Norwich Diocesan Association.

The peal at Conisborough, Yorkshire, on Boxing Day was rung through two weddings, and concluded by ringing a third bridal party into the church.

North Staffordshire ringers feel that they climbed another rung on the ladder by the first of Superlative Surprise Major by resident members.

On the same day, Boxing Day, Mr. Arthur Pritchard and Mr. Claude Cousins rang their 200th peal. Here's to the 300th together!

Has a peal ever been rung at Stoke Rochford, Lincs, before? Mr. H. Reginald Woods is submitting a claim for the first on the bells.

As far as we can gather, only one peal was rung for the midnight Christmas service. This was at Clopton, Suffolk. There were a number of quarter-peals.

Mr. T. E. Sone informs us that his calling of peals of Holt's Original five times 'round the circle' took place in 16 different towers and not at Brenchley as announced in our last issue.

ESSEX ASSOCIATION

An increase of 34 members, receipts increased by 50 per cent., and contributions to the Essex Bell Restoration Fund doubled, were the chief features of the secretary's report at the anual meeting of the S.W. Division of the Essex Association held at Barking on January 8th. Congratulations were also extended to the division's four very active octogenarians, E. Bacon (Loughton), G. Playle (Dagenham), W. Nelder (Wanstead) and R. Stannard (Leytonstone).

A most impressive service, conducted by the Rev. Priestnell, was enjoyed by 46 members.

The following elections were made at the business meeting which followed: Master, Mr. J. Chalk; secretary, Mr. F. V. Gant; representatives to the committee, Messrs. Sitch and Groves.

The thanks of the meeting are due to the local Master, Mr. Caleb Fenn, for the excellent arrangements in a much blitzed ringing chamber.

A DAGENHAM VETERAN

On Boxing Day Mr. George Playle, of Dagenham, Essex, celebrated his 80th birthday. A life member of the Essex Association, Mr. Playle has been associated with the Dagenham tower for well over 50 years. Although not quite so well in health as of yore, George still enjoys occasional touches. The peal in his honour on Boxing Day was also the silver wedding anniversary of Mr. A. Chaplin, towerkeeper and Master at Dagenham. A peal of Bob Major was rung in their honour.

WESTON-BY-WELLAND, LEICS.—On Dec. 20th, 1,260 Doubles (480 Bob Doubles, 780 Grandsire): Miss K. Faulkner (first quarter) 1, Miss F. Hart 2, C. Windram 3, F. Wallington 4, W. Hector (cond.) 5.

A NOTE ON METHOD STRUCTURE

(With special reference to 'London.')

Increasing interest in ringing on the higher number prompts reconsideration of the question of some Royal and Maximus methods published and rung under familiar names of Major methods, yet not always acceptable as the methods so named. The London method is still generally regarded as one of the most difficult to be rung, and as giving its successive ringers a 'hall mark.' It may therefore be of some interest generally to realise that a systematic analysis of its structure permits it to be defined in such a way that the method may be evolved, free of adulterations, as Royal and Maximus extensions of the original or basic method.

(The following is an abridged extract from a work on Principles of Method Structure in Change Ringing, and the rights of reproduction elsewhere of this article are reserved by the author.)

The main reason, perhaps, for so much controversy on the subject of extension is the lack of stated principles or conditions of the matter. A clearer idea of what is involved seems essential. There are two points of view:—

1. The Ideal. This demands that extensions must be identical in form with the basic. Strictly speaking, this can be the case only with 'Original,' though some consider that such methods as Plain Bob, Grandsire, Cambridge, Yorkshire and the like, come within this category.
2. The Proximate. This demands that the recognised extension, or contraction, must be the nearest obtainable form of the basic, having regard to certain conditions or principles of method structure.

Since the majority of recognisable extensions may be considered as falling within category 2, such conditions may be set forth as below.

In view of the unfortunate pronouncements, ambiguous and erroneous, sometimes made in regard to method structure, it is necessary, first of all, to restate, in simple terms to avoid all doubt as to intended meaning, the fundamentals, and to show how the concluded conditions or principles are derived from them. Thus:—

A. Methods having a hunt-bell (or hunt-bells as in Grandsire with two) produce rows of changes in sets usually called 'leads.' These sets of rows are linked together where the hunt-bell is found 'at the lead.' The actual dividing line between any one 'lead' of rows and its successor is thus between the two rows which have the hunt-bell at its full lead. So the first row of any 'lead' is the one with the hunt-bell striking the last blow of its full lead, before hunting up to the back; while the last row of the set is the one with the hunt-bell (usually the treble) back down again at lead, and striking the first blow of its full lead there.

B. Each set of rows ('lead') divides into exactly similar halves, on either side of an athwart dividing line which separates the two rows where the hunt-bell lies full behind. This divides the set into two 'half-leads,' the second of which will be found to be an exact 'reflection' of the first, so called because the similarity of network of the bell-paths is obvious if a mirror be placed on the dividing line to face the first or upper half, and the reflection in the mirror be compared with what lies below it in the second or lower half.

C. All sets or 'leads' of the plain course of a hunt-controlled method are identical in structure.

D. It follows from B and C above that a 'reflection' (similar to that found about the half-lead dividing line) will be found about the dividing line between the leads themselves, i.e., the first half of any lead is the 'reflection' of the second or last half of the lead immediately preceding it.

E. In methods with more than one hunt-bell these dividing lines occur at the mid-spaces between the rows of the full leads and half-leads respectively of those several hunt-bells.

F. At each of such dividing lines a bell 'makes a place' across the line. This is known as the turning or pivot-place. Thus, there is a pivot-place for the lead and a pivot-place for the half-lead, known respectively as the 'full lead pivot' and the 'half-lead pivot.' The reason for the name may be seen from B and D above, in so far as the reflection of the work of the place-making bell gives it a path after the place, which is the reflection of its path before the place. Hence the two similar parts of its path turn about its 'pivot' place.

G. Pivot places are fundamental and are fixed throughout the range of a method, in contraction from or extension from the basic. The positions of the places thus made are always counted as so many away from the hunt-bell. The full lead pivot place is counted as so many places away from the hunt-bell's full lead, while the half-lead pivot place is counted as so many away from the hunt-bell's full lie. Where a pivot bell makes its place at the extreme position in the row (that is, at the end opposite to the leading or lying of the hunt-bell(s), it is said to pivot in the 'extreme' place.

H. In 'double' methods, the pivot places at the lie are are same numerically as at the lead, i.e., the same number of places from the position of the hunt-bell. In single methods they may be the same, but frequently are different. But in any case, whatever the positions are in the basic, so they remain throughout extension or contraction of the method. Any variation of these positions at either lead or lie is a departure from the parent method. The extreme place is always at one end of the row.

I. Following are examples of pivots in methods:—

Method.	Full-lead pivot.	Half-lead pivot.
Plain Bob	Seconds	Extreme
Cambridge	Seconds	'Seconds'
Grandsire	Thirds	Extreme
Double Norwich	Extreme	Extreme
London	Seconds	'Fourths'
Kent	Extreme	Extreme
Albion T.B.	Seconds	Extreme

J. Reconsidering what has been said in B, D and F above, it may be seen that the pattern of the whole working path of any bell divides into two main halves; the first part pivots around the full lead place-making and may be known as 'Lead-pivot Section,' while the second part pivots round the half-lead place-making and may be known as the Half-lead-pivot Section.' Now since each of these sections divides again into two parts, the second being the reflection of the first (as we have seen), we have, in all, four sections of bell-path work, mutually reflective in pairs.

K. These four sections of work are to be found in all hunt-controlled methods as accepted for ringing by the Exercise of to-day.

NOTE.—All the fundamentals stated above apply throughout the range of extension and contraction of hunt-controlled methods. Any so-called variant of a method which does not conform with them is clearly not the original method on that number of bells, and should be given another name or a name variant. There are other reasons for forfeiture of name-claim, as will be seen.

OBITUARY OF THE WEEK

MR. FREDERICK G. BIGGS.

With regret we record the death of Mr. Frederick G. Biggs, of Hughenden, Bucks, who died on Christmas morn, aged 81. He was for over 60 years a ringer at Hughenden, an excellent striker, and could take any bell in any method.

He had a vivid recollection of Lord Beaconsfield, and as a choirboy attended the funeral in 1881. He had many 'firsts' to his credit, including the first of London for the Oxford Guild in 1892, almost the first of Alliance ever rung (Crawley rang the first the previous day), the first of D.N. and Superlative for Bucks among many others. He was always ready and willing to assist beginners, and very helpful in keeping the bells in going order.

Many of his 274 peals were rung with such stalwarts as Canon G. F. Coleridge, the Rev. F. E. Robinson, the three Australian tourists, W. H. Fussell, George Martin and J. S. Goldsmith, and that prince of ringers, J. W. Washbrook, probably the greatest exponent ever, and the first ever to ring two tower bells to a peal, a feat at that time so incredible that the editor of the 'Bell News' refused to publish it until he received confirmation, which was quickly forthcoming with further similar peals and then eclipsed by taking a pair of bells to Stedman in the Rev. F. E. Robinson's thousandth peal. Fred rang more than a hundred peals with his son, Mr. Roland Biggs.

By trade a first-class chairmaker, he was one of the very few real craftsmen remaining in this deplorable age of mass production.

The funeral was at Hughenden on January 1st, many ringers from surrounding towers attending, and four of his brother ringers of Hughenden acting as bearers. A course of Triples was rung at the graveside, followed by a short touch on the tower bells. In the evening a peal of Stedman Triples was rung.

A list of his peals is appended, the first being in 1889 and the last in 1943, in 26 towers:—

Plain Bob Major 20, Minor 8, Spliced 1; D.N.C.B. Major, 32; Alliance Major, 1; Forward Major, 1; K.T.B. Major 8, Maximus, 1; Oxford and Kent (spliced), 1; Oxford and Kent Minor (spliced), 1; Oxford T.B. Major, 1; St. Clement's Major, 1.

Surprise Major: London 25, Cambridge 24, Superlative 17, Yorkshire 7, New Cambridge 5, Norfolk 2, Rutland 1, Bristol 2, Beaconsfield 1, Hughenden 1, Brighton 1, Newcastle 1, Spliced, 4 methods 1, Cambridge Minor 1. Total, 274.

THE REV. HECTOR MACTURK.

Silk Willoughby, Lincs, has lost a great lover of the bells by the death of the Rev. Hector MacTurk, who died on December 27th. For 24 years he was Rector. Two years ago, when he had a serious illness, he would not hear of the bells being silent, although his home was not more than 20 yards from the church. 'The bells must be rung,' he said. His opinion of ringers was equally high. 'I consider that bellringers are a noble band of churchworkers and a happy family,' he once said.

MR. E. S. MYNARD.

A member of the Emberton, Bucks, band for 46 years, has died in the person of Mr. E. S. Mynard. He had several peals to his credit rung for the Bedfordshire Association and the Oxford Diocesan Guild.

His funeral was on December 30th. In his memory 1,320 Treble Bob Minor (720 Kent and 600 Oxford) was rung on January 2nd by J. Lovell 1, H. Lovell 2, F. J. Mynard (cond.) 3, C. Wilson 4, F. W. Mynard 5, W. Cook 6.

MR. R. EDWARDS.

By the passing of Mr. Richard Edwards, St. Oswald's, Oswestry, has lost a ringer who for 57 years was a model of punctual and regular attendance. On Sunday, December 19th, he was ringing as usual, but two days later was taken ill and died in a few hours at the age of 77.

Mr. Edwards was not a prolific peal ringer, ringing about 20 in the standard methods, but was rarely absent on a Sunday. Surely his epitaph is 'Well done, thou good and faithful servant.'

W. B. K.

MR. W. LINTER.

In connection with the passing of Mr. W. Linter, of Swanmore, Hants, reported in our last issue, A.P. writes that Mr. Linter took part in 720 Kent Treble Bob on his 91st birthday on November 27th, 1948. The same bells were rung muffled for his funeral by members of the Diocesan Guild. In a tribute, the Rector (the Rev. A. E. McCaig) mentioned his work as chorister, parish clerk and captain of the ringers for many years. He assisted in coaching many beginners. He was a personality and will be missed and remembered for many years.

A 200th ANNIVERSARY

Dear Sir,—Regarding the peal of Grandsire Caters at Reading on December 22nd the following may be of interest to your readers. In the 'Reading Mercury' under date of November 26th, 1748, is the following:—

'At this date St. Laurence's Church bells, 10 in number, were cast and hung by the ingenious Mr. Catlin, of Shoe Lane, London, and the event was commemorated by the Society of Reading Youths ringing a "compleat peal of 5,040 Cators in 3 hours and twenty-nine minutes."'

No record can now be found of the names of those taking part in this peal and no records of the Reading Youths are known to exist, and further application to the Bodleian Library has failed to find a copy of the 'Reading Mercury' of that date.

The church records state that at that date the existing eight bells were recast and turned into a ring of ten.

On November 27th, 1948, an attempt was made to ring 5,040 Grandsire Caters, but it came to grief after two hours' ringing through two bells changing over, but a second attempt, though not the same peal, was successful.

The peal rung in November, 1748, would be also the first in Reading and the first in Berkshire.—Yours faithfully,

E. G. FOSTER
(Foreman, St. Laurence's).

TANWORTH IN-ARDEN

Until October, 1947, Tanworth-in-Arden, Warwickshire, had had a 'stoney' band. On December 18th, following an unsuccessful peal attempt, 1,260 Grandsire Doubles was rung by: John H. Jones 1, J. N. Lindon (cond.) 2, J. Scott 3, A. H. Fitter 4, A. D. Cook 5, A. J. Collins 6. This was the first quarter of Grandsire by all except the conductor.

A complete restoration of the bells and framework by Messrs. Mears and Stainbank is due to commence after Christmas and finish by May, 1949. The contract includes a new all-metal frame, rehanging in ball bearings, recasting the fifth and adding two new trebles.

The front five bells are by Richard Sanders, of Bromsgrove, and were cast in 1707. In 1733 the tenor was cast by Smith, of Edgbaston, the last major overhaul being in 1894.

To have a permanent record of the bells a gramophone recording was made. If anyone would like a copy they are asked to contact Mr. John H. Jones, Bank House, Tanworth-in-Arden, near Birmingham.

LETTERS

Dear Sir,—In endorsing the Somerset protest in a recent issue of 'The Ringing World' I wish to acquaint my fellow-ringers of my experience with the B.B.C. in doing my best to get campanology properly recognised by them. We shall not get the recruits so urgently needed in the art until the general public realise that it is not just a matter of removing one's coat and tugging like blazes at a ton of metal.

I recall the journalist's report of the peal at Chelmsford, which gave the impression (in ignorance) that the door was locked to prevent anyone stopping the ringers from making a noise.

We were given a place of honour by Maurice Brown in the St. George's Day broadcast and, as you know, were cut down as much as possible in the final arrangement of the programme. This recording was one of the finest pieces of striking I have ever heard, and in reply to my request to purchase the record I was politely informed that it was their copyright and they didn't intend to part with a copy. I pointed out that if a band leader had a few bars played and was faded down to allow the commentator to start talking it would be regarded as an insult.

The 'Radio Times' printed the name of the Vicar and organist, but the name of the ringing conductor or mention of the bells did not seem to matter.

I was once told by a B.B.C. director that ringers seemed so keen on their art that they had little or no time for the listening public, and was also asked what we saw in it. I replied that, apart from all the interest which ringing produced, I had 40,000 good friends spread about the country.

My part in the St. George's Day programme was to arrange for the ringing item, and I pointed out that one of the important things was to have the 'mike' on the best side of the tower, also the correct distance away, but in the few broadcasts we have had since this advice has not appeared to be of any importance to the B.B.C., with the result that we often get the tenors drowning the trebles.

Here's wishing us all a 'striking' New Year, with recruits available to get every ring of bells in the country sending forth their message of peace and goodwill every Sunday.—Yours fraternally,

LESLIE MILLS.

Bures, Suffolk.

FORWARD MINOR

Dear Sir,—For some time I have been experimenting with a method which I understand is Forward Minor, but I have been unable to compose a full 720 or prove conclusively the impossibility of so doing. I wonder if any of your readers can help me?—Yours faithfully,

P. H. WHITAKER.

Kildwick, near Keighley, Yorks.

WEST REGIONAL BROADCASTING

Dear Sir,—Two brief notes on broadcasting in the West may be of some interest:—

(a) The broadcast from St. Mary Redcliffe was magnificent. I do not think that I have ever heard bells come over the air with quite such grand effect.

(b) In an announcement of religious broadcasting on the West Regional on January 3rd it was officially stated that the programme would include examples of 'fine bells and skilled bellringing.'

Cheshire Xmas Day Wedding

Former fellow-students of Cheshire Agricultural College, Mr. Gordon George Vincent, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. D. Vincent, of Hale, and Miss Betty Skellern, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. Skellern, Melrose, Boundary Lane, Mossley, were married on Christmas Day at Mossley Parish Church. The 130 guests included many ringing friends.

The Vicar (the Rev. J. Sellors) officiated. The bride, who was given away by her father, wore white silk velvet with coronet of orange blossom and net veil. Her bridesmaids, the Misses Grace Davenport and Jean Hoyland, were in fuchsia velvet. Mr. John Vincent was best man, and Messrs. W. Copeland, T. Hayes and J. Cooke were groomsmen.

Handbells were rung between the toasts at the reception by J. Worth, Mrs. Vincent, Gordon and John Vincent. In proposing the toast of 'The bridegroom's parents,' Mr. John Worth brought in a crack or two about the Suffolk origin and the inevitable 'Thumbpiece.'

Friends who have known the bridegroom from a boy rang a peal at Wrenbury. He heard the last hour and spent a happy time with them before leaving for his honeymoon at Blackpool.

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Vincent will be living at Wrenbury.

REV. A. S. ROBERTS FIRST VICAR OF CARBIS BAY

December 18th was a great day in the history of Carbis Bay Church, when the church was consecrated, and the Rev. A. S. Roberts instituted and inducted as first Vicar of the newly-created parish. The church was built in 1929, and has been served by a priest-in-charge.

The Rev. A. S. Roberts has been at Carbis Bay for eight years, and during that time much has been done to constitute the new parish. Additions have been a ring of eight bells, and in August last an electric striking tower clock. It must be unique for a priest-in-charge and his wife to have taken part in five peals on their own bells before the church became a parish church.

The Bishop of Truro and the Assistant Bishop, who is also Archdeacon of Cornwall, and the Rev. I. S. Jenkins (Vicar of St. Ives and Rural Dean) took part in the service.

ESSEX PEAL BOARDS

The excellent spirit prevailing between ringers and clergy was much in evidence at St. Andrew's, Hornchurch, on Dec. 12th, when two peal boards commemorating recent peals were dedicated by Canon Courthope during evensong.

During the service a course of Grandsire Triples was rung on handbells by G. W. Faulkner 1-2, C. Fenn 3-4, R. W. Stannard 5-6, F. V. Gant 7-8.

Barwell, Leicestershire

The first Ringers' Sunday at Barwell, Leicestershire, on December 12th, was a great success. The local band had decorated the church with flowers and evergreens in readiness for Christmas, and in each window was placed a handbell, signifying the thoughts and prayers of the day. Special leaflets containing ringers' hymns had been printed and were used by the large congregations.

Holy Communion at 8 a.m., which was a corporate celebration for ringers, was preceded by touches of Grandsire Triples, and an hour's ringing before matins brought a busy morning's duty to a close. The Rector preached at this service and spoke of the long history of bells and bellringing.

In the afternoon a special service of carols, sung by children's massed choirs of 200 voices, attracted amazing crowds, and every available space in the church was filled.

Following this, tea was provided for visiting ringers and friends who attended afternoon and evening services at the Church Institute. Evensong was preceded by touches in various methods, the preacher being Canon R. F. Wilkinson, himself a ringer of, West Bridgford, Notts.

Throughout the day members of the local band acted as readers and sidesmen, and at eventide, when the last of the congregation had departed, we all felt that our first Ringers' Sunday had made its mark upon the life of the Parish Church. Collections throughout the day amounted to £15, and were handed to the local bell fund.

YORKSHIRE ASSOCIATION

The quarterly meeting of the Eastern District was held at Goole on January 1st, and was attended by about 35 ringers from 15 towers. The bells were kept going from two o'clock until service, conducted by the curate, Rev. Metcalfe, who gave the address.

Tea was served in the Church Schools, after which the business meeting was presided over by the vice-president, Mr. A. H. Fox, who began by wishing all a very happy New Year. Five new members were elected, viz., Messrs. R. Coldwell, of Snaith, and L. Straughan, of Pocklington, and Mrs. Graves and Mr. and Mrs. E. Smith, of Carlton. It was decided to hold the spring meeting at Carlton and Snaith. The usual votes of thanks were passed, special thanks being expressed to Mrs. J. J. Taylor for her kindness in providing such an excellent tea, including an iced cake to celebrate the New Year.

The meeting stood in silence in memory of Mr. W. Pearson, of Pontefract, an old member of the Association, who died recently. A collection for the bell repair fund realised 18s. Mr. A. E. Sellers appealed to those not at present taking 'The Ringing World' to become subscribers and so help to keep the paper going. Ringing in various methods continued till 9 o'clock.

PEAL RINGERS OF 1948

FEATURED in this issue is the list of those who rang 40 or more peals in 1948. The list is not complete. There are other names to be included, but either through bashfulness or calls in other directions they have not responded to the three requests made by the Editor for details.

We feel certain that the Exercise will join with us in congratulating Mr. George E. Fearn on the magnificent total of 108 peals in 12 months. There have been in bygone years other ringers who have passed the century mark in a year, but they are very few. Mr. Fearn's list has also quality, containing 22 peals on 12 bells, and no fewer than 52 were in Surprise methods The year also saw Mr. Fearn pass his 500 mark. He is in his early forties, and if health and time are at his disposal the new secretary of the St. Martin's Guild for the Diocese of Birmingham should soon reach the 1,000 mark.

Second on the list is Mr. Ernest Morris, of Leicester, with 72 peals. In 1947 Mr. Morris rang his 1,000th peal. Two of his peals were silent, and of the 21 he rang 'in hand' was a 9,999 Stedman Caters. Mr. Morris' list ranges from Doubles to Cinques, and includes 25 in Doubles or Minor methods.

One peal behind him is Mr. John Thomas, of Evesham, Worcestershire. Noteworthy was the fact that Mrs. Thomas rang 51 peals with him during the year, and it is doubtful if in the annals of change ringing a similar record by husband and wife has been surpassed. Mrs. Thomas, with 53 peals, can claim the position of No. 1 among our peal-ringing ladies.

Apart from Mr. George E. Fearn, there are other enthusiastic peal ringers in the Birmingham area. Messrs. John Pinfold and Henry H. Fearn were both in the sixties, and Edgar C. Shepherd, Paul K. Williamson (Coventry) and Albert Walker (in his golden wedding year) also figure in the list. Associated with them in many of their performances was Thomas W. Sheppard (Coventry), one of the new generation.

Mr. A. H. Pulling, of Guildford, has marked his first year of retirement with 57 peals. Of the names in the list his aggregate of peals is greater than any other, with about 1,450 to his credit. Well up in the list is Mr. Nolan Golden, of Norwich, with 56 peals. He has the distinction of conducting more peals than any other conductor in 1948, with 48 to his credit. The Norwich Diocesan Association has a second representative in Mr. George Sayer. The Suffolk Guild is represented by Mrs. Sylvia R. E. Pipe, whose peals on tower bells exceeded Mrs. Thomas' list.

Other Midlanders of note are Messrs. Arthur V. Pearson, of Wolverhampton, J. W. Frank Trotman (Nuneaton), and Arthur Pritchard, of Hadley, Shropshire. The Chester Guild has a strong representation with Messrs. Walter Allman (Runcorn), John Worth (Macclesfield), John E. Bibby (Frodsham) and C. Kenneth Lewis (Altrincham).

Heading the list of London ringers is Mr. Philip A. Corby with 50. The year 1948 was the fourth in succession that he has scored 50 or more peals, and September, 1948, when he was hors de combat, was the first calendar month in which he had not rung at least one peal since January, 1945. His list includes 38 in Surprise methods. Of the six-bell ringers, Mr. Frank Warrington, of St. Ives, Hunts, is prominent with 46. Yorkshire's sole representative is the Association's secretary, Mr. Leslie W. G. Morris. From Oxford comes Mr. Alan R. Pink. Mrs. F. J. Marshallsay, of Bournemouth, has in her 43 peals 32 rung 'in hand'; her list of 200 appeared in the last issue. Two of our younger ringers are Mr. Edgar R. Rapley (West Grinstead) and Mr. T. Mark White (Guildford), who were both in the forties. There are a number who just missed inclusion in the list, among them being Mr. Frederick E. Dukes, the genial secretary of the Irish Association with 37 peals.

Mr. Frederick W. Middleton, of Milbarton, Norfolk, a member of the Norwich Diocesan Association since 1905, has been awarded the B.E.M.

A review of 'Change Ringing on Handbells,' the Central Council's latest production, will appear in our next issue.

BELFRY GOSSIP

Eighty-nine-years-old Mr. W. Sears rang the treble to 1,260 Grandsire Triples rung on December 29th at Mangotsfield, Bristol, as a birthday compliment to him. Next to him stood M. Jefferies, aged 13, ringing his first 'inside.' A. Rodway had a similar privilege. J. G. Jefferies conducted.

Mr. Arthur Newton has now 'circled' Hughenden, Bucks, tower.

Mr. Frank Warrington rang his 300th peal for the Ely Diocesan Association at Holywell.

Mr. Tony Price rang double-handed in a tower-bell peal at Feltham on New Year's Day. The treble was 5 cwt. 11 lb. and the 2nd 6 cwt. 10 lb. He also 'called the bobs.'

The Henry Johnson dinner will be held on March 5th at the Imperial Hotel, and all enquiries should be addressed to G. E. Fearn, 92, Etwall Road, Hall Green, Birmingham 28. Phone SPR 1025.

The London County Association have produced their report covering the years 1939-48 inclusive. Useful touches of Grandsire, Stedman, Kent and Cambridge on 8 and 10 bells are included apart from the usual information.

Fifty years ago Goldhanger, Essex, bells were rehung with the addition of a treble bell. The anniversary of the dedication was marked by a quarter-peal (240 New London Pleasure, 360 Kent and 720 Oxford T.B.) by: J. D. Buckingham 1, H. R. Appleton 2, A. Appleton 3, W. J. White 4, G. H. Neville 5, M. C. Mann (cond.) 6. The ringer of the fifth was a member of the band formed at the time of the dedication by the late Mr. H. G. Rowe.

Ringers of Christ Church Cathedral, Victoria, B.C., sent a food parcel to the ringers of Westminster Abbey which arrived just before Christmas. The gesture was much appreciated. The parcel was accompanied by a Christmas card signed by all the ringers. In return an etching of the Abbey, bearing the signatures of the Abbey ringers, has been sent to Victoria.

The augmented ring at Birmingham Cathedral will be dedicated on Saturday, February 19th, at three o'clock.

Mr. P. Amos asks us to point out that the appeal he circulated for St. Andrew's (Northampton) bells was authorised by the Parochial Church Council. No suggestion is contained in the letter that Mr. E. Nobles wrote on the question of lotteries for restoration schemes that any of this money raised by Mr. Amos was used for any other purpose.

'The Belle,' a news letter for lady ringers, made its appearance at the meeting of the Southern District of the Ladies' Guild at Guildford on January 6th. The Editor is to be congratulated on her vigorous editorial at the expense of Holy Trinity company, Guildford, who incurred displeasure by expressing the opinion that their eight was not suitable for an all-ladies band to ring upon, the tower secretary commenting that 'if it was intended that collectively they (the ladies) should ring our eight then the good Lord would have taken more than one rib from the first man.'

THE CENTRAL COUNCIL

PRELIMINARY NOTICE.

Secretaries of Societies affiliated to the Council are reminded that the affiliation fees became due on January 1st and should be sent without delay.

Particulars of the forthcoming Council meeting at York will be published shortly, together with list of hotels, etc.

G. W. FLETCHER,
Hon. Secretary.

More peals have been rung during 1948 for the Truro Guild than in any of the previous fifty years of its history. The Rev. and Mrs. A. S. Roberts have each taken part in fourteen, which is a record by any individual in one year. Miss Joan Withey has rung twelve. The previous highest individual number was as long ago as 1927, when Mr. Roberts rang ten.

ST. MARTIN'S GUILD, BIRMINGHAM

MR. T. H. REEVES RESIGNS SECRETARYSHIP.

For many years the annual meeting of the St. Martin's Guild for the Diocese of Birmingham has been held in the large clubroom at the Tamworth Arms, Moor Street, on the first Saturday in the year, and this year was no exception, for on Saturday, January 1st, a company of about 60 assembled to transact the Guild's business.

In the unavoidable absence through illness of the Master, Cclr. Paddon Smith, J.P., the chair was taken by Mr. Vice-President Albert Walker, who, in his opening remarks wished all present a happy and prosperous New Year.

The following new members were elected: Messrs. T. H. Bartlett and M. T. Bartlett (Shirley), Messrs. Leslie Mole and James Corbett (Tanworth-in-Arden), Mr. Barry C. Webb (South Yardley) and Margaret F. Daniels (Coundon, Coventry), and as a life member, Mrs. John Thomas (Hinton-on-the-Green, Worcestershire).

An invitation from the Aston Company to hold the first quarterly meeting of the year at Aston Parish Church was unanimously accepted.

The Ringing Master, Mr. George Fearn, reported that the dedication of the two new trebles and the reopening of the augmented ring of 12 at the Cathedral Church of St. Philip was provisionally fixed for February 19th. He proposed that the bi-quarterly meeting should coincide with this, and asked members to book the date.

The treasurer, Mr. T. H. Reeves, presented the annual balance sheet. Subscriptions continued to come in satisfactorily, and the results showed an increased balance in the bank. The accounts showed that a start had been made in writing-up the peal book, and he hoped further progress would occur during the present year. The auditors having given their report, the accounts were unanimously adopted.

ELECTION OF OFFICERS FOR 1949.

In the election of officers for 1949 several changes were made. The secretary proposed that the name of Mr. Frank B. Yates be added to the list of vice-presidents for his many kindnesses to the Guild in past years, and especially for his generous gifts in augmenting the rings of bells at King's Norton and the Cathedral Church of St. Philip. The chairman proposed that Mr. T. H. Reeves be honoured in a similar manner for his services during the past 20 years as hon. secretary and treasurer. Both proposals were unanimously adopted.

Mr. Albert Walker was elected Master in place of Cclr. Paddon Smith, and Mrs. Edgar C. Shepherd as Ringing Master in place of Mr. G. E. Fearn. Mr. Shepherd, in accepting the office, said he had been a member of the Guild for 30 years, and in following such men as Henry Johnson, John Day, John Carter, James E. Groves, William Short and, more recently, Albert Walker, F. E. Haynes and G. E. Fearn, he had a high standard to uphold. He was, however, still an enthusiast, and with the assistance of Mr. Fearn and the co-operation of the members he would do his best to be a worthy successor. The trustees, Cclr. Paddon Smith and Mr. E. T. Allaway, and the auditors Messrs. H. H. Fearn and G. W. Critchley, were re-elected. Mr. J. F. Harvey was elected librarian in the place of G. F. Swann (deceased).

For the office of hon. secretary and treasurer Mr. T. H. Reeves informed the meeting that he had now completed 20 years and thought it was time for a younger man to take over. He therefore had much pleasure in proposing Mr. George E. Fearn as his successor. They all knew Mr. Fearn, and as an enthusiast for real hard work and plenty of it there was no one better. This was seconded by Mr. J. Pinfold and supported by Mr. F. W. Perrens and carried unanimously. Mr. Fearn acknowledged his appointment, thanking the members for their confidence and assuring them he would do his best to deserve it.

Referring to the peals rung during the past year, Mr. Fearn said that these numbered 80 and that the number of conductors was 20. They had rung several notable peals, but the two outstanding were Lincolnshire Maximus, rung without previous practice, and Rutland Royal at the first attempt.

HENRY JOHNSON COMMEMORATION DINNER.

Mr. T. H. Reeves reported that he had booked the Connaught Room at the Imperial Hotel for Saturday, March 5th. The seating capacity of this room was about 180, but in the event of more wishing to attend the dinner he had arranged for them to have the meal in another room and later join with those in the Connaught Room. Mr. Albert Walker thought it would be a fitting compliment to Mr. Reeves on terminating his period as secretary and treasurer to invite him to occupy the chair at the dinner, and he had much pleasure in making the proposition. This was seconded by Mr. J. S. Mason, supported by Mr. G. E. Fearn, and carried unanimously. It was agreed to leave the other arrangements for the dinner to the officers of the Guild.

Mr. Reeves reported that he had arranged for a certain number of bedrooms at the Imperial Hotel to be reserved for the Friday and Saturday evenings for the convenience of visitors, but would suggest that early application for reservations be made direct to the hotel. A hearty vote of thanks to the chairman, proposed by Mr. Reeves, terminated the meeting. The rest of the evening was taken up in social intercourse and handbell ringing.

BATH AND WELLS ASSOCIATION

AXBRIDGE BRANCH.

The Rev. R. T. Powys David presided at the annual meeting of the Axbridge Branch at Wick St. Lawrence. The statement of accounts showed a credit balance of £13, and it was proposed to hold a ringers' service at Axbridge on April 23rd.

Mr. G. Prescott was thanked for his work on behalf of the branch and congratulated on calling a peal in 11 methods.

Two hon. members and seven performing members were elected. Officers appointed for 1949 were: President, the Rev. L. T. Powys David; Ringing Master, Mr. G. Prescott; hon. local secretary, Mr. E. J. Avery.

The following towers will be visited during the next quarter: Worle, Westbury-sub-Mendip, in January; Shipham in February, and Burnham-on-Sea in March.

LETTERS

UNIVERSITIES' ASSOCIATION AND EXTENSION

Dear Sir,—With reference to the proposed resolution to the Central Council by the Universities Association on the subject of method extension raised in connection with London Surprise, I would like to clarify a position which has arisen because of a slight misinterpretation.

Mr. York-Bramble's original motion, 'That peals of London Surprise Royal be recognised with London places at the full and half lead,' was withdrawn in favour of an amendment, proposed by Mr. Denis Layton, seconded by the Rev. K. W. H. Felstead, that the motion should be a general one dealing with the whole subject of extension. This, however, did not imply that an alternative motion should be substituted suggesting any particular principle of extension, and it was in the hurry of the moment that this occurred and was reported.

To prevent any possible confusion, therefore, I would like to state that the wording of the resolution which our representative will table at the next Central Council meeting will be decided after full consultation with the proposers and seconders of the original and amended motions.—Yours sincerely,

E. S. JOHN HATCHER,
Hon. Sec., U.A.C.R.

Kimmeridge, Ditton, Kent.

THE CHRISTMAS QUIZ

Dear Sir,—The Christmas Quiz was both interesting and educative.

In trying to solve question four I discovered that the Parish Church of Brentor, Devon, which is a very early church dedicated to St. Michael de Rupe, contains a ring of five bells in going order, the bell frame of which is 1,155ft. above sea level, and it would be interesting to know the altitude of Holy Trinity, Queensbury, Bradford.

Incidentally, question nine could almost have been Launceston, Cornwall, with St. Mary Magdalene's (8), St. Stephen's (8), one mile away, and the Parish Church of St. Thomas-the-Apostle (6) just half-way between them.—Yours faithfully, GEORGE GRILLS.

Tavistock, Devon.

A VARSITY 'FIRST'

Dear Sir,—May I beg the hospitality of your columns to record that Miss Gillian A. Smith is to be congratulated on being the first lady to ring a peal for the Cambridge University Guild. It was hoped that this historic event would coincide with a peal in honour of the royal birth, but this attempt, on Monday, November 15th, was lost through the conductor's lack of experience. Another attempt, this time for a peal of Minor, was scheduled for November 23rd, but unfortunately one member of the band did not turn up. However, the third attempt, on December 4th, was successful, and a good peal was rung.—Yours faithfully,

M. R. D. HARFORD.

Trinity College, Cambridge.

A RINGERS' SUNDAY IN WILTSHIRE

At North Bradley, Wiltshire, on January 9th, a 'Ringers' Sunday' was observed, and the prayers and hymns were taken from the Salisbury Guild of Ringers' service. Four ringers read the lessons, and after the third collect four members of the local band rang a course of Grandsire Doubles 'in hand,' with 7, 6, 8 covering. The Vicar, in his sermon, spoke of the important part the bells play in the life of the church.

This is believed to be the first service of its kind in the district, and it is hoped to make it an annual event. The offertory was given towards the two new bells it is desired to install in the tower.

Diamond Wedding

Veteran ringer at Rotherfield, Sussex, is Mr. E. Bishop, who on Monday, January 17th, celebrated with Mrs. Bishop their diamond wedding.

Their 60 years of wedded happiness was marked by a party they gave in the British Legion Hall. The same day at 6 p.m. a peal attempt for Double Norwich Court Bob Major was made in their honour.

MR. E. BISHOP.

After the peal attempt Mr. W. Rogers, captain of the local ringers, presented Mr. and Mrs. Bishop with an engraved silver salver subscribed to by the Rotherfield Guild of Ringers.

Mr. Bishop still regularly rings the 23¼ cwt. tenor, and last November rang it to two quarter peals in three days. He rings Grandsire, Stedman, Plain Bob and Kent very well for his 84 years of age.

For 66 years he has been a regular attendant in the belfry, and can tell many a good story of local ringing. He recalls the days when Rotherfield had only five bells, and it took two-men to ring the tenor.

Of the bells, the tenor was cast in 1670 by John Hodson and the fifth in 1603. These are the only two original bells left, the other three were recast and three more added to make a ring of eight by Messrs. Mears and Stainbank in 1907. To date only 49 peals have been rung on the bells, and it is sincerely hoped that the 50th will be associated with Mr. Bishop, who has rung the tenor to more peals than anyone so far.

NEW YEAR'S EVE AT CARBIS BAY

On New Year's Eve the ringers and other workers at Carbis Bay were entertained to dinner by the Parochial Church Council at the Atlantic Hotel. The Vicar (Rev. A. S. Roberts) presided. After dinner everyone joined in and enjoyed games organised by Mr. and Mrs. Roberts. At 11.15 p.m. a move was made to the tower, and the bells rung first half-muffled, and at midnight open, to welcome 1949.

OBITUARY

MRS. C. H. PAGE.

Members of the North Staffordshire Association extend their deepest sympathy to Mr. C. H. Page in the loss he has sustained by the death of his wife on December 31st. Mrs. Page was a frequent visitor to meetings and outings, and her happy and charming personality won for her the friendship of a wide circle of friends.

The funeral service was on January 5th at St. Peter's, Stoke-on-Trent, the Rev. Osborn officiating in the absence of the Archdeacon (the Ven. P. Hartill). Many towers were represented, Mr. R. Anderson attending for the Association and Mr. A. Crawley for the Crewe Branch of the Chester Guild. The bells of St. Peter's Church were rung half-muffled before and after the service. At the graveside a course of Bob Minor was rung by F. E. Wilshaw 1-2, R. Anderson 3-4, A. D. Steel 5-6.

MR. L. A. PORRITT.

For many years secretary of the St. Lawrence, Ramsgate band, Mr. Leslie A. Porritt died on December 26th. As a mark of respect, 1,260 Grandsire Triples was rung on December 30th by Miss B. Solly 1, Mrs. N. Bridges 2, J. A. Atkins 3, L. J. Hilton 4, J. A. Russell (cond.) 5, S. J. Gee 6, A. Purdom 7, W. J. Fairbeard 8.

CHESTER DIOCESAN GUILD

WIRRAL BRANCH.

The second annual social held at St. Saviour's Parish Hall, Oxton, Birkenhead, on December 30th, proved to be as equally successful as the first venture. Over 200 ringers and friends were present, and hon. members in attendance included the Vicar, the Rev. N. J. Blow (Dean-elect of Newcastle, Australia), and the Rector and Rural Dean of Wallasey (Rev. J. R. Spencer).

A varied programme of dances, games, novelties and entertainment resulted in all present capturing the festive spirit.

During the interval a presentation was made by young ringers of the branch to the chairman, Mr. J. Cooke, and the hon. secretary, Mr. A. J. Martin, as a mark of appreciation of their instruction at the weekly beginners' practice at Birkenhead St. Mary's. The gift was subscribed to by regular attenders at this practice.

At the conclusion, upon venturing into the night a blanket of snow was discovered, and all were thankful for the fleet of buses waiting to convey them to their respective homes in Wirral.

BY A. YORK-BRAMBLE.

It seems fitting to open this instalment with a reminder that controversies of earlier years have not always necessarily closed a technical subject. Persistent research has opened up, in this case, new vistas with new conclusions, likely to modify the whole outlook. It is accordingly unavoidable that new and strange terms enter the discussion. They provide ready reference and promote quicker explanation.

THE TEN COMMANDMENTS OF EXTENSION.—We have seen that a Proximate extension must contain, at full- and half-leads, the pivot places of the basic method; or, to put it another way, there must be no variation of the basic work in the two cross-sections each where the treble leads and lies. But this is only one feature, and we may say at once that in assessing any Proximate extension there are TEN qualities or characteristics to be considered, as applicable in, order of importance. They determine positively whether any 'extension' may claim to be genuine and, if so, what degree of prior claim it has. We proceed to discover, discuss and tabulate these characteristics. But first the ground must be cleared of ambiguity.

THE GRID.—It is unfortunate that several terms and phrases in ringing have more than one meaning. 'Course' with four is typical. 'Lead' is just as bad. In conversation little difficulty arises with an additional phrase to make the meaning clear; but in reasoned analysis, where the one word may serve to convey some of its different meanings in one sentence, logical argument tends to become obstructed and obscured. Of the several meanings of 'Lead,' that which connotes a set of rows as described in paragraph A of the previous instalment (roughly from one treble-lead position to the next) needs a distinctive name, and more generic, i.e., to cover a similar set of rows in a method ('principle') which is not treble dominated, e.g., Stedman. Now consider these groups of rows as sets of numeric symbols all neatly arranged in columns, distinguishable as 'o' (odd) and 'e' (even) according to the number of bells represented; and in rows distinguishable as 'h' (handstroke) and 'b' (backstroke), of twice the number of bells in plain or four times the number in treble-bob, hunt-controlled methods. Then each of these numeric symbols could have drawn round it a small square, and these closely-packed squares would form a 'grid' of columns and rows. This rectangular GRID is the basis of all method structure in 'methods' and 'principles' alike. And these Grids are 'linked' together by 'P.L.' (plain) or 'B.L.' (bobbed) or "S.L." (singled) 'Grid-links.' ('L' here means 'link.')

GRID-SECTIONS.—In all methods as practised to-day the changes produced are shown, in the appropriate grid, as symbols which interchange places, in the columns, in pairs. Consequently the rows are associated also in pairs, or 'Sections.' In plain hunt-controlled methods the treble crosses from one section to the next after every second row. In Treble Bob methods she crosses from one section of the grid to the next after every fourth row. These 'Grid-sections' are as readily identifiable as the individual squares of the grid, preferably by the nomenclature indicated in the following paragraph; but alternatively as 'The 1-2 up section' or 'the 7-8 down section,' and so on.

GRID-SQUARE NOMENCLATURE. — In this abridged extract we are unable to discuss in detail the very useful system of identification or naming of the grid-squares and grid-sections. But the interested reader may like to know that it has been fully developed to suit any grid, and that a column, row, section or even square, once given a name in the basic grid, retains that designation throughout any process of extension or contraction, appearing or disappearing in the varying grids. Even the theorem of displacement in grid expansion, proving discontinuity of the hunt-bell's path (in other words, new grid-sections always enter at inner part of new grid), and which proves the impracticability of numbering the rows of a 'lead' from the head downwards, is fully accommodated by this system. The 'leading' pair of columns of any grid is always under 'A' and the 'lying' pair under 'Z.' Each column in a pair is, of course, either 'o' or 'e.' The rows are nominated correspondingly, the first pair being 'A' and so on, with the stroke of the row indicated under 'h' or 'b.' The reflected half of the grid (see paragraph B of previous article) has its row letters prefixed by 'r.' For lack of space the accompanying very simple grid of plain Minimus must suffice here, as an example. Each square takes its name from the column above it and the row alongside it. So the first square of the grid-head row is Ao-Ah always. Again, the last square but one, for instance, in the last or grid-base row, is Zo-rAh always. 'Always' as long as we stick to single hunt-controlled methods! But how many ringers have realised that while twin-hunt methods, such as Grandsire, Oxford Bob, Hereward Bob, London Bob, St. Clement's, etc., begin their grids with a handstroke blow, every single-hunt method, such as Plain Bob, Double Norwich (not D.N. Caters!), Kent Treble Bob, all Surprise methods, etc., begin their Grids (or of you like, 'leads') with a grid-head (or lead-head) row which is a back-stroke blow? The importance of realising this fully is seen in the fact that no adequate definition of 'forward hunting' or 'reverse hunting' is possible without it, and may be regarded as lacking hitherto.

'FORWARD' AND 'REVERSE' HUNTING.—These may be defined thus: 'In forward hunting, at a handstroke blow, bells are moving UP from odd columns into even ones, and DOWN from even ones into odd ones; and conversely at a backstroke blow. In reverse hunting the whole process is reversed.' (The second blow at lead may always be regarded as 'up' for this purpose, while the second blow at the lie may always be so regarded as 'down.')

PROPAGANDA AT BOURNEMOUTH

Mr. A. V. Davis has addressed Bournemouth Inner Wheel on 'Bells.' Proceedings opened with a touch of Grandsire Triples, in which Mr. Davis was assisted by Andrew Pearmain, Bruce Rogers and John Davis. A scale model of a bell (loaned by Mr. J. M. Turner, of Southbourne) was on view. Similar lectures have been given to the Southbourne Men's Club and to the Soroptimists' Club.

As the outcome of the ringing of carol tunes by St. Peter's Youth Club, Bournemouth, several young folk have asked for instruction at Bournemouth during 1949.

WRINGTON RINGERS' SUPPER

The Wrington bellringers held their annual supper at the Golden Lion on January 8th. After an excellent meal, Mr. H. W. Knight welcomed the Rector (Rev. A. Talbot), Mrs. Hesse and the other visitors, the Rector, in his reply, thanking the ringers for inviting them to such a splendid meal. Mr. Hesse and Mr. L. W. Pullin also spoke. Handbells were rung before and after supper.

CHANGE RINGING ON HANDBELLS

By JOHN E. SPICE.

RINGERS will welcome the Central Council's new publication, 'Change Ringing on Handbells,' by Christopher W. Wooley. This valuable little book is a guide to handbell ringing from the earliest stages up to Surprise Major. Assuming only a knowledge of the rudiments of change ringing, it begins with the plain hunting positions on six bells, and goes on to the work of the various pairs in courses and touches of Bob Minor and Bob Major. This is the longest section of the book and the most important, since most methods are based—both in theory and in handbell ringing practice—on the plain hunting positions and the Plain Bob method, which must therefore be known inside out. If the extremely lucid treatment given here cannot ensure such a understanding, then nothing will. Other Plain and Treble Bob Minor methods are then discussed, careful directions are given for the ringing of Double Norwich, and finally there are sections on Surprise Major methods (the standard four) and on conducting. Little is said about Stedman, and less about Grandsire, but, as is pointed out, the former method offers its own peculiar problems which need to be solved in isolation from the other standard methods, while the latter should offer no particular difficulty to the ringer well accustomed to Plain Bob.

'Ringing by the places' is advocated throughout, and handbell ringers of the 'two blue-lines' school may for this reason feel that the book is not for them. But they will nevertheless find much in its pages to interest and help them, and they must in any case remember that a handbell treatise based exclusively on the 'two blue-lines' technique need only consist of the one sentence, 'learn all the possible work of your pair and practise hard.'

The least satisfactory part of the book may be felt to be that on Surprise methods, consisting as it does of a somewhat indigestible list of places to be made and directions to be followed. This underlines the fact that the book is most emphatically a companion and guide to handbell ringing, rather than a set of infallible, ex cathedra pronouncements. In conjunction with actual ringing practice, the most formidable looking explanations have new light thrown upon them, and seemingly intractable difficulties usually sort themselves out. All the same, more stress might have been laid on the section (i.e., the four rows with the treble in any one dodging position) as the working unit of Treble Bob and Surprise methods. It may not always be a theoretically sound unit, but when actually ringing it helps immensely to 'think in fours' and to get into a Treble Bob dodging frame of mind—even though the internal places often cause plain hunting instead of dodging. Again, to think of (say) 5ths and 8ths being made when the treble is dodging in 3-4 in Cambridge Major is more difficult in practice to regard the work as 'plain hunting at the back,' when the places will be made automatically. But, of course, every ringer who has progressed so far will have his own particular angle on the art, and the object of any set of directions must be to put one on the right road, rather than map out the route completely. Critics of 'ringing by the places' sometimes object that it destroys the sense of movement in ringing—that handbell ringing thus becomes nothing but a 'pricking of changes' and a static rather than a dynamic process. In a sense this is true; but as soon as the handbell ringer acquires confidence he begins to use so many different aids in his ringing, and to rely not least on a new and delightful kind of rhythm—a rhythm quite peculiar to handbell ringing—that, in fact, the objection carries but little weight.

It is to be hoped that users of the book will follow the advice given in the foreword, and mark in the lines on the diagrams. For these lines to have been printed would have meant the use of blocks, and the book would then have been much more expensive. One minor criticism is the lack of any index or table of contents. On the other hand, a particularly pleasing feature is the way in which long stretches of explanation are enlivened with practical hints, which are valuable both in themselves and for the way in which they continually keep theory wedded to practice. These hints are evidently culled from long (and sometimes bitter) experience, and reading between the lines one feels that if, some day, the author had time to produce a collection of personal reminiscences of the funnier side of handbell ringing, such a volume would be well worth reading. For the time being, however, we must be content with the present work, and the grateful thanks of the Exercise are certainly due to Mr. Woolley for the very capable way in which he has carried it out.

STOP PRESS.

Peals rung in 1948 totalled 2,637 (2,364 tower bells, 273 handbells), compared with 2,176 in 1947. The Kent County Association head the Associations with 150 on tower bells and six 'in hand.'

First peal by a band of ladies for the Royal Society of Cumberland Youths was scored at Bexley, Kent, on January 15th. It was Cambridge Surprise Major; conductor, Miss Betty Spice.

BELFRY GOSSIP

Mr. G. H. Cross was elected Master of the Society of Royal Cumberland Youths on Saturday in succession to Mr. Walter Ayre. The voting was Mr. G. H. Cross 43, Mr. Frank E. Hawthorne 20, Mr. T. G. Bevan 13. A report will appear in our next issue.

Names omitted from our list of ringers who have rung 40 or more peals during 1948 are Mr. Jack L. Millhouse, Lincoln, with 59 peals and Mr. Charles W. Roberts, London, with 40 (conducted 19). Of Mr. Roberts' peals 29 were in Surprise methods.

There has been a change in the Mastership of Cambridge University Guild. Mr. M. R. D. Harford has resigned owing to the pressure of work, and Mr. Geoffrey Dodds (Emmanuel) has been elected his successor.

The peal attempt at Rotherfield, Sussex, in honour of the diamond wedding of Mr. E. Bishop, was successful. 'It was a first-class peal, well struck, and was much appreciated by the large gathering of friends,' reports our correspondent.

'We are quite proud of the performance of Mr. H. Buckingham, who at the age of 79 rang his bell faultlessly. . . . It is 12 years since he rang his last peal.' Thus writes our correspondent from Marlow in sending a report of the local peal. Others, we feel sure, will share Marlow's pride.

Mr. A. Miller, captain of Christ Church, Mitcham, has been 54 years a ringer. To mark his 69th birthday on Jan. 2nd, 1,260 Doubles was rung by F. Uden 1, A. Miller 2, H. Allen 3, T. Miller 4, P. E. T. Allen (cond.) 5, H. Uden 6.

St. John's, Deptford, specialise in quarter-peals, conducting being shared by F. W. Richardson, J. Warner, jun., and P. G. Parrott. In their list to hand is a quarter of Grandsire Triples at 7 a.m. on Christmas Day.

Mr. Charles J. Sedgley and Mr. G. E. Symonds have both rung 60 peals of Surprise Maximus in seven different methods.

Mr. Vernon Sykes has 'circled' the tower of St. Thomas', Moorside, Oldham.

Mr. A. C. Hazelden, of Guildford, is making good progress after his operation. He wishes to thank all enquirers.

Miss Stella M. Wickens believes that she is the first lady to call a peal for the East Grinstead and District Guild.

Mr. George E. Oliver had his young band performing at Willenhall, Staffordshire, with a peal of Stedman Triples on Jan. 8th.

The peal at Audley, Staffordshire, on Jan. 8th, was a compliment to Mr. John Jebb, for 58 years a ringer at Audley and for 22 years leader of the local band.

Mr. A. P. Cannon's six months old record of ringing 840 changes on Brooklands (Kent) bells was beaten by 2,040 Plain Bob Doubles rung on Jan. 8th by Miss Frances Wood 1, J. Owen Santer 2, W. Gorringe 3, M. S. Clarke (cond.) 4, L. T. Pope 5. The attempt, like the previous one, came to grief when a rope jumped the wheel of the tenor.

Eighty-nine-years-old Mr. W. Sears rang the treble to 1,260 Grandsire Triples rung on December 29th at Mangotsfield, Bristol, as a birthday compliment to him. Next to him stood M. Jefferies, aged 13, ringing his first 'inside.' A. Rodway had a similar privilege. J. G. Jefferies conducted.

The 'Bristol Evening Post' comments that the 12-bell ring in Trowbridge Parish Church is silent much more than it should be in these days because of the lack of ringers. The bells did not herald the birth of the Royal Prince or the New Year. An appeal for learners is made by Mr. Gilbert Harding.

Hinckley District at Dinner

POPULAR SOCIAL EVENT.

Another example of enterprise on the part of Leicestershire ringers was the second annual dinner of the Hinckley District, held at Burbage on January 8th, which attracted a company of 128.

The dinner was preceded by ringing at St. Catherine's, Burbage, during the afternoon. Mr. E. C. Turner, the genial district chairman, presided, supported by the Guild president (Mr. H. J. Poole) and Mrs. Poole. Mr. W. Wood (secretary) and Mr. A. Rowley (treasurer) were also present.

In reply to a welcome by the chairman, Mr. Poole said how gratified he was to see such a truly representative gathering of the district ringers. It showed how enthusiastic were the members and how truly they emphasised the social spirit and good comradeship in the district.

Mr. Frank K. Measures, district secretary, was responsible for the social and dance which followed. There was never a dull moment and great thanks are due to him. There were hilarious turns on the stage by local ringers, and handbell ringing, which was a revelation in good striking. Thanks are also due to the Earl Shilton and Barwell Male Voice Choir for their excellent singing.

The games, in which everyone took part, were a riot, and numerous prizes were given. Midnight came all too soon, and a fleet of buses saw everyone safely home.

GUILD OF DEVONSHIRE RINGERS

NORTH-EAST BRANCH.

At the annual meeting of the North-East Branch, held at Silverton on January 8th, a noticeable feature was the large number of visitors, some of whom came from as far afield as Combe Martin, Chivenor, Newton Abbot, Wellington and Milverton.

The report showed that good progress had been made during the past year, both as regards the numbers of peals and quarter-peals rung and also in the instruction of beginners.

All the retiring officers were re-elected, and it was decided to hold the next quarterly meeting at Sampford Peverell on April 23rd.

In addition to Grandsire and Stedman Triples, touches of Plain Bob, Kent Treble Bob and Double Norwich were rung.

HELLINGLY'S PLIGHT

There has always been enthusiasm for bell-ringing in the Sussex village of Hellingly, and the parish was fortunate in that ringers were available throughout the war.

Two years ago an effort was made to introduce young blood into the tower with excellent results. Soon Kent Treble Bob Minor was being rung in addition to Grandsire Doubles before the Sunday services and seven Minor methods amongst various Doubles methods on practice nights.

In the spring of last year the sad discovery was made that the death-watch beetle had badly affected the timbers in the tower in addition to much damage in the church itself.

Expert advice declared the condition of the bell frame (in August) to be such as to make further ringing unsafe and the church is set to raise £2,000 to treat the roof timbers, replacing as necessary, and to install an iron frame for the bells, to recast the third and complete new fittings.

Nevertheless, great enthusiasm still prevails among the ringers, who take every opportunity available to ring in other towers, including a visit a short time ago to Barcombe, when they rang a peal of Bob Doubles.

If any of our ringing brethren feels that he (or she) has any money to spare to help this country parish in its big effort, donations will be most gratefully received by the Vicar, the Rev. R. W. Shaw, Hellingly Vicarage, Hailsham, Sussex. FRANK H. HICKS.

Ringer Awarded B.E.M.

Mr. Frederick W. Middleton, a ringer well known and beloved in the Norwich Diocese, was awarded the B.E.M. in the New Year's Honours List in recognition of 50 years' service as sub-postmaster at Mulbarton, which he completed on December 9th last.

Born at Brooke, Norfolk, on December 1st, 1870, Mr. Middleton was taught to ring on the heavy six in the ancient round tower when a boy of 14. On moving to Mulbarton, he found a light ring of five and continued his interest in bellringing. In 1946 Mr. and Mrs. Middleton added a treble in memory of their only son, killed at Dunkirk in the Second World War.

Mr. Middleton joined the Norwich Diocesan Association iu 1905 and rang his first peal 'inside' to Bob Major in that year. Since then he has taken part in 24 peals, recent ones being in honour of his 78th birthday and the B.E.M. award. In addition, Mr. Middleton has been a regular supporter of district meetings both far and near and most hospitable to ringers visiting Mulbarton. The affection with which he is held in ringing circles is shared with the general public as letters to the local Press and the many private tributes he has received have testified. Numerous people have given expression to the ability, friendliness and co-operation which have typified Mr. Middleton's work as sub-postmaster at Mulbarton for such a long period. It is the toast of his ringing friends that he may enjoy many more years of health and happiness. N. G.

EAST GRINSTEAD & DISTRICT GUILD

A meeting of the Guild at St. Peter's, Tunbridge Wells, on January 8th, proved quite a success, when over 40 ringers, representing 17 towers, enjoyed ringing on this handy octave. As usual, the learners were there in force, to the detriment of the striking, but they had some very good practice. Double Norwich went quite well, as did Yorkshire Major, until two leads from the end.

After a short service, conducted by the Rev. — Ellis, tea was taken in the Parish Hall, followed by the business, with Mr. H. Lamb, a churchwarden, in the chair.

Essex Association

SOUTH-EASTERN DIVISION.

The annual meeting of the South-Eastern Division was held at Boreham on January 15th, 40 members and friends attending. The Rev. T. W. J. House conducted the service, Miss Jean Thomas being the organist. Tea was provided by the kindness of Mrs. M. R. French, an honorary member.

At the business meeting Mr. H. Mansfield, of Maldon, after 15 years as Master, relinquished office. Several members spoke appreciatively of Mr. Mansfield's service to change ringing, and Mr. H. W. Shadrack, of Springfield, was elected Master. The secretary and committee members were re-elected.

In his report for 1948 the secretary (Mr. A. H. Everett) reported an average attendance of 39 at meetings. The standard of ringing in many individual cases had greatly improved, whilst younger members had widened their knowledge of methods. All Saints', Maldon, with structural defect repaired, had recommenced ringing. The year had been satisfactory financially, £10 13s. 7d. and £11 8s. 6d. being handed to the general secretary on the Bell Restoration Fund and General Fund accounts respectively. Five ringing and 10 probationers had been elected during the year.

Sixteen peals were rung during 1948, shared by seven conductors. Two members conducted their first peal, which was most welcome news.

Tribute was paid to those who, having passed the three score and ten, continue to give faithful service, including G. Green (Great Baddow), and H. Allen (Chelmsford), who joined this Association 63 years ago. In conclusion the secretary stressed the need for recruits so that all the bells might be rung every Sunday.

The Rev. T. W. J. House and Miss Joan May were elected ringing members, and D. Wallace, T. Whitesmith and J. Gowers probationer members.

NORTHERN DIVISION.

On January 8th, the Northern Division held its annual meeting at Braintree, when some 55 members and friends attended. The Association's form of service was held in the church, conducted by Mr. D. Smith, the Vicar being indisposed. After the service tea and meeting followed in the Church Hall.

Miss H. Snowden was re-elected Master and Mr. H. A. Pratt secretary. Mr. H. W. Smith and Mr. G. Trendell were elected to the committee. Stisted was selected for the next meeting. Votes of thanks were passed to the Vicar and local ringers and friends for arranging the tea.

Ringing was resumed after tea, and Bocking tower was also available.

KENT COUNTY ASSOCIATION

CANTERBURY DISTRICT.

The quarterly meeting of the Canterbury District was held at Wingham on January 8th. A company of 70 attended, and ringing was enjoyed on the fine eight until 4.30. The service was conducted by the Vicar, the Rev. J. D. Brockman, who is learning ringing.

Tea, very generously provided by the Vicar, Mr. R. Miles and Mr. Elgar, was followed by the usual business meeting. Fourteen new practising members were elected, also one new honorary member. Upper Deal tower was also elected in union with the Association. From four towers proposed for the next quarterly meeting, St. Lawrence's, Thanet, was selected. Ospringe beat its opponents for the next by-meeting.

Mr. G. H. Spice read a report on the work of the Central Committee, prepared by Mr. J. W. Unwin, who was unable through illness to be present.

Further ringing was held until 8.30.

ENDERBY, LEICS. — On Dec. 30th, 1,320 Grandsire Doubles: Miss Lucy Muggleton 1, Mrs. L. E. Rivers 2, D. T. Oliver 3, W. Salt 4, L. E. Rivers (first as cond.) 5, B. Stevens 6. First quarter by 1 and 6. First 'inside' 2.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

CENTURY MAKERS OF THE PAST

Dear Sir,—By ringing 108 peals during 1948, Mr. George Fearn becomes the first century maker since 1933, when Mr. George R. Pye's total was exactly 100, and only the second since 1913, in which year Mr. Alfred W. Grimes rang 136 after his previous years 114, he being the only ringer to have accomplished the feat more than once. The only other men who rang more than 100 peals in a year were Messrs. J. W. Washbrook, with 127 in 1888, and, I think, Bertram Prewett, who did so in 1912 or 1913. All this is from memory, but I don't think it is far wrong.—Yours faithfully,

Crayford, Kent. E. A. B.

40 PEALS AND OVER

Sir,—With reference to your publication in this week's 'Ringing World' of the list of those members of our fatermity who have rung 40 peals and over during the past year.

Although this is a matter for our congratulations to them for achieving this number, I wonder how many of these same ringers could claim to have rung for Sunday services on 40 Sundays during this same past year? Of those who can claim this, how many stayed to the services for which they rang?

There seems a tendency nowadays to amass a large number of peals, but if that is not coupled with the primary objects for which our Guilds stand—I mean that of ringing regularly for Sunday services, and training learners —then, to have rung 40 or more peals in a year seems to lose the greater part of its value. Peal ringing should be a means to an end and not the end in itself. The bells belong to the church, and we are members of the church; our ringing for services should be a service and duty to that church, and not merely a hobby to satisfy our desires. I am glad, therefore, to see that many of those names published are, in fact, of such ringers who do fulfil their obligations.

I feel also that those who faithfully carried out the objects for which their Guilds stand, and have been good and loyal members of their churches and perhaps have not rung or had the chance to ring 40 peals in a year, are equally deserving of such worthy recognition as has been given to these more prolific peal ringers of our fraternity.

Could not, therefore, a list be published of those who have rung for service and stayed to those services on 40 Sundays in the past year? —Yours faithfully,

E. F. N. SAMSON, Capt.

D. and N. School, R.A.E. Centre,
Bovington Camp, Dorset.

[NOTE.—We have not the space for such a list. In the Editor's own tower ten ringers rang for more than 40 services, there being a number exceeding 130.—EDITOR.]

THE LONDON PEAL OF 1899

Dear Sir,—Re the peal of London Surprise rung at St. Stephen's, Coleman Street, on Jan. 14th, 1899. In addition to Mr. Williams, the conductor, there are at least two other survivors of that peal in Brighton, i.e., George Baker and Frank Bennett.

Whether George King, who also took part in the peal, is still alive I do not know. He went to Canada many years ago, and for some years nothing has been heard of him.—Yours faithfully, GEORGE BAKER.

Brighton.

THE MISSION TO LONDON

Dear Sir,—In preparation for the Mission to be held in May, we are forming a small discussion group between some of the ringers at Kilburn. We feel that this will help us in the part we hope to play in the Mission and would like to welcome any other ringers who would care to join in the discussions. I should be glad to supply further particulars.—Yours faithfully, E. M. ATKINS.

THE CHRISTMAS QUIZ

Dear Sir,—It seems that once again I have put my foot right in it! Contrary to all 'Kewsett Laws,' once again error has crept into the Christmas Quiz. 'Quizzed' writes, 'Perhaps Kewsett will explain how John and Arthur, ringing the 2nd and 3rd respectively, manage to be dodging in 4-5 when Bob on the 7th is in quick.' The only explanation I can offer is that I inadvertently took a slow six-end to be a quick one.

It appears that there were alternative answers to several of the 'Round England Quiz.' Many have pointed out that Holy Sepulchre, Northampton, is a round church with a ring of eight, and that St. Maurice's, Winchester, has a ring of six with a roadway underneath.

The Darts Problem was also solved in different ways, which, however, all used the natural coursing order. I submit that writing out the lead-ends of Plain Bob is the quickest way to solve the problem.—Yours, etc.,

'KEWSETT.'

[NOTE. — In marking the papers, these alternatives were taken into consideration. — EDITOR.]

CHRISTMAS CARD WANTED

Dear Sir, — A few days ago I received a Christmas card from Mr. Ernest Morris, of Leicester, with a fine view of St. Margaret's Church on the front, which brought to my mind a thought for something I have often wished for—a real bellringer's Christmas card, suitable for any church.

My suggestion is a view and name of one's own church on the front leaf, and on the inside leaf three bells, the centre bell in the down position, and one each side, mouth upwards, complete with stock, stay and wheel. Underneath this illustration would be 'The bells of St. Mary's' (or other church), 'How sweetly they ring,' and lower, in a half circle of music lines, the first eleven notes of the bells of St. Mary's. On the other leaf could be included a photo of oneself, with Christmas greetings from ——.

I hope to get this worked out before next Christmas, when some of my old friends will receive a card.—Yours faithfully,

ERNEST WEATHERBY.

OBITUARY

THE REV. A. A. DE VERE.

The Rev. Allan Augustin de Vere, the much loved Vicar of Christ Church, Ealing, died suddenly on January 15th. Prominent in Anglo-Catholic circles, he was also a man of wide interests and a tremendous worker. He had been a soldier in the first world war, holding a commission in the 1st Battalion of the Gloucestershire Regiment, and seeing service in France, before being seconded to the Ministry of Supply. Following the war, and after obtaining his degree at Oxford, he took Holy Orders, and served at several well-known Anglo-Catholic Churches, including St. Matthew's, Westminster, the Church of the Annunciation, Bryanston Street, and others. In 1939 he was appointed to Christ Church, Ealing, following his Vicariate at St. Anne's, Brondesbury. His period at Ealing was one of great stress and hard work. In June, 1944, his beautiful church was very badly damaged by a flying bomb. Due to his untiring efforts, within a comparatively short time, the church was restored to something like its pre-war state. The restoration, so far, has included the rebuilding of the organ, which was badly damaged, and the rehanging and recasting of some of the bells. He was a great lover of his bells and the beautiful restored ring was a great joy to him.

At the request of Father R. W. F. Cowdry, priest-in-charge, the bells were rung half-muffled for as many of the services as possible up to the time of the funeral. On Saturday evening, January 15th, the ringing was carried out by members of the Middlesex County Association, following a meeting at Acton. On the Sunday morning, following ringing for Matins, the 'whole pull and stand' was rung 55 times to correspond with the age of the departed. by W. G. Wilson 1, D. R. Judd 2, F. A. Finch 3, E. C. S. Turner 4, J. E. Lewis Cockey 5, J. King 6, W. J. Ellis 7, A. Jones 8. On the Wednesday afternoon the body was brought to lay in state in the chancel, and ringing was again carried out by the local company, prior to Vespers for the Dead. A watch was then set until the time of the funeral, watches being taken by Mr. W. G. Wilson and Mr. J. E. Lewis Cockey, on behalf of the ringers.

Preceding the funeral service at 10.45 a.m. on Thursday, a representative band again rang the 'whole pull and stand': W. G. Wilson 1, T. J. Lock 2, J. E. Lewis Cockey 3, A. A. Hughes, J.P. 4, E. Maurice Atkins 5, A. T. Parker 6, H. J. Eldred 7, F. Miller 8. Miss D. Luke (Christ Church) and Mr. W. Pickworth (Richmond) also took part in the ringing.

The funeral service was most impressive, the church being packed, with many more waiting outside. Requiem Mass was sung, presided over by the Bishop of London, supported by the Bishop of Kensington, the Archdeacon of Middlesex, the Rural Dean of Ealing, the Vicar of Ealing and nearly all the clergy of the Ealing Deanery.

The ringers connected with the church express their deep sympathy with Mrs. de Vere and her two sons.

SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD

DEVIZES BRANCH.

The annual meeting of this branch was held on January 8th at St. James', Trowbridge, attended by 40 members. The Rev. R. J. Pelly conducted the Guild service, and Mr. A. T. Weeks was at the organ.

Tea was served in the Court Cafe, followed by the meeting, presided over by the branch chairman, Mr. W. C. West. All the officers were re-elected with the exception of the secretary, who has left the district, and Mr. Fred Slatford was elected to this office. Five new members were proposed. Votes of thanks were accorded to the Rector, and to Mr. G. Harding for making all the usual arrangements, and a welcome was given to the visitors, to which Mr. A. Prince replied.

By A. YORK-BRAMBLE.

THE GRID-PATTERN OF A METHOD.—The terms 'red line' and 'blue line' are familiar to all ringers as the indicators of the respective paths of treble and working bells as shown in Snowdon's 'Standard Methods.' If the paths of all the bells are marked by such lines, omitting the figures and using, preferably, a distinguishing colour for each bell, we derive a distinctive network of bell-paths. This network IS the method. We call it the Grid-pattern of the method. Each method has its own, quite different from any other method's Grid-pattern. It is instantly recognisable on sight, far more quickly and positively, in fact, than even an expert could recognise a 'lead' of figures of a method.

Any reader who has never seen a Grid-pattern is advised to stop here and take squared paper and red crayon (or ink) and pencil, and to draw up grid rectangles for Minor, Major, Royal and Maximus. Then take a standard method, say Plain Bob or Cambridge, and make out the Grid-pattern for the Minor, using lines only to run from square centre to square centre, the treble's path being distinguished in red. Draw cross lines to divide off the Grid-sections. Now note: 1. The way the pattern repeats in the sections, and changes at the junctions of the sections. 2. How this is all 'governed' by the position of the hunt-controlling bell, i.e., the treble. Now, without reference to any book of rules, repeat the pattern in the Major, Royal and Maximus grids. Notice: 3. The pattern is 'identical' throughout. (It must be so, for this Grid-pattern is, as we have said, the method itself.) Check the bell-paths down to the grid-base row, put in the grid-link, and see what row of figures you obtain. There is no question as to whether or not you have the method. 'All very well,' I hear some readers saying, 'with methods such as he suggests. But what about irregular ones?' 'Right,' we reply, 'how about London, the Queen of irregular patterns? Later we shall do the same with London. And get a surprise, no doubt!' The process holds good for odd-bell methods, of course, and for 'principles,' too, such as Stedman. Now whilst the ordinary ringer may manage with the blue line, the advanced performer and certainly the skilled conductor need a working acquaintance with the interdependence of the bell-paths, i.e., what we have called the Grid-pattern. To the method-builder, however, it is indispensable.

CONES.—If the red line of the treble's path be followed across the Grid (Plain or Treble Bob), from leading to lying, and back again from lying to leading, it will be seen to form a cone, with its base along the 'A' columns of the grid, and its apex in the 'Z' columns of the grid at the half-lead position; or, as we may preferably call it, the 'Grid-junction' position, since it is where the two reflective halves of the grid are joined together. The whole of the Grid-pattern enclosed within this 'front' cone we shall describe as 'front-cone work.' Again, the treble, in coming down from behind to leading, in the last half of a grid, and in moving up behind again in the first half of the ensuing grid, traces out a similar cone with its base along the 'Z' columns and its apex in the 'A' columns, at the grid-link. And all the Grid-pattern lying with this cone we shall describe as 'Back-cone work.' Note that both cones are halved, through the apex, by the axial dividing lines at Grid-link and Grid-junction respectively. Now, all these unfamiliar names may seem unwelcome at first contact, but their convenience, usefulness and even necessity quickly become apparent in any serious pursuit of this subject.

THE ARBITRARY CONVENTIONS. — All methods are subject to certain arbitrary 'Conventions,' demanded by usage and custom throughout the Exercise over long years. Fundamentally all methods spring from the 'Original' principle of plain hunting, the hunting being varied, from method to method, by causing bells to pause in their paths at varying positions and 'make a place.' This pausing, in turn, compels the bells beyond the place-making (i.e., beyond as considered from the direction in which the place-making bell was moving beforehand) compels, we were saying, those bells to 'dodge.' The whole combined process of disturbance may be conveniently known as a 'Stat.' (The nature and effect of stats is a separate and absorbing branch of the subject for study.) The 'coursing order,' that is, the order in which the bells follow one another as in Original, is accordingly disturbed, at any rate temporarily.

In hunt-controlled methods this order is usually regained by the time the Grid-base row is reached, except in so far as the order of the working bells in relation to the hunt-bell appears. This convention results in what are known as 'natural' (sometimes 'Bob Major,' though a poor name) lead-rows, that is, the rows at the Grid-links. Further, especially on the higher numbers, is the convention that the heavier bells should not be separated, by stats, in the first grid of the plain course, to a degree which could place them oppositely in the grid. This has the effect of ensuring, in the main, that the heavy bells are congregated throughout. Again, no more than two blows, except in certain 'calls' and method adaptations such as Plain Bob on odd numbers, are to be laid consecutively in any one place. Again, no penultimate place is to be made unless the treble lies next behind.

In extensions it frequently occurs that characteristic portions of the work unavoidably turn up in an order differing from that in the basic, and with additional bits to accommodate the expanded grid. In a choice between two variants, proximate order would be a determining factor. Again, Grid-head rows of an extension should be not only in 'natural' coursing order, but also, if possible, in the 'associated' order of those of the basic—another influencing factor in deciding approximation of extension. Finally, for the ringer himself, the 'blue lines' must be similar in extension or contraction. These conventional requirements have a very restrictive effect in method construction and extension, not to discuss the even more vital factor of nature of rows, whether 'in phase' or 'out of phase,' affecting even 'pealability.' The optimum version clearly is that satisfying the greatest number of conditions in order of importance. We are now ready to consider how to draft a method's Formula.

THE ATTRIBUTES OF A RINGER

In an appeal in the Hillingdon (Middlesex) Parish Magazine for more ringers, the Vicar writes: 'We find it difficult to define the attributes of a ringer, but a sense of rhythm, a keen ear, a quick intelligence and a friendly disposition are an advantage! Physical strength is not important, and sex or age no impediment. So will some of you, to use a contemporary phrase, have a go? Interested persons will be welcomed in the tower any Monday evening.'

RINGING IN 1948

THE Peal Analysis Committee have prepared a preliminary report on ringing in 1948, which indicates the unprecedented enthusiasm in the country to-day for peal ringing. The total of peals rung reached a new high level with 2,637, made up of 2,364 on tower bells and 273 'in hand.' This is a big advance on the total for 1947 of 2,174 (1,955 on tower bells and 221 'in hand'). The upward trend since the war is indicated by the following figures: 1945, 1,304; 1946, 1,795; and 1947, 2,174. There is a feeling in some quarters that peal ringing has reached its zenith. In both 1947 and 1948 national rejoicings on account of Princess Elizabeth's wedding and the birth of Prince Charles added materially to the total, and there were a large number of ringers who performed on those occasions whose names do not normally appear in our peal columns.

The trend of ringing can be gauged by the monthly totals, viz.: January 207 (140 in 1947), February 193 (101), March 188 (138), April 253 (180), May 234 (201), June 177 (163), July 182 (137), August 231 (170), September 177 (167), October 236 (184), November 334 (349), December 225 (246). The abnormal climatic conditions that prevailed in 1947 during the months of February and March were responsible for the drop in the totals. Successful peal tours during the summer months added substantially to the figures of 1948, although there were tours in the previous year.

For the third year in succession there has been no change in the leading Associations, viz., Kent County 156 (136), Lancashire County 147 (133), Leicester Diocesan 141 (125). Other Associations in the forefront are Chester Diocesan 127 (120), Oxford Diocesan 124 (110), Lincoln Diocesan 113 (112), Yorkshire 110 (99), Ely Diocesan 105 (47), Norwich Diocesan 96 (73), Bath and Wells Diocesan 91 (74), Sussex County 85 (102), St. Martin's Guild 80 (71), Suffolk 73 (54), Winchester and Portsmouth Diocesan 72 (68), Gloucester and Bristol Diocesan 62 (42), Coventry Diocesan 61 (42), Worcestershire and Districts 61 (51), Essex 59 (55), Middlesex 58 (52), Peterborough Diocesan 58 (42), Archdeaconry of Stafford 54 (40), Hertford County 53 (45), Salisbury Diocesan 50 (52).

In arriving at their total the committee have excluded a peal of Minor with the tenor covering rung for the Ely Diocesan Association. Our readers will remember that this point was raised by the New South Wales Association, and the committee announced that the Central Council deprecate the use of more than one cover on 5, 7 or 9 bells, and also the use of one or more cover bells on 6, 8 or 10 bells. Two peals of London Royal rung for the Surrey Association have been included in the total. The treatment of extensions of London will be a matter for the Central Council at York to decide. The opinion was expressed by Mr. E. H. Lewis at the Universities' Association dinner that there was no question that these were peals; it was one of nomenclature. Before next Whitsun thoughts on this thorny subject might possibly be crystallised.

There is no question that the number of peals rung during 1948 brought with it editorial problems for 'The Ringing World' staff. Those who handle guild reports are conscious that if the traditional style of typography is to be maintained, the cost of setting is very much increased. The same applies to editorial costs of 'The Ringing World.' To deal with arrears of peals this issue is of 16 pages. Reluctantly at times the Editor has had to reduce footnotes and place the weight of the tenor in with the latter so as to conserve space. We ask readers to forbear with us in these matters. It is a choice of necessity. To set peals in the accustomed style is far easier for us than constantly watching space. Nevertheless, we realise that the non-peal ringers have to be catered for, and it is our endeavour to ensure that lesser brethren who ring quarter peals and those who enjoy their ringing at Saturday afternoon meetings have an appropriate place in our editorial columns.

STOP PRESS.

Two old members of the Ancient Society of College Youths have died. Mr. Emmanuel Hall (91), of St. Dunstan's, Stepney, who joined the society in 1887; Mr. Frank Skevington (75), St. Mary Abbot's, Kensington, who joined in 1905.

First ladies' peal for Royal Cumberland Youths was Bob Major, St. George-the-Martyr, Southwark, May 27th, 1939; conductor, Mrs. G. W. Fletcher. Peal at Bexley was first Surprise peal.

BELFRY GOSSIP

His many friends will regret to hear that Mr. James George has been seriously ill in Long Fleat Gardens Hospital, Poole, since January 11th, suffering from bronchitis and pneumonia. The oldest veteran ringer to ring a peal on handbells at the age of 95 writes that he is now slightly better and regrets that he has been unable to answer his correspondence.

With the peal at Eastwell, Kent, on January 9th, Mr. Harry Parkes has rung peals of Cambridge from Minor to Maximus.

We are informed that the peal at Stokesay, Shropshire, on October 16th, was rung for the Hereford Diocesan Guild and not for the Shropshire Association.

Two members of the Watford tower—Messrs. H. G. Timms and A. R. Dawes—have each been presented with sons. The double event was honoured with a peal of Grandsire Caters on January 25th.

Mr. Edward Iddon has 'circled' the tower of Holy Trinity, Bolton; Mr. Robert E. Coles, St. Illtyd's, Bridgend, Glam.; Mr. James Thorley, for the second time, Thorne, Yorks; Mr. Percy Swindley, St. Mary's-without-the-Walls, Chester.

By ringing a peal of Stedman Triples at St. John the Baptist's, Erith, on January 14th, Bertie W. Aldridge, the captain of St. Mary's, Woolwich, completed his 100th peal. Thirty-nine of these have been called by the conductor of the peal, Mr. F. J. Cullum.

Mr. F. E. Dukes has made a good start for 1949 with three peals in 24 hours and 39 minutes. A handbell peal in Belfast on Friday, 14th, was followed by two tower peals in Lancashire on the 15th at Bolton and West Houghton. There were two other peals on following days.

All ringers will share with us our deep regret at the passing of Mr. George Williams. We hope to publish in our next issue tributes to his memory.

Almost with a tinge of regret, Mr. George Gilbert informs us that the peal at Burnham on January 15th was the first of the last 66 peals rung on the bells without a 'first.'

The peal at Egloshayle, Cornwall, on January 12th, is believed to be the first peal on the bells for 40 years and first by a resident Cornish band.

When the Duke of Edinburgh visited Bradford to open the new Grammar School, Donald R. Marshall, a prefect at the school, rang his first peal of Cambridge Surprise Major on the Cathedral bells in honour of the occasion.

The peal of Doubles at Cranford, Middlesex, on January 16th, enabled Messrs. T. G. Bannister, F. W. Goodfellow and R. A. Reed to have rung peals of Stedman from Doubles to Cinques.

Members of the Craft will desire to extend their congratulations to those participating in the first handbell peal to be rung at Bolton. The conductor, Mr. F. E. Dukes, is Master-elect of No. 72 Dublin Lodge.

Miss Mary E. Davis, now a student nurse at Queen Mary's Hospital for Children, rang in a peal at Upwey, Dorset, on January 15th. It is nearly two years since she stood in a peal attempt.

Three generations of Mr. J. Hope, of Siddington, Cirencester, participated in 1,260 Grandsire Triples at Fairford, Glos., on Jan. 22nd: Miss D. H. Boulton (granddaughter, first of Triples) 1, Miss F. M. Hope (daughter) 2, A. Law 3, H. L. Cooke 4, H. R. Acock 5, W. A. Godwin 6, J. Hope (conductor) 7.

THE ROYAL CUMBERLANDS' PROGRESS

INCREASED JOINING FEES ADVOCATED ..... THE MASTERSHIP: A RETURN TO ST. MARTIN'S ..... THE DINNER AND LICENSED PREMISES

THE annual meeting of the Royal Society of Cumberland Youths, held at St. Martin's-in-the-Fields on January 22nd, attracted a large attendance of ringers to London. A cordial welcome was extended to them by the Master (Mr. Walter Ayre), who was supported by the secretary (Mr. G. W. Steere).

'It is very gratifying to see so many young people in town,' said the Master. 'Some of the ringing this afternoon was not too bad; it was a little bit above the average of ringing meetings, but it could be better.'

After announcing the apologies, Mr. Ayre said he had a letter from one of the secessionists, who were a pet aversion of his. Mr. E. J. Rowe had tendered his resignation as a member of the Royal Society stating that he intended to seek membership of the Ancient Society. Those who read the report of the 311th anniversary dinner of the Ancient Society would remember what he said about such things. He still stuck to that view regardless of another letter that appeared in the Press a week or two afterwards.

Arising from the minutes, a question was asked whether the dinner was a success. Mr. Ayre replied, 'Socially, yes; financially, no.'

Calling attention to the rule that no one who had not paid 2s. in steepleage fees was entitled to vote on financial matters, a suggestion was made that certain members present would like to qualify forthwith and another that an annual subscription should be introduced.

The Chairman replied that if tower secretaries who were faithful Cumberlands organised monthly practices, there would be no question of finding 2s. for the annual meeting.

Mr. C. Matthews: The rule is tantamount to making an annual subscription of 2s.

Mr. A. H. Pulling: Have you a list of those who have paid 2s.?

AN INCREASED BALANCE.

The hon. secretary then presented the balance sheet. The year started with a balance of £69 7s. 3½d. Receipts included 77 new members £19 5s., steepleage £5 2s. 3d., and donations £6 1s. The main item on the expenditure side was a deficit on the dinner of £6 10s., the year concluding with a balance in hand of £89 19s. 2½d. On the proposition of Mr. George Cross, the balance sheet was adopted.

The secretary's report stated that the past year had been very successful with 77 new members, which was a record for all times. During the year 20 peals on tower bells and three 'in hand' had been rung. Quarterly meetings were arranged for Chislehurst, Dunstable and Guildford. The year had been marred by the death of Mr. J. Bailey.

The report was adopted with a vote of thanks to the secretary for his work in the past year.

Commenting on the peals, the Master said there had been 12 conductors to the 23 peals and there were eight first pealers. He hoped there would be 20 first pealers in 1949.

Mr. A. H. Pulling congratulated the St. Martin's company on ringing a peal with four or five College Youths. It was one of the finest gestures they had seen for a long time.

The Master: I think it is appreciated on the other side. It is not an iron curtain between the societies, but a linen one which one can go through.

Mr. C. Matthews said he had it on excellent authority that Cumberland ladies rang a Surprise peal for the first time for the Society; they ought to congratulate those ladies.

RATIFICATIONS.

The meeting ratified the election of the following members: Alec A. Bird (Stoke Newington), A. E. Chilson, P. White, W. Chandler, F. G. Hooper, J. W. Raithby, G. E. Elsey (Newark), the Misses Kathleen and Grace Birchnall (Sutton-on-Trent), Miss Rachel Yeld (Milford-on-Sea), D. Martin (London, S.W.17), W. Rose (Peterborough), T. H. Holmes (Herne Bay), Miss Millhouse (Lincoln, hon. member), Rev. and Mrs. A. S. Roberts (Carbis Bay), Miss Peggy Kitchen (Thames Ditton), P. Davy (Bramley), Ian W. Jackson (Isle of Wight), Miss Doris Dobbie (Sittingbourne), Miss Frances Edgar (London, S.W.1), P. J. Delmon (Eastbourne).

MR. GEO. H. CROSS.

New members elected were Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Carter and Mr. J. M. Pages (Hertford), Mr. P. I. Chapman (Kettering), Keith McGregor (Orpington) and Miss Audrey Diserens (Reading).

ELECTION OF MASTER.

Mr. George H. Cross	43
Mr. Frank E. Hawthorne ...	20
Mr. Tom Bevan	13

Mr. Cross, on taking the chair, thanked the members for electing him and also Mr. Ayre for his services during the past year as Master. It was something unknown for someone outside of St. Martin's tower to hold the office of Master. He had been the means of getting a lot of young members. Mr. Cross concluded that his health had not been so good during the past six months, so any of the younger members who could help would be welcomed.

The Rector of St. Martin's, who had to leave the meeting, said it was a great privilege and an honour to St. Martin's for the Society to make its headquarters there. They welcomed them and he asked the members to take the good wishes of St. Martin's to their towers.

The new Master thanked the Rector for the use of the bells and the good people of St. Martin's for their hospitality. He knew of no other tower in London where the people were so good to the ringers.

Mr. F. Hawthorne, in proposing the re-election of Mr. Steere as hon. secretary, said Mr. Steere had served them very faithfully and well, but they should look round for a successor with the right qualifications to take office in, say, 10 years' time.

Other officers elected were: Senior steward, Mr. Tom Bevan; junior steward, Mr. Frank E. Hawthorne; trustees, Messrs. C. J. Matthews and Winterton; auditors, Messrs. A. H. Pulling and W. Ayre.

Meetings proposed were: Rickmansworth, April 30th; Dartford, July 23rd; Broxbourne, Herts, Oct. 1st; and the annual meeting on Feb. 4th, 1950.

DINNER AND LICENSED PREMISES.

A discussion was taken on the advisability of holding an annual dinner, and on the proposition of Mr. Hawthorne, it was decided to hold such a gathering on October 9th.

Mr. Frank C. W. Knight questioned whether it was advisable to hold the dinner at the Old Bell as it precluded juniors.

Mr. C. J. Matthews, advocating the holding of the dinner at the Old Bell, said he hesitated to depart from tradition. Ringing had always gone with liquid refreshment on the social side. He could not see a dinner being a success on unlicensed premises.

It was decided to leave the arranging of the dinner in the hands of the following committee: Mrs. Deal, Miss Pat Holmes, Messrs. Tom Francis, Peter Bond, F. Hawthorne, F. Knight and the Master and hon. secretary.

The advisability of appointing a deputy secretary was discussed, and Mr. Peter Bond was elected to this office.

INCREASED JOINING FEE SUGGESTED.

Miss Pat Holmes said the Society charged a joining fee of 5s. To bring it into line with other societies' subscriptions, she suggested that it should be 7s. 6d. The College Youths' subscription, she believed, was 15s. 'This Society is too cheap,' she added. 'I don't think it would be too much.'

Mr. Frank Knight seconded.

The Master thought the proposition was a good idea as the certificates they gave members were very expensive.

An amendment was moved by Mr. Frank Hawthorne that the matter be referred to the next annual meeting. He suggested that a book be kept in each tower for steepleage.

Mr. Matthews seconded. The Cumberlands, he said, did not want to see a big bank balance.

Miss Holmes withdrew her motion in favour of the amendment on the understanding that new notice of the proposed change of subscription would be given in 'The Ringing World.'

The business concluded with a vote of thanks to the officers and the church authorities, proposed by Mr. Frank Hawthorne.

Mr. George Gilbert made an appeal on behalf of Burnham bells. The job would cost £2,000 and he had to raise that sum by next Christmas. Burnham had made 25 Cumberlands in their tower. A retiring collection was taken for the fund.

40 YEARS AS SECRETARY

Dear Sir,—I wish to thank all those, far and near, who so generously subscribed to the fund—together with kindly expressions—in recognition of my forty years' service rendered as lay secretary to the Stafford Archdeaconry Society. Mr. Chris. Wallater, in a few chosen words, made the presentation of a fat cheque at the quarterly meeting at Wolverhampton on January 22nd. The Rev. C. H. Barker, clerical secretary and treasurer, also paid high tribute to the work of the recipient.—Yours faithfully,

H. KNIGHT.

THE YORKSHIRE ASSOCIATION

Central Council's Visit

PROMISCUOUS APPLICATIONS FOR BELLS.

A very successful meeting of the Yorkshire Association was held at Pontefract on January 22nd, attended by representatives of all the districts. By kind consent of the respective clergy, All Saints' bells were available during the afternoon and evening, and St. Giles' in the evening only, due, of course, to the fact that the church is situated in the market place, which is always a busy spot on a Saturday afternoon.

The General Committee met at St. Giles' Parish Hall, after which an excellent tea was served in the Co-operative Cafe, followed by the general meeting in the same room immediately afterwards. The chair was taken by the president, the Rev. C. O. Ellison, supported by the general secretary, Mr. L. W. G. Morris, and Mr. P. J. Johnson, vice-president. Apologies for absence were received from the hon. treasurer, Mr. S. F. Palmer, the hon. peal secretary, Mr. W. Barton, both of whom were ill, and Messrs. W. H. Senior, A. H. Fox and F. W. Dale. A vote of thanks to the clergy and churchwardens of both churches was ably moved by Mr. P. J. Johnson, seconded by Mr. Morley and carried. The Rev. A. J. Poole replied, saying that he understood it was 15 years since a general meeting was held at Pontefract, and hoped that the next one would come round much earlier than that. A similar vote of thanks to the local companies for their able arrangements was moved by Mr. E. Hudson, seconded by Mr. F. A. Staveley and carried. Mr. H. C. Walters replied.

The President pointed out that the next meeting would be the annual meeting, and they had an invitation to hold it at Selby Abbey on May 7th. There being no other invitation, Mr. J. Ambler moved and Mr. E. Short seconded that the invitation be accepted, and this was carried. Mr. L. W. G. Morris moved the re-election of Mr. S. F. Palmer as hon. treasurer, which was seconded by Mr. J. W. Moxon and carried unanimously.

The President reported on the arrangements, which, of course, are incomplete at the moment, in connection with the forthcoming Central Council meeting at York, but which would be published in due course. Premises had already been booked for the meeting, and the delegates would be the guests of the Association to tea afterwards. Ringing arrangements will be published, and it is hoped, in order to avoid confusion, that visitors will address all enquiries in this respect to the responsible Association officials when announced. Promiscuous applications for the use of certain rings of bells for peal ringing on the Whit Monday had already come in from people who were not members of the Council, and had, needless to say, not been addressed to any Association official. The committee were unanimous that this practice was one to be deprecated, particularly as in no fewer than three instances it was proposed that the rings of bells in question should be placed at the disposal of Council members who otherwise would not have an opportunity to ring them.

The President announced that the committee had considered the secretary's report on the Snowdon Dinner, held at Bradford on October 2nd, and were disappointed that a clash should have occurred with the date. An Eastern District meeting was held on the same date, and had the effect of reducing the attendance from the district to three members only. It was most unfortunate in view of the fact that the Association had supported the revival of the dinner and the date was published in the annual report. The Eastern District secretary had explained that that was the only date on which the tower concerned could accept the meeting. The dinner itself had been a great success and was thoroughly enjoyed, and the Association's thanks were due to the secretary and his Bradford helpers, who put on an excellent show. It was a pity that the attendance fell below the anticipated complement of 90, which had been the basis in calculating the cost to members. The attendance was 60, and in consequence the secretary anticipated a loss of £6 or more.

The President reported that the committee had given serious consideration to the upward trend in administration costs, largely due to the steep rise in the cost of printing, and intended to review the entire position at its next meeting, and, if found necessary, to recommend an adjustment in the annual subscription rate to bring it into line with present-day administration costs. H. E. North (Rotherham), Mrs. N. Chadwick, J. Cutt, G. Hepworth (Sandal) and Frank Townend (Crofton) were elected members.

PETERBOROUGH DIOCESAN GUILD

WELLINGBOROUGH BRANCH.

A large gathering of ringers and friends attended the annual meeting on January 22nd, when the Guild's service was held in the Parish Church, the Vicar (the Rev. L. A. Ewart) officiating. A collection for the Guild Bell Restoration Fund amounted to £2 1s. 3d.

Tea to a company of 80 was supervised by Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Johnson. The Rev. S. F. W. Powell (branch president) was in the chair at the business meeting. The company stood in silence to the memory of Mr. J. C. Shatford.

Mr. A. Bingley (Irthlingborough) presented his report as branch secretary, and the balance sheet showed an increased balance of £2 8s. 3d. Permission is to be sought for the next quarterly meeting, to be held at Stanwick.

New ringing members elected were Messrs. D. J. Houghton, M. N. P. Taylor and B. C. Clark (Higham Ferrers). First peal certificates were presented to Messrs. A. J. Edmunds, A. Partridge, R. Elliott, M. Elliott and R. Line (Bozeat) and W. Wilson (Higham Ferrers).

Officers elected were: Rev. S. F. W. Powell (Bozeat), president; hon. secretary and treasurer, A. Bigley (Irthlingborough); Branch Ringing Master, W. G. Callis (Mears Ashby); Guild Committee, J. King and A. E. Plowman (Wellingborough); Branch Committee, A. Y. Tyler (Irthlingborough), C. Payne (Irchester), C. W. Partridge (Wilby); auditor, E. W. Johnson (Earls Barton).

COVENTRY DIOCESAN GUILD

The quarterly meeting held at Chilvers Coton on January 15th was highly successful, being attended by upwards of 100 members and friends, most of the towers being represented. The light ring of ten was tried in various methods, but the inaudibility of the new trebles in the ringing chamber rather upset the striking. More attention to this point should be given by founders when bells are augmented, especially with lighter rings.

The Guild service, conducted by the Rev. D. A. Munro, curate of Chilvers Coton, was followed by tea and business meeting. The Master (Mr. A. H. Beamish) gave notice of motion that he would propose at the annual meeting that the annual subscription of junior members be 1s. instead of them being admitted free as at present. This was supported by Mr. W. A. Stote and Miss M. Reeves. New members elected were Miss C. Bloxham (Nuneaton) and Messrs. J. Woodward and W. Brandist (Keresley).

It was announced that the annual meeting would take place at Stratford on April 23rd.

Ringing was resumed until 7.15, when a return was made to the Parish Hall for a social evening. This had been thrown open to the parishioners, and a company of 200 spent the next four hours playing whist, games and dancing. A feature of the evening was the selections on 28 handbells by Mr. C. H. Webb and his company of Allesley ringers.

Southwell Guild Dinner

A SUCCESSFUL INAUGURATION.

The youthful Southwell Guild, following precedent set by many old and influential societies, held a dinner at the New Milton Cafe, Nottingham, on January 22nd. Lack of accommodation made it necessary to restrict diners to 90 and many applications for tickets had to be refused.

Visitors included the Rev. A. Ingles, the Vicar of St. Peter's, Nottingham, Mr. Albert Ward, Derby, Mr. Clement Glenn, Grantham, Mr. W. C. Rhodes, Birmingham, and a contingent of ringers from Pinchbeck, headed by Mr. David Whitton.

Canon R. F. Wilkinson presided and was supported by the officers. In proposing the toast of 'The Church,' Mr. Walter White warned his audience that Sunday, a holy day, should not be turned into a holiday and that the pattern of our church must not be tampered with. He also stated (amidst laughter) that bellringing went back to David's time, as it was said in Psalm 82 'that all foundations of the earth are out of course.'

The Rev. A. Ingles replied in witty vein and mentioned that Charles Lamb had said in a moment of chagrin that the music of bellringing was nearest heaven . . . . it was not earthly!

Mr. J. W. Raithby, the hon. general secretary, proposed the toast of 'The Guild,' and spoke of its formation and objects, the need for individual initiative and the necessity for an intensive recruiting drive. He mentioned that if every tower in the Guild taught one new ringer each year, the increase would be 600 in ten years. The 42 peals rung for the Guild during 1948 constituted a record, and bands were fortunate in being able to ring 'firsts in the method' for the Guild. This was much more difficult with the older societies.

The Guild's chairman, Canon R. F. Wilkinson—a well-known clerical ringer and a fluent speaker—suitably replied and spoke of the danger in this radio-minded age confronting our great tradition by 'canned' bells.

'The Visitors' was given by Mr. H. Pailing and responded to by Mr. W. C. Rhodes, of Birmingham.

Mr. Walter Nichols, the hon. treasurer, was warmly thanked and applauded for his enterprise in arranging the dinner, which it is hoped will take its place in the ringing calendar as an annual event.

SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD

DORCHESTER BRANCH.

The annual meeting of the above branch was held at St. Peter's, Dorchester, on January 22nd, and was attended by about 70 ringers and friends.

The service was conducted by the branch chairman, Canon A. Wilkinson Markby, and after tea at St. Peter's Institute, the Canon also presided at the business meeting.

The membership was given as 203, of which 168 were ringing members. The secretary mentioned that the branch had lost three members by death during the past year, and that since the beginning of 1949 the oldest member of the branch, the Rev. John Wynn Werninck, had died. The meeting stood in silence as a mark of respect for these ringers. The accounts showed a credit balance of £61.

The Chairman remarked that some of the towers had held a 'Belfry Sunday,' and advocated that more of these services be held as they undoubtedly helped the general public to understand the work and objectives of the ringers.

Canon A. W. Markby was re-elected chairman, and all the remaining officers were returned to office, with the addition of Mr. R. H. Duke as assistant secretary.

The bells were kept going until nearly 9 o'clock to a variety of methods. J.H.H.

Dedications

SS. PETER AND PAUL'S, ORMSKIRK.

The Lord Bishop of Liverpool dedicated the bells of SS. Peter and Paul's, Ormskirk, on January 15th, in the presence of a large congregation. The front seven have been recast and a new tenor replaces the pre-Reformation bell, dated 1497, which now stands under the tower as a museum piece. Cast iron headstocks and modern bearings have been fitted, but the original oak frame has been retained. The work was ably carried out by Messrs. John Taylor and Co.

In the course of his address, the Bishop said Ormskirk bells were known throughout the country; they were always good bells. To the Vicar, churchwarden and members of the church at Ormskirk he would say, 'Be proud of your bells; they are a great possession; be glad you have got them.'

In a word to the ringers the Bishop said he was glad so many had come to take part in that service, and he hoped that bellringers would always do their duty as part of the community of the Church. The ringing of church bells was a call to worship, a challenge and a cail to duty as Christians.

After the service the local band, augmented by two ringers from nearby churches, who replaced two members incapacitated through an accident, rang a well-struck touch of Grandsire Triples.

Refreshments followed at the Scouts' Headquarters, and then the tower was open to visiting ringers. Fortunately the tower is very large, but even then the accommodation was severely taxed by the 117 ringers who crowded in. Touches were rung in Plain Bob, Grandsire, Stedman, Double Norwich, Kent Treble Bob, Oxford Treble Bob, Superlative, Cambridge, London and Bristol. One touch of London deserves special mention, being rung by 'Old Joe's Saturday Band.' Many expressions of praise of the bells were heard.

The bells and their inscriptions are:—

Treble.—1774.
2nd.—1774. Peace and good neighbourhood.
3rd.—1714. William Guse. Parish Clerk, A.R.
4th.—1714. Mr. Henry Welsby. Constable, A.R.
5th.—1714. Archippax Kippax, Vicar, A.R.
6th.—1714. Benj. Fletcher, Thos. Moorcroft.
7th.—1774. Thomas Aspinall, Churchwarden. Thomas Rudhall, Gloucester, Founder.
Tenor.—1948. God's Preservation, 1939-1945.
Weight, 21 cwt. 1 qr. 16 lb.

The old tenor bell weighs 25½ cwt. and bears the inscription: 'J*S*de*B*armig*et*ux*me* fecerunt*in honore*trinitatis R.B. 1497.'

LANCASHIRE ASSOCIATION

BOLTON BRANCH.

The Bolton Branch held their annual meeting at the Parish Church of St. Peter on Jan. 22nd. The new Vicar, the Rev. H. G. Norburn, presided, and gave a hearty welcome to the members and promised to give all the help he could to help ringers in their work.

At this meeting the secretary, Mr. Peter Crook, tendered his resignation. He said he had held this position continuously for 30 years and he thought the time had come when they ought to get someone else, but the meeting decided unanimously that the resignation ought not to be accepted and that an appreciation of his long service be entered in the minutes. Mr. John Potter was re-elected to serve on the committee for two years, and the good wishes of the members were sent to him for a speedy recovery from his illness. Mr. James L. Wright was re-elected Ringing Master, and nominations were also made for officers of the Association.

The ringing part of the meeting was again a huge success. There was a large attendance. All classes of ringing were catered for, from rounds to Double Norwich, Cambridge, Superlative and Bristol. Tea was very kindly provided by the local members.

OBITUARY OF THE WEEK

MR. GEORGE WILLIAMS.

It is with deep regret we record the death of Mr. George Williams, Master of the Winchester and Portsmouth Diocesan Guild, at North Stoneham on Friday. He was 91 years of age and died in his sleep.

Mr. George Williams was one of the outstanding personalities of the Exercise, and in all branches of the art he did much to advance peal ringing. He had rung more than 1,500 peals and his list of 'firsts' was outstanding. A member of the famous Brighton band of the early years of this century, his ability as a conductor and ringer gained for him a foremost place in an assembly of eminent ringers. Among the first peals in a method to his credit were Bristol Surprise Major, Oxford Surprise Major (his composition) and Norfolk Surprise Major. He rang in the first peal on Exeter Cathedral bells—Grandsire Caters—in 1902.

When it was decided to ring a peal by a band composed of ringers with 1,000 peals to their credit at St. Olave's, Hart Street, in February, 1936, the choice of the conductor fell to Mr. Williams. The peal was Cambridge Surprise Major, and of the ringers who participated only Messrs. Frank Bennett, James George and Alfred H. Pulling are now living.

He was one of the senior members of the Central Council, and he was held in very high esteem by his fellow members. To his own Guild—first the Winchester and afterwards the Winchester and Portsmouth—he rendered faithful service, attending to his duties meticulously.

Mr. Williams was a widower. Mrs. Williams shared her husband's pleasures in ringing, and she was the first lady to ring a handbell peal—Holt's Ten-part in 1892. Mr. Williams gave two trebles at North Stoneham in memory of his wife.

DONNINGTON, LINCS. — On Dec. 31st, 1,080 Oxford Treble Bob and 180 Bob Minor: D. Woods (first quarter) 1, J. E. Allen (cond.) 2, E. Staples 3, C. Wander 4, S. V. Woods 5, A. Woods 6.

TICKHILL, YORKS.—On Jan. 15th, 1,260 Grandsire Doubles: F. Jackson 1, H. Denman 2, H. Barnes 3, A. Hulley (first of Doubles) 4, A. Rogers (cond.) 5, W. Watkinson (first of Doubles) 6.

MR. HENRY HOGARTH.

By the somewhat sudden death on January 18th, at the age of 66, of Mr. Henry Hogarth, the Church of St. Mary, Chatham, the belfry in particular, has sustained a sad loss.

Harry, with his quiet but perpetual kindly way, was greatly esteemed by all who knew him; whether in church, in the belfry, at work or on the bowling green his pleasant manner was a tonic to his colleagues. He came from a ringing family, being the eldest of four sons and one daughter (all ringers) of the late Mr. Hogarth, who was the Ringing Master at Crosswaithe Parish Church, Keswick, Cumberland.

Mr. Hogarth came to Chatham from the Lake District and joined the St. Mary's ringers in 1911, and he also served as a sidesman for some 20 years. Being employed in the grocery business, he was perhaps not so well known amongst ringers outside his own local towers, he being unable to attend association meetings or take part in Saturday peals, and in consequence his peal list was a very short one. A very competent ringer in the standard methods and an excellent striker, he will be greatly missed from Sunday service ringing.

As a tribute to his memory, a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples from Parker's Twelve-part was rung half-muffled at St. Mary's Church on January 23rd by R. Skinner 1, T. Beaumont 2, E. A. G. Allen 3, C. S. Jarrett 4, G. Wiggins 5, R. E. Norris 6, V. A. Jarrett (cond.) 7, C. E. Norris 8.

Mr. Hogarth leaves no family to follow him in the belfry, but deepest sympathy is extended to his widow in her bereavement and to his relatives in Cumberland. V.A.J.

MR. G. W. WARNER.

By the sudden death of Mr. George W. Warner, at the age of 51, on January 22nd, St. Mary's, Woodbridge, ringers have lost a close friend and member. He was present in the tower on the Sunday and Tuesday previous to his death.

Mr. Warner had a long association with St. Mary's and always set a good example by his regular attendance at Sunday ringing. Although not a great peal ringer, his accomplishments included a peal of Grandsire Triples for the Coronation of King George VI. His passing will leave a gap very hard to fill. A.S.W.

BEVERLEY AND DISTRICT SOCIETY

St. Mary's, Cottingham, with its unusual entrance to the belfry from the outside of the church, up a circular staircase to the roof and then through a trap door, descending a wooden ladder to the floor of the ringing chamber, was visited by the Beverley and District Society on January 8th.

A touch of Stedman Triples preceded the service, conducted by the Rector (the Rev. W. R. Hebron), and Mr. A. H. Fox was the organist. High tea followed at Brocklesby's Cafe.

The president (Mr. G. F. Williams) presided at the business meeting, when Holy Trinity, Hull, was selected for the meeting on February 12th, and Hessle for the March meeting. Thanks were accorded the Rector, organist and local ringers on the proposition of Mr. Tyson. Handbell ringing by several teams proved most enjoyable, and further ringing in the tower to standard methods brought a successful meeting to a close.

By A. E. YORK-BRAMBLE.

M. CORRELATING STATS. — We have seen how very restrictive in effect are the conventional requirements of method structure and extension. They are such, in fact, that unless the basic method itself is in the Ideal category, there can be no 'extension' without some modification of the extended grid pattern. Now, clearly, in any extension some new grid-sections will have appeared, additionally to those of the basic, and it is there that the modifications may properly be made. Accordingly Stats are introduced, solely in those grid-sections if possible, but in any case not in the four grid-sections at grid-link and grid-junction. These 'Correlating Stats' must produce the grid-pattern of the method to conform with the requirements we have discussed. So that in any Proximate Extension there will be found the original or basic stats and some correlating stats, either in substitution or additionally. We may thus conclude:—

'Of the various recognisable extensions that may be produced from any given basic method, the Proximate is that which fulfils the standard requirements* with the minimum of correlating stats in the permitted grid-sections.' (* See table below.)

N. METHOD FORMULÆ.—With the foregoing principles in mind, a formula may be drafted for the structure of any method. How often have we heard such a statement optimistically made, in the sense of some sort of magic recipe in algebraic terms, rigidly applicable 'ad infinitum.' And how often has it failed to materialise! The truth is that such is demonstrably impracticable. In general terms, however, subject to the minimum of correlating stats imposed by the conventional requirements, a formula may be derived from the basic method itself. The process is to draw up the grid-pattern of the basic, with its appropriate grid-link. The grid-pattern is then examined and carefully detailed, with particular regard to the work in the cones, in relation to the hunt-controlling bell and the pivot-bells. Specific reference may be required as to the placing of the correlating stats, preferably done by means of the grid-square reference nomenclature, as outlined in the previous article. In double methods, while the work of either cone alone defines the method (since the two are there identical), yet special conditions often arise. The two halves of any one cone, of course, are identical, reflectively; except in special cases of ultra-modern design. A formula is not necessarily restrictive in extension; that is to say, more than one variation may be produced from it. But in any case, any so-called extension of a method, not being in conformity with the formula for that method, cannot be a true extension of that method, and should be known and rung under some name other than that of the basic from which it emerged. From this it follows that while its 'places' may adequately define a method for any one ring of bells only (another set being required for another ring, i.e., one set for 6, one for 8, one for 10 and so on), yet a formula, if correct, is sufficient to define the method generally.

O. TABLE OF EXTENSION CHARACTERISTICS.—And so we come to our promised tabulation. If a method is capable of being defined under a formula, and if extension ad inf. may proceed from that formula with due regard to these requirements, then the method is unquestionably extensible. The ten characteristics are placed in descending order of importance, and while the first six may be considered essential in the light of present-day demands, the last four may be considered as desirable. Having set out the basic grid-pattern and drafted the formula, prepare blank grids for the proposed extensions and then fill in the grid patterns from the formula, and check the derived grid-link rows, the scope for full plain-course and 'pealability.' For a characteristic that is lacking, introduce one or more correlating stats as demanded, and make final selection of the variant produced, which most closely conforms with the tabled requirements:—

TABLE OF EXTENSION CHARACTERISTICS.

Order of Priority.	Characteristic.	Structural.	Ringing.
1.	Unvaried pivot places.	Essential.	——
2.	Similar grid pattern.	Essential.	——
3.	Full plain course without repetition.	Essential.	——
4.	Conventional requirements.	Desirable.	Essential.
5.	Minimum of correlating Stats.	Essential.	——
6.	Similar 'blue line.'	Desirable.	Essential.
7.	Natural coursing order of plain course.	Desirable.	Desirable.
8.	Congregation of the 'Heavies.'	Desirable.	Desirable.
9.	Work portions of blue line to be in approx. order of basic.	Desirable.	Desirable.
10.	'Associated' Grid-links. (Similar order of lead-heads.)	——	Desirable.

GIRL GUIDES AS RINGERS

Dear Sir,—Hersham (Surrey) Girl Guides bellringers send greetings to all other Guide ringers. We have at Hersham a band of girl ringers from the age of seven upwards. Among these we have one Brownie, two Guides, our Captain and Lieutenant, and also two ex-Guides. In 1939, just before the war, a team of girl bellringers was formed, all of whom were Guides. Two of the present band have rung a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples. Another will be trying in a short time. We all started ringing about nine months ago.

PAMELA COLLIS, Patrol Leader.
2nd Hersham Guide Company.

88 AND STILL GOING STRONG

Dear Sir,—Having read about the anniversary dinner of the Ancient Society of College Youths in 'The Ringing World,' I have been asked by Mr. George Holmes to write to you.

Mr. George Holmes, who will be 88 years old this year, tells me he became a member of the College Youths in 1879, which makes him feel he must be one of its oldest living members. With regard to his ringing, he says that on a visit to London in 1872 at the age of 11 years he rang at St. Matthew's, Bethnal Green, along with such men as H. Haley, Matt. Wood, George Dorrington and Mr. Cox.

He has rung about 60 peals in various methods, over 20 of them being Stedman Cinques. He rang the tenor in a peal of Kent Treble Bob Maximus to commemorate the burial of Queen Victoria, and recently rang at the birth of Prince Charles.

He tells me that he considers his masterpiece of change ringing was a peal of Stedman Caters of 60 course-ends composed and conducted by the late C. H. Hattersley.

I might add that he is still a member and attends regularly for ringing of St. Marie's Company, Sheffield.—Yours sincerely,

W. BILSON, Hon. Sec., St. Marie's.

GEORGE WILLIAMS

THE historian invariably prefers a lapse of 20 years to apprise the contribution of an individual to the community or to draw his conclusions to a set of circumstances. With the journalist his writings are generally confined to an expression of the immediate factual incident and the marshalling of facts and emotions as available at the time. Thus, in recording the passing of George Williams, the elements of greatness associated with his very long life have not the benefit of perspective.

In the realm of achievement he centainly earned the title of a great ringer. He had amassed the immense total of 1,508 peals, and the fact that he had called more than 1,000 peals on tower bells tells its own story of amazing accomplishment. Viewed from the varied lists of advanced ringing to-day, his contribution was not exceptional, but of his total there were 475 peals in Surprise methods, and this indicates that in the prime of his life he was in the very forefront as a master of his craft. And his mental faculties remained unimpaired; he stepped quietly across the threshold of the earthly to the spiritual life as a normal process just like going to bed.

This phrase ' stepping quietly ' seems in a sense to sum up the life of George Williams. From the formation of the Central Council in 1891 he had enjoyed continuous membership. With Canon Coleridge he saw the birth, growth and development of change ringing on a national foundation. Quietly observant of the trend of decisions, he put into practice the principles enunciated, and in his own county of Hampshire worked diligently for their fulfilment. While he was naturally keen on peal ringing, in no sense could it be said that he neglected the art of teaching, and he had the satisfaction of seeing this work bear excellent results. When he started the county had to be scoured for a Grandsire Triples band; to-day there are bands of advanced ringers in a number of centres.

' Stepping quietly ' in life and character is one of the attributes of spiritual grace. Bellringing to him was not merely a pastime; it was accompanied by an inborn love of the Church. At North Stoneham he added to the beauty of the Church by a beautiful oak screen symbolic of a sense of knowledge that the belfry is not the spiritual centre and that there is a duty entrusted to ringers to enrich by gifts and service other Church activities. It is important to ringers both young and old to retain that true balance in spiritual and temporal things as George Williams followed in his life. Ringing was not the all-absorbing thought; in his locality he gained the respect of the community for his work for the friendly society movement and in local government, and running through his veins he had the Englishman's love of cricket. Thus mingling with the Hampshire earth at North Stoneham are the remains of one who stepped quietly amid a surround of greatness. Ringers in every Guild and Association will honour his name as one of the creators of modern ringing who has set a standard by quiet but purposeful endeavour that has enriched our art.

LATE NEWS.

Mr. Ernest Morris, of St. Margaret's, Leicester, has had a further honour conferred upon him in his election as a member of the Royal Society of Literature.

The third edition of 'Collection of Doubles and Minor Methods' has been published. Details next week.

BELFRY GOSSIP

From 'The Washington Post' comes this delightful tribute: 'Though bell-ringing isn't well known in these parts, there are so many fans in England that a weekly magazine called "The Ringing World" details their complicated activities. The issue after little Prince Charles' birth was a fascinator. . . . All in all some 156 peals (all lasting over three hours) were rung in England within 24 hours of the happy event, so you can imagine the state of British eardrums the ensuing day.'

Huddersfield ringers are arranging an open evening on February 19th.

Mr. H. J. Poole and Mr. A. Ballard have rung 100 peals together in 57 different towers.

Wigtoft, Lincs, ringers have started on the peal ladder by their first by a local band.

Commending the new ring of eight at Blaenavon, Mon., Mr. J. W. Jones writes: 'I have for the past 40 or more years been to dozens of dedications, but Blaenavon was the best of all.'

Lancashire ringers will regret to hear of the death on February 5th of Mr. John Wallwork, of Helmshore. He was one of the Association's leading ringers, though of late his health had kept him away from the tower.

Major E. J. Bragg, of Aldershot, has just learnt of his award of the M.B.E. for gallant and devoted service in Palestine. A peal of Kent Treble Bob Major was rung last Saturday at Aldershot in his honour.

Mr. Herbert Mingay, 25 years secretary, Northern District, Lincoln Diocesan Guild, received an resignation a gift of wallet and notes.

Mr. W. P. Whitehead informs us that an attempt for 17,152 Bristol Surprise Major will be made at Gilmorton, Leicestershire, on Saturday, February 19th, starting at 9.30 a.m.

The pen of Mr. Percy Amos is busy again. He is writing the history of the bells of Preston Deanery and Haddon Deanery.

Mr. A. Harding has called his first quarter at St. Mary's, Ealing, at the age of 71.

An appeal committee has been formed to have the bells of Malmesbury Abbey rehung. Visitors are welcome at the weekly practice on Tuesdays at 7.30 p.m.

The quarter-peal of Grandsire Doubles reported in the issue of January 28th was rung at Clewer and not Slough as announced.

Mr. W. T. Beeson, of Cranleigh, will receive many congratulations on his 500th peal. His list should make interesting reading.

The peal at Longbridge Deverill, Wiltshire, on January 22nd, was the first by the local Sunday service band and contained four first peals.

A double silver jubilee was associated with the peal of Doubles at Oxendon, Northants—those of the Peterborough Guild and the last rehanging of the bells by John Taylor and Co., Ltd. The old font in the church was of special interest to Mr. Ernest Morris.

Mr. T. E. Sone enquires in connection with the peal at Headcorn, Kent, whether James Bartram rang any of his peals in this tower. The peal is the 50th recorded in the K.C.A. reports.

It was a sad coincidence that the first peal on the restored bells of Christ Church, Ealing, should be in memory of the Vicar (the Rev. A. A. de Vere). At the conclusion of the peal Mrs. de Vere and her sons thanked the ringers individually.

MR. GEORGE WILLIAMS: HIS LIFE AND PEALS

BURIED NEAR THE TOWER HE LOVED

Last week we briefly recorded the death of Mr. George Williams and mentioned certain salient features in his life which did much to advance the art of change ringing. We are indebted to Mr. George Pullinger for the fuller account of his life.

GEORGE WILLIAMS was born at East Meon, Hampshire, on May 7th, 1857, and was educated at the Dame's School, Corhampton. He was apprenticed to a miller at Droxford and afterwards worked at Exton, Wickham and various mills in the district, before moving to Brighton in the early nineties. He returned to Hampshire in 1905 and was employed as chief clerk at Gaters Mill, West End, until he retired in 1923. He came to reside at Eastleigh in 1930.

It was at Droxford, where his uncle was sexton, that he learnt to handle a bell by raising and lowering the curfew. He soon transferred his affection to the neighbouring tower of Soberton, where the ring of six had been increased to eight. Here there was a band that could struggle through Grandsire Doubles, and with them he had his first lessons in change ringing. At that time he possessed a penny-farthing cycle and often rode to Southampton, a distance of 16 miles each way, in order to ring plain courses of Grandsire Triples. Among his recollections of those days was ringing the half-muffled bells of Holy Rood Church, Southampton, when the body of Livingstone was brought ashore on the last journey to Westminster Abbey.

His first peal, Holt's Ten-part of Grandsire Triples, was rung at Soberton in 1884 and was conducted by Mr. S. Brooker, who brought most of the band from Leatherhead. This was the first peal in Hampshire by the Winchester Diocesan Guild, which was formed in 1879. Mr. Williams joined the Guild in the following February. His third peal was also at Soberton in 1885. This he conducted and thus began the long career of one of the most able conductors the Exercise has produced. It was in the same tower that he rang the last of his 1,508 peals—Double Norwich Court Bob Major on May 8th, 1940.

Previous to moving to Brighton Mr. Williams had lived for short periods near Midhurst, Sussex, and Capel, Surrey, where he quickly built up good ringing bands. At Midhurst he trained two complete bands at the same time —his 'second eleven' as he termed them. These ringers included Dr. George, a very great friend, and Mr. W. R. Madgwick, who was killed in an air raid on London.

At Brighton, in company with Mr. Attree, he quickly built up the famous Surprise company that scored many firsts. The Brighton weeks of Surprise peals were something that had not been achieved before. Of this famous band Messrs. George Baker and Frank Bennett are still living at Brighton.

It was largely due to his energy and enthusiasm that ringing in Hampshire occupies its present position. He saw ringing in the area develop from Grandsire Triples to Surprise Royal. Mr. Williams called the first peal in the county in very many methods, and the number of ringers he piloted through their first peal was probably greater than any other conductor. He was secretary of the Winchester District from 1908-1911, general secretary of the Winchester Diocesan Guild 1912-1917, and Ringing Master from 1918-1949. Since 1905 he had missed only one annual general meeting of the Guild.

In the wider field of ringing he was elected a member of the Central Council on its formation in 1891, and had enjoyed a continuous membership, missing only five meetings. From 1891-96 he represented the Winchester Diocesan Guild; 1897-1905 the Sussex County Association; 1906-17 honorary member; 1918-27 Winchester Diocesan Guild; 1928-49 Winchester and Portsmouth Diocesan Guild. He had served on the Peals Analysis Committee. The popularity of ringing tours owes much to his initiative; he was the forerunner of this pastime and many of his peals were the result of these journeys that took him to all parts of the British Isles.

North Stoneham Church will always be associated with his memory. He joined this band in 1905 and was largely instrumental in raising funds to make a ring of eight in 1909. He gave two trebles in 1932 as a golden wedding gift and erected a beautiful oak screen in 1938 to the memory of his wife. Mrs. Williams died in 1935. She was the first lady to ring in a handbell peal, and to mark that occasion the Editor of 'Bell News' presented Mrs. Williams with a set of 15 handbells. Mrs. Williams rang in two peals of Grandsire Triples in 1897, but never took part in tower ringing.

Although best known as a ringer, Mr. Williams did not shirk from his responsibilities as a member of the community. He was a parish councillor, a volunteer, was a life-long Liberal, being at one time chairman of the West End Liberal Party, and a member of the Central Body of the Hampshire and General Friendly Society.

THE FUNERAL.

There was a large attendance at the funeral service at North Stoneham Parish Church on February 1st. The Rector (the Rev. J. Stranack) officiated, assisted by the Rev. K. W. H. Felstead. Psalm xxiii. and the Nunc Dimittis were sung, Mr. D. Cecil Williams being at the organ. At the end of the burial service a course of Grandsire Triples was rung over the open grave by Mrs. Marshallsay, D. Matkin, A. V. Davis and F. Price.

Among the ringers present were Messrs. E. H. Lewis (representing the Central Council), A. H. Pulling (Royal Society of Cumberland Youths and Guildford Diocesan Guild), A. Butler (Royal Society of Cumberland Youths), A. F. Martin Stewart and M. Harris (Salisbury Guild), G. Baker and F. Bennett (Sussex County Association), A. York-Bramble (Universities Guild) and Mr. Sinclair (representing Mr. A. E. Young).

The Winchester and Portsmouth Diocesan Guild were represented by Messrs. F. Rogers (general secretary), W. Linter (treasurer), G. Smith (auditor), Rev. K. W. H. Felstead and Mr. G. Pullinger (Central Council representatives). Other members present were Mrs. Marshallsay, Messrs. A. V. Davis, F. Price, D. Matkin, J. Turner (Bournemouth), D. Fraser, R. Flew (Basingstoke), R. Hunt (Hursley), J. Hill (Andover), W. Ireland (Romsey), W. Rose (Totton), W. Andrews, R. Pain, G. Noice (Winchester Cathedral), W. R. Melville (Wonston), H. Higson (Bishopstoke), H. Newnham (Alresford), W. Upton (Newport, I. of W.), L. Page, J. Hunt (Titchfield), Rev. S. A. Gidlow (Goodworth Clatford), Mr. G. Preston, Miss Sparshott (Christchurch), Messrs. E. Whiteman and W. Linter (Bishop's Waltham), G. Chappell (Wickham), F. Davis (King's Somborne), R. Brown, W. Tucker, E. Dumper, C. Fray (North Stoneham), J. Faithfull, M. Butler, Miss Leahy (Southampton), Mr. and Mrs. E. Salmons (Portsmouth).

Also present were Mr. and Mrs. Pat Cannon (Bletchingley), Mr. O. Giles (Shoreham), Mr. H. Reed.

There were many wreaths. Those from ringing organisations were: The Central Council; Winchester and Portsmouth Diocesan Guild; Alton and Petersfield District; Andover and District; Christchurch and Southampton Districts; Basingstoke District; Portsmouth District; Society of Royal Cumberland Youths; Sussex County Association; bellringers of St. Nicholas', North Stoneham, and Bishopstoke.

Immediately after the service a peal of Stedman Caters was rung on the bells at North Stoneham with the bells half-muffled, and in the evening a peal of Grandsire Caters at St. Michael's, Southampton.

AN APPRECIATION.

Dear Sir,—Nobody will be missed more from ringing in Hampshire than the late Mr. George Williams. His name was a household word and his presence was as sincere whether in the belfries of the cathedrals or humblest country church. Ringing will be all the poorer by his removal from amongst us, and the finest memorial to his memory will be his only earthly wish that striking must for ever be the keynote of all ringing. F. W. ROGERS.

Other tributes to his memory will appear in our next issue from Mr. George Baker and Mr. Frank Bennett.

SOME RINGING TRIBUTES.

As a tribute to his memory, 720 Oxford Single was rung at Wickham, Hants, by Tom Page, Audrey Morrison, H. W. Merritt, Pat Page, G. E. Chappell (cond.) and John Hunt. At Swanmore, 720 Bob Minor was rung by H. V. Jones, Audrey Morrison, A. Mellard, E. Jacobs, G. E. Chappell (cond.) and H. Ainsley.

As a mark of respect, 1,260 Grandsire Triples was rung half-muffled at St. Mary's, Southampton, on Jan. 31st, by Miss J. Cox (first quarter-peal) 1, J. W. Faithfull 2, D. Cull 3, Miss Nelia Leahy 4, F. White 5, M. J. Butler (first as cond.) 6, R. Brown 7, A. Butler 8.

LONDONDERRY, N. IRELAND.—At the Cathedral Church of St. Columb, on Jan. 23rd, 1,260 Doubles (consisting of 360 April Day, 420 Grandsire and 480 Plain Bob): Lily Hughes 1, T. R. Hampton (cond.) 2, J. Fielding 3, H. McIntyre 4, J. Campbell 5, W. Young 6. First quarter in three methods for all.

LETTERS

IDENTITY WANTED

Dear Sir,—Quite recently I was asked to give an opinion of a very old book on the art of change ringing. As I have never seen any of Fabian Stedman's original books, I wonder if you could give me the title of the one in question from the following description.

The size is roughly that of a postcard, bound in real leather; it has 226 pages, the first 14 are missing. The last page is subscribed by F. S.

The contents mention the 'late dreadfull fire of London,' 'Muskets' used as illustrating changes, also plain changes, cross peals, and among others are London Paradox, Pheonix, London Pleasure, Mr. Tendring's peal (call'd Grand Paradox, a cure for Meloncoholly), The Experiment, The Wild Goose Chase, Cambridge peals by Mr. S. S., My Honey, The Whirligigge, Jack on Both sides, Jumping doubles, The Grand Experiment.

Stedman's Principle does not seem to be mentioned in the book, so I wondered if it is a copy of 'Tintinnalogia.' The book is not in a bad condition. In places the changes have been ticked off, also there is one alteration in ink which has faded. There are also two or three names written in ink, now almost faded out, on the last page, which has an 'eratta' note printed on it.

Is the book of any value or are there many of them still in existence? The book in question is not in my possession, but it is being well looked after.—Yours faithfully,

Charing, Kent. CHARLES F. GOOD.

DISAPPROVAL WITHOUT OFFENCE

Dear Sir,—In connection with your excellent report of the January meeting of the Yorkshire Association, perhaps you will permit me to say that I do not recollect the use of the word 'promiscuous' in reference to any applications for permission to ring peals in towers in the neighbourhood of York during the week-end of the Central Council's visit. The committee merely wished to express its disapproval of the unofficial appropriation of bells which it felt ought, by the dictates of courtesy and hospitality, as well as by the quality of the bells themselves, to be placed at the disposal of members of the Council, and of which one or two rumours had come to its notice.

'Promiscuous' generally connotes something furtive or underhand. However, two dictionaries which I have consulted include 'casual' as one of their definitions, and it would be in this second sense that the word was used, if at all. I hope the epithet has given no offence to any innocent and well-meaning enquirer.—Yours faithfully,

C. O. ELLISON, President,
Yorkshire Association of Change Ringers.

FORMING A LIBRARY

Dear Sir,—The library of the Central Council for the Care of Churches is most anxious to have a complete collection of books on church bells. At the present moment it has considerable gaps in its collection, and is desirous of obtaining the following publications:—

Church Bells of Norfolk, J. L'Estrange (1874); Church Bells of Somerset, H. T. Ellacombe (1875); Church Bells of Lincolnshire, T. North (1882); Church Bells of Leicestershire, T. North (1876); Church Bells of Northamptonshire, T. North (1878); Church Bells of Rutland, T. North (1880); Church Bells of Kent, J. C. L. Stahlschmidt (1887); Church Bells of Staffordshire, C. Lynam (1887 or 1889); Church Bells of Suffolk, J. J. Raven (1890); Church Bells of Huntingdonshire, T. M. N. Owen (1899).

If any member has a copy they could offer or sell cheaply I should be most grateful for information.—I remain, Yours faithfully,

F. C. EELES, Secretary,
Central Council for the Care
Dunster, Somerset. of Churches.

University of Bristol Society

This Society held its first reunion ringing afternoon and dinner in Bristol on January 29th. The Society was formed in 1943, while tower bells were still banned, Bristol being the first provincial University to have a Change Ringing Society. The first peal scored by the Society was at Wincanton in 1947 and was conducted by Dr. John Hatcher.

This year the Society is far stronger than ever before, and rings regularly at St. Michael's (6) and All Saints' (8).

Old members attended from many parts of the country, and visitors from the Bristol City Branch of the Gloucester and Bristol Association, from the Bath and Wells Association and from London and Reading Universities were present.

Towers visited in the afternoon were the Lord Mayor's Chapel (6), All Saints' (8), St. Stephen's (10) and St. Mary Redcliffe (12). Ringing ranged from rounds to Cambridge Major and Stedman Cinques, the last touch of the day being the service touch of Stedman Triples at All Saints'.

The service, conducted by the Rev. Arthur Roberts, was greatly appreciated, especially his address, which was on different lines to the sermons one usually hears at ringing services.

Dinner was at the Full Moon Hotel, Stokes Croft, Dr. S. H. Piper, the president, being in the chair. It was felt that the whole day, both in the towers and at the dinner, was a great success, and it is hoped that this function will become an annual affair.

SHROPSHIRE ASSOCIATION

The annual general meeting of the Association was held in Shrewsbury on January 22nd. Ringing commenced at St. Chad's at 2.30 p.m., and after a rope had broken at the second pull, continued until 4, when a service was held in St. Aidan's chapel, conducted by the Vicar, the Rev. F. T. Horan. The party then went down to the Parish Hall, where 38 members sat down to an enjoyable tea.

At the business meeting the 1948 officers were again elected, viz.: Ringing Master, Mr. A. Pritchard; secretary, Mr. C. A. Barron; treasurer, Mr. W. A. Farmer. A proposal that monthly meetings should be held during 1949 was defeated by an amendment that these meetings should be held in the summer months and bimonthly in the winter. The peal secretary reported a record year with 30 peals, this being later reduced to 29 when it was decided to withdraw one peal of Grandsire Doubles. These peals included the first for the Association of Superlative Surprise and Duffield Major; special mention was made of the peal of Duffield, as it was also the first rung for some years in the country.

St. Mary's was unfortunately unavailable owing to repairs to the steeple, and ringing was again at St. Chad's in the evening. Methods rung included Grandsire Caters and Cinques, Kent Treble Bob, Little and Plain Bob Royal, Double Norwich and Superlative Major on the back eight.

QUEENSBURY BELLS

Dear Sir,—With reference to question four of the Christmas Quiz, Mr. George Grills states that the bell frame of Brentor Parish Church is 1,155ft. above sea level, and asks the height of the bells of Holy Trinity Parish Church, Queensbury, near Bradford.

The answer to this is that the bell frame is 1,190ft. above sea level. This figure was given a few years ago in 'The Ringing World,' and as it was not subsequently challenged we ringers at Queensbury felt we had a claim to ring on the highest hung bells in England.

It does seem, however, that the height at Brentor is very close to the one at Queensbury.

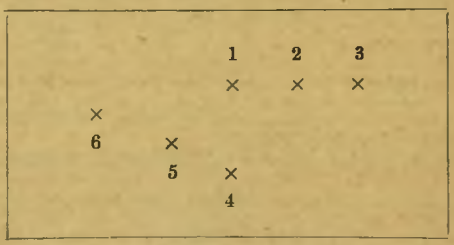
May I also thank 'Kewsett' for his Christmas Quiz and look forward to receiving another instalment next Christmas. — Yours sincerely, PAUL BIRKETT.

Queensbury, near Bradford.

Leeds & District Society

JUBILEE DINNER PLANNED.

The Society's first meeting in 1949 was held at Bradford Cathedral, where the very fine ring of ten bells was heard in well-struck changes and rounds. The bells were raised before 3 p.m. and ringing continued, except for the tea and business meeting intervals, until 8.30 p.m.



The business meeting was held in the tower and members were present from Armley, Bradford, Drighlington, Guiseley, Headingley (St. Michael's), Idle, Huddersfield, Leeds Parish Church, Liversedge, Ossett, Pudsey and Denholme, also friends from Edge Hill, Liverpool and Accrington. Two new members were elected—Messrs. H. Armitage and A. W. Bond, of Huddersfield.

The vote of thanks to the Provost, churchwardens and local company for the use of the bells and other arrangements was proposed by Mr. H. Lofthouse and seconded by Mr. J. Ambler. Mr. F. Simpson acknowledged the thanks.

The Society's jubilee is March 30th next. The committee considered that a dinner should be held on the nearest Saturday—March 26th. Arrangements were approved for a dinner at Leeds, the cost being 7s. 6d. per head. The committee's recommendation was confirmed and it was decided that expenses with regard to entertainment, etc., should be charged to the Society's account.

GREAT HORWOOD BELLS

A fund started by the ringers of Great Horwood, Bucks, in October, 1941, for the rehanging of the bells in a steel frame and to recast the four has reached approximately £700. The bells date back to 1623, the tenor and treble having been cast by Messrs. Mears and Stainbank in 1847. This firm have the work now in hand. The bells were lowered on January 26th, the weight of the tenor being 16 cwt. 2 qr. 21 lb. There is only one other tower with the bells hung in the same order as shown above.

OBITUARY

MR. ARTHUR W. BASHFORD.

We regret to announce the death of Mr. Arthur W. Bashford, of Reigate. He was a regular member of St. Mary's, Reigate. The funeral was at St. John's, Redhill, on January 21st. Messrs. Peck, Hoad, Claydon and Jeal rang the whole pull and stand on handbells over the grave.

MR. FRANK SKEVINGTON.

An old member of the Ancient Society of College Youths, Mr. Frank Skevington, has passed away at the age of 75. Born at Carlton, Bedfordshire, he came to London and rang at St. Paul's, Hammersmith, until the bells became unringable. Mr. Skevington then joined the band of St. Mary Abbot's, Kensington, and was a regular service ringer. He joined the Ancient Society in 1905.

MR. WILLIAM WILLIAMS.

The death occurred on January 27th of Mr. William Williams, of Trevethin, Pontypool, at the age of 78. Mr. Williams had done little ringing of late years owing to ill-health. He had been a ringer at Trevethin for 54 years. The funeral took place at Trevethin.

By A. E. YORK-BRAMBLE.

FORMULA FOR LONDON.

1. A hunt-controlled method constructed on the Treble Bob principle and having one hunt-controlling bell, the treble.

2. A single method (as distinct from a double method) and having differently-positioned pivot-places at the Grid-link and Grid-junction.

3. Pivot places:—

Full-lead (Grid-link) — Seconds, by a bell hunting UP to this place and DOWN from it; with adjacent thirds, above and below, by two other bells.

Half-lead (Grid-junction) — 'Fourths,' by a bell hunting UP to this place and DOWN from it; with adjacent 'thirds,' above and below, by two other bells.

4. Grid-sections at cone axes:—
In both front and back cones, all work in these two axial sections, beyond the pivot place in each case, is plain hunting reversed, the limits of which respectively are set by the path of the pivot-bell in the front cone, and by the paths of the adjacent place-making bells in the back cone. There is nothing else in these parts. Introduction of any variation is foreign to London.

5 Front-cone work, other than as in 4 above:—
Places, which are made inside this cone, 'against' the hunt-bell's path, throughout, *except in the 'A' columns of the grid.

6 Back-cone work, other than as in 4 above:—
Work as determined by the hunt-bell, that is, dodge when she dodges, and plain hunt when she plain hunts, i.e., when she is ending her work in one grid-section and entering her work in the ensuing one.

* Note. — For lack of space, grid-column nomenclature was not fully developed in previous article; but the columns of a Maximus grid, for example, are: Ao Ae Bo Be Co Ce Xo Xe Yo Ye Zo Ze.

The student will find that the foregoing defines completely the London method as exemplified in Minor and Major. Our promise, in the previous article, to produce, from the grid patterns of London Minor or Major, an identical pattern for London Royal, is now due for redemption. Starting with a Minor grid, and following the formula only, the student will be able to produce London Minor. Proceeding with a Major Grid he will be able to build up London Major. In building up these grid patterns squared paper, of course, will be used, and the student may first draw a rectangle on the paper, to represent the boundary of the grid. The treble's zig-zag path should then be drawn in red crayon or ink. The paths of all other bells may then be filled in, by lines not figures, so as to facilitate rapid recognition and checking of the appropriate features of the grid patterns. Pencil and rubber are advised for this lining-in so as to correct any errors made. Now comes the crux of this whole matter! Following on with grids appropriate for the Royal and Maximus, the London grid pattern may instantly be built up from the formula, and all patterns from Minor upwards to the Maximus will appear identical in structure. The majority of ringers may hardly credit this. They should try it! Half-grids, of course, are all that are necessary, to prove formulaic production of these 'Ideal' London grid-patterns.

Qualification, however, is needed.

Tracing down the lines of the pattern to identify the bells at the grid-junction, and then transposing to produce the grid-link rows and hence the plain course, the student will find these 'ideal' London patterns in Royal and Maximus will not give the full plain course: they both run short courses only, the half-lead pivot bell in Royal being '3' and that in Maximus being '2.' Noting that in Minor and in Major the half-lead pivot bell is consistently the penultimate bell at the lead-head: i.e., from rounds, in Minor it is '5' and in 'Major' it is '7,' the student may conclude that in Royal it should be '9.' (Preserving the progression.) Indeed, he will find that he can, by introducing the essential correlating 'Stats' (see para. 7 of the formula, below) produce quite a good version of Royal, with '9' as the half-lead pivot bell in its proper pivot-place, that is, 4ths from treble. This gives the 'natural' lead-head which is in the 'associated' order with those in the plain courses of Minor and Major. But, the internal structure of the London Grid-pattern is necessarily disturbed, and, the 9th bell is separated from the other heavy bells in this first lead of the plain course. The 9th can be kept behind, however, and still made to pivot; but not in the true London position, i.e., not '4ths' from the treble's lie, but '2nds'! This penultimate place is, of course, quite foreign to the London method, as is also the consequent non-London pattern in the rest of this axial grid-section of the front cone. But, if the truth must be told, it is by such adulterations that the versions hitherto published have been produced. The student may judge for himself how right the critics are that, so far, we have not seen true London Royal, and that the Maximus version with '11' coming down from behind to the half-lead pivot (although in '4ths') eliminates the essential London work as in item 3 of the Formula. This formula we must now complete. (To be concluded.)

SONNING DEANERY BRANCH.

Wokingham was again the venue of the annual meeting of the Sonning Deanery Branch. Ringing at All Saints' preceded the service, conducted by the Rector, the preacher being the Rev. R. B. Sutton, Vicar of Warfield. Tea followed in the Parish Room, nearly 100 ringers and clergy attending, over 80 being branch members.

At the business meeting, the chairman, Archdeacon Shaw, was supported by the president, Canon Coleridge, and the Rural Dean. All officers were re-elected, and in a brief report the secretary spoke of the sound position of the branch as regards Sunday ringing and practice. The holding of the summer meeting at Wargrave was agreed to.

Canon Coleridge, despite his 91 years, was in good story telling mood, and the meeting closed with the usual words from the Deputy Master, general secretary and Guild librarian.

ELY DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION

The annual meeting of Hunts District was held at Huntingdon on January 22nd. About 40 members and visitors were present and some good ringing took place at both St. Mary's and All Saints' towers.

The service at All Saints' Church was conducted by the Rector (the Rev. J. M. E. Bagley), who also took the chair for the business meeting.

All the officers were re-elected for 1949, viz., Mr. S. Gilbert, secretary; Mr. F. Warrington, Ringing Master; committee, Messrs. H. Fields, F. Baker, W. Chamberlain, C. Young, H. Pratt, F. W. Lack and two more were added, Mr. S. J. Peck and Miss C. Dunnington.

The Vicar of St. Mary's and the Rector of All Saints' were thanked for the use of the bells and for making the ringers so welcome, as were the local ladies for providing such an excellent tea.

NORTH-EAST DIVISION.

The annual district meeting, held at St. Peter's, Colchester, on January 15th, attracted over 50 ringers from 25 different towers.

An excellent address was given at the service by the Vicar (the Rev. T. Hollingdale), who also joined the company at tea.

A special welcome was given to Mr. R. Stannard, a former District Master and member of the St. Peter's band, who had travelled from Barking.

The retiring officers, Mr. G. Waterman (Master), Mr. H. J. Millatt (secretary) and Messrs. A. Andrews and G. W. Moss (committee members), were re-elected. Two honorary and four ringing members were elected, and Tendring was selected for the next meeting.

The secretary's report for 1948 showed increases in both honorary and ringing membership and was considered satisfactory. A collection was made for the family of the late Mr. S. Jennings, of Harwich, and realised 3 guineas.

Ringing took place during the afternoon and evening on the fine eight at St. Peter's, and St. Leonard's bells were also available. H.J.M.

HAWKHURST AND DISTRICT GUILD

Some 23 members from Hastings, Wadhurst, Bexhill, Tenterden, Salehurst and the local band attended the annual meeting at Hawkhurst on January 15th. Ringing included Plain Bob Major, Grandsire and Stedman Triples.

Tea was followed by the business meeting, Mr. G. Billenness being in the chair. The treasurer reported a balance in hand of £1 0s. 2½d. New members elected were Messrs. E. Avery, G. Muggridge and G. Hicks (Salehurst). Mr. W. Gorringe was re-elected chairman and Miss H. Gorringe hon. secretary. Members from Salehurst, Wadhurst, Benenden and Hawkhurst were elected to the committee. The February meeting will be held at Wadhurst and that for March at Salehurst.

OURSELVES

IN our editorial of the issue of February 4th a concluding paragraph concerning the problems of publication aroused considerable interest, and the Editor acknowledges with gratitude the many helpful suggestions received. To most of these letters he has given a formal acknowledgment; will others who have not received a letter please accept his sincere thanks.

A concluding sentence in this editorial, in which a reference was made to 'lesser brethren who ring quarter-peals and those who enjoy their ringing at Saturday afternoon meetings,' has been in some quarters misinterpreted. In no sense does the Editor or the Exercise desire to disparage their service to ringing or the valued place they hold in the realms of change ringing. Their work is important; they knit together a spirit of friendship, and there is no question that the Saturday afternoon meeting has a stimulating influence for good, and is also an integral part in the organisation of ringing. The editorial of February 4th was intended as a brief survey of peal ringing in 1948, giving certain figures and facts which we felt were of interest, not only to peal ringers but to the Exercise as a whole. Because a man plays cricket on his village green on a Saturday afternoon it does not mean that he is not interested in county cricket. Peal performances are read and followed by a far greater circle than those who regularly participate. A non-ringing lady, who incidentally does not come from a ringing family, told the Editor that she always reads the peals and has an affectionate regard for certain men and women whom she has never seen. She has captured in her heart the same sense of enthusiasm as prevails in the sporting world.

A misapprehension exists regarding the paper allocation to 'The Ringing World.' Because daily and weekly newspapers now enjoy free sales this does not apply to the section of the press in the category of 'The Ringing World.' We receive an allocation in bulk. Last November we had our allowance increased, and it enabled us to dispense with the eight-page issues and to increase our circulation. The response for new readers was most satisfactory, and within a few weeks the Editor was happy to report to the Editorial Committee that the new peak figure had been reached. This week we have received from the Paper Controller our allocation figure for the next four months. This is a favourable figure. It will permit of another 300 new readers, and enable us to give an occasional 16-page issue for big events such as the forthcoming Central Council meeting at York and to keep abreast with the publication of peals.

We have two classes of subscribers—those on our mailing list and those who purchase their 'Ringing World' through the newsagent. Those on our mailing list are the most valuable, and it is to them that the solvency of 'The Ringing World' is due. From these subscribers 'The Ringing World' receives 3d. a copy, compared with a fraction over 1½d. from those who purchase through the newsagent, the reason being the cost of distribution through the publisher, the wholesaler and the newsagent. We do not ask these subscribers to transfer their allegiance; we welcome both sections of readers providing the mailing lists are maintained.

Now as to the procedure of new subscribers. If you desire to join our mailing list, send your subscription (4s. 3d. per quarter, 8s. 6d. half-year, or 17s. yearly) to Mrs. Fletcher, The White House, Caister-on-Sea, Great Yarmouth. In the event of a copy being lost in the post write to the Editor forthwith and he will attend to it at once. Please remember that "The Ringing World' is only dispatched to those who have paid their subscriptions. Reminders are published at the appropriate time in black type. Last month there were some 80 subscribers whose copies were temporarily withheld pending the arrival of their subscriptions; they are drifting back into the fold, but with pegged circulations there was a danger of their journal being allocated elsewhere. So close have been our margins that the Editor has not a single copy left of the issue of February 4th.

As regards new readers who desire their copies through the newsagent the procedure is as follows: If your newsagent has any difficulty in supplying you, write to our publishers, Rolls House Publishing Company, Breams Buildings, London, E.C.4, giving the name of the newsagent and his wholesaler and the appropriate arrangements will be made. 'The Ringing World' is the connecting link joining all ringers into one big fraternity; its aim is to be the family newspaper of all who love ringing. The Editor is truly thankful for the support and interest he has received in the past. He has seen the circulation increase by 40 per cent. during his regime, and he is confident that with the goodwill existing to-day the new allocation of paper will be quickly absorbed.

LATE NEWS.

The attempt for 17,152 Bristol Surprise at Gilmorton on Feb. 19th is now not possible. The peal attempt is to be limited to 10,000, wires Mr. W. P. Whitehead.

Salisbury Diocesan Advisory Committee for Care of Churches have decided to ban 'radio bells' in the diocese.

BELFRY GOSSIP

From Vancouver, B.C., we learn of the passing of that fine old veteran, Mr. A. B. Lomas, of Victoria, B.C. The bells of the Cathedral were rung half-muffled to his memory on February 6th. He has been cremated and his ashes are being sent to Gawsworth Church, Macclesfield.

Over 30 quarter-peals were rung for services at St. Mary Magdalene, Holloway, during 1948.

Norfolk Surprise has seven new adherents in its own county by the peal at Loddon on January 29th.

Mr. John Thomas, of Hinton-on-the-Green, Worcestershire, has rung his 800th peal. The 1,000 peal coterie are waiting to welcome you!

Has a non-conducted and silent peal been rung previously for the Ely Diocesan Association, enquires Mr. M. J. Thurmott.

Interest in Spliced Surprise Major is on the increase. Peals to hand this week are Harmston, Lincs (10 methods) and Dorchester, Oxon (8 methods).

In sending the particulars of two peals rung in honour of the gift of a son to Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Pye, our correspondent expresses the hope of the two bands that the spirit of his grandfather, the late Mr. William Pye, and his ability as a ringer will be manifest in the youngest member of the Pye family.

Endeavours are being made by Mr. F. S. Wilson to substantiate the claim that the peal of Stedman Triples rung on November 25th was the first 'in hand' for the Salisbury Diocesan Guild. Can any reader help? A peal of Stedman Caters was rung at Lyme Regis on May 25th, 1947. Between 1887 and 1895 a number of handbell peals were rung, and it is during this period that records are incomplete.

The Rev. A. S. Roberts, of Carbis Bay, Cornwall, entered Hayle Hospital last Saturday for an operation. For the next three weeks it is likely that letters from ringing friends will remain unanswered. We all wish him a speedy recovery.

Reward of perseverance was Mr. E. F. Salmon's first peal of Stedman at North Stoneham. We are told it was his 47th attempt.

The ringer of the treble in quarter-peal of Doubles at Benwell, Newcastle-on-Tyne, on January 9th was H. Thompson.

A gratifying feature of the first peal on the recast and augmented bells at Stratford-on-Avon was the six first peals of Caters by local ringers.

The 100 peals rung together by Messrs. A. Ballard and H. J. Poole were 43 'in hand' and 57 on tower bells, and not as stated in a previous issue.

The joint meeting of the Leeds and District with the Ladies' Guild will be held at Batley and not Birstall as previously arranged.

The first peal on the augmented eight at St. Mary's (R.C.), Blackhill, Co. Durham, was followed by munificent hospitality to the ringers, who wish through our columns to extend their thanks to Rev. Father McCartan, the local ringers and their friends.

The Rev. C. Kelland Peeke, hon. treasurer of the Truro Diocesan Guild, has been installed as an hon. Canon of Truro Cathedral. He is a member of Truro Cathedral company. In honour of the event a ¼-peal of Grandsire Triples was rung at the Cathedral on Jan. 26th by: Miss M. Penrose 1, Rev. A. S. Roberts 2, Miss J. E. Withey 3, Mrs. A. S. Roberts 4, W. E. Minors 5, W. H. Southeard 6, C. E. Lanxon (cond.) 7, G. P. Webb 8.

In Appreciation

MR. GEORGE WILLIAMS

It was a great shock and grief to me when I read in the 'Sunday Express' of January 30th that my old friend, George Williams, had passed away. My recollection of him goes back to 1894, when the Royal Cumberland Youths rang a peal of Grandsire Triples at Arundel, my birthplace. I was then only a beginner, and it was not until October, 1896, that he conducted my first peal, Grandsire Triples, at Fareham. Three of us, Chamberlain, Haggett and myself, went to Fareham on October 2nd, 1896, and after two hours of good ringing we were stopped by the church clock winder throwing stones at the belfry window, making it impossible for the ringing to be continued. A fortnight later, on October 16th, the three of us from Arundel again journeyed to Fareham for a second attempt, and this time there was no interference from the clock winder, and we three beginners scored our first peal of Grandsire Triples in 3 hours 1 minute, conducted by George Williams. This peal was the beginning of a life-long friendship, now severed by his passing at the ripe old age of 91. Most of the peals that I have rung were conducted by him, and in 1892 I migrated to Brighton and joined the St. Peter's band, where George Williams was the chief conductor.

Among other peals we rang together was the first 'George' peal of Stedman Triples, rung at Lewes on April 24th, 1893, and many firsts in new methods, Bristol, Norfolk, etc.

He (George Williams) also conducted the first peal of London Surprise rung in the City of London at St. Stephen's, Coleman Street, on January 14th, 1899, and of this peal there is very little doubt that Frank Bennett and myself are the sole survivors. Although I retired from active ringing in 1907, George never failed to look me up when he came to Brighton, as he often did, and now it is good-bye from his old friend.

GEORGE BAKER.

It was with the deepest regret I heard of the passing of my dear old friend, George Williams. I first met him on March 2nd, 1889, at S. Nicolas', Guildford, when he conducted my first peal, Grandsire Triples. That was the beginning of a friendship that has lasted within a month of 60 years. I met him again at East Meon on Whit Monday, 1891, when he called his 100th peal, Kent Treble Bob Major. He was a conductor of the highest ability, and for his weight a wonderful tenor ringer. I shall always remember the way he turned in Christchurch (Hants) tenor, 30 cwt., to Double Norwich on Boxing Day, 1892, and then in the evening rang St. Peter's, Bournemouth, to another peal of Double Norwich.

After my removal to Brighton we became almost inseparable and rang a large number of peals together, and I can honestly say we never had a disagreement. There were very few Saturdays that we were not out either to meetings or peal ringing, and mostly to oblige visitors, for at that time we used to get plenty of them, and George would always do his utmost to arrange something for them. It was a great loss to Sussex ringing when he left the county, and I did not see a great deal of him during my seven years in London, but since then we had had a good many enjoyable ringing weeks together. It was a great pleasure to us both when we rang our 1,500th peal together, although it was not pre-arranged. I was also in what was to be his last Double Norwich at Soberton in May, 1940, for his 82nd birthday.

Of his activities after he returned to his native county in 1905 I must leave others who were associated with him to record. His cheery smile will be sadly missed by us all and his place difficult to fill. May his soul rest in peace.

FRANK BENNETT.

MR. HERBERT MINGAY.

Lincoln Diocesan Guild

NORTHERN BRANCH.

There was a good attendance at the annual meeting of the Grimsby District held at Grimsby on January 29th. Mr. J. Bray, Guild general secretary, presided in the unavoidable absence of the president, Ven. Archdeacon Marsden.

Mr. Herbert Mingay, the hon. district secretary, resigned his office after 25 years of faithful service. All the towers in the area showed their appreciation of his work by contributing to a gift of a wallet and notes.

In making the presentation, Mr. Bray spoke of Mr. Mingay's great work for the district, and said how fortunate they had been to have such a man who had missed few meetings in 25 years. Letters from the president and Richard Thackray, of Bigby, added words of appreciation.

Mr. Mingay briefly thanked the members.

Officers elected for 1949 were: President, Ven. Archdeacon Marsden; Ringing Master, Mr. J. Bray; hon. secretary, Mr. G. W. Moody; Deputy Ringing Master, Mr. G. Dobbs; representative on branch committee, Mr. J. Bray.

Meetings for the year were fixed for Caister, Great Carlton, Bigby, Waltham and Barton-on-Humber, and it was hoped to have an additional meeting in the Louth area.

LEARNT A METHOD LAST YEAR.

Dear Sir,—Although I only knew Mr. George Williams for five years, I would like to add my little tribute to the memory of a great man. Mention has already been made of the example he set to all ringers in his service to the Church, and to that I would simply add that of no one could it be more truly said that he was a Christian gentleman. One thing which always amazed me was his youthfulness and his buoyant spirit. Thus, last year I remember, when some 20 years his junior said they were too old to learn a new method, he learned and rang for the first time the No. 3 version of London Royal. Or, again, his peal books show that from October, 1938, to the end of 1939, when the war stopped peal ringing and when he was 81, he rang 25 peals in 17 different methods, including the only peal he ever conducted of Treble twelve, two of his four peals of Yorkshire Surprise Major, a peal of Stedman Cinques at the C.C. meeting, his only peal of Spliced 4, his only peal of Plain Bob Maximus (at St. Nicholas', Liverpool), and the second of his peals of Double Norwich Royal (the first being in 1902). Such facts speak for themselves.

Yes, the Exercise is the poorer for his passing. We have lost, in this life, a great man. May we all seek to follow his example of service.—Yours sincerely,

K. W. H. FELSTEAD.

Southampton.

RANG 300 PEALS WITH GEO. WILLIAMS.

Sir,—I cannot allow my dear old friend, George Williams, to pass over without a few lines from me. In the 1890's and after, although I only learnt Stedman Triples by looking at Troyte's book twice, I went to Brighton for a peal and rang it at the first attempt, conducted by the late G. Williams.

I was stationed at Rugby, Warwickshire, and many week-ends I used to visit Brighton and stay with Mr. and Mrs. Williams, and altogether I rang about 300 peals with him. One of them was on handbells, Mrs. Williams ringing 1-2 in a peal of Grandsire Triples. Had I not lost my leg I should, if able, have been at the funeral.—Yours very sincerely,

JAMES GEORGE.

CHESTER DIOCESAN GUILD

The annual meeting of the Bowdon, Stockport and Mottram Branch was held at Stockport on January 29th, when over 60 members and friends were present. The ten bells at the Parish Church were in use from 3.30 p.m. until service, conducted by the Rector (Canon D. H. Saunders-Davies), who in his address commended the exercise of the art of change ringing to any young man or woman who wanted to do something worth while in the service of the church.

Following tea, the Rector presided at the business meeting, supported by Mr. A. R. Elkins (branch chairman). The Rector expressed the pleasure it gave them to entertain the branch and how much he appreciated the effort of ringers, not only in his own parish, but throughout the land. Seven new members were elected.

The secretary in his report asked the members to consider whether the wastage of recruits during training, which was looked upon as inevitable, was due to some extent to out-of-date teaching methods. He urged all to consider this since counter attractions to-day were many and powerful and could not be combated with 19th century methods. If the monotony and drudgery of the first six months could be relieved in some measure, then the wastage of material need not be so great.

All the officers of the branch were re-elected, and Canon D. H. Saunders-Davies was elected to the newly-created office of branch president. It was reported that the authorities at Dunham Massey are going ahead with a scheme to replace the present heavy ring of ten with a light ring of eight, in spite of the heavy commitments the church has in other directions.

Congratulations were extended to Mr. and Mrs. Carter, son-in-law and daughter of Mr. A. Barnes, on their silver wedding anniversary. After some discussion it was resolved that the rule governing the annual meeting of the branch be altered and that the annual meeting be held alternately at St. Mary's and St. George's Churches, Stockport.

The meeting carried with acclamation a hearty vote of thanks to the Rector, the wardens, the local ringers and the organist for their part in a very successful meeting. The officers received sincere thanks for their efforts to promote interest during the year.

Further ringing was enjoyed on the bells until a late hour, the wants of all being catered for by the Master, Mr. T. Wilde.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

REPORTING OF PEALS

Dear Sir,—Your leading article of Feb. 4th again draws attention to a fact that has been all too plain for some years—'The Ringing World' is quite unable to keep up-to-date with peal reports. This fact is well illustrated in this issue; there is not one report which should not have been printed previously, and some peals recorded were rung as long ago as January last.

The present style of reporting and size of type used have changed but little from those in use in the last century, when peals were comparatively few and paper was plentiful. Surely the remedy is obvious? I suggest that the traditional style should be drastically altered and the size of type greatly reduced. By doing this it should be possible to publish all peal reports which reach you on Monday in the following Friday's issue, and gain considerable space in the paper for other matter.

I do not doubt that many ringers would be sorry to see the old style abandoned; but we must realise that it is now out of date and just will not do. I would far rather see the reports up to date and all footnotes included in full.

While all relevant details must be included, such words as 'At the Church of' and 'A Peal of' could well be omitted; 'Composed by' and 'Conducted by' could be abbreviated, and the words 'Treble' and 'Tenor' could be replaced by numbers.

Of course, a reduction in the size of reports would produce an outcry from those who rely on your columns for the collection of performances, statistics, etc., particularly from those who confess to being unable to read 'Bob Major' unless preceded by the word 'Plain.' As a help to peal secretaries and others, I suggest that peals should be grouped under the Associations for which they are rung, the Association headings being arranged in alphabetical order. Further, the peals in each group could be arranged alphabetically according to the places at which they were rung. The name of the Association would then be omitted from individual reports.

By printing the place and method in heavy type, readers would be able to tell at a glance what had been rung and where. This is possible at present, but one needs to glance at five or six pages.

Handbell peals should still be kept apart; but with the system of grouping by Associations, I see no reason why peals on different numbers of bells should still be kept in separate sections. C. W. WOOLLEY.

Bushey.

PEAL RINGING AND THE 'RINGING WORLD'

Dear Sir,—Last week's leading article comments on the heavy demand which peal reports make on the available space in 'The Ringing World.'

I sometimes wonder whether or not too much weight is given to peal ringing in ringing circles generally, tending to overshadow other ringing activity.

Undoubtedly, peal ringing has an immense value in giving an urge to greater achievements, and regular peal ringers are amongst the best strikers, and many of them key men in the Exercise.

However, many who are supporters of the established ringing organisations, and who are regular service ringers, probably skip the first few pages of 'The Ringing World,' or just look for peals of local interest, or the odd peal which they themselves occasionally take part in. These ringers would probably continue to take 'The Ringing World,' even if the space devoted to peals was considerably reduced and the space made available utilised for discussion, illustrations, varied articles and news of activities other than peal ringing. Could a 'Peal Supplement' be published, say monthly or quarterly, for those who wished to have a copy, instead of the present system. Meritorious performances could still receive prompt 'publicity in the 'Gossip' column. This would release the equivalent of a page or two each week. After all, peals receive further publicity in the Association Reports and in 'The Ringing World' from time to time.

A good peal by a local band is a valuable achievement. A good peal by a band from various sources may be a valuable achievement, or just a piece of personal satisfaction. In the absence of local knowledge one cannot always tell from the peal columns.

In conclusion, may I emphasise that I am not decrying the value and pleasure of peal ringing. I think it should be the aim of every probationer to ring a good peal as early as possible, and that all those who are able should take some part in peal ringing activity to add polish to their capabilities.

It may, however, be worth while pausing to consider whether we have not become overconscious of the merit of peal ringing for its own sake to the exclusion of other attributes of the average ringer.—Yours, etc.,

Rotherham. NORMAN CHADDOCK.

ELECTRONIC BELLRINGING

Dear Sir,—The Central Council librarian has recently accepted from me a small collection of letters and photographs connected with an electronic bellringing apparatus which was made over thirteen years ago.

About 1935 Mr. L. E. A. Bourn, of the John Compton Organ Co., conducted experiments which led to the production of the modern Compton electric organs. Apparently as a sideline, he built a bellringing apparatus which was installed for a time at Albury (Surrey) and could be heard for twelve miles. This apparatus was notable in that it contained neither bells nor recordings, but produced the sound synthetically.

To condemn such an apparatus is useless; it represented a real advance in electronic progress. It seems that the danger of such an apparatus being manufactured to replace ringers passed while we were in happy ignorance, for the Compton organ has been produced whereas automatic ringing apparatus has not been.

I can thoroughly recommend to those interested a book recently published, 'Electronic Musical Instruments,' by S. K. Lewer (Pub. Electronic Engineering, 28, Essex Street, W.C.2). This book at 3s. 6d. is a mine of information collected from technical journals on sound synthesis, and contains sections on pitch standards. Thus on page 11 is a table of pitch notes which are broadcast from the National Bureau of Standards (Station WWV) in Washington, D.C. Two of these are on the ordinary short wave band, at approximately 20 and 30 metres (given as 15 and 10 megacycles). They are broadcast day and night, and I have received the note on 30 metres as a peculiar interrupted note. Both broadcasts are of the standard pitch, A = 440, and are accurate to one part in ten million.

Mr. Bourn is a leading authority on electronic sound synthesis (he owns fifteen patents) and must have taken great pains over the ringing apparatus. Special steps were taken to produce a swinging effect, and he wired the machine to ring a plain course of Oxford T.B. Major only. A criticism was that the striking was too regular, and a device was introduced to make it slightly uneven!

A similar apparatus was in existence at the Compton factory in North Acton, to chime the Cambridge Quarters. Both were destroyed in the 1941 air raids. B. D. PRICE.

Dedications

BLAENAVON, MONMOUTHSHIRE.

Saturday, January 29th, was a red-letter day at Blaenavon on the occasion of the rededication and opening of the bells. The Bishop of Monmouth, in his address, said ringing was a healthy art, for the 'Diocesan Gazette' showed some remarkable records of long service among the ringers. The bells were rung for one purpose only, to call people to worship, but at Blaenavon as elsewhere many were deaf to the call they made.

Immediately following the dedicatory prayers the bells struck out for the first time, being in rounds by the local ringers, led by their veteran, Mr. Stokes. Following the service the Master of the Association, Mr. J. W. Jones, was chosen to take charge of the ringing for the day. The first touch he conducted, one of Grandsire Triples, was by ringers from various towers. During the day the four standard methods were rung, but the acknowledged titbit was one of Stedman Triples. A sumptuous tea was provided in the Church Hall.

The bells, originally a ring of six by Rudhall, cast in 1807, have been recast and two more added. They are now a most musical ring of eight with a tenor of 9¼ cwt., the contract having been excellently carried out by Messrs. John Taylor and Co., who was represented by Mr. J. P. Fidler. The ringers at Blaenavon have always taken the greatest interest in their bells, and chiefly through their persistent efforts has the restoration been achieved. At present there are three generations of the family of Stokes and also quite a young band of ringers.

STAFFORD ARCHDEACONRY SOCIETY

The quarterly meeting of the Society was held on January 22nd at Wolverhampton, when 80 ringers and friends attended. St. Paul's, Burton-on-Trent, was well represented, also ringers from Coventry, Stourbridge and Birmingham were welcomed. Service in St. Peter's Church, conducted by the Rector of Wolverhampton, was followed by tea.

At the business meeting a cheque for £30 18s. was presented to Mr. Herbert Knight, former secretary for 40 years. The presentation was made by Mr. C. Wallater, one of the oldest members, who voiced the opinion of every ringer present in saying that no society had ever had a better servant. Subscribers were from the Archdeaconry and as far afield as Bournemouth and Somerset.

New members elected included the entire band from Rugeley, where change ringing is now being practised. During the afternoon and evening methods rung included Cambridge Surprise Royal, Superlative Surprise Major and Stedman Cinques.

WINCHESTER & PORTSMOUTH GUILD

PORTSMOUTH DISTRICT.

The fine ring of eight at St. Mary's, Portsea, was made good use of at the annual meeting of the Portsmouth District on January 9th, when ringing ranged from Grandsire Triples to Spliced Surprise Major (four methods). The Rev. H. A. Gilroy conducted the service.

At the business meeting members stood in silence as a mark of respect to Messrs. G. Williams (Master of the Guild), W. Linter and A. Mears, who had died within the last two months.

Mrs. Tate was elected a life member, and ringing members elected were Messrs. J. Hedges, J. Pearce, H. Reynolds and F. Salmon (Alverstoke) and C. Twineham (Soberton).

Mr. Linter was re-elected chairman, and all the remaining officers were returned to office. The next quarterly meeting will be at Hambledon on April 23rd.

By A. E. YORK-BRAMBLE.

We come, then, to the last item of the London formula:—

7. CORRELATING STATS. — Unless the method is to be mutilated, these must come within the Front Cone and in its non-axial grid-sections. For Royal, no additions but two transfers are needed:—

(a) In the 5-6 UP grid-section: Last 4ths to 2nds.
(b) In the 7-8 UP grid-section: Last 1sts to 3rds.

For Maximus, (a) as in Royal, plus two transfers:—

(b) In the 7-8 UP grid-section: First 6ths to 2nds.
(c) In the 9-0 UP grid-section: First 8ths to 6ths.

Except for the 'reflections' of these in the second half of the Grid, no other alterations or additions of any kind are necessary.

Turning again to the 'Ideal' grid-patterns of London, which the interested student may have made as directed in an earlier paragraph, he may now erase the pencilled bell-paths at the grid-squares indicated in item 7 and rearrange as directed. Tracing down the paths to the grid-junction, the half-lead pivot is revealed as '4' in Royal and '7' in Maximus. To save an experimenter's time it may be stated that the author has thoroughly explored possible rearrangements, and has produced, over many years of patient research, about as many versions of Royal for London as there are letters in our alphabet. These versions successively improved until the qualifying extension emerged, conforming with every essential characteristic requirement. Indeed, London Royal is possible only with the 4th bell as pivot at the first half-lead; though the proof (by a process of elimination) is too lengthy for inclusion in this article. This 'residual' version satisfies all requirements of the principles laid down in paras. 'A' to 'O' above, and conforms strictly to the formula derived. Half-leads of Royal and Maximus are appended. They should be traced out for the grid-patterns and checked against London Minor and Major, and the formula.

These processes are universally applicable in change ringing methods and principles. But it must be emphasised that haphazard trials at 'extension' lead nowhere. The job must be tackled systematically and recorded step by step and checked. Knowledge of the theory of Stats, as mentioned in para. L above, is invaluable. All effort must be concentrated within the ambit of the formula; and the formula, be it remembered, is inherent in the basic form of the method. In London we are fortunate in having both Minor and Major for this, the one being a check upon the other. Serious investigators, working on logical or mathematical lines, will soon discover the fallacy of reliance upon imitation of place-positions only, of the basic. (See end of para. N above.) Without other considerations, success is unattainable.

(It is regretted that abridgement may have made some parts of the argument rather more difficult to follow, but space considerations render this unavoidable.—A. Y-B.)

PETERBOROUGH DIOCESAN GUILD

NORTHAMPTON DISTRICT.

An attendance of 50 supported the annual meeting of the Northampton District on January 29th at St. Peter's, Northampton. The Rev. L. J. Chybnall (Rector) conducted the Guild service, followed by tea in the Parish Rooms.

Mr. S. S. Valentine (Branch president) was in the chair for the business meeting, when the district's report and balance sheet, presented by Mr. E. Nobles, were adopted. The Rev. R. H. Palmer presented first peal certificates to Miss M. B. Valentine and Mr. S. Earl.

Officers elected were as follows: Mr. G. S. Valentine, president; Mr. Eric Nobles, hon. secretary and treasurer; Mr. W. R. Hammons, Branch Ringing Master; Mr. G. Care and Mr. P. Jones, Guild Committee; Messrs. W. R. Hammons, J. Dunkley, B. O. Soden, Branch Committee; Mr. W. Gammage, branch auditor.

SURREY ASSOCIATION

NORTH-WESTERN DISTRICT.

At the annual district meeting on January 22nd at St. John's, Croydon, over 100 ringers and friends sat down to a tea, arranged by the local lady ringers. A service was held at St. John's, the address being given by the Vicar.

Three life members and 13 ringing members were elected at the business meeting. The committee's report showed steady progress in the Association activities. Some discussion on the advisability of increasing the subscriptions arose from the decreased balance on the financial statement.

The appeal for funds towards the Benhilton bells was brought to the notice of the ringers; a voluntary subscription raised £6, and a proposition was carried to make a collection at each quarterly meeting. The votes of thanks to the Vicar and the ladies were carried with acclamation.

Middlesex County Assn.

NORTH AND EAST DISTRICT.

A representative gathering from nearly every affiliated tower met at St. Augustine's, Kilburn, on January 29th, for the annual district meeting, when ringing took place in the local tower and at St. Mary Abbot's, Kensington, and St. Mary's, Willesden, in the evening. The striking showed improvement indicating that post-war recruits are gaining by experience.

At the business meeting, presided over by Mr. A. W. Coles (vice-president), those present stood in silent tribute to the memory of J. Armstrong (Southgate) and G. Williams (North Stoneham). Newly-elected members were E. Southgate (Kingsbury), R. Meadows and D. Riley (Kilburn), W. F. Forrester, L. Green, M. Sinden, the Misses M. Cater, K. Westmancott and E. Simpson (Stamford Hill) and R. Lambert (Stanmore).

The district secretary's report indicated that ten towers had been visited for meetings with an average attendance of 40; that 98 quarter-peals had been rung, mostly for Sunday services, in 15 towers, with 35 sharing in conducting; that reports on towers may be summarised as encouraging but still with plenty of scope for betterment; and that he welcomed the towers of Kingsbury, Stamford Hill and Walthamstow (St. Saviour's) having rejoined the Association. Mr. Lock presented the statement of accounts, which showed a balance of £35 0s. 5d., the substantial increase over last year's amount being mainly due to revision of the Association's rules governing finance.

Most of the retiring officers were re-elected, Mr. C. F. Neal being elected as assistant secretary. The meeting applauded votes of congratulations to the Rev. Arthur S. Roberts upon his institution as first Vicar of the parish of Carbis Bay, and to Messrs. Hodgson and Viggers upon the production of the Ringer's Notebook and Diary. It was decided to reintroduce the principle of ringing 'special methods' at district meetings. Thanks were accorded to all incumbents and tower representatives concerned.

WASTAGE

By C. K. L.

IS the wastage which occurs during the training of recruits to the Exercise inevitable? It is alarming to note the complacency with which the majority of ringers regard this loss, and whilst it must be admitted that there will, of necessity, be some failures surely the high percentage of recruits who fail to become ringers is a challenge to every member of the Exercise. No statistics are available to help us to decide what and where the deficiencies are, and though we may seek consolation in the fact that this has always been the case we should not excuse ourselves on that score, rather we should pause to consider whether, with all the advantages we enjoy, we are making the best use of the material coming forward.

First, let us consider the would-be ringer. It is generally admitted that no two persons are alike either physically or temperamentally, yet how many instructors completely ignore this fundamental truth and treat all recruits in exactly the same way? We suggest that every instructor should adopt the slogan, 'They are all different,' and adjust his teaching methods to each individual.

Secondly, there is the question of teaching methods. Are these the best and up-to-date? We are sure that all our older readers will allow that the counter-attractions to-day are much more powerful than they were in their day, and if some of the suggestions which follow appear somewhat heretical to them we would urge them to remember that twentieth-century counter-attractions cannot be combated with nineteenth-century methods.

Our experience has been that most instructors require a pupil to attain an unreasonable degree of efficiency in any one stage before proceeding to the next. This undoubtedly produces first-class results, but what is usually glossed over by these instructors is that it also produces an excessive percentage of losses to the Exercise. Now we all know the satisfaction which follows from the successful completion of a task which has hitherto been out of our reach. If we are to be successful in training recruits to the Exercise we should encourage them to learn by doing and at the same time take care that no task set is beyond their capabilities at that moment. This is difficult, for every pupil progresses at a different rate, and the provision of a series of progressive steps fostering a sense of achievement is a problem.

To the first part of the problem we can offer no other advice than 'Remember they are all different.' To the second we suggest that each instructor tries to find his own series of graded steps from each of the well-defined stages of progress to the next. The following is suggested as a broad basis.

Promotion from the 'pulling a bell' stage should be more rapid than at present. Rounds can be attempted with the instructor standing by as soon as the pupil is able to control his bell fairly well. Corrections to style can be carried out while the pupil is trying to ring rounds. It may cost a few stays and try the patience of the instructor, but the increased enthusiasm of the pupil will be the reward.

The monotony of the rounds stage can be relieved by the use of call changes; in fact, we have found that some recruits acquire a feeling of compass more readily from Queens than from rounds. Call changes should be based on the first method to be rung by the pupil, i.e., the method is rung row by row at the direction of the instructor.

This brings us to another point. While the pupil is learning to pull a bell and ring rounds, etc., he should be learning the rules of and to prick out the method he is to ring at the next stage. This principle should be carried on throughout his novitiate; his homework should be one stage ahead of his practical work.

We have all experienced the difficulty of having several learners able to ring, say, Bob Major but being held up until one other has reached the same stage. This is a highly dangerous situation, and the instructor must employ all kinds of dodges to give variety to the practice while giving the laggard plenty of opportunity to catch up. Changing the observation bell often successfully disguises a well-worn touch. Reverse Bob affords a treble man practice in hunting and gives the learners a little further advanced something to think about. Original Major offers plenty of scope for practice in hunting for the learners and at the same time keeps the rest of the band on its toes.

To sum up in three slogans: Remember they are all different. Nothing succeeds like success. Variety is the spice of ringing.

We should see to it that once the spark of interest has been kindled no efforts are spared to fan it into the blaze of unbounded enthusiasm.

LATE NEWS.

The first peal on the augmented ring of Birmingham Cathedral was rung on February 17th.

Barnsley District Society are arranging a dinner in September to celebrate the 40th anniversary of the society.

BELFRY GOSSIP

The peals at Chilcompton, Trowbridge and Ditcheat were rung as a mark of esteem and affection for Henry R. Newton, who reached his 84th birthday on February 12th. The men who rang the peal at Trowbridge would like to put on record their gratitude to Arthur Prince, who waived his prior right to the use of the bells.

Having reached the allotted span of life, Mr. George West has rung his first peal at Rawmarsh, Rotherham. And many more!

The peal at Prittlewell, Essex, on February 5th, replaces one rung on February 7th, 1948, by F. Robinson, which was false.

Mr. Ernest F. Salmons informs us that the peal at North Stoneham on February 1st was not his first of Stedman at the 47th attempt, but his first peal of Caters, in any method, at his 41st attempt. He has rung several peals of Stedman Triples and one of Cinques.

Two births were celebrated by the peal at Barwell, Leicestershire, on Feb. 9th—a son to the wife of T. C. Belton and a grandson to C. R. Belton, captain of the local band; and a first granddaughter to G. P. Garner, vice-captain of the band.

Two new trebles are being cast by Messrs. Mears and Stainbank for St. Mary's, Slough. This will make them the only ring of ten in Buckinghamshire. Mr. E. H. Preston informs us that the company hope to ring Caters for Easter.

Warmly complimented are those responsible for the ringing room at St. Mary's, Shoreham. 'It was a picture of brightness and extra welcome,' writes 'Visitor.' 'The crowning touch in the centre was the bowl of pink tulips, reflected in the round table's polished surface, and the impression created added greatly to my enjoyment of the meeting as a whole.'

We are indebted to Mr. Harold W. Rogers for the block and picture of the annual meeting of the London County Association which is featured on the next page.

All tickets have been sold for the Henry Johnson Dinner at Birmingham on March 5th.

Corston, Bath, ringers were entertained to supper at the Rectory on February 9th by the Rev. J. W. and Mrs. Tunwell in appreciation of their services Sunday by Sunday.

After a period of about ten years the first course of London Surprise Major has been rung by a residential company at St. Andrew's Church, Derby.

Owing to pressure on our space the report of the dinner to commemorate the 70th anniversary of the Cambridge University Guild is held over until next week.

The Rev. W. H. R. Trewhalla rang his first peal on his own bells on February 12th. It was a tribute to Lt.-Comdr. R. G. Cross.

Forty years after, Messrs. F. W. Stokes and J. Cragg returned to Caythorpe, Lincs, and rang a peal of Grandsire Triples on February 12th to mark the 46th anniversary of the first peal on the bells by a local band in which they participated.

Many of our readers probably listened to 'This is the West of England,' the radio feature on Sunday night, and heard Mr. 'Brandy' Fisher talk about ringing and Congresbury bells. About a dozen changes of Grandsire Triples followed.

How often is a peal conducted by a county councillor? Mr. Arthur E. Sharman, for many years hon. secretary of the Bedfordshire Association between the two wars, and now a member of the Bedfordshire County Council, had this distinction at Leighton Buzzard on February 12th, 1949.

THE LONDON COUNTY ASSOCIATION'S 'ANNUAL'

An 'All Ladies' Team Wins Handbell Cup

PRESENTATION TO MR. E. ALEX YOUNG.

Over 130 members and friends were present at the annual meeting of the London County Association on February 5th at the Cathedral and St. George-the-Martyr, Southwark, ringing taking place at both churches in the afternoon and again at the Cathedral in the evening.

Three teams entered for the handbell competition, the best being a plain course of any method on eight bells, the main consideration being correct and good striking. One team was from St. Luke's, Chelsea, and the other was from All Saints', Isleworth. Messrs. G. H. Cross, T. W. Taffender and C. W. Ottley were elected umpires, and the winning team, who rang Grandsire Triples, consisted of Miss R. J. Pett, Mrs. K. Parr, Mrs. O. L. Rogers and Miss E. Farrell.

The service, conducted by the Association's hon. chaplain (the Very Rev. H. E. Ashdown, Provost of Southwark), was held in the afternoon. The choir, under the direction of Sir Elgar Cook, sang the anthem, 'Blest are the Pure in Heart.' A most fitting conclusion to the service was in the form of a few personal words from the hon. chaplain.

At the commencement of the business meeting the hon. chaplain spoke to the Association for the first time since his election in 1948 and wished it well. He felt sure it would continue with the good work now in progress.

The Provost then presented an illuminated address to Mr. E. A. Young. Signatures of 18 of the officers of the Association were surmounted by the words, 'The London County Association and North Southwark Diocesan Guild hereby express its gratitude and appreciation for the services of E. Alexander Young, Esq., A.R.I.B.A., during his 56 years in office.'

The Provost informed the meeting that, although he had only had the pleasure of meeting Mr. Young on two occasions, he had begun to realise, quite apart from normal routine work, some of the highly specialised services performed by him, only one instance being the design and gift of the Masters' badge.

Mr. Young, who is now 84, expressed his gratitude for the kind and appreciative thoughts conveyed by the testimonial.

Presenting his report, the Master (Mr. T. H. Taffender) said that the average attendance at the general meetings had been 40, excluding non-members. These meetings had been held at Southwark Cathedral, Isleworth, Chelsea, Battersea, Putney and Fulham, with the addition of a special meeting at Westminster and Lambeth for the benefit of Central Council delegates on Whit Monday. Practices had also been held on the first Monday in each month at Lambeth with an average attendance of 16. Resuscitation of the activities of the Northern and Southern Districts had taken place with meetings at Poplar, Hackney, Holloway, Battersea, Chelsea, Clapham R.C., Clapham Park, Chiswick and Westminster.

Seventeen peals had been rung in methods up to Superlative Surprise Major, Cambridge Surprise Royal and Treble Bob Maximus, the last-named being the first peal of Maximus at Southwark Cathedral since the rehanging of the bells. Thirty members had been elected whilst five had passed on. A 36-page report book had been produced, and copies were available.

One of the greatest works of the Association had been the rotational visiting of towers which have no full band of ringers. This had taken place on 49 Sundays during the year. Quarter-peals, frequently in Surprise methods, were successfully negotiated on most occasions. The hon. treasurer, Mr. C. J. Strickland, stated that a slight profit had been shown on the year's working, but for the coming year printing expenses would be very heavy.

Two new officers were elected: Miss Audrey Castle as one of the assistant secretaries, and Mr. E. Beachamp as junior steward. New members were elected as follows: Miss S. Coker and Miss D. Coker (High Wycombe), Messrs. C. Norris (Chatham), T. Blow (Sanderstead), H. Evans (Chiswick) and B. McArthur (Sheppey).

Illuminated peal books dating from 1827 were available for inspection.

A SUFFOLK DIAMOND WEDDING

Suffolk ringers forgathered at The Fountain, Tuddenham, on February 2nd, in honour of the diamond wedding of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Parker. Now 84 years of age, Mr. Parker has been a keen ringer since the age of 16. A reception was followed by tea and a musical evening with handbell ringing, Mr. C. W. Pipe being M.C.

Mr. Parker is a native of Grundisburgh. For 34 years he was host at the Fountain Inn, Tuddenham, and at the same time carried on a builder's business. He retired nearly 10 years ago.

The day coincided with the 89th birthday of Mr. William Dye, one of Mr. Parker's oldest friends, and it was deeply regretted that illness presented him from attending.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

NEW CAMBRIDGE ROYAL AT WELLS

Dear Sir,—I was most interested to see the report of the peal of New Cambridge Royal at Wells on January 22nd. It is obvious from the names of the participants that the peal was one of high quality, and Mr. Pink's single-handed ringing of the tenor is a notable achievement.

The circumstances in which Mr. Worth and I rang the bell double-handed last summer perhaps tended to make it difficult to estimate accurately the magnitude of the single-handed task, but we both thought that it would be truly formidable, at any rate in a Surprise Royal method.

There is little doubt that Wells tenor will now be rung single-handed in other Surprise Royal peals. The first time, however, is always the hardest, and Mr. Pink's performance should be ranked among the outstanding heavy-bell feats in the annals of peal ringing. I congratulate him most heartily and sincerely.—Yours faithfully,

Hale, Cheshire. J. C. E. SIMPSON.

HEADCORN PEALS

Dear Sir,—In reply to Mr. Sone's enquiry regarding peals at Headcorn, Kent, may I take it that the name should read 'James Barham,' not 'Bartram,' as printed.

Friday, December 26th, 1766, was rung at Headcorn, 5,184 changes of Oxford Tripple Bob in 3 hours, 26 minutes, by Wm. Tilley, Richd. Masters, Stephen Bayley, Edwd. Mason, Jno. Sweetlove, Edwd. Cook, James Barham, Thomas Lacy. Very fine striking and first trial by the above.

No other peal rung at Headcorn appears in the book.—Yours truly, G. W. MOSS.

Manningtree, Essex.

THREE COPIES OF FIRST EDITION SURVIVED

Dear Sir,—The book described by Mr. Charles F. Good in your issue of February 11th may be one of the editions of 'The Tintinnalogia.' If Mr. Good will write me giving details of the page numbers on which the various methods are described I will gladly identify it for him. Three copies of the first edition of 'The Tintinnalogia' and only one of the second edition are known to have survived.—Yours faithfully,

Bicester, Oxon. FREDERICK SHARPE.

'TINTINNALOGIA'

Dear Sir,—In Mr. Good's letter re Fabian Stedman's book, according to his description it is undoubtedly 'The Tintinnalogia' which came out before F. S. wrote his book on the method he invented, which he printed in 1677 and dedicated to the College Youths.

When the late W. H. Fussell passed over in 1944 I saved his library of ringing books from being destroyed. We have them arranged in our belfry as a library, and there is nearly every old text book on ringing and most of the books on county bells. But among the text books I found the F. Stedman book on his method. I consulted Mr. Ernest Morris, of Leicester, and he recommended me to hand it to the College Youths, which I did in 1945 for safe keeping, as it was too valuable to be in a belfry. The College Youths will be most grateful to receive any old books on ringing, as their library was destroyed in the blitz during the war.

EDWARD H. PRESTON.

Slough, Bucks.

LOWESTOFT, SUFFOLK.—On Jan. 10th 720 Bob Minor: J. H. Kindred 1, Miss D. Cook (first 720) 2, E. Newson 3, A. E. Coleman 4, R. W. R. Coates (cond.) 5, P. Kindred 6.

TOURS IN KENT

Dear Sir,—During the past three or four years I have organised a peal tour of East Kent during the month of August. This year I propose to break away from tradition and run the tour in another part of the country. I wonder, therefore, it you would kindly allow me the hospitality of your columns to make known the fact that I can offer excellent accommodation to anybody who would care to organise a ringing tour in Kent during August.

My headquarters have always been in Folkestone, and the charge was 6s. per person per night, bed and breakfast, in a very excellent private boarding house. The private coach, a 32-seater, calls at the house every morning and is supplied by the East Kent Road Car Company at a cost of about £60 for about 400 miles. There are some very fine rings of bells in East Kent, and anybody who would care to undertake to organise such a tour would be well rewarded for his efforts, and any such person is invited to write to me for full details of accommodation, private coach and towers. I shall be glad to help in every way.—Yours sincerely,

FRANK C. W. KNIGHT.

THE LADIES' GUILD

SOUTHERN DISTRICT.

Forty-three members and friends of the Southern District attended the annual meeting of the district at Guildford. Ringing was enjoyed at S. Nicolas', and following an excellent tea at the Y.W.C.A. the ladies held their meeting. The secretary (Miss W. A. Oliver) reported upon a very successful year with a number of new and hon. members.

CENTRAL DISTRICT.

In spite of the unfavourable weather, a highly successful meeting of the Central District was held at Dartford, Kent, members and friends being present from a wide area.

At the business meeting held after the service and a splendid tea in Sutton's Hall, five new members were elected. It was proposed that the next meeting should be the annual meeting of the district to be held at St. Giles-in-the-Fields and Clerkenwell.

The suggestion of having an outing in September received good support, so it was decided to proceed in making arrangements. The meeting closed with a very warm vote of thanks to Mrs. Jenkins for making all the arrangements, and to whose efforts the success of the meeting was largely due.

CAMBRIDGE DISTRICT.

The annual meeting of the Cambridge District was held in Cambridge on January 22nd. Members and friends were present from Cambridge, Ely, Fulbourn, Harston, Hockwold, Melbourn, Meldreth, Newmarket, Over, Little Shelford, Sawston, Sudbury and Trumpington.

The ringers' service was held at Great St. Andrew's and was conducted by the president of the branch, the Rev. P. D. Chamier (Vicar). After the service the ringers were entertained to tea in St. Andrew's Parish Room by the president and Mrs. Chamier.

At the business meeting the officers for the ensuing year were elected as follows: President, the Rev. P. O. D. Chamier; Ringing Master, Mr. E. G. Hibbins; Deputy Master, Mr. C. Hurst; secretary, Mr. N. L. Martin; deputy secretary, Mr. C. W. Cook; committee, Messrs. C. W. Cook, T. R. Dennis, E. G. Hibbins, F. Hurry, A. Hurst and C. Hurst. Mr. C. W. Guildford Diocesan Guild

FARNHAM DISTRICT.

That all 11 belfries were ringing regularly for Sunday services was reported by Mr. C. Denyer at the annual meeting of the Farnham District on January 29th, which was attended by a company of 70. He mentioned the rapid strides towards proficiency at Hawley under the leadership of the Rev. K. C. Davis, and the growth of the Ash Bell Fund.

Mr. G. S. Joyce, secretary and treasurer, reported that the total district membership was 129, of whom 105 were ringing members. Average attendance at the district meetings had been 46, including the Three Guilds' Festival at Yorktown, attended by 109 bell-ringers from 40 towers. Mr. Joyce spoke of the seriousness of the financial position, and it was eventually agreed to ask the Guild to amend the subscription ruling so that the district could impose an annual levy of 6d. on each member in addition to the two shilling subscription fee.

The following officers were elected: Ringing Master, Mr. C. W. Denyer; secretary and treasurer, Mr. G. S. Joyce; auditor, Mr. P. Eldridge; executive committee representatives, Mr. P. Eldridge, Mr. W. Viggers and Major E. J. Bragg.

Mr. W. Viggers congratulated Major E. J. Bragg on being awarded the M.B.E. The chairman (Mr. Stedman) was also congratulated on having attained his 80th birthday.

The meeting stood in silence to the memory of Mr. George Williams, Master of the Winchester Guild.

The bells at Farnham Parish Church were rung for two hours prior to the meeting, and a special service was conducted in the church by the Rector of Farnham (the Rev. G. N. Selby-Lowndes), assisted by the Rev. K. C. Davis (Vicar of Hawley). In the evening there was ringing at Aldershot Parish Church.

CHESTER DIOCESAN GUILD

CHESTER BRANCH.

The annual meeting of the branch was held at the Cathedral, Chester, on January 29th, with the Dean, Bishop Norman Tubbs, occupying the chair. The attendance consisted of 55 members and visitors, who included Mr. George Newton.

Ringing in various methods was carried out before the service in the Cathedral, after which the ringers were entertained to tea by the Dean and Chapter. At the business meeting the officers of the branch were re-elected and the quarterly meetings for 1949 were provisionally arranged to be held at Christleton, Handley and Pulford.

Afterwards the ringers adjourned to the tower, and ringing continued until 8 p.m. In addition, the bells of Old St. Mary's were made available, through the kind offices of the Rector (Rev. J. Kingdom).

RINGERS' SUNDAY AT SEVENOAKS

On January 30th, the ringers of Sevenoaks held their first Ringers' Sunday. This had been advertised in the local papers and there were large congregations at both morning and evening services. The choir and clergy were rung in to, and out from, the services with courses of Grandsire Triples on the handbells.

During the course of his sermon the Rector referred to two of the local ringers, Mr. H. J. Ford, who had completed 50 years as a ringer at Sevenoaks when he retired in 1947, and Mr. P. Turley, who had completed 37 years with the band and was still an active member.

The evening service was of particular interest to ringers, as Mr. E. H. Lewis, the president of the Central Council, read the lessons and gave the address. The churchwardens were so impressed by this service that they have asked if Ringers' Sunday can become an annual event.

OBITUARY

MR. E. D. BINNING.

His friends will learn with regret of the death of Mr. E. D. Binning, of Cheddar, Somerset, on February 13th, at the early age of 32. He was previously captain of the local band and a member of the Bath and Wells Diocesan Association. The funeral on Feb. 17th was at St. Andrew's Church, and six members of the local band acted as bearers.

A quarter-peal was rung after the interment by the following: C. Richardson 1, W. Sargent 2, E. C. Wickham 3, E. Fisher 4, R. E. Hudson (cond.) 5, H. Fountain 6, A. Hill 7, J. Small 8. E. C. W.

MR. ISAAC GARSIDE.

The ringers of Moorside Church, Oldham, Lancs, have suffered another heavy blow by the death of Mr. Isaac Garside, which took place on February 7th in hospital after a short illness. He was a regular service ringer at this tower for about 18 years and a member of the Lancs and Yorkshire Associations.

Mr. Garside had rung about 40 peals, 32 being with the writer, among them his first in 1933, and his last only a few weeks ago. His most notable performance was in 1947, when he rang Oldham Parish tenor to a peal of Double Norwich. A few weeks later he repeated the performance, no mean feat, as anyone who knows will agree. He also excelled in the field of sport, and, although he enjoyed all the ball games, readily admitted that bellringing fascinated him most of all.

He was laid to rest near the bells he loved to ring, amid a large gathering. Six of his fellow-ringers acted as pall-bearers, and when the cortege approached the church the muffled bells were rung full pull and stand. A course of Grandsire Triples was rung over the open grave by I. Kay 1-2, H. Barlow 3-4, V. Sykes 5-6, F. Dunkerley 7-8.

The tower bells were rung after the funeral in various methods until 5 p.m. Among the many floral tributes were those from the Moorside and Oldham parish ringers. 'Ike,' as he was known to his many friends, was in his 35th year and a bachelor. I. R.

MR. FRANK CHAPMAN.

The funeral took place at Hawkhurst on February 7th of Mr. Frank Chapman, who was a member of St. Lawrence's band for 54 years. He was captain for many years and retired when the ban on ringing was introduced.

A fine tenor ringer, few could cover Triples better than he. Of his peals, the one he cherished most was Bob Major for the Coronation of the present King, which was the first by a local band.

The service was conducted by the Rev. E. Chapman, a nephew, and Mr. L. W. Jarvis represented the St. Lawrence band. The bells were rung half muffled on the Sunday preceding the funeral, but at the express wish of Frank the bells were rung open on the evening of his funeral to 1,260 Grandsire Triples by M. S. Cloke 1, Miss H. Gorringe 2, Miss E. F. Wood (first in method 'inside') 3, F. J. Lambert 4, L. W. Jarvis (cond.) 5, A. H. Kemp 6, W. Gorringe 7, L. T. Pope 8.

W. G.

MR. T. HITCHENSON.

The funeral took place on February 8th, at Davenham, Cheshire, of Mr. Thomas Hitchenson, aged 83, who had been a ringer at this tower for many years, but retired when the ban was imposed. In his memory a quarter-peal of Bob Minor was rung the same day by J. Booth (first quarter) 1, Miss Nancy Evans 2, A. G. Lawrence 3, A. Booth 4, H. Parker 5, H. W. Howard (cond.) 6.

Winchester and Portsmouth

BASINGSTOKE DISTRICT.

The annual meeting was held at Basingstoke on January 29th, and was attended by over 100 ringers and friends. The service was conducted by the branch chairman, the Archdeacon of Basingstoke, and an address given by the Rev. G. M. Vallence, Rector of Sherborne St. John.

After tea in the Church Cottage, the business meeting was held. Membership of the district was given as 137, with six hon. members. The death of the Master of the Guild, Mr. George Williams, the day before the meeting, was a great blow to all members present, as he always attended the meeting and was a friend to all; he will be greatly missed. Mr. S. J. Riddell, of Yateley, another very old member of the Guild and a ringer at Yateley for 40 years, also has died. He too had set a fine example in teaching others to ring, ringing for services and practices, besides being of a friendly nature.

The chairman, in closing the meeting, said he was surprised to see visitors from as far apart as London and Northampton, and he felt that ringing was a great brotherhood, and was pleased to be associated with such an ancient art.

The bells of St. Michael's and All Saints' were kept going until 9 o'clock in a variety of methods.

NORWICH DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION

SOUTH NORFOLK BRANCH.

A record attendance of 66 attended the 15th annual meeting at Diss at February 5th. A special service was conducted by Canon J. A. Appleton (Rector). Owing to the large number present, the tea and meeting were held in the Magistrates' Room.

Mr. W. L. Duffield presided, supported by Canon Appleton, vice-president, Canon T. A. Nock, Rev. J. T. Poole, Rev. F. E. Vokes, Mr. N. Golden, Ringing Master, Mr. A. G. Harrison, Branch Secretary, and Messrs. E. G. Bennett, C. E. G. Banham, E. Whiting, W. G. Saunders, F. C. Roper, and E. Phillipo. The officers were re-elected with the addition of Mr. E. Whiting as Ringing Master for the South Norfolk Branch.

Mr. Harrison, on behalf of the branch, congratulated Mr. F. W. Middleton, B.E.M. (who was present), on the great honour bestowed upon him in the New Year's Honours List.

Mr. Golden thanked the Rector and all who helped, also the Suffolk ringers present and members of the Royal Air Force.

DONCASTER AND DISTRICT SOCIETY

Congratulations were extended to Bentley at the annual meeting of the society on January 29th, when they were awarded the Walker cup for Sunday attendance. The placings were: Bentley 312 (out of 312), Doncaster 308, Thorne 295.

Canon L. L. Davis (president), in announcing the result, said two years ago there were no ringers at Bentley, and all the present band had been taught to ring since then.

The cup was presented by its donor, Mr. Harold Walker, of York, to Mr. R. Sanderson, of Bentley. Reference was made to the sterling work of Mr. E. Cooper, of Arksey, who had taught all the ringers at Bentley almost single-handed, and without whom the five bells at Bentley would have been silent.

The officers were re-elected as follows: Secretary, Mr. W. E. Critchley; peal secretary, Mr. F. Newsome; auditors, Messrs. E. Cooper and H. Wagstaffe; committee, Messrs. E. Darlingwater, E. Padgett and B. Burkitt. Ten new members were elected, six coming from Sprotborough.

The service at St. George's Church, Doncaster, was conducted by the president, and the tea organised by the wives of Doncaster ringers was enjoyed by a company of 50.

LLANDAFF AND MONMOUTH ASSN.

About 25 members attended on February 5th a successful meeting at the historic village of Llantwit Major, which is reputed to be the seat of one of the earliest Christian communities in the country, there having been a church there in the fifth century. The Rev. Clifford Thomas conducted the service. The bells were made good use of during the afternoon. After tea, provided by the ladies of the parish, the business proceeded.

Mr. J. W. Jones reported on the recent recasting and augmentation of Blaenavon bells, and it was learned with satisfaction that the four bells at Porthkerry are to be increased to six and that there is an enthusiastic band there who, under Mr. L. J. Malings, are ringing 24 variations of Plain, Reverse and Double Bob Minimus.

LANE END, BUCKS.—On Feb. 6th, 1,260 Plain Bob Minor: H. Duffell 1, S. Smith (first quarter) 2, W. Avery 3, W. Woodward 4, R. Wright 5, K. Seymour (cond.) 6.

SPLICED SURPRISE MAJOR

By A. J. PITMAN.

IN view of the increasing interest taken in this form of ringing, I will try to assist ringers who would like some guidance in the way true touches may be made up. It would take up too much space to deal fully with the matter, so I will indicate just a few examples. Courses of Spliced Cambridge and Superlative may be rung as follows:—

A Arrangement.		B Arrangement.
Cambridge	5738264	Superlative	5738264
Cambridge	8674523	Superlative	8674523
C. or S.	4263857	C. or S.	4263857
Superlative	3527486	Cambridge	3527486
Superlative	7856342	Cambridge	7856342
Superlative	6482735	Cambridge	6482735

By the addition of Bobs M and H to courses arranged as A or B, up to eleven courses may be produced, 5th fixed. By the addition of Bobs W and H to courses arranged as A or B, up to eleven courses may be produced, 6th fixed. Each arrangement to be rung separately to ensure truth. That is, either 5 or 6 have to be treated as a fixed bell in each touch and only A or B rung.

Cambridge	5738264
Superlative	8674523
C. or S.	4263857
Superlative	3527486
Cambridge	7856342
Superlative	6482735

This arrangement will run to 30 true courses, as the false course-ends are as follows: 24365, 32465, 43265. I have a number of compositions on this plan.

The first composition of Spliced Cambridge and Superlative Surprise Major was produced by the late Mr. J. W. Parker. An account of the first peals of Spliced Surprise Major will be found in 'History and Art of Change Ringing,' by E. Morris.

The first composition of Spliced London, Bristol, Cambridge and Superlative was produced by the Rev. H. L. James on the three-lead course plan.

I will try to show how one may produce touches to avoid falseness. Courses as follows:—

London	2345678	London	2345678
C. or S.	4263857	Bristol	—6423857
London	3527486	Bristol	—2643857
		C. or S.	—4263857
		Bristol	—2357486
		Bristol	—5237486
		London	—3527486
			2345678

or

It must be pointed out that there is falseness between the London and Bristol leads M and W. When a long length is required, this falseness can be overcome by the five courses in one or more groups being rung as all London or all Bristol.

Bristol leads.	False London.	Bristol leads.	False London.
2356847 =	3627584	2357486 =	2356478
3624857 =	6437285	3627584 =	3624578
6435827 =	4567382	6437285 =	6435278
4562837 =	5247683	4567382 =	4562378

(a) London	2345678
C. or S	4263857
Bristol	—2357486
London	—5237486
London	3542678
Bristol	—6435827
C. or S.	—3645827
London	5267384
	—3652478

Repeat four times for 1,280.

(b) London	2345678
C. or S	4263857
Bristol	—2357486
Bristol	5243678
Bristol	4562837
C. or S.	—6452837
London	2347685
	—6423578

Repeat four times for 1,120.

(a) and (b) may be rung in one touch for various lengths.

Further arrangements have also been used in Spliced peals in the four methods. Here is one which I used first in a 5,248, as published in 'The Ringing World,' September 11th, 1942:—

Example (1).

London	2345678
Bristol	—6423857
Bristol	—2643857
C. or S.	—4263857
Cambridge	3527486
Superlative	7856342
Cambridge	6482735

Example (2).

London	2345678
Bristol	—6423857
Bristol	2684735
Bristol	8276543
Superlative	—7826543
	3542678

Repeat twice.

(1) Add bobs at W and H, will give up to eleven courses with 6th fixed.

(2) Add bobs at H with 6th fixed, both examples may be used in same touch.

Example (3).

Superlative	5738264
Cambridge	8674523
C. or S.	4263857
Bristol	—2357486
Bristol	—5237486
London	—3527486

Example (4).

Superlative	5738264
Bristol	—7864523
Bristol	6758342
Bristol	5637284
London	—3567284
	6325478

Repeat twice.

(3) Add bobs at M and H, will give up to eleven courses with 5th fixed.

(4) Add bobs at H with 5th fixed, both 3 and 4 may be used in same touch.

Interesting compositions on the different plans have also been produced and rung by Mr. E. C. S. Turner, Mr. H. G. Cashmore and others, as readers of 'The Ringing World" will remember. On the three-lead course plan, peals have been rung which include up to 22 methods.

'The Ringing World' was founded in the year 1911 by John Sparkes Goldsmith, who remained its proprietor and editor until his death in 1942.

LATE NEWS.

Leeds and District Society have postponed their Jubilee Dinner to the end of April.

BELFRY GOSSIP

By taking part together in the peal of Cambridge Surprise Maximus at Leicester Cathedral on February 17th, Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Poole have rung 100 Surprise peals together. Has this been done before by husband and wife? A week before the peal, when it was realised it would be the century together, the youngsters, not wishing to be outdone, started counting up, and it was found by sheer coincidence that this peal would be the 50th Surprise together by Jill Poole and Peter J. Staniforth.

Grundisburgh bells and frame arrived from the foundry this week and the dedication will take place on March 26th at 3 p.m.

By the peal of Kent Treble Bob Minor at Redbourne, Herts, Mr. Charles F. Sayer has rung Kent from Minor to Maximus and Mr. Joe Hobbs has 'circled' the tower.

'Leighton Buzzard Observer,' in an editorial, writes: 'A reader who lives at Linslade declares that church bells and baby's wails don't harmonise.' We fully agree.

The bells of Wilby, Northants, were rehung last May. Newcomers to our art scored their first quarter on February 17th, 1,260 Grandsire Doubles. The ringers were Miss D. Wykes 1, T. Fowler (80) 2, Miss M. Sedgwick 3, J. R. Partridge 4, C. W. Partridge (cond.) 5, W. Drage 6. First quarter by 1, 3 and 4. We await progress! Mr. Fowler has been a regular service ringer at Wilby since 1893.

Hawley, Hants bells (8) have been completely restored, and the Rev. Ken. C. Davis, Vicar, invites his ringing friends to the dedication service on March 19th at 3 p.m. Plenty of ringing and a tea are promised. Hawley Church is five minutes' walk from Blackwater Station. The last £50 of the £450 needed has to be raised, and donations, however small, will be gratefully acknowledged by Mr. Davis.

After completing a peal of Wembley Surprise at Shipton - under - Wychwood, Oxfordshire, the ringers went to the local hostelry for a meal. Mine host provided a first-class meal and demonstrated his appreciation of the ringing by halving the price. There is a moral here: good striking will provide you with good friends.

Another Birmingham ringer has gone to Cornwall, Mr. H. C. Spencer. These visitors should strengthen Cornish ringing.

Mr. James George must look to his laurels. Mr. R. H. McDonald, of Sydney, New South Wales, has rung his first 360 'in hand' at the age of 91. There is no telling what he might accomplish before he reaches 95.

Present deficit on the Richardson Memorial Fund is £40. Contributions from friends would be gratefully acknowledged. A peal board commemorating Mr. Rupert Richardson's last peal was dedicated at Spalding on Saturday.

The Durham and Newcastle Diocesan Association's 71st annual report has been published. A comprehensive guide book to ringing in the area, the report contains a number of compositions. The Association had a membership of 475 at the date of publication (276 ordinary, 176 life members).

There was a determination to get the peal in honour of the golden wedding of Mr. and Mrs. George Yeo, of Long Ashton, Somerset. Towards the end of the third part the tuck came out of the 7th rope and began flapping in the face of the ringer (Leonard Derrick). He removed the remaining tuck and completed the peal with a single rope and a coil in his hand. This was no mean achievement with a bell weighing a ton.

REPORTING PEALS—AND A REMEDY

Dear Sir,—I view with some concern the suggestion from Messrs. C. W. Woolley and N. Chaddock that the present style of peal reporting should be changed. If Mr. Woolley's idea was put into practice, a peal would look no more important than a quarter-peal. If a peal is worth ringing, it is worth publishing with the time-honoured traditions of over 70 years. I do not think that there is very much of interest 'left out' because of the number of peals to be reported. There still seems plenty of space available for mathematical articles which can have no practical value to anyone.

However, before any drastic decision is ever taken, I think it would be fairer to take a vote (by postcard sent to the Editor) as to what our peal ringers think about the matter. It would also be fair if those who have not rung any peals, or do not wish to ring any peals, refrained from voting.

There is, of course, one other way to save space, and that is for prolific peal ringers to cut down on the number of peals they ring. If we all kept to about 25 a year each and made the attempts in a wider range of towers, it would serve two purposes. Firstly, it would enable the peals rung to be published without overcrowding, and, secondly, it would prevent complaints from people who live near towers where peal attempts are plentiful.

A. PATRICK CANNON.

Betchworth.

'SPARE US THE NEW LOOK'

Dear Sir,—It has been suggested by some correspondents that in order to enable you to keep abreast of the peal reports in 'The Ringing World,' the present style of reporting peals should be altered and size of type reduced, etc. Mr. Woolley says the size of type has changed but little in the last century and that it is out of date and just will not do. Well, why won't it do? I, for one, am not old-fashioned, but has peal ringing drastically changed since the last century? Thank goodness a peal has still to be rung in the same 'old-fashioned' way by human effort; we haven't allowed that to be completely mechanised.

Bells may be hung in iron frames and on ball bearings instead of wooden frames and plain bearings, but a peal has to be rung in precisely the same way, and whoever rings his first peal, or indeed any peal, does it in the same fashion as the ringer of the last century. Why deny him or her the pleasure of seeing that peal published in the style that we have been accustomed to, instead of the type he or she usually associates with quarter-peals.

Personally, I do not mind whether one of my peals is published on the next Friday or two or three weeks after, but I do like to see it in the traditional style. You, Mr. Editor, may congratulate yourself on the manner in which you have kept the peal records in hand. The average peal is only two or three weeks 'behind' in publication and the position is not getting worse, unless, of course, some special occasion results in a big increase in peals. As a gesture, why not all peal ringers voluntarily refrain from peal ringing for the last two or three weeks in the Lenten season? By Easter the Editor's headache would have gone (at least one of them).

I do not think the majority of ringers (not essentially peal ringers) favour a drastic change of style, much less the younger ringers. I remember the thrill I got at school when I saw my name on a certificate of merit for doing something more than the average scholar. I had exactly the same thrill when I saw my name for the first time in the peal columns of 'The Ringing World.'

Please think again before giving up these so-called traditions and spare us from the 'New Look'!

F. W. ROGERS.

Ringer Honoured

Mr. Edward J. Bragg, who has recently been awarded the M.B.E. (Military Division) in the Palestine awards, was born 44 years ago in Sharnbrook, Beds, and started ringing at the village church when he was 10 years of age.

In 1924, at 18, he joined the Grenadier Guards, and served in various parts of the country. He scored his first peal at Aldershot in 1925, and later rang peals in and around London and Windsor whilst his battalion was stationed there. Promoted to the rank of sergt.-major, he went to Egypt in 1936, and at the outbreak of war was in France, evacuating from Dunkirk with the Guards Brigade.

In 1941 he was commissioned to the Hampshire Regiment, and whilst serving as garrison adjutant at Lincoln enjoyed the hospitality of the ringing fraternity of that city. Later he went to Palestine and held the position of deputy assistant quartermaster general with H.Q. staff, and when the King David Hotel was blown up narrowly escaped injury.

Major Bragg retired from the Service in July last year, and has made his home at Aldershot. He married in 1935 Miss Grace Denyer, of Aldershot, and they have one son and two daughters.

With 28 peals to his credit, he is a member of several Associations, including the Bedfordshire, Oxford, Middlesex, Winchester, Lincoln, College Youths and Guildford, to which latter he has recently been elected to the executive committee.

REPORTING OF PEALS

Dear Sir, — We are continually being reminded of the shortage of space in 'The Ringing World,' but no effort seems to be made to remedy things. Mr. C. . Woolley suggests an alteration in the style and size of type used for the recording of peals and I quite agree.

At the last Central Council meeting several suggestions were put forward for the saving of space—one being that the peals should be set in 'lower case' — thus allowing three columns to the page as against two at present.

There are several other ways of space saving and advice can be given (if the printer really needs it).

The alphabetical arrangement of peals is hardly necessary and would no doubt add to the cost of production.

Foreign to London Surprise

Dear Sir,—The following figures are the first twelve rows of the Minor and Major of the method published recently by Mr. York-Bramble as a 'variant' of London Surprise Minor and Major:—

123456	12345678
213546	21354768
125364	12537486
215634	21573846
251643	25178364
526134	52713846
521643	52178364
256134	25713846
526314	52731486
562341	57234168
653214	75321486
652341	75234168
Lead end 124365	Lead end 15372846
Lead head 142635	Lead head 13527486 or 15738264

The first eleven rows are London Surprise pure and simple; the remaining 14 rows of Minor and 22 rows of Major are foreign to London Surprise Minor and Major. The following stricture applies to the so-called London Royal and Maximus: the first eleven rows in each are 'London,' the twelfth row in each breaks away from the method at that point and the remaining rows are foreign to London Surprise.—Yours faithfully,

Brighton. GEORGE BAKER.

THANK YOU, OLDHAM

Dear Sir,—On a still, lovely Saturday afternoon, January 29th, I walked from Ashton, through Lees and round the back of the Pike. For nearly the whole of my walk I could hear the sound of bells. I was entranced by the exquisite music which reached my ears, now loud, now soft. All my life I have listened to the ringing of bells, but never has the sound played so strongly on my emotions. Often I lingered on my way, fearful of missing some of the beauty that was being given to me. I see now that there was a peal of Grandsire Caters at Oldham Parish Church on that same Saturday afternoon; if the ringers in that peal never touch a bell again, they may rest content in the knowledge that they gave enough pleasure to one man to last a lifetime.—Yours sincerely, F. F. RIGBY.

BOURNEMOUTH RINGERS' RALLY

Bournemouth Ringers' Rally will take place at Christchurch on May 7th.

The Organising Committee met at Christchurch Vicarage and decided to run two coach tours if sufficient numbers desired them. Route one would be from Christchurch to Wimborne Minster, Ringwood and Milford, and the second from Bournemouth to Swanage, Kingston and Poole. Both tours to leave at 11.30 a.m. and return to Christchurch in time for some ringing on the Priory bells before dinner at 7 p.m.

Special tours of the Priory with guides are being arranged, and the bells of the Priory Church will be available from 2.30 p.m. St. Peter's, Bournemouth, bells will be available in the morning and St. John's, Surrey Road, in the afternoon. The dinner is to be held at the Wick Ferry Restaurant on the banks of the river near Christchurch Priory at 7 p.m.

The committee decided to keep the price of the dinner tickets as last year, i.e., 8s. 6d., and the tickets for the coach tours will be 7s. each. An early application for tickets should be made to the hon. secretary, Mr. Arthur V. Davis, 116, Alma Road, Bournemouth.

CAMBRIDGE UNIVERSITY GUILD

70th ANNIVERSARY OF FOUNDATION. COMMEMORATION DINNER.

Nearly fifty members and guests of the Cambridge University Guild attended a dinner held in the University Arms Hotel at Cambridge on February 5th, to commemorate the 70th anniversary of the foundation of the Guild.

Those present were the president (Rev. A. C. Blyth), Messrs. G. Dodds (Master), B. D. Threlfall (secretary), the Rev. C. F. D. Moule (treasurer), P. W. B. Semmens (Master, Oxford University Society), Miss M. J. Brierley and Mr. D. Gallop (secretaries, O.U.S.), Mr. D. N. Layton (Master, University of London Society), Mr. H. L. Martin (Master, Cambridge Youths) and Mr. E. G. Hibbins, the Revs. B. F. Sheppard, A. G. G. Thurlow and G. M. Styler, Major J. H. R. Freeborn, Dr. and Mrs. F. Moor, Drs. F. S. Poole and S. E. Darmon, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. J. Hooton, Messrs. T. R. Dennis and J. W. R. Quinney (hon. members of the Guild), E. M. Atkins, M. N. Bland, A. W. T. Cleaver, P. G. L. Cole, J. Davy, P. M. Freeman, M. R. D. Harford, R. I. Harker, B. M. Hawkes, P. H. Hilton, J. F. Moor, C. Moor, B. D. Price, J. B. Rowsell, P. T. Robbins, H. J. M. Turner, A. S. Watt, C. G. Woodhead and J. B. Wrenbury, Misses Alison L. Blyth, Gillian Anderson-Smith, Margaret E. Green, Anne B. Stockdale, Benedicta Whistler and K. Mary Williams.

After the loyal toast, Dr. F. S. Poole, the senior member present, proposed the toast of 'The Guild.' He recalled various phases of the Guild's history, and spoke of its early years, mentioning particularly the institution of the annual Guild Weeks, which had grown in popularity during the years and which had been so valuable a feature in the development of Guild ringing. They had not only provided an opportunity for resident and non-resident members to meet and ring together, but they had been effective in preserving the continuity of the Guild.

The president, in replying, said that the Guild had a continuous ringing history since its foundation, but stressed that the activity of the resident Guild necessarily occurred in peaks interspersed with periods of less activity. This was inevitable in a university ringing society, where members were seldom resident for more than two or three years. The president thought that the Guild had probably passed through a peak period in tower-bell ringing during the last three or four years, and he mentioned as evidence of this various peals which had been rung by resident junior members of the Guild and also the increased standard of service ringing.

He also emphasised that, although peal ringing is a test of competence in the individual ringer, it is not the only criterion by which the work of a society such as the Guild must be judged. If the Guild succeeded in producing promising ringers who, although perhaps not reaching peal standard during their comparatively short time in the resident Guild, would go down and be of use to their local bands, then it was performing a valuable service to the Exercise.

The Master, in proposing the toast of 'The Visitors,' mentioned especially the debt which the Guild owed to the Cambridge Youths and in particular to the steeplekeeper at Great St. Mary's, Mr. J. W. R. Quinney. The Guild was able to practise and teach beginners in Cambridge very largely as a result of their willing co-operation and assistance. The Master of the Oxford University Society replied to the toast and congratulated the Guild on admitting women as full members.

The toast to 'The Ladies' was fittingly proposed by Major J. H. R. Freeborn, in a speech which caused much hilarity. He said that the increasing participation by ladies in what had previously been regarded as exclusively men's activities was an inevitable process. It had become clear, when the University had recently admitted women to full membership, that the Guild would ultimately have to do the same. Major Freeborn said that he had that afternoon watched the women members of the Guild ringing in the tower, and he had been greatly impressed by their capabilities and potential assets to the Guild. He mentioned that the institution of a permanent president was one of the principal reasons why the Guild had flourished for seventy years, and he paid a well-deserved tribute to the work of the present president.

Miss Gillian Anderson-Smith, who has the distinction of being the first woman to ring a peal for the Guild, very appropriately replied to this toast.

During the afternoon there was ringing at Great St. Mary's, St. Andrew's, St. Bene't's and the R.C. Church of Our Lady; Stedman Cinques and Cambridge Royal were the main events at Great St. Mary's. One tower-bell peal—Bob Major at Sawston—was rung during the week-end, and also a quarter-peal of Bob Royal at Saffron Walden. There were two handbell peals on Sunday—Double Norwich and Bob Royal.

This was the first reunion dinner in Cambridge for many years. The large attendance and the many appreciative comments expressed by members afterwards suggest that perhaps such a dinner is sufficiently popular to warrant its being held annually.

GUILDFORD DIOCESAN GUILD

GUILDFORD DISTRICT.

A report that ringing was slowly regaining ground in the district was reported by Mr. C. Ernest Smith (Ringing Master) at the annual meeting of the Guildford district on February 19th. During the year Worplesdon bells had been augmented from six to eight, a new ring had been provided at Send, and Wonersh bells restored and rehung.

The Rev. Ken Davis, who presided, extended an open invitation to all ringers to attend the rededication of Hawley bells on March 19th at 3 p.m.

Regret was expressed at the absence of the district secretary (Mr. A. C. Hazelden) and wishes for his recovery were expressed. An apology was also received from Mr. J. Corbett (Guild treasurer), who was afraid he would have to go into hospital for treatment. Wishes for a speedy recovery were expressed.

Officers elected were: Mr. C. E. Smith, Ringing Master; Mr. A. C. Hazelden, hon. secretary; Mr. F. A. Munday, assistant secretary; Mr. Leslie Hunter, auditor; Mr. L. Warner, committee. New members elected were: Ringing, Messrs. G. Smith (Worplesdon), P. Welch (Pirbright), P. Mansell and P. Saunders (Shere); compounding members, Miss F. Wymann, Miss Margaret Fidell, Messrs. Wm. Rogers, D. Beveridge, R. E. Pace and E. V. Blake.

Meetings were suggested for Worplesdon, West Clandon, Albury, Bramley and Ewhurst during the year. The Guild secretary (Mr. G. L. Grover) announced a proposal that would come before the executive to equalise the districts by the following transfer of towers from the Guildford district: to Chertsey, Old Woking, Send and Ockham; to Farnham, Pirbright, Worplesdon and Grayshott; to Leatherhead, Shere, West Clandon and Merrow.

Birmingham Cathedral's New Treble Bells

A FINE RING OF TWELVE.

The new treble bells to complete the ring of twelve were dedicated by the Lord Bishop of Birmingham on February 12th.

The ten bells were installed in 1937 to commemorate the Coronation of King George VI., and the present scheme was made possible by the generosity of Mr. Frank B. Yates, a highly respected member of St. Martin's Guild.

For the sake of audibility, and to allow the ropes to fall into a good circle, it was decided to hang the seventh, eighth and ninth (of the twelve) in a separate frame, above the existing one, and to move the smaller bells round so that the new trebles occupy the pits previously filled by the trebles of the ten. This involved considerable work — new headstocks and fittings were required for the bells moved into larger pits. The work was carried out in an exemplary manner by Messrs. Gillett and Johnston, the founders of the existing ten bells.

In an address, the Bishop regretted that Mr. Yates was unable, through illness, to be present. He was not going to praise the generous gift, as the donor would be sufficiently rewarded by the knowledge that his gift had been gladly received. As the centuries pass, said the Bishop, may the church and tower stand safe. May the bells, the ring of twelve, ring often on occasions of peace, but never for war. If war should come may they be silent like men stricken with plague.

Immediately after the service a touch of Stedman Cinques was rung by A. Walker 1, H. H. Fearn 2, T. H. Reeves 3, E. C. Shepherd 4, W. C. Dowding 5, G. W. Critchley 6, A. D. Cook 7, J. Pinfold 8, S. O'C. Holloway 9, F. E. Haynes 10, A. Paddon Smith 11, G. E Fearn 12.

The critical listeners outside heard the full beauty of the bells and passed appreciative comments upon them. The new bells blend very nicely with the former ten, and are a credit to the Croydon founders, who were represented by Messrs. M. Howard, F. C. W. Stevenson, B. Newson and others.

PEAL BOARDS AT TRING

A good muster of members of the Hertford County Association and of neighbouring societies attended a service at Tring on Feb. 19th, at which the Bishop of Bedford dedicated two peal boards and gave an address. The lesson was read by Mr. E. H. Lewis, and some younger members of the Association formed a choir.

For the ceremony itself the Bishop proceeded to the chancel screen where the boards had been placed. The request for dedication was made by Mr. W. H. J. Hooton, and the Bishop, after blessing the boards, committed them to the charge of the Vicar.

The boards commemorate peals rung in honour of the royal wedding and of the consecration of the Bishop in St. Albans Abbey last year.

After the service tea was served in the Church House, and the Bishop was welcomed by the general secretary of the Association, Mr. Walter Ayre. In the course of a reply the Bishop expressed the sense of honour he felt at being asked to officiate at the dedication. His interest in bells and in ringers continued, and in this connection he told of the problems of the provision of churches for the new towns, expressing a hope that bells would be installed. He would, he said, use his influence to advise the building of towers in which bells could eventually be placed.

Mr. T. J. Reeve, the oldest active member of the Tring band, also expressed the pleasure all had felt in seeing the Bishop again in the pulpit he once occupied as Vicar, and Mr. Ayre finally thanked the Vicar for his practical interest in the Association and in the young band now being formed at Tring.

OBITUARY

MR. GEORGE C. COLLINS.

The death was recently announced of Mr. George C. Collins, a former member of the Milton-next-Gravesend band for some 15 years, at the age of 59. He took part in four peals of Minor there for the Kent County Association between 1912 and the early 1920's.

Mr. Collins was, however, much better known as a cricketer, and was the subject of a special article in the early years of 'The Ringing World.' He was probably the only ringer to have been a professional; indeed, apart from the famous Australian, M. A. Noble, the only one to have reached first-class standard. As a member of the Kent XI. between 1911 and 1928, he scored over 6,000 runs and took nearly 400 wickets for the county. His best performance was to take all ten Nottingham wickets in one innings in 1922. There was an anti-climax the next day when he began the bowling with four successive wides!

DENNIS LOOKER.

St. Mark's, Swindon, have lost a very promising ringer in Dennis Looker, aged 17 years, who died on February 16th after 11 weeks' illness. Requiem Mass was conducted by the Rev. R. Royle (Vicar) at St. Mark's on Saturday, February 19th. Muffled ringing preceded the service and afterwards quarter-peals of Grandsire Triples and Doubles were rung.

Dennis, who had rung one peal of Minor, will be greatly missed in the Swindon District for his keenness to learn, and he was justly proud of his faith in the Church.

MR. A. B. LOMAS.

Apropos the regretted passing on January 30th of Mr. A. B. Lomas, which was announced in 'The Ringing World' recently, Mr. E. W. Izard, from Victoria, B.C., writes:—

Before coming to Canada in 1912, Mr. Lomas lived at Gawsworth and rang at Macclesfield, Cheshire. On his arrival in Canada he became a ringer at the Holy Rosary Church, Vancouver, until 1938, when he came to Victoria and joined the Christ Church Cathedral Guild and rang regularly at Christ Church Cathedral from 1938 until his death—his death coming suddenly after a stroke.

Mr. Lomas was very much respected by all who knew him and especially his fellow ringers. He was a very able conductor and had been instrumental in the teaching of young ringers. Mr. Lomas' name is on the peal board in Macclesfield, also in the Holy Rosary Church, Vancouver, and the peal board recently erected in Christ Church Cathedral, Victoria.

SOCIETY OF ROVING RINGERS

A reunion meeting of the Society of Roving Ringers was held over the first week-end in February at Wrington, Somerset. Early arrivals joined Long Ashton ringers at their practice on Friday night, whilst the remainder of the company was collected from Bristol Station.

Ringing on the nable ring of eight at Congresbury occupied Saturday morning, when methods ranging from Plain Bob to Yorkshire Surprise Major were rung.

To the great disappointment of all, a peal attempt for Grandsire Caters on the magnificent ten at Wrington was lost after an hour and a half.

A dinner and a short business meeting were held in the evening, when the officers for the following year were elected and the plans for this year's tour discussed.

Service ringing at Wrington, Backwell and St. Mary Redcliffe, Bristol, occupied the next day. Four of the five towers visited during the week-end had tenors of over 30 cwt.

The thanks of the party are due to Mr. Herbert Knight for the use of Wrington bells and 'Billy' Kingcott for making all the local arrangements, including an excellent transport system.

100 Years After

The activities of a famous band of ringers at Woolwich a hundred years ago are recalled by a peal of Superlative recorded elsewhere. A board in the tower at Woolwich records that 'On Monday, Feb. 10th, 1849, the following members of the Woolwich branch of the Society of College Youths rang on these bells a true and complete peal of Superlative Surprise containing 5,376 changes in 3 hours and 15 minutes, which is the first peal in the method ever rung in Kent: Henry Banister, sen. 1, Wm. Banister (conductor) 2, Henry Banister 3, Samuel Teasel 4, John Banister 5, George Cleveland 6, George Banister 7, Edward West 8.'

This was, in fact, the third peal of Superlative ever rung, the earlier ones being at Huddersfield in 1821 and Norwich in 1835. The commemorative peal rung on February 12th, 1949, was to have been conducted by Mr. F. J. Cullum, of Erith, who was unfortunately prevented from standing in at the last moment. Mr. Hodgson took his rope at three hours' notice.

The Woolwich bells are now rung from a floor higher in the tower than that used in the Banisters' time. The tower is unusually tall for brick construction, and even from the higher ringing floor now used it is quite entertaining to ring some of the bells as there is no indication what they might do next. To ring from the lower floor used by the Banisters must have been a very tricky business in view of the much greater draught. Hearing must also have been difficult as there were three intervening floors and even upstairs the volume of sound is inadequate.

MR. H. R. NEWTON

The peal recently rung at Southwark in honour of Mr. H. R. Newton's 84th birthday brought to the minds of those taking part memories of the exploits of this very remarkable man, whose achievements at the heavy end have never been surpassed—nor, indeed, are they likely to be.

Bob Newton was never a heavy-weight in build and certainly not tall—but he was very broad across the shoulders, and his superb style and striking provided an example to the younger generation, which has been a factor in producing such a high standard in College Youths' performances. Amongst the many big jobs he has done are ringing the tenor at Bow (53 cwt.) to London Surprise, turning in Southwark tenor (when she was 52 cwt.) to Superlative and Cambridge, and Cornhill (41 cwt.) to Superlative. He also turned in St. Paul's (62 cwt.) to Treble Twelve.

He took part in the long length of Stedman Cinques at Southwark (ringing the 11th), and in the long peal of Stedman Caters at Appleton in 1922. He has rung several peals at Westminster Abbey, and when 83 years of age took part in a peal of Stedman Triples in honour of the birth of the Royal Prince.

Readers will be pleased to know that he is in excellent health, still at work and as alert as ever, and we feel sure they will join in the good wishes extended to a most lovable man and a superb ringer. J. F. S.

BARNSLEY AND DISTRICT SOCIETY

To commemorate the 40th anniversary of the foundation of the Society, it was decided at the annual meeting on February 12th to arrange a dinner in September and to make this an annual fixture.

The Rector, the Rev. A. P. Morley, who presided, was unanimously elected hon. president, with Mr. F. Moxon as president for 1949. The secretary, treasurer and auditors were re-elected. The balance sheet showed a small profit on the year's working and was regarded as satisfactory. Nine new members were elected.

50 Years as Steeplekeeper

At a social evening for the Church Council, sidesmen and bellringers of All Saints' Parish Church, Feering, Essex, a presentation was made to Mr. J. C. Newman, who had been steeplekeeper for 50 years before retiring last year.

The presents, which were a copy of 'Bells Through the Ages,' pipe, pouch, tobacco and cheque, were handed to Mr. Newman by Mr. S. H. Catt, Vicar's warden. The Vicar had previously outlined to the gathering the duties of a steeplekeeper, which few other than ringers have any idea of the time which is involved to do the job properly. Mr. H. Nichols thanked Mr. Newman for his service on behalf of the ringers.

Mr. Newman suitably replied, saying that he had been a ringer for 52 years and had been a member of three different eight-bell companies at Feering, and he looked forward to the day when there would be a full company again to ring Major. Mr. Newman succeeded Mr. William Keeble as Ringing Master in 1936, when the latter had to give up owing to ill-health.

The evening concluded with refreshments and entertainment, which included tunes on the handbells by Messrs. J. C. Newman, F. Fludder, S. Fisher and H. Nichols.

GUILD OF DEVONSHIRE RINGERS

MID-DEVON BRANCH.

Meeting at Bovey Tracey on February 5th, the Mid-Devon Branch discussed at length the unsatisfactory manner in which church bell-ringing was broadcast prior to services as well as announcers speaking whilst church bells were on the air. The general opinion was that church bells should be allowed at least five minutes. A letter of protest is to be sent to the general committee of the Guild.

Mr. J. E. Lilley presided, supported by the president (Preb. E. V. Cox) and the general secretary (Mr. F. C. Smale). Certificates were presented to Messrs. F. Turner (Ashburton) and B. Wilkinson (Paignton). A letter was read from Mr. C. W. Pope thanking the branch for its donation to Grundisburgh Bell Fund. In adopting the report, the meeting minuted its appreciation of the work of the hon. secretary (Mr. A. L. Bennett).

Officers elected were: Chairman and Ringing Master, Mr. J. E. Lilley; secretary and treasurer, Mr. A. L. Bennett; auditor, Mr. B. H. Cooper; general committee, Messrs. C. F. Austin, F. Turner and W. C. Wakley. Subject to the necessary permission the next meeting will be held at Babbacombe on April 23rd.

MORE ABOUT WASTAGE

By N. CHADDOCK.

I AM in agreement with the theme of C. K. L.'s article, 'Wastage,' in your issue of February 25th. Perhaps the greatest loss is the one who gives up just after reaching a reasonable stage of proficiency, since he is, so to speak, an investment (of time, energy and patience) which brings no return. Such a loss is most likely with ringers who learn in their late teens (though this is the most suitable age). Probable causes are military service, marriage and pressure of other interests and growing responsibilities.

Regular attendance for service ringing demands real sacrifice, and is of prime importance, as if this was non-existent other ringing activities would be impossible, for bells would not be available as they are at present. The paramount need to-day in many areas is to restock our belfries with ringers, and it is foolish to let a band get very low before attempting to train replacements.

As the process of swinging a bell cannot be slowed down, many instructors break down the process into several separate (and artificial) processes, which, when mastered separately, have still to be pieced together. I think it is a mistake to prolong these separate processes beyond the first practice. Quicker results are obtained by introducing the pupil to all operations almost at once, starting by raising the bell (with asssistance). The pupil's hands are then fully occupied, and not forming the habit of doing nothing during part of the operations (as when the instructor does one stroke).

The aim is to accustom the pupil at once to the operations which must be performed in sequence and time to harmonise with the movements of the rope and thus control the swing of the bell. Rounds should be varied with call changes to give practice in gauging by ear the distance to be allowed over bells of different sizes. Within a few weeks of first starting, a fairly bright pupil will be ready for attempting to learn plain hunting to Grandsire Doubles (tenor behind), followed by Plain Bob Minor. Each stage should receive only the minimum practice to permit the next to be attempted until Plain Bob 'inside' is being practised. Too long on one stage causes the next to be more difficult to assimilate.

Important points in handling for beginners are:—

(1) Stand feet together, body straight.
(2) Arms full stretch at point of balance.
(3) Long vertical pulls both strokes, free hand to backstroke immediately sally is released.
(4) All fingers of both hands round the sally and hands almost touching on sally and tail end.
(5) Bell just over balance with minimum effort, but tight rope.
(6) Eyes level to centre of circle, never on the sally.

Undoubtedly, comfortable counter-attractions (i.e., bed on Sunday mornings and pictures on Sunday evenings) make it difficult to attract and retain recruits. Therefore we should brighten and warm our belfries, provide good refreshment at meetings, organise occasional social functions, which may help to bind ringers together.

Loyalty to the Sunday service band to which we are attached demands regular attendance, even when it is not particularly convenient, except where work and illness intervene.

Finally, with all these ladies about, why not a cup of tea on some of these cold practice nights, as with other church activities? Where there's a will there's a way! If none of my previous remarks have stirred up opposing ideas, I am sure this one will!

'The Ringing World' was founded in the year 1911 by John Sparkes Goldsmith, who remained its proprietor and editor until his death in 1942.

LATE NEWS

A broadcast of interest to ringers will take place on Tuesday, March 15th, at 8.15 p.m. on the Home Service when T. R. Robinson and Frank Phillips will be talking about bells generally.

BELFRY GOSSIP

Mr. A. J. Pitman's ingenious composition of Spliced Surprise Major in five methods, published in 'The Ringing World' on November 12th, 1948, was rung twice on the same day—at Marsden, Yorkshire and Bambeth, London. The peal at Marsden came round at 6.45 p.m., 20 minutes earlier than Mr. Corby's band, who had originally arranged for the attempt on February 12th.

In the earlier days of spliced ringing some people objected to the fact that in spliced peals bells did not have to ring the whole of each method. A composition to overcome this objection eluded our most skilful composers until Mr. H. G. Cashmore produced a peal in four methods which was rung at Lambeth on April 19th, 1947. In the meantime, Mr. Pitman produced a peal with the additional quality of over a quarter peal in each method. This composition has been rung on at least three occasions.

London Surprise Royal enthusiasts are at it again! Two members of the Central Council participated in No. 3 version at Beddington.

The 75th anniversary of the Guild of Devonshire Ringers occurs on March 21st and not February 12th as suggested by the Broadclyst peal published last week.

The peal at Wednesbury on February 21st was in honour of Mr. E. J. Tyler's 53 years as a ringer at the church and also a birthday compliment to Mr. John R. Cotterill.

The handbell peal at Bournemouth, a 74th birthday compliment to Mr. F. S. Wilson, was rung on the 50th anniversary of his first peal. Mr. Wilson's hospitality after the event was much appreciated by the band.

The Henry Johnson commemoration dinner at Birmingham last Saturday was an outstanding success. A company of 246 was present, and the efficient new secretary, Mr. George E. Fearn, had to return remittances in over 50 letters from late applicants.

In the chair was Mr. Thomas H. Reeves, who for the past 20 years had been secretary of St. Martin's Guild. The story of the dinner and the appreciation of Mr. Reeves' service will be told in our next issue.

Towards fulfilling his objective of ringing peals in every 8, 10 and 12-bell tower in Kent, Mr. Frank Bennett, now 81, has two more towers to visit successfully.

The first peal on the 'Richardson' eight of Lincoln Cathedral was rung on February 19th. The band was made up of officers of the Lincoln Guild and Mrs. Richardson, who rang the bell which was installed in memory of her late husband.

Our bell foundries are helping the export drive in no unmistakable manner. In two years the Whitechapel Foundry have sent 70 bells to the Province of Quebec, and have on order a ring of eight for Queensland and a ninth bell for the same church.

With the 'touch of Bristol' at the Bell Foundry on February 19th, 'our evergreen Ernie' completed his 110th peal on the bells. This, besides being a record, includes five peals of 9,000 changes and over, and he has conducted the longest (13,440 in 1922) peal on the bells.

The Acoustics Group of the Physical Society invite ringers to their annual meeting at the Royal Society of Arts, John Adam Street, W.1, on March 18th at 2.30 p.m. A paper will be read on the acoustics of bells, followed by a discussion.

PEAL OF BRISTOL QUESTIONED

Dear Sir,—I should like to point out that the 5,024 Bristol Surprise Major published in your issue of December 17th transgresses the accepted principle that only one type of bob should be used in a composition.

There is no objection to sixths place bobs in Bristol, but both fourths and sixths place bobs should not be used in the same composition.

No doubt the Peals Analysis Committee has already taken the necessary action in the matter.—Yours sincerely,

C. KENNETH LEWIS.

Altrincham.

RECORDING OF PEALS

Dear Sir,—When charges for printing have doubled, necessity compels Guild reports to restrict space and to omit much interesting copy, peals reports are compressed to a minimum. Even so, peals are performances, prided by ringers and indicators of progress in the art to be emulated by young ringers. Young and ambitious ringers may emulate the doings of W. Pye, F. Bennett or G. E. Fearn like a budding cricketer does a Bradman or Hutton. They do so through the records of performances; old ringers do the same and wonder, often, at the performances. Why, then, limit in any way the number of peals rung by a so-called peal grabber? Why reduce the records of such to the use of microscopic type? Tradition and practice have established a way of setting out records of peals which is good. Why change it? I am as interested in the peals rung by many whom I know only by name as I was in the records of Ranji or Grace when I was a boy. Please don't reduce the type so that I can read it only by use of a microscope.—Yours faithfully,

FRED C. SMALE.

Okehampton.

HOLY WEEK AND RINGING

Dear Sir,—I agree wholeheartedly with the greater part of Mr. Rogers' letter in your edition of March 4th, but surely the most important sentence in his letter is as follows: 'As a gesture, why not all peal ringers voluntarily refrain from peal ringing for the last two or three weeks in the Lenten season?' This, I would suggest, has more significance than Mr. Rogers at first appreciated.

Apart from the fact that 'The Ringing World,' as suggested, would be able to get abreast of peal reports, is it too much to expect ringers to forgo a peal during the latter half (if not all) of the Church's most solemn and sacred season?

We in this great ringing fraternity like to think of ourselves as church officials (in the Sussex Association we have this as an object laid down in the rules), and as church officials we should be active Christians and as such should be among the first to recognise the Lenten season, not as a morbid and miserable season, but as a period of quiet respect and temperance.

Let us not this year read of peals being rung during Passion Week and even on Maundy Thursday and Good Friday, as was, I think, the case last year.—Yours faithfully,

PETER H. ROLLISON.

Eastbourne.

CRICKET PROFESSIONALS AS RINGERS

Dear Sir,—I see it was stated in the obituary of Mr. George C. Collins that he was probably the only ringer who had been a cricket professional. I have rung several times in the company of Mr. Sam Coe, of Earl Shilton, Leicestershire, who was for many years a well-known and popular member of Leicestershire County Cricket Club, and I believe he still officiates as scorer for the team.—Yours faithfully,

H. L. WYKES.

University of London Society

SECOND ANNUAL DINNER.

The second annual dinner of the University of London Society was held at The Marquis of Granby on February 26th, preceded by ringing at St. Giles'-in-the-Fields and St. Martin's-in-the-Fields. A peal of Cambridge Major was rung on the very fine bells of St. John the Baptist's, Barnet, by kind permission of Mr. S. Casley.

Dr. J. C. E. Simpson, the president, took the chair at the dinner. After the toast to 'The Church and King,' Mr. D. Layton proposed that of the Society. This, he considered, was in a flourishing state. Although several members spent much of their time in sporting activities, he did not think it was in any danger of losing its campanological character.

Dr. Simpson replied with an excellent speech, stressing, among other things, the need for good striking. It was a speech in which he explained his favourite precepts at (mercifully) less length than he had applied them at Leeds some days previously.

Mr. G. Carter proposed the toast to the visitors, who included the Masters of the Ancient Societies of College Youths and Cumberland Youths. He thanked Mr. George Cross for the privilege of ringing at St. Martin's.

Mr. J. A. Waugh replied with some amusing incidents of his own ringing career.

After discussing the proposed Whitsun and Summer tours, the party left the premises, only to be recalled to pay the bill!

BOLTON BRANCH.

There were three striking features at the February meeting of the Bolton Branch at All Souls' Church, Bolton, viz., youth, good striking and a high order in the methods rung. Out of a very large attendance youth predominated, both male and female. Some who are still at school handled their bells and rang the methods in a manner that must have been the envy of some of the older members. Great credit must be extended to their tutors.

All Souls' bells are very good, both in tone and 'go,' and the excellent striking caused the ringing to be very much enjoyed. The Acting Ringing Master did not find it difficult to fit all in with their particular method, because most of them were 'Surprise' bent, and when a touch in a Surprise method was being rung there were more 'standing behind' watching than ringing. The meeting can be regarded as a good omen for the future.

Along with the local towers there were visitors from Hereford, Southport, Liverpool, Morecambe, Whittle-le-Woods, Standish, Rochdale, Adlington, Ashton, Manchester and Parbold.

A 15-minute service was conducted by the Vicar, who also gave a hearty welcome to his church. Cups of tea were provided. Mr. F. G. Bradley moved a vote of thanks to all who had helped to make the meeting a success.

GLOUCESTER AND BRISTOL ASSN.

The quarterly meeting of the Cheltenham Branch at Prestbury on February 26th proved very popular. Visitors and members attending represented over twenty towers, the former coming from as far afield as Burford, Witney, Swindon, Ross-on-Wye, Bristol and Kingston-on-Thames, in addition to those usually present.

A wedding caused some delay in starting ringing, but the bells having been raised in peal before, no time was lost after. The service was conducted by the Vicar, the Rev. W. H. Hill, who also presided at the meeting, supported by the Master, Mr. Kynaston, and the Rector of Alderton.

Methods rung included Grandsire, Stedman and Oxford Bob Triples, Plain Bob and Double Norwich, Kent Treble Bob and Cambridge Surprise Major, and was all of a much higher standard than is usual at meetings. C. R.

Middlesex County Assn.

SOUTH AND WEST DISTRICT.

Heston was the scene of a great gathering of the Middlesex Association, when on Feb. 12th the South and West District met at this beautiful church for their annual meeting. It was the best attended annual for many years, over 60 members being present.

The occasion was a very happy one for the Association, who were meeting the new Vicar, the Rev. Preb. F W. Ferraro, for the first time. The warmth of his welcome will be long remembered, and another link has been forged in the chain of happy memories going back over fifty years between Heston and the Middlesex County Association.

The district secretary, in presenting his report, spoke of another successful year. Thirteen district meetings had been held with an average attendance of over forty. Peals had been well maintained, while quarter-peals for service showed a remarkable increase, St. John's, Hillingdon, under their very able leader, Mr. F. W. Goodfellow, topping the list with nine. Membership was on the increase, and the statement of accounts showed a considerably increased balance over previous years, this being the first full year of the revised rules governing finance.

The officers elected were: Hon. district secretary, Mr. F. A. Finch; assistant secretary, Mr. W. G. Wilson; Ringing Master, Mr. W. W. Webb; Deputy Master, Mr. Tony Price; Central Committee, Messrs. F. W. Baldwin, T. G. Bannister and J. E. Lewis Cockey; auditor, Mr. E. C. S. Turner.

Newly-elected members were Preb. F. W. Ferraro, J. Ricketts, Miss A. Ricketts (Heston), D. Fowles (Cranford), D. Beveridge (Chislehurst), B. J. Bennett, Mrs. B. I. Davies (Ealing, St. Mary's), Miss D. Luke (Ealing, Christ Church), W. T. Cook (Ealing, St. Stephen's) and P. Thrift (Ruislip).

The vice-president (Mr. W. H. Coles), speaking from the chair, congratulated Mr. Tony Price on his recent performance of ringing two bells and conducting a peal at his own tower at Feltham. Congratulations were also accorded Mr. H. C. Chandler for 60 years of devoted and faithful service at Heston. Thanks were accorded to all those who helped in providing tea and for making the meeting such a success.

ELLOE DEANERIES BRANCH.

Nearly every tower in the branch was represented at the annual meeting at Spalding on February 26th, and visiting ringers were present from North Mymms, Newark, Lincoln, Boston and Algarkirk.

During the short service the president, Canon Carnegy, dedicated a peal board commemorating the last peal in which the late Master of the Guild, Mr. Rupert Richardson, took part. The peal board, finished in black with gold lettering, was ably executed by Mr. A. W. Coles, who was also at the meeting.

The balance sheets, showing favourable balances, were read and adopted. All the officers were re-elected, and new members from Pinchbeck and Crowland were accepted.

A discussion about the outstanding deficit on the Richardson Memorial Fund followed, with the result that £2 13s. 6d. was collected, and a second grant of £20 was made from the General Fund. Mr. J. A. Freeman, Guild Master, thanked the meeting very warmly for this generosity, and hoped it would set a good example to the rest of the Guild. There now remains roughly £40 to be found, and any contributions will be received gratefully.

The quarterly meetings were arranged as follows: April 23rd, Gedney Hill; June 11th, Deeping St. Nicholas; August 6th, Crowland; November 12th, Gedney. It is proposed to hold a joint meeting with the Eastern Branch at Bicker when the augmented ring of eight bells is opened in April.

Mr. J. A. Freeman announced that he will propose, at the annual Guild meeting at Lincoln on April 30th, that half-yearly Guild meetings be held, one at Lincoln and the second at each of the other three branches in rotation.

SUSSEX COUNTY ASSOCIATION

WESTERN DIVISION.

Fifty members attended the annual divisional meeting at Chichester on February 19th, when the Very Rev. A. S. Duncan-Jones (Dean of Chichester) conducted the Association's service in the Cathedral.

Mr. F. I. Hairs (Moster) presided at the business meeting, held in the Chapter House. The meeting expressed pleasure at the attendance of the Ven. Lancelot Mason (Archdeacon of Chichester). The Archdeacon, replying, spoke of his visitations in the diocese and deprecated the practice of leaving bells up for long periods.

The divisional secretary's report showed an increase in membership and, with three towers joining during the year, 21 were now in affiliation in the division. The balance sheet showed an increased balance in hand.

Subject to permission being given, meetings are to be held at Easebourne (April), Slinfold (May), Bosham (June), Shipley and Itchingfield (July).

The Divisional Ringing Master (Mr. R. Wood, jun.) catered for all grades of ringers in his usual adept style during ringing in the afternoon and evening.

Beverley and District Society

MEETING AT HULL.

'A ringers' delight' was how the visit of the Society to the 13th century Church of the Holy Trinity, Hull, on February 12th, was described. In 1727 the existing six bells were recast into eight. They have since been recast at various dates and augmented to ten with a tenor of 25 cwt. 2 qr. 18 lb. in D. Recently the bells were overhauled and fitted with ball bearings making a very fine ring.

During the singing of Psalm 150 at the service in Holy Trinity Church a plain course of Grandsire Triples was rung on handbells by M. Walker 1-2, C. Barker 3-4, G. F. Williams 5-6, L. Rodmell 7-8. Mr. A. H. Fox was the organist.

The Vicar (the Rev. L. O. Kenyon), during his address, called attention to the beautiful carvings of angels, each with a different musical instrument, on the pillars in the choir. He compared the unknown sculptors of these carvings to the bellringers and belfry, who out of sight gave anonymously the great message of God's eternal love for all the world.

At tea at the Trocadero Cafe the company, numbering sixty, were welcomed by the Lord Mayor and Lady Mayoress of Hull. Their welcome was acknowledged by Mr. G. F. Williams (the president) and Mr. A. H. Fox.

The secretary read an apology from Mr. F. Dale (vice-president), who had met with an accident with a circular saw. A letter of sympathy and good wishes for a speedy recovery had been sent.

Hessle was selected for the meeting on March 12th, and Sutton for that on April 9th. Mr. L. Rodmell was elected an honorary member and Miss Davey and Miss Jackson active members.

After the votes of thanks, the Lord Mayor accompanied the ringers to the belfry of Holy Trinity and saw the bells called off to Grandsire Caters, followed by Stedman Caters, Bob Royal and other methods.

JOINT MEETING

LADIES' GUILD (NORTHERN) AND LEEDS AND DISTRICT SOCIETY.

A joint meeting of the above Societies was held on February 27th at Batley. The belfry here has many advantages over some of our more famous churches with their noble spires, causing the ringers long, wearying climbs to the ringing chamber, for at Batley the ringers go down two steps only. The ring is a light one and full use was made by all present.

A splendid tea was arranged by Mr. W. H. Senior. After tea the Ladies' Guild had first use of the Church Schools for their business meeting, while the tower bells were kept going by the men. After further touches the Leeds Society business meeting was held in the schools, Mr. T. Hill presiding.

The secretary reported that the room offered before the last meeting for the Jubilee Dinner was not now available and that he had not been successful in obtaining another. After discussion it was decided to postpone the dinner until the end of April and that the secretary make further efforts to obtain accommodation.

Three new members from Rothwell were elected, viz., Allan Strangeway, Josh. Wormald and George Perkins.

The vote of thanks was proposed by Mr. H. Lofthouse, who explained to the members how Mr. Senior had fixed up the meeting at very short notice and deserved the warmest thanks. Mr. P. J. Johnson seconded and expressed the hope that it would not be long before Mr. Senior was once again ringing and fully recovered from his present disability.

The next meeting will be at Armley on March 26th.

OBITUARY

MR. FRANCIS A. SMITH.

We regret to announce the death of Francis Arthur Smith, of Bushey, which occurred at his home on February 27th, after a long and painful illness.

Mr. Smith, who was in his 85th year, was a native of Worcester, but came to Bushey in the early 90's, as head gardener at Haydon Hill, and soon afterwards took up bellringing and rang his first peal at Bushey in August, 1896. His peal list totals 180, in methods up to Bristol Surprise and Stedman Caters.

He was made president of the Hertford County Association in 1927, and was for some time captain of the Bushey Society, and maintained his interest in ringing until the end, eagerly looking forward to seeing 'The Ringing World' each week.

Besides his local societies, Mr. Smith was a member of the Middlesex Association, the College Youths and the St. Martin's Guild, and at his cremation at Golders Green on March 2nd the writer represented these societies. His favourite method was Stedman and he was very proud of having rung peals in this method on every bell of Bushey, Oxhey and Aldenham. M.F.R.H.

LEWISHAM DISTRICT.

Halcyon weather and a warm welcome awaited the 65 members and friends who attended the quarterly meeting of the Lewisham District at St. Johns, Deptford, on February 5th. The Vicar (the Rev. T. L. Livermore) led the service and gave an address.

A course of Grandsire Caters 'in hand' preceded the business meeting, at which Mr. F. W. Richardson presided. The 14 new members elected included six from Eltham and four from the Annunciation, Chislehurst, and one hon member. Mr. P. A. Corby read a report of proceedings at the committee meeting held at Maidstone. This was adopted. St. Mary Cray was chosen as place of next meeting, to be held on April 30th, with Chelsfield as alternative if necessary. October 1st was suggested as the date of the annual combined meeting with the Surrey Association (at St. Peter's, Croydon, Surrey being the host this year).

Mr. G. V. Murphy was elected district representative to succeed Mr. P. A. Corby, who now serves on the committee by virtue of his office of peal secretary. It was agreed to hold the annual social at Christ Church, Erith, on Saturday, December 3rd.

IRISH NEWS

A new ring of six is to be installed by midsummer at St. Donard's, Belfast. Some 20 to 30 prospective ringers attended a meeting on February 8th to inaugurate the St. Donard's Society. Two very able ringers are foundation members, Mr. George McCleave, formerly of Ballylesson, and Mr. James Rush, of Holywood. A sum of £1,600 has been raised by the parishioners for the bells, which will be a memorial to the late Canon Moore, a former Rector.

The quarterly meeting of the Irish Association was held at Ballymena on February 12th. It was reported that change ringing in the district was flourishing and many more towers were now taking up this aspect of ringing. Membership was also on the increase, and two new towers, St. Donard's, Belfast, and Ballylesson, would shortly be added to those available The Rev. F. J. Mitchell was elected district vice-president, and Messrs. W. Rogan, J. Campbell and J. T. Dunwoody district representatives on the General Committee. The members were entertained to tea by the local ringers, and afterwards the bells of St. Patrick's, Ballymena, were put to good use in ringing Plain Bob, Grandsire and Stedman.

WIRRAL BRANCH.

The annual meeting, held at St. Nicholas' Church, Wallasey, on February 19th, attracted a gathering of 68 ringers and friends, eleven Wirral towers being represented. During the afternoon and evening the heavy ring of six was kept going to a variety of methods up to London Surprise.

The Vicar (the Rev. W. Simpson) conducted an abridged version of the Guild service, and immediately following the company was entertained to tea in a neighbouring cafe.

At the business meeting all existing officers were re-elected en bloc, members deeming it inadvisable to change a 'winning team.' A statement of accounts showed a favourable balance, the hon. auditor commenting on the facility with which he was able to check the items.

The hon. secretary's report stated that enthusiasm for the monthly meetings had not waned, twelve meetings being held and on six occasions the attendance had exceeded 50. The average attendance for the year was 46. Total membership had increased to 137, all classes of members showing an increase. Peal ringing was flourishing, 16 peals being rung, and ten members had scored their first peal. The branch outing had been revived, 60 ringers and friends enjoying a half-day trip to mid-Cheshire, and the second annual social had been attended by over 200 ringers and friends.

OXFORD DIOCESAN GUILD

READING BRANCH.

Among the company of 70 ringers and friends who attended the annual meeting of the Reading Branch at St. Laurence's, Reading, on February 19th, was Mr. P. Kearville, who flew over from Holland specially for the meeting.

The service was conducted by the Master of the Guild (the Rev. C. E. Wigg). The Bishop of Reading gave the address, Canon Bell, of Nettlebed, read the lesson, and Mr. B. Wakefield (Checkendon) was organist.

The tea at the Parish Hall was attended by the Bishop. At the business meeting Mr. A. Wiggins (branch chairman) presided, supported by all the officers of the Guild.

Mr. Wiggins, who has been chairman for ten years, having expressed a wish to resign, was thanked for his valuable services to the branch and was appointed a vice-president in appreciation. The Rev. C. P. Sherwood, Vicar of Mapledurham, was elected as the new chairman, and he thanked the members for the great honour they had conferred on him. The other officers of the branch were all re-elected, and an addition was made to their ranks by the appointment of Mr. C. Watts, of St. Laurence's tower, as Ringing Master.

It was decided that, in addition to the quarterly meetings, monthly practices should be held at various towers in the branch.

A return was made to St. Laurence's tower, where ringing was carried on until 9 p.m., at the same others went to St. Mary's, where ringing ceased at 8.30. E. G. F.

METHOD EXTENSION

A REPLY TO MR. YORK-BRAMBLE

By W. Taylor, Vice-President, Lancashire Association.

It is very disturbing when Mr. York-Bramble, with his long experience in the art of change ringing, tells us: If you cannot get the best or even something nearly passable in the extension of a given method, e.g., London Surprise, you may mutilate it and even add something which is not in the method simply for the doubtful distinction of calling a given series of figures the glamorous name 'London Surprise Royal' or 'Maximus,' thereby hoping to arrive at maximum proficiency in the performance of a peal in the method. In my opinion it is better to forgo fame than to pretend to achieve fame by such doubtful measures.

In his final instalment Mr. York-Bramble tells us: 'It must be emphasised that haphazard trials at extension lead nowhere.' A little earlier in the same column he tells us without a smile: 'He has thoroughly explored possible arrangements and has produced over many years of patient research (haphazardly? W.T.) about as many versions of Royal for London as there are letters in our alphabet, etc.' If this is true it is a very, very weak argument in favour of 'Grid nomenclature.' With the greater scope in Maximus no doubt he has produced several score. Really, he ought to be more careful.

In 'The Ringing World,' February 4th, he gives us a table of Extension characteristics from both structural and ringing points of view, classifying them as essential, or desirable, or otherwise. To save space I will refer to them by their distinctive number only. What does he mean in each of Nos. 1, 2, 3, 4, 5? As regards No. 4 ringers in general have so-called 'conventional requirements,' but so far no one has been able to reduce the requirements to a general written statement or formula. The reason being that they apparently differ for each group of methods which have recognised and accepted extensions. For example, surely no one will contend that Stedman is extended in the same way as Grandsire. Grandsire Doubles plain course of 30 rows becomes 70 in Triples, whilst Stedman Doubles plain course of 60 rows becomes 84 in Triples.

So far as No. 7 is concerned, I may be in error, but I have always understood that the Central Council regard No. 7 as essential, at any rate so far as the lead ends and lead heads are concerned. I don't think the C.C. will agree or countenance that the milder word 'desirable' is adequate. They will most certainly insist upon 'essential.' What does 'approximate' mean in No. 9? Again the word is far too mild. In No. 10 we are up against a difficulty which we cannot solve satisfactorily It may be put somewhat like this: When proceeding from Minor to Major, which are the added bells and rows? When we write numerically 123456 and 12345678 it appears obvious that 7 and 8 is the added pair. When we augment a ring of six to eight without recasting any of the originals we add a pair of trebles, so it appears that 1 and 2 is the added pair. If we use Mr. York-Bramble's grid nomenclature, AoAeBoBeZoZe becomes AoAeBoBeYoYeZoZe. Here it appears that YoYe corresponding to 5 and 6 is the added pair. By the way, it seems to me to be rather clumsy to designate the positions in the rows as AoAeBoBeYoYeZoZe when using numbers 12345678 is so much simpler and direct. Most of us are aware that 1, 3, 5, 7 are odd and 2, 4, 6, 8 are even.

Personally, I can't see that anything is gained by renaming a half-lead as 'a grid.' Of course it can be looked at that way, but why alter a universally recognised term? Every ringer knows what is meant and there is no ambiguity.

With regard to the added rows to produce Major from Minor, in Treble Bob I think it is generally agreed that the four rows of Minor with treble in 1-2 correspond to the four rows of Major with treble in 1-2. Likewise the four rows of Minor with treble in 5-6 correspond to the four rows of Major with treble in 7-8. Now which, if any, of the eight rows of Major with treble in 3-4 and 5-6 correspond to the four rows of Minor with the treble in 3-4? This is where grid nomenclature breaks down badly and perhaps is responsible for haphazard experiment.

There is no point or advantage in changing the term 'Pivot bell' to 'Grid link.' The place made in addition to that of the treble when the treble is leading is neither a grid link nor a pivot bell. There are only two positions possible or rather permissible when the treble is leading at a plain lead, the others being reserved for Bob leads. The plain lead positions are 2nds and lying behind. In most cases all that happens when one is substituted for the other is that the plain course is rung in a different order of the plain leads with exactly the same changes or rows in each. The exceptions are three: (a) when 2 is pivot bell, 2nds place produces rounds; (b) when tenor is pivot bell, lying behind produces rounds; (c) in the methods where a bell lies back and hand behind, in the last two rows of the lead, lying behind causes four consecutive blows behind, e.g., London.

HENRY JOHNSON REUNION

MUCH of the reading space in this week's issue is devoted to the Henry Johnson commemoration dinner, and young ringers will find in the admirable summary of the life of this worthy, given by Mr. Thomas H. Reeves in his speech from the chair, inspiration and encouragement. And it is no little tribute that nearly 60 years after his death there should be such a large concourse of ringers from all parts of the country present to pay their tribute to this great ringer. Many found their way to Aston churchyard to his grave and to read the inscription over his gravestone: 'This stone is erected by the ringers of England in grateful memory of Henry Johnson, to whose ability and perseverance the art of change ringing is widely indebted.' Below is the text, 'Whatsoever thy hand findeth to do, do it with thy might.'

The phrase that is particularly impressive is 'the ringers of England.' It was not only in his death that Henry Johnson received national recognition; there were banquets in his honour given on his 77th and 80th birthdays attended by the leading ringers of England. The commemoration dinners year by year have more and more assumed the proportion of national gatherings. An attendance of 246 from all parts of the country was counted on March 5th at Birmingham; there would have been at least another 100 if more dining accommodation had been possible. They were drawn together by that magnetism of friendship which is the great feature of our Exercise. The snow and unpleasant climatic conditions were forgotten in the warmth of good comradeship.

The spirit of Henry Johnson remains in Birmingham to-day, carefully nurtured and preserved by St. Martin's Guild of this generation. During his lifetime he rang 139 peals, of which 88 were composed by himself, and it was in the realm of composition that his lasting contribution has been made. To emulate the standard of Henry Johnson has always been an aim of the Guild, and had he heard the report of Mr. Albert Walker on the achievements of 1948, particularly the non-conducted peal of Stedman Cinques, he would have been proud of the present generation. While the standard of accomplishment to-day is good, the high tradition of service is something better. A characteristic of St. Martin's is that the office-bearers are also the peal ringers. Individual pleasure of peal ringing is accompanied by a sense of obligation and service to the general body of ringers. Thus we find that Mr. Thomas H. Reeves, at the conclusion of 20 years' service as Guild secretary, is being succeeded by Mr. Henry E. Fearn, who last year participated in 108 peals. A feature of the Guild is also a desire of service to the community at large. A former secretary of 20 years' standing, Cclr. A. Paddon-Smith, enters vigorously into the political and civic life of the city. The service, however, which was very dear to the Editor's heart was the formation of a panel of lecturers from among younger men who have visited various church organisations and other bodies and in simple non-technical language told the fascinating story of bells and the art of change ringing. This is, indeed, valuable propaganda, and is likely to give its dividend in due season. The more the love of bells and the purpose of ringing can be inculcated into the community the more staple and permanent will be the foundation of ringing, and as the dust of Henry Johnson mingles with that of Aston the message will not cease to ring forth from the neighbouring steeple.

BELFRY GOSSIP

No. 3 Version of London Royal, recorded in our peal columns this week, was composed by Mr. George Baker. A correspondent writes: 'The first version of London Royal was rung in 1926 and included in the Central Council's reports for that year.'

Mr. A. J. Brown has 'completed the circle' at Bowdon, Cheshire.

Mr. James George is now out of hospital and has returned to 118, Rossmore Road, Parkstone, Dorset.

Ringing in Salisbury looks brighter in the future. A contract for a conversion into eight bells for St. Paul's Church has been placed with Messrs. Mears and Stainbank.

Mr. Edwin J. Lindley, of Epsom, who is at present stationed in Cheshire, scored his 100th peal at Malpas. He has rung 50 each on tower and handbells.

The peal at Rotherfield on February 22nd was originally intended as a birthday compliment to Mr. John A. Turley and was attempted on November 27th, 1948. It was lost nearly half-way through owing to a shift course.

Previous to restoration of the bells at Beoley, Worcs., in the spring of 1948, the tower possessed a 'stoney' band. Since then younger elements have joined the company and by visits to other towers have made themselves sufficiently proficient to score their first peal.

On ringing Cambridge Surprise Minor at Desford, Mr. Sidney O. Cheney has joined the select band of those who have rung Cambridge Surprise Minor, Major, Royal and Maximus. Mr. Alfred Ballard accomplished this at Leicester on February 20th, others qualifying for this exclusive fraternity on tower and handbells in the Leicester Guild being Miss Jill Poole, Messrs. Harold J. Poole and Peter J. Staniforth.

The lovely ten at Dalton-in-Furness were rung to a peal of Grandsire Caters on the last Saturday in February to celebrate the jubilee of service of their conductor, Mr. Thomas Metcalf. His well-wishers and friends in the North-West region gathered together to make up the band. Service of 50 years in one tower is worthy of commendation, and the occasion was one for both a peal and a dinner afterwards.

The employes of Rolls Royce have rung their first peal at Alvaston. The same team hope to ring peals in higher methods than Plain Bob Minor.

The peal at Steyning, Sussex, on February 26th, is claimed as a first Surprise peal by a resident Western Division band of the Sussex Association.

After having rung 49 peals of Kent Treble Bob Major, Mr. Joseph Goddard decided to break new ground. His 50th peal at Bromborough, Cheshire, which was a 74th birthday compliment to him, was of Plain Bob Major.

A reunion peal to mark the return from the Forces of Messrs. H. J. Hunt, R. J. Harding, D. E. Lee and L. E. Hitchins was rung at North Bradley, Wilts, on February 26th. This band is now at full strength again.

Mr. Charles Littlewood, whose 86th birthday was honoured by a peal, is believed to be the oldest ringer in Leicestershire. He is the only surviving foundation member of the Goscote Society of Church Bellringers and was present at the first meeting at Syston in May, 1882. Mr. Littlewood rang 120 Grandsire before the peal started and afterwards entertained the ringers to tea.

'HENRY JOHNSON' COMMEMORATION DINNER

CENTRAL figure at the 'Henry Johnson' Commemoration Dinner at Birmingham on Mar. 5th was Mr. T. H. Reeves, who presided. This year he retired after 20 years of faithful service as secretary of St. Martin's Guild, and there was a record attendance of 246 present from all parts of the country to pay tribute to his selfless work for the promotion of ringing. A cheque was presented to him during the evening, Mr. Albert Walker, the retiring Master, being chosen to hand over the gift with the love and affection of the Guild.

Organisation of the event fell upon the shoulders of Mr. George E. Fearn, the new secretary. To seat the company two dining halls were necessary, and there were about another 100 ringers who applied too late for tickets. The presence of the B.B.C. recording apparatus was another new feature. Birmingham ringers were unsparing in their efforts for the welfare and enjoyment of their guests; the week-end fully maintained past traditions —even to the snow that fell during the day.

The secretary read apologies from the Lord Mayor and Lady Mayoress, Canon C. Guy Rogers, Mr. Yates, the Rev. Bryan S. Green, Canon S. Blofeld, Messrs. F. B. Yates, J. H. Shepherd, Herbert Spencer, George R. Newton and C. Price.

The toast of 'Church and State' was honoured on the call of Mr. John Freeman. He said he supposed that the Church and State were the two institutions that were likely to have most influence upon them. No one would deny the power of the State in the time of national emergency when the individual and his resources were at the disposal of the community, but many would question whether it was right that such resources in these days should be placed so unreservedly for the common weal. He disagreed with those who said that the Church had no influence. They had evidence in Eastern Europe of the concern of the State for the influence of the Church.

The Archdeacon of Birmingham, in reply, said the relationship of Church and State was debated recently in the Church Assembly. The Church of England was anxious for certain privileges which many thought were important to its life, but they were all concerned that any difference between the Church and State would be disastrous. It would mean a repudiation of religion by the State and they had seen something of the results of such a policy in other countries.

In a word of thanks to ringers for their services to the Church, the Archdeacon said they represented something to the outside world that their human voice could not do; when they rang Sunday by Sunday they reached the hearts of a great many people who never darken the doors of the Church and reminded them that men and women were praying for them and there was a God in heaven.

HENRY JOHNSON'S LIFE.

The toast of the memory of the late Henry Johnson was submitted from the chair. Mr. Reeves said that until a few years ago this toast was always entrusted to someone who knew Henry Johnson well and they had with them that night two who knew him. He supposed that the only person knew Johnson well was Tom Miller, who was now in his 92nd year. His father was a personal friend of Henry Johnson and rang several peals with him.

Henry Johnson was born at Lichfield on February 28th, 1809, and moved to Birmingham in his early boyhood to settle in the Aston district. He started work in his father's business, but later he was employed by a firm of timber merchants and in the course of time became general manager. He received his first instruction in ringing from the sexton of Aston Church, a man named R. Roberts, who was only a rounds ringer. Later he became acquainted with Joshua Short, a well-known character.

In 1830, Henry Johnson rang his first peal, Grandsire Triples at Aston, conducted by Thomas Day. In February, 1832, he conducted a muffled peal in memory of his old friend, Joshua Short. The next incident was one that influenced him very much in his study of composition and proof scale. On October 1st, 1841, when he conducted his first peal of Stedman Caters at Aston, he had previously submitted the figures to Thurstans, who said it was quite a good peal and true. It later turned out to be false. He immediately set out to master the principles of proof, and it was recognised that as far as standard methods were concerned he could tell at a glance whether a peal was true or false.

In 1844 he became the recognised leader of St. Martin's Youths, and his reputation extended throughout the country. He composed peals in all the recognised methods of that time. His last peal was rung in 1887—Stedman Caters at Aston.

At a dinner in honour of his 77th birthday he was presented with his portrait and an illuminated address subscribed to by the ringers of England. The great event, however, was on his 80th birthday, when invitations were sent out by Sir Arthur Heywood to a banquet in honour of the old man. Henry Johnson died on January 7th, 1890, and was buried at Aston. The headstone in Aston Churchyard that marks his resting place was subscribed by the ringers of England. Birmingham had produced many great ringers, but Henry Johnson was the most famous of the lot.

REMEMBERED HENRY JOHNSON.

Two ringers who remembered Henry Johnson were asked to stand and received an ovation from the assembly. They were Messrs. Charles Williams and George Mitchison.

Mr. Albert Walker, as retiring Master, proposed 'Continued prosperity to St. Martin's Guild,' and extended a very hearty welcome to the guests. Reviewing the past year, he said fortunately they had had only one loss by death, and that was a serious loss, in Mr. George F. Swann. He need not tell them his capabilities as a ringer and conductor. He was one of the smartest conductors he had met, and only a fortnight before his death he took part in a non-conducted peal of Stedman Cinques.

They had had a very successful year. Practices had been well attended and Sunday ringing in the city was regular. Another feature was their lectures; two or three of their younger members had given lectures with excellent results. As a result of Mr. George Fearn's lecture at Tamworth-in-Arden, the bells there were being made into a ring of eight.

At Yardley the ring of six was to be recast into a new ring of eight. At the Cathedral two additional trebles were added through the generosity of Mr. Frank B. Yates, and they were now a splendid 12.

During the year 80 peals were rung, but Mr. George Fearn was not satisfied; he rang another 28 on top of that! Three of their peals were outstanding. One was the non-conducted peal of Stedman Cinques, another was Lincolnshire Surprise Maximus at Walsall, rung without any previous practice, and the last the peal of Rutland Surprise Royal.

Another feature of the year was that they had changed their officers and they were loath to change. Mr. Reeves had given up the secretaryship and had been succeeded by Mr. George E. Fearn, who had been sentenced to 20 years' service straight away. Mr. Edgar Shepherd was the new Ringing Master in place of Mr. Fearn. He was a talented composer and conductor. Mr. J. F. Harvey had been appointed librarian in place of the late Mr. Swann.

Mr. George E. Fearn, who replied, expressed his pleasure at the splice of the two new trebles at the Cathedral. 'I am perfectly satisfied,' he said, 'and if I am satisfied it is a good job.' They all regretted that Mr. Yates was unable to be present through illness.

'PRINCE AMONG SECRETARIES.'

Mr. Walker then made a presentation to Mr. Reeves. In his long experience of the Guild they had had only three secretaries. The first was Mr. W. H. Godden, who resigned 40 years ago. In January, 1909, his friend, Mr. Paddon Smith, was elected secretary, and for 20 years he carried out his duties with the greatest efficiency. Mr. Reeves was appointed his successor, and the St. Martin's Guild never did a better job of work when they appointed Mr. Reeves. He was a prince among secretaries—one any Guild might be proud of.

Cclr. A. Paddon Smith fully endorsed Mr. Walker's appreciation of Mr. Reeves' services and recalled their boyhood days when they cycled into St. Martin's for practices.

Making the presentation of the cheque, Mr. Walker said: 'It is with the greatest pleasure I give you this cheque, which has been subscribed to by many friends of yours as a small token of their deep respect for you for the services you have done for the Guild. . . . We wish you well in your retirement; we wish you good health and good luck.'

Mr. Reeves' health was then drunk with musical honours.

Acknowledging the gift and good wishes, Mr. Reeves said he was overwhelmed with the words they had said regarding his services to their ancient Guild. He assured them it had been a labour of love because he had had the assistance of all the members in the work of the Guild. He must say that he felt very much easier than he did 20 years ago. He would buy with their generous present a gift his family would select and have placed on it a plaque recording that it was given to him by St. Martin's Guild for services rendered.

Mr. Frank E. Haynes proposed 'The Visitors' and said the growth of the dinner was in many ways very gratifying to St. Martin's Guild. The growth of the number of people interested in change ringing had in a sense produced in him a state of alarm. He was alarmed because he would not be surprised to find, if the number of ringers and peals began to multiply, that it would not be long before somebody brought in a private member's Bill for the abolition of bellringing, which with a certain section of the community would be welcome.

There were ringers there from all over the country. They came because they were ringers and interested in ringing.

Miss Marie Cross and Mr. Donald Mears, of Hitchin, responded. Mr. Mears referred to the help and friendliness he received from Birmingham ringers during the war.

Mr. Edgar C. Shepherd proposed 'The Ringing World' and thanked the committee and the Editor for their work. In a tribute to Mr. Trollope, he said he was the greatest authority on method construction they had ever known.

Mr. T. W. White, in reply, mentioned that three weeks ago he announced that they were in a position to take 300 more subscribers. Already 100 of that number had come forward. At the end of the next four monthly period it was possible that paper would be sufficient for a 16-page issue weekly, but the cost of production would not meet the existing revenue. Methods of finding additional revenue would have to be explored, and it seemed to him that if it was the wish of the Exercise for a larger paper, then there would have to be an increase in price to 4d.

The concluding toast, 'The Chairman,' was honoured on the call of Mr. Walker.

The entertainment included songs by Mr. C. J. Hemming, duets by Miss B. Marshall and Mr. W. C. Dowding, and handbells tunes by Mr. E. Mansell's band. A course of Stedman Cinques was rung by members of St. Martin's Guild: E. C. Shepherd 1-2, F. W. Perrens 3-4, Albert Walker 5-6, F. E. Pervin 7-8, F. E. Haynes 9-10, G. E. Fearn 11-12.

FIRST PEAL OF SUPERLATIVE AT WOOLWICH

Dear Sir,—On reading the account of the 100th anniversary of the first peal of Superlative at Woolwich, I was reminded of a story related to me some 15 years ago by the late Mr. Edwin F. Pike, a well-known London ringer. On October 11th, 1849, the band who rang the Superlative also accomplished the second peal of London ever rung, and both are, I think, recorded on the same board. Mr. Pike said that an old ringer had told him—it may have been the conductor, William Bannister, who survived well into this century—that two of the band, Samuel Teasel and George Cleveland, were soldiers garrisoned at Woolwich at the time, and that within a matter of days after the peal of London both had to leave with their regiment and were subsequently killed a few years later in the Crimean War.

I do not, of course, know whether this is just a legend, but as both men were College Youths, perhaps someone connected with that Society could throw more light on the matter. Certainly neither man appears to have taken part in subsequent peals at Woolwich, nor were any other local Surprise peals rung.

Crayford, Kent. E. A. BARNETT.

EXPANDING TENORS

Sir,—I must comment that Mr. Frank Warrington appears to be 'a don-hand' at increasing the weights of bells without recasting them. The tenor at Yaxley is given as 16 cwt. The last time these bells were rehung, in 1931, the tenor was stated to be 13 cwt. 2 qr. 24 lb., a fact known to local ringers.

The tenor at St. Mary's, Peterborough, is 8 cwt. 3 lb., and has always been published in peal reports as 8 cwt. What good purpose can be served by Mr. Warrington adding another 2 cwt. to it unless he thinks the headstock, clapper, wheel and rope should be counted in as the weight of the bell? The founders, however, think differently.

I should be very much surprised if Eynesbury tenor is anything like 14 cwt. I put it nearer 9 cwt. when there at a meeting two years ago.

A Remedy?

Dear Sir,—There is another way of saving your space in addition to that mentioned by Mr. Cannon, and that is to refrain from publishing letters as pointless as his. We have, during the last nine or ten years, become accustomed to the rationing of most of our pleasures, but to suggest peal rationing seems to me quite ridiculous. Why 25 a year? Why not 10 or even one? How many unsuccessful attempts would be allow?

If Mr. Cannon had ever been attached to one tower for any length of time he would have realised that, on the whole, the more ringing that takes place in a tower the fewer the complaints. People become accustomed to consistent ringing, but an isolated peal at many towers provokes an absolute uproar. Perhaps Mr. Cannon can call to mind one such tower!

It is, of course, customary for ringers to criticise theoretical articles which they are unable to understand—and as far as the recent series on London Royal is concerned, Mr. Cannon has my sympathy—but he will probably admit that without such articles the Exercise would never have advanced far beyond the stage when the summit of a conductor's ambition was to call Holt's Original.

With regard to his suggestion that a vote be taken among peal ringers only before the style of peal reporting is changed, this is an insult to those readers who are not peal ringers, but have an equal right to express their views on matters concerning 'The Ringing World.'—

Burgess Hill. F. I. HAIRS.

SUGGESTED GEORGE WILLIAMS COMMEMORATION DINNER

Dear Sir, — At the committee meeting of Winchester and Portsmouth Diocesan Guild it was revealed that the date chosen for the South of England Ringers' Rally this year at Christchurch was the late Mr. George Williams' birthday—May 7th.

A proposal will be formally moved at the dinner for the function to be known from now on as the 'George Williams Commemoration Dinner,' and we shall have this Grand Old Man of Ringing very much in our minds this year.

We hope many of his friends will feel persuaded to attend this year's rally to pay further tribute to Mr. George Williams' life of service to the Exercise.—Yours faithfully,

ARTHUR V. DAVIS, Hon. Sec.

BROADCAST APPRECIATED

Dear Sir,—Having just heard to-night's programme on the B.B.C. Home Service (Wednesday, March 9th), 'In Britain Now,' I was very pleased to hear that one of the items was excerpts from the proceedings at the Henry Johnson Commemoration Dinner last Saturday. Such publicity is very good for the art—let us hope the B.B.C. will give us more publicity on occasions of this type.

May I congratulate those who took part in the Stedman Cinques on handbells. The striking was excellent and we heard the ringing for about two minutes to the end of the touch. The tune ringing, too, was very good and well recorded.

The announcer's technical data was quite accurate except that we were informed, to my surprise, that Stedman Cinques is rung with the tenor turned in!

Anyway, congratulations, Birmingham? —

Yours sincerely, PETER N. BOND.

IDENTITY ESTABLISHED

Dear Sir,—I thank you for the publicity given to my letter of February 11th, headed 'Identity Wanted,' and also Mr. Preston for his reply on February 25th. Having given Mr. Sharpe the information he asked, he has identified the book as 'Campanalogia,' which was published in 1677. I also thank Mr. Sharpe for the trouble he has taken in this matter.

THE STAMPED ENVELOPE

Dear Sir,—Now is the time when secretaries of towers are beginning to make their arrangements for annual ringing tours and days. As an incumbent who often is asked for permission to ring on his bells during such an outing, may I suggest that those responsible for writing for permission should send a stamped addressed envelope with their request? Some do, many don't, but I'm sure all ought to, if only as a matter of courtesy.—Yours sincerely,

Southampton. K. W. H. FELSTEAD.

METHOD EXTENSION

The second instalment of Mr. W. Taylor's article on Method Extension is, owing to pressure on our space, held over until a subsequent issue.

Another 'Ten' for Lancashire

Saturday, March 5th, was another red letter day for Lancashire ringers. The Lancashire Association had fixed their committee meeting to coincide with the opening of the augmented ring at the Roman Catholic Cathedral Church of St. Peter, Lancaster.

When it became known that this fine ring of eight with its 25 cwt. tenor was to be augmented to 10, there was much speculation as to whether it would be a successful splice owing to the peculiar weight of the bells, but all doubts have been removed, and Messrs. Mears and Stainbank are to be congratulated on their work, for it was the unanimous opinion of all who attended that they are a grand ring of ten.

The Cathedral is situated on high ground overlooking the Lune Valley, with a background of trees. This enhances its beauty and enables the bells to be heard by the surrounding countryside.

Over 60 ringers attended, despite the very bad weather, and all were served with tea. In response to a vote of thanks for the tea and general arrangements, Mr. J. Woods extended a hearty welcome to all ringers who happen to be in the Lancaster and Morecambe district, on holiday, during the coming season.

P. C.

WEST DORSET BRANCH.

The quarterly meeting of the branch brought about 30 members together at Bradpole on February 26th, with visitors from Queen Camel and Hartington Mandeville. The Rector (the Rev. B. N. Carver) was assisted at the service by the Master, the Rev. C. Carew Cox, and gave a plain-spoken address on a ringer's duty of worship.

Tea was enjoyed in the Forster Institute, fellowed by the business meeting with the Master in the chair, supported by the Rector, the Revs. C. F. Chase and O. C. Willmott, the hon. secretary (Mr. C. H. Lathey) and Messrs. H. D. W. Bishop and H. G. Keeley (Ringing Masters).

The next meeting was fixed for Hawkchurch and Thorncombe on July 6th and notice was given of the annual meeting of the Guild, to be held at Dorchester on May 21st. The following new members were elected: The Misses Vera Legg and A. Scott (Loders), Messrs. Jackson House and Geoffrey Deane (Powerstock).

Cordial thanks were expressed to the Rector for his welcome and address, to Mr. B. Elsworth, the branch organist; also to Miss Robinson, who, with the local ringers' wives and friends, had provided and served the ample tea.

Three courses of Grandsire Caters were rung on handbells by the Lyme Regis members, who also gave a demonstration of the 'rise and fall' and the 'whole pull and stand' on ten.

Methods rung ranged from call changes to the four standard methods, Double Norwich, Cambridge and Superlative Surprise Major.

WEDDING

The wedding took place at Blo'Norton, Norfolk, Parish Church on Saturday, March 5th, between Mr. Eric G. Bennett, of Garboldisham, and Miss Violet M. Anness, of Blo-Norton. The service was conducted by the Rector, the Rev. W. R. N. Hawthorn, and was fully choral. There was a large congregation present.

After the ceremony the bells were fired and a touch of Oxford Treble Bob Minor was rung by Kathleen Harrison (Diss) 1, A. G. Harrison (Diss) 2, C. J. More (Palgrave) 3, F. C. Roper (Winfarthing) 4, W. G. Saunders (New Buckenham) 5, W. A. Lock (Yaxley) 6.

Afterwards the ringers went to Garboldisham where the reception was held, and rang a peal of Minor on the bells of the Parish Church.

The bridegroom is one of the most popular and well-known members of the Norwich Diocesan Association of Ringers. W. A. L.

MR. E. W. MENDAY.

The death occurred in January of Mr. E. W. Menday, of Caversham, Reading, aged 83. He was associated with St. Peter's, Caversham, since boyhood when he sang in the choir. He joined the Oxford Diocesan Guild in 1884 and was elected to the Ancient Society of College Youths ten years later.

He was a member of the celebrated Caversham band, which included at different times Canon Coleridge, the Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn and Mr. Richard T. Hibbert, and rang many peals up to London Surprise in the 25 years before the 1914 war.

MRS. R. WHITE.

The 'March 4th' celebration at Appleton was this year marred by the death at 8 a.m. on the day of the meeting of Mrs. White, the wife of Mr. Richard White. Many ringers, from past presidents of the Central Council to the humblest beginner, have always received a homely welcome from Mr. and Mrs. White if they called at the house. She will be much missed for her unfailing hospitality to all ringers.

The funeral service was at Appleton, Berks, on March 9th. After the service 1,259 Grandsire Caters was rung by C. G. White 1, E. Drewitt 2, F. White 3, G. Bishop 4, F. Messenger 5, B. L. Brown 6, H. C. White 7, G. Holifield (cond.) 8, F. C. White 9, F. White 10. Friends will join us in an expression of deepest sympathy to the family.

PROGRESS IN CORNWALL

The 'Pydar Rovers,' an unattached band of ringers from various towers in the Deanery of Pydar, N. Cornwall, have succeeded in making history for the Truro Diocesan Guild. Under the instruction of Lt.-Comdr. R. G. Cross this roving band has frequently figured in the peal columns since June last. Twelve months ago only two or three of the band knew anything at all of method ringing, but progress has since been rapid, and most of the members now have several peals to their credit.

Ringing has been mostly confined to five and six-bell work, and the last peal at Crantock, on February 12th, one of Doubles in 15 methods, clearly reveals the extent of the band's progress, and is a striking tribute to the untiring efforts of their instructor. Practices are held at various towers, and often quite long journeys are involved, but in spite of rain and wind and long cycle rides, the band has managed to keep going.

One gratifying feature of its activity is the new sphere of interest that it has presented to round-ringers in the area, a number of whom are now taking the first steps towards change ringing. The band will welcome any offers of ringing assistance from those more experienced in the art who may be coming to this locality during the next summer, and Mr F. D. Teague, School House, St. Columb, Cwll., will be pleased to hear from prospective visitors and to arrange suitable ringing excursions.

'BARTON BELLS'

THERE have been many histories written of church bells, but few have so captured the spirit of the people as the work of Mr. W. O. Varah concerning the two rings of bells at St. Peter's and St. Mary's, Barton-upon-Humber. His book has three appeals. To local people it is a human document giving a straightforward account in non-technical language of the place of the bells in daily life extended over the centuries; to the antiquarian there is embodied in the volume much research into churchwardens' accounts and other sources, together with valuable connecting data which could only be supplied by practical knowledge of ringing; and finally to ringers themselves it is a story of past endeavour and love of bells and also a practical method of contributing towards the Restoration Fund for the present bells, as any profit from the book will go to this object.

St. Peter's, Barton, tower was built in the 11th century and St. Mary's a century later. Three of the bells have the crest of Henry Oldfield, bellfounder, of Nottingham, about 1595. The first Henry Oldfield was living in 1558, while the second, probably a son, joined in the business with Robert Quernbie some time before 1593. Lincolnshire had seven bellfounders in days gone by, at Boston, Brigg, Grantham, Lincoln, Stamford, Barrow-on-Humber and Barton-on-Humber. The two last named were managed by the Harrison family. Between 1789 and 1833 between 70 and 80 bells in Lincolnshire were cast at Barton, and those outside the county include the tenor of Newcastle Cathedral.

An interesting chapter is told of events in 1640-41, when the 'Great Bell' of St. Mary's fell down 'the well in the bell chamber' and the 'Second Bell' appears to have been cracked at the same time which necessitated it being recast. This recasting took place at Lincoln, probably by George Oldfield, of Nottingham. The bell was transported by ox-wagon, the two churchwardens accompanying the wagon, the journey of 33 miles taking two days. The cost of recasting was £9 4s., a price which many a Parochial Church Council would envy to-day, being based on 15s. a hundredweight, plus two guineas for three stones of extra bell metal used in the process. The workmen were paid a shilling for the actual labour in casting, and a further shilling was paid for help to pull the bell out of the pit in which it was recast.

Typical of Middle Age usage of bells was the Barley Bell at Barton, which was maintained until 1860. The Parish Clerk was paid twopence yearly for every ox-gang of land in the parish, and in return had to ring one of the bells of St. Peter's for an hour every evening on a working day from the time of leading home the first load of barley until Shrove Tuesday. The object was to notify the time to the workers in the fields when they had not the sun to go by.

Both world wars resulted in the enrichment of Barton bells. In memory of 164 Barton men who gave their lives in the first World War the ring of six at St. Peter's was augmented to eight by Messrs. John Taylor and Co., and the first peal of Plain Bob Major was rung on the bells on November 12th, 1921, nearly 11 months after dedication. St. Mary's bells, hitherto a ring of four, were augmented to eight in August, 1947, by Messrs. Gillett and Johnston. The third bell was in memory of the late Canon W. E. Varah, Vicar of Barton-on-Humber from 1914 to 1945, and was the gift of his family, and the other three in honour of the Barton men and women who fell in the second World War. The inscription on the treble reads:—

'To their unchanging memory
To ring the changes
Through the changing times.'

Mr. Varah concludes his story with the report of the dedication service: 'As the service ended the bells rang out, the belfry rocked with their clanging, and the sweet tones sped out over the roof tops, over the marshy farmlands, out over the fields and silent wolds, to where dwellers in the loneliest cottages on the farthest border of the old parish listened in wonder.' 'Barton Bells' can be obtained from W. O. Varah, 29, Butts, Barton-upon-Humber, Lincs, price 3s. 6d.

BELFRY GOSSIP

By air mail from Hobart, Tasmania, Mr. A. R. Wilson informs us that a good peal of Plain Bob Minor was rung on February 21st on the bells of St. David's Cathedral for the visit of Mr. Anthony Eden. The members afterwards adjourned to Hadley's Hotel opposite the Cathedral and drank the health of Britain's war-time Foreign Minister.

The peal unfortunately almost completely upset the annual meeting of the Royal Empire Society being held in the hotel. It was a case of conflict in the one cause, as the object of the Society and that of Mr. Eden is to direct attention to need for loyalty to the British Commonwealth. Mr. Wilson's brother is incidentally treasurer of the Royal Empire Society.

The Oxford Diocesan Guild annual meeting has been fixed for July 23rd.

Mr. Harold V. Frost has rung Cambridge from Minor to Maximus.

Mrs. M. Ditmas, who rang a peal 'in hand' at Bournemouth, is better known to the Exercise as Miss Monica Richardson.

Terms for the Adelphi Hotel, York, are 30s. per day inclusive for Whitsuntide and not as published in 'The Ringing World.'

Mr. Brian D. Threlfall, who was to have stood in a Cambridge University Guild peal at Mildenhall, Suffolk, was taken suddenly ill and had to be rushed into hospital. Latest report indicates that he hopes to be about by Easter.

Would conductors of Kent County Association peals please note that the correct address of the peal secretary is P. A. Corby, 83, Hurstbourne Road, Forest Hill, S.E.23. Mr. Corby's address is wrongly given at one place in the latest K.C.A. report.

Complaints have reached us of the system of electric reproduction in place of church bells at St. John's, Torquay. 'The volume employed, the many distortions and abruptness in start and finish have produced a cacophony very distressing to near neighbours. No one else would be permitted to make so much noise without the most vehement protests and possible action on the part of the authorities,' writes Mr. J. Hammond.

The Vicar of Chippenham, the Rev. P. Snow, is appealing for £2,000 to rebuild the tower and a spire and to rehang the eight bells.

Two new trebles were dedicated by the Bishop of Dover on March 17th at St. Nicholas', Hannington, as a war memorial.

In connection with the Bishop of London's Mission from May 7th to May 22nd, a request has been made for the full co-operation of ringers in ringing church bells.

Will the person who took the wrong hat (black felt) from the Oxford Diocesan Guild General Committee meeting at Reading please communicate with the owner, the Rev. E. C. S. Lowman, Bray Vicarage, Maidenhead.

Another member of the Diserens family of Reading has entered the list of ringers. R. F. Diserens, aged 12, rang his first quarter of Grandsire Triples from the treble at St. Mary's, Reading, on March 13th.

Mr. Albert Walker writes to correct an error in our report of the Johnson dinner. He is not the retiring Master. He was elected Master in January, 1949, in succession to Cclr. A. Paddon Smith, who had held the office for two years, 1947 and 1948. Mr. Walker was first elected Master in 1944 and served in that post in 1945 and 1946, when he would not allow his name to go forward.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

A Living Record

Dear Sir, — Several of your correspondents who have written about the reporting of peals seem quite satisfied with the present style, and ask why a change is necessary. Well, are we to regard 'The Ringing World' as a newspaper—a live record of current happenings—or merely as a chronicle of past events? Surely peals are news? Would we tolerate any other newspaper which got so far behind? Imagine our own daily having got no further than the Hammersmith by-election and the last Test Match but one! Would we then suggest that we should hold fewer by-elections, Test Matches, etc., to enable the Press to keep pace? What an idea!

Mr. Rogers speaks of the thrill he got as a schoolboy when he received a certificate of merit for doing something more than the average scholar. But when he has rung an ordinary peal (and the great majority are in this class—I am not talking about 22 Spliced Surprise, or anything like that) does he really imagine he has done something more than the average ringer? One has only to look at the peal columns to see that by ringing a peal, one has done no more than the average ringer; in fact, one has done what hundreds of other average ringers are doing every week. The size and style of the report has nothing to do with the difficulty or magnitude of the achievement. To try and pretend, by printing the reports in large type, that we have done something very difficult or very out of the ordinary is really rather a foolish form of self-deception. Last year, on an average, just over fifty peals were rung each week.

I am not trying to run down peal ringing. To my mind it forms the best part of a very fine hobby. But we must not deceive ourselves into thinking that, by ringing a peal — or even a hundred peals—we have done something akin to winning an event at the Olympic Games or the chess championship of the world.

Mr. Rogers wishes to be spared the 'new look.' I am not advocating any new look, but rather that we abandon the far too generous fashion of the last century, and cut our coat according to the cloth. Would Mr. Rogers want to go back to the fashion of erecting enormous peal boards? Do such boards enhance the value of any performance they record in the slightest degree? Yet this practice was common when the present style of reporting was evolved.

C. W. WOOLLEY.

METHOD CRITICISMS ANSWERABLE

Dear Sir,—To all those expressing kind appreciation of the recent articles on Method Structure (with London extension), and to all others interested in progress based upon the truth of these things, may I be permitted, as an interim reply to criticisms being raised, to say that there are complete answers or refutations, largely derivable from C.C. publications. And may I recall that the major issue is as to principles of method structure, extension being one of its narrower fields.—Yours very truly,

A. YORK-BRAMBLE.

Good Striking

Sir,—The paragraph on striking in 'Change ringing on handbells' (page 5) is incorrect, in my opinion, and reveals muddled thinking.

A statement that the blows in a pair of rows should be evenly spaced is followed by the paradoxical suggestion that the last bell at handstroke should lag and the last bell at backstroke should clip, in order to improve the leading. How this can result in evenly spaced blows is not explained; nor is it made clear why a ringer capable of making such fine distinctions in timing should not be equally capable of leading correctly without their aid.

The passage continues: 'On no account should it (i.e., the last bell) hold off or drag at backstroke; doing this reduces the handstroke interval and destroys rhythm.'

Even if this instruction were correct, the reason given for it would be wrong. The open handstroke occupies time specifically allowed for it, not time robbed from the preceding backstroke.

But the instruction itself is wrong. Good striking, as I understand it, involves a rallentando effect at the end of backstroke rows to enhance the cadence produced by the last few bells. Thus, the last bell at backstroke should lag slightly; with advantage, the last bell but one may also lag, though to a lesser degree.

The book under consideration bears neither the author's name nor any statement disclaiming responsibility by the Central Council for the instructions it contains. Unless these instructions have the unanimous approval of the Council (which is unlikely), the way in which they have been put before the Exercise is misleading. An explanation of the status of the book should apparently be given by those responsible for its production.—Yours sincerely,

MAURICE HODGSON.

Dedication

A NEW RING OF TEN FOR SOMERSET.

What is considered by many knowledgeable people to be the finest tower in Somerset, at Evercreech, now houses a fine modern ring of ten, by Messrs. John Taylor and Co., and on March 12th the bells were dedicated by the Lord Bishop of Bath and Wells. The church was filled for the service and the clergy present were Canon J. M. Alcock, Bishop's Chaplain, the Revs. W. J. Bennett (Vicar), J. Wright (North Barrow), E. Ogden (Milton Clevedon), W. Pyke (North Cadbury) and J. F. Holt (Batcombe). After the dedication, the Bishop gave an address, taking as his text Ephesians 4, i. He particularly stressed the inseparability of the ringer's work in the tower with churchmanship.

As the congregation left the church the bells were rung by a representative band to four well-struck courses of Grandsire Caters, and as they made their way to a bountiful tea, prepared by the ladies of the parish, visiting ringers were able to appreciate the magnificent tone and balance of the ring.

The tower was open for the rest of the evening, and touches of Grandsire and Stedman Caters, mostly well struck, filled in the time till nine o'clock. A crowded belfry made ringing somewhat difficult, so that only the simpler methods were attempted, a good course of Cambridge Major finishing the ringing for the day. Ringers from Bristol, Trowbridge and Westbury, as well as ringers from most parts of Somerset, were present during the day, and Mr. John P. Fidler represented the founders.

This account cannot finish without a tribute to Henry J. Sanger, whose vision, determination and hard work initiated and brought to a successful conclusion this seemingly hopeless task.

3rd.—Laus Deo. Recast by gift of the Vicar and churchwardens.

5th.—In memory of Roy Belfield, and others of this parish who made the supreme sacrifice, 1939-1945. Recast by gift of Mr. and Mrs. R. Gulliver.

6th.—The Parishioners' Bell. Recast by their gifts. W. J. Bennett, Vicar. P. Allen and O. J. Woodborne, Churchwardens.

7th.—Recast. By gift of ringers of this tower and the West Country. H. J. Sanger, Captain.

9th.—Tempore Satus et Messis Domino Laus. The gift of the farmers of this parish.

Tenor.—Recast. To the memory of J. Purnell Luff, died August 25th, 1945.

Weight of tenor, 21 cwt. 17 lb.

LAMBETH, LONDON.—On Feb. 27th, 1,260 Grandsire Triples: A. Jones 1, Joan Yearsley 2, Francis Edgar 3, Janet Mattinson 4, W. Hardy 5, P G. Parrott 6, D. N. Layton (cond.) 7, P. M. J. Gray 8.

Shropshire Association

MASTER REPROVED.

The first of the year's ordinary meetings was held at Wem on March 12th. Attendance was not high, but the gathering was most representative. After ringing in the afternoon the Vicar conducted a welcoming and enjoyable service. The time occupied in endeavouring to get the organ started exceeded the length of the service! After tea in Kynaston's Cafe a short business meeting was held, at which several members were elected.

The secretary was asked if he had received any apologies for absence, and on his replying in the negative, there ensued a spirited discussion based on the fact that several members of the Market Drayton band, with the Ringing Master (Mr. A. Pritchard), were engaged in a peal attempt at Market Drayton that afternoon.

Some most scathing remarks were passed on this point and it was decided to send this report to 'The Ringing World' and that the secretary should write to the Ringing Master a suitable letter in reproof.

TEA IN THE BELFRY

Dear Sir,—I strongly advise lady ringers not to take up the challenge of Mr. N. Chaddock to provide cups of tea in the belfry.

One thing leads to another, and a cup of tea would soon be a cup of tea and bun, and then tea, sandwich and bun, until eventually the only connection the ladies would have with the ringing would be to pass the refreshments through the belfry door.

I have had considerable experience of church organisations and have found that all too often a woman's part in the activities degenerates back to the sink, from which she had so hopefully wished to escape.

In the case of extremely cold belfries a cure is better than temporary relief, and I suggest that the ringers should get together and pool their ideas and then make a determined attack on the offending draughts. If an expensive article, such as a screen or heavy curtain, is required, send a few words to the Parish Magazine describing the work of the ringers with a postscript on how badly they need a certain article. Such appeals are usually successful, or apply to the Church Council, either in writing or personally at a general meeting. Another way is to enlist the help of a popular church worker to raise the necessary money.

Throughout this country women in all social circles are taking an intelligent and active part in bellringing, and any suggestion that they are there for adornment, social atmosphere or tea making must be nipped in the bud.

E. DORICE KELLY, Hon. Sec.,
Northern District, Ladies' Guild.

WELLINGTON, SOMERSET, BELLS

Dear Sir,—The bells of the Church of St. John, Wellington, are to be recast by Messrs. John Taylor and Co., and were removed to the foundry about a month ago

I am sure that all our friends in the Exercise will join with me in congratulating our Vicar, the Rev. Preb. J. H. D. Grinter, on his wise decision. The magnitude of his task may be judged by the fact that since his induction in 1933 he has reroofed the church, rearranged the whole of the interior, rebuilt the organ and renewed the heating system.

St. John's always had a call-change band until the ban on ringing was lifted, when a new band was trained by Mr. C. J. Stevens, and, thanks to his efforts, we were ringing Grandsire, Stedman and Plain Bob until it became necessary to dismantle the bells.

In view of the very heavy expenditure we have found it necessary to open a public subscription list, and if any ringers would feel disposed to make a small donation, it would be gratefully received by the Vicar.—Yours sincerely, DOUGLAS M. BELLAMY.

Wellington, Somerset.

The East Grinstead Guild

The 22nd annual meeting was held at East Grinstead on March 12th, attended by a very representative gathering of some 45 members. The service was conducted by the president, Dr. G. Golding-Bird, with an address by the Rev. S. G. Blaikie, of Crawley Down.

There was a pleasant surprise awaiting the company on arrival at the Parish Hall, for in the centre of the tea table was an iced cake, the top of which was an exact replica, in design and colouring, of the Guild's badge.

Before the meeting members stood in silence as a tribute to the late Mr. Harry Coomber, a founder member. Ten new members were elected, and the balance sheet showed an increase of £2 0s. 10d., although the money in hand was down, owing to the purchase of more Guild badges.

The report stated that the Guild continued in a very healthy state. Five peals were rung, the high spot being the peal of Kent Treble Bob Major by eight of the officers for the 21st birthday. Miss Stella Wickens, of Twineham, was congratulated on becoming the first lady to conduct a Guild peal.

Elections resulted as follows: Chairman, E. J. Ladd; vice-chairman, A. Relfe; hon. auditor, A. L. Ryman; committee, A. Laker, A. Lewry and B. Collinson; hon. treasurer, E. J. Oliver; hon. secretary, C. A. Bassett.

The meeting approved the purchase of a leather bound peal book and the erection of a board in East Grinstead tower to record the 21st birthday peal. It was also agreed that the Guild should revert to its old way of arranging meetings, the rota system having failed, owing to local conditions.

The summer outing was fixed for July 16th, the committee to arrange a trip into Surrey.

The meeting closed with the usual votes of thanks, in particular to Dr. Golding-Bird for giving the tea and conducting the service and meeting, also to Miss Shepherd and her helpers. Mr. Walter Ladd received the congratulations of the Guild on his coming diamond wedding on March 21st.

On returning to the tower, Mr. E. J. Ladd ably catered for all tastes in ringing, himself turning in the tenor, to bring out the beauty of this fine octave, in a well-struck course of Cambridge Major. C. A. B.

RINGABLE!

The peal rung at East Farndon, Northants, has dispersed the rumour that 'the bells weren't ringable and were unsafe.' It is thought that someone locally spread the rumour because of the Church Council's refusal to put them in iron fittings. The frame is good yet for many years and the wood headstocks were renewed in 1897, when the late Alfred Bowell rehung the old four and added a treble. The tenor has since been rehung on ball bearings by Taylors (1937). The bells have been rung twice only since 1945. Not one of the band showed the least sign of fatigue at the finish of the peal, which was the first on the bells. An outpost in the Peterborough Diocese, the first meeting has yet to be held at East Farndon.

OBITUARY

MR. JOHN GARRATT.

We regret to announce the death of Mr. John Garratt, of Sapcote, Leicestershire, at his home on March 9th.

Mr. Garratt, who was in his 84th year, joined the Midland Counties Association in 1890 and was made a life member in 1934. Although never a great peal ringer—he rang 11 peals in all — he was always a good Sunday service ringer.

The funeral took place at Sapcote on March 12th. A course of Grandsire Triples was rung at the graveside by C. Brown 1-2, F. K. Measures 3-4, A. Ballard 5-6, G. A. Newton 7-8. The tower bells were rung half-muffled after the service. F. K. M.

66 Years a Ringer

A BRISTOL WORTHY.

A pleasant little ceremony took place in the ringing chamber of Stapleton Parish Church Bristol, on March 14th, when an inscribed tobacco jar and pipe were presented to Mr. George Guy on his 78th birthday to mark his resignation as steeplekeeper.

He has been a regular ringer at Stapleton's six-bell tower for 66 years and has lately given up regular ringing only because of the difficulty of ascending the tower steps. He still chimes from the ground floor at alternate services and intends still to come up for a pull when he feels sound enough in wind (his limbs are sound).

His first 720 was scratched on the belfry stone-work 55 years ago and he still considers it a long enough length to ring. He has never rung a peal and says he offered up a silent prayer of thanks when his only attempt broke down. His devotion to the church and his care of the bells, clock and chiming apparatus remain an outstanding example to the younger ringers.

In reply to the good wishes of those present expressed by the tower captain, Mr. Walter Smith, Mr. Guy remarked that he thought prospects for ringing at Stapleton were now as bright as at any time in the past 60 years. With a Rector who expressed his appreciation of the work done, an assistant curate himself a ringer, and a young band of twelve ringers and learners there was nothing to stop them reaching the heights.

In reminiscent vein he recounted how, when as a boy of twelve he joined them, the ringers were reckoned a tough hard-drinking crew, but there was no doubting their keenness. On more than one occasion, for Christmas or Easter early Communion, some of them had to have a generous layer of frost brushed off them after sleeping all night in the churchyard, no doubt suitably 'fortified' at the adjoining hostelry.

An attempted quarter-peal came to grief, but Mr. Guy joined in some excellent Treble Bob and a course or two of Grandsire Minor, his favourite method. R. G. B.

NORTHERN DISTRICT.

The Northern Division held a very encouraging meeting at Stisted on March 12th, when 45 members attended from 14 parishes, which, considering that Stisted is rather isolated from either bus or train, this attendance was most encouraging.

The service was conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. G. Binnie), whose address was very bright, as was the singing led by the choir and organist.

At the meeting, which followed tea in the Institute, the District Master (Miss H. G. Snowden) presided. Eight probationer members, all from Stebbing, were elected, and Dunmow was chosen as the next place of meeting.

The question of teaching change ringing in various towers in the district, after the local band were taught to handle the bells, was discussed at length. It was finally agreed that a few volunteers would visit some of these towers.

Votes of thanks to the Vicar and all for making the meeting successful were passed. Handbells were rung in various methods, and the tower bells were kept going during the afternoon and evening.

GLOUCESTER AND BRISTOL ASSN.

Forty ringers attended the quarterly meeting of the Swindon Branch at Rodbourne Cheney on March 12th, and good practice was had in eight different methods. The Vicar (the Rev. J. R. Hassett) conducted the Association form of service, and tea was provided by wives of the local ringers. It was proposed that meetings be held at Blunsdon, Castle Eaton and Bishopstone during the next three months.

METHOD EXTENSION

By W. TAYLOR.

I noticed in an early instalment (January 14th) that Mr. York-Bramble designates a bell lying behind as the treble leads or a bell leading a whole pull as the treble lies behind as an 'Extreme.' It may interest the modern generation to learn that adjoining places on the lead or behind were described by our ancestors as 'Extremes' because in such a case, e.g., 2nds when treble is leading the 2nds is moved its extreme distance from the normal lying a whole pull behind. I can't understand why Mr. York-Bramble desires to change this established and ancient custom unless indeed he desires to confuse us by indiscriminate use of terms.

When the treble lies its whole pull behind (at the half-lead) the other bell making a place is called the pivot bell, because it reverses its path from here and finishes at the lead end (handstroke blow) in the same position it occupied at the previous lead head (back stroke blow). This is an essential condition for the production of Bob Major or coursing lead ends and heads. The pivot bell may make its place in any odd position counting from the lead, i.e., in 1sts or 3rds or 5ths or 7ths for Major. N.B.—The half-lead rows are not necessarily in coursing order, but they must be related to coursing order in certain definite ways. It is generally agreed that 1sts and 7ths of Major correspond to 1sts and 5ths of Minor respectively; neither 3rds nor 5ths of Major corresponds exactly to 3rds of Minor. Mr. York-Bramble appears to contend that 5ths of Major corresponds to 3rds of Minor because both are 4ths from behind. This is not necessarily true and, I think, fallacious.

It may reasonably be argued that at the half-lead rows, 5ths of Royal corresponds to 3rds of Minor, both are midway. In which case it could be contended that neither 3rds nor 7ths has a counterpart in Minor. Of course, this is not the complete argument, but I leave it at that for the present.

Mr. York-Bramble asks us to describe an internal place in the body of the lead as a 'Stat' (or places, I take it) and tells us that it always causes dodging. For the benefit of the ordinary ringer 'a Stat' is the equivalent of a bob made at the parting of the leads and has a corresponding effect on coursing order. I agree it may be desirable to have a special name for places in the body of the lead and that 'Stat' is as good as any. The Stat doesn't necessarily cause dodging, as I will demonstrate presently. Indeed, I think it is possible to ring upwards of 5,000 changes in Major without one complete dodge in the composition!

Adjoining places have the same effect as an Extreme (used in old sense). The bells making adjoining places exchange duties in the coursing order, e.g., the 3-4 places of Oxford Treble Bob when treble is in 1-2 (ought I to say AoAe?) change coursing order from 24687531 to 23687541, which is restored to 24687531 when the treble dodges in 1-2 down; meanwhile the line lead or slow hunt or, more correctly, the series of extremes with the 2nd, moves the treble progressively from 3124 to 3214 in coursing order, which in the absence of an Extreme (2nds place) when the treble leads produces the second lead head 14263857 (in Major) counting rounds as the first.

If the reader examines the following half-lead he will find that in spite of several Stats there is no dodging. The nearest approach to a dodge is caused by a Stedman whole turn on the lead.

When 8ths is used at the parting of the leads and Singles only used with the plain leads (678) lying, quite a long length can be rung without any dodging in the ordinary sense.

SOMERBY, LEICESTERSHIRE.

The Bishop of Leicester dedicated on March 5th a new treble bell at Somerby Parish Church, Leicestershire. The service was conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. R. G. Sowerby) and the lesson read by Mr. H. J. Poole, president of the Leicester Diocesan Guild. The Bishop gave an address.

After the service a well-struck touch of Minor was rung by Josiah Morris (on the new treble), J. H. Cook 2, J. Oldham 3, G. T. H. Walker 4, Colin Harrison (cond.) 5, A. Fenton 6.

Following tea at the Memorial Institute, a programme of handbell ringing was given. Ringers from the following towers were represented: Leicester Cathedral, St. Margaret's (Leicester), St. John the Divine (Leicester), Syston, Loughborough, Ashby Folville, Twyford, Great Dalby, Kirby Bellars, Asfordby, Melton, Eaton and Hose. In the evening, touches of Cambridge Surprise, Kent Treble Bob, Plain Bob, Grandsire and Stedman were rung.

It is interesting to note that in 1552 there were three bells and a sanctus bell; in 1767 a fourth was added; in 1806 the four were reduced to three, the three bells of 1552 were useless and sold and two bells put in their place; in 1813 a new bell for an old one; in 1891 the three bells were recast with additional metal into a ring of five.

Now the record is completed—the bells have been rehung and rearranged and the ring of six completed in the year 1948. The joy of having completed this history goes to Mr. and Mrs. Jack Stimson, assisted by many helpers. The £250 necessary was raised in less than a year—a great achievement.

A correspondent writes: This is a fairly good example of a three-part peal of Treble Bob, but it is rather spoilt by the fact that the first course in each part has a most unmusical course end. This composition has the very good quality of never having the 2nd dodging behind with the tenor. It is, of course, quite true when rung to Oxford, but when rung to this variation the 2nd does dodge behind with the tenor a few times in each part.

BARWELL RINGERS

At the annual meeting of the Barwell ringers, Mr. C. R. Belton and Mr. G. P. Garner were re-elected captain and vice-captain respectively. Mr. T. C. Belton succeeded Mr. A. A. Lucas as secretary, the Rev. J. D. Wakeling (curate) treasurer, and A. H. Hough and J. Armstrong joint towerkeepers.

The annual outing has been arranged to Cambridge on May 21st. Local ringers wishing to travel with Barwell ringers should contact Mr. T. C. Belton.

Mr. W. P. Whitehead was thanked by the Rector for his work among his ringers, by putting his ringing abilities at their disposal throughout the year. The Rev. J. D. Wakeling was elected a ringing member.

THE FAMILY AND THE PARSON

WITHOUT exaggeration, we can say that in nine out of ten parishes the relationship between the incumbent and his ringers is most cordial. Understanding between man and man is twofold in character and not a one-sided affair, and where an endeavour is made by both sides to see the other's viewpoint, then both sides pull together. Both ringers and the incumbent are in the same service, their loyalty to the Church, and each has his respective sphere of usefulness.

What is of concern to both clergy and ringers is that small minority of towers where a happy relationship does not exist. Can this coolness and indifference to each other's work be overcome? The primary purpose of bellringing to-day is ringing in the service of the Church, not in the advancement of the Exercise. But the second purpose is a means towards the fulfilment of the first. Take the parallel of church music and hymn tunes and chants; the maudlin sentimentality of the last century in much of the singing is gradually giving way to the contribution of modern music. And so it is with ringing. The advancement beyond the standard methods can only be accomplished by the maintenance of enthusiasm, and one of the means towards that enthusiasm is by peal ringing. The mastery of a method by a peal and the discipline involved all contribute to the introduction of a higher standard. These principles should be understood by non-ringing clergy.

We feature in this issue the answers given by Chancellor Kenneth Macmorran, K.C., one of the leading authorities on Church law, to difficulties confronting a band of ringers which has certain elements of estrangement with the incumbent. One of the points made by the Chancellor is the drawing up of a simple set of rules for conduct in the belfry. In towers with a tradition the ringers have their own set of rules drawn up to be applicable to the special local conditions, and these rules are generally observed. Ringing to be faithfully performed requires discipline, and during the process it is essential that the authority of the captain or master should be unchallenged. This is strongly upheld by Chancellor Macmorran.

The Central Council has never questioned the rights of the incumbent over the ringing of the bells of his church. What is not generally known outside ringing circles is the highly organised state of the Exercise. The division of the country into diocesan or territorial guilds and the cementing of these bodies into a central organisation have created a fraternity that has knit the ringers of the country into one large family. This family spirit finds its expression in many directions, particularly in the welcome extended to the visiting ringer, and it is very true to say that any young man (or woman) who through the exigencies of work or the Services finds himself in a strange town or village has friends in the belfry. We should like all incumbents to know of the presence of this large family, to stimulate and help it forward, and to welcome strange faces in their belfries. At the writer's own tower rarely a Sunday passes in the summer months without a visitor. The incumbent has full confidence in the captain of the ringers and would never dream of questioning the right of the captain in inviting the stranger 'to take a rope. We should like to see such confidence manifest in every tower of the land. The main purpose of 'The Ringing World' is that it constitutes the link in the ringing family. It is being run as a family journal, and it is the Editor's principal aim to do all he possibly can to foster such an objective. Upon this family principle the Church can best be served, and we hope that all incumbents, if not active members, will become honorary members of their respective Diocesan Guild or Association.

BELFRY GOSSIP

Surely this is a record. Mr. George Poyntz has been a member of the Norwich Diocesan Association for 40 years, and the peal at Saxlingham Nethergate on March 11th was the first birthday compliment with bells that he had received.

The tenor at Grimley, Worcs., to which a peal was rung on March 12th, is dated 1482.

Mr. George E. Symonds has rung peals of Kent Treble Bob from Minor to Maximus.

Oxford University Society marked the coming-of-age of Mr. David Gallop with the first peal of Plain Bob Triples for the Society.

Mr. W. J. Button has 'circled' Helmingham, Suffolk, tower; Mr. Ernest Stitch, Aberavon, Glam., for the fourth time.

The Editor is always pleased to publish early information of the placing of contracts for augmentations and rehanging of bells. Information frequently reaches him first through other church newspapers.

Serving at Lichfield Barracks, Mr. John Newell approached the local ringers and expressed a desire to ring. Now six months after he has rung his first peal at Alrewas, Staffs. It was also the first peal for Miss June Brindley (14). A full crop of blisters reminds her of the peal, but she says she is quite prepared to have another go.

Friends of Southwark Cathedral met in the Chapter House on March 12th for a lantern lecture given by Dr. D. H. Cranage, some time Dean of Norwich. After tea the friends went to the Cathedral for evensong, during which the Bishop of Woolwich dedicated a tablet which records the fact that the twelve bells of the Cathedral were rehung and retuned at the sole charge of the Friends in 1947.

May 14th is being planned as a big ringing day in London in connection with the Bishop of London's mission. It is hoped to ring in every tower and there will be a number of peal attempts. The co-operation of all ringers is sought and they are asked to communicate with Mr. E. C. S. Turner, 41, Windsor Road, Ealing, or Mr. T. J. Lock, 57, Holloways Lane, North Mimms.

Change ringing has taken place at Bromyard, Herefordshire, for over 50 years. The local band have now scored their first peal at the fourth attempt.

Thorpe Bay, Essex, bells were dedicated in July, 1947, and were the gift of Mr. Albert Mitchell in memory of his wife. The first peal on the bells was an in memoriam peal to the donor.

Mr. F. G. Handley has completed Stedman from Doubles to Cinques, and Mr. C. Wallater, by a peal at Wollaston, Worcs., has performed the same in each of the counties of Staffordshire, Worcestershire and Shropshire.

The Rev. F. F. Gilbert, Vicar of St. Stephen's-in-Brannel, Cornwall, on Sunday, March 13th, made a presentation to Mr. J. T. Creeber, who has been a member of the Parish Church choir for 60 years and a bellringer for 53 years.

The band that rang the peal of London Surprise Major at the Priory Church, Lancaster, on March 12th, were afterwards entertained to tea by the Lord Bishop, and received a warm welcome from the head verger and the local ringers.

Three Bournemouth ringers—Mrs. Marshall-say, D. T. Matkin and W. G. Young—concluded their Birmingham visit to the Johnson dinner with a peal of Surprise with the Leicester crack band. Five handbell peals were also scored. We are thinking of a special supplement!

INCUMBENTS AND RINGERS

DIOCESAN CHANCELLOR EXPLAINS THE POSITION.

The Editor has been fortunate to secure the findings of Chancellor Kenneth Macmorran, K.C., Chancellor of the Guildford and a number of Dioceses, on what has at times been a difficult question respecting the relationship between an incumbent and his ringers. The question arose from a letter to the Editor asking for advice on a number of points.

The letter from the captain of a village band of ringers states:—

Could you tell me what authority or powers an incumbent has over his ringers (if any)? I quite understand his authority and power over the bells when they shall or can be rung.

(1) Has the incumbent (by virtue of his office) power to say he is chairman or president of the ringers, and they must let him know when they hold meetings, discuss or arrange a supper, dance or outing, so that he can be present and preside?

(2) I know all strange ringers wishing to come and have a ring or ring a peal must first get his permission, but has he the right to say to the captain or vice-captain that before either brings into the tower a recruit who is anxious to join the band, he must consult him and say, 'This young man or woman is anxious to learn; will it be all right?' In my opinion, the captain has the power to bring into the tower whoever he thinks fit, providing the person concerned is a member of the Church of England (a confirmed member), who is willing to accept the traditions and rules of the band.

(3) Must the incumbent be subject to the captain's instructions if he is a ringer, or can he demand to be head of everything connected with ringers or ringing?

THE CHANCELLOR'S OPINION.

Chancellor Kenneth Macmorran writes:—

I do not think that an incumbent is entitled to be chairman or president of the ringers, or to attend their meetings except when such meetings are actually held in the church (including the belfry). But neither parochial ringers nor stranger ringers have any right to ring the church bells. The incumbent is certainly entitled to give or refuse permission for the bells to be rung, except possibly on the occasion of divine service, in which case I think that the joint permission of the incumbent and churchwardens is necessary.

If there is a properly constituted team of ringers under a captain, I think that the incumbent ought to leave to the captain a reasonable discretion as to the introduction of a recruit into the belfry. But the incumbent would, I think, be justified in refusing the captain access to the bells if the latter brought into the belfry any person of obviously unsuitable character, e.g., an habitual profane swearer.

If the incumbent is himself a ringer, he must obey the captain's directions in the technique and practice of ringing in the same way as any other member of the team.

It is desirable that the incumbent and the captain should agree on a simple set of rules for the conduct of the ringers, and that the former should look to the latter as the responsible person for seeing that the rules are observed. Then, if they are not, the incumbent is clearly justified in telling the captain that the ringers will not be allowed in the belfry unless the rules are observed. I think, also, that the incumbent may in certain circumstances forbid an individual ringer to remain in the parochial team, e.g., if he is found to be an epileptic or a drunkard.

The ringers must recognise that the incumbent and churchwardens are the proper custodians of the church and the bells, and that the ringers are only allowed there by courtesy. But if they are allowed there they are entitled to be treated decently, and the position of the captain and his authority should be recognised and treated with respect.

CENTRAL COUNCIL AT YORK

The second session of the 20th Central Council (52nd annual meeting) will be held at St. William's College, York, on Whit Tuesday, June 7th, 1949, at 11 a.m. Notices of motion, signed by two members of the Council, must be in the hands of the hon. secretary before April 8th.

Secretaries are reminded that subscriptions became due on January 1st.

YOULGRAVE'S UNIQUE RECORD

An interesting and unique presentation took place at All Saints' Church, Youlgrave, on Sunday, March 13th, when six bellringers were presented with illuminated addresses subscribed for by members of the congregation.

The Archdeacon of Derby made the presentation, and in his sermon spoke of the great brotherhood of ringers and that this must be an historic event whereby these men had rung together for 25 years. But for the fact that two members of the full team died recently it surely must have constituted a record.

The forbears of Mr. Herbert Toft were all church bellringers, his great-grandfather, grandfather and father before him, for over 100 years.

The six ringers who received addresses, together with their names and number of years, are as follows: Herbert Toft (38 years), Norman Brassington (26), Harry Slaney (25), Jack Rowland (25), Chris. Toft (25), and Frank Toft (25).

ST. DAVID'S DIOCESAN GUILD

QUARTERLY MEETING AT LLANSTEPHAN

For the first time the Guild met at this pretty village, which lies at the estuary of the Towy and can be seen across the water from the train to Carmarthen from Swansea.

The eight bells have been silent for some time, but the Vicar, the Rev. G. Morris, has decided that it is time to get a band and has taken upon himself the task of learning and has been followed by the organist and several ladies as well as other interested lads. Ropes have been loaned by St. Peter's, Carmarthen, whose ringers are also helping by making the seven miles journey for tuition.

This tower will be welcome in a diocese with ten towers in the triangle of land south-west of a line from Llanbadarn Fawr (Aberystwyth) to Llanelly.

There was a good attendance, although the International had held up the Llanelly and Burry Port ringers for two hours. Lampeter College was represented by two able ringers. Touches in standard methods of Triples and Major were rung, but not without 'cross talk.'

At the service ladies of the parish led the singing. Afterwards a splendid tea was provided by the local ladies. New members were elected and the efforts of the local band were praised.

Reference was made to the ringing competition at Tenby in May, to the annual general meeting at St. David's Cathedral in June, and to the bi-centenary at Llanbadarn Fawr in September.

Dedication

CANTERBURY'S NEW RING OF FIVE.

On March 18th, at St. Nicholas', Thanington, Canterbury, as a memorial for those of the parish who fell by enemy action, two new trebles were dedicated by the Bishop of Dover (Dr. Rose), making a ring of five.

During and after the service the bells were rung in rounds by the local band, and on the following evening the following members of the Canterbury Cathedral company rang the first 'touch' on the bells, 1,440 Grandsire Doubles: B. J. Luck 1, Sidney Walter 2, Frederick R. Weller (first as cond.) 3, T. Holmes 4, H. R. French 5. First of Doubles by 1, 4 and 5.

The ringing was witnessed by the Rector and several local ringers, who afterwards had their first lesson in plain hunting. It is hoped that in due course we shall welcome them as brother change ringers.

SCOTTISH ASSOCIATION

A peal board recording the first peal of Stedman Triples on the bells and for the Scottish Association was dedicated by the Provost (the Very Rev. M. P. G. Leonard) in the ringing chamber of St. Mary's Cathedral, Glasgow, on March 20th.

The board was donated by Mr. W. H. Pickett, who conducted the peal on October 23rd, 1948, and the cost of lettering, etc., defrayed by the Provost. The dedication was followed by the band ringing a course of Stedman Triples.

Reminding those present that the band had made a recording of the bells last year, the secretary (Mr. E. A. Stafford) handed to the Provost a double-sided record, being a plain course of Grandsire Triples and a 'bob' course of Stedman Triples.

This recording is now played every evening at Denny Parish Church (where a ring of bells is impracticable) through a 'boosting' apparatus in the tower.

It is interesting to note that Denny Parish Church has tolled a curfew each evening for the past 300 years up to the ban which came into force during the last war.

DUDLEY AND DISTRICT GUILD

A record attendance from 16 towers attended the annual meeting of the Guild at Dudley on March 19th. The Guild service was conducted by the president (Canon J. Waring), and the address was given by the Rev. E. M. Kelly. An excellent tea followed.

The president presided at the business meeting, when reports, all of which were most satisfactory, were presented by the various officers. Mr. Dennis Holden was elected as Ringing Master in succession to Mr. T. Townsend and other officers were re-elected. The next quarterly meeting is to be held at Pensnett, subject to the necessary permission.

MANCHESTER UNIVERSITY GUILD

Towards the end of the Michaelmas term a few ringers at the University who had been meeting previously for handbell ringing decided to form a society. All ringers and intending ringers were contacted and a meeting held. A constitution was drawn up, passed and forwarded to the general secretaries of the University Unions for approval.

The Guild has now obtained official recognition as a University Society, and the first general meeting was held a few weeks ago. The officers elected were: President, D. F. Ferguson; Ringing Master, R. D. Airey; secretary and treasurer, E. Nixon; auditor, B. Walshaw.

It was decided to practise both tower and handbell ringing. As yet this is restricted to Grandsire and Stedman Doubles, and Plain Bob and Kent Treble Bob Minor on handbells, and Grandsire Doubles and Plain Bob Minor on tower bells, but with practice it is hoped to soon be ringing Triples and Major.

All ringers intending to come up next session are asked to contact the secretary.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

PEAL REPORTING

Dear Sir,—Mr. Hairs has taken exception to my last letter. It contained a perfectly reasonable suggestion to enable peal reports to be kept up to date without altering the type. The reason I suggested 25 peals a year was because this is just under two a month, which seems a moderate number. At this rate a keen ringer would ring 500 peals in 20 years, and as few ringers ever reach this total during their ringing career it does not look like a rationing system. It simply means a more gradual spread-over of their peals total, thereby causing less congestion in the peal columns.

Now regarding an isolated peal in a tower provoking complaints, this has, quite honestly, not been my experience, and I cannot recall even one such tower! In over 100 of the towers I've visited for a peal there have been fewer than 10 peals rung during the last 25 years. I am quite sure that if other peal organisers had cared to apply for the bells, they would have been readily granted.

Of course, I admit some of the towers have bells which require ringing, and these days many peal ringers expect their bells to 'go' like the proverbial tops.

Regarding my criticism of theoretical articles, I make no objection to those which can assist the ordinary ringer to raise his standard, but the recent ones on London Royal are too technical to be of much value. Whether such articles have assisted the Exercise to advance above calling Holt's Original is doubtful. The Original is still a good test piece, and those who have called it are still a select minority.

My suggestion that only peal ringers should vote before any proposed change is made in the style of peal reporting seems quite fair. After all, those who call the tune and provide the copy deserve a major share in any decision regarding their publication.

One last point—I have been attached to one tower for a year now, a situation which was impossible for me to achieve before the war.

HERTFORD LIBRARY'S LOSS

Dear Sir,—May I enquire whether there is any connection between the appearance of the copy of the 'Campanalogia,' which has been brought to the notice of Mr. C. F. Good, and the loss of a similar 1677 edition from the library of the Hertford County Association?

This loss was discovered during the war, when some of the more valuable books were removed for safety from the bookcase which is housed in the ringing chamber of St. Peter's, St. Albans.

I was librarian (although serving overseas) at the time of this removal, and I have never been able to throw any light on the disappearance of the book, so I am naturally interested in its recovery. The loss has been advertised several times in 'The Ringing World,' often as the 'Tintinnalogia,' but finally as a copy of Fabian Stedman's 'Campanalogia,' published in 1677 and identifiable by certain 'London Peals by F.S.' and certain 'Cambridge Peals by Mr. S. S.,' which are printed towards the end.

As the description of our missing copy tallies with that sent up by Mr. Good and now confirmed by Mr. Sharpe and the fact that there are said to be only three copies in existence, I have considered it worth while enquiring in case it is our missing copy.—Yours faithfully,

HAROLD V. FROST.

GLOUCESTER.—At St. Mary de Lode on March 13th, 1,260 Grandsire Doubles: Miss J. Bussey (first quarter) 1, L. Barry (cond.) 2, H. Worrall 3, J. Whiting 4, C. Hodges 5, C. Larner 6.

PEAL VALUES

Dear Sir,—

In my youth, said the sage, I took to the law,
And argued each case with my wife,
And the muscular strength which it gave to my jaw
Has lasted the rest of my life.'

Re the controversial peal of Bristol with two kinds of bobs.

The attitude of many seems to be that such a practice should be vetoed by the Central Council. If such a composition is to be disallowed, surely an examination of peal values as a whole is called for, and from such an examination we should undoubtedly find that many more inferior compositions than this are rung from time to time, e.g., Spliced Treble Bob, where even the nature of the rows is interfered with!

Are a multitude of rules and regulations to be made by the Council to see that all peals are of an accepted standard? Surely not, because the Council is not a dictatorial body, but the organ through which the Exercise expresses its opinion. If a composition is not popular, or frowned upon, then there is no need for the Council to make a resolution. It will not be needed, as such a composition will not be rung frequently. But should such compositions become popular, the Council cannot but allow them.

Unnecessary rules and restrictions have always barred progress. Many useless avenues may be explored, many compositions of doubtful merit may be rung, but once in a while something of real value may be discovered.

Think of the pleasure which would have been lost if the diehards of the Exercise had, when splicing was first experimented with, forced a resolution through the Council, barring more than one method in a peal! It would seem that a multiplicity of methods—yes, now; but that a multiplicity of bobs is to be answered by a multiplicity of rules!

EXPANDING TENORS

Dear Sir,—With reference to Mr. Amos' observations on my expanding of tenors, owing to a report to me I looked into the measurements of Yaxley and Eynesbury tenors, 44in.—16 cwt., 43in.—15 cwt. Mr. Amos said when he rang Eynesbury tenor about two years ago it appeared about 9 cwt. Experience tells me that one must not come to any conclusion as to actual weight by ringing. I fail to see where Mr. Amos is an authority on weight by ringing. I have rung tenors from 4¼ cwt. up to 54 cwt. and it is easy to make errors by guessing weight of tenors.—Yours faithfully,

FRANK WARRINGTON.

A POINT FOR CONDUCTORS

Dear Sir,—May I point out an error in your issue of March 18th.

On page 115 the peal at Sefton, Lancashire, is given as 'Spliced' Kent and Oxford T.B.M., Ilkeston Variation.

The peal at Scunthorpe is correctly recorded, that at Sefton incorrectly, because the Central Council decided about 1936-7 that the arrangements of Kent and Oxford, such as Ilkeston, Worcester, etc., are not spliced and are not to be recorded as such.

The Banister Family

Dear Sir,—Concerning the two Surprise peals rung at Woolwich in 1849 and recently commemorated after 100 years, your two contributors to 'The Ringing World' have made no mention of the most notable feature of these performances.

Included in this band was Mr. Henry Banister, four of his sons and his son-in-law.

Had they been content with peals of Minor these would have been purely family affairs, as yet unequalled by any other family. Even with the two Crimean soldiers making up the Major band they surely lose nothing in merit.

The Banisters themselves surpassed these performances in 1852, when they rang their famous peal of Grandsire Triples, also at Woolwich, when Mr. Banister and his six sons 'stood to' in order of seniority from the back end, and his son-in-law, Edward West, rang the tenor; and again in 1861 with a peal of Stedman Triples, when Henry Bright was the tenorman.

In reply to a letter published in the local Press, in which I commented on the Surprise peals, a lady, who claims to be the great-granddaughter of Henry Banister, honoured the local band by a visit to the tower, and was shown the peal boards and stayed as our guest for the whole of the practice.

She told us that she well remembers her great-grandmother, who died in Woolwich in 1929 at the great age of 97, but she was not aware of the achievements of her forbears, although she had heard that they were bell-ringers.

As the old lady was a girl of 17 when the Surprise peals were rung, presumably she married the young Henry, who rang the 3rd. So it may well be that the 'old ringer' mentioned by Mr. Pike and quoted by Mr. Barnett was indeed one of Mr. Banister's sons, and therefore the story of Sam Teasel and George Cleveland being Crimean soldiers is probably true.—Yours sincerely,

ALFRED GROVE.

MEETING AT HESSLE.

The meeting at Hessle, with its musical ring of six, on March 12th, proved to be quite a reunion, the last visit having been in October, 1946. Forty members from 17 towers attended.

A cordial welcome was extended by the Vicar (the Rev. C. R. J. Day), who conducted the Guild's service and gave an address. During the singing of Psalm 150 a touch of Grandsire Triples was rung by Mr. Walker 1-2, L. Rodnell 3-4, G. Williams 5-6, R. Speck 7-8.

The business meeting followed an excellent tea, the president (Mr. G. Williams) presiding. In his opening remarks he referred to the death of Mr. William Middleton on March 5th, who was for many years captain and steeplekeeper at Beverley Minster and had been a member of the Yorkshire Association since 1901. The meeting stood in silence to his memory.

A collection amounting to £2 was taken for the Hutton Cranswick Bell Restoration Fund. The April meeting was fixed for April 9th at Patrington and the May meeting at Nunburnholme. Mr. T. Taffender (London) was elected an honorary member and Mr. J. Thompson an active member.

Appropriate votes of thanks were passed to all who had contributed to the success of the meeting. The evening's ringing included a touch of Cambridge.

METHOD EXTENSION

By W. TAYLOR.

By the way, in one instalment Mr. York-Bramble told us that the penultimate place is never made when a bell other than the treble lies behind. Has he never made a Single in Double Norwich or Stedman, to mention only two cases?

Now to come to London Surprise in particular. Mr. York-Bramble omitted the most important and indeed essential characteristic of extension which demands that Maximus shall be produced from Royal, Royal from Major, and Major from Minor all in the same manner. At any rate, all the recognised extensions obey the rule. Plain Bob, Grandsire, Kent and Oxford Treble Bob, Cambridge, Yorkshire, Lincolnshire and Stedman are classical and well established.

If we take Lincolnshire and Cambridge and contract from Maximus through Royal and Major to Minor we arrive at the same method, viz., Cambridge Surprise Minor. So will someone pass an opinion as to which is the best line of extension, as both to me appear equally good with perhaps a bias in favour of Lincolnshire mode. Again, if you contract Yorkshire from Maximus the limit is Major, there being no Minor. In a sense, Cambridge Minor is the parent of Yorkshire, for a Royal and a Maximus can be produced by continuing from Major as Major is from Minor (I hope that is clear). Personally, I think it is safe and desirable to conclude, although, so far as I know, incapable of proof: If a Royal cannot be produced from a Major as the Major is from Minor, then the Major is not an acceptable extension of the Minor, or expressed differently, the Major is not the same method as the Minor.

Here is the crux of the whole problem of London Surprise extension. Is the method known as London Surprise Major an extension of London Surprise Minor? Or, in other words, are London Surprise Minor and London Surprise Major the same method, in the same sense that Cambridge Minor and Cambridge Major undoubtedly are? In my opinion and also of some of the experts of the past, London Major is not the same method as London Minor, and consequently ought to be named differently. The late J. A. Trollope, who perhaps knew as much as any man about method construction, held the opinion that the two were not the same method. The principal reason being that it is not possible to produce a Royal from Major as Major is from Minor. There are other reasons which I dealt with partially in an attempt to explain the construction of London some time near the close of the ban on ringing.

I may here mention that there is a strong resemblance between Cambridge Minor and London Minor somewhat similar to the difference between Oxford and Kent Treble Bob. If you try to produce London Major from Minor in the same way that Cambridge Major is produced from Minor, i.e., obey Mr. York-Bramble's Grid laws, the result is on the left and is a complete failure.

If you make slight modifications when the treble is in each of the three positions: 3-4, 5-6, 7-8 (after some trial and error if you are not very expert) you will arrive at the version on the right:—

12537486	12537486
21573846	21573846
25178364	25178364
52718634	52718634
52176843	52176843
25716483	25718634
52761438	52781643
57264183	57286134
75621438	75821643
76524183	75286134
67254813	57826314
62745831	58762341
26478513	85673214

If the half-lead end of the version on the right, 58637241, is compared with that of London Minor, 635241, you will agree that there is a resemblance or association which may be seen by writing 637241 and preceding with 58. When the half cone above the treble is compared with that of Minor, the resemblance is striking. Below the treble the result is not so striking, but there is a certain similarity. In Minor 5 and 6 make a place before crossing treble. In Major, 5, 7, 8, 6 each makes a corresponding place. The final pair dodging behind being 3 and 4 with 4 dodging with the treble and giving way to 2 in both cases. Both Royal and Maximus can be produced by proceeding in each as Major is produced from Minor. The figures can be given if desired. If this cannot be accepted as 'an' or 'the' extension of London Minor, it is certainly the nearest possible. It is preferable to arrange the four rows, treble in 3-4 as follows, i.e., 8 making a partial dodge before the whole pull instead of after.

WEDDING

MR. JAMES SMITH—MISS JOAN BUTCHER

The wedding took place on March 19th at St. Botolph's, Northfleet, between Mr. James Smith, of Gravesend, and Miss Joan Butcher, of Northfleet, both Sunday service ringers at Northfleet. The choral service was conducted by the Vicar, the Rev. A. Johnson, in the presence of a large congregation.

Ringing by members of Gravesend and Northfleet bands greeted the bride on her arrival at the church. There was more ringing after the ceremony and in the evening a quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples was rung by June Chesson 1, Mrs. Taylor 2, J. Constant 3, Robert Constant 4, Ron. Constant 5, Richard Constant 6, Ed. J. Beer (cond.) 7, Don. Stacey tenor. E. P.

A GUILD'S PROBLEMS

'WE are beginning to wake up!' writes Mr. Cecil W. Pipe, in his annual report of the Suffolk Guild for the Diocese of St. Edmundsbury and Ipswich for 1948. The aim of the Guild is to provide every church in the county which has ringable bells with a band of ringers to ring every Sunday. An enormous task but not an impossible one.

To reach this objective the Guild Committee is planning to work in a systematic manner. The co-operation of the diocesan authorities is being sought, but what is of equal importance is the co-operation of every single member. The procedure is to interest the public in the art of ringing by invitations to meetings with the ultimate aim of finding and training recruits on a greater scale than heretofore.

It is not merely ringing the bells but ringing them properly that Mr. Pipe has at heart, and he devotes space in his report to general observations that would improve striking and maintain open leads. He writes:—

'One ringer only who does not open and close his leads can upset the beat and good striking that may be set up by the others. On all numbers of bells, when leading, the sally must be allowed to rise at the hand stroke and not snatched away. This opens the lead nicely and the rope may then be smartly brought down from backstroke in order to close the lead. To lead properly, the ringer should endeavour to see the bell or bells that are led over, as a good lead is the forerunner of a good row, and if one row can be well struck then all subsequent rows should follow suit.

'A bad habit of not getting the arms high at both hand and back stroke is creeping in, resulting in poor bell control, and apart from the bad striking which follows, the reputation of the ringer suffers when he or she allows the arms to rise no higher than the face.'

Like most Guilds, the Suffolk is finding it difficult to make ends meet on a pre-war income. The cost of printing the report, for example, exceeds the income from members' subscriptions, the increase in the number of peals to 73 being a contributory factor. How is the additional income to be met? Mr. Pipe writes that he is loath to raise subscriptions and is not in favour of peal levies, as the peal ringers are the general force of the Guild and contribute greatly to training recruits and setting examples of good striking at meetings. The suggestion he puts forward is 'Belfry offerings' at meetings, and comments: 'If an afternoon and evening ringing and the social enjoyment that goes with it is worth a small piece of silver given voluntarily in the belfry to the secretary, there will be no need to increase subscriptions.'

The Exercise will follow with interest the suggested method of the Suffolk Guild to balance their accounts. Most Guilds have revised their annual subscriptions, others have imposed a small fee for recording peals, and in view of the money ringers spend in travelling and sustenance to ring peals, this small contribution is not a heavy imposition. The third method is steepleage. By compulsory methods a definite income is assured. We can well understand in an area where recruitment is extensive there is a hesitancy to raise Guild subscriptions. It is essential for the Exercise that all ringers should be paying members of their Guild. Where enthusiasm is lukewarm or is confined to Sunday ringing and a weekly practice and the sense of fraternity with the Exercise as a whole has not been developed, increases of subscription might be accompanied by lapse of membership. What is needed to-day, not only in ringing but in every other walk of life, is a mental adjustment to the new standard of values. Wages are higher and the cost of other forms of entertainment has correspondingly increased. And so should our contributions towards the cost of ringing, which in view of the heavy capital involved is one of the cheapest forms of pleasure.

BELFRY GOSSIP

Miss Margaret Beamish, who is not 14 until June, has rung a peal of Cambridge Surprise Maximus at Birmingham. Her claim to be the youngest person to ring a peal of Maximus on tower bells will not be disputed?

Mr. W. Eric Critchley has 'circled' Campsall tower.

Mr. Albert Relfe has conducted 125 of his 250 peals, which have been rung in 150 towers.

The Rev. W. H. Trickett, of Westerfield, clerical secretary to the Suffolk Guild, is leaving for Canada.

Mrs. Harold J. Poole will, we are sure, receive many congratulations on her 200th peal. They have been rung in 17 different counties for 19 Associations.

Anxious moments were caused during the last 20 changes of the peal at Ditchling on March 19th, when the belfry light was momentarily extinguished.

The peal at Stowmarket on March 19th was a compliment to Mr. W. E. Tydeman, veteran captain of the Stowmarket company, in anticipation of his 83rd birthday on March 23rd.

The British Horological Institute invite ringers to the lecture on bells by Mr. Cyril F. Johnston, at the Hall of the Royal Society of Arts, John Adam Street, Adelphi, W.C., on Thursday, April 28th, at 7 p.m.

Mr. Edgar C. Shepherd has been bereaved by the passing of his mother, Mrs. Mary Shepherd, at the age of 87. She was born at Solihull, the youngest of 12 children, and she lived to a greater age than any of the others. A quarter-peal of Grandsire Caters was rung to her memory.

Ringers who have visited St. Giles', Wrexham, will happy memories of Mr. William Jones, who retired recently after over 50 years as sexton and bellringer. It is with great regret that we learn that he has had to have a leg amputated, the result of an old injury. He is now home from hospital and is going on as well as can be expected. Mr. Jones is one of the few surviving founder members of the North Wales Association in 1903.

Mr. Frank K. Measures has rung Plain Bob 'in hand' from Minor to Maximus.

Mr. H. Peter Raynor, of Oxford, is leaving for Southern Rhodesia. A farewell peal was rung on the Cathedral bells on March 18th.

Pressure on our space necessitates us holding over the final instalment of Mr. W. Taylor's article on Method Extension.

Condolences to Mr. Daniel T. Matkin's handbell band. In one week they rang two peals which both turned out to be false. One was Spliced Plain and Little Bob Major.

John L. Morris, who rang his 13th peal for his 13th birthday, called his first peal at Wrotham. He has made good progress in his first 18 months of ringing.

For sixty years a member of the Witham, Essex band, Mr. A. J. Evers had died, aged 75. His reliability at practice and Sunday service ringing was an example to all who knew him. A peal to his memory was rung on March 26th.

T. Richards, one of the younger enthusiastic ringers of the Worcestershire and Districts Association, has successfully passed the entrance examination to the Royal College of Art, London, where he will begin his studies in September, 1949. His friends wish him every success in his new sphere and trust that his ringing activities will continue.

THE BELLS RING AGAIN IN THAXTED

By ETHELIND FEARON

FROM quite early in the morning it had been obvious that something special was afoot. 'Lovely day for it,' said the milkman to the postman. 'Lovely day for it,' said the roadsweeper to the newspaper boy. And they didn't mean for the Boat Race or the Grand National either; it was just that our bells had come home again, and to-day—this lovely 26th of March—people from all over the county and further afield were coming to ring them.

Bells mean a lot to a village community. They are at once a summons, a pride and a means of self-expression. But ours had been expressing us on every saint's and wedding day; every funeral and royal birth or coronation; every peace celebration (and that was quite a lot) and three times a day on Sundays since 1730 or so. And if one were quite honest about it, one had to admit that three of them were definitely cracked and the others so precariously hung that it was a wonder they hadn't come clattering down years ago. They must be recast and rehung, according to their needs, and, after certain high-speed begging and much in the way of sales, fetes, raffles and other such unscrupulous attacks on the pockets of sympathisers, we collected the whole £800 to pay the bill.

Gillett and Johnston, of Croydon, were the chosen firm, not only because they have fine craftsmen and a grand reputation, but because Mr. Michael Howard, their designer, has been Morris dancing in these same ancient crooked streets. The bells came down, jackdaws' nests and all, chipped round the edges where the travelling founders had tuned their inscriptions half away in some forgotten age, and, wanly tolling, were rolled away on to a lorry and thence to Croydon, and from time to time we journeyed thither to see one cast.

UNIQUE FRIEZES.

The moulds were made of sand and loam and goats' hair, and carefully pressed into them by a man inside the bells were unique friezes, designed by Michael Howard and carved by Mr. Todd. I say unique because neither I nor any one of the ringers here to-day have ever seen the like. Take the Morris bell, for instance, the donors of which were the Morris Ring and the Friends of Thaxted, with dozens of dancing figures hurrying round its shoulders, each fold in their handkerchiefs, every crease in their trousers, every little bell on their braided legs, distinct and clear, and in noble lettering, 'I ring for the General Dance,' and 'Praise Him in the cymbals and dances, Praise Him upon the strings and pipe,' running round its capacious waist.

The Justice bell and Peace bell are equally lovely, wreathed, the one in the River of Life and the other in a twisting vine, but all three are museum pieces and enduring examples of loving craftsmanship.

Everyone had taken a day off from work and was in holiday attire, it was the hottest day of the year, all the village sunblinds were out in a quite continental effect of stripes, and trains, buses, bicycles, cars and their own feet were bringing ringers from here, there and everywhere. There were the Master, the Deputy Master and the General Secretary of the Essex Association; the Master of the Herts County Association (Mr. W. Ayre), who had come the night before and arranged the ringing; members of the Ancient Society of College Youths, founded in 1637, and members of the Saffron Walden Society, who were founded in 1623. There were men (and women) ringers from Woodford, Hornchurch, Dunmow, Stanford-le-Hope, Finchingfield, Easton, Fulbourne, Ely, Dagenham and Barking. Men who have been change ringing for fifty years, men whose first season it is, and men from Croydon who had cast and tuned the bells.

There were also vicars from all the parishes around to assist in the dedication service which the Bishop of Colchester—a very popular and well-loved man—performed. The lovely church, as high and white and light as a cathedral, was filled with unaccustomed chairs and thronged with unfamiliar faces. Strong lusty voices carolled the well-known hymns; robes of cherry and peach, jade and scarlet and apple green came and went; cross and candles made flickering patterns in the smoky incensed air, and the sun threw dappled diamonds from the old windows on the high whitewashed walls. Everyone was ecstatically happy. The bells rang, the people sang in a full-throated roar with half the men singing 'seconds' as they called it and making a fine job of it. The choir took up the challenge and threw out their chests. 'Heaven and earth and all creation laud and magnify His name,' they cried, while the trumpet threw high excited notes like a starling up to the groined roof, drums rolled, and the organist pulled out every stop and let himself go.

A VOCIFEROUS BURST OF PRAISE.

It was a beautiful service, and after the Bishop had dedicated the new bells and re-dedicated the old to the Glory of God and the service of His Holy Church, they lifted up their tongues and sang again, bells, congregation, choir, orchestra and organ altogether in one grand vociferous burst of praise. And, even after the Bishop had retired, people hung back and talked and sang again, just as they do at Christmas time, because they were too happy to go home.

They rang all day, from ten in the morning until half-past eight at night. Rang Grandsire Doubles, Cambridge Surprise, Double Norwich

Grundisburgh's Great Day

The dedication of the new bells at Grundisburgh took place on March 26th in the presence of a very large congregation of parishioners and ringers from all parts of Suffolk and the adjoining counties.

The old bells, which had become badly dilapidated, had been taken out, retuned, two new trebles added and rehung on plain bearings in a cast iron frame. They now form a pleasing and musical ring of ten, with a tenor of 8¼ cwt. This part of the work was entrusted to Messrs. Taylors, of Loughborough, and has been carried out in their customary efficient manner.

The tower, which had developed a bad crack and been declared unsafe, has been strengthened by two bands of reinforced concrete, into which has been grouted six massive steel girders. This has been done in a very satisfactory way by Mr. Arthur Goodchild, builder, of Grundisburgh; the whole work has been under the surveillance of Mr. B. A. Thatcher, the Diocesan Surveyor.

A special form of service was used, the ceremony of dedication being performed by the Lord Bishop of the Diocese, who was attended by his chaplain (Canon H. B. Graham), the Rector of the parish (the Rev. R. M. Verity), and several of the neighbouring clergy.

The Bishop, in his sermon, paid tribute to Mr. C. W. Pipe, hon. secretary of the Diocesan Guild, a resident in the parish, who by his devotion and energy had raised the sum of £1,175, which will defray the greater part of the cost of the work. The Bishop also made an appeal for young people of both sexes to come along and be trained to exercise this ancient, fascinating and most English of arts.

After tea, at which the whole assembly were entertained by ladies of the village, the many ringers present had the pleasure of ringing on the bells; all expressed their delight at the fine job made of them, the excellent 'go' being much commented on. The methods rung included Cambridge, Kent Treble Bob, Plain Bob and Stedman.

Court Bob Major, a short touch of Stedman Triples, rounds for the beginners, Grandsire Triples, more Stedman and Cambridge all over again. And if you listened carefully and knew the pattern you could hear the bells dodging about, under and over in their places like a bit of tabby weaving, with the tenor steadily humming BONG-NG-NG-NG at the bottom of the line all the time. But every 'method' began with a plain round, like casting on knitting before the pattern begins.

The day was over, but people still stood about the wide streets under the eaves of Tudor houses in happy groups chatting and listening to the song of the bells high up in the slender tower. The sun blinds were put away, the lamps were lit, so that the weaver's cottage opposite the north porch looked like a stage set, with loom and spinning wheel, and about the time when the first owl flapped, hooting from the belfry, the visitors went away.

But to-morrow is another day. It is a Sunday, and, God willing, the bells will ring again.

Dedications

BREDFIELD, SUFFOLK.

The dedication of the augmented six bells at Bredfield, Suffolk, took place on March 20th. The tower contained four bells, of which three were cracked, and these have been recast and the old fifteenth-century Brayser bell retained with the addition of two new trebles.

Addressing the packed church of parishioners and visiting ringers, the Bishop of Dunwich congratulated Bredfield on this latest addition to the parish, and said he hoped many young people would come forward and learn to ring and so conserve a great art handed down from the centuries.

Six ladies of the Suffolk Guild of ringers were chosen to ring the opening touch, but one was prevented from attending, and her rope was taken by a male.

Touches were rung on the bells until a late hour, and congratulations were extended to Mr. Bert Newson, the representative of Messrs. Gillett and Johnston, who have executed the work in their usual thorough manner. The bells are now a beautiful ring of six with a tenor of 11½ cwt. in G.

ST. PAUL'S, SALISBURY.

Another ring of eight has been provided for Salisbury by the dedication on March 26th of two new trebles, the work of Mears and Stainbank. The dedication was performed by the Bishop of Sherborne (the Rt. Rev. J. M. Key), the service being well attended. Some 60 ringers from all parts of Wiltshire were present and visitors from Southampton, Eastleigh, Swindon, Trowbridge, North Bradley, Cranbourne, Fordingbridge and Swanage. After the service the ringers and friends were entertained to tea by Mr. C. Harris (churchwarden). The ringing ranged from rounds to Grandsire, Stedman, Bob Major and Cambridge Major.

The critical listeners outside heard the full beauty of the bells and passed favourable comments upon them. The new bells blend very nicely with the former six, and are a credit to the Whitechapel Foundry. F. E. M.

ST. CLEER.

The six bells in the fine 100ft. tower of St. Cleer Church, Cornwall, have been restored. The old frame has been retained, but new wheels, fittings, ball bearings and new clappers have been provided and the bells have been quarter-turned and tuned. The work has been dedicated by Canon F. Boreham, Canon Missioner of Truro Cathedral, and a large number of ringers from East Cornwall gave the bells good use afterwards. The tenor weighs 14 cwt.

ST. GLUVIAS.

St. Gluvias Church, near Falmouth, had a ring of six bells which were hung anti-clockwise in 1808. They were renovated in 1897, but the local ringers realised for a long time that a complete restoration would be necessary, and with the support of their Vicar, Canon J. A. Simcock, they opened a fund, Almost £1,000 was raised so that the bells could be completely rehung in a new frame, with new fittings, and for the retuning of the bells. The amount included the provision of two new trebles which have been given by Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Tripp, and the second is a memorial to Ernest and Ema Webber, and is the gift of their children, several of the family being ringers.

The Bishop of Truro (Dr. J. W. Hunkin) dedicated the bells on March 19th. About 100 ringers attended. The local band rang rounds during the service, and afterwards Mr. W. H. Southeard (Diocesan Ringing Master) saw that all had a pull. Mr. J. P. Fidler represented Messrs. John Taylor and Co., who have carried through the restorations with the usual good results.

Surrey Association

PROBLEM OF INCOME.

Due possibly to several other meetings the same day, the attendance at the annual meeting of the Surrey Association at Camberwell on March 18th was disappointing, some 40 members being present. The meeting was preceded by an excellent tea in St. Giles' Parish Hall.

In the absence of the treasurer, the statement of accounts was read by the secretary, Mr. C. Parks. The meeting's attention was drawn to the fact that, despite a grant of £10 to the Southern District, and also a substantial payment for reports, the balance carried forward was approximately the same as last year. The statement was adopted.

The committee's report for the year revealed that an old member, Mr. E. Bish, of Streatham, had died recently, and the meeting stood in silence to his memory.

The number of peals rung during the year was 20 (four on handbells). In these were included two peals each of London Surprise Royal and Cambridge Surprise Royal, as well as a peal of Spliced Surprise (four methods).

Mr. W. A. Theobald, of Salisbury, was elected a non-resident life member, and Mr. A. S. Watt, of Egham, a ringing member. The retiring officers were re-elected.

In accordance with a notice on the agenda the Master, Mr. D. Cooper, on behalf of the committee, recommended an increase in the annual subscription from 2s. to 3s. under Rule 8, and in addition under Rule 17 that the percentage of such subscription allocated to the district funds be increased to 50 per cent., the remainder going to the general fund.

RULES TO BE ALTERED.

Although the feeling of the meeting was that it would probably have been possible to carry through the recommendations, the operation of Rule 15, which called for at least one-sixth of the total members to be in favour of any alteration of the rules, prevented this. Mr. F. E. Collins then stated he would like to see this condition removed from the rule, but appreciated that to alter the rules there must be the required attendance.

After some discussion Mr. Razzell proposed, and Mr. Parry seconded, that a special meeting of the Association be called with a view to making the desired alteration of the rules, and on a vote being taken Croydon, St. Peter's, was selected as being the most convenient spot, the meeting to be held on the last Saturday in May or as near to it as possible.

Mr. Collins proposed and Mr. Crouch seconded that Reigate be the place of the next annual meeting.

Mr. E. G. Talbot here pointed out that when he attended the annual meeting of the Southern District he gained the impression that that district was making considerable effort to restore its pre-war position, and as a gesture to them of the Association's goodwill he suggested that a summer meeting be held annually in the Southern District on the lines of the Ranmore meeting held in August. The meeting gave its warm approval to the proposition, which was seconded by Mr. F. E. Collins. It was suggested that the first meeting be held in July, subject to confirmation.

A hearty vote of thanks was here accorded to Mr. and Mrs. B. H. Woolley for making the arrangements, including the excellent tea. After the meeting, members adjourned to the tower of St. Giles', where ringing of a varied nature, including a good course of Cambridge Royal, was enjoyed.

HEDDINGTON, WILTS.—On March 23rd, 1,260 Grandsire Doubles: Miss K. White (first quarter) 1, Miss B. Hacker 2, Miss R. Maundrell 3, F. Hacker 4, W. Hacker (cond.) 5.

OBITUARY

MR. F. S. W. BUTLER.

The death of Frederick S. W. Butler at the age of 77 will be read with regret, particularly by the older generation of ringers.

He spent his life in Gainsborough, and rang his first 720 at All Saints' Church in 1893. The following year he scored his peal —Grandsire Triples, also at Gainsborough.

He rang 33 peals, all of them before the First World War. They consist of Minor 1 method 1 (conducted 1), 2 methods 1 (1), 3 methods 1(1), Grandsire Triples 9 (2), Bob Triples 1, Bob Major 6 (1), Kent Treble Bob Major 7, Oxford Treble Bob Major 1, Double Norwich Court Bob Major 2, Superlative Surprise Major 1, Grandsire Caters 1, Kent Treble Bob Royal 2. Total 33, conducted 6. One peal of Grandsire Triples and one of Bob Major were rung 'in hand,' the latter rung in 1909, being the first handbell peal in the county.

This carefully kept record, not only of peals but quarter-peals and 720's, makes fascinating reading. What a wonderful story of sheer enthusiasm was behind many of these bare records. The first 720 on heavy bells in a remote village in the days when there were no buses shows this. An affliction of the legs prevented him cycling or walking far.

A member of the old North Lincs Association, he was a foundation member of the Lincoln Diocesan Guild, secretary of the Gainsborough District from 1899 to 1905, and from 1909 to 1923; he resigned to take over the secretaryship of the Northern Branch. On his relinquishing this office in 1937 he was presented with a wallet of notes in appreciation of his very great services.

A keen ringer but as keen a churchman, he was an example to all who knew him.

G. L. A. L.

MRS. GEORGE BAKER.

The sympathy of his many friends will be extended to Mr. George Baker, of Brighton, in the death of his wife, Mrs. Annie Baker.

With a friend she had attended a service at the Gloucester Road Baptist Chapel, and while walking through the grounds of a disused churchyard a man attempted to snatch her friend's handbag.

Both women fell to the ground and were taken to hospital suffering from shock. Mrs. Baker, who was 73, developed hæmorrhage, from which she died.

MR. JOSEPH HERBERT.

Readers will regret to hear of the passing on April 1st, after a long illness, of Mr. Joseph Herbert, of Twickenham, Middlesex.

His connection with ringing extended over 50 years. Never spectacular, he worked in a quiet way. For some years he was secretary of the London Diocesan Guild, and he was also actively connected with the Middlesex County Association. His main work, however, was in the local belfry, teaching and encouraging the young ringers. In this capacity he made many friends, who will mourn his loss with his family.

MR. WILLIAM S. SMITH.

We regret to announce the death of William S. Smith, of Mitcham, on March 28th, aged 81 years.

Mr. Smith was for many years a prominent member of the Surrey Association, and a first-class ringer. He had rung over 200 peals for the Association in a great variety of methods.

The funeral took place on March 31st, at St. Mary's, Merton, and a course of Grandsire Triples was rung on handbells at the graveside by H. Langdon 1-2, R. Lathbury 3-4, W. H. Passmore 5-6, D. Cooper 7-8. Among other ringers present were Mrs. R. Lathbury, Mrs. F. E. Collins, Messrs. C. Dean and C. Parks.

LETTERS

KEEP THE STATUS QUO

Dear Sir,—May I comment on some inconsistencies in Mr. Woolley's last letter? First he tells us that 'The Ringing World' is a newspaper, and that 'surely peals are news.' Then he goes on to plead that a great part of this 'news' should not be reported!

Apart from this, there are other fallacies in his argument. He claims, quite rightly, that most peals in themselves are nothing very remarkable. However, the number of asterisks and other symbols used each week would indicate that to a great many people these ordinary peals represent significant and important events. Surely, too, we do not take 'The Ringing World' merely to gloat over our own names when they occur, nor simply to follow with awe the achievements of the great names of ringing, but rather to keep in touch with the ringing progress of those of our friends with whom we are not in close postal or geographical contact. Admittedly, a peal of Bob Major is less sensational than one in 22 Spliced Surprise methods, but if we see that one of the 'inside' ringers is someone whom we last saw struggling with the treble to Grandsire Doubles, we feel that 'The Ringing World' that brings this news to us is just as valuable as one containing half a dozen records by people we have never met.

In fact the best answer to the theoretical persuasiveness of Mr. Woolley's letter is simply the appeal to the general experience of the ringing fraternity. Let us keep the status quo, Mr. Editor.—Yours faithfully,

WESTCOTE'S OF BRISTOL

Dear Sir,—I wonder if any of your readers could tell me whether they know of any other ring of bells cast by Westcote, of Bristol, 1823, other than that of St. Leonards, Bretforton, a neighbouring parish to mine? It seems very strange that they cast only one such melodious ring as that of Bretforton. Any information on the matter I shall be very grateful for.—Yours truly,

F. C. CHAMPION (REV.).

The Rectory,
Hinton-on-the-Green, Evesham.

THE HARRISON FOUNDRY

Dear Sir,—Looking at the front cover of last week's 'Ringing World,' 'Barton Bells,' you state that the Harrison family were the bell founders from 1789 to 1833. Our bells at St. Michael's Church, Hawkshead, North Lancashire, were put in by James Harrison in 1765, a ring of six, tenor 11 cwt., at a cost of £228 4s. 6d.—Sincerely yours,

ROBIN SHUTTLEWORTH.

Leeds & District Society

The society's annual nomination meeting was held on March 26th at Armley. The bells were rung up at 3 p.m.; ringing continud until 8.30 except for the usual breaks for tea and the business meeting.

The president, Mr. T. Hill, presided. The secretary reported that he had been unable to obtain an estimate for dinner under 10s. 6d. (which he considered to be excessive), and so the proposed dinner would not be held. It is hoped to have a special tea at the annual general meeting.

The vote of thanks to the Vicar, churchwardens and the local company was proposed by Mr. T. Hill and seconded by Mr. F. Hutchinson. Mr. Lofthouse replied for the local company.

A letter from the Selby and District Society suggesting a joint meeting was read, and after discussion it was agreed to hold a joint meeting at Kippax in June.

The following nominations for officers were received: President, Mr. T. Hill; three vice-presidents, Messrs. S. W. Barron, F. Hutchinson and T. W. Strangeway; Ringing Master, Mr. W. Dixon; secretary and treasurer, Mr. H. Lofthouse; auditors (1948-49 accounts), Messrs. J. W. Benten and H. Lawn.

CHESTER DIOCESAN GUILD

WIRRAL BRANCH.

The Branch again proved its willingness to progress by holding a dinner, entertainment and dance at the Coach and Horses Inn, Moreton, Wirral, on March 26th. This function was probably the first of its type to be held by a branch of the Guild.

Eighty-six persons sat down to dinner presided over by the branch chairman, Mr. J. Cooke, who was supported by Mr. A. J. Martin (hon. secretary and treasurer), Mr. T. Rogers (Ringing Master), Miss M. E. Webster, together with members from Bidston, Bromborough, Bebington, Birkenhead St. Mary, Eastham, Heswall, Oxton, Wallasey St. Hilary, and visitors from Liverpool and Frodsham.

As a full programme had been arranged, speeches were drastically curtailed and, having 'toasted,' members settled back and enjoyed the entertainment provided by Miss M. Kent Bannister (soprano), Mr. Melville Thompson (baritone), Sergt. L. W. Briscoe (comedian). Dancing followed, and at midnight special buses conveyed all to their respective homes. Many have since expressed a desire for a repeat performance next year.

MIDDLESEX COUNTY ASSN.

As a means of fostering fellowship, the annual supper of the South and West District at the Catholic Hall, Heston, on March 26th, proved most successful. Mr. Fred Goodfellow presided, supported by Messrs. A. W. and W. H. Coles (vice-presidents), E. C. S. Turner, W. G. Wilson, J. E. Lewis Cockey and F. A. Finch.

Speeches were of an informal character, but tho chairman, in welcoming the company, said that having restarted the suppers they hoped they would go on from year to year.

He asked those present to remember one or two old friends—Mrs. Charles Bird and Mr. Joe Herbert—who had not enjoyed very good health. In thanking the supper committee for their work, he specially mentioned Mr. Harry Chandler, who has been a ringer for 60 years, and has been at Heston for 57 years.

For the entertainment which followed, Mr. W. H. Coles was M.C. Mrs. Lock gave pianoforte solos, there were character studies by Mr. and Mrs. Frank Potter, the Hillingdon handbell ringers were much in evidence, and games amused youth and age. The Editor attended, and joined in the story-telling, a popular feature.

EASTER

EASTER starts a new year in the Church's calendar, and however old we are it has about it a feeling of a new start in grace and also a fresh call to service. The first Easter brought a new vision to the small Christian community, and with each succeeding year we ringers should strive afresh to recapture that spirit of service we give to the Mother Church.

But this Easter is not only a spiritual renewal. To many of our towers, with the progress there has been with restorations and augmentations, the bells that have been silent for many an Easter will be ringing again. At others new recruits to our ranks will be ringing for their first Easter—a memorable experience. It is surprising what one ringer with enthusiasm and zest coming to a silent tower can achieve. Most Guild secretaries know of at least one of these apostles of ringing who, having found silent towers, have recruited and trained ringers and given to the Exercise a steady stream of young men and women who share their conductor's love of ringing.

We make no apology for the feature article in this week's 'Ringing World'—the story of Burnham ringers and how Mr. George Gilbert has faced the task of keeping the bells ringing. He has now another task—not the human one but a financial one. It is one in which many can help, and we suggest that no more appropriate way of expressing gratitude this Easter can be found for the ringer than in extending that helping hand.

Among those who will be sharing the joys of Easter is the new band at Mapledurham, Berks. This is the story that reached us this week from Mr. R. S. Hunt. When he came to the village recently he found that the six bells of St. Margaret's Church had not been rung regularly for service for some 12 or 14 years. He contacted the Vicar (the Rev. C. P. Sherwood), and an appeal was made for young people to come forward and learn. On February 14th eight people, including the Vicar, met in the belfry and, having discussed ringing and local conditions, it was decided to make a start.

Beginning the next evening and for the three following weeks (Saturdays and Sundays excepted), Mr. Hunt had two learners in the belfry each night undergoing instruction in bell handling with the clappers tied. Progress was very good, and at the end of three weeks they had six bells ringing open. Since then practices have been held weekly on Mondays and Fridays. They are now ringing call changes, and from Easter Day the bells will be rung regularly each Sunday. The next step planned is to master the Grandsire method and for the name Mapledurham, Berks, with its new band, to appear in our quarter-peal column.

Our new friends at Mapledurham, however, realise that ringing is not an isolated affair. During May the Reading Branch of the Oxford Diocesan Guild will be holding its quarterly meeting at St. Mary's, Henley-on-Thames. It is then that the tower hopes to become affiliated to the Guild and the seven learners ringing members. We trust that Mr. Hunt and his new friends will find inspiration from the story of Burnham. A good start has been made; we await fruition.

BELFRY GOSSIP

The Guild of Clerical Ringers will meet in Taunton on April 25th for five days' ringing in the district. Peals will be attempted at Curry Rivel, Drayton and Milverton. The party will include the Revs. J. F. Amies, J. H. B. Andrews, P. J. Boulsover, W. G. Bridge, C. Carew Cox, Preb. E. V. Cox, K. C. Davis, F. Ll. Edwards, R. P. Farrow, K. W. H. Felstead, N. E. Hope, J. Kingdon, R. H. Palmer, I. J. Richards, A. S. Roberts, D. P. Roberts, B. F. Sheppard, R. D. St. J. Smith, A. G. G. Thurlow, W. M. K. Warren, C. E. Wigg, Canon R. F. Wilkinson. Mrs. Palmer and Mrs. A. Roberts will accompany our party throughout, and Mrs. Powell is expected to join us for much of the time.

Mr. H. E. Good, of Ewell, enquires whether there is any ringing in the Isle of Man or if there are any bells hung for ringing.

The peal at Burgh, Suffolk, was a birthday peal to the conductor, Mrs. Sylvia R. E. Pipe, and also for the christening of William Pye, jun., son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest W. Pye.

The peal rung at Peterborough on March 3rd was at the Church of St. John-the-Baptist and not as printed. It was for the 25th anniversary of the Guild.

A correspondent suggests that the quarter of Cambridge Surprise Major stated to be rung at Westhoughton on March 13th was rung in a tower in or near Southport. It was not rung at Westhoughton.

In 'The Ringing World' of March 25th we published a quarter-peal of Grandsire Doubles at Ditcheat, Somerset, containing two first quarters. Further progress is reported by the same two ringers, who have scored their first in Triples. Now for the peal!

Mr. E. M. Atkins appeared on television last Sunday. Mr. Freddie Grisewood and Meg in 'their walk in the country' met him and two other ringers. It was Mr. Atkins' role to answer Meg's questions on ringing, including the familiar one, 'Why don't you ring tunes?' The interview concluded with a touch of Bob Minor 'in hand' (two Singles and a Bob), to introduce the path of bells. Reception at Guildford was clear.

Mr. John Worth and his Somerset tourists of last year are visiting East Anglia at the end of August for a peal tour. Famous Suffolk towers are included in the itinerary.

The sum of £250 is to be spent on the rehanging of the Blewbury bells (8). The work is to be carried out by R. White and Son, Appleton.

The Biddenden Youths' present band, who commenced ringing in September, 1949, have scored their first quarter-peal. This is claimed to be the first quarter-peal rung in this church for more than a century. The tower contains three peal boards recording past performances of Biddenden Youths, all of which are over 100 years old.

Cromer Parish Church bells are to be rehung on ball bearings, the work being the gift of the Rev. Arthur Buxton, whose family have been closely associated with the Church. Five of the present ring of six were presented by Sir T. Fowell Buxton, his grandfather, in 1774. These replaced four that were sold in 1767 to obtain funds for church repairs. Local tradition is that these four eventually became the famous Bow bells, but it is doubtful if this would be accepted by ringing antiquarians.

BURNHAM'S FINE RECORD IN TRAINING YOUNG RINGERS

As a training ground for young ringers Burnham, Bucks, has an unparalleled position in the Exercise. Mr. George Gilbert tells the story of his 17 years' work in this special article.

UNTIL the year 1932 Burnham was a 'stoney' tower, with a paid band of ringers. Early in that year a band of choirboys was recruited into the tower, their ages ranging from nine years to twelve, and by April they were fairly capable round ringers. A meeting was called, and a voluntary band came into existence with the title of the St. Peter's Society of Change Ringers.

There were no change ringers in the band, so all had to start from scratch, hunting on three, four and five bells until the first 120 of Bob Doubles was rung. That was the first milestone. For every service from that date until now (except during the ban) the bells have sent out their message.

At the outbreak of war the following had been accomplished (age of ringer when ringing his first peal shown in brackets with total peals following): Ron Taylor (12) 5, John E. Taylor (13) 40, James D. Taylor (14) 16, W. Cyster (14) 4, Pat Cashman (14) 1, Bryan O'Neill (14) 22, Martin Blamey (15) 13, Peter Blamey (16) 15, C. A. Burgess (17) 47, Norman Bristow (17) 1, J. Jones (18) 4, George H. Limmer (18) 48, G. W. Limmer 48, B. T. Harrison 3, C. Stallwood 1, Miss S. M. S. Fleming 1, Mrs. Taylor 1.

Local band peals commenced in June, 1934, included in which was a peal of Doubles by a band of boys with an average age of 14 years 7 months, the conducting being shared by ringers of 2, 3, 4 and 5. This was on November 17th, 1934, and was rung for the Society of Royal Cumberland Youths. Local Bob Triples, Bob Major, Kent and Oxford Treble Bob were rung and many peals of seven-method Minor. These boys made an exceptional name for themselves as real good strikers. Four of the band had conducted peals by 1938.

Then came the war, and as these boys were of service age, so their loyalty to their country took the place of their loyalty to their service ringing, and their ringing master was left with an empty tower once more. Four members made the supreme sacrifice.

However, the name of Burnham tower had to be upheld, and with conscription for men it seemed folly to teach boys only to lose them as soon as they were old enough to be called up.

GIRLS RECRUITED.

With an empty tower and the ban on the ringing of church bells, it was decided to remove the clappers of all bells except treble and tenor, and use the weekly practice night with a newly-formed band of girls, whose ages ranged from nine to twelve, with the satisfactory result of being equipped with a real good band of girls that has kept the bells going for all services from then till now. These girls also have gained for themselves a very good reputation for striking and method ringing, Tuesday 7.15 till 9 and Sunday 10.45 and 6 p.m., and there is not a more loyal band in the country.

Peal results to date are: Mary Jaycock (12) 30, Jean Broomfield (14) 31, Joyce Hearn (14) 16, Hilda Taylor (14) 10, Mary Pemberton (14) 19, Freda Murkitt (15) 15, Valerie Crouch (15) 1 (moved away), Gwen Murkitt (15) 16. Peals by the girls include 7 Minor methods, Grandsire, Plain Bob, Stedman and Oxford Bob Triples, Plain Bob, Little Bob, Kent and Oxford Treble Bob Major. They also ring many other Minor, Triples and Major methods. They are not altogether keen on peal ringing, but will always stand in if wanted. This is probably due to what the writer has taught them, i.e., service ringing first, peal ringing a pleasurable side-line.

For the Royal Wedding a peal of Bob Triples, practically perfect, with Jean Broomfield on the tenor (16 cwt.), and for the birth of Prince Charles a peal of Little Bob Major of a similarly high standard was rung. H.R.H. graciously accepted peal cards of both peals and also a photograph of the girls. These two Buckingham Palace letters occupy a place of honour in our tower. Both peals were rung by the local band, six girls taking part in each. On February 28th, 1948, no less than six of our girls were in three different counties, in three peals, all of which were successful. Our first girl member reached the age of 20 in November last.

More than one tower in this area is grateful for visits by some of our girls on practice nights, as they do not go out as passengers.

Ringers who visit Burnham tower know that when a peal is rung it is hard earned, with unmusical, odd struck and bad going bells on the light end (treble, 2nd and 3rd are in an independent(?) frame(?) ten feet above the back five). In spite of this, from 1932-39, 33 peals were rung, and post-war peals total (to date) 39. In these peals 31 have rung their first peal and 143 their first in the method. Burnham has always been an open door for those who care to use it, and more than one learner from other towers has been saved to the Exercise.

FAREWELL TO THE 'OLD POTS.'

But now the time has arrived when we are hoping to ring a farewell peal to these 'old pots,' as they are expected to leave for the Loughborough Foundry shortly after Easter, and we hope to have one of the best rings of bells in our tower by Christmas, 1949. In the meanwhile, a total sum of £2,000 has to be raised, and I am hoping that those who have read thus far will read on to the end of my story.

Burnham has (as a village) nearly had its back broken. First with the death-watch beetle in the roof. That was dealt with in the first stage at a cost of £735. Then the dire necessity of bell restoration came on and a provisional order was placed. During our wait for the founders to reach down to our order on their rota, the organ was found to be almost eaten by the furniture beetle, so poor old Burnham strained its purse and paid the bill, £2,000. We are off again on this big job, and I feel sure that my cry to those who are fortunate enough to be able to ring on a good going fine toned ring will call on those around them to add a little to this fund if only to keep these girls' faces still smiling as will be seen in the picture.

The Oxford Guild has made us a forty guinea grant and our own branch £10 10s., for which we are more than grateful. Quite a number of my ringing friends up and down the country have sent contributions. One or two meetings have collected at tea tables when they knew that we intend to get this amount. All of our band are working for it in addition to having to build an overflow church at Cippenham (within our parish). That is the general outline at Burnham, and my faith in the readers of 'The Ringing World' has never yet let me down, so may I pass on the name and address of the hon. secretary of our Tower and Bell Restoration Fund, Col. J. M. Wadmore, Woodlands, Linkswood Road, Burnham, Bucks. Cheques should be branded Burnham, Bucks, Bell Restoration Fund, and a receipt will be sent in every case in grateful acknowledgment.

Our bells are a mixed lot by various founders, the oldest bell bearing the date 1624, 'R.E.W.I. made me,' and although the tenor is only 16 cwt., it has, like the 7th, a wheel 7ft. 6in. in diameter. Front three are in plain bearings and back five in ball bearings, tenor in K blunt. The whole lot are being recast and rehung in new cast iron frame and will be all on one level. We are hoping to have an all day ringing 'opening day,' when everyone will be catered for.

GLOUCESTER AND BRISTOL ASSN.

The revival of the Cheltenham Branch annual dinner owes much of its success to the efforts of Mr. T. Boreham, branch chairman. The Rector of Leckhampton was in the chair on April 2nd, at the Fleece Hotel, and responded to 'The Church and State,' which toast was proposed by the secretary. Other toasts were 'The Cheltenham Branch,' by Mr. S. Thomas, with response by Mr. T. Boreham, and 'The Visitors,' by Mr. W. Dyer, response by Mr. W. Sidwell.

A very enjoyable evening was spent by the fifty members and their ladies who attended, an excellent programme of entertainment having been arranged by Mr. G. Simmons. Visitors were present from the Gloucester and Tewkesbury Branches.

PEAL REPORTING

Sir,—Mr. Woolley in his last letter asks whether we are to regard 'The Ringing World' as a newspaper or merely as a chronicle of past events, and asks if we would tolerate any other newspaper which got so far behind. Well, I am afraid that unless we can indulge in the luxury of a daily paper we must of necessity read ringing news that at the earliest must be a week old. This not only applies to peals but also to meetings, dedications or suchlike gatherings. To compare 'The Ringing World' with a daily paper is, saying the least, most unfair; in fact, to compare the two is ridiculous.

To return to the proposed alteration to the present-day method of publishing peals, who in the first place has asked for any? I have no recollection of the present owners or the Editor telling us that the time has come 'to cut our coat according to our cloth.' If the advocates have in mind saving space in order to make room for more ultra-technical articles by some of your method-construction correspondents, I am afraid I must register my disapproval. These articles are most excellent to those who are fortunate(?) enough to grasp their implications, but I very much doubt whether or not they interest one in ten of your readers. Anyhow, to save more valuable space they could be printed in leaflet form by the various prodigies(!) and circulated by advertisement to all who are interested.

My point about getting a thrill at doing something more than I had done before was seeing my first peal in print for the first time after the usual way of publishing touches and quarter-peals. Mr. Woolley apparently considers that an ordinary peal is not worthy of publishing in the usual way, but to those who take part in them the effort in many cases compares very bit as much as a more expert band scoring a multi-method peal.

Mr. Woolley raise another point which is quite irrelevant to the question of the form of publishing peals in 'The Ringing World,' that is, erecting peals boards in towers, and asks me if I want to go back to the fashion. Well, for one thing I don't think the fashion has ever gone out! People still erect boards or, if funds do not permit, framed cards to record what they consider is a unique peal of some particular interest, and why not? Please don't deny us pleasing ourselves if we wish to commemorate, or others wish to commemorate, a performance which may in fifty years' time be looked upon as local ringing history. I don't think people in these days erect peal boards for any 'common or garden peal.' F. W. ROGERS.

NOT THE MISSING 'CAMPANALOGIA'

Dear Sir,—In reply to Mr. H. V. Frost's enquiry concerning the copy of 'Campanalogia' in question, it cannot possibly be the one lost from Hertford's library, as this was in the possession of the late William Baker, of Great Chart, near Ashford, Kent, for many years, and he said that an uncle of his, William Baker, of High Oak Farm, Bethersden, near Ashford, gave it to him. From a recent conversation I had, it seems possible that many ringers in the Oxford district have seen this book, or at least heard of it, as the late William Baker was proud of his possession and often spoke of it.

A home will be found for the copy in question, where it is hoped it will be safe for all time.—Yours faithfully,

Charing, Kent. CHARLES F. GOOD.

COLCHESTER, ESSEX.—At St. Leonard's on Mar. 27th, 1,272 Kent Treble Bob Minor: P. Barnes 1, G. W. Barnes 2, F. Oliver 3, E. J. Butler 4, H. Finch 5, H. J. Millatt (cond.) 6. First in method by 1, 2, 3 and 5.

'WANGLING' IN PEALS

CENTRAL COUNCIL ASKED TO CONDEMN IRREGULARITIES.

Dear Sir,—Mr. and Mrs. Croft suggest that if a peal of Bristol containing two kinds of bob is to be disallowed, 'surely an examination of peal values as a whole is called for.' Had they said 'allowed,' most ringers would agree.

A year ago I described a peal of Cambridge containing a single as mathematically clever, but for practical purposes merely a wangle, and much the same applies to Mr. Whitehead's peal of Bristol. It is not progress to overcome difficulties of composition by introducing expedients which have been condemned for centuries. Sir Arthur Heywood aptly says of Stedman (page 164 of the 1903 edition) that 'the degradation of using specially manufactured calls was freely admitted' before Thurstans rendered all irregular ones obsolete. If we allow two different bobs in one peal of Bristol or any other method, we may as well allow twenty and admit that composers up to now have, apparently, been wasting their time.

The point about 'Spliced' Treble Bob is largely answered by 'C.K.L.' In the letter to which I referred above I suggested it was time such arrangements as 'Ilkeston,' 'Worcester,' etc., were barred, and, though this drew a protest from Mr. E. C. Gobey, I am unrepentant because they introduce an assymetrical method which is neither Kent nor Oxford.

The Council could not be considered dictatorial to exclude such peals. The surest way to prevent the repetition of irregularities is to condemn them unequivocally without delay, as do the M.C.C. The Council resemble the M.C.C. in that the authority of both is moral only, but no cricketer disputes the M.C.C.'s rulings and no loyal ringer would dispute the Council's.—Your faithfully,

E. A. BARNETT.

BRISTOL RINGERS' PLACE OF HONOUR

Dear Sir,—Her Royal Highness Princess Margaret paid an official visit to Bristol on March 28th and was present at a civic luncheon attended by the Lord Mayor, the Sheriff, the Bishop of Bristol and many other public dignitaries and representatives of numerous youth organisations. The luncheon was held at the Red Lodge, the home of Bristol Savages, in a room known as the Wigwam.

Four Bristol ringers occupied a highly privileged but very conspicuous place in the room, being seated on a tiny balcony like a minstrels' gallery only a few feet above the heads of the guests. We were there at the request of the Lord Mayor, presumably as a sequel to our previous appearance when we rang in November last at the annual dinner of the 'Antient Society of St. Stephen's Ringers,' where handbell ringing is a traditional accompaniment to the festivities.

We rang for about a quarter of an hour before the arrival of Her Royal Highness, whilst the other guests were assembling. During the luncheon we obliged again with about ten minutes of assorted Rounds, Queens, Whittington's, plain courses of Grandsire Triples and some tunes, and again after the loyal toasts had been drunk until the departure of Princess Margaret.

The four of us, Messrs. A. E. Reeves, D. G. Clift, S. G. Riches and R. G. Bryant, feel very conscious of our great fortune at being able to play so honoured a part in the royal welcome, and we trust we upheld the reputation and dignity of ringers everywhere.—Yours faithfully.

St. Martin's Guild

The first quarterly meeting of the year was held at Aston Parish Church on April 2nd. The graceful tower with spire contains a modern ring of twelve bells, which were enjoyed by some forty members and friends from various towers, including Worcester, Nuneaton and Stourbridge. The standard of ringing was higher than usually found at a meeting in a 12-bell tower.

The Guild's special form of service was held in the beautiful chancel, the congregation being seated in the choir stalls, and was conducted by the Vicar of Aston, the Rev. F. F. Guy Warman.

An excellent tea was enjoyed at the Aston Tavern, and was followed by a short business meeting, with the Master, Mr. Albert Walker, occupying the chair.

Before commencing the business the Master said that he would like to congratulate the new hon. secretary and treasurer upon the success of the Henry Johnson dinner. It was a record gathering, and few ringers knew the amount of work entailed.

Mr. E. A. Turner, of Stourbridge, was elected a life member of the Guild, and fourteen tower elections were ratified.

The Master said that it was very gratifying to hear of the introduction of so many new members. He mentioned in particular Miss Margaret Beamish, who rang her first twelve-bell peal on tower bells at the Cathedral recently. It was a very fine performance for a young lady to ring a peal of Cambridge Maximus at the age of thirteen years.

It was decided to hold the next quarterly meeting at Northfield on July 2nd. No enthusiasm was shown for a bi-quarterly practice meeting, it being pointed out that recently they had been poorly attended, and that there were plenty of facilities for practice at the week-night practices held at the city towers. It was decided not to arrange a bi-quarterly meeting for the present quarter.

Under the item 'Any other business' the progress of the Tanworth-in-Arden Bells Fund was reported upon by Mr. John H. Jones, and it was decided to subscribe £10 from the funds of the Guild towards this object. The new ring at Tanworth is to be dedicated on July 9th at 3.30 p.m.

The Master proposed a hearty vote of thanks to the Vicar for his address and to Messrs. A. Short and W. L. Whiston for the excellent arrangements made for tea.

WILLIAM SAUNDERS MEMORIAL

DEDICATED AT COALBROOKDALE.

On March 27th, in the presence of a congregation consisting of family representatives, ringers and friends, a bronze tablet was dedicated by the Vicar (the Rev. T. Eland) at Holy Trinity Church, Coalbrookdale, Salop, to the memory of Mr. William Saunders.

The tablet, which was unveiled by Mr. A. S. Bayley, head ringer, reads: 'This tablet was placed here by public subscription in memory of William Saunders, who loved the bells of this church, and after being head ringer for over 40 years died on May 8th, 1945, after ringing to celebrate victory in Europe.'

The tablet is fixed in the porch of the church at Coalbrookdale, and nearby, on the grave, has been erected a beautiful stone with a very striking 10-bell design (Mr. Saunders being mainly responsible for the augmentation of the bells to 10 in 1925). Truly a fitting tribute to a man who devoted so much of his life to furthering the art of change ringing.

For the dedication, the choir rendered the anthem, 'Thou shalt keep him in perfect peace.' Family representatives included Mrs. D. Salley (daughter), Miss A. Salley (granddaughter, Birmingham), Mr. and Mrs. T. Hancocks brother-in-law and sister), Mr. and Mrs. F. Hancocks (nephew and niece), Shrewsbury.

First of Maximus in S. Wales

Fired with a spirit of high adventure, a party of enthusiasts recently converged upon Newport (Mon.), for the purpose of attempting a peal of Cambridge Surprise Maximus. The party consisted of five from London, one from Hereford, one from Cheltenham, two from Evesham, and three from Bristol.

They were met at the station by that great pioneer, 'Newport Jones,' and at once proceeded up the steep hill to the ancient Cathedral Church of St. Woolos, where the local ringers had the bells up and everything in readiness. The bells were soon set going, and after a very deliberate first course a fine peal was successfully accomplished.

Upon the completion, the party was entertained to tea. The Dean, the Very Rev. J. Gwyn Davies, welcomed the visitors, and referred in glowing terms to the great bond of friendship and brotherhood which exists amongst ringers, who, he said, seemed to know each other from whatever part of the country they came. Mr. C. W. Roberts expressed the thanks of the visitors for the hospitality extended to them, and also to the local captain, Mr. C. Greedy, for his painstaking efforts to ensure their comfort.

Is Newport in Wales? Well, geographically and spiritually yes, and certainly according to the application of the Sunday licensing regulations again emphatically yes. So the visitors feel justified in claiming the first peal of Maximus in Wales. Just one final point. The only casualty during the enterprise was that one member of the party was so vehement in his argument that Newport was in Wales that he shot out his dentures with most disastrous results to them! OBITUARY

MR. W. B. FRITH.

Huddersfield Parish Church has lost a faithful servant by the death on April 1st of Mr. W. B. Frith, at the age of 74 years. For over 50 years he had rung at the church and had been captain for more than 30 years. A member of the Yorkshire Association, he was also secretary for a number of years of the Halifax and District Association. Mr. Frith had dedicated his life to the cause he loved so well.

The funeral service was on April 5th, the bells of the parish church being rung muffled before and after the service. In the evening ringers from Huddersfield and district assembled at the parish church to ring in his memory.—F. S. R.

MR. EDGAR SHARRATT.

The death is announced of Mr. Edgar Sharratt, of Leek, Staffs, after a six months' illness, at the age of 44.

His passing makes the fourth ringer to be lost to St. Edward's tower in five and a half years, the others being his father, the late Edgar Sharratt, sen., E. A. Ridgway and G. E. Plant. He was the third generation of a family connection with the belfry which began in 1860.

The choral service was conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. N. W. Watson), who also officiated at the interment. The tower bells were fully muffled, and a plain course of Grandsire Triples was rung at the graveside by four of his brother ringers.

ENTHUSIASM

THE people who really live are the enthusiastic; they are the salt of the earth. But be enthusiastic about a worth-while object. There is the mass enthusiasm of the football field; we have known ringers 'cut' a Saturday afternoon meeting and arrange for their peals at other times than when 'the City' is playing at home. And now at the end of the season, and relegation is in prospect, the futility of it all is apparent. Their enthusiasm did not win through, although they had their enjoyment; they cheered or groaned their team into the Third Division. Much of life's enthusiasms are individualistic in character or personal. Some might ridicule an enthusiasm for measuring tenor bells, or others who exert their mental faculties in endeavouring to present a proof that for its logic would have satisfied Euclid of old, as to the way a method should be extended. Do not belittle such efforts: they are great things to the individual concerned and deserve to be treated with respect.

When the qualities of enthusiasm and leadership are coupled together then is the keenness transmitted to others and something purposeful is accomplished. Our main news story this week deals with the restoration of Hawley bells. Critics might regard the Editor as lacking in a sense of proportion in giving so much space to a £450 job, when contracts exceeding four figures are at times summarily dismissed in 400 words. Why make a song about this village of 2,000 souls on the borders of Surrey, Hants and Berks?

Behind this village enterprise there was the unbounded enthusiasm of one man. He came to the village and found the bells in a deplorable condition; he was only an average ringer and would not write of his exasperation to the Editor if he was described as being among 'the lesser brethren.' As a Vicar, however, he realised the place of bells in the life of the Church, and as a ringer he loved bells, knew of the thrill of ringing in a strange belfry and the good fellowship of ringers.

To his parishioners he talked bells and talked the subject with enthusiasm, with the result that within a year of his induction he had the satisfaction of having a ring of bells fit for any country parish and more than twenty of his congregation in various stages of initiation into the art of change ringing.

Hawley people have made a fine start, and we trust that the name of this village will figure frequently in our performance columns. The next stage will be harder—the art of ringing the bells well. This is where the initial enthusiasm is tested; some of the leader's zeal will probably fall on stony ground, but it is to be hoped that the greater part has fallen on good earth and will yield its appropriate harvest. Good luck to the new band at Hawley!

BELFRY GOSSIP

Bishop H. M. Hordern, who died at the age of 80, was a vice-president of the Sussex County Association. He was well known and esteemed among Sussex ringers in the earlier days of his ministry, first at St. Margaret's, Warnham, where he was curate from 1892-94, and later as Vicar of St. Nicholas', Brighton, from 1910-1924. An in memoriam quarter-peal was rung at Chichester Cathedral.

We have since heard that the quarter-peal of Cambridge Surprise Major on March 13th was rung at Christ Church, Southport.

Mr. Walter Ayre has 'circled' Hemel Hempstead tower, and Mr. C. R. Belton, Whitwick, Leics., tower.

Sympathy is expressed with Douglas Rooke, of Warsop. He broke his ankle two days previous to standing in for his 14th birthday peal at Warsop, Notts. A speedy recovery, Douglas!

The peal at Burgh, Suffolk, on April 6th, was a birthday compliment to George W. Pipe and William J. Button, of Stonham Aspal. It also commemorated the gift of a son to Mr. and Mrs. Russell Parker, ringers of Stonham Aspal.

The peal of Stedman Caters at St. Mary Redcliffe on April 9th was to the memory of Mr. Ralph T. Morgan, the well-known broadcaster, who was organist at the church for 43 years.

Mr. Arthur R. Ward, who participated in the peal of Plain Bob Major at Brading, Isle of Wight, deserves a special word of congratulation. It was the 60th anniversary of his first peal.

Two well-known Kent ringers are on the sick list. Mr. Harry Hoverd has been ordered a rest by his doctor, and Mr. W. Bidwall, captain of the Hythe band, has entered hospital for an operation. At the annual meeting of the K.C.A. on Easter Monday the secretary was requested to write to them wishing them a speedy recovery.

We understand that the talent of the country is being assembled for a peal attempt of Cambridge Maximus at Exeter Cathedral on April 30th. Mr. Wilfred Williams is conducting from the tenor, with Mr. John Mason 'strapping.'

Mr. Albert Relfe has rung his 250 peals on 150 bells and not towers as published in our last issue. The peal at Hartfield on March 19th was the 25th for Mr. C. A. Bassett.

There was a misprint in the report of the peal at Wrotham in our last issue. Mr. Frank C. W. Knight was described as Wright. Our apologies, Frank.

Miss Margaret Beamish has now joined the 'select band' of those who have rung Cambridge from Minor to Maximus, having rung one peal each of Minor and Maximus, two of Royal and ten of Major.

Mr. F. K. Measures, hon. secretary of the Hinckley District, has had an ambition since 1936 to ring a district Surprise peal. This was accomplished on April 2nd with Cambridge Surprise Major; the band hope next to go for Superlative.

Appreciations of the article on Thaxted bells dedication have been received from a number of readers. Mr. Oliver G. Barnard writes: 'A welcome breakaway from the stilted and somewhat hackneyed phraseology usually employed when accounts of such proceedings are prepared by we mere ringers as distinct from writers.'

Mr. T. R. Hampton, of Erdington, Birmingham, writes expressing his thanks to the ringers of St. Columb's Cathedral, Londonderry, for their kind acknowledgment of his services. There is now a change ringing band at the Cathedral and they would be grateful for assistance from anyone who might be in the vicinity.

WHEN THE PARSON'S A RINGER: HAWLEY'S EXAMPLE

FOR many years the bells of Hawley Parish Church have been silent and, apart from the rooks and jackdaws, few people found their way into the belfry, except for the oldest inhabitant who occasionally plodded into the tower to grease everything in sight, in his efforts to persuade some to enter into the bearings. The Farnborough band rang there on Victory Day, and the Farnham District have tried practices, but the 'go' of the bells was sufficient to keep most people away, so that, for Farnham, the tower was the one black spot in the district, the only one where there was no Sunday ringing.

The bells are a ring of eight, six installed in 1881, and two trebles added ten years later.

In April, 1948, the Rev. Kenneth C. Davis was inducted into the living, so once again the 16¼ cwt. tenor and his seven sisters pealed out over the lovely countryside, just bursting with the first flush of spring. It seemed that this glorious spring day was to be the start of a fresh lease of life for Hawley, as it was known throughout the village that the Rev. Davis was an enthusiastic ringer, and that now he had at least achieved one of his ambitions, to be Vicar of a church with bells.

Mr. Davis set to work in his new living with enthusiasm. The church became full for all services. Young and old came to like this man, who was never still, but who always had a cheery word for all, and a special corner in his heart for anyone who might be a prospective bellringer. So there came back to his church three ringers of pre-war days and over twenty others who were fired by their Vicar's enthusiasm, to learn to ring the bells. With the help of a few others from surrounding towers, they learned to ring rounds and call changes despite the great difficulties of the 'go' of the bells, so that, once more, Hawley was in the ringing news.

Within a month of his induction the Rev. Davis had opened a fund for the restoration of his bells, and he had advice from the firms prepared to do the work. Eventually it was decided to entrust the job to Messrs. Gillett and Johnston, at a cost of £450.

It was necessary to stop the top frame, holding the treble, second and third, from wandering around the tower; to arrange for the clappers to hit the bell in the correct place and not almost at right angles to it; ball bearings were needed throughout; it had been difficult for the treble and second to dodge in 6-7 because the swing of the tenor caused the second to drop. These troubles, to quote only a few, were to be cured.

Vicar and villagers, Church Council and choir, ringers and not forgetting the oldest inhabitant, all combined to raise the money. When it is realised that there are less than 2,000 people in Hawley, that the money had to be raised in addition to the normal church finances, and that there were no donations of more than £5, then one can realise the full extent of the effort.

In January, Messrs. Gillett and Johnston took possession of the belfry, to the disgust of the jackdaws, who found that their housing efforts were not appreciated; in fact, the tower captain took down twelve barrowloads of sticks and rubbish.

'When will they be ready?', everyone asked. 'March 19th,' said the Vicar, 'that must be the day.'

The great day approached. What would the bells be like now? Would they still be 'lumpy' and difficult? What about that dodging in 6-7? Would the fourth sally still defy all efforts of the ringer to catch it? We should soon know.

The rededication was made during evensong, conducted by the Rev. Davis, and attended by nearly 130 ringers and friends, and before a congregation of over 300, mostly from the village.

During the second hymn, Vicar and choir processed towards the belfry. The Vicar and the ringers of the choir, together with other members of the Hawley band, ascended to the ringing chamber, where the Ringing Master and secretary of the Farnham District were waiting to receive them.

The ropes were formally handed back to the Vicar by Mr. Newsom, for Messrs. Gillett and Johnston, and Rev. Davis rededicated his bells. The Hawley band then rang a few rounds (the local paper described them as 'changes,' which cannot be truthfully denied!) to christen the bells.

In his address, the Vicar spoke of the spirit of co-operation which had enabled the repairs to be carried out. He likened bellringing to life, for in both all must pull their weight to achieve harmony. He was proud to say that every one of his ringers was also a keen churchgoer; some were in the choir, some on the Church Council.

After the service, the first touch—of Stedman—was rung by officers of the Guildford Diocesan Guild.

About 120 sat down to an excellent tea served by the ringers' wives in the Village Hall, where the Vicar and Mrs. Davis together cut a large iced cake, inscribed 'Rededication of Hawley Church Bells, March 19th, 1949,' an inscription which was quickly consumed but not forgotten.

The Farnham District Ringing Master, Mr. C. W. Denyer, expressed his satisfaction at the excellent work carried out by Messrs. Gillett and Johnston. Mr. Denyer proposed a hearty vote of thanks to Rev. Davis, to Mr. and Mrs. Maule (the captain and secretary of the Hawley band), and to all the Hawley ringers for the way in which they had worked for their tower.

'During the evening the bells were ringing merrily to a variety of methods, and the day concluded with a social evening in the Village Hall.

Hawley bells will now be ringing for Sunday services and for practice on Wednesdays, when the Rev. Davis will welcome anyone who cares to ring.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

THE FAMILY AND THE PARSON

Dear Sir, — Many of our members in the Chester Diocesan Guild have spoken to me in appreciation of your leading article of April 1st, headed 'The Family and the Parson.' In view of the fact that the desirability of close co-operation between the parson and his ringers formed a topic for discussion at the last annual meeting of the Guild, your leader was read with much interest.

Although the topic is by no means new, it is obviously one which must be continually kept in mind if the happy relationship you mention is to be maintained. We feel that we have opened wide the gate to such relationship by so adding to our rules as to make it possible for the incumbent of any tower in the diocese where bells exist to be elected a vice-president of that branch which operates in the area. And further, having in mind the fact that the parson is expected to place his name at the head of each and every subscription list which is opened in his parish and district, no subscription of any sort becomes due to the Guild on such an election being made.

It is our earnest hope that in taking this action we shall not only promote a more intimate relationship between the clergyman and a particular band of ringers, but also encourage him to take an active part in what is without doubt one of the most virile of the diocesan societies. J. W. CLARKE.

HARRISON'S FOUNDRY

Dear Sir,—May I add a further note to the interesting letter by Mr. Shuttleworth which appeared in the issue of April 8th.

The period in question, 1789-1833, applies only to bells in Lincolnshire churches, which were founded at the Harrisons' Barton foundry.

The bells of St. Michael's, Hawkshead, were undoubtedly cast by the first James Harrison. He would be assisted by his son Henry, as he died in the following year (1766). The work would be done at Barrow-on-Humber, about three miles from Barton, for it was not until 1770 that Henry started his work at Barton.

May I take this opportunity of mentioning that 'Barton Bells' costs 3s. plus postage, and not 3s. 6d. as previously stated. Also I wish to thank the Editor and many readers for their kind interest in my book.—Yours faithfully, W. O. VARAH.

Barton-on-Humber.

CONGRATULATIONS TO MARGARET

Dear Sir,—May I through the medium of your columns offer my heartiest congratulations to Margaret Beamish on her achievement in ringing a peal of Cambridge Maximus recently.

A note in Belfry Gossip raises the query as to whether she is the youngest to ring a peal of Maximus on tower bells. She is, but it is a question of days only. George Pipe rang a peal of Cambridge Surprise Maximus at St. Mary-le-Tower, Ipswich, on January 8th, 1949, when he needed 91 days to his 14th birthday. Margaret, I believe, when she rang hers needed 95 days. A great achievement for both these youngsters.—Yours faithfully,

Grundisburgh. SYLVIA R. E. PIPE.

A BARNSLEY DISTRICT VETERAN

The Barnsley and District Society held their monthly meeting on April 9th at Horbury to mark Mr. Herbert Rowley's 60 years' service as a ringer at St. Peter's Church. A company of 50 friends gathered for tea and the meeting, during which Mr. Rowley was presented with a clock, a token of the appreciation in which he is held by the Vicar, the churchwardens and his fellow-ringers. Mr. Rowley, who is 81, is still very active, and on April 5th participated in 2,520 Minor. He was a founder member of the Barnsley and District Society in 1909.

TENORS SIZE AND WEIGHT
LITTLE RELATIONSHIP.

Dear Sir,—It was with some amusement that I read Mr. Frank Warrington's letter. He would be well advised to reread it, and then ask if its contents do not befit himself in every degree? I refer in particular to his remark, 'It is easy to make errors by guessing the weights of tenors.' That is exactly what Mr. Warrington did in reference to Yaxley and St. Mary's, Peterborough—he guessed them! He could easily have found the exact weights had he taken the trouble, both are so well known.

If he looks up my previous letter as regards Eynesbury he will see the words, 'I put it nearer 9 cwt. than 14' are used, therefore in this case the actual weight is not guessed as he tries to assert.

Contrary to this, Mr. Warrington causes to be printed an actual weight, going on the assumption that because Yaxley tenor is 44in. it is bound to be 16cwt., and Eynesbury, 43in., 15 cwt., which incidentally has 'grown' yet another cwt. since the report of his peal, which he then gave as 14 cwt.

Whilst I agree with Mr. Warrington that one cannot come to a conclusion as to actual weight by ringing or the 'go' of a bell, experience tells me that neither must one come to a conclusion of actual weight (or even approximate weight) by diameter at the sound bow. I fail to see where Mr. Warrington is an authority on weight by measurement at the sound bow, which proves nothing, any more than his boasts of having rung tenors from 4¼ to 54 cwt. (a claim which I can make myself—Brockenhurst and Bow). It is a mistake also for one to think (as some do) that because one can ring a multiplication of Surprise methods they are impregnable on every other issue of bells. And the pitch of a bell is also no guide, as will be noticed by a few instances here given, which will no doubt set the infallible Mr. Warrington' a puzzler:—

All Saints', Northampton, 52in., 21cwt. 1qr. 10lb.; Kettering, 52in., 23cwt. 1qr. 4lb.; against which is Oakham, 49in., 24cwt. 2qr. 9lb., and Hanslope, 49in., 22cwt. 8lb.; Higham Ferrers, 50in., 22cwt. 3qr. 17lb., against which is Rothwell, 50¾in., 21cwt. 3lb., and Castle Abbey, 50½in., 19cwt. 2qr. 24lb.; Tichmarsh, 46in., 17cwt. 3qr. 22lb., against which is Claybrook, 46in., 13cwt. 3qr. 7lb., and Wootton, Northants, 46in., 13cwt. 2qr. 21lb.; Badby, 45½in., 17cwt., against which is Long Buckby, 45¾in., 15cwt. 1qr. 27lb., and Walgrave, 45in., 13cwt. 2qr. 8lb.; St. Peter's, Northampton, 43½in., 12cwt. 2qr., against which is Pattishall, 40¾in., 12cwt. 2qr. 12lb.; Weekley, 37in., 8cwt. 10lb., against which is Stoke Albany, 37in., 10cwt. 5lb.

Now we come to pitch. Each of the following are in key E flat: St. Saviour's, Leicester, 25cwt. 3qr. 12lb.; All Saints', Northampton, 21cwt. 1qr. 10lb.; Castle Ashby, 19cwt. 2qr. 24lb.; Claybrook, 13cwt. 3qr. 7lb.; and Wootton, Northants, 13cwt. 2qr. 21lb. This last tower I would like Mr. Warrington to visit. He'd say, 'Not only does the tenor sound like a ton but rings like a ton.' Tenors in D: Birmingham Cathedral, 31cwt. 21lb.; Olney, 25cwt.; Coalbrookdale, 19cwt. Tenors in F sharp: Empingham, 15cwt. 2qr. 9lb.; Hazelbeech, 15cwt. 12lb.; St. Sepulchre's, Northampton. 14cwt. 3qr. 7lb.; Welford, 12cwt. 1qr. 26lb.; Burton Latimer, 10cwt. 3lb.; Sharnbrook, 9cwt. 3qr. Similar instances apply in other keys. If so, how does Mr. Warrington account for these variations, especially between Whiston and Orlingbury tenors on the question of measurement? P. AMOS.

MR. CHARLES MARSHALL.

The death by accident of Mr. Charles Marshall at the age of 45 will be read with profound regret by his many friends inside and outside of his own county. Charlie (among his friends) had just recovered from a severe illness, which had kept him indisposed for some 15 weeks, having recommenced his work on the Monday previous to his death.

He was, and had been for years, a stalwart of the St. Thomas', South Wigston, belfry. A grand personality and ringer and a very keen Guild member, rarely did he miss a district meeting.

As secretary of the St. Thomas' band he was responsible for the organising of many very enjoyable social and ringing tours. Ringing without doubt was his chief hobby, and his greatest pleasure was to take part in peal attempts both on tower bells and handbells. A 'solid' peal ringer, he had rung in the region of 150 peals, including 70 handbell peals during the past two years.

Without doubt Charles Marshall's greatest moment in the world of peal ringing was at hand when he called 'That's all' to a peal of Double Norwich that he conducted on the occasion of their Majesties' Silver Wedding anniversary. This peal was scored by an entirely local band, the first local in such a method to be rung on St. Thomas' bells, thanks to his conducting efforts.

The interment took place at Wigston on April 5th, and the service at St. Thomas' was attended by a large number of people. Among the ringers paying tribute, apart from the local band, were Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Poole, Miss Jill Poole, Mr. Ernest Morris, Mr. J. Carter, Mr. H. Wayne and Mr. S. Cheney. The bells were rung half-muffled prior to the cortege entering the church, and handbells were rung by members of the local company at the graveside. As a last tribute a really well-struck peal of Grandsire Triples was rung half-muffled in the late afternoon and evening.

The passing of such a ringer as Charles Marshall, in such a tragic way, leaves the belfry of St. Thomas', South Wigston, so very much poorer, and indeed the Exercise in general has lost an ever present Sunday service ringer. He leaves a widow and two sons, one of whom has taken to his father's hobby. May he attain the heights as a ringer and conductor. W. A. RIDDINGTON.

MR. JOSEPH POTTER.

News has been received of the death of Mr. Joseph Potter, of Parkersburg, U.S.A., at the age of 79 years. A former conductor of the Walkden (Lancs) band, he went to U.S.A. in 1906. He joined the Lancashire Association in 1888 and had rung 104 peals for the Lancashire Association. He died on March 30th and was buried at the Olivet Cemetery on April 1st. He leaves two sons and one daughter.

MR. R. L. PATTERSON.

Mr. Robert Leonard Patterson, captain of the St. Ignatius' Bellringers' Guild, Sunderland, died on April 13th, at the age of 68. He had been in failing health for some time and the last occasion on which he rang a bell was on Christmas morning, 1948.

Mr. Patterson was the only surviving founder member of the St. Ignatius' Guild, he having joined on May 3rd, 1898, when it was first formed. He succeeded the late Joseph W. Parker as captain on June 2nd, 1947, and they were life-long friends.

From 1945 to 1947 he was president of the Durham and Newcastle Diocesan Association and was a vice-president for many years before that. He had 101 peals to his credit, 14 of which he conducted.

The funeral took place on Easter Monday.

BUCKERELL, DEVON.

The picturesque village of Buckerell, on the northern slope of the Otter Valley overlooking Ottery St. Mary, had its war memorial, a new treble bell, making a ring of six, dedicated on April 9th.

The existing bells had been removed to the Whitechapel Foundry, the mediæval tenors for retuning and the other three, dated 1872-3 and in poor condition, for recasting.

The Bishop of Crediton performed the dedication service in the presence of a large congregation. Over 50 visitors were entertained to tea by relatives and friends of the ringers.

A welcome to the visitors was extended by the Rector (the Rev. A. G. Chappell), who complimented Mr. F. H. Parr, the captain, for his work in raising the money. Mr. F. C. Smale (secretary of the Guild) added his congratulations and praised Mr. A. A. Hughes on the splendid tone of the bells, which was the general opinion of the company present.

Touches of Grandsire, Stedman, Bob Minor and Kent were rung. The fifth and tenor (weight 8 cwt. 1 qr. 4 lb.) are believed to be from Exeter Foundry of Roger or Robert Morton.

MEOPHAM, KENT.

Five months for an idea to be mooted and brought to a successful conclusion must surely be a record. Such a feat has been accomplished at the Church of St. John the Baptist, Meopham, Kent, by the Vicar, the Rev. V. S. Nicholls. This church possessed a ring of six bells which sadly needed rehanging, and on the call for assistance, Mrs. F. E. Worthington, wife of the churchwarden, kindly offered to bear the whole of the expense of the rehanging and in addition give two new trebles to complete the octave.

The work was entrusted to Messrs. Gillett and Johnston, who quarter turned, tuned and rehung the old six and added the new bells in an iron frame.

The dedication service, which unfortunately clashed with a meeting of the Rochester District at Cobham, two miles away, was held on April 9th.

This grand old church, which had been renovated and redecorated throughout, was filled with parishioners and friends, and the service was conducted by the Vicar.

The Dean of Rochester, the Very Rev. T. Crick, Chaplain to the King, and patron of the living, gave the address and dedicated the bells. He paid tribute to the work of the Vicar and also spoke of the service that ringers were rendering the Church

As the local ringers were not sufficiently advanced, the ringing during the service was done by a band from Milton and Gravesend, arranged by Mr. F. M. Mitchell, hon. treasurer of the Kent Association.

After the service the ringing continued until 9.30, and Mr. Bert Newsom, the representative of Messrs. Gillett and Johnston, was congratulated on the way the work had been carried out.

A PRESENTATION

Ringers from Norfolk, Suffolk and Essex assembled at Diss on April 2nd, when a presentation was made to Mr. and Mrs. Eric G. Bennett to mark the occasion of their marriage at Blo' Norton. The gift, an electric kettle, was presented to them by Miss Kathleen Harrison.

Mr. C. J. More, Ringing Master at Diss, presided and handed them an address and list of donors. He spoke of the valued service Mr. Bennett had given to the Norwich Diocesan Association. Mr. A. G. Harrison, branch secretary, South Norfolk, endorsed his remarks and referred to Mr. Bennett's long association with the Diss ringers and his popularity with the Suffolk Guild. Both Mr. and Mrs. Bennett suitably replied.

Wrexham Combined Meeting

Over forty ringers attended a combined meeting of the North Wales Association and the Chester Branch of the Chester Guild, held at Wrexham on March 26th. Among those present were Mr. A. J. Hughes, Bangor, and Mr. James Swindley, Chester, whom it was good to see are both recovering after a serious illness.

At the service which followed an hour's ringing the Vicar, Canon Robert Davies, gave a very interesting address about the parish church, which was much appreciated. He said that the present church was finished in 1472, and was the third structure to be built on the site. The first was blown down in a gale in 1331, and the second was destroyed by fire in 1457.

The tower, which is a fine example of perpendicular architecture, is 135ft. high, and the exterior is ornamented with sculptured life-size figures of thirty saints, among whom is St. Giles, to whom the church is dedicated. It is one of the seven wonders of Wales, which are rhymed as follows:—

Pistyll Rhaiader and Wrexham steeple,
Snowdon's mountain without its people;
Overton Yewtrees, St. Winifred Wells,
Llangollen Bridge and Gresford Bells.

The church has a close connection with Yale University, in Connecticut, U.S.A., as Elihu Yale, founder of the famous university, is buried in Wrexham parish churchyard, and became a mecca for American soldiers during the war. Many of them must have found the church tower very familiar, as Yale University is built as an exact replica of it, and incorporated at its base is a stone from the original Wrexham tower. The tercentenary of Elihu Yale's birth occurs on Tuesday, April 5th.

At the tea which followed the service, Mr. G. R. Griffiths, Chester, proposed a vote of thanks to the Vicar for his address and for the use of the bells. Mr. A. J. Hughes, Bangor, seconded.

It was decided to hold the next combined meeting at Farndon some time in the summer. Gresford bells were also available for ringing after tea.

ESSEX ASSOCIATION

SOUTH-WESTERN DISTRICT.

The first quarterly meeting and service of the year was held at Stanford-le-Hope on April 2nd, when the 40 members attending included visitors from Gravesend and Northfleet.

Excellent arrangements had been made by Mr. G. Howell, Master of the local band. The impressive service was conducted by the Rector, the Rev. P. G. H. Pearse.

At the meeting nine new members were elected, and the Rector consented to become an hon. member. The secretary reported two new towers in union—North Ockendon and South Benfleet. These were cordially welcomed.

It was very encouraging to see the numbers of young people at the meeting, and when it is remembered that some of them had cycled 16 miles and faced a wet journey home it is very evident that the right spirit is being shown in the district.

MIDLAND COUNTIES GUILD

The grand ring of eight at Netherseale (former home of the Guild's president, Mr. W. W. Worthington) was well tested by 35 ringers and friends on April 2nd.

Ringing was kept going at intervals from 2.30 to 8 p.m., and although no great variety of methods was rung, good practice was put in by the younger members as was seen when a pupil 11 years of age rang the treble to Grandsire Triples. Shortened evensong was conducted by the Rector (Dr. W. J. Beale).

Memories of Netherseale pre-war teas were revived in the Village Hall, when the Rector and Mrs. Beale kindly entertained the company to tea.

The Chairman (Mr. W. H. Curson) warmly thanked the Rector and Mrs. Beale for their generosity and announced that the annual meeting will be held at St. Paul's, Burton, on May 14th.

EASTER MONDAY

FIRST reports to hand of Easter Monday annual general meetings of Guilds and Associations make encouraging reading. Progress is being well maintained, but it is patent that there is still plenty of spade work before Sunday service ringing throughout the country is on the highest level. Mr. G. H. Spice, secretary of the Kent County Association, placed in the forefront of his report the importance of church bells being rung on Sundays in these days of materialistic tendencies.

The outside public does not realise the strength of bellringing to-day, and even those inside the Church of England on the Church Assembly have only hazy notions of the general position. For example, the Bath and Wells Diocesan Association anticipated, when all details have been verified, that they have a membership of 1,500, and the Kent County Association was able to report a practising membership of 1,033. Numbers, however, are not the sole criteria. The testing point, to revert to Mr. Spice's observation, is the regularity and standard of Sunday ringing. And here let us interpolate, Sunday ringing is not practice ringing; it should be the best ringing the band is capable of and not an attempt to get home, say, a Surprise touch by an uncertain company. Practice and service ringing should not be confused.

On the business side of proceedings, Guild treasurers, even where Associations have substantial reserves, were concerned with the inflationary costs of to-day. Some think that the correct procedure is to cheesepare expenditure so as to keep members' subscriptions at the lowest possible level. Others feel that the new circumstances of to-day must be faced boldly and subscriptions must be raised. This was the policy adopted by the Gloucester and Bristol Diocesan Association, which in 1948 increased the annual subscription from 1s. 6d. to 2s. and have now sanctioned a further advance of 6d. In addition a pealringing fee of 6d. per member taking part is also operative. The time is rapidly approaching when a pealringing fee will be a general practice, and we do not think Guild members as a body will favour increased subscriptions without resource to an extra contribution from peal ringers if peals are to be printed in the annual reports.

Members of the Central Council will learn with pleasure of the decision of the Gloucester and Bristol Association that their offer to the Council to visit Cheltenham in the near future still stands. The 1950 Council meeting is due to take place in the South of England, and it is likely that the offer to meet at Cheltenham will receive very favourable consideration. According to news reaching 'The Ringing World' the offer of this Association is the only one in the field at the moment.

Probably the point in these reports which would be most discussed was the suggestion of the Bath and Wells Association that there should be no peal attempts during the season of Lent. This year there was a general observance of no peal ringing during Holy Week. Only one peal was rung on Good Friday this year, and that was with the bells fully muffled, and two on church bells on the eve of Easter Day. This is a big subject. Relevant to the point is the large number of marriages on the Saturday before Easter Day, and in the writer's own parish gramophone records of church bells were amplified from the church tower to give a welcome to a married couple. It is a subject that could well be ventilated at York, but the broadness of the Church of England will, we think, prevent a measure of unanimity being reached.

LATE NEWS

Mr. W. P. Whitehead, of Hinckley, Leic., informs us that it is hoped to attempt a peal of 17,152 Bristol Surprise Major, at St. Nicholas Parish Church, Nuneaton, on May 7th, starting at 9 a.m.

BELFRY GOSSIP

Mr. W. A. Parsons, of Derby, conducted two peals on Easter Monday, at St. Peter's, Derby, and Repton. Both had identical times of 2 hours and 57 minutes, and were both accurately checked. Has any other conductor had the same experience in a day's ringing?

Three fathers and three sons rang a peal at Haworth, Yorks, on April 16th. The fathers were on the light end.

The quarter-peal at Astbury, Cheshire, marks a new era locally. It was the first for 25 years and the first by all the band.

More progress continues to be made at St. Andrew's Church, Derby, when, on April 21st, a touch of London Surprise Major was rung by Miss E. Foulk 1, S. Walklate 2, G. Freebrey (conductor) 3, F. Lowe 4, A. Thompson 5, H. Taylor 6, J. Wilkinson 7, W. Parsons 8. Credit is due to them all, especially to the two younger men, A. Thompson and J. Wilkinson.

The 60th anniversary of Mr. H. Rowley's association as a ringer with Horbury, Yorks, was commemorated by a half-peal of Minor (Plain Bob and Oxford Treble Bob): M. J. Axford 1, E. Atkinson 2, H. Rowley (cond.) 3, J. W. Milner 4, G. Cutts 5, G. W. Pickles 6. First quarter for 1 and 2.

A quarter-peal of Bob Major at Woburn on April 23rd commemorated the attainment of 60 years' membership of the Bedfordshire Association by Mr. Ernest Herbert, which occurred on that date. Mr. Herbert is the well-known younger son of the late Charles Herbert (the founder and first secretary of the Association), of which he is a vice-president and hon. auditor.

The ring of eight (tenor 12 cwt.) at St. Mary's, Twyford, Hants, is to be rehung with new gudgeons and ball bearings by Messrs. Gillett and Johnston, Ltd. The Vicar (the Rev. J. R. Beyron) states that the B.B.C. are to broadcast the Christmas service from this church, which will include the ringing of the bells.

By the peal of Minor at Milnrow, Lancs., on April 2nd, Messrs. R. Benson, V. Sykes and Jack Clegg have completed Kent Treble Bob from Minor to Maximus.

The annual meeting of the Suffolk Guild was held at Ipswich on Easter Monday and followed the usual form. Mr. Cecil W. Pipe, Grundisburgh, was re-elected hon. general secretary and treasurer.

The copy of 'Campanalogia' which 'was identified through letters in 'The Ringing World' has been presented by the owner, Mr. Robins, of Charing, to the Kent Association and will rest in the library of Canterbury Cathedral.

Witney, Oxon, ringers had their outing on Easter Monday visiting Gloucestershire and Worcestershire. Ringing took place at Bourton-on-the-Water, Stour-on-the-Wold, Broadway, Prestbury, Cheltenham Parish Church, Charlton Kings and Northleach. Conducting was shared by Messrs. G. H. Wright, B. J. Coggins, A. R. Pink, W. J. Dixon and B. S. Nichols.

Mr. Harry Colley, of Tarring, Sussex, sailed on April 26th, the day of his 71st birthday, for Canada. For 60 years he has been an enthusiastic ringer at Tarring. He is going to the Ontario farm of his daughter, Mrs. J. O. Camden. Asked if there was any particular thing he intended to do on arriving in Canada, Mr. Colley told a local press man with a chuckle, 'Oh, yes. Look for some more bells.'

KENT COUNTY ASSOCIATION

One Thousand Membership Mark Passed ..... Leading County for Peal Ringing ..... No Change in Subscription Rate

MEETING at Maidstone on Easter Monday, the Kent County Association was in the happy position of recording an active membership of over 1,000 ringers. The meeting was most successful. The service at All Saints' Church was followed by an excellent luncheon at the Corn Exchange attended by a company of 170. Mr. E. H. Lewis was voted to the chair for the business meeting. He was supported by Mr. G. H. Spice (hon. secretary) and Mr. F. M. Mitchell (hon. treasurer).

Following the luncheon, Mr. F. White proposed a hearty vote of thanks to Canon C. B. Sampson for his address and use of the bells. He hoped that at some future time they would get better bells at All Saints', Maidstone, in place of the heavy, lumpy ring. Perhaps they would get a new ring of 10 or 12 bells and a nice iron frame (hear, hear).

'I feel that bellringers are among the "matiest" part of the Church of England,' said the Canon in reply. They wanted to do what they could for the bells of All Saints' and they were looking forward to the time when it would be possible to have something up to date. The difficulty was one of finance.

The secretary prefaced his report with a note of warning, despite the increase in membership. 'Unfortunately,' he said, 'there are a good number of our towers in union in which the bells are not being regularly rung for Sunday services, and other towers which come within the category of "oncers," i.e., that ring for either morning or evening service, but not for both. Local conditions must, of course, be the guiding factor, but it is sincerely hoped that ringers one and all will not be satisfied until the bells of their respective towers are rung every Sunday and at both services if at all possible.

'The sound of the bells has always played an important part in reminding our people of the Church and what it stands for, and in these days of materialistic tendencies let us all regard it as a Christian duty

To call, from tower and steeple,
Upon the Day of Days,
All faithful Christian people
To worship, prayer and praise.

MEMBERSHIP.

'It is with much pleasure that we record that the hope expressed in last year's report has been fulfilled in that our practising membership now stands at over four figures.

'The total for 1947 was 903; our total for 1948 stands at 1,033 paying members, in addition to which we have about 60 non-paying over-age members. Honorary membership totals 55. Subscriptions have been received from 124 towers. New practising members enrolled during the year were: Ashford district, 28 adults; Canterbury, 36 and 3 juveniles; Lewisham, 14, 14; Maidstone, 20, 7; Rochester, 16, 3; Tonbridge, 39, 5.

'To our list of life members has been added Mrs. Mabel Poole (Northfleet), Mr. G. McCarthy (Ash-by-Wrotham), Mr. and Mrs. A. Richardson (Southborough).'

DEATHS.

The meeting stood in respect while the list of losses by death was read out as follows: Leslie A. Porritt (St. Lawrence's, Ramsgate), Percy J. Paine (Canterbury Cathedral), James E. Bailey (Dartford), Thomas Groombridge, jun. (late of Crayford), Charles Belsey (Rainham), William Easter (Rochester) and — Mitchell (Northfleet).

Mr. James Bailey had served on the General Committee since 1943 and he was also a member of the Benevolent Fund Committee. For many years he had proved himself an energetic and progressive member, combined with excellent ringing qualifications, and his untimely passing came as a severe shock among his ringing friends.

COMMITTEE WORK.

Among the decisions of the committee were that the annual general meeting be held at Maidstone, the cost of the lunch to be borne by the members; the purchase from Association funds of a suitable instruction book for sale at the nominal price of 1s. per copy to members of the Association be not adopted; the sum of £10 be granted to Eltham Parish Church towards belfry repairs; to bring to the notice of those in charge of the ringing throughout the county the desirability of commencing service ringing with prayer, the Association's prayer being recommended; in the light of unsettled conditions prevailing at the present time, the great amount of work involved in compiling the record, and the possibility of a loss being incurred to the Association, that the proposed war record project be dropped. It was considered too big a job for the Association to undertake.

At a later committee meeting the following recommendations were approved: That the practising membership subscription remain as at present on the understanding that (a) members and others (except invited guests) pay for their lunch at the annual general meeting: (b) no half rail fares; (c) no free teas and no contributions towards the same be paid from Association funds; (d) church collections at ringers' services shall, until further notice, be paid into the general fund and from this fund allocated to the Benevolent Fund and Belfry Repair Fund at the discretion of the committee; that each tower in union be supplied with a copy of the annual report free.

Members would be pleased to know that the following in memoriam was being cut over the entrance to Bell Harry Tower, Canterbury Cathedral: 'In memory of the Rev. F. J. O. Helmore, 1851-1938. He served this Cathedral for 59 years. Minor Canon 1878-1937. Precentor 1883-1926. He was honorary secretary Kent County Association of Change Ringers from 1891-1929.'

Hearty congratulations were extended to Mr. George Edwards, of Penshurst, who celebrated his 80th birthday the following day. In acknowledging the greetings Mr. Edwards said his father carried on until he was 92 so he had still a long way to go.

The report was adopted on the proposition of Mr. E. A. Barnett, sen.

PEAL REPORT.

Mr. P. A. Corby presented the peal secretary's report, which stated that 156 peals were recorded for the Association during 1948, an increase of 20 on 1947 and two less than the Association's record. They were once again at the head of the Central Council's list, but only by a small margin and probably as a result of a peal tour in the county. Six peals were rung in celebration of the birth of Prince Charles. Peals included the first of Ospringe Surprise Major.

There were 37 first peals, four less than the previous year. This was still well above the 1938 total, but there was room for improvement. There were 50 conductors in 1948, an improvement of 10 on the previous year, but this again was largely due to the peal ringing tour. Mr. A. J. Lancefield, who had left for three years in New Zealand, headed the list with 14 peals.

Of the 219 towers with five or more bells peals were rung in 82. One peal was rung in Surrey and five in London. Seven peals were rung 'in hand,' including one in Central London. In addition to peals rung by the Association, the following were rung in the county by other associations: Royal Society of Cumberland Youths 7, Hawkhurst and District Guild 3, Ancient Society of College Youths 2.

Dr. Hatcher proposed the adoption of the report.

FINANCIAL POSITION.

A satisfactory financial report was presented by Mr. F. M. Mitchell. The balance sheet started the year with £81 19s. 2d. and ended with £54 7s. 2d. Printing of reports (two years in one) amounted to £68 2s. 8d.

The Benevolent Fund was still very strong with £469 2s. 2d. in hand. Three grants amounting to £17 2s. had been made. He wondered whether the fund was made use of to the fullest extent. He did not want to see people down and out before making an application to the fund.

The Belfry Repair Fund started the year with £226 17s. 1d. and ended with £239 6s. 11d. Grants had been made of £5 to Headcorn and £10 to Sevenoaks. Totals assets of the Association were £1,225 7s. 5d.

ELECTION OF OFFICERS.

Election of officers resulted as follows: Trustees, Messrs. F S. Macey, F. White and G. H. Spice; committee, Messrs. E. Barnett, R. A. Constant, G. H. Cross, T. Groombridge, J. Wheadon and J. Willis; hon treasurer, Mr. F. M. Mitchell (for the 20th year); hon. auditor, Mr. George Cross; general secretary, Mr. G. H. Spice; peal secretary, Mr. P. A. Corby. Votes of thanks were passed to the officers for their work.

In honour of their golden wedding, Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Kite, of Bromley, sent a donation of £1 to the Benevolent Fund, the announcement being received with acclamation.

Mr. F. White proposed an omnibus vote of thanks, which included the chairman and Dr. Hatcher and Mr. Cantrell for making arrangements for the meal. He extended a welcome to the visitors, mentioning Mr. T. W. White, Editor of 'The Ringing World.'

Mr. White reported that there had been 100 new subscribers to the journal since the Henry Johnson dinner. He thought that it would be possible to produce a 16 page from next June, but it could not be done at less than 4d. a copy. It would be for readers to decide whether they required a larger paper.

OBITUARY

MR. F. TRUMP.

We regret to record the death of Mr. Frank Trump, captain of the Payhembury ringers, who was accidentally killed while at work.

The funeral took place at Payhembury on April 11th and there was a large congregation, including many ringers. The service was choral, and was taken by the Vicar (the Rev. G. Ayer), assisted by the Rev. A. G. Chappell (Rector of Fineton, chairman of the East Devon Branch). Local ringers acted as bearers. There were many floral tributes, including one from the East Devon Branch, which was represented by the hon. secretary.

RINGING IN THE ISLE OF MAN

Dear Sir,—In answer to Mr. H. E. Good's query there is no ringing or bells hung for ringing. While on holiday there in 1938 I made inquiries and found that there were bells at St. Thomas' Church, Douglas, but that owing to a fire these are now hung dead and are played from a manual.

There are tubular bells at Lezarve, near Ramsey.—Yours truly, W. J. ARNOLD.

St. Albans.

1,500 MEMBERSHIP ANNOUNCED.

Some 120 members and visitors assembled at Yeovil on Easter Monday, and at 12 noon they attended the Guild service in the Parish Church. Prebendary H. Mortlock Treen, the Vicar of Yeovil, conducted the service and gave an appropriate address.

Lunch in the Sunday School then was taken and was a fine example of co-operate effort. It had been found impossible to get a caterer to provide a meal, so that the foodstuffs were transported some fifty miles across the county. Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Knight, Mrs. Norton and Mr. Leslie Pullin were responsible for this, and Mr. Billy Kingcott safely drove the provisions to the meeting place. Messrs. Tom Setter and Trevor Marks provided the crockery, cutlery and glassware, as well as finding some local ladies to assist with the waiting. Everything went swimmingly, and when it is said that the meal reached the usual Wrington standard, those who have experienced it will know what is meant.

The general business meeting followed. The Master, Prebendary A. J. Hook, in his report, began by referring to his inability to attend all the meetings he would like to do, and would rather see a younger man in the position. However, it had been made quite clear to to him that the Association did not wish him to resign. He next mentioned the numerical strength of the Association. It was anticipated that when the outstanding details had been sent in, the membership would be found to be in the neighbourhood of 1,500. Many restorations and augmentations had been carried out, and at the moment he knew of twelve towers which intended or were carrying out restoration schemes.

LENTEN RINGING.

Continuing, the Master said that he felt sure the Association should let its feelings regarding the matter be known. Ringing in Lent should be confined to Sunday ringing (Sundays, being feast days, are not part of Lent) and to necessary practice. It was suggested that peal attempts should not be made in the season, and that quarterly meetings normally held in April should, when Easter falls late, be transferred to the four Saturdays after Easter.

The two branches which had inaugurated corporate communions had now been joined by a third. He thought it was an excellent thing.

The report was adopted nem. con.

In his report, the General Secretary paid tribute to the ungrudging work of the local secretaries. He was also able to state that the finances of the Association were satisfactory, and that the cost of the report and of the war memorial could be paid from the general fund, without disturbing the investments.

Mr. H. J. Sanger gave a very detailed report of the proceedings at the C.C. meeting in London, and he was duly thanked.

Mr. W. A. Osborn, the diocesan adviser on belfries, gave an interesting account of some of the work he had done in the county. At the same time he gave some very useful advice to steeplekeepers.

Mr. Sealey Woodburn, reporting on the progress of the war memorial, said after many difficulties had been overcome, the scheme was in a fair way to completion. The Rev. W. Beaumont Russell had been chiefly responsible for getting the matter through, and the Association's grateful thanks were due to him.

WELLOW BELLS.

One announcement of general interest was made regarding Wellow bells, which after 40 years' silence will be declared open by the Bishop of the diocese at a service at 6.30 p.m. on June 25th. Ringers of the Frome Branch will ring a 720 after the service and then the tower will be open to all. It is hoped that the B.B.C. will record some of the proceedings. In the words of the Vicar of Wellow, there will be plenty going on—fete, beer, skittles, dancing, sideshows all day and half through the night.

The officers of the Association were re-elected en bloc, and the meeting closed with votes of thanks, proposed by Mr. W. A. Osborn and Miss Williams. The former dealt with those who had contributed to make the meals (tea was provided as well) the outstanding success they undoubtedly were, while the latter thanked the incumbents of the churches where bells had been placed at the disposal of the members, and particularly the Salisbury Diocesan Guild, which allowed the use of Sherborne Abbey bells. This was a mark of the friendly relations which exist between the two associations.

51 Years as Captain

As a token of their appreciation and esteem, the ringers of St. Dunstan's, Mayfield, Sussex, presented, on April 3rd, a pipe, tobacco pouch and tobacco to Mr. Arthur R. Miles, who has completed 51 years as captain of the band.

The presentation was made by the secretary (Mr. W. A. Kitchenside), who expressed the hope that the gift when used would bring back happy memories and that Mr. Miles would be spared to the tower for many years to come.

Thanking those present for their kindness, Mr. Miles expressed the hope that he would be spared to ring with them for many years. What pleased him most was to see in the tower such a promising young band of ringers.

Mr. Miles has given 65 years of service to the church as a ringer and chorister and 51 years as sexton and verger, and has no thought of retiring.

REDEDICATION

WEMBDON, SOMERSET.

The six bells of St. George's Church, Wembdon, have recently been rehung on ball bearings by Messrs. Gillett and Johnston. They were rededicated by the Vicar, the Rev. B. Roberts, on Easter Sunday in the presence of a large congregation.

Previously the bells were on plain bearings, those of the 5th being badly worn, and although the general 'go' was fair, it was decided to raise money for their rehanging, this being accomplished by aid of subscriptions, whist drives and a jumble sale held during the winter by the ringers and lady helpers.

The report now is a job well done and worth while.

BRISTOL AND TWO KINDS OF BOBS

Dear Sir,—With reference to the peal of Bristol rung at Melton Mowbray for the Lincoln Guild. Under the present rules of the Central Council, as I have read them, the peal in question is permissible. So until the rules are altered or revised the Council should accept this peal. On page 19 of the Central Council's 'Rules and Decisions' in Section 3 there is a paragraph on artificial alterations, which states that the employment of alternative calls . . . by which the general result is not affected, but only the form of the composition . . . are to be considered as 'Variations.'

I am not defending the right of anyone to use two kinds of bobs in a peal such as Bristol, because there is plenty of scope with using only one kind, seeing that Bristol has a 'Clean Proof Scale,' but I am pointing out that under the rules as they stand the peal is permissible. No doubt the committee who are revising the rules will have noted the above paragraph. When this rule was first drawn up I expect it was meant to cover such peals as those of Grandsire Triples, in which Holt's Bob Singles were used, etc.—Yours sincerely,

GEORGE E. FEIRN.

Kirton Lindsey, Lincs.

Dear Sir,—The peal of Bristol, with the first two Bobs 4ths place and the rest 6ths place, rung on those noble bells in that glorious church at Melton Mowbray last September seems to have caused a stir this last week or two. Living as I do in an agricultural district with many call-change bands, a fair number of my peals have been Grandsire Triples, in which method I have taken part in eleven different compositions or variations of compositions.

In my early days I rang in Hollis' Irregular Five-part, conducted by the late Mr. C. R. Lilley, several times. In this composition, as we all know, there are two kinds of Singles, the Bob Single and the Plain Lead Single, but no one ever said a word against it and it was at one time a favourite composition with the old conductors.

Now if Mr. Whitehead's peal of Bristol is a 'wangle,' so is Hollis' peal of Grandsire. I may say that whether the Council decide to discount it or not, I shall not strike it out of my own humble records because, firstly, the composition is perfectly true and contains 5,024 true changes of Bristol, and, secondly, because it was faultless striking from start to finish, with the very minimum of trips in spite of the weight of the bells at the back end.

If the members of the Council do not like it I would suggest they move 'That this Council disparages the use of more than one kind of bob,' or words to that effect, and not condemn a fine performance out of hand that would ensure the composition, musical though it is, not being rung again.—Yours faithfully,

'THE TREBLE MAN.'

ENGLAND CLAIMS MONMOUTH

Dear Sir,—If we are to accept the statement in this week's 'Ringing World' that Newport is 'geographically in Wales,' we shall have to revise all our maps, gazeteers, etc., to say nothing of thausands like myself, born in the county of Monmouth, having to change our nationality.

No, sir! To say it is anything else than an English county is wishful thinking, and the peals of Cinques and Maximus at Newport are no more the first in Wales than if they had been rung at Shrewsbury, about the same distance from the Welsh border.—Yours faithfully,

Which is, of course, illegitimate and incapable of running to an extent of 720 changes.

Note the apparently associated half lead end 24367581 of Major and the Minor 245631. Notice that 3 and 6 of Minor are the two course bells of the 5th, as 5 and 8 are the two course bells of the 7th, in each case of the largest odd number.

Yes, I am of the firm opinion that London Major is neither 'the' nor even 'an' extension of London Minor and that the Major has no minor.

If this view is correct then the extension of London Surprise Major is simplified, but not easy. If what I have said about the association of the half lead ends 245361 and 24367581 is correct, it follows that the Royal half lead end should be 2436589701 where 7 and 0 are the course bells of 9 and 243658 are in proper coursing order and come to lead in the order 532468 under the 9th. But it does not necessarily follow that any half lead resulting in a half lead end 2436589701 is an extension of London Surprise Major, but it greatly reduces the number of competitors.

The corresponding Maximus half lead end is 24365870E9T1. If the Royal I published in 'The Ringing World,' September 16th, 1921, is examined, you will find this condition complied with, but not in the Maximus. Obviously the Maximus of that date is faulty.

I have since produced Maximus to comply with the condition and at the same time produced from Royal as Royal is from Major. It, therefore, follows that we have at any rate 'a' genuine extension of London even if it cannot be accepted as 'the' extension. It can be continued to 14 and 16.

Like Superlative, 10 and 14 of London are not at best because on those numbers the 3rd has to dodge with the treble on crossing. The method is at best where the 3rd crosses the treble without dodging with it, i.e., on 8, 12, 16, etc. The late J. A. Trollope has regular extensions of London Major to Royal and Maximus, but they are not satisfactory because of prolonging dodging in certain positions.

In my opinion, Mr. York-Bramble's Maximus is not produced from Royal as the Royal is from Major. Above the treble they may claim to be in same way, but below the treble most certainly not as even a cursory examination, say, of the work of the 2nd will show. Whilst they may truly be classed as London group, they are certainly not London. Why not call the Royal University Royal (London group) and the Maximus, say, after one of the other universities (Leeds or Liverpool, etc., with the bracketed London group)? In fact, since London is a university the whole group could very suitably bear university names, thus making the group distinct and classic.

I will now give what I consider to be the most perfect extensions of London Surprise Major to Royal and Maximus it is possible to produce. But, until the relationship or otherwise of Minor and Major is settled beyond dispute I make no definite claim.

The designation of different versions of London Royal as No. 1, No. 2, No. 3, etc., is to be deprecated. It may probably be an improvement to adopt the suggestion just made.

ROYAL AND MAXIMUS FROM LONDON SURPRISE MAJOR.

In Maximus the 5ths and partial dodge by the 9th with treble in 3-4 may with advantage be changed to partial dodge and 5ths. It will be noticed that only the odd bells make a place before crossing the treble, the 3rd making its place first and being the last of the odd bells to cross exactly as in Major. Below the treble it is more difficult to arrange the work; the main point is that the odd course bell 7 in Royal, 9 in Maximus, 5 in Major courses up before the highest odd number. In Maximus the 5th and 7th have to work in 1-2 until the Eth commences to hunt up behind and so that the bells can come to the lead in the order 7532468, i.e., in direct order in spite of the fact that these bells are leading back and hand!

The very best Maximus is an Alliance method omitting the dodging of the treble in 5-6 and again 9-0.

WEDDING OF MR. P. SMALL

A member of the Canterbury Cathedral company, Mr. Peter Small was married at St. Mary's, Sellindge, Kent, on April 16th, to Miss Jean Price, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Price, of Sellindge. The Rev. C. Magraw, Rector of St. Alphege's, Canterbury, officiated, and Mr. Vernon Benning, of Belvedere, was the best man.

After the ceremony the bells were rung and fired by ringers from the Canterbury Cathedral company. Last year Mr. Small was attached to the All Saints', Fulham, band.

HALIFAX AND DISTRICT ASSOCIATION

The quarterly meeting and six-bell contest were held at New Mill, Yorks, on April 2nd. The contest resulted as follows: Silkstone, 130 faults; Cawthorne, 99; Meltham, 80; Friezland, 65; Shelley, 48; Thornhill, 126 (abandoned). The judges declared Shelley to be the winners of the Association's silver cup.

An interesting and well-attended meeting followed the competition ringing. Afterwards mixed bands again ascended the tower for further touches.

Norwich Diocesan Association

PEAL BOOKING FEE INTRODUCED.

The annual general meeting was held in Norwich on Easter Monday and was very well attended. Ringing took place at Mancroft from 10 a.m. onwards, and St. Miles', St. Giles' and St. John de Sepulchre were also open. Methods up to Cambridge Royal and Kent Maximus were rung.

The service was at Mancroft at 12 and the preacher was the Rev. G. B. Chambers, Vicar of Carbrooke. A company of 81 sat down to lunch at Samson and Hercules, and attended the business meeting in St. Clement's Parish Hall, and many others attended at other times during the day.

At the meeting the Rev. W. G. Bridge, chairman of the West Norfolk Branch, was in the chair in the regretted absence through indisposition of the president, the Rev. A. St. J. Heard.

Correspondence included letters from Mr. Nolan Golden and Mr. Ben Thompson, whose absence (the latter through indisposition) was much regretted. Mr. George Mayers, formerly for many years steeplekeeper at Mancroft, was warmly congratulated on attaining his 80th birthday the same day.

The following officers were re-elected: President, Rev. A. St. J. Heard; general secretary and treasurer, Rev. A. G. G. Thurlow; vice-presidents en bloc with the addition of Rev. K. O. Morris, Vicar of Norton Subcourse; Ringing Master, Mr. Nolan Golden; auditor, Mr. George Fletcher.

Mr. Fletcher presented the accounts for 1948 and was most warmly thanked both for his masterly rearrangement of the accounts in modern style and for his lucid presentation of them. New members elected included Peter Bond (St. Martin-in-the-Fields), non-resident life member; Sidney G. Brett (Wymondham) and Ralph Setch and Richard Wagg (Mancroft).

SUBSCRIPTIONS THROUGH TOWER CAPTAINS.

The new method of collecting subscriptions was explained; all ringing members' subscriptions are in future to be paid through the tower captain to the branch secretaries, their names being noted on a form for each tower; this makes collection easier and provides a clearer record for all to see.

In accordance with notice given at the previous general meeting on November 6th, Mr. Fletcher proposed that a peal booking fee of 6d. be levied on every member taking part in a peal for the Association. He said this was the best thing to do to avoid a deficit, as most of the expenses are accounted for by printing the report, in which peals are a large feature. Mr. Arthur Smalls seconded and the proposal was carried by an overwhelming majority.

Mr. Fletcher gave notice of a motion to be proposed at the next general meeting to incorporate into the rules provision for a Branch Ringing Master in each branch, such to be members of the Standing Committee.

It was resolved to send £3 from the Belfry Repair Fund for Ketteringham bells restoration.

Votes of thanks were passed to the incumbents for the use of their bells, the Vicar for the service at Mancroft, the preacher, and association officers.

Ringing continued at the city churches until the evening. A.G.G.T.

Kent County Association

CANTERBURY DISTRICT.

The quarterly meeting of the Canterbury District was held at St. Lawrence's, Thanet, on April 9th. Ringing was delayed at the start, due to a wedding; the couple were, however, greeted with a peal to start their married life. Ringing was continued until 4.30, when those present attended service, this being conducted by the Vicar, the Rev. J. H. Roundhill.

Five new members were elected, and St. Peter's, Thanet, was chosen as the place of the next quarterly meeting, and Walmer for a by-meeting previous.

A motion that the meetings for the year should be selected by a small committee and presented to members at the annual district meeting was defeated. It was, however, agreed that after a meeting at a tower there should be a time lag of three years before another meeting be held there, except for a special reason.

Sixty-five members out of a total of 75 who had advised they were coming to the meeting attended, and this brought forth a few remarks from the chairman, who appealed to members to make every effort to attend after having sent their names in. His point started a long discussion, during which it transpired that at one meeting last year the deficiency was £1 2s. 6d. through this cause. A resolution was passed that at ensuing meetings those who sent their names in as attending would also have to send the money for tea at the same time.

ARTHUR SYMONDS MEMORIAL

On April 2nd, in the presence of many ringers and friends, an oak tablet was unveiled and dedicated by the Rector (the Rev. Preb. Fountain Page) in the tower of SS. Peter and Paul's Church, Lavenham, to the memory of Arthur Symonds, for many years towerkeeper and instructor of the Lavenham ringers.

The inscription reads: 'To the memory of Arthur Symonds, who devoted his life to the church and its bells, travelling over a large area, mostly on foot, to foster and teach the art of change ringing to 66 pupils, most of whom subscribed to this memorial.'

After a short service, the bells were rung to various methods. The memorial is the handiwork of Mr. Leslie Mills, a ringer of Bures, Suffolk.

THE CENTRAL COUNCIL

BY LIBRA.

ON Whit-Tuesday the Central Council will meet in the ancient city of York. The meeting itself is, in a sense, a summing-up of the work of the past year, when the various committees, whose work, it must be remembered, goes on throughout the year, make their reports to the Council. Too many ringers regard these gatherings as a pleasant holiday for those fortunate enough to attend, but otherwise of little value. Pleasant they are indeed, but it must not be forgotten that very many of the members attend in their own time and at their own expense, for the number of Associations which can subsidise three or four representatives is comparatively small.

There is also a tendency in some quarters to regard the Council as controlled largely by a handful of leading members. If this is so, the fault lies with the delegates themselves. Unfortunately, campanological ability does not necessarily mean administrative ability, so that there are a number of members, excellent ringers though they may be, to whom W. S. Gilbert's line, 'They never would be missed,' might well be applied, for all that they contribute either in debate or in committee. This is not peculiar to the Council of, of course—did not one Member of Parliament sit for fifty years without making a speech?—but it could be remedied if Associations were more discriminating in their choice of representatives. Until then, it is inevitable that the more enthusiastic members will secure most of the limelight.

This year there are a number of matters on which it is to be hoped that a clear lead will be given to the Exercise. One is the use of Singles in Treble Bob methods, on which no decision was reached list year. It was then argued that no pronouncement against such singles had been made, which was perfectly true, simply because the question had never previously arisen. Had it not been for the powerful advocacy of Mr. Harold Cashmore, there is little doubt that the Standing Committee's recommendation against their use would have been accepted.

Secondly, there is the question of Doubles nomenclature. It is said by some that Doubles should be brought into line with methods on other numbers, where the use of an alternative call is regarded as insufficient to justify two different names for what is basically the same method. Against this is the view that it is now too late to interfere with a practice which has been condoned since ringing began. There would be the further difficulty of deciding what to do about existing Doubles records if it were agreed to take the seemingly logical view that there is no reason why Doubles should be specially favoured. Those set up in Oxfordshire in recent years, for example, would need considerable amendment.

Again, it is to be hoped that the committee appointed some years ago to revise the Council's Rules and Decisions will by now have something to report. Certain rules definitely need amendment as soon as possible. For instance, notices of motion must at present be in the hands of the secretary two calendar months before each meeting. Few Associations hold their annual meetings before Easter Monday at the earliest, so that it is impossible for matters brought up at these meetings to go forward to the Council in the same year. Nor, when a new Council is in process of election, can the two signatories often guarantee that they will still be members when it comes up for discussion. Further, some rules are indecisive. It is not right, for example, that certain peals should be excluded from the analysis because they are 'deprecated' or 'deplored.' If such peals are not to be recognised, the rules should say so.

LATE NEWS

Success attended the College Youths band that rang in the peal of Cambridge Surprise Maximus at Exeter Cathedral on April 30th. The time was 4 hours 23 minutes. Congratulations to all concerned.

BELFRY GOSSIP

Instr.-Lieut.-Commander R. G. Cross, R.N., is likely to miss his ringing for a period. He is on leave before proceeding overseas.

Mr. Edward Jenkins has rung 150 peals of Cambridge ranging from Minor to Maximus.

The bells of Yateley, Hants, are to be rehung on ball bearings by Messrs. Mears and Stainbank.

The first peal on the bells of St. Andrew's, Roker, was a composition of a Sunderland man, the late Mr. J. W. Parker.

The bells of Great Bromley, Essex, will be heard at the beginning of the Rogation Sunday service to be broadcast in the Home Service at 7.45 p.m. on May 22nd.

Mr. J. Worth informs us that the arrangements for the Suffolk tour are being made by Mr. E. Cawser, of Rotherham, with Mr. J. E. C. Simpson as the 'mainstay' of the ringing. Mr. Worth is just one of the party.

History was made for the Llandaff and Monmouth Association on April 23rd, when two resident Vicars of the Diocese (the Rev. R. A. Sluman and Rev. Ivor J. Richards) took part in the first peal on the bells. After the peal the Vicar of Blaenavon kindly entertained the band to tea. 'The bells are a lovely ring of Taylors,' writes Mr. J. W. Jones.

A copy of Snowdon's original edition of 'Standard Methods' (1881) has come into the possession of Mr. Harold Spencer, of Scarborough, who enquires if this is a 'find.' The book is bound in green and brown leather and contains among its advertisements one of 'The Bell News and Ringers Record'—a monthly journal and medium of communication for the Ringing Exercise.

Mr. F. Horsfield is leaving Macclesfield to the regret of local ringers. When he came to the town he attended St. Peter's regularly, and, being a ringer of no mean ability, he was sorry to see that the church had no bells. By dint of much persuasion and hard work, he managed to interest the people of the parish in church bells and a light ring of eight was provided.

A farewell quarter of Stedman Triples was rung on April 24th at St. Peter's by W. Stevenson 1, J. Henshaw 2, Mrs. C. W. Lawton 3, F. Horsfield 4, C. W. Lawton 5, J. W. Whittaker 6, J. Worth (cond.) 7, H. Brough 8.

Most of the peals rung on April 23rd were to commemorate St. George's Day.

The peal at Southwold, Suffolk, on Easter Monday, was the first on the bells for 9 years and 11 months.

The peal of Plain Bob Royal at Kettering on April 19th was the 40th peal on the bells by Mr. Charles W. Bird.

Mr. A. R. Pargeter writes to us registering his protest at the proposed introduction of 'synthetic bells' at Milton (Hants) Parish Church.

Mr. Percy J. Dawe, who rang the 30¼ cwt. tenor of St. George's, Doncaster, on April 23rd, has not rung a peal for 20 years.

Mr. Geoff. W. Seaman, who for the past three years has been a member of the Watford band, has been called up for service in the R.A.F. It had been arranged to ring a farewell quarter of Bob Royal with him as conductor, but the untimely breaking of the clapper joint of the eighth prevented this. A 720 Plain Bob Minor was rung by A. Wise 1, C. L. Leman 2, R. G. Bell 3, H. G. Timms 4, W. G. Paul 5, G. W. Seaman (cond.) 6.

GLOUCESTER & BRISTOL ASSOCIATION

AN INVITATION TO CENTRAL COUNCIL.

The annual meeting was held at St. Ambrose's, Bristol, on Easter Monday, about 120 members being present, representing practically every branch, presided over by Mr. W. B. Kynaston (Master).

The Master in his report said he had attended branch meetings throughout the year in every branch where meetings had been held, and was pleased to see the enthusiasm which existed especially amongst the branch officials, which was a good sign for future activities. He wished especially to thank two branch secretaries, viz., Miss Mary Hilliar (Bristol Rural) and Miss Mary Drew (Wotton-under-Edge), for their excellent returns, which, he pointed out, shows what can be done where everyone co-operates He also thanked Mr. Cyril Harding (general hon. secretary) and Mr. P. C. Williams (hon. treasurer) for their very loyal support to him, and willing assistance in all matters which were dealt with during the past year.

The Hon. Secretary, in his report, said he regretted to report a fall in performing membership, due to the fact that two branches, viz., Stow-on-the-Wold and Chippenham, had not sent in any returns for 1948; also there was a falling off in the South Forest Branch, due to the branch secretary having to give up owing to poor health; but he felt confident that this state of affairs was only temporary, and that with some new officials who were prepared to put their backs into the work there was little doubt that the position would soon reverse itself. The other branches with enthusiastic officials all had shown an increase in membership.

FINANCIAL POSITION.

The treasurer's report was not so bright, as with decreased membership and the increased cost of printing reports, purchasing a new peal book, etc., there was a big drop in the credit balance of the Association funds, and undoubtedly they had to find some means of correcting that position. The balance sheet was adopted.

Some discussion arose as to what could be done to rectify the financial position, and after various suggestions it was decided to continue the issuing of the annual report as hitherto, with some modifications to condense the printed matter into less pages, thereby reducing the cost of producing the report.

Some views were expressed as to the advisability or otherwise of increasing the annual subscription (which had already been raised in 1948 from 1s. 6d. to 8s.), and it was ultimately decided by a resolution which was passed by a large majority to increase the performing members' subscription to 2s. 6d. for adults and 1s. 6d. for juniors up to 18 years of age, and the associate member's fee, which has been 2s. 6d., to be increased to 3s. 6d., both alterations to take effect from 1950. Peal ringing fees to be increased to 6d. per member taking part in a peal, and the hon. peal secretary to receive in future 1s. 6d. per peal for writing up same into the peal book.

The election of officers was a short business, there being no change in the chief officials, viz.: Mr. W. B. Kynaston (Swindon), Master; Mr. Cyril Harding (Bristol), hon. secretary; Mr. P. C. Williams (Portishead), hon. treasurer. All the vice-presidents (with the exception of the Rev. N. E. Hope, who has left the diocese) were re-elected, with the addition of the Rev. Allen, Cromhall, and Mr. F. Skidmore, Bristol.

It was decided to inform the hon. secretary of the Central Council that the Gloucester and Bristol Association's offer to the Council 'That the Council visits Cheltenham in the near future,' still stands.

LOSS TO ST. MARY REDCLIFFE.

Mr. Hancock, Bristol, wished put on record the excellent work done in Bristol by Mr. Donald Clift (who is leaving Bristol to take up an appointment in London) in that through his efforts St. Mary Redcliffe (12) become a tower which was now open for Sunday service ringing, ringing taking place alternately with St. Stephen's (10) on Sunday evenings, also that the tower was now available for practice every week. Mr. F. Skidmore supported this, and said that good progress had been made by local ringers in twelve-bell ringing, as could be seen from the number of local ringers who had scored their first peal of Cinques at Redcliffe.

This concluded the business, when a move was made to church for the annual service, conducted by the Rev. J. H. Williams, vice-president, and the address was given by the Lord Bishop of Bristol. The feature of the service was a surpliced choir of bellringers from Cheltenham, Swindon and Bristol.

After the service the company gathered on the Vicarage lawn for Press photographs, after which they met for tea in the Parish Hall. The meeting was preceded by lunch, and at the tea table the usual speeches were made, and the secretary offered a special welcome to Mr. Harold Poole and family, from Leicester, also visitors from the Salisbury Guild.

Votes of thanks were passed to the Vicar of St. Ambrose's for the welcome he had given the Association, also to Mr. A. E. Clarke, organist, who ably led the choir, and to Mrs. Skidmore and her committee of ladies who had carried everything off so well, also to Mr. Baker for having everything ready in the tower, and to Mr. Skidmore for assisting the hon secretary in making the arrangements, which brought to a close one of the most successful meetings the Gloucester and Bristol has held.

The company were fortunate to be favoured with some excellent change ringing on handbells by Mr. Harold Poole and company, assisted by Wilfrid Williams (Cheltenham) and Miss A. Brown (Bristol), comprising Stedman Triples and Caters, and Cambridge Major; also tune ringing and change ringing by the boys from Swindon, which was greatly appreciated.

MARKFIELD, LEICESTERSHIRE.

As a thanksgiving for victory in the last war, a tenor weighing 10¼ cwt. has been provided and the other five bells hung on ball bearings at St. Michael and All Angels', Markfield. The belfry has also been panelled and redecorated and a sound-proof floor under the bells erected. Towards the estimated cost of £500 the sum of £430 has been raised. The contract for the bells was carried out by Messrs. John Taylor and Co., and the new tenor is acknowledged to be a splendid splice.

The dedication was performed by the Rt. Rev. J. J. Willis, Assistant Bishop of Leicester, on April 16th, in the presence of a congregation of some 250 parishioners and ringers. Other clergy present included the Archdeacon of Loughborough, the Rev. A. C. Holden, of Oaks-in-Charnwood, and the Rev. C. I. H. Siviter (Rector). After the dedicatory prayers local ringers chimed the bells. The Bishop gave an interesting address.

Ladies of the church entertained the ringers to tea in the Schoolroom. The six bells were raised in peal by local ringers under Mr. Redvers Elkington, of Anstey, who took charge of the ringing.

Irish Association

WATERFORD REVISITED.

The annual meeting of the Irish Association was held in Waterford on Easter Monday and was attended by 70 members, who travelled by various means, rail, bus and car. There was even a Rolls-Royce which brought the Bray ringers.

The striking competition for the Murphy Cup was competed for on the Cathedral bells by the winners of the Southern District Cup, St. Mary's Cathedral, Limerick, and Christ Church, Bray, respectively. The judges—the Rev. G. H. McKinley, M.A., Messrs. W. Pratt and H. T. McKiernan—awarded the cup to the Limerick team, who recorded only twelve faults as against 24 for Bray.

The members sat down to lunch in the Bishop Fry's School, which was presided over by the Dean of Waterford.

The president, Mr. William Pratt, was in the chair for the business meeting, when those present stood as a mark of respect to the memory of those members who passed away during 1948, viz., H. Chapman (N.R.L.M.), T. Glenn (Coleraine) and W. J. McCarthy (Holywood).

The annual report, presented by Mr. F. E. Dukes, stated that the bells of Christ Church Cathedral, Dublin, St. Thomas', Belfast, and Carrickfergus were broadcast during the year. Twenty-nine peals were rung and the number of ringers who scored peals was 22 and those who rang their first peal six.

Mr. Dukes drew the attention of the members to the reference to the safety and attention to bells. He said that in his researches on Irish bells he had come across some bells which were in a dangerous condition and had drawn the attention of the authorities to same. He was supported by the chairman, who said it was the duty of ringers to draw the attention of those in charge to any cases of defective bells and fittings.

The Attendance Challenge Shield was presented to Mr. R. Corson for Christ Church, Bray, who had 100 per cent. attendances in 1948. The chairman commented on the Ballymodan, Co. Cork, team's achievement in again coming second with a record of 99.52 per cent.

The Murphy Cup was presented to Miss Dorothy McCormick, for the Limerick team, amidst an enthusiastic reception.

The election of officers resulted as follows: President, Mr. William Pratt (Holywood); vice-presidents, the Rev. F. J. Mitchell (Ballymena), G. E. Jones (Kilkenny), S. J. Evans (Arklow); Ringing Master, Mr. R. S. F. Murphy, P.C. (Dublin); librarian, Mr. T. McMorran (Dublin); general hon. secretary and treasurer, Mr. Fred E. Dukes, Jenkinstown, Dundalk.

This is the last annual general meeting of the Association. In future an annual ringers' festival is to be held in Dublin, being the most central meeting place. The business meeting will be confined to the Executive Committee. On this day the Murphy Cup competition final is to be held, and perhaps something of a social nature will be arranged also.

Good use was made of the Cathedral bells from an early hour until very late in the evening, when Plain Bob and Grandsire methods were rung by members of the various societies.

It is interesting to record that the first peal ever rung in Ireland was rung on the Waterford Cathedral bells by the Ancient Society of College Youths in 1872, being Holt's one-part peal of Grandsire Triples. One of this band, C. Lee, remained in Waterford to teach the new local team, and in the following year called Holt's Ten-part peal with seven Irishmen in the band. All were members of the 'Youths,' there being no Irish Association until 1898.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

NOT AN ENGLISH COUNTY

Dear Sir,—If Monmouthshire is an English county, can Mr. Barnett explain why such names as Llanfrechfa, Pontnewynydd, Llanfiangel Ystern Llewern or Ynysddu occur, to mention but a few of many dozens? Or why its churches are dedicated to such saints as St. Teilo, St. Hierom and St. Cadoc? Monmouthshire is part of the Church in Wales, and when the Welsh Church was disestablished and disendowed it suffered the same fate.

In nearly all parliamentary legislation it is included with Wales. It has the same licensing laws regarding Sunday closing, comes under the Welsh Board of Education. In rugby football it is affiliated to the Welsh Rugby Union, in soccer it is affiliated to the Welsh F.A. It is Welsh in character. It may be considered by some to belong to England, but it is certainly not an English county.—Yours faithfully,

Cardiff. F. J. HANNINGTON.

POSITION OF NEWPORT

Dear Sir,—Mr. Barnett's remarks on the recent peals of Cinques and Maximus at Newport, that 'England claims Monmouth,' are such that will evoke protest from any patriotic Welshman.

Mr. Barnett has raised a point which is very debatable and on which I do not propose to waste any time. However, I would point out that the county of Monmouth, or, as I prefer to call it, 'Gwent,' is, for purposes ecclesiastical, part of the Church in Wales.

Therefore, the two performances in question were performed in a place which is legally accepted as a part of Wales, and it is on this that the claims are based.—Yours sincerely,

D. G. CLIFT.

Usk, Mon.

WEIGHT OF TENORS

Dear Sir,—In reply to Mr. Amos' epistle on weight of tenors, when I ring a peal in a tower my question is, what is weight of tenor (not always correct)? On looking through the reports of the Peterborough Guild it is noticed that St. Mary's, Peterborough, is given several times as 10 cwt., Yaxley 20 cwt.—1 ton. When I quoted 44in.—16 cwt., 43in.—15 cwt., it was from a table of weights of tenors. Perhaps Mr. Amos has a formula of measurements better than our famous bell founders.

When I was admitted a member of the (Ely) Bishop's Advisory Committee some 20 years ago it was for my knowledge of designs, specifications and the care of church bells. It is from this experience that I gained some authority regarding bells. Mr. Amos states he has rung these heavy bells. Does he mean he has pulled the ropes attached to these tenors? Once at a meeting the district ringing master called Mr. Amos off the box to allow someone to ring the tenor, and, strange as it may now be, I was asked to ring the bell. A good touch of London Surprise Major was then rung. Now, Mr. Amos, put your thinking cap on. It is among the group you mention. Yes, I have rung in nearly all of them; they are among my 999.—Yours faithfully, FRANK WARRINGTON.

P.S.—I have visited over 1,000 towers, but have not rung in all of them.—F. W.

2nd AS DOMINATING BELL

Dear Sir,—Are there any rules and regulations with regard to the use of the second as the dominating bell in Plain Bob Minor? It provides a greater variety when the band are only able to ring one method and also enables a learner to master plain hunting on a bell he or she can ring easily.—Yours sincerely,

H. T. ROOKE.

Warsop, Notts.

P.S.—The following was rung at Warsop on April 24th, 1,260 Plain Bob Minor: D. Chadwick 1, Miss J. Haynes (first quarter, hunt bell) 2, R. Tomlinson 3, R. T. Flint 4, F. Flint 5, H. T. Rooke (cond.) 6.

HOLY SATURDAY

Dear Sir,—In the concluding paragraph of your leading article this week, referring to the ringing of bells in Lent and Holy Week, you suggest that the question is complicated by the fact that a large number of marriages take place on the Saturday before Easter. This unfortunate custom, which grew out of war conditions, and which is forbidden by the Canons, certainly ought not to be encouraged by ringers, who are supposed to be upholders of the customs and discipline of the Church. If people have to get married on Holy Saturday, which, by the way is not 'Easter Saturday' as the B.B.C. seems to think, they should do so in the quietest possible way, and certainly the bells should not be rung.

Bells, as you so often point out, do not exist primarily for brightening social functions or for our private enjoyment, but for the glory of God. It is for the glory of God and in reverence to our Lord's Passion that the crosses and pictures in our churches are veiled during Passiontide, and similarly Christian feeling demands that the bells should be silent during that sacred season. The ringing of a peal on Good Friday, even if the bells are muffled, seems to indicate a total misunderstanding of the Christian approach to the Cross.—Yours,

A. J. HOOK (Rev.), Master,
Bath and Wells Diocesan Association.

ANOTHER FOR MARGARET

Dear Sir,—May I add my tribute of praise and congratulation to Margaret Beamish in being the youngest person to ring a peal of Cambridge Maximus? More so, as she stood in this peal at the last moment, having had no previous experience of ringing any Maximus, and proved a most efficient substitute and struck her bell perfectly throughout the peal.

This promising young lady has already rung a peal of Stedman Cinques on handbells before her 13th birthday, and I am proud to have taken part in both these twelve-bell peals with such a talented young ringer.

Birmingham. ALBERT WALKER.

LONDON SURPRISE MINOR & MAJOR

Dear Sir,—Round Blocks prove that London Surprise Major is a perfect extension of London Surprise Minor, and those who keep their 'Ringing Worlds' have only to turn up the issue of July 16th, 1926, to find mathematical proof of this assertion.—Yours faithfully,

Brighton. GEORGE BAKER.

BEVERLEY AND DISTRICT SOCIETY

For their April meeting the Society met at Patrington, the 43 members attending including Mr. G. Dobbs, of South Killingholme, who took four hours to reach the village, although he could see the spire from his home.

Patrington bells had recently been increased to eight and some good ringing was accomplished. The Rector conducted the service and handbells were introduced during the singing of Psalm 150.

An excellent tea was provided, and Mr. G. F. Williams was in the chair at the business meeting. The May meeting will be at Nunburnholme and the June meeting at Sutton.

YORKSHIRE ASSOCIATION

The spring meeting of the Eastern District was held at Carlton on April 23rd, and was attended by 35 ringers from various towers. After service, conducted by the Rev. S. A. Taylor, curate, in the absence of the Vicar, Canon Pascoe, owing to illness, an excellent tea was provided, followed by the business meeting, presided over by the vice-president, Mr. A. H. Fox. Escrick was selected as the place of the annual meeting in June. The usual votes of thanks were passed and a collection for the Bell Repair Fund realised 11s. 3d. Carlton and Snaith bells were kept going until 9 o'clock.

Ely Diocesan Association

PEAL BOOKING FEE INTRODUCED.

A large company of ringers assembled at St. Neots on Easter Monday for the annual general meeting.

The bells of Eynesbury and Great Staughton were available, in addition to those of St. Neots, and a variety of methods up to London Surprise were rung during the day.

A party of ringers from the Wisbech district, travelling to St. Neots by bus, made good use of the bells of All Saints' and St. Mary's, Huntingdon, during the morning.

The service was held in St. Neots Church at 4.15, conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. L. Galley), whose son, a ringer, presided at the organ. Tea was provided at Pratt's Restaurant for a total of 72.

At the business meeting, which was held in the Church Hall, the Vicar presided. The secretary spoke of the large increase in the number of peals rung during the past year, with special emphasis on the cost of printing the annual report. To meet this cost the committee had recommended that a peal booking fee of 6d. should be levied on each ringer taking part in Association peals. A resolution to this effect was carried by a large majority, an amendment that subscriptions should be increased being defeated. It was agreed that the rules should be redrafted to bring them in line with modern conditions and practices.

Officers re-elected were: General secretary and treasurer, Mr. W. W. Cousins; auditor, Mr. T. R. Dennis; peal secretary, Mr. M. J. Thurmott. The Diocesan Committee was re-elected, with Mr. A. Rolfe in place of the Rev. J. P. Pelloe.

It was decided to transfer the two eight-bell towers of Whittlesey from the Ely to the Hunts District, and that the next annual general meeting should be held there.

The Vicar was thanked for taking the service, for the use of the bells and presiding at the meeting.

Thanks were also expressed to the incumbents of Eynesbury and Great Staughton for their co-operation.

CHESTER DIOCESAN GUILD

BOWDON, STOCKPORT AND MOTTRAM BRANCH.

The spring meeting was held at Burbage, Buxton, on April 23rd, when some 40 members and friends enjoyed a beautiful spring day in the fine setting of this Derbyshire spa. Ringing was enjoyed on the six bells from early in the afternoon until the service in church, conducted by the Vicar.

In his address the Vicar referred to the psychological effect of bells on the hearer and asked those present to consider how many crimes had been prevented by the sound of bells. He said it was strange but true that many people who have never been inside a church for years and who deny having any religious feeling, nevertheless do not find the bells a nuisance but rather a good influence. He said he felt that the half empty churches of to-day were better than the full churches of the Edwardian era when people went to church because it was fashionable and failure to attend would have an effect on their social position or employment. Then they had quantity without quality, to-day there is quality but not quantity.

At the business meeting after tea the news of the death of Mr. G. E. Shaw, of Staley, was received with regret. A discussion took place on various items which are to be raised at the Guild annual festival. Votes of thanks were accorded to the Vicar and wardens, the organist and the choir, the local ringers and the ladies who had so carefully attended to wants of the ringers.

Further ringing took place after the meeting until a late hour, the ringing ranging from rounds for the learners to Spliced Treble Bob Minor for the experts.

RECORD MEETING OF EAST DEVON BRANCH.

The annual meeting of the East Devon Branch was held at Sidbury on Easter Monday, attended by just on 100 ringers, friends and visitors, including that old veteran, Mr. J. Morris, of Leicester, and the Rev. C. C. Cox.

The Rev. H. Taylor (Sidbury), who was elected chairman of the branch, said he hoped something would be done to increase the interchange of visits between the various towers. The meeting resolved to arrange some visits during the year. Election of several new members took place, including Allan Mingo, aged 13, of Sidmouth.

In his report the hon. secretary said the branch had paid its way during the year, and now had a slightly increased balance of £30 16s. 3d. Certificates were presented by the president, Preb. E. V. Cox, to seven members. Officers elected included Mr. J. C. Woodley, vice-chairman; Mr. J. Arbury, Ottery St. Mary, hon. secretary and treasurer; Mr. C. Turner, Ottery St. Mary, Ringing Master.

It was decided (subject to consent) that meetings be held at Buckerell in September, Upottery next January, and Ottery St. Mary next Easter. Ringers will find peals of reconditioned bells at each of these towers. J. A.

MEETING AT BUCKFASTLEIGH.

The Mid-Devon Branch held a quarterly meeting at Buckfastleigh on April 23rd, which was attended by members and friends from Salisbury, Exmouth, Newton Abbot, Paignton, Dartmouth, Ashburton and Buckfastleigh.

The bells were kept going to Stedman Doubles, Plain Bob Minor and Grandsire Triples during the afternoon, this being followed by a service, conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. J. W. Timms).

After tea at Hunt's Cafe the usual business meeting followed, with Mr. J. E. Lilley (branch chairman) presiding. Correspondence was also read on the recent question of broadcasting of church bells. Five non-resident members and one associate member were elected.

The secretary announced the following meetings (subject to the necessary permission): Joint meeting with the South-West Branch, Buckfast Abbey, June 25th; quarterly meeting, Brixham, July 23rd. Votes of thanks to the Vicar and the organist concluded the business.

BOLSOVER BELLS

After a period of approximately fifty years of very regular ringing with few major difficulties, it has become increasingly obvious that our well-loved ring of bells is in urgent need of attention, and following a very careful examination by Messrs. John Taylor and Co., of Loughborough, we have been advised that the bells should be rehung on modern ball bearings and the fittings completely overhauled.

An order has been placed for the work to be put in hand as soon as possible, and as it is estimated that the total cost will be something over £300, it is felt that many friends who have at various times enjoyed ringing the bells may wish to contribute towards the cost of the renovation.

It is intended to dedicate the whole scheme to the memory of four former members of the Bolsover company who gave valuable service to the tower over a long number of years, and a plate will be placed in the belfry to record their names, viz., John Flint, Charles Mason, Jesse T. Moss, Remalial Coupe.

It is hoped that there will be a generous response to our appeal for subscriptions, which should be sent to A. B. Cooper, Secretary to the Fund, Wickstead, Rectory Road, Duckmanton, Chesterfield.

OBITUARY

MR. WILLIAM WOODHEAD.

The death of 'Bill' Woodhead severs the last link with the old Leeds Parish Church company. He had been a member of the Yorkshire Association since 1889 and had rung 82 peals for the Association.

Learning to handle a bell at St. Matthew's, Holbeck, he subsequently became attached to the Parish Church and took part in all in 14 peals in the tower. His last peal—Grandsire Caters—was at Bradford Cathedral in 1945, and it is believed that he had rung about 150 peals altogether.

By a coincidence the 'local' peal of Grandsire Triples at Leeds Parish Church on Nov. 18th, rung in honour of the birth of Prince Charles, took place on his 80th birthday.

Early this year he had a stroke, from which he never recovered, and he passed away peacefully on April 10th.

MR. W. JONES.

The many friends of Mr. W. Jones, late verger, bellringer and tower master at Wrexham Parish Church, will regret to hear of his death, which occurred on April 25th, at the age of 83. Mr. Jones was verger and bellringer at Wrexham for over 50 years and was greatly respected by all. A member of the North Wales Association, he had rung at all the towers in North Wales. He will be greatly missed by his brother ringers at Wrexham.

The funeral service took place on April 29th at the Wrexham Parish Church, the Vicar of Wrexham conducting. The bearers were the Wrexham ringers, who rang the handbells at the graveside and also the tower bells muffled afterwards, assisted by Mr. T. R. Griffith, Gresford. A. L.

A RINGERS' GUIDE

A VALUED correspondent has written to us suggesting the publication of a ringer's guide which would give details in an abbreviated form of the towers in the country with ringable bells. The information required he suggests should consist of the place, number of bells, weight of tenor, whether the bells are rung regularly for service, practice night and name and address of tower secretary. This would be condensed by the use of code letters so that each tower would only occupy a line, as follows:—

Xbury (8), 5.45, Th., A.N. Other, 16, High Street.

Dedications, he suggests, should be omitted unless there is more than one tower in a town, and the guide could be arranged in alphabetical order.

For practical purposes a book of this description should be published at as low a figure as possible, and it should be practicable to produce it at under 5s. a copy. If every tower in the country purchased a copy for reference, the cost should be below this figure, and if the type was kept standing a revised edition could be published at appropriate intervals. An alternative would be the publication of an amendment sheet annually.

Most of the Guild annual reports give a complete coverage of the necessary information. The Lancashire Association, for example, have the data of their 189 towers in a particularly concise form, giving also in abbreviated form information as to the condition of the bells, such as VG, very good; G, good; M, moderate; and U, unringable. They also state the methods rung on practice nights, which enables the stranger to assess the standard reached and know what to expect. Some years before the war the Gloucester and Bristol Association published a comprehensive ringers' directory. Cost of printing to-day would make its re-issue an expensive publication.

Another interesting publication is the little booklet issued by the Guild of Devonshire Ringers for the benefit of visitors. This is confined to a list of towers and the number of bells. The Literature, Press and Broadcasting Committee of the Central Council have, we understand, already been informed of the proposition and the name of a ringer who has the time at his disposal to arrange for such a compilation. It is possible that at the Central Council meeting at York the question will be ventilated, and it might be possible to ascertain the degree of co-operation that would be forthcoming. With most Guild secretaries this is a relatively easy matter, as they have the information already printed.

Last week we published an advertisement from a ringer requiring details of facilities for ringing in the Isle of Wight, and recently a request for information in the Isle of Man, to which replies are given in this issue. There are to-day a number of organised ringing tours; in fact, there is a Society of Roving Ringers who have spent two summer holidays on cycling tours in different parts of the country, and have practically completed their plans for this year. We have also heard that a number of young ringers from Tewkesbury Abbey are making arrangements for a cycling holiday to Devon and Cornwall this summer. A guide of this description would be invaluable to them, and also to the hundreds of ringers who take their holidays in different parts of the country.

LATE NEWS

The Bradford Cathedral Bells will be on the air the next two Sundays (May 15th and 22nd) at 8.45 p.m.

Mr. William Henry Young, former instructor to Hereford Guild, died at Allensmore, Hereford, on April 23rd, aged 81.

BELFRY GOSSIP

Our phrase about 'the talent of the country' being assembled at Exeter Cathedral for the peal of Cambridge Maximus has caused a little heartburning. To set all minds at rest, we would say emphatically that other bands in the country could be collected capable of such a fine performance. Nevertheless, it was a company of first-class calibre that the organiser assembled.

Mr. John W. Evans, who participated in the peal at Oxton, Cheshire, rang his last peal 22 years ago. He had been a service ringer there since the bells were installed in 1895. The occasion was a farewell to the Vicar.

The peal at Ballylesson on Easter Monday made history for the Irish Association. It was the first to be rung by a service band from St. Thomas', Belfast; the first on the bells (which have just been rehung by Messrs. Taylor's); first Minor peal to be rung in Ireland in a six-bell tower, and the first tower-bell Minor peal in the Northern District.

In connection with the Mission to London and in accordance with the Bishop of London's request, nearly every ring of bells in the diocese will be rung on Saturday (to-morrow). The majority of bands have arranged peals or quarter-peals at their churches, but at the following any visitor to London will be assured of a ring: Acton, St. Mary's, 6 to 7 p.m.; Ealing, Christ Church, 5 to 5.45; Ealing, St. Stephen's, 4 to 4.45; Heston, St. Leonard's, from 4 p.m.; Isleworth, All Saints', 2 to 3; Stepney, St. Dunstan's, 5 to 6 (College Youths meeting); Tottenham, All Hallows', 6 to 7.30; Upper Clapton, St. Matthew's, 3 to 5.

Mr. C. J. Ball, who has been a ringer at Sandy, Beds, for 35 years, and for over 28 years secretary of the Biggleswade District, has had peal honours accorded him in his own tower upon his election as a vice-president of the Bedfordshire Association. The band was afterwards entertained to tea by Mr. Ball.

The peal of Plain Bob Major rung at Christ Church, Epsom, on February 19th, conducted by Philip M. J. Gray, consisted of 5,152 changes, not 5,040 as published.

Mr. James Higgins, of St. Giles', Oxford, has won the Domus Scholarship in Mathematics at Balliol College. He attends the City of Oxford School.

Heartiest congratulations to Mrs. Spice, widow of Mr. William Spice, sen., late of Tunstall, Sittingbourne, who celebrates her 87th birthday to-morrow.

Messrs. W. H. Curson and J. W. Cotton, chairman and secretary respectively of the Midland Counties Guild, have now 'circled' Lullington tower, this being the fifth tower in the area that Mr. J. W. Cotton has 'circled.'

The ring of ten bells at Stroud Parish Church, Glos., has been overhauled and new bearings fitted by Messrs. Mears and Stainbank, the work being supervised by Mr. J. Thomas. On May 15th, evensong will take the form of a service of thanksgiving, and the Bishop of Tewkesbury will be present to re-dedicate the bells.

Mr. T. H. Wood is the fifth Eastham (Cheshire) ringer to score a peal since the war. Prior to the war the only change ringing performed at Eastham was a plain course of Grandsire Doubles. The war broke up the band, Mr. Wood being the only remaining member. Solely through his efforts a new company of ten has been established, four of whom had rung peals of Minor.

CAMBRIDGE MAXIMUS AT EXETER

THE STORY OF A FINE PEAL.

On April 30th, twelve ringers met in the Cathedral Close at Exeter to attempt a peal of Cambridge Maximus, an achievement that had been only once before accomplished. Many of us had been there also in April, 1947, and had taken part in a peal of Stedman Cinques, at the conclusion of which one tenorman said to the other, 'Do you know, I think we could turn her in to Cambridge.'

Several others expressed a willingness to 'have a go,' and in due course a suitable band was arranged, permission to make the attempt obtained, and the date fixed.

As we stood chatting in the spring sunshine the 'quiet of the Cathedral Close,' advertised as one of its attractions by the hotel where most of us were to spend the night, was prematurely shattered by the roar of a Vampire jet-plane flying round at terrific speed and low altitude as part of a recruiting campaign for the R.A.F.!

Somewhat deafened by this experience, we made our way to the ringing chamber, accompanied by a number of the Cathedral ringers, who, as they always do on these occasions, made the visitors feel really at home by the warmth of their welcome, and then proceeded to do most of the preliminary work of raising the bells and adjusting the ropes for us.

'Grandison,' of course, no matter how many assist, always goes up with the clapper the wrong side; knowing this, one of the Londoners was surprised to see the local men set the bell at almost the first attempt and was heard to say, 'You wouldn't do that at St. Paul's.' He did not know that someone else standing on the frame above caught hold of the wheel as the bell was reaching the top of its swing and with a hearty heave pulled it over the balance against the stay!

By this time the missing member arrived. A message of good wishes from the Dean was conveyed to the ringers, and at about 4.15 a start was made. Almost immediately after going into changes, doubtless to the satisfaction of all the band and to the relief of one or two who had perhaps been feeling somewhat dubious, the bells settled down to a steady beat of roughly twenty changes to the minute. The first time the eleventh and tenor dodged together they did it beautifully and continued to do so, while the 'smaller fry' soon discovered exactly how long they had to wait when working with the big bells.

The composition selected did not disturb the bells until the 'home' lead, and the way in which the plain course was rung gave the band encouraging confidence. As was to be expected there were a few small trips and occasionally one or other would look the wrong way, but if the mistake were not immediately corrected by the 'sinner' he was very quickly called to order and convinced of the error of his ways.

The second and third courses went by smoothly with the rhythm gradually becoming more and more regular, and then for over an hour with the 6th in 5ths place and the 5th in 6ths we had some really splendid ringing. Critics agree that Cambridge is not a particularly musical method, but on these bells this deficiency was not noticeable and these three courses will long be remembered, at any rate by the writer.

In the seventh course an attempt to change course was observed and very promptly frustrated by the conductor, while near its end and in the opening leads of the next the ringing did become a little ragged. Listeners, outside and inside, may well have thought that the weight was beginning to tell and that someone was tiring, but, like a runner getting his 'second wind,' recovery was not long delayed and the last two courses furnished a very pleasing conclusion to a fine peal. The time of four hours and twenty-three minutes differed only by two minutes from that of the previous Maximus, and represents a rate of striking almost exactly equivalent to that of the Cinques in 1947, which occupied four hours and eleven minutes.

When 'stand' was called all the bells, including the tenor, obliged at the first time of asking, and the back-enders were at once surrounded by the rest and heartily congratulated. 'Ted' Duffield will, I hope, forgive a 'special mention' for the magnificent manner in which he rang the eleventh, with hardly a blister of respectable size to show as the result of his efforts. Stan Mason and Wilfred Williams, also, earned the admiration of all by their skilful collaboration on the tenor, which they really did ring as one man.

Our Exeter friends were now back in the tower and assisted in dropping the bells in readiness for the service chiming on Sunday morning. Incidentally, there are at least two places from which it is very pleasant to listen to this chiming—first, the gardens of the Bishop's Palace, and, secondly, a comfortable bed in the Royal Clarence.

The band was drawn from all over the country, containing ringers from most of the recognised centres of twelve-bell ringing who travelled an aggregate distance to Exeter of about two thousand miles. It was very fitting, therefore, that the peal should be rung for the Ancient Society of College Youths. On Sunday morning many of us enjoyed more excellent ringing on the lovely Taylor eight at Heavitree, where once again the resident ringers proved perfect hosts and appeared to derive as much pleasure from our visit as we ourselves. Many thanks from us all to Exeter for a memorable week-end! F.E.H.

CONGRATULATIONS.

Dear Sir,—Please allow me to express my appreciation and admiration of the splendid peal of Cambridge Maximus rung on the Cathedral bells on April 30th. It was indeed, in my humble opinion, an exhibition of our art of an historic order, not only as a demonstration of perfect ringing, but as a supreme test of endurance. As we (my old friend, Mr. T. Laver, who, everyone will be pleased to know, is looking much more his old self, and I) walked round the Cathedral, we were impressed not only with the perfect striking and rhythm, but by the way the ninth, tenth, eleventh and tenor (Grandison) played at tittums. It was music to perfection and I think the composer is to be congratulated even as the band who rolled off the composition. In the words of one of our own members of high repute, 'it was a peal worthy of the bells and the Society for which the peal was rung.'

PRESENTATION TO MR. H. SHEPHERD

Upon completing 50 years in the choir at Solihull Parish Church, Mr. Hubert Shepherd was entertained to dinner on April 29th by his fellow members. The function was attended by the Rector, churchwardens and old friends from many parts of England.

In presenting Mr. Shepherd with an illuminated address and a cheque for 50 gns., the Rector (the Rev. A. E. Fraser) stressed the wonderful persistence and devotion that had enabled Mr. Shepherd to give such service to God and to the Parish Church.

Mr. Shepherd, in reply, paid tribute to his old and well-beloved choirmaster, Mr. Courtenay Woods, and recalled incidents connected with boyhood friends, many of whom gave their lives in the 1914 war.

A peal in honour of Mr. Hubert Shepherd was conducted at St. Alphege's, Solihull, on April 23rd, by his brother, Mr. Edgar C. Shepherd.

GLOUCESTER.—On April 24th at St. Mary-de-Lode's, 1,260 Grandsire Doubles: C. Hodges 1, H. Worrall 2, Miss M. Winter (first quarter) 3, J. Whiting 4, L. Barry (cond.) 5, C. Larner 6.

Leeds & District Society

60th ANNUAL MEETING.

The Society's jubilee meeting was held at Leeds Parish Church on April 30th. The bells were raised at 2.30 p.m. and ringing was enjoyed on 6, 8, 10 and 12 bells. Before the tea interval the Vicar of Leeds came to the belfry and was invited to dedicate a new peal board, which had been erected to commemorate a peal of Grandsire Triples rung by a local band on the occasion of the birth of H.R.H. Prince Charles. This was the first peal of Triples by a local band for almost 40 years.

A splendid tea was arranged and about 40 ringers and friends sat down to enjoy this, which was served in the Church Rooms.

The business meeting was held in the tower. Mr. T. Hill presided and members were present from Armley, Bradford Cathedral, Drighlington, Guiseley, Headingley (St. Chad's and St. Michael's), Huddersfield, Idle, Leeds, Liversedge, Pudsey, Rothwell, Sherburn, Tadcaster, Woodlesford, Handsworth, Sheffield and Kippax.

Four new members were elected, viz., Mrs. E D. Kelly, Messrs. H. Grimwood, W. Thirkell and J. E. Turley.

A vote of thanks to the Vicar, churchwardens and local company was proposed by Mr. J. W. Benten and seconded by Mr. A. Johnson. Mr. L. Drake acknowledged the thanks.

Mr. I. Slack and Mr. F. Gibbard moved and seconded that the nominations for next year's officers be confirmed, so the following were declared elected: President, Mr. T. Hill; vice-presidents, Messrs. T. W. Strangeway, F. Hutchinson and S. H. Barron; Ringing Master, Mr. W. Dixon; secretary and treasurer, Mr. H. Lofthouse.

The secretary's report was then read. The main details were 11 meetings held during the year; membership 220 includes 11 members in the Armed Forces and 14 honorary and 21 new members. The report asked all members to support the meetings and when peals were being arranged to try and fix them for Saturdays not meeting dates.

The balance sheet was read, and as this had been circulated, members were able to see that the Society's income was from subscriptions and bank interest. Satisfaction was expressed that the Society had no need to raise subscriptions as many other societies were doing. The report and balance sheet were accepted.

The proposed list of visits to towers was read out and the alterations from previous lists explained.

It was proposed that Mr. W. H. Senior should be elected a life vice-president as a reward for his many years' service whilst attached to the Society. This was carried unanimously.

A vote of thanks was accorded to the auditors and to the chairman for presiding at the meetings.

The next meeting is due to be held at Birstall on May 28th.

ESSEX ASSOCIATION

NORTH-EAST DIVISION.

The district's first meeting at Tendring since the early months of the war was very successful. About 40 ringers attended and an encouraging sign was the number of young ringers of both sexes present.

The service was conducted by the Rector (the Rev. R. G. Hodge), and was followed by tea in the schoolroom.

At the business meeting three new members from St. Osyth were elected, and Kirby was chosen for the next meeting. It was decided to hold practice meetings at various towers where there were beginners in need of help. The ringing during the afternoon and evening catered for all tastes, from rounds to Surprise Minor.

OBITUARY

MR. F. W. MIDDLETON.

The death occurred with tragic suddenness on April 30th of Mr. Frederick William Middleton, of Mulbarton, in his 79th year. Attending the Norwich Association North Norfolk Branch meeting that afternoon at Wroxham, he accepted an offer to take part in a touch, but soon after its completion he passed away without any previous indication that he was unwell.

Mr. Middleton will be much missed throughout the whole of the Association, for he was a regular supporter of its meetings in all its four branches; he was a true friend and a charming, hospitable host to all who visited his home. He joined the Norwich Association on April 28th, 1891, and had been keenly interested in bells and ringing all his life. He and his wife gave the treble bell at Mulbarton in memory of his only son, killed at Dunkirk.

Mr. Middleton was a farrier by trade and held the office of sub-postmaster for 50 years, a service which was recognised by the award of the B.E.M. in the New Year Honours List. For a like period he was a member of the church choir and local correspondent to the 'Eastern Daily Press.'

The funeral took place at Mulbarton on the following Tuesday, when a crowded church paid tribute to the high esteem in which Mr. Middleton was held. Ringers were present from Buxton, Caston, Forncett, Hethersett, Norwich, Wroxham, Wymondham and Yaxham, in addition to the local band. In an address, the Rector, the Rev. A. St. John Heard, president of the Norwich-Diocesan Association, spoke of the deceased's long life of service to the community and the sterling qualities for which Mr. Middleton was respected and admired. At the interment, a course of Grandsire Triples was rung over the grave, and afterwards the tower bells were rung muffled by a band representative of the Association. Later in the afternoon a peal of 5,040 changes of Plain Bob Minor was rung as a last tribute, four of the local band taking part. Among the wreaths was one from the local band and another from the Norwich Diocesan Association.

Mr. Middleton is survived by his wife and two daughters. N. G.

SUCCESSFUL WEEK FOR LEICESTER CATHEDRAL BAND

By ringing Rochester Surprise Major, Royal and Maximus, the Leicester Cathedral band has added another Surprise method to those which have been accomplished on all numbers of bells within the space of a week. The older methods which have been completed in a week are Cambridge, 6, 8, 10 and 12; York, 6, 8, 10 and 12; Pudsey, 8, 10 and 12; Yorkshire, 8, 10 and 12.

The band are indebted to Mr. John R. Smith, who travelled from Norfolk at short notice to complete the band for Maximus. Unfortunately, Mr. Shirley Burton was unable to ring and the local first reserve, Mr. H. G. Jenney, was not available. John learned his ringing with the Cathedral band and has been ringing frequently with them during his studies at Loughborough.

Upon the Maximus being successfully accomplished on the Thursday, some of the mad-hatters chirped. 'What about the three in a week?' The ball started rolling and soon gathered impetus. Royal was rung on the light ten at the Loughborough Bell Foundry, and Major at Ratby on the following Monday and Wednesday respectively. In the Major, Herrick B. Bowley was able to complete the circle in Ratby tower.

In between these three peals Mr Harold J. Poole also conducted a peal of Grandsire Caters on handbells, which was the first by the other four members of the band. The Rochester Surprise was the first by all the band in each case, which brought the total number of firsts for the week to 34. Not bad going—say the mad-hatters

OCCASIONS FOR RINGING & PEAL TAX

Dear Sir,—The leading article in 'The Ringing World' of April 29th deals, in the admirable manner to which we have become accustomed, with a number of subjects of considerable interest. On two of these, namely, 'occasions for ringing' and 'peal tax,' I would welcome an opportunity of expressing my views.

In the Kent County Association we have a rule which demands that 'the bells must be rung or chimed for service to the satisfaction of the incumbent and churchwardens.' I regard this as an admirable precept. It serves as an adequate reminder that the occasions for the ringing of the bells are not a matter for the ringers at all, but for the legally constituted officials of the Church. That being so, ringers have not the right as a corporate body either through their local association or guild, or through the Central Council, to say when or when not the bells shall be rung. Moreover, in view of the diversity of theological opinion within the Church of England, they should on no account attempt to do so, as whatever decision is made it is almost certain to give offence to one section or another.

Many of your readers will remember the action which was taken by the Oxford Diocesan Guild at their last annual meeting with regard to ringing during Holy Week. The practice of ringing on Holy Saturday, although not universal, is encouraged and asked for by a number of clergy, and yet the Oxford Guild passed a resolution condemning the practice. It was ironical that such a resolution should be passed in Oxford of all places, as this great city is the spiritual home of the Catholic movement within the Church of England. However, it is not my present purpose to discuss whether the practice is right or wrong, but merely to emphasise that within the Church of England one group of clergy and devout churchpeople would strongly condemn this practice and another group would heartily applaud it. It may reasonably be assumed that some ringers belong to one group and some to the other. The large majority, however, knowing little of church matters and caring less, would belong to neither and would be quite happy to pass whatever resolution might be submitted.

Some years ago I was asked to take part in ringing for morning service on Good Friday, where the Vicar had specially asked for the bells to be rung, and rung open. I refused to take part and, incidentally, would still have refused to do so had the bells been muffled. However, as strongly as I felt and feel about this myself, I am sure it would be wrong for such ringing to be officially condemned by the local association or the Central Council. Ringers, as individuals, are as entitled to their views on ecclesiastical or theological matters as any other members of the Church, and opinions sincerely held on such matters should certainly be expressed at the right time and in the right place, but ringing meetings are, generally speaking, neither the right time nor the right place.

Now, if I may, I would like to turn to the more domestic question of the 'peal tax.' As far as I can see, no adequate reason has yet been given for demanding an additional annual subscription of, say, 10s. per year from an enthusiast who rings 20 peals in the year for his association, whereas the indifferent performer who is quite incapable of ringing a peal himself, and frequently intends to do his best to prevent someone else from doing so, gets away scot free. If the budget cannot be balanced the burden should be equally shared. It is the peal ringers who keep the art alive, and it is illogical that they should have to pay more for the privilege of belonging to their association than other members. If peal ringers are to pay for the cost of publication of peals in their annual reports, why not in 'The Ringing World' as well?—Yours faithfully,

P. A. CORBY.

RINGING IN THE ISLE OF MAN

Dear Sir,—It is not quite correct to say that there are no bells hung for ringing on the island. The eight bells at Peel are hung for ringing, in fact a peal has been rung on them. Unfortunately, however, outside hammers—two to each bell—of a carillon machine prevent the bells from swinging, even if permission could be obtained. I endeavoured to obtain permission to take over a band in 1938 and offered to take off and subsequently refix the hammers, but found considerable hostility to ringing, largely, it seemed, on account of the peal rung there many years ago, and of exaggerated reports of the time it is alleged to have taken.

The only ringable bell on the island at present is the large single bell at St. Ninian's, Douglas, the tenor of an intended ring. There are also tubular bells at Bride in the extreme north of the island.—Yours truly,

R. H. DOVE.

Leeds.

Dear Sir,—The late Mr. Charles Hattersley, of Sheffield, on July 4th, 1888, conducted two peals at Peel on the island. They were Kent Major and Stedman Triples. These bells were in existence in 1940. At St. Thomas' Church, Douglas—now reduced to six—a peal of Grandsire Triples was rung on December 7th, 1852, by the St. Peter's company of Liverpool, on their visit to open the bells. I am not certain, but am under the impression another peal has been rung at Peel since those of Mr. Hattersley's.

MONMOUTHSHIRE

Dear Sir,—I did not intend to write again on this matter, but I would like to refer Messrs. Hannington and Clift to the 'Encyclopedia Britannica,' wherein Monmouthshire is described as 'a western border county of England.' It further states that Monmouthshire gradually came to be regarded as an English county after an Act of 1536, being included in the Oxford circuit for the first time in the reign of Charles II. Gwent ranked as Welsh territory at the time of the Domesday, but certain parts of what is now Monmouthshire, including the town of Monmouth itself (my birthplace), were assessed under Herefordshire and Gloucestershire. The ecclesiastical position has, to my mind, no bearing on the matter. Croydon is in the Diocese of Canterbury, but that does not make it part of Kent.—Yours faithfully,

F. BARNETT.

Crayford, Kent.

Dear Sir,—The alphabet as taught in school to-day is exactly the same as I was taught just 80 years ago. I was also taught that England comprised forty counties and Wales comprised twelve, otherwise the teaching in our schools must be incorrect. Nothing has happened in Westminster to alter the status of England or Wales. To quote Welsh Sunday closing is beside the point and is the result of persistent Nonconformity. Churchmen of Wales fought dead against it, the late Archdeacon Griffiths, Vicar of St. Woolos' (a Welshman), to name only one. No, it was the result of chapel jealousy rampant in Wales. Monmouthshire was afterwards included as a war measure brought about by that wily Welsh Prime Minister, not honest enough to restore it when war finished.

Newport is the most populous town in the county and one won't hear a word of Welsh from one end of the year to the other. Monmouthshire is not legally accepted as Wales, but is in the Oxford circuit, and when the judges finish their work at Gloucester they come to Newport and then go to Hereford, and do no trespassing into Wales. I certainly agree with what Mr. Barnett stated.

A Transposition

Dear Sir,—I beg to refer to the remarks contained in 'Belfry Gossip' in your issue dated March 11th, 1949, regarding spliced ringing, and in which it is claimed that Mr. H. G. Cashmore produced a peal in four methods in which the work of the complete course in each method was performed by each bell, and that this peal was the first to be composed with these qualities.

This is the same peal composition referred to in 'The Ringing World' dated January 18th, 1946, and as a result of this publication I wrote to Mr. Cashmore enclosing a copy of a peal composition by the late Joseph W. Parker, which comprised London, Bristol, Cambridge and Superlative Surprise Major and in which every bell does all the work of all four methods.

Mr. Cashmore, in his reply, agreed that this composition of Mr. Parker's had been published in 'The Ringing World' dated August 7th, 1942, and that his (Mr. Cashmore's) was a transposition.—I am, Yours sincerely,

Sunderland. FRANK AINSLEY.

DERBYSHIRE ASSOCIATION

SUBSCRIPTION KEPT AT 1s. 6d.

The annual general meeting of the above Association was held at Derby on April 23rd, when the bells of St. Alkmund's and St. Peter's were available during the afternoon until 4.15, when a ringers' service was held in the Cathedral, kindly arranged by the Provost, the Rt. Rev. R. S. M. O'Ferrall.

In his short address he emphasised the importance of the ringers' office and said he would like to see a representative of the ringers on all church councils. He also urged ringers to come forward and take their share as churchmen in other spheres of activities.

Tea was held in the Co-operative Cafe and afterwards the general meeting in St. Peter's Parochial Hall, the Rev. C. A. Shaw presiding in the unavoidable absence of the president. All the retiring officers were re-elected.

The report stated that from a ringing point of view, 1948 had been very successful. Forty peals had been rung and some of these called for special mention. The first for the Association of Cambridge Major at Sawley was the first for all the band except one. The peal of Cambridge Royal at Derby Cathedral was another first for the Association, the visitors including that talented young ringer, Miss Margaret Beamish.

Membership increased by forty, the present figures being hon. members 30, ringing members, including non-resident who have rung peals for the Association, 303.

The report recorded with regret the deaths of Mr. W. Holmes (Youlgreave), Mr. A. Sherwood (St. Peter's, Derby), Mr. Richardson Drage (Sandiacre) and Mr. Thomas Groombridge (Nottingham).

Commenting on the accounts, which showed a balance of £74 5s. 5d. on the general fund and £16 1s. 1d. on the Bell Repair Fund, the hon. secretary (Mr. W. Lancaster) said the cost of printing one report was more than a member paid in his annual subscription. The report and accounts were adopted.

It was decided to keep the annual subscription at 1s. 6d., but it was realised that something would have to be done in the near future to meet the increased cost of printing, other associations' remedies, such as peal booking fees and increased annual subscriptions, being mentioned.

Mr. P. L. Parrott (Sandiacre) was elected an additional representative to the Central Council, and grants of £5 each were made to Bolsover and St. Luke's, Derby, restoration schemes. The Rev. R. J. Morris, of Melbourne, was elected a ringing member.

Votes of thanks for the use of the Parochial Hall for the meeting and to the secretary for tea arrangements were carried unanimously. Mr. Cooper (Bolsover) and Mr. W. Parsons (St. Luke's) thanked the Association for the assistance to their respective restoration schemes.

HERTFORD COUNTY ASSOCIATION

ANNUAL MEETING AT HERTFORD.

A large number of members and friends visited Hertford on April 23rd for the first 'away from St. Albans' meeting since the war.

The bells of Hertingfordbury and Bengeo were available all way, Ware in the afternoon and St. Andrew's and All Saints' during the afternoon and evening. These were well patronised by visitors from as far afield as Newcastle, Birmingham and Cambridge in a variety of methods.

The service at St. Andrew's, with a very inspiring address, was taken by the Vicar of Hertingfordbury, the Rev. Woosnam-Jones. Tea, when 104 sat down, followed at the Mayflower Hotel.

The president, Mr. A. S. Carter, was in the chair at the meeting, supported by the Rector of Bengeo, the hon. treasurer and the general secretary. Mr. Carter welcomed the Association to Hertford in a few well-chosen words.

Members stood for a short time in memory of members lost by death—A. Lawrence, A. G. Crane and F. A. Smith. The minutes were adopted as read. One new ringing member was elected.

When the treasurer read his financial statement, he informed the members that they had to face increasing costs and had to arrange for an annual expenditure of £50. He asked for suggestions on how to meet this increase, failure of which would mean an increase in the annual subscription. Notice was given that a motion would probably be brought forward for the latter to be approved at the next annual meeting. The reports on the Benvolent Fund and Voluntary Bell Fund were adopted, no applications for grants having been received.

The secretary's report stressed the need for very young recruits to meet the call-up for National Service, giving them a love for our art which would survive this unnatural upheaval. He thanked the 'old guard' for their unstinting sacrifice of time and patience in the never-ending job of teaching beginners, but emphasised the necessity of correct teaching.

With regard to peal ringing, 38 had been rung on tower bells, with 13 on handbells. A pleasing feature of the former was that there had been 19 conductors. Peals worthy of note were: Cambridge Maximus at St. Albans Abbey; Grandsire Doubles at Standon, first by the local band; Yorkshire Surprise Major, first in the method by seven of the band; seven Surprise Minor (Wymondley), first by all; Shenley Surprise at Aldenham, first in the method; Grandsire Triples at Norton, first peal on the bells. On handbells there was the record length of Double Norwich Major.

It gave great pleasure to see new cells of activity appearing, e.g., Baldock area and the St. Albans revival. He stressed the fact that very often co-operation between adjoining towers led to the mutual advantage of those and also of the Association.

The district secretaries' reports were read, and these hard-working servants were thanked for all their labours, trials and worries.

ELECTION OF OFFICERS.

Mr. A. V. Good (Apsley) was elected president for the year, and was suitably installed by the retiring president. The new president, in thanking the members for his election, said that the older members should always be ready to pass on information and knowledge to the younger and try and leave the art a little better than when they started, while, to the younger, he gave them the advice to listen carefully, practise earnestly and be ready to accept responsibilities in the district and Association.

The hon. treasurer and general secretary were re-elected and thanked for their services. As Mrs. Fergusson had resigned the office of librarian, Mr. C. F. Sayer (St. Peter's) was elected in her stead, with many thanks to Mrs. Fergusson. A recommendation from the committee that 'any borrower of valuable books from the library be required to pay the appropriate premium for the insurance of the same' was carried.

An omnibus vote of thanks to the incumbents of the various churches for the use of the bells, etc., Mr. A. S. Carter for the arrangements and all who had helped to make the meeting a success was unanimously adopted. Mr. F. E. Haynes expressed the thanks of the visitors for the cordial reception they had received, and members then adjourned for further ringing.

HEAVY DEFICIT ON PAST YEAR.

After an absence of 19 years, the Lancashire Association held its annual meeting on April 30th in the Liverpool District, St. Helens being the venue. The bells at Prescott were available in the morning and there were also peal attempts. After lunch there was ringing at St. Helens Parish Church and also St. Thomas'.

There was a very representative gathering at the Parish Church for the service, members and friends being present from Barrow to Bury. The Vicar (the Rev. R. G. B. Bailey) officiated and gave an interesting address.

At the business meeting the committee's report, the ringing report and balance sheet were presented. The hon. treasurer (Mr. A. E. Sandiford) reported an overspending of £54. The heaviest expenses were printing annual reports £83 9s. and diagrams £107 6s. Income from members' subscriptions was £67 8s. and non-resident members £2 12s. 6d.

The Rev. F. F. Rigby was re-elected president for two years, and Mr. S. H. Dearden auditor for a similar period.

Two amendments of rules were submitted. The first, to raise the subscription from 1s. 6d. to 2s., was passed after discussion, and this will come into operation on January 1st, 1950. The other had a poor reception. This was that all members of the committee, with the exception of the general and branch secretaries, should retire at the end of two years. It was referred back for redrafting.

The next annual meeting will be held at Lancaster on April 29th, 1950. After the usual votes of thanks, the bells were set going again until trains and buses called the members home.

SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD

WIMBORNE BRANCH.

In a setting worthy of the day, the Wimborne Branch held a meeting at Cranborne on St. George's Day. Over forty members and visitors attended and were welcomed by the Rector, the Rev. Bond, who also gave the address at the service.

Members were delighted to have their president, the Earl of Shaftesbury, with them, who in spite of approaching four score years, read the lesson, presided at the meeting, and when ringing took place at Wimborne St. Giles' after tea, joined in a touch of Grandsire Triples. It is noteworthy that the Earl attends regularly for Sunday ringing at St. Giles'.

A much appreciated tea was provided by Mr. Day and helpers in spite of the numbers being in excess of those expected.

At the business meeting the Cranborne ringers — captain, Mr. Haskell, and Mr. W. Day, secretary—were all elected members and the Rev. Bond an honorary member.

Cranborne bells, one of which dates from about 1400 A.D., are shortly to be restored by Messrs. Taylor and, funds permitting, it is hoped that they will be made more worthy of the church and enable an active band of change ringers to be formed. A.R.M.

STAFFORD ARCHDEACONRY SOCIETY

On April 30th, members of the Society met at Alrewas for the quarterly meeting, and the fine ring of eight bells was soon going to a variety of methods. Ringers from Shropshire, North Stafford and Derby (Cathedral) were welcome visitors, and a coach transported about 30 ringers and friends from the Wolverhampton district (one coach having been left over after the Wolverhampton 'Wembley needs' had been catered for!). A short service, conducted by the Rev. C. H. Barker (hon. clerical secretary), was followed by tea and handbell ringing.

At the business meeting notice of forming a northern section of the Society was discussed and a sub-committee formed to present the position at the annual meeting to be held at Lichfield on July 2nd. Ringing included Cambridge, Superlative and a course of Ashtead Surprise Major, being the first in the method by all the band at the first attempt.

GUILD OF CLERICAL RINGERS

LAST week we recorded two peals rung by the Guild of Clerical Ringers during their annual week from April 25th to April 29th, centred on Taunton, headquarters being within a few yards of the great tower of St. Mary Magdalene. The party of 23 resident members and two wives of members was the largest yet assembled. Three members joined for one day only, and Mrs. Powell accompanied the party for three of the days. As to ages, the oldest was ordained 52 years ago and another only last year.

Tuesday began with a corporate Communion at St. Mary's. A peal band set out for Kent T.B. Major and modestly ascribed the failure to inability to ring the method. Meanwhile the remainder began at West Monkton their acquaintance with bell towers and 'ton' tenors, which was a feature of the week. Next came Weston Zoyland, where the defeated peal band had already arrived, and Bridgwater, where a crowd of sighseers were astonished at the spectacle of such clever and muscular clergy! Enmore, set among its trees and beside its castle, and Kingston, another tall and ornate tower, were visited.

Wednesday was occupied with an excursion into Devonshire, calling first at Bradford-on-Towe, a remarkable ring of six, with two mediæval 'Jesus' bells, and Rockwell Green. Ringing at Cullompton, an excellent ten, was followed by welcome hospitality from Mr. and Mrs. Sellwood. At Uffculme, the first touch of London for the Guild was rung, and Culmstock's noisy bells inside the tower required a shouter to amplify the conductor's orders. Here the Rev. W. M. K. Warren most liberally entertained his fellow-members to tea. At Hemyock, the last Devonshire tower to be visited, St. Clement's was among the methods rung on the heavy six.

On the Thursday, ringing at Norton Fitzwarren and a peal of Cambridge at Milverton started simultaneously, the non-pealers going on through tortuous lanes to Hill Farrance, a massive tower, and then to Halse, a fascinating church which contained treasures of every age. Even narrower lanes led on to Fitzhead where, in the intervals of ringing, Scouts brought the glad news that Milverton bells were still ringing. The peal, brought round in one minute under three hours, was the first of Cambridge by a band of clergy and the first Surprise peal by them since 1912.

After lunch the party moved to Wiveliscombe, where the Guild apparently made history by pulling up the tenor in peal single-handed. The narrowest of all lanes led to Ash Priors, where Roger Semson cast his glorious bells 400 years ago. After tea came ringing at Bishop's Lydeard, and in the evening a recording was made for the B.B.C. on the bells of St. James', Taunton. At the annual meeting the Rev. C. C. Cox and Preb. E. V. Cox were re-elected president and secretary respectively and Chester chosen as the centre for the next tour.

Drayton was the first tower on Friday, the party waiting for a peal band to start for Kent T.B. Major. One of the band who was missing came in with a story of a lamb with two heads and a turkey with four legs, which no one believed. He was shown an apt notice in the tower which read, 'Someone is bound to be last, but he need not be late.' The peal was the Rev. C. C. Cox's 50th as conductor, and the first for the Guild by a clergyman of the Church of Wales (the Rev. S. J. Richards). Lunch was taken at the Rectory of Shepton Beauchamp, and after Ilminster, with its glorious eight, the party hurried back to Taunton to hear themselves in the 'Week in the West' feature, but alas, the repairing of the Whiteball tunnel and the return to Devoport of a frigate proved for the time being to have more news value than clerical ringers. A visit to Trull, the 31st and last tower of the week, was followed by farewell to Mr. W. G. Gigg, who had given invaluable help in arranging the tour. Here also the Rev. and Mrs. C. W. Trevelyan provided generous hospitality to clerical and local ringers. All who took part in this tour would wish to express their gratitude.

LATE NEWS

Mr. Frederick J. Pitstow passed away at Saffron Walden on Sunday. He had been treasurer of the Saffron Walden Society for 25 years and was secretary of the Essex Association, 1921-34. The funeral was yesterday at Saffron Walden Parish Church.

BELFRY GOSSIP

The peal of Lindsey Surprise Maximus was rung at St. Martin's, Birmingham, on Mr. Albert Walker's 73rd birthday. It was originally attempted on April 19th, but was lost due to the breaking of the clapper of the 9th at the end of the fourth course. The method was produced by Nolan Golden.

Mr. George A. Cooke has completed 'the circle' of Fakenham, Norfolk, tower.

The Sunday service band of St. Mary's, Frampton, have rung a peal of Spliced Surprise Minor in 32 methods. Has this been equalled?

Mr. Ernest Morris believes that the peal at Dingley, Northants, was the second on these bells, which were rehung in 1890. It was his 1,109th peal.

Rainham, Kent, bells will be silent for a few weeks, as the clappers have been removed by Messrs. John Taylor and Co. for much needed attention.

Mr. Herbert C. Spencer's 200th peal was rung at Wendron, Cornwall, a tower which has expressed its indebtedness to him for his valued instruction.

The conductor of the peal of London Surprise Major at Husborne Crawley, Beds, writes that he has since discovered that the composer of the peal was Mr. Frederick Dench and not Mr. F. Dexter.

Thirty-seven towers in Devon and Cornwall are included in the tour Sussex ringers are arranging from July 3rd to July 10th. Ringing Masters on different days are Messrs. O. Sippetts, G. Cecil, R. Overy, L. Stilwell, E. Stitch, A. E. Laker, F. Hairs and E. Rapley.

Mr. E. Barnett writes in regard to ringing in the Isle of Man that the other rung after Mr. Hattersley's peal mentioned in Mr. C. E. Borrett's letter was one of Stedman Triples, which either John Carter or Frank Dawe called in the early 1890's.

The Society of Royal Cumberland Youths have produced 'their talent of the country' for a peal of Cambridge Surprise Maximus, rung at St. Martin-in-the-Fields, thus following in the wake of the Ancient Society. They do not in any sense wish to belittle the fine effort of the College Youths at Exeter.

The bells of St. Mary's Church, Axminster, Devon, are being rehung on ball bearings by Messrs. Gillett and Johnston at a cost of £285. The work commenced on May 6th and it is hoped to have the bells ready by June.

Last Saturday was the 25th anniversary of the first peal of Spliced Surprise Major. This landmark was recalled by the ringing of the late Mr. J. W. Parker's spliced peal of Cambridge and Superlative in one minute longer than the original peal. The conductor was Mr. Denis A. Bayles.

East Ilsley ringers had a very enjoyable outing on Easter Monday around Worcester. Ringing took place at Hinton-on-the-Green, Great Hampton, St. John's, Worcester, Malvern Links, Malvern Priory and Upton-on-Severn. The day was memorable for Mr. Bob Warwick, who has been ringing at Ilsley for 60 years. Everywhere the company stopped he found a relative.

The resolution submitted to the Lancashire Association that all members of the committee with the exception of the general and branch secretaries should retire at the end of two years was carried by a majority of two to one and not referred back for redrafting, writes a correspondent. He also points out that it did not receive a poor reception. The matter was discussed at length at the meeting of the Liverpool Branch at Rainhill.

MR. E. B. HARTLEY.

By the tragic death of Eric Hartley, of 43, Grendon Gardens, Wembley Park, at the early age of 35 years the Exercise has lost a ringer of outstanding merit. Those of us who knew him best found beneath his reserve qualities of a sterling character, and in him I have had a close and staunch friend for many years. As a ringer he had reached a high standard, both in methods and striking, and in 1947 rang his 100th peal. He had rung in over 800 different towers and with the writer he was one of the foundation members of the N.U.T.S., who had many happy cycle tours before the war.

Whilst on his way to Aldenham for a peal last November he sustained a compound fracture of the leg when his motor-cycle collided with a stationary car in the fog. Since then he had been confined to bed and was apparently progressing well, but last Sunday morning he died suddenly without any warning.

At the inquest, held on Thursday last, it was learnt that his death was due to a clot of blood formed as result of the accident. His interest in ringing never waned, and during his illness he was engaged in compiling a complete list of the rings of bells in the British Isles.

The first part of his funeral service was conducted by the writer at St. Augustine's Church, Wembley Park, where he was a server and church worker, and the interment took place on Saturday at Southport in the family grave.

To his father and fiancee we extend our deep sympathy and thoughts. Although he is parted from our sight, his influence will live on in many towers and in the lives of those who knew him. May he rest in peace. K. C. D.

MR. W. H. YOUNG.

Readers will regret to hear of the passing on April 23rd, after a long illness patiently borne, of Mr. William Henry (Harry) Young, of Thruxton, Allensmore, Hereford, aged 81 years. His connection with ringing extended over 65 years. Never spectacular, he worked in a quiet way and kept no records of peals rung.

He was with the Worcestershire Association during the first part of his ringing years and joined the Hereford Diocesan Guild in the days when change ringing in the county was considered quite a feat. For many years he acted as instructor to the Hereford Guild, attending belfries (in those days travelling by bicycle) teaching the art of change ringing. His main work, however, was regular ringing for Sunday services, teaching and encouraging young ringers. For several years a ringer at Hereford Cathedral, he held office as conductor and foreman at Allensmore Church for 40 years. The last time he rang was in two six-scores of Grandsire Doubles at Kingstone Church on the occasion of the birth of Prince Charles.

The funeral took place at Thruxton Church on April 26th. During the evening the bells were rung half-muffled by the local band at Kingstone Church. The band also rang a half-muffled quarter-peal on the Sunday.

STOKE-UNDER-HAM, SOMERSET

Work has already begun on the restoration of the bells in this ancient tower, which contains a ring of five with a tenor of approximately 18 cwt. They have been unringable for some months owing to the state of the old oak frame, which is riddled with death-watch beetle. Now they are to be rehung in an entirely new iron frame, with new fittings throughout, including ball bearings, and the old treble, which is very sharp, will be retuned, as also will the other four to a lesser extent.

A new treble to form a ring of six is being given by his widow in memory of the Rev. Everard S. Powell, who is buried in this churchyard. The work is entrusted to Messrs. John Taylor, of Loughborough, and the dedication fixed for October 1st.

DISCUSSION ON 'THE RINGING WORLD.'

The amount of space devoted to peals in 'The Ringing World' was heatedly discussed at the annual meeting of the Guildford Diocesan Guild, held at Guildford on May 7th.

Mr. George L. Grover, the secretary, reported that the executive committee were of the opinion that too much space was devoted to the recording of peals, and, anticipating the support of the Guild, had forwarded the following motion to the Central Council: 'That in the opinion of this Guild too much of the available space in "The Ringing World" is devoted to peal ringing.'

Since the beginning of the year, said Mr. Grover, there had been 220 pages of 'The Ringing World.' Of these 74 had been for the recording of peals, 12 for quarter-peals, 43 for news, letters and articles of general interest, 10 pages for technical articles, 81 for advertisements, notices and the leader. That meant that one-third of the paper was devoted to the interests of about a tenth of the Exercise.

Mr. H. V. Young said that at least annual meetings and other meetings concerning business of importance should be reported in 'The Ringing World,' so that people who had not attended could read what had been said. He considered that more rested on the ordinary matters of the Exercise throughout the country than on peals. He did not want to do away with some record of peals in the paper, but he thought the peal ringers were having more than their fair share.

The amount of space given to peals in 'The Ringing World,' said Mr. A. C. Hazelden, was giving a false picture of the Exercise as a whole, because the bulk of the ringers were those whose names never appeared in 'The Ringing World.'

Mr. F. E. Hawthorne reminded the meeting that they became bellringers for the purpose of ringing for Sunday services, and that every association in its rules and regulations had the clause that the prime duty of the association was to foster bellringing for Sunday services. He suggested that peals in 'The Ringing World' were not omitted, but that they were printed smaller and in three columns.

The Chairman, the Rev. K. C. Davis, of Hawley, also stressed this side of ringing, that it was primarily for the glory of God, and that ringers were church workers. Mr. J. Euston said that in his experience it was the peal ringers who were at church on Sundays.

Mr. Hawthorne proposed that the Guild's representatives on the Central Council be asked to do the best they could to see whether a change could be made with regard to the printing of peals in 'The Ringing World,' and the meeting expressed agreement.

GODALMING'S BELLS.

The annual report of the executive committee drew attention to bells in the Guild's area in need of restoration and repair. At Godalming it was suggested that it was high time a ring worthy of the borough was installed. Seven only out of the eight were ringable, and these had not good musical qualities. The light six at Puttenham when in action 'make a row suggestive of the tower roof bouncing up and down,' and those at Ockley, Ranmore, Crondall, East Molesey and Frensham were in need of attention.

During the year 47 peals were rung by the Guild, 40 of them on tower bells. Twenty members scored their first peal. The accounts, presented by Mr. L. C. W. Hunter in the absence of the treasurer, Mr. J. Corbett, showed a balance of £73 18s., compared with £59 2s. 11d. the previous year.

A report on the Guild library was given by Mr. A. C. Hazelden, and the Library Committee were re-elected. The Guild officers were also re-elected.

Prior to the meeting a service was held at Holy Trinity Cathedral Church, at which the Provost of Guildford, the Rev. R. S. B. Sinclair, preached.

GEORGE WILLIAMS COMMEMORATION DINNER

Decision of Bournemouth Ringers' Rally

A decision that the Bournemouth ringers' rally shall in future be known as 'The George Williams Commemoration Dinner' was agreed to at the third annual dinner, held at Christchurch on May 7th. The gathering, which took place on the late George Williams' birthday, was highly successful.

The Rev. R. P. Price, Vicar of Christchurch, presided and the guests of honour included the Mayors and Mayoresses of Bournemouth and Christchurch and the Bishop-designate of Peterborough (Canon Spencer Leeson, Vicar of Southampton and the Rural Dean of Bournemouth).

The Chairman read apologies from the Bishop of Winchester, who was in the Channel Islands, the Bishop of Southampton, Mr. Phillips, Mr. J. York-Bramble and a telegram from Miss Mary Davies wishing the rally every success.

He spoke of the debt of the clergy to bell-ringers and regarded them as partners. 'We clergy raise our rather ineffectual voices in the Church, but the bells carry the music of the gospel far and wide.'

In his welcome, the chairman had a special word for Mr. Albert Walker, Master of the St. Martin's Guild, and they had guests with them from Oxford, Stourbridge, Dunstable, Birmingham, Shepton Mallet, Alford (Lincs), Guildford and Sutton Valence.

The toast of 'The Church and State' was proposed by Mr. W. B. Cartwright (Birmingham). He said if the individual's relationship with the Church was all right, then his relationship with the State would be good. He deplored that ringers went to church on a Sunday, but did not stop to the services they rang for. If ringers did the right thing they would stay to the service. Ringers owed everything to the Church—they used the Church's instruments. If the bells belonged to the State could they imagine permission being given to ring a peal? Ringers should look more closely into these things and endeavour to improve their relationship.

Canon Spencer Leeson, who replied, said: 'I am certain that the devil was asleep when church bells were made. We scored a point on him, and we did the same when Christmas carols were invented.

'Occasionally you hear it said that the Church is down and out. All of us know it is not the case. We know this country is waiting for the message that only the Church can give, and it is our task, if we have the care of bells, to proclaim that Gospel by word and example and leave the rest to the Almighty Father we are all proud to serve.'

The toast of 'The Borough of Christchurch' was an occasion for domestic politics in view of the prospect of Christchurch's incorporation with Bournemouth. The Mayor and Rural Dean of Bournemouth proposed the toast and the Mayor of Christchurch replied.

QUALITIES OF CITIZENSHIP.

'The Bells and Bellringers' was submitted by Mr. H. C. Galton (churchwarden of Christchurch) and replied to by the Rev. K. W. H. Felstead, Vicar of St. Michael's, Southampton. As a ringing parson, he would like to say on behalf of the ringers in general and of his own Guild (the Winchester and Portsmouth Diocesan Guild) that the relationship between ringers and clergy was a very good one indeed, and also to his knowledge the great majority of churches had loyal ringers, not only in the ringing of the bells, but as churchmen and churchwomen.

Ringing was something that needed a sense of rhythm and those qualities desired in a good citizen. He was sure the way in which ringers had to concentrate and work together as a team was of benefit in their relationship with the Church and the State.

The Chairman announced that last year they had with them their old friend Mr. George Williams, who had since passed to his rest. It was proposed that the ringers' rally and dinner should be known as the George Williams Commemoration Dinner, and he asked Mr. George Pullinger to make the proposition.

Mr. George Pullinger described Mr. George Williams as a friend of all ringers, and said he was probably more closely associated with him in recent years than any other ringer. He first met Mr. Williams at Wickham in 1908, but there were others present who had known him longer—Mr. Preston, Mr. Martin Stewart and Mr. Albert Walker.

Mr. George Williams was ringing before the Winchester Diocesan Guild was formed. He had told him many stories of those early days of how he cycled on a 'penny farthing' from Droxford to Southampton to ring the bells of Holy Rood half-muffled when Livingstone's body was brought ashore on its journey to its last resting place in Westminster Abbey.

'THE OLD REV.'

Mr. Williams could tell many stories of the late Rev. F. E. Robinson, the ringer who first rang 1,000 people. Mr. Williams always referred to him as the 'Old Rev.' They were ringing a peal at Romsey Abbey and the tenor did not go too well, and the 'Old Rev.' who was ringing the tenor, let Mr. Williams, who was on the seventh, know that he could not go on, so they decided to change over at back stroke. They both stepped off their boxes together and missed the back strokes and another peal was lost!

Coming to that dinner last year, Mr. Williams met the Bishop of Salisbury, and, to the great amusement of the people in the carriage, started talking of old times. The story was told of a Bishop of Exeter (Lord Cecil), who was a very forgetful man. He was travelling in Hampshire with a young curate, and the curate in conversation said, 'I lived in your diocese at one time, my lord,' and added, 'It was in the parish of Beer and, strange to relate, my name is also Beer.' They chatted on and as the curate left the train the Bishop said, 'Good afternoon, Mr. Guinness!'

Mr. Williams was a great ringer. He not only rang a great many peals, but rang them at a time when peals were worth getting; as he said at one of these dinners, he had to scour the diocese to get a band of ringers. His long list was, therefore, all the more creditable. He did his full share of teaching and instruction and most of the ringers in the diocese owed what they knew to him. In addition, he was a great Sunday service ringer; he never neglected Sunday service ringing.

He understood the local committee had decided to call the function in future the 'George Williams Commemoration Dinner' on the same lines as the Henry Johnson dinner at Birmingham. In the words of Mr. Davies, in some ways Mr. Williams did more for ringing than Henry Johnson. In addition, he was known to a far greater circle of ringers than Henry Johnson. Mr. Pullinger then submitted the proposition, which was accepted by those present saying 'Aye.'

MEMORIAL SUGGESTED.

The concluding toast, 'The Ringing World,' was given by Mr. Albert Walker. Commenting on the proposition to commemorate George Williams with the dinner in future, he described it as an excellent idea. He had known George Williams for about 40 years. 'I used to call him "Dad" and he called me "Pop." We rang many peals together and you are doing well to commemorate the name of George Williams in your annual function.' George Williams was one of the early pioneers and, of course, his greatest work was in Hampshire. 'I do not know if it is wise to make a comparison between Henry Johnson and George Williams. I hope as the ringers of England put up a headstone in Aston Churchyard to Henry Johnson that this Guild will do something to mark the resting place of George Williams.'

He congratulated the committee and Mr. Arthur Davis on the excellent arrangements made for the visitors and on the splendid coach outing.

In a reference to 'The Ringing World,' he said he was in favour of a 4d. paper of 16 pages.

The Editor replied and mentioned that in 13 weeks' time the 2,000th issue would be published.

The entertainment programme was of a high standard. There were songs by Mr. Alan Gray, some Spliced Major on handbells by Mrs. F. J. Marshallsay, R. Hurst, W. G. Young and D. T. Matkin, and tune ringing on handbells by the St. John's (Surrey Road) band (a very fine effort).

Mr. Arthur V. Davis writes, as hon. secretary of the organising committee, expressing thanks to the Vicar of Christchurch for his sustained interest and magnificent leadership as chairman; to Mr. W. E. Cheater, District Ringing Master, who so ably conducted the coach tour, and to Mr. F. Hart (Wimborne Minster) and Mr. George Preston (Christchurch Priory). He also expresses thanks to Mr. A. F. Martin Stewart for the beautiful flowers which adorned the tables, and to those who contributed to the programme. Next year's 'George Williams Commemoration Dinner' will be at Bournemouth on May 6th.

LINCOLN DIOCESAN GUILD

JUBILEE MEETING.

The jubilee meeting of the Lincoln Diocesan Guild was held at Lincoln on April 30th, when a large gathering of members and friends from far and near enjoyed the full day's ringing on the bells of the Cathedral and other city churches. The Bishop of Lincoln gave an inspiring address to the large congregation at the Cathedral evensong.

Over 100 were present at the luncheon and more than 200 at tea, including the Bishop of Lincoln, the Bishop of Grimsby and the Sub-Dean of Lincoln.

Before leaving for another engagement the Bishop of Lincoln thanked the members for making him their patron. He said that he enjoyed the friendship of many ringers, but had not himself been bitten by the ringing bug.

At the business meeting the Sub-Dean took the chair. All the officers were re-elected, with Mr. G. E. Feirn to the new office of hon. peal secretary.

It was unanimously decided to invite the Central Council to visit Lincoln in the near future.

The meeting ended with Mr. W. Ayre, Hertford County Association, wishing the Lincoln Diocesan Guild continued success. This was seconded by Mr. A. W. Coles, Middlesex County Association.

OUTING

Ringers of Christ Church, Macclesfield, held their annual outing on Easter Monday. The first stop was at Chester, where the party of 36 boarded a river steamer and sailed up to Eccleston Church. There they were met by Mr. S. Jones, sen., and the towerkeeper, Mr. F. Jones. This very fine ring was soon going to Stedman Triples, Double Norwich and Plain Bob. Unfortunately, the time here was all too short. The return journey to Chester was by steamer, where a first-class lunch was soon brought home!

The next call was at Bromborough, where the heavy eight were put to good use. Methods up to Cambridge Surprise Major were rung. New Brighton was the next on the list, where a pleasant two hours was spent before once again taking to the road to Prenton Park with late dinner as the attraction. From here we made our last call at St. Saviour's, Oxton, where we arrived behind schedule—the first slip of the day. Stedman, Plain Bob and Treble Bob were rung on this very good eight before the journey home was undertaken via the Mersey Tunnel.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

TWO DEBATABLE POINTS

Dear Sir,—The question of 4ths and 6ths place Bobs seems to be exercising the minds of some of our leading ringers. One fails to understand why, when as one correspondent states—6ths place is all right—no objection—4ths place is the recognised one. Both are right, but together they are wrong! That's the first time I ever knew two rights to be wrong.

If the Council decide to debar such peals, then they must also debar Spliced London, Cambridge, Superlative and Bristol, where if in the latter method 4ths place Bobs are used, for in such peals you have Bobs altering the work of three bells, also others altering the work of five bells. If it is all right for one type of peal, then it must be right for the other.

So much for that—now another matter. 'Libra' in last week's issue suggests that our '5 bell friends' should amend method names. Why?

In the Council's own publication of Minor methods, which they named themselves, scores of the methods are identical. Places may be made in lieu of a dodge or vice versa to make a different method and given a different name. Also whole leads of many methods are identical and at the lead head or end a different place is made and it becomes a new method with a new name.

In Major, particularly the 'Surprise' class, we have identical methods with, in one say, 7th place made, in another 2nd, in another maybe both, yet they are given different names. Similarly lots of these 'Surprises' are one method above the treble and another below, but we do not say it is 'Spliced So-and-so'; it becomes another method and given a different name.

Therefore, our five bell friends should have the same facility, remembering always that before ever there were sight or eight bells in 90 per cent. of towers there were five bells. It is definitely harder physically to ring a peal on five bells even if not mentally. They are limited in numbers, why limit them in methods? Each variation should be given a different name as in the case of higher numbers. ERNEST MORRIS.

AUSTRALIAN GIFT PARCELS

Dear Sir,—I recently received a further gift parcel from the New South Wales Change Ringers' Association, and I appreciate very much the kind thought of Mr. Will Rowe, the Editor of the 'Ringing Towers,' and those who supported him in his efforts to send parcels to England.

It shows a remarkable enthusiasm not only for the church bells, but friendship of those who ring the bells. The Association has only been established about three years and it has built up a record to be proud of. The monthly journal has become a popular link with its activities. To encourage the best striking an annual ringing competition is held, followed by a dinner and social and presentation of the shield. Tours by motor launch and even a tour by aeroplane, which must be unique, is recorded. I shall not be surprised if some time a ringing party from Australia touches down in England to carry out a ringing enterprise.

'TRUMPET BLOWING'

Dear Sir,—Ringers in the Ely Diocese are well acquainted with Mr. Warrington's skill as an exponent of the art of 'Trumpet Blowing,' of which his letter in this week's 'Ringing World' is a fine example.

It seems a great pity that valuable printing space in our weekly paper should be used for this purpose. Finally, may I remind Mr. Warrington of the old saying, 'Self praise is no recommendation.'—Yours sincerely,

Cambridge. H. L. MARTIN.

AUSTRALIAN RINGERS & IMITATION BELLS

Dear Sir,—We, ringers of St. Paul's Cathedral, Melbourne, read with great interest your leading article, 'Imitation, but . . . .' in your issue of December 31st, 1948. We also deplore the use of any imitation gadgets and I can assure you that we shall discourage their use whenever possible. I did not hear the imitation myself, but from what I gathered from people who did hear it, they were not favourably impressed, and it is not likely to be very popular. Even Professor Bernard Heinzi told me himself that he preferred the charm of the Cathedral bells.

I would also mention the fact that the Lord Mayor of Melbourne instructed that the Cathedral bells should be given priority in ringing to proclaim the royal birth. As far as I know, electronic carillons have not been installed in any churches in Victoria, although I believe a few use amplified recordings of English bells.

Through your grand old journal I would like to send greetings to all our friends in the homeland, and to assure you and everyone that we in Melbourne are striving to uphold the traditions of our fine old art. — Yours faithfully, J. W. SPENCER, Captain,
St. Paul's, Melbourne.

A RINGER'S BLAZER

Dear Sir,—Now that clothes rationing at home has been dispensed with, I should like a proposal to be submitted to the Central Council that a campanologist's blazer be designed. We already have a very appropriate badge, but it may be thought fit to alter this to accommodate the occasion.

A blazer, of course, could be worn by ladies as well as men, perhaps with a minor change of design. No doubt this will arouse a considerable divergence of opinion, but, by the time the C.C. meet in 1950, someone may be sufficiently interested to put this matter before them for me for discussion and decision.

I think it may have advertising advantages and might attract many more recruits. It will mean a lot of thought as to what stage a beginner should be allowed to wear one and so on. If it is decided in favour of the suggestion it may be thought fit to protect the same by registration with 'Arms and Heraldry.'—Yours faithfully,

FRANCIS THOS. WAITE.

PEAL REPORTS

Dear Sir,—I should like to try and correct certain wrong impressions which Mr. Robbins seems to have had from my last letter, and would ask him to read my first letter on the subject ('Ringing World,' February 18th). In this I suggested that:—

(1) All (note, all) peal reports sent to you on the Monday of each week should be printed in the following Friday's issue; not weeks, or even months, late as at present.

(2) That all footnotes should be printed in full. (I am even now engaged in a private argument with a well-known ringer on this subject!)

To make this possible, I advocated the use of much smaller type and a condensed style of reporting; but I did not suggest the omission of any reports, nor of any relevant matter from such reports.

My last letter, on which Mr. Robbins comments, was a reply to further letters ('Ringing World,' March 4th), and I would request Mr. Robbins to read these also.

I, too, like to see when a ringer with whom I have seen struggling with Grandsire Doubles has rung his first peal of Bob Major 'inside'; but, as things are at present, he may well be ringing London Surprise before ever his peal of Bob Major is published! C. W. WOOLLEY.

Cambridge Maximus at Exeter

Dear Sir,—Please allow me to add my tribute to the band that rang the peal of Cambridge Maximus at Exeter on April 30th.

With others of my Plymouth St. Andrew's ringers I journeyed up especially to hear as much of the peal as possible, and reached Exeter at 5.30 p.m. to hear this 'grandest of all grand rings' swinging majestically to Maximus. 'Grandison' was doing treble work in front and we listened with admiration as he dodged and lay with the 'chirping treble.' I turned a critical ear to the 11th, and heard at once that an expert had been entrusted with the task of piloting this bell through. Having rung that same bell to 5,003 Grandsire Caters on January 14th, 1905, the first peal on the bells by a band of resident members of the Guild of Devonshire Ringers, I can modestly claim to know the qualifications required.

Then each bell in turn received my attention and was given full marks for the manner in which it was being 'put in its place,' thus ensuring that regular and rhythmical striking which is the delight of all good ringers. So it went on, hour after hour, each bell doing the bidding of its master. Peals at Exeter are few and far between, for the obvious reason that good heavy-bell ringers are equally scarce.

It was a treat to hear these bells 'turned in,' and those of us who were fortunate to be able to listen offer our hearty congratulations to this band—'the talent of the country'—on their magnificent achievement.—I am, Yours truly, G. H. MYERS.

COVENTRY DIOCESAN GUILD

41st ANNUAL MEETING.

The 41st annual meeting of the Guild was held at Stratford-on-Avon on April 30th. There was a record attendance of 110 members and friends. The recast and augmented ring of ten bells was in great demand. The Guild's form of service was incorporated in evensong, which was conducted by the Vicar (Canon Prentice), who gave a short address.

The business meeting followed the service and was presided over by the Guild's president, the Rev. R. T. Murray.

The balance sheet showed a balance of £5 5s. 3d., the low state of the finances being due to the high cost of printing the reports. The Bell Repair Fund stood at £14 8s. 8d., the donation of £5 to Bulkington balancing the income for the year.

The general hon. secretary's report showed that 61 peals had been rung during 1948, three of them being firsts for the Guild—Double Norwich Caters, Yorkshire Surprise Royal and Bob Maximus. Eleven rang their first peal and 94 their first in the method. Eight junior members (ages from 12-18) rang peals ranging in number from one to sixteen. The deaths of W. Tayler and W. Malins, both of Rugby, were noted with regret.

The reports of the district secretaries showed progress in all areas.

The officers were re-elected en bloc with the exception of the Coventry district secretary. Mr. T. W. Sheppard did not seek re-election, so Mr. F. E. Pervin offered his services in that capacity.

The next meeting in July was fixed for Southam. The president will then be Rector of Southam, having left Chilvers Coton a month previous.

New members elected totalled 21, being made up of 13 hon. members and eight resident members. Six ratifications of non-resident members were also made.

A proposition was made by the Master to charge the junior members 1s. per year instead of them being admitted free. This was discussed and finally it was decided to charge 1s. up to age 15, 2s. from 15-18, and after that age the 2s. 6d. adult fee would be charged.

A RINGERS' GUIDE

OUR editorial of a fortnight ago concerning the publication, if possible, of a Ringers' Guide has evoked a widespread interest judging from the letters that have reached the Editor.

Mr. R. H. Dove, of Leeds, writes:—

'If the Central Council should favour the publication of a ringers' guide, I would gladly supply an alphabetical list of about six thousand towers with rings of five or more bells. I commenced the compilation of this list over twenty years ago, following an incident when acting upon information gleaned from Kelly's Directory I sent a band of ringers on their outing to an alleged six-bell tower, and when they arrived they found a set of tubular bells!

'In 1934 a well-known ringer author urged me to publish my list, which was, as far as could be ascertained, both complete and accurate, and arrangements were being made with a London publisher but were suspended on account of a last-minute "technical hitch"—either I could not or would not guarantee the required sales—and being about to take up an appointment in Leeds I abandoned the project until a later date, but kept the list up to date. I had, in point of fact, only recently been exploring the possibility of publishing, but if the Central Council should decide to embark on the project, which I know from experience is no small task, the results of the literally hundreds of hours I have expended on the task are at the Council's disposal. While I do not enjoy the privilege of Council membership, I would like to feel that my efforts may have served some useful purpose.

'That there is a real need for such a work may be illustrated by the following instance. I am at present arranging the programme for a "ringing week," when, in addition to the more serious business of peal ringing, it is intended to visit as many as possible of the fives and sixes in the remoter parts of the Yorkshire moors and wolds where there is but little or no change ringing and contact with organised ringing is of the slightest.

'Out of thirty-five towers which it is hoped to visit, thirteen do not appear in the Yorkshire Association Report and to the uninformed do not exist. This led me to make a rough check of the one up-to-date Association Report to hand, namely, the Yorkshire, and I found that my list contains one hundred towers not contained in the report, due, no doubt, to there being no membership at these towers. No doubt a comparison with other county Association reports would reveal a similar divergence.

'Certain Associations, notably the Durham and Newcastle, Lancashire, Leicester and Kent, do publish comprehensive lists of the towers in their territories, but the majority do not, and the total number of rings has always been a matter of conjecture—I think it will prove to be over six thousand, which should satisfy the ambitions of most "tower grabbers"!'

Mr. Thomas C. Belton, of Barwell, Leicester, comments: 'It would be a boon to tower secretaries in the arranging of summer outings. Much time and writing would be saved if the names and addresses of the proper authorities were to hand, particularly when new ground is covered.'

A Southend-on-Sea ringer, in agreeing wholeheartedly with the suggestion, states it would prove invaluable to ringers in all parts of the country. It is most difficult, when visiting a strange town, to find out which of the towers has a ring of bells, and then, having discovered one, it is even more difficult to find out whether the bells are rung for Sunday service or the day for practice.

The Rev. F. C. Champion, The Rectory, Hinton-on-the-Green, in promising particulars concerning the county of Worcestershire, writes: 'It is still my hope that a general book on bells and their founders, with up-to-date information, will some day be produced.'

LATE NEWS

Mr. W. W. Wolstencroft, of Stoke Poges, is undergoing an operation and will not be able to ring for some time. His address is Ward 6, Canadian Red Cross Memorial Hospital, Taplow, Bucks.

BELFRY GOSSIP

Mr. Robert G. Black, hon. secretary of the Peterborough Guild, is not seeking re-election at the jubilee meeting of the Guild on Whit Monday.

With the peal at Cudham, Mr. Frank Bennett, now 81, has rung peals in all of the 8, 10 and 12 bell towers in Kent except two. It is his ambition to complete the county.

Since the ring of eight was installed at Heydour, Lincs, in 1945, over 40,000 changes of London have been rung on the bells in peal attempts. The peal of 5,152 on May 14th was the shortest touch of London yet rung on these bells.

Work has commenced on the six bells of St. Paul's, Honiton, Devon, which are to be restored and augmented to eight. These bells have never been rung in living memory. The order has been placed with Messrs. Taylor's.

Whitby Parish Church bells (10) are to be recast and rehung with new fittings in a new cast-iron frame on steel supporting girders at an estimated cost of £2,000. A provisional order has been placed with Messrs. John Taylor and Co.

It is proposed to add two new trebles and recast Yardley, Birmingham, bells into a ring of eight and also provide a new steel frame. The Vicar, the Rev. C. Crowson, The Vicarage, Yardley, appeals for contributions. The rehanging of the bells is part of a £10,000 appeal the parish has issued.

At Newbury Grammar School Founder's Day service at St. Nicolas' Church, boys rang for the first time for the service. They were J. W. Wilson (conductor, East Ilsley), R. C. Christopher (Thatcham), D. J. Farthing (Kingsclere), K. J. F. Mitchell (Bradfield), L. J. Nicholls (Beenham), D. A. Vince (Peasemore), D. V. Stearn (Thatcham), D. Wilson (East Ilsley), A. B. Brooks (Highclere), C. R. Humphris (Bradfield) and E. Dodd (age 11, Highclere).

Miss Sheila E. Harris and Mrs. Olive L. Rogers are the first ladies to ring a peal at St. Stephen's, Rochester Row. It is over 25 years since a peal was rung at this church.

With reference to the peal of Spliced Surprise Minor in 32 methods rung by the Sunday service band of St. Mary's, Frampton, Mr. A. Rolfe reminds us of a similar performance by the Sunday service band at Lamberhurst, Kent, on March 2nd, 1935, which was his 100th peal of Minor.

The peal at Terrington St. John, Norfolk, was a 65th birthday compliment to the conductor, Mr. Edward Barker. His first peal was rung over 40 years ago, and he has since rung nearly 100 peals. This was his first attempt to conduct a peal in more than one method. For several years he was secretary of the Wisbech Branch of the Ely Diocesan Association, being a branch founder member.

The ringers of London gave an admirable response to the request of the Bishop to ring the bells during the Mission to London. Chiming bells were mounted on a lorry which toured London every day. There were a number of peals. At Kilburn, for example, a peal was rung while the missioners were being commissioned at St. Paul's, and rang at Kilburn each evening during the week before the ringers went to the mission services held in another church without bells. We hope that those who organised ringing will give us a comprehensive summary of the ringers' part.

MIDDLESEX COUNTY ASSN.

NEW CENTRAL COUNCIL REPRESENTATIVES.

More than one hundred members and friends attended the 52nd annual general meeting, held at Ealing on May 7th. The bells of Christ Church, St. Mary's and St. Stephen's were rung during the afternoon and evening to a variety of methods. The service, which was held at Christ Church, was conducted by the curate, the Rev. R. W. F. Cowdry, with an address by the Rev. P. Gough, the Rector of Acton, in which he drew attention to the uses and abuses of publicity by the Church and drew conclusions applicable to the coming Mission to London.

The secretary, in the report for 1948, referred to those members who had died during the year. These included the president, Preb. W. P. Cole Sheane, the Rev. E. R. Moore, the Rector of St. Giles-in-the-Fields, J. E. Miller and J. Armstrong, members of the Southgate band for over 50 years. Fifty-eight peals were rung and included the first peals of Bayswater Surprise and Spliced Bristol and Peterborough Surprise. Both of these were composed by Mr. M. Hodgson and conducted by Mr. C. W. Roberts. There were 20 conductors. There was a satisfactory increase in the number of quarter-peals rung. Of the 162 which have been reported and rung in 31 towers, 30 were rung by the Holloway band. Twenty meetings had been held with an average attendance of 40.

The treasurer's report revealed that receipts had exceeded payments by £5 2s. 7d., and the full benefit of peal booking fees and the increase in subscription were now being felt.

Officers for the ensuing year were elected as follows: President, the Rev. P. Gough (in proposing him, Mr. J. E. L. Cockey paid tribute to his many qualities as a priest, scholar and sportsman); active vice-presidents, Messrs. A. W. Coles and W. H. Coles; secretary, Mr. E. C. S. Turner; assistant secretary, Mr. L. H. Bowler; Ringing Master, Mr. C. W. Roberts; treasurer, Mr. W. H. Oram.

A letter handed to the secretary at the commencement of the meeting and signed by the four representatives on the Central Council, offering their resignation, was read. Seven members were proposed for the vacancies, and after a ballot Messrs. E. C. S. Turner, A. W. Coles, T. J. Lock and J. E. L. Cockey were declared elected.

It was agreed to rehouse the Association's peal books and library in the ringing room at St. Giles-in-the-Fields.

The secretary announced that the C. T. Coles Memorial Fund now exceeded £100 and a further £50 was required. A collection realised £4 8s. 6d.

St. James', Clerkenwell, was selected for the next annual meeting.

OBITUARY

CANON C. C. MARSHALL.

We regret to announce the death on May 6th at Broadclyst, Devon, of Canon Charles Cecil Marshall, M.A., aged 77 years. He had been an invalid for the past 12 months.

Canon Marshall was born at Hartford, Cheshire, and after graduating at Oxford, was ordained a deacon in 1898. He held curacies at Birstall, Leeds and Chapel Allerton, and in 1907 became Vicar of Far Headingley, Leeds, where he served with great faithfulness for 40 years. He was appointed an hon. canon of Ripon in 1933.

In 1910 Canon Marshall was appointed president of the Yorkshire Association, and he held office until 1947. His friendliness and understanding of ringers won for him the esteem of the Association. He was an active president and his worth was appreciated on the Central Council.

Canon Marshall began ringing in 1900 at Birstall and his first peal was rung at Shipley in 1902. He had rung 13 peals.

The funeral was at Broadclyst on May 9th, and among those who attended the service was Preb. E. V. Cox. The sympathy of the Central Council is extended to his widow, who is also a member of the Council.

MR. J. LESLIE WILLARS.

The passing of Mr. Leslie Willars, of Wigston, on May 9th, at the age of 54 years, after a comparatively short illness, was most deeply regretted, but came as little surprise to his local ringing friends. His illness started during the indisposition of the late Charles Marshall, prior to the latter's sudden death by accident.

Taken ill during January with what was thought to be congestion of the lungs, he never found his way to St. Thomas' belfry again. Only a matter of ten days before he died he would remind his ringing visitors how much better he would feel if only he could get along to the belfry. His hopes in this direction never diminished, he loved his ringing and the company of ringers in general. Above all, he loved the pleasure ringing gave him in his own tower.

Born at Wigston, he commenced his ringing career at St. Thomas', South Wigston, at the age of 12 and rang his first peal of Bob Major in his much loved tower at the age of 13. For many years he had been head ringer and tower keeper. A most pleasing personality in the belfry, he was always most eager to teach the art to any youngster. Leslie Willars was himself a splendid ringer, and his passing has left a second big space in the band at South Wigston.

The funeral took place on May 12th, the bells being rung half-muffled prior to the service in St. Thomas'. Members of the local band, assisted by Mr. Ernest Morris, rang a course of Grandsire Triples on handbells at the conclusion of the service and prior to the cortege leaving the church.

Among the floral tributes was one from his own tower in the shape of a bell. During the evening a peal of Double Norwich (his favourite method) was rung half-muffled by members of the local company. Mr. Willars is survived by his wife and daughter. W. A. P.

MR. FREDERICK J. PITSTOW.

A distinguished career in local affairs has been brought to a close by the death on May 15th of Mr. Frederick J. Pitstow, of Saffron Walden, at the age of 69.

Mr. Pitstow was the son of the late Frederick Pitstow, sen., and had lived in Saffron Walden all his life. He commenced work with a firm of estate agents, but later took over the agency of the Essex and Suffolk Insurance Society. At the time of his retirement he was a district inspector.

In World War I. he joined the R.A.O.C. in 1915 and was posted to Salonica, where he was promoted to sergeant. While there he was appointed bandmaster of a band, the members being drawn from 30 different units. He was demobilised in 1919.

As a musician he played the clarinet in the Town Band and was a member of the local orchestra, in which he played the bassoon. He was also for some years in the Amateur Operatic Society and had taken leading parts in Gilbert and Sullivan operas.

In the world of campanology he was well known and was one of the Pitstow family who rang the Surprise peals in the latter part of the 19th century. He was secretary of the Essex Association from 1921-34, being the first layman to hold that office, and was treasurer of the Saffron Walden Society up to the time of his death, an office he had held for over 30 years.

He was also a leading member of the Saffron Bloom Lodge of Oddfellows and had been secretary for many years. Among the offices he had held was Provincial Grand Master of the Cambridge District.

Mr. Pitstow was an ardent Freemason and had been a member of Walden Lodge 1280 for 25 years and was P.M. P.P.A.G.D.C. of Essex and also a Companion of the Walden Chapter 1280.

The funeral took place in the Parish Church on May 19th, at which a large congregation attended. The service was conducted by the Vicar, the Rev. R. M. Sinker, assisted by the curate, the Rev. R Humphries. Among those present were Mr. A. E. Pitstow (brother), Messrs. H. N. and L. E. Pitstow (cousins), A. W. Coles (vice-president, Middlesex Association), R. C. Heazel (secretary, Essex Association), E. J. Butler, F. W. Housden and W. Prior (Essex Association), J. W. Ward, T. R. Dennis and P. Webb (Ely Association), and R. A. Strong, W. Parish, Mr. and Mrs. Mumford, L. Turner and T. J. Godfrey, of the local society.

As the cortege left the church a quarter-peal of Stedman Triples was rung on the back eight (half-muffled): L. E. Pitstow 1, E. J. Butler 2, R. C. Heazel 3, J. W. Ward 4, H. N. Pitstow (conductor) 5, T. R. Dennis 6, A. W. Coles 7, F. W. Housden 8. Among the many floral tributes were wreaths from the Essex Association and Saffron Walden Society.

CHATHAM, KENT. — On May 1st, 1,280 Double Norwich C.B. Major: R. Skinner (first of Major) 1, E. A. G. Allen 2, F. Richardson 3, C. S. Jarrett 4, T. A. Cross 5, V. A. Jarrett 6, W. A. J. Knight (cond.) 7, C. E. J. Norris 8. First quarter of Double Norwich 4 and 5.

RAINHAM, KENT.—On May 1st, 720 Canterbury Pleasure and 540 Plain Bob Minor: Miss E. B. P. Walker (first quarter) 1, F. J. Cheal 2, Miss G. Jarrett 3, J. Hale 4, W. J. Walker 5, G. A. Naylor (cond.) 6, W. Holland tenor cover.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

PEAL TAX

MR. CORBY TAKEN TO TASK.

Dear Sir,—I really cannot resist the opportunity of sticking out my neck and leading with my chin after reading the final paragraph of Mr. Corby's letter anent peal ringing.

In my humble opinion, the 'peal tax' is quite a fair and reasonable thing. After all, a lot of the peals rung are obviously rung with the object of getting together, for the individuals concerned, an impressive peal record and many are peals for the sake of peals, and peals at any price. I do agree that peal ringing serves a useful purpose in helping to improve the striking, which is the most important thing in ringing, but to say that the peal ringer is the one who keeps ringing alive is all wrong.

I myself have been to many meetings and seen the wild enthusiasm with which some of the prolific peal ringers have grabbed ropes when some humble method like Grandsire Doubles and Bob Minor or even rounds and call changes has been asked for for learners, and also I have noticed how struggling bands have been helped by them.

No, Mr. Corby, the real people who keep ringing alive are the people who are happiest helping the weaker brethren with just an occasional peal to keep in touch with things and to bring learners along. These people would not begrudge the threepence or sixpence per peal I am sure, and, after all, the peal ringers do take up most of the space in the associations' reports and the peal columns of 'The Ringing World.'

This is not a 'dog in the manger' attitude about peal ringing, as everyone has his or her own forms of pleasure, and I would be the last to put difficulties in anyone's way, but there are ringers, and quite good ones, both as regards methods and striking, who are just not interested in a lot of peal ringing, but who give up hours per week teaching and get more pleasure from that.

I am one of those indifferent performers mentioned, but am quite as capable of ringing peals as our friend and have an ear for striking, but I would not object to the tax. Another point is that the bells were put in the towers as a call to worship, not for a secular pleasure, and the fact that we ringers are given a more or less free hand with ringing the bells should be something else to lessen objections of that kind.

This 'tax' may never be imposed, but if it were, to keep the organisations solvent, but not to keep piling money in the banks, well, I don't suppose any thinking person would raise any serious objections.

Ah, well! more power to the peal ringers. May their lists wax fat.—Yours faithfully,

ERNEST COOPER.

Arksey, Doncaster.

Dear Sir,—If peal ringers wish to see their peals recorded in an annual report, the reports must be paid for, also the money must be in the treasurer's hands before the secretary can give the order for the reports to be printed, as the number of peals rung determines the size and cost of the report.

For the Ely Association in 1948 a record number of peals (106) was rung. To enable us to print a report without going bankrupt we omitted the rules and names of non-resident members. If the peal tax had been in operation during 1948 this would have produced about £15, which is much less than half the cost of the report. Surely peal ringers do not consider this is paying more than their share.

The net income of the Ely Association from 200 resident members is £15, against a cost of £33 to print a report. E. H. MASTIN.

P.S.—Do peal ringers expect any other pastime or amusement all found and free?—E. H. M.

NOT A TRANSPOSITION

Dear Sir,—Either Mr. Ainsley has a faulty memory or else he cannot understand plain English.

He sent me a composition of Four-Spliced which he had found among the papers of the late Mr. J. W. Parker, and he asked my advice as to whether it ought to be published.

I replied that that composition (not mine) was a simple transposition of one already published by Mr. Parker in 'The Ringing World' of August 7th, 1942, and that there was no point in publishing it again.

No reference was made to my own composition, which at that time had not been published.

The respective plans used by Mr. Parker and myself are about as dissimilar as they could possibly be, he using a foundation of three-lead and I one of five-lead courses. Mr. Ainsley would have been well advised to have studied these before crediting me with the absurd submission that the one was a transposition of the other.

Mr. Parker's peal was, of course, the first to be produced with the whole of the work of the four methods, but to do this he parted the tenors for 29 leads, which was not what he and I (and several others) were seeking to achieve.

My composition was the first to contain all the work of the four methods with the tenors together throughout and was an original composition.—Yours sincerely,

H. G. CASHMORE.

NEWPORT - CLAIM MODIFIED

Dear Sir,—When I asked my innocent question, 'Is Newport in Wales?' it was not my intention to start another major war, neither had I any desire to change Teddy Barnett's nationality. So I hope the protagonists for and against will not get 'het up' over the matter. Would it satisfy the contestants if we modified our claim to the peal of Cambridge Maximus at Newport being the first in that part of the country, whichever it is? There is so little glory to be obtained these days that perhaps we shall be pardoned for snatching a little too eagerly for this prize.—Yours, etc., J. FRANK SMALLWOOD.

West Ealing, London.

HOLY WEEK RINGING

Dear Sir,—Mr. P. A. Corby questions the right of a Guild to pass a resolution condemning the practice of ringing in Holy Week. It is, of course, true that times and occasions of ringing are ultimately at the discretion of the incumbent, but if it be true that 'the large majority of ringers know little of church matters and care less,' it is also probably true that the large majority of clergy know little of ringing matters and care less. It is, therefore, up to thinking ringers to give a lead, while allowing all ringers freedom of conscience.

A second proposition before the same annual meeting of the Oxford Guild to alter the rule requiring members to belong to the Church of England was possibly the province of the incumbent also, but the meeting expressed its feelings in no uncertain terms, and rightly so.

As regards a peal ringing fee, surely 6d. is not a large sum to pay for three hours' enjoyment. In most cases the extra sum raised would be devoted by the Guild towards the cost of printing peal pages in the annual report, and peal ringing is only one side of our art. When Mr. Corby says, 'If peal ringers are to pay for the cost of publication of peals in their annual report, why not in "The Ringing World" also'—well, that's an idea. With a possible increase in cost of 'The Ringing World,' Mr. Corby's suggestion might enable the Editorial Committee to hold the price steady!—Yours sincerely,

LIVERPOOL BRANCH.

The R.C. Church of St. Bartholomew, Rainhill, locally known as Bretherton's Chapel, is delightfully situated on the main Liverpool-Warrington Road and contains a really fine ring of six (tenor 14 cwt.). For one reason and another it is 21 years since a branch meeting was held there, and members showed their keen appreciation of the opportunity to visit what to the majority was a 'new' tower by turning up in quite considerable numbers at the meeting on May 14th. Actually there were 50 members and visitors present. The congestion at times made ringing very difficult, and a 'relay' system to avoid overcrowding was adopted.

At the tea, which local lady helpers had kindly prepared in the Schoolroom, the Rector of Rainhill, Father Marsh, welcomed the ringers in a very happy speech, to which the Rev. D. P. Roberts responded.

Mr. H. Ashton, of Rainhill, who had presided over the previous meeting 21 years ago on Saturday, March 10th, 1928, was voted to the chair, and he recalled those days. The secretary read the minutes of the proceedings on that occasion.

One item on the agenda which caused considerable discussion related to the annual general meeting of the Association at St. Helens. The report in 'The Ringing World' was described as a 'very poor account containing two gross misstatements.' It was pointed out that the resolution regarding future committee membership was not referred back and did not receive a poor reception. In fact, it was passed with a substantial majority on a show of hands.

After the secretary had read 'The Ringing World' account a resolution was proposed by Mr. G. R. Newton, seconded by Mr. T. Hesketh and carried unanimously instructing the secretary to write and correct the misstatements.

Things settled down somewhat peaceably after this matter was finally disposed of and the remainder of the meeting was routine except for one pleasing interlude.

The book of signatures of subscribers to the G. R. Newton Testimonial of October, 1948, had been handsomely bound in leather and inscribed in gold lettering, and the secretary had brought it to the meeting, where the Rev. D. P. Roberts presented it to Mr. Newton in a brief speech. Mr. Newton responded and thanked all concerned.

Everyone expressed their delight at a very pleasant and successful meeting and resolved to revisit Rainhill within 21 months instead of 21 years. Next meeting, June 11th, Sefton.

ST. DAVID'S DIOCESAN GUILD

THE SECOND COMPETITION.

The second competition of the St. David's Diocese was held at St. Mary's, Tenby, on May 7th, the award to the winners being a shield provided by the president, the Archbishop of Wales. The judge was Mr. F. Sharpe, of Oxfordshire, an able ringer and ardent bell historian. His placings were: 1 Tenby (39 faults, add 5 handicap), 43 faults; 2 Carmarthen, 47; 3 Llanelly, 49; 4 Haverfordwest, 136. The shield was accepted on behalf of Tenby by Mr. Harry Jenkins, and certificate for second place by Mr. D. Curtis for St. Peter's, Carmarthen.

Tea was provided by the Tenby ringers, and competitors were welcomed by the Rev. Griffiths as the Vicar. In the evening ringers combined forces to practise more advanced methods. The annual meeting of the Guild is to be held at St. David's Cathedral on June 11th.

HASLINGDEN, LANCS.—On May 1st, 1,260 Grandsire Triples: A. Tomlinson 1, F. Wilson 2, T. Wilson 3, E. Ford 4, J. Taylor 5, F. Iddon 6, P. Crook, sen. (cond.) 7, T. F. Hilton 8.

Sussex County Association

PROPOSED MEMORIAL TO MR. KEITH HART.

The annual general meeting of the Sussex County Association was held in Brighton on May 7th. Ringing took place on the two rings of ten at St. Peter's and St. Nicholas' during the afternoon and evening, while the eight bells of the Church of the Good Shepherd were available in the evening.

As the living of St. Nicholas' is at present vacant, the Archdeacon of Chichester gave the address, and the Vicar of Brighton conducted the service.

The business meeting took place at Union Church Hall after tea, and was attended by more than 100 ringers and friends. The Master's report and balance sheet were accepted as satisfactory, and members expressed their approval of the grants for bell restoration given to Southover, Bolney and Aldrington. The peal secretary reported the ringing of 85 peals, a decline from last year, but with the same number of conductors, namely, 30.

The divisional secretaries' reports were accepted as satisfactory and the treasurer announced the annual divisional levies as being 57½ per cent. of income — Northern Division £13 9s. 6d., Southern £11 16s., Eastern £8 1s., Western £13 11s.

New members elected were Brian Turnbull, of Aldrington, Mary MacIntyre and William Manning, of Felpham, and Christopher Gadstone, of Bexhill.

Two honorary life members were elected—Mr. G. P. Elphick, of Lewes, in recognition of services in historical work on bell frames in Sussex, and Mr. S. E. Armstrong for 14 years' service as general secretary.

The president, the Bishop of Chichester, was re-elected, and to the vice-presidents was added the name of the Dean of Chichester.

The chief officers were re-elected (after a short discussion on the eligibility of Mr. F. I. Hairs to stand again as Master, being temporarily absent from the county) as follows: Master, Mr. F. I. Hairs; hon. treasurer, Mr. O. Sippetts; hon. general secretary, Mr. S. E. Armstrong; peal secretary, Mr. J. Dearlove; hon. auditors, Messrs. R. Overy and A. W. Bond.

It was decided not to elect a sub-committee to revise and condense the rules, but to proceed immediately with printing 500 copies as they now stand after minor errors had been corrected.

The question of a memorial to Mr. K. Hart came up for discussion, and it was agreed to erect a bell metal plaque in the belfry of St. Peter's, Brighton, by general subscription. The probable cost was estimated to be in the neighbourhood of £25. and the general secretary was instructed to accept donations, and after consulting the relatives regarding the form of wording, to proceed with the work as soon as possible.

Mr. R. G. Blackman proposed a vote of thanks to all those who had helped to make the meeting a success, and especially to the chairman, and to Mrs. E. L. Hairs for the excellent tea arrangements.

A BRISTOL PEAL BOARD

Dear Sir, — In the belfry of All Saints', Bristol, where the University of Bristol Society ring, is an old peal board. It is in a lamentable state, lying on the floor and very rotten, but the lettering can just be read.

It records a peal of 'Grandfire Treebles,' rung on February 14th, 1791, by the 'Bristol Youths,' and conducted by William Hands.

I would be interested if any of your readers could inform me if this is one of the earliest peals, if not the first, in the city of Bristol.—Yours sincerely,

CHRISTOPHER T. BROWN.

METHOD STRUCTURE UNDER GRID ANALYSIS

(Mr. York-Bramble Replies Briefly to Criticisms.)

Criticism that is informed and constructive has, of course, its welcome function; but otherwise it may be mischievously misleading. Recently Mr. W. Taylor, with recurrent misquotation and misstatement, has taken up, to little purpose, almost as many columns of 'The Ringing World' on the incidental aspect of extension as those of all the original articles which covered also the main issue of method structure in general, the system of Grid Analysis, and its application in producing London Royal and London Maximus. His disappointing results, with no less than double the U.A.' digressions, are 'placed' below.

Backed by authority quoted largely from C.C. publications, a carefully prepared and detailed refutation of the unfortunately misguided criticisms that have appeared, together with answers to queries (most of which would never have been raised had the full text of the original work been presented), had already been forwarded to the Editor in all good faith. While that may serve for record, instead, due to space restriction, the present very brief reply is published. The fallacies in Mr. Baker's statement and figures are obvious; but three examples from Mr. Taylor's unfounded statements—there are over thirty of them—will suffice to justify what is said of them above:—

(a) Using the 'glamorous name London SURPRISE Royal.' This is quite untrue. I carefully avoided the word 'surprise' re London. Mr. Taylor should know that the Central Council had 'removed the London method from the category of Surprise' by 1904 and given their reasons. (See 'Glossary,' page 77.)

(b) 'Stats cause dodging.' This I did NOT say; even if only because stats are dodging, plus places. Mr. T.'s example does contain a stat, after all—in row 5. Thereafter his example divides into sub-grids, as in Kent. Sub-grid adjacent places, of course, are not stats.

(c) Mr. T.'s idea of column nomenclature of a Minor Grid is amusing, but futile. Minor has odd pairs, and, therefore, a merged or 'M' twin-column.

Very briefly, the crux of the whole matter is simply this: The science of ringing, though man-made, embraces principles, subject to mathematical laws; as shown by Thompson as far back as 1886, particularly as to his 'Q-sets' and 'Round Blocks'; and more recently by Dr. R. A. Rankin, of Cambridge, in his application of that branch of mathematics known as Group Theory. For method structure a simple form of mathematical exposition is now available in what I have called 'Grid Analysis.' This system shows clearly that for each stage of a given method there is one true form, and one only, of extension or contraction from the basic — the mathematical. If this form exhibits those ringers' requirements of 'natural lead-ends' for a full plain course, it is known as 'Ideal.' Examples of well-known ideal methods are: Single hunt—Plain Bob; Twin hunt—Grandsire; Treble Bob hunt—Cambridge; etc. If not 'ideal' when extended, then by making modifications in the method's Grid Pattern (called 'Correlating Stats), a version can be found to contain those named requirements. Now, obviously, every stat thus introduced is one further digression from the mathematical or true form of extension. The acceptable version is, therefore, that with the fewest number of digressions, and is known as the 'PROXIMATE,' since it is nearest to the true. There is thus no need or even scope for argument about this or that version of extension. It is either the ideal or the proximate, or nothing. (Those who would not tolerate proximates may be surprised to know that some methods that appear ideal suddenly become proximate, at any rate for a number of stages. London is an example of this.)

It must be noted that only extensions or contractions which are mathematical, i.e., method stages which are 'ideal,' imply reversible processes. Proximates do not: they imply one-way processes only. But in an ideal method, like Cambridge, any stage, taken as the basic, will extend or contract mathematically and produce the stages above or below. In proximate stages of a method, as in London Royal and Maximus, the process of reversion is impracticable. This is where Mr. Baker went wrong in his figures contracted from London Royal U.A. He is reforming, however, and at last agrees with me—on one point! His letter in the issue of May 6th recognises the ideal' relationship of London Minor and Major—a fact not yet grasped by Mr. Taylor.

But I note with satisfaction that Mr. Taylor is reforming, too! His third version of London Royal now avoids structural deformations*. (These are modifications introduced into the two x-sections each at the treble's lead and lie; and, as explained in my articles, are to be regarded as non-admissible if the structure of the named parent method is to be retained.) Incidentally, with structural deformations, 'versions'(?) of extension may be produced with only one correlating stat in the half-lead in some instances, but, clearly, they are 'out of court.' But I note, further, that Mr. Taylor's London Maximus contains eight correlating stats against U.A. Maximus' four only.

By such comparison the Exercise may judge the conclusion of the matter of London Royal. The following comparative facts are extracted from a carefully prepared analytical table of places in all hitherto published Royal versions of the method. The Standard, of course, is the true or mathematical Royal version, produced immediately by Grid Analysis; but conventionally unacceptable, due to its plain course of 7 instead of 9 leads. This form is identical with Law James' 'Theoretical' London Royal of 1908. The rows of its half-lead by places are: 12:30:—:30:14—:12—::30:14:—:14::50:16:—:16::70:18:—:18::70, etc. (Note the rhythmic coursing order of place-positions.) The other versions below are in ascending order of merit towards the Proximate, shown by the number of digressions from the above given. In group (a) * the figures in brackets show the included number of structural deformations those versions employ. Group (b) has none: (a) Trollope, Aug., 1921—13 (9); Baker, 'A,' Sept., 1921—9(4); Catchpole, Jan., 1908—7(5); Law James, 'A,' Dec., 1907—4(4); Baker, 'Brighton.' Feb., 1926—4(3); Baker, 'No. 3,' Feb., 1938—3(3); Bankes James, 'B,' Aug., 1915—4(1); Taylor, 'A.' Sept., 1921—3(1). (b) Taylor, 'B.' Sept., 1921—8; Bankes James, 'A,' Dec., 1907—5; Taylor, 'C,' April, 1949—4; Weatherby, 'Drayton.' March, 1949—3; Lindoff, 'Stepney,' Nov., 1907—3; Dains, March, 1908—3; Y-B., 'U.A.,' Feb., 1949—2. So the Proximate remains as 'U.A.' with two digressions only.

Our thanks are due to readers far and wide who have expressed appreciation of these articles. Without theoretic discussion and decision, progress in practical ringing on standardised lines would hardly be possible.

DEDICATION

MANSFIELD WOODHOUSE, NOTTS.

The bells of Mansfield Woodhouse were dedicated at morning service on May 15th by Canon Hales in memory of an old ringer and churchwarden, Mr. Alfred Munks. A tablet was also unveiled in the church.

The work, which was carried out by Messrs. John Taylor and Co., was the rehanging on ball bearings of the front five bells; the tenor was rehung some years previously. Mansfield Woodhouse has now a good ring of six, with tenor 19¾ cwt. The whole of the cost was the gift of the beneficiaries of the will of Mr. A. Munks.

Oxford University Society

Oxford University Society's recipe for their delicious Easter tour in the Cheltenham area: Throw 20 ringers into a clean shallow basin. Mix the sexes well and stir up some old members to give it a flavour. Add tons of spice, but an excess of peel should be avoided. Give the mixture plenty of dough and do not allow the ingredients to grow stale. Bake for five days in the sunshine, feeding continually. Run it under the cold tap to toughen it, starve it for an afternoon and serve it back from where it came from.

Twenty-two towers were visited, including the impressive eight at Gloucester Cathedral and 12's at Cheltenham, Tewkesbury and Painswick.

We shall remember the packed Parish Church at matins and the pleasure of starting our ringing on the morning of Easter. We shall remember, too, the arboured walk up to Leckhampton Church with its fine tall steeple, the yews at Painswick, the superb view from Churchdown Hill, not to mention the ever red traffic lights in Gloucester.

We shall remember the touch of Grandsire Triples which defied the striking of the 3½-ton hour bell at noon in Gloucester Cathedral, and the picture of desolation as fragments of a frayed rope rained down upon Wilf at Tredington. Not many ringers can have rung Grandsire Doubles with a ghost bell, as we did at Tredington, when Wilf went up to ring his bell from the floor above. D. G.

25th ANNIVERSARY OF SPLICED SURPRISE MAJOR

On the 25th anniversary of the first peal of Spliced Surprise Major at Whitley Bay scored for the Durham and Newcastle Diocesan Association, a peal of Spliced Cambridge and Superlative was rung in the same tower by the same Association.

An account of the first peal is given in 'The History and Art of Change Ringing,' pages 393-4. The late Mr. Joseph W. Parker, of Sunderland, had produced the composition and the local company at Whitley Bay provided the ringers. The two conductors of the talented Gofton family have since passed on and they are buried at the foot of the tower. Two of the original band were to ring in this anniversary peal, but R. Alder Gofton did not feel quite up to the mark. His son provided the one link with the original peal.

Whitley Bay provided four of the ringers and the others came from Chester-le-Street, Darlington and Newcastle. There was only one recent practice by some of the band, but in spite of this the peal was accomplished at the first attempt. The 'stars' in the peal column tell their own story. It is rather interesting to note that the time was only one minute longer than the original peal.

It is hoped, however, that this peal will not merely commemorate an achievement of the past, but will be a step to further advances in the Durham and Newcastle Diocesan Association by the present-day members. D. A. B.

LANCASHIRE ASSOCIATION
LANCASTER BRANCH.

Two things were impressive at the successful meeting at Cockerham—youth and age. There were several schoolboys who are making good progress and one member who had been ringing for 68 years.

The difference between the Association's annual meeting at St. Helens the previous Saturday was most marked. The towers at St. Helens are in the heart of the town; at Cockerham there is tranquillity, the church standing in the middle of fields.

The bells are a grand ring of six, cast by Rudhall in 1748, and the go is all that is desired. It was generally thought in the village that the bells came from Cockersand Abbey, but this Abbey was 'sold up' in 1550. If they came from the Abbey, Rudhall recast them; but there is no indication of such in the old records of the church. P. C.

YORKSHIRE'S MESSAGE

THIS week-end the leaders of the Exercise will assemble at York for the meeting of the Central Council. Yorkshire ringers are sparing no pains to make the occasion worthy of their guests, and Mr. L. W. G. Morris, the hon. secretary of the host Association, has had a particularly onerous time in answering the many queries of the visitors.

Yorkshire has a new president in the Rev. C. O. Ellison, who was introduced to the Council at their last meeting in London within a few days of accepting office. The familiar face of Canon C. C. Marshall will be missed. His long tenure of office has been followed by his recent death. He left Yorkshire in the hope that in the warmth of Devonshire he would be restored to health after his accident, but it was not to be.

As the largest county in England, Yorkshire takes its appropriate place in the annals of English ringing with 1,520 members. Its ringing is also of a high standard, and it is interesting to note that more than one-third of the 1948 peals rung for the Association was of Surprise methods. There was a time when Kent Treble Bob was the 'backbone' method of the Association, so much so that it came to be dubbed 'Yorkshire Glory.' A great change has undoubtedly taken place, comments Mr. W. Barton, the hon. peal secretary, 'for it will be noticed, perhaps with wonder, that only two peals of Kent appear in this year's list; this is a break in tradition that none of us will deplore so long as the accurate striking which was a feature of the old Treble Bob ringing, is maintained.'

The Association makes a strong point in not belittling peals rung in standard methods, especially where a young band is struggling in the elementary stages or where there is little or no opportunity to practise the more advanced methods. 'To our members who are so placed our message is: Keep on trying, and when you attend an Association meeting go with the fixed determination that you will ring something you cannot get at home. In the meantime your peals of Grandsire and Plain Bob are just as welcome to us as the Surprise peals rung by your more experienced brethren.'

This sentiment, we feel sure, will receive general endorsement. Contrary to what has been expressed in certain quarters, the yard stick of English ringing is the peal and not the 10-minute touch. The peal demonstrates the mastery of the method as a ringer and later as a conductor. Peal ringing is not, as some of our readers indicate, confined to a few. Among the resident members of the Yorkshire Association no fewer than 202 rang peals last year and 564 have peals recorded to their credit in the last report of the Association. In addition there is a very long list of out-of-county members who are peal ringers. It cannot be overemphasised that where ringers have peal experience the standard of Sunday service ringing is at its highest.

LATE NEWS

Mr. Isaac T. Rushton, for 58 years a local ringer, has been elected Mayor of Clitheroe, Lancs. On the day of his election local ringers rang a peal in his honour.

BELFRY GOSSIP

A broken rope caused the peal at Stoke, Coventry, on May 25th, in honour of the 60th anniversary of the first peal by Mr. Adolphus Roberts, to come to grief. Mr. Roberts was participating. Afterwards 1,344 Little Bob Major was successfully brought round.

Mr. Walter Tomlinson has circled Harmston, Lincs, tower.

The Surrey Association at their meeting at Kingston collected £2 3s. 9d. for Benhilton Bell Fund. Over 70 ringers were present.

Mr. F. C. Goodman has been elected acting ringing master of the North Norfolk Branch. At the recent meeting at Wroxham ringing was cancelled because of the passing of Mr. F. W. Middleton.

Thurstans' four-part was first called by H. Johnson on May 18th, 1846. The in memoriam peal to Mr. Eric Hartley was in this method and rung on May 18th at Aughton, near Southport, where he spent his boyhood.

At Holsworthy, Devon, the ring of eight is being recast by Messrs. Gillett and Johnston and the weight of the tenor increased from 12¼ to 15¼ cwt. A new modern framework and fittings are to be provided. The firm's electro-pneumatic tune-playing mechanism is also to be fitted. This is designed not to interfere with the normal ringing of the bells.

Forwarding details of a peal at Ticehurst, Mr. A. P. Cannon writes: I certainly congratulate the Exeter peal band, but would like to watch the efforts of the six strongest men in the band ringing a peal at Ticehurst. This is the place for the cream to come to if they think they can ring 'bad going' bells as opposed to heavy bells.

The Leicester Diocesan Guild have introduced to the Exercise Bedford Surprise Maximus, a peal of which was rung on May 23rd.

By ringing the 5th at Burnham, Bucks, to a peal on May 14th, Mr. H. W. Barrett has now circled the tower twice.

We regret to learn that Major Alfred H. Janes, of Penshurst, Kent, met with a fatal accident on May 25th. He was greatly interested in ringing and ringing machines and had contributed to our columns.

The five bells at Lilbourne, Northants, where a peal was rung on May 17th, was the last to be cast by the Kettering foundry of Eayre, circa 1762. The bells were last rehung by Day, of Eye, Suffolk, in 1905 in wood fittings on the old wood frame. The recent peal revealed that the attention of a bellhanger is again necessary.

Finchley ringers and friends had a very enjoyable outing on May 21st around Bedford. Ringing took place at Redbourn, Clifton, Henlow, Southill and Kempston, various methods being rung, including a special touch of Bob Major for the birthday of Miss Mabel Prockson, who took part.

Leeds Parish Church ringers, on the occasion of their first annual outing, rang at Norton, near Malton, on the recently augmented eight (a joy to hear), had a bounteous luncheon at Driffield and found the music of the bells of Bridlington with their long draught compensated for the work entailed. In the evening they were joined by local ringers at Pocklington. Who was the member who found himself 'cartwheeling' with the treble?

THE YORKSHIRE ASSOCIATION

Tribute to Canon Marshall

The annual meeting of the Association took place in glorious weather at Selby Abbey on May 7th, and was attended by upwards of 130 members and friends, representative of all the districts. The fine ring of ten was going early to Stedman Caters and Cambridge Royal, and at 4.15 a brief service was held, conducted by the Vicar. An excellent tea was afterwards partaken of in the Hawdon Institute, followed by the general meeting.

The chair was taken by the president, the Rev. C. O. Ellison, who said the meeting was being held under the cloud of the passing of Canon C. C. Marshall, their former president, and the meeting stood in silence as a tribute. Canon Marshall had been the unfortunate victim of a road accident early in 1947, and tendered his resignation to the annual general meeting at St. Chad's, Headingley, in May of that year.

His untimely resignation was received with unanimous regret, and it was hoped a restful retirement would restore him to health. Most unfortunately this did not prove to be the case, and in his passing the Association has lost one of its staunchest supporters.

Unanimous votes of thanks were accorded to the Vicar, churchwardens, organist and local company in their combined efforts to make the meeting the great success it was.

In presenting the 73rd annual report, the President said it was most gratifying to note that 149 new members had been enrolled during the year, which, after deducting those who had lapsed and passed away, represented a net increase of all but 100 on last year's total. Reports from the districts showed that the work of the Association had steadily progressed, and that a lively interest was being maintained.

The peal secretary's report showed that 111 peals had been rung during the year, 106 on tower bells and five on handbells, at 59 churches and two handbell centres and was an increase of nine on last year's total. Of this total there was one peal of Surprise Maximus, five of Surprise Royal and 33 of Surprise Major, including one Spliced in four methods. The 111 peals rung had been shared between 38 different conductors, headed by the general secretary, Mr. L. W. G. Morris, who had called 23 peals, three of Surprise Royal and 20 of Surprise Major, and now had the double distinction of having rung 200 peals for the Association, 100 of which he had conducted.

RISING COSTS: A WARNING.

The balance sheet showed a loss on the year's working of £23, and the committee had felt the need to add a word of warning that this situation could not be tolerated indefinitely, but in the hope that the cost of printing the annual report, which was easily the largest single item of expense, had reached its peak, had deferred recommending an increase in subscriptions for the ensuing year.

A unanimous vote of thanks to the treasurer and hon. auditors was accorded on the motion of Mr. B. Sutton, seconded by Mr. S. Steel.

Mr. S. F. Palmer was re-elected treasurer for the next three years on the motion of Mr. P. J. Johnson, seconded by Mr. W. Barton. Mr. Palmer, in acknowledging his re-election, said that he was getting on in years, but his interest was as great as ever, and he would be pleased to continue to serve as long as he was able to do so. Mr. W. Barton was unanimously re-elected peal secretary, and in acknowledgment thanked the members for their renewed confidence and paid tribute to the assistance he had received from Miss Molly Ambler, who had very kindly helped with checking the proofs and matter in connection with the annual report.

There being no specific invitation, it was decided to leave arrangements for the next general meeting in the hands of the general secretary. Messrs. M. D. Smith, of Carlton, H. Guy, of Selby, and P. Ascough, of Horbury, were elected members of the Association. The meeting terminated with a vote of thanks to the president, when an adjournment was made to the tower and further ringing enjoyed up to 9 p.m.

EAST GRINSTEAD & DISTRICT GUILD

A blacksmith ringer who attended the meeting of the East Grinstead and District Guild at Edenbridge on May 14th, when the tenor went over and tolled the party out to tea, detected the fault — one of the screws holding the bar of the Hastings slider had come out, allowing the bar to drop. His temporary repairs enabled the meeting to finish with some really good ringing. It was a most successful meeting, and a warm welcome was extended to the Master of the Cumberlands and Mrs. G. Cross.

Midland Counties Guild

THIRD ANNUAL MEETING AT BURTON.

King Edward Square, Burton-on-Trent, with its monument, municipal buildings, gardens and the stately Church of St. Paul in the background, formed a picturesque scene to the ringers who were present at the annual meeting of the Guild, held at this church on May 4th.

The grand ring of ten, under the supervision of the Ringing Master (Mr. B. G. Key), was well patronised in various methods by those who attended. The company included the oldest and youngest ringers in the area, Mr. Dunkley, of Tamworth (81 years), and Norman Cotton, of Overseal (8 years).

A service was conducted by the Ven. H. E. FitzHerbert (Archdeacon of Derby), who in the course of an inspiring address, spoke of the ancient and skilful art of ringing of which our country is so proud.

The secretary (Mr. J. W. Cotton), in his report, gave the Guild membership as 28 honorary and 146 ringing members; 26 peals had been rung during 1948, which included the first surprise peal for the Guild. Only two members rang their first peal, while quite a number rang peals in more advanced methods.

There were nine conductors—two less than in 1947. The secretary stressed the need for younger members to aspire to the art of conducting.

The treasurer (Mr. J. H. Brittan) presented a favourable balance sheet, pointing out that the £13 deficit balance of 1947 had almost been cleared. Both reports were adopted.

Election of officers for 1949 resulted in the president (Mr. W. W. Worthington), chairman, Ringing Master, treasurer, secretary and auditor being unanimously re-elected and thanked for their services. Four committee members were elected: Messrs. E. W. Beadsmoore, W. J. Leach, S. H. Jones and W. F. Woodward.

Written notice had been given by Mr. E. W. Beadsmoore, supported by Mr. J. H. Brittan, that Rule 7 be amended to read, 'The annual meeting be held the second Saturday in January each year,' and was passed after discussion.

Following inspection of the new Guild Certificate, it was decided by 25 votes to 9 that they be issued gratis to all members later.

An omnibus vote of thanks, proposed by Mr. B. G. Key, to the Archdeacon of Derby, Vicar of St. Paul's for use of bells, and to the local ladies who had so ably prepared the tea, brought the meeting to a close.

SOUTHGATE, LONDON. — On May 8th, 1,264 Bob Major: S. Wade 1, Miss M. A. Prockson 2, W. J. Bowden 3, J. H. Goodall (first in method) 4, S. G. Peck 5, H. Miller 6, M. Fensom 7, J. G. Nash (cond.) 8.

LEICESTER DIOCESAN GUILD

1948 A YEAR OF PROGRESS.

Full use was made of the Leicester bells during the afternoon of May 7th, the occasion being the annual meeting. Members and friends from a wide area were present at the service, held in the Church of St. George. The Vicar, the Rev. Adams, in his address, spoke of the history of St. George's Church and bells. The company of over 150 enjoyed an excellent tea in the Church Hall.

The president, Mr. H. J. Poole, was supported by the Guild officers at the meeting, also by Mr. H. W. Perkins. The president welcomed the visitors, among whom were Messrs. E. J. White, G. Freebrey, J. F. Wilkinson, H. C. Edwards, P. K. Williamson and Mrs. and Miss Beamish, the last named being complimented on her achievements.

The President remarked on the very successful year and expressed the Guild's thanks to the general officers and to the district officers, especially the district secretaries, who seldom saw their work in print, but carried out their very essential work behind the scenes. In particular, the Lubenham people had expressed their grateful thanks for the help they had received from the Market Harborough District.

He mentioned the recent repairs and additions to the bells at Humberstone, Aylestone, Birstall, Shepshed, Markfield and Somerby, and said they should be grateful to the local clergy and local ringers. Often augmentations were due to the local ringers urging their parsons on.

The young ringers were to be congratulated on their progress; he was glad to see so many coming along, as the future belonged to them. First pealers were congratulated. All stood in silence in memory of the ringers lost during the year; among these were Mr. J. Garrett, the Rev. Beresford. Messrs. C. Marshall, Jackson, Singleton, J. Dean and H. Stubbs.

The Hon. General Secretary, in his report, said that all districts had reported a busy and successful year. In particular, Syston District had visited every tower and had held two joint meetings. Market Harborough had collected over £6 for the Bell Repair Fund, a very good effort. Hinckley had held 15 meetings, all well attended. They also had found time for their annual dinner, socials and a few dances. The district also arranged special practices in, to most members, new methods, resulting in raising the general standard of ringing.

118 NEW MEMBERS.

The second festival, held on October 16th, was supported by members and friends numbering about 150. In 1947 the number of towers in the Guild was 91; there are now 95. The book membership now stood at 941 ringing members. During the year 118 new ringing and 28 non-resident members were enrolled. To date, 410 Guild Certificates had been sold The peal secretary's report was, in the absence of Mr. E. Morris, read. It showed that in 1948 the Guild came third in the list of societies for peal ringing; 114 tower and 27 handbell peals had been rung, a total of 141. The peals rung included the first peals for the Guild of Erin Caters, Lincolnshire and Stanton Surprise and also Edinburgh Delight. Cambridge had been rung from Minor to Maximus, and Yorkshire from Major to Maximus. The first pealers numbered 29; 184 rang their first in a new method. Three new conductors appeared.

The hon. treasurer, Mr. A. E. Rowley, in his report, said the funds of the Guild were in a very healthy state. The Bell Repair Fund, having had no calls during the year, had reached £188 17s. 3d. The general funds amounted to £74 6s. 11d.

Mr. H. J. Poole was re-elected president. Four vice-presidents had been nominated. Of these, Messrs. A. Ballard and J. Carter asked for their names to be withdrawn, leaving Mr. E. C. Turner and Mr. P. L. Taylor, who were elected. The hon. general secretary, Mr. W. A. Wood, and the hon. treasurer, Mr. A. E. Rowley, were both re-elected and thanked for their services. Mr. S. Burton was elected as peal secretary.

PEALS ON MEETING DAYS.

In supporting a motion deprecating the increase in the number of peals attempted at the same time as a general meeting is being held, frequently in the same locality, Mr. E. C. Turner recalled passing the tower at Claybrooke when on the way to the last quarterly meeting at Lutterworth. A peal was then in progress. Mr. Turner said the officers of the Guild, chosen freely by members, should be treated with respect, not as individuals, but as representatives of the Guild. The arrangement of peals on general meeting days, often in nearby towers, was not showing this respect. He had no wish to discourage peal ringing, but members had rung peals on the general meeting days.

Mr. K. Roe supported and other speakers spoke of district meetings having to be cancelled because some towers were not available by reason of peals having been recently rung.

The meeting was practically unanimous in favour of the motion, no one voting against.

The President announced that grants had that week been made to two tower repair funds, one of 10 guineas and one of 20 guineas. This brought the total granted this year to 50 guineas.

It was decided to hold the festival and dinner later in the year. A social followed, which was enjoyed by many until a late hour.

A WORCESTERSHIRE BENEFACTION

The birthday peal of Grandsire Caters at Claines, near Worcester, was a gesture to Mr. Percy Thomas, whose gifts to his Parish Church include five new bells and a clock.

Originally a ring of five Claines bells were made eight in 1927 by the addition of three trebles, in memory of Mr. Thomas' father, Emanuel Thomas, J.P. In 1940 Mr. Thomas gave two trebles to make the present ring of ten, in memory of his mother. His most recent gift has been the installation of an electric clock, with two faces on the tower and Westminster chimes. This was given to the memory of his wife, Mrs. Florence Elizabeth Thomas.

He is well known to Worcestershire and Birmingham ringers for his love of bells and clocks, and visitors to his home are always intrigued by his remarkable collection of clocks with their varied chimes.

When Worcester Cathedral bells were recast in 1928 Mr. Thomas gave of his services freely and was instrumental in raising a large sum of money from subscribers who had connections with his business. He has also been generous with other restorations in the Worcester area.

ESSEX ASSOCIATION

NORTHERN DISTRICT.

Seventy members and friends from 19 parishes, which is believed to be a record for the district, attended the meeting at Dunmow on May 7th.

At the Association's service, the Vicar, the Rev. Callum, gave the address, and the Master, Dr. Spencer-Phillips, read the lesson. An excellent tea was supplied and prepared by the Dunmow ringers and their wives.

Miss H. G. Snowden, the District Master, presided at the business meeting, when 12 new members were elected. It was decided to hold a practice at Great Easton on June 11th.

GLOUCESTER AND BRISTOL

Regret was expressed at the Cheltenham Branch meeting at Alderton that the local captain, Mr. G. Banner, was in hospital for an operation. The meeting also stood in silence to remember Mr. G. Agg, recently buried at Alderton, who joined the branch in 1923. Ringing ranged from Grandsire to Cambridge.

OBITUARY

MR. ALEXANDER SHARP.

By the death of Mr. Alexander Sharp, of Freiston, near Boston, at the age of 75, the Eastern Branch of the Lincoln Diocesan Guild loses its oldest member.

'Zan,' as he was familiarly known to all his friends, commenced ringing at the early age of seven, and had therefore been ringing for a period of 68 years. Of a quiet and kindly disposition, he was endeared to all with whom he came in contact and will be much missed in ringing circles. He was not a great peal ringer, having rung only four peals, one of Bob Major and three of Minor.

He was laid to rest in the village churchyard near to the bells he loved so well on May 22nd, four of his fellow-ringers—Messrs. H. Harper, E. Barnes, A. Burchnall and G. Dawson—acting as bearers. In the evening, with the bells half-muffled, 1,272 Kent Treble Bob Minor was rung, this being his favourite method. F. D.

MR. WILLIAM BIDNELL, HYTHE.

It is an honour to pay a tribute to the late Mr. William Bidnell, who for many years was captain of the Hythe ringers. His quiet manner was not misleading; he was a lover of the church bells and an admirer of the bells of Hythe and their ringers. He was always willing to be of service, and on one of the occasions he visited Dover was for the installation of Lord Reading as Lord Warden of the Cinque Ports. The beautiful floral tributes and the presence at the graveside of some of the pioneers of Kent ringing show that his faithful service to the bells had been appreciated, and the example he has set will remain in 'golden memory' as the years roll on.

CHARLES TURNER.

OXFORD DIOCESAN GUILD

The famous Abbey at Dorchester was the venue for the annual meeting of the South Oxon Branch on April 30th, when nearly 60 ringers were present. The Rev. N. E. Hope, former Master of the Gloucester and Bristol Association, gave the address at the service, which was conducted by the branch chairman, the Vicar of Holton.

At the business meeting £4 4s. was voted towards the new bell at Lewknor.

KEEPING THE ART ALIVE

Dear Sir, — There is one sentence in Mr. Corby's letter published in 'The Ringing World' of May 13th with which I feel I must join issue. It is the final paragraph which states, inter alia, 'It is the peal ringers who keep the art alive. . . .' I could not disagree with him more.

Casting one's mind over the ringers one knows, I fail to see how it can possibly be disagreed that the percentage who are the slightest degree interested in ringing peals is very small—unless, of course, one moves in a peal ringing circle only. The backbone of the Exercise are not the few who specialise in peal ringing, but the majority who go on, Sunday after Sunday, just ringing for service and practising what they preach by attending the service also.

I feel that we are passing through an era where such a fetish is being made of peal ringing that we are in danger of beginning to mistake the shadow for the substance; the means for the end. Church bells exist to be rung on Sunday to call people to church, not for a band of experts to amuse themselves with on a week-day. Happily, the majority of ringers are regular service ringers, and for that reason the art would pursue the even tenor of its way even if there was no peal ringing.

Moreover, there is one thing that can very definitely be held against peal ringers. They are the culprits who cause those wrothful letters which one reads from time to time in the papers, written by bell haters who complain of the 'excessive din' or suchlike phrase. Most bell haters I have spoken to will admit —albeit reluctantly—that a practice night in the week may be necessary, but they immediately follow it up by asking why is it necessary to ring the bells for three hours on end without a pause? Why indeed?

Do not think, sir, that I am against peal ringing—far from it; but let us get things in their true perspective. In the structure which is the brotherhood of ringers it is the regular Sunday ringers who are the main foundations and walls; peal ringers are the adornments, the pinnacles, the gargoyles, what you will. They may make the structure more ornate, but as a structure it would get on just as well, and be just as useful, without them. If a band has put in a year's regular Sunday ringing and feel like celebrating with a peal, good luck to them. Such an occasion as the birth of Prince Charles is a justifiable reason for a peal. Again, a young band of ringers not long able to ring (say) Grandsire Triples would be much encouraged by the successful achievement of a peal. But an occasional peal of that sort would hardly qualify the band for being considered peal addicts and are not, therefore, I take it, the 'peal ringers' who Mr. Corby has in mind. He states catagorically that it is the peal ringers who keep the art alive. I am prepared to state, equally emphatically, that in my view peal ringing, per se, does little or nothing for the good of the Exercise.

One feels that habitual peal ringing is something in the nature of a psychological disease, which, like other things taken to excess, is liable to strike deeply at the moral fibre of the unfortunate sufferer. It is time habitual peal ringing was recognised for what it is—the selfish pastime of a few.—Yours faithfully,

Apperley, Glos.

ISLE OF MAN PEAL

Dear Sir,—The other peal rung in the Isle of Man at Peel Cathedral was Grandsire Triples, Holt's Ten-part, rung on Whit Monday, May 26th, 1890, conducted by F. E. Dawe, in 2 hours 51 minutes. The tenorman is still living.—Yours truly, J. H. SHEPHERD.

Swindon, Wilts.

VARIATIONS IN DOUBLES

Dear Sir,—In Mr. E. Morris' last paragraph he asks that each variation should be given a different name. What constitutes a variation? Am I right in assuming that a method with, say four working bells, should have a plain course of four leads?

If so, what is the plain course of several of the methods frequently rung, viz., St. Dunstan's, London Single, Oxford Bob and Antelope? In Antelope there are three working bells and one in the hunt. But the plain course is incomplete, as two leads bring up rounds. April Day is Plain Bob with a Grandsire Single. Its plain course is identical with Bob Doubles.

How many methods does Mr. Morris' band think they rang at Dingley on May 3rd? In my opinion there are two, as the spliced arrangements are all Grandsire.

I would be interested to see the figures of the four different callings of April Day, which I am awaiting from the conductor, as required by our Guild rules, under which title the peal was rung. ROBERT G. BLACK,

Hon. Sec., Peterborough Guild.

SPLICED MINOR IN 32 METHODS

Dear Sir,—Has this been equalled? Yes, and congratulations, Frampton. At Folkingham, Lincs, for the Lincoln Diocesan Guild (Southern Branch), 32 of Spliced Surprise methods in 1936 by a mixed band. Prior to this record Bourne service ringers rang a peal of 28 Spliced Surprise which was a record short lived in those days of friendly rivalry. The tenor in each peal was rung by the late Mr. T. L. Bainbridge. The conductor of the Folkingham peal was Mr. H. M. Day, the Bourne peal conducted by Mr. J. W. Lake. Now, Frampton, go to it. There are Whitley and Wooler, Cheddleton and Horton. Good luck. — Yours fraternally, F. W. FRENCH.

Bourne, Lincs.

TWO TYPES OF PEALS ?

Sir,—Could not the question of normal v. condensed peal reports be solved by having both types? There are still many ringers, who only ring one or two peals a year, to whom the ringing of a peal is sufficiently noteworthy to justify the printing of peal cards, and I suggest that those who order peal cards should have the type set as at present, the proposed condensed setting being reserved for the remainder.

This should enable more space to be available for other matters, especially if the paper ration will run to a 16-page issue, which I think the committee should have no hesitation in producing as a 4d. paper, especially if it could be made more attractive. One's mind goes back to the period during the war-time ban when no peals were reported. There must be many new ringers who have not had the opportunity of seeing the wonderful historical articles which appeared during that period, and it is a matter for consideration whether some of these should not be reprinted, and further matter from the same source used, if such is available. Such a reminder of the way things were kept going during that difficult time should be a stimulus to those who have joined the ringing fraternity since then.—I am, sir, yours, etc., E. M. ATKINS.

THE GENERAL Q-SET LAW AND ITS PROOF

BY B. D. PRICE.

THE term 'Q-set' was given to us by W. H. Thompson in his pamphlet (1886) on Grandsire Triples. In this pamphlet (reproduced in Snowdon's 'Grandsire,' 1905, p. 197) he proves the Law for Q-sets of order 5. Dr. Rankin, in his paper on Group Theory (Proc. Camb. Phil. Soc., Vol. 44, Pt. 1, p. 17), proves the Law, but the method of his proof is beyond the reach of most of us.

In order to clarify ideas, we may define a Q-set as follows. A, A′, B, B′, C, C′, etc., as far as N, N′, are points in order on a circle. The number of points may be considered as 2n, there being n points A, B, C, etc., separated by the n points A′, B′, C′, etc. Any letters may be supplied between C′ and N, and there are not necessarily 28 points in all.

Routes lead to points A, B, C, etc., and away from points A′, B′, C′, etc. The problem of composing a peal is reduced to that of finding one continuous circuit around a number of interlaced Q-sets, where routes lead from the dashed letters A′, B′, etc., on each Q-set to plain letters A, B, etc., on the same or on different Q-sets.

When a Q-set is in the state 'plain' each letter is linked to its partner—A to A′, B to B′, etc. When in state 'bob' each is linked to its other partner—N′ to A, A′ to B, etc. The 'order' of a Q-set is the number of such links (equal to n).

Each Q-set in the extent may be 'plain' or 'bob' at will. If the state of each is fixed, then the aggregate of routes will form a number of 'circuits' (round blocks). The Q-set Law concerns the oddness or evenness (parity) of this number of circuits, as follows:—

'If a single Q-set of odd (even) order is altered in state, the others being fixed in state, the parity of the total number of circuits is not (is) changed.'

There are two complementary parts to the Law—either miss out, or substitute, the words in parentheses. Two important conditions are, firstly, every point must be used (this cuts out arguments about Stedman Triples where all six-ends are not used), and, secondly, every route must have one-way traffic (this disqualifies Treble Bob Minor, where a lead may be used backwards).

The Law may be proved by induction. We assume the Law to be true for all Q-sets up to order n, and then show it to be true for the next order (n+1). Since the Law is obviously true for n=1 or n=2, it must therefore be true for all values of n.

Suppose, therefore, that the Law is true for the Q-set of order n:—
A, A′, B, B′, C, C′ . . . . . N, N′.
Consider the Q-set of order n+1:—
A—A′, B—B′, C—C′ . . . . N—N′, X—X′.
It is in the state 'plain.' We proceed to 'bob' it by several steps. First, connect up the letters as follows:—
A′—B, B′—C . . . . M′—N, N′—A, X—X′.
The pair X—X′ has been left alone. The change otherwise is the same as bobbing a Q-set of order n. Now consider the four letters in order: A, N′, X, X′. For the purpose of proof they may be considered as forming a Q-set of order 2. At present they are in the state N′—A, X′—X. Alter the state of this Q-set to X—N′, A—X′. The whole situation is now:—
which is the Q-set of order n+1 in state 'bob.' The bobbing of this Q-set has been carried out in two steps, equivalent to bobbing Q-sets of order n and 2. Since bobbing a Q-set of order 2 changes the parity of the total number of circuits, it will be seen that the Law then follows for Q-sets of order n+1. For example, if n is even, then bobbing the Q-set of order n changes the parity of the number of circuits, but so does altering the Q-set of order 2. Therefore the effect of bobbing the Q-set of order n+1 is not to change the parity. A similar argument holds if n is odd. By application of this argument, starting from n=2 (a case which must be proved by inspection), the Law is proved for any value of n.

'The Ringing World' was founded in the year 1911 by John Sparkes Goldsmith, who remained its proprietor and editor until his death in 1942.

LATE NEWS

Mr. Frank Bennett has achieved his ambition. He has rung a peal in all the 8, 10 and 12 bell towers in Kent—but Meopham, Kent, has just been augmented from 6 to 8.

BELFRY GOSSIP

Stepney bells may not be rung until further notice. The tower is badly cracked and the diocesan surveyor is seeking further opinion.

The peal at Seavington, Somerset, on May 29th, was rung for the reopening of the church after redecoration.

The Misses K. and G. Burchnall and Mr. Harold Denman rang their 80th peal together at Rampton, Notts, on May 28th.

Mr. Albert H. Ward rang his previous peal of Grandsire Caters 'in hand' to that recorded this week in 1916.

The peal of Stedman at Alphington, Devon, was the first on the bells since their restoration in 1939.

Congratulations to George Pipe, who has rung Cambridge from Minor to Maximus. His peal of Royal was the first on the augmented ring at Grundisburgh.

Mr. A. C. Hazelden, of Guildford, has unfortunately been suffering from an attack of jaundice, but Mrs. Hazelden reports that he is now a little better.

Lancashire's ringing Mayor, Mr. Isaac T. Rushton, of Clitheroe, has in past years been largely responsible for keeping the bells of his church going. Although not a very proficient ringer, he is held in high esteem by the local band, who are proud of the honour conferred on him.

Regarding the peal of Lindsey Surprise Maximus, Mr. Nolan Golden writes: My association with the method merely consists of naming it. Mr. Shirley Burton produced the method as an extension of Lincolnshire without knowledge of the Rev. H. L. James's publication of the (possibly) true extension in 1922.

Contact has been made with Mr. Lancefield, who recently arrived in New Zealand, writes G. N. Sloan, of Christchurch, New Zealand. Although Mr. Lancefield is in the North Island at present, says Mr. Sloan, he hopes to visit and ring at Christchurch Cathedral in the South Island some time in August. Mr. Sloan also gives news of Miss Ruth Donnelly, of St. Jude's, Sydney, Australia, who is staying in New Zealand for 12 months. She was the first lady ringer to conduct change ringing for the Christchurch Cathedral Society of Bellringers. On behalf of the society, Mr. Sloan sends greeting to all ringers in this country.

Captain of Winchester Cathedral ringers, Mr. Andrews has completed 50 years in that office. It would be fitting, write Mr. T. R. West, of Crabwood, Sparsholt, Winchester, if a tablet was fixed in the tower to commemorate such an achievement, and he asks whether any readers have suggestions to make as to what is usual on such occasions.

The ring of six (tenor about 14 cwt.) of Dittisham Church, Devon, has found its way to the Croydon foundry. Nos. 3, 4 and 5, which are cracked, are to be recast. The ring is to be rehung in a new frame and fittings.

Picturesque churches in Hants and Berks were visited by St. Mary's, Ealing, for their annual outing. These included Thatcham, Andover, Whitchurch, Highclere, Newbury and Hagbourne. Mr. A. Mark Stacey made the arrangements for a perfect day's outing.

St. Margaret's, Leicester, went to Norwich for their outing and received a kind welcome from Mr. Nolan Golden and the Rev. A. G. G. Thurlow. The youngsters acquitted themselves well at St. Peter Mancroft, a boy of 16 ringing the tenor to Cinques. Ringing also took place at King's Lynn and Wisbech.

Salisbury Guild Festival

'A LEAD TO THE COUNTRY,' SAYS the MASTER.

The Rev. C. Carew Cox, Lyme Regis, Master of the Salisbury Diocesan Guild, told the 220 ringers from all parts of the diocese who gathered at Dorchester on May 21st, for their annual festival, that the Guild was giving a lead to the country in maintaining the ringing for Sunday services. 'It is the chief object of our Guild,' he said, 'and I am sure that individual ringers will uphold that tradition.'

During the day touches were rung at all the towers in the district by visiting ringers—on the bells of St. Mary's at Piddletown—the bells that were broadcast on 'V.E.' day—on Martinstown's new memorial ring, at the two Dorchester towers, Wyke Regis, Abbotsbury, Upwey, Bradford Peverell, Stratton, Charminster and Blandford.

The annual meeting was held at the Old Shirehall, Dorchester, when the Master congratulated St. Paul's, Salisbury, on having completed the restoration of their bells and augmenting their ring to eight. He also commended St. George's, Fordington, on the progress made with their restoration fund.

During the year the Guild had suffered a great loss by the death of their Bishop, who in the short time he had been in the diocese had made himself known to many ringers. A message of welcome was sent from the meeting to the Bishop-designate, the Right Rev. W. L. Anderson, Bishop of Portsmouth.

Reviewing the year's ringing the Master said, 'I congratulate so many bands of ringers, young and old, in the diocese for the success they have had and the progress they have made. There is every sign of this Diocesan Guild becoming stronger, and giving a lead to the country in the matter of change ringing.'

RESTORATION GRANTS.

Mr. E. Macdonald (Poole) said Cranborne had already raised £570 towards the total needed of £1,400 for the restoration of that tower. 'It is a big job for a small village,' he said.

The Guild voted five guineas towards this and three guineas to North Bradley's fund for providing two new trebles. A similar sum was also voted to two other restoration schemes—Donhead St. Mary and Wool, where £1,000 had to be spent on the tower.

The Rev. F. Ll. Edwards, of Kington Magna, was re-elected secretary and all other officials were reappointed. Mr. W. Chalk, of the Salisbury Branch, was elected an hon. life member in recognition of long and meritorious service to the Guild.

The Guild office was sung at St. Peter's Church, being conducted by the Master and Canon A. Wilkinson Markby (chairman of Dorchester Branch). A course of Grandsire Caters was rung on handbells by ringers from Lyme Regis.

The address was given by the Archdeacon of Dorset (the Ven. L. Addison), himself a ringer, who appealed to all clergy to take an active interest in their bells. 'I often tell my clergy it is one of their jobs,' he said. 'They know all about their church organisation but sometimes know little about their belfries, but the belfry is the place where the message goes out to the world.'

CALNE, WILTS.—On May 23rd, 1,260 Stedman Triples: Miss R. Maundrell 1, Miss B. Hacker 2, H. Parsons 3, W. Hacker 4, R. Saye 5, F. Walker 6, R. Barry (cond.) 7, H. Burry 8.

LEICESTER RINGERS VISIT SOMERSET

Some Heavy Bell Experience

In beautiful weather and in defiance of superstition a party set off from Leicester on May 13th for Somerset. The week-end trip had been arranged by Cecil Knight, the Leicester Cathedral steeplekeeper, in conjunction with the Somerset 'man on the spot,' Joe Dyke. A special bus had been chartered for the occasion.

The party was incomplete upon leaving Leicester, but included C. Knight, H. Wayne, H. J. Poole and F. H. Dexter (Leicester Cathedral), K. Roe and the Carter brothers, with 'uncle' and 'young Dick' (Wigston Magna), P. L. Taylor, L. Stevens and J. R. Smith (Loughborough), J. F. Milner (Southwell), A. Jacques (Woodhouse Eaves), E. C. Turner (Burbage), W. A. Wood (Croft), A. Rowley (Ibstock), E. Beardsmore (Ashby-de-la-Zouch) and A. H. Pulling (Guildford). At Rugby they were joined by W. Vann, A. Barlow, R. W. Gibbons, and also W. Stote (Coventry); at Banbury by G. Care and R. Noon (Northants), F. Case and W. Yates (Wicken), whilst Mark White was picked up at Bath.

We arrived at Glastonbury about half-past eleven, and there we found Bert Perkins, the Somerset farmer and former secretary of the Leicester Diocesan Guild. We were accommodated at three adjacent hotels, The Crown, The George and The Lamb.

On Saturday morning the Leicester-cum-Somerset farmer, bursting with geographical knowledge of the district, acted as guide. Although he missed a dodge which put about three miles on the journey, we eventually landed at Evercreech and there found Joe Dyke awaiting us. The ringing included Stedman Caters and Cambridge Surprise Royal on this fine new ring of ten and was a gentle breaking-in for the heavier bells to come.

The next call was at Ditcheat, a grand ring of eight, where the four standard Surprise methods and Stedman Triples were rung. We were received by Albert Linton, who was afterwards congratulated on his enthusiastic maintenance and pride in the belfry and bells. A grand luncheon was served at the local Manor House Inn. These Somerset folk sure know how to keep a man quiet about mid-day.

TRUNCHEON PAPER KNIFE

After lunch the opportunity was taken of expressing personally to brother Joe very grateful thanks for arranging things on the spot, and as a memento Harold Poole presented him with a wooden paper knife, inscribed on the ebony handle 'Joe T. Dyke, May, 1949.' This was made personally by Cecil Knight, and some of the wood used was part of a policeman's broken truncheon.

Our resident guide now piloted us, and the Somerset countryside was indeed seen at its best. The ringing at Sherborne Abbey included Cambridge Surprise Major, Double Norwich and Stedman. Everyone 'had a go, Joe,' on the heavy eight and were delighted with the experience. We were pleased to meet the local ringers, Messrs. W. H. Pope, Arthur Reed (Taunton) and Tom Setter (Yeovil). Although a little late arriving at Yeovil, everyone enjoyed a short ring there.

After tea, our next thrill was to hear Queen Camel six raised in peal by Fred Reeves and his band of merry men. It was a grand effort, for which—we learned afterwards—the band had had a special briefing from Fred. One or two took the opportunity of turning in the tenor, and after ringing we adjourned to nearby licensed premises for a social hour or so.

Upon our return to Glastonbury we found jubilation at great height. The locals were celebrating a cup triumph at football. Hush! a consolation prize for the Leicester chaps. A grand supper awaited us and, although Charlie was not in the chair this time, he kept the party well amused.

TRAPEZE ACT.

Sunday morning found us on our way to Wells Cathedral, where Mr. D. Loxton met us. We really started off here out of step, for when the treble man started, after due and sufficient warning, the front nine rolled round only to see the tenor man 'Mark' time and do a flying trapeze act on the rope with the balance in favour of the bell. The ringing here was limited to rounds, Stedman Caters and three leads of treble-ten.

After great activity on the part of our camera men, we boarded the bus for Cheddar, and in the brilliant sunshine had a glorious view of the famous gorge. A visit to the caves proved of great interest, and then on we went to Wrington for lunch. We dined at the Bell at Wrington, and what a delightful meal. The eagerness of one youngster to get to the tower was such that he left half his lunch—a sure qualification for the peal madmen or tower snatchers' brigade.

Tea had been arranged at the Grosvenor Hotel, Bristol, but as we arrived half an hour before schedule the manager very kindly placed the lounge at our disposal. After tea we said good-bye to Bert Perkins. It is reported that the cows were holding their week-end milk pending his return.

For the evening service at St. Stephen's Church the ringing included Stedman Caters, Bob Royal, Cambridge Royal and a course of Bristol Surprise Major, and after this some went to the service at St. Mary Redcliffe. Following the service the congregation left to the accompaniment of a fine touch on the twelve.

By Monday morning, one of the superstitious clan had realised that our programme named 13 towers, and by a bit of early morning 'ferreting' he had obtained permission to ring on the six at St. Cuthbert's, Glastonbury, to make it fourteen.

Our next tower was Wedmore, where Ernest Morgan was waiting for us. The Vicar also came into the belfry to extend a personal welcome, which was fully appreciated. After the usual brief period of ringing on the beautiful ring of eight, we journeyed through delightful countryside to Burnham-on-Sea, where we met and were grateful to Mr. Mitchell, who had snatched a few minutes from duty to admit us to the belfry.

Congresbury was our next stop, and we were welcomed by Mr. Fisher. We were rather surprised to learn that this ring of eight had not been lowered since the lifting of the ringing ban. 'I don't blame 'em,' commented someone upon appreciating the weight of them. After a warning of 'Steady, boys,' a good course of Bristol Surprise was rung, and the bells did sound really grand.

Our last call was at Long Ashton, and here the visitors showed great interest in the handbell attachment for silent ringing. George Yeo—the grand old local ringer, whose enthusiasm increases with his age—was there to meet us.

We arrived at Leicester about half-past ten after a wonderful week-end. Our thanks are due to the incumbents, the local ringers, the caterers and everyone else who assisted in any way to make the visit such a success, and we duly tender them.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

SURPRISE MINOR METHODS PEALS

Dear Sir,—Mr. Relfe's mention of the peal in 32 Surprise Minor methods, which the Lamberhurst band rang many years ago, thus setting the record for the greatest number of Surprise Minor methods to be rung in seven 'true' extents, has recalled to mind the speed and ease with which this band mastered one of the extents which alone kept us from ringing the peal at Leytonstone. Had we known of the first extent, rung in the peal at Frampton, on April 30th, conducted by John R. Young, we should have been after a 34-method peal. I thought that 32 methods was the limit.

I wonder if Mr. Young will share the 720 mentioned, i.e., methods 1, 6, 5, 3, 4, 2 of the collection, with us, by publishing the figures of the extent? I am sure Mr. Relfe would reciprocate by publishing the extent which splices methods 44 and 46 with Allendale and Westminster, thus making possible the 34-method peal. It is a shame that Frampton did not ring the 34. This extent (Chester, Munden, Newcastle, Alnwick, Morpeth and Canterbury) is the fourth one of six methods (Surprise) of which I have heard, and was missed by the late A. G. Driver in his researches.—Yours faithfully,

G. L. JOYCE.

YORKSHIRE ASSOCIATION AND THE TOWERS IN THE COUNTY

Dear Sir,—Your leader in this week's issue of 'The Ringing World' makes certain reference to the annual report of the Yorkshire Association which should not be allowed to pass without comment if a misunderstanding is to be avoided.

Pre-war reports of the Yorkshire Association contained a full list (so far as could be ascertained) of towers in the county possessing six or more bells, and several of those with five bells, whether the towers concerned were affiliated to the Association or not. The paper shortage was responsible for many of the regular features of the report having to be suspended during the war, amongst them the list of unaffiliated towers.

At the last meeting of the General Committee the possibility of restoring the report to its former comprehensive form was considered and, in the hope that the extra cost entailed would not be prohibitive, the items concerned are being brought up to date and prepared for publication.

If your correspondent has information which the officials of the Yorkshire Association do not possess I am sure the General Committee will be pleased to have it.—Yours,

WM. BARTON,
Hon. Peal Sec., Yorkshire Assn.

IN DEFENCE OF J. J. PARKER

Dear Sir,—My letter in your issue of May 13th was not intended to cause annoyance to Mr. Cashmore nor to discredit his achievements in regard to Spliced Surprise compositions.

The point I wished to make was that the late Joseph W. Parker was the first person to compose a peal of Spliced London, Bristol, Cambridge and Superlative Surprise Major in which all the bells did the whole of the work of each method. Mr. Cashmore concurs with this claim in the penultimate paragraph of his letter in your issue dated May 27th.

Finally, may I assure Mr. Cashmore that neither my memory nor ability to understand English in any form is defective.—Yours sincerely,

F. AINSLEY.

UPKEEP OF BELLS

Dear Sir,—I have decided to venture an opinion in favour of the unpopular side of the recent correspondence on the subject of the desirability of payment of some small fee towards the expense of upkeep of bells, ropes and fittings by bands of visiting peal ringers.

It is doubtful whether, if the hat were passed round among the audience — willing or unwilling—any large donations would be dropped in it, but in the end it is just those people who are expected to contribute to schemes of rehanging or augmenting or even buying new ropes for their church. In small country parishes this may mean putting off the evil day and perhaps allowing the bells to become unringable. We do not any of us mind paying a few shillings for our pet amusements, pictures, dances, dogs, whist drives or what you will. Why, then, this parsimony about a fee of 6d. or even 1s. per head for the pleasure we get out of a peal on some fresh ring of bells?

In the good (or bad) old days, when many of our fraternity earned only small wages and salaries, there was some excuse, but it is hardly fair to carry on to the present day what is really no more than a sort of party prejudice against fees for peals.

Undoubtedly well-struck peals by expert bands do set a standard for the local band to emulate, but that is not the primary or secondary or any other kind of reason why we go out for peals, is it? Anyway, it is not my reason. I go because I enjoy the ringing, hearing a fresh ring, meeting other ringers and the little friendly inquest over a pint at the end, and just one more entry in the peal book.

Will some other bell bangers come out and join me in my attempt to be fair to all?—Yours sincerely, 'ANOTHER SNATCHER.'

'BICKERING'

Dear Sir,—We as ringers are usually churchmen and occasionally hear the above words, but it seems they fall on deaf ears in a lot of instances.

I like to think of all us ringers as brothers and sisters in the art, but am very often pained when I hear harsh words spoken of a friend ringer and to a greater extent when those words are transcribed into print.

When I lived in London I found much jealousy, spite and backbiting to such a degree that it was damaging to the cause of ringing.

Certainly we have our likes and dislikes and our opinions of each other, but for the sake of ringing and good friendship I would like to see a few tongues curbed. Every ringer, whatever his standard of method or striking, is of great value these days.

Let us speak only of the good points of our brothers and sisters and say nothing, or as little as we can, of their failings. — Yours sincerely, CECIL W. PIPE.

A LEICESTER GUILD WORTHY

To mark the service of Mr. Felix Sutton, who has been a bellringer at Kegworth, Leicestershire, for 60 years, eight members of the Loughborough Branch of the Leicester Diocesan Guild visited the church on May 21st and rang a peal of Double Norwich Court Bob Major. The ringing was quite worthy of the occasion, and both Mr. and Mrs. Sutton expressed their great delight that the attempt had proved successful.

After the peal the ringers adjourned to the Schoolroom, where the Rector, on behalf of local parishioners, presented Mr. Sutton with a silver inkstand, in the shape of a bell, as a token of their appreciation of his long service for the church. The party then sat down to an excellent tea, which was provided through the kindness of Mr. and Mrs. Sutton.

OBITUARY

MR. W. THOMAS.

By the passing of Mr. Walter Thomas on May 23rd, the Chester Diocesan Guild has lost one of its oldest members, for he enrolled almost 60 years ago and had been in continuous membership ever since. Mr. Thomas spent his early ringing days at Pulford, where there was a light ring of six—later augmented to eight—and a band of change ringers much more advanced than the average village bands of those days.

In 1908 he moved to Saighton in the parish of Bruera, where the church possessed but one bell. Undaunted, he attached himself to the tower at Christleton, four miles away, and here he was able to follow the art which held for him a lifelong interest. As a ringer he was reliable, steady and an excellent striker, and had taken part in some 120 peals in a variety of methods, while on many occasions he had joined in ringing tours in various parts of the country.

Many of his fellow-ringers were among the large company present when he was laid to rest in the shadow of the ancient church of Bruera. The Rector spoke of his sterling qualities as a churchman and ringer, of his happy disposition and of the high esteem in which he was held by all who knew him. In the brilliant spring sunshine four members of the Guild bore him to the grave, and while the last prayers were said the whole congregation stood in the green churchyard in silent homage to a great gentleman.

On the following Sunday evening a quarter-peal with bells half muffled was rung to his memory at Christleton Church. J. W. C.

MEMORIAL TO LATE MR. W. BIBBY

A meeting of the Grappenhall Branch of the Chester Diocesan Guild was held at Frodsham on Saturday, May 28th, at which a memorial was dedicated to the memory of the late William Bibby, for many years the leading ringer and sometime churchwarden at the church. The memorial takes the form of an alteration to the oak screen at the west end of the church and the provision of two churchwarden's seats in oak, the cost of which has not yet been defrayed. A number of ringing friends of the late Mr. William Bibby, when the matter was first proposed, expressed their desire to assist. I shall be pleased to receive any donations they wish to make.—John E. Ashcroft, Post Office, Grappenhall, Cheshire.

DURHAM AND NEWCASTLE ASSN.

PRESIDENT'S GIFT.

A large number of ringers and friends assembled at Whitley Bay on Saturday, May 28th, for the half-yearly meeting of the Durham and Newcastle Diocesan Association. Favoured with beautiful weather, several ringers combined business with pleasure by bringing with them their wives and families to this popular holiday resort.

The service was conducted by the Vicar of Whitley Bay, Rev. F. R. Hedley, assisted by Rev. T. Christy.

At the business meeting which followed tea, the president, Mr. W. N. Park, referred to the passing to higher service of the immediate past president, Mr. R. L. Patterson, who had been a member of the Association for 50 years. The company stood as a mark of respect.

Mr. J. Anderson proposed a vote of thanks to the Vicar and churchwardens for the use of the bells, to which the Vicar suitably replied. Mr. W. E. Robinson thanked the ladies and local helpers for preparing such an excellent tea. Miss Fidell replied.

The president kindly presented to the Association a gavel and case, and the secretary (Mr. J. A. Brown) acknowledged this gift on behalf of the members.

All Saints', High Wycombe

AN INTERESTING CENTURY.

Often one hears of an individual ringer having scored 100 peals; this time it is a tower.

In 1711 the first octave of bells was installed (tenor 29 cwt.), cast from a previous six by the Whitechapel Foundry. The only peal on this eight was of Bob Triples by the Union Scholars in 1751, conducted by the celebrated John Holt.

The bells were increased to ten in 1788 by the addition of two bells by Briant, of Hertford, and on Easter Monday, April 8th, 1792, a peal of Grandsire Caters was rung by the College Youths, the only performance on this ten.

In 1802 the tenor disappeared with the recasting of several other bells and the pitch of the bells raised with a tenor bell 23 cwt. in E flat. The two 1788 bells became 2 and 3 with a new treble. The reconstructed ring of ten was hung on the old 1711 frame. The year 1909 brought a great work of restoration and augmentation with a larger tenor and an additional treble. With some recasting came the present ring of 12 and the pitch of the bells was restored to its original 1711 status. From All Saints' Day, 1909, to the present, 1949, some 39½ years, 85 peals have been rung, bringing the score to 100. The analysis of the 100 peals rung is as follows:—

Stedman Cinques 39, Stedman Caters 30, Stedman Triples 3, Grandsire Cinques 1, Grandsire Caters 4, Grandsire Triples 10; Cambridge Maximus 2, Kent Treble Bob Maximus 3, Plain Bob Maximus 2, Plain Bob Royal 2, Plain Bob Major 1, Plain Bob Triples 1, Double Norwich C.B. Major 1, Erin Caters 1.

IRISH ASSOCIATION

At the annual meeting of the Eastern District at St. George's Church, Dublin, on May 21st, the following officers were elected: Chairman, Mr. Dan Kennedy (Dublin); treasurer, Mr. J. F. Fennell (Bray); secretary, Mr. F. E. Dukes (Jenkinstown).

A cup, to be named 'Gabriel Lindoff Cup,' is to be purchased for competition amongst the towers of the District in the preliminary round of the Murphy Cup competition. The winners will challenge the winners of Northern and Southern Districts for the right to hold the Murphy Cup.

BEVERLEY AND DISTRICT SOCIETY

Nunburnholme, one of Yorkshire's most beautiful villages, with its lovely Norman church containing a splendid ring of six by Taylor's, was visited by the society in May.

The Rector (the Rev. E. W. French) conducted the Guild's service, and during the singing of Psalm 150 handbells were rung by Messrs. G. Williams, L. Rodmell, G. Speak and C. Baker. A first-rate tea was provided.

Mr. G. F. Williams presided at the business meeting, when the members stood in silence as a tribute to the late president of the Yorkshire Association (Canon C. C. Marshall).

The next meeting was fixed for Sutton-on-Hull on June 11th, and the annual at Beverley Minster on July 9th.

Acknowledging the vote of thanks, the Rector said the meeting had been a happy reunion with a number of former members of his church at Cottingham and also of Market Weighton.

Mr. E. Dove and Mr. J. J. Tune were elected members. Eighteen towers were represented, and ringing concluded with 240 Cambridge Surprise Minor.

OUTINGS

ODIHAM RINGERS IN YORKSHIRE.

On May 21st, favoured with glorious sunshine, the ringers of Oldham Parish Church paid a visit to Yorkshire, calling at Huddersfield, and enjoyed a ring on the fine twelve. From thence to Birstall, a church in a very pretty setting with equally good bells. Lunch was at Leeds and followed by ringing there. Fortunately we had a few 'heavy' enthusiasts.

After leaving Leeds, we had a run through some very pretty countryside to Guiseley, where quite a thrill awaited us. A visiting choir had come to be recorded in this lovely old church, and we had the offer also to have recordings made. Needless to say, the opportunity was seized and a plain course of Grandsire Triples was rung for the one side and a plain course of Stedman Triples for the other side. We had tea at Bradford and heard the peal at the Cathedral being rung. Marsden was our last call for the day, and once more we toiled up what must now be adding up to many hundreds of steps to a very fine ring of eight. J. D. F.

WESTHOUGHTON VISIT THE LAKES.

The Westhoughton ringers were fortunate in having a day of brilliant sunshine for their outing to Kendal and Bowness on May 7th. Leaving Westhoughton at 7 a.m., they were joined on the way by friends from Horwich, Adlington, Standish, Leyland and Whittle-le-Woods. The first stop for ringing was at Clitheroe, an old town with a castle at the foot of Pendle Hill. The road there led through that lovely rural part of Lancashire so little known outside the county, and there were extensive views of Pendle Hill, the home of the Lancashire Witches. Clitheroe possesses a fine ring of eight bells, and no time was lost in putting them to use.

The road now climbed steeply to the hills. The bright greens of the trees and pastures in the valley were changed for the more subdued hues of the bare moors, on which sheep roamed with their lambs. The party entered the Trough of Bowland—another beauty spot. From the fells above Lancaster there was a fine view of the Fylde, Morecambe Bay and the hills behind Barrow.

The next stop was at Kendal, where Stedman Caters and Bob Royal were rung. There was also plenty for all to see and do at Bowness on Lake Windermere. Grandsire, Stedman, Double Norwich and Cambridge were rung there. Everyone thought that this was the end of the day's ringing, but on the way back Milnthorpe bells were heard. It was practice night. The visitors were made welcome and rang various methods.

CENTRAL COUNCIL, YORK, 1949

NEARLY 50 years have elapsed since the Central Council last visited York. Very little change has taken place in this ancient city, with its narrow streets, half-timbered buildings, its walls, and the glorious Minster which mothers it. But an enormous change has taken place with the Council, for whereas in its early years the discussions were between a few experts, who were listened to with considerable awe, this Council was a much more democratic affair, with many representatives putting forward their viewpoints.

This year saw a very representative gathering, and a real, warm-hearted Yorkshire welcome awaited the visitors. One brave youngster from Devonshire, after attending the annual meeting of his Guild on Whit Monday, actually travelled through the night and was in his place in the Council on Tuesday morning. Plenty of bells, to suit all tastes, were available, and peals were rung at Wakefield, Leeds and Ripon. Some members having travelled so far north decided to travel still further to Newcastle, where an excellent peal of Stedman Cinques was rung under the auspices of the Ancient Society of College Youths.

Monday saw a large number of visitors at Beverley, where the two glorious rings of ten were much admired and well used. In the evening the Standing Committee were hard at it for nearly four hours.

Tuesday's session was held in the ancient half-timbered St. William's College, and the Council received a warm welcome from the Very Rev. the Dean of York, who opened the proceedings with prayers. The president gracefully replied and presented the Dean with a copy of 'The History of the Ancient Society of College Youths.' He also referred to the facilities provided for the Council to attend the Communion service at the Minster that morning. The Dean, in reply, said that after he had read the book it should be placed in the Minster Library.

By 11.15 a.m. the Council settled down to a heavy agenda, and it soon became obvious that all the skill of the president would be required to get through it. The report and suggestions of the sub-committee appointed to revise the rules provided some knotty points for discussion, which resolved itself mainly around the representation of territorial and non-territorial societies. Many suggestions were made which were noted by the sub-committee, and their amended draft will be submitted next year. A suggestion made by the sub-committee to create a new type of life membership of the Council was well received. This life membership is designed to honour those who have well served the Council in the past, and would remove them from the list of hon. members.

Another thing that became very evident during the discussions was the determination of the Council to cut out all loosely-worded rules capable of more than one interpretation.

Mr. Grover's 'harangue' was received with considerable amusement, and the effective way in which the hon. secretary disposed of the criticisms regarding the use of space in 'The Ringing World' by the statement of simple yet incontrovertible facts impressed all present. It was a healthy, good-humoured discussion, and much good should result from the free ventilation of opinion which characterised this meeting.

Impressions left on the mind were the varying styles of the different speakers. First the Dean, a very portly and impressive gentleman, whose kindly voice, rather high pitched, was out of all proportion to his size, the careful English of the North Staffordshire member; the racy humour of the Rev. A. G. G. Thurlow; the stentorian tones of a certain Yorkshireman (born in Bethnal Green), who was keenly on the look-out for red herrings; the r's which the hon. secretary cannot pronounce; the dulcet tones of F. E. Dukes and his colleague; and the academic style of Dr. Hatcher (who might have 'started something' had it not been so late in the day).

Business over, the members were entertained to a real Yorkshire tea by the Yorkshire Association, whose president, the Rev. C. O. Ellison, and his officers saw that their guests were well looked after. A social evening at the Windmill Hotel wound up the week-end. Thank you, Yorkshire, for a very happy time. J. F. S.
