FESTIVAL OF BRITAIN

EVIDENCE is not lacking that ringers will make a contribution towards the Festival of Britain. From three independent sources, each unknown to the other, the idea has been ventilated and accepted with alacrity. Dr. E. S. J. Hatcher brought up the question when the committee of the Kent County Association met on Monday, and to this end it was decided to table a motion for the consideration of the Central Council at Eastbourne. On the same day at Worcester, for the meeting of the Worcestershire and Districts Association, Mr. D. H. Watson moved: 'That the Central Council representatives be instructed to move that the Exercise be represented at the Festival of Britain, 1951.' The same idea occurred to Mr. T. J. Lock at the Middlesex Association's annual meeting, and there it was decided that a committee be formed to consider what arrangements could be made for ringing in connection with the Festival. Mr. Lock has carried his ideas a stage farther by the letter which is published in this week's issue.

The year 1951 coincides with the triennial meeting of the Council in London. At York there were suggestions made that, owing to the difficulty of securing meeting halls and because of the number of towers damaged by the raids on London, ringing facilities were not satisfactory for a meeting at the Metropolis and that a centre in the Home Counties should be substituted. Our personal opinion is that, despite these difficulties, every endeavour should be made to hold the Council meeting in London. The Festival of Britain is unquestionably an event that ringers from all parts of the country will like to see and the dual event will make a strong appeal.

It must not be assumed that the Festival is confined to London. While it is true that the centre piece of the Festival will be the exhibition in London on the south bank of the Thames, the idea behind this event is that the whole country is on show, demonstrating to the visitor the British way of life, Britons' past achievements, their energy and determination in enriching the present and endowing the future. A special appeal has been addressed to every Parish Council to prepare its own village for the event, to tidy the general surroundings and to arrange events which will enable the visitor to understand our mode of living.

Of all British pursuits the art of change ringing is an essential prerogative of our people. No country possesses bells equivalent to our own; no country practises our art with the same dexterity, knowledge and enthusiasm. And as villages make their respective contribution to the Festival as a whole, we, as ringers, will be ready to play our part, not only by the ringing of bells, but by inviting visitors into our ringing chambers and explaining to them how to ring. It is strange as one travels about in this country to notice that a relatively small number of people has visited a belfry and seen bells rung; still less are those who have any ideas of the art of change ringing. The Festival in itself provides an unrivalled opportunity for propaganda which should be readily embraced.

In certain provincial towns festivals are being planned quite apart from the two touring exhibitions. We would suggest that the local Guilds should not hesitate to offer their services to the town's committee, and make appropriate suggestions as to ways and means bells can be introduced into the local programme. Ringers are not just an isolated body unto themselves; by their vocation they are the instruments for giving public expression to national sentiment. Such offers of co-operation, we feel certain, will be readily accepted by the Civic Authorities.

We feel certain that whatever course is adopted by the Central Council on Whit Tuesday the peal side of the programme will not be neglected. What we should like to see is not only the regular peal ringers participating, but those to whom a peal is a special occasion, an event to be treasured in memory. Since the war we have had three memorable days in the annals of the Exercise—the Thanksgiving Day for Peace, the marriage of Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh and the birth of Prince Charles. The opening of the Festival is likely to be a similar occasion. It was a century ago that the great exhibition at the Crystal Palace was held, and it is possible that some Guilds or Societies have records of peals rung on that occasion. If any exist we would welcome the details. But times have changed since 1851; ringing to-day is on a far different footing. The Exercise is now in a position to act in unity and make a worthwhile effort. There can be little doubt that at Eastbourne a sound lead will be given.

LATE NEWS.

We regret to record the deaths of Mr.
William Hayes, of Flamstead, Herts; Mr.
H. M. Hurst, of the Peterborough Guild; and Mr. John Cox, St. Ambrose, Bristol.

Mrs. C. J. Matthews is acting as secretary of the Society of Royal Cumberland
Youths until the end of the present year.

By completing his 100th peal in Dartford tower, where his first peal was rung in 1905, Mr. John Wheadon has become the first to accomplish this feat. Mr. Wheadon, now in his 79th year, is a native of London (County Hall now stands on the site of his birthplace), but learned to ring at Brenchley, Kent, some 55 years ago. He was, however, out of ringing for some years on first coming to Dartford, so that he did not ring a peal until he was 33. Of the 360 odd in which he has now taken part, 68 others have been at Crayford and about 50 at St. John's, Erith.
Mr. Wheadon's outstanding contribution to ringing has been in originating the principle of clapper buffers about 30 years ago, his idea having later been developed by Messrs. Mears and Stainbank.

Peal ringing visitors at Shrivenham, Berks, will pay 10 shillings for each attempt towards the bell ropes fund. Bells are guaranteed to be oiled and ropes in good condition.

Bletchley, Bucks, bells, which have been away for 15 months at the Whitechapel Foundry, are now in the process of being reinstated.

Whiston, Northants, where a peal of Doubles is recorded this week, has no sally guides to the ropes and one of the longest pulls in the Midlands. The bells are very difficult to ring.
This church is lit by candles, and a paraffin lamp illuminates the belfry.

Congratulations to Mr. Alfred Broughton, the village postman at Gilmorton, who rang the tenor to the peal of Stedman Triples rung at Gilmorton on April 28th. He has been a ringer for 47 years, and this was his first attempt for a peal. Another first pealer in the same peal was Winifred M. Burton, daughter of Mr. Shirley Burton.

BELFRY GOSSIP

A promising Yorkshire ringer is 14-year-old William H. Jackson, who rang his first peal of London Surprise Major at Thorne on April 22nd. Previously he had only rung the plain course in the method on two occasions. He never made a false blow during the peal. This was his sixth peal, his others being Grandsire Triples, Double Norwich (2), Superlative and Cambridge.

The peal of Yorkshire Surprise Major rung at Brightling, Sussex, on April 16th, was composed by E. W. Tippler and not E. W. Turner as stated in the issue of April 28th.

In connection with the broadcast of Trowbridge bells the following appeared in 'The Radio Times': 'Captain of the Ringers, Samuel Hector.' 'This is a very welcome innovation,' writes Mr. T. G. Hawkins, of Slough,
'and I wonder if it would be possible to inform the B.B.C. that it is appreciated.'

Mr. A. R. Botting, who rang in the peal of Doubles at Parramatta, N.S.W., on April 24th, 1950, rang his last peal 39 years ago at St.
Michael and All Angels', Betchworth, Surrey, being Holt's Ten-part Grandsire Triples, which he conducted. Also in the same peal was Mr.
James Smith, who rang his last peal 40 years ago, being a peal of Minor.

When Miss Eileen Maisey, a bellringer at St. Michael's, Bray, Berks, married Mr. Robert Mills, of Lake Vyrnwy, North Wales, at Windsor Parish Church on April 15th, her friends from Bray tower rang for her and formed an archway of handbells as she left the church.
The bride and bridegroom met through a pen-friendship. At the ceremony Miss Maisey wore ivory figured satin, a headdress of orange blossom, and carried dark roses. She and her husband will live at Lake Vyrnwy.

THE LANCASHIRE ASSOCIATION

PEAL BOOKING FEE ACCEPTED.

THE Association held its 72nd annual meeting at Lancaster on April 29th. The day opened with a peal of Double Norwich Court Bob Major at St. Margaret's Church in the lovely village of Hornby, where a ring of eight is installed in an octagonal tower.

General ringing commenced at 2 p.m. at Priory Church, eight bells (tenor 35 cwt.) and the R.C. Cathedral, ten bells (tenor 25 cwt.). Various methods were rung by a good muster of ringers, which was, however, not as large as it would have been had the weather been good. As it was the methods ranged from Plain Bob to London Surprise.

The service was held at the Priory Church and was conducted by the Rev. A. F. Clark. The president of the Association, the Rev. F. F. Rigby, read the lessons, and the Bishop of Lancaster, the Rt. Rev. Benj. Pollard, preached the sermon. The service was very well attended by approximately 200 members and a very pleasing feature was the large number of younger members.

An excellent muster sat down to tea, which had been arranged at the Priory Club. Mr. Wood, a well-known local ringer, organised the function and also the arrangements for the meeting. The Bishop stayed to tea and his jovial presence contributed in no small measure to the pleasant way in which the proceedings went off. The Rev. F. F. Rigby thanked the Bishop and all concerned in making the meeting possible and the Bishop suitably responded.

THE BUSINESS MEETING.

The Rev. F. F. Rigby was in the chair for the business meeting, supported by Mr. W. H. Shaker (secretary), Mr. F. Dunkerley (ringing secretary) and Mr. A. E. Sandeford (treasurer).

The President asked the members to stand as a token of respect to the 19 members who had died during the year, amongst them being such well-known ringers as John Potter, Benj. Thorpe and W. Taylor.

The secretary reported that there were 73 honorary life members, 409 non-resident members and 865 ringing members. The new ring of ten at Blackburn and eights at Bilsborrow and Ormskirk were completed, but the Liverpool Cathedral bells and the new eight at Walton were not ready.

The ringing secretary reported that the year had been a record one for the Association in so far as peals rung, which totalled 162, ranging from Doubles to London Surprise Major and Rochester Surprise Royal. Twenty-nine members rang their first peal, three their first as conductor.

Mr. A. Tomlinson rang his 400th peal for the Association, Mr. J. Ridyard his 200th peal and Messrs. H. Davenport and F. Varty their 150th peal for the Association. Mr. J. Hall (Miles Platting), Mr. Thomas Metcalfe (Dalton-in-Furness) and Mr. Miller have given 50 years in the service of ringing. Canon Wilson had been Vicar of Great Harwood for 50 years.

OLDEST MEMBER.

Mr. John Holme was introduced to the members as the oldest ringer in the county, having been a bellringer for 70 years.

The members were informed that the annual reports from the reconstitution in 1879 to 1948 had been made up into bound volumes, having been collected by Mr. A. Tomlinson, and an old copy of 'The Church Bells of Lancashire' been given by Mr. P. Crook. The ringing secretary thanked Mr. Arthur Tomlinson and Mr. Stephen L. Parry for the assistance given him in compiling the report.

The treasurer produced the balance sheet and during the discussion which followed it was decided that, owing to the state of the Association's finances, some emergency measure would have to be taken. Suggestions ranged from cutting down the annual report to halving the representatives on the committee, but it was decided that this be left in the hands of the committee.

A proposal that a peal booking fee of 6d. per rope be charged and the proceeds go to the Association funds was carried unanimously. The ringing secretary was instructed to advise all conductors that they were responsible for forwarding to the treasurer the moneys due from successful peals.

In the election of officers, Mr. J. Leatherbarrow was elected vice-president. Mr. J. Burns was elected auditor. The next annual meeting will be held in the Fylde branch, and after some discussion about bringing it forward earlier than April, the matter was left in abeyance and in the hands of the committee and the Fylde ringers.

The meeting closed with an expression of thanks for by the president to all who had contributed to making this annual meeting a success, and Mr. Wood replied on behalf of the ringing fraternity in the Lancaster Branch, stating that anything they had done had been done willingly and had given them a great deal of pleasure.

Dedications

ASTON INGHAM, HEREFORDSHIRE.

Two new trebles have been added to make a ring of six at Aston Ingham, near Ross-on-Wye. The first bell is to the memory of the Rev. C. L. Whatley, who was Rector from 1914-1945, and the second is in memory of the fallen in the World War 1939-45.

The tenor, weighing 5 cwt. 1 qr. 17 lb., is a pre-Reformation bell inscribed 'Saneta Margareta Ora Pro Nobis.' The third and fifth are Rudhall bells dated 1828 and 1740 respectively.

The hallowing of the restored bells and the dedication of the two new bells took place on April 28th, the ceremony being performed by the Bishop of Hereford. Assisting in the service was the Rector (Rev. H. L. Whatley), and the ropes were presented to the Bishop by Mr. T. E. Aubrey on behalf of the churchwardens. Following the dedication rounds were rung by ringers of the Ross District of the Hereford Diocesan Guild.

The contract, which included new fittings and framework, was carried out by Messrs. Gillett and Johnston, of Croydon.

MUCH HADHAM, HERTS.

Much Hadham bells were dedicated by the Bishop of Bedford on April 22nd. The Bishop was escorted to the belfry by the Rector (the Rev. H. Thomas), the former Rector (the Rev. H. B. Tower) and churchwardens. After the dedication rounds were rung by eight of the local company. The old six have been restored and two trebles added and all hung on ball bearings in a new oak frame by Messrs. Mears and Stainbank.

After the service the bells were set going by ringers from neighbouring towers. The Hertford County Association was represented by the secretary, Mr. W. Ayre, and many ringers were present.

The new bells are part of the church's war memorial. The two oldest bells are dated 1595. The opinion of all present was that they are a very nice eight, and despite the long draught the 'go' is very good.

F. G. S.

LYMINSTER, SUSSEX.

The dedication of Lyminster's recast tenor and restored roof took place at morning service on Sunday, April 30th, by the Archdeacon of Chichester, the Ven. Lancelot Mason. The new bell bears the following inscription: 'Recast 1950 in memory of Stephen P. Duval, DD., O.B.E., Vicar 1924-1947.' A quarter peal of Grandsire Doubles preceded the service.

Guild of Clerical Ringers

THE CHESTER WEEK.

As noted in 'The Ringing World' recently, the Guild of Clerical Ringers visited Chester for its annual ringing week this year. Those present were the Revs. C. C. Cox (president), Canon R. F. Wilkinson (vice-president), J. H. B. Andrews, E. W. Blyth, D. L. Board, W. G. Bridge, K. C. Davis, F. L. Edwards, K. W. H. Felstead, T. P. Hearn, J. Kingdon, F. A. Oswald, R. H. Palmer, I. J. Richards, A. S. Roberts, D. P. Roberts, B. F. Sheppard, R. D. St. J. Smith and A. G. G. Thurlow.

The absence of the hon. secretary, Preb. E. V. Cox, owing to prolonged illness, was regretted by all, especially after all his work of organising the week. The Rev. J. H. B. Andrews proved a very efficient deputy. Everything went without a hitch.

The week was most successful from the very beginning, and a happy omen of this came the very first night when we learned at dinner at the headquarters, the Queen Hotel, that Mr. Thurlow had purchased a book on ringing from another member! How are the mighty fallen! So much so that investigation revealed that after that he never attempted to sell one of his own.

After dinner we visited our first tower, St. Mary's-without-the-Walls, before returning to plan the peal attempts during the week.

Tuesday started with the annual corporate Communion at St. Barnabas' Church. The day was spent in the Wirral district—Shotwick (6) with a touch of London Minor, Neston (8) where Mr. Thurlow did not recognise the Double Norwich touch, Bebbington (8), Bromborough (8), Eastham (6) and, after dinner, Eccleston (8), the best bells of the day despite the notice in the belfry on arrival, 'Dangerous, bells are up.'

Before the coach had gone very far on Wednesday it was realised that an important member had been left behind! Pulford (8) was the destination for eight members, who rang a long touch of Bob Major before the bells ran round perfectly after nearly an hour's ringing. Consultations decided that this could not be called a peal! The remainder of the party spent the morning at Duddleston (6), but the best ringing of the day was at Gresford (8) and Wrexham (10). Tea at Wrexham, during which reporters of the local paper recorded with awe the prowess of the eight in ringing for a whole hour without stopping and the fact that we hoped to ring for three solid hours the following day. Mr. E. H. Lewis, president of the Central Council, joined the party in the evening in the belfry of Chester Cathedral.

Goodbye was said to several members on Thursday. At Northop (8) a successful peal of Bob Major was conducted by the president while the remainder of the party rang at Halkyn (6). Lunch was followed by a ring on the light six at Mold, a visit to St. Demetrius' Library, Hawarden (founded by Gladstone), and tea with the warden. Ringing in the church preceded evensong.

That evening the annual meeting was held, at which the officials were re-elected and a proposal to make Wells the centre for next year's week (if possible) adopted.

Numbers were reduced to nine on Friday, when there was ringing at Tarporley (8), Waverton (6), Christleton (a light 8) and after dinner St. Mary's-within-the-Walls (8). Thanks are due to all who helped in various ways.

SOUTHAMPTON.—At St. Mary's on April 23rd, 1,260 Grandsire Triples: D. C. Williams (cond.) 1, M. J. Butler 2, Miss C. Nicolas 3, Miss J. Cox 4, Miss E. Arthur 5, E. J. Smith 6, C. Perry 7, W. Glasspool 8.

STANMORE, MIDDLESEX.—On April 15th, 1,280 Oxford Treble Bob: E. J. Leversuch 1, D. Cattell (first in method) 2, F. Cattell 3, A. Wenban 4, W. Wenban 5, T. Clark 6, J. Rootes 7, W. J. Nudds (cond.) 8.

HERTFORD COUNTY ASSOCIATION

ANNUAL MEETING AT HITCHIN.

THIS year, the northern part of the county was visited on the occasion of the annual meeting, with Hitchin as the central part. The bells of Norton, Great Wymondley and St. Ippolyts were available and well used, as were the eight at Hitchin—a variety of methods to suit all tastes being rung.

In addition, one party had obtained permission to use the lovely ring of six at Stotfold, just over the border, earlier in the day. The well-attended service was conducted by the Vicar of Hitchin (Canon Kemp), who extended a cordial welcome to all, and gave 'food for thought' in his short address.

Tea and business meeting followed at The Angel. The president, Mr. A. V. Good (Apsley) expressed his thanks for the welcome extended to him when he had attended the various meetings in the districts. Continuing, he said how gratifying it was to see more young ringers about, but urged the older ones to make more efforts to obtain many more, though it meant sacrifices on their part.

Members stood in silence in memory of those who had passed on to higher service.

The treasurer (Mr. G. E. Debenham), in his report, explained that more funds were necessary to keep the Association in a sound position. The Voluntary Bell Fund and the Benevolent Fund had received no applications for grants during the past year. The reports were adopted.

In his report the secretary emphasised the remarks made by the president about the necessity of obtaining new recruits to the Exercise and went on to regret the silence of many church bells on a Sunday evening, either through lack of ringers or enthusiasm, as, after all, their main purpose is to call people to worship. It was everyone's duty, both individually and collectively, to try and alter that state of affairs.

Congratulations were offered to the Northern District, which had had its most successful year, mainly through a small group of enthusiasts. The Eastern District, too, seems to be on the upward trend, but the secretary asked why it had to depend on one or two keen people to stir up an area. He was perturbed at the tendency to rely on one good conductor to organise and call the peals. Was it slackness on the part of others, lack of knowledge, ability or opportunity?

19 PEAL CONDUCTORS.

But when he came to the peal list, a little relief was apparent, for out of the 56 peals rung, there were 19 conductors, some new names appearing. The outstanding conductor was Mr. H. G. Cashmore, with 15 peals to his credit. His brilliance and ability could not be over praised. A peal in eight Spliced Surprise Major methods had appeared in their lists for the first time. Several outstanding peals were mentioned, with the youthful Roy Webb, of Norton, being particularly singled out.

Regarding restoration in the county, Much Hadham bells had been rehung in a new oak frame and augmented to eight. The order for recasting the old six at Stevenage into eight, together with rehanging, had been placed. St. Mary's, Hemel Hempstead, were to be rehung at least.

Members lost to higher service were Canon Greig, Royston; Herbert Else, Hitchin; Charles Henley, Apsley; Leonard Turner, St. Albans; Thomas Seymour, St. Albans; Canon Coleridge and Mr. C. F. Johnston.

The district secretaries' reports were read, and the secretary thanked them for their unfailing energy, keenness and patience. Those who so loyally supported them by turning up at district meetings were heartily thanked.

Mr. Ayre expressed a real heartfelt regret that Mr. G. E. Debenham had come to the decision that he must give up being the treasurer. His kindly thoughts, words and actions, his sincerity and his work for the Association had maintained the true Debenham tradition; and for all that was felt, he (the secretary) personally said, 'Thank you.'

The report was adopted.

ELECTION OF OFFICERS.

Mr. R. G. Bell (Watford) was elected president for the ensuing year and was suitably installed by the retiring president. Mr. Bell said that he considered it a real privilege to serve the Association in that capacity.

Mr. G. W. Debenham was appointed treasurer in place of his brother. The retiring treasurer was heartily thanked for his services. He thanked the members for their remarks, explaining why he had taken that step, but rejoicing that the name and office were being maintained.

The general secretary (Mr. W. Ayre) was re-elected. Mr. W. C. Hughes was elected assistant secretary and Mr. C. F. Sayer librarian.

Rule 2 was amended so that from December 31st next the annual subscription shall be raised to a minimum of 2s. 6d. per annum. Rule 10 was also amended so that from December 31st, 1950, the peal booking fee shall be 3d. per bell.

The next annual meeting was fixed to be held at St. Albans, the probable date being March 31st.

Mr. G. F. Carter thanked the retiring president for his kindness and courtesy throughout the past year. It was regretted that Mr. G. W. Cartmel could not be present owing to having a chill.

The secretary proposed a very hearty vote of thanks to the Vicar of Hitchin, the incumbents of the several churches, to Mr. A. E. Symonds and the Hitchin company, and all who had made the meeting such a success.

CENTRAL COUNCIL LIBRARY

Dear Sir,—If those ringers who so considerably postponed their requests for loans from the Central Council Library last autumn would care to let me know their wants before May 26th, I can now send out books.

May I remind members of the Exercise of conditions for loans?

The borrower is asked to pay postage both ways, to take the greatest care of books, and to refrain from lending. Return within one month is desirable, but the period can be extended on request. The loan of certain MSS. and rarer books is normally confined to bona-fide research workers.—Yours faithfully,

W. H. J. HOOTON, Hon. Librarian.

Derbyshire Association

INCREASE OF 52 IN MEMBERSHIP.

About 80 members attended the annual general meeting of the Association at Derby on April 16th. The bells of the Cathedral and St. Peter's were available, and a short service was held in the Cathedral, at which the president, the Right Rev. R. S. M. O'Ferrall, officiated. Tea was served in St. Peter's Hall, followed by the general meeting. Mr. Jack Bailey was re-elected vice-chairman, Mr. E. Fletcher treasurer in place of Mr. W. Steen, retired, and Mr. F. George appointed trustee in place of Mr. W. Buxton, retired.

It was decided to increase the annual subscription to 2s. 6d., juniors up to the age of 18, 1s. 6d., and abolish the entrance fee.

The secretary was asked to send a letter of condolence to the Vicar of Melbourne, the Rev. J. Morris, who was unable to attend on account of illness, with the hope he would soon be restored to health.

The secretary (Mr. W. Lancaster) presented the annual report and financial statement, which were adopted. Good meetings were held during the year in both Derby and Peak districts; in Chesterfield district the joint meetings with neighbouring associations were the best attended, but the meetings in Ilkeston district were not supported as they should have been, and an effort was to be made to remedy this in the future.

Membership increased by 52, but it was pointed out that several members were in danger of lapsing, and it was felt that this could be avoided if tower secretaries would collect subscriptions and remit to the district secretaries. Forty-one peals were rung during the year, an increase of one on the previous year. First pealers numbered 14, whilst as many as 87 rang their first in the method, and seven as first in method as conductor.

During the year grants of £5 each were made to the restoration funds of Bolsover, St. Luke's, Derby, and Fairfield (Buxton).

The best thanks of the Association were given to the retiring officers, the district secretaries, to the clergy for their co-operation in granting the use of the bells for meetings and peals, to the ringing masters and Mr. D. Carlisle, peal secretary, and finally to the lady workers for arranging teas and giving their help and support whenever called upon.

After the meeting ringing continued at both towers until 9 p.m. The standard of the methods rung and the striking at St. Peter's was particularly good throughout the day. One very pleasing feature was the number of young ringers present.

PETERBOROUGH DIOCESAN GUILD WELLINGBOROUGH BRANCH.

A special interest attached to the Wellingborough Branch meeting at Mears Ashby on April 22nd was the fact that the Rector (the Rev. R. H. Robinson, D.D.) is a son of the late Rev. W. J. Robinson, whose record is unsurpassed by any other clerical ringer. At the meeting Mr. J. R. Main (Finedon) and Mr. A. Tyler (Irthlingborough) recalled ringing 50 years or more ago with the Rector's father.

The service was conducted by the Rector, who also gave the address. A collection for the Bell Restoration Fund amounted to £1 5s. 9d.

The Rev. J. C. R. Creagh Coen (Wollaston), branch president, was in the chair for the business meeting. Members stood in silence to the memory of Mr. F. Letts (Wollaston).

New members elected were Miss June Abbott (Mears Ashby), Michael King and Colin Riley (Wilby). First peal certificates were presented to Brian Mabbutt (Mears Ashby) and J. L. Le Marquand (Irthlingborough). Mr. J. R. Main (Finedon) moved a vote of thanks to all who had helped to make the meeting a great success.

The Rector, in reply, paid a tribute to the fine band of church workers who had provided tea, and expressed the hope that the Guild would soon visit Mears Ashby again.

Mr. G. W. Steere

AN APPRECIATION.

The many friends of George William Steere will have heard of his passing with extreme regret. It was about 1911 that George commenced ringing, and from then until the end of 1926 he did the majority of his ringing with the Guildford District of the Winchester Diocesan Guild. During this period he took part in many peals with his friend, Alfred Pulling, chiefly at the Church of the Holy Trinity, Guildford. These included the first peals of Double Dublin Surprise Major and also that of Spliced Surprise in four methods ever rung.

At the beginning of 1927 he took up an appointment with the Customs and Excise Department in Moorgate, and from that time became a regular member of the St. Martin's-in-the-Fields Society, which is also the headquarters of the Society of Royal Cumberland Youths. Subsequently he took part in nearly all the peals rung by the S.R.C.Y. at the Churches of St. Martin's-in-the-Fields and at St. Leonard's, Shoreditch, amongst which were the Society's first peals of Cambridge Surprise Royal and Maximus. During the whole of the period from 1927 to the time of his admission to hospital in April this year he rang regularly at St. Martin's-in-the-Fields, and also up to the time of the ban at St. Leonard's, Shoreditch.

Among other peals of note in which he took part were the first name peals of London at Gravesend and Bristol at St. George-in-the-Borough; at this latter church he also rang in the first peal of London by a band of civil servants.

As a peal ringer George seldom made a mistake, was an excellent striker and most useful at the back end. It was not, however, as a peal ringer that he will be best remembered, but as an official of the Society of Royal Cumberland Youths. In 1928 he was appointed treasurer of that Society, and upon the death of George Card in 1936 he took over the duties as secretary. Later in 1939 he filled the dual office of secretary and treasurer and held this position until January of this year. At the annual meeting of the Cumberlands in January he resigned from his position as secretary, but continued with his duties as treasurer. For some years past he had also been a Central Council representative for the Cumberlands, and also filled the position of hon. auditor for the Surrey Association.

In addition to his interest in ringing, George was a prominent Freemason and took part in several of the first peals in different methods by members of the craft.

Our sympathy will go out to his widow and two children (one of whom, Pamela, is a ringer) in their great loss.

A fine ringer, a sincere friend, painstaking in whatever duties he undertook, he will long be remembered and his place will be hard to fill.
G. H. C.

OBITUARY

MR. WALTER WALLACE.

By the death of Mr. Walter Wallace, Derby has lost one of its oldest members, who was one of the band that rang in the first double-handed handbell peal in this town. This was followed shortly after by the famous 'Original,' which he himself called from an 'inside' pair. As far as the writer knows, he rang about 100 peals altogether, a good many of these 'in hand,' in various plain methods ranging from Bob Triples to Grandsire Caters.

On tower bells he rang Stedman, Double Norwich, Cambridge and Superlative. A big, robust man of commanding physique, he was a fine heavy bell ringer and a safe conductor. The sympathy of all the older generation of the now defunct Midland Counties Association will be extended to his widow and family in their bereavement.

TOWER CORNER (10)

'DEVELOPMENT OF BELL CONTROL'

Dear Learners, — Last time our instructor, Tom Truettouch, was about to give us, you may remember, our first exercises in the development of bell control, having warned us that being just able to raise, set and lower a bell does not make us good strikers; for that is an art to be acquired by patient perseverance.

'The first exercise for this,' Tom continues, 'is setting the bell at sally, to order. Then follows a similar exercise, setting at back. In a third exercise you are required to set either at hand or at back, according to when the order to "stand" is actually given, your bell coming to rest just two strokes afterwards.'

So begins exercise 16, with Tom and his assistant Mary watching two pupils each, on the four silenced bells; and with Tom calling 'Stand' at two or three whole-pull intervals, so that the pupils set at hand.

Exercise 17 follows similarly, but with the calls timed for setting at back-stroke.

The pupil should now be ready to act correctly on calls coming for either hand or back-stroke setting, as the instructor may require; and exercise 18 continues until this is assured.

'Next,' says Tom, 'comes the whole-pull-and-stand exercise. First from hand to hand. Then from back to back. It surprises me,' he goes on, 'that oftentimes beginners are somehow expected to muddle through their first bits of change ringing without ever having been put through exercises of this kind; still less, exercises in beat or stroke variation. This whole course of instruction is designed, as the result of experience, to introduce the pupil to the successive stages of the art in a natural and logical fashion. He must be able to control his bell before he starts change ringing. How many beginners (and others for that matter!) fail to set up when the conductor calls "Stand"? And if they have not that elementary degree of bell-control, how can they possibly strike properly in changes? So don't expect,' Tom emphasises, looking round at each one of us, 'don't expect me to allow any of you to try to run before you can walk. In point of fact, our system of training will get you "running" (change ringing with precision and confidence) long before those taught with less care can reach that stage, and even, almost, before you realise it!'

So now follows exercise 19, pulling off from hand and setting at next hand position. (Repeated.)

Then exercise 20, pulling off from back and setting at next back position. (Repeated.)

'The next exercise,' continues Tom, 'will show more clearly what I meant just now. Mary will take the treble and I will take the 3rd. One pupil will take the second and follow Mary, and another will take the 4th and follow me. As the bells are silent we shall not disturb neighbours, with what might otherwise sound annoyingly. If you can do this exercise well you will have no trouble with bell control. No word will be spoken. You will take your rope and watch intently. As we begin to pull off, so will you. And as your "lead-bell" sets at hand or back, so will you. It's very difficult at first, but don't be discouraged. Even experienced ringers have been caught out by this exercise. The secret is to pull just sufficiently at each stroke to send the bell up to its balance point—no more—so that if your lead-bell pauses, so can you; but if it doesn't, check yours and follow away. If your bell drops, or if you get in front of your lead-bell, your bell is NOT under control. It's one of the best exercises for its purpose, but it requires the use of all the fine points of ringing action that we've taught you in earlier exercises.'

Then follows exercise 21, ring and set, to visual sequence only.

'Next comes the rhythm exercise. This,' says Tom, 'can only partially achieve its object—sometimes playfully called "earsight"—because the bells are silenced. But it is a useful preliminary to the "dodging exercise" which follows it. The effect to note is the gap after the back-stroke, producing what we have called the "open hand-stroke." For this exercise Mary will take the treble, I will take the 2nd, and each pupil, in turn, will take the 3rd. This is the bell which, you may remember, we said was preferable for teaching ringing action, and on this same bell you will shortly find yourself automatically slipping into the beginnings of change ringing.'

'We are going to ring rounds, silent, on three bells, then. In following the second you will notice how the bell rises a little more at sally, to give a pause after what is the back-stroke pull, thus providing the "open hand-stroke."'

Accordingly, in exercise 22, as we ring No. 3 we note that to follow Tom properly we have to 'hold up' a little at hand and 'cut' a little at back. After a while we get the rhythm of it and feel we could almost do it without watching the preceding rope. Why, yes! Of course! We could do this indeed, if only we could hear the stroke of the bell. So that's what Tom meant by 'ear-sight'.

'Watch it, now,' calls Tom, bringing our attention back on the job, 'closer at back-stroke! Then, after a few more strokes, "Stand!"—and we set up and tie off.'

'In the last exercise of this lesson,' says Tom, 'I shall call "Dodge!" or "Double dodge!" or "Triple dodge!" adding the words either "At hand" or "At back." As you will be ringing the 3rd in rounds on three you can only dodge with the 2nd, which I shall be ringing. To make these dodges you "cut" (either at hand or at back according to the order given) and thus find yourself pulling after the bell I was following—the treble. At the next stroke, either back or hand as the case may be, you "hold up" over the bell following you—the 2nd now—and thus strike back into your old third place again. That is a single dodge. If the order is "Double dodge!" you will do that twice. If it is "Triple dodge!" you will do it thrice. Now stand to for exercise 23.'

So it proceeds, with Tom calling out at intervals the various dodgings he requires. Mary maintains a steady pull on her treble, and we watch and follow with care, first Tom's rope then hers, as our dodging proceeds. So we find ourselves 'changing place' with the bell next to us.

'Yes,' says Tom, 'you've actually started change ringing. Though, of course, it's only a very simple form of it. Next lesson will see us on the "open" (sounding) bells, and learning the beginnings of the art of striking.'

'Before we disperse from this practice, I want to draw attention to what too often happens in the teaching of beginners. You will remember that one of our number, Sim Slackpull, did not give his undivided attention to the job. We instructors have to give ours, or we should fail. Sim failed to pass the Beginner's pass-out test. He, therefore, needed more than any of you to concentrate and catch up. But what has happened? He's not been since and has sent no message. Very well, we can waste no time on those who cannot give us their full attention in return. It wouldn't be fair to the rest of you.' So that's the last of Sim as a ringer!—Yours ever,

CORN. R. STONE.

NEWPORT PAGNELL, BUCKS.—On April 23rd. 1.260 Grandsire Triples: G. Stratton (first away from tenor) 1, E. Lathall 2, R. Abraham 3, H. Beard (cond.) 4, R. Evans 5, R. Howson 6, R. Hall 7, F. C. Wilson (first quarter) 8. For St. George's Day and farewell to ringer of tenor, who is leaving to join R.A.F.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

FESTIVAL OF BRITAIN

Dear Sir,—My thoughts have turned during the last few weeks to what could be done by bellringers during the Festival of Britain, 1951, and I would have liked more time for discussion at the annual meeting of the Middlesex Association when the matter was brought up. I was pleased to read Dr. Hatcher's letter as to what was decided at a recent committee meeting of his association, and I shall await the outcome of the notice of motion.

At the annual meeting referred to I confined my suggestions to the closer area of the festival where I would wish to know that during the period of the exhibition every bell would be rung in every church for every one of the usual services. My other main remark was that we ringers in and around London should extend an invitation to our fellow-ringers or otherwise assist any of those who would like to visit the festival, and at the same time arrange for them to ring in our local towers. Owing to the lateness of the hour at the annual meeting the proposition was that the matter be dealt with by the Central Committee of the Association, but, doubtless, the committee will not now consider this matter in any case until after Whitsun.

London will be full of visitors from all parts of the world, and ringers should be their witness.—Yours faithfully, T. J. LOCK.
North Mimms.

A COMMITTEE'S FUNCTION

Dear Sir,—Mr. Semmens' letter in 'The Ringing World' suggesting that Mr. York-Bramble was 'out of order' in replying to the Methods Committee's statement about 'Steadfast' and that criticism of the M.C.'s views should only be made to a meeting of the Central Council prompts me to point out that:—

(1) The Exercise is governed, voluntarily, by the Central Council, which is, therefore, the appropriate body to decide questions of originality in method composition.

(2) The Methods Committee exists to collect and examine all relevant material and advise the Central Council.

It would, therefore, seem that it is the Methods Committee rather than Mr. York-Bramble which is 'out of order' in publishing what purports to be a binding decision when in fact its terms of reference do not entitle it to do any such thing. In any case, I think it is the duty of 'The Ringing World' to publish not only the decisions of the Central Council, but also the arguments for and against those decisions.

Finally, might I suggest that, as the Shipway-Steadfast controversy has now occupied a total space equivalent to about three pages of 'The Ringing World,' the various views have been sufficiently publicised and the matter should now be left to the Central Council to settle at Whitsun.—Yours faithfully, BANSTEAD, SURREY. DENIS N. LAYTON.

PETERBOROUGH CATHEDRAL BELLS

Dear Sir,—Re statement on front page of 'The Ringing World' of April 21st of heaviest tenor of a ring of five bells, the tenor at Peterborough Cathedral is 56½ inches in diameter and is reputed to be over 30 cwt., as indeed it should be. It was cast in 1709 by Henry Penn, of Peterborough.

I doubt if it is possible to get its correct weight. The condition of the bells is reported to be fair, but the reason they are not rung is as you state. They were a ring of ten until 1831, when the front five were sold, tradition says to Mr. Dobson, a bell founder of Dereham, Norfolk, who installed them in the church of Witham-on-the-Hill, Lincs, after recasting them into six.—Yours, etc.,

WILLIAM BANISTER'S BOOK

Dear Sir,—This Sunday afternoon I am perusing some 'Ringing Worlds' kindly given me by a ringing companion, and have come across a letter signed by Alfred Grove in a copy dated April 1st, 1949, referring to the Banister family.

No mention in that letter is made of William Banister, and as I have not any previous copies I could not refer to them. But what I want to point out is that there was an excellent work on ringing by that noted ringer. This is on the fly leaf: The Art and Science of Change Ringing, by William Banister, of Her Majesty's Dockyard, Devonport (late of Woolwich), member of the Ancient Society of College Youths, London, 'Exeter.' Printed for the author by William Pollard, 1874.

Banister has recorded all the Ancient Society of College Youths' peals from the year 1724 to 1873. The Woolwich peals are recorded: 5,376 Superlative Surprise, 3 hrs. 15 mins.; 5,600 London Surprise, 3 hrs. 27 mins., both 1849. In 1852 the famous Grandsire peal (famous I presume, because it was rung in 2 hrs. 53 mins.). The peal of Stedman in 1861 is not recorded, so it was not a College Youth peal. In 1858, 5,088 Kent Treble Bob Major, 3 hrs., and 5,040 Grandsire Triples, 2 hrs. 57 mins. 1860, Kent Treble Bob Major, 5,004, 2 hrs. 56 mins.; Stedman Triples, 5,040, 2 hrs. 50 mins. He also records: 1867, 5,040 Grandsire Triples, and another in 1868 at the Royal Dockyard Chapel, Devonport.

This book was given to me by my grandfather when I commenced ringing in 1886. It contains four Surprise Minor methods, Imperial, Cambridge, Superlative and London, and almost everything from Doubles to Maximus. From it I learned the conducting of Holt's Original and the science of composition, proving and conducting.

I regret I did not come across Mr. Alfred Grove's letter earlier, and I do not suppose that Banister's Treatise is heard of to-day. I am very glad I brought it out to Australia with me. I have never lost touch with ringing. I left Betchworth, Surrey, April 22nd, 1912. I did not ring when Mr. Pink and company were here owing to a bad attack of fibrositis in my back, but am back at it again.

On Easter Monday, a peal was attempted at All Saints', Parramatta. Owing to bad going of tenor it was abandoned after 186 extents of Doubles. A wedding at 4 p.m. and St. Mary's, Srdney, in the evening, Grandsire Triples and Bob Major. I rang at all times. Not bad for 73 years.—Yours sincerely,

A. R. BOTTING.

LARGEST PARISH CHURCH

Dear Sir,—For some time now I have understood that St. Botolph's Church, Boston, Lincs, is the largest Parish Church in England, but it is a subject on which there seems to be much divergence of opinion.

I should be grateful if any reader of 'The Ringing World' could inform me which really is England's largest parish church, with, if possible, approximate dimensions.—Yours sincerely, R. S. HUNT.

Mapledurham, Oxon.

PEAL CORRECTIONS

Dear Sir,—I conducted the peal of Grandsire Triples rung at St. Mary's Church, Barwell, Leicester, on February 11th, 1950.

It was printed in 'The Ringing World' as rung for the Leicester Diocesan Guild. I wish to have it withdrawn from that Guild and have it recorded for the Midland Counties Guild as it was intended for. The composition was Groves' Variation of Parker's and not Morris'. Also the time of the peal was 2 hrs. 42 mins. and not as printed.—Yours truly, ALAN H. HOUGH.

Barwell.

'Church Bells of Britain'

Sir,—In your leading article of April 21st you quote Mr. R. H. Dove's new work on the above subject as stating that the Cathedral Church of St. Germain at Peel, Isle of Man, has a ring of eight bells.

In point of fact, the Cathedral Church at Peel, situated among a miscellaneous group of buildings generally known as Peel Castle on St. Patrick's Isle just off the entrance to Peel Harbour, has been in ruins since the mid-eighteenth century and never possessed more than one bell, some broken fragments of which are still preserved in the building usually referred to as the Castle Keep. The eight bells, now unringable, are hung in the tower of the Parish Church of St. Germain (or German), Peel, erected in 1884.

The Pro-Cathedral of the Diocese of Sodor and Man is the Chapel of the Bishop's residence at Bishopscourt, Kirk Michael, and has one small bell hung in a turret on top of the tower.

There have, from time to time, been schemes to reconstruct St. Germain's Cathedral on St. Patrick's Isle at Peel, but so far nothing has matured, which may be all to the good, as this building and the ruined Church of St. Patrick on the same isle are of the greatest historic and archaeological interest, associated as they are with both Celtic and Scandinavian times, but Mr. Dove may be assured that this ruined building is still the official Cathedral of the Diocese.—Yours faithfully, Harborne, Birmingham. W. E. BOX.

P.S.—In pre-war days it was the custom to hold one service each year in the Cathedral ruins, and I remember attending the one held in 1939, which, I understand, although standing open to correction, was the last one.—W. E. B.

TUNE RINGING

Dear Sir,—In his letter re tune ringing, the Rev. J. M. Turner tells us that he could not discover any book on this subject, even after much searching. I have in my possession a book written by C. W. Fletcher, of the Royal Criterion Handbell Ringers, published by J. Curwen and Sons, music printers.

It is not dated, but I am almost certain that it would be in the '90's of last century. The contents comprise six chapters of instruction for ringing up to 109 bells, followed by six pieces of music for practice.

These are given in ordinary musical notation, tonic solfa, and in figures. Mention is made of a table 13ft. long with half a dozen pairs of blankets on it (a tall order for 1950!). The book concludes with a course each of Stedman Doubles and Triples. Probably this book is long out of print, else Mr. Turner would have discovered it.—Yours, etc.,

Stockport. PETER LAFLIN.

MR. PETER N. BOND LEAVING LONDON

Dear Sir,—I should like, on my departure from London, to express my thanks and good wishes through the columns of our journal to my many ringing friends in the London area. I have very many happy memories of visits to numerous towers and the friendly reception accorded to me—also excellent tuition in advanced methods by the Bushey band—and would like to thank those who have kindly allowed me to stand in peal attempts.

With best wishes to all, particularly to the Society of Royal Cumberland Youths.—I am, Yours sincerely, PETER N. BOND.
Bosham, near Chichester, Sussex.

FIRST PEAL AT SUTTON VENY

Dear Sir,—Re the peal at Sutton Veny, Wiltshire, published in 'The Ringing World' of April 14th, footnote, 'Believed to be the first peal on the bells,' the first peal on these bells was rung on June 2nd, 1929—Bob Minor, conducted by Yours truly, Melksham. C. F. ANDREWS.

Letters (continued)

CONTROVERSY A HEALTHY SIGN

Dear Sir,—We may well remember that controversy is not a bad thing, providing our sense of proportion and humour be maintained.

Libra, once again attacking anonymously, pays, nevertheless, an unconscious tribute to the protagonist of Steadfast when he attributes to him a 'nuisance value.' The history of human achievement reminds us that progress is aided rather than hindered by critical reaction, which is, of course, a symptom of vitality.

Not so very long ago in these pages appeared a plaint that discussions on the theoretical aspects of our art seemed moribund. From the attitude of your two correspondents on this subject last week it might be inferred that they 'couldn't care less.'

But heaven forbid that our official journal should abandon its laudable policy of impartiality!—Yours faithfully,

CORN. R. STONE.

MR. T. BARNETT, OF STAUNTON

Dear Sir,—I was very pleased to see the quarter peal at Staunton, Glos. in honour of the 99th birthday of Mr. T. Barnett, a former ringer (and churchwarden) there, and perhaps I may be allowed to congratulate the two of his three granddaughters who took part on their first quarter.

The old gentleman is, I have recently discovered, a distant relation of mine, his father (my great-great-grandfather), who with his five sons formed the band at Staunton at the time, having taught my own grandfather to ring there more than 70 years ago. Mr. Barnett himself is, I understand, in good health, and it is to be hoped he will be spared to reach his century and beyond.—Yours faithfully,

Crayford, Kent. E. A. BARNETT.

A DUPLICATED NAME

Dear Sir,—I wish to make a correction to the peal report published in your issue of March 3rd recording a peal in 14 Surprise Major methods, as I now find that the method we rang as Blackburn is actually named Cranbourne in A. J. Corrigan's collection.—Yours faithfully, Altrincham, Cheshire.

C. KENNETH LEWIS.

HONOUR DECLINED

Dear Sir,—Although Mr. C. Ernest Smith was kind enough to attribute to me the composition of Belgrave Surprise he called recently, I'm afraid there are many other claimants, among them John Reeves, John Cox and Ernest Pye. As these gentlemen were associated mainly with the 18th, 19th and 20th centuries respectively, we should perhaps wait until the 21st before attaching yet another composer's name!—Yours faithfully,

Crayford, Kent. E. A. BARNETT.

ALDRINGTON RINGERS' LONG SERVICE

On April 22nd, the ringers and their friends at St. Leonard's Church, Aldington, Sussex, celebrated the long service given by three of the band. Mr. G. A. Steele has completed 60 years, while Mr. E. G. Godley and Mr. A. J. Cherryman have completed 56 years each.

The Church Council, choir, sidesmen and ringers representing the neighbouring towers enjoyed a social evening and entertainment with the Aldington ringers in the Church Hall. During the evening the Rector, the Rev. H. T. Mogridge, presented plaques, commemorating the occasion, to the three veterans. These specially cast plaques were designed by a young member of the local band.

In the afternoon 1,260 Grandsire Doubles was rung in honour of the occasion by B. K. Turnbull 1, M. W. Brown 2, S. W. Brown 3, E. E. Trusler 4, H. W. Brown (conductor) 5, R. W. Beach 6. This was the first quarter peal by all and believed to be the first quarter peal on the bells.

Outings

ROCHDALE BRANCH.

Thanks are due to Mr. J. Taylor for his admirable arrangements for the Rochdale Branch's outing on April 15th by motor-coach to Ripon, York and Selby.

About 10.30 the party arrived at Ripon Cathedral and a happy hour was spent on the very good ring of ten.

Following a good lunch at York, the party had two privileges—a conducted tour of the Minster and an hour's use of the bells. The exceptionally long rope draught and the weight of the bells made some of the party feel strange, but they were soon at ease through the presence of some of the Minster ringers.

A tea of York ham at Selby made the party feel that they could ring the Abbey bells all night. Nevertheless, they were rather tired ringers who eventually left the coach at various points between Todmorden and Oldham. Apart from Mr. Taylor, thanks are due to local ringers who kindly arranged for the use of the bells and the meals at the places visited.

ST. MARY'S, OVER, CAMBS.

On April 17th, a party of about 30, consisting of past and present members of the Over band, together with friends and ringers from Cambridge and other small places, enjoyed another well-organised outing.

The coach left Cambridge at 7 a.m., picking up at Long Stanton, Swavesey and Over. Among the party was Mr. A. Ginn, for many years captain of the Over band. Arriving at Littleport, we were met by the Vicar, who pointed out interesting features of the church. We hardly did justice to the bells, for which we blamed either the early morning or the introduction of 'Summer Time.'

At Hilgay we were met by Mr. E. Mastin, who had everything ready for us, both there and at his own tower at Downham Market. With his help the ringing improved and we managed a course of Yorkshire. From Downham on to King's Lynn, where an excellent lunch was ready. At Fakenham, Mr. Cooke and two lady ringers awaited us. A lot of comments on Stedman had been going on during the journey, so much, in fact, that we made quite a good job of it.

The last stage of the outward journey saw us arriving at Norwich for tea, then on to St. Peter Mancroft, where with the encouragement of Mr. A. Bason and Mr. Nolan Golden, some of our eight-bell ringers put up quite a good show in a touch of Stedman Caters with the Norwich and Cambridge people. Leaving Norwich at about 9.30 p.m., we dropped the Cambridge contingent about 11.30 p.m. and all were safely home about 18 hours before the price of petrol went up. The thanks of all are expressed to the organiser, Mr. Mansfield Ginn. C. W. C.

A TOUR OF KENT.

On April 11th, a party of about a dozen ringers from several towers in the Hawkhurst district went by car on a day tour in Kent.

The first tower was High Halden, where several more ringers arrived by car and motor-cycle to make a party of just over 20. About an hour was spent at each tower, those visited in the morning being High Halden, Bethersden and Smarden, each having six bells.

After a picnic lunch, the party inadvertently split up during the break. Everybody, however, reassembled at Pluckley, and the ringing there was followed by more at Egerton, Lenham and Harrietsham, the last two being the day's only eight-bell towers.

Tea had been booked at Harrietsham, and the trip was then finished off by visiting Hollingbourne, East Sutton and Boughton Monchelsea, all six-bell towers. At the last tower Mr. Frank Wright, on behalf of the company, thanked Mr. Geoffrey Waters for organising the tour. Methods ranged from rounds to London Surprise Minor, and the bells from the very rough to the very smooth. M. S. C.

BOURNEMOUTH

THIS week our main news story is the Bournemouth Rally and coupled with it the first commemoration dinner to Mr. George Williams. And it was a distinguished top table that did honour to the memory of the Grand Old Man of the Winchester Diocesan Guild, with two bishops and the Mayor and Mayoress of Bournemouth and sufficient clergy almost to form a Cathedral chapter. Among the ringers were many of Mr. Williams' friends of bygone days and the close associate of his last years, Mr. George Pullinger, who has succeeded him as Master of the Guild. His family was represented by his nephew, who, as a young man, was a journalistic colleague in Sussex of the founder and first editor of 'The Ringing World,' Mr. J. S. Goldsmith.

The honour of being the first to propose the toast to the memory of Mr. George Williams fell to the Rev. K. W. H. Felstead. In reminiscent vein he recalled Mr. Williams' love of motoring, and that when approaching his 90th year he still held a driving licence. Two journeys in particular were recalled with gusto. One was when Mr. Felstead drove Mr. Williams to the Central Council meeting at Exeter. 'We were going along quite happily,' said the narrator, 'when Mr. Williams became a little fidgety. 'What are you looking for, George?' queried the driver. 'I am trying to see the speedometer. I don't think the engine has been as fast as this before!'

The second journey was when Mr. Williams drove Mr. Felstead to Andover for the dedication of the bells. 'I was sitting by his side and I have never been so frightened. We went round one corner and missed running into the ditch by inches. I must have said something, for George commented that it was 20 years since he had been on that road and he had forgotten that corner. Mr. Felstead added that he succeeded in persuading Mr. Williams to let him drive home.

Mr. George Williams' handbells have been presented to the Guild. There is a history behind this set. The late Mrs. Williams was the first lady to ring a handbell peal—Holt's ten-part in 1892. To mark the occasion the Editor of 'The Bell News' presented her with a set of 15 handbells. It seemed appropriate that public acknowledgment of this gift should be made at Bournemouth, one of the great handbell centres of England, where, at 23, Wellington Road, no fewer than 103 handbell peals were rung last year; and also that Mrs. F. J. Marshall-say should have rung 102 peals in hand during the same period, a feat unequalled in the annals of lady ringers.

Bournemouth seems now to have a regular niche in the ringers' calendar. Who are behind the scenes? Organising secretary of the first four ringers' rallies is Mr. Arthur V. Davis, who for over 30 years has been associated with St. Peter's Church. While there are veteran ringers in the key churches of Bournemouth and neighbourhood, the impressive thing about their towers is the strong accent on youth. There is a steady outpouring from these towers of competent young ringers who, with the exigencies of military service, become scattered over all parts of England. Many towers have met these young people, enjoyed their company and admired them as ambassadors of ringing fellowship from the Bournemouth district. What is particularly pleasing is that this valued contribution to the Exercise has not come from one tower — St. John's providing an equal share with St. Peter's.

But there are others besides Mr. Davis in this successful venture. 'This is my swan-song,' said Mr. A. F. Martin Stewart, of Ferndown. To him the rally is an opportunity of reunion with friends of long standing. Yes, a story or anecdote was available for everybody. Mr. Stewart had a particularly interesting story to tell of his conversations with Mr. Goldsmith before the launching of 'The Ringing World.' Distant days but memories ever fresh. Amid a busy life he has always found time on a Friday morning to keep abreast of the Exercise through this journal. He is not alone with this long record of continued and sustained interest. Another first number reader in this area is Mr. George Preston, of Christchurch Priory, who, despite advancing years, enjoyed every minute of the proceedings. From the neighbouring county of Dorset came Mr. F. S. Wilson, and the finished exposition of handbells by Mr. D. Matkin brought back to him memories of his peals. It is such gatherings as the Bournemouth Rally that provide to the outsider a new conception of English ringing and the big fraternity behind. This fraternity seems bigger at times than ringing itself. The amazing thing is that there are Ishmaels within the ranks who, for personal pride or other reasons, will not sink differences in the general enjoyment of the fellowship. But human nature was always contrary.

LATE NEWS.

Mr. H. J. Poole has been re-elected President of the Leicester Diocesan Guild by 89 votes to 50. The other nomination was Mr. T.
C. Belton, of Barwell.

Badly damaged by German shell-fire during the war, a part of the tower of St. James', Dover, has crashed. The bells were found in the 12ft. high heap of rubble.

Salisbury Diocesan Guild
last Saturday presented a testimonial and a cheque for £45 to the Rev. F. L. Edwards upon his retirement from the office of general secretary, a post he had held for 37 years. Mr. W. C.
West, of Melksham, is the new Guild secretary. A report of the festival will appear in the next issue.

Mr. James George has left St. Mary's Hospital, Poole. He is now residing at 54, Johnstone Road, Oakdale, Poole.

Congratulations to the Wiltshire Branch of the Ladies' Guild on their peal at Rodbourne Cheney. The last peal for the Ladies' Guild was in 1946.

The peal of Plain Bob Major at Bolton,
Lancs, was rung on Friday, April 21st, not April 22nd, as appeared in a recent issue of
'The Ringing World.'

Mr. Edwin H. Lewis and Mr. A. A. Hughes are to give a talk to the S.P.A.B. about 'Bells and their effect on church towers' on Monday, June 5th, at 8 p.m. Details will be announced later.

The peal of Cambridge Surprise Royal at West Hartlepool, recorded in this week's issue, was the first peal of Surprise Royal for the Durham and Newcastle Diocesan Association by a resident band since 1934.

Baslow Church, Derbyshire, where a peal was rung on May 2nd, is pleasantly situated on the banks of the River Derwent and is close to Chatsworth House, the seat of the Duke of Devonshire.

The bells of St. Thomas', South Wigston, are to be placed on new ball bearings, the work having been entrusted to the founders, Messrs. John Taylor and Co. In consequence the bells will not be available for service or practice ringing after June 4th for an approximate period of three months.

BELFRY GOSSIP

Arundel's returned ring of eight, recently rehung by Messrs. Gillett and Johnston in a new iron frame with new fittings, will be rededicated by the Bishop of Lewes on Wednesday, May 31st, at 7 p.m. The Duke of Norfolk will be present at the service.
(The bells were the gift of the Duke's grandfather in 1855.) A ringers' day will be held on the following Saturday, June 3rd, when the bells will be available for ringing during the afternoon and evening.

Fifteen-year-old George W. Pipe, of Grundis-burgh, rang his 75th peal on May 6th at Hollisley, Suffolk.

The peal of Plain Bob Triples rung at Whittlesey, Cambridgeshire, on March 24th, was rung in 3 hours 4 minutes and not 2 hours
4 minutes as stated in the issue of May 5th.

Mr. John A. Hilton, 2, Albert Cottages, Clarendon Road, Broadstairs, would like to hear from anyone interested in a peal attempt of Plain Bob Royal at St. Lawrence-in-Thanel, Ramsgate, on June 1st, on the occasion of the visit of Princess Margaret to Ramsgate.

In memoriam peals to Mr. George W. Steere were rung at St. Martin's-in-the-Fields, London: the Cathedral Church of Holy Trinity, Guildford; All Saints' Church, Sutton-on-Trent, and St. Mary's Church, Woodford, Essex. A quarter peal was also rung at St. Anne's, Brookfield, London, N.W.

Mr. Charles Briggs, of Howden, Yorks, who left £75,933, bequeathed £275 on trust to pay the income between the ringers at this church as a Christmas honorarium. As a young man the bells provided a thrill of his life, particularly the ringing out the old and ringing in of the new at New Year. Deafness in his later years shut him off from this joy, stated the Vicar, but he never forgot his boyhood experiences.

ROYAL CUMBERLAND YOUTHS

MRS. C. J. MATTHEWS NEW ACTING SECRETARY.

The quarterly meeting was held at Luton on April 29th. Despite the inclement weather, some 30 ringers attended to ring on the fine ten. Among those present were Miss Steel, Dunstable, and Mr. A. King and Mr. H. D. Harris, of Woburn.

At the business meeting the chair was taken by the Master, Mr. G. H. Cross. He first spoke of the grievous loss the Society had sustained in the recent death of Mr. G. W. Steere, who was treasurer from 1928-1938 and then combined the offices of secretary and treasurer from 1939-1950, when he resigned the secretaryship owing to pressure of business. He put in a tremendous amount of work for the Society, his heart and soul were in the job and nothing was too much for him. He took part in the first peal of Cambridge Maximus at St. Martin's in 1928.

The company stood in silence as a tribute to his memory, and the whole pull and stand was rung after the meeting, some of the local ringers taking part. A letter expressing the sympathy of the members was sent to Mrs. Steere.

The following belfry ratifications were made: Miss M. Brown (Aldington), Geoffrey Dodd (Highclere) and Peter Allen (Mitcham). New members elected were W. A. Kitchenside (Mayfield) and Miss M. Brockman (Canterbury).

Mr. Cross stated that the arrangements for the annual dinner (to be held on October 14th) were under way, and he hoped those who had supported the proposition at the annual meeting would do their best to attend in order that the affair would be a success and not result in a financial loss for the Society.

The resignation of the secretary (Mr. Peter Bond) was then announced. He was leaving London for Winchester. He took office at the beginning of the year and had done a good deal since. Mr. Cross thanked him for his past services and wished him every success in his new sphere.

Mrs. C. J. Matthews agreed to act as secretary until the annual meeting next January.

The death of Mr. Steere left vacant the offices of treasurer and Central Council representative. It was decided to ask Mr. W. R. Winterton to act as treasurer and Mr. Bond was appointed the Central Council representative.

The next meeting is to be held at Westerham on July 27th. The Master hoped for a good attendance, as Westerham is in a very pleasant part of the country and had a good ring of bells.

The meeting closed with a vote of thanks to Mr. H. Burton for the arrangements for the meeting and the Vicar for the use of the bells.

50 Years' Service at St. Paul's

PRESENTATION TO H. LANGDON.

A pleasing ceremony took place before ringing for morning service at St. Paul's on May 7th. Mr. A. B. Peck referred to the recent completion of 50 years' continuous service by their beloved leader, Mr. H. Langdon, and said that the members of the Cathedral Guild and friends associated with the ringing at St. Paul's felt that such a unique occasion could not be allowed to pass without some tangible expression. He called on Mr. J. F. Smallwood to express the feelings of the company.

Mr. Smallwood said that to be leader of St. Paul's ringers was a big job, and required a big man in every sense of the word. St. Paul's had been fortunate in their choice of leaders. James Pettitt and W. T. Cockerill, Mr. Langdon's predecessors, had set a very high standard, which Mr. Langdon had not only maintained, but enhanced.

It was rare to find a leader who was brilliant at conducting, an immaculate striker and a born leader, but in Mr. Langdon they had a combination of all these qualities, and he was highly respected, aye, loved by all who had the privilege of ringing with him. He felt that he was expressing the feelings of all present when he congratulated Mr. Langdon on the completion of 50 years' continuous service, and they hoped he would be spared to inspire them by his example for many more years.

Mrs. Price, the wife of one of the resident Canons at St. Paul's, then made the presentation (which was a wristlet watch) with a graceful little speech, and added her congratulations.

Mr. Langdon, taken completely by surprise, thanked those present for their kind wishes and this totally unexpected present, and remarked that he had never known a secret so well kept. Then in characteristic Langdon style he called on them to get busy with raising the middle six.

Before that could be done, Mr. A. A. Hughes, in a neat little speech, thanked Mrs. Price for making the presentation and said how much they appreciated the interest she was taking in the bells and ringers.

NORWICH DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION

EAST NORFOLK BRANCH.

The East Norfolk Branch met at Winterton on April 29th, when 38 members attended. The service was conducted by the Rev. W. G. Harwood (Rector), and was followed by tea and business meeting.

It was proposed to hold a joint North and East Branch meeting at Hanpisburgh on June 10th, and East Norfolk Branch meeting at Somerleyton on June 24th.

The president, the Rev. A. St. J. Heard, thanked the Rector for the use of the bells and also those who had arranged a fine tea.

The branch chairman (Mr. G. W. Fletcher) thanked the local company for their wholehearted support and for putting the bells in trim for the meeting, as it was as late as Thursday night they were waiting for the arrival of new ropes.

NORTH NORFOLK BRANCH.

A meeting of the North Norfolk Branch was held at Cromer on April 22nd and was attended by 35 members.

The Rev. Blyth presided at the business meeting, supported by the president (the Rev. A. St. J. Heard), Mr. F. Nolan Golden (Ringing Master). Messrs. W. G. Larter (Mulbarton) and T. Allen (Intwoud) were elected ringing members. The ringers were entertained to tea by the Rev. Buxton, and the president, on behalf of the members, thanked him for his hospitality. Thanks were also expressed to Mr. Wilson, of Cromer, for arranging for the meeting.

The next meeting will be held at Garveston on July 8th.

BOURNEMOUTH RALLY AND GEORGE WILLIAMS

FIRST COMMEMORATION DINNER A BISHOP RECALLS HIS PEALS AT CAMBRIDGE THE EXAMPLE OF THE LATE MASTER YOUTH OF TO-DAY

BOURNEMOUTH gave a royal welcome to the visiting ringers who attended the fourth annual ringers' rally and the first George Williams Commemoration Dinner, held at the Pavilion on May 6th. The Mayor (Cdr. Lt.-Comdr. J. H. Turner) returned hurriedly from an afternoon function at Winchester, and Ald. Harry C. Brown, one of the Council's wits, was included among the speakers.

The Church also gave its full support. The Bishop of Southampton (the Rt. Rev. E. R. Morgan) presided over the opening proceedings, Bishop Basil Roberts, of the S.P.G., the Rev. A. L. E. Williams, Rural Dean of Bournemouth, and the Rev. R. P. Price, Vicar of Christchurch, were also present.

An excellent meal was followed by the loyal toast. The Chairman, in a welcome to the visitors, said he had been handed a list of visitors which showed that they had come from as far north as Derby; it was indeed a very representative gathering that had assembled to commemorate a veteran of their art.

He was very glad personally to be among such a large party of bellringers, even if it was to excuse himself and state that he did not understand the art. It was so intricate and marvellous—a science on its own—that they who were outside had a certain shyness about entering a belfry. It was not from any lack of friendliness or encouragement of the art that clergy did not visit the belfry.

The Chairman thought most people liked bells, but there were people who were nervous when they heard bells; the ordinary person, however, answered to the bells, whether it was a knell or a peal or one of those crashes at Winchester on the King's birthday, which made him cut himself when shaving, as he lived in the Cathedral Close!

The toast of 'The Church and State' was submitted by Mr. Fred Price, who stressed the importance of goodwill between the Church and the State. He felt the State needed the Church as it was the greatest instrument for the establishment of goodwill among men—it was the message it had been preaching down the ages. He urged the Church to do its utmost in teaching the Christian religion to young children and to find them a job of service after Confirmation; that was where the belfries would be of great assistance.

A BISHOP'S TWO PEALS.

Bishop Basil Roberts, who replied, said somewhere among his records were two handbell peals rung 30 years ago when he was an undergraduate at Cambridge. He could not now remember the method, but they were peals of over 5,000 changes. Associated with him in those peals was Mr. E. M. Atkins, and recently he had the happy experience of running into him and giving him lunch. That refreshed his memories and the Bishop added that he could still see Mr. Atkins in the belfry of Great St. Mary's, Cambridge, with one bell in each hand and at the same time conducting a touch and telling each ringer where he should go.

It was quite possible that the Mayor in his speech would choose to refer to the merciful silence of the war and the nuisance value of the bells to the somnolent citizen. As a Bishop he felt it was his duty to emphasise the call and challenge of the bells to the sweet harmonies of the Christian faith and the resounding claims of Christian worship, and that the bells were all the more impressive when music issued not from mechanical instruments, but from servants of God who were aware of and devoted to the message they circulated. The Church had the greatest possible appreciation of that service.

The Mayor also replied with the speech of a polished raconteur, and said he heartily subscribed to the view of Mr. Price that man was incomplete without religion. Without it there was something lacking in his make-up.

GEORGE WILLIAMS.

'The Memory of Mr. George Williams' was proposed by the Rev. K. W. H. Felstead, who said he felt greatly honoured in being asked to propose the toast, as Mr. George Williams was only recently taken to higher life. Probably every ringer in the room knew him, but the day would come when those who remembered him would be a dwindling band, who could speak of all that Mr. Williams did for ringing in general and more particularly for the Winchester Diocesan Guild.

'There are two things I would like to say that we can learn from the example of Mr. George Williams,' continued Mr. Felstead. 'One of these was the wonderful cheerfulness of his spirit. Although he was a great age, he was always cheerful and ever ready for a joke. I remember a year or two before he died he learnt London Royal and rang a course of it at North Stoneham, and if you look in his records in the year before the war you will find his first peal of Surprise and first peal of Bob Maximus. He was always ready to learn and keep a cheerful spirit; in that way he never grew old.'

'In the second thing he set ringers a wonderful example of being a true churchman. He never failed to ring on a Sunday at his church if he was well enough and after ringing never failed to stay for the service.'

The Rev. Felstead extended a special welcome to Mr. Williams' nephew, his only relative, and mentioned that he had given Mr. Williams' handbells to the Guild. For that gift on behalf of the Guild he expressed sincere thanks.

MR. ARTHUR V. DAVIS.

The toast of 'The Bells and Bellringers' was submitted by Ald. Harry C. Brown. He spoke of his affection for the bells of St. Peter's, Bournemouth, which dated from the days of the first World War, and said he had no use for the man or woman who regarded bells as an annoyance and begrudged St. Peter's ringers one practice night a week.

St. Peter's Church, he said, owed a very great debt of gratitude to Mr. Arthur Davis for his work, and that night with the handbell tune ringing they had an example of his training of the young lads and girls. He was an enthusiast in all he did, and he knew the Vicar was very proud of the work he had done for the bells and bellringers of St. Peter's.

The Vicar of St. Peter's interposed with his appreciation of Mr. Davis' work, and said it was an inspiration to every ringer.

Mr. Arthur V. Davis, who replied, mentioned his association of over 30 years with St. Peter's Church. He assured Ald. Brown that St. Peter's bells would always be kept in order while he was associated with the tower. It was an extraordinary thing that English people readily subscribed to make bells ringable.

It was a grand thing to have at that gathering ringers from London, Birmingham, Bristol and other places; it showed the great friendliness in the Exercise. It was also a great pleasure to have so many young people present.

Young people were very much discussed to-day. He well remembered reading in 'The Ringing World' a comment by one of the Masters that he thought they were making too much fuss of young people. What he meant to say was that they were apt to patronise young people too much. Young people did not desire to be patronised—they were just as good, no better and no worse than youth of previous generations.

The toast of 'The Ringing World' was proposed by Mrs. C. H. Kippin, who recalled the work of Mr. J. S. Goldsmith and Mr. J. A. Trollope, the former editors, and commended the foresight and business acumen displayed by the small group of ringers who purchased the paper on the death of Mr. Goldsmith and assured its future.

Mr. T. W. White, in his reply, voiced the thanks of all visiting ringers to the Dinner Committee and its secretary, Mr. A. V. Davis, for arranging such an enjoyable function.

The entertainment included a fine display of spiced handbell ringing by Mrs. F. J. Marshallsay, R. Hurst, W. G. Young and D. T. Matkin, which unfortunately was suddenly terminated by the clapper of a tenor working loose. There was also songs by Mrs. Nellie Pearmain and tune ringing by the St. Peter's Youth Club, conducted by Mr. A. V. Davis.

The beautiful floral decorations on the tables were provided by Mr. Martin Stewart.

THE COMPANY.

Supporting the Bishop of Southampton, who presided, were the Mayor and Mayoress of Bournemouth, Bishop Basil Roberts, the Revs. A. L. E. Williams, R.D., of Bournemouth, K. W. H. Felstead (Southampton), R. P. Price (Christchurch), S. A. and Mrs. Culverwell (Hinton Admiral), J. Coutts, E. F. R. Routh, Ald. and Mrs. H. Brown.

Mr. and Mrs. R. Brown (Southampton), Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Cartwright (Birmingham), Mr. and Mrs. A. V. Davis, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Dowding (Birmingham), Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Edwards (Wolverton, Bucks), Mr. and Mrs. J. Galton (Christchurch), Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Graham, Mr. and Mrs. J. Hextall, Mr. and Mrs. D. Matkin, Mr. and Mrs. G. Pullinger (Southampton), Mr. and Mrs. V. Scardifield (Berks), Mr. and Mrs. C. Skidmore (Worcester), Cdr. and Mrs. Thompson, Mr. and Mrs. A. Walker (Birmingham), Mr. and Mrs. T. W. White (Guildford).

Gloucester & Bristol Assn.

JOINT MEETING AT BERKELEY.

Twenty-eight towers were represented at the first joint meeting of the Bristol Rural and Wotton-under-Edge Branches, held at Berkeley on April 29th. Nearly 100 ringers and friends were present, including members from the Bristol City, Cheltenham, Gloucester and South Forest Branches, also from Fresham.

After ringing during the afternoon members attended the ringers' service, conducted by the Rev. J. H. W. Fisher, Vicar of Berkeley. The Rev. W. A. Peel, of Tortworth, read the lesson. In his address the Vicar remarked on the significance of holding such a meeting at Berkeley and he gave an outline of the history linking Berkeley and Bristol.

Tea was served in the Town Hall, after which a short business meeting was held, presided over by the Rev. A. D. H. Allan, chairman of the Wotton-under-Edge Branch. He welcomed the many visitors, and to mark the unique occasion he read the following poem from his collection of 'Songs of the Bells of the Wotton-under-Edge Branch,' entitled 'The Berkeley Bells':—

By Severn Sea in Severn Vale

A giant stands, erect, alone:

'Tis Berkeley Tower (on slenderer scale

His little brother dwells at Stone).

Massive and stalwart, rapt aloof

From prayer and chant the giant stands:

And from his heart o'er street and roof

Ten of us issue our commands.

But seldom can our full extent

Be heard across the river's ripples—

Not every band is competent

To ring a touch of Grandsire Triples.

And like our Castle, grey with age,

We must be quiet patient waiters

Until good friends on pilgrimage

Bid us peal out in Stedman Caters.

Then we exult, and thrill and tingle,

The merry music to our liking:

We answer quick to Bob and Single

And glory in the perfect striking.

During the evening further ringing, ranging from rounds to Cambridge Major, was enjoyed under the guidance of Mr. E. F. Hancock, Master of the Bristol City Branch. It is hoped that in future such a meeting will become an annual event.

GUILD OF DEVONSHIRE RINGERS

EXETER BRANCH MEETING.

The Exeter Branch meeting at Tedburn St. Mary attracted a very large number of ringers from branch towers and further afield from Bristol and Dorset. The ring of six, recently rehung after being silent for nearly 80 years, was probably the attraction.

The Rev. G. H. Hackett gave a very hearty welcome at the service, and later at tea (provided in the Village Hall by the P.C. Council) expressed his pleasure to become an hon. member of the Guild. Six of the local band and six from Thorverton were elected associate members, and five non-resident members' elections were confirmed.

Mr. T. Bartlett, chairman, and Mr. E. J. Ryall, hon. secretary, conducted the business. Christow and Dunsford were chosen for the next meeting on June 3rd. Ringers from at least twenty towers of the Guild made good use of the bells before and after tea under the able Ringing Master, Mr. E. W. Biffin, who gave time to all present to ring touches of their choice. Regret was expressed at the absence of the Guild president, the Rev. Preb. E. V. Cox, who had made the rehanging of the bells possible whilst Rector of the parish, although the actual work was delayed owing to the war. The local band, with Mr. H. B. Wroth as leader, should now be able to progress quickly.

St. David's Diocesan Guild

RINGING COMPETITION AT LLANELLY.

The late Dr. Prosser, whilst Archbishop of Wales, was the president of the St. David's Diocesan Guild, and three years ago presented a shield to the Guild to encourage church bell-ringers to give of their best in their ancient art.

The first competition was on the light ring at Llandovery, where St. Peter's, Carmarthen, ringers won. Last year Tenby was the tower chosen for the competition, where the home team won. This year the light ring of six at St. Elli, Llanelly, was handled by ringers from Haverfordwest, Carmarthen, Llanelly (handicap 5 faults), Llanbadarn (2 teams).

It was disappointing that the other churches possessing bells (St. David's Cathedral, Llandovery, Llanstephan, Burry Port and Llandilo) were not able to send a team.

The two teams from Llanbadarn Fawr opened the competition and the senior band 'rose' the bells, stood them and began again to ring 120 Grandsire Doubles, but misfortune befell after 80 changes and the effort failed. Two bells failed to set. The juniors (four girls and two boys, average age 14) made a plucky attempt, but the strange bells and absence of conductor resulted in mistakes and many points were lost. Carmarthen gave a good performance, but mistakes occurred. Tenby's effort was similar. Llanelly, the home team, gave a good display in the rise, changes and fall. Haverfordwest band rang next and found the light bells awkward and experienced difficulty in that the bells rang in the opposite direction to their home tower. Finally a scratch band rang with spasms of good ringing, marred by occasional lapses.

Mr. F. W. Sharpe, of Oxfordshire, was the judge and, sitting alone nearby, recorded the faults in the rise, the 120 changes of Grandsire Doubles and the fall. Two bells striking together—one fault. Too many changes or too few and failure to stand the bells were faults. He placed Llanelly first with 96 per cent. for the 'rise,' 98 per cent. for the changes, and 96 per cent. for the 'fall,' total 290 marks; Tenby, 265; Carmarthen, 263; Llanbadarn Fawr (1), 177; Haverfordwest, 165; Llanbadarn Fawr (2), 126.

The result was announced in the Parish Hall after a tea provided and served by the ladies of the parish and presided over by the Rev. T. J. Evans, who welcomed the contestants and thanked Mr. Sharpe for tackling the judging so fearlessly.

The shield was presented to the Llanelly band with a certificate, and the runners-up, Tenby, also received a certificate.

MARKET WEIGHTON BELLS

The bells of All Saints', Market Weighton, Yorks, have been lowered from the tower for the first time in 167 years. They are to be recast by Messrs. John Taylor and Co., of Loughborough, and the massive oak frame will be overhauled. Altogether the recasting and renovation of the tower will cost about £1,000.

Watching the lowering of the bells was Mr. J. W. Kneeshaw (69), who has rung in this tower for over half a century. 'I hope they will be in position again on September 5th—my birthday,' he said.

Before 1877 Market Weighton had three bells. On January 23th, 1783, a parish meeting resolved to exchange the three old bells, valued at £117, for six new ones to cost about £206, exclusive of hanging.

The sum actually paid for the bells was £92 4s. 0½d., being only a little more than the estimated difference between the value of the old bells and the cost of the new. William Clarkson and James Hopwood were paid £34 for making the bell frames and T. Gardoms £1 10s. 6d. for ropes. The tenor weighed 9 cwt. 2 qr. 13 lb.

A Somerset Tour

A most successful week's ringing was enjoyed by a party of London ringers, mainly from St. Luke's Church, Chelsea, who toured Somerset from April 15th-23rd. Those taking part were the Misses Branson, Dupré, Atkins, Holmes, Weddell, Messrs. Bartlett, Carter, Lott, Ottley, Miller, Myer and Mr. and Mrs. Barker, who were able to join us for the first four days.

The party stayed at The Woodlands, Chilcompton, near Bath. On the journey down we rang at Sherborne St. John and Monk Sherborne. The next day, Sunday, 16th, we rang for morning and evening services at Binegar and Litton Parish Churches.

During the week the following towers were visited: Compton Martin (6), Blagdon (8), Chew Magna (8), Chewton Mendip (8), Wrington (10), Congresbury (8), Backwell (8), Long Ashton (8), Glastonbury St. John (8), Glastonbury St. Benedict (6), Street (8), Wookey (6), Doulting (6), Shepton Mallet (8), Croscombe (6), Dinder (6), Mells (8), Queen Camel (6), Castle Cary (8), Ditcheat (8), Nunney (6), Frome (8), Evercreech (10) and Kilmersden (6). We also rang at Chilcompton (6) on their practice night.

The methods rung were Grandsire Doubles, Triples and Caters, Stedman Doubles, Triples and Caters, Plain Bob Major and Minor, Kent Treble Bob Major and Minor, Double Stedman Minor, and Cambridge and London Surprise Minor.

The success of the tour was in great part due to the friendliness and helpfulness of the local ringers, who made us most welcome everywhere we went. J. M. W.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Ringing at the Festival

Dear Sir,—In the early part of this year my attention was turned to some aspects of the forthcoming Festival of Britain, and I fell to considering what representation might be made of our Exercise. An idea then occurred which at first seemed somewhat fantastic; but later, on reflection, and in view of the opinion now being voiced in the journal, it seems there may be possibilities to make it worthwhile suggesting.

The idea was that, in addition to all local arrangements which would undoubtedly be made, there should be shown, to the laymen of these islands and to our visitors from overseas, ringing in actual practice at the heart of the festival, in London. This might be achieved through the joint participation of the three principal bell-founding firms in the erection of a temporary campanile, where ringing might be demonstrated daily by visiting bands booked to attend.

The campanile might take the form of a steel-joist skeleton structure of three storeys, carrying a light ring of eight, and braced with corner shores of steel. The ground floor might comprise three 'stands,' one each for the participating firms putting up the structure, etc.; together with a ringers' ante-room, where the band would forgoather, hang clothing, sign the visitors' book and so forth. A light stair would lead up through the ceiling to the first floor. This ringing chamber would contain nothing whatever but the hanging ropes.

From the floor of the ringing chamber upwards, the entire 'walling' of the structure would be transparent, of glass or perspex or the like, so that ringers, ropes and bells in action, with internal lighting of the bell-frame as necessary, could be seen by the crowds gathered round.

The height of the entire structure would be kept as low as possible. The bells would be suitably 'clappered' to reduce the sound level to about 50 per cent. of the normal. The floor of the bell-chamber would be designed to damp out the sound as much as possible from the ringing chamber. But it is realised that with all precautions it might be 'a bit noisy' at the ropes; though this could no doubt be borne for the special purpose.

Suitable notices posted daily would announce the time of next ringing, the name of the band, and possibly the method to be rung. (Times would be by arrangement with the festival authorities, of course.) Just before the ringing commenced, or just afterwards, a short talk might be given through a public address installation, on ringing in general and the band in particular.

By some such means would be publicised in practice to the world, not only the work of the unique bell-founding firms of Britain, but also the peculiarly British art of ringing, which is our heritage. And the number of recruits deriving might be not inconsiderable!—Yours very truly,
A. YORK-BRAMBLE.
Netley.

5.088 SURPRISE MAJOR

Dear Sir,—The figures on page 288 of your issue of May 5th are a simple variation of a composition by Henry Dains, published (to give but two sources) in the Norwich Diocesan Report for 1902 (peal No. 1,133) and in the Oxford Diocesan Guild Report for 1904 (peal No. 1,222). In the original the bobs 'wrong' in the 4th and 5th courses are omitted; in any case, these are superfluous, since they do not affect the part bell.

I think all ringers will approve of the list of methods to which a composition runs true being appended after the figures, but a number will not approve of such figures being submitted with no mention of the composer.—Yours faithfully, NOLAN GOLDEN.
Norwich.

In a Transposed Form

Dear Sir,—The composition of Mr. Sedgley's published in your issue of May 5th is to all intents and purposes the same as one by Henry Dains appearing (in a transposed form) in the Kent County Report for 1900. I give the two below for comparison.

THE LATE MR. R. H. SMITH

A TRIBUTE FROM AUSTRALIA.

Dear Sir,—With deep regret I have read the report in your journal, January 6th, of the passing of my old friend and fellow-ringer, Mr. R. H. Smith, of Melton Mowbray, Leics, affectionately known to all as 'Dick' Smith. He will be greatly missed from the gatherings of ringers in the Melton Mowbray district and especially by the ringers of the village churches in the Vale of Belvoir.

You place on record that he was a member of the Framland Association (Diocese of Leicester, formerly Peterborough) for 50 years. This shows steadfastness and loyalty to the art which he loved.

He taught me to ring on the long ropes of those lovely toned bells of Long Clawson. I was not a good pupil. When others advised me to 'give it up before you hang yourself,' Dick Smith encouraged me to persevere. I do not know that he ever took part in a completed peal, but he did a great work for ringing in teaching and encouraging young ringers for half a century.

I feel very grateful to the ringers of Long Clawson and Hose—his two towers—for combining to ring a half-muffled quarter peal as a tribute of affection and honour. I am glad that my old friends Edward Tinsley and William Sharp, captains of the two towers, were able to take part.

Dick Smith was a faithful ringer and a loyal churchman, and his many friends will always keep him in affectionate remembrance.—Yours sincerely,
W. SMITH.

Captain, St. James' Ringers.

Turramurra, Sydney.

RINGS OF STEEL BELLS

Dear Sir,—With reference to the information given under the above heading in the excellent publication, 'Church Bells of Britain,' just published, it may interest some of your readers to learn that one of these bells, nicely cleaned up and fitted in a frame (not for ringing), is now on exhibition among other engineering products at Vickers House, Broadway, S.W.1. This bell, which probably weighs up to 20 cwt., is very like and may be the same one which was found in a scrap yard at John Brown's in Sheffield towards the end of the first World War, when the writer was employed there. At the time of the Armistice it was retrieved and fitted into a specially made steel frame. Two lusty fellows, provided with sledge hammers, then spent a considerable time flogging the bell, but the results, from a musical point of view, as might be expected, were not happy—and the bell remained suspended in its cage for many years.—Yours faithfully,
J. E. LEWIS COCKEY.

Edgehill Road, W.13.

OBITUARY

MR. JOHN COX.

We regret to record the death on April 29th of Mr. John Cox, of St. Ambrose's, Bristol, aged 84 years. He had been a ringer for a great number of years, having first learnt in Somerset.

Although his change ringing capabilities were very little, he was an excellent tenor ringer, and if John Cox was on the tenor one was sure of a good beat. He had rung some very creditable peals and quarter peals. He had been a valuable member of St. Ambrose's Guild, Bristol, for the past 20 years, being most regular for Sunday service ringing, and will be greatly missed.

The funeral took place at St. Ambrose's Church on May 4th, and the Guild was represented by Mr. A. C. Baker (captain) and Mr. F. Skidmore (hon. secretary). In the evening a quarter peal of Stedman Triples was rung with the bells half-muffled by F. Skidmore (cond.) 1, A. C. Baker 2, Mrs. D. M. Bennett 3, N. Denson 4, E. Sutton 5, Miss M. James (first quarter in method) 6, V. E. Lucas 7, G. Elliott 8. F. S.

MR. WILLIAM HAYES.

The Western District of the Hertford County Association have regretfully to report the passing of William Hayes (71), of Flamstead, Herts, in the West Herts Hospital on April 30th, after an emergency operation the previous Sunday.

'Bill' was well known in the parish, for he was one of those who had to be connected with everything that made up the life and well-being of the village.

His life was centred round his beloved church, of which he had been a member all his life, a member of the choir since boyhood, a regular bellringer for well over fifty years (he was the mainstay of the band) and people's warden for many years. In addition he was a parish councillor, a member of the British Legion, a very keen member of the Cricket Club and a life-long member of the Ancient Order of Foresters.

His life was one of unselfish devotion and service to his church and his fellows. As a ringer he was not one of the experts—he had only rung one peal—but he kept the band together and got the bells rung for Sunday services. A cordial welcome always awaited ringers, and he loved good striking.

It was unfortunate that the hour for his interment prevented some who would have wished to be there from attending, but a splendidly struck peal of Surprise Minor was rung on his loved bells the same evening. His remark would have been 'That was a good one!' and it was worthy of a grand Christian life.

The interment service was taken by the Vicar, the Rev. C. Russell, D.D., and was fully choral. As the Vicar remarked to the writer, 'We had it just as he would have liked it.' Very numerous floral tributes expressed the high opinion in which he was held by so many people. He will be missed. W. A.

MR. C. STEWART.

Mr. C. Stewart, of Rayleigh, Essex, aged 71 years, who died on April 12th, had been a ringer for 50 years and for many years had been secretary of the local band.

Born in Rayleigh, he had lived in the same house until a fortnight before his death, when he retired to Brentwood. A well-known resident of Rayleigh, he had continued the business of harness maker which had been founded by his father.

The interment was at Brentwood on April 16th, when the Essex Association was represented by Mr. F. V. Gant (hon. secretary of the South-West Division), and the Rayleigh band by Mr. W. Ward.

Salisbury Diocesan Guild

DORCHESTER BRANCH.

A quarterly meeting of the Dorchester Branch was held at Upwey on April 22nd, and was attended by 74 members and friends.

The Guild service in the Church of St. Lawrence was conducted by the branch chairman, Canon A. W. Markby, and the address was given by the Rector, the Rev. A. S. Bryant, who, taking as his text, 'Whosoever thy hand findeth to do, do it with thy might,' appealed to his congregation to encourage the young folks in the art of ringing. He also expressed the hope that there would be a revival of handbell ringing in the area.

Four new members were elected at the meeting which followed a sumptuous tea (provided and served by the ladies of Upwey), two being ringing members, one associate and one non-resident life member. The June meeting was fixed for Piddlehinton.

The meeting decided to make grants of £5 to the towers of Preston and Piddlethrenthide, where augmentations and restorations will be taking place as soon as possible.

A branch outing was suggested, and it was decided to circularise the towers with a view to making this outing a trip to Trowbridge on May 13th for the annual festival of the Salisbury Guild.

Eighteen towers were represented, and after the meeting the six bells were kept going until 9 p.m.

SUSSEX COUNTY ASSOCIATION

MEETING AT WEST TARRING.

For the monthly meeting of the Western Division, the Divisional Ringing Master, Mr. R. P. Wood, arranged an evening social at the Old Palace, West Tarring, to which ringers brought one guest. About 100 sat down and included in the company were incumbents of the parishes of Heene, Goring and West Tarring, at whose churches ringers assembled for ringing during the afternoon.

A service at Heene Church was conducted by the Rector (the Rev. D. F. Wilkinson), who gave an address, and ringers from Chichester contributed handbell ringing. The highlight of the evening was a demonstration by Mr. Brian D. Price of his ringing machine.

OXFORD UNIVERSITY SOCIETY

Officers elected for the Oxford University of Change ringers for 1950 are as follows:—

President: The Rev. C. Elliot Wigg (Keble). Vice-presidents: Mr. H. Miles (St. Catherine's Society), Dr. R. E. Harvard (Keble), Dr. L. E. Sutton (Magdalen), the Rev. J. R. Milford (Magdalen). Dr. J. E. Snice (New College), Miss B. Spice (Somerville), W. F. Moreton (St. John's).

Master: Gerard McCrum (St. Catherine's). Secretaries: Frank P. Wright (University), Miss M. E. Roe (St. Hilda's).

Treasurer: K. M. Grayson (St. Edmund's Hall).

Steeplekeepers: Ewart Edge (St. Edmund's Hall), C. Thomas (Jesus).

OBITUARY

MR. H. M. HURST.

By the sudden passing of Mr. H. M. Hurst (79) on April 27th at his home in Deanshanger, the Towcester Branch of the Peterborough Diocesan Guild has lost its oldest member.

He joined the old Towcester and District Association when it was formed in 1894, and in 1930 he became a member of the Peterborough Diocesan Guild.

The funeral was on May 1st, and in the evening the following local members rang at Passenham a half-muffled quarter peal of Grandsire Doubles: T. E. Roberts (cond.) 1, H. Ridgway 2, W. Yates 3, F. C. Case 4, G. W. Holland 5.

Leeds and District Society

SUBSCRIPTION STILL A 'HUMBLE TANNER.'

The annual general meeting was held at Leeds Parish Church on April 29th. Ringing commenced at 2.30 p.m., and a very good tea was provided by the local company.

The business meeting was held in the tower, Mr. T. Hill presiding. Ten new members were elected, viz., Miss Margaret Flackett and Mr. V. E. Phillips, of the local company, Messrs. L. Fisher, D. Lockwood, W. Lockwood, T. Hemmingway, M. Duffin and Miss Mary Davies (Ossett), Messrs. E. Hartley and A. E. Hartley (Thorne).

A vote of thanks to the Vicar, churchwardens and local company was proposed by Mr. T. Hill and seconded by Mr. P. Birkett. Mr. I. Slack suitably acknowledged the thanks and promised to convey them to the proper quarter.

The next meeting was due to be held on Whit Saturday, but owing to the week-end holiday it was agreed to bring the date forward to May 20th.

The election of officers resulted as follows: President, Mr. T. Hill; vice-presidents, Messrs. T. W. Strangeway, F. Hutchinson and S. W. Barron; Ringing Master, Mr. W. Dixon; secretary and treasurer, Mr. H. Lofthouse.

The secretary's report and balance sheet were accepted. The main items were that ten meetings only had been held; whilst all had been fairly well attended, the striking in some methods should have been better. Total membership had increased by one, and was now 221. Of this number 155 were fully paid up. The financial side had improved and there was no fear of the subscriptions being raised from the humble tanner. There are not many societies who still retain the original membership fee fixed 59 years ago.

A special vote of thanks was accorded the secretary on his completing 27 years in office and for the splendid report and financial statement.

SHEFFIELD AND DISTRICT SOCIETY

Over 30 ringers attended the monthly meeting of the Sheffield and District Society, held at Whiston on May 6th. The eight bells were raised in peal promptly at 3 p.m., and during the day a variety of methods up to Cambridge Major were rung. Ample opportunity was given to the less experienced and younger ringers.

A feature of the ringing was a touch of Bob Minor by a youthful all ladies' band, and several commented on the capable handling of the 14½ cwt. tenor by a 16-year-old girl for this touch.

An excellent tea was provided by the local company in the Church Institute.

Welcoming the ringers, the Rector (the Rev. J. Redrobe, M.A.) expressed pride in his bells, and appreciation of the ringers' services, and a vote of thanks to him and the local company was proposed by Mr. T. C. Ryder.

The next meeting is to be held at Bradford in June, by special request of the Vicar.

FRENCH BELLS FOR BOSTON SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA

The Boston Symphony Orchestra have ordered two bells of the French firm of Blanchet et Compagnie, of Bagnolet, near Paris. These bells have been ordered specially for the playing of the 'Symphonie Fantastique' of the French composer, Hector Berlioz. One bell weighs 75 kilogrammes and the other 31 kilogrammes (165 lb. and 68 lb.), with diameters of 20 and 15½ inches.

Steel tubes are generally used in orchestras for the bells, but the Boston Symphony Orchestra, in a desire for exactitude, ordered the two bells in question.

DEDICATIONS

BISHOP'S NYMPTON, DEVON.

'This is the peal which we had been hoping to get at Bishop's Nympton for many years,' was the comment of Mr. W. Warren (tower captain) and his band of ringers on April 29th, when the bells of St. Mary the Virgin were rededicated after being retuned and rehung in an iron frame by Messrs. Gillett and Johnston.

A crowded congregation was present at the afternoon service, conducted by the Vicar, the Rev. D. Rufus Price, B.A., assisted by the Very Rev. Dean Garfield Williams.

The ceremony of dedication was performed by the Right Rev. R. G. Mortimer, D.D., Lord Bishop of Exeter, and in his address he paid tribute to all bellringers for the great work they did in calling people to God's house for worship and prayer at all seasons of the year. During the singing of the last hymn, 'Now thank we all our God,' a collection was made by four of the local ringers and amounted to £32. Messrs. Gillett and Johnston, of Croydon, were represented at the dedication by Mr. Don Bradford, who extended an invitation to the Bishop's Nympton ringers to visit the foundry at Croydon.

After the service a good tea was provided in the Parish Hall by ladies of the Parochial Church Council and wives of the ringers.

An invitation by the local band of ringers to neighbouring towers of the deanery to the dedication was fully accepted. Ringing commenced at 4 p.m. and continued until 9.30 p.m. As for comments on the new ring by local and visiting teams, nothing could be better: everyone thought the tone and 'go' perfect and expressed complete satisfaction.

The day's proceedings ended with a concert given by the Umberleigh British Legion.

DURLEIGH, SOMERSET.

The tiny church of Durleigh, the dedication of which is unknown, was filled to overflowing on the evening of May 4th, when the Bishop of Bath and Wells dedicated the restored and augmented ring of bells. The Vicar of Bridgewater, Preb. E. H. Hughes-Davies, conducted the service, and the Preb. A. J. Hook, Master of the Bath and Wells Association, acted as Bishop's chaplain.

A loudspeaker was used to relay the service to a large number outside the church, and the proceedings were thus heard about a half-mile away.

The old four bells, which had not been rung for over 10 years, have been rehung and two new trebles added by Messrs. John Taylor and Co., who were represented by Mr. J. Fidler. A good effort in a short while by the 200 inhabitants of Durleigh and friends has raised £250, but almost £100 is still needed. The hon. treasurer, Mr. H. C. Turner, of Bergholt, 56, Durleigh Road, Bridgwater, would be pleased to acknowledge subscriptions from anyone wishing to help complete this amount.

The inscriptions on the bells are as follows:

2nd.—D. John Taylor, Loughborough, 1950. 4 cwt. 1 qr. 10 lb.

3rd.—C. No founder's mark. Sancta—Ora Pro Nobis. (Probably from an old Exeter foundry, said to be the oldest bell in Somerset.) 4 cwt. 1 qr. 22 lb.

4th.—B. T. Wroth. Cast in 1739. I. and R. Woodlands, Churchwardens. 5 cwt. 3 qr. 8 lb.

Tenor.—C. Richard Purdue, Bristol. Anno Domini 1631. P.H., W.H., R.P. 10 cwt. 4 lb.

GROBY, LEICS.—On April 28th, 1,260 Plain Bob Minor: T. E. Gardner 1, W. E. Geary 2, E. Geary 3, V. Geary 4, D. Dodson 5, S. R. Gardner (cond.) 6. For the 21st birthday of S. R. Gardner.

THE TEAM

WHAT is the peculiar fascination about ringing?

Many people have attempted to essay an answer to that question. At Trowbridge the other week, when the Salisbury Diocesan Guild held their festival and did honour to the long and faithful service of the Rev. F. Ll. Edwards as their secretary for 37 years, Canon R. L. Pelley, the Rector of that historic church, endeavoured to supply the answer.

He viewed the Exercise as an outsider and, perhaps because of his lack of practical knowledge and the inner workings of ringers in general, was able to view the question from an independent angle. His first suggestion was the delight in working together in rhythm in which each man pulled his bell at the right moment. 'The sense of rhythm in movement that makes it delightful,' he said. We in the Exercise have a word for that 'good striking.' Why is it that we find enthusiastic bands bubbling over with energy and getting the maximum enjoyment from their ringing and willing to make almost any sacrifice to be present? The answer is that their ringing has reached a sense of perfect rhythm by each subordinating himself to the whole.

This free orderly discipline, the secret of all good ringing, has a lesson for the world at large. Canon Pelley elaborated the theme in an appeal to pull together. 'If only we could get America and Russia, Labour and Conservative, husband and wife, to pull together, there is the answer to the world's problems of to-day.' But pulling together in the belfry is not the end of a ringer's duty. There must be a pulling together in the Guild or Association. The greatest danger confronting the Exercise is from those individuals who cannot take the lesson of the belfry into the affairs of the Guild. We deny no man or woman individual freedom, but we ask the minorities to give way to the majorities even if it is at the cost of individual pride. It is the secret of true democracy; at times it is hard and irksome, but it is the only true basis of successful administration.

Another point made by Canon Pelley read as follows: 'You bellringers are members of the Church and you are a part of the whole congregation. You play your part in ringing the bells, but too often the bellringers are separated from the rest of the congregation and there is not the effective all pulling together. . . . Many of the ringers are found in their places at the church services; some are not and in so far as they are not they are spoiling the effect of the whole team. The congregation needs the ringers for the very reason that in the belfry you have the very secret of the Christian religion—of working as a team. We want you to bring that down into the nave.'

Next Sunday is one of the great festivals of the Church, Whitsunday, when we, as Church men and women, commemorate one of the great gifts bestowed by Christ on His followers. In it we are teamed as one with Him, and also with each other in His Church. A valued correspondent has directed the Editor's attention to the challenge that such an occasion as the birthday of the Church should make to each individual ringer. He suggests that all ringers should co-operate in two ways: (1) by endeavouring to see that every ring of church bells in the land be rung for at least 30 minutes before one of the services on that day; (2) that each ringer should dedicate this his service to God by attending at least one Church service on that day.

The purpose of this call he elaborates as follows: (1) To direct the art of change ringing to its most noble height—the service of God; (2) To encourage closer co-operation between the Church and its ringers; (3) To demonstrate the unity of ringers as a Christian fellowship; (4) To exhort ringing organisations to pursue their chief aims; (5) To set a new and more coherent standard for ringers.

Sunday service ringing has always been the primary aim of Guilds and Associations in affiliation with the Central Council of Church Bell Ringers. Like all primary aims, there is a danger at times of it becoming secondary to the more intricate organisation and fabric of the science or art. In most ringers' hearts there is a very strong sense of obligation and duty to the Church, but there are some who are indifferent to this responsibility. To them we pass on the message—be one of Christ's team this Whitsuntide and put the gift and the privilege which have been placed in your hands unreservedly at His disposal and for furthering the work of His Church.

LATE NEWS.

The first peal of Bristol Surprise Maximus was rung at Leicester Cathedral last Monday in three hours and 42 minutes. It was conducted by Mr. H. J. Poole.

The peal at St. John the Baptist, Worcester, was a well-deserved tribute to Mr. William Ranford, of Suckley, for his 81st birthday. 'Father,' as he is affectionately known to his ringing colleagues, has over 50 years' membership of the Worcestershire Association and has been a member of the committee for some 20 or more years. This peal brings his total up to 495, and his friends hope he will continue in his usual good health and spirits to complete 500 peals.

Mr. Edwin C. Birkett, of Liverpool, rang his 100th peal on April 22nd at Sefton, Lancs.
Congratulations!

Mr. James W. Wilkins walked from his home a distance of four miles to Hughenden Church, Bucks, to ring in a peal for his 87th birthday.
And many more birthdays!

Another peal (the second in just over a year) has been rung at East Farndon, where the bells were spoken of by some as 'unringable.' Greasing of the bearings and a general overhaul of the headstock nuts is all that has been done to make them ringable, thanks to the ringer of the 4th, who also took part in the previous peal.

Mr. E. J. Ladd has circled the tower of St. Mary's, Salehurst, Sussex. Mr. Ernest
Brittain that of Deeping St. Nicholas, Lincs, Mr. Arnold Rothery, St. Mark's, Longwood, Huddersfield.

Mr. George Cecil, of Haywards Heath, a former Master of the Ancient Society of College Youths, has been elected Master of the Sussex County Association. Mr. F. I. Hairs, the retiring Master, announced that there was no immediate probability of his returning to the county. Life membership was conferred on Mr. and Mrs. Hairs. A report will appear in our next issue.

BELFRY GOSSIP

'Ringing Towers,' the journal of the New South Wales Association, for March, contains an amusing story of ringing a quarter peal of Minor in six methods in the Yass tram. To prevent disturbance the ringers gave their tickets to one of their number, who unfortunately fell asleep. The conductor of the tram arrived demanding tickets. The quarter peal conductor nodded wildly to the ticket holder asleep in the seat opposite. The tram conductor took the hint and aroused the sleeper by shaking him violently by the foot.
Strange to relate, the quarter peal was successful.

With the new floor put in the belfry at Thorpe Bay, Essex, we hope (writes a correspondent) that the band will once more get together after two months of inactivity.

Visitors to London this Whitsuntide are invited to participate in the Whit Sunday ringing at St. John's, Leytonstone, at 10 a.m. and 5.30 p.m. The church is just outside Leytonstone Tube Station.

By ringing the 2nd to a peal of Plain Bob Minor at Horsmonden on May 14th, Miss 'Prudence Lambert becomes the first lady of her native village of Brenchley to ring a peal.
Great credit is due to her on the way in which she struck her bell. A distant relative of the family of Lamberts, of Horsmonden, she hopes one day to take part in a peal of all Lamberts.

Five ringers from the Worcester area in co-operation with local friends rang two peals in Somerset during a recent week-end. One attempt of Stedman Triples at Weston-super-Mare was lost after 1½ hours' ringing, after which the following note was handed in: 'I don't know who you are or where you come from, but congratulations on some very nice striking this morning.—Edna Bedford.'

SALISBURY GUILD HONOURS RETIRING SECRETARY

REV. F. LL. EDWARDS' 37 YEARS IN OFFICE PRESENTATION OF CHEQUE AND TESTIMONIAL MASTER REPORTS PROGRESS IN CHANGE RINGING AND FAITHFUL SUNDAY SERVICE

THIS year's festival of the Salisbury Diocesan Guild, held at Trowbridge on May 13th, was a landmark in the Guild's history. The Rev. F. Llewellyn Edwards, who for the past 37 years had been hon. general secretary of the Guild, laid down the reins of office. As an expression of the Guild's appreciation of his long service he was presented with a testimonial and a cheque for £45.

The Master (the Rev. C. C. Cox) presided, supported by the Rev. F. Ll. Edwards, Mr. W. C. West (assistant secretary), Canon R. L. Pelley (Rector of Trowbridge) and Mr. E. Hughes (chairman of Trowbridge Urban Council).

A civic welcome to the Guild was given by Mr. E. Hughes, chairman of the Trowbridge Urban Council, who said they welcomed the music of their bells and they liked to picture the long line of ringers who through the centuries have pealed them for joyful occasions and called them to worship. There were few things that expressed more the spirit of our native land than bells.

Thanking Mr. Hughes for his welcome, the Master said Trowbridge had always been a hive of industry, and the Trowbridge mark on cloth was highly esteemed in Manchester and London. There were two other industries associated with the town—brewing and bacon curing. Trowbridge still considered that it was virtually the capital of Wiltshire, but Salisbury claimed to care for the souls of the county and to see to the hangings, and Trowbridge the drains (laughter).

Arising from the minutes, the secretary reported that the committee had decided not to alter the date of the annual festival. He had received letters of thanks from the incumbents of the parishes the Guild sent grants to last year.

THE PRESIDENT.

The Guild would remember, the secretary stated, that they decided to send a letter of congratulation to their president (the Earl of Shaftesbury) on his 80th birthday. He was ill at the time, but later he replied thanking the Guild for its good wishes and stating that owing to advancing years he had had to give up a good many commitments and regretted that since his illness he was informed that he would never be able to pull a bell again. He also tendered his resignation. The committee passed a resolution expressing the hope that he would continue in office. The Earl replied, 'Very many thanks. I shall be glad to continue, but I am afraid I shall not be able to discharge any duties.'

The Master, in his address, expressed the hope that the Earl would remain in office for some time, and upon his suggestion the meeting decided to send a letter to him thanking him for continuing in office.

As a Guild they would like to offer their congratulations to some towers—particularly St. Paul's, Salisbury, Piddihinton and North Bradley on their augmentations and rehangings. He was also glad to state that Little Cheney, Dorset, would have an octave, as two new bells had been presented to the parish.

GOOD RECORD FOR SUNDAY SERVICE.

Looking back on the records of the Guild, they had every reason to be satisfied with its progress and particularly in the development of change ringing, which had reached a high standard in many districts. They were grateful to those enthusiastic leaders and diligent instructors who had brought in fresh blood and many young ringers. There should be few places where the incumbents were not satisfied that the main object of the Guild, that of ringing the bells for Sunday service, was not fulfilled. The Guild had a good record for that.

They had lost by death some valuable members: The Rev. H. E. Tilney-Bassett, who at one time occupied the Master's chair; Canon Coleridge, a great man, a great personality and a fine ringer; Mr. J. E. Figgures, who was actively associated with the Salisbury Branch; and recently Mr. B. J. Jewell, captain of St. Thomas'. There was also Mr. Robert H. Legg, of Melksham, who was a ringer for 75 years and a life member. He learnt to ring on the curfew bell at Lyme Regis and had a fine life and was a splendid ringer. Then there was the Rev. C. A. Phillips, who had been secretary of the Wimborne Branch for 48 years. He did everything possible to encourage the progress of that branch, and his generosity was amazing.

The meeting stood in silence to their memory.

A FINANCIAL WARNING.

The Hon. Secretary presented the statement of accounts, which showed that the Guild started the year with a balance of £135 0s. 5d. Receipts amounted to £98 13s. 8d. and expenses £126 14s. 4d., leaving a balance of £106 19s. 9d. There were two rather exceptional expenses. For the Dorchester meeting they had to pay for the hire of the hall and also its furnishings for tea, and the meeting of the Central Council at York was also very expensive. He felt it necessary to issue a note of warning that the Guild spent £28 more than it received. The accounts were adopted.

Amid applause the Rev. C. C. Cox was re-elected Master. He promised to carry out his duties to the best of his ability.

THE HON. GENERAL SECRETARY.

The Master said the committee had received with very great regret the resignation of the Rev. F. Ll. Edwards as hon. general secretary. He had held that office for 37 years. The Master said he would like to look back a bit and make a mental picture of Mr. Edwards as a young and sprightly man who travelled here, there and everywhere in search of ringing. He threw all his energies into the Salisbury Guild, which when he became secretary was comparatively young. Mr. Edwards was still energetic; he arranged that big meeting, joined their clerical ringing week at Chester and was still able to handle a bell rope. His decision was unalterable and they regretted it very much. If any testimony was needed for his untiring labour and work for the honour and prestige of the Guild one could only say, 'Look around you.' Look around the counties of Dorset and Wilts; look around the diocese; the fruits of his labours were manifest. Mr. Edwards could have no greater gratification than that of knowing that the present position of the Guild was the outcome of his genial, businesslike and affectionate piloting (applause).

'I am sure,' continued the Master, 'that no Guild could possibly have had a more worthy secretary or one in whom the Master and members could place more confidence. And so we find with extreme regret that the moment has come for his retirement from office, and I want in the name of the whole Guild to offer him our warmest gratitude for all he has done and to express the deep sense of our loss on his leaving the helm. But it is some consolation to us that he is deeply rooted in Dorset and we are not parting with him as a ringer.'

The Master then asked Mr. Edwards to accept, as a small token of the Guild's gratitude and regard, a cheque for £45, and a testimonial expressing the Guild's heartfelt regret at his resignation as hon. general secretary after 37 years of faithful service (applause).

MEMORIES OF 37 YEARS.

The Rev. F. Ll. Edwards said the gift came to him as an overwhelming surprise. I thank you very much for this very practical and substantial expression of your satisfaction of the service I have been able to render to you during the past 37 years. Words entirely fail me to express my gratitude, and I very much value the way this gratitude has been expressed in this delightfully-worded testimonial.

'I look back to the year 1912 when I first took over the office of secretary. The Guild was then a great deal smaller than it is now. It then had six branches; since then two new branches have been formed. One interesting occasion during my secretaryship was the celebration of the jubilee of the Guild. On that occasion we could not find any hall large enough for this gathering and we had to use a large marquee in the Palace grounds at Salisbury.'

'At the time I took office there was comparatively little change ringing in the diocese, but gradually change ringing has spread and we have now some very fine teams of change ringers. A very large number of rings of bells have been rehung or augmented and a large number of young ringers instructed.'

'It is with very great regret that I lay down the office. The fact is that I very often suffer from rheumatism in my right hand and for that reason I have resigned the office of secretary. I am sorry I am a back number. Unhappily I am an old-fashioned Dorset person who does not drive a motor-car and in consequence I have been unable to attend all the meetings. You will have the advantage of a new secretary who will be up to date and able to get about. I thank you for your generous expression of satisfaction for my work for the Guild, and I hope I shall have a few years left to take part in the activities of the Guild as a private member' (applause).

The Master then proposed the election of Mr. Edwards as a vice-president.

Mr. A. F. Martin Stewart (a former Master), seconding, said it had been a great privilege and pleasure for him to work with Mr. Edwards for the greater part of the time he had been secretary. The Guild had always been fortunate in its officers. He was associated with Mr. Edwards in the restoration of Wimborne bells. It was difficult because one of the bells was cast by an itinerant founder and was of great value from an antiquarian point of view, but of little or no musical value. Thinking about it afterwards, he thought that bell ought to have been preserved as an antique.

Acknowledging his unanimous election, Mr. Edwards said when he took office they had no rings of ten in the Guild. They first had Wimborne and then Trowbridge, which later was augmented to 12.

OTHER OFFICERS.

The Rev. F. Ll. Edwards proposed Mr. W. C. West (Melksham) as hon. general secretary. This was seconded by Mr. F. Precey and carried.

Mr. F. Slatford, of North Bradley, was elected assistant secretary, and Mr. J. S. Weekes (Devizes) and Mr. C. F. Andrews (Melksham) hon. auditors. Mr. R. H. True (Poole) was elected to the committee. Mr. C. Pretty (Holt), Mr. G. Osborne (Upwey) and Mr. W. Hart (Westbury) were elected life members.

The committee recommended that with the object of encouraging membership certificates should be presented free.

Mr. H. A. Mitchell questioned the wisdom of the action and asked if it meant that certificates were to be issued ad lib.

The Master explained that the certificate required a qualification, and Mr. West said that the holder had to be able to ring 120 changes on the treble on tower bells or 'in hand.'

It was agreed that the certificates would be available free for one year.

In regard to Guild badges, Mr. West said they had disposed of the first quota. There was another £20 worth on order, and when received would be placed in the hands of the branch secretaries.

NEW GRANTS.

Grants of three guineas each were approved to Hazelbury Bryan, Dorset, where £600 was to be paid to put the bells in order; to St. James', Devizes; Southbroom, and Preston, Dorset, for a restoration and the addition of two trebles, estimated to cost £1,000.

It was decided to donate 2 gns. to the Bournemouth Festival, also one guinea from the collection at the service to the fund for the renovation of the spire of Salisbury Cathedral.

The financial position of the Wimborne Branch was discussed following the death of the late secretary, and it was agreed to authorise the Guild officers to make a loan to them if they were in difficulties.

The meeting concluded with a vote of thanks to the Rector of Trowbridge, the incumbents for the use of bells, and to Mr. Harding and Mr. West for the efficient arrangements for the meeting.

THE SERVICE.

The Guild service followed in the Parish Church, conducted by the Rector (the Rev. R. L. Pelley). To the large congregation that filled the body of the church he asked, in the course of his sermon, what was the fascination of ringing. He thought it was the delight in working in rhythm, in which each one felt he must come in at the right moment in co-operation with the others. It was an example of perfect freedom and order. That freedom and order were wanted in the world to-day.

The Nunc Dimittis was followed by the ringing of a touch of Stedman Caters 'in hand' by the Lyme Regis band.

A company of 240 attended tea in the Co-operative Hall, at which the Master presided. A large number of churches in the area were available for ringing during the day.

OBITUARY OF THE WEEK

MR. CHARLES H. MARTIN.

We regret to record the death on May 9th, at the age of 83, of Mr. Charles H. Martin, of Hendon, Middlesex, where he had been a ringer for 70 years and captain of the band for 60 years.

Mr. Martin was one of the original members of the Middlesex Association when it was founded in 1897, and held the office of Ringing Master of the North and East District from that date until 1907, when he asked to be relieved from that office owing to the responsibilities of an increasing family and to make way for a younger and more active member.

Although not a prolific peal ringer, he had rung peals in most of the standard methods, several of which he conducted. He took part in a peal of Superlative Surprise Major at Barnet in 1898, when peals in Surprise methods were a rarity and had rung in a number of handbell peals of Bob Major.

Mr. Martin was also the composer of many peal compositions. The first report of the Middlesex Association contained no less than eight of these and included one of Bob Major, two of Double Norwich, including the extent with the tenors together, one of Treble Bob Major, three of Superlative Surprise and one of Treble Bob Royal.

Several members of the Middlesex Association attended the funeral on May 14th, including Messrs. T. J. Lock, E. E. Pratchett, J. Hawkins and E. E. Pryor. In the evening the whole pull and stand was rung half-muffled at Hendon Church by Messrs. R. W. Green, A. W. Coles, R. Charge, F. A. Barker, E. E. Pratchett and R. H. Begrie. This was followed by other ringing, including an extent of Bob Minor, in which the following also took part: Messrs. L. Tubb, P. Blake, A. W. J. Butler, T. Bevan and R. J. Pitman, E. C. S. T.

MR. W. D. TAYLOR.

Mr. Walter D. Taylor, of Prittlewell, who died in hospital on May 6th, aged 39 years, had been a ringer for 28 years, learning in his native town of Topsham, Devon.

Moving to Prittlewell in 1934, he joined the local company and was a regular and consistent ringer until he joined the R.A.F. during the war. Soon after his discharge he contracted T.B. and faced his sufferings with a cheerful and Christian spirit. He was very keen on all church work and took a great interest in the choir.

His body was received into the church on the evening of May 11th, before which a peal was rung half-muffled by the local company. A good Christian and a good friend, he has been missed in the belfry for several years.

MR. E. A. BOWHILL.

The Earls Colne company have suffered a heavy loss by the death of Mr. Ernest A. Bowhill, which occurred with painful suddenness in the belfry of St. Andrew's Church on Sunday morning, May 7th, at the age of 68. He had taken part in a touch of Double Norwich and appeared to be in his normal health. A few minutes afterwards without the slightest warning he collapsed on the floor and passed away before medical aid arrived.

Mr. Bowhill came to Earls Colne about 40 years ago and was employed as a gardener. Although he had had some experience of five and six bells, it was not until about 16 years later he joined the local company. He then made good progress in Major methods and took part in 10 peals.

Mr. Bowhill was of a very jovial disposition and highly respected by all who knew him. He was a prisoner of war for 12 months during the 1914-18 war and during the last war served in the Royal Observer Corps. He leaves a widow and one daughter, with whom the deepest sympathy is felt.

The funeral took place on May 11th. The local company were represented by Messrs. W. Arnold, F. Claydon, F. Ridgwell, C. Saywood, Miss H. G. Snowden (District Master) and Mr. C. Snowden (Halstead), Messrs. A. L. Dixey and R. Lyon (Colne Engaine), B. Webb, H. Webb and E. Piper (Great Tey).

On the following Sunday the church bells were rung half-muffled for morning and evening services.

MR. CHARLES FAIRLEY.

Manchester Cathedral has lost one of its most conscientious workers and ringers by the death on May 12th of Charles Fairley, aged 82.

The funeral service was held in the Cathedral on May 16th. The bells were rung half-muffled with the whole pull and stand as the mourners entered the Cathedral. Interment was in the family grave at St. Paul's, Kersal.

In an address at the service Canon H. F. Woolnough paid a very great tribute to Mr. Fairley's long service to the church. He started as a Sunday School scholar and teacher. At the age of 14 he learnt to ring, and throughout his long life was a regular attendant at the belfry for service ringing until a week before his 82nd birthday.

Along with the family mourners were members of the Lancashire Association, including the secretary (Mr. W. H. Shuker) and Messrs. A. Barnes, F. R. Williams, H. Barlow, P. H. Darbyshire. The Police ringers from the Town Hall and the Cathedral ringers and a good number of the Cathedral congregation also attended.

On the Wednesday evening 1,295 Grandsire Caters was rung with the bells half-muffled by the following band: F. R. Williams 1, F. Barraclough 2, H. Hollingworth 3, Mary Walshaw 4, H. Longden 5, A. Ridyard 6, W. Pye 7, B. Walshaw 8, R. Longden (cond.) 9, G. Longden 10.

Hallowing Ceremony Revived

ST. GEORGE COLEGATE BELLS, NORWICH

We fortunately often read nowadays of the reopening of bells for ringing. We do not so often read about the use of the very ancient office of hallowing a bell before it ascends the tower, nowadays. The ancient service was revived in most impressive manner at St. George Colegate, Norwich, on May 6th, partly for the sake of the service and its meaning, partly to give the general public an opportunity of seeing and hearing bells at close quarters.

The arrangement of the service combined features traditionally used for centuries with one or two new and unique features. Following ancient precedent, the Litany was first sung—by the choir of King Edward VI. School—going in procession round the church to the chancel, where the six bells hung most impressively on two rolled steel joists between the choir stalls. Six choristers, not in the procession, lovingly gripped each a plumber's hammer (rubber headed!).

The Vicar then briefly indicated the meaning of the service, speaking of the power of bells to bridge all gulfs of time and space, indicated by the varying dates of the bells around him, from 1459 to 1950, and the fact that these bells, unlike any human being, would be equally at home in both America and Russia.

The Bishop of Thetford, in cope and mitre, then blessed water and oil, and sprinkled all the bells with water, praying that they might ring God's praise for many centuries, even as one had served here for five centuries already. He then solemnly anointed each bell with oil, making a cross on its shoulder. The treble, the ancient Sanctus recast as the clock bell in 1740 and now recast as the treble, he renamed the Sanctus.

The President of the Norwich Diocesan Association then offered the 2nd as a gift from the Association, and the Bishop named it Gabriel, to remind men of the message brought by Gabriel from Heaven.

A representative of the donors of the 3rd offered it as a memorial to Arthur Godfrey Howlett, Sheriff of Norwich in 1909, and the Bishop hallowed it to his memory and named it George, after the name of the church.

Lastly the three oldest bells were re-hallowed. The 4th, cast by John Brend, of Norwich, in 1637; the 5th, cast by Brasyer, of Norwich, in 1459 and now recast owing to a crack, he renamed after blessed Michael. The tenor, the oldest surviving bell, having been cast by Brasyer when the tower was new in 1459, he renamed Katherine.

The boys with their hammers had already taken their places, and each bell, as it was hallowed, had been solemnly struck three times. Now came a climax in the service. Two psalms had already been sung during the hallowing, and now Psalm 150 was sung to the setting by Stanford, the theme of which goes perfectly on six bells of this weight.

The chant was grandly and slowly played over on the back five, thus, 3, 5, 3, 2, 3,; 3, 2, 4, 3, 5, 6. Two verses of the psalm were sung unaccompanied; then the bells made a grand interlude; next came two verses; the bells accompanied 'Praise Him upon the well-tuned cymbals; praise Him upon the loud cymbals,' and finally made a grand accompaniment for the Gloria. The sermon was followed by prayers for the bells, the craftsmen who made them and those who will ring them. Followed a ringers' hymn by the Rev. W. G. Bridge, later 'Unchanging God' and the Blessing.

After the service the large congregation was shown a film taken by the Vicar only a few days before at the Whitechapel Foundry, showing in clear detail the furnaces, casting these bells, also tuning and other processes connected with other bells, foundry stamps and other details. Thus a memorable evening closed, and work immediately began at top speed to get ready for the opening a fortnight later.

Needless to say, the Vicar's new book on St. George Colegate and its bells (2s. 6d.) sold like hot cakes—or, rather, like his previous book.

WOLVERTON, HANTS.

The Rev. D. L. Board, Rector of Wolverton and captain of Wolverton ringers, is to be congratulated on the successful completion of a very large effort, namely, the recasting of the tenor bell and the complete rehanging of the ring of six in a new cast iron bell frame, which job has been carried out by Messrs. John Taylor and Co., Loughborough. The recast tenor bell weighs 9 cwt. 2 qr. 14 lb.

On Sunday, May 7th, at an afternoon service, the Rt. Rev. Bishop L. H. Lang dedicated the completed work and highly praised those who had given and those who had carried out the work. The service was very impressive and the solemnity of the occasion seemed to be increased by the subdued lighting, the church being lit by candles.

The opening ringing was carried out by the local ringers under the vice-captain, Mr. D.

Dedications

PORCHKERRY, NEAR BARRY.

A long-awaited day came on May 13th, when two new treble bells were dedicated at Porthkerry by the Rt. Rev. R. W. Jones, Assistant Bishop of the Province of Wales. There was a large congregation, and as the church holds less than one hundred, many people followed the service from the churchyard, where brilliant sunshine, the fresh green of the trees, and the sparkling waters of the Bristol Channel, provided a lovely setting for the little church.

The bells are in memory of the late Mr. Henry Gethin Lewis and his wife, of Porthkerry, who, with their family, have been closely associated with the church for many years. As recorded on the bells, these are the gift of their surviving children.

During the dedication service the six were heard for the first time rung in rounds by the following: 1. J. Malings 1, H. Green 2, F. Way 3, R. Curtis 4, S. Jones 5, D. Dimond 6. After the service the first touch was called by that veteran of the Llandaff and Monmouth Association, Mr. J. W. Jones.

A number of visiting ringers were present, and after tea the bells were kept going until almost nine o'clock, concluding a day which will be long remembered by those connected with the dedication.

The new bells weigh 2½ cwt. and 3½ cwt. respectively. The inscription reads: 'To the Glory of God and in memory of Henry Gethin Lewis and Ann Lewis, his wife, of Porthkerry, died 1945. The four bells were rehung and two treble bells added by Mary Gwenda Langman, Margaret Llewellyn Meggitt, Henry Gethin Lewis, Godfrey Lewis.'

At least once before in its history Porthkerry tower had two new bells together—in 1695: these were cast by Evan Evans, of Chepstow. Another of the existing bells is believed to be by Thomas Gefferies, of Bristol, and the probable date is between 1500 and 1550. The tenor is a recasting in 1879 of an older bell and weighs 7½ cwt. These four older bells have been rehung, the cost of the work being borne by the Lewis family. The work has been carried out by Mears and Stainbank.

A final footnote: one of the donors, Mr. H. G. Lewis, has just learnt to ring, and was able to take part in rounds on the great day.

THE LEICESTER DIOCESAN GUILD

BIG ATTENDANCE AT ANNUAL MEETING TOTAL MEMBERSHIP OF 1,346 REMARKABLE YEAR FOR PEAL RINGING RIVALS FOR THE PRESIDENCY QUESTION OF A SUBSCRIPTION

FULL use was made of the bells of Leicester during the afternoon of May 6th on the occasion of the annual general meeting of the Guild. The eight bells of St. Peter's at Belgrave were available before lunch. From 2 until 4 the six bells at All Saints' and the two twelves at the Cathedral Church of St. Martin and St. Margaret's were available for all comers.

A large number of ringers, their families and friends then assembled in St. George's Church, where the Vicar (the Rev. J. Adams) conducted the service. Lay Canon H. J. Poole, president of the Guild, read the lesson.

The Assistant Bishop, the Rt. Rev. F. S. Hollis, in his address, expressed his great pleasure in meeting such a large number of members of the Guild. In his last diocese—Labuan and Sarawak—there were only single bells. He spoke of his experiences and told of his first night sleeping under a row of human heads suspended above him. As a contrast, he spoke of the large Confirmation services he had held there before leaving. The robed choir was augmented by visiting ringers.

A company of 170 enjoyed an excellent tea in the nearby St. George's Hall. At the 'top table' were the Lord Bishop of Leicester, the Rt. Rev. Guy Vernon Smith, D.D.; the Ven. W. J. Lyon, M.A., Archdeacon of Loughborough; the Very Rev. H. A. Jones, B.Sc., Provost of Leicester; the Rev. J. Adams, Vicar of St. George's; the president, Mr. H. J. Poole, and the general officers, supported by the chairman and hon. secretary of each of the six districts of the Guild.

The business meeting was opened by the president saying how the Guild was honoured by the presence of the Lord Bishop of the Diocese, who was looking forward to taking the chair. The President spoke of the very great interest of the Lord Bishop in the Guild and its progress. With the exception of the Archdeacon of Leicester, who was unable to come, all the leading dignitaries of the diocese were present.

The Lord Bishop expressed his welcome to all ringers and said it was his custom, if at all possible, to meet the ringers on his visits to country churches. The primary purpose of ringers should be service to the Church expressed, in part, by their ringing.

GENERAL PROGRESS CONTINUING.

Mr. W. A. Wood, hon. general secretary, then gave his report for 1949. He said the general progress of the Leicester Diocesan Guild continued to be very satisfactory as would be realised when the hon. peal secretary and the hon. treasurer gave their reports. Reports from each of the six districts showed increasing interest in the work of the Guild, and the relations between the districts and the adjoining guilds continued to improve. Joint meetings helped to bring new friendships and to cement old ones. They added interest to the meetings.

The influx of new members continued, but there was some wastage due to lapsed membership. Much of this was due to many waiting for a meeting in their own tower before paying their subscriptions. A much better way and one followed by a number of towers was to appoint someone to collect all subscriptions due and to send them to the district secretary. Resident members numbered 802 and, with the 544 non-resident members, the grand total was 1,346. This figure was arrived at after weeding out lapsed members.

Members would appreciate that the hon. peal secretary had a colossal job. As well as being strong numerically, the Leicester Diocesan was at the top of the peal ringing totals—both in number and quality—for the year 1949. These results had not been achieved without hard work by the many who had the welfare of the Guild at heart.

On the social side, for which the Guild was noted, a very successful festival was held at Loughborough. This, in the opinion of the many present, was the 'best yet.' Several districts now organised socials and dances. One dance, arranged by the Hinckley district, raised over £30, which was handed over to the Market Bosworth Bell Fund. This was in addition to £21 granted from the Guild Repair Fund to this church.

PERSONAL ACHIEVEMENTS.

There were one or two special personal achievements to note. The president, Mr. H. J. Poole, rang 143 peals in 1949; these included 484 'firsts.' To do this in one year was no mean feat, and the president was to be congratulated on his remarkable achievement.

Mr. A. Ballard, of the Hinckley District, during the year rang 118 peals without in any way neglecting the work of the Guild. He attended every monthly meeting in his own district as well as all general quarterly and committee meetings. He also attended all practices in his own tower as well as organising special practices in other towers. Even without the peal ringing this was a record few members had equalled.

PEAL RECORD.

Mr. Shirley Burton, hon. peal secretary, reported that 1949 was an outstanding year of remarkable peal ringing activity. The total rung was 267 and the variety of methods showed good progress on all numbers of bells from Doubles to Maximus. Minor peals in 19 and 20 methods and two of Surprise Minor in seven methods were the first in the county. Two long peals of Bristol, 9,344 and 10,976, had been rung with 6th place bobs. Eight members rang four Surprise peals in one day, comprising Superlative, London and Bristol Major and, with two additional members, Cambridge Royal. This was followed by four members taking part in three Surprise peals in one day—Major, Royal and Maximus. Mr. A. Cattell rang two tower bells to a peal of Minor for the first time in the county.

Peals in new methods rung for the first time were Bedford and Wigston Maximus, Aldenham and Leicestershire—both Royal and Maximus and Lindsey Royal. There were 37 first pealers, 655 first in the method, 36 different conductors and 58 first as conductors in the method.

The next item, the auditor's report, was given by Mr. H. G. Jenner, who, after certifying that the books were correct, complimented the hon. general secretary on his work and his excellent system, which made the work of the auditors easier.

GRANTS OF 50 GUINEAS.

Mr. A. E. Rowley, hon. treasurer, reported that the funds of the Guild were in a healthy position, and although the number of new members was slightly less than in 1948, the members' subscriptions showed a marked increase. This was largely due to the increase in subscriptions from 1s. 6d. to 2s. 6d. The general fund balance had increased from £74 6s. 11d in 1948 to £132 13s. 4d. in 1949. A portion of this balance was earmarked to pay for the 1948-49 report. The Bell Repair Fund now stood at £165 18s. 10d. even after making grants during the year totalling 50 guineas to various churches. Recalling that the old M.C.A. had never been able to make grants on this scale, Mr. Rowley thought the Guild should be very proud to be able to do so

He appreciated the steady income for the fund from the collections at the monthly meetings.

The adoption of the balance sheet was proposed by Mr. A. Disney and seconded by Mr. H. Wayne and duly agreed to.

Mr. F. K. Measures' proposal that the next general quarterly meeting be held at Earl Shilton on July 15th was seconded by Mr. A. Ballard and this also was agreed.

The President then gave an account of recent general committee decisions. Mr. J. Norton, of Billesdon, on the application of the Syston District, was placed on the hon. life members' list. The question of new service forms was to be gone into; the next stage would then be to submit them to the Lord Bishop for his approval. District secretaries were to test the feeling at their meetings in order to gauge the demand for badges.

THE PRESIDENCY.

All the foregoing had been gone through swiftly and without discussion. It was plain to all that the next item on the agenda held the chief interest of all present, especially as a fairly large number of people had joined the meeting after tea, led by Mr. T. C. Belton and Mr. Walter P. Whitehead, both of Barwell.

The Lord Bishop then announced the names of the two nominees for the office of president—Mr. H. J. Poole, the retiring president, and Mr. T. C. Belton, of Barwell. The question was asked from the floor whether or not the voting could be by paper ballot, as it was felt that those who voted would be embarrassed if others present knew for whom individuals voted.

Mr. E. C. Turner, vice-president, stated that the General Committee's decision was that the voting should be by show of hands or, in the case of a very close vote, that the individuals should then stand and declare themselves.

The nominations were then put to the vote and resulted in 89-50 in favour of Mr. H. J. Poole. The nominations for Mr. Poole were from five districts and for Mr. Belton from the Syston District.

The election of Mr. Poole was greeted with acclamation, and he assured members in a very short speech that he would do all in his power to further the wellbeing of the Guild. He hoped Mr. Belton would not regard his loss of the election as a defeat and that he would help to carry out the proposals he had outlined in his circular to the towers. If he would do so, Mr. Poole said he would be one of Mr. Belton's strongest supporters.

The remainder of the general officers were re-elected, there being no other nominations: vice-presidents, Mr. P. L. Taylor and Mr. E. C. Turner; hon. treasurer, Mr. A. E. Rowley; hon. peal secretary, Mr. Shirley Burton; hon. general secretary, Mr. W. A. Wood.

The confirmation, en bloc, of 10 non-resident and 18 resident members was, on the proposition of Mr. E. C. Turner, seconded by Mr. P. L. Taylor, agreed to. The Lord Bishop hoped the new members would take up the duties and responsibilities of membership of the Guild.

At 'Any other business,' Mr. Belton arose and thanked his helpers. He enquired why members in H.M.F. had not been enabled to vote. He also cast doubt on the propriety of the Hinckley District nominations.

Mr. F. K. Measures, hon. secretary of the Hinckley District, replied that nominations had been overlooked at the meetings, but had been sent in by individual members as a district meeting could not be convened in the necessary time.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

PAPANUI, NEW ZEALAND

Dear Sir,—The existing Church of St. Paul in the parish of Papanui, a northern suburb of the city of Christchurch, was erected in 1876, although the present tower was not constructed until 1912, when the original structure became practically unsafe as a campanile.

At this point the parishioners, desirous of keeping their bells in use, set to work to build anew. The result is that Papanui boasts of a unique wooden tower, neat, yet of no apparent dignity; strong, yet of no apparent support, veritably 'shivering in every timber' as the bells their merry circle swing.

It is indeed an involuntary reminder of the story that is told of a little ship, creaking and groaning in every timber, battling against the fury of a West African storm, until, at last, beneath a gigantic wave, she splits asunder and sinks into the deep, taking with her to their graves her complement of crew and a ring of five bells intended for this parish.

Luckily the cargo was insured, and in 1890 the present five musical bells (Messrs. Mears and Stainbank, London) were installed, and since that time have seldom ceased—according to local history—to say aloud the inscribed words on the tenor bell, 'We sing the Lord's song in a strange land.'—Yours, etc.,

ALBERT J. LANCEFIELD.

NOTE.—A peal of Doubles in three methods, the first peal on the bells, is recorded in our peal columns this week. Congratulations to the ringers.—EDITOR.

SURPRISE METHODS

Dear Sir,—May I ask the hospitality of your columns in order to thank all those who have so kindly written during my recent illness, and to convey my apologies for being unable in the circumstances to write to each of them individually?

From the announcement in the advertisement columns it will be seen that the long-delayed issue of 'Surprise Methods' is at last on the eve of publication. It has been necessary to reduce further delay by dividing the projected issue into two parts, the second of which will appear, I hope, at the end of June.

There are not many left of the small edition first printed of the Royal and Maximus Surprise methods. This I propose to reprint when it is possible to carry out the Methods Committee's recommendations on the subject of extensions—a thorny subject admittedly, but one which the Exercise must tackle some time. In view of the increase in the number of Surprise methods on 10 and 12 bells which have been rung since the twenties and thirties—an increase still being steadily maintained—it can certainly be said that the urgency of the matter is growing.—Yours sincerely, Bitton, near Bristol. A. J. CORRIGAN.

SUBSCRIPTION POINT.

Mr. Measures then asked Mr. Belton whether he had paid his subscriptions during the past two years, as he, the district secretary concerned, had not received any from Mr. Belton. Mr. Belton then claimed to have handed his subscription for 1949 to Mr. Measures last November. Mr. Measures reiterated, definitely, that he had received no such payment from Mr. Belton. (A later search of the audited books failed to reveal any payment from Mr. Belton during the year 1949.)

The rule relating to the non-payment of subscriptions was read out, and, there being no further comment, the Lord Bishop closed the meeting with his blessing and wished the Guild success in the coming years.

The tables were then cleared away and the company settled down to enjoy a social evening arranged by the popular secretary of the Hincley District, Mr. F. K. Measures.

FIRSTPEAL OF MINOR AT MARKSBURY

Dear Sir,—Re the peal at Marksburry, Somerset, published in 'The Ringing World' on April 21st, in which the footnote states 'Believed to be the first on the bells,' the first peal on these bells was Bob Minor, rung for evening service on Sunday, October 16th, 1910, and was conducted by the late A. E. Seers.—Yours, etc.,
A. J. COUSINS.

LARGEST PARISH CHURCH

Dear Sir,—Mr. R. S. Hunt is indeed correct in saying that upon the question of England's largest parish church there is much divergence of opinion. There are, in fact, few topics which provoke more heated argument among those who attend churches which are larger than the average.

I do not intend to state which is our largest parish church, nor do I care to express any personal opinion on this point. The answer to this much discussed question could only, I think, be provided by a thorough survey of claimants to the title.

This, however, I would say, that among the larger of these claimants ranks the Parish Church of Royal Leamington Spa. Dedicated to All Saints, this church, standing on the site of an old Saxon chapel, was built between the years 1843 and 1902. The architects were the Rev. John Craig, M.A. (Vicar), who was responsible for the erection of the eastern portion, and Sir Arthur Blomfield, who designed the western nave and tower. The approximate dimensions are: Length 220ft.; width across transepts 100ft.; width of nave 60ft.; height to centre of nave arches 80ft.; height of western tower 150ft.; height of transeptal clock tower 100ft.—I am sir, Yours, etc., ANTONY RANDLE.

THE DIRECTORY OF CHURCH BELLS

Dear Sir,—Apart from your recent editorial on Mr. Dove's book, the only comments so far made by readers have drawn attention to microscopic errors. Although a tyro among ringers, I have some experience as a writer and reviewer, and it will be readily conceded by anyone who has had the task of compiling records that the adjective we must apply to this book is 'monumental.'

It is clear that the utmost care has gone into its preparation, and for my part I am amazed that there are so few errors in the first edition of a work of this nature. One ringer with records of 850 towers has found one omission; my personal notes cover churches in 17 counties, but all of mine are there! To have achieved an accuracy of over 99 per cent. at the first attempt denotes an ability for pains taking research I would fain possess.

Congratulations, Mr. Dove; I should like to meet you.—Yours faithfully,

EDWARD G. CAPLE.

Clevedon, Somerset.

A PIONEER OF SURPRISE

Dear Sir,—May I be allowed to correct one sentence of your report on the George Williams Commemoration Dinner at Bournemouth, which, no doubt, will cause surprise as it stands. I refer to the part of my speech which states that Mr. Williams rang his first peal of Surprise in the year before the last war. George Williams was, of course, a pioneer of Surprise methods ringing, and in his life rang nearly 400 peals in various methods, chiefly Superlative, out of his grand total of over 1,500. What I actually said was that in the year before the war, and at the age of over 80, he rang his first peal of Spliced Surprise and apparently commented afterwards that there was nothing in it!—Yours sincerely, K. W. H. FELSTEAD.

Southampton.

Winchester and Portsmouth

PORTSMOUTH DISTRICT.

In brilliant sunshine the first quarterly meeting of the year for the Portsmouth District was held at Swanmore on May 13th. The bells of Bishop's Waltham (8) and Swanmore (6) were available during the afternoon and evening, and the service in St. Barnabas', Swanmore, was conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. A. E. McCaig). A company of 33 partook of a sumptuous tea in the Parish Hall.

The business meeting was presided over by the district chairman (Mr. W. Linter). The election as a non-resident life member of Mr. E. Treagus, of Bognor Regis, was ratified, and Joan Dudman, Rona Gale, both of Soberton, and Ruth Ball, of Wickham, were elected ringing members.

The next meeting will be at Catherington on August 5th.

A vote of thanks was moved by Mr. Macey to the Vicar, organist, Mr. Ainsley, and all who had helped to make the meeting a success.

Towers represented were Alverstoke, Fareham, Hambledon, Lyndhurst, Portsea (St. Mary's), Shedfield, Soberton, Southampton (St. Michael's), Swanmore, Titchfield and Wickham.

MR. JOE HARDCASTLE

Mr. Joe Hardcastle, the well-known Bradford ringer, spent his 80th birthday in Bradford Royal Infirmary. We regret to learn that his days as a practising ringer at Bradford Cathedral, where he has served with great faithfulness for over 60 years, have come to an end.

About 15 weeks ago he had a fall and broke his thigh bone high up. Since then he has had trouble with his right leg, which has been amputated above the knee.

Mr. Hardcastle was one of the band, now unfortunately getting less, who toured Australia for the Melbourne centenary celebrations.

A LOSS TO ABERAVON

A fraternal bond after 40 years with St. Mary's ringers, Aberavon, was broken on Sunday, April 14th, when for the last time 'Ernie' (Mr. E. Stitch) helped to lower the bells in peal for evening service. He was leaving for Wolverhampton the following day.

We cannot forget to pay tribute to the work he did in constructional alterations in the belfry. His sense of duty was a ritual.

A presentation, fitting to the occasion, was made to him by Mr. Jack Pitman in the form of a hymn book, autographed by the Vicar, wardens and ringers of the church, also a fountain pen.

Mr. Leonard Hughes takes his place as captain of the ringers.

AN AUSTRALIAN RECORD

The peal of Doubles, 8,040 changes, at Yass, N.S.W., Australia, was an attempt on the unofficial record of 10,080 changes of Doubles rung some 128 years ago in England. The attempt was for 100 extents of Doubles, but at the end of the 67th extent the conductor called 'Stand' because of the inability of one of the band to continue. The peal was, however, far above the original Australian record, and gave some satisfaction to the otherwise disappointed ringers.

On the treble was Mr. W. H. Short, son of Mr. William Short, of Birmingham, who on December 26th, 1901, conducted the record peal of 11,111 of Stedman Cinques, which took 8 hours and 2 minutes to complete. No. 2 was R. W. Ferris, who conducted his first peal five days prior to the attempt. It was his fifth peal. No. 3 was Mr. R. S. Rowe, who scored his second peal. No. 4 was Mr. J. Duncan, who scored his sixth peal. The conductor, Mr. W. M. Rowe, rang the tenor. It was his seventh peal, six of which he has conducted.

RINGERS OUTINGS

ST. MARGARET'S, LEICESTER.

On May 13th, the St. Margaret's, Leicester, ringers and friends, numbering forty, set out on the long journey to Selby and York. In glorious weather the countryside looked at its best. A brief stay at Thorne, where some of the party visited the church and were kindly invited to ring if they wished, but time would not allow. Thence on to Selby, where at the famous Abbey the grand ring of ten (tenor 25½ cwt.) was rung to touches of Grandsire and Stedman Caters, Kent Royal and Double Norwich. The 'conductor' renewed acquaintance with the bells which he had called to a peal in 1918 for the Canonry of the late Vicar. It was with the deepest regret that he heard of the passing of that local celebrity, Frederick Cryer, who took part in that far off peal, and who had died only that morning at the age of 91. From Selby on to York, where we had the privilege of ringing for evensong. While the ladies and others visited 'Great Peter' in his tower, the rest rang touches of Cinques, Caters and Royal on the heavy twelve (tenor 60 cwt.), and despite the long pull and heavy bells, the youngsters acquitted themselves with honour and rang splendidly.

'Ernest' again renewed old friendships, for he had dwelt two years in York during the first World War, and conducted at the Minster the Armistice ringing on November 11th, 1918. It was a delight to meet Messrs. Horner, Rickett, Atkinson and Walker. After an all too brief look around the city walls, the Shambles and ancient gates, an excellent tea was partaken of. Thence the return journey, with a brief stop at Scrooby, brought a most happy and pleasant day to a close—in the words of one, 'the best yet.' Our thanks are due to Messrs. Silk and Morley, of Selby; Horner and Walker, of York, and to the authorities for permission to ring. E. M.

NORWICH DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION.

This took place on May 13th and went with the precision and success connected with everything Nolan Golden arranges. It was a most happy affair, lasting from 7.30 a.m. until 1 a.m. The motor-coach duly left Mancroft and picked up other friends on the way.

The first tower was Long Sutton, where Mr. Smith met us, and the grand eight in a very fine Early English tower made a good start with various methods.

Then to Pinchbeck, where Superlative, Double Norwich, etc., sounded very nice on a good eight (tenor 18 cwt.) in a lovely stone tower—the fine stone towers of Lincolnshire are the envy of those who have to keep in repair the flint towers of East Anglia. Mr. Richardson made us at home here.

At Surfleet Mrs. Richardson welcomed us, and there was much reminiscing about old times. The light twelve (tenor 12 cwt.) went very well as soon as people had got used to the trebles. Mrs. Richardson had lunch with us.

At Heckington, where Mr. Dixon met us, the grand eight (tenor 19 cwt.) in one of the finest 'Decorated' towers in England, attached to a glorious church of similar date, were rung to Superlative, Double Norwich, etc. Boston Stump was easily visible from here.

At Ewerby we had the pleasure of meeting Mr. John Freeman and other members of the Lincoln Guild, who were having a district meeting, and who most kindly allowed us to ring. A very nice ten (tenor 14 cwt.) were made good use of. Tea was served at Sleaford, where Mr. and Mrs. Wray and others were most kind to us; a ring on the eight here (tenor 19 cwt.) was enjoyed. A glorious finish to the day was provided by the grand ten at Grantham (tenor 32 cwt. 1 qr. 11 lb.), where Mr. Thorpe and several other kind friends made us most welcome. Deep gratitude to all the kind friends who welcomed us, and most of all to Nolan Golden for his superb organising. A. G. G. T.

FINCHLEY.

Finchley ringers' outing on May 13th was most enjoyable, the party consisting of 16 practical exponents of the art and 11 wives.

By 9.15 the ringers were warily crossing a field inhabited by horses to Knebworth tower, where methods rung ranged from Grandsire Triples to Oxford Bob Triples. Here they were met by the 84-year-old veteran, Mr. Ferns.

Early 'elevenses' followed, and before lunch at the Swan, Biggleswade, there were touches at Hitcham. After lunch Mr. R. Newman expressed the thanks of the party to Mr. Fred Barker for arranging the outing.

Biggleswade and Bromham towers were visited during the afternoon. Tea was served at Turvey, with Mr. T. Bevan as an able waiter. At Turvey tower the whole pull and stand was rung to the memory of Mr. C. H. Martin, of Hendon, who died the previous Monday. Finchley was reached at 11.15 after a day which will be remembered by all for a long time to come.

STOKE GOLDINGTON, BUCKS.

On April 29th the ringers of Stoke Goldington, Bucks, accompanied by their popular Rector and several friends from nearby towers, spent a very enjoyable afternoon visiting six towers in the Northampton district. Ringing started at Harlestone with its heavy but well going ring of six, tenor 20 cwt., and then the party moved off to Long Buckby, where the delightful ring of five (tenor 15 cwt.) was made good use of. Unfortunately an already damaged stay on the second came adrift and we rang for the next half an hour minus its stay.

The party then journeyed to West Haddon, another ring of five with a 12 cwt. tenor. After tea a move was made to Guilsborough, where the light ring of six with a very short pull was rung for about half an hour. At Naseby, the next tower, the ringers found a somewhat disgusting ringing chamber. After a little first aid had been applied to the ropes the bells were raised and several well-struck touches brought home. The bells, a ring of five with a 15 cwt. tenor, were rather noisy in the ringing chamber, and bird debris from above rained down on the ringers. Apart from this, the bells went passably well and sounded quite musical from outside. The final tower was Maidwell, where the light six and spacious well-kept ringing chamber were a joy to all. O. G. W.

TUNE RINGING

Dear Sir,—I thank Peter Laffin for his information about a publication in the nineties instructing how to ring 109 bells. I must enquire for it. But I cannot undertake to travel about with a 13ft. table and half a dozen blankets to put the bells on!

I thank John R. Brearley for telling us Yorkshire is the real home of handbell ringing. I hope he does not infer that no other county must touch a handbell. In 1890 tune ringing on a padded table was done in Exeter by the Shepherd family. My team were all Northamptonshire bred and born, including myself. If required we could have rung by picking up on a padded table. I frequently did solo ringing by this method. But we preferred four in hand, which made for mobility when suddenly called upon for fetes, socials, concerts, church services with or without organ and voices, ringers' quarterly meetings and services, carol ringing indoors and out, etc.

Both methods work well according to the circumstances, which must decide which is better. J. M. TURNER.

SURPRISE METHODS

THE latest addition to the A. J. Corrigan series on Surprise Methods, now available, is doubly welcome. Not only is it a valuable contribution to the history of this branch of the art, but its appearance signifies the compiler's recovery from an illness which has delayed publication for several months.

The contents include lists of the first peals in Surprise Major, Royal and Maximus methods, the Major list being naturally by far the longest. The lists are in alphabetical order by method names, which arrangement is appropriate to their chief purpose of showing whether or not a peal has been rung in a given method, though this is not the only information that can be extracted from the data given.

For instance, examination of the dates of first peals shows clearly the great expansion in variety of methods during the nineteen-thirties. Presaged by the introduction of two or three new methods in most years of the preceding decade, the year 1932 produced such a spate of Major methods that it must be regarded as the beginning of a new era. No doubt the activity of composers in evolving new methods provided both the opportunity and the stimulus for the achievements recorded, but success was due to another factor. That a band should ring a peal in a fresh method with little or no practice would have seemed incredible in earlier times, though it is becoming commonplace to-day. Without improvements in the technique of method ringing, the score could not have mounted so rapidly. If, in the near future, the flood shows signs of abating, the explanation must be sought in the approaching exhaustion of the Surprise Major field. But the experience gained is available for application in other fields. The lists of peals in Royal and Maximus methods suggest that the lead given by Major is already being followed on ten and twelve bells; although here the scope is much greater, the opportunities for peal ringing are fewer, so that progress will inevitably be less spectacular.

In addition to first peals in separate methods, the first spliced peals in progressive numbers of methods are listed. Comparison of these lists with those for single methods reveals a parallel development in both fields. The few years' priority discernible in the advance of spliced ringing is attributable mainly to one band. This fact suggests another instructive way in which the data can be dissected, namely, in terms of the towers at which new methods have been rung. Such an analysis discloses the existence of enthusiastic pioneers in certain localities, whose success has encouraged others to persevere in the mastery of advanced ringing.

Mr. Corrigan's diligence in compiling this comprehensive tabulation has supplied a compact reference book of past achievements which will also form a convenient basis for planning future performances. M. H.

WISDOM FROM YORKSHIRE

A PART from chronicling domestic happenings, there is much ringing commonsense in the 74th annual report of the Yorkshire Association. It has been written by a knowledgeable pen. Commenting upon the wide variety of Surprise methods rung during the year, the report states: 'There is no doubt that Surprise ringing is becoming increasingly popular as the opportunity to practise the higher methods increases; this is all to the good, and your committee welcomes this advance in change ringing. It should, however, be pointed out once more that good striking is more important than intricate method ringing; there is no reason why the two should not go together—in many cases they do—but perhaps it will not be out of place to warn our younger members of the risk of allowing their ambitions to be ruled by impatience. It is better to establish a good standard of striking, until it becomes a second nature, than to launch out in difficult method ringing with the hope that good striking will follow. That rarely happens, and it should be borne in mind that, while the listening public cannot distinguish a Surprise method from a Plain one, there are many people who can tell the difference between good and bad striking; they can be influenced, and often are, by what they hear.

Another delicious touch! 'Ringers have many ambitions. Some like to ring as many new methods as possible, some to ring in as many different towers as possible. Some have a particular liking for tenors, while others seem to be attracted by heavy bells, presumably to work off some of their surplus energy!' This craving for weight is apparent in our performances this year by the peals which have been rung on the heavy back eight at Wakefield Cathedral and Leeds Parish Church and the peal of Minor on the back six at Howden.

During the year the Association rang 148 peals (a record) and it is interesting to note that 45 members rang their first peal and 316 their first in a particular method. Six members called their first peal, and the 148 peals were shared by 42 conductors. In the matter of individual performances, Mr. J. E. Cawser, who is the leader of the band which has rung all the new Surprise methods for the Association this year, has passed the 200 mark for the Association; three others of his band—Messrs. M. C. Fowler, A. Firth and F. B. Ditcher—have passed the first century for the Yorkshire Association. Mr. Eric Critchley is the top peal scorer for the year with 38 peals, followed by E. Jenkins with 37. Mr. J. E. Cawser heads the list of conductors by calling 26 peals.

One final point. Mr. W. Barton, who has prepared 30 reports for the Association, has resigned. We should like, on behalf of the Exercise, to acknowledge his work. The Yorkshire annual report is an exceedingly useful document, especially for conductors. The current issue contains 42 compositions new to the Association, a useful addition to the ringers' library.

Worcester Cathedral bells will not be available this summer owing to the two remaining pinnacles being repaired.

The band which rang the peal at Warminster on May 20th would like to take the opportunity of thanking Mr. N. Pearson for the arrangements he made to welcome the visitors and for having the bells ready on their arrival.

The Great Horwood, Bucks, bells are in the process of being reinstated after receiving attention at the Whitechapel Foundry. We regret that we were misinformed in regard to the paragraph in the issue of May 12th regarding Bletchley, Bucks, bells.

Tender apologies are proffered to Mr. Denis
A. Bayles in regard to claiming that the recent peal of Cambridge Surprise Royal at West Hartlepool was the first by a resident band for the Durham and Newcastle Diocesan Association since 1924. He regrets that he has been misinformed.

The 50th anniversary of a peal of Double Norwich Court Bob Major at Walkden, Lancs, was commemorated by a peal in the same method on May 19th. The only survivor of the original band, Mr. Percy H. Derbyshire, rang the sixth.

Are there any licensed lay readers interested in a peal attempt on Saturday, October 14th, next? If so, please write to H. A. Price, Eagle House, Yatton, near Bristol, stating (a) parish in which licensed; (b) Grandsire or Stedman Triples preferred; (c) conductor or not.

BELFRY GOSSIP

As a mark of respect and esteem for Mr. E.
Humphrey on his 80th birthday, a peal of Stedman Cinques was rung at Reading on May 18th. Edgar rang the 9th, which is not the best going bell in the tower, faultlessly. He rang his first peal 63 years ago, and in his own words has not been a peal grabber, having yet to reach the 200 mark, but says he had the pleasure of ringing some remarkably fine peals, several being under his conductorship.

After the peal Mr. Humphrey entertained the band to supper and his health was toasted with sincerity by the band. He is a fine example to any youngster, writes our correspondent, being most punctual and regular at Sunday service ringing and practice, and his word is his bond. A fine man, a fine ringer and a fine member of St. Laurence's band.

It cost the Yorkshire Association £29 10s. to entertain the Central Council at York last year.

The meeting of the Tonbridge District of the Kent County Association for June 3rd is at Brenchley and not Benenden as announced in a previous issue of 'The Ringing World.'

The contract for the new ring of eight, with tenor approximately 16½ cwt., for the old Parish Church at Bromley, Kent, has been placed with Messrs. Gillett and Johnston.

Before any attempt could be made to ring a peal of Doubles at Norton on May 20th, the efforts of the 'handyman' of the band were necessary. After the tenor had been eased from its headstock on one side and a wedge driven in, the tenorman expressed the view that he stood a much better chance now that the bell did not catch on the frame. With this and modifications to a few pulley-blocks and rope holes on intermediate floors, a good peal was rung, the first on the bells for 26 years.

ANNUAL GENERAL MEETING.

THE annual meeting of the Sussex County Association took place in Brighton on May 13th. The church chosen for the Association's service this year was St. Peter's, and at the service the Vicar of Brighton gave the address on the subject of the appeal of bells to the public and the services of ringers as church officials.

The business meeting took place in St. Peter's Memorial Hall after the tea, at which 121 members and visitors were present. With the Master, Mr. F. I. Hairs, in the chair, a welcome was extended to the Vicar of Brighton, the Vicar of St. Nicholas', Brighton, and to Mr. E. A. Whiting, churchwarden of St. Peter's.

The secretary (Mr. S. E. Armstrong) was instructed to write to Mr. O. Sippetts, hon. treasurer, expressing the meeting's sympathy with him in his illness and their hopes for a speedy recovery.

Mr. C. Tyler, of Henfield, a foundation member, had congratulations expressed to him on the anniversary of his diamond wedding, while Messrs. Godley, Steele and Cherryman were congratulated on their combined service of 172 years to Aldrington tower.

KEITH HART MEMORIAL.

Arising from the minutes, the secretary stated that £26 5s. had been raised towards the erection of a bronze tablet to the memory of Mr. K. Hart. This was considered a rather disappointing result, as the cost, apart from faculty fees and cost of erection, had been estimated at £25. Mr. C. J. Cooper enquired how the necessary balance was to be raised, and on the chairman's statement that it was to be paid from the Association funds, he suggested that towers could contribute more, and promised assistance from the Church of the Good Shepherd. A tracing of the proposed memorial was on view, and the secretary reported that the design had now been submitted to the Diocesan Advisory Committee for their approval.

FINANCIAL POSITION.

The balance sheet, which showed a balance of £338 8s. 10d. on all accounts, and Master's report were adopted after the Eastern Division auditor had pointed out that his comment on the divisional balance sheet had been omitted and requested its inclusion.

The peal secretary reported the ringing of 87 peals in the year, with 36 conductors.

When the question of the divisional levies was opened, it was suggested that they should be at a fixed percentage, instead of being based on the expenses of the Central Fund, and levied at varying percentages from year to year. In the absence of the treasurer, Messrs. G. T. Jennings and R. G. Blackman replied, stating that previously the amount levied had not been enough to cover the working expenses; the cash balance in the central fund was becoming low; and that the divisions had had an opportunity to build up their balances at the expense of the Central Fund. The auditor of the Eastern Division was of the opinion that income should be levied on the year to which it applied. In particular the Eastern Division had received a number of outstanding affiliation fees for 1947 and 1948 that should be levied on the percentage for those years, which was considerably lower than the 91½ per cent. of 1949. Eventually the levies were adopted.

In the election of officers, the president and vice-presidents were re-elected en bloc.

A NEW MASTER.

Mr. F. I. Hairs, who had occupied the Mastership for the past year, although technically not a resident member, stated that there was no immediate probability of his returning to the county, and therefore wished not to offer himself for re-election. He thanked the officers and members for their loyal support during his period of office. Mr.

R. G. Blackman proposed and Mr. Hills seconded the election of Mr. and Mrs. Hairs as life members in recognition of their services, and on behalf of the meeting Mr. Blackman thanked the retiring Master for the excellent work he had done in the county.

The names of Mr. G. Bond, of St. Peter's, Brighton, and Mr. G. W. Cecil, of Haywards Heath, were proposed and seconded as Master. A ballot was taken and Mr. Cecil was elected and took the chair. He was welcomed by the retiring Master and the general secretary, and in reply thanked the meeting for his election.

The other officers were re-elected as follows: Hon. treasurer, Mr. O. Sippetts; hon. general secretary, Mr. S. E. Armstrong; peal secretary, Mr. J. Dearlove; Central Fund auditors, Messrs. Bond and Overy; hon. trustees of funds, Messrs. Butcher, Dallaway and Tompkins.

Association.

INSURANCE OF RINGERS.

On the question of insurance of ringers, Mr. Rayfield, of Rye, described an accident he had experienced in the tower resulting in a broken ankle and wrist, by a heavy trap door which caused him to fall from the tower ladder. He had approached the Church authorities regarding any liability they might have in such instances, as it was one which might well affect any ringer anywhere. He had been informed that as there was no inherent defect in either the trap door or the ladder, no liability was admitted by the Church authorities.

Mr. Dallaway stated that he had had a communication from an insurance company who would be prepared to issue a group policy at a cost of one shilling per head per annum. Mr. C. J. Cooper stated that in general church insurance did not apply to ringers, as they were not employees, but on payment of a small extra premium, and with the inclusion of an extra clause, ringers could be adequately covered against accidents in the tower.

The Master closed the discussion by pointing out that ringers should approach their Parochial Church Councils with the object of getting this clause included in the insurance policy.

Under any other business, Mr. P. Bond complained that the meeting had only been advertised once in 'The Ringing World' and that the touches rung at the meeting were too long. The General Secretary replied that two notices had been published in 'The Ringing

Joint Meeting at Nuneaton

A joint meeting of the Coventry Diocesan Guild and the Hinckley District of the Leicester Guild took place at Chilvers Coton, Nuneaton, on May 13th. Ringing to suit all tastes on the ten bells was indulged in during the afternoon and evening, and a short service was conducted by the Vicar, the Rev. R. R. P. Rigby, president of the Coventry Diocesan Guild. He paid tribute to ringers whose service for the church combined so readily with social activities in a greater degree than other spheres of church work.

About 60 sat down to tea in the Parish Hall and later in the evening a social was held, attended by about 150 ringers and friends. Dances and games were interspersed with hand-bell ringing, tunes by the Earl Shilton ringers and Grandisre Caters by a mixed band of both Guilds. Mr. H. J. Poole, president of the Leicester Guild, congratulated the organisers on the success of the gathering and hoped it was the forerunner of many more. Mr. F. K. Measures (hon. secretary of Hinckley District) acted as M.C. in his usual efficient manner.

MIDDLESEX COUNTY ASSOCIATION MEETING AT RUISLIP.

Not since pre-war days had the Middlesex visited Ruislip on a Saturday afternoon, and a very warm welcome was extended on May 13th by the Vicar, the Rev. E. C. Morimer, to the Association and to the 35 members who attended.

Ringing under the supervision of the Master, Mr. T. Price, was confined to the standard methods and Cambridge Surprise Major, the long draught of rope making good striking difficult for the less experienced ringers.

A beautiful service, conducted by the Vicar, was very much enjoyed, the closing hymn, 'Ruislip Bells,' being a special feature, this hymn being written and the tune composed by a friend of the Ruislip ringers many years ago. Mr. Raymond Cooke was at the organ.

An open-air business meeting was held in the beautiful spring sunshine, with Mr. E. C. S. Turner in the chair, supported by the district officers, when a very warm vote of thanks was accorded the Vicar, the organist, and Mr. Tom Collins, the secretary of the Ruislip band, for arranging what had proved a most enjoyable meeting.

LEEDS AND DISTRICT SOCIETY

The May meeting was held in the tower of the ancient Church of St. Oswald, at Guiseley, on May 20th. At this church the old bells were installed in 1846 and taken away for recasting in 1946, and they are now a pleasure to ring and listen to.

Ringing commenced early and continued until 5 p.m., when an adjournment to the old Tythe Barn (now modernised as a Parochial Hall) was made for tea, over twenty enjoying a splendid meal. At the business meeting the president (Mr. T. Hill) occupied the chair and two new members were elected, viz., Mr. C. Maxfield (Boston Spa) and Miss Jean Stewart (Otley).

The vote of thanks to the Rector, churchwardens and local company, including the ladies for preparing and serving tea, was proposed in a very able manner by Mr. Jack Gibson and seconded by Mr. J. W. Benten. Mr. W. Dixon acknowledged the vote.

The next meeting is due to be held at Idle on June 24th.

World' and that every affiliated tower had had a copy of the agenda, report and balance sheet. The Master explained that the long touch which was specifically mentioned—of Surprise Royal—was due to a misunderstanding, as it was the intention to stop the bells at the half-course, but they ran beyond before the conductor realised the fact. Mr. Bond thanked him for his explanation.

THE YORKSHIRE ASSOCIATION

RECORD PEAL YEAR.

SUBSCRIPTION RATES RAISED.

THE annual meeting of the Association was held at Pudsey on May 6th—the first time since January, 1905. Ringing commenced at 2.30, and good use made of the bells during the afternoon and evening. A brief service was conducted by the Vicar, the Rev. E. G. Manby, who welcomed the Association in a most cordial way, and during the course of his address referred to the all-important part played by bellringers in these modern times, when in many quarters there was evidence of a drift away from the Church.

A sumptuous tea was afterwards served in Radcliffe Lane Schools, followed by the business meeting, when the chair was taken by the president, the Rev. C. O. Ellison, supported by the general secretary (Mr. L. W. G. Morris), the hon. treasurer (Mr. S. F. Palmer) and the hon. peal secretary (Mr. W. Barton).

Hearty votes of thanks to the Vicar, churchwardens, local company and others who had so willingly given their services, particularly the organist and ladies who had officiated at the tea tables, were unanimously accorded.

The President presented the Association's 74th annual report, which showed that the membership now stood at 1,573, a net increase of 53 for the year. However, notwithstanding this very satisfactory and welcome gain in membership, the balance sheet showed a loss on the year's working of some £33—a situation which had engaged the earnest attention of the committee, who felt they would be failing in their duty if they did nothing to bring this situation to an end.

The assets of the Association were largely accumulated during the early years of its life, and it is not for the present generation to squander them by using them to make up deficiencies in annual income, but rather to hand on unimpaired and, if possible, enhanced such as had been received from the past.

The Hon. Treasurer amplified the position, and the hon. auditors reported that the balance sheet was in accord with all the documents and vouchers produced.

The peal secretary's report showed that a record number of peals had been rung during the year, which included for the first time in the history of the Association peals of Spiced Surprise Major in five and eight methods. Surprise methods new to the Association were Pudsey Surprise Royal, and Dublin, Rochester, Sandringham, Conisborough, Darlington, Doncaster and Tavistock Surprise Major, the last four being rung to a peal for the first time. The total number of peals rung during the year was 148 at 79 churches and one handbell centre, and the calling had been shared between 42 conductors.

Mr. P. Birkett moved and Mr. S. Steel seconded the adoption of the report, which was carried unanimously, the principal officers and district secretaries being thanked for their work.

A vote of thanks to the hon. auditors was also carried unanimously.

THE SECRETARYSHIP.

The next business was the election of the general secretary. Mr. L. W. G. Morris, the retiring secretary, announced that no other nominations had been received, and, as he had now held office for 12 years, and believed in official posts being changed more often, referred the members to a paragraph contained in the Western District secretary's report, which read, 'At the moment the efforts of the younger members are being mainly confined to peal ringing, but we hope that in time they will turn their attention towards taking over some of the more important offices of the Association, thereby becoming more interested in the administrative side of its work.'

Mr. Morris explained that when he was last re-elected three years ago, he had asked the members seriously to look round for a successor, and earnestly hoped that someone interested in the affairs and well-being of the Association would come forward.

Mr. W. E. Critchley, in moving the re-election of Mr. Morris, said the Association owed much to his counsel and services, and hoped he would find it possible to continue in office. Mr. W. Ambler seconded, and Mr. Morris was unanimously re-elected. Acknowledging his re-election, Mr. Morris thanked the members for their renewed confidence, adding that as long as he held office he would do his best but, as before pointed out, he hoped to be relieved at an early date.

NEW PEAL SECRETARY.

The next business was the election of the hon. peal secretary. Mr. W. Barton, the retiring peal secretary, was warmly thanked for yet another year's service, and this was the 30th report he had prepared. It was not surprising, therefore, that he had expressed a desire to be relieved of the task, and the Association had been singularly fortunate in having a peal secretary of his calibre at its disposal for so long.

Mr. Barton explained that it would be 30 years in November since he took office, and if a successor was appointed, he would only be too pleased to give every assistance possible. He had consulted Mr. W. E. Critchley, of Doncaster, and had very great pleasure in moving his election as from November. Mr. E. J. Padgett seconded and Mr. Critchley was unanimously elected to take over from November.

Mr. Critchley, replying, said that he owed practically all he knew in the matter of proof to Mr. Barton, and realised his limitations sufficiently well to know that if he held office for thirty years, he would probably not then have acquired the vast knowledge and experience at the command of Mr. Barton.

SUBSCRIPTIONS.

The President reported that the General Committee, at its annual meeting, had given very serious consideration to the financial affairs of the Association, and had unanimously passed a resolution in the following terms:—

(a) That the annual subscription rate be increased from 2s. to 3s. per year.

(b) That the entrance subscription be increased from 2s. 6d. to 3s. 6d.

(c) That the completion fee in respect of out-county members be increased from 2s. 6d. to 3s. 6d. (i.e., making O/C life membership subscription 7s.).

(d) That the cost of the annual report to life members be increased to 1s. 6d., and to non-resident members 2s.

A long discussion ensued, which was characterised by many helpful suggestions and criticisms, but it soon became apparent that there was general realisation that action could crystallised into two main groups, and Mr. E. J. Padgett moved and Mr. R. H. Dove seconded the following amendment:—

'That a levy of 3d. per ringer be imposed on each ringer for participating in a peal of 5,000 changes or more, this to be an alternative to the proposed increases in the subscription rates.'

The General Secretary pointed out that 1949 had been a record year in the number of peals rung by the Association, and that had the suggested levy been effective on an average of 2s. per peal rung, the revenue would have amounted to only £14 16s. or little more than half the loss that had been incurred on the year's working. On being put to the vote, the amendment secured only seven votes, and the committee's resolution carried substantially.

Although the increased rates do not apply until January 1st next, it was gratifying that several members had voluntarily increased their subscriptions this year.

Applications from St. Giles' and All Saints', Pontefract, to be transferred from the Eastern District to the Southern and to St. Nicholas', Thorne, to be transferred from the Eastern to the Southern, were approved.

Regarding the place and date of the next meeting, it was pointed out that the Association celebrated its 75th year this year, and Mr. P. J. Johnson moved and Mr. J. W. Moxon seconded that as the first meeting was held at Birstall in October, 1875, it would be appropriate to try and arrange the next meeting there as near the original date as possible, which would be October 28th. This was carried unanimously.

The following new members were elected: Mrs. H. Schofield and Miss A. Laycock, of Drighlington, Marjorie Smith, of Woodlesford, and L. Bounphrey, of Leeds.

The meeting terminated with a vote of thanks to the chairman for the able manner he had conducted the meeting.

OXFORD DIOCESAN GUILD

ANNUAL MEETING OF THE NORTH BERKS BRANCH.

Despite a wet start to the day, the afternoon proved fair, and a company 120 strong met at East Hagbourne on Saturday, May 20th, for the annual meeting of the North Berks Branch.

A well-struck quarter of Stedman Triples, rung by the local band, was brought round before the service. The near-full church was good testimony to the strength of the branch. In his simple and sincere address the Vicar of East Hagbourne, the Rev. Smith Masters, welcomed the ringers and visitors to 'the loveliest church in the world,' a phrase he said every incumbent used when talking of his own church, and wished them a happy and profitable time. After the service, in which all joined wholeheartedly, justice was done to an ample tea in the Village Hall.

At the meeting the branch was fortunate in having present the Master of the Guild (the Rev. C. E. Wigg), the Deputy Master (Capt. A. R. Poyntz) and the general secretary (Mr. W. Hibbert), all of whom had made long cross-country journeys to attend. The Master expressed pleasure at such good attendance. The officers were duly elected, the re-election of Mr. A. E. Lock as secretary and treasurer bringing him into his 30th year of office. A promising sign was the nomination of 30 new members.

After tea ringing ranged from rounds to Cambridge and London Surprise Major. The evening proved far beyond all expectations and, several local towers being open, many ringers rounded off the day with a visit to them on their homeward journey. M. A. C.

Scarborough's Restoration Scheme

AN appeal is to be opened for funds for the fabric of the ancient Parish Church of St. Mary, Scarborough, and included in the estimates which the Church Council have considered is one for the retuning and rehanging of the bells, which are the only ring in Scarborough. On July 25th this year, exactly 100 years after the church was reopened upon the completion of the restoration, a scheme will be launched known as the 'Friends of St. Mary's (Scarborough)', whereby all classes of people who are interested in the church will be able to help. In the meantime, however, the appeal for the bells fund has already been opened, the target being £800.

The bells, a ring of eight, with a tenor 21½ cwt., are now 99 years old, and it is hoped to have them put right for the centenary. Of special interest are the treble and tenor, which were exhibited by the founders, Messrs. John Taylor and Co. at the Great Exhibition of 1851, and obtained the first prize—a medal and the special approbation of the jurors. The six middle bells were added to complete the octave, and the completed ring was dedicated on Dec. 22nd, 1852. Ringers from St. James' Church, Hull, attended to open the bells.

St. Mary's, Scarborough, has always been a popular tower with ringers on holiday, and they are numerous. The company here prides itself on providing a welcome for them. If at all possible an opportunity to ring is afforded the visitor, but numbers at times present an insoluble problem. Those disappointed are always invited to come again for the Sunday evening service or on practice night.

Many visitors come year after year, and it is no exaggeration to say that there are hundreds of ringers who hold this tower with very deep affection. To all friends both near and far and to all lovers of bells and historic churches an appeal is now made for help in raising the £800 necessary for the restoration of the bells.

Included in the work is the dismantling of the separate frame in which the treble bell at present hangs above the rest, and an extension of the bottom oak frame to accommodate the whole ring. At present only the 6th and tenor are hung on ball bearings; it is intended that all the bells should be so hung.

It is coincidental that the architect, who has surveyed the fabric, has recommended that the tower should be the first part of the church to receive attention, and this certainly within the next two years. It is hoped to be able to proceed with the work on the bells at the same time.

In view of the magnitude of restoring the fabric of the church, the Scarborough ringers are endeavouring to raise as much as possible of the £800 needed for the bells independent of the July appeal. Contributions, however small, will be gratefully received and an acknowledgment sent. These should be sent to the Vicar (the Rev. F. E. Ford), the Vicarage, Scarborough, or to Mr. B. Sutton, 12, Highfield, Scarborough.

Plight of York Bells

A VISITOR AT THE MINSTER.

The 'Yorkshire Evening Press' had an interesting article last month about the bells of the city's churches.

The writer calls attention to the following:—

The ring of six at Clifton is in need of retuning and rehanging.

The fine six at Bishophill Senior are out of commission through hooliganism.

The ring of eight at St. Martin-le-Grand, damaged in a raid on the city, is still lying on the floor under the tower.

The bells of the Churches of St. John and St. Lawrence are in need of renovation and it is possible that soon an appeal will be issued to enable the work to be carried out.

The article continues: Thousands of York citizens have been and still are spellbound at the message of York Minster bells heard each SCARBOROUGH PARISH CHURCH AS SEEN FROM THE SOUTH-WEST APPROACH.

Sunday morning. Over the Vale of York through many years the sound of the bells has gone forth carrying their promise of hope and joy.

Take a tour of the belfry and watch the ringers at work in their spacious ringing room, which is also the clock room. To reach this necessitates a climb of 70 steps of the spiral stair of the south-west tower.

A further climb of 32 steps brings the visitor to the chiming room used before the year 1925 as the ringing room. Still climbing another 28 steps, the end of the spiral is reached. From here begins the passage along the west front which connects the western towers.

It is from this point that beautiful views of the city and the Hambleton Hills are obtained. Along the west front and up 20 more steps one enters the chamber in the north-west tower. Here is housed Great Peter, the monster bell of 10 tons 16 cwt. 2 qr. 2 lb. This famous bell, tuned in E flat, is the fourth largest in England and is rung easily by one man.

Great Peter, heard each midday except Sunday, when it is rung from 10.20 a.m. to 10.30 a.m., was recast in 1927. It hangs in a massive oak frame made from about 300ft. of timber and put up in 1845.

Passing on to the south-west tower, a climb of 20 steps brings the visitor to the chamber, in which hang 13 bells. The largest weighs 60 cwt. and is in B flat.

Isleworth Bells Again

After a silence of almost five months, ringing was recommenced at All Saints', Isleworth, with a peal of Kent Treble Bob Royal, by nine members of the local company and one visitor, immediately prior to the dedication and opening by the Bishop of London of a temporary church built within the walls of the destroyed church.

The dedication took place on May 12th, and on the following day a successful meeting of the London County Association was held at the church. In addition to a well-attended service, tea and business meeting, ringing consisted of various methods, including Cambridge and Yorkshire Surprise Royal.

The chancel and nave of the new church stretches the entire length of the old, and two substantially sized transepts are incorporated. Main entrance is by the west door of the 14th century tower, and from this aspect the new has been blended with the old in an admirable and pleasing manner. Externally the tower has been completely repointed.

The week-end following the dedication, May 20th, was the day chosen by the local company for its annual ringing outing. Places visited were Luton, Dunstable, Leighton Buzzard, Woburn, Bromham and Bedford. A variety of methods were rung, including successful courses of London Surprise Major, Cambridge and Yorkshire Surprise Royal.

Excellent arrangements were made by the officers of the various towers visited, and thanks are due to Mr.

Ronald Sharp, of Clophill, for co-ordinating these.

CHESTER DIOCESAN GUILD

JOINT MEETING AT FAIRFIELD.

On April 29th a successful joint meeting of the Stockport and Macclesfield Branches, together with the Peak District Branch of the Derbyshire Association, was held at Fairfield, Buxton. In spite of exceedingly wet weather, some 50 members and friends were present at the service, conducted by the Vicar, the Rev. H. Saunders-Williams, who also gave an interesting address. The singing of the hymns was accompanied on the handbells by the local ringers.

After tea a shortened business meeting was held under the chairmanship of Mr. A. R. Elkins. New members were elected from Taxal, Miss Dorothy Rowbottom, Miss Lilian Martin, Allan Dronfield and Eric Dowson, Bowdon, Kathleen M. Lewis, and a non-resident life member, Mr. J. W. Sykes, of Topley. The meeting received with deep regret the announcement of the deaths of Mrs. Shuker, wife of the Lancashire Association general secretary, Mr. W. H. Shuker, and Mr. Ben Thorpe, of Ashton. Mr. Worth congratulated the Fairfield ringers on being the possessors of a very handy and pleasant ring of eight. Further ringing was enjoyed on the bells until a late hour, and the conclusion of everyone was that Taylor's have made an excellent splice.

BELLS OF RUGBY AND DISTRICT

BY PERCY AMOS.

Rugby and the vicinity provide many examples of historical churches and bells of interest: Monks Kirby, with its noble church and fine eight bells (tenor 24½ cwt.); Lutterworth, associated with the famous John Wycliffe; Claybrook, with its pre-Reformation tenor (only 13 cwt. 3 qr. 7 lb. in E flat), is a cover to a grand octave; Cold Ashby, with its old bell of 1317 (2nd of four), and another of the same century at Winwick (tenor of three); Stanford-on-Avon, situated in beautiful parkland, a fine church with unusual pinnacles to the tower containing five bells by Hugh Watts, of Leicester, and a stained glass window of St. Anthony with his emblem, are all places worth a visit by ringers and archaeologists alike.

A little further south is Claycoton, whose church of six centuries is doomed to be closed. Here also are two bells by Watts, and a third by Briant, recast from an earlier bell by Edward Newcombe. The few people in this village are very indignant at the church's prospective closure, resulting from the unpopular grouping of more than two parishes under one priest, likewise Wolfhamcote, over the Warwickshire boundary.

Further south still is Yelvertoft, whose church shows the scars of the Cromwellian v. Charles I. civil wars, where the Roundheads sharpened their swords on the stone pillars in the chancel. Here are five very musical bells, all by Hugh Watts, 1635, and some of his best. One bears the unique inscription, 'Cvm cvm and praye.' The tower is strangely wider at the top than at the bottom.

Rugby itself has the only church with two rings—an eight in a fine south-east steeple, and a five in an old west-end tower, with unusual clock chimes. Ashby St. Ledgers, with four bells, is associated with the gunpowder plot of 1605. Braunston, only a few may know, has six bells (by John Briant), all older than the church—1811 and 1849 respectively, and a good six for Briant's. Newnham, until 1939, used to be known as the steeple where you rang 'underneath the arches' (the ropes are now taken upstairs) as the steeple is open to the churchyard on three sides.

Further north is Holdenby, whose tower used to possess six bells. These were sold by James I. as 'private property' when he took over the estate and are said to have weighed 'seven thousand weight' and valued at £166 13s. 4d. His son, Charles I., was imprisoned here by Cromwell after the battle of Naseby. There are now two bells at Holdenby, by Rudhall, 1719, which might be described as a treble and a tenor for five; one is 34in. and the other 46in.

Naseby, although so historical, has had practically every trace of its civil war confiscated: only a few relics are left, including the old tithe barn of 1651, which has disgracefully been allowed to fall into ruins. In the churchyard is a large copper ball brought back from the siege of Boulogne (1544): it used to be affixed to the top of the spire. The tower contains a musical five (though noisy in the belfry—only one floor). All these bells were originally by Watts, 1633 and 1640, but two were recast in 1939. The writer had the pleasure of a peal here at the time of the christening of Prince Charles, whose mother and grandparents (the King and Queen) occupied Naseby Hall from 1926-1929.

To the west of Naseby is the village of Lilbourne, whose five bells are said to be the last that were produced at the Kettering foundry of the Eayres. Thomas Eayre, sen., died during the last days of 1757, being buried on January 3rd. 1758. His son, Thomas, jun., having brought the business to a state of bankruptcy, had to call in his uncle, Joseph, to finish the job at Lilbourne. Lilbourne previously had four bells by Watts, which the Eayres recast into five in 1761 and 1762. They were said to have a tenor of 14 cwt. The recast tenor is 10½ cwt. and 39in. diameter across the lip. They are not the best of tone, but their inscriptions, as follows, are nevertheless interesting: (1) 'Sparkling I spread rapid tinklings through the ears, 1762'; (2) 'Untouched I am silent, strike me and I will sing sweetly, 1762'; (3) 'John Robinson, Vicar; Joseph George and George Soden, Churchwardens, 1762'; (4) 'Wee are ordained for the praise of the Lord. Eayre, fecit 1761'; (5) (the tenor) 'Cum sono si non uis venire nunquam ad preces cvpies ire (meaning, "If you be unwilling to come when I call to prayers, you won't ever wish to go at all"), Eayre, fecit 1761.'

The Kettering bell foundry was situated in Bellfoundry Lane, later renamed Wadcroft. Thomas Eayre, sen., was originally the founder of Daventry's eight bells in 1738—three of which have since been recast—one by Joseph Eayre in 1764. A fourth is now cracked and about to be recast. Oundle's eight bells are also associated with the Eayre family, as are Stoke Doyle (five) nearby.

EASTER TOUR IN SHROPSHIRE.

The Society's Easter tour this year had its headquarters at Shrewsbury, whence the members ranged on bicycles across some 150 miles of Shropshire. The resident band was delighted to welcome eight old members, bringing up the total present to over twenty. On the evening of April 13th the tour was rung in on handbells and lasted for a week.

Two attempts were made, at Wem and Church Stretton, for a peal of Spliced London, Cambridge, Bristol and Superlative, but were both unfortunately lost after passing the halfway mark. An attempt for a peal of seven Minor methods on the last day broke down in the fifth 720, but Cambridge Minor was successfully brought round at Count on April 16th, being the first peal of Surprise on the bells and for three of the band.

The programme of Major methods drawn up by the Master was almost completed, showing that the Society's eight-bell ringing is as good as its performance on six bells. Courses of London, Cambridge, Yorkshire, Superlative, Bristol, Lincolnshire and Pudsey were brought round, although the tour ended before a band could be induced to learn New Gloucester. No less than five first courses of Cambridge Major were rung, putting us in hopes of some distinguished Surprise Major ringing during the rest of the year by resident bands.

Cambridge Royal was rung at Coalbrookdale and Wrexham, and Stedman Cinques at St. Chad's, Shrewsbury. Of Minor methods the Society was persuaded to learn Durham and Warwick Delight, but at the majority of six-bell towers devoted itself to admiring the considerable prowess of the beginners.

Particularly fine rings were discovered at Clive, Hope Bowdler, Oswestry and Wrexham. We should like to record our profound gratitude for the kindness and courtesy of the Rector and the whole village of Brosely for some splendid ringing and their generous hospitality.

Among other memorable incidents was our expulsion from Much Wenlock by a policeman, charged with interfering with the course of justice at the Quarter Sessions. On Tuesday, April 18th, seven un-public-spirited members stepped over the county boundary into Staffordshire to ring at Forton, subsequently demonstrating at Lilleshall how fast seven people can 'grab' six bells. As usual, the company endured impressive hardships, in particular getting drenched daily by intermittent rain, and some members displayed as astonishing a propensity for losing themselves as others for obtaining dry lifts on lorries. In spite of everything, however, the tour embraced over twenty towers, culminating in a magnificent coach tour to Chester, accompanied by handbells.

We are extremely grateful to all who co-operated so generously in ensuring the smooth running of the tour, to the help given by the old members, and to Miss Catharine Trist, to whose excellent organisation and management we owe the great success of the tour and our pleasant memories of Shropshire.

AN 800th ANNIVERSARY

Ringers of St. Mary's, Eastham, Cheshire, gave full co-operation to the parish in their thanksgiving week to commemorate the 800th anniversary of the fine old Gothic church.

The bells were rung each day, and when Bishop N. H. Tubbs visited on the Wednesday, 1,260 Grandsire Doubles were rung by G. F. Pickthall 1, P. C. Holmes 2, J. Amer 3, A. L. Shepherd 4, A. J. H. Scott (cond.) 5, T. H. Wood 6. A peal was rung on the Saturday, which is reported in the appropriate column.

LETTERS

Dear Sir,—I was interested in the letter of your correspondent, Mr. A. R. Botting, in the issue of May 12th. I discovered a similar copy of William Banister's 'Change Ringing' in a secondhand bookshop at Gloucester a few years ago and did not hesitate in purchasing it for the modest price of 1s. 6d. The book was in fairly good condition considering its age, and on the inside of the cover was written the name of G. H. Phillott and his Cheltenham address in the year 1874, the same date the book was published. This gentleman, you may recall, sir, was an eminent ringer in this area in the latter part of the 19th century, having taken part in many peals, notably 15,000 Grandsire Caters at Cheltenham in 1889, and the first combined universities' peal of Holt's six-part Grandsire Triples at Appleton in 1877.

I was intrigued, however, by the late owner's notes on conducting Holt's Original and Six-part peals of Grandsire Triples, for on the back page were written ten sentences in Latin and appended the 'clues' to them, for in addition the author had written 'a' means into the hunt; 'a' followed by 'l' stands for 1 lead; 'a' followed by 'm' stands for 2 leads; 'a' followed by 'n' stands for 3 leads; 'a' followed by 's' stands for 4 leads; 'a' in asper is the plain course; 'æ' is the first single; 'e' out of the hunt; 'i' middle; 'o' wrong; 'n' right.

This was followed by similar notes on Holt's Six-part peal (6th observation). The book also contained some notes on Stedman, Double Norwich and Kent Treble Bob Major. It is, as your correspondent states, an excellent work on ringing, and contains a wealth of information to learner and conductor. I should be interested to know if there are other copies of the book still in existence.—Yours truly,

B. A. NEWCOMBE.

FIRST NAME PEAL OF LONDON

Dear Sir,—In the appreciation of the late Mr. G. W. Steere by G. H. C. in 'The Ringing World' of May 12th, the writer mentions the first name peal of London at Gravesend. The first name peal of London Surprise was rung on January 2nd, 1904, at St. Stephen's Church, Rochester Row, Westminster. The founder of 'The Ringing World' rang the 2nd bell. Superlative was rung at St. John the Divine's, Waterloo Road, in March, 1905, and Stedman Cinques at St. Giles' Cripplegate, in 1912.—Yours faithfully, JOHN R. SHARMAN.

Cogenhoe, Northampton.

LARGEST PARISH CHURCH

Dear Sir,—Whether your correspondent is referring to the largest parish church at present in full use when he quotes St. Botolph's, Boston, I do not know, but it has long been held that the distinction of being the largest parish church in England belongs to the now blighted St. Nicholas', Great Yarmouth.

This fine church, as many of your readers, who in the past we were pleased to welcome as holiday visitors to the belfry, will have learned with regret, is now a ruined shell. The walls and tower still stand, but lacking a roof and all interior furnishings, including bells.

However, the dimensions relevant to this discussion still exist, and I quote from a booklet published in aid of the Restoration Fund: Length 236ft., width 112ft., width at transepts 150ft., area 25,023 square feet.

The church is said to be wider than any other church or cathedral in England, with the exception of Coventry Cathedral.—Yours, etc.,

PETER G. W. NEWSTEAD,
Late member, St. Nicholas' Company of Ringers.

Masonic Ringers Meet

It was at the end of last year that a number of ringers who are members of the Order of Freemasons were compelled to abandon a peal attempt because of a fraying rope. After their labours they adjourned for refreshments and it was during this social hour that Peter Crook suggested that we try to hold a meeting of ringers of the 'Order'.

The arrangements were soon on the way and on May 6th the meeting was held at Manchester. The day opened with a peal of Double Norwich Court Bob Major at Eccles. During the afternoon the Manchester Town Hall (12) and St. Mark's, Worsley (10), bells were much enjoyed, rounds to Cambridge Surprise being rung.

At 6 p.m. the party sat down to dinner at the Masonic Temple, Wor. Bro. F. R. Williams occupying the chair. The guests of the evening were Wor. Bros. Canon F. Paton-Williams, Rector of Prestwich, and Canon Taylor, Rector of Eccles.

The Rev. R. D. St. John Smith, in proposing the toast of 'Our Guests,' said we had real friends in them, always sympathetic in all matters relating to ringing.

Canon Paton-Williams, in reply, said he thought there was gathered together that day a body of Masons who loved to ring church bells and that it might well be that this meeting, which is believed to be the first of its kind, may be the nucleus for forming a new 'branch' of ringers—men who have two things in common.

Canon Taylor proposed the toast to the ringing craftsmen. He endorsed what had been said by Canon Paton-Williams and urged that steps be taken to achieve that end. It had given him pleasure to give permission for the peal at his church, and greater pleasure and enjoyment to hear his bells rung so beautifully.

Arthur D. Barker responded and he was supported by R. E. Elson.

The following were present: F. R. Williams, A. Ford, A. McCormack (Manchester); G. R. Newton, E. C. Birkett (Liverpool); P. Crook, E. Ford, T. F. Hilton, H. Howarth and V. Martin (Bolton); A. Tomlinson, T. Wilson (Blackburn); J. W. Grounds (Standish); F. Dunkerley (Rochdale); D. Vincent (Hale); N. Heaps (Southport); J. Taylor, T. R. Bury (Haslingden); Rev. R. D. St. John Smith (Crawshawbooth); R. E. Elson, H. Price (Nottingham); A. D. Barker (Slough); F. W. Perrins (Coventry).

Musical items were provided by H. Howarth and T. F. Hilton, with A. McCormack at the piano, also touches on the handbells. During the evening Canon Taylor conducted the party through the rooms of the Temple.

Grateful thanks were expressed to the conductors at the various towers for their very willing assistance.

Enquiries were received from many brethren who, probably owing to distance and other engagements, were unable to be with us. We thank them all for their interest and assure them that we are already talking as to where we might hold our second meeting.

OBITUARY

MR. F. CRYER.

By the passing of Mr. Frederick Cryer on May 13th at the age of 91 years, the Yorkshire Association has lost one of its oldest members.

Mr. Cryer commenced his ringing career on the old three bells at St. James' Church, Selby, in the early 1870's, and after a few years in that tower he joined the Selby Abbey Company, of which he became captain about 1890 and retained the position until 1938. He was most regular and punctual for Sunday service ringing and practices until early 1945, when owing to old age he could not climb the steps leading to the tower, but he retained his love of the Abbey bells to the last.

After the Great Fire at the Abbey in 1906 the local company raised over £300 towards the restoration of the bells, largely through Mr. Cryer's enthusiasm, and he spent hundreds of hours in teaching learners when the present ring of ten bells was installed in 1909.

He was a vice-president of the Yorkshire Association for a number of years.

The Abbey bells were rung half-muffled for the funeral service, which was conducted by the Vicar, the Rev. F. Read. The lesson was read by the Rev. C. O. Ellison, the president of the Yorkshire Association.

MR. GEORGE JAY.

We regret to record the death on May 15th of Mr. George Jay, of Chadwell Heath, Essex, at the age of 69 years.

A contemporary of the Pye brothers, most of his 80 peals had been rung with them.

Owing to the indisposition of his wife he had not done much ringing of late years, but was a welcome visitor to Fyfield, where his assistance and advice was much appreciated. He will be missed very much by them.

MR. G. V. MURPHY'S 300 PEALS

Mr. G. V. Murphy, of Iltham, S.E.9, in his 300 peals (263 tower bells, 37 'in hand') conducted 10 peals. His peals comprise 61 different methods and extensions, including 36 different Major methods (or combinations of methods in the case of spliced). The peals were rung in 71 towers and no fewer than 85 were at St. Paulinus', Crayford. His list is appended:—

Tower bells.—Doubles: two methods 1, five methods 1.

Minor: four methods 1, five methods 1, seven methods 2, Cambridge Surprise 1.

Triples: Plain Bob 2, Grandsire 16 (conducted 2), Stedman 29, Canterbury Pleasure 1, Union 1, Erin 1.

Major: Little Bob 1, Plain Bob 18 (4), Pulford Bob 1, Double Oxford 2, Cheltenham Bob 1, Gainsborough Little Bob 1, Gonville Bob 1, Wellington Little Court Bob 1, Double Norwich C.B. 16 (1), Little Albion Treble Bob 1, Kent Treble Bob 17, Oxford Treble Bob 4 (1), Spliced Kent and Oxford Treble Bob 1.

Surprise Major: Cambridge 31, New Cambridge 3, Yorkshire 19 (2), Pudsey 2, Superlative 14, Lincolnshire 5, Bristol 11, Rutland 5, London 10, Ipswich 2, Belgrave 2, and one each of Norfolk, Camdon, Ashtead, Eardley, Belvedere, Aldenham, Kent and Withyham. Spliced Surprise in two methods 1, four methods 6, five methods 1, and six methods 2.

Caters: Grandsire 1, Stedman 3.

Royal: Plain Bob 2, Double Norwich C.B. 1, Kent Treble Bob 3.

Surprise Royal: Cambridge 3, Yorkshire 2, Belgrave 1, Prittlewell 1.

Cinques: Grandsire 1, Stedman 1.

Handbells.—Doubles: two methods 1. Minor: Plain Bob 2. Triples: Grandsire 1. Major: Plain Bob 12, Kent Treble Bob 3, Oxford Treble Bob 1, Double Norwich C.B. 3. Caters: Grandsire 1. Royal: Plain Bob 9, Kent Treble Bob 1. Maximus: Plain Bob 3.

Outings

ST. ALBANS DISTRICT.

On May 13th, the St. Albans District of the Hertfordshire Association held an outing open to all towers in the district. This new venture was decided upon at the last annual meeting, and the towers represented were St. Albans (Cathedral and St. Peter's), Hatfield, Essenden, Kimpton, Harpenden and North Myms.

The route chosen was Burnham, Wokingham, Hurst, Twyford and Marlow, the perfect weather enabling the party to enjoy to the full the Thames Valley scenery in spring. Methods rung included Real Double Norwich, Yorkshire and London Surprise, and an attempt at Double Mancroft Bob.

The day was voted to have been most successful, and thanks were due to Mr. Bert Lawrence (driver and proprietor of the coach), who also being Hatfield Ringing Master, 'knows the ropes' and succeeded in keeping us to our scheduled times.

The incumbents and local ringers are thanked for their co-operation.

ST. MARY MAGDALENE'S, HOLLOWAY.

St. Mary Magdalene's band, together with local ringing friends and wives, selected Essex for their annual outing this year, which took place on May 20th.

Ringing took place at Bishop's Stortford (10), Dunmow (8), Bocking (8), Colchester (8) and Great Waltham (8). Lunch was served at Braintree and tea at Colchester.

WISBECH BRANCH.

For the first time in three years the Wisbech Branch of the Ely Diocesan Association had a fine start for their outing, which took place on May 17th.

Through the tulip fields of Lincolnshire the towers visited were Heckington (a fine eight), Winthorpe (6), Newark, Bulwell, Nottingham (where Mr. Clem Glenn had all in readiness), Bottesford and Grantham.

WYE, KENT.

On May 13th, the Wye band had a very happy and enjoyable outing, ringing in all eight towers visited. We convey our grateful thanks for the kindness shown at each tower and the permission for the use of the bells.

Beverley & District Society

To celebrate the 50th anniversary of the dedication of the present ring of 10 bells in St. Mary's Church, Beverley, 60 ringers attended the meeting on Saturday, May 13th.

During the afternoon the bells were rung from rounds to Stedman Caters.

A shortened form of service was conducted by the Rev. G. Storer, R.D., followed by tea in the Regal Cafe.

After tea the Vicar, the Rev. T. H. Tardrew, introduced the guests he had invited for the celebration. They included the Mayor and Mayoress of Beverley, the Lord Mayor and Lady Mayoress of Hull, Mayor and Mayoress of Goole, Mr. G. W. Odey, M.P. for Beverley, and the C.O. the Depot the East Yorks Regt., Major Thresher, and Mrs. Thresher. Lord Hotham was unable to attend through illness.

Speeches followed and the ringers heard what the civic heads thought of bells and ringers. The two Mayors did like bells and ringing, but the Lord Mayor of Hull, being a ringer's son and having lived in a home of handbells and ringing conversation, preferred them in the distance. The other guests and a churchwarden also spoke.

Although an hour was spent on speeches it was time well spent, as six of the guests were meeting ringers for the first time and they learned quite a bit about ringers and their organisations. A course of Grandsire Triples on handbells introduced the guests to the practical side of ringing.

The ringers then returned to the tower and the bells were rung until 9 p.m. in the standard methods.

GLOUCESTER AND BRISTOL ASSN.

The Bristol Rural Branch monthly meeting for May was held at Tytherington (5) a week earlier than usual, to avoid Whitsun arrangements, and was attended by about 30 members. Before the ringers' service at 4.30 (conducted by the Rev. Waddleton) the bells were put to good use in methods up to Bob Minimus—a novelty for some of the six and eight-bell ringers being the Grandsire and Stedman Doubles with no tenor covering. The business meeting followed a most enjoyable tea in the Church Hall, presided over by Mr. Harding, branch chairman. The most outstanding business of the day was, of course, the very welcome admission of the Vicar of Tytherington, Mr. Davies, tower captain, and a good keen group of the local band into the Association.

Ringing continued into the evening, under Mr. F. Skidmore's able supervision, until rather prematurely halted through a treble-rope defect.

All had a happy afternoon and evening, thanks very largely to the arrangements of the Vicar and Mr. Davies.

N. D.

SOUTHWELL DIOCESAN GUILD NEWARK DISTRICT.

A highly successful meeting was held at Sutton-on-Trent on May 20th. The 60 ringers present represented upwards of 17 towers in three counties. The bells of All Saints' Church were raised promptly at 2.30, and methods ranging from Grandsire Doubles to Surprise Major were rung. The Vicar (the Rev. R. T. Keal, conducted a short service at 4.30 p.m., an excellent tea in the Church Hall following.

At the business meeting which followed it was resolved to invite the Lincoln Diocesan Guild to participate in a joint meeting at Collingham in July. Three new members were elected. At the conclusion of the business Mr. J. W. Raithby, the general secretary, proposed a hearty vote of thanks to the Vicar for the use of the bells, to the local ladies for preparing tea, and to the visitors for their welcome support.

Ringing continued on the excellent octave until 9 p.m., when the meeting dispersed. This was one of the most successful meetings in the short history of the district.

EASTBOURNE

ALL Central Council representatives who attended the Eastbourne Council meeting returned home with exceedingly happy memories. Nothing was lacking on the part of the Corporation to make the conference a success. On the day of the conference there was bowls, tennis, golf and archery and seats on the front available for the delegates, all free. The day was spent in more serious vein. Whatever might be the attitude of other conference members, with ringers business comes first and the normal pleasures of mankind take second place to bells. Local belfries made the visitors welcome — the three eights available in the county borough were all cast by Warners. Other towers in the surrounding countryside were visited, but peal attempts were not numerous. A Lincolnshire band secured a peal of Spliced Surprise Major at Rotherfield and there was a peal at Croydon by members making their way south.

The social side of this year's Council was a strong point. Each evening preceding the Council meeting there were animated scenes at the Imperial Hotel, the conference headquarters, where a large room was placed at the disposal of the visitors. On the Sunday evening an invitation was extended to other guests at the hotel to witness the handbell ringing. The President of the Council explained the principles of change ringing to the many visitors, and the programme was continuous for an hour and a half. The listeners were almost as enthralled as the ringers.

Of the business of the conference, the morning was largely occupied by the revision of rules—always a tedious matter. The Standing Committee felt particularly happy on achieving two points—an increase in the number of honorary members from 20 to 24, and the creation of life membership as a reward for those who had served well as officers of the Council or had rendered distinguished service to ringing. But the Central Council is proud of its democratic principles, and the floor of the house would not tolerate the suggestion of the Standing Committee that they should be the nominating body for honorary membership. There is to be nothing in the nature of ad hoc committees in control.

Why is there this urgent need for more honorary membership? A new spirit is abroad in many Guilds and Associations in a desire to change their Central Council representation. Key men of the Exercise, who take a prominent part in committee work and in the abstruse problems that come before the Council for unravelling, are not being returned by certain Guilds and Associations, who desire representation to go round. The solution for the retention of their services is honorary membership. Guilds, when they elect their representatives, should seriously ask themselves: Is our member able to make a contribution to the advancement of ringing nationally, and, if so, in what particular capacity? The Council wants workers—men and women capable of service and leadership, and willing to give of their leisure in advancing its work.

Preliminary work has been accomplished in codifying the Decisions of the Council. The recommendations of the committee will be published in our columns in the form of an interim report. The time has now arrived for those who have a desire for an amendment as to the constitution of a peal on any number of bells from 5 to 12 to present their viewpoint to Mr. Frank Smallwood, the convener of this sub-committee. It is hoped that at the next Council meeting at Chester the Decisions will be passed. In the meantime the loosely-worded code, with its loopholes which the freak peal collector likes to explore, still operates to the concern of the Peal Analysis Committee.

An important ruling was the recognition that a six place bob in Cambridge Surprise Major did not constitute a new method. The Peal Analysis Committee put a query against this peal for guidance as to classification. As one of the learned members of the Methods Committee pointed out, the structure of the peal unit remained the same. Nobody asked a question as to what would happen if the two types of Bobs were introduced into the same peal! It would indeed be a conundrum of composition and proof if such an excursion into fantasy was introduced. The Methods Committee were able to report a certain measure of progress into the question of the extension of methods. There is a conciliatory atmosphere in their approach to the problem. An attempt to give added strength to the elbow of the Methods Committee that a unanimous recommendation on their part should operate at once was not acceptable to the Council as a whole. Again the democratic surge came forward, and there was a determination that the Council should not surrender its rights and liberties to one of its committees even if it was composed of experts in a particular field. This is a direct outcome of the Shipway-Steadfast controversy; it should be noted that no voice was raised at the Council to dispute the unanimous ruling that they were the same peal.

LATE NEWS.

We regret to announce the death of Mr.
William H. Barber at Tamworth General Hospital on May 30th. The funeral was at Sutton Coldfield Cemetery last Saturday.

Mr. Arthur H. Blakeley has completed 50 years' service to Bengoe Church,

Hertfordshire, and in honour of this event, and also of 25 years' service of Mr. H. Palmer as verger, a peal of Plain Bob Minor was rung on May 2nd, with the 7 and 8 covering. Unfortunately, under the decisions of the Central Council, this is not a recognised peal. We regret that the performance cannot be published in our peal columns. Had the peal been recognised it would have been the first for Mr.
Blakeley, who rang the treble. We congratulate him on his long service to the church, and trust that he will have many more enjoyable years of ringing ahead of him.

The peal of Double Court Minor for the Guild of Devonshire Ringers reported last week was rung at Buckerell and not Buckwell.

We regret to learn that Mr. William H.
Barber, late of Newcastle-on-Tyne and now of Birmingham, is seriously ill and in hospital for an operation.

As a compliment to Mr. Walter Read, of Little Waldingfield, on his 82nd birthday and 46th year in bellringing, the bells of Acton Parish Church, Suffolk, were rung in various methods.

The peal of Plain Bob Minor at Trull, Somerset, on May 6th, was the first of Minor for Robert W. Shire, Benjamin J. Burton and
R. George Perry, and not the first peal as stated in the report. The weight of this tenor is 14 cwt. 1 qr. 10 lb.

Two youthful members of St. John's, Surrey Road, Bournemouth, James E. Daniels and Michael J. E. Best, who were taught their initial ringing by Mr. Herbert A. Mitchell, the tower captain, have shown their dexterity in handbell ringing by a peal of Spliced Royal in three methods.

BELFRY GOSSIP

To help in the raising of £300 necessary for the re-hanging of the bells of Sutton-on-Hull, members of the Beverley and District Society visited Sutton-on-Hull last Saturday and rang the tower bells. They also rang handbells in the streets while collectors solicited contributions for the Bell Fund.

Congratulations to Mr. Tom Myers, who rang his first peal of Surprise Maximus without any previous practice.

Hearty congratulations to Mrs. F. I. Hairs, now of Crayford, Kent, and late of Burgess Hill, Sussex, on ringing her 300th peal at Dartford, Kent, on May 22nd.

The treble ringer in the peal of Stedman
Triples rung at Radcliffe-on-Trent, Notts, on May 13th, was Katharine Burchnall and not Kathleen Burchnall as stated in the issue of May 26th.

Cambridge University Guild officers for next year (1950-51) are as follows: President, Rev.
A. C. Blyth (Selwyn); Master, A. S. Watt
(Pembroke); treasurer, Rev. C. F. D. Moule (Clare); secretary, A. W. T. Cleaver (Downing).

In connection with the installation of Ald.
A. Paddon Smith as Lord Mayor of Birmingham on May 23rd, the happiness of the proceedings was clouded by an accident to the Mayor's aged mother on the Sunday previous.
Mrs. Paddon Smith, sen., who is 93, had a fall and fractured her femur. She has since died.

The hospitality of the Eastbourne Corporation made a deep impression on the Central Council. At the conclusion of the Council meeting a civic reception was held in the Winter Gardens, where the guests were received by the Mayor and Mayoress. As the Mayor took his seat the orchestra played the refrain of
'Dear Old Sussex by the Sea.' This was also played as the Mayoral party left the hall.

CENTRAL COUNCIL AT EASTBOURNE

A WELCOME EQUAL TO THE SUNSHINE OUTSIDE THE MIDDLESEX AND INFRINGEMENT OF RULES NEW HONORARY MEMBERS MR. J. F. SHEPHERD'S BEQUEST REVISION OF RULES ACCOMPLISHED CREATION OF LIFE MEMBERSHIP

EASTBOURNE gave a great welcome to the Central Council for its 53rd annual meeting, held in the spacious Town Hall Assembly Rooms on Whitsun Tuesday. The president (Mr. E. H. Lewis) requested the Mayor (Ald. R. J. S. Croft) to take the chair at the opening of the proceedings. With the Mayor was the Bishop of Lewes, who was deputising for the Bishop of Chichester, and also the representatives of the Sussex County Association. With the President were Mr. G. W. Fletcher (hon. secretary), Mr. W. H. J. Hooton (hon. librarian) and Mrs. Fletcher.

In his speech the Mayor regarded the occasion as memorable to him, as it was the first conference he had welcomed to the county borough since his installation as Mayor the previous Tuesday. He recalled youthful memories of Robertsbridge bells on a Sunday evening.

Eastbourne, he said, was proud of its three rings of bells in use. As to the town, they prided themselves that they were the sun trap of the South—at any rate, that was what the publicity manager told the world (laughter), and they hoped that the warmth of their welcome would equal the sunshine outside.

The Bishop of Lewes mentioned in his greetings to the Council that the previous day he was at Lords watching the cricket, and he told his neighbour that he had to welcome the Central Council of Church Bellringers and asked him for a few hints. His reply was that a most proper address would be on the nature and habits of bats (laughter).

He had had a good deal to do with ringers, having been in charge of two churches that possessed rings of 10 bells. One was Grantham and three years ago he had the great joy of rededicating the bells. During the whole of his parochial life his relationship with ringers, in the words at the end of the King's speech, 'continued to be friendly.' Not only friendly, but very warm indeed, for he used to hear about it if he did not go up the belfry on most Sundays.

A CRAFT OF THE COUNTRYSIDE.

This was an age of machines and a great many people were disturbed that the craftsmanship of the countryside was being laid aside. He was glad to see that the craft of ringing was still flourishing and as he went about Sussex he found quite a number of young ringers. He thought of one particular belfry full of bright young things all under 20 who had been trained by an old ringer.

'I once asked, as my father was a ringer, how long it would take to learn to ring. An old ringer replied, "You'll learn something in the first five years and you might be a ringer in ten."

'I hope that in this materialistic age, which has produced two world wars, that this nation and the world at large will think again; I am certain we are at the beginning of a return from the things that are purely material to the things that are eternal.' Thus to the bells they turned in a national emergency to express the nation's thanksgiving and rejoicing and also to express things parochial. It would be a sad day if this craft were to die out and they were not to hear church bells calling out all over their land.

Thanking the Mayor and Bishop for their welcome, the President said those who had come early had learnt to appreciate Eastbourne. A suggestion had been made that instead of holding the first meeting of each triennial session at London it should be held at Eastbourne (hear, hear).

The Bishop had mentioned Grantham bells, continued Mr. Lewis. He had a set of dining room chairs made from the old oak frame of Grantham Church in 1885.

Prayers were then said by the Bishop of Lewes, and the President presented him with a copy of 'College Youths' as a memento of the occasion.

ROLL OF THE COUNCIL.

The Hon. Secretary presented the return of representatives, which showed that there were 54 societies affiliated to the Council, an increase of one over last year, in respect of the National Police Guild.

There were 24 associations with four members, 5 with three members, 13 with two members, and 12 with one, making a membership of 149. Three vacancies had been notified. There were 18 honorary members. Subscriptions had been paid by all associations and societies.

Holt (Worcestershire and Districts Association), Miss B. Spice (Oxford University Society), Mr. F. Precey (Salisbury Guild), Mr. A. J. Hughes (North Wales).

WELCOME TO MIDDLESEX.

Before the presentation of new members the President said he extended a particular welcome to the three new members of the Middlesex Association. They had received a letter from that Association expressing regret that there was an irregular election last year, and assuring the Council of the Association's wholehearted desire to co-operate with the Council. He had promised the Rev. P. Gough that he would convey to the Council his personal regrets that he was the culprit for the irregular election which took place.

'I want,' continued the President, 'to express on behalf of the Council our regret at the fruitless journey to York of three members of the Middlesex Association, which was due to the delay in getting a letter from the secretary pointing out that there was a probable infringement of the rules.'

The following new members were presented: Messrs. F. W. Goodfellow, F. A. Finch and W. H. Coles (Middlesex), C. H. Kippin (Winchester and Portsmouth), Peter N. Bond and F. E. Hawthorne (Society of Royal Cumberland Youths), W. Viggers (hon. member), F. E. Haynes (St. Martin's Guild), Insp. T. R. Butler (Police Guild), Rev. J. Kingdon (Chester Diocesan Guild).

HONORARY MEMBERS.

The President announced that there were three vacancies for honorary members. Mr. Osborn, who was elected in 1947, retired and was eligible for re-election. They had lost by death Canon Coleridge and Mr. C. F. Johnston. The Standing Committee had considered the position and recommended the re-election of Mr. Osborn and the election of Mr. C. K. Lewis, who would drop out of the representation of the Chester Diocesan Guild, and Mr. F. I. Hairs, who ceased to represent the Sussex County Association.

On the proposition of Mr. P. J. Johnson, seconded by Mr. F. H. Dallaway, these three members were elected.

LOSS THROUGH DEATH.

The Council stood as the President read out the list of the following members of the Council who had died during the past year: Mrs. Edwards (honorary member), 1919-1929; J. Morgan (Chester Diocesan Guild), 1915-1918; Canon G. F. Coleridge (Oxford Diocesan Guild, honorary member), 1891-1948, 1948-1949; C. F. Johnston (Surrey Association, honorary member), 1912-1926, 1927-1949; Rev. H. E. Tilney-Bassett (Salisbury Diocesan Guild), 1903-1914; G. W. Steere (Society of Royal Cumberland Youths), 1936-1950; W. Andrews (Winchester and Portsmouth), 1943-45.

MINUTES OF THE LAST MEETING.

The minutes of the last meeting, which had been published in 'The Ringing World,' were taken as read on the proposition of the Hon. Secretary, seconded by Mr. F. I. Hairs.

REPORTS

REPORT OF THE HON. LIBRARIAN.

The report of the Hon. Librarian stated that the following books had been presented by their authors and others: 'Scottish Rings of Bells' (Ranald Clouston); 'Acoustical Measurements on Church Bells and Carillons' (Van Heuven, per Mr. F. H. Lewis); 'Towers and Forces' (Mr. E. H. Lewis); MS. on article on bells for new edition of Chambers' Encyclopædia (Ernest Morris); Vol. 1, 'Church Bells of Oxfordshire' (F. Sharpe); 'Among the Bells,' Robinson, bound in red leather (by Mr. F. White); 'Elementary Change Ringing,' by Rigby (purchased).

Sales of publications continued at a steady level. The Librarian asked if ringers would see that their cash with orders was correct. Prices were given in the current number of 'The Ringing World.'

The following publications were in the press: 'Collection of Major Method Compositions' and 'Card of Instructions on the Care of Bells' (revised).

The report acknowledged the services of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Woolley in dealing with orders during the librarian's illness.

Sales during the year amounted to £60 18s. 8d. Mr. Hooton, in moving the adoption of the report, said there was one matter in which he would like the help of associations. Shortly he would be receiving a considerable quantity of books which had been left to the library by the late Mr. J. F. Shepherd, and the result of this would mean a considerable duplication. The Standing Committee had considered the matter, and upon their recommendation he proposed to ask associations or guilds with libraries to let him know and choose from the list such books as they would require. He hoped to publish a list of books received in 'The Ringing World.'

This was seconded by Mr. Walter Ayre and agreed to.

GENERAL ACCOUNTS.

The statement of accounts of the Council showed that the year started with a balance in hand of £187 9s. 9d. and ended with a balance of £245 4s. 10d. Receipts included affiliation fees £36 10s., subscriptions hon. members 5s., sale of publications (balance) £54 2s. 11d.

By expenses: Library and publications, 12s. 3d.; Biographies Committee, £3 8s. 6d.; expenses of York meeting, £2; stationery, £12 8s. 6d.; postage, telegrams and telephones, £10 8s. 4d.; wreaths, £4 4s.; diocesan map, 1s. 3d.

The Secretary, in moving the adoption, said that their total income from associations was £37 5s., and the expenses were creeping up, and if they were to continue to send out great sheaves of papers their expenses would increase. The accounts were discussed by the Standing Committee and they recommended that they be adopted.

Mr. A. A. Hughes seconded and the accounts were adopted.

CARTER RINGING MACHINE.

The report stated that during last summer enquiries were made for a suitable electric motor and geared reduction unit which would run silently and give a variable range of speeds for operating different numbers of bells. These had been supplied and were tried out during the first week in May, and the results were highly satisfactory. Some alterations in the box under the machine were necessary and it was proposed to renew it and enclose the controls behind a drop out panel at one end.

Mr. A. A. Hughes, in moving the adoption of the report, expressed great admiration for Mr. Douglas Hughes and Mr. Brian Price, who had care of the machine, for its working and efficiency.

Mr. F. I. Hairs seconded and the report was adopted.

REVISION OF RULES

The remainder of the morning session and the first hour of the afternoon were occupied with the revision of rules. These were presented to the Council by Mr. G. E. Debenham, a number of amendments having been made by the Standing Committee the previous evening.

The rules as adopted by the Council were as follows:—

TITLE.

1. The Council shall be known as 'the Central Council of Church Bell Ringers.'

CLASSIFICATION OF MEMBERS.

2. The Council shall consist:—
(i) Of representative members, elected by affiliated societies.

(ii) Of honorary members, not exceeding 24 in number, elected by the Council on the nomination of the Standing Committee.

(iii) Of life members.

[The increase from 20 to 24 honorary members gave rise to a long discussion. An unsuccessful amendment was moved by Mr. J. T. Dunwoody, limiting the number of honorary members to 20, and life members to 10. The Hon. Secretary emphasised the importance of increasing the number of honorary members, pointing out that they rendered special services to the Council. This was supported by Mr. P. J. Johnson, who said it was essential that they should have people capable of undertaking specialised work, and if a specialist failed to secure election from his own association, the Council was placed in a difficulty. The administrative work of the Council would end in chaos without them. Mr. John Freeman pleaded a limitation to the number of life members of 10, but this was not accepted.]

AFFILIATED SOCIETIES.

3. (i) Any society, association or guild of church bellringers (hereinafter referred to under the general term 'society'), numbering not fewer than 75 members, shall, upon application and subject to election by a majority of two-thirds of the members present and voting, be affiliated to the Council and shall subscribe to an undertaking loyally to abide by the rules and decisions of the Council.

(ii) Societies hereafter applying for affiliation shall be classified as either territorial or non-territorial. In deciding whether such a society is to be classified as territorial or non-territorial, the Council shall regard as non-territorial a society whose members are drawn from an unlimited area or from an area already represented by one or more territorial societies.

(iii) The societies who are affiliated to the Council at the date of the passing of these rules and the number of their permitted representatives at that date are specified in the schedule to these rules.

REPRESENTATIVE MEMBERS.

4. (i) Societies hereafter applying for affiliation shall be entitled to elect representative members as follows:—

(a) A territorial society, the number of whose members is 75 or over, but does not exceed 150, one representative member; exceeds 150, but does not exceed 300, two representative members; exceeds 300, but does not exceed 450, three representative members; exceeds 450, four representative members. Four representatives shall be the limit of representation allowed any one society.

For the purpose of this rule the basis of the calculation of membership for territorial societies shall be the number of honorary and ringing members, and resident life members at the time of the election of representative members. That number in respect of either the year of election or (if more readily ascertainable) the year preceding the election shall be certified in writing by the secretary of the territorial society to the secretary of the Council on demand.

(ii) (a) Those societies hereafter affiliated who are classified as non-territorial shall be entitled to one member per society. The representation of the societies now affiliated to the Council shall be as specified in the schedule to these rules unless modified on application to and by permission of the Council.

(iii) No representative member shall be eligible as an honorary member.

(iv) The election of representative members by affiliated societies shall take place triennially, and the names and addresses of those elected shall be forwarded to the secretary of the Council not later than four weeks before the commencement of each triennial session. In the event of a vacancy the new member shall be elected only for the unexpired period of the triennium, and his name and address shall be forwarded to the secretary of the Council.

HONORARY MEMBERS.

5. Honorary members shall be elected for three years and, on retiring, shall be eligible for re-election (retirement and election taking effect as from the end of the annual meeting), provided that any honorary member who during his term of office may be elected a representative or life member shall, ipso facto, vacate his honorary membership. The Council may fill a vacancy among the honorary members at any annual meeting of the Council.

LIFE MEMBERS.

6. (i) Life members shall consist of:—
(a) Past and present holders of the office of president, hon. secretary or hon. librarian of the Council, and

(b) those who in the opinion of the Council (expressed by a two-thirds majority of those present and voting) by reason of their services to the art of ringing merit the conferment on them of the honour of life membership.

Life membership shall cease only on death or resignation.

(ii) All nominations for life membership under sub-paragraph (i) (b) of this paragraph shall be sent to the hon. secretary signed by two members of the Council not less than two calendar months previous to a meeting of the Council unless notice of motion has been given at the previous meeting. Such nominations shall appear on the agenda paper.

[Mr. John Freeman again pressed for a limitation of the number of life members to 10, and pointed out, while the president and officers were extremely efficient, they might get a secretary who was not and they might be saddled with him for life. Mr. Dunwoody seconded an amendment to this effect. The Hon. Secretary explained that life membership was created so that they would not clutter up the honorary membership class with those who were too old to undertake the work of the Council. The amendment was defeated by a substantial majority.]

ANNUAL SUBSCRIPTION.

7. All affiliated societies shall subscribe annually, on January 1st for the year commencing on that date, 5s. on behalf of each representative member to whom they are entitled, to meet the expenses of conducting the business of the Council, and no representative member shall be entitled to speak or vote at a meeting of the Council until the subscription of the Society he represents be paid.

MEETINGS OF THE COUNCIL.

8. The Council shall meet once annually, about Whitsuntide, in some convenient centre, as decided upon by the Council at the previous meeting or (in the event of unforeseen circumstances) as the Standing Committee of the Council shall decide. Any meeting of the Council may be extended to additional sittings on the same or the following day on a motion for adjournment being put and carried. The president shall have power, in case of emergency, to call special meetings of the Council, and he shall at any time summon such a special meeting on receipt of a requisition signed by twelve members.

ELECTION OF OFFICERS.

9. At the annual meeting next after each triennial election, a president, an honorary secretary (who shall also act as treasurer) and an honorary librarian shall be elected from among the members to serve for three years. In the event of the president, honorary secretary or honorary librarian vacating office before the expiration of the three years, the ensuing meeting shall elect a member to fill the vacancy during the remainder of the period. The retiring president, honorary secretary and honorary librarian shall be eligible for the re-election at the expiration of their term of office. The president shall retire from the chair immediately his successor in office is elected, but the honorary secretary and honorary librarian shall continue in office till the business of the meeting is concluded. All nominations for these offices shall be sent to the Honorary Secretary, signed by two members of the Council, not less than two calendar months previous to the meeting, and such nominations shall appear on the agenda paper. The next business after the election of the president, honorary secretary and honorary librarian shall be the election of honorary and life members.

ELECTION OF AUDITORS.

10. The Council shall triennially elect from amongst the members of the Council two auditors who shall audit and report upon the annual accounts of the Council with power to employ the services of a professional accountant at the expense of the Council to audit the whole or any particular part of the accounts of the Council.

COMMITTEES

11. The Council shall appoint a standing committee and shall have power to appoint committees for any purpose for which it may appear desirable; and also, if the state of the funds permit, to allow the necessary expenses of holding the committee meetings. Each committee shall appoint a convener and shall report annually to the Council. All reports, except that of the standing committee, shall be made in writing to the hon. secretary at least 28 days before the meeting. Such reports as have not previously been published or circulated shall be read at the meeting.

VESTING OF PROPERTY.

12. The property funds and assets of the Council shall be vested in the president, honorary secretary and honorary librarian for the time being. They shall have power to invest money and adopt such measures as seem to them necessary in the interest of the Council, subject to the approval of the Council.

NOTICE OF RESOLUTIONS.

13. All resolutions to be proposed shall be sent to the honorary secretary in writing signed by two members of the Council, not less than six weeks previous to the meeting, and shall be placed by him on the agenda, together with the names of the proposer and seconder of the resolution. But it shall be competent, on a vote of the majority of the meeting, for the Council to discuss a subject not upon the agenda paper, provided such subject does not affect the rules or constitution of the Council.

[This rule was amended on the motion of Dr. E. S. J. Hatcher from two months' calendar notice to six weeks' notice being required for resolutions, in order to meet with societies that hold their annual meeting at Easter.]

PROCEDURE AT MEETINGS.

14. At the meetings of the Council the president shall take the chair, and in the event of his absence the members present shall elect a chairman for that meeting. The chairman shall have a casting vote. Twenty members shall form a quorum. Every new member, whether representative or honorary or life, shall, before taking his seat, be introduced by a member to the president, or, in the absence of the president, to the chairman of the meeting.

VOTING RIGHTS.

15. Each member, whether representative, honorary or life, shall have one vote.

NOTICE OF MEETINGS.

16. Provisional notice of the date and items for discussion at the annual meeting shall be given approximately nine weeks previous to such meeting. Full notice of the date, arrangements and agenda for each meeting shall be given not less than five weeks previous to such meeting, such notices shall be given in the ringing paper, but it shall be incumbent on the honorary secretary to send notice to each member. The names of the members present and the business transacted at each meeting shall be entered in the minute book and reported to the ringing paper. Copies of the resolutions passed by the Council and of the decisions of the Council shall be forwarded to the affiliated societies as soon as is convenient after the meeting.

SUBMISSION OF ACCOUNTS.

17. At each annual meeting the honorary secretary and treasurer shall submit the audited statement of accounts for the year to the previous 31st December and the auditors' report for adoption by the meeting.

ALTERATION OF RULES.

18. Alterations in the rules of the Council shall be made only at the annual meetings, and every notice of a proposed alteration shall be sent to the honorary secretary as laid down in Rule 13. All alterations in the rules of the Council shall be passed by a majority of two-thirds.

Mr. R. S. Anderson moved a vote of thanks to Mr. G. E. Debenham for his work in revising the rules.

In acknowledging the compliment, Mr. Debenham said it was not the work of a committee of one, and he had received very able assistance from the hon. librarian.

ROLL OF HONOUR.

The report on the Ringers' Roll of Honour stated that there were 25 associations whose lists had not come to hand. The average number of casualties per association in the 1939-45 war, from the lists received, was six, and if this average was maintained, the total for the Roll of Honour, now in the course of production, would be about 300.

The report was presented by Mr. H. Miles, who expressed the hope that representatives would remind the secretaries of their associations to complete their lists at the earliest possible moment. He would have to fix a closing date and names not included would be deleted from the roll.

Mr. F. I. Hairs seconded, and the report was adopted.

PEAL COLLECTION COMMITTEE.

The report of this committee, presented by Mr. H. G. Cashmore, stated that the committee had collected the proof of the collection of Major Method compositions and the book was now in the hands of the printers. Work had been commenced on a similar collections for Royal and Maximus, which the committee hoped to present to the Council in due course.

Mr. E. A. Barnett seconded and the report was adopted.

RECORD COMMITTEE.

The report of this committee, which was proposed by Mrs. E. K. Fletcher and Mrs. L. K. Marshall, gave the following new records on tower bells:—

5,184 Wye Surprise Major, Kent County Association; 5,056 Biddenden Surprise Major, Kent County Association; 5,184 Spalding College Bob Major, Hereford Diocesan Guild; 5,280 Lindsey Surprise Maximus, St. Martin's Guild; 5,056 Bennington Surprise Major, Middlesex County Association; 5,000 Norwich Little Bob Major, Norwich Diocesan Association; 5,280 Bedford Surprise Maximus, Leicester Diocesan Guild; 5,040 Bedford Surprise Royal, Leicester Diocesan Guild; 5,040 Lindsey Surprise Royal, Leicester Diocesan Guild; 5,040 Spliced Grandsire and Double Grandsire Triples, Southwell Diocesan Guild; 5,280 Albanian Surprise Maximus, St. Martin's Guild; 5,184 Wordsworth Surprise Major, Lincoln Diocesan Guild; 5,056 Doncaster Surprise Major, Yorkshire Association; 5,280 Prittlewell Surprise Maximus, St. Martin's Guild; 5,056 Tavistock Surprise Major, Yorkshire Association; 5,088 Deva Surprise Major, Chester Diocesan Guild; 5,152 Radnor Surprise Major, St. Martin's Guild; 5,152 Darlington Surprise Major, Yorkshire Association; 5,004 St. Clement's Bob Caters, Cambridge University Guild; 5,280 Wigston Surprise Maximus, Leicester Diocesan Guild; 5,086 Spliced Stedman and Grandsire Caters, and Plain Bob and Kent Treble Bob Royal, Surrey Association; 5,280 Leicestershire Surprise Maximus, Leicester Diocesan Guild; 5,040 Leicestershire Surprise Royal, Leicester Diocesan Guild; 5,040 Herefordshire Little Surprise Major, Hereford Diocesan Guild; 5,088 Conisborough Surprise Major, Yorkshire Association; 5,280 Aldenham Surprise Maximus, Leicester Diocesan Guild.

KENT COUNTY ASSOCIATION

The Rochester District held its second quarterly meeting in St. John's Church, Meopham (8), on May 13th, and, favoured with excellent weather, about 85 ringers and friends met in this very pretty and interesting old village.

The meeting came at the end of a week's celebrations of the 625th anniversary of the church, and during this week over 3,500 people had attended the various services in the church.

Ringing commenced promptly at 3 p.m. and continued in various methods to suit all tastes until the ringers' service at 4.30 p.m., which was conducted by the Vicar, the Rev. Vernon S. Nicholls, who gave an inspiring address.

Tea in the Village Hall was kindly given by Mrs. Worthington, the wife of one of the churchwardens, who was that day celebrating her birthday. It is interesting to note that it was Mr. Worthington who last year paid the whole cost of adding the two new trebles to the old ring of six in this tower.

At the business meeting no less than 52 new members were elected (is this a record for a district meeting?). The new members came from seven towers in the district, which included three new bands from Milton Regis, Stockbury and Meopham.

The meeting concluded, the ringers returned to the belfry.

BELL-RINGER

Dear Sir,—To my mind, as a printer, the very basis of our art is on a shaky foundation. I write concerning the word 'bell-ringer.'

In the heading of 'The Ringing World' it is given as one word, and taking this as a standard I have spelt it as one word in my recent publications for ringers. However, at Eastbourne the constitution was given as 'The Central Council of Church Bell Ringers' (two words), and this form of spelling was used throughout the papers handed out at the conference.

I therefore took (printer's) professional advice and ascertained that when used alone it should be hyphenated (i.e., bell-ringer), but that when used in the special context 'Church Bell Ringer' (i.e., a ringer of church bells) it should be separated to Church Bell Ringer in three words.

The above information may be of interest to fellow-ringers and it would certainly help if the word could in future be standardised for all printed matter connected with our Exercise—or has anyone else any other views on the subject?

W. VIGGERS.

Aldershot.

RECORD LENGTH OF DOUBLES

Dear Sir,—With regard to the claim that 8,040 changes of Doubles is the greatest number recorded with the Central Council the following may be of interest.

In the belfry of Whaplode Church in Lincolnshire is an old peal board recording 10,080 changes, being 84 extents. Methods are not specified, but five ringers' names are on the board and in those days I believe there were only five bells there.

The performance, as far as I can remember, is stated as having taken 7 hours and 25 minutes, including the raising and 'settling' of the bells in what is described as a 'masterly fashion.' Local ringers can no doubt supply fuller details, as I myself only noted it briefly during a short visit.

I should, however, like to congratulate our Australian friends on their fine achievements, since in my opinion the ringing of even only 5,040 of Doubles requires a considerable amount more concentration than Surprise and they are no doubt justly proud of their feat. Well done, Australia!—Yours sincerely,

WILLIAM A. THEOBALD.

WILLIAM BANISTER'S BOOK

Dear Sir,—With reference to Mr. Newcombe's query, I likewise possess a copy of William Banister's book, printed in 1874. It originally belonged to the late Charles Herbert, one of the founders and the first secretary of the Bedfordshire Association. On the fly-leaf, written in the author's own handwriting, appears 'With W.B.'s compliments and thanks.'

In addition to the various quotations noted by Mr. Newcombe, it might be added that pages 150 to 165 inclusive contain a 'Tabular List of Performances achieved by the Society of College Youths from the year 1724, at which date the custom of recording change ringing performances commenced.'

I also have a copy of Hubbard's 'Campanologia' mentioned by Mr. Albert J. Hughes, but as this copy is a fourth edition, revised, printed in 1876, the book he refers to may have been an earlier edition, as I cannot trace the piece of poetry quoted by him in the issue of 'The Ringing World' for April 14th last.—Yours truly,

H. DOUGLAS HARRIS.

LARGEST PARISH CHURCH

Dear Sir,—Regarding Mr. Hunt's query as to the largest parish church in England, I am able to give you the following:—

(a) Largest south of the Thames probably is St. Mary's, Portsea, of campanological fame, which must be at least 900ft. long, and has a seating accommodation of nearly 2,000. When I used to ring there it also had a staff of 16 curates.

(b) Runner-up in Portsmouth was St. Matthew's, a triple-naved building with an accommodation of nearly 1,500. This church was blitzed in 1940.

(c) Outside Portsmouth the biggest one in the district is probably St. Philip Neri, R.C., at Arundel, a French Gothic building of cathedral proportions.

(d) Lancing College chapel, on the road to Brighton, though not a parish church, is probably the biggest public school chapel in the country.

(e) Another giant is St. Bartholomew's at Brighton.

(f) The biggest parish church in Somerset is reputed to be St. Cuthbert's, Wells, but I should think Yeovil church must be a hot favourite (also Taunton and Glastonbury).

(g) Of other large churches I can list Dorchester Abbey, Oxon, Wimborne Minster, Beaminster, Dorset, Tewkesbury Abbey, Glos., Bolton Priory, Yorks, Selby Abbey, Yorks, Wymondham, Christchurch Priory, Hants, Malmesbury, Maidstone, Froome - Selwood (whose bells I look for in vain in 'The Ringing World'), and Southwold, Suffolk.

Your other readers will doubtless supply the remaining three-quarters.—Faithfully yours,

F. A. CLUETT.

BEHAVIOUR OF TOURING RINGERS

Dear Sir,—I understand there was an occasion last year when a party of touring ringers caused considerable annoyance at a certain village by carrying on with a peal attempt until well after 10 p.m. I have discovered that there are other places, apart from the tower, in which ringers can cause annoyance to the public.

I have recently been on holiday at Looe, Cornwall, and on Whit Monday night a party of touring ringers arrived at 10.30 p.m. at the hotel where I was staying. After partaking of refreshment the ringers proceeded to engage in handbell ringing until near midnight. From my bedroom I could hear, to the ringing, sounds of applause and laughter. The members of the party went to their rooms at 12.30 a.m., accompanied by the usual opening and shutting doors, flushing of lavatories, etc. I should say few of the forty odd other guests in the hotel got much sleep that night before 1 a.m.

The next day, following the departure of the tourists, I heard guests complaining of the noise made by the ringers the previous night.

The pity of it was that the handbell ringing was excellent, and would no doubt have been enjoyed by the hotel guests if performed at a reasonable hour, but few people other than perhaps some most ardent ringers are likely to appreciate handbell ringing at midnight.

Such thoughtless behaviour can only further antagonise and even add to the numbers of those who are opposed to bells, ringing and ringers.—Yours faithfully,

F. C. A. BENNETT.

OBITUARY

MR. JAMES P. CUNNINGHAM, J.P.

The death occurred on May 25th, five days before his 92nd birthday, of Mr. James P. Cunningham, J.P., of Rostrevor, Co. Down. He had been in failing health for some weeks past, although up and about a week before, and his death came very quickly.

James Cunningham became one of the original ringers at Kilbroney Parish Church, Rostrevor, Co. Down, when the ring of six bells was installed in 1880. There is now only one survivor of that band, the Rev. John Bushell, of Toronto. Mr. Cunningham had been ringing his beloved bells right up to last New Year's Eve, when he conducted the mid-night ringing and afterwards entertained the other ringers to the tune, 'Believe me, of all those endearing young charms,' on the handbells in the tower. It was a very bitter disappointment to him to be absent from the rededication ceremony of his bells last April after their rehanging by Messrs. Taylors.

He became a member of the Irish Association of Change Ringers in 1904, and took a deep interest in its affairs. He was rewarded by being elected president in 1946, and in the following year the honour of life membership for services rendered was conferred upon him. Early this year his great generosity, for which he was noted, reached a climax when he presented a magnificent silver challenge cup for competition among the towers in the Northern District for good striking.

Some years ago he was appointed a Justice of the Peace for Co. Down. He was also a very keen member of the Orange Order, in which he reached high offices and proudly led the district contingents on July 12th to their festivities.

James Cunningham loved his bells and the bellringers. They in turn held him in very high esteem. The Irish Association in general and Rostrevor in particular will be the poorer for his passing.

His funeral, which was very largely attended, took place on Whit Sunday amidst beautiful surroundings in Knotty Ash Cemetery. Bellringers from Hollywood, St. Thomas' and St. Donard's, Belfast, Lurgan and Hillsborough, as well as from the local tower, attended the funeral.

The bells of Kilbroney Church were rung fully muffled, and a course of Grandsire Triples was rung on handbells over the grave by Messrs. J. Rush 1-2, W. Pratt 3-4, H. Brown 5-6, F. G. Burrows 7-8, as a last token to Ireland's oldest and much beloved bellringer.

MRS. KATE SMITH.

The Lord Mayor of Birmingham (Ald. A. Paddon Smith) has been bereaved by the death in Dudley Road Hospital on May 30th of his mother, Mrs. Kate Smith, at the age of 94. She had a fall at her home just over a week ago and fractured her left leg. Complications set in and she died from pulmonary embolism.

At the inquest the Lord Mayor gave evidence and said his mother, despite her age, was fairly active, and it was while she was carrying her breakfast tray on May 21st that she fell and broke her leg.

CLAIM REFUTED

Dear Sir,—The claim to the first peal of Cambridge Surprise Major in the East Riding in the footnote to the peal at Hull and published in 'The Ringing World' of May 26th is not correct. A peal of Cambridge was rung at Escrick on October 27th, 1928, and although that may have been the first, no claim was made at the time.—Yours faithfully,

J. E. CAWSE.

TOWER CORNER (10)

'THE ART OF STRIKING.'

Dear Learners,—This week our instructor, Tom Truetouch, is to set us on our way towards acquiring the art of striking; and, as we enter the ringing chamber, we see that he has prepared the blackboard on the wall thus:

STRIKING

- A. Knowing the method and finding one's place is only part of the job. The other, and more important, part is correct striking, ALWAYS.
- B. Every ring of bells has its optimum compass for change ringing, and the ringing, to be good, must quickly settle down to the relevant beat.
- C. Each ringer must act on the precept: 'My ringing can make or mar the striking, so it's up to me to keep the beat.'
- D. Within the beat, then, good striking involves—EYE plus HAND plus EAR.

The PROCESS may be analysed under five heads:—

1. Compass audibility. (Once the beat is attained.)
2. Registration of pull-off point within that compass.
3. Ear-check.
4. Consistent maintenance of bell-control, 100 per cent.
5. Applied control-adjustment, using eye, hand and ear.

Now, just as Tom is about to speak on this, Will Wellstruck, our most promising pupil, you may remember, steps forward with his copy of 'The Ringing World,' No. 2,038, and, referring to a letter on page 268 about the open hand-stroke lead, asks if Tom would accept what it says.

'Well now,' says Tom, 'that's a fair question; and as a matter of fact the subject enters into our lesson just now. The writer of the letter is a well-known, experienced ringer, and though he questions what I've said about the gap before the hand-stroke lead, I think I may be able to show you that there are more ways than of expressing the same thing, and that what we have already said about it is not incorrect. Let us see how it works out.'

'First consider the five factors of good striking,' he continues, pointing to the blackboard (see above). 'I mentioned them earlier in the course and promised, then, to deal later with them in detail. Take the first, "Compass audibility." Before we can fully appreciate just what this involves we must consider this.' He pauses and points to B on the blackboard (see above).

'By "optimum compass" we mean the best speed at which the bells can be struck as a complete ring. This, in turn, depends principally upon the natural periodicity of swing of the larger bells of the ring. We could prove our conclusions, to be reached, by delving into a little of the arithmetic of the mechanics of the whole matter, and considering the angular velocity of the bell-masses, as governed by the radius of movement of the centres of mass of the bells themselves.

'But let us try to stick to simple statements in everyday language. The periodicity of which we spoke can be varied in the hanging according as to how the bells are hung in their stocks, i.e., whether they are "tucked up" in highly arched stocks or hung low on flat or near-flat ones. The question of weight enters only in so far as a heavier bell, being normally longer from crown to lip, has its mass-centre further from the bearing axis than a lighter bell.

'So that, when Mr. Dyke says that on 12 bells the gap would be (too little and on five bells too great, we have only to realise that it all depends on the mechanics of the ring, to perceive that we could have rings of five and twelve in which actually the reverse could be the case. The key to the problem lies in seeing it as a simple one in mechanics, and the optimum compass is predetermined, in spite of all the argument that has gone on about the expert heavy-bell ringer and the way he should or should not ring the bell!

'Consider this long pendulum of the church clock here in the ringing chamber. Notice that its periodicity is about three seconds. Now recall the small bracket clock at home with its short pendulum of about three inches, and its rapid "tick-tock, tick-tock" of about half a second. In the same way, if we had a very light ring of twelve, with a tenor of, say, 10 cwt., and a heavy ring of five with a tenor of, say, 30 cwt.; then the tenor of the five, being a much "longer" bell than the tenor of the twelve, would have a longer periodicity of natural swing, the compass of the whole ring being set accordingly; and if the two tenors were pulled off the balance simultaneously, that of the twelve would strike before that of the five. This simple fact has to be allowed for in practice, when a heavy bell, striking after a light bell, will be pulled off simultaneously with it.

'But to return to the example just considered, fortunately bell-founding has resolved into the making of rings to certain standards of weight for number, and, though there are exceptions, the smaller the number the lighter the ring, within limits. The heavier the bell, the greater its inertia when on the balance, and the less easily pulled-off. Hence in a larger ring, say, of twelve, the heavier bells, to be well struck within the narrow margin of the fraction of the second allowed, will be best rung so that they do not reach "top-dead-centre." The lighter bells, not having the inertia and thus allowing easier pull-off, are rung well up to top-dead-centre and allow for the "beat" or periodicity of the heavier bells. This determines the compass.

'Naturally, on higher numbers, the bells are rung closer together, to get them all within this natural periodicity. But on rings of smaller numbers (e.g., five) the bells are, as we say, "opened up," a bit, i.e., they "strike wider." From this you may see that we conceive an average time of compass, even for all rings; and, within this period, the bells are spaced out. The average time of this spacing is the gap of the pause of the open hand-stroke lead. Other factors may vary it—"go" of the bells, length and "shoot" of ropes, etc., but in the main this holds good.

'As a matter of fact, the gap would not be too short for rings even up to 16, as I am going to demonstrate on these handbells which I have hung up, to be struck round with a tapper. I have heard some excellent Plain Bob on 14 handbells, rung so fast that the notes almost merge, yet with only a one-beat gap.

'Now listen carefully as I tap these 16 bells round. I shall run them "fast" and after the second round I shall strike the support at the end next the tenor, at exactly the same beat as all the others, and run straight round again, and so on. This will make the gap. Note how distinctive it is.'

Suiting action to word, Tom taps the bells round and we note the rhythm. With closed eyes and concentration on the sound only we realise the truth of what he has been so carefully explaining to us. 'Finally,' says Tom, 'listen to change-ringing on twelve, even good broadcasts, whenever you can. Check the time of the gap. And prove for yourselves what I have tried carefully to explain. It is of the utmost importance to you as ringers in training.'

'So you may see that the gap is not a constant; it varies according to both the number of bells and the way they are hung; but, once the correct compass has been obtained for the ring, it is positively determined. The time for the whole pull round (handstroke and backstroke) is divided into $(2 \times n)$ plus 1 intervals, where n is the number of bells, and the "1" is the gap before the handstroke lead.

'So far we have been speaking only of the precise sounding of the bell, rather than exactly when it is to be pulled off to attain the precision of sounding to time. The position of the guide pulley for the rope as it leaves the wheel affects the position of the "bottoming" of the rope's fall—sometimes spoken of as the amount of "draw" of the rope from vertically under the wheel-sheave. But even this does not affect the critical instant of time at which the bell must be pulled off, nor the height of the swing of the bell (not the rope), for that is fixed by other considerations, as we have shown. This timing for pull-off, and/or for height of swing allowed to the bell according to its size, requires precision that comes only with practice; and the due appreciation of the compass of the ring is essential before you can start that practice.

'So listen carefully to the compass, first of all, in rounds. Get the rhythm into your head. Then listen particularly to the sound of your own bell amongst the others. Note its sounding position within the whole compass. Now check whether, allowing for the slight pause as the rope comes up at handstroke, your bell is sounding at a regular beat within the compass. As soon as you are satisfied you can approve or disapprove of how you are "fitting in" amongst the others, you have acquired "compass audibility." Every time you ring rounds concentrate on this until it becomes automatic with you.

'Now for the second of the five factors. . . . (Sorry to interrupt, Learners, but we've used up our space again.) Continuing next time, Yours ever, CORN. R. STONE.

EXTENSION PROBLEM

WHILE the Methods Committee were not in a position to give their final views to the Eastbourne Council meeting on the extension of even-bell methods to higher even numbers they presented a series of recommended rules as an appendix to their report.

Their approach to the subject is interesting. As a basis they submitted the following note: 'We believe that the objective in extension should be to produce a method acceptable to the practical ringer (not so much the mathematician) as the obvious extended form of the parent. This can only be achieved by preserving in the extension all the distinctive features of the parent (e.g. place-making, work with the treble at front and back, etc.), and also the correct sequence of lead ends (if this is possible). No new blocks of places should be introduced except such as are additional reproductions of the parent. Of course, additional dodging and/or hunting are unavoidable as compensation for the longer path of the treble. We are of opinion that it is impossible to frame a set of rules which will satisfactorily control the whole subject, and that mathematics alone cannot accomplish this.'

The Methods Committee put forward a special plan that those who propose to ring an alleged extension shall commit the figures to them for approval and for their guidance submit the following recommendations:—

(1) Lead-end places.

(a) When the parent is a second place method, the extension shall be likewise.

(b) When the place of the parent is in the ultimate position the place of the extension shall also be in the ultimate position.

(2) Half-lead places.

The half-lead places in an extension may be either the same number of places from the front or from the back as in the parent.

(3) Place-making.

No sequence of places made by the same bell in any one dodging position shall be introduced into an extension unless such places conform to a 'pattern' already existing in the parent except where such places are an 'enlargement' of a sequence made by the pivot bell in a 'slow-work.'

(4) Contiguous places.

(a) No contiguous places in the parent shall be omitted from an extension.

(b) No contiguous places which have no counterpart in the parent shall be included in an extension.

(5) Sequence of lead-ends.

There has, in the past, been much argument on this subject, usually, we fear, with the object of 'proving' that someone's particular extension was correct, but very little attention has been given to the views of the ordinary ringer. We believe he will judge an extension by a comparison of the 'work' contained therein with that of the parent, and by the order in which such 'work' is performed. This latter is governed by the sequence of lead-ends, which, in turn, is governed by the bell making the half-lead pivot place. We believe that some rules are necessary governing this important point, but we have been unable to reconcile theory and practice up to the present and so are not yet in a position to recommend anything to the Council on this subject. As far as we are aware, this matter, when solved (if that is possible) will complete our investigation, as we believe all important points will then have been covered.'

The reconciling of theory and practice as the Rev. K. W. H. Felstead so aptly terms the problem is unquestionably the thorny point. Not one of the theorists who, by means of documents and arguments, have endeavoured to prove that theirs is the correct approach to the problem will climb down gracefully from their own particular pedestal. Perhaps the most useful contribution at this stage to the help of the Methods Committee would be the opinion of the 'ordinary' ringer—in other words, one who has not advanced his own particular theory. The committee are to be commended for trying to keep to a middle course, but we feel certain that before they complete their task they will be expected by the 'ordinary' reader to refute one or other of the 'experts' on the extension theories. The final report should be ready for the Chester Council meeting; it would, however, be an advantage to all concerned if, before the meeting, the conclusions of the committee could be published in the 'Ringing World' to enable the theorists to ensure that their point of view is properly presented.

DEDICATION OF BELLS, CAVERSFIELD, OXFORDSHIRE

THE little Church of St. Laurence, Caversfield, is set in one of the most delightful spots in rural Oxfordshire; surrounded by the trees, lakes and lawns of Caversfield House. The church stands on an historic site, for within a square formed by an ancient rampart lie buried a Roman general, or chieftain, and most of his followers, who were slain here in the third century. Bloomfield, the historian, believed it to be the last resting place of Carasius, who seized the government of Britain at this time, and who was defeated by his chief of staff, Allectus.

When our Saxon forefathers colonised this part of Oxfordshire a few centuries later they utilised the ancient site, and, on becoming Christians, built there a small church within the ancient ramparts. In the tenth or early part of the eleventh century a tower of stone was added to what was probably a wooden church, and the lower portion of this tower remains to-day—one of the few examples of Saxon architecture in Oxfordshire. Two of the original windows have withstood the ravages of time for almost one thousand years.

The Normans left their mark on the church by reconstructing the tiny nave, and some of their work, including a fine doorway, remains. But it was in the twelfth and thirteenth centuries that the greatest benefactions were made, chiefly by Roger Gargate, the Lord of the Manor, and his son Hugh. Roger rebuilt the nave and chancel, and the richness of detail in the stone masonry of this work, particularly that of the nave arcades, is equal to some of the finest work found in our cathedrals.

Early in the thirteenth century Hugh Gargate and his wife Sibilla continued the good work, and among their bequests were the bells, one of which has survived until to-day, and is now the oldest dateable inscribed bell in England. A translation of its inscription reads: 'In honour of God and St. Laurence. Hugh Gargate and Sibilla his wife had these bells erected.' Hugh was living in 1216; he is mentioned in the 'Close Rolls' for that year; but in 1219 his wife is described in a deed as 'Sybil de Caversfeld, widow of Hugh de Gargat.'

One of the bells, given by Hugh and Sibilla, was recast by the Ruffords, of Toddington, about the year 1300; a rubbing of its inscription is now preserved in the library of the Society of Antiquaries, in London. Rufford's bell lasted down to 1876, when it cracked and was recast by Messrs. J. Taylor and Co., who two years previously had added a tenor to form a ring of three. Soon afterwards the surviving Gargate bell became cracked; it had been quarter-turned in 1874, but too late to save it. The bell should have been turned at least two centuries earlier.

Mr. Frederick Sharpe, attracted by the interest attached to the old bell, commenced to ring at Caversfield in the year 1921; he was then 16 years of age and there were no other ringers. So he acquired the art of ringing a pair of bells, one in each hand, including raising and falling them 'in peal.' There were then, of course, only two sound bells in the tower. Later Messrs. J. and L. Evans and C. H. Kinch learnt to ring here, and the Vicar and churchwardens were persuaded to have the cracked thirteenth century bell taken down and preserved in the church and a new treble erected in its place. This was done in 1927 and the little band were soon ringing Stedman Sixes for service on the three bells—they rang 720 changes of Stedman Sixes in honour of the Stedman Tercentenary—and it needs great skill and perfect bell control to strike Stedman perfectly on three bells.

From 1927 onwards the Caversfield bells were regularly rung for Sunday services—three services a month—and were chiefly used as a training ground for the teaching of raising and falling and the basic principles of Stedman to ringers from neighbouring towers. Now a generous donor has presented the church with two additional bells, which were dedicated by the Rt. Rev. Dr. G. B. Allen, Lord Bishop of Dorchester, on May 16th.

The tiny church was filled to capacity for the ceremony, and all available space taken up by chairs to make additional accommodation. The service was conducted by the Rev. T. A. Roberts, priest-in-charge, and the Launton Church choir occupied the chancel. The clergy and choir, having robed in Caversfield House, walked in procession through the beautiful grounds to the church, and after the responses and prayers and the hymn, 'The Sacred Bells of England,' the Bishop, clergy, churchwardens and ringers, together with Miss M. Phillips, the donor of the bells, proceeded to the ringing chamber, which is situated on the ground floor at the west end of the church; and standing by Hugh Gargate's bell, Miss Phillips presented the ropes of the two new bells to the Bishop, requesting him to dedicate them to the praise and glory of God, and in memory of her mother and brother. After the dedicatory prayers the two new bells were rung up by Mr. F. Sharpe, vice-president of the Oxford Diocesan Guild, and Mr. C. H. Kinch, the secretary of the Bicester Deanery Branch.

After the bells had been committed to the custody of the priest-in-charge, an excellent course of Stedman Doubles was rung by F.

One-third scale details of the inscriptions on the early thirteenth-century bell at Caversfield. The first two lines constitute the upper inscription which was formed on the clay model of the bell prior to casting in the orthodox manner. The three lower lines read from right to left, starting at the bottom, and this inscription, which occupies a band just above the sound bow, was formed by scratching the letters into the cope after removal of the model. All letters are formed backwards as a result of not having been reversed in the cope.

Sharpe 1, C. H. Kinch 2, F. J. Smith 3, H. Gregory 4, and Richard White, the bellhanger, tenor. The procession returned to the chancel during the singing of the hymn, 'Set them nobly in the steeple.'

The Bishop of Dorchester took for the theme of his sermon the continuity of life and worship, represented by three kinds of witness—silent, spoken and inarticulate. The silent witness was the church building, of which Caversfield possessed one of the gems of the county; for a thousand years the church here had stood sentinel to our God, it was a precious possession. The spoken witness was the priest and people. Without a break God had been worshipped and adored there for all those centuries. The inarticulate witnesses were the bells; they were effective; they reached where the human voice could never get. The Caversfield bells had sent out their message for more than 700 years; now they had been enriched by a very generous gift of two more bells.

Following the hymn, 'For all the saints,' and the Blessing, the first touch was rung, as the procession returned to Caversfield House, by the following officers of the Oxford Diocesan Guild: The Rev. C. Elliot Wigg (Master), Mr. W. Hibbert (general secretary), Miss M. R. Cross (librarian), Mr. E. Pearson (secretary, Banbury Branch), and Mr. C. H. Kinch (secretary, Bicester Branch).

The bells were then available for visiting ringers, some fifty or so of whom had managed to secure a seat in the tiny church, while others, less fortunate, had remained in the churchyard, and many saw Hugh Gargate's bell for the first time. The new bells were much admired for their sweetness of tone and proved very easy to handle. They were cast by Messrs. Mears and Stainbank and hung by Messrs. Richard White and Son. The tenor is 29½ inches diameter, in D flat, and weighs 4 cwt. 3 qr. 16 lb. F. S.

ST. GEORGE COLEGATE, NORWICH

The hallowing of St. George Colegate bells a fortnight previously was followed on May 20th with a service less unusual but no less triumphant, when, having been hung in the tower, they were reopened by the Archdeacon of Norwich. The service was only made possible on this date by the very rapid and efficient work of the bellhangers who had been working up to 9 or 10 o'clock on several evenings previously.

Ascensiontide with its message leading men's thoughts upward was a most appropriate time for the service, which commenced with a grand Ascension hymn. Then a bidding prayer committing to God the bells and their work, and praying for craftsmen, ringers and hearers.

The president of the Norwich Association read the lesson, which was followed by the anthem, 'O praise God in His holiness.' Then the solemn procession to the ringing chamber, where Mr. A. A. Hughes handed a rope to the Archdeacon, who handed it to the Vicar and said the words of dedication.

Then 60 Grandsire Doubles were rung by the Association Ringing Master, the four Branch Ringing Masters and the Vicar. The procession returned to the chancel whilst a ringers' hymn by the Rev. W. G. Bridge, chairman of the West Norfolk Branch, was sung. After prayers for the bells, ringers, craftsmen, the sick and the departed, the choir sang the carol, 'Ding dong! merrily on high.' The Archdeacon's sermon was followed by the hymn, 'Raised aloft within the steeple.'

After the Blessing, an extent of Grandsire Doubles was rung by the four branch secretaries, also G. W. Fletcher, as branch chairman of the East Norfolk, and W. C. Duffield, as a Central Council representative, and thereafter the bells were kept going until well into the evening, with a variety of methods. All were delighted with the 'go' of the bells, with the tone which represents a perfect splice between mediæval and modern bells, and the absence of deafening clatter in the neighbourhood. A good tea and the showing of a cine film of handbell ringing in the churchyard rounded things off.

The Lord Lieutenant for Norfolk, who is keenly interested in ringing, sent a most gracious message regretting his inability to attend, and saying, 'I am sorry as there is nothing that pleases me more than to hear of bells being rehung and reopened for use.'

A. G. G. T.

ST. NICHOLAS', ARUNDEL

On Wednesday, May 31st, the bells of the Parish Church of St. Nicholas, Arundel, Sussex, were rededicated by the Lord Bishop of Lewes.

The service was attended by Her Grace the Duchess of Norfolk, the Deputy Mayor (Mr. A. G. Whittaker) and Corporation.

Messrs. Gillett and Johnston, who undertook the work of rehanging the bells, were represented by Mr. Michael Howard (managing director) and Mr. Newsome.

During the service the newly-formed local band, assisted by Mr. S. E. Armstrong, secretary of the Sussex County Association, and Mr. Leonard Stilwell, rang the dedication rounds.

After the service Mr. R. P. Wood, Master of the Western Division, conducted the ringing in a variety of methods.

On the following Saturday the tower was open to visitors during the afternoon and evening, when ringing ranged from rounds to Cambridge.

Tea was provided in the Church Hall by the voluntary help of ladies of the congregation, when about 36 ringers were welcomed by the Vicar, the Rev. H. A. King, and Mrs. King.

A crack has been discovered in Painswick Church a few feet from the top of the spire. A gift day is being held next Saturday to raise the £250 necessary to put the repair in hand this month. The Vicar (the Rev. R. G. Jackson), of the Vicarage, Painswick, Glos., appeals to all who have had the privilege of ringing in this famous church to send their contributions to him marked 'Church Spire Fund.'

The consummation of a great achievement will be the rededication of Ash, Surrey, bells on June 28th. Ash and Farnham district ringers are past masters at money raising.

Humphrey Perkins School, Barrow-on-Soar, Leics., has a campanological society that scored its first quarter on May 20th. The members are now looking forward to their first peal.

Miss Susan Dilnot, of Whitstable, aged 10 months, was made an honorary member of the Kent County Association at the meeting at Hernhill on June 3rd. Is she the youngest honorary member of any association?

'We are still fighting hard for our last £500,' writes Mr. George Gilbert, of Burnham fame. Another bell Sunday with a parade of fire engines and decorated vehicles is being arranged for June 25th.

A correspondent points out that the three available towers at Eastbourne are not all Warners. The eight at St. Mary's are Mears, cast in 1818 with the metal of the old six and augmented into eight. The fifth and seventh were recast again in 1923 by Messrs. Mears and Stainbank.

Owing to two bells crossing over in the last part unnoticed, a peal attempt of Plain Bob Major at Bampton, Wilts (tenor 25 cwt.), was lost. The band, however, was rather pleased,' writes Mr. Peter Anger, of Shrivenham, 'with having rung 3 hours 15 minutes of beautiful striking on such good toned bells.'

BELFRY GOSSIP

During the Central Council meeting at Eastbourne the bells of All Saints' Church were broadcast. A short touch of Stedman Triples was followed by three leads of Kent Treble Bob. The ringers were F. E. Haynes 1, F. W. Perrens 2, H. J. Poole 3, J. Freeman 4, J. F. Smallwood 5, F. I. Hairs 6, F. W. Rogers (cond.) 7, J. T. Dyke 8.

Clapham Park, London, after six years of disappointments, has now a band of keen youngsters whose first quarter peal is recorded this week. They are also all full church members.

During a peal of Minor in seven methods at Great Addington, Northants, on May 26th, an electricity breakdown in the area occurred. The band continued ringing mainly by ear until the current was restored in the fifth 720.

The information of the peal of Doubles rung at Norton on May 20th being the first on the bells for 26 years is not correct. Mr. P. Amos informs us that the last peal was rung on Dec. 30th, 1926, in which he took part.

Mr. F. G. Huckstepp, of Ashford, Kent, has now conducted a different Surprise Major method from each inside bell, viz., 2 Bristol, 3 Rutland, 4 Ashted, 5 New Cambridge, 6 Cranbourne, 7 Pudsey, 8 Cambridge. He has also completed the circle with Holt's Original from the treble onwards.

Mr. Frank Sinkins, who rang in the opening rounds when Slough bells were augmented into eight in 1886, rang on a similar occasion when the ten were dedicated. At the age of 85 he is still very fit and rings regularly every Sunday and practice night. Garden lovers will know the famous Mrs. Sinkins pink. This flower was named after his mother and was raised by his father when he was Master of Slough Workhouse.

The Decisions: An Interim Report Mr. Kippin and the Challenge to Freedom Mr. Roberts and Inartistic Performances Methods Committee and Doubles Problems Methods Committee and 'Patch-Up' Restorations

DECISIONS

The following is the recommendation of the Standing Committee on Decisions:—

RECOMMENDED DECISIONS.

The following Decisions and Recommendations of the Council have been issued from time to time, for the guidance of the Exercise, and with a view to bringing about uniformity of practice.

PRACTICAL RINGING.

CONDITIONS REQUIRED FOR PEALS.

On all numbers of bells a true peal shall in all cases start and end with rounds.

The use of visible aids to memory in conducting or ringing peals is not permissible.

With the object of emphasising the foregoing rules, and at the same time of giving a complete exposition of its views on the subject of peals in general, the Council in 1902 issued the following code, applying both to ordinary peals and also to peals rung to surpass previous achievements:—

(1) That any shift or error in ringing be immediately corrected.

(2) That no call be made, or, having been made, be altered or withdrawn later than during the change at which a call would properly take effect.

(3) That no other person than those ringing in the peal shall take any part in the calling or in rectifying an error.

(4) That if more than one person shall ring any bell, the fact be stated in publishing and booking the peal.

(5) That every bell must, during the peal, sound at every change.

That in the case of a peal rung to surpass a previous peal, compliance with these further conditions is necessary:—

(i) That not less than seven days' notice shall be given in the columns of 'The Ringing World,' stating the tower, day and hour at which the attempt is to be made, and the number of changes proposed to be rung.

(ii) That similar notice shall be sent to the secretary of the guild or association under whose title the peal (which it is proposed to surpass) was rung.

(iii) That the conductor of the proposed peal shall take steps to ensure, before the attempt, that the composition is true, and submit the figures to at least two competent persons for proof.

The figures, which shall be strictly adhered to, shall be lodged with the secretary of the guild or association under whose title the peal is to be rung, and in the event of accomplishment this officer shall immediately forward the figures to 'The Ringing World' for publication.

(iv) That if possible a competent representative of each of the bands shall be present during the whole of the performance.

(v) That each bell or bells shall be rung throughout the peal by one and the same person.

(vi) That any objection which may be taken to a peal be raised at the earliest date, and in no case after the lapse of three months after publication, unless in respect of the truth of the composition. (v) and (vi) to be applicable to all peals.)

(vii) In the case of handbell peals, arrangements must be made so that the ringing can be heard by interested parties.

PEALS OF DOUBLES.

Peals of Doubles shall consist of 5,040 or more changes, with or without one covering bell, rung in:—

(a) True and complete six-scores without interval between any two six-scores, and without rounds or any other row being struck more than once before the next change is made.

(b) Round blocks consisting of two or more six-scores, provided that each of the six-scores which comprise the round block shall be itself a true and complete round block.

(c) Twelve six-scores known as Morris' and Pitman's.

(d) Combinations of (a), (b) and (c) or any two of them.

PEALS OF MINOR.

Peals of Minor shall consist of at least seven true and complete 720's rung without a covering bell, the bells striking round once at the end of each 720 and immediately going into the next. A peal may be lengthened by the addition of any number of 720's fulfilling the same conditions, or by one touch of less than 720.

The Bankes-James arrangement for Cambridge Minor, and the Law-James arrangement for London Minor are permitted whilst being outside the normal scope of the definition above, and should only be used when sufficient true 720's are not available to make up a peal unless 5-6 are reversed. The conditions governing these arrangements are that each change should be rung seven times only in each 5,040, and pro rata for longer peals.

PEALS OF TRIPLES.

Peals of Triples shall comprise not less than 5,040 true changes rung with one covering bell and without interval.

PEALS OF CATERS AND CINQUES.

Peals of Caters and Cinques shall comprise not less than 5,000 true changes rung without interval and with one covering bell.

PEALS OF MAJOR, ROYAL AND MAXIMUS

Peals of Major, Royal or Maximus shall comprise not less than 5,000 true changes rung without interval and without a covering bell.

HANDBELL PEALS.

Handbell peals rung 'single handed' shall not be recognised.

CALLS.

On all numbers of bells more than seven, no special calls may be introduced, the regular bob or single of the method being sufficient on all occasions and for all purposes whatsoever.

It is not permissible for any pair or pairs of bells to be still, or for any other special arrangement to be made, on going off into changes, or in returning to rounds.

THE DISCUSSION.

The Secretary said the Standing Committee recommended that members be asked to consider the decisions as recommended, and send their criticisms to the committee as soon as possible, so that the final conclusion can be presented at the next meeting of the Council.

Mr. C. H. Kippin expressed the hope that nothing would be done to challenge the freedom of the Press when members talked about freak performances. Who was going to decide what was a freak performance? It was only a few weeks ago that the Editor was standing up for the amount of latitude allowed him in 'The Ringing World' and now they were suggesting that these freak performances would not be published. He did not know how the Editor was going to justify his article. There was another point: the sub-committee had mentioned London Surprise Royal; they seemed to have forgotten Superlative Surprise Royal. Whether it was prejudice against one he did not know.

The President: If you read the report you will see that no decision has been made in regard to London Surprise Royal.

Mr. Kippin: I am sorry I missed that point. The original peal was called London Surprise Royal and that was ruled out by the Council. Later on another band at Brighton rang it and called it a version of London Surprise Royal. That was 24 years ago.

The President: This report refers to the fact that there is a decision on London Surprise Royal and it is quite clear if you read it.

Mr. J. F. Smallwood: I would like to move that you formally adopt our interim report on the Decisions. I am sorry if somebody's toes have been trodden on over these freak performances. We know very well there are freak performances and we should like to see an end of them and that is why the Council decided to overhaul its Decisions and not be overridden by people who desire undue publicity. I hope you will send along your recommendations: they will be sympathetically considered.

Mr. P. J. Johnson seconded.

Mr. C. K. Lewis wanted the last paragraph of decision 6 to be deleted. 'I have little sympathy with freak performances,' he said, 'but I think sometimes out of freak performances you get advancement. Spliced Surprise met with strong opposition when it was first mooted, but it is accepted by the Exercise to-day.'

Mr. T. R. Butler agreed with Mr. Lewis, and asked who was qualified to determine what was and was not a freak performance. Another point was that ringing Minor with a cover was a freak, and Triples without a cover was also a freak. The reasons given were that they were unmusical. As to the musical properties, he said a few years ago he made a test with a schoolgirl of eight and a chief constable, and they both regarded Minor with a cover as more musical.

Mr. P. J. Johnson reminded the Council that there were existing Decisions on the two points raised by Mr. Butler. The aim of the new Decisions was to codify the present position.

Mr. Kenneth Lewis: There seems to be a side-track to attack the freedom of the Press. I quite agree that 'The Ringing World' is our official organ, but let it have some freedom. I don't think you are going to get any reputable journalist to put in what is dictated to him.

The President: If you send in your suggestions as recommended the committee will get on with its work.

Mr. P. J. Johnson: Mr. Smallwood has already circularised the associations through 'The Ringing World,' and he has had only one reply. Why bring this red herring to the meeting?

Mr. Kippin: This is the place.

Mr. Johnson: Not necessarily. Are you treating this committee with courtesy? We sent out asking for suggestions and we get two replies.

Mr. Butler: May I assure you that no discourtesy is intended.

Mr. C. W. Roberts explained that as a co-opted member of the committee they had mainly taken up the Decisions of the previous Council and had adhered to them in spirit. Everyone knew that a peal of Triples without a cover was an inartistic thing, and Minor with a cover was exactly the same. There were certain things in their art which were not necessary to put into rules; they were simply not done.

In regard to the question on the alternative form of bob, Mr. Roberts said there were certain things done to-day that would have been severely criticised by the Council in years gone by. The sole aims of the Decisions were to prevent inartistic performances which were arranged for the sole purpose of getting round the Decisions of the Council, which were worded rather loosely. To attempt this was a retrograde step.

The report was then adopted.

METHODS COMMITTEE.

The report of the Methods Committee was as follows:—

The Methods Committee has considered various items during the year. The Surprise Methods book was received from Mr. E. C. S. Turner, the only surviving member of the last committee, and, although a work of very great merit as is to be expected since it came primarily from the pen of the late Mr. J. A. Trollope, the present committee recommends that its publication be left for the present owing to the cost of printing and the lessened need for it through Mr. Corrigan's book. Some of the committee, however, consider it desirable that there should be ultimately an 'official' publication on Surprise Methods by the Council.

The Plain Major book has been completely revised and its MSS. is almost ready for the press. The old edition has been out of print for many years and we hope this new one will meet with the approval of the Exercise as a whole.

We have gone a long way towards completing our report on the extension of methods, but this very difficult subject, which the Council asked us to investigate, needs final decision on a few important points.

Finally we have made some preliminary observations towards producing a book of Doubles Methods. Before we can go further we should like the Council's approval of the following departures from its decision to apply to Doubles Methods only:—

(a) The working bells need not be in the same coursing order at each lead head and end in the plain course.

(b) No bell shall strike more than four consecutive blows in any one place, usually in 5th place when the treble leads in a 2nds place method, or at the lead in the reverse of such a method, or, if found to be necessary, at other times also.

The Rev. K. W. H. Felstead, in moving the adoption of the report, said, 'The manuscript of Surprise Methods Book was considered by the Standing Committee last night, and the committee was instructed to go into the matter more fully, and perhaps publish Mr. Trollope's work, particularly in relation to the history of Surprise ringing, which was of value to the Exercise. The manuscript was of very great merit. The committee had presented an interim report on the Extension question. When the final report comes before them they hoped it would be met with approval. They were trying to avoid any great controversial matters, quite cleverly perhaps, but the decision would rest with the Council.' Mr. F. W. Rogers seconded and the report was adopted.

PEAL ANALYSIS COMMITTEE.

The report of this committee stated that during 1949, 2,524 peals were rung on tower bells and 382 on handbells, making a total of 2,906. The Leicester Diocesan Guild headed the list with 267, with Kent County next having a total of 168. The Winchester and Portsmouth Guild accounted for practically a quarter of the handbell peals with 95, mainly due to the efforts of the Bournemouth band.

Not included in the list were the following peals:—

A peal of Doubles for the Irish Association which was recorded twice, only counted once; a peal of Doubles rung for the Yorkshire Association, which was not counted owing to the treble leading continuously.

The committee had included in its total the following two peals, but wanted information as to how they should be recorded:

A peal of Minor rung at Frant on August 9th, 1949, for the Sussex Association, which recorded a 720 each of eight methods, but only gave 5,040 changes. 'Was the last 720 (Reverse and Plain Bob) spliced?' A peal of Cambridge Major at St. Michael's, Southampton, on June 3rd, 1949, which had 6th place bobs. 'Should this be a peal of Spliced Surprise Major in two methods, as the bob is normally the Primrose Surprise Bob?'

Mr. P. J. Johnson said that in regard to the peal of Doubles at Bridlington, it had not been included in the report of the Yorkshire Association.

Mr. C. H. Kippin asked whether a 6th place bob in a peal would be recognised as Cambridge Surprise Major.

Mr. H. G. Cashmore said the unit was the same, and only one peal. He suggested it should be recognised as Cambridge Surprise.

Mr. C. W. Roberts said he had also given the matter consideration, and he had come to the conclusion that it was a peal of Cambridge Surprise Major.

The Rev. K. W. H. Felstead also announced that the Methods Committee was quite unanimous on this point.

The Council agreed to regard this as a peal of Cambridge Surprise, and the report was adopted.

TOWERS AND BELFRIES.

The Chairman presented a verbal report and stated that during the year the members of the committee received 61 requests for advice (of these 32 came from Mr. Sharpe) covering questions of general overhaul, ringing, hanging of bells, and damage to towers. There were nine cases of modification of sound. The need for overhaul in some cases was due to the lack of attention by the steeplekeepers. During the year Mr. F. Sharpe wrote a short note on the care of bells, which had been circulated to the diocesan authorities with a request that it should be published in the Diocesan Magazine. In some cases this had been done. They had received a letter from the Society for the Protection of Ancient Churches, and pointed out that Mr. Hughes and himself were going to talk to the Society's next meeting, and would be very glad if other members of the Council were present.

Mr. F. Sharpe, in seconding, said that he had nothing to add. It was a great pleasure to go and visit these churches, and also to endeavour to persuade the diocesan committees to do the jobs properly instead of 'patch up' work. In the past year they had been able to advise thorough restoration in place of 'patch up.' They had been able to save one or two old mediæval bells and get them replaced by new ones. In one tower he visited the key had been lost 32 years ago and they had to break open the tower door to get in. The tower was in a frightful condition. Many members of the Council had no idea of the frightful conditions under which some bells were rung.

The Rev. A. G. G. Thurlow said that at the York conference he referred to a Norwich firm's publicity in regard to electronic bells. The firm have now prepared a lovely brochure setting out the electric bells they had in all parts of this country, and also in Glasgow and New Zealand. The brochure pointed out the great advantage of the bells being played by one performer. They could also arrange in towers where there were ringers for each man to ring his own bell (laughter). There was no mention in the brochure as to cost. He knew that an electric organ costs from £400 to £3,000, and in the brochure it stated that if D.C. was required another £50 was necessary.

Mr. A. A. Hughes pointed out that the firm exhibited at the British Industries Fair at Wembley.

LITERATURE, PRESS AND BROADCASTING COMMITTEE.

A comprehensive report on this subject was submitted by the Rev. F. L. Edwards, in which he stated that bells and bellringing had figured very prominently in the Press during the past 12 months, and it appeared quite evident that the journalists of to-day take far more trouble to ensure accuracy in this connection than was formerly the case.

On the question of broadcasting the report stated:—

Our report on broadcasting is marked by two outstanding features. One is that television is now giving added publicity to the art of ringing. The other is that a defect, to which our report has repeatedly called attention, has this year been remedied. Easter Day, 1950, was worthily celebrated with a broadcast of bells from all parts of the British Isles, ending by a felicitous inspiration with the bells of the Church of the Holy Sepulchre in Jerusalem, which thus corresponded to the bells of Bethlehem at Christmas.

The televised broadcast from St. Paul's Cathedral was in truth a memorable event. Mr. Herbert Langdon presented the ringers to Richard Dimbleby on the Cathedral steps, the ringers in the belfry and the bells revolving above were clearly seen and heard, with Mr. Smallwood and Mr. Dimbleby 'starring' together in the descriptive comment. Another notable example of television was that of the dedication of Burnham bells in January, when bellfounder, Bishop, ringers and bells were all seen performing their respective parts. Publicity of this kind may well prove of great value both in encouraging general interest and in attracting recruits to the belfry.

Both tower and handbells have found a place in many of the radio programmes. An outstanding instance was the broadcast headed 'From Tower and Steeple,' which was given in the West Home Service on August 4th and subsequently repeated. A broadcast of ringing from Hunton in January was in every way admirable. In a broadcast from Aldbourne, the Wiltshire home of the Wells foundry of a bygone age, ringers with handbells took a part. Many of the broadcast services have been preceded by ringing. In this connection a marked tendency still persists to curtail even the brief 1½ minutes allowed for the bells. Two conspicuous instances occurred at St. Martin's, Birmingham, when a 'ration' of some 30 seconds allowed only six or eight changes of Stedman Caters to be heard before coming into rounds, and at Oxford, where after about a dozen well-struck changes, the fine bells of the University Church were shouted down by a lusty voice. This is a point that calls for careful watching and tactful admonition. In other respects the B.B.C. have given good cause for satisfaction.

The Rev. F. L. Edwards, in moving the adoption of the report, said they had criticised the B.B.C. in one or two previous reports for not broadcasting bells on the great festivals of the Church, but this year they had done so. The influence of television into the broadcasting activities, he felt, would lead to greater interest on the part of the public in ringing. Mr. F. Smallwood seconded and the report was adopted.

PEAL BOARDS.

A verbal report was presented by Mr. Walter Ayre, who said he hoped to have the records which were in Mr. Wilson's possession in a week or two. He would go through them, publish a final reminder in 'The Ringing World' and then the work of the committee could be closed.

BIOGRAPHY COMMITTEE.

The report was presented by Mr. A. C. Hazelden, who stated that they now had a list of 100 past members of the Council, whose records had been completed to the Council's requirements as laid down in 1935 when the committee was established. The committee had considered the preservation of these records in a worthy and accessible form, and suggested an album containing, on loose leaves, the leading particulars of the member's career, with a photograph, and, secondly, a filing system which would preserve the personal letters and papers. The report asked members of the Council to fill in the Biography Questionnaire form. Mr. Hazelden moved the adoption of the report. Mr. W. H. Viggers, in seconding, said the album they had in view would cost £15. It would be in leather and suitably bound, and he would like someone to present it to the Council.

'THE RINGING WORLD.'

The profit and loss account of 'The Ringing World' showed a net profit during the year of £29 14s. 7d. The income was as follows: Rolls House Publishing Company, £1,208 15s. 11d.; postal subscribers, £1,107 15s. 2d.; advertisements, £186 6s.; notices, £358 6s. 4d.; 'History of College Youths,' £14 15s.; making a total of £1,275 18s. 5d.

The balance sheet showed a balance carried forward of £1,372 18s. In moving the adoption of the report, Mr. G. W. Fletcher said his forecast last year that they would just about make ends meet had been justified. It was too early to foresee what the result would be of the increased selling price that came into force on January 1st. At the present time they were printing 5,010 copies per week. The accounts had been audited by a chartered accountant.

The income tax position was under consideration, and he hoped that by the same time next year he would be in a position to say how much tax, if any, they had to pay.

Mr. A. A. Hughes seconded.

Mr. C. H. Kippin asked how many years back did the income tax question go.

Mr. Fletcher replied that it was from the date of the purchase of 'The Ringing World.'

Mr. Kippin: If the Council had to make an unpleasant decision, it could be a financial responsibility.

SHROPSHIRE ASSOCIATION

The Shropshire Association held a joint meeting with the Crewe Branch of the Chester Diocesan Association at Market Drayton on May 27th, which was a great success.

A wedding delayed matters somewhat, but once started this modern ring of Taylor's was heard to the best advantage in standard methods, Cambridge, Superlative and London, which were rung before tea.

A party of 40 enjoyed 'a knife and fork' tea, and received a warm welcome from the Vicar, who said that his own band was one of which he could be proud, they had ushered in the millennium celebrations of the church on Ascension morning at 6.45, and he understood that some peals for the occasion were in the offing.

Visitors from far and wide appeared after tea, and the Ringing Master for the Shropshire Association, Mr. E. V. Rodenhurst, surprised us all by asking for Bristol and Yorkshire, which went well.

LEICESTER DIOCESAN GUILD JOINT MEETING WITH SOUTHWELL GUILD.

The joint meeting of these two Guilds attracted over 50 ringers to the beautiful ring of eight at Bottesford. The service was conducted by the Rev. F. Tetley, of Croxton Kerrial, in the absence of the Rector.

Following tea, Mr. F. J. Williams, chairman of the Melton District, gave a welcome to the visitors from Notts, Lincoln and Newark. Mr. Pailing, chairman of the Notts Guild, replied, and mentioned how much they had enjoyed the meeting amid such glorious surroundings.

Methods rung were Grandsire, Stedman, St. Clement's Bob, Plain Bob, Treble Bob and Cambridge Major.

SWINDON, WILTS.—At Christ Church on May 14th, 1,260 Plain Bob Royal: Miss M. Skinner 1, C. J. Gardner (cond.) 2, Miss B. E. Roberts 3, Miss M. Richards 4, C. A. Barron 5, T. Townsend 6, R. G. Townsend 7, H. Bishop 8, E. J. Berry 9, W. W. T. Daniell 10.

CHESTER DIOCESAN GUILD

ANNUAL FESTIVAL AT NORTHWICH.

The annual report of the Chester Diocesan Guild, presented at its annual festival at Northwich on Saturday, June 3rd, recorded continued progress in all branches, but reminded its members that there are still towers at which there is no Sunday service ringing and suggested that in 1950 a determined effort be made to re-establish service ringing in all towers. Coupled with this aim is one to bring into union with the Guild all the towers in which the Guild has at present no member.

One hundred and forty-three peals were rung in a variety of methods, and it is pleasing to record the progress being made by bands in different parts of the county and to note that the band which rang the silent peal of London Surprise Major was drawn from no fewer than four branches. But it is not only in the higher flights of method ringing that progress is being made, for an examination of the peal statistics reveals that ten members rang their first peal and that there were seven new conductors.

Finance is still a problem, but the Bell Restoration and Augmentation Fund has already proved its worth by relieving the General Fund of calls upon it for grants in respect of restorations. The annual dinner was revived in October and proved so popular that it is to be continued this year on October 14th in Chester.

Mr. J. W. Clarke was re-elected Master and the Rev. J. Kingdon hon. secretary and treasurer. As Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Lawton had intimated their desire to relinquish the offices of report secretary and peal recorder, their decision was received with regret and Mr. and Mrs. C. K. Lewis elected to fill the vacancies. Mr. S. Jones was re-elected hon. auditor, and Messrs. J. Worth and D. Smith elected Central Council representatives for the triennial period commencing 1951.

The meeting was preceded by a service in church conducted by the Vicar, the Rev. A. W. Maitland Wood, at which the chairman and clerk to the Northwich Urban District Council were present. In his address the Vicar pointed out that Northwich was in the middle of the county and was a very old town. The tower and church were the centre of a siege in Oliver Cromwell's time, as witness the bullet marks on the walls. One of the outside supports of the tower is now inside the church because the north wall was removed outwards several feet to accommodate the magnificent ceiling which, it is said, came from Norton Priory at the dissolution of the monasteries by Henry VIII.

Of course, continued the Vicar, there were people in Northwich who did not like bells, and he had received a complaint that the bells disturbed the Sunday morning rest of a certain person. That was the purpose of bells; to awaken people to a sense of their responsibilities. The idea he had tried to express in the service, the lesson and hymns was 'Tell it out to the world.' What a challenge the bells were to people! Whether they listened should not concern the ringers; that should be left to God. But . . . those who issued challenges must be prepared to take them up and it is no use ringing out the challenge if they did not believe in it. The form of service arranged by the Vicar, which began with a course of Plain Bob Major and concluded with a course of Grandsire Triples, was very favourably commented on by those present, as was also the excellent singing of the choirboys.

Tea in the Church Institute followed the service and afterwards the chairman of the Northwich Urban District Council on behalf of the citizens of Northwich welcomed the Guild to the town and its environs remarking that he had been greatly interested in all he had seen and heard that afternoon and that certain of his misconceptions regarding ringing had been very effectively cleared up. The meeting, through the Master, thanked him for his warm welcome and interest, the Vicar for the preparation of the service and his excellent address, the curate, the organist and choirboys, the local ringers and their helpers for all their efforts to ensure the comfort of the visitors and the success of the meeting.

The next annual festival of the Guild is to be held at St. George's, Church, Stockport, on May 19th, 1951, when it is hoped the preacher will be the Rev. Wilfrid Garlick, Vicar of St. George's, 'the parson who calls,' and we look forward to being able to record still further progress by the Chester Guild.

SELBY AND DISTRICT SOCIETY

The monthly meeting was held at Escrick on May 20th. Members were present from Selby Abbey, Carlton, Snaith, Goole, Sherburn-in-Elmet, Hemmingbrough, York and Thorne. The eight bells were rung during the afternoon to standard methods, also rounds for learners.

A shortened form of service was conducted by the Vicar. Cups of tea were kindly provided by the local company in the schoolroom and the business meeting followed, Mr. H. S. Morley (Selby Abbey) occupying the chair. The secretary gave final details regarding arrangements for the annual outing to be held on Whit Monday. A hearty vote of thanks was accorded the Vicar and to the local company for arrangements, it being unfortunate that the wife of Mr. Robbins was ill. Ringing continued until 8.30 p.m.

OBITUARY OF THE WEEK

MR. WILLIAM H. BARBER.

The death of Mr. Wm. Henry Barber at Tamworth General Hospital on May 30th has robbed the ringing Exercise of one of its best known personalities. He was 73 years of age.

Born at Clent, Worcestershire, in 1876, he was afforded his introduction to ringing as a boy, and soon became very skilled. He travelled extensively in early manhood, and for a time was resident in Edinburgh, Dublin and Bangor. Settling in Newcastle-upon-Tyne in 1905, there he remained until a year ago, when he moved to Sutton Coldfield to spend his retirement.

Throughout his career his performances as a conductor stamped him as being in the top flight, and he has won for himself a niche in ringing memories by his conducting of the most difficult compositions in his favourite method, Stedman. John Carter's odd-bob one-part, which he was the first to call both on tower an assurance that J. W. Washbrook really did ring two tower bells to a peal, and the feat was repeated for their benefit.

In stature he was of slight build, but he had a fine style of ringing, and his performances on heavy and ill-going bells were masterpieces of accomplishment. Equally at ease as a conductor on tower bells and handbells, he had great ability as a teacher both of change ringing and tune playing, and there are many who will mourn the passing of the man who was their introduction to the world of pleasure to be found in ringing.

Most of all will he be missed from the social gathering which is so much a part of ringing. William Barber was an amusing companion with a seemingly inexhaustible fund of ringing anecdote, and we to whom he had endeared himself are the richer for having had his generous friendship.

His funeral was at Sutton Coldfield on June 3rd.

W. J. D.

MR. GEORGE CONDICK.

The death of Mr. George Condick, aged 89 years, occurred on May 27th. He was one of the founder members of St. Michael's Juniors, Gloucester, besides being a member of several associations.

He rang about 200 peals, one of which he was very proud of, Double Norwich Caters. His list of peals includes Stedman and Grand-sire from Doubles to Cinques, Minor to Maximus in the plain method, also Double Norwich Major, Cambridge and London. He was always to be found on the heavy end and was a very safe ringer.

A quarter peal of Grandsire Triples was rung at St. Mary-de-Crypt with the bells muffled by S. Romans 1, T. Newman (cond.) 2, W. Richings 3, H. Austin 4, G. Case 5, W. Cox 6, L. Barry 7, C. Lerner 8.

L. B.

MR. W. H. WALDRON.

It is with regret we record the death of Mr. W. H. Waldron, of Peterborough, which occurred very suddenly on June 5th. He had been in failing health for the last few months, but was ringing as usual the previous Sunday and the news of his death was a shock to his many ringing friends.

Mr. Waldron was born at Uffington, Lincs, where he learned to ring. On removing to Peterborough he joined St. Mary's band and became a proficient Minor ringer. He was a member of the band which rang the peal in 32 Surprise methods for the Lincoln Guild and had taken part in several peals of Major, Triples and Minor in all numbers of methods.

When the Peterborough Diocesan Guild was formed he was elected secretary of the Peterborough Branch and was in office at the time of his death. Last year he was presented with a barometer by the members of the branch in recognition of his services for the good of ringing. He was enthusiastic in all he did and was regular and punctual both on practice nights and Sundays. A fitting farewell to him is: 'He served his generation.'

The funeral took place at St. John's and was attended by several ringers from neighbouring villages. The bells were rung half-muffled after the service and again in the evening, when other ringers, who were unable to attend the funeral, were there to pay their last tribute.

MR. FRANK PALMER.

The ringers of Ashby Folville, Leicestershire, have lost their captain by the death of Frank Palmer. For many years he was a member of the Goscote Society of Change Ringers.

The funeral was at Ashby Folville on May 27th. In the evening the bells were rung half-muffled to 1,260 Grandsire Doubles, with 7.6.8 covering, by W. L. Goodacre 1, C. E. Cooper 2, M. Riley 3, H. Wedge 4, H. T. Bonshor (cond.) 5, H. Walker 6, A. Baker 7, D. Palethorpe 8.

Letters to the Editor

THE HANDSTROKE LEAD

Dear Sir,—May I add to my remarks on page 268 of 'The Ringing World' so as to make clearer what I mean?

If twelve bells were being rung properly in rounds and with the correct length of pause at the handstroke, and the front six were set up, the remaining six bells would be adjusted to the gap and the 7th bell would fall into the place previously occupied by the 2nd, and the handstroke gap would be equal to the space between two bells, plus precisely the same constant as when twelve bells were ringing. Further, the bells would rise to exactly the same heights at hand and back.

Many visitors ring at Queen Camel, and much criticism in the village is directed against the apparent lack of a bold open lead. Actually, the open lead is there all right, but the constant is so small in comparison with the necessarily wide spacing that it is not nearly so obvious as it would be if the bells were one quarter their weight. I believe that it would be impossible for the back end men to get the backstrokes of their up dodges in the proper places if so wide a lead as twice the ordinary spacing were used.

On eight bells, the handstroke lead approaches the double space. On ten and twelve it should be a little more, and on six and five it is usually totally necessary to make it less. At least, that is my opinion.—Truly yours,

J. T. DYKE.

Chilcompton, Bath.

THANKS TO SHAPWICK

Dear Sir,—As May 29th was the first anniversary of the dedication of our bells, I would like to take this opportunity of showing our appreciation to the ringers of our neighbouring church (Shapwick) for their most generous help.

When our bells were dedicated we had only six ringers, who had not rung for more than ten years and could only ring call changes. We now have 14 ringers, including seven who had never handled a bell nine months ago. Of these 14, ten (which includes one lady) can ring Grandsire Doubles. Since last November we have rung one peal and four quarter peals. Had it not been for the co-operation of our ringer friends from Shapwick we would still be ringing call changes. As captain of our ringers I would like to say on their behalf, 'Thank you, Shapwick.'—Yours sincerely,

W. H. CAVILL.

Ashcott, Bridgwater.

OUTINGS

ST. MARY'S, ELY.

After ringing Thaxted bells to Plain Bob, Cambridge and Superlative, St. Mary's, Ely, ringers on their outing on Whit Monday watched the Morris dancers, a Bank Holiday custom at Thaxted.

Ringing at Felstead preceded lunch with the Essex Association at Chelmsford, and some of the visitors helped with Stedman Caters at the Cathedral afterwards. Writtle and Great Waltham and Dunmow (for ringing and tea) were also visited. The best struck touch of the day was Stedman Triples at Dunmow. Cambridge friends are thanked for helping to make up numbers.

MARKET HARBOROUGH DISTRICT.

This year's outing was in the Matlock District on June 3rd. The route chosen started with a visit to the Loughborough Bell Foundry and a ring on the foundry bells, and then via Darley Dale and Matlock. Home was reached at 11 p.m., everyone being satisfied with good bells, lovely weather and good company.

THE LATE MR. W. H. BARBER

bells and handbells, and H. Law James' seven-part, were both in his peal book, and he accomplished the singularly difficult feat of ringing the fifth bell whilst blindfold and conducting the former composition at Gateshead in 1908.

He rang in the first peal on handbells in Ireland, the 8,888 Stedman Caters on handbells at Aston in 1898, and the 11,111 Stedman Cinques at Birmingham in 1901.

He was first to conduct peals of Canterbury Pleasure Royal, Forward Maximus, Little Bob Maximus, Kent Treble Bob Granta Maximus, Spliced Caters (Stedman and Erin), Real Double Superlative Surprise Major, Erin Caters, Erin Triples and all short-course Stedman Cinques.

Bill Barber took part in the Coronation peal in 1936 at St. Paul's Cathedral, and in all he had rung over 600 peals, a great number of which he conducted. He conducted a handbell peal of Grandsire Caters in a coal mine, and all arrangements had been made for a similar performance in a dirigible airship when an accident rendered the aircraft unavailable for flying service. He was fond of remarking that it was a good thing the balloon blew up when it did, and not during the ringing, which might have thrown the bells into confusion.

A member of the Central Council since 1924, he was not prominent in debate, but held forthright views, which he was capable of expressing with great deliberation. His 'Ringing World' comment during the Bankes James' Cambridge Minor dispute, '.... scrap the lot,' will be remembered by many.

He was a member of the party which travelled to Arklow at the instance of Harvey Reeves, Editor of 'The Bell News,' to obtain

Guild of Devonshire Ringers

ANNUAL MEETING AT OTTERY ST. MARY
The 75th annual general meeting of the Guild was held in glorious weather at Ottery St. Mary on Whit Monday. Ringing on the newly cast ring of eight began at 11 a.m. and continued during the day. Good use was also made of the rings at Sidbury, Sidmouth, Honiton and Axminster by bands from various parts of the diocese.

The glorious old church, with its monuments to members of the Coleridge family, made an impressive setting for the service, which was conducted by the Vicar, the Rev. B. C. Jackson, assisted by the Guild president, Prebendary E. V. Cox. The Rev. W. H. Smale, a vice-president of the Guild, gave a most helpful and interesting address, and Mr. David Conway, a young member of the Silverton band, played the organ in a very able manner.

Luncheon was followed by the business meeting, at which the president was supported by the hon. general secretary (Mr. F. C. Smale), Mr. T. Laver and Mr. A. W. Searle. The annual report showed that despite the raising of the subscription, membership had increased from 589 to 603, excluding non-resident members, that 29 peals had been rung during the year, and that receipts on general account had exceeded expenditure by over £4.

The President, in reviewing the past year, said that the increase in numbers was very gratifying, but pointed out that this meant that a great deal of hard work would devolve on members in training the newly-joined associate bands. He emphasised the importance of regular Sunday service ringing and that the ideal to be aimed at above all else was that of good striking. He announced that the General Committee had, with very great regret, accepted the resignation of the general secretary, who for ten years had untiringly and devotedly given of his best for the Guild. Mr. Smale was later accorded a hearty vote of thanks for his services and elected a vice-president of the Guild, the hope being expressed that he would soon fully recover from his recent indisposition.

Elections for officers resulted as follows: President, Preb. E. V. Cox; hon. general secretary, Mr. E. J. Taylor; hon. general treasurer, Mr. A. L. Bennett; hon. auditor, Mr. J. C. Oke; Central Council representatives, Messrs. A. L. Bennett, F. W. Biffin, T. G. Myers and J. E. Lilley.

The meeting confirmed the recommendation of the General Committee that the next annual meeting should take place at Newton Abbot on Easter Monday.

WARSOP, NOTTS.

On Whit Monday, the Warsop ringers, accompanied by their wives and friends from Bolsover, Warsop and Gamston, held a very enjoyable tour of churches in North Lincolnshire. The towers visited were Saxilby (6), Stow (6), Willingham (6), Lea (6), Gainsborough (8), Epworth (8) and Haxey (6). An excellent tea was served at the Red Lion Hotel, Epworth.

Methods rung during the day were Plain Bob, St. Clement's, Double Court, Kent, Oxford, L.S. Pleasure, Sandal, Kingston, Oswald, Barham, Cambridge Surprise, Norwich Surprise Minor, Stedman Doubles and Triples, Plain Bob, Little Bob, Kent, Oxford, St. Clement's, Gainsborough Little Bob, Double Norwich, Cambridge Surprise and Superlative Surprise Major. The fine toned heavy six at Haxey proved to be a handful, but after one or two failures were rung to some well-struck touches.

BIDDENDEN, KENT.

On May 10th, the Biddenden bellringers and their friends enjoyed a day's outing. Towers visited were Salehurst, Heathfield, Mayfield and Burwash. Ringing ranged from rounds to touches of Grandsire Triples and Bob Major. Thanks are due to the local ringers who kindly arranged for the use of the bells and to those who welcomed us at the towers. RINGERS' OUTINGS

ST. MATTHEW'S, WALSALL.

On May 20th, the Walsall ringers held their annual outing, Shropshire being the venue. The main contingent, augmented by friends from Willenhall and West Bromwich, left Walsall by motor-coach at 1.45 p.m. for Wolverhampton, where the remainder of the party came aboard.

After leaving Wolverhampton, the road to Bridgenorth was taken and then on via Craven Arms to Church Stretton, the first stop. Here we were met by Mr. Hughes, and after raising the bells in peal, the good eight were soon in touches of Stedman. Kent, Grandsire and Bob Major. Ringing over, a move was made to the Carding Mill Valley Hotel for an excellent tea.

Boarding the coach, the climb to the top of Wenlock Edge was enjoyed and a short halt there for all to enjoy the view and then on to Much Wenlock, where the locals had the bells readiness, Stedman, Grandsire, Kent and Bob Major were again rung on the good going eight, also a touch of Erin Triples (the first on the bells). All too soon farewell was said to Mr. Fox and the locals, and on past Buildwas Abbey to Coalbrookdale, the home of that Shropshire worthy, the late William Saunders.

Here the ten bells of Holy Trinity Church were set going to Stedman Caters, Kent and Bob Royal, and Erin Caters (again the first on the bells). Incidentally here the Vicar conducted the ladies of the party round the church whilst ringing was in progress.

After farewells had been said the coach, with a somewhat tired but happy party, returned via Shifnal and Wolverhampton, reaching Walsall at 10.45 p.m. J. S. E.

LADIES' GUILD (CENTRAL DISTRICT).

A few members of the Ladies' Guild, from places as far apart as St. Albans and Frindsbury, with a sprinkling of the 'sterner sex,' with hopeless ambitions! spent a really grand day on May 20th.

Leaving London Bridge by coach, we started on a tour of the most beautiful and picturesque part of Kent, the first call being at Wrotham, where the lovely ring of eight was soon going to the tune, of G, S, D.N. and C.

In spite of a little rain, they set off again for Aylesford—a very beautiful old church and another ring of eight. Various methods were rung and with a look round the pretty village. The 'inner man' was beginning to call, so we made our way to Maidstone and Herbert's Cafe, where lunch was waiting.

A lovely drive through some of the 'Weald' brought us to Leeds, where the famous James Barham used to ring. On this ring of ten the ladies were quite at home ringing Grandsire and Stedman Caters and Treble Ten, with, of course, the gentlemen on the heavy end!

Our next call was at Marden, another lovely eight, and as our time was getting short, we had to have to quick run to Tonbridge, where a very substantial tea was waiting.

With two more towers to visit, Chiddingstone and Sevenoaks, both good eights, the thanks and appreciation of the party were expressed by Miss Doris Colgate to Miss Lidbetter for organising such a full, happy and successful day.

WHISTON, YORKS.

Together with a few friends from Sheffield, Whiston ringers visited Bridlington on their annual outing on May 27th. Ringing at Beverley Minster, Bridlington Priory and Thorne Parish Church was much enjoyed, and methods ranged from Cambridge Minor to Bob Royal.

At Beverley, both ringers and non-ringers found much to interest them, not least of all a conversation in the local bar, overheard by two of the ringing party, on the merits of bells. Happily, most of the speakers seemed greatly in favour and enthusiastic in their appreciation of the sound of church bells. N. C.

WARWICK AND LEAMINGTON SPA DISTRICT.

Making a 7.30 a.m. start on Whit Monday from Leamington Spa, the Warwick and Leamington district ringers, joined by ringing friends from Stratford-on-Avon, Long Itchington and Ladbroke, travelled by bus via Kenilworth, Lichfield and Burton-on-Trent to Derby.

Here they were met by Mr. H. Taylor at the Cathedral, and touches of Grandsire and Stedman Caters were rung. From Derby on to Duffield, where they were checked as the local steeplekeeper failed to turn up to let the party into the tower. After waiting for nearly an hour after the appointed time they proceeded to Matlock, where a good lunch was served. The local organiser (Miss J. Dunn) 'phoned Duffield immediately and made arrangements for a call in the evening.

After lunch there followed the climb over the 'Bank' and down 'Slack' to Ashover, where this lovely eight was soon going to Bob Major. Messrs. Tom Dent and Eddie Hopkinson, two of the local ringers, met the party. From Ashover to Darley Dale, where some good Grandsire and Bob Major was rung, and a welcome from Messrs. G. Paulson, H. Taylor, H. Gregory and M. Hotchin. Norman was very content and keen to show the visitors the items of interest around the church—not forgetting the 2,000 years old yew tree.

At Matlock tea was served with ringing afterwards at the Parish Church. This visit was cut short owing to the arrangements with Duffield. Unfortunately, Duffield was reached a few minutes late owing to traffic jams, and again access to the church was not possible as there was nobody to meet the party. This was a great disappointment to the tourists, as arrangements were made as far back as Christmas and there was a check up only a week before the visit. R. J. E.

BETCHWORTH, SURREY.

The weather at the beginning of May 20th did not look very promising for the second annual outing of the Betchworth ringers. However, the party of 19, including the Rev. Sanders (Buckland) and the Rev. K. G. Hoare, Vicar of Betchworth, left the church at 8.30 a.m., and by the time we had arrived at Warfield, Berks, at 10 a.m., the weather looked promising enough to remain pleasant for the rest of the day. The local captain, Mr. L. D. Millard, had everything ready and we enjoyed touches of Grandsire and Plain Bob on an excellent eight (tenor 13½ cwt.).

We continued through Reading to Streatley (6, tenor 11 cwt.), and the writer was very pleased to see Capt. A. R. Poyntz, who met us at the church. We rang Grandsire, Plain Bob and Cambridge on these lively bells, which are now seldom rung. An excellent lunch was served at the Bull Hotel, and after a ride over the rolling Berkshire downs, we reached Blewbury (8, tenor 19½ cwt.). Messrs. C. Corderoy, C. Gregory and F. James met us and joined us in touches on the fine old eight.

A short ride brought us to Aston Tirrold (6, tenor 12½ cwt.), and the Vicar, the Rev. C. F. Cross, and our Vicar, the Rev. K. G. Hoare, recognised each other as fellow Wykehamists, although they had not met since school days. Another short run and we arrived at Cholsey (8, tenor 10½ cwt.) to meet Mr. L. G. Garlick. The bells hang in a fine, sturdy central tower.

After a good tea at the Lamb Inn, Wallingford, we enjoyed a very pretty ride over the Chilterns and beside the Thames to Marlow (8, 15 cwt.), the writer's 1,250th tower. Messrs. R. W. Atkins, L. J. Young and Miss E. Gibson met us and rang the usual three methods with us. The well-kept belfry is a credit to the local company. Our last tower was Clewer (6, tenor 14½ cwt.), and we rang Grandsire and Oxford Treble Bob on a good ring of bells. A. P. C.

HOLY TRINITY, HULL

ONE of the largest parish churches is Holy Trinity, Hull, a church rich in history and known to hundreds of ringers who are familiar with its ring of ten with a tenor of 25 cwt. 2 qr. 18 lb. in D. The Editor is indebted to 'F. A.' for his research into the history of the towers and bells.

Holy Trinity, Hull, is built of brick, faced with stone, for which the city was famous in the Middle Ages; the church has some of the oldest medieval brickwork in the country, and this came from Sir William de la Pole's brickyard just within the North Gate. The lower tower was built soon after 1300, but the upper tower is Tudor, as can be seen from a breach in the brickwork, and also by the documentary proof of the wills of Jeffrey Thurescrosse, merchant, dated 1520, who left £40 'to the upholding of the steeple of Trinity Church,' and Dame Joan Thurescrosse, 1523, who left £40, 'to the building of the steeple.' On each side of the lower stage are two windows of three lights each and on the upper stage are similar windows more highly enriched with pedimental canopies terminating in finials (a bunch of foliage at the top) above the battlements. All the windows in the tower are furnished with cross mullions or transoms. The height of the tower is 147½ feet.

The first mention of the bells is in a will dated 1482, which reads: "the Great Bell of the said church to be rung . . . for the souls of notable men of the said town afore passed to God." By 1522 there were some signs of the coming storm of the Reformation, for the windows and doors of the church were barricaded with briars, the pavement was torn up, the tongues were torn from the bells and the services ceased. The church was under an interdict!

The next mention of the bells was in the Minute Books of 1698, when the charge for ringing the Lady Bell at funerals was to be 1s. more than formerly. The other important bell was known as the Great Bell. On May 3rd, 1710, the 4th, 5th and 6th bells were mentioned. In 1720 the steeple was reported to be in a dangerous condition, and on April 18th that year it was agreed that 'in respect of new pinnacles none of the bells shall be rung or put in motion by tolling upon any occasion whatever, but only struck upon.' An order was given to a bell founder in 1727 'to cast into 8 the 6 bells lately hanging in the belfry, and the bell belonging to the Charterhouse and that belonging to the Exchequer to be hung in their the Charterhouse bell took over the duties of the Lady Bell and the Exchange Bell those of the Great Bell.

A stringent agreement was made with the bellringers—Joseph Carver, John Bakes, Benjamin Halling, Jeremiah Gibson, Robert Hardgrave, John Wells, Henry Peirson, Daniel Capes and John Watkin—by which they undertook to ring the bells on the 'seven ringing days of the year and to keep the said bells in good order for ringing, and to preserve all the ropes and other utensils thereto belonging, as much as in them lies so as none of them be wasted or lost,' and at the death of any of their members to find a proper person to fill the gap. For this they received £10 per annum, with the right 'to mount the steeple at any time and to ring for their own advantage.'

On April 6th, 1747, the Great Bell was 'broke or split' and could not be used. The dues had to be maintained however, so it was ordered that 'when the Lady Bell is used as the Great Bell, the same shall be rung or tolled for the space of one hour, and in each case the same to be paid as for the Great Bell.' Also in 1747, three of the bells had to be recast to ease the steeple, and matters were so bad in June, 1802, that it was a question whether there should not be a new ring of 8 bells. It was decided, however, to recast the 7th bell and to put the hangings of all the bells in order. The inscriptions on the bells at a later date were:—

Treble, 'Earth at the solemn sound awake.' 1727.

2nd, 'Thou air with measured tremor shake.' 1727.

3rd, 'Let distant hills return their lays.' 1727.

Wm. Mason, Vicar. Joseph Bell, Daniel Bredges, Churchwardens.

4th, 'Thomas Lester of London made me.' 1747.

5th, 'Rickard Bell, Robert Ramse, Churchwardens.' 1759.

Lester and Pack London Fecit.

6th, 'Rev. John Healey Bromby, Vicar. James Harrison, Founder.'

7th, 'William Horncastle, John Yeoman, Churchwardens.' 1802.

Tenor, 'J. H. Bromby, Vicar. H. W. Fenbig, T. Marshall, Churchwarden.' 1821.

The Rev. J. H. Bromby was appointed Vicar of Hull on November 28th, 1797, and held the living well over 60 years. The oldest 'peal' recorded is that of Grandsire Triples in 1873. In 1899 the old ring of 8 bells, tenor 20 cwt., was recast and augmented to 10, tenor 25 cwt. 2 qr. 18 lb. in D by John Taylor and Co. The church, tower, bells and ringing room are a credit to the city of

EDITOR: T. W. WHITE.

The peal at Walgrave, Northants, for the tercentenary of John Bunyan, is of special interest. As the Exercise knows, John Bunyan was one of the most 'picturesque' bellringers, having been an Elstow, Beds, ringer. It is said that the greatest factor to his 'conversion' was that while engaged in the siege of Leicester one of his companions was shot by his side, and this greatly changed his mode of living. The bell which Bunyan used to ring was cast by Hugh Watts, who was Mayor of Leicester 1633 and churchwarden of St. Margaret's in 1615. It was, therefore, very appropriate that St. Margaret's, Leicester, should be represented by the present-day vergier, Mr. Ernest Morris, who conducted the peal.

The peal is claimed to be the first peal on the bells for at least 50 years and may be the first ever on them. From the South African War until 1937 they were out of commission. They were then hung in a new metal frame, but are still not easy to ring, and the tenorman, Patrick I. Chapman, is congratulated on what was a real job of work at every stroke.

Mr. George E. Symonds, of Ipswich, has now called peals of Oxford Treble Bob from Minor to Maximus.

The peal of Plain Bob Major at Stoney Stanton was specially arranged as a 21st birthday greeting to the ringer of the treble, Frank Mellor, who has now rung his first peal away from the tenor.

The 130th anniversary of the first peal on Fressingfield, Suffolk, bells was marked by ringing the same composition on June 10th. The first peal on the bells, which were augmented to eight in 1819, was rung by the Redenhall company and conducted by Edward Whiting, jun., great-grandfather of Ernest Whiting, who called the 130th anniversary peal.

BELFRY GOSSIP

Mr. M. H. White, secretary of St. Michael's, Bishop's Stortford, band, has completed 50 years as a ringer at this church. In honour of the occasion and his birthday, 1,260 Stedman Triples was rung on June 3rd by R. Hayden 1, B. G. Burton 2, F. Springham 3, F. Bird 4, W. H. Alley 5, W. Wheeler 6, S. Clarke (cond.) 7, W. Bird 8. On June 4th, 1,260 Grandsire Triples was rung conducted by P. A. Chalk, in which Mr. White participated.

Errata: In the peal of Yorkshire Surprise Major at Edmonton on May 24th the ringer of the treble was Alick Cutler and the third Mrs. N. O. L. Manchip.

In view of the exhortation to improve service ringing at Willesborough, Ashford, Kent, quarter peals in Kent Treble Bob, Plain Bob, Oxford Treble Bob and St. Clement's Bob Minor have been rung between May 18th and June 4th.

The band who participated in the peal of Stedman at St. Wystan's, Repton, on June 3rd, to mark the 11th century of this saint's martyrdom, thank Mrs. S. H. Jones, wife of the Ringing Master, who rang the treble with complete confidence at very short notice. This was her first attempt for a peal of Stedman.

One of the young ringers at Kingston Magna is at present serving with the R.A.F. about 50 miles from his home. He generally comes home by motor-cycle at week-ends and returns in time to report for duty on Monday at 8 a.m. One Sunday, after ringing and reading one of the lessons at evensong, he started on his ride back, but before he had ridden ten miles his motor-cycle went on strike. Not to be beaten, he continued his journey on foot. After walking nearly 35 miles he had the luck to get a lift for the short distance left and was at his post with ten minutes to spare.

Festival of Britain Standing Committee to Act Methods Committee and Shipway-Steadfast Controversy Chester selected for Next Meeting Civic Reception

FESTIVAL OF BRITAIN.

The following notice of motion was proposed by Dr. E. S. J. Hatcher: 'That this Council, through an appropriate committee and by liaison with the organisers, should determine the nature of the part to be played by the Ringing Exercise in the Festival of Britain.'

Dr. Hatcher said that he supposed all of them were fully alive to the festival being organised for 1951. In various parts of the country they had started discussing 'ways and means' six months ago, and had formed district committees. The festival was the centenary of the Great Exhibition of 1851, but this one would be on a much greater scale.

He felt that all guilds and associations should consider their responsibility in regard to the festival, and do something to mark the occasion. The Council should also consider doing something on a national level. He suggested that all ringers should get into touch with the chairman of their local festival organisation and express their willingness to co-operate.

Among the suggestions he had heard was in regard to St. John's, Waterloo Road, which adjoined the exhibition. This church was destroyed by fire and it was suggested that the bells could be put in a ringing condition, to be rung during the course of the festival year.

They had all read the idea of another ringer, of a campanile on perspex lines so that people could see the bells ringing. If such a tower was erected at the exhibition, it would create great interest and the Exercise would derive much benefit by the advertisement.

Mr. G. H. Spice seconded the motion.

The Hon. Secretary said the view of the Standing Committee was that this was a matter of urgency and anything that had to be done would have to be done at once. They suggested the appointment of Dr. Hatcher and Mr. Spice as a sub-committee to make a report which would be presented to the Standing Committee. The Standing Committee should be given power to act upon the receipt of that report.

The Rev. A. G. G. Thurlow said there was one thing that was particularly urgent in giving publicity to any efforts which were likely to be made, because the various national and regional handbooks in connection with the festival were now in preparation. He was asked for an article of 500 words on Norwich churches to go in the Norwich Festival Handbook, and he would certainly say something about the bells.—The motion was carried.

METHODS COMMITTEE'S DECISIONS.

With the permission of the chairman, Mr. Harold J. Poole amended the notice of motion which appeared under his name in the agenda to read: 'That the unanimous decision of the Methods Committee upon matters with which they were authorised by the Council to deal shall be published at once in "The Ringing World" and submitted to the next meeting of the Council for consideration.'

Mr. Poole said the thing that brought this matter to his mind was the publication of a peal in 'The Ringing World' as Steadfast. He felt that in the past there had been a lack of definite decisions of the Council. Here was a case where the Methods Committee came to a unanimous decision and printed that decision in 'The Ringing World,' and within a fortnight they were challenged that they had no authority to do so, and they were wrong in doing it.

The Methods Committee had been selected especially for their ability and the only thing they could do was to stand by them and uphold their unanimous decisions. It might be true that they did get some cranks in ringing. Any decisions by the Methods Committee should be published at once as a guidance to the Exercise.

Mr. R. Ballard seconded the motion, which was then carried.

The Rev. K. W. H. Felstead said in regard to the Shipway-Steadfast controversy, the Methods Committee were asked for a decision, and he regretted that it had not been put into the report of his committee. He asked if the Council would accept that decision now.

Mr. H. J. Poole proposed that such action should be taken, as it would be another twelve months before the next meeting of the Council.

The Rev. Felstead said that they had received a request about Steadfast, and at first they were inclined to ignore the whole business, as things were apt to die a natural death, but when peals began to be published in that method and there was a possibility of someone attempting a peal, they thought some action should be taken. The unanimous view of the committee was published in 'The Ringing World.' In his letter he did try to express the committee's opinion that Steadfast was no different from Shipway's principle 150 years ago.

Mr. C. H. Kippin seconded.

Mr. E. A. Barnett supported the decision and said he did write to 'The Ringing World' on the subject because he thought they should make it quite clear that Steadfast did not differ from Shipway.

THE NEXT MEETING.

The Chairman said that under the old rule the next meeting of the Council should be in London, but the new rule enabled them to go where they liked. London would be a very difficult place next year, as he understood a great deal of the accommodation was already booked, and prices were high. The Standing Committee had an invitation to go to Chester, and suggested it should be accepted.

Mr. R. S. Anderson asked the Council seriously to consider visiting London next year in view of the festival. London was the centre of the country. He moved that the Council go to London. Dr. Hatcher seconded.

Mr. G. Pullinger asked if a place near London could be selected.

Mr. F. Sharpe proposed the recommendation of the Standing Committee that the invitation of the Chester Diocesan Guild should be accepted.

Mr. T. R. Butler seconded, saying that it was 25 years ago since the Council went to Chester.

Mr. J. W. Jones supported the old rule of the Council meeting in London. 'London,' he said, 'is a very "getatable" place and I never experienced any difficulty in getting accommodation.'

The vote of the Council was: Chester 62, London 49.

MEMORIAL TO CANON COLERIDGE.

The President said that the Oxford Diocesan Guild was proposing to build a memorial to Canon Coleridge. It would take the form of a tablet in the cloisters of Christ Church, similar to those erected for the Rev. F. E. Robinson and the Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn. It was also proposed to recast the second bell at Christ Church, add a new treble, alter the rope circle, and do other work which would be necessary.

The Standing Committee considered this proposal and they felt that it should be a national memorial. They recommended that the Council contribute the sum of £50 towards the total cost of £450.

Mr. Harry Miles seconded and this was agreed to.

PEAL ANALYSIS COMMITTEE.

Mr. H. Miles was appointed to the Peal Analysis Committee in the place of Mr. C. Dean, who had to give up the work owing to illness.

ATTENDANCE ROLL.

The Hon. Secretary presented the Attendance Roll, which showed that 24 societies were fully represented and 11 societies not represented. The total number of representative members was 108, and honorary members 13, giving a total of 121.

VOTE OF THANKS.

The President proposed an omnibus vote of thanks to those who made their visit to Eastbourne so successful. He asked in the first place that the Council should send a letter to Mr. Oliver Sippetts regretting his illness, and wish him the best possible return to health. Continuing, Mr. Lewis said he wished to propose a vote of thanks to the Mayor and Corporation of Eastbourne for the use of hall, for the entertainment which they were presenting and for the privileges granted to the conference during the week-end. He would like to especially thank them for the special bus they ran to take the members to the Holy Communion service in the Parish Church that morning.

They also thanked the Bishop of Lewes for coming to give them a welcome. He expressed the hope that the Bishop of Chichester, who had been overworked, would soon feel better. They also thanked the Vicar of Eastbourne for arranging the Communion service, the Sussex County Association for all they had done, Mr. F. I. Hairs, Mr. Wallater, Mr. R. G. Blackman and Mr. F. H. Dallaway.

The Hon. Sec. said he would like to add his own thanks to Mr. P. H. Rollison, who had done such an immense amount of work in arranging for the visit to Eastbourne.

Mr. J. W. Clarke, Master of the Chester Diocesan Guild, expressed his pleasure that the Council had accepted the invitation to visit Chester, and assured them of a hearty welcome.

The President also proposed a vote of thanks to Mr. and Mrs. Fletcher for the careful way they had prepared the reports for the Council meeting.

In conclusion, a vote of thanks was proposed by Mr. H. W. Rogers to the president and officers, the Standing Committee and sub-committees for the work they had carried out during the past year.

CIVIC RECEPTION.

The conference was followed by a civic reception at the Winter Gardens, where the members of the Council and their wives were received by the Mayor and Mayoress. A strawberry and cream tea followed. It was enjoyed by a company numbering about 200.

Mr. E. H. Lewis voiced the thanks of the company to the Mayor and Mayoress for their delightful hospitality. He felt that the meeting at Eastbourne had been one of the most outstanding in the history of the Council. I do not think we have ever had better arrangements or received greater hospitality.

In acknowledging the vote of thanks, the Mayor said he hoped their proceedings had been profitable, and they would take away with them pleasant memories of Eastbourne.

A social evening was afterwards held in the Town Hall.

RING OF TEN FOR BUCKINGHAMSHIRE

Two Trebles Dedicated at Slough

The territory covered by the Oxford Diocesan Guild comprises the three counties of Berks, Bucks and Oxon. Each county possesses a ring of twelve bells (at Reading, High Wycombe and Oxford), but although Berks and Oxon each have three peals of ten, there was not one in Bucks.

To redress this need the Slough ringers undertook the task of raising the necessary funds, and to try at the same time to collect sufficient to have the octave, cast and installed in 1913, rehung in ball bearings. Owing to the precarious state of the parish finances, and the Rector's aim to establish another church school ultimately, the ringers were told that no appeal was to be made to the parishioners or worshippers in the parish, but that if they could produce the money outside, the Church Council would not stand in their way.

As a first step towards procuring £600, an appeal was made in the local Press inviting the donation of a bell as a war memorial. Lt.-Col. J. N. Horlick and Mr. O. P. Horlick (of the well-known malted milk firm) munificently offered a bell each in memory of a brother and a son lost respectively in the 1918 and 1939 wars. By appeals to local tradesmen and firms, by a series of socials, by the generous assistance of the Oxford Diocesan Guild and ringers' private subscriptions, the balance was collected, and the bells were rehung and augmented in time for Easter, the ten bells being rung as the new trebles were consecrated ceremonially before being hoisted.

THE DEDICATION.

On Saturday, May 20th, in the presence of the donors, the Mayor of Slough (Ald. J. E. Taylor), Mr. R. Wickens (representing Horlicks, Ltd.), Mr. A. D. Barker (general treasurer of the Oxford Diocesan Guild), the Rev. E. C. S. Lowman (Vicar of Bray and branch chairman), Mr. T. J. Fowler (Branch Ringing Master), Mr. W. Hughes (representing Messrs. Mears and Stainbank) and a large concourse of ringers, the Lord Bishop of Buckingham (Rt. Rev. R. M. Hay) dedicated the new bells, the rehung eight and a commemorative plaque beneath the tower.

The Rector (the Rev. Claude Williams) expressed the gratitude of the church and the Borough of Slough to the donors of the new bells, to the founders for producing two such beautiful bells, to Mr. E. J. Sargeant for his skill in producing such a splendid plaque and to the ringers for their efforts. The opening rounds following the dedication were rung by the local band, viz., F. V. Sinkins (85), W. Birmingham (captain), W. E. Judd, A. D. Rivers, Miss P. Clements, Miss A. Ewins, B. T. Lister, E. Hudson, W. Henley and E. H. Preston (steepkeeper). It is interesting to note that when the original bells were augmented to eight in 1886, Mr. Frank Sinkins also took part in the opening rounds, and he is the sole survivor of that occasion.

In his address the Bishop spoke of the appropriateness of the gift of bells as memorials. He said, 'The ultimate and deepest thing any man can do is to give his life in this world for its deeper causes and to enter the world beyond. It is a splendid example to give up the lower for the higher things, and these bells as they ring out will always remind us of this. The bells appeal to man to remember his higher nature.'

Following the service the Bishop visited the belfry and was introduced to those present. He gave a friendly welcome to the visiting ringers, who included Mr. H. Fearn (Birmingham) and Mr. R. Bell (Watford). Ringing continued in a variety of ten-bell methods for an hour and a half. Unstinted praise was given to Messrs. Mears and Stainbank for the excellency of their work by all who tried the bells, and the sweetness of the new trebles was apparent to everyone. They are clearly audible both within and without the tower and are a wonderful 'splice,' greatly enriching the ring. Slough has every reason to be proud of a ring of ten which, for its weight (tenor 17½ cwt. in E), is so favourably commented upon.

HISTORY OF THE BELLS.

The fine Parish Church of Slough, with its 200ft. high spire, was completed in 1913 and supplanted an ugly building erected in 1835 as the new mother church of the parish to replace the ancient Church of St. Lawrence, Upton, erected c. 1100.

When the new parish church was built (in 1835) the four bells from Upton were removed there in 1855 and hung in a frame designed for six bells. They ranged in weight from the treble weighing 3½ cwt. to the tenor, 7½ cwt. Both of these were discovered cracked, but the others, dated 1619 and 1725, were intact. The cracked bells were recast at Whitechapel, and two new bells, one heavier and one lighter, were cast to make a ring of six (tenor 9 cwt.).

CHANGE RINGING INTRODUCED.

Mr. Frank Sinkins relates how unconventionally change ringing was introduced to the tower. In 1880 the bells were rung for a Confirmation service, and while the ringers were waiting to ring afterwards two of the band went to a local pub and refreshed themselves too well, but not too wisely. On re-entering the belfry one pulled off a bell, which rang itself down in the middle of the Bishop's address. The Vicar summoned the ringers demanding an explanation, when the awful truth came out! The two offenders were refused permission to ring again, and Mr. A. C. Fussell suggested the whole band resigned, re-formed and sought instruction in change ringing under Mr. William Baron, of the West Middlesex Association. Thus good came out of evil, and the Slough ringers learned a new art. Shortly after the foundation of the Oxford Guild in 1881 they transferred their allegiance to their own territorial association.

In 1886, the ringers by now being proficient change ringers, it was felt desirable to complete the octave. Mr. F. Charsley kindly gave the new bells in May, but the treble proved unsatisfactory, and Mr. Sinkins recalls the distraction to the neighbourhood by the days of incessant din as the tuner chipped off lumps of metal with a chisel. In August it was recast. Further dissatisfaction was caused by the inharmonious tone of the sixth, the 1619 bell, but through the intervention of Mr. W. H. Fussell it was spared destruction and returned to Upton, where it still does service to-day, and Mr. Charsley donated a further bell. On February 5th, 1887, was rung the first peal in Slough, 5,040 Grandsire Triples, conducted by William Baron for the Cumberlands.

In 1876 plans were prepared for a fine new church. The eastern half was dedicated in 1878, and in 1913 the western portion with its fine tower and spire was completed. A splendid new ring of eight bells was provided with a tenor weighing 17 cwt. 2 qr. 19 lb. installed in an iron frame. The Cumberlands also rang the first peal on these bells, Stedman Triples, conducted by George Williams in October, 1913.

Another interesting peal was Mr. W. H. Fussell's 1,000th rung on the eve of his departure for Australia, September, 1934, with the visiting ringers from England.

To date 42 peals have been rung at Slough, 29 on the light eight, and 13 on the present bells. With a hospital erected during the war right beside the church, ringing is naturally restricted, but the local band are now eagerly awaiting the opportunity of scoring the first peal on the ten bells.

Peterborough Diocesan Guild

ANNUAL MEETING AT WICKEN.

The twenty-seventh annual meeting was held at Wicken on Whit Monday. Although this village lies right on the borders of Buckinghamshire and no public transport was available, the meeting was an outstanding success. Towers available during the day were Newport Pagnell, Stoney Stratford, Buckingham, Towcester and Wicken before the meeting, and Cosgrove, Hanslope, Olney, Paulerspury and Wicken after the meeting, one small party visiting Beachampton.

The Guild service was at 3.15 p.m., the church being filled with ringers and friends. The Rector of Wicken (the Rev. H. P. Hoskin) conducted the service, the lesson was read by the president of the Guild (the Ven. C. J. Grimes, Archdeacon of Northampton), and the address given by the Lord Bishop of Peterborough, who took his text from Psalm 19, 'Their sound is gone out into all lands, and their words into the ends of the world.' In a moving address the Lord Bishop hoped that the ringing of the Angelus at midday would again return and men would hear it and offer prayer to God wherever they might be. The choir was augmented by visiting ringers.

Tea was served in the schools, being arranged locally by the Rector, ringers and lady helpers, a record number of 196 sitting down. This proved a little bit of a problem, but everyone enjoyed a good spread. It was unfortunate that the Lord Bishop and the president had to leave before the business meeting commenced, but both had a few words to say to the meeting before leaving. A vote of thanks was expressed to them by Mr. G. H. Hancock, seconded by Mr. E. G. Orland. The Rev. E. V. Penn, branch president, also spoke a word of welcome on behalf of the Towcester Branch.

The chair was taken by the Master, Mr. E. E. Whitmore. Apologies for absence were received from Mr. B. J. Saddington (auditor), the Rev. F. L. Mordin, the Rev. T. W. Long, Messrs. A. J. Green, W. Yates, A. Bigley, W. Rose and P. Chapman. The officers were re-elected and the annual report adopted. Grants from the Bell Restoration Fund suggested by the committee were accepted as follows: Raunds £10, Daventry £10, and Brafeld £10.

The secretary reported that he had received a quotation for Guild badges; this was accepted by the meeting and it was hoped these would be available in a few months' time. The war memorial tablet in All Saints' Church, Northampton, had been restored, and the committee in charge of this work were thanked.

A ballot for Central Council representatives resulted in the election of Messrs. G. Jeffs, B. P. Morris, R. Moon and G. S. Valentine. The next annual meeting is to be held at Kettering.

Mr. G. H. Hancock proposed a hearty vote of thanks to all who had helped to make the meeting such a great success, which was seconded by Mr. E. G. Orland and carried unanimously. The Master then closed the meeting and ringing was resumed in a large variety of methods.

GLOUCESTER AND BRISTOL ASSN.

SWINDON BRANCH.

The summer quarterly meeting was held at Bishopstone on June 10th, and visitors attended from Aldbourne, Cirencester and Shrivenham, in addition to branch members. The Association form of service was conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. A. E. Hibbert), and a good tea was provided at the True Heart Inn.

At the business meeting the branch secretary gave a report of the Central Council meeting at Eastbourne, calling special attention to the number of covering bells allowed in peal attempts.

It was proposed that the next meetings be held at Wroughton, Lydiard Millicent and Wanborough. Ringing ranged from rounds to Cambridge Major.

Mrs. F. I. Hairs' 300 Peals

By ringing a peal of Stedman Triples at Dartford recently, Mrs. F. I. Hairs brought her total up to 300. Mrs. Hairs, the daughter of Mr. Frank Bennett, of Brighton, who has rung more peals than any other living ringer, has taken part in a number of notable performances. Among them is the record length of Grandsire Caters on handbells (8,099) in July, 1912.

She was also the first lady to ring peals of Stedman Cinques 'in hand,' in November, 1913, and Cambridge Maximus on tower bells, at Waltham Abbey in June, 1924. By ringing 1-2 to Superlative in 1923 she became the first lady to ring a Surprise peal on handbells. Her complete list of peals, in 244 of which her husband, Mr. Frank I. Hairs, has taken part, is as follows:—

TOWER BELLS.

Triples: Grandsire 2, Stedman 14.
Major: Plain Bob 2, Double Norwich 12, Kent Treble Bob 3, Cambridge Surprise 17, Superlative 12, Yorkshire 2, London 3, Bristol 4.
Caters: Grandsire 1, Stedman 17.
Royal: Plain Bob 1, Kent Treble Bob 3, Oxford 1, Cambridge Surprise 18, New Cambridge 1, Yorkshire 2, Middlesex 1, Spliced Yorkshire and Cambridge 1.
Cinques: Stedman 2.
Maximus: Cambridge Surprise 3.
Total tower bells 122.

HANDBELLS.

Minor: Plain Bob 1.
Triples: Grandsire 12, Stedman 10.
Major: Plain Bob 59, Double Norwich 5.
Kent Treble Bob 5, Superlative Surprise 1.
Caters: Grandsire 11, Stedman 29.
Royal: Plain Bob 25, Kent Treble Bob 3.
Cinques: Grandsire 2, Stedman 12.
Maximus: Plain Bob 2, Kent Treble Bob 1.
Total handbells 178.

SELBY AND DISTRICT SOCIETY

The annual outing was held on Whit Monday, the party consisting of two busloads of ringers and friends. The tour into Wharfedale commenced at 6.45 a.m., the first stop being Wetherby, where the light eight were soon going to various standard methods. Rev. C. O. Ellison (president of the Yorkshire Association) gave the party an enthusiastic welcome.

Leaving Wetherby the buses proceeded through Harrogate across Blubberhouse Moor, where the scenery is magnificent, to Skipton-in-Craven. Cups of tea had been kindly provided by the ladies of the church, following which members proceeded to the tower at Holy Trinity Church, where the splendid ring of eight bells was rung to the enjoyment of all.

From Skipton the next stop was four miles to Gargrave, where the Assistant Bishop of Craven was awaiting our arrival and the eight bells at St. Andrew's Church were rung to standard methods. The party returned through Skipton across the moors to Ilkley. Unfortunately, owing to an apparent misunderstanding, the belfry door was locked and the party had to be content with looking around the inside of the church.

Tea was served at the Royal Hotel and the party moved on to Otley, enjoying the eight bells at All Saints' Church. A unique experience here was that each rope, besides having tufted ends, had two coloured balls fixed between the sally and the rope end, presumably to stop sliding hands down the rope.

The last call was at Guiseley, and again the ring of eight bells was soon going to Stedman, Kent Treble Bob, etc. On the wall of Guiseley belfry is half bell wheel with photographs of the casting of the bells by Messrs. Gillett and Johnston. The weather was fine but breezy until the last call at Guiseley, when heavy rain was falling, but this failed to damp the enthusiasm. The two buses proceeded homewards and the last of the party arrived home at 11.45 p.m.

OBITUARY

MR. EDWARD CASSELL.

We at St. Mary's, Wimbledon, will sadly miss our cheery old friend, 'Teddy' Cassell, who passed away at his home at 41, Inglethorpe Street, Fulham, on June 15th, after some months' illness following a stroke. The funeral was on June 21st.

Teddy's punctuality for service ringing and practice nights was a grand example to many much younger folk than himself, and his willingness to 'have another go' or learn something different, with a joke, helped the learners over many sticky patches.

He was born in Gloucestershire and gave his heart to the bells from his early boyhood. He had many peals to his credit and his last quarter was on January 19th for the men of the 'Truculent.'

We extend our deepest sympathy to Mrs. Cassell, who nursed her husband night and day all through his illness, and to their sons and daughters.

MR. W. H. WALDRON.

The following tribute to the late Mr. W. H. Waldron, of Peterborough, whose death was reported in our last issue, has been received from 'G. S. B.':—

Born at Uffington, near Stamford, it was here that he first became initiated into the art of campanology, and in 1910, when he removed to Peterborough, he became a member of the belfry of St. Mary's. This tower through various reasons during the last few years has suffered badly in the depletion of its band, and Mr. Waldron, reluctant to lose all he had gained through the years in knowledge and friendship, accepted the invitation to become a member of St. John's. He had been a member of this tower for four years.

'Billy,' as he was affectionately known to all his friends, was elected to the secretaryship of the local branch of the Peterborough Diocesan Guild when it was founded in 1924, a position which he still retained; as a token of respect and grateful thanks for his loyalty and unflinching service, he was last year presented with a barometer, suitably inscribed, by the members of the Guild on the completion of 25 years' service.

Some of the most outstanding achievements in his ringing career were, perhaps, the three peals in which he took part, comprising 32 Surprise methods; of these he was rightly proud. They were rung in three different Lincolnshire towers and conducted by Mr. Horace M. Day, one of Mr. Waldron's oldest friends.

The late Mr. Waldron, a widower for 15 years, retired in 1947 from the L.N.E.R., where he had been a turner in the Engineer's Department. He leaves two sons and three daughters, to whom the sympathy of the Exercise is extended.

To his memory 1,260 Grandsire Triples was rung half-muffled at St. John's Church on June 11th by the following: A. French 1, S. Wright 2, W. Rose (cond.) 3, C. Wood 4, F. Warrington 5, L. Hadman 6, G. Bush 7, W. Barker 8.

Midland Counties Guild

VISITS HANBURY AND HOAR CROSS.

No better choice of surroundings could have been made for the Midland Counties Guild for their summer outing than a visit to the Needwood Forest district.

The first stop was at St. Werburgh's Church, Hanbury, where Stedman and Grandsire Triples, Double Norwich Court Bob Major, Bob Major and Oxford Treble Bob Major were rung before proceeding to the cathedral-like Church of Holy Angels, Hoar Cross.

Built by the beneficence of Lord and Lady Meynell Ingram, this church possesses features such as may be found in few of its size. Beautifully proportioned and rich in carving of wood and stone, its beauty holds one spell-bound.

York Minster Society

PRESENTATION TO MR. T. F. EARNSHAW

On Sunday morning, June 11th, before the start of service ringing, on the eve of his 82nd birthday, Mr. Thomas Frederick Earnshaw, the Minster's oldest ringer, was presented with a case of pipes, pouch and tobacco by the Dean (the Very Rev. Eric Milner-White) on behalf of the ringers and the Minster.

The president of the York Minster Society, Mr. Harold Walker, reminded the company that recently Mr. Earnshaw relinquished the presidency after 38 years. During this long term of office he had gained the respect and affection of his fellows. This year Mr. Earnshaw completes 60 years' full membership of the Society and also of the Yorkshire Association. He learned to ring at Easingwold and on moving to York was elected a probationary member of the Society in 1888.

By 1890 he had progressed from ringing the bells of his native village church to be able to take a place in ringing the 12 heavy bells at the Minster and was elected to full membership of the Society. He was the sole survivor of the band which, in 1892, rang the last peal to be rung in the Minster tower. On that historic occasion the efforts of three men were required to keep the tenor going. The ringing of peals had not interested Mr. Earnshaw very much and he had only a modest 20 or so to his credit. To him Sunday service ringing was most important and he had always set a good example by being punctual and regular in attendance.

Mr. G. Horner (50 years' service), Mr. E. Rickets (44 years) and several other members paid tribute to Mr. Earnshaw's personality and excellent work.

The Dean observed that Mr. Earnshaw was ringing the Minster bells when he (the Dean) was a child of four. Of all the arts and crafts in England, said the Dean, the most typical and beautiful was the sounding of a ring of bells. He recalled the emotion caused by the sound of the bells ringing after El Alamein, which broke a silence of three years. He regarded the Minster bells as part of York, as they were held in affection by the people of York. He thanked Mr. Earnshaw for his long years of service to the belfry, the Minster, to York and to God.

In returning thanks, Mr. Earnshaw said he had no idea a presentation was to be made to him that morning and he appreciated the gifts very much. Sixty years was a long time and he had always done his best for the Society and the Minster and thought no man could do more than that. He suggested the authorities should give certificates for long service to all connected with the Minster; such certificates would be treasured long after the recipients had gone. Mr. Earnshaw wished the Dean every success in his efforts to raise £250,000 needed for the presentation of the Minster fabric.

one of the heaviest sixes in the country, was certainly an attraction. A short service, which the 53 members and friends attended, was conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. G. H. Strong), who gave an inspiring address in which he made reference to his recent visit to the war-wrecked city of Liverpool, where the glorious cathedral stood amidst the ruins, almost untouched, as a triumphant witness of the Christian Gospel. Mr. W. G. Soar (a ringer), of Ticknall, was the organist.

Following tea in the Meynell Ingram Arms, the chairman, Mr. W. H. Curson, announced that the next meeting (a joint meeting with Loughborough District) will be held at Ashby on June 10th.

Mr. W. G. Soar proposed thanks to the Vicars of Hanbury and Hoar Cross for use of the bells, and to the local members for the tea arrangements.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

'NINE TAILORS' ERROR

Dear Sir,—I wonder whether any of your readers happen to have the cheap edition of 'The Nine Tailors,' dated March, 1949. There appears to be a misprint just at a critical point. On page 160 in line 6 of the 9th paragraph the tenor in Kent Treble Bob is made in effect to move from 6ths place to 4th before dodging in 5-6 down. Apparently 4th is a misprint for 5th, which escaped the notice of the proof reader. It would be interesting to know whether this error occurred in any previous editions. The actual diagram on the following page is set out quite correctly, lettering and all.—Yours truly,

F. LI. EDWARDS.

100 PEALS IN ONE TOWER

Dear Sir,—In Belfry Gossip, 'Ringing World,' May 12th, the first paragraph states: 'By completing his 100th peal in Dartford tower, Mr. John Wheadon has become the first to accomplish this feat.'

May I kindly point out that the late Mr. Arthur Symonds, of Lavenham, scored 100 peals on Lavenham bells. These peals were rung consecutively. The first was on March 4th, 1888, and the 100th on February 23rd, 1929. In the latter were his two sons and a grandson! Mr. Arthur Symonds also 'circled' the tower eight times in peals!—Yours sincerely, STEDMAN H. SYMONDS.

Lavenham, Suffolk.

MAY WEEK AT CAMBRIDGE

Dear Sir,—Handbell ringing formed one item on the programme of the May Week concert at Pembroke College, Cambridge. A band of the Cambridge University Guild, consisting of two members of Pembroke and two from other colleges, rang, after a word of explanation and introduction, a course of Grandsire Triples, followed by a medley of six popular tunes, rung 'four in hand' on 13 bells. The tunes were linked together suitably to make the medley continuous. Several people afterwards spoke appreciatively of the bells, and showed an interest in how they were rung and whether they were principally used for tunes or change ringing, etc.

During the past few terms the C.U.G.C.R. has been asked to give handbell performances at various functions, including a local parish garden fete, a youth club, the Institute for the Blind and on other occasions.—Yours truly,

C. G. WOODHEAD.

HUBBARD'S 'CAMPANALOGIA'

Dear Sir,—For the benefit of Mr. Albert J. Hughes ('Ringing World,' April 14th) and of Mr. H. Douglas Harris ('Ringing World,' June 9th), I can confirm that the second edition, revised (1864), of Hubbard's 'Campanologia' in my possession does, in fact, contain the lines referred to by Mr. Hughes. They are headed, 'Lines by S. Nobbs, late of the Society of Norwich Scholars.'

Mr. Hughes' memory, spanning 40 years, is very accurate, and, on being reminded, he may recall the following two couplets which he omitted:—

After June 6:

'Those who are gifted with a tuneful voice
In singing glees or such like strains rejoice.'
And following:

'. zeal untired,

'Its compositions intricate are found;
While in its changes harmony abound.'

For the sake of complete accuracy, the last two lines may be corrected to:—

'Then let despisers who the art condemn, Leave us to follow it—we grant their choice to them.'

Yours faithfully,

Ilford, Essex.

JOHN F. GROVE.

WILLIAM BANISTER'S BOOK

Dear Sir,—If one may judge from the letters of your correspondents, the remaining copies of this book are both considerable in number and widely distributed. The Guildford Diocesan Guild library has a copy each of the 1874 and of the 1879 editions. The books are very well bound and evidently well used. Before coming to the Guildford library they were in a collection owned by the late H. J. Tucker.

The second (1879) edition was revised and extended by its author, assisted by the late Henry Haley, who added some of his own compositions. The list of College Youths performances are extended to the year 1878, and the book was published by John Warner and Sons, who added a few pages of advertising matter.

Regarding Hubbard's 'Campanologia,' which is mentioned in the letter by H. D. Harris in your issue of June 9th, I have before me a copy of each of the four editions—the first in 1854, the last 1876. The lines to which your correspondent refers to were written by S. Nobbs, a Norwich Scholar, whose name appears in the 1854 book as a subscriber to its publication. The lines are included in each of the first three editions. A. C. HAZELDEN.

Guildford.

Sir,—Mr. B. A. Newcombe asks if any more copies of this work exist. Yes, I have one, given to me by my old friend Mr. Alfred Tomset, of Lindfield. Its title is the 'Art and Science of Change Ringing,' published by John Warner and Sons, London, 1887. The introduction quotes from Benjamin Kennicott (1742) and the Rev. Woolmore Wigram (1872).

His short article on the art of change ringing is concise. His explanations of the methods, beginning with Plain Bob Doubles, St. Simon's Doubles, New Doubles, Grandsire and Stedman Doubles, Stedman's Slow Course, Plain Bob, are often helpful. Lots of methods not now usually rung, as Union, Place and Double Court Triples, are included; Royal, Cinques and Maximus are also dealt with. He gives many notes on peals, and his chapter on the science of composition proving and conducting is of interest, though quite beyond my understanding.

About 1870 Mr. Banister removed from Woolwich to Devonport and played an important part with the Rev. H. T. Ellacombe, Col. Trelawney and Col. Troyte in founding the Guild of Devonshire Ringers in 1874. He rang in a few of the early peals and trained a band of change ringers in Devonport.—Yours, etc.,

FREDK. C. SMALE.

Dear Sir,—With reference to letters about W. Banister's book, I myself picked up a copy in a secondhand bookshop at Gloucester. I gave a shilling for it. I see by my note on the fly-leaf that it was in 1932.

The book is now in our small library at the lower tower.—Yours faithfully, R. ALSOP.

SHROPSHIRE BELLS AND RINGERS

Dear Sir,—Recently in your columns it was announced that a series of articles on Shropshire bells and ringers would be published monthly in the 'Shropshire Magazine.'

Might I take this opportunity of congratulating Mr. W. A. Farmer, of St. Chad's, Shrewsbury, on a fine piece of work, which is giving our Exercise that publicity it is in need of, particularly after the recent sordid articles in the daily newspapers commenting on the moral failings of one or two of our number.—Sincerely yours, etc.,

ERNEST J. ROWE.

Broseley, Salop.

Largest Parish Church

Dear Sir,—In the last three 'Ringing Worlds' a small article has appeared concerning the largest parish church. I have a book, 'Famous Churches,' and it contains the following particulars of areas of a few churches: York Minster, 63,800 square feet. St. Paul's Cathedral, London, 59,000; Westminster Abbey, 46,000; Norwich Cathedral, 33,750; Tewkesbury Abbey, 25,100; Great Yarmouth, St. Nicholas', length 236 feet, width 112 feet (3 feet wider than York Minster), 25,023; Coventry, St. Michael's, 24,015; Boston, 20,270; Hull, Holy Trinity, 20,040; and Bristol, St. Mary Redcliffe, 15,500. Leamington, All Saints', is shown in the book, but no area is given. It would be very interesting to know a dozen of the largest ringing rooms of our churches.—Faithfully yours,

F. ATKINSON,

York Minster Ringer.

Dear Sir,—It was with great interest that I have read the various letters which have appeared in 'The Ringing World' recently with reference as to which is the largest parish church in the country.

For many years it was understood that Yarmouth St. Nicholas' was the largest, with Coventry and Boston next in size in that order. Since, however, the Yarmouth Church was destroyed during the late war and is not now in present use and Coventry became a cathedral some years ago, we here in Boston maintain that St. Botolph's now ranks first in size, although there may be much divergence of opinion.

As Mr. Hunt would like some dimensions I am pleased to give the following exact details: Total length 282ft.; width 100ft.; length of nave 155ft.; height of nave ceiling 68ft.; width of tower 40ft.; height of ceiling under tower 137ft.; height to ringing chamber 142ft.; height to bell chamber 162ft.; height of tower 272ft.

There is seating accommodation for 1,800, but on special occasions, such as King George V. memorial service and VE-Day in 1945, it was estimated that between three and four thousand were present. The great space behind the pews and the side aisles, where nearly 2,000 people were packed standing, was really a sight never to be forgotten, and to use the words of that renowned B.R.C. commentator, Mr. S. P. B. Mais, at the dedication of our new ring of ten bells in 1932, 'there is nothing like it anywhere.' It is indeed the pride of this old town.

Lastly, I have it on good authority that our peal is the highest hung for ringing, but would certainly like to hear any other reader's views.—Yours faithfully,

F. DEWEY.

Boston, Linco.

GEOGRAPHICAL CLAIMS

Dear Sir,—Once again we have a claim to 'the first peal in the method in a certain locality' refuted (letter from Mr. J. E. Cawser in your issue of June 9th).

I cannot understand why these claims are made.

There is, admittedly, some credit due to a band for ringing the first peal in the district or on the bells, or the first peal in the method by the band or for the association, etc. But what particular honour or glory is there in these 'geographical' claims?

Such claims as the first in the method in the county or in 'Blueland' or 'Redland' or anywhere else you like appear to me to be irrelevant. Why not claim the first in the method to be rung on a 'Pancake Tuesday' or on the vicar's wedding anniversary?

If a band has once rung a peal of 'Nomenclature Surprise,' is there any special credit when it is rung again in, say, 'Blankshire' or 'Dashshire' and so on?

Perhaps some of your claimants will enlighten me?—Yours faithfully, E. BOUMPHREY.

University of London Society

Over twenty members and friends spent the Whitun week-end in Hampshire and the Isle of Wight. Most of the party stayed in a camp near Havant, the lay-out of which was very familiar to those with Service experience, and which was run by a Lieutenant-Commander (retired). The discipline was not so strict as might have been feared, however, and it was soon discovered that hot water was available for those who remustered as 'leaders and guests' (or 'ladies and guests') rather than as 'lads' or 'lasses.'

A small detachment stayed in a houseboat which was actually afloat on one tide, and those who were thus initiated to a greater or less degree into nautical life are looking forward with quiet confidence, or calm despair, to the summer tour, when the vessels will be not only afloat (as a general rule), but also, it is hoped, mobile.

Saturday was spent on the Isle of Wight, the party arriving in a series of waves from successive ferries, and crossing the island from east to west in the teeth of a howling gale (a cyclist's gale, not a seaman's). It was generally agreed that Carisbrooke and Freshwater were well worth the effort. The departure from the island was as disorderly as the arrival because of the various means of transport from Freshwater to Ryde.

Sunday was comparatively free, apart from service ringing, a quarter peal and a peal attempt, but Monday had a programme of six towers, all of which were successfully visited. Most of the party would have been content to remain at Curdridge, the first tower after lunch, for the rest of the afternoon, so much were they admired, but they nevertheless enjoyed ringing at Bishop's Waltham and Soherston.

In such matters as arriving late, getting lost, falling in the sea and washing up it need only be said that everyone lived up to expectations. To those who have been on previous tours this will be sufficient; to particularise further would offend more than it would amuse.

Finally, the Society thanks all the incumbents and ringers of the churches visited for permission to ring, and Miss Rachel Yeld for organising a most pleasant week-end.

A CENTRAL COUNCIL EXCURSION

In connection with the visit of the Central Council to Eastbourne during Whitun, one of the younger enthusiasts collected a party with the object of doing a little tower snatching on Whit Monday afternoon.

Leaving headquarters soon after lunch, the first stop was at Willington, where there is a ring of six in excellent going order, and where Stedman Doubles. Plain Bob Minor and Cambridge Surprise Minor were rung in fine style.

From here the journey was continued to Alfriston, where a fun fair was found to be in progress in the grounds approaching the church. The church itself has a very low central tower, and the bells here are rung between the nave and the chancel and in full view of the congregation. The bells were raised and whilst Stedman Doubles was being rung the church very quickly filled with interested sightseers, and it was quite possible that the fun fair was for a time partially deserted.

When we reached our car we were taken to task by the arm of the law for leaving it in the wrong place, but we were let off with a caution and we moved on to Lewes, where we found other colleagues keeping the bells going.

During the tea interval Peter B. sought and obtained permission to ring at Beddingham, but he was informed that one of the ropes was broken. There are four bells in this tower, and the Vicar said he would be pleased if we could ring three despite the fact that a rope was broken. A couple endeavoured to raise the bells, but it was felt that it was safer to leave them entirely alone. B.

Dear Learners,—We broke off last time, you may remember, in Tom's lesson, with blackboard illustration, on the process of striking as analysed under five heads, just as he had completed his explanation of the first point—'compass audibility.' Our instructor continues:—

'The second point, registration of pull-off point within the established compass of the ring, is the one which all good strikers can instantly appreciate, though many may find it difficult to explain. Look at it this way: Suppose instead of ropes we had push-buttons in front of us to ring the bells and that the sound of our bell is heard instantaneously with the pressing of its button. Then we need make no movement whatever until the bell before us has actually sounded, when the slight movement of our finger-tip would create an instantaneous sound from our own bell. The matter of precise striking is now quite simple. All we do is to wait our turn, i.e., wait for our sound-gap, then press.

'But in ringing as we have it the sound of our bell is not heard until an appreciable interval of time after we have started the reversal of bell-swing. The point for us is, exactly how long afterwards? To answer this question intelligently let us recall one of the points of good style in handling the rope. We have learnt to grip the rope with two hands always in contact, and as soon as the bell comes off the balance and the rope begins to descend, we maintain a steady pull downwards with both hands until they pass below waist level. At this point the right hand (left for opposite-handed ringers) leaves the rope to rejoin the left immediately as the rope rises again (either at back or at hand as the case may be), both hands being again in contact on the rope, before they reach chest height. It is at this precise point that the sound of your bell is heard, i.e., as the clasped rope rises past shoulder level. Of course, there will be found slight variations according as to how the rope is "drawn" from the wheel-sheave over the draw-pulley. But to the practised ringer these variations are evident in the first few pulls on a strange rope, and he adjusts his time of pull-off accordingly, so that his association of bell-sound with grip-position becomes automatic. The beginner pulls off his bell by following closely the pull-off movement of his preceding bell, but the practised ringer can pull off at the precisely correct moment by listening only.

'The length of the time interval, then, between pull-off and actual sounding, varies with the size of the bell and the way it is fitted up with its rope; but as a very rough guide we may say that on the average the pull-off is about four beat intervals ahead of the sounding, in a ring, say, of eight. The lighter bells, of course, are a little less and the heavier bells a little more, when reckoned from top-dead-centre or actual balance point. As beginners you must be constantly on the alert for the appreciation of this interval until you have it precisely and automatically.

Point number three is ear-check. This means consistently checking, by listening, whether your bell is sounding between the two bells bracketing it exactly midway, i.e., whether the interval between the preceding bell and yours is equal to the interval between yours and its follower, and whether these intervals are equal to the others: because in good striking all these intervals are precisely the same, except for the open hand-stroke lead, as we have already explained. If you are not completely satisfied that your interval is right, then you must instantly correct it. This brings us to:—

'Point number four—Consistent maintenance of 100 per cent. bell control. Without this degree of control you cannot hope to make immediate corrections to your striking. But with it you need never strike two consecutive blows badly, providing you know where you ought to be striking! Remember the points of good style in bell-handling, because these are not only for appearance and ease of action, but also for the securing of this 100 per cent. control.

'The fifth and last point is—Applied control-adjustment, using eye, hand and ear. With your bell absolutely under control, and using your eye as an advance guide, and your ear as a final check on the sounding-point, apply control through the hands in the polished way we have shown, i.e., by means of gentle check or pull through a larger distance of movement, rather than by short, sharp, sudden, jerky tugs which are inevitably associated with the bad-style pull of the unfinished length of stroke. Remember, too, that the correct style of pulling is far less demanding on your energy, especially over longer periods.

'As some sort of proof of this let me remind you all,' says Tom, looking round at us to emphasise his point, 'that some of the best heavy-bell ringers have not been physical giants, but rather those who early mastered the secret of "scientific" action in ringing, which uses energy sparingly at the right moments and in the best way.

'Sorry there has been no practical ringing during this lesson; but next time we shall put into practice what we have been trying to clear during our talk, with the blackboard.'

So, till then, Yours as usual,

CORN. R. STONE.

OXFORD DIOCESAN GUILD

BICESTER BRANCH AT PIDDINGTON.

Although the bells had not been touched since 1887 except for minor repairs, the Bicester Deanery Branch found the 'go' of Piddington bells still very good when they held their quarterly meeting there on June 10th.

The fourth and tenor were cast in 1738 and 1729 respectively by Ed. Hemins, of Bicester, and the note of the latter is unique in that its chief harmonic is a minor sixth above the strike note.

Some 22 members and friends were present, including the Rev. A. Gatehouse, who conducted the Guild service, assisted by the Rev. A. W. Mundy, the Rev. Covell, who preached, Mr. F. Sharpe (vice-president), who read the lesson, and Mr. E. Pearson (hon. secretary, Banbury District).

Mr. F. Sharpe presided over the business meeting, and towers selected for the next quarterly and evening meeting were Caversfield and Islip.

Ringing took place at Piddington and Bicester in standard methods.

RINGERS' OUTINGS

SIBLE HEDINGHAM, ESSEX.

Kent was selected by St. Peter's ringers, Sible Hedingham, for their annual outing on June 10th, the party being accompanied by Mr. A. A. Fitch (Sudbury), Mr. T. Bird (Wickham St. Paul) and Mr. F. Bensley (Stoke-by-Clare).

At the first tower, Eltham, the party was met by Mr. F. C. W. Knight, and he piloted the coach on his motor-cycle to the Churches of the Annunciation and St. Nicholas, Chislehurst, St. George's, Beckenham, St. Luke's, Bromley; St. Mary's, Westerham, and St. Nicholas', Sevenoaks. Methods rung were Kent Treble Bob and Plain Bob Major, Grandsire and Stedman Triples, Double Norwich and Cambridge Surprise. At Beckenham the party were met by J. Emery, an old friend. The bells in all towers were much enjoyed.

ST. MARY'S, WALTON-ON-THAMES.

A party of 27 ringers and friends decided, as they had 'graduated' at Cambridge last year, to take a few courses at Oxford, so on Whit Monday, after a group photo, we left for Wallingford, and after a pleasant journey arrived at 10.15 a.m. Here the party were met by Mr. Batten and a few local ringers, and touches in various methods rung. The Rector, the Rev. Bowen, visited the tower and welcomed the party.

At Oxford, Mr. Moore, our guide, informed us that the ringing at Magdalen for 'Oak Apple Day' would be at 2 p.m. After lunch our guide soon had the party in the tower, where Mr. V. Bennett gave us a hearty welcome. Following the ringing, at the invitation of the bursar, we were guided to the College Buttery and sampled the college ale, which all agreed was more than three degrees stronger. Ringing was afterwards enjoyed at Christ Church and New College.

After tea and farewell to Mr. Moore, ringing took place at Henley, where we were welcomed by Mr. Nash, and at Windsor, where Mr. Glass had everything in readiness.

HILLINGDON.

The annual outing of St. John's Guild, Hillingdon, took place on June 10th. With perfect weather, beautiful country at its best and six first-class rings of bells at their disposal, the ringers voted it their 'best ever' outing.

The new Vicar of Hillingdon, the Rev. F. C. Tyler, and his wife accompanied the party and were interested spectators in all the towers visited. Their curiosity augurs well!

The party left St. John's Church at 7.30 a.m., and their journeyings took them through five counties, covering nearly 200 miles, and finally bringing them back to Hillingdon shortly before 11 p.m.

The towers visited were Dorchester, Oxon (8), Cirencester (12), Painswick (12), Cheltenham (12), Burford (8) and Tetworth (6). Many methods were rung, including Stedman and Grandsire Caters and Cinques and Cambridge Surprise and Double Norwich Major. A different ringing master was appointed at each tower, and everyone's capabilities and wishes received careful consideration beforehand, enabling the best use of the material available and at stated times.

The secretary-bloke had set a pretty tight time-table, but even he relented when ice-creams appeared after the ringing at Painswick. Here also the local butcher was persuaded to produce a piece of ice for application to the eye of one of the inexperienced, which had received a flick from an unmanageable rope!

At Tetworth, where everyone gathered in the local inn for light refreshments, pleasure was expressed at the presence of the Rev. and Mrs. Tyler, while the usual thanks to the secretary-bloke concluded a pleasant half-hour.

LEEDS PARISH CHURCH.

The Leeds Parish Church ringers held their second annual outing on May 20th, with Southport as the objective. Arrangements had been made to ring at Clitheroe and Whittle-le-Woods on the outward journey, and at Blackburn Cathedral on the way home, but a series of misfortunes delayed the arrival at Clitheroe until, owing to a wedding, there was insufficient time to ring on this modern eight.

The Whittle ringers had gone on their outing that day—into Yorkshire—but the Vicar welcomed the visitors and everyone had an opportunity to try this grand octave, reputed to be one of the best in Lancashire.

On the return journey Blackburn Cathedral was reached on time and here there was an unexpected pleasure, as the Bishop of Blackburn, Dr. Asquith, a former Vicar of Leeds, had come to the tower specially to greet the visitors, a gesture which was greatly appreciated.

An hour's ringing on this glorious new Taylor ten proved quite inadequate, and Mr. Tom Wilson, the local captain, readily allowed an extension of time. Even so it was with the greatest reluctance that the party left Blackburn, in fact one member was heard to express his willingness to stay there all night!

Leeds was reached about 11 p.m., and despite the shortcomings of the weather and the unavoidable hitch to the proceedings early in the day, everyone voted the outing a success, so much so that by the following day plans were being made for a second outing before the end of the summer.

WARWICKSHIRE RINGERS.

Somerset was chosen as the venue for ringers from Leamington, Warwick, Stratford-on-Avon, Bidford-on-Avon, Salford Priors and Evesham on June 3rd.

Starting from Leamington at 5.30 a.m., Bath was reached by 9.15 a.m., where three-quarters of an hour was spent at St. Mary's, Bathwick, a useful ring of eight. Some of the ladies venturing into the town shopping were lost and had to get back by taxi!

Twerton's light eight were tried, but proved difficult for the novices, although Salford Priors probationers managed to ring 120 Doubles without assistance, the first time, no doubt, they have attempted it in Somerset.

The highlights of the day, however, were at Chew Magna and Chewton Mendip, whose eight revealed the mastery of bellfounding. The useful touches of Triples and Major left a glorious musical impression which will not be forgotten.

After a sumptuous dinner the ringers eagerly looked forward to Wells Cathedral's heavy peal of ten, but alas! the weight proved to be master—if not of brawn—of Warwickshire skill.

Thanks are tendered to the locals who kindly met the party and made arrangements.

ST. PAUL'S SALISBURY.

St. Paul's, Salisbury, band, together with other Salisbury ringers and friends, selected Somerset for their annual outing this year.

The first stop was Frome, where ringing was enjoyed on the heavy eight, followed by a delightful drive through Cheddar Gorge to Cheddar, where ringers made good use of the eight before dinner. After dinner the party moved on to Axbridge, where a stop was made to ring on the fine Taylor six. Then on to Clevedon, where ringing took place before tea.

The final tower visited was Nailsea. Methods rung during the day included Grandsire, Stedman and Plain Bob. Thanks are due to the various incumbents and local ringers, and also to Mr. E. G. Caple, of Clevedon, for his help with the arrangements. R. E. T.

LEGISLATING AND ADVISORY

WAS it not the intention of Sir Arthur Heywood and those responsible for bringing into being the Central Council that its constitution should be an advisory body and not one to try and police everything to do with bells and bell-ringing? This question was addressed to the Editor in a recent letter. The answer is clear and emphatic.

The inaugural meeting of the Council was held on Easter Tuesday, 1891, at the Inns of Court Hotel, London, and was attended by 74 delegates representing 33 Societies. The President, upon taking the chair, said that before proceeding with the subjects on the agenda, he desired to impress upon the Council the great importance of keeping in view that they had not met to contest points of difference in an aggressive spirit, but to discuss them with the earnest wish to arrive at decisions based upon careful conviction of the various views presented. They had yet to make a position for themselves, and it depended upon the judgment with which their decisions were drawn up whether the Council would come to be regarded as the final authority upon all ringing matters. If properly directed, the opinions of a body comprising so large a proportion of the best ringers in the country could not but exert a most valuable influence for good upon the interests of the Exercise.

The significant point is 'to arrive at decisions based upon careful conviction of the various views presented.' The Central Council was never intended to be a purely advisory body; its purpose was to bring about oneness of view in the Exercise at large. Year succeeding year has seen the Council develop and become recognised as the legislative body on all matters appertaining to change ringing. It is recognised as such by all the affiliated Societies. The Decisions of the Council in regard to practical ringing have gradually emerged, and at Chester next Whitsuntide there will be an attempt to codify these Decisions in the light of modern experience.

It is necessary in all sports and pastimes to have fixed standards and a body to give a ruling on such matters. That is definitely the function of the Central Council on matters relating to change ringing. For example, a peal of Minor with a covering bell is not recognised as a peal. That does not mean to imply that Minor with a tenor covering shall not be rung under any circumstances, but that if rung to at least seven true and complete 720's it does not constitute a peal in the eyes of the Council and is not recorded as such.

While the Central Council is the legislative body it in no sense usurps the individual functions of the affiliated Societies in the conduct of their own affairs. Without exception the affiliated Societies have decided that peals rung for their own association shall be by members of their body, and they quite rightly refuse to recognise any departure from this principle. But that does not imply that a peal has not been rung. Providing the actual performance coincides with the Decisions of the Central Council that peal is recorded by the Council, but not credited to any particular association.

It is only on the principles of change ringing, however, that the Central Council is truly emphatic. The greater part of its other work is co-ordinating in character with the object of bringing about that fraternal oneness with ringers. Much of this is national in character as, for example, the preparation of the roll of honour of those ringers who fell in the first world war and the work now in hand of the roll for the second world war for which the co-operation of the affiliated Societies is being sought. But here again it should be noted that there is no compelling force; if a Guild or Association neglects to send in the names there is no beating-up with a big stick—just the regret that they are not co-operative with an ideal which was subscribed to by the Council as a body.

A committee is now sitting to consider the part ringers should play in the Festival of Britain. Whatever course of action is recommended, in no sense can it be dictatorial that we must do this or that. These proposals are just recommendations enlisting where possible the spirit of co-operation. Another of the many-sided activities of the Council is the Towers and Belfries Committee from whom expert advice is available for towers in difficulties over their bells. The expert opinion is gladly given by the Central Council, but it has no power to enforce the incumbent or Parochial Church Council to carry out its suggestions. Similarly in the matter of derelict bells, the Council has no jurisdiction. The bells are the property of the Parochial Church Council, and the incumbent, as chairman, has the sole right of prescribing when they shall be rung. Pressure can be brought about on the parish by the Archdeacon in his visitation or the Diocesan Advisory Committee. With the many problems of finance confronting the Church today, bells are not high on the priority list. Much, however, can be done by the ringers themselves in their respective localities, and repeatedly it has been our pleasure to publish details of these praiseworthy efforts successfully accomplished. But the Council has no means of repairing the ravages of time and neglect.

John Taylor & Co.LOUGHBOROUGH*The LEADING BELL FOUNDERS

WHITSUNTIDE TOUR: LEICESTER TO DEVON AND CORNWALL

THE successful tour of Somerset in 1949 encouraged a party from Leicester Cathedral, augmented by fellow-devotees—J. S. Carter, H. Carter, P. Carter, R. Carter and K. Roe, of Wigston Magna; T. M. White; H. W. Perkins, W. J. Robinson, of Guildford; G. S. Morris, Lyme Regis; A. W. Martin, Kibworth Beauchamp; G. Care, Brafield; W. Yates, Wicken; E. Beadmore, Ashby-de-la-Zouch; A. E. Barlow, W. J. Vann, of Rugby; P. Burton, R. Fowkes, of Southwell; W. Stote, Coventry; F. H. Dexter, H. Broughton, P. Staniforth, H. Bowley, C. Knight and L. Greenhow, of Leicester—to attempt a more ambitious programme spread over (or was it squeezed into?) the Whitsuntide week-end.

Following a rencontre with a drayman of a more expensive travelling concern, who caused a little manoeuvring trouble in a narrow street, we were under way at about 4.30 p.m. on Friday, May 26th, via Lutterworth, Rugby, Southam, Banbury, Chipping Norton to Burford, where, it was suggested, The Lamb hostelry would prove interesting and delightful in several ways. Again on the road, our route lay through Cirencester, Malmesbury, Chippenham, Bath—a point at which the company, having increased by ones and twos en route, was almost complete—Radstock, Shepton Mallet and, finally, our first night's caravan-serai, the Crown at Glastonbury. Tired and replete at this stage, one felt, nevertheless, that the threshold of the adventure proper had been reached.

GLASTONBURY LEGENDS.

Obiter dicta had included the Glastonbury legends concerning the possibility of Christ's having visited this island, in the interim period between the ages of twelve and thirty, with Joseph of Arimathea trading to these shores, suggested in the opening lines of William Blake's 'Jerusalem.' Before breakfast, therefore, the following morning, under 'the broad blue lift of the sky,' a party made pilgrimage to the holy thorn in St. John's Churchyard sprung from that planted by Joseph, which is reputed to bloom on Christmas Day. Expansive views in every direction rewarded the toil required to reach the summit of the tower-crowned tor, whilst it was deemed incumbent upon us to see the Well of the Holy Grail on descending.

Breakfast over, the first tower to be visited was at Bridgwater (8, tenor 25 cwt.) to enjoy ringing from ground floor level. Indeed, long draughts characterised many of the towers visited. It was here that the last of the complement joined us and we pushed on to Minehead, the first of the ten-bell towers, with a tenor of 20 cwt. and well-appointed ringing room. Some delay in obtaining the belfry door key caused hurried proceedings in order to reach Lynton for lunch prior to delighting in the notable eight, tenor 24½ cwt., at South Molton.

After tea at Torrington, the temperature fell and it rained as we came to ring upon the splendid eight at Stratton (tenor 21½ cwt.), welcomed by the Rev. Gilbert, who kindly presented postcard views of his church, of which the rood-screen was tastefully flower garlanded for the festival of Whitsuntide—a feature repeated in many of the churches.

TINTAGEL.

We delayed departure to listen to the Guildford chimes at 9 p.m. before leaving for Tintagel, where, at the Wharnccliffe Arms Hotel, hot Cornish pasties made a welcome appearance before hungry travellers, one of whom had discovered, in another room, a local ringer, who summoned a colleague, Mr. Tonkin, by telephone. In warm terms the latter bade us welcome, toasting us and giving information as to the local bells, augmented to six as a war memorial. The assembled company listened attentively and appreciatively to a 'rise and fall' on ten handbells, tunes from the Carter family, of Wigston Magna, and Grandsire Triples and Caters, in the comfortable lounge. Ringing at seven o'clock was arranged for early service next morning, attended by the elder of our handbell friends despite a lock-out on the part of his protégé, which entailed his having to sleep elsewhere, for no amount of knocking would awaken the tired youngster.

Blustery weather and a shower emphasised how exposed and remote from the village the little cliff-top edifice stands. Squat as to tower height, it is without louvres on the Atlantic side, ringing being from ground-floor level. Members felt that they would have liked to have remained to service, but the time table demanded that we move on after a glance at King Arthur's Castle on the way to breakfast and farewells to mine host and Mr. Tonkin.

Presently it began to brighten; it really was 'England's green and pleasant land' when we drew up at St. Conan's, Egloschayle, to ring for matins on a ring of eight, tenor 12 cwt. There was a Cornish 'fall' by the local ringers to conclude the ringing before they came out to wish us well as we departed to Newquay, where coffee was taken before going on to Redruth and Camborne to lunch at Carbis Bay. The Rev. and Mrs. A. S. Roberts, together with their daughter, joined us at lunch at which it was a pleasure orally and tangibly to thank the Vicar for the valuable help given in making local arrangements. He replied, saying that he would flaunt his Leicester-made hosiery at the Central Council meeting the next day.

CARBIS BAY.

It was a delight to see his newly-built church, to ring on the light Taylor eight (tenor 9½ cwt.) and especially to ring Stedman Triples with the first lady to ring with us in Cornwall. One or two of the party made opportunity to go down to the beach, a short distance away, until it was time to travel on to St. Ives, Penzance—where a brief halt was called to enable snaps of St. Michael's Mount to be taken—Marazion, Helston and, finally, Truro for tea.

Cathedral ringers sought us out to take tea with us prior to service ringing on the ten at Truro (tenor 33 cwt.), where, despite long draught and a little difficulty in hearing, Cambridge Royal was rung. We had a little time to browse around before sampling, after even-song, St. Austell's eight (tenor 18½ cwt.), full of tone and breath, strong rivals of Stratton.

Pasties and sandwiches were produced again at Looe, where, in the lounge of the Tregerthan Hotel, out came the handbells once more to the delight of an old man—his name could have been Pybus—who was specially allowed to get up to listen. Reminiscence kept the party out of bed until a late hour, regaled particularly with the Exeter tale told in the inimitable style of Mr. F. H. Dexter.

WHIT MONDAY.

Enquiry of a boatman concerning weather prospects early on Monday morning during a pre-breakfast stroll along the little quay produced an encouraging prognostication, fulfilled when the dull start developed into brilliant sunshine. Rope adjustment caused a little delay at St. Mary's, Launceston, octave (tenor 16 cwt.), during which time we learned that the 'Bell' hard by was built 1511 to accommodate the builders of the church. And so it was quickly away to St. Eustachius', Tavistock (eight, tenor 24 cwt.). A local visiting company, close on our heels, rejected our offer to leave the bells up on the score that they preferred to raise them 'to get the feel of 'em.' However, they complimented the settling band on a neat job.

To follow lunch at Buckfastleigh, where race meeting traffic was encountered—there were quips anent covering expenses—was a choice between ringing here or visiting Buckfast

Abbey. Most unfortunately we could neither ring nor enter the Abbey because of a special service, and so, having watched a colourful procession, it was on to tea in Exeter and a quick look around the Cathedral before the delights of Tiverton's justly famed eight (tenor 25 cwt.), with their green sallies, evoked unanimous approval. Mr. Arthur Payne had returned from the annual meeting at Ottery St. Mary to greet us.

Several local ringers met us at Wellington, our last call of the day, another good eight, tenor 19 cwt. And so, mindful of the moorland ponies and the sheep, to Glastonbury to an enjoyable supper, to which came the lately wed Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Kingcott, of Wrington. This was deemed an opportune occasion to express to the organiser, Mr. Cecil F. Knight, our deepest appreciation of the scope, the happy atmosphere and undoubted success of the tour. We took pleasure in presenting to him a Rolls razor as memento of, and some recompense for, the vast work entailed. One cannot overlook, too, the able seconding and competence as ringing master of Mr. Joseph S. Carter. And so, after more handbell tunes, rise and fall and change ringing for mine host and his lady, to bed.

TUESDAY.

Tuesday dawned dully, but improved to sunshine by the time we visited the Abbey, the largest in the country. Abbot's Kitchen, Arthur's tomb, wattle church site were all matters of interest.

A short stay at Wedmore with its eight (tenor 30 cwt.) and a word with the Vicar, who was not oblivious of the poorest striking of the tour, preceded the masterpiece of founding at Chewton Mendip. This splendid octave (tenor 24 cwt.) hangs in an equally striking tower of noble proportions. The ringing was worthy of the bells, but we could not stay long enough, for Cheddar Gorge, Jacob's Ladder, Burrington Combe with its association with A. M. Toplady's 'Rock of Ages,' were to be seen before the anticipated hospitality for which Wrington is renowned. We were delighted to meet Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Knight, who were so good to Service men ringers, and Mr. and Mrs. Kingcott again. As we stood preparatory to raising the bells, we had the ringers' office to remind us of our function. This was the third ten and majestically do they sound across the fields. The late Major J. H. B. Hesse's model bell is housed in the ringing room, an extremely useful device for instructional purposes.

Now the party began to disperse, and it was a depleted band at tea at Cirencester. Evensong being due to commence, the oldest twelve in the country was left unringed, and we retraced our route through Cotswold loveliness, seen under ideal evening weather conditions, to our penultimate stop at Southam. A halt at Rugby, the final dispersal at Leicester and a delightful undertaking drew to its close.

THE GRAMO-RINGER

Featured in 'The Daily Mirror' of June 22nd was a story of how the bells for the new Mayor's procession at Swansea drowned the playing of the Swansea Police Band in the procession. Questions were asked about it at the Council meeting, and the Rev. Leon Atkin said, 'I gave orders to my bellringer to ring the bells 15 minutes before time, and I was inspired to do so by my personal regard for the new Mayor.'

Mr. J. Arthur Hoare, of Iforestfach, Swansea, writes: This actually refers to the 'synthetic bells' at St. Paul's Congregational Chapel. The St. Margaret's, Westminster, 'bells' must be holding their heads very high after knowing that a 'bellringer' is required to put on a record (their record) and also fit fresh needles.

White House, Caister-on-Sea, Norfolk.

We regret that in subediting reports of outings it is necessary to omit thanks to incumbents and steeplekeepers of towers visited. All visiting bands are grateful for the hospitality afforded them.

Is the peal of Royal in three methods rung
'in hand' at Bournemouth, and reported in this issue, the first to be so rung? enquires
the conductor.

Mr. Oliver Sippetts joins the list of those who have rung more than 100 peals in a tower.
At Crawley he has rung 192 peals, of which he has conducted 130.

Miss Doreen Coker, who conducted the peal of Grandsire Triples at Thame, is congratulated by the band for her calmness despite several unexpected intrusions to the belfry during the last half-hour of the peal.

Following representation, ringers of St.
James', Turrumurra, New South Wales, have had a refund of 15s. 4d. duty paid on each new rope. The Minister of Trade and Customs has now decided to admit church ropes from England free of duty.

Bishopstone, Wiltshire, is an unfortunate tower, with the bells just overhead of the ringers. 'The noise was terrific,' writes the conductor of a recent peal there. Afterwards the local captain, Mr. Joseph Durham, kindly entertained the band to a tea, which included strawberries.

It was most unfortunate that Mr. R. F.
Elkington, who is in charge of the belfry at Anstey, was unable to stand in the peal of Cambridge Surprise Major at Anstey for the 25th anniversary of the Rector's ordination.
Mr. Elkington met with an accident whilst at work which prevented his taking part, and the thanks of the band are due to Terry
Thornber, who filled the gap at short notice.

BELFRY GOSSIP

By the peal of Court
Triples at Port Sunlight on June 17th, members of the Chester Branch have during the last 24 years rung peals in each of the eleven pure Triples methods with two hunts, contained in the Central Council's Collection, in addition to peals of Stedman and Erin Triples. Messrs.
J. W. Best, P. Swindley and J. W. Griffiths have rung peals in each method, Messrs. H. O.
Baker and F. H. Birks 12 each, G. F. Sperring
7, and R. G. Corby, D. H. B. Millward and
B. Harris 6 each. Those bands who prefer Triples to Major will find these peals a welcome change from Grandsire and Stedman.

Through a misunderstanding, Mr. F. G.
Huckstepp was credited recently with having called Holt's Original from each bell. So far he has only called the Original from the treble.

Three members of Somerville College, Oxford, after only eight months' ringing experience have rung their first peal, one of Plain Bob Minor in hand.

The late Mr. William H. Barber's peal book, containing approximately 600 peals, has been handed to the St. Martin's Guild and will be a valuable addition to the Guild Library.

In regard to 5,164 Trinity Court Bob Major by Nolan Golden, published on page 379, a Bob — was omitted from the first course. Will conductors interested please correct their copies? With the composer's apologies.

Mr. A. H. Ward celebrated his 77th birthday by ringing a peal of Grandsire Caters 'in hand' at Bournemouth. The excellent way he struck his bells, a good performance at his age in such fast ringing as over 35 changes per minute, was a matter of compliment from the conductor.

THE ESSEX COUNTY ASSOCIATION

Seventy-first Annual Meeting Provost on the True Message Membership Increases to 758 Two Broadcasts Bell Restorations—£100 in Two Years Standing Orders only at A.G.M. Association Badge Suggested

THE 71st annual meeting of the Essex Association, held at Chelmsford on Whit Monday, was attended by 150 ringers and friends, each district being well represented.

The service in the Cathedral was conducted by the Provost, the Very Rev. C. K. Waller, M.A., assisted by the Deputy Master, the Rev. C. Scott Little, M.A., Vicar of Roydon, the lesson being read by the Master, Dr. P. T. Spencer Phillips, J.P.

During the service the names of members who had passed on during 1949 were read, viz., Rt. Rev. J. T. Inskip, D.D., late Bishop of Barking, a vice-president, J. Buckingham (Goldhanger), B. Copping (Harlow Common), A. Evers and V. Glass (Witham), H. G. Ockenden (Fobbing), C. Petty (Wanstead), F. J. Pitstow (Saffron Walden, hon. secretary of the Association 1921-34), F. G. Thorogood (Great Holland), Miss Annie White (Springfield), F. Ward (Great Totham, hon. member), and the non-resident members, the Rev. Canon G. F. Coleridge (Crowthorne), E. B. Hartley (Willesden) and G. Williams (Southampton).

The Provost, an old friend of ringers of Barking, Hornchurch and Wanstead, gave an inspiring address, based on St. Luke xxiv. v. 49: 'Tarry ye in the city of Jerusalem, until ye be endued with power from on high.' In the course of his remarks he said:—

'I have been thinking lately of what a lot of things we clergy and ringers have in common. We are not only church workers, but we are preachers, and we have to proclaim the message of God's salvation. Another thing we share in common is that we are regarded as rather unusual freaks. Ringers are looked upon as rather sub-human sort of people, who shut themselves up in towers making weird noises. But there are times when people are glad of our services such as at weddings and national services of thanksgiving when the parson is necessary and the bells ring in joyful celebration. Then there are times when we are regarded as a horrible nuisance. However, there is something which is much more important.

'Our preaching and our great mission is of very little avail if it is mere noise and has little behind it. The quality of the life behind it is the real value. God did not say to His disciples "Go ye and preach," but to go forth as salt and life. Their preaching would have little effect without the power of the Holy Spirit behind it. I would like to quote the wise remark of a vicar recently to a young clergyman who had just preached his first sermon. At a staff meeting the next day he said nicely and kindly, "You know, young man, you will be a good preacher when you live in your life half of what you preach."

'It is the same with ringers. I want to suggest one or two things that being filled with the Holy Spirit means. Are you known as a ringer, a man who has been saved from sin and as one who is a good man, full of the Holy Spirit? If so, the message you ring out is true. Those who ring their message for marriages, if they are filled with the Holy Spirit, their own homes will be different. There we shall really see love and fellowship, for the Holy Spirit is the Spirit of Fellowship. Do people think we are really good mixers, free of class distinction and snobbishness? Do they notice us as really happy people full of the spirit of joy? If we are full of this spirit of joy we shall affect those other people round about us. Let us remember, therefore, that the primary thing is not the noise we make, but the quality and influence of our lives through the Holy Spirit.'

A collection for the Bell Restoration Fund amounted to £4 6s.

The Master presided at the business meeting held in the Chapter House, supported by the Deputy Master and the officers of the Association. The Master extended a hearty welcome to all visitors, which included Mr. F. E. Collins and party (Surrey), Mr. W. T. Cook (West Ealing), Mr. T. J. Clark (Bushey, Herts), Miss M. Hillier (Bristol), Mr. G. Fearn (Birmingham), Mr. T. Myers (Plymouth), Mr. Stedman Symonds (Lavenham) and Mr. R. Bullen and party (St. Mary's, Ely).

Mention was made of the absence of Mr. G. Faulkner (Barking), waiting to go into hospital (recently operated on in the London Hospital).

A COMPREHENSIVE REPORT.

The annual report, compiled by Mr. F. V. Gant (hon. secretary, S.W. District), with the assistance of the other district secretaries, again showed that interest in the Association had been maintained. Ringing members had increased from 735 to 758, and honorary members from 50 to 83. A high average of attendance had been reached at the district meetings, the 'highlights' being at Dunmow, Burnham-on-Crouch, St. Peter's, Colchester, Thaxted and Waltham Abbey. Sunday ringing at Stebbing, Great Easton, Havering, North Ockenden and South Benfleet was a pleasing feature and a fitting 'reward' for those who had assisted those towers, week by week.

Two towers experienced broadcasting. On Rogation Sunday the bells and service were broadcast from Great Bromley, while the bells of St. Margaret's, Barking, were recorded in connection with the exchange greetings between the Rotary Clubs of Trinidad and Barking.

The towers of Leyton (8), West Ham (10) and Orsett (6) were still out of action through structural defects. Many old hands were holding the 'fort,' assisted by some keen learners of both sexes. The claims of the Services were felt in some towers, but several promising ringers recently released had returned to their respective towers with renewed enthusiasm. Ringing for divine service had been the aim throughout the year, but only by special arrangement could this be done in some towers. Practice meetings of the 'Crusader' type had been held in several towers and had served as a 'try out' for new conductors.

PEAL REPORT.

Sixty-eight peals were rung during the year, as against 59 in 1948; 18 members rang their first peal and 59 their first in the method; 21 shared the conducting, Mr. F. B. Lufkin heading the list with 17 successful attempts. Congratulations to two young conductors, P. Eves (Galleywood) and D. Beard (Barking). Peals of special interest were: Stedman Cinques at Saffron Walden, conducted by H. N. Pitstow; New Cambridge Royal at Prittlewell, conducted by F. B. Lufkin; Spliced Plain and Kent Treble Bob Major at Writtle; Cambridge Surprise Major (J. W. Washbrook's last composition) at Brentwood; and an officers' peal of Superlative Surprise Major at Writtle, to commemorate the 70th anniversary of the foundation of the Association—all three peals conducted by H. Turner. A noteworthy change in the district officers took place in the S.E. District. Mr. H. Mansfield (Maldon) resigned the Mastership after rendering 13 years' valuable service and was succeeded by Mr. H. W. Shadrack (Springfield), who for several years served as district secretary.

Mr. G. L. Joyce (Hornchurch) spoke on the body of the report. There were still a number of mistakes and every effort should be made to get a perfect report. The correction of the draft was vital. Every tower or member should inform Mr. F. V. Gant of any mistakes or alterations, as the draft was more important than the proof. He proposed a vote of thanks to Mr. Gant for all the good work that he had put into the report. This was carried with acclamation. Mr. Gant said that it was everybody's job to correct mistakes. He hoped all would work for a better report next year.

STATEMENT OF ACCOUNTS.

Mr. H. Turner (Shenfield), auditor, gave a brief outline of the accounts, mentioning the carry over of 'The Ringing World' account, the increase in the subscription and the peal booking fees. He also spoke on the Bell Restoration Fund, stressing the amount paid out last year. He referred to the work of the district secretaries and the general secretary, commenting on the expenses involved and the amount of work they had to do. The gross income from the districts totalled £101 11s. 6d., against £63 5s. 6d. in 1948; £93 15s. was passed into the general account. Peal fees added a further £10 18s. 10d. The balance at the end of the year stood at £190 3s. 9d., which was about £2 up on the previous balance.

The sum of £38 3s. 8d. had been contributed to the Bell Restoration Fund. Grants amounting to £65 had been made to Fyfield, Bobbingworth and South Benfleet, leaving a balance of £224 14s. 7d.

Mr. Turner proposed that the accounts be adopted. Mr. J. Crampion (Wanstead), co-auditor, supported all that Mr. Turner had said and formally seconded the motion.

Mr. J. Chalk (Wanstead) supported the motion. He was pleased to see an increase in the number of honorary members. More incumbents should be enrolled. There were at least 100 active bands, but only 33 supporting incumbents. Every encouragement should be given to churchwardens and church officers to join the Association.

The Bell Restoration Fund had been well supported by those who attended meetings, especially in the S.E. District. There was plenty of life in an Association that could disburse £100 in two years. Thorpe Bay had raised sufficient money to add a 'deadening floor'—a worthy achievement for a new band!

STANDING ORDERS.

For the second year running the chief business centred round 'standing orders.' The secretary said that at the previous annual general meeting the committee had been instructed to reconsider the wording, etc., and considerable thought had been given. He felt that they were a step in the right direction, stating that the Association must continue to go forward and not allow the progress during the past years to be lost. He then proposed that Standing Orders be adopted as printed.

Mr. Joyce said that the meeting should approve them in principle and then take every one separately, as minor amendments might be necessary. His proposition was seconded by Mr. Chalk. Mr. Warboys (Barking) and Mr. Gant spoke against their adoption. The motion was carried. Further discussions followed and minor alterations in wording were proposed by Mr. Joyce, seconded by Mr. L. J. Clark (Chelmsford) and carried.

It was agreed that only at annual general meetings should Standing Orders be compulsory. In the event of urgency the chairman could accept a motion for the suspension of any 'S.O.' Future meetings should benefit by the new rule, 'Standing Orders,' which covered agenda, minutes, speakers, chairman's rulings, motions and amendments, closures and voting.

A new rule (quorum of 12 members for an annual or general meeting and seven for a committee meeting), recommended by the committee, was fully discussed and lost on being put to the vote.

The election of officers followed: Master, Dr. P. T. Spencer-Phillips, J.P.; Deputy Master, Rev. C. Scott Little, M.A.; hon. secretary and treasurer, Mr. R. C. Heazel; auditors, Messrs. H. Turner and J. H. Crampion; trustees, Messrs. G. Green, E. J. Runter and H. W. Shadrack; life members, Mr. A. Reeve (Fobbing), Mr. C. H. Tucker (Harlow), Mr. C. Sharplin (South Weald), Mr. C. Morss (Woodford), Mr. A. White (Loughton); Central Council representatives (1951-53), Miss H. G. Snowdon, Messrs. F. V. Gant, F. Lufkin and H. J. Mansfield.

The Master thanked the members for their confidence and trust in him, mentioning that the time would come when they would have to look for someone else to take over the office in the not too distant future.

The Deputy Master spoke of the work that had been undertaken by the committee during the past year and thanked all who had helped, especially Messrs. Joyce and Gant.

The hon. secretary and treasurer thanked the members for their continued trust in him and the help given by so many, particularly Mr. Gant for taking over the editorship of the report and Mr. L. Clark for the lunch arrangements. He then mentioned the question of twelve-bell ringing, saying that he was despondent last year about it, but there had been a surprising revival of interest and he should like to see it go ahead. Those eager to ring 12 bells should attend the monthly Saturday practices at Chelmsford.

The Rev. F. R. Wright (St. Edward's, Romford) was elected as an honorary member.

ANY OTHER BUSINESS.

Mr. H. Turner spoke on a resolution in 'The Ringing World' by the Central Council that Methods Committee decisions automatically became rules of the 'C.C.' He put forward a request that their representatives should oppose it. Mr. Joyce spoke on the subject and mentioned the spliced peal at Chigwell Row and the effect that changing of the method names had on the peal. Mr. Heazel mentioned the letter he had received from Mr. Cockey about the Middlesex representatives and the treatment they received last year. Miss Snowdon supported action to be taken. Mr. Gant upheld the Central Council's recommendations. Mr. J. Chalk proposed and Mr. H. Turner seconded that the Essex representatives speak against the new rule.—Carried.

Mr. C. Barnard (Rayleigh) proposed and Miss G. Seymour (Rayleigh) seconded that an Essex Association badge should be produced. Mr. Joyce supported this innovation. It was decided by vote to refer this matter to the committee for consideration and their decision announced at the next annual general meeting.

The secretary was requested to send the Association's best wishes to the Provost's son, Mr. John Waller, who was to be ordained at St. Paul's Cathedral on Trinity Sunday.

The secretary read two letters, one from Mr. W. Chalk (Colchester), conveying his thanks for being elected a life member, and another from Sketty Green, Swansea, ringers re their bell restoration.

The Master proposed a very hearty vote of thanks to the Very Rev. C. K. Waller for the use of the bells and the Chapter House, for conducting the service and for his splendid address. Also to the organist, Mr. W. Stanley Vann, for his assistance in the service. The members adjourned to the Cathedral Hall, where lunch was well served, the Provost being the chief guest.

Durham & Newcastle Assn.

HALF-YEARLY MEETING.

A large company of ringers and friends assembled in North-West Durham on June 10th for the half-yearly meeting of the Durham and Newcastle Diocesan Association, when ringing took place at the Parish Churches of Consett, Blackhill, Benfieldside, and the Roman Catholic Church of St. Mary, Blackhill.

It is about two miles from Consett to Benfieldside, Blackhill being approximately midway, and one moves from an industrial area of coke ovens and ironworks at Consett to one of the most beautiful rural scenes in the County of Durham at Benfieldside, that of the Derwent valley overlooking the borders of Durham and Northumberland.

At Benfieldside the company sat down to an excellent tea, which had been prepared by the parishioners. Mr. F. Ainsley thanked the ladies for waiting upon them at tea, and Mr. D. A. Bayles thanked the incumbents of the three churches and the priest-in-charge of St. Mary's R.C. Church for the use of the bells.

The president, Mr. W. N. Park, referred to the loss the Exercise had suffered by the passing on of Mr. W. H. Barber. Mr. Barber, whilst not a native of the North-East of England, lived for many years at Newcastle-on-Tyne, where he was a member of the Cathedral Guild, and just a few months ago went to live at Sutton Coldfield. The members stood in silence to his memory.

After tea a short service was held in Benfieldside Church, conducted by the Vicar, the Rev. E. H. Fenwick.

The company welcomed Mr. Spears, of Wolverhampton, who was on holiday at Scarborough, and who made a round trip of over 250 miles to visit us. Our thanks are due to Mr. C. T. Lamb, of Benfieldside, for the excellent arrangements he made for the meeting.

ERDINGTON BELLS AGAIN

The gift of the original ring of bells installed in the Roman Catholic Church at Erdington in 1878 has a beautiful history. A young man, poorly endowed with worldly goods, but who loved the beauty of God's house, made a vow to work hard and, if God prospered him, to furnish bells for the church.

After an absence of 16 years, spent in New Zealand, with the work of his hand and the sweat of his brow, and with self-denial, he laid by sufficient to return to Erdington and fulfil his vow. The bells were a ring of eight, cast by Blews, the Birmingham founders. After 70 years' use, the wooden bell frame became dilapidated and the bells compared unfavourably with modern tuning, so that of recent years they had been seldom rung.

This year the church, which is dedicated to SS. Thomas and Edmund, celebrates its centenary, and a determined effort was made to put the bells in order. A thorough scheme was decided upon, resulting in a beautiful octave with a tenor of 15 cwt. in F from the Loughborough foundry.

They were rung for the first time, as a prelude to the centenary celebrations, on June 10th, and a peal was rung upon them on June 17th. The louvres have been completely filled in with sound-proof material, sending the sound into the spire, resulting in a perfectly balanced reception outside the tower and a ring of bells that it is a pleasure to listen to.

A band of ringers from the congregation has been formed, and is receiving tuition in bell management from the hon. secretary of the St. Martin's Guild.

G. E. F.

During the day the following towers were open for ringing: Chelmsford Cathedral, Broomfield, Danbury, Springfield, Little Waltham, Great Waltham, Great Baddow, Boreham, Galleywood, Widford and Writtle.

The experiment of running a buffet tea from 4.30 p.m. to 6 p.m. proved a great success.

North Wales Association

ANNUAL MEETING AT LLANDUDNO.

The annual meeting of the North Wales Association was held at Llandudno on June 10th. Although the weather was all that could be desired, the attendance was not large, but fairly representative.

Ringing commenced at 2 p.m. under the guidance of the Ringing Master (Mr. F. R. Evans), and touches in various methods were rung until 3 p.m., when a short service was conducted by the Rector (Canon Rowlands). He gave the members a very cordial welcome and paid tribute to the services which the ringers render unseen.

Forty members sat down to an excellent tea, kindly provided by the local ringers.

At the business meeting Mr. S. Birks was elected to the chair. An apology for absence on behalf of Mr. A. J. Hughes was given by the secretary, who was instructed to write to him expressing the sympathy of the members in his illness and their hopes for a speedy recovery.

The balance sheet, which showed a credit balance of £11 6s. 9d., was adopted. It was pointed out that quite a number of members had not yet paid their subscriptions.

A resolution to increase the subscription to 2s. was carried unanimously.

All the retiring officers were re-elected with one exception. Mr. Denis Millward, Buckley, was elected district secretary for the Wrexham district.

It was decided to hold the next annual meeting at Llangollen, provided the bells were available, and the half-yearly meeting at Bangor on the first Saturday in September. Quarterly meetings to be held at Hope and Halkyn.

The meeting terminated with a vote of thanks to the Rector and Llandudno ringers for their hospitality, and to the chairman for the able manner in which he had conducted the meeting.

Further ringing was enjoyed after tea, ranging from Grandsire Triples to Cambridge Surprise.

FOXEARH, ESSEX

By invitation of the Rector, the Rev. Malcolm Pearce, ringers from Sudbury, Clare, Stoke-by-Clare, Long Melford, Cornard, Wickham St. Paul's and Foxeearth gathered on June 17th for a couple of hours on this light eight, tenor 7 cwt. The glass panelled pendulum case in the centre of the ringing chamber, which makes rope-sight a little difficult, was the only complaint.

The bells were rendered unringable when the great storm three summers ago wrecked the lofty spire, and the tower has now a most unfamiliar look with its embattled top.

Some good ringing was accomplished, the bells having been overhauled by Messrs. Gillett and Johnston. The last touch of the evening was Kent Treble Bob, which might have been dedicated to those of the past, 'The Treble Bob Kings' of Foxeearth.

A. A. F.

CHESTER DIOCESAN GUILD MACCLESFIELD AND CONGLETON BRANCH.

A very enjoyable quarterly meeting was held at Gawsorth on June 10th. The Rector conducted the service in the afternoon. In the evening he very kindly introduced the local ringers and their visitors to the famous 15th century rectory, where he delivered a most interesting talk on the history of that beautiful and picturesque building.

Tea was provided at the Harrington Arms, and the beautiful surroundings and scenery made the afternoon's ringing more enjoyable.

TIVERTON, DEVON.—On May 28th, 1,280 Grandsire Triples: A. Payne 1, L. H. May 2, R. J. Bowden 3, E. J. Taylor (cond.) 4, W. H. Ware 5, E. Richards 6, J. D. Upton 7, A. Kerslake 8.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

A FALSE PEAL

Dear Sir,—I wish to draw attention to the fact that the peal of Cambridge Surprise Maximus, which I called at Lincoln Cathedral on June 30th, 1949, is false.

I apologise to the remainder of the band, and particularly to Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Mathews, for whom the peal was specially arranged.

The composition by York Green was obtained from a copy of 'The Bell News,' and is as follows:—

'NINE TAILORS' ERROR

Dear Sir,—The error mentioned by the Rev. F. Ll. Edwards appeared when the book was first published and has apparently remained uncorrected in each subsequent reprint.

There appears to be another slight misprint in the fourth chapter called 'The Second Part,' which gives a description of the bells and their notes. The musical sign for a 'sharp' in the case of the original No. 3 (F sharp) is used each time this bell is mentioned even when described as No. 5 after it had been 'flattened' . . . to produce some sort of approximation to F natural 'to conform to the scale of C when the tenor bell was added. This no doubt was the printer's misreading of the two very similar signs in the author's manuscript.—Yours truly,

H. D. HARRIS.

Woburn.

Dear Sir,—'Nine Tailors' error: The misprint referred to by the Rev. F. Ll. Edwards appears in my first edition, so it has probably appeared in all subsequent editions.

'Punch': I expected to see a note in 'The Ringing World' to say our art had been the subject of a recent article in 'Punch' (dated May 31st), when Mr. P.'s reporter visited the Croydon Foundry. It is delightfully illustrated by 'Emmett.'—Yours faithfully, T. G. HAWKINS. Stoke Poges, Bucks.

ST. DUNSTAN'S

Dear Sir,—In the Central Council Collection of Doubles and Minor Methods (third edition) appears the Doubles method (No. 13) known as St. Dunstan's, the plain course of which runs to two treble leads only, nine bobs being required to produce the extent. If the bob and plain leads are reversed (in name only) an ordinary four-lead method is obtained and the extent is produced by the usual three bobs. In other words, the touch produced by four consecutive bobs may be regarded as the plain course and the plain lead used as the bob, thus:

120

3254

Twice repeated.

This may have been pointed out before, or, at any rate, be well known to the experts, but if that is so, would it not be better to show the method in this form in the 'Collection' rather than in the two-lead, nine-bob form? This would, apparently, make the method simpler to learn, call and ring.

The method, by the way, is simply Reverse Steadman Slow Course, with a different bob.—Yours truly, G. A. PECK.

Rugby.

FESTIVAL OF BRITAIN

Dear Sir,—It may interest the Festival of Britain Committee of the Central Council that one of the Festival's plans is to rebuild a badly blitzed neighbourhood in London's East End. The site is in Stepney and Poplar and will be known as Lansbury Estate, and will cover an area of about 124 acres, with an eventual population of 9,500. About 30 acres will be developed for the Festival and new buildings will include dwellings, schools, shops, market place and two churches. The London County Council is the planning and development authority, and, of course, some of the building work has already started.—Yours faithfully,

T. J. LOCK.

FESTIVAL BELLS

Dear Sir,—I enclose two cuttings from 'The Daily Telegraph.' The first is from the issue of May 30th, and concerns the admirable suggestion put forward by Wing-Comdr. York-Bramble for the Festival of Britain, a suggestion which would repay the bellfounders manifold if they would act on it. I have often noticed the fascination which ringing and bells hold for British people and foreigners alike when they chance on a local guild meeting. I feel sure that if the visitors to the Festival could see bells and ringers in actual operation not a few orders would be forthcoming for the foundries—if not for rings, then for carillons, etc., for abroad and home.

What better and more subtle way could there be of advertising the best bells in the world than by displaying to such a vast international audience our unique way of using bells and of celebrating occasions of national importance. The glass-walled tower would be an eye-catcher to the most casual, and the bells would tell their own supreme quality.

The second cutting, from 'The Telegraph' of June 15th, is my own letter of support to the scheme, though unfortunately very much weakened by abbreviation. It has provoked the enclosed postcard from St. Albans, and I confess that I cannot help agreeing with its writer (though not to the extent he suggests!) if he is continually subjected to peals, quarter peals and an excessive number of practices and meetings. There is no doubt that we, as ringers, if we are to foster, and not antagonise public opinion, should be extremely sparing in our use of bells at other than service times when towers in highly populated districts are involved.—Yours faithfully,

GEOFFREY BURROUGHS.

Hemmenwood Vicarage, East Grinstead.

The following letter from Mr. Burroughs appeared in 'The Daily Telegraph':—

Sir,—I was interested to read that the Central Council of Church Bellringers is discussing whether the three principal bell foundries should erect glass-walled towers at the Festival of Britain, and demonstrations be given by picked bellringers.

The proposal should certainly receive official support. English bell foundries have the reputation of being the best in the world, but less well known is the fact that change ringing and the way we hang our bells is almost exclusively English.

Incidentally, you state that there are 600 ringers in the country, but 60,000 would be a rather more accurate figure.—Yours, etc., G. D. Burroughs, East Grinstead.

The postcard Mr. Burroughs received states: It is the ringer who should be hung not the bell! Hang him behind glass for the Festival! I can understand this interest in change ringing, but not as a householder who cannot escape the interminable din that goes on for hours on end when change ringers come and practise their art on St. Peter's Church bells, St. Albans. It is the prolonged bout of ringing which puts us all against them.—A. B. Kinloch.

100 Peals in a Tower

Dear Sir,—There must be quite a large number of ringers who have accomplished 100 peals in the same steeple, such as Birmingham, Leicester and other places.

The late Rev. William C. Pearson, who augmented his five to eight bells, in 1902, at St. Peter's Church, Henley, Suffolk, rang over 100 peals on them.

The writer has rung 137 peals on St. Mary-le-Tower, Ipswich, ringing the 11th bell to 103 of them, also 22 peals on handbells in the belfry; of the above he has conducted 96.—Yours truly,

GEORGE E. SYMONDS.

57, Mornington Avenue, Ipswich.

CLAIM OF HOLY TRINITY, HULL

Dear Sir,—In reference to correspondence on the largest parish church, I have two volumes called 'Cathedrals, Abbeys and Churches of England and Wales,' published by Cassell and Co. in 1891, which contain a chapter on Holy Trinity, Hull and St. Nicholas', Great Yarmouth, by Dr. J. J. Raven. Here is an extract from his account, 'In point of superficial area, the reputation of Yarmouth to be the foremost in England must yield to Holy Trinity, Hull, as 20,036 square feet, which was the recorded area of the latter church, has been ascertained by professional measurement to be under the mark, the real floor space being more than 25,000 square feet.' He gives the figures for Yarmouth as 23,085 square feet, which he says is a clear 1,000 feet in excess of St. Michael's, Coventry.—Yours faithfully,

F. J. HANNINGTON.

Cardiff.

AMBIGUITY IN WORDING

Dear Sir,—It seems a great pity indeed that after next Whitsun no more peals of Kent Treble Bob will be rung, not to mention other less common methods, such as Reverse Canterbury. At least that is if we are to interpret strictly the new rules of the Council quoted in 'The Ringing World' of 16th inst. Under the heading of 'Calls' we find, 'It is not permissible for any pair or pairs of bells to be still . . . on going off into changes or in returning to rounds.'

I am writing to point this out, lest anyone with a desire to ring the method to a peal should miss the announcement, and so run the risk of losing for ever the opportunity of ringing an officially recognised peal of Kent.

Indeed, going further, we may even hold a competition as to who will ring the past peal of Kent. This, however, will produce difficulties of deciding not only what constitutes the last peal (should we go on the starting time, the mid-point, or when rounds comes up? And pity the poor hand whose peal runs on over the zero hour!), but also when exactly the rule comes into force. Altogether next May should, with the ringers of this country showing a true competitive spirit, produce some unprecedented activity in peal ringing.—Yours faithfully,

P. W. B. SEMMENS.

WILLIAM BANISTER'S BOOK

Dear Sir,—I also have a copy of the 1874 edition of above. It was given me by the late W. H. Thompson when living at 4, Sillwood Street, Brighton, some years previous to his death in 1934.

Before it came into Mr. Thompson's possession it evidently had belonged to a ringer by the name of 'Archbutt,' as on the inside of cover there is the following inscription: John Archbutt, 11, Wilton Terrace, Camberwell Grove. 5/8/77. Member of Royal Cumberland Society of Change Ringers, Waterloo Society of Change Ringers, St. Margaret's, Westminster, Society of Change Ringers.—Yours faithfully,

GEORGE BAKER.

Brighton.

OBITUARY OF THE WEEK

MR. WILLIAM H. BARBER.

The sudden passing of William H. Barber came as a great shock to his many friends in Birmingham, he having been a valued member of the St. Martin's Guild for over half a century.

Upon leaving Newcastle-on-Tyne for Birmingham, he again became a service ringer at St. Martin's Church and took part in the ringing, unfortunately for the last time, on Sunday, May 21st.

The following Sunday he was absent and a postcard was received from his sister with whom he lived saying that he was seriously ill and had been taken to hospital. We immediately wrote asking for details, and the next information we received was on Saturday, June 3rd, stating that he was being buried that morning, he having passed away on the Tuesday previous, May 30th.

This unfortunate delay in notification prevented his many friends in the St. Martin's Guild attending the funeral service. He will be remembered as a very dear friend and a delightful companion, especially among those who had known him and rung with him before he left Birmingham for the North.

The writer first rang in a peal with him at Aston in 1898 and also in other notable peals at St. Martin's and elsewhere. We fully endorse the excellent tribute paid to his memory by our Newcastle-on-Tyne friend, 'W. J. D.', which appeared in 'The Ringing World' of June 16th.

It was the writer's privilege to visit Mr. Barber's sister on the day of the funeral. He was informed that the cause of death was general debility and a very weak heart. There is no doubt that the nature of his employment in repairing the brickwork of large industrial furnaces, especially at week-ends when they had not cooled down, had considerably through the years undermined his constitution. A. W.

MR. WILLIAM PICKWORTH.

A foundation member of the Middlesex County Association and London Diocesan Guild, Mr. William Pickworth, died at the Royal Hospital, Richmond, on June 19th, aged 75 years.

A native of Lincolnshire, he came to London in 1896 and joined the Royal Society of Cumberland Youths the following year. He made good progress in ringing and in later years was a member of the Ancient Society of College Youths.

Mr. Pickworth rendered faithful service to the Middlesex County Association and for some years was assistant secretary to Mr. A. T. King. He was also secretary of the Southgate Society from 1920 to 1934, when he retired and went to live at Hastings. He returned to Richmond soon after the end of the war. Owing to ill-health, he had taken little part in ringing during the last two years. His last pull was at a meeting at Ashted on Easter Monday.

The funeral service was at Holy Trinity Church, Richmond, on June 23rd, which was attended by family mourners and Mr. H. Miller, representing the Christ Church, Southgate, Society. Interment was at Richmond Borough Cemetery in the same grave as his wife. S. W.

MR. J. F. SIMPSON.

It is with deep regret we report the death of Mr. Joseph Francis Simpson, who passed away on June 12th at 21, Castle Lane, Warwick, aged 85 years. He was an old and respected member of the Coventry Diocesan Guild and other societies, and a keen churchman, chorister and ringer. Until a few months ago Mr. Simpson was a regular attendant at service and practice ringing, but failing health and eyesight prevented him from taking any further part. Always of a cheerful and kindly nature, he will be sadly missed by all at St. Mary's. W. C.

MR. T. H. VAUGHAN.

The death is announced of Mr. T. H. Vaughan at Ipswich Hospital following an operation. A railway timekeeper, he came to Peterborough over forty years ago and joined St. John's band.

Mr. Vaughan took seriously to ringing and progressed quickly. He rang all the standard methods up to Superlative. Although not a great peal ringer, he had peals in Minor, Triples and Major methods to his credit. Above all, he was the ideal striker, one with whom it was always a pleasure to ring. Regular at practice and Sunday ringing, he has left behind him an example from which all can learn a lesson.

The funeral took place at St. John's and the local ringers were represented by Mr. E. Warner. On Sunday, 1,000 Plain Bob Minor were rung half-muffled, with the tenor covering, as a farewell tribute by A. French 1, S. Wright 2, W. Rose (cond.) 3, C. Woods 4, W. Barker 5, G. Bush 6, L. Hadman tenor.

COVENTRY DIOCESAN GUILD

An extremely good meeting was held at Alcester on June 24th by the Warwick and Stratford-on-Avon Branch. A good number of ringers attended, some from as far away as Derby and Cheltenham. The beautiful ring of eight bells was rung to many touches of Grandshire and Stedman Triples and Plain Bob Major. At the business meeting Mr. D. Stanley thanked those who attended, and also the Rector for the use of the bells.

SUDBURY, SUFFOLK

The revival of the annual outing was a great success, when on Whit Monday the Sudbury company visited Hertfordshire. Cars were used for transport, and with no non-ringers, quick moves were possible and good times for ringing at each call was ensured.

First call was Sawbridgeworth for a pleasant hour, and then to Hoddesdon for 45 minutes. Next a very pleasant stop at Broxbourne to find a grand ring, with Mr. Radley at the ready. Lunch followed with a spell of handbell ringing in the gardens of the Bull, much to the enjoyment of the many patrons.

On to Bengeo for some Stedman in quick tempo, and then an ardent endeavour to find Knebworth's old church: a little delay was rewarded by this delightful ring. Tea at Broadwater and to Benington to read of Squire Proctor's achievements and to enjoy the most successful call of the day. Lastly to Much Hadham, where in spite of 'near elastic' ropes, some good ringing resulted. A.A.F.

Yorkshire Association

WESTERN DIVISION AT DENHOLME.

On June 17th the summer meeting was held at this remote village situated on the edge of the Bronte country and in close proximity to the wide stretch of moors which reaches to the Lancashire border.

Although the weather was on the cool side, it was such to bring out the bold outlines of the neighbouring hills, and from the east end of the church a fine panoramic view of the Thornton valley and the city of Bradford and beyond was obtainable.

About 30 to 40 ringers were present from a good number of towers, and they were pleased to welcome members from Pontefract, who have just been transferred from the Eastern Division. The bells (by Mears), although not easy going, were rung to a variety of methods, many of them being in the Surprise group.

In the unavoidable absence of the Ringing Master (Mr. T. W. Strangeways), Messrs. Barton, Johnson and L. W. G. Morris shared the duties of organising the ringing. Touches were kept short and everyone enjoyed his or her particular method.

Tea was partaken of in the adjoining school, and the Vicar, the Rev. J. R. Hailes, extended a hearty welcome to the visitors.

At the business meeting, which was of a brief nature, Mr. P. J. Johnson (vice-president) occupied the chair. Eight new members were elected and it was resolved to hold the next meeting at Longwood in September.

At the conclusion a collection was taken for the Belfry Repairs Fund. Handbells and tower bells then helped to while away the hours until bus time came to bring to a close a very pleasant meeting.

BRISTOL UNIVERSITY SOCIETY

During the week starting June 17th, the University of Bristol Society arranged a series of peal attempts, none of which was successful due to various reasons.

The first was Grandshire Triples, which was lost after two hours' ringing due to a change-course. There would have been four 'firsts' of Grandshire Triples and also the conductor's first of Triples as conductor.

On Monday, 19th, at Abbots Leigh, Plain Bob Minor was lost also after two hours' ringing and also due to a change-course. There was one ringer attempting his first peal and two others their first of Minor.

Though the above were due to ringing errors, the attempt at Grandshire Doubles on Wednesday was lost owing to the fact that there was not sufficient time to ring the peal. A very good half-peal of 2,520 changes was rung by the following: K. Pinney 1, G. Beynon 2, L. Hedges 3, L. Watson 4, J. Worrall (cond.) 5, C. Barwick 6. Longest length by 1 and 3.

On Saturday, 17th, the Society's greatest venture to date, Stedman Triples, came to grief under very unfortunate circumstances. After two false starts ringing was proceeding well, but after more than two hours' ringing one of the ladies comprising the band was taken ill. This would have been the first peal of Stedman by all the band except two of the ringers and the first by the conductor as such.

Altogether 13 ringers took part in the four attempts.

At the recent annual general meeting of the Society, the following officers were elected for the session 1950-51: Master, Mr. Ivor H. Trueman; secretary, Mr. Jack R. Worrall; tower secretary, Mr. Colin Barwick; treasurer, Miss Mary I. Kennelly; committee, Mr. Christopher T. Brown.

MORECAMBE, LANCs.—On June 4th, 1,440 Plain Bob Minor: G. Schofield (first quarter) 1. Miss D. Schofield 2. Miss B. Schofield 3. F. Schofield 4. G. Braithwaite (cond.) 5. H. Palmer 6. A 21st birthday compliment to F. Schofield.

A SELECTION OF THE JUNE OUTINGS

MAIDSTONE DISTRICT.
A TOUR OF ESSEX.

Ringers from ten towers of the Maidstone district, together with eight wives and one son, composed the happy party which, in perfect weather, ventured across the waters to Essex on June 10th on the second annual tour. Gravesend was reached at 9.55 a.m., but luck was out and we saw the coach in front pack on to the ferry, leaving ours first in the queue for the next boat.

Brentwood was reached 45 minutes behind schedule, and in consequence ringing on the fine octave at the Church of St. Thomas of Canterbury was reduced to the bare minimum. By having lunch on the coach instead of in picnic fashion on Writtle's village green we were able to gulp down a refreshing drink at the Cock and Bell and be at All Saints' Church punctually at 1.30 p.m. A full hour on this excellent ring compensated for the dash at Brentwood and we had our first go at the day's special—Yorkshire Surprise—unsuccessfully!

At Chelmsford Cathedral we were all on our mettle and not a little apprehensive—yet felt at ease immediately in the atmosphere of welcome. The light octave was raised in peal and the remaining bells individually, the 34½ cwt. tenor sounding forth a rich and beautiful note. Grandsire Cinques with all bells manned by ourselves opened proceedings, followed by rounds for the not so experienced. Then, fortified by Mr. L. J. Clark and others of the Cathedral band, we rang a touch of Stedman Cinques, which improved steadily and was even approaching a 'beat' as the bells came rolling back into rounds. Three leads of Treble Twelve completed the ringing.

From the ringing chamber to the nave for choral evensong and some superb chanting by the Cathedral choir; outside the hot, dusty and busy street, inside the cool and peace. Tea at Cannon's Restaurant, and to celebrate the recent 70th birthday of the Kent County the cutting of a two-tier iced cake surmounted by a model bell, all the handiwork of Miss Margaret Baker, of the West Malling band. Here we took the opportunity of expressing our appreciation to everyone in Essex who had made our tour so delightful, particularly Mr. R. C. Heazel, general secretary of the Essex Association, and Mr. Clark, of the Cathedral company.

Two miles from Chelmsford is an Essex show-piece, the ring of eight at St. Mary the Virgin's, Great Baddow. These glorious bells wholly deserve their reputation, and we appreciated the honour of ringing them, and also of meeting Dr. P. T. Spencer-Phillips, Master of the Essex Association, and a 'grand old man' of ringing, Mr. George Green. With Dr. Spencer-Phillips ringing with us we achieved our course of Yorkshire, our last opportunity, for the remaining tower was a six-bell, All Saints', Retford.

Another Maidstone District tour was over, but of this one not only have we the memory, but each a souvenir, a printed itinerary produced on the school press by pupils of Mr. Alec Waddington, captain of the Egerton band. Thank you, Essex. E.S.J.H.

BRAINTREE.

St. Michael's Guild, Braintree, selected some interesting towers for their outing on June 17th. The handy ring at Backway, Herts, was the first stop, followed by Hitchin with ringing and lunch. At Knebworth ringing was curtailed owing to a wedding, but full compensation was provided by the fine ten at Luton with the 'go' perfect. The hour's ringing finished with a touch of Stedman Caters, conducted by Mr. Goodenough.

Tea was very welcome before going on to Dunstable, another good ring. Major methods up to London were rung as well as Bob Royal, Stedman and Grandsire Caters.

ST. PAUL'S, BURTON-ON-TRENT.

On June 17th, the St. Paul's Society, augmented by friends from Repton, Ticknall, Overseal and Lichfield, left Burton by coach at 7.45 a.m. for a tour of Cheshire and Salop.

The first call was at Crewe, where the visitors were welcomed by the Vicar and members of the local band. In the three-quarters of an hour allowed for ringing some good touches of Grandsire and Stedman Caters and Bob Royal were successfully brought round.

The next stop was Chester, and after lunch the bells of St. Mary's, Hambridge, were rung to some good Grandsire, Stedman, Plain Bob and Double Norwich before moving on to the Cathedral.

Here a special honour was conferred on the visitors, when it became known that we were to ring for festal evensong on the occasion of the Feast of St. Werburgh. Under the circumstances ringing was confined to Grandsire and Stedman Caters.

After a short interval for sight-seeing, etc., the homeward journey started at 6 p.m. for the last call the day at Market Drayton, Salop. This delightful ring of eight was put to splendid use for an hour, during which time there were a number of well-struck touches of Stedman, Grandsire and Oxford Bob Triples, Plain Bob and Kent Treble Bob Major, and a short touch of Double Norwich. W. J. L.

EDGBASTON.

On June 17th, the ringers of Edgbaston Parish Church, Birmingham, accompanied by wives and friends, left Selly Oak by motor-coach, and in delightful weather proceeded to Malvern Link, where at St. Matthias' Church they were given a warm welcome by the Vicar, the Rev. H. Hartley, who is the clerical secretary to the Worcestershire and Districts Association.

Soon this lovely ring of eight by Taylor (tenor 16 cwt.) was set going, and excellent touches of Stedman, Grandsire and Plain Bob Major were successfully brought round.

From Malvern Hills a lovely view of the vast fertile countryside was visible for miles. At Colwall, Mr. E. Price met the party. On the light eight (tenor 11 cwt.), the back six being by Rudhall, with two trebles added by Mears and Stainbank, touches of Grandsire and Stedman were enjoyed.

An excellent lunch was partaken of at the Valley Hotel, Ross-on-Wye. Arrangements had been made to ring at the Parish Church, and although the secretary was in possession of a letter to that effect, the party waited three-quarters of an hour without anyone to meet them. This was a great disappointment, especially to the writer, who has pleasant memories of the late Mr. Edwin Barnett, who was a native of Ross.

The journey continued through the glorious scenery of the Wye Valley, via Monmouth and Chepstow, to Newnham-on-Severn, where there is a very pleasant toned ring of eight by Mears and Stainbank (tenor 17 cwt.). Owing to the ropes being so badly adjusted, especially that of the treble, which it was impossible to ring, ringing was confined to Grandsire Doubles on the back six.

After passing through Gloucester and Tewkesbury, a nice tea was in readiness at Upton-on-Severn. At the Parish Church the Rector (the Rev. H. S. Bailey) opened the tower and apologised for the absence of his captain, the inestimable Charlie Camm, who with his ringers had gone that day on their outing to Bournemouth. Good touches of Stedman, Grandsire and Double Norwich were rung.

The way home was via Pershore and Redditch, Birmingham being reached about 10 p.m. A word of praise is due to Messrs. W. Mumford and T. Russell for the excellent arrangements. W. C. D.

ST. LEONARD'S STREATHAM.

The fifth annual summer tour of ringers of St. Leonard's Church, Streatham, and Christ Church, Mitcham, together with their wives and friends, took place on June 10th. The party, consisting of 32, left Mitcham by coach and toured through the counties of Surrey, Sussex and Kent in brilliant sunshine.

Ringling was enjoyed at Withyham, Tenterden, Wye and Hollingbourne.

We were met at Tenterden by an old friend, Mr. W. Joiner, who had come from Hastings to spend two hours with us.

The secretary, Mr. S. Howard, is to be congratulated on the excellent arrangements he made to make the day such a success.

ROTHERHAM RINGERS' OUTING.

On June 3rd, the Rotherham company of ringers, together with wives and friends, held their annual outing in glorious summer weather. Leaving Rotherham at 6.30 a.m., the party travelled by motor-coach through some of England's most beautiful countryside on the first stage of their journey to Bourne, Lincs. Here a stop was made for breakfast, after which a visit was made to the grand old Abbey Church of SS. Peter and Paul. Mr. F. French welcomed the visitors, and the bells, a good ring of six (tenor 16½ cwt.), rung from the ground floor, were soon raised and ringing to Plain and Little Bob Minor and Kent Treble Bob Minor.

A break of two hours was allowed for at Peterborough to visit the Cathedral, and then through beautiful country to the little town of Uppingham in Rutland. The Rev. S. C. Woodward (Vicar) entertained the non-ringers in the beauties of the church while the ringers amused themselves on the light Taylor ring of eight (tenor 14½ cwt.) with Plain and Little Bob Major, Grandsire Triples and Stedman Triples.

Allotted time ending all too soon, a move was made to Oakham for tea and ringing at All Saints' Church. Here the sound of the bells brought yet another visitor, Mr. Alan Cattell, of Leicester, who also joined in the ringing on this grand eight, tenor 24 cwt., to the standard methods.

Home was reached at midnight, which added another pleasant memory to the list of successful outings. A. F.

DARLINGTON.

The annual outing of the members of St. Cuthbert's and Holy Trinity belfries, Darlington, again took the form of a motor-coach tour on June 17th.

The party, numbering 33, including families and friends, made an early start and proceeded via York, where a stop was made for light refreshments, to Beverley. This old-world town was thoroughly explored and enjoyed, the Minster proving the centre of attraction. The beauties of this building and its ring of ten are too well known to require description. Grandsire Caters, Stedman Triples and Double Norwich were rung and a visit paid to 'Great John' in the adjoining tower.

After lunch the road was taken to Bridlington, where the non-ringers had the delights of the seaside and the ringers made good use of the beautiful eight at the Priory Church. After tea at Bridlington the road home lay over the Yorkshire Wolds which, at the present time, appear at their best.

A short halt was made at Sledmere to view the church and the two memorials, and then on to Malton, where the newly rehung eight at St. Leonard's was in readiness. Grandsire and Stedman Triples were rung here during the brief stay and the homeward journey was via Easingwold and Thirsk. A most enjoyable day came to a close at about 11 p.m. W. N. P.

THE OUTING

THIS is the time of the year for outings, and our pages reflect impressions of these excursions. To some they are dull reading; to others they fire imagination and recall past visits, while to the host steeplekeeper and ringer there is the joy of watching strangers at the ropes and appraising their standards of efficiency. Easts meets west and north south, bringing into being the oneness of the Exercise.

The Editor was privileged last Saturday to participate in the first outing his tower had arranged since the war. It was not one of those elaborate affairs where ringers rise at the first streak of a summer dawn, but just a modest excursion involving the collecting of dust from seven English counties. But an outing does not start on the day; this one had its birth six months previously, followed by the collecting of sixpences Sunday by Sunday, thus heightening the sense of anticipation. Then came the planning of the route, the arranging of towers and the ringing master's concern that what was rung should be of credit to the tower. There were 'the neophyte campanists' (a Victorian phrase denoting beginners, shown to the Editor in one of the towers) to be considered. A place for their ringing must be found among the higher flight gentry for 'we be all of one blood.'

With the party was a South African lady on her first visit to England. There was history or romance with each succeeding mile: the glamour of Ascot racecourse, the centuries-old majesty of Windsor Castle, the crossing of old Father Thames into Eton, whose playing fields were being prepared for the annual match with Winchester, the modern industrialism at Slough, the mysterious fantasy associated with Denham studios, St. Albans High Street and passing the Roman city of Verulam to Luton, the town made famous for its old craft of plaiting straw which now takes second place to its skill in developing the internal combustion engine.

The first objective of the party was the £3,500 ring of ten by Taylor's in the heavy west tower of St. Mary's Church, Luton. Grandsire Caters, Plain Bob Royal and five courses of Stedman Caters, which brought out the true resonance of the bells, was fitted into the ringing programme. With reluctance the time table had to be kept, but prying eyes were not confined to the belfry; time was found to note the lovely arches of the Wenlock Chapel, and even the sophisticated could not fail to be impressed by the tabernacle by which the font is canopied.

Speculative eyes peered out of the coach at Elstow, the village of John Bungan, and the tinker of Bedford's wrestlings with the lure of ringing were recalled. Lunch was eaten in a cafe overlooking Bedford's busy market place. The bells of St. Paul's, Bedford, were not available, but those of St. Owen's, Bromham, were heard across the spacious parkland approach, to London, Bristol and Superlative Surprise. It is in this park that the bells can be relished in their full glory; not in the noisy ringing chamber or in the church below. The priest's chamber above the porch was noted. Bromham has known fire and tempest. There was a disastrous fire in 1907, following which the bells were recast, and the recent typhoon is still the talk of local ringers.

The rollicking ride of John Gilpen was commented upon as the coach went to the birthplace of the poet Cowper at Olney, said to possess the widest street in England. The climb up the well-worn spiral stairs to the tower surmounted by a spire brought ultimately a rich reward. Olney bells from the ringing chamber are as sweet an eight as the ear could wish for, and the peal ringers of the party longed for the privilege of recording Olney on their list. Various Surprise methods and Stedman Triples were rung. Cowper's house in the market square was found, while some of the party were searching for tea.

Churchwarden Harris was waiting for the visitors at St. Mary's, Woburn. Older than the church or the bells was the ringing literature he had brought with him for the Editor's perusal. The modern features of the church were inspected and the bells rung and enjoyed. Distant views of Woburn Abbey and later the chalk lion of Whipsnade were seen before Dunstable was reached. To greet the visitors, among whom were old friends, Mr. Sharman had forsaken the bowling green. Around the tea table he heard the veteran Alfred extol the organising ability of Mr. F. A. Munday, who had arranged the outing.

An hour's ringing on the Priory bells followed, a ring that in weight resembled the home tower. Inspected was the old bell in the Priory cast at the time of the Black Death, which, in its six centuries of life, has performed many functions ranging from the Angelus to the secular purpose of fire warnings.

The homeward journey was through some of the thickly-populated territory of the Middlesex Association, with traffic surging hither and thither. Such is modern industrial life and amid this whirl of millions the mind reverted to the tranquillity of Bromham.

The LEADING BELL FOUNDERS

A Beginner's First Experience with Strange Bells

I had been ringing about six months when my teacher decided it was time for me to try my hand at ringing at another church. There were three other 'tenderfeet,' two girls and a boy. We met at the arranged time to walk to the church together.

There we were, the four of us, all talking at once, about meaningless things, but this chatter was just a cloak to cover our nervousness. Twice I tried to draw myself out of this talking because I felt myself getting hoarse with the unnatural task of speaking very loudly to make myself heard (and this was difficult since that was the aim of the other three also), but I couldn't. In fairness, I must say that the boy, Terry, wasn't providing so much of the noise at first—he even declined to walk with such noisy females!—but before we were half-way there he was talking as much as the rest of us.

Nearing the church, we saw our trainer, Mr. Tyler, waiting for us. We ran the last few yards to meet him, and jokingly we explained that we'd come to tell him we'd changed our minds about coming! Only then, for the first time, did we openly admit how scared we were. I, for one, felt a little better when I'd said that.

Mr. Tyler then took us into the bell chamber, where some of the church's own ringers were already assembled. Immediately they roped in two of our number to help pull six bells up in peal. None of us really wanted to, but after much argument it was decided that Terry and the eldest girl, Shirley, should try. And they did very well, coming back to June and I telling us how easy it was to pull these bells.

There were ten bells altogether, and when enough other ringers (I hope I'm not being too presumptuous in classing us learners as 'ringers') were there we rang rounds and Queens—'to get them used to the bells,' as one man put it. Waiting to start, I felt I wanted to run away, then I told myself scornfully, 'Don't be an idiot; you know how long you've looked forward to coming here.' When the call came, 'Treble's going!' I felt, 'Now for it,' and gripped the sally firmly.

There! They were gone—1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, 10. Why, it was easy! Yes, they were lovely bells, clear and true, better than ours, I disloyally thought.

The call came to ring Queens and, my bell being the second, it was my job to wait for the ninth. I felt rather foolish when I didn't (or couldn't) wait quite long enough, but there was a friendly voice nearby which told me what to do.

All the men were pleasant and friendly. I think that is a characteristic of bellringers. I sincerely hope so, since I am looking forward to Mr. Tyler taking us to visit other belfries, and it puts a learner at ease to be genuinely welcomed.

We all (the learners) took our turn at Stedman Triples with someone to stand by us as we weren't very sure of the method. Mr. Tyler told us afterwards that we didn't disgrace him.

Later we had some call changes and after that we younger ones left, leaving the experienced ones to ring some method far beyond us; to us, Kent Treble Bob was only a name, but one day—who knows—we may be able to class ourselves as 'experienced ones' with the bell rope.

On July 15th, the Archbishop of York is dedicating the six bells of St.
Peter's, Hutton Cranswick, Yorks. As far back as the early 1930's the Vicar (the Rev.
G. Stoner) wanted the bells renewing. Over £1,300 has been raised to meet the cost. The treble, the gift of the Sunday School, is given as a thankoffering for the preservation of the parish church from enemy action and in memory of two scholars who with their parents lost their lives on March 18th-19th, 1941. On that night eight landmines were dropped on the parish, but only three exploded. The fifth is the farmers' bell.

Mr. Frank E. Darby has rung peals of Cambridge from Minor to Maximus.

Morpeth, Northumberland, is holding a carnival week in August with the object of raising £2,000 for renovating Morpeth Clock Tower and the restoration of the bells.

First quarter on the augmented bells of Slough was rung on June 28th, the occasion being a Confirmation by the Bishop of Oxford;
1,259 Grandsire Caters were rung by A. D.
Rivers 1, F. H. Hicks 2, W. F. Butler 3, W. E.
Judd 4, G. Gilbert 5, F. V. Sinkins 6, Miss F.
Murrett 7, E. L. A. Hudson 8, W. Birmingham
(cond.) 9, E. H. Preston 10. First of Caters
1, 3, 7, 8, 9 and 10.

Henry Taysom, the fourteen-year-old son of Mr. G. W. Taysom, has rung his first peal on the new bells at Paul, near Penzance. He rang faultlessly, and his father must be proud that his son has his interest in ringing. Mr.
Geoffrey Taysom went to Cornwall nearly 20 years ago, and now rings at Madron and Gulval; he learnt his ringing in Herefordshire and was at one time a member of the Hereford Cathedral band, and his experience has been of much help to Cornish ringing.

BELFRY GOSSIP

Mr. Richard W. Barley, grandson of Harry War-
nett, sen., was married at Lewisham on June 24th. Mr. Warnett, now in his 88th year, was for many years leader of the ringers at Lewisham. It was not possible for the bells to be rung for the wedding as they are at present dismantled prior to re-hanging. A commemorative peal was, however, rung at Crayford, conducted by another senior member of Lewisham band, Mr. James Bennett, who is in the select company of those who have rung over a thousand peals and a peal on each of the 366 dates of the year.

With the peal at Macclesfield on June 24th, Messrs. A. W. Hall and A. Peake have rung peals of Kent Treble Bob from Minor to Maximus.

We regret to hear that the Rev. R. F. R.
Routh, Vicar of St. Ambrose's, Bournemouth, is seriously ill. He was recently appointed a Canon of Winchester.

The 80th birthday of Mr. O. W. Porter, secretary of the Shiplake-on-Thames band, was commemorated by 1,260 Grandsire Triples on June 25th by M. J. Menin (first quarter) 1,
E. H. Smith 2, J. W. Cork 3, W. Wicks 4, A.
Street 5, P. Aldridge 6, N. E. Tanner (cond.)
7, A. Shepherd 8.

Consequent upon the damage to the spire of St. John the Divine's, Leicester, by the gale on February 11th, it has been condemned as unsafe and is now in the process of demolition.
The tower will be roofed in to afford protection to the bells, the work being estimated to cost £1,100. An appeal to ringers is made by the priest-in-charge, the Rev. Gordon Strutt, to assist in raising the funds. Incidentally, the last peal was rung on the bells during the afternoon before the night of the gale, being conducted by Mr. Terry Thornber.

S.P.A.B. HEAR ABOUT BELLS AND TOWERS

Lectures by Mr. E. H. Lewis and Mr. A. A. Hughes Old Bells and Tuning Difficulties Tower Oscillation and Treatment Some Notable Examples

TWO of the leading personalities in the Exercise, Mr. E. H. Lewis, president of the Central Council, and Mr. A. A. Hughes, hon. treasurer, had the privilege of addressing the Society for the Protection of Ancient Buildings, at their headquarters in Great Ormond Street, London, on June 5th.

The lecture was illustrated with lantern slides, showing mediæval bells and the casting of modern bells.

Mr. A. A. Hughes said the first bells were cast in Eastern countries ages before those in Europe. The first bell was cast in Europe in the seventh century, and the first bell brought into these islands by Christian missionaries was made of hammered iron sheets cut on a truncated wedge shape, and then riveted up.

A specimen of these early bells was preserved at Dumbarton, which was at least 1,100 years old. The larger cast bells, with which they were more familiar, came in with the Saxon period, and according to Bede, at the death of the Abbess Hilda, the great bell was tolled and heard 13 miles away.

Most of them had probably heard of the bells at Croyland Abbey. They were put up in the latter part of the tenth century and were supposed to be seven, but no one could prove it, as they were destroyed by fire in 1060.

Mr. Hughes mentioned the 13th century bells at Caversfield and also another at Cloughton, Lancs, which was dated 1296. These were very much like a sugar loaf in shape with enormous canons and perfectly flat edge.

IMPORTANCE OF SHAPE.

After explaining the method of casting a bell, Mr. Hughes said the metal used to-day was copper and tin, roughly sixteen parts copper to five parts tin. Contrary to general belief, the metal was not the most important part of the craft. It was the casting of the right shape of the bell. He did not want them to think because in these later times when the theoretical side had been studied to great length, and the founder had been able to produce a bell with all its harmonics dead in tune, that all the old bells were worthless and should be scrapped. There were many of these old bells which, although theoretically wrong in harmonics, were very pleasant to hear. An example was the peal at St. Lawrence Jewry, cast in 1678. There was not one bell theoretically correct, yet they were a glorious ring of eight.

On the subject of bell frames, Mr. Hughes said in the olden days timber, mostly oak or chestnut, was used. To-day frames were in iron and steel, and for the first time reinforced concrete was to be used on the heavy ring of twelve at Liverpool Cathedral. There was a good deal of difference of opinion as to whether timber or metal should be used in making bell frames. He had been asked, 'Surely you can tell the difference when the bells are hung in a metal or wooden frame?' 'I would not like my life to depend on the answer,' was Mr. Hughes' comment.

The difficulty about timber was to get it sufficiently seasoned. Oak could only be purchased to-day in a pretty green state, and oak needed for a bell frame should be cut into planks for eight years before being fitted for usage.

Much of the trouble with timber frames was due to the beams built into the masonry, with the result that the moisture from the masonry set up decay. It was essential that a bronze shoe should be bolted on the ends of the timber being placed against a wall. The great advantage of the metal frame was that they were perfectly rigid, and also a frame would last for centuries provided it was painted regularly.

CANONS SHOULD BE PRESERVED.

Another thing was the canons of the bells. In the olden times, the only way to attach the bell was by means of canons. He thought, generally speaking, that ancient canons on bells should be preserved.

A further point on which discussion took place was the retuning of old bells. They were not designed to give the harmonics of bells of to-day. An old bell could only be retuned at the sacrifice of the general tone and quality of the bell. Each bell should be carefully analysed and treated on its merits, and nothing should be done to interfere with the character and pleasure of its tone.

Mr. E. H. Lewis said his interest in mechanics—the reaction between bells and towers—really started from their Society some 36 years ago, following a letter in 'The Cambridge Daily News' which led him to investigate the various forces when bells were rung.

Roughly speaking, they got a vertical force when the bell was at the lowest point four times the weight of the bell. The maximum horizontal force had been known for many years—he believed it was in 1850 or thereabouts—but he did not think anybody had worried about how the force gradually developed.

The maximum horizontal force was when the bell was at 120 degrees. It struck him that it was more important to know what time this force occurred. The maximum force occurred at quarter second intervals. It was of the utmost importance that the frame should be as rigid as possible, and attached to the tower in such a way that it was part of the tower. He was asked to help Mr. John Taylor, of Loughborough, to calculate the forces of the bells on a tower. We had, at that time, a French instrument known as a 'trepidometer', which recorded vibrations, and they took it round to several towers.

'DAMAGE TO THE RINGER.'

The movement of the tower was serious in two ways. In the first place it was a great disadvantage to ringers, because if they were trying to get accurate ringing they must have complete control of the bell when they came on the balance, and if the tower lurched, the bell either went backward or forward. This was very bad for the ringer as it pulled him to pieces. It was not a question of damage to the tower, but of damage to the ringer, but it might also cause damage to the tower.

A reasonably well-built tower acted as an elastic body. If there were settlement cracks, or cracks started for some other reason, and the tower started to move, force lines were created and the cracks started to creep. Only recently he had an example of this in Cheshire, where in the eastern and western walls there were vertical splits so that one could put a hand into the cracks. He imagined these cracks started as the tower was built on a bed of clay on sandstone, but he felt quite sure that the cracks had been increased because two of the bells were swinging the weak way of the tower.

There were various ways of reducing the movement of the tower. In the first place the bells should be hung to swing against the stiffest way of the tower, and by studying a section of the tower, this could quite easily be determined. The movement could also be reduced by arranging the ropes on the right side of the walls.

LOWERING BELLS.

Another thing was the lowering of the bells down the tower, because the movement of the tower at the point where the bells hung varied as the cube from the height from the ground. Mr. Lewis cited Christ Church, Macclesfield, a tower without any buttresses, which had a rather heavy ring, 80ft. from the ground. When he was called in, it was almost impossible to ring the bells. The bells were lowered 30ft., and it was now a good tower and a number of successful peals had been rung there. Another thing in the case of a heavy ring was to reduce the horizontal force by applying 'tucking up' the headstocks. By 'tucking up' a 16 cwt. bell six inches, the horizontal force could be reduced considerably.

Mr. Lewis continued that he wanted to say a word or two about two other towers. At South Weald was a delightful early brick tower which had support in the east and west walls. To cure the oscillation a concrete girder was put in half-way round the walls with two cross girders. On that was put the bell frame and the bells were made to swing east to west.

St. Benet's, Cambridge, was another tower. In 1332 the bellringers of England subscribed about £450 to have these bells rehung in memory of Fabian Stedman, who was supposed to be born in Cambridge. The tower was not in good order; and a concrete girder was put round the floor of the intermediate chamber.

Boston 'Stump' was repaired with funds from Boston, U.S.A. There it was impossible to drop the bells because Sir Gilbert had put on a vault. The ringers had to stand round this vault; there was no ventilation and the light was by candles. Only one peal had been rung there in 21 years. The old eight were Belgian bells and they were recast into a ring of ten. Instead of dropping the bells he suggested they should be raised. As a result they were raised 8ft., which allowed for a sound insulating floor. There was a difficulty, however, as by raising they came into the thin part of the tower. To remedy this he suggested concrete pillars to carry a concrete platform. This was satisfactorily done.

Mr. J. E. MacGregor, who presided, thanked the speakers.

AN 800th ANNIVERSARY AT DUNDEE

To mark the 800th anniversary of the foundation of the Diocese of Brechin and the Episcopal Church, celebrations were held at Dundee on June 24th. St. Mary's Cathedral, Edinburgh, is the nearest change ringing centre, and a band mostly from this Cathedral made the 90-mile journey to ring a quarter peal of Grandsire Triples at St. Paul's Cathedral, Dundee, the Cathedral of the Brechin Diocese.

The band also rang fairly long touches of Stedman and three courses of Kent Treble Bob at the Old Steeple, which belongs to the Corporation.

The church adjoining the tower is divided, and is used simultaneously by three different congregations. The bells of both towers are on ball bearings, but the going order is not perfect. All the bells seem to be very deeply set, so much so that one or two are rather difficult to pull off.

At the Old Steeple the ringers are paid by the Corporation to ring call changes, and this tends to draw away ringers from St. Paul's, whose ringers incidentally would like to take up change ringing. At present Dundee is the most northerly place in the country where bells are rung, the bells at Inverness being chimed.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

A QUESTION OF FEES

Dear Sir,—Just recently a young lady belonging to a village a few miles from here and a regular worshipper at the church was about to be married, and expressed a wish to have the bells rung for the occasion, but, alas, there were no local ringers.

The young lady, knowing my daughter, made enquiries as to whether I could take a band over, providing the Vicar was agreeable to the procedure. The Vicar was quite in favour, especially as the day coincided with the patronal festival, and he thought it would be grand for the village bells to ring out for the dual purpose. In consequence I took over a band and at the request of the bride-to-be arranged to accept a fee such as we should get for ringing for a wedding at our own church, i.e., 7s. 6d. each.

Having completed our task to the satisfaction of all concerned and received profuse thanks from the Vicar for ringing a quarter peal for his patronal festival evensong, I very politely asked him as to whom I should contact regarding our wedding fees. His reply was that I must see the bride or her people about that as he had nothing to do with the payment of the ringers.

I then informed him that I had been given to understand that the fee had already been paid to him by the bride, whereupon he advised me that all he had received was £3 3s., that was 10s. 6d. per bell 'for the use of the bells,' and any payment to the ringers was another matter altogether, and those concerned must make their own arrangements about that.

Does any incumbent or ringer know any other church where such circumstances prevail regarding ringing fees? It's a new one on me after 45 years a ringer.—Yours faithfully,
V. A. JARRETT.

HUBBARD'S 'CAMPANALOGIA'

Dear Sir,—There were five editions of this work—1845, 1854, 1864, 1868 and 1876. The 1864 was called 'revised' and was apparently ignored, as the 1876 one was called 'fourth.' I have a copy of the 1845. It runs to 114 pages and the lines by S. Nobbs do not appear.

This Stephen Nobbs was a ringer and a printer at Loddon, 10 miles from Norwich, and the title page of the 1876 edition bears his name, together with 'Fletcher and Son, Norwich,' as the publishers. I have often wondered if Messrs. John Warner and Sons had anything to do with 'backing' this 1876 edition. The four pages of advertisements at the end are all absorbed by them as in Banister's work, and mentioned by Mr. Hazelden. They also advertised, about that time, other ringing literature, some of which, I remember, was by S. B. Goslin, one of their staff.

An informative article on these Hubbard books, written by the late J. A. Trollope, appeared in your issue of January 8th, 1926.

Dear Sir,—Referring to Mr. John F. Grove's letter in 'Ringing World' of June 23rd, I too have a copy of the above printed in 1864, in perfect condition, by J. Fletcher, Market Place, Norwich. I purchased it at an antique shop here, in Newport in August, 1942.—Yours truly, HORNCHURCH, ESSEX.—On June 20th, at St. Andrew's, 1,256 Little Bob Major: S. Meadows 1, Miss D. Fleetwood 2, J. Carrott 3, D. W. Beard 4, C. E. Wright 5, A. Salisbury 6, R. Chapman 7, F. V. Gant (cond.) 8. First in method for 1, 3, 4 and 7. Rung for the anniversary service in connection with the septemcentenary celebrations.

CHIMING APPARATUS

Dear Sir,—The Ellacombe chiming apparatus, while being a very useful thing in towers which are too weak to stand the strain of swinging bells, can be a highly dangerous piece of mechanism when attached to a ring. In a number of places where the ringing chamber is some way up the tower, we find the chiming apparatus fixed in the church below, enabling the verger or perhaps the incumbent himself to chime a few minutes before any special week-day service without having to mount the steps to the ringing chamber. In such cases it is an easy matter for any person to pull one of the chiming cords while the bells are being run and do untold damage.

It may be the ringers are attempting a peal or for some other reason have locked the tower door; someone, possibly the Vicar, wishes to get in touch with the ringers and, finding the door locked, he pulls one of the chiming cords, thinking to attract the attention of the ringers above, knowing not of the damage that might ensue. However, this has the desired effect, though not quite in the way he had anticipated.

In such cases a spring hook and ring should be fitted to each of the chiming cords where they pass through the ringing chamber, and the cords should be detached before the bells are rung. This would not take many seconds and would ensure safety.

At my own parish church, where there is an old Rudhall six and a call-change band, a large piece of metal was knocked out of the lip of the second bell a few years ago by someone pulling the chiming rope in the church below while the bells were being rung. Chiming hammers are always a source of danger in any tower.

At my own tower in an adjoining parish, where we have a good ring of eight (a new job), we had one of the hammers knocked off only a couple of weeks ago, and this happened in a very simple way.

On the Sunday evening I thought I would have an evening off. It so happened that seven ringers turned up, they raised the eight bells and then rang seven, leaving the 2nd out. They lowered the bells and left the tower, forgetting about the 2nd, and this bell was left up all the week.

On the following Sunday morning the verger came to chime, he put the apparatus in gear and then proceeded to fasten the bell ropes in their clips. While doing this he pulled the 2nd off and the bell swung round, knocking the hammer flying. Luckily the bell was undamaged, though it strained some of the ringing fittings, but I will not trouble you with details.

It only goes to show that too much care cannot be taken where chiming hammers are concerned.—Yours faithfully,

E. V. RODENHURST.

SOME APPLETON RECORDS

Dear Sir,—Your paragraph in Belfry Gossip, 'Ringing World,' May 12th, and Mr. S. H. Symonds' letter, 'Ringing World,' June 23rd, regarding the ringing of 100 peals in Dartford and Lavenham towers by Mr. John Wheadon and Mr. A. Symonds, respectively, prompts me to point out that Mr. Richard White and Mr. Fred White have rung the 9th and tenor in 111 peals together at Appleton. Mr. Richard White has rung over 200 peals at Appleton, and although I have no records, I believe other Appleton ringers, both past and present, have exceeded the 100 and 200 mark in this tower.—Yours faithfully,

WILLIAM R. WHITE.

Largest Parish Church

Dear Sir,—Through the columns of 'The Ringing World' I would like to thank all those who have so kindly responded to my request for information regarding England's largest parish church.

While I am grateful to Mr. F. A. Cluett, of Gravesend, for the information he has given me, it is to be noted that in his letter, under sub-heading (g), he has failed to appreciate the difference between a parish church as such and abbeys and priories.

It is well known that prior to the last war Coventry Parish Church (before it was given cathedral status) and St. Nicholas', Great Yarmouth, were rival claimants to being England's largest parish church, but both of these churches were heavily bombed, and neither is now in use.

So which is the largest parish church still standing and in full use at the present time?

While I am open to correction on this point, from the material I have on hand it seems that St. Botolph's Church, Boston, Lincolnshire, is the largest parish church in full use in England, with St. Mary Redcliffe, Bristol, a close second.

Unless some concrete evidence to the contrary is forthcoming, I think I am safe in saying that the honour of being the largest parish church must be allocated as above.—Yours sincerely,

R. S. HUNT.

HUNDRED PEALS IN A TOWER

Dear Sir,—It was never intended to suggest that Mr. John Wheadon was the first to ring 100 peals in one tower, but that he was the first to do so at Dartford. I am sorry if the wording of the note did not make this clear.

In point of fact, the conductor of Mr. Wheadon's peal has passed the century in two towers and is within two peals of reaching it at a third.—E. A. BARNETT.

BEVERLEY AND DISTRICT SOCIETY

Fifty members and friends attended the monthly meeting at North Cave on June 10th. The musical ring of six bells (tenor 12 cwt.) was raised at 2.30 p.m. and kept going until 4.30 p.m. in standard methods.

The Vicar, the Rev. C. M. Oswell, conducted the service in All Saints' Church and gave a hearty welcome to the Society and a talk on his previous experiences with ringers in his other parishes.

A real country tea was provided in the Temperance Hall, which was a credit to the local ringers and their lady helpers.

The meeting was the first that the local ringers had arranged, being a newly-formed band, and with their Vicar only recently inducted to the parish, they received a very hearty vote of thanks for the efficient manner it had all been carried out.

After the business meeting the ringers returned to the tower and enjoyed some good ringing until 8.30 p.m.

MR. W. WELLING'S 500th PEAL

Congratulations are due to Mr. W. Welling, of St. Peter's, Old Windsor, who, on June 7th, rang and conducted his 500th peal in his home tower with all but one of his Sunday service band.

The following is a brief outline of the methods rung: Minor, 1 to 11 methods, 63 peals (2); Triples, 4 methods, 135 (67); Major, Plain, 4 methods, 94 (28); Surprise Major, 26 methods, 165 (16); Treble Bob, 2 methods, 21 (6); Caters, 2 methods, 8; Royal, 2 methods, 3; Stedman Cinques, 4; Kent Maximus, 1; Spliced Methods 6. Total 500 (119 conducted).

This includes one of Stedman Triples, Bob Major, Superlative, Cambridge and Yorkshire non-conducted. Also first peal of 14 of the lesser known methods and three first 'splices.'

These peals were rung for eight associations in 89 different towers in eight counties. A.H.C.

Stafford Archdeaconry Society

ANNUAL MEETING.

The annual meeting of the above Society was held at Lichfield on June 24th. Ringing took place at the Cathedral and at the churches of St. Mary and St. Michael. Many members attended evensong in the Cathedral, when special ringers' prayers were included in the service.

Eighty-six members and friends sat down to a meat tea in St. Mary's Schools. At the business meeting which followed, the Archdeacon of Stafford occupied the chair. The accounts were presented by the Rev. C. H. Barker and showed a balance in hand of £42 11s. 7d., this being an increase of 2d. on the previous year.

Mr. Arthur Pearson, lay secretary, gave a report on the year's ringing activities. This disclosed that 57 peals had been rung, compared with 65 the previous year. Fifty-five new members, including nine life members, were elected during the year.

The election of officers then took place. Mr. Eric Speake was re-elected Ringing Master, the Rev. C. H. Barker clerical secretary and treasurer, Mr. F. Brotherton auditor, and Messrs. H. Knight and C. Wallater Central Council representatives.

Mr. Arthur Pearson, lay secretary, did not seek re-election, and Mr. Fred Bennett, of Wombourn, was elected to fill the vacancy.

It was agreed that meetings for the next 12 months should be arranged, if convenient, as follows: August, Hoar Cross and Newchurch; October, Coseley; January, Brierley Hill; March, Willenhall; May, Rolleston-on-Dove; June, annual, Lichfield.

Heartly votes of thanks to the chairman for so ably conducting the meeting, to the Society's officers for their efforts during the past year, and to the Vicar of St. Mary's for use of the schools for tea, brought the proceedings to a close.

GUILD OF DEVONSHIRE RINGERS

JOINT MEETING AT IPPLEPEN.

The Mid-Devon and South-West Branches of the Devon Guild of Ringers held a joint meeting at Ipplepen on June 24th, when members and friends attended from Exeter, Axminster, Newton Abbot, Ashburton, Buckfastleigh, Dartington, Totnes, Paignton, Dartmouth, Plymouth and Kingsbridge.

The bells, which have recently been rehung, were kept going throughout the afternoon, the ringing including touches of Grandsire Doubles and Triples, Stedman Triples and Plain Bob Major.

There was an interval for tea later in the afternoon, visitors having to make their own arrangements in this direction owing to carnival activities which were taking place in the village during the afternoon.

Ringing was afterwards resumed until about eight o'clock, and thanks are due to the Vicar for kindly granting the use of his bells.

LEEDS AND DISTRICT SOCIETY

The June meeting was held on June 24th at Idle Parish Church. The afternoon attendance was disappointing, but the eight bells were kept going from 3.15 p.m. until tea was served in the Institute. The business meeting followed with Mr. T. Hill (president) in the chair. Members were present from Armley, Bradford Cathedral, Guiseley, Headingley (St. Chad's), Idle, Leeds Parish Church and Tadcaster. Later arrivals were from Calverley, Pudsey and Woodlesford.

The main business details were completed and the vote of thanks to the Vicar, churchwardens, local company and ladies was proposed by Mr. F. Hutchinson and seconded by Mr. W. Dixon. Mr. F. Wilkinson replied to the vote of thanks.

The next meeting is due to be held at Drighlington on July 29th.

TOWER CORNER (13)

'THE ART OF STRIKING.'

Dear Learners,—In Lesson VII., just concluded, we met, as you know, for a talk by our instructor, Tom Truettouch, illustrated by the use of handbells and a blackboard in the ringing chamber: his subject being the theory of striking.

In Lesson VIII. we are now to have our first experience of ringing on an 'open' or sounding bell in company with practised ringers.

Not all instructors can depend on experienced ringers to devote time to coaching a beginner, but where this is possible the beginner is indeed lucky; for he will then progress not only more rapidly, but also more certainly. Our scheme of instruction, then, presupposes special co-operation, for the next lesson or two, of more experienced ringers. Tom will necessarily be giving them some particular instructions to provide certain training conditions for the learners, which the latter need not heed at this stage. Such instructions, however, will be given, printed inside square brackets [like this], so that more experienced ringers who are reading these articles may follow the scheme as a whole.

'This evening's practice,' says Tom, 'is another landmark in your progress. The bells are no longer "silenced": they are "open" and will sound in the normal way. And your ringing of them, after the thorough coaching you've had in bell control, will be in advance of those pupils who are allowed to ring rounds before they have absolute control or any style. It had better be so, any way,' says Tom, rather ominously, because some experienced ringers are giving time to come along and help you, and we cannot waste their time by indifferent ringing, even as learners.

'For the first exercise, however, each learner, in turn, will have a few pulls on No. 3, to note especially what we have called the "sounding-point" in the ringing action. Remember what we said of this in our last lesson. Mary Make-bob, my assistant, will stand by as each learner takes the rope, and will listen for the word "ring" which the learner will call at the point he thinks the sound of the bell will occur. When he is right five times out of six Marv will pass him and take the next learner. Then, when the three ringers I am expecting have arrived, each learner, in turn, will make up a band of six with them and Mary and myself, for a special "rounds" exercise.'

So Ex. 24 proceeds. As we pull the bell off we note carefully at what particular point of the rope-action the strike-sound is actually heard. We find, as Tom told us last time, that it is just after our two hands have come together on the rope as the bell comes up to the balance point, at either back or hand. Mary reminds us to note the time interval, for the particular bell, between the pull-off and the strike-point, then we try our skill at 'calling the sound.' When all learners have been passed by Mary, Tom continues:—

'In the next exercise each learner, in turn, will ring the 3rd in rounds on three, with Mary ringing the treble and myself on the second. The interval between treble and second sets the compass for the ring, so note it particularly and then make your bell sound at exactly that interval, after mine. You will now recall that what we practised, on a silent three, in Ex. 22 (see instalment 10) is of prime importance; and you will note that accordingly Mary, on the treble, will be holding up a little more at handstroke, causing a longer interval than the set one. Note that this "gap" is just wide enough to allow another bell-beat to sound in it at the same interval as all the others. This, as we explained in Lesson VII. (see instalment 11) will be, in this case of three bells, one-seventh of the double round.' (2n plus 1 beats.)

So follows Ex. 25. We realise now the particular value of Exs. 21, 22 and 24, and we listen carefully as we try to apply all that Tom has told us in the previous lesson about the Theory of Striking. (See instalments 11, 12.)

Next, in Ex. 26, we learn two things:—

(a) How to 'lead off the cover-bell,' and

(b) Actually to make, for the whole compass, the open hand-stroke lead.

For this the learner takes the treble to three, while Mary and Tom take the 2nd and 3rd respectively. Tom first explains that the 'cover-bell' is, in effect, the last bell down, in the ring. He then points out that in leading, i.e., ringing after the cover-bell, the strokes are dissimilar. That is, one's back-stroke follows the cover-bell's handstroke, and one's handstroke follows the cover-bell's backstroke. Point (b), therefore, calls for an increased interval after the cover-bell's backstroke and before one pulls off at hand again.

So Ex. 26 proceeds with each learner in turn on the treble, until Tom is satisfied that each can actually make the correct 'open hand-stroke lead'; so essential, as he has previously pointed out, for 'scientific' change ringing.

During this exercise the three expected ringers have arrived, and as Tom explains to them the next exercise we mentally resolve not to 'put up a bad show' nor to let Tom down. We hear Tom explaining that the five of them will ring rounds at the correct compass with a rigidly-set beat, so as purposely to show up any irregularity on the part of the sixth bell—No. 3, the learner's; Mary and he taking the treble and 2nd respectively.

Each learner, in turn, takes No. 3, and Ex. 27—'Listen and Improve'—proceeds as rounds on six. The learner must 'fit in' precisely, otherwise the irregularity is immediately obvious! After three whole pulls if the learner's striking is not all it should be, Tom calls stand and wants to know why! He reminds the delinquent that he has not been allowed to start this exercise of special rounds before having worked steadily through 26 previous exercises, all designed to lead up to perfect bell-control and to the knowledge and skill of what is required to exhibit it. So that failure now, to strike well, is due to the learner's lack of concentration with suitable correction. This rigid standard, demanded at a comparatively early stage, coupled with the marked contrast of the perfect striking of the experienced other ringers, puts the learner on his mettle. The habit of 'Listen and no laxity' is early acquired. Any shortcoming means that Tom puts the learner back for a spell of practice on the Pole and Pig-tail. It's a wonderful corrective!

This brings us to the close of Section II. of the course. Next time, before beginning Section III.,—'Tone Telling and Rope-sight'—I will, as previously, give the summary, for easy reference, of the section just completed. — Yours ever,

CORN. R. STONE.

P.S.—Corrections: In issue No. 2,044, dated June 9th, 1950, the number of the instalment on page 365 should be (11) not (10). And the sub-title of that instalment, as also of instalment (12) on page 397 of No. 2,046, should read 'The Theory of Striking.'—C.R.S.

BARNSELY AND DISTRICT SOCIETY

The annual shield contest was held at Wentworth on June 24th. The ringing was in the following order:—

	Faults	Penalties	Total
Friezland	70	0	70
Sandal	150	5	155
Cawthorne	66	0	66
Silkstone	117	0	117
Shelley 'A'	77	5	82
Shelley 'B'	122	0	122

Mr. H. Chant was the judge and Mr. R. West the marker. The test piece was 720 changes. Cawthorne were the winners and held the shield for 12 months.

OBITUARY AND MEMOIRS

THE REV. FRANK BONNER.

Readers of 'The Ringing World' in the years immediately before the outbreak of war will remember the meteoric rise of the Rev. Frank Bonner and will regret to learn of his passing at the early age of 40. Mr. Bonner was educated at St. Catharine's College, Cambridge, and Ripon Hall, Oxford, and was ordained deacon in 1935 by the then Bishop of Chester (Dr. Fisher), and became priest the following year. He was curate at St. Mary's Church, Stockport, from 1935 to 1939, and it was here that he learned to ring. Soon he had mastered the rudiments of the art and was introduced to the band at Norbury, where he became very popular and made rapid progress.

In 1937 he became vice-chairman of the Stockport, Bowdon and Mottram Branch of the Chester Guild, and on March 6th that year he rang his first peal, Kent Treble Bob Major at Norbury. By the end of the year he had rung 14 further peals, including peals of London and Bristol Surprise Major. In the following year he rang 20 peals, including Stedman Caters, on the bells of his own church, and the first peals of Rochester Surprise Major for the Chester Guild. In 1939 he became curate at Disley and was in charge of a mission church at Furness Vale, and on account of his increased responsibilities and the outbreak of war his peal total for 1939 was nine. In 1940 he rang two peals, his last peal being one in 11 Treble Bob Minor methods at Disley on April 6th, 1940.

He volunteered to serve as a Chaplain to the Forces in 1940, but was rejected on health grounds. This was the first sign that he was not well and later in the war years he had to rest from all duties for a considerable period and never really recovered. To his distress he was forbidden to ring, and though he attended one or two meetings, he managed, with great difficulty he confessed, to obey this instruction. The only occasion, I recollect, of his breaking it was just before he left Disley, when he paid a visit to a practice at Norbury and rang faultless courses of London and Bristol Surprise. In 1946 he was instituted as Vicar of Norley, a church with one bell, and speedily became very popular. His interest in ringing never flagged and only a few months ago he was going into the question as to whether his tower would carry a ring of bells.

His success as a parson and a ringer was due to his unassuming manner, his devotion to duty and his unflinching sense of humour. In the three parishes where he served he was greatly loved and respected, and he died, as he would have wished, in harness. On Friday morning, June 16th, he visited the Church School and had been speaking to the local postwoman only a few minutes before he collapsed and died in the Vicarage garden. He had been busily engaged along with his parishioners in preparations for a church fete.

He was laid to rest in his own churchyard on June 20th, when the church was packed, and the service was conducted by the Dean of Chester, Bishop Tubbs, assisted by the Rural Dean, Canon L. S. Brasnett. Many of his fellow-clergy were present, but to the undying regret of his ringing friends none of them received the news of his passing until after his burial. He was a bachelor and is survived by his mother and a brother.

His list of peals is: Stedman Caters 1; Stedman Triples 1; Grandsire Caters 1; Rochester Surprise Major 2; Bristol Surprise Major 11; London Surprise Major 8; Superlative Surprise Major 1; Cambridge Surprise Major 2; Kent Treble Bob Major 2; Oxford Treble Bob Major 1; Plain Bob Major 2; Double Norwich Court Bob Major 2.

Cambridge Surprise Minor 1; Plain Bob Minor 1; three Minor methods 1; Treble Bob Minor—nine methods 2; 11 methods 1; 17 methods 2; 19 methods 1; 23 methods 1; 25 methods 1; 39 methods 1; total 46.

Forty-three peals were rung for the Chester Guild and three for the Lancashire Association.

MR. C. D. HEGINBOTHAM.

The passing of Mr. Heginbotham, which occurred at his house, Waldon Lodge, Devizes, on June 18th, at the age of 76 years, removes from our midst a very well-known ringer, whose knowledge about bells and ringers spread over a large area.

He was the son of the late Dr. and Mrs. Edmund Heginbotham, of Bruton, and came to Devizes in December, 1892, to join a solicitors' firm of Messrs. Jackson and Jackson, and remained with them for 44 years, when he retired.

He had an outstanding interest in natural history, and made two collections of the land and fresh water shells of Wiltshire, and was an authority on birds, butterflies and moths, serving for many years on the Wiltshire Archaeological Committee.

Bellringing was another interest of his: he joined the tower of St. John's, Devizes, over 50 years ago, and was at one time secretary of the Devizes Branch, and was its chairman from 1921 to 1933, but owing to a very severe illness he had to retire from the chair. He was also a member of the church choir, and during his work amongst ringers he became a licensed lay reader. His wife predeceased him in 1944, and a son and a daughter are bereaved.

The funeral was at St. Peter's Church, being attended by a large and representative congregation. Cremation followed at Bristol. On the night of the funeral a quarter peal was rung half-muffled at St. John's, and the following Sunday one was also rung at Bishop's Cannings, in whose churchyard the ashes were scattered.

AN APPRECIATION.

As one who can claim the friendship of the late Mr. C. D. Heginbotham for 52 years, I should like through 'The Ringing World' to pay a last tribute to his memory. His passing is not only a severe blow to his church, but also to the Salisbury Diocesan Guild. He loved the bells and helping the young beginners in the art of campanology, and there must be a great number of ringers who mourn his loss to-day.

But ringing was not the only one of his accomplishments. He was a lover of birds, butterflies and moths, and his expert advice upon these was sought after for many miles around. Furthermore, he was a chorister for many years and he took a great interest in the Devizes Choral Society. His life's work will live on for many years, and lastly, and by no means least, he was dearly beloved by all those with whom he came in contact.

F. S. WILSON.

MELTON MOWBRAY DISTRICT

According to the heading in the local newspaper, the Melton District of the Leicester Diocesan Guild, for their outing on June 17th, 'rang bells all over the place in Rutland towers.'

After calling at Waltham and Wymondham, the party, numbering 32, arrived at Market Overton for an hour's ringing on the lovely five bells. At Cottesmore the Rector showed the party round the church and joined in the ringing on the six bells. Tea followed, at which Mr. Matthews voiced the thanks of the company to Mr. F. J. Williams and Mr. J. H. Cook (chairman and secretary) for arranging the outing.

The recently augmented six at Greatham were much enjoyed. At Exton there was a delay of 20 minutes owing to the belfry key being missing. More ringing took place at Oakham and Lougham.

The Late Mr. Wm. H. Barber

APPRECIATIONS.

May I offer my humble tribute to a dear friend and great ringer, W. H. Barber?

On moving to Sunderland in 1929 my peal total stood at 15, and in spite of a holiday spurt of five, this number had taken nearly seven years to collect. At this stage I was half afraid to take a rope in ten and just scared to catch hold in twelve until a chance meeting at Newcastle brought me under the wing of Bill. It was a lucky encounter for me; he was soon to call my first Bob Major; Caters, Royal and Cinques followed, and if he did not actually take part I always felt he put me in others, mostly conducted by the late Tom Gofton and Joe Parker. By a printer's error in a peal that year there were two Davies, one needed a son to his surname, and when our second son was born later, he came along with Joe to see the infant and remarked we had supplied the missing link!

Owing to business any peal attempts I made had to be in the evenings and early part of the week. This necessitated me asking permission of my principals in London to leave early, and when I eventually obtained a permanent pass I jokingly told Bill they must have thought I was in good hands—how true! Often when we met for a peal we had all come straight from our daily toil. Bill must have been weary after his strenuous task, but I always felt when I saw his kindly face the master had arrived. Success or failure, we retired for a happy social hour, Bill's stories adding to the warmth of his company.

The last peal together, which Bill conducted, was after the funeral of our mutual friend, Joseph W. Parker, another lovable gentleman, and it is my sincere regret the circumstances now known prevented me from paying my last respects to Bill.

D. V.

Hale.

I was acquainted with the late W. H. Barber for over 50 years, and whenever he was met, even after periods of years, he was always the same genial friend, with a smile and a joke on all occasions. He was never stand-offish and would greet the beginner and young ringer with the same friendliness that he would greet the expert.

Although a great ringer and conductor, he was never presumptuous about it. His loss will be felt by a great many of his old associates as well as by his family. But the memory of his personality will remain with us as a gentleman and a master of his art.

SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD

DORCHESTER BRANCH.

Eleven towers of the Dorchester Branch were represented at the meeting at Piddlehinton on June 17th, when the branch paid its first visit to the restored and augmented ring at St. Mary's. Ringers came from Abbotsbury, St. Peter's, Dorchester, Fordington, East Lulworth, Milton Abbey, Piddlehinton, Preston, Sydling, Upwey, Wool and Wyke Regis.

The bells were rung to various methods during the afternoon and evening and were commended for their 'go' and melody. The bell-founders (Messrs. John Taylor and Co.) have added another very fine ring to the village bells of the Dorchester Branch, and in a short time the local band has made good headway.

The Rector, the Ven. J. C. Chute (Archdeacon of Sherborne), conducted the Guild service, and the lesson was read by the branch chairman, Canon A. W. Markby (St. Peter's, Dorchester). Tea was served at the New Inn, followed by the business meeting, when it was decided to hold a by-meeting at Sydling on July 6th and the next quarterly meeting on July 29th at Maiden Newton. In the evening some ringers went on to Milton Abbey.

RINGERS' OUTINGS IN NUMEROUS COUNTIES

A WEEK-END SUPPLANTS ANNUAL OUTING.

Instead of the customary annual outing, Lincoln Cathedral company had a week-end this year in Gloucestershire. A party of 24, including wives and sweethearts, made the journey, leaving Lincoln by coach at 7 a.m. on June 17th.

After a brief stop at Coventry and a visit to the ruined Cathedral, Cheltenham was reached at 12.55 and lunch followed at Hotel Manchester. Mr. and Mrs. J. Thomas joined the party and the journey proceeded to Painswick. Here a great disappointment awaited the party, as during the morning a ban had been placed on the ringing of these famous bells owing to a crack in the spire. Solihull ringers arrived shortly afterwards to share in the disappointment. A course of Stedman Cinques 'in hand' in the belfry was, however, a memory of the visit.

Tea at Painswick was expedited to enable Stroud to be visited earlier. Ringing here included a half-course of Yorkshire Royal, Stedman Caters and Stedman Triples.

Dinner at Cheltenham was followed by a visit to Leckhampton, where touches of London, spliced in four methods, and Stedman Triples were rung. The feat of Mr. Thomas in ringing 1-2 to Stedman Triples was a source of delight and surprise, as the ropes are fairly wide apart.

Service ringing on Sunday morning was at Cheltenham, where the band kindly allowed the visitors the use of the bells. A half course of Yorkshire was followed by Stedman and Erin Cinques. A chat with the local ringers and a brief look round Cheltenham brought lunch time.

After tea at Coventry the party rang for evening service at Stoke, where Mr. F. Pervin awaited the party. The ringing programme included Bristol, spliced in four methods, and Stedman Triples. Lincoln was reached at 9.30 p.m. The valuable assistance of Mr. C. Rouse, Mr. and Mrs. J. Thomas and Mr. F. Pervin is acknowledged with gratitude.

PORTHKERRY, GLAM.

The Porthkerry, Glamorgan, ringers held an outing on June 24th, when towers between Cardiff and Newport were visited. An hour's ringing was enjoyed on the pleasant six at Rumsey (tenor 9½ cwt.) before a move was made to St. Mellons, another good six (11½ cwt.). At both these towers local ringers welcomed the visitors.

After ringing here the party made for Marshfield, where they were glad to welcome as guest for tea the Vicar, himself a ringer. This interesting church with its magnificent roof was inspected, the eight bells raised in peal and over an hour's ringing enjoyed.

Methods rung were Grand sire and Plain Bob Doubles and Plain Bob Minor, a measure of the progress made in the six weeks since Porthkerry's four bells were augmented to six.

DAVENTRY BRANCH.

On June 17th, 33 members and friends of the Daventry Branch of the Peterborough Diocesan Guild held their annual outing and visited the towers of Irthlingborough, Burton Latimer and Corby, Northants, and Langham and Oakham in Rutland.

A start was made at 8 a.m., and the day being fine, a very enjoyable time was spent. Lunch was taken at Irthlingborough and tea at Oakham, where for an hour and a half this lovely ring of eight was kept going. The home journey commenced at 7.45 p.m. and a halt was made for light refreshments, when the party were entertained with selections on handbells, interspersed with singing and change ringing.

ST. AMBROSE'S MYSTERY TOUR.

For the St. Ambrose's Ringing Guild's annual outing this year, a 'mystery tour' in the Bath and Wells territory was arranged by Mr. F. Skidmore, St. Ambrose's tower secretary and Bristol Rural Branch Ringing Master. As a result, a coachful of St. Ambrose's ringers and friends left for the unknown destinations at 8 a.m. on June 10th.

The first stop proved to be Ditchat—a guess correctly hazarded by some of the party—and for about an hour all enjoyed ringing on the eight bells. After 11's at 10.30, we started off for the second of the five towers—this turned out to be Wellington, where after a most enjoyable dinner the very musical eight bells were rung in standard methods. We felt it rather fitting that we should have visited this church, as a fete was being held that day in aid of the Bells Fund—thus giving the parishioners a reminder of their own fete and its object by our ringing.

The next call was Milverton, where the eight bells of St. Michael and All Angels' were put to good use. Fourth on our tour was Dulverton with its parish church containing eight bells. After ringing all retired to the Hollam Guest House for a sumptuous tea. It was during this tea that Mr. Harding (Bristol Rural Branch chairman) and Mr. A. C. Baker (St. Ambrose's captain) expressed thanks to Mr. F. Skidmore for his excellent arrangements, which all thoroughly appreciated. Miss and Mr. Churchill were also heartily thanked for the kindness extended to us in arranging the tea at Hollam House, set as it is in such beautiful surroundings.

At 6.30 p.m. we left for the fifth tower—materialising into Mark Parish Church—where we had a short ring on the eight to rounds, Grandsire and Stedman, afterwards retiring nearby for light refreshments before boarding the coach 'Bristol bound,' a somewhat tired but very happy party.

HELMINGHAM, SUFFOLK.

Early rising was the order of the day for the outing of the Helmingham and district ringers on June 24th, when a start was made for Kent at 5.45 a.m. The Thames was crossed at Tilbury soon after 9 a.m., and then to Rainham and Sittingbourne, where Mr. S. Dobbie had arranged an excellent lunch.

A drive through the hop fields and cherry orchards brought the party to Wye. Here ringing was curtailed owing to two weddings. At Ashford another splendid meal had been arranged by Mr. C. W. Everett. The last ringing of the day was at Maidstone except the handbell interlude on the ferry to the delight of a large audience. Methods rung were Plain Bob Major, Kent Treble Bob, Cambridge, Superlative, Yorkshire, London and Bristol, Stedman Triples and Caters and Kent Treble Bob Royal.

ROCHDALE, LANCs.

Leaving Rochdale at 7.45 a.m., the ringers of All Saints', Rochdale, had a most enjoyable outing on June 17th. A halt was made at Gisburn for refreshments and then on to the lovely village of Low Bentham, whose six with a 19 cwt. tenor are well worth a visit. The hour's ringing included Oxford Treble Bob and Plain Bob.

After lunch at Lancaster, the party were shown round the Cathedral by Mr. Rainford, a local ringer. Ringing followed, in which local ringers joined the party. A sumptuous tea at Bispham and then an adjournment to All Hallows' Church, where an hour's ringing was enjoyed. The party then made their way to Blackpool to spend the evening at their own leisure.

TAUNTON.

Gloucestershire was the objective of the Taunton ringers for their annual outing on June 17th. A start was made at 7.40 a.m., the route being via Wells and Bath to Marshfield, which was reached at 9.45 a.m. The local ringers had everything ready for the visitors, and good use was made of this delightful eight for one hour.

Over the Cotswolds, with magnificent views, to Stroud, where some well-struck Stedman Caters and other methods were rung on the bells. Lunch was taken at Painswick, followed by a disappointment, as this famous twelve are out of commission owing to steeplejacks working on the spire. The sad news was conveyed by the steeplekeeper. Fortunately Mr. Barry, of Gloucester, a member of the Cathedral band, was in Painswick and he arranged for the party to ring at Gloucester Cathedral for an hour. This was followed by ringing on the light eight of St. Mary de Crypt.

Tea was served at the Shire Hall Restaurant and the journey resumed to Berkeley, another ring of ten which is not quite as good as Stroud's, but the bells were kept going to Caters and Triples. The last tower of the day was Almondsbury, a beautiful eight, and ringing concluded with a good course of Cambridge Surprise Major. Taunton was reached just after 11 p.m.

SITTINGBOURNE, KENT.

When the coach had caught up one of our more energetic brethren, who showed obvious signs of preferring to walk, the St. Michael's, Sittingbourne, ringing tour commenced on Saturday morning, June 17th.

A promising start was made at Wrotham, where rounds and methods up to Cambridge were rung. St. Peter's, Croydon, was the next tower where ringing ensued, not without incident. As the first 'ten' of the day, the standard of ringing was very disappointing. Even the alleged experts could not distinguish themselves in any sense, and the member of the party celebrating his 21st birthday tried to hang himself. However, general recuperation took place with the excellent lunch which followed. By the time Kingston was reached the apparent attack of ten-bell nerves seemed largely to have passed, and after a slight hitch while entry to the tower was gained, a great improvement was achieved with a touch of Stedman Caters.

Reigate was the third ten-bell tower, and a touch of Kent Treble Bob Royal here added to the variety. A refreshing tea was heartily consumed at Godstone, and ringing continued.

Westerham was the last call, where the needs of everyone present were catered for, and the musical and general quality of the bells much appreciated. The timely arrival of more visitors allowed ringing to end with a very satisfying course of Superlative. With some enjoyable handbell tune ringing on the green, the party was gathered for the return journey, which was only once broken for acrobatic activities!

HAMPRESTON, DORSET.

On June 17th, the Hampreston, Dorset, band, under Mr. W. Shute, with local friends and ringing friends from Lytchett Matravers and Sturminster Newton, held their annual outing in South Devon.

Ringing was enjoyed at the towers of Woborough, Torre, Kingskerswell and Abbotskerswell. An excellent tea was provided by friends in the Church House at the last-named place, where the party was joined by the Rector of Abbotskerswell and his wife and the local ringers.

In the evening the party were entertained in the vicarage gardens, where a game of croquet was soon in progress. Thanks are extended to all those who helped to make this a very enjoyable outing.

Chester Diocesan Guild

STOCKPORT, BOWDEN AND MOTTRAM BRANCH.

On June 24th, a meeting was held at the beautiful church of Rostherne and some fifty members and friends were present, including the Master of the Guild, Mr. J. W. Clarke, and Mrs. Clarke. The ring of six heavy bells (tenor 223 cwt.) were in use from early in the afternoon, and late arrivals were greeted by their sound across the mere, famous to naturalists for its rare birds, etc.

At 4.30 the usual service in church was held, conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. J. Hughes), who gave a warm welcome to his church and contributed an interesting address. After the service tea was served in the Egerton Hall, where an excellent meal was enjoyed.

At the business meeting the chairman, Mr. Elkins, announced the passing to higher service of the Rev. Frank Bonner, for many years an active supporter of the branch's activities. He spoke of his sterling qualities, both as a ringer and as a parson, and the meeting stood for a moment in silent tribute of respect and affection for a departed comrade.

The election of non-resident members prior to peal attempts were confirmed as follows: John Pinfold and George E. Fearn (Birmingham) and Miss E. Joyce Pett (Isleworth). Miss Jean Simpson (Hyde), Peter Evans (Wilmslow) and A. Leary (Stockport, St. Mary's) were elected members of the Guild.

The chairman warmly welcomed the Master, who, in his reply, said he would have visited the branch before this but for the difficulties which petrol rationing had put in his way. He congratulated the Vicar on the excellence and aptness of his sermon and agreed with him that the success of the Guild was due to the warm fellowship which it offered to all ringers. He was glad to see youth well represented, but he could also see that age was to the fore, there being old stalwarts of the Guild with 40 and 50 years or more service to their credit present.

It was decided to hold an additional meeting at New Mills on July 29th if permission could be obtained. The chairman reminded members of the annual dinner of the Guild, to be held in Chester on October 14th, and asked for a good representation from the branch.

The meeting concluded with a cordial vote of thanks to all who had contributed to the success of the meeting, and a return was made to the tower, where the needs of all were met, methods ranging from Grandsire Doubles to London Surprise Minor.

MR. H. A. MAY'S 200 PEALS

All Saints', Chilvers Coton

The ringers of All Saints', Chilvers Coton, Warwickshire, set out on June 17th for a tour of the Cotswolds, accompanied by relatives and honorary members, with two ringing friends from Bulkington. Banbury via Warwick was the first call and an hour's ringing on the fine ten of St. Mary's (tenor 17 cwt.) was enjoyed, while the non-ringing members of the party searched for Banbury cakes.

A run of about nine miles took us to Great Tew, a most charming village of houses built of Cotswold stone and thatched, nestling among trees on a hillside. The ring of eight bells (tenor 22 cwt.) gave us an hour's good ringing and then all aboard for Cirencester via Burford. Lunch and then a short journey along the Fosse to Northleach, where we enjoyed ringing with a few members of the Gloucester and Bristol Diocesan Guild, who had assembled there for a meeting.

Tea at Cheltenham and then through Winchcombe to Evesham, where the non-ringers were left to their own devices while the ringers went about a mile out of the town to sample a lovely light eight (tenor 12 cwt.) at Great Hampton. All, experienced and novice alike, voted these bells the easiest of the day, and it was with regret that we had to leave to travel to Salford Priors in our own diocese. Ringing for an hour while the bus returned to Evesham for the remainder of the party and then a light supper at the local hostelry appropriately named The Bell. Home was reached about midnight, all agreeing that we had had a very enjoyable day.

ROMSEY ABBEY

ANNUAL OUTING.

The Romsey Abbey ringers held their annual outing on June 17th, when, together with friends, they enjoyed a coach tour through Dorset.

Leaving Romsey at 8.30 a.m., the first stop was Blandford, where for an hour the ringers made good use of the bells, which were fully muffled in memory of a local clergyman. The party then proceeded to Dorchester, where a halt was made for lunch. The next stage of the journey brought the visitors to Bridport, where St. Mary's ring of eight provided a further session of good ringing. Then on to Lyme Regis for a splendid tea and to enjoy for a short while the seaside amenities.

The return journey was made via Broadwindsor, Beaminster, Charmminster, Wimborne and Ringwood. The last tower to be visited was Charmminster with its ring of six, which kept the visitors fully occupied for nearly an hour. The ringing at all towers was greatly enjoyed. H. J. P.

BELLS OF TWO SCOTTISH COUNTIES

LAST week, in our report of the lecture to the S.P.A.B. by M. A. A. Hughes, reference was made to the Dumbarton bell, probably the oldest in the British Isles. Allusion to this bell, known as the Skellat bell, is made by Mr. Ranald W. M. Clouston in 'The Church Bells of Renfrewshire and Dumbartonshire,' which is reprinted in Vol. 82 of the 'Proceedings of the Society of Antiquaries of Scotland.' This bell, states Mr. Clouston, in all probability, belonged to some early Celtic saint. The very early bells of this type were made of riveted iron plates, which, when bent, were dipped in molten bronze to give a corrosion-resisting surface and also to improve the tone. In the Glasgow Exhibition of 1911 there were eight such bells exhibited, including the Skellat bell of Dumbarton, all dating from A.D. 600 to A.D. 1000. The history of the Skellat bell is far from clear. It has been in the possession of Dumbarton Burgh since the early part of the 17th century, and was latterly used as the dead bell.

In a preface, Mr. Clouston writes that during a two years' residence in Renfrewshire he discovered that, unlike England, where most of the exploratory work had been done, Scotland presented a large field for investigation. When Christianity first came to these shores the only bells used were those that could be carried by hand by the missionaries, such as the Skellat bell. After a number of years stone churches or chapels were built, having either an open bellcote or a tower. The bells were then a fixture in the church and were not of any great size, each church usually having a single bell. In Scotland right up to the Reformation only the richest churches had more than one bell, and in these cases bells were seldom tuned one with the other.

Instead of following the English method of ringing, Scotland was influenced by the Continental system. In the latter large numbers of bells, 23 or more, are hung stationary or 'dead,' and are hit by hammers manipulated by wires from a keyboard. The English system of change ringing came to Scotland in modern times. There are rings of bells at St. Cuthbert's and St. Mary's Cathedral, Edinburgh; St. James's, Leith; and in Alloa, Dundee, Glasgow, Paisley, Inveraray and Inverness. An early ring of bells, as in the steeple of St. Andrew's, Edinburgh, was cast by the Whitechapel Foundry, London, in 1788.

In Renfrewshire there is one mediæval bell, four seventeenth century and five eighteenth century bells. Of special interest are the two Paisley silver bells. These are made of pure silver, and are in the form of a cone with the base closed by a perforated hemisphere. Inside each is a ball, which, when disturbed, causes the bell to tinkle. They were made as the prize for the Paisley Races which were instituted in 1620. The larger bell bears the old Burgh Arms with the initials O. P. and the other is dated 1620, with a coat of arms and initials H. C., which probably stand for Hew Crawford of Cloberhill, who won them first. These bells are kept in the Municipal Buildings of Paisley, one being one inch in diameter and the other 2½ inches diameter.

The only ring of bells in Renfrewshire with which our readers are familiar is that of St. James's, Paisley. The complete church, with a lofty tower with spire rising to a height of 180 feet, was the gift of Sir Peter Coats, and the ring of eight from the Loughborough Foundry dates from 1882. In 1909 the four lighter bells were recast and the remaining bells were retuned on the Simpson principle. While change ringing had been practised here for some time up to 1947, only four peals had been rung on the bells. The first was Grandsire Triples in 3 hours and 28 minutes on March 11th, 1922, the band being mostly Englishmen. The tenor weighs 22 cwt. 1 qr. 17 lb., and is 50½ inches in diameter.

At the Roman Catholic Church of St. Patrick there is a carillon of 23 bells with a tenor of 16 cwt. 3 qr. 24 lb., and an Angelus bell of 19½ cwt., which on the waist has the Papal Arms and the Bishop's Arms. It is rung as an Angelus bell at 7 a.m., 12 noon and 6 p.m., being operated by a chiming hammer controlled by the clock. This carillon was cast by Messrs. Gillett and Johnston, Ltd. The same foundry supplied the chime of 10 at Paisley Town Hall. The design of the tower necessitates that two bells be hung in each of the four wall openings on each side of the tower, with the tenor and treble inside. The positioning of the bells, half out in the open, gives rise to an unequal distribution of the sound of each bell. Bells on the opposite side of the tower from the listener are hardly heard at all.

A word or two might be given to the chime of nine bells at St. George's Church, Greenock, the scene of a disastrous fire in 1948, when the church was completely burnt out. The tower still stands, but all the floors and chiming machinery have been destroyed. The bells still hang from their steel girders, but the two tenors are cracked and other bells may also be affected. The first chiming apparatus was installed in 1889 for the original chime of six, and the machine was set to play a plain course of Grandsire Doubles with the tenor covering. The additional bells were added in 1912 and the others recast in 1913, the whole of the work being carried out by Messrs. Gillett and Johnston.

Considerable research went into the production of this volume, and from the antiquarian's viewpoint Mr. Clouston has made a valuable contribution. The author has about 12 copies, price 3s. post free, for those keenly interested in the antiquarian side of bells. The 'Proceedings of the Society of Antiquarians of Scotland' should be quite easily obtainable in large public libraries. Similar surveys have been finished in MS. of Ayrshire, Stirlingshire and Flintshire, and the first named should be published in the near future.

Aldershot Ringer's Marriage

Mr. John Michael Denyer, youngest son of Mr. W. Denyer and the late Mrs. Denyer, of 120, Ash Road, Aldershot, a well-known ringer, was married recently at Tongham (Surrey) Parish Church to Miss Kathleen Mary Cantillon, elder daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Cantillon, of 3, Neston Villas, Tongham. The Vicar (the Rev. C. L. Bell) officiated.

The bride, who was given away by her father, wore a dress of white net over white taffeta, and her short net veil was held in place by sprays of lilies of the valley.

There were five bridesmaids—the Misses Ann Cantillon (sister of the bride), Nancie Bragg (niece of the bridegroom), Carolyn Edwards (cousin of the bride), Josephine Whitford (niece of the bridegroom) and Helen Biles (cousin of the bride). Mr. Thomas Denyer was best man to his brother.

Relatives of the bridegroom rang handbells as the bridal couple left the church. A reception was held at the Village Hall, Tongham, and as Mr. and Mrs. Denyer left for their honeymoon at Shanklin, Isle of Wight, handbells were 'fired' by ringing friends.

BELL PARADE AT BURNHAM

Over £130 was raised for the Burnham (Bucks) Bell Fund by the parade of decorated vehicles and tableau cars on June 25th. Nearly 50 decorated vehicles were in the procession, which was headed by the Maidenhead Town Band playing rousing music. Conspicuous was the Burnham bellringers' tableau, in the middle of which was the 'man behind the parish church bells'—Mr. George Gilbert, Ringing Master.

The parade, which was organised by Mr. Ron Allder, chairman of the Parish Council, halted at Lent Green for a service, conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. James Wildman), and an address by Dr. Summers.

All Saints', High Wycombe

£23,000 AND ALL IS WELL.

The above ancient church, known to ringers generally for its ring of 12, the only one of that number in Buckinghamshire, and the largest church in the Diocese of Oxford, has just emerged from a long, anxious and dangerous period.

In 1934, after an exhaustive survey, the architect reported that the whole of the vast roof, with the exception of the chancel, was in an advanced stage of decay owing to death-watch beetle. Action was at once taken. By 1939, when war broke out, a new roof to the north aisle was completed at a cost of £6,000.

In 1947, after a lapse of eight years, an appeal was made for £20,000. A generous response made it possible to carry on the good work. By Whitsun of this year the south aisle and the great nave had been completely re-roofed, and so for the first time for a period of 16 years all trace of building operations had disappeared.

The cost of this vast undertaking, £23,000, had been met, but the fund remains open, as much subsidiary work has to be done, which includes an amount of £360 for cleaning the organ. On June 29th a service of dedication and thanksgiving was held, when a vast congregation was present. Prior to the service a quarter peal of Stedman Caters was rung by F. Hayes, A. E. Cox, Doreen Coker, E. Markham, A. Newton, W. H. Plumridge, W. Avery, C. A. Smith, G. R. Goodship, A. L. James.

During his address the Bishop of Oxford (Dr. K. E. Kirk) commended the way such a vast sum had been raised, and although more was required, he felt it was well within their power. On the musical side, the organist had arranged for trumpets and drums to collaborate with the organ, which was most effective.

Kent County Association

CANTERBURY DISTRICT.

The meeting at Eastry on July 1st was memorable, inasmuch as it was believed to be the first meeting of ringers in the village and for many a new tower.

A large tower contains a ring of five with tenor weighing one ton. The church itself is fascinating, possessing many excellent floor brasses and a brass altar frontal.

The afternoon's ringing was followed by a service, conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. F. J. Cartman). At the organ was Cpl. J. M. Tyler, of Whittlesey, Cambs, who has played for one or two district services. This, however, was his last service previous to the conclusion of his military service.

The business meeting followed a splendid tea at the local hostelry. For the first time since he was elected chairman, Mr. J. A. Russell was absent owing to an accident sustained on his garden, he having fallen and pushed a stake into his stomach. After sympathy had been expressed, the Vicar remarked that he thought it was the wrong kind of 'steak' to put in that place.

Ten new members were elected, and Ringwould outvoted Boughton as the place of the next meeting. Further ringing was held in the tower.

Northbourne had also been placed at the disposal of the members, but on arrival there no keys could be found. Some went further on to Great Mongeham, where the six bells there were made available. Those who stayed at Northbourne were rewarded for their patience, the missing keys turning up in time for them to get their ring in.

In the issue of June 23rd a peal of Grandsire Doubles was recorded as having been rung at Thames Ditton on June 10th for the Middlesex Association. We regret that we were hoaxed and offer an apology to the ringers concerned. The Editor takes a serious view of the conduct of those who deliberately disseminate false information. In future will all conductors submitting peals give their full name and address? We have made this request before, but it is still in a large measure ignored.

Mr. Walter F. Judge, we feel sure, will receive many congratulations on his 500th peal.

Mr. G. Gordon Graham has 'completed the circle' of Eckington tower, Derbyshire.

Leicester Cathedral ringers have now added Rutland Surprise to the list of methods in which they have rung peals on 8, 10 and 12 bells in a week.

Frensham (Surrey) ringers have placed an order for their bells to be repaired with Messrs. John Taylor and Co. The Bell Fund now stands at £340, another £150 being required.

With the calling of a peal at Holywell, Hunts, Mr. Bryan G. Warwick has now conducted peals of Plain Bob from Minor to Maximus.

A party of handbell ringers from Aldbourne, Wilts, rang traditional call changes and tunes at a garden fete at Thatcham, Berks. They were well received by a very appreciative audience.

Congratulations to Harry Poyner on ringing 1-2 to a peal of Cambridge Surprise Major. He is one of the three Leicester Cathedral choirboys receiving tuition with the Cathedral band. Mr. Joseph S. Carter, of Leicester, who on attending the Claybrooke church garden fete to ring handbells, beat all the locals in the long alley skittles and won the pig.

BELFRY GOSSIP

Miss Monica J. Whitehead has at the age of seven rung her first peal on tower bells, ringing a tenor of 24 cwt. on the Bell Foundry Campanile. It is doubtful if anyone of such tender years has scored a peal. This was due to the help given her at All Saints', Leicester, Thurstaston, Countesthorpe and South Wigston, where she was allowed ringing practice.

Mr. John Thomas, of Hinton-on-the-Green, has now rung a peal on every date of the year.

Will the writer who enclosed 9s. 2d. with the report of an outing please forward his name and full postal address? A letter from the Editor to him has been returned to sender.

For the week of the historical pageant at Farnham Castle, the bells of the Parish Church were rung for 10 minutes during each performance to coincide with one of the episodes.

Great Harwood (Bucks) bells are to be dedicated on July 16th at 3 o'clock by the Bishop of Buckingham. The bells have been rehung in a new steel frame by Messrs. Mears and Stainbank.

Yatton, Somerset, bells were rung for the last time on June 18th prior to dismantling for restoration by Messrs. Mears and Stainbank. Participating in 1,260 Grandsire Triples were G. Miller 1, L. W. Pullin 2, G. Westlake 3, R. Brice 4, E. A. Price 5, H. Marshall 6, H. A. Price (cond.), 7, J. Baker 8.

'Old Bob Roberts,' as he is popularly known, one time Master of the Coventry Diocesan Guild, took part in his 80th birthday peal at Chilvers Coton, and rang his bell in excellent style. It is 30 years exactly since he rang his last peal of Royal, when he rang Plain Bob for his 50th birthday. The Coton peal was also a birthday compliment to Mr. A. H. Beamish, the present Master of the Guild. Congratulations to both!

WINCHESTER AND PORTSMOUTH DIOCESAN GUILD

Annual Meeting at Portsmouth Presentation of Mr. George Williams' Handbells Improved Finances with Increased Subscriptions Record Year for Peals Memorial to Late Master

THE annual general meeting was held at Portsmouth on Saturday, July 1st, and was attended by nearly 80 ringers from all districts of the Guild and many visitors from Sussex, Surrey and Dorset. The gathering was welcomed by the Vicar of Portsea (Canon W. J. Smith), who expressed his great pleasure at being invited to join them and assured them that he was grateful to his own ringers and the Guild in general for the work they did on behalf of the Church. The meeting, over which the Master (Mr. G. Pullinger) presided, received the welcome with acclamation. Supporting the Master were the hon. general secretary, hon. treasurer and Mr. V. P. A. G. Scardifield (nephew of the late Master, Mr. George Williams).

Mr. Pullinger, on behalf of the meeting, expressed their delight in welcoming Mr. Scardifield, who in his early life had such intimate connections with the late Master. In reply, he thanked the meeting for their kind welcome and recalled many incidents in the life of Mr. Williams, when such personalities as John Carter, Henry Dains and John Goldsmith were regular visitors to his home. He had brought with him a set of 16 handbells, twelve of which were presented to Mrs. Williams by Harvey Reeves, editor of 'The Bell News,' the other four being purchased by Mr. Williams in order to make a light eight. It gave him the greatest pleasure to present them to the Guild, they had been a great treasure to him and, not being a ringer himself, he thought they should find a resting place with the Guild, although he handed them over with a feeling of regret.

The Master, after accepting them on behalf of the Guild, thanked Mr. Scardifield for this magnificent gift and expressed the wish that they would find a suitable centre to place them, together with the books of the late Master, which had already been received by the Guild. He hoped that after a custodian had been appointed bands would take the opportunity to seek the loan of these bells so that they could be fully used.

In opening the business of the meeting, the Master reviewed the events of the past year, which had given much cause for satisfaction.

POINTS FROM THE REPORTS.

The joint report of the hon. secretary and hon. treasurer stated that it gave them great pleasure to report that in nearly every district the respective secretaries had reported a great increase in ringing activities and a greater interest taken by members in the affairs of their districts. 'We cannot stress too deeply the part that members can play in order to keep the districts in a flourishing condition, which ultimately determines the strength of the whole Guild and thereby eases the great work put in by the district secretaries.'

Bell restorations were reported in many areas of the Guild. Hawley bells had been augmented to eight, and restoration work was reported from Froxfield (6), Tangle (5), Arretton, I. of W. (5), and Twyford (8).

The financial position had much improved compared with the previous year, due to the increased subscription of ringing members. Compared with a deficit on the year 1948 of £29 17s. 2d., there was a credit balance of £6 18s. 9d. for 1949. Receipts at £158 also showed an increase of £38 compared with the previous year. Membership was slightly less with 70 honorary members compared with 73; 652 full members as against 717. Some decrease, due to the increased subscription, was anticipated, but generally speaking members had given their unstinted support, which was greatly appreciated.

The death was deeply deplored of such prominent and faithful members as Wilfred Andrews, Eli Waters, Charles Forfitt, William Melville and others who had passed away since the last report. 'Our deepest sympathies and grateful thanks for all the work they did for the Guild is extended to all their relatives.'

The treasurer observed that financially the Guild was turning the corner, due in no small measure to the members responding by paying the increased subscription agreed upon.

PEAL REPORT.

In the absence of the peal recorder (Mr. A. V. Davis), the secretary presented the report, expressing regret that owing to the much heavier cost involved by printing the peals in full in the annual report, they had to be included in tabulated form. It was emphasised that this was purely a temporary expedient and that it was hoped to present a more comprehensive annual report as soon as finances permitted.

The peal recorder's report stated that in total number of peals recorded 1949 was undoubtedly a record year for the Guild; 146 peals were rung, comprising 53 tower-bell peals and 95 on handbells.

In tower-bell performances there was a little more variety; there were three of Surprise Royal and 15 of Surprise Major, including one of Spliced, the others being in seven different methods—Yorkshire, Painswick and Lincolnshire appearing in addition to the usual four. The six-bell ringers came more into the picture, recording 12 peals in a variety of methods as against four only in the previous year.

Mr. C. H. Kippin headed the list of 17 conductors with a total of 13. In the handbell section, which has Bournemouth as its headquarters, a total of 95 peals was recorded, rung by 33 ringers, 17 of whom were visitors to the district. Both Mr. Matkin and Mrs. Marshall say rang a total of over 100 peals during the year, Mrs. Marshall say being the first lady ever to accomplish a century within 12 months.

During 1949 there were 20 first peals, three first peals 'in hand,' 126 first peals in the method and two first peals as conductor.

ELECTION OF OFFICERS.

The election of officers resulted as follows: Master, Mr. G. Pullinger; hon. general secretary, Mr. F. W. Rogers; hon. treasurer, Mr. W. Linter; auditor, Mr. A. York Bramble; recorder of peals, Mr. A. V. Davis; representatives on Central Council, the Rev. K. W. H. Felstead and Messrs. C. H. Kippin, G. Pullinger and F. W. Rogers.

A comprehensive report on the Central Council proceedings at Eastbourne was given by Mr. C. H. Kippin, with comments on most of the controversial issues. In recognition of his past services for many years the retiring auditor (Mr. G. Smith) was elected an honorary life member, as was also Mr. V. P. A. G. Scardifield, the latter expressing his appreciation of their goodwill.

The sub-committee appointed by the last annual meeting to examine the question of reforming the districts of the Guild had met, and in their report found that 'they were unanimously of the opinion that no useful purpose would be served by interfering with the present constitution of the districts. If, however, minor adjustments in the transfer of towers are deemed desirable, these can be met by the application of Rule 10.' The meeting accepted the findings of the sub-committee with thanks.

Notice of alteration to rule was given after it was discussed that the allowance given to representatives attending meetings of the Central Council was inadequate and should be increased to that at present allowed.

MEMORIAL TO THE LATE MR. G. WILLIAMS.

In accordance with the wishes of the last annual meeting, the Executive Committee had reviewed several suggested schemes, and it recommended that the proposed memorial to the late Master should take the form of a table book-case, which would house the ringing books left by him to the Guild and provide for future additions. The Master observed that now that they had a munificent gift in the form of handbells, when the details of the memorial were worked out it might be possible to include them as well. The proposal was received by the meeting with great pleasure and it was decided to circularise all the towers in the Guild and to make a national appeal through the medium of 'The Ringing World' to enable a wider circle of friends of the late Master who wish to be associated with the memorial to contribute.

In view of the decision to proceed with this memorial, the meeting agreed to shelve the question of the proposed Guild war memorial for a further twelve months. It was decided to hold next year's annual meeting at Winchester or, failing permission from the Dean, to visit Basingstoke.

Enquiries were made concerning a reprint of the Guild certificate, and it was decided to explore the possibility of a re-issue if costs were not prohibitive.

Mr. Bailey (Godshill, I.O.W.) raised the point of a school for the training of instructors to be held possibly over the Easter week-ends. Mr. York Bramble said it had district advantages, and was a good idea, but it would probably mean ringers paying their own expenses. The executive would agree, however, to examine this proposal.

It was agreed to vote two guineas towards the cost of rehanging the bells at Froxfield.

Mr. York Bramble kindly consented to become librarian of the Guild, which office entitled him to be an ex-officio member of the committee.

After the meeting choral Guild service was held in St. Mary's Church, followed by tea. A course of Grandsire Caters was rung on the back ten of the 16 handbells, followed by ringing at the Cathedral and St. Mary's, which was in a variety of methods up to Spliced Surprise. Alverstoke bells were available earlier in the day.

YORKSHIRE ASSOCIATION

EASTERN DISTRICT.

The annual meeting of the Eastern District of the Yorkshire Association was held at Hedon on July 1st, and was attended by about 30 ringers. The fine ring of eight were made good use of during the afternoon and evening. The service was conducted by the Vicar, the Rev. C. E. Dann, and a course of Grandsire Triples was rung in church on handbells.

Mr. A. H. Fox the vice-president, presided over the business meeting, and asked the meeting to stand a few moments in memory of Mr. Fred Cryer, of Selby, who had been a member of the Yorkshire Association since 1888.

All the retiring officers were re-elected. Two new members were elected, and the secretary was asked to write Mr. Walters, of Pontefract, wishing him a speedy recovery from his illness.

The place of the next meeting was left in the hands of the secretary. A collection for the Bell Repair Fund realised 17s. 6d.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

MINOR WITH A COVER BELL UNORTHODOX PEALS AND THEIR PUBLICATION.

Dear Sir,—Your editorial remarks concerning peals of Minor with a cover will not eliminate the confusion regarding the subject which exists in the minds of very many ringers, including, I suspect, several members of the Council itself.

Prior to the Central Council meeting in 1947 peals of Minor with a cover and Triples without a cover were recognised; indeed, provision for their recognition appears to have been rather clumsily made in the old, former Decisions. At that meeting, however, without even discussing the matter, the Council rejected a peal of Minor rung with a cover at Sefton, Liverpool, the previous year.

As Mr. Kippin then pointed out, there is little doubt that the peal would have been accepted had it not been grouped with a nine-bell peal, also rung the previous year. In any case, the decision was hardly fair because the Sefton band could not possibly know in advance that the Council was to change its mind 'overnight' about the matter.

At Chester next Whit Tuesday there will be an attempt to codify the Council's Decisions, and, as will be seen, this particular issue is not one of whether seven-bell peals shall be introduced, but whether they shall now be rejected for all time. It has also been suggested that particulars of unorthodox peals should not be published in 'The Ringing World,' a suggestion which I regret has already been put into effect without the ratification of the Council.

Those of us who support the continued recognition of seven-bell peals do so principally because, from our experience, we believe they are invariably born of some local necessity and also, however unusual such ringing may sound to many ringers, it is not unmusical. It is, we contend, idle and nonsensical to blatter about 'the freak peal collector who desires undue publicity, etc.,' and also for Mr. C. W. Roberts and others to aver that seven-bell peals are less artistic or musical than five-bell peals, or, for that matter, many other types of peals and methods.

As I explained at Eastbourne (although I am somewhat wrongly reported in your issue of June 16th), tests I have made, over a period of years, with various members of the community, ranging from an eight-year-old school-girl to a borough chief constable, have evoked the fact that the public, generally, does not like five-bell ringing and, whilst it does not dislike Minor on six, it definitely prefers Minor with a cover.

I think everyone agrees that the Decisions of the Council, when properly codified, must be loyally adhered to, but the burning question is precisely how stringent it is necessary for these Decisions to be. Is there any good reason why our hobby, linked with the Church as it is, should be allowed to develop into a cold, rigorous 'business' like dog racing or Association football.

For instance, can there be any possible justification for retaining the old Decision which debars an aged, infirm conductor from the pleasure of calling a peal just because he is unable to ring in it? It is not regarded as a 'stunt' when the conductor of a choir, orchestra or band is a non-participant.

Three months ago I communicated the foregoing observations to the sub-committee appointed to review the Decisions, and I feel it would be a distinct advantage to the Exercise if, at a reasonably early date, members of this committee publish their considered opinions and comments upon the points raised.

It may well be that the complete answer to the whole problem is that peals of Minor with a cover, Triples without a cover and with a non-ringing conductor should be published, classified and recorded as 'Unorthodox Peals,' and that other peals with more than one cover, etc., should merely be published in 'The Ringing World' as 'Unorthodox Performances.'

What must not be lost sight of, however, and what I trust will be uppermost in every mind at the Chester meeting next Whit Tuesday is the fact that the Decisions are framed, not primarily for members of brilliant peal ringing bands, the Council or any committee, but also for the benefit of the most humble, remote and infrequent peal ringers throughout the length and breadth of the Exercise.—Yours sincerely,

T. R. BUTLER.

Liverpool.

CENTRAL COUNCIL DECISIONS

Dear Sir,—Now that the Exercise has had an opportunity of studying the suggestions put forward by the sub-committee, and is in a better position to express its views than hitherto, we should be very glad to receive viewpoints, which if sent to me will receive sympathetic consideration by my sub-committee.

We do not wish to thrash out any knotty points in the columns of 'The Ringing World'—the Council would seem to be the more appropriate place to do that—but I must reply to the point raised by your Barnstaple correspondent regarding ambiguity in wording. I should point out to him that the wording of the paragraph on 'calls' is really as it appeared in Section 1 of the Council's Collection of Peals, and was obviously intended to cut out any special arrangement on going off into changes—7ths place in Grandsire Caters, to throw the bells into the tittums right away.

If your correspondent will kindly send along his suggestions on the wording he would like, we will give them due attention.

Meantime, to allay any fears on his part and the possible effect of his words on our Yorkshire friends, let me say at once that we have no evil designs on Kent Treble Bob or any other method.

We should be grateful if those interested would let us have their viewpoints quickly so that they may be collated and we may be in a position to submit a report at the next Council meeting which can be generally agreed upon without too much time of the Council being taken up.—Yours faithfully,

J. FRANK SMALLWOOD.

122, Lee Road, Blackheath, London, S.E.3.

AMBIGUITY IN WORDING

Dear Sir,—I think Mr. Peter Semmins has read the proposed rule wrong in regard to Kent Treble Bob, which is one of the most popular methods on even bells. As far as I see it no peal or method above seven bells requires any other than the ordinary start from rounds. He must be aware that in Triples, such as Holt's, there are two calls, viz., Holt's Bob Single and Holt's Plain Lead Single, which are permissible to this class of peal.

Our younger generation of ringers do not know that in years gone by peals of Caters and Cinques, especially Grandsire, had two or more bells lying still at the start.—Yours faithfully,

WILLIAM A. J. KNIGHT.

Gillingham.

BELL-RINGER

Dear Sir,—I was interested in the question a week or two ago in 'The Ringing World' as to which was correct, Bell Ringer or Bellringer, and thought I had a parallel in our name Odd Fellow, but it is not quite the same.

Bell is a noun, as also is Ringer and Bell ringer; but Odd is an adjective and Fellow a noun; but I think we had better leave the question to our schoolmasters (n). Here it is again; we always say Grand Master.

W. F. STENSON.

Crewe, Cheshire.

A Fictitious Peal

Sir,—In reference to report of peal of Grand-sire Doubles rung at Thames Ditton on June 10th and published June 23rd, I have made many enquiries and find no peal was rung, and, further still, two of the supposed ringers were ringing in another county entirely.

This, I humbly submit, sir, is very bad taste on the part of the person or persons concerned, for not only has the time and patience of various guild officers been taken up, but also, worse still, the valuable space in 'The Ringing World.'

One can only come to the conclusion that if reports of this nature are published, the time of members on Central Council will be used to determine whether umpires are necessary for tower-bell peals.

Perhaps the person who took the trouble to send in such a fictitious report would also take the time and trouble to send an apology for causing same to be published, and for using the editorial staff of 'The Ringing World' for such a purpose.—Yours truly,

F. E. HAWTHORNE.

Thames Ditton.

HUNDRED PEALS IN A TOWER

Dear Sir,—This subject has cropped up several times during the past 25-30 years in 'The Ringing World' and there must be scores of ringers who have accomplished it.

I wonder, however, how many have rung over 200 on one ring of bells. My father at the time of his death in 1932 had rung 224 at Crayford. Since then Mr. H. E. Audsley and myself are both over the 200 mark. My own total to date is 235, which is probably a record for one person in one tower.

Five other ringers have also rung well over 100 peals here, and several prominent ringers, including F. J. Cullum, G. V. Murphy and James Bennett, are well in the 80's.

Probably the first person to ring 100 peals in a tower was the late George Conyard, of Crayford, who, when he died in 1908, had rung over 100 at St. John's, Erith.—Yours faithfully,

E. BARNETT.

Dear Sir,—Re the 100 peals in one tower, I should think that the late Mr. Arthur Knights, of Chesterfield, would hold the record with something like 270 peals at his home tower with the crooked spire.—Yours truly, Leicester. E. R. WHITEHEAD.

ODD FELLOWS' CONFERENCE

Dear Sir,—I should be remiss and indeed ungrateful if I did not, through 'The Ringing World,' who gave prominence to the facilities offered by the Norwich Guild for a bit of ringing on the occasion of our 'Manchester Unity' Odd Fellows' Conference at Great Yarmouth last month, returns thanks, especially to Mr. Nolan Golden and Mr. Harwood, for the arrangements they so kindly made.

Ringling was enjoyed at Gorleston Sunday evening and Tuesday evening; also at St. Giles' and St. Peter Mancroft on Tuesday evening; whilst I was fortunate to get in a ring at Stratton Strawless also Tuesday evening. Talk about 'Tower Grabbing'! The last-named church was being re-dedicated by the Lord Bishop of Norwich.

As the Central Council will be meeting in our cathedral city, Chester, next year, we are hoping to return the kindness. On behalf of all Odd Fellows, we thank all concerned.—Yours sincerely,

W. F. STENSON.

Crewe, Cheshire.

HUBBARD'S 'CAMPANALOGIA'

Dear Sir,—I should like to thank the several correspondents for their very interesting notes on the various editions of the Henry Hubbard's book, which to me were very interesting reading.—Yours truly, Bangor.

ALBERT J. HUGHES.

St. Peter's, St. Albans

Dear Sir,—In reference to the criticism of the amount of ringing at St. Peter's Church, St. Albans, I wish to state that it amounts to little more than regular Sunday service ringing (half an hour before morning and evening services). Practice takes place on Mondays, 8 p.m. to 9.15 p.m. During the past twelve months the bells have been rung for two weddings, available for an hour to two bands on outings, open during the afternoon only for the district meeting. No peal attempts have been allowed as the frame is to be anchored to the tower. During the past year 12 quarter peals have been rung, mainly on Sunday evenings for festivals.

The louvres are fitted with properly constructed sliding doors, and only two of these are opened on Sundays. Only three peals per year at the most have been rung during the last fifty years. Special attention is given to the orderly raising and lowering of the bells. Complaints about ringing rarely reach us, but the Vicar would not hesitate to ask us not to ring if he heard of any instances when it would cause annoyance.

With reference to large ringing chambers, ours measures 23ft. square, height to ceiling 18ft., and although for a parish church it can probably be exceeded, it is difficult to find one more approaching the ideal belfry, as there is ample room inside and outside of the rope circle.—Yours faithfully,

H. V. FROST, Ringing Master.

St. Albans.

WILLIAM COWPER, POET

Sir,—Your front page article, entitled 'The Outing,' erroneously describes Olney as the birthplace of Cowper the poet. May I, with the greatest respect, point out that the poet William Cowper was born in the old rectory house at Berkhamsted, Hertfordshire, on Nov. 15th, 1731 (old style). The entry of his baptism, in his father's handwriting, appears in the parish register of Berkhamsted St. Peter as follows:—

1731 Decer. Ye 13, William, ye son of John Cowper, D.D., rector of this parish, and Anne his wife, was baptised.

Yours faithfully,

S. R. MEAGER.

Berkhamsted.

TWENTY-ONE YEARS AFTER

Dear Sir,—It has been pointed out to me that a peal of Stedman Caters rung at St. Stephen's, Bristol, on April 18th, 1929, is false, and I wish to withdraw the peal, as I know the conductor would have done had he been alive. It is a 5,005 by J. E. Groves. It is in the Gloucester and Bristol report of that year and given with the composition as No. 1,565.

The peal starts with a slow six, and with calls at 1.2.6S.8.9.15 brings up 214366879. It is following this course end that the falseness occurs, where the 5th six of the 2nd course repeats with the 6th six of the 38th course following the course end 413265978. The handstroke of one repeats with the backstroke of the other.—Yours truly, Bristol.

CAMPANOLOGY

Come lasses and lads
Away to the Tower,
Music you will make
Pour forth for an hour,
Across the green fields
Nearby to the Church,
Oh ringers of worth
Leave none in the lurch,
On this Friday eve
Good tidings you spread,
You work with real zest
Perched high overhead.

ASH HAS FINEST SIX IN GUILDFORD DIOCESE

DEDICATION SERVICE.

The six bells of St. Peter's, Ash, Surrey, recast and with a new frame at a total cost of £970, were rededicated by the Bishop of Guildford on June 28th, the eve of St. Peter's Day.

The ceremony of dedication followed festal evensong. After the Bishop had pronounced the Blessing, he was escorted by the churchwardens, Mr. C. D. Manfield and Gen. Sir Robert Haining, to a space under the tower, where in accordance with time-honoured requirement, the Rector as 'a responsible person' handed a bell rope to the Bishop.

Holding this in his hand, the Bishop said the words of dedication. He then returned the bell rope to the captain of the ringers (Mr. E. Sherwood), and the ceremonial was completed by ringing 12 rounds on the new bells.

The Bishop said the final prayers, which included one for the Guildford Diocesan Guild.

SURROUNDED BY HEATHEN.

The Bishop based his address on Christ's question to St. Peter, 'Lovest thou Me more than these?' The six bells, said the Bishop, would sound these six words in their ears that night. Let them search their consciences as they sounded each bell with its own word, speaking our Lord's message, 'Here at your dedication festival let us each one offer ourselves again to Him, and because our love is so weak ask Him to increase it. And He will increase it if we put it out to use.'

'We must recognise a simple fact that we are surrounded by heathen men, women and children who don't know the elements of the Christian faith and know nothing of the saving power or the love of Jesus Christ, our Lord and Master. They are not going to hear the good news of the Gospel save through you, and if we are dumb the glorious news of salvation will never reach their hearts.'

A large number of ringers attended the service. The tone and 'go' of the bells, the contract having been placed with Messrs. John Taylor and Co., was favourably commented upon. The founders were represented by Mr. J. P. Fidler and Mr. R. H. Dove. Ringers were present from Aldershot, Croydon, Wellington (Somerset), Bagshot, Grayshott, Seale, Farnham, Farnborough, Frensham, Bentley, Horsell, Guildford and Hawley.

NEW RING GAVE PLEASURE.

On the following Saturday the Farnham District of the Guildford Diocesan Guild held an open meeting at Ash. Nearly 70 ringers attended and a wide range of Doubles and Minor methods were rung. The smooth running of the bearings, the beautiful tone and the easy handling of the bells were a great pleasure, and to any who remembered the original six it was difficult to realise they were in the same belfry.

The Rector (the Rev. H. M. Insley), in the course of a short address at the service, spoke of the similarity of the new bells at Ash to the vision of Jacob when he was fleeing from the anger of his brother Esau. When Jacob awoke from his vision he said, 'Surely God is in this place'; he (the Rector) and the ringers of St. Peter's had also felt that God had been with them in the great task they had achieved—the raising of the large sum of money for restoring their bells.

For 2½ years they had worked as a team and had got to know each other better. Each had done his share, and when things seemed to be difficult, or they had been wondering what further could be done to raise the money, it seemed that God answered their prayers and the money and help came in again. It was always the same. If each one prayed hard and worked hard, God always answered their prayers, and now that their bells were ringing again, he hoped the people of Ash would respond to their message and find that truly God is in this place.

Tea was served by local lady ringers in the Church Room, and Mr. P. Eldridge extended a welcome to Major H. J. Cann, of Kilve (Somerset), to Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Manfield, to ringers from Sandhurst, and to Mr. J. Corbett (Bagshot), whose health was not always good.

A FIRST-CLASS JOB.

Major Cann spoke of the excellent job the bellfounders had made of the new bells, and complimented the Rector, Church Council and ringers on the hard work they had put in and their decision to have only a first-class job carried out. Too many church officials were satisfied with a 'patch-up' job, which was always a waste of money, he said.

The District Ringing Master (Mr. C. W. Denyer) endorsed what Major Cann had said, remarking that it was a real pleasure to ring the bells now.

The Rector, in reply, spoke of the difficulties that had been encountered and overcome, and Mr. C. D. Manfield also spoke. It was hoped that one or two recruits would be found to help keep the bells ringing, for with holidays and business duties ringers were not always able to be present at both morning and evening services on Sundays.

At the business meeting apologies for absence were read from the district secretary and Mrs. Joyce, who were on vacation, and from the Guild Master, Mr. A. Harman. Two ringing members were elected: Mr. Brian Batt, of Aldershot, and Miss Sylvia Sherwood, of Ash.

Votes of thanks were extended to the Rector, organist, tea hostesses and local ringers, and a special vote of thanks accorded the local ringer who generously defrayed the cost of the tea.

A retiring collection for Frensham Bells Restoration Fund realised 50s. It was authoritatively stated that St. Peter's Church, Ash, now possesses the finest ring of six of their weight in the Guildford Diocese, and the local ringers are looking forward to ringing a peal in the near future.

GRAVESEND, KENT.—On June 25th at St. George's Church, 1,260 Grandsire Triples: Miss J. Chesson 1, R. W. Constant 2, E. Beer (cond.) 3, R. E. Constant 4, J. Constant 5, W. L. Rayner 6, R. A. Constant 7, R. C. Constant 8. A farewell compliment to J. Constant.

HALLING, KENT.—On June 24th, 1,260 Minor (720 Kent Treble Bob and 540 Plain Bob): V. A. Jarrett (cond.) 1, H. Springate 2, Miss G. K. Jarrett 3, J. Hale 4, R. Skinner (first in two methods) 5, C. S. Jarrett 6. Rung on the occasion of the marriage of Mr. R. Tarrant to Miss J. Baker and in honour of the Patronal Festival.

THE BELLS OF RUTLAND

BY PERCY AMOS.

RUTLAND, like the Surprise method bearing its name, is little heard of. There is no shortage of bells, but a definite lack of interest among its ringers, which probably accounts more than anything else for the infrequent mention of the county in the annals of ringing.

It may surprise many ringers to know that out of 49 churches in this small county 23 have five or more bells though, like other counties, not all are in ringing order.

The question is often asked, What can be done to awake Rutland ringing out of its indifference to meetings and other activity within its own ranks? There is no indifference to outsiders visiting the majority of its towers: in fact, a cordial welcome usually awaits all who apply for permission to ring. There has been a tendency among visitors to think chiefly of the two steeples with eight bells—Oakham and Uppingham, and neglect the six and five-bell towers.

It is very nice to ring eight, ten and twelve bells (I have rung peals on all except twelve myself), but I am mindful of the words of the late Rev. R. Howes, of Cold Higham (and later of Beenham), who in 1931 commented on this sort of thing 'as reminding him of the fable of the stork dining with the wolf, where neither animal could get on with each other's crockery. Ringers from eight-bell towers are dissatisfied if a meeting is at a five-bell tower, and ringers from the latter feel rather out of it if they visit a tower where they are expected to ring Stedman Triples or stand down. Until ringers are prepared to ring on any number of bells, and with any ringers, there will never be real progress.' These are words wisely uttered, and they might be taken to heart by those thinking of taking outings in England's smallest county.

NO LACK OF SCENERY.

There is no lack of scenery, for Rutland is practically all rural. Even its county town of Oakham only has a population between 3,500 and 4,000, and Uppingham is even less. If we approach the county from the south, Rockingham Castle, associated with King John, just on the edge of Northants, is worth pausing to see. It is open to the public at odd times on application. Down the notorious steep hill a glorious view of Caldecote and Great Easton, just inside Leicestershire, with Brighthurst and Neville Holt, faces one. A very musical ring of five hangs at Great Easton, but Caldecote bells are shockingly out of order, though a musical light five, all by Tobias Norris, of Stamford, 1696. A view of Seaton, Gretton, and the famous viaduct, a mile of arches, only two of which are in Seaton parish, can be had by looking to the right. Harringworth, alongside the viaduct, claims the other arches, though they are named Seaton viaduct.

A rather historic church is Harringworth, with six bells, on which the writer has rung three peals. Trains run along the viaduct parallel with the top of the spire. Gretton has a light five. Both these churches are just inside Northants. The five bells at Seaton are disgracefully neglected although rehung in a steel frame in 1914. When I rang a peal there in 1932, there was over two feet of rubbish from birds under the bells. Lyddington, a little further north, has an old monastery, and the five light bells here sadly need rehanging. Uppingham's eight bells, by Edward Arnold, are in good ringing order, as are Preston's (five) and Wing's (five). To the right of Uppingham, Glaston (pronounced 'Glaston') has six light bells, augmented from three in 1931 and from five in 1937, in a very strange looking steeple, exceptionally 'squat.' To the left of Uppingham is a musical six at Belton. Four bells at Brooke nearby have not had the attention of a bellhanger since 1811.

PRIDE OF RUTLAND.

The eight at Oakham are the pride of Rutland (in fact, some consider them the best in the diocese, comprising Northants and Rutland). The tenor, although only 49in. in diameter across the lip, is 24 cwt. 2 qr. 9 lb. A stately tower with six bells will be found at Whissendine, but just before we reach there a fine six (tenor 14 cwt., restored by Messrs. Taylors in 1900) will be heard from the steeple at Langham. I once rang a half-muffled peal here, which sounded very impressive. A similar six (five prior to 1934) will be found at Cottesmore—a steeple which will always stand out in memory, for here in 1934 we rang a peal of Doubles. It began to thunder and lightning and rain heavily as we pulled the bells up. Without ceasing, it continued for three hours and two minutes until the moment we rang the bells down. I never remember a coincidence like it!

To the right of this picturesque village, famous for its hunt, is Greetham, whose tall, slender steeple has just has a new treble added to make six. Prior to 1923 it possessed four. To the north of this is Market Overton, where to ring the five bells you stand on steps in three stages. The man on the third has to look up to those on the treble and tenor, with second and fourth in between. They were rehung in 1936.

The unique steeple (tower with octagon and spire above) at Exton is in a beautiful park. It has six good bells. Empingham, close by, also has a good six—very high pitched for their weight—tenor 15 cwt. 2 qr. 9 lb. Upper Hambleton bells were until last year thought to be unringable, but a very interesting outing brought us to this tower, where we rang the five bells, and the writer is game enough for a peal on them. North Luffenham's five are about to be rehung after nearly 50 years of waiting, and it is time the Ryhall five were treated likewise.

Ketton has six (no ropes). I query the story of removal through state of the spire. Some, we know only too well, are always looking for 'red herrings' rather than get down to the job.

STAMFORD'S BELLS.

The border-line town of Stamford (noted for its churches and 50 pubs) has two useful rings of six at All Saints' and St. Martin's. St. Michael's has also six, which are unringable. They are the oldest part of the church (all dated 1762). The church, built in 1836, is more like a Nonconformist chapel inside—very much like Holy Trinity, Bedford, St. Andrew's, Northampton, and St. Andrew-the-Great, Cambridge. Two churches—St. John's and St. George's—each have four bells. Eight hang in the stately steeple at St. Mary's, totally unringable owing to a decayed frame and other fittings. Locally, this tenor is reputed to be 27 cwt., but I very much doubt if it is one pound above 19 cwt. Barrowden possesses a musical five, rehung in 1916.

There are a number of historic bells in several towers with under five bells, among them being Ayston (4), Edith Weston (3), Lyndon (4), Braunston (4), Morcott (4), Ridlington (4) and Teigh, pronounced 'Tea' (3). There is also an interesting bell by Richard Benetlye, 1597, among the five at Seaton.

Five other bells, all by Henry Penn. of Peterborough, 1718, hang at Great Casterton in a dangerous state. Tixover has one reputed to be by John Saunders, of Reading, cast some time between 1539 and 1559. G.

No. 82 THE BELL RINGING

One day in October,
Neither drunken nor sober,
O'er Broadbury Down I was wending my way.
When I heard of some ringing,
Some dancing and singing,
I ought to remember that Jubilee Day.

REFRAIN.

'Twas in Ashwater Town,
The bells they did soun'
They rang for a belt and a hat laced with gold.
But the men of north Lew
Rang so steady and true,
That never were better in Devon, I hold.

2.

'Twas Misunderstood,
For the men of Broadwood,
Gave a Blow on the tenor should never have Been.

But the men of North Lew,
Rang so faultlessly true,
At St. Stephen's or Launceston,
A difficult matter to beat them I ween.

'Twas in Ashwater Town, etc.

3.

They of Broadwood being naughty
Then said to our party,
We'll ring you a challenge again in a round,
We'll give you the chance,
At St. Stephen's or Launceston,
The prize to the winner's a note of five pound.

'Twas in Callington Town,
The bells next did soun',
They rang, etc.

When the match it came on,
At good Callington,
The bells they rang out o'er the valleys below.
Then old and young people,
The hale and the feeble,
They came out to hear the sweet bell music flow.

'Twas at Callington Town,
The bells then did soun',
They rang, etc.

5.

Those of Broadwood once more,
Were obliged to give o'er,
They were beaten completely and done in a round.

For the men of North Lew
Pull so steady and true,
That no better then they in the West can be found.

'Twas at Ashwater Town,
Then at Callington Town,
They rang, etc.

[The above is taken from a book 100 years

Hedderley, of Nottingham, 1793, is a little known founder responsible for one at Thistle-ton.

Ashwell, with six bells, is best described as on the verge of needing the bellhanger. The tenor (9 cwt.) goes more like a bell of 30 cwt., and they are not the best of tone either. Some years ago the remains of a temporary furnace and a quantity of bell metal were unearthed at Empingham near the churchyard. Just over the North Rutland border in Leicestershire is another six, at Wyomondham, which is of easy access from Whissendine, and other towers in the north.

RINGERS' OUTINGS

OVERSEAL.

An enjoyable time was spent among the Derbyshire hills by the Overseal St. Matthew's ringers on the occasion of their annual outing. Friends from Netherseal, Ashby and Ticknall augmented the party.

Hope was reached at 9.30 a.m., and here the Rev. J. G. Pope (Vicar), formerly Vicar of Ticknall, welcomed the party. The performance of the ringers greatly thrilled the London visitors who assembled in the church, and at the conclusion they displayed great interest in this old English art.

Upon arrival in Castleton the party divided—some exploring the famous Winnats Pass, while the remainder descended the Speedwell Mine. This disused lead mine, with its subterranean canal 750 yards in length, is traversed by small boats to the Speedwell Cavern, which is 540ft. below the surface of the mountain.

After lunch at Ye Olde Cheshire Cheese Hotel, the journey was resumed via Snake Pass to Glossop, where the Rev. J. O. M. Dawson-Bowling (formerly curate at Overseal) had arranged for the bells of All Saints', Old Glossop, to be at the disposal of the visitors. Here touches of Stedman, Grandsire, Oxford Bob Triples and Bob Major were rung on this lovely toned eight.

Following tea arranged by the Rev. Dawson-Bowling, thanks were expressed to him and his helpers for the splendid meal and warm welcome by Mr. J. W. Cotton. The new eight at Fairfield, Buxton, was the last tower visited. Overseal was reached at 10.15 p.m.

CANTERBURY CATHEDRAL.

Non-ringing ladies were in the minds of Canterbury Cathedral ringers on the occasion of their annual outing on June 24th, and it was decided to spend some time at the seaside.

There was a brief stop at Tenterden and an hour's ringing at Rolvenden before Hastings was reached. After a ring at All Saints' the party went down to the sea front, and a quick swim in the baths was enjoyed by younger members of the party.

Lunch over, another hour or so was spent on the beach, where the handbells came out and a small crowd collected. About threepence in coppers came the ringers' way, just enough to have one go on the 'threepence on the wheel' swindle. Into the coach and through that 'other continent', the Romney Marsh, to Dymchurch for tea.

At Cheriton we were met by Mr. Slingsby. The last stop of the day was Elham, where the Vicar (the Rev. R. H. I. Williams) gave the ladies a short talk on the history of the church. Something for the inner man followed at the local, and as we were leaving the Ash ringers arrived. A run through 'the Happy Valley' brought the party back to Canterbury. R. J. L.

CROYDON PARISH CHURCH.

On July 1st, the above company, with wives and friends, had a very enjoyable outing in perfect weather, ringing in three counties.

Leaving Croydon at 7.30 a.m., the first call was at Twyford, Berks, where after a refreshing cup of coffee this handy ring of eight was soon going to methods to suit all tastes. Then a good run via Newbury through Savernake Forest to Marlborough, Wilts, where the good ring of six at St. Mary's were rung. Lunch at the Castle and Ball and the ring of eight at St. Peter's were tried, and it was the opinion of all that the attention of the bellfounders here would be beneficial.

Then across the downs to Andover, Hants, where ringing and a good tea was enjoyed. The last ring of the day was at Hawley. Here we were met by the Vicar, the Rev. Kenneth C. Davis, and some of the local ringers. Croydon was reached about 10.30 p.m. D. C.

BOLSOVER.

On June 24th, the Bolsover ringers, together with wives and friends, and ringers from Creswell, Heath, Sheffield, Staveley and Warsop, visited Chester for their annual outing.

A break of one hour was made at Christ Church, Macclesfield, when some members of the party had their first experience of ringing on ten bells. A broken stay tended to mar the proceedings, but touches of Kent and Little Bob Royal, Cambridge, Double Norwich and Plain Bob Major were brought round. The party were grateful to Miss Henshaw and Mr. John Worth for the arrangements made and expressed regret for the breaking of the stay.

Lunch was taken at the Swan Hotel, Chester, and by a happy coincidence the dining room was full of ringers, as a party from Hinckley (Leicester), led by Mr. A. Ballard, had also chosen Chester for their outing.

During the afternoon ringing was arranged at St. Mary's—Without-the-Walls and St. Mary's-Within-the-Walls, and for much of the time the towers were occupied alternately by the Bolsover and Hinckley bands. The latter ring were more comparable to the 'home' bells and some good ringing was enjoyed by those who ventured up the rather peculiar entrance to the ringing chamber. Walter Allwood did not feel capable of scaling the ladders and was very disappointed at not being able to have a pull at this tower.

Tea was also taken in Chester, and the non-ringing members of the party were glad to take advantage of the 'double-decker' shops because of heavy rain which fell during the afternoon.

On the return journey a call was made at Northwich (Witton), and this ring made everyone feel at home. The bells at this church and Bolsover are almost identical, and touches of St. Clement's, Cambridge, Superlative, Kent Treble Bob and Plain Bob Major were enjoyed by all. Mr. A. Johnson, who said he had been ringing at Northwich for 60 years, was impressed by the striking of some of the young members of the band.

The coach finally reached Bolsover shortly before 11 p.m. and all seemed well satisfied with an enjoyable day's ringing. Most of the party form the regular practice band which meets every Tuesday at Bolsover, and the writer was impressed by the friendly and co-operative atmosphere which prevailed throughout the arrangement of the outing. A. B. C.

GORING-BY-SEA.

The ringers of St. Mary's, Goring-by-Sea, held their annual outing on July 1st, accompanied by the ringers of St. Botolph's, Heene, and St. Andrew's, West Tarring. The party left Goring-by-Sea by coach at 8 o'clock and proceeded by way of Brighton, Lewes and Hastings.

The first ring of bells to be visited was at Brede, where Grandsire and Bob Minor was rung. An excellent lunch was in readiness at Tenterden. After justice was done to this important item on the day's programme, the bells of the Parish Church were raised and touches of Grandsire Triples were brought round.

Tunbridge Wells (St. Peter's) was next in the list of towers, and after an excellent tea at the Florida Restaurant, the party went to the tower for more ringing. Hartfield was the final tower for the day.

The return journey home was by way of Chailey, Ditchling and Portlade, and Goring was reached at about 11.15. The thanks of the ringers was expressed to Mr. S. F. Hafenden (who organised the outing) and also to the captains and incumbents of the visited towers. S. F. H.

A Ringer's Holiday in Herefordshire

On June 10th, a party of eight Hertfordshire ringers, seven with bicycles and one with a motor-cycle, gathered in Hereford to spend a week visiting towers in the surrounding district. The party made their headquarters at the Raven Hotel, where bed and breakfast accommodation had been arranged.

Ringing, which ranged from Grandsire Doubles to Yorkshire Surprise Major and Grandsire Caters, commenced the following morning on the fine eight at All Saints, and, after an afternoon spent on the River Wye, on the heavy-going ten at the Cathedral in the evening.

On Monday the party cycled to ring at Lugwardine (8) in the morning, and on to Fownhope (6) and Holme-Lacy (8) in the afternoon. Tuesday saw the band at Stoke-Edith and the detached campanile at Bosbury—two six-bell towers to the East of Hereford. The peal attempt of Bob Major at Colwall in the afternoon unfortunately came to grief when the second rope broke. After necessary repairs a quarter peal was rung instead.

The following day the party travelled south to Much Dewchurch (6), where the Vicar assisted in ringing, and then on to the light octave at Bridstow. After ringing on the excellent eight at Ross, which was very much enjoyed by all, the evening was spent exploring and admiring the beautiful scenery at nearby Symonds Yat.

Thursday's proceedings were opened with ringing at Withington (6), and afterwards on the backwards six at Sutton St. Nicholas, where the Vicar very kindly entertained the party to lemonade and biscuits on the Vicarage lawn. Burghill (8) was visited in the afternoon.

On Friday morning, having called at Holmer (6) en route, the party arrived at Wellington, where, despite many rumours to the contrary, they found the six bells easy going, though very noisy. A visit to the fine ten at Leominster during the afternoon brought the week's ringing activities to a close.

The thanks of the band are due to Mr. W. F. Moreton for arranging such an excellent week's ringing, to the local incumbents and Mr. Leslie Evans for their assistance, and to Mr. Geoffrey W. Seaman for conducting the tour so successfully.

ST. MARGARET'S, IPSWICH

Seven towers were visited during the annual outing of St. Margaret's, Ipswich, on June 24th, a start being made at 7 a.m.

The first call was in Cambridgeshire at Long Stanton (8), where Stedman Triples were rung, and then on to Over (8) for Cambridge and Double Norwich. Lunch at St. Ives was followed by a visit to the Parish Church, where Kent Treble Bob and other methods were rung.

The bells of St. Mary's, Huntingdon (8), were rung to Stedman, Double Norwich, Plain Bob and Yorkshire Surprise. Next came the magnificent eight, with tenor weighing 30 cwt., at St. Neots, where the programme included Stedman and Grandsire.

After tea at St. Neots came Bourne, another good ring of eight, and finally Ickleton (8), where the easy going ring was enjoyed to Cambridge and Stedman. Ipswich was reached in the early hours of Sunday.

CLERKENWELL, LONDON. — On Sunday, July 2nd, at St. James', 1,260 Stedman Triples: J. S. Hawkins 1, A. W. Coles (cond.) 2, F. A. Barker 3, R. Charge 4, W. Prockson 5, R. E. Begrie 6, J. Euston 7, J. B. Bennett 8. Birthday compliment to ringer of the 2nd.

OBITUARY

MR. J. F. MALLABY.

The death of Mr. John Francis Mallaby, which occurred on July 4th at Kirk Sandal, Doncaster, at the advanced age of 87 years, removes a well-known ringer of a past generation.

Mr. Mallaby was born at Masham, North Yorkshire, where his father was engaged in the business of hellfounder and bellhanger, and he learned to ring at Masham Church as a boy. As a young man he learned the business with his father and brother.

In 1887 he came to Barnby-on-Dun, Yorks, to instal a new ring of six bells, cast by Warners, and here he married and settled down in business as a bellhanger on his own account.

He taught a band to ring at Barnby-on-Dun, and the perfect striking of the old Yorkshire style of close lead six-bell ringing was a byword of the district. Many are the restorations of bells which he carried out in all parts of the country, and no doubt some of the older ringers will remember his work. A first-class striker and conductor, it was a real pleasure to be privileged to ring with him.

As far as is known he did not keep any record of his peals, but the writer has heard him speak of ringing peals with the late Rev. F. E. Robinson, J. W. Washbrook, William Pye and others of a past generation.

Mrs. Mallaby, his wife, died on July 4th of last year, exactly a year previously, shortly after they had celebrated their diamond wedding.

The funeral took place at Barnby-on-Dun Parish Church on Friday, July 7th, and the Yorkshire Association was represented by Mr. J. Thorley, of Thorne. In the evening, 1,440 Minor (720 each of Cambridge and Oxford), with the bells half-muffled, was rung by: J. Lindsay 1, P. Lamb 2, J. Thorley 3, R. F. Lunn 4, F. Lamb 5, E. J. Padgett (cond.) 6. J. T.

MR. W. PICKWORTH.

Apropos the obituary notice of Mr. W. Pickworth. I have been asked to let you know that his last pull was at Isleworth only two or three weeks before his death, and this was the last time I saw him. He was one of my oldest ringing friends and I greatly regret that I was not aware in time to attend the funeral.

SHEFFIELD AND DISTRICT SOCIETY

The joint meeting with the Derbyshire and East Notts Association at Norton on July 1st was most successful—the pleasant surroundings, beautiful weather, fine-toned bells and sumptuous tea all making their respective contributions.

The tastes and abilities of all were catered for by the Ringing Master (Mr. N. Chaddock), ringing ranging from rounds to Cambridge and Superlative.

Four very young ladies and four not so attractive young men rang the last touch before tea. About thirty ringers and friends sat down to tea, after which a course of Grandsire Triples on handbells was greatly appreciated.

At the Sheffield and District business meeting a vote of thanks to the Rector (who presided) and the local company was proposed by the president (Mr. H. O. Chaddock).

Mr. J. E. Turley (the secretary) read the last meeting's minutes in his inimitable style, and reminded members that the next meeting would be at Rotherham Parish Church (10) on August Bank Holiday Monday. Three new members were elected.

Mr. W. J. Eldred, secretary of the West Norfolk Branch of the Norwich Diocesan Association, is, we regret to state, in hospital at King's Lynn. We are pleased to hear that he is making progress.

St. Thomas of Canterbury, Brentwood

The Thomas' Society held their annual outing on Monday, July 3rd, when fellow ringers, wives and friends, 52 in all, journeyed into Suffolk.

Arriving at Hadleigh at 9 a.m., the ringers in the first coach soon had the bells going to Stedman Triples. With the arrival of the second coach the band was in full strength. The Dean of Hadleigh welcomed the ringers and conducted those, who could spare the time to leave the bell ropes, round a very historical and interesting church, and the Guildhall. All were reluctant to leave when the time arrived.

A tour through country lanes brought the party to Henley, where the peal boards showed signs of great activity in years past. This delightful little peal seemed to know the method and London Surprise went off without a hitch. All the members young and old tried their skill and many expressed the desire to try a peal.

Thence on to Stowmarket, where after several good touches the Master said, 'Lunch.' This proved to be a real Suffolk meal, everything of the best. After the inner man had been satisfied, the Master was congratulated on his grand arrangements, one and all agreeing that it was the finest outing lunch for many years.

Debenham being the next stop, the bells, a grand ring, were soon up and into changes. The heavy lunch spoilt the Bristol or it may have been lack of practice. The peal boards recorded many fine achievements, and a mention of long peals in the past brought thoughts of a coming long peal. These bells are a real joy to ring.

At the next tower we were met by the general secretary of the Suffolk Guild, Mr. Cecil Pipe, to welcome the visitors to Grundisburgh. This lovely little ring of ten were soon away to Stedman, and after settling down to a good beat we were surprised and delighted at the music. The founders are to be congratulated on the splendid splice and the 'go' of the bells.

Then off to Ipswich, tea being the first call, and after a splendid repast on to St. Mary-le-Tower. We were met by Mr. G. Symonds, and with his aid and a lady member of the St. Mary's Society, a good touch of Stedman Cinques was brought round. After all had tried the bells the ringing concluded with a fine course of London on the back eight.

Our thanks are due to the incumbents and to all the local ringers for their help, and last but not least, to the man who organised a grand day's outing. R. C. H.

ESSEX ASSOCIATION SOUTH-WEST DIVISION.

A very enjoyable and pleasant meeting was held at Fobbing on July 1st, when 31 members and friends attended, it being about ten years since the Association last met there.

The service was taken by the Vicar, who, in a very interesting address, referred to ringers as signposts. He said what great pleasure it gave him to realise that now they were not only signposts, but 'fellow-travellers' as well—he hoped it always would be so.

Rather off the map, attendance was smaller than usual, but ringing was thoroughly enjoyed on this 'merry eight, a well-struck course of London being the highlight.

The Division is indebted to Mr. Ockendon, Miss Chinnery and their helpers for the excellent arrangements.

CAWTHORNE, BARNSLEY, YORKS.—On June 25th, 1,440 Treble Bob Minor (720 Spliced London Scholars' Pleasure, Burton, Sandal, 720 Spliced Neadson, Oxford, Kingstone): K. Wood 1, A. Rusby 2, F. Cowling 3, R. Brogan 4, Herman Rusby 5, N. F. Moxon (cond.) 6. Wedding compliment to Mr. Simon Fraser and Miss Jean Gulland.

THE COLERIDGE MEMORIAL

RINGERS outside the Oxford Diocese Guild will be surprised at the attitude taken by the general body of its members to the suggested memorial to Canon G. F. Coleridge. Publicity had been given to the form the memorial should take, and it had met with general acceptance. The unexpected turn of events places the sub-committee in a most unhappy position. They had secured specifications for the work and had discussed the matter with the authorities of Christ Church Cathedral, who gave their approval. The terms of the amendment, that was carried by 56 votes to 48, refers the scheme back to the general committee. In the meantime an appeal is to be launched for funds on a nation-wide basis. It may be that the original proposition will be re-submitted at the next festival, but the fact cannot be disguised that there was distinct hostility towards money being spent on the bells of Christ Church.

The memorial proposed was twofold in character. The first section was noncontroversial and was the placing of a tablet to the memory of the late Canon in the cloister of Christ Church Cathedral alongside those to the Rev. F. E. Robinson and the Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn. A trio of such able clerical ringers would be hard to find in the annals of English ringing. Where the disagreement seemed to be most manifest was in regard to the improvements contemplated to Christ Church bells, and the fact that the Deputy-Master of the Guild was one of the principal spokesmen in the opposition to the special committee's report naturally influenced many votes. The work recommended to Christ Church bells was the recasting of the two trebles, the provision of means to make these two bells audible outside the building, attention to the wheels of four of the bells and an improvement to the rope circle. Now these are not trumpery improvements but can legitimately be regarded as essential. Those who have rung at Christ Church Cathedral know only too well that these suggested improvements would make the bells worthy of the Cathedral, which is the Mother Church of one of the largest dioceses of England. Also it must not be overlooked that, apart from being the home of one of our important ringing Guilds, Oxford is one of the national centres of the Exercise with a tradition behind it that is very precious. There is other work required to be done in connection with the ringing facilities at the Cathedral, and this, it was stated, the Dean and Chapter were prepared to meet.

The opposition were in no sense united in their attitude as to appropriate alternatives. The suggestion that the money should be collected first and then the form the memorial should take be decided, showed a lack of psychology. A memorial appeal to succeed must be definite in character; people will not readily subscribe without knowledge beforehand as to the purpose to which their donations will be placed. The affection with which Canon Coleridge was held in all parts of the country would have resulted in practically all the major Guilds desiring to be associated with the memorial. If the form of the memorial was known and met with approbation then the gift in aggregate would be substantial; otherwise from some Guilds there would be a token contribution.

Oxford is unquestionably the appropriate centre for any ringing memorial to Canon Coleridge. It was here that he developed his ringing in his undergraduate days. In the maturity of life he became a Canon of Christ Church, and he was, apart from the national position he held in the Exercise, the Master of the Oxford Diocesan Guild. The claim of Crowthorne, the village he served with so much faithfulness, was submitted for special consideration. Here there is no tower, just a bell cote, and any suggestion of providing the village with a ring of bells is ludicrous.

The Deputy Master of the Oxford Diocesan Guild suggested that a more suitable form a memorial would be altar furnishings. We would suggest that a memorial to Canon Coleridge from ringers should in part be associated with bells. Church bells were very real to him; he loved bells and ringers, and his ear was attuned to hearing the finer points of a ring. The imperfections of the two trebles at Christ Church from the listeners' point of view would have disturbed him, and he was a practical ringer of such high standard that the unsatisfactory circle and other defects would have called forth a desire from him to see them remedied. Canon Coleridge had other friends outside the circle of ringers. He was held in very high esteem among his fellow clergy, beloved of his parishioners and in the Province of Berkshire attained high Masonic honours. These friends would more than likely, if approached, desire to perpetuate his memory in the form suggested by Captain Poyntz.

The amendment, it should be clearly understood, does not rule out the possibility of adopting the recommendation of the special committee. The scheme has been referred back to the general committee for a year, and in the meantime the appeal for funds is to be launched. Twelve valuable months will have been wasted. We do not know what the attitude of the Central Council will be towards this decision. The veneration with which Canon Coleridge was held by his fellow members of the Council would undoubtedly influence them to desire to be associated with any memorial, but they would infinitely prefer that their donation be devoted either towards a memorial tablet in the cloisters or a practical gift towards the advancement of ringing.

MIDDLETON CHENEY BELLS

SOME OLD VILLAGE CUSTOMS.

INSPIRED by the article in 'The Ringing World' of March 24th concerning the village of Bilton, Warwickshire, Mr. R. D. Candy, of Acton, W.3, a member of the Middlesex County Association, writes concerning the bells of his native village, Middleton Cheney, in Northamptonshire, situated $3\frac{1}{4}$ miles north-east of Banbury. He lived in this village until he was 29 years of age and has been closely connected with it for another 20 years.

It was at Middleton Cheney when 17 years old that he first learnt to handle a bell—no easy matter when the ropes are 65ft. draught with about 45ft. without guides between the ground level and the clock room floor. They were rehung with ball bearings in 1925.

The six bells are the heaviest ring of six in the county, the tenor being nearly 23 cwt. in D. Details of their weights and dates are as follows:—

Treble	7 cwt. 3 qr. 21 lb.	1671
2	8 cwt. 2 qr. 12 lb.	1659
3	9 cwt. 1 qr. 24 lb.	1680
4	11 cwt. 1 qr. 0 lb.	1683
5	18 cwt. 1 qr. 5 lb.	1651
Tenor	22 cwt. 2 qr. 15 lb.	1640
Total	78 cwt. 0 qr. 21 lb.

All except the 5th were cast by Henry Bagley and Son, of Chacombe— $1\frac{1}{2}$ miles to the north of Middleton. He was the travelling bell-founder who cast the bells of Bilton.

The 5th was cast by James Keene, of Woodstock. The 4th was cracked in 1888 and recast the same year by Messrs. Mears and Stainbank, of Whitechapel.

The inscriptions on the bells are as follows:

Treble.—Georgius Holman drs. de Warke-worth Debit, 1671.

Second.—Cantate Domino Canticum Novum. Henry Bagle made mee 1659. R.H.

Third.—William Paris, James Carter, Churchwardens, 1680.

Fourth.—Mathew Neale, Francis Jackman, Churchwardens. William Bagly made mee 1693.

Fifth.—Thomas Warde, William Judge, C.W. Thomas Pen, Nicholas Parris J. K. made mee 1651.

Tenor.—Aaron's Bells be continual among us jah, the Word still preacht and an Hallelu-jah sung, 1640.

In 1924 the bells were taken down and sent to the bell foundry of Messrs. John Taylor and Co., after being unringable since 1916 owing to the framework being unsafe.

After being retuned and refitted they were rehung the following year in a steel frame and rededicated on November 5th, 1925, this being the date of commencing to ring for Christmas and also the festival week of All Saints, to whom the church is dedicated.

The above custom of ringing on that particular date is only one of many, which, sad to relate, have all died out—with the exception of about two—since I left the village.

CHRISTMAS RINGING.

It was customary to ring the bells on the last three Monday mornings before Christmas for an hour from 5 to 6. And for two years I participated in this ringing.

Another custom was to ring from midnight to 1 a.m. on Christmas morning and then for the ringers to adjourn to the captain's house, where the festival was honoured with a glass of home-made wine. As far as I know this traditional ceremony is still observed, as is ringing the Old Year out with the bells half-muffled from 11.30 till 11.55, when the muffles were untied. The captain then wished the band a happy New Year and the bells were rung clear from 12 to 12.30 a.m.

Easter morning was 'rung in' from 6 till 7 for first Communion, and the old Armistice Day, November 11th, was commemorated by ringing half-muffled for an hour. With the exception of Christmas and New Year, all these customs, in which I have taken part, have died out.

EACH BELL A SPECIAL OBJECT.

A unique feature was that each bell had an individual object for ringing. The treble was used to call the ringers; the second the dinner bell on Sundays; the third the dinner bell on weekdays; the fourth the Pancake bell, rung at 11.30 a.m. on Shrove Tuesday (which I have rung); the fifth a substitute for the tenor when only five bells were rung; and last, but no means least, the tenor for the death bell, the clock bell and fire bell.

In the case of fire a small bell was also rung with the tenor, known as the 'tinker' or minster bell. This bell weighs about $\frac{1}{2}$ cwt. and is dated 1810. It hangs in the east window of the bell chamber, being swung with the rope attached to a piece of wood fixed to the crown. It is also rung for five minutes before a service, and this custom still survives.

When the tenor was rung for a death it was rung up and minuted for an hour, preceded by the tellers. It was also tolled for a funeral. Nowadays it is struck by a hammer with a rope attached on the outside.

ONLY TWO PEALS.

No change ringing is done in this tower by local ringers—only call changes. Before the war a peal of 5,040 changes was rung by the Royal Society of Cumberland Youths, and since the war another by a band of the Oxford Diocesan Guild. Last year another peal was attempted, but after an hour's ringing the band gave up owing to the long draught and weight.

The tower of Middleton Cheney dates back to the 12th century and before the present six it contained four bells. These were lost during the time of the Spanish Armada and it is a local belief that they were used to make cannons. When the present bells were taken down, the marks could be clearly traced of the position of these four bells.

MR. W. F. JUDGE'S 500 PEALS

Mr. Walter F. Judge, of Oxford, has an outstanding list in his 500 peals, which were rung in 107 towers and for 20 guilds and associations.

Surrey Association

SOUTHERN DISTRICT AT LEIGH.

On Saturday, July 1st, the Southern District of Surrey Association held a quarterly meeting at Leigh; this was in the nature of an experiment, as the bells had been going badly. They proved almost as awkward as we had feared, in spite of the hard work put in beforehand by Mr. A. P. Cannon, for which we thank him.

However, they improved a little as the meeting progressed, and we were able to ring Grandshire, Bob Minor and Bob Doubles, Stedman and one plain course of Cambridge Minor. About 20 ringers attended the meeting, the majority on cycles, not wishing to be dependent on the two-hourly bus service.

After tea the Rector (the Rev. Flint) invited the members to hold their business meeting in the paddock behind the Rectory. One new member was elected, and the election of previous new members was ratified. All at the meeting were very sorry to hear that Mr. J. W. Knight was in hospital with a broken heel, and it was agreed that the secretary should write to him, expressing the condolence and best wishes of all present. It was decided that the next meeting, in September, should be held at Lingfield, or, failing this, at Bletchingley.

Evensong, at 6.30, was preceded by Grandshire Doubles. Mrs. A. P. Cannon very kindly accompanied during the service on the piano.

Further ringing in the evening finished with the longest touch of the day, 720 of Bob Minor, conducted by A. P. Cannon. It was the first 720 for three of the ringers and was a creditable effort by all.

During the afternoon members were able to see how one man—namely, Mr. T. Price, of Feltham—rings the 2nd and 3rd bells to a touch of Bob Minor, while conducting it; unfortunately, the 3rd bell is the most difficult to control and the touch came to grief.

All present agreed that, in its own way, the meeting had been a success. R. F.

DEDICATION

HAWKLEY, HAMPSHIRE.

On Sunday, July 9th, the Lord Bishop of Portsmouth dedicated at evensong the restored and augmented ring of bells, together with two other memorials.

The work of rehanging the original six bells in an iron framework with new fittings and adding two new treble bells has been carried out by Messrs. Gillett and Johnston, Ltd., whose representative, Mr. Don Bradford, was present at the dedication. The cost of the whole of the work has been borne by Mr. and Mrs. T. Cline Davies, of Hawkley Hurst, in memory of their son, Harold F. T. Davies, R.N.V.R., who fell in the war of 1939-45.

An invitation had been extended by the Vicar (the Rev. J. F. Wright) and Hawkley ringers to various towers in the area, and the following places were represented: Petersfield, Steep, Selborne, Liss, Froxfield and Blackmoor.

Mr. C. E. Bassett, secretary of the Alton and Petersfield District, was responsible for the ringing arrangements. The bells were rung during the afternoon, and tea was provided by the Vicar in the Institute.

The bells were rung at the time of the dedication by the local band in charge of Mr. Charles Pound, after which a quarter peal of Grandshire Triples was rung by the following: C. Pound (Hawkley) 1, Miss C. Roberts (Steep) 2, P. W. Wright 3, A. H. Fricker 4, N. Over 5, C. C. Wright 6, C. E. Bassett (cond.) 7, A. Betsworth (Liss) 8. The ringers of 3, 4, 5 and 6 were from Petersfield.

ALDERSHOT, HANTS.—On June 19th, 1,280 Double Norwich Court Bob Major: E. J. Bragg 1, T. E. Denyer 2, W. H. Viggers 3, R. Corke 4, J. D. Rock 5, P. Blackman 6, E. Smith 7, C. W. Denyer (cond.) 8. First in method for 2, 4 and 7.

BARROW-ON-SOAR, LEICESTERSHIRE.—On July 11th, 1,260 Doubles (240 Canterbury Pleasure, 360 Plain Bob, 360 April Day and 300 Grandsire): R. Wilmore (Mountsorrel) 1, G. Lowe (Barrow-on-Soar) 2, W. C. Shute (Ferndown, Dorset) 3, J. W. Lowe (Barrow-on-Soar) 4, E. Morris (cond.) 5.

BATH, SOMERSET.—At St. Mark's Church, on July 9th, 1,272 Oxford Treble Bob: Mrs. D. Evans 1, W. G. Brown (cond.) 2, M. Helps 3, L. Coles 4, R. Perry 5, C. Knott 6.

CROWCOMBE, SOMERSET.—On July 9th, 1,260 Grandsire Doubles: A. E. Welsher 1, C. W. J. Lock 2, John Henson 3, L. T. Richards 4, R. E. Colman (cond.) 5, E. Colman 6. Rung for the birth of a son to Mr. and Mrs. John Henson.

OROYDON, SURREY.—At the Church of St. John-the-Baptist on July 2nd, 1,259 Grandsire Caters: R. Davies 1, Mrs. F. E. Collins 2, E. Razzell 3, C. E. Taylor (first of Caters) 4, D. Cooper 5, F. Sanguin 6, W. Oatway 7, G. H. Humphries 8, F. E. Collins (cond.) 9, F. E. Mitchell 10.

GREAT WYMONDLEY, HERTS.—On July 9th, 720 Bourne Surprise and 720 Norwich Surprise: W. F. Todd 1, G. Cherry 2, A. E. Symonds 3, E. W. Winters 4, W. J. Croft 5, F. W. Croft (cond.) 6.

HERNE HILL, KENT.—On July 8th, 1,280 Spliced Kent and Oxford (no bobs): P. R. Jimmett 1, F. Cheal 2, E. S. Wyles 3, G. A. Naylor 4, E. Naylor 5, W. S. Palin 6, T. Holmes 7, W. Batterall (cond.) 8. First in the method by all the band.

QUARTER PEALS

LANCASTER.—At St. Peter's Cathedral on July 9th, 1,260 Grandsire Triples: John Pye 1, J. Woods 2, R. Rainford 3, Jas. Metcalfe 4, W. S. Bleasdale 5, S. Jeffery 6, H. Rainford (cond.) 7, F. Hornby 8. First quarter for 1 and 8.

Congratulations to the Lichfield Cathedral band!
When the new ten at the Cathedral, the gift of the Freemasons of Staffordshire, was dedicated, the local band was only able to ring Grandsire Doubles. On July 12th the Sunday service band rang a peal of Grandsire Caters, and a very good peal, too, reports the conductor. Four of the band are 16 years of age. The peal was a farewell to Miss Betty Crossman, who is shortly leaving for Harlow, Essex.

The peal of Plain Bob Minor at Kingswood, Surrey, is believed to be the first on the bells since 1932.

The bells of Acle (Norfolk) Church will be on the air in the Midland Service at 9.30 a.m. on July 30th for the opening of the B.B.O.
East Anglian Week.

Mr. C. Wallater, who conducted the peal at Coseley, Staffs, reported in this issue, to celebrate the silver wedding of Mr. and Mrs. W.
Hickman, also conducted the same peal in the same tower on August 4th, 1913, to celebrate the silver wedding of Mr. and Mrs. John Price, parents of Mrs. Hickman.

From Hong Kong, Instructor Comdr. R. G.
Cross writes: Last evening my wife and I for amusement rang spliced Plain, Reverse and Double Bob Minimus. I imagine this is the first time 'spliced' has been rung in the Far East. The truth of the composition is left to the imagination of those who know.

Ringers on the Kent and Sussex border will be sorry to hear of the sudden illness of Mr.
Geoffrey D. Burroughs, of Hammerwood, who is now in East Grinstead Hospital and will be unable to ring for some time. Mr. Burroughs has revived method ringing at his father's church and has become a popular member of the East Grinstead Guild and Sussex County Association.

BELFRY GOSSIP

A successful tour of Somerset and Dorset was enjoyed by a party of Ash-ford (Kent) ringers during the first week of July. The highlight of the tour was the successful peal of Yorkshire on the bells of Sherborne Abbey, accomplished in 3 hours 52 minutes. The story of the tour will be published next week.

A new record of Spliced Major "in hand" has been established by Mr. George E. Feirn, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Bray and Mr. Philip Barnes comprising a peal of 31 methods. Details will be published next week.

Work on the two new trebles and the re-hanging of the present six bells at St. Mary's, Maulden, Beds, has commenced. The contract has been entrusted to Messrs. Mears and Stain-bank. The bell fund now stands at £570, about another £10 being required.

The peal at St. Ebbe's, Oxford, recorded last week, was the 200th peal for Mr. Reginald Woodyatt, the well-known Worcestershire ringer. We regret that through a typographical error his name appeared as 'Woodlatt'.

Mr. R. H. Dove writes that he was present at the dedication of Ash (Surrey) bells as a visiting ringer and not representing Messrs.
John Taylor and Co. We regret that we were misinformed.

Mr. Ronald Lord, of Barwell, has been 'called up' for military service and is stationed at Devizes, Wilts, in the Royal Army Pay Corps. He would be pleased to contact local ringers.

Owing to the shortage of active ringers in the Hinckley District of the Leicester Diocesan Guild, Barwell ringers have been doing 'a spot' of missionary work to help keep the bells ringing on Sundays. Four towers have been visited and on one Sunday four services were rung for—at three towers, including their own morning and evening services.

OXFORD DIOCESAN GUILD FESTIVAL

Epic Poem Provides a Text Memories of Canon Coleridge's 'We shall not look on his like again' Examples of Stoke Goldington and Great Horwood Memorial to late Master Committee's Report referred back for a Year

FOLLOWING on traditional lines, the Oxford Diocesan Guild held their annual festival at Christ Church Cathedral, Oxford, on Saturday, which was attended by a large company of ringers.

Proceedings started with the service in the Cathedral, conducted by the Master (the Rev. C. Elliot Wigg). The ringers provided their own choir and their own organist, Mr. Bernard S. Nicholls, who trained the choirboys for the service. The lesson was read by the Deputy Master (Capt. A. R. Poyntz). Mr. F. Sharpe acted as crossbearer and organised the service, which closed with the Benediction, pronounced by Bishop Buxton.

The Rev. C. P. Sherwood, of Mapledurham, gave the address and based his remarks on Jean Ingelow's poem, 'The High Tide on the Lincolnshire Coast,' quoting the first verse:—

The old mayor climbed the belfry tower,
The ringers ran by two, by three;
'Pull, if you never pulled before;

Good ringers, pull your best,' quoth he.
'Play uppe, play uppe, O Boston bells!
Play all your changes, all your swells.
Play uppe, "The Brides of Enderby."

'I don't know,' he said, 'how many of you know this poem, which stands in memory to the performance of the duty and privilege of a band of ringers over 400 years ago. The story is well known of how when a dangerous Spring tide threatened the sea wall, the ringers went to the tower and there in the bell chamber rang the changes to a tune that meant warning and danger.

'We are all sensible of the great privilege we share together as ringers. Once a year we assemble in joy and duty in this ancient Cathedral as a band of people held together in one fellowship in the knowledge of the service we give to the Church of God, to the village in which we live and to the parish and community where we ring.

'I can well imagine how those ringers of Boston tower on that afternoon and all through the night were deeply sensible of their duty and privilege. The story tells how through the long and dark night they rang their bells to guide men with little boats to rescue families from housetops and hillocks. I think that story is one of the most thrilling of the service that ringers can give to mankind. . . .

'I would suggest that the circle of bells in a tower suggests to us three things. First is the bond of unity. We stand together and in order to ring our bells we must be complete. If we have six bells in our tower we don't like to have five ringers, and if there are eight bells we want eight ringers. In the tower the bells are hung in an almost complete circle so there should be completeness of unity and fellowship in the ringers.

The second thing is the sense of duty. If one ringer is away then his bell might be silent. The third thing is that the circle of bells symbolises a real sense of joy that comes not only by the sound of the bells, but the sense or feeling that that sound is in no way mechanised. It has been caused by deliberate movement, by the muscle and body of men and women directed by his or her mind. It is a sense of achievement if you like, but I think you will all agree that whenever we can band together to achieve something there is a sense of joy. Just as the ringers of Lincolnshire did a great thing that night to save the lives of hundreds of people from being overrun by the sea, so can we do much the same to save the lives of people of our generation by letting them know that the church bell sounds calling them to the worship and love of God in our town and country parishes.'

THE BUSINESS MEETING.

The Master (the Rev. C. Elliot Wigg) presided at the annual meeting, supported by the Deputy Master (Capt. A. R. Poyntz), the hon. treasurer (Mr. A. D. Barker), the general secretary (Mr. W. Hibbert) and the hon. librarian (Miss M. R. Cross).

Arising from the minutes, Mr. J. T. Fowler proposed a vote of thanks to Mr. Alan Pink for the excellent articles in the Diocesan Magazine under the heading of Campanology Corner.

Mr. Frederick Sharpe, in seconding, said it brought ringing in words to the eyes of the right people.

Apologies were received from the Bishop of Dorchester, Canon G. Duxon, Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Watts, Messrs. T. N. Lanaghan, C. J. Hibbert, G. Gilbert and E. G. Foster.

The Master's report stated that the thought that was uppermost in his mind was the great loss sustained by the Guild in the death of Canon G. F. Coleridge. For three years after his retirement from the living of Crowthorne the Canon did, in spite of increasing physical handicaps, continue in a very wonderful way to guide and inspire the counsels of the Guild.

'Now at last the time has come for us to say goodbye to that genial giant of a man—a giant both in stature and in moral and spiritual character. I can think of no words more appropriate than those of Shakespeare, spoken by Hamlet to his father: "He was a man, take him for all in all, we shall not look on his like again." Let us all strive to take courage and inspiration from his life amongst us, and try in our lesser ways to imitate his great qualities, his kindness and patience, his perfect standard of justice and integrity, his true unbiased judgment, and his pure love for his fellow-men.'

The Master recorded that he had been happy to attend meetings, principally annual meetings, of ten of the branches of the Guild. Schemes of restoration and augmentation had been going forward steadily during the past year and they congratulated the ringers of Burnham, Slough, Hook Norton, Burford, Wokingham, Great Horwood, Cowley and elsewhere on the enthusiastic part which they had played in raising funds for their respective towers.

PEALS DOWN.

The secretary's report for 1949 also referred to the passing of Canon Coleridge. Turning to Guild affairs, Mr. Hibbert wrote that the year 1949 had been quite successful, yet there was still apathy in some branches. Mr. Gilling, of the Vale of White Horse, and Mr. Haines, of the Bradfield Branch, did not get the support their untiring efforts deserved.

Peal numbers were down somewhat (perhaps owing to Burnham bells being out of action for some months), but 50 true and well-struck peals were more to the credit of the Guild and to individuals than 200 for the sake of saying, 'This is all.'

The treasurer's report stated that the general funds of the Guild amounted to £552 2s. 6d., of which £491 16s. 5d. was in the Restoration Fund. Grants were paid to Blewbury, Cuddeon, Hook Norton and St. Paul's, Wokingham. Contributions to the R. T. Hibbert Memorial Fund were sufficient to provide a brass tablet to be placed in East Ilsley Church. Mr. A. E. Lock was to be congratulated on an excellent piece of work, and all subscribers to the fund were thanked for the generous support.

The reports were adopted.

ELECTION OF OFFICERS.

The following officers were elected: Master, the Rev. C. E. Wigg; Deputy Master, Capt. A. R. Poyntz; hon. treasurer, Mr. A. D. Barker; general secretary, Mr. W. Hibbert; hon. librarian, Miss M. R. Cross. To the General Committee were elected Messrs. G. Cauldwell, J. W. Wilkins, H. Sear, J. T. Fowler, R. White, W. F. Judge, G. Holifield, C. J. Hibbert and B. S. Nicholls and Miss D. Fletcher. Mr. W. Dixon, a former committee member, was now a representative of the Chipping Norton Branch, and it was left to this branch to nominate another member.

The recommendation of the General Committee that the 1951 festival be held at Oxford was carried on the proposition of Mr. Cole, seconded by Mr. A. E. Lock.

Supporting a recommendation that a grant of £25 be paid to Stoke Goldington, the Rev. J. L. Woods said two years ago they found that their ring of five needed attention and the tenor recasting. The original bell frame of 1625 had been patched up several times. A new frame for six bells had been ordered, the contract having been placed with Messrs. Mears and Stainbank at a cost of £800. Although Stoke Goldington was just an ordinary village it raised the £800 to do the job. They, nevertheless, hankered after a sixth bell, which would mean other £80. The North Bucks Branch had given them £10 and the village had been 'sucked dry' in raising the £800 and they had not the cheek to ask for more.

The meeting approved of the grant.

There was also a recommendation before the meeting for a grant of £10 towards the restoration of Fulmer bells. Mr. A. D. Barker said he had heard nothing and no application had been made to him. No money would be paid until the job was done to their satisfaction.

The position of Great Horwood bells was raised. Under the rules of the Guild a grant had to be claimed within three years, and three years ago a grant of £20 was passed for the restoration of these bells.

Mr. G. Edmans said the dedication of these bells was fixed for the following day. They still needed the £20 and he made application for the grant.

This was agreed to.

The Master congratulated the ringers of Great Horwood on getting their wish. They had worked very hard to get the money together. It had been a real ringers' effort and they hoped before long to test the new bells.

The meeting agreed to a grant of £10 10s. for some suitable present to Mr. O. Francis, the hon. auditor, in recognition of his services during the past 15 years.

BOOK OF REMEMBRANCE.

The General Committee recommended that names of members killed in the 1939-45 war be added in the 1914-18 Book of Remembrance. The General Secretary said he was thankful to state that there were only 16 names to be added. On the proposition of Mr. Cullum, seconded by Mr. Trollope, this was approved.

SECRETARY'S SALARY.

Mr. John Fowler raised the question of the secretary's salary, which, he said, had been considered by the General Committee. He said the secretary was receiving the same salary as his late father, namely, £20, and that would not go far now. Travelling expenses were now very much heavier.

The Master: If you consider travelling expenses for attending 15 branches it seems to me that you are not going to get much change out of £20.

The Secretary said he had not charged travelling expenses and the £20 did not cover them.

The matter was left to the Guild Committee.

MEMORIAL TO CANON COLERIDGE.

The Master said that at the committee meeting there was a general feeling that there should be some tangible memorial to Canon Coleridge in addition to a tablet in the Cloisters. A small committee was elected in conjunction with Mr. Judge and Mr. Sharpe to inquire into the matter. That committee had met the authorities of Christ Church and the suggestion was that there should be some improvement to the arrangement of the bells at Christ Church and possibly the addition of one bell and also the improvement of the tone of the two trebles. The committee was left with a free hand to go into the matter and present something to the meeting. As the result of the meeting with the authorities of Christ Church they had received the following specification from Messrs. Mears and Stainbank:—

To take down the two treble bells of the ring of 12, recast them in perfect tune and harmony with the existing ring; refix and rehang the two bells with the present fittings, which are in good condition, and leave the bells in perfect ringing order for the sum of £130 10s.

To supply and fix sound sprouts to the two treble bells passing through the floors of the ringing chamber; also supply and fix a sound sprout from the bell chamber passing through the wall to the outside of the tower; build a wooden partition between the tenor and treble bells to the height of the tenor wheel; reduce the diameter of the 11th wheel; alter the position of the 8th, 9th and 10th wheels, also the rope bosses in the ringing chamber so that the ropes fall in a better circle, for the sum of £60 10s.

The Master added that it was thought that this would be a fitting memorial to one who was a Canon of Christ Church and loved the Diocese of Oxford.

Mr. Frederick Sharpe said there was a proposal to put in a 13th bell, but owing to technical difficulties the committee thought it better to leave it out. There were other things to be done in the Cathedral tower, and at a meeting with the Cathedral authorities the treasurer undertook to meet the cost of repairs to the bell frames, which were not too good. The two trebles were recast and put in 50 years ago. The other item was to put a memorial in the cloister similar to that to the Rev. F. E. Robinson and the Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn.

The Master added that whatever else was done there should be a tablet in the cloisters.

Mr. A. D. Cullum suggested that the committee was putting 'the cart before the horse.' 'Don't you think,' he said, 'the proper thing is to advertise in "The Ringing World" and invite members of other associations to contribute to a memorial? When the fund is established then we can decide what we should do. It seems to me that these proposals should be washed out. Who in 20 years' time would know that Canon Coleridge had anything to do with ringing at Christ Church? He was too big a man for something so paltry.'

Mr. A. D. Barker, speaking in support of the scheme, said the memorial was talked about at the Central Council meeting and a grant of £50 was made from the Central Council funds. His own branch had voted £10 towards the memorial. The only thing was that the memorial seemed rather small; they could, however, add to it.

The Rev. St. G. Edwards said Mr. Cullum's idea was that the memorial was not big enough.

Mr. Sharpe said something about the tone of the treble bells and they could not be heard outside. As he was going up the High Street he heard the 12 bells quite plainly. They all sounded quite in order except that they were clashing at the back end.

The Rev. R. Sherwood moved that the committee's recommendation be adopted, and the Rev. Noel Hope seconded.

The Deputy Master said the scheme appeared to be entirely domestic to Oxford, and as such he did not think it would appeal to the ordinary ringers of the diocese. When they talked about improving the tone they were talking about a domestic work, and the improvement of the wheels and the circle was a matter of domestic upholstery. He doubted whether many of the ringers knew in which tower the bells were; he could tell them that for years he thought they were under the spire. He moved as an amendment that the matter be referred back for a year so that the committee could take some time in preparing a fitting memorial. He would suggest that the memorial take the form of some altar furniture or a silver cross or silver candlesticks, or they might invest the money and from the income award a set of handbells to the tower which had made most progress with its beginners. Whatever memorial was decided upon it should be more than a domestic memorial in Christ Church, Oxford.

Mr. Cullum seconded the amendment.

The General Secretary warned the meeting of the danger of referring the matter back and cited the circumstances of the J. W. Parker memorial.

Mr. A. D. Barker said the authorities had decided to meet the domestic part of the memorial.

Mr. Fowler thought a better way of dealing with the matter would be for it to be considered by the committee consisting of the officers of the Guild and the 12 committee members.

A member suggested that something should be done for Crowthorne. It had not a ring of bells and the bell in the church was not a good one. He thought they should do something for the Cathedral because they were always very welcome.

The amendment that the scheme be referred back for a year and funds be collected for a memorial was carried by 56 votes to 48.

The following were re-elected members of the Central Council: Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Barker, Mr. F. D. Boreham and Mr. A. E. Locke.

The General Secretary reported that 157 new members had been elected during the year. Their election was confirmed.

The meeting discussed the question of holding a half-yearly meeting of the Guild, a matter raised by the Rev. St. G. Edwards. The general opinion was against an extra meeting.

Lunch was served in Christ Church Hall, the Master presiding. At the conclusion of the meal the Master proposed a vote of thanks to the Dean and Chapter and the authorities at Christ Church for permitting the Guild to worship in the mother church of the diocese. He thanked the preacher and the organist, Mr. Bernard Nicholls, who had also trained the choirboys for the service. The Master expressed the Guild's appreciation of the services of the general secretary in arranging the festival.

The toast of 'The Oxford Diocesan Guild' was proposed by Mr. Crum, of London. Mr. A. D. Barker replied and proposed the toast of 'The Visitors,' which was acknowledged by Mr. T. W. White.

A very interesting exhibition, including old bells, was on view in the hall, arranged by Mr. Frederick Sharpe. A set of handbells belonging to Mr. Sharpe, which contained bells dating from 1696, were rung and their beautiful tone admired.

Ringling took place afterwards in a number of towers.

Dedication

TICEHURST, SUSSEX.

A service of thanksgiving for the restoration of the church and hallowing of the restored ring of bells was held in Ticehurst Parish Church on July 2nd.

The packed congregation, which included parishioners from surrounding villages who had generously supported the Restoration Fund, turned to face the belfry while the churchwardens, choir and clergy proceeded to the entrance of the belfry. There the Lord Bishop of Lewes (the Right Rev. Geoffrey Hodgson Warde) hallowed the bells. A touch of plain rounds was then rung.

In his sermon the Bishop congratulated the people of Ticehurst (a village of less than 3,000 inhabitants) on achieving their object (£2,000) in the short space of 18 months. The Bishop exhorted all members of the Church to be courageous in their conflict against the evils which confront Christians daily, and to make their lives as sound as the bells which would call them to worship.

Messrs. Gillett and Johnson were represented by Mr. J. Pares, and he presented the Vicar (the Rev. O. A. S. Edwards) with a beautifully inscribed memento showing the weights of the six bells and their inscriptions.

The special lessons for the service were read by Lord Courthouse.

Details and inscriptions are as follows:—

OXFORD DIOCESAN GUILD

SOUTH OXON BRANCH AT DORCHESTER.

A quarterly meeting of the South Oxon Branch of the Oxford Diocesan Guild was held at the historic Abbey of Dorchester, Oxon, on July 8th.

Over thirty members and visitors were present on this lovely summer afternoon, and several cyclists made an all-round trip of some 50 miles to be present!

Fourteen new members were elected from one tower in the branch. The Vicar of Benson was elected vice-chairman of the branch, and he gave the address at the Abbey service.

The branch secretary proposed and Mr. Wells seconded, 'that a resolution be brought before the General Committee of the Guild at its next meeting, that whenever a peal is attempted at Dorchester, a contribution should be made towards the upkeep of the ropes,' as the ropes at Dorchester were found, prior to the meeting, to be in a precarious condition, and that sooner or later the whole question of charges for peals would have to be thoroughly investigated.

A JOYOUS CORNISH SPRING

FESTIVALS AND DEDICATIONS.

APRIL and May gave opportunity for activity to members of the Truro Diocesan Guild. Perranarworthal, St. Enoder, Tuckingmill and St. Mellion, Paul and Stithians was the order respectively for four spring festivals and two dedications. Arrangements for the festivals were made by the branch secretaries, Mr. R. G. Clemens (Truro Branch), Canon F. F. Gilbert (Mid-Cornwall), the Rev. A. S. Roberts (Penzance) and Mr. H. J. Clarke (South-East). The attendances varied up to about eighty, and these included at all or some Miss E. Symons (president), Mr. W. H. Southard (Master), the Rev. W. H. R. Trewhella (secretary), with other ever-presents.

The Mid-Cornwall Branch, which was created some years ago when several towers in that area were retrieved from the jaws of prize-ringing, still tries to maintain a standard of perfection in rounds and call-changes, and so at that festival the afternoon was given up to practice, the usual spiritual exercise, and a bumper West Country tea.

In the evening ringing for proficiency certificates took place. Judges (common to prize-ringing) have been dispensed with, and examiners have entered the field. On this occasion two method ringers were asked to act, and this was a compliment to Messrs. W. H. Southard and C. E. Lanxon, who did so, for in some parts of Cornwall method ringers are known as 'Intellectual Ringers.' Having secreted themselves, they duly noted the faults to the satisfaction of the assembled company. Certificates were later awarded.

PAUL'S NEW RING.

Despite the lingering of so much that is elementary to the more advanced in the ringing world, Cornwall has a contribution to make, and an example to give—many strong towers, and a local enthusiasm to see they possess a ring in good order. Paul is an example. The Vicar, the Rev. W. V. Wagner, is to be congratulated. At Cury he put in a ring of six; at Gunwalloe a chime of six; at Paul he has given Cornwall perhaps its best six. His name is inscribed on a bell in three Cornish towers.

There were three bells at Paul, dated 1727 and cast by Rudhall. The tenor weighed 12 cwt. and would have been unworthy of the new ring, so has been recast and getting on for 3 cwt. of metal added. Three new bells have been added, with new frame and fittings. The tower is one of the finest in West Cornwall, there is space enough and to spare; instead of louvres there is perforated slate, which makes the sound of the bells in the vicinity of the tower subdued and mellow.

The dedication was on May 20th by the Archdeacon of Cornwall. The church was full, and the first sound of the bells added solemn dignity to the occasion as the procession returned from west to east. In his magazine notes the Vicar has written: 'When in the course of the service the experts rang a short peal, a tear of joy came to the eyes of many on hearing the bells for the first time.' The ringers were G. W. Taysom 1. Miss E. Symons 2. W. Wood 3. A. Carveth 4. Mrs. A. S. Roberts 5. W. H. Southard 6. This band rang 360 Grand sire Doubles at the close of the service.

Visitors from some twelve towers then joined in, and the latter part of the evening was spent helping to get the new local band, some fifteen strong, used to their new charge. Through the kindness of Mr. W. Wood, assisted by the Rev. A. S. Roberts and Mr. G. W. Taysom, they had learnt to handle a bell at Gulval during Lent, and by good fortune Mr. French, of Canterbury Cathedral, was on holiday in Paul, so looked after matters on the first Sunday. Diocese and Province have set Paul upon the campanological ladder. Paul is some three miles from Penzance; the hill approaching the place is notorious, and on May Day the bells arrived just as a week of carnival and gaiety on their behalf had begun. The May Queen was crowned on the green that evening, and the lorry with its load stuck on Paul Hill; a tractor had to be found to assist. There was bowling for a pig, and the bellhanger beat all comers; he won the pig, but dared not take it to Loughborough, so it is fattening in Paul. The Rev. W. V. Wagner is to be congratulated upon raising some £1,200 and for making his people so bell minded.

STITHIANS' BELLS.

Stithians' bells were dedicated by the Bishop of Truro on May 27th. Again it is a story of a crowded church, more ringers than one could easily count, a generous tea, and as tuneful a ring of bells as one could wish for. Again, the tower is solid and big and possessed four bells; a new fourth and fifth have been added and once again everything else is new. The tenor weighs 9 cwt. A four-faced striking clock has also been installed. The money for the whole of this work was left by a Cornish exile in New Zealand some 20 years ago, but nothing was done until two years ago, when the Rev. H. White came as a new Vicar.

Inspired by Mr. R. G. Clemens, who farms in the parish, he discovered the money was still available and so got the work done. The opening rounds were of special interest, for it was known that a local band which had never before had its own bells was to ring. Mr. R. G. Clemens, his two daughters, Kathleen and Mary (aged 12), Mr. H. C. Spencer (late of Birmingham), Mrs. Phillips and Mr. G. Snell, all now living in the parish, gave us the first impressions of the ring with some good rounds.

TWO FURTHER DEDICATIONS.

In both these cases the confidence placed in Messrs. J. Taylor and Co., who have carried out the work, has been fully justified. Two further dedications should take place in the autumn, for St. Columb Major's eight and St. Petrock Minor's five have gone to Loughborough. Of the former, several are to be recast, and a treble is to be added to the latter. Both will have new frames and fittings, and will make a total of 16 restorations or additions to the bells of Cornwall since the war ended, with a total expenditure of some £11,000. It seems that a generous place is given to bells in parochial needs; at any rate, the county considers them important.

PETERBOROUGH DIOCESAN GUILD

WELLINGBOROUGH BRANCH.

An attendance of 53 was present at the Wellingborough Branch meeting at Yardley Hastings. The Guild service was conducted by the Rector (the Rev. L. T. Thompson) and Mr. W. Denton was organist. The collection for the Guild's Bell Restoration Fund amounted to £1 1s. 7d. Tea at the Village Hall was arranged by Mrs. B. Burge with the help of local ringers' wives.

At the business meeting, presided over by the Rector, Mr. R. Noon (Guild general secretary) proposed six new members from Earls Barton, Messrs. P. Townley, B. Townley, G. Neale, J. Neale, P. Symonds and B. Abbott. First peal certificates were presented to Messrs. F. Holley and J. Malloes (Wollaston) and R. Minney (Yardley Hastings).

Ringling also took place in the evening on the heavy five at Castle Ashby. The year 1938 was the last occasion branch members visited this tower.

The meeting was attended by ringers from Irthlingborough, Wellingborough, Higham Ferrers, Wilby, Mears Ashby, Ecton, Earls Barton, Bozeat, Easton, Mauditt, Wollaston, Olney, Northampton, Brafield, Piddington, Turvey, Burton Latimer and Yardley Hastings.

St. Martin's Guild

SUMMER MEETING AT TANWORTH-IN-ARDEN.

The summer meeting of the St. Martin's Guild for the Diocese of Birmingham was held in the lovely village of Tanworth-in-Arden on July 1st and was attended by about sixty ringers. The church, dedicated to St. Mary Magdalene, was built in the Decorated style of architecture about the year 1340, although there was a chapel on the site in the early part of the 12th century.

The date of the meeting was precisely a year after the dedication of the new octave, which are a very pleasant ring. A short service was held, the address by the Vicar (the Rev. D. W. Lee) being most interesting, in which the visitors learnt much of the history of Tanworth Church.

At the business meeting the Master referred to the loss the Guild had sustained by the death of William H. Barber and George W. Steere. Messrs. T. H. Reeves and E. C. Shepherd supported the remarks of the Master concerning the late 'Bill' Barber, Mr. Reeves pointing out the difficulties of peal ringing in the early days compared with the ease with which peals are arranged and rung at present. The members stood for a moment in silence as a token of respect to their memory.

The following new members were elected: Mr. L. Yates, of Erdington, Mr. C. Rawlins and Mr. C. Brettell, of Tanworth, and the tower elections of Mr. P. A. Corby, of London, Miss Molly Flynn and Mr. J. Oliver, of King's Norton, were ratified.

It was decided to hold the next meeting (October 7th) at Erdington, subject to the Vicar's permission, the secretary to endeavour to arrange for the new eight at the Roman Catholic Church to be available, in addition to those of the Parish Church.

Amongst the visitors were Mr. Geoffrey Dodds and Miss Anna Stockdale, whilst an old member, Mr. Hector Bird, was welcomed.

The opportunity was taken of examining the peal book of 'Bill' Barber, which will be kept with the valuable peal books of the Guild.

The Master proposed a hearty vote of thanks to the Vicar for his very interesting address and for the use of the bells. Mr. John H. Jones was thanked for the trouble he had taken to ensure the success of the meeting, and was congratulated upon the able manner in which he read the lesson at the service.

Further ringing took place until a late hour, a recording of the bells was taken, but it is feared that one side of the record may be marred by the advent of a noisy motor-cycle.

Some preferred to bask in the sunshine on the village green, whilst others visited the village hostelry, where one speaks not out of one's turn, out of respect to the landlord, Mr. Jack Hood (the ex-boxing champion)!

'BELLS OF ALL NATIONS'

After a delay of five years at the publishers from unforeseen circumstances, the new book by Ernest Morris, F.R.Hist.S., F.R.G.S., M.R.S.L., entitled 'Bells of All Nations,' is now being set up in print and will be published within the next few months.

It will be a comprehensive volume covering every type of bell from the little tinkler on the sheep to the mighty bourdons of Russia and China. A full history of bells from earliest times is given, with schedules of great bells of the world, carillons and other types of the campanistic art. Practically every country in the world is mentioned and some 1,000 or more places named. All the varying modes of hanging and ringing are shown, and the book will be well illustrated.

A short foreword is given by the Lord Bishop of Liverpool. The author's other works on bells and ringing—now out of print—include 'The History and Art of Change Ringing,' 'Legends of the Bells,' 'Chronology of British Bellfounders,' etc.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

'OUR CHANGING EXERCISE'

Dear Sir, — That hackneyed cliché — 'I couldn't care less' — seems to have been on the lips of folk of a type in almost every walk of life — more's the pity! In the Exercise, even, there are those who would use it in a deprecatory sense in regard to matters of theory, or the 'reason why.' Nevertheless, while there will always be just 'button pushers' (and why not?), yet there are, thank goodness, those who want to know what is happening 'inside' when the button is pushed; 'button investigators,' who wish to see reason in all things.

Fortunately for the future of this essentially British art of ours its character may be said to be changing for the better, in that its 'button investigators' are now a growing company, likely to become the majority. Future generations of ringers, not content to ring merely a something called a 'method,' will no doubt, as many of our younger ringers are doing, hunger and thirst after the righteousness of method structure. In fact, they couldn't care more!

Recently we have witnessed the Shipway-Steadfast controversy, one issue of which has just been decided by the Central Council. It seems to have done some good. But it seems, also, to have left some of our button-investigators (if they will forgive the use of the term) not quite clear as to the outcome.

Perhaps the following observations may help:—

1. The one issue dealt with, and just decided in Central Council meeting, is that Shipway's Principle and Steadfast are the same method. Since the C.C. is the governing body of the Exercise, all loyal ringers will accept this decision, unless and until it be varied by a further Council decision. (But see 4 below.)

2. Nevertheless, the challenge issued on page 236 in 'The Ringing World' dated April 14th, 1950, calling for an attempt to disprove the similarity of the 'sets' in Stedman and in Steadfast, has never been taken up. These sets are, of course, identical in form.

3. No originality, other than that due to Fabian Stedman, has ever been claimed for Steadfast. This is simply because Steadfast is demonstrably the theoretic form of Stedman on even numbers, a fact which might well have been included in the challenge. (The similarity of name was deliberately chosen, in fact, to distinguish the Stedman principle on even numbers.)

4. It follows that since Shipway's 'Principle' is declared to be identical with Steadfast, and since Steadfast is simply Stedman's principle on even numbers, the decision, as in (1) above, serves to detract from any originality of Shipway's. In other words, if Shipway had lived now and had produced his 'Principle' to-day, there is little doubt that the C.C. would have declared it to have been Stedman on even numbers; since Steadfast has shown itself to be such.

5. A significant letter from a younger ringer of note (page 300 of 'Ringing World', dated May 12th, 1950) emphasised the due limitations of the functions of a C.C. committee. The following week, on page 513, as item 9 of C.C. Agenda, appeared a motion entirely at variance with this limitation of function, aiming at the overthrow of our democratic way of government of ringing. The absolutely vital point to note here is that this motion, as eventually permitted to come before the Council, had been so amended as to be harmless in that way. Indeed, the status quo is little altered, in that, of course, committee recommendations need confirmation by Council before becoming law. —Yours very truly,

A. YORK-BRAMBLE.

HANDBELL RINGERS AT HONG KONG

Sir,—My wife, who, like myself, was a keen handbell ringer, has joined me in Hong Kong. We feel there must be some handbell ringers among the forces based on Hong Kong, particularly the Army National Service men.

The forces in the Hong Kong area are very scattered and are difficult to contact. If, therefore, any ringer at home knows of anyone interested in handbell ringing and at present based on Hong Kong, we would like to be put in touch.

I can be contacted either by 'phone in H.M. Dockyard, Hong Kong (30361 Ext. 88, asking for Comdr. Cross or leaving message), or my wife at Harbour View Hotel, Chatham Road, Kowloon, near new N.A.A.F.I. canteen.—Yours faithfully,

R. G. CROSS, Instr. Comdr., R.N.

A BIRTHDAY TOUCH WANTED

Dear Sir,—Two ringers at our tower recently attained the age of 72. As their birthdays came close together, an 'age' touch was rung on practice night, which one of the two 'provided.'

Knowing nothing of composition or mathematics, he shamefacedly admits, he got his 72 by some little mutilation of Grandsire, inserting two rows before rounds at the end of the plain course of Triples, permitting the bells in dodging positions to do their dodge, compelling the 3rds place bell to make 2nds before making 3rds, the hunt bell meanwhile making 3rds and 2nds, and the treble leading four blows.

As he feels this may be considered very shocking, he wants someone to tell him:—

(1) How should he have got his 72 in a more orthodox way?

(2) How to get a 73 in Grandsire or some other simple method for next year?

Yours faithfully,

CENTRAL COUNCIL DECISIONS

Dear Sir,—With regard to the letter from Mr. J. Frank Smallwood calling for readers' views on the Central Council Decisions, I feel it is only fair to warn would-be correspondents that their views should be strictly in accord with those of this sub-committee, otherwise they will be ignored! That, at least, is my experience.—Yours faithfully,

LAY READERS' PEAL

Dear Sir,—Re my appeal for lay readers interested in a peal attempt on Saturday, October 14th, I only received two replies. I will keep the list open to the end of August.

Come along, lay reader-ringers, where are you?—Yours sincerely,

H. A. PRICE.

AMBIGUITY OF WORDING

Dear Sir,—In Belfry Gossip on July 14th, 1950, is a note that Mr. B. G. Warwick has conducted peals of Plain Bob from Minor to Maximus. No doubt this refers to peals only on even number of bells.

The undersigned has called Plain Bob Triples and Caters requiring only Cinques to complete all numbers from six to twelve; by calling a peal at Ashbocking he has conducted peals of Cambridge Surprise from Minor to Maximus.—Yours truly,

GEORGE E. SYMONDS.

A QUESTION OF FEES

Dear Sir,—Mr. Jarrett's letter reminds me of an interesting experience in my last parish. The father of a bride wished the bells to be rung at his daughter's wedding. He asked how much? As I had no precedent I consulted the ringers as to what they required for the job. They said they would leave it to his generosity, and so I told the parent it rested with him to give as he thought fit. His generosity did not come up to the expectations of the ringers to their great discontent and they would trust no man's generosity again. I told them they asked for it and got it and that their best plan was to meet the Vicar and churchwardens and thrash the question out. They did so. The ringers considered that if a man lost time and wages in ringing a bell that at least should be made up.

They settled what fee they ought to receive for the time put in and the Vicar and churchwardens acquiesced.

The decision was added to the belfry rules so that we all in future should know where we stood.

I have never heard of an incumbent receiving fees for the use of the bells in addition to what is due to the ringers, nor fees for the use of the organ in addition to the usual organist's fee.

Both organ and bells belong to the parishioners, who usually 'find' them and are under the guardianship of their representatives, the churchwardens, in whom is the 'property' and who legally can claim for damage done.

Although organ and bells do not belong to the incumbent, the 'use' of them belongs to him, and by Canon 88 ringing cannot be done without his consent. So he could forbid ringing of bells for a wedding (not being an ordinary service). It is quite possible for him to say to the bride, 'If you don't pay me three guineas for myself the bells will not be rung.' Thus the flow of money would neither go to the incumbent nor ringers.

As there seems to be no belfry rules or regulations, the ringers can only rely on the generosity of the bride or in future get payment in advance.—Yours faithfully,

J. M. TURNER.

Washfield Rectory, Tiverton.

'SONGS AND BALLADS OF THE WEST'

Dear Sir,—Mention of Callington and Launceston in No. 82 of the above in this week's 'Ringing World' seems most appropriate, for at the Royal Cornwall Show held at the former place on the two previous days there was a set of twelve bell ropes which had been made at the latter place. The ropes were displayed by the makers, Messrs. Maunder and Sons, Launceston, at the entrance to their stand, and the sallies added a delightful touch of colour, but, further, a large notice explained they were for St. Martin's Church, Birmingham. I was told by one in attendance that the firm had been particularly pleased to receive this order, and I had a feeling that these ropes would soon be the means of yet another Surprise Maximus method being rung.—Yours faithfully,

A. S. ROBERTS.

Dear Sir,—The answer to Mr. Stenson's problem is, briefly, as follows:—

In the word bell-ringer, the noun bell is qualifying the noun ringer, and is, therefore, being used as an adjective. This is quite a common occurrence in the language — farm-labourer, wireless-set, etc., being parallel examples. In the terms Odd Fellow and Grand Master, the first-named words are adjectives used as such. Bell-ringer would seem, at any rate to this schoolmaster, to be the correct rendering.—Yours faithfully,

NORMAN PEARSON.

RINGERS' OUTINGS

BATH ABBEY.

The annual outing of Bath Abbey ringers, accompanied by friends and relations, on July 1st, was regarded as 'the best ever,' the objective being Ross-on-Wye.

Travelling by coach, the first stop was at Stroud, where all enjoyed a ring. Quite the best tower of the day was Painswick, many of the company ringing here for the first time.

A sumptuous lunch was partaken of at the Central Cafe, Ross-on-Wye. A move was then made to Monmouth and finally to Chepstow for the last ring of the day. On the homeward journey the coach stopped at Nailsworth, as there was a general thirst.

The weather was perfect, everything ran smoothly and mostly to time. Thanks and appreciation from all the company are offered to Mr. Prescott, tower master at Bath Abbey, for all the trouble he took. The next outing is eagerly anticipated. D. E.

BARWELL LEICESTERSHIRE.

When the programme for Barwell's fourth annual outing had been finally arranged it was received with mixed feelings by the ringers. The younger members were enthusiastic over the selection of towers, but the more seasoned ringers doubted their ability to make full use of the bells kindly placed at their disposal, especially considering that one member had been 'called up' only two days previously and two others were unable to make the journey. However, a last minute decision by Ted Sowman, of Hinckley, and Hector Knights (always worth his seat for an outing) reinforced the party, which had, unlike previous years, been restricted as far as possible to ringers.

A most comfortable new coach complete with radio (which annoyed only the handbell ringers) put everyone in good spirits right from the start at 7.30 a.m., and after the Hinckley battalion had been collected, everyone settled down to study their printed programmes, which had, as in previous years, been handed to them to cut out any possibility of misunderstanding regarding times.

The first part of the journey was through the heart of industrial South Staffordshire—Walsall, Wolverhampton and Willenhall—so it was a refreshing change to cross the Salop border into the wooded country above Bridgnorth, and enjoy a bird's eye view of this typical Shropshire town before passing through its narrow streets and over the River Severn. This was not to be compared with the following stretch of country beyond Much Wenlock, where on the summit of the famous 'Wenlock Edge' the coach was halted so that everyone could marvel at the patchwork of rolling fields far below.

Church Stretton was reached promptly at 10.30, and the vergers soon opened the belfry portals. This ring of eight reminded the ringers of Earl Shilton bells, and from the beginning the youngest members had no difficulty in putting the bells in their right places. Rounds, Stedman Triples, Grandsire Triples, Plain Bob and Double Norwich were rung in fine style.

The rendezvous for lunch was in the charming Carving Mill Valley, the meal being truly a ringers' feast. The remaining half-hour was spent in either climbing the steep ascent above the cafe or strolling by the running stream.

A quick run into Shrewsbury ended outside St. Chad's, where Messrs. Farmer, Lindon, Barron and one or two other ringers awaited the party. The highlight here, apart from the first-class ring, was to see Mr. Joe Needham ringing on 12 bells for the first time in his ringing career, which started about 60 years ago. Rounds on the 12 included all the recruits from the Barwell nursery. Touches of Bob Royal, Stedman and Grandsire Caters ended a further hour's ringing.

More thickly-wooded country was left behind on arrival at Coalbrookdale, and it was a pleasant surprise to find, in addition to Mr. Bailey, of the local band, Mr. Len Hewitt, who for many years lived at Stoney Stanton, near Barwell. This was another well-kept belfry, full of interest and a grand ring of ten. Ringing included Cater methods, Double Norwich and Bob Major. Mr. Hewitt and Mr. Bailey joined the party for tea at the Valley Hotel.

The homeward journey was through Shifnal, along Watling Street, past the three spires of Lichfield to Burton-on-Trent, the last port of call. Mr. Barnabas Key and two of his contemporaries welcomed the visitors, who were torn between two major attractions of the town—the fine ring of ten at St. Paul's on one hand, and the product of this citadel on the other.

However, very good use of the bells was made for an hour from rounds to Double Norwich and Stedman Caters. Only those present can describe the argument between the tenor and Harry, and matters ended about even after a few anxious moments for both. A course of Grandsire Caters 'in hand' concluded the ringing here.

Mr. Key afterwards conducted a party round the interior of the church, which was full of interest.

Considering the aforesaid attractions of Burton, it was a surprise to everyone, particularly the driver, to find every seat full only 15 minutes after the appointed time of departure, and it was the boating enthusiasts who were late!

After a good run through Ashby-de-la-Zouch, a pause was made for a spot of handbell ringing, and as darkness gathered around a tired and happy party, Barwell was reached only 15 minutes after the scheduled time of 10.30 p.m.

The ambitious programme arranged by the Barwell secretary was within the capabilities of the band, and was voted as the best so far. Excellent weather and courtesy from all tower captains visited made the outing a memorable one both for the 15 ringers and a similar number of friends. T. C. B.

LAVENHAM, SUFFOLK.

The SS. Peter and Paul Society held their annual outing on July 15th. The ringers, accompanied by their wives and friends, travelled into Essex. A pleasant run through Epping Forest brought the party to Loughton, where several courses were rung. Thence on to Walthamstow and more ringing. At Woodford the order was 'lunch,' after which a move was made for the church, where several more courses were rung.

The next call was Leytonstone, where the first eight arrivals had the honour of 'pealing' a bridal pair as they left the church. The second and third team then took the ropes to various courses. Tea was served at Barking, followed by the final ringing for the day. Lavenham was reached just after 11 p.m. by a happy and satisfied party.

The thanks of the ringers were expressed to Mr. S. H. Symonds (captain) and Miss O. B. Lambert (secretary) for the splendid organisation of 'the best ever,' also to all those who met them at the various churches and the incumbents thereof. S. H. S.

FALSE COMPOSITION

Dear Sir.—I regret that the composition of Treble Bob Major, published in your issue of December 12th, 1947, is false. Through careless transposition a false lead is introduced into each part at the 'wrong' in the third course.

I trust that you, sir, and those who have taken part in a peal rung to this composition will accept my apologies.—Yours faithfully,

NOLAN GOLDEN.

Norwich.

ST. LAWRENCE'S, IPSWICH.

Together with friends from St. Clement's and relatives, six towers were visited by the ringers of St. Lawrence's, Ipswich, during their outing on July 1st.

Bredfield (6) was the first stop, and then on to Easton (6). At both these towers Kent Treble Bob, Double Court and Plain Bob were rung.

Whilst the ringing was in process at Framlingham (8) several of the non-ringers of the party climbed the belfry to watch the bells. This was followed by tea at a local restaurant. Next the bells at Badingham (5) were rung to Plain Bob, Grandsire and St. Simon's, following which came the heavy ring of six at Dennington, where some Oxford and Kent Treble Bob and Plain Bob was enjoyed.

Monk Soham (5) was the last call and ringing here consisted of Stedman, Grandsire and Plain Bob. Home was reached at about 11.30 p.m.

WELLINGTON, SOMERSET.

Travelling nearly 200 miles in four counties and ringing in five towers, the annual outing of Wellington, Somerset, ringers on July 8th was voted a complete success.

A party, which included wives and friends to the number of 30, left Wellington at 8 a.m. The first tower visited was SS. Peter and Paul's at Wincanton. SS. Mary and Melorus' at Amesbury was next visited, followed by a run to Salisbury, where lunch was taken, followed by an hour's ringing on the bells of St. Paul's.

Leaving Salisbury at 2.30 p.m., the journey was resumed to Bournemouth, where St. John's tower was visited. In the evening touches were rung at St. Peter's, Dorchester. A halt was made at Maiden Newton for refreshments, and Wellington reached at midnight. F.W.J.S.

A Week-end in the Lake District

THREE OUT OF FOUR PEAL ATTEMPTS SUCCEED.

Nine ringers from various parts of Lancashire and Cheshire spent a happy and successful ringing week-end in the Lake District. Four peal attempts were made, three of which were successfully concluded. The party met at Walton-le-Dale, near Preston, on Friday evening and commenced by scoring a good peal of Bristol on a very pleasant new ring of eight recently installed by the Whitechapel Foundry. The party then left for Bowness-on-Windermere, and the journey northwards was completed in very fast time. An excellent cold supper had been laid on beforehand and this was really enjoyed, more especially by those who had gone without tea.

A quick run up in two fast cars found the visitors at Keswick on Saturday and they were met by the verger of Crosthwaite Church, who is also a ringer at this church. A good peal of London was brought round on this old ring of eight, which can be heard much more distinctly nowadays. After lunch the party said, 'Cheerio,' to Mr. Simpson, who left for Rosthwaite to continue his hazardous climbing expeditions, whilst the remainder, all crammed into one large car, drove back to Bowness at a much slower speed so as to enjoy the beautiful scenery that had been missed on the way up. The trip round Thirlmere was greatly appreciated by all.

DIFFICULTIES AT WINDERMERE.

Although only a light ring, the eight at Windermere Parish Church proved the most difficult job of the week-end, as smaller bells are rather indistinct owing to rope rattle, etc., and to those inside ringing, the peal did not sound too good, although there was only one real trip, and that was through the conductor losing himself for nearly a lead. However, another peal of Bristol was scored in spite of some difficulties, but fortunately most of the band knew the composition 'backwards.'

On Sunday morning the party left for Oswaldtwistle, calling en route at Kendal for service ringing. Here they were made very welcome, and with the assistance of two local ringers a touch of Grandsire Caters was very much enjoyed. Spliced Surprise at Oswaldtwistle unfortunately came to grief after two hours' ringing owing to a miss-call, but some good ringing had been attained before this mishap. The visitors were then joined by three of the local company, and some Stedman and Double Norwich were rung for evening service.

After a really good evening meal the happy but rather tired party broke up and made for home, but not before thanking Mr. Fred Dunkerley, who had so kindly made all the arrangements, for a grand week-end. After such a pleasant time the party will have several recollections—one rather vivid—that of an M.G. sports car left literally standing although doing well over 60 m.p.h. at the time. Grandsire Cinques 'in hand' mercifully came to an end when the publican switched the lights out at 10.30 p.m.

The party's joint thanks go to towerkeepers, and incumbents too, who made their visits so pleasant and easy and thus contributed so much to the success of the week-end's ringing, and many thanks are certainly due to those wives who stayed at home. R. G. L.

The peals rung during this week-end are recorded in our peal columns.

BEARDLESS!

Mr. Jack Worrall's beard has disappeared and its absence has inspired the following from 'E.N.'—

Nocturnal Prank? a popular suggestion! Fair Maidens Will? by some it is feared! Whate'er the Truth of this hair raising question, Gone is the glory of Jack Worrall's beard.

St. John the Divine, Leicester

A recent picture of the tower of St. John the Divine, Leicester, showing progress in the demolition of the spire.

As has been briefly referred to in 'The Ringing World,' a gale caused such damage to the structure of the spire of the church on the night of February 11st last that part of the stonework fell from the apex, causing damage to property in South Albion Street.

The spire of the church had been a liability ever since its erection, which was completed in 1854, and every 25 years or so it had had to receive attention. The time has come now when the only solution to the problem is its removal, it having been condemned as unsafe by the city surveyor. An appeal has been launched by the priest-in-charge (the Rev. Gordon Strutt), the Vicarage, Ashwell Street, Leicester, for £1,100 to meet the cost of removal of the spire and the roofing in of the tower to afford continued protection to the bells.

In a letter to the Editor, Mr. S. Harrison writes: I know many ringers throughout the country who are familiar with our beautiful ring of ten (truly one of Taylor's masterpieces) will sympathise with us at the outset of a gigantic task of raising the necessary funds to cover the cost of the work and who would no doubt be pleased to associate themselves with the appeal. Throughout the country the bells are known for their splendid tone and go.

Both the Lord Bishop of Leicester and the Provost of Leicester (Very Rev. H. A. Jones) have written strongly commending the appeal.

SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD DORCHESTER BRANCH.

A by-meeting was held at Sydling on Thursday, July 6th. The bells were rung from 3 p.m. until the Guild service at 4 p.m., which was conducted by the Vicar, the Rev. A. E. Hall, and the lesson was read by the Rev. A. F. Godley.

Twenty sat down to tea, which was served in the Village Hall. A vote of thanks was proposed by Mr. R. H. Duke (assistant hon. secretary) and seconded by Mr. H. Steed. Ringers went on to ring at Frampton during the evening.

Towers represented were Dorchester (St. Peter's), Fordington, Frampton, Sydling, Wool and Yetminster. After tea members were joined by others from Piddlehinton, Preston and Upwey.

OBITUARY

MR. B. COLES.

A long connection with the Oxford Diocesan Guild has been severed by the passing of Mr. B. Coles, of Middleton Stoney, on July 7th, at the age of 75 years.

He joined the Guild in 1907 and as recently as Sunday, June 18th, he chimed the treble and second at All Saints', Middleton Stoney, when the band was short. Mr. and Mrs. B. Coles celebrated their golden wedding anniversary last year. He was also a keen member of the choir for many years.

For a number of years Mr. Coles represented the Bicester Deanery Branch on the Guild General Committee. His dearest wish was recently fulfilled through his own efforts in having a band of ringers capable of ringing at his own church.

The funeral service on July 11th was conducted by the Rector (the Rev. W. E. Sawyer), who is himself a ringer. Five local ringers, J. Elmer, Miss Pat Golder, Miss Elizabeth Golder, J. Terriman and A. Golder, with the branch secretary (Mr. C. Kinch), rang call changes after the service. In the evening 720 Plain Bob Minor (half-muffled) was rung by Miss Joanne Chase 1, E. Stockley 2, E. J. Smith 3, H. Hatfield 4, C. H. Kinch 5, F. Sharpe (cond.) 6.

NORWICH DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION EAST NORFOLK BRANCH.

Some 35 members attended the meeting of the East Norfolk Branch at Somerleyton on June 24th. The service was conducted by the president (the Rev. A. St. J. Heard), and tea was served at the Duke's Head Hotel.

Mr. G. W. Fletcher (branch chairman) presided at a short business meeting, when it was proposed to hold the next meeting at Norton Subcourse on Saturday, September 9th.

The president proposed a vote of thanks to the Vicar of Somerleyton, who, unfortunately, was unable to be present, for the use of the bells and church for service. The chairman thanked Mr. E. W. Brown, of the local company, for arranging tea, etc. Ringing was resumed after tea till about 9 p.m. Methods to suit all were rung.

DURHAM AND NEWCASTLE ASSN. SOUTHERN DISTRICT AT BRANCEPETH.

A meeting of the Southern District was held at Brancepeth, Durham, on July 8th, in beautiful summer weather. The fine octave (tenor 15 cwt.) was at the disposal of the members for the afternoon and evening, and good use was made of the bells, Plain Bob, Grandsire, Stedman, Kent, Double Norwich and Cambridge being rung.

Although the attendance was not large, 10 towers were represented, namely, Darlington (Holy Trinity and St. Cuthbert's), West Hartlepool, Chester-le-Street, Whitley Bay, Richmond, Sunderland, Durham Cathedral, the local band, and Michael P. Moreton from Hereford. Wives and families swelled the number at tea, which was in the Village Hall and was on an 'own refreshments, cups of tea provided,' basis, with co-operation of local ladies.

The church is a beautiful building in idyllic surroundings. The church and churchyard are set within Brancepeth Castle grounds, the Castle itself being the headquarters of the county regiment, the Durham Light Infantry, and makes an ideal spot for a summer meeting. W. N. P.

The two ladies who participated in the quarter peal of Grandsire Triples at St. Mary's, Portsea, on July 12th, were the only ladies present in the church in a congregation of nearly 2,000 men. The service was the C.E.M.S. festival. Most of the outside crowd, writes our correspondent, looked as if they would have sacrificed anything to be one of the ringers!

PHEW!

LIFE is full of surprises. The Editor had one when he received the report of the annual meeting of St. David's Guild, which was held at Carmarthen on July 15th. Here a suggestion was made to the Bishop that he would encourage clergy to take a greater interest in ringing. The Archdeacon of Carmarthen, the Ven. J. Richards Pugh, replied that many clergy were put off by the fact that so many ringers never attended service and many rang whilst drunk, so that he was half afraid to take anyone to such a belfry. This kind of observation, coming from a responsible and high official of the Church of Wales, leaves one gasping. It is true that the Archdeacon's long service to the Church has been spent in Wales and, as Rector of Merthyr Tydfil from 1921-41, he was in contact with the grimness of industrial life, particularly during the long years of depression, but we feel that his observation cannot be permitted to pass unchallenged, and it constitutes a slander on the general body of ringers.

There is one thing the Central Council of Church Bell Ringers has been contesting from its earliest days, and that is the impression very widely held that those who ring bells are a dissolute body of men and that an essential qualification for being a good ringer is to drink to excess. Throughout the length and breadth of the country the various Guilds and Associations have been continuous in their endeavours to remove such impressions from the minds of the public and to insist that conduct in the ringing chamber shall be most orderly and dignified, as fitting in God's House. It is, indeed, sad to reflect that the hard work of 50 years, both among Guild members and in educating the public, has not reached South Wales.

We do not attempt to deny that in the middle of last century and after there was cause for very much concern as to the conduct of ringers in many towers. The objects of the Lancashire Association, which was established in 1876, give a definite pointer in this direction. They state: 'The chief object of this Association is the promotion of belfry reform. As it is obvious that a great deal of good may be accomplished thereby, this Society has been established. It directs its attention, among other points, to the following:—

'The furtherance of good and peaceable behaviour in the Belfries of our Churches, it being remembered that the Belfry is an integral part of the Church, and therefore consecrated to the service of God; while the bells and ringers are intended to be exercised equally with the organ and choir, for His glory and worship, and not for recreation and self-pleasing only.

'The encouragement of care, and attention being given to the cleanliness and comfort of the Belfry and the proper condition of the bells, as in both these respects the grossest neglect is too often apparent to the degradation of the ringer and his work.

'The obtaining of full recognition of the ringer's office as essentially a branch of the Church work, that he and his service, which demand much time, labour and mental skill, may be placed upon a true and acknowledged basis.'

Now, the above objects were drafted 75 years ago when conditions were not satisfactory. We have examined the objects of a number of associations, and there is not one that does not emphasise that ringers are church workers. The Bath and Wells Diocesan Association start their objects with these words: 'To recognise the true position of ringers as church workers.' The Essex Association summarise their outlook as follows: 'Objects of the Association shall be to secure the recognition of ringers as church workers, to encourage ringing for Divine Service, to promote the art of change ringing and to supply, when required, practical information concerning bells and fittings.'

The Winchester and Portsmouth Diocesan Association bring into their objects the relationship of clergy and ringers. Two of their objects read:—

'The recognition of the true position of ringers as church workers and the encouragement of the preservation of church bells in an efficient condition.

'To promote in co-operation with the incumbents of the churches a proper appreciation and observance of the belfry as part of God's House.'

The besetting sin of this age is not drunkenness. Recently the writer was reading the report of the National Society for Preventing Cruelty to Children, and there it was stated that drunkenness, which was once the main cause of child neglect, is not responsible for the Society's work, the majority of cases arising from broken homes. An examination of police reports presented at Brewster Sessions indicate that we are a sober nation. There are in the South of England a number of Petty Sessional Divisions with a population of 75,000 that do not average more than six cases of drunkenness a year.

Sobriety in the belfry has been firmly inculcated into the Exercise, and we would go so far as to assert that ringers as a body are just as sober as choirmen and other church workers. No ringing master would tolerate the presence in a belfry of anyone who showed the slightest sign of being under the influence of drink, and we feel certain that there is a recognition throughout the whole of the Guilds and Associations that the belfry is a part of God's House.

We can only hope that the Archdeacon of Carmarthen was either jesting or that his observations had been misheard. If they were uttered in earnest then we feel that the Exercise as a body has been gravely slandered. Of all the sins of ringers of this age drunkenness is not one. We are all conscious of our shortcomings, but our experience has been that ringers are as sober and God-fearing people as any cross section of the community.

REDEDICATION OF RING OF TEN AT ALL SAINTS' CHURCH, FULHAM

AN OLD RUDHALL TEN.

On Sunday, July 9th, at evensong — a glorious summer evening with the sun streaming through the west windows of the church — the Bishop of Kensington rededicated the well-known ring of ten, cast by Rudhall, of Gloucester, in the eighteenth century for Fulham Church, being one of the nine rings of ten by this founder. It is fine both in tone and weight and also in the beauty of the bells themselves, which are decorated with the Rudhall running ornaments.

The bells have been tuned and rehung on ball bearings in the old frame, which has been strengthened by numerous vertical bolts and heavy angle brackets by Messrs. Gillett and Johnston. The ringers expressed themselves highly delighted with the splendid 'go' and the great improvement in the tone and timing of the bells, and all agreed that Gillett and Johnston had made an excellent job of it.

At the conclusion of the Office, which was sung in the presence of a very large congregation, the churchwardens, choir and clergy conducted the Bishop to the tower while the hymn, 'We love the place, O God,' was sung. The churchwardens then received the bell ropes from the Master of the Bells, Mr. Hugh M. Page, and presented them to the Bishop for dedication, who thus renewed the service to the Church which this fine ring has already given for more than two centuries.

A most unusual and happy feature of this ceremony was the fact that it had been arranged for the trap door between the church and the ringing room to be open, thus symbolising the close connection between ringers and service. From a practical point of view, it also had the advantage that it enabled the team to pull off into rounds at precisely the right moment, while the procession returned to the east end. After the dedication and prayers, the hymn, 'Ye watchers and ye holy ones,' was sung.

The Bishop in his sermon spoke of bells having always been used to call attention to something of importance, instancing the town crier, the fire engine and the telephone, and spoke of the message sent out by the bells in times of joy and in times of sorrow and as a reminder of the triumphant hope of life beyond the grave. The Bishop quoted Psalm 19, 'There is neither speech nor language; but their voices are heard among them,' emphasising the important part ringers play in the work of the Church in sending out through their bells the Christian message.

Before the Blessing, the hymn, 'Thy Hand, O Lord, has guided,' was sung while the choir, churchwardens and clergy preceding the Bishop, who was vested in cope and mitre, moved in procession round the church.

After the service, a chosen band of ringers, drawn partly from the local Fulham band and also from St. Paul's Cathedral, rang a perfectly struck three courses of Stedman, conducted by Mr. H. Langdon, conductor of the St. Paul's band, who has been a ringer at St. Paul's for fifty years. A number of ringers were present.

NEWSPAPER CUTTINGS WANTED

Dear Sir,—In letters recently published in your columns reference has been made to articles on bells in 'The Daily Telegraph' and 'Punch' as well as to 'sordid articles in the daily newspapers commenting on the moral failings of one or two of our number'! I shall be much obliged to any of your readers observing anything in the Press of exceptional interest to ringers if they will cut it out and send it to me—that is, unless they wish to keep it themselves. Any such matter will be of value to the Literature and Press Committee.

—Yours truly,

F. LI. EDWARDS.

Kington Magna Rectory, Gillingham, Dorset.

FULHAM PARISH CHURCH.—From an old print more than 100 years old. The bells were originally cast or recast by Rudhall in the middle of the last century. The inscriptions were typical of those on Rudhall's bells, such as, 'Peace and good neighbourhood,' 'John Ruddell cast us all,' 'Prosperity to the Church of England,' 'Prosperity to the parish,' and on the tenor 'I to the church the living call, and to the grave I summon all.'

Mr. J. T. Smith, in his book, 'Book for a Rainy Day,' gives this quotation: 'The Thames is famous for bells,' observed a Thames waterman, in 1820, to a gentleman whom he was carrying from the Temple to Hungerford Stairs. 'You like bells, then?' was the answer. 'Oh, yes, sir! I was a famous ringer in my youth at St. Mary Overies. They are beautiful bells; but of all the bells give me those of Fulham, they are so soft, so sweet. St. Margaret's are fine bells, so are St. Martin's; but, after all, Fulham for me, I say, sir. But lor', sir, I forgot where you said I was to take you to.'

COVENTRY DIOCESAN GUILD

QUARTERLY MEETING.

The quarterly meeting was held on July 8th in beautiful weather at Southam. The Rector (the Rev. R. T. Murray, former president of the Guild) returned from a fete in a neighbouring village to conduct the service. The organist was Miss A. Timms, a ringing member from Allesley.

Tea at the Craven Arms followed and then the business meeting was held, presided over by Mr. F. E. Pervin. Apologies were read from the president (the Rev. R. R. P. Rigby), Mrs. L. J. Hinde (hon. member), Miss J. Griffiths, Messrs. J. H. W. White, L. J. Hinde, A. J. Hinde, F. W. Perrens, J. E. S. Moreton, R. J. Edden, L. Trevor and L. Callow.

Arising out of the minutes, Mr. and Mrs. Vann (St. Andrew's, Rugby) reported having gone to Bilton with a view to assisting the local band (following a 'Ringing World' letter from the captain there complaining of lack of instructors). They were completely ignored and would, therefore, not proffer their services as instructors there again. Mr. F. E. Pervin had not been able to arrange the June meeting of the Coventry District there owing to lack of time, but would endeavour to fix one there shortly.

Monk's Kirby was selected as the meeting place for October.

Ratification of election prior to peals was made in the cases of G. E. Large (Claines), J. D. Johnson (Sedgeberrow) and N. J. Goodman (King's Norton).

Ringing to suit all with emphasis on instruction for learners of the local band continued until 8 p.m., when three car loads went on to visit Ladbroke, in the heart of 'leafy Warwickshire,' for a ring on the five bells there under the guidance of Mr. R. J. Edden. These bells proved much more difficult to manage than the eight at Southam, but members were glad of the opportunity to ring there. A tour of the beautifully appointed church and a sing song round the organ completed the sojourn to Ladbroke, and the journey home through lovely lanes brought to an end a grand trip.

White House, Caister-on-Sea, Norfolk.

An unusual accident happened at Dunsfold Parish Church, Surrey, on Saturday, in ringing after an unsuccessful peal attempt. The guide ring of the tenor rope became detached, slid down the rope and struck the ringer, Mr. Ernest Warner, of Woking, formerly of Cranleigh, on the head. He received a nasty cut, and after receiving attention from the village nurse was taken to the Woking Hospital by car.

We have received an inquiry as to which tower has had the greatest number of peals rung in it during the last 50 years.

The peal at Caston, Norfolk, on July 15th, was a bachelors' peal. Ringers of 1, 2 and 3 are from the home tower, and 4, 5 and 6 members of the Bunwell company.

A correspondent writes: Another peal ascribed to two associations (Lancashire and A.S.C.Y.). There was a similar instance a few months ago. This is contrary to a Central Council ruling surely! If not, it ought to be. In any case, the conductor is a member of the Council and should know.

We regret that in sub-editing the report of the peal at Windermere last week we missed a slip by our esteemed contributor that one ringer was credited with ringing two bells. Mr. E. Jenkins, of Bradford, writes: I have been accused of many things in my time, viz., of climbing up the rope like a monkey, trying to get through the sally hole or jumping off the box to peer in some handsome young ringer's face, but I must disclaim the performance attributed to me in this week's 'Ringing World' at Windermere of ringing the 4th and tenor (shades of Jim Washbrook). The 4th on that occasion was rung by that firmament explorer, Mr. Fred Dunkerley.

BELFRY GOSSIP

The Leicester Diocesan Leaflet contains a notice from the Archdeacons stating: Mr. Ernest Morris, who is well known in Leicestershire in connection with the Diocesan Bell Ringers, is ready to visit churches if invited by the incumbents, to make a record of all church registers and other documents, thus bringing up to date the work of the late Mr. Hortop. Mr. Morris is well qualified for such a task. A Fellow of the Royal Historical Society and of the Royal Geographical Society, he has recently been made a member of the Royal Society of Literature and we understand that his name has gone forward for election to a Fellowship in the Society of Antiquarians. He is also an active member of the Central Committee for the National Register of Archives—Leicestershire and Rutland.

Work has started on Maulden, Beds, bells. The present ring of six is to be rehung and two new trebles added.

An indication of the regard of the community for church bells was found in the village of Melbury Osmond, Wilts. Here it was proposed to restore the church bells as a memorial to those who fell in the two world wars. A referendum was held among all those over the age of 18. The results was 188 in favour and 30 against.

Mr. D. T. Matkin writes: The footnote to the peal of Spliced Royal, rung on handbells at Bournemouth on July 7th, should have the words 'in hand' added thereto. The first peal in four Spliced Royal methods, London, Bristol, Cambridge and Superlative Surprise, was rung on tower bells in 1936, conducted by Charles H. Kippin, who, I trust, will accept my apology for an incorrect claim.

ST. DAVID'S DIOCESAN GUILD

LETTERS

THE NEW BISHOP MEETS HIS RINGERS.

HEAVERY showers did not deter the ringers of the counties of Pembroke, Carmarthen and Cardigan from attending the annual general meeting of the Guild at Carmarthen (St. Peter's) on July 15th.

Special interest lay in the fact that Dr. W. T. Havard, enthroned Bishop of St. David's in June, had consented to be president of the Guild following his predecessor, Dr. Prosser, and would give the address at the special form of service and preside at the meeting.

Some 54 ringers and friends, including a good muster of ringers from Llanbadarn Fawr, now famous locally for its two bands, attended the service, conducted by Archdeacon J. Richards Pugh and the Rev. Jones, with the ringing organist, Mr. T. D. Williams, of Llanstephan. Lady Dynevor and the Rev. Tudor Hughes, Llanbadarn Fawr, supported their bands.

The Bishop, in a sermon composed of well-chosen quotations and easy language, reminded the ringers of the words of St. Paul, 'ye then as workers together with Him,' and explained that being fellow workers with God they had an important part to play in the Christian life. The rules of the Guild seemed admirable and he was impressed by the idea that members should be recognised as church worshippers.

He spoke of the age of bellringing and quoted Freud, who said that when they heard church bells they could hear something which they could have heard in the same place 800 years ago. He told of the way in which the Mediaeval ages had cherished art and architecture and thought that although the originals had been copied and modified since, nothing in our modern world could surpass their beauty.

Church bells and in particular a ring of church bells were beautiful things and, like most beautiful things which they inherited, they took them for granted. Ringers proved that they cherished the lovely bells when they exercised upon them in their act of service and worship.

The Bishop went on to warn his listeners that it was not enough to be a Christian so that they might serve their fellow-men the better or to make the world better for having lived in it, nor be a Christian as a means to an end. Religion was adoration. They should be in the state described in the hymn, 'Lost in wonder, love and praise.' If they professed Christianity without worship the next generation might repudiate the whole basis of Christian life. As the late Archbishop Temple said, 'It is sometimes thought that conduct is supremely important and that worship helps it. This is entirely wrong. The truth is that worship is supremely important and conduct tests it.'

Dr. Havard closed with a blessing upon the Guild's work and that of the ringers in whatsoever parish they were so that they might be the means of bringing Christ's people to worship at His feet.

After the service tea was provided by St. Peter's Church in appetising variety and the meeting followed.

THE BUSINESS MEETING.

Dr. Havard thanked the Guild for honouring him by making him president and welcomed the ringers to Carmarthen.

The report of the hon. secretary stated that the Guild was now five years old. Quarterly meetings had been held in various parts of the diocese. The membership now stood at 144, out of which 88 were ringers. A peal of Doubles and Plain Bob Minor had been rung and seven quarter peals. Two peals had been rung on handbells at Lampeter College. He urged members to 'put their backs into ringing and let us have a better standard of ringing in the diocese.'

The hon. treasurer's report showed a balance in hand of £15 and £16 in the Bell Restoration Fund.

The officers were re-elected as follows: Master of the Guild, Mr. H. Jenkins (Tenby); hon. secretary, Mr. C. H. Hawkins (Llanelli); hon. treasurer, Mr. W. P. E. Sage (Burry Port); hon. auditor, Mr. B. Rees (Burry Port). Messrs. D. H. Betts (Haverfordwest) and T. Griffiths (Tenby) were proposed for Ringing Master; the former was elected by show of hands.

The committee was re-elected as follows: Mr. D. Betts (Haverfordwest), Miss Trehearne (Llanstephan), Messrs. R. Scudamore (Llanidilo), T. Griffiths (Tenby), W. J. Harries (Llanbadarn Fawr), T. Owen (Carmarthen), G. Francis (Llanelli), and V. Martin (St. David's). Llanstephan was chosen as the church for the 1951 bellringing competition.

A discussion took place on the question of paying for teas at meetings. Mrs. J. Thomas, of Burry Port, proposed that all members should pay 1s., but it was eventually decided that members should pay the actual cost of the tea and that the secretary should advertise this cost before the meeting.

The secretary was asked to obtain the cost of producing certificates of membership from a sketch he exhibited to the meeting.

A collection for the Bell Restoration Fund realised £2 6s.

Pembroke Church was selected for the place of the next quarterly meeting (September 9th).

Mr. A. Hoare, of Swansea, was elected delegate member to the Central Council.

NO RINGING CLERGY.

A request was put to the president by Mr. D. H. Betts, of Haverfordwest, that as the Bishop went about the diocese he would do his best to encourage the clergy to take up ringing. He thought it a pity that there were no ringing clergy in the diocese and deplored the ignorance of the public in bellringing in general. He suggested that the clergy would be the means of encouraging persons of a good intellectual standard to take up ringing so that there should be a higher standard of ringing than now. Mr. W. J. Harries, of Llanbadarn Fawr, supported.

The Archdeacon of Carmarthen (the Ven. J. R. Pugh) took the opportunity of stating that many clergy were put off by the fact that so many ringers never attended service and many rang whilst drunk, so that he was half afraid to take anyone to such a belfry.

Mr. Betts rose to state that there were good and bad in all walks of life and that the presence of clergy in the belfry would keep the atmosphere right and he repeated that the ringing society wanted a higher level of intelligence and more enthusiasm.

Mr. T. Griffiths said that during his 40 years at Tenby the belfry had always been regarded and used with as much reverence as the altar.

After the meeting the ringers returned to St. Peter's and practised standard methods on the eight bells.

BRAY RINGING MASTER BEREAVED

Mrs. Frances Alice Russell, of 49, Ray Mill Road West, Maidenhead, wife of Mr. F. J. Russell, Ringing Master at St. Michael's, Bray, for 26 years, died on Wednesday of last week, aged 52. She had a long illness.

Born at Denchworth, near Wantage, Mrs. Russell came to live at Bray in 1915 and learned to ring in 1919. She and her husband moved to nearby Maidenhead 12 years ago.

The funeral was at Bray on Monday, conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. E. S. C. Lowman), who is chairman of the East Berks and South Bucks Branch of the Oxford Diocesan Guild. There was half-muffled ringing during the evening.

SPANNERS IN THE WORKS

Dear Sir,—The implication contained in Mr. C. W. Woolley's letter is so serious that we crave the indulgence of your columns to reply at once. He warns would-be writers to the Decisions Sub-Committee that unless their views coincide with that committee, they will be ignored, as that is his experience. Mr. Woolley did write to us last year, and suggested that the existing decisions of the Council regarding record lengths should all be scrapped, as they were obsolete and unnecessary.

We could well understand his taking this view, as some time previously he had taken part in an alleged record performance of Double Norwich on handbells without the conditions laid down by the Council having been observed. We would point out to him, and others, that one of the primary reasons for bringing the Central Council into being was to formulate standards and conditions under which peals were to be rung.

Mr. Woolley apparently is of opinion that no such rules are necessary, and it would appear on re-reading his letter to us that he would prefer a state of things where everyone can be free to do and ring whatever they please, and when rules and standards are not convenient they should be abolished—that is a kind of reasoning which is sadly all too familiar these days.

It is generally understood that the Council has no power to enforce its decisions, but to secure recognition, performances should conform to the rules and standards laid down.

We, as a committee, are not making any decisions—the Council will do that—our job being to report on existing decisions and make suggestions for modification. In order to test the feeling of the Exercise we have made several requests for viewpoints, and we quote Mr. Woolley's so that a general idea may be formed as to its value.

As a responsible officer of the Council he should know better than hamper the work of this committee, already difficult enough, and we trust that those interested will not be influenced by his 'warning' and will write to us when, as previously stated, viewpoints will be collated and considered sympathetically.

Whilst we are writing on the subject of the Decisions may we briefly reply to Mr. Butler, who champions peals rung without a cover? He will find there is no need for the committee to publish its recommendations on these performances—they have already done so. If Mr. Butler will use such words as 'idle and nonsensical to bleat, etc.' he must not be surprised if we are stung to retort that perhaps most people would prefer bleating to braying.—Yours faithfully,

J. FRANK SMALLWOOD.

ARTHUR KNIGHTS' PEALS

Dear Sir,—I am informed that Arthur Knights rang 207 peals on Chesterfield bells and his son, Benjamin A., 125.

This was stated in 'The Ringing World' when peal ringing there was suspended about 20 years ago when the spire became unsafe.

Mr. Whitehead, in giving 270 as the number, had the right figures, but the wrong way round.

OLDSWINFORD TENOR

Dear Sir,—The weight of the tenor at Oldswinford, Stourbridge, Worcs, is 11½ cwt. in F sharp, and not 18 cwt. 3 qr. 26 lb. as given in your peal report ('Ringing World,' dated July 14th, 1950).—Yours truly, THOMAS HEMMING (Conductor of Peal).

THE BANISTER FAMILY

Dear Sir,—On May 12th, 'The Ringing World' published a letter from Mr. A. R. Botting, of Ashfield, N.S.W.

Commenting on my letter of April 1st, he says that William Banister had recorded all the College Youths' peals from 1724 to 1873. Among others, Mr. Botting particularly mentions the four noted peals rung at Woolwich, namely, the Superlative and London Surprise peals of 1849, the Grandsire peal of 1852 and the Stedman peal of 1861.

Records of these peals are in the belfries—there are two, the upper one being the present ringing chamber—of St. Mary's Church, Woolwich, and are well preserved, legible and clear.

Mr. Botting presumes that the Grandsire peal is famous because it was rung in 2 hours 53 minutes.

This peal is known as 'The Banister Peal,' and the peal board is headed, 'St. Mary's Society,' Woolwich, with a sub-heading, 'A Family Peal,' in larger type. A footnote reads as follows:—

'This is the only peal on record, which was rung by a father and his six sons, who rang the changes, and were stationed in their places according to seniority.'

It was conducted by Henry Banister (father), who rang the 7th, and his son, William, rang the 4th. Edward West, who was Henry's son-in-law, rang the tenor and completed the band.

I leave your readers to satisfy themselves why this peal is regarded as being famous.

A COLLEGE YOUTH PEAL.

Mr. Botting also says that as the Stedman peal of 1861 is not recorded by Banister, it was not a College Youths' peal. The peal boards reads:—

St. Mary's, Woolwich. On Wednesday, February 1st, 1861, the following members of 'The Woolwich Branch Society of College Youths' rang on these bells a complete peal of Triples of Stedman's Principle of 5,040 changes in 2 hours 52 minutes: William Banister treble, Jas. Banister 2, F. H. Banister 3, Thos. Banister 4, Hy. Banister 5, Jno. Banister 6, Geo. Banister 7, Hy. Bright tenor. Conducted by William Banister.

I cannot determine what connection (if any) Hy. Bright had with the family, but the following footnote reads:—

'This is the greatest performance ever achieved by one family.'

I would point out that the peal board for this peal, and also that which records the Surprise peals of 1849, show that they were rung by members of 'The Woolwich Branch Society of College Youths,' so I submit that the Stedman peal was indeed a College Youths peal.

Seeing that this peal was a family affair and that he conducted it himself, it is surprising that William Banister did not include it in his records, mentioned by Mr. Botting.

A tribute to William Banister on the occasion of his 88th birthday was printed in 'The Ringing World' of March 1st, 1912, in which the writer says: 'Unfortunately, he (Banister) has no complete list of his peal.' And again in a further tribute at the death of William Banister at the age of 92, which appeared in 'The Ringing World' of February 16th, 1917, the writer says: 'It has always seemed a pity to us that he kept no record of his peals.'

Of Banister's ringing activities and of his public life these two tributes, together with another one which was printed in 'The Ringing World' of March 7th, 1913, give a detailed account, far too long for me to repeat, but it appears that when Mr. Banister arrived in Devon he was sought out by Col. Trelawney and Col. Troyte.

Col. Troyte wrote a book called 'Change Ringing' for the use of beginners (I have a copy of this book), and in the conclusion he acknowledges the help given to him by Messrs. Banister, Haley, Musket and Wood, which enabled him to publish it.

This book was supplemented later by another publication by Mr. Banister, who carried on to eight bells the work which Col. Troyte had written for the instruction of ringers on five and six bells. This, no doubt, is the 'Treatise on Ringing,' which has been the subject of several letters in 'The Ringing World,' recently and which prompted Mr. Botting to write from Australia.

FAMILY HISTORY.

Of the Banister family I have been able to gather some information which I hope will interest some of your readers.

Mr. Henry Banister, at the age of seven, commenced his service under the Crown, serving during the reigns of George III., George IV., William IV. and Queen Victoria. In 1797 he entered Woolwich Arsenal as a cartridge boy and remained in this employment until 1799 when he obtained a situation in Woolwich Dockyard as a caulker's apprentice, serving eight years until 1810.

He then joined the Royal Navy as a caulker and left for the East Indies in H.M.S. 'Chichester.' She was wrecked in a hurricane and Banister was saved 'only by a miracle.' He was then drafted to the flagship, H.M.S. 'Illustrious,' and was present at the capture of Java in 1811, for which he was given a medal.

He returned to Woolwich in 1813 and re-entered the Royal Dockyard as a caulker. In 1841 he was promoted to Inspector of Caulkers, a post he held until his retirement on pension at the age of 70.

It was no doubt during this period that he was so active in ringing circles, together with his six sons. He, his sons and 'a few others,' comprised the Woolwich Band of Ringers, and their activities brought fame to the town, not only by their ringing in the tower, but also their performances with hand-bells, said to be of their own manufacture, at concerts, etc., whereby they raised a considerable sum of money for charity.

Notwithstanding the overthrow of church rates, and the abandonment of gratuities, the Banisters continued to meet in the belfry at the church, morning and evening, and 'chime in' the congregation. I have heard stories, locally, that on occasions they would climb the tower and sit among the bells and ring hymns and tunes on them with hammers.

Henry Banister was a ringer at Woolwich for well over 50 years and boasted that he could still ring a peal after his retirement from the dockyard. No doubt the Exercise would have read more about him and his five other boys had they not been so overshadowed by William.

With the departure of William to Devon in 1865, it seems that the family peal ringing came to an end, although the name does appear on other peal boards in the tower of later years.

AN ALDERMAN AND J.P.

Down in Devon William made his presence known, not only as a ringer, but as a public servant as well. He sat as a member on the Corporation, also as an alderman and J.P. His aldermanic seat was left vacant for five years while he was in South Wales, but he did not return to Devon to occupy it again. He retired in 1912 and returned to London to reside with his daughter and son-in-law at Fulham.

His wife predeceased him by some 40 odd years, and towards the end of his life he must have felt somewhat lonely, for he was in his 70's when he proposed to his sister-in-law, who was the widow of his brother James, when she was in her 80's. He was refused, but the old lady allowed him to share her and her husband's grave in Woolwich Cemetery. He died on January 31st, 1917, at the age of 92.

At the funeral in Woolwich Cemetery, College Youths rang a course of Stedman Triples over the grave: T. H. Taffender 1-2, C. F. Winney 3-4, W. A. Alps 5-6, H. R. Passmore 7-8. On the following Saturday the College Youths rang a funeral peal at the Church of St. Mary-le-Bow, Champside. The whole pull and stand was rung to represent the deceased's age. The band contained some well-known ringers, some of whom are still with us and are ringing to-day.

The last link with the family was broken when the widow of James Banister passed away in Woolwich at the great age of 97 in 1929.

I would like to give this extract from a letter written by one of William's three granddaughters quite recently. After stating that she remembers him quite well, she writes:—

'You will probably imagine from the eulogies written about him that William Banister was a charming and genial old gentleman. The truth is that, like a good many other noted men, he was not at all easy to live with. He kept his charm for out of doors, and was a morose autocrat in the bosom of his family. He had his good points, of course, and was very generous, and we think that in his funny way he was attached to us.'

In conclusion, I wish to thank Mrs. D. Leslie, now of Blackheath, the great-granddaughter of James Banister, who so kindly gave me access to letters and other details of the family history.—Yours truly, ALFRED GROVE.

MINOR WITH A COVER BELL

Dear Sir,—On reading the letter from the pen of Mr. Butler on the above subject I was much struck by one or two points contained therein.

Concerning the Sefton peal of Minor rung with a cover bell, I also am of the opinion that this peal would have been duly credited had not the question of a peal of Major with a cover bell not been implicated.

Previous to this Sefton case peals of Minor with a cover had always been accepted, and then suddenly without any warning, and certainly without any rule or decision of the Council, this peal was disqualified.

I notice also in this particular case that the Lancashire Association are not in agreement with the Council, as they recognised the peal in their annual report.

To disqualify all peals of Minor with a cover bell as is suggested would, I think, be a mistake and likely to create a feeling that the Council is out of touch with that great body of ringers who through various reasons do not get much opportunity of advancement.

A peal of Bob Minor with a cover to these people is a very good performance and much better in many cases from the point of view of 'striking' than if they rang it without.

I cannot see that any harm whatever will be done to the cause of ringing by recognising these peals, whilst if we disallow them as is suggested great disappointment will be felt by a large number of ringers whose chances for peal ringing in the higher methods is so remote.

It also seems to me to be a mistake in refusing to publish these (so-called) unorthodox peals before the decision to do so has been ratified by the Council.—Yours, etc.,

'40 YEARS AMONGST LEARNERS.'

17 SPLICED MAJOR METHODS

Dear Sir,—In the composition published last week in 17 Spliced Major methods. Richmond Bob and New London Court should be interchanged throughout. For each course that was printed, Wellington, Richmond, New London, Gainsborough, Little, Plain, it should read Wellington, New London, Richmond, Gainsborough, Little, Plain. Also the — at H should be omitted in the first course.—Yours sincerely,

THE BELLS OF NEW GUINEA

By the Rev. N. E. G. CRUTWELL, former Curate of Basingstoke.

I do not know whether the psychologists classify a complaint Campanophobia. But if they do so, we New Guinea missionaries ought to be among the sufferers from that complaint, for if anyone's life is more punctuated by the cacophony of cheap and improvised 'bells,' I should like to know who it is.

We are awakened at a quarter to six by a rapid clanging from the big bell in the red-flowered Poinciana tree. Dawn is just breaking as the boys emerge from their dormitory, rubbing their eyes, before kneeling down for their morning hymn and prayer. Soon more clangs announce time for Holy Communion, and those who have put their names down the night before go up to church, while the others get their sariffs and cut the ever-growing grass. At 6.30 the Angelus rings—a pleasant mellow sound if the sawn-off iron girder is hit in the right way, but a horrible 'clink' if it is not. Some people may be surprised that we observe the Angelus, but is it not a whole-some custom to pause for a couple of minutes three times a day to recollect the presence of God? Within the church at the 'Holy, holy, holy,' and again at the Consecration, the Sanctus bell rings a soft 'boom' produced by a brass shell case acquired in the war.

We are hardly out of church again when the big bell clangs to tell the children that it is time to knock off work and go for a swim. Then comes a rapid 'tinkle' from the mission house, announcing that our breakfast is ready, followed shortly afterwards by a deep 'bonk-bonk!' from an old kerosene drum, which indicates that the boys' breakfast of cooked bananas is awaiting them.

So it goes on all day—'Clang! Boom! Bong! Clink! Ting-aling! Bonk!' Time for dispensary. Time for matins. Time for school. Time for break. More school. Lunch. Playtime. Afternoon school. Even-song. Dinner. Evening prayers. and, finally nine clangs at 9 o'clock, after which all boys must be in bed. Then—at last—silence.

However, without all these 'bells' we could never keep our routine going, for New Guinea people have no clocks and very little sense of time. And without routine we could never fit in all our activities. Let no one imagine that a missionary's life is an easy or a restful one. He is on the go all the time. We get a good deal of fun out of improvising bells. Menapi is lucky enough to possess one, though its tone does not exactly ravish the ear. The great 'bell' of Dogura Cathedral, which can be heard for many miles, is the plate of a large boiler, which, when struck in the right place, is as sonorous as and highly reminiscent of the great gong that precedes so many of our film productions.

If you feel 'I want to ring bells,' come to Papua. I guarantee that we can keep you busy. We cannot promise you Campanology, but plenty of Tinnabulation.

Wall Plaque in Surrey Church

A picture of the plaque on the wall of the west end porch of Walton-on-Thames Parish Church, which was dedicated at the meeting of the North-Western District of the Surrey Association at Walton on June 24th.

A company of 31 ringers and friends made good use of the bells till service time. The Vicar (Rev. G. Crichton Melville) performed the dedication ceremony.

A nice tea was provided by four of the ringers' wives, the company being joined by the Rev. Crichton Melville, Mrs. Melville, Mr. Rees (people's warden), Mrs. Rees and Mr. Price (organist).

At the meeting two ringing members and five compounding members were elected. The date of the next meeting for September 24th was altered to September 9th to allow for holidays. A vote of thanks to the Vicar, organist and the ladies for the tea was enthusiastically given. Ringing continued till 8.30 p.m.

Midlands Meet Middlesex

A successful and very happy day was spent by members of the Midland Counties Guild on their visit to Middlesex. Some months ago Mr. George Hart and friends visited the Midlands and successful peals were rung and this 'return visit' arranged. The secretary, with Messrs. Trotman and Whitehead, set out by road in good time on their 100 mile journey, arriving at Harrow Weald to find 'Ernest' already there. The Mayne family and members of the local band were there to give the welcome, and Ernest was particularly delighted to meet once again 'the man who wanted land' (see 'Ringing World,' October, 1924), who heaped 'Coles' on him by reminding him of the time he rang the tenor at Whitechapel to a peal.

Harrow Weald bells soon settled down to a brisk pace and nothing happened save now and then the 7th gave a beatific smile to the tenor as some well-known part end came up. The peal coincided with the 21st anniversary of the wedding of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Mayne, and all concerned will wish them continued happiness.

An excellent lunch, then off to Pinner— noted for producing James George!—where we met several friends. Here, 'Go, Double Norwich,' simply didn't, so Trotman trotted out the 'old faithful' and this went along at a fine pace, the 7th just putting it where it ought to be according to the time allowed by the tenor, and being ably backed up by the 6th. The youngster on the treble (80 not out) rang like the veteran he is and a grand peal resulted which must be one of the quickest on these bells.

Considerable difficulties had to be overcome to get Pinner bells fixed up. First the clock people had erected a scaffold through some of the bell wheels and not without a lot of diplomatic argument was this dismantled. Then at the last moment more scaffolding was erected in the ringing room to enable death-watch beetle preventive treatment to the ceiling to be carried out. Again much fact was needed to get this so moved to enable the ropes to be manipulated.

Tea awaited us at the Old Oak Cafe in a delightful and quaint 'maggie' building—a real bit of old Pinner—and several friends joined in. After Ernest had voiced the thanks and appreciation of the Midlanders, to which Mr. Genna replied, the secretary trio set off on their long journey home, and so ended a grand day's proceedings.

FALSE PEAL CAMBRIDGE MAXIMUS

Dear Sir,—With reference to the false peal of Cambridge Surprise Maximus rung at Lincoln Cathedral on June 30th, 1949. I find on proving the composition given in 'The Ringing World' of June 30th, 1950, that the wrong and 10th leads of the ninth course are respectively false against the 1st and 5th leads of the third course, and the wrong lead of the seventh course is false against the 2nd lead of the first course.—Yours truly, LESLIE W. G. MORRIS.

A SOMERSET AND DORSET TOUR

EIGHT PEALS SCORED FROM 14 ATTEMPTS.

A WISH to turn in the tenor at Sherborne Abbey to a peal of Surprise Major started the idea of a tour in that area this summer, so on Saturday, July 1st, eleven ringers, six from Ashford (Kent), three from Bedfordshire and one each from Swindon and Stanmore converged on Yeovil, which was to be the week's headquarters.

West Coker was the first town to be visited, and here a good peal of Superlative was rung. Those not in this peal went to Chard, where one stood in a peal of Stedman Triples rung in honour of Josiah Morris' 83rd birthday, conducted by his son George, Josiah being one of those listening outside.

Sunday morning found us at Yeovil Parish Church, where we were welcomed by Mr. Tom Selter, whose help and advice made the job of organising the tour much easier. This grand ten was soon going to well-struck Caters, Cambridge Royal and Bristol on the back eight. A run through Glastonbury brought us to Wells, where we were due to ring at the Cathedral at 2 p.m. for evensong. Caters, Plain and Treble Bob Royal went quite well, considering the majority had never encountered bells of this weight before. Almost everyone attended the service afterwards. For evening ringing we joined the local band at Shepton Mallet, where a very good course of London was rung.

AMONG THE HEAVY SIXES.

Heavy rain greeted us on Monday morning. At our first tower, Kingsdon, we encountered the first of a series of fine heavy sixes, which had been booked for the week. Here the Kent men found that the Rector had previously been a curate back at Birchington. At Drayton an attempt for Yorkshire failed about half-way through. Having an hour to spare after lunch we visited Fivehead, and after delay in getting permission to ring, two very short touches on this six, which are rung from the ground floor without guides, was all there was time for. A very good peal of Yorkshire on the lovely eight at Curry Rivel made up for the loss earlier in the day. In the evening two octagonal towers were visited. Barrington (6) and South Petherton (8), with its nice, airy, well-kept ringing room.

An attempt to raise the six at Queen Camel in peal on Tuesday morning was not very successful, but some good Cambridge and London Minor and Stedman Doubles were enjoyed. The 'lower' was done quite respectably. At Castle Cary a peal of Painswick was rung, and the best lunch of the week was found there at the Britannia. Short calls were made later at Bruton and Evercreech, a fine new Taylor ten. Ditchat was the next port of call, and after some refreshment this lovely ring was soon going nicely to Ashted, but this ended in a fatal trip about half-way through. Mr. Lintern, the local captain, very kindly offered us the bells for an attempt later in the week, but, unfortunately, this could not be fitted in.

There being only one peal attempt booked for Wednesday (afternoon), the morning was spent on light sixes. Hardington Mandeville was the first, a village off the beaten track having a very well-kept little church and a keen local band. Whilst we were ringing here Mr. Rendell, the local captain, kindly phoned for permission to ring at the next village, Haselbury Plucknett, where we were met by a very jovial vicar. Here we found a recently augmented six by Mears, tenor 63 cwt., a very nice job indeed. On to South Perrott, where there is a very old clock, one wheel of which has twice as many teeth as the others, which still keeps very good time. A peal attempt was made at Beaminster with New Cambridge. Some good ringing on bells, which all seem odd-struck, was maintained until about the half-way mark, when the seventh left the front too soon and the peal was gone! A short ring at Netherbury, then on to Lyme Regis, where some of the local ringers joined us for Yorkshire, London and Bristol.

WITH LYME REGIS RINGERS.

More rain came on Thursday morning, and after a short ring at Broadwindsor, we made our way through very narrow lanes across country to Whitchurch Canoniconum, where the church contains the tomb of its own patron saint. Canon Davidson and the captain of the local ringers welcomed us. The tower contains a ring of eight, tenor 17½ cwt. in D, which sounds more like 25 cwt. Ashted was again attempted, but proved one of our unlucky methods, for, after nearly three hours, the conductor had to call 'Stand' through missing a 'Middle.' After lunch at Bridport the party were joined by George Morris, Cuthbert Powell, Harry and Roger Keeley, from Lyme Regis, and Joe Barrett, from Beaminster, making two eights.

One party tried New Cambridge (another unlucky method) at Bradpole, which was lost after an hour's good ringing, while the others scored a good peal of Bristol on the very nice eight at Bridport. Further ringing was enjoyed at the only tower in Devon we visited—Axminster—where the bells have recently been rehung and are much above the average in tone and go.

The first call on Friday morning was at Stoke-under-Ham, where we had the pleasure of meeting Mrs. Powell. Everyone agreed that here was an ideal six in every respect, and the striking did them full justice. On to Martock, where a good peal of Yorkshire was rung, followed by a good lunch, thanks to Mr. Farrant. Leaving Marlock half an hour behind schedule, we next tried North Cadbury, where Mr. W. A. Osborn awaited us. This six was much admired for tone as well as go.

Still behind schedule when we reached Wincanton, the choir-master there kindly delayed the start of his choir practice until the peal of New Cambridge was over. However, during the first hour someone started to play the organ, making ringing difficult. Mr. Chilcott, the local captain, came to the rescue after a while and once more the new Gillett and Johnston eight could be heard properly. An early night was decided upon in view of the heavy programme arranged for the following day.

YORKSHIRE SURPRISE AT SHERBORNE.

The last day of the tour (Saturday) was reserved for peal attempts only, and at East Coker, Lincolnshire was scored easily before lunch in 2 hours 46 minutes. A return was made to Yeovil for lunch and collection of suitcases, and here the party split, three going to Dorchester to join five from Lyme Regis for New Cambridge, which again proved elusive. The rest went to Sherborne for Yorkshire, the main object of the tour. One ringer, so impressed by the note of the tenor when the clock struck two, on seeing the tenor-man later, said, 'You're in for a job. The clock struck two and Big Ben wasn't in it!' Anyway, a start was made soon before three, and after a couple of courses the bells settled down to a steady beat and a good peal was brought round in 3 hours 52 minutes, everyone rather tired but very happy. On adjourning to the local for some refreshment we had the pleasure of hearing the bells outside, as a rehearsal was in progress for a broadcast due to take place the next morning.

Three of the party, Harry Parkes, Bill Wenban and Tom Cullingworth, decided to travel home next day: the remainder, in two cars driven by Henry Harding and Fred Hucklestep, set out for Bedford and Ashford respectively, a distance of nearly 180 miles, Ashford being reached about 3 a.m. The three coming back on the Sunday, still in search of new towers, joined the local band at Stockbridge for morning ringing.

RINGERS' ROLL OF HONOUR

Dear Sir,—There are still some associations affiliated to the Central Council from which no list of members for the Ringers' Roll of Honour has been received. It would be of the greatest assistance if these outstanding returns could be sent in at once.

If any association has been fortunate enough to have sustained no loss of members by enemy action, it would be a great help if a nil return were sent in.

The final date for the despatch of these returns is September 30th, 1950.

I should like to take this opportunity of extending a cordial invitation to the associations which are not affiliated to the Central Council to co-operate in the compilation of the Ringers' Roll of Honour by sending to me the names of any of their members who lost their lives by enemy action. This would make the roll more complete. This information should be sent to me on the proper forms, copies of which I will gladly send to any secretaries who let me know how many they need.—Yours sincerely,

H. MILES.

THE COLERIDGE MEMORIAL

Dear Sir,—In reply to your leading article, the matter of the Coleridge Memorial is to be discussed at a special committee meeting, after which steps will be taken to obtain the approval of the general Guild for whatever scheme is suggested.

We entirely agree with you that it would be most unfortunate if the matter had to be shelved entirely until next July, and your readers may rest assured that this will not be allowed to happen.—Yours very truly,

SHOULD RECORDINGS BE PROHIBITED

Dear Sir,—Three times every Sunday I have to put up with the monstrosity of amplified gramophone records grating from my church. We have no tower, hence three of the speakers are bolted blatantly to a chimney stack, and a fourth decorates the ridge of the west end. I noticed one day with horror that the amplifier is only using one-tenth of its possible output. Every service I hear the same trip in striking, the same scratch as the needle reaches the end of a record. Twelve bells often hiss forth in a county that hasn't even got a ring of ten.

A considerable sum of public money was spent in purchasing this fiendish system, yet there exist plans for a tower and ring of bells to complete the church, and this money might well have been devoted to a better purpose.

What can be done? I believe ringers must make a definite stand, and refuse to make recordings unless they are sure they will not be misused. What pride can there be in having one's bells rung from another's chimney stack? There exists a firm which supplies recordings for our amplifier. If the ringers who made the recordings for the firm were paid for it, they should be deeply ashamed of themselves. The Central Council must advise ringers not to make recordings under any circumstances unless they are sure they will not be sold.

'HORRIFIED.'

During the eight days of the tour 34 towers were visited, and 14 peals attempted, of which only eight were successful. A good standard of striking was maintained throughout the week, and the many fine rings encountered will long be remembered, as will the warm welcome received from clergy and local ringers wherever we went. The willing advice and help of Messrs. J. T. Dyke, T. J. Setter and H. G. Keeley ensured that everything went off as planned.

CRAWLEY RINGERS TOUR DEVON & CORNWALL

TRAVELLED 1,011 MILES AND RANG
15,090 CHANGES.

ANOTHER very happy tour arranged by the Crawley, Sussex, ringers was brought to a successful conclusion when the coach that conveyed us over a distance of 1,011 miles came to its final halt of the tour outside Crawley railway station.

An early start was made from Crawley on Sunday, July 2nd, and the journey to the West Country was made via Petersfield, Wimborne, Dorchester, Bridport and Ottery St. Mary. Here we were joined by Mr. and Mrs. Roderick from Porthcawl. The bells of Ottery St. Mary were rung for evening service, and despite long draught and new ropes some excellent ringing was achieved, and this appeared to set the standard for the remainder of the week. Thence to the Golden Lion, Ashburton, our headquarters for the week.

Monday morning and afternoon found us at Plympton (St. Maurice's and St. Mary's) and Plymouth (St. Andrew's and Emmanuel). At Plympton (St. Maurice's), where the church contains a memorial to Sir Joshua Reynolds, some of our ringers visited the old pre-Norman castle nearby. Mr. H. Miles, of Carbis Bay, joined in the ringing at Plympton St. Mary's and at St. Andrew's, Plymouth. At St. Andrew's we were met by Mr. T. Myers and the touches rung included some excellent Stedman Caters. The last tower of the day was Buckland Monachorum, the Vicar and local ringers giving the visitors a warm welcome.

On Tuesday morning the first tower visited was Alphington. Here is a stone pulpit presented in 1881 by the Rev. Henry Thomas Ellacombe, 'one of the greatest authorities in the kingdom upon campanology,' in memory of his father, who had been Rector there. Next, to Silverton, where the ringing included a course of Bristol.

After an excellent lunch—which was usual throughout the week—we journeyed to Winkleigh. Here we were met by a number of local round ringers, and our standard of striking and the concluding fall in peal received most favourable comment from them. This was considered praise indeed, for the high standard of striking of Devon round ringers is known to all.

At North Tawton we were met by the incumbent, and our interest was aroused by a peal tablet recording a peal of 2,861 call changes in four hours. After tea at the Ring of Bells we went on to the delightful town of Chagford, where some our ringers made the acquaintance of the parish clerk, Mr. F. E. Cox.

IN CORNWALL.

On Wednesday morning we set out for Cornwall. A delay of about half an hour in crossing the Torpoint Ferry enabled us to take a trip by motor launch around Devonport Dock, where considerable interest was shown in the naval vessels, including H.M.S. 'Amethyst,' 'Anson,' 'Howe' and some U.S. ships. We reached St. Germans and were again delighted to meet Mr. H. Miles, who showed us the magnificent Norman doorway of the church. Our route then took us to Liskeard for lunch and to ring. The church is one of the largest in Cornwall, and after climbing the steep hill to the church we were met by the Rector. The methods rung included Cornwall Surprise Major. After ringing at Altarnon the return to Devon was made via Saltash Ferry. A delay here of some 20 minutes enabled us to stretch our legs and view the famous Saltash Bridge, constructed to the design of I. Brunel in 1859.

On Thursday, after ringing at Wolborough, we journeyed to Torquay, and after lunch, by way of a pleasant variation, we enjoyed a sea trip by motor launch across Torbay, around Berry Head and up the River Dart to Dittisham. Then by coach to Totnes, and here, on the magnificent eight—said to be the best for their weight in Devon—some good ringing and an excellent fall again drew favourable comment from the local ringers.

On Friday a journey across the moors via Dartmeet took us to St. Stephen's, Launceston. Werrington and Holsworthy were visited after lunch. At Holsworthy the recast octave by Gillett and Johnston were found to be very good, both tone and 'go' being excellent. Unfortunately, the ringing of the electro-pneumatic carillon, which rings every three hours, did not coincide with our visit. At Moreton Hampstead we were met by Mr. F. Myers, who had journeyed from Plymouth to ring with us. We journeyed back to Ashburton over the moors.

NORTH SOMERSET COAST.

Saturday saw us undertaking the longest journey with probably the most beautiful scenery of the week on our way to the north coast of Somerset. Ringing took place at Dulverton, referred to in 'Lorna Doone,' and Dunster, a quaint old town with its famous 12th century castle. At Dunster the church was filled with masses of beautiful flowers, and non-ringers in the party had the opportunity of visiting the Cloister gardens. At Minehead the very good ten were soon set going and the ringing here included Cambridge Royal.

Each evening, on returning to headquarters, various social activities were pursued after the evening meal. Handbell ringing figured largely, of course, but mention must be made of swimming in the hotel swimming pool and dancing in the ballroom and the strange game of skittles called 'Devil among the Tailors,' at which the Master of the Sussex County Association showed such uncanny skill.

In all 23 towers were visited and 15,090 changes were rung in 16 methods. These included various plain methods, the four standard Surprise methods, Cornwall, Norfolk and Yorkshire Surprise, as well as Stedman Caters and Cambridge Royal.

At breakfast on Sunday morning before our departure from Ashburton a presentation was made to Miss F. Wyman and Mr. Oliver Sippetts in recognition of the work involved in the organisation of the tour.

We were all very pleased to see such a marked improvement in the health of Mr. Sippetts, this improvement being noticed almost daily.

The journey home was made through Crewkerne, Shaftesbury, Salisbury, Winchester, Petersfield to Crawley. T. G. F.

A FIVE-BELL FESTIVAL.

To most people the word festival conjures up a picture of a glorious sunny day with crowds of people merrymaking. On the occasion of the Bedford District's Five-Bell Festival—held on St. Swithun's Day—those present certainly did enjoy themselves, but the persistent rain deterred all but the 'keen-plus' ringers.

Ringling started at Keysoe, which possesses a magnificently toned ring, the tenor weighing 17 cwt. in the key of E. These bells have an unfortunate reputation of being hard to ring owing to a 35ft. draught of rope with no guides; however, nobody seemed to find any difficulty in catching the right sally, so it is hoped that this reputation has been killed.

Tea was next on the programme, and 23 members and visiting ringers from Hatfield, Great Staughton and Burton Latimer went to the Vicarage, where they were entertained to tea by the Rev. S. G. Western, an old Chichester Cathedral ringer. At the business meeting following it was decided to hold the next meeting at Bromham on August 5th; also four probationary members were elected—the Misses B. Stapleton, J. Hull (Keysoe), J. Pell and Z. Ruff (Wilden).

Cars, motor-cycles and pushbikes were then put into operation to convey the company to Little Staughton, with its useful anti-clockwise ring. A set of handbells was discovered here, and after a few minor adjustments, both tower and handbells were ringing. Up in the ringing chamber proceedings suddenly came to an end when the treble rope broke, and so the majority travelled to the last tower of the day, leaving the handyman to make a good splice—to the evident relief of the Vicar.

Colmworth bells proved to be no trouble to either tyros or experts and some good ringing was enjoyed there. Throughout the meeting plenty of assistance was given to the new members, and, in addition to the 'standard' methods, others rung include St. Nicholas' and Ravensingham Slow Course.

AMATEUR BELLHANGING!

Dear Sir,—During a recent visit to Neuadd Fawr Youth Hostel (five miles north of Llandovery, Carmarthenshire), I was given a most unusual task. When staying at youth hostels, hostellers are generally given some task every day, such as washing up, sweeping, etc. The job two of us were given was that of rehanging a bell! Neuadd Fawr (literally 'big hall') is a large country mansion, and over the large garage is a turret clock set in the roof, still functioning and 120 years old. There were formerly two clock bells, but one was removed last year for safety, and is now in the entrance hall. It is cast with canons and has a wooden headstock. It probably weighs about 1½ cwt.

When we arrived at the hostel it was supported by two rough wooden tripods about 2ft. high. These collapsed during our stay, and on July 19th it was our job to repair them. Rather than do this we decided to rehang the bell altogether, so we made a new tripod, much larger and about 6ft. high, and suspended the bell by thick copper wire under the wooden headstock and tied on to two of the tripod legs. It looks a little more respectable now, but I doubt whether the leading bellfounders would pass the job!

The old and beautiful church at Gilycwm, a mile distant, has one bell hung for ringing, but with no stay. It is swung by means of a long chain attached at the summit of the wheel by a staple! We also explored Llandinog Church, in Llandovery, and I was pleased to find the ring of six in excellent condition, in a steel frame with pits for two extra bells. Oh for five more ringers!

Dedication

HUTTON CRANSWICK, YORKS.

The little Church of St. Peter, Hutton Cranswick, was packed on the afternoon of July 15th, when a ceremony was observed that notched a place in the history of the village. Three old bells, which had hung in the church for more than 300 years, had been recast and were rehung recently with three new bells, the parishioners subscribing over £1,500 towards the cost.

The hallowing and dedication of the bells was performed by the Archbishop of York, Dr. Cyril Garbett, in a simple service. Proudest man at the ceremony was the Vicar of Hutton Cranswick, the Rev. G. Storer, who had worked since the early 1930's to raise funds for the renovation of the bells.

ART PRESERVED.

In his address, the Archbishop referred to 'the great day in your parish.' He congratulated the Vicar and all the parish on the way they had brought to fulfilment a scheme which needed so much money.

Bells, he said, were a striking feature of the English countryside. 'We in our Church of England are thankful that we have preserved the art of ringing bells,' he added.

It was 3.30 by the church clock when, after the dedication ceremony, the bells, weighing a total of 3 tons 4 cwt., rang out their new greetings over the sun-drenched fields and lanes.

*PICKED RINGERS.

They were rung by eight men from Beverley and District Association. These ringers, who were specially picked for the service, were: Mr. G. F. Williams, president, Holy Trinity, Hull; Mr. C. Barker, hon. secretary, Beverley Minster; Mr. L. Rodmell, Ringing Master, Patrington; Mr. L. Daggat, Ringing Master, Beverley Minster; Mr. H. Rodmell, St. James', Sutton; Mr. P. Speck, All Saints', Hessle; Mr. G. Dowling, Beverley Minster; Mr. A. E. Sellers, Beverley Minster.

Among the many present were five Rural Deans, the Rev. R. Newsam, North Holderness; Canon Hope Scott, Hull; Canon Smallwood, Beverley; Canon Richardson, Pocklington; the Rev. G. Storer, Harthill. The organist was Mr. A. H. Fox, Kirkella Parish Church.

THE BELLS.

Particulars of the new bells and inscriptions are as follows:—

Treble.—1949, weight 6½ cwt., note C sharp. To the memory of Jesse Barker, Parish Church Clerk, who died May 1st, 1924, and his wife, Frances, who died January 1st, 1946. This bell is given by their daughters, Kate, Dora and Elsie.

'We praise Thee, O God.'

Second.—1949, weight 7½ cwt. Note B. The Farmers' Bell. 'O come, let us worship.'

Third.—1949, weight 8½ cwt., note A. 'The cost of this bell and fittings was raised by the Sunday School as a thankoffering for the preservation of the Parish Church from enemy action, and also in memory of Joan and Mary Severs, two scholars, who with their parents lost their lives, March, 18th-19th, 1941.'

'We will remember them.'

Fourth.—1678, recast 1949, weight 10½ cwt., note G sharp. Ancient inscription: Venite Exultemus Domino.

Fifth.—1678, recast 1949, weight 12½ cwt., note F sharp. Ancient inscription: In Excelsis Gloria Deo.

Tenor.—1635, recast 1949, diameter 3ft. 11in., weight 18½ cwt, note E. Ancient inscription: Deo Gloria, Pax Hominibus. Modern inscription: These bells were restored by public subscription in memory of the men from this parish who fell in the Second Great War, 1935-45, and also as a thankoffering for victory and peace.

RINGERS' OUTINGS

ST. MARY THE VIRGIN'S, READING.

On June 24th, the St. Mary's ringers, with their wives and fellow-ringers from St. Laurence's, Cholsey, Hurst and Twyford, made a tour into Surrey for their annual outing. Leaving Reading at 7.30 a.m., and going via Bagshot and Guildford, the first stop was at Shalford, where this very nice ring of eight was set going in methods up to Cambridge.

A run through some fine Surrey scenery then brought us to Leatherhead, where some members of the party were glad to meet and ring with old friends. The first touch of Stedman Caters here came to grief owing to a broken rope on the second, which was quickly spliced and put on again. Meanwhile touches of Triples and Major kept the ringers occupied. All needs had been catered for by the time we left for Ashted, after which a return was made to Leatherhead for lunch.

An hour on the fine ring of eight at Banstead followed, where we all felt very much 'at home,' these bells and those at St. Mary's, Reading, being very similar. At Beddington, our next stop, the ringing was disappointing after the first touch of Stedman Caters.

From here we seemed to go several times around the proverbial 'mulberry bush,' eventually arriving at Kennard's, in Croydon, half an hour late for tea, but justice was done to the sumptuous meal awaiting us.

Ringling at St. John's, Croydon, for an hour and a half was fully appreciated, the tone and 'go' of these bells being all one could desire. Grand sire and Stedman up to Cinques, Double Norwich and Cambridge satisfied the needs of all.

After some refreshments a start was made on the return journey, Reading being reached at 11.30 p.m. The thanks of the party are expressed to all tower captains and steeple-keepers, who played no small part in the smooth running of the programme, and to Mr. P. Dyke and Mr. and Mrs. Diserens for all they did to make it a very enjoyable day.

R. S. H.

GREAT TEY.

The ringers of St. Barnabas', Great Tey, left home at 7.40 a.m. for their annual outing on July 15th. The first halt was at Halesworth, followed by the good ten at Beccles.

After lunch at Norwich ringing took place at St. Giles' and St. Miles'. After tea Stoneham Aspal's nice ten were set going. Home was reached at 11.30 p.m., and all agreed it had been a very enjoyable day.

Arrangements were made by Mr. J. W. Dyer, and Mr. Bailey, of Beccles, accompanied the party. During the day Grand sire Triples, Double Norwich and Kent Treble Bob were rung.

WORMINGFORD, ESSEX.

West Suffolk was visited by the Wormingford and district company on the occasion of their annual outing on July 15th.

Cavendish was the first stop, when members of the local company joined the visitors in ringing. Kedington Church proved to be very interesting. 'The Westminster Abbey of Suffolk,' it is called, owing to its fine series of monuments. After allowing all to have a pull on these bells, a move was made to Haverhill for tea. Some good touches were brought round on the bells of St. Mary's, including Treble Bob at Stoke-by-Clare. The incumbent and local ringers greeted the party.

Methods rung ranged from Plain Bob to Cambridge Surprise. The company wishes to thank all those who made this tour a success, especially Mr. F. Bensley for making the arrangements.

GAMSTON, NOTTS.

An enjoyable day among the hills and dales of Derbyshire was spent by Gamston ringers and their wives and friends on July 15th. A start was made at 8 a.m. and the first tower visited was the fine eight at Dransfield, where ringing continued for an hour.

The route was over the beautiful Main Tor to Hope, with a pause at Hathersaye to inspect Little John's grave. After a pleasant hour's ringing at Hope, the party left for the easy-going six at Chapel-en-le-Frith, where the bells were raised in readiness for the visitors. After ringing at Fairfield, the party left for Buxton for tea.

At Great Longstone, another six, the ringers were in competition with the brass band from the nearby fete. Darley Dale, the last tower of the day, was reached at 7.15. Here the peal boards proved that other exponents of the art had made good use of this fine octave. Gamston was reached at 11 p.m. An enjoyable time was spent by all, although the weather did dampen everything but the enthusiasm of the ringers.

Methods rung included Plain Bob, Little Bob, Grand sire, Oxford Bob Triples, Oxford, Kent and Sandal Treble Bob, Cambridge, St. Clement's and Single Oxford. E. P.

COLESHILL, WARWICKSHIRE.

A coach tour in the Cotswolds by the Coleshill Ringers' Guild, with relatives and friends, took place on July 15th.

The first stop en route was at Salford Priory, where touches were rung on the fine modern ring. After calling at Norton to sample fruit and bells, the party proceeded via Evesham to lunch at Cheltenham.

Afternoon drives through beautiful countryside enabled visits to be made to Northleach and Stow-on-the-Wold for ringing and looking round these old places with their interesting mediaeval churches. At Northleach, American tourists were delighted on being invited to see bellringing and inspect the bells.

Tea was served at Bourton-on-the-Water and the well-known model village attracted several of the party in spite of the heavy rain. The last call of the day was at Mickleton, where local ringers rang with the visitors.

Co-operation of the church authorities concerned, and efficient organisation by the Guild secretary, ensured a successful outing.

OBITUARY

MR. J. J. ALLEN.

Mr. J. J. Allen passed away at Bushey on Tuesday, July 11th, aged 71, after a long illness.

He stopped ringing some years ago, but he will be remembered by the older ringers, as he had been a member of the Hertford County Association since 1895. He rang his first peal in 1896.

CONDUCTED PEAL AFTER TWO PRACTICES

Dear Sir,—May I offer my congratulations to Alan Hough, of the Barwell band, upon ringing and conducting his first peal 'in hand' on his 19th birthday?

This accomplishment is particularly praiseworthy for two reasons. First, because Alan's experience of handbell ringing has been very short and limited to, I believe, only two really good practices. Secondly, owing to his business, his ringing experience has been confined to his own tower, which reflects much credit upon himself and Mr. Whitehead, who has been unselfish in his efforts at Barwell.—Yours sincerely,

TOM C. BELTON.

Barwell, Leics.

PORTSMOUTH CATHEDRAL

On July 15th, Portsmouth Cathedral ringers, with relatives and friends from neighbouring towers, held an outing in Dorset. As it was St. Swithun's Day, everyone should have been prepared for inclement weather, but several came without raincoats, with the result that they were rather wet by the end of the day.

Leaving Portsmouth at 7.30 a.m., and proceeding via Southampton and the New Forest, the first stop was at Wimborne for refreshments, after which came the first ringing of the day, on the eight bells of St. Peter's, Dorchester (tenor 21 cwt.). Grandsire and Stedman Triples, Plain Bob and Double Norwich Court Bob Major comprised the ringing here. Lunch followed, which everyone agreed was first class.

The little village of Wool, with its thatched roofs, was the next stop, and the six bells or Holy Rood (tenor 11 cwt.) were soon set going to Grandsire Doubles, Plain Bob and Cambridge.

The journey continued via Wareham to the Isle of Purbeck, passing Corfe Castle. Kingston, with its magnificent church, built in 1860 entirely by local labour and materials (and without a single nail in the whole structure) was the main target of the day. Mr. M. Butler and Miss J. Cox, both of Southampton, who were holidaying on the island here, joined the party. The eight bells of St. James' (tenor 28 cwt.) were made full use of and methods up to Cambridge Surprise Major were rung.

After tea at Swanage a visit was paid to St. Mary's Church, where Mr. G. Frank Haysom met the party. The eight bells (tenor 22 cwt.) were rung to standard methods and Double Norwich Court Bob Major.

Thanks are due to the organiser, Mr. F. W. Burnett, for a good day, the only disappointment being the weather, which no one could help.

MARKET DRAYTON

WE are indebted to Mr. W. A. Farmer, the hon. treasurer of the Shropshire Association, for an informative article that appeared in 'The Shropshire Magazine' concerning the bells and ringers of Market Drayton. The church at Market Drayton is this year celebrating its millennium—1,000 years of Christian worship in the same place, although not in the same building. The present church was built in 1150 and the tower in 1325. In honour of the event its ringers are practising London Surprise Major.

St. Mary's, Market Drayton, is recorded as holding five bells in 1553, the heaviest 20 cwt., and also two Sanctus bells. These were recast in 1634 by Thos. Clyberry, of Wellington, Salop, and remained until 1700, when they were sent to Gloucester and cast into six by the famous bellfounder, Abraham Rudhall.

There appears to be no record of what ringing was possible in those distant days, and it seems unlikely that modern change ringing was known. Nevertheless, the bells were valued, because of the numerous records of payments to the ringers, such as the sum of 11s. 4d. per annum for ringing one bell every evening from Lady Day until Michaelmas for 15 minutes. This was paid from market receipts.

Probably owing to some defect, the tenor bell was recast in 1846, and then in 1887, Queen Victoria's Jubilee, two more bells were added. Change ringing started in earnest, Grandsire Triples being practised by the local ringers. The enthusiasm of these ringers is shown by the fact that they paid for one bell of a new ring by Taylors, of Loughborough, which was installed in a frame in 1931.

Since the eight bells were opened in 1887 there are copious records to show that St. Mary's ringers soon became proficient in change ringing, as a beautifully illuminated peal book was started at once. It was presented by Mr. Ernest Weatherby and Mr. Thomas Peake, and contains many water colours of merit by the latter, depicting Shropshire churches. The first peal on the bells was Grandsire Triples, rung in 3 hrs. and 13 mins. in 1893 by Stoke-on-Trent and Wolstanton ringers. The company was: Samuel Holden 1, William Pitchford 2, Thomas Miller (conductor) 3, Frederick Grocott 4, Joseph Goodhead 5, Charles Ollier 6, William Miller 7, Arthur Bowles tenor. By 1895 Mr. Ernest Weatherby, captain of the Market Drayton band, to whose enthusiasm the band owed much of its progress, was able to ring his first peal, also Grandsire Triples. Participating in that peal was Mr. John Gibson, who is still living at Whitchurch, and who walked from Whitchurch to ring in the peal.

Both Mr. Ernest Weatherby and his younger brother, William, were noted athletes in their youth. William was also a ringer and rang in a peal of Bob Major in his own tower, with his brother, in 1906. In 1907 there were six local ringers in a peal, the tenor being rung then, as for Sunday services for many years, by Mr. George Hall. He was described as standing six feet two in his socks and powerfully built, but gentle as a lamb and full of fun. He was one of the last to follow the once common trade of cooper, and was one of the best shots in the local Volunteers.

The Weatherbys were watchmakers, and lived in the shadow of the tower. Ernest became a most proficient ringer, and before going to Canada in 1910 he rang 13 full length peals at Market Drayton. He later travelled to Guildford, where he became identified with the ringing at Holy Trinity Church and undertook research into the history of its bells and clock which is faithfully preserved. In 1936 he made the journey from Los Angeles for the opening of Christ Church Cathedral bells in Victoria, British Columbia, and did so again in 1945 to ring in a peal as a tribute to Mr. Winston in 1945. He was then 74 years of age. Until his death, in 1943, William Weatherby was a worthy captain and rang peals in methods of varying complexity, and in many towers, including the 12-bell tower of St. Chad's, Shrewsbury.

During the 1930s the Market Drayton band turned to Major ringing, and Mr. W. Deane, of Stoke-on-Trent, and the late Mr. T. Hurd attended weekly practices for several years. Kent and Oxford Treble were followed by Double Norwich, then Cambridge and Superlative Surprise Major, Mr. W. Weatherby taking part in the first of Cambridge in 1938, together with Mr. A. Hickman and Mr. T. Price. Mr. E. V. Rodenhurst, now living at Prees, conducted, and took part in many of the peals. Mention should also be made of the services of Mr. A. Pritchard, of Hadley, who was also concerned in practising these complicated methods, and his name is to be found as a conductor of many of them. It is interesting to re cord that in the peal of Superlative and Surprise Major rung on April 10th this year six Market Drayton ringers participated. Mr. F. Price is captain of the present band, which includes three ladies—the Misses P. Hickman, Miss M. Betts and Miss P. Tyler. Other members are Messrs. W. Tyler, A. Hickman, S. Hughes, B. Madeley, T. Price, W. Lycett and R. Hazeldine, with Mr. R. Tyler, now on service with the Royal Navy.

MIDDLESEX COUNTY ASSOCIATION MEETING AT SUDBURY.

Not for many years had the Middlesex visited Sudbury-on-Thames, one of the loveliest spots in the county, with its equally lovely ring of eight. On July 15th many of the 35 members present enjoyed their first touch at this tower, where it is very encouraging to note that a local band, under the leadership of Mr. G. Robson, inspired by Mr. Tony Price and the Feltham band, are now ringing regularly for service.

Ring, mostly in the standard methods, under the supervision of the District Master, Mr. Tony Price, was enjoyed by everybody, beginners having their full share.

A short business meeting was held in the ringing chamber, three new members being elected, Mr. H. Brooks (Isleworth), Mrs. A. R. Turley (St. John's, Hillingdon) and Mr. E. Pizzey (Sunbury).

Shepperton, the only ringable ring of five in Middlesex, was the next tower to be visited, a very warm welcome being accorded the Association by Mr. A. H. Reeve, the local captain, and an hour's ringing was thoroughly enjoyed, followed by a visit to Feltham, where some really well-struck Surprise Major was brought round.

Everybody agreed it was a most enjoyable meeting, with thanks due to all those who helped to make it so successful.

To perpetuate the memory of Mr. F. C. Lambert, bellringer and verger at St. Mary's Church, Halesworth, Suffolk, for almost 60 years, the Parochial Church Council and his friends propose to place a plaque in the belfry and a piece of furniture in the church he so dearly loved. Ringing friends of the late Mr. F. C. Lambert who would like to be associated with this memorial are asked to send their contributions to Mr. C. B.
Vanstone, Rector's warden, Ancient House,
Halesworth, Suffolk.

There will be no ringing at St. Michael's, Cornhill, during August.

Mr. Harold S. Peacock, by ringing the tenor to the last peal at Holywell, Hunts, has completed the circle in that tower.

Melbury Osmond, where the bells are to be augmented to eight, is in Dorset and not Wiltshire as was erroneously stated last week.
We thank correspondents who have called our attention to the error.

Mr. Bert Sutton, of 12, Highfield, Scarborough, writes asking those who ordered records of St. Mary's, Scarborough, bells to send the balance of cost to him. The order has been placed and the records will be despatched some time during August.

In Television Magazine last Friday, Mr.
Richard Dimbleby took as one of his themes,
'Oranges and Lemons, the bells of St.
Clement's.' The famous London churches introduced in these verses were screened and there was a visit to the Whitechapel Foundry and a discussion with Mr. Albert Hughes and his two sons on the tuning of bells. It was of first-class interest to all ringers and was most instructive to the general public on the art of bell-founding.

BELFRY GOSSIP

With his 500th peal on July 22nd, Mr. Clem
Glenn, of Cotgrave, Nottingham, pulled off a double, it being his 100th peal of Stedman Triples as conductor. The event was possible by the collaboration of ringers from Nottingham, Derby, Leicester, Melton Mowbray and Rotherham. Mr. Glenn's record is: Tower bells 313 (conducted 219); handbells 187 (166); Stedman Triples, tower bells 110 (86), handbells 17 (14).

The Festival of Britain Committee are getting busy. We hope to publish an interim report next week.

Spalding Parish Church ringers are to be congratulated on the splendid brochure they produced on the occasion of their outing. The frontispiece is a pen-and-ink drawing of their parish church.

The 'Ringers' Guide' had a good mention in 'The Times Literary Supplement' of July 14th. It is likely that it will soon be found on the shelves of many public libraries.

By taking part in a peal of Cambridge Surprise Major at Gilmorton on July 21st, Mrs.
H. J. Poole makes a very welcome return to the peal columns after her indisposition. She rang her last peal at Limerick, Eire, last September.

For the second year in succession, eight boys of Chichester High School rang the Cathedral bells for their end-of-term service, which is held annually at the Cathedral. The idea was formed last year by Mr. Brian D. Price, who was a master at the school, and it is hoped that the practice will be kept up each year.
Up to the present, only rounds and call changes have been rung, as the boys live in scattered districts in West Sussex, but they are very enthusiastic about this special job, and it is hoped that next year they may put up an even better performance.

ST. DAVID'S GUILD AND 'DRUNKENNESS IN THE BELFRY'

Emphatic Denial of Statement Attributed to the Archdeacon of Carmarthen Guild Secretary's Deep Concern 'False Witness Against our Best Friends' ... Sobriety of Welsh Ringers

'Very Wrong Misrepresentation'

Dear Sir,—As secretary of the St. David's Guild, I was shocked to read the front page news of 'The Ringing World' for last week.

I am afraid that our journalist, Mr. D. H. Betts, has given you a very wrong misinterpretation of what the Archdeacon of Carmarthen (the Ven. J. R. Pugh) said when he was asked if he would encourage the youth and clergy to take up the art.

The Archdeacon's reply was as follows: How could we expect the clergy to take an interest in the art when the ringers were ringing for the service and leaving by the west door and not stopping to the service themselves. He then made a quotation, and this is what he said: It was just like him preaching on temperance to-night and getting drunk to-morrow night.

I do not blame you, Mr. Editor, for publishing this report, but I think Mr. D. H. Betts should have been more careful and given you a correct report. It makes me shudder to think of what will happen when the Archdeacon will come to hear about this false statement and publicity, and I think a very grave injustice has been done to him.

I, who founded the St. David's Guild and have worked five years to bring it to the organisation it is to-day, feel that statements of this kind only hamper our progress and make things very difficult for me when I have to approach these gentlemen for further meetings at their towers. If there is any difference between the Archdeacon and his ringers, surely that is a matter for themselves and can be put right with a heart to heart talk, which is easily arranged.

I don't know what the future of our Guild will be after all this controversy. I know the standard of our ringing is poor, but at least I have got the bells of Llanstephan ringing again after 20 years' silence, and the bells of Pembroke are ringing again, and as far as I know all our bells ring for Sunday service either morning or evening or both, and I think it is a pity that after five years of appealing and hard work statements of this kind should be the means of disbanding the Guild. If this will be so all I can say is I have done my best for the Guild and our Exercise in the St. David's diocese.

Well, Mr. Editor, I should like you to give this statement your front page news in next week's 'Ringing World,' as I am rather perturbed about what the Archdeacon will do when he hears about the statement, and which may make things easier for me should the Guild survive. Thanking you.—Yours sincerely,

C. H. HAWKINS, Hon. Sec.
St. David's Diocesan Guild.

AN APOLOGY.

We deeply regret that the report that appeared in 'The Ringing World' of July 28th, 1950, regarding the statement attributed to the Archdeacon of Carmarthen (the Ven. J. R. Pugh) at the annual meeting of the St. David's Guild is found to be inaccurate and that our correspondent unwittingly and gravely misinterpreted the Archdeacon's speech.

Letters published on this page from those who were present at the meeting all indicate that the expression 'that many clergy were put off by the fact that so many ringers never attended service and many rang whilst drunk, so that he was half afraid to take anyone to such a belfry,' was an inaccurate summary of the Archdeacon's observations, and that the Ven. J. Richards Pugh never in any sense suggested that ringers rang whilst drunk.

We deeply regret the publication and tender our apologies to the Ven. J. Richards Pugh for the publication of a report which was entirely without foundation.

ARCHDEACON MISHEARD

Dear Sir,—I feel sure that your correspondent at the annual meeting of the St. David's Guild misheard the Archdeacon of Carmarthen's remarks.

My understanding of what he said was that 'He could remember when clergy were put off by the fact that ringers never attended services and sometimes rang when drunk.' He went on to add that at present the ringers at a certain church 'after ringing the people to church all left in a body by the west door, and he was half afraid to introduce his young people to this belfry in case they were influenced in the same way.'

I was impressed by the Archdeacon's sincerity and forthrightness.—Yours faithfully, TREVOR M. RODERICK.

Porthcawl, Glam.

N.B.—The Guild secretary's report omits two points of Bob Major, both by unattached members: at Llanstephan on July 30th, and St. David's Cathedral on August 1st, 1949, conducted by Mr. Tony Price, of Feltham.—F.M.R.

NEVER SEEN INSOBRIETY IN SOUTH WALES CHURCH

Dear Sir.—You commenced your leading article last week with the words, 'Life is full of surprises.' When one reads of a church dignitary letting down his fellow-countrymen in the way Archdeacon Pugh did at the annual meeting at Carmarthen, one must add, 'Life is full of bitter disappointments.'

To state that 'ringers never attended service and many rang whilst drunk' is not only a grave injustice, but is questionable.

I have been a ringer in Wales for 40 years, and my father, still active, for over 60 years (in the 1880's and 90's in Bath). We hasten to assure our brethren on the other side of the Severn that we have never seen insobriety in any belfry in South Wales. With us, church bellringing is a grand leveller. One meets colliers, office workers, steelworkers, businessmen and industrial workers of many callings, and whilst in church (part of which is the belfry) there exists that atmosphere of reverence amongst us, the same as is found in England.—Yours faithfully, Whitechurch, Cardiff. FRED BAILEY.

St. Peter's, Carmarthen, Protest

Dear Sir,—I have been instructed by the ringers of St. Peter's, Carmarthen, to draw your attention to the above-named subject, and to say that we consider your leading article a gross libel on the Vicar of our church. The Ven. J. Richards Pugh, Archdeacon of Carmarthen, did not speak about bellringers being beer drinkers or that many rang when drunk, and Mr. D. H. Betts or Mr. T. Griffiths did not speak on this subject.

I have challenged Mr. D. H. Betts on his own doorstep, namely, through the medium of 'The West Wales Guardian,' a paper printed in his own town, and his reply was non-committal and, to my mind, very childish, and would not get anybody anywhere. What the Archdeacon did say was that, as bellringers, when they rang bells, they called people to service, and he wanted to know how many ringers did attend.

The local Press sent a reporter to the meeting, and as the Archdeacon did not say what is in your report, it did not appear in their report of the meeting in their last issue.

The Archdeacon is a vice-president of the St. David's Guild. He has always given the use of the bells of his church and has given the Guild all the help that he could. How is the Guild going to flourish if we bear false witness against our best friends? You, Mr. Editor, have been given false news, and we hope that you will in next issue give the same prominence to this denial as to the offending news item.

EDWARD J. THOMAS, Sec.,

For and on behalf of the ringers of St. Peter's.

'DISTORTED AND PURE FICTION'

Dear Sir,—The report which you have published of the annual meeting of the St. David's Diocesan Guild contains much that is untrue.

The Ven. J. Richards Pugh did not make the statement attributed to him regarding ringers 'ringing whilst drunk.'

He said that many ringers did not attend service after ringing the bells to call people to worship; he felt hesitant about introducing young people to bellringing for fear they too might follow the example of others.

He continued: 'What would the people of Carmarthen think of me if I preached a sermon on temperance and was then seen under the influence of drink?'

The report, from the sentence 'that so many ringers never attended service' down to the word 'altar,' is pure fiction, in so far as I can recollect.

This distorted report has appeared in one of the Pembrokeshire papers; it was sent in to 'The Carmarthen Journal' office; the Editor deleted the offensive part, knowing quite well that it was untrue.

You may rest assured sir, that the conduct of ringers in South Wales is equal to any other part of the country, both in and out of the belfry.—Yours faithfully,

WILFRED L. WILLIAMS,
Vice-Captain of St. Peter's, Carmarthen.

TRANSPORTATION OF GREAT PAUL

By ERNEST MORRIS, F.R.Hist.S., F.R.G.S.

GREAT PAUL, the big bell of St. Paul's Cathedral, London, is still the heaviest bell in this country. It was cast in 1881, and in December of that year, when the bell was first seen and heard in the foundry at Loughborough, decision had not been made, either as to the conveyance of it to London, or indeed as to the actual place it was to occupy when it arrived at the Cathedral. One of the reasons of the itinerant castings of ancient days was doubtless the difficulty of transporting heavy bells over the roads of that time, which before the birth of Macadam were not comparable with our modern highways. The same reason was undoubtedly the cause of castings being actually made in churchyards, which practice occurred until very recent times. Even now the increased dimensions of modern great bells make their transport a subject of very anxious consideration; not indeed a matter of insuperable difficulty, for much heavier weights than 17 tons are handled every day by engineers.

By railroad there would have been some difficulties in the transmission of this great bell. The wideness of its mouth was sufficient to cause an overhanging laterally from the truck loaded with it of 2 feet 2 inches, thus there might be a possibility of other overhanging goods upon another train inflicting some damage in passing. The primary reason which militated against acceptance of the assistance of the locomotive engine was that the bell would have to be drawn from the foundry to the railway station at Loughborough; there it would have to be reloaded on to the railway trucks, and after conveyance by rail would—on arrival in London—have to be again lifted to a trolley or other carriage to be drawn by horse or traction engine to its final destination. It was, therefore, thought best to place it at once upon a suitable trolley, and so carry out the transport by road, as the liftings would be limited to putting on and taking off its carriage.

Everything having been prearranged, Great Paul left the Loughborough foundry for its journey to the Metropolis on May 11th, 1882. The contractors had supplied two traction engines, each provided with steel-wire rope and drum, such as are used in steam ploughing. One of these engines was attached to the special trolley prepared for the bell; the other drew a train consisting of a sleeping van, a cultivator upon which was placed ropes, jacks, iron plates and other gear which might be required in emergencies or difficulties on the road. The bell trolley was an ordinary boiler truck capable of carrying 20 tons, which had been strengthened and adapted for this work. Its length was 11 feet; width 6½ feet; and breadth of its tyres 10½ inches, on wheels 2½ feet diameter. The latter were of solid iron lightened by six holes, with axles 4½ inches diameter of Yorkshire iron and case hardened.

In order to provide against the upsetting of the trolley if its wheels should sink in the ground unevenly, an inverted T-shaped timber strut was attached to each side of the trolley frame; each strut being hinged by a neat contrivance in such a way that it would swing clear of stones and other obstructions on the roadway, but would act as a vertical support to the trolley when needed. India-rubber buffers were applied to the drawpins by which the trolley was connected to the traction engine, to counteract the effects of sudden jerks whilst starting or travelling. The trolley weighed 6 tons, so that the load was roughly 23 tons.

As might be expected, a considerable crowd watched the departure of the bell on its long journey from Loughborough to London, and along the whole route thousands of people witnessed its progress. Travelling through Leicester (where its first set-back occurred through the trolley sinking into the ground, happily not seriously) via Kibworth, Market Harborough, Northampton, Fenny Stratford (where another 'sinking in' occurred), Dunstable, St. Albans, and so on to its final destination. Joyous peals rang out from every village church on the way, and the various town and city belfries contributed to the merry din. Thus did Great Paul travel up to London, witnessed by myriads of folks who thronged the wayside to see the bell; to discuss its proportions; its note and composition; and wherever possible to touch it. Its actual weight is 16 tons 14 cwt. 2 qr. 19 lb. Height 8 feet 10 inches. Diameter 9 feet 6½ inches.

SWANSEA AND BRECON GUILD

DEDICATION OF MEMORIAL TO FALLEN RINGERS.

The annual meeting of the Guild was held at Brecon on July 1st. The weather was excellent and the attendance accordingly good.

The service in the Cathedral was of particular significance because it was also the occasion of the dedication of the memorial to the three members of the Guild who made the supreme sacrifice in the 1939-45 war. The dedication service was conducted, in the presence of the relatives of the fallen, by the Dean of Brecon (the Very Rev. W. E. Jones). The Dean also gave a very inspiring address.

The memorial takes the form of a servers' desk in the sanctuary. The names—J. Bloxham, A. Rose and A. Williams—are carved in the wood. All members of the Guild are grateful to the Dean and Chapter for allowing them to have such a memorial.

At the business meeting which followed, the Dean presided in the absence, through illness, of the Lord Bishop of the Diocese.

The minutes of the last meeting were read, confirmed and signed. The general secretary read the statement of accounts as the treasurer had left the district.

The officers elected were: Ringing Master, Mr. Gwyn Lewis; treasurer, the Very Rev. the Dean; general secretary, Mr. D. G. Williams; representative on the Central Council, Mr. Gwyn Lewis; hon. auditor, Mr. Rowlands.

Tea was kindly provided by the Dean, and he was warmly thanked by the Ringing Master on behalf of all present.

It was with concern that the members heard of the illness of the Bishop, and it was the expressed wish of all members that his lordship would soon be restored to complete health and again resume his work as the leader in all the diocesan matters.

After tea the members visited the towers of St. Mary's and St. David's, and the bells were rung until a late hour.

Record Length Attempt

Dear Sir,—On Monday, August 7th, starting at 10.30 a.m., at St. Mary's, Prittlewell, I have a band going to attempt 12,740 Bob Royal. Should this be successful it will be the longest length of Bob Royal rung.

The composition is enclosed.

Yours faithfully,

FRANK B. LUFKIN.

OXFORD DIOCESAN GUILD

EAST BERKS AND SOUTH BUCKS BRANCH

Lane End, eleven names for tea, two dropped out on Friday, and a prospect of rain (it did!). However, some of the regulars made a start with Grand sire Doubles, this being eventually followed by a spate of methods and all present appeared to be catered for. At least 17 towers were represented besides some visitors from the North, and the tea party overflowed into another room.

The Old Sun rose to the occasion, or rather the landlady did, and when the huge teapot appeared, even the thirsty one was hopeful.

The Vicar looked in with a few cheery remarks, and also welcomed us at the church afterwards with some interesting details about it.

After a short discussion on meeting for the rest of the year, ringing was resumed until all had had enough.

A CHIME OF THREE

The Parish Church of St. Peter, Westhampnett, near Chichester, has recently had its chime of three bells returned from the Croydon Foundry. One of the bells, which was made in 1632, has been recast so that it agrees in tone with the other two, which date from 1581. These bells were dedicated at a special service on Sunday, July 23rd, conducted by the Venerable Lancelot Mason, Archdeacon of Chichester.

Sitting at the clavier, thumping out quick and slow sixes, there was, not a graduate from Malines, but none other than our old friend Peter Bond, who, keeping up the traditions of the 'National Union of Tower Snatchers,' had visited the tower on the previous Friday, and, with the Vicar's permission, tried his hand on this tiny chime.

The Vicar was so delighted on hearing Peter's first rendering of slow and quick sixes, that he asked for a copy of the music and engaged him for this occasion.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Proposed Coleridge Memorial

Dear Sir,—I am sorry to read the reports concerning the apparent lack of harmony within the Oxford Guild over the form of memorial to the late Canon Coleridge, as this would, I am sure, be most distasteful to him.

To shelve the matter for a year will have the obvious result of reducing, considerably, the subscription list.

I agree that a memorial tablet should be placed in the Cloisters of Christ Church Cathedral, Oxford, alongside those to the late Rev. F. E. Robinson and the late Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn, two of the Canon's dearest ringing friends, and I hope that the Oxford Guild will do this without delay or that the Central Council will take the matter in hand, allocate some of the money voted and see that the work is carried out.

Why should Christ Church be chosen for any further memorial?

The late Canon was not a graduate of Christ Church College, and according to his ringing records, which I have, he rang only three peals there, these being as far back as 1880, 1882 and 1889. Berkshire, Devon, Cornwall and Somerset were his favourite ringing haunts.

The late Canon frequently told me that 'only the best is suitable for the House of God,' and to spend some £200 on only two bells (which appears to be really a domestic matter for the Cathedral authorities) is a poor sort of memorial and would be known to few outside the Oxford City boundary. It would be forgotten within six months.

If anything is to be done at Christ Church other than the memorial tablet, I would suggest that reports be obtained from the leading bellfounders for a job which would put all the bells (if necessary) in first-class condition and be a lasting memorial.

Your leading article in 'The Ringing World' dated July 21st states 'that the claim of Crowthorne is ludicrous.' The report of the Oxford Guild meeting never mentions a claim from Crowthorne, but 'a member suggested,' which is quite a different story, and it is quite likely that the member who spoke up for the parish which the Canon served so faithfully does not live in Crowthorne.

If sufficient money became available, it would be quite possible to provide Crowthorne with a tower and bells, should the parish so desire. Perhaps you, Mr. Editor, would attend the dedication and withdraw your 'ludicrous' statement!

In my own mind I am certain that the Canon would much prefer something which could and would be of some use to any ringers in the Oxford Guild who might fall upon bad times and need assistance.

The Canon enjoyed the company of all ringers, especially those who came from the humblest of homes, and frequently it was his pleasure, although a poor man himself, to give a ringer 'just that little extra' which would enable him to enjoy an outing or a possible attendance at a meeting far from home.

Would a fitting memorial, therefore, be the Oxford Diocesan Guild Benevolent Fund (Coleridge Memorial)? Money could be collected now and added to indefinitely.

It could be administered by a small committee within the Guild and disbursed when necessary to any deserving case amongst ringers in the Guild. This would be a form of memorial which would not be forgotten and it would be something of use.

You may ask what this is to do with me. Besides being one of the Canon's nearest relatives, I am a member of the Oxford Guild, and had I not been on duty at Bisley I would have attended the meeting to state my views instead of taking up space in 'The Ringing World.'

I hope that the Oxford Guild will, in due course, state whether the fund will be open to anyone outside ringing circles, as some of his relatives might like to contribute towards something which would be in keeping with the late Canon's wishes.—Yours truly,

H. J. CANN, Major.
Corner Close, Kilve, Bridgwater, Somerset.

PEALS FOR TWO ASSOCIATIONS

Dear Sir,—In reply to an item in the 'Belfry Gossip' of this week's issue (July 28th) re a peal being ascribed to two associations, will your correspondent please identify himself and explain why this shouldn't be so. I have called a peal and ascribed it to two associations, and as long as the band belongs to the associations concerned, I shall continue to call peals for who and when I like, irrespective of who says otherwise.—Yours faithfully,

JACK CLEGG.
Fallowfield, Manchester 14.

PEALS ANALYSIS COMMITTEE'S GUIDANCE

Dear Sir,—Respecting your paragraph in Belfry Gossip ('Ringing World,' page 472), for purposes of the Analysis the peal is credited to the first-named society, guild or association and the second one ignored.

W. AYRE,
For Peals Analysis Committee.

JACK WORRALL'S BEARD

Dear Sir,—It was with deep regret that I learned of the disappearance of Jack Worrall's beard. Being a member of the University of Bristol Society of Change Ringers, I know only too well that its passing will be received with loud lamentations (female!) on Jack's return to the fold in October.

At the beginning of last session, the membership (female once again!) of our Society increased by leaps and bounds, for what reason I do not know except that it coincided with the appearance of Jack, fresh from his sojourn in 'le gai Paris,' and proudly displaying his luxuriant facial growth!

Alas, what of the future? I can foresee a rapid decline in the membership of the fair sex, a most deplorable state of affairs which cannot, nay will not, be tolerated on our part. Therefore, Jack, grow that beard again—the Society's future is at stake!—Yours faithfully,

'SANS BARBE AUSSI.'

200 PEALS OR MORE IN ONE TOWER

Dear Sir,—Going through the Guild reports, I find that the late Mr. G. Williams rang 216 peals at North Stoneham.

I have taken part in 157 peals in the same tower.—Yours truly,
W. T. TUCKER.
Eastleigh, Hants.

DIRECTORY WANTED

Dear Sir,—Now that we have 'Church Bells of Britain,' which, in my opinion, is a very useful and interesting book, would it be possible to have a Directory of Church Bell Ringers, similar to the one published by the Bristol United Ringing Guilds in 1935?

The two books together would be invaluable to ringers on holiday and those who make a hobby of visiting other towers.—Yours faithfully, ERNEST R. WARNER.
Woking.

A Question of Fees

Dear Sir,—Mr. Jarrett's letter makes very interesting reading, but in forming an opinion about the subject matter it is important to remember that we have heard only one side of the case. I do not question for one instant that Mr. Jarrett has stated the case fairly and factually as he sees it, but it very rarely happens that there is not at least something to be said on both sides. One cannot avoid forming an opinion, but one would like to know the incumbent's version as well.

I have discussed this matter with some clerical friends and with brother ringers, and it would seem that the experience is unique. I have examined also the scale of the charges authorised by the Ecclesiastical Commissioners, a copy of which should be in every church. This scale, as probably most people know, is designed to cover every reasonably foreseeable circumstance under which a charge for the Church's services could be made; and also to ensure that charges are uniform throughout the country. Bells are only mentioned once, under the heading of 'Burials,' where a charge of five shillings is authorised, payable to the sexton, for 'tolling the bell at the time of death.'

I wonder if the Rev. J. M. Turner would maintain that it is quite possible for an incumbent to say to the relatives of the deceased, 'If you don't pay me three guineas for myself the bell will not be tolled.' I suggest that any incumbent who insisted, to put it bluntly, on a rake off for himself before allowing the bells to be rung at a wedding or tolled at the time of death is unworthy of his calling. If the three guineas was to be put to a fund for the maintenance of the bells, that, naturally, would be another matter.

Perhaps, all things considered, comment on Mr. Jarrett's experience is undesirable, although one is entitled to one's own opinion. If he wished to be aggressive in this matter there are several things he could do, but no doubt aggression is the last thing he has in mind.

There is, however, a very useful lesson to be learned from both his letter and that of Mr. Turner; namely, that if one undertakes to provide a band to ring for a wedding, then state the fee required definitely and firmly, and see to it that you have it before the ringing commences. In other words, trust nobody.—Yours faithfully,
T. V. LISTER.

Apperley, Glos.

A MATTER FOR THE K.C.A.

Dear Sir,—With reference to the letter that appeared in 'The Ringing World' of July 7th from Mr. V. A. Jarrett, of Chatham, I entirely agree that ringers should insist on a suitable fee for the ringing of church bells for a wedding ceremony, as the utmost care is needed so that the bells are not used for abuse.

I am aware that just as some people dislike the sound of bagpipes, there are also some who dislike the sound of bells, and the practical joker would be in his element if he could get the bells ringing free for a wedding of someone he knew who disliked the sound. A fee rules out this kind of abuse. Usually it is distributed among those who carry out the contract.

It is the first occasion I have heard of a Vicar taking possession of a fee of £3 3s. for the ringing of wedding bells, and such action does not recommend itself, but rather tends to destroy the ideal of the ringing of church bells.

I hope Mr. Jarrett has not overlooked the fact that he has been a member for many years of the Kent County Association, whose aim is not only for the ringing of the church bells, but also the welfare of the ringers, and I think as this case concerns ringers in general, it should be placed before the committee of the Kent Association for investigation.

'BELL PRAVDA'

POINTS FOR DECISIONS COMMITTEE.

Sir,—Is 'The Ringing World' any longer to be claimed a democratic newspaper, or has it in the future to be looked upon as a sort of totalitarian gazette like 'Pravda' and a few more—publishing one line of thought only, which it wishes its readers to know?

I can quite well understand the question asked on this point at Eastbourne by Mr. Kippin and others. Certainly of late the outlook justifies it.

Everybody knows only too well that 'a state of oneness' has been the cry all along of the totalitarians—and it looks as if the same political flavour is creeping into ringing. But heaven save us, and ringing generally, from such disregard of others' views. We have just had a war to preserve the right of free speech and a free press.

When I sent for publication my letter which prompted your 'leader' of June 30th, I expected it would be something of a miracle if it found its way into print—proof surely of what's stated above.

Perhaps by the next Central Council meeting someone will come forward and suggest a change of title from 'The Ringing World' to 'Bell Pravda' or something like it!

Do we want 'oneness' in ringing any more than we want one political party in the government? Rigid rules or controls and the 'guillotine' can prove just as harmful in ringing as in any other form of life; contempt is bound to follow the Central Council's attitude to try and stop ringers pleasing themselves what they ring in the name of true changes, whether it be on seven bells or six, twelve bells or five.

But here I notice you take good care to side-step the issue and not let all the facts be published, which is typical of totalitarian minds. You instance the case of recognition of peals of Minor with a tenor covering, whereas on odd bell methods the same does not apply.

On all even bell methods, from six upwards, the Central Council has been consistent; but on odd bell methods it is not. While it says it won't recognise a peal of Triples without a covering bell (missing, say, the 2nd of the eight out, which I contend sounds very musical and see nothing wrong with if a band turns up one short), it says it will recognise a peal of Doubles on either five or six—and even on a minor five, as at Weston Favell, where I rang a peal recently, with no natural tenor or finishing note, sounding the first five notes of six instead of the last five.

Will some bold person come forward and call that 'a freak peal' and say that the treble ringer never earned his first peal certificate presented to him at a meeting later for the performance? If so, it means that all past peals at Weston Favell are to be declared null and void, and that in its turn will lead to general disinterest and eventual closure of many like towers—I can name 13 minor fives within a 40 miles radius of here.

To be consistent it means that the Central Council have either to recognise peals on seven bells or not on five, and sooner or later this point must give rise to contempt in one direction or the other. But, of course, I don't suppose, Mr. Editor, you will want readers to see that side to it.

I have referred to minor fives! There is an even more serious side to the issue, and that is—will someone try to be more thorough in time to come and press to its logical conclusion that if no peals on seven, no peals on five shall be recognised either? Some are voluntarily taking that attitude already. If that is ever to be made a hard and fast rule, it spells the end to any real interest in the thousands of five-bell towers up and down the country, and there's not much as it is! Five-bell towers need nourishment not punishment and snubs from the mighty eight, ten and twelve bell men, most of whom are represented on the Central Council with little or no interest in five-bell towers. Either it means that or they have got to climb down on this rigid rule about no one shall ring a peal on seven without a covering bell.

In many ways it is like the Bankes James' Cambridge Minor controversy some years ago. Having recognised the 240's of Doubles, to be consistent they were bound to recognise Mr. James' arrangement of Cambridge Minor; and I contend the same applies to peals on five and peals on seven bells.

Personally, I intend to use my own discretion upon another point that is constantly under discussion—the recognition of April Day, Antelope, Orpheus, Chase and a number of similar methods, despite what the 'big guns' say that they shouldn't be rung; there is no repetition of changes in 120 of any of these methods, and that's all that matters to me. If the Central Council refused to publish them rung to peals, there's always the local Press, parish magazines, peal boards and other alternative means—the Central Council haven't 'nationalised' us yet.

WEDDING BELLS AT BITTON

On July 22nd, a party of ringers from the Bristol Rural Branch of the Gloucester and Bristol Association were present at Bitton to ring for the wedding of Mr. Raymond Harding and Miss Sheila Hicks.

Mr. Harding is the eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Harding, of Downend, Bristol, his father being the popular chairman of the Bristol Rural Branch. The bells were rung in proper wedding style.

A quarter peal of Stedman Triples, which was attempted after the wedding, unfortunately came to grief owing to a change course.

The ringers wish the bride and bridegroom the very best of luck and happiness in their future.

MID-DEVON BRANCH AT DEAN PRIOR.

A quarterly meeting of the Mid-Devon Branch was held at Dean Prior, near Buckfastleigh, on July 22nd, when despite adverse weather conditions, a very enjoyable time was spent by those who came from Dorchester, Honiton Clyst, Newton Abbot, Ashburton, Buckfastleigh, Dartington and Totnes. The president (the Rev. Preb. E. V. Cox) also attended.

Some very good touches of Grandsire and Stedman Doubles, Plain Bob, Kent and Oxford Treble Bob and Cambridge Surprise Minor were rung on the handy ring of six bells during the afternoon, this being later followed by a service, which was conducted by the Rev. C. B. Underwood, Vicar of Dean Prior.

After tea at Buckfastleigh, the usual business meeting followed, with Mr. J. E. Lilley in the chair. Fifteen non-resident members were also elected.

Subject to the necessary permission being obtained, the branch agreed to the following meetings being arranged: Special meetings at Highweek and Teignmouth on Saturday, Aug. 19th, and Saturday, Sept. 9th, respectively, and a quarterly meeting at Wolborough, Newton Abbot, on Saturday, October 28th.

The president touched on the question of the bells at Kingsteignton Parish Church, which came up for discussion some months ago. On the motion of the chairman, it was decided to write to the B.B.C. regarding the advertising of bells being rung prior to broadcast services.

The usual votes of thanks concluded the business, and ringing took place at Buckfastleigh Parish Church in the evening. A. L. B.

SHROPSHIRE ASSOCIATION

The Shropshire Association held their July meeting at Clive on July 8th, when brilliant sunshine greeted visitors to this beauty spot.

The modern church stands on the side of a hill famous for its walks, views, picnics and other rural delights. As the temperature rose some ringers thought the bells sounded better from outside than in the tower, and as the bells are a Taylor six with 25 cwt. tenor, this is certainly a point of view.

However, there was no lack of ringing, and most of it Minor, in methods up to Cambridge. Attendance totalled at least 30, the only criticism being that either two or four trebles would improve the ring.

CRANFORD'S NEW RECTOR WELCOMED

Ringers were very much in evidence at Cranford Church, Middlesex, on July 7th, when the Right Rev. Bishop of Kensington officiated at the induction of the Rev. Christopher Byron to the living. The local band was supported by members and officers of the Middlesex County Association and London Diocesan Guild.

At a reception in the Rectory after the service, the visiting ringers were introduced to the Rector, and were very happy to know that the warm welcome always associated with Cranford, to visiting ringers and the Association, would continue.

A quarter peal of Grandsire Doubles was rung before evening service on July 16th, and is recorded as a welcome to the Rector, and an expression of the ringers' goodwill. All the ringers were members of the Cranford band with the exception of the vice-president of the Middlesex Association, who was invited to be associated with this expression of welcome and to conduct.

This was of excellent order, and the young band at Cranford are to be congratulated on their good striking. The ringers were W. H. Coles (conductor) 1, D. Hayward 2, Barbara Thrush 3, Joan Samson 4, P. Wodger 5, D. Fowler 6.

OBITUARY

MR. A. J. BEESLEY.

All Saints', Faringdon, lost their veteran ringer by the death of Mr. Arthur John Beesley on July 18th, at the grand age of 81.

He had been the most regular service ringer at Faringdon for well over thirty years, and previous to that at Longworth, where he learnt to ring. Although then in failing health he last rang a course of Grandsire Triples on his 80th birthday.

The funeral took place at Stanford-in-the-Vale on July 22nd. Ringers from Faringdon rang the bells half-muffled before the service, and, at 'Old John's' request, with the bells open immediately after the service. The secretary of the V.W.H. Branch, Mr. R. F. J. Gilling, played the organ.

As a final tribute a quarter peal of Grandsire Triples was rung half-muffled at Faringdon on July 26th by the following: E. Walker 1, H. E. Taylor 2, F. Wheeler 3, F. C. Hughes 4, C. I. J. Pearce (conductor) 5, F. Whipp 6, M. J. Pryor 7, J. Belcher 8.

MR. H. CONNELL.

The death occurred on Saturday, July 15th, following a seizure earlier in the week, of Mr. H. Connell, at the age of 84. He was a native of Sleaford, and joined the Police Force when a young man and spent most of his time in Cambridgeshire. After his retirement as a police sergeant he went to live at Heckington, Lincs, and stayed there for over 20 years.

Mr. Connell was a very keen bowler. Bell-ringing was another interest of his, and for his regular attendance in the belfry for Sunday service ringing and on the weekly practice night he will be greatly missed in Heckington. He had a most cheery and helpful disposition.

The funeral took place on July 18th at Aslackby, a number of relatives and friends attending. The bells at Heckington Church were rung muffled during the evening at the old Parish Church of St. Andrew; the ringers being E. Cole, F. Mason, Mrs. D. Wray, W. Weston, W. Jackson, W. Asher, A. Dixon and H. Steel.

MR. ALFRED FULLICK.

The death occurred on July 16th of Mr. Alfred Fullick at Shrewsbury. He was 80 years of age and continued his great interest in ringing until his death, although for the past eight years he had been unable to make the journey to ring, except on one or two special occasions.

'Alf' learnt to ring at St. Alkmund's, Shrewsbury, in the first few years of the century, and became a regular member of the excellent band under the late Mr. George Byolin, whose first requirement was good striking. He rang in the first peal of Stedman in the town and at Market Drayton, and had rung a modest total of 39 peals in standard methods up to Maximus.

His chief interest was Sunday service ringing, and when St. Alkmund's bells could no longer be rung he joined St. Chad's company and soon became a most proficient heavy bell ringer, being found on the eleventh for many years, and ringing it to peals of Major, Royal and Maximus.

Following the funeral service at St. Chad's on July 19th, a half-muffled touch of Stedman Triples was rung by St. Chad's band, and during the evening an augmented company paid tribute to an old friend, whose punctuality, regular attendance and good striking will always be remembered.

'MORE HASTE, LESS SPEED'

By A. YORK-BRAMBLE.

WRITERS expect, even invite, criticism.

But lest this article provoke an unconsidered wisecrack of the 'wooden-spoon-stirring-up-trouble' variety, we may say at once that the genuine motive, in such articles as these, springs from a sincere desire to assist in avoiding trouble likely to arise. The publication in the journal dated July 14th, 1950, of the figures of a peal of Wembley Royal and of performances of Rutland Royal and Maximus has prompted this action.

Keeness to accomplish first peals in new methods is a healthy sign in the Exercise, and is to be encouraged, of course. But eager aspirants should proceed with caution, lest they be disappointed to find they have learnt and rung something quite different from the method they thought they were tackling.

The reason for this timely warning should be clear. After years of almost entirely futile argument, throughout the ringing fraternity, about 'extension,' the Methods Committee of to-day is getting down to the fundamental questions of method structure; and, sooner or later, their recommendations will be examined by the Central Council and will, in large measure no doubt, become 'law.'

Serious study of ringing theory from a mathematical standpoint has been confined to very few. One of the first was W. H. Thompson, who gave us our 'Q-sets.' Later, in 1946, we had from Dr. Rankin, of Cambridge, his paper on 'A Campanological Problem in Group Theory'; and, more recently (1949), we have W. Lederman's 'Introduction to the Theory of Finite Groups.' Yet, of all these, it is true to say their work lies rather in the field of method-employment or composition, than in that of structural design of methods or method analysis.

The particular aspect of structural design which concerns us now in method extension, a subject made topical by the publication of the excellent Corrigan Collection of Royal and Maximus methods. But an almost incredible feature of the present-day position is that, until quite recently, there has been no scientific statement of principles of this aspect; and arguments about extension have been conducted, in the main, by those better qualified to discuss composition. Studies over the past quarter of a century, however, have led to conclusions which provide a 'yardstick' by which the ordinary ringer can test extensions for himself. In other words, we now have the means of assessing the validity of extension in any given case, the process being standardised. But the form of growth (extension) in each method is individual; though even these forms can be grouped.

These means have been introduced under the general name of 'Grid Analysis,' which covers a subject by no means exhausted. Some of its principles have already been made known and are being used by ringers of note. It is hoped that its essential details may be published more fully in the near future.

In the meantime what is all this leading up to?

On page 448 of No. 2,049 of our journal are the figures of a peal rung at East Retford on May 13th last, under the title of 'Wembley Surprise Royal.' But is it the Royal of the method? If it were so then it would be beyond controversy that the 'London Royal, U.A. version,' published in February, 1949, was true London Royal; for this is no better (and no worse) than the Wembley Royal. Actually these methods are both what we call 'proximates,' i.e., the nearest obtainable to the true form. And it follows that nothing better in the method, in either case, can be produced. Here are the facts:—

Methods may be correctly analysed mathematically, in their basic forms, by a process that may be likened to that employed in examining geometrical figures for the properties of similarity. The process enables the investigator to produce at will the extension of any ringing method. The result is called Theoretic.

If the theoretic extension exhibits the requirements of the practical ringer, including the full range of the plain course, with basic coursing order (or 'Bob Major lead ends'), then it is said to be in the Ideal class of extension. The standard example of this class in Surprise methods is Cambridge.

But if, on the other hand, the theoretic form does not show these practical requirements, the method extender may set out to obtain them by introducing modifications into the design of the extension until he secures those features. The question of whether or not this is 'irregular' we may leave open for the moment.

The classic example of this modification process is found in 'London.' Here the Major is the ideal extension of the Minor. The extension to Royal was produced by Law James in 1908. It was in true mathematical form, and he called it, indeed, 'Theoretic.' But it was no more. It was not 'Ideal.' It produced a plain course two leads short of the requisite nine, since two of the bells, 5 and 6, are 'at home' every lead end. So what has happened?

Since then various 'modifiers,' in no less than 15 published versions, have attempted to convert this theoretic form into one showing the practical requirements. The modifications they introduced into the full lead vary in number from no less than 18 downwards; the least being as many as six! The object, in every case of course, was to get down to a form of extension differing from the theoretic by as few modifications as possible, and yet having the practical requirements.

Finally, in London Royal U.A., this was achieved with only two in the half lead, giving the proximate to the true London Royal.

The case of the 'Wembley' method is similar.

Its theoretic Royal produces a first lead-head row of 1634285079, giving, as in London's theoretic, 7 leads instead of 9 to its plain course; due, in this case, to 3 and 4 being 'home' at each lead. Since this is not in accordance with ringers' practical requirements, Wembley, like London, is not in the ideal class, i.e., it has no true Royal.

But to overcome the shortcoming, the extender of Wembley did as we did in London Royal, he introduced a modification into the half lead, i.e., at the treble's 9-10 section. Here, instead of a full lead in the 2nd and 3rd rows of the section, a bell makes thirds while those in 1-2 dodge. So this Wembley Royal version, given as No. 576 in the Corrigan Collection, is, like London Royal U.A., given as No. 565, proximate only.

And unless the Methods Committee recommend the recognition of such proximate, or even more remote, versions, those who ring them will ultimately have to find other names for them.

On the other hand, Wembley Maximus, given as No. 858 in the Corrigan Collection, is an extension in the ideal class, being true to mathematical form and therefore theoretic, and having also all practical requirements. So good luck to its peal attempters!

Now let us turn to the other methods mentioned, the Rutland extensions. Here we find a Surprise indeed!

(To be concluded)

RINGERS' OUTINGS

ABINGDON, BERKSHIRE.

Abingdon, like so many other towns and villages, faced the post-war days with a band of only two or three ringers. It was, therefore, an occasion that had been much anticipated when the new band, supplemented by ringers from local towers, set out on their first outing on July 22nd.

A slightly late start caused a few anxious moments to those who were to be picked up en route for the first tower—Deddington. The coach and a heavy shower arrived here simultaneously, but if macintoshes were damp enthusiasm was not, and the bells were quickly into Stedman Triples. Adderbury was reached with time in hand, and the fine eight were soon off to the pace of Cambridge Surprise and Plain Bob Major. Ringing was still in progress at 3 o'clock when a tune was due to be played on the bells, but the technical knowledge of a local ringer saved the situation, and the party left at 3.30 p.m. to the strains of a delayed but very melodious 'Home Sweet Home.'

At Banbury, the only ten-bell ring of the afternoon, Stedman Caters was attempted and successfully brought round. It was here that the sole mishap of the tour occurred—the loss of one of the party was discovered at tea. Two of the company, at the risk of missing their Banbury cakes, went in search, and it was the full complement that left for Great Tew. Here we were met by a ringer who had been such since the time of Queen Victoria, and who joined in a ring.

At the next stop, Combe, while the appetite of the Minor enthusiasts was being satisfied with Surprise Minor to Bob Doubles on a very pleasant six, an intrigued driver and others in the coach were enjoying listening to 'John Peel' and 'The Bluebells' expertly rung on handbells. The choice of Witney, with an eight that was a joy to ring, as the last call, ended the day, and the party left with a feeling of satisfaction that the Cambridge and Double Norwich had been well done.

The co-operation given by all connected with this, our first tour, made the arrangements completely smooth-running, and we would like to extend our thanks to those ringers who braved the St. Swithun storms and turned up so punctually to make us welcome at their towers. M. A. C.

GRAPPENHALL BRANCH.

The Grappenhall Branch of the Chester Diocesan Guild held their annual outing on July 15th, when ringers, wives and friends had a coach tour of Cheshire and Shropshire.

Runcorn was represented by 31 passengers, each of whom enjoyed the wonderful countryside and the churches with their ancient surroundings, many dating back hundreds of years. The churches visited were St. Oswald's, Malpas, The Blessed Virgin, Ellesmere, St. Oswald's, Oswestry, St. Mary's, Welshpool, St. Chad's, Shrewsbury, and St. Bartholomew's, Moreton-Corbet.

Many of the visitors had never seen bells rung or in motion. Opportunity was taken by them at Ellesmere to climb the many steps to the tower roof, and while passing the bell chamber to see the bells revolving.

Lunch was served at Oswestry and tea at Shrewsbury. The last call was the country parish of Moreton-Corbet, which even the coach drivers had not heard of. Here the Vicar waited to receive the party—and how nice those bells sounded in the countryside.

On our way a young lady dismounts from her horse as the coaches approach. The drivers halt and she thanks them for their courtesy. These country lanes were just wide enough for a coach.

Arriving at Frodsham the party broke up. Runcorn was reached at 11 p.m., the inclement weather making no difference to the success of the trip. Arrangements were in the hands of

Mr. Cecil Raddon, of Stockton Heath; his organisation was worthy of the many thanks he received from the visitors and colleagues of the Grappenhall ringers.

LYME REGIS.

For the first post-war outing of the St. Michael's, Lyme Regis, Guild, a visit was paid to towers in the Isle of Purbeck and Poole area.

Starting from Lyme at 8.30 a.m., other ringing friends were picked up at Bridport, Dorchester and Wareham. Corfe Castle, of historic interest, was reached a bit in front of schedule allowing time for 'elevenses' before tackling the back-handed six in the old tower. Once the tricks of the wheels and frame had been mastered some expenditure of energy produced fair striking in Doubles and Minor, but bell-hangers could well be invited here. After a stiff ascent from which a lovely panorama of Dorset revealed itself, Kingston, with its magnificent modern church and bells, provided a splendid contrast and some excellent touches of Triples and Major were rung.

A halt was made for picnic lunch on the high ground above Worth Matravers while the weather was still clear, and then on to Swanage where Mr. F. Haysom had everything in readiness at the tower. Here a good course of London Surprise Major was rung and time slipped away all too quickly on these enjoyable bells. Steady rain began and unfortunately persisted through the remainder of the tour, but the road to Studland Ferry provided some interest, and at the ferry itself, where a wait was inevitable, the handbells were brought into play for a course of Grandsire and Stedman Caters, the latter being rung—after a fashion—during the crossing.

That delay upset the time table a little, but Mr. H. Mitchell was patiently awaiting the party at St. John's, Bournemouth, and after some good touches came on in the coach to Poole. There Mr. A. R. Macdonald had kindly arranged for an ample and very welcome meat tea, he and Mr. I. Davis piloting the ringers afterwards to the tower for some Caters and Royal. Wareham was reached again about 6.45 p.m., where Dr. Cunningham joined in a touch. Notwithstanding conditions here, some very satisfactory striking resulted, especially in Cambridge Major.

The coach then headed homewards for the final tower of the day, a pretty little light six at Lytchett Matravers, requiring no effort even from those who were by this time happily weary, and with a final halt at Bere Regis for much needed refreshments Lyme Regis was safely reached about 11 p.m. The methods rung during the day included the four standard, Double Norwich Major, Cambridge, Superlative and London Surprise Major.

The party greatly appreciated the kindly welcome awaiting them at every tower, as well as the various incumbents' permission to use their bells.

Ringer's Notebook & Diary, 1951

The 1951 Ringer's Notebook and Diary will shortly be going to press. Will Association Secretaries please forward as quickly as possible:—

- Dates of Annual Meetings, Dinners, etc., for inclusion in the Diary section
- Alterations to name and/or addresses of Secretaries.
- Alterations to names of Central Council Representatives, unless these have already been reported in 'The Ringing World.'

BIGGLESWADE DISTRICT.

The annual outing of the Biggleswade District of the Bedfordshire Association was held on July 22nd in the Woodbridge district of Suffolk.

Leaving Maulden at 6.30 a.m. and picking up ringers and friends on the route to Eaton Socon, the party arrived at Stowmarket well on time, and the bells were soon going to rounds, Cambridge, Yorkshire, Grandsire, Stedman, Bob Major and Double Norwich.

Debenham was the next tower, but on leaving Stowmarket the engine of the coach backfired and set light to the carburettor and some of the party thought they had had it! Debenham was reached ten minutes late, but this grand ring was soon going to Stedman and the standard Major methods, finishing with a course of Cambridge Major and an almost perfect ring down.

After lunch at the Bridge House the party went on to Framdsen and were met by Messrs. L. C. Brett and L. Wightman. Here Cambridge, rounds, Stedman and a course of Bristol with local help was rung on this pleasing eight. Helmingham was the next tower and the bells were made good use of, the usual methods being rung.

After tea at Woodbridge, Ufford was visited and this good eight were rung to Superlative, finishing up with a course of Yorkshire. Saying good-bye to Mr. F. L. Fisher, the party then went to Grundisburgh, as Woodbridge bells were not available owing to repairs to the tower.

No difficulty was experienced in handling this light ring of ten, and Bob Royal, Stedman and Grandsire Caters were rung in good style, some ringing their first changes on ten. A course of Bristol on the back eight and a course of Cambridge Minor on the front six brought the day's ringing to an end. The party congratulated Mr. C. W. Pipe on his efforts in obtaining a light ring of ten, which all admired for its easy handling and tone. Home was reached at 1.30 a.m. L. H. B.

ST. ANDREW'S, HORNBURCH.

The customary course of Grandsire Triples on handbells at the lych gate at 7.15 a.m. (albeit rather hurried owing to the late arrival of one of the band) set the Hornchurch ringers off to an excellent outing on July 15th.

A pleasant ride, with the usual 'pick-ups' (no offence to the female fraternity), saw the company in Saffron Walden well on time. Caters was reasonably well struck, but beyond this the standard methods were rung on the back eight. Coffee was served at the Abbey Hotel, and, with the local constable watching, some good handbell ringing was enjoyed in the Market Place. However, with the traffic piling up and not wishing to tax the tolerance of the constable, a move was made to Clare. This majestic eight were soon going and the highlight was a well-struck touch of Double Norwich. Thence to Long Melford and lunch. Sad to relate, a very pleasant lunch resulted in some poor striking, and justice was not done to these merry eight bells.

Foxearth was next and this novel eight were thoroughly enjoyed by the more experienced, who still talk of the contortions required to see through and round the clock case. Hadleigh, tea, and some of the best ringing of the day, with Double Norwich the highlight again. What a grand eight!

Lastly to Witham, with an almost perfect course of Cambridge and some well-struck Little Bob, and so in golfing parlance to the '19th'—Margaretting. Here an excellent hour was spent with the handbells—tune ringing by the folks from Dagenham, and to the surprise many, Grandsire Cinques.

Ten o'clock and time for the 'homing course,' and so with the younger members singing the usual community songs and old 'Dick' volunteering a solo, Hornchurch was reached once again on time, with a general vote, 'A jolly good day.' F. V. G.

ENCOURAGEMENT OF YOUTH

IT must be obvious to regular readers that in almost every part of this island home of ours boys and girls are introduced to our belfries and taught to ring. In many cases their young, receptive brains enable them to make rapid strides in the art. What would have been very outstanding performances by adult ringers years ago have been brought to the level of commonplace achievements by some of our youthful prodigies. So frequent, indeed, that they pass with little or no notice.

The Exercise depends to-morrow upon the boys and girls of to-day, and it is in the interests of ringing generally that every encouragement should be given to them.

It may be very advisable, however, that the young ringers of to-day should know of and appreciate some of the difficulties with which their tutors had to contend and overcome in the battle to become a bellringer at all. Many visits had to be made to the belfry before one was invited to take part, and then only when some absentees in the local band resulted in the position of more ropes than ringers. Instead of a warm welcome in the belfry, there was often a sour look from the elders, and even if one of the band might have been inclined to the encouragement of the newcomer, that in many cases would be at the expense of a split in the band. The old 'paid' belfry staff frowned on interlopers, and even fathers' own sons had to be introduced very gently and progress very steadily to avoid adverse criticism, sarcastic comment and sometimes hostility. It may, indeed, be so in some belfries to-day, but such instances, it is thought, are very rare.

The continuity of a church service band depends upon youth being admitted to the belfry. No band will stand still for long, and the safest guard against lack of interest is progress. It may well be that the most rapid progress will be made by the youthful element in the band, and unless young ringers are taught proper belfry manners trouble will undoubtedly arise.

No other pastime or sport presents youth with such freedom as does campanology, and it is most important that the youth of this country should realise just what freedom is granted to them. It is more important still that they should appreciate the opportunities given to them and respect those by and through whom the opportunities have come. The quality of a thing is often judged by the price it costs to obtain it. Let that not be so with ringing, for nothing could be cheaper.

One of the most detestable developments in young ringers is swelled-headedness or trying to appear to be clever. Circumstances often arise with strangers in the belfry when a youngster will make no allowance for the unknown ringer and very little allowance for those ringers much older and certainly much more experienced. How frequently one sees at a ringing meeting that some young upstart, without being invited, will take command and call 'Go,' completely ignoring others in the band. Maybe a learner or two are trying their first touch, and very early, often at the first trip, the bells get in a heap, with the young bob-caller helpless to assist.

The difference between bob-calling and conducting is not generally fully appreciated. The art of conducting can be learned and practised just as well, if not better, when someone else is calling the bobs. The ability to conduct will quickly be recognised and admired by everyone if it is carried out in an unboastful way.

Belfry manners are more necessary than the ability to ring advanced methods. Let it not be forgotten that no matter how clever one may become—even to the extent of becoming a genius—one is entirely dependent upon others not so brilliant, without whom the genius is reduced to a very helpless individual.

Young ringers should always remember that ability to ring properly will never go unnoticed and does not call for self-advertisement. Learn to respect the older ringers, irrespective of ringing qualifications, and never underestimate the ability of the stranger.

To the older ringers we would say, 'Give the youngsters every opportunity and correct, in the early stages, any lack of belfry manners.'

To the youngsters, 'Learn to appreciate the opportunities given to you; let your ringing ability speak for itself and give no cause for your belfry manners to be questioned.'

Middlesex Association

MEETING AT BARNET.

The North and East District meeting, held at Barnet on July 29th, was very well attended and attracted visitors from most of the Home Counties.

At the business meeting, the Rev. W. B. Farrar (Rector) presided, it being his first experience as such at a ringers' gathering. Those present were asked to pay silent homage to the late Mr. W. Pickworth, a foundation member of the Association and an officer for many years, including that of vice-president. The provisional elections of seven members were duly ratified, and eleven ringers were elected as members, ten of whom are attached to the local tower.

Other routine matters were dealt with and then followed a lively discussion on the leader matter of the current issue of 'The Ringing World,' concerning remarks of the Archdeacon of Carmarthen that so many ringers never attended service and many rang whilst drunk. It was decided that the opinion of this meeting be made known through the columns of 'The Ringing World' to the extent that the words of the Archdeacon as originally reported were considered unjust, untrue and defamatory to the character of ringers. His words, if taken too generally would damn a lot of innocent ringers, and even the law-abiding citizens who habitually visit public houses for their well-being would not submit to an accusation that their acquaintances were often drunk. One section of the meeting desired the matter to be taken up vigorously by the Central Council.

The general secretary of the Association, Mr. E. C. S. Turner, sought the support of the meeting to a proposed new venture. Subject to sufficient support, arrangements will be made for a series of meetings, in the form of lectures, dealing with conducting and composition, to commence at the end of September.

The ringing, which took place at Barnet and Monken Hadley towers, was varied to suit all tastes, and the striking generally showed a definite improvement on the standard of the past few years. Thanks were accorded to the respective incumbents and towerkeepers and lady helpers in providing tea for another successful meeting.

NORWICH DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION

SOUTH NORFOLK BRANCH.

Glorious weather attracted 52 ringers and friends to the summer meeting of the South Norfolk Branch, held at Garboldisham on July 29th. The six bells of the Parish Church, also the six at the adjoining parish of Blo Norton, were rung to a large variety of methods.

Tea was served in the Parish Hall, and at the meeting which followed Mr. W. L. Duffield was in the chair, supported by the Rev. A. G. G. Thurlow, Mr. Nolan Golden, Mr. Ernest Whiting (Branch Ringing Master), Mr. A. G. Harrison (branch secretary), Messrs. E. G. Bennett, C. E. G. Banham, W. A. Lock, W. G. Saunders and F. W. Phillippo (committee). Three new members were elected—B. Beales, C. Beales and A. E. Cook, all of New Buckenham.

Bergh Apton and Brooke were selected for the meeting on October 28th.

TONBRIDGE, KENT.—On July 29th, 1,260 Grandsire Triples: B. Collison 1, K. Hohl 2, G. Whitehead 3, T. Saunders 4, J. Medhurst 5, L. Honess 6, A. Richardson (cond.) 7, A. Woodley 8. First quarter of Grandsire Triples 2 and 3.

WALSHAM-LE-WILLOWS, SUFFOLK.—On July 21st: Mrs. F. Jones (first quarter) 1, C. Fordham 2, E. Bishop (first 'inside') 3, H. Hunt 4, L. Sharpe 5, A. Cook (cond.) 6.

In connection with the broadcast from Eastbourne on the day of the Central Council, the following postcard, addressed to the Conductor of the Bell Ringers, All Saints' Church, Eastbourne, has been received from John E. Ryan, 7, Linden Way, Watertown, Mass., U.S.A.: 'Dear Conductor, I was listening to the above programme and enjoyed the ringing of bells here. Voices heard were Mr. Frank Hairs and Mr. Rollison.
Touches heard were Stedman Triples and Kent
Treble Bob Major. Programme was enjoyed.
Reception was very good.'

Before making a claim, the band who rang the peal of Rutland Surprise Major at Douglas-in-Parbold, on July 29th, enquire whether this is the first in the method for the Association.

The bells of St. Thomas', South Wigston,
Leics, are to be rededicated on Sunday morning, September 10th, after having been placed on ball bearings by the founders, Messrs. John Taylor and Co. A peal tablet recording the half-muffled peals rung to the respected memory of Charles Marshall and J. Leslie Willars, is to be dedicated at this service.
The normal Tuesday evening practices will recommence on September 12th at 7.30 p.m.

His many friends in the Exercise will congratulate Mr. Albert Walker on ringing his 700th peal, which took place at Aston on July 29th. It has taken Mr. Walker 54 years to obtain this total, whereas, he adds, the youngsters of to-day are out to ring 700 peals in seven years at the average of 100 peals a year.
There is, however, quality in his list, which includes no fewer than 442 twelve-bell peals rung in 41 different towers, including St.
Paul's Cathedral. Mr. Walker has rung peals in 20 Cathedral towers.

BELFRY GOSSIP

In our quarter peal columns there is recorded this week 4,224 Treble Bob
Major (Ilkeston variation), rung at Rayleigh, Essex. The conductor, Mr. F. B. Lufkin, writes that this was rung in mistake for a peal of 5,088 changes. He made the mistake in copying out the peal and, strange to relate, left out a course and put in another which brought up the same course-end a course later.

Our editorial on 'Encouragement of Youth' is by a well-known member of the Central Council, who has had a very wide experience in training young ringers.

The recent peal rung at Marlborough was the first to be rung by branch members exclusively. Mr. J. E. Buckley, in whose honour the peal was rung, is deputy chairman of the Marlborough Branch.

We welcome in our peal columns a peal at St. Cuthbert's, Edinburgh. It happened that Mr. Peter Crook, sen., was in Edinburgh and on the previous Sunday he asked what chance there was of peal ringing. A band was collected by the following evening, which included Mr. Ian Jones, of the Bolton area.
Otherwise the rest of the company were local.
The last peal on the bells was rung in 1936 by a visiting band, and before that there was a peal rung by local ringers in 1933.

The bells of St. Matthew's, Duffryn, Glam, where a peal was rung on July 28th, are a tuneful ring of six, hung in 1876, five years after the church was built. No change ringing was ever practised by the local band, and call changes have been rung until about six months ago, this despite efforts by neighbouring bands to introduce change ringing. The ice has now been broken, and the local band are keen to learn change ringing, and one of them, Mr. W. J. Locke, participated in the peal.

The Bells of Oberammergau

BY REV. A. G. G. THURLOW.

THE Bavarian village of Oberammergau is leaving an ineffaceable impression on visitors this year, not only by reason of its most moving Passion Play, being performed for the first season since the tercentenary performance of 1934, not only through its lovely mountain setting, but also by reason of its bells.

The Parish Church, a striking rather than beautiful Baroque structure, gives a constant impression of being alive. Services of many kinds are frequent. The great service at 6 a.m. before the start of the play leaves a wonderful impression, as do many others here. A remarkable part in the impression of life given by the church is played by the frequent and varied use made of its bells.

We made friends with the sacristan—who wears the long hair and beard traditional amongst male inhabitants of the village during the year of the play—and through his kindness saw the bells and learnt something about them. The tower, like many in the district, is narrow inside for its height, crowned with an 'onion steeple,' and the bells, seven in number, hang on different levels in a metal cage, the members of which seemed rather thin for bells of such a size swinging through a semi-circle.

The bells were cast in 1448 and 1449, by Kudos Nowsky, of Erding, and the arrangement for swinging them 'frame high' is called the Herforder Lautemaschinen 'Voco' by the Herforder Electricitats Werke, Bokelmann and Kohlo, Herford.

The notes are, so we were told, C, B, G, F, D, C and B, though unless my recollection is at fault, they sounded more like a ring of eight with the 2nd missing. The weight of the Bourdon, we were told, is 4,200 kg., and we guessed its diameter as about 4ft. 6in. We had not time to take all the inscriptions, but the 5th appeared to be dedicated to St. Michael, the 6th to our Lord, and the Bourdon to SS. Peter and Paul.

The use made of the bells is most complicated. On Sundays it is as follows: for the Angelus at 5 a.m., 12 noon and 9 p.m., the 3rd is rung, at 11 the 4th; for Mass at 7 the 3rd, at 9 the 4th, 5th and 6th; the same at 10; and the 3rd at 7.30 p.m. for Devotions. On week-days the Angelus is rung on the 4th at 5 and 11 a.m., also 5 p.m. in winter and 9 p.m. in summer; 4 and 5 are rung at 6.30 and 7.15 for Mass, and the 3rd for Devotions at 7.30 p.m. On festivals, the Angelus at 5 a.m. is on the treble, then on all the bells; Angelus at 12 on the treble, then at 5 in winter and 9 in summer. On days when the play is performed, in addition to the other week-day uses, for the 6.30 a.m. Sung Mass are rung first the treble, then all the bells.

In addition to this there are sundry special services, such as Confirmations, etc. The sacristan has to remember just when to press the buttons operating all the bells, in the midst of constant urgent duties, such as getting ready for dozens of visiting priests to say Mass daily, moving statues, altar frontals, flowers, etc., keeping lots of long-haired Biblical-looking servers in order, etc. His is indeed a full-time job. Mercifully, the electric buttons are in the sacristy, not in the tower the other end of the church.

The Editor would welcome anecdotes of unusual experiences connected with ringing, bells and towers. Most people in life have one experience which is out of the ordinary and of general interest to their fellow-men.

Festival of Britain Committee

AN INTERIM REPORT.

Dear Sir,—The Festival of Britain Committee of the Central Council is at present studying how ringers may take their full share in the events of 1951. From this a report will be made, with recommendations, to the Standing Committee, who have been empowered by the Council to take appropriate action.

The work of our committee falls into two broad divisions, corresponding to the official Festival organisation on the one hand, and to the countrywide local celebrations on the other.

Regarding the first, liaison has been established with the Festival authorities, and two facts of some importance have been ascertained through this channel. They are, that there is absolutely no possibility of erecting a synthetic tower on the south bank exhibition site, but that the Church of St. John, Waterloo Road, adjoining the site, is being rebuilt as the Festival Church, and that, just as the Royal School of Church Music is arranging for visiting choirs to sing at services in the Festival Church, so should we arrange for visiting bands to ring the bells.

It is the second division of our work, however, which is likely to offer most to the individual Guild or tower, not only by the suggestions we offer, but also in our capacity as a clearing house for ideas.

This brings me to the main purpose of this letter, to say how much the committee welcomes ideas about the Festival, and how much they hope that anyone with ideas will write to its convener. In this connection, it should be pointed out that all references to the Festival of Britain in 'The Ringing World' have been noted, and all will be given careful thought in preparing our report to the Standing Committee of the Council.—Yours sincerely,

E. S. JOHN HATCHER,

Convener, Festival of Britain Committee.

A CORNISH FAREWELL

The local band at Madron, Cornwall, is to be congratulated on ringing a peal on their own bells. This was a determined and heroic effort, and was rung at the third attempt in less than three weeks. The desire was to ring a peal before the bells are dismantled, which is shortly to be done by Messrs. J. Taylor and Co. One of the new trebles to be added is to be the Truro Guild memorial to the late revered president and Master, the late Dr. John Symons. Any who have memories of Cornwall and the 'Doctor' may send a donation, if they desire, to the Rev. A. S. Roberts, Carbis Bay, who will send a grateful acknowledgment.

CAMBRIDGE MAXIMUS PEAL

Dear Sir,—With further reference to the false peal of Cambridge Surprise Maximus, I find that I omitted to include in the summary of falseness that the 11th lead of the seventh course is false against the 5th lead of the first course. I shall be pleased if you will kindly point out the omission and oblige.—Yours truly,

L. W. G. MORRIS.

Bradford.

Apology

Dear Sir,—I wish to state that I made a mistake in reporting the annual general meeting of the St. David's Guild of Bellringers in that I wrote that the Ven. J. Richards Pugh, Vicar of Carmarthen and Archdeacon of St. David's, said that 'many ringers rang whilst drunk.'

I am satisfied now from evidence from various places that the Archdeacon made no such statement, and the report was the result of my faulty memory. As I am not mentally equipped to prepare such reports I shall cease to try in future.

I apologise to all who have been upset by my mistake, but assure everyone that my intention was not to spread malice or upset the work of the Guild but merely to report the meeting. I see no reason why the work of the Guild should not continue as though nothing had happened.—Yours faithfully,

DAVID H. BETTS.

Haverfordwest, Pembro.

PEALS ON FIVE AND SEVEN BELLS

Sir,—I should like to say that it seems logical to recognise a peal of Doubles rung without a covering bell if such a peal is rung in a tower that has only a ring of five. It represents the most that a five-bell band can do in a five-bell tower and allows them to ring a peal in their own tower.

But such a peal rung in a tower with more than five bells should not be recognised, since the other bell is there to cover, and it is no fault of the Central Council if the band meet one short, although it would be very bad luck. I myself would rather stand out than take part in ringing with one of the ring missed out.

It seems to me that the best basis is that which has been accepted by ringers in the past and up to these days, and that basis is:—

(a) Odd-bell peals with a covering bell.

(b) Even-bell peals without a covering bell.

These days any sort of leadership is resented, and if the two simple conditions (a) and (b) are not insisted upon, the standard will be lowered greatly and any kind of freak performance will pass, and although its ringing may be good and its changes true, the best tradition of the Exercise is spoilt.

JACK WORRALL'S BEARD

Dear Sir,—Having read the comments concerning Jack Worrall's beard, I feel that I must say, forsooth, that it is my bounden duty, as a member (female) of Bristol University Society of Change Ringers, to add my point of view. Although I have been a member for one year, I shall experience truly a great interest, perhaps, who knows, a delightful surprise, to see the real Jack Worrall.

It comes to my mind, however, that there must have been a motive for his madness. Unfortunately, the show-piece of our society has disappeared. Who now will uphold our glory? To those who have failed, 'try and try again'; to Jack, 'congratulations.' — Yours faithfully,
'A BAS LES BARBES.'

THE BELLS OF ST. CLEMENT'S

Story of Record Peal of Doubles

'The Australian Women's Weekly' made a double-page feature story, with nine illustrations, of the peal of Doubles of 8,040 changes rung at St. Clement's, Yass, on April 29th. Below we give extracts of the story written by Betty Wilkinson, staff reporter, on the performance.

MANY residents of the small township of Yass, N.S.W., felt disappointed because they heard no bells pealing during the recent attempt, in St. Clement's Church there, to break a world record for tower bellringing.

They had expected to listen for several hours to the pealing, but the Sidney bellringers had insisted that the sound should be muffled by boarding up the tower openings, and the bells could not be heard more than a few blocks away.

One reason for muffling the sound was the fear that the continuous ringing would worry patients in the District Hospital.

The bellringing added a picturesque touch to a month of centenary celebrations at St. Clement's Church.

The celebrations concluded the day after the bellringing with a rededication service, when the beautiful old church was decorated with tawny chrysanthemums and bright autumn sunlight poured through the windows.

Bishop G. H. Cranswick, of Kallista, Victoria, preached at the service, and at its conclusion pronounced the solemn and simple words rededicating the people of St. Clement's.

Since the Rev. H. P. Reynolds became Rector of St. Clement's at the end of 1948 he has reawakened interest in bellringing in Yass, and has an enthusiastic team trained by instructors from Sydney.

LEARNT ON COWBELLS

Although there was once a set of 29 handbells belonging to St. Clement's, these have disappeared, and when the new team started to learn it had to use cowbells.

Before the big bellringing event, Bruce Dunbar, of Sydney, spent a week in Yass oiling the bells, and making sure all preparations were complete. Even so, before the ringing started there were many preliminaries.

When one member arrived at the church tower carrying an outside in thick bristle doormats, so that his feet wouldn't get tired, his bellmates jibed, 'Why don't you get a mattress?'

Two of the ringers wore slippers to rest their feet, and most of the men wore shorts, as hours of bellringing can become very hot work.

The beginning of the bellringing was an impressive moment.

As the door of the church tower closed on the five ringers from Sydney, shutting out all sounds from the outside world, the first note of the bells rang forth. They continued for four hours and 34 minutes.

For all that time the five men stood pulling at their ropes and a sixth, the referee, kept an official record of their ringing.

The bellringers had set themselves a severe mental and physical test as they could not stop ringing at all, and must ring in their correct sequences, checked by the referee.

They were not allowed to take any liquid for 24 hours before the ringing began. This was to avoid perspiration and chafed hands.

CHOCOLATE FOR THE RINGERS

The referee kept chocolate handy, ready to thrust a piece into the ringers' mouths when he thought they were flagging.

By ringing 8,040 changes on the five bells they created an Australian record for ringing Doubles, the term used for five bells ringing changes.

The changes are the number of combinations it is possible to make with a given number of bells.

The greatest number of changes possible on five bells is 120, called an extent, which takes approximately four minutes. The goal aimed for 100 extents, or 12,000 changes.

The five members of the N.S.W. Bellringers' Association who rang at St. Clement's would have had to ring more than 10,080 changes to beat the known world record, created unofficially at Gillingham, Suffolk, England, in 1822.

RESULT TO ENGLAND

The Sydney team does not know what the official world record is for Doubles ringing, and it will send the result of the St. Clement's ringing to England claiming the official world record, and see if anyone disputes the claim.

Those of us near the church who were listening to the sweet pealing of the bells were jubilant when the ringers reached and passed the previous Australian record of 5,520 changes. This record was made at St. Jude's, Randwick, an Anzac Day, 1947, and there were two women in the team.

Even as an outsider I found it nerve-racking listening for the bells to stop.

It only needed one member of team to falter for the attempt to end, and after four hours and thirty-four minutes one of them felt he was going to collapse, so stopped 'rather than have my inside pulled out,' as he described it.

The ringers, all of them with many years of training, were Bill Rowe, of St. Jude's, Randwick, who was conductor; Ron Rowe and John Duncan, both of St. Jude's; Harry Short, St. Mary's Cathedral; and Robert Ferris, All Saints', Parramatta.

The referee was Edmund ('Chook') Fowell, St. Mary's Cathedral, who has the necessary qualifications to be recognised officially. When a record is made it must bear the signature of a qualified referee before it is official.

The referee must concentrate just as hard as the ringers do. He holds sheets of paper on which are type the changes, and must tick off each fresh lead-end.

Just before the towers door were closed a telegram arrived from the ringers at St. Peter's, Adelaide, wishing luck to Bill Rowe, who had taught them to ring St. Peter's bells when they were installed in 1947.

Mr. Reynolds, who had asked the bellringers to attempt the world record on St. Clement's mellow old bells, was the most disappointed of all when the bells stopped.

He had just said how precise and good the ringing was when the bells faltered and the silence we had all been dreading seemed to fill the air more than the previous sound.

Since the April day a hundred years ago, when the first service was held in the church, the history of St. Clement's has been the history of faith and service by generation after generation of worshippers and the Rectors and their wives.

'THE GRAND OLD MAN OF YASS'

An interested spectator as the bellringers made their final preparations was a venerable Yass identity, 78-year-old Mr. Arthur Smith.

He is the Grand Old Man of Yass bellringers. His father had been a ringer in England, and as his sons became old enough he taught them first the art of ringing handbells and then tower bells.

'We used to play at local concerts, just like any other variety turn,' he said. 'With six ringers we could ring any tune, as we had six bells each, taking up whichever one was wanted. We used to ring all the popular tunes of the day.'

As long as there was a bellringing team in Yass, Mr. Smith continued to train new members.

Bath and Wells Association

CARY DEANERY BRANCH.

At the quarterly meeting of the Cary Deanery Branch of the Bath and Wells Diocesan Association, held at Cucklington on July 22nd, the Rev. F. Ll. Edwards (Rector of Kington Magna) conducted the service, and the Rev. J. A. Batcup (Vicar of Cucklington and Stoke Trister) was at the organ.

The Rev. F. Ll. Edwards based his address on Thessalonians i. 8: 'For from you sounded out the word of the Lord.' He drew a parallel between the Christian life and methods of sounding bells. There was, he said, the method of chiming bells by swinging them, the use of chiming apparatus, which he liked least of all, and ringing them. Only the last method brought out the best tone of the bell. So it was with religious life. So many Christians did not live their full religious life and were comparable to the chiming apparatus.

He referred to national revolutions which were atheistic in their inception. Great Christian countries had given in to such ideologies, but he was certain that such changes could never have taken place had the peoples been living their full religious life and had exerted their full power against the evil. In these days of individual and national offences against the laws of God and man, only the restoration of a full religion could combat this wrongdoing. Half-hearted religion was useless.

Forty-four members sat down to tea, and the branch chairman (Canon Wakeman, of South Cadbury and Sutton Montis) presided at the business meeting. Two new members were elected. Votes of thanks were accorded to Rev. Batcup for the use of the bells, to Rev. Edwards for conducting the service, and to Mrs. Batcup and her helpers for providing and serving tea.

During the afternoon and evening various touches from Rounds to Cambridge were rung on the bells. Stoke Trister bells were also available after tea. The last meeting held at Cucklington was in 1938.

BEVERLEY AND DISTRICT SOCIETY

The Society held its annual meeting at Nunburnholme on July 8th. Over 50 members attended with wives and friends and with two visitors from Leicester Cathedral.

The Rector (the Rev. E. W. French) conducted the service in the Norman church of St. James, the ringers completely filling the church.

Tea was taken in the schoolroom, which was full to overflowing, the overflow being accommodated on the green outside. Being picnic weather, there were no complaints.

Mr. G. F. Williams presided at the business meeting, where the annual report and accounts were approved. The Rev. French and Mr. F. Wilkinson were thanked for the use of the bells, a splendid country tea and arrangements.

Mr. H. F. Poole, president of the Leicester Diocesan Guild, gave the good wishes of his Society to the Beverley District, remarking that he only intended to stay for a short ring, but had stayed through the afternoon to service and tea.

Good use was made of the bells in the evening. They are a very musical ring and easy to handle, and were rung in standard methods until 8.30 p.m.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Central Council Peal Decisions

AS ADVISORY BODY ADVOCATED.

Dear Sir,—In reply to Mr. Smallwood, I can assure him that my purpose was not to hamper the work of this sub-committee, but merely to try and ensure that those who troubled to write should have their views duly and impartially considered. I may be wrong, but I do think that when a committee asks for people's views, letters received should be acknowledged and passed round for consideration by all its members.

Mr. Smallwood will persist in thinking that my suggestions arise purely from self-interest. He refers to 'an alleged record performance of Double Norwich . . .'; but as this peal was accepted by the Council as a record in 1948, it should be quite clear to any reasoning person that this can have nothing whatever to do with it. To my mind, the conditions laid down at present as 'desirable' to be observed are obsolete and quite unnecessary. To remove them will merely make it easier for future bands to surpass this record, if they so wish.

Further, I have never taken part in any of these so-called 'freak' performances, or any which contravene the Council's decisions, so I have no personal axe to grind whatever. I must therefore ask Mr. Smallwood to try and clear his mind of prejudice and grant to my original letter that sympathetic consideration he promises to others.

I agree with Mr. Smallwood that the Council has no powers to enforce its decisions, and I therefore consider that it should not attempt to make laws which may require enforcement, but confine its activities to that of being a purely advisory body. I believe that people should be free to ring what they like. Why not? I have great faith in the good sense of the Exercise as a whole, and feel that ringers will arrive at what is best by a process of trial and selection, if they are left free to do so. I do not think that the removal of all restrictions would result in a spate of 'freak' performances, as I firmly believe that the majority of ringers are only interested in ringing what is worth while.—Yours faithfully,

C. W. WOOLLEY.

LEAD TO FRESH ANOMALIES

Dear Sir,—From Mr. Smallwood's two recent letters in your columns, it would appear that the sub-committee appointed to review Central Council decisions has adopted the unusual procedure of making up its mind first and requesting viewpoints, etc., afterwards.

It is, therefore, easy to comprehend my opinions in any way opposed to the committee's observations, such as Mr. Woolley's and my own, have not even produced a bare acknowledgment.

A close study of the alleged impartial recommendations of the committee reveals that they are as full of 'snags' and loopholes as any previous decisions and, if carried, they will, in my estimation, lead to fresh anomalies cropping up year after year; indeed, it is extremely difficult to understand on what evidence or investigations these findings are based.

I much regret to learn from Mr. Smallwood that members of this impenetrable sub-committee have been 'stung' and rendered unduly anxious by my innocent use of the word 'bleat'—actually I am more concerned with their reactions to the important suggestions contained in the penultimate paragraph of my letter—but I am led to wonder if they have ever heard the following verse:—

You may bark, bray or bleat to make yourself heard,

Like animals roaming the land;
But, whatever you do, don't be as the bird
Which buries its head in the sand!

With, perhaps, the addition of the words 'or clouds,' may I heartily commend the last two lines to Mr. Smallwood and his merry colleagues of the sub-committee.—Yours faithfully,

T. R. BUTLER.

AN EXAMPLE FROM EDINBURGH

Dear Sir,—It has been my lot to travel north, south, east and west of our ringing isle and never miss an opportunity to ring at places where I visit, and I have not yet met one case where drink or a drunken ringer has been in the belfry. I occasionally find cases of smoking, but a discreet reference often puts this practice out of use.

'The encouragement of care and attention' no doubt has been acted upon, and ringers generally realise their position and duties to the Church. In many places the 'leader' offers up a prayer before the commencing of ringing, and in some the clergy visit the belfry for that purpose. I was very much impressed when I recently visited St. Cuthbert's, Edinburgh. The room was very clean and tidy, the handbells polished, an attendance and visitors' book, but, above all, a clergyman was there, and he gave a short but very impressive service which made one feel, when he was ringing, the reverence of his duties.

Perhaps if the Archdeacon of Carmarthen visited the belfry or arranged for a clergyman to attend he would have a different opinion.

A SERMON OF THE REV. F. E. ROBINSON

Dear Sir,—The Archdeacon of Carmarthen, the Ven. J. Richards Pugh, had obviously not read 'Among the Bells,' by the late Rev. F. E. Robinson, M.A.

In his book, which I do not hesitate to suggest should be read by all clergymen with any interest in ringing, appears the following passage, on page 226, chapter 10:—

My tale of peals in 1895 was a very moderate one. . . . On July 1st I attended at Annual Festival of the Winchester Diocesan Guild, and preached from Luke x. 8-9 (the lost piece of silver), pointing out that 'the woman in the parable represented the Church of Christ; the lost piece of silver might stand for a neglected portion of church restoration, the condition of belfries, bells and ringers. These were formerly in almost a lost state; the ringers were known as some of the worst characters in the parish, and the art of ringing had become degraded. Now all was changed. Throughout the country these guilds and associations had gradually ameliorated this state of affairs; the Church, with her Divine Head ever present with her, and in her, had lit the candle; had sought diligently after that which was lost, and had found it; and now ringers were being recognised as church-workers, as church officers.

Clergy and Ringers

Dear Sir,—I have visited many towers in thirteen counties and I emphatically state that I have never once seen a ringer in any way under the influence of drink.

If the clergy as a body took more interest in the ringers and ringing they would have no cause to complain of non-attendance at services, and I am glad to say there are many instances where this does exist, and in all such cases the ringers are delighted to have the clergy with them.

I have personally received very great help and friendship from ringers, and am proud to reckon many of them as real friends.

If the Archdeacon would mix freely with the ringers he would find many men with a standard of intellect that would give him something to think about.—Yours faithfully,

ARTHUR MADELEY.

SEARCHING DEVON FOR BELL CHIMES

Dear Sir,—When I was collaborating with the Rev. W. Pitchford in 1936 on his B.B.C. talks on Church Bell Chimes, illustrating the air and the harmony on the handbells, two of the Devon towers selected were Ottery St. Mary and Holsworthy. On my first visit into Devon to see Washfield, I asked my 'chauffeur' to make a bee-line to Ottery and Holsworthy. I wanted to hear the real thing, the church bells.

We came first to Ottery about noon and, lo and behold, the bells were ringing. There was a wedding on (August 4th, 1937, I believe). We sat on a tombstone to listen to the peal and see the bride. (To my surprise the next tombstone had my wife's name, Tryphena, on it.) At length the bride appeared, and the bells rang out most joyfully. Splendid striking on those bells. 'Good band that,' I remarked to my companions. The bells ceased, and I said, 'I am going to see the ringers.' They were ringing from the floor.

I greeted them and said I had travelled 200 miles to hear the chimes. They all seemed very happy, and said, 'Sorry, but we have got the job of ringing wedding bells all day.' (No wonder they looked so happy.) I told them I was disappointed. They looked at one another, the circle drew closer, whispering and nodding of heads took place. If I had had a net I could have flung it over those eight heads and caught the lot. At last the foreman spoke up. 'We will fall the bells, put the chimes on; you shall hear them before the clock strikes. Then we will raise them again. 'Downwards, here goes the treble,' and a splendid falling in peal took place. The nimblest ringer slipped up to the bell chamber and put on the chimes and O.K.'d from above. At last I heard the tune I had so often rung on the handbells. The nimble ringer came down and took his rope. 'All ready. Here goes the treble; treble's gone,' and a splendid raising in peal took place until 'Stand' was called.

I thanked them. I handed them something, asking them to drink my health as a brother ringer in Devonshire cider, warning them not to raise their elbow too high that day. 'We parted in much love,' as John Wesley said when in Devon. I told the driver to make a beeline for Holsworthy, but more about Holsworthy another time. But here, once again, was an instance of the kindness, helpfulness and English humour of this great brotherhood.

Peals Rung for more than one Association

Dear Sir,—On two or three occasions recently peals have been published as rung for two Associations (as recently as July 15th at Harrow Weald). This surely is contrary to Central Council decisions. I am not aware that the resolution passed by the Council in 1893 has ever been rescinded. With a view to the regulation of the records of peals in peal books, the Council passed the following resolution: 'It is desirable, when a band of ringers belonging to more than one Association meet to ring a peal, that they should decide beforehand to which Association such peal shall be credited, and that for the future no peal shall be pushed under the name of more than one Association.'

It was the practice, I believe, when the Peals Analyses Committee awarded 'points for peals,' that the points were credited to the first-named Association only. This would ensure that there was no duplication in the Council's analyses. It did not prevent both Associations from publishing the same peal in their respective reports and claiming it in the total rung for the respective Society, if they so wished.

To prevent this possibility in future, would it not be better for the Editor to withhold publication until the Council's resolution was respected!

TWO SOCIETY PEALS

Dear Sir,—I notice in Belfry Gossip a correspondent refers to a peal credited to the Lancashire Association and to the Ancient Society of College Youths.

The procedure in our Association is that if all the performers are members of the Association in a peal recorded to another Society, the conductor can, by sending particulars to the ringing secretary, ask for the peal to be published in our report, which is what was done on the occasion referred to.—Yours faithfully.

F. DUNKERLEY,

Hon. Secretary,

CALL CHANGE CAPTAIN'S APPRECIATION

Dear Sir,—I would like to offer, on behalf of Pilton ringers, our congratulations to the band of ringers who came to Pilton on July 27th. They came from the Salisbury Guild. I do not know the first thing about method ringing, but I know a little about call change ringing, and I also know when the bells are being rung. That band last Thursday gave us the best striking I have heard on our bells by method ringing, and it was a real pleasure to listen to them.

I am sorry we didn't have the pleasure of listening to them ring 5,040 on our bells but, owing to the fact that our church is surrounded by almshouses and old people, our Rector could not permit the bells to be rung for so long at a stretch. The ringers' names are: Mr. F. Harris (organiser), H. Abrahams, Miss E. Brown and Miss J. Brown (Salisbury), J. Mussell, P. Marlow and D. Reed (Winchester), P. Anger (Oxford), P. Cannon (Surrey), and W. Theobald (Middlesex).—Yours truly,

G. HARDING,
Captain, Pilton ringers.

'IN TOWERS AND PLACES WHERE THEY RING'

TRURO CATHEDRAL.

In the 'Truro Diocesan News Leaflet,' the Rev. A. S. Roberts, of Carbis Bay, is writing a series of articles on bells and ringing. The first of these, dealing with Truro Cathedral, is of special interest during the holiday period, when many ringers find their way to Cornwall.

In his Memoir of Bishop Frere, C. S. Phillips writes of Lis Escop: 'Its garden was a beautiful place, though Frere himself had none of the gardening enthusiasm of his predecessor, Bishop C. W. Stubbs, and of his successor, Bishop Hunkin, who have done so much to make it what it is. From one corner of the terrace there is an exquisite view of the Cathedral, and on Sundays and practice nights the sonorous tones of its magnificent old bells could be heard rising from below.'

If this is true of the garden, it is not quite true of the bells—magnificent, yes, but old, no. It will be only forty years on June 21st next that the ringing peal of ten bells in the north-west tower of the Cathedral was dedicated, together with the western towers and spires. The bells were then quite new. The coming of these bells was a surprise. They had not been prepared for, even though the western towers had been planned. It had been thought by Mr. J. L. Pearson, R.A., that the tower at the south-east angle of the south transept might have sufficed, in fact in this tower there are six bells, the largest dated 1770 and weighing 17 cwt., is hung for ringing and is the hour bell for the clock; the smallest bell, dated 1771, is now never used. The four quarter hour chime bells were recast in 1902 when they were all rehung in an iron frame, but with the exception of the tenor they are hung 'dead.'

When in 1907 Mrs. Hawkins made her gift to the Dean and Chapter for the building of the western towers the vision of a ringing peal came to bell enthusiasts—Messrs. J. C. Daubuz, A. P. Nix, Dr. J. Symons amongst them, and this vision materialised. The plan was for ten bells in the north-west tower and a bourdon bell (about 5½ tons) in the south-west tower. (Full details of donors, weights, inscriptions and cost can be found in the Chapter Room.)

The former were soon provided, but the latter is still a gift for the future. Mr. F. L. Pearson had to alter his father's designs by carrying up the stonework of the north-west tower for the foundation girders of the bell frame, and enlarging the bell-hole from some 4ft. diameter to 5ft. 6in. so the bells could be got in. To provide properly for the bourdon bell in the south-west tower the bell-hole should have been enlarged some 7ft. diameter, but this was not done, although the Nunc Dimittis is reserved as the inscription for the bell. By some means it will now have to be got up outside.

There are 159 rings of ten bells in England, and Truro comes twelfth in order of weight with a tenor of 33 cwt. 3 qr. 10 lb. in D flat. The bells are from the famous foundry of Messrs. J. Taylor and Co., Loughborough, and are 'magnificent' because they have been cast since modern methods of tuning have been used. Each bell is in tune with itself and each other bell in the ring. The bells are hung in two tiers, this being necessary because of the slenderness of the tower, with numbers 5, 6, 9 and 10 on the bottom in the 'H' type of casting, and numbers 1, 2, 3, 4, 7 and 8 above in the 'A' type of casting. The supporting girders are of steel. The bearings are plain, having been provided just before ball bearings were introduced, and have stood up to 40 years' wear well.

There is no more loyal body of Cathedral workers than the Company of Ringers. It is true to say that this has always been so. The present Master is Mr. W. H. Southard, who is the only remaining member of the band who saw the bells come into being, and he learned to ring soon after. He is also Master of the Diocesan Guild. A Past Master was the late Mr. W. S. Sitwell. The Rev. W. H. R. Trehwella, secretary of the Diocesan Guild, was also Master for a while. It is because of the enthusiasm of such leaders that the Cathedral bells have never been silent for want of ringers. Method ringing, which is the highest form of ringing, has always been practised.

Fifteen peals, of over 5,000 changes each, in six different methods, have been rung in times varying from 3 hours 19 minutes to 3 hours 46 minutes, and in most of these some local ringers have taken part. The most productive period in this respect was from 1927 to 1936 when in ten years ten of these peals were rung.

The happy relationship which still exists between the Chapter and the ringers is typically expressed in a letter from the late Canon B. C. Corfe, who saw the bells dedicated, and who drew up the company's rules. It was written on Whit Sunday, 1929. One of these peals had been rung to mark his 25th year at the Cathedral.

'My dear Secretary,—I want two small communications from myself to be in your hands before to-morrow. The first is to beg you to express to the company, and especially to those who were ringing on that occasion, my most sincere and grateful appreciation for the honour paid to me in the belfry, when our bells commemorated my 25th year as Canon and Precentor of the Cathedral. I flung my windows open, and listened all through, with both joy and sorrow—with sorrow, to think that the break-up of my home happiness means for me my departure from Truro, and my many friends and well-wishers here; and with joy for the kindness of heart which set you ringing for me.'

'I shall never forget this, and shall think of it again and again when I have gone. The other is that I wish you all a very happy outing to-morrow, with decent weather. My only regret will be that I cannot accompany you, for the reason that I must be at the Training College on Whitsun Monday, especially as it will be for the last time. Our glorious bells, and those who ring them, will always be amongst the happy memories of my Truro days. Yours always sincerely, Edward C. Corfe.'

This has begun and ended with an appreciation of our Cathedral bells; long may this continue and likewise the service which is so lovingly rendered in the belfry.

Control of Ringing Meetings

Dear Sir,—I am glad to notice that at last a cleric has drawn the attention of the Exercise to Canon 88. This certainly makes empty reading of those 'rules' which we often find in Guild and Association reports, such as: 'the secretary, or Master, shall be empowered, with the consent of the treasurer, to make up a band for the opening of any new ring,' or, 'they shall satisfy themselves by personal inspection or otherwise as to the state of the belfries and bands in their branch.'

It also makes null and void the position of a branch Ringing Master at a meeting to override the one elected by the incumbent and P.C.C. as the local captain where it is not desired.

Far too many ringers these days think of the Guilds and Associations as the controlling authorities of all church bells, as a sort of trade union, and that the parochial powers that be should just have to sit up and take notice. The above canon law just goes to show these people that they have no such powers, and only makes such 'rules' look ridiculous.

I admire any belfry captain or incumbent who refuses to allow such trespass upon his parochial rights and preserves. Surely we have enough Communist technique in industry without it creeping into ringing. Some are attempting to use the Guilds and Associations for what they were never intended to be.

P. AMOS.

Northampton.

[NOTE.—When permission has been granted by the incumbent to a Guild or Association to hold a meeting in a tower, the responsibility for the ringing and conduct of proceedings automatically passes to the District Ringing Master. Canon 88 cannot be interpreted to apply to such occasions. At a dedication service the responsibility for the order of the service, including the ringing, rests with the incumbent.—Ed.]

HIGHAM FERRERS, NORTANTS DEDICATION.

Reported in dire need of rehanging eighteen months ago, the fine ring of eight at Higham Ferrers has been overhauled by Messrs. John Taylor and Co., of Loughborough, at a cost of £430.

On Saturday, July 22nd, they were rededicated by the Archdeacon of Oakham (Ven. E. N. Millard), in the presence of a large congregation of parishioners, ringers from all parts and other friends.

The Vicar of Higham Ferrers (Rev. H. S. Hoar) conducted a short preliminary service, and then a procession of crucifer, servers, thurifer, clergy and churchwardens went to the belfry. Here the ropes were handed to the Archdeacon by the wardens, and the work was solemnly dedicated. The Archdeacon handed the ropes back to the Vicar, who distributed them to the ringers. The Vicar intoned 'Glory be to God on high,' and the choir sang out 'And in earth peace, goodwill towards men,' whereupon a short touch was rung. It was a very impressive moment.

A short and inspiring address was given by the Archdeacon before the collection, which amounted to nearly £6, so that only £60 had to be added to what had already been subscribed.

Tea was served in the Parish Rooms afterwards, and all the evening (except during evensong) the bells rang out merrily at the hands of many visiting ringers, who greatly appreciated the easy 'go.'

'MORE HASTE, LESS SPEED'

(Concluded from the previous issue.)

By A. YORK-BRAMBLE.

IN the previous instalment we referred to the Royal and Maximus forms of a method, Wembley, as shown in the Corrigan Collection.

The value of the collections of methods made by Mr. Corrigan to the Exercise of today is incalculable, and probably such as only history may be able properly to assess. Nevertheless, the collector himself would be the first to admit, no doubt, that in view of the pending work and results of the Methods Committee, and of the probability that they may recommend recognition of only the 'pure' or ideal forms of extension, the Collection of Royal and Maximus methods as now published can be in no sense a ringer's 'bible' of methods on ten and twelve bells. The reason is clear.

We have already shown that:—

- (1) Means now exist of deriving mathematically the extension of any method.
- (2) Such extension is called the Theoretic form.
- (3) If it complies with ringers' conventional requirements, including full-length plain course and basic coursing order, it is said to be in the Ideal (or pure) class of extensions.
- (4) If it does not so comply, then modifications in the method design may bring in those requirements; but such 'mods' are, in fact, steps of departure from the method. Such extensions are therefore in the Modified class.
- (5) A modified extension with the minimum possible of such steps is known as the Proximate form. Other modified forms, more remote (i.e., with greater number of mods), are not worth consideration as extensions.

Now, clearly, unless an extension is in the ideal class it is not a true extension. We showed in the previous instalment that Wembley Royal is a modified form. But, at least, it is proximate, and its Maximus extension is ideal. (See Nos. 576 and 858 in the Collection.)

But what of Rutland?

The forms given in the Collection, No. 519 Royal, and No. 849 (misprinted '859') Maxi-mus, are not ideal. They are not even proximate! The Royal has at least nine mods in its lead, one of which is quite unforgivable. It is the removal of the position of place-making of the pivot bell from the lead to thirds. Also a feature peculiar to Rutland has been omitted, namely, when the treble dodges behind, contiguous 5ths and 6ths counted therefrom. Worse still, all this is unnecessary, for the proximate form can be produced with only one mod in the half-lead, i.e., contiguous 5ths and 6ths as the treble leaves its dodging on the front. Again, the Maximus shows six mods in the full lead, whereas none are necessary. The method, in fact, extends ideally to Maximus.

Now all this is not just matter of opinion. It is a matter of absolute fact. It is demonstrably true mathematically. It is there for any to see. What, then, of the rest of the Collection?

Well, at last, the practical ringer is becoming interested in what has for long been clear to the theoretician. Among such ringers is one of the leading conductors of these times, who has always been interested in method structure as an aid to the art of conducting. More recently he has taken up the study of Grid Analysis. Applying it in an examination of the Corrigan Collection of Royal and Maximus methods, he has been able to determine that several of the Royal and Maximus forms there are not 'pure' or ideal extensions. I have had the pleasure of checking this work and I concur with his findings.

But how far those non-ideal versions approach to the best obtainable, and whether in any given case the 'ideal' is, in fact, obtainable, it is not possible to say without further work on these methods.

But the Exercise may be assured of two things:—

- (A) That such work will eventually be accomplished.
- (B) That the results of such work will be found to fall within a category beyond the field of doubt or controversy.

A significant and interesting point is that much of the recent report of the Methods Committee has already appeared, though in different form, among the expressed principles of Grid Analysis.

OBITUARY

MR. WILLIAM JEFFS.

We are sure that the friends of Mr. William Jeffs will learn with regret of his death, which occurred on July 27th, at Rosebery Avenue, Linslade, Bucks, after a seizure.

'Bill' Jeffs, as he was known to his ringing friends, was well known in the Bedfordshire Association and also had many friends in the Herts, Oxford and Bucks Associations. He was a regular ringer at All Saints', Leighton Buzzard, and St. Barnabas', Linslade, and was invariably present at district meetings.

Bellringing he loved, and he was a good striker on 6-10 bells, but not a keen peal ringer, having rung only three peals since he started ringing 47 years ago.

He was laid to rest in 'Old Linslade' Churchyard on July 31st. Ringers at Bromham, Luton, Dunstable, Woburn, Leighton Buzzard and Linslade attended.

A plain course of Grandsire Triples was rung over the grave with his own handbells by the following: Miss V. Willard 1-2, F. J. Plummer 3-4, D. Harris 5-6, A. E. Sharman 7-8.

In the evening following the funeral two half-muffled quarter peals of Grandsire Triples were rung by the following band at Linslade: F. Vickers 1, F. J. Plummer 2, W. Insley 3, D. Harris 4, V. Willard 5, V. W. Conquest 6, J. E. Arnold (cond.) 7, R. Piron 8.

MR. JOSEPH LADLEY.

Mr. Joe Ladley passed away at Hertford, after a short illness, on Sunday, July 23rd, aged 81. He was a ringer for 54 years, and for the last 30 years was a member of the Hertford College Youths and also the Ancient Society of College Youths.

He was quite a 'character' and widely known for his kindly and jovial disposition and willingness to help the young ringer. He rang about 60 peals.

The funeral took place on July 27th, and the bells of St. Andrew's Church were rung half-muffled in the evening by A. Ager 1, A. S. Carter 2, J. Kemp 3, R. Dore 4, V. Neale 5, C. Springham 6, G. J. H. Ditton 7, P. W. Saunders 8.

RINGERS' OUTINGS

KINGSTON-ON-THAMES.

New ground was broken on July 15th, for the pond had its first outing; the first, that is within living recollection. The objective was Eastbourne and the route included as many rings as could possibly be fitted in. With friends from nearby towns, relatives and others, a fully loaded coach set off from Kingston at 8.45 a.m. Four irrepressibles soon started the handbells, but, whether it was the swaying of the coach or human frailty, it seemed impossible to get a touch round in spite of generous advice from all parts of the coach.

The first stop was at Reigate, where all had a pull on the ten, but, probably owing to the early hour, only rounds, Grandsire and Plain Bob were rung. At East Grinstead and Uckfield, the next towers, the band became more venturesome and Double Norwich was rung in addition. The weather was rather unkind up to now, but when Eastbourne was reached exactly on schedule and just in time for an excellent lunch the sun shone brightly. This seemed to inspire the band, for after lunch Cambridge was rung at Christ Church, and leaving this in progress some of the party went along to try the bells at All Saints'.

Strange to relate, all the party returned to the coach at the departure time, 4 p.m., and we left almost on time. The next stop was Brightling and this seemed particularly elusive in spite of the efforts of the driver and one of the party armed with several maps. However, after navigating several hills with alarming gradients we did eventually pass Brightling at a good rate per hour. When the driver was prevailed on to stop, the enthusiasts hiked back to raise the bells. The older (and wiser) members waited for the coach to reverse back. After a very enjoyable ring the party moved on to Burwash and a very good tea. So fortified, the party set about the Burwash bells with very satisfactory results.

The last tower, Fairwarp, was reached at 8 p.m. The trip was now behind schedule, but everyone was happy the full programme had been achieved. After various touches some of the members wandered around the surprisingly modern and beautiful church.

A happy ending to the day came on the return journey, when the handbell experts, tired but triumphant, at last succeeded in completing a touch of Bob Major. So home to Kingston, which was reached soon after 11 p.m. The whole party thoroughly enjoyed the day and determined that, although the first, this shall not be the last Kingston outing. The secretary (Mr. H. W. Barrett), who organised the trip, must be congratulated on the excellent arrangements. Thanks from all the company are offered to incumbents for permission to use their bells and to the tower captains or their representatives who came along and opened the towers for our pleasure.

G. C. G.

ST. MARGARET'S RAINHAM, KENT.

On Saturday, July 29th, the Rainham ringers and fellow-ringers from Chatham and Upchurch, along with their wives and friends, left Rainham at 7.30 by two coaches to tour East Kent, stopping at Sittingbourne for more ringing friends.

Hernhill was reached at 8.30, and ringing included Grandsire, Stedman and Erin Triples, besides Canterbury Pleasure Major and Double Norwich. Time was found to visit a 400-year-old house for an early morning cup of tea, for two members had travelled overnight from Crewe.

The next stop was at Quex Park, Birchington, the party being slightly behind schedule. There Kent Treble Bob Maximus, Grandsire Caters and rounds on the twelve were rung. Thence to Dreamland, Margate, for lunch, and after a short rest the party made tracks for St. John's tower, where the ringing included Cambridge Major, Double Norwich and Stedman.

The coastal road was followed to St. Lawrence's, Thanet. Here a hitch developed owing to a wedding. After the service a course of Plain Bob Royal greeted the bridal pair, besides touches of Stedman and Grandsire Caters. Deal was reached by 5 p.m., when tea was served in St. George's Hall before setting off for Walmer. Use was made of the handbells. Finding St. Mary's tower was another headache. The programme of ringing there was Grandsire, Stedman and Oxford Bob Triples, besides Plain Bob, Kent and Oxford Treble Bob Major.

The last tower (from 8-9 p.m.) was Wingham, where unfortunately a touch of Superlative came to grief. A brief halt was made at Sittingbourne in time for the last call for drinks. The ringers would like to thank Mr. G. A. Naylor for carrying out the Ringing Master's duties, also to the incumbents and captains, etc., of the various churches visited during the day, which enabled the party to enjoy such a successful outing, most ringers and friends finding their home about 11 p.m.

F. J. C.

WANSTEAD.

On Saturday, July 29th, a party of ringers from Christ Church, Wanstead, and St. Mary's, Woodford, accompanied by the Rector of Wanstead, the Rev. A. C. Gates, and fellow-parishioners, visited some interesting churches in Essex.

The first halt was made at All Saints', Purleigh, a picturesque Decorated church, surmounted by a chequered tower, a landmark in an upland village. It was here that the Rev. Laurence Washington, the great-great-grandfather of the first president of the U.S.A., was Rector for ten years. His son sailed to Virginia in 1657. Touches were rung on the six bells, four of which were cast by Miles Gray.

Then followed a zig-zag run through Latchingdon, Mayland, Steeple and St. Lawrence to Bradwell-on-Sea (Bradwell-juxta-Mare), an interesting village of old cottages, surrounding the 14th century church of St. Thomas, with its Georgian red-brick tower. Touches on a tuneful six followed, much to the delight of the incumbent, the Rev. Canon P. N. Maitland, a former Rector of St. John's, Loughton. He conducted the party to the lonely windswept Saxon chapel, St. Peter-on-the-Wall, one of the oldest Christian places of worship in Great Britain, founded in the seventh century by St. Cedd, on the site of the Roman fortress, Othona. In Tudor times it was used as a lighthouse, and until recent years as a barn. It was rescued by the generosity of the late C. W. Parker, Esq., of Faulkbourne Hall, Witham, who transferred the site to trustees. It was rededicated on July 22nd, 1920, by the first Bishop of Chelmsford, the Right Rev. J. E. Watts-Ditchfield, and since then has been the scene of annual pilgrimages.

The journey continued through Tillingham, Asheldham and Southminster to Burnham-on-Crouch, an interesting watering place and yachting centre. Tea was well served at the Star Hotel, the local shrimps being much appreciated. Reluctantly did the party leave the 'promenade' for the Perpendicular Church of St. Mary, with its well-going ring of six bells, its 16th century porch and late Norman font.

The final stopping place was Downham, a prettily placed church on the hills above the Crouch. Touches on the light six were much enjoyed, finishing up with a course of Cambridge Surprise. In 1947 four of the bells were recast and a treble and tenor added, the gift of Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Keddie, in memory of their three sons lost in the last war.

Darkness fell before the run home was completed. All agreed that the first ringers' outing since the cessation of hostilities was a great success and an excellent try-out for the learners on strange bells, and a 'feather in the cap' for the organiser, Mr. Ben Petty. Thanks are extended to the incumbents and ringers who met the party and for their warm welcomes.

BIGGLESWADE DISTRICT.

Early on the morning of July 22nd a coach went from Maulden through Henlow and Biggleswade, up the Great North Road to Eaton Socon, collecting members and friends of the Biggleswade District ringers before proceeding via Cambridge, Newmarket and Bury St. Edmunds to Stowmarket, where the day's ringing commenced.

While on the journey towards Debenham doubts were raised whether Debenham could be reached as on the outskirts of Stowmarket, with a splutter and bang, the coach came to a standstill. The fire alarm was raised, but luckily it was soon extinguished, and with the engine running once again Debenham was reached for more ringing, followed by lunch.

In the afternoon, Framsdon and Helmingham were to be visited. The turning for Framsdon Church was missed, and so the coach passed on the Helmingham, only to be led back by two of the Framsdon ringers, who had seen the party's plight. Helmingham was visited for ringing in its turn.

A short ride brought the company to Woodbridge for tea. Unfortunately there was no ringing there owing to the unstable condition of the tower. Ringing therefore had to be at the last eight-bell tower, Ufford. There was nothing but praise for the fine ring of ten at Grundisburgh, where the day's ringing was concluded.

As it began to rain darkness fell quickly, and it was with some difficulty that the main road was eventually discovered along the Ipswich by-pass. Home was made for. There were two diversions from the outward journey when the way was missed. The party arrived back early Sunday morning in ample time for service ringing.

This concluded a most enjoyable day, for which thanks are due to our organiser, Mr. Lewis H. Bywaters, and all who co-operated at the towers visited.

REDENHALL, DISS AND PULHAM.

The annual outing of the Redenhall, Diss and Pulham ringers took place on July 22nd. The party of thirty-three, including Harry Moss (the comedian), left Diss at 7.15 a.m., and Stansted, Essex, was reached at 9.45, and ringing commenced with a course of Superlative Surprise Major.

After an hour's ringing the next call was Bishops Stortford (Herta), where the fine ring of ten was rung to Stedman Caters. Kent Royal, Bob Royal and Little Bob Royal. An hour's ringing at St. Mary's, Harlow, followed, and lunch was served at the Queen's Head Hotel. The Rector met the party at Hatfield Broad Oak, and recalled the happy years he had formerly spent in Norfolk. Then on to Great Dunmow, and after ringing various methods tea was served at the Tudor Restaurant.

The last call was at Finchingfield, and after bidding farewell to Essex a break was made at Bury St. Edmunds for supper. Diss was reached at 11.30 p.m. The party wishes to thank all who helped to make this tour such a success, and especially Mr. Cyril Barber for the efficient way in which he organised the outing.

RELATIONSHIP

MOST difficult of all relationships is the true understanding between the parson and his ringers. At once some of our readers will say there is perfect harmony in their parish, or perhaps they might be living in a parish where the parson is a keen ringer and shares the enthusiasm for change ringing; nevertheless, we are sufficiently bold to assert that the zest for ringing at every possible occasion is incomprehensible to the average cleric. It is equally incomprehensible to many of them that such enthusiasm for what is legitimately, on certain occasions, service to the Church as revealed Sunday by Sunday is not accompanied by a corresponding or comparable desire to participate in the corporate worship of the congregation assembled. If ringing is in the service of the Church, then ringers are servants of the Church, and as servants of the Church should participate in the privileges and duties of full membership. A strong point of ringers being churchworkers is made in practically all the objects of Guilds and Associations, as we pointed out in our editorial a fortnight ago. Can a claim be substantiated unless the ringers are full and practising members of the Church? That is the rub and the stumbling block of the relationship between the parson and his ringers.

It is futile to disguise the fact that we ring bells primarily for our love of ringing and the fellowship of the belfry, which in many towers is very deep-seated. By a coincidence—we like to think that it is Divine in its origin—the vast majority of our bells are hallowed and blessed to the service of His Church. The sound of the bells are in consequence His call to the people at large. To the non-ringing parson who knows nothing of change ringing the only occasions at which bells should be rung are for Church services and for, say, a weekly practice in exactly the same way as, for example, the choir render their service. Strictly, in the eyes of the Church this is so, but it would be a sad day for the art of change ringing if such a severe limitation was imposed, and we are convinced that it would ultimately mean the death-knell of the Exercise as we know it to-day, and ringing would be limited to the four standard methods or simple Double or Minor compositions.

Change ringing as practised to-day developed through its secular side. Ringers were attracted to the belfry as a sport, and from this developed the art of change ringing. Ringing then was essentially a trial of strength as well as an intellectual enjoyment. To-day, thanks to the skill of the modern bellhanger, the ability to ring peals is brought within the compass of the average healthy man or woman. In consequence the appeal is widened. What we would impress on our non-ringing clerical friends is that the sporting proclivities associated with ringing are a very big magnet. The efficiency of one is the main contributory factor towards perfect Sunday ringing, and without this enthusiasm ringing would be a very desultory affair.

But it is not a case of give all and take nothing. A ring of bells in an eight-bell tower to-day represents at least £3,000 of capital equipment. The privilege and the joy of ringing carries with it a corresponding sense of obligation and duty. Sunday service ringing is a hallowed function; the ringers are acting as God's agents, and it is an occasion for the best of their skill and not one for experimental practising. It is not in an Englishman's nature to be ungrateful, and we have a poor opinion of the ringer who takes all from the Church in the way of personal enjoyment and neglects to express his gratitude to the Church by failing to perform his Sunday ringing regularly. Fortunately for the Exercise the number of those without that sense of thankfulness is dwindling, and the rendering of this happy service is entered upon with enthusiasm.

It has been said by more than one leading Divine—and there is Scriptural injunction—that man's primary purpose on earth is the expression of worship and praise to his Maker; afterwards his love for his fellow-men. There is no mention of love of self. While the ringing of bells for Sunday service can well be an act of adoration and worship if the heart and mind are attuned to what is in hand, we feel that this is not sufficient. It must be followed by joining with others in the service of worship and thanksgiving that follows. Lastly, we should not neglect the second great Commandment of 'loving thy neighbour as thyself.' And who is my neighbour? The fellow-men and women in your Guild or Association. Work with them, not against them. Be charitable in thought and word and deed, and then it may truly be said that we are fellow-workers in Christ's Church on earth.

BELLS AND CANNON

By ERNEST MORRIS, F.R.Hist.S.

There would seem to be no connection between these emblems of peace and war, but since the early use of cannon they have been intimately associated as the author of this article shows.

BELLS and cannon—these two subjects seem very contradictory—the first being usually associated with the life and call of the Church, the other often is the herald of death and destruction. Far removed though they may seem, yet often have they been intimately connected.

Bells have frequently been taken as spoils of war, mostly to be broken up and used in making cannon and other munitions. Many instances of this could be quoted, one of the most famous being during the Great European War (1914-18), when the Austrian Government consigned to the melting pot the great bell of St. Stephen's Church, Vienna. This bell had been cast in the year 1710 at the command of Emperor Joseph I., from the metal of 180 cannon captured from the Turks, and weighed nearly 18 tons. Another great bell, cast from French cannon captured during the Franco-German war, and weighing over 25 tons, was placed in Cologne Cathedral in 1874, and called the 'Kaiserglocke.' This was removed during the Great War (1914-18) and melted down for munitions to be used against the French, even as it itself had been originally mainly cast from French cannon. In 1925, however, a new bell was placed in Cologne Cathedral to replace the last-named, and of about the same weight. In the earlier part of the same war, the Russians removed many hundred bells from the war area, and it is well known that both in Belgium and France many churches suffered the loss of their bells.

At Liversedge, Yorkshire, there is a complete ring of eight bells cast from cannon, and the inscription on one of them states:—

'These eight bells were cast in 1814 and 1815, with brass ordnance taken at Genoa.' Another episode of the Great War was when the Germans removed many bells from the churches of South Jutland, and to replace them in 1925 an order was given for 44 bells to be cast from the metal of 60 old brass cannon supplied by the Copenhagen Arsenal. At Roverto, Italy, is a bell known as the 'Death Bell,' and this was cast from metal from the guns of all nations who participated in the war. It is rung nightly in honour of the dead.

Our English mediæval bellfounders, too, did not always merely follow the craft of turning out bells only, for in those days they were not so much in demand as in later times. The founders, therefore, cast pots, lavers, mortars and even guns. Bell-metal is very similar to what was known as gun-metal before the invention of ordnance, first of cast iron, then, as we have it to-day, of steel. In Henry VIII's time the exportation of bells and bell-metal became a criminal offence. An Act was passed which read: 'Noe p'son or p'sons shoulde from henceforthe carrye or convey any brasse, copper, laten, bellmetall, gunemetall, nor shroffe metall into anye part or parts beyonde the sea upon payne of forfeiture of the said metall.' It is possible that the object of this law was to prevent bell-metal being purchased by unfriendly foreign powers, who might convert it into ordnance to be used against us. There was, of course, huge quantities of bell-metal for disposal after the dissolution of the monasteries about this time.

The Bury bellfounders of the 15th century used as their foundry mark, which passed on to successive proprietors, an elaborate shield bearing a crowned bell, the keys of St. Peter, the crossed arrows, symbolic of St. Edmund (St. Edmundsbury) and a cannon with ball. In addition are the letters 'H.S.'—initials of the first founder there who combined the crafts of gunfounding with that of bellfounding. Similarly, other bellfounders did the same during this period. An instance of this is shown by the activities of Robert Mot, who founded the now famous Whitechapel Bellfoundry as long ago as 1570, in that he cast cannon for Queen Elizabeth's ships of war, at the time of the Spanish Armada. We have an instance of a bellfounder who was unfortunately killed while casting cannon. This was Matthew Bagley, one of a famous family of bellfounders of Northamptonshire who, migrating to London, acquired the Royal foundry of Philip Wightman. The tragic manner in which he lost his life is thus described in the 'Flying Post' of May 12th, 1716:—

'Last Thursday night about nine o'clock a tragical accident happened at the Royal Foundry near Upper Moorfields, where, when the workmen were casting a cannon, the metal that was running into the mould flew up on a sudden with great noise and violence, and came down like drops of fire, not only upon all the workmen, but spectators (of whom there was a great number to see the performance). Several attended from the Tower, particularly Mr. Hall, Clerk of the Ordnance, who was so sorely wounded that he dyed next morning. The Master Founder and his son with above twenty others were also very much hurt. 'Tis generally agreed that the said accident was owing to the dampness of the mould.'

The 'Weekly Journal' of the same day further states that 'Bagley, the master founder, has lost his eyes, and his son and sixteen others are desperately wounded.' Both father and son died of their injuries as the register of St. Giles' Church, Cripplegate, shows:—

'1716. May 22. Matthew Bagley, Founder, killed.
„ 26. Matthew Bagley, Jun., killed.'

As with other foundries and similar works, during the 1914-1918 War, our bellfounders converted their works into munition factories, and in the 1939-1945 conflict they did similar war work and, in addition, turned out thousands of handbells for the A.R.P.

The peal of Yorkshire Royal at Huddersfield was rung to celebrate the engagement of Dr. J. C. E. Simpson and Miss Audrey Newman, of Southampton. This has led the 'Old Buzzard' to comment: It was presumed that the doctor would ring the tenor, but apparently John was thought more 'Worth' of it. Perhaps taking the waters at Southampton is not conducive to tenor ringing. It is presumed that Spliced Surprise of another variety is now about to be launched; if so, who is to be the conductor?

Through a clock hammer obstructing a wheel, a peal attempt at Over, Cambs, came to grief after five courses.

The thunderstorm was so severe during the peal at Blankney, Lincs, on August Bank Holiday that it was nearly impossible to hear the bells.

With his peal at Leicester Cathedral on August 3rd, Mr. Norman Chaddock has rung Cambridge from Minor to Maximus.

The peal at St. Mary's, Portsea, on August 5th was the first of Stedman Triples by Miss Nelia M. Leahy and a 23rd birthday compliment to the conductor, Mr. John H. Hunt.

An interesting 21st anniversary was the peal of Cambridge Surprise Maximus at Oldham. It commemorated the record length in the method rung at Ashton-under-Lyne on August 5th, 1929.

Mr. W. H. Shuker, who last week celebrated his 80th birthday, is resigning the hon. secretaryship of the Lancashire Association from the next annual meeting. By that time he will have completed 40 years in harness. A special meeting of the Association is to be held in September to alter the rule of the Association so as to permit the election of representatives on the Central Council before the new year.

BELFRY GOSSIP

To-day the Universities Association assemble at Lincoln for their ringing week, the headquarters being the Oxford Hotel. The party numbers 40, being drawn from the following Universities: Oxford 9, Cambridge 9, Bristol 6, Durham 5, London 3, Sheffield 3, Edinburgh, Liverpool, Nottingham, Reading and Wales one each. Eight peal attempts are included in the programme.

The new treble bell for Meldreth, Cambs, Parish Church, already cast by Messrs. Mears and Stainbank, is to be installed by the end of this month.

During the week-end of July 29th Mr. Norman Chaddock completed two '50 peals together.' One was with Mr. John E. Turley and the second with Mr. John J. L. Gilbert.

Mr. Ernest J. Rowe, now of Broseley, Salop, has, during his latest ringing week in Lancashire, achieved his ambition of having rung in a thousand towers.

The recent television visit to the Whitechapel Foundry was seen well at Manchester. At the end, unfortunately, the sound faded, and our correspondent states that he had to guess what was said from the lips moving.

Saturday, August 5th, was a day of rejoicing at Faversham, Kent. Two members of the local company, Mr. G. Nicholson and Miss Doreen Pack, were married. A peal of Oxford Bob Triples was rung, and the ringers afterwards were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. F. Pack at the wedding reception.

Mr. N. Moxon, sen., of Sutton-on-Trent, celebrated his 90th birthday and 75 years as a ringer by participating on August 9th in 720 Plain Bob Minor with 7-8 covering. The ringers were J. T. Shipley 1, N. Moxon, sen., 2, N. Moxon, jun., 3, Miss K. Burchnell 4, Miss G. Burchnell (cond.) 5, E. A. Midwinter 6, R. Sleep 7, A. Wilson 8.

RECORD LENGTH OF PLAIN BOB ROYAL

BANK HOLIDAY SUCCESS AT PRITTLEWELL.

A new record length of 12,740 Plain Bob Royal was established at St. Mary's, Prittlewell, Essex, on August 7th. We are sure the Exercise will join with us in congratulating the band on their achievement. The conductor's story of the peal is appended.

As the conductor came home from his tour of duty at work at 10 a.m. on August 7th, some of the members had already arrived for the peal and were talking of the possibilities of success, and by the time he had returned from home at 10.20 all the band had arrived.

Many good wishes were received from all parts of the country, and one letter was read from a Sussex stalwart, who always supplies his peal tablets. In his letter he wrote, 'One tablet for those who ring bells under 15 cwt. and two for those who ring a bell over 15 cwt.' The tablets consisted of small nigroides.

The bells were pulled up, adjustments made to ropes, final good luck from several members of the local company, a few rounds, a stop and, after a few more rounds, the bells were set into changes at 10.40 a.m.

At once the doubts about the mixed band of inexperienced and experienced, youth and age, were dispelled by the excellent way the band got down to ringing. The striking was excellent, and the whole of the nearly 4,000 of tittums was rung without a misblow or a word spoken, excepting the calls, and was some of the most enjoyable ringing. I wondered why I had not rung these tittums in Royal before. The obstacle of bringing the bells from tittums to handstroke with six bobs before was spoken about before the start, but when this came up the band confidently went through without a hitch, and it seemed no time before we were settling down to ring the 24 courses each 6th right and wrong to get home.

The afternoon wore on uneventfully, there being no serious trips at any time. Sometimes the ringing quickened a little, but on the whole the ringing was very steady throughout. During the last hour the ringing quickened when the end was in sight, and it was necessary for some sharp speaking to keep all the company awake to complete the peal. The bells ran round at 7.02, everybody happy in scoring a peal which had been well-rung throughout.

THE RINGERS

Brief details are given below of the successful company:—

Treble.—William S. MAY (age 49) has been ringing since 1917. He learnt at Rettendon, Essex, and his ringing has been mostly confined to six-bell towers. He has about 40 peals to his credit.

Second.—John L. MORRIS (age 14) is a pupil of F. C. W. Knight who will have completed three years of ringing next September. His peals total 36, of which he has conducted three and composed one. John is proficient in all the standard methods.

Third.—Colin E. WRIGHT (age 20), of Hornchurch. His ringing experience is limited to three years and he has 14 peals to his credit. This was his first peal of Bob Royal.

Fourth.—Edgar R. RAPLEY (age 30), of West Grinstead, Sussex, has been ringing for 20 years and has rung 165 peals in a wide variety of methods.

Fifth.—Ernest W. FURBANK (age 63), now of Great Baddow. He has been ringing for 40 years and his peals number between 200 and 300.

Sixth.—Frank B. LUFKIN (age 39), of Prittlewell, during his 21 years of ringing has scored 230 peals, of which he has conducted 140. He learnt his ringing under W. Judd and became captain of Prittlewell ringers in 1935. Since 1947 he has been an Essex Association representative on the Central Council. He rang in the 9,000 Bob Royal at Prittlewell in 1947.

Seventh.—Gerald FROST (age 45) learnt to ring in 1915 at Rettendon. This was his 50th peal.

Eighth.—Peter J. EVES (age 20), of Chelmsford, has been ringing for five years. He has 30 peals to his credit and has conducted a few.

Ninth.—John H. CRAMPION (age 39) learnt to ring at Woodford in 1925. At one time he was secretary of the S.W. Division of the Essex Association. He has rung 160 peals and has conducted a few.

Tenor.—Frank C. W. KNIGHT (age 34) started ringing at Lympne, Kent, in 1922. His enthusiasm was rekindled when he came to Farnham after the war. Of his 116 peals, those outstanding are 12,663 Stedman Cinques at Oxford in August, 1946, and 9,000 Bob Royal at Prittlewell in August, 1947. He is a member of the Central Council, being a representative of the Society of Royal Cumberland Youths.

LETTERS

J. H. SHEPHERD BEQUEST

Dear Sir,—Judging from some requests received for surplus copies of C.C. Library books there seems to be a misunderstanding, possibly due to my not making the position quite clear at Eastbourne.

A bequest of the late Mr. J. H. Shepherd's will cause duplication. But it is not necessarily his books which will be distributed to other libraries. Only such books as can be spared will be given away, and much will depend on their condition and interest. Even duplicates will not be offered if they happen to be of particular interest, for instance, to have been formerly in the possession of some well-known ringer or to be copies signed by the authors.

I hope to send to your paper a list of books available, when I have had the opportunity of examining the recent bequest.—Yours faithfully,

W. H. J. HOOTON,

Hon. Librarian, C.C. of C.B.R.

CHANGE RINGING OUTSIDE GREAT BRITAIN

Dear Sir,—I listened to 'Country Magazine' on the B.B.C. recently, and was very annoyed—as I am sure many other listeners outside Britain were—at the statement made by the change ringer being interviewed that 'change ringing is not practised outside England.'

He knew all about record lengths, change ringing, peals, etc., but apparently he has never read 'The Ringing World' peal columns which frequently record peals rung by members of the fraternity in Australia, Ireland and other parts of the world.

I would like him to know that the B.B.C. programmes are listened to by change ringers outside Britain, and they do not like to be insulted as they were on this occasion, as well as once before from West Region.

Those broadcasting on ringing matters should be absolutely sure of the facts before saying anything over the air.—Yours faithfully,

FRED E. DUKES.

Market Drayton Bells

Dear Sir,—When I opened my 'Ringing World' on Friday it brought back memories. I was one with Ernie Weatherby, Tom Peake and Percy Barrow, who started to pull the new bells about. The curfew was going at that time, and the old ringer insisted on it being rung properly—on balance every time. If we let it set or it came down on us, we got told off. When Warners did the job they put a chiming apparatus in with a cupboard for the ropes, the door of which would not shut until the hammers were taken off. They also supplied the tower with eight handbells and a cupboard. When we started we lapped them and cut the lining out of our coats for use as cushions. I always understood the 3rd of the six was undated. I could not find a date on it, and it had more ornament on it than the rest.*

The church was rebuilt between 1880 and 1887. We had to walk from the other end of the district about a mile, which seemed a long way for us.

We were handicapped at first as the nearest change-ringing towers were Crewe 18 miles, the Potteries 16 miles, with a poor train service, and Whitchurch 12 miles, Wem 12 miles, Newport 12 miles, and it was a case of walking except for those with bicycles, which were few.

Ernie Weatherby and Tom Peake are still with us, if far apart. Another ringer went to Australia. He used to write to the Sunday School teacher, but when she died we lost touch with him. When a lad had finished his time, he could not wait for dead men's shoes, so we had to clear off to Crewe or the Potteries.—Yours faithfully,

W. H. SHUKER.

Fallowfield, Manchester.

* According to Mr. W. A. Farmer's article the inscription on the third is:—

BILTON BELLS

Dear Sir,—As captain of the above bells, I and my fellow-ringers strongly object to remarks which have from time to time appeared in 'The Ringing World' relating to the apathy of the Bilton ringers to accept assistance from other ringers, especially St. Andrew's. Rugby. This is not true.

St. Andrew's have been to Bilton on several practice nights—once to ring a quarter peal, the first on the new augmented six, and the other times when their own tower was not available owing to services. The assistance they gave us was infinitesimal. In fact, their chief interest lay in the new ring of six, which, to their disappointment, they were not allowed to ring during the service of dedication in September, 1948.

When Bilton only had five bells, St. Andrew's were not interested, as they considered five bells undignified to ring upon, but now that they are confined to five (the ring of eight at Rugby being out of order), they are inclined to be a little less antagonistic towards Bilton.

In conclusion, I might add that we now have two competent ringers (who do not object to learners) to give us every assistance—one from Dunchurch and the other from the North Staffordshire Association, stationed at the nearby aerodrome.—Yours truly,

W. E. BURNELL.

'THE LIVERSEDGE PRIZE-RINGING'

Eighteen Consecutive Hours' Ringing 50 Years Ago

By E. A. BARNETT.

WHETHER one approves or disapproves of prize-ringing probably depends on what part of the country one comes from. There is something to be said for the idea of meetings at which bands strive for perfection, but then, young ringers must gain experience somewhere, and open meetings should be the best places to do so.

However, prize-ringing still survives, but it is quite certain that nowhere to-day would a gathering be possible such as that which took place at Liversedge in Yorkshire at Whitsun nearly sixty years ago. If anyone should think the following is a product of the imagination, he may read the full account in 'The Bell News' of May 30th, 1891.

'Our Extra Special Peripatetic Correspondent' began by saying that because he had previously been present at similar gatherings where 'the pièce de resistance was raising the bells, ringing so many minutes of rounds and then falling them,' he had been determined never to waste his time again at 'such puerile displays of "proficiency."' But in this Liversedge case the test piece was a half-peal of Treble Bob Major; and thus, taking into account the reputed excellence of Yorkshiremen's striking in their favourite method, I thought that at least, from a purely ringing point of view, there would be something worth listening to.'

'THEY'RE NOBBUD PRACTISING.'

He therefore arrived at Liversedge on Whit Monday, after 'interminable stoppages, shuntings and other disagreeable features,' and soon heard the bells ringing. When he reached the churchyard, which stands above the Spen Valley, 'the open space in front of the gate was occupied by quite a numerous assembly, all—like the ones I had just previously passed in the footpath—engaged either criticising the ringing or discussing the probabilities of the contest. I stood and listened to the ringing awhile, which was undoubtedly good . . . but my listening was not of long duration, for the touch (only too soon, I thought) was brought round almost ere I had fairly time to collect myself, so to speak. To a tall man of venerable aspect who stood near me, I ventured the enquiry as to how the contest had proceeded so far, when to my surprise I was told, "Oh, t'contest hasn't begun yet; they're nobbud practising." And so it appeared that Monday was devoted to a sort of final practice, the competing bands being allowed about an hour's practice each, in turn, according to the ballot which had taken place earlier that morning.'

No nonsense about this contest, as you will see. An hour's practice for each of the ten bands who were taking part one day, and a half-peal each the next! The correspondent goes on to describe how he eventually put up for the night and fell asleep still hearing, or fancying he heard, the sound of Liversedge bells.

THE BALLOT.

Next morning, after breakfast, he made his way to the church again, and his description of the contest must be given in full:—

'On arriving [I] found that the ballot for places had just been taken. The plan at these contests appears to be something of this sort. The persons who have been appointed judges (or "sanctioners," as they are styled here) having been located in the place set apart for them (both judges and their habitation being kept a most profound secret for some reason or other), at a specified time in the morning—7.30 in this case—the competing bands ballot for order of ringing. Should any not be ready to take their place in that order, they are placed last on the list, and fifty faults put to their credit by way of penalty; then the bands following move up, so to speak. In this case the first three or four bands all appeared to be defaulters (whether purposely or unavoidably, I cannot say), and thus . . . it was past the half-hour after eight o'clock when the first band entered the tower, and the contest proper began.

'This band, I soon found out, were chief favourites [sic], their winning of the first prize was a "moral certainty," I was told; so I listened perhaps with more interest than I should have done to hear what was to be the best ringing of the day. This, however, turned out to be a mistake. The ringing certainly was good upon the whole, but considerably not that perfection one looked for. From the conversation round also, I soon gathered that the favourites were grievously disappointing their friends, as well as raising the hopes of the other contestants, so when they finished the pretty general verdict appeared to be in accordance with the loudly-expressed one of an old weather-beaten man, that "Bustell hasn't done as weel by fifty per cent. wha tha did yesterday; so they're sattled for."

'SWEET STRIKING.'

'Next went up Kirkburton, whose performance appeared to be considered as rather inferior to that of their predecessors; and after them followed Bradford, the sweet striking of, whom alone drew in front of the churchyard the largest assembly I saw at one time all the day. As this half-hour drew towards its close, general opinion seemed once more to have settled itself—this time Dewsbury and Bradford divided the chances of premier position, "barring accidents." Then followed Low Moor, who seemed to have taken either lack of ability or else ill-luck with them into the belfry, for their prefatory three leads were—particularly after what had gone before—positively painful; everybody seemed seized with a sudden desire to liquidate, which no doubt suited the landlords of the vicinity perfectly. The "foundrymen" at length got on the way with their half-peal, but a very rough and troublous way it was, and after struggling gamely on for half an hour, "came to grief."

'A band from Hyde followed with some good striking; after them Calverley, then Almondbury, all of whom acquitted themselves creditably; but as yet the settled opinion appeared to be that Bradford's claim to premier position had not so far been disputed. Then followed Dewsbury, who were regarded as the only possible competitors for first place. This band commenced a little before ten o'clock at night . . . and although the night was chilly, for an hour and a half I listened to such ringing as I think I never heard before for such a length of time. The changes came out like clockwork; in fact, it seemed like one long piece of mechanism from beginning to end. So when they in turn had finished, the first prize was considered to have been undoubtedly won. . . . There were yet, late as it was—past eleven o'clock—two more bands to compete, and I imagined the affair would in consequence be adjourned till the following day. But no; Brighouse took possession of the belfry, and after about an hour's essay, collapsed, and retired with their task unfinished. Mirfield came on the scene, and somewhere about three o'clock brought their half-peal home, thus finishing the programme.

RESULTS DECLARED AT 4 a.m.

'You might well imagine that at this "unearthly hour" everybody had been long gone to their respective homes, and were soundly asleep. But in this you would have been mistaken, for there was quite a numerous assembly in and around the "pub" where the committee had conducted operations. About an hour afterwards, someone appeared at one of the windows and proceeded to read out the judge's decisions, which were as follows: Birstall, 643 faults; Kirkburton, 1,008; Bradford, 750; Hyde, 899; Calverley, 832; Almondbury, 952; Dewsbury, 632; Mirfield, 1,090. Thus Dewsbury came first, Birstall (much to my surprise) second, Bradford third, Hyde fourth, and Calverley fifth, the band from Kirkburton receiving a sovereign as consolation, they having come the longest distance among the unsuccessful competitors.'

So ends what the correspondent calls a 'plain unvarnished tale,' and, indeed, a letter in a later issue pays tribute to his fairness. The following is devoted to the writer's impressions of the contest, and one point he mentions will have occurred to many readers: how could a Vicar sanction the use of his bells for ringing which occupied some eighteen or nineteen consecutive hours, to say nothing of ten hours or so's 'practice' on the previous day. Nor, one imagines, would the average band of to-day be anxious to bring round a half-peal at 3 a.m.!

The prizes, by the way, were twelve, eight, five, three and two guineas respectively—not a bad reward for something which 'has for its object the promotion of the art of change ringing, the church bells being agreeably useful in connection with the church services and the celebration of other public events,' as the notice issued by the local Society said.

There are singles throughout at 5ths and 4ths except in the first course.

Repeat ~~five~~ times, calling a single M in the first course of every repetition and omitting the single H in the fourth course of every repetition except the third.

Contains all the 6-4s and the 5th and 6th their extent in 6ths, using 206 singles.

Rung at Southwold, Suffolk, on October 29th, 1949.

The Editor would welcome anecdotes of unusual experiences connected with ringing, bells and towers. Most people in life have one experience which is out of the ordinary and of general interest to their fellow-men.

A NORTH DEVON TOUR

MR. F. L. HARRIS' PARTY.

ONE of the obvious essentials of a ringing tour is good company, and in this respect the recent tour of North Devon was particularly fortunate. Thus nine ringers, full of anticipation, gathered at Barnstaple on Sunday, July 23rd. There were friendly arguments as to who was to ring certain tenors, what methods were going to be rung and who should shout the bobs, but such trivial questions can invariably be settled over a pint, and such was the case.

Unfortunately, the professional bellhanger of the party could not arrive until the Tuesday, but, undeterred, the rest journeyed to Northam on the Monday, and in that lofty tower, on first-rate bells, rang a good peal of Cambridge.

Perhaps after this we were too contemptuous of Bob Major (or was it the after effects of an expensive lunch?) for this method at Appledore didn't come off. These bells 'went' much better than anticipated, thanks perhaps in some measure to the attention given to them before our arrival by the local ringers. After losing a peal of Bob Major, the same band concluded its activities at Appledore by—rather surprisingly—ringing a course of London!

There was some jubilation when a local inhabitant pointed out a tower across the water in which he said were five bells which had not been rung for 30 years. Anxious to find Mr. Dove's book in error, we swarmed into a boat and were ferried across—ferried at least for part of the way, as for the last twenty yards shoes and socks were discarded, trousers and skirts raised, and ashore we paddled! It was a scene which can hardly bear description in the pages of this journal. Of course, our marine efforts were all in vain, for the mysterious tower contained only three bells. We should have had more faith in Mr. Dove. The last tower of the day was Fremington, where call changes in the Devon style were tried, as well as 'scientific.'

SOUTH MOLTON TENOR

To ring the tenor at South Molton was the ambition of at least two members of the party, and a scramble for the 'box' was expected. However, it was left to the oldest—and incidentally the only married—member to turn her in to Double Norwich in his own inimitable style, and call his stock peal in the method. This occurred on the Tuesday, and in spite of the rain and the appearance of one or two blisters, we left South Molton for Witheridge with undamped enthusiasm.

The bells at Witheridge had been painted very black at regards 'go,' but having rung a touch of Stedman and a course of London on them we boastfully decided that all this fine, heavy eight needed were 'ringers.' As a final tit-bit, Jack Russell forsook his usual position on the treble and turned in the tenor to a touch of Minor on the back six. After a drink, sandwiches, shove ha'penny and bagatelle in the local pub, the day was capped off by a ring on the excellent six at North Molton.

Returning to Barnstaple, we were met by Bill Theobald, who the next day called a peal of Kent at Combe Martin in fine style, his first in the method as conductor. This light eight were a delight to ring, and the beautifully-kept belfry an indication of the enthusiasm of the local band.

On the same day we also rang at St. James', Ilfracombe, and at Barnstaple Parish Church. We found the bells at the latter tower rather difficult to strike, but at least one touch was voted as being first rate, so we felt that we hadn't disgraced ourselves.

With the aid of bicycles and a 'vintage' car, the six at Bishops Tawton were our first objective on the Thursday. Then on to the magnificent church at Tawstock for an attempt at Superlative. But in spite of fine bells and a good band—on paper anyway—it just wouldn't go. One disappointed lady ringer suggested that this was due to too many late nights, and a good resolution was made to go to bed earlier in the future, but as with all such resolves nothing came of it.

PILTON'S FINE BELLS.

But the two visits to Bidford and Pilton on the same day compensated for our disappointment. The first was a perfect example of modern bellfounding, the second—Pilton—a truly glorious eight in the old style, and in the opinion of the writer the best bells of a tour on which many fine rings were encountered. It was at Pilton that the local ringers gave for our benefit a demonstration of call change ringing, and what a first-rate performance it was! We were given a great welcome, and a very happy evening was spent.

At Chittlehampton we were met by the Vicar, the Rev. J. H. B. Andrews, who also had a ring with us. No trouble was experienced in rolling off a peal of Yorkshire here, and it was possibly the best peal of the week.

The climb to High Bickington in the afternoon taxed both the car and the cyclists. So, understandably, the peal attempt there was not viewed with much enthusiasm. There was even less when the conductor was seen to be studying both the method and the composition. However, Double Oxford—the first for the Devon Guild—was successfully brought round on the pleasant little eight.

After ringing two peals in a day, most of the party considered bed to be the best bet. But with low cunning, the tower-grabbing enthusiast bribed everyone with sausage rolls, and a late call was made to the six at Atherington.

SUPERLATIVE THE BOGEY.

Superlative was the 'bogy' method of the tour, for at Ilfracombe Parish Church on the Saturday we were within three courses of the end, with the peal practically in the bag, when a banging commenced on the trap door leading up to the belfry. This was disregarded for a time, but after several notes had been pushed through requesting us to stop, 'Stand' was called. This was very disappointing for all, especially for the conductor, who was calling his first peal in the method.

The interruption was, however, our own fault, it being a lesson not to ring touches before a peal attempt.

In the afternoon the eights at Braunton and Georgeham were visited, the final ring of the tour being on the six at Heanton Punchardon, where the instruction from one of the ringers to 'stiffen the bells' was rather lost on us.

Perhaps the two most noteworthy features of the tour were the fine rings of bells in the area and the enthusiastic welcome from the local ringers (and inhabitants) at every tower visited, with perhaps particular mention of the band at Pilton.

The enthusiasm for ringing in the North Devon area is as great as in any change-ringing district. And when one ringer remarked, after one of our touches, 'I didn't think much of "scientific" until I heard you fellows ring,' that was the greatest compliment any change-ringing band could have paid to it. For the call-change ringers of Devon are not prejudiced against change ringing, they just don't like bad striking, and for that I, at least, admire them.

London Extension

Dear Sir,—You can find plenty of space for York Bramble's arguments; perhaps you will be able to find space for some mathematical proofs by which the Exercise will be able to judge as to who is showing them the truth.

All methods, principles and systems, regular or irregular, have Round Blocks in their make-ups.

The Round Blocks of London Surprise Minor plus 7-8, compared with London Surprise Major Round Blocks, have a mathematical progression of 231, 312 throughout.

The Round Blocks of London Surprise Major plus 9-0, compared with No. 3 Version London Royal Round Blocks, have a mathematical progression of 231, 312 throughout.

The Round Blocks No. 3 Version London Royal plus e t have a mathematical progression of 231, 312 throughout, when compared with No. 3 Version London Maximus.

U.A. London Royal, by York Bramble, has 11 changes only that can be compared with pure London Surprise. GEORGE BAKER.

TOWER CORNER (14)

'FOR INSTRUCTORS ALSO.'

Dear Ringers,—At the close of instalment 13 we promised to give the usual summary of the section just concluded of this course of instruction. Before doing so, we may remark that although this feature opened with the title, 'Mainly for Beginners,' so that it might have a direct appeal to those a little nervous, perhaps, at the beginning of things, yet under its current title of 'Tower Corner' it may be seen to be developing for 'improvers' and others. Among these others may be included those who would take up that vital activity of the Art—instructing. Indeed, those instructors of some experience who may feel they would like a 'refresher' of some of the up-to-date methods of teaching ringing, may find these articles of some help, since they are presented in carefully planned sequence, as the result of considerable tuition experience, not without success. Queries and constructive criticism are accordingly welcome.

The whole course, as indicated in article (1) on page 12 of No. 2,022 of the journal, is devised under ten sections. The first section, entitled 'Bell Control,' provides ten exercises under four lessons, and was summarised in article (6) on page 139 of No. 2,030, dated March 3rd, 1950. The fifth lesson of the course is of the nature of a transition between the first and second sections. It is entitled, 'Raising and lowering the bell,' and its summary of five exercises was given in article (9) on page 253 of issue No. 2037. It was not included in either section, so that those instructors preferring to leave this part until later in the tuition could follow the sections uninterrupted. Here, then, is the promised summary of section two, just finished:—

Section 2. PULL VARIATION AND STRIKING.

Lesson VI. Development of Bell Control.

(Note: All these exercises are on 'silenced' bells.)

- Ex. 16. Standing to order at hand-setting.
- Ex. 17. Standing to order at back-setting.
- Ex. 18. Standing to order as called—hand or back.
- Ex. 19. Whole pull and stand from hand pull-off.
- Ex. 20. Whole pull and stand from back pull-off.
- Ex. 21. Ring and set by visual sequence only.
- Ex. 22. The 'Rhythm' exercise. ('Ear-sight'.)

Lesson VII. The Theory of Striking.

A talk, illustrated by the use of handbells and the blackboard.

Lesson VIII. The Art of Striking.

(Note: All following exercises are on open or sounding bells, and here the pupils join with experienced ringers for the first time.)

- Ex. 24. First strokes on an 'open' bell, noting the sounding-point.
- Ex. 25. Ringing 3rd in rounds on three to get the open-hand-stroke rhythm.
- Ex. 26. Ringing treble in rounds on three to get the 'opposite-follow' and to MAKE the open lead.
- Ex. 27. 'Listening and Improving.' Ringing 3rd in rounds on six, with five others as good strikers only.

(This completes Section 2. Full details of the exercises have been given in previous articles.)

Section three, which follows, is entitled 'Tone-telling and Rope-sight.' Its first lesson, No. IX., deals with the general idea of position-changing whilst ringing, and with the first step towards its achievement, namely, selective listening. Let us see how our old friend, Tom Truettorch, deals with this stage of instruction.

Here, in the ringing chamber, Tom has seven handbells hanging near one wall, in a row, an eighth being suspended near the opposite wall. He explains:—

'We have been showing you how to strike your bell correctly in its given position among the others. This position was its natural one in rounds. Continued ringing of unvaried rounds being monotonous, changing of position is introduced under the title of 'Change ringing.' This produces different orders of sounding of the bells. On the conductor's word "Go," these changes are produced according to systems, called methods, by which a bell changes position with one sounding next to it. Such mutual exchange of position between two neighbouring bells is usefully called a "transit." If a bell makes a transit with one sounding after it, that bell is said to be moving "up," and if a bell makes a transit with one sounding before it, that bell is said to be moving "down." Consider bells 3 and 4 in rounds. If a transit is made between these two, resulting in the order "4, 3," then "three" has moved "up" and "four" has moved "down." Such transits may proceed simultaneously between all (or nearly all) the bells, in pairs, and may be repeated continuously from stroke to stroke. These movements are called "hunting up," from leading to lying; and "hunting down" from lying to leading; or part of the way in either case.

'Now the first transit from rounds is easily made because the bell next yours is known well beforehand. Normally, even-position bells more down and odd-position bells move up, to produce the first change-row.' (Here Tom puts on the blackboard the figures 1 to 6 inclusive in a row, and below them writes a few more change-rows produced by simple transits made continuously.) He proceeds:—

'But the transits to produce the second and succeeding change-rows will occur with bells not yet lying next to yours, and therefore not yet known to you. The art of hunting lies in the ability to pick out the particular bell to be followed at the next stroke, whether the transit movement for this be up or down. And this picking-out must obviously be done BEFORE the next stroke begins.

'For hunting up this is fairly simple. You hold up, over the bell that has just followed yours, and you thus strike next after it. But for hunting down it is not quite so easy. Here you check your bell to cut under the one you have just followed, noting at that very instant which other bell this action makes you follow.

'Now notice particularly,' says Tom, 'that I have said "which bell," not "which rope." In thus noting "which bell," you will do two things and in this order:—

1. Listen for which sound.
2. Look for which rope.

And you will use one as a check on the other. Bear in mind, however, that this must be done in a fraction of a second. I will enlarge on this later.

'Let us first deal with the listening part. We have special exercises designed to train your ear to distinguish each bell by its note. In these the pupil takes a tapper and stands by the single bell hanging over there, having his back to the rest of the bells over here, where the instructor stands with another tapper.

'First of all you will tap your bell two or three times, listening carefully and noting its pitch or tune. Then I shall tap these bells here in order of rounds until I come to the place where the removed bell should be. Here I will pause for one beat only, and you, the pupil, without looking round, but listening only, will tap your single bell, coming in at the right time exactly. If you have correctly noted its pitch you will be able to anticipate its sounding place, but if you miss it, I shall have passed on with the sounding of my other seven bells. If you succeed in coming in at the precise moment, you will complete the exercise by stating the number of your bell, e.g., "Fifth."

So proceeds Ex. 28. 'Which bell-sound is mine?'

'Now,' says Tom, 'having learned to recognise his own bell-sound among the others, the pupil next learns, in Ex. 29, to recognise, from its sound alone, which bell is sounding next to his.'

And there, my friends, we must leave them till next time.—Yours ever,

CORN. R. STONE.

St. Mary's, Lewisham

BELLS REHUNG AND REOPENED.

On a practice night at St. Mary's, Lewisham, in November last, something seemed to be wrong with the 7th. Inspection proved that further ringing of this bell would be unsafe, and from then until June 4th (the day before the bells were dismantled) 'three-cornered music' only was heard for Sunday services, either Triples 'all in' or Minor with a cover. None of the band seemed anxious to infringe the Central Council rule by attempting a peal in either form.

Tenders were invited from the three leading bellfounders, and reports received that the whole ring was, or soon would be, in need of complete restoration. A clean sweep was decided upon, and the work was entrusted to the Whitechapel firm, who have now completed the rehanging of the whole ring on ball bearings.

A 'try out' was made on Thursday evening, August 3rd, when the local band and several ringers from neighbouring towers were present. Mr. A. A. Hughes, head of the Whitechapel Foundry, being in attendance. Mr. J. Dafters, towerkeeper and captain of the local band, invited everyone present to have a pull, and all agreed that a first-class job had been carried out.

On Sunday evening, August 6th, before divine service, the bells were officially reopened, prior to which the local band was invited to the Vicarage, and a very happy party it was that assembled on the lawn for tea, and, by way of dessert, a raid (headed by the Vicar himself) was made on the huge and ancient mulberry tree adjoining the lawn, which is at present well laden with ripe fruit.

The band (again headed by the Vicar) then proceeded to the tower, and among those who ascended the 67 steps leading to the belfry and ringing in the opening touch were, of course, 'the two youngsters,' namely, Mr. Harry Warnett, sen., and Mr. Charles Walker, both of whom have been ringers at St. Mary's since 1890. Mr. Warnett, now well into his 88th year, was leader and towerkeeper from 1895 until about 18 months ago, and Mr. Walker local secretary for a similar period.

After the dedicatory prayers by the Vicar, Mr. Dafters invited his predecessor to stand in and call the opening touch. Despite his 88 years, Mr. Warnett accepted this offer and, in his usual efficient and able manner, called an excellent touch of Grandsire Triples to the satisfaction of all.

Allowing for differences of opinion regarding plain or ball bearings, St. Mary's bells are now in first-class ringing order for the services of Almighty God in the Mother Church of the district.

'IN TOWERS AND PLACES WHERE THEY RING'

2. The Control of Sound

By the REV. A. S. ROBERTS.

A MATTER which receives little or no attention is the regulation of the sound of bells both inside and outside a tower. It is difficult to get incumbents, churchwardens, church councils and even local ringers to realise that very often improvements should and could be made, and that such matters are important. Advantages gained for very little cost can be almost unbelievable.

The first necessity is good ringing, and in order to attain this each bell must be heard distinctly in the ringing room. There are several factors which make this an impossibility—the construction of the tower itself, a clock case in the chamber above the ringing room, the number and types of floors between ringers and bells, or the manner in which the bells are hung, and it is only perhaps when a ring of bells has been hung that a particular characteristic or peculiarity becomes noticeable, and then it is that some small correction can be effective.

Every case has to be studied separately, and in most cases where the bells are hung on one level there is little trouble. It is usually when some bells are hung above others that adjustments become necessary. Frequently some of the lighter bells are hung over heavier ones and their sound is drowned by the deeper notes. If, for example, three trebles are hung over the other five bells of a ring of eight their notes can be caught by fixing a wide-mouthed wooden box arrangement above the upturned mouths of these bells and brought into an intermediate chamber, or even into the ringing chamber itself by way of wooden spouts several inches square. A common fault too frequently found is that there is no door from the newel staircase into the bell chamber and the overpowering striking of bells near this opening pours down the stairway with irritating effect. Space forbids examples.

It is certain, however, that the sound of the bells inside a tower needs far less attention than that outside. Louvre openings in towers have two functions, to keep rain from getting in and to let sound out. Invariably, and certainly when a gale blows, rain gets in, and far too much sound gets out and is directed downwards into the immediate vicinity of the tower. In many cases bells are hung on a level with the louvres, consequently the sound is hard and harsh as it pours outwards and downwards, and the bells nearest the louvre openings predominate on that particular side of the tower. This used to be so at our own Cathedral; the volume of sound near the bell tower was overpowering, but a splendid scheme was decided upon and carried through some fifteen years ago when all the louvre openings was blocked on the inside with inch boards lined with a sound deadening substance called Cabot's Quilt. The sound now rises and escapes higher by way of the openings at the base of the spire. The change at the time was so noticeable that 'Argus,' in his notes in the 'West Briton,' pointed out it had been considered that the atmospheric conditions of the city had changed until the truth was discovered.

This case is an example which might well be followed. Our square Cornish towers are amongst the easiest in which to effect a remedy. In towns the window space can be built up on the inside with concrete blocks to the spring of the arch-heads, or to a convenient height according to tests by doing the work little by little. If permanence is not desired make four to six inch box shutters and fill them with sawdust or pack them with Eel Grass. These can be hinged or made to slide. If something like this is done, many an incumbent's mind can be set at ease when the rush of ringers' outings begins, a festival is to be held, a long peal rung, or extra practices held. If the ringers have initiative they will probably do the work and perhaps find the material. But in any case it does not cost the P.C.C. much money. Not only do such arrangements modify sound, but in bad weather with closed shutters, the wet or damp is kept out, and a metal bell frame is kept dry.

This is of great benefit in Cornwall where so many churches are near the coast and the winter gales tell their tale. Proof can be found in my own unfinished tower at Carbis Bay, where hinged shutters are fitted inside the louvres, and the temporary slate roof has been lined with ordinary half-inch carpet felt made secure by ribs of Celotex. If this tower is ever finished the architect has suggested it may be possible to dispense with louvres entirely. The centre of the roof would then be raised, but would be concealed by the battlements. If any tower roof is to be renewed, this new type should certainly be fitted and competent advice taken, for the opportunity then comes to make any tower a perfect bell tower whereby the sound of the bells close by is soft and pleasant, and is reduced to a minimum, yet the ringing is heard most pleasantly at a far greater distance than before.

OBITUARY

MR. TOM PAGE, PENTRE.

By the death of Mr. Tom Page, of Pentre, Rhondda, St. Peter's Church as well as the Llandaff Diocese has lost one of its ablest ringers. Mr. Page was well known over a wide area, and in past years rendered service of an outstanding character, both as a ringer and conductor.

The son of a former Pentre ringer, he was one of three brothers, all of whom have rendered a full measure of service to change ringing, and were members of the original Pentre Society of Change Ringers, founded in 1904.

From the modest foundations then laid, he helped to build up a standard of change ringing which eventually included the standard methods, together with Little Bob, Forward and Duffield Major, Double Norwich, Cambridge and Superlative Surprise. In pre-war years St. Peter's tower was the centre of regular practice for visitors over a wide area, and his efforts on these occasions always aimed at all-round improvement, striking, learning of methods, and all that was best for ringers.

He served as Master of the Llandaff and Monmouth Association during 1910, and his quiet disposition, punctuality, loyalty and a readiness to help a beginner commended him to his many friends.

Up to October, 1949, he continued to ring at St. Peter's Church, where he learnt to ring, and also served as a chorister when the church was consecrated in 1890. Altogether he rang 68 peals, conducting 23. These peals mark a steady progress in South Wales, and are notable by including the first peals of Erin and Oxford Bob Triples rung by a local band in Wales, and the first rung by a local band for the Llandaff and Monmouth Association of Stedman Triples, Double Norwich, Cambridge and Superlative Surprise, together with the record length of 6,240 of Kent Treble Bob Major rung at Llantrisant.

Following the funeral, a quarter peal of Grandsire Triples was rung by the following: J. Thomas 1, J. Lovett 2, J. Edwards 3, F. Lashury 4, G. Page 5, E. Thorley 6, J. Evans 7, H. Crabb 8. Conducted by G. Page, son of the deceased.

MR. GEORGE CHARGE.

Many will regret to learn of the passing of Mr. George Charge, who had been in failing health for some months. The end came rather suddenly in the early morning of August 7th, in his 75th year.

'Old George,' as he was affectionately called, was a brother of Reuben and the late Cornelius Charge, the peal composer, and was a native of the Bishop's Stortford district of Essex. He came to London nearly 60 years ago and joined the Metropolitan Police, serving his full time and retiring on pension some years ago.

During his lifetime he was very keen on bell-ringing and was a member of the Ancient Society of College Youths for 55 years. The Middlesex County Association was also one of the Associations of which he was for many years a member. He rang many peals, but kept no accurate record. One peal he used to speak about with modest pride was the first peal ever rung by a band of policemen—Grandsire Triples, composed and conducted by his brother Cornelius and rung at St. Mary Magdalene's, Holloway, N., on April 25th, 1912. It is thought that Mr. William Bottrill, now of Deal, is the sole surviving member of that band. Mr. Charge was for over 50 years a member of the St. Mary Magdalene band.

George was also a very keen billiards enthusiast, winning many prizes in both police and other competitions. Mr. Charge leaves a widow, two daughters and several grandchildren to mourn his passing.

The funeral took place on August 11th at Islington Cemetery, Finchley, N., and amongst the friends present were Messrs. A. W. Coles, E. E. Pratchett, R. H. Begrie and Mr. and Mrs. A. Turner.

During the week a quarter peal of Grandsire Triples, half-muffled, was rung at St. Mary Magdalene's by the following: J. S. Hawkins 1, Miss M. Prockson 2, F. A. Barker 3, R. Newman 4, R. H. Begrie (cond.) 5, A. W. Coles 6, N. Hollingworth 7, W. D. Prockson 8. Also at St. Mary's, Finchley, a quarter peal of Bob Major rung open by F. A. Barker 1, W. D. Prockson 2, R. Newman 3, E. E. Pratchett 4, D. Corning 5, R. Charge 6, P. D. Oldham 7, R. H. Begrie (cond.) 8.

Not only at St. Mary Magdalene's will he be greatly missed, but by the local residents in the district where he lived, for he was greatly respected by all who knew him and often sought after for his guidance.

RINGERS' OUTINGS

CHRIST CHURCH, CREWE.

This time we went in for quality rather than quantity. The party consisted of Sunday service ringers and wives, with the addition of Mr. E. J. (Ted) Walker, Dover, who was stationed at Crewe during the war and was enjoying, we hope, his second re-visit, and Mr. George Porter, Wistaston, our coach driver.

A start was made at 7.30 a.m. for the first stop at Duffield (10), where we were met by Mr. Dawson, who, we heard, had been up at 6 a.m. to ensure the bells were in good going order (and they were). How could anyone help ringing such bells, and with such names as the late Canon Coleridge, the Rev. F. E. Robinson, and Sir Arthur Percival Heywood, who lived nearby, looking down from the many peal boards?

Coming from a ten-bell tower, some good Caters were rung and enjoyed. After an hour's ringing we adjourned through the fields across the river Derwent (Darron), to the Bridge Inn for a 'perpendicular,' although we all could be comfortably seated. Mrs. Straw made a splendid hostess and regaled us with tea, coffee, rolls, cakes and biscuits.

Then came the tit-bit of the day, Lincoln Cathedral, which seemed to beckon us from its commanding position, from 10 to 12 miles out. Here we were met by Mr. Freeman, and no wonder he was so justifiably proud of his Cathedral, with its Ringers' Chapel, the only one, I believe, of its kind in any church, and the bells.

Lunch was served by Mrs. Roberts at Eastgate Court, and what lunch! After a tour of the Cathedral, which could occupy a week, let alone an hour, we mounted St. Hugh's tower and enjoyed some more and some less good Cinques.

Leaving Lincoln after 4 p.m., we journeyed on to our last tower of the day, Grantham. Tea first, at the Angel and Royal Hotel, which, again, was like pre-war. We were then ready for 'the heavies,' and after some touches of Grandsire Caters, which was the high spot of the day, attention was turned to Stedman, but alas and unfortunately, this did not do full justice, either to our ringing or the lovely ring, but then, bells do not always go where and how you want them. (Perhaps they are like the ladies!). God-speed—which will be success—to the coming police band at Grantham.

God's blessing on Dr. Irwen in his retirement from dear Duffield, after a faithful ministry. Thanks through 'Bill' Edge to everyone.

One other opinion, not quite so pleasant, but essential, on 'Bell Pravda.' I have always found 'The Ringing World' comprehensive enough, and very generous.

W.F.S.
(Beaurepair).

SPALDING.

Ringers of Spalding Parish Church and neighbouring villages, accompanied by Mrs. Rupert Richardson and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hairs, enjoyed another energetic annual outing on July 15th, arranged as usual by Mr. J. T. Newington. Ringing took place in no less than seven towers, and 175 miles were covered.

The route chosen this year was Biggleswade, Baldock, Hitchin, Luton, Dunstable, Leighton Buzzard and Woburn, a start being made at 7 a.m., and home reached again at 12.30 a.m., after a supper of hot dogs on the way.

A most attractive souvenir programme was produced by Mr. A. D. Mills, and quite good ringing took place on the fine bells of all the towers visited. Thanks are due and most cordially given to all local ringers who met the visitors and ensured the success of the day.

GREAT PONTON, LINCOLNSHIRE.

A tour of the six-bell churches of the Fenland was planned for the ringers of Great Ponton, on August Bank Holiday. The Vicar (the Rev. P. J. F. Simpson) and Mrs. Simpson accompanied the party, and the bus complement was completed with ringers from Grantham and Ancaster.

The morning's ringing was shared between Donington and Gosberton. Lunch was partaken of at the White Hart, Spalding. Croyland Abbey Church caused mild consternation amongst the ringers by the enormous draught of rope! Of the three 'Deepings,' our choice was for St. James'. Tea was most welcome at the Bridge Hotel, Market Deeping. The evening call was at All Saints', Stamford.

The methods rung were Grandsire and Stedman Doubles, Plain Bob and Single Court Minor, Kent and Kent and Oxford Spliced, and Treble Bob Minor. The raising and falling of the bells at each church did justice to these lovely toned rings.

The weather was most kind, and at each church there were local ringers to welcome the visitors. To them and the incumbents we offer our grateful thanks for making the outing so enjoyable and successful. The arrangements were admirably discharged by the organiser, Mr. J. M. Simpson.

F. W. P.

MARHAMCHURCH, CORNWALL.

On August Bank Holiday, a party of ringers from Marhamchurch and Stratton, together with friends to complete the coachload, left for an outing in West Cornwall.

The first stop was at Egloshayle (8), where ringing consisted of Grandsire, rounds and call changes. The party then proceeded to Redruth (8), and after a stop for refreshment, reached St. Ives just after mid-day.

In the afternoon the first stop was at Carbis Bay, where the visitors were met by Mr. H. Miles and subsequently by the Rev. and Mrs. A. L. Roberts. These bells, considered by many the best of the day for their easy control and fine tone, were rung to Plain Bob, Grandsire and rounds.

The only six of the day encountered was at Lelant. The treble here is cracked and consequently out of tune, but the 'go' of the bells is good. Camborne (8) was the next stop, but the difficulty here was to hear the front bells when in the ringing chamber.

The last stop for ringing was at Truro. After tea, the bells of the Cathedral were set going to rounds, and the ringing terminated with a course of Grandsire Caters, in which Mr. Southeard, the Ringing Master, and a 'stranger' from Sussex took part.

The party wish to express their thanks for the use of the bells and to all concerned with the arrangements for the outing.

WESTMINSTER CATHEDRAL

Dear Sir,—Re the recent correspondence on dimensions of cathedrals and parish churches, I would like to quote the official guide book to Westminster Cathedral, which may be of interest to some people. All measurements are internal.

Total length, 342ft.; total width (which is uniform), 149ft. length of nave, 232ft.; width, 60ft., and is claimed the greatest in England, allowing 2,000 seated persons to see all that transpires in the sanctuary without interruption; height of main arches, 90ft.; height of tower, 273ft., to top of cross, 284ft. Some may think this is irrelevant, being Roman Catholic, but these must be considered when claiming the largest in England. In any case, all our old cathedrals and churches were once R.C.—

Yours sincerely,
Bushey, Herts.

M. F. R. HIBBERT.

Cambridge University Guild

Some eleven members of the Cambridge University Guild recently took part in a very enjoyable tour of Gloucestershire. The party camped near Cheltenham and spent an energetic week cycling to a total of 25 towers. The weather, apart from one night, was kind to us, and that, with the efficient management of the catering by the ladies, made the project a great success. We heard, one of us for the first time, the sad story of the Australian aborigine who was unable to dispose of his unwanted boomerang, and had ample demonstration of the truth of the First, Second and Third Laws of Greatest Cussedness!

Of the ringing itself, little need be said except that we made good use of rings of greatly varying quality and weight, in spite of an increasing number of blisters as time went on. The methods rung included Kent, Double Norwich and Cambridge, Grandsire and Stedman Triples, and one touch of Grandsire Caters which the first for four of the band. Another high spot, for one member at least, was a six-score of Original Doubles at one of the five-bell towers. After an attempt for this, someone was heard to complain that it was not a very interesting method as he had done nothing but plain hunt!

In conclusion, we should like to thank the local secretaries and the incumbents for the use of their bells and their help. A. W. C.

CENTRAL COUNCIL'S DECISIONS

BY LIBRA.

THE recent correspondence in which the Decisions Sub-Committee has been involved will have focussed attention on its labours in a manner which perhaps the members hardly expected when they sought the views of ringers on matters with which they are concerned, but the exchange of pleasantries between Messrs. Butler, Smallwood and Woolley will have caused general amusement, even if little of value has been brought out.

One can sympathise with the sub-committee for a number of reasons. There are many ringers who will regard whatever recommendations are put forward as a personal affront. ('I intend to use my own discretion . . . despite what the "big guns" say shouldn't be rung,' as a correspondent recently wrote.) Again, there are 'those desiring to attract undue attention by "freak" performances,' to whom Mr. Smallwood referred in his report at Eastbourne. Here the motive is slightly different—participation in the unorthodox not for its merits, but because most ringers disapprove.

At the other extreme are those ringers who regard any innovation as dangerous, and it was doubtless with them in mind that one or two members at the Council meeting took exception to the suggestion that performances not conforming to the standards laid down should not be published in 'The Ringing World.' The fears then expressed were surely groundless. It does not require a high degree of intelligence to perceive the difference between something progressive, which is not covered by an existing decision—probably because the subject has not previously arisen—and the calculated attempt to defy something simply because it exists. One wonders what value any rules can have if glaring contraventions are to receive the same recognition as ordinary performances.

The sub-committee's problem is the opposite of that of the Methods Committee, in so far as the former are being assailed by those who insist that what grandfather rang couldn't be improved upon, whereas the latter receive regular hints that his views on theoretical matters were entirely wrong. Fortunately, it is fairly certain that little heed will be paid to 'pressure groups' from whatever source (nor of bright young men anxious to find loopholes in the drafting on which to make facetious comments). The committee may be sure that most ringers will abide by what is eventually passed, though they may not entirely agree with it. It should not be forgotten, however, that there is nothing to prevent any decision from being amended or even rescinded in the light of experience and as a result of possible unfavourable opinion. In asking for the assistance of ringers so as to present a clear case, as far as possible, to the Council next year, Mr. Smallwood has done his best to forestall future criticism, since it is unfortunately true that many Council members are incapable of expressing useful opinions upon subjects such as this. However, just as every country is said to get the Government it deserves, so ringers for their legislators have only themselves to blame.

GODSHILL

THIS week in our news columns we record a ringers' Sunday being observed at Godshill, Isle of Wight. It was a happy inspiration to hold the festival during the holiday season, and the ringing and special service made a strong appeal to the many visitors present.

The antiquity of All Saints' Church, Godshill, and its many interesting architectural features well repay a visit. The church is the fourth on the site, being mainly rebuilt about 1350. Immediately above the window in the south transept can be seen the Sanctus bell resting on carved corbel-heads. The present bell bears the inscription: 'Clement Tosier made me in 1703,' and replaces an older bell, maybe recast.

The ringing chamber is approached by a ladder. When the six bells were recast in 1816, the village gun, dating from 1545, was added to the metal to make the tenor. They were again recast in 1887 to commemorate Queen Victoria's Jubilee, with a tenor of 9 cwt., and rehung again in 1934 in a new frame.

The inscriptions on the bells denote thought and reverence and read as follows:—

- Treble: Ring, ring, ye bells and sweetly tell That Christ has conquered death and hell.
- Second: With loving voice I call to Church and prayer
And bid the living for the grave prepare.
- Third: The public raised us with a liberal hand
We come with harmony to cheer the land.
- Fourth: When female virtue weds with manly worth
We catch the rapture and we speed it forth.
- Fifth: Here, let us pause and now with one accord Salute the Church Triumphant in the Lord.
- Tenor: May all whom I shall summons to the grave.
The blessings of a well-spent life receive.

The first and second bells bear a further inscription: 'In memory of the Jubilee of Queen Victoria, 1887. Thomas Ratcliffe, vicar; Albert Morse and William Reynolds, churchwardens.'

John Taylor & Co.LOUGHBOROUGH*The LEADING BELL FOUNDERS

THE SWASTIKA

IT WAS USED BY ENGLISH BELLFOUNDERS

By ERNEST MORRIS, F.R.HIST.S.

FROM time immemorial it has been customary to ornament church bells with inscriptions and various decorations. Before founders used their names on their work they used trade marks, initial crosses, and stops between sentences, and by these means we are able to trace their origin and dates. These marks are often of beautiful design and workmanship, sometimes of heraldic or symbolic significance, and occur in great profusion and variety.

Of late years we have seen much use made of the Swastika as the emblem of Germany, and it is not surprising therefore to find this device used on new bells erected there. Thus at the Church of St. Mary at Königsberg it is used with this prosaic inscription:—

'Cast in the year of rebirth, 1934.

May my chimes give thanks to Merciful God,

Who gave us a leader in our time of need.'

The Swastika, also known as the fylfot, Gammadion, or cross cramponée, is of ancient origin, having been used by the votaries of Buddha six hundred years before Christ. Later it was associated with Scandinavian mythology, being known as the Cross of Thor, and Thor's Hammer.

Since Thor was the pagan God of Thunder, the Swastika was sometimes used with the idea of protection against thunderstorms, particularly among the German peasantry.

Subsequently this device of pagan origin became connected with Christianity, and it is found in mediæval English heraldry and ecclesiastical art. It is found on one of the earliest monumental brasses in this country (A.D. 1277)—that of Sir John D'Auberon, at Stoke D'Abernon, in Surrey, and also on later brasses in Kent and Essex. It also became incorporated in the foundry mark of the Heathcote family, who were bellfounders at Chesterfield from 1502 to 1643. By strange coincidence it is to be found upon bells in that part of England where the Norsemen settled. At Treswell, Nottinghamshire, an interesting bell with inscription in small black-letter reads:—

'X X sce pe tri o p s, (on waist) Ser Ion baynbreg.

Meaning: 'St. Peter pray for us,' and the donor's name, Sir John Bainbridge. The first mark is the ornamental letter D with fylfot, and the second a shield with T.B. each side of a cross, and also a bell and wooden crook, such as used by bellfounders when moulding the clay shape. This is the shield of Thomas Bett, of Leicester.

The only founders who used the fylfot or Swastika ornament were the Heathcotes, of Chesterfield, and Bett, of Leicester. It is found on bells in Nottinghamshire, at Teversal, Wellow, Normanton and Mansfield-Woodhouse. The letters used at Teversal are the same as on the others named, and from this we may conclude there was some connection between the two foundries.

The fifth bell of Appleby, Lincolnshire has two marks and inscription, 'see ma ria o p s' ('St. Mary pray for us'), while a bell at Blithfield, Staffordshire, has the same two marks and 'see gre gore o p s' ('St. Gregory pray for us'). There are two bells at Ellerstone, Staffs, with T. Bett's mark only, while the lettering is found with George Heathcote's mark at Normanton-on-Trent. Other examples are to be seen at churches in Lincolnshire and Yorkshire.

The Chesterfield bellfoundry arose very early in the sixteenth century, and we find William bequeathe to the same Raffe, my sonne, all my moldes (moulds) and towles (tools) all brass and bell metell and all other thinges in my workhowse apperteyning to my occupation.'

Ralph Heathcote, who succeeded George in 1558 and died in 1577, was followed by his son Godfrey, who is recorded to have cast a bell for Wirksworth in 1610. He died in 1643, leaving a son Ralph, but the foundry closed about this date.

Thomas Bett, of Leicester, was a man of affluence, and held many offices under the Corporation. He was a Freeman, 1521-2; Auditor, 1524-6; Steward, 1525; Coroner, 1526-7; and finally Mayor in 1529, being styled 'bellfounder of All Saints and ancestor of the New-combes.'

Thus it will be seen that in incorporating the Swastika in the ornamentation of church bells, our English bellfounders antedated the German bellfounders by four centuries!

The ornamentation of bells is well worthy of study, and the diversity and beauty of lettering found on mediæval castings shows that our bellfounders of that day were craftsmen of artistic ability.

LONDON EXTENSION

Dear Sir,—Mr. Baker, in his letter in last week's 'Ringing World,' has pointed out the faults in U.A. London Royal. I suggest that he should have been fair and demonstrated the defects in London Royal No. 3, namely, that when the treble is in 9-10 the places which should be made are those actually made in the other variation. If this is done, the method produced possesses many of the characteristics of London Surprise, but has the lead-end 1083564927.

Methods such as Cambridge and Yorkshire extend because they have a simple principle based on Treble Bob hunting, but there is no reason why all methods should be capable of such extension. Some methods (Superlative is an example) are capable of being extended only by four bells at a time to 12, 16, 20, etc. Others I suggest, such as London, do not possess a true extension.

In methods where no obvious extension exists there are two possible solutions: to have a series of extensions and number them No. 1, No. 2, etc., or to use names of nearby places for the various extensions. In either case let us be open-minded and admit that each extension has its merits—and its defects!

If the space which has been used, and no doubt in the future will be used, arguing the theory of London Royal had been filled with articles on how to ring or a few tips on methods of conducting it would, I believe, have been more useful to ringers at large.—Yours faithfully,

E. J. LINDLEY.

SWASTIKA—Mark of Mediæval Bellfounders.

1. George Heathcote (1525-1558).
- 2 and 3. Thomas Bett (1529-30, Mayor of Leicester).
4. Ralph Heathcote (1558-1577).
5. Godfrey Heathcote (1588-1643).

Heathcote, son of a 'brazier' named Ralph, succeeded his father in the year 1502, and started the bellfounding craft. He died shortly afterwards, and was succeeded by his brother Ralph, who in 1524 released to his son George Heathcote certain lands, and died the following year.

George, another son of the first-named Ralph, whose will is dated 1502, was also a bellfounder. His will is dated 1558, and in it he bequeaths his dwelling in Saltergatehead, Chesterfield, to his wife Margaret, and then says: 'I give and bequeathe to Raffe, my sonne and heyre, all my lands, and also I

The Universities Association should note that a Guild of Change Ringers has been formed in connection with Adelaide University, South Australia. This is the first University Guild outside the British Isles. The formation of the Guild must be directly attributed to the enthusiasm and energy of Mr. Philip Cooper, who is a member of both the St. Andrew's, Walkerville, band and that of the Cathedral Church of St. Peter, Adelaide.

The joint meeting of the Derbyshire Association and Southwell Guild at Sawley has been postponed until September 9th. See Notice.

In connection with the death of Mr. George Charge, brother of Cornelius (reported last week), it may be of interest to note that the note books of Compositions of Cornelius Charge are now in possession of Ernest Morris, of Leicester.

Apropos the recent correspondence in our columns regarding the conduct of ringing meetings, Mr. Norman Chaddock writes: 'I am happy to say that I cannot recall a ringing meeting where a local tower captain was so discourteous as to attempt to usurp the functions of the Society's Ringing Master.'

Friends of that popular Lancashire ringer, Mr. Fred Dunkerley, of Rochdale, will be very pleased to hear of his success in another field. Only three years ago he learned to fly, and last Saturday won the International Handicap Air Race for the Kemsley Challenge Trophy. Until almost the last moment it was uncertain whether Mr. Dunkerley would be able to overcome propellor trouble with his Miles Gemina I.A aircraft in time to compete. He covered the three-lap course at an average speed of 162.75 miles per hour and received £100 in addition to the trophy. Mr. Dunkerley uses his plane regularly for business and pleasure.

BELFRY GOSSIP

A 100 per cent. record was achieved at the third annual August peal week in the Midlands this year. Twelve towers were visited and 12 peals rung. Mr. W. P. Whitehead informs us that at the Loughborough Bell Foundry the first non-conducted peal of Surprise was rung in the Leicester Diocese.

Two visitors participated in the peal of Grandsire Triples at Timberscombe, Somerset, on August 12th. They were Mr. H. J. Parker, of Hayes, and Mr. F. W. Soden, of Burford, Oxfordshire.

All ringing friends will regret to hear that Mr. J. Hawkins ('Old Joe') has been admitted to the Middlesex Hospital. At the time of writing he was reported to be very comfortable. We wish him a speedy return to normal health.

We quote from the July issue of 'Ringing Towers.' In a Sydney newspaper dated June 29th, under the heading of 'Put another Nickel in,' the following appeared: 'A fortnight ago "Three Blind Mice" rang out from the belfry of the parish church at Great Cornard, Suffolk. The parish councillors warned the bellringer against such levity. Last Sunday, when there was a very poor offering, the bells tolled, "Put another Nickel in." The bellringer was sacked.'

Ringing is full of disappointments. His fellow-ringers at St. Thomas' Church, Exeter, desired to honour the golden wedding anniversary of Mr. E. J. Ryall, vice-president of the Guild of Devonshire Ringers and hon. secretary of the Exeter Branch, and Mrs. Ryall. The peal of Grandsire Triples by the local company on August 16th came to grief after 2 hours and 45 minutes' ringing. Nevertheless we all join with the local company in wishing Mr. and Mrs. Ryall every happiness.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

CANON 88

Dear Sir,—Here is the wording of this Canon as it affects church bells: 'neither the bells to be rung superstitiously upon Holy Days or Eves abrogated by the Book of Common Prayer, nor at any other times, without good cause to be allowed by the Minister of the place, and by themselves' (i.e., the churchwardens).

As a ringer, an incumbent, a chairman of a Guild and a promoter of rehanging of bells and augmentation of rings I sum up the 'good causes' for which church bells are rung.

(1) Church Services—to call people to worship Prayer Book order, 'the Curate . . . shall cause a bell to be tolled . . . that the people may come to hear God's Word and to pray with him.' William the Conqueror ordered this bell (the Curfew) to be rung every night (8 o'clock) in every parish, so each church had at least one bell. The monasteries introduced rings which were copied by parish churches which could afford them and get ringers to ring them. It might be, not a question of incumbent's permission, but permission of parishioners if the ringers kicked up too much row.

(2) Weddings. Permission of incumbent is required, but he who calls the tune pays the piper—that is the ringers. And the pipers should see incumbent and churchwardens and settle what is to be the proper fee to whoever rings the bells, which is only their just due.

(3) Funerals.—The Ecclesiastical Commissioners have decided that the sexton have 5s. (it used to be 1s. in my young days) for 'tolling bell at time of death.' See their standard table of fees, which also provides for ministers' fees. This is misnamed the 'passing bell' and is becoming obsolete. Very few ask for this bell to be tolled nowadays. The minister has no authority to permit or not permit the ringing of it.

(4) Ringers' Guild Meetings.—Permission of incumbent is required, asked for, and given to the secretary of the branch Guild. Some Guilds have also a ringing master (as Exeter), some have secretary only (as Peterborough). Both are elected by the branch and the members invariably are most loyal to their officers and their control. I have never heard of an incumbent having given permission to a branch Guild to use the bells, to complain of any trespass on his parochial rights, nor have I met a belfry captain complaining of a Guild, or its secretary, or its ringing master trespassing on his preserves.

(5) Touring Bands. Permission of incumbent required, asked for and given to the leader of the visiting band. I have never known a local band or captain to question the incumbent's privilege or usurp authority over his right to permit a visiting band to ring the bells.

(6) National rejoicings, Christmas and New Year's Eve ringing, etc. I do not know who calls the tune, but I do know the pipers are most happy to play the tune, and don't bother much about pay. But there are ways and means of showing appreciation of the ringers and there are plenty of bell lovers and listeners who are proud of the men pulling the ropes, and goodwill always makes for popularity.—Yours faithfully,

J. M. TURNER.

YETMINSTER, DORSET.—On Aug. 13th, 1,260 Grandsire Doubles: Miss Helen Godley 1, Mrs. A. Dodley 2, Miss Margaret A. Baker 3, R. G. Field 4, T. G. Setter (first in method as cond.) 5, C. Vowles 6. First quarter for 1 and 3. A farewell compliment to Miss H. Godley, who is shortly leaving for Kenya.

RINGING IN CORNWALL

Dear Sir,—I have just returned from a 17 day holiday in Cornwall during which period I had the pleasure of ringing in 35 new towers, 33 in Cornwall and two in Devon.

Through the medium of the 'Ringing World' I should like to express my appreciation of the welcome accorded me everywhere by the local ringings and/or incumbents, my gratitude to the ringers of Redruth, Camborne and the St. Columb area for providing bands for outings and my very sincere and special thanks to Mr. Percy Williams (my host) of Redruth, by whose assistance and organisation I was able to ring at the majority of the towers and whose name acted as an 'Open Sesame.'

All being well, my 1951 holiday will most certainly be spent at Redruth.

Thank you, Cornwall, and may I have the pleasure of returning the compliment to at least some of your ringers.—Yours sincerely,

E. T. P. FIELD,

Buckland Newton, Dorset.

PEALS FOR TWO ASSOCIATIONS

Dear Sir,—In support of Mr. Dunkerley and his explanation of the method employed by the Lancashire Association in dealing with 'dual Association' peals, may I say that the Yorkshire Association has also worked a similar system; i.e., that, on request, a peal rung for some other Association has been published in the annual report of the Yorkshire Association provided all the ringers were members of the Y.A.C.R.

Many well-known conductors have, in the past, taken advantage of that system, particularly the late Messrs. John Flint, Samuel Wood and Arthur Knights.

I hope that Mr. Rogers will pardon me when I say that I think the concluding paragraph of his letter on the same subject is unfortunate if not ill chosen as it savours of a dictatorship which many ringers fear the Central Council is trying to take unto itself and which, if persisted in, may harm the structure of our ringing Associations and Guilds in their relationship to the Central Council.—Yours faithfully,

W. BARTON

Hon. Peal Secretary, Y.A.C.R.

THE BEARD—A PROTEST

Dear Sir,—In protest to the repeated correspondence on a Mr. Jack Worrall's beard, I feel I am correct in saying that 'The Ringing World' is published for the conveyance of ringing matter to ringers in every corner of the land and not for a personal correspondence of the few.

I also feel I am correct in saying that this 'famous' beard has long ceased to draw any mirth from the general ringing fraternity; in point of fact, it has become such a bore that I am reminded of a half-drunk in a bus trying in vain to get the people to listen to the same old thing, over and over again.

Like every other ringer, I look forward to my 'Ringing World,' week by week, but when I open it there it is, 'The Beard.'

I can only suggest one thing, that on your next 'Rag Day' it should be on exhibition, or the main feature of the Rag Magazine, but for heaven's sake, keep it out of 'The Ringing World,' for I dread opening it next week; there may be a photograph of it.—Yours faithfully,

JACK CLEGG.

Fallowfield, Manchester.

A Defence of Ringing Wanted

Dear Sir,—As a member of a theological college, I am frequently asked by my fellow-students to defend the practice of bell-ringing. I find it hard to defend against the criticism that it is anti-social. The importance of such discussions, in this place, to the ringing world is obvious. Would any ringer care to put forward a defence of our art, or refer me to previous correspondence on this subject?

Here are some common grounds for complaint. Practice goes on for too long. Saturday afternoons in pleasant towns are spoilt by ringing meetings or peal attempts. I remember taking part in a quarter peal next to a ground on which first-class cricket was being played. Complaints were made by spectators and players. What, then, are we to say in defence of record lengths, which seem to contribute little to the glory of God? (I trust Mr. Lufkin will not take this as a personal criticism, since I would wish him success.)

For myself, ringing is my hobby, and I get a unique chance to offer my hobby to God's service by calling others to 'prayer and praise' on Sundays, a chance not open to those whose hobbies are photography or cycling, for example, who must make a more conscious effort to offer that part of their lives to God.—Yours faithfully,

M. R. D. HARFORD.

Westcott House, Cambridge.

THE RECORD PEAL OF DOUBLES

Dear Sir,—I was interested in the article by Miss Wilkinson regarding record length of Doubles rung at Yass, N.S.W., and she mentions the world's record in the method as having been rung at Gillingham, Suffolk.

Allow me to point out that I fear she has been misinformed, both with regard to the village and also to the method rung. The village is Gillingham, and a peal tablet in the tower records that in April (date not remembered), 1822, a peal of Grandsire Minor, 10,080 changes, was rung in 6 hours 10 minutes.

An interesting feature about the tablet is that by the side of each ringer's name the tool with which he earned his living is cut in the stone.

The bells are a fine ring of six (tenor 18 cwt.) and still hang in the same wooden frame as when the peal was rung. Unfortunately, at the present time they are in an unfit state for ringing.—Yours truly,

W. ROSE.

6, Norfolk Street, Peterborough.

METHOD EXTENSION

Dear Sir,—I think it is generally agreed that S. Leader York-Bramble has rendered the Exercise valuable service by his efforts to place the subject of method extension on a more scientific basis. It is evident, though, that there is a considerable amount of disagreement as to the results obtained. In a case he has quoted recently he rejects completely two extensions, both of which have been rung to peals. It is neither scientific nor reasonable of him to expect anyone to accept his statements as facts without first giving them the opportunity of comparing his figures with those already published.

It is of no value to make sweeping statements and to call them facts without presenting a rigorous proof in support. I am surprised that he should compare his work with that of the late W. M. Thompson and Dr. R. A. Rankine without doing this.—Yours faithfully,

ANTONY W. T. CLEAVER.

SOCIETY OF ROVING RINGERS' FOURTH TOUR

550 MILES IN MIDLANDS AND YORKSHIRE.

SEVEN CATHEDRALS VISITED.

THE Society's fourth annual tour took place from July 29th to August 11th, and by way of a change from previous tours, the area chosen was the North Midlands and Yorkshire.

The majority of members forgathered outside the magnificent Parish Church of Grantham on Saturday, July 29th, after journeys of varying lengths. Some came by train, but the really keen cyclists (as distinct from those who merely ride bikes!) had pedalled all the way. Members came from London, Leicester, Bournemouth, Wolverhampton, Guildford, Darlington, Reading, Long Ashton, Ewell, Chichester, Axminster, Carshalton, Much Hadham, St. Albans and Newbury. There were a number of new faces this year, and several, notably our Master, Roger Fry, who were unfortunately unable to be with us in the flesh, though we know they must have been with us in spirit!

Proceedings began with ringing on the grand Taylor ten (tenor 32½ cwt.) at St. Wulfram's, Grantham, and how fine they sounded to the music of Cambridge Royal and Grand-sire and Stedman Caters! With the melodious tones of these bells still ringing in our ears, we set off for our first youth hostel, in the pleasant Rutland village of Whissendine. The church tower here is said to be the finest in this tiny county, but it was not possible to ring the six bells due to the bad state of the ropes.

Sunday morning saw us awheel early en route for Melton Mowbray, and the sight of its great church, of almost cathedral standard, was most inspiring. Ringing on the good ten (tenor 25½ cwt.) took place for an hour or so before matins, and again included Caters and Cambridge Royal. The party attended the service, and were pleased to receive a welcome from the Vicar afterwards.

Lunch in a wayside cafe was much enjoyed before the run over to Syston, near Leicester. Ringing here was of a high standard, a touch in three Spliced Surprise Major methods being the first touch of Spliced rung for the Society. On the way back to Whissendine some really keen members rang Plain and Double Bob Minimus on a little ring of four at Burrough-on-the-Hill. At the hostel a short business meeting was held, during which the secretary (Mark White) announced that Roger Fry wished to resign the Mastership of the Society for this year at least, and on a vote being taken, Phil Chalk was elected Master amid acclamations.

IN LEICESTER

On Monday came a run through the pleasant Leicestershire countryside to the city of Leicester, where, after an excellent lunch at the Civic Restaurant, we had the privilege of ringing on the fine Taylor twelve (tenor 25½ cwt.) at the Cathedral. Thanks here are particularly due to Mr. H. J. Poole and his band for their cordial reception and for helping to arrange our ringing in Leicester. The somewhat unusual ascent to the belfry having been negotiated, the music of Stedman Cinques and Cambridge Maximus was soon rolling out across the city.

Ringling here ended all too soon, but after sampling the delights of Leicester's choicest milk bar (!), we all enjoyed ringing on the rather heavier twelve (tenor 33 cwt.) at St. Margaret's, where we were welcomed by Mr. Ernest Morris. After more Stedman Cinques and another half-course of Cambridge Twelve, we set out for the last call of the day, the six at Billesdon, with a pre-Reformation tenor (11½ cwt., and a very good bell). Various Minor methods, including London and Cambridge, were rung here before going on to the hostel at Loddington. Our hostel 'job' here took the form of extracting weeds from between the stones of a cobbled yard, which proved somewhat arduous to the more aged members of the party!

Tuesday took us first to Oakham, the county town of Rutland, and after the fine church had been inspected, ringing took place on a splendid eight (tenor 22½ cwt.), and very appropriately included a course of Rutland. These bells, like so many others on which we had the pleasure of ringing, were cast by Taylors, and are a credit to the firm. Next came the pleasant six at Cottesmore (tenor 15 cwt.), which were soon set going to various methods, including Spliced Plain and Little Bob, called by the expert from Bournemouth. The swaying of the weather vane and the capstone of the spire here caused some alarm, and the churchwarden, who welcomed us, promised to have due inspection made.

Then on to Colsterworth, just off the Great North Road, where the six were again used to the full after a welcome from the Vicar and two local ringers. The last tower of the day was Great Ponton, where we found a quaint ring of five (tenor 15 cwt.), which would form Nos. 2, 3, 4, 5 and 6 of a ring of eight! Ringing here included 120 of April Day, by special request! The hostel at Harrowby Hall was then visited, where we found quite a large party of visitors from a far-off land encamped in a barn nearby, the hostel being full.

IN A THUNDERSTORM.

The following day saw us setting off for Sleaford, en route for which town some of us had the pleasure of ringing on a fine little Taylor octave at Heydour (tenor 12½ cwt.), where the record peal of London Major was rung. The grand bells at St. Denys', Sleaford, were used to the full, though we found the bells a little tricky to handle, due to a long draught and new ropes. An attempt for five Spliced unfortunately came to grief, but Cambridge, Double Norwich and Stedman were 'tapped out' quite well.

The ten at Ewerby (tenor 15½ cwt. in D) came next, with another long draught of rope. Cambridge and Yorkshire Royal were rung here while a thunderstorm raged outside! The rain having abated, we returned to Sleaford for lunch, and thence on to the Saxon tower of Harmston, with another good light octave (tenor 10 cwt.), where, among other methods, a touch of five Spliced was brought round.

A heavy thunderstorm while on our way into Lincoln failed to damp the spirits of the party, and we all arrived on time at the Cathedral, where we received a hearty welcome from Mr. Freeman and several members of the Cathedral band, who had very kindly put their weekly practice back about 27 hours for our benefit. Thank you, Lincoln, we appreciated it! Here we were visited by a member of the local Press, who collected information about our tour and took a photo of us, with your scribe occupying an even more conspicuous position than usual! After Stedman and Cambridge Maximus on this very fine light twelve, we adjourned to the local Y.H. for the night.

On the following day, those who had previously thought Lincolnshire to be a completely flat county were sadly disillusioned for, after ringing various methods at St. Giles', Lincoln, and Washingborough—both good octaves—came a climb over the Lincolnshire Wolds, which here reach quite a respectable height. Ringing on the six (tenor 10 cwt.) at Wragby was distinguished by our secretary's involuntary attempt to wrap his rope round the clock case during a touch of Cambridge Minor! Then followed the hilly run to Louth, where the superb spire rose grandly to a height of 295ft. above the roofs of the town. The fine heavy octave (tenor 31 cwt.) was soon rolling out the music of Stedman, Double Norwich, Cambridge and Bristol, despite the fact that the sway of the tower caused several of the bells to play tricks!

On arrival at N. Elkington hostel, the party was severely shaken—at least one member was horrified!—to discover that no meals could be provided, despite previous arrangements. However, the crisis was safely overcome, two foraging parties returning with such ample supplies that the unused balance had to be sold to the warden and other hostellers after our sundry members had had their fill. All honour to our cooks and their assistants!

CROSSING THE HUMBER.

Next came the run across N. Lincs to Barton-on-Humber, where the two good rings of eight at St. Mary's (tenor 16 cwt.) and St. Peter's (tenor 10½ cwt.) were sampled. Ringing at St. Mary's was notable for a good touch of six Spliced. These two churches stand within 200 yards of each other, and Barton is indeed fortunate in possessing two grand churches. St. Peter's has a Saxon tower, nearly 1,000 years old, still in good repair. The trip across the Humber to Hull was enjoyed, and handbells were rung en route to Grandsire Triples.

We then had the pleasure of ringing on the fine ten at Holy Trinity (tenor 25½ cwt.), which church is reputed to be one of the largest in the country.

We shall all long remember the fine hospitality and enormous meals provided by Mr. and Mrs. Massey at the guest house where we stayed the night, before setting out for Beverley, with its superb Minster and the fine weighty ring of ten (tenor 41 cwt.). Some of us helped to ring the Bourdon bell, 'Great John' (seven tons) to accompany some excellent Cambridge Royal rolling out from the other tower. Ringing on Beverley's other ten at St. Mary's (tenor 34½ cwt.) was also much enjoyed, before the long run to York. A call was made at Pocklington to ring various methods (including York Minor) on the good six (tenor 17 cwt.) before journeying on to the York hostel.

AT YORK MINSTER

Sunday morning saw us early at the Minster for service ringing on the very fine twelve (tenor 59½ cwt.). Some good Stedman Cinques and Kent Maximus were rung here, despite the heavy bells and the fact that they are a little difficult to hear in the ringing chamber. Afterwards the party followed various activities—some had a row on the river—before cycling down to Selby to ring Caters and Cambridge Royal at the Abbey, and Stedman, Cambridge and Bristol at Eserick on the way back to York.

Next day's run took us through some of the industrial areas of the West Riding. First came a good Taylor octave at Tadcaster (tenor 20 cwt.), then on to Wakefield, with its new ring of twelve at the Cathedral. The 'Yorkshire' rope ends here proved a little difficult for the Southerners, some remarking that one became confused between hand and back strokes!

We were a little late in arriving at Sheffield to ring at the Cathedral, but made good use of the remaining time. The twelve, like York, are a little difficult to hear in the ringing chamber, but are a very fine ring. Next the good heavy eight at St. Marie's (R.C.) (tenor 25 cwt.) were rung to various methods before the long climb over Tootley Moor (1,200ft.) to Leam Hall hostel. Some of the weaker brethren took the train through Tolley tunnel (3½ miles), but the majority pedalled all the way, though two members were a little late in arriving! Why must hostels always be on the tops of hills?

Tuesday took us to Ranmoor, Sheffield, where those who were successful in finding the church rang methods up to Surprise Royal, Dronfield, in Derbyshire, and finally the new ten by Mears (tenor 25½ cwt.) at Chesterfield. The crooked spire here (7ft. 10in. out of perpendicular in one direction) caused much comment, but is now, we are told, perfectly safe! The night was spent in Overton Hall hostel, Ashover, which was formerly an approved school, so that we can all claim to have spent one night in a reform school! Hotel water and the availability of a bath here were much appreciated, and on the following day our route took us through some of the grand scenery of the Derwent Valley down to Derby. Ringing took place at Matlock (tenor 14 cwt.), Belper, and the two tens, the Cathedral and St. Andrew's in Derby, before the return trip to a really out-of-the-way hostel at Shining Cliff. Here the Cumberlands played the College Youths at chess, which resulted in a win for the former. However, the good food and magnificent scenery easily counterbalanced the somewhat primitive living conditions!

The next run took us through the more industrial areas of Derbyshire and Notts to Nottingham, with ringing in various methods up to Spliced at Alfreton, the very good octave (tenor 17 cwt.) at Ilkeston and Beeston (tenor 19½ cwt.). After a little delay in obtaining the key, Grandsire, Stedman and Treble Ten were tapped out at St. Peter's, Nottingham, before a pleasant run with a following wind to the old Cathedral City of Southwell, where again we found a very good hostel, where the boisterous spirits of some of the party had to be curbed by a visit from the warden at 10.45 p.m., telling us to 'pipe down'!

SOUTHWELL MINSTER.

The first tower on Friday, unfortunately the last day of the tour, was the grand Minster at Southwell. The unusual ringing conditions here, similar to those prevailing at Merton College, Oxford, did not prevent some good striking in Cambridge, Double Norwich, Plain Bob and Stedman, though some members were glad of the curtains hung across the gallery railing to hide the view of the stone floor, some 60ft. below!

The ten in the great tower and spire at Newark were next on the programme, where we were welcomed by Mr. Raithby and some of the other local ringers, and after lunch we again crossed the border into Lincolnshire to ring at Brant Broughton, reputed the 'heaviest and roughest six in Lincs.' Some of the tireless tower snatchers managed a ring on the pretty light six at Barnby-in-the-Wilms (what a descriptive name!) en route. The bells at Brant Broughton lived up to their reputation, the tenor (23½ cwt.) proving a real handful, and the second casting wheel several times. Their tone, however, is very fine, and one would like to see a full restoration here. The final official tower of the tour was the very good light octave at Caythorpe, where, after some little disagreement with the clock hammers, methods up to Spliced were rung.

After the ringing, an informal meeting was held in the churchyard, at which hearty votes of thanks were accorded to all those who had helped to make this year's tour such a grand success. Five hundred and fifty miles over some grand countryside had been covered, and no less than 2,180 steps climbed during the fortnight! Ringing on the whole was of a very high standard, and for the first time reached the heights of Spliced Surprise on tower bells and touches of Stedman Caters 'in hand.'

Methods rung were Cambridge and Kent from Minor to Maximus, Stedman from Doubles to Cinques, 6 Spliced Surprise Major, London, Bristol, Rutland, Superlative, Lincolnshire Surprise Major, Yorkshire Major and Royal, Double Norwich, Plain Bob from Minor to Royal, Grandsire from Doubles to Caters, Carlisle and London Surprise Minor, St. Clement's and Double Court Minor, Double Bob Minor and Erin Doubles, also April Day Doubles.

All agreed that the tour had been the 'best ever,' and it was decided to use a small balance of funds to start a record of towers, peals rung by the Society, photographs, etc. A Records Committee was appointed, and a member very kindly offered to present an appropriate book to the Society in which these could be kept.

The members then dispersed, some returning to the hostel at Harrowby, others direct to their homes by train or still a wheel, all looking forward to the reunion to be held next February and to next year's tour.

MANGOTSFIELD RINGER WEDS

On Saturday, August 12th, at Mangotsfield Church, Gloucestershire, Mr. William Frederick Scudamore, was married to Miss Margaret Shapcott, of Staple Hill, Bristol. Freddie (as he is known to all his fellow-ringers) is a native of Llandilo, Carmarthenshire, and a member of the St. David's Guild of Ringers. He first came to the Bristol district when he was in the Air Force, and joined the Mangotsfield ringers, and it was at that time that he met his fiancée. He has since joined the Gloucestershire Constabulary, and is now stationed at Staple Hill, near Bristol.

His fellow-ringers at Mangotsfield, together with other members of the Bristol Rural Branch, were at the church to see that the bells were rung in good style, and after the ceremony a quarter peal of Stedman Triples was rung by the following, conducted by the Mangotsfield skipper, Mr. J. G. Jefferies: F. Skidmore 1, R. G. Hooper 2, Miss Miriam James 3, A. C. Baker 4, J. W. Smith 5, J. Jefferies, jun., 6, J. G. Jefferies 7, E. Cooksley 8. (First quarter in the method for 6 and 8.)

The Mangotsfield ringers were represented at the reception by Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Jefferies, and the Guild presented the happy couple with a table lamp, the base of which was in the form of a bell and headstock.

We wish the bride and bridegroom every happiness in their future, and may the law be administered fifty-fifty.

Dedication

SHEPTON BEAUCHAMP.

A large congregation gathered in the Church of St. Michael, Shepton Beauchamp, Somerset, on August 12th, for a service of rededication of the ring of eight bells. The service, impressive both for its simplicity and sincerity, was taken by the Rector, the Rev. A. T. Stephens, and the lesson was read by the Rev. P. Allan, of South Petherton. The bells were rededicated by the Right Rev. Fabian Jackson, Assistant Bishop of Bath and Wells, who preached a forceful sermon, with the message of the bells as its theme.

The opening touch of Grandsire Triples was rung as the congregation was leaving the church. An excellent tea, provided by the wives of the local ringers, was enjoyed by about seventy people at the Village Hall.

After tea, the Rector thanked all those who had made the restoration possible, particularly the trustees of the Frederic Robins Trust, who defrayed the entire cost of the restoration.

Mr. Robert England replied for the trustees, saying that he was sure that this way of spending the money would have been approved by Mr. Robins, who, when he was alive, took a keen interest in the bells, and had, in fact, left a fund to provide for the ringing of the bells on All Souls' Day.

Later a general move was made to the belfry, where ringing was continued until 9 p.m. by members of the local band and visitors from 16 different towers. A promising sign was that the ringing, which was in the four standard methods, was of a high order, and the striking was generally very good, due, no doubt, to the improved 'go' of the bells.

At the conclusion of a very happy day, it was unanimously agreed that Messrs. John Taylor and Co. had made a fine job of the restoration.

FRIEZLAND CONTEST

The contest to celebrate the centenary of the bells of Christ Church, Friezland, was held on August 5th, and was attended by a large number of ringers from many towers in Lancashire and Yorkshire. A company of 122 sat down to an excellent tea. The draw and result were as follows:—

1. Silkestone	134	faults.
2. Cawthorne	170	"
3. Liversedge	47	"
4. Shelley 'A'	102	"
5. Shelley 'B'	109	" Rang out.
6. Thornhill	136	" Rang out.
7. Saddleworth	124	"
8. New Mill	64	"
9. Lindley	100	"
10. Meltham	144	"

Each ringer of the Liversedge team received a sandwich stand as first prize. The New Mill team were placed second and each ringer received a set of chrome egg cups. The prizes for the Lindley ringers, who were placed third, were gravy servers on stands. Each member of Shelley 'A' team received a barometer and thermometer on a wooden base as fourth prize.

The money for the prizes was all donated by parishioners and friends of the church.

GROUP THEORY PUBLICATIONS

Dear Sir,—Surely Mr. York-Bramble surpassed his wildest fantasies when, in the issue dated August 4th he ascribed to Dr. Ledermann the authorship of a book on composition. The book referred to makes no mention of change ringing!

So far as I know, the only book which applies group theory to composition and method construction is an unpublished one by Brian D. Price.—Yours sincerely,

MAURICE HODGSON.

EAST ANGLIA VISITS SOMERSET

PIPE'S PILGRIMS' ENJOYABLE WEEK.

AT the early hour of 5.30 a.m. on July 24th a party of ringers under the care of Jim Pipe boarded a coach at Grundisburgh Green. Following a winding route through the lanes of East Anglia, other ringers were taken aboard at Ipswich, Hadleigh, Bures and Colchester, after which a course was set for London and the West.

About 11 a.m. the same day, a Surrey ringer could have been seen sitting on a suitcase at the end of Staines Bridge, anxiously scanning the passing traffic. At 11.15 a.m., imagine his surprise and disappointment when the East Anglian coach came along and went straight by. Failure to locate a certain public-house at Staines almost caused the Surrey man 'to miss the bus.' However, when a few minutes later the coach returned to Staines, the missing ringer was still sitting on his suitcase. He was quickly taken aboard, and the journey resumed.

After lunch at Basingstoke, it seemed that there must have been a touch of intuition for the tourists to find the coach parked outside a famous nine-bell tower. Fast time was made across Salisbury Plain, but the party slowed down as they passed Stonehenge. The first ringing of the tour was at Westminster. An excellent course of London on this fine eight, with 28 cwt. tenor, opened the proceedings. After all members of the party had had a ring, the last stage of the journey was resumed, the headquarters, The Crown Hotel, Glastonbury, being reached at 7.15 p.m. Here the party was strengthened by ringers from Nuneaton and Sampford Peverel, and received a welcome to Somerset from Mr. Joe Dyke. Dinner over, handbells were enjoyed for half an hour before bedtime, nine members of the party being accommodated in a nearby guest house.

WELLS TENOR.

Wells Cathedral was the first tower on Tuesday. Here three strong men broke the tenor rope when the bell was about frame high, the flying rope causing some havoc to a nearby gas bracket. The rope was, however, quickly spliced and the 57 cwt. tenor pulled up. The glorious ten were soon ringing to Treble Ten, with Jim Pipe on the box. Stedman Caters, rounds and call changes followed. After lowering the bells and making our way to the Cathedral Close, heavy rain greeted us and continued most of the day. This was the only wet day of the tour. St. Cuthbert's, Wells, a fine eight with tenor 27 cwt. in D. was also visited. A tall tower and ball bearings did not fit in with the ringers, and the performance was not up to standard.

The route was through the lovely Cheddar Gorge to Wrington. While the bells were tapping out a perfect half-course of Cambridge Royal, the Surrey man searched for the last resting-place of the Guildford Guild's late Master, whose bells, surely, were being rung as he would have wished them. A wonderful lunch was served by mine host at the Bell Hotel, after which Mr. Stafford Green spoke a few words to the memory of Major Hesse. It was with regret that we left Wrington.

Congresbury, with its ring of eight (tenor 35 cwt.), was but a short journey. Ringing here opened with a course of London. These grand old bells need good ringers. Here a ringer from Earl Soham has become known to his friends as 'Canon Beecroft,' as he is the only man to pull off Congresbury tenor unaided. (A number of ringers have this distinction.—Ed.)

On to Wroxall, where we found a beautifully-kept churchyard and a musical ring of eight (tenor 23½ cwt.), really worthy of each other. These bells are very easy to ring. Worthy of note here was the ringing of a good course of Yorkshire. Tea was partaken at the Battleaxes Hotel. A disappointment followed; we were unable to visit St. Mary Redcliffe, Bristol, the only 12-bell tower on the programme, as our trip clashed with the local practice night.

Changing our course, we found ourselves at Long Ashton, with a very powerful 30 cwt. tenor, and an excellent 'go' on plain bearings. London, Kent, Stedman, and call changes for the beginners were rung, and interest was taken in the silent apparatus, electrically driven, a war feature in the tower. By the way of lanes, we arrived at Chew Magna for the last ringing of the day. On this fine eight (tenor 28½ cwt.) Superlative was the opening method, followed by the usual Kent, Stedman and rounds. The local ringer who met us was disappointed and surprised that East Anglian ringers did not rise and fall in peal.

The journey back to Glastonbury was enlivened by the humour of one of the party, who was hereafter known as 'the Rev. Leslie Mills.' Dinner over, we went our several ways to bed, there being some speculation in the guest house as to why the Surrey man spent such a long time in the kitchen with the 'hostess.'

Wednesday morning dawned bright and clear, and the Surrey man was early astir. A cup of tea taken to each visitor at 6.30 a.m. solved the mystery of the previous night's visit to the kitchen. The early morning climb up 'The Tor,' which some of us made, in consequence went much easier.

The first ringing of the day was at St. John's, Glastonbury, a good-toned eight (tenor 23 cwt.). Ringing was not very good owing to the sway of the tower, and the ringing was not worthy of record. The Bristol was certainly not the best of methods to start with.

EVERCREECH AND DITCHEAT.

Evercreech, with its new ten (tenor 23 cwt.), was next visited. The bells were a delight to ring on, and the model belfry was voted a credit to the local ringers. Roddy Pipe, aged 10, our youngest ringer, distinguished himself by taking part in a course of Bob Minor.

Ditcheat bells (tenor 24 cwt.) had been eagerly looked forward to, and the eight proved all that we had been told to expect. This is a glorious ring in another well-kept belfry. Three leads of Bristol, the opening touch, was followed by a perfect touch of Stedman Triples, with Mr. Lintern, of Ditcheat, on the tenor. This touch was broadcast by phone to Mr. Joe Dyke, Mr. Lintern telling us later that Joe said it was all right; we should have heard about it if it was not so. Before lowering the bells, Bill Simmonds rang the second and third to rounds, Mr. Lintern remarking that it was the first time he had seen two bells rung double-handed. Lunch in true Somerset style followed.

The next stop was Sherborne Abbey, with its magnificent and breath-taking eight (tenor 46 cwt.). A good course of Cambridge was rung, with Jim Pipe on the tenor. All the ringing on this heavy eight was surprisingly good. Many of the party climbed the tower to see the bells turning over and to marvel at the commanding view from the parapet.

We were ready for tea at the Cottage Cafe, Yeovil. Ringing followed on the fine ten at the parish church (tenor 40 cwt.), but the striking was below standard.

The final call of the day was at Queen Camel, where we had the privilege of hearing

Joe Dyke and the local ringers raise this grand six in peal. London and Cambridge Minor, Kent and Plain Bob were rung, so that the big-bell men could all turn the 36 cwt. tenor in. The tourists let the bells down in peal and thought they had made a fair job of it, but with the helpful advice of one of the local ringers they expect to do better on future occasions.

'YE HEAVERS-UP OF TENORS'

At the social hour which followed at the Mildmay Arms, thanks were expressed to Joe Dyke for the arrangements he made in Somerset on behalf of the party. Our departure homewards was somewhat delayed while the parrot was persuaded to express its opinion of touring ringers. We need not have enquired of the parrot, for this was plainly told us by the manageress on arriving back at The Crown nearly two hours late for dinner.

Thursday morning, after early tea for the privileged few, found us again on the road with Chewton Mendip as our first call. This is another beautiful tower with magnificent bells, the ringing being opened with three leads of Bristol. All the ringing here was of high quality. John Thompson (Nuneaton) and Bill Button (Stonham Aspal), having pulled up the tenor at every tower visited, now assumed the title of 'Ye Heavers up of Tenors,' a distinction the rest of the party were pleased to let them hold for the remainder of the tour.

Next to Wedmore, a grand old eight (tenor 30 cwt.), and Bristol was again the opening method. We were pleased to meet the Vicar in the belfry and to receive his welcome to Wedmore. On to Mark (tenor 19 cwt.), a musical eight, which require good ears to produce good ringing. Lunch at the Packhorse Inn was up to the usual standard.

Burnham-on-Sea, the church on the sea front, next claimed our attention. Good bells, but a long draught, and a little heaviness in the 'go' did not produce any ringing of merit.

Our next call was at Bridgwater. Here St. Mary's has several features in interest. The 175ft. spire, erected in 1367, is a rarity in this part of Somerset, and it surmounts a fine ring of eight bells, with a 25 cwt. tenor, cast by a local founder, 'Bailey, of Bridgwater.' A long draught made ringing a little difficult, but the striking was good on the whole.

The drive over Sedgemoor and the view of Weston Zoyland, with its glorious tower and memories of the Monmouth rebellion, were appreciated, as we made our way to Curry Rivel. Here we found a brilliant little eight (tenor 19½ cwt.), which were soon tapping out a first-rate touch of Stedman.

Our final call of the day was Drayton (eight, tenor 19½ cwt.), a musical ring with a mellow Rudhall tenor, long draught and 'go' good. Here it was suggested that the official 'Heavers up of Tenors' did not know if they had pulled the bell up right or wrong, so they let it down and pulled it up again to make sure! After dinner, a pleasant little ceremony was witnessed when Mr. Fisher, of Ufford, on behalf of the tourists, presented Jim Pipe with a fountain pen in appreciation of his work as organiser of the tour.

On Friday, the last ringing day of the tour, we had our first ring at Martock (eight, tenor 25 cwt.), a good ring of bells on ball bearings, which do not seem to find favour with the East Anglians. Ilminster (eight, tenor 24 cwt.) was our next call, and a grand mellow ring the bells proved to be. All the ringing here was good, the high spot being a course of Bristol. Lunch was taken at the George Hotel, where it is recorded that Queen Victoria once stayed the night. Before moving on to Chard, we were sorry to have to say good-bye to Mr. Stafford Green, who was returning to Devonshire. Chard, with its ground-floor belfry and long draught, did not add any lustre to record on the roll, while the 'Heavers up of Tenors' were puzzled when pulling up the tenor by being told to 'keep her down.'

West Coker (tenor 12 cwt.), the lightest eight we had rung on during the week, produced some good ringing. The two ten-year-olds, Donald Mills and Roderick Pipe, stood in for call changes, and Roddy further distinguished himself by ringing a course of Bob Triples. Of great interest to the party was a touch of Grandsire Triples, with Bill Simmonds ringing the second and third. This was by request of several members of the party who had previously only heard talk of such feats.

Finally to East Coker, with its handy little eight, tenor 13 cwt., and a well-kept belfry, with no peal board disfiguring its spotless walls. The narrow lanes between the two Cokers proved almost too much for the coach, all opposing traffic being forced to reverse. Spliced Surprise in four methods and double-handed Stedman by Bill Simmonds were the high spots. Spliced Kent and Oxford, followed by call changes for the two youngest members, completed our ringing programme.

A social hour at the 'local' followed, when Bill Simmonds and Jack Thompson entertained the party with handbell tunes. The journey back to Glastonbury was really enjoyable, as the 'Canon' and has confederate, 'The Rev. Leslie,' were on the top of their form. We were sorry that Joe Dyke was unable to join us on our last night in Somerset, so our ambassador, Mr. Stafford Green, had been empowered to dispatch to 'Joe' a pair of pipes in recognition of his services in arranging the tour.

THE HOMEWARD JOURNEY.

Our homeward journey on Saturday was commenced after saying good-bye to Harry Millatt, who was continuing his holiday in Devon. The route taken was via the Cheddar Gorge. We walked the last mile down, and the party visited Gough's Caves. While waiting admission, the handbells were made use of to the delight of the public, and the 'Canon' made the occasion one to take a collection, which raised the sum of 3d. for the performers. On leaving the caves we had to say good-bye to Jack and Mrs. Thompson, who were not returning to Nuneaton till the following day. We now made our way to Bristol, via the Clifton Suspension Bridge, over which the party walked to get the full benefit of the glorious view. Getting out of Bristol proved a problem, and for the first time in a week we were really lost. Jim Pipe then took over the pilot's duty, and with the aid of a map eventually reached the Chippenham road. A brief stop for refreshment was made and the journey homewards was under way. Tea was taken at Reading, and after dropping Bill Simmonds at Slough the coach finally reached Grundisburgh at 11.45 p.m.

During the tour, 26 towers were visited and methods rung were Cambridge Royal, Kent Treble Bob Royal, Stedman and Grandsire Caters, Spliced Surprise Major in four methods, Spliced Kent and Oxford, London, Bristol, Superlative, Yorkshire and Cambridge Surprise Major, Kent and Oxford Treble Bob Major, Double Norwich, Plain Bob Major and Bob Triples, Plain Bob Minor, Grandsire and Stedman Triples and call changes.

The tourists would like to take this opportunity of giving thanks to the incumbents for permission to ring, to the local ringers who met us at the towers, to Joe Dyke again for his organisation, and to all who helped to bring the tour to its successful completion.

TOURIST.Mr. Albert Walker's 700 Peals

The Exercise will find the list of Mr. Albert Walker's 700 peals of great interest. Of his 512 tower-bell peals, 317 have been rung on 12 bells. He has rung 188 peals 'in hand,' including the famous Stedman Sextuples, which he conducted. This was the first peal ever rung on 14 bells and was rung at the first attempt.

DIAMOND WEDDING CELEBRATIONS IN BRITISH COLUMBIA

Mr. A. C. Melhuish, senior ringer at Christ Church Cathedral, Victoria, British Columbia, celebrated his diamond wedding on August 4th. Although 83 years of age, he still takes an active part in the ringing at Christ Church Cathedral, where he has rung since the bells were hung and dedicated in July, 1936.

In the early days, before going to Canada in 1912, Mr. Melhuish took a very active part in the ringing at Bath and was a member of the Cumberland Youths.

On August 4th, from 7.30 to 8.30 p.m., the bells of Christ Church Cathedral were specially rung in honour of Mr. and Mrs. Melhuish, and after the ringing in the tower, the ringers attended a reception at the Melhuishs' residence and presented a specially constructed solid silver bell, made to scale, and suitably engraved to mark the occasion of the diamond wedding. The bell was so constructed as to form a marmalade pot, with the canons forming the lid.

After presenting the bell, touches of Grandsire Triples were rung on the handbells, Mr. Melhuish taking part by ringing the two treble bells.

Those taking part in the ringing of the tower bells and handbells were Mary Emmerton, Margaret Izard, Naval Cadet T. R. Arkell, W. Jeune, D. Boniface, A. Izard, E. Merritt, T. Turner and E. W. Izzard.

Mr. and Mrs. Melhuish received many congratulatory messages from all over the world, including one from His Majesty the King, which was especially appreciated.

E. W. I.Ringers' Day*AN ISLE OF WIGHT OBSERVANCE.

Fine weather prevailed for the Ringers' Day held at All Saints' Church, Godshill, I.W., on Sunday, August 13th. Though the attendance was fairly good, it was no doubt affected by the scare caused by the publicity given to the current epidemic of infantile paralysis. Altogether ten towers were represented, and the bells were kept going to a variety of methods from Grandsire Doubles to Cambridge Surprise Minor. One very interested spectator in the tower was a French lady. After tea, handbells were rung much to the amazement of many of the uninitiated, who obviously enjoyed the entertainment.

At evensong, which was conducted by the Vicar of Godshill, Rev. H. O. Mason, the lessons were read by Mr. L. Bailey, a local ringer, and a course of Grandsire Triples rung on the chancel step by Mrs. A. M. Guy 1-2, F. S. Taylor 3-4, W. Upton 5-6, C. A. Drake 7-8. During his sermon Canon Cory, M.A., R.D., the president of the I.W. District of the Winchester and Portsmouth Guild, explained to the large congregation how a bell was made to ring and how changes in the order of bells in ringing was brought about. He also stressed the point that ringers who gave service to the church by ringing the bells should not let that be the beginning and the end of their act of worship to God. Canon Cory thanked those responsible for inviting him to preach at what he called 'this festival' of ringing, and hoped it would be the first of many.

By kind permission of the Vicar of Godshill the collection taken at the service was forwarded to the Guild treasurer as a donation to the George Williams Memorial Fund. Thanks are due to the Vicar, too, for allowing the use of the lovely bells, for conducting the service in this beautiful church and for his enthusiastic co-operation, all of which enabled us, the ringers, to spend such an enjoyable time.

L. B.THEIR OWN BELL HANGERS

Australian ringers have not the ready assistance of bell founders to help them in their difficulties. At Parramatta it was found that the axle of the tenor was fractured. Two enthusiastic ringers, Bruce Dunbar and George Williamson, set about the task. When removed from the cage it was found that a new headstock was necessary.

As seasoned timber was not available a steel headstock was designed and the work entrusted to a local engineering firm. While this was being done the ringers made arrangements to hang the bell on ball bearings. The bell has now been replaced and the 'go' is reported to be all that can be desired.

Durham & Newcastle Assn.

DISTRICT OUTING TO YORKSHIRE.

The fourth annual outing of the Northern District was held on August Bank Holiday Monday in Yorks N.R., and a representative party proceeded by private coach from Tyne-side to the towers of All Saints', Northallerton (8), St. Mary's, Thirsk (8), Carlton-in-Cleveland (8) and St. Peter's, Stokesley (6).

The bells of Northallerton are hung in an impressive central tower, but have little else to recommend them. Apart from the worthy Association secretary, who confessed to being able to apply the 'fluence', no one could control the fifth bell without its casting the rope from the wheel, and the local tower-keeper had a busy time making trips aloft to make adjustments. However, with the 'fluence' applied, an excellent course of Double Norwich was brought round to everyone's satisfaction.

Following a tasty lunch at Thirsk, further ringing was enjoyed on the musical ring of St. Mary's, although the bouncing trebles caused a little trouble at first. Proceeding along the northern fringe of the Cleveland Hills, the party came to the delightful village of Carlton, which boasts an equally delightful ring of bells. Here took place the best ringing of the day, including a well-struck course of Cambridge Major. Later in the evening a final call was made at Stokesley, where 'square' bearings and ropes, which could well have been used for the Indian rope trick, caused fun and games.

On the run home, not content with resting and having pleasant memories of the day's ringing, many of the lights became engaged in a lighthearted paper war, and 'bombardments' were heavy and sustained. Like most battles, however, this little effort proved most tiring, and most of the company were ready for the arms of Morpheus when Newcastle was reached.

Hearty appreciation is expressed to all incumbents and towerkeepers who assisted in making the day so successful.

SHROPSHIRE ASSOCIATION

The Shropshire Association meeting on Aug. 12th at Broseley was well attended despite the date being incorrectly advertised.

The new trebles at Broseley were very favourably commented upon as giving life to the old ring of six. Grandsire, Plain and Treble Bob were followed by Cambridge before most of the party looked for a bus to Much Wenlock. The car party had the advantage of a tour of the rectory garden, which was much admired. The test score was also heard—with less pleasure.

At Much Wenlock some fared better than others in the matter of tea, and we believe that one ringer had two, in order to accommodate the ham and eggs which were forthcoming at a certain cafe!

The bells were very much appreciated as this was the first visit of the Association to Much Wenlock for many years. Standard methods, Cambridge, Superlative and Double Norwich sounded very well and the presence of a former secretary and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Poole, contributed to the enjoyment of members.

SHEFFIELD AND DISTRICT SOCIETY

The Bank Holiday meeting at Rotherham was a great success, with visitors present from Coventry, Stockport, Retford, Workson, Leicester and Chapel-en-le-Frith. The methods ranged from Bob Royal to Cambridge Royal and London, Yorkshire and Primrose Major. Tea was served in the Church Hall, and at the business meeting which followed, the curate, the Rev. N. Simmons, was in the chair, supported by Mr. H. Chaddock (president), Mr. N. Chaddock (Ringing Master) and the secretary. The next meeting is the silver cup contest at Wentworth on September 2nd.

THE ROYAL PRINCESS

NATIONAL congratulations were expressed by ringers on behalf of the nation at the birth of the Royal Princess on August 15th. This issue contains a record of the performances of peals and quarter peals rung for this happy occasion in the life of H.R.H. Princess Elizabeth and H.R.H. the Duke of Edinburgh.

It was from Westminster Abbey that the news was first proclaimed to Londoners. Here the bells were first 'fired,' prior to the ringing of a quarter peal of Stedman Triples. The B.B.C. took a recording of the ringing, which was broadcast the same evening.

There was very little twelve bell ringing. The only peal recorded was on the bells of Leicester Cathedral, where a peal of Stedman Cinques started at 5.45 p.m., and Mr. Harold J. Poole was able to call 'That is all' at 9.13 p.m. Was this the first peal to be completed?

In Dublin the royal birth was honoured by a peal of Kent Treble Bob Major on the following day. Our correspondent points out that it was rung by British subjects in the 'Republic of Ireland' at St. George's Parish Church. He adds: 'We were hoping that the birth would have been three days earlier when we were ringing a peal of Bob Royal at Limerick which failed' (a little Irish, even for a British subject!). The peal at St. George's also marked the engagement of Miss A. C. Dukes, conductor of the local tower, to Mr. Thomas Bolton.

Probably the distinction of being the oldest ringer to participate in the ringing was 85-year-old Mr. F. V. Sinkins, of Slough. He rang the second to 1,259 Grand-sire Caters at Slough Parish Church. At the other end of the scale was Kenneth Muttock, who, at the age of 13, rang his first peal at Bunwell, Norfolk. At Olveston, Gloucester, Mr. R. O. Fry conducted a peal of Grand-sire Triples where the average age of the band was 22 years.

Our peal columns denote a fair sprinkling of first peals. There were three first peals of Stedman at Halewood, Lancs. It was hoped to include another junior member, but he could not be present. Included in this band was Miss Elizabeth Brown, who was staying at Liverpool. The rest of the ringers were the regular Sunday band.

Naseby, where the King and Queen, when Duke and Duchess of York, had a residence from 1926-1929, takes second place to no village in its loyalty. Both for Prince Charles and for the new Princess peals were rung, and the last previous peal at Naseby was for Prince Charles' christening. The five bells here were originally the product of Hugh Watts, of Leicester, dated 1633 and 1640. The treble and third were recast in 1939, when the bells were put on ball bearings.

Among those who will remember the occasion was Mr. Douglas H. Rooke, who called his first peal at Warsop, Notts. Previous to this he had only conducted one 720 of Plain Bob and one 720 of Cambridge Surprise Minor. Another conductor making his first bow was Mr. D. Brooks, at Silverton, Devon. He limited his ability to a quarter, and afterwards said farewell to the band on leaving for national service.

St. Nicholas', Arundel, where the bells have recently been rehung, has a new band which includes four ladies. Since they started at Easter they have not missed ringing for service twice every Sunday. They hope to report a quarter of Triples shortly.

An amusing story comes from Essex. When the doctor announced that the royal baby could be expected during the week-end two peal attempts were arranged—at Upchurch on the 14th and at Rainham on the 15th. The peal at Upchurch was successful and, after ringing the bells down, the party anxiously inquired at the 'local' whether the nine o'clock news had announced the royal birth. Tuesday's ringing started with the knowledge of the royal arrival. Everything went well for the first three parts; but, after 2 hrs. and 38 mins., one of the ringers, who 'had picked a big one,' had to give in. The method was Canterbury Pleasure Major and, if successful, it would have been the first in the method for all except the conductor, Mr. G. A. Naylor.

There was an hour's ringing at St. Leonard's, Streat-ham, on Tuesday, which included some good touches of Stedman Triples, Little Bob and Plain Bob Major. Those taking part were: Audrey Castle, Marjorie Jackson, E. Beauchamp, J. Rae, F. Matthews, S. Howard, W. Brainch and J. Chapman.

MRS. E. K. FLETCHER.

EDITOR: T. W. WHITE.

The president of the Yorkshire Association of Change Ringers, the Rev.

C. O. Ellison, Vicar of Wetherby, has been appointed by the Bishop of Ripon to be Archdeacon of Leeds in succession to the Ven. H.
Lovell Clarke, whose resignation of the office takes effect on September 1st. Before going to Wetherby in 1946, Mr. Ellison was Vicar of Kippax, where the three old seventeenth-century bells were recast and augmented to a ring of six as a war memorial, by Messrs.
Taylor, of Loughborough, just before he left.
From 1932 to 1937 he was curate at St. Chad's,
Far Headingley, Leeds, under the late Canon
C. C. Marshall, a former president of the Yorkshire Association.

The Royal peal at Reading also coincided with the silver wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Rex, the occasion being remembered.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Kingsworth, of Bethersden, Kent, also have a daughter born at the same time as the Royal Princess. Their happiness was not forgotten in the Royal birth peal in this Kentish village.

To the memory of Mr. J. Mallaby a peal of Cambridge Surprise Minor was rung at Barnby Don on August 18th. It was here that he had a workshop in connection with his work as a bell hanger. For many years he rang at Barnby Don.

Miss Helen Godley rang her first and farewell peal at Martinstown, Dorset, on August 19th. She is returning to Kenya after 18 months in this country. The conductor, Mr.
F. Precey, adds a footnote congratulating her on her striking throughout the peal.

BELFRY GOSSIP

From a South Lincolnshire village a six-year-old boy asked his father if he could have a birthday peal, as all the other ringers had. This was promised him, and he went to bed while the peal was rung.
At 2 a.m. the following morning, a voice called out, 'Daddy, did you break down in the peal last night?' 'My word, we did not,' was the reply. 'Oh, that's all right. Goodnight,' was the happy rejoinder.

A request is made in the correspondence columns of the 'Portsmouth Evening News' to have 'this bell-bashing stopped between 8 p.m. and 8 a.m.' The church complained of is St. Mary's.

The honour of being the first ladies to take part in a peal of London Surprise Major for the Peterborough Diocesan Guild fell to Mrs.
G. E. Watson, Mrs. D. E. Beamish and Margaret Beamish, when they rang in the peal at Burton Latimer.

Figuring in our quarter-peal column for the first time is Churchstanton, on the borders of Devon and Somerset. The five bells here, dated circa 1660, were recently converted into a ring of six, with steel cage and ball bearings, at a cost of £900. The first quarter on the bells was rung on August 15th, the occasion being the marriage of the vice-captain.
Leading enthusiast here is Mr. Wesley Moore, who, while stationed in the R.A.F. near Norwich, learnt the rudiments of method ringing from Mr. W. L. Duffield. He is hoping, with outside help, to teach all the Churchstanton ringers method ringing and so place the village on the map.

LLANDAFF AND MONMOUTH ASSOCIATION

Master's Badge Presented

HISTORY was made at the quarterly meeting of the Association held at Aberdare on August 19th, when the new badge of office was formally presented to the Master. The event attracted an attendance of 60 ringers and friends.

Proceedings started shortly after 2.30, when the bells were raised in peal and kept going in various methods until the time for service at 4 o'clock. This was conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. Wilfred Evans), who gave those present an interesting address and a warm welcome to Aberdare.

Immediately after the service the visitors were invited to the Parish Hall, where a bountiful tea, which had been generously provided by the ringers' wives and friends, was awaiting them. During tea the new badge was passed round the tables for all to see, and was much admired. The badge is the work of Mr. Edward Ronnebeck, of Guildford. Tea over, the visitors assembled in another room for the business meeting, the Vicar presiding. At the request of the chairman, the meeting stood for a few moments in memory of Mr. Tom Page, an old and respected member, who had recently passed away.

The next item was the presentation of the Master's badge. The chairman, with a few introductory remarks, asked Mr. J. W. Jones, as the doyen of the Association, to make the presentation. Mr. Jones reminded the company that the purchase of the badge was very belated, as the Association had been in existence for 57 years and had not up to now had a badge of office for the Master.

In accepting the badge, Mr. Large thanked the meeting, saying he appreciated the honour of being the first to wear it, and said he would endeavour to do so with dignity and honour.

Arising out of the minutes, the secretary said how pleased they were to see Mr. H. G. Lewis, who gave the two trebles to Porthkerry, amongst them, and extended him a hearty welcome. Visitors from Yorkshire and Leicester were also welcomed.

For the next Glamorgan meeting it was decided to go to Cowbridge. New members elected were Messrs. H. G. Lewis (Penarth), R. Gladwyn (Aberdare), W. John Locke (Dyffryn), J. B. Bennett (life) (Leicester). It was learned with satisfaction that after many years Dyffryn tower was available to visitors.

Mr. T. Roderick proposed the congratulations of the meeting be extended to John L. Morris, who at the age of 14 had rung in the record peal of Bob Royal, a wonderful feat of endurance and skill for one so young. Mr. J. W. Jones moved a hearty vote of thanks to the ladies for providing the tea and looking after them at the tables, and the Rev. Ivor Richards to the Vicar for all his kindness during the day. The next meeting will be at St. Mellons.

The Editor would welcome anecdotes of unusual experiences connected with ringing, bells and towers. Most people in life have one experience which is out of the ordinary and of general interest to their fellow-men.

THE NEW MASTER'S BADGE of the Llandaff and Monmouth Diocesan Guild.

Dedication

EASINGWOLD, YORKS.

On Sunday, July 30th, in the presence of a large congregation, the Lord Bishop of Selby, the Right Rev. Carey Frederick Knyvett, dedicated the restored and augmented ring of bells at St. John's Church, Easingwold, North Yorks, and also a set of eight handbells, the latter having been given by Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Bosomworth in memory of their only son, John C. Bosomworth, who was a ringer at St. John's, and who was killed in action in 1943.

Originally a ring of five, cast by Dalton, of York, in 1788, the ring was augmented by the addition of a treble, cast by Warners, to commemorate the jubilee of Queen Victoria in 1887.

Two new trebles, cast by Messrs. Gillett and Johnston, have now been added to complete the octave. They have been given by the family, members of whom were present at the service, in memory of Elizabeth Langford Segar, wife of the Rev. Halsall Segar, Vicar of the parish 1911-1926.

Messrs. Gillett and Johnston have also carried out the work of strengthening the oak frame, and of removing the cannons and retuning the old six bells, and rehanging them on cast-iron headstocks and self-aligning ball bearings. New wheels, rollers, clappers, etc., have also been fitted throughout.

Mr. Don Bradford represented the founders at the service, which was conducted by the Vicar, the Rev. S. M. Crow, R.D.

Taking part in the opening ringing, which was in charge of Mr. Ed. Burton, were Mr. Reg. Smith, Mr. R. Muntion, Miss Elsie North, Mr. G. Bowman, Mr. J. Wood, Mr. E. Cleaver, Mr. J. B. Hutchinson, Mr. C. Potter, Mr. C. Cooke, and ringers from St. Mary's, Brafferton.

The new bells blend perfectly with the old six, and many expressions of appreciation at the improved tone and 'go' of the bells and of the way in which the contractors had carried out their work were heard. The cost of the restoration has been raised in less than twelve months.

The Bishop, during the course of his address, paid tribute to the way the parishioners had supported the various schemes which had so much beautified their parish church during the last few years.

MIDDLESEX & CUMBERLANDS AT ACTON

Interest was added to the Middlesex meeting at Acton on August 12th, when the Cumberlands were the guests of the South and West District of the Middlesex County Association, by the presence of the president of the Central Council, Mr. E. H. Lewis, together with Mr. A. A. Hughes, of the White-chapel Bell Foundry.

The gathering of over fifty soon settled down to some very good ringing, and many fine touches were brought round in the standard and Surprise methods during the afternoon and evening.

A well-attended service was conducted by the president of the Middlesex Association, the Rev. Percival Gough (Rector of Acton). In his address he gave a very striking message, reminding the ringers that such gifts as they possess were in fact gifts of God, and as such should be returned to God. The lesson was read by Mr. E. H. Lewis, with Mr. A. T. Parker, a Middlesex member, at the organ.

A sumptuous tea, provided by the Rector and organised by Miss D. Ingold, an hon. member of the Association, with other ladies of Acton, was prepared in the beautiful Rectory garden, and enjoyed by all, particularly by those Cumberlands of 'Roving Ringers' fame.

At the business meeting the Rector extended a very warm welcome to Mr. E. H. Lewis and Mr. A. A. Hughes, to which Mr. Lewis very suitably replied, adding that he had many years ago rung on the bells of St. Mary's, Acton, and hoped to do so again during the evening, which hopes, needless to say, were realised.

Mr. F. A. Finch, the district secretary, supported by Mr. Tony Price, the District Ringing Master, gave a very cordial welcome to the Cumberlands, with a special word for Mr. G. H. Cross, their Master, who, in reply, expressed his great pleasure at being at Acton that day for what had proved a most enjoyable meeting.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

'CHANGE RINGING IN ENGLAND'

AN EXPLANATION.

Dear Sir,—As the ringer concerned in the B.B.C. broadcast, 'Country Magazine,' on August 6th, I feel some explanation is necessary in reply to Mr. F. E. Dukes' letter. I very much regret that my reply to the question, 'You only get change ringing in England?', caused Mr. Dukes so much annoyance, but I can assure him and any other overseas ringers who may have been listening that it was given in the broad sense in describing the difference between change ringing as practised in the English-speaking countries as against the haphazard clashing together of bells as is the practice in some parts of the world.

As a regular reader of 'The Ringing World' I am quite aware of the prowess of ringers in Ireland and Australia, but I cannot imagine any English ringer regarding them as something apart from England, any more than one can separate Pat Hendren from English cricket.

I think Mr. Dukes should realise that as long as ordinary people who are unaccustomed to broadcasting are invited to take part in features of this kind (as must be the case if the intention of the feature is to be maintained) some inaccuracy is almost inevitable.

I may say that the object of my appearance in the programme was to say a few words as a village ringer about an English village and village family whose association with church bells and change ringing for the past 130 years is noteworthy. Anything else I may have said was incidental to it.

Trusting this will clear the air, I am, yours faithfully,

WILLIAM R. WHITE.

Didcot, Berks.

J. H. SHEPHERD BEQUEST

Dear Sir,—Mr. Hooton's letter concerning the plan to distribute 'surplus' books held by the Central Council to Association libraries reminds me that when this was first mentioned at Eastbourne I suggested that they should be issued on loan rather than given away, and I would again urge the Standing Committee, who appear to have approved the idea of giving away, to reconsider the matter.

Perhaps this seems a small point, but in my view it is entirely wrong that books left in all good faith to the Council's care should be dispersed with no control over and no apparent thought for their future. Some time ago the acting librarian showed me a fine copy of 'Among the Bells' which had been presented by a respected ringer who is happily still with us. It is reasonable to suppose that several copies of this publication are in the Council's Library, and this gentleman may well have hesitated to part with it had he felt it was liable to be got rid of in such a casual manner. I feel he would be perfectly justified in the circumstances in asking for it back.—Yours faithfully.

OLD CATHEDRALS

Dear Sir,—May I correct Mr. M. F. R. Hibbert's assertion that 'all our cathedrals and churches were once Roman Catholic'? The Church in this country was the Church of England prior to the Reformation, and the fact that it was in communion with the Church of Rome is entirely irrelevant. Our old churches and cathedrals were in the main built by Englishmen for the Anglican Church, built by Catholics, certainly; Roman Catholics, decidedly not!

E. G. CAPLE.

A PROTEST

Dear Sir,—The 'Ringing World' is not the proper sphere for religious arguments, but I don't expect I am the only one who will protest about the conclusion of Mr. Hibbert's letter this week. Our cathedrals and old churches have never been what is now called R.C. History shows that there was an Anglican Church long before S. Augustine came, and also that it retained its distinctive features as a national church even when in communion with Rome. At the Reformation, it was 'reformed,' but the people of those days would have seen no 'break' with the past but only changes which even now some parishes experience with a change of incumbent! Roman Catholicism in England really only dates from 1836 and none of their churches are older than that.—Yours sincerely, Southampton. K. W. H. FELSTEAD.

STIFFEN THE BELLS

Dear Sir,—I was most interested to read the account of the North Devon tour.

I rather imagine the expression 'stiffen the bells,' to which Mr. Harris refers, may be generally used among call-change ringers. Two years ago some of the party with which I was connected rang at Widdecombe-in-the-Moor (where the famous fair associated with Tom Copley is held). My wife was outside during some of the ringing, talking to a local call-change ringer, and asked what he thought of it. He said, 'Quite good, but too stiff,' from which we gathered he meant that the bells were being rung up too high. Incidentally, he was enraptured with the falling in peal by our party.

I did not hear it myself but learnt that there was considerable room for improvement, which makes me wonder if the standard of performance by call-change ringers is always as high as we are popularly led to suppose. I may have been unlucky in my experience, but it does happen that on the one or two occasions I have heard local call-change ringers the striking has left a good deal to be desired. Bad striking, when the bells are being rung in the same order time after time, jars on the ear even more than the presence of a poor striker in a touch of 'scientific,' as such a one does at least clash with a different bell each time.

I well remember walking up a very steep hill to evening service as the bells were being rung. The ascent took some ten minutes or a quarter of an hour, during the whole of which time the treble crashed with the tenor at every blow. I was nearly tearing my hair by the time we arrived at the church. Incidentally, it was at this church on an earlier occasion that the local ringers refused to allow 'scientific' ringers to join them, even to the point of extreme rudeness.

I have found on a number of occasions that the call-change ringers have been generous in their praise of good change ringing. In fairness, however, change ringers visiting call-change country should not feel overflattered by such praise. It should always be remembered that in arranging a party of picked ringers for a tour one could hardly claim to be giving a representative performance of change ringing as usually practised. One can well imagine the disgust with which call-change ringers would listen to much of the ringing done at meetings, practices, on Sundays and alas! even in peals in other parts of the country. I make this point to emphasise that even if, as I said earlier, some call-change ringing could be better, so, indeed, could most change ringing.—Yours faithfully,

P. A. CORBY.

P.S.—Pat must be slipping. I see he didn't claim 'the quickest peal of Major on the bells,' although his band were a minute quicker than when we rang the only previous peal of Major at South Molton.—P.A.C.

'Without Prejudice'

Dear Sir,—Mr. George Baker's letter (page 523) on London Extension shocks careful readers in its deliberate attempt to hide the facts. Thus:—

1. The starred 'digressions'—a term, by the way, first employed in this way in Grid Analysis—are not, as he says, from 'London Minor and Major,' which is, of course, absurd, but from the original form of London Royal, i.e., the Theoretic.

2. He deliberately omits all stars from his figures of the 'No. 3' version, against which figures he should have shown, in the same proportion, exactly 50 per cent. more stars! The U.A. version needs only two stars in the half-lead, in fact.

3. Baker's No. 3 version commits the 'crime' of shifting the method's half-lead pivot position. In the London method this is 4ths from the treble's lie, throughout all stages from Minor to Maximus. His 2nds in the No. 3 Royal entirely alters the form of the blue line reflectively from the half-lead. Indeed, the crux of the whole thing is this:

The relative fixity of pivot position, which Grid Analysis originally stressed, and which inspired a resolution from the Universities Association for the consideration of the Central Council at York in 1949, is now confirmed as a principle of method structure by the C.C.'s acceptance of the Methods Committee's recent recommendations. (See their recommended Rule No. 2.) This rules out Baker's No. 3 from official recognition as 'London Surprise Royal.' In any event it has more digressions than the U.A. version, which is, at least, the Proximate version, i.e., the U.A. version has less digressions than all other London Royals yet produced.

Students of method structure should also be warned that Mr. Baker's misuse of the term 'round blocks' gives a totally different conception from that of W. H. Thompson's meaning, as now generally understood in all matters of composition. (not method structure).—Yours very truly, Netley Abbey. A. YORK-BRAMBLE.

THE BEARD AND THE PASSPORT

Dear Sir,—The two copies of 'The Ringing World' containing letters apropos my beard have just reached me. While the exact identity of the authors, who are too timid to lance an attack for or against beards under their own names, is not known to me, I have more than a shrewd idea who they are. They will realise that from the above sentence.

To clear up any rumours as to my reason for forsaking my beard, I should like to make it known that it was because of my passport photograph which shows a face completely clean-shaven.

Since there is a current French saying, 'Jamais deux sans trois,' I await with great interest the appearance of yet a third mascot for the University of Bristol Society.

Who knows, le prochain barbu attirera, peut-être, davantage de jeunes filles à notre société. Vivent les barbus!—Yours faithfully, JACK R. WORRALL.

ACCIDENT TO BELL HANGER

9-CWT. BELL FRACTURED HIS LEG.
While Mr. George Pratt (49), of Harris Road, Dagenham, was hoisting the fourth bell, weighing nine hundredweight, in Whitchurch Parish Church, Shropshire, on August 11th, the tackle slipped and the bell fell on his leg, fracturing it in two places.

With his mate, Mr. J. A. Acarioli, of Barking, he was engaged in overhauling the bells and fitting ball bearings.

When the bell fell, Pratt was fortunately not pinned, and was able to free his leg.

Mr. Acarioli, who was working on another bell, rushed to the help of his mate and, with difficulty, got him out of the pit in which the bell lay and, aided by the injured man himself, carried him down the spiral stairway to the next chamber.

There he made the injured man as comfortable as possible, and went for help.

With the Rector, the Rev. J. H. Hall, Mr. K. L. H. Winwood, Mr. R. H. Manning, Mrs. W. G. Matthews and Mr. G. T. Smith, he returned up the tower, when the injured leg was put in splints by Mr. Smith and Mrs. Matthews.

Mr. Pratt was then taken down to ground level, and after receiving treatment at the Cottage Hospital, was taken to the Orthopaedic Hospital, Oswestry.

GUILD OF DEVONSHIRE RINGERS

The Mid-Devon Branch held a by-meeting in one of the moorland parts of its area on August 19th. Ringing took place at Holne Parish Church during the afternoon on the rather difficult ring of five, this including touches of Grandsire, Stedman and Reverse Canterbury Pleasure Bob Doubles. An excellent cream tea was subsequently enjoyed at the Church House Inn, after which one associate member and two non-resident life members were elected.

A move was then made to Widdecombe-in-the-Moor, where the excellent going bells were kept going to a variety of methods as well as rounds for the less experienced ringers.

The next, and last, calling place was Buckland-in-the-Moor, where Grandsire and Stedman Triples were rung on the very light eight, not forgetting, too, the less experienced ones.

The afternoon proved quite enjoyable for those who came from a wide area, and the visitors included the president of the Guild, Preb. E. V. Cox.

MEMORIES AND NOVEL EXPERIENCES

ONE WHO KNEW HENRY JOHNSON

Yes, I remember! I am a small boy, nine years old, and I have just lost my father. My grandfather on the distaff side is a stern but just man. He is in business in Bradford Street, Birmingham, and on Saturdays, midday, he goes to the Market Hall, and as a great treat I sometimes go with him.

Our nearest way is along Moat Lane, so named because it follows the line of the defences of the Manor House of the De Berminghams. At the end of the Lane I see the tower and spire of the Parish Church, St. Martin's, famous then as now for its bells and ringers, and I am fascinated. I look up and wonder where the bells actually hang, how they are rung, where the belfry is, and how it is reached. In any case they are silent and mysterious and as yet unheard. Later on I do hear them and I am thrilled and determined to explore.

But St. Martin's is awe-inspiring, and I know I must learn in a lowlier way, so I think of Moseley Parish Church, and there I find the ringers are good and kindly fellows, and I make friends among them and am admitted to the tower. Never shall I forget my first glimpse of the low door, and the new and winding time-worn steps leading, where?

I was on the threshold of the unknown! In due course I am invited 'to take a rope,' and I learn to ring. The bells are steel—not bell metal: the tone is poor, and they go badly, too, especially the 17 cwt. tenor. I investigate—learn how they are induced to 'speak' at the will of the ringer (although remote and unseen) and am thrilled and determined to know more of St. Martin's, where the tower keeper is John Joynes. He is a jolly rotund man, and after a time he allows me to ring the service bell, the 9th, much to my delight. Thereafter, I frequent the belfry on practice nights and meet some of the great ringers of that day, including, once or twice, the great Henry Johnson himself.

My interest has never flagged, and I am as keen as ever, reading and enjoying 'The Ringing World' week by week. Over a long period I have visited every Cathedral tower in England and many hundreds of others, and when in London Sunday mornings find me at St. Paul's listening to the exquisite rhythm of the perfectly-struck three courses of Stedman Cinques!

Needless to say I have looked forward to and attended year by year the Johnson dinner, surely one of the happiest and friendliest meetings in 'The Ringing Isle'!

THE MISSING RINGER

During a ringing tour in the West Country the party were to be guests of a well-to-do gentleman, who owned a large house and kept many servants. After the day's peal had been scored the ringers reached their 'quarters' safely and were duly shown to their rooms. Late dinner was on the programme, but when the guests assembled for the meal one of the party, Mr. B., did not arrive. The host remarked that five minutes would be allowed, but after that time had elapsed there was still no sign of Mr. B. In order that the meal should proceed, one of the party, Mr. F., offered to search for the missing ringer. His first place of call was Mr. B.'s bedroom, and to his surprise he found him in bed! 'Why are you in bed?' asked Mr. F., and the reply he received was that 'A servant showed me in here and shut the door.' On being told to hurry up because dinner was being served, he remarked, 'What a strange place. First they show you into your bedroom, then they have dinner at 7.30 p.m., and as it seemed to me the household kept early hours, there was nothing left to do but have an early night!'

DETAILED TO RING

When the war in Europe ended in May, 1945, I was serving with my battalion, the 2nd Grenadier Guards, in Germany. A week or so later we moved to an area south of Bremen, centring round the village of Twistringen. On Sunday, May 27th, a memorial service to the battalion's fallen was held, and I, together with two other ringers (one of them was Eric Gilbert, from Cheshire), were detailed by our commanding officer to ring the bells of a nearby village church for the service. How it came to the C.O.'s knowledge that we were ringers or that there were bells in the church remains a mystery to me.

A preliminary survey on the Saturday before the service revealed that there were three bells in the tower, which were reached by a series of wooden ladders. Two of the bells were equipped with horizontal metal arms from the headstocks, to which ropes were attached, passing through to the floor below. The third bell had a rope tied to the clapper. Our efforts to swing the bells by the ropes met with little success, however, as, apart from lack of oil, it was impossible to control the striking. We came to the conclusion that the only thing to do was to tie ropes to all the clappers, sit on the frame and 'clock' the bells. I don't know the name of the third ringer, but he knew little about change ringing, so I wrote out the six changes for his benefit, and after a little practice we became quite competent in chiming them.

On the Sunday morning we again mounted the tower about half an hour before the service and clocked the bells to the changes. The bells were very much out of tune and the noise we produced must have sounded pretty awful outside, but we didn't 'lose our names,' so presumably the C.O. was satisfied with the result.

I have lost the note I made of the particulars of the bells, but I believe they were all modern, having been cast after the 1914-1918 war.

THEIR JOINT WEAKNESS

The bells were being rung from the ground floor and the ringers could be seen from the church. A peal was in progress after a special service and the town was en fete. Our first visitor was a Bishop, who stood amid our circle and expressed his appreciation, and shortly afterwards the Mayor and his train came to see us. He thanked us for our ringing and announced that a good meal awaited us when we had concluded our ringing.

We survived these interruptions in fine style, and Holt's Original proceeded well, but when one of the churchwardens appeared and announced the venue of the meal, followed by the reading of the menu, two ringers missed their ropes, losing control of their bells, with the result, no peal. The conductor asked the two culprits why they failed to keep going, and the reply in each case was, 'I was all right until he read out roast leg of pork and apple sauce.'

HALF TIME

Before commencing a peal at a village near Dartmoor many years ago, one of the local call-change ringers appeared and questioned us about refreshment at half-time. Jokingly we said it would be appreciated, and the peal was commenced with a locked door. A few minutes after the midway single had been made we heard a key being inserted from outside, and in came the local ringer to announce half-time refreshments. Our efforts to send him away caused a series of trips which ended the ringing, and soon we found out that the 'intruder' was the official beer carrier to the local ringers.

Memories of a Youngster

My first tale is of pre-war vintage. A patron of St. Lawrence's Church, Hatfield, near Doncaster, heard that there was sore need for a set of new bell ropes. As he was a director of a famous Doncaster firm, which boasted the ability to supply anything from a strand of fuse wire to a mile-long steel hawser, he promised to present the ringers with the ropes, free of charge.

The ringers, though very anxious to take advantage of this generous offer, expressed doubt as to whether the ropes supplied would be of the exact type and quality required. 'Don't worry,' said their benefactor, 'send one of your ropes to the works, and I can promise you eight perfect copies.'

So the rope was sent, and back came the new ones. Their friend had carried out his promise to have exact copies made all right—as the old rope had a splice just underneath the sally, every one of the new ropes had a splice in exactly the same place! However, the ropes were put into use, and well I remember ringing in a peal with them, half the band finishing with a generous sprinkling of red, white and blue wool. A year or so ago they were so bald (the ropes, not the ringers) that they had to be replaced, this time by bona fide bell ropes.

My second memory is of an incident at a meeting at St. George's, Doncaster. We had been ringing, with few intervals, for more than two hours. Suddenly the ringer of the second stood his bell and turned to stare up the ladder leading to the bells. Everyone else followed suit, and stood open-mouthed to see a figure descending, in a ragged old raincoat, and with a telescope tucked under his arm! This apparition smiled affably, and disappeared down the steps, not a word being spoken! It transpired later that he was a star-gazer, and he had stood on that lofty swaying tower for two hours, and then descended a twenty-foot, almost vertical ladder, with the open mouths of the eight bells (30½ cwt. tenor) screaming beneath him. Not bad for a layman!

EAST GRINSTEAD GUILD IN KENT

Starting off in showery weather on August 19th, Biddenden was reached at 9.45, when good use was made of this nice octave. There was much speculation as to whether a course of Cambridge would come round before the tenor ringer lost his trousers. The bells won!

After the noisy six at Charlham had been 'grabbed' en route, Canterbury Cathedral was reached. The best on twelve was rounds, on ten Stedman and Grandsire, with a touch of Triples for those not so far advanced. Everyone was happy, except those who had to ring the tenor.

Through apples and hops to Faversham, where the going was quite good but the music poor. However, Superlative came round well to end the ringing, and away to Sittingbourne, where the bells of St. Michael's Church proved to be the best of the day. Plain Bob, Grandsire, Stedman, Cambridge and Superlative all came round, but who left the last note of the tenor in the tower after the lower in peal?

Half an hour later the treasurer said that he had had sufficient tea, a fitting tribute to the caterers, but as usual he still wanted some money, and all paid without a murmur.

On the road once more, the views on either side of Detling Hill were enjoyed; Maidstone was passed, and at 7.20 Barming bells were going up (and around the tower). Time was short, so it was one pull each and a quick lower in peal, this being repeated on the newly rehung six at Watlington, enjoyed by all till nine o'clock. Then, one for the road (or was it two?) and homeward bound.

KENT RINGERS TOUR IN DEVONSHIRE

Successes and Disappointments of a Memorable Week

IN August, 1949, the writer received a postcard from Mr. Thomas E. Sone, of Paddock Wood, Kent, asking him to arrange a tour in Devon in 1950. 'Just the job,' he thought, with visions of tackling some fresh tenors in a delightful part of the country, whose bells had not had too many peals rung on them. The ultimate result was a very happy week, with headquarters at Exeter from August 5th to 13th.

Our party, which numbered 26 including non-ringers, was collected by Tom Sone, and the routes, ringing arrangements and towers were planned by Pat Cannon, with valuable help from Mr. Aubrey L. Bennett, Central Council representative for the Devon Guild. Fifteen ringers came from Kent, two from Berks, two from Northants and one from Surrey. A 28-seater coach was hired for the week, with Proprietor Ernest Lush as driver, and left Paddock Wood at 8 a.m., Saturday, August 5th, picking up en route. Travelling through Redhill, Dorking, Guildford and Basingstoke, Salisbury was reached at 12.45 p.m. for a good lunch at Diffey's restaurant.

Our driver soon showed that he could make his coach move, and we arrived punctually at Sherborne Abbey at 3 p.m., where Mr. W. H. Pope was awaiting us. The bells were raised in peal, and several of our heavy bell enthusiasts were able to show their skill in Cambridge, Double Norwich, Plain Bob, Stedman and Grandsire. After tea at Baker's Cafe, we continued our journey through Yeovil, Crewkerne and Chard, crossing into Devonshire near Yacombe. We stopped to try the ancient heavy five, tenor 17 cwt., with various Doubles methods, and finished with call changes with three locals. Exeter was reached at 8.15 p.m. and we settled into our 'digs'. The old proverb about learning by experience soon became apparent, and, for the benefit of future organisers, it would be as well to mention that it is advisable to check carefully boarding house accommodation which purports to take a lot of people in one place. Three out of our four addresses were very satisfactory, but one was definitely overcrowded! The removal of six to other accommodation on Sunday eased matters a little, but the writer apologises to the seven who stuck it out, and shaved in cold water!

Sunday morning found us at St. David's, Exeter (eight, 13 cwt.), where we met Messrs. W. H. Howe and W. S. Lethbridge. Good bells and a perfect circle enabled us to enjoy the standard methods until 10 a.m. We apologise to Mr. E. W. Biffin, who was expecting us at St. Thomas', but our non-arrival was due to the six wishing to find other 'digs' as soon as possible.

All our peal attempts had been very kindly fixed by Mr. Aubrey Bennett, and his first choice of St. James', West Teignmouth (eight, 14 cwt.), for Sunday afternoon was an ideal start, as non-ringers and those not taking part were able to enjoy the seaside air on one of the few really fine days of the week. The bells are a fair ring cast in 1879 by Mears and Stainbank, rung from the ground floor and we were pleased to score the 'first on the bells' in spite of a christening party walking twice through the circle to our apparent amusement! Those standing out rang for evening service and were joined by the local band and Mr. F. Maurice Atkins, who is shortly coming to live at Teignmouth.

THE HEAVIEST DAY

August Bank Holiday started with a pleasant drive to Chulmleigh (eight, 25 cwt.). The bells, originally a ring of six cast by W. Evans in 1718, had two trebles added in 1929 by Gillett and Johnston. The first and only previous peal on the bells was Grandsire Triples, in August, 1933, conducted by Mr. Percy Newton, of Hughenden, Bucks. Three of his family, all Chulmleighites, took part with him, and two of them, Mr. A. Newton, and Mr. Newton, senior, met us at the church. The belfry is small in comparison with the height of the tower and weight of metal, but we enjoyed a really good peal of Plain Bob and were congratulated afterwards on our striking. Those not ringing went over to Chawley (six, 18 cwt.), and met the genial Vicar and some of the local band, all expert call change ringers.

Lunch was well served at the Barnstaple Inn, and we reached Crediton (eight, 27 cwt.) at 3.30 p.m. The belfry, in the central tower, is large and well-lit; the ropes of the first four bells hang in a straight line, and there is a big space between the 7th and tenor. The writer rang the tenor in 1939 to the 'first peal of Major on the bells', and was pleased to listen this time to the attempt for Cambridge, which lasted, with excellent striking, for one hour and thirty minutes. A shift course finished the ringing, but enough was rung for some of the party to look back on these 'old style' bells—Pennington, 1774, and tenor by Mears, 1814—as being as good as any of the 'moderns'. Non-ringers rang at Colebrooke (eight, 17 cwt.) with a long draught. One of the old worthies—Mr. John Callard—did not hesitate to tell us what he thought of 'scientific' ringing! Devon call-change ringers are very honest in their comments, and to gain appreciation from them one must ring their bells at a brisk pace, and with tenor behind.

Prize contests are frequent, particular attention is given to rising and falling, and the set piece must be rung—on six bells—at not less than 32 changes a minute. Framed certificates are hanging in many North Devon towers showing the local band to be 'first prize' or 'second prize' team as the case may be, in hard-fought competitions.

THE FIRST 'DOUBLE'

Tuesday—a dull day, later turning to continuous rain—and the venue for the morning was Winkleigh (eight, 20 cwt.). Mears and Stainbank recast the old ring of five in 1873, added three trebles, and they are rung from the ground floor with a draught of over 60 feet. There is a two feet high box for the tenor, and from its height, the conductor soon saw that his work was going to be a lot easier than some of the others! Our Walter 'Dob' is to be congratulated on sticking and striking a bad-going 6th. Coming from a well-known family of ringers, he certainly maintained the family tradition. Special mention also to Geoffrey Waters, for excellent ringing on the 7th, following the same at Chulmleigh on the Monday, which efforts made him feel slightly hors de combat on Wednesday morning. The local ringers gave us a warm welcome, and the Vicar, the Rev. F. E. May (one-time curate of St. John's, Croydon) was presented with a donation towards church funds, with thanks for allowing a 'first peal on the bells'. The rest of our party went over to North Tawton (eight, 18 cwt.) and enjoyed a fine Taylor-hung ring, with several prize ringing certificates in the belfry.

Mr. Stafford H. Green was awaiting us at South Molton (eight, 24½ cwt.), and after lunch rang the tenor to a 'good peal of Superlative to satisfy one of his remaining ambitions. The tower, 128 feet high, is a splendid landmark, and the bells, originally Mears, 1814, were recast and rehung by Taylors in 1938. The result is a well-balanced ring, which Mr. Tapp, local captain, is very proud to 'open up' to visitors, this being the second peal in a fortnight.

Eight others—mainly those who had been at Winkleigh in the morning—started for Stedman Triples at Chittlehampton (eight, 15 cwt.). The church has a fine Perpendicular tower similar to those of Somerset, and the bells, recast 1929 by Taylors, are worthy of the tower. Stedman lasted 40 minutes, and regrets were expressed that time did not allow a start for another method. The Vicar, the Rev. J. H. B. Andrews, himself a change ringer, met us afterwards and enjoyed a chat before we left.

EXETER CATHEDRAL

Wednesday morning found us at Uffculme (eight, 21½ cwt.), with one of the few stone spires in Devon, and a fine octave, Taylorised in 1927. The 'brass hats' started for Ashted, but no luck, and the bells were lowered after two hours and ten minutes. Others went over to Sampford Peverell (six, 17 cwt.), now the home of M. S. H. Green, and Halberton (six, 16 cwt.) both excellent rings. We all joined up for lunch at the Cullompton Hotel, where Dr. E. L. Taylor, late of Sevenoaks, and now of Tintagel, Cornwall, had made the journey specially to meet old friends. A good lunch, and we adjourned to Cullompton tower (ten, 19½ cwt.) and enjoyed a ring on this magnificent Taylor peal (1920), and a look round the splendid church. Then on to Bradninch (eight, 23 cwt.), where Mr. Powell, local captain, met us, and W. H. D. and Ernest Lush took our photographs.

Through the valuable help of Mr. W. H. Howe and the kindness of the Dean and Chapter, we were allowed the use of Exeter Cathedral bells (twelve, 72 cwt.) from 6 p.m.—8.30 p.m. This event had been looked forward to by everyone, and we made good use of the time with Grandsire Cinques and Caters, Stedman Triples on the back 8 (grand) and a course of Bob Royal with Walter 'Dob' on the tenor box, and Malcolm Cloke strapping—a very creditable course too. Some of the younger element rushed down to St. Thomas' practice night, just in time for a course of Bob Major.

HOW TO LOSE A PEAL!

Thursday in Exeter was our 'at home' day, with two towers close by. Honiton Clyst (eight, 19 cwt.) was the morning tower for Double Norwich—an average ground floor ring—but, although the band was a Surprise one, they were apparently 'off colour,' the attempt lasting just over two hours. Others, accompanied by Mrs. G. E. Retter, went over to try the grand eight at Broadclyst (eight, 21½ cwt.). Ringing has just started again after two months' silence, due to pinnacle trouble. Hopes for a peal here on a future visit were expressed by all, as they are certainly one of the finest '21 cwt.' eights in the country, very similar to Debenham, Suffolk.

The afternoon tower was Alphington (eight, 16½ cwt.), and the method chosen, Treble Bob.

The church is situated in the middle of a fork of two main roads, and the bells are a good ring, rehung in 1939 by Mears and Stainbank. After an hour's ringing, the conductor decided that his calling did not produce the figures he wanted, so 'stand' was called. A few moments with pencil and paper told him that many years ago, when copying the peal from an old report, he had failed to put in two calls at 'wrong' which would have made the peal 'right.' Someone remarked that he had 'slipped up' at last! Motto—always be very careful to check every composition, especially Treble Bob, before starting to ring it!

However, the disappointment at an unnecessary loss was soon forgotten, when all united for one of the 'tit-bits' of the week, an hour's ringing on the magnificent ring at Heavitree (eight, 26 cwt.). Double Norwich, Superlative, Grandsire and Stedman Triples were rung, and Messrs. E. W. Biffin and F. Wreford, two of the mainstays of Exeter ringing, joined us.

(To be continued next week.)

OBITUARY AND APPRECIATION

MR. GEORGE CHARGE

AN APPRECIATION: THE METROPOLITAN POLICE GUILD

It is with very deep regret I read in this week's issue of the death of Mr. George Charge, brother of Reuben and Cornelius Charge. Although not a prolific peal ringer, George gave constant and faithful service for over fifty years as a ringer for Sunday services. His tally of quarter peals rung for service must run into many hundreds. As a police officer I was his sergeant and station sergeant for some years. He was held in very great respect both by officers and men and by those amongst whom he lived. Personally I owe a great debt of gratitude to the three brothers Charge for their help and comradeship during my early days in London.

As a ringer, he and his brother Cornelius 'built greater than they knew,' for it was largely from their inspiration that ringing amongst police officers holds its present position.

As stated, I believe I am now the only surviving member of the band which rang the first peal ever rung by policemen—Grandsire Triples, at St. Mary Magdalene, Holloway, on April 25th, 1912, conducted by Cornelius Charge, then a constable of 'B' Division, which was: P.C. Walter Darlington 1, P.C. Ernest Brett 2, Sergt. Arthur Barkus 3, P.C. Charles G. Jane 4, P.C. William Bottrill 5, P.C. Cornelius Charge 6, P.C. George Charge 7, P.C. Alfred G. Crane 8.

It was from this peal the idea first came of forming a Police Guild of Ringers. Without an officially recognised Guild it was impossible in those days for members of the Force to obtain relief from the irregular hours of duty for practice and service ringing; thus their ringing was very limited and uncertain. For this reason ardent ringers often hesitated before becoming policemen. It was not until December, 1927, that the Metropolitan Police Guild was formed. I was then an inspector. It had some thirty serving officers as members.

The objects stated on application form were: To afford opportunity to those Metropolitan Police officers who are so interested to meet together to practise the art of scientific change ringing on church tower and handbells. To give to those police officers who are bellringers a status amongst other ringing Guilds of the country. The conditions were: That the ringing would be performed in the officers' own time and at no expense to the Police Fund. No payment would be received for services rendered. The Guild would be available to ring on those Police occasions when such would be appropriate. The application was accompanied by a current copy of 'The Ringing World,' which I have no doubt still rests in the archives of Scotland Yard.

My request was granted by Lord Byng, the Commissioner. By this means I obtained his authority for every recruit to be asked on joining the Force if he were a bellringer and the names forwarded to me. Notices of practices and meetings were published in the official daily Police Orders and Superintendents were instructed—in so far as the exigencies of the service would permit—to arrange duties to give facilities for practice. Our first headquarters was St. Clement Danes, Strand. We later moved to St. George-the-Martyr, Southwark.

On the occasion of the Metropolitan Police Centenary Parade in Hyde Park, May 25th, 1929, the parade state shows detailed for duty: Police bellringers: 1 inspector, 3 sergeants and 8 constables. 'During the time of the Parade and March Past the Metropolitan Police Guild of Ringers, under Insp. Bottrill, will ring 1,260 changes (Grandsire Caters) at the Church of St. Margaret, Westminster, and 1,260 changes (Stedman Caters) at the Church of St. Martin-in-the-Fields, by kind permission of Canon Carnegie and Canon McCormick.' With the help of police ringers from the provinces we acquitted ourselves well, and during the evening rang at the Church of St. George-the-Martyr, Southwark, a peal of Cambridge Surprise Major, conducted by Det. Constable H. J. Poole, being the first Surprise peal ever rung by police officers.

Arising out of this occasion the National Police Guild was formed. Although some may argue that Guilds of this nature are superfluous, it can be said this one at least has retained to the Exercise some outstanding men who might otherwise have been lost. Also, it has played no small part by its excellent annual social gathering alternately in the North, the Midlands and London—to which non-ringing police officers of high rank, chief constables and prominent local public personages are invariably invited—in creating an appreciation of our art amongst those who can at times render most useful assistance to the Exercise in general.

Deal, Kent.

W. BOTTRILL.

MR. JAMES TAYLOR, AUGHTON

It is with regret that we record the death of Mr. James Taylor, which took place on the evening of August 16th in St. Michael's Church, Aughton. He had not been well for some weeks, but it was not expected that the end was so near.

Mr. Taylor had been connected with Christ Church and Aughton Parish Church belfries for 50 years. He was an excellent ringer, a good striker and always willing and ready to give a helping hand in connection with change ringing.

The interment took place on August 19th at the Parish Church, the Rector of Aughton (the Rev. Gerald Jones) officiating. A course of Grandsire Triples was rung at the graveside by T. Hesketh, J. Ridyard, P. Cave and G. R. Newton. Muffled touches were afterwards rung at Christ Church and St. Michael's, on the bells which he loved so well.

RODBOURNE CHENEY OUTING

Rodbourne Cheney ringers, accompanied by friends from other towers, visited the North Forest Deanery of Gloucestershire for their annual outing. The party was pleased to welcome George (Tiny) Wells, who is now convalescent after a long illness.

Huntley was the first call, where the Vicar extended a hearty welcome. Then on to Longhope, with its unique double lock on the tower door and nice-going bells. A short drive through pleasant wooded country brought the party to Mitcheldean for tea. The bells here are unringable, but the church was visited and the local handbells were used for a few touches.

A very pleasant little six was found at Blaisdon, which just suited the members of the Ladies' Guild. The heavy six at Westbury-on-Severn were a big contrast, and after a ragged rise some good ringing was heard. The ringing chambers at all four towers were on the ground floor, so the non-ringing members of the party had a good insight into what happens on ringers' outings.

The programme was adhered to throughout the trip and ringing ranged from Grandsire Doubles to London Surprise Major.

W. B. K.

Outings

NAILSEA, SOMERSET.

The Nailsea ringers, together with wives and friends, held their annual ringing outing on August 12th. As is customary, all towers visited contained six bells.

Following an early start and a short hold-up in a 'traffic jam' at Bridgwater, Staplegrove, a suburb of Taunton, was reached a little behind schedule. The bells were soon raised and three-quarters of an hour's ringing was thoroughly enjoyed. The church was extensively restored in 1902, the only part left untouched being the tower. Here, too, were two electrically illuminated crosses, one on top of the tower and the other over the chancel arch.

The next tower visited was Hemyock, which was reached after a very pretty drive over part of the Blackdown Hills. Here the tenor weighs 21 cwt., and these bells proved to be the heaviest of the day.

An excellently sited 'pub,' right opposite the church, was then visited for sandwiches and liquid refreshments, and then a move was made to Halberton. This church has a fine fan-vaulted rood screen and a deep-toned ring of bells by Mears, which were rehung and the tenor recast by Gillett and Johnston in 1936.

After a brief stop at Tiverton, Bampton was reached for tea and ringing at the parish church. The bells here were all cast by Billie, of Cullompton, in 1800, and proved to be the trickiest of the day, but several good touches were brought round.

The final tower of the day, Creech St. Michael, a little on the 'home' side of Taunton, proved a nice ring with a 15 cwt. tenor. Here, it is thought, ringing history was probably made when the coach driver, who had never seen ringing being performed before and had come into every tower to watch, begged to 'have a go.' He was finally allowed, with the aid of several worthy assistants, to chime the tenor!

Thanks are due to all who helped to contribute to a very pleasant day's ringing.

M. J. H.

OTTERSHAW, SURREY.

Joined by ringing friends from Chertsey, Chobham, Old Woking and Walton-on-Thames, Ottershaw ringers held an enjoyable outing on August 12th.

A start was made at 7.30 a.m., and the first tower visited was Little Missenden, where the organ floor proved a bit of a problem to some. This was soon surmounted, and touches of Grandsire, Stedman, Plain Bob and Kent were rung.

There was a brief stop at Dunstable for 'elevenses'—to the delight of a Walton friend who claimed this for his home town—before reaching Sandy, where Mr. C. Blain was waiting for the party. An hour's ringing in standard methods followed. The party were happy to have Mr. Blain and Mr. C. J. Ball with them at lunch.

Ringing was delayed for half an hour at Old Warden, owing to a wedding. This church proved to be the best call of the day, both for ringers and non-ringers. The beautiful carvings in the church are well worth a visit, and the bells are a grand little six.

Tea was served at the Rose Cottage Cafe, Welwyn. At St. Mary's Church, Grandsire and Stedman Triples were rung and also Plain Bob Minor, in which three of the local band joined in.

At Harrow Weald, the last call, unfortunately one of the party got tough with the second, which resulted in a broken stay, and in consequence ringing had to be confined to the back six. A good course of Oxford Treble Bob concluded the ringing programme.

Home was reached at 10.30 p.m. with a full sense of gratitude to all who had co-operated to provide such a jolly good day.

INSPIRATION

I HAVE just been camping for a fortnight a few miles from a lovely church which owns the chief ring of bells in one of our ringing associations. On the first Sunday evening of camp I went to the church early in the hope of ringing there. Alas! In this beautiful church there was no ringing at all, and a lady told me that ringing took place every other Sunday. I had to be content to listen to the Cambridge quarters ponderously chiming from the tower. My visit was not in vain, however, for, after consulting the organist, I had the honour of singing in the choir for Evensong. Never before have I sung with such an excellent parish choir. There were about six tenors and six basses each side as well as the trebles and altos, and everyone was keen, and pointing the psalms meticulously in the rhythm of speech. I must confess that during the sermon I reflected on several points not mentioned by the parson—how so many choirs are like ringing bands who ring only one method by rote, whereas this was just as uplifting as ringing with a Surprise band who keep a good beat. And how obvious it was that the choir has an excellent organist and choir-master! My thoughts drifted to the same old conclusion that anything worth doing depends on a good leader who rises above personalities, and leads his band to attain their purpose without descending either to self-satisfaction or to abuse of others. Is it not easy to recall bands of ringers whose progress is barred by these two factors?

The next Sunday I went again in the evening, but I learnt that the ringers had met short in the morning, and there was again no ringing that Sunday. But the thought of not adding another tower to the list was superseded by the disappointment of not singing with the choir again, for I had to return to camp to help conduct a service there.

I went to the church to gain fresh inspiration for ringing (there are no bells at my home church), but instead

I was given something more valuable—the chance to hear a really good band of singers. Soon I return home, and I will be the more able to help in my own choir because of my unexpected experience.

‘TENOR.’

THE NATURE OF THE UNIVERSE?

EARLY this year, the layman interested in astronomy was rudely shaken by a series of talks given by Fred Hoyle in the B.B.C. Third Programme. These talks are being repeated on Wednesdays, and they completely turn upside down all the popular beliefs. For instance, according to the new theories, the sun is getting hotter so that eventually the Earth will be melted. But an even more startling result of the theory is that planets such as our Earth are a normal product of stars, and are not the result of a rare event as generally held a few years ago. Hoyle estimates that there are a million stars visible to us which have planets capable of supporting life. Of course, the planets are not visible to us and probably never will be. Even a radio message might take thousands of years to travel to one. But, despite the apparent improbability of communicating, it seems very likely that life as we know it exists in many other places. Hoyle states: ‘I find myself wondering whether somewhere among them there is a cricket team to beat the Australians.’ The ringer who is wise enough not to ridicule the idea will wonder whether peal ringing has been accomplished elsewhere. Perhaps some forms of life would laugh at our peals, and explain that their peal contains not less than 40,000 changes.

This is no joke, but a sober guess at what may exist. If I. Pullem composes a peal, it is not really his peal at all—merely that he was the first on Earth to discover it. It was possibly rung elsewhere long ago as a practice touch. And in any case it existed in the mind of God when He created the Universe.

N.B.—‘The Nature of the Universe,’ by Fred Hoyle, is published by Blackwell, 5s.
