CROYDON PARISH CHURCH

THE part Croydon Parish Church has played in the annals of English ringing is considerable. Much of its story was fragmentary. Now the Ancient Society of Croydon Ringers have their own printed history which is the outcome of 25 years of research by Mr. James E. Cooper, who has been a ringer at this tower for the past 30 years. Mr. Cooper is also the printer of this history. He set all the type himself and printed it page by page on a small wooden hand press. And a creditable job he has made of it.

The inventory of church goods and ornaments, made by order of King Edward VI., shows that Croydon possessed five bells and a Saunce bell. The date Croydon possessed eight bells is unknown, but the Society of Croydon Youths rang a peal of 5,040 Bob Triples, a composition by Benjamin Annable, on January 17th, 1734, with two men on the tenor. These bells were recast in 1738 by Thomas Lester, of the Whitechapel Foundry. The first Master of the Society, which was established in 1730, was Joseph Levens, and he called the first peal. His brother Thomas, who was parish clerk, also participated in this performance. The fourth bell was rung by Christopher Burrell, a man of substance with property at Beckingham, who at his death left £300 towards the provision of an organ for the church. Joseph Matthews, who rang the sixth, was a carpenter, and his son, also a ringer, in 1761 had charge of the parish fire engine. Of the early peals, one of special interest is that of Grandsire Triples rung in 1816 by the Society and, according to records, all members of the band were Cumberland Youths. A characteristic of this peal, which was conducted by Francis Matthews, was that it started from backstroke and came round at hand, the reverse of usual procedure.

In 1823 a new code of rules was accepted by the Society. The qualification for membership was ability to ring 500 changes on an 'inside' bell, a rule that still operates with the Society to-day. Like many ringing societies of the period, there was an elaborate system of payments for ringing, fines for lateness and non-attendance and also a fine of 1d. for each offence should a member swear during ringing or in the belfry. The final rule was: 'That all members of this Society shall belong to the Burial Society, and all monies to defray the expences be taken from the funds of the ringers.'

A night of tragedy was January 5th, 1867, when the church was almost destroyed by fire. The bells melted where they hung except the tenor, which crashed to the ground and was smashed to pieces. On this fateful night the ringers were holding their annual dinner at the Rose and Crown Inn opposite the church. During the evening William Kilmaster, the sexton, who was also a ringer, left the festive board to attend to the stoves of the church. On returning to the company he remarked, 'It's a cold night, boys, but I've warmed them up all right.' Prophetic words these, comments Mr. Cooper, for in a few hours the whole building was in flames.

The church was rebuilt and a new ring of eight was cast by Mr. John Taylor, of Loughborough, with a tenor of nearly 32 cwt. The bells were difficult to ring, two men being required for the tenor, and it was not until ten years later that the first peal was rung on the bells by nine members of the Ancient Society of College Youths, of whom six were members of the Croydon Society. Noted ringers in this peal were H. C. Haley, the conductor, S. Reeves and J. M. Hayes. During this period the tower obtained among ringers the nickname of 'the slaughterhouse' owing to the heavy and uncertain going of the bells. This name was associated with the Croydon belfry for about 50 years.

Croydon owed much in the latter years of the last century to Dr. Arthur B. Carpenter, who in 1882 learnt to ring and joined the Society. He became one of the foremost ringers in the South of England, was secretary to the Society and the first Ringing Master of the Surrey Association upon its formation in 1883. He persuaded the church authorities to have the bells rehung and the frame re-designed.

The bicentenary of the Society's first peal, January 17th, 1934, was commemorated by ringing three courses of Bob Triples, a full peal being out of the question owing to the condition of the bells. The late Mr. Cyril Johnston, a member of the Society for many years, had formulated a scheme by which the existing bells should be recast and four others added to make a ring of twelve. A munificent gift from the late Lady Eldridge made the scheme possible, and with characteristic energy Mr. Johnston laboured to complete it. The twelve were dedicated on December 12th, 1936, by the Bishop of Croydon, in the presence of 300 ringers from all parts of the country. The weight of the new tenor is 36 cwt. 3 qr. 18 lb., and the total weight of the twelve bells is just over eight tons.

With the bells was a new frame, the whole contract being undertaken by the Croydon Foundry.

Another bell, the 'Victory' bell, the gift of Mr. Cyril Johnston, was added on May 25th, 1946, thus providing the Society with a lighter ring of eight, invaluable especially on practice nights. We conclude this review with the author's own tribute to the contribution Croydon bells have made to national and parochial events and the regular call to worship on Sundays: 'For upwards of two centuries this has continued with little break. Countless generations of men have climbed those winding stairs, stairs that have survived the effects of time and fire and were mercifully preserved, as was the whole church, from enemy bombing, and have gathered in the ringing chamber, there to—

"... ply with nimble brain, our subtle art, Sequence of sound, that moves with mystic rhyme."

Who can measure the effect of those years of endeavour?"

ENROL AS NEW SUBSCRIBER

We are now enrolling new postal subscribers for 1951. Send £1 to Mrs. Fletcher, The White House, Caister-on-Sea, Norfolk, and have your 'Ringing World' each Friday morning during 1951.

Mr. E. H. Lewis, president of the Central Council, announced at the annual dinner of the Universities Association that in three months time he would be retiring from business life and after then hoped to do a little more ringing.

We wish cartoonists trying to feature ringers would go in a belfry. Gilbert Wilkinson's effort in the 'Daily Herald' on December 30th cannot be commended.

As we were going to Press news reached us of the diamond wedding of Mr. and Mrs. E.
H. Daynes, of 66, Ashburnham Grove, Greenwich.

Pet aversion of the new Master of the College Youths, Mr. Frank Smallwood, is the word 'campanologist.' He wants another word to describe the art and science of change-ringing.

Latest recruit to handbell ringing is Mr. Len Stilwell. With Mr. F. B. Lufkin and Mr. E.
Rapley, he rang 1,420 Bob Minor 'in hand' which was his first quarter on handbells.

At the request of officers of the Central Council, letters appertaining to the report of the Festival of Britain Sub-Committee will not be published until after the findings of the Standing Committee.

Lincoln Cathedral's new visitors book, presented by the Universities Association as a memento of their happy week, is a gift in keeping with this great Cathedral. First signatures in the book are those of the guests last August.

Newmarket, Suffolk, handbell ringers are looking forward to their first peal 'in hand' in Double Norwich Court Bob Major. A quarter in this method was accomplished on December 19th after months of practice on the 'box method' principle. The conductor was John
A. Acres and other members Albert E. Austin,
J. Reg. Heath and Peter C. Wright.

BELFRY GOSSIP

Two well-known university ringers, Mr. and Mrs.
Philip Gray, are sailing for Australia on March 1st. Mr. Gray has accepted an appointment at Melbourne. Of late there has been little news from Victoria in 'The Ringing World,' although recently a band of Sydney ringers paid them a visit. We wish them 'bon voyage' and every happiness in their new sphere.

Those ringers who saw the end of 1950 on their television sets enjoyed the ringing at St.
Margaret's, Westminster.

Boxing Day was a happy occasion at Capenhurst, Cheshire, when four young people rang their first peal. They have all been taught to ring within the last 18 months.

Bernard Moore, a promising young ringer, was unlucky at his second attempt for a peal at Cowfold, Sussex, on December 18th, when halfway through the last 720 the clapper of the fifth bell fell out.

We are pleased to learn that there is an improvement in the health of Mr. Tom Reeves, although he is still in the Sheffield Royal Infirmmary. He has the use of the limbs which were affected by the seizure but his sight is still bad.

Will those who have rung 40 or more peals during 1950 please send the following particulars:—Number rung in tower and 'in hand,' and number of each conducted. We would also like photographs of those ringers who completed 100 peals in 1950.

Barwell, Leicestershire, ringers wish to thank all ringers who donated to their Bell Fund in the recent Christmas competition. All prizes have been claimed and a list of winning numbers is as follows:—0144, 2095, 19661, 2282, 0064, 1528, 2426, 1083, 19926, 1111, 1115, 0297, 0038,

UNIVERSITIES ASSOCIATION REUNION

President's Criticism of Christmas Day Broadcast Ringing — Master of College Youths Urges Greater Attention to Practical Ringing — U.A.'s Expanding Membership — Reminiscences of the Rev. F. A. Robinson

THE Universities Association's annual reunion and dinner held in London on December 29th was well supported. During the day there was ringing at St. Stephen's and Christ Church, Ealing, St. Mary's, Acton, and St. Mary's, Lambeth. The service was held at the last-named church, the Rector (the Rev. H. Headley) officiating, assisted by the Rev. C. Elliot Wigg. The lesson was read by Mr. E. H. Lewis and the Rev. A. G. G. Thurlow was the organist. A collection for the organ fund of St. Mary's, Lambeth, was taken by the Masters of the London and Bristol Societies and amounted to £2 7s. 2d.

The president (Mr. Edwin H. Lewis) presided at the annual dinner held at the New Inn, Westminster Bridge, a company of over 60 being present.

Proposing the toast of 'The Church,' the president said the Church was really themselves, because they were all members, or ought to be, but on such an occasion they thought more particularly of the ecclesiastical authorities and those who were in Orders.

It was just 300 years since Robert Roam gave to the College Youths his 120 of Grandsire Doubles. If they knew the exact date they ought to commemorate the occasion as it was the beginning of change ringing. At that time the Church authorities would have nothing to do with ringing. Ringing was not allowed on Sundays, and was almost entirely for secular purposes. There have been vicissitudes of thought in the Church at various times. There was the vicissitude in the mind of John Bunyan when he wrote in his book, 'Grace Abounding,' that he looked on ringing and hockey as among the deadly sins, and that he was frightened when he went into a belfry for fear the bell would fall on him and he always stood under a beam. But he seemed to have changed his mind in 'Pilgrim's Progress' when he wrote, 'All the bells of heaven were ringing for joy when Christian reached his destination.'

The Church had changed its mind in the same way. It was, however, only about 100 years ago when the Church realised that it had made a mistake in banning everything that was of beauty in their services. To-day the position was completely reversed, with ringing as a part of Church work, and for that reason in particular they should honour the Church and drink the toast of the Church.

CHRISTMAS-DAY RINGING

To-day the B.B.C. was beginning to realise that ringing was a method of rejoicing on the part of the Church at the greater festivals. Why the B.B.C. did not consult somebody who knew about English bells when they selected their Christmas Day programme he could not understand. The ringing was a disgrace. With the exception of St. Benet's, Cambridge, and possibly Portishead it was just about as bad as it could be. He hoped the B.B.C. would ask someone to advise them in the future on the selection of towers. If a dance band or orchestra played their music half as badly as the ringing broadcast by the B.B.C. on Christmas Day they would have been shut down.

The Rev. A. G. G. Thurlow, in his reply, commended in his inimitable way to the company a book by one of the Association's members, 'The Church Bells of Ayrshire,' by Mr. Ronald W. M. Clouston, which he informed the Editor privately was one of the most beautiful histories of bells he had seen in recent years.

The toast of 'The Universities Association' was submitted by Mr. J. Frank Smallwood, the Master of the College Youths. It was very fitting, he said, that they should do honour to the parent Society in asking him to be with them, because the College Youths and its sister Society, the Cumberland Youths, had done very much to fashion and build up the Exercise as they knew it to-day.

Nevertheless, he could see that there was a great future for their Association. They would be able through their training to supply many of the things which they had lacked in the past, and he was very glad to see the enormous interest that had been and was being taken by university students. He had had one or two experiences of their Society, and in the early days of the war had some very pleasant hand-bell ringing with members of the Bristol University Association.

ARDENT COMPANOLOGISTS

There were one or two ways in which their training might be of great use. One was to find a better word than campanologist to describe a ringer. He was once described in a newspaper as an ardent campanologist, and his friends in consequence asked him what particular kind of beetle he was interested in. His reply was that he was not interested in beetles but mainly confined his studies to bats (laughter).

The other thing was that they should try and find a formula to cure the man and woman who honestly admitted that he could not recognise the sound of his own bell. He would rather see the Universities Association getting active with problems connected with the practical side than develop the theoretical side.

He was glad to know that the Universities Association was going on from strength to strength and had over 300 members and had extended its activities to Australia. He coupled with the toast the name of Dr. Hatcher, who he said was a College Youth.

Mr. E. S. John Hatcher, who replied, recalled how nearly eight years ago Mr. John Spice formed the U.A.C.R. in order that members of different universities could ring peals together. They had now 336 members from 17 different universities, together with the Lampeter Theological College, which awarded its own degree. In 1950 54 new members had appeared from 12 universities; Oxford, Cambridge, Bristol and London had flourishing societies of their own, and clearly the establishment of societies at all universities might be considered the ultimate aim. There were also small societies at Liverpool and Manchester, but they were still in the 'teething' stages. All the remaining six English universities had U.A. members, viz.: Birmingham, Durham, Leeds, Nottingham, Reading and Sheffield, while of the three English University Colleges taking external London degrees, Leicester and, he believed, Exeter could claim representation, leaving only Southampton to make a start. Of the four constituent colleges of the University of Wales, only Bangor was represented among its members, so Aberystwyth, Cardiff and Swansea remain to be 'tapped.' Across the border, Edinburgh and, recently, St. Andrew's Universities had their U.A. members, and during the year they had gone over the water (in the visible form of an Irish tour) to claim a member from Dublin. Finally, to complete the membership review, it was with the greatest delight that he asked them to welcome eight members from the recently-formed Adelaide University Guild.

GIFT TO LINCOLN CATHEDRAL

He would like to express the great joy and appreciation of the 40 members from 11 universities who experienced the warmth of an unforgettable welcome at Lincoln last summer. In particular, Mr. John A. Freeman, Master of both the Lincoln Diocesan Guild and of the Cathedral company, who undertook personal responsibility for all the intricate details of a crowded week, and as a token of their esteem to him personally and through him to his ringing colleagues they, as an Association, wished to present a visitors' book to Lincoln Cathedral ringing chamber. The book had been prepared by Mr. Denis Layton, and they had hoped that Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Freeman would have been present to receive the gift.

Mr. H. Miles, who submitted the toast of 'Kindred Societies,' spoke of the College Youths, the Cumberlands and the Oxford City Society, whose peal book dated back to 1733.

Recalling some of the peals he rang with the Rev. F. E. Robinson, Mr. Miles said he had heard a lot of criticism of him, but he did a lot of pioneer work in the country and in his own diocese, where there was little peal ringing. On one occasion at Shipton-under-Wychwood, the band arrived one short for a peal of Stedman. A retired schoolmaster with a massive beard, who had never rung a peal and had only rung short touches of Stedman before, agreed to stand in. The peal was successful, and at the end, as the Rev. Robinson was putting on his shirt—he always took his shirt off to ring—the schoolmaster approached him and said, 'I believe I did not ring well, but I did my best.' The Rev. Robinson replied, 'I have never known a man with whiskers ring well yet!'

NO PEAL: NO SUPPER

On the Rev. Robinson's birthday there was always a peal at Drayton, and a hot meal before and after the performance. On one occasion the peal broke down after two hours' ringing. The party strolled up to the Vicarage gate, and to their surprise Mr. Robinson turned round and said, 'Good night, gentlemen: no peal, no supper.'

They had had some suggestions about activities to which the Association could devote its attention. He would like them to consider changing Stedman from starting on the 5th row of a six. He was quite certain that was a stumbling block to beginners and young conductors. Recently he had received from one of their members a peal of Stedman Triples containing 308 singles and 88 bobs, which was a regular 10-part peal.

Mr. George A. Cross, Master of the Society of Royal Cumberland Youths, replied, and emphasised in his speech the importance of conductors calling their bobs in the right place.

THE ANNUAL MEETING

The annual meeting followed. The officers elected for 1951 were: President, Mr. E. H. Lewis; vice-president, the Rev. C. Elliot Wigg; secretary-treasurer, Dr. E. S. John Hatcher; Central Council representative, Miss Marie R. Cross.

TOWER CORNER—23

STEDMAN—FIRST ATTEMPTS AT RINGING

Dear Improvers.—Last time, we worked out the Blue Line for Stedman in the Doubles stage. The next step is to memorise it, and then to discover certain pointers or tips for working one's way among the other bells. Thus Lesson XIII. continues:—

Memorising Summary. Stedman Doubles Plain Course. Total of five Divisions or ten 'sixes.'

Front Path. (Three Divisions or six 'sixes.')

(a) Initial dodge in 4-5 down. (Half a six.)

(b) Slow work. (Five sixes.) F.P.P. is Middle Thirds.

(c) Terminal dodge in 4-5 up. (Half a six.)

Back Path. (Two Divisions or four sixes.)

(a) Initial dodge in 4-5 up. (Half a six.)

(b) Double dodge in 4-5 down. (One six.)

(c) Quick work. (One six.) B.P.P. is the Lead. ('Right'.)

(d) Double dodge in 4-5 up. (One six.)

(e) Terminal dodge in 4-5 down. (Half a six.)

Learning the Work. Each of the above 'paths' is seen to be 'reflective' about its pivot position. 'F.P.P.' refers to the front path pivot, and 'B.P.P.' refers to the back path pivot. From the pivot position in each path the half-path reads the same in either direction. In the Quick work there are only three change-rows of plain hunting on either side of the pivot; but in the Slow work there are no less than '2½ sixes' on either side of the pivot. Each of these '2½ sixes' comprises a whole turn and a half turn, as we have already observed. These 'turn' features are reversed about the 'Middle Thirds' of the whole Slow work. Thoroughly memorise this plan and its details before going on to pick up the pointers for ringing, which come next.

Division Head Positions. (The student is recommended to refer, at this juncture, to figure 11 in the previous instalment (22), in order to appreciate more clearly the following observations.) Referring to the small circles, entered at intervals along the Blue Line, we recall that these mark the positions from which the bells there move off at the Division-heads. If these positions are noted in succession, the order given is that of 'Position Sequence.' Our first reference to this was in instalment 18, where we pointed out that an improved way of learning a method by the Blue Line is to learn the latter by its Divisions. The next step then, is to commit to memory the places where these circles come, in the general plan now learnt. The point of learning the Blue Line by its Divisions is of three-fold importance: (a) it gives the starting work of each bell from rounds; (b) it checks one's position at the Links of the method. (In a hunt-controlled method this may be spoken of as checking your work 'by your leads';) (c) it enables a forecast of position at a coming Link and thus to check the 'go-off,' if a change of method is called, in 'spliced' ringing. Incidentally, when you get on to spliced ringing and encounter it with Stedman included, you may find your Conductor gives the call, for change of method from Stedman, preferably, to be effective after the 3rd change-row of a Quick six, i.e., after the Stedman Division-end. Similarly, the Stedman method should be 'entered' at the 4th row of a Quick six, i.e., at the Stedman Division-head.

Checks in the Slow Work. Note the five positions of 3rds place in the Slow work. The first is made 'right,' i.e., handstroke then backstroke; but since it introduces a slow six (backward hunting), the first whole turn opens 'wrong,' i.e., backstroke-handstroke. The second lead of this whole turn introduces a quick six (forward hunting), so is made 'right,' i.e., h/s-b/s. Now follows the second 3rds place, made 'wrong,' i.e., b/s-h/s, introducing the first half turn with a hand snapping blow at lead, to close the six. The next (third) six is slow, opening from seconds position (up), and introduces the third or middle 3rds place.

made 'right,' h/s-b/s; and so on to the second half turn, with a back snapping blow at lead. (It may be helpful to think of these two half-turn snaps as together making up one whole-pull lead 'right'.) This closes the third six of the slow work. The fourth six, quick, also opens from 2nds position, up, and introduces the fourth 3rds place, made 'wrong,' b/s-h/s, and the last whole turn; the first lead of which, made 'right,' h/s-b/s, closes this six. The fifth and last six (slow), of the slow work opens with the snap-in-seconds position of this last whole turn, the second lead of which is made 'wrong,' b/s-h/s. So it is seen that a lead 'wrong,' opens the first whole turn and closes the last whole turn. This last six now closes with the fifth and last 3rds place, made 'right.' So it is seen that three 3rds places 'right' sandwich two 3rds places 'wrong,' in other words the five 3rds places are alternately 'right' and 'wrong' throughout the slow work.

Some Further Tips for Ringing the Method. The works of reference quoted in issue of December 15th, and others, give some useful tips for ringing Stedman. Here are one or two more:—

Dodging in Stedman. When in the dodging work every dodging blow, (i.e., the blow at which you step back in your tracks), whether you are working up or working down, is a HANDSTROKE blow. This is useful knowledge if you happen, during the long dodging which sometimes troubles beginners, to forget which way you are going. For example, if the handstroke is in a lower position than your backstroke, then you must be on your way UP—and vice versa (i.e., if the handstroke is higher than the backstroke then you must be on your way DOWN).

Slow Work. Always make a place in the 3rds position. (5 in all.) There is no making of 2nds place.

Leading position: When a whole pull is led, always snap into seconds and lead again. (The whole turns.) Between the two whole turns there are two snap leads in the 'natural' order, i.e., 'right' then 'wrong.'

Quick or Slow. Approaching the front work, you MUST know how to enter it. Unless calls have disturbed the cycle of work, this is, as you know, the opposite of how you left it. If you lose count during calls, of the effect on re-entry, there are ways of checking your entry, one of which should be employed in any event. In Doubles, the bell dodged with while you are in 4-5 up is your 'course bell.' The course bell gives you the key to entry into the front work. For when you get into 4-5 down that bell will already be in the front work. If you strike it quickly as you come into 4-5 down, you must go in quick, but if you are slow to strike it, i.e., at the end of your dodging, you must go in slow. If you have missed your course bell (as you may do, especially after several calls in Stedman on higher stages), when in 4-5 down, notice how the bells are coming to lead. If at hand, it must be a quick six, so you will enter the next one slow. If at back, it must be a slow six so you will enter the next one quick. If you have missed both these pointers you are in a bad way, and must resort to the following: As you enter the six from the 4ths position, pick out the two bells in front of the one you are cutting under into 3rds position. One of these is, of course, leading, the other in 2nds position. Now you may find what you must do next from the way in which either of these two bells is moving; that is to say you find that you must either make 3rds or step straight on into 2nds position; the former being an entry slow, the latter an entry quick. But suppose the bell you are watching, to derive this indication, itself makes a mistake. What now? You may thus be misled. So you must keep your eye on both these bells in front of you. The one leading, if making a full lead (quick six), will keep his eye on the tenor, and the one in 2nds position will then turn his eye to you. Either of these indications is correct for a quick entry and if both are duly given, you will be fairly safe in assuming yours is a quick entry. On the other hand, for a slow entry on your part, the ringer at the lead will give a snap blow only and turn his eye to the one in 2nds position; while this one will turn his eye towards the tenor to lead. This forces you to make 3rds place, and thus enter slow. The foregoing thus give you three successive chances of pulling yourself together to make the correct entry into the front work—quick or slow—and you will be a poor ringer indeed if you miss them all!

Remainder. We hope to complete, in Lesson XIV., our next instalment, these notes on learning to ring the Stedman Method. We shall have something further to say about 'Calls' and about the extension of the method to the higher stages. We hope to include a Quiz on the principles of method structure so far touched upon, and to indicate the method next chosen for study.—Cordially yours.

STORY OF A GREAT RINGING CAREER

DIARY OF THE LATE MR. W. H. FUSSELL—5

Edited by ERNEST MORRIS

MR. Fussell's attempt for his second peal was a failure. It was at Ealing on June 17th, 1882, when, after 2 hours 35 minutes of Holt's Original, the 7th and 5th changed course, so he 'went home greatly disappointed.' This surely must have upset him for he reports next day, Sunday, 'did not go out to ring all day.' He reports that Mr. Parker, of Farnham, was ill, so he walked over from Slough to see him 'his face being much swollen with neuralgia.' They went to the church and rang 720 Grand-sire Minor and 360 Bob Minor—had four breakdowns in all. 'Parker looked a comical fellow with his head tied up.' He recounts many further walks and practices, and also a visit to Henley Regatta where he met several parson friends, and went on the tower roof to have a view of the country. In the evening he rang on the eight bells, tenor 23½ cwt.

INCIDENT AT ST. MARY'S, READING

The next day he rode there again on his bicycle 'to get some cocoa-nuts we shied for, but forgot to bring away. Found them where we had hidden them. Had some ale in a pub close by the Bridge where I was served by a person whom I met in a pub by Swallowfield when I had a long walk from Reading. I knew her again at once.'

He tells of a noisy interlude at Reading St. Mary's when 'we rang about 600 changes when old Alder broke us down by his noisy talking. R. Allen came up—not in an amiable state of mind. Alder and he soon had a row which ended in a quarrel, Allen spanking the old steeplekeeper's face. In fact, there was a commotion all round. Alder saying he would always be an enemy to change-ringing and meant to be. No more ringing was done and the bells were let down.'

Tuesday, July 18th, 1882, annual meeting of the Oxford Guild at Oxford, 'see "Bell News" for full account of the meeting, dinner and service.' Mr. Fussell says he rang at Magdalen (10), New College (10), Christ Church (10), Merton College (8), St. Peter's in the East (6), mostly Grandsire. 'Met the Rev. Mayo and the Rev. F. E. Robinson, Field. Hounslow and others, and we rang 1-2 to Grandsire Caters.'

On the occasion of Mr. Armstrong's return to St. Laurence's, Reading, they rang Doubles on the front five and back five bells placed; for Sunday service they rang call changes. When the West Middlesex Association met at Staines, he got up at 6 a.m. and walked there, arriving at 9.15. Went to the tower and pulled up several bells and made a general inspection. Seventeen ringers turned up but nothing worth hearing was done, the bells going so badly and the band not good enough to handle them well. The frame rocked a lot. He adds 'with persuasion a number of us made across the river and over the common to Egham where we rang 720 Grandsire Minor. Left at 9 p.m. and Wilder and I walked home via Datchet—walked 22 miles during this day.'

A SUCCESSFUL DAY AND A HECTIC NIGHT

Mr. Fussell went to camp with Slough No. 5 Company, 1st Bucks Rifle Volunteers in August, 1882. 'By train to Ashridge Park, Earl Brownlow's seat near Tring. Had to change at Aylesbury and saw the central church tower (8 bell.)' He then records 'after morning parade—on Saturday, 5th—which was a long one, I at once got permission to be absent from camp till 11 p.m. Walked to Great Berkhamsted, three miles, took train to Willesden Junction and then to Acton. Walked from there to Ealing and arrived at the church at 5.30. Saw Mr. Baron and we went and had ale, bread and cheese, this being the only food I had had since breakfast. Went to the tower at 6 o'clock.

Owing to garden party at Vicarage, word was sent for us to stop for half an hour. However, when we did get going, we rang successfully, Holt's Original. I was glad when the peal finished as the striking was none too good. Basden seemed exhausted and I had hardly time to say goodnight and get my coat on before hurrying off to catch the train back. The peal finished about 9.15, my train left Acton at 9.30. I ran nearly all the way and arrived two minutes after the train had gone. The next train, ten o'clock, took me to Willesden in time to catch the last train down which only went as far as Watford. Reached there about 14 minutes to midnight in a strange locality, for I had never been here before—and a walk of 14 miles before me on an empty stomach for I had not had a stop till now. The night was extremely dark and a few moonlight glints only caused it to be intense. A poor woman and her daughter had to walk some distance on the road, there being no conveyance to be got. I could never have found the way alone. We overtook, about two o'clock in the morning, some farm wagons returning from Covent Garden Market and had a ride for some distance, this being a help to the poor woman who had some heavy parcels to carry with which I assisted her. We parted at Boxmoor about 3 a.m.

Many incidents occurred along the road which would have frightened many, if alone. A manure cart had broken down, nearly blocking the road, and the swearing and noisy sound of men's voices on the still night air urging the horses, etc., seemed as if a highway robbery was being attempted. As I continued on across the moor, the faint dawn of daybreak was fast rising. I was feeling quite exhausted and done up, not having had much sleep during the few nights in camp owing to noisy bedfellows.

AN UNEXPECTED SUPPER

Several men were stumbling about a little distance off, so I at once went and enquired if it was possible to get something to eat and drink at any public that might be near. Seeing that they had had plenty and were well-nigh drunk, one of them—a very nice, gentlemanly sort of fellow—at once took my arm and led me up a passage close by, which led to his house. During the walk he became very friendly, calling me "old man" and "old friend." "Come," he said, "I'll make you comfortable. You shall stay with me, old man, all night; come along." Continuing like this for some way—sometimes very incoherent—we at last found ourselves in his back parlour, the way having been left all unlocked as if they were expected. I never had a more agreeable surprise than this occasion—a nice Saturday night's supper was all laid out, with bread, cheese, fish and steak, beer, whisky and other things, that nearly prompted my hungry and famished feelings to pounce upon and begin devouring at once. Presently female voices were heard and my friend's wife and mother-in-law came down and began firing away and questioning. The supper had been ready since eight o'clock the previous evening. Two other women neighbours came in and took their husbands home with not complimentary words in their ears. My host and I, left alone, soon settled down to a quiet meal and the ladies, on hearing how far I had walked, made me very comfortable and offered to make me up a bed. About four o'clock they got me a cup of coffee, some bread and butter, and came to the door and saw me off, giving directions to my best road to Berkhamsted. Got into camp about five a.m. and had an hour's sleep before beginning another day's duty, my bedfellows wondering what time I had come in during the night. As luck would have it my duties were very heavy for the rest of the camp—falling in for picket on Sunday, a night guard on Monday after Brigade drill on some steep hills close by. I was glad when we returned to Slough on the Thursday following.'

In August he had ten days' holiday in and around Weymouth with his father, and gives the names of places he visited. Later in the month he walked to Great Marlow, through Maidenhead and Quarry Woods. He started at 11 a.m. and arrived at 2 p.m., 'after having lost myself in Maidenhead Thicket, blackberrying.' On arrival, he heard the bells being pulled up, and found Mr. Truss busy oiling and adjusting ropes. He then went to Mr. Truss's house, 'The Two Brewers,' and had some ale, bread and cheese, and then the Reading ringers arrived in a wagonette, and he saw them start for a peal of Grandsire Triples. He then left for Farnham, walking through Cookham and Burnham, arriving at the church at 7 p.m. Here he rang the tenor in a 720 Grandsire Minor. Left the tower at 9 p.m. and got home 11 p.m., having walked 23 miles.

After giving many other notes on walks and cycle rides to ring and to copy bell inscriptions and to sketch at various churches around, he says: 'September 16th. This is my birthday, being 21 years of age. Walked to Farnham in the evening (and back). Rang 720 called by Flaxman in 25½ minutes.' The next morning he went again and rang 720 for early Communion and got home at eight; then back again for 720 for Harvest Festival, returning to Slough for evening service ringing.

DEAN OF WINDSOR'S DEATH

The following Saturday was his brother Alfred's 28th birthday. They walked to Windsor to ring at the Curfew for the Dean of Windsor's death, aged 72. Mr. Fussell tolled his age on the tenor, the bells being muffled. They rang these bells again next day. Later, he says, 'Our old friend Woodley turned up at Windsor again after a long absence. A good tenor man if only he would attend better, but King and him could never do well in each other's company. Windsor seems a very critical place to get permission to go for a peal. King is evidently very abashed to call on a clergyman and ask him permission or else he does not wish us to go, and too fussy to take the necessary steps for us to attempt a peal.'

On many dates he mentions writing notes, articles, accounts of meetings, etc., for Harvey Reeves, Editor of the 'Bell News,' and states frequently how he endeavoured to get ringers of the various places he visited to take the paper. As already stated, many of the illustrations of churches that appeared in that journal were from Mr. Fussell's sketches.

THOUGHTS ON AUSTRALIA

The November issue of 'Ringing Towers,' the monthly publication of the N.S.W. Association of Change Ringers contains a letter from Mr. Harold Poole addressed to Mr. W. Smith, of Pymble, N.S.W., in reply to a message of congratulation.

'You probably saw in "The Ringing World" that I organised a tour of Ireland last year. We had a wonderful time. I wonder if one day we may be able to come out to see you people in Australia. Nothing would give me greater pleasure. I would love to bring some of our young ringers but that would mean raising some finance to assist them. Perhaps it may be possible to arrange some lectures on ringing, handbell demonstrations and entertainments to assist in defraying some of the costs. Please convey our very kindest regards to your ringers and express the hope that one day we may have the pleasure of meeting them.'

'Once again many thanks for the kind thoughts which prompted your letter of congratulations.'

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

CHRISTMAS BELLS—LOW STANDARD OF RINGING

Dear Sir,—I have just listened to the radio programme 'Christmas Bells,' and my immediate comment was 'Thank God for the West Country "stoney" ringer.' The programme of ringing, with the exception of the six at Portishead, was a poor show.

We read of representations to the B.B.C. for more ringing broadcasts and yet when ten minutes are allotted and a glorious opportunity arises to proclaim our art, all we get is some eight minutes of really bad striking.

To the layman, bad striking (clashing he would call it) sounds a lot worse than six or eight in well-struck rounds or call changes. A method, be it Grandsire or London, doesn't sound much different to the uninitiated, especially if badly struck.

Where does the C.C. B.B.C. Relations Officer come into this? Surely some advice in the right quarters would help, or if he is not consulted, why not wash out the appointment?

We get now to the point. 'Why such a poor sample? Individuals and local bands are partially at fault but by far the larger blame must rest with the Exercise and by that I mean our organisation of Guilds and Associations.'

My own Guild, and it usually ranks high in the number of peals rung and in variety, has, amongst its members, some of the foremost ringers of the day. We go to our Guild meetings and get some good ringing and give the learners, etc., their fair share of instruction, but of what value are these meetings (perhaps six a year on the average) to the struggling band?

What concerted effort is made? (There are individual attempts.) There is a growing apathy amongst our more advanced ringers. (This they will now emphatically deny and hasten to add they will arrange a peal for any learner who wants to ring one.) How many will give up a night or two a week to ring five bells in a country church eight or ten miles from home?

Where does our Central Council assist us in this? (For without a continued drive for more and more new ringers and advancement for the backward, the day may come when their services are no longer required.) The annual meeting is undoubtedly an attractive social event but where does it lead? Peals on Basingstoke 9 Charlie Kinnin's Cambridge Single, five and seven bell peals, the Carter Ringing Machine, all interesting problems in their way and which arouse feelings and make 'The Ringing World' interesting. But the root of the trouble is ignored! Six years of war, several with bells silent followed by the turmoil of so-called peace and then more war and war production in industry, is a continuous drain on the limited resources of the Exercise, and one that must be faced by it as a whole and not left to local towers.

The Exercise must give the lead: spend money on national publicity and give the incentive to Guilds and Associations to recruit strength: institute rivalry for membership increase over a given time: sponsor competitive festivals; use any method within the law to foster our art and leave someone to carry on when to-day's experts have passed on. Remember our objective should be to see that the bells in every parish (that are ringable, of course) are rung for divine service on every occasion and not as the casual reader of 'The Ringing World' would imagine, that of fostering supermen who ring record lengths in a variety of methods.

Whilst you may have qualms as to publishing this letter, I would stress that apart from the storm the foregoing comments will undoubtedly raise, the whole is intended as constructive criticism and I consider, a fair statement of facts viewed from my position as the secretary of a rural branch of our Diocesan Guild.—Yours faithfully,

JOHN A. HILL, Hon. Sec.,

Andover District,
Winchester and Portsmouth Guild.

SUSSEX RINGER'S OPINION

Dear Sir,—On Christmas morning I rang at home, 6.15—7.15 a.m., but was unable to ring for morning service as it was my job to examine five miles of railway track. I timed myself to arrive at a friend's line-side house to hear the broadcast at 9.20. This was not a patch on last year (I can still hear Skipton bells). The fine ring at Cardiff came over very poorly, while the nice tone of Willenhall was spoilt by the poor striking. And so, having missed Redcliffe and York Minster on Christmas Eve, I went on my way very disappointed.

Soon after, I was cheered up by the sound of Burwash bells from high on the ridge and for the next mile or so I walked to the sound of good rounds on this light but pleasant octave. At 10.30 they ceased, but nearing the end of my journey my feeling of disappointment just vanished, for coming along the valley, on the light breeze, was the sound of Salehurst bells. Only Grandsire Triples, but what music! Enough to cheer up any ringer. Thank you Burwash and Salehurst.

C. A. B.

CAN PRODUCE SOMETHING BETTER

Dear Sir,—Listening to the programme 'Christmas Bells' at 9.20 on the Home Service on Christmas morning, I was very distressed. What did we hear? Doubles, Triples and Caters; surely English ringers can produce something better than a continual clattering (I can find no other expression for it) with the tenor behind.

I shall probably invoke a storm of criticism but, as a young ringer, I can't understand one bell being left out of a method.

Please don't say it's more musical; that argument is long worn out. Let's get out of the rut: 'tenor in' is no more difficult than 'tenor behind,' and the variety of methods is far more interesting.

Progress is the watchword in any calling; let us not shirk it in ours.—Yours faithfully,
Bourne, Lincs. JAMES W. HAW

Mr. E. H. Lewis, in his speech to the Universities' Association comments on the low standard.—Ed.

DOGS AND BELLS

Dear Sir.—Some years ago, one of our ringers at St. Mary's, Warwick, had an old dog which could often be seen lying on the doorstep, which was only a few steps from the church. He would be quite happy while the bells were ringing but if ever the tenor was turned in to Major or Royal, he would set up a terrific howl until the bells came round.—Yours sincerely,

Warwick. T. MALE.

AN OLD YORKSHIRE RINGER

Dear Sir.—The following lines are on a grave-stone in Bingley Parish Churchyard, Yorkshire, of Hezekiah Briggs, who was sexton at this church for 43 years. He died in 1844 at the age of 79 years, and interred upwards of 7,000 people. The stone is to be found just before reaching the main entrance to the church.

There lies an old ringer beneath this cold clay,
Who has rung many peals both for serious and gay.

Through 'Grandsire' and 'Trebles' with ease he could range.
Till death called a hob which called round the last change.

For all the village came to him
When they had need to call;
His counsel free to all was given,
For he was kind to all.
For all the village came to him.

Ring on, ring on, sweet Sabbath bell
Still kind to me thy matins swell.
And when from earthly things I part,
Sigh o'er my grave and lull my heart
Yours sincerely,

PAUL BIRKETT.

Queensbury, Bradford.

ST. PATRICK'S CATHEDRAL, NEW YORK

Dear Sir,—While trying to find something interesting to listen-in to on the wireless on December 23rd, I heard some bells ringing from a German broadcasting station on the medium waveband, about 292 metres. To my surprise the announcer, a lady, conveyed greetings from New York, and with it the bells of St. Patrick's Cathedral, New York, rang out. The ringing was undoubtedly by a team of bell-ringers and they were doing change-ringing.

As far as I know, St. Patrick's Cathedral, New York, is Roman Catholic, and I would be interested to know how many bells this edifice has, the weight, and by whom cast. I have not been able to find any reference to bells in the church.

Apparently it was a greetings inter-change programme as the bells of all European countries were rung, and the grand finale came with all the bells ringing together!—Yours sincerely,
FRED E. DUKES.

Drogheda, Eire.

SCIENTIFIC TRIPLES

Dear Sir,—I was pleased to see the enquiry of Mr. Cook, re Scientific Triples, the Gibraltar of ringing.

Mr. Carter published a composition in the method in 'Bell News' of July 21st, 1906: this is a one-part, non-observation composition and is a formidable job in itself. I do not know if it is the only possible one, and often wondered if the late J. W. Parker could have got another one if he had considered it.

Perhaps that genius of composition, Mr. Pitman, could give this matter his attention some time, and report results? No touches were published.—Yours sincerely,

M. F. R. HIBBERT.

Bushey.

'YE RASCALLY RINGERS'

Dear Sir,—Mr. Nolan Golden is apparently correct in assuming that the 'Old Somerset Rhyme' is of Norfolk origin. Snowden, in his book 'Double Norwich,' published 1884, says that during the years 1817—1821 the ringers at St. Peter's used to practise 'Court Ten In' during the summer months at 6 a.m. The parish clerk's name is given as John Twiddy and he wrote the lines of 'Ye Rascally Ringers,' which were published in the 'Norwich Mercury.'

With reference to your leading article on Thomas Post, a friend of mine, Mr. Sidney Walter, of Wickhambreau, remembers the old gentleman quite well. He purchased a copy of his poems from him at a meeting held at Aldington in 1903.—Yours sincerely,

B. J. LUCK.

Canterbury.

DEDICATION

MARKET WEIGHTON, YORKS

On December 15th, the recast ring of six bells (tenor 9½ cwt.) was dedicated by the Bishop of Selby (the Right Rev. C. F. Knvett). The Bishop congratulated those responsible for the restoration of the bells which, he said, carried a message of fellowship.

After the dedication ceremony 60 changes of Grandsire Doubles were rung by the following local ringers:—E. Dove 1, F. Kneeshaw 2, P. Thompson 3, N. Kneeshaw 4, John W. Kneeshaw 5, H. Musk tenor. Following the service the bells were kept going by ringers from Hull, Beverley, Pocklington and Nunburnholm until 9 p.m.

These bells, which were first cast in 1783, were of very poor tone, but now that they have been recast and hung in ball bearings, they are a very good ring and a credit to the founders, Messrs. John Taylor and Co., who were represented at the service by Mr. J. H. Fidler.

All the old inscriptions have been reproduced and in addition, on the tenor, the following has been inscribed:—'John William Kneeshaw, a ringer since 1897 and for many years tower-keeper, through whose initiative and perseverance these bells were recast, 1950.'

W. H. FUSSELL'S DIARY Slough Ringer's Corrections

Dear Sir,—May I be permitted to correct an error in your leader relating to the diary of the late Mr. W. H. Fussell, of Slough. You stated: 'He was the first to ring a peal in every county in England and in Wales (except Anglesey).' I well remember the occasion when he did ring a peal in Anglesey. For many years he had wanted to complete the tally, and finally his opportunity came on the decease of someone connected with Beaumaris tower.

He told me he knew he would never be able to ring a peal there as long as this gentleman was alive, though what feud existed to prevent his doing so he never explained. However, he rang a peal of Grandsire Triples at Beaumaris on July 9th, 1938, conducted by Mr. R. Sperring. Mr. Fussell, is, I believe, not only the first, but still the only ringer to complete a peal in every county in England and Wales.

I am afraid I must, with Mr. Pulling, explain to Mr. G. R. Newton that the first of Mr. Fussell's four Georges was, in fact, Mr. George Newson. How many peals Mr. Fussell rang in company with Mr. George Newson I do not know, but Mr. Newson conducted no less than 78 of Mr. Fussell's first 120 peals, and I have myself often heard Mr. Fussell refer to George Newson as the first of his Georges. Apart from Messrs. George Newson (38), George Williams (116), George Martin (108) and George Pye (45), the most noted conductor in Mr. Fussell's career is Mr. Frank Bennett, who called 102 of his peals.

May I also point out that the photograph you published of Slough Parish Church is that where Mr. Fussell did his ringing, but not, as the caption stated, where he did his early ringing. This fine church was erected in 1912-13 (western half) and 1876-78 (eastern half) to replace an ugly church built on the site in 1835 as a new parish church. The new tower was built in 1913, and instead of a 9 cwt. ring of eight, a 17½ cwt. ring was installed of which Mr. Fussell donated the tenor, which bears his name. His early ringing was done in the small, former tower.

'SWEET WILLIAM'

Those who knew Mr. Fussell personally, can tell many stories of his practical joking and escapades. Mr. Sinkins, of Slough (aged 85), who learned to ring with Mr. Fussell, relates the story of the first peal attempt on the bells in the former tower. On their augmentation to eight in 1876, a band, including Messrs. Sinkins, W. H. and A. C. Fussell, met to ring Grandsire Triples. There existed some personal animosity between Mr. Fussell and his half-brother. Mr. W. H. Fussell used to call Holt's Original and Mr. A. C. Fussell, Holt's 10-part. At the base of the tower some discussion took place on who should call the peal and the band decided by vote that Mr. A. C. Fussell should conduct. Mr. Sinkins relates how, on the way 'to the stairs, W. H. F. said to him, 'I don't think we shall get this.' 'Why not?' retorted Mr. Sinkins. 'We have a good hand,' W. H. F. reiterated that he didn't think they would score. The peal progressed satisfactorily until the 5039th change. 13254768 occurred when W. H. F. left his bell set at backstroke and the final rounds weren't rung. Mr. Wilder, already referred to in the diary as 'Uncle' shook his fist in W. H. F.'s face saying 'You are a sweet William, and if I weren't in a part of the church I'd make your face so that your mother wouldn't know you!' Hence he acquired the nickname 'Sweet William,' by which many of his very early ringing friends knew him. Incidentally, the first peal on the bells was rung in February, 1877, and W. H. F. was not in the band!—Yours truly,
W. BIRMINGHAM
Slough.

PAISLEY, SCOTLAND. — On Dec. 24th, 1,260 Grandsire Triples: Ian Peacock 1, J. Hunt 2, N. Sharp, jun. 3, Mrs. L. H. Caldwell 4, A. Scott 5, A. T. Smith, jun. 6, N. Sharp (cond.) 7, R. Smith 8.

YORKSHIRE ASSOCIATION Eastern District

The winter quarterly meeting of the Eastern District was held at York on December 9th, when about 75 ringers attended including members of the Ladies' Guild and visitors from Leicestershire, Herefordshire, Cheshire, Nottinghamshire and Derbyshire.

Ringling on the magnificent twelve bells of the Minster commenced at 1.30 p.m. till 2.30 p.m., the time of the service of rededication of the famous Five Sisters Window, which was attended by about 2,500 people from various parts of the county. Further ringing took place, followed by tea, which was served in Davy Hall.

The business meeting was held in the ringing chamber, which was crowded, and was presided over by the vice-president, Mr. A. H. Fox, who, after welcoming so many visiting ringers, asked the company to stand in memory of Mr. H. C. Walters, of Pontefract, a former Ringing Master of the Eastern District.

Five new members were elected, viz.—Messrs. P. Barnes, Lincolnshire, and H. Myatt, Leicestershire (Out-County), and R. Ducker, Sutton-on-Hull, C. Ormby, Cottingham, and Miss Ruth Cooper, Sutton-on-Hull, ordinary ringing members.

Market Weighton was selected as the next place of meeting in April.

A vote of thanks to the Dean and Minster authorities for their kindness in inviting the Association to hold the meeting at York, and to the Minster ringers, especially Messrs. H. Walker and S. Steel, for the excellent arrangements, was proposed by the chairman and seconded by Mr. T. H. Foster. Mr. H. Walker, the president of the Minster ringers, responded, and Mrs. Kelly also spoke of the pleasure the Ladies' Guild had in visiting York and of the privilege they had enjoyed in being asked to ring the service touch.

An apology for non-attendance was received from Mr. A. E. Sellers, of Beverley.

Further ringing till 7.30 terminated a very enjoyable meeting.

MR. W. J. NUDDS' 500 PEALS Ringer For Nearly 60 Years

Minor: Plain Bob, 2 (cond. 1); three methods, 6 (2); Cambridge Surprise, 1; seven Plain methods, 3 (2); seven Treble Bob methods, 2 (2).

Triples: Stedman, 38 (2); Grandsire, 2.

Major: Plain Bob, 6 (2); Double Oxford Bob, 1; Double Norwich, 28 (2); Kent Treble Bob, 10 (2); Oxford Treble Bob, 7 (2); Superlative Surprise, 40 (1); Cambridge, 33; London, 6; Bristol, 22; New Cambridge, 1.

Caters: Stedman, 78, including 18,027 Easter Monday, 1909; Grandsire, 5.

Royal: Kent Treble Bob, 13; Oxford Treble Bob, 2; Forward, 1; Duffield, 1; Cambridge Surprise, 30, including 10,440; New Cambridge, 3; Middlesex, 8.

Cinques: Stedman, 33, including three in 24 hours in 1905 at Quex Park, Birchington; Grandsire, 1.

Maximus: Plain Bob, 2; Kent Treble Bob, 7; Superlative Surprise, 4; Cambridge Surprise, 32, including 7,392 at St. Mary le Bow, London.

Handbells: Stedman Triples, 4; Caters, 7; Cinques, 1; Kent Treble Bob Major, 2; Royal, 3; Plain Bob Royal, 5.

Total rung upon tower bells 478 (cond. 18); handbells, 22.

Other noteworthy performances include two peals of Stedman Cinques and one of Kent Treble Bob Maximus rung at Waterloo tower, Quex Park, in 24 hours in 1904. On Easter Monday, 1914, four peals of Surprise were rung in one day—Bristol, London, Cambridge, Superlative, rung in Surrey (2), Middlesex (1), Berks (1). He also rang all the bells at St. Saviour's Cathedral, Southwark, to peals of Stedman Cinques.

Excluding St. Paul's, Mr. Nudds has rung a peal, or peals, upon all the 8, 10 and 12 bells in and around London. These were spread over nearly 60 years of ringing, and he is still hopeful of many more years of useful service.

DEDICATION OF YATTON, SOMERSET, BELLS

On December 16th, it was unfortunate that travelling was so bad owing to ice and snow when the restored ring of eight bells at Yatton, Somerset, were dedicated by the Archbishop of Bath, the Ven. Edwin A. Cooke. The church, however, was full of ringers, parishioners and friends.

The service was fully choral, the choir, under their choirmaster, M. H. B. Emery, with Miss J. Head at the Console, were attired in blue cassocks for the first time, and the Vicar, Preb. G. A. Beechey, conducted the service. Preb. Pugh and Preb. Powell (Rural Dean) read the lessons.

The Archdeacon took as his text the inscription on the ancient 7th bell, 'I will sing the mercies of God for ever.'

The local ringers rang rounds during the service and afterwards several plain courses of Grandsire Triples were rung, ending with a good 168. The tower was then open to visiting ringers who ventured from as far as Dorset, Devon and London; in all, between 25 and 30 towers were represented.

THE BELLS

Treble—Diam., 2 ft. 6 ins.; weight, 5 cwt. 3 qr. 8 lb.; note, D. 1950. Mears and Stainbank.

INSCRIPTIONS

Treble.—G. A. Beechey, Vicar, W. Vincent Wood, T. L. Harborne, Churchwardens.

2nd.—Recast by Local Farmers

3rd.—In memory of Thomas Price, Churchwarden. 1874—1895.

4th.—In memory of Mary Barnard who loved these bells. Churchwarden 1923—1930.

5th.—1662.

6th.—Mears and Stainbank, London, recast 1903.

7th.—(In Latin) I will sing the mercies of God for ever.

8th.—James Bilbie, 1809.

The restoration was entrusted to Messrs. Mears and Stainbank, of London, and Mr. Albert Hughes, his family and staff are to be heartily congratulated on a really fine job. Mr. Tom Lawrence was in charge of the installation at the tower. All visitors agreed, without exception, that the 'go' of all bells is excellent. Ringing continued until 9 p.m.

Tea was served in the Church Hall by an enthusiastic ladies' committee who are to be congratulated on the sumptuous fare they provided.

OBITUARIES OF THE WEEK

MR. J. H. GODFREY

A great loss has been sustained by the parish church and ringers of Ottery St. Mary, as well as by the Guild of Devonshire Ringers, by the death of Mr. John Henry Godfrey, at the age of 81. He was a regular worshipper in the church (until his long illness), one of its assistant governors, and captain of the ringers for nearly a quarter of a century.

As honorary secretary and treasurer of the East Branch of the Guild for 24 years, he rendered most useful service, and at the time of his death he was one of the Guild's vice-presidents. He had rung 12 peals in the four standard methods, but with him Sunday service ringing was always uppermost in his mind. He was a pupil of the late Rev. Maitland Kelly (at one time Vicar of Ottery St. Mary and president of the Guild), and it was very interesting to hear him speak of their efforts to ring their first peal on New Year's Eve, 1896.

The parish magazine of that time records that they had attempted the peal on December 26th but, unfortunately, it came to grief only three courses from the end. The account continues: 'It must be a matter of great satisfaction to our respected bellman, Mr. George Godfrey, to have taken part in this long ring, and to have had with him three of his sons, the youngest of whom undertook the most difficult part of Bob-caller.'

The office of 'bellman' is a very ancient one in the town, and the duties included going round to the houses at Christmas-time and announcing the Nativity of Christ by reciting some lines and ringing a bell. The deceased succeeded his father in the office.

The funeral took place at Ottery St. Mary Church on December 21st, and was conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. D. Rufus Price) assisted by Prebendary E. V. Cox (president of the Guild) and the Rev. J. Reed, assistant curate. Fellow-ringers acted as bearers. He leaves four sons and three daughters, and is survived by three of his brothers.

Muffled ringing, in which Messrs. A. W. Searle and W. G. Burrow (Exeter) and C. Woodley (Sidbury) also participated, took place after the service and again in the evening.

MRS. W. H. FLETCHER

We regret to announce the death on December 16th, at the age of 82, of Mrs. Fletcher, widow of the late W. H. Fletcher, and mother of the Misses D. R. and K. E. Fletcher, of 11, Aylesbury End, Beaconsfield.

Since 1921, when the family moved to Beaconsfield, she had always taken a keen interest in church affairs, serving on the committees of the Women's Institute and Mothers' Union, and was especially interested in bells and ringers. In the years before the war, when peal ringing was more active in the district, many of the older members of the branch will remember her hospitality after a peal attempt here, and her home was always 'open house' to the local band.

The funeral service on December 20th at the Parish Church was attended by a large number of friends, and among the floral tributes were those from the Mothers' Union, the Parish Church Sunday School and the local ringers.

MR. W. H. POPHAM

Weston-super-Mare tower has lost its captain by the death, at his home, 11, Severn Road, of Mr. W. H. Popham ('Pop') on December 15th. He was always happy to welcome any visitors to the tower.

The funeral took place at Weston Cemetery on December 19th. Preb. H. B. Salmon (Rector) and the Rev. H. F. Warren (Curate) taking part in the service. Ringers present included Messrs. J. White (Weston), J. Weaden (Worle), G. Prescott (Kewstoke) and E. J. Avery (Churchill).

The bells of the Parish Church were rung muffled after the service and a quarter peal of Grandsire Triples was rung on December 22nd.

MR. HARRY SUTTON

The death of Mr. Harry Sutton removes a very familiar figure in ringing circles in Devizes. Harry, as he was known to his many friends, was a ringer at St. Mary's Church for nearly 70 years, and the organ-blower for 50 years. He was always ready to help another tower in the town when they required assistance. On his 88th birthday he climbed to the tower and rang the tenor (17½ cwt.).

He died in St. James' Hospital on December 15th, in his 89th year, his wife predeceasing him many years ago. Mr. Sutton was elected an hon. life member of the Salisbury Diocesan Guild in 1942.

He leaves one son and daughter, nephew and great-nephew to mourn his loss. The funeral took place at St. Mary's on December 19th with the organist and choir in attendance. The Rev. C. A. Witcomb conducted the service and amongst the large congregation were representatives of the ringers.

A half-muffled quarter peal of Grandsire Doubles was rung in the evening by A. T. Weeks 1, W. Mortimer 2, W. Swift 3, J. Romain 4, S. G. Grant (conductor) 5, P. Whale 6.

CHRISTMAS DAY BROADCAST

WE feel sorry for those towers selected by the B.B.C. for participation in the Christmas Day programme. No band of ringers, however imperfect, would refuse the privilege of letting their bells be heard 'on the air'; the pride in their own church, bells, village or town would not permit a refusal. In last week's 'Ringing World' some hard words were said of their standard of ringing, with two possible exceptions. The critics included no less a person than Mr. Edwin H. Lewis, the president of the Central Council, who, in a sense, is the titular head of change ringing as practised in the British Isles.

Probably comparatively few ringers heard the broadcast—they were too busy in regard to their own responsibilities in their individual towers. But the bells were probably listened to by more than a million people. The public, perhaps fortunately for the Ringing Exercise, are no judges of good and bad ringing, but there are many people with sensitive and musical ears who although not ringers can appreciate good striking and the rhythm of the bells. These people have an influence on public opinion and it is on an appreciative public that the whole future of the Exercise depends.

One guild secretary in a letter to the Editor writes: 'I am becoming more convinced than ever that the quality of change ringing is rapidly deteriorating and I want particularly to stop this tendency. The ringing broadcast on Christmas morning was a disgrace, and if, as I have no doubt, it is typical of the whole country, then there is much room for improvement everywhere.'

The problem is of a twofold character. The first is in the selection of towers by the B.B.C. for broadcasting. Before ever a choir or an orchestra is selected for broadcasting there is an audition—the B.B.C. send one of the many accomplished musicians on their staff to hear the choir and assess its qualities. Such a precautionary measure should be undertaken in matters of ringing. The President of the Central Council or his officers could easily arrange for a panel of competent ringers to be placed at the disposal of the B.B.C. to advise them not only on the standard of ringing, but the tonal qualities of the bells. Selection for broadcast is about the highest honour that can be conferred on a tower, and choice should only be made after an independent test.

Although there are more than 5,000 towers with ringable bells in the British Isles, the number of Sunday service bands that week by week maintain a standard of proficiency worthy of being broadcast is a matter of a few hundreds. The qualification for selection should not be the ability to ring Surprise methods, but the four standard methods with perfect striking and open leads at handstroke. The Master of the College Youths, addressing the Universities Association reunion, said he would rather see the Universities Association getting active with the practical side of ringing than develop the theoretical side. Yes, that is the great requirement of the age: good practitioners, people who ring and place their bell with unerring accuracy. Many of our young ringers are rushed from method to method without due regard to the essential and basic requirements of a good ringer—the ability to strike accurately. To be known as a good striker by your Guild is a far greater honour than being an indifferent Surprise ringer in x methods.

It should be within the compass of the Exercise to compile a list of towers with Sunday service bands of a standard fit for broadcasting. The selection should be by an independent assessor who would attend on a Sunday to listen to the ringing and, if necessary, give a proficiency award or even note the fact in the Guild report. There would certainly be something for our five, six or eight bell towers to strive for. Perhaps by the development of this idea the proficiency of the 'stoney' ringers of the West Country in the art of striking would be captured, and ringing in many of these isolated towers would be more than a desultory affair.

The highest standard of striking is naturally to be found among regular peal ringers, but very few Sunday service bands regularly ring peals together. Quarter peals, however, are frequently rung by bands from the same tower with beneficial results. The success of any six or eight depends on its weakest link; one bad striker can spoil the performance. How can we enthuse ringers to place their responsibilities to the Exercise as a whole before their individual pleasures? It is a question confronting each Guild to-day. The country possesses first-class talent and many individual towers of brilliance, but to harness this ability to the common weal is not easy. Because a man is a first-class ringer it does not follow he is a first-class instructor.

'The Ringing World'), 34, Whitechapel
Road, E.1.

MRS. E. K. FLETCHER.

EDITOR: T. W. WHITE.

A correspondent reminds us that the oldest practising ringer to-day is Mr. Samuel Quintell, captain of St. Columb Major, Cornwall, tower.
Sam has been ringing for 76 years and has been captain of his tower for 74 years.

NEW SUBSCRIBERS are now being enrolled for 1951. Send £1 to Mrs. Fletcher, The White House, Caister-on-Sea, Norfolk.

Now that we are entering the second half of the century, writes a valued correspondent, it would be interesting to see a list of those who rang their first peal in the second half of the 19th. Will those of our readers who thus qualify please notify the Editor, giving name, home town, and date of first peal?

The peal rung at Apsley on December 4th, conducted by A. V. Good, was W. Ayre's 100th peal for the Herts Association.

Mr. Frank Tomlinson, foreman ringer at Binfield, Berks, has 16 pupils whose ages range from 12 to 21. They rang out the Old Year in traditional style.

Among those who have called their first peal this week is Miss Claudia A. Harding, at Walpole St. Andrew, Norfolk. She had never previously called a 720, her longest length as conductor being only 120.

On Boxing Day, two peals were rung at Nottingham by the same band, and it is claimed that Mrs. Mildred Turley, of Sheffield, who rang in both, is the first lady in the Yorkshire Association to accomplish this feat on tower bells.

History has been made this week in Spliced Surprise ringing by the first peal of Maximus in four Surprise methods and a peal of 8.032 Spliced Surprise Major at Frodsham, Cheshire, the longest length of Spliced Surprise to be rung.

The peal at Morebath, Devon, on December 27th, was intended to be rung for the Guild of Devonshire Ringers, but, through one of the band dropping out, Mr. G. Alderman stood in and was able to ring his first peal of Plain Bob.
This is a fine ring of six for tone and, apart from the fourth and tenor being odd striking, the 'go' of the bells is good. The church is just over the Somerset border near Bampton.

BELFRY GOSSIP

Mr. J. E. Smith, who is in his 91st year, was in the band ringing touches of Plain Bob Minor at Winterton, Lincs, at the end, and beginning, of a half-century. He struck 'zero hour' on the tenor, as easily and evenly as he rang his first peal of Grandsire Triples, 73 years ago.

The Editor is indebted to Mr. R. W. Stephens, of Kempston, Beds, who completed the index for 1950, which is published this week.

Mr. Harry Wood, of Luton, took part in a peal at Crayford on Boxing Day, thus scoring his first on the bells on which he learned to ring some 45 years ago. It was also his first peal for nearly 20 years.

Five members of the band who rang in the peal at Ockbrook, Derbyshire, on December 26th, are among the many successful ringing pupils at this tower of Mr. A. Mould, Ringing Master of the Derby District. This was the first peal on the bells with five of the Sunday service band participating.

The peal of Caters at St. Margaret's, Leicester, was rung after meeting short for Stedman Cinques. Omitting 'Uncle Ernest,' the conductor, the average age of the band was 19½ years. They rang magnificently and an excellently struck peal resulted; special credit to the 'back-enders'.

Before ringing a peal at Newton, Lincolnshire, on Boxing Day, the band attended a celebration of Holy Communion at which the Rector asked for a blessing on all bellringers and their work.
After the peal, the band was entertained to refreshments at the Rectory with an earnest invitation to visit the tower again. 'We came away feeling very happy and uplifted to find one who was so interested in our art and willing to help us,' writes the contributor, Mr. James H.
Musson.

RECORD LENGTH OF SPLICED SURPRISE

The record length of 8,032 Spliced Surprise Major in eight methods was successfully rung at Frodsham, Cheshire, on Saturday, December 31st.

It was a great pleasure to the band to find that the composer, Mr. A. J. Pitman, had travelled all the way from Port Talbot, despite a blizzard, to hear his composition rung; this perhaps helped to put the band on their mettle as the peal was rung with very few trips.

Mr. John Bibby was to have been in the attempt, but owing to indisposition earlier in the week, it was uncertain whether he would be able to take part and he therefore arranged for Mr. F. Dunkerley to stand in at short notice. As it happened, he was quite fit by the day but generously insisted on standing down. Although he was greatly missed, writes Dr. J. C. E. Simpson—and no peal at Frodsham really seems complete without him—his choice of a substitute was admirable.

After the peal the ringers were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Bibby and it is enough to say that the tea was worthy of a much longer length than 8,032.

Below is the composition:—

BEVERLEY & DISTRICT SOCIETY

In bad, wintry weather, 30 members travelled to Cottingham for the December meeting.

The bells, some odd struck and unmusical, were raised and rung to standard methods during the afternoon.

The Vicar, the Rev. W. R. Hebron, conducted the service in St. Mary's Church, and gave a talk on the standards of Christianity ringers should aim to obtain. Handbells were rung during the 150th Psalm, which gave the Vicar his first insight into that side of change-ringing.

Tea was taken in the Brockleby Cafe followed by the business meeting, when stories of the Eskimo-like journeys to get to the meeting were recounted.

Returning to the tower, the ringers kept the bells going until 8 p.m. in methods up to Double Norwich with a good settle that brought the meeting to a close.

THE CENTRAL COUNCIL Meeting on Whit Tuesday

Blossoms Hotel, Chester, has been fixed for the Headquarters, and members are advised to make their own arrangements as soon as possible, as accommodation is limited.

A list of other hotels in the city will be published as soon as possible.

G. W. FLETCHER, Hon. Sec.

A DIAMOND WEDDING

London and Kent ringers will congratulate Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Daynes, of 66, Ashburnham Grove, Greenwich, who celebrated their diamond wedding on December 20th.

Mr. and Mrs. Daynes were married at St. Stephen's Church, Lewisham. Practically for every Royal occasion during the past 60 years, Mr. Daynes has rung. Three years before his marriage he rang a peal to commemorate Queen Victoria's golden jubilee. He also rang in peals to mark the Queen's diamond jubilee of her accession to the throne and also in a muffled peal for her funeral.

Mr. Daynes was in charge of the bells of St. Nicholas', Deptford, at the time of the wedding of Princess Mary, and, curious to relate, his church was the only one in London to ring a peal that day.

He still enjoys his ringing and our quarter peal columns record the fact that he rang for the King's birthday.

Mr. and Mrs. Daynes have a family of seven children, one of whom is in Toronto.

A DIFFICULT 'CIRCLE'

The circle at Stogursey, Somerset, where the first peal on the bells was rung on December 30th. The distance between the treble and tenor is 18 ft. and between 5 and tenor 7 ft. 6 in. The other ropes are approximately 4 ft. apart.

Stogursey, or Stoke Courcy, was originally a Priory Church and goes back to the 11th century. It is of unusually large proportions for a village church and its central tower is of barn-like dimensions. It contains the heaviest ring of six for many miles around.

MEMORIAL WINDOW TO LADY RINGER

A memorial window was dedicated at Mildenhall Parish Church, Suffolk, on Sunday, December 31st, to Mrs. Mary Louisa Fordham, who was the first lady ringer in the church.

The dedication, which was performed by the Vicar (the Rev. Gordon Blacktop) took place during the morning service. The robbed choir moved in procession to the window singing the hymn 'How sweet the name of Jesus sounds.' After the dedication they returned to the choir stalls singing the Benedictus.

The three-light window in the base of the tower depicts a lady ringer with clasped bell-ropes and with bell above in the tracery light. On the opposite light is featured Saint Cecilia. The work is executed in beautiful colours and bears the inscription:—

In memory of Mary Louisa Fordham who was for 22 years a ringer of this church. She departed this life September 5th, 1949.

WELLINGTON, SOMERSET.—On Dec. 24th, 1,260 Grandshire Triples: D. Lentell 1, F. W. Slocombe (first as cond.) 2, G. J. Gammon 3, L. Alderman 4, G. M. Salter 5, C. J. Stevens 6, G. Walford 7, A. E. Hawkins 8.

GEORGE WILLIAMS MEMORIAL LIBRARY

At the last annual meeting of the Winchester and Portsmouth Diocesan Guild it was unanimously decided to proceed with a scheme to provide a substantial bookcase as a memorial to the late Master, George Williams. This would in the first instance provide accommodation for the whole of the ringing books bequeathed to the Guild by him, and also enable provision to be made for future editions acquired by, or donated to, the Guild. It is anticipated that the design will enable it to be semi-portable in order to allow it to be moved periodically from one area of the Guild to another, so that members may have access to the library for the purpose of loaning any of the books.

George Williams served the Guild unselfishly for over a period of 69 years. Joining the Guild (the former Winchester Diocesan Guild) in 1880, he served as one of its representatives on the Central Council from 1891-1896 and from 1918-1949. In addition, he was its hon. general secretary from 1912-1917 and finally as Master from 1918-1949, being in the latter office at the time of his death. His unceasing and untiring efforts in the cause of ringing were well known both by the Guild and indeed the whole Exercise, and he was beloved and respected by all who knew him.

The cost of erecting an adequate memorial as suggested will be considerable, and members and other friends outside the Guild who would wish to be associated with this scheme are invited to subscribe liberally, the size and design of the bookcase depending to the response to this appeal.

All subscriptions, however small or large, will be appreciated and duly acknowledged and should be sent to the District Secretaries or the Hon. Treasurer, Mr. W. Linter, 16, Uplands Crescent, Fareham, Hants. Cheques should be made payable to 'The Hon. Treasurer, Winchester and Portsmouth Diocesan Guild of Bell-ringers.' Donations should be forwarded to either of the above before January 31st.

OBITUARY

MR. F. G. BRETT

Many of the older members of the Kent County Association will learn with regret the news of the passing of Mr. Frederick G. Brett, whose death occurred on December 20th at Canterbury. He had been in failing health for some time.

Mr. Brett, who was 74, and had been in the building trade all his life, took up ringing in 1893. He joined the Cathedral band in 1903 and remained a member until his death. He had taken part in 207 peals in various methods, and had many amusing tales to tell of the little adventures that overtook them in the days when travel was not so easy as it is at the present time. He was a representative of the Canterbury District of the Association for 20 years and was the first Ringing Master, an office he held for nine years.

The funeral took place at St. Alphege's Church where he rang for many years, the service being conducted by the Rector, the Rev. C. Magraw. The Dean of Canterbury (Dr. Hewlett Johnson) was also present, and several members of the Cathedral band, together with other ringing friends.

The interment was in St. Dunstan's Churchyard, in the grave of his first wife. Among the many floral tributes was a wreath from the Cathedral Company.

AMERSHAM PARISH BELLS

The above bells will remain silent until they are rehung by Messrs. Gillett and Johnston, Ltd.

This work is to start in the near future, and later (when the money is raised) it is hoped to add two trebles to the present ring of six.

STORY OF A GREAT RINGING CAREER

DIARY OF THE LATE MR. W. H. FUSSELL—6

Edited by ERNEST MORRIS

JEALOUSY AND MISUNDERSTANDINGS

In those days (1880's) as now—unfortunately—there were misunderstandings and much jealousy among ringers. Mr. Fussell says 'I walked to Farnham Royal in the afternoon—no ringing as Reuben, Clark and Chapman did not turn up in time, mostly through Flaxman's jealous influence I expect.' Later, 'Mr. Parker did not come to either of the last three meetings—Langley, Slough and Uxbridge. Things do not go so well as I should like when Parker is away.'

Again, 'Flaxman has not seemed quite the thing lately, it is evident he is of a very jealous disposition from his manner with Parker—he never calls when Parker is ringing although he is often asked and pressed to do so.' On another occasion he writes, 'Again I find my brother mean and not to be relied on. He promised me to ring in the Windsor peal on Boxing Day; now he tells me Coppage is coming down with Baron to ring the 5th, and I am to stand out for him. With the hope of ringing this peal I had delayed answering Edgley's letter about a peal at Reading the same day. So much for "Brotherly Love." In future I shall play my own cards independent of him.'

Later he writes, 'Now Steel is ill and Alf wants me to ring in it after I had promised Edgley. Rang Doubles at Slough. Parker came up but would not ring with Flaxman after the trick he had served us last Saturday and his surly and unsociable manner of late. In fact they have some to this—neither will ring with the other in the Windsor peal.'

Mr. Fussell went to Reading as he promised but the peal attempt was unsuccessful. He reports: 'Went to St. Mary's at 12 o'clock, found Edgley splicing ropes. Started for the peal at 8 minutes past 1. Rang a little over half-way when Edgley called "stand" through cramp in his hand through ringing with a single rope at back-stroke, it having pulled out while ringing. Went to St. Laurence Church at 4 o'clock and rang several touches of Gr. Triples. J. M. Routh rang the seventh at St. Mary's and it gave him a good sweating—went to Meyer's circus in the evening.'

THE MISSUS IS THE MASTER

It is well known even in these days that those who live the nearest are often last to put in an appearance—I saw quite recently in a belfry. 'Someone will be last—why you?' Here is an example from Mr. Fussell's writing (December 7th, 1882): 'Called for Alf and made him walk with me to Farnham—snow and rain sleet falling all the way—very cold, wet and dirty walking. Reached Farnham 7 o'clock—rang 720 Grandsire Minor and one of Plain Bob—both in 26 minutes. Got home 10.20. I had to call for A. Batten before he would come up the tower. He lives just opposite the church. I wonder why he does not attend more regularly. Often he has not come up when I have walked there in wretched weather and only enough for Plain Doubles. I think his wife is the master and does not care for him coming, neither does she care for ringing or ringers. I see no other reason as he likes change-ringing and is a fairly good hand.'

'Changed my clothes when I got home as I was quite chilled and wet through—the roads were dreadful coming home.' Later in this month (December) he says: 'I went to Upton Park pond at 8 a.m. and had a skate but fell in, so came home and changed!!'

THE LATE MR. GEORGE NEWSON who conducted 38 of Mr. Fussell's first 120 peals.

THE PASSING OF A FRIEND

On one page of Mr. Fussell's diary he has drawn over the writing an open cross, because here he records the passing of a ringer and friend—John Steel. He says: 'Mr. Steel's cousin met me going to Woodley's and stated that John Steel was no more, he having breathed his last this morning. None knew him so well as they might. Poor John was always a straightforward and plain dealing man; never doing anyone an injury knowingly. We shall find a good ringer less when we meet now. I can hardly believe it when I think he rang the 5th to the last 720 rung at Slough church. May his life now be in peace. God is the Governor of all our ways and He doeth what seemeth him good—He has spared Wilder. (whom Mr. Fussell states several times was ill), may Me have mercy on all of us. This sad event will entirely cut up our band, nothing can be done for a long time . . . It is with satisfaction I hear that nearly all the surrounding ringers will ring muffled peals at neighbouring churches as a last mark of respect on the day of the funeral.'

On Christmas Day he 'heard a good sermon by Mr. Carpenter at St. George's Chapel, Windsor. This must be a lonely and miserable day for Mrs. Steel in her sorrow and grief. Our ringers will meet with the full realisation of the loss of a good ringer. It is with sadness we meet this Xmas' Mr. Fussell continues: 'Dec. 27. Returned from Reading. Told the tenor at Slough while the funeral procession was passing through Slough—went to Langley and saw him buried—John Steel. Born December 21st, 1823; Died December 21st, 1882. Rang muffled bells at Langley after the funeral, and 720 Grandsire Minor in 25 minutes at Slough at 6 o'clock. Walked to Windsor and rang call changes at the Curfew tower at 8 o'clock. Went to St. John's and rang there till 9.30—got home 10.30 p.m.'

ENTHUSIASM!

Mr. Fussell's enthusiasm for bells and ringing was boundless. For instance he writes on one occasion that he took three schoolmasters of Slough and Chalvey over the Curfew tower at Windsor—Roberts, Sampson and Cleaver. Anyone who has been over this ancient and quaint place, in the dungeons below and up in the ringing room and higher among the bells and the high timbers bearing them (as I have) will realise and visualise our old friend Fussell 'telling the tale.' And to cap it all he says: 'The four of us got under the tenor and sang "Auld Lang Syne," with hands joined together.' As a propaganda enthusiast for the 'Bell News,' he records several times going to Windsor, Reading, Farnham and elsewhere to try and get the ringers interested in the paper and to take it regularly. As before stated, he sent many articles, sketches, etc., for publication, and met Harvey Reeves, the Editor, on many occasions.

In January, 1883, Mr. Fussell went to work at Bridgnorth, Salop, and started on the 9th with Mr. Bates, the builder. As usual, he soon set to work visiting towers. On the first Sunday there he walked to Astley Abbotts Church (7 miles away) and says there were '3 bells, very small, in a turret, and of very inferior sound and quality. Got back at 5 o'clock and went up into St. Nicholas' tower. Chimed the 2 trebles of the peal of 8 and went to the service and heard a very nice sermon. The late Rector has left and the new one comes at Easter. The last one was very partial to ringers and ringing, always encouraging it although only call changes' He soon got in touch with various ringers and reports going to several towers.

At St. Nicholas', Bridgnorth, he says 'I found that the band here were all young ringers and a good side to start the method ringing. All seemed very quick and I think that a fair band might soon be formed.' As was his usual practice, he went around taking off copies of bell inscriptions, some of which are given in the Diary and others in a notebook. He wrote at once to Tom Miller, of Birmingham, to come to Bridgnorth for a peal, but he replied that they could not get there so would he go to Birmingham for one. After giving the inscriptions on Morville Church he notes this tablet in the tower and vestry:—

'When to ring you doe come here
You must ring well with hand & ear;
For if this Law you break indeed,
Your forfeit must be paid with speed.
He that a Bell doth overthrow Must pay his Groat before he go.
He that suddenly cheques a Bell,
Two pence must pay—all men can tell.
And he that rings with spur or hat
Two pence is to pay for that.
These laws are old, they are not new,
Therefore kind debtor pay thy due.'

He went to Quatford and saw the old Roman encampment and other interesting things. Visited the church and took off the inscriptions of bells and says the Vicar has had several estimates for rehanging and putting new bells in to make six but has decided to rehang the 3 bells only. Mr. Warner, of London, is to begin the work at once. Writing of St. Nicholas', Bridgnorth, he states that the first peal rung there was false. Mr. Bannister called it and said afterwards that a 'shift course' took place and that over 5,040 changes were rung before he called them home!

FIRST VISIT TO BIRMINGHAM

In February, 1883, Mr. Fussell records his first visit to Birmingham and it appears the ringers then—as always—did their best for him. On arrival he went to Tom Miller's house and had dinner with him, after which they both called on John Carter with whom they had tea. Carter showed him a collection of peals on handbells rung by himself and others and engraved on metal cut in the shape of a handbell—also his certificates, etc. He further says:—'Poor Carter has a gathering on his haunch which prevents him walking or sitting, though he can stand and ring alright. He has been to hospital but they cannot do much for him.' They went to St. Chad's and started for a peal

ALREADY DEALT WITH!

Dear Sir,—In the interesting account of the Universities Association re-union, it is reported that two speakers made requests of the Association. Both matters have already been dealt with in the pages of the 'Ringing World,' and, if one may guess, by one not unconnected with the Association.

Mr. Smallwood's request was for a 'formula to cure those who cannot recognise the sound of their own bell.' Any difficulty in this direction is usually the fault of the instructor, who has failed at the outset, in not teaching his pupil to listen first and foremost and to look next. If the pupil cannot do this it is not much use going on with him. This point was fully treated in the following issues:—No. 2054, dated 18th August 1950, page 524, column two; and No. 2060, dated 29th September, 1950, page 618, column one and first half of column two.

Mr. Miles' request was as to the starting row in Stedman. The 'difficulty' he sees is due to disregard of the divisions of the Stedman principle, a feature he must recognise when he has to determine the go-offs of a block of symmetrical rows in the method, as required by 'official' definition.

Do some people really read their journal?—Yours etc.,

DE FACTO.

NO PEAL, NO PRAYER

Dear Sir,—Mr. H. Miles, speaking of the late Rev. Robinson's no peal, no supper, could also have said no peal, no prayer. I have had personal experience of that.

A. H. PULLING.

Guildford.

of Triples at 6 o'clock but after ringing 2 hours 40 minutes two changed course and J. Carter called them home and stopp'd. 'this making the 4th attempt by Carter for this peal. Went across the road to a pub and saw Mr. Henry Johnson, Senr.; A. Thomas from Reading also there. Saw Bryant, Cattle Buffery and many others who rang touches on the handbells—double handed—some good ringing. I went with Mr. Russam and slept at his house. . . . Next morning went to St. Philip's (10 bells), rang up the front 8 in peal, then I took the 2nd in 500 Grandsire Caters. At 10 o'clock went to St. Chad's again and rang for 11 o'clock service after which we went to T. Miller's house and rang handbells. After dinner went to St. Martin's, had a look at the bells and saw them chimed with Ellacombe apparatus. After tea rang again at St. Chad's, then to the Amalgamated Society of Birmingham club room ringing handbells till 8 p.m. when we went to Bishop Ryder's church and rang a date touch of 1883 Grandsire Triples, composed by J. Carter, conducted by J. Cattle. Went to Russam's for supper and then to the Society's meeting room where I said goodbye and left, having shaken hands with the most pleasant and jolly set of young men I have ever met.'

Next morning Mr. Fussell left Birmingham for Shifnal and walked from there to Bridenorth, a distance of 10 miles, arriving at 10 o'clock. He adds, 'Mr. Russam came to the station to see me right for the train—I joined the Birmingham District Association. Mrs. Russam would not take anything for lodgings and boarding me all Sunday so I gave her boy something. Tom gave me a card with 2 peals on and an almanack with Bishop Ryder's church on, he having been steeplekeeper there ever since W. Bannister died and left the vacancy. Thus ended my first visit to Birmingham and I have never enjoyed myself more than I did with the ringers of that town.'

A STRANGE HAPPENING AT WALSALL

Dear Sir,—Referring to the many stories of strange occurrences which have been published in 'The Ringing World,' perhaps the following may be of interest.

It is taken from a copy of 'The Statesman' dated June 29th, 1815, which has recently come into the possession of the Vicar of St. Matthew's Church, Walsall, to whom I am indebted for the loan of it.

We have no record at all of the occurrence, but we do know that Mr. James Hodgkins was one of the ringers, as his name appears on the oldest peal boards in the ringing chamber. The description of the ball of lightning striking him and passing through the east wall into the church is also substantiated by the fact that the old 6th and 7th bells were located on this side and it is also possible that the wire of the old tenor bell chiming hammer may have acted as a lightning conductor, as this passed through the ceiling of the ringing chamber near the north wall which would be immediately to the left of Hodgkins.—Yours faithfully,

H. E. GREEN.

St. Matthew's Parish Church.
Walsall.

Extract from 'The Statesman,' dated Thursday, June 29th, 1815.

Extraordinary Instance of the Power of Lightning.

A few days ago as the Society of change-ringers were ringing a Bob Major, in honour of a wedding, on the musical peal of eight bells, at the Borough of Walsall, near Birmingham, a ball of lightning entered the tower at the belfry sound window, took its direction down the iron rod into the ringing chamber, there made an explosion as loud as a six-pounder, completely electrifying the performers, and knocked down Mr. James Hodgkins, at the seventh bell, and made its way through the east wall, five feet thick, into the body of the church, then disappeared, without any further damage. The ringers fled in all directions, leaving the bells swinging, and poor Hodgkins to their mercy. He lay some time on the floor, and when the ringers, recovered from their fright, ascended the tower, they found their seventh man seated, recovering from the severe shock.

THE PUBLOW PEAL

Dear Sir,—May I encroach upon your valuable space to explain the position of the Publow Bellringers in relation to the peal rung at Publow on December 9th.

As regards the peal itself we have no complaints—in fact everything possible was done by us to ensure its success. (I think Mr. F. C. Mogford, the organiser, will agree on this point.)

Our objection is the fact that it was announced as a farewell tribute to the Vicar.

I think your readers will agree that a farewell peal, if rung at all, should be rung by the Sunday service ringers of the parish (all of whom were quite capable of so doing).

We therefore cannot fail to notice the implied insult offered by the fact that this farewell peal to our Vicar was rung by ringers of whom only one (Mr. F. C. Mogford) was a parishioner, and not one was a member of the band or congregation at Publow Church. To be absolutely fair, I admit that I was asked to take part but declined, though even then the true purpose of the peal was not disclosed.

In conclusion, I hope this will explain to our many ringing friends in the district the reason why no Publow ringer was in the farewell peal for the Publow Vicar. I also hope that Mr. F. C. Mogford will think very carefully before he commits any further blunders, as this is the second incident during the past four years.—Yours faithfully,

C. BISHOP (Capt., Publow Ringers).
Whitchurch, Bristol.

FIRST AMERICAN WOMAN PEAL-RINGER

Dear Sir,—On Sunday, December 17th the Beacon Hill Handbell Ringers drove 60 miles to Manchester, New Hampshire, to ring at the Currier Gallery of Art. We had none of us ever visited this gallery before and were delighted to find an attractive interior with a good setting for ringing. The acoustics were excellent and the patio and gallery were filled with children and grown-ups. I am enclosing a clipping from 'The Manchester Leader' of December 19th as you may be interested in this account of the concert.

Once we were asked to ring for television and filled a fifteen minute programme. My grandchildren, who happen to be on hand to watch, were urged to ring also for television. They were 8, 8, 8, 7 (no twins) and they did very well and thought it great fun.

On Christmas Eve at Beacon Hill these young children rang also to good crowds. Their ringing was a little upset by the blinding flashlights of photographers.

The reporters like to refer to me as the first American woman to ring a peal. I rang my first peal at St. Matthew's, Upper Clapton, in August 1902, with the Middlesex Association. I have always been under the impression I was the first American, man or woman, to score a peal. Does anyone challenge this claim? I hope not.

Best wishes for a peaceful New Year,—Yours sincerely,

MARGARET H. SHURCLIFF.

Boston, Mass., U.S.A.

NOTE.—The cutting reference to the performance at the Currier Gallery of Art states that the five handbell ringers under the leadership of Mrs. Arthur A. Shurcliff, of Boston, appeared on the balcony of the gallery dressed in maroon-coloured mediæval costumes that harmonised with the 15th century Tournai tapestry in front of which they rang. Mrs. Shurcliff spoke informally on her first experiences in bellringing at the Old North Church in Boston, where she was introduced to the art as a young girl by her father, the late Dr. Arthur H. Nichols. She also spoke briefly of her experiences in tower-bell ringing in England where she learned how to ring at many of the London churches, including St. Paul's Cathedral.

The first selection on the programme was a plain course of Grandsire Tringles illustrating change-ringing on handbells. Following that, the group rang 'St. Paul's Steeple,' which is reminiscent of change-ringing, 'Joy to the World,' 'San Nicolai,' 'Bring a Torch, Jeannette,' 'Isabella' and 'Hark, the Herald Angels Sing.' Two other groups of selections were given.—Ed.

NORTH NOTTS ASSOCIATION

Dear Sir,—The report given in last week's issue by Mr. B. A. Sollis of the quarterly meeting of the East Derbyshire and North Notts Association at Sutton-in-Ashfield is very misleading. Since 1945 North Notts has ceased to exist as an association, it being now a branch or district of the Southwell Guild and had nothing to do in any way with the meeting. I daresay it is a slip on the part of Mr. Sollis and trust he will take this in the right spirit.—Yours faithfully,

H. DENMAN.

Retford.

OLD TOWER-BELL PEAL-RINGERS

Dear Sir,—The correspondence re aged peal-ringers is highly interesting and prompts me to mention the late Mr. Robert H. Brundle, of Ipswich, who rang the 5th at St. Mary-le-Tower to a peal of Cambridge Surprise Maximus one month after his 87th birthday.

To ring such an intricate method at so great an age was a wonderful performance.—Yours truly,

GEORGE E. SYMONDS.

Ipswich.

BATH AND WELLS ASSOCIATION

Dunster Deanery Annual Meeting

Over 80 ringers and clergy attended the annual meeting of the Dunster Deanery Branch held at Minehead on December 9th. The service was held at St. Michael's Church, the Vicar (the Rev. R. D. Grange-Bennett) conducting the service and giving the address. Ringing was supervised by Mr. J. Pugsley.

Tea preceded the annual meeting at which the president (the Rev. T. S. Dawson) was in the chair.

The balance sheet, read by the Rev. D. J. Cockle, showed that receipts balanced the payments.

Mr. G. Stacey (the hon. secretary) in his report stated that four successful meetings had been held at Dunster, Wootton Courtenay, Withypool and Porlock. The average attendance was one better than last year, being 65. During the year, 16 ringing members and one honorary member had been elected. With regret, the death of Mr. J. A. Lock, of Exford, had been recorded. He had been one of the useful unattached members.

ELECTION OF OFFICIALS

The following were elected:—President, the Rev. T. S. Dawson; vice-president, the Rev. D. J. Cockle; hon. secretary, Mr. G. Stacey; auditor, the president; Ringing Master, Mr. J. Pugsley; representative on the committee of the Diocesan Association, Mr. G. Stacey. Two new members—Mrs. Middleton (Timberscombe) and Mrs. Lloyd (Dunster)—were elected.

Stogumber was selected for the next meeting, in the second week in March.

Mr. A. Madeley suggested that the Branch should have a yearly corporate communion. After discussion a proposal was adopted that a particular church should be chosen to make all the arrangements and do all the notifications.

Votes of thanks were passed to the Vicar for the service and use of the bells and to the churchwardens and local ringers for the splendid tea.

A special welcome was extended to Major H. J. Cann and two ringers from Piddihinton. Towers represented were Stogumber, Carhampton, Dunster, Minehead, Porlock, Timberscombe, Selworthy, Dulverton, Exford, Sampford Brett, Old Cleeve, Box, Buckland-Newton and Wembdon.

CHURCH BELLS OF AYRSHIRE

MANY of our readers are interested in the antiquarian side of bells, and to them 'The Church Bells of Ayrshire,' by Ranald W. M. Clouston, will reward an evening's study. At the outset, we would point out that Ayrshire possesses no rings of bells, but there are a few chimes. Thus the practical ringer will not hurriedly make a visit to this county of Scotland in search of new towers.

Students of early bells will, however, find that Ayrshire repays a visit. Among its 106 bells are two of mediæval origin, seven of the Dutch Renaissance period and one each from Flemish, French and Irish foundries. There are eight 17th century Scottish bells and 11 of the 18th century. From English foundries come 35 bells, of which 30 are modern.

Both of the two pre-Reformation bells are about 1495. The Dundonald bell, which is now in the National Museum of Antiquities, Edinburgh, has the inscription in Latin, 'Saint Giles pray for us, in the year of the Lord 1495,' with the founder's mark  $\times$ t on the waist. Mr. Clouston reminds us that St. Giles was the patron saint of blacksmiths, and a number of the English pre-Reformation bells are dedicated to him. One of the inscriptions used by the old Brayser foundry at Norwich may be translated: 'The sound of Giles rises to the vaults of heaven.' The Monkton bell is by an unknown founder.

The most interesting 'find' in Ayrshire is the two Hemony bells, the only bells by this celebrated Dutch foundry in the British Isles. These are at St. Margaret's, Dalry, and in the Wallace Tower at Ayr, and both are dated 1661. François Hemony was one of the greatest carillon builders that the world has ever known, although due to the ravages of war only about 30 of his carillons are in existence. He died in Amsterdam in 1667.

Of the Dutch bells there is an interesting legend concerning the Middelburg bell of 1619 that now hangs in the turret of Prestwick Public School, having formerly been in the ruined Church of St. Nicholas, Prestwick. The story goes that this bell was stolen by sailors and that some years later sailors from the locality happened to put into a Spanish or Portuguese port. There they were sure they heard the Prestwick bell ringing and traced the sound to a ship in the harbour. Later a boarding party retrieved the bell and, according to Hewat's 'A Little Scottish World,' brought it back to the old kirk. Mr. Clouston, however, does not accept the story and states the legend was probably based on the bell's journey to Holland to be recast in 1619. When the church fell into disuse the bell was put away in the Town House, and it was due to a local poet that the bell was brought out from a useless seclusion to be placed in the turret of the new school.

Another unusual bell is that in the Primary School at Old Cumnoch, which was cast in Rotterdam in 1697. The shape of the crown is peculiar in its flatness and the bell thus presents a tub-like appearance. However, the casting is of the highest quality, the design and fineness of the two borders above and below the inscription being especially well done. The border below the inscription portrays a hunting scene with a farm labourer with a pitchfork, a boar, rabbits, a horseman with a lance, a house and a church.

Associated with the old church at Tarbolton, the predecessor of the present edifice, there was an old bell which was immortalised in Burns' poem, 'Death and Dr. Hornbrook.' The last verse reads:—

But just as he began to tell,
The auld kirk-hammer strak the bell
Some wee short hour ayont the twal,
Which raised us baith :
I took the way that pleased mysel',
And sae did Death.

This clapper is preserved in the Masonic Hall at Tarbolton. Mr. Clouston says it is 14½ inches long. The head is flat and has two elongated holes in it. The clapper is of a bell that was in use prior to 1782.

In conclusion we would commend the lay-out of this publication. The illustrations are good and the notes on foundries, both ancient and modern, exceedingly helpful to the student of bells. Copies are obtainable from the author, Cookley Farm, Eye, Suffolk, post free 3s. 6d.

SUBSCRIPTION REMINDER

There are still some subscriptions outstanding for 1951. These should be despatched immediately to Mrs. Fletcher, The White House, Caister-on-Sea, Norfolk.

We would like to assure the St. Mary's Cathedral (Glasgow) Society of Change Ringers that the omission of Scotland from our Christmas editorial was not intentional. The meridian in the Editor's mind at that time in his journey from east to west unfortunately did not travel so far north. We therefore send our greetings for 1951 to all Scottish Ringers.

The bells of Aston Parish Church will be broadcast at 7.45 p.m. on Sunday, January 21st.

Half of the band who rang in the New Year's peal at Dalton-in-Furness were from the Cumberland Association.

Mr. W. H. B. Wilkins, of Oxford, and Mr. Herbert Jones, of Maids Moreton, Bucks. have joined the list of octogenarian peal ringers.

The weight of the tenor at Great Bromley, Essex, writes Mr. U. W. Wildney, is 15 cwt. in E. and not as given on Page 21.

Mr. Walter Ayre has rung 300 peals for the Herts County Association. His 100th was rung on January 8th, 1933.

Mr. J. Michael Stephens, and not his younger brother, compiled the index that appeared in last week's 'Ringing World.'

Salisbury District have lost their Ringing Master by the regretted death of Mr. Leonard Harris. An obituary notice will appear in our next issue.

Mr. Lewis Andrews, of Longparish, Hants. who rang a quarter peal of Grandsire Doubles on his 91st birthday, did not start change-ringing until he was 78. He claims to be the oldest ringer in Hampshire.

The work of transferring the four back bells of Christchurch Cathedral, New Zealand, from plain to ball bearings was successfully completed for the Centennial celebrations. Mr. A. J. Lancefield gives in another column a description of this memorable service.

BELFRY GOSSIP

Mr. Tom Saunders has completed 50 years as a Sunday service ringer at St. Michael's, East Peckham. After the conclusion of ringing the Old Year out, the Vicar (the Rev. J. Starky) congratulated Mr. Saunders on his long service to the church.

This is the second year running in which Mr. S. Cloke and Mr. S. G. Waters have rung six peals during Christmas week.

Miss S. P. M. Lewin has succeeded Mr. W. Thornley at hon. secretary of the Nottingham District of the Southwell Diocesan Guild.

Warwick has now some enthusiastic handbell ringers who, conducted by Mr. W. H. Male, recently rang a quarter of Grandsire Triples (Holt's Original).

In the television programme on New Year's Eve, and also in the Children's Hour, Miss Mary Jaycock was seen ringing at her home tower, St. Peter's, Burnham, Bucks.

Burnham, Bucks, would like to know if its tower was the only one in the country where the Old Year was rung out by a local band of eight girls.

'Kewsett' has fallen into a common error in referring to Gilbert White as Vicar of Selborne, states a correspondent. He never was. He was curate there from 1751-2 and 1784 till he died in 1793.

How many Old Boys' Associations have peals to their credit? Last week we recorded the first peal of the Old Doningtonians at Sempringham, which was rung for the Lincoln Diocesan Guild.

The peal at All Saints', Stamford, on December 30th, was rung under the worst conditions experienced by any of the ringers. Long before the end was reached all the band were shivering with cold and it was only through the perseverance of the conductor that this well-struck peal was successfully brought round.

LORD MAYOR AS MASTER

MEMORABLE DAY FOR ST. MARTIN'S GUILD

THE annual meeting of the St. Martin's Guild for the Diocese of Birmingham, held on January 6th, was one of the most memorable events in all the 195 years of its existence. About 140 members responded to the invitation by the Lord Mayor of Birmingham (Alderman A. Paddon-Smith, J.P.) to the Council House.

Half an hour before the advertised time of commencement, the Cathedral twelve were in use, and the ringing chamber was soon crowded with ringers from suburban towers and surrounding districts. At five o'clock the ringers were formally received by the Lord Mayor and Lady Mayoress and were served with tea in the beautiful reception room—a privilege which was greatly enjoyed by everyone present.

A course of Stedman Cinques was rung upon handbells, after which the members gathered in the City Council Chamber where the annual meeting of the Guild was held.

After the Guild had been welcomed by the Lord Mayor to the historic building erected by Joseph Chamberlain, the Master (Mr. Albert Walker) occupied the chair. Before proceeding with the business of the meeting, the Master thanked the Lord Mayor, on behalf of the members present, for his kind invitation to tea and for allowing them the privilege of holding their meeting in the Council Chamber. The Master's only regret was that, for the time being, the Lord Mayor's civic duties compelled him to absen: himself from the ringing at St. Martin's on Sunday mornings, but they all knew that his enthusiasm for a good touch of Stedman Cinques would ensure his return after the expiry of his term of office. He welcomed Mr. J. F. Smallwood, Master of the Ancient Society of College Youths. Mr. A. A. Hughes, of London, and Mr. F. Price, of Bournemouth.

The Master referred to the serious illness of Mr. T. H. Reeves, and letters of apology for absence were read from Mr. J. W. Pemberton and Mr. L. Yates. He sincerely wished that they would all be speedily restored to health.

Since the last meeting the Guild had suffered the loss by death of Mr. W. A. Clark, an honorary member who, although not a change-ringer, had visited the belfries of all the Cathedrals in the country. The members stood in silence for a moment as a token of respect.

ELECTION OF OFFICERS

The vice-presidents were re-elected with the additions of Mr. F. E. Haynes and Mr. E. C. Shepherd, who suitably acknowledged the honour conferred upon them. The Master referred to Mr. Shepherd's recently published book, 'The Tower and Bells of Solihull Church,' and asked the Guild to accept a copy to add to its library.

Mr. Walker would not offer himself for re-election to the office of Master, but he had the greatest possible pleasure in asking the Lord Mayor to take office for the ensuing year, not merely because he happened to be the Lord Mayor, but for his personality and his reputation as a very fine ringer. The applause which followed testified the unanimous approval of the meeting.

In acknowledging his election to the office of Master, the Lord Mayor said how proud he was of the honour of being Master of this ancient Guild. It was very nearly the oldest society of any kind in Birmingham—he believed that there was only one other society that could possibly claim to be older. He could not promise to attend the meetings during his term of office as Lord Mayor, as his working day was already stretched to twenty-five hours! He thanked Mr. Walker for his past services.

Mr. G. W. Critchley was re-elected to the office of Ringing Master, and thanked the members for their confidence in him, and gave details of the result of the past year's work.

The following officers were also re-elected:—Trustees, Alderman A. Paddon-Smith, J.P. and

Mr. E. T. Allaway; auditors, Mr. H. H. Fearn and Mr. S. O'C. Holloway; librarian, Mr. J. F. Harvey; Central Council representatives, Alderman Paddon-Smith, J.P. and Mr. F. E. Haynes; hon. secretary and treasurer, Mr. G. E. Fearn; Thirteen full ringing members and six life members were elected.

The Master (Alderman A. Paddon-Smith) was invited to be chairman at the Henry Johnson dinner which will take place on March 3rd. For the place of next meeting it was decided to accept an invitation extended by the ringers of Aston Parish Church to hold the April meeting at Aston.

The hon. secretary read a letter received from the Rev. C. H. Smyth, Vicar of Bishop Latimer's Church, appealing for funds for the recasting of the eight bells from the demolished Church of St. John, Deritend, which were to be hung in the tower of Bishop Latimer's Church. It was decided to make a donation for this purpose of £10 from the funds of the Guild.

Mr. J. L. Hayward suggested that, in addition, a collection be made at that meeting, to enhance the Guild's donation, and this resulted in the splendid figure of £13 10s.

After the meeting, further ringing took place on the Cathedral bells, whilst several met in the Lord Mayor's Parlour with the intention of ringing a course of Stedman Cinques on handbells which, however, was not accomplished.

A VISITOR'S IMPRESSIONS

Evidence of the virility of the St. Martin's Guild was provided by the attendance at the recent annual meeting when over 160 members and friends were the guests of the Lord Mayor of Birmingham and his charming daughter-in-law, who is acting as Lady Mayoress.

Impressions left on the mind were of a dignified, yet warm reception; a sumptuous tea in the beautiful Banqueting Chamber of the Birmingham Council House; a course of Stedman Cinques on handbells—the first change-ringing in that room; of the determination of Albert Walker to relinquish the Mastership in favour of the Lord Mayor, and of the Lord Mayor taking his own seat again. It was gratifying to see that the Guild honoured its members who have rendered good and loyal service by electing Messrs. Shepherd and Haynes vice-presidents.

Other impressions were the expert way the Lord Mayor piloted the meeting through a long agenda; of the forthright tones of W. C. Dowding in insisting that the Lord Mayor's secretary should be instructed to keep the Johnson Dinner day free from other engagements; the alacrity with which a suggestion to take up a 2s. 6d. per head collection for Bishop Latimer bells was received, and reminders of great Birmingham men who have contributed so much to human progress. The portraits of John Bright, Joseph Chamberlain, Matthew Boulton and many other great men of the past are conspicuously displayed (as they should be) in the rooms and corridors of the Council House.

After the business meeting was concluded, the officers of the Guild, the Master of the College Youths and Mr. A. A. Hughes, of London, were invited to the Mayor's Parlour, and very fine cut glasses were raised with the wish that the Lord Mayor's remaining months of office would be happy and successful.

ANNABLE'S LONDON SURPRISE MINOR

The method rung at Bassingham, Lincs. on December 23rd, was Annable's London Surprise Minor, which, points out Mr. J. R. Millhouse, is totally different from London Surprise Minor. We are sorry that the omission of Annable from the title of the peal caused such heartburning among our Lincolnshire friends.

CHRISTMAS QUIZ

We hope that the interest in the Christmas Quiz this year was not commensurate with the accuracy of the answers.

The best papers had only ten correct answers out of 20.

A prize has been awarded to Mr. T. G. Hawkins, 1, Cherry Orchard Close, Stoke Poges, Slough.

The other competitor with ten correct answers apparently preferred to remain anonymous. He did not append his name and address to his paper.

One competitor writes: I fear I have not done as well as last year, but the 'Quiz' has again given me—and, I trust, many others—three weeks of most fascinating entertainment. Would you please convey to 'Kewsett' my thanks and appreciation for his clever and intriguing questions. I trust he will be able to provide another Quiz next Christmas.

ANOTHER RINGING MAYOR

It might be an added incentive to learners to suggest that by becoming a ringer they have much more chance of being elected Mayor of their town. In addition to the Lord Mayor of Birmingham, the Mayor of Doncaster, Councillor Herbert Wilson, is also a ringer. Considerable attention was paid in the local Press to his official visit last year to a ringing practice at St. George's, Doncaster, and photographs were published of the Mayor ringing side by side with old-established members of the tower.

As a result of this visit, the Doncaster and District Society were invited to hold the tea and business meeting of the annual meeting on January 27th in the Mansion House, which is the official residence of the Mayor of Doncaster. This building is of considerable historic interest, and I am informed that there is only one other Mansion House in England.

The Mayor has agreed to preside over the meeting, and to come once again into the tower for a 'pull,' so it is expected that more publicity (of the right kind) will attend the occasion. It is hoped that many ringers will take this opportunity to visit the church and Mansion House of Doncaster, not to mention the heaviest eight in Yorkshire. The bells were recast and rehung in March, 1940, by Messrs. John Taylor and Co., Loughborough, with a tenor of 30½ cwt.

READERS AND THE CHRISTMAS DAY BROADCAST

LINE OF ACTION SUGGESTED TO CENTRAL COUNCIL — ISSUE OF CERTIFICATES — STEPS TO COMBAT LOW STANDARD OF RINGING — WHY INTERFERE? THE PUBLIC DON'T KNOW

'VANGUARD OF A CRUSADE'

Process of Action

Dear Sir,—Mr. John Hill's courageous letter is eminently worthy of publication, and I am certain you experienced no qualms. But while its writing was precipitated by the very poor ringing broadcast on Christmas morning, Mr. Hill looks beyond this to scrutinise the foundations of our Exercise. He is appalled at what he believes he sees, the gradual crumbling away, and the failure of renewal, of its precious bricks, the young recruits on which its future depends.

Some of us would not be quite so pessimistic for there are good signs as well as bad; nevertheless the preservation of our art—the physical preservation of its bells, the living preservation of those who ring them—must always be a first call on our personal endeavours. The same end is also served by our organisations, from the local band, through the guild or association, to the unity of action achieved through the Central Council. So any assertion of failure of duty must be examined with honesty.

Yes, the Central Council is undoubtedly an attractive social event, but if it were not so, it would be poor commentary on the Christian folk who compose it. But the Council meeting itself is an intensive effort of the mind, and the culmination of many hours' labour by the various committees entrusted with its detailed business. Again, it is the Council as a whole which determines the scope of its work, not its officers who are its formal instruments, and if it fails in its duties, all the representatives serving it must take responsibility.

Likewise, such representatives are not responsible only as individuals, but come in the names of guilds and associations, being the formal channel for requests and motions for the Council. Any personal shortcomings of Council representatives must therefore be remedied by the guilds upon whom the responsibility for the work of the Council thus devolves.

In turn, the guild expresses the desire of its constituent districts, which depend on the support of individual members drawn from local towers. Here, then, ultimate responsibility rests.

The lesson of all this is that when an individual ringer feels that something should be done about something, as Mr. Hill feels so very forcibly, he should set in motion the machinery provided. Writing a letter to 'The Ringing World' is one most effective opening gambit, but if the Central Council is to be compelled to act, a motion must be tabled in the name of two Council representatives.

Finally, I would comment on the positive suggestions for action put forward by Mr. Hill:

(1) To persuade the B.B.C. to avoid broadcasting bad ringing, undoubtedly the worst possible advertisement for our art.

The president of the Council, Mr. E. H. Lewis, took the first opportunity of making an official statement and we hope that this will have repercussions in the right quarters. This is the latest development in a difficult process which already has been in action for a number of years.

(2) To prevent the practice of bad ringing by adequate instruction, to a sufficiency of recruits, obtained through efficient publicity combined with effective incentives.

This summarises the basic needs of the Exercise, and no opportunity should be lost in supplying them. To this end, I think Mr. Hill, as a district secretary, is in a position in which he can exert maximum influence on individual ringers, at the same time doing most to ensure that the Central Council is obliged to consider ideas formulated to allay the dangers he fears.

As for 'The Ringing World,' this too is the servant of its readers and contributors, and we get the paper we deserve. Mr. Hill has, I am sure, now convinced himself of this, though I believe he is going to be disappointed, for rather than a storm about his ears, he may find himself in the vanguard of a crusade, a crusade going forward continuously for all who have the love of ringing in their hearts.—Yours sincerely.

E. S. JOHN HATCHER,

Hon. Sec Maidstone District,
Kent County Association, and Central Council Representative.

Ditton, Kent.

FIRST STEP OF POST-WAR RECOVERY

Dear Sir,—I did not hear 'Christmas Bells,' and I am sure that Mr. Hill is quite right in much of what he says, and that his suggestions for getting down to the root of the trouble are good. I still feel that the difficulties encountered in guiding the B.B.C. to would-be 'eligible towers' would be enormous, as ringing is only one of very many things to be taken into account for a broadcast. Also on no account could ringers be imported over the heads of a local band.

As hon. secretary of the Alton and Petersfield District of the Winchester and Portsmouth Guild, I have first-hand experience of the extreme difficulties attending our efforts at getting the bells rung for each service on Sunday, and I feel certain it is a problem which cannot be solved in any specific manner. Many of our towers here are fives and sixes and, geographically, the District is like a prairie: the ringers, where there are any, are generally very keen and I do feel at last that we have got one foot on the first step to post-war recovery.

With Mr. Hill I do cite this side of ringing as the measure by which the Exercise can view its strength:

I cannot entirely agree with Mr. Hill about the attitude taken by some of our leading ringers. I have on many occasions walked miles with them to give instruction at some obscure six-bell tower.

I can well imagine Mr. C. A. Bassett's joy at hearing Burwash and Salehurst on Christmas morning but I am afraid that Mr. J. W. Haw can have had little experience to express the views he does, although, of course, his ideals are those for which we all aim.—Yours faithfully,

CHARLES E. BASSETT.

Warsash, Hants.

THE TENOR BEHIND

Dear Sir,—In reply to Mr. Haw's letter in Jan. 5th issue, regarding Christmas ringing at 9.20 a.m.—yes, Major methods may be more interesting to the average ringer, but the outsider knows nothing of this, and as long as the ringing is well struck doesn't care a bit what is being rung.

A company might produce Major or Royal, but if it can't strike Triples and Caters. I don't want to hear its Royal, thanks.

I often get distressed, Mr. Haw, and not only at 9.20 a.m. Christmas Day.—Yours, etc.,

FRANK HOPGOOD.

Isleworth.

CERTIFICATES ADVOCATED

Dear Sir,—Many ringers were disappointed not only with the Christmas broadcast of bells, but with others. There seems to have been little thought of demonstrating the beauty of the bells.

Why are broadcasts of bells often inferior? An authority has suggested that it be due to a sort of stage fright. If this be true, it seems reasonable to suggest that the work be done by experienced ringers who have come under criticism. Guilds and associations often decry certificate (or competition) ringing but even so, where bands take part in them, striking is improved.

May not the Central Council say something on the whole question? Criticism is cheap and has little effect unless something practical be done to improve ringing in individual bands. Peal ringing seldom enters into this question because peals are very often rung by selected ringers.

A band which can reel off say 168's of Grand-sire, Stedman, Bob Minor or Major and Kent Minor or Major as a composite touch would command respect if the striking be good. And if a Festival be held to test the efficiency of local bands, granting certificates where a good standard of ringing is attained, great interest must follow. Further, if the certificate awarded to a band be issued from the Central Council, such band (tower) possessing the same would regard it with pride and I think it can be safely asserted that a Central Council certificate of this character would be sought for by local towers up and down the land.

Some attempt should be made to kill such criticism as 'What sort of ringing do you call that?' when above you twelve of the finest bells in the country are clashing and banging in your ears. Particularly on special occasions when change-ringing is 'on show' is this essential.

F. C. S.

PORTISHEAD'S REPLY

Dear Sir,—Mr. John A. Hill, Hon. Secretary, Andover District, says in his letter that, with the exception of the six at Portishead, the programme of ringing was a poor show; to this, I say 'Thanks,' although two bells seem to have been lost on the air.

Mr. E. H. Lewis, in his remarks, says, 'With the exception of St. Benet's Cambridge, and possibly Portishead, it was just as bad as it could be.' To this I say—a slight smack of snobbery.

Mr. James W. Haw's ambition seems to be 'Brass Hats at any price,' as he was so distressed by the continual clattering (his name for everything with tenor covering) from Portishead. To this I say, 'I am very sorry that my contribution to his discomfort could be only one-eighth.'

Here in Portishead we ring twice each Sunday and would much rather hear a humble method well struck than Surprise rung in a jangle.—Yours faithfully,

A. LANE.

Portishead.

BURWASH BELLS

Dear Sir,—It was with pleasure that I read the kind words of C. A. B. in a recent issue of 'The Ringing World,' re the rounds rung on Burwash bells for service on Christmas morning, and wish to thank him on behalf of our local band, who incidentally, with the exception of our instructor, have learned to ring during the past 18 months. It was the first time the octave had been rung by the local band.

V. I. L.

XMAS DAY BROADCAST.—Cont.*BROADCASTING*Not a Good Medium for Ringing

Dear Sir.—'Many shall be called but few chosen.' Such would surely be the verdict if there were to be a sudden judgment in the kingdom of ringing. The standard of ringing throughout the country is deplorably low and current tendencies are for it to become lower. Is it therefore reasonable to expect that more than a handful of local bands are of sufficiently high standard to produce an acceptable ringing broadcast? Yet I would not envy the man who dared to suggest that other than a local band, where such exists, should undertake a broadcast.

You get the same thing when it comes to ringing the opening touch on a rededicated ring of bells. I remember on one such occasion a local band trying four times to ring a touch of Grandsire Caters at the conclusion of the service of rededication of the bells in one of our beautiful cathedrals. They never did get the touch round, and there must have been three thousand people listening if there was one!

Apart from this, I wonder why ringers generally seem so anxious that bells should be broadcast. To my mind, broadcasting is not a good medium for ringing. To the layman, even those who like bells, ringing is a background noise. The sentimentalists always talk about hearing the sound of bells over the hills and valleys, across the meadow, maybe echoing around the city streets, but never have I heard one describe the beauty of the bells as heard from the church roof! And yet you stick a microphone in the louvres of the tower, usually guaranteed to pick up the nearest bells to the detriment to those on the other side of the tower, get the locals to do their worst, have some badly-struck changes, scramble the bells into rounds and hope for a pleasant result.

Even when the ringing is good the result is not particularly pleasing as the bells always sound as if they are struggling for life and their notes are restricted and canned. The one notable exception to all this was the series of delightful pre-war broadcasts from Croydon Parish Church. I expect it was something to do with the placing of the microphones. In any case, the ringing was very good, the ringers were content to ring ten properly rather than risk the twelve: the tone of the bells is exceptional and the internal acoustics of the tower are good. Otherwise, for my part, I think it would be a good thing if there were no ringing broadcasts at all or gramophone records either for that matter. Either medium is but a caricature of the real thing.

Ignoring the Practical Side

To return to my earlier point about the standard of ringing in the country generally, perhaps I may say why it seems to me that the standard of ringing is becoming lower. The greater knowledge of the art and science of change-ringing (not campanology, in deference to Mr. Smallwood) is being abused. The tendency in teaching learners is to over-emphasise the theoretical side of ringing and to ignore the practical side, with the result that you are getting an increasing number of youngsters who can ring any method under the sun but have never been taught the need for good striking and bell control.

It is all very well to have learners ringing peals of Surprise within six months of starting, but in my view they will miss the peals of Bob Major and Treble Bob and Grandsire and Double Norwich which they ought to ring, in order to learn to strike and handle their bells. Not only should their early peals be in the simpler methods but it is the duty of the conductors and instructors to see that youngsters' faults in striking, etc., are commented upon and, if possible, rectified.

Do not think I am carping about advanced method ringing: I have done my share of this and have derived great pleasure from it. There is nothing particularly wonderful about it, however, as after sufficient practice it is possible to ring London or Bristol mechanically, just as one might ring Plain Bob. It isn't what you ring but how you ring it that matters, and in your early days it is better to have the freedom to devote more attention to ringing your bell properly without having to concentrate too much on a method which is perhaps a little beyond your present stage of progress.

Well, Mr. Editor, some of your readers like a bit of controversy and others think it is not 'quite naice' but if this letter does not stir some of them up to wrathful indignation, nothing will! When the storm has died down, perhaps you will let me ventilate some more of my 'bees in the bonnet.'

Best wishes to all readers for the New Year,
—Yours truly,
Forest Hill, S.E.23. P. A. CORBY.

EXERCISE CHARITY

Dear Sir.—The Christmas morning broadcast ringing seems to have provoked a storm of protests and criticisms from ringers in various parts of the country, all of whom hasten to condemn the performances.

Before we dash into public view, making disparaging remarks, I think we might be wise in trying to find out something of the conditions existing in the particular belfries. The ringing was service ringing and we may assume it was carried out by the local bands. Perhaps the effort was the outcome of months of patient, slogging practice, with little or no guidance. Perhaps the bells were not the easiest to ring or hear. No doubt the ringers were very proud to be included in the broadcast, and no doubt they did their best to produce a good result. The ringing, with the exception of Portishead, Somerset, was not particularly good, but then, how many bands can claim, honestly and fairly, 'Our Sunday ringing is perfect; it could not be better?' Very few, if any.

However, it might be better if, in future, the B.B.C. were to approach the Central Council in connection with broadcast ringing. We might then hear ringing from some of the outstanding towers, well known for the good quality of their ringing and I've no doubt but that we should profit from hearing such ringing and would strive to equal it or surpass it.

Finally, Mr. John A. Hill, who makes such an outspoken criticism of the broadcast ringing, would do well to listen a little more attentively himself, for then he might have heard eight bells at Portishead, ringing Grandsire Triples (local band) in an area where the ringers don't care for the adjective 'stoney.'—Yours sincerely, Bath, Somerset. ROGER O. FRY.

CRAZE FOR SPEED

Dear Sir.—I have read with interest the correspondence re the Christmas Day broadcast. In spite of bad striking the broadcast was spoiled mostly by what seemed to be bad positioning of the microphones. I noticed that each time a tower was 'faded' in and out, the bells sounded much better than when they were 'on,' particularly in the case of Willenhall.

I wish to make no defence for bad striking, but isn't one of the causes of bad striking the craze for speed? Isn't it a fact that 'stoney' ringers obtain better striking because they are inclined to ring slower than method ringers? Slower striking in itself is not a remedy as it tends to produce waves as against the clashes produced by speed. The remedy lies in three basic qualifications, i.e., good bell control, mastery of method and a good ear. The first can be obtained by good instruction, the other two cannot be obtained by instruction, only by personal application.

One last observation, in my experience, good striking is one of those things that just happens. I do not believe there is a band of ringers in the country who can produce perfect striking at any given moment.—Yours truly, Godshill, I. of W.

L. BAILEY.

AN HONEST BROADCAST*Warning to Central Council Against Interference

Dear Sir.—If the B.B.C. happen to read the January 5th issue of 'The Ringing World,' they would be justified in deciding that there will be no more broadcasting of bells. Not because of the quality of the ringing but because of the ill-feeling the broadcast has clearly produced.

When Mr. E. H. Lewis suggested that he hoped that the B.B.C. would ask someone to advise them in future on the selection of bells, perhaps one is justified in assuming that he had in mind the Central Council. If so, God forbid!! The Central Council has a useful function to perform in being a centre point for the collection and distribution of information of use or of interest to ringers; but if there is any suggestion of it arrogating to itself the position of deciding who may or who may not broadcast, then one feels that it is time to remind the C.C. that it is only an unofficial body able to claim a precarious allegiance from possibly 40 per cent. of known ringers. In other words, having no legal authority, its decisions can be ignored with impunity. Moreover, if the principle of the B.B.C. consulting an 'expert' was established we all know what that would mean; namely that all the plums would be taken by a small clique, and no one else would get a look in.

Let us examine this question from a wider angle. From time to time, services, with bells, are broadcast. In passing, it is suggested that no broadcast of services, if it is to include bells, should be allowed without consulting an 'expert.' I do not know what procedure the B.B.C. adopt, but presumably they either approach an incumbent direct or through recognised legal channels, i.e., the Archdeacon and/or Rural Dean. Having arranged a broadcast, no incumbent worth his salt would attempt to fake it: he would not displace his organist because there happened to be a better a few miles away, or substitute some first-class choir for his own. In other words, he would put over an honest broadcast with his normal people. Why should he displace his ringers? If he did, his band would have every justification in telling him that he had better get his special band to go on doing the ringing. Provided a broadcast is honest it is none the worse for, perhaps, not being 100 per cent. perfect. In any case, an incumbent owes at least as much loyalty to his own people as no doubt he expects from them.

The average person could not care less about the method—see Mr. J. W. Haw's letter—and does not even know how many bells are being rung. If you do not believe that, ask your friends, whilst the record is being played, how many bells there are in the B.B.C. time signal. Possibly one in ten will name the number correctly. Again, one has only to ask people what they thought of such and such ringing to realise that ringing has to be really bad before the quality is criticised by the non-ringer.

The whole point is that the average person switches on his or her set to enjoy a broadcast and not with the fixed determination to criticise, which clearly was the intention of a number of ringers. Moreover, that Christmas broadcast was meant to give, and no doubt did give, pleasure to millions of listeners hardly any of whom would even notice an odd mis-strike, or not be very concerned if they did.

The consensus of opinion in our ringing chamber last Sunday was that the criticisms which have appeared in your paper have their root in selfish jealousy: and I do not think that that opinion is very wide of the mark.—Yours faithfully,

T. V. LISTER (Group Captain).
Apperley, Glos.

NOTE.—Those who know Mr. Lewis and the other critics of the Christmas Day broadcast will strongly resent the imputation that selfish jealousy was at the root of their observations. Their desire is that in a broadcast the ringing should be a good example of our art and not immature, with indifferent handling.—ED.

CANTERBURY, NEW ZEALAND, CENTENARY

Bells Featured In An Historic Service

It has been estimated that over 20,000 people were present at the Canterbury Centennial Service of Thanksgiving held in Cathedral Square, Christchurch, on Sunday, December 17th, 1950. In the Cathedral, its surrounding Square and adjacent streets the people gathered to pay homage to Canterbury's pioneers, and thank God for the blessings of the past century.

Man had done his best to make the occasion fitting: Providence co-operated, and picturesque pageantry was played out in brilliant sunshine in weather such, we are told, as greeted the pilgrims on December 16th, 1850.

While the representatives of the community, the province and the nation were assembling in their respective places, loudspeakers broadcast the bells of Canterbury Cathedral, England, the Mother Church of the Anglican Communion. This record was followed by one of the bells of Christ Church, Oxford—the cathedral and college of John Robert Godley and the members of the Canterbury Association. The city of Christchurch is named after this college.

The bells of St. Paul's Cathedral, London, where, on September 1st, 1849, Dr. Sumner, Archbishop of Canterbury, blessed the first Canterbury Pilgrims and their undertaking before they embarked on the first four ships, were next heard pealing out over the city and were closely followed by the bells of the Abbey Church of St. Peter, Westminster, where later Canterbury Pilgrims worshipped before leaving England.

At the arrival of the Governor General and the viceregal party the National Anthem was played. Then was sounded a fanfare of trumpets to mark the conclusion of the first century of the Canterbury Settlement and to mark the beginning of the second century.

The service began with the vast congregation, led by a mixed choir of over 200, singing the hymn 'All people that on earth do dwell,' during which the procession of church dignitaries, including the Primate of England (Dr. G. F. Fisher), the Primate of New Zealand (Archbishop West-Watson), eight bishops and representatives of most other communions, wended its way through the Cathedral precincts to the temporary balcony erected above the west door of the Cathedral.

The first lesson was read by the Moderator of the Presbyterian Assembly of New Zealand (the Rt. Rev. J. A. Thomson). The lesson was from Genesis 12, 1-9. The Rev. Canon P. Temuera, M.B.E., gave thanks in his native tongue for the work of the Maori evangelists, Tamihana, Taawao, Hohepa, and others, who brought the Christian Gospel to the Maori people before the establishment of the Canterbury Settlement. The past chairman of the Methodist Conference (the Rev. H. J. Odell) read the second lesson, Hebrews, 11, 8-16. This was followed by prayers for the future by the Archbishop of New Zealand. The sermon, given by the Archbishop of Canterbury (Dr. G. F. Fisher) was framed around the text from the Epistle to the Hebrews: 'For he looked for a city which hath foundations, whose builder and maker is God.'

His Grace impressed the congregation with a deep sense of the importance of the occasion. His call was to work, under God, as the pilgrims had done, in building for the future.

Following the last hymn, 'Now thank we all our God,' and the Blessing, the trumpets and organ sounded for joy; and the bells of the Cathedral rang out as the people streamed away from what was surely the most impressive gathering in the province's century of history.

LEICESTER DIOCESAN GUILD Syston District

It is very encouraging to be able to report another good year of progress in the life of the Syston District.

Eleven towers were visited during the year, namely:—Syston, Thurnby, Humberstone, Rothley, Cossington, Mountsorrel, Thrusington, Ashby Folville, Birstall, Sibley and Barkby; the meeting at Ashby Folville being a joint one with the Melton District. The attendance at these averaged 42 as compared with 30 last year which, considering the size of the district, is worthy of note.

It is with regret that we record the death of Mr. G. H. Bostock, of Rothley. Mr. Bostock joined the M.C.A. in 1927, and although not a prolific peal ringer, gave of his best every Sunday.

Eighteen members were elected during the year, thus bringing the total membership up to 112, and of this number 100 have paid their subscription.

Mr. J. Norton, of Billesdon, was made an honorary life member in recognition of his faithful services.

Collections for the Bell Repair Fund amounted to £5 18s. 10d., a little short of last year's figure, but nevertheless, a good effort. Included in this total is £1 12s. collected at Syston, which was handed to the Rector of Hoby for his Steeple Fund.

The number of towers in the District has now increased to 16, with the addition of Humberstone, Mountsorrel and Barrow-on-Soar, which have been recently transferred from other Districts. Hoby bells can be rung again, as the repairs to the steeple have now been completed. The ringers are to be congratulated on raising the money needed in just under 12 months.

In conclusion, the chairman and secretary wish to thank those who have supported them during their term of office, and especially to the ladies who take so much trouble in preparing teas.

ESSEX ASSOCIATION

South-West Division

Optimism and progress were the keynotes of the secretary's report to the annual meeting of the S.W. Division of the Essex Association held at Dagenham on January 6th.

The most significant feature of the report was the increase in membership—23 ringing members making a total of 250, and 13 honorary members, making a total of 42.

Spliced Surprise was now being practised in the Division; the record length of Bob Royal at Prittlewell, Albanian Royal at the same tower, and a greater variety of methods rung at most towers were also reported.

Approximately 60 members received a very cordial welcome from the Vicar (the Rev. Siviter), a very great friend and admirer of ringers generally.

Confidence in the officers was shown when all were re-elected, viz.:—Master, J. H. Chalk (Wanstead); secretary, F. V. Gant (Hornchurch); committee representatives, J. Sitch (Brentwood) and J. Grove (Leytonstone).

Excellent arrangements had been made by Mr. A. Chaplin, the local Master and tower-keeper. Ringing was continued after tea at Dagenham and St. Margaret's, Barking.

NORTHAMPTON TOWER CAPTAIN MARRIED

On January 6th, at St. Michael and All Angels' Church, Northampton, Mr. W. R. Hammons, Ringing Master of the Northampton Branch, was married to Miss M. Griffin.

In the afternoon, at St. Giles' Church, Northampton, where Mr. W. R. Hammons is tower captain, a quarter peal of Grandisle Triples was rung by the following:—E. Frost 1, B. O. Soden 2, E. Nobles 3, J. King 4, P. Jones 5, J. Dove 6, G. Care (conductor) 7, E. G. Bennett 8.

BATH AND WELLS DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION

Ilchester Deanery Meeting

At the annual meeting of the Ilchester and Merston Deaneries Branch held at Yeovil on January 6th, over 40 members and visiting ringers were present, including a member of the Central Council, Mr. H. Sanger.

The service was conducted by the Vicar, Rev. Preb. H. Mortlock Treen, assisted by the Vicar of Stoke-sub-Hamdon, Rev. D. Ballard.

At the business meeting, the officers were re-elected, viz.:—Preb. V. W. Saunders, chairman; Mr. T. Setter, vice-chairman; Mr. F. Farrant, secretary; Mr. Walter Poole, Ringing Master.

The general secretary, Mr. J. T. Dyke, wrote regretting not being able to attend, as on the first Saturday in each month he helped at a ten-bell practice at Wrington.

Arising out of the minutes was the question of the part ringers would take in the Festival of Britain. After some discussion, it was decided it could be left to individual towers.

Mr. T. Setter was nominated as a candidate for the Central Council representatives.

Places chosen for the year's meetings were Hazelbury Plucknett, Kingsdon, West Coler, and the annual at Martock.

CAWTHORNE'S HAPPY YEAR

Cawthorne Church bellringers, with their wives and friends, had a supper at the Golden Cross Cafe on December 30th, to celebrate ringing successes during 1951.

The Vicar (the Rev. H. E. S. Meanley) congratulated the team on winning both the Barnsley Shield and the Cup and also thanked them for consistent Sunday service ringing since the ban was lifted.

By a stroke of good fortune the team was complete for two members of the team, C. Rusby and B. Broadhead at present serving with H. M. forces, were able to obtain leave.

HONEYMOON RINGING

On the last afternoon of the old year, the Piddlehinton ringers had the pleasure of entertaining Mr. Vivian Williams of St. Wenn, Cornwall, and his bride, on the first day of their honeymoon.

Arrangements had been made for the happy couple to take part in a quarter peal at Piddlehinton, but owing to their late arrival (the bridegroom blamed the lack of signposts!) this had to be cancelled. However, about 30 minutes' ringing was enjoyed at Piddlehinton, Puddletown and Bere Regis. Thanks are due to the three incumbents for allowing the use of their bells.

On the following Friday evening Mr. and Mrs. Williams, on their return journey, together with members from Piddlehinton, were given a grand reception in the tower at North Cadbury by Mr. W. A. Osborn and his band of ringers, who placed the bells at the disposal of the visitors for over an hour.

THE OLD YEAR AND THE NEW

The ringers spat upon their hands
And grasped their sallies red,
The eighth man looked at his watch.
'Now it is twelve,' he said.

'The Old Year's gone, I'll toll for him.'
And straightway he began
To toll twelve strokes upon his bell,
Twelve strokes are for a man

As midnight struck, the tolling ceased.
'Going,' said Number One.
The ringers all 'gan pull the ropes,
The New Year had begun.

One, two, three, four, five, six, seven,
eight,

The bells made merry din.
The Old Year had been tolled out,
The New Year welcomed in.

CHUMMY (aged 14).

OBITUARY

MR. F. G. BRADLEY

By the death of Mr. F. George Bradley, of Whittle-le-Woods, the Lancashire Association has suffered a serious loss. He had a seizure on December 19th and passed away soon after the New Year had been ushered in. He was 67 years of age.

Mr. Bradley learnt to ring on the installation of the bells at Whittle in 1910 and continued without a break until a few months ago. For the last ten years he had been chief ringer in this tower. Handicapped as a ringer by having only one eye, he was a capable standard method ringer up to Superlative.

For nearly 20 years he was Master of the Preston Branch and served on the committee for a similar period. Skilled in debate, he excelled as a chairman or in committee work and was well known to most Lancashire ringers.

He took a deep interest in his service ringing, but had a number of peals to his credit. The sympathy of the Exercise is extended to his widow and two daughters.

By his own wish his remains were cremated at Carleton, Blackpool, on January 5th after a service at his home. Half-muffled ringing by ringers of St. John's and visitors took place to coincide with the cremation. A peal will be attempted in due course. E. R. M.

MR. W. A. CLARK

One of the oldest honorary members of the St. Martin's Guild, Mr. W. A. Clark, died at his home, Swanshurst, Moseley, on December 15th. For many years Mr. Clark had been a familiar figure at the Henry Johnson Dinner, and at meetings of the Guild, and his genial personality won him many friends.

OTTERY ST. MARY

The Last of the Kelly Band

The passing of Mr. J. H. Godfrey, of Ottery St. Mary, recalls to Mr. Louis A. Wilson, of Wootton Bassett, Wilts, memories of the days when there were only six bells in this tower.

'Call changes were then rung,' he writes, 'and I was the one to see that the cards were placed before each ringer and collect them afterwards. That was in 1886.'

John Godfrey was the last link with that generation of ringers of which my great-grandfather was a ringer in 1790. Now there is no Godfrey connected with ringing at Ottery, a connection which lasted 200 years from father to son.

'When the two trebles were added in 1887, call-changes were still the order. When the Rev. Maitland Kelly became Vicar, he introduced change-ringing, but old Grandfather Godfrey was violently opposed to it and would only have call-changes rung on Sundays for some years after Mr. Kelly's advent.'

'The Reverend gentleman trained a band of youngsters, of whom John and four younger brothers and myself were part. We had to practise with bells silent until we could ring 168 fairly well.'

'In the course of time the call-change ringers gave out. Strange to relate, old Grandfather Godfrey learnt to ring the treble and did it so well that he was in the first peal on the bells, which was conducted by his son, S. H. Godfrey, aged 16. A previous attempt was lost in the last 500 through a missed call and then the old man was furious, saying he would never ring again.'

'Change-ringing flourished at Ottery until the band began to break up. G. White departed to Dorchester. Fred and Sydney Godfrey to London. J. E. Baker to Yeovil and myself to Wootton Bassett, where we carried on the good work of the Rev. Maitland Kelly.'

'Since then I have rung many peals in all parts of the country. Always on my yearly visit to Ottery for the last 53 years have I received the greatest kindness from my old friend John and family. Now I am the last ringing member of the Kelly band. All have departed and John has joined them. Lest them rest in peace.'

OPERATION SNOWSTORM

In Mid-Buckinghamshire on Boxing Day

On Boxing Day, nine campaigners from round about Bedford launched their offensive into the mid-Buckinghamshire countryside. Our optimistic hopes were rewarded by icy roads and sunny skies as our convoy of three Morris Eightys started out together at Bromham.

The first objective, Little Horwood, was reached at ten o'clock. After admiring the unusual wall-painting in the church, we raised the five bells for some good striking. Next, we were made welcome at Great Horwood by the Rector. The six bells here have much to commend themselves to the ringer. A striking feature of the church is an enormous flag-pole on the tower.

The twelve o'clock chimes and an accompanying tune on the bells greeted us at Winslow. The heavy-going six meant hard work for the tenor-man, but their tone was ample reward for our labours. One hour after leaving Winslow church and bells, we had a pleasant feeling inside us; not luck, but commendation had guided us to a splendid Christmas feast.

As a result, we reached Swanbourne late but it would have been a pity to have cut short our visit, as the six bells are a handy lot. Soon we were on the road to Mursley. The six here run fast and well; we only caught up with them two paraffin stoves had been lit to dispel the cold. Afterwards a good course of Plain Bob Major was rung on the church's enormous set of handbells.

Dusk was falling as we drew up to the church of Drayton Parslow on the hill. The treble here had no stay and we had to disentangle the rope. In spite of careful handling, however, the rope jumped the wheel and we had to resort to Doubles methods on the back five.

We ate our sandwich tea in the cars on the way to Stewkley, the last call of the day. We spent an hour and a half here, being reluctant to leave this spacious tower and richly Norman church. To conclude the day some of us adjourned to the King's Head and rang our handbells before an open fire.

The following are some of the methods we rang:—Cambridge Surprise and Double Oxford Major, Stedman Triples and Doubles, Sandal Treble Bob, St. James' Youths' Exercise and St. Lawrence's Little Bob Minor. We should like to thank the incumbents and local ringers for allowing us to ring at seven. We hope representative, Buckinghamshire towers. R. W. S.

PEAL RINGERS OF 1950

ONE of the fascinating things about ringing is the meticulous care with which records are kept. There are, it is true, ringers who are not interested in such things, probably through fear of becoming egotistical; others who regard records as mundane and not in keeping with the art of change ringing and its primary function. The majority of our readers are, however, interested in the realm of personal achievement as applied to the Exercise.

Heading last year's list of peal ringers is Mr. George E. Fearn, the hon. secretary of St. Martin's Guild, with a total of 106 peals. Mr. Fearn held the same distinction in 1948 when he scored 108 peals, but he failed the following year to reach the century mark. Recently he rang his 700th peal. Of his peals in 1950, 100 were rung on tower bells.

Mr. Daniel T. Matkin, who is second on the list with 102 peals, concentrates largely on handbell ringing. Twenty-five different ringers took part in the handbell peals rung at 26, Wellington Road, Bournemouth, of whom 13 were visitors. Mr. Matkin conducted 82 of the 96 peals he rang in hand and has to his credit the fact that he called more peals than any other ringer during 1950. Associated with him in many of the peals was Mrs. F. J. Marshallsay, who rang 93 peals. No other lady exceeded the 40 peal mark in 1950. In two years she has rung 206 peals, a remarkable demonstration of enthusiasm for this branch of the Exercise.

Mr. Walter P. Whitehead, that champion of the Midland Counties Guild, has had a profitable year with 89 peals, 11 short of his total last year. This includes five non-conducted peals. This friend, Mr. Ernest Morris, despite the calls of genealogical research, found time to ring 77 peals. His list of tower peals includes 11 of Doubles, 13 of Minor, 9 of Triples, 15 of Major, 3 of Caters and 1 of Cinques. Of the peals on lower number bells many were pioneer work with inexperienced bands. Mr. Morris' versatility is well known and his record for the year includes 42 lectures and three sermons. If his present rate of ringing is maintained he will soon have more peals to his credit than any other living ringer.

Mr. Harold J. Poole, who in 1949 established a record with 143 peals in the year, rang 75 peals, closely followed by his fellow-officer in the Leicester Diocesan Guild, Mr. Alfred Ballard, with 70. Other Leicester enthusiasts figure in our list, with Messrs. P. J. Staniforth (57), Terence A. Thornber (57), Shirley Burton (50) and John Bramley (47).

High up on the list are two Stoke-on-Trent ringers—Mr. F. W. Grocott (72) and Mr. Frederick E. Wilshaw (68). The North Staffordshire Association, thanks largely to their keenness, have had probably their best peal ringing year. In 1949 Mr. Grocott just secured his footing with 41 peals.

The Chester Diocesan Guild have had a memorable year with peals of 21,600 Bristol Surprise Major, 8,032 Spliced Surprise Major in six methods and non-conducted peals of Bristol Surprise Major and Spliced Surprise Major in four methods. There is real substance behind these performances, which cannot be lightly tossed off on a Saturday afternoon. Nevertheless, the Chester Guild have their representatives in the list—Messrs. John E. Bibby (Frodsham), W. Allman (Runcorn), John Worth (Macclesfield), C. Kenneth Lewis and Ralph G. Edwards (Birkenhead).

Leading peal ringer in the Home Counties was Mr. R. F. B. Speed (Harrow) with 61 peals, followed by Mr. P. A. Corby with 43 (including 10 different Surprise methods). Mr. Leonard H. Bowler, of Cricklewood, N.W.2, who rang 42 peals and appears in our list for the first time, rang 39 peals of Surprise in 20 different methods. His spliced ringing included peals with 3, 4, 6, 9 and 12 methods. Another Londoner with a penchant for Surprise was Mr. A. Cutler, of Harlesden. He also rang peals in 20 Surprise methods with one each in 3, 6, 9 and 12 Spliced Surprise Major.

The Midland contingent are also well represented with Messrs. J. W. Frank Trotman (60), A. V. Pearson (58), H. E. Fearn (50), Terry R. Hampton (45), Howard Howell (40), Frank E. Haynes (40) and George E. Large (40). The last named, commenting on his performance, writes: 'For the first time in 26 years of ringing I am entitled to join the "Crazy Gang."' He adds that most of these peals were organised by himself, and he had the support of enthusiastic ringers. Mr. Pearson, of Wolverhampton, had also a meritorious list of 41 Surprise peals in 22 different Major, 8 different Surprise Royal and 9 different Surprise Maximus methods.

It was the privilege of Mr. Nolan Golden, the sole representative of East Anglia in the list, to call most tower bell peals in the year. Of his total of 43, he conducted 39 in tower bells and one 'in hand.' Mr. J. Frederick Milner, of Kirklington, Notts, also had a good year with 58 peals, as did Mr. G. C. Briggs, of Chesterfield, with 45 peals from 79 attempts.

Another ringer with a varied list is Mr. W. F. Judge, of Oxford. He developed the cult of Spliced Surprise Major with peals in 4, 10, 16, 18, 20 and 22 methods. Mr. Wilfrid F. Moreton, of Hereford, who was listed two years ago, scored just 40, and another newcomer who deserves congratulation is Mr. Harry Parkes, of Ashford, Kent, who just got in the list.

SUBSCRIPTION REMINDER

There are still some subscriptions outstanding for 1951. These should be despatched immediately to Mrs. Fletcher, The White House, Caister-on-Sea, Norfolk.

Mr. Bryan Bristow, a member of the Leeds, Kent, band, has died on active service in Korea. The condolence of all ringers is expressed to his relatives.

Mr. P. Amos is in Ward 2, Manfield Orthopaedic Hospital, Northampton, for an operation to his leg.

An enquiry comes from Lyme Regis, whether Stratford Surprise Major has been rung before. The local company have registered a quarter.

Mr. George A. Naylor writes that the peal rung at Upchurch on December 22nd was Single Oxford Bob Minor and not Oxford Treble Bob Minor, as published.

Mr. W. A. Smith rang at Fairfield, Buxton, Derbyshire, the first peal on the bell that is dedicated to his father. We should imagine that very few sons have had a similar honour.

Mr. J. W. Davis has completed 60 years as tower master at Lydney, Gloucestershire and, despite his 82 years, his name appears in our peal columns this week.

Mr. R. D. Edge, of Queens' College, has been appointed hon. secretary of Cambridge University Guild in succession to Mr. A. W. T. Cleaver, who has had to resign owing to pressure of work.

The peal of Stedman Triples at Claybrooke, Leics, was a noteworthy occasion for the two lady ringers—Miss Nancy Marklew, of Hinchley, and Miss Joyce Bray, of the local band. They are the first ladies in their respective towers to ring a peal in this method.

The two current issues of the Peterborough Diocesan Youth Magazine contain instructive articles upon bells and ringing, edited by Mr. P. Amos. They are written specially to appeal to those contemplating recruiting among Youth Groups. Copies may be had from the Diocesan Youth secretary, Miss M. Stockdale, Little Houghton, Northampton.

BELFRY GOSSIP

The Kent County Association are shortly to have available for its members a badge, an order having been placed with manufacturers. The badge is a striking one in red and white enamel with the Kentish horse drawn on the outline of a bell, in turn encircled with lettering.

We have received the January issue of 'The Belfry,' the Maidstone District quarterly magazine. It is a readable production and the tradition established by Mr. Frank Wright, the first editor, is being well maintained.

A profitable week in the Swindon area was spent by Miss Mary Kennelly and Mr. Jack R. Worrall and other members of the Bristol University Society with seven peals in the bag. At Shrivvenham, Mr. Charles Gardner, who is 78 years, eight months, rang his first touch in Little Bob Major.

The peal of Kent Treble Bob Maximus at Ipswich on January 6th enabled Messrs. A. R. Andrews, C. A. Andrews, W. J. Button and E. W. Pye to complete peals of Kent from Minor to Maximus. The conductor, Mr. A. P. Cannon, has now called peals in this method from Minor to Maximus.

A father and his fifteen-year-old daughter scored their first peal together at Hersham, Surrey. For the daughter, Miss Judy Dodson, it was her first attempt. Mr. F. J. Dodson has been a Sunlay service ringer at Hersham for nearly 30 years and had previously stood in at least a dozen attempts in various methods before scoring his first peal.

An attempt for a peal of Stedman Triples at St. Paul's, Salisbury, on January 13th, in memory of the late Mr. Leonard Harris, unfortunately failed after approximately 4,700 changes had been rung. Ringers taking part were:—W. E. Cheater 1, H. Abrahams 2, D. R. Reed 3, R. N. Marlow 4, J. Hartless 5, J. Mussell, 6, F. L. Harris (conductor) 7, J. Lewis 8.

LEADING PEAL RINGERS of 1950

In response to our request we have compiled the following list of peal ringers for 1950. Only two ringers, it will be noted, have rung more than 100 peals—Mr. George E. Fearn, of Birmingham, and Mr. Daniel T. Matkin, of Bournemouth—compared with five in 1949.

Of those who have rung 1,000 peals, only one is represented in this year's list—Mr. Ernest Morris, of Leicester.

Messrs. W. P. Whitehead, J. W. F. Trotman, F. W. Grocott, E. Morris and F. Wilshaw rang five peals non-conducted.

Messrs. W. Allman, J. E. Bibby, J. Worth, R. G. Edwards and C. K. Lewis rang two silent peals.

HANDBELLS FROM BICYCLE BELLS

Peal Rung on Novel Set

In our peal columns this week is recorded the first peal on bicycle bells, rung at Northill, Bedfordshire, on January 11th.

This set of handbells is the result of 14 years' work by Mr. G. William Wagstaff, of Northill, where he is churchwarden and captain of the ringers.

The set is made entirely of bicycle components comprising bicycle bells, spokes and nipples, valve seatings, leather straps and rubber repair patches.

The diameter and notes of the bells are:—Treble, 2 7/16 in., B flat; second, 2 3/16 in., A; third, 2 5/16 in., G; fourth, 2 11/16 in., F; fifth, 2 1/2 in., E flat; sixth, 2 9/16 in., D; seventh, 2 5/16 in., C; tenor, 2 7/8 in., B flat. The total weight is 2 lb. 3 1/2 oz.

Mr. Wagstaff has also made handbell sets from doorbells. His well-equipped workshop bears evidence that he is a worthy follower of the line of Northill craftsmen amongst whom is included the name of Thomas Tompion, the 17th century clockmaker.

FIRST OLD BOYS' PEAL

The Old Lincolnians' Society has one peal to its credit, viz.: 5184 Bob Major rung 'in hand' in Lincoln School Library on September 2nd, 1947. The band was: P. M. Freeman 1-2, J. Freeman (conductor) 3-4, K. S. B. Croft 5-6, D. W. Townhill 7-8.

ROYAL SOCIETY OF CUMBERLAND YOUTHS

MR. G. CROSS RE-ELECTED MASTER

There was a large attendance at the annual meeting of the Society of the Royal Cumberland Youths held at St. Martin's-in-the-Fields on January 13th.

Mr. George Cross presided at the business meeting, supported by Mrs. Matthews, the hon. secretary.

Arising from the minutes, the Master reported that Mr. R. Ling had arranged for a new supply of certificates to be printed at a much reduced cost. Regarding Shoreditch bells, they had met the Vicar and rung there on three occasions but found that the tenor bell did not go well. He had been in communication with the Vicar about this bell and also with Messrs. Mears and Stainbank and they hoped it would be put right.

LOSSES BY DEATH

The Master announced that during the year the Society had lost, by death, four members, viz., Mr. Charles Martin, Mr. George Steere, Mr. George Radley and Mr. Charles Tyler. While Mr. Steere did as much as anyone for the Society in years of membership he had the least of the four members who had passed over.

He did not know if members had heard of Mr. Charles Tyler. He had a wonderful band at Henfield that was up to Surprise standard and a band that could ring Stedman Cinques. A visiting band came along and rang a peal of Superlative, the first Surprise peal on the bells. It caused the local band to dissolve as they had been looking forward to ringing the first peal of Surprise on the bells.

The members present stood in silence as a mark of respect to these old ringers.

In the absence of the hon. treasurer, Mr. T. Francis, an auditor, presented the balance sheet which showed a balance at the end of the year of £97 11s. 9 1/2d. against £99 2s. 3 1/2d. at the beginning. A payment was made for writing the peal book; some 69 peals had been entered and the work was completed to the end of 1949.

36 NEW MEMBERS

Mrs. Matthews presented the secretary's report which stated that the year had been a quiet one but progress had been maintained with 36 new members. Only six peals had been rung, viz.—A peal of Minor in seven methods; Double Norwich Court Bob Major; Plain Bob Royal (in hand); Stedman Cinques; Stedman Caters; Rutland Surprise Major.

Enjoyable meetings had been held at Luton, Westerham and Burnham, with an average attendance of 35. An anonymous gift of headed notepaper had been received.

The Master said there was one other peal of special interest to the Society, that of Stedman Cinques at St. Martin's, in memory of Mr. George Steere. As Mr. Steere had been a member for many years of the Guildford Diocesan Guild, they felt it would be a nice compliment to ring the peal for that Guild.

The report and accounts were adopted.

The following new members were elected:—Miss Mariory Jackson (Balham), Miss Janet Hott (Erith), Miss Barbara Beeson (Ruislip), Messrs. J. A. C. King, H. D. Buckingham and R. Currey (Winchester).

ELECTION OF OFFICERS

Before vacating the chair, Mr. George Cross thanked the officers for their support during the year. The dinner had to be cancelled because of the poor support. He thanked Mr. T. Francis for his services during the time he was unwell.

On the proposition of Mr. Peter Bond, Mr. Cross was re-elected.

Mrs. Matthews was re-elected secretary. Mr. Geoffrey Carter reminded the gathering that Mrs. Matthews took over at a critical time in the life of the Society and she had proved her worth. Her election made history as it was the first time that a national society like theirs had had a lady secretary.

There was one other name submitted for the position, Mr. Butler, but his nomination was not seconded.

Mr. P. Winterton was re-elected hon. treasurer, the Master remarking that he had been of great help to them at St. Martin's.

For the post of senior steward there were two nominations—Mr. T. Bevan (who held the office last year) and Mr. F. Hawthorne. The voting was—Mr. Bevan 23; Mr. Hawthorne 16. Mr. Bevan was thus re-elected and Mr. F. Hawthorne re-elected junior steward. The auditors, Messrs. T. Francis and Mrs. Richard Deal, were re-elected.

Elected as Central Council representatives were:—Messrs. G. Cross, T. Francis, P. Bond and F. Hawthorne. Mr. C. Matthews and Dr. R. Ling were elected trustees.

Discussion took place on meetings during the year. Reading was selected for April 21st, Mr. W. Diserens promising to make enquiries.

When Guildford was selected for the meeting on July 14th, Mr. A. H. Pulling remarked that the ringing would have to be better than that day else it would be confined to rounds.

Barnet was chosen for the meeting on October 13th and it was also decided to have, if possible, a meeting at Shoreditch and Bishopsgate in November.

FESTIVAL OF BRITAIN

Mr. T. Martin Page asked what the Cumberlands were going to do do regarding the Festival of Britain.

The Master said they would attempt a peal in May and perhaps ring something a little bit out of the ordinary. For that peal attempt they were going to get a band that could ring rounds just as well as at Holy Trinity (laughter). They would also see if they could have the bells of St. Martin's available on one Saturday for ringers visiting the Festival.

PLANS FOR A DINNER

Mr. P. Bond asked if there was any likelihood of the annual dinner being held this year.

The Master explained the circumstances that led to the cancellation of last year's dinner and impressed upon the meeting that such a function to be a success needed the full support of members.

The matter was fully discussed and 21 of those present promised to attend if the function was arranged. It was decided that the officers, with Mr. Frank Matthews as secretary, should make enquiries and submit a definite proposition before the next meeting.

The Master proposed a vote of thanks to St. Martin's for the use of the bells and the hall for the meeting and thanked the ladies who had arranged the tea. Regarding St. Martin's bells, some of the pulleys were getting somewhat worn and the church authorities had promised that they would be put right and also a balanced clapper placed in the tenor.

Mr. P. Bond, in seconding, thanked the officers for their services.

BATS IN THE BELFRY

The following is culled from 'The Belfry', the quarterly magazine of the Maidstone District of the K.C.A.

In the midst of ringing, a bat flew in and out between the ropes and the ringers in a most disconcerting manner. The effect on the ringing, however, was not quite disastrous for the touch came home in spite of the supposed dread of the fair sex for getting bats entangled in the hair.

The bat seemed disconcerted too, and became entangled with some cobwebs (now happily gone with the wind—vacuum variety). Struggling with a grey streamer in its wake the bat made a forced landing on the belfry table where it was grabbed firmly and placed carefully on the belfry stairs to sort things out for itself.

STORY OF A GREAT RINGING CAREER

DIARY OF THE LATE MR. W. H. FUSSELL—7

Edited by ERNEST MORRIS

A PRESENT FROM BIRMINGHAM

Mr. Fussell records many times how he wrote illuminated peal records for various ringers and towers—a noted instance for example is—'Monday, 24th (December, 1883). Sent an illuminated copy of the peal of Grandsire Caters—6,137—to Carter, Russam and Miller. Also peals for Harrington, Newson, Page, Barrett, Titchener, Jacobs and Griffin, wishing all a merry Christmas.' Later he says: 'Found a letter from Carter, of Birmingham, at home for me (after ringing in New Year) with a present in it, in the way of a scarf pin with a monogram on. They sent their thanks for the illuminated peals I sent them.'

A VISIT TO SHREWSBURY

As was usual, wherever he went, Mr. Fussell soon found ringing friends, and by his keenness and unbounded enthusiasm stirred up interest where things were dormant. Usually he found a companion to go out with him on his visits to different churches and would dig out the sexton or head ringer, get the tower key and go up and take off copies of the bell inscriptions and make sketches of the formation of bell-frames or the fall of the ropes, etc., many of which are given in his diary and others in some notebooks. A typical example of his deep interest in this side of our art is—while at Bridgnorth—'March 5th: Wrote to the sexton of St. Chad's, Shrewsbury, Mr. T. Bratton,' then 'Sunday, 11th: Went to S. by the 10.35, called at Bratton's house. When we arrived, he being in church for the service, had a walk round the town. Made a sketch.....went to the Abbey church: called again at B's house, found him and had some refreshments when Mr. J. Blount came in and took us up to St. Chad's tower, saw the belfry (5 peal boards ornamented).....copied the inscriptions off the bells, all hung on the level in a circular wall. (Then follows the inscriptions of the 12 bells.) Left the tower and went to Mr. Bratton's for refreshment and left again at 2.10 for St. Mary's.....called on Mr. Price, the sexton, and went up the tower, saw the clock and chiming apparatus and copied the inscriptions off the 10 bells (which follow). Bells on a level. 4 peal boards. Went to the Abbey church and got keys off the sexton, Mr. Peter Cain. Went up the tower to the bells and copied inscriptions (which are given). Ringing room just below the bells, which go badly. On the tower roof, which is pure lead, is

WARDENS

JOHN POVEY

JOHN BROWNE

Came down from the tower 4.15 and returned keys. The bells here are supported by very large beams among which the ringers have to stand to ring. The way up the tower is a roundabout affair, having to cross over several roofs and flats and staircases to get to the belfry. After finishing at the Abbey church and seeing the stone pulpit we went back to Mrs. Bratton at the Forester's Arms and had refreshment, when Mrs. B. kindly sewed up my trousers which I had torn among St. Mary's bells, fortunately only bruising my legs and breaking the skin. Went to the station and caught the 5.5 train to Bridgnorth, got here 6 o'clock and had tea and wrote up this diary, finished at 9.10.'

Thus ended a good day's 'hunting' but he was out again the very next day for, he records, 'Got up at 8 and had breakfast and walked to Quatford, copied the inscriptions off the bells, went in the chancel and aisles to examine several tombs to the Wolryche family, the oldest being an immense table stone. Left Quat and walked along the Kidderminster Road to the 6th milestone and turned off to Alveley church of St. Mary, the building very recently restored. Bells rehung on entirely new fittings except the frames.' (He then gives inscriptions and drawing of the frame.) Tower about 14 ft. square, bells rehung by Taylors. Left Alveley at 1 o'clock and continued on to Arley. Went to the church and found the key of the tower in a niche. Went up among the bells and copied inscriptions (which are given). After copying the foregoing, I went outside the tower and had a view of the country and River Severn. Came down into the belfry, a large roomy place with the following notice of some ringing on a musty old board.—

On the 24th Dec., 1786

was rung in this tower

4 peals of 240 changes

John Oxenbold 1

Richd. Beckly 2

George Smith 3

Richd. Roberts 4

Richd. Brown 5

John Gill 6

The above peal was rung in a masterly manner. John Gill, printer.

From the ringing room a door opened into a gallery with two sittings for the ringers' use, the room being heated with a stove fixed in one corner dirtying and smoking the place out.'

The foregoing is but an example of many other such visits to neighbouring towers which are too numerous to quote here.

Mr. Fussell did much to promote and encourage ringing on every possible occasion. He mentions, time after time, how he went to help with beginners, for instance, 'Wed., saw Mr. Overton, went to St. Leonard's in the evening about 8 o'clock and helped to instruct some beginners with the management of the bells.' Again, 'Helped at St. Leonard's the learners balancing the bells.' 'Assisted the beginners with lashed bell practice and the 3 bell changes, after which we had handbell practice.' 'Called at Soar's house and left my copy of Troyte's book on ringing for him to read and copy from.' At this time he mentions also, 'I find that the builder for whom I work (Mr. Bate) has 6 ringers in his employ including myself.'

THE JONES FAMILY

He describes a visit to Chetton, how he walked there and saw Mr. Jones, jun., who took him up to the belfry and helped him copy the bell inscriptions and says, 'The Jones family seem to be prolific; at one time there was enough members to ring a peal of 8. On many occasions the Chetton bells have been rung on New Year's eve entirely by Jones.'

SECOND VISIT TO BIRMINGHAM

7th April, 1883: 'Went to Birmingham by the 12.10 train via Bewdley, called on T. Miller at 2.40; went to John Carter's and had tea. Met at St. Chad's at 5.20, saw Sanger, Russam, Payne and others. Started for a peal of Grandsire Triples (not enough for Stedman) and finished the 5,040 at 8.40. Went over to the pub and saw Mr. H. Johnson, Thomas of Reading, Amos Cresser and other members of St. Martin's Society. Left at 11 p.m. and went home with Thomas. Had supper and went to bed at 12. Sunday morning went to S. Phillips and rang Grandsire Caters till 10.30, thence to St. Chad's for Grandsire Triples till 11 a.m. Returned with Thomas for dinner. (Missed the 1 o'clock train and took tram to Selly Oak. Saw Hy. Bond and A. Cresser, found some ringers and went up S. Mary's tower and rang 720 Grandsire Minor in 20½ mins. Copied a tablet in the tower, cut and blocked in solid marble. Left at 4 and continued on to Northfield church, could not ring, there being only 4 of us, the Selly Oak ringers did not come with us, and Tom Miller and C. Barnacle had gone to King's Norton. Went in the tower and saw the bells (then he gives copy of inscription and plan of frame), made sketch of church and copied a brass on a tomb. After some refreshment, went on to King's Norton and rang out of church with a touch of 672 Grandsire Triples. This was exceedingly well rung considering the go of the bells. Returned to B'ham by 9.12 train.

'Monday. After breakfast with Thomas, went and called on Mr. J. Barwell re situation—had a bath and returned to New St. station. Called on T. Miller, also on T. Russam and then took bus to Harborne..... Started for peal of Stedman Triples, rang 40 mins. when the 6th went in wrong. Started for a ½ peal but broke down again owing to interruption at the door. Rang some touches.....'

'Tuesday, after breakfast, wished goodbye to Mr. Thomas and went to look at St. Martin's Church—saw bells and clock and attempted to copy inscriptions but found it was too tedious to do alone. Went to New St. and thence to Wolverhampton by the 10.35. Saw S. Peter's Church and had general look round. Went up and saw bells. Here I found a good ring of 10 on one floor. A small Sanctus with an unintelligible inscription on 1639. Left church at 12.30 and I may add that the church contains many brasses and tablets, antique and very interesting, and a curious gallery of wood in 16th cent. work. Went along Darlington St. and Compton Road and got to Bridgnorth a little after 4 p.m.'

BACK IN SLOUGH

Mr. Fussell left the employ of Mr. Bate at Bridgnorth and records it thus: 'Friday, April 13th. Got up at 6 a.m. Called on Mr. Bate and wished him goodbye and got particulars of the work he wished me to do in Gloucester for him and took my boxes in the bus to the station. Went to Gloucester via Worcester by 7.40 train—had a look round Worcester while waiting for train. Arrived Gloucester 10.30 and after doing my business I had a look round the Cathedral and copied the inscriptions off the bells of S. Mary's Church. Went to S. Nicholas' but did not get all the inscriptions of the bells owing to the short time I had to spare. Left Gloucester 3.30 and got to Slough at 9.20.'

Next day he went to Farnham and 'had a chat with Parker about ringing. Also to where my brother Alf was at work at Stoke and had a talk with him. Nothing has been done at Slough since I have been away. Went to Windsor in the evening.'

In May, 1883, Mr. Fussell did quite a lot of ringing in Reading, and of St. Laurence's says: 'Since I was here last quite a lot of improvements have been made—new mats and the place cleaned up. Permission was given to have the bells re-brassed. A local man commenced putting the brasses in and had fixed up the 2nd and tenor when Edgely stopped the work as the bells went much worse than before. This shows the folly of employing anyone but the proper foundlers or hangers.'

On one occasion at St. Mary's he went to hear them start on a peal but the tenor man failed to turn up so he was 'roped in' and rang the 4th. The peal was lost, however, after an hour, 2-4-5 having shifted courses. 'Edgely met with an accident in the afternoon, a piece of timber having split his head open—it came on to bleed as we were ringing. Went to Mr. Newell's house till 11.30 p.m., rang Triples and Minor on handbells.'

'BELL NEWS' NEWS!

Mr. Fussell was responsible for sending a great many accounts of ringing, meetings, bell history and inscriptions, sketches, etc., to be published in the 'Bell News' and often records this fact like this:—'Sent letter to Harvey Reeves with two accounts for Shiplake and Sonning which I finished writing this evening.' Again: 'Went to the "Curfew," Windsor, and called on an old ringer named Rolfe. Had a

CHRISTMAS DAY BROADCAST

RINGING WILL NOT COME ON A PLATE

Dear Sir,—In reply to Mr. Hill's letter, the first comment, re difference between Grandsire and London, the difference in music alone is immense. With regard to striking, usually you have a more experienced band ringing London than you would normally have ringing Grandsire. From remarks passed to me by various members of the public, I find that they can tell the difference between good and bad striking.

Does Mr. Hill do anything to improve his striking and the standard of ringing at his district meetings? Do the struggling bands referred to do anything to help themselves?

By that I mean arrange combined practices, and, most important, is there the team spirit present? Or, as so often happens, do one or two make progress and the rest become jealous, with the usual results?

When the guild instructor goes to give a hand, are one or two too big to admit their mistakes and so, being obstinate, retard progress?

One section of the letter appears to be pointed at that 'small minority of enthusiasts' who spend their leisure hours and pocket money to get together to practise the higher methods. Without these enthusiasts there would be no progress.

Clearly, the whole situation boils down to this. If you want to get on in ringing, or anything else for that matter, you have to go out to get it. It won't come to you on a plate.—Yours faithfully,

B. STIRLAND.

Cowes, I. of W.

A PREVIOUS EXPERIENCE

Dear Sir,—You are quite right in calling attention to Christmas broadcasts of church bells. Oftimes these things are of a very rushed nature; such was the experience at Aldbourne three years ago.

Without giving previous warning to anyone, the recording van of the B.B.C. came to the village, about three weeks before Christmas, with the request that they would like to make a recording of the bells ringing.

Unfortunately we had just lost two ringers by death, and I myself was in hospital. That meant calling a very hasty conference, and at least three old ringers were brought in, men who had not handled a bell for years.

Luckily, they voted for call changes. Queens and Tittums were rung fairly well but the ensuing rounds were of very poor quality. Now all this rush and agitation might have been avoided if due notice had been given and the men given a real chance to practise. If proper representations are made to the right authorities, things will change as they did after the early days of poor performances by choirs, brass bands, etc.—Yours sincerely, Aldbourne, Marlborough. T. A. PALMER.

W. H. FUSSELL'S DIARY—Cont.

Long chat with him re "Bell News" and some old books he had about the bells of the Curfew and the Ringers. He was very ill and scarcely able to speak. Finished account of the Curfew bells for "Bell News" and sent it to H. Reeves. (Next day): Went and saw Mr. Rolfe again—he is much better—took him some grapes to cool his throat and had a chat with him. Lent him some "Bell News" to read. Met Joe Parker coming home from Eton and heard H. Tucker was unwell. Met H. Appleton with a bundle of old "Church Bells" and he left them at my house. (These copies of "Church Bells" are now here on my desk, having been sent to me for reference along with other MSS. and photos, by Mr. E. H. Preston, of Slough, who was instrumental in saving the late Mr. Fussell's books and papers from destruction.)

LET US FACE THE FACTS

Dear Sir,—The remarks of two of our most eminent ringers and your excellent leader, 'Christmas Day Broadcast,' have again made prominent the question of the general standard of Sunday service ringing which after all is, or should be, the Alpha and Omega of all our Associations.

The general standard of service ringing never has, in my opinion, been such as one would expect after so many years of Association activity. It has, however, seriously deteriorated during recent years and this is particularly so within the confines of some of our most prominent and flourishing associations. Albeit, I am not so sure the B.B.C. has not done the Exercise a signal service by its insistence in presenting to the public ringing as it really is and not as we would like it to be.

When bells are to be broadcast, it is to be expected that all those who regularly ring those bells would desire the honour of ringing; to leave out one because he is a bad striker, or to bring in a stranger unnecessarily, might ruin the band.

I posed this question of bad ringing in my letter of September 10th, 1948, and have since been told many times by one of my District Officers that, although mainly right, I was too severe. I do now fully understand, because it still rankles, I can never hope to be elected to any office in this district; such is the tolerance of Christians.

Let us face the facts:—We are living in an age of specialisation in all things. There are the extraordinarily proficient at the top, followed by the great mass of the very mediocre. We have but few of the persistence of W. H. Fussell to-day.

The general standard of education, of morals, the will to personal effort and selfless sacrifice, the church attendance, the choirs and the numbers of candidates for ordination have all declined, but there are in all these those who have attained heights never before dreamed of; could we expect to be otherwise with ringing, which demands a maximum of personal effort and tolerance and is so closely allied to the Church?

The foundation of all good ringing is bell control. I have seen more good ringing material spoiled in the past four years than in all my previous 40 years' experience, notwithstanding the spate of excellent instruction books and the recent excellent articles in 'The Ringing World.' Once a potential ringer has been spoiled he is spoiled for ever; he inevitably always reflects the faults of his teacher. Nevertheless we have to take our teachers as we find them: most are undoubtedly sincere and really believe they have the ability to teach, whilst the student generally has implicit faith in his teacher. It is only after years of effort he finds out that after all he has not been taught to ring.

If the general standard of ringing is to be improved, our Associations have two main problems to solve:—

(1) How to so educate the clergy in ringing matters as to convince them that good ringing is as important as a good organist or choir and that everyone appointed to teach should really know his job.

(2) To ensure that all who undertake to teach can themselves handle and strike a bell properly, or are not too intolerant to be taught to do so.

A course for instructors followed by a test and certificate of ability to teach is the answer, but would it work?

VALUE OF COMPETITIONS AND TEAM WORK

Dear Sir,—I feel that, on behalf of the Halifax and District Association of Change Ringers, I am compelled to reply to the leading article published in the issue dated January 12th, namely, 'The Christmas Day Broadcast.'

We of this Association and, I feel sure, of the Barnsley and District Association, pride ourselves in our good striking, and we regularly hold contests for the furtherance of this ideal, many of the ringers having rung 600 changes with less than 30 bad blows being struck throughout the test piece and, furthermore, we would far sooner ring 600 or 720 changes as near perfect as possible than 5,040 where no man listening can distinguish either trebles or tenors, open leads or otherwise.

The bells of the tower with which I am connected, namely, Friezland, attained their centenary in 1950, and, throughout their career, it has been their tradition to ring with a closed lead as, in our opinion, the rhythm is broken by the open lead and tends to bring the next series of changes on with a rush, whereas the 'beat' is constant with the lead closed, and the music is thus sustained.

I must add, in fairness, that we are a six-bell tower, but many of the towers connected with us possess eight and can strike well with the open lead.

I heartily endorse the opinion you make of forming a panel of competent ringers to advise the B.B.C. on the choice of towers, and I can thoroughly recommend several such men from this Association.

I disagree with the point you make as to the highest standard of ringing being found amongst the regular peal ringers, judging by the peals I have been privileged(?) to listen to, and you state the reason yourself when you say that very few service ringers ring peals together. That in itself points to many of the causes of bad striking in peals.

After all, you can't expect any sportsman who is part of a team to blend with another team in three or four hours, so why expect it of campanologists?—Yours faithfully,

A. FARRAND.

Hon. Sec., Halifax and District A.C.R.

MAJOR BETTER MUSIC THAN TRIPLES

Dear Sir,—As another young ringer, I would like to say how much I agree with the remarks of M. J. W. Haw in your January 5th issue.

I believe that a better standard of striking is usual with the tenor turned in, simply because the ringing soon becomes intolerable if it is not well rung with good, precise leads; whereas in Triples and Caters, etc., you have the tenor to cover up the mistakes to some extent.

I also believe that Major can be better music than Triples because it is easier to hear the bells coursing up and down, i.e., the cyclic nature of the combinations of the heavier bells is more apparent, also there is opportunity for more variety. The ear is not distracted by the monotonous boom of the 'passing bell' at each row end.

I, in my short experience, have found that those who start by ringing Grandsire Doubles, particularly those in remote places, perhaps progress as far as Grandsire Triples and, if lucky, Stedman, but then find great difficulty in ringing Major, but not so the other way round.

Just one more point on this 'striking' question. I think we hear a lot too much of the supposed excellent ringing of the West Country stoney bands. I myself have found their standard to be far below that generally accepted among change-ringers, in Yorkshire at least.—Yours sincerely,

F. J. JACKSON.

Holmrook, Cumberland.

The average age of the band that rang a peal of Grandsire Doubles at All Saints', Hoole, Chester, on January 9th, was 15 years and five months. All are still undergoing full time education in the city of Chester.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

FREEDOM FOR B.B.C.

Capturing the Atmosphere

Dear Sir,—The Christmas broadcast may have been a bad one, I did not hear it, but I cannot allow the suggestion of a panel of referees from the Central Council to 'vet' the B.B.C.'s choice of towers for broadcasting purposes to go unchallenged.

Did the B.B.C. wish for 'perfect' broadcasting of church services they would rarely go outside their own studio or the Cathedrals to obtain same. By going to the country parishes they risk broadcasts of lower standard in order to capture atmosphere or a true picture of general church worship. It is the same with the bells: the B.B.C. get good and bad broadcasts by their policy and setting up such a panel of experts as you suggest would lead to much heartburning and quarrelling. In the end there would be a monopoly held by two or three towers approved by the panel or the B.B.C.

No, leave well alone, the B.B.C. has a freedom in which we, as free people, ought to rejoice. The Corporation is free from commercial monopoly, firmly resists any effort to 'buy' its time, and we must not seek to control any of its activities, however small.

I believe any band honoured with a broadcast does its best, but the best laid plans often come unstuck, especially in such a nerve-racking business as exhibition ringing.

A few weeks ago an acquaintance stopped me in Bournemouth Arcade and said, 'How beautiful St. Peter's bells sounded to-day.' An outing party had used our bells but I had not met them so I was naturally pleased to hear the tribute. But my friend continued and I became suspicious. He said, 'They reminded me of a poem I've read where it says "Ring out wild bells"—the ringing was not as mechanical as yours is on a Sunday.' My deputy captain told me the ringing was atrocious. Do the public really appreciate good striking?—Yours faithfully,

ARTHUR V. DAVIS.

Bournemouth.

HALIFAX AND DISTRICT RINGING

Dear Sir,—From Christmas Day broadcast:—(1) The critics include no less a person than Mr. Edwin H. Lewis.

(2) The qualification for selection should not be the ability to ring Surprise methods but the four standard methods with perfect striking and open leads at handstroke.

You cannot have more perfect striking than in some of our companies of the Halifax and District Association. Ask Mr. R. F. Deal, Mr. A. A. Hughes, or any other gentleman ringer who has heard perhaps only one of those companies, and pardon me when I state, Cart Wheel.—Yours fraternally,

JOSEPH BURGESS.

Greenfield, near Oldham.

8,032 SPLICED MAJOR

Dear Sir,—Kindly allow me, through 'The Ringing World,' to congratulate Mr. J. C. E. Simpson and his band on ringing the 8,032 Sliced Surprise Major in eight methods at Frodsham.

I had the pleasure of being able to go there to hear the peal being rung, my only regret being that I was obliged to leave about 20 minutes before the finish to catch my train, otherwise I should have had the pleasure of congratulating the ringers personally on the fine striking and the grand beat. Indeed, it was hard to realise that the peal was in eight methods and that there were 202 changes of method. I take this opportunity of thanking Mr. and Mrs. J. Bibby for their kind hospitality during my visit.—Yours faithfully,

A. J. PITMAN.

Port Talbot.

CENTRAL COUNCIL'S DUPLICATE BOOKS

Dear Sir,—In June the Council approved a recommendation of the Standing Committee with regard to the disposal of duplicate copies of Central Council library books, the detailed arrangements being left to the librarian.

At the time, it was contemplated that any books so distributed to recognised Association libraries should be regarded as gifts; but after due consideration it seems that the interests, both of past and future donors of books and of the library itself would be better served if such books were sent out on permanent loan.

Several librarians have already made enquiries and distribution can begin as soon as all recent acquisitions have been examined. The librarian would be grateful if any of those who have written and who would object to accepting books under the conditions of a permanent loan would notify him as soon as possible.—Yours etc.,

W. H. J. HOOTON, Hon. Librarian,
Central Council of Church Bell Ringers.

ANNABLE'S LONDON SURPRISE MINOR

Dear Sir,—The peal rung at Bassingham, Lincs. on Saturday, December 23rd, was Annable's London Surprise Minor and not London Surprise Minor, as published.

Annable's London Surprise Minor is the sixth place edition of Netherseale, and cannot by any 'streak' of imagination be thought to be a variation of London Surprise. Why it was given the extra title 'London' I do not know, unless it was that it came before London.—Yours sincerely,

JOHN E. COOK.

Branton, near Lincoln.

AN IRISH ROLL OF HONOUR

Dear Sir,—The Irish Association of Change Ringers has had in preparation for some time past a Roll of Honour of its members who served in the Defence Forces during the 1939-1945 World War.

The Roll is complete as far as resident members are concerned, and I am now anxious to have the names of all persons who were non-resident life members of this Association prior to 1945 who served their country.

I would be grateful, therefore, to have the names of those who were in the Defence Forces, together with the service in which they served, and any decorations received. Some of the readers may know of some of our members who made the supreme sacrifice; if so, I would be glad to have their particulars.

As I am anxious to write up the Roll of Honour as soon as possible, I would be glad to have particulars before the end of the present month.—Yours faithfully,

FRED. E. DUKES.

26, William Street, Drogheda.

OXFORD UNIVERSITY SOCIETY RECORDS

Sir,—It must be a matter of great concern to all members of the Oxford University Society that the only records of the Society's existence prior to 1920 are one or two scattered peal boards and the Society's Annual Report for 1885-6, which is in a collected volume 'Twenty-four Oxford Pamphlets, 1760-1925,' at present in the Bodleian Library.

I would indeed be very grateful for any documents or information relating to the activities of the Society in the period starting at its foundation, in 1872 to the year 1920.—Yours etc.,

GERARD McCURM.

St. Catherine's, Oxford.

A PROTEST FROM SCOTLAND

St. Mary's Cathedral's Work

Dear Sir,—At the annual meeting of St. Mary's Cathedral Society, Glasgow, attention was drawn to the leading article in 'The Ringing World,' dated December 22nd, 1950, and headed 'Greetings.' Starting with New Zealand, we proceeded to Australia, Tasmania and South Africa, thence to the South-East and South-West coasts of England, Wales, Ireland and Canada, but no mention of Scotland. That this omission was intentional was fairly obvious, following, as it did, a previous article when you went out of your way to deplore the fact that no peal ringing had been accomplished in Scotland.

The meeting felt very strongly about this, and I was instructed to notify you of the fact.

It is possible that you may suspect this to be an outburst of the 'rabid Scottish Nationalist type,' so I hasten to assure you that the majority of our ringers at St. Mary's, Glasgow, are English. I'm an Irishman.

With regard to peal-ringing. As soon as the probably date of the Royal birth was announced, we in Glasgow made arrangements to ring a peal of Stedman Caters, on the Saturday following the event. This proved to be the worst possible date for the majority of the band so we made an attempt for a peal of Grandsire Triples with two ringers from Edinburgh, two from Paisley and four from Glasgow. This came to grief owing to two bells having crossed, probably in front, at a single. Conducted by Miss M. K. Branson, it would have been her first of Grandsire Triples, and first as conductor. Anyhow, we did try, and we will require to await another event of major importance before we can 'have another go.'

It was reported at the meeting that the bells of St. Mary's Cathedral, Glasgow, had been rung, in changes, on every Sunday for the past three years and as service ringing is the sole reason for the existence of our Society, we feel that our efforts have been completely justified.

Having got the foregoing 'off my chest,' I feel in a better frame of mind, so much so that I am moved to offer you the best wishes for 1951 of 'the forgotten ringers in Glasgow.'—Yours, etc.,

ERNEST A. STAFFORD.

Hon. Sec., St. Mary's Cathedral,
Glasgow. Society of Change Ringers.

NOTE.—We expressed our regrets last week in Belfry Gossip. We feel certain, however, our Scottish friends would like full publicity to their protest.—Ed.

THE COUNTY OF GLAMORGAN

Dear Sir,—Two peal reports in a recent issue have prompted me to look up others rung in the county during the last 20 years. I find that the majority are credited as having been rung in Glamorganshire.

This ancient Welsh territory—Land of Morgannwg—was lost in 1093 by Iestyn apGwrgan to Norman knights led by Sir Robert Fitz-hamon, Baron of Granville. In spite of what some English reference books may say, it still is the County of Glamorgan, controlled by the Glamorgan County Council.

It may be of interest to note that Sir Robert Fitz-hamon's daughter and heiress, Mabel, married Robert, Earl of Gloucester, a natural son of Henry I. by Nest, daughter of Prince Rees of Tewdwr, the last native Prince of Wales. They granted a large part of her dower land in Glamorgan to the Church for the founding of the Cistercian Abbey and Monastery at Margam. The writings and deeds of the monks are preserved and catalogued and are the historical authority.

The monastery ruins are preserved but the nave of the old Abbey of St. Mary is now part of the parish church of Margam. It has no tower but the two old monastic bells are hung for chiming under an opening in the eave of the roof.—Yours faithfully, Portcawl. TREVOR M. RODERICK.

OBITUARIES OF THE WEEK

MR. LEONARD HARRIS

By the sudden death of Mr. Leonard Harris, the ringers of the Salisbury area and of the whole Salisbury Diocesan Guild have suffered a severe loss.

Born at Britford 67 years ago, he learned to ring on the bells there and later became captain of the ringers. His last 'touch' was on these bells on Christmas Day. He also rang for a great number of years at the Salisbury towers, especially at St. Martin's.

His first peal was rung in 1907 at St. Martin's, Salisbury, being Stedman Triples, conducted by the late Challis Winney; his last was in 1949 and it was fitting that it was at St. Thomas', Salisbury, in which he rang the 7th, a bell which he had long wished to ring to a peal.

Mr. Harris was vice-chairman and a Ringing Master of the Salisbury Branch of the Salisbury Diocesan Guild and a member of the Ancient Society of College Youths. Known to a very wide circle of ringers, he will be remembered for his ever-cheerful disposition, his humour, and a personality which made him outstanding.

The funeral service was held at Britford on January 6th and was attended by a large gathering, including many ringers.

Handbells were rung over the grave and after the service a half-muffled quarter peal of Grand-sire Doubles was rung by:—R. Lowe 1. H. Abrahams (conductor) 2. L. Page 3. J. Mussell 4. R. N. Marlow 5. J. Lewis 6. In the evening half-muffled touches were rung at St. Thomas', Salisbury.

An Appreciation

Dear Sir,—It is with deep regret that I learn of the passing of Leonard Harris, of Britford. For fourteen years I had the privilege of association with him in the conduct of the Salisbury Branch of the Diocesan Guild and in his company I visited most of the churches in South Wiltshire. A quietly competent ringer, he was a man of some erudition and he first awakened in me an interest in the archaeology of churches and bells. I well recall the first lesson was how to distinguish mid-Victorian from ancient work, and whenever I came to a church which was unfamiliar to me, but well-known to him, he drew my attention to its points of interest, and told me all about the bells.

In those days he regularly attended practices at Sarum St. Martin's and, as an obstinately dull learner, I always tried to get the next rope to Len Harris, as I knew that when I went wrong—an inevitable occurrence—he would quietly and quickly put me right, before the conductor, with justifiable heat, had time to shout at me. He never lost his temper when ringing, but carried out his duties as Ringing Master firmly and capably. I never knew whether he was a native of Wiltshire, I think he must have been, as he possessed that innate courtesy so typical of the Wiltshire countryman. May his soul rest in peace.—Yours faithfully,

EDWARD G. CAPLE.

MR. CHARLES EDWARDS

We regret to announce the death of Mr. Charles Edwards, of 28, Longley Road, Farnham, Surrey, on January 12th, at the age of 88 years.

A keen and enthusiastic ringer, he lived at Ealing before coming to Farnham 22 years ago. He was a member of the Ancient Society of College Youths and a number of ringing societies.

He is survived by a widow, one son and three daughters—one of whom is Mrs. C. Kenneth Lewis. The sympathy of many ringing friends is extended to the family.

WEST WICKHAM, KENT.—On Jan. 14th, 1.320 Surprise Minor (720 Ipswich and 600 Cambridge): Michael Fuller 1, Barbara Mitchell 2, L. W. G. Sumner 3, John Cannell 4, Arthur S. Richards 5, Ralph Bird (cond.) 6. First extent of Ipswich for all except conductor.

WILLIAM ARCHER CLARK

An Appreciation

The death of Mr. W. A. Clark at his residence, Swanshurst, Russell Road, Moseley, Birmingham, on December 15th, was not altogether unexpected, as he had been in failing health for some considerable time.

Mr. Clark was an honorary member of St. Martin's Guild for many years, he having been one of the few, during these later years, who knew Henry Johnson in person.

Though not an active ringer, he was able to handle a bell in rounds, he having been in his youth a member of Moseley Parish Church band. Here there hang eight cast steel bells, now fortunately not ringable, which came originally from St. Marie's R.C. Church, Sheffield.

Mr. Clark was extremely interested in bells and bellringing and he attended many meetings at church and cathedral throughout the country. He was a company director, and when in London always took the opportunity to listen to the Sunday ringing at St. Paul's Cathedral.

Another of his interests was photographing churches and cathedrals and buildings of historic interest both in this country and abroad, he having travelled extensively in pursuit of his hobby. He was a Freeman of the City of London, a Fellow of the Royal Photographic Society, London, and president for three years of the Birmingham Photographic Society, and a noted judge and exhibitor in the photographic world. He held an international reputation as an architectural photographer, also as a lecturer. Mr. Clark, a bachelor, was also a noted antiquarian and his house, Swanshurst, contained many treasures of historic interest.

A. WALKER

MR. S. A. AVIS

The death occurred at Woburn on January 14th of Mr. Sidney A. Avis at the age of 79. He had been a sufferer from heart trouble and other ailments for the past twenty years, during which time he had to undergo a number of operations.

At the time of his retirement from the post of the clerk of works on the Duke of Bedford's Woburn Estate, he held the position of foreman in the Sunday service band at St. Mary's Church. He was a member of the Bedfordshire Association for over 54 years, having joined on April 6th, 1896. Owing to business ties, he only had the opportunity to ring 13 peals. He was, however, an excellent striker both on the tower and handbells in all the standard methods, amongst his performances being peals 'in hand' of Bob Major, Royal and Maximus. He will be remembered in the Bedfordshire Association as the designer of the original certificate of membership.

It was a melancholy circumstance that Mr. Avis and the writer were only discussing the day before he died the fact of having rung together their first peal (in 1897) which qualified as having been accomplished during the latter half of last century.

The funeral took place at Woburn on January 18th, the Bedfordshire Association being represented by Miss Steel (president) and Mr. H. D. Harris (vice-president). A half-muffled peal of Grand-sire Triples was rung on the bells of St. Mary's Church on the following evening by a representative band of the Association.

MR. CHARLES TYLER

By the death of Mr. Charles Tyler, at the age of 87, Henfield, Sussex, has lost a notable figure whose keen interest in ringing was well known. He was one of the first members of the Sussex County Association, joining in 1885, and he was captain of the Henfield ringers for nearly 50 years. He was also a member of the Society of Royal Cumberland Youths.

Mr. Tyler and his wife came to Henfield 60 years ago and established a general stationery business which Mrs. Tyler still carries on at the age of 89. Much sympathy is felt with her.

At the funeral service at Henfield Cemetery on January 3rd, the local ringers were represented by Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Cruttenden, Mr. E. Lish, Mr. E. F. Packham and Miss S. M. White. The Cumberlands were represented by Miss Stella Wickens, and the College Youths by Mr. H. Stalham. A course of Grand-sire Triples was rung over the grave by Miss S. M. White 1-2, Miss S. M. Wickens 3-4, H. Stalham 5-6, F. C. Cruttenden 7-8.

In the evening the bells at Henfield Parish Church were rung half-muffled and also those at St. Nicholas', Brighton

WINCHESTER &amp; PORTSMOUTH GUILD

Winchester District

Ringers from scattered points in Hampshire, Aldershot and Guildford attended the annual meeting of the Winchester District on January 6th. Ringing available was on the 12 at the Cathedral and the light six at St. Maurice's.

Mr. G. Pullinger, Master of the Guild, presided at the business meeting in the absence of the chairman. Apologies included one from Mr. F. W. Rogers, general secretary of the Guild.

The balance sheet showed that the District was over £5 better off than for the previous year. Membership had increased by seven to 117 ringing members and 19 honorary members. The chairman thanked the retiring officers, Mr. L. A. Tremear (hon. secretary) and Mr. W. Lampard (hon. treasurer) for their work, and the secretary replied by thanking the members for their support.

Only two of the retiring officers stood for re-election. The Rev. C. E. C. Brinkworth (Preston Candover) succeeds the Rev. J. S. D. Mansell as branch chairman; Mr. J. A. C. King is secretary and Mr. H. D. Buckingham treasurer. Elected to the Central Committee were Mr. H. Newnham and Mr. L. A. Tremear (in place of Mr. G. Sanders). Mr. R. Smith was re-elected Ringing Master. Mr. G. Smith tendered his resignation as auditor, a post he had held for over 40 years, and it was decided to fill the vacancy at the next quarterly meeting.

Subject to permission, the following quarterly meetings were decided upon:—April 7th, Hursley; July 14th, Stockbridge and Leckford; October 6th, Ropley and Bishop's Sutton. A practice meeting will be held at Tichborne on February 24th, and the next annual meeting at Winchester on January 5th.

Bishop Corfield was elected an honorary member and the following ringing members:—Messrs. E. Thompson, J. Smith, P. Latter, S. Pollick (Winchester College), D. Vernier, W. Harrison (St. Maurice's), J. Elstead, J. Vincent (Stockbridge), and the Rev. Maunders (Sparsholt).

The appeal for the George Williams Memorial bookcase was read and the meeting voted £5 from the funds for this object.

The meeting closed with the chairman thanking the Dean and Chapter of the Cathedral and the Rector of St. Maurice's for the use of the bells. Tea was followed by members attending evensong in the Cathedral at which the Rev. C. E. C. Brinkworth preached, and drew an analogy between the Epiphany and the work of ringers in revealing the Church to the world. Ringing continued until 8.30 p.m.

GUILD of DEVONSHIRE RINGERS

East Devon Branch

The annual meeting of the East Devon Branch was held at Seaton on January 13th and was very well attended, there being over 50 ringers and friends present. A service was held in the Parish Church, conducted by the Vicar, the Rev. C. A. Cooke; Preb. E. V. Cox read the lesson. In his address the Vicar said how pleased he was to see church bellringing making such progress, and went on to explain the good that ringers were doing for their church. A splendid tea was provided by the Axe Vale Cafe.

The Rev. H. Taylor was in the chair for the business meeting, supported by Preb. E. V. Cox. The hon. secretary, in his report, said the branch was in a very sound position, there being 124 performing members together with five hon. members. The accounts showed a balance of £34 2s. 1d.

Officers elected for 1951 were:—The Rev. H. Taylor, chairman; Mr. G. C. Woodley, vice-chairman; Mr. G. Arbury, hon. secretary and treasurer; Mr. C. G. Turner, Ringing Master and assistant secretary; Messrs. P. Davis, L. Baker and C. G. Turner, Guild Committee. The chairman extended a welcome to the visitors, to which the Rev. C. C. Cox, Master of the Salisbury Diocesan Guild, replied.

Cambridge, Superlative, Double Norwich, Major, also Grandisle and Stedman Triples were rung during the afternoon.

BOXING DAY OUTING IN DEVON

It had been hoped on Boxing Day to take part in an outing organised by Mr. Jim Lilly, of Highweek, but, owing to his serious illness, this had to be cancelled. However, Mr. Wilfred Panter fixed up an alternative outing at very short notice and this was much enjoyed by seven Dorset ringers, all of whom expressed the hope that Jim would soon be fit again.

The towers visited, all in the Credon area, were Colebrook, Bow, Zeal Monachorum, Down St. Mary and Lapford. Sleet was falling as the last tower was left and by the time the Dorset contingent reached Bridport snow was falling heavily but, despite the heights of Askers, home was finally reached at about 11 p.m.

SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD

Devizes Branch

About 50 members and friends attended the annual meeting of the Devizes Branch at Devizes on January 6th. The service at St. John's Church was conducted by the Rev. E. Brooks (Rowde) with Mr. P. Laws at the organ.

At the meeting Mr. W. C. West was re-elected as chairman, Mr. A. Weeks vice-chairman, Mr. F. Slatford hon. secretary and Messrs. E. Parker, P. Harding and S. Grant Ringing Masters, Messrs. W. C. West, G. Harding and C. Andrews were nominated for election to the Central Council.

Potterne, Seend and Bishop Cannings were chosen for future meetings.

Ringing, which took place at the three churches in the town during the afternoon and evening, ranged from rounds to Double Norwich and Cambridge Surprise.

NOT HIS MASTER'S VOICE

Dear Sir,—We were interested in the letter entitled 'Dogs and Bells' because we have had a similar experience here.

We have an Aberdeen terrier who used to spend a good deal of time with my husband, and has always, when he hears 'Big Ben' strike, made a terrific noise, barking and wailing.

In the family we say, jokingly, 'He knows that it is not his master's voice.'—Yours sincerely, MARY E. JOHNSTON.

South Croydon.

5,040 LITTLE BOB ROYAL

Dear Sir,—You will note that no composer's name is given to the peal of Little Bob Royal rung at Newcastle-under-Lyme on December 26th. This is due to the fact that I used a 24-course block, giving 23564, twice repeated and omitting 34 in one part, making 70 courses in all. This block is of uncertain origin and is, I think, 'any man's prey.'

To save any further correspondence I have enclosed the figures.—Yours truly,

F. W. GROCOTT.

DOGS AND BELLS

Dear Sir,—When I lived in Chevallier Street, Ipswich, a gentleman opposite had a dog which was always quiet on week-days but at 7.40 a.m. every Sunday would begin a melancholy howl minutes before the nearby bell in All Saints' Church tolled for the 8 a.m. service. Did he hear, behind a brick wall, the footsteps of the verger on the pavement, or is there any other solution?—Yours truly,

GEORGE E. SYMONDS.

Ipswich.

RECORDS OF 1950

SUBJECT to adjustments by the Peals Analysis Committee, it is now possible to give the Exercise statistics relating to peal ringing in 1950. While the high figure of 2,906 peals recorded in 1949 has not been reached, the total for the past 12 months of 2,724 is the second highest on record.

The following table is illuminating as showing the monthly totals for the past four years:—

	1950	1949	1948	1947
January ...	197	242	207	140
February ...	224	234	193	101
March ...	205	199	188	138
April ...	240	232	253	180
May ...	239	214	234	201
June ...	166	209	177	161
July ...	197	199	184	137
August ...	266	249	231	170
September ...	224	238	177	167
October ...	218	270	236	184
November ...	256	251	334	349
December ...	292	369	225	246
Totals ...	2724	2906	2639	2174
Tower bells	2370	2527	2365	1953
Handbells ...	354	378	274	221

It will be noted that in five months of 1950 the totals for 1949 were exceeded. The most prolific month of the year was December with 292, but this was 77 peals less than the corresponding month of last year. Why is December such a favoured month? The Christmas holiday undoubtedly accounts for a number of extra peals, but against that in the weeks preceding Christmas many ringers' leisure is restricted.

There was no occasion for national rejoicing during 1950. In the table above will be noted the high November figure in 1947 when 349 peals were rung, many of which were for Princess Elizabeth's wedding. The birth of Prince Charles a year later was a similar occasion for the nation expressing its feelings by the ringing of peals.

If the blessing of peace is vouchsafed to us in 1951, there are likely to be many additional peals rung in connection with the Festival of Britain, particularly in towers where a peal is a special occasion. There are in the country some thousands of ringers whose names rarely appear in 'The Ringing World,' and if a national request is made to ring the bells then they respond. Members of the Standing Committee are still deliberating on Dr. Hatcher's and Mr. Spice's report and doubtless there will be plenty of time to pass on the conclusions to the Guilds and to the Exercise at large.

It is likely, however, that there will be towns and villages where the Festival will not be regarded as a special occasion. Some people put every obstacle in the way of a peal and this week we record the remarkable attitude of Church authorities in Adelaide, who on the occasion of the visit of the Archbishop of Canterbury, the first Primate of All England to visit the Commonwealth, felt that the event did not warrant a peal attempt and the ringers were consequently disappointed.

We do not think that the fact that there were 182 peals less rung in 1950 as compared with 1949 can in any sense be interpreted as a sign of dwindling enthusiasm, or that recruits are not forthcoming. Last week, for example, we recorded seven first peals and this can be taken as a fair average. One of the reasons among regular and leading peal ringers is the desire to explore uncharted and more difficult peals in the way of Spliced Surprise. Few of the leading bands can conscientiously say that they climbed each new pinnacle at the first attempt. One tower with which the writer is familiar had a series of disappointments before the company could master a peal in a particular Surprise method. And it is right that such conditions should prevail. The idea of a 'cast iron' peal with a 'cast iron' band is repugnant to many ringers. The element of uncertainty is one of the joys of the game. Many ringers take more pride in the quality of their peals than the quantity, and this is a commendable feature second only to instructional peals for advancing young ringers in the art.

As regards handbell ringing there was only a difference of 24 in the two years' totals. We are pleased to find new companies appearing in our lists and trust that this side of the Exercise will not be neglected. Here again it is quality and not quantity that has been the objective of certain bands, and the new laurels gained by Mr. G. E. Feirn's band in Lincolnshire and those by Mr. Christopher Woolley's band in Hertfordshire have only been gained after weeks of steady practice. It is, however, from Bournemouth and Leicester that the biggest contribution to handbell ringing has been made. Obliging conductors in both towns are ever ready to place their time and experience at the disposal of visitors.

SUBSCRIPTION REMINDER

There are still some subscriptions outstanding for 1951. These should be despatched immediately to Mrs. Fletcher, The White House, Caister-on-Sea, Norfolk.

The seventh bell, cast in 1541, has been incorporated in the restored ring of eight at Yatton, Somerset. Is there any other tower that can claim a bell as old or older still in a ring of bells, enquires Mr. H. A. Price, of Yatton.

By calling 1,260 Grandsire Triples on his 19th birthday, Mr. G. Armstrong becomes the seventh Barwell ringer to conduct a quarter peal. Six methods have now been covered.

Mr. W. J. Paice, of Binsted, Hants, writes that he called the peal of Grandsire Triples, published on page 48, at Wokingham over 40 years ago when it was given to him by a friend as the composition of J. Carter and known at the time as Carter's 12 part.

Portishead, Somerset, is again in the news. Mr. Ronald J. Gale, the local tower master, has rung his first peal of Major, having agreed to stand in at short notice. The peal was to have been conducted by Mr. D. Hoare, of Radstock, who was suddenly taken ill with influenza.

Since the publication of leading peal-ringers of 1950, Mr. Michael J. E. Best, of Bourne-mouth, has informed us that he rang 52 peals during the year under review. Of these, 48 were on handbells (conducted one) and four on tower bells.

Adelaide ringers, during 1950, rang nine tower quarter peals, 15 handbell quarters and three handbell peals. In these, 20 Adelaide ringers have participated. Permission for a tower bell peal was refused. A peal attempt was planned for the visit of the Archbishop of Canterbury but the ringers were told it was not sufficient reason for a peal.

Regarding the enquiry from Lyme Regis as to the first performance of Stratford Surprise Major, Mr. E. W. Tipler (Lutterworth) and Mr. J. H. W. White (Coventry) inform us that it was first rung at Nuneaton on April 28th, 1938, conducted by Mr. F. W. Perrens.

BELFRY GOSSIP

Mr. E. Weatherby, of Los Angeles, writes telling how he and Mr. Ralph Maklum rang the old year out and the new year in at the First Congregational Church, Los Angeles, on a recently-augmented set of handbells. The Westminster hour chimes and the hour of midnight was followed by Queens, Tittums and Whittington, which was much appreciated by the congregation. A letter from Mr. Maklum some months back was the subject of an editorial: 'An American Wants to Know.'

We regret the passing of Mr. George H. Walters, of Prestbury, Cheltenham, on January 23rd. He was a well-known conductor in the Gloucester and Bristol Diocesan Association.

The Rev P. J. Boulsover, his wife and two children sailed for Australia last Tuesday to take up work at Atherton, N. Queensland. For seven years he has been ringing captain at St. Peter's, Bexhill, Sussex, and has done a lot of hard work teaching boys and people of all ages to ring. Following so soon after the departure of Mr. Smeaton to Australia this is a severe blow to Bexhill. At a farewell meeting the St. Peter's ringers presented him with an initialled Ronson lighter. A farewell peal was arranged, but unfortunately the band met one short. Every success is extended to him in his new pioneer work.

Mr. Louis A. Wilson, of Wootton Bassett, has resigned as secretary of the Calne Branch, Salisbury Association, after 27 years' continuous service because he feels it is a job for a younger man. At a recent meeting the chairman, Canon White, paid tribute to the amount of good work Mr. Wilson had done during his long term of office. Mr. Wilson is still an able ringer as the following shows:—Finding the rope rather short on the 2nd at Calne, he just takes one of the belfry chairs, stands on that, and rings a perfect touch of Stedman Triples.

Annual Meeting at Repton

For the beginning of Repton's history, one must go back to early times when the Saxons were slowly becoming converts to the Christian faith: it was for a time the ancient capital of the Saxon kingdom of Mercia and is older, probably, than Derby. Most of Repton Church, dedicated to St. Wystan, an early Christian martyr, was rebuilt about 1340 but the chancel of the old building was retained.

Beneath this is a unique Saxon crypt which was discovered in the 18th century. The crypt has always been regarded by archaeologists as a remarkable example of ancient Saxon work, the roof being supported by four spiral columns.

Just as Repton's ancient story is associated with its church, so its modern history centres on the school where the late Archbishop and the present Archbishop of Canterbury were at one time headmasters.

It was at this church, so steeped in ancient history, that the Guild held its fifth annual meeting when upwards of 70 ringers were present from a wide area. The Vicar (the Rev. Harcombe) conducted the service and gave the address. Ringing was supervised by Mr. S. H. Jones. An excellent tea followed in the Court Room when the company were the guests of the local ringers.

Following tea, the annual meeting was held at which the chairman, Mr. W. H. Curson (in the unavoidable absence of the president, the Ven. H. E. FitzHerbert) presided.

Five new members were elected before the secretary (Mr. J. W. Cotton) presented the yearly report. He spoke of the loss the Guild had sustained by the death of Mr. L. C. Smith (Rolleston) and Mr. G. Brown (Winshill). Nine meetings had been held during the year and all these had been well attended, the average being 36 per meeting. Twelve resident ringing members had been elected, four honorary and 12 non-resident life-members.

RECORD YEAR FOR PEALS

The past year had seen a record established in peal ringing with a total of 77. These were rung at 28 churches and 10 handbell centres. Mr. W. P. Whitehead headed the list of conductors with a total of 25, followed by J. W. F. Trotman 12, Ernest Morris 6, A. Cattell 4, J. W. Cotton 4, S. H. Jones 3, B. G. Key 2, W. F. Woodward 2, A. Hough 2, R. Beniston 2, F. W. Grocott 2, J. Bramley, P. W. Grice, W. G. Soar, J. J. Morris, J. Bailey and A. E. Rowley one each. Five peals were rung 'nonducted' and one peal 'silent'.

The balance sheet, read by Mr. J. H. Brittan, showed that receipts balanced the payments.

Officers elected for 1951 were as follows:—President, The Ven. H. E. FitzHerbert; chairman, Mr. W. H. Curson; Ringing Master, Mr. S. H. Jones; treasurer, Mr. J. H. Brittan; secretary, Mr. J. W. Cotton; auditor, Mr. T. Pryce; Central Council Representatives, Messrs. B. G. Key and J. W. Cotton; committee—Miss R. Hemmings, Messrs. W. G. Soar, E. W. Beadsmoore and W. F. Westward.

Votes of thanks were passed to the Vicar and to the local ringers for their hospitality.

Meeting cards for 1951 were distributed and it is hoped that the necessary arrangements will be made to carry out the list as follows:—February 24th, All Saints' and Parish Church, Burton; April 7th, Winshill or Appleby; May 19th, Measham; June 30th, Ashby; August 18th, Hanbury; September 29th, Rolleston; November 10th, Ticknall. Ringing during the afternoon and evening ranged from rounds to London Surprise Major.

Towers represented were Burton (St. Paul's and St. Modwen's), Ashby, Measham, Rolleston, Ticknall, Seales, Lullington, King's Bromley, Derby (Cathedral, St. Andrew's, St. Luke's and St. Peter's), Hoar Cross, Kingsbury, Ockbrook, Barwell, Nuneaton and the local company.

A GOLDEN ANNIVERSARY

Mr. F. H. Dexter's First Peal

On January 19th, 1901, a peal of Grandsire Triples was rung at Stanford-on-Soar, Notts. This was the first peal to be rung by the newly-formed Society of St. Martin's, Leicester, and was also the first peal by the two youngest members of the band. Of this twain, fate decreed that one was soon to be called to the land of his fathers whilst the other was destined to become the ringer who was to do more than any other individual to place Leicester on the ringing map. Frederick H. Dexter, big-hearted ringer, gifted composer and conductor, a great leader and a prince of good fellows.

MR. F. H. DEXTER

To celebrate the fiftieth anniversary a party of Cathedral ringers and friends assembled at his home on the evening of January 19th. Whilst six of the company were attempting a peal of Stedman Cinques in honour of the event the remainder joined Fred in another room to partake of refreshments and to talk over bygone days. Eventually the Stedman Cinques ran into rounds and the ringers joined the main party. And then the lid blew off!

Although Fred no longer rings and the belfry knows him no more, he can still talk and two hilarious hours passed whilst he was recalling his adventures (and misadventures!) over the fifty years in his own inimitable manner and using his own specific variety of Basic English in the telling! The evening will long be remembered by all who were present; the kind of evening that only ringers can have; but what a pity it is that golden anniversaries only happen every fifty years!

Farewells were said and the party wended their several ways home, happy in the knowledge that the old 'Sergeant Major' was the happier for their visit.

By a coincidence, January 19th was also the 30th anniversary of the first peal rung by Alban Disney, of Anstey, which was rung in 1921 at Birstall, where his father was then Vicar. Mr. Ernest Morris was the conductor and during the peal he took off his tie, then his collar, then loosened his shirt! Had it not been Alban's first peal, also the first (and as yet the only) peal on the bells, he declared he would have given up the attempt.

WEDDING BELLS AT SURFLEET

Marriage of Mrs. Enid Wayman

The wedding took place on January 20th, at the Church of St. Lawrence, Surfleet, Lincs, of Enid Mary, only daughter of the late Mr. Rupert Richardson and of Mrs. Richardson, of Surfleet, and Jack Hubert, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Wayman, of Teddington, Middlesex. Mr. Richardson was for a number of years Master of the Lincoln Diocesan Guild and one of the best known and most respected ringers in the country. He was captain of the local band, of which his wife and daughter are members, Mrs. Richardson having succeeded her husband in this office.

There was a large congregation at the service including representatives of the Mothers' Union and several other village organisations of which the bride is a member, and numerous ringers from Donington, Spalding, Leicester, Burton-on-Stather, Lincoln and the London area. The bride, who wore a dress of gold brocade, was attended by her cousin, Miss Lois Farr, and two young bridesmaids, Pat Wayman, daughter of the bride, and Jean Barnett. Mr. R. L. Wayman, brother of the bridegroom, was best man. Some 70 guests were present at the reception, which was held in Spalding.

A touch of Stedman Cinques was rung on the light ring of 12 before the wedding, after which the bells were 'fired.' Later in the day a peal of Stedman Cinques was successfully brought round on them, as was one of Kent Treble Bob in the neighbouring parish of Pinchbeck. An attempt which should have been made at Donington unfortunately had to be postponed owing to illness.

A VISIT TO KENT SCHOOL

Dear Sir,—Whilst on a business visit to the United States of America recently, I had the good fortune to be invited to ring on the bells at Kent School, Connecticut.

The opportunity came quite unexpectedly and was the result of my glancing through a school magazine at the home of George Ramsey, a business friend, whose son, Graham, is a prefect at Kent. Although not a ringer himself, Graham Ramsey worked at tower grabber's speed to arrange for my visit and 'phoned to me at 10 p.m. to tell me that everything was arranged for the following Sunday.

Kent, which is set in delightful surroundings, has 309 boys, of whom eight are ringers at the present time. Unfortunately, I was not able to meet two of them as, due to the close proximity of Christmas, they were busy swotting for exams; the need for quiet during this important period also explained why the bells were fully muffled for our ringing.

The ten bells of Kent School (tenor 24 cwt. 3 qr. 18 lb.) were installed by Messrs. Mears and Stainbank and were given to the school by Frank J. Humphrey and his wife, Katherine, as a thankoffering for the preservation of the life of their son through a dangerous illness. They were rung for the first time on Easter Day, 1932.

For some time the school engaged Mr. Isaac Attwater to train the ringers but after he left, the work of training has been handed on from boy to boy to ensure that there is always a team capable of keeping up the tradition of ringing the bells at dusk each day. I was tremendously impressed when I realised that these boys, none of whom stay at the school more than five years, had been able to keep alive the art of bellringing without any material outside assistance since the middle 1930's. The team as it now exists is able to ring Grandsire and Stedman Doubles and Grandsire Triples.

Father West, the assistant headmaster, gave me a warm welcome and was very appreciative of the little advice I could give during a very short stay. In return I extended the good wishes of all church bellringers to them in their work.—Yours, etc., GEORGE H. HANCOCK.

Willoughby, near Rugby.

STORY OF A GREAT RINGING CAREER

DIARY OF THE LATE MR. W. H. FUSSELL—8

Edited by ERNEST MORRIS

During 1883 Mr. Fussell took part in six peals, viz:—Grandsire Triples at St. Chad's R.C., Birmingham, conducted by John Carter; similar peal at St. Paul's, Wokingham, Berks, called by H. Edgely; another at St. George's, Camberwell, called by W. H. Gardams; Holt's Original at St. Mary's, Walthamstow, called by H. J. Tucker; Stedman Triples at Christ Church, Southgate, N., called by G. Newson; and Kent Treble Bob Major at St. Anne's, Highgate, N., called by Jas. Barrett.

Of the Wokingham peal he says:—'We rang 40 minutes and broke down. The second attempt was successful, the striking being very good in the first half. The second half was not so good and the bells were out of course at one time but put right at the 5th part end. However, the Wokingham men say it was a better peal than the first one rung there.'

Of the Camberwell peal he says he worked till 4.30, caught train to Vauxhall 4.40, and got to St. George's, Camberwell, at 6.20; had tea and went up the tower. Commenced ringing 7.15 and completed 5.040 in two hours 59 minutes, this being his fifth peal and 'the second best for striking throughout.' Came down at 10.30 and stayed till 11.10 returning to Datchet by 12.5 from Vauxhall; arrived home 2 a.m. One wonders what would be said to-day if we rang a peal so late?

AN ENJOYABLE OUTING

In September, 1883, Mr. Fussell records that 'Father and I went to Farnham where J. Parker, Fells, Chapman and others rode in the wagonette to Chalfont St. Peter and rang 720 Doubles called differently. Then to St. Giles' for 720 Bob Minor and at Amersham 720 Grandsire and 720 Bob Minor; also to Little Missenden where 720 Doubles was rung. After having a very enjoyable day got home at 11 p.m., the weather being very fine and warm.

'During the day there was not a single cross word spoken and no unpleasantness whatever, rather an unusual thing when ringers meet! There were scarcely any mistakes and everything seemed very successful. We did not go to Cheneys as intended owing to illness at the Manor House, nor to Chesham as the 5th and 6th require two to ring each of them properly.

'Father (75th year) although he does not ring and has never done so (in fact he does not like bells) quite liked the outing, and had a very pleasant time looking round the villages. Mr. Elbourn, of Amersham, was very kind and it was chiefly through him we were able to get on so well. He intends putting up a board for our 720. Each 720 was the first performed on the bells.'

Sunday, September 16th, was Mr. Fussell's 22nd birthday, and he walked to Farnham and rang 720 Grandsire Minor for morning service. In the afternoon he went to St. George's Chapel, Windsor. September 22nd was his brother Alf's 30th birthday, but on October 22nd he records: 'My brother's birthday. September, as we all thought, being a mistake in the registering.'

In October he and his brother walked to Iver, through Langley, and in the churchyard there saw John Steel's gravestone with a bell carved on top. At Iver they met the ringers and at 5.30 went to the tower where Mr. Fussell rang the tenor (20 cwt.) and his brother the 5th. He writes: 'After a good many preliminary words of caution we began and when the call changes were finished the small board with the changes on was carefully put away and I was complimented for ringing the tenor so well; in fact they said the best that had rung out for some years. In 1874 their own men rang for two hours and 40 minutes without stopping.'

VISIT TO LONDON

On October 20th he went to London and on to Walthamstow where he called on Mr. T. Maynard and later copied inscriptions from St. Mary's bells. S. Hayes came up and afterwards Parker, Clarke, his brother and H. Tucker. They started for and were successful with a peal of Grandsire Triples in three hours seven minutes.

He stayed the night in Walthamstow and went to the new church and rang for 11 a.m. service a touch of Minor and call changes on seven bells (one man not turning up). 'Went to the office of "Bell News" and met Mr. Alexander (partner with Harvey Reeves in printing) and had a chat with the other ringers there.'

Then he went to Haverstock Hill, via Hackney, but could not see any ringers of the Gospel Oak so went to Finsbury Park, thence to the Chapel of Ease, Holloway, but there was no ringing on. The next evening at St. Clement Danes, Strand, he met the Waterloo Society and rang in touches of Stedman and Grandsire Caters, afterwards retiring to the Club Room for handbell ringing, etc.

The following evening he met Barrett, Leach, Titchener, Page and others at St. Anne's, Highgate, and rang 500 Bob Major, also Kent Treble Bob, and other methods. Later that week he rang in 720 Oxford Treble Bob at Gospel Oak. While in London he did quite a lot of practice and service ringing and on October 27th he went to Christ Church, Southgate, and after waiting about we at length went up to the tower and rang a complete peal of Stedman Triples (Brook's Variation) in three hours 21 minutes, called by Geo. Newson.

At the end of October he went back to Slough where he 'saw that the ringing room had been done out and thoroughly coloured, dado round the walls and other improvements. Deceased ringers' names also added to the memorial board. Still, if they were real "change ringers" the whole crew would not stick to call changes so much. Not even a 720 has been rung during the year yet.'

In November (1883) at St. Anne's, Highgate, he rang his first peal of Kent Treble Bob Major in three hours five minutes, afterwards went to the meeting house for refreshments and 'had a jolly evening to commemorate Barrett's 47th and Page's 60th birthdays. On account of being late coming away I went to Hornsey with A. Jacobs and G. Griffin and slept at latter's house, and left next morning.'

LORD MAYOR'S DAY

On Friday, November 9th, Lord Mayor's Day, he went on the roof of St. Clement Danes' and had a good view of the procession, then walked up Ludgate Hill to the Goose and Gridiron College Youths' House in St. Paul's Churchyard but no ringers there, so he went back to St. Martin's-in-the-Fields and rang till 8.30, thence to their meeting room till 12 o'clock.

'Saw Alford, Tucker, Davis (promised him 5s. for the Cox fund), saw J. Cox and treated him, also Newson, Baron, Mansfield, Nelms and others. Jacobs and I had to run nearly all the way to King's Cross to catch the last train.'

The next day they went to Enfield with Newson and Pitstow to ring a peal of Kent Treble Bob. 'Met one short so Gardam went to Edmonston for Ellsmore. Started the peal at 4.20 but after two hours 18 minutes good striking J. Barrett gave up at the tenor owing to it going badly. The bells were hung by Warners, being a new church, tower and frames all complete. When we came down the Vicar gave us refreshments, wine, cake and biscuits.'

Later he went to Uxbridge and called on the steeplekeeper, Mr. Warren Hastings, now in his 69th year. 'As he had to toll for a funeral I pulled the tenor up for him. Afterwards at his house up the "Bell Yard" he gave me an old, curiously written document dated 1697. I learned that he was born at Farringdon, Berks, and was apprenticed to the shoe trade in Oxford with Sam Hounslow, the great swimmer, brother of Charles Hounslow, the ringer (who called my first peal at Bicester), this being the means of his learning to ring.' In December he says: 'I was pleased to see by the "Bell News" that a peal of Caters on handbells by my Birmingham friends, also the College Youths were successful at Fulham. Alf Thomas of Birmingham is in the records in ringing a West Bromwich.'

During 1883 he rang, in addition to the six peals already noted, 68 different 720's, 43 being at Farnham. They were in 16 different towers, in six counties, with six different conductors.

NEW YEAR'S MORN

'The night was dark
And the way was drear.'

'Such were my thoughts trudging alone along the road from Farnham at one o'clock in the morning of the New Year (1884) after ringing out the old year at St. Mary's Church. C. Clarke failed to set the tenor after tolling midnight, so we all pulled off together making a very noisy crash, to sound the advent of another year. However, we finished with a good 720 Bob Minor (called by J. Parker). The weather all Christmas time was very unseasonable, wet and cold fogs prevailing, and the roads as muddy as could be. When I got home, went to bed and did not get up till 12 a.m.'

Next day Mr. Fussell says he bought small books for his diary at Luff's but found they would not do! He did quite a lot of writing up of peal records for many different ringers, and there are scores of mentions of this in his diary. On January 4th he says: 'Got "Bell News" wherein I was pleased to see St. Lawrence Society, Reading, had been successful in their peal called by Mr. Wm. Newell. I can pity poor Williams who no doubt had to coach Newell through most of it. For Newell, though a good man and one who tries very much, was always a duffer at calling and always misses a bob somewhere if not called in the wrong place.'

'I've known him to start calling the 168 (Queens and Tittums—six singles) and then make a wrong call at the last 40 changes. He must have improved wonderfully to have been successful in the peal and have stuck to it very hard.' Mr. Fussell notes next day 'pencilling in two peals No. 86-87 for H. Hopkins, also Newell's peal for him.'

'A NOISY INTERLUDE'

On January 5th, Mr. Fussell 'got to Farnham a little earlier owing to a ride up in a tradesman's cart. Five of us mustered at the church rather sharp and Edely soon after turned up and we raised the bells in peal, afterwards starting for a 720 Kent Treble Bob. When two-thirds through a boy came in the tower to see Mr. Parker, breaking us down at once. His message for Joe was from a Mrs. Wheeler to stop ringing at once owing to a burial in the churchyard that afternoon. The woman came in a very off-hand sort of manner, and had evidently been worked up to a high pitch by someone not in our favour. Brown, the sexton, perhaps. She complained about respect to the dead and feelings, etc., etc., and finished by saying she should stop it. Parker had put it to her plainly by stating they had rung before when two dead persons were lying in the village and no complaints made, while she lived halfway up the common—it was all a question of her asking us to leave off. The person was not a parishioner and was brought from London to be interred. Joe was slightly put out, for lately good luck was entirely against us.

'I afterwards heard from Basden, who lodged with the woman, that their grief was allayed by spending the evening in a pub boozing. This annoyed us all the more to think we were pre-

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

'THE OLD YEAR AND THE NEW'

Dear Sir,—A very good effort—but I would advise your young poet (and others) that ringers who have any consideration for their fellows do not spit upon their hands—it is a very nasty and insanitary custom, which I hope is becoming obsolete. In my youth I often protested against it, but usually only managed to get myself laughed at.

In the best ringing circles, an application of glycerine is considered the correct thing—it is much more effective, and, as it need be used very sparingly, should not 'mess up' the ropes. —Yours faithfully, R. F. DEAL.

London, E.6

FOR THE METHODS COMMITTEE

Third Place Bobs in Reverse Grandsire Triples

Dear Sir,—I should like to ask the Methods Committee if they object to a thirds place bob in Reverse Grandsire Triples. Examination of the collections of Major, Triples and Minor methods is very confusing. Reverse Bob Major is shown with two bobs: one when the treble is behind and the other when it is at lead. Reverse Grandsire Triples and Reverse Bob Minor are allowed one kind of bob each, but in Triples the treble is behind and in Minor it is at lead.

Further, there are eleven Minor methods to which a bell in the hunt can be added, becoming eleven legitimate Triples methods. Ten of these have a thirds place bob. Why the exceptional treatment of the eleventh method, namely, Reverse Grandsire?

Is it possible to call the seventh 'before' 18 times in a quarter peal of Spliced Triples, 1,260, which has 19 calls? Full courses of any number of methods from two to eleven can be spliced between these 'befores.' I hope the decision of the Methods Committee will not make it necessary to exclude Reverse Grandsire.—Yours faithfully, Retford, Notts.

J. SEGAR.

W. H. FUSSELL'S DIARY—Cont.

vented from ringing our Treble Bob after so many difficulties and Edgely coming all the way from Reading. We did no more that night except a touch of Oxford Treble Bob on handbells, and chatting over things generally. Got home 11, the rain ceased when we left Slough and the moon came out beautifully to liven up our damp spirits after Edgely's fruitless journey as we cannot ring Sunday night now.

(Sunday, 6th) Got up at 9 a.m. and walked to Farnham to be again fooled. This time Clarke had gone off to London without any warning, except he was going to see his brother who was going away. Edgely took a walk to Stoke and came back with Batten so we began ringing with four when up rushed Chapman and Basden and we then rang 504 Grandsire Minor. Parker spoke to Basden about the woman coming last night. He did not acknowledge anything to do with in the affair though he lives with her and could have made matters all right if he cared to. But the fact is, we don't take enough interest in him and trouble very little about him because his striking is so bad and his ringing detestable.

'While as for Brown (the Clerk of the Parish) he is the biggest duffer I have ever had to deal with in teaching ringing. Both don't care to be told and never know what they are doing one treble lead to another. I expect Brown was annoyed at not being at the supper in the school on New Year's eve. Came home to dinner but being a roast goose it was not ready till three o'clock, so I had dinner with Alf, my brother, and we walked up together to the church. Met short but J. Parker's brother came over from Horton and we rang five, changing the first four bells. I gave Edgely an illuminated copy of the Wokingham peal which seemed to please him.'

SCIENTIFIC TRIPLES

Dear Sir,—The method 'Scientific Triples' has been much overrated. The plain course, a seven-part course of 210 changes, is not symmetrical, i.e., although the work of each bell is the same, there are no turning places so that it can hardly be called a method at all. John Carter advanced it merely as a curiosity difficult to ring, and I suggest that it would be a relatively simple matter to produce other similar courses. Far harder is it to compose a new peal of Stedman or Spliced Surprise.

A second criticism is that the calls take place at three essentially different places in the section, a property which would never be tolerated in any method or principle. The method is based on the Group of 168, part-ends which J. W. Parker dealt with in his 'Mysteries Unveiled.' The 5,040 changes are classified by this Group into 30 different Groups, and each section of Scientific Triples contains one of each. J. W. Parker thoroughly investigated this system in the limited case when a section consists of five sixes, quick or slow, and linked by 5ths or 7ths places, and he informed me shortly before his death that he had many years ago discovered many different principles which have the distinction of being symmetrical though long dodges rather spoil them. There is also a touch of Original Triples which belongs to this system—bobs at 1, 8, 15; repeat six times; 210 changes—and I produced a double symmetrical method some years ago which unfortunately does not succumb to acceptable calls. In all these systems the 168 sections in the extent cannot be transposed, and calls must keep within them.

No doubt it would be possible to compose a three-part peal with a fixed observation bell. The structure of the part-ends would not allow of a greater number of parts with a fixed bell.—Yours sincerely, Brynmaur.

THE SISTERS WOOD

Dear Sir,—In your issue No. 2076 you quote a peal of Plain Bob Major at St. John-the-Baptist, Tunstall, Kent, to which I rang the 7th.

I would like to point out that the ringer of the treble was Miss Alison Wood, whose first peal it was, and the ringer of the 5th was Miss Frances Wood, for whom it was the first peal in the method. In 'The Ringing World' the Christian names of these two sisters have been reversed.

The girls are easily confused and it is not the first time this has happened to people who do not know them well.—Yours sincerely,

MALCOLM S. CLOKE

Chislehurst.

ST. BARTHOLOMEW'S, SMITHFIELD

Dear Sir,—We have used Mr. Dore's admirable guide since it was published and have found it most useful.

Under the heading, City of London, he records—St. Bartholomew, Smithfield, E.C.1, 5, 8 cwt. in A.

There are, however, two churches of that name in Smithfield, St. Bartholomew the Great and St. Bartholomew the Less, which is actually in the grounds of the hospital of the same name. Inquiry proved that the five bells of St. Bartholomew the Great rest in the foundry, awaiting rehanging. In St. Bartholomew the Less investigation showed a frame constructed for a swinging peal containing two bells; and two further bells were found in the ringing chamber. Can any reader suggest if there was ever a fifth bell here and when this peal was rung?—Yours faithfully,

M. and G. ASHDOWN.

Eltham, S.E.9.

IN DEFENCE OF RECORDING

Dear Sir,—I have just been shown an article in the October issue of your magazine, entitled 'This Recording Business,' and would like to reply to some of the points raised there.

Last May I became Vicar of this parish, inheriting a glorious, modern church, just 18 years old. Part of the equipment is an amplifying equipment for 'Recorded Bells,' so that I speak as an interested party.

As your correspondent implies, bellringing is an ancient and revered art in this country, and church bells are a rich heritage from the past: I believe that methods of ringing in England are unique, and therefore to be preserved. But I cannot see why natural developments of art and science should be therefore dismissed as 'not consistent with the Church's teaching': the Church is not tied to the inventions of the past, and should be glad and happy to employ the best discoveries of science and art.

No one objects to B.B.C. recordings and, for those churches which are not in a position to install a tower and bells (a doubtful extravagance in these times), recorded chimes make a very happy substitute. I believe that I was concerned in a very early experiment in this direction many years ago, and had many favourable comments on a temporary installation.

Merely to dismiss such modern developments is redolent of the early opponents of the railway or the handworkers in the factories resisting mechanical improvements. Fortunately, such opposition defeats its own ends, as history records.

It is true that the acoustic construction of amplifying apparatus requires much research and study, and many installations were made without sufficient acoustic knowledge; but that does nothing to support the extraordinary theories of your correspondent.—I am, Yours faithfully,

Vicar of St. Cuthbert's, Bridlington.

OLD BOYS' PEALS

Dear Sir,—With reference to the peals by Old Boys' Associations, a peal of Doubles in three methods was rung at All Saints' Norton, Northamptonshire, on May 20th, 1950. All those taking part were Old Daventryans, and though no footnote was added to the peal report, the performance was noted in the school magazine.—Yours sincerely,

E. G. ORLAND

Long Buckby, Northants.

TWO EARLY PEALS

Sir,—While looking through some papers, I came across the following which will interest our Nottingham and Derby friends:—

'Leicester and Nottingham Journal,' Saturday, January 28th, 1786:—'On Monday evening, Mr. Holt's Peal of Five Thousand and Forty Grandsire Triples was completely rung at St. Peter's Church, in Nottingham, by the Hopeful Youths (or Junior Society) in that tower, being the first performed by them, and justly allowed to be a capital achievement, as that Society has not been established six months and the majority of them under the age of twenty years. The time, three hours and twenty-seven minutes.'

The same journal, March 18th, 1786:—

'On Monday last was rung by the Derby Youths at All Saints' Church (after 3 months' practice) Mr. Holt's Peal of 5,040 Grandsire Triples by the second. Performed by Richard Walthall 1st: Richard Sherah 2d: Wm. Edwards 3d: Fdw. Woodward 4th: Stephen Cocker 5th: Benjamin Walthall 6th: H. Viccars Fletcher 7th: William Forester 8th. The time of performing the above, 3 hours 24 minutes. The peal was called by Richard Sherah, being the first true peal ever performed on these bells.'—Yours sincerely, ERNEST MORRIS.

St. Margaret's, Leicester.

MORE REFLECTIONS ON CHRISTMAS DAY BROADCAST

BAD STRIKER WANTS BROADCASTING FREEDOM

Dear Sir,—I am most definitely against any restriction in the selection of towers to be broadcast. Ringing is primarily done for the service of God, and if done in good faith by the ringer, however humble, is acceptable in the sight of God. But strangely enough, the same ringing is not acceptable in the sight of the 'elite'.

Some of the great musicians of our time have not a high opinion of some of the choirs broadcast, but do they make their views known? Do they advocate that all services should be held at cathedrals where good singing can be heard? It is the same basic argument really!

I myself am a very bad 'striker.' I admit it, although it is not for the want of trying, but still I try to do my best on Sunday, and if my efforts have not been too good, at least I have done it wholeheartedly, and that, I am sure, is the case of countless ringers throughout the land.—Yours sincerely, Branston, Lincs. JOHN E. COOK.

NOTE.—Before choirs are selected for broadcasting, they are visited by B.B.C. music specialists to see if they are of the appropriate standard. The suggestion made by Mr. Lewis is that a competent judge should hear the ringing first.—Ed.

LOCAL, NOT NATIONALISED, BANDS

Dear Sir,—Christmas Bells!!! 'Peace on earth and goodwill to men' is their message, but, by your columns, I wonder?

Let us at Christmas have local, unadulterated ringing: the place for ringers, 'Brass Hats' or otherwise, at this season is in their own towers. There should be, as in this diocese, men without bias, who know where the standard of ringing is reasonable and could advise the B.B.C. In any case, local bands please, and not nationalised bands.

VICE-CAPTAIN,
Bath and Wells.

STONEY RINGING: A COMPARISON

Dear Sir,—Mr. Bailey is wrong if he thinks that 'stone' ringers ring their bells slower than change ringers. In South Devon, at least, where call-change ringing is of the highest quality, the bells are seldom near the balance, and at least five whole pulls warning is given before they are set. In competitions a time limit is imposed which forces the ringers to 'keep them moving.'

The real secret of 'stone' ringing is more instructive than any detail of bell-handling. Call-change ringers derive little intellectual pleasure from their ringing, but they genuinely and passionately love bell-music above all else and will not have shoddy striking even if it means ringing rounds and nothing else. It is this which makes them pay such attention to rising and falling in peal, which in turn has created a style of ringing which for their purposes is as near the ideal as can be. And they know that fast ringing, by bringing the bells closer, improves the music and gives greater power to the harmonics of the ring as a whole.

This lesson, far from refuting Mr. Bailey's argument, confirms it, for much bad striking is caused by ringing bells at a speed too great for 'method ringing' except by very experienced ringers, and by too much attention to the intellectual, and not enough to the musical side of our Exercise. It is the latter which we share with the world at large, and it should be the best we can give.—Yours truly,

JOHN G. M. SCOTT.
Kingsbridge, Devon

GOOSTREY, CHESHIRE.—On Jan. 19th, 1.260 Grandsire Doubles: Jean Cooke 1, A. Worth 2, J. Lawrence 3, E. Pimlott (cond.) 4, R. J. Ongley (first quarter) 5, B. J. Ongley 6.

RINGING AT WOOLTON

Dear Sir,—May one who has neither met the officials concerned nor previously even heard of the English towers selected for the Christmas morning broadcast enquire why the very condemnatory criticisms should not have been extended to cover the ringing of the Bethlehem bells? Would the critics have them ring to orders after due examination?

Ringling on our bells on Christmas Eve and noting, as the changes were rhythmically tapped out, the very serious expressions on the faces of ringers and visitors (nearly every Sunday we have six and more ringers and friends watching and listening), I brought the bells into Queens, held this change, and sneezed, until we just held control. This alone brought a light of excitement to the eyes of all, but especially to one small girl of eight—a visitor from the Midlands. Being a carol service, and I thought a very joyful occasion, after a warning to hold the beat, we fired the bells, then to Queens and Whittington, and repeat. This while the change-over brought the ringers back to the serious, brought a very joyful expression to the faces of all our visitors, the small girl was really alive with excitement: obviously this was Christmas ringing.

On a previous occasion—a Mothers' Union service—the same technique so thrilled visitors from another parish who were to be married in our beautiful church that we were booked to repeat the ringing at their wedding. On all three occasions we received a number of compliments, mostly 'How nice the bells sounded.' Having rung here since 1920 (except for five years) I am still waiting for anyone to say how nice the bells sounded after normal change-ringing. Would it be possible that the B.B.C. are better acquainted with the general public's bellringing taste and appreciation and the sound of typical English country bellringing than are our officials?

Some few years ago I had a letter from a leading music house (Messrs. Rushworth and Dreaper) engaging, without an audition, my hand of handbell ringers. They added, not knowing themselves of a band able to fulfil the engagement, they had approached the B.B.C. and the Northern Musical Director had referred them to St. Peter's, Woolton. The B.B.C. do know. Enquiries of numerous non-ringing friends, acquaintances and associates are convincing that the Christmas morning bells increased the spirit of joy and goodwill and gave much happiness, especially to the children. The ringing was for this purpose and for these, not the few whose harsh words, coupled with the attitude of some very clever ringers towards the not so clever, do little credit to themselves and could do much harm to the Exercise.

Is it the spirit of the age for officials to rush in where angels fear to tread?

E. L. HUMPHRISS.
Woolton, Liverpool.

CRITICISM A LITTLE UNFAIR

Dear Sir,—Not knowing the 'individual circumstances,' I think some of the recent criticism in 'The Ringing World,' re the Christmas ringing, a little unfair. The ringers concerned would no doubt have the broadcast uppermost in mind and one man, forgetting his position, would soon put the rest in a 'heap.' Only being on the air a very short time, the rest would endeavour to 'get right' without setting. The best of bands have had periods of excellent ringing marred by these trips.

Re Mr. L. Bailey's 'Crave for Speed,' my experience of 'stone' ringing is that, with their absence of 'open leads,' that type of ringing is faster than good 'open lead' change-ringing.—Yours sincerely

A. BIGLEY.
Irthingborough, Northants.

STEADY BEAT PREFERRED

Dear Sir,—Much has appeared in the last two or three issues of 'The Ringing World' on the poor standard of ringing broadcast by the B.B.C. on Christmas Day. This, we know, did not approach anything like it could or should be.

On this subject, I feel that I agree with Mr. L. Bailey, of Godshill, I. of W., when he says that 'one of the causes of bad striking is the craze for speed.' I recently took part in a peal of Double Norwich at our local tower which came round after three hours 22 minutes and was regarded by some as a slow peal for this tower. Even our capable conductor, Mr. Jack Worrall, said that it was 'a bit slow.' If all the future peals I take part in are as good as this one, then I shall feel very satisfied with the standard of ringing in Wales, and hope that we will not sacrifice good striking for speed. I know that our old hands will say that you cannot get ringing of a good standard without a 'good beat,' but I would prefer a steady beat to that of a fast and uneasy one.

The majority of peal attempts are carried out by selected bands which may account for possible better striking than that of service bands. The Christmas broadcast is certainly not a true picture of the standard of ringing today and so let us hope that all local Sunday service ringers will always endeavour to give of their best, whether they broadcast or not.

However, to give a brighter side to the present discussion on the standard of ringing, may I congratulate those who took part in the broadcast ringing from Aston Parish Church, Jan. 21st on their excellent striking. If this is an example of their service ringing, then they can be very proud of themselves. Keep it up, Aston.—Yours faithfully,

ROBERT E. COLES.

Cowbridge, Glam

STRIKING SACRIFICED TO SPEED

Dear Sir,—Mr. Bailey, in the issue of January 19th, raises the question of good striking being sacrificed to speed of ringing. He asks whether 'stone' ringers are better strikers because they are inclined to ring more slowly. In Devon, a county providing, unfortunately, the vast majority of 'stone' ringing at present, the ringers have their bells so far away from the balance during ringing that a special preliminary order of 'Upward' is required some dozen or so pulls before the order to stand is given (usually by the treble man stamping on the floor).

The whole question of rate of striking has been thrashed out at length in your columns some time ago but in general every ring of bells has an optimum speed of ringing, which can only be found by experiment. At other speeds, striking is harder to attain.

With regard to the Christmas broadcast, I wish to join with many others as you, sir, surmised, in regretting Group Captain Lister's remarks in his last paragraph. Having taken part in two broadcasts myself, I know that, while being an honour, it also occasions considerable preparation and anxiety. On one of the occasions, both previous Sundays, the touch to be rung was practised and carefully timed to finish at the correct moment. It was a considerable relief when we heard the final buzzer and all the bells were set correctly.

That the majority of B.B.C. listeners would not know what was good and what bad striking, is no defence of poor ringing being allowed on the air. An inferior symphony concert would not be broadcast, even although a small majority of the listeners would appreciate that it was a poor performance.—Yours faithfully,

PETER W. B. SEMMENS.
Middlesbrough, Yorks.

ELY DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION Hunts District

An interesting proposition was submitted to the annual meeting of the Hunts District at Huntingdon on January 20th by Mr. F. Baker with a view to getting more of the public interested in the art of ringing.

It was that the committee should select places where the bells were not rung on Sundays and, after consultation with the incumbent, arrange for a meeting of parishioners with the object of forming a band. If recruits were forthcoming instruction would be provided.

The Rev. J. M. E. Bagley, Rector of All Saints', presided at the business meeting and also took the service at All Saints' Church.

The secretary (Mr. S. Gilbert) reported that 1950 had been a very successful year and that 14 meetings had been held. He also thanked all the ringers who had supported him so regularly at the meetings.

Officers elected for 1951 were as follows:—President, The Rev. B. Freer Sheppard; secretary, Mr. S. Gilbert; Ringing Master, Mr. F. Warrington; deputy Ringing Master, F. W. Lack; Representatives on Diocesan Committee, Messrs. F. Warrington and F. W. Lack; District committee—Miss C. Dunnington, Messrs. F. H. Newman, F. Baker, D. T. Austin, H. Fields, S. Jack, C. J. Young, W. Ransome and H. S. Peacock.

Votes of thanks were accorded to the Rev. J. M. E. Bagley and to the Rev. A. Morris for the use of St. Mary's bells, to Mr. H. Dew, the organist, and the ladies who arranged the tea.

The bells of All Saints' and St. Mary's were available during the afternoon and evening and ringers were present from Elv, Downham Market, Yaxley, Brampton, Eynesbury, St. Ives, Tempsford, Blinham, Somersham, Great Staughton and Huntingdon.

NORWICH DIOCESAN ASSN. North Norfolk Branch

The annual meeting held at St. George's, Colegate, on January 6th, was attended by the Rev. A. St. J. Heard (oresident), Rev. A. G. G. Thurlow (general secretary and treasurer), Mr. F. Nolan Golden (Ringing Master), Mr. H. Tooke (branch secretary) and members from Bunwell, Diss, Caston, Fornsett, Bureton, Norwich, Mulbarton, Somerleyton, Great Yarmouth, Wymondham, Hockwold, Stowmarket and Ipswich.

The service was conducted by the Vicar, the Rev. A. G. G. Thurlow, who, in his address, stated that it was the first meeting ever to be held at that church.

Tea was served in St. Clement's Hall by the ladies of St. George's who were thanked on the proposition of Mr. N. Golden. Thanks were also expressed to the Vicars of St. George's and St. Miles' for the use of the bells and to the Rev. Thurlow for conducting the service.

The next meeting is on April 7th at Foxley.

GUILD of DEVONSHIRE RINGERS South-West Branch

Thirty-five members and friends attended the annual meeting held at Buckland Monachorum on January 13th. The fine ring of eight bells was heard in rounds and touches of Grandire, Stedman and Plain Bob. The Guild's form of service was conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. F. J. Cornish). Tea was served at 5 p.m. in the Schoolroom.

At the business meeting the following officers were elected to serve for 1951:—Chairman, Mr. H. H. Thomas; hon. secretary and treasurer, Mr. T. G. Myers; Ringing Master, Mr. T. G. Myers; hon. auditor, Mr. H. O. Thomas; representatives to the Guild's general committee, W. G. Lavers, J. P. Sims and S. O'Shaughnessy.

It was also agreed to carry out the following programme (subject to permission):—Bickington, April 7th; joint meeting with Mid-Devon branch at Dittisham, June 23rd; Holbeton, September 29th; Plymouth Emmanuel, December 1st (annual meeting).

PETERBOROUGH DIOCESAN GUILD

Daventry Branch

The Daventry Branch held its annual meeting at Staverton on January 13th, by kind permission of the Vicar (the Rev. E. G. Glascodine). The meeting was well attended, 40 members and friends from neighbouring branches being present.

The Vicar conducted the Guild's service and gave an inspiring address. Mrs. Glascodine and lady members of the Staverton belfry provided an excellent tea which was served at the Vicarage.

The branch chairman, Mr. G. H. Hancock, presided at the business meeting. The secretary, Mr. F. W. Hancock, reported that 12 meetings had been held during the year with an average attendance of 30 members. An increased balance in hand was shown by the accounts. The retiring chairman and secretary were re-elected as were the representatives to the Guild Committee, Messrs. S. Osborne and W. Collins. Mrs. W. Collins, Mr. H. Haynes and Mr. F. W. Hutt are to form the branch committee.

The committee were asked to consider the formation of a branch library and to look into the possibility of obtaining photographs of founder members of the branch which would be placed in an album and kept in the mother church at Daventry.

Wellingborough Branch

Ringers from most parts of Northamptonshire attended the annual meeting of the Wellingborough branch at Higham Ferrers on January 13th when good use was made of the fine ring of eight.

Ringers were present from Irthlingborough, Wellingborough, Easton Mauduit, Wilby, Finedon, Mears Ashby, Ecton, Desborough, Burton Latimer, Blisworth, Earls Barton, Irchester, Bozeat, Raunds, Warkton, Wollaston and Higham Ferrers. Some from Bedford also attended.

The Guild service was conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. H. L. Hoar) who also gave the address. Tea in the Church Rooms was served by members of the Mothers' Union.

The Rev. J. C. R. Creagh Coen (president, Wollaston) presided at the business meeting. The secretary's report and balance sheet, presented by Mr. A. Bigley (Irthlingborough), showed a balance in hand of £5 10s., which was considered very satisfactory.

Officers elected were:—President, the Rev. J. C. R. Creagh Coen; secretary and treasurer, Mr. A. Bigley; Ringing Master, Mr. J. King (Wellingborough); central committee, Mr. J. King and Mr. J. Skeritt; branch committee, Messrs. A. Tyler, C. Payne and C. W. Partidge; auditor, Mr. E. W. Johnson; branch organist, Mr. E. J. Holloway.

New ringing members elected were from Finedon (5), Irthlingborough (2), Wellingborough (2), Yardley Hastings (2).

Thanks to all who helped make the meeting a success were proposed by Mr. W. G. Callis and seconded by Mr. J. R. Main.

GLOUCESTER AND BRISTOL ASSOCIATION

Bristol Rural Branch

On January 20th about 56 members took part in the branch's third annual social and supper held once again at Mansotfield. After a most enjoyable supper in The Crown Hotel, everyone settled down to the evening of song, music, handbell ringing (tune and method), conjuring and a comic sketch, all first class by the artists and much appreciated by all.

Mr. C. R. Harding was the evening's chairman, whilst Mr. W. B. Kynaston (Association Master), Mr. P. C. Williams (Association treasurer), and Mr. A. Bennett (Bristol City branch secretary) were among the guests and visitors to a very happy evening.

OBITUARY

MR. WILLIAM BIGGIN

An outstanding record of faithful service to St. James' Church, Norton, Sheffield, had Mr. William Biggin, who died on January 11th, aged 86 years.

He was a regular service ringer for over 60 years, captain of the local company for 57 years and for many years steeplekeeper. The bells to-day testify to his care and the good work of his successors.

Mr. Biggin loved his church and Norton village, which still retains its old-world character. The bells are reputed to be the first octave to be Simpson tuned. 'Uncle Bill,' as he was generally known in the village, leaves behind him a record of willing and faithful service to his church. Most of his working life was spent as a foundry worker but in his latter days he was a gardener at the Rectory.

He rang his first peal at St. Marie's, Sheffield, on March 5th, 1887, the method being Plain Bob Major. In all he rang 218 peals, 15 of which he conducted. For the Yorkshire Association he rang 191 peals. His record is:—Stedman Cinqes 2, Caters 4, Triples 15; Grandire Caters 6, Triples 20 (2); Erin Triples 1; Kent Treble Bob Royal, 9; Major 69 (12), Minor 2; Oxford Treble Bob Royal 2, Major 27; Spliced Treble Bob Royal 1, Major 1; Plain Bob Royal 3, Major 29 (1); Double Norwich Court Bob Royal 2, Major 13; Superlative 4; Forward Major 2; one each of Yorkshire, London, New Cambridge and Bristol Surprise Major, Little Bob and Original Major.

The funeral on January 16th was preceded by a service at Norton Parish Church attended by relatives and friends including a number of local ringers. The bells were rung half-muffled before and after the service, the last touch being a well-struck course of his favourite method, Kent Treble Bob Major.

In his memory a half-muffled peal of Grandire Triples was rung by the Sheffield and District Society the following Saturday.

MR. J. L. BLEBY

For 30 years a ringer at St. Mary's, Sutton-in-Ashfield, Notts, Mr. John Lucas Bleby died on January 16th, aged 78.

A native of Stanley, Gloucestershire, he was employed as a railway guard which brought him to Nottinghamshire. He was captain of the Sutton band for some years until failing health made him resign in 1947. Mr. Bleby was a former member of the executive of the East Derby and Notts Association.

The Association was reconstituted at the funeral by Mr. Cyril Heathcote (treasurer) and the ringers by Mr. Colin Evans (captain). In accordance with Mr. Bleby's wishes the bells were rung half-muffled for Sunday services on January 21st.

MR. CHARLES EDWARDS

Dear Sir,—Your correspondent who supplied the notice of the death of Mr. Charles Edwards, of Ealing and Farnham, has confused him with the Mr. Charles Edwards of Farnham and Hereford. A not unnatural mistake since it is very rare that two men of the same name but of different families ring at the same tower.

I am happy to say that Mr. Charles Edwards, of Hereford and Farnham, my wife's grandfather, is in excellent health and spirits and is, at the age of 81, still keenly interested in ringing matters and follows with interest the exploits of some of his old friends. Scarcely a week passes but what we are revealed by the story of what happened at such and such a place when he went there for a real forty years or more ago. He is, like Mark Twain was, not a little amused and points out that 'the news of his death is somewhat exaggerated.'—Yours faithfully,

C. KENNETH LEWIS.

THE ART OF EXPRESSION

WE have been chided by one of our clerical brethren that the correspondence in our columns relating to the Christmas Day broadcast has left on him an exceedingly disquieting impression of acrimony and trouble-seeking which does great discredit to a fraternity which stands within Christ's Church. He takes the view that because 'The Ringing World' is willing 'to promote so much public discord,' it is an indication that there is a strong undercurrent of unchristian feeling and behaviour beneath the surface of the Exercise.

In our innocence, we do not believe that any of our correspondents were prompted by acrimony and strife in endeavouring to transpose their views to paper on this or any subject. One of the signs of a healthy democracy is freedom of expression, and there is no subject upon which there is a wider divergence of opinion than theology, discussions on which dwarf into insignificance the themes immediately before the Exercise as to whether bells should be rung indifferently when broadcast or that representation should be made to the B.B.C. to ensure that the ringing broadcast should be of a standard representative of change ringing at its best.

The difficulty is that many of our correspondents have not the ability 'to speak with tongues of men and of angels,' as the Epistle for last Sunday so aptly describes this gift, and in consequence without charity their utterances become 'as sounding brass or a tinkling cymbal.' They are, in truth, more accustomed to sounding brass than possessing the pen of a ready writer. Nevertheless, although many cannot detect that greatest of all gifts, charity, in their writings, we believe that there is no animosity behind their words, but rather perhaps a crudeness of expression. We beseech our readers not to interpret criticism, however trenchant, as personal. There are standards of proficiency, and it is only right and proper that these should be placed before the Exercise.

If the voice of criticism was not permitted in our pages the Editor feels that much of the interest and usefulness of the journal would be lost. We know that all our readers do not agree with the Editor and they feel that there is a danger of disrupting the Exercise and in consequence this might lead to neglecting the ringer's primary function to the Church, Sunday ringing. Reform was never brought about by passive means, and there are die-hards who, whatever the circumstances, will not accept in principle loftier ideals or better interpretation. A parallel example occurred in our own locality when speech rhythm pointing was introduced to a choir. One or two of the older members refused to accept the change and argued furiously against the innovation. But speech rhythm eventually won and was accepted and appreciated by the congregation. Those of the choir who would not conform have been replaced. The same story has repeatedly been told of towers that have introduced change ringing in place of call changes.

A better standard of ringing cannot be introduced in the twinkling of an eye. It is a slow and gradual process and in the main it depends on the next generation of ringers—people taught to use their ears before their sight in the belfry. The trouble about ringing is that there are too many of the old school who think ropesight is all sufficing. There is no lack of ideas on the best method of teaching a young band and many suggestions have been made in these columns. Mr. Brian D. Price in a letter published this week says quite bluntly that 'the time has come when the "hard school" way of instruction must go.' But good instructors are not just round the corner, and every tower and district must depend on the resources available. There is no better satisfaction to the experienced ringer than to be able to say of someone climbing the ladder of ringing ability 'He was a pupil of mine.' A good pupil gives infinite pleasure to his instructor and happy memories that last a lifetime.

The idea of the Exercise having fixed standards and principles, established by democratic means by the votes of the Central Council representatives of all the Guilds and Associations, is still repugnant to some of our readers. But there must be some controlling body—a Church Assembly for ringers. The vision that Sir Percival Heywood gave to ringers in the last century has indeed become a reality to those who take their ringing seriously. This common membership through Guilds and Associations begets fraternity. To those who say facetiously, 'Who are the Central Council?' we would reply in the words of Lewis Carroll:—

Speak severely to your boy,
And beat him when he sneezes.
He only does it to annoy,
Because he knows it teases.

SUBSCRIPTION REMINDER

There are still some subscriptions outstanding for 1951. These should be despatched immediately to Mrs. Fletcher, The White House,
Caister-on-Sea, Norfolk.

We have had an interesting but by no means complete response to our request for ringers who rang a peal in the last century (before 1900) to send particulars of their first peal (date, method, place). Will those who desire to be incorporated in the list please forward?

Twenty-five peals have now been rung on Silk Willoughby bells and Mr. J. H. Musson has rung in each one of them.

The Wigan and Liverpool branches of the Lancashire Association have suffered a severe loss by the death of Mr. J. W. Hall, of Ranford.

A word of congratulation should be given to
Mr. George Prescott who at Compton Bishop, Somerset, shepherded five ringers through their first peal.

With the peal at Cramlington, Northumberland, on January 13th, Mrs. Margaret Fidell and Messrs. J. Anderson, T. W. Crowe, E.
Wallace and W. E. Robinson have rung peals of Stedman from Doubles to Cinques.

The many friends of Mr. and Mrs. J. F.
Milner, of Kirklington, will be pleased to know that Mrs. Milner is now out of hospital following her operation and is making very satisfactory progress. She wishes to thank the various ringers for their kind enquiries concerning her health.

St. Michael Royal, College Hill, London,
E.C.4, have had, since September, 1949, a good handbell company under the captaincy of Mr.
A. E. Pearson. They style themselves The Whittington Handbell Ringers and have recently given carol services at Whittington College, Highgate. All Hallows Toc H Church and St.
Mary-le-Strand. They entertained the patients at St. Bartholomew's Hospital on Christmas Eve and rang in the Lord Mayor for the civic service at St. James', Garlickhithe.

BELFRY GOSSIP

Bengeo Society of Ringers (Herts) were particularly encouraged by the Christmas message received from their Rector
(the Rev. G. C. P. Hilton Briggs) thanking them for their services. He especially mentioned the handbell ringing at the Christmas midnight service and on other occasions, which 'brought so much happiness into so many hearts in homes and hospitals.'

Mr. Frederick J. Sharpe, of Bicester, surveyed or gave advice in respect of 104 towers in 1950. Such valuable contributions to the welfare of the Exercise should not be permitted to pass unrecorded.

We regret to record the passing of Mr. J. W.
Wilkins, of High Wycombe, who rang a peal at Hughenden, after his 87th birthday last May.
His death followed a serious operation in Amersham Hospital.

Three young ringers from Stoke-under-Ham, Somerset, who have learnt to ring since the bells were augmented, rang in the first quarter on the bells by a Sunday service band on January 28th. They are Sylvia Bishop, Brian Grinter and June Punnett, the latter handling the 17 cwt. tenor in a very capable manner.

Congratulations to Mr. Ronald W. Steward, of the Suffolk Guild on ringing his 100th peal.
This was at Debenham on January 27th. His peals have been rung in 35 different towers, his first being on August 2nd, 1937. He was taught to ring by the late Mr. Charles Mee, of Sproughton.

Amusement was caused to the many friends of Mr. J. S. Hawkins by the announcement of the quarter peal at Holloway on December 10th that it was his first. It should read 'his first after a major operation.' We trust that with a new lease of life his name will appear frequently in our columns.

UNIVERSITY OF BRISTOL SOCIETY REUNION AND DINNER

Happy Relationships With Local Ringers

ON January 27th the University of Bristol Society held its annual dinner and reunion. Ringing began with a peal attempt of Double Norwich at Wraxall in the morning but success did not attend the venture.

The first tower to be visited in the afternoon was the church of St. John-on-the-Walls where ringing was provided for the many visitors and friends who were present. The next move was to St. Mary's, Redcliffe, where the glorious ten were rung to Grandsire and Stedman Caters, Little Bob Royal and rounds were rung on the twelve. Many non-ringing visitors availed themselves of the opportunity to see English change-ringing from close quarters, and altogether the visit to Redcliffe was a great success.

The last tower visited was at St. James', The Horsefair, where the ten bells were rung to Grandsire and Stedman Caters and rounds for the beginners. The service was held at the church and was conducted by the Rev. Clifford Smith, the incumbent, who preached an inspiring sermon.

A company of 37 members, visitors and guests sat down to dinner in the Full Moon Hotel, the president of the Society, Dr. S. H. Piper, being in the chair. Dr. Piper, in proposing the toast to the Exercise, mentioned the Society's indebtedness to ringers and incumbents of the several Bristol churches where the Society rang for service and on practice nights. He expressed the hope that the Society would soon be able to resume ringing at All Saints' and at St. Michael's but the prospects were not too bright at present. In the coming summer the Universities Association was coming to Bristol and he trusted they would be given the type of reception they richly deserved.

'A GREAT SERVICE'

In his reply, Mr. A. Bennett, hon. secretary of the Bristol City Branch, stated how welcome members of the University Society were in the towers of the city churches. From the point of view of St. James' ringers and other ringers of Bristol U.B.S.C.R. had been of great value in keeping bells ringing for Sunday service. Bristol had always been interested in the Society and the Gloucester and Bristol Association was largely instrumental in forming it.

It was important, continued Mr. Bennett, that the Society should continue to flourish and in this respect he emphasised the need to teach beginners. Only by constant attention to this aspect of the Society's activities could continuity be assured.

The hon. secretary of the University Society, Mr. Jack R. Worrall, proposed 'The Visitors.' He mentioned those present, introducing to the new members of the Society their president, Dr. Piper, paying tribute to the work done for the Society by Dr. Piper, Mr. Worrall stated that, although not a ringer in the practical sense of the word, Dr. Piper had the good of the Exercise at heart, and had done much to help the Society. Other visitors welcomed included the Master of the London University Society, the Rev. Clifford Smith and various members and officers of the Gloucester and Bristol Association of Ringers.

In his reply, Mr. Denis Layton, Master of the London Society, spoke in a witty vein. He hoped that the scribes seated at the far end of the room would not make the same mistakes as did their counterparts at the Cambridge University dinner last year. The report of this dinner, as it appeared in 'The Ringing World,' had been a source of embarrassment to him for a long time afterwards. The reason for the amusing stories which Mr. Layton related at Bristol was purely due to the laziness of the aforementioned scribes in writing out this report.

CONSTRUCTIVE CRITICISM ESSENTIAL

Continuing his speech, Mr. Layton gave some timely advice on striking to all young ringers. It was most essential that they should receive constructive criticism and that as they progressed they should bear in mind the importance of handling and striking their bells, and perseverance.

Mr. F. J. Leaker, in submitting 'The Health of the Society,' conveyed warmest greetings to the Society from the Bristol City branch, of which he was chairman. Mr. Leaker said that he wished to second Mr. Layton's remarks about striking as without good striking ringing was a waste of time.

The Master of the University of Bristol Society, Mr. Ivor H. Trueman, in responding, gave a brief résumé of the activities of the Society during the past year. He thanked the ringers and incumbents of the churches which the Society had visited during the afternoon and all those who had helped to make the dinner a success. The past year had been the most successful in the history of the Society and thanks for this were due to a very large extent to the Bristol City ringers.

The Society had made great progress in ten-bell ringing and it was surely a sign that things were well with the Society when they were able to make peal attempts on ten bells. Three peals had been rung so far during the year, all of Bob Minor, one on tower bells and two 'in hand.' Peal-ringing was not the full measure of the strength of a Society such as theirs as its primary aim was to interest and teach new ringers. Mr. Trueman said he was pleased to record the two handbell peals as this showed a reintroduction and a new interest in this side of the Exercise.

In the instruction of beginners, the Master paid tribute to the help given by Mr. Leaker, who was always present at the tied-bell practices. Mr. Bennett was equally ready to help the Society in every way possible and the Society had happily many proofs of his sincerity.

Bristol held its own among other Societies and its representation among the members of the Universities Association was larger than any other of the provincial Universities. During the summer Bristol would be entertaining the Universities Association on its own ground and was the first Society to do so. This was indeed a great honour and the Master said he hoped they would justify it.

After the dinner, two sets of handbells were put to good use by those interested and the ringing was generally appreciated.

BROADCAST REFLECTIONS—Cont.

AN EXAMPLE FROM NORTHERN IRELAND

B.B.C. Consult District Secretary on Broadcasting

Dear Sir,—I feel that, much as I dislike entering into any of the controversies which are from time to time waged in 'The Ringing World,' I must do so on this occasion as I am inclined to agree with Group Captain Lister that the present correspondence could result in a B.B.C. embargo on the broadcasting of bells and this is the last thing (I hope) any of the correspondents want.

We in the Northern District of the Irish Association have solved the problem of the choice of bells to represent the area by getting the Northern Ireland Region of the B.B.C. to agree to consult the District secretary on all matters in the broadcasting of bells.

This was not achieved without an effort by my predecessor, Mr. W. Webb, but once the B.B.C. agreed to consult us they have faithfully stuck to their bargain and the responsibility for the choice now rests with the Association.

I am happy to say that my relations with the local B.B.C. programme arrangers are very cordial and I cannot stand idly by and let them be prejudiced by this correspondence.

The choice of bells for the various areas is left, I understand, to the local Regions and the remedy to cure the matters raised in the recent correspondence is simple. The Associations in each Region should get together and approach the local B.B.C. with a view to getting the latter to consult them as to the most suitable bells to be broadcast on the special occasions to represent their areas. I am sure the B.B.C. would readily agree as this method would have certain advantages to it.

The last thing to do is that suggested by Dr. Hatcher, to raise the matter by formal resolution in the Central Council, for we would find that it would be recommended by the Standing Committee that the matter should be passed to some already overworked committee with the result that a report would be long delayed while the problem would still be unsolved.—Yours sincerely,

JOHN T. DUNWOODY.

THE PUBLIC'S EAR

Dear Sir,—There is no doubt that the Christmas Day broadcast will cause letters, comments and arguments for a long time to come. I have read the letters already published with great interest. Some are good, some indifferent, others impossible.

To my mind the only letter that hits the nail completely on the head is the paragraph in Group Captain Lister's letter wherein he asks how many people know the number of bells being rung in the B.B.C.'s interval signal.

A case in point: At our Parish Church recently we were reduced by sickness and bad weather to four, and duly rang the four back bells in rounds. Whilst we were ringing, one of the churchwardens came into the belfry—it is on the ground floor—and said to me when we had finished, 'Now I know how many bells were ringing. My wife and I have been arguing as to whether it was six or eight.'

I place ringers in the same category as music critics. Being a lover of good music, I have on many occasions listened with complete enjoyment to a symphony concert broadcast from a public hall, and on looking at the music critic's report in next day's paper have been amazed to read that he considered the conductor was 'slack' or the orchestra was 'ragged.' Surely the experienced ringer is the same as a critic, looking for faults and not for the enjoyment.—Yours sincerely,

B. J. LUCK.

PROPER INSTRUCTION

The Basis of Good Ringing

Dear Sir,—The recent interesting correspondence about the general standard of ringing prompts me to write. I think that there is much truth in what has been said but that the chief underlying reason for the poor standard of ringing is the lack of a recognised system of instruction for beginners after they have mastered the handling of a bell. It seems to me that the normal method of teaching these stages is akin to throwing a person in deep water in order to teach him to swim, and hoping for the best.

The accomplished ringer rings his bell mainly by rhythm. Ropesight is a necessary aid which stabilises the ringing. If the belfry light goes out for a few seconds each ringer should know exactly where he is. The full use of rhythm involves hearing what is being rung, and being aware of the position of one's own bell in the sound. It also involves a consciousness of the pull required to place the bell in its correct position which fits in the rhythm like the movement of one's legs while walking, so that, e.g., hunting up is not thought of as waiting for an extra bell each time and nothing else, but rather as an extended period for the striking of the bell, which needs a slower rhythm of pull. Ropesight is a check to correct placing and if any ringer 'hangs up,' the fingers striking over him should without extra effort place his bell as if no mistake had occurred. The resulting clash is better than ringing in which there is no beat, for a good beat can only be attained if the majority of the hand strike by rhythm.

It is unfortunate that most ringers learn to handle a bell and to strike over another one while the bell is silent. Consequently they never learn early to associate sound with action, and the odds are that on being plunged into method ringing they will be so swamped by the difficulties of the method that they will never be able to hear their own bell at all. The best way to teach beginners to appreciate rhythm is to practise double-handed handbell ringing early, so that by the time they can ring rounds on tower bells they have learned to ring with a beat and know the value of the sound. Then they have a goal to strive for in their tower bell ringing. I well remember the frustration of being conscious of what an awful row I was making when I knew what it should sound like.

Ringing with a cover bell is more often than not rung by ropesight only. Even-bell ringing relies much more on rhythm, and this explains why Grandsire and Stedman often mark the limit of a ringer's ability. The only satisfactory solution is to teach Plain Bob first, which is much easier than Grandsire as a method but needs the greater initial effort to attain rhythm sense. Once this has been acquired, there will be little difficulty in ringing other methods.

Some people have little natural sense of rhythm, and consequently will never make good strikers. It should be easy to devise a test for such people. Others have the sense of rhythm strongly developed and make good ringers however they are taught. But the majority of people would benefit by a better type of instruction than is often given. The time has come when the 'hard school' way of instruction must go.

The question arises, as it does so often in other walks of life, 'Who is to be the judge of the right method?' A committee of the Central Council could deal with this question. But on a smaller scale we are so often hampered by the necessity to use tact. The first step in learning anything is to admit that one is ignorant, and this some people cannot do. The ringers who are bad strikers would not only be offended if they were told so—they just wouldn't believe it! It would be a case either of 'young whippersnapper' or 'busybody.' I will admit that I dislike being told that I am wrong, but it rarely gets farther than that.

My method of teaching beginners would therefore include early use of open bells, or else some form of 'silent apparatus'; double-handed handbell ringing in plain methods; a more gradual approach to method ringing via plain hunt on four bells etc. to Plain Bob.

I will leave you with this thought, heard in half the belfries of England: 'Lead off the tenor . . . not too wide . . . watch the sally . . . GO NEXT TIME . . . Wait for 2—now 3—now 4—don't forget the order 3, 4, 6, 7, 5 . . . ROUNDS . . . no, you didn't see (N.B. SEE) it very well that time, we'll try again later . . . Yes, this method does produce ringers, but I contend that it only produces good ringers with those who can free themselves from the method they have been taught. B. D. PRICE.

SPECIAL MEETINGS TO PRACTISE STRIKING

Dear Sir,—Having read in your paper the many letters of criticism of the Christmas Bell Broadcast, I formed the idea that most of the writers appeared to be very dissatisfied with the general standard of striking of a number of local bands throughout the country. If this is the case, then why let us confine our efforts to mere criticism in our journal? This is no doubt of great use, but surely we can do more to help than merely writing to the Press and just waiting for someone else to do the snide work.

Firstly, let us remember that through the hard work of many who have gone before we rarely hear the mournful drone of 'stoney' nowadays. No doubt this in itself has had something to do with the present state of bad striking. I think most people will agree that, apart from the mental effort, it takes a far greater degree of bell control and sense of rhythm to ring 'half pull' changes well than to keep one's bell on an even keel in 'stoney.'

Now for the remedy! It will not be an easy job, and definitely not so interesting as scoring a good peal of Surprise. But if every expert ringer could devote a little more time to helping the lame dogs I feel a great deal could be accomplished. Many of the experts do help, it is to those who do not do as much as they might that I am referring.

How many Guild or Association meetings does one attend and rarely hear a well-struck touch unless it be in an advanced method? Whilst no one wishes to deter the practising of advanced and progressive methods it must be admitted that they are so far above the heads of the average local band that they just don't mean a thing to them. Would it not be better to invite one of their best strikers to stand in at least one well-struck touch of Grandsire Triples (or Bob Major) with seven of the best ringers present. This might show the 'locals' what they could do by 'pulling up their socks' and taking a bit of notice.

As I have said before, the task will be a difficult one. It has been said that 'good ringers are born and not made,' but how many have been marred by their local teacher? How many of the 'average' type could be greatly improved by a little proper tuition in handling their bell? I know that this matter is considered a delicate question when visiting someone else's tower, but much could be done by someone with tact and understanding, possibly outside the tower.

Many Associations have practices and meetings for practising a special method: let them have a special meeting for practising good striking.

Having got these few lines off my chest I will await the invective that will surely come, but it has succeeded in drawing a little attention to the great need of aiming for good striking first and foremost then I will happily take whatever may come. Please do not think that I profess to be a judge of these things myself. I have simply written this letter on the assumption that your writers are not happy with the state of things as they exist. In any case, why criticise the B.B.C. for broadcasting poor ringing when they have no means of improving it?—Yours, Reading. ALBERT DISERENS.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

CHURCH FESTIVALS AND PEALS

Dear Sir,—Twenty-five peals, ranging from Doubles to Maximus, are recorded in your columns as having been rung on Saturday, January 6th. Only one of these, according to the footnote, was rung for the Feast of the Epiphany.

While a Saturday is, without doubt, the most popular day for arranging peal attempts, there seems to be something a little wrong when a prominent Feast of the Church, such as the Epiphany, happens to fall on a Saturday, it should have such meagre mention. Are we to infer that among all the ringers and conductors taking part in peals on January 6th only one band was aware of the Church's association with that day?

I think it is worth urging that when peals coincide with Church Festivals the latter should be given first place among all other footnotes. Perhaps a Church calendar hung in the ringing chamber would save them from being overlooked.—Yours faithfully,

Lyne Regis. C. CAREW COX (REV.)

CHEWING RAISINS

Dear Sir,—Mr. A. Pat Cannon is not the artist at chewing raisins that the Rev. F. E. Robinson was. The reverend gentleman could separate pips from flesh and pips would be shot up against the wall, or someone else if in line.

Quite recently I was ringing at St. Jude's, Randwick, and a lady ringer was chewing 'bubble gum,' which I suppose you in England know can make, properly handled, a sharp snap. Instantly it reminded me of a burst of pips against the wall from the dear old 'Rev.'—Yours,

A. R. BOTTING

TWO POINTS OF VIEW

Dear Sir,—There are, in my opinion, two ways of looking at the Christmas Day broadcast controversy.

Local ringers would feel that they had a legitimate grievance if an outside band was imported because their own striking was not good enough.

The majority of ringers, and especially the good strikers, consider that if a broadcast is made it should be on the best-sounding bells and with the best ringers available in order to give the listening public a good example of change-ringing.

It is no use bad strikers saying that when a church service is broadcast there is no 'faking' by imported choirs. My personal experience of a broadcast was that the choir was augmented by a neighbouring one and the church was filled to capacity by visitors from other parishes. So full was the church that the ringers had to listen to the service from the B.B.C. van. On a normal Sunday evening the church would be less than half full.

I feel certain that if the B.B.C. followed out their usual practice in regard to entertainments and music and secured the best available talent in regard to the broadcasting of bells, ringing as a whole would be held in greater esteem by the general public than at the present time. What is wanted is the best strikers on the best available bells.—Yours faithfully,

JOHN H. HUNT.

Titchfield, Hants.

NEAREST ANTI-CLOCKWISE TOWERS

Dear Sir—I think 'Kewsett' is wrong in giving Bath Abbey and Swainswick as the nearest towers with anti-clockwise rings of bells. Latton and Cricklade, in Wiltshire, (both five-bell towers) are less than two miles apart and I believe Bath Abbey and Swainswick are three miles or more.

UNCHRISTIAN OUTLOOK

Bringing Ringers into Disrepute

Dear Sir,—An exceedingly disquieting impression is left by the correspondence on the Christmas Day broadcast and by many other recent letters in 'The Ringing World.' The acrimony and trouble-seeking which seem to inspire so many letters, even brief ones whose sole concern should be to correct some hasty or erroneous claim made in the peal columns, do great discredit to a fraternity (or is that too strong a word?) which stands within Christ's Church. It is not just the discourtesy and rudeness of so many people that is distressing or the fact that 'The Ringing World' is willing to promote so much public discord, but the indication that there is such a strong undercurrent of unchristian feeling and behaviour beneath the surface of the Exercise. It is, in fact, well-known how much ill-feeling there is to be found at all levels between individuals, towers, 'cliques,' branches and Guilds. And all this brings into disrepute not only the ringers themselves, but also the whole body of ringers and the church to which they belong.

The reason is, perhaps, that the majority of ringers seem to regard themselves as connected with the Church as bellringers rather than as Christians. There is no need to labour the vexed question of church attendance as an instance of this, and this problem of the relations between ringers is another, maybe not unconnected with the former.

Now I know that there are very many ringers who are splendid Christians and that there are many towers and whole branches where an admirable spirit of fellowship exists. But all is not well. As one of our prayers has it, we need 'seriously to lay to heart the great dangers we are in, by our unhappy divisions.' For however good we may become as handlers of bells, or method ringers, if we fail as Christians, we fail in our most important concern and duty.

In conclusion, lest many should be moved to rush into print in hot denial, might I commend the example of the Apostles, who, when Jesus told them that one of them would betray Him, 'began to be sorrowful' and to say unto Him, one by one, "Is it I?"—Yours faithfully,

P. T. ROBBINS (REV.)

Bury, Lancs.

EXPLANATION WANTED

Dear Sir,—Will the conductor of the peal of Cambridge Minor rung at Wickham, Hants, on December 30th, explain why it was published as being rung in 2 hours 48 minutes when actually they rang for 3 hours 15 minutes!—Yours faithfully,

AN INTERESTED LISTENER

ANONYMITY

Dear Sir,—The answer to the question asked by your anonymous correspondent 'De Facto,' is that quite a number of people read their copies of 'The Ringing World' even to the signatures under the letters in your correspondence columns.

Most of those who do so take a pretty dim view of those who, for some unexplained reason, use a nom-de-plume.

In larger spheres, like the National Press, a case might be made out for anonymity, but in a small fraternity like ours it would, in my opinion, be far more satisfactory if your correspondents wrote over their own names. This matter has already been thrashed almost threadbare, but we still have among us some who prefer to make objectionable remarks in your paper under cover of anonymity. Why?—Yours faithfully,

J. FRANK SMALLWOOD.

THOMAS POST, THE WYE POET

By CHARLES TURNER DOVER

With happy memory

I write, with a sigh,

Of that grand old Kent ringer,

The poet of Wye.

I am glad to have my memory awakened by those simple but sincere words 'Lord be thankit,' revealed by 'The Ringing World' in connection with the interesting reference to Thomas Post. I met him and rang with him on a number of occasions. I was fascinated with him, because there appeared a story which would stir the minds of most ringers.

He was a poor but humble shepherd, but he was a rich and glorious ringer, a gift which he inherited by his great love for the church bells and he was always happy to be among those connected with the bells. For years he was a clever heavy-bell ringer and during the latter part of his life he attended many of the meetings of the Ashford and Canterbury Districts of the Kent Association. He used to sell copies of poems which he composed relating to bells and his brother strings; I purchased some at 3d. per copy but I am afraid they were destroyed in the war.

Some years ago I discovered Len Post, a relative of old Tom, at Palmer's coach works at Dover, and was successful in persuading him to take up ringing and for a considerable time he was a great help to me. The last I heard of him he was in the Aldershot district.

In my early ringing days I travelled a good deal with the late Mr. Edmund Potter, an engine driver on the old South Eastern Railway, a son of one of the famous Potter brothers who resided at Frittenden, Kent, and old Tom Post was a great friend of theirs. I was able to obtain quite an amount of amusing stories about him. Without doubt, he had a hectic time when he was in their company, but he managed to create their ambition to go all out to beat the Bob Major performance of 13.340 changes rung at St. Leonard's Church, Hythe, Kent, in seven hours and 55 minutes. This peal has a remarkable feature. It was a mixed band and rung on May 4th, 1846, by the following ringers:—C. Fowler, treble, H. Down 2, J. Harrison 3, J. Stoakes 4, J. Chapple 5, J. Friend 6, E. Hyder 7, S. T. Post, tenor; conducted by J. Friend.

As the ringers stood in this peal so they died. The conductor, John Friend, was often referred to as the chief constable of Hythe, and was a very strict man. In some quarters it was stated that there was only one policeman stationed at Hythe in those days; evidently he was the one that mattered. Down was a native of Hythe and relatives of his are still living there. Jim Harrison was a star turn from Folkestone.

According to the story related to me by Mr. E. Potter, it was Tom Post who stirred his father's ambition to beat the Hythe record and a mixed band assembled at St. Mary's Church, Frittenden, Kent, on Monday, April 9th, 1883, with the intention of ringing 20.160 Bob Major but, alas, it was not to be, for as they approached the half-way it needed a bob to go on, and the conductor asked if all was well and one ringer replied 'No!' The conductor called single at the end of the course and the bells came into rounds.

Mr. Potter gave me the following particulars of the performance: 10.080 changes Bob Major being the longest peal rung in Kent for many years, performed in a most masterly manner in five hours and 34 minutes by the following ringers:—C. Payne, treble, G. Potter 2, C. Baldock 3, E. Potter 4, F. G. Newman 5, T. Potter 6, W. Brattle 7, T. Daynes, tenor. Conducted by C. Payne from the treble. Despite various efforts by the Potter brothers to pass old Tom's record, the Hythe plume still fluttered in the breeze till he passed away.

Some of the activities of this old English gentleman are still fresh in memory. He could create an argument, raise it to a ringing upheaval, soothe it with poetical mirth, and leave it with his humorous smile.

SELBY AND DISTRICT SOCIETY

Fourth Annual Meeting

MEMBERS from most of the towers in the Selby and District Society of Change-Ringers attended the fourth annual meeting of the Society at Selby on January 27th.

During the afternoon the ring of ten at the Abbey was rung to various standard methods. Evensong in the Chancel was conducted by the Rev. Rowbotham, being assisted by the Rev. Pattinson (curate). A very interesting address was given by the Bishop of Selby who gave some historical details of bells of England and described the ringers as belonging to a great fellowship.

After the service, members adjourned to the vestry for the business meeting. Owing to the absence of the Rev. F. Read (president of the Society), through illness, the chair was occupied by the Rev. Rowbotham.

Presenting his report for 1950, the secretary (Mr. L. M. Woodhead) said there was a slight increase in funds on the previous year. Membership stood at 101. Meetings had been held during the year at Goole (2) Escrick, Carlton-juxta-Snaith, Sherburn-in-Elmet, Snaith and Hemingbrough, also a joint meeting with the Eastern District of the Yorkshire Association at Eastrington.

The Vicar of Selby (the Rev. F. Read) was re-elected president. Vice-presidents were elected from the incumbents of each church visited by the Society. Mr. H. S. Morley (Selby) and Mr. F. Terry (Hemingbrough) were re-elected chairman and Ringing Master respectively. The secretary (Mr. L. M. Woodhead) was also re-elected. A committee was elected composed of the chairman, Ringing Master, secretary-treasurer, together with Mr. J. J. Taylor (Goole) and Mr. J. Thorley (Thorne). Thanks were accorded to the Vicar of Selby for use of the bells, also Mr. W. Hartley (organist) and the local company for arrangements.

ANNUAL DINNER

The meeting was followed by the 4th annual dinner at the Londesborough Arms Hotel, Selby, where 63 members and friends sat down. Canon E. H. P. Rawlins, Vicar of Goole, presided, and proposed the toast 'The Church and the Ringers,' emphasising that all ringers belonged to a great fellowship. Mr. H. S. Morley responded, giving interesting details of the history of Selby and district.

Mr. L. M. Woodhead proposed 'The Society,' paying tribute to assistance given by vicars and local companies at each church visited during the year. Mr. T. H. Foster, responding, appealed to all the younger ringers and learners to master the art of change-ringing with a view to becoming proficient, and so be able to take the place of older ringers.

The toast 'The Ladies' was ably proposed by Mr. C. W. Kine (Goole) and Mrs. J. J. Taylor (Goole) responded. Mr. H. Cooper (Fishlake) proposed the toast 'The Visitors' and Mrs. Rastrick (Fishlake) suitably responded.

A beetle drive followed. Mr. and Mrs. J. Waud being prizewinners. Dancing and games were enjoyed. Mrs. W. Graves (Carlton) being the winner of 'Passing the Parcel.' The day concluded with a selection of Scottish tunes on handbells by the Selby Abbey ringers followed by a course of Grandsire Triples.

SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD

Dorchester Branch

Upwards of 100 ringers and friends from many parts of Dorset and also from the Bournemouth area attended the annual meeting of the above Branch at St. Peter's, Dorchester, on January 20th.

The Guild service was conducted by the branch chairman, Canon A. Wilkinson Markby, Rector of St. Peter's, but unfortunately, by his doctor's orders, the chairman could not take his usual place at the business meeting, as he had only partially recovered from an attack of influenza. The address was given by the vice-chairman, the Ven. J. C. Chute, Archdeacon of Sherborne, and he also conducted the meeting.

In the absence of the secretary (another influenza victim), the assistant hon. secretary, Mr. R. H. Duke, reported that membership was now 204, ringing members numbering 172. Six meetings had been held during 1950 and the average attendance was about 60. Four peals had been rung for the branch, one of them on the newly-dedicated ring of six at Piddlehinton, two at Martinstown and one at St. Peter's, Dorchester.

Branch practices had been very successful and much progress had been made in change-ringing, especially in Treble Bob Minor and Major methods.

It was hoped that restoration work would be carried out on the bells of Fordington and Preston and the new ring of eight be soon available at Cattistock (possibly Easter) while the ringers of Charminster had started a fund for the restoration of their bells at the earliest opportunity.

The branch had lost a very old member by the death of Mr. G. T. White, of Dorchester, for 55 years a member, and for some years branch Ringing Master. Branch members rang half-muffled touches on the bells of St. Peter's on the occasion of the funeral.

Branch officers were elected as follows:—Chairman, Canon Markby; vice-chairman, Ven. J. C. Chute; hon. secretary and treasurer, Mr. J. H. Hayne, Abbotshury; assistant secretary, Mr. R. H. Duke, St. Peter's, Dorchester; Ringing Master, Mr. F. Preceve, Bovington; deputy Ringing Masters, Messrs. F. B. Stedman, Wyke Regis, and E. T. P. Field, Piddlehinton.

Reference was made to Canon Markby having been at St. Peter's for 21 years and in the Ministry for 50 years and the company decided to send him their congratulations.

The following towers were represented:—Abbotshury, Charminster, St. Peter's, Dorchester, Fordington, Frampton, Maiden Newton, Preston, Sydling, Unwey, Wool, Wyke Regis and Yetminster also visitors from Bournemouth, Beaminster, Queen Camel and Stalbridge.

BARNSELY DISTRICT SOCIETY

The year 1950 proved most successful for the Barnsley District Society in doing by the report presented by the secretary at the annual meeting at Barnsley on January 13th.

The president (Mr. H. F. Moxon) was in the chair and the secretary stated that the contests for both cup and shield were successful and the dinner and annual outing were most enjoyable. The balance sheet showed a profit on the year's working.

The officials were re-elected and thanks were accorded the secretary, treasurer and auditors for their work.

Owing to the church being in the decorators' hands the service could not be held. Ringing during the afternoon and evening was in Minor, Triples and Major methods.

Towers represented were Bolsterstone, Barnby Don, Barnsley, Cawthorne, Crofton, Darfield, Felkirk, Horbury Sandal, Silkstone, Shelley, Thorne and Roston with a welcome visitor from Messrs. Mears and Stainbank.

KENT COUNTY ASSOCIATION

Canterbury District

The quarterly meeting of the Canterbury District was held at Faversham. In spite of the meeting clashing with the Rochester District's meeting at nearby Rainham the attendance was good, a gathering of 70 ringers and friends being present.

Ringings were held during the afternoon and the service was conducted by the Vicar, the Rev. E. E. Stanton, who also gave an interesting address based on the Nunc Dimittis. A collection for the Benevolent Fund realised £1 8s. 8d.

Tea was taken in the schoolroom and this being disposed of, members settled down to business. Among the matters discussed was the Festival of Britain, for which a small committee was elected consisting of Messrs. W. S. Palin, E. T. Eades and B. J. Luck.

Owing to his absence through influenza, Mr. H. R. French's comprehensive report of the committee's meeting held at Maidstone, was read and accepted. Dover was selected for the next quarterly meeting and Littlebourne for the previous by-meeting.

Four new practising members and three honorary members were elected, thus extending the rivalry between Ospringe and Wickham-breaux as to which village could secure the greatest number of honorary members.

Thanks were expressed to all the helpers at tea, to the Vicar, also the organist, Mr. G. Denyer. Further ringing was held during the evening.

Rochester District

Some 85 ringers and friends attended the service at the quarterly meeting of the Rochester District held at St. Margaret's Church, Rainham, on January 27th. The Vicar (the Rev. W. J. Jordan) conducted the special ringers' service and at the close dedicated a visitors' book specially made by the local band in memory of three of their company, Messrs. A. Edwards, K. Gasson and J. Morris, who made the supreme sacrifice during the second world war.

Tea was served in St. Margaret's Hall, the hosts being local ringers and their lady friends. This was typical of Rainham's hospitality.

The Vicar presided at the business meeting and apologies were received from Mr. G. H. Spice, Miss E. Walker and Mr. W. A. J. Knight, who were all victims of influenza but were recovering. Seven new members were elected—five from Queensborough and two from Rainham.

At the close of the meeting all present were invited to sign their names in the new visitors' book and after handbell ringing the company adjourned to the tower. In spite of an accident to the stay of the second some good ringing was enjoyed.

SURREY ASSOCIATION

The annual district meeting of the North Western District was held on January 13th at Streatham. Immanuel and St. Leonard's towers were open.

At the meeting, presided over by Mr. F. E. Collins, five ringing members and three compounding members were elected. All the 1950 officers were re-elected for 1951. A collection for the General Bell Fund realised £1 19s. 3d. The following places and dates were agreed for meetings:—Easter Monday, Kingston-on-Thames; June 23rd, Banstead; September 22nd, Esher; December 1st, Wimbledon; January 26th, 1952, Annual District Meeting, Beddington; August Bank Holiday, Rammore or Leatherhead; joint meeting with the Lewisham District, Kent Association, October 6th, Epsom.

All the officers were thanked for their past services. A vote of thanks to the Vicars of Immanuel and St. Leonard's and to the tower keepers was passed, 60 ringers being attendance.

ST. JOHN'S GUILD, HILLINGDON

At the annual meeting of the Guild, Mr. H. W. Impey was elected captain, Mr. T. G. Bannister deputy captain and Mr. A. R. Turley steeplekeeper. Messrs. F. W. Goodfellow and A. R. G. Twinn were re-elected secretary and treasurer respectively. It was decided to contribute five guineas from the funds to the memorial to the late Joseph J. Pratt, who was for many years captain of St. John's Guild.

The fourth annual supper was held at The Vine, on Jan. 26th when a company of 36 sat down to an excellent meal under the chairmanship of the Vicar, the Rev. F. C. Tyler, with whom was Mrs. Tyler. The officers and their wives supported the Vicar, and the presence of Hillingdon's veteran ringer, Mr. W. Honor, who has been attached to the tower for 67 years, was a joy to all.

The toast of 'St. John's Guild' was ably put by the chairman to which Mr. F. W. Goodfellow replied. The latter said that the Vicar had taken great interest in ringing since his induction and was now sufficiently versed not to reply as a neighbouring Rector did, when asked how his ringers were getting on. He said: 'Oh, I expect they will be banging about as usual to-night!'

Mr. Goodfellow reviewed the year's ringing and for the future said they hoped to attempt three peals in 1951, each to mark a special occasion in the parish.

The toast of 'The Middlesex County Association' was very well handled at short notice by Mr. E. Thurlow, of Pinner, deputising for Mr. W. N. Genna, who was on the sick list. The general secretary of the Association, Mr. E. C. S. Turner, responded and referred to some of the advantages to be derived from membership of the Association.

The final toast was 'The Visitors,' given by Mr. W. H. Coles in his own inimitable style, and to everyone's pleasure the reply was made by Mrs. Tyler.

Interspersing and following the toasts, there was change-ringing and tune-ringing on handbells. Mr. A. G. Bray of St. Andrew's, Uxbridge, gave an exquisite rendering of two songs. The pièce de résistance, however, was the Vicar's ditty, 'My hat, it had three corners,' the words being gradually substituted by actions.

WILLESDEN'S 250 PEALS

A footnote to a peal at St. Mary's, Willesden, recorded in our last issue states that it was the 250th peal in the tower. Mr. Alick Cutler has supplied us with the following interesting data concerning peals rung on these bells:—

The first peal, as far as records show, was one in seven Minor methods, on August 1st, 1892, conducted by C. W. Tucker, though a board in the tower records two 720's of Minor rung for the opening of the bells on February 1st, 1793, both conducted by J. Bartlett.

Twelve peals of Minor were rung up to 1913, though the bells were augmented to eight in 1912, but were not rung in peal until January 5th, 1916, when a peal of Grandsire Triples was rung, the first on the augmented eight, conducted by Mr. Harry Kilby. Since that date two other peals of Minor were rung, making 14 in all, and the remainder is made up of 21 peals of Triples, 29 Plain Major, 1 Duffield Major and 20 Oxford and Kent Treble Bob Major; 165 peals of Surprise Major have been rung in 35 different methods and 27 Spliced in all numbers from 2 to 12 except 11.

The following ringers have taken part in 50 or more of these peals:—G. M. Kilby, 178; H. Kilby, 164; C. E. Lankester, 95; A. Cutler, 76; T. G. Lock, 74; C. V. Ebberson, 60; L. H. Bowler, 56; C. W. Roberts, 50. The late J. A. Trollone rang 90; G. R. Pye 81; Wm. Pye, 66; C. T. Coles, 62. The conducting has been shared by some 36 with the late Wm. Pye heading the list with 44; J. A. Trollone, 31; C. T. Coles 25 and G. R. Pye 17. C. W. Roberts conducted 42. E. C. S. Turner 12; H. C. Skidmore and H. Kilby, 9 each.

Peals rung for the Middlesex Association total

OXFORD DIOCESAN GUILD*Bicester Branch

The quarterly meeting of the Bicester Branch was held at Islip on January 27th. The ring of six was available from 2.30 p.m. to 7.30 p.m. and were rung to rounds. Plain Bob and Grandsire Doubles and Plain Bob and Cambridge Minor.

The service was conducted by the Rev. J. Chitty (Rector of Charlton-on-Otmoor) who also preached an excellent sermon. The lesson was read by Mr. F. Sharn and the hymns were accompanied on the handbells by Mr. F. Sharpe, Mr. Edmund Pearson, Mr. J. Walton, Miss M. Cross and Miss P. Ayres.

After an excellent tea provided by mine host of the Red Lion the business meeting which followed was presided over by Mr. F. Sharpe in the absence of the branch chairman, who has been ill. The main item of this meeting was the large number of new members elected to the Guild, three honorary members being incumbents in the branch, six ladies and four gentlemen ringing members.

The next meeting being the annual meeting, was fixed for Saturday, April 7th, at Bicester. After a hearty vote of thanks to all who had contributed to make the meeting a success, the members returned to the tower.

Sonning Deanery Branch

The Sonning Deanery Branch held its annual meeting at Wokingham on January 27th. Ringing commenced at All Saints' Church at 3 p.m., followed by the service conducted by the priest-in-charge, the sermon being preached by the Rev. R. D. Weller, of Finchampstead, and the lesson read by Mr. W. J. Brooks, tower foreman at All Saints'. A choir formed by branch members led the singing.

Tea was served at the Church House and this was followed by the business meeting at which the Ven. Thorndike Shaw (branch chairman) presided. The officers were all re-elected with the addition of Mr. W. J. Brooks as vice-chairman. Eight new members were also elected. Warfield was selected as the venue of the summer meeting on June 2nd and full support was asked for the Four Guilds festival at Basingstoke in August.

Mr. W. Hibbert, Guild secretary, outlined the proposed Guild memorial to the late Canon G. F. Coleridge and also congratulated the branch on the number of young members present.

GLOUCESTER AND BRISTOL*Bristol Rural Branch

Over 50 ringers attended for tea, business and ringing at the annual meeting of the Bristol Rural Branch at Mangotsfield on January 27th.

After some touches until 4.30 and the service following (with its straightforward address by the Rev. Beard, Vicar of Mangotsfield), members sat down to a most enjoyable tea in the Vicarage. Immediately following tea the Rev. Beard presented a pair of gloves to Mr. Sears (the branch's oldest member at 92 years) on behalf of the Mangotsfield ringers, upon his retirement from active ringing, on health grounds.

When the presentation had been made all retired for the business meeting, with Mr. C. R. Harding in the chair. The secretary gave the numerical strength of the branch as 166 performing, 11 associate and seven honorary members; regarding finance, £22 was handed over to the Association treasurer from the branch for 1950.

Confidence in the branch officials was indicated by the re-election of Mr. C. R. Harding as chairman for another year, Mr. F. Skidmore as Ringing Master and Mr. N. Denson as branch secretary and treasurer. Mr. G. Nichols was elected assistant secretary for 1951. After deciding upon St. Werburgh's for February's meeting and dealing with all the other business, members retired for some more ringing—thus closing an interesting and happy meeting.

ARCHDEACONRY OF STAFFORD*Discuss Festival Ringing

A very enjoyable meeting of the Society was held at Brierley Hill on January 27th. The weather was good for the time of the year and gave no cause for anxiety to those who attended from a distance.

The church at Brierley Hill stands in a very exposed position on a hill and commands extensive views of the surrounding country, both industrial and rural. On this cold January afternoon it was gratifying to find the church and ringing chamber comfortably warm.

The service was conducted by the Rector, the Rev. T. N. Crowther-Green, who was assisted by the curate. A really excellent tea to which 51 sat down was kindly provided by the local band and it was obvious that those responsible are in the know with the right people when it comes to catering. The Brierley ringers and their ladies deserve special mention for this creditable effort.

After tea a discussion took place concerning the special ringing for the Festival of Britain. Final arrangements and suggestions will be circularised to the towers early in April. Further ringing took place during the evening, methods ranging from Grandsire to London Surprise.

The next meeting of the Society will be at Willenhall on March 31st.

DERBYSHIRE ASSOCIATION*Peak District Annual Meeting

The annual meeting of the Peak District was held at Bakewell (eight bells) on January 20th. The bells were rung during the afternoon and evening, the ringers getting in some good practice in a variety of methods.

Tea was arranged at the Wheatsheaf Hotel and the business meeting took place afterwards, there being a good attendance of members present.

The retiring chairman gave a résumé of the past year's activities and appealed for continued support during the coming year. At the election of officers he and the secretary did not seek re-election and Mr. W. Smith (Fairfield, Buxton) was elected chairman and Mr. D. Scott (Darley Dale) secretary, and the meeting wished them every success in their new offices. Mr. A. Richardson, of Buxton, was elected vice-chairman. The two committee members were re-elected, viz. Mr. Hopkinson (Ashover) and Mr. J. W. Sykes (Dore). Several new members out of the district were accepted.

A general discussion on items of interest took place and proposals made for discussion at the annual meeting of the Association at Easter.

BELLS AS TIME SIGNALS

Dear Sir,—Might I suggest that instead of Bow Bells being used as the interval signal before the news, bells from each region—North, West, Wales and Midlands, etc.—be employed for their respective regions. London would still have its Bow Bells.

For the West Region, I would suggest St. Mary's, Southampton, not that I ring at that tower, but because they broadcast very well. What do other West of England ringers think of this choice? I feel that a ring of 10 or 12 is the most suitable medium for such a signal.—Yours faithfully,

R. BUCHANAN.

Totton, Hants

MANSSION HOUSES

Dear Sir,—In 'The Ringing World' of January 19th under the heading 'Another Ringing Mayor,' Mr. W. E. Critchley states that he has been informed that there is only one other Mansion House in England. Might I inform him that there are three Mansion Houses in England, viz. London, Doncaster and York.

—Yours faithfully, H. A. SANDERSON.

Doncaster.

OBITUARIES OF THE WEEK

MR. CHARLES H. WALKER

The Lewisham band has suffered a severe loss by the unexpected death of Mr. Charles H. Walker which occurred on January 22nd. He had been a ringer at St. Mary's just over 60 years and tower secretary for about 50 and was in his 80th year.

Mr. Walker's health had not been too good for some three or four months and he last rang on Sunday, August 6th, when the bells were re-opened after being overhauled. He greeted the band at the foot of the tower on Sunday, November 26th, but did not attempt the rather long climb to the belfry and remarked to the writer that he would never again do so. This remark was not taken too seriously but, alas, proved only too true.

Mr. Walker never professed to be an advanced method ringer, but whatever he attempted he always rang well and he had rung several peals of Grandsire and Oxford Bob Triples as well as the treble to various Plain Major methods, mostly with and under the leadership of his almost life-long ringing friend, Mr. Harry Warnett, sen. (now nearly 88 and, happily, still with us). His first peal was 'Grandsire Triples, at St. John's, Erith, on September 3rd, 1892, which was a birthday compliment to him, and his last also Grandsire Triples, at Lewisham, on April 20th, 1940, conducted by Mr. H. Warnett, sen. But his chief interest was Sunday service ringing, especially so of late years.

In place of the usual practice on Thursday, January 25th, half-muffled touches of Triples were rung as a token of respect to an old and highly-esteemed colleague of the belfry and church, one of which was 1.260 Grandsire from Holt's Original: Mary Fuller (first quarter on eight) 1, K. W. Mackintosh (visitor, first quarter) 2, S. Ball 3, J. Bennett 4, E. Jones 5, J. Cannell (first quarter of Triples) 6, J. Dafters (conductor) 7, R. Boyce 8.

The funeral took place at Hither Green Cemetery on January 26th. In the unavoidable absence of the Vicar the service was conducted by the Rev. A. G. Gibson, curate of St. Mary's. Representing the local band were the past and present leaders, Mr. H. Warnett, sen. (above-mentioned) and Mr. Jack Dafters, tower keeper. Among the floral tributes was one from St. Mary's ringers which, by family request, headed those on the coffin.

Mr. Walker was of quiet, unassuming and amiable disposition, and will be sadly missed by all at St. Mary's. J B

MR. J. W. HALL

By the death of Mr. James W. Hall, of Rainford, Lancs. at the age of 76, on January 23rd, the ringers of the Wigan and Liverpool branches of the Lancashire Association have suffered a severe loss.

When Rainford bells were installed he was one of the first local ringers and conducted the first peal on the bells by the local band. Until a few years ago he was the leader of the company. He rang four peals.

Mr. Hall joined the Lancashire Association in 1904 and took a great interest in branch meetings. A wide circle of ringers will remember him for the good ringing meetings held at Rainford.

The funeral service was held on January 26th at Rainford Parish Church. In the evening the whole pull and stand was rung, the tenor striking 76 times. Afterwards a 1.260 Grandsire Triples was rung by T. Singleton 1, H. Grundy 2, H. Blackburn 3, C. Blackburn (conductor) 4, W. O. Farrimond 5, S. Cadwallender 6, W. Bagley 7, A. Lyman 8.

MR. G. H. WALTERS

Mr. George Henry Walters, of Prestbury, Cheltenham, aged 70, died quite suddenly on January 23rd, after having suffered indifferent health for some time. He was very well known in the Cheltenham District as a good ringer and conductor and had a large number of peals in most of the standard methods to his credit. He leaves a widow and family and will be sadly missed.

George was buried at Prestbury, where he had for many years been a member of the band, the bells being rung before and after the service, half muffled, in Grandsire and Stedman Triples.

His last quarter peal was in August when he came into the tower to watch the youngsters get their first quarter. We were one short, one of the lads offered to ring the tenor to allow George to have a lighter bell, but he said, 'No, this is your quarter, I will ring the tenor.' That was his way, and we loved him for it.—C.R.

MR. JOSEPH EVANS

By the death of Mr. Joseph Evans, on January 22nd, at the age of 82, Hughenden, Bucks, has lost its oldest ringing member. Up to three years ago Mr. Evans was a regular Sunday service ringer. He was also a member of the church choir for 62 years.

After the funeral a touch of Grandsire Triples was rung half-muffled by a local band.

Reciprocal Double Stedman Major, Royal and Maximus

By GEORGE BAKER

I suggest as a fitting memorial to the Father of Ringing, Fabian Stedman, and as a ringers' tribute to the Festival of Britain, that the following Major, Royal and Maximus be adopted by the Exercise.

We all know that the construction of the Stedman Principle consists of five single 3rds place bobs on all numbers from five bells upwards, but if in Major we make double bobs instead of single bobs we obtain the following method first published in 'Bell News' as long ago as August 2nd, 1913.

12536478

15263748
51236784
15376484
51372694
15736248
51763284

57136824
75318642

75836142

With 6th bell fixed and tenors together this method has a clean proof scale even if singles are used, if the 6th is shifted there is only one false course head, 126543, if bobs only are used, but if singles are used there are two extra false heads, i.e., 124635 and 125364. More about this interesting method later on.

A MODEL DISTRICT

THERE are various yardsticks by which ringers endeavour to measure the efficiency of their district.

Some measure by the number of peals or quarter peals, others by the variety of methods rung and the popularity of meetings, but there is only one real criterion—the regularity with which the bells are rung for Sunday service. That is the real test. We have in front of us a 1,500-word report of the Farnham District of the Guildford Diocesan Guild, and the most telling observation was a phrase of the Ringing Master (Mr. C. W. Denyer): 'It is with a certain amount of pride that we can report regular Sunday ringing and weekday practices in nearly every tower.'

There was an attendance of 81 members at the annual meeting of the District, held at Farnham recently, with a strong sprinkling of youth. The bells of St. Andrew's, Farnham, have the reputation, on account of their weight and 'go,' of testing the capabilities of a ringer. Perhaps some of the ringing was not of the standard of proficiency of leaders in the peal ringing fraternity, and knowledge of methods and handling heavy bells, especially to those accustomed to light rings, was not of the best. But what was there was an underlying keenness for the art, from the youngest to the oldest. At an annual meeting there should be on view the graduated scale of ringing proficiency, ranging from those tyros with only a few months' practice to those veterans of 50 or more years. The Ringing Master with his characteristic energy endeavoured to cater for all; he knew only too well their weakness and the standard of their attainments, but it was with an encouraging smile that he enthused them—with love and affection and not the stentorian voice of a sergeant-major.

Later in the day at the annual meeting, when he presented his report, he declared: 'The busiest year on record may well sum up the activities of the District during 1950. The three additional towers that were added to our strength meant three more meetings to be held, and with one exception each of the 15 churches in the district was visited. In addition there were Guild functions to attend and this means that the District has had something to attend every three weeks throughout the year.' We would here interpolate with figures supplied by the District Secretary, Mr. G. S. G. Joyce, which showed an average attendance of 52 people from 16 towers. This is out of a membership of 149 ringing and 21 honorary members. It tells its own story of the strong fraternal spirit in the District.

What is also impressive about the Master's report is the spirit of self-sacrifice that prevails in the District among the more experienced ringers. It reads: 'The thanks of the Guild and District officers are extended to those more experienced ringers who Sunday by Sunday and on every practice night forgo the pleasure of ringing a more intricate and interesting method to ring the "old familiar changes"—plain courses of Grandsire Doubles or Triples. It does get very boring at times and, with striking not too good, it tends to impatience. If the recruits are regular, very keen and really giving of the best that is in them, surely that in itself is a just reward to those who are endeavouring to further our art in the service of the Christian Church. So we ask you all to be patient with the ringers of less experience than yourself, remembering that you too were once at this stage of knowledge, and were glad of help, sympathy and encouragement.' This is real pioneer work.

The District paid its price in the fact that there were no peal successes in spite of five attempts, but there were many quarter peals. Thus the denial of the outward laurel leaves has its inward reward of the spiritual halo. The seed, however, we trust, is not sown on stony ground. Already the District is making plans for the Festival of Britain celebration, and Mr. Joyce said he wanted quarter peals rung in every tower on the opening Saturday. To this end he suggested that two expert teams should tour the six- and eight-bell towers and thus ensure that at least an attempt at a quarter peal was made everywhere. A circular letter would be sent with suggestions and towers would be invited to help each other during the period of the Festival.

A wise step was taken at the meeting of appointing for the first time assistants to the two principal officers—the Ringing Master (Mr. C. W. Denyer) and the Hon. Secretary (Mr. G. S. G. Joyce). We have known district affairs to stagnate through the illness or departure of a district secretary, and it is important, particularly where heavy programmes are planned, that efficient deputies should be ready to assist and carry on in emergencies. Mr. E. J. Bragg is the Deputy Master and Mr. R. H. Mills Assistant Hon. Secretary. Mr. R. H. Mills has also been elected to the executive committee in place of Mr. P. Eldridge. The District also shows its interest in the wider fields of the Exercise and is anxious to have a direct representative on the Central Council. Mr. W. H. Viggers, who is at present an honorary member of the Council, has been nominated as one of the Guildford Diocesan Guild's representatives.

Probably the Farnham District will not thank us for giving them the highlight of front page publicity, for, in the words of the psalmist, they 'are not high-minded,' and they do not pretend to be a model to the whole country. But they have developed a sense of vocation and we trust that the young ringers in the towers struggling to master the rudiments of the art will realise the sacrifice behind the older ringers' efforts. The leaders are men in their prime who enjoy a peal on a Saturday afternoon with the next man.

Road, E.1.

MRS. E. K. FLETCHER.

EDITOR: T. W. WHITE.

Many old members of the Exercise will be sorry to learn that Mr. Thomas Butler, sen., father of Mr. T. R. Butler, of Liverpool, is seriously ill in the Wrekin Hospital, Wellington, Shropshire.

Mr. John G. Jefferies achieved his life's ambition by ringing and conducting a peal on his 70th birthday in company with his two sons and two grandsons, making three generations. Is this a record or are there any more families who can claim a peal the same as above?

Mr. J. W. Jones, of Newport, has been indoors for weeks with bronchitis. The latest report is that he is a little better.

Another record to hand this week is 42 methods of Spliced Major 'in hand' by Mr.
George E. Feirn, Mr. and Mrs. J. Bray and Mr.
Philip Barnes. Congratulation to both bands.

Riding to work on his motor-cycle early on February 7th, Mr. Len Giles, of Wadhurst, skidded on the icy road and fractured his collarbone. He will be unable to ring for several weeks.

At Longstanton, Cambs, on February 2nd, was rung a plain course of Lincolnshire, Yorkshire, Cambridge, Superlative and a touch of London. This is the first time five Surprise Major methods have been rung at a meeting of ringers who are all resident members of the Ely Diocesan Association.

Old ringing colleagues will regret to hear of the serious illness of Mr. F. T. Wilson, of Bournemouth. Some four weeks ago he ruptured a blood vessel and was taken to hospital for an operation. He is very weak and it is the opinion of his doctor that it will be many months before he regains his strength.

In response to a query as to the oldest band to ring a tower-bell peal we are informed that this honour goes to those who rang a peal of Stedman Triples at St. Olave's, Hart Street, London, on October 21st, 1933. The total age was 612 years—an average of 76½ years. The conductor was Mr C. F. Winney.

BELFRY GOSSIP

Mr. Walter Judge and his band have established a new record in Spliced Surprise
Major with a peal in 25 methods rung at Dorchester Abbey on February 4th. This supplants
Mr. John A. Freeman's band's record of 22 methods rung at Harmston, Lincs, on November 27th, 1948.

With the peal at Leek, Staffordshire, on January 27th, Mr. A. Peake has rung Cambridge from Minor to Maximus.

Penshurst, Kent, is the eleventh tower in which Mr. T. E. Sone has 'completed the circle' (ten eights and one ten). The occasion was on February 3rd, the peal being rung in honour of the gift of his first grandchild.

Apsley End ringers demonstrated their proficiency at darts again on February 2nd by defeating colleagues from St. Albans. We assume the reason for their communication is to prove that they have not 'one-track' minds. It might even be a 'leg' pull, to use darts parlance.

Mr. P. Amos thanks the many ringers who have sent letters of good wishes to him while a patient in the Manfield Orthopaedic Hospital, Northampton. He is now in Ward 10 of Freeland Auxiliary Convalescent Hospital, Freeland,
Oxford, where he will be remaining for a month.

Two promising young ringers, are John F.
Collings (13) and Maurice A. Collings (14) who rang in a peal at Norton, Herts, on February 3rd. It was Johnnie's first peal and he did not make a single bad blow and was not spoken to once during the peal.

Mr. Cecil W. Pipe, of Grundisburgh, Suffolk, is arranging a week's tour of Yorkshire, beginning July 23rd. Ringing will take place for an hour at six towers each day. There are several vacant seats in the coach and Mr. Pipe would be glad to hear from anyone who cares to join the party.

VETERANS WHO RANG IN THE LAST CENTURY

Some Interesting Reminiscences

We have received a number of interesting letters relating to those who rang their first peal in the last century.

Mr. Alfred Barnes, of Reddish, Stockport, recalls his first peal on April 11th, 1887, on St. Albans Cathedral bells the method being Bob Triples (Hubbard's ten part). The band was Tom Grant 1, Alfred Barnes 2, John C. Mitchell 3, Walter H. L. Buckingham 4, Walter Battle 5, Geo. W. Cartmel 6, Norman N. Stills 7, Henry L. Waddington 8.

Mr. Barnes' first peal in Grandsire Triples (Holt's Original), 'in hand' was on November 19th, 1887, the company being John C. Mitchell 1-2, George W. Cartmel 3-4, Walter H. L. Buckingham 5-6, Alfred Barnes 7-8.

He adds a footnote: 'I may say we are all over 80 years of age and I fear I am the only one who still practises the Art.'

Mr. J. C. Mitchell and Mr. W. H. L. Buckingham rang the composition strictly non-conducted in the presence of two umpires. Mr. George W. Cartmel was the first to call the composition from each even pair of bells.

RANG IN 1878

Of the veteran peal ringers alive, Mr. John Edgar Smith has probably the record. He rang his first peal at Christmas, 1878, at St. Maries' (R.C.) Church, Sheffield. The peal was Grandsire Triples and the band included two of the brothers Hattersley. Mr. Smith, we are pleased to state, is still ringing. His home town is Hatfield, near Doncaster. He is now living at Winterton, Lincs.

Mr. J. W. Jones, of Newport rang 21 of his total of 535 peals in the last century. His first, Grandsire Triples, was at Caerleon, on January 12th, 1889, and was the first peal by all and the first peal on the bells. He rang six other peals that year.

There were two other ringers who rang their first peal in 1889—Mr. Adolphus Roberts, of Stoke Coventry (he is still a member of the band) and Mr. James George, of Bournemouth. Mr. George's first peal was rung at St. George's, Camberwell.

Mr. Isaac Emery, of Bromley, recalls his first peal rung at Erith on August 30th, 1890, when he was 19. It was Grandsire Triples (Holt's Original), conducted by Edwin Barnett. He was then living at St. Mary Cray and he and three others walked the nine miles to Erith and back. He is now the sole survivor of that band. Mr. Emery states that he also rang in a peal at Bromley on December 26th, 1892, with Mr. W. Fright who, he believes, is living at Hythe.

Mr. Edward H. Adams, of Warwick, rang his first peal, Grandsire Triples, at St. Mary's, Putney, on April 7th, 1890. He is now recovering from a bout of influenza, it being 60 years since he had a day in bed.

CAMBRIDGE UNIVERSITY GUILD'S FIRST

Provost W. J. Conybeare, late of Southwell Minster, and now living at Quaker Lanes, Warborough, Oxon, writes recalling his first peal of Grandsire Triples rung at Sawston, Cambridge, on April 17th, 1894. This was the first tower bell peal ever rung for the Cambridge University Guild and it was rung at the third attempt.

The ringers on this peal were G. F. Woodhouse 1, E. Banks James 2, Cyril W. O. Jenkyn 3, Rev. A. H. F. Boughie 4, Cyril E. Earle 5, Rev. C. A. Clements 6, Rev. H. Law James (cond.) 7, W. J. Conybeare 8. The Rev. G. F. Woodhouse is a vicar in Yorkshire.

At Woburn, Beds, there are two veterans, viz.—Mr. William Ernest Herbert, who rang his first peal on August 31st, 1893, at Foxearth, and Mr. H. Douglas Harris, at Woburn, on November 27th, 1897. In the last-named peal stood the late Mr. Sidney A. Avis, of Woburn, whose death took place this year.

Mr. George H. Head, of Hampton, Middlesex, rang his first peal at St. Peter's, Tunbridge Wells, on July 31st, 1896. A footnote to the peal, as it appeared in the 'Bell News' reads:—'G. Head hails from Ashford and only came to reside in this town the previous day. It was also the first peal of Mr. A. Spice, formerly of Gillingham.'

Probably the veteran ringer of Sussex is Mr. A. W. Groves, of Heene, Worthing. His first peal, Stedman Triples, was rung at Henfield, Sussex, on May 6th, 1894.

SOUTHGATE BAND

For longevity, the original Southgate band of the latter half of the last century take some beating. There are five of the members still living, writes Mr. S. Wade, of Hornsey, although Mr. H. Miller and himself are the only two active service ringers now. The band and their first peals are as follows:—H. W. Newby, Southgate, February 10th, 1896; S. Wade, Hornsey, May 22nd, 1897; A. R. Glasscock, Southgate, June 27th, 1898; W. Tegg, Southgate, November 30th, 1899; H. Miller, Southgate, January 11th, 1900.

Mr. Albert Walker, of Birmingham, rang his first peal, Grandsire Triples, at St. Mary Magdalene, Taunton, Somerset, on February 1st, 1896.

Mr. Frederick S. Price, of Beeston, Notts, rang his first peal on September 25th, 1897, at St. John's, Beeston. The peal was Bob Major, 5,184 changes, composed by Frank Hopgood and conducted by James Hutchley. He is the sole survivor of the band.

In the same year (1897), Mr. Charles Sharples, of Blackpool, rang his first peal on March 8th. It was seven 720's of Plain Bob Minor, for the Lancashire Association at Immanuel Church, Oswaldtwistle, and was the first peal on the bells.

BEDFORDSHIRE ASSOCIATION

Bedford District

The Bedford District's annual meeting was held in St. Peter's Hall, Bedford, on February 3rd and was attended by about 50 ringers. Out-of-county visitors were present from Hertfordshire and Huntingdonshire.

In his report for 1950 the secretary announced that membership had dropped slightly for the first time for many years, the figures at the end of the year being 4 honorary, 96 performing and 7 probationary members. Meetings had been better attended, however, and 18 of the 27 towers in the District had been visited. Eleven peals had been rung, including two 'in hand'; the conducting had been shared by five ringers and four youngsters had rung their first peal.

In the election of officers, Mr. Michael Stephens was re-elected secretary and Messrs. Foskett, Hilson, Jeffries and Spavins elected as committee; Messrs. Bonnet and Huckle were elected Savings Bank trustees. It was proposed to hold the next meeting at Biddenham on March 3rd. One new member, Peter Burr, of Elstow, was elected.

In addition to the vote of thanks to the clergy, organist and the ladies who had prepared the tea, thanks were passed to Mr. Kenneth Spavins for his work in connection with the Association badges.

During the afternoon ringing took place at Elstow and St. Peter's, Bedford, where a ringers' service was held, and also at St. Peter's during the evening. Methods rung included Yorkshire, Cambridge and Superlative, Double Norwich and Stedman. Handbell enthusiasts were well looked after, and Grandsire Caters, Triples and Doubles (as Keg Meg), Bob Major and several Minor methods were rung 'in hand.'

M. S.

Mr. William C. Wakley, of Paignton, Devon, rang his first peal with the St. Paul's Society, Burton-on-Trent, on November 27th, 1897. The method was Grandsire Triples.

Mr. Harry Sear, of Blechley, Bucks, rang his first peal (Grandsire Triples) at Christ Church, Epsom, on April 11th, 1898. All the band came from Kensington, it being the first peal by the St. Mary Abbots Guild. Other names of the band are worth recalling:—W. E. Garrard (cond.), W. E. Judd, A. E. Bradley, A. F. Harris, R. Charge, W. Fox and J. Judd.

Mr. Arthur G. James rang his first peal on February 5th, 1898—Stedman Triples, at Hughenden.

Mr. Harry Kilby, of 106, Lonsdale Avenue, Wembley, scored his first, a peal of Minor, on December 29th, 1898, at St. Mary's, Willesden, when there were only six bells in this tower. Unfortunately, Mr. Kilby has not been able to take an active part in ringing at St. Mary's for the past 12 months owing to ill-health.

Mr. Edwin Barnett rang his first peal, Grandsire Triples, at Crayford on May 18th, 1899, at the age of 14. He was then known as Edwin Barnett, jun..

Holy Trinity tower, Guildford, have two last century peal ringers still active. Mr. A. H. Pulling rang his first peal in October, 1899, at Hawley, Hants, the method being Grandsire Triples, and Mr. H. Hutton on December 12th, 1899, at Holy Trinity, Guildford, also Grandsire Triples.

Mr. Frank E. Pervin, of Stoke Coventry, rang his first peal on March 8th, 1900.

Mr. W. Shepherd, of Addlestone, Surrey, rang in four peals during the latter half of the 19th century. His first peal was at Withycombe Raleigh, Devon, on August 7th, 1900, the method being Grandsire Triples.

COVENTRY DIOCESAN GUILD

Social Follows Quarterly Meeting

The first quarterly meeting of the year was held at Chilvers Coton, Nuneaton, on January 20th and attended by over 60 members and friends from Allesley, Bilton, Bulkington, Harbury, Keresley, Ladbroke, Meriden, Southam, Stoke, Wolvey and the local band.

A service was conducted by the president (the Rev. R. R. P. Rigby, Vicar of Chilvers Coton) at the close of an afternoon of ringing. Tea in the Parish Hall was followed by the business meeting, the president taking the chair.

New members elected were:—Miss P. Jennings (Coton), W. E. Burnell, Miss P. Burnell, Miss E. Burnell, D. Thrush and J. Tole (Bilton), Mr. and Mrs. Holden, Miss Purkiss, Miss M. Abbott, M. Styles and D. Wall (Ladbroke), D. Parker (Allesley), B. Thompson (Berkswell) and R. Barratt (Harbury). Ratifications of elections prior to peals were made on behalf of the following:—Mrs. P. Lewington (Reading), Herbert Lewin (Hucknall, Notts), Francis Powell (Mickleton), Gerald Armstrong (Barwell) and Michael Brown (Sapcote).

Mr. F. E. Pervin gave notice of motion that he would propose at the annual meeting in April that the number of districts in the Guild be reduced to two, viz., northern district and southern district.

Votes of thanks to all at Coton who had contributed to the success of the meeting were proposed by W. A. Stote and seconded by F. W. Perrens.

Tower-bell and handbell ringing was resumed until the commencement of the social which continued until 11.30 p.m., about 200 attending. It is hoped that the Guild will benefit to the extent of about £13 by this effort.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

DOUBLE NORWICH AND 'YE RASCALLY RINGERS'

Dear Sir,—The footnote to the peal of Double Norwich rung at Grundisburgh on January 15th is wide of the mark. The method was always called 'Court Eight' by the old Norwich ringers and peals of it were rung in 1741 and 1746 at St. Michael's Coslany, Norwich, and both were published in the 'Norwich Gazette.' To the first a note says 'which was never done before,' and to the second 'being the second time it was ever rung in the kingdom.' A third was rung at North Elmham, Norfolk, by the Norwich ringers in 1758, conducted by John Chamberlain, who also, it may be remembered, called the 1771 peal which the Grundisburgh peal commemorated. This 1758 peal is described as 'the first time this peal was ever rung in England (Norwich excepted).' Another one was rung in 1774 at Downham Market, Norfolk, with five of the 1771 men taking part. William Warner conducted it, Chamberlain having died a year before.

All these peals were obviously unknown to Mr. Snowdon when he wrote his book on the method. Mr. Snowdon, on page 47, makes two statements which can hardly be correct. He says 'Barton and Lindsey, the two energetic leaders of one of the best companies Norwich possessed.' Neither of these was in the same street as Chamberlain, the conductor of the 1758 and 1771 peals (and also the Court Ten in 1769), who was undoubtedly the great driving force. I pointed this out in an article on him in your paper of December 20th 1940. On the same page, speaking of Robert Chestnutt, Mr. Snowdon says 'between 1817 and 1821 the company used to practise Court Ten at 6 a.m. on Sundays.' Now why Court Ten when they rang the peal of Court Twelve in 1817, and the company was practically intact for some years after and the conductor alive?

And that brings me to 'Ye Rascally Ringers,' quoted on the same page. When this 'poem' was mentioned in your paper a few weeks ago, I pointed out the Snowdon reference. I now find the lines appeared eleven years earlier at the least in the 'Norwich Mercury' for May 24th, 1806. A footnote says 'It brings to our recollection the same epigram on a similar occasion.' So it is more ancient than we thought! It also shows some of the information Mr. Snowdon had from Henry Hubbard was unreliable.—Yours truly,

CHARLES E. BORRETT.

Sheringham, Norfolk.

UNSELFISH SERVICE

Dear Sir,—Having followed with much interest the recent correspondence in our journal concerning the Christmas ringing, I am writing to say that I, too, wish to join the many other correspondents in resenting most strongly Group Captain Lister's remarks in his letter, attributing motives of selfish jealousy to Mr. E. H. Lewis' observations.

Those of us who know Mr. Lewis personally (I myself had the honour of being one of his pupils in Brasted tower before the war) will know that throughout his many years of service to the Exercise, all his comments and suggestions have been made with a most unselfish desire for the furtherance and good of our Art. May I respectfully suggest to Group Captain Lister that he would be much better advised to follow Mr. Lewis' example of unselfish service to ringing than to indulge in completely uncalled-for 'mud-slinging' through the columns of 'The Ringing World.'

The consensus of opinion amongst the great majority of ringers is, I am sure, that we should do all we can to further the cause of good striking, the spirit of brotherhood in our bellfries and, above all, regular service ringing of the highest and best possible standard.—Yours sincerely,

PETER N. BOND.

King Alfred's College, Winchester.

HARRY EGBY

Dear Sir,—The story of a great ringing career, from the diary of the late W. H. Fussell, has been a great pleasure to me and of absorbing interest.

But I have been greatly puzzled by the name of H. Egby which has been frequently referred to. This week's article on page 74 has, however, solved the problem. The reference to a peal of Grandsire Triples at St. Paul's, Wokingham, in 1883, led me to check up on the Oxford Guild's first 520 peals, published in 1895, where peal No. 14, the one in question, gives the name, as I suspected, of H. Egby.

Harry Egby will be remembered by the older ringers in the Reading district for he came back to ringing during the first world war after an absence of nearly 25 years from ringing. Both he and myself were members of the band at St. Giles', Reading, under the leadership of Ambrose Osborne. How well I recall his smiling face and the joy he experienced from the wonderful striking which was a feature of St. Giles' tower in those days.

I was never able to find out why he dropped out of ringing for so long a time but the remarks on the Wokingham peal referring to the shift course and the bells being put right later are a good pointer to the course of events. Some years ago while chatting over old times with Tom Newman, of Caversham, I asked Tom why he was so strict about the quality of the ringing at Caversham. His reply was, 'I rang two of my first peals with Egby at Sonning and Wokingham and the ringing was so bad that I took a solemn vow that I would never ring another bad peal in my life.' There is little doubt that Tom Newman tried to live up to that vow for a missed dodge in a peal was enough for him to set his bell and tell the ringers, 'We'll try again next week, and see if you can strike it then.'

H Egby rang 15 peals and conducted seven for the Oxford Guild between 1882 and 1890 when he rang the third bell to a peal of Grandsire Caters at St. Laurence's Church, Reading. This is the last peal of his that I have been able to trace prior to his giving up ringing but he later rang one or two more peals round about 1920 after his return to ringing.

It is a pleasure to remember my boyhood days, when I was able to ring with such stalwarts as W. H. Fussell, W. Newell, F. Hopgood, T. Newman, that prince of ringers, Canon Coleridge and last, but not least, that patient instructor to whom I owe so much, Ambrose Osborne.

W. SIMMONDS.

Hersham, Surrey.

'SUMMAT 'AS GONE WRONG'

Dear Sir,—Mr. Cook's letter must not pass without comment. No reasonable person will disagree with him when he says that the best efforts of the humble ringer are perfectly acceptable in the sight of God, and he should not worry about the fact that the 'elite' (to use his term) may frown upon his efforts. If they do, then they are being most unchristian—provided Mr. Cook's effort is his best.

Now I have had the pleasure of Mr. Cook's company at many a meeting and have rung a few peals with him. He is certainly not 'a very bad striker' and to claim in the ringers' journal that he is one is a poor way indeed of trying to win support for the argument he puts forward in his letter. Such a statement is bad for his Guild and, worse than that, bad for him.

Now come on, Jack, be honest with yourself—admit that it's a heavy bell you can't strike yet, and that summatt 'as gone wrong'!

KEN CROFT.

Southampton.

THIS RECORDING BUSINESS

Dear Sir,—In reply to a recent letter sent to you by the Rev. I. T. Page-Wood, in which he has sought to criticise my article on the misuse of recording apparatus, if I was guilty of ambiguity, I apologise; but it would appear that he doesn't acknowledge the logic of the points mentioned. It is a fact that, to many people, recorded bells are deceiving; is this consistent with the Church's teachings? Truth may be defined as 'Real.' If a thing is not 'Real' but a 'deception' it must be untruthful; and here, to support my statement, I shall refer him to the Scriptures: St. John, chap. 4, verse 24.

The act of ringing one bell or more prior to a service is a ritual not less important than many more carried out in the churches.

To suggest that my views are retrograde is most amazing. Science and modern methods of engineering have done much to make bellringing a pleasure to ringers and more pleasant to the public; hearing-aids and microphones in our cathedrals are an asset to many; I am all for these grand evocations.

If my critic thinks recorded bells are a happy substitute then, on that principle, because a church is without either organist or choir, it is right to use a radiogram in the chancel to accompany the congregation with hymns, etc. The financial aspect is a problem, I agree. But if a person presents a small 'Sanctus bell' to a church, in memoriam of some dear one, I don't think the cost would be a deal more, if as much, as a stained-glass window.

The Church must retain its dignity and not resort to monstrosities which are redolent of the fairgrounds and amusement arcades.—Yours faithfully,

J KENNETH WAGSTAFF,
Deputy Ringing Master,
St. Peter's, Nottingham.

SYNTHETIC NOISES

Sir,—In 'The Ringing World' of October 27th, 1950, the above is condemned in very strong terms. 'The Ringing World' of January 12th, 1951, states that selection for broadcast is about the highest honour that can be conferred on a tower. What difference is there whether these noises are produced as stated (in the issue of October 27th) or by the B.B.C. (January 12th)?

It was my privilege to ring for two services on Christmas Day: had our bells been used for a broadcast I should have been absent.

Thousands of ringers rang their bells on Christmas Day. Surely this was a greater performance than that given by the B.B.C. I doubt if one in a thousand tuned in with the express purpose to listen at 9.20 a.m.

For Christmas, 1951, from every steeple throughout the land, also overseas, let the bells ring at midnight and also let all members of the Christian community throughout the world assemble at their place of worship to welcome this great feast of peace and goodwill.

If this is done we may find the peace the whole world is longing for just round the corner waiting for us.

I am convinced that if the peoples of the world only knew what they wanted they could get it. The unfortunate part is they do not know what they do want.—Yours faithfully,

Bridgwater, Somerset. B. T. JEANES.

ST. BARTHOLOMEW'S, SMITHFIELD

Dear Sir,—The bells at St. Bartholomew the Less are a ring of three plus a small Sanctus bell. All three were late 14th century bells but the treble was recast by Messrs. Mears and Stainbank in 1869.

The ring of five at St. Bartholomew the Great are all by Thomas Bullisdon, a London founder at the beginning of the 16th century. They are the only complete mediæval ring of five in the country by the same founder. I took part in some ringing there over 40 years ago.—Yours faithfully,

A. A. HUGHES.

CAMBRIDGE UNIVERSITY GUILD ANNUAL DINNER

A Gilbert Thurlow Report

THIS was held in Cambridge on February 3rd. Appetites were encouraged during the day by ringing which took place at Saffron Walden and at Cambridge (the Roman Catholic Church, St. Benet's, Great St. Mary's and Great St. Andrews), at all of which places it was a joy to renew old acquaintance with both bells and people.

At a business meeting held in Great St. Andrew's vestry, Central Council members were elected in the persons of E. M. Atkins and Stan E. Darmon. Then the reprinting of the Guild History was discussed. The delightful History, printed on his own press by the Rev. B. H. Tyrwhitt-Drake in 1931 (which by the way credits H. S. T. Richardson with being Master in 1705 but doesn't say whether they rang for Trafalgar then, and W. H. J. Hooton as Master in 1621—did he ring for the Consecration of Bishop Laud that year?) being now out of date, it was decided to proceed with preparations for reprinting it together with an account brought right up to 1951. It is essential, if this valuable contribution to ringing history is to be made, that all who would like a copy (probably 6s.) should get in touch with the writer at 3, Colegate, Norwich, and do it now. Deep sympathy was expressed with Major J. H. R. Freeborn, who was prevented from attending the dinner by the passing away of his sister-in-law.

The dinner was held at the Dorothy. The president, the Rev. A. C. Blyth, senior tutor of Selwyn College, presided with his usual grace and charm.

The toast of 'The Guild' was proposed by the Very Rev. W. J. Conybeare, Provost Emeritus of Southwell, who took part in the Guild's first tower bell peal at Sawston, in 1894. Describing ringing experiences, starting with his boyhood at Barrington, he spoke most feelingly of what ringing has meant to him, particularly amongst the very many who ring bells with such loyal regularity in village and town churches about the land each Sunday. When he was Archdeacon of Nottingham he always had at least a few rounds with the ringers at each church he visited where ringing was done. Now retired, he met many ringers still in the churches where he helps.

Tim Watt, the present Master, replying for the Guild, said that achievements since the last dinner included five tower bell peals in methods up to Lincolnshire and Rutland, and Stedman Caters, five handbell peals, and 22 new members. They rang at St. Andrew's each Sunday and at Great St. Mary's with the Cambridge Youths.

He then told some borderline stories, such as that if a bell was left lying in a churchyard more than a fortnight, another parish could nab it; also that in 1840 new ropes cost 3s. 6d. each ('too bad, too bad' under his breath, from a certain guest); that Bunvan thought bell-ringing was immoral so found it safer to watch other people doing it than to indulge himself. Returning to the present, he rejoiced in the prosperity of Adelaide University Guild which founded its rules on Cambridge's, and regretted the absence of Oxford friends who had not only arranged a lunch on this very day but had also proposed that we postpone our dinner for their lunch (loud laughter). They rejoiced at having two American members, who they hoped would spread interest in the Art in their land. (On paper this makes a jolly good speech.)

Michael Harford proposing the toast of 'The Guests,' felt that more stories should be told and spoke of the sexton who, seeing a skeleton walking out of the churchyard, enquired the reason and was told 'I am going to get my teeth under the Health Service.' Later the skeleton returned and was seen going out again with a tombstone on its back. Further enquiry brought the explanation, 'I had to return for my Identity Card.'

He welcomed Canon Woodard, Vicar of St. Andrew's, and the Cambridge Youths, represented by the Master, Harry Martin, Jim Quinney and Tom Chinery, also Dennis Layton of the London University Guild, Paul Taylor, who was responsible for some of the bells they rang, and D. K. Adkins and Miss Smith, friends of members.

Feeling the call of fiction once again stronger than that of fact, he finished with the tale of the Australian town whose street names are those of birds, and where a policeman found a dead horse in Cassowary Street. In his diary he wrote: 'Found dead hoss in Cawsa . . . Corsor . . . Kaw . . .' then in despair dragged the beast into Emu Street.

Harry Martin, Master of the Cambridge Youths, replying on behalf of the guests—despite the fact that he had tried unsuccessfully to 'shed the load' of doing this—spoke of the goodwill existing between the University Guild and the Youths. The Youths had made fine strides recently and now had a ten bell band for Sunday ringing at Great St. Mary's. He had heard of a vicar nearby who thanked some ringers thus: 'It's a treat to hear your heavenly ringing—at least, it's like nothing on earth.' He said what a pleasure it was for the Cambridge Youths to see the older members of the University Guild again at such meetings.

Canon Woodard, also replying for the guests, stressed with becoming humility his ignorance of the Art, but even he had noted that some ringing seemed to have more rhythm and purpose than other ringing. Certain of his parishioners describe their spiritual life thus: 'We don't come to church, but we hear the bells ring.' He was grateful to the Guild for ringing for services at St. Andrew's, whose historic belfry he loved.

The writer having no more notepaper, speeches came conveniently to an end, and some members adjourned to Michael Stott's rooms in Sidney for coffee, whilst others are said to have rung handbells in Clare music room. Sunday ringing for those lucky enough to be still up concluded a very happy time.

WINCHESTER & PORTSMOUTH DIOCESAN GUILD

Christchurch District Annual Meeting

The annual meeting of the Christchurch District held at Christchurch on February 3rd was well attended. The Vicar of Christchurch, Canon R. P. Price, took the service in the Priory and presided at the subsequent business meeting. The Rev. J. Coutts, M.A., assistant priest of St. Peter's, Bournemouth, and a practical member of the band of ringers at that church, preached. Upwards of 50 members attended the service and meeting.

The hon. secretary, Mr. Arthur Davis, reported some disappointing attendances at meetings during 1950 and urged for improvement during the coming year. The District suffered the loss by death during the year of three members—the Rev. C. A. Philips and the Rev. R. F. Routh and also the young airman ringer of St. Peter's, Bournemouth, Mr. Percy Brayshaw, who was killed in a flying accident in March. The meeting stood in silence in tribute to their memory.

There were brighter items in the report: Sunday service ringing was being well maintained in most towers, peal activity was meeting with some success and the standard of ridging improving.

When the officers were elected some younger members accepted office. Mr. David Reed, of Ringwood, was elected chairman, Mr. Ronald Marlow a District representative and Mr. Roy Hurst became District auditor. Other officers were elected for a further term of office. Quarterly meetings were arranged for the coming year and the District accepted Southampton District's invitation to combine at Lymington, Milford and Brockenhurst for a day's ringing on August Bank Holiday. The date of the George Williams Commemoration Dinner and Bournemouth Rally was fixed for Saturday, May 5th. Ringing took place on the Priory bells in a variety of methods including Grand-sire and Stedman Cinques and Surprise Major on the back eight.

SOUTHWELL GUILD DINNER

East Retford's End of Year Ceremony

THE third annual dinner of the Southwell Diocesan Guild, held in the Pheasant Hotel, East Retford, on January 27th, proved a very pleasant social function. The number attending was smaller than in previous years. The dinner was kept as informal as possible, toasts being reduced to a minimum and speakers, taking their cue from the chairman, the Rev. H. N. Hodd (Vicar of East Retford), kept speeches short.

The Mayor of East Retford, Councillor A. F. Walker, was the guest of honour, and Mr. and Mrs. Charles McGuinness were welcome guests from the Lincoln Diocesan Guild.

The Mayor proposed the toast of 'The Church,' which was responded to by the chairman who made a few pointed remarks about ringers not attending the church services for which they called other people. He (the chairman) recommended visitors to adopt the beautiful and solemn watch night service held each year at St. Swithun's Church, East Retford, when he and his ringers combined to produce a memorable act of worship.

In that service when the bells have been rung half-muffled and then been lowered and the midnight hour struck on the tenor bell, Tennyson's famous poem, 'Ring out, wild bells,' is slowly recited as the bells are raised again in peal for the New Year.

The toast of 'The Southwell Diocesan Guild' was given by the hon. general secretary, Mr. J. W. Raithby, and replied to by Mr. H. T. Rooke. The chief point raised by Mr. Raithby was the duty of ringers to man the bells of their church for service ringing. Without proper service ringing, ringers would soon find that incumbents were chary of allowing meetings and peal attempts.

Mr. Rooke in his reply urged the setting up of a school for instructors to improve the standard of ringing in the diocese.

The last toast of the evening, 'The Visitors,' was proposed by Mr. F. W. Vernon in witty vein.

In his reply, Mr. Charles McGuinness referred to the warm ties existing between his Guild and the Southwell Guild. He also spoke of the debt of gratitude the Exercise in general owed to those who organised such functions as dinners and who, of necessity, took certain financial risks. Guilds had to have boundaries, went on the speaker, but the boundary was only a line and not an iron curtain. Dinners gave an opportunity for fellowship and (amidst laughter) the speaker made a habit of attending as many as he could.

As an antidote to speechmaking, Mr. John Segar tapped out courses and touches on handbells in various methods from Surprise Minor to Grandsire Caters and, as if to show his versatility, afterwards entertained the company to a display of thought reading.

During the afternoon the bells of the Parish Churches of East Retford and Ordsall were open to visitors and good use was made of them.

The arrangements for the dinner were admirably carried out by Mr. Kenneth Boardsall with the assistance of the local committee.

STORY OF A GREAT RINGING CAREER

DIARY OF THE LATE MR. W. H. FUSSELL—9

BEACONSFIELD EPISODE

In January, 1884, Mr. Fussell records how he and his brother Alf walked to Farnham and from thence rode to Beaconsfield with A. Batten, Batten jun., C. Chapman, C. Clarke, J. Parker and Basden. After putting up at the Saracen's Head they went up the tower (after 7 p.m. prayers) but were not successful owing to ropes slipping, etc. and he writes:—

The 2nd was the worst in the tower, the 4th about as bad; 3rd and 5th went best, while the treble rope came right out of the groove and the bell set up, stopping up completely. It was impossible to pull it off again as the rope got into such an awkward position round the stock, so as time for ringing was nearly expired we returned to the Saracen's Head, after letting the back 5 down in peal. Some trouble was experienced in getting up the tower to open the trap door so we could hear the bells better while ringing, the key of the staircase door being at the Vicarage and most of the locals didn't care to trouble the Rector by asking for them. One of them volunteered to climb up the scaffolding outside the tower, erected for some repairs. . . . He had a difficult climb because the workmen had removed the ladders (being Saturday) that the boys might not get climbing about the building on Sunday. After scrambling up some poles and ladders to the top, he had to let himself down some distance on to another part of the scaffold to get into the belfry loft and amongst the bells. . . . He had just got to the trap door when Mr. Chacey came with the key!

'At the pub we passed a pleasant evening, Parker playing the concertina, Alf and I on the handbells. We played "Darby Kelly," which went well considering my brother and I never practise tunes together. We got the Beaconsfield ringers to ring some rounds, one to each bell, which highly pleased them. The landlord—Mr. Collins—was very hospitable, giving us several mugs of ale and a cigar all round.'

They stayed till 11 o'clock and arrived at Farnham at midnight. Here they had another stop at Mr. J. Parker's house for a cup of tea, bread and cake, till 12.30. Mr. Fussell then writes: 'Chapman did not come in with us but went home straight to bed, as the night before he had been out all night, and laid in bed all Saturday till Parker called in and went to his bedroom to wake him up and come to Beaconsfield. However, he was excellent company while we were out. Parker, Chapman, my brother and I had one trap and the Battens, Basden and Clarke another. My brother and I got home 1.15 a.m. after a pleasant outing. Walked home across the fields which Batten said were in fair condition, but we had cause to wish we had taken the roadway.'

He mentions many walks to Windsor, sketching, etc., and on one occasion on his return 'called in Alf's in the evening and practised tunes on the handbells, four each, and gave Fortescue, over at the Queen of England, a livener-up with a tune outside. This was the means of us going inside and keeping it up till 2 o'clock in the morning. Pimm and Fortescue tried some lapping on the handbells and a few rounds. We agitated them to such a degree that we parted with the intention of making up a "club" to meet weekly and learn handbell ringing properly.'

A day or so after he writes: 'Called on Alf and found his children were up, with a friend. As soon as I got in they were at me with "do some bells" as they called it. This was pricking out the changes of 3, 4 and 5 bells on a slate with pencil. I had shown them the way about twice previously and they very quickly picked it up. Ethel, about eight years old, and Flora, seven, and Letty, about eight. After using the slate a little time I took down a small set of handbells and instructed them in ringing rounds, etc.'

A BIRTHDAY SERENADE

On another occasion he writes of a visit to Farnham where he met the Rev. S. F. Marshall and just as they arrived at the church met Brown, who asked them to stay awhile as there was a service of some sort on. 'We stood outside examining tombstones, etc., waiting and wondering why Parker and the others had not come, when all at once we were fairly dazed and struck with astonishment to hear five bells start off ringing. This was a little trick of Brown's, who did not let us know whether anyone was up the belfry. When we got up, Parker was equally surprised, but we finished with a 504 Grandsire Minor then went to the Duke's Head till 12.' At this time they seem to have been keen on handbells and on one occasion, 'Fortescue, New, Alf and I took them to Pimm's house and played outside his window. Afterwards went inside and continued ringing tunes and singing till 11 o'clock, it being Pimm's birthday. My fingers were very sore with so much handbell ringing.'

On another visit: 'Met Garraway, Dennett, Gould, Higgs and Udell to hear them play tunes on handbells very creditably—12 and 14 bell airs in which the chords were brought in very nicely. Since I last heard them they have improved very much. One good point in them is the fact of sticking together and keeping up practice as "Windsor Amateur Handbell Ringers' Society."

A MUFFLED 'SCRIMMAGE'

January 30, 1884. 'While out for a walk in the evening I heard Slough bells ringing with the muffles on, in memory of the late Mr. S. Elliman. After a breakdown I heard them complete a supposed 720 of Grandsire Minor which occupied them about 27 minutes at the most and yet they were ringing over 30 changes per minute. After about 20 minutes a general clash together took place but owing to the muffles it did not sound so bad. Soon after, however, the change 135246 turns up for the second time and soon after a few little scrammages took place in 4-5-6 while getting them in position, the two last treble leads were brought home nicely and rounds came up well. They finished with some Doubles half-muffled and let them down soon after 9.15, a very unusual thing for Leader to allow ringing so late in the evening.'

Next day Mr. Fussell says: 'Sent a postcard to Parker to tell him we were going to Camberwell so that Joe cannot say we have been underhand in not letting him know. Although he is a "College Youth," should like him to be with us on Saturday, as there are few so straightforward in saying what they mean. I was also pleased to hear the "Cumberlands" have been very successful this week.'

On the Saturday, with his brother Alf, he walked to Datchet and took a peal book he (Mr. Fussell) had written up, and a peal board. 'The board was a little trouble owing to the wind being so strong and blowing us about. Caught the 2.35 train and by mistake got out at Clapham Junction instead of Vauxhall. However, by means of a tram to Vauxhall Cross and another via Camberwell Road we got to the church at 4.40. Went to a coffee house and had tea and went up the tower about 5 and fixed the board. After some refreshment in a house they usually go to in St. George's Road, we began the peal about 6.50 and rang Holt's ten part in 2 hours 55 minutes, conducted by A. H. Gardam. After spending a few minutes with them we went to Walworth Road Station. French, of the "College Youths," who was outside and heard the last part of the peal, came to the station with us. With regard to the peal board, they were all pleased with it and seemed to be satisfied with the way it was written.

'After arriving at Swiss Cottage, we had some trouble in finding "Bellsiz Park Gardens." We got to Lancaster Mews about 12.20 when we saw Mr. Groom who married my brother's wife's sister. Here we stayed till 9.30 on Sunday morning, when we walked to Haverstock Hill and rang 720 Kent Treble Bob. We broke down at 300 but Hannington was determined we should get a 720 and kept ringing till 3 minutes past 11 to finish it. Then we adjourned to the Village Working Men's Club. While there we were highly amused at some readings that were going on, and some pieces of poetry were given in a most effective manner, by a Mr. Bonnick. The room was quite crowded with working men—in fact it presented a most innocent way of passing Sunday morning for such class of men and was the means, I am sure, of preventing a good deal of vice in other ways. No one was admitted to the room unless introduced by a member and had to pay 1d. for admittance.

'After dinner went for a walk of about seven miles; then, after tea, went to St. Martin's where we arrived rather late. However, a start was made for 720 Double Stedman Slow Course. This came to grief after about 500 . . . We got home by train 11.30 p.m.'

Next day Mr. Fussell set off from Slough at 1.30 and walked to Reading 'and arrived in good condition at 5.30.' After tea he went to St. Mary's and rang till 9.30 and remarks: 'I was pleased to notice several young hands coming on here in the Art. A son of Swains (about 13 or 14 years old) rang the second well in attempts at half-null ringing.'

ST. LAURENCE, READING—RULES

At this time he visited St. Laurence. Reading, and reports: 'After giving most of them a turn on the tower bells we rang the last 700 Holt's Original of Triples.' The matter of rules came up and 'some dispute arose with Wiltshire and others about fines to be imposed, and members being marked present who came late to chime on Sundays. It was resolved to write: "Members cannot expect to have their names marked if they arrive after 10.45." The service being at 11 a.m. this gives them 15 minutes' grace. With regard to the St. Laurence Society there are a great many points in their favour, being all of a most respectable position and all well-to-do young fellows. They would feel the imposing of fines an insult, and with reference to being marked present in the attendance book for the sake of a few shillings at Christmas, they would be sure to taunt each other with being there for the sake of getting the mark and such like . . .

'A peal at St. Mary's came to grief after ringing 4,000 changes and over, mostly. I expect, through Egby being excited as they were about in the last part, he would be too heated to put anyone right if they went wrong; 3 and 5 shifted and in putting them right he changed with the 4th.'

On February 9th, 1884, Mr. Fussell went to Enfield for a peal and says Gardam had received a composition from N. Pitstow a few days previously which he was anxious to call. 'Just as we finished the first part in the last Course the tenor rone came untucked at back-stroke and owing to the ropes of 7th and tenor hanging up in the holes in the ceiling, it was impossible for Barrett to ring with a single rope and "stand" was called. The peal was a 7,000 but after ringing 3 hours 6 minutes we were compelled to give up after ringing 5,056 just. The striking was really good.

'Went to the George Inn after and the sexton and local ringers joined us. The sexton, who is a baker by trade, promised to put the performance on a board with the other they rang some time ago, but we decided to start again for the 7,000 or else a peal of Stedman. I noticed that the sexton was a most jovial man and very much taken with the Cumberlands although he was a College Youth. In the tower I noticed two peals by the Junior Cumberlands. Grandsire Triples and Oxford Treble Bob, conducted by a Wm. Williams.' (To be continued.)

MIDDLESEX COUNTY ASSOCIATION

Progress of North and East District

The North and East District annual meeting held at St. Giles-in-the-Fields, Holborn, on January 27th, attracted nearly 100 members and friends, the latter coming from the Home Counties and Northants. It was unfortunate that the Rev. P. Gough, president of the Association, was unable to be present owing to indisposition and there were also other absentees through illness.

The Association's Form was used at the service held in St. Giles', the service being conducted by the Rector, the Rev. G. C. Taylor. In his address Rev. Taylor gave food for thought by referring to the Beveridge Report on the B.B.C. in so far as it deals with the broadcasting of religious services, and pointing out that one of his duties is to find and preach to converts. The report was a great detrimental act against religious organisations.

After tea the business meeting was held under the chairmanship of Mr. A. W. Coles, vice-president. Election of new members included the Rev. G. C. Taylor (honorary), Messrs. J. G. M. Scott (Cheshunt), S. Warwick (Harrow Weald) and Miss J. Midgley (London) as ringing members and W. Simmonds (Hersham) and Miss J. Cox (Southampton) as non-resident life members.

The secretary's report for the past year mentioned that seven district meetings had been held with an average attendance of 40; that the district had lost through death Messrs. C. H. Martin (Hendon), W. Pickworth (late Southgate), G. Charge (Holloway), W. H. Seabrook (Surbiton) and G. Radley (Broxbourne); that 31 ringing members and 10 non-resident members had been elected and that a total of 103 quarter peals had been rung, mainly for services, but this was eight less than the previous year.

The statement of accounts was presented and this showed that receipts had increased by £5 7s. compared with the previous statement, mainly through peal fees and the balance to be carried to the Central Fund of the Association amounting to £33 3s. 9d. The report and statement were adopted.

The district officers re-elected were:—Ringing Master, Mr. A. Cutler; secretary, Mr. T. J. Lock; assistant secretary, Mr. C. F. Neal; auditor, Mr. W. N. Genna; Messrs. Begrie, Hart and Parsons were elected representatives on the Central Committee.

A motion to hold district meetings on the second Saturday of each month was approved and a list of towers for meetings to cover the rest of the year was agreed upon. Thanks were accorded to the several incumbents and tower keepers for their part in ensuring the success of the meeting.

Ringing took place at Bishopsgate, Clerkenwell, St. Giles-in-the-Fields and Westminster.

CANTERBURY DISTRICT

Dear Sir,—I fully agree with everything that Mr. Bottrill said in his letter in the issue of January 26th. It is a pity there are not more men of Mr. Bottrill's capabilities in the Canterbury District; indeed he appears to be the lone oasis in a desert.

The Kent County Association is, we know, one of the most flourishing of the Associations and the Canterbury District has, perhaps, more members and towers than most districts, but the funny part is that Grandsire is the rule and bad striking is usual, whereas in the Ashford District Surprise methods are rung and yet their striking is miles ahead of ours.

Carry on with the good work, Mr. Bottrill; we can do with more men like you in the Canterbury District, who travel miles at their own expense to teach people like me who want to learn new methods and to get on.—Yours, etc.,

A LEARNER.

SHROPSHIRE ASSOCIATION

Annual Meeting at Shrewsbury

The annual meeting at Shrewsbury on January 27th attracted visitors from Crewe, Birmingham, Truro, Northampton, etc., the total assembly numbering nearly 50.

Standard methods up to Royal were rung at St. Mary's before adjourning to St. Chad's for Cinques and Maximus and the Association service.

Full justice was done to a most substantial tea after which the necessary business was transacted. Officers for 1951 are:—Ringing Master, Mr. E. V. Rodenhurst; deputy, Mr. F. H. Bennett; secretary, Mr. E. J. Rowe; treasurer, Mr. W. A. Farmer; Central Council Representative, Mr. G. L. Hewitt.

Presenting his report, Mr. Rodenhurst appealed for better striking this year and mentioned the Surprise Major peals at Market Drayton by local ringers.

The treasurer considered the finances satisfactory chiefly because the cost of the report was so reasonable.

It was reported that two names had been submitted for the Ringers' Roll of Honour.

'Numerous new members' suggests that recruiting is going on, to some extent at least, and the meeting closed with arrangements for 1951 meetings provisionally as follows:—Coalbrookdale, Market Drayton, Wrockwardine or Wellington, Berrington and Cound, Hodnet, High Ercall and Whitchurch.

A return was made to the tower and some members went to 'grab' Wroxeter, where the bells are seldom heard nowadays.

LLANDAFF AND MONMOUTH

'Prospects' of Cathedral Bells

A pleasing feature of the quarterly meeting of the Association at Cowbridge on February 3rd was the presence of a large number of young ringers among the company of over 60 who attended.

There was two hours' ringing in various methods before the service, which was conducted by the Vicar and enjoyed by all. The visitors were then invited to tea in the Parish Hall where their needs were ably looked after by Mr. and Mrs. Coles and their lady helpers.

The business meeting followed and was presided over by the Vicar who, before opening the proceedings, asked the members to stand in silence in memory of three members who had recently passed away—Mr. G. Wines (Pentre), Mr. A. Hawkins (Usk) and Mr. H. Baldwin (Rumney).

The secretary reported that there were some prospects of something being done to Llandaff Cathedral bells and enquiries were being made to that end.

A discussion then took place on correspondence in 'The Ringing World' on the Christmas broadcast and it was proposed by Mr. Arthur Hoare and seconded by Mr. J. W. Jones that 'this Association deprecates the terms in which a writer of a letter published on January 19th attacks Mr. E. H. Lewis and disassociates itself with it altogether.' New members were elected from Newport (All Saints), Blaenavon, Porthkerry and Cowbridge.

It was decided to leave the choice of the next Glamorgan meeting to the annual meeting which will be held at Cardiff on Easter Monday.

LADIES' GUILD

About 35 members and friends attended the annual meeting of the Wiltshire Branch at Trowbridge on January 27th. The service was conducted by the Rev. Pelly, with Miss R. Maundrell at the organ. At the business meeting Miss M. E. Richards was re-elected vice-president and Miss R. Gibbons was elected secretary and treasurer. Urchfont was chosen for the next meeting.

Ringing during the afternoon and evening ranged from rounds to Cambridge Surprise.

SOCIETY OF ROVING RINGERS

Annual Meeting and Dinner

The annual meeting and dinner of the Society of Roving Ringers was held at Birmingham on February 3rd. Ringing took place during the afternoon at St. Chad's Cathedral, Bishop Ryder's Church and Aston Parish Church, methods ranging from Stedman Triples to Cambridge Royal and Stedman Cinques.

The dinner, which was held at the Cobden Hotel, took place in the evening, the Society being honoured by the company of Mr. Albert Walker and Mr. George E. Fearn.

Mr. J. Martin Page was elected to take the chair at the third annual meeting which followed the dinner. The election of the officers for 1951 resulted as follows:—Master, Mr. Roger O. Fry; secretary, Mr. T. Mark White; treasurer, Mr. David Beveridge; recorder, Mr. Peter N. Bond. Mr. Alan Butler was elected to the Records Committee. Two propositions were before the meeting regarding the place for the 1951 tour and after much discussion the matter was finally settled. Four new applicants were recommended for membership.

The chairman thanked Mr. Walker for the hospitality of the St. Martin's Guild, Birmingham, and Mr. Fearn for all the help he had given in arranging the ringing. Mr. Walker, in reply, welcomed the Society to Birmingham and said that although he had heard of the Society, he had no idea that they were so organised until that meeting.

Further ringing took place at St. Philip's Cathedral and St. Martin's Church on Sunday.

ESSEX ASSOCIATION

On January 20th the Northern District held its annual meeting at Bocking when some 46 members attended from 15 parishes. Solemn Evensong was held in the Deanery Church conducted by the Sub Dean (the Rev. G. Rush) and an address was given by the Dean of Bocking (the Very Rev. E. Rogers).

Miss H. Snowden presided over the business meeting supported by the Dean, Sub Dean and Mr. G. Cole (churchwarden). The secretary's report on the last year showed that five meetings had been held with an average attendance of 36; 53 new members had been elected and 19 peals had been rung.

Miss H. Snowden was re-elected Master, Mr. H. A. Pratt secretary and treasurer and Messrs. H. W. Smith and G. Brendell committee members. Five new members were elected and Earls Colne was chosen for the next meeting on March 31st.

The proposal of an Association badge was fully discussed and a satisfactory show of hands agreed that badges would be welcomed and purchased. Votes of thanks were passed to the Dean and the ladies who prepared the tea.

After the meeting some members rang handbells whilst others returned to the belfry. During the afternoon and evening a large variety of methods was rung from Plain Bob to London Surprise Major.

BURES MEMORIAL FUND

Dear Sir,—Two trebles are being added at Bure's tower to complete the octave. They are being installed to the memory of Dr. Thomas Wood, D. Mus. Oxon, who was a great friend of all ringers both morally and financially.

No appeal towards restorations, etc., was ever refused by him. It was due to his lead that the augmentation was put in hand and some of his last words to me were: 'What a ...and day it will be when we hear the eight ringing out from our tower.'

It is felt that a number of people would like to be associated with this most fitting memorial. Australians also will be interested as he was the author of 'Cobbers', which earned him a high reputation in Australia.—Yours sincerely, LESLIE MILLS, Hon. Sec. and Treasurer.

GUILD of DEVONSHIRE RINGERS

Mid-Devon Branch

Favoured with beautiful weather, the Mid-Devon Branch held its annual meeting at the well-known holiday resort of Paignton on February 3rd and it was well attended, visitors coming from Buckland Newton (Dorset), Honiton Clist, Kenn, Teignmouth, Newton Abbot, Ashburton, Buckfastleigh, Dartington, Totnes, Dartmouth and Plymouth, as well as some of the local ringers. The president (Preb. E. V. Cox) and the general secretary (Mr. E. T. Taylor) also attended.

The bells, which have lately been restored, were made full use of during the afternoon, some excellent touches of Grandsire and Stedman Triples, Plain Bob and Kent Treble Bob Major being rung as well as rounds for the less experienced ringers.

A short service was later held in church, this being conducted by the Vicar of Paignton (the Rev. G. H. K. Pedley) who extended a very hearty welcome to the visitors.

After tea in the schoolroom, the usual business meeting followed with Mr. J. E. Lilley in the chair. The meeting stood in silence as a token of respect to Mr. J. H. M. Smith, of Dawlish, a member of the branch, who had recently died.

A letter was read from the B.B.C. (West Region) on the broadcast of church bells and the secretary was requested to make another enquiry on the subject.

Two non-resident life members, Miss D. M. Walden and Mr. N. B. Davis, of Piddlehinton, were elected, and it was reported that the Rev. N. F. D. Coleridge, of Newton Abbot, and Mr. F. M. Atkins, of Teignmouth, had been added to the list of resident members in the branch.

The secretary's report was adopted. The treasurer's report was also produced and adopted, this showing a slight increase in the General Fund and a decrease in the Instruction Fund.

The following officers were unanimously elected—Chairman and Ringing Master, Mr. J. E. Lilley; secretary and treasurer, Mr. A. L. Bennett; assistant secretary, Mr. W. J. Harvey; auditor, Mr. B. H. Cooper; general committee, Messrs. C. F. Austin, F. Turner and W. C. Wakley. It was also recommended that Mr. F. J. Pillar should deputise as auditor if the occasion arose.

The next meeting was fixed for April 21st at Totnes with Littlehempstone, subject to the necessary permission.

The Festival of Britain was discussed at length and on the recommendation of the secretary it was resolved to call a special meeting at some convenient centre as soon as further details were to hand.

Hearty votes of thanks were accorded to the Vicar of Paignton for the use of his bells, for conducting the service and for his able address, to the organist for his assistance and to Mr. C. F. Austin for making the arrangements. The Vicar suitably replied. Votes of thanks were also passed to the branch officials for their services during the past year.

CHESTER DIOCESAN GUILD

Bowdon, Stockport & Mottram Branch

The annual meeting of this branch was held at Stockport (St. Mary's) on January 27th when some 60 members and friends were present. There was ringing on the ten bells from 3 p.m. and at 4.30 the usual service in church was conducted by the Rector, the Rev. Canon D. H. Saunders Davies (Bishop Suffragan designate of Stockport) who in the course of an interesting address gave a warm welcome to his church.

Tea followed in a nearby cafe and after the tea the usual business meeting was deftly handled by the Rector. Reference was made to the passing of Mr. G. W. Rimmer, of Rosethorne, and Mr. J. A. Gordon, of Stockport. The statement of accounts and report for 1950

THE CONTRIBUTION OF CALL CHANGES

Dear Sir,—For over 25 years I have been a regular reader of 'The Ringing World' and yet I am not a change-ringer; probably the main reason is that I have never lived where change-ringing is practised. For over 20 years I resided in a country unblest with any rings of bells but whilst there, however, I taught myself, with the aid of Central Council literature, to prick several methods, to ring Grandsire on handbells, and I also taught a team of Girl Guides Grandsire Doubles and Triples. To do this I purchased my own handbells. In 1940 I returned to England to reside amidst call-change towers. From this you will see that I am interested in, and respect all schools of ringing as I think every conscientious ringer should do.

How is it then that so many of your contributors refer to the call-change ringing with disdain and contempt, even so far as to belittle themselves by reverting to slang terms and calling them 'stoney'?

I wonder if change-ringers would be pleased if we (call-change men) referred to them as the 'rag time ringers'? For although many change-ringers certainly know how to strike there are many more who cannot do it and the latter could easily merit that title for the whole.

Perhaps some of your contributors have forgotten that change-ringing was evolved first from round ringing and then call-change ringing and that the Church we all serve teaches us to honour our father and mother! They may also have overlooked that 'The Ancient Society of College Youths' who can rightfully claim the respect of us all, when called upon to record typical English bellringing to be broadcast to the whole world (Station Signal) they, in their wisdom, rang call-changes!

Mr. Peter W. B. Semmons says Devon 'unfortunately provides the vast majority of stoney ringers.' Personally, Mr. Semmons, I think, on the contrary, that this is most fortunate inasmuch as Devon will still be able to refurbish the yardstick of good striking when the majority of other counties have finally sacrificed that art on the altar of intricate methods. It is also fortunate that we have more rings of bells than any other county (including the whole of Yorkshire) and therefore we should (D.V.) produce more ringers worthy of the name than other counties. I would here remind Mr. Semmons that our close neighbours, Cornwall and Somerset, also have 'abundance of bells' and hundreds of excellent ringers of both categories.

All Devon ringers will, however, quite agree with Mr. Semmons's second paragraph, that, in local dialect, 'aich pale hath got 'is awn kay'.

In closing, if Mr. Semmons (and others) wish to make more converts to change-ringing from the West Country, they must first bring about a vast improvement in the striking of the average band of change-ringers, then abandon all tactless and senseless ridicule in print, and finally get rid of the last taint of that superior complex often observed in the belfry. After this, converts would come without any persuasion.

Tavistock, Devon. GEORGE C. GRILLS.

were adopted and disclosed quite a healthy state of affairs, an increase of membership, and evidence that the branch is taking its full share in the activities of the Guild.

The officers were all re-elected with the following exceptions:—President, Rev. Canon D. H. Saunders Davies; vice-chairman, Mr. T. Wilde; Ringing Master, Mr. J. A. Milner. The yeoman service of Mr. J. W. Hartley of Norbury, and Mr. A. Jackson, of Stalybridge, was referred to and is to be recorded in the minutes of the meeting. They have been service ringers for fifty years.

The meeting concluded with hearty votes of thanks to the retiring officers, and the rector, wardens, organist, local ringers and to all who had helped to make the meeting successful. A pleasing and encouraging feature of the meeting was the large number of young members present.

OBITUARY

MR. ALBERT DARNELL

London ringers and those at St. Andrew's, Holborn, will regret to hear of the passing of Mr. A. (Bert) Darnell, at Grantham on December 10th.

For over 20 years he was a regular ringing member of St. Andrew's, Holborn, and left the company in 1940 to return to Grantham, for business reasons.

A good ringer and conductor, he was ever ready to help others and his cheerful disposition won for him many friends. We hope the example set by such men will be remembered.

J. W. E.

MR. J. W. WILKINS

The death of Mr. James W. Wilkins, of High Wycombe, in his 88th year, on January 28th was briefly recorded in our last issue.

Mr. Wilkins moved to High Wycombe from Boyne Hill Maidenhead some 50 years ago and for many years he had been a member of the general committee of the Oxford Diocesan Guild. He had taken part in 28 peals on High Wycombe bells, his last being at St. Michael's and All Angels', Hughenden, on his 87th birthday.

The funeral service was held at All Saints' Church, High Wycombe, on February 2nd. In the evening the bells were rung half-muffled by the local ringers and members of the Hughenden band as a token of respect.

BELFRYMANSHIP

(Or Manners Makyth Man.)

BY R. B. MEADOWS.

BELFRYMANSHIP is defined as the Art of being 'Top Man' in the belfry. There are 'rabbits' in every tower; you need never be one of them. In fact, as a belfryman, you should seldom fail to inspire awe and respect whenever you cross the threshold. In introducing this subject I gladly acknowledge the pioneer work of S. Potter in the allied spheres of Lifemanship and Gamesmanship, and wish to explain that to compress so vast a subject as Belfrymanship into this small compass forces me, at the moment, to confine this article to what are little more than random jottings.

First, let us consider the belfryman's entry into a strange tower. The welcome is nearly always courteous: 'What would you like to ring?' Stop this nonsense with, 'Oh, I'll fill in for anything' or, if definitely aggressive at the start, 'Anything suits me. I am quite happy with Rounds, provided they are well struck.' (You know full well that for some reason they seldom are.) This draws attention to your superiority at once and puts you, as it were, 'one up.' But a warning is necessary at this point that this opening can sometimes come unstuck. The locals are not always so docile. The following exchange illustrates one possibility:—

'What would you like to ring?'

'Don't let me upset the routine. I'll just fill in.'

'Well, if you don't mind my saying so, you are the least good of those here to-night, so we had better fit in with you, hadn't we?'

Though even this drastic cutting of the knot was not the end of the matter. The visitor promptly asked for Cambridge Major, and the locals found that they did not have a band. But fortune is not always so genial when it comes to regaining the initiative.

When selecting your bell, choose a large rather than a small one. There is a theory that little bells must 'ring round' big ones. This means in practice that the little ones are, in the absence of any obvious cause, blamed for indifferent striking.

Always be on the lookout for the faults of others. You can, of course, become a Hisser. The disease is catching. One big Hisser in a band breeds several little hissers. It is a form of self-defence, the non-hissers being, as it were by definition, hissed at. When everybody hisses, the ringing will no doubt reach an acme of perfection. But then there will presumably be no need to hiss. The belfryman requires a better weapon. More subtle is the gesture of stretching out the arm and hand horizontally and making slight but majestic waves upwards or downwards. This indicates to the person at whom you gesticulate that there are slight but distinct imperfections in his striking, audible and painful to you (but not to him), which he will please adjust at once. The downward motion is the more effective, suggesting, as it does, the patting of a tolerated but misguided dog. The victim has no redress. He is probably having trouble with his bell anyway, and to retaliate by imitating the gesture will be fatal or, at best, futile. He can only try next time to lure his tormenter on to a difficult bell and pray that the rope will slip wheel.

Good striking is a matter of cohesion and mutual confidence within the band. Personalities do not dominate good striking, but only in the mess-ups. So, when the ringing becomes at all shaky, hasten the process by rasping, in the most vinegary tone you can muster, 'Watch your striking.' This commits you to nothing and can be devastating. I am thinking of trying it out on the dance floor, when things are not going well: 'Watch your dancing, dear.'

For defensive purposes an impassive countenance should be cultivated. One distinguished ringer always used to betray his mistakes by turning red in the face. This was eventually pointed out to him and, like a good belfryman, he cured it, though I believe an operation was necessary. Now he never seems to go wrong. But one defends best by attacking. Particularly in ringing on the larger numbers of bells, when (as one of the foremost exponents of Belfrymanship so beautifully described Stedman Cinques going amiss) trouble begins to spread like a wet patch on the ceiling, then is your time to act. 'You're too high,' is a fair-sounding piece of useless advice, just the means to upset the conscientious dodger, who knows exactly where he should be, but has no one to dodge with. It induces panic and adroitly shifts the blame from yourself when trouble threatens. And, since the topic of useless advice has cropped up, the purely attacking function of this must not be overlooked. It has even been used by belfryman against belfryman with good effect. If you are faced by a tough adversary who persists in remaining 'one up' and will not go wrong, tell him something that he obviously knows already, e.g., 'You're 6th place bell' or 'Two blows and lead,' or 'In slow next time.' In racking his brains for a suitably crushing retort, he will probably forget what he is doing.

When asked to call a touch, remember that you thereby become ex-officio 'Top Man.' All that is necessary is to preserve the status quo. A novice of Belfrymanship (and of conducting) once called a bob in Stedman Caters while in 4-5 and made it there himself. The ringing fired its way to a standstill, and in the ensuing discussion the novice found two culprits and argued them into accepting the blame—and in all innocence, too. Poor conducting this, but good Belfrymanship. It was myself, anyway.

Sometimes it does pay to show the white flag. This can bring enormous dividends. A sharp dispute between two members of a North Country Association over an unsuccessful touch of Double Norwich, that seemed likely to end, if not in blows, at any rate in refusal to ring together again, was once sweetly resolved by a lady member of the band, well versed in Belfrymanship, who confessed that it was all her fault. The response was electric. By the end of the evening one had asked her to stand in a peal, the other was taking her out to dinner.

One final hint on the practical aspect of Belfrymanship: close your eyes intently when dodging or assume the air of one whose attention encompasses place-making, dodging, leading and, in fact, all the bells' work at once. This gives your dodging partners the humble feeling of being interviewed in an outer office on a matter of minor importance. They will then meekly accept the blame for any clashes.

Belfrymanship is not, one need hardly add, confined to the ringing chamber. In pubs and cafés and places where they talk keep on top of the discussion. There are some who, particularly if not feeling lively or energetic, employ the Super Plain Man approach: 'I know that sort of thing is all very well, but just give me a good-going six-bell tower and some enthusiastic learners and I am quite content teaching them plain hunting.' These tactics succeed only against feeble or exhausted opposition. Several replies are available, the following being reasonably terse: 'You did say enthusiastic, didn't you?' No, the belfryman should not fight shy of theoretical discussion. Learn up the technical terms. Import 'Q Sets' into the conversation whenever a depth-charge is called for. Casual mention of 'In Course Singles,' too, can often freeze a promising discussion among weaker brethren and leave you with the field free to air your own pet views. The use of 'Grid Analysis' for this purpose is not recommended. You may be asked to enlarge upon it, and lucidity is not the most effective means of being impressive. You are trying to clear the stage, not to clear the discussion.

And now, as letters to 'The Ringing World' so incongruously conclude, good wishes to all. And may you go on making unnecessary enemies.

LATE NEWS

Mr. W. H. Shuker who had been hon. sec. retary of the Lancashire Association since 1911, died on February 14th. He served the Association with great faithfulness and had for many years been a regular attendant at meetings of the Central Council.

Mr. F. S. Wilson, of Lilliput, Dorset, wishes to thank his many ringing colleagues for kind enquiries made since his serious illness. As he will be unable to take part in any more peals he wishes, through 'The Ringing World,' specially to thank Mr. A. V.
Davis, Mrs. F. J. Marshall and Mr. D. T.
Matkin (all of Bournemouth) for the many handbell peals they have conducted in which Mr. Wilson has taken part. The total number of peals rung by Mr. Wilson to the date of his illness, December 10th, 1950, was 107, of which 64 were rung on handbells.

To the Ringers' Roll on Honour is the following addition:—Salisbury Diocesan Guild, Sydney Cousens (Warminster).

Messrs. W. A. Breckon and A. W. Coates, who rang in a peal in honour of the wedding of the Marquis of Normanby, rang in a peal in honour of his birth on August 7th, 1912, which was conducted by Mr. Breckon.

The peal at Winwick, Lancs, on February 3rd, was the second on the bells. The circle is anti-clockwise, the ropes falling in two parallel rows and the 70-foot ropes terminating in simple knots. There was insufficient rope to permit tucking up, so blisters were numerous.

Mr. A. P. Cannon, who spent his half-term break at Kettering, had the pleasure of visiting nine towers including Leicester Cathedral. 'I have now reached the Battle of Bannockburn, i.e., 1314 towers.' Schoolmaster lore coming out again!

Seven West Sussex ringers in two cars visited 14 five- and six-bell towers in Hampshire and Wiltshire during the week-end of February 10th and 11th. The tour was organised by Mr.
Norman Smith, of Chichester, and the drivers of the two cars were Miss Keys and Mr.
Stovold, of Bosham.

BELFRY GOSSIP

The Bishop of Liverpool
(Dr. C. J. Martin) joined Runcorn ringers in the belfry and rang with them after attending the special service to mark the centenary of the installation of the bells on February 4th.

Responding to a last-minute call, Mr. Harry Baguley rang his first peal at Henbury, near Bristol, on February 3rd, and earned the gratitude of the band, who arrived short.

The Rev. C. C. Cox, the popular Master of the Salisbury Diocesan Guild, has been appointed a non-residentiary Canon of Salisbury Cathedral.

The peal of Rutland Surprise Royal at Worsley, Lancs. in honour of the wedding of the Marquis of Normanby and the Hon. Grania Guinness, was preceded by rounds and queens and the firing of the bells. The conductor assures us that the firing took place before the peal and not during it.

Mr. Derek R. Judd, of Ealing, has passed, at the first attempt, the final examination of the Society of Incorporated Accountants and Auditors. He is articled to Mr. Ernest C. S.
Turner.

The bells of Evesham Bell Tower will not be available for ringing until further notice owing to Messrs. J. Taylor and Co. commencing work on the recasting, rehanging and augmenting to 12 of the present ring. It is hoped the contract will be completed by September next.

Young ringers of the Lincoln area are hoping to plan a week's tour in Northamptonshire during August on the lines of those held by the Roving Ringers. At present they are short of members and Mr. John E. Cook, of Station Road, Branston, Lincoln, would welcome enquiries from others who would like to join them.

A NEW RECORD IN SPICED RINGING

25 Methods in Surprise Major

At the historic Abbey of SS. Peter and Paul, of Dorchester, Oxfordshire, a new record in Spliced Surprise Major was established on February 4th by the ringing of a peal in 25 methods. The peal was rung for the Oxford Diocesan Guild. It was conducted by Mr. Walter F. Judge and involved 149 changes of method, the composition being by Mr. A. J. Pitman. The heartiest congratulations of the Exercise are extended to the band on a very fine performance.

Brief biographical details of the band are as follows:—

TREBLE.—Marie R. Cross, Radley, Berkshire, hon. librarian of the Oxford Diocesan Guild and hon. secretary of the Oxford City and District Branch. Has rung over 200 peals including 'silent' Stedman Triples and Cambridge Surprise Major, also peals of Spliced Surprise Major in 4, 6, 8, 10, 12, 14, 16, 18, 20 and 25 methods, all on an 'inside' bell except the 25 methods. Tireless in her efforts to teach beginners.

SECOND.—Victor J. F. Bennett, Oxford. Aged 59 years. For 26 years hon. secretary of the Oxford Society, an office he has just relinquished. Has rung 84 peals including 12,663 Stedman Cinques (record) and peals of Spliced Surprise Major in 4, 6, 8, 10, 12, 14, 16, 18, 20, 22 and 25 methods. An encyclopedia on past Oxford ringers and ringing.

THIRD.—Margaret L. Tutt, Oxford. Aged 27 years. Has rung over 100 peals (conducted 9). Peals include Spliced Surprise Major in 4, 8, 10, 12, 14, 16, 18, 20, 22 and 25 methods. One of the few ladies who have conducted a peal of Stedman Cinques.

FOURTH.—Alan R. Pink, Kennington, Oxford. Aged 45 years. Peals rung 414 (conducted 238). All tower bell peals, rung in 201 towers. Peals include one of 42 Doubles methods which he conducted. Also peals of Spliced Surprise Major in 2, 4, 5, 6, 8, 10, 12, 14, 16, 18, 20, 22 and 25 methods. One of the finest heavy bell ringers of to-day. Has 'turned in' Wells Cathedral tenor (56½ cwt.) to Surprise Royal, also Sherborne Abbey tenor (46 cwt.) to Surprise Major.

FIFTH.—Richard F. B. Speed, Harrow, Middlesex. Aged 24 years. Peals rung 172 (conducted 48). Peals include Spliced Surprise Major in 4, 16, 22 and 25 methods. Rung the 16, 22 and 25 method peals without having struck a blow in most of the methods. A coming leader.

SIXTH.—Wilfrid F. Moreton, Hereford. Aged 26 years. Has rung 243 peals (conducted 106). Peals include Spliced Surprise Major in 4, 5, 6, 8, 10, 12, 14, 16, 18, 20, 22 and 25 methods. Rang the additional methods above 14 without practice.

SEVENTH.—Frederick A. H. Wilkins, Oxford. Aged 41 years. Peals rung 247, including 12,663 Stedman Cinques (record). Also Spliced Surprise Major in 4, 8, 10, 12, 14, 16, 18, 20, 22 and 25 methods. One of those ringers who rarely make a trip.

TENOR.—Walter F. Judge, Oxford. Aged 55 years. Ringing Master of the Oxford Society. Has rung 522 tower bell peals (conducted 305). Peals include 16,271 Grandsire Caters (record), 12,663 Stedman Cinques (record). Has also rung and conducted peals of Spliced Surprise Major in 4, 6, 8, 10, 12, 14, 16, 18, 20, 22 and 25 methods. Prefers well-struck Stedman Cinques to any other method.

We hope to publish next week an account of Dorchester Abbey and its bells, written by Mr. Frederick Sharp.

BATH & WELLS ASSOCIATION Axbridge Branch

The annual meeting of the Axbridge Branch was held at Uphill on January 27th when ringers were present from Burnham-on-Sea, Wembdon, Swainswick, Weston, Bath, Locking, Weston-super-Mare, Worley, Cheddar, East Brent, Marksbury, Congresbury, Ubley, Publow, Mark Keynsham, Compton Bishop, Kewstoke and Churchill.

The Vicar conducted the service and gave an interesting address. The tea and business meeting were held at the Devonian Cafe. The meeting stood as a tribute of respect to the late Mr. W. H. Popham, of Weston-super-Mare, and to the late Mr. W. H. Avery, of Sandford, the secretary's father.

The balance sheet showed a credit balance of just over £16.

The following officers were elected:—President, Preb. C. S. L. Alford, Shipham; Ringing Master: Mr. G. Prescott, Kewstoke, hon. local secretary, E. J. Avery, Churchill. It was decided to hold the annual ringers' service at Mark on May 26th. Three new members were elected. Mr. E. E. Fisher, Congresbury, and Mr. G. Prescott, Kewstoke, were nominated as Central Council members.

A discussion took place re printing of the annual report.

The president, Ringing Master and hon. local secretary were asked to arrange a special feature for the Festival of Britain. The Ringing Master and local secretary of the Bath and Bridgwater Deaneries were accorded a welcome.

Among the methods rung were Grandsire, Plain Bob, Stedman, Double Oxford, Spliced Kent and Oxford, Cambridge and a course of London Surprise, believed to be the first time this has been rung at an Axbridge Deanery meeting.

WARMINSTER, WILTS.—On Sexagesima Sunday, 1,260 Grandsire Doubles (7.6.8 covering): E. P. White 1, Joan Kemp (14) 2, Pat McCracken (15) 3, C. N. Pearson 4, N. G. Kne (first in method as cond.) 5, G. Marsh 6, R. Tudgay 7, T. Mallard 8. First quarter 2, 3 and 6.

WELLINGTON, SOMERSET.—On Feb. 5th, 1,344 Plain Bob Major: A. J. North 1, S. N. Bristow 2, E. B. Barrington 3, D. M. Bellamy 4, W. H. Tarr 5, G. Walford (first as cond.) 6, D. T. North 7, W. G. Gigg 8. First quarter of Major for 1 and 4. Rung as a compliment to Mr. and Mrs. E. Barrington on the occasion of their silver wedding.

RUNCORN'S BELLS CENTENARY

Bishop of Liverpool's Visit

A unique service was held on Sunday, February 4th, at All Saints' Church, Runcorn, when the church was filled to capacity to thank God for the centenary of the present ring of bells. The service was arranged by the local band to commemorate the dedication of the bells installed by Messrs. Mears and Stainbank in 1851. Previously there was a ring of five bells dated 1628 and one of these five is still calling worshippers to a church in Runcorn.

It was very pleasing to the ringers when the Lord Bishop of Liverpool accepted their invitation to preach on this occasion and the Norbury Handbell Ringers (Stockport) accepted the invitation to accompany the hymns and play selections. The service was preceded by the Norbury ringers rendering Mozart's 'Life let us cherish.' During the evening they gave Handel's 'Harmonious Blacksmith' and 'Lead, kindly Light,' both with variations. Mr. James Fernley is to be congratulated on the impressiveness he and his band of twelve added to the service.

The Bishop (Dr. C. J. Martin) took for his text 'Let him that heareth say come.' That, he said, was the message of the bells repeated in his text; he spoke of bells and the variety of reasons bells had been used for from the tenth century to the present day. In conclusion, he said it had been a real treat to listen to the Norbury ringers playing their music that night.

The service was conducted by the Vicar, Canon L. S. Brasnet, M.A., assisted by Mr. J. W. Clarke, Master of the Cheshire Diocesan Guild, and attended by the chairman of the local Council with his fellow councillors.

After the service the Bishop took part in the ringing of the tower bells, following which the visitors were entertained to refreshments in the Church House, where Dr. Martin was welcomed to Runcorn by Councillor H. Goodall, chairman of the Council.

The celebrations were continued on the following evening when a fancy dress-social evening was held. The crowded attendance was well entertained by the ringers to dancing, comedy and games, refreshments being served by ringers acting as waiters, thus giving the ladies a free and easy night.

KENT COUNTY ASSOCIATION

Ashford District

A meeting was held on February 10th at Great Chart, the first there for over 25 years, attended by about 30 members and friends. The Association's service was conducted by the Rector (the Rev. R. W. Lee), the collection realising 8s. 1½d. for Association funds. The local ringers and wives served an excellent tea in the Parish Hall.

The Rector presided at the short business meeting at which nine new members were elected—three from Great Chart (including the Rector), four from Wye and two from Woodchurch.

Mr. A. J. Battin complained that no reports of Ashford District meeting ever appeared in 'The Ringing World.' so it was agreed that all meeting should be reported in future.

Further ringing took place until after 8 p.m. in methods up to Cambridge. Towers represented were Ashford, Bethersden, Folkestone, Saltwood, Smarden, Willesborough, Wye, with the local band. A much larger proportion of young ringers than usual was present—a welcome feature in this district.

DEATH OF MRS. W. A. RIDDINGTON

It is with deep regret that we record the death of Mrs. Dorothy Riddington, wife of Mr. W. Arthur Riddington, of South Wigston, Leicestershire.

VETERANS WHO RANG IN THE LAST CENTURY

Norwich Association Records

OUR list of ringers who rang in the last century has been considerably expanded this week. It contains a number of honoured and revered names in the Exercise.

Mr. N. Golden has compiled the following record from the list of resident members of the Norwich Diocesan Association:—

Mr. Percy C. Artis, of Norwich, at Fressingfield, on December 1st, 1894, Oxford Treble Bob Major.

Mrs. Charles Baker, of Winfarthing, formerly of Pulham Market, at Pulham (St. Mary the Virgin) on November 28th, 1896, Kent Treble Bob Major.

Mr. Charles E. Borrett, of Sheringham, formerly of Norwich, at Norwich, on February 23rd, 1892, Bob Minor (handbells); at Hethersett, on February 29th, 1892, Bob Minor (tower bells).

Mr. Frederick R. Borrett, of Tattersett, formerly of Pulham Market, at Redenhall, February 24th, 1894, Oxford Treble Bob Major.

Mr. John E. Burton, of Haynford, formerly of Norwich, at Norwich, on January 19th, 1893, Bob Minor (handbells); at Framlingham, on August 23rd, 1893, Bob Major (tower bells).

Mr. Frederick J. Howchin, of Norwich, at Marsham, on March 13th, 1889, Oxford Treble Bob Major.

Mr. George Howchin, of Norwich, at St. Peter's, Mancroft, on October 13th, 1890, Grandsire Caters.

Mr. Clement J. More, of Palgrave, at Diss, on December 20th, 1898, Oxford Treble Bob Major.

Mr. Albert Rough, of Aylsham, at Aylsham, on April 15th, 1895, Grandsire Caters.

IN 1885

Mr. G. W. Cartmel, of St. Albans, recalls his first, a peal of Grandsire Triples, at St. Albans Cathedral, on September 26th, 1885. Participating in this peal was another 'first,' Mr. W. H. L. Buckingham, who is still alive.

Mr. Frederick J. Tillett, now 83, still occasionally rings at St. Mary-le-Tower, Ipswich. He rang 13 peals in 1885, his first being Oxford Treble Bob Major at Coddensham, Suffolk, on February 28th. He rang Debenham tenor to 16,608 Oxford Treble Bob Major on June, 1892.

IN 1886

The following year, October 16th, 1886, was when Mr. George Baker, of Brighton, now in his 84th year, rang his first peal. It was rung at Fareham and was Grandsire Triples, being conducted by his old friend, Mr. G. Williams. His last peal was London Surprise Major at St. Peter's, Brighton, on December 14th, 1903.

Mr. F. V. Simkins, of Slough, also dates back his first peal (Grandsire Triples at Slough) to 1886. He adds that he is the only survivor of those who rang at Windsor Castle for Queen Victoria's Jubilee in 1887. He also rang there for King George V's wedding in 1893, the present King's birth and wedding, and the birth and wedding of Princess Elizabeth and the birth of Prince Charles and Princess Anne, but these were touches and not peals.

IN 1887

Mr. E. S. Ruck, of Willesborough, Kent, who has a record of service ringing from 1880 until the present time, for which he takes no credit but rather gives thanks to the One Who is the giver of health and strength, rang his first peal on January 8th, 1887. It was Bob Major.

IN 1892

Mr. Fred Dench, of Saffron Walden, Essex, rang 71 peals before 1900. His first was Court Bob Triples rung at Crawley, Sussex, on February 28th, 1892. He rang his first peal of Superlative the following year.

IN 1893

Mr. F. Hilton, of Broadstairs, joined the Heckington, Lincs, band in 1890 and rang his first peal at Swineshead, near Boston, in the summer of 1893, conducted by the Rev. H. Law James. 'I remember this peal of Grandsire Triples so clearly,' he writes. 'The ringer of the tenor stripped off everything except his trousers and halfway through the peal his belt broke and they began to slide down. The conductor yelled "Never mind your trousers, let them go."'

Mr. G. H. Williams, of Harborne, Birmingham, rang his first peal (Grandsire Triples) at St. John's, Perry Barr, Birmingham, on Whit-Monday, 1893.

Mr. Joseph E. Keen, of Newcastle-on-Tyne, rang his first peal, Kent Treble Bob Major, on August 14th, 1893.

IN 1894

Among those of 1894 are Mr. Charles Dean, of Croydon, his first peal being Grandsire Triples at Christ Church, Epsom, on June 23rd, 1894; Mr. A. Y. Tyler, of Irthlingborough, Bob Major, on September 30th, 1894, at Irthlingborough, where he is still an active ringer; Mr. George Edwards of Penshurst, Tonbridge, Kent, Grandsire Triples at Chiddingstone, on November 29th.

GRANDSIRE AT CHIDDINGSTONE

Mr. George Edwards states that the company who rang in the peal at Chiddingstone had not been introduced to any Association and it was the first peal by a local band since 1849.

They were all round ringers and the organist, Mr. James Payne, and the tenor man, Mr. James Draper, formed them into a change-ringing band, the organist being the conductor of the peal in 1849. He was then nearly blind. 'The method we rang the peal in is not much known. It puts you in a position so that you know when you lead, every bell you strike before you lead again and if you ring by this method it is impossible to have a shift course. We did not know what 6-7 up or 4-5 down stuff was until after we rang this peal and I still ring Grandsire by it now.'

Mr. Edwards adds that a few weeks after, he conducted one of the Rev. C. D. P. Davies' ten-part peals from the seventh.

IN 1895

In 1895 we have the following first peals:—Mr. Walter Perkins, of Irthlingborough, Grandsire Triples, at Irthlingborough, on September 28th.

Mr. H. Carwell, of Kingsley, Staffs, a peal of Minor (720 each of Woodbine, Oxford and Kent and four 720's of Plain Bob), at St. Werburgh's, Kingsley, on November 5th. At the age of 82 he is still a regular ringer at Kingsley.

Mr. George Andrews and Mr. Charles Clarke, Minor in seven methods (Kent Treble Bob, Oxford Treble Bob, Double Court, Double Bob, Double Oxford, College Single and Plain Bob), at Great Bentley, Essex, on December 17th.

IN 1896

Mr. S. Flint, of Maghull, Liverpool, Grandsire Triples, at Ormskirk Parish Church, on January 11th.

Mr. William Keeble, now at Severall's Hospital, Colchester. Seven 720's of Bob Minor, at Kelvedon, on February 10th, 1896. First peal on the bells.

Messrs. Frank Kirk and Fred Stubbs, of Raunds, Northants, 5,056 Bob Major, at Tichmarsh, Northants, for the Central Northants Association, on April 6th.

Mr. James Swindley, of Chester, peal of Bob Major, at Chester Cathedral, on October 10th. First peal of Major on the bells and first of Bob Major in the city on tower bells.

Mr. C. J. Gardiner, of Swindon, Grandsire Triples, at Christ Church, Swindon, on November 8th.

IN 1897

Mr. George E. Symonds, of Ipswich, rang 31 peals in the last century, his first being on February 13th, 1897, at St. Giles', Camberwell, London, being a peal of Kent Treble Bob Royal, conducted by Harold W. Davis. His first handbell peal was Bob Major, at 13, Peabody Buildings, London, S.E., on November 27th, 1898.

Mr. W. E. Judd (age 76), of Maidenhead, Berks Grandsire Triples, at Isleworth, on April 3rd, conducted by the late W. E. Garrard.

Mr. Percy H. Derbyshire, of Worsley, Manchester, at St. Mark's, Worsley, for Queen Victoria's Diamond Jubilee, Grandsire Triples, on June 22nd. Mr. Derbyshire joined the Lancashire Association on December 12th, 1896, and since then he has never missed ringing for a Christmas or the Old Year out, except when the ban was on. He rang ten peals in the 19th century and he is the sole survivor of all who participated in those peals.

Mr. James G. Rumsey, of Leiston, Suffolk, Bob Major, at St. Mary's, Debenham, Suffolk, on October 2nd.

Mr. J. J. Mawby's (Irthlingborough) first peal was on June 5th, 1897, at Irthlingborough—a peal of Kent Treble Bob Major. In this peal stood Mr. W. Perkins, of Irthlingborough, whose first peal was in 1895.

IN 1898

Mr. G. W. Moss, of Manningtree, Essex, a peal of Doubles (Plain Bob, St. Simon's, The Dream, Morning Star, April Day, St. Dunstan's and Grandsire) at Thornham Magna, Suffolk, on the old ring of five on April 13th.

Mr. E. T. King, of Weston, Bath, at Twerton-on-Avon, on November 17th, a peal of 5,056 Bob Major. Mr. G. Temple and Mr. H. W. Brown, who took part in this peal, are still living, aged 86. It was not their first peal.

Mr. George R. Newton, the well-known Liverpool ringer, started his peal career with a peal of Minor (720 each of College Single, Oxford Single and Canterbury Pleasure and two 720's each of Grandsire and Plain Bob), at Woodchurch, Cheshire, on November 5th, 1898.

On November 26th, Mr. T. Hammond, of Liverpool, rang his first peal. In this peal, Mr. Newton also stood in.

IN 1899

Mr. William T. Tucker, of Eastleigh, Hants, at St. Paul's, Brighton, on August 31st, 1899, 5,040 Stedman Triples, conducted by Mr. George Williams.

There are four survivors of Mr. Edwin J. Tyler's (Walsall) first peal. This was Grandsire Triples, at St. Paul's, Wood Green, Wadnesbury, Staffs, on December 3rd. They are Mr. Tyler, who was then 18, his brother Charles, 16, Mr. George Newbold and Mr. Thomas Cooper.

Correction

In connection with Cambridge University Society's first peal on April 17th, 1894, the ringer of the fifth was the Rev. C. E. Earle Bulwer, who is still alive in Cape Province. Mr. G. F. Woodhouse did not take Holy Orders. He will be remembered as the maker of several ringing machines and was for many years a master at Sedbergh and is now in retirement.

NEAREST ANTI-CLOCKWISE TOWER

Dear Sir,—Both 'Kewsett' and Mr. W. B. Kynaston are wide of the mark in their answers to the above question. The towers of St. Nicholas and St. Swithin, Worcester, each have a left-handed ring of six, and they are not more than 120 yards apart at the outside.

WILLIAM A STOTE.

Coundon, Coventry.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

LISTENING AND CRITICS

Dear Sir,—May I suggest that if non-ringers fail to count accurately the number of bells ringing at a given time, this may be because they are expecting a rhythm entirely alien to campanology.

A ringer hears rounds (in the words of Miss Dorothy Sayers) as 'Tin TAN din DAN bim BAM bom BO': that is, with the strong beat on the even bells. When a musician, however, wishes to imitate the sound of bells, it is more usual to find that the first 'stroke' falls on the first beat of a bar, and the strong notes are the odd ones: TIN tan DIN dan BIM bam BOM bo. It is possible that this represents the ordinary non-ringer's idea of what he is listening to, and that he becomes confused when the rhythm of the ringing fails to conform with it.

If it is essential to his appreciation of striking that the layman should be able to count the bells (and I am not sure that this is so): he will obviously be assisted by a well-marked hand-stroke pause and even striking, but even so the task is probably more difficult than your correspondents assume. The 'Bow Bells' test is not entirely conclusive; the signal has been a household noise for so long that its familiarity tells against it, and the ten-bell rhythm, involving twenty strokes, between each hand-stroke pause, is not the simplest to follow. Many people find that they cannot accurately hum or write down the notes of the chimes of Big Ben, but they are not assumed on the strength of that to have no interest in music!

Mr. Luck draws a comparison between music critics and the experienced ringer. Belonging myself to neither of these categories, I feel that despite the prejudices and shortcomings of possible individuals, musical criticism as a whole represents the honest opinion of people who spend their lives steeped in music and to whom any performance of, say, the Choral Symphony appears merely as one performance out of the dozens which they have heard. It is liable therefore to be judged by the highest standards which they know. They do not look for faults; the faults, refusing to go unregarded, hit them in the ear. It may be considered as the penalty of knowledge that they cannot comfortably close their ears to the slightest failing, and against that they get the rare and unforgettable pleasure of a performance which fulfils all their ideals. Listening to the same concert as Mr. Luck, I should share his enjoyment; but I realise that unless I make a real study of music I shall never know the thrill of recognising a unique achievement.

It is true that recognising faults does not necessarily entail condemning them outright. From a Promenade Concert a critic would exact a far higher standard than from a school orchestra, and condemn from one what would be a good effort from the other: but if he heard an orchestra which was supposed to be representative of all British music, he would be expected to judge it by the severest standards he knew. The critics of the Christmas Day broadcast have chosen, whether rightly or wrongly, to regard it as such an occasion and would doubtless have been only too glad to find more enjoyment and fewer faults.—Yours faithfully,

MARGARET D. WOOLLEY.

Bushey Heath, Herts.

OLD BOYS' PEALS

Dear Sir,—I should like to make it known that past and present members of Bedford School also have not been inactive in the field of peal ringing. Our total during the past 18 months is five, one of which being on tower bells.

We do not consider such achievements by any means exceptional, but we should like to publicise them for the benefit of those who do.—Yours faithfully,

RICHARD W. STEPHENS.

CHURCH FESTIVALS AND PEALS

Dear Sir,—For some time I have intended penning something on the lines of that written by the Rev. C. Carew-Cox in 'The Ringing World' of February 9th. The subject goes much further than as pointed out by the rev. gentleman. Most of us, when we talk of Church festivals, are apt to think only of the festivals of the apostolic saints apart from Easter, Whitsun and Christmas. A glance through 'The Ringing World,' or through any directory, will reveal that there are hundreds of churches up and down the land dedicated to saints associated with the early Church.

At my own church at Weston Favell, hardly a Sunday goes by without mention by our Rector, in his notices, of the festival days of those early saints, with the descriptions—'Bishop and Martyr,' 'Virgin and Martyr,' 'Abbot,' 'Queen and Martyr' or 'Apostle and Martyr,' as the case may be—sometimes as many as four of these are mentioned in a week. While the names of some of these may seem to many of us unimportant, if we study the dedications of our churches as we go around ringing, they not only become the centre of interesting enquiry, but go to show that there is no lack of patronal festivals for which we can ring peals.

A few months ago, much was written in these columns about St. Paulinus, St. Anthony and St. Dunstan as believed patron saints of bellringers. The festival of St. Anthony we have recently passed—on January 17th—and while we do not find many churches so dedicated, one would have thought the festival of this Abbot, if he meant anything to bells and ringers as has been stated, would have been a unique occasion for ringing peals—St. Paulinus and St. Dunstan the same.

Then we get those saints whose names are given to change-ringing methods—St. Simon, St. Clement, St. Columb, St. Martin, St. Blaise, St. Giles, St. Peter, St. Matthew and St. Nicholas. While not everyone cares for the idea of a peal of St. Clement's Minor or St. Clement's Bob Triples on St. Clement's Day, or at a church of St. Clement, a peal of St. Simon's Doubles on the festival of St. Simon and St. Jude or a peal of St. Nicholas on St. Nicholas Day, a church of All Saints (and there are many of these) could be chosen for peals in all those methods bearing the names of saints, or if towers with over six bells, the actual saint's day or the dedicational festival might be made better use of.

If ringers do not know the day of these many festivals 'The Ringing World' might help by publishing an index in advance (say monthly) of all the known saints to which our churches are dedicated. Apart from churches, there are many bells bearing inscriptions of saints. For instance I came across one at Charwelton, Northants, recently, dedicated to St. Margareta, who was a Scottish Queen, although the church itself does not bear this dedication.

In addition there are the festivals of many of our great hymn writers—what an opportunity was lost, for instance, in 1948, to have rung peals for the bi-centenary of Isaac Watts! John Bunyan, who wrote the familiar hymn, 'For he who valiant be,' was another personality whose tercentenary was commemorated in 1950. 1949 saw the 400th anniversary of the English Prayer Book, yet few ringers made this an occasion for peals. I myself took part in one, as well as one for the Bunyan tercentenary.

This year, God willing, I hope to ring one for the centenary of the S.P.G. although at the moment I am confined to hospital. There is no shortage of festivals of one kind or another for which we can ring peals if we care to look around, and so close the mouths of some of those curious people who ask: 'What are the bells ringing for? And they need not be in our own towers.'

Weston Favell, Northampton P. AMOS.

BELLS AS TIME SIGNALS

Dear Sir,—I quite agree with Mr. Buchanan that each region should have its own interval signal and for the West Region I would suggest the back ten of Exeter Cathedral; the tower is ideal for a recording to be obtained.—Yours faithfully,
E. W. BIFFIN.
Exeter.

Dear Sir,—I am inclined to support the view put forward by Mr. R. Buchanan, on page 93, re bells as time signals.

As he suggests, St. Mary's, Southampton, are an ideal peal for putting over the air. I have rung at St. Mary's myself and have also heard them broadcast. For a broadcast peal, however, isn't ten bells quite enough? For a 12-bell peal I feel that one would have to select a tower where all the bells could be distinctly heard, the essence of good striking!

Sometimes I have heard on the West Region, as a time signal, Chewton Mendip ringing either Double Norwich or Plain Bob Major, and this has seemed to me quite a change in place of Bow Bells.

I don't know much about the North and Welsh Regions, but not very long ago, for the 7.45 p.m. Sunday evening service in the Midland Region, Aston Parish Church bells were broadcast. I believe Grandsire Caters was the method and the striking was good. I would put forward Aston as a suggestion for the Midland Region.—Yours faithfully,

GORDON WALFORD.

Wellington, Somerset.

ST. PATRICK'S, NEW YORK

Dear Sir,—With reference to Mr. Duke's letter of enquiry on the bells of St. Patrick's Cathedral, New York, the following may be of interest to him:—

There is a carillon of 19 bells hung in the northern (left-hand) steeple of the Cathedral, some 160 feet above street level. The heaviest weighs 6,608 pounds and the lightest 173 pounds, and were cast in 1897 by Paccard, of Annecy, France. They are played by a hand clavier and sound out occasionally—on the high festivals of the Church, Sundays and national holidays and, speaking from memory, the base bell has a remarkably pure tone and low note for its weight.

I would add that my office overlooks the Cathedral so it would not be any great task to obtain any further information if Mr. Duke so requires.—Yours faithfully,

North Tarrytown. B. H. SWINSON.
New York, U.S.A.

JUDGE NOT

Dear Sir,—Although I agree the standard in the recent Christmas Day broadcast left much to be desired, I feel that, as a general rule, we should beware of ringers who loudly denounce the ringing of others. All too frequently one notices that there is also something lacking in the striking of these confident critics themselves!

In any case why are we so unduly perturbed about this particular broadcast? One could at least readily discern what was being rung or attempted at each of the towers concerned, but I have heard several previous broadcasts where the striking was such that this was virtually impossible.

I am equally sceptical about ringers who are so definite what type of ringing is good and what is not so good for me to listen to. Almost invariably I have found that these ringers are so hopelessly unqualified and inexperienced regarding the sound of bells that they cannot even sing, whistle, or tap on the piano or five or six handbells a simple six-score of the Stedman or Grandsire they despise, let alone call and check, by ear only, a somewhat harder touch of Triples or Major.

But perhaps I am doing our budding young 'musical experts' Messrs. J. W. Haw and F. J. Jackson, an injustice?—Yours faithfully, Liverpool. F. R. BUTLER.

LETTERS—Continued

AN OLD RINGER AND HIS PUPILS

Dear Sir,—As a humble reader of the old 'Bell News' and 'The Ringing World' and other ringing papers for the last 55 years, I must pay you the compliment of producing a most interesting paper, both for old and young readers. So far as criticising is concerned, please keep an open mind.

I have rung with a good many of our leading ringers in different parts of the country, and I could tell you of the awkward way some of them have in holding their ropes. I have met many who think it is quite beneath them to ring such humble methods as Grandsire, and I see in your recent issue that Stedman is considered to be quite in the lower group. I would like to point out to some of the young 'brass hats' that the standard of ringing to-day was obtained by years of hard work by those of us who, before the days of cycle or motor, walked many miles to various towers to introduce what was then called new-fangled stuff.

We had also to convince the Vicar that ringers were only men and members of the Church and should not be created as children and completely ignored by other Church workers. I, for my part, have concentrated first on the Vicars and have met such answers as: 'I hate the bells, they make me cry.' Also: 'I don't care whether the bells are rung or not.' I have replied that bells carry the Christian message to all, whether they attend church or chapel or have no religion at all and have often succeeded in getting the incumbent interested. I then visit the tower and set about getting the bells put in ringing order, and I can assure you that is no easy matter.

Then came the job of training the band and in this I follow the method of the late Rev. Maitland Kelly. First, to handle the bell properly without any silly attitudes, and never leaving the pupil until I was satisfied he was safe, pointing out that if he missed the sally to leave it severely alone. I believe in teaching with the bell open and most of my pupils have learnt on the prayer-bell before the service.

I then take them up the tower and show them the motion of the bells and what happens if a stay breaks and I might say that in all my 50 odd years of teaching ringers I have never had a broken stay.

The real job is to get them to use their ears as well as their sight and stand straight and also to see the whole circle of ropes. Then comes rounds and it is up to the other members to help any learner and give him a chance to ring for Sunday service, thus getting him to understand that the primary object of his tuition is to teach him to ring, if only a few rounds, for Sunday service.

I myself sat in my home tower in Devon six years after I could ring Grandsire before I had a chance to ring on a Sunday and had I not inherited ringing in my blood from my great-grandfather, I should certainly have given up all hopes.

Let all who can ring a bell in God's service be called a brother, whether call-changes or otherwise, and please put good striking before any other ringing.—Yours faithfully,

L. A. WILSON.

Wootton Bassett.

CAMBRIDGE MINOR AT WICKHAM

Dear Sir,—As conductor of the peal of Cambridge Minor rung at Wickham, Hants, on December 30th last, I am prepared to give 'Interested Listener' an 'explanation' if he (assuming that it is a 'he') will have his name published in 'The Ringing World'.

At the same time I am wondering why he did not give his name in the first instance, and can only assume that he knew quite well that he had no grounds for his accusation. He certainly could not have been an 'Interested Listener'.—Yours faithfully,

T. PAGE.

TEACHERS, EXAMINE YOURSELVES

Dear Sir,—I agree with Brian Price that rhythm is the basis of good ringing, but there are very few people indeed without a natural sense of rhythm. There is a primitive rhythm in all of us. Bad striking, therefore, in almost every case can be traced to faulty methods of instruction. The 'hard school' way of any instruction certainly must go if the general standard of striking, apart from accomplished peal-ringing bands, is to improve.

What is the 'hard school' way of instruction? I venture to suggest that it exists, or existed in the past, because few of us appreciate the principles behind all method ringing. We still teach bells to follow rather than the principles of plain hunting. Thus a young ringer who has for some considerable time been ringing the treble to Grandsire and Plain Bob was heard to say the other day that he has no idea how to bunt down in Double Norwich.

We stand behind learners ringing their first 120's of Grandsire Doubles, telling them every bell they have to strike over, and then they confess afterwards that they have no idea what a dodge is or why it is necessary!

Many learners look on a method as a collection of isolated units differing according to the bell they happen to be ringing because we have never taught them that any method is an organic whole and should be learnt as such.

I do not think it is necessary for the Central Council or any other body to draw up rules on how to teach beginners. Mr. Price should well know that teaching rests primarily on a personal relationship and the rules for so doing are to a large extent empirical. But guiding principles must be fundamental. I would suggest, therefore, that we who are teaching beginners may care to examine ourselves and see if we are teaching basic principles of change-ringing and not leading our pupils up blind alleys.

With this in mind every one of us should be able to teach learners to be good change-ringers and good strikers.—Yours faithfully, FREDERICK W. GARNER.

Horsham, Sussex.

'CANNED' BELLS

Dear Sir,—I have often pondered on the mental processes of those who tolerate and even encourage the use of 'canned' bells, and the Rev. Page-Wood's letter in your February 2nd issue has now revealed some of these. His defence, however, merely serves to remind me of those Georgian landscape gardeners who were wont to exclaim, 'What, no romantic ruins! Then let's build some!' This regrettable fakery led finally (awful warning, Mr. Page-Wood) to the architectural bottomless pit of the Victorian Gothic railway station. The sound of a grand ring of 12 bells issuing from a cote intended for one small bell is as much a sham as the neo-Gothic pinnacles on King's Cross Station and is unworthy of the House of God.

If recorded bells are to be defended as being a utilisation of modern science, why stop there? Let us have tip-up cushioned seats in church with opera glasses (6d. to hire) for viewing the 'star' in the pulpit; mount the organ console on a lift and erect snappy neon signs outside advertising forthcoming attractions. On the other hand, if we want the Church to remain true to the simple, straightforward principles of its Founder, let us scrap anything which is palpably false, a sham and a pretence. Shall we start with recorded bells?—Yours faithfully,

AIDAN J. N. BOYACK.

OBITUARY

MR. W. DENMAN

For well over 40 years a ringer at West Grinstead, Mr. William Denman died on February 2nd, aged 66.

He was captain from 1931 until some seven years ago when severe arthritis made it impossible for him to ring, although he maintained his keen interest in ringing generally up to the end.

He was a good conductor and striking was always his chief consideration. He had rung 18 peals—Kent Treble Bob Major 1, Oxford Treble Bob Major 1, Norwich Surprise Minor 1, Cambridge Surprise Minor (conducted 2) 3, seven methods (conducted 2) 4, five methods (conducted 3) 5, three methods (conducted 3) 3.

The funeral took place at Shipley on February 7th and in addition to the family mourners, the Exercise was represented by Messrs. L. Stilwell, E. R. Rapley and C. Longhurst. A course of Doubles was rung on handbells over the grave immediately after the committal service.

C. L.

MR. G. WINES

The death of Mr. G. Wines, of Pentre, Rhondda, at the age of 82, severs another link with a past generation of South Wales ringers. He was one of the foundation members of the St. Peter's (Pentre) Society of Change-Ringers and for over 20 years their treasurer.

A former miner, he was for the past few years afflicted with one of the dreaded chest diseases due to his occupation. This did not prevent him taking an active part in ringing as long as possible and to the last he maintained his enthusiasm by regularly reading 'The Ringing World'.

A man of genial and generous disposition, he was highly respected by all who knew him. As a ringer his standard was of the highest and he never lost an opportunity of urging learners to improve their striking and practise new methods.

He helped the St. Peter's Society to become one of the foremost ringing societies in Wales, being one of the band who rang the first peal of Erin Triples in Wales; the first for the old Llandaff Diocesan Association of Stedman Triples, Oxford Bob Triples, Kent and Oxford Bob Major, Double Norwich and Superlative Surprise by a local band.

Although not an ambitious peal-ringer, he rang over 30 peals, mostly on St. Peter's bells. He served as Master of the Llandaff and Monmouth Diocesan Association during 1936.

Mr. Wines was a sound churchman, a regular communicant, chorister, sidesman, member of the C.E.M.S. and the Men's Institute, ever ready to serve in anything concerning the welfare of the Church. And so passes another ringer whose sterling qualities and example will not be forgotten by his many friends.

After his funeral 504 of Stedman Triples were rung on the bells of St. Peter's by the following:—H. Crabb 1, J. Lovett 2, W. Palmer 3, R. Brabham 4, J. Evans 4, J. Edwards 6, F. Lasbury (conductor) 7, W. Roberts 8. H. C.

WIDECOMBE-IN-THE-MOOR

Dear Sir,—Further to my letter published in 'The Ringing World' dated November 17th, 1950, and subsequent correspondence, I have been in touch with the secretary of the Widecombe ringers, who has personally inspected the bells.

It seems that while the date of the fifth bell is incorrect in the Church Guide book (from which I obtained my information) and is, in fact, 1633, the inscription on the third bell reads:—'Robart Hamlyn, sonne of John Hamlyn, Chitteleford, T.P. 1632, gathered of the young men and mayds, fyftene Pounds'; this giving rise to my supposition that the 'fyftene pounds' was the cost of the bell.—Yours faithfully,

M. J. HORSEMAN.

Nailsea, Bristol.

STORY OF A GREAT RINGING CAREER

DIARY OF THE LATE MR. W. H. FUSSELL—10

Edited by ERNEST MORRIS

While in London Mr. Fussell continues:— Sunday, February 10th, 1894. I walked to Haverstock Hill and rang a 720 Bob Minor. I went to Hornsey in the evening and rang some Grandsire and Bob Doubles for 6.30 service. Titchener and Harrington failed to turn up—a very unusual thing for them to miss the second Sunday in the month at this church. We could not ring after service owing to a death opposite the church. G. Griffin had made arrangements to go to Wood Green Church. We got there at 7.30 and as the people came out we rang. The calling was left to me and after a few attempts we rang three six-scores Bob Doubles followed by two of Grandsire. Only call-changes are rung at Wood Green but the men are very pleasant and very much inclined to change-ringing. A six-bell band could be well formed here.

Next day Mr Fussell went to Westminster to see Bradlaugh get into Parliament! He then returned to Slough and his diary has many personal items of much interest and sometimes amusing. For instance: 'Alf sent for me in the evening just as I was going to a dance. When I went to his house Woodley and a friend from Datchet were there. This friend was about to buy a set of handbells. We played several tunes to him on Alf's set of twenty bells and I think my brother is to get him a set on trial. The fellow seemed rather a green one and might easily be taken in.' ... 'had two Valentines—ugly ones of course and very laughable.'

A CUMBERLANDS' DEBATE

Mr. Fussell later went to London again and at St. Martins-in-the-Fields met Baron Cox, Hopkins, Mansfield, Newson, Swan, Dains, Hovard and others. 'Had the third bell to my first touch of Stedman Caters. Later returned to the "Green Man," the Cumberlands' house of call in St. Martin's Lane. While at the meeting some animated discussion arose with Dains, Baron and Newson respecting a peal of Treble Twelve on the 27th March next. From what I can learn, it's jealousy among the older members of the Society—the subject was brought forward at a previous meeting. Mr. Newson was instructed to get a band together and at once wrote to the service members asking them to make up the band early and ring the peal in the afternoon if possible. Most of them declined at once saying they could not lose the time to get away. This surprised me as on a day like this the Society ought to do their very utmost to score the peal and not drive the meeting off until the evening. When Newson found this was the case he immediately arranged to practise at St. Sepulchre's, Snow Hill, on Mondays and to meet at St. Martin's earlier on Fridays.

'While I was in the tower an excellent six courses were rung. This fairly opened some of their eyes and now the young band have got so far, the elders want to stand in the peal and not come to the practices. Dains and Baron seemed much put out and made some nasty remarks.'

Turning to March 27th in the diary we read: 'To-day is the anniversary of the 12,000 Oxford Treble Ten rung at St. Leonard's 100 years ago. Newson and his band met to ring a peal of Treble Twelve in, but after ringing nearly three hours they broke down, although the striking was excellent (He then gives the names.) Poor Newson looked very bad when he came down and seemed much disappointed at failure. However when he heard the other band of older members were not coming he was pleased and made up a band for Treble Ten. This 5,000 started for later on was most successful and well struck—it was not finished much before eleven in the evening—I went away after hearing two and a half hours at ten o'clock. I went to the "Conqueror" in the afternoon and evening and had touches of Grandsire Triples on handbells. Mr. Haley, whom I saw for the first time, and Mr. Wood came in and several members of the College Youths, who praised the ringing.

'I had been up in the belfry and among the bells which are awkwardly packed together. There is scarcely room enough for anyone to move about amongst them. The two trebles are hoisted at the top of all, in fact the place is dangerous to get about in. In the ringing room are three handsome peal boards, more especially the College Youths' tablet. The board recording the Cumberlands peal is at the bottom of the tower forming a lobby entrance to the church. The treble man's name was scratched off, evidently by someone bearing animosity. Mr. George Marriott (aged 72), the Cumberlands' oldest ringer, was married in this church fifty years ago in May next. He was with me hearing this peal. Curiously enough, too, the wife of the steeplekeeper was confined of a son, their first-born, in the afternoon after the bells had been on just an hour. I persuaded Banham to have him called Harry Leonard when christened, in commemoration.'

The next evening a dinner was partaken of at the 'Green Man' when about forty sat down. A programme was arranged by the secretary and printed, cards being given to all present. Handbell ringing, singing, etc., and a Mr. Ireland, the Master, was there, wearing the medal. Extension of licence was granted till 2 a.m., and before we were fairly out it was 2.30 a.m. ; —I got home at 4 a.m. after a weary walk.

'ON A SEAT'

'I cannot guess how Newson got on, going all the way to Hampstead. He mentioned that after ringing the peal yesterday evening they made a long night of it, and after leaving the "Conqueror" at midnight he had to walk home. He certainly got part way but at 6 o'clock on Friday morning he was woke up by a policeman and the question put to him, "Do you know where you are?" to which George replied, "On a seat," which was quite true. Going up Hampstead Hill he sat on a seat to rest a little and went to sleep. So much for the night after the peal—rather fresh for him as the weather was cold, though dry. I caught a bad cold standing about hearing the ringing.'

Going back in the diary to February 16th the same year. Mr. Fussell gives an account of his visit to Enfield new church of St. Mary Magdalene, where a peal of Kent Treble Bob Major was rung in 3 hours 19 minutes (in which he rang fifth). The composition was one of Dains' and rung for the first time, and the peal the first on the bells, although seven attempts had been made at various times. He gives the figures thus:—

23456	M	B	W	H
26354	2	—	—	1
42563	2	—	1	2
52643	—	—	2	1
52436	—	—	—	1
64235	2	—	1	1
43526	—	—	—	1
53246	1	—	—	1
45236	1	—	2	—

Repeated.

Mr. Fussell adds: 'It appears Dains sent this to Reeves for insertion in the "Bell News." He wrote back to say Pistow had sent the very same peal some time previous, but he had not published it.'

QUEER HAPPENINGS

Mr. Fussell's next peal was at St. Mary's, Staines, 5,088 Kent Treble Bob Major composed and called by G. Newson. He says: 'On pulling up some of the bells we found they did not go so well so gave the bearers some lard. It was the first peal on the bells which went terrible. Sometimes three or four of them would drop down all at once and at other times go up and pull you off your feet. All at once you had to pull like mad just when they began to go quite nicely. We all complained about blisters and glad when the peal finished. We then went to the meeting house and rang handbells. Mr. Parker and Woodley were there, having heard the last hour's ringing.

'All went home by train except Wingfield Meadows who had made up his mind to walk home—a distance of about 18 miles. It would be quite 3 o'clock in the morning before he would get home. Poor fellow, he is none too well off in money matters, but he would not let anyone buy him a ticket. He had an old pair of shoes with him and some "tommy" as he called it, to feed on the way, and a rough night to walk too!

'On getting out at Datchet, Parker lost his rail ticket, and after a good deal of jabber with the collector, paid the fare again. While he was waiting for the receipt he found his ticket and demanded his money back. It was not the amount so much as the man's insinuating way of hinting he did not have one. However, the man would not take the ticket nor return the fare.

'Wished Woodley goodnight at the end of Pocock's Lane, and further along the road I found a lady's jacket spread out on the footpath. Parker and Alf were on in front but did not care to have anything to do with it, so I carried it home. Wished Parker goodnight at Upton Park, nor did I envy him his further walk to Farnham. It was then past 12—I cannot help but think what strange things happen to ringers when they are out—queer things too!

AND A QUEER CHARACTER

'Wingfield Meadows' walk to London after leaving us at Staines was not a very appropriate proceeding. He mentioned that on his way through London, when he passed any ringer's house he always knocked them up, sometimes as early as two or three o'clock in the morning. Several times he roused Stackwood and when Stack asked what he wanted. "Oh, I've rung another peal, Stack," was all the answer, and on he walked, and in the distance he could hear Mrs. Stackwood asking what ringers wanted that time in the morning, and then the window would go down with a bang.'

Later he writes: 'Wingfield Meadows is about the queerest customer I have ever seen for a ringer. He came to St. Leonard's (Shoreditch) eating fried sliced potatoes, his pockets filled with chunks of bread, and for about an hour before going for the peal was continually feeding. A strange object he looked in his usual slouching style and slovenly dress. He is certainly very eccentric in many ways and mostly calls for a "pot of water" when he visits a beerhouse. He rode to St. Martin's on a bicycle, and a wretched thing it was too. The indiarubber tyre of the front wheel was tied on with about twenty pieces of string. The proper handle he broke off 2 o'clock one Sunday morning in coming a cropper over the handles. This was replaced by a piece of gaspipe; and the way he rides the thing is most comical. He gets on by means of a lamp-post!'

While at Rolfe's (Windor) Mr. Fussell signs his Will and adds that one of the witnesses was a very talkative fellow named Layton who turned out to be a ringer. 'During the evening he referred to the Staines peal (not knowing I was one of the band) that it took three hours and a half, and that it was in that new London system of ringing. This Layton was a native of Staines and could remember the old church well when it was entirely covered with ivy.'

STAGE ADAPTATION OF A METHOD—STEDMAN

Dear Improvers.—We promised a further word about Calls in Stedman Doubles; so we'll take this first.

Calls in Stedman Doubles. We have seen that, in general, to extend the plain course of a method, the Conductor calls for a variation of the plain Link, between two Divisions. He thus introduces either a 'Bob' Link or a 'Single' Link, in place of the plain one. We also saw that in Stedman Doubles the Single is the only call that is necessary. Since calls are normally made only at Links in a method, there are, strictly speaking, only five places in Stedman Doubles Plain Course where the first of the two requisite Singles may be introduced, i.e., to be effective at one of the five Division-heads. Since these come in the middle of Quick sixes, the calls may be considered as coming within a Quick six. But in practice, calls in Stedman Doubles are also made, sometimes, at the Division-Junctions, i.e., in the middle of Slow sixes. Reference to figure 8 in Instalment 21 will make this clear. This procedure is not unique, for calls are made (for specific objects, it is true), sometimes at Division-Junctions in hunt-controlled methods, also. This occurs in 'real reversed' and 'real double' methods. In the former cases, the calls are removed from the Links to the Junctions, i.e., from front to back (for example as in real reversed Grand-sire), and in the latter cases the calls are made at the Junctions as well as at the Links, i.e., both back and front (for example as in real Double Norwich). However, in Stedman Doubles, the Single is made by the bells in 4-5 lying still for one whole pull. This causes the bell just out of the front work to make 4ths place and re-enter the front work as it left—with a dodoe before and after the place, of course. And it causes the bell dodging in 4-5 down to make 5ths and become the bell dodging in 4-5 up, again. To sum up, if the call is made (as normally) at the Link, the bells in 4ths and 5ths positions simply find themselves changed over at the 'go-off' from the new Division-head. (Learning to call comes later.)

Before proceeding to the higher stages of Stedman, we turn to some further general considerations of method structure, which, at this point, will be helpful in understanding 'Stage Adaptation' of methods, and thus of how the extension of Stedman comes about.

Stage Adaptation. In Instalment 19 we gave a table of names of the Stages of the rings of bells. It will not be difficult to understand that most methods may be adapted for ringing on various stages. The stage in which the method is first conceived or designed we call the 'Basic.' Adaptations of the method to higher stages are known as 'extensions,' and to the lower stages as 'contractions.' Although some methods, for example, Stedman and Plain Bob and Grand-sire, are adaptable for all stages, yet normally methods are capable of stage adaptation only 'by two's,' that is to say, only in the stage group, odd or even, of their basic forms. Strictly speaking, there is only one admissible form of adaptation from the basic to any other given stage. Such form is produced on a mathematical basis and is known as 'Theoretic.' In certain cases, where the theoretic adaptation does not provide ringers' conventional requirements, that is to say where it is not what we call 'Ideal,' modifications to the mathematic form have sometimes been introduced in order to obtain those conventional requirements. This gives rise to a 'Version' of the extension or contraction. Such versions are, in the main, unworthy of the name of the basic method. But it is still an unresolved question as to whether, in the absence of the Ideal, the 'Proximate' or nearest obtainable modified version to the theoretic form, should not be preferred to the more divergent forms often practised. Two notable examples are Double Norwich Royal and London Royal, but there are many others. At this point we may usefully consider a little elementary analysis of the Grid itself.

Grid Variation. If a basic method is adapted to some other stage obviously its grid must be varied in size—it must expand or contract as the case may require. As we saw in the previous paragraph the grid variation will normally proceed by the addition or subtraction of two units, or bells. For example a basic Major method would have its grid expand by two columns to Royal and contract by two columns to Minor. In methods of the hunt-controlled class the rows also, of the grid, expand or contract in proportion to that of the columns.

Columns and Rows in Pairs. We have already learnt that any change-row is formed from its preceding row by a permutation, that is by an arrangement of 'transits'; and by transit we understand the mutual exchange of position of a pair of neighbouring units, or bells. Thus the transit operation requires two columns and two rows to accommodate it, i.e., to include the four squares of the grid occupied by the changing units. (These squares are usefully known as a 'Box.') It follows that columns and rows may conveniently be considered in pairs. A pair of rows is known as a 'Section' of the grid, though in Treble Bob methods a Section expands to include four rows. A pair of columns is known as a 'Twin-column.' In an odd-numbered stage there will be, of course, an odd column over. This is known as the 'Unit' column. We can now proceed to a means of identifying columns and rows of the Grid.

Object of Grid Notation. Such identification is possible through a system of grid notation, and you may recall that we have already referred to it, in Instalment 19, in fact. Here, you may justifiably ask two questions: 'What is the object of this notation?' and 'Why introduce the subject at this juncture?' To the first we reply—Without such a notation of a generic kind we should be forced to refer to columns and rows by serial numbers, and these vary from grid to grid. Those who have attempted discussions of extension and have, perforce, used such serial numbers have sometimes fallen into some strange conclusions. If space permitted obvious examples could be quoted. Grid Notation is universally applicable, the designation of any given column, row or grid-square remaining constant for all stages of a method. To the second question we reply—In our study of methods we shall find several features common to all, and any attempt at analysis will demand some such notation. We shall use it, in fact, to conclude our discussion of Stedman. Our object is to be able to show beyond question the nature of the relationship not only to one another of the sundry stages of each method we are to examine, but also of those features which are common amongst the methods themselves. We would also reply that practice is based on theory and that this part of our discussion is in the nature of the essential marriage of the two, for the intelligent training of a good ringer.

Column Notation. Examination of the grid patterns of methods in general, and of the various stages of particular methods, will reveal the fact that certain features of design recur throughout in specific positions—particularly in the first or left-hand Twin-column, in the Unit column, if any, and in the last or right-hand Twin-column, of the Grid. In brief, in grid variation the position-content of the 'outside' Twin-columns remains undisturbed. Accordingly, in an extended stage, the newly-added Twin-column finds a position 'inside' the grid—somewhere between these two 'fixed' Twin-columns. Appropriate conventional symbols may therefore be fixedly assigned to these outer

PUBLICATIONS

'CHURCH BELLS AND RINGERS OF NORWICH,' by A. G. G. Thurlow, 5s. 6d. post free from the author, St. Clement's Rectory, 3, Colegate, Norwich. An account of the bells of one of England's most historic cities, well illustrated with plans, cross sections and pictures. Second edition, much improved; no increase in price.

By arrangement with the Oxfordshire Record Society the author has for sale a limited number of reprints of 'THE CHURCH BELLS OF OXFORDSHIRE.' Volume I. was published last year; Volume II. will be published early next month. The two remaining volumes will be published (DV) at yearly intervals. Anyone requiring the complete work (four volumes), price 10s. 6d. per volume, as they are published, please communicate with Mr. Frederick Sharp, Derwen, Launton, Bicester, Oxon. 8367

MISCELLANEOUS

ANY MALE RINGERS interested in a week's ringing tour by coach (no peals) in the Shrewsbury area, starting from Sussex, write:—O. Sip-petts, 10, Three Bridges Road, Crawley, Sussex. 8428

Twin-columns. For the first (or left-hand) we take the first letter of the alphabet—'A,' and for the last (or right-hand) we take the last letter—'Z.' For a Unit column we assigned the letter—'U.' For any other Twin-columns we assign letters according to the nature of the grid pattern therein. If the work is akin to that of the 'A' column we give the next available letter at the initial end of the alphabet, i.e., 'B,' 'C,' etc., but if the work is akin to that of the 'Z' column we give the next available letter at the terminal end of the alphabet, i.e., 'Y,' 'X,' 'W,' etc. The individual columns of each Twin are distinguished by the small letters 'o' and 'e' according as to whether they are odd or even, counted from left to right. A 'U' column is always 'o,' of course. These features will be illustrated in a Stedman diagram, next time.—Cordially yours.

DORCHESTER ABBEY

Where the Peal of Spliced Surprise Major in 25 Methods Was Rung

By FREDERICK SHARP

SOME nine miles to the south-east of Oxford, near the junction of the River Thame with the Thames, lies the ancient town of Dorchester, famed for its historical associations and for its unique Abbey Church. Here, in the first half of the seventh century, St. Birinus, the 'Apostle of Wessex' as he is often called, preached to the West Saxons; and here Cynegils, their king, was afterwards baptised.

In Roman times Dorchester had been a fortified town, and, after the baptism of Cynegils, was given to St. Birinus to be his cathedral city. He became the first bishop circa A.D. 634. Later in the seventh century the See was removed to Leicester; it was re-established at Dorchester in the middle of the tenth century, only to be transferred again circa 1075, this time to Lincoln. The old Cathedral was then converted into an Abbey, and so continued until the suppression of the monasteries in the sixteenth century. Part of the Abbey Church, dedicated to St. Peter and St. Paul, belonged to the parishioners, and had been used by them as a parish church for centuries. This naturally escaped the fate of the monastic buildings; but the preservation of the monastic portion of the church is due to the generosity of Sir Richard Beauforest, who purchased it for £140 about the year 1554 and gave it to the parish.

No portion of the Cathedral of St. Birinus and little, if indeed any, of that built in the 11th century by Bishop Eadnorth remain. The present Abbey Church dates chiefly from the twelfth and fourteenth centuries; it is noted (inter alia) for its irregularity of shape, for the splendour of the arcades on both sides of the choir, and for the beauty of the sanctuary. This was extended eastwards at the end of the Decorated period of architecture, and contains three large windows, dating from that period, and remarkable by reason of their tracery not being confined to the upper portions of the windows but continued throughout the whole, and also because additional ornaments in the form of sculptured figures have been added to the tracery. On the north side of the sanctuary is the famous 'Jesse' window in which the unique features already mentioned are utilised to form the branches of a genealogical tree, depicting the descent of our Lord: on the north side are the very beautiful fourteenth century sedilia and piscina. The western tower was rebuilt in the seventeenth century, but contains some earlier windows then reinserted.

The tower contains a ring of eight bells, with a tenor 45½ inches in diameter, in E natural, weighing approximately 16 cwt. The bells are far-famed for their tones, and are in many ways unique. They have been so well cared for that, with the possible exception of one bell and in spite of extensive use, all the original castings made for the ring have been preserved. An inventory, made by the Commissioners of Edward VI., states that in 1552 the church possessed: Item a lych bell. Item 2 bellys. Item a saunce bell. Of these, the lych bell, a small handbell rung in front of funeral processions, and the saunce have disappeared. The 2 bellys, now the seventh and tenor of the ring, are fortunately as sound as they were in the days of the Augustinian Canons.

The oldest bell is the tenor, a fine-toned example from the mediæval foundry at Wokingham. This bell bears the inscription:

PROTEGE BIRINE QVOS CONVOCO TV SINE FINE

in the beautiful lettering introduced by the owners of that foundry, circa 1350. Between each word is a crowned stop, and each letter is surmounted by a crown. In addition to the usual Wokingham foundry marks, the lion's head, trefoil, crowned cross, and reverse of a groat, the bell bears the figures of a dragon and a horse. The bell dates from the second half of the fourteenth century, and has the merit of being inscribed with the name of its donor, Ra(l)f Rastwold, who died in 1383. He probably gave the bell to Dorchester Abbey during his lifetime.

The next oldest bell is the seventh, which is generally considered the finest-toned bell in the ring. It dates from the last quarter of the fourteenth century, and is a product of the Exeter foundry. Its lettering and founder's marks show that it was cast by one of the predecessors of Robert Norton, who placed on it the inscription:

PETRE : TVIS : APERI : DA : PAVLE : TVIS : MISERERI.

The fourth, fifth and sixth are the work of Henry Knight I., of Reading, and are chiefly remarkable for the pre-Reformation character of their inscriptions. They were cast not from mediæval moulds as the guide books would have us believe, but in the wording of the inscriptions of the fifth and sixth it would appear that the spirit of the Canons of Dorchester had survived until the early years of the seventeenth century; these two bells are inscribed respectively in mixed Gothic lettering:

SANCTA TOMA ORA PRO NOBIS 1606

VIRGINIIS EGREGIE DICAR CAMPANA MARIA
1591 HK.

The date 1591 marks the augmentation of the number of the bells in the ring to three; they were increased to five in 1603, to six in 1651, and to eight in 1867 when the treble and second were added by Messrs. Mears and Stainbank, who also installed the present oak bell-frame. In 1936 the bells were rehung in the existing frame and new gear supplied by Mr. Richard White, of Appleton. With the exception of the fourth, all the bells retain their canons.

There is a local tradition that no snake can live within the sound of the tenor; this is commemorated in the rhyme:

Within the sound of the great bell

No snake nor adder ere shall dwell.

Dorchester bells are very familiar to members of the Oxford Diocesan Guild and to visiting ringers from kindred societies. Many are the peals which have been rung on them in the past, but none so laudable as that completed on February 4th, 1951, when, as reported in our peal columns last week, a peal of Spliced Surprise Major in 25 methods was scored by Mr. Walter F. Judge and his band on these famous bells.

In connection with the Central Council's visit to Chester at Whitsuntide, Mr.
R. G. Edwards, of 70, Mount Road, Higher Tranmere, Birkenhead, has undertaken to be responsible for making arrangements for peal attempts. All those who wish to take part in peal attempts should communicate direct with him stating dates and methods preferred.

The peal of Plain Bob Major at St. Paul's, Bedford, on February 6th, contained 5,008 changes and no 5,088 as published.

Mr. Richard Dale, of Horsham and Feering, died on February 17th. He rang his first peal at Horsham—Oxford Bob Triples—on January 31st, 1885. He was over 90 years of age.

Mr. Samuel Pinder, of Old Basford, Nottingham, is to be congratulated on his performance during the peal of Yorkshire Surprise Major rang at Thurcaston, Leics, on the eve of his 70th birthday. The peal was rung without any of the 'first-timers' having had previous practice in the method.

Mr. B. H. Swinson, of North Tarrytown, New York, informs us that the old bob five part and irregular two part peals of Stedman Triples published in 'The Ringing World' on January 31st, 1941, are false. The basic round blocks from which all three peals were obtained are true and the falseness arises through the misapplication of the 'shunting singles.'

Considerable publicity has been given to the comments of the Rev. M. W. Bulstrode at the annual meeting of St. Michael's Church, Framlingham. He is quoted as saying: 'Our efforts to get a band of bellringers is a struggle. There is plenty of enthusiasm among visiting ringers, but if we have got to a stage when bells cannot be used to call people to church on Sundays, then it appears wrong to use them for the entertainment of bellringing enthusiasts on weekdays.'

BELFRY GOSSIP

Another success was achieved by Mr. G. E.
Feirn and his band by a peal of 46 Spliced Major methods 'in hand' involving 341 changes of method. This was a landmark in the ringing careers of Mr. Feirn and Mr. Jack Bray, being their 200th peal together. By a coincidence it was the 50th peal together by Mr. Philip Barnes and Mr. Feirn.
Their next objective is a peal in 50 methods.

Mr. George W. Ternbury, a valued member of the Cumberland and North Westmorland Association, died on January 12th.

Which is the largest town in Britain that possesses no ring of bells or a chime? An Aldershot reader who addresses this query to
'The Ringing World' suggests Bognor Regis.

We regret to learn of the death of Mr. Charles H. Sone, of Linton, Kent. An appreciation of his services to ringing will appear in our next issue.

The handbell peal of three Minor methods for the Midland Counties Guild at Leicester, and published on page 102, was rung on January 20th and not January 13th as submitted to us.

Holy Trinity Cathedral, Guildford, ringing chamber has been redecorated by Mr. H.
Hutton, who has been a member of the company for more than 50 years, as a thank-offering for his recovery from a serious illness some two years ago. The gift is deeply appreciated by the ringers.

Mr. R. C. H. Connolly, of Watford, contributes a general interest article on Bell Ringing to the Eastern Electricity Board magazine. He gives this advice to visiting ringers: 'Don't compare other people's bells or style of ringing in any way that can cause offence. It is the best they have to offer you and in any case you have probably gone into their tower uninvited.'
Mr. Connolly apparently is not a 'Belfryman.'

NORWICH DIOCESAN ASSN.

South Norfolk Branch

Sixty-one ringers and friends from 30 different parishes in Norfolk, Suffolk and Essex attended the annual meeting of the South Norfolk Branch at Diss on February 10th.

Various touches were rung until 4.30 when the service was conducted by Canon Appleton, Rector of Diss, assisted by the Rev. E. Taylor (curate), the Rev. F. E. Vokes (Forncett), and the address given by the Rev. A. Gilbert G. Thurlow, Precentor of Norwich Cathedral.

Tea, in the Corn Hall, was followed by the business meeting. Mr. W. L. Duffield presided, supported by Canon Appleton (vice-president), Rev. A. G. G. Thurlow (general secretary and treasurer), Mr. Nolan Golden (Ringing Master), Rev. F. E. Vokes, Rev. E. Taylor, Mr. E. Whitling (Branch Ringing Master), Mr. A. G. Harrison (branch secretary) and Messrs. E. G. Bennett, C. E. G. Banham, W. G. Saunders, F. C. Roper, A. Lock and F. C. W. Phillippo (members of the committee).

The officers of the branch were all re-elected and it was decided to hold the next meeting at Pulham St. Mary on May 5th. Dr. Paul H. A. Jonason, of East Harling, was elected a ringing member and Mr. Frank Stenson of Crewe, a non-resident life member.

The meeting deeply regretted the absence of the president, the Rev. A. St. J. Heard (an influenza victim), and best wishes for a speedy recovery were passed at the meeting.

Mr. Golden proposed the votes of thanks to all who had assisted the branch during 1950, and to the Rector of Diss and all who had helped to make the meeting so successful. The members then retired for more ringing during the evening.

RECORD PEAL OF SPLICED SURPRISE MAJOR CONGRATULATIONS

Dear Sir,—As umpire for the previously-held record of Spliced Surprise Major in 22 methods rung for the Lincoln Diocesan Guild in 1948, I should like to congratulate Mr. W. F. Judge and his band on surpassing this. It is a very fine performance in a rapidly developing sphere of ringing.

I also feel that it must bring a great deal of pleasure to Mr. A. J. Pitman to see quite a number of his difficult compositions being rung now.

K. S. B. CROFT.

Southampton.

METHODS COMMITTEE

Advice Wanted on Doubles Methods

Dear Sir,—The Methods Committee would be grateful for the help and advice of 5 and 6 bell ringers on the following points concerning the ringing of Doubles Methods:—

(a) What methods are rung having more than two consecutive blows in one place, other than in 5ths at the trebles' lead? (Please give essential figures as there is confusion over names.)

(b) Do they think it necessary or desirable so to depart from the normally accepted standards?

Whilst writing, it seems to be a good opportunity to issue a word of warning to those contemplating peals in new Surprise Royal methods. The Methods Committee considers that many of the extensions from the Major in Mr. Corrigan's book are unacceptable and suggests that its advice be sought before a band contemplates the ringing of any not yet rung.

Thirdly, in answer to Mr. Segar, the members of the Committee are unanimous in the opinion that a 'Bob' is not a part of the method (this was actually stated at the last meeting of the Central Council). Thus if Mr. Segar has a composition of Reverse Grandshire with a thirds place bob it is perfectly legitimate as far as we are concerned.—Yours sincerely, K. W. H. FELSTEAD.

St. Michael's Vicarage,
Southampton.

WINCHESTER & PORTSMOUTH DIOCESAN GUILD

Andover District

A very successful meeting was held at Andover on February 17th the occasion being the annual meeting of the District. Over 50 members and visitors attended from Abbot's Ann, Aldershot, Andover, Amport, Basingstoke, Bishopstoke, Buckland Newton (Dorset), Farnham, Emsom, Ewell, Goodworth Clatford, Highclere, Thatcham (Berks), Templecombe (Somerset), Sturminster Newton (Dorset), Woolton Hill, Over Wallop, Wonston, Winchester.

Ringings on St. Mary's (8 tenor 17 cwt.) ranged from rounds to Cambridge Surprise (not forgetting Little Bob for its exponent from Farnham) and everyone expressed their delight with the fine job done by Messrs. Taylor three years ago.

Tea at the Stuart Cafe was presided over by the Vicar of Andover (the Rev. A. Fletcher, M.A.) and attended by the Mayor of Andover (Councillor S. E. Vincent) and several visiting clergy.

Due to the unexpectedly large attendance it was necessary to hold the business meeting in the nave of St. Mary's. In the absence of the district chairman, Mr. G. Pullinger (Guild Ringing Master) took the chair. The secretary's report and balance sheet for 1950 were accepted; all the officers were re-elected.

Miss D. M. Walden and Mr. N. B. Davis, of Piddlehinton, Dorset, were elected compounding members. Some discussion took place on the subject of practices for higher methods and it was decided to arrange a series of District practices at Andover on the first Saturday in each month for that purpose. Ringing then continued until 9 p.m.

THREE GENERATIONS IN A PEAL

Dear Sir,—Referring to Mr. John G. Jefferies' peal with three generations: on April 15th, 1934, a peal of 5,168 Bob Major, in 2 hours and 59 minutes, was rung at St. Mary's, Grundisburgh, Suffolk. Those taking part were:—F. C. Clarke, grandfather, his son Charles and grandson Charles M., F. J. Tillett, grandfather, his son John F. and granddaughter Phyllis E., G. E. Symonds, father, and his son Harold E. Only three families participating, conducted by G. E. Symonds.—Yours truly, Ipswich.

G. E. SYMONDS.

BELLS AS TIME SIGNALS

Dear Sir,—I am interested in Mr. R. Buchanan's letter on the above subject, since some years ago, when in charge of the bells at St. Mary's, Redcliffe, Bristol, I was approached by the West Regional Director of Religious Broadcasting with a proposal to make a record of Redcliffe bells ringing Stedman Cinques. I was informed that, if suitable, it was proposed to introduce the record as an interval signal between certain West Regional programmes. The record was duly made, though we had to make a number of recordings, our first efforts being marred by a high wind which gave a marked fading effect to the bells. The B.B.C., however, were at great pains to obtain the best position for the 'mike' and were very co-operative to our suggestions. Ultimately we produced several good recordings of 120 changes of Stedman Cinques which finished by bobbing 8-10 behind, the conducting being shared by E. J. Brown, E. F. Hancock and myself.

Subsequently a portion of this recording was used in programmes dealing with bells and bellringing in the West Country which was introduced by Mr. E. J. Taylor, of Tiverton. During odd periods since, I have heard this record used as an interval signal on the B.B.C. West Regional Station; the occasions have, however, been somewhat rare.

I certainly favour Mr. Buchanan's suggestion that each region should have its own Bell Interval Signal but I cannot agree that St. Mary's, Southampton, would be either appropriate or suitable. There are many more majestic rings of bells, such as Eaton (Wilts), Buckfast, Bristol, Wrington, Ditchat, Chewton Mendip and Queen Camel, to name but a few, which are more suitable than St. Mary's, Southampton, where the acoustics of the town accentuates the Simpson Tuning and, in my humble opinion, produces too much hum for good broadcasting, and certainly for a recording of the type required for an interval signal.—Yours faithfully,

DONALD G. CLIFT, A.M.I.E.

St. Albans, Herts.

CHRISTMAS BELLS

Dear Sir,—Many thanks for publishing my letter re above; now that the storm is subsiding, I would like to wind it up.

I must apologise to our friends of Portishead for 'losing' two of their bells. It sounded like six; I must get my radio attended to. I don't know the origin of the word 'stone', beyond it implies a call-change ringer, and I don't think the average ringer implies anything else (except the snobs, if they exist). In fact I recall being at Bideford, North Devon, in 1911, and I have yet to hear better striking and this was, of course, preceded by a perfect 'rise and fall'.

I am of the opinion that friendly rivalry can do much to improve our local standards and would like to see a National Festival on 'knock-out' lines as is common in many of our national pastimes.

I am reluctant to reply to the many comments raised, particularly as our clerical friend fears bad feeling is creeping in (I would assure him otherwise). The general opinion is, however, that we have got to 'pull up our socks' locally and I would agree with a gentleman from Kent that the correct procedure is through associations.

I should, therefore, like to conclude with an appeal to District Secretaries and Executive Committee Representatives to make use of our democratic structure and endeavour to get their representatives on the Central Council to raise the question of recruiting and general extension of our work organised on a national basis.

Many thanks to all correspondents for their interest and backing and I hope we can benefit jointly from 'airing' our views.—Yours faithfully,

JOHN A. HILL.

Andover, Hants.

ANOTHER CHAPTER OF LAST CENTURY VETERANS

Memories Revived

This week we publish the third instalment of those ringers who rang their first peals in the last century. The list recalls great names:

RANG 128 PEALS IN LAST CENTURY

Probably the surviving veteran holding the record for the most peals in the last century is Mr. James Parker, father of Mrs. G. W. Fletcher, of Caister-on-Sea. He rang 128 peals up to the end of the century and these included Superlative, London, Cambridge and New Cambridge Surprise Major and Alliance. He conducted the record length of 9,312 Superlative Surprise Major at Crawley in 1894, where he lived for six years before moving to London. His first peal was at Warnham, Sussex, Kent Treble Bob Major, on October 19th, 1890. He is now nearly 85.

Mr. Henry Wood, of Warnham and Horsham, rang his first peal of Triples, Oxford Bob at Crawley, on December 26th 1882, having previously rung a peal of Minor at Warnham. He gave up ringing years ago and though nearly 90 walked 1½ miles to hear Horsham bells recently.

A peal board in Chester Cathedral records a peal of Kent Treble Bob Major at Bromborough, Cheshire, by the Cathedral ringers on September 6th, 1884. A member of the band was Mr. John Gibson, who now resides at Whitchurch, Shropshire, and is 96 years of age. There is no indication, states a Chester correspondent, that this was Mr. Gibson's first peal.

'THE FINEST TREBLER'

Mr. Harry Hollingsworth, captain of the local band at Melbourne, Derby, and says our correspondent, 'the finest trebler up and down' in this district, rang his first peal at St. Michael's, Melbourne, Derbyshire, on September 24th, 1887.

Mr. William T. Prior, of Bishop's Stortford, who is in his 80th year and still a regular service ringer, has rung 165 peals. His first was Bob Major at St. Michael's, Bishop's Stortford, on December 31st, 1888.

SUFFOLK VETERANS

Mr. George Wightman, of Cretingham, Woodbridge, Suffolk, rang his first peal at Euston, Suffolk, on June 14th, 1886. It was a peal of Doubles in seven methods.

Mr. William Wightman rang his first peal at St. Mary's Framden, Suffolk, on November 23rd, 1896—a peal of Bob Triples.

Mr. John C. Pugsley, of Minehead, Somerset, rang his first peal, Grandsire Triples, at St. Michael's, Minehead, on April 27th, 1891.

Mr. William T. Elson, of 56, Pursers Cross Road, S.W.6, now in his 84th year, rang his first peal, 5,472 Bob Major, on September 1st, 1892. He rang a number of his early peals with Mr. E. H. Adams and also with Messrs. W. H. H. Buckingham and J. C. Mitchell. In the last century he rang 28 peals.

Mr. G. Martin, of Maidenhead, conducted his first peal. This was on October 7th, 1895, at Boyne Hill, the method being Grandsire Triples. He sends us particulars of two other veterans:—Mr. W. Walker, Grandsire Triples, at Boyne Hill, on October 31st, 1896, and Mr. Jesse Eldridge, Stedman Triples, on April 11th, 1898, at Burnham, Bucks.

Mr. G. M. Rashbrook's first peal was 5,056 Oxford Treble Bob Major, at St. Mary's, Ardleigh, Essex, on April 22nd, 1893.

Mr. Joseph S. Hawkins, of Strand, W.C.2, rang his first peal at All Saints' Church, Marlow, Bucks, on April 30th, 1898—Grandsire Triples (Carter's 12 part).

WITH GABRIEL LINDOFF

Mr. R. W. Stannard, of Barking, rang two peals of Bob Triples—in November, 1886, and January 10th, 1887. The second, 6,024 Oxford Treble Bob, was conducted by the late Gabriel Lindoff. This was the first time the latter rang as G. Lindoff, his first three peals being rung as G. Baxter. Mr. Stannard rang 17 peals before 1900.

Mr. G. W. Park, who is still a regular ringer at Holy Trinity, Darlington, rang his first peal on December 14th, 1895, at St. John the Evangelist, Darlington. The method was Kent Treble Bob Major.

Mr. David Wright, then of Westerham, but later of Croydon and Southgate, now in his 91st year, rang the treble to Holt's Original at Tonbridge on September 23rd, 1893, Tom Manering conducting.

76 PEALS BEFORE 1900

Mr. H. Gibbs, of Brede, Sussex, who rang his first peal when 17 years of age—Stedman Triples at Crayford, Kent, on August 17th, 1889—is the last survivor of that band which was as follows:—Challis V. Winney 1, George Conyard 2, Edward E. Richards 3, Richard French 4, William Weatherstone 5, Edwin Barnett 6, Frederick G. Newton (cond.) 7, Henry Gibbs 8. Previous to 1900 he had rung 76 peals. Mr. Gibbs still rings at Brede.

Mr. T. Elcox, of Areley Kings, Worcestershire, who is now 86 and still able to ring, rang his first peal at Stone, near Kidderminster, on July 30th 1892. It was a peal of Doubles in four different methods.

Mr. H. Tucker, of Reading, Berks, rang his first peal at Tilehurst Parish Church, Reading, on February 24th, 1894, the method being Bob Major.

Mr. H. Knight's (Wolverhampton) first peal was Grandsire Caters at St. Peter's, Wolverhampton, on December 1st, 1894. The only survivor of that peal and, incidentally, the composer, is Mr. James George. He took part in 62 peals during the last century including 7,019 and 11,563 Grandsire Caters.

SOME OF THE ANCIENTS

Mr. A. B. Peck, secretary of the Ancient Society of College Youths, submits to us the list of the following.—The brothers Francis T. Hoad (1893), George F. Hoad (1895); Roland Fenn (1895), Caleb Fenn (1896), Ernest G. Fenn (1898); William S. Langdon (1895), Herbert Lanodon (1899); and also William H. Pasmore (1896) and George Faulkner (1898).

Mr. Rowland Fenn, of St. Margaret's, Barking, rang his first peal on November 26th, 1895, at Barking, the method being Grandsire Triples. Mr. Albert C. Hardy, who rang in the peal, still survives.

Mr. Caleb Fenn, of Barking, rang his first peal 'in hand,' on July 4th, 1896. It was Plain Bob Major, the band being Rowland Fenn 1-2, Albert C. Hardy 3-4, Thomas Faulkner 5-6, Caleb Fenn 7-8. Three of the four are still with us. His first peal on tower bells was 5,152 Plain Bob Major at Brentwood, Essex.

WITH J. E. GROVE

Mr. William R. Stockdale, who rings at St. Chad's, Shrewsbury, rang the second to J. E. Groves' variation of Parker's Grandsire Triples, at Church Stretton, Salop, on September 24th, 1895. The peal was conducted by J. E. Grove. This was his second peal, his first being of several Doubles methods, at Bicton, Salop, the record of which he has lost.

Mr. Isaac J. Attwater, of Enfield, Middlesex, was the composer and conductor of his first peal, Grandsire Triples, rung at Cuckfield, Sussex, on March 21st, 1896.

Mr. W. W. Wolstencroft, of Stoke Poges, rang seven peals in the last century and he is the only survivor of the ringers who participated. His first was Grandsire Triples, on January 9th, 1897.

Mr. C. W. R. Grimwood, of Hersham, Surrey, rang his first peal at Lavenham, Suffolk, on August 29th, 1896, the method being Bob Major.

PORTSMOUTH AREA

Two veterans of the Portsmouth District—Mr. H. Reynolds (Alverstoke) and Mr. F. A. Burnett (Portsmouth Cathedral)—rang their first peals together—Stedman Triples, at Holy Trinity, Gosport, on January 12th, 1897.

Mr. Josiah D. Harris, of Portsmouth, who has over 50 peals to his credit and at the age of 78 is still willing to stand in any attempt, rang his first peal, Grandsire Triples, on August 5th, 1896, at St. Mary's, Portsea. He rang two other peals that year.

Mr. H. Barlow's (New Moston, Middlesex) first peal was rung in honour of his 21st birthday. It was Grandsire Triples, on October 29th, 1898.

Mr. F. J. Lewis, sen., of Cirencester, Glos, rang his first peal on June 30th, 1898, Grandsire Caters at Cirencester, conducted by John Austin.

LEICESTER'S GRAND OLD MAN

Mr. Josiah Morris, the grand old man of Leicester ringers, and the father of Ernest and George Stedman Morris, rang his first peal, Grandsire Caters, at All Saints', Loughborough, on December 28th, 1896. He has rung about 400 peals of which 16 were before 1900. Mr. T. Taffender, of London, and Mr. Morris are the only survivors of the long peal of Double Norwich Court Bob Major at South Wigston in 1904. Mr. Morris will be 84 on July 1st.

Mr. William Walters, of Monmouth, rang in the only local band peal of his native town on July 1st, 1886. The method was Grandsire Triples and was conducted by the late Mr. Edwin A. Barnett, who came to Monmouth from Ross in 1882 and afterwards went to Crayford. Mr. Walters did not keep up ringing but remained a chorister at the church until recently.

Mr. William Rose, of Peterborough, rang his first peal when 14 years of age. It was the treble to a peal of Doubles in April, 1899. In the following November he rang the third to a peal of Doubles in 12 methods on the old five at Thornham Magna, Suffolk.

IN WHICH CENTURY?

Dear Sir,—When I lost my first peal attempt in the summer of 1899, I was not unduly disappointed until I read the leading article in the 'Bell News' of December 16th following. It began—The 19th century is almost at its close and we are therefore upon the threshold of the 20th—I then knew that I had lost for ever all chances of ringing a peal in the 19th century and began to feel a little resentment towards that conductor who thought he could call 'Holt's Original.'

Over half a century has rolled by since those happy days. I rang my first peal on June 30th, 1900, but I have always had a little regret that I could not squeeze it in the 19th. At least I have until I saw last week's 'Ringing World,' and there I saw recalled, under the heading 'Veterans who rang in the last century,' a peal in which I also took part, and was, in fact, my second peal, so it seems I rang my first in the 20th and my second in the 19th. I think that is a record that will take a bit of beating. I remember we nearly had a civil war about when the new century began '1899—1901 and all that.' Not for worlds would I try to stir up all that ancient argument again. But as I rang five peals in 1900, I would love for one of our brain-twisters to tell me which century they were rung in.

My first peal was rung at Banstead, Surrey, on June 30th, 1900, and conducted by the late Charles R. Lilley.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

HOLT'S ORIGINAL

An Anniversary to be Remembered

Dear Sir,—July 7th, which this year conveniently falls on a Saturday, will be the 200th anniversary of the first performance of Holt's Original which, as probably most ringers know, was conducted from manuscript by its composer, who sat in the tower of St. Margaret's, Westminster.

Much has been written about this composition which had no imitator for well over a century and it was said at one time to be the ambition of nearly every conductor to call it. Times have evidently changed. For instance, whereas in 1890, out of 247 peals of Grandsire Triples, the Original was called 73 times by 43 different conductors, by 1950, when probably there were about 200 peals of Grandsire Triples, the numbers had dwindled to nine performances by six conductors.

The main object of this letter is to suggest that it would be very fitting if the forthcoming anniversary were to be commemorated by as many performances of the composition as possible. There are three months during which conductors can make themselves familiar with it and while perhaps the result may not look as impressive on paper as peals in this or that Surprise method, there is little doubt as to which is the more difficult (and more interesting) task for the bob-caller.—Yours faithfully,

E. A. BARNETT.

Crayford, Kent.

A SPLENDID INITIATION

Dear Sir,—This year's winners of the London County Association's Challenge Cup for hand-bell ringing are a team of young ringers from St. Lawrence's, Brentford, three of whom are still at school. Last December, having just reached the stage of Grandsire Doubles on tower bells, a group was formed to learn Grandsire Triples 'in hand.' Two of the beginners had already rung one or two courses on the trebles so these were given the diagrams of 1-2 and 3-4 to learn. One or two ringers were tried on 7-8 during the first three practices in the Christmas holiday.

Then, on January 7th, Colin, brother of Gillian Lamont, was asked if he would like to try. After having the diagram explained and being shown how to hold and strike the bells, a slow but successful course was rung. At the same time, he began to handle a tower bell and is now a regular service ringer.

After only five more weekly practices, a fair standard was achieved and it was decided to try for the competition on the following Saturday, if only to make another entry. Little was hoped for when it was discovered that three other teams, all from ten-bell towers, were also competing.

To find themselves placed first at their first attempt was certainly beyond their wildest hopes. This has come as a great reward for the patience and hard work of many months by the very small but keen young team of ringers at Brentford.

The ringers were:—Miss Gillian R. Cumber (16) 1-2, Miss Gillian R. Lamont (16) 3-4, Geoffrey Dodds 5-6, Colin R. Lamont (14) 7-8.—Yours, etc.,

GEOFFREY DODDS.

Isleworth, Middlesex.

ALL SAINTS', WORCESTER, BELLS

Dear Sir,—Are any of your readers in a position to supply any information regarding the bells of All Saints', Worcester, which for some weeks now have appeared in the 'Church Times' advertisement columns, as being for sale, for £550, with the condition attached that they are not to be melted down, except one which is cracked?—Yours sincerely,

ERNEST J. ROWE.

6. Church Street,
Broseley, Salop.

A DEVONSHIRE CALL-CHANGE

Dear Sir,—I was very interested in Mr. George C. Grills' letter about the contribution of call changes as I am a call-change ringer myself. I attend many of the ringing competitions held in the North Devon District and I find it very interesting to listen to what some of the call-change ringers have to say about method ringing.

Personally, I am very interested in method ringing and would very much like to learn but the nearest tower where there is a team of change-ringers is nearly ten miles away. If ever I get the chance to learn method ringing I shall certainly make the most of it.

Where I live, the bells are in very bad order and are not rung very often so I go to Pilton where there is a very good ring of eight and I always receive a very warm welcome.

I have also heard a few change-ringing teams there, and it is my opinion that both types of the Exercise are criticised far too much. I have heard and seen some very cutting things from both sides but there is always room for improvement no matter which method is practised.—Yours, etc.,

C. TRIBE.

Bratton Fleming.

A CALL-CHANGER REPLIES

Dear Sir,—Your correspondent, Mr. Peter W. B. Semmons, would do well to pay a visit to Devonshire during one of our ringing festivals. I feel certain he will be impressed by the striking he will hear.

May I remind him that we take a great pride in the fact that every ringer has complete control over his bell from the start and we rise and fall (regardless of weight) as a team, not singly as is so often the custom with the method ringers.

I have been a call-change ringer for nearly 20 years and until I hear better striking and less 'mud-slinging' on the part of some of the change-ringers, I shall prefer to stay and practise the art as we know it.

To Mr. Semmons I would say it is no 'misfortune' to belong to a county or a team that will not tolerate 'shoddy striking' at any price; indeed it is an honour.

We welcome any ringer, no matter what category, to our tower and invite him to 'have a go' with us. Surely it is much better to offer the hand of friendship than stand aloof. After all, are we not brothers in this great calling and stand on equal terms in God's belfry?—Yours faithfully,

LESLIE E. EDWORTHY.

Widcombe-in-the-Moor, Devon.

MR. FUSSELL'S DIARY

Dear Sir,—Mr. Simmonds' letter correcting the spelling of Mr. Egby's name prompts me to write and make a similar correction, Arthur H. Gardom, not Gardam.

Arthur Gardom was a son of a well-to-do family at Wanstead, Essex. He was a fine ringer and conductor and when we lived at Leytonstone was a frequent visitor to our house to ring 5-6 to my father's 1-2-3-4.

He had a good position in a bank in London but, I have been told, lost it through neglect for ringing after which he emigrated to South Africa when nothing further was heard of him in ringing circles.

Two other Wanstead ringers also emigrated there much about the same time—Lewis Green and James F. Priest—and these took part in the first and, I believe, only peal in South Africa—Grandsire Triples, at Woodstock, in 1904.—Yours faithfully,

E. BARNETT.

Crayford, Kent.

LIBERTY (AND PLENTY OF IT) WITHOUT LICENCE

Dear Sir,—Thank you for your effective 'Leader' on February 9th in reply to the criticism of the Rev. P. T. Robbins which fully represents by far the majority opinion of the Exercise.

It was a very wide, sweeping statement evidently made without knowledge of the inside working of the Exercise.

I have attended a good many monthly and annual meetings of branches and guilds and associations and have occasionally heard and seen a few (though very few) things of which I did not approve. I have severely criticised—and have been more severely criticised—but I did not intend it in any acrimonious or trouble-making spirit, neither felt any. The Central Council—that Church Assembly for Ringers—for which that great-hearted Derbyshire ringer, Sir Percival Heywood, was mainly responsible, has to 'take it' sometimes. No, 'fraternity'—in its fullest sense and meaning—is not too strong a word or out of place; it is one of the strongest and best and is not by any means a closed shop.

Ringers might say that some of the clergy—although we must not be too sweeping—are primarily responsible for 'these unhappy divisions,' and when asked about some of the causes say the Church is so comprehensive; so is 'The Ringing World,' and the Editor wisely and widely tolerant. Though severe in our criticism of each other, ringers are cognizant of and jealous of the integrity of the Editor and the tone of 'The Ringing World,' which allows liberty without licence to ringers to express their views; it stimulates discussion which should not create discord. I would like to suggest your 'Leader' be read in conjunction with the article in 'The Radio Times' recently, 'Asking any Questions,' and relates to the Question Master, Gilbert Harding, 'never afraid to express his mind'; he says we might take some of our correspondence as entertainment. I do.—Yours sincerely,

Crewe.

H. FRANK STENSON.

GLASGOW CATHEDRAL SOCIETY :
INFORMATION WANTED

Dear Sir,—The 50th anniversary of the opening of the bells of St. Mary's Cathedral falls on June 8th, 1951. As we have no records prior to October, 1929, when the present society was formed under the direction of the late Stephen H. Wood, Ashton, we would be grateful for any items of interest about ringing or ringers (including peal attempts) prior to that date. We do know that the first band was formed by Mr. Cleveland Ellis, of St. Mary's Cathedral, Edinburgh, and another band formed later by Mr. J. E. Sykes (Uncle Joe) and Mr. Tom O'Hara, all of whom are now deceased.

Any information as above will be carefully recorded.—Yours faithfully,

ERNEST A. STAFFORD.

Hon. Secretary.

17, Tabard Road,
Glasgow, 3.

TRIPLES IN AUSTRALIA

Dear Sir,—Your copy of December 22nd, 1950, has just come to hand and in it is a letter from Mr. A. Richardson, of Surfleet, in regard to a footnote in 'The Ringing World' stating that Miss Ruth Donnelly was the first lady to ring a peal of Triples in Australia.

Our apologies to Mrs. Richardson; this footnote should have read 'the first Australian lady.' It is well known that Mrs. Richardson rang the peals she states as the achievement is recorded by a tablet in the tower at the Ballarat Town Hall; not only that, 'The Great Adventure' gives full particulars.

Trusting that Mrs. Richardson will forgive our oversight.—Yours faithfully,

W. M. ROWE,

Capt., St. Jude's, Randwick.

OBITUARIES OF THE WEEK

MR. JOHN DYSON

We regret to record the death of Mr. John Dyson, of Bolsterstone, Yorkshire, aged 75 years. This veteran was the last of the original band which learnt to ring at Bolsterstone, under the late David Brearley.

When he rang in the first peal on the bells by a local company, he was 17 years old. That was in 1894, two years after the bells were hung and although rheumatism had prevented him ringing these last few years, he rang when the ban was removed during the war.

He had some 23 peals to his credit, all on the treble, and was always an excellent striker and could be depended on to keep right under almost any circumstance. A gamekeeper in his younger days, he often came into the belfry straight from his job, put his gun in the corner and his dog under the seat, to ring for practice. He was interred at Bolsterstone on February 9th.

MR. A. HAWKINS

Usk and district has lost one of its keenest ringers, after a long illness, by the recent death of Mr. Arthur Hawkins, at the age of 73.

Mr. Hawkins learned his early ringing at Cwmcarvan. When the old six at Usk were recast and augmented to eight in 1926, he joined the band there and subsequently became captain.

In January, 1930, he conducted the first peal to be rung by the local band, Holt's Ten Part peal of Grandsire Triples, a peal of which he was very proud. He loved good ringing and would travel any distance for a peal. His first peal was Grandsire Doubles rung at Tredunnock on January 21st, 1928, in which he shared the conducting with the writer. It was the first peal by all the band, and of his 59 peals I had the pleasure of taking part in 37.

His list of peals is as follows:—Grandsire Doubles 1; Doubles, two methods 1; Plain Bob Minor 4; Grandsire Triples 33 (1); Oxford Bob Triples 1; Stedman Triples 2; Plain Bob Major 14; Grandsire Caters 3; total 59 (conducted 1).

MR. DANIEL KENNEDY

The Irish Association suffered the loss of its 'Grand Old Man of Dublin's Bellringers' in February 5th, through the death of Mr. Daniel Kennedy at the ripe old age of 84.

Dan, as he was affectionately known, was attached to the belfry of the Augustinian Church of St. John-the-Baptist, High Street, Dublin, for over 70 years. He ascended the belfry by the circular iron staircase, which rises over the organ at the back of the church, daily throughout his long life, and d'd so up to a few days before his death, to ring his beloved bells. He was a great friend of the late Gabriel Lindoff, who also worked in the firm of Messrs. Guinness and Sons.

He became a member of the Association in 1902 and was elected president in 1925 and 1926. When the Association was reorganised in 1948, he was unanimously elected the first chairman of the Eastern District, but owing to failing health he was compelled to relinquish these duties. The Association, however, conferred the honour of life membership upon him in appreciation of his past services, which are too numerous to mention.

A very high ecclesiastical honour was conferred upon Dan in 1942 when he was decorated by the Pope for 'renowned, long and unbroken service' as a bellringer. The Papal decoration was the 'Pro Ecclesia et Pontifice'.

As his funeral left, on the morning of February 7th, the church where he used to ring, 'his bells' were rung muffled by a team consisting of his sons and nephews, all of whom he had initiated in the art. So passed on another of the Grand Old Ringers of Ireland who have rendered unselfish service to maintain the bell-ringing teams in our churches.

MR. ALFRED MILLER

The death of Mr. Alfred Miller took place in St. Helier Hospital, Surrey, on February 11th, after a very short illness.

Mr. Miller, who was 71 years of age, had lived in Mitcham all his life. He was a member of the Surrey Association, the London County Association and a College Youth and had been a ringer at Christ Church, Mitcham, for 55 years and over 40 years as captain. He rang and conducted his first peal at Christ Church, Mitcham, on August 6th, 1910, it being a peal of Grandsire Doubles and the first peal on the bells.

He will mostly be remembered by those who have visited the tower for his cheerful willingness to help beginners. Only a week or two before his death he was trying to recall the number of youngsters who had learnt to handle a bell in the tower. The methods he usually rang were Grandsire and Stedman Doubles and Triples, Plain Bob, Kent and Oxford Treble Bob Minor and Major, but during the last 12 months he had been very pleased to take part in short touches of Cambridge Surprise Minor when enough of his friends turned up to make it possible.

During the early summer of 1949, Mr. Miller went by air to Canada to visit a sister and to the U.S.A. to visit a brother whom he had not seen for over 60 years. Flying was a new experience for him and he was surprised at the comfort that can be enjoyed thousands of feet above the Atlantic. He spoke very highly of the reception he received in Canada and the U.S.A.

He leaves four daughters and four grandchildren and many old friends from Christ Church to mourn their loss.

The funeral service was at Christ Church, Mitcham, on February 17th and was conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. G. S. Johnston): many of his ringing friends attended. The tenor bell, half muffled, tolled the years before the service began.

The Vicar, in expressing deep sympathy with the family and mourners, said Mr. Miller had lived in the parish since his boyhood days and was very widely respected. His passing had left a large gap in their midst but they must thank God he had lived so long to serve the Church. His colleagues in the ringing chamber had lost a good friend and he would be sadly missed there. The hymn 'Abide with me' was sung and as the funeral procession left the church the 'Dead March' was played by the organist, Mr. E. J. Piercey. The burial took place at the London Road Cemetery, Mitcham. The chief mourners were his daughters and sons-in-law; Mr. G. Pidwell (who was his schoolmate and a fellow-ringer); Mr. J. Parslow, Mr. J. Hyde and the following ringers, most of whom were able to be present at the church service:—Mrs. E. Jones, S. Ball, J. Tompsett, Mrs. Allen (representing H. Allen), S. Howard, J. Uden, T. Miller, R. Sanders, J. Chapman, Miss A. Castle, Miss J. Frear, Mr. and Mrs. Lathbury (Surrey Association), Mr. W. Passmore (the College Youths) and Mrs. Oatway (St. John's, Croydon).

A course of Grandsire Triples was rung on handbells at the graveside by Messrs. R. Sanders, W. Passmore, J. Chapman and R. Lathbury. Amongst the many floral tributes was one from the Surrey Association and one in the shape of a bell from his past and present colleagues at Christ Church, Mitcham, and St. Leonard's Church, Streatham.

THREE GENERATIONS IN A PEAL

Dear Sir,—Henry, Charles H. and William Briggs (father, son and grandson respectively) took part in a peal of Grandsire Triples at Stoney Stanton, Leicestershire, on December 10th, 1921.—Yours faithfully, HENRY BROUGHTON.

Leicester.

MR. C. SMITH

By the passing of Mr. Charles Smith, Rodbourne Cheney has lost a faithful ringer, choirman and secretary of the Duplex scheme. He was ill only a few weeks and his death at the age of 50 came as a shock to all who knew him. Some years ago he met with a serious accident while following his employment on the G.W.R. and his ringing was restricted to the treble, but he was most regular in his attendance for Sunday service ringing and will be greatly missed.

The funeral took place at Rodbourne Cheney, the bells being rung half-muffled before the service and the whole pull and stand was rung following the interment.

MR. WILLIAM HENRY WALKER

It is with deep regret that we record the death of Mr. William Walker, of Boyne Hill, Maidenhead, who passed away at St. Mark's Hospital, on February 15th, at the age of 74.

Mr. Walker was a regular Sunday service ringer at All Saints', Boyne Hill, for 60 years and was foreman and steeplekeeper for a great number of years, an office he held up to the time of his death.

He was a member of the Oxford Diocesan Guild and a member of the Ancient Society of College Youths. He rang his first peal in 1896, but owing to the nature of his work he was unable to participate in as many peals as he would have wished. He took part in many peals in his own tower, which included a peal of London Surprise in 1930, rung by a local band. In his younger days he was a keen cricketer and was a life member of Boyne Hill Cricket Club.

On February 19th his body was borne to the church he served so faithfully, there to lie during the night. The funeral the next day was preceded by a choral service at All Saints', conducted by the Vicar, the Rev. Eric Perkins, attended by relatives and friends, including a number of ringers.

The bells he loved so much were rung half-muffled, to touches of Stedman, by local and visiting ringers. A plain course of Grandsire Triples was rung on handbells after the service, by four of his old ringing comrades, Messrs. George Martin, Jesse Eldridge, Thomas Goodchild and William Judd.

In the evening, touches of Stedman and Grandsire Triples were rung with the bells half-muffled as a token of respect and in sorrow at the loss of a brother ringer.

MR. CHARLES TYLER

Mr. C. E. Borrett, of Sheringham, writes with reference to the death of Mr. Charles Tyler, of Henfield (page 61):—

I have no records to refer to but I clearly recollect the amazement caused by the records of double-handed handbell peals of Stedman by Mr. Tyler, who conducted, and his Henfield men. I believe Triples, Caters and Cinques were scored some time in the 1890's or thereabouts. At that time peals of Stedman Cinques on handbells could be counted on the fingers of one hand—two were rung in London and one in Birmingham—so that such a peal by a village band with only eight bells in their home tower was outstanding. For the benefit and interest of younger ringers, perhaps some member of the Sussex Association would send particulars. To-day such peals are frequent but in the earlier days they were landmarks.

SEVENOAKS, KENT.—On Feb. 11th. 1.264 Plain Bob Major: Miss D. Corke 1, Miss D. Golding 2, H. Baker 3, P. Turley 4, L. Turley 5, R. Pankhurst 6, Miss D. Colgate 7, R. Collins (cond.) 8. First of Major for 2 and 6. A birthday compliment to Paul, elder son of L. Turley and grandson of P. Turley.
SOUTHWARK, LONDON.—On Feb. 11th, at St. George-the-Martyr's, 1.280 Cambridge Major: Anne B. Stockdale 1, R. F. B. Speed 2, W. Williams 3, T. G. Fox 4, R. H. Begrie 5, A. Lancaster (first of Surprise) 6, B. D. Threlfall 7, J. R. Worrall (first of Surprise Major as cond.) 8.

STORY OF A GREAT RINGING CAREER

DIARY OF THE LATE MR. W. H. FUSSELL—11

Edited by ERNEST MORRIS

A WHITECHAPEL APPOINTMENT

In March, 1884, Mr. Fussell reports that: 'I went to London and called on Mears and Stainbank re situation as bell-tuner; received 10s. railway expenses. Met Mr. Lawton, the new proprietor of the business—a very nice gentleman—and he seemed very interested in my having the situation. Had a long chat with him and Mr. Waskett, whom I met in the office and he showed me over the foundry explaining the nature of the work I was required to do. Saw the old bells of Beaconsfield which the firm had to make up into a ring of eight.

'Little did I think when I copied the inscriptions off them, that I should next see them at the foundry. The very coat I was wearing at the time was marked with grease off them, obtained on my last visit at Christmas to Beaconsfield . . .

'In the evening went to St. Martin's and rang in a touch of Stedman Caters: very bad ringing as several young hands were in it. The rest of the evening was spent in practising for a peal of Stedman Cinques to-morrow (Saturday) and a peal of Treble 12 on the 27th inst.'

Later, Mr. Fussell says he went to the foundry, saw Mr. Lawton and Mr. Waskett, also Greenleaf, and made a trial on the lathe at handbell turning. Then left at 5 p.m. The next day he went again and worked till 5.30 p.m. at the lathe: 'made very fair progress and arranged to start work on Monday.' On this day he 'began operations as a bell-tuner—added four in front of a ring of 12, two semitones and replaced three cracked bells in a ring for Shaw Higham.'

Often he quotes various bells coming into the foundry as, for instance: 'Several old bells were broken up with a hammer in the foundry to-day. It seemed sorrowful to have the poor old things destroyed to go into the furnace again, if one considers the number of years they resounded to many past generations, and after a long life the old and feeble thus destroyed. Several were from Drayton . . . . Went back to the foundry to see some bells run but, owing to the wood for firing being damp, it did not take place till later for the metal to get in condition. This was my first view of bell-casting and the performance is very interesting as well as momentous to those concerned in the work. There were seven bells in the pit, the largest of 3 cwt, of four for Wollaston, two bells to a ring of five for Great Bentley and two others, one for the eight going to Crystal Palace—excellent castings they afterwards proved, and good quality.' During the time the bells were at Crystal Palace Exhibition Mr. Fussell went 'almost daily to chime tunes, etc., on them.

Being in London gave Mr. Fussell opportunities of meeting many ringers, attending practices and meetings of the various societies and he made the most of these. His diary tells of visits almost daily and of many peal attempts, some of which were successful. For instance he 'went to St. Leonard's, Shoreditch—met a lot of the Cumberland Society and pulled off for the first time on 12 bells and rang a quarter peal of Treble 12: 30 leads, 1,440 changes, in 1 hour 23 minutes, the striking reported to be good considering it was difficult to hear the trebles speak.'

WITH THE COLLEGE YOUTHS

Again after work at the foundry he 'had a walk over Southwark Bridge to St. Saviour's . . . met Mr. Haworth and many of the College

Youths Society I had never met before—Mr. S. Musckett, Pettitt, George Dorrington, etc. Saw the company's peal books which were certainly very interesting. Also saw the cup presented by J. A. Haworth and the original one of 1783. Routh was present. Greenleaf, whom I am working under at the foundry, was presiding as Master at the meeting.'

In April, 1884, he says that after ringing the tenor at the Chapel of Ease, Holloway Road, he was on the way home when he saw the reflection of a large fire in the City which resulted in damage of £20,000 at premises in Paternoster Row, mostly belonging to bookbinders and publishers.

His first attempt for a peal on more than eight bells was at St. Clement Danes', where he took part in one of Grandsire Caters in 3 hours 40 minutes. This was for St. James' Society. After the peal he went on down the Strand and arrived at St. Martin's in time to hear a peal of Treble 12 begin. 'The striking was bad and Newson called Stand. A fresh start was made at 6 o'clock and I heard the first hour. Then I went to St. Paul's for the first time with Haworth. Let the eighth down. Heard some Stedman Cinques rung. There can be no doubt that, as a ringing chamber, St. Paul's is unequalled. It was announced in the daily papers there would be ringing and this was the means of a large crowd of people congregating in the neighbourhood, filling all round the churchyard. 'F. E. Dawe, who had been ill through blood poison by inhaling foul smell had been absent the last four weeks. Went into the Goose and Gridiron afterwards.'

PERSONAL MEMORIES!!

Mr. Fussell says on one occasion he 'went up into St. Mary's tower at Whitechapel when the bells were being chimed—by clocking—for 7 p.m. service. Tried some Doubles with the steeplekeeper and two young men.' It was here where the present writer rang the tenor to the hardest peal he ever remembers ringing. This was with the late William and Bob Pye and T. Coles. It will be recalled that a few years ago this event was 'aired' in these columns.

AN ECCENTRIC OLD FELLOW

When at home in Slough at Easter, Mr. Fussell relates that he, his brother and J. Parker went to Uxbridge and 'gave old Tiny Hastings (of St. Margaret's Church) a look-up in the Bell Yard, and he seemed quite pleased, inviting us to come again. He seemed to be a very eccentric old fellow, and his room (or rather workshop, living room and study combined) presented a very muggy and musty interior, quite devoid of any comforts. Gave the old man sixpence and went our way to Rickmansworth. After walking some distance we made enquiries for the right road. Following the way pointed out we found ourselves two miles further away, nearing the village of Ruilip. This unexpected stretch in our already long journey damped our spirits so that we at once dropped into a friendly inn to enquire the way. We retraced our steps and at length arrived at Harefield. Here the whole place was busy and quite lively, it being the village 'wake.' During the journey I picked a long withy pole and used it as a staff to walk by. I was, therefore, cutely gazed on when I arrived amid the crowd of yokels, some saying I was an athlete and going to compete at the sports. Still we trudged on and at last got to Rickmansworth at 2 o'clock.

'Here we met the rest of the band and my long pole was carefully rested in a corner of the "George" after his six-mile journey. I commenced to feed heartily on a good piece of boiled beef and pickles, afterwards some tart and jellies to the expense of 1s. 6d., and I thoroughly enjoyed the meal and, by all appearance, so did my brother and Parker. We went to the tower and rang Reeves' Variation of Holt's 10 part in 3 hours 10 minutes. This was the first on the bells for 65 years. There were five peal boards in the belfry, all in bad condition. The bells are a grand ring, tenor 24 cwt.

'I think I did enough walking this Easter. Ten miles yesterday, 17 on Sunday. Parker was done up by the time he got to Farnham—it would be a 28 miles walk for him. We frequently had to shelter on our journey from rain showers. There were a few nice little talkative tales on the way, some not modest enough to repeat here for other eyes to read!

'Certainly ringers are curious men, their ways are many. Our peal was for St. James' Society, four being College Youths, 4-5-6-7 men Cumberlands, all in a row—strange! On Monday the Cumberlands attempted 13,000 at Fulham but it failed after 6 hours 33 minutes.'

A VISIT TO MATTHEW A WOOD

Mr. Fussell went to ring for service at St. Matthew's, Bethnal Green (a 504 Grandsire Triples) and afterwards 'went into Mr. Wood's home opposite and there saw Messrs. Cooter, Dwight, Haward and others—this was quite a ringers' den. The "Bell News" was carefully handed round to most of those present who were subscribers. Went to service at St. Mary's, Whitechapel, in the evening.'

One week-end he returned to Slough and went over to Farnham. The Rector (the Rev. Marshall) was present, and during his stay of an hour Mr. Fussell says: 'I frequently gave divers suggestions and hints for two new trebles, but the mean old gentleman made many excuses for spending the money on other requirements.' Later Mr. Fussell writes: 'Harrington is falling away from all ringing meetings. "so much for being married." I suppose he will soon be tired and again resume his old ways by regular attendance. Perhaps I may be married at some future time and then be able to account for the home attendance being in preference to ringing meetings.'

ANOTHER DOG STORY

In May, 1884, Mr. Fussell went to Camberwell for a peal of Double Norwich Court Bob. He says: 'Barrett was in poor condition for ringing having gout in his foot badly which compelled him to stop after one hour. "Carlo," Hopkins' dog, was in the tower quietly sleeping while the ringing was on. The dog has stayed in towers on many occasions with both the Hopkins throughout a peal.'

A ROYAL BIRTHDAY

This is how Mr. Fussell spent his time on the Queen's birthday: 'Left Foundry 10 a.m. and went at once to St. Bride's, Fleet Street, rang call-changes on back ten. From here to St. Sepulchre's (ten bells) and finished at noon. Rode to Westminster Abbey and heard the old heavy six: went up the tower where I found it in a very dirty condition—a disgrace to the authorities. Rang the tenor for once. Then went to St. Margaret's nearby and rang till 1.30. From here, walked to St. Martin's but all ringers had gone, so went to St. Clement Danes' and saw C. F. Winney. Waited about but no one came. Then I went to Holloway and at the Chapel of Ease rang some Stedman Triples. Then back to King's Cross and so on to Star Street, Paddington, where there is a good ring of eight bells packed into a wretched, small tower, hung four over others. Rang Bob Major. The day was very hot and after ringing at six towers, I found I had had enough for one day.'

(To be continued)

LONDON.—At St. Giles-in-the-Fields on Feb. 11th. 1,264 Plain Bob Major: G. A. Parsons 1, Miss I. B. Cording 2, Mrs. M. Hodson 3, C. E. Lankester 4, A. Cutler 5, E. H. Kilby 6, M. Hodgson 7, L. Bowler (cond.) 8.

GUILD of DEVONSHIRE RINGERS*Meeting at Bridgerule

The N.W. Branch of the Guild held its annual meeting at Bridgerule on February 10th and about 35 members and friends were present. The service was conducted by the Rector (the Rev. F. H. Kingdon) and the Rev. W. H. Ravenhill read the lesson.

Tea was served at Church Town Farm. At the business meeting a credit balance of £7 2s. 9d. was reported. All the officers—Rev. W. H. Ravenhill (chairman), Mr. J. W. Sangwin (secretary), Mr. F. Sangwin (Ringing Master), Rev. W. H. Smale, Mr. W. H. R. Smale and Mr. F. Sangwin (representatives to the general committee)—were re-elected. Mr. G. Abbott was elected as a member and Mr. W. A. R. Bray as a non-resident member.

It was decided that the July meeting be, if agreed, a joint one with the Exeter Branch at Okehampton and that the next annual meeting shall be held at Sutcombe. The Rector was thanked for his excellent address and the use of his bells. The organist, Mrs. Bath, the local ringers and the ladies who catered so well were also thanked.

Ringers from Plymouth, Stratton, Marhamchurch, Holsworthy, Lifton, Pyworthy, Okehampton, Bradworthy and Sutcombe as well as the local band were present. The bells were kept going with rounds, Stedman and Grandsire Triples.

BARNSELEY DISTRICT SOCIETY

A very successful meeting was held at Royston on February 10th, about 30 members being present from Barnsley, Doncaster, Dronfield, Cawthorne, Crofton, Felkirk, Horbury, Sandal, Shelley, Sprotborough and the local company. Tea was served in the church schools. The business meeting as held in the same room, the president, Mr. N. F. Moxon, being in the chair. Four new members were elected. Thanks were given to the Vicar for the use of the bells and to Mr. S. Dance and the local company for making the arrangements.

The March meeting will be held at Felkirk as a farewell meeting to the Vicar, the Rev. Donald Moxon, who is leaving soon after Easter to take up new duties at Brighouse.

Further ringing followed until about 8.30 p.m. in a variety of methods including some of the old favourites; good use was made of the bells during the afternoon and evening.

LANCASHIRE ASSOCIATION*Rochdale Branch's Party

On February 3rd, the Rochdale Branch of the Lancashire Association held their annual party. This time it was St. Mark's, Glodwick, who were the hosts. The first contingent arrived by motor coach from Rochdale and whilst the non-ringing women folk took the first bus to the town's shopping centre, the ringers got to work on the rather sweet-toned ring of eight. All sections were catered for in the ringing: rounds and thirds for the learners, up to the more advanced classes.

At 4.30 they all filed into the church where the Vicar (the Rev. R. H. Cadman) conducted the service. The St. Mark's ringers provided the organist, the soloist and the lesson reader. A very appropriate address, with bells as the main theme, was given by Mr. John Whitworth, one of the churchwardens. Tea followed in the schoolroom, the company numbering 60.

Until the social evening got into its stride, some of the ringers returned to the tower for a few quick touches, and then to 'bring them in.' Both old time and modern dancing kept everyone busy and short breathing spaces brought back the soloist and the Oldham Handbell Ringers, who were very well received with all tunes. Mr. Whitworth presented a few typical stories of the time-honoured types of cotton mill workers—a never-ending source of amusement in this part of the country.

SUSSEX COUNTY ASSOCIATION*Western Division at Pulborough

Twenty-two towers were represented by 62 ringers at the annual meeting of the Western Division of the Sussex County Association held at Pulborough on February 17th.

The Rector (the Rev. G. H. W. Royle) and Mrs. Royle contributed largely to the success of the meeting and prepared tea in the Rectory.

Mr. G. W. Cecil paid his first visit to the Division as Master of the Association and received a warm welcome as he took the chair for the business meeting.

The report for 1950 showed an increase in membership but a slight loss financially on the year's working. Only one ring of bells (the five at Pagham) is unringable in the Division. Restorations have been completed during the year at Arundel, Amberley, Lymminster and S. Harting. Officers were re-elected; a ballot for a new committee proved without a doubt the confidence the meeting had in the retiring members.

Thanks were expressed to all who had helped with the arrangements, particularly the Rector and Mrs. Royle for the splendid tea, and to the Master for attending and presiding.

Ringing was somewhat difficult owing to the confined space, but the attendance of so many young people was very encouraging.

NOTICES

The charge for one insertion of a notice of a meeting is one penny per word, minimum 2s. For additional insertions with no change over-half above charge for each insertion.

Other notices one penny per word, minimum 2s. 6d.

All notices must be prepaid.

Notices must be received not later than Monday.

BIRTHS

CORBY.—On Sunday, February 25th, 1951, at 83, Hurstbourne Road, Forest Hill, S.E.23, to Lucile (née Hubbert), wife of Philip A. Corby, a daughter, Judith Mary (a sister for Andrew). 8471

A MESSAGE TO CALL CHANGE RINGERS

By the Rev. A. S. ROBERTS

In the following article, which appeared in the 'Truro Diocesan News Leaflet,' the writer explains the advantages of Method Ringing over Call Changes to the churchpeople of Cornwall.

All ringing must be progressive; otherwise interest wanes. Without suggesting that in the West Country we are backward in the art of ringing, it is a fact that in the face of the evolution of ringing there is much leeway to be made up. Ringing developed and has progressed mostly in and about our large towns and cities, in some instances in rural parts adjoining or when some enthusiast has gone into the country and aroused the interest and imagination of some local band, or if individuals from a group of towers who are then keen enough to meet at a suitable centre for practice. Contacts made through a Diocesan Guild bring this about. Cornwall possesses the most westerly (Sennen) and the most southerly (Landewednack) rings of bells in the British Isles. This signifies our position. We are a long way from the more advanced centres of ringing.

Call change ringing and method ringing are poles apart. In the former one man tells the other five or seven what to do, and sometimes by following a card himself, but in the latter all six or eight are of equal importance, and must know the method and what is to be done by way of their own memories; in fact, the minds of the ringers agree in the working out of a pattern which expresses itself in the continuous changes that are rung. One mental blunder or lapse of mind and the pattern is spoiled—very often irreparably. In call change ringing the same change is repeated many times, and as long as the ringers follow the bell they are told to follow all will be well. I am not writing lightly of call change ringing—it is a main occupation amongst many Cornish ringers—but I do want to point out that it is but the first step in the evolution of change ringing, and the first step in such a progressive and interesting service and pleasure such as bell ringing is not advancing far enough.

Method ringing is so different for it takes us along a path of which at present not even the most advanced ringers know the end. It means that every bell has to change places with its nearest neighbour at every pull (i.e., at hand stroke and back stroke), and by this process hundreds of differing patterns or methods can be produced if worked according to the plans of what are known as the Standard Methods. Method ringing developed in the 17th century. Fabian Stedman, of Cambridge, whose name is famous because of the method he evolved, writing in 1667, says, 'Within the fifty or sixty years last past, changes were not known.' Stedman practised his five-bell changes on the bells in the Saxon tower of St. Benet's, Cambridge, and some years ago the six bells there were completely restored at a cost of £500 by the ringers of England. Norwich (which Trevelyan tells us was once the second city of the kingdom) also gave a lead, for an elaborate board in the ringing chamber at St. Peter Mancroft records the first peal of 5,040 changes ever rung on May 2nd, 1715. From such places and from those days method ringing spread.

In Cornwall there is what might be called a timidity to tackle method ringing as a departure from call change ringing; this is largely because there is far too much of the sense of dependence on one man to call the changes. Method ringing calls upon every member of the band to study and to learn a method, and so the demand is that each ringer must go to the tower to put into practice what is already understood. It is the call to greater co-operation, whereas all but one call change ringer goes into the tower to do as he is bidden. The difference is between individual initiative and direction, or between a higher service and the first steps of that service.

Never condemn method ringing by saying it produces bad striking; this may result if one attempts too much without a reasonable understanding of it, and many expect to achieve it along the lines of call change ringing by being told every blow to strike. This is impossible. Also never condemn call change ringing as such, but only when it is cherished as first and last with no ambition to leave it behind. It may provide excellent practice for beginners in bell control, but as round ringing may be called the five-finger exercise, so call change ringing can rightly be termed an easy exercise for beginners which ought to be turned little by little, and by easy stages, into the more difficult but intriguing methods of simple construction. For three hundred years the practice of method ringing has gone on, pioneers still struggle, and those who see in it something progressive and more worthy of the bells they ring try to stimulate an interest in it.

Begin then in the most elementary way. Ring two bells and the two possible changes on them, then three bells and the six changes, go on to four, five, six and seven bells and the 24, 120, 720 and 5,040 changes respectively possible. When you come to eight bells you will find 40,320 changes are possible. You will not want to ring all these at one attempt, for it would take 24 hours, but you will by then understand enough to know that 'touches' or peals (technically more than 5,000 changes) can be selected of from 80 changes to the full extent. The first essential is that you buy a book; this is as important in ringing as in anything else. 'Ropesight,' Troyte, Powell, the Central Council of Bellringers' publications (even lesser books than these) will lay a solid foundation. You will then proceed to an understanding of diagrams, and it is with the help of these that the progressive ringers go from strength to strength.

The hope is that enthusiasm for method ringing in Cornwall may grow along the proper lines, and that even in the more remote parts an interest may be displayed. There is no greater exercise than that of method ringing, for it is not only physical exercise, but an exercise for the mind. In these days of modern bell hanging the physical side of ringing is thought little about, but the mental exercise is as much as anyone would desire.

EDITORIAL COMMITTEE:

EDWIN H. LEWIS, M.A. (President of Council).

GEORGE W. FLETCHER (Hon. Secretary and Treasurer of Council), The White House,
Caister-on-Sea, Norfolk.

A. A. HUGHES, J.P. (Hon. Treasurer of
'The Ringing World'), 34, Whitechapel
Road, E.1.

MRS. E. K. FLETCHER.

EDITOR: T. W. WHITE.

Orders for Central Council publications should be addressed to Mr. W. H. J. Hooton, Osmington School, Tring, Herts, and not to
Mr. C. W. Woolley, as stated in our last issue.

To-morrow, during the proceedings at the annual meeting of the Surrey Association, a memorial tablet will be dedicated to Mr. Cyril F. Johnston at Croydon Parish Church. It has been cast in bell-metal and the design that he used on bells is being incorporated. The wording is: 'In loving memory of Cyril Frederick Johnston, friend and benefactor of this church, who devoted his life to the art of bell-founding and bell-tuning. Died 30th March, 1950.—They that fear the Lord will not disobey His word; and they that love Him will keep His ways.'

With a peal of Stedman Doubles at Church Broughton, Derbyshire, Mr. Alan Foster has rung Stedman from Doubles to Cinques.

Mr. James George is in St. Mary's Hospital, Poole, suffering from chronic bronchitis. We hope to hear better news in the course of a few days.

Mr. Frank C. Phillippo is the second ringer to ring a peal on each of the six bells at Bunwell, Norfolk. The other is Mr. F. C. Goodman, of Norwich.

Mr. G. A. Naylor of Gillingham, informs us that the peal of Grandsire Triples he conducted at Rainham on February 4th was J. Holt's variation of his 10 part and not arranged by the conductor.

There was a happy gathering at Tunstall,
Kent, on February 17th, where a peal was rung in honour of the birthday of Mr. E. C. Barton, of Borden. A 'right real birthday spread,' provided by Mr. and Mrs. Barton followed the ringing.

The opening words of the evening Collect,
'Lighten our darkness, we beseech Thee,' had just been recited by the Rev. K. C. Davis at Hawley Parish Church when the electric light failed due to a fault at the power station.

BELFRY GOSSIP

The five bells at Sennen, which parish contains the Lands End, have been collected by Messrs. John Taylor and Co.; they are to be returned as a ring of six, and should be dedicated about mid-summer. A cutting from a local paper of March, 1889, says: 'The new peal of five bells to replace the old set of three in the tower of the church at Sennen, passed through Penzance on Tuesday morning en route for the westernmost village in England.' The tenor weighed 5½ cwt. in A, but is to be recast and a new treble added.

Mr. A. P. Cannon has conducted 25 peals of Double Norwich Court Bob in 25 different towers.

Latest success of Mr. George E. Feirn is 46
Major methods 'in hand.' This peal, on February 19th, was the 200th peal together by Mr.
Feirn and Mr. Jack Bray and, by a coincidence, Mr. Feirn and Mr. Philip Barnes' 50th together. Their next step is a peal in 50 methods.

Third attempt lucky—might describe Hale-wood (Lancashire) Sunday service band's attempt to honour the new rector with a peal.
Regret was expressed that Mr. T. W. Hesketh could not be in the peal and this led to the inclusion of Mr. P. W. Cave, who called the peal.

The peal of Grandsire Triples at Ross-on-Wye on February 17th was rung to commemorate the centenary of a peal of Grandsire Triples on February 11th, 1851, which was 'the first true and complete peal of Tripples in the county of Herefordshire.' A marble tablet in the ringing room records this and gives the names of the ringers as:—Humphrey Bird treble, William Bevan 2, Henry Drew 3, Joseph Drew 4, Charles Bullock sen. 5, Charles Bullock jun. 6, John Gammon 7, Richard Carwardine tenor. Conducted by C. Bullock sen. and rung in three hours and two minutes.

THE 63rd HENRY JOHNSON COMMEMORATION DINNER

LORD MAYOR AS MASTER—MASTER OF COLLEGE YOUTHS' GIFT TO ST. MARTIN'S GUILD—SMOKY BIRMINGHAM AND DANTE'S INFERNO

THE 1951 'Henry Johnson' Commemoration Dinner held last Saturday at the Imperial Hotel, Birmingham, will go down in history. Never before has a Lord Mayor of Birmingham, been, during his year of office, Master of the St. Martin's Guild for the Diocese of Birmingham. Ald. A. Paddon Smith, who has this dual office and honour, presided and with wit, grace and epigram kept the attendance of 195 ringers, from as far north as Yorkshire and Sussex in the south, delighted and happy. The Lord Mayor knows not only his own city but the St. Martin's Guild. For 20 years, as a young man, he was secretary of the Guild.

The occasion was made more memorable by the presentation to the Guild of a new peal book, the personal gift of Mr. J. Frank Smallwood, the Master of the Ancient Society of College Youths.

Organisation of the dinner and the peal attempts was by Mr. George E. Fearn, the hon. secretary of the Guild. It was marked by his customary efficiency and smoothness, characteristics that accompany his many peals. The felicitations of the company were extended to him on a very happy re-union.

After the loyal toast, apologies were announced by the hon. secretary from the Bishop of Birmingham, who sent his good wishes, the Archdeacon of Birmingham, the Rev. Brian S. W. Green, Mr. J. Freeman, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Croft, Messrs. C. Rouse, A. B. Davis, James George (the oldest member and vice-president of St. Martin's Guild), H. Spencer, F. B. Yates, T. H. Reeves, W. T. Froggitt, H. J. Poole and the Rev. G. H. Codrington.

The toast of 'Church and State and the City of Birmingham' was proposed by Mr. F. E. Haynes. He said if they believed what many expressed, they would have grave doubts as to the future of the Church and State, but he did not share that pessimism. When he first came to Birmingham, 20 years ago, he thought of Shelley's description of London—"Like hell, a smoky and populous city." Birmingham at first sight was smoky and populous. It was now more populous but not so smoky because of the lack of fires (laughter). He would say, long might it continue to be smoky and populous.

Ald. Paddon Smith, in his reply, said as Lord Mayor he had to be very careful in his observations about the State—but what a state it was in! There was one thing, however, to be said for their old city—it was very healthy. 'We certainly make some smoke,' he added, 'but we shall probably make less in the future because as soon as we have an ample supply of coal we shall have no more metal—at any rate by the way things were managed, it looked like that in future. At the present time they had a tremendous problem of housing by the fact that they got labour from all parts of the country.'

THE VILLA AND RELEGATION

Canon F. F. G. Warman said as they grew older they were in a position to reply more and more for the State. He did not know how far the Lord Mayor was nationalised but as far as his section of the toast was concerned the relationship of the Church and State in England was unique.

It had been mentioned that the bells were connected with the Church and the State. The sound came from inside the Church and went out to all the people of the State. The bells not only called them to church but rang out for occasions of national emergency and rejoicing. He believed that the bells of Aston were once rung to celebrate Aston Villa F.C. winning the F.A. Cup.

The Lord Mayor in adding his confirmation, said his only hope was that there would not be a request to ring them half-muffled at the end of the present season! (Laughter.)

The toast 'To the memory of Henry Johnson' was submitted by Mr. Edgar C. Shepherd, who remarked that they knew very little of the life of Stedman or Annable or a number of the early ringers but with their own Henry Johnson they were more fortunate because they had people who knew him and also the memories of John Day, which he hoped would one day be published in book form.

'We have it from Day that Johnson as a composer in his time was unique and that as regards honour and integrity he could think of no one except Jasper Snowden who was so much quoted as a reference in a dispute. It was Johnson who sat in the belfry of Burton-on-Trent when the silent peal was rung and his words at the end have often been quoted: "This feat may be equalled but never excelled."

They might remember the dispute over Treble Bob when the writer wrote to the "Bell News" 'the composition was by Henry Johnson; there can, therefore, be nothing wrong with it.'

In Aston belfry there was a most delightful picture of the old gentleman dressed in his homely suit and with a twinkle in his eye. He would have enjoyed himself had he been with them that evening.

The toast was drunk in silence and the Master then asked those who knew Henry Johnson to stand. There was only one present, Mr. Charles Williams.

MEN OF THE HIGHEST INTEGRITY

Mr. J. Frank Smallwood, Master of the Ancient Society of College Youths proposed 'Continued Prosperity to St. Martin's Guild.' There were, he said, definite reasons for that prosperity and they did not need to look very far for them. The Guild had been conducted by men of the highest integrity—and he could claim nearly 50 years' membership of the Guild. He recalled the late Ald. Pritchett, whose nephew they were pleased to have with them that night.

Another stalwart was the late Mr. Godden, an excellent ringer and an excellent man who was secretary of the Guild for 20 years. He was succeeded as secretary by their present chairman, who was then a very dapper young man and it was very pretty to watch him in those days put the 11th of St. Martin's in its place. He was succeeded by Tom Reeves, who served the Guild faithfully as secretary for 20 years and they had now with them Mr. George Fearn, who was on the way for his 20 years of service.

Of the ringers of St. Martin's, Mr. Smallwood mentioned Bill Barber, Bill Short, Jim Groves and that great little man, Albert Walker, whom they hoped to have with them for many years. He did not think the enormous amount of work that 'great little man' had done for the Guild was appreciated. It was typical of his modesty that at the last general meeting he insisted on retiring from the office of Master in favour of the Lord Mayor in order to give the Guild increased kudos. St. Martin's was a Guild without factions or cliques; they always pulled together and the high standard of ringing made them such a strong power in the art.

Mr. W. G. Critchley (Ringing Master of the Guild) and Mr. George E. Fearn responded to the toast. The latter said there were two reasons for the success of the Guild which were often overlooked. Much had been said about the officers of the Guild but they would be useless without the loyal support of the members. Another thing that contributed to their success was that their bells were in excellent ringing order.

Yesterday he heard of a tower, not in the area of the Guild, that was spending £300 on the rehanging of the bells and had given the contract to the local carpenter. It was a difficult thing to persuade vicars and parochial church councillors that the rehanging of bells was a specialist's job and that money could be wasted through inexperience.

NEW PEAL BOOK

The Master of the College Youths then presented to the Guild a new peal book which was beautifully bound. In making the presentation, Mr. Smallwood said he would like the Lord Mayor to accept it 'in grateful remembrance of the many happy years he had spent in the City.'

The Lord Mayor thanked Mr. Smallwood for his gift and said that the donor had told him that he learnt all he knew about change-ringing in their city. The gift, said Ald. Paddon Smith, was very handsome and costly. The book was made in the city of Birmingham by one of their most highly-respected members, Mr. John Pinfold.

Mr. Albert Walker, who proposed the toast of 'The Visitors,' also expressed his thanks to Mr. Smallwood. In welcoming the visitors, he had a special greeting for Mr. George Newton, of Liverpool, as representing the older generation, and Mr. T. Mark White, hon. secretary of the Roving Ringers, as representing young ringers.

Mr. Cecil J. Matthews, of The Royal Society of Cumberland Youths responded, and said his father rang a peal of Cinques at Birmingham in 1903. It was 46 years later that he rang a peal of Cinques in that city and he expressed the hope that his son would have the same privilege.

Mr. R. B. Meadows, of The Oxford University Society, who is spending a few months in Birmingham, regretted that he had to restrict his ringing to Sundays and one practice night a week. References had been made to smoky Birmingham. To him it seemed like Dante's Inferno—a combination of George and Henry 'in Fearn-o.' (laughter).

*RINGING WORLD' PROGRESS

Mr. F. W. Perrens proposed the toast of 'The Ringing World,' to which the Editor replied and mentioned that the circulation had increased by 10 less than 2,000 during his editorship and that their paper ration for the next quarter would permit of 250 more subscribers and maintaining the paper at 16 pages. He appealed to those present to help in advancing the paper so that when the Central Council meeting was held at York it could be said that the ration was fully absorbed.

The concluding toast of 'The Chairman' was submitted by Ald. T. B. Pritchett, who spoke of the cheerful qualities and high example Ald. Paddon Smith had set during his year of office and the pleasure that he had been fully restored to health. Ald. Pritchett also mentioned the charming manner in which the Lady Mayoress had fulfilled her duties.

The chairman expressed his gratitude and thanks for the toast and the Lady Mayoress also replied and added that she was enjoying every minute of her duties as Lady Mayoress.

The musical programme was contributed to by Messrs. A. E. Barley, H. J. Summers and A. V. Pearson with Mr. E. J. Woodhall as accompanist. Two courses of Stedman Cinques were also rung on handbells by F. E. Haynes 1-2, F. W. Perrens, 3-4, A. Walker 5-6, G. F. Smallwood 7-8, F. E. Pervin 9-10, G. E. Fearn 11-12.

OXFORD DIOCESAN GUILD

There was a very good attendance at the annual meeting of the Reading Branch which was held at St. Laurence's. Reading on February 24th. The Vicar conducted the service and a most interesting address was given by the Vicar of Dunsden (the Rev. Amies).

At the business meeting, which followed an excellent tea, the Rev. C. P. Sherwood, Vicar of Mapledurham, was re-elected branch chairman, Mr. P. Dyke was elected branch Ringing Master in the place of Mr. Cyril Watts, who, to the great loss of the branch, has moved to London, and Mr. A. Diserens was elected branch treasurer and secretary, taking the place of Mr. T. Lanaghan, who has unfortunately had to resign the office owing to pressure of business.

The meeting expressed their appreciation of Mr. Edgar Humfrey's splendid record of long service as a ringer—over 60 years—and especially of his taking part in a well-struck peal of Stedman Cinques at St. Lawrence's in his 81st year.

St. Mary's bells were also made available after the meeting and the ringing ranged from rounds for the many young beginners to Stedman Cinques and London Surprise for those a 'little older in the tooth' (one of them having reached the ripe old age of 14 years).

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

BELFRYMANSHIP

Dear Sir,—R. B. Meadows' preliminary article on Belfrymanship comes as a welcome reminder that Spring is on the way. However, before his second article appears in print, which will of course help us to grasp and apply the finer points of belfrymanship (including steepleman-ship), I must point out that his illustration of 'showing the white flag,' which occurred at Carterbar (8, tenor 19 cwt.) I believe is actually, of course, S. Potter's chivalry gambit, 'Lifemanship,' Vol. I., Chap. III., p. 117, 1st Edition, 1950. This was used, as he says, with great effect and the bellringer concerned should have had belfrywoman status conferred forthwith.

I await with eagerness the latest work on towerclothesmanship including the old-sally-ploy which I believe has been perfected by the workers at Yeovil and, of course, basic tenor-manship.—Yours faithfully,

P. H. A. JONASON.

East Harling, Norfolk.

Dear Sir,—I should like to congratulate and thank Mr. Meadows on his grand article that came as a breath of fresh air into a stuffy room. No doubt the quasi-statistical nature of 'The Ringing World' makes it inevitable that the menu is a trifle heavy, but that in turn makes a really light contribution the more acceptable when we get it. I hope that we shall get many more racy articles from Mr. Meadows' facile pen.

Perhaps he will tell us if he was ever in the R.A.F.? Belfrymanship strikes a familiar note. During the last war some wrecker of the English language coined that abomination 'Manmaster-ship,' which took root and continued to be the official definition of the art of looking after one's man. Thank heaven the W.A.A.F. never tried to parallel it with 'Womanmistresship.'

Anyhow, bravo, Mr. Meadows, and 'go again.'—Yours faithfully, T. V. LISTER.
Apperley House, Glos.

SOUTH OF ENGLAND RINGERS' RALLY

Dear Sir.—The committee of the above annual event have decided to hold the rally and dinner in Christchurch this year on Saturday, May 5th.

It was felt that some ringers might like a peal attempt on that day, and others a coach tour of the district's belfries; therefore we hope more ringers than ever will wish to come and that they will make their wishes known at an early date. The Vicar of Christchurch has kindly given permission for the bells to be available both morning and afternoon if required. The peal attempts will probably be arranged at one or more of the eight-bell towers but a six-bell tower is also available.

I shall be happy to furnish further details to any ringers.—Yours faithfully,

ARTHUR DAVIS, Hon. Sec.

116, Alma Road,
Bournemouth.

ST. ANDREW'S, HOLBORN

Dear Sir.—The notice of A. Darnell's death was not published as written by J. W. E. and would convey the impression that St. Andrew's still ring out. Unfortunately the bells were destroyed during the war and ringers who are alive and were regular service ringers there rarely meet each other now. We hear of each other via the good efforts of our captain, J. Hawkins, and sometimes we meet each other when one or two of us are invited to other towers.

Before the war, St. Andrew's was the only open and friendly tower with regular service ringing in London. This was because our captain gave everyone a chance to ring any bell and call a touch and did all he could to promote friendship. Under such conditions we usually enjoyed good ringing. I would be pleased if I could just listen to them broadcasting.

J. W. E.

VALUE OF RINGING COMPETITIONS

Dear Sir,—Mr. R. B. Meadows' article on Belfrymanship makes most delightful reading. However, I feel he has omitted to mention the summit of Belfrymanship, which so few of us have the courage to attain. I refer to those who write letters or articles to 'The Ringing World' under noms de plume!

It seems that I might be accused of being guilty of this as in one recent letter my name was referred to as Semmons. The writer seemed to think that I was unaware of the details of West Country ringing, especially that in Cornwall, while inspection of the correct spelling of my name would give an indication of the county (or country) of my origin, namely, Cornwall, where change-ringing appears to be on the ascendant, at least in that half of the county remote from Devon!

On a more serious note, there are some points in Mr. Grills' letter which I would like to reply to.

When the recording of the B.B.C.'s interval signal was made, I understand that the band met one short for chance-ringing, so that the call-changes were not planned, but purely the result of circumstance.

I think the main reason why 'stoney' is looked upon so unfavourably by the majority of the Exercise is that 'stoney' ringers are content to ring the same thing without making any progress. A change-ringing band capable of striking Plain Bob perfectly would also practise more complicated methods until those too could be rung equally well. Also it is much easier to strike bells correctly when on the average each bell never moves in the order more than once a minute.

Devonshire has some fine rings of bells but, during many years spent there, I have heard several misused—one example being when the front six of an octave were rung by some visiting ringers because they were nearer the weight of their own bells at home.

The ringing competitions do a lot in Devon to improve the standard of ringing and an extension of competitions such as those held by the Hereford Guild to other change-ringing areas, would probably result in much improved striking and even in increased numbers in our belfries.—Yours faithfully, Middlesbrough. P. S. W. B. SEMMENS.

RINGERS' ROLL OF HONOUR

The following is additional to the previous two lists published in 'The Ringing World':—
Hertford County Association.

BUCKELL, P., Stanmore.

LAWRENCE, R., Hatfield.

SHEPHERD, R., Hatfield.

HALL, R., Hatfield.

CARLIN, Lt.-Comdr., R.N.V.R., Bushey.

EAST, E., St. Paul's, Walden.

GRANDSIRE DOUBLES

(By a Lady Ringer at Rye, Hants)

These Grandsire rules will keep you right

When ringing the bells on practice night.

If the Captain calls 'now Grandsire go.'

The treble begins to hunt in slow.

A single dodge for each hindmost bell

The third makes thirds then leads as well.

If no call is made then all hunt plain

Until the treble leaves lead again.

But if bob is called and you're in the lead,

Your work is unaltered so take no heed.

If in seconds place, then thirds you make,

Go into the hunt, and the treble take.

And out of the hunt comes the old hunt bell.

Who double dodges behind as well.

If leading when single is called you'll want

To make seconds place and go into the hunt.

But the ringer in seconds place take heed.

For you make long thirds, before going to lead.

And a single dodge you will make as well

If the next leads plain, with the old hunt bell.

Now if all these rules you understand,

You're a Grandsire ringer, so I'll say STAND.

OBITUARY

MR. THOMAS M. GRIFFIN

The news of the death of Mr. Thomas M. Griffin was received by his many ringing friends in the Bath and Wells Diocesan Association with much regret. He passed away very suddenly at his home in Radstock on February 12th at the age of 77, and was in good health and very active up to the time of his death. He last rang in his home tower on February 6th and was then, as usual, of the cheerful and friendly disposition which endeared him to all.

He learnt to ring when a boy, at Wraxall, Somerset, where there were only six bells. He moved to Radstock whilst still in his teens and, up to the time of his death was the oldest surviving member of the old Wraxall band. Mr. Griffin was also a life member of the Gloucester and Bristol Diocesan Association, and a life member of the Salisbury Diocesan Guild.

Mr. Griffin took a great interest in his own tower and the neighbouring towers around, whenever he could visit them, and was always encouraging and helping the younger members who were learning the art. He seemed happier when amongst the learners.

He leaves a widow and two sons. His eldest son rang his first peal at the age of 13 and conducted his first peal at the age of 14.

Mr. Griffin's quiet and amiable disposition will be sadly missed by all at St. Nicholas', Radstock, and the neighbouring towers around, and those who were privileged to call him 'Father' will be the poorer for his passing.

The funeral service was held at the Church of St. Nicholas, Radstock, on February 15th and was conducted by the Rector (the Rev. W. G. E. Evans) assisted by the Vicar of Kilmersdon (the Rev. W. B. Vernon). A large number of ringers, representing many towers were present. The Rector, in a short address from the pulpit, remarked that Thomas Griffin had been for more than half a century a ringer and tower master at the church, also a sidesman, church councillor and a member of the C.E.M.S. The church was part of his life and he had given it a long and devoted service. Known by his many ringing friends as 'Father' Griffin, he was always ready to give advice when needed; he was a 'father' to all and, by his passing, will be missed in the belfry for a very long time.

The service was fully choral. The coffin was borne by four fellow-ringers, Messrs. F. Carter, E. Bradfield, A. Mundy and E. Pain, all of whom had been associated with Mr. Griffin for nearly 30 years.

At the conclusion of the service a quarter-peal of Doubles was rung half-muffled as a tribute of respect by the following ringers:—F. Carter 1, J. Holbrook 2, H. Hawkins 3, D. Hoare (conductor) 4, G. Pomeroy 5, E. Connock 6.

The Parish Churches of Kilmersdon, Priston and Paulton also paid respect to 'Father' Griffin by half-muffled ringing and a quarter-peal of Grandsire Doubles was rung at Kilmersdon and a quarter-peal of Single Court at Paulton as a tribute of respect to him.

Mr. Griffin rang, in all, 97 peals. His last peal was on February 2nd, ten days before his death, at his home tower of St. Nicholas', Radstock. The peal was Minor, composed of Oxford Bob and Plain Bob and was rung to celebrate his 77th birthday.

His peals, up to the year 1933, were:—Stedman Cinques 1, Stedman Caters 1, Grandsire Caters 5, Bob Major 3, Stedman Triples 9, Grandsire Triples 21, Bob Minor 10, Minor peals 14, Grandsire Doubles 3, Doubles peals 11. No record of peals beyond that date are to hand. E. F. C.

RADLEY, BERKS.—On Feb. 18th, 1,260 Doubles (being 120 each of St. Simon's and Reverse Canterbury, 360 each of Stedman and Plain Bob and 300 of Grandsire); Diana Llewellyn Jones 1, Marie R. Cross 2, Elizabeth Llewellyn Jones 3, Ruth Paton (cond.) 4, Hilary Eason 5, Rev. J. V. Pixell 6. First quarter in five methods by all. Rung for the conductor's 18th birthday.

LOSS TO THE LANCASHIRE ASSOCIATION

MR. W. H. SHUKER

The guiding figure behind the Lancashire Association, Mr. William H. Shuker, of 36, Colwyn Avenue, Fallowfield, Manchester, died on February 14th, aged 80 years. Since 1911 he had been secretary of the Association and would have completed 40 years' service had he continued until the next annual meeting. He had announced his intention of retiring from office.

Born at Little Drayton, Salop, on August 9th, 1870, he joined the Lancashire Association in 1897. Mr. Shuker was a member of the famous Pendleton band, led by Harry Chapman and rang his first peal at Pendleton on August 23rd, 1897. Another famous member of this band was Mr. J. W. Washbrook, who spent some years with them.

Mr. Shuker rang 153 peals for the Lancashire Association and was also a member of the Ancient Society of College Youths, the Yorkshire Association, the Chester Diocesan Guild, the North Wales Association, the Ashton-under-Lyne Society and the Middlesex County Association.

He had been a member of the Central Council for over 20 years and during that time never missed a meeting. He gave his full support to anything which he considered to be in the best interest of the art of change ringing. This applied equally to his duties as secretary of the Lancashire Association. The last meeting he attended was at Preston and that was the last time he went out of his house; such was his tenacity for doing his job.

'The Association will miss this old timer,' writes a correspondent, 'whose knowledge of procedure in the Lancashire Association was second to none, and we who are left to carry on the job will miss him tremendously.'

The funeral service took place at St. James', Rusholme, and was followed by cremation.

To his memory peals have been rung at Manchester Cathedral, St. George's, Stockport, and St. John the Evangelist, Miles Platting, Manchester.

MR. C. H. SONE

The news of the death of Mr. Charlie Sone on February 20th came quite unexpectedly, but influenza with bronchitis in its wake has claimed another victim and we shall see our 'grand old man' no more.

Charles Henry Sone was born at Hartlip, Kent, on November 1st, 1867, and lived all his long life in the 'Garden County of England,' tending its soil as only a gardener knows how. For nearly 40 years he had lived at Linton, on the ridge of hill which overlooks the glorious Weald country, and it is with this village that his name is identified.

Yet Mr. Sone was nearly 45 when he moved into the Maidstone District of the Kent County Association where he was soon playing an active role at meetings. So when in 1924 he was elected District Secretary in succession to Mr. S. Hayzelden he was already in his 57th year. He held office until 1935 but, as a war emergency, took over for a second time at 72 years of age and held the fort for a further seven years before finally relinquishing command. It was little wonder then that his Association recognised his work by electing him to a vice-presidency and that his ringing colleagues sought to show their esteem by the presentation of a radio set. That day, just over four years ago, when a large company of over 70 assembled at Linton to do him honour will long be remembered.

Charlie Sone rang his last peal at Wrotham on April 1st, 1939, to complete a list which, if not in the higher flights, is still most impressive for one who enjoyed little opportunity for venturing far afield. Indeed, all but two of his total of 284 were rung in Kent, the exceptions being in neighbouring Sussex. Of these he conducted 52, and his son, T. E. Sone, another 153. Peals were scored in 54 Kent towers, but over 60 per cent. were rung in seven towers only—Aylesford 12, Hadlow 15, West Malling 23, Headcorn 26, Staplehurst 27, Marden 31 and Linton 40. Perhaps it is appropriate that the favourite method of this very Kentish Kentishman was Kent Treble Bob.

But what shall we remember of the man himself? Three characteristics stand out; first a generosity of spirit which precluded any thought of unkindness, malice or even anger; secondly, a physical generosity which was very evident in the household at Linton whether providing a much-appreciated tea to the peal band or giving a filling breakfast and a shilling for the pocket to the vagrant; thirdly, a mannerism, when standing, of sticking his thumbs in the armpits of his waistcoat.

It was, therefore, with a feeling of thankfulness for a life well lived that we bore witness to the committal of his bodily remains to his beloved soil in the precincts of Linton Church, the words of the Nunc Dimittis springing into life as we sang them: 'Now lettest Thy servant depart in peace.' His ringing friends then found their way up the ladder through the trap door to the old familiar ringing chamber and paid their respect in the way that Charlie would have wished. E. S. J. H.

MR. GEORGE W. TERNBURY

The Cumberland and North Westmorland Association lost a valued member by the death of Mr. George W. Ternbury on January 12th after only a few days' illness.

Since he began ringing in 1901 he was best known as an instructor who was ready at any time to help a young ringer in the art. From 1923 he was assistant secretary to the Association and in 1925 was one of the band that rang the bells of Carlisle Cathedral which had been silent for 180 years. He rang 14 peals.

The funeral took place at Cleator Moor on January 15th and was attended by a large congregation which included ringers from Egremont, Keswick and Hensingham.

A quarter-peal of Grandsire Triples was rung fully muffled at Egremont on January 28th by Miss J. D. Forbes 1, W. Cook 2, J. A. Haile 3, S. Richardson (conductor) 4, J. H. Rothery 5, H. Wilson 6, A. Eilbeck 7, T. McKay 8.

OXFORD UNIVERSITY SOCIETY LUNCH

More Competent Ringers Up Than Ever Before

OXFORD University Society held its annual lunch on February 3rd and was joined during the day by many old members and friends. Ringing began at 11 a.m. at St. Thomas' and St. Mary Magdalene's. In between the arrival of visitors, methods up to Surprise were brought round. At 12.30 both parties met for a service in the choir of the University Church of St. Mary the Virgin. This was conducted by the Vicar of St. Mary's, Dr. R. S. Lee, assisted by the President of the Society, the Rev. C. E. Wigg. Dr. Lee preached the sermon.

The company was joined at lunch, in the Forum, by the incumbents of St. Mary's, St. Mary Magdalene's, St. Thomas', and St. Cross' and by representatives of the City Ringers. The president was in the chair.

SOCIETY FLOURISHING

After the loyal toast, the president called on Dr. J. E. Spice to propose 'The Clergy.' Dr. Spice commenced by saying how pleased he was to see the Society in such a flourishing condition and cited, as an example, the peal attempt for Stedman Cinques at Christ Church in which seven resident members had taken part. This was a great contrast to the days when it had been a struggle to ring Grandsire Doubles.

Being in a reminiscing mood, and unhampered by the fact that none of the clergy he had dealt with were still in Oxford, Dr. Spice went on to indulge in anecdotes of ringing during his term of office as Master. Many of the difficulties O.U.S. had experienced had been due to their being a mixed society in days when there was objection to lady ringers mainly on the grounds that, in the words of one incumbent, 'When the sexes get together in the belfry, there are goings on.' He was pleased to see that difficulty no longer existed.

In replying, the Rev. J. C. Stephenson, Vicar of St. Mary Magdalene's, gratified his listeners with selections from his dealings with ringers and with non-ringers. It was difficult to judge whether the real reason behind the notices requesting that the doors of his church be kept shut, or the story of the acrimonious correspondence with a man from Balliol on the subject of Sunday morning ringing, was more to the taste of his listeners: though with no Balliol man in the Society, the latter story probably had it.

EASTERN COUNTIES' 'BUN FIGHT'

The next toast was that of 'The Guests,' proposed by Mr. R. B. Meadows. After regretting the absence of several worthies, presumably at a bun-fight in the Eastern Counties, Mr. Meadows went on to welcome the guests and, in particular, Miss Cross and M. Rognvald Wilson. He then extended a welcome to the Oxford City Ringers, who always contributed so much to the University Society's ringing.

Miss Cross, replying on behalf of the guests, stressed the close contact there had always been between the University Society and the Oxford Diocesan Guild. This had been heightened by the fact that three O.U.S. members, the Rev. F. E. Robinson, Canon G. F. Coleridge and the Rev. C. E. Wigg, had been Masters of the Diocesan Guild. She hoped relations would remain as close as at present.

The last toast, 'The Oxford University Society,' was proposed by Mr. Rognvald Wilson. He reminded members how lucky they were to live in a city so well supplied with bells, more than there were in all Scotland. He sympathised with Oxford men at having to leave such riches behind after an all too short three years, but bade them remember the advantages of such a stay. The continual finding of new leaders in their own areas would always be for the good of the Exercise in general.

Mr. N. G. McCrum then rose to give his report as Master for the preceding year. He endorsed what Dr. Spice had said about the strength of the Society. It was to be doubted whether so many competent ringers had ever been up at one time before. This was reflected in the high standard of the ringing. He also praised the handbell bands of Somerville and St. Hilda's, both of which had scored peals and had prevented handbell ringing becoming a lost and unremembered art. But he felt most people's interests lay chiefly in the tower, and he looked forward to greater achievements in this sphere for the coming year.

At 3 p.m. the party moved to New College. Here the standard methods and a course of Yorkshire were rung. At 4 p.m. a move was made to the finer ten at Magdalen. Rounds, Grandsire, Stedman, Erin, Kent and Cambridge were achieved. At 6 p.m. the last tower of the day, All Saints', was open. Ringing ranged from rounds to attempts at Spliced Surprise. By this time all but the most hardy spirits were satiated and a general move was made for refreshment.

THE SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD

West Dorset Branch

The quarterly meeting of the West Dorset Branch at Litton Cheney, on February 24th, brought together an attendance of about 40 from West Dorset towers and from the North Dorset and Dorchester branches with visitors from Templecombe. No doubt the recently augmented ring of eight was an additional attraction. The bells were kept going during the afternoon and evening in call changes and methods ranging from Grandsire Triples to Yorkshire, Cambridge and London Surprise Major.

Canon E. S. Daniell, the Rector, was just well enough to get up from his bed and officiate at the service, assisted by Canon C. Carew Cox, the Master of the Guild. The Rector's brief, practical address was much appreciated.

An ample tea was provided through the generous hospitality of the local ringers and many who had not sent in their names were fortunate in being able to sit down to enjoy it.

At the outset of the business meeting Mr. C. H. Lathey, hon. branch secretary, voiced the congratulations of the Branch to the Master and Chairman on his appointment to an Honorary Canonry of Salisbury Cathedral.

The statement of accounts showed the Branch to be well in funds with a balance of £27 12s.

The next meeting was arranged for Beaminster on April 21st, and three new members, Mrs. Clothier, Mrs. Samways and Edward Fry, were elected from Litton Cheney.

The chairman made known some of the arrangements made by the general committee for the annual meeting of the Salisbury Guild to be held at Wimborne Minster on April 28th and it was agreed that a coach should be run for the benefit of West Dorset ringers.

It was also agreed that, in response to the recommendation of the general committee, a contribution should be made from the branch funds towards the excessive cost of printing the annual report, and it was resolved to support the proposal that all ringers who wished their peals recorded in the report should be charged a booking fee of 6d. for each member ringing.

A comprehensive vote of thanks to the Rector for his welcome and the use of the bells; to the organist and choir; to the local ringers for providing the tea and to the ladies responsible for serving it, was carried with acclamation.

LONDON COUNTY ASSOCIATION

Annual General Meeting

THE annual general meeting of the London County Association and North Southwark Diocesan Guild was held on February 17th at Southwark Cathedral. Before the meeting the towers of St. Mary's, Lambeth, and St. Botolph's, Bishopsgate, were also available.

A large gathering attended Sung Evensong in the Cathedral, and about 80 members met for tea and the business meeting in the Cathedral Chapter House afterwards. The meeting was addressed by the Hon. Chaplain of the Association, the Very Rev. H. E. Ashdown, Provost of Southwark Cathedral, who stressed the importance of the work of such voluntary bodies as Guilds and Associations of Church Bell-ringers.

The officers elected for the ensuing year were: Master, Mr. T. H. Taffender; hon. general secretary, Mr. H. W. Rogers; assistant secretaries, Mr. N. G. Hollingworth and Miss A. M. Castle; hon. treasurer, Mr. G. J. Strickland; senior steward, Mr. C. M. Meyer; junior steward, Mr. J. H. Lott; trustees, Mr. A. H. Keighley and Mr. T. W. Taffender.

ORGANISED SUNDAY RINGING

The Master reported a successful year for 1950. Fifteen peals were rung, an increase of three over 1949, 45 members taking part. Methods ranged from Stedman Triples to Yorkshire Surprise Royal. Nineteen new members were elected during the year. A very important part of the Association's work had been the continued rotation ringing for Sunday services at towers where no local band was available. This activity has been carried out on 48 Sundays during the year at 12 different towers by companies organised by the Master, and at eight different towers by ringers from Isleworth. On the majority of these occasions quarter-peals had been rung, and in addition to Surprise Major included such methods as Stedman and Erin Caters, Kent and Granta Treble Bob Royal and also Cambridge and Yorkshire Surprise Royal.

The Master mentioned matters connected with ringing for the Festival of Britain, and stated that opportunity would be given to members to assist the local company in ringing at the Festival Church, St. John's, Waterloo Road.

The meeting stood in silence as a mark of respect to the memory of nine members who had passed away during the year. Among these was Mr. Henry R. Newton, a past Master of the Association, and in whose memory a peal of Yorkshire Surprise Major had been rung.

Members were urged, and visitors invited, to attend the Associations meetings and practices. The latter are held on the first Monday evening in each month at St. Mary's, Lambeth, for all methods, and on the third Wednesday evening in each month at St. Stephen's, Westminster, primarily for advanced Major methods.

HANDBELL CONTEST

After the conclusion of the business, the annual contest took place for the 'Dawe' Handbell Cup, for which competitors are required to ring at least a full course, consisting of not less than 70 changes in any method on eight bells. Four teams entered for the competition, one each from All Saints', Isleworth, and St. Lawrence's, Brentford, and two from St. Luke's, Chelsea. One of the Chelsea teams and the Isleworth team rang a plain course of Stedman Triples: the second Chelsea team rang a plain course of St. Clement's Bob Triples, and the Brentford team rang a plain course of Grandsire Triples. The cup was awarded to the Brentford band, consisting of Miss Gillian R. Cumber 1-2, Miss Gillian R. Lamont 3-4, Mr. Geoffrey Dodds 5-6, Mr. Colin R. Lamont 7-8.

ASTON, BIRMINGHAM. — On Feb. 25th, 1950 Grandsire Caters: A. Allen 1, A. H. S. Rainey 2, F. W. Rishworth 3, G. H. Williams 4, A. Short 5, J. W. Pettigrew 6, J. L. Gray 7, G. Davis (firm) cond. on ten bells 8. E. J. Franklin 9, H. Dickens 10.

REDEDICATION St. John's, Sidcup

Sunday, February 11th, was a day that will long be remembered by the ringers of St. John's, Sidcup. Despite the inclement weather, a large gathering was present when the Lord Bishop of Rochester rededicated the ring of six bells recently retuned and rebung by Messrs. Mears and Stainbank.

In the absence, unfortunately through illness, of the Vicar (Canon C. E. Webb) morning prayer was conducted by the curate (the Rev. J. R. John). At the conclusion of the office and during the singing of the hymn 'Set between the Earth and Heaven' the Bishop, accompanied by the clergy and churchwardens and preceded by the crucifer and acolytes, moved in procession to the baptistery where the prayers of dedication were said.

The local ringers were entrusted with the opening ringing and while the Bishop was returning to the altar, 60 changes of Grandsire Doubles were rung by Miss M. Kotting 1, P. P. Brown 2, G. F. Green 3, L. J. Crowhurst 4, C. E. Palmer (conductor) 5 and C. M. Sayer 6.

At the conclusion of the service the Bishop visited the ringing chamber where he was photographed with the ringers and he subsequently proceeded to the bell-chamber.

As the congregation left the church three courses of Plain Bob Minor were rung by Messrs. P. P. Brown 1, J. Dafters 2, A. S. Richards 3, F. I. Hairs 4, P. J. Snice 5 and C. E. Palmer (conductor) 6. Ringers were present from Bexley, Bromley, Crayford, Erith, Lewisham and West Wickham. The firm of Messrs. Mears and Stainbank was represented by Mr. W. A. Hughes.

On February 24th a gathering of about 35 ringers from surrounding towers were present at an open meeting. Ringing commenced at 3.30 and continued until 5 o'clock when the party adjourned to the Church Hall for tea which was prepared by the local lady ringers and their friends. At 6 o'clock a service of thanksgiving was held in the church, conducted by the Rev. J. R. John. Further ringing followed ranging from rounds for beginners to Cambridge and Ipswich Minor. Ringers were present from Bexley, Beckenham, Crayford, Dartford, Erith and West Wickham and the ringing finished at 8 p.m., everybody agreeing that Messrs. Mears and Stainbank had made an excellent job of the restoration.

LEEDS AND DISTRICT SOCIETY February Meeting at Birstall

The monthly meeting was held at Birstall, the original home of the Yorkshire Association. The bells were soon in use and good efforts were made during the afternoon and evening to keep them fully occupied. The afternoon attendance was not of the best but increased after tea.

The business meeting was held at 7 p.m. in the tower. Owing to an unfortunate accident at work, the president was in hospital at Bradford and Mr. F. Hutchinson deputised for him in the chair.

Members were present from Armley, Batley, Almondbury, Bradford, East Ardsley, Guiseley, Headingley (St. Chad's and St. Michael's), Leeds Parish Church, Liversedge, Otley, Pudsey, Rothwell, Tadcaster, Elland and Lightcliffe and the local company.

The election of new members was deferred until the next meeting. The vote of thanks to the Vicar, churchwardens and local company was ably proposed by Mr. J. Gibson and seconded by Mr. W. Dixon.

The next meeting, due to be held at Armley, and at which nominations for next year's officers will be received, will be a joint one with the Yorkshire Association (Western Division) and will be held on March 31st.

Methods rung during the day were Bob Major, Kent Treble Bob Major, Stedman Triples, Double Norwich Court Bob Major, Superlative Surprise and London Surprise.

GLOUCESTER AND BRISTOL ASSOCIATION

Bristol Rural Branch

About 40 members attended the Branch's meeting at St. Werburgh's, Bristol, on February 24th. The six bells were put to good use in rounds and queens, and in methods from Grand-sire to Cambridge Minor. The Rev. E. R. Santer conducted the service and in his address he spoke of the ringers' service as part of the Church.

An enjoyable, and warming, tea preceded the business meeting with Mr. C. R. Harding in the chair. Among the visitors welcomed were Mr. Jeffery (St. Werburgh's Rector's warden), Mr. Webb (of Nibley) and Mr. Price (secretary of the Stroud Branch).

Mr. S. Riches reported on the Association's management committee meeting held recently at Gloucester. At this meeting the Bristol Rural Branch had shown up well to the forefront in the reports, both from a numerical and financial standpoint.

After the branch secretary had thanked the tower secretaries for their helpful and accurate tea notifications for this meeting, the chairman expressed thanks to the ladies, Mr. S. Riches and all who had helped in this happy meeting.

100th BIRTHDAY CELEBRATIONS

Canon Thomas Houghton, who lives with his nieces, Misses L. and M. Stevenson, at Farndon, Cheshire, celebrated his 100th birthday on February 23rd.

He was the recipient of many congratulatory messages, including a telegram from H.M. the King, and the bells were rung by the Farndon ringers to celebrate the occasion. The ringing included the 'firing' of the bells 100 times.

It was also felt that a peal should be attempted in honour of the event and publicity was given to this in the national Press. Happily, an excellent peal of Cambridge Surprise Major by members of the Chester Diocesan Guild was successfully accomplished the next day (Saturday) after which the bells were again 'fired' 100 times.

At the conclusion of the peal the Misses Stevenson visited the belfry and expressed great pleasure that it had been successful.

Afterwards the local ringers and peal band were entertained to tea by Canon Houghton who, though he was unable to be present, had taken great interest in the proceedings.

The Rector of Farndon, the Rev. G. Vaughan, welcomed the ringers and proposed the health of Canon Houghton. Mr. A. E. Richards, the local tower captain, responded on behalf of the ringers and Mr. G. H. Randles expressed the thanks of the peal band for the hospitality extended, also for the honour of being able to take part in such a unique and happy event.

WINCHESTER & PORTSMOUTH DIOCESAN GUILD

Winchester District

On February 24th a practice meeting of the above District was held at Tichborne with about 30 ringers in attendance. Ringing commenced at 2.30 p.m. and at 2.35 p.m. there was a slight break in the proceedings while the rope was replaced on the wheel of the treble which, unfortunately, had lost its stay. After this mishap, well-struck touches in various methods were rung including Cambridge, Kent and Oxford, Double Court and the standard methods.

After the service, taken by the Vicar, the Rev. Skene, an enjoyable tea was provided at Riverside Farm. The treble stay was repaired during the interval but on return to the tower, another excursion to the bell-chamber was necessary—a time to attend to the stay of the second—a rather 'Payne'-ful experience.

Nothing daunted, however, the meeting continued with more advanced methods and the bells were rung down with no further untoward events.

RANG PEALS IN LAST CENTURY A HEREFORD VETERAN

Mr. C. L. Sadler, of Hereford, rang his first peal on October 8th, 1897, at St. Mary's Church, Ross, ringing the fourth to a variety of Parker's 12 part, conducted by James E. Groves. It was on the same bell that he rang his 100th peal (Stedman Triples) on April 3rd, 1937. He also rang the sixth to the first peal on Clifford bells on December 26th, 1897, and the same bell to the same composition (Parker's 12 part) on the 50th anniversary in 1947. Mr. Sadler rang a 40th anniversary peal at St. Mary's, Ross-on-Wye. In 1897 he rang the fourth bell to 5,040 Grandsire Triples and in 1937 the same bell to 5,040 Stedman Triples.

STARTED IN 1888

Father of the St. David's Society, Exeter, and the last of the original members, Mr. Arthur W. Searle, of Exeter, rang his first peal, Grandsire Triples, at St. Edmund's, Exeter, on January 30th, 1888. His most recent was Kent Treble Bob at St. David's, Exeter, on February 15th, 1936. Most of his 15 peals in the last century were rung at St. Martin's, Salisbury, but also included peals at St. Edward's, Romford, where the brothers Pye were just beginning their ringing careers.

He recalls a pre-breakfast handbell peal at 6 a.m. at Salisbury with Messrs. W. H. L. Buckingham, W. W. Gifford and T. Blackburn: first peals by Devonshire and Exeter men on Exeter Cathedral bells and first peals in Exeter of Stedman Plain Bob and Kent Treble Bob. Mr. Searle created a record by ringing in every available 5, 6, 8, 10 and 12 bell tower in Devon. A total of nearly 400.

Mr. Alfred Talbot, who now lives at The Outlook, Thursley, Godalming, rang his first peal at Waltham St. Lawrence, Berks, in May, 1899.

The method was Plain Bob Minor and the occasion was the first peal of the late Rev. C. W. O. Jenkin, who was then curate at Waltham St. Lawrence. Mr. Talbot rang about 70 peals and was for a time secretary of the Leominster and Presteigne branches of the Hereford Diocesan Guild. He has taken no active part in ringing for several years.

Mr. Hubert Hatts, of Gregs Hill, Henley-on-Thames, has one peal in the last century to his credit. It was a peal of Minor in seven methods at Beenhams, Berks, on December 1st, 1888, and was the first peal on the bells.

Mr. William G. Whitehead, of 14, Beachampton, Wolverton, Bucks, rang his first peal on November 7th, 1896, at Bushey. He rang 25 peals before the end of 1899.

Mr. W. Poston, of Bridstow, Ross-on-Wye, first pulled a bell in August, 1894, and rang his first peal at Hempsted, Gloucester—Doubles in three methods—on October 19th, 1894. This peal was followed by Doubles in four methods at Woodchester, Glos. November 18th, 1894; Bob Minor, at Hemosted, January 16th, 1895; and four methods of Minor, at Hempsted, April 2nd, 1895. All these peals were conducted by W. T. Pegler and amongst the ringers were A. E. Pegler and John Austin. At this time the St. Michael's Juniors were going strong at Gloucester.

MONKEN HADLEY, HERTFORDSHIRE

Dear Sir,—Hitler said he had no more territorial claims in Europe. I notice in your peal columns that Monken Hadley is ascribed to Middlesex. Although in the Diocese of London, it is in the Urban District of East Barnet in the Administrative County of Hertford.

Another tower which seems to change its county occasionally is Elstree (6), also in Hertfordshire.

Surely no matter for what association your peal is rung, it is only common courtesy to give the tower its proper county as much as its dedication.—Yours sincerely,

J. MARTIN PAGE.

King's Langley, Herts.

A WEEK-END IN HAMPSHIRE

Seven ringers from West Sussex spent a very enjoyable ringing week-end in Hampshire over the week-end of February 10th and 11th. Two cars carrying five members of the party left Chichester, after some little delay, and arrived at St. Maurice's Church, Winchester, nearly an hour late, to find the seventh member of the party and the Winchester District secretary (Mr. Jack King) anxiously awaiting their arrival. Ringing on this light six (tenor 7½ cwt.) was enjoyed and the party, now up to strength, went on to Sparsholt.

Although we were late, the Vicar met us and welcomed us to his church. Various Doubles methods were rung on this rather tricky ring of five (tenor 8 cwt.). The party went on to King's Somborne, with its fine six (tenor 12½ cwt.) and long draught of rope. Ringing here was notable for the first of several courses of Cambridge Minor rung during the week-end. Following a welcome from the Rev. J. G. R. Blackwall and the local captain, we left these fine bells with regret.

An excellent lunch at the Seven Gables, Stockbridge, put new life into the party and the light six at St. Peter's (tenor 7½ cwt.) were tapped round well. Here again we were pleased to meet the Vicar and Mr. Carey, the tower captain. Next came the beautiful easy-going five at Leckford (tenor 8½ cwt.), hung in a tiny wooden tower. Here we were very pleased to ring with three keen young ringers from Winchester College. Then on to Broughton, with a fine church and a rather tricky ring of six (tenor 12½ cwt.), and Nether Wallop. The five here (tenor 15 cwt.) are very rarely rung and a combination of a long draught, heavy-going bells and ropes in bad condition, caused poor striking and plenty of hard work. All credit to our youngest member, Frank Lewis (aged 14), for the way he managed the treble, whose rope resembled a wire hawser.

Following tea at Middle Wallop (of happy memory for two of the party) came the very good five (tenor 9½ cwt.) at Abbot's Ann, where two local ringers met us. The last tower of the day was difficult to find. It was the glorious Taylor six (tenor 11½ cwt.) at Winterslow, just over the Wiltshire border. These bells are rung from the porch, with a sliding screen for protection from the weather, and were without doubt the finest six on which we were privileged to ring over the week-end.

Supper was enjoyed in Salisbury (after some difficulty in finding a cafe open at 10.15 p.m.); and the night was spent at the Pheasant, Winterslow.

Sunday morning saw us on our way by 9.45, and we reached Amport safely by 10.15 a.m. to ring for service. Snow was falling heavily, and no local ringers arrived, so the party rang touches in various methods up to service time, concluding with 360 Bob Minor. Striking was good in view of the fact that ringing here takes place in the centre of the church in full view of the congregation. We stayed for service and lowered the bells afterwards, before going into Andover for a good lunch at the Star and Garter, Goodworth Clatford (6, tenor 10 cwt.) was the next tower and again the Vicar very kindly met us. Ringing on these easy-running bells was enjoyed before going on to ring on the fine light six by Taylors (tenor 7½ cwt.) at Loneparish. The Vicar and three local ringers welcomed us here, as did Mr. Smith and Miss Nesta Smith at Wonston. This fine six (tenor 8½ cwt.) run beautifully.

The last tower was the very good six (tenor 8 cwt.) at Micheldever where we acquitted ourselves well despite a long draught without guides. After supper at Winchester, the party set out for home.

Everyone agreed that the week-end had been a great success and thanks are due to Norman Smith, of Chichester, the organiser, and to the drivers, Miss Kevs and Mr. Stoveld, of Bosham. We would also like to thank very cordially all the incumbents and local ringers. P. N. B.

OLD BELLS IN PRESENT-DAY RINGS

Arising from the query of Mr. H. A. Price, of Yatton, Somerset, asking for particulars of bells older than Yatton's seventh doing service in rings to-day, we have received a number of interesting replies. The date of Yatton's seventh, states Mr. Price, is 1451 A.D., and not as published.

CHERTSEY AND CHOBHAM

Dear Sir,—In reply to the enquiry by Mr. H. A. Price, of Yatton, there are a considerable number of rings which incorporate bells earlier than 1541. Near here are two rings of eight—Chertsey and Chobham—the former having a bell nearly 600 years old, while Chobham has one 430 years of age.—Yours sincerely,

WILLIAM SHEPHERD.

Addlestone, Surrey.

CARLISLE CATHEDRAL

Dear Sir,—At Carlisle Cathedral there is one bell, the seventh, which, according to the records, was installed in 1401, being the only one left from the ring put in then by General Strickland, who was responsible for having the tower built after the Cathedral was damaged by fire in 1385 and the original bells destroyed.

This bell is in regular use and was hung on ball-bearings by Messrs. Mears and Stainbank in 1924. An unusual feature of this bell is that it has to be rung clappered wrong. The inscriptions are in Latin but no date is on the bell.

There are four other bells in the 1600's and the eight bells are by five different founders.—Yours faithfully,

J. BUTTERFIELD.

Carlisle.

BARMING, KENT

Dear Sir,—In Barming Church, Kent, there is a ring of six and the third was cast in 1442. No doubt there are many pre-Reformation bells in the country but very few, I should imagine, older than this one, that is to say those that are still being rung as one of a ring.—Yours faithfully,

WILLIAM T. GRICE.

Barming, Kent.

BILTON, RUGBY

Dear Sir,—There are three bells at St. Mark's Church, Bilton, Rugby, which are 100 years older than the one at Yatton. One was cast in 1450 and two in 1460. These were rehung in a modern frame in 1948.—Yours sincerely,

W. E. BURNELL, Ringing Master.

St. Mark's Church, Bilton.

HUGHENDEN, BUCKS

Dear Sir,—In the ring of eight bells at Hughenden, Bucks, we have two old bells; the seventh was cast in 1490 and the tenor about 1420. So far nearly 300 peals have been rung on the bells.—Yours sincerely,

R. BIGGS.

Hughenden, Bucks.

FULMER, BUCKS

Dear Sir,—In our small village church of St. James, Fulmer, Bucks, we have a ring of six, the treble of which was cast in 1540, and is in fine condition to-day after having been rung over 400 years. The founders were John Saunders, of Reading, and it bears the Latin inscription meaning 'Holy Mary, pray for us.'

I believe it is not beyond the bounds of possibility that, up and down the country to-day, towers may be found containing bells still in use of even a much earlier vintage. It is an interesting subject to pursue with the idea of finding (if not already known) which tower actually contains our oldest bell still in use which has not been recast.—Yours faithfully,

THOMAS D. WINYARD.

Gerrards Cross, Bucks.

BIRMINGHAM

THERE is no other social gathering in the ringers' calendar with the same appeal as the Henry Johnson Dinner. The annual dinner of the Ancient Society of College Youths is, in a sense, a closed shop, and the annual meeting of the Central Council, while having certain social qualities, is preoccupied with the immediate problems of the Exercise. The 'Henry Johnson' has its own peculiar magic spell and calls both young and old. Alas, seating accommodation restricts numbers, and while a company of 195 sat down to dinner this year, it was the regretted duty of the hon. secretary, Mr. George E. Fearn, to send back some 70 remittances.

That the second city of the country, Birmingham, should have as its Lord Mayor a practical ringer, who since his youth has been closely associated with our art, is a compliment to the Exercise. In a personal letter to the Editor, one of our readers complained that ringers never made their mark in other walks of life or occupied eminent positions. Apparently he had not heard of Ald. A. Paddon Smith, who through his own personal initiative and business acumen rose to be the head of one of Birmingham's great industries and also made his mark in municipal work. For 20 years he was secretary of the St. Martin's Guild, and it was a real joy to see him in the Master's chair, displaying that wide knowledge of ringing and its personalities, coupled with a worldly commonsense. One of the greatest assets of a ringer is his style of handling, and one of the speakers recalled some 40 years ago how pretty it was to watch the Lord Mayor as a dapper young man turning in the eleventh of St. Martin's. These memories, we would remind the young generation, last. To youth and maid we would say that the old 'uns judge you more by your style and striking than by the methods you ring.

St. Martin's Guild is proud of its front-rank ringers; their reputation in the realm of achievement is undisputed, and for years the 12-bell ringing of Birmingham has been held in high esteem. It is gratifying, however, to find that the facility with which leading members call Stedman Cinques is equalled by their rhetoric in after-dinner speeches. Perhaps it is the inspiration of Henry Johnson and the commemoration dinners. The two schoolmasters, Mr. Frank E. Haynes and Mr. Edgar C. Shepherd, drew from their store of quotations to find apposite pointers to their speeches—the former from the Archbishop of York and the poet Shelley, and the latter from the Book of Ecclesiastes. That great and beloved personality among Birmingham ringers, Mr. Albert Walker, was not to be outdone, but had a line of Tennyson available, appropriate for introducing 'The Visitors' toast—'Old faces press round us, and warm hearts close with warm hearts.' The old and the young replied—Mr. Cecil J. Matthews, of the other St. Martin's (in-the-Fields), which church was visited by Birmingham worthies last year, and Mr. Rodney B. Meadows, of 'Belfrymanship' fame. Temporarily resident in Birmingham, Mr. Meadows has still the influence of Oxford and the University Society. He gave classical tone to his speech by references to Scylla and Charybdis, and, still with thoughts of lurking dangers, produced the gem of the evening from Dante's Inferno. The two brothers will not be permitted to forget the reference. To future speakers at the Henry Johnson dinner we would issue this caveat: come prepared with something choice, for amid the smoke of Birmingham there is an expectancy of scholarship, wit and brevity.

A special welcome was accorded Mr. J. Frank Smallwood—not that he is in need of a welcome to a city that for years nurtured him and taught him the art of ringing. It was because of the exalted position he holds this year as Master of the Ancient Society of College Youths. He came not empty handed: his gift was costly and precious, a new peal book for the St. Martin's Guild. Peals worth ringing are worth recording properly. The peal books of this Guild are written and illuminated with loving care worthy of the performance. And the illuminator has no light task with the frequency with which peals are rung by the Guild. In two years' time another book will be needed and, shall we hopefully add, another benefactor required!

To the Editor the occasion was particularly memorable in meeting in the flesh correspondents who had written many a cheery letter or sent a greeting. While there are critics of every journal and an Editor is apt to be regarded as the whipping boy when things go awry, there are real friends in the Exercise—cordial, sincere and helpful. To those who feel disgruntled and unhappy about the future of ringing and its fellowship we would say: 'Go to Birmingham and capture the spirit of Henry Johnson.' There was, however, one disappointment for the Editor. The gracious lady who had promised her impressions of the Henry Johnson dinner has so far not bestowed her favours on the readers of this journal.

EWELME

Dear Sir,—This delightful spot nestling in the valley of the Chilterns about 16 miles south of Oxford, is famed for its watercrress during the season. But this is nothing compared with the historical Church of St. Mary. Here the grand chestnut-panelled ceiling in the Lady Chapel dates from 1400 and it is deemed a spider never crossed it.

Oh, for the vanished hand of Bill Fussell or even Freddie Grisewood to tell of this village! Surely many a ringer heard Mr. Grisewood announce the 1949 harvest festival from his old home. Yet all we know is that the bells, that grand five by Rudhall, after being silent for 20 years, have been rehung and a treble added. On January 6th a peal was rung here with not even the weight of the tenor recorded or the fragrant perfume from that flower of five- and six-bell peals, 'The Pink.' We read that the Thame Branch held a meeting here on January 26th but not even the 'Thame Badger' stirred. —Yours, etc.,

O. W. PORTER.

Plowden Arms,
Shiplake, Oxon.

P.S.—Re Bill Fussell's visit to Shiplake. On the inside of the seventh bell was chalked 'W. Fussell, 1881.' and tenor bell, 'H. Egby.'—O.W.P.

A FALSE SPLICED SURPRISE PEAL

Dear Sir,—I regret to inform you, and the ringers concerned, that the peal of Spliced Surprise Major rung at Willesden on December 11th, 1948, is false.

The defect was due to the incorrect insertion by me of Rutland and Yorkshire in a composition intended for Bristol, London, Cambridge and Superlative only.

MAURICE HODGSON.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

CHURCH FESTIVALS AND PEALS

Dear Sir,—Mr. Arno's letter in 'The Ringing World' of February 23rd deals very fully with the subject of Church Festivals and Peals, so that I hesitate to add anything more.

I suggest, however, that the 'Note Book and Diary' might well provide more information regarding Saints' Days. In this year's edition all the 'Red-Letter' Saints' Days of the Prayer Book Kalender are noted (except that St. Mark's Day is April 25th and not 24th, as printed); but there is only mention of five 'lesser' Saints' Days, and of these there are three Patron Saints (SS. George, Patrick and David) while SS. Valentine and Swithun are more usually connected with occasions other than ringing. By contrast there is no mention of such names as SS. Lawrence or Nicholas, to whom Church dedications are very frequent. Perhaps, therefore, the editors of the 'Notebook and Diary' would fill in the gaps in the 1952 edition.—Yours faithfully,

J. D. MOZLEY.

Haslemere, Surrey.

OLD BOYS' PEALS

Dear Sir,—Bournemouth Boys' Grammar School celebrates its Jubilee during the first week in April. A peal will be attempted at St. Peter's, Bournemouth, to mark the occasion. Are there any Old Bournemouthians who would like to take a rope? So far I have six who are known Old Bournemouthian ringers. The date of the attempt is April 7th, at 2.30 p.m.—Yours faithfully,

ARTHUR V. DAVIS.

16, Alma Road, Bournemouth.

EVEN BELL MUSIC

Dear Sir,—I would not, and in fact did not, presume to dictate to Mr. F. R. Butler what his tastes, if any, in ringing, should be. I merely advanced what I considered were reasons for my preference of even bell-ringing. It was not my intention to evoke personalities but since this has happened I must reply.

I lay no claim to be a 'musical expert'—not even a 'budding' one—but I cannot agree that my supposed inability to whistle a six-score of Grandsire Doubles is in any way a disqualification from expressing my considered opinion, which was founded on observation.

Mr. Butler will notice that I made no mention of my ability to conduct touches or peals by ear alone and I would assure him that I would not attempt to do so. I don't suppose many people would, as there are far more precise methods available.

As for my 'inexperience regarding the sound of bells,' of the few that I have heard, those that sounded well in Triples could have been made to sound better to Double Norwich, etc.; in fact the latter method necessitates good striking if it is to be rung at all.

I am, therefore, still of the opinion that where one finds Major one usually finds enthusiasm, progress and good striking. The letter on this subject by Mr. B. D. Price says in a lucid way much of what I tried to say.

Finally, let it be understood that I do not 'despise' odd-bell ringing; in fact I enjoy ringing Stedman Triples.—Yours faithfully,

F. J. JACKSON.

Holmrook, Cumberland.

'IN WHICH CENTURY?'

Dear Sir,—Referring to Mr. Oxenham's letter a recent 'Ringing World,' I consider 1900 was the last year of the 19th century and the five peals mentioned, therefore, would have been rung during that period.

Ipswich.

The next quarter of 'The Ringing World' starts on April 6th. New subscribers should send 5s. 6d. for a quarter's or 10s. 6d. for a half-year's subscription to Mrs. G. W. Fletcher,
The White House, Caister-on-Sea, Norfolk. It is also important that quarterly subscribers should not overlook the date.

Because of Good Friday, postal subscribers will receive their 'Ringing World' next week on Thursday. For this issue notices cannot be inserted under any circumstances unless they arrive by first post Monday.

Mr. W. C. Ward, who at the age of 65 has scored his first peal at Great Dalby, Leics, has been ringing since the age of 15.

There is every likelihood that the Jasper Snowdon dinner will be revived this year. The tentative date is September 29th, at York.

The bells of St. Stephen's, Rochester Row, Westminster, will be heard on Easter Sunday in the 'Bells Round Britain' broadcast, 9.15 a.m. approximately, Home Service.

The name of Mr. George Tembey, whose death was reported on page 155 of the issue of March 9th, was spelt wrongly. The error is regretted.

By ringing his 100th peal on Crayford bells,
Mr. F. J. Cullum has joined the late Messrs. E.
Barnett, sen., J. H. Cheesman and H. E. Audsley, in having completed a century both at Crayford and St. John's, Erith.

Miss Jean Broomfield ('Triplex Jean') was married at Burnham, Bucks, last Saturday. She is the first of the band, recruited 12 years ago, to get married. A farewell peal to her single state appears in our columns.

In the letter 'Bells as Time Signals' from Mr.
Donald G. Clift, a regretted error appeared in our March 2nd issue. The line should have read 'There are many more majestic rings of bells such as Exeter, Wells, Buckfast, Bristol.'

The original ten bells of All Hallows', Lombard Street, have been installed at All Hallows' Church, Twickenham. The rededication service took place on March 11th, the Bishop of Kensington officiating. The Vicar (the Rev. J.
H. A. Charles) has already recruited a number of ringers.

BELFRY GOSSIP

The 50th anniversary of the first peal of Mr. F. G.
Leaker, chairman of the Bristol City Branch of the Gloucester and Bristol Diocesan Association, was commemorated by a peal on the bells of St. Mary's, Redcliffe. The peal was also a birthday compliment to Mr. A.
Tyler, and enabled Messrs. A. E. Reeves, S. G.
Riches, A. M. Tyler, J. R. Worrall, Alan A.
Hillier and Leonard Derrick to complete Grand-sire from Doubles to Cinques.

In the Round Britain Quiz on Sunday, Denis Brogan was stumped by a question, 'What comes after the treble?'

Radstock, Somerset, has lost, by death, Mr.
T. M. Griffin, who has given over 50 years' service to the tower. On February 22nd the bells were rung half-muffled to 1,260 Doubles (Plain Bob and Grandsire) as a last token of respect by F. Carter 1, J. Holbrook 2, H. Hawkins 3, D. Hoare (conductor) 4, G. Pomeroy 5,
E. Connock 6.

The local band of St. Helen's, Stapleford, Notts, wish to thank Miss Winifred M.
Burton and Mr. Colin Kirk, of Leicester, for standing in the peal on March 3rd at very short notice. They took the places of Messrs. William Thornley sen. and William Houlth, who were indisposed. With this peal Mr. William Thornley, jun., has circled the tower in six peals spread over 18 years.

The memorial tablet to the late Mr. Cyril F. Johnston was unveiled by Mr. E. H. Lewis, president of the Central Council, and dedicated by the Ven. C. F. Tonks, Archdeacon of Croydon, at Croydon Parish Church last Saturday.
The service was attended by the Mayor and Mayoress of Croydon and Sir Herbert and Lady Williams. A report will appear in our next issue.

SOUTHEND & DISTRICT GUILD FORMED

Not a Peal-Ringing Organisation

A new Guild came into being on February 19th as the outcome of a meeting held in the belfry of St. Mary's Church, Prittlewell. Twenty-five ringers from Prittlewell, Thorpe Bay, Rayleigh, Leigh, Downham and Great Wakering attended and Mr. F. B. Lufkin was voted to the chair.

This action was prompted by a feeling that ringers in the Southend area felt rather remote and isolated from their fellow-members of the Essex South Western District, whose meetings may be held anything up to 50 miles away—too far to be of any help to the considerable number of young people who were taking up the art in and around Southend. The Guild is not antagonistic to the Essex Association and it is its desire, so the new secretary assures us, to help the Association in any way it can.

The chairman explained that the purpose of the meeting was to form a new Guild of Ringers in Southend and district and said it was hoped that the young people of the district would, to a large extent, take over the government of the Guild.

He then read out the objects of the Guild, as set out in the list of proposed rules, and, as the feeling of the meeting was favourable, it was agreed that the formation of the Guild be proceeded with. Subject to certain minor modifications, the rules were adopted in toto.

The following officers were elected:—President, Mr. F. B. Lufkin; Master, Mr. P. A. Sadler; Deputy Master, Mr. G. Blower; secretary, Mr. D. Coombes; assistant secretary, Mr. V. W. Grimwade; ladies' secretary, Miss A. Christmas; treasurer, Mr. B. Sadler.

Mr. H. J. Oliver (Downham) and Mrs. C. G. Woodgate (Wakering) were also elected as representatives of their towers, to serve on the committee and the secretary was instructed to write to the Rector of Leigh (St. Clement's) and Mr. Mabson, at South Benfleet, asking them to support the Guild by electing a representative from their local bands to serve as committee members.

The question of the election of vice-presidents was left over for further discussion at the next general meeting. On a question by Mrs. Woodgate it was pointed out that anybody would be welcomed at the Guild's meetings, whether members or not.

The chairman explained that it was not the intention of the Guild to undertake peal-ringing as all peals rung by members would be for the Essex Association. He also mentioned certain plans which members had in mind for a Festival of Britain Peals Week-end and a summer ringing tour of the West Midlands being organised by the secretary.

It was left to the committee to fix dates of ringing meetings and other suitable functions.

RUSSIAN BELLS AT PINNER

In response to a reader's query concerning the five Russian bells at Pinner, Mr. Ernest Morris supplies us with the following details:—

'It is not generally known that there is a chime of Russian bells in England. This is at Pinner Hill House, Middlesex, and an inscription plate records: "These five bells of the respective weights of 281½, 159, 66½, 37 and 17 lbs., were made by Demetrius Samgin, bell-founder, Moscow, and purchased at the Great Exhibition in Hyde Park by a Mr. A. Tooke, who placed them here a.d. MDCCCLXIX."

'These bells, which are very melodious, are attached to the clock and chime the hour and quarters.

'There is also a Russian bell in the Round Tower of Windsor Castle which was brought from Sebastopol as a war trophy after the Crimean War and presented to Queen Victoria. It was tolled at her funeral and those of King Edward VII. and King George V.'

CANON COLERIDGE MEMORIAL

At a general meeting of the Oxford Diocesan Guild held at Reading on March 10th, it was decided that a memorial fund be opened forthwith for the purpose of erecting a tablet in the cloisters and one in the belfry at Christ Church, Oxford, to recast the two trebles and other work as proposed by the committee and to form a permanent memorial fund for the general furtherance of the work of the Guild.

The Guild treasurer, Mr. A. D. Barker, Cambridge, Wexham, Slough, Bucks, will be glad to receive donations.

C. ELLIOT WIGG, Master.

APPLETON RINGERS' DAY

March 4th is just as important to Appleton, with its great traditions of ringing, as the Johnson Dinner is to Birmingham or the Snowdon Dinner to Yorkshire, and once more a very happy day was had by a goodly company of ringers.

Amongst the company was the Master of the Oxford Guild, Walter Judge, and that grand old veteran from Swindon, Charlie Gardiner, and visitors from Swindon, Abingdon, Oxford, Hagbourne and Reading, and ringers from miles around the district.

Ringing during the day ranged from rounds to Cambridge Royal until 4.30 p.m. Then came tea in the Thatched Tavern (known to hundreds of ringers who have visited the village). Tunes on the handbells were played by the talented White family, ably, thank God, under the fatherly eye of old Dick White, and followed by songs of ringing prowess as sung by Appleton ringers long since departed but remembered by some of the old 'uns with affection.

One prominent local, George Holifield, was, unfortunately, absent, but the atmosphere of March 4th was kept alive by Mr. Fred Sharpe who is as great an authority on old songs as he is on old bells, and rendered one or two most delightfully.

Thank goodness young Frank White is following in his father's footsteps and as long as he has health and strength the writer is certain that March 4th will be a great day for Appleton and ringers generally for many years to come.

W. H.

THE PEAL HAS BEEN RUNG

Here is the story of the peal that would never come.

Miss Ruby J. Lloyd, daughter of Mr. W. H. Lloyd, Master of the Ludlow District of the Hereford Guild and captain at Berrington, stood in an attempted farewell peal previous to her marriage to Dr. Bruce Laing. The attempt failed.

The Shropshire Association failed in a peal at Cound for her wedding and the Berrington band lost a peal on the night she was leaving the country through a rope breaking. Another attempt on February 24th of this year followed the same path before success was reached with the peal on February 28th.

Dr. and Mrs. Laing flew from Prestwick to Newfoundland on March 8th, 1950, where Dr. Laing took up a hospital appointment.

The two new trebles, for which Mrs. Bruce Laing worked so hard, are expected to be hung at Berrington by Easter.

THE NEEDHAMS OF BARWELL

Veteran With 65 Years' Service Honoured

Since 1793 the Needhams have been vergers of Barwell Parish Church. The present verger, Mr. Joseph Needham, succeeded his grandfather 42 years ago.

It was the present Mr. Needham's grandfather's grandfather, Thomas Needham, who began this remarkable family record of church service—probably the longest unbroken family association of its kind in the country. The name of Needham was first mentioned in Barwell's church registers at the turn of the 17th century.

On March 3rd, a dinner, arranged by the Barwell ringers, was given in recognition of Mr. Joseph Needham's outstanding service, not only as verger but as bellringer, for he has rung the bells of the 13th century church for 65 years.

During the afternoon the bells of the Parish Church were rung to various methods and then followed the dinner at which Mr. T. C. Belton welcomed the visitors to an event which was historical.

Mr. Ernest Morris, himself a verger, on presenting Mr. Needham with a cheque, said how honoured he felt at being invited to attend such a memorable gathering and spoke of the strong ties which bound his own church with Barwell. Mr. Needham, he said, was an example to this generation and he hoped that his life would be blessed with many more happy hours in the service of the Church.

Mr. Needham, replying, said that the presentation came as a complete surprise to him and he accepted the gift with deep gratitude. He remembered the days when there were more bells than ringers in Barwell but now the situation was reversed and no one appreciated more than he did the tremendous improvements in the belfry.

Mr. Morris amused the gathering with some well-chosen anecdotes of his life as a verger.

Replying to the toast of 'The Visitors,' Mr. George Newton said he could never feel a visitor at Barwell, because of the pioneer work the late Mr. Charles Belton had done in his own tower at Earl Shilton.

Mr. Dakin, of Tamworth, also expressed thanks for the opportunity of being able to be present at such a homely gathering.

Mr. and Mrs. Beamish and Margaret supplied musical items on handbells in addition to taking part in a course of Grandsire Caters and Plain Bob 'in hand.'

In addition to the 14 ringers from Barwell the company included Messrs. G. Peers jun., G. Dakin (Tamworth), G. Newton, H. Wright (Earl Shilton), N. Statham (Kirkby Mallory), M. Brown (Sapcote), H. Knights (Hinckley), E. Morris (Leicester) and Mr. and Mrs. A. Beamish and Miss M. Beamish (Chilvers Coton).

TOWER-SNATCHING BY TAXI

On February 17th, two of the young enthusiasts from Winchester College, together with three members of the St. Maurice's, Winchester, band, spent an enjoyable afternoon visiting three five-bell towers in the area.

Due to restriction of available time, the party chartered a taxi, which set off at 2 p.m. The tiny wooden tower at All Saints' Dummer was the first call (tenor 9 cwt.). These bells are, unfortunately, rarely rung but 'go' quite well. Then on to Ellisfield, where we were met by the Vicar and the local captain. Ringing on the five (tenor 8 cwt.) was much enjoyed although the pleasure of the visit was marred by the breaking of the fourth rope in the last touch!

The final tower was St. Mary's, Preston Candover, where the five bells are tuned to rather peculiar but quaint melodic interval. The treble hangs some ten feet above the back four and can hardly be heard while the five (tenor 6 cwt.) are going! The District Chairman, the Rev. Brinkworth, who is Vicar of Preston, joined in ringing Grandsire Doubles.

STORY OF A GREAT RINGING CAREER

DIARY OF THE LATE MR. W. H. FUSSELL—12

Edited by ERNEST MORRIS

'SOME BOB CALLER'

In July, 1884, at St. Mary's, Lambeth, an attempt was made for a peal of Grandsire Triples but lost after an hour owing to a 'shift.' Mr. Fussell says: 'It was my first time of ringing her. Meadows was calling the bobs so loud that a policeman heard him in the roadway and the charwoman asked Stoneman, the steeple-keeper, who he was calling for. Hopkins said he would set his bell if Meadows didn't call properly.'

OF INTEREST TO LEICESTER

While playing the Crystal Palace chime and while going from place to place in London, he met many well-known personalities in the ringing world. One of particular interest to the present-day writer and to Leicester is when Mr. Fussell says: 'I went to St. Paul's Cathedral and saw the band ring a touch of Stedman Cinques. Mr. Pettitt absent, he being unwell. After leaving the tower, walked to St. James' Church with Mr. French, Mr. Cleal (who was a visitor from Worcester), Dan Newton, Rowbottom, J. Hayes and Laughlin. . . . Mr. Cleal, from Worcester, who is endeavouring to get work in London, is certainly a good ringer both in the tower and on handbells.' Mr. George Cleal later came to Leicester and, with his friend Samuel Cotton, helped to form a band at St. Martin's (now the Cathedral) which was—and still is—second to none in England. Their early exploits on handbells makes ringing history, and the silent peals of Stedman Triples, Caters and Cinques were masterpieces in the art. Before the 1914-18 war Messrs. Cleal and Cotton taught me a great deal until I had to leave for the Army.'

On another occasion Mr. Fussell records going to Beaconsfield for a peal, in his own style, thus: 'Alf, Woodley and I went to the station and met Basden and Harvey Reeves with Darvill's wagonette in attendance, and rode to Farnham where J. Parker and C. Chapman joined us and we proceeded to Beaconsfield one short for a peal, so not in good spirits! However, the Rev. G. Coleridge met us in place of Egby, of Reading, and after refreshments we started for Holt's 10 part.' They did not succeed as, after two hours five minutes, a shift occurred. After giving further details including '4 blisters on my hands,' Mr. Fussell says: 'The Rev. Coleridge is a good ringer and a very sociable man in ringers' company,' a sentiment everyone who knew him will agree with.

THE AWKWARD ROPE

Mr. Fussell met Mr. N. J. Pitstow at Southgate where they had difficulty in getting tea, but finally the wife of a milk vendor made them some. They then went and pulled the bells up 'to ring a good peal, but after 32 minutes of some splendid Treble Bob, a strand of the tenor rope came undone and flopped about so much we were compelled to stop. We mended it and started again but it came undone a second time and stopped us.' Mr. Pitstow was calling it and Newson ringing the tenor (24 cwt.).

After this Mr. Fussell rushed away to a meeting of St. James' Society, arriving just as the business finished. He says: 'Mr. Pettitt and other College Youths were present, I being the only Cumberland. Heard some tales during the evening, old Mr. Grice being well up at any time for talking. He mentioned G. Austin steeplekeeper of Bermondsey, having written out all the changes of a 6,000 Treble Bob he composed. Bermondsey bells never went so well after Austin ceased to attend to them.'

A WINDSOR PEAL

Finding the train from Waterloo in time only stopped at Putney and Twickenham, for Windsor, Mr. Fussell set off for Putney Station 24 miles distant, and only 15 minutes to spare. 'By a long "dog trot" and several hard sprints (he says) I managed to get to the station just as the train was in, doing the distance in 13 minutes. I got a carriage to myself, took off my coat, waistcoat, hat and boots, and laid full length on the seat. Got to Windsor 5.55 and managed to get to the church at 6 p.m. Began the peal and got it! The two clergymen rang well, so did Mr. Perryman. Wilder stayed in the tower all the time. Someone tried to get in while we were ringing and I thought we were going to be stopped. Found out there was someone ill over the road. A whole swarm of local ringers came up as we stopped to congratulate us.'

THE LATE MR. HENRY DAINS

Returning to the City after, he says: 'After a lot of delay and shunting, got to town after midnight and we were unable to get to the City, so started to walk to Finsbury Square but later got a cab and rode home singing, etc. At F.S. Gardom couldn't get a bed at his hotel so I made him walk to Whitechapel where we arrived—tired out—at 1 a.m.'

A VISIT TO MARGATE

Later in the year Mr. Fussell was sent by the founders to Margate (St. John's) to inspect and report on the bells. On the way the train stopped at Ashford for 50 minutes so he went to the church and says: 'Made a sketch, and in the belfry 11 peal boards—a good little belfry and nicely arranged for comfort.' At Margate he reports: 'Found a stone—very small—tablet, up to the ceiling almost, bedded into the wall. It reads "In the year 1787 Matthias Mummery, Sexton, raised this Tenor bell in 12 pulls when he was 67 years of age." Also a tablet dated 1824 recording a peal of Grandsire Triples called by Wm. Shipway,' which he quotes in full. Mr. Fussell reports raking up a band to ring the bells. He stayed the night and returned to Whitechapel next day.

RINGERS' WIVES

In the evening he went to Southgate for a peal of Treble Bob and to make sure of a band, 11 turned up! They got the peal and, among other things, he says: 'G. Grice, 69, an old College Youth for over 30 years, rang well as he had not touched a rope for five years. G. Harvey is an old Cumberland. When he first married, he met the Company regularly and rang several good peals. He married a second time, his wife this time "wearing the trousers" as the saying goes, and preventing him coming to ring. He has lost his second wife five weeks now, so I suppose we shall see more of him. After the peal at the "Cherry Tree" many tales were told after a glass of ale or two. . . . When Zachariah Slater, of Glemsford, got married, he—at the very church door—made his wife promise never to object to his going ringing, threatening to go back if she didn't, and, to use Slater's own words, "She never 'ave."'

Later he records: 'Perkins, Newson, Randall, Gillett and others were out Ringwood way and were running to catch a train—after going for a peal—with a set of handbells in a sack, most of them stayed to have a glass at a house near the station. A robbery of plate that same night caused the police to be on the alert and, seeing men running with a sack and hearing the bells clink, they were almost taken up and would have been had not the inspector known Perkins.'

During this time (1884) Mr. Fussell reports on several visits to inspect bells and an interesting note reads: 'Took a set of rough drawings of five old bells from Staplehurst, one dated 1594 by "Mot." Mr. Hughes (the foundry manager) spoke to me about learning to ring.' At the end of the year he writes: 'Thus ends another year after many changes and diversions: but, thank God, no illness. Frequently I think of my time in the architects' offices at Windsor and Reading and how I ought rightly to follow that profession after so many years at it, and four years under indentures, only I think this foundry will suit me better having a good master, Mr. A. S. Lawson, the owner of the foundry. My time with him has been already nine months, short though it seems to look back. W. Haley, our bell-tuner, was married at Hackney on Sunday week last, and A. Fells, blacksmith, was married on Christmas morning—both came to work no better in appearance, or stronger, on Monday. The girl who works in our offices, named Carry, is sister to Harry Binham, of Shoreditch, her mother being a native of Reading.' This year he rang 19 peals, mostly Grandsire and Stedman and Treble Bob and 48 different 720's of Minor.

MR. RODENHURST'S 500 PEALS

Mr. E. V. Rodenhurst, of Whitchurch, Salop, who rang his first peal on December 14th, 1913, has rung peals in 134 towers in 20 counties and for 17 associations.

The following is his list:—

Doubles.—Grandsire 1, in two to six methods 17 (conducted 11).

Minor.—In one to eleven methods 60 (3).

Handbells.—Grandsire Doubles 1, Grandsire Triples 1.

Total.—500

* Includes 7.488, 9.344, 10.400 (longest peal in Wales) and 17.280 (Kent record).

OBITUARIES OF THE WEEK

MR. JAMES GEORGE

We regret to announce that Mr. James George passed peacefully away on March 10th at St. Mary's Hospital, Poole. Mr. George was 97 years of age and he celebrated his 95th birthday by ringing a handbell peal.

Mr. George rang 1,281 peals. He rang his last tower-bell peal at the age of 85 years and 9 months on August 24th, 1939, at Enderby, Leics.

Details of his ringing career will appear in our next issue.

CANON W. A. CHALLACOMBE

The Exercise has lost a firm friend and staunch supporter by the death, at Farnborough, Hants, of Canon William Allen Challacombe, aged 89 years, Rector of the Parish Church for 28 years. He retired two years ago.

The Farnborough ringers used to receive frequent invitations to visit the Canon after their practices on Mondays and many enjoyable evenings were spent in his company.

He was not a ringer and would never attempt to pull a rope, but even so he loved to hear the bells and ringers were his friends.

For many years a quarter-peal had been rung at Farnborough on the anniversary of his birthday and the Canon was always delighted to share his birthday cake with the ringers.

The funeral service was held at Farnborough and the interment at Dover.

As a last tribute the Farnborough band rang a fully-muffled quarter-peal on Sunday evening, February 18th.

MR T. W. UPSHALL

Farnham (Surrey) ringers have lost a member of their tower for 51 years by the death of Mr. Thomas William Upshall on February 28th. He was 73 years of age.

On Christmas Day, 1949, the Rector of Farnham (the Rev. G. N. Selby-Lowndes) presented him with an inscribed silver-mounted walking stick in recognition of his 50 years' service as ringer at the Parish church. Mr. Upshall was born at Hazelbury Bryan, Dorset, and learnt to ring in 1899 with his brother, the late Mr. George Upshall. He had many peals to his credit and had taught many recruits to ring. His keenness and reliability were an inspiration to his fellows. He leaves in bereavement a widow and son.

The funeral service was at Farnham on March 5th followed by interment in Farnham Cemetery. Mr. A. H. Pulling represented the Guildford Guild, Mr. A. C. Hazelden the Guildford District, Mr. G. S. Joyce the Farnham District and Mr. H. J. Chaffey, Chertsey District. Other ringers present were:—Mr. C. W. Denyer, Farnham District Ringing Master; Miss M. Mackman (Q.I.D.N.S.) and Messrs. C. Wells, S. Meadows, R. Hasted, F. Gardner and R. Collins (Farnham), J. W. Carter (Seale), W. Dimes and H. Harris (Crandall), E. Sherwood (Ash), W. Denyer, E. J. Bragg and W. Viggers (Aldershot), E. Payne (Rogate) and the Misses A. Butler (Frensham) and R. Raggett (Bentley). Among the many floral tributes were those from the Farnham tower, the Guildford Guild, Farnham District and the Bentley ringers.

As the cortege left the church, the bells were rung half-muffled and at the graveside a course of Grandsire Triples was rung on handbells by A. Hazelden 1-2, C. W. Denyer 3-4, A. H. Pulling 5-6, W. H. Viggers 7-8. In the evening 1,260 Grandsire Triples, half-muffled, were rung by Miss M. Mackman 1, J. Wells (conductor) 2, J. Read 3, E. Gardner 4, S. Meadows 5, E. J. Heath (first quarter of Triples) 6, R. Collins 7, C. Wells 8.

MITCHAM, SURREY.—On Feb. 24th, 1,440 Kent Treble Bob Minor: E. Jones 1, Miss A. Castle 2, J. Tomsett 3, E. Beauchamp (cond.) 4, H. Allen 5, S. Ball 6. Rung half-muffled in memoriam to Mr. Alfred Miller.

MR. H. G. BEAMS

Mr. Harry George Beams, a member of a ringing family with over 100 years' continuous connection with St. Mary's Church, Ewell, Surrey, died peacefully at his home at West Ewell on February 7th, aged 88.

With his two younger brothers, Jesse and John, he learnt to handle a bell-rope at an early age, his father being the parish beadle and a member of the call-change band of those times.

Mr. Harry Beams was not only an enthusiastic service ringer for about 50 years but he had also rung many peals, mostly in the locality, and he had 'circled' the Ewell tower. He took part in the first peal to be rung in the church, in 1892, and the first by a local band a year later. He also rang in the deeply-muffled peal on the funeral day of Queen Victoria. All were of Grandsire Triples. His health had not permitted him doing any ringing since before the war, but mentally he remained alert and intensely interested in ringing news.

A course of Grandsire Doubles was rung at the interment in Ewell Churchyard by F. Oakshott, E. Coward and J. Hoyle, the last-named having rung peals with him 50 years ago.

Later a half-muffled quarter-peal of 1,259 Grandsire Triples was rung on the tower bells as a last tribute by:—J. Whitehorn 1, E. J. Lindley (conductor) 2, J. Hoyle 3, Margaret Howard 4, M. Layton 5, H. E. Good 6, F. Oakshott 7, E. Coward 8.

MR. GEORGE FISHER

On February 23rd, at the age of 81, Mr. George Fisher passed away at his home in Warren Avenue, Stapleford, Notts.

A member of St. Helen's Church all his life, he had held every lay office in the church except that of warden. When he retired, some four years ago, he had been a bellringer and steeple-keeper for 60 years.

Up to 1932 he had charge of the three old bells and often chimed all three himself for service. When they were augmented to six he could only manage to cover Doubles and rang his first and only peal covering Grandsire and Bob Doubles; that was at the age of 65.

As a tribute of esteem and respect, a half-muffled peal of Minor was rung at Stapleford on March 3rd.

CRANBORNE, DORSET

Old Bell Retained in New Ring

To-morrow (March 17th) is an important day for this little Dorset village with only 550 inhabitants. The eight bells, which have been recast by Messrs. John Taylor and Co., with metal added to the tenor to make it 17 cwt., are being rededicated.

The ancient fifth bell, cast at a mediæval foundry at Salisbury and placed in the tower in 1550, is being replaced by a new bell from Loughborough. The ancient bell has been hung by itself and is to be used for service chiming.

The contract price is about £1,500 and towards this the villagers have strained their resources to raise £1,000. Mr. W. Day (churchwarden), of Castle Street, Cranborne, near Wimborne, appeals for contributions.

Cranborne Church was once a Benedictine Monastery, then a Priory and finally the Parish Church. Its fine tower, completed in 1440, is the third largest in Dorset. There were four bells in the tower in 1550; later a tenor weighing one ton was added. Four of the five bells were recast by Thomas Mears in 1841 into five bells, leaving the old fourth bell as tenor. These six were augmented by two more trebles, cast by John Warner, in 1890. The bells are hung in a fine oak frame which is as good to-day as it was 60 years ago.

Cranborne Church well repays a visit and Mr. Day, in making his appeal, extends a cordial invitation to ringers during their summer outings.

HUGHENDEN, BUCKS

£2,000 For Recasting Bells

One of the principal rings in the Oxford Diocesan Guild is now sadly in need of restoration. It is imperative that something be done unless Hughenden bells are to become silent.

The ring of eight is not a musical one; the tenor bell was cast about 1420, the seventh (the worst bell in the tower) was cast in 1490 and the rest added at different times. The octave was completed in 1881 by a gift of two trebles as a memorial to the Earl of Beaconsfield.

Since that time nearly 300 peals have been rung on the bells, including the first peal of London Surprise Major for the Oxford Guild and first of Cambridge, Superlative and Double Norwich in the county. Hughenden was a favourite tower of the late Rev. F. E. Robinson and the peal book contains the names of a number of other notable ringers.

The old tenor is to be hung separately from the new ring and used as a service bell and a new tenor will be necessary. The rest need recasting and hanging in a new frame, all on one level. The cost is estimated to be nearly £2,000 and although the local ringers themselves are contributing weekly sums, it is certain that money must be forthcoming from other sources. Visitors have always been made welcome on Sundays and practice nights and undoubtedly numerous young ringers owe much to the efforts of this enthusiastic band.

If any ringing friends would like to make a contribution to this worthy object, the same will be gratefully acknowledged by Mr. Roland Biggs, tower captain, or Mr. Percy Newton, hon. secretary. Please forward all donations to the Rev. S. A. C. Dickens (Bell Restoration Fund), Hughenden Vicarage, High Wycombe, Bucks.

HUDDERSFIELD DISTRICT

The smooth-running ring of eight at Lindley was kept going from 2.30 to 7 p.m. in simple methods of Triples and Major at an open meeting on March 3rd; the striking on the whole was fairly good.

About 20 members from 11 towers then adjourned to the choir vestry to decide whether the Society should be re-formed after a lapse of several years. The proposal was strongly supported and officers were elected comprising president, secretary-treasurer, auditor, Ringing Master and three committee members.

The subscription was fixed at 1s. per year, this, paid on the spot by members present, plus a little cash brought forward and a small profit from tea and sandwiches, makes a reasonable working balance. A maximum of six meetings per year was considered to be the best number for smooth working, these to be held on the first Saturday of the particular month, the secretary to advertise same in 'The Ringing World'.

A vote of thanks to the local company for arranging the meeting closed the proceedings. A. W. B.

SWANSEA & BRECON GUILD

A successful meeting was held at Baglan on March 3rd, about 35 members representing nine towers being present. It was a pleasure to see so many young ringers there. The service was conducted by the Vicar, the Rev. J. D. Llewellyn Jones.

Tea was served in the New Church Hall. At the business meeting, with the Vicar presiding, the statement of accounts was discussed. The credit balance showed an increase, but there was room for improvement regarding membership. It was decided to hold the next quarterly meeting at Gorseinon and failing this at Duffryn, Neath. Mr. D. Williams thanked the Vicar and also the officers for the work they had done.

At the conclusion, a committee of four was elected to arrange a day's ringing tour in June. The district secretary will be pleased to hear from all those interested in the proposal.

THEY RANG PEALS IN THE LAST CENTURY

STILL RINGING AT 85

We publish this week the fifth instalment of those who rang their first peal in the last century.

Mr. Harry E. Hammond, of Braintree, rang his first peal on May 19th, 1883. It was seven Minor methods at Braintree and was the first peal of Minor for the Essex Association.

Mr. Hammond is now in his 86th year and is still capable of ringing Surprise Major methods. He also rang in the first 720 of London Surprise Minor for his Association. He is the only survivor of the band who rang his first peal.

Mr. A. W. Brighton, of Forest Gate, formerly of Norwich, rang his first peal at Norwich (Bob Minor on handbells) on February 23rd, 1892, and his first tower bell peal at Nethersett (Bob Minor) on February 29th, 1892. He rang 89 peals to December 2nd, 1899, and these included peals from Doubles to Maximus.

Mr. E. E. Pratchett, of Hendon, Middlesex, rang his first peal (Bob Major, 5.056 changes), at the residence of Mr. C. H. Martin, on handbells, on December 6th, 1894. The band was Henry J. Martin 1-2, W. H. L. Buckingham (conductor) 3-4, Charles H. Martin 5-6, E. E. Pratchett 7-8. Umpire, Mr. Frank Turvey.

His first peal on tower bells (six bells) was the treble to seven different methods at St. Stephen's, St. Albans, on December 8th, 1894, conducted by W. H. L. Buckingham.

On the 15th of the same month he rang his first peal of Major on tower bells—the treble to a peal of Superlative Surprise Major at the Church of St. Giles-in-the-Fields, London (conducted by G. Newson).

FIRST AT CHRISTCHURCH PRIORY

Mr. A. F. Martin Stewart, of Ferndown, Dorset, rang his first peal, Grandsire Triples, at Christchurch Priory, on June 1st, 1895. Of the band only Mr. George Preston, of Christchurch, and Mr. Martin Stewart survive. The peal was for the wedding of Mr. E. Hinton, who is still alive, but, being the bridegroom, was unable to participate in the ringing.

Mr. John Hilling is the only surviving member of the band that rang the first three peals on Bunwell, Norwich, bells. His first was Minor (three methods) on April 30th 1892. Bunwell bells were rehung in 1884 and still go very well although they have had no repairs since that date.

Mr. George Henry Myers, of Plymouth, rang his first peal, Plain Bob Major, at Charles' Church, Plymouth, on April 15th, 1896. Later in the same year he took part in the first peal on the restored and augmented bells at Cardynham, Cornwall, conducted by Mr. T. Blackburn, who had carried out the job.

Mr. Albert J. Hughes, of Bangor, rang his first peal, Grandsire Triples, on December 10th, 1900, at Smethwick Old Church. It was also the first peal for Joseph Piggott, and was conducted by Samuel Reeves. Mr. Hughes concludes: I rang my 262nd peal in January, 1936, and have only been able to ring one (Grandsire Caters) since. But I still have hopes if health permits.

Mr. Walter Gorton, of the Saviour's, Bolton, Lancs, rang eight peals before 1900; the first, a peal of Grandsire Triples, in 1883. He rang a peal in the same method on December 19th, 1945, at the age of 85 years, both on the Saviour's bells. He says if he could ring from the ground level he would still be a service ringer. He hopes to hear a peal rung to celebrate his 90th birthday on June 24th next.

A FARNHAM WORTHY

Mr. R. Hasted, of Farnham, who is 79, rang at the age of 18 a peal of Grandsire Triples (Holt's 10 part) on November 26th, 1889, at Privett, Hampshire. He rang the sixth and it is believed to be the first peal rung by an entirely local company for the Winchester Guild. On November 30th, 1895, he rang at Winchester Cathedral a peal of Grandsire Caters—the first peal of Caters in Hampshire.

Mr. A. D. Cullum, of Reading, rang his first peal, Stedman Triples, at Caversham, on April 25th, 1896.

Mr. William G. Whitehead rang his first peal at St. James', Bushey, Herts, on November 7th, 1896. The method was Grandsire Triples.

'IN WHICH CENTURY?'

Dear Sir,—I venture to say Mr. Oxenham rang his peals in question in the last century. It is more than half a century since I left school, but I remember being taught a century was 100 years, not 99. The 20th century started on January 1st, 1901.

Radford, Coventry.

C. H. WEBB.

NORWICH DIOCESAN ASSN.

East Norfolk Branch Annual Meeting

The annual meeting of the East Norfolk Branch was held at Gorleston-on-Sea on February 24th, attended by 39 members. The service was conducted by the Rev. E. Corbell (Vicar). Tea was provided at Matthes' Assembly Rooms and the business meeting followed. Mr. G. Fletcher inviting the Vicar to preside.

The election of officers resulted as follows:—Chairman, Mr. E. R. Goate (Mr. G. Fletcher resigning the office as he thought it was time that someone else held the position); Mr. J. Harwood, secretary; Messrs. G. Bussey, P. G. W. Newstead, G. Walpole, P. Kindred (branch committee); Mrs. E. K. Fletcher and Mr. P. Walpole (standing committee); Mr. G. Walpole, branch Ringing Master.

Loddon was selected for the next meeting on April 21st.

Mr. H. Tooke, secretary of North Norfolk, suggested a joint meeting of the East and North Norfolk Branches during the summer. This is to be decided at the next meeting.

Mr. G. Fletcher proposed a vote of thanks to the Vicar for the use of the bells and service and also to the Rev. Robinson, who gave the address.

Ringing was resumed till 8.30, methods being selected to oblige everyone, with rounds for learners.

Ringers were present from Acle, Beccles, Caister-on-Sea, Fornett, Gorleston, Haddiscoe, Lowestoft, Loddon, Norton, Southwold, South Walsham, Pakefield, Winterton, Wymondham and Great Yarmouth.

BEVERLEY & DISTRICT SOCIETY

On February 10th the Society met on the eastern boundary of the District and enjoyed a good ring on the light ring of eight in St. Patrick's, Patrington.

Ringing in this miniature cathedral is always an enjoyable event as there is a lot for the ringer with archaeological interests to see, in between ringing touches, including the number and novel ways of entry into the ringing chamber.

The Rev. R. A. E. Jones conducted the service and gave an interesting sermon on the meaning of ringing customs and the calling of the people to service by bells.

Standard methods were rung in the afternoon and evening with touches of Double Norwich and Cambridge Minor. A pleasing feature was the way several learners handled these light bells and took part in touches.

SUSSEX COUNTY ASSOCIATION

Eastern Division

The divisional annual meeting was held at St. Mary's, Eastbourne, on February 24th, 48 members being present, representing 15 affiliated towers. Some very good ringing preceded the service in which the Rev. R. Hare, curate and ringer, gave a very thoughtful address. An excellent tea was provided by local ringers and ladies in the Old Parsonage, after which the business meeting was held under the chairmanship of the Master of the Association, Mr. George Cecil.

In a report, concern was expressed at a marked decline in attendance at all meetings during the year, and the secretary remarked that one cause for this might well be the high cost of travel to individual members. It was felt that the Division should be in a position to pay full travelling expenses to all members, at least to quarterly meetings. Resolutions of future financial policy were on the table for discussion by the general committee.

The divisional officers were re-elected and Mr. F. H. Dallaway was again nominated divisional representative on the Central Council. New members, numbering 23, were elected from Burwash, Eastbourne, Hellingly, Rye, Rotherfield and Wadhurst.

It was announced that the ringers of Southover tower, now in the Southern Division, were desirous of transferring to the Eastern Division. The meeting agreed that the Eastern Division would welcome this if agreement was reached at the annual general meeting of the Association.

Votes of thanks were passed to the Vicar for the use of the bells, the chairman, and the local ringers and ladies for the tea. The meeting closed and members returned to the tower where ringing continued until 9 o'clock.

P. H. R.

Southern Division

At the annual meeting of the Southern Division held at Southover, Lewes, on February 10th, 48 members were present.

The ten bells were made good use of from 3 p.m. onwards, methods rung during the afternoon and evening being Grandsire, Plain Bob, Stedman, Kent Treble Bob, Double Norwich and Cambridge Surprise.

After a very satisfying tea, the business meeting was held with the Master of the Association, Mr. G. W. Cecil, presiding. The general secretary, Mr. S. E. Armstrong, was also present.

At the commencement of the meeting members stood in silence in respect of Messrs. Gander, Payne, Davy, Stenning and Tyler, who had passed away during the year.

The secretary's report for 1950 showed that enthusiasm had been maintained at the meetings and for Sunday service ringing. The condition of bells in the Division is satisfactory, but three ringers, Ringmer, Shoreham and Hurstpierpoint, are out of action. Ten new members were elected from the affiliated towers of The Good Shepherd, St. Peter and St. Nicholas, Brighton, Keymer and Shoreham.

Officers were re-elected and Mr. W. C. Hart was elected to fill a vacancy on the committee. For the next three meetings it was agreed that Uckfield, Twineham and Barcombe should be visited.

B. W. W.

Mr. Thomas Butler, sen., of Ellesmere, Shropshire, who is seriously ill with heart trouble, in Bl Ward, The Wrekin Hospital, Wellington, would welcome visitors at any time, especially ringing friends from the Wellington and Coalbrookdale corner of Salop.

OLD BELLS IN PRESENT-DAY RINGS

CUMBERLAND BELLS

Dear Sir,—The following is an extract from an article which appeared in 'The West Cumberland Times,' dated March 7th, 1951. It is a report on a talk by Miss M. C. Fair, the Cumberland secretary of The Society of Antiquaries of London. The talk was entitled 'Medieval Bells in Cumberland.'

She (Miss Fair) stressed the difficulty of examining most of the bells owing to their inaccessibility, but said Egremont is fortunate in having an exceptionally fine bell hanging in front of the organ in Egremont Church, where its inscription can be read.

The date of the Egremont bell can be surmised as between 1390 and 1404 and was made by the same bell-founder as another bell at Edenhall.

The pre-Reformation bell at Lamplugh, recently available for inspection, from similarity in the letters of the inscription and other details may also be by this founder, though somewhat later in date. It commemorates Thomas Lamplugh, Knight, who was High Sheriff of Cumberland and died in 1471.

Perhaps the most notable bell in the West Cumberland district is one of the two hanging in the tower of Disington Church, which bears a dedication to St. Christopher, believed to be the only bell in Great Britain so dedicated. The other bell here, dedicated to St. Cuthbert, bears the initials V.C., standing for William Curwen, who was patron of the benefice and who died of the plague in 1403.

Other bells described were two at Waberthwaite, a pair at Whicham, another pair at St. Bridget's Beckermeth, St. Catherine's bell at Eskdale, Enerdale's bell dedicated to St. Bega, and the bell now at Crosthwaite Church, Keswick. The last-named was in use at Loweswater until the restoration of the church there in 1886 when the bell was acquired by Keswick. Formerly hanging in the Parish Room, it has been removed to a window-sill in the church, where it can be examined. It is of late 14th or early 15th century type, probably acquired by Loweswater when parochial status was granted in 1404.

I found it most encouraging that a county like Cumberland, which is not rich in ringers, is so rich in bells of historical interest. There are other bells of similar interest in Cumberland at Greystoke, Carlisle and many other places.

Keswick, Cumberland. H. S. GRISDALE.

URCHFONT, WILTS

Dear Sir,—There is a 14th century bell in the ring of eight at Urchfont, Wilts, viz, the treble. Walters says: 'The antiquity of the treble and tenor at Urchfont suggests that this, like Bishops Cannings, is a very early ring of eight, although they are all now of different dates.' Incidentally, Yatton's bell is surely dated 1451.

Clevedon, Somerset. E. G. C.

CHALK, KENT

Dear Sir,—The second of the three bells at Chalk, Kent, bears the words XPE : PIE : FLOS : MARIE and the mark of Thomas de Weston. It is ascribed by 'Church Bells of Kent' to 1348. If this is correct, its first job was tolling for the Black Death in 1349. The other two bells are dated 1625 and one bears its maker's name—JOHN WILNAR.

F. A. CLUETT.

ARDLEIGH AND DEDHAM, ESSEX

Dear Sir,—The tenor of St. Mary the Virgin, Ardleigh, Essex, to a ring of eight, was cast by Robert Burford, circa 1415. The sixth at St. Mary the Virgin, Dedham, Essex, is approximately of the same year and was cast by Robert Burford.—Yours truly, Colchester. PETER G. BARNES.

BUCKERELL, DEVON

Mr. F. H. Parr, of Bucknell, near Honiton, Devon, writes that in his district there are a number of pre-Reformation bells in rings of bells restored and rehung in recent years.

At SS. Mary and Giles', Buckerell, there are two pre-Reformation bells, the fifth and tenor. These bells are believed to have been cast by Roger (or Robert) Norton, of Exeter, who was a travelling founder. They are recorded in a document in the Public Records Office 7th, Edward VI., 1553, which gives the number of bells in every parish in Devon. The fifth weighs 6 cwt. 1 qr. 4 lb. and not, as stated in 'Church Bells of Britain,' 7 cwt. 3 qr. 27 lb.

LITTLE MISSENDEN, BUCKS

Dear Sir,—At Little Missenden, Bucks, the third bell's approximate date is 1340 and the fourth's 1445. Both are still in good order and rung every week in this ring of six bells. My only information is that they were quarter-turned and rehung in a new frame together with the fifth, dated 1603, and tenor, dated 1663, in 1881 when a new treble was added. Another treble was added in 1948.—Yours faithfully,

S. J. ORCHARD.

Amersham, Bucks.

BEARSTED, KENT

Dear Sir,—Mr. H. A. Price, of Yatton, may be interested to learn that the second bell in the ring of six at Holy Cross, Bearsted, is considerably older than the seventh at Yatton. Investigation shows it to have been cast by Henry Jordan between 1442 and 1468, the exact year not being known. It bears the inscription 'Vox Augustine Sonet in Aure Dei,' weighs 5 cwt., is 30½ inches in diameter and the note is D.

Another old bell in the ring is the fourth, which was cast by Robert Mot in 1590.—Yours faithfully, Maidstone, Kent. GEORGE F. CANTRILL.

HAWKLEY

Dear Sir,—At Hawkley we can claim two bells still in use nearly a hundred years older than the seventh mentioned at Yatton. We have a ring of eight here now, the old six being retuned and turned and two new trebles added, the whole ring being hung in a new steel frame and ball-bearings in 1949 by Messrs. Gillett and Johnston, of Croydon.

At the time of the restoration of the bells, the history of the old bells was enquired into, and Mr. F. Sharpe, of Oxford, was sent for. He discovered two bells were cast in the year 1450, by Rogan Sanden. One of them is the fifth, which has no wording on it but four founder's stamps engraved on it; one of these stamps is a fleur-de-lis. The other bell is the sixth, which has the words Ave Maria engraved on it. Our seventh is also fairly ancient, being cast in the year 1624 by Brian Eldredge.

It may be interesting to state that the two very old bells blend very nicely in tone with the rest of the ring, making quite a nice octave.

I wonder how many towers can beat this for age—and still going strong.—Yours faithfully, Hawley, near Liss. CHARLES POUND.

POPLAR, LONDON.—On Feb. 25th, 1,280 Cambridge Surprise Major: T. H. Taffender 1, E. D. Smith 2, Miss J. Freer 3, C. A. Hughes 4, T. W. Taffender (cond.) 5, J. Bennett 6, C. W. Otley 7, J. Bullock 8.

RADLEY, BERKS.—On Jan. 21st, 1,320 Bob Doubles: Elizabeth Llewellyn Jones 1, Marie R. Cross 2, Ruth Paton 3, Hilary Eason 4, Janet Eason (first quarter as cond.) 5, Rev. J. V. Pixell 6. Rung for the conductor's 16th birthday.

MIDDLESEX COUNTY South and West District

The annual meeting of the South and West District was held on February 17th at St. Mary's, Acton, an excellent attendance being recorded.

The bells of St. Mary's, Ealing, were also available and some good ringing was enjoyed at both towers.

The well-attended service was conducted by Canon A. Rogers, Vicar of St. Mary's, Twickenham, who is an hon. life member of the Association, and was very much enjoyed. Mr. F. C. Price, of Feltham, was the organist, with the District secretary, Mr. F. A. Finch, reading the lesson. The business meeting held in the vestry was presided over by the president, the Rev. P. Gough, Rector of Acton, and the interest taken was a good sign for the future.

The secretary, in presenting his report, spoke of another successful year in every aspect. Peals had dropped slightly but service ringing had improved and membership was on the increase, particularly with young ringers, which was largely due to the efforts of Mr. T. Price. District Ringing Master. At the election of officers, Mr. F. A. Finch, district secretary, announced he would not be seeking re-election due to increased business obligations. A warm vote of thanks for his past services was recorded.

Officers elected were:—District secretary, Mr. G. Dodds; assistant district secretary, Mr. T. H. Blunt; Ringing Master, Mr. T. Price; Deputy Ringing Master, Mr. F. W. Goodfellow; Central Committee, Messrs. F. A. Finch, G. M. Kilby and W. W. Webb; auditor, Mr. E. C. S. Turner.

Six new members were elected and the meeting closed with a hearty vote of thanks to those who had worked to make the meeting such a success.

YOUNG LEICESTER RINGER COMPLETES CENTURY

At the age of 17 years and 8 months Terence A. Thorner, of Leicester, has recorded what must be regarded as a very fine century of peals.

He is a member of the service band at St. John-the-Divine, Leicester, and gained his early ringing knowledge there and at other Leicester and district towers on the various practice nights. Since it has not been possible to ring St. John's bells, he has attached himself temporarily to the Leicester Cathedral Company and rings regularly for Sunday services.

EASTER DAY THOUGHTS

THERE will be very few of our readers who are not ringing next Sunday—Easter Day. Most ringers, we hope, are conscious of the purpose for which they are ringing and their minds are not solely occupied with the method and the mastery of their bells. This, we feel sure, is prevalent in half-muffled ringing, and the solemnity of the occasion does affix in the mind thoughts concerning the deceased person. And yet half-muffled ringing has a grandeur of its own, a majesty which in many ringers' minds is unsurpassed.

Such a thought is appropriate for Easter Day. We like to think that the grandeur that comes from half-muffled ringing is not merely a musical coincidence, but a symbolic indication of what is at the very root of the Christian faith—firm belief in the Resurrection and that as Christ rose again so shall we all. The consciousness of this great reunion is the prevailing thought at Eastertide; the conquest of death, through Christ, is no matter of wishful thinking; it is part of our very creed; a question on which there is absolute conviction. Without it our faith would be barren. Thus with glad hearts and open bells we ring.

The Early Church had no doubts—to them a risen Christ was factual. Friends greeted each other on Easter Day with the Easter kiss and the exclamation, 'Surrexit' ('He is risen'), to which the reply was 'Vere Surrexit' ('He is risen, indeed'). This custom is still retained in the Greek Church. Outwardly we are not so demonstrative to-day, but of late the vogue of the Easter card for friends who are near and dear has become prevalent.

Inwardly Easter Day still holds its place among all Christian people. The book of Common Prayer inserted in 1552 'that every parishioner shall communicate at least three times in the year, of which Easter Day shall be one.' That is a direct command to all members of the Church of England. What has impressed the Editor is the little footnote that at times accompanies a quarter peal rung for one of the great festivals of the Church—'The band at the conclusion of ringing attended Holy Communion.' We have not paraded this fact in our columns, but it is one of those treasured thoughts that amid all the criticisms of ringers there are companies who to a man fulfil their solemn obligation as a member of Christ's Church.

For more than 50 years the Central Council has been fighting for the recognition of ringers as servants of the Church. We might with confidence say we have won through and in practically every diocesan guild there is recognition of the fact. As servants of the Church there is more than one obligation—the faithful performance of ringing for service on Sundays and for other festivals. It entails corporate membership and that can only be achieved by attendance at Holy Communion. The command is explicit, 'All parishioners shall attend.'

We like to think, however, that on Easter Day ringers will communicate, not from a sense of duty, the mere fulfilling of their obligation of membership, but from a yearning desire to be joined with Christ in His Church. There can be no belief in the Resurrection without Christ, and it is at the Holy Table that this union is cemented and made real and the remission of sin obtained.

St. Paul speaks of bodies terrestrial and bodies celestial; of natural bodies and spiritual bodies. He also explains in that well-known chapter from Corinthians that flesh and blood cannot inherit the kingdom of God. The material body must be superseded by a spiritual body. The creation of that spiritual body does not start after death; it is being created daily in each one of us who seeks that union with Christ and is prepared to accept Him in his daily life. But this union will not come with mere lip-service; there has to be a complete surrender.

From an unfamiliar source we close with a quotation from Kabir, the weaver mystic of Northern India, that might well be applied to our faith:—

O friend, hope in Him while thou livest,
Know Him while thou livest,
For in life is thy release.
If thy bonds be not broken while thou livest,
What hope of deliverance in death?
It is but an empty dream that the soul must pass into union with Him,
Because it hath passed from the body.
If He is found now, He is found then:
If not, we go but to dwell in the city of Death.
If thou has union now, thou shalt have it hereafter.

DEATH OF MR. J. DRONFIELD

We regret to record the death of Mr. John Dronfield, of Wortley, near Sheffield, Yorks, who died on February 17th at the age of 79. He was the pioneer of ringing at Wortley and instructor of the original band which started ringing when the bells were installed in 1893.

Mr. Dronfield was also a member for a few years of the Bolsterstone band, and, with the late Thomas McKegg, regularly walked from Wortley to Bolsterstone for Sunday service ringing and practices. The service at Bolsterstone was in the afternoon and he rang with his own band for morning and evening services at Wortley. Those who know the location of the two towers will understand the enthusiasm behind that fact.

The band at Wortley progressed and in 1898 they rang 10,464 Bob Major, which was conducted by David Brearley and which was the longest length by the Yorkshire Association to that date. In 1899 Mr. Dronfield conducted Holt's Original, which was considered no mean feat at that time, and one that very few conductors had achieved. He had rung some 51 peals for the Yorkshire Association and conducted 11, and although of late years the band at Wortley had almost disappeared, owing to changes in the Earl of Wharnccliffe's estate, he continued to take a keen interest in everything appertaining to bells and ringers.

He was one of four brothers, all of whom were blacksmiths and ringers at Wortley. Of a kindly, genial disposition, he was always ready to give a helping hand to learners or to stand in a peal with visitors, for Wortley was a very popular place for visiting peal ringers at that time. To him Wortley owes practically all its local ringing. He had been a member of the Yorkshire Association for 56 years.

He was interred at Wortley on February 21st, and on March 4th six of the Bolsterstone ringers attended and, with the local men, rang the bells half-muffled to his memory.

SHEFFIELD & DISTRICT SOCIETY

Forty-four ringers and friends from twelve parishes attended the annual meeting of the Sheffield and District Society at the beautiful Church of St. John, Ranmoor, Sheffield, on March 3rd.

The musical light ring of ten was raised in peal and rung during the afternoon and evening to a variety of methods.

After tea in the Parish Hall, tune ringing and change ringing on handbells was greatly appreciated. The business meeting was ably presided over by the Rev. E. A. Gundry, who commented on the good work of the Society's officers.

In his report the secretary noted the loss sustained by the recent deaths of Mr. J. Thorpe, Mr. G. Lewis and Mr. W. Biggin. He expressed thanks to all those who had contributed to the success of meetings during the past year, noting also that 29 peals had been rung.

Business included the adoption of the balance sheet, the election of 15 new members and the decision to apply for affiliation to the Central Council.

The following officers were elected for the ensuing year: President, Mr. H. O. Chaddock; secretary, Mr. J. E. Turley; assistant secretary, Mrs. J. E. Turley; treasurer, Mr. S. F. Palmer; auditor, Mr. F. B. Ditcher; Ringing Master and C.C. representative, Mr. N. Chad-dock; Assistant Ringing Master, Mr. G. C. Briggs.

The next meeting will be a joint one with the Chesterfield District of the Derby Association at Bolsover in April.

HUNTINGDON.—At St. Mary's on March 4th, 1,248 Plain Bob Major: R. Peacock (first of Major) 1, H. W. Pratt 2, J. R. G. Spicer 3, C. J. Young (first of Major) 4, H. S. Peacock 5, R. F. Baker 6, F. Warrington (cond.) 7, G. H. Dunnington 8. Rung for Mothering Sunday.

THEY RANG BELLS IN THE LAST CENTURY

We append our sixth instalment of veterans who rang their first peals in the last century.

Mr. B. Fullwood, who has been tower master at Sedgley for 54 years, cannot remember the date of his first peal but his name appears on two peal boards in the belfry, dated 1893 and 1894.

Mr. Herbert T. Pye, of Colchester, rang his first peal at Kelvedon, Essex, on February 10th, 1896, the method being Bob Minor. This was the first peal on the recently augmented bells. Mr. Pye has been attached to St. Peter's, Colchester, for over 50 years. The occasion of Mr. Pye's first peal was also the first peal of Mr. William Keeble (see 'Ringing World,' February 23rd).

BEESTON'S TRIO

Beeston, Notts, has three residents who rang their first peal in the last century.

Mr. Harry Whittle rang his first peal at Stanford-on-Soar, 5,088 Bob Major, on November 27th, 1897.

Mr. Arthur Lowe's first peal was rung half-muffled as a mark of respect to the late Rt. Hon. W. E. Gladstone. This was at Beeston on May 28th, 1898, the method being Bob Major.

Mr. Louis Price rang his first peal, Bob Minor, on March 8th, 1900.

KENDAL VETERANS

A correspondent forwards to us particulars of two Kendal veterans—Mr. Richard Everson (86) and Mr. Thomas Haslam (76).

Mr. Everson rang his first peal, Grandsire Triples, in 1884 and took part in the third peal rung in Cumberland—Grandsire Triples in 1897—and the last peal of Caters on Kendal bells in 1898.

Mr. Haslam still rings regularly. His first peal was Grandsire Caters, at Kendal, in February, 1898.

send 5s. 6d. for a quarter's or 10s. 6d. for a half-year's subscription to Mrs. G. W. Fletcher,
The White House, Caister-on-Sea, Norfolk. It is also important that quarterly subscribers should not overlook the date.

Ringers for Sunday evening service at Glodwick,
Oldham, had some difficulty in 'making correct places' when a young lady ringer turned up wearing a jumper she had knitted herself. Incorporated in the pattern was a plain course of Grandsire Doubles, complete with two bells—'Bob' and 'Single.'
Knitted work is supplanting pencil work in Lancashire!

Seventeen-year-old Ronald Christopher, who called his first quarter of Triples at Thatcham, Berks, impressed old hands with his ability.
He 'called the bobs' in a faultless style.

The ringer of the treble in the peal of Double Norwich Court Bob Major at Kirby-le Soken, Essex, on February 17th, was Gordon
F. Clarke.

Ringing friends of Mr. Ernest W. Tipler, of Lutterworth, Leics, well known as the composer of many new Surprise methods, will learn with regret that he is a patient in the Hospital of St. Cross, Rugby, suffering from a fractured femur of the left leg. We hope that he will make a speedy and complete recovery.

It is frequently said that ringers do not take part in any other activities of the Church. In a peal at Dallington, Northampton, there was a parochial church councillor and sidesman, two choristers and servers, a scoutmaster and chorister and a sidesman and clock-winder.
These are all members of the Sunday service band.

A familiar figure at all meetings of the Southern District of the Surrey Association, Mr. W.
Claydon, of Reigate, has been ill for some months and is very much missed both in his own tower and at meetings. Although on the sick list, he made the arrangements for the annual district meeting at Reigate in January and, as usual, they were perfect.

BELFRY GOSSIP

We understand that Mr.
James George, in his will, left his peal book to St.
Martin's Guild, Birmingham, with a request that it should be placed on the table in St.
Martin's belfry. His handbells were left to Mrs. F. J. Marshall and among the beneficiaries of his small estate was Mr. Frederick A. Milner.

Mr. Cecil Ebberson completed his circle of Terrington St. John, Norfolk, tower by a peal in 16 methods.

Owing to unforeseen circumstances the annua meeting of the Worcestershire Association will be held on Easter Monday in the Chapter House and not in College Hall, as advertised.

Mr. A. Patrick Cannon has been elected a member of the Central Council as representing the Surrey Association. The other two representatives were Mr. D. D. Cooper and Mr.
F. C. Collins.

The peal of 5,015 Grandsire Cinques at St.
Mary's, Redcliffe, Bristol, reported in our last issue, was the 450th for Mr. Alfred E.
Reeves. Bristol ringers, we are sure, will congratulate him on this milestone, in a life of service to the Exercise.

Three very promising young ringers from the Durham and Newcastle Association area are Miss Joyce Lewis, J. Alan Ainsworth and Eric N. Harrison. Only a few weeks ago they scored their first peal and now they have rung a peal of Superlative! In the old days such progress would have taken 15 years.

The quarter-peal at Leighton Bromswold, Hunts (tenor 2½ cwt.), is worthy of special mention. These bells have been five since 1720 and were rather difficult to ring owing to about 30 feet of rope without guides. Local ringers regarded the attempted quarter as a joke. The band intend to attempt a peal on the bells, which are the heaviest five in Huntingdon.

DEATH OF MR. JAMES GEORGE

He Rang 1,281 Peals

ONE of the best-known figures in the Exercise, Mr. James George, died in hospital at Poole on March 10th in his 98th year. He was admitted to hospital with acute bronchitis, and, while he had weathered previous attacks, this proved fatal.

Mr. George maintained his mental faculties until the last two days when he lapsed into unconsciousness. He followed day-to-day events in change ringing very closely and, despite his great age, corresponded and criticised current events. He was determined to ring a handbell peal at 100, but fate ruled otherwise.

His pertinacity was the hall-mark of his ringing. There was a determination to succeed; it carried him through his peals, and it was a sad day for him when, over 80 years of age, he had his leg amputated. This ended his tower-bell activities, but he had still handbells to fall back upon. His 95th birthday was celebrated by a peal 'in hand.'

FATHER RANG FOR WILLIAM IV'S DEATH

Born at Pinner on November 27th, 1853, Mr. George was the second son of Mr. James George, who was for many years the leader of the ringers in this Middlesex tower, and rang at the death of King William IV. and the accession of Queen Victoria. He learnt to handle a bell at an early age. In 1869 he entered the service of the London and North Western Railway Company, and from 1881, until his retirement, was on the staff of the estates department at Rugby. His duties took him to all parts of the country.

Mr. George's enthusiasm for change ringing did not start until he was well in his thirties. His first peal, Grandsire Triples, was rung on February 16th, 1889, at St. George's, Camberwell. Thereafter, peals followed in goodly number, and by 1894 he had scored his first century. These peals were rung in 63 towers from Newcastle to Brighton, and involved 11,000 miles of railway travel, without reckoning the distances involved in unsuccessful attempts. His 200th peal was a memorable one. It was conducted by him at Pinner on August 13th, 1899, and was in celebration of his parents' golden wedding. His brother, Mr. W. H. George, also participated.

In 1896, when a ring of eight was installed at St. Andrew's, Rugby, and a ringing society formed in that tower, Mr. George was elected Master and served in that capacity for a number of years. Under his guidance the company made good progress. In 1911 Mr. George was elected Master of the Warwickshire Guild.

RATE OF PROGRESS

Compared with the leading ringers of the post war era, Mr. George's various centuries of peals did not denote exceptionally fast scoring, but it was continuous effort over a great many years. His progress is indicated as follows:—

100th peal, November 20th, 1894; 200th, December 31st, 1899; 300th, January 13th, 1906; 400th, September 22nd, 1908; 500th, October 19th, 1912; 600th, August 18th, 1917; 700th, October 8th, 1921; 800th, August 9th, 1924; 900th, July 3rd, 1926; 1,000th, October 6th, 1928.

His 1,000th peal was rung at Wolverhampton when he was nearly 75 years old. It was a very experienced band he gathered to ring this peal of Stedman Cinques, and between them they had aggregated 6,080 peals and no fewer than 966 peals of Stedman Cinques. The late Ald. J. S. Pritchett, the then presiding ringing Master of the St. Martin's Guild, climbed the 70 odd steps to the belfry to extend official and personal wishes for the success of the attempt.

Afterwards, at the Molineux Hotel, Mr. George entertained the band and a large number of friends to a meat tea. Mr. Harry Mason, of Hagley, presided, and Mr. Albert Walker (conductor of the peal), the late Messrs. C. T. Coles and J. S. Goldsmith, Mr. A. A. Hughes, and Mr. Herbert Knight all added a tribute to Mr. George's achievement.

OCTOGENARIAN PEALS

Probably no man in his 80's accomplished what Mr. George did, which included ringing Bow tenor to a peal. In his 81st year he rang 20 peals on tower bells, at 82 another 22 peals, at 83 nine peals, and at 84 two peals. His last tower-bell peal, Plain Bob Major, was rung at Enderby, Leicestershire, on August 24th, 1939, and was conducted by Mr. Ernest Morris. Mr. George was then 85 years and nine months. After the amputation of his left leg he attempted a peal but this, unfortunately, came to grief. Mr. George missed the 'sally and could not regain it.

He continued however ringing handbell peals, and at the age of 91 rang two peals. His last and 1,281st peal was rung at the residence of Mr. Martin Stewart at Ferndown, Dorset, on his 95th birthday. 'Jimmy arrived "full of beans,"' wrote the conductor, Mr. D. T. Matkin. He rang 7-8 to Grandsire Triples, the other two participants being Mr. A. H. Ward and Mrs. Marshallsay. The time taken was 2 hours and 30 minutes, and it was a truly remarkable performance. Among those who listened to the peal were Mr. and Mrs. Jack Thomas and Mr. A. H. Pulling.

A LOVER OF HEAVY BELLS

Mr. George revelled in heavy metal, and his list of peals includes the following tenors: Bow tenor (53 cwt.), to Cinques and Maximus; Southwark (50 cwt.), Cinques and Maximus; Norwich old tenor (43 cwt.), to Royal and Maximus; Cornhill (41 cwt.), to Cinques; Sheffield (40 cwt.), to Caters, Cinques and Maximus; Shrewsbury (40 cwt.), Waltham Abbey (39½ cwt.), Birmingham (36 cwt.) and Cripplegate (36 cwt.), to Cinques.

Sometimes the man on the eleventh has an equally big share, and Mr. George's list on these bells included Southwark five times, Bow three times, Cripplegate twice, Birmingham twice, Ipswich twice, and the eleventh at Norwich, Dublin, Cornhill, Worcester, Waltham Abbey, Chelmsford, Newcastle and Winchester. He rang the ninth to ten-bell peals at St. Sepulchre's, London, Stepney, Loughborough, Nottingham and Wells, and the seventh to eight-bell peals at Sherborne Minster, Croydon Parish Church and St. Luke's, Derby.

He rang the tenor to the record length of 12,240 Kent Treble Bob Maximus at Ashton-under-Lyne on April 17th, 1911, in 8 hours and 39 minutes. This peal eclipsed a record established in 1833 by the Painswick Youths of 10,224 changes in 6 hours and 50 minutes. Another notable feat by Mr. George was peals of 6,000 Bob Major and 6,336 Kent Treble Bob Major on the same day. Other long lengths were 6,720 Double Norwich Court Bob Major, 8,009 Grandsire Caters and 7,280 Kent Treble Bob Royal.

Mr. George travelled far and wide for his peals, having rung them in England, Scotland, Ireland and Wales. He also sought out the smallest bells and rang them—the 60lb. treble at Lye, Worcestershire, and the treble at the Loughborough Bell Foundry, weighing 80lb., which he rang to a peal of Kent Treble Bob Royal.

WROTE WITH FIRM HAND

To the end Mr. George carried on an extensive correspondence with his ringing friends. He wrote with a firm, legible hand, and only ten days before his death the Editor received a letter from him, asking for a composition of Plain Bob Maximus to be published. The old gentleman delighted to while away his days composing peals—unfortunately they were not always true. Nevertheless, he had a large number of compositions to his credit and started composing as far back as November 10th, 1894—which he reminded the Editor was before many people of to-day were born.

Mr. George took a keen interest in 'The Ringing World' and at the end of the First World War raised from among his friends a sum of nearly £300 to meet some of the heavy losses incurred by maintaining the publication during the war years.

Mr. George's greetings to the Ancient Society of College Youth's dinner were proverbial. He invariably signed himself as the oldest College Youth living, and recalled some of his memorable achievements.

At the Henry Johnson dinner at the beginning of this month his special greeting was read to the assembly, and he added that he should like to have the honour of proposing Ald. A. Paddon Smith as Lord Mayor of Birmingham for a second year. 'That is outside the power of Jimmy George,' commented the Lord Mayor, to the delight of the company.

THE FUNERAL

The funeral service for Mr. James George was held at Longfleet Church, Poole, on March 15th. The Rev. J. Barratt officiated and the interment was at Poole Cemetery.

The following people attended:—Mr. and Mrs. W. Huddy, Mr. and Mrs. Frazer and Mr. Adam (friends); Messrs. Alfred H. Pulling (Guildford Guild); L. J. Lockyer (chairman) and I. V. Davis (hon. secretary) both of the Salisbury Guild; A. V. Davis (hon. secretary), Mrs. F. J. Marshallsay and Mr. Fred Price (Winchester and Portsmouth Guild); Mr. D. T. Matkin (representing St. Martin's Guild for Birmingham).

After the committal, a course of Grandsire Triples was rung round the open grave by Mrs. F. J. Marshallsay 1-2, D. T. Matkin 3-4, A. V. Davis 5-6, F. Price 7-8.

There were a number of floral tributes from various people and Ringing Guilds.

On the day of his funeral an 'In Memoriam' handbell peal of Grandsire Caters was rung at 26, Wellington Road, Bourne-mouth, by Mrs. F. J. Marshallsay 1-2, A. H. Pulling 3-4, D. T. Matkin (conductor) 5-6, A. V. Davis 7-8, F. Price 9-10.

ALAMEIN PLAQUE DEDICATED Ceremony in Lancashire Church

A plaque recording the broadcasting of the bells of St. Mary's, Prestwick, Lancashire, was dedicated in the church on Palm Sunday evening by the Rector (the Rev. F. Paton-Williams). An address was given by Prof. J. Copeman.

The ceremony was scheduled to take place last November on the anniversary of the original broadcast and it had been hoped that it would have been possible for the B.B.C. to broadcast both the bells and the service of dedication.

Unfortunately postponement was necessary, and it was not possible for the B.B.C. to include this event in the programme. A recording of the bells was taken, and this was introduced into the 'Events of the Week' programme on Sunday, March 18th.

Of the eight ringers who took part in this recording five rang in the original broadcast, two others were members of the band at the time but were away on Active Service, and one other was a member but was in London at the time. These eight therefore have had at least eight years of continuous service.

During this period seven members have been lost to the tower—three have passed away, three have gone to live elsewhere, and one has retired for health reasons. Six others have joined the band, and four youths who can now handle a bell will soon be joining the band, giving a strength of 18.

Seven of the band have rung in peals, and it is hoped that a peal by the local band will be rung for the Festival of Britain.

STORY OF A GREAT RINGING CAREER

DIARY OF THE LATE MR. W. H. FUSSELL—13

Edited by ERNEST MORRIS

EARLY in 1885 Mr. Fussell reports: 'Mr. Hughes from the foundry went with me (to St. Giles', Bloomsbury) and rang in "rounds" for the first time. He seemed very pleased. Two days later—"I went to Spitalfields where he had an opportunity of practising to handle a bell properly." Mr. Fussell paid his first visit to St. Anne's, Wells Street, and says: 'I found that the few young ringers there were very gentlemanly and know a little of Grandsire. We rang two touches with three of them in. The belfry is a well-lighted room with gas, lavatory, Seages Dumb Bell Apparatus and a set of eight handbells in a case, complete. In fact, it seemed there was every convenience for change-ringing. Mr. Hughes rang very well in rounds; the bells are a fine peal.'

After an abortive attempt for a peal at Snow Hill, the company went 'to the usual place of call and during our stay here we had some interesting excitement with a man who would say nothing but "I'll play anyone at dominoes, five shillings a chalk." He had a lot to say to most and I had a lot to say to him, and to his discomfort, as he seemed anxious to pay for all for his "pals." He had a small basket of fish which he lost before going out by force, he being drunk by 11.'

THE PASSING OF JOHN COX

About this time Mr. Fussell reports that John Rogers was accepted by the company to apply for the steeplekeeper's place at St. Bride's—old Johnny Cox being too ill for it. Shortly after this, John Cox died (Jan. 29th, 1885) and was buried in Nunhead Cemetery. Mr. Fussell went with R. Haworth and 'saw the coffin lowered into the grave. A great number of ringers present from all Societies and much respect shown for the old chap. A course of Stedman Cinques was rung on handbells over his grave. The grave was quite six inches too short for the coffin, it being lowered endways to get it down. The executors stayed and saw it replaced properly after all had gone. His wife was sadly cut up, the solemn tones of the 12 large handbells giving a most unusual effect in the hearers. At St. Bride's we rang half-muffled, some few members being anxious to ring in the touch by preference of seniority. Rang with Haley for first time (he called some Stedman Cinques). Returning via Aldgate, heard the bells here ringing half-muffled.'

Later Mr. Fussell took part in a peal at St. Sepulchre's, Holborn, near the Viaduct. Nelves being late, 'we did not start till 6.28. I rang 5th, a wretched bell—the worst I have ever managed in a peal, making my hands very sore and tender. However, by a good deal of labour, I managed to keep it going, but almost giving it up twice. Came into rounds 9.59 and a good coming home. Hopkins, being outside listening, said it was a very good peal indeed. W. H. George also outside, and made arrangements for a peal next evening at Pinner. This failed after 2½ hours: "Pinner George" rang the 7th very well. Had Jarman been there, as promised, we might have had a good peal. Was awake in the night by a fight and considerable noise in the street.'

About this time he visited St. Vedast, Foster Lane, and says: 'Rang 4th up for evening service. Here is a ring of six, tenor 20 cwt. A very handsome church interior. Inside the porch a quantity of oak carving. A very nice belfry—bells go well—but scarcely any ringing at any time.'

MAD-HATTERS!

In February, 1885, there was a 'Royal Birth' at Windsor Castle and instructions were given for the bells to be rung. After rushing to St. Giles-in-the-Fields, Bloomsbury, where a peal was to have been on, some of the band got two cabs and drove to Paddington as fast as possible to catch the 6.20 train. 'When we got there our consolation was to see the train just moving out, greatly to our disappointment. Had we caught it the peal would have been a "red-letter" event in the annals of change-ringing. For a peal to be rung on a Royal birth, at a Royal borough, by members of the Royal Cumberland Youth Society, more especially as the birth was at the Castle.'

'It was no use giving way to regret as "What is to be, will be," so we went to the "Load of Hay" till 7 o'clock. Someone proposed going to Willesden, it being their practice night. Started off on a walk—a very long way it seemed to me—over a number of dirty fields and passages and about an hour's tearing about. Arrived at the "Spotted Dog" at 8.40. Newson called on his brother and found we could not ring owing to a mission being held. Of all the games and antics human beings were capable of and all the laughable sayings and doings imaginable, none could excuse the tricks some got up to going to Willesden, I suppose to forget about our ill fortune, for I know we were all as wild as possible. Some people must have thought us mad.'

'HAMPSTEAD CHURCH BURGLARIES'

At Hampstead, while Newson fixed a peal board written by Alf Fussell, he rang some Triples and Cambridge Surprise. 'Some ingenious burglar had been going to all the Hampstead churches during the week and taking away all the could find of any use. They obtained the keys of the churches from the respective sextons by saying they had come to do some work in the church. At the old church, a charwoman, when going in to clean, frightened them so much that they left the plate and other articles in the vestry just being packed up for removal, and jumped out of the window. No tidings of them.'

Earlier this year (1885) Mr. Fussell records going to St. Paul's Cathedral and heard them ring Stedman Cinques—stayed to service—and then went to St. Gabriel's at 6 p.m. for the first time. Hayes, Winney, French, Rowbottom and others rang Double Norwich Court Bob and then he rang a 400 Stedman Triples (H. Langdon's first touch). They then went for refreshment till 9 o'clock. 'Hovered was there (he was once steeplekeeper of St. Gabriel's, but got dismissed for swearing at the Vicar—not that the parson didn't deserve it as he is a well-known old wretch and close-fisted).'

March 28th, went to Shoreditch and, after waiting about, the band arrived, Chapman, who is nicknamed 'Uncle Sam,' being slightly elevated. They made three false starts, then got going, but after 47 minutes the 8th broke down in the 'slow.' Later in the meeting house they rang handbells till midnight. The steeplekeeper's wife, Mrs. Benham, and the boy Harry Leonard were there keeping up the birthday and the 101st anniversary of the Cumberland's long peal of Treble Ten. 'The child seems a fine little fellow and is apparently none the worse for so much ringing that was going on when he came into the world. . . . Considering the late hour there was a number of people about (turning-out time of the pubs). Got to bed 12.40, not without thinking how the men went home after ringing the long peal at Shoreditch 101 years ago, and if the weather was so lovely as it was this night.'

The next day he went to Holy Trinity in the Borough for a quarter peal of Stedman, and says, 'This is a small tower (four peal boards), closely arranged ropes, difficult to hear properly inside. This is my first sight of the church, which is situated in a Square in a pleasant situation considering the locality. The band: 1. Shade 1, Strange 2, Fussell 3, Jones 4, Murphy 5, Ed. Rogers 6, Hayward 7, Langdon 8. H. Shade and McLaughlin present.' At this time Mr. Fussell was out ringing almost daily, and frequent peal attempts were made at many city and suburban churches. Many were lost for various reasons, and some were successful. He made many sketches of churches for the 'Bell News,' and an item of interest is when he sent three volumes to be bound, which he says, 'nicely bound, 6s. 9d.' A little different from to-day's prices!

THE QUEEN'S BIRTHDAY

This is the way they rang on this occasion: St. Bride's, 8.30 to 9; St. Martin's, Charing Cross, 9.30 to 10 (then back to Whitechapel Foundry); St. Martin's, 1-2; St. Bride's, 2 to 3 (back to foundry); St. Bride's, 6 to 7; St. Martin's, 8 to 9. Received 4s. from each tower. 'This finished a hard day's ringing for 8s.'

On a Friday in June, 1885, Mr. Fussell left Whitechapel Foundry for the last time, and so ended his connection with the firm, 'which I was sorry to leave for many reasons.' In November he started work at Slough for the Conservative Committee on election work, and says, 'I remember last year being busy in London towers ringing most of the day.'

On the 21st of this month he records, 'was greatly surprised to hear J. W. Snowdon was dead, and a great loss to the exercise it will be, for I feel sure much valuable information will die with him in old ringing matters.' At the end of the year Mr. Fussell writes: 'This concludes another year, my health, thank God, being generally good. As usual plenty of good wishes were expressed to each other by brother ringers. I often feel inclined to let my diary go and write no more. I don't seem able to make my mind up even now to begin the New Year, as I find it a great task at times. Taking notice of my performances during the past year, the many towers I have been to, the many bells and changes I have rung, I feel very thankful for the health and strength I have enjoyed to enable me to do as I have; for the freedom from accidents I have experienced while going about climbing towers, stairs, bell frames and ladders, in many places dangerous. Altogether I feel much satisfied and can joyfully repeat the lines I arranged:—

'O all ye Bells and ye ringers thereof,
Praise ye the Lord.
Ring unto Him and Sing unto Him
For ever and ever.'
To be continued.

SURREY ASSOCIATION Southern District

At the first quarterly meeting held this year, at Redhill, 38 ringers were present, and of these 24 were members of the Southern District.

All being willing to climb the ladder leading to the ringing chamber, ringing started at 3 p.m., and ranged from rounds to Surprise, Mr. A. P. Cannon successfully managing his first meeting as Ringing Master. Tea was taken at the Plough Inn, close by the church. At the short business meeting that followed, one new member was elected. The meeting was told of the illness of Mr. A. Gear, the treasurer, and the secretary was asked to convey to him the condolences and best wishes of all present.

It is hoped that the next meeting will be at Kingswood on April 21st. Votes of thanks were passed to the curate, the Rev. Phillips, who took the service, to the organist and the Vicar, and to Mr. C. Munt for so ably arranging the meeting.

The ringing that followed included a touch of Spliced Surprise, rung by the visitors, but further ringing was brought to an early close by the news of illness near the church. Those who stayed for a few minutes, however, were able to watch and listen to some handbell ringing before making their way home.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

EASTER BROADCASTS

Liaison Established in West Region

Dear Sir,—I am writing you in connection with Easter broadcasts. We have established liaison with the B.B.C., West Region, and I sincerely hope that we shall all reap a great benefit by this co-operation.

They approached us on the matter, seeking advice, which we told them would be gladly forthcoming at all times, to ensure that the best possible was put over the air.

In this connection they got in touch with me with reference to Easter Sunday morning broadcast and informed me that they were broadcasting the service from St. James', Bristol, on Easter Sunday morning and that they were broadcasting the bells. A lovely ring of ten, but not in too good an order.

I got into touch with the captain of the band who assures me that they will have a first-class band there for the occasion and we sincerely hope that we shall be able to retrieve some of our lost medals over the Christmas 'do.'

I have heard that it is part of a National Link-up, similar to the Christmas one, but of that I am not too certain.—Yours very sincerely,

FRANK SKIDMORE.

Bristol, 5.

EVERCREECH'S EXAMPLE

Dear Sir,—During the past few weeks we have had many letters regarding the Christmas broadcast and ringing in general. Some have had an element of constructional value, many have been solely critical and destructive. When all is said and done, good ringing in all our towers will never be the rule unless all the people that are able make up their minds to do an awful lot of spade work of a very elementary character. One wonders how many village bands can ring, say, a solid five minutes of really good rounds, the real basis of all good ringing.

Might not the following humble record of what we have done in our village serve as an example of what can be done by lots of hard work and patience.

On March 12th, 1949, the grand ring of ten, of which we are so proud, was dedicated. The band consisted of a few old ringers and half a dozen boys, whose ages ranged from 8 to 14 years. It took us many weeks of practice to ring even passable rounds on the ten, but we stuck at it amid much criticism. The boys learnt to ring Doubles and, later, Minor on the front six, and still later we graduated to Triples, using 9.8.10 as cover bells. Some four months ago we rang our first course of Grandsire Caters, and on Sunday, March 11th, 1951, just two years after the dedication, we rang our first touch of 377 Grandsire Caters in the hand-stroke home position. Naturally there were a few mistakes and the striking could have been better, but with practice that will be remedied. The band that rang was as follows: D. Hill (12) 1, R. Crago (10) 2, A. Sanger (11) 3, R. March (13) 4, J. Nicholls (15) 5, J. Badman (16) 6, F. Reakes 7, R. Field 8, H. J. Sanger (cond.) 9, A. White 10. Incidentally, the ringer of the seventh is 76 years of age, and has only learnt to ring Caters in the last three months.

There are now 18 members in our band, mostly young boys, and we never miss ringing twice every Sunday. In addition to this, five of the boys, who are members of the Sunday School, ring Doubles for a short time before Children's Service on Sunday afternoons.

We are rather proud of our record of service to our church and of our progress as a band, but surely the moral of it is, 'If you set your target and work hard enough to achieve it, you will succeed.'—Sincerely yours,

H. J. SANGER.

OLD BELLS IN RINGS

Examples in Northamptonshire

Dear Sir,—Re bells prior to 1541 incorporated in rings, there are several in Northants. The third of the five bells at Castle Ashley is circa 1510 bearing the stamp of Thomas Bullisdon, of London, who, it is believed, cast no bells after 1515.

The fourth of the five bells at Old is known to have been cast between 1442 and 1470 and is ascribed to Henry Jordon. The second of three at Tansor is also circa 1450 and reputed to be by Robert Crouch.

Grafton Regis, recently augmented from four to five, has one which records show was provided in 1490 from the sale of timber. Fawsley has four bells all ascribed to Henry Jordon—1442 to 1470.

The fine tenor (14 cwt.) of three bells at Great Billing bears the inscription of Johes Zorke in Gothic lettering—a shortening for Johannes de Yorke, a bellfounder, and Mayor of Leicester in 1370. The tenor of four in the leaning tower at Stowe-Nine-Churches bears the heads of Edward III. and his Queen and is said to have been cast between 1327 and 1377—this too is a bell of around 13 cwt.

A much better-known bell (referred to in some books as the second oldest dated bell in England) is the second of the four at Cold Ashby—1317—the date is in Roman figuring; it is reputed to be by William de Flint and bears the royal heads of Edward I. and his Queen. The tenor of the three at Winwick bears the same royal heads.

Prior to 1893, the fourth of five bells at Easton Maudit was believed a product of William Dawe, 1385-1418. It was, in the above year, recast.

THIRSK, YORKSHIRE

Dear Sir,—In reply to Mr. H. A. Price, of Yatton, the tenor of the ring of eight at Thirsk Parish Church, Yorks, is dated 1410 and called the Jesus bell, being thus inscribed. It is reputed to have come from either Byland or Fountains Abbey. The tenor of the ring of three at All Saints', Terrington, York, is dated 1400 and inscribed 'Robertus Prior.' This bell is supposed to have come from Kirkham Abbey, four or five miles away. These three bells were rehung in 1914 by Messrs. J. F. Mallaby and Co.

HAVE REGARD FOR THE OTHER'S FEELINGS

Dear Sir,—I feel I must, in all fairness, 'reply for' the Rev. Peter T. Robbins (Bury), after receiving from him a kind letter of fuller explanation in reply to the question in my letter as to his qualification to write his criticism of the correspondence relating to the Christmas broadcasting.

I think I have learned two certainties: the first that Mr. Robbins has quite sufficient experience of ringers and ringing and should have some knowledge of his subject. He is concerned that there should be any rancour, a bit of which does exist in the Exercise.

The second, he had not the slightest desire to provoke controversy; he, probably, will not reply; but rather that his remarks would be seen and have the desired effect on those concerned.

Once again—disagree, as we must, but don't be disagreeable; say what you like, exactly what you mean, but have regard for the other chap's feelings, if not for his opinions, and say it nicely.—Yours sincerely,

W. FRANK STENSON.

Crewe.

THE LESSER OF TWO EVILS?

Dear Sir,—Mr. Semmens cites the case of a Devon team—presumably call-change ringers—who misused a fine ring of bells. Method-ringing bands are also capable of musical anachronisms. There is a tower in Somerset containing an excellent modern octave where, if the local band meets one short, they regularly pull up seven in peal, leaving out the treble, and continue to ring Doubles on 2, 3, 4, 5, 7, with 6 and 8 covering until an eighth ringer turns up.

When I politely ventured to question this horrible procedure I found that none of the ringers present saw anything objectionable in the practice but consider it the lesser of two evils, the other being the necessity of one ringer sitting out and having nothing to do!—Yours truly,

HENRY MORETON.

Bristol.

SPliced SURPRISE MAJOR IN 25 METHODS

Dear Sir,—Please allow me, through 'The Ringing World,' to offer my heartiest congratulations to Mr. W. F. Judge and his band on ringing the peal in 25 methods. I should also like to mention that I found Mr. Corrigan's 'Collection of Major Methods' of great assistance while choosing additional methods.

Referring to Mr. Croft's letter, on page 137, I may add that I frequently receive requests for various spliced compositions, but despite the fact that my time is rather limited nowadays, I do what I can to produce suitable and interesting compositions. Naturally it gives me much pleasure when I find my efforts are appreciated and to note the growing interest shown in spliced ringing.—Yours faithfully,

A. J. PITMAN.

Port Talbot, Glam.

MONKEN HADLEY

Dear Sir,—In the peal report of a peal of Cambridge Major rung at Monken Hadley and also in Dove's excellent guide book, the church is given as being in the county of Middlesex.

Monken Hadley and the Church of St. Mary-the-Virgin are, according to information which I have, in the Administrative County of Hertford. Apparently Monken Hadley used to be in Middlesex but as a result of the 'Local Government Act, 1898,' the boundary was rearranged bringing it into Hertfordshire. Although the church is in Hertfordshire it is in the Diocese of London.—Yours faithfully, Hatfield, Herts. ERIC EDMONDSON.

CAMBRIDGE SURPRISE MAJOR

A Correction

Dear Sir,—I shall be obliged if you will kindly make a correction as regards the footnote to the peal at Aberavon, Glamorgan, on page 148 of 'The Ringing World.' My name should not have been starred as, previous to this peal, I had rung Cambridge and Superlative Surprise Major peals both on treble and inside bells.—Yours faithfully,

A. J. PITMAN.

Port Talbot, Glam.

MUSIC FOR HANDBELLS

Dear Sir,—I am anxious to obtain some music prepared specially for handbells. Such music was formerly published by Wm. Gordon, of Stockport. It is in parts and in normal musical notation.

Should any readers have such music for disposal I should be pleased if they would communicate with me.—Yours, etc.,

NORMAN CHADDOCK.

BRISTOL CITY BRANCH AT DINNER

Silent Bells of St. Nicholas' Deplored

THE second annual dinner of the Bristol City Branch was held on Saturday, February 24th, at the Community Centre, Redcliffe, when 75 people sat down to what was to be an excellent evening.

Mr. F. G. Leaker occupied the chair, ably supported by Mr. A. Bennett (hon. secretary) and Mr. E. J. Brown (Ringing Master). The guests for the evening were Canon J. M. D. Stancombe, R.D., and Mr. J. G. Jefferies (representing Bristol Rural Branch).

In these days of austerity and shortage of meat the caterers are to be congratulated upon serving up a really magnificent dinner, very prompt and hot.

Once past the cheese and biscuit stage—and thanks to stay and eat it, as the witty sub-title on the menu reminded us—the chairman proceeded to make good use of a gavel to call the house to order in toasting 'The King.'

Proposing 'The Church,' Mr. Leaker welcomed the many clergy present. This showed a real interest on their part, and he trusted we should all appreciate it. He had invited the Rev. Paterson, but had received a letter of apology for absence on account of his health. However, if he had been present (the letter continued) he would have urged upon the ringers that they were servants of the Church, and he would have impressed upon the clergy that they should visit their ringers more often and get to know them.

BRISTOL'S DEAD BELLS

Mr. Leaker again made a plea for something to be done about the 'dead' bells of Bristol, especially those now lying silent at St. Nicholas' and Temple Church. The grand ten of St. Nicholas' were an irreplaceable loss to Bristol, and he himself hoped that something would be put in hand to find a tower for them. In conclusion, he welcomed Mr. John Thomas and Mr. Robert Drew, through whom he took up ringing.

Two courses of Bob Royal were then excellently struck on handbells by Miss A. Brown, Mrs. J. Thomas, Mr. E. J. Brown, Mr. R. Bryant and Mr. Thomas.

In reply to the toast, Canon Stancombe voiced the general feeling of the company with a word of praise for the handbell ringers. From their performance he drew three lessons which he passed on, viz.: (1) Keep an eye on everything that is going on around you; (2) be where you are wanted at the right moment; and (3) practice makes perfect. He was glad to see so many ladies present. Obviously a change had come over ringers since his earlier days.

He recalled his own attempts at learning to ring and particularly the thrill which came to every ringer but once, the moment when he could balance his bell perfectly for the first time. He thought that the letter from the Rev. Paterson really answered the toast.

The Canon paused for a moment to remind the gathering of the work which the Rev. Paterson had done for ringers. He thought choirs spent most time in church, but ringers certainly came second. There was nothing in the whole world which evoked the same memories and associations as church bells, and this he felt was a real encouragement. In wishing the Branch all success, he implored them to make recruits their first duty.

A sketch by the Redcliffe Guild produced much mirth and enjoyment. It consisted of a satire on the St. John's School of Ringing, and, although lacking in practice and having to use script, was very well performed. Tune ringing followed, given by Miss Annie Brown, Mr. E. J. Brown and Mr. T. W. Kimber. This was a delight to listen to and was very skilfully performed.

NOW A G.O.M.

Mr. J. G. Jefferies proposed the toast of 'The City Branch,' and congratulated Mr. Leaker on joining the ranks of the G.O.M.s by ringing in a peal of Grandsire Cinques, the 50th anniversary of his first peal. He went on to say that the division of the old Bristol Branch into City and Rural had turned out satisfactorily. The only trouble now was that the City Branch had so few towers left. He recalled his first ringing lessons in St. Thomas' under Mr. Leaker 40 years ago. 'You had to pull to be a ringer at St. Thomas,' he commented, and he supposed it was still the same.

Replying, Dr. Brocklehurst also congratulated Mr. Leaker. He mentioned the serious loss to Bristol ringing of Mr. Walter Rawlings, especially at the school where he put in such a lot of time. He thought a special word of praise was due to one who also had done so much to revive ringing in Bristol, Mr. Hancock. He was exceptionally good at organising outings, and he had also shown that he was very capable as a conductor of peals. He looked forward to more outings.

'Ringing Friends' was proposed by the Rev. T. P. Tindall (SS. Philip and Jacob), who impressed upon the assembly the virtue of faithfulness, which he had himself learned from his own ringers. The fellowship of ringers too, he said, was always to be remembered as part of the much wider fellowship of the whole Church.

Mr. Ivor Trueman (University Society) replied and reiterated what the proposer had said. In a few years he had made many friends in ringing and wondered how many Mr. Leaker must have. He particularly thanked the ringers of Bristol for their never-ending friendship and hospitality. The University Society owed its foundation to Bristol ringers, and its continued existence was dependent on them for towers in which to ring.

Songs excellently rendered by Miss Lilian Crooke and Mr. Reg Dove were much appreciated. The committee are to be congratulated on arranging so grand an evening. A. R.

SHROPSHIRE ASSOCIATION

Visit to Whitchurch

A successful meeting was held at Whitchurch, in the extreme north of the county, on March 10th, despite the freezing weather and icy conditions prevailing. It was the first held at this tower by the Association for nearly 20 years.

The eight bells were rung for the first time since the rehanging, as six only are rung by the local band owing to fears for the safety of the tower through oscillation. It had been feared that ringing on the octave would not be possible, but it had been arranged for the architect to be in attendance to inspect the tower during ringing, and on his advice the bells were rung.

There was some considerable delay at the beginning owing to the fourth rope slipping wheel, due to an awkwardly placed splice in the rope. Standard methods were rung up to service time, the service being conducted by the Rector.

Tea was served at the Brownlow Cafe. Mention was made of the Master (Mr. E. V. Rodenhurst) attaining his 500th peal.

The secretary appealed for information respecting little-known towers in the county, as he was composing a detailed report of ringing conditions throughout the area served by the Association. Upon returning to the tower the company was strengthened by members of the Market Drayton band, and methods, including Double Norwich, were rung. Colleagues from over the border, who had cycled from Nantwich, were cordially welcomed. The secretary thanked the Vicar and churchwardens for the use of the bells and the welcome accorded the Association. E. J. R.

ST. MARY'S, LEWISHAM

March 10th was a happy day for the ringers of St. Mary's, Lewisham. Three events coincided to provide a happy background for the first peal on the bells since they were rehung last year by Messrs. Mears and Stainbank. The bells, generally considered one of the best eights in South London, now go very well.

Mr. William Parker first learned to handle a bell when evacuated to the country during the war. He returned to Lewisham at a time when Harry Warnett, sen., was taking the first steps to reconstitute a band and proved to be a most enthusiastic learner. He is most conscientious in his Sunday service ringing and it is gratifying that his marriage to Miss B. E. Lee, of Penge, was suitably honoured with a peal in his own town. On the previous Sunday evening, a presentation was made by the Lewisham ringers to the prospective bride and bridegroom who are enjoying a honeymoon in the Channel Islands.

The peal also honoured the veteran, Mr. Harry Warnett, who reached his 88th birthday on March 13th. He came along to greet the band before the peal but decided not to stand about because of the inclement weather. In contrast to Harry's great age, the peal also honoured the peal conductor's infant daughter, born in February.

GLOUCESTER AND BRISTOL

Swindon Branch

A quarterly meeting of the Swindon Branch was held at Rodbourne Cheney on March 10th and visitors were welcomed from Aldbourne, Birmingham, Buckland Newton and East Budleigh in addition to branch members. The Association form of service was conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. J. R. Hassett) and tea was provided by the local ringers.

It was proposed that meetings be held at Blunston, Stratton-St-Margaret (evening) and Bishopstone during the next three months and a collection for the Association's Belfry Repair Fund realised £2 3s.

Rodbourn Cheney bells are ideal for a meeting being light and easy to handle and a wide variety of methods was rung including Cambridge, Beverley, York and London Surprise Minor. W. B. K.

STAFFORD RINGER'S WEDDING

The Ven. W. A. Parker, Archdeacon of Stafford and president of the Society of Change Ringers for the Archdeaconry of Stafford, officiated at the wedding on March 7th at St. Mary's Church, Stafford, of Mr. Frank Eley and Miss Eileen Bunn. The bridegroom is a popular Sunday service ringer and secretary of the local branch of the C.E.M.S. His bride is a member of the local Amateur Operatic Society.

A touch of Bob Minor was rung as the happy couple left the church, and in the evening St. Mary's ringers rang 1,260 Grandsire Triples as a compliment to the happy couple. The ringers were A. B. Garbett (first quarter) 1, R. J. Warrilow (cond.) 2, H. Bayley 3, F. R. Wiggan 4, J. Warrilow 5, A. E. Garbett 6, J. J. Taylor 7, A. Page 8.

The honeymoon is being spent in London.

SOUTHGATE, MIDDLESEX.—On Feb. 25th, 1,299 Stedman Caters: W. J. Bowden 1, Mrs. N. A. Tomlinson 2, Miss M. A. Prockson 3, Miss E. M. Fadden 4, Mrs. N. O. Manchip 5, S. Wade 6, S. G. Peck 7, H. Miller 8, J. G. Nash (cond.) 9, M. Fensom 10. A wedding compliment to F. Miller and a birthday compliment to ringers of 1 and 4.

SOUTH WEALD, ESSEX.—On Feb. 25th, 1,260 Doubles (740 Grandsire and 520 Plain Bob): F. H. Crouchman 1, F. R. Goddard (cond.) 2, D. G. Mayell 3, D. J. Crouchman 4, H. G. Goddard 5, F. W. James 6. First in two methods by 1 and 4.

TOWER CORNER—25

LESSON XIV. (CONCLUDED)
GRID NOTATION IN STEDMAN

Dear Improvers,—Space considerations prevented the completion, last time, of our discussion of the notation of the notation of columns of the grid. You will recall that as extension proceeds from stage to stage the added twin-column is to be found in an 'inside' position in the grid.

The Extending Twin-Column. A remarkable fact, to be discovered on testing methods in general, is that the nature of the grid-pattern, as arranged in the columns, is of two types only; and that the columns of the two types never become 'mixed.' They remain segregated: one type, which we called Initial columns, to the left of the grid, and the other type, which we called Terminal columns, to the right of the grid. In any extended stage, the newly-introduced twin-column, or 'extending' column, of the expended grid will always be found to be interposed between these two groups of twin-columns. The question remains, however, as to which group it will join. The answer depends upon the design of the basic stage; and the 'joining group' remains fixed, for the given method, throughout all its stages. The fascinating result of this is that one set of columns in the given method becomes established as the expanding group, while the other remains the 'constant group,' throughout stage variation. A later reference to this and to figure 12, below, should help to make this clear.

Fig. 12.—The Stedman Triples Division with its Grid Notation

Stedman—Doubles to Triples and Higher. The student should now do a bit of 'home-work.' Start a Stedman Doubles Division by writing down, say, the first three change-rows. Now put in the column notation. An odd-numbered stage, of course, it is easily done if the content of the 'Column Notation' paragraph of the previous instalment is followed. Reference should now be made to Instalment 20, where we gave the specification for the Stedman method for all stages. Now set out a Triples grid to accommodate a complete Division of Stedman Triples. Start by entering in first, your 'fixed' columns as for the Doubles grid. You will have 'A' to the left; 'U' inseparably linked to 'A' in the 3-bell front work; and 'Z' to the right of the grid. A gap appears to the right of column 'U.' This must accordingly be the new twin-column in the expended grid. How is it to be headed? Well, of what nature is its work? The specification tells us it is to be dodging work, i.e., akin to that of 'Z'; so it receives the next available terminal letter, i.e., 'Y.' (This is shown in the accompanying figure 12, where the complete grid notation of a Stedman Triples Division is given.) From this we see that in the expanding Stedman Grid the new or 'extending' twin-column enters, at every stage, on the right of column 'U.' So in Caters it will be headed 'X,' and in Cinques 'W.' The complete Cinques column-heading is, of course, 'A.U.W.X.Y.Z.' The relationship of the twin-columns 'W.X.Y.Z.' may be clearly seen from the dodging in each; also that they constitute the expanding group in Stedman. The work in columns 'A' and 'U,' the three-bell front-work, is seen as distinct and undisturbed throughout, and these columns constitute the constant group. In Stedman, then, the initial columns are constant in number, while the terminal columns are expanding.

Row Notation. We have now dealt fairly fully with column notation. A similar notation is employed for the rows of a grid. The first twin-row (or section) of a grid is always marked 'A.' The last one, that just above the Junction, you may remember, is always marked 'Z.' The intervening sections are lettered according to the nature of the work in them. Fig. 12 shows how the row notation runs for a Stedman Division for all stages, since the rows in this method do not increase in number in extension. There are, of course, only six change-rows in this grid, and accordingly only three sections. Only the middle one remains to be lettered. Will it be 'B' or 'Y'? Now the work in it is seen to be forward hunting, similar to that in 'A' section; whereas the work in 'Z' section is backward hunting. (Test this as instructed in previous instalments.) Accordingly this middle section is 'Initial,' and receives the initial designation 'B.' Individual rows are distinguished by the small letters 'h' and 'b,' denoting, of course, handstroke and backstroke rows respectively. In treble-bob methods, where each section letter covers four change-rows, owing to the dodging-hunt path of the treble bell, the dodging rows of the section are distinguished by the addition of a dash to the small letters 'h' and 'b,' thus b, h, b', h'. In Figure 12, the part of the Division below the section 'Z' is, of course, the grid-reflect. The sections in are lettered reflectively with respect to those above the Junction line, J, i.e., in the reverse order. Each letter is prefixed by a small 'r,' however, to distinguish the sections of the grid-reflect from those of the grid proper.

Hunt-controlled Grids. The Notation for grids of methods of the hunt-controlled class is not quite so simple; but this will be discussed later. It should be noted, however, that whereas in grids of methods of the Stedman type, extension involves expansion of the columns only while rows remain constant in number; yet in grids of methods of the hunt-controlled type, extension involves expansion of rows also, and proportionately to the expansion of the columns.

Square Identification. It will be seen that we now have a ready means of identification, not only of any square in any one grid, but also of any correspondingly-positioned square in the grids of all the stages of any given method. Each square of the grid is named by its row and its column designation, and in that order. For example, the bells lying behind at the parting of the sixes do so in grid-squares Bh-Zo and rBh-Zo, from Doubles to Cinques throughout. The real utility of the system will become more apparent as we deal with further methods.

Stedman Extension in Practice. Applying our originally-derived Specification for Stedman, in extended stages, involves simply the addition of an extra twin-column of dodging work, interposed in each stage next to the three-bell work in front. Thus, in the next stage to Doubles, the new position of the final or 'Z' twin-column becomes 6-7, and the work of lying behind is removed from 4-5 to 6-7, the dodging proceeding, as before, in the newly-added 'extending' column ('Y') on the way both up to and down from the newly-positioned 'Z' column. Applying this, of the Triples stage, again in the Caters and Cinques stages, we derive the full practised-range of extension of the Stedman method on odd numbers.

Calls in Stedman Extensions. We have seen that the Single is the only call needed to obtain the extent of change-rows in the basic stage of this method. Moreover we noted that this call is made at the orthodox place, namely, at the Link. Putting this into the general terms of grid notation we should say that the Single in the Doubles stage is made by the bells in twin-column 'Z' lying still across the Link. There appears to be no valid reason why this should not be followed throughout the extension of Stedman in all stages; and, furthermore, if another form of call be needed (since the orthodox form of Bob is not possible at the Link in this method) there appears no reason why a call of the form of a single made simultaneously in both the 'Z' column and in 4-5, and named possibly 'DOUBLE,' should not be employed at the Link throughout. Made thus, at the usual places in methods, the grid notation for Stedman calls would then be:—Single—Bells in 'Z' column lie for one whole pull. (At Link.) Double—Bells in 4-5 and 'Z' column lie for one whole pull. (At Link.) Here, incidentally is a new 'playing field' for composers.

Be this as it may, the forms of calls actually employed in all stages of this method above the basic are rather different from the call Stedman used in his Doubles. They are not made at the 'Links,' but inside the Divisions, at the junctions of the sixes. If made at only one of these two places, the Division is rendered asymmetrical in form, but if made at both positions the symmetry is retained. This is the case when 'twin-bobs' are employed. The Single requires bells in columns Yo, Ze and Zo to lie a whole pull, and the Bob requires the bell about to move up from Column 'Y' to lie a whole pull in Yo and become a dodging-down bell, while those in Column 'Z' continue dodging for another six. It is a useful exercise for the student, and within his capabilities if he has followed us thus far, to work out for himself just how these calls effect the re-entry of bells concerned, into the front work.—Cordially yours,

CORN: R. STONE.

P.S.—Correction.—In Article 21, in the issue dated December 15th, 1950, page 796, column one, in the paragraph entitled 'Position Sequence,' the word 'reversed' should follow the phrase 'Position Sequence' where this occurs, both in the middle and at the end of the paragraph.

C. R. S.

OXFORDSHIRE BELLS

OXFORDSHIRE is richly endowed with bells, and the second volume concerning the church bells of that county, by Frederick Sharpe, will, we are sure, strongly appeal to all ringers with an antiquarian strain in their make-up. This volume deals with bells in towers embraced alphabetically between Deddington and Oddington, some 104 towers.

From an antiquarian point of view the bells of Idbury are of special interest. The saunce, which hangs in its original bell-cote on the gable above the chancel arch, is of the 14th century. It was cast by an unknown founder, who is thought to have been a predecessor of the Ruffords of Toddington, circa 1320. The lettering on the bell is similar to that on the saunce at Dunstable and formerly on the second at Caversfield. The second and third bells are of a type known as 'Royal Head' bells from the use of the founders' marks, which represent the heads of King Edward III. and Queen Philippa. They were cast by an unknown founder who was working in or near Worcester between the years 1400 and 1420.

St. Mary's, Henley-on-Thames, bells are an octave well known to ringers, having been cast by Mears in 1813. The Commissioners' Inventory of 1552 gave five great bells and a sanctus bell in this tower. The cost of the new ring, with its tenor of 22½ cwt., in 1813 was £965 15s., and the following reference in 'The Globe' of March, 1813, is of particular interest:—

Last week a complete new ring of 8 bells were dug out of the pit at Mr. Thos. Mears' celebrated Bell Foundry, Whitechapel, which turned out superlatively fine in tone, and so near in tune that they may justly be called a maiden peal. The tenor bell, weighing 21 cwt. in the bold key of E, and are (sic) to ornament the Gothic Church tower of Henley-on-Thames.

Preserved in Goring Parish Church is a disused late 13th century bell, cast by Richard de Wymbish. It is a maiden casting, having the strike-note D natural. The date of the bell has been fixed by name of the Bishop in the inscription on the bell, Peter de Quivil, who held the See of Exeter from 1280 until his death in 1291. As the bell bears a prayer for the Bishop and not for his soul, it is surmised that it must have been cast during his lifetime.

On the sporting side of ringing, Great Milton bells had a reputation. The tenor of 1684 (recast again in 1772) was inscribed with the names of Christ. Pettie, Simon Neale, Thos. Prince and Sam Knight. According to 'The Gentleman's Magazine' of 1820, the family of Pettie had formerly very handsome property in the parish and, states the writer (Dr. Rawlinson), Christopher Pettie was much addicted to bell-ringing, cudgel-playing, wrestling and the like; he carried about the country with him a set of silken bell ropes, with a party of dissolute companions, by whose assistance he was reduced to poverty and finally kept an alehouse at Thame.

Another sporting anecdote connected with this church is the following announcement that appeared in 'The Oxford Journal' of March 3rd, 1764:—

To be rung for. At the Red Lion in Great Milton on Holy Thursday next a Silver Cup of Two Guineas Value. A free gift. Each set of Ringers to bring their umpire with them to agree on articles before dinner which will be on the Table at one o'clock, and begin Ringing at two. No less than four sets of six each to ring for the above prize and no Great Milton men will be allowed to win.

St. Mary's, Kidlington, bells occupy an honoured place in the Exercise, as it was here on May 22nd, 1899, that a record length of 17,024 Double Norwich Court Bob Major was rung. The tablet on the west wall of the ringing chamber commemorating this feat is headed: 'Praise Him upon the Loud Cymbals.' The peal was rung in 11 hours and 15 minutes, by Harry G. Judge treble, Alfred F. Reeves 2, Charles R. Lilley 3, John Tucker 4, William Bennett 5, Frank Hopgood 6, Edwin Hims 7, James W. Washbrook (who composed and conducted the peal) tenor.

The bells of St. Giles', Horspath, at one time had a great reputation. They are mentioned by Thomas Hearne, the diarist, who quotes a Mr. Sacheverel, who was looked upon as the best judge of bells in England, saying, 'Horspath bells near Oxford, though but five in number and very small, were the prettiest, tunablest bells in England, and that there was not a fault in one except the third and that so small a fault, as it was not to be discerned but by a very good judge.' We would remind any of our enthusiastic 'tower snatchers' that that entry was made in a diary written in 1733. We feel certain that Horspath bells claim no such distinction to-day.

Hook Norton bells, which were recast by the Loughborough foundry in 1949, have had a ringing history. A tablet, dated 1731, in the tower reads as follows:—

Brave ringers (look here) before you begin,
Let all the bells rest at Two, Six and Ten,
When the Chimes go, Cuff a tale Boys! refrain
Or two Crowns you forfeit, th' officers claim
For when (without fault) you ring ye bells round
Chimes (Britain strike home) much finer do sound.

These desultory notes do in no sense convey a sense of the completeness of this volume. No mention has been made in this review of the Abbey Church, Dorchester, the subject of a special article by Mr. Frederick Sharpe in 'The Ringing World' or of a number of other famous towers. The volume should be in every Guild library.

THEY RANG PEALS IN THE LAST CENTURY

RINGING AND WORKING AT 83

Mr. William John Walker, of Rainham, Kent, who was 83 last December, rang his first peal, Grandsire Triples, at Sittingbourne, in 1893. He has 317 peals to his credit.

Mr. Walker started handling bells at Lynsted, Kent, at the age of 13, and rings twice on Sundays, cycling one mile each way. At the time of writing he was 'hors de combat,' suffering from cracked ribs which he did at work, but he is keenly looking forward to resuming his accustomed place in the belfry when his ribs have mended.

Mr. Frank Bennett rang his first peal early in 1889 and up to the end of 1899 he had rung 223 and 246 up to the end of 1900.

This wonderful achievement was beaten by Mr. W. A. L. Buckingham, who to the end of 1899 rang 271 peals and 293 to the end of 1900. Mr. Buckingham, we believe, can claim to have the most peals in the last century of ringers living to-day.

NORTH NOTTS VETERANS

Looking through the peal book of the old North Notts Association, Mr. H. Denman has discovered a number of veterans of the last century. He writes:—

Mr. W. Metcalfe, of Retford, rang his first peal, 5,003 Grandsire Caters, at Retford, on October 20th, 1894, it being the first ten-bell peal by a Retford band and for the North Notts Association.

Mr. G. R. Winter, of Retford, rang his first peal, 5,057 Grandsire Caters, at Retford, on December 29th, 1894.

Mr. H. Turner, of Anston, rang his first peal, seven Treble Bob methods of Minor, at Anston, on February 18th, 1896.

Mr. H. Blagg, of Retford, rang his first peal, Minor in three methods, at Ordsall, on November 9th, 1898, it being the first peal on bells.

Mr. A. B. Crawford, of Rampton, rang his first peal, Bob Minor, at East Markham, on June 17th, 1899.

Mr. E. Collingburn, of Retford, rang his first peal, 5,183 Grandsire Caters, at Retford, on November 9th, 1898.

Mr. A. T. Winter, of Retford, rang his first peal, 5,040 Grandsire Caters, at Retford, on November 9th, 1899.

Mr. D. Blagg, of Retford, rang his first peal, Minor in two methods, at Ordsall, on November 13th, 1900.

Messrs. D. Blagg, A. B. Crawford and H. Turner are still ringing but the others have retired.

Messrs. W. Metcalfe, G. R. Winter, E. Collingburn, H. Blagg and H. Turner rang other peals before the end of 1900.

HANTS WORTHY HOPES FOR ANOTHER PEAL

Mr. W. Read, who has been a ringer at Blackmoor, Hants, for 45 years and captain of the band for 40 years, rang his first peal at Holy Trinity, Privett, Hants, on August 24th, 1893. Now 79 years of age, he writes that he joined the Winchester Guild at the age of 22 and hopes to ring another peal shortly.

A DEVON MAN

Mr. Louis A. Wilson, of Wootton Bassett, Wilts, rang his first peal, Grandsire Triples, at Wootton Bassett, in 1899. It was conducted by Mr. T. Ricketts, of Swindon. His last peal was rung in 1950, conducted by Mr. W. B. Kynaston.

In his long ringing career, a peal in which Mr. Wilson takes a special pride was one at St. Mary's, Putney, on November 25th, 1901, by a band of all Devon men. This band consisted of Mr. S. H. Godfrey (Ottery St. Mary)

1, F. G. Shepherd (Exeter) 2, F. Gover (Ottery St. Mary) 3, L. A. Wilson (Ottery St. Mary) 4, J. E. Baker (Ottery St. Mary) 5, W. Shepherd (Exeter) 6, E. H. Oxenham (Bampton) 7, Rev. G. F. Coleridge (Cadbury) 8. Of this band only Mr. W. Shepherd and Mr. Wilson are survivors. Mr. Wilson enquires whether any other peals have been rung by an all-Devon band in London.

Mr. G. E. Chappell, of Wickham, Hants, who is now 86, is still ringing and tutoring. He rang his first peal, Grandsire Triples, at Fareham, Hants, on July 6th, 1895. He has rung about 50 peals, of which 19 were before 1900. His last peal was in 1914. Mr. Chappell has kept a diary in which he has recorded all his 720's. These total about 1,900, the last being rung at Titchfield, Hants, on March 2nd, 1951.

THE LAST PEAL IN THE 19th CENTURY

Dear Sir,—In connection with the 19th century peal ringers, I would like to bring to your notice the following, as recorded on a peal board in my home belfry:—

North Notts Association. December 31st, 1900. A peal of Grandsire Caters (5,021). In 3 hours 24 minutes. At St. Swithun's Church, Retford. 1 E. Collingburn. 2 G. Swannack, 3 A. T. Winter, 4 T. H. Denman, 5 F. W. Abbott, 6 H. Warburton, 7 T. Spurr, 8 G. R. Winter, 9 J. B. Joynes, 10 J. W. D. Metcalfe. Comp. J. Carter: cond. J. B. Joynes.

The board was presented by Mr. W. Oakden to commemorate the last peal rung in England in the 19th century.

Several of the above ringers are still living (although not now ringing) including the tenor ringer who holds the 'honour' of ringing the last bell in a peal to be rung in the 19th century.

Surely the 'last word' in 19th century peal ringing!—Yours faithfully,

WALTER C. COATES.

is also important that quarterly subscribers
should not overlook the date.

Mr. John R. Smith (17) rang his first quarter peal
on tower bells at Steep, Hants, on March 21st, sitting down. He had injured his knee and the doctor would only allow him to ring if he could do so in that position. The quarter was a farewell to him be-

In the Ringers' Roll of Honour we have received the following correction from the Surrey Association: Coe, E. J., Reigate, not Coe, F.
On the light eight at Shirley, Birmingham,
(tenor 6½ cwt. in A), a peal of 5.056 Cambridge Surprise Major was rung in two hours and four minutes. This is believed by the band to be the quickest Major on tower bells and possibly the quickest on eight tower bells. The peal was rung on March 10th.

Mr. Leslie Barry, of Gloucester, calls attention to three other long lengths of the late Mr.
James George:—February 15th, 1930, 9.261
Grandsire Cinques; April 21st, 1930, 12.231
Grandsire Cinques, both on the 7th bell at Painswick; and also the tenor to 17.687 in 11 hours 35 minutes on November 8th, 1930, which afterwards was proved false.

From joy to sadness was the occasion of a peal at Rotherfield on March 17th. The original intention was a peal as a fourth birthday compliment to Yvonne, granddaughter of Mr.
W. Rogers and also as a compliment to Mr. and Mrs. P. A. Corby on the birth of a daughter. Owing to the sudden death of Mr. H. M.
Smith, a member of the local band for 43 years, the bells were rung half-muffled to his memory.

BELFRY GOSSIP

St. Mary's Cathedral Society, Sydney, have been bereaved by the death of their captain, Mr. Edward B. McDonald, who was fatally injured by a car near his home. He was 63 years of age and had been a member of the St. Mary's Society for 52 years and was captain for 18 years. We extend our sympathy to N.S.W. ringers in their great loss.

Mr. Walter Wills, who rang in an in-memorial peal to Mr. James George at Thurcaston, Leicestershire, rang his last peal in 1892.

Mr. Arthur Morris hopes that his new book,
'Bells of All Nations,' will be published in about three weeks' time. The Lord Bishop of Liverpool has written a foreword.

Mr. Leslie Barry has been doing some good work for the Gloucester and Bristol Diocesan Association. In two peals recorded in this issue there were seven first peals.

'Congratulations to all for the Easter ringing.
I trust the critics of Christmas broadcast ringing will voice their praise of the Easter broadcast ringing.'—E. Stich, Biddisham, Somerset.
This is typical of first reports to hand on this broadcast. It was a good performance.

Despite the heavy rain during Bank Holiday afternoon the large company attending the annual meeting of the Bath and Wells Diocesan Association at Wrington enjoyed the full programme arranged. Mr. J. Dyke was able to report a paid-up membership of 1,516.

The peal of Albanian Surprise Royal at Loughborough Foundry on March 13th was of particular local interest inasmuch as Miss Jill Poole and her mother reached the same total number of peals. It was their 234th peal. Jill has accomplished in about nine years the same total as Mrs. Poole reached in—now be careful —well, very much longer.

MEMORIAL TO MR. CYRIL F. JOHNSTON

At the service for the Surrey Association at Croydon Parish Church on March 10th, a large number of ringers and friends joined the late Mr. Johnston's family in a memorial service to him during which the Vicar (the Ven. C. F. Tonks), assisted by the curates and Canon G. Rawlings, of Shirley, dedicated a tablet which was unveiled by Mr. E. H. Lewis, president of the Central Council.

Among those present at the service were the Mayor and Mayoress (Ald. and Mrs. M. R. Stacey), Sir Herbert and Lady Williams and the Town Clerk (Mr. E. Taberner).

In his address the Ven. Tonks offered a warm welcome to the ringers and remarked that very few thanks were accorded ringers. He would, however, like to assure them that clergy and congregations very greatly appreciated the services of ringers. The Ven. Tonks said the present days of austerity caused us to dispense with towers to new churches and consequently caused records to be used to give forth the sound of bells from churches having no bells. He held out hope, however, that in the near future it would again be possible to build towers and hang rings of bells in them to maintain the art of change-ringing.

He continued: 'And it is to-day, I think you will agree, a fitting opportunity to remember one who has spent his life in hanging and tuning bells and dedicate a memorial tablet to him. Cyril Frederick Johnston, whose sudden death occurred on March 30th, 1950, was known and honoured by us all. The tablet, placed above the door of the tower in which he spent so many happy hours, is cast of the same metal as the bells he made and loved. Cyril Johnston should be remembered as an artist, a craftsman and a musician.'

SURREY ASSOCIATION A Successful Year Reviewed

The annual general meeting was held at Messrs. Gillett and Johnston's foundry on March 10th, attended by more than 100 ringers, including ringers from Birmingham, Crewe and Whittlesey. The 12 bells of the Parish Church were kept going from 3 o'clock to five o'clock, when the Archdeacon of Croydon conducted a service during which the president of the Central Council (Mr. E. H. Lewis) unveiled a tablet in memory of the late Cyril F. Johnston.

Following the service the ringers were entertained to tea by Mrs. C. F. Johnston and the directors of Messrs. Gillett and Johnston. Ltd. and, before commencing the meeting, were shown over the foundry by Mr. A. M. Howard, managing director.

The meeting opened with those present standing in remembrance of Mr. A. Miller, of Mitcham, who had died since the previous meeting.

The committee's report indicated a successful year and showed that 111 members took part in 22 peals, while seven members took part in their first peal.

The treasurer's report showed an increased balance on the year's working and the Belfry Repair Fund, inaugurated last March, had been well supported.

The retiring officers were all re-elected and warmly thanked for their services during the past year. Mr. A. D. Mann was added to the list of vice-presidents. Five names were submitted for three representatives to the Central Council, a ballot resulting in Messrs. D. D. Cooper, F. E. Collins and A. P. Cannon being elected.

It was decided to hold the next annual general meeting at Reigate on March 8th, 1952.

The Master reported to the meeting that Mr. A. Harman had made and given a library cupboard to the Association which was installed in Croydon Parish Church tower and the meeting very warmly thanked the donor and then proceeded to discuss and adopt rules for the library.

The meeting was also advised that Mr. R. F. Layton had kindly undertaken to write up the peal books, which unfortunately had fallen behind, and he received very warm thanks for his offer.

The meeting closed with votes of thanks to Mrs. Johnston, Messrs. Gillett and Johnston and their canteen staff for the tea and the tour of the foundry and to the Vicar of Croydon for the use of the bells.

A NEW RECORD 50 Methods of Spliced Major

A new handbell record was established by Mr. George E. Feirn and his band at Burton-on-Stather, Lincs, on March 11th, by the ringing of a peal of 5,088 Spliced Major consisting of 50 different methods and involving 347 changes of method. This is the greatest number of Major methods yet rung to a peal.

The ringers were Mrs. J. Bray 1-2, George E. Feirn (conductor) 3-4, Jack Bray 5-6, Philip Barnes 7-8. We feel certain that the Exercise will congratulate them on a very fine performance. Following is the composition:—

ST. MARY REDCLIFFE, BRISTOL

50th Anniversary of First 12-Bell Peal

[BY DONALD G. CLIFT.]

The recent peal of Grandsire Cinques rung by my former colleagues at St. Mary Redcliffe, Bristol, reminds me that it is almost 50 years since the first 12-bell peal was rung in this town. The 50th anniversary will fall on December 26th next, and the peal rung in 1901 was also Grandsire Cinques, and was conducted by Henry Porch. This latter peal was rung on the old 12, which had a tenor of 39 cwt., the present glorious ring, with its 50½ cwt. tenor, being installed by Messrs. Taylor and Co. in 1903.

QUEEN ELIZABETH'S PRAISE.

During a visit to the city in 1574 Queen Elizabeth is reputed to have remarked that it was 'the Fairest, Goodliest and most Famous Parish Church in England.' It is therefore perhaps fitting that this undoubtedly beautiful church should house the heaviest ring of bells in a parish church in Great Britain, and the following notes on the bells may be of interest to readers.

There were six bells in 1480 and in 1553. In 1622 Thomas Purdue cast or recast two new bells, perhaps more, which were later recast. On July 1st, 1636, articles of agreement were drawn up between John Roome, carpenter, and James Wathen and John Read, churchwardens. Roome agreed before the following April to unhang the bells and pull down and take up the frames of the six bells 'and the loft wherupon the frame of the said bells and the two great beams whereon the left lyeth and make a new frame to hang the six bells and new stocks and new wheels with well seasoned oak and set up two new great beams of oak like the ones there and set up a loft with boards and planks and new hang the six bells.' The cost was to be £60. Apparently a plate was fixed on the cage: 'J. (or T.) Roome of this Cittie, Carpenter, Anno Domini (sic) 1636, James Wathing, John Read, Churchwardens.' This plate was on the cage in 1881.

In 1698 two new bells were cast by Abraham Rudhall, making a ring of eight.

PAYMENT BY WEIGHT

On June 23rd, 1763, articles of agreement were drawn up between the churchwardens of Redcliffe and Thomas Bilbie of Chew Stoke, Bellfounder. Bilbie agreed to recast the four middle bells, as they were either cracked or out of tune with the other bells, and to deliver the four new bells before October 16th next following to the churchwardens at the churchyard gate. If the bells were lighter than the old ones Bilbie was to pay 1s. a lb. to the churchwardens. A twelve months' guarantee was given, and payment was by weight.

In 1823 T. Mears, bellfounder, London, made two new bells and so ten bells in all. In 1872 Mears and Stainbank made another two bells, bringing the ring up to twelve.

In 1888, Taylors, of Loughborough, were asked to inspect the bells. They reported that the fittings, i.e., wheels, headstocks, gudgeons, bearings, clappers, smith's work, etc., of the tenth and tenor bells were in a bad state and worn out, and should be entirely renewed. These bells were worn out by the clappers and should be turned round in the headstocks so that the clapper would strike in a fresh place. The timbers of the framework were sound, though not strong, and massive enough for a heavy ring of bells, but they thought that by bolting some heavy cast-iron angle brackets in the corner of the frame round the three tenor bells it could be made firm and rigid. They condemned the framework of the three smallest bells as badly designed and too weak, and that it was impossible for such a frame to bear the swing of the bells. They recommended two strong rolled-iron girders to be fixed across the tower from east to west, and on these could be bolted a good and substantial framework, and then the bells could be rung with the greatest of ease. The middle bells were in fair order and no immediate work was necessary. The cost would be £149 6s., not including the two girders, which could be obtained locally. The architect, Sir A. W. Blomfield, approved, and the work was arranged to be carried out.

FRAME STEADIED BY WEDGES

On December 12th, 1902, the Vicar (the Rev. W. J. F. Robberds) called the attention of the vestry to the state of the bells and the belfry. Messrs. John Taylor and Co. were asked to make an inspection. They reported that the framework was a most complicated and clumsy structure. One set of timbers was piled on top of another, with wedges of varying size driven in between to obtain a bearing. Also there were upright props from the floor to the main beams, and again this floor was supported by trusses, so that it was difficult to tell where the strain was carried. Many timbers are showing signs of decay, and it is clear that about 100 years ago the frame must have settled, as two very large beams were then fixed under old main beams. Since then wedges have had to be fixed in between the frame and the walls on all sides.

There is no doubt that if these wedges were taken out the frame would be so rickety that it would be impossible to ring the bells. With such a fine tower, we do not suppose that the wedges have as yet done any harm to the masonry, but they certainly are not good things.

They advised that the bells should be rehung in a new frame of the most approved style, like that in St. Nicholas (Bristol). With new frames, all 12 bells would be hung on one level instead of three being hoisted as at present, and the clock weights could pass through one corner of the bell chamber instead of being suspended from below the bell frame and passing down through the centre of the ringing room, where they cause much obstruction. They recommended building up the window places, i.e., inside the louvres.

They estimated that new fittings for the 12 bells—oak wheels, iron headstocks bored and fitted with steel gudgeons, gunmetal bearings in iron pedestals, rollers, stays, sliders, wrought-iron clappers with independent centre bolts and necessary smith work, and also very strong and massive iron H-shaped framework of similar design to that at St. Nicholas' and Exeter Cathedral, standing upon and bolted to heavy rolled-steel girders, with all requisite stays, plats and nuts, would cost £709.

The architect, Sir A. W. Blomfield, over-looked the report and endorsed it, adding: 'Up to then no damage to the tower from the condition of the bells, but the movements of the framework might in time damage it. Bell framework should not depend on support from tower walls. Wedges had been inserted and they were not satisfactory. He advised steel frames, saying they were comparatively modern, but that there was no doubt that they were a great advance on timber framing. He agreed to the closing of the windows.'

FINE ENGINEERING.

Taylors were asked to send a plan of the new framework, and the work was carried out in 1903. Of the bells, 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 9 and 12 were recast; 8, 10 and 11, being three of the 1622 bells, were untouched and incorporated in the present ring. The 11th is indeed a glorious bell and, although only 25 cwt., is not one bit inferior to the grand 50 cwt. tenor. The present ring is hung on roller bearings, and the design and lay-out, from an engineering point of view, compare with anything modern and best at the present time.

The first peal, one of Stedman Cinques, was rung on them on December 31st, 1903, conducted by the late W. A. Cave. In all 49 peals have been rung in the tower to date, nine on the old ring and 40 on the present ring.

THE PEALS.

The peals are in the following methods:—

Old Ring.		Grandsire Caters 2
Grandsire Triples	2	Grandsire Cinques	1
Grandsire Caters	3	Kent Maximus	1
Grandsire Cinques	1	(Granta Var.)	1

I sincerely hope that it will be possible to arrange a peal to commemorate the 50th anniversary of the first 12-bell peal in this historical church.

LECTURE TO CONVALESCENT PATIENTS

With an appeal to get to know more about bells and the art of ringing them and to encourage their children to become ringers, patients of the Freeland Convalescent Hospital, Freeland, Oxon. listened to a lecture recently from a fellow-patient—Mr. P. Amos, of Weston Favell, Northampton.

Mr. Amos dealt at length with bells from the time of St. Paulinus coming to this country, in A.D. 601, to the present. Sketches of the stamps of various mediæval foundries, especially those of Hugh Watts, showing three bells and a crown with foliage in a shield; of Thomas Bullisdon, showing a capital T, the downstroke coming out to the shane of a bell with TD on either side; of William Dawe, showing daws perched on a tree-branch, encircled with the words 'William flounder,' aroused interest. The Cross Potent. The Cross Fleury, the Cross Voided, the Greek Cross and others used by William Dawe. Henry Jordan, John Sanders, Thomas, Robert and Edward Newcombe and by the Mellors, of Nottingham, as stops, together with translations of several Latin inscriptions, followed.

Slides kindly loaned by Messrs. Gillett and Johnston, showing the Freedom Bell, the Bell of Moscow, a bell being tuned, the core, the casting of a bell, the works, old bells as compared with those of modern design, bells in a frame, and especially those of Croydon Parish Church, where it was afterwards learned that one of the nurses came from, all helped to build up an interesting talk.

The value of team spirit and the 'freemasonry' associated with bellringers was emphasised as a modern pattern upon which other Church organisations might with advantage make good use. Prayers and the singing of hymns 223 and 308 A. and M. concluded the lecture.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

EWELME

Dear Sir,—I was rather interested and somewhat amused at Mr. Porter's letter, not only at his 'play on words' on Mr. Alan Pink and myself, but at a few facts which are hardly correct.

I have before me an account of the peal which was rung at Ewelme on January 6th and which appeared in 'The Ringing World' of January 26th, and there it is clearly stated that the weight of the tenor is 19 cwt.

Further, the Thame Branch doesn't exist but the South Oxon and Mid-Bucks held a meeting at Ewelme on January 20th (not January 26th, as stated by Mr. Porter), and it was most unfortunate that I was unable to be present, but I understand that a good number of members and visitors were present and enjoyed ringing on this grand ring of six. I should certainly be pleased to see 'Mine Host' at any of our meetings and perhaps have a glass of 'Porter' with him.—Yours faithfully,

H. BADGER.

Thame, Oxon

Dear Sir,—I was interested in your correspondent's (O. W. Porter) letter in which he refers to the ring of five by Rudhall in the above tower. Twenty years, at least, must have elapsed since I was last in Ewelme tower and either Mr. Porter's memory or mine is at fault.

Writing from memory, I have no recollection of any of the five bells being by the Rudhalls of Gloucester and am open to correction when I state that the bells are as follows:—

Treble: By William and Robert Cor, of Aldbourne, Wilts, early 18th century.

Second: An unknown founder's product; the inscription is weird and indecipherable. The late A. H. Cocks says: 'It may be by William Haselwood, of the mediæval Reading foundry.' This assumption cannot, I think, be substantiated.

Third: By Taylors; immediately before or after the firm's departure from Oxford to Loughborough.

Fourth: Ellis Knight, of Reading.

Tenor: Thomas Janaway; possibly one of the largest productions of the Chelsea foundry; in the region of four feet diameter.

At the time to which I refer, the gear was in a most chaotic and dilapidated condition and ringing was obviously an utter impossibility. The bell frame was sound and good and bore much evidence that Alfred White had worked thereon before the White family moved from Besselsleigh to Appleton.—Yours faithfully, Saunderton. F. WEST.

NOTE.—Mr. Frederick Sharpe, in 'Church Bells of Oxfordshire' writes that he visited the tower on September 29th, 1948, and records a ring of five and a sanctus bell. The oak frame and fittings were not in good repair and the bells are about to be rehung by Messrs. J. Taylor and Co. Mr. West's memory as to the founders of the bells coincides with Mr. Sharpe's investigation. There are now six bells.—ED.

LINCOLN CATHEDRAL PEAL BOOK

Dear Sir,—Through your columns, I should like to express the thanks and appreciation of the Lincoln Cathedral ringers to all those members of the Universities Association of Change Ringers who subscribed towards the visitors' book for the Cathedral belfry.

This book will not only provide a handsome record of all those ringers who will visit our tower in the future, but will serve to remind us at Lincoln of the visit of the Universities Association touring party when, both in the tower and at a number of social gatherings, we were able to renew old friendships and form new ones.—Yours sincerely,

JOHN A. FREEMAN, Master.

Lincoln Diocesan Guild.

EAST GRINSTEAD GUILD

Change in Central Council Representation

The 24th annual meeting was held at East Grinstead on March 10th, and although the attendance this year was rather disappointing both in numbers and in skill, the preponderance of youth and inexperience present made it abundantly clear that the Guild is still serving the purpose for which it was formed.

Ring up to Double Norwich preceded the service, conducted by the president of the Guild, the Rev. A. Golding-Bird, D.D., with an address by the Rev. W. W. Reeve.

The president then entertained the company to tea in the small Parish Hall and afterwards took the chair to conduct the business in his own inimitable way. Two new members were elected, Brian Cole, of Tunbridge Wells, and Malcolm S. Cloke, now at London University.

The balance sheet showed that income and expenditure had been about equal, leaving the Guild financially sound with a balance in hand of £56 15s. 3d. One item in the statement, balance due to treasurer, 8d., caused quite a bit of fun between the chairman and Mr. W. Morland.

Then followed a succession of praise and speeches as the officers were elected or, rather, with one exception, re-elected. The president as usual offered to stand down, but Mr. Wellington said that the Guild regarded him as an institution, and Mr. E. J. Oliver said that coming to the meetings made him (the president) young. In reply, Dr. Golding-Bird said that he was pleased to do all that he could for the ringers, as theirs was a work for God that was not always remembered. He also expressed a wish that extra ringing should be done at East Grinstead on St. Swithin's Day, the patronal festival.

In re-electing the chairman, vice-chairman, secretary and treasurer, tribute was paid to the way they had conducted the Guild's affairs, and Mr. E. J. Oliver explained why the accounts had been audited by the old auditor and not the new. Mr. A. Relfe intimated that he did not wish to be re-elected as Central Council representative, as he had held office since the Guild was affiliated in 1939. He thanked the Guild for the honour they had done him, and proposed that Mr. C. A. Bassett be his successor. In seconding, Mr. E. J. Oliver said that as secretary Mr. Bassett did a lot of work, and thought that he should enjoy some fun as well. This was carried.

Two proposals by the committee were carried, i.e., that in future those persons taking part in peals for the Guild should pay 1s. each towards the cost of entering same in the peal book, and secondly, that a collection be made at each monthly meeting towards the cost of new ropes, etc., in the tower visited.

Mr. Wellington was a keen supporter of both proposals, and at his suggestion a collection was made on the spot and realised £1 7s. 6d.

The next two meetings were announced as Buxted and Hever, while for the summer outing a route via Croydon, Kingston, Windsor and Guildford was chosen and the date fixed for August 18th.

The meeting then closed with votes of thanks to all who had contributed to its success, the Vicar, the organist, the local band and Miss K. Shepherd. The company then made their way back to the tower to enjoy the fine octave which, with recent attention, ran beautifully.

KENSINGTON, LONDON.—At St. Mary Abbot's on March 18th, 1,257 Stedman Caters: J. H. Lott 1, T. H. Taffender (cond.) 2, Miss A. M. Castle 3, B. T. Beauchamp 4, C. A. Hushes 5, A. F. Udall 6, C. M. Meyer 7, C. E. Williamson 8, J. Bullock 9, C. W. Otley 10. A birthday compliment to A. F. Udall.

OBITUARY

MR. H. M. SMITH, ROTHERFIELD

Rotherfield, Sussex, Guild of Ringers have lost a member of their band by the sudden death of Mr. H. M. Smith after an operation in the Kent and Sussex Hospital, Tunbridge Wells.

Mr. Smith learnt to ring at Rotherfield in 1908 after the bells had been augmented from five to eight, and was a very valuable member of the Sunday service band. He had not been a prolific peal ringer, having only rung five peals—one of Stedman, two of Grandsire and one of Bob Major, and also the first peal by the local band, one of Bob Minor with 7-8 covering.

He was a member of the choir for many years, and his favourite remark after having rung for services was, 'Well, Captain, I've helped the ringers; now I must go and help the singers'—a remark which endeared him to all.

Always of a cheerful disposition, he was ever ready to help, especially in the splicing of the ropes, etc. His presence will be sadly missed.

The funeral took place at St. Denys' Church, Rotherfield, on March 17th, and as a last token of respect a peal of Pudsey Surprise Major was rung half-muffled after the interment.

MR. REUBEN BALDWIN

Ringers who visited Eynsford during the early years of the century will regret to hear of the passing of Mr. Reuben Baldwin. He was born and lived all his life of 83 years in Eynsford, Kent. He learned to ring there as a youth and was for many years leader of the local ringers.

A good ringer in the Plain Methods, Mr. Baldwin once called Holt's Original, in which the writer took part, in capital style. He was of a genial and obliging disposition and greatly respected by all with whom he came in contact. He had not taken part in any ringing of late years owing to a crippling infirmity. May he rest in peace. I. E.

MR. WILLIAM DYE

By the death of Mr. Wm. Dye, of Grundisburgh, at the age of 91, Suffolk has lost its oldest ringer.

At an early age Mr. Dye commenced ringing at Helmingham and became a member of the Norwich and Ipswich Diocesan Association in 1879. He was the first man to conduct Holt's Original in the Eastern Counties, and one of his peals was Day's 10,080 Treble Bob, which he conducted at Coddensham.

Up to the time of his death he was probably the oldest member of the Society of Royal Cumberland Youths, having joined in 1879, when Henry Dains was Master.

BATH &amp; WELLS ASSOCIATION

Chew Deanery Branch

The monthly practice meeting of the above branch was held on March 17th, from 20 to 30 ringers attending.

Activities commenced on the light six (tenor 6 cwt. 6 lb.) at Butcombe, a village situated on the edge of Blagdon Lake. The church here is very small, the chancel being about the same size as the nave and the two being divided by an old finely carved screen.

Later in the evening, having successfully negotiated Butcombe Hill (one or two cars needing assistance from the rear), a move was made to Nempnett Thrubwell. The six bells here (tenor 10 cwt.) go very well, operations being watched very critically by a large gargoyle at the apex of the tower window arch.

Ring up during the evening ranged from rounds to Kent and Cambridge Minor and was under the direction of the Master, Mr. H. W. Knight.—M. J. H.

TOWER CORNER — 26

Review and Test Paper

Dear Improvers.—Assuming you were able, last time, to work out the re-entry into the front work of bells affected by Calls in the Stedman method, there is little more to be said about it, at this stage. As an addition to our bibliography, however, we may usefully mention the 'Ringer's Notebook and Diary' by Viggers and Hodgson. On pages 12 and 16 are given plain courses of Stedman Doubles and Triples, with the bell paths marked in each stage, and, more interesting in relation to our series, the actual positions of the Stedman Division Heads, the importance of which we have emphasised. At each of these Division-Head rows is a ringed number indicating not only the 'go-off' but also another factor we have emphasised—the Position Sequence. So, for Doubles, this is seen to be: 5-1-4-3-2, and for Triples the same with the two extra bells interpolated: 5-6-1-7-4-3-2. Our concluding remarks in Article 25 as to Calls in Stedman Triples are usefully illustrated on page 16 of this valuable little nocket book, where the calling positions, which have become standard practice, are defined and marked by the sixes. However, as the art of calling is a subject for discussion later in the course, we now pass on to a review and 'quiz.'

Review. At the close of Article 23 we promised a quiz or test paper on the points of method study so far introduced. We now recall, particularly, that on completion of our first three Sections of the course—1, Bell Control; 2, Striking; 3, Tone-telling and Rope-sight, we passed to our beginnings of change-ringing; but with no attempt to teach any particular method. Our first exercises at that stage dealt simply with learning to hunt on the smallest practicable number (three bells), followed by learning to dodge (two bells). These workings, combined in a certain way, gave us we found, a method—Stedman. The logical step from this point was to examine the structure of that method. Although we found it belonged to the lesser of the two main groups of methods, that is, to the 'Omni-working' group as distinct from the 'Hunt-controlled' group, yet its form and content were found to show the basis of all method structure.

Principles Precede Particularities. The next and natural step in learning method ringing is to take the simplest form of a hunt-controlled method, preferably one with the tenor turned in, since we have met a tenor-behind method in Stedman. This will bring us to the simple method known as 'Plain Bob.' Before its examination, however, there should come your test-paper, for the following good reason. Many ringers have learned the methods they know as though they were independent forms of change-production, albeit with some features of similarity. Later on, with the discovery of the relationship of features common to all methods, they have realised how much mental labour they might have saved, and how much more resourceful ringers they could have become, at any rate in a shorter time, by a prior appreciation of these common characteristics. An indication of this truth lies in the proved utility of the helpful publication of the Central Council—'Four Way Table of Minor Methods'—as advertised on the back page of this journal. So the main object of this Fourth Section of our course is to examine progressively a few representative methods, in the light of the principles we should now have grasped, and to discover a systematic and correlated way of learning them for practical ringing.

Test of Method Study. The questions are based on Articles 18 to 25 inclusive. Write your answers as briefly, yet precisely, as you can before turning to column 3 where typical answers are given. More than ten incomplete or incorrect answers will indicate your need to revise those articles before you can pursue the course with full advantage.

1. Distinguish between a 'ring of bells' and a 'method stage.'

2. What, in actual practice, is understood by 'change-ringing'?

3. What precisely are the different orders or arrangements of bells called?

4. How is any one change-row derived?

5. In a ringing method what is understood by (a) a 'permutation' and (b) a 'transit'?

6. How many transits are there in a change-row?

7. Since a permutation may or may not require all bells to make transits and some bells may accordingly remain unshifted in the succeeding row, what three well-known terms are used to describe the recurring positions?

8. If several change-rows are written down successively below one another, in what way other than in their rows may the units (bells) be viewed?

9. If the rows and columns of units are neatly set out in this way, each unit may be viewed as occupying a small square space in a 'nest' or rectangle of squares. What simple, and in theoretic discussions, essential term is given to a group of such squares?

10. We have seen that to show the result of a single transit two successive change-rows are required. How many columns are also involved in it?

11. While the two adjacent columns may be considered as a 'twin-column' what are the two adjacent rows called?

12. What is a 'Unit column'?

13. We have seen that a method is defined by the succession of its permutations. In simple practice this boils down to identification by its place-makings; which, in turn, occur in specific squares of the method's stage-grid. How may these squares be particularly indicated?

14. Name the group of change-rows containing just the design or pattern of a particular method?

15. What is the fundamental feature of a Division which its grid-pattern reveals at a glance?

16. Does a Division completely define a method?

17. What exactly is a 'Link' in any method? Is it the same as a 'Lead'?

18. How many links may be employed successively?

19. By what well-known phrase is the series of Divisions called?

20. How many Divisions are there in a plain course?

21. Do all bells work to the method pattern?

22. Explain why, in hunt-controlled methods, a Division is often spoken of by the ambiguous term 'lead.'

23. For any given method how many forms of link are there?

24. Is the Call part of the method?

25. What do you understand by: Blue Line; Front and Back Pivots; Front path and Back path?

26. What do you understand by 'Basic Coursing Order'?

27. Explain, and show the importance of knowing, 'Position Sequence.'

28. For what purpose are 'Initial Letters' and 'Terminal Letters' employed?

29. Into how many groups each do the Twin-columns and the Sections of a Grid fall?

30. Distinguish between the constant and the expanding sectors of a method undergoing extension.

Well, Improvers, see what you can make of it! Remember that while some may say 'What's in a name?', intelligent reasoning and appreciation cannot proceed without precise names and clear conceptions.—Cordially yours,

CORN: R. STONE.

ANSWERS TO THE TOWER CORNER TEST PAPER

1. By 'ring of bells' we understand the number actually hanging in the tower for ringing; but by 'method stage' we understand the number of units engaged in a method performed on a particular 'ring.' The latter, i.e., 'stage,' is the theoretical counterpart of the former, and has specific names, e.g. Minimus; Doubles; Cinques; etc.

2. The repeated sounding of all bells in a ring, in turn; but in a different order each time.

3. (a) As sounded—'Changes.' (b) On paper—'Change-rows.'

4. By a 'permutation' of its preceding row.

5. (a) The effect in a change-row of one or more 'transits.' (b) The cross-over of a pair of neighbouring units in a change-row.

6. None at all. Transits occur in the permutation taking place between any two change-rows; and their number and arrangement in each successive permutation vary according to the particular method.

7. 'Full leading' (front) and 'Full Lying' (back) for the ultimate or end positions, but 'Place-making' for internal positions.

8. In columns.

9. The Grid.

10. Two—called a 'Twin-column.'

11. A 'Section' of the Grid. In treble-bob methods, a Section extends to four rows.

12. In grids for odd-numbered stages the twin-columns leave this odd column over.

13. By the system of Grid Notation, similar to that for map-squares, in which the Sections and Twin-columns of any Grid are given identifying letters, according to general principles of method structure.

14. The 'Division.'

15. That it is 'reflective' about a mid-line, called the 'Junction.'

16. No. Complete definition requires also the form of Link to be used.

17. No. 'Lead' has at least three meanings. 'Link' has one only, none of those three. It is the form of permutation which occurs between the end-row of one Division and the head-row of the succeeding Division.

18. Only a limited number, depending on the nature of the method; because eventually the series of change-rows turns up its starting row, again.

19. The Plain Course.

20. As many as there are bells working to the pattern of the method.

21. In omni-working methods, such as Stedman, yes; but in hunt-controlled methods all except those doing the hunt (or hunts).

22. Due to the fact that the hunt-bell comes to the leading position at the end and beginning of the Divisions. But as this is only in methods of the hunt-controlled class and also because 'lead' has at least two other meanings, the C.C. term 'Division' is preferable.

23. One only for the given method—often called the 'plain link.' But this form of Link may be varied by a 'Call,' when the plain link becomes a 'bob link' or a 'single link.'

24. Strictly speaking—No. It is merely a variation of the plain link and such variations are common to all methods, though they may vary slightly in form. (Note.—The Methods Committee and the C.C. have more recently given their blessing to this contention.)

25. The Blue Line is the method-path of a working bell. Front and back pivots are two places where the path pattern reflects upon itself. Front path is pivoted about the front pivot (in hunt-controlled methods about the

HOW IRELAND ATTRACTS RINGERS

Reunion at Rostrevor

A bellringers' reunion was held in Rostrevor, Co. Down, on March 6th. A short service was held in the Parish Church, conducted by the Ven. R. C. Olden, and the sermon was preached by Canon T. W. E. Drury, M.A., former Rector and ringer at Rostrevor. His address was based on the famous picture 'The Angelus.' Before this service a touch of Spliced Cambridge Surprise, Kent and Oxford Treble Bob Minor was rung by visiting ringers, viz. J. Savage 1, W. Pratt 2, J. Edgar 3, J. T. Dunwoody 4, H. Brown 5 and F. E. Dukes 6.

After the service over 100 persons assembled in the Lecture Hall for tea kindly provided by the Rector (Canon M. G. Gardiner).

Tea over, Archdeacon Shirley, who presided, welcomed the guests and visiting bellringers. He apologised for the absence of the Rector, due to illness. Exhibitions of change-ringing on handbells then followed.

Mr. William Pratt, president of the Irish Association, then presented certificates of life membership to Mr. Edward W. Evans who, out of his own pocket, paid for the entire cost of restoring Rostrevor bells, and to Mr. H. S. Lightbody, for over 50 years a ringer at Rostrevor. Mr. Evans thanked the members of the Irish Association for electing him to be one of their number. He said that he regarded it as great an honour as the day he was elected to the Freedom of London and the Stationers' Hall.

'That the Rostrevor Bellringing Association is worthy of support' was proposed by Canon Drury and seconded by Mr. Jas. Purdy. The motion was supported by Messrs. F. E. Dukes and J. T. Dunwoody who gave some sound advice in the raising of a band of ringers. They said that the bells of Rostrevor should not be permitted to remain unringed for want of ringers and that the work of the late James Cunningham, J.P., should not be allowed to lapse. Mr. Cunningham was the donor of a silver cup for competition and was for over 70 years a bellringer at Rostrevor. He died last year at the age of 92. His two daughters were now taking the interest in the bells and were rendering valuable assistance to maintain the local ringing and supporting Mr. Lightbody, the conductor.

At the conclusion of the evening, votes of thanks were passed to Canon Gardiner, Canon Drury, the visiting bellringers and ladies who helped with the tea. As a result of the event, 15 persons handed in their names to become bellringers.

Tower Corner Answers—Cont.

hunt's leading), and Back path is pivoted about the back pivot (in h-c methods about the hunt's lying).

26. The order in which units course or follow each other in cyclic order in the basic arrangement of change-rows. The C.O. is varied by the introduction of calls.

27. The position order in which any given unit turns up at each succeeding Division-head row. The importance of knowing this is seen in checking position from division to division, and particularly, when ringing in spliced methods.

28. For twin-columns and for sections. Initials to the left and above. Terminals to the right and below, in the simple grid.

29. Two each. One group known as constant, the other as expanding.

30. In expanding from stage to stage the grid acquires an extra twin-column each time; and, if a hunt-controlled method, an extra section. These 'extras' appear, at each expanded stage, between the two groups mentioned in the previous answer. And the 'extra' is always found to be attached to one particular group for the given method. This is known as the expanding sector of columns and sections, while the other is known as the constant sector.

SUFFOLK GUILD

Sudbury District

The annual meeting of the Sudbury District took place at Sudbury on March 10th, with ringing in the afternoon at St. Gregory's and in the evening at All Saints' and St. Peter's towers.

A good company gathered from Sudbury, Bures, Clare, Stoke-by-Clare, Cavendish, Bury St. Edmunds, Chevington, Horringer, Thorington, Mistley, Colchester, Wickham St. Paul, Sible Hedingham, Castle Hedingham, Stebbing, Great Bromley, Ely and Sutton.

Mr. Leslie Mills presided at the business meeting, and from the chair extended a welcome to all on the occasion of the dedication of the augmented ring at Bures on April 28th, at the same time making interesting observations on the recent visit of the Bures Fraternity to see their bells cast at Croydon.

New members were elected from Bures (5) and Clare (2), and Stoke-by-Clare was chosen for the next meeting, with Clare available in the evening.

MIDDLESEX COUNTY

Meeting at Holloway

The North and East District meeting, held at St. Mary Magdalene, Holloway, on Saturday, March 10th, was attended by approximately 35 ringers, coming from towers in London and towers miles away in the country. A good variety of methods was rung and touches were duly brought round, but the spell was a long one before the special method for the meeting, Yorkshire Surprise Major, was called for.

At the gathering for business, which followed tea, the Vicar of St. Mary's, Rev. A. W. Goodwin Hudson, was elected an hon. member of the Association, and the provisional elections as non-resident life members of G. J. Hawkins (Bath) and T. J. Southam (St. Albans) were duly ratified.

Further ringing took place during the evening and closing time came all too quickly for those enjoying some agreeable mental and physical exercise on a very nice and handy ring of bells. Thanks were accorded Mr. R. H. Begrie, local captain, for ensuring a successful meeting.

DOWN SOMERSET WAY

FOR a big Association like the Bath and Wells, the second largest in the country as far as performing members are concerned, to meet at Wrington, which is off the map in the matter of railway communication and is approached from Bath by a series of narrow lanes, strikes the stranger as a little unusual. It was not to do honour to the birthplace of that 17th century philosopher John Locke or that humanitarian Hannah More, who is buried in the churchyard, that the Bath and Wells Association selected Wrington for its annual meeting this year. Throughout the Exercise its bells are noted for their magnificent tone and they are placed in what has been described as 'possibly the finest square western tower in the whole world.' There were, doubtless, other reasons; the village has a reputation for a keen band of ringers, and what, as far as Guild Festivals are concerned, is of equal importance, can produce for its visitors as tasty a slice of 'home-cured' as the heart could wish for in these days, washed down with a glass of 'home brewed.' To town dwellers this truly rural and homely atmosphere came as a welcome relief to the meetings in big towns and cities. And the warm welcome dispelled the gloom of a cold March rain during the afternoon.

Who are the policy makers of British ringing to-day? Probably some would answer the Standing Committee of the Central Council, others would regard the small groups of experts who foregather and correspond together on the pressing points of the moment, but for interpretation we would unhesitatingly say it is those Guild officers and ringing masters who by unremitting attention to meetings endeavour by precept to set the standard. A pleasing thing is the loyalty of these executives to the Central Council; what is codified at the hub is interpreted on the circumference of the wheel, which alone comes in contact with the earth. At times rocks are encountered which cause splinters, but by and large the wheel revolves smoothly.

We do not suggest that the Bath and Wells Association is the policy maker of the Exercise; its members in no sense claim such a distinction. They do say, however, that they conscientiously perform their primary duty to the Church in the matter of Sunday ringing, and by a steady flow of young ringers into the belfries they are insuring against the future. There is one question that is engaging their immediate attention and that is that there should be no peal ringing in Lent—service ringing and practices, yes, but not peal ringing. On this subject the Master (Preb. A. J. Hook) has a staunch ally in the general secretary, Mr. J. T. Dyke, whose name has added lustre to the peal columns of 'The Ringing World' since its inception.

We are conscious that this is a burning question. The Exercise as a whole has accepted the principle that there should be no tower-bell peal ringing in Holy Week, although a Bishop with a clear conscience can umpire one of the nation's biggest sporting events on Holy Saturday. There has, however, been no acceptance by the Exercise that there should be no peals in Lent. We think on this particular subject it would be unwise for the Central Council to give a ruling. It is a matter more for 'the circumference of the wheel.' If the Bath and Wells regard this abstinence as conducive to the best interests of ringing in their territory, then their viewpoint should be accepted by the Exercise and visiting peal ringers would not attempt to dissuade them or impede them in their ideal by asking for towers or inviting their members to stand in peals in their own area territory during the 40 days in question. The treatment of peal ringing in Lent is a matter of 'local option.'

Where the Bath and Wells can take special credit is in their success in fostering a good relationship with the B.B.C. in the Western Region. The report of Mr. Dyke on this matter we give in extenso. A programme of six recordings of different towers in the West Country has been arranged through friendly co-operation. What has been accomplished in the Western Region should be possible in other regions. It seems to us that where those in authority are prepared to show initiative there will be a co-operative response from the programme builders of the B.B.C. This new series, which starts about April 24th—Evercrech tower is to be the second on the list—should give ringers a real chance. In the matter of broadcasts the B.B.C. are influenced by public opinion. If you enjoy the programme, let the B.B.C. know—a postcard will suffice—but do write. It is the voice of the many that counts. We hope that at Chester Mr. Dyke will give the Council the benefit of his advice and experience on this important subject. There are, we feel sure, influences at work. The marked improvement in the Easter Day broadcast, to our mind, was not a matter of chance. If we are wrong then all we can say is that the columns of letters on the subject that appeared in 'The Ringing World' were not in vain. The ringers in question were on their mettle and they performed with great credit.

Council).

GEORGE W. FLETCHER (Hon. Secretary and Treasurer of Council), The White House,
Caister-on-Sea, Norfolk.

A. A. HUGHES, J.P. (Hon. Treasurer of
'The Ringing World'), 34, Whitechapel
Road, E.1.

MRS. E. K. FLETCHER.

EDITOR: T. W. WHITE.

This is the first issue of the new quarter. To avoid stoppage of 'Ringing World' quarterly subscribers should send 5s. 6d. without delay to Mrs. G. W. Fletcher, The White House,
Caister-on-Sea, Norfolk. New postal subscribers can now be accepted. Rates above.

The marriage of Miss Jill Poole, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Poole to Mr.
Peter Staniford, at Leicester Cathedral on Easter Monday was a very happy occasion. The Bishop of Leicester officiated. The wedding has been honoured by peals in various parts of the country, the Leicester Cathedral band's contribution being a peal of Albanian Maximus on the following day.

Messrs. B. G. Warwick and D. G. Goodman, of Leicester, have now rung handbell peals of Plain Bob from Minor to Maximus.

Great Totham, Essex, had their six bells re-hung in time for Easter by Messrs. Mears and Stainbank.

A purse containing money was found in the cloakroom at Tonbridge after the annual meeting of the Kent County Association. Will anyone claiming same forward particulars to Mr.
F. M. Mitchell, 144, Sun Lane, Gravesend.

A ringing tour in Northern Ireland, probably to begin at Dublin on August 11th and to finish there on August 17th, is under consideration. The Rev. A. G. G. Thurlow, 3, Colegate, Norwich, would be glad to hear from anyone who might like to join the party.

The first peal on the bells at 'S. Nicholas', Arundel, since rehanging, was achieved at the third attempt. On the first occasion it was lost by a missed bob in the last part and the second time by a shift course five minutes from the end.

When Leicester University College football team visited Tübingen University, Germany, they took with them an illuminated scroll commemorating the happy relationship between the two educational establishments. The scroll is the work of Mr. Ernest Morris. Tübingen students visit Leicester in May and Mr. Morris has promised to conduct them on a tour of the city.

BELFRY GOSSIP

There are changes in the representatives of the Kent County Association on the Central Council as the result of voting at the annual meeting at Tonbridge. Those elected were Messrs. G. H. Spice, P. A. Corby, T. E. Sone and J. Willis. Dr. E. S. J. Hatcher and Mr. F.
M. Mitchell failed to retain their seats on the Council.

Mr. Tom Southam is the new president of the Hertfordshire County Association and Mr.
Walter Ayre has resigned the secretaryship, a post he has held since 1946. His successor is
Mr. A. V. Frost, of St. Albans.

The peal of Triples at Syston on Easter
Monday was a triple wedding peal:—For Jill Poole and Peter Staniforth, who were married that morning at Leicester Cathedral; for Mavis Barker and Robert Tubby, for whom the seventh ringer acted as 'best man'; and for Mary Hunt and Peter West, of local fame.

It may interest members of the Cambridge University Guild that Mr. Eric Roberts, who for the last two years has been Master of the Hereford Cathedral School Society has won an exhibition to Selwyn College. He has rung 15 peals and is proficient in several Surprise Major methods.

Members of the Guild of Clerical Ringers will assemble at Wells, Somerset, next Monday, for their annual tour. Visits will be paid to most of the towers within an approximate radius of ten miles including Wells Cathedral and Wington. The party will consist of the Revs.
J. H. B. Andrews, Canon C. Carew Cox, Prebendary E. V. Cox, K. C. Davis, F. Ll. Edwards, K. W. H. Felstead, R. H. Palmer, D. P.
Roberts, I. J. Richards, A. G. G. Thurlow,
W. H. R. Trehwella, C. Elliot Wigg and Canon
R. F. Wilkinson. The Rev. H. F. Warren and Mrs. E. S. Powell hope to join the party on three days.

BATH AND WELLS DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION

ANNUAL MEETING AT WRINGTON — MASTER REQUESTS NO PEAL RINGING IN LENT — RISING COSTS, BUT NO INCREASED SUBSCRIPTION — LIAISON WITH B.B.C.: A NEW WEST COUNTRY PROGRAMME — MR. OSBORN AND LOSING BELL MUSIC

WRINGTON'S full-toned bells, with a tenor of 37 cwt, were heard in all their glory on Easter Monday, when the annual meeting of the Bath and Wells Diocesan Association was held. A large and representative gathering attended and listened to three thought-provoking and controversial speeches from the Master, the hon. secretary and the tower adviser.

Proceedings started with ringing, followed by the service at mid-day conducted by the Rector of Wrington (the Rev. E. Chetwynd Talbot). The address was given by Preb. A. J. Hook (the Master). Lunch followed under the supervision of Mr. and Mrs. H. Knight.

The Master presided at the business meeting, supported by the hon. secretary (Mr. J. T. Dyke), and announced apologies from Mr. G. Coles, whose wife was dangerously ill, Mr. George Stacey, Mr. Topp and Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Cannon.

He extended a hearty welcome to the Editor of 'The Ringing World.' 'We are very proud of our "Ringing World,"' he said. 'It has not let us down: it always puts forward the fundamental things, that our ringing is for the Glory of God and service ringing is the most important thing in the Exercise.'

He also welcomed Mr. and Mrs. Perrens, Mr. Haywood and Mr. Webb (Coventry).

THE WAR MEMORIAL

Arising from the minutes, a question was raised as to why no mention was made in 'The Ringing World' of the dedication of the Association's War Memorial at Bath Abbey.

The hon. secretary said the Archdeacon of Bath decided to dedicate the memorial on a Sunday evening at 6.30, when the ringers were at their own churches, with the result that hardly any ringers were present. He himself was not there, but was ringing in his own church.

The Master, in his report, regretted that he now lived in a backwater as far as ringing was concerned and was unable to drive after dark.

The Association was in a very flourishing condition; that was shown by the activities of the branches, the number of members and the number of parishes which were tackling the business of putting their bells in order. Where the money was coming from he could not think. At Holford, where he was living, they now had five bells and were providing a floor for the ringing chamber. At Yatton, a pre-Reformation bell was incorporated in the ring and the result was very good. The founders and all concerned were much to be congratulated.

MEMBERSHIP OF 1,516

Last year the secretary announced the membership was 1,515. It was more this year—it was 1,516. The secretary had told him that it was the most flourishing association in the county in regard to its population. The membership of the different branches was as follows: Axbridge 221. Bath 126. Bridgewater 120, Cary 192. Chew 161. Crewkerne 73. Dunster 175. Frome 145. Glaston 81. Ilchester 82 and Taunton 130. The attendance at the meetings had been extraordinarily good and he understood that the average attendance at the Dunster Deanery was 76. Portishead was honoured by inclusion in the Christmas Day broadcast.

The Association had been behaving itself very well during the past quarter for, if they remembered, there was a strong recommendation that there should be no peal ringing in Lent and that, he felt sure, was really right. It was the fashion to pay no attention to Lent. His grandfather would have had a fit if he knew the Boat Race was held on Holy Saturday. 'I think we as churchpeople, should ring in Lent only for services and necessary practices and I hope you will all bear that in mind when another Lent comes round.'

The hon. secretary, in his report, thanked the local secretaries and Ringing Masters who had done so much to make the work of the Association run smoothly. He congratulated the secretaries of the Axbridge and Cary branches, which were the two leading branches, as far as numbers were concerned. These two branches, together with Bridgewater, had shown the greatest increase in membership during the past few years.

He proposed to print the report for the past three years in one volume. They had sufficient money in hand to print a report yearly after then for the next three years without touching investments. It would be after those three years that they would have to decide on a method to increase income.

In that respect he had come to the conclusion that to raise the subscription would be the most unwise thing to do. 'Who cost the Association most? The peal ringers do. It costs approximately sevenpence to print a ringer's name once in the peal list. So that if he rings three peals he owes the Association threepence and he gets a shilling report free. I can say these things quite freely because I ring as many peals as most. Don't think that I spend a lot of time peal ringing. The only thing is that I don't lose many. So I say to you now, while I have a chance, make the peal ringers pay. They can do it. If you ask ringers for a subscription to a peal board with their names on it, they will simply rush to pay.'

RELATIONSHIP WITH B.B.C.

'I am happy to report that our relations with the B.B.C. remain good. Ever since 1926 when, through earphones, I took down the calling of a magnificent touch of Stedman Trioles from Barking, Essex, I have been in fairly regular touch with the B.B.C. In 1937, the late Stephen Wood, Miss Williams and I sought an interview with the then regional director. We were received with sympathy and we thought we had got somewhere. Unfortunately, within a few weeks, the director had taken another job, and we had to start all over again.'

'A break came when many leading ringers in the six Western counties were asked for advice concerning the forthcoming feature, "From Tower to Steeple." I told the B.B.C. that a ringer was needed to get things right, and I put forward the name of E. J. Taylor who was, I felt, the man to hold the balance between the change ringers and the call change ringers of Devon and Cornwall. At this point I would like to put on record that I have now a tremendous amount of respect for the latter. I had a ring with some of them some months ago and found that I had to concentrate tremendously to fit in with the uncanny accuracy with which they struck their bells. I didn't let you down. They told me that my ringing was "maain" accurate but nearer to 34 changes a minute than to 32, which it should have been. I replied that they didn't tell me that when they started or it would have been done.'

'Mr. Taylor told me that he went to Plymouth to hear all the existing records of West Country bells and with the exception of one tower, not a Somerset one, the ringing was definitely poor. So new records had to be made. Of the many recordings taken, it is satisfactory to note that Chewton Mendip and Wrington records were processed and are used as interval signals. Those of us who made them would like to get a chance to improve them. The bands were those we could get at short notice and time did not permit of retakes, as it were. We were also honoured by the inclusion of Queen Camel and Ditchbeat in the programme.

A NEW PROGRAMME

'Now things promise to be better still. There is to be a series of six bell programmes starting, I think, on April 24th, one from each of the south-western counties. Somerset, with a programme from Evercreech, is the second in the series. Harry Sanger and I have had the temerity to submit a script to the B.B.C. We have had no comments on it and as we are doing the recordings on Wednesday next, there seems hope that it has now passed muster. If you like it, do write to the B.B.C. and tell them so. If you don't like it, or have any criticisms, write to us, so that we can collate those criticisms and pass them on to the next who have to perform.'

'Concerning criticism, ringers perform in public, frequently to that public's annoyance. So it follows that ringers should expect public criticism. Now criticism is of two kinds, well-informed and ill-informed. You have had a recent example of this. The president of the Central Council spoke adversely of the Christmas broadcast ringing. Those of us who have the privilege to know him personally are well aware that he never makes a statement without carefully weighing his words. So that if he said the ringing was bad, then it was bad. His was well-informed criticism. The criticism of the writer in 'The Ringing World' who could not tell six bells from eight, nor Grand-sire Triples from call changes was ill-informed. But we should be well advised to listen to criticism, whether it be well-informed or not, and not dismiss it lightly. You must remember that the outside public, in towns particularly, is ill-informed as far as ringing is concerned, but it is most anxious to learn. It is to catch the interest of non-ringers that we have devised our programme.'

'In Somerset there are good bells and in many cases there are local bands who can ring their own bells very well indeed. I think, with Harry Sanger, that every local band should prepare a short touch suitable for service broadcasting, so that if called upon to broadcast, they can make a reasonably good show. If any band requires my help to prepare such a touch, they have only to ask. I am very much against the principle of importing bands to broadcast if it can be at all avoided. On the other hand, I do think that local ringers' efforts should be vetted, as are the other adjuncts to a religious service.'

'In conclusion, I am anxious to help any ringer either in his ringing or his conducting or in elementary composition and he has only to ask. There is only one type of ringer whom I am powerless to help and that is the individual—fortunately there are few of them—who resents criticisms and tries to progress at a rate greater than his natural aptitude will let him. That is the greatest source of bad striking that there is.'

The acceptance of the report was agreed on the proposition of Mr. Derrick, seconded by Mr. E. E. Fisher.

RECOMMENDATIONS OF COMMITTEE

The secretary reported on the recommendations of the committee. He said that Mr. Stacey owned the die of their badge, which had been in use for 50 years, and he had quoted £32 8s. a gross for badges which they could sell at 4s. 6d. each. The committee had ordered a gross. With regard to the Shearn pamphlet the committee recommended that no further steps be taken in view of the excellent publications available such as the 'Ringers Handbook.' A ballot took place at the meeting.

ing of the committee for Central Council representatives and the following were elected:—Miss Williams, Messrs. G. Cole, H. Sanger and J. Dyke.

Mr. H. Sanger gave an interesting report on the Central Council meeting at Eastbourne.

Mr. W. A. Osborn reported on seven towers he had visited during the year. Yarlington had three musical bells and they hoped to add three more there.

At Farleigh Hungerford and another tower work had been done to the clappers. At Wells Cathedral the clappers had been attended to and also those of the two prayer bells. He wrote to the Chapter of Wells Cathedral calling attention to the fact that in raising the last four, they set at backstroke and it was necessary for someone to climb up and turn over the clapper. He suggested that they should give permission for the four bells to be left up and lowered, say, once a month. The Chapter replied that some years ago the Dean made an order that they should be lowered each day and there was no reason to alter it.

He found in many towers a lot of clapper staples without split pins and no nut spins. At one tower they found that the main girders were rusting at the tower end. He asked members to examine their girders and keep them painted. Ropes in many towers he inspected were in bad order.

Another thing worrying him was the closing up of louvres. In many cases bells had been lowered and the louvres blocked up, the sound being allowed to escape from a little hole in the roof. By this means they were stopping a lot of the harmonics of a bell from getting out. If they made an expensive bell with beautiful tones and a powerful note and stonped up the louvres, the music was ruined. He could not help feeling that the blocking of louvres was overdone.

The way to control the sound was at the source—the clapper strike. 'Later on,' continued Mr. Osborn, 'the bellfounders will say we need not make all these expensive bells; we will make some "short-winded" ones. Don't go and box up your bells. We, in Somerset, delight in bell music and it is better heard at a distance. If you want those beautiful tones and harmonics, you must have an open tower. The best is one with an open roof.'

Upon the proposition of Mr. F. Farrant, the officers were re-elected as follows:—Master, Preb. A. J. Hook; hon. secretary and treasurer, Mr. J. T. Dyke; hon. auditor, Mr. F. C. Andrews; tower adviser, Mr. W. A. Osborn.

Returning thanks, the hon. secretary said: 'I told you last year the dead line was Easter, 1953, if I live as long.'

The president concluded the meeting with a vote of thanks to the Rector of Wrington, the organist, the incumbents of the churches who had opened their towers and to Mr. and Mrs. H. Knight, Leslie Pullin and Mrs. Nurton for the excellent lunch.

Mr. F. E. Perrens also expressed his thanks for the excellent arrangements.

JOINT MEETING AT BENENDEN

In spite of inclement weather about 30 members and friends attended a joint meeting of the Ashford District of the Kent County Association and the Hawkhurst and District Guild at Benenden on March 17th.

Ringing during the afternoon was followed by the Association's form of service conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. V. B. Yearsley) who was also organist. A good tea was served in the schoolroom followed by a short business meeting, the Vicar being in the chair. Kent County Association business was quickly got through, one practising member (Mr. A. Smith, of Bid-denden) and one honorary member (Mrs. Willis, of Folkestone) being elected.

The only item on the Guild's agenda was the choice of a tower for the May meeting, Heathfield being chosen.

GLOUCESTER & BRISTOL ASSOCIATION*TOP THE 1,000 MEMBERSHIP MARK FOR FIRST TIME

THE annual meeting of the Gloucester and Bristol Association was held at Stroud on Easter Monday, about 120 members being present from all over the territory. The fine ring of 12 at Painswick was available during the morning and the 10 at Stroud during the morning and evening. Ringers from Bristol enjoyed ringing at Dursley and Wotton-under-Edge en route.

The proceeding commenced with lunch served in the Church Institute to over 100 members and friends. Lunch being over, the business meeting commenced at about 2 p.m. presided over by the Master, Mr. W. B. Kynaston (Swindon). The Rev. A. D. H. Allan (Cromhall) opened with prayer.

The secretary read apologies for absence from Mr. J. M. Stallard (Bristol), auditor, who was prevented from being present on business grounds, and Mr. J. C. Goulding (Lvdney), hon. secretary South Forest Branch, through the ill health of his wife.

Reports for 1950 were before the meeting, which obviated a lot of unnecessary reading of Master's secretary's and treasurer's reports. The membership of the Association stood now, for the first time in its existence, at over 1,000 performing members, all branches except Stow-on-the-Wold having maintained or increased their membership, and were generally in a flourishing state. The standard of ringing had improved greatly during the past year and quite a number of young members had scored their first peal.

ELECTION OF OFFICERS FOR 1951

All the present vice-presidents were re-elected and four new ones were added, namely, Messrs. C. R. Harding, late general secretary and chairman of the Bristol Rural Branch; F. G. Leaker, a very well-known figure in Bristol ringing, and chairman of Bristol City Branch; Alfred E. Reeves, another well-known figure in ringing (hon. peal secretary); and Andrew J. Corrigan, who has served the Association well through enabling the annual reports to be produced on economical lines.

The election of Master was the cause of quite a lot of excitement, there being four nominations. For this, the Master (Mr. Kynaston) vacated the chair, which was taken by Mr. Sidney Romans (Gloucester), Past Master and senior vice-president. The nominations were as follows:—Mr. John G. Jefferies (Mangotsfield); Mr. Leslie Barry (Gloucester); Canon W. H. Thomas (Slimbridge); and Mr. Cyril R. Harding (Downend, Bristol). This necessitated a ballot, which resulted as follows:—Mr. John G. Jefferies, 33 votes; Mr. Leslie Barry, 29; Mr. Cyril R. Harding, 28; and Canon W. H. Thomas, 15. Mr. John G. Jefferies was elected. Mr. Jefferies, who is 70 years of age, is the popular skipper at Mangotsfield and has done yeoman service for the Association for over 40 years and was for many years chairman of the Bristol Branch during the 1930's.

In thanking the meeting, Mr. Jefferies said it was a great honour that had been conferred on him that day, of which he was very proud. He thanked the retiring Master for the excellent work he had put in during his three years of Mastership and said that Mr. Kynaston had been as good a Master as the Association had had during his memory.

Mr. Frank Skidmore was re-elected hon. secretary and Mr. Percy Williams hon. treasurer, with Mr. Alfred Reeves hon. peal secretary. Mr. E. F. Hancock and Mr. John Stallard were re-elected hon. auditors.

REPRESENTATION ON GENERAL COUNCIL

Mr. Hancock (Bristol) here raised a protest that the Management Committee should not have the power to recommend nominees for these positions but that the annual meeting only should have that right. It was explained that the recommendations were made as was customary, for the four Archdeacons, only as a guide, and the general meeting had every right to recommend who they liked, irrespective of the recommendations. The nominations were then asked for and the recommendations of the Management Committee were voted in, viz.: Mr. W. B. Kynaston, Swindon Archdeaconry; Mr. Frank Skidmore, Bristol Archdeaconry; Miss D. M. Drew, Gloucester Archdeaconry; and Mr. P. Baker, Cheltenham Archdeaconry.

Revision of rules was tackled next and certain rules were amended in light of up-to-date circumstances it being decided to issue Rule Cards to all members instead of printing in each annual report.

FESTIVAL OF BRITAIN

It was decided to fall in with local arrangements and ringers were asked to give of their best for this occasion. It was also decided that the Master should arrange a Festival Peal with a representative band at some convenient centre.

Newnham-on-Severn tower was to be returned to the North Forest Branch from the South Forest, where it had been transferred for many years past. Certain irregularities in a peal, rung this year, which had contravened Rule 22 but had since been put in order, were reported. The sanction of the meeting was asked to allow that peal to be recorded for the Association. This permission was granted.

There were two proposals for the place of the next annual meeting to be held on Easter Monday, 1952, Tewkesbury and Berkeley. On being put to the vote the meeting was in favour of Berkeley. Mr. Hancock invited the Association to hold its meeting in the near future in the Bristol City area.

This concluded the general business of the Association, votes of thanks being left over until after the tea, and a move was made to the church for divine service, conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. Maltin), the address being given by the Rev. Dr. Lewis (Hardwick), the Rev. A. D. H. Allan reading the lesson. The revised form of service was used for the first time, it being generally acknowledged to be an improvement on the old one. A collection for the Belfry Repair Fund was taken and amounted to £3 12s. 8d.

Tea was partaken of and the usual votes of thanks were made to all concerned, especially the branch secretary, Mr. Tom Price, who was responsible for the arrangements and received with acclamation, thus bringing to a close one of the best meetings the Association has had. Further ringing took place after the meeting on the ten at Stroud and the visitors made their way home by coach to Bristol and Swindon, etc., after a very enjoyable day well filled.

'BELFRYMANSHIP' (As I See It)

Who well intends and forthright tells,
Thereby makes friends—'midst ringing bells
Who scorns the gift to voice his hopes,
May cause a rift—and 'empty ropes.'

No method fails—in mellow sounds,
Yet Ringers' tales sound best—as 'rounds.'
Who yields his place—to entertain,
Will by his grace—esteem now gain.

Who bendeth deep—to sow good seed,
Will rise to reap tenfold indeed,
Here 'take' and 'give' applies to all.
Strike well—and live—then (sweetly) fall.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

THE EASTER BROADCAST

Sir,—The excellence of striking and the quality of bells chosen for the Easter Day broadcast was in marked contrast to the rather mediocre efforts we heard on Christmas Day.

Congratulations of the Exercise at large should be extended to all the various bands whose striking was of the highest order and to the B.B.C., who evidently conferred with some ringing authority in order to select the best towers for the programme.

If this standard can be kept up for future broadcasts, with the commentators telling the listening public the number of bells being rung, much good will be done and there will be less antagonism from ordinary people towards bells and ringing.—Yours faithfully,

JOHN. H. HUNT.

Titchfield, Hants.

THE VILLAGE WEDDING

Sir,—All ringers know that the B.B.C. have, on occasions, been guilty of campanological howlers but ringers' protests seem to be having some effect, for recently the Birmingham B.B.C. rang me up to ask if I could help them to record accurately some typical village ringing for a wedding.

Whether the ability to ring the treble in Grandsire Doubles qualifies one as an authority competent to advise the B.B.C. is a point verging somewhat on the moot, but the upshot of the enquiry was that the ringers of Hanbury Church, Worcestershire, did their best to record a programme of rounds, firing and a plain course of Grandsire.

One record was reproduced in 'The Archers'—a story of country folk—on Friday morning, and another touch is to be used in about three weeks' time in the evening production of the same programme. No doubt many ringers will hear these recordings and the letters will flow. Let me stem the tide here and now. We rang as an ordinary village band—the striking was not perfect, but it was not bad, and we did our best. Can one do more? It is at least a sign of grace that the B.B.C. asked for help and were anxious to get their descriptions accurate.—Yours faithfully,

LEONARD J. BIRCH,

Rector of Hanbury.

'THE MEAT SAFE'

Dear Sir,—During a recent session of the B.B.C. programme, 'Question-Masters' Club, Mr. Gilbert Harding nosed a query to his fellow members which stumped them all. It was 'What is in the meat safe at the House?' Apart from one ingenious suggestion that the answer should be 'Mr. Webb' no one had any solution to offer, whereupon Mr. Harding proceeded to tell them, and his elucidation was that bells were in the meat safe at the House. Had he been content to leave it at that, he would have been snared considerable correspondence, but he went on to add that the meat safe was, in fact, Tom Tower, at Christ Church, Oxford!

Apparently Mr. Gilbert Harding has been overwhelmed with protests from indignant campanologists who know that Tom Tower isn't the meat safe as, in answer to one listener, he writes 'Thank you for your letter. Yes! I was quite wrong about the meat safe, and I am busy admitting my mistake.'—Yours, etc.

WEST COUNTRYMAN.

A 1949 BARWELL PEAL FALSE

Dear Sir—It has recently been pointed out to me by Mr. Shirley Burton that the peal of Plain Bob Major rung at Barwell, Leics, on Wednesday, February 29th, 1949, is false.

I therefore wish to have the peal withdrawn and extend my sincere apologies to you, Mr. Burton, and all members of the band who took part.—Yours faithfully,

J. W. F. TROTMAN.

Nuneaton.

A STANDARDISED CHANGE-OVER

Dear Sir,—On practice nights we usually have more ringers than ropes and very often wish to change our band over without setting the bells. In order to do this safely, we have standardised our method of handing over a bell and teach this as part of bell-handling. We find the idea works perfectly in our own tower but when our learners go visiting they still expect the 'standard' change-over and don't always get it.

Our method is, I believe, the most often used and is very simple. The change-over takes place at hand-stroke, the person 'taking over' standing behind and to the left (to the right if the ringer is left-handed). The ringer catches the sally with the right hand only and pulls the bell off again normally, at the same time passing the rope's-end safely to the person taking over. Then both wait until the bell goes up at back-stroke, when they change places. The essence of the method is that no feet are moved, nor does the relieved person move clear of the circle except at back-stroke when there is no coil of rope to step on (with disastrous results).

As by means of this change-over (which may be usual in other places but is certainly not standardised throughout the Exercise) we change over complete bands quickly without mishap and with very few bad blows, I am sure it would be beneficial to the Exercise if it were used by all ringers.

W. H. VIGGERS.

POSITION OF HERSHAM TOWER

Dear Sir,—May I, through the columns of 'The Ringing World,' correct a misstatement appearing in the annual report of the Surrey Association.

The list of towers in the N.W. District wrongly includes that of St. Peter's, Hersham. Hersham tower is affiliated to the Guildford Diocesan Guild, through its Parochial Church Council, and is not in union with any other Guild but that of its own diocese.

The fact that individual members of the Hersham band have joined the Surrey Association does not give that Association the right to claim that the tower is in union with them. Such union can only be effected by consent of the entire local band with the added consent of the Parochial Church Council.—Yours faithfully,

W. SIMMONDS,

Captain of Ringers and member of Parochial Church Council.

Hersham.

MR. CHARLES TYLER'S HANDBELL PEALS

Dear Sir,—Reference Mr. C. E. Borrett's letter on page 140 in 'The Ringing World' of March 2nd, re the death of Mr. C. Tyler, of Henfield, and the peals of Stedman referred to, the first peal. Stedman Triples, was rung on April 14th, 1896; composition, Thurstans' Original. W. Hillman 1-2, L. Payne 3-4, C. Tyler 5-6, G. Payne 7-8. Referee, A. W. Groves.

Then on December 3rd, 1896, Stedman Caters: C. Tyler 1-2, W. Hillman 3-4, L. Payne 5-6, G. Payne 7-8, A. W. Groves 9-10. Referee, H. Stringer.

Then on February 9th, 1897, Stedman Cinques: L. Payne 1-2, W. Hillman 3-4, G. Payne 5-6, C. Tyler 7-8, W. J. Alliss 9-10, A. W. Groves 11-12. Referee, H. Stringer.

The peals are taken from the records of the S.C.A. and A. W. Groves, who is now 84 years of age and is the sole survivor of the band.

I hope this will meet with Mr. Borrett's requirements; truly a wonderful record at that time.—Yours faithfully,

J. DEARLOVE.

Hassocks, Sussex.

KEEP IT UP, EVERCREECH

Dear Sir,—I write to say how much I agree with Mr. H. J. Sanger's recent letter. In his first paragraph Mr. Sanger speaks of the necessity of 'an awful lot of spade work of a very elementary character,' and how very true this is! If the Exercise is to continue to flourish in years to come, it is up to all of us to do everything in our power to encourage and help young recruits to the belfry to become keen and enthusiastic Sunday service ringers and, above all, good strikers. All too many towers, both in town and country, are silent because a band is content to rest on its laurels without bothering to train recruits to carry on when they themselves became too old to climb the stairs!

However, thank goodness, there are many towers up and down the country, of which Evercreech is obviously an outstanding example, in which enthusiasm and patience have resulted in real progress. Comparisons are odious, I know, but it may interest readers of 'The Ringing World' to hear of slow but sure progress in several towers with which I am acquainted in this area. At St. Maurice's, Winchester, a strong Sunday service bands being built up practically from scratch; at Horsham six or seven youngsters aged from 12 to 15 are making excellent progress, and a young band has been built up at the neighbouring five-bell tower of Itchingfield. At Thakeham, whose bells were augmented to six a year or so ago, another keen band of young ringers is making excellent progress; and in our local six-bell tower of Bosham, the bells are rung regularly for the first time for many years. We have four youngsters who are doing well and we hope to find some more recruits soon. These examples all go to show how much can be done but there is always room for more improvement.

Every good wish to Mr. Sanger in his fine work! I had the pleasure of taking part in ringing on the grand new ring of ten in his tower a couple of years ago, and I know that his young ringers have good reason to be proud of their bells. Well done, Evercreech—keep it up!—Yours sincerely, Bosham, Sussex.

PETER N. BOND.

ANCIENT BELLS

COLD ASHBY

Dear Sir,—The second bell in the ring of four at Cold Ashby, Northants, is dated 1317 and is the oldest dated bell in Northamptonshire.—Yours truly, Geddington. ROBERT G. BLACK.

BRADWELL, BUCKS.

Dear Sir,—At Bradwell, Bucks, we have three bells in our ring of six older than the seventh at Yatton. The treble and second are thirteenth-century bells by Michael de Wymbis. The fourth, a fifteenth-century bell, is by John Walgrave. This bell was badly cracked, but early in the present century it was welded. Although a good piece of work, the tone spoils the ring of six.—Yours faithfully, Wolverton, Bucks. J. E. WHITLOCK.

NORTH WINGFIELD, DERBYSHIRE.

Dear Sir,—The seventh bell of the ring of eight at North Wingfield, weighing 10 cwt. 3 qr. 4 lb., bears no date, but cast into the metal is a coin of the late fourteenth century. In Gothic letters, it bears the inscription: 'In Multis Annis Resones Campana Johannis.' and is older than the tower in which it hangs.

I should be interested to know if it is possible that the 'Johannis' refers to the founder. John of Stafford, who I understand was active about that time.

The fourth and sixth bore the date 1617, but the latter was recast in 1878. The tenor was recast in 1922 after serving since 1661, and the fifth, which bears no inscription whatever, is also reputed to be very old.—Yours faithfully,

GEORGE E. HANCOCK.

North Wingfield, Chesterfield.

LETTERS—Continued

WHAT CONSTITUTES GOOD STRIKING

Dear Sir,—Mr. F. J. Jackson is, of course, perfectly at liberty to express his 'considered opinion founded on observation' in support of his preference for the sound of even bell-ringing.

The whole question is entirely a matter of taste and has formerly been adequately dealt with by the late Editor of 'The Ringing World' and several others. Odd-bell ringers like a preponderance of musical changes with the tenor behind and no variation whatsoever, whilst even-bell ringers find 'the mixture' a bit too sweet and sickly and prefer to have plenty of 'salt' in between the doses of 'sugar.'

I also have very little doubt that in due time, Mr. Jackson will learn that Stedman and even Grandsire Triples necessitate good striking no less than Double Norwich.

I feel that we should be far better employed than decrying each other's tastes (or defending our own) if we set about raising the general standard of striking throughout the Exercise to the highest possible level or, what is perhaps more important, if we endeavour to define what really does constitute good striking.

About a quarter of a century ago, on the few occasions I was privileged to see the late Canon Coleridge, Pye Brothers, W. H. Fussell and other past members of our art 'in action.' I never failed to be impressed by their calm, dignified, unhurried ringing, especially of Triples or Major with the faintly perceptible widening of backstrokes in 6-7-8.

Nowadays, with some bands at any rate, all this sort of thing appears to have 'gone by the board,' the idea apparently being to rap in the 6-7-8's and, indeed, all the bells, as speedily as possible without actually clashing.

In spite of all the obvious 'material' progress, therefore, which has been made in recent years, one wonders, on looking back, whether we haven't lost something infinitely greater in the way of true striking and I believe this is a matter which might well engage the serious attention of the Central Council at its forthcoming meeting in Chester.—Yours faithfully,

THOMAS R. BUTLER.

Liverpool.

THE SLATERS OF GLEMSFORD

Dear Sir,—I was particularly interested to see the reference to Zach Slater, of Glemsford, Suffolk, in a recent issue of 'The Ringing World.' Having gained my initial knowledge from the late Theodore Slater, I heard a good deal about the brothers Zachariah, John, Joe and Samuel, who, in their heyday, saw peal boards erected in many towers in this part of the country.

Many were the times we heard how one of them walked from Glemsford to Norwich and back for a peal—a distance of 60 miles—and of how Sam Slater walked the 30 miles to Ipswich several times to get his peal of Maximus. And of Sam's peal book; he was a fine scholar for his day and the book is written masterly in old English.

Alas, their bells at Glemsford are now silent; many hopefully await the rehanging. A fund has been opened with that object in view. Just a few weeks ago it was announced that £700 must be raised as soon as possible to clean and restore the church.

One evening, a week or so back, a letter was circulated in the village asking for the effort to be well supported and it was tragic to find, next morning, that the roof of the north aisle had been ransacked of its lead—an area of 60 feet by 16 inches. For a time, at least, it looks like hard lines on the bells the Slaters loved so well.

ARCH A. FITCH.
Sudbury.

The bells of St. John-the-Baptist, Keynsham, near Bristol, are being rehung, by Messrs. Mears and Stainbank, on ball-bearings. It is hoped they will be ready for Whitsun. These bells were last rehung in 1910.

UNIVERSITY OF LONDON SOCIETY

Wit at Annual Dinner

The Society's annual dinner was held on February 10th at the 'Museum Tavern.' During the day there was ringing at St. Mary's, Willesden, St. Mary's, Acton and at St. Augustine's, Kilburn, where a short service was conducted by the Rev. A. H. Taylor.

Thirty-eight members and guests sat down to dinner, the Master, Mr. D. N. Layton, being in the chair. After the loyal toast had been honoured, Mr. P. R. Layton proposed the health of the guests. His speech followed lines which he regarded as customary at ringers' dinners, comprising Reminiscences of the Past, What is Wrong with the Exercise, Advice to Young Ringers and (for one year only) the Festival of Britain. In the latter connection he suggested that the extent of Caters should be rung by 30 or so young ringers in relays during their fortnight's summer holiday.

Mr. Layton then welcomed the Master of the Ancient Society of College Youths to this meeting of genuine college youths. The Society was also pleased to welcome the Masters of the Society of Royal Cumberland Youths and the Cambridge University Guild, the secretary of the Bristol University Society, Mr. and Mrs. Bevan, of Hampstead, and Mr. Hardy, of Lambeth. They were especially pleased to have with them Mr. and Mrs. Gardener, to whom they were much indebted for hospitality during last summer's tour.

Mr. A. S. Watt, Master of the Cambridge University Guild, said in reply that he knew from previous experience how difficult it was to speak after any member of the Layton family, but he would do his best. In thanking the Society for their hospitality he pointed out that one of the most gratifying things about functions of this kind, quite apart from meeting old friends, was the discovery that other Societies rang as badly as one's own. On this occasion, however, he had found most of the ringing quite good.

The health of the Society was proposed by the 'Scandinavian Department,' Mr. P. G. Foote. His discursive and cultured speech was made more interesting by his voluminous notes, which were, however, used more for effect than for reference.

The Master, in reply, pointed out that Mr. Watt was doubly unfortunate in that he was followed as well as preceded by a Layton. He went on to a somewhat Gilbertian discussion of a book he happened to have with him but was not trying to sell. Mr. D. N. Layton then gave a brief review of the Society's activities so far this session, and had to report that a large number of undergraduates wanting to learn ringing had come forward, and considerable progress was being made in teaching them. He finished by reminding the gathering that two members—Philip and Joan Gray—were sailing for Australia on March 1st.

'IN WHICH CENTURY?'

Dear Sir,—I cannot see why peals rung in 1900 should be considered as rung in the last century.

A person born on January 1st, 1800, and living over 100 years would celebrate his or her 100th birthday on January 1st, 1900, and 1900 would be that person's 101st year, completed on January 1st, 1901.

Obviously our calendar was calculated long after Christ had left the earth. His ministry terminated in the year 33 A.D., when he was 33 years old.

For the purposes of our calendar we must accept a year 0 A.D. and a year B.C. 0, or plus 0 and minus 0, zero hour being the time of Christ's birth.

I think those people who wished each other a happy new century at midnight on December 31st, 1899, were quite correct.—Yours faithfully,

ARTHUR DAVIS.

NORWICH ASSOCIATION

Larger Income Wanted

The annual general meeting took place in Norwich on Easter Monday and was very successful. The towers of Mancroft, St. Giles', St. George Colegate, St. Miles' and St. John de Sepulchre's were available for ringing. Methods up to Cambridge Royal were rung.

The service was at Mancroft at 12 noon, the preacher being the president. Lunch and the business meeting were held at Mancroft Youth Centre and ringers were present from Caister-on-Sea, Beccles, Roydon, Fornett, Wymondham, Diss, Somerleyton, Hethersett, Great Yarmouth, Chester-le-Street (Durham), Sheringham, Costessey, Fakenham, Gressenhall, Shipdham, Caston, Bunwell, Pulham Market, Pulham St. Mary, North Creak, Dickleburgh, Redenhall, Norton Subcourse, Wood Norton, Long Stratton, Mulbarton and Norwich, besides people from Peterborough Diocesan Guild and Suffolk and Mr. T. H. Taffender and Mr. J. Bullock from London.

At the business meeting officers re-elected included the president, the Rev. A. St. J. Heard; the general secretary and treasurer, the Rev. Gilbert Thurlow; Ringing Master, Mr. Nolan Golden; auditor, Mr. George Fletcher; Central Council representatives, Mr. Nolan Golden, Mr. W. C. Duffield and the Rev. Gilbert Thurlow. Vice-presidents were re-elected with the addition of Mr. William Lee, for many years the chairman of the East Norfolk Branch.

It was noted that the new rule, asking all to order lunch from the general secretary in advance, enclosing 4s., and being given a ticket of admission, had worked well, and it was agreed to continue this practice at future annual meetings.

Deep sympathy was expressed with Mr. W. J. Eldred, secretary of West Norfolk Branch, in the loss of his wife.

The auditor, in presenting the accounts, said that steps would have to be considered to increase the income and reduce the expenditure.

Festival of Britain arrangements were discussed. It was noted that the authorities request the ringing of Mancroft bells on the opening day of the Norwich Festival fortnight, Monday, June 18th, from 9.30 to 10.30 and from 2 p.m. for an hour. Although it was found possible to arrange bands for these times, any visiting ringers will be welcome.

Steps were discussed with a view to collaborating with other Guilds in the printing of a new service book.

Names are requested for the annual outing on Saturday, May 26th. Leave Mancroft at 7.30 a.m.

MR. T. R. HAMPTON'S 100 PEALS

DEDICATIONS

BERRINGTON, SHROPSHIRE

On Tuesday evening, March 20th, the two new trebles to make a ring of eight and cast by Messrs. Mears and Stainbank, were dedicated by Bishop Sara, Assistant Bishop of Hereford, at All Saints', Berrington, Shropshire. The inscription on the treble reads: 'This bell and the second of this peal were added in thanksgiving for peace, in 1945.'

About four years ago the Berrington band decided to raise funds to provide these bells and this they did, with the help of a few friends, in the space of 18 months, by organising whist drives and dances.

Verses of the hymn 'Ring up the Bells,' the words and music of which are by the Rev. H. Scott, Master of the Clun District of the Hereford Guild, 1919-1928, were sung before and after the dedication.

After the service the bells were opened with rounds and queens by members of the local band. Nearly 50 ringers were present from places as far apart as Hereford, Clun, Market Drayton and Wolverhampton.

CRANBORNE, DORSET

'I replace my ancient sister,
May I too ring for 500 years.'

So reads the inscription on a new bell dedicated at Cranborne, Dorset, on March 17th, with the seven other bells of this ring which have been recast by Messrs John Taylor and Co., of Loughborough. The tenor, of 16 cwt. 3 qr., was originally cast by Clement Tosier in 1713.

The treble, originally cast by John Warner and Sons in 1890 has been recast to the memory of my mother, Julia Ann Day.' Her son, Mr. W. F. G. Day, a churchwarden, was chiefly responsible for organising the fund which raised £1,000 in this parish, which has little more than 500 people, towards the total cost of £1,500.

The ceremony of dedication was performed by the Rural Dean (the Rev. J. C. Meyer) in the absence of the Archdeacon of Dorset (the Ven. L. F. Addison who was Vicar of Cranborne from 1921 to 1948). The present Vicar, the Rev. W. F. Bond, conducted the service.

The dedication took place beneath the tower. The Rural Dean read the respective lines of Psalm 150 with which each bell is inscribed, and the dedication prayer was as follows:—

'Almighty God who by the mouth of Thy servant Moses, didst command to make two silver trumpets for the convocation of solemn assemblies, be pleased to accept these bells. Bless, hallow and sanctify these bells with Thy heavenly benediction and grant that through this generation and through those who are to come, they may continually call together Thy faithful people to praise and magnify Thy holy name, through Jesus Christ our Lord.'

The bells were rung in rounds as the procession returned to the chancel. To the congregation the Dean said: 'You are to take notice that these bells of the church are committed to the custody of the Vicar of the Parish to be used with his consent, subject to the ultimate control of the Bishop of the Diocese.'

Among the congregation which filled the church were the Marquess and Marchioness of Salisbury and the Earl and Countess of Shaftesbury. Mr. Paul Taylor also attended.

Tea was served afterwards in the Village Hall where Lord Salisbury, in a brief speech, described the occasion as historic. The present church, he said, dated back to Norman times and they had at Cranborne Manor a relic of an earlier building thought to have been seventh-century, so probably since that time church bells had sounded over this countryside.

The bells were afterwards rung in standard methods, the opening touch being rung by a picked band of the Salisbury Diocesan Guild.

WEEDON

Two memorial bells to complete the ring to eight were hallowed by the Archdeacon of Northampton (the Ven. C. J. Grimes) on March 10th. The inscription on each bell, one weighing 4½ cwt. and the other 4½ cwt., reads:—

This Bell was hung to the Glory of God and in honour of the men and women of this Parish who served in the World War and in grateful remembrance of those who died in the service of their King and Country, 1939—1945.

The bells were supplied by Messrs. John Taylor and Co. and in them is the metal of the bell formerly at St. Katherine's, Northampton. There was a good attendance at the service which was conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. I. V. Lewis); the congregation included many ringers. The Archdeacon was preceded by the choir, the churchwardens (Messrs. G. F. Goff, Vicar's warden, and G. A. Wallis, people's warden) and the Vicar, to the belfry.

The ropes of the two new bells were handed to the Archdeacon by the churchwardens, the request for hallowing being made by the people's warden. After hallowing, the Archdeacon handed the ropes and committed the bells to the care of the Vicar. Then a team of eight Weedon ringers, Messrs. V. Perry, B. Hill, T. Deacon, K. Deacon, R. Smith, G. Webb, F. Robinson and A. Deacon, rang rounds as the choir and Archdeacon returned to the chancel.

The sermon was preached by the Archdeacon who said the bells were a memorial to those who made the supreme sacrifice and we should thank God for their memory, also for the freedom which they had preserved. They would seem to say to us—we have done our part, now go on and do yours in the building up of the perfect social order. The collection in aid of the Bell Fund amounted to £26 3s.

After the service a tea was held in the Schools. The Archdeacon thanked the ringers. Mr. G. H. Hancock, of Willoughby, chairman of the Daventry Branch, Peterborough Diocesan Guild of Ringers, presided, supported by Mr. F. W. Hancock, Willoughby, secretary of the branch, the Rev. I. V. Lewis, Vicar, and Messrs. G. F. Goff and G. A. Wallis, churchwardens. The Rev. Lewis welcomed the ringers and hoped they would have the pleasure of testing the new ring that evening. Mr. G. H. Hancock thanked the Vicar and also Mr. Ron Smith, who made the arrangements for the tea, and Mr. V. Perry, captain of the Weedon ringers, for the arrangements.

The meeting of the Daventry Branch was held afterwards. Messrs. G. H. Webb (Coventry), Mr. G. H. Hancock and Mr. F. W. Hancock gave selections on handbells.

During the evening peals in methods ranging from rounds to Bristol and Yorkshire Surprise were rung. Representatives from the following towers were present:—Charwelton, Staverton, Gayton, Byfield, Hevford, Bugbrooke, Harpole, Burton Latimer, Raunds, Green's Norton, Blakesley, Daventry, Long Buckby, Great Brington, Allesley (Coventry) Flore, Newnham, Loughborough, Helmdon, Maids Moreton, Buckingham, Badby, Watford, Lois Weedon, Eydon, Desborough, Tiddington, Deddington, Wicken, Northampton (St. Giles'), Kingsthorpe, East Haddon, Weston Favell, Whilton, Yardley Hastings and Weedon Bec and took part in the ringing. Mr. E. W. Whitmore, of Raunds, Ringing Master of the Peterborough Diocesan Guild, was also present and Messrs. Taylor and Co. were represented by Mr. J. P. Fidler.

The eight bells at Hampton have been cleaned, retuned and rehung by Messrs. Mears and Stainbank. The great improvement in the tone and 'go' received many favourable comments at the dedication service on Holy Saturday.

ELY DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION Cambridge Honoured by Memorable Week-end

During the Easter week-end, Cambridge, by the consent of H. M. The King, attained the dignity of becoming a city. Added to this, her oarsmen achieved a brilliant victory in the famous Boat Race.

It was, therefore, more than usually appropriate that the bells of her churches were ringing throughout Easter Monday on the occasion of the Association's annual general meeting.

Ringers attended from the following places:—Harston, Somersham, Sawston, Trumpington, Ely, Bardney (Lincs), Duxford, Little Shelford, Over, Burton Latimer, Brampton, Surfleet, Downham Market, Saffron Walden, Tilney All Saints, Shouldham, Huntingdon, Great Staughton, Birmingham (St. Martin's), Terrington St. John and Walpole St. Andrew, together with members of the Cambridge towers.

The business meeting was held in the Consistory Court at Great St. Mary, presided over by the Rev. W. H. Hopkin, deputising for the Vicar who was indisposed.

The general secretary and treasurer (Mr. W. W. Cousins) was re-elected, likewise the auditor (Mr. T. R. Dennis). Other elections were:—Peal secretary, Mr. E. G. Hibbins; Diocesan committee, Messrs. J. Gibson, C. Hurst, R. Brooker, R. H. Bullen, F. W. Lack, F. Warrington, C. Cousins and C. Rolfe. Representatives to the Central Council, Messrs. F. W. Lack and E. H. Mastin.

It was decided to hold the next A.G.M. in Huntingdon.

The visitors were welcomed by Mr. R. H. Bullen, Mr. R. C. Heazel, of Saffron Walden responding. Thanks to the various incumbents for permission to ring were expressed by the Rev. B. F. Sheppard. The service which followed was conducted by the Rev. W. H. Hopkin, who gave a short address, the Rev. B. F. Sheppard officiating at the organ very effectively. Tea followed in the Oak Room of the Dorothy Cafe, after which ringing was resumed. W. W. C.

OBITUARY

MR. GEORGE STRAW

Leicestershire ringers will learn with regret that Mr. George Straw passed peacefully away on March 14th after a very short illness.

A native of Derbyshire, he moved to Leicester after the first Great War and for a time rang at Knighton Parish Church but for the past quarter of a century had been a member of the Cathedral band.

Although a keen ringer, he could never ring methods beyond Stedman and his total of peals was only seven but he was a regular service ringer and was always present at ringing meetings.

The funeral service was held in St. Philip's Church and was attended by ringers from Aylestone, St. Margaret's and the Cathedral. Before the service finished a course of Grandsire Triples was rung on handbells by H. Wayne, H. J. Poole, E. Morris and Mrs. H. D. Poole.

MR. G. W. TEMPLE

For 65 years a member of the Twerton Company, Mr. George William Temple died, on February 24th at the home of his niece at 49 Maybrick Road, Bath. He was 87 years of age.

A bronze plaque over the tower door at St. Michael's, Twerton-on-Avon, records the fact that he was tower master for 60 years. He cared for those bells as a good father tends his child. He was also a ringer at Bath Abbey for 30 years. Apart from membership of the Bath and Wells Diocesan Association and the Salisbury Guild, he was a member of the Ancient Society of College Youths.

It gave great pleasure to him to hear his niece read out his name among the veterans who rang peals in the last century. The peal board at Twerton records his first peal, in May, 1888, which was the last peal for the Bath and Keynsham Association. Another board records his name on the first peal rung for the Bath and Wells Association.

The funeral was on February 28th, the body being taken into the Church of the Ascension at the express wish of the Vicar (the Rev. F. Pollard). The service was fully choral. Deceased's nephew, with whom he lived, carried the cross. Interment was at Twerton Cemetery in the same grave as his wife.

In the evening the bells of Twerton were rung muffled by Miss Williams, Mrs. Evans, Messrs. A. Baverstock, E. King, M. Helms, T. Hayward, W. Starr, G. Hawkins, S. Woodburn, P. Young, W. Prescott and F. King. The whole pull and stand was rung and then the bells lowered, each bell being struck three times from treble to tenor.

FESTIVAL THOUGHTS

THOUGHTS upon the approaching Festival of Britain were focused last week for an interesting three-quarters of an hour on the television broadcast by witnessing the casting of the Festival Bell in the White-chapel Foundry. The ceremony was made more absorbing by one of those non-technical talks on the tuning and casting of bells, thus giving to the uninformed public a valuable insight into a subject which ringers in general hold dear. Millions of visitors will see and hear this bell as it performs its daily allotted task during the Festival. It will not rank among the big bells of the world, being of some 19 or 20 cwt., but it is a symbol of our art, a public witness of the service of bells to the community.

We hope that from this one bell the visiting public will be sufficiently inquisitive to see other bells, to visit the belfries of the land and witness practical demonstrations of change ringing. Nevertheless, it must be borne in mind that the Festival is in no sense confined to London. The country is on show to the world, and what is typically British is essentially of interest to visitors. The thoughts of ringers on the subject were admirably crystallised by the report prepared by Dr. John Hatcher and Mr. G. H. Spice at the behest of the Eastbourne Conference, which 'The Ringing World' in its wisdom decided to publish. The findings of the Standing Committee on that report have not yet been received, but we feel that the main tenor of it was so in keeping with the spirit expressed at Eastbourne that the Guilds and Associations were wise at their annual meetings in making their plans accordingly. There were, however, one or two controversial points, but these are not likely to impede the immediate arrangements for appropriate ringing at the opening of the Festival. They are, in a sense, academic in character and can be discussed by the Methods and other Committees. The Exercise is awaiting, however, plans for ringing parties visiting the Festival to obtain a pull in London. Probably this matter is in hand and announcements will be made in due course.

Of the programmes announced, one of the most enterprising is the Guild of Devonshire Ringers. Every band in the Diocese is asked to proclaim the opening of the Festival by ringing its bells on the evening of Friday, May 4th, and a Festival of Britain ringers' rally is to be held at Exeter on the following day. The rally is not to be a 'closed-shop' affair for change ringers only. The rival organisation, the Devon Association of Ringers, whose activities are with call change ringers, is participating in the rally. This breaking down of barriers is most commendable, and while 'The Ringing World' is primarily of interest to change ringers, we have among our readers and contributors those whose knowledge of the art is limited to these narrow confines. We do not belittle the work of call-change ringers, although we should like to see them embrace our style of ringing. Last week they had a most gracious tribute paid to them from no less a person than Mr. J. T. Dyke, when he told his own Association of 'the tremendous respect' he had for their prowess and how he had 'to concentrate tremendously to fit in with their uncanny accuracy.'

It is evident from the reports to hand that not only peal ringers but those who occasionally ring peals are planning big things for that week-end. The Editor expects a spate of peals equivalent to the big national occasions during the opening week-end of the Festival. The normal rate of peal ringing this year has averaged between 50 and 60 a week. A big influx can only be handled expeditiously if footnotes are limited to essential details. We ask those who ring peals to associate them with the Festival and not couple them with those individual domestic rejoicings so dear to the ringer's heart. In other words, have a one-purpose peal. If the response warrants it, we might be able to arrange for the issue of May 18th to be a special Festival issue, with an appropriate allocation for quarter peals.

Lastly, let the ringing on this occasion be of quality. Mr. G. H. Spice, when he outlined the Festival programme to the Kent County Association at Tonbridge, made a special point of good striking. 'Nothing irritates the public ear more than badly-struck change ringing,' he told the meeting. On these national occasions we are very much in the public ears, and a bad performance will defeat all the good intentions we have so much at heart. Let the objective be ringing at its best. If there is any doubt about the individual capabilities of the band, do practise the method beforehand with a tolerably long touch. Then not only the public but the ringers can, in the words of one veteran conductor, 'sit back and enjoy the bells.' Something then will have been accomplished worthy of an art which is essentially and peculiarly British and which has been handed down to us for more than two centuries.

This is the second issue of the new quarter. To avoid stoppage of 'Ringing World,' quarterly subscribers should send 5s. 6d. without delay
to Mrs. G. W. Fletcher, The White House,
Caister-on-Sea, Norfolk. New postal subscribers
can now be accepted. Rates above.

Members of the Standing Committee of the Central Council have been informed by Mr. G. W. Fletcher that he has written to the president of the Council advising him that, having completed 20 years of service as secretary to the Council, he is not able to accept nomination for a further term.

The Snowdon Dinner will be held at York on September 29th.

Miss Pamela A. Martin is the first lady to ring a peal at St. Mary's, Watford.

For their peal at Reading on March 31st, the three Somerset members of the band drove 160 miles in a 17-year-old Austin Seven.

After the Easter Monday peal at St.
Lawrence's, Chobham, Surrey, the band was hospitably entertained by the Vicar, the Rev. O.
R. Acworth.

Apropos the passing of Mr. William Dye
(page 203), Mr. C. E. Borrett points out that Holt's Original was rung at Norwich on August 22nd and again on October 22nd, 1752. Our correspondent's claim in regard to Mr. Dye probably intended to refer to contemporary ringing.

Buckingham ringers accompanied by friends from Maids Moreton and Wicken had an enjoyable tour on Easter Monday, ringing at Egham, St. Peter's, Staines, Chertsey, Leatherhead, Ashted and Ewell. Mr. Frank Townsend was in charge of the party and the arrangements were admirably made by Mr. F. Vickers (tower secretary).

Mr. D. H. Rooke points out that the peal of Oxford Treble Bob Minor rung at Greasley on March 16th was not the first peal of Minor for the Southwell Diocesan Guild. The first was at Warsop on May 16th, 1948, conducted by Frederick Flint. Another was rung at the same tower on August 15th, 1950, conducted by the writer.

BELFRY GOSSIP

Mr. C. Sharples writes:
'It would be very interesting to see a peal rung in this second half of the 20th century by a band of veterans who also rang a peal in the 19th century.' This brings to mind the veterans' peal rung at St. Olave's, Hart Street, in the 30's, all of whom had rung a thousand peals and upwards.

It is 45 years since Mr. John Cobb had rung a peal. He broke the 'silence' at Heston, Middlesex, on March 26th.

The peal of Raunds Surprise Major recorded in our last issue was rung without practice.

With the peal at Stanwell, Middlesex, on March 17th, Mr. Frank Blondell has rung peals of Treble Bob from Minor to Maximus.

Great credit is due to the young band at St. Bees, Cumberland, who are mostly boys and girls under 18, by raising over £100 themselves towards the cost of having their bells rehung in the very near future.

The peal at Newport, Monmouth, on March 31st, was the 13th peal for two of the band—
Miss Jacqueline Evans and Mr. Eric Sutton—though neither had met before the attempt.

The peal of 5,184 Double Norwich Court
Bob Major on the heavy bells of Sherborne
Abbey on March 31st was a triumph for Miss Jean M. Brown. She is the first lady to ring a peal of Major on these bells. Previously she had rung a peal of Triples on the bells.

The twelve ringers at Evershot, Dorset, include a churchwarden, a parochial church secretary, a sexton, four members of the Church Council, two choristers, two sidesmen and a 'lad' of 77 with over 50 years' service to his credit as a ringer at the church. On Easter Day 720 Plain Bob Doubles was rung by F.
Samways 1, F. T. Groves 2, H. Smith 3, Mrs.
H. Smith 4, H. D. W. Bishop (conductor) 5, H.
Vine 6. First 720 by 1 and 2.

BISHOP OFFICIATES AT LEICESTER RINGERS' WEDDING

THE thoughts and good wishes of the Exercise were turned to Leicester on Easter Monday for the wedding at the Cathedral Church of St. Martin of Peter John, son of Mr. and Mrs. D. Staniforth, of Anstey, Leics, and Margaret Jill, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Poole, of Leicester. A very large congregation witnessed the ceremony which was performed by the Lord Bishop of Leicester (the Right Rev. G. Vernon Smith) assisted by the Provost and the Rev. W. O. Chantler (Vicar of Ovington).

As the bridal party drew near the Cathedral, the bells pealed forth their welcome. At the Cathedral door the bride, who looked a picture of radiant happiness, was met by the Provost and the choir. Escorted by her father, who subsequently gave her away, she was attended by six bridesmaids. The bride's procession moved slowly to the chancel as Mr. Brian G. Warwick, the organist for the occasion, played the Bridal March from 'Lohengrin' (Wagner).

The hymn 'Love Divine' preceded the nuptial rites performed by the Bishop. In an address to the assembly he said that during the singing of Psalm 67 (The Deus Misereatur) the newly-wedded couple would take their first steps as man and wife—steps taken in the right direction — towards the altar. In wishing them every happiness, the Bishop said he was sure that wish would be shared not only by the large company present, but by the whole of the fraternity of ringers.

The hymn 'May the Grace of Christ our Saviour' followed the prayers, and after the blessing and during the signing of the register, the choir sang as an anthem 'Brother James' Air.' As the bride and bridegroom left the Cathedral the bells were 'fired' and a short touch of Stedman Cinques was rung.

The bride was attired in a heavy cream satin dress with train. Her wreath was decorated with miniature arum lilies and stephanotis and the veil was appropriately adorned on each corner with bells. She wore a gold cross and chain and carried an ivory-bound prayer book from which was suspended satin ribbon with lilies of the valley and white heather. A silver bell hung from the bottom of the ribbon.

The bridesmaids were the Misses Elizabeth Faulknull and Sheila Healey (both ringers), Yvonne Staniforth (sister of the bridegroom) Doreen Powell (friend of the bride) who were dressed in turquoise panne velvet and carried shower bouquets of pink carnations. Jane Parker (bride's cousin) and Pat Wayman (granddaughter of Mrs. Rupert Richardson, of Surfleet) who wore dresses of salmon pink panne velvet and carried baskets of blue forget-me-nots. Each had a velvet Juliet cap to match her dress and wore a necklace, the gift of the bridegroom.

It was almost completely a ringers' day. In addition to the bride and bridegroom, the bride's parents and the two previously-mentioned bridesmaids, other ringers who took part in the ceremony were M. D. Staniforth (best man), Brian G. Warwick (organist), Harry Poyner and Derek Goodman (choristers). With the exception of Miss Faulknull (Desford) and Michael Staniforth (St. Mary's, Anstey), all are members of the Cathedral Company.

THE RECEPTION

The reception was held in the ballroom of the Victoria Casino and was attended by 100 guests, the guests of honour being the Lord Bishop and the Provost. Grace at the wedding breakfast was said by the Lord Bishop. The Provost proposed the toast of 'The Bride and Bridegroom' and recalled that he had known the bride since she was nine years old. He had watched her grow up and had later Guild, Melton and Harborough Districts of the Leicester Guild and twenty-four ringers from various parts of the country.

Dancing followed and then came a rousing send-off to the bride and bridegroom as they left for their honeymoon at Church Stretton, Salop.

The many present included a barometer from the Cathedral Company and Wigston Magna ringers and wine glasses from the Anstey ringers, with whom the bridegroom learnt to ring.

BRIDE AND BRIDEGROOM

The bride is the hon. secretary of the Midland District of the Ladies' Guild and is also the representative for that Guild on the Central Council. She is a brilliant ringer both on handbells and in the tower. She could hardly be otherwise considering who she chose to be her parents! She has taken part in 234 peals in many methods and on all numbers from Minor to Maximus and her list includes all the many Surprise Maximus methods which have been rung at Leicester.

The bridegroom, a former pupil of Redvers F. Elkington, of Anstey, is also a ringer of outstanding capability and a conductor of great promise. He has taken part in over 200 peals and his list includes the Surprise Maximus peal mentioned above. He is the chairman of the Leicester Diocesan Guild.

Finally, both these young ringers hold the distinction of belonging to that very select band who have rung peals of Cambridge Surprise from Minor to Maximus on both tower and handbells.

Peals in honour of the wedding were rung at Leicester Cathedral, Wakefield Cathedral, Countesthorpe, Lyme Regis, Penistone, Long Eaton, Crayford and Barton-on-Humber.

noticed her in certain company and had thought that some day some one would be giving that toast but had no idea that the honour of doing so would fall upon him. Being bellringers he knew that Jill and Peter would know how to pull together and he wondered who would take the treble! The bridegroom ably responded.

The usual toasts were given and responded to and in between the toasts the bride and bridegroom took wine—first with the Lord Bishop and Provost and later with all the ringers present. In his reply to the final toast the bride's father said that never had he given anything away so valuable as what he had given away that morning. He felt that it was a great honour to have had his only daughter married by the Lord Bishop of the Diocese and in the Mother Church of the Diocese and he sincerely thanked the Bishop for his kindness in celebrating the marriage and the Provost for his valuable assistance.

Forty-one congratulatory telegrams and messages were read out by the best man. These included one from the Midland District Ladies'

LANCASHIRE ASSOCIATION

Bolton Branch

In spite of local point to point races, a first division football match and very bad weather, there was a well-attended meeting of the Bolton Branch held at The Saviour's Church on March 31st.

It was not a meeting of method ringers, but of youth. Under 21's of both sexes well outnumbered the older members and there is no doubt there are many buds ready to burst into flower. This attendance of youth is a good omen.

When Field-Marshal Montgomery visits Bolton Parish Church in the near future, there will be a 'teenage' band to ring for the service. The arrangements for this are in the hands of Alan Pendlebury.

At the business part of the meeting it was decided, for the Festival of Britain, to throw open the towers for the public to visit during the evenings of Thursday and Friday, May 3rd and 4th, and to attempt a peal at all churches during the following week. P. C.

THE KENT COUNTY ASSOCIATION

MR. E. H. LEWIS LEAVING KENT — RINGERS AND THE FESTIVAL OF BRITAIN: PRACTICAL SUGGESTIONS — MEMBERSHIP NOW 1,049 — LEADING COUNTY FOR PEALS

THIS year Tonbridge was selected for the annual meeting of the Kent County Association on Easter Monday and a company of about 160 enjoyed an excellent meeting.

The service in the Parish Church was conducted jointly by the Archdeacon of Tonbridge and Canon Russell B. White, R.D., Vicar of Tonbridge. The address was given by Canon White and was much appreciated.

Luncheon followed in the Medway Hall at the close of which the business meeting took place. Before commencing the routine work the meeting heard with great reluctance of the impending departure of Mr. E. H. Lewis from Kent and of his consequent severance with the affairs of the Kent County Association.

Mr. F. M. Mitchell expressed appreciation of Mr. Lewis's services to the Kent County Association over the past 22 years and Mr. P. A. Corby also spoke in affectionate terms of the cordial esteem in which Mr. Lewis had been held by all officers and members.

Mr. G. H. Spice (hon. secretary), in his report, said: 'Just over 50 years ago, one annual report opened with the words "The affairs of the Association during the past year have been conducted in a very quiet fashion, hardly anything having occurred to bring us prominently before the public." The first portion of the quotation might well be applied to the year 1950, but, as regards being brought into prominence, we in Kent, in common with other privileged counties, have been brought before the public by sundry broadcasts of ringing before Divine service and there is ample evidence to indicate that on most of our important national occasions of rejoicing, festivals and otherwise, the B.B.C. have come to realise that the sound of our church bells forms an integral part of a well-organised broadcast. Only yesterday, Easter Day, what a sense of dignified grandeur must have been felt by the thousands, and possibly millions, of listeners to that special broadcast in the Home Service of the tuneful bells of our cathedrals and churches scattered far and wide over the British Isles.'

THE FESTIVAL OF BRITAIN

'This year we have, through the Festival of Britain, the opportunity to interest the public both at home and from overseas, in a peculiarly British art. Bells have become interwoven in the pattern of life as lived in Britain and should figure prominently in a Festival intended to demonstrate to the world the merit of the British way of life. The love of home, of family, of village or town, of the English countryside and of our national Church—all these have found expression in some of our finest poems and songs—linked with the sound of church bells. The music of bells rung in the English fashion, their changes rolling out from some noble and ancient tower, remind men and women of the worship of God and of their duty to their Creator. No other country in the world can produce such a scene.'

With this in mind surely it was their duty as ringers during 1951 to bring their art before the public in every possible way. Without doubt this could best be done by local bands.

Obviously the first step should be to ensure the help and co-operation of the clergy. Special ringing should mark the opening days of the Festival. Where it could be arranged, a good idea would be to display prominently notices to the effect that ringing chambers were open to receive visitors. Qualified ringers could volunteer to act as guides to conduct parties to view bells and to explain their movement and the simplest principles of change ringing. Lectures with a model bell and handbell demonstrations might well be offered to guilds, institutes and other organisations, especially to those connected with youth. Interest was a necessary forerunner of recruitment and every local band should remember that if the introduction of new blood was neglected the band must, sooner or later, fail in its purpose.

Whenever ringing, the essential quality of good striking must be kept firmly in mind. Nothing irritated the public ear more than badly-struck change ringing. A perfect rhythm could be achieved only if each ringer listened intently to every blow struck whether it be for service ringing, practices or peals.

MEMBERSHIP INCREASE

It was gratifying to report a slight increase in practising membership. As compared with last year's total of 1,015, their total for 1950 reached 1,049. Fifteen non-resident life members were elected during the year and subscriptions were received from 52 honorary members, one less than last year.

New practising members had joined from all districts as follows:—Ashford 17, Canterbury 46, Lewisham 16, Maidstone 22, Rochester 61 and Tonbridge 13.

Losses by death during the year had been:—Canterbury District, Frederick G. Brett, George Swaffer; Lewisham District, Jesse Couchman (Farningham). Reuben Baldwin (Eynesford); Maidstone District, Brian Bristow (Leeds, killed in action in Korea); Tonbridge District, George Eastman (Hever). The company stood in silence as the names were read out.

COMMITTEE WORK

Matters of interest dealt with by the Committee were grants from the Belfry Repair Fund of £10 10s. to St. Leonard's, Deal; £15 15s. to St. Mary's, Lewisham; £10 10s. to Barming Parish Church. It was decided that any difference between the amount standing to the credit of the Helmore Memorial Fund and the total cost of the clock and the installation of the same in the ringing chamber of Canterbury Cathedral be met from the Association's General Fund.

In recognition of Mr. Robert Edwards' long service to the Association and Tenterden Church, it was unanimously agreed to make him an honorary life member. The committee accepted the trusteeship of the proceeds of the sale of shares, the gift of Mr. Robert Edwards, to be invested and the interest earmarked for the Tenterden Parish Church Bell Ropes Fund.

An order for three gross of ringers' badges had been placed to a design kindly provided, free of cost, by Mr. Fred Cullum.

Preliminary consideration had been given to a proposal of Mr. A. Waddington as to the advisability of regrouping of towers, adjusting boundaries and possibly increasing the number of districts.

MISCELLANEOUS ITEMS

Horsmonden is to have two new bells to complete the octave, the gift of Mrs. Bridges.

Susan Dilmot, of Whitstable, at the tender age of ten months, has been made an honorary member.

The bells in two six-bell towers—Wateringbury and Barming—had been rehung on ball bearings. Congratulations to Wateringbury enthusiasts, who it is understood are making good progress, were expressed.

FINANCIAL POSITION

Mr. F. M. Mitchell, in presenting the accounts, urged upon all districts the importance of securing honorary members. Subscriptions from members amounted to £121 7s. 6d. and revenue from other sources £69 5s. 7d. With the amount brought forward of £90 18s. 7d., this made a total of £281 11s. 8d. on the income account. The principal item of expenditure was the annual report, costing over £56. The next report would cost considerably more and he appealed to members to purchase copies at 1s. each, which was not a quarter of the cost of production. The year ended with a balance in hand of £95 19s. 5d., but this would be reduced by the purchase of badges, the first order being over £50. He asked members to purchase their badges as soon as possible.

The Belfry Repair Fund started the year with £240 17s. 3d., collections at meetings and donations amounted to £11 0s. 7d., and interest £11 4s. 6d. Grants of £25 15s. had been made, leaving a balance at the end of the year of £237 7s. 4d. The shares Mr. Edwards had handed over realised £33 17s. 6d. for the Tenterden Bell Ropes Fund. He was sure all members would heartily thank Mr. Edwards for this kind gesture.

The Benevolent Fund started with a balance in hand of £422 2s. 2d. The total income for the year was £22 5s. 1d. and £40 had been paid out in grants to seven members. There had also been paid out £40 10s. for the Helmore Memorial towards which donations to this Fund was £12 5s. 7d.

A GOOD YEAR FOR PEALS

Mr. P. A. Corby, peal secretary, in his report, stated that 165 peals were recorded in 1950. Although this was a decrease of three on 1949, it probably ensured the return to the head of the Central Council's list. The peals included the first ever of Derby Surprise Major and the first for the Association of Aldenham, Boveney, Cranbourne and Southgate Surprise Major. It was again a pleasure to record a considerable range of performance from the very simple to the advanced methods, although no peal of Spliced Surprise Major was rung and only one of London Surprise Major. There was a slight increase in the number of handbell peals but no sign of real activity.

There were 50 conductors, including four 'first as conductor.' The peal secretary headed the list with 17. Messrs. W. A. J. Knight and T. E. Sone with 13 each and Mr. W. Bottrill with 12 all showed a commendable record of achievement in circumstances that were not always easy.

Of 220 towers with five or more bells, peals were rung in 79. One peal was rung in Sussex, and one at Southwark Cathedral. Six peals were rung 'in hand.' There were only 20 first peals, the lowest number since the war. Sincere congratulations were offered to all first pealers and their instructors.

Six peals were rung in honour of the birth of Princess Anne. Isaac Emery, of Bromley, had the great pleasure of ringing a peal on the second bell at St. John's, Erith on August 30th, 1950, sixty years to the day after he had rung the same bell to his first peal. Members will share the pleasure of our old friend that he has been spared to carry out such a remarkable feat. We would commend to our members the recent suggestion in 'The Ringing World' that peals should be related, where possible, to Saints' Days and church activities generally.

In addition to the peals rung by the Association, the following were rung in the county by other Associations:—East Grinstead and District Guild, four; Ancient Society of College Youths and Society of Royal Cumberland Youths, two each; the Hawkhurst and District Guild, the London County Association and Oxford University Society, one each.

Conductors should ascertain before starting for a peal whether all the band were members of the Association and any non-members should be provisionally elected in accordance with Rule 17.

All the officers were re-elected with the addition of Mr. Wilfred Rayner, of Gravesend, to the committee. The four representatives to serve on the Central Council were Messrs. P. J. Corby, T. E. Sone, G. H. Spice and John Willis.

THE CENTRAL COUNCIL OF CHURCH BELL RINGERS

The first session of the 26th Council (54th annual meeting) will be held on Whitsun Tuesday, May 15th, 1951, in the Cathedral Refectory, Chester, by kind permission of the Dean and Chapter, at 11 o'clock.

The morning session will be adjourned at 1 o'clock and the afternoon session will commence at 2.15 p.m. or as may be decided.

OBITUARY

MR. OLIVER SIPPETTS

The funeral took place at Crawley, Sussex, on April 7th, of Mr. Oliver Sippetts, for nearly 50 years a member of the band of St. John-the-Baptist's and leader for many years. Mr. Sippetts, who would have been 61 next month, was a very well-known ringer and conductor, who had rung over 800 peals. He was, in addition, treasurer of the Sussex County Association and Ringing Master of the Northern Branch.

A large congregation attended the service including many of his employees and fellow-townpeople, and some 26 ringers. The Sussex County Association was represented by Messrs. G. W. Cecil (Master) and S. E. Armstrong (secretary), the Central Council by Mr. F. I. Hairs (with Mrs. Hairs), the Ancient Society of College Youths by Mr. A. B. Peck, and the Guildford Diocesan Guild by Mr. A. H. Pulling. Others present were Messrs. F. Bennett and W. C. Hart (Brighton), R. Overy and H. Lilley (Cuckfield), L. Stilwell (Horsham), R. Wood (Billingshurst), W. Stanford (Warnham), Mr. and Mrs. F. Crutten and B. White (Henfield), E. Rapley (West Grinstead), A. J. Bull (Horley), A. E. Laker (Balcombe), J. Laker (Worthing), Miss E. Lonnen (Felpham, representing the Western Division), L. Jupp, L. Penfold and the following past and present members of the Crawley band: Messrs. K. Snelling, C. Nice (with Mrs. Nice), R. V. Johnson (with Mrs. Johnson) and G. F. Jennings.

At the conclusion of the service a course of Grandire Triples was rung at the graveside by Mr. and Mrs. Hairs, A. H. Pulling and E. Rapley, and several half muffled touches were later rung on Crawley bells.

An appreciation of Mr. Sippetts' ringing career will appear in our next issue.

MR. CHARLES DEAN

We regret to announce the death of Mr. Charles Dean on Monday, within a few days of his 80th birthday. The funeral service was at Croydon Parish Church yesterday (Thursday) morning.

Annual Meeting

INCLEMENT weather did not deter about 90 visitors and friends from attending the annual meeting held at St. John's Church, Cardiff, on Easter Monday. Many young and enthusiastic ringers of both sexes were among those present. The Vicar (Canon T. M. Hughes) conducted the service and this was followed by tea which was kindly provided by the churchwardens.

Canon Hughes presided at the business meeting. The secretary, in his report, stated that membership was roughly about the same as for 1949 with 252 paid-up members. Four members, Mr. Tom Page and Mr. G. Wines, of Pentre, Mr. H. Baldwin, of Rumney, and Mr. A. Hawkins, of Usk, had died. Sunday service ringing in affiliated towers had been maintained and 21 peals, which was above post-war average, had been rung. Porthkerry bells had been augmented to six and there was now an enthusiastic band there. A peal entirely by clergy of the diocese of Monmouth had been rung. This was most gratifying, indicating that the clergy were taking a greater interest in our art. Attendances at meetings had been well maintained. One interesting feature of the year had been the purchase of a badge of office for the Master to be worn on official occasions. The report was adopted.

Mr. T. Roderick presented the balance sheet which showed a balance of £5 17s. 6d., not counting the purchase price of the Master's badge. The Bell Restoration Fund stood at £18 17s. 5d. The report was adopted.

Mr. Frank Rowsell was elected Master for the ensuing year, the secretary was asked to carry on and the auditors were re-elected. Mr. J. W. Jones was re-elected Central Council representative and Mr. T. M. Roderick was elected to take the place of Mr. E. Stitch, who had moved to Wolverhampton.

Progress was reported from several towers, notably Llanbadach and Newport All Saints'. Newport All Saints' was selected for the next annual meeting and Radyr for the next Glamorgan quarterly meeting. The Monmouthshire quarterly meeting has already been fixed for Ebbw Vale. Two notices of motion were given, one to divide the Association area into districts, the other to revise the rules.

The question of the delivery of 'The Ringing World' was raised: several members saying they could not get it regularly through their newsagent. They were advised to get it by post. New members were elected from Caerphilly, Llanbadach and Chepstow.

Mr. Jack Worrall moved a hearty vote of thanks to the Vicar for presiding and Mr. J. W. Jones to the churchwardens and the ladies for providing the tea and presiding thereat.

Apologies for a recent suggestion that Bognor Regis is the largest town in the country without a ring of bells, Mr. F. Farrant, of Martock, submits Clacton-on-Sea.

Annual Meeting Discuss Ring of Eight for Sale

DESPITE the wintry conditions, the annual meeting at Worcester on Easter Monday was, as usual well attended, some 130-140 members and friends being present, with welcome visitors from Leicester, Loughborough, Melton Mowbray, Nuneaton, Hereford and Sunbury-on-Thames. Although at the early hour of 11 a.m., a congregation of 90 attended the special service at All Saints', the officiating clergy being the Right Rev. Bishop B. Lasbrey, Rector of All Saints', the Rev. H. Hartley (chaplain), the Rev. L. J. Birch (vice-president) with the Rev. J. M. Wale at the organ.

The general business meeting was held, by kind permission of the Dean and Chapter, in the Cathedral Chapter House, and in the absence of the president, the Dean of Worcester (who was away from home), Mr. W. B. Cartwright (vice-president) was elected to the chair. He was supported by Mr. C. Skidmore (Master), the Rev. H. Hartley (chaplain), Mr. J. D. Johnson (secretary and treasurer) and Mr. S. T. Holt. Apologies for absence were received from the Dean, Messrs. J. Bass, A. J. Skelding, J. R. Newman, F. V. Nicholls and T. Greenhall. It was decided to send a letter of good wishes to Mr. J. Bass who, but for indisposition, would have been present at this, his 50th annual meeting.

On behalf of the Central Committee, the secretary reported that the Guildhall had been booked for the annual dinner on October 27th and that it coincided with the closing date of the Bishop of Worcester's Mission, 1951. Grants of £10 each from the Belfry Renais. Fund had been approved towards the rehanging of Hagley bells and to the new ring of 12 at Evesham and also a donation of £5 5s. from the General Fund to the Cathedral Tower Restoration Fund. Arising from the report of the committee, the chaplain (the Rev. H. Hartley) reminded the meeting that the Bishop's Mission would close from October 13th to 27th and he made an appeal that, wherever possible, a concerted effort should be made by local bands throughout the Diocese to ring a peal on Saturday, October 13th.

ST. HELEN'S BELLS, WORCESTER

The Rev. L. J. Birch spoke of recent advertisements in the 'Church Times' offering the ring of eight at St. Helen's (now a redundant church) for sale at £550 and said he had since heard that there was an application for a faculty to sell them for scrap metal. It would be a great pity if this good old ring was allowed to be broken up. The bells (eight, tenor 13 cwt. in E) were cast in 1706 and each one bore a rhyming inscription commemorative of Marlborough and his Flanders victories.

The secretary reported that he had had considerable correspondence on the subject, and since 1948 the Association had made every effort to find a home for them within the Diocese. At the annual meeting in 1948, a strong resolution was passed, urging that they be retained without recasting and as an individual ring. When he heard of the application for the faculty, and in view of this resolution, he had written to the Diocesan Registrar, the result being that the faculty was withheld pending wider publicity and advertisement. His actions had been unanimously approved by the committee and it was resolved that he again write to the Registrar to ascertain the current position.

At this point the chairman said he had the pleasant task of handing over a cheque for £5 5s. as a donation from the Association to the Cathedral Tower Restoration Fund. This was received on behalf of the Dean and Chapter by the Chapter clerk, Mr. Victor Dowse, who suitably thanked the meeting.

As recommended by a sub-committee, it was resolved with acclamation:—That in recognition of long and outstanding service to the Association, the following be elected 'Freemen' of the Association: Messrs. William Ranford (elected 1900), John Bass (elected 1901) and Albert J. Skelding (elected 1896). They had all given valuable service to the committee in various offices and as teachers and instructors and their names are added to that of James R. Newman (elected 1902, and general secretary for 25 years).

The librarian (Mr. C. W. Cooper) reported better use of the library with 14 applications for 18 books.

The Dean of Worcester was unanimously re-elected president and the Rev. H. Hartley added to the clerical vice-presidents. Mr. F. C. Hyde was elected auditor in lieu of Mr. T. W. Lewis, who did not wish to continue, and the Rev. L. J. Birch elected to the Central Committee. Mr. J. D. Johnson not wishing to stand for re-election to the Central Council, Mr. W. B. Cartwright was elected and Messrs. B. C. Ashford and S. T. Holt re-elected for the ensuing three years. All other officers were re-elected.

Worcester was again chosen for the next annual meeting and arrangements for the annual peal were left to the Master.

The meeting closed with sincere votes of thanks to Mr. W. B. Cartwright (chairman), for his good-humoured and expeditious conduct of the meeting, the Dean and Cathedral Chapter, Bishop Lasbrey and the Rev. J. M. Wale and incumbents whose bells were used that day.

During the afternoon and evening, good use was made of the bells of the Cathedral, All Saints', Claines, St. John's and Kempsey. Probably the most notable feature of the ringing was the large number of youth of both sexes taking part—several of whom were undaunted by the Cathedral 12. One lad of tender years and diminutive stature, approached as he was leaving a tower door with a wooden box under his arm, said he was hoping to ring at several other towers before the day ended. The box—his own luggage—was necessary to enable him to reach both sally and backstroke!

BATH & WELLS ASSOCIATION

The bi-annual Corporate Communion of the Chew Deanery Branch was held at Chew Magna on April 1st. The bells were raised in peal soon after 7 a.m. and ringing continued until service time.

The celebrant was the Vicar, the Rev. C. M. Luxmore-Ball, and ringers were present from Chew Magna, Chilcompton, Long Ashton, Marksbury, Nailsea, Wington and Yatton.

A party of 16 afterwards sat down to an excellent breakfast served in the Church Hall, for which thanks are due to Mr. H. Babb and his lady helpers. Ringing was under the direction of the Master, Mr. H. W. Knight.

Ilchester & Merston Deaneries Branch

There was a good gathering at a meeting held at Haselbury Plucknett on March 31st.

The Vicar (the Rev. E. G. Haskins) conducted the service and gave an interesting address on the bells and their recent restoration. Mr. C. Paull was the organist.

Prebendary G. W. Saunders presided at the business meeting. There being no charge made for tea, a collection was taken in aid of the Pyll Church, Tower and Bell Restoration Fund, £2 6s. being the result.

New members were elected from Norton 3, West Coker 1, Hardington 2, Yeovil 2, Haselbury 7 and one non-resident life-member.

IRISH ASSOCIATION Eastern District

The annual district meeting was held in Bray on St. Patrick's Day, March 17th, and was attended by 51 bellringers from Arklow, Bray, Drogheda and Dublin (St. George's and St. John's).

The Bray Society kindly made the arrangements for lunch in the Wicklow Hills Hotel which was presided over by the Rector, Canon E. H. F. Campbell, M.A.

From 10.30 onwards the ringers arrived and at 11.30 a.m. the Striking Competition for the Lindoff Memorial Cup commenced. The holders, Bray, 'won the toss' and went on first. It took a little while for them to settle down but not before they had 22 faults against them. Three of the ringers failed to set their bells. The Arklow team followed and rang a steady pace throughout and finished with 15 faults. St. Peter's, Drogheda—whose bells are the worst going in the world!—next 'chanced their arm' on the beautiful ring of Bray. They settled down to a good open pace from the start but finished up with 25 faults due to 'clipping and clashing.' Arklow were, therefore, declared the winners. Both Bray and Arklow rang Plain Bob while Drogheda rang call changes. The judges were Messrs. J. N. Roden and H. W. Jones.

At the meeting which followed the lunch, the Cup was presented by Mrs. R. J. Kerr, wife of the Rector of St. George's, Dublin, to Mrs. M. Kinch, on behalf of the Arklow Society. She was the only lady ringing in the team.

The meeting was presided over by the Rector of Bray in the unavoidable absence of the district chairman, Mr. R. Corson, whose business as an undertaker necessitated his attention, owing to an unusually high number of clients! Canon Campbell welcomed the meeting to Bray and also welcomed back the members of St. John-the-Baptist Society, Dublin, into the Association.

Officers elected were:—District chairman, Fred Henly (Drogheda); District Ringing Master, Robert W. Smyth (Drogheda); district treasurer, John F. Fennell (Bray); district secretary, Fred E. Dukes, 26, William Street, Drogheda; vice-president (executive), Samuel J. Evans (Arklow), representatives on executive Miss A. C. Dukes, Messrs. F. Simpson and J. Fennell.

Twelve new members were elected. The next annual meeting is to be held at Drogheda, by invitation, and the interim meeting at Dublin.

The bells of Christ Church, Bray (tenor 29 cwt.), which were recently completely restored by Messrs. Taylor, were kept going most of the day to call changes, Plain Bob and Grandsire. All were agreed that an excellent job had been done.

SS. PETER & PAUL'S, TONBRIDGE

As part of the general restoration of the Parish Church, an order has been placed with Messrs. Mears and Stainbank for repairs to the eight bells originally cast by Messrs. Pack and Chapman in 1774.

The treble, second, third and seventh bells are to be recast and the remainder retuned and hung on ball-bearings in the old wooden frame.

The bells will be removed in June when repairs to the tower begin and it is anticipated that they will be rehung by the New Year.

The total cost of the Church restoration is £6,000, of which some £900 will be spent on the bells. If any reader cares to help, however little, towards raising the necessary funds, the subscription will be gratefully received by the Vicar, Canon Russell B. White, M.A., The Vicarage, Tonbridge, Kent.

WARSOP, NOTTS.—On Palm Sunday, 1,260 Plain Bob Minor: C. Dobb 1, Miss J. Smith 2, Miss D. Marshall 3, D. H. Rooke 4, F. Flint 5, H. T. Rooke (cond.) 6.—Also on Easter Day, 1,320 Minor (600 St. Clement's and 720 Oxford Bob): Miss J. Smith 1, Miss J. Haynes 2, D. H. Rooke 3, D. Chadwick 4, F. Flint 5, H. T. Rooke (cond.) 6.

GUILD of DEVONSHIRE RINGERS

Plans for Festival of Britain

THE annual festival of the Guild, which was held at Newton Abbot on Easter Monday, was favoured with dry weather but despite this agreeable circumstance the attendance was smaller than for several years past. This may have been due partly to the change in date—from Whit Monday—partly to the reluctance of members to climb the steep ascents to the churches of Wolborough and Highweek (even the Combe Martin car which must surely be used to hills jibbed at the idea) but those members who did attend obviously thought that the pleasure of having their Central Councillors among them outweighed all other considerations for Easter Monday was again chosen for 1952.

The service in St. Leonard's Church was noteworthy for the splendid address by the Rector, Canon P. F. Ardagh-Walter. Bell-ringing, he said, was an art, and while the arts of painting, sculpture, music, literature and the rest had their secular as well as their religious uses, ringing was unique in that practically its sole usage was in the service of the Church. Lightly undertaken, it was worship in its truest sense, showing forth the worth-ship of God, and although high proficiency in the art was desirable, it was far more important that ringers should, in their inmost hearts, feel that they were taking part in an act of devotion.

Sixty sat down to a luncheon which (as a Devon farmer once said of his rather stout wife) combined quality with quantity, and the many expressions of appreciation must have warmed the hearts of Messrs. Turner and Bennett, of the Mid-Devon Branch, who were largely responsible for its excellence.

At the subsequent business meeting, Prebendary E. V. Cox, the president, took the chair with his accustomed verve and efficiency. He first voiced the thanks of all present to the Rev. N. F. D. Coleridge, whose duties necessitated his early departure, for playing the organ at the service, saying how fortunate the Guild was to have in its ranks another clerical member of his famous family, and expressing the hope that his career, both as a parson and a ringer, would be long and distinguished.

The president, in a happy speech, then presented Mr. F. C. Smale, who relinquished the office of general secretary last Whitsun after ten years of hard and devoted work in that capacity, with a cheque which had been subscribed for by nearly 400 members. Mr. Smale, who was completely taken by surprise, said in reply how very grateful he was for this expression of goodwill and thanked the president for the help and support he had received from him during his term of office.

MEMBERSHIP OF 585

The annual report showed that although numbers at 585 were down slightly, the certificates issued had increased from 14 in 1948 and 24 in 1949 to 42 in 1950. Congratulations were accorded to the Honiton Cylst band on ringing the first resident peal of Oxford Bob Triples and to the six members of the Aylesbeare Deanery Branch who had scored their first peal of Cambridge Minor. The statement of accounts showed an increase of £9 in the balance in hand but, as the president pointed out, in these inflationary times, it is problematical whether this is indicative of any real improvement in the Guild's financial position.

The meeting next proceeded to decide where to hold the 1952 Festival. The committee's recommendation to visit Barnstaple was not followed up as it transpired that the bells were not in very good order, and Miss B. M. Boyle very persuasively proposed Combe Martin instead. A South Devon member pointed out the distance some would have to travel in order to attend, but this instantly brought forth a Combe Martin retort that they had not missed an annual meeting for 23 years and had probably covered more miles than any other band

LINCOLNSHIRE RECORD BREAKERS

THE above photograph is of the band, in order of ringing, that established the new handbell record of 50 methods of Spliced Major at Burton-on-Stather, Lincolnshire, on March 11th. Brief biographical details are appended.

Mrs. J. Bray, 1-2. Age 48. Has rung 266 peals. Previous records include 100, 102, 104 methods of Spliced Minor on tower bells and 125, the last being 6,480 changes. On handbells, 50, 53, 69, 91 and 105 methods of Minor. Major records are 22, 26, 31, 36, 42, 46 and 50 also on handbells. Has also rung peals 'in hand' from Doubles to Maximus. Mrs. Bray has been ringing for 25 years.

George E. Feirn, 3-4. (Conductor.) Age 36. Has rung 296 peals of which he has conducted 153. In all he has conducted 49 Spliced peals. Previous records are 100, 102, 104 and 125

(6,480 changes) Minor on tower bells; 50, 53, 69, 91 and 105 Minor on handbells. Major records are 22, 26, 31, 36, 42, 46 and 50 also on handbells. All the above records were conducted by Mr. Feirn. The Major methods were also his own method arrangement. Has been ringing 19 years.

Jack Bray, 5-6. Age 50. Has rung 475 peals, conducting 229. Previous records 100, 102, 104 and 125 (6,480 changes) Minor on tower bells; 50, 53, 69, 91 and 105 Minor on handbells. Major records 22, 26, 31, 36, 42, 46 and 50 also on handbells. Mr. Bray has also conducted peals 'in hand' on all numbers from Doubles to Maximus. Has been ringing 30 years.

Philip Barnes, 7-8. Age 28. Has rung 91 peals. Previous records are Major on handbells, 22, 26, 31, 36, 42, 46 and 50 methods. Has been ringing 14 years.

in the Guild in order to do so. The meeting, feeling that the gallant struggle Combe Martin have for so long made in the cause of change ringing in their isolated corner of Devon was worthy of all praise and support, voted solidly in favour of Miss Boyle's motion.

The election of officers then took place and the following were unanimously re-elected for 1951:—President, Prebendary E. V. Cox; general secretary Mr. E. J. Taylor; general treasurer and peal secretary, Mr. A. L. Bennett; hon. auditor, Mr. J. C. Oke.

FESTIVAL ARRANGEMENTS

The secretary then gave the meeting brief particulars of the arrangements made to celebrate the Festival of Britain. Every band of ringers in the Diocese was being asked to ring its bells on Friday, May 4th, at some time between the hours of 7—9 p.m. and a Festival of Britain Ringers' Rally was to be held in Exeter on the following day. The president pointed out that these decisions had been made at a very cordial meeting between representatives both of the Guild and of the Devon Association of (call change) Ringers and expressed the hope that this would lead to a closer fellowship between the two bodies in the future.

In his review of the past year, the president made an eloquent appeal in the cause of progress. He said that whilst the training of beginners was absolutely essential to the future of the Guild, practice nights should not be exclusively devoted to this. He was very concerned at the fact that little or no progress was being made in learning new methods and urged bands not to be content to go on ringing the same old thing year in and year out. A casual glance at 'The Ringing Word' would show what tremendous advances were being made up and down the country, and he felt sure that if only Devon would try to break fresh ground, new interest would be awakened and far fewer recruits would drift away after learning to handle a rope. He specially welcomed to the meeting Mr. G. H. Myers, who had been a member of the Guild for 60 years, and who had been a tower of strength, not only to ringing in Plymouth, but throughout the whole county.

The usual and well-deserved votes of thanks having been duly passed the meeting terminated. Ringing subsequently took place in various towers in the locality before the homeward trek began. In the words of the old song:—

'Some walked and some did run,
Some loitered by the way,
And bound themselves by kisses twelve,
To meet next holiday.'

SUFFOLK PUNCHES

UNKINDLY, perhaps, some people are apt to regard Suffolk as in a backwater of England. But the heritage of the county is so rich with its magnificent flint-work churches and worthies who have graced the arts that contemporary thought on the matter of bells and ringing is worthy of a wider field in the Exercise.

Mr. C. W. Pipe, the general secretary, in his report to the Suffolk Guild, touches on a number of points of common interest. Most Guilds have the problem of the lapsed member who neglects to forward his modest half-crown to the District Secretary. 'The Guild,' writes Mr. Pipe, 'does not function like a Trade Union. There is no closed shop. Every ringer is welcome to a pull with his comrades at any meeting, whether he has paid his subscription or not, and questions are never asked as to whether he is or not a member. A glance at the membership register shows up the erratic member, the "flash in the pan" type who pays one year's subscription and misses three.' We are tempted to ask if this 'go-as-you-please' payment of subscriptions is the prevailing practice among Guilds. In our opinion the crux of lapsed membership is indifference to Sunday ringing. The well-organised tower has no problem. May we commend the practice in the writer's own tower of a small weekly subscription from members with no question of subscriptions not being paid?

Mr. Pipe quite naturally refers to the question of broadcasting and, after deploring the standard of ringing in the Christmas Day broadcast, writes: 'Nothing else that comes from Broadcasting House would have been allowed to proceed as did the Christmas ringing, and it is evident that the B.B.C. are really ignorant of what constitutes good, bad or indifferent bells or striking. From an exhibition such as we received, I hope your minds are thoroughly made up that the time has arrived when action should be taken with the B.B.C. that we and our art should cease to be so grossly misrepresented.' The remedy he suggests is the appointment by the Central Council of a committee to approach the B.B.C. and advise on future ringing broadcasts.

The Suffolk report continues: 'It may be quite safely said that the B.B.C. was not altogether to blame for what was put over the air. Partly at fault were the local companies, who were not fit to handle the job themselves and did not invite reliable strikers. Here is a lesson by which we may all profit when the occasion arrives for Suffolk bells to be broadcast. While a local band whose striking is generally not first class suffices for local ringing, let us hope that they will give way to outside help by inviting the highest class strikers obtainable rather than adopt the attitude of "dog in the manger" as did quite probably happen in the Christmas ringing.'

Calling attention to the restorations carried out during the year at Blythburgh and Brandeston, the report mentions that it is proposed to add two trebles at Bures and Cotton and to restore the six bells at Monewden. Much more restoration is required in the county, where, on the whole, the bells have fallen low in rank compared with other counties. The majority of the heavyweights, once famous for tone and 'go,' have seen their best days, and recasting and rehanging, now so sadly essential, is the only answer. 'Is it fair to the public who have to endure the sound of bells out of tune, and of poor quality, and to the future of our art, when young folk are expected to learn on rough-going bells, that apathy should be so predominant among ringers and certain incumbents? There never was a time when bells of such pureness of tone were cast as those which the bell founders turn out to-day, and nearly all newly-hung bells are a real joy to manipulate. This is, indeed, the golden age of bell-founding and bell-hanging.'

The onus of responsibility in calling attention to neglected bells falls on local ringers. Mr. Pipe counsels: 'Let every ringer who resides in a parish where hangs a ring of neglected bells see to it that those worn stairs and rotten ladders and floors, constituting a real danger to the unwary and the risk of fire due to the rubbish which has accumulated for years, be brought to the notice of the incumbent and churchwardens and duly appear on the agenda at the next Parochial Church Council meeting. A simple report on the actual state of the bells and frame is only a step further in the right direction, and much good can evolve from a little interest and action taken in unringable bells which form one of the 40 cases of neglect and danger in the county.'

MRS. E. K. FLETCHER.

EDITOR: T. W. WHITE.

Outstanding quarterly subscribers are finally reminded that their subscriptions (5s. 6d.) must be paid immediately to Mrs. Fletcher, The White House, Caister-on-Sea, Norfolk.

The Middlesex Association have done something really practical in connection with the forthcoming Festival of Britain. They have compiled from their members a list of addresses offering hospitality to ringers visiting London, which can be obtained from Mr. Ernest C. S. Turner, 73, Braithwaite Gardens, Stanmore, Middlesex. Another useful circular gives a selection of their towers with details of Sunday ringing and practice nights. Visitors are advised to write to tower secretaries beforehand to avoid disappointment in case a quarter peal is in progress.

Sheffield's oldest ringer, Mr. George Holmes, aged 89, died at Blackpool on March 29th.

By ringing the seventh to a peal of Stedman Caters at Worsley, Lancs, Mr. Cecil Raddon has completed the circle of the tower.

The peal at Hoby, Leics, was arranged to enable the local captain, Mr. J. R. Burnham, to ring his first peal.

By ringing the tenor to the peal at Bobbing, Kent, on Saturday, April 7th, Mr. W. May 'completed the circle' in this tower.

Yardley Hastings, Northants, ringers rang 720 Oxford Treble Bob Minor for the christening of the Vicar's grandson on Easter Monday.

The name of Miss F. Wyman was inadvertently omitted from the list of mourners attending the funeral of Mr. Oliver Sippetts at Crawley last week.

Mr. Alan Cattell has now rung peals of Stedman Doubles, Triples, Caters and Cinques. His latest performance was conducting a peal of Doubles on tower bells in which he rang the treble and second.

Godalming Parish Church had its second belfry romance consummated on Easter Monday when Mr. Alan Edwards and Miss Daphne Ward were married. Miss Susan Steer, another local ringer, was a bridesmaid.

BELFRY GOSSIP

The Exercise will extend their condolences to Mr. Harold Cashmore and his celebrated band of handbell ringers. After great concentration and much practice they rang a peal of 12 Spliced Surprise Major methods, a new record in the annals of handbell ringing. A re-check of the composition last week-end revealed that it was false! They are to try again.

Mr. C. Childs, who had been tower captain at Godalming, Surrey, for 54 years, died in St. Luke's Hospital, Guildford, on Monday.

The badge of the Kent County Association was designed by Mr. C. Cullum and not Mr. Fred Cullum, as stated in our report of the annual meeting.

We regret that the peal at Brierley Hill, Staffordshire, on March 31st, was published as Superlative Surprise Major when it should have been London Surprise Major.

Mr. Tony Price was elected, by ballot, Master of the Middlesex Association at its annual meeting last Saturday. He succeeds Mr. C. W. Roberts, to whom a cordial vote of thanks was passed for his services to the Association.

At the annual meeting of the Northern District of the Ladies' Guild at Armley, Leeds, on March 31st, it was suggested that this section of the Guild should be called the Yorkshire District. It was agreed to deal with the matter at a general meeting in July.

Since the first peal in 1923, at Terrington St. John, Norfolk, nearly 50 peals have been rung on the bells. The peal on April 1st was the first in which Mr. Wallace W. Cousins had not taken part. The family was, however, well represented by his nephew, Cyril, who rang his first seven-method peal 'inside,' and by his brother, Claude, who has rung in all except one peal on the bells.

HERTFORD COUNTY ASSOCIATION

Resignation of Mr. W. Ayre

MR. Walter Ayre, who since 1946 has been hon. secretary of the Hertfordshire County Association, tendered his resignation from that office at the annual meeting of the Association at St. Albans on March 31st. His successor is Mr. A. V. Frost, Master at St. Peter's, St. Albans.

The meeting was preceded by evensong at the Abbey where the Dean preached and the Bishop of St. Albans read one of the lessons.

Mr. R. G. Bell, the retiring president, presided at the meeting and after extending a welcome to the company thanked the Association for giving him such a happy year of office.

Apologies were received from the Dean and Mr. H. Cashmore, who was attending a meeting of the Methods Committee.

The meeting confirmed the provisional elections of Mrs. N. O. L. Manchip (Enfield) and D. A. Welch (St. Albans) previous to a peal and elected the following new members:—Miss Joyce Lewis (Hemel Hempstead), Miss A. E. Salter, Mr. P. L. Baycock and Mr. J. G. Hall (North Mymms).

Mr. G. W. Debenham presented the statement of accounts which showed a balance in hand of £50 5s. 2d., compared with £34 1s. 4d. at the beginning of the year. The Association had also a reserve fund of £57 8s. 8d. The Bell Fund had a balance of £38 6s. 3d. and the Benevolent Fund £10 1s. 8d. at the Bank and £55 17s. 6d. on deposit.

FACILITIES OF SIX-BELL TOWERS

The secretary said that would be the last report he would submit to the Association. He regretted to find that so many towers were not affiliated to the Association. Two or three years ago he suggested that meetings should be held at towers not visited for years but he was afraid this suggestion had not been adopted. In some parts of the county the six- and five-bell towers did not seem to attract the attention they should. He felt that many of the members did not know what they were missing.

Their president, Mr. R. G. Bell, had visited every district and had received a warm welcome. He had always left behind, a friendly feeling, words of wisdom and a sense of sincerity of purpose. The district secretaries had, with their usual enthusiasm and determination, held frequent meetings, which had been of great use. Might he suggest to the Northern and Eastern Districts that in their large areas it would easily be possible to hold monthly meetings. To all incumbents who so readily granted permission to hold meetings as well as to attempt peals they gave their grateful thanks. These were privileges they should not abuse and, above all, they should always try to give of their best in respect to striking.

Unfortunately, they had to report the loss of several members, not all prolific peal ringers, but faithful members of the Association and loyal servants of the towers. They were G. Radley, of Broxbourne, ex-president, for some time Eastern District secretary and a faithful servant to his tower and Church; J. Radley, Hertford, one of the old company of both St. Andrew's and All Saints', very regular and sure; Mr. Cross, of Sawbridgeworth; J. J. Allen, Bushey, one of the old band at Bushey, a good sound ringer, regularly at his post; W. Hayes, Flamstead, one who loved good striking and said so, churchwarden, parochial worker, etc.; A. J. Rogers, King's Langley, one of the original band at this tower who rang in the first peal on the bells. To all those who were left to mourn their passing they offered their deep sympathy.

FIFTY-SIX PEALS

From the point of view of peals they had equalled their last year's total of 56, made up of 52 tower bells and 4 handbells. Mr. S. F. Carter was the leading conductor with 15 peals.

Outstanding peals were Grandsire Cinques at the Cathedral, conducted by Mr. B. C. Johnson (ten first peals of Grandsire Cinques, first of Cinques as conductor and first of Grandsire Cinques on tower bells for the Association); Yorkshire Surprise Major at Northchapel giving G. W. Seaman his first peal of Surprise as conductor; Primrose Surprise Major at Redbourne, the first in the method for the Association; Gonville Bob Major at Northchapel, first in the method by the Association by the whole band; Spiced Surprise Major in nine methods at Bushey, conducted by Mr. H. G. Cashmore.

The secretary had rung his 600th peal and also his 300th for the Association. The list included a first peal and a first peal 'inside.' In the near future they hoped to record a peal of Surprise Major in 12 methods, by the remarkable Bushey band under the conductorship of Mr. H. G. Cashmore. He would like to see the peals spread more about the county with more young conductors.

He had been called in to give opinions on the restorations in the Diocese and if he was asked he would be pleased to visit any tower where restorations might be anticipated. Stevenage bells had been augmented to eight. Bengoe eight were to be recast and by the time the report was in print Hemel Hempstead bells would be returning to their tower after tuning, to be rehung in a steel frame. A rehanging of North Mymms bells was pending.

'Finally, to one and all: stick to your local company; support your district secretaries; do not stagnate, but progress, and in the well-known words, "We wish you good luck, in the name of the Lord." Do not think too harshly of one who has always been a nuisance and, I suppose, will continue to be so.'

ARCHDEACONRY OF STAFFORD

Meeting at Willenhall

The quarterly meeting of the Society was held at Willenhall on March 31st, when ringing took place at the Parish Church of St. Giles with its good ring of ten bells. Ringing was temporarily held up owing to a succession of weddings—at one time two brides were sitting outside the church awaiting their turn. As one ringer jocularly remarked, 'The country must be in a worse state than people think when it comes to having to queue for your wedding.' Owing to the unavoidable absence of the Vicar, the Rev. S. B. Ashley, who was away in London, the service was conducted by the Rev. W. T. Sidwell, of the Diocesan Relief Staff. A wealth of spring flowers in the sanctuary and choir added to the beauty of this fine parish church.

After the service an excellent tea was served by the British Restaurant to 60 members and friends in St. Giles' Schools. The lay secretary, Mr. Fred Bennett, announced that he would be circularising all the towers in the Archdeaconry, giving particulars of the suggestions put forward by the committee for the Festival of Britain ringing. A return was then made to the tower for further ringing when all tastes were suitably catered for by the Ringing Master, Mr. Eric Speake.

This report would not be complete without expressing appreciation of the efforts of Mr. C. Wallater and his local band towards the success of the meeting. The next meeting of the Society will be at Rolleston-on-Dove on Saturday, May 19th.

ELECTION OF OFFICERS

Mr. T. G. Southam was unanimously elected president for the ensuing year. In thanking the members he promised to do his best to go round the Districts and attend as many meetings as possible.

Mr. G. W. Debenham was re-elected hon. treasurer. The name of Mr. A. V. Frost was submitted by the general committee for the post of general secretary and his election followed with the unanimous support of the meeting. Mr. Frost promised to do his best 'to liven up' the annual meeting which brought forth a rejoinder from St. Albans colleagues: 'You had better do a bit of "comping" at home.'

Mr. C. S. Sayer was re-elected librarian. Elected to the Central Council were Messrs. H. G. Cashmore, C. W. Woolley, W. Ayre and R. G. Bell.

GRANTS TO TOWERS

Upon the recommendation of the committee, it was decided to vote the sum of five guineas to Bengoe for the restoration of their bells and five guineas to Aldenham, a tower that was damaged by enemy action.

The committee recommended, in regard to the Festival of Britain, that, where possible, peals should be attempted on the opening day of the Festival and that each tower should hold an open day for the public.

The meeting agreed to hold the next annual meeting at St. Albans.

Mr. C. W. Woolley proposed that peals should no longer be written in the peal book and that at the next annual meeting he would bring up the question of discontinuing the peal booking fee.

Mr. Cartmel deplored the suggestion of discontinuance of the peal book. He thought the matter should be considered by the General Committee.

The question was adjourned to the next meeting but the meeting agreed with Mr. Woolley that the peal book should not be written up, pending a decision. The money received, he pointed out, could go towards the printing of the annual report.

Ringling followed on the Abbey bells.

LEEDS AND DISTRICT SOCIETY

All the retiring officers were renominated at the annual nomination meeting of the Society held at Armley on March 31st. Ringing was enjoyed throughout the afternoon.

In the absence of the president, Mr. F. Hutchinson presided at the business meeting. The Vicar and churchwardens were thanked on the proposition of Mr. P. J. Johnson, seconded by Mr. W. Ambler. The Vicar (the Rev. A. D. Walmsley) acknowledged the vote of thanks and was supported by Mr. H. Lofthouse.

New members elected were Miss Joan Mountain and Mr. Ray Manning (Otley). Messrs. H. S. Imeson and A. Booth (Birstall) and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Scholfield (Drighlington).

BARNSELEY & DISTRICT SOCIETY

The March meeting was held at Felkirk a week earlier than the usual date as a farewell meeting to the Vicar (the Rev. Donald Moxon), who is taking up duties at Brighouse. Ringing commenced about 3 p.m. and tea was served in the ancient schoolroom which stands within the churchyard.

The Vicar acted as chairman for the business meeting in the absence of the president, and offered a hearty welcome to all and assured the Society that a similar reception awaited them in his new parish.

Those present reciprocated by wishing the Vicar and Mrs. Moxon every happiness in their new home and thanked them for the cordial welcome given to the Society when it visited Felkirk. Further ringing followed until 8.30 p.m., good use being made of the bells.

SUFFOLK GUILD

Ringine Master's Regret

THE annual meeting of the Suffolk Guild took place at Ipswich on Easter Monday when ringing at the five towers began from an early hour.

The committee met at 11 a.m. and recommended grants of five guineas from the Bell Restoration Fund to Blythburgh, Bures, Cotton, Hartest, Monewden and Tunstall.

A splendid and well-attended service was held at the Church of St. Lawrence, conducted by the Guild clerical secretary, the Rev. C. P. Newell, the lesson being read by Mr. Oliver G. Barnard and the sermon preached by Canon F. Tucker-Harvey, Vicar of St. Clement's. A choir was formed by members of the Guild and the three hymns and psalm were heartily sung by all. The collection for the Bell Restoration Fund amounted to £1 3s. 8d.

A well-filling lunch was enjoyed at Nightingale's Restaurant and at the business meeting which followed, the vice-president, Mr. Charles E. Fisher, gave the honour of chairman to the Rev. Newell. The general secretary, Mr. C. W. Pine, welcomed the visitors, as did also the chairman in a witty speech. Mr. Charles J. Sedgley, Ringine Master, gave his report for the year. There was, he said, a time when Suffolk enjoyed an 8- and 12-bell band second to none in the country but deaths and Anno Domini and the failure to train young recruits had been the cause of the Guild losing its position. The reports of the general secretary and treasurer followed and were adopted. Nine new members were elected and the recommendations of grants to the above churches were seconded and carried.

Mr. Ernest W. Pve proposed that the Central Council representative attending the forthcoming meeting at Chester should ask the Central Council to form a committee to investigate the affairs of the Barron Bell Trust. This was seconded and carried.

The following officers were re-elected:—President and vice-presidents; Mr. C. J. Sedgley, Ringine Master; Mr. C. W. Pine, general secretary and treasurer; the Rev. C. P. Newell, clerical secretary; Mr. J. W. H. Prestner, auditor. Messrs. Derek Woodward, Charles Shemming and Leslie Mills were elected to the committee and Mrs. Sylvia R. E. Pipe elected minutes secretary.

A discussion arose on the ways and means of supplementing the Bell Restoration Fund and Mr. M. A. Fitch proposed a peal levy but obtained no seconder. Mr. Frank L. Fisher proposed the opening of a voluntary fund allowing any person to make a donation, which would be published in the annual report each year. This was seconded and carried unanimously, and donations immediately poured in to the general secretary and treasurer.

The meeting concluded with the usual votes of thanks. Ringing followed until a late hour.

OXFORD DIOCESAN GUILD

Bicester Deanery Branch

The Master of the Guild (the Rev. C. Elliot Wigg) preached at the Guild service conducted by Bishop W. J. Buxton when the Bicester Deanery Branch held its annual meeting at Bicester on April 7th. A company of 57 members and friends attended and tea was provided by members of the Mothers' Union.

Mr. F. Sharpe presided at the business meeting and the branch secretary (Mr. C. H. Kinch) reported that the branch was making steady progress in ringing and obtaining new members. He hoped that all members would endeavour to improve their ringing not only in methods but striking.

Officers elected were:—President, the Rev. C. Cowland Cooper; vice-presidents, the Rev. H. Benson and Mr. F. Sharpe; secretary, Mr. C. H. Kinch; representatives on Guild Committee, Mr. C. Stockley and Mr. W. Baggett.

The sum of £5 was voted to the Canon Cole-ridge Memorial Fund.

BEDFORDSHIRE ASSOCIATION

Special Acknowledgment of Secretary's Good Work

THE annual meeting was held at Bedford on Easter Monday. The bells at St. Paul's and St. Peter's were made available during the day, while the six at Biddenham were open during the morning and the six at Elstow after the business meeting. Attendance was well up to standard with the various belfries always full. By 12.45 p.m. all ringers and friends had assembled in St. Paul's Church for a short service which was conducted by the Rev. Hart.

The lunch which followed was provided by Mr. Foskett and his band of helpers, and was arranged in St. John's Hall. Thirty-five names only were received, but the number expecting a meal was over 50.

Miss Steel, the president, before opening the business meeting, arranged for the visiting ringers to return to St. Paul's tower for further ringing. Apologies for absence were read from Canon Rust, Mr. A. King and Mr. H. B. Whitney.

In the matters arising from the reading of the minutes of the last annual meeting the president explained that the new Association badge was now on sale to members, price 3s. 6d., and that last year's Summer Festival had to be transferred to Biggleswade because the re-hanging of Maulden bells had taken longer than expected. The annual report, the committee's report and the balance sheet were adopted with satisfaction expressed at the increased balance in hand.

Miss Steel was, without opposition, re-elected president. Before the vice-presidents were re-elected the secretary spoke of the passing of Mr. Joe Nicholls, of Leighton Buzzard, and the pioneer work he had done in the district. Two new vice-presidents were then elected—Mr. L. H. Bywaters, of Henlow, and Mr. P. Inskip, of Kempston.

In proposing the re-election of the secretary, Mr. A. E. Sharman thanked Mr. Plummer for his good work and asked that a special record should be made in the minutes to this effect. Mr. Mason, the auditor, and Mr. Foskett, the librarian, were also re-elected. Mr. A. Sinfield and Mr. H. Harding were again asked to represent the Association on the Central Council.

Bedford was chosen for the 1952 annual meeting while the Summer Festival was arranged for Cardington with Turvey as an alternative. A resolution from the committee that only the names of life members elected during the year would be printed in the annual reports of the future was carried, after discussion.

RECOGNITION OF FIRST PEALS

Mr. Foskett next followed with a proposal to provide a special certificate for ringers securing their first peal. A general discussion followed and it was agreed that all members ringing their first peal would be specially listed in the annual report.

Ringing for the Festival of Britain was not a popular item for discussion and it was left to the local ringers to organise special ringing if they so desired.

Mr. M. Hooten, of Simpson, was elected a life member and Mr. R. Dunkley and Mr. W. Tabbett as performing members.

The president then closed the meeting with votes of thanks to Mr. Foskett and his helpers for providing the lunch, to the Vicar of St. Paul's for arranging the service and to Mr. Lockey for playing the organ.

CORRECTION TO CENTRAL COUNCIL AGENDA

Will members please note the following correction in the Central Council Agenda:—

(f) Towers and Belfries.

The following retire and are eligible for re-appointment if still members of the Council:—Messrs. E. H. Lewis, W. Osborn, F. Sharpe and E. Alex Young.

DERBYSHIRE ASSOCIATION

Mr. Lancaster Resigns Secretaryship

IN spite of freak thunderstorms there was an exceptionally good attendance at the annual meeting of the Derbyshire Association held in Derby on March 31st. In response to a general desire from members, the bells of St. Andrew's (10) were available during the morning and during the afternoon and evening ringing was in progress simultaneously at the Cathedral (10) and St. Peter's (8).

A short service in the Cathedral was conducted by the Provost, Bishop O'Ferrall.

More than 80 members and visitors enjoyed a very good tea at the St. Peter's Parochial Hall, which was followed by the annual meeting at which the chairman was the Association's president, Bishop O'Ferrall.

The general secretary (Mr. W. Lancaster) made reference to the fact that the president had just reached his silver jubilee as a Bishop and said that all members would wish to offer him their congratulations. The presence of the Vicar of Melbourne (after a serious illness) and several stalwarts of the old Midland Counties Association was noted with pleasure. The president suitably replied.

Mr. Lancaster had indicated that he did not wish to offer himself for re-election as general secretary and Mr. A. B. Cooper, of Bolsover, was unanimously elected to fill the vacancy. The president and Mr. T. Bailey paid tribute to the excellent work which Mr. Lancaster had done in building up the Association to its present strength and a formal resolution was passed with acclamation. The president, Bishop O'Ferrall and one trustee, Mr. Francis Lowe, were re-elected.

For the first time in the history of the Association, a ballot was necessary for the election of two Central Council representatives, and Mr. Alfred Mould and Mr. Dennis Carlisle were successful. Mr. Gordon Briggs was thanked for his services in this connection in previous years.

In the report on the activities in 1950, reference was made to the increased number of peals, 67, which had been rung during the year and the fact that there had been 17 different conductors showed considerable progress in this connection.

The new secretary (Mr. Carlisle) paid tribute to Mr. Gordon Briggs for the number of peals he had arranged and successfully conducted during the year. The treasurer (Mr. Fletcher) warned members that the increased annual subscription was not likely to bring in sufficient funds to meet rising expenses and suggested that special efforts should be made to increase the number of active members.

A discussion took place on plans for ringing during the Festival of Britain and it was unanimously agreed to accept the committee's recommendation that as many peals as possible should be attempted on May 4th and 5th and, where possible, quarter peals should be arranged for Sunday service ringing on May 6th. Members who wished to take part in peals should notify district secretaries accordingly.

A hearty vote of thanks was accorded to the incumbents of the churches where, as usual, the bells had been made readily available and to the ladies at St. Peter's, who had provided the tea.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

ST. MARY REDCLIFFE

Dear Sir,—In connection with my recent article on 'The Bells of St. Mary Redcliffe,' Mr. C. J. Matthews has written me pointing out that his late father, Mr. John D. Matthews, took part in a peal of Plain Bob Maximus which was rung in the tower on January 1st, 1901. On investigation I find that this is correct, therefore my statement that Grandsire Cinques was the first 12-bell peal is incorrect. I regret the error, the date of the Plain Bob Maximus having inadvertently been given me as being rung in 1902. May I also point out two other inaccuracies. Bells 8 and 12 do not bear the date of 1622, as stated, but were either cast or recast by Thomas Bilbie in 1763. In the list of peals I am credited with having conducted 14 peals, the correct figure being 4.—Yours faithfully, St. Albans. DONALD G. CLIFT.

Dear Sir,—I found Mr. Donald Clift's article on St. Mary Redcliffe, Bristol, very interesting, but I venture to write to point out that the peal of 1901 was not, apparently, the first 12-bell peal.

On December 31st, 1899, a peal of Stedman Cinques was rung at Redcliffe, the peal commencing on New Year's Eve at 9.3 p.m. and coming into rounds at 12.30 a.m. on New Year's Day, 1900. The composition, 5007, was by Henry Johnson, and was conducted by Henry Porch. The band also contained such famous names as William A. Cave, James Hinton and George Daltry. The tenor was rung by two men, one of whom took over from the other. The peal is recorded as the first peal of Cinques on the bells.

Out of this peal two controversies arose. In the first place, 'Plain Sneaker,' that entertaining and not always tactful contributor to 'The Bell News,' commented on the fact that the tenor was rung by two men and inferred from that that the bell did not go well. William Cave replied to the point that the going of the bell had little to do with the matter, the reason for the arrangement being that one of the men had recently been ill and that it was thought better that he should not have the bell for the whole length.

The second controversy was more serious. A letter appeared from a certain 'W.R.' expressing the opinion that the peal could not have been rung in the time given, 3 hours and 28 minutes. 'W.R.' who was afterwards assumed to be William Rought of Ipswich, was answered by Fred G. May and later by George Daltry. Edward P. O'Meara of London, also joined in, and a lively debate ensued. Daltry's second letter, in which he gives his views on the swing of heavy bells and the time taken by peals on 8, 10 and 12 makes interesting and instructive reading. Anyone interested in this correspondence will find it in 'The Bell News,' January 6th, 1900 and the following numbers.

At the time referred to everyone gives the weight of Redcliffe tenor as 50 cwt. (except Mr. O'Meara who gives 48 cwt.). Mr. Clift may therefore like to verify this and also to confirm that Taylor of Loughborough did between 1888 and 1898 actually do the repair work 'arranged to be carried out'.—Yours faithfully, EDGAR C. SHEPHERD.

Solihull.

HELLINGLY OUTING

Hellinely (Surrey) ringers enjoyed a special outing on Easter Monday. Towers visited were Aldrington (recently rehving six), West Tarring (with its mighty climb), Heene, Anmering, Iyminster (one of the gems of the day), Arundel (one of the finest sights for their weight), Felpham (the lone draught did not help striking), Walberton (with its quaint wooden spirelet bell-fry), Storrington, Thakeham (a joy ring), Washington (probably the best six in Sussex) and Steyning. Thanks are expressed especially Mr. Len Stillwell, who arranged the towers and tea.

INTEGRITY OF CONDUCTORS

Dear Sir,—I notice that in the footnote to the 5088 Spliced Cambridge, Superlative, Yorkshire and Pudsey Surprise Major, arranged by Mr. E. A. Barnett, it is suggested that anyone attempting the peal should have an umpire. The reason given is that all the methods produce the same lead head and, presumably, this implies that the methods could be interchanged by an error in calling and whilst, if the bobs were called correctly, the peal would come round, it would in fact be false.

In some other compositions of Spliced Surprise Major, particularly those by Mr. A. J. Pitman, in which the bells ring all the work of all the methods, it is possible to effect a similar interchange of methods by a miscall but, although these compositions have been rung several times, it has not been thought necessary that the peals should be umpired and I do not think that an umpire will be necessary when Mr. Barnett's composition is rung.

I think that it is desirable that certain record peals should be umpired but I believe that, generally speaking, the integrity of conductors capable of calling a composition of the calibre of those under discussion is sufficient to ensure that such a composition is called and rung properly.—Yours faithfully,

JOHN FREEMAN.

Wellingore Hall,
Near Lincoln.

FORM OF SERVICE

Dear Sir,—Norwich and Guildford Diocesan Guilds are considering the revision of their form of service at ringers' meetings, in order to devise a form with a larger selection of specifically ringers' hymns (as distinct from hymns which are to be found, if required, in the ordinary hymn book) and to provide a service which shall most fittingly lead our minds to God. We feel that other Guilds may like to join with us, both by giving the benefit of their kind advice (several have already done so), and by sharing the advantage of getting a new service book. We should be most grateful therefore if the secretaries of any Guilds who care to do so and have not done so already, would be kind enough to send copies of their service forms to either of the undersigned.—Yours faithfully,

G. S. JOYCE, 130, Shio Lane.
Farnborough, Hants.
GILBERT THURLOW, 3, Colegate, Norwich.

LENT

Dear Sir.—The reference in your leading article with regard to the attitude of the Bath and Wells Association towards peal ringing during Lent and your own reference to the Bishop of Willesden's conscience allowing him to umpire the Boat Race on Holy Saturday, has reminded me of the first two rectors of Crayford that I remember.

The first, a fine man, although perhaps rather autocratic, and one to whom I shall always be indebted for his teachings (incidentally his son has been a Residentiary Canon of Wells Cathedral for many years) would not allow the bells to be rung on Lent Sundays under any circumstances but he never made the slightest objection to practice nights and peal attempts during that period.

The second, also a fine man, of a somewhat gentler type, always gave up smoking during Lent but if one went into his study on Sundays while he was there you would find him smoking like a factory chimney.

He said there were 40 days in Lent excluding the Sundays, therefore they did not come into it.—Yours etc.,

E. BARNETT.

Crayford, Kent.

DEVON MEN'S PEAL IN LONDON

Dear Sir,—I was very interested to see recalled in 'The Ringing World' of March 30th a peal in which I took part 50 years ago at Putney, but was a little startled to read that the only survivors were Messrs. Shepherd and Wilson, which makes me well and truly defunct. As I ring regularly at our weekly practice and twice on Sundays, you will see that your information was slightly inaccurate, but it is one of those little errors that one likes to see corrected—better say 'He's dead but he won't lie down'.—Yours faithfully,

E. H. OXENHAM.
Bampton, Devon.

Dear Sir,—It was a surprise to read that Mr. L. A. Wilson and myself are the only survivors who took part in the Devonian peal in London on November 25th, 1901, but Mr. Wilson will be pleased to hear that two other members of the band are still with us, viz., Mr. E. H. Oxenham and my brother, Mr. F. J. Shepherd, who conducted the peal. Probably Mr. Wilson confused the death of my father, Ferris Shepherd, with my brother, Ferris J. Shepherd now at Brighton, who is debarred from ringing for health reasons.

I do not know of any other peals by an all-Devon band in London but the nearest approach is a peal on February 11th, 1910, at Hersham, Surrey, when a handbell peal of Grandsire Triples was rung by four Shepherds, the first handbell peal by the Devon Guild.—Yours sincerely,

WILLIAM SHEPHERD.
Addlestone, Surrey.

IN WHICH CENTURY?

Dear Sir,—Mr. Arthur Davis does not see why peals rung in 1900 should be considered as rung in the last century, as indeed they certainly were.

The example Mr. Davis gives does not prove his contention. His example is of a person who was born on the first day of the last year of the 18th century and so has his 100th birthday on the first day of the last year of the 19th.

Mr. Davis is wrong when he thinks we must accept a year 0 A.D. and 0 B.C. There was, of course, a zero hour, viz., the time of our Lord's birth but from the hour of his birth he started the first year of his life, as all infants do, not the 0th, and so at the end, not the beginning, he completed the first year of his life. So 1900 years are not completed until the end of 1900 (31st December).

It might help Mr. Davis if I suggest that a good example would be a book containing 100 full pages of some 365 words per page. If he read such a book he would not complete it when he reads the first word on page 100, but the last, similarly the 19th century was not completed until the last day, viz., December 31st, 1900.

So those who wished each other a happy new century at midnight on December 31st, 1899, were not correct. 1899 years A.D. had been completed, not 1900. I well remember January 1st 1901 as being the beginning of a new (20th) century.

If I have not made the point clear to Mr. Davis, I suggest he has a look at an Historical Time Chart.—Yours faithfully

H. V. W. HARRIS,
(Member of St. Peter's, Bournemouth, Ringers, 1909–1920).

SURREY ASSOCIATION

North-Western District

A discussion took place at the meeting at Kingston-on-Thames on Easter Monday, attended by 50 members, on bell broadcasting. The general feeling was that Triples or Caters were preferable to Major or Royal and 12 bells were not suitable as a general broadcast to the public.

Among those who took part in the discussion were Mr. W. Hewett and Mr. P. Cannon. Five ringing members were elected and a collection for the Bell Fund produced £1 2s. 3d. Mr. F. E. Collins presided.

C. O. Ellison, Yorkshire; and Messrs. C. Dean, T. Groombridge and A. Walker, hon. members.

PRESENTATION OF NEW MEMBERS TO THE PRESIDENT

The following new members were presented: the Rev. J. Kingdon, Chester Guild; Messrs. W. H. Coles, F. A. Finch and F. W. Goodfellow, Middlesex; Inspector T. R. Butler, Police Guild; Mr. F. E. Haynes, St. Martin's Guild; Messrs. P. N. Bond and F. E. Hawthorne, Royal Cumberland Youths; Mr. C. H. Kippin, Winchester and Portsmouth; and Mr. W. H. Viggers, hon. member.

The President extended a very cordial welcome to the new representatives of the Middlesex Association and expressed regret that the representatives sent to York the previous year had a fruitless journey.

ELECTION OF HONORARY MEMBERS

The retiring member, Mr. W. Osborn, together with Mr. F. I. Hairs and Mr. C. K. Lewis, were elected on the proposal of Mr. P. J. Johnson, seconded by Mr. F. Dallaway.

LOSS OF MEMBERS THROUGH DEATH

The members stood in silence as the President formally reported the death of the following: Canon G. F. Coleridge, C. F. Johnston, G. W. Steere, the Rev. H. E. Tilney Bassett, Mrs. N. Edwards, J. Morgan and W. Andrews.

MINUTES OF THE LAST MEETING

On the proposal of Mr. G. W. Fletcher, seconded by Mr. F. I. Hairs, the minutes published in the 'Ringing World' on May 5th were taken as read and approved.

REPORTS

The various reports and accounts as presented have been published as indicated and are preserved in the Council's records.

REPORT OF HON. LIBRARIAN

Adopted on the proposal of Mr. W. H. J. Hooton, seconded by Mr. W. Ayre. Permission was given for duplicate books to be distributed to the libraries of affiliated Societies.

GENERAL ACCOUNTS

Adopted on the proposal of Mr. G. W. Fletcher, seconded by Mr. A. A. Hughes, who also reported as auditor.

REPORT OF THE TRUSTEES OF THE CARTER RINGING MACHINE

The Trustees' report was adopted on the proposal of Mr. A. A. Hughes, seconded by Mr. F. I. Hairs. Grateful thanks were expressed to Mr. D. Hughes and Mr. B. Price for their work on the reconstruction of the machine.

REPORT OF THE STANDING COMMITTEE.

The Hon. Secretary reported that this Committee had received and circulated the reports received from the sub-committees dealing with Rules, Decisions and the Roll of Honour and recommended that these reports be considered.

The Committee had also made recommendations on matters arising in the Agenda.

The adoption of the report was seconded by Mr. A. A. Hughes and carried.

REPORT OF THE RULES COMMITTEE

The sub-committee, through Mr. G. E. Debenham, presented its report together with its proposals which had been revised since the previous meeting. The Council considered each proposed rule separately and finally adopted the Rules shown in the attached schedule.

On the motion of Mr. A. A. Hughes, seconded by the Rev. K. W. H. Felstead, it was resolved that the new rules operate from the close of the meeting.

The thanks of the Council to Mr. G. E. Debenham were expressed by Mr. R. S. Anderson.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE APPOINTED TO CONSIDER DECISIONS OF THE COUNCIL

The Report and schedule to the Report were presented by Mr. J. F. Smallwood.

The Standing Committee recommended that members be asked to consider the schedule and to send their observations to the Committee as soon as possible so that final conclusions can be presented as motions at the next meeting or as soon as convenient.

THE CENTRAL COUNCIL—Cont.

The Report and recommendation were adopted on the proposal of Mr. J. F. Smallwood, seconded by Mr. P. J. Johnson, and the Council also approved the appointment to the Committee of Mr. F. W. Perrins, Dr. E. S. J. Hatcher and Mr. C. W. Roberts.

ROLL OF HONOUR

Mr. H. Miles presented an interim report, the adoption of which was seconded by Mr. F. I. Hairs and carried. To assist the completion of the Roll, members were asked to enquire of their Associations if particulars had been furnished.

REPORT OF THE PEAL COLLECTION COMMITTEE

('Ringing World,' No. 2,044, June 9th, 1950, page 363.)

Adopted on the motion of Mr. H. G. Cashmore, seconded by Mr. E. A. Barnett.

REPORT OF THE METHODS COMMITTEE

Together with their report the Committee presented an interim report on Extension of Even Bell Methods to higher even numbers.

The reports were adopted on the proposal of the Rev. K. W. H. Felstead, seconded by Mr. F. W. Rogers, and it was agreed—

That further consideration be given to the publication of the Surprise Method Book and that, as requested by the Committee, approval be given to the following departures from previous decisions to apply to Doubles Methods only:

(a) The working bells need not be in the same coursing order at each lead head and end in the plain course.

(b) No bell shall strike more than four consecutive blows in any one place, usually in 5ths place when the treble leads in a 2nds place method, or at the lead in the reverse of such a method, or, if found to be necessary, at other times also.

REPORT OF THE PEAL ANALYSIS COMMITTEE

('Ringing World,' No. 2,045, June 16th, 1950, page 378.)

Adopted on the proposal of Mr. W. Ayre, seconded by Mr. W. H. J. Hooton.

It was agreed that a peal of Doubles with a treble leading continuously be not included and that a peal of Cambridge Surprise Major with a sixth place bob be recorded as Cambridge. It was also decided to add Mr. H. Miles to this Committee.

REPORT OF THE RECORDS COMMITTEE

Adopted on the proposal of Mrs. E. K. Fletcher, seconded by Mrs. L. K. Marshall.

REPORT OF THE TOWERS AND BELFRIES COMMITTEE

Mr. E. H. Lewis reported verbally. The adoption was seconded by Mr. F. Sharpe and carried.

REPORT OF THE LITERATURE, PRESS AND BROADCASTING COMMITTEE

Adopted on the proposal of the Rev. F. L. Edwards, seconded by Mr. J. F. Smallwood.

REPORT OF THE PEAL BOARDS COMMITTEE

Mr. W. Ayre reported verbally. The adoption was seconded by the Rev. K. W. H. Felstead and carried.

REPORT OF BIOGRAPHIES COMMITTEE

('Ringing World,' No. 2,045, June 16th, 1950, page 378.)

Adopted on the proposal of Mr. A. C. Hazelden, seconded by Mr. W. H. Viggers.

REPORT OF 'THE RINGING WORLD' COMMITTEE

('Ringing World,' No. 2,045, June 16th, 1950, page 379.)

Adopted on the proposal of Mr. G. W. Fletcher, seconded by Mr. A. A. Hughes.

MOTIONS

It was proposed by Dr. E. S. J. Hatcher, seconded by Mr. G. H. Spice and carried: 'That this Council through an appropriate Committee and by liaison with the organisers should determine the nature of the part to be played by the Ringing Exercise in the Festival of Britain.'

It was also agreed on the recommendation of the Standing Committee that Dr. E. S. J. Hatch and Mr. G. H. Spice be appointed to a sub-committee, with power to co-opt, to consider this matter and report to the Standing Committee.

It was proposed by Mr. H. J. Poole, seconded by Mr. A. Ballard and carried: 'That unanimous decisions of the Methods Committee shall at once be published in "The Ringing World" and shall be submitted to the next meeting of the Council for confirmation.'

Arising from this resolution the Council, on the proposal of Mr. H. J. Poole, agreed to consider a decision of the Methods Committee which had been omitted from its Report and it was proposed by the Rev. K. W. H. Felstead, seconded by Mr. C. H. Kippin and resolved: 'That the method called Steadfast was no different from Shipway's principle of 150 years ago.'

PLACE OF NEXT MEETING

The Council decided to accept an invitation to visit Chester, on the proposal of Mr. F. Sharpe, seconded by Inspector T. R. Butler. The Council was assured of a warm welcome by Mr. J. W. Clarke, Master of the Chester Guild.

MEMORIAL TO CANON COLERIDGE

On the proposal of the President, seconded by Mr. H. Miles, the Council agreed to donate the sum of £50 to the bell restoration at Christ Church, Oxford, promoted by the Oxford Diocesan Guild.

VOTES OF THANKS

On the President's motion, grateful thanks were expressed to the Mayor and Corporation for the use of the Hall, for hospitality and privileges granted to members, to the Bishop of Lewes for his attendance and welcome, to the Vicar of Eastbourne for arranging a corporate Communion service, to the Sussex County Association and its committee, Mr. F. I. Hairs, Mr. P. H. Rollison, Mr. R. G. Blackman and Mr. F. H. Dallaway for arrangements.

It was also decided to send a letter to Mr. O. Sippetts regretting his illness and a wish for a speedy return to health.

Thanks were also recorded to all incumbents for the use of bells and to tower-keepers.

The President also proposed a vote of thanks to the Hon. Secretary and Mrs. Fletcher.

Thanks to the President, officers and members of committees for their work during the past year were expressed by Mr. W. H. Rogers.

After the meeting the Mayor and Mayoress, supported by many aldermen and councillors, received the members and friends at the Winter Gardens, where they were entertained to tea as guests of the Eastbourne Corporation.

A social evening was later held in the Town Hall.

HALIFAX AND DISTRICT ASSOCIATION

The quarterly meeting and six-bell contest were held at Thornhill, Dewsbury, on March 31st, and resulted as follows, after each team had rung three leads practice and 504 changes test piece, any method:—Friezland 0 penalties, 47 faults, total 47; Shelley 5, 120, 125; Silkstone, 5, 30, 35; Liversedge, 0, 41, 41; Meltham, 5, 36, 41; Lindley, 15, 85, 100; Cawthorne, 0, 105, 105.

Silkstone were thus adjudicated the winners of the Association's Silver Cup. This is the first time they have won the trophy.

SIXTY YEARS A RINGER

Winchester Honours Mr. W. C. Lampard

On Easter Saturday the bellringers of Winchester Cathedral rang a quarter peal of Grandsire Caters in honour of the captain's (Mr. W. C. Lampard) 60th anniversary as a ringer at the Cathedral. Later, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Lampard invited the ringers to a tea in Fuller's Café where great appreciation of Mr. Lampard was expressed by various speakers.

This was carried a stage further on Sunday, April 8th, when, amongst other local dignitaries, the Mayor and Mayoress assembled in the belfry together with the local band and Canon Cowley—representing the Dean and Chapter—to present Mr. Lampard with a wrist watch inscribed 'To Mr. W. C. Lampard, 60 years a bellringer in Winchester Cathedral. From his fellow-ringers and friends. Easter, 1951.'

Canon Cowley, in asking the Mayor (Councillor S. R. Evans) to make the presentation, spoke of his great affection for and appreciation of Mr. Lampard.

The Mayor in replying, thanked the ringers for his invitation which, he said, was an honour and a privilege. He further continued that 60 years as a ringer at the Cathedral was a record of which Mr. Lampard could be justly proud.

Amid applause, the Mayor then made the presentation to Mr. Lampard, who was deeply moved by this show of affection.

Mr. Lampard replied that no words of his could say how he felt. It was a pleasure to ring the bells with such an enthusiastic team. He recalled that 50 years ago the band had been called to the Cathedral by the tolling of the tenor at the death of Queen Victoria when the bells were rung fully muffled. Never before or since had they been rung fully muffled and he considered that the bells had never sounded so majestic as then. Since then he had rung for several accessions.

Mr. Lampard first took up bellringing under his father, Mr. W. S. Lampard, who was in charge of the St. Lawrence bells. He first joined the Cathedral band as a 'strapper' (supernumerary) under Mr. W. Masters.

Some time later, Mr. Lampard, with some friends, rang the extent of changes on four bells. This was the first time changes had been rung on the Cathedral bells.

Mr. Lampard then ended by saying that he hoped to carry on as long as possible and expressed his deepest thanks to all.

Mr. E. G. Lampard, replying, thanked Canon Cowley for his interest in bells and expressed the hope that Canon Cowley would one day become a ringer. He finally thanked all who had subscribed to make the presentation possible and also Mr. T. Parrott, who had arranged the presentation.

Canon Cowley then closed by saying the Ringers' Prayer and the band rang a plain course of Grandsire Cinques for the benefit of the visitors.

YORKSHIRE ASSOCIATION

Western Division at Upper Armley

The annual meeting was held jointly with the Leeds and District Society and the Northern Division of the Ladies' Guild on March 31st when about 40 members were present from a wide area.

Ringing continued in a variety of methods until tea time and the Armley company are to be congratulated for the catering arrangements and thanks were accorded to the anonymous donor who subsidised the meal.

Mr. P. J. Johnson was re-elected vice-president and Messrs. H. Armitage, Wm. Dixon and Miss P. M. Barton were re-elected to the District Committee with H. Armitage retaining his seat on the general committee. Mr. E. H. Simpson was elected to the vacancy caused by the resignation of Mr. J. Hardcastle. It was hoped that suitable arrangements could be made to hold the June meeting at Tadcaster.

OBITUARY

MR. OLIVER SIPPETTS

By the death of Mr. Oliver Sippetts, of Crawley, Sussex, the Exercise in general and the Sussex County Association in particular have lost one of their oldest members.

Mr. Sippetts, who would have been 61 next month, learned to ring at the age of 11 and a year later made the first of 14 attempts for his first peal, which was finally accomplished in 1905. Two years later, his third peal was his father's first. Making good progress thereafter, he rang many peals up to the outbreak of war in 1914, under the conductorship of another celebrated ringer, Keith Hart, ringing his 50th peal in 1912 and his 100th the following year. A few years after the war he began the work for which he most deserves to be remembered. The band at Crawley which had been so prominent in the days of James Parker, had become practically non-existent and a new band was formed and taught by Mr. Sippetts. Under his leadership the band progressed through the standard methods; in 1930 they rang Bristol at the first attempt, the first in the method by all except himself and then, on April 20th 1932, they accomplished the first peal of Spliced London, Bristol, Cambridge and Superlative Surprise Major by a local band, again the first by all except Mr. Sippetts, who had in 1927 taken part in the first of such peals ever rung.

Up to the outbreak of the 1939 war a steady stream of peals followed, mostly in advanced methods, although, as will be seen from his peal list, he did not scorn the simple ones. His favourite method was London, of which he rang over 90 peals, and he stood in several attempts for a 14.144 of this method one which he was calling, ending after over 9,000 changes had been rung.

Mr. Sippetts was a splendid striker and a fine method ringer and conductor, one who demanded a high standard from his band for he would not tolerate slovenly ringing. Outside the belfry however, he was a most genial companion and he will be greatly missed. He had been treasurer of the Sussex Association for seven years and was also a Central Council representative and Ringing Master of the Northern Branch. Altogether he had rung 835 peals, of which he conducted 427; 191 were rung at St. John-the-Baptist, Crawley, 61 at St. Peter's, Brighton, and 44 at Warnham. His complete list is as follows:—

Total 835; conducted 427.

MR. CHARLES TURNER

Whilst on his way to practice at St. Mary-the-Virgin, Dover, on April 4th, Mr. Charles Turner, captain of the local band, dropped dead in the street. He was in his 71st year.

'Old Charlie,' as he was affectionately known throughout the Canterbury District, had rung at St. Mary's for 50 years. Always reliable, both as man and ringer, he was as unsparing as he was unselfish in his efforts for the Church and Exercise.

The Vicar (the Rev. Stanley Cooper) conducted the funeral service at the church which was attended by the churchwardens, members of the local band and also Messrs. B. J. Luck, F. Rye, T. Anderson, F. Saywell, H. R. French, T. W. Robinson, J. Willis, Firminger, J. Benfield, W. Evers and F. Whittaker. A course of Grandsire Triples was rung at the graveside by members of the local band.

In the evening the bells of St. Mary's were rung half-muffled to 1,260 Grandsire Triples by Mrs. George I. H. J. Saunders 2, C. George (conductor) 3, E. Walker 4, T. Ellender 5, F. Dennis 6, F. Rye 7 and T. Anderson 8.

MR. SYDNEY DAWSON

For 35 years steeple-keeper of Duffield Church, Derbyshire, Mr. Sydney Dawson died on April 1st at the age of 73 years. The funeral service was held in Duffield Church on April 5th and afterwards touches of Grandsire Triples, with the bells muffled, were rung by the Duffield ringers.

MR. DAN MEADLEY

The members of the Eastern District of the Yorkshire Association will learn with regret of the passing of Mr. Dan Meadley at the age of 69 years, after a long illness. He was always popular at meetings of the Association and also at the Beverley and District meetings. He had a very keen sense of humour and will be missed by both Societies in East Yorkshire.

He was formerly attached to St. James' and All Saints' Churches in Hull but of late years, since both these rings are out of order, he had been a regular ringer at Holy Trinity, Hull.

A quarter peal of Grandsire Caters was rung half muffled to his memory on the bells of St. Mary's, Beverley.

BEVERLEY & DISTRICT SOCIETY

The meeting for March was held in Hull at the towers of St. Mary and Holy Trinity.

At St. Mary's, Lowgate, the ringers had the unique experience of ringing on the terraced steps of the church gallery. In order to reduce noise in the ringing chamber the ropes have been lowered to the next stage in the tower. The noise abatement is a success, but the local ringers are faced with a problem of levelling the new floor and putting up a barrier to stop ringers falling into the church below.

Standard methods were rung after ringers of three and four had become accustomed to looking up for treble and five, and right up for the tenor.

The service was held in the beautiful Perpendicular Church of St. Mary conducted by the Vicar, the Rev. J. Carroll. This is the first time the Society had held its service in this church and to mark the occasion the choir led the singing.

In his sermon the Vicar spoke of his ancient church older than its architecture implies, which had had a ring of bells for 200 years. He paid compliment to his ringers for their unselfish labours and to the brotherly co-operation which existed between the two ringing towers in the city.

The tea and meeting were held in the Y.P.I. and then the bells of Holy Trinity were rung until 9 p.m. in methods up to Cambridge Major.

A pair of leather gloves was left at St. Mary Quay Church, Ipswich, after the Suffolk Guild annual meeting. Will the owner apply to Mr. M. Page, 85, Hervey Street, Ipswich.

RINGERS AND THE FESTIVAL OF BRITAIN

BY appointing a Festival Sub-Committee, the Central Council recognised both its responsibility and opportunity for giving a lead to the Exercise, and last November our report was submitted to the Standing Committee. Now, over five months later, and only a few days before the Festival opens, an announcement from the Council is still awaited. In these circumstances we feel the necessity of issuing a statement in order that ringers should enjoy some measure of guidance before the historic moment of May 3rd passes.

OPENING THE FESTIVAL

Subsequent to writing our report the Festival authorities approached us to convey a request from the Director-General, Mr. Gerald Barry, that all the bells of Britain should ring out at the opening. This is on Ascension Day, Thursday, May 3rd, when His Majesty the King broadcasts from the steps of St. Paul's Cathedral at the close of a great service at noon. As the King ends his message the bells of St. Paul's, and of cathedrals and churches throughout the land, will herald the inauguration of the Festival, and the co-operation of you all is invited in order that, as ringers, we shall fulfil this honoured role with distinction. Where it is not possible to do so in the early afternoon it is suggested that evening ringing would be appropriate; while throughout the opening week-end of the Festival it is hoped there will be much general ringing, as well as many peals and quarter peals, to celebrate in the traditional manner of our Exercise.

AT THE FESTIVAL CHURCH

The main opportunity of ringing at St. John's, Waterloo Road, will be on weekdays from 3.30 to 4.30 p.m. prior to the afternoon service, and on certain days from 7 to 8 p.m. before the evening service. In order to attempt some degree of organisation invitations are extended as follows :—

(1) To ringers in the London area who would be prepared to form a pool from which to draw personnel as required.

(2) To bands of ringers prepared to undertake the complete manning of the bells on specific days (possibly in conjunction with visiting choirs singing at afternoon services).

(3) To individual ringers visiting the Festival from the provinces.

Please write with all relevant particulars to :—

The Festival Committee, c/o Dr. E. S. J. Hatcher, Kimmeridge, Ditton, Maidstone, Kent.

There will be two peal attempts only at St. John's during the Festival period, the first on May 3rd.

RINGING IN LONDON

We commend with pleasure the initiative of the Middlesex Association in compiling a list of members offering hospitality to ringers visiting London for the Festival, as well as providing details of Sunday ringing and practice nights at a selection of their affiliated towers. Full information can be obtained from the Association's General Secretary, Mr. E. C. S. Turner, 73, Braithwaite Gardens, Stanmore, Middlesex.

COUNTRYWIDE FESTIVAL

The publication of the Festival Report in 'The Ringing World' on December 29th enabled the Exercise to know the outcome of the Committee's deliberations, and its members have been much encouraged by the warmth of its reception. One expression of this is the mounting evidence of widespread local activity to celebrate the Festival. It is indeed true to say that we, as ringers, have caught the spirit of the Festival. Nevertheless, it will only be in the future that we shall begin to appreciate the underlying worth of this national venture to put the whole of our way of life on show in our Festival of Britain.

Something new has been given to the Exercise by a peal of 5,040 Kent Treble
Bob Fourteen rung 'in hand' by Mr. Harold
J. Poole's band. This is the first peal of Treble
Bob ever to be rung on 14 bells.

Seventy peals have been rung on the six bells at Wistaston, Cheshire. Mr. Albert Crawley, the tower keeper at Wistaston, has had the distinction of ringing in each of the peals.

The Rev. J. M. Turner has resigned the benefice of Washfield, Devon, and is now living at Moulton, Northamptonshire. In 1934, when he was Rector of Moulton, he had the bells rung, returned and augmented to eight.

The peal of Stedman Caters at Wisbech was a happy reunion for the Rev. John P. Pelloe and Mr. A. H. Pulling. It was 12 years since they last met, the occasion being a peal in the same method at Bedford.

This week we record a peal at Packworth,
Warwickshire. The conductor, Mr. A. W. T.
Cleaver, would be pleased to hear of other peals in this tower. The first peal in the tower is believed to have been rung for the Worcestershire Association about 30 years ago.

While Bedford ringers were ringing at Christ Church, West Bromwich, during their outing on April 7th, they were peremptorily stopped as it was noticed that the pinnacle on the southeast corner of the tower was rocking to and fro and it was feared that it might fall and damage the telephone exchange which adjoins the church.

To welcome the Kingsworthy band into the Winchester and Portsmouth Diocesan Guild, four members visited the tower on April 12th and rang a quarter peal of Minimus on the four bells there. The ringing consisted of 20 extents of Reverse Bob, 20 extents of Double Bob and 13 extents of Plain Bob. This novel welcome was rung by R. M. Currie, H. D. Buckingham, J. A. C. King and Peter N. Bond.

BELFRY GOSSIP

The 'Rochdale Observer' carried a three-column feature article of the 'Under Twenties' ringing class at St.
Thomas' Church, Newhey, supervised by Mr.
Irvine Kerr, assisted by 80-year-old Mr. Richard Thompson. For 63 years Mr. Thompson has been ringing at Newhey and he is the only survivor of the peal of Grandsire Triples rung there in 1898.

Mr. T. R. Butler, of Liverpool, has been bereaved by the death of his father, Mr. Thomas Butler, of Ellesmere, Shropshire, on April 12th.

Mr. Albert Gilbert, for many years a member of the Royston, Herts, band, who had to give up ringing three years ago on account of heart trouble, has been elected churchwarden.
He has served the parish church for over 50 years as choirboy and, afterwards, as ringer.

Ottery St. Mary, Devon, has lost a promising young ringer in Richard Trestain, who has left the parish for Cornwall. He started ringing in 1949. A farewell gift of a fountain pen was handed to him on April 10th by the Vicar (the Rev. D. R. Price), followed by 1,260 Grandsire Triples rung by R. Trestain 1, J.
Asbury 2, C. J. Turner 3, L. Hine 4, V. Pyne 5,
E. Marks 6, Preb. E. V. Cox (conductor) 7,
R. Wood 8.

On Sunday, April 15th, the Lord Mayor of Birmingham, Ald. A. Paddon Smith, J.P., accompanied by the Lady Mayoress, attended morning service at Edgbaston Parish Church, where they received a warm welcome from the Vicar and churchwardens. Before the service the Lord Mayor took part in three courses of Stedman Triples in which he rang with his usual graceful ability and he expressed his thanks to the band for inviting him to take part in the ringing. This was reciprocated by the Ringing Master on behalf of the Edgbaston band for the honour conferred on them by having the Lord Mayor to ring with them.

THE MIDDLESEX COUNTY ASSOCIATION

Mr. Tony Price the New Master

THERE was a large attendance of ringers at the annual meeting of the Middlesex County Association and London Diocesan Guild at St. James', Clerkenwell, on April 14th. Following the service and tea, the Rev. P. Gough (president) was in the chair for the meeting, supported by Messrs. A. W. and W. H. Coles (vice-presidents) and E. C. S. Turner (general secretary).

The meeting stood in silence in memory of the following who had died since the last meeting:—Messrs. W. H. Barber (Newcastle-on-Tyne), C. S. Bird (Heston), I. Corvill (Stanstead), H. Chandler (Heston), G. Charge (Holloway), C. Dean (Croydon), J. Lovell (Twickenham), C. H. Marten (Hendon), G. S. Mayers (Norwich), W. Pickworth (Richmond), J. Radley (Broxhorne), W. H. Seabrook (Surbiton), G. W. Steere (Sutton).

The secretary presented the annual report which stated that the most important event of the year, from the Association's point of view, was the installation of the new bells at Finchley to complete the octave. One of the bells, the second, was a memorial to the late general secretary and bore the following inscription:—'In memoriam. Charles T. Coles, 1882-1946, secretary of the Middlesex County Association and London Diocesan Guild of Change Ringers, 1910-1945.' The committee thanked all who had generously subscribed to the Fund. The balance of the cost of providing the bells was subscribed locally, mainly due to the efforts of Mr. B. F. Tubbs.

New members elected totalled 64, consisting of 18 non-resident life and 46 ordinary members.

NEW METHODS RUNG

Fifty-nine peals were rung, ten more than last year. They included the first peals in four Surprise methods and the first peals for the Association in eight others. Of these, Stanmore Surprise was rung at St. John's, Stanmore, conducted by H. G. Cashmore, to celebrate the centenary of the present church.

All the others were rung at Willesden—Radlett, conducted by H. G. Cashmore, Camden and Devon, conducted by P. A. Corby, Bedford, Berkshire, Bolton, Dublin, Eastbourne, Rochester and Watford, conducted by C. W. Roberts, and Whitminster, conducted by R. F. B. Speed. Twelve members rang their first peals and three members (J. G. Nash, F. C. Price and R. E. W. Wenham) their first as conductor. Mr. W. J. Nudds rang his 500th peal on November 28th at Stanmore. Two peals worthy of mention were nine Spliced Surprise methods 'in hand' and twelve methods at Willesden. The total number of quarter peals recorded was 145 with the Holloway band heading the list with 20.

They were pleased to welcome two new bands—Hampton, largely due to the energies of Mr. T. Price, and Barnet. Towers where progress had been reported were Brentford, Hornsey, Hounslow, Stanwell, Sunbury, Upper Clapton and Wood Green.

The treasurer's report showed an excess of income over expenditure of £3 8s. 1d. and a credit on the general fund of £170 14s.

Officers elected were:—President, the Rev. P. Gough; vice-presidents, A. W. Coles and W. H. Coles; general secretary, C. E. S. Turner; assistant secretary, W. N. Jenner; Master, Mr. Tony Price (vice Mr. C. W. Roberts); treasurer, W. H. Oram; auditor, M. Hodgson; trustees, T. J. Lock, W. H. Oram and E. C. S. Turner; Central Council representatives, E. C. S. Turner, F. W. Goodfellow, T. J. Lock and C. W. Roberts.

INDEBTEDNESS TO MR. C. W. ROBERTS

The president proposed a vote of thanks to Mr. Roberts for his great services to the Association and hoped that they would have his services in an advisory or in any other way for years to come.

Mr. T. Price seconded and said he did not expect to be elected against Mr. Roberts. They had always been firm friends but he did not consider himself in Mr. Roberts' class as a ringer. He promised to do his best to build up the Association.

Mr. C. C. Mayne: We must not lose sight of the fact that we have two ringers of outstanding ability in Mr. Turner and Mr. Roberts. They have done more for ringing than any other two men.

Returning thanks, Mr. Roberts said all he had done for the Association had been with the greatest of pleasure and had been done in order that the ancient art would carry on and increase in usefulness. He hoped the Society would carry on, particularly on the higher methods as in 12-bell ringing.

Mr. Tony Price moved an amendment of rules that a condition of membership be capable of ringing the treble to 120 of Doubles. He said he did not want to be misunderstood; he was not against call changes; if there was a tower doing call changes now, the amendment was not intended to interfere with its membership.

Mr. C. W. Roberts supported the amendment and said the tendency of to-day was for people to get a smattering of the art—just as much knowledge so that a bell was not dangerous. They then thought that they had the right to march into any tower and generally spoil the ringing. In every other art there was a standard and many associations had rules to that effect.

A question was asked of the position of a member who rang the tenor to a peal of Triples and could not hunt the treble.

Mr. W. H. Coles pointed out that if the amendment was accepted it would be necessary to have a new class of membership—probationers.

By a substantial majority the meeting voted in favour of no change of the rules.

Clerkenwell was selected for the place of the next meeting. A vote of thanks was passed to the Rev. C. Brown for conducting the service, and also to Mr. W. Prockson for making the local arrangements.

FESTIVAL PLANS

The general secretary said last year it was decided that the Association should organise some ringing for the Festival of Britain. A questionnaire had been sent out to all towers and those who did not ring twice on a Sunday in their own church were asked to ring in a London church. Some 30 or 40 had replied and it was possible to ring at St. Giles' each Sunday evening and for some Sunday mornings at St. James', Clerkenwell. They also asked if anyone had accommodation for ringers coming to London to submit names. Some 12 or 13 ringers had responded and to anyone interested he would be pleased to send the list. They had also prepared a list of all towers where there was ringing on Sundays and giving the practice nights. This was available for anyone visiting London.

Mr. Hodgson asked if St. John's, Waterloo Road, was to be the Festival Church.

Mr. Turner replied in the affirmative but said it was outside the area of the Association.

The meeting conferred honorary membership on Mr. Harry Kilby, of St. Mary's, Willesden, in appreciation of his services to the Association, and also on Mr. E. M. Atkins, who was in charge of St. Augustine's, Kilburn, and had recently left for Teignmouth.

ST. MARTIN'S GUILD FOR DIOCESE OF BIRMINGHAM

Peal Booking Fee Introduced

A very successful quarterly meeting of the St. Martin's Guild was held at the Parish Church, Aston, on April 7th. The Guild's form of service was conducted by the Vicar (Canon F. F. G. Warman) who also acted as organist and gave a very helpful address. Fifty members sat down to an excellent tea, after which the business meeting was held, presided over, in the absence of the Master, by Mr. Albert Walker (vice-president).
