PAST, PRESENT AND FUTURE

OFTEN it happens that a ringing pupil in course of time outdistances his teacher in ability and performance - a fact that should excite gratification rather than jealousy in the teacher, and no loss of respect on the part of the pupil, but only thankfulness for the joys and prospects to which he has been introduced. It may be generally helpful, then, before we claim much from the opportunities and developments which a New Year may bring to reffect a little upon such introductions to our art; upon what has been contributed in the past to provide the facilities and privileges which can be enjoyed to-day an endowment, as it were, which bears a cumulative interest to be reinvested for the benefit of succeeding generations.

A tower surmounted by pinnacles is a symbol of the heights which can be attained. One would be rash to assert that the bighest pinnacle of ringing progress has yet been reached. There was a time when the composition and achievement of a 5,040 of Grandsire Triples was acclaimed as a noteworthy performance. What would, say, John Garthon or John Holt, we wonder, have thought about the present-day accomplishments of Surprise Major, Royal and Maximus, not to mention the multiple spliced compositions? There are ringers now who take these easily in their stride and this age in which we live has brought a new assessment of standards.

But no sane ringer can ignore the past or surround himself with an aura of superiority with, perhaps, an indulgent smile for the ancient, maybe somewhat crude, pioneering efforts in change ringing and composition. For what an advanced ringer can glory in to-day is, after all, the superstructure which has arisen from those early efforts and discoveries.

There be of those pioneers that have left a name behind them, such as Fabian Stedman, Benjamin Annable, William Shipway, Henry Hubbard, Jasper Snowdon; and in the present century the Rev. C. D. P. Davies, Sir A. P. Heywood, John Carter, Charles Henry Hattersley, J. W. Washbrook, J. A. Trollope, the James and the Pye brothers, to mention but a few. Many, too, that have no memorial but whose industry and scientific insight, as well as their practical ability, have brought ringing on to a very high plane and opened the door for others to follow in their steps of enthusiasm, research and perseverance.

Yet, withal, these earlier exponents of the art were ready to confess to a limited outlook and to a consciousness of greater realms not given them to reach. Witness this remark in 'The Art of Ringing,' by William Jones, John Reeves and Thomas Blackmore (published about 1786), on Stedman Triples: 'Should the learner expect a greater extent than 1,260 changes in this method, perhaps the 5,040 , we beg leave to observe that it is one of those occult mysteries that have never yet transpired, and the most diligent researches we have been able to make have not been attended with that success which we would have gladly communicated to the public; and so remote does it appear at present that there is every reason to believe that the composer of this system never designed it for more than five bells.' So again Shipway in his 'Campanologia' (1816): 'A true and complete peal of Triples on this principle has for many years been the constant research of the most eminent professors of the art. The author has paid great attention to the subject, but hitherto without effect." He says, too, of Cambridge Surprise Major: 'It is very complex and extremely precarious in its composition, so that not one of the peals which have been rung proved true in its composition: nor is it probable that 5,000 changes of it can be composed true.' Also, referring to Holt's Original, he remarks: 'Few individuals, even among proficients in the art, have at any time undertaken to ring a bell and call this intricate peal; indeed, so great is the difficulty attending it that even Mr. Holt himself, on its first performance, did not attempt to call in the ordinary manner, but availed himself throughout of the assistance of the manuscript.' Compare again Hubbard (1868) on Double Norwich: "The ringing of this peal is so extremely intricate as to render it impossible for any but the most experienced practitioners to accomplish it.'

To all of such quotations we may be disposed in these days to add exclamation marks.

And here a pertinent question suggests itself: How were the great men of ringing history taught? If they could be seen handling their ropes and controlling bells of all weights without any of the modern easements of self-aligning and ball bearings one wonders what criticisms would be forthcoming from the exponents of instruction whose 'Manuals ' are clothed in such a multiplicity of words that - if a paraphrase may be allowed from one of the Prefaces of the Book of Common Prayer - 'the number and hardness of the Rules was the cause that many times there was more business to find out what should be done than to do it when it was found out.' One is content to say that the reputations and accomplishments of these worthies of the Exercise required no official certificates or diplomas to guarantee their recognition as master campanologists. Somehow or another they found the means and inspiration for fostering their skill and provoking their interest and that of others, obviously quite independently of a mass of regimentation or an over-elaborated vocabulary.

Finally, the present generation and those to come may well reflect upon the advantages and fellowship, secured by the labours of both clergy and laymen within the last hundred years or so, in lifting the art of ringing out of the category of mere pastimes and giving it a closer association with the Church through the formation of Diocesan Guilds; resulting in the development of a wide and much needed belfry reform and a general recognition of ringers as valuable church workers.

We all know the pleasure and companionship which such voluntary organisation of ringers brings, not overlooking the inspiration it has been in setting forward the restoration and care of bells everywhere that they may fulfil the primary object for which they were dedicated in our church towers, viz., the calling of the people to the worship of God.

Year after year, then, in every way may we go from strength to strength.

SURREY ASSOCIATION

Southern District at Reigate

A quarterly meeting of the Southern District was held at St. Mary's Church, Reigate, on December 15th. In spite of the extremely wet and windy day and the close proximity of petrol rationing, a good attendance from both District members and vistors was forthcoming. The business meeting was attended by 17 members from the District and 11 visitors, the cowers represented being from as far afield as Streatham, Burstow, Uxbridge, Leatherhead and Tunbridge Wells. Congratulations to the hardy!
Ringing on the 10 bells took place from 3.30 p.m. until the service and again in the evening. The ringing curate of St. Mary's conducted the service, at which a local ringer read the lesson. An excellent tea was then enjoyed in the Parish Hall, the curate speaking to each member personally during tea.
The business meeting followed, the main item of business being the nomination of District officers for 1957. The following were proposed:-Ringing Master, Mr. A. P. Canmon; hon. secretary, Mr. A. Streeter; hon. treasurer, Mr. A. Gear: hon, auditor, Mr. M. A. Northover ; committee, Miss N. Kempsall and Messrs. A. Clarke, G. Olliver, B. Cracknell and T. Bird. Offices are to be filled at the District annual general meeting at Bletchingley on January 19th.

After votes of thanks had been passed to the Vicar, curate, organist and ladies (for the preparation of the tea) the meeting closed. A collection towards the Association donation to Bow Bells Fund realised 18s. odd.

Ringing was recommenced and continued until about 8.30 p.m.

BOW BELLS AND CROMER

An association of Bow Bells with East Anglia is mentioned in the following note from 'The East Anglian Daily Times':-
'Early Bow Bells ring in tradition. They are those whose message persuaded Dick Whittington to "Turn again." All of the ring in the old tower were melted in the Great Fire of 1666. Just over a century later the new tower of St. Mary-le-Bow, Cheapside, one of Wren's masterpieces that had been completed in 1683, received four recruits to its existing ring. They came, tradition has it, from Norfolk.

- In a leaflet on Cromer Church, authoriscd by the present Vicar, the Rev. D. T. Dick, Mr. B. Smith recalls that Bishop Philip Yonge, of Norwich, gave the parishioners of Cromer permission for four of the five bells, lead from the roof and other saleable items to be sold to raise money for the repair of their decayed church. This was in 1767. "The bells were sold to St. Mary-at-Bow, Cheapside, London, and became (it is believed) the famous Bow Bells." These were destroyed by enemy action in May, 1941.'

SOMERSET RINGERS AT EXETER

The unceasing rain on December 15 th did little to dampen the high spirits of a party of 12 ringers from North and Mid-Somerset (including two from R.A.F., Locking), who travelled to Exeter. The primary object of the journey was to join the Cathedral ringers in their monthly practice, but before this we visited Newton St. Cyres-a charming light eightwhere standard methods were rung both with and without the aid of electric light! (Fortunately one of the local ringers was able to procure two candles for us.) The party then returned by bus to Exeter, and 12 slightly damp ringers presented themselves at the Cathedral, where there was ringing to suit all tastes.

A convivial cvening, spent in the vicinity of the Cathedral, followed and the exuberant spirits of some of the party were still in evidence (despite the rain!) when we had to leave to catch the 10.6 p.m. back to Bridgwater and Bristol.

Many thanks to the Newton St. Cyres and Cathedral ringers-and also Cyril-for helping to 'make our day ' (not to mention ticket inspectors, etc.!
M. E. F

Having no regular change ringers at Wrentham, the Rector was very interested in the visit of a peal band on December 17th, and what they were going to ring. At the conclusion of the peal the ringers could faintly hear the - Town Prize Band' playing carols at the Rectory, some 50 yards away. It seems that the band were not going to be 'beaten' by mere bells ringing nearby, and the Rector complimented the ringers(?) on the effect of 'Silent Night' with Plain Bob and St. Simon's Doubles as a background.

Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Cook, of Hunstanton, received golden wedding congratulations from wedding congratulations from Hertfordshire friends, by a peal of Grandsire Triples at King's Langley on December 15th. It was at this tower Mr. Cook was formerly captain and he conducted the first peal on the bells-Grandsire Triples-in 1922.

The tariff on handbells admitted to the United States has been reduced from 20 per cent. to 19 per cent.
The peal of Yorkshire Surprise rung at Overseale on December 15 th was a birthday compliment to Peter Staniforth and J. W. Cotton.

Mr. John Armstrong, Master of the London University Society, has completed the Cambridge 'family" with a peal of Cambridge Minor at Brentford. He has rung his 'first, on all numbers within the space of last year.

News of veterans is always welcome, and older members of the Exercise will appreciate news of Mr. John Dale, of Hornchurch. Now aged 92 years, he is in excellent health -a grand example of the spirit being willing but the "legs being weak.' John retains his interest in the Exercise through the columns of 'The Ringing World ' and is looking forward to the peal attempt for his 100th birthday.
By calling 250 peals of a total of 426, George E. Symonds has had some novelties in conducting. Among these are the first peal of Oxford Treble Bob Maximus after 112 years, on handbells, several first peals of Surprise Maximus, Plain Bob on eight different numbers of bells, in 1926, Forward, Duffield and short course of Bob Maximus calling 448 bobs and six singles in the three peals. In addition he has conducted 40 of his first peals in different methods on tower- and handbells.

BELFRY GOSSIP

Recorded this week is a peal at Wilburton, Cambs, to commemorate the 60 th anniversary of the first peal on the bells. Among those who participated in the 1896 peal was Mr. Henry W. Sharp, and it was unfortunate that recent ill-health prevented him from taking part in the anniversary peal.
Mr. and Mrs. Albert Walker, of Birmingham, celebrated their 58 th wedding anniversary on December 12th. The following day Albert conducted a peal of Stedman Cinques at Birmingham Cathedral.

We have this week a spate of first peals on the bells. Such performances have taken plice at Abbot's Ann, Hants, Broadwindsor (restored), Dorset, Carlton Colville, Somerset, and Tangley, Hants. A peal at Horsmonden, Kent, was the first on the augmented eight.

Soham, Cambs, band make their appearance in our quarter peal columns after an absence of many years. The band was re-formed in July, 1954, and in spite of a break from February to July, 1955, when the bells were being rehung, there are now some 14 ringers, who are proud of their record of having rung the bells twice every Sunday for service and for other special services.

The handbell peal rung for the Society of Rambling Ringers at Stoney Stanton was not without incident. The band had to compete on several occasions with a telephone which persisted in ringing loudly, and a large chiming clock which faithfully sounded the quarters. Towards the end of the last extent the door was flung open and four large retriever dogs bounded into the room, one of which proceeded to make quite a fuss of the treble ringer. They eventually quietened down and appeared to quite enjoy the last few courses.

UNIVERSITIES' ASSOCIATION REUNION DINNER

Mr. J. F. Smallwood and 'The Ringing World,

ATER a day spent ringing in the east of London, during which the towers of St. Mark's, Dalston, St. Matthew's, Upper Clapton, St. Saviour's, Walthamstow, St. Mary-the-Virgin, Leyton, and St. John-of-Jerusalem, South Hackney, were visited, and Evensong was attended in the last-named church. members of the University Association held their annual dinner at the Victoria, Buckingham Palace Road, London, on Saturday.

Mr. Paul L. Taylor presided in the regretted absence of the president, Mr. Edwin H. Lewis, whose apologies were received. A spirit of happy informality prevailed, and to the delight of the company there was an interval of ten minutes between the dinner and the annual meeting to enable the secretary to write his minutes of the last meeting of the Association.
In proposing the toast of 'The Church.' Mr. S. Darmon thanked all the incumbents of the churches where the Society had rung that day for putting up with them. Particularly, he would like to thank the rector of St. John-ofJerusalem, South Hackney, for not only letting them ring in a most interesting belfry but also for conducting their service. He mentioned that he had no ringers in his beautiful church; he hoped he would soon raise a band and ringers living in the neighbourhood would help them. When the Society were ringing there the rector received a number of telephone messages stating how much the bells were appreciated. Such an Éxperience was unusual. He recalled a case where the rector said to the tower captain: " have had a complaint about the bells today." The captain asked how he dealt with it. 'Easily,' replied the rector, 'I buried her yesterday.'

A FACET OF THE CHURCH

The rector of South Hackney, the Rev. J. Isherwood. in reply said the Church was like a diamond which had many facets and each was important. They might look on the clergy as insignificant people, but he would say that most clergy were travelled and experienced men. and were brought into touch with every shade of life. Today they were drawn from all classes and made an interesting group, as indeed did all professions in this democratic age.

They had a desire in their Church to progress. and he looked on Christianity as a progressive thing and the Church as a living thing, living according to the generation in which it happened to be. The technique of the present Church was in accordance with this generation and it would be very interesting to see what the technique of the next generation would be.

While the clergy might be shy people, they loved people, especially the people they served. - I have been in a few churches around the world and in England;' he said. 'and looking back I found that each church had something to teach me, and I hope and pray that we as clergy have something to teach our people.'

- A LITTLE HARMONY INTO A HARSH WORLD
You as bellringers have a wonderful chance of evangelising the people, as it is through music that people listen, and music does strike the responsive chords in human nature. It is a difficult world. and for many a struggle from the cradle to the grave, and a little music is a good thing; it encourages and brings a harmony into a harsh world. You bellringers have a wonderful opportunity in helping to lift up the hearts of the people. This afternoon as you were ringing il had several telephone calls. People said how much happiness the bells gave them with their message of peace and goodwill. My experience has taught me that we are much prepared to contribute to the age in which they live. I believe you bellringers have something to contribute. You are welcome to come to our church, and in 1957 I hope to arrange for 15 to 20 people to learn to ring our bells. You are one of the facets of the Church-a very necessary facet, because when the diamond turns round and shines it is your part to make one of the contributions to the life of the Church.'
The chairman announced that they had lost by death that week one of their oldest members, the Rev. F. Llewellyn Edwards. At his request the company stood in silence to his memory.

U.A. AND THE EXERCISE

Mr. J. Frank Smallwood proposed the toast of 'The Universities' Association.' He said he had lived long enough to see the growth and development of the Universities' Association, be-

Christmas Day Broadcast

An eminent ringer, who is a member of the Central Council of long standing. has forwarded the foilowing observations on the Christmas Day broadcast of ringing by the B.B.C.
Chester.-Grandsire Caters, poor striking.
Long Ashton.-Grandsire Triples, fair ringing.
Belfast.-Call-changes, spoilt by treble and third (100 quick).
Lambeth.-Stedman Triples, fair but very slow.
Greenock.-Grandsire Doubles, chimed by someone who did not know much about it.
Newport.-Rounds on 12, awful ringing.
Wymondham.-Bob Triples, fair ring. ing.
Bethlehem.-Usual jangle.
Congratulations to Mr. Harold Pitstow and the Banstead band on the excellent broadcast in television (Panorama) on Christmas Eve. It was one of the best ringing broadcasts that have so far appeared.
ginning. of course, with Oxford and Cambridge. and extending to other universities. He had lived to see the recognition of the work of the Universities: Association by the Exercise generally, and recognition by the Central Council which, as one of their members remarked, was "a classic example of complaisant futility." 'Be that as it may, the Central Council had done very good work.
'I have been casting my mind as to what is the most valuable contribution this Association can make to the Exercise. Many of you join either the teaching or medical profession. Those who join the teaching profession have all the qualifications for teaching the young ringers; they know all the shore cuts and are better qualified to teach than the old-timers like myself.

Another way the Association could help would be to give the bell-founders a jolt. It scems to me in this atomic and electronic age there are all sorts of wonderful things. We are thinking of space travel and yet we have not been able to devise a simple system of bell lubrication. That is where the Universities Association could come in.

Another way would be in trying to make the Exercise generally more conscious of its responsibilities as the owners of a newspaper. The Exercise not only owns its newspaper but depends for the articles in that newspaper from the people who own it. Who are more suitable to provide readable articles than members of your Association? I must confess that up to now we have seen very little from you. except Rodney Meadows and Denis Layton.

A PERPETUAL HEADACHE

". The Ringing World " is a perpetual hcadache. We seem to be no sooner out of one mess than we are in another. By the end of 1955 we were sitting pretty. We had made a profit of no less than $£ 1,000$, but in 1956 came a terrific increase in printing costs that has put us back to where we were, so that we cannot introduce the improvements which would increase the circulation.
"We want to make "The Ringing World" more attractive and we look to you to provide us with the material. It cannot be said that the Universities' Association, through one of their distinguished members, has not provided us with some material in recent times. We have had a spate of letters of all sorts of opinionsome for and some against-and I certainly think that if we were to award a prize for the most prolific contribution to "The Ringing World " it should go to one of your distinguished members. If I were to select the prize it would be one of Shakespeare's works, " Much Ado About Nothing." [Laughter.]

- Seriously, it must be said that "The Ringing World " has to cater for tastes of all kinds of people. The Editor is continually being badgered for more instruction for learners, and if they are not satisfied with what they have had for the last three or four months, well, they have had it.
"I appeal to you to act as a liaison between your University and "The Ringing World." Supply the Editor with news. I am sure you have enough brains and ideas to fill his editorial bag twice over.

THE YEAR REVIEWED

Mr. Brian Threlfall, the hon. secretary, extended a welcome to the guests-ihe Rev. J. Isherwood. Mr. Smallwood. Mr. Alfred Peck. secretary of the Ancient Society of College Youths, Mr. A. A. Hughes and Mr. T. W. White. Mr. Smallwood had asked the Association to increase as far as possible the circulation of 'The Ringing World. It seemed to him that the Association were decreasing rathor than increasing the sales because they had seven married couples present, and it was his pleasure to congratulate two couples present on their engagements.
In his report on the year's activities. the secretary said they had rung four peals. of which two were rung during the summer ringing week. The week was not an unqualificd success as it was found that there were not enough sheets for one each. They rang at what some people said were too many towers and others too few; hut most people would agree it was quite a successful week.
The annual business meeting followed. with Mr. Paul L. Taylor in the chair. The secretary reported that the balance in hand had increased by $\mathrm{E5} 4 \mathrm{~s}$. 9 td d. and now stood at $t 28$ 4s. $10 \frac{1}{2} d$.
Mr. E. H. Lewis was re-elected president. In succession to the Rev. A. G. G. Thurlow. who was dedicating that day a new ring of bells irf Suffolk. Mr. P. L. Taylor was elecled vice-president. Mr. Brian Threlfall was re-clected hon. secretary and treasurer, and Miss M. Cross representative of the Association on the Central Council. Mr. R. F. D. Speed was re-elected auditor.
New members elected were Adele Bagnall (Oxford). Mrs. Nancy Hudson (London). Robin Pittman (Oxford). Dermot Roaf (Oxford), Stephen Ivin (Oxford) and Lucy Allen (Reading). It was decided to hold the summer week at Bingley Training College, Yorks. starting on July 26 th. The annual dinner will be held in London on Saturday. January 4th. 1958.

PEALS IN CUMBERLAND AND WESTMORLAND

HE tour in 1956 in Cumberland and Westmorland was the fifth during the past 31 years. the others being in 1925, 1927, 1931 and 1933. Peals in these two isolated counties have been few. and people not conversant with local conditions may wonder why.

At the time of the 1925 tour, organised by the late Mr. W. H. Fussell, only Kendal and Ambleside had bands and so Westmorland was limited to 24 ringers, the majority having no peal to their credit.

WESTMORLAND

Westmorland, with a population of 66,000 , comprises an area of 504,917 acres, a large part being moor and fell land, besides the lakes, the whole of Lake Windermere being included in the county area.

It contains one ring of ten at Kendal, rings of eight at Ambleside, Kirkby Stephen, Orton and Windermere, and rings of six at Beetham, Burton, Milnthorpe, Heversham, Langdale, Crosthwaite. Shap, Appleby and Kirkby Lonsdale, and a ring of five at Bampton.

The first peal in the county was rung at Kendal in 1796, the method being Grandsire Triples. Grandsire Caters followed in 1819, and from this period until 1898, 12 peals of Grandsire Triples were rung and another one of Grandsire Caters: these two peals of Caters are the only ones to be rung. The foregoing peals were rung by the local bands, and one more was rung in 1904 by the locals.
From this period until and including Mr. Williams' party's peal, another 13 peals have been rung as follows: Bob Major, the first of Major in the county in 1909, conducted by $W$. Robinson, of Ambleside; peals of Grandsire Triples, followed in 1910 and 1913 ; Kent Treble Bob Royal in October, 1925, rung for the Cumberland Association and conducted by $W$. Keeble; three peals of Grandsire Triples, conducted by E. Jennings; Bob Minor, called by W. Robinson; Cambridge Royal, conducted by W. Pye ; Cambridge Major, conducted by Frank Bennett; Oxford T.B. Major, conducted by W. Sharples, of Brindle. 1936 ; and then in 1956 a peal of Grandsire Triples, conducted by J. E. Burles, and Mr. Williams' peal of Yorkshire Royal.

Kendal, however, has maintained a Sunday service band since 1765 , but since 1904 very few of the members have been keen on peal ringing.

AT AMBLESIDE

The ring of eight at Ambleside was opened with a peal of Kent Treble Bob Major in July, 1901. conducted by A. E. Wreaks, of Manchester, all the ringers belonging to that district. The local band rang Bob Triples in 1912, the conductor being W. Robinson, and this remains the only local band peal on the bells. Grandsire Triples followed in 1925, Henry Hodgetts, of Oxhey, being in thisepeal, which was conducted by T. B. Newton.
W. Robinson called Parker's twelve-part peal of Grandsire Triples in 1926, and the next peal took place in 1933-Bristol Surprise Major, conducted by $\mathbf{C}$. W. Roberts.

Double Norwich followed in 1933. the conductor being George $R$. Pye, and London Surprise Major in 1939, the band coming from Bolton, Liverpool, Cheshire and the London area, the conductor being J. C. E. Simpson.

Orton has had a ring of eight since 1917, and had its first peal of Cambridge Surprise Major in 1933, conducted by J. C. E. Simpson.

Kirkby Stephen has had a ring of eight since 1877, and had its first peal in 1930 when E. Jennings called a pzal of Grandsire Triples for the Cleveland and North Yorkshire Association. Superlative followed in 1933, conducted by Frank Bennett.

Bowness, Windermere, Parish Church, with a ring of eight since 1897, had its first peal in 1929, the conductor being E. Jennings, who called peals of Grandsire Triples in 1930 and 1931. The local band rang a peal on Boxing Day. 1931, and a Lancashire band a peal of Bristol in 1947, conducted by Jim Simpson.
Of the 6-beli towers. Langdale had its first peal in 1904. Crosthwaite 1913 (A. W. Brighton. of London, was in this peal); Beetham and Burton in 1927, the conductor being W. Robinson; Kirkby Lonsdale, six since 1825, had its first peal in 1932. the conductor being $E$. Jennings; while Haversham, six since 1870 , had its first peal as recently as 1954. George Braithwaite, of Burton, being the conductor

Lef 1957 Be Your Red Letter Year

No young ringer can feel he is part of the great ringing fraternity until he is a regular reader of 'The Ringing World.' regular reader of 'The Ringing World.'
We are now enrolling subscribers for 1957. We ask District representatives to make a special effort so that 1957 will be a red letter year. The drop in circulation reported at the Central Council annual meeting has been made good, but we want to do much better.

Remittances should be sent to Mr. J. E. Jeater. Greystones. Cusgarne, Truro. Rates: 12 months, $£ 18 s$.; 6 months, 14s. 6d.; 3 months, 7s. 6 d .

The majority of the Minor peals have been rung by Westmorland and Furness District ringers, and the total number of peals rung in Westmorland by local ringers or otherwise amounts to less than 50 peals in the county since 1796.

The record for peals rung by any one ringer in the county amounts to 26 peals rung in ten towers and having conducted 14 peals.

In the writer's opinion, the lack of peal ringing and ringing of advanced methods is due entirely to the isolated positions of the towers and the difficulty of travel to practise methods with other bands.

CUMBERLAND

Cumberland has an area of 968,607 acres and a population of 281,150 .

Peals in this county have been very few, the first being Grandsire Triples in 1861 by a College Youth band from London at St. Stephen's Church, Carlisle. The first local peal was in 1890 , also at this church. W. Keeble called Superlative here in 1925; W. Pye, London in 1931; and this completes the history of peal ringing at this tower.

Peals at the Cathedral prior to the present tour are Stedman Triples, November 21st, 1925, conducted by W. H. Barber, the band being from Newcastle; Bristol Surprise Major in 1931, conducted by W. Pye; and the peal of Yorkshire by W. Williams.
Crosthwaite had its first peal in 1895-Grandsire Triples. Kent T.B. Major followed in 1910. W. Keeble called the first peal of Surprise here in 1952 (Supcrlative); Frank Bennett, Stedman Triples in 1933; Dr. Simpson. London in 1946; now Bristol, conducted by Peter Border, in 1956, followed by the recent peal of Stedman called by Mr. Burles in October, 1956.
Cockermouth.-W. Keeble called the first peal, Cambridge Surprise Major. on November 2nd, 1925: E. Jennings the first of Triples in 1930. and J. C. E. Simpson called Superlativ in 1933. This amounts to the peal ringing at this tower.
Workingion.-Mr. A. W. Brighton, of London, called a peal of Kent Treble Bob Major on May 31st. 1911.

Cleator Moor--George Newton called a peal of Double Norwich here in 1933; Chris. Gudgeon, Stedman Triples in 1936; and with the recent peal of Bristol completes the list of 8 -bell peals at this tower.

Egremont had its first peal in May, 1921, the conductor being W. T. Holmes. the present president of the Herts Association, the method being Bob Major (Mr. Holmes cycled 34 miles to conduct this peal). Cambridge Surprise Major followed in 1933, conducted by Frank Bennett, and Stedman Triples in 1935, the conductor being Chris. Gudgeon.
St. Bees.-The first peal was in 1933-Cambridge Surprise Major, conducted by George R. Pye.

Arlecdon, a ring of eight since 1904, had its first peal in 1933-Superlative, conducted by F. Bennett. The recent peal of London brings the total in this tower to two.

Hensingham.-W. T. Holmes called the first peal of Major on May 6th. 1932. the method being Kent Treble Bab. Superlative followed in 1933. called by F. Bennett, and the recent peal of Lincolnshire brings the total on the eight to three peals, two rung by touring bands.
Penrith (8).-The only peal rung at this tower was Superlative in 1933, conducted by G. R. Pye.

I cannot find any trace of peals rung at Irton (8), Silloth (8) or Aspatria (8). Of the 6 -bell towers, W. Robinson called the first peal at Millom in 1926, and E. Jennings the only one rung at Bridekirk in 1930.
The total peals rung in Cumberland amount to about 30 . I doubt if any one ringer has a personal total reaching double figures.

BATS IN THE BELFRY

Dear Sir, - I remember the late W. P. Garrett (Bill) telling the story of a band starting for a peal in a remote country church steeple long before electricity was installed.
The chandelier hung in the centre and had four lighted tallow candles. About halfway through the peal a bat began fluttering around them to the ringers' consternation and dismayand extinguished three candles. By good luck one was left alight till the end of the peal.Yours truly,
G. E. SYMONDS.

COLLEGE OF CAMPANOLOGY
Dear Sir --Our attention has been drawn to statements that the College of Campanology has the full support of the committee set up by the Central Council to revise the handbook 'Hints for Instructors and Beginners.'
White some of us individually are members of the College this does not imply that we are in full agreement either as a committee or individually with 'The Manual,' as published in -The Ringing World.'-Yours faithfully,

UNIFORMITY

Dear Sir,-Now that you have been taken to task about deleting the word 'Plain,' may I suggest you have some consistency in printing records of peals of Cambridge Major composed by C. H. Middleton? Sometimes these are entered as 'Composed by C. H. Middleton ' or 'Johnson's Variation ' also just 'Middleton's' on the top of the names. This last way is my idea that the peal should always appear in your paper, and so have uniformity. -Yours truly,

GEORGE E. SYMONDS.

NOT AN INDUCEMENT FOR RECRUITS

Dear Sir,-I read, with not a little disappointment and disgust, the article in the current issue of 'The Radio Times' by Tom Ingram. The article opens up by picturing a village band meeting at the rear door of the church at 6 a.m. on Christmas Day, ascending the belfry stairs, off come their coats, away into changes. The next paragraph makes an attempt to explain how the bells are raised; surely the cart before the horse. Sallies are mentioned as flying up through holes in the ceiling, and the sally is checked in its upward motion.
Then there is the gruesome picture of the interior of the ringing room, which looks like an old-fashioned rowshed. The ringers are not forming part of a circle with the contours of their bodies, in fact two are standing in such a manner as might possibly bring on a hernia-no neat stance as is practised by most experienced ringers.
There is also in the article a brief account of a fatal accident in the year 1884 in Dorset through the breaking of a stay.
The second picture shows a bell at 'set,' the crude idea of the stay and its fittings would make our bellfounders weep. The writer goes on to say such names for methods as "The Wharligige ' and 'Blunderbus' are splendid names for methods. What rubbish! Our methods for ringing changes, or at least the composition of the same, are likened to the game of chance-football pool perms.

This brief explanation brings me to my point. If such an article covering this subject which the writer has tried to do could have been entrusted to one of our experienced ringers with a more journalistic mind than I have, a great deal of good propaganda could have been done for the art of change ringing, by way at least of making bellringing appear more attractive and might be a step towards getting many of the bells ringing which have been silent so long. Instead, I fear, the reverse may be the result; in short, the article does not give much inducement to would-be learners to try riscing the bells.-Yours faithfully,

Eondon, N.4.

14th CENTURY BELLS AT HAYLING ISLAND

This interesting picture sent to us by Mr. A. J. Buswell, of Havant, shows the mid-14th century bells of St. Peter's, North Hayling, Hants, which are still on their old wooden axles and half-wheels.
The tenor bell is inscribed 'Sancta Maria Ora Pro Nobis ' (St. Mary, pray for us). The bells may have been dedicated to the Church of St. Mary, South Hayling, and later moved to St. Peter's. The three bells are all ringable. The founder of the bells is unknown.

EXPERIMENTS IN SPLICED MINOR

Dear Sir,-A short while ago the Exercise was confronted with a poser that wasn't ; may I now present a poser that is?
I recently made an arrangement of a 720 of Spliced Minor in which there were 24 methods. This was one more than any previous 720 , and furthermore a variation of it in 23 methods made it possible to extend the present Minor record by one method.

Shortly after I had shown it to Mr. W. F Moreton (who is, I have recently been relicved to discover, a Yorkshireman after all!) he pointed out that by the introduction of a bob lead of Lytham these 720 's could be made to contain 25 and 24 methods respectively, and the possible Minor record therefore increased by two.
It is argued that seeing that Thelwall is not included in the 720 the introduction of a bob lead of Lytham is quite permissible, and may be therefore counted as another method.

The logic of this is unanswerable but I don't like it, nevertheless, probably because-as has been observed by one of my galaxy of friendsI am obstinate and perverse. (The other friend maintains a discreet silence!)
I have also an arrangement which contains bob leads of Frodsham, which in this case, seeing that Frodsham has no 6th place counterpart, rather weakens my case.

What would the Exercise think of the following 720 ?

Newdigate (Willesden, Old Oxford or College Bob IV) Double Oxford  Lytham  London Bob  Newdigate, etc.  Double Oxford  College (Wavertrce in Part 1) London Bob  Double Oxford  Bamborough Surprise  Double Oxford  St. Clement's (Childwall is Part 3)  Thelwall  Bacup Surprise  London Bob  London Bob  Twice repeated.

Here we have bob leads in four treble bob methods and single leads in two plain methods.
Each of the treble bob methods (4ths place delight, really) has an alias!
It could, of course, be argued that a "single" doesn't make a method, but the fact remains that if St. Clement's was called by the conductor instead of College and a single called at the end of the lead, the places made would be 2 nds, 3 rds and 4 ths, instead of 4 ths, 5 ths and 6 ths.
That I have been able to get out a variation in which all the treble bob methods have plain leads should indicate that if I were patient-or clever-enough, it might be possible to do the same with the plain methods.
There must, of course, be a maximum somewhere, but who is to say when we have reached it? The maximum number of methods in the Spliced Minor record thought to have been reached a few years ago has still continued to rise.
Have we now reached it? Time (the stuff between pay-days) will tell. Meanwhile, ought we to allow bob-leads (or single-leads) in Minor records? - Yours sincerely,
H. CHANT.

Ryhill, Wakefield.

A Stonham Aspal Bride

For five years a member of the parish church company of bellringers and for ten years a member of the church choir, Miss Dorothy May Largent, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Largent, of Chapel House, Stonham Aspal, was married at Stonham Aspal Church recently to Mr. Raymond Arthur Ellis, only son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Ellis, of Church Walk, Stowupland.
Given away by her father, the bride wore white net over taffeta, with a pannier of diamante studded net, and she had a full-length veil. Her bouquet was of dark bronze chrysanthemums.
There were five attendants-the Misses Jean Thorpe, Marjorie Rutter, Daphne Frost, Muriel Pipe and Rita Pratt. The Misses Thorpe, Rutter and Frost were in blue full-skirted dresses of net over taffeta, with matching boleros. The others were in similar ensembles of lemon colour. The bridesmaids wore headdresses of leaves and flowers and had short nylon gloves. Their bouquets were of pale bronze and yellow chrysanthemums. Mr. David Garrod, a friend of the bridegroom, was best man.
The service was conducted by the Rev. $G$. L. Manson, and Mr. Alan Page was at the organ.

After the scrvice a reception was held at Stonham Aspal Village Hall

POPULARITY OF HANDBELL RINGING IN U.S.A.

WROM the current issue of 'Overtones' to reach us this week we learn of the amazing growth in popularity of handbell ringing.

At the annual convention of the American Guild of Bell Ringers at Ipswich, Mass., Mrs. Arthur A. Shurcliff, the president, wore the costume of her band of Beacon Hill Bellringers, scarlet skirt and white peasant blouse with scarlet embroidery, and in her opening remarks she described how the Guild had grown in three years from the 25 original bands to its present 120, representing 29 States as well as Alaska, Canada and England.

With the expansion in numbers, the bellringing art has become more widely known.
The group which travelled furthest to the The group which travelled furthest to the Ipswich festival were the Cathedral Ringers from Atlanta, Ga., who have played at the White House in Washington and been featured on the Ed. Sullivan show. The 20 boys and girls from south of the Mason Dixon line were identically costumed in black shorts, white blouses and knee socks with an announcer in page's outfit of white satin with a purple cape. They played a programme of hymns, a Bach chorale and a folk song, and brought down the house with a spirited rendering of Dixie. As an encore they played an arrangement of Adeste Fidelis, as presented on the Ed. Sullivan show.

At the suggestion of their coach, Canon Eckles, the Cathedral Ringers ioined with several other bands in 'Onward, Christian Soldiers,' with the audience singing the words.

A virtuoso performance was that of Sharon Spurgeot. who played two solos accompanied by the piano. She used 19 bells and 12 bells, picking them up and laying them down without a false tinkle or a missed note. an exhibition of great dexterity and control. The Beacon Hill bellringers. under Mrs. Shurcliff's direction, rang a plain course of Grandsire Triples, a traditional and difficult bellringing exercise, states 'The Lawrence Eagle.'

One of the most musical groups were the Berkshire Ringers from Pittsfield, six players with deep-toned bells. Their Ukrainian 'Carol of the Bells, was one of the most beautiful offerings of the evening. Another charming selection was the Polish Carol by the Village Lutheran Church Choir from Bronxville, New York. A group with a high degree of technical proficiency were the Cape Anne ringers of Gloucester, a veteran group. They were expert with the trick of swinging the bells loosely at arms length, seeming to emphasise the singing overtones with a fascinating effect.
The same technique was used effectively by the Paul Revere group from Bedford. five ladies in evening dress, who have been ringing together ten years. They used a great assortment of bells.

APPEAL TO THE YOUNG

Commenting on the festival and the way young people are responding to handbell ringing, David Knickel gives these conclusions of the Board of Management of the Guild:-
(1) A substantial number of young people over the country are regularly ringing in handbell bands and choirs on a voluntary basis, and love it.
(2) Handbell ringing brings certain satisfaction to the beginner immediately, yet practice and imagination bring rich rewards through discovering the potentialities of the bell as an instrument.
(3) Young people respond to handbell ringing as a vital part of religious worship as well as for recreation.
(4) Esprit de corps which rivals that of a football team can be established among any combination of ringers. Once having declared membership in a group, the individual is in-dispensable-fellow ringers will bring this to the attention of the absentee.
(5) The demand for sets of handbells by schools and churches is increasing every month.
(6) There is every reason to believe that the future of the American Guild and interest in handbell ringing is guarantecd if the quality of interest demonstrated by young people at this festival is a true cross-scction.
(7) It is apparent to the board of managers that the young belong at the annilal festival. It is apparent, also, that they should have their own programme for study, Ferformance, observation and recreation. A special festival committec has been planned for the summer of 1957, and the committec would like to encourage bands of young people to attend the fourth annual festival next August.

Peal Ringers of 1956

We are hoping to publish at an early date a list of the prominent peal ringers of 1956., Will those who have rung 25 peals or over during the past year kindly submit details. What we require is number of tower-bell and handbell peals separately and also the number of each conducted.

MR. L. E. LAST RETIRES

To Live in Suffolk

His many friends in the Exercise, particularly in the South-Western District of the Essex Association, will join in wishing Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Last many years of happy retirement. For the best part of 20 years Mr. Last has been physical education organiser and adviser to the educational authorities at Barking and Walthamstow, and during that time has been an active member of the Essex Association.
He has been most helpful in stimulating knowledge of the Exercise and was always willing to give lectures, illustrated by film strip, to societies, church organisations and bodies during their winter programmes.
A native of Suffolk, Mr. Last returns home, hoping to educate his gracious wife to say 'How are yew bor?' One cannot imagine a retirement of inactivity, and from the nature of the presents given by his educational col-leagucs-a strip film proiector and a camerait is easy to see where Mr. Last's activities will be.
Mr. Last's future address will be Low Street, Hoxne, Diss, and doubtless he will soon be trying those grand rings once again in Suffolk and South Norfolk.
May good fortune attend both him and his wife in the years ahead.

Annual Meeting of the North Staffordshire Association

The annual meeting of the North Staffordshire Association was held at Stoke-on-Trent on December 1st. The president, the Venerable George Youell, Archdeacon of Stoke-on-Trent, in his opening remarks, said he knew the diffculties many towers had in maintaining ringing. It was not easy to bring people from their ' other jobs' into the service of the Church and he would do all he could to encourage the Association in its hard but invaluable work.

The Archdeacon paid tribute to the tremendous record of his predecessor, the Vencrable Percy Hartill, who had retired owing to illhealth earlier in the year. President from 1935 to 1956, he had missed only one annual meeting, that of 1955. The Association had intended to present him at that mecting with a suitably engraved salver as a token of its appreciation, but the petrol crisis had prevented Mt. Hartill from making the long journey from his new home. The Association wished him a long and happy retirement.

The Archdeacon then expressed concern at the lack of provision for bells in the new churches being built. This was a serious omission. Although it might not be possible to afford a ring of bells in the first instance, bells offered an excellent form of memorial, or in any case could be purchased at a later date. Bells had an important part to play in the ministry of the Church and he hoped that all ringers would use their influence whenever possible to ensure that reservation was made for the installation of bells in new churches.

In conclusion, on behalf of the Association, he extended a warm welcome to the Rev. F. A. R. Chapman, the new Rector of Stoke-onTrent, who had taken the service and been host to the Association that afternoon.

The meeting then stood in silent prayer in memory of members whose deaths had occurred during the year-George Holbrook (Newcastle), George Jones (Hanley), Frederick Palmer (Bucknall) and the Rev. J. J. MacDonald (Cheadle R.C., honorary member).

THE OFFICERS

The appointment of the following officers for the year 1957 was confirmed:-Chairman, Mr. R. S. Anderson; vice-chairman, Mr. A. W. Hall : hon. secretary, Mr. T. H. Edge : assistant hon. secretary, Mr. G. W. Biddulph: auditor, Mr. C. H. Page: Ringing Masters: 8- and 10 bell towers, Mr. W. P. Deane; 6-bell towers, Mr. W. Hazledine ; Central Council representative 1957-59, Mr. R. S. Anderson.

In the annual report adopted at the meeting the secretary stated that during the Association year ended October 31 st, 12 peals had been rung, comprising Royal and Major (8) and Minor (4), which compared with 10 in the previous year. Eleven meetings had been held, attendance had shown a slight decrease but this had been due principally to extremely inclement weather in January and February, and also in part to the distance to be travelled to reach some of the towers visited. Nine resident ringing members had been elected during the year and seven non-resident life members.

The statement of accounts was adopted.
It was agreed that a fee of 6 d . per rope, to be collected by the conductor, be levied on all peals rung for the Association.

The monthly meetings for 1957 were fixed as follows: January, Newcastle-under-Lyme: February, Kingsley: March, Kidsgrove: April. Norton-le-Moors: May, Leek: June. Biddulph: July, Draycott-le-Moors; September, Uttoxeter : October, Keele: November, Bucknall: December, Stoke-on-Trent (annual peneral meeting).

Seven new ringing members were elected at the meeting.

In recognition of their services to the Association, in each case more than 50 years, Jonah Cottrell, of Biddulph. W. P. Dean, of Norton, and C. H. Page, of Stoke, were clected life member,

OBITUARY

MR. WILLIAM T. TUCKER

A fortnight before his 80th birthday, Mr. William T. Tucker, of North Stoneham, died, to the regret of many friends.

At the request of his only daughter and relative, Mrs. D. M. Brown, three members of the local band had learned to ring handbells, and had been practising assiduously for ten weeks with the intention of paying him a surprise visit on his birthday, on December 10th, and ringing 360 Bob Minor.

He came to Eastleigh at the beginning of the century, being employed as a painter in the railway carriage works; immediately he became attached to St. Nicholas' Church, soon becoming captain of the band there. He conducted the first peal-Plain Bob Minor-on the bells on February 15th, 1905, and rang in a great many others afterwards. But his interest in ringing was not for peals alone, for he never missed a service if it were at all possible, and for many years he also served on the Parochial Church Council and as a sidesman.

As an early member of the Winchester Diocesan Guild he did yeoman service in the cause of ringing in the district, helping to teach and encourage learners in the art. For many years he was secretary of the Winchester District of the Guild and was a member at the time of his death.

It was only fitting that the first peal on the new bells should be rung to his memory, also that the method rung should be his favouriteKent Treble Bob Major.

He was laid to rest at the foot of the tower, beside his old friend and mentor, George Williams, on December 1st, the service being conducted by the Rector, the Rev. W. F. Shail. Ringers present included Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Kippin, Mr. M. J. Butler (District secretary), the Rev. K. W. H. Felstead, Mr. Owen Giles and many others, including the local band. A course of Plain Bob Minor was rung at the graveside by three members of the local band. band.

To his daughter his ringing friends extend their deepest sympathy but, as she herself said, the beauty of the service would remain to comfort her, as would also the krowledge that he was laid to rest near his beloved bell tower, and with a goodly company of friends to mourn him.
R. A. R.

MR. WILLIAM NASH

Another stalwart from the North Mymms, Herts, tower has passed on. Mr. William Nash, in his 77th year, died suddenly on his way home from a meeting on December 18 th. He had rung at St. Mary's Church for over 50 years, and for a time acted as secretary of the St. Albans District of the Hertford County Association. Stedman Triples was his favourite method, and the local band rang half-muffled the day after his death as a tribute to his memory.
He led a full and devoted life in the service of others and was a prominent Freemason and bowls player.

REV. F. LLEWELLYN EDWARDS

With deep regret we announce the death of the Rev. Frank Llewellyn Edwards at Poole on Christmas Eve, aged 83 years.

He was one of the oldest members of the Central Council and for many years was convener of the Press, Publicity and Broadcasting Committee. For the long period of 48 years he was Rector of Kington Magna, Dorset, from which living he recently retired. He gave long service to the Salisbury Diocesan Guild and was honorary secretary for 37 years. Mr. Edwards was one of the oldest members of the Ancient Society of College Youths.

A memoir will be published in our next issue.

MR. E. E. PRATCHETT

The funeral service for Mr. E. E. Pratchett, of Hendon, whose death in his 82 nd year was reported in our last issue, took place at St . Mary's Church, Hendon, where he had been a ringer for 66 years, on December 20 th.

The service was preceded by some beautifully struck Grandsire and the bells were also rung after the service.

The Middlesex County Association and London Diocesan Guild was represented by Messrs. T. J. Lock, H. G. Hart, W. N. Genna, E. Prior, R. Sanders, R. Stoddart, S. A. Warwick and H. Arnold.
' One thing we will always have with us is the memory of this lovable and unassuming character, this Grand Old Man of St. Mary's, Hendon,' writes H. A.

KENTON, HARROW - MIDDLESEX

MR. FREDERICK JAMES FREESTONE
Members of the S.W. District of the Essex Association will learn with regret of the death of Mr. Frederick James Freestone, late of Hornchurch, and lately residing at Epsom. He had been in failing health for some time and passed away in Norbury Hospital, Surrey, at the age of 84 .

A native of Sawston, Cambs, he learned his ringing on the local bells. Eventually he moved to Hornchurch, where he was watchman at Harwood Hall. From here he moved on to Dagenham Dock, where he was for many years berthing attendant.

At Dagenham he was a member of the local band and journeyed many miles to attend local practices, mainly, however, to Hornchurch. He was also connected with St. Andrew's, Holborn. On retirement from the dock he took up residence again at Hornchurch, became active again with the local band and eventually took over the dutics of towerkeeper, succeeding Mr. John Dale.

Fred was no great peal ringer and no records are available of his peal total, but he could be rightly described as one of those stalwarts of the Exercise-hail, rain or shine he could always be relied upon to be there.

A life member of the Essex Association, he was specially proud of his connection with the College Youths.

Visitors would sometimes find Fred rather remote-a certain brusqueness and austerity of manner contributed to this, but beneath the rugged and rather outspoken exterior was the proverbial heart of gold, a keen sense of loyalty and an impish sense of humour.

The funeral was at Streatham Crematorium on December 21 st.

Rest in peace, Fred.
L. V. G.

MR. JOHN T. HERBERT

The death occurred on December 6th of Mr. John T. Newbert, of Gamston, Notts, at the age of 69 . He had been at home three weeks following an operation and was making a good recovery when he had a sudden heart attack from which he passed away.

Although he had lived in Gamston only 15 years, he had been the village blacksmith for 35 years, a first-class workman and highly respected by young and old alike.

In his younger days he rang at a three-bell tower and it was not until 12 years ago that he joined the local band at St. Peter's Church. In all he rang 19 peals of Minor, including one in five methods. His one regret was that ho had not commenced change ringing carlier. A good attender, he always gave of his best. 'Jack ' will be sadly missed by those who rang with him, and many others.

When not taking part in a peal if there had been any bad ringing he would be sure to criticise but would give praise if it had been good.

He was laid to rest on December 8th a few paces from his own well-kept garden and near the tower and bells he loved. After the service, which was conducted by the Rev. S. M. I. Salt, four of the local band and two of his friends rang a 360 Bob Minor, half-muffled. He leaves a widow and a brother.

On December 22 nd a peal was rung as a last tribute to him. May 'Jack' rest in peace.

A GOOD IDEA - BUT

$L^{1}$IFE'S road is paved with good intentions, but many go awry for want of the correct presentation. The intentions of the promoters of the College of Campanology are good, but the presentation is not and the choice of terminology unfortunate. It is very evident that 'the powers that be ' are out of touch with the average parish church ringer and they are the ones to be catered for; the majority do not bother about proficiency certificates, but they do want to learn how to ring well for Sunday service.

Very few of us have the opportunity of meeting many ringers in all parts of the country, and until the promoters are conversant with the difficulties of the average tower, they will get nowhere in a long time. As one goes about the country the most frequent questions asked are, ' What is it in aid of?' and ' What are the use of proficiency certificates?' On all sides we learn that the rope-end still is the best thing to test one's skill - good wine needs no bush.

We have plenty of individuals who think they know it all and who often come unstuck in an out-of-the-way country tower: the less of this type we produce the better, and is there not a risk of the 'certificated' ringers becoming 'big 'eds'? I know a few who, having progressed fairly rapidly to 'Surprise' standard, began to show signs of 'swelled head,' but happily through contact with more experienced ringers learned that they did not know quite so much as they thought they did, and no matter how long they ring, they never can know it all.

No matter how many certificates a ringer possesses, he will still have to ring to the 'lowest standard' member of , the band, unless the proficient folk are going to keep themselves aloof - is there not a danger of 'class distinction' creeping in? Before the war there used to be 'The Tall Hat Brigade' in the Manchester area - some still are with us and peal ringing; they were of Surprise and Spliced standards and, above all, first-class strikers, but Grandsire and Plain Bob were not beneath them. They had had a simple but thorough grounding and surely this is all that is required.

Is it not too much to ask that the curriculum as presented to us be recast into a simpler and more efficient form? Cut out the 'Cathedral System' (whatever this means), because it conveys absolutely nothing and only confuses the average Sunday service ringer. We know full weli that as far as church music is concerned our cathedrals and the great churches present the best possible and reach a standard undreamed of by the parish church choir, but as far as bell-ringing is concerned that is quite another story.

A School for Instructors seems to be the most urgent iequirement and a good instructor can teach the pupil according to the aptitude of the individual - ihe personal touch is everything; coupled with patience it will produce results. A slow but sure procedure has proved to be the one which makes the good ringer; the one who has been pushed on usually is a poor handler and unfortunately this type resents being given a word of advice. On more than one occasion when passing on a little fatherly advice I have been told, 'Excuse me, I am a member of the Universities' Association,' as if being a member of any particular association puts one in a class above all others.

Do not let us turn down the idea of 'The College,' but lct the 'Professors' come down out of the clouds and get down to brass tacks. When they do start in earnest, let them take a page out of George Gilbert's book and let the first lesson be a talk on what their responsibilities will be and not to waste either their own time or that of the instructor. If they know beforehand what is expected of them, the intending ringer wiil be less inclined to treat the matter lightly. At present some 'would-be's ' treat the whole thing as a bit of fun to be put on one side as fancy takes them without any regard for the time that has been spent on them. Start right and we should end right.

 ber, at Bishop Ryder's, the tenor rope broke after about two hours' ringing, while a week later he arrived at the same place only to find the band seven short! It is estimated that the total number of peals rung by the successful band is approximately 4,400 .Mr . C. H. Hawkins, secretary of the St. David's Guild, is in Llanelly Hospital making a slow recovery after a very serious illness.

The band who rang the peal of Yorkshire Surprise at Sevenoaks would like to congratulate Mr. Richard V. Fuller on the way he rang his first peal for 19 years. It was his first touch in the method.
'Bexhill-on-Sea Observer' had an interesting picture of the local band ringing a quarter peal at St. Peter's Church preceding the celebration of Midnight Mass. An article on bellringing with particular reference to the Christmas ringing also appeared in the issue of Decentber 22nd.
Girl Guides of the 2nd Ruislip Company are keen on ringing. Three of them rang in the band on Christmas Eve, and Mr. Tom Collins, the captain, has great hopes of first quarter peals from a number of them very shortly. They made a seasonable Christmas picture for the 'Ruislip-Northwood Gazette.'

Many of our readers will have seen the beautiful grectings card of Eye Parish Church made from a photograph by Supt. Claude Rush. These cards were sold to start a restoration fund for Eye Church bells, and Supt. Rush has already handed the Vicar a cheque for £235 from the profit. The Superintendent is still ready for more business. Of the 10,000 cards printed 9,012 were sold before Christmas.

GOSSIP

Can any other tower beat Rye, Sussex, for progress during 1956? Twelve members rang their first quarter and five their first 'inside. During the year 23 past and present members took part in the eight quarter peals rung. Of these, six were for services.
Mr. W. W. Wolstencroft, who celebrated his 82 nd birthday last month, went into hospital on December 17 th for a minor operation.

Mr. J. E. Jeater has received a 10s, note and a postal order for 4s. 6d. bought at Tonbridge, Kent, with a blank subscription form. Will the sender please communicate with him.
Owing to a prior engagement, Mr. H. E. Audsley, Master of the Socicty of Royal Cumberland Youths, was unable to attend the Universities' Association dinner. He sent the Society's fraternal grectings and best wishes for 1957.

By ringing a peal of Stedman Triples at Almondsbury (Glos) Tudor P. Edwards has now rung Stedman from Doubles to Cinques. This is also the first peal Albert V. Bennett (instructor at St. John-on-the-Wall, Bristol School of Ringing) has attempted in almost ten years.
At St. John-the-Baptist's Church, Erith, an ' in memoriam ' peal to Mr. Isaac Emery was rung on December 28th. It was here he rang his first peal-Grandsire Triples-in August, 1890. Ringing in the peal on December 28th were Mr. Arthur S. Richards and Mr. Frederick J. Cullum, who rang their first peals with Mr. Emery.
Mr. Ernest Morris, of St. Margaret's, Leicester, wishes to thank the band who rang the peal at Thurcaston on December 22nd for allowing him to conduct. It completed his 650th peal as conductor, and, by a coincidence, his 1.650 th peal. He has thus rung in 1,000 peals with conductors other than himself.

THE REV. F. LLEWELLYN EDWARDS

1)Y the passing on Christmas Eve of the Rev. F. Ll. Edwards, the Salisbury Diocesan Guild suffers a loss which will be very difficult to replace.

Born at The Rectory, Kington Magna, in 1873, he was educated at Bath College, New College, Oxford, and Ridley Hall College, Cambridge. He taught for two years in Switzerland. He was ordained in Liverpool Cathedral in 1902 and worked there as Precentor at St. Paul's, Princes Park. He afterwards held chaplaincies in Seville, Spain. and Nicosia, Cyprus.

He was inducted as Rector of Kington Magna in November, 1908, remaining there until his retirement in July, 1956, with the exception of one year, 1926, when he took an appointment in Cyprus. During his time at Kington Magna the organ was reconstructed and the ring of bells augmented to five. He introduced orchestral music and handbell ringing in his church on festival davs and taught the village schoolchildren to sing in seven languages.
After his ministry at Kington Magna Mr. Edwards' interest was in campanology; he was appointed a representative to the Central Council in 1911 and remained so until his death: his record of attendance is second to none. He was appointed hon. secretary and treasurer of the Salisbury Guild in 1913 and remained such until 1950 . He was a great organiser and during his term of office the Guild celebrated its Jubilee, when the president, the Earl of Shaftesbury, presided at the annual meeting in the Chapter House and afterwards at lunch in a large marquee in the Cathedral grounds, to which 342 ringers sat down. Another large gathering was held at Milton Abbey in 19:4, when Mr. Edwards received a presentation after 21 years as hon. secretary; on this occasion 350 sat down to tea.

Mr. Edwards was not a great peal ringer: his peals number six.

THE FUNERAL

The Church of All Saints, Kington Niagna, was filled for the funeral on December 29th. The service was conducted by the new Rector, the Rev. H. B. Snelgrove, the lesson was read by the Rev. R. G. Chaffey Moore, chairman of the North Dorset Branch, the committal was taken by the Archdeason of Dorset, the Ven. E. L. Seager, who also represented the Bishop of Salisbury. Other robed clergy present were the Revs. H. L. Davis and R. A. Wells (hon. secretary. North .Jorset Branch), who also represented Canon C. Carew Cox, Master of the Guild.

The Guild was represented by Messrs. A. F. Martin Stewart (Past Master), W. C. West (hon. secretary and treasurer), F. S. Slatford (assistant hon. secretary), H. Roles (chairman, Salisbury Branch), W. C. Shute (Ringing Master), A. T. Weeks ishairman, Devizes Branch), P. W. Harding (Ringing Master) and L. E. Hitchens (Devizes Branch), L. J. Lockyer (chairman, Wimborne Branch): and Mr. Sutton and Mr. W. A. Osborn (representing Central Council and Bath and Wells Diocesan Association).

Wreaths were sent from Salisbury Guild, North Dorset. Marlborough and Dorchester Branches; and from All Saints' tower, Kington Magna.
The North Bradley ringers rang a course of Grandsire on handbells at the graveside, and the local ringeis rang half-muffled before and after the service. A quarter peal was rung by visitors as the evening was closing in.

An Appreciation

The passing from our midst of Frank Llewellyn Edwards will be mourned throughout the Salisbury Diocese as well as by many all over the country who have valued memories of their association with him. 1 have known him for 40 years past, to appreciate him as one of the old school of country clergymen, whose solidity and even temper werc the basis of an immense influence and commanded the respect, not only of those who came under his ministrations, but of all who could call him either acquaintance or friend. A well-travelled man, he was also a versatile musician and all kinds of instruments could be seen in the sitting room of his Rectory, while an imposing array of handbells lined the entrance hall. There at Kington Magna he was content to be the unassuming parish priest for 48 years, enjoying a little farming at the same time.
His love of bells and ringing, of course, goes without saying. Some may know that he had a few bells roughly hung in one of his barns, though I never heard of any performances on them. He never sought much peal ringing and I believe the last he rang was the clerical Grandsire Triples at East Hagbourne in 1935. The annual clerical tour was always a joy to him, and he* was with us on the Derbyshire one last April, notwithstanding a long period in hospital the year before.
But his outstanding work was his 37 years' service as general secretary of the Salisbury Diocesan Guild. To know that he was at the helm was to be quite confident of sound progress and of the safeguarding of all the members' interests. I myself know as much as anyone what that exacted in time and labour, and what the Guild owes to his wisdom, care, discretion and experience is really inestimable.
Our memories will be of a good man: a lovable, knowledgeable personality: of whom it may surely be recorded - Because of the House of the Lord our God I will seek to do thee good.

May he find Rest Eternal.

VICTORIA, B.C., CATHEDRAL BAND

Mr, E. W. Izard, ringing captain of Christ Church Cathedral, Victoria, B.C., in a letter to Mir. G. E. Symonds, of lpswich, states that the two west towers of the Cathedral are now completed and all scaffolding has now been removed. There is a space six feet wide all round the bell frame with a platform running right round, and a stsirway leading to another small platform up to a door connecting the passageway to the other tower.
Visitors can now look down on the bells from above while they are being rung. All is very clean and tidy. The ringing chamber is now lined right up to the ceiling with soundproof material.
-The ringing has improved and we can muster a full band of eight on Sunday mornings and usually another band for evening service. Eight junior ringers are making very good progress.

We ring Bob Maior. Stedman and Grandsire Triples, and the striking is good. We wish there were more visiting ringers to help; we also need competition.

British Columbia is experiencing an inflatory period and a mechanic's wage, when such things as holidays with pay and medical services are taken into account, amounts to practicaliy $£ 1$ an hour.

MORE BELFRY GOSSIP

Correction. - The paragraph relating to a Christmas display, in which recordings of two Berkshire rings of eight were given, was at Messrs. Chapman's Stores, of Taunton, and not Swindon, as appeared in our columns. This error is regretted.

In honour of the 88 th birthday of Mr. Samuel Joncs, a peal of London Surprise Major was rung in his own tower, Eccleston (Cheshire). Since the bells were installed he has bestowed a loving care on them and he can be justly proud of the state of the ringing room and bell chamber. Mr. Jones, who still enioys ringing for service, entertained the band to tea after the peal during which he received ' many happy returns of the day.

Formed 18 months ago with only two experienced ringers-S. Talbot and Roy Collins -Chobham (Surrey) have rung their first quarter peal. There are 18 regular ringers with several more on the waiting list. The eight bells have been rung for all Sunday services since the formation of the new band and also for mid-week festivals. With fecs received from weddings the belfry has been refurnished and a substantial tower fund started. In the past Chobham has always been a stoney tower.

REDEDICATIONS

BRAMPTON, CUMBERLAND

During the Patronal Festival on St. Martin's Day (November 11th), the bells of Brampton, Cumberland, were rededicated during Evensong by the Lord Bishop of Perrith.

This ring of bells was cast by Thomas Mears, of London, in 1826, and were hung in the old Parish Church. They were hung in the present church in 1906. To mark the jubilee of the completion of the church the bells have been quarter-turned, fitted on ball bearings, new fittings and the frame strengthened. The work was carricd out by Mears and Stainbank.
The bells are now in excellent condition; in fact a quarter peal rung after the service by members of the Cumberland and North Westmorland Association, was ten minutes faster than the previous quarter.
Participating in the quarter peal of Bob Minor were: S. Hodgson 1, J. Ling 2, A. Forsyth 3, J. B. V. Porter 4, J. Boustead 5, J. Butterfield (conductor) 6.

WENHASTON, SUFFOLK

Removed from St. Peter's Church at Wenhaston last June for restoration work, the ring of six bells, recently rehung in the belfry, was rededicated by the Vicar of Great Yarmouth (the Rev. A. G. G. Thurlow) on December 29th in the presence of a large congregation, including many members of the Suffolk Guild.
Accompanied by the Vicar (the Rev. L. R. Manthorp), Mr. Thurlow carried out the rededication in the ringing room, and the bells were rung immediately afterwards by Mr. J. W. Blythe (secretary of the Suffolk Guild), Mi. R. W. Clouston (a Bisbop's representative of the Advisory Committec), Mr. J. Gibson, Mrs. J. W. Blythe, Nir. R. Pearce and Mr. E. Battle.

The redtoration of the $\mathrm{i}_{i}$ bells, carried out by Messis. John Taylor, of Loughborough, and costing $£ 1,185$, included the recasting of the fourth, a pre-Reformation bell, dated 1450, and weighing seven cwt. It was originally cast at Bury St. Edmunds. Special permission had to be obtained from the Chancellor of the Diocese for the bell to be remade by using most of the old metal. The shoulder and inscribed band were cut off and are placed beside a window of the church.
The three small bells-the treble is dated 1787, the second 1787 and the third 1823have been recast. The fifth bell, which was recast in 1947, and the tenor, dated 1500 and cast at Norwich, have been retuned.

The wooden bell frame was found to be badly affected by the death-watch beetle, and has been replaced by a metal frame which alone cost $£ 450$.
This work, together with necessary builder's work, is expected to involve an expenditure of $£ 1,300$. Since the bell fund appeal was opened in July nearly f 350 has been raised. A grant of $£ 50$ is to be made by the diocese.
A later improvement planned is a new ringing floor to shorten the long bell ropes, and convert the ground level ringing floor to a choir vestry. This would cost between $£ 200$ and £ 300 .

BELLRINGERS OF ST. PETER'S CHURCH, DROGHEDA, who won the Murphy Cop (All Ireland) and Lindoff Cup (Eastern District) Striking Competitions, 1956, and the Attendance Challenge Shield ( 100 per cent.).

Enterprise at Sutton, Surrey

At St. Barnabas', Sutton, Surrey, there is a turret containing one tubular bellthe tencr of a proposed eight. This was hung, when the church was built in the $1880^{\prime}$ s. and it has not been possible to add any other tubular bells up to now. Also in the turret is a loudspeaker, over which, for some years, a record has been played. This has caused a considerable annoyance to one or two ringers who attend St. Barnabas', and an attempt is being made to get rid of the record.

On Christmas morning, 1956, for the first time, a 'live' broadcast of bells was heard from the lurret. Six of the 'young adults' of the congregation had gaihered in the north porch where, complete with eight handbells borrowed from a nearby tower, and two microphones wired to the amplifying system, they rang rounds, queens and plain hunting before 8 a.m. Communion and Mattins. This proved to be a great success, although several technical details have still to be improved on.

The ringers are to be congratulated on a very good performance, especially when it is borne in mind that only one had handled a bell up to three months ago.

BATS IN THE BELFRY

Dear Sir,-The recent correspondence in your columns regarding the presence or otherwise of bats in belfries interests me, but I have not written sooner because I felt that the original letter could not have been intended to be taken seriously.

My first encounter with a bat was in the summer of 1955, when, one day during the holidays I was in the belfry (on the ground floor) teaching my daughter to handle a bell, and I happened to look over her head on to the window sill behind her, where I saw what I thought was a small black fungoid growth. Being naturally inquisitive about such things, I stopped ringing to investigate, and found that it was, in fact, a young bat. My first reaction was of repulsion, but I soon found such a feeling to be quite unnecessary, indeed unworthy almost, for it was quite helpless, and lay in my hand motionless. It put paid, of course, to ringing for the afternoon, and instead we carried the new 'pet' home and put it out of reach of the cat in my daughter's moth-breeding cage! The next move was to read all we could about the animals, and we found that this was, in fact, a very young pipistrelle bat, and a very pretty thing it was, too. I fed it some milk with a fountain-pen filler, and found it could take about three drops every hour or so. Eventually by next afternoon it became strong enough to hang on to the gauze side of its cage and so I let it fly around the room. It soon found it way out of the window and flew off-I presume back home. From what I can learn they have a homing instinct, but am prepared to be corrected on that score.

The next experience was when I took some youngsters up to see the bells, and there were half a dozen bats hanging from the rafters in the roof. It was easy to catch four of them, to see just what they were like, and they turned out to be long-eared bats, not so handsome as pipistrelles, but nevertheless not by any means repulsive. Incidentally, there is no fear at all of a bat ever getting caught in anybody's hair, or colliding with anybody or anything, for man has yet to invent a radar mechanism as accurate as a bat's. Yes, there are bats in belfries, and they make a most interesting study.-Yours faithfully,

Eastleigh, Hants. $\qquad$ R. A. REED.

PEALS AT HOAR CROSS

Dear Sir ,-With reference to the footnote to the peal at Hoar Cross on November 24th, saying it was the 'quickest peal on the bells,' this is incorrect. On May 26th, 1934, Mr. J. T. Dyke rang the tenor to Bob Minor in 3 hours and 17 minutes. This was before the bells were rehung - a fine performance. And on September 5th, 1936, a peal of Minor in four methods was rung in 3 hours and 21 minutes, the tenor being rung by myself. Both peals were well struck.-Yours sincercly,
A. PATRICK CANNON.

Dorking.

Dear Sir,-The footnote added to the peal at Hoar Cross (' Ringing World,' page 820 ) is open to question, as I believe a quicker peal was rung in 1953.
I do not believe that any peal band has much reason for 'self-glorification' with such a foolnote to a peal on a heavy ring (or any ring for that matter).

If it were ethical to print such a footnote as - Believed to be the best-struck peal on the bells, and the conductor could add this with all sincerity, then peal ringing throughout the Exercise would in all probability be of a higher standard.-Yours faithfully,
Penkridge, Staffs.

PRAISE FOR STONEY STANTON

Dear Sir,-On Christmas Eve I paid a visit to my home tower of Stoney Stanton, Leicestershire, and as I approached the church I noticed the good standard of ringing that was taking place. On entering the belfry I found what I believe to be one of, if not the youngest eight-bell bands in the country, ringing for the midnight service. The ages of the participating ringers were, from treble to tenor respectively, $13,13,13,12,17,14,14,16$, giving an average age of 14 . I am very interested to know if there is any tower in the country that can boast of a younger eight-bell band who regularly ring for services.
Although only call changes were being rung by this young band, it only needed three substitutes (one on the tenor) before, a very good touch of Grandsire Triples was rung.

I would like, through the columns of "The Ringing World,' to offer my congratulations to - The Brothers Vernon,' Mr. Graham T. Ball and Mr. Nun L. Walker, for the fine work they have done in getting and training and being able to keep such a fine young band of ringers in less than six months. Not to be forgotten, of course, are the young ringers themselves, who I hope will persevere and keep climbing the ladder of progress.
Incidentally, for the information of Mr . York-Bramble and his College of Campanology, the Manual was definitely not used to instruct these ringers. If it had been I doubt whether they would have progressed' so far in the time. if they could have stuck to its long-winded course.-Yours faithfully,

JOHN A. SMITH.

Bitterne's New Ring

In our issue of December 14 th we mentioned that the Church of Ascension, Bitterne Park, Southampton, was to have a ring of eight bells. On Advent Sunday the Vicar (the Rev. R. O. Stephenson) launched an appeal for 1.000 guineas-in the form of $500^{\text {'stakes }}$ ' of two guineas each. Already 180 'stakes' have been either given or promised. Members of the Southampton University Socicty rang changes on handbells at the service.
The Vicar also desires to acknowledge the kindness of the Vicar of Preston Candover and his Parochial Church Council in presenting the bell from the demolished church at Nutley, which will be used in the casting of the new bells.

NORTH HAYLING BELLS

Dear $\mathrm{Sir},-\mathrm{I}$ was delighted to see the photograph in last week's issue of 'The Ringing World ' of the bells of St. Peter's, North Hayling.
My brother (who is churchwarden) and I took rubbings from the bells only last year, and I referred to Messrs. Mears and Stainbank for information about them.
As you will sec from the photograph, the bells are chimable, not ringable: they are still on half-wheels. My brother and 1 chimed them on Christmas Day, and I was delighted to be told by listeners that they had never heard them sound better.
If, as seems possible, I move during the coming year to Hayling Island, I shall hope to meet MI. Buswell and hope that 1 shall be invited to ring at Havant.-Yours truly,

DORIS H. SHEPPARD.

May I wish him a speedy recovery back to health and a happy New Year-Yours sincercly.

OBITUARY

MR. I. EMERY

The funeral of the late Mr. Isaac Emery took place at Ottery St. Mary, Devon, on December 19th. Despite the short notice Mr. David Martin was able to attend to represent SS. Peter and Paul's Church, Bromley, and the Lewishan District of the Kent County Association, and floral tributes were sent by Bromley Parish Church and the Kent County Association. Un December 28 th a memorial peal of Stedman Triples was rung at St. John's, Erith, the church where Isaac Emery rang his first peal.

MR. W. H. SHORT

'The Ringing Towers ' received this week records the death of Mr. W. H. Short, of Sydney, New South Wales, on October 3i)th. He rang the treble to the first peal rung by resident ringers in Sydney, the first peal for the New South Wales Association, the world's record peal of Doubles and the first peal of Boh Minor outside the British Isles. He had rung eight peals for the New South Wales Association and 61 quarters.
In an appreciation, W. M. R. writes: ' Harry was one of the old-time ringers who are fast dying out. His love of bells and the companionship of men and women with the same great interest was his life. Harry was meticulous about his appointments and was always quarter to half an hour early for a ring, be it a peal, a practice or Sunday service ringing. Like most of the old-timers, he was always ready to turn up and help the beginner with his presence and his knowiedge.

NORTH STONEHAM TEN REDEDICATED

SATURDAY, Desember 8th, dawned somewhat drear and drizzly, but in spite of such unwelcoming weather a large congregation gathered at the Church of St. Nicholas. North Stoneham, for the dedication of the recast bells. Of the 260 people who attended the service, about 60 were ringers from local towers and from places as far distant as Farnborough, Preston Candover, Salisbury, Bournemouth and Basingstoke.
The service was conducted by the Bishop of Southampton (the Right Rev. K. H. Lamplugh). The Rev. S. C. Wincott (curate of the parish) acted as Bishop's chaplain, and the other clergy present were the Rector (the Rev. W. F. Shail), Canon H. D. Cæsar (Rural Dean of Southampton), the Rev. W. V. Lambert (Vicar of Eastleigh) and the Rev. K. W. H. Felstead. Also present was the Mayor of Eastleigh and members of the Borough Council.
After the opening prayer and exhortation by the Bishop, the Te Deum was sung, followed by the lesson from the Book of Numbers read by the Mayor. The ringers hymn, 'Unchanging Ged, Who Livest Enthrones in Realms on High,' was followed by the Creed and pravers for all benefactors, for the craftsmen and for the Guild. As the Bishop, preceded by the Rector and churchwardens, walked to the tower, another ringers' hymn was sung, - Ring Forth, Holy Bells,' and with the congregation facing west, the dedication was carried out. Mr. J. P. Fidler, on behalf of the founders, handed the ropes to the churchwarden, who then handed them to the Bishop, asking him to dedicate the bells to the glory of God and for the use of His Church.
At the end of the dedication ceremony the bells were rung in rotads by ten members of the local band-R. A. Reed 1, C. Murphy 2, A. M. Reed 3, Niss A. Vinter 4. C. Taylor 5, A. Smith 6. D. Forder 7, L. Stead 8, N. Hayes 9. J. L. Dacombe 10 . Then the carol ' Ding Dong! Merrily on Hioh ' was sung.
In an anecdotal sermon, the Bishop reminded the congregation of the picture they sometimes drew of home when away- a green valley with a few trees, a placid stream flowing into a lake, a country church with a lower, and then from the tower the rells ring out, and at once the picture tecomes alive.'
When he thourht cf bells he thought of a friend of his, who every evening used to goto the local pub and on his way always met the Vicar of his parish. One evening, when he was starting his car, hc heard the church bells ringing for Evensoag, and it made him think of the Vicar. He thought: 'Tiat's his life, and this is mine, hut 1 wonder which is right in the eyes of God?' So he deeided to go to church instead of to the put ithat evening. Now he was one of the leadirg lavmen in the Diocece. He felt he must congratulate the people of the parish. who had raised $£ 320$ of the $£ 650$ needed to pay for the bells.
During the hymn - Argol Voices Ever Singing, which followed the sermon, a collection in aid of the Bell Fund was taken, which realised $£ 13$. Finally, after the Blessing, the bells were rung again by members of the local band, followed by the first changes on the new bellsa course of Grandsire Caters by members of the Winchester Guild and the University Guild.
Tea was provided by the Mothers' Union. and about leo peop:c (the Bishop included) assembled in the Church Hall to partake of an asmple meal, at 1s. 3d. per head, as a result of which another $£ 5$ ¢s. Was added to the Bell Fund.
The bells were rung to a variety of methods and a great many rounds until 9 oclock. and the ringers went home satisfied that the bell founders had, as was to be expected, done a first-rate iob, for the bells are now a most first-rate iob, hor the teirg 10 cwt . 1 qr. 16 lh .

DIG THOSE CRAZY BELLS!

IT was a wet New Year's Eve, but not too cold. At halfpast eleven we all climbed up the sixty-odd steps to the ringing room. One boy unhooked the chiming apparatus and we rang up the bells; the front eight went quickly up in peal and then the men slowly pulled up the heavy back four bells.

After many weeks of waiting, the new ropes had at last arrived and had been hung in time for the New Year ringing. The boys were now bustling around, putting out of harm's way the weights that had been tied to the foot of the ropes.

We have an euthusiastic band of young ringers, eight little boys who were literally ringing in the New Year for the first time. Some mothers and fathers had come with them, to see what it was that drew their offspring to the tower every Thursday night and twice on Sundays. They were seated in the safety of the window-seats, high up above our heads, as the junior band sent the front eight round. It was because the parents were there that we didn't notice the Teddy Boy earlier.

He had followed them up the tower and we thought he was with them; they thought he was a ringer. He clapped enthusiastically as the junior band stood their bells, and then grabbed hold of the nearest rope. Calmly, but firmly, the Master eased it from his hands and persuaded him to sit on the box in the centre of the room.

We rang a touch of Grandsire until midnight. The Teddy Boy sat facing us, beating his clenched fists on his knees, stomping his suede-shod foot, and screwing up his eyes in ecstacy. When a bob or a single was called, he jerked himself right up and flung back his head. He clapped again when we had finished and grabbed a spare rope. But this time we were ready. Pointing to the clock, the Master told him to watch how we rang in the New Year. The clock chimes whirred, then Derek rang the twelve strokes on the tenor. We stood by the other eleven ropes, ready to come in quickly if he failed to balance it on the twelfth stroke. But he held it and we were able to burst into graceful and unhurried rounds on the twelve. This really sent the Teddy Boy. He twisted round and round on the box, his fists pounding away, on his knees, on the box, in the air, and even, when 11 was called over 7 , on his head.

He cheered loudly when we finally stood. This time he made for the 9 th, but he was headed off, and again persuaded to sit down, while we rang a touch of Plain Bob. This time his ecstasies were interrupted by the whispering of three little boys in one of the window seats. 'Sssssshhh!' he hissed. They were so surprised that they fell silent immediately. Then he noticed that they were bent over a paper. He jumped up and took it from them. 'Sssh!' he hissed again and shook his finger at them. Plain Bob developed the hiccups as heads turned to see that he didn't touch a spare rope. I made an extra dodge, jumped to lead in one blow and gulped hard, but he went straight to his seat and swung again to the music.

The bells went down as they went up, in two peals, and the back four were almost too much for him. He swayed down, his head between his knees, his fists drumming on his neck, his thick-soled shoe still stomping hard.

When at last all the bells were down and the little boys were clattering down the stairs, it was safe to persuade him to go home. But I think we shall all remember ringing in this New Year! And now we are wondering. Will bell-ringing take the place of rock ' $n$ ' roll in 1957? Dig those crazy bells!

ADELE J. BAGNALL.

ARCHDEACONRY OF HALIFAX GUILD

The annual meeting of the Guild was held at Halifax Parish Church on January 5th. The bolls were put to good use during the afternoon to suit all tastes, and an excellent tea was provided at the residence of a member of the local band.

At the business meeting in the vestry the chair was taken by the Archdeacon, the Ven. E. Treacy. After an opening prayer the Archdeacon welcomed the Guild and said he particularly wished to thank those who had assisted in training the new team at this towes.
The annual report showed all six meetings had been held, although two had proved dfficult to arrange. The general standard of ringing continued to improve and the attendance had been up to average. Financially there was a net loss on the year of 5 s . 8 d ., but with a reasonable balance in hand and several arrears of contributions to come in, the matter should be corrected this year.
All officers were re-elected for the coming year with the exception of one committee member. A vote of thanks to the local company was proposed by Mr. W. Bottomley, and Mr. P. Birkett very ably thanked the Archdeacon. After a discussion regarding the March meeting, the business closed with the Blessing. Further ringing followed until $8.30 \mathrm{p} . \mathrm{m}$.

About 30 members and visitors attended during the day. Ringing included Cambridge and London Surprise Major, Stedman Caters, Treble Bob Royal, rounds on twelve and the mple methods on eight and ten bells. The striking was up to a good standard, and this was the best annual meeting in the short history of the Guild.

YORKSHIRE ASSOCIATION Eastern District

The winter meeting was held at Howden on January 5 th, and was attended by about 30 ringers representing 12 towers. The service in church was conducted by the Vicar, Canon Pattinson. Tea was served in the Church Hall, followed by the business meeting, presided over by Mr. H. Walker, of York, in place of the vicepresident. Mr. A. E. Sellers, who was indisposed.

Four new members were elected: Mr. A. R. Hall and Misses Barbara Hall and Margaret Coward, all of Selby, and Mr. G. Cromack, of Carlton. St. Mary's, Beverley, was chosen as the next place of meeting, with Hull and Driffield as alternatives.
The usual votes of thanks were passed, and the Vicar welcomed all to Howden on this his first meeting since his recent induction. Mr. E. Philpot replied for the local company and ladies who prepared tea. Apologies for absence were received from Messrs. A. E. Sellers and F. Wilkinson.

FIFTY YEARS AGO IN NORFOLK

Recalling his journey to Gaywood 50 years ago on Nov. 5th, 1906, when the six new bells were rung as King Edward VII. passed through the village on his way to open King's Lynn Grammar School for Boys, Mr. Edward Barker, of Shouldham, gives the band as follows:Charles Sedgley 1, J. W. Sedgley 2, Arthur E. Porter 3, Richard Watson 4, Henry Tedder 5, E. Barker 6. To reach Gaywood Mr. Barker and his friends hired a horse and cart-a mode of travel which may have to be resorted to in 1957 if the petrol shortage continues. The bells had been opened a few days earlier, on October 25th, 1906.

THE LADIES' GUILD

Central District's Presentation to Miss Lawrence

The Central District held a very successful meeting at Wood Green on December 29th. Upwards of 40 members and friends were present during the afternoon, the six bells being put to good use and a variety of methods to suit all tastes.
A fine tea was prepared by members of the District Committee in the nearby Church Hall, after which Mrs. K. Lock proposed a vote of thauks to the Vicar, to the local tower secretary (Mr. B. Allen) for arranging the meeting, and to those who had helped with the tea.

Mrs. Lock then said that she had a more unusual duty to perform, and having wished the District secretary, Mary Lawrence, every happiness in her forthcoming marriage, presented her with a pair of very handsome tablecloths. Miss Lawrence warmly thanked the president and members for their unexpected and generous gift. The gentlemen then left for further ringing, and the ladies held their business meeting, eleven new members being elected, and alterations to the rules and the proposed Guild dinner being discussed.
It was agreed to send a message of congratulation to Mrs. F. J. Matthews on the birth of a daughter, and one wishing a speedy recovery to the Hon. Barbara Gibbs, of Hunsdon, who had recently undergone a serious operation.
Members then attended Evensong, after which further ringing took place, including Bob Minor and Grandsire Doubles by an all-ladies' band.

At the conclusion of the peal at Reedham, Norfolk, on December 27 th , the ringers found a blackboard standing the church the Rectory for a cup of Come over to they availed for a cup of tea. Needless to say, were entertained by the Rector and his wife. The Rector has taken up ringing and is at present struggling with Grandsire Doubles.
There were five Chaddocks in a peal at Rotherham on Boxing Day-Norman, his wife and two children and his brother, Herbert 0 .
The peal rung at Cowbridge, Glam, on Dec. 29th was rung as a compliment to the Rev. Ernest P. Evans, who, at 30 , is the youngest priest ever to be appointed Canon of a Cathedral in the Principality.

Mr. Cecil Goldsmith, half-brother of the late Mr. John S. Goldsmith, who lives at Aldrington, Hove, had a quarter peal rung in honour of his 87 th birthday last September. On all practice nights he never fails to come and stay the evening with the young ringers in the belfry.

Mr. R. A. Reed has 'completed the circle' of North Stoneham tower three times during his fifty peals on the bells. The 250th peal in the tower was an 'in memoriam' for Mr. W. T. Tucker, who conducted the first peal here on February 15th, 1905.

Mr. Richard J. Bowden, of Tiverton, has accepted a post with his firm at Plymouth, and takes up duty there early in the New Year. While working in the Bristol area during the past six years, he has taken part in many peals on both sides of the Bristol Channel. His ringing friends will wish him every success in his new post and look forward to future reunions.

GOSSIP

 Oxford and Canon of Christ Witton-Davies, is keenly interested in rinein and used to ring regularly at St. David's Cathedral, where he was the Dean. All ringers received a good welcome at the Cathedral, and he was also interested in the work of St. David's Diocesan Guild of Bellringers. :We of the Guild have lost a good friend,' writes the Master, Mr. E. J. Thomas.Can any reader supply a copy of "The Ringers' Commandments '?
Squadron Leader John S. Mason, Master of the Ancient Society of College Youths', has been invited to take the chair at the Henry Johnson dinner at Birmingham.
The peal of Stedman Caters at Leominster was arranged and rung as a farewell to the Vicar, the Rev. S. M. F. Woodhouse, who is going to St. Stephen's Church, Bristol. He went up to the tower after the peal to thank the ringers and told them how long the peal had taken!
The band who rang in the peal at Willenhall, Staffordshire, on December 29th, congratulate Mr. C Wallater on ringing his 100 th peal in this tower. The peal was one of Mr. Wallater's own arrangement, and the conductor thanks Mr. Wallater for giving her the honour of calling the peal on this special occasion.

Keith Williams, a ringer at St. Michael and All Angels', Pelsall, who was suddenly posted to Cyprus in August, arrived in England on Christmas Eve. All his friends in the Walsall area hope that he will be able to make up for lost time in 'tower-grabbing ' and peal-ringing. Throughout his travels a copy of 'Dove' managed to stay with him.

MR. FRANK T. FGLAGROVE - MISS MONICA HOWARD

The wedding took place at St. Andrew's Church, Clewer, on December 22nd, between Miss Monica Howard, of Clewer, and Mr. Frank T. Blagrove, of Stanwell.

The bride, who was given away by her father, wore a white lace ballet-length dress with a matching headdress, and carried a white prayer book with a spray of orchids. She was attended by her friend, Miss Janet Pusey, who wore a lime-green brocade dress with a feathered headdress and carried a spray of yellow roses.

The bride and bridegroom are well-known ringers in the Windsor district, and were greeted at the church by many ringing friends. The best man, Mr. Frederick R. Scott, is also a local ringer.

The bells were rung before and after the ceremony by friends and fellow-ringers, touches of Stedman and Grandsire Doubles being brought round.
The reception was held in the Tudor Room of the Windlesora Restaurant, Windsor, where the guests were entertained with tunes on handbells rung by Mr. Jeffery C. Birt and Mr. W. Butler. The health of the bride and bridegroom was ably proposed by Mr. A. H. Cross.

'THE ARCHERS' HAD NO BELLS FOR THEIR WEDDING

The omission of bells from the broadcast of the Archer wedding, in this popular B.B.C. feature was noted by Mr. J. T. Symonds, of Ashtead, Surrey, who sent to the B.B.C. the following letter of protest:-
' Dear Sir,-I am an enthusiastic bellringer and only one of thousands spread throughout the length and breadth of the British Isles. I listened in to "The Archers,", as usual, last evening but was amazed to find that although the instalment covered Christine Archer's wedding, including the scene outside the church, there was no sound of bells.
'We know that there are bells at Ambridge, while it is a well-known fact that ringers are only too willing and anxious to ring for the wodding of anyone even remotely connected with bellringing. Dan Archer himself being a bellringer, I cannot understand the omission, and perhaps you will explain.-Yours faithfully,

> J. T. SYMONDS.'

Mr. Gordon Baseley, organiser, Rural Programmes, Television Editor, 'The Archers,' gave the following reply to Mr. Symonds on January 8th.-
' Dear Mr. Symonds, - In reply to your letter of December 18 th, the reason for not including the bells in the wedding scene of Christine and Paul was that there was other material to deal with at the time when the bells would naturally have been ringing, and we thought it would be better to concentrate on one idea at a time. You will, however, be hearing bells again in the not too distant future.'

MR. PERCY DERBYSHIRE'S 60 YEARS' SERVICE

January 2nd, 1957, will long be remembered as a special occasion at Worsley, Lancashire. On that day, Mr. Percy Derbyshire's 78th birthday, a peal of Grandsire Caters was rung to mark his completion of 60 years' service as a ringer at St. Mark's Church the previous month. Mr . Derbyshire, who has for a long time been both tower leader and steeplekeeper at Worsley, is well known throughout the county and beyond, and the peal expressed the good wishes of many ringers besides those actually taking part.
After the peal had been successfully brought round, the churchwardens of Worsley, Messrs. E. Derbyshire and K. Preston, enterlaincd the band to dinner at the Bridgewater Hotel. Also present were the Vicar of Worsley, the Rev. T. Billington, who presided, the president of the Lancashire Association, the Rev. R. D. St. John Smith, and Mr. Alan Pendiebury, a member of the local band, who had that day completed his military service but was too late to stand in the peal.
The Vicar and wardens spoke in appreciation of Mr. Derbyshire's work, and the toast to his health was proposed by the president, who commented on the fact that he was still ringing round the bottom end-he had rung the ninth in the peal-but suggested that in a further ten or 15 years' time advancing age might compel Mr . Derbyshire to move up the circle a bit, perhaps as far as the sixth.
The conductor of the peal, Mr. Arthur Tomlinson, voiced the thanks of the band to the wardens for their kind hospitality, and handbell ringing then concluded the proceedings.

250th ANNIVERSARY OF RUGELEY BELLS

According to ancient records, the six bells of St. Augustine's Church, Rugeley, were installed at the end of the year 1706 , and first rung to ring in the New Year 1707. The back five were cast from the metal of four older bells, and a new treble added by Abraham Rudhall. They Fere installed in the old church, of which only the fower and chancel now remain, and transferred to the new church when it was built in 1823. None of them has been recast, so they now join the fast diminishing number of complete rings that are over 250 years old

The anniversary was fittingly celebrated during the last weekend of 1956 . Evensong on December 30 th took the form of a service of thanksgiving for the witness of the bells and the work of the ringers over 250 years. Special ringers' hymns were sung, and the specially chosen lessons were read by Mr. J. H. Joyner, captain of the local ringers, and Mr. F. Bennett, secretary of the Society of Change Ringers for the Archdeaconry of Stafford. After the first lesson, a well struck course of Grandsire Triples on handbells was rung by $\mathbf{M r}$. H. Knight $1-2, \mathbf{M r}$, F. Brotherton 3-4, Mr. T. Reynolds 5-6 and Mr. B. G. Key 7-8.

The sermon was preached by the Ven. W. A. Parker, Archdeacon of Stafford and president of the Society. He said how pleased he was that the Vicar of Rugeley had arranged this service to pay tribute to the work of the ringers over 250 years, work wheh was only too often taken for granted. One of the happiest features of his office was the close contact he had with the ringers of the Archdeaconry, and he made special mention of the fact that one of the handbell ringers (referring to Mr. H. Knight, of Wolverhampton) was, at 84, the oldest ringer in the Arcindeaconry, and among the oldest in the country. He said that the bells were the voice of the Church, and their message was one ot triumph. Even when ringing half-muffied, on occasions of mourning, the note of the triumph of Christ over $\sin$ and death was still there.

During the course of the service, the Archdeacon dedicated a peal board, recording a halfmuffled peal rung in September in memory of Mr. Alva G. Harding, who had been 'a member of the Rugeley band for over 20 years.

An attempt for a peal in six methods of Minor during the afternoon unfortunately came to grief, but a well struck 1.440 in two methods was achieved afterwards. The number of visiting ringers attending the service was no doubt kept down by petrol rationing, but those who did come were very welcome.

On New Year's Eve, the actual anniversary, the local band scored a peal of Grandsire Doubles in the evening, and later rang in the New Year in the traditional manner, carrying on the work begun 250 years ago.

During the week-end the tower was floodlit, for the first time in its history, and many parishioners commented on the beautiful effect achicved.

SWANSEA AND BRECON GUHLD

The annual meeting of the Northern Section of the Swansea and Brecon Guild was held at the old Parish Church of Devynock, on January 5th, by the invitation of the Vicar, the Rev. J. M. Davies. Those present remarked what a wonderful time they had, despite the weather. Between 30 and 40 ringers and friends sat down to tea. At the business meeting which followed, members stood in silence to the memory of the late Mr. Powell, of St. David's. Brecon. After the mecting ringing continued till 8 p.m.

GOLDHANGER HAS

MANY friends and ringers gathered at St. Peter's Church, Goldhanger, Essex, on December 17 th, for the dedication of a new treble bell recently added to the ring of seven. The service was conducted by the Rev. W. A. Randall (Rector). The dedication was performed by the Bishop of Colchester, the Right Rev. F. V. D. Narborough, who was mainly responsible for the gift of the bell from St. Giles' Church, Colchester, which has now been recast by John Taylor and Co., Loughborough.
After the dedication, as the Bishop returned from the belfry, a course of Grandsire Trebles was rung by a selected band of those present, including local ringers.
During his address the Bishop mentioned that the gift of this bell to Goldhanger had been made possible by the Colchester Reorganisation Sicheme, of which a lot of time had been spent in the last few years and a lot of unpopularity had been caused because some people think that old bells should be kept as muscum pieces. (This bell is by Miles Graye, 1657.) 'I feel happy,' said the Bishop, 'that this bell should be given to Goldhanger, where the ringers are so keen in their ringing and are pleasd to take time and trouble in the expenses incurred by the new bell. The bell sounds so happy amongst the others after being a single one at St. Giles' that it sounds well worthy of the name that Goldhanger suggests.

Among those present were Mr. E. C. Roast (Master of the South Eastern Division of the Essex Association), Mr. A. H. Everitt (secretary), Mr. H. J. Mansfield (Maldon, member of the Central Council), Mr, H. Gardner and his wife (the patron of the living) also representatives of the following towers: Great Totham, Boreham, Tolkeshunt D'Arcy, Maldon, Sandon, Tollesbury, Chelmsford Cathedral, Burnham-onCrouch and Danbury.
The most disappointed ringer was Mr. B. C. Mann, the local tower captain, who is in hospital for an emergency operation. The local ringers express their good wishes for a speedy recovery and their thanks to him for his efforts in the realisation of their ambition. Thanks also go to Mr. H. R. Appleton, who has performed the duties of treasurer.

For interest, the old six were rehung and a tenor added by Gillett and Johnston, of Croydon, in 1951, being dedicated on December 15th. The inscriptions and details are:-

CHERITON, HANTS

Despite the unfavourable weather, there was a good congregation of parishioners and ringers at St. Michael's Church, Cheriton, Hants, on December 15 th for the rededication of the bells by the Right Rev. Bishop Lang.

The service was conducted by the Rector, the Rev. A. P. Skene, and other clergy present were the Rev. E. W. Selwyn, Rural Dean, and the Rev. C. E. C. Brinkworth, Vicar of Preston Candover.

During the singing of the hymn, 'Praise, my soul, the King of Heaven,' the Bishop was escorted to the tower by the Rector and churchwarden for the dedication. After the dedication the Bishop, in his address, recalled that during the last war the bells were silent and were only to be rung to give warning of the landing of enemy forces. The Bishop reminded the congregation that the bells were still used to give warning of the forces of evil.

After the service the bells were rung by the local band and the visiting ringers until 4.30 p.m., when the company adjourned to the Parish Hall for an excellent tea, which the ladies of the congregation had prepared.

After tea a vote of thanks was proposed by Mr . P. Nash to the Rector, on behalf of the visiting ringers, for allowing them to come and ring that day, and also to the ladies for the fine tea they had provided. The Rev. C. E. C. Brinkworth endorsed the vote of thanks on behalf of the Winchester District of the Winchester and Portsmouth Diocesan Guild.
The bells were rung during the evening to Grandsire and Stedman Doubles and Plain Bob Minor, with rounds and call changes for the less experienced.
Messrs. Mears and Stainbank are to be congratulated on the very fine work which they have done and the excellent 'go' of the bells.

Maidstone Grammar Schools Society

In spite of bad weather, difficult bus services and increased fares, there were 19 pennle present at the meeting of Maidstone Grammar Schools' Society at Headcorn on January 5th.

In his address the Rev. Mr. Atkins described the history of Headcorn bells. Headcorn is fortunate in possessing a very complete record of the bells from the 17th century.

A wonderful tea of sandwiches and homemade cakes was enjoyed in the schoolroom, and at the business meeting, which followed, four honorary members were elected.
After the business was concluded members returned to the belfry. Method ringing included Stedman, Plain Bob and Grandsire.

GUILDFORD DIOCESAN GULD  Farnham District Nomination Meeting

The nomination meeting of the Farnham District was held at St. Michael's Church, Aldershot, on December 15th. Despite the bad weather and the petrol shortage, the meeting was well attended. The bells were rung from 2.30 p.m. . and during the afternoon there was a captains' meeting in the Church Hall.
The ringers' service was conducted by the Rev. T. H. Dart. Local ladies served an excellent tea in the Church Hall.

Mr. G. Grover was chairman for the business meeting, and he expressed the meeting's sympathy to Mr. W. Denyer, of Aldershot, who was seriously ill in hospital. After much discussion the names of Miss E. Turner and Mr. F. Cherryman, both of Worplesdon, were nominated for Ringing Master, and Mr. S. Russell (Ash) and Mr. T. Page (Aldershot) as deputy. Other officers were re-elected unopposed.
The annual meeting is to be held at Farnham on February 16th.

Ringing continued in the evening under the leadership of the Ringing Master, Mr. R. Corke.

Leatherhead District

The District held its last meeting of the year at Ashtead on December 8th. The usual ringing preceded the service, which was conducted by the Rev. A. W. Douglas. The local ladies had prepared a sumptuous tea in the schoolroom.
The Ringing Master, Mr. H. N. Pitstow. presided at the business meeting. A good start for 1957 was made by the election of five new members. Mr. Pitstow said that after ten years in that office he thought it time that someone else had a go, so Mr. H. V. Young was nominated as Ringing Master. Other nominations were: A. H. Smith, hon. secretary; Derek Astridge, assistant secretary; A. H. Winch, hon. auditor; and $G$. Marriner, representative on the Guild executive committee. The meeting closed with votes of thanks to Mr. Symonds and the ladies for the tea, and ringing was resumed until 8.30 .

BIDDENDEN YOUTHS

For the third year in succession the Society of Biddenden Youths (Kent) held their annual dinner and meeting at the Chequers on New Year's Eve. The evening's programme commenced with ringing at All Saints' until 7.30 when the party, which included the Rev. and Mrs. A. B. Richardson, Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Watts, Mr. and Mrs. G. S. Waters and Mr. and Mrs. H. Baker, from Frittenden, retired to the Chequers and enjoyed an excellent dinner.
After the customary toasts and specches, the annual meeting was held. All the present officers were re-elected except the secretary, Mr. H. Paine, who unfortunately wished to be relieved of his post. Miss Sheila Austin was proposed and she accepted. Four new members were elected.
A short social followed until 11 p.m.. when the company returned to the belfry. Ringing continued until 11.45 p.m., when the watch night service was listened to until midnight. Then Frank Goodearle, senior member of the band, rang in the New Year. This concluded a most enjoyable evening.

CHRISTMAS DAY BROADCAST

Dear Sir,-I cannot entirely agree with your anonymous critic's observation on the Christmas Day broadcast, particularly regarding Chester, Lambeth and Wymondham, as I indicated by the following notes made at the time, not (I must emphasise) in any extreme critical sense, as I am unacquainted with the circumstances, "go' of bells, etc., in most of the lowers concerned:-

Chester.-Grandsire Caters. Reasonably good.

Long Ashton.-Grandsire Triples. Fairly good.
Belfast. - Call change (13527468). A bit
Lambeth.-Stedman Triples. None too good. The band was unfortunate in having a most unmusical part of the touch 'on the air,' $1-5$ dodging behind almost all the time.

Greenock. - Grandsire Doubles. Badly chimed.

Newport.--Poor rounds. (An unusual 12.)
Wymondham,-Bob Triples. Poor ringing.
Bethlehem.-The usual 'babel.'
In my humble opinion, the ringing on the rather cumbersome Chester 10 was some of the best heard and, while perhaps not quite up to the standard of the more recently broadcast Grandsire Caters from Beverley Minster, it was at least comparatively simple to tell what was being rung, despite Stuart Hibbert's constant imterruptions !

I, too, heartily congratulate Mr. Pitstow and his band on their splendid television broadcast -excellent propaganda and all the more delightful as it came as a complete surprise to many of us. When one considers that, at my own fireside, I was able to amuse myself (and family) rendering piano accompaniment to ringers and bells some 200 miles away, in the opening sixes of the plain course of Stedman Triples, one cannot but wonder what will be the potentialities of bells and ringing in future generations.-Yours faithfully,

Liverpool.

'IN DOUBTFUL TASTE'

Dear Sir,-I should like to say a few words in protest against the remarks made by a "prominent member of the Central Council" - Ringing World,' January 4th) concerning the Christmas Day broadcast ringing. I think that the publication of remarks such as these are, to say the least, in very doubtful taste and are most unnecessary. Whatever one's personal opinions of the ringing, all the ringers taking part would naturally try to de their best, and the publication of these pompous remarks must be most discouraging to them.

It is noted that despite the prominence given to these remarks by means of the "black box" the Central Council member remains anonymous, and therefore the identity of his own tower is not known, but one wonders if their regular Sunday service band would do much better than that which has been described as 'fair ringing '?

On Christmas Day, of all times, those towers chosen to broadcast can have little or no outside assistance, and in addition to this there is the inevitable 'stage fright.'

Let us hope that the person concerned did not intend his observations to the Editor to be published.-Yours faithfully,
M. J. HORSEMAN.

Nailsea, Som.

Note.-One of the reasons of publication is to impress on the B.B.C. the necessity of consultations as to suitable bands and bells for the Christmas Day broadcast. There are good town and village Sunday service bands in the coun

BROADCAST GAVE PLEASURE

Dear Sir,-It was with very great disappointment, and I may say anger, that my wife and I read the insert on page 9 of your issue of January 4th on the Christmas Day broadcast. Countless ringers all over the country and overseas look forward to these broadcasts. I was unable to hear the ringing, but it gave my wife-also a ringer-a lot of pleasure.

It is of no great matter if criticisms of the ringing can be made-the point is that the ringers concerned were in their places ringing out the Christmas message, which, in case your ' eminent ringer who is also a member of the Central Council' is not aware of it, contains the phrase 'goodwill to all men.'

Your insert has done incalculable harm to the bands concerned, and will cost you quite a lot of subscribers, probably my own.

If all the Central Council can do is to make ridiculous rulings-and plenty have been made concerning peals, methods, nomenclature, etc. -the sooner it is disbanded the better.
I strongly suggest, too, if the circulation of - The Ringing World '-which is the mouthpiece of the Central Council-is to be maintained, it will do well to refrain from publishing such damaging articles. It would be a good thing, too, if this so-called "College of Campanology' vanished from the pages of the journal; it is unlikely to gain or keep any recruits to our belfries, and most of the devoted instructors who train and keep young bands together will gain nothing from it.

Finally, if certain people wish to criticise ringing, whether broadcast or not, let them write a letter to the Editor and let it be publisbed in full over the author's name.-Yours faithfully,
E. F. M. SAMSON,

Major, 17/21st Lancers.

B.A.O.R. 12.

Dear Sir,-Many of my ringing friends disliked the 'eminent ringer's' (C.C. member) criticism of the Christmas broadcast ringing.

Much better had it been for him to have thrown his pen under a steamroller !

Without doubt each tower did its best, and any mark of criticism should have been left out. The "eminent ringer' would have been more manly to have signed his name.-Yours faithfully,
H. A. PRICE.

SOUTH AFRICAN RINGER'S APPRECIATION

Dear Sir.-I arrived in this country in the beginning of March, 1956, with the intention of cycling round Britain. As a bellringer I was also looking forward to some ringing whilst I was over here. Coming from a country with only three towers, it seemed like Paradise to arrive in one with several thousand!

Although I have not been able to do as much ringing as I would wish, it has really added to my enjoyment of this trip. In all the belfries I have visited I have found a really friendly crowd of people, and I should like to take this opportunity of thanking those good ringers who have endured my struggles, when I have bcen passing through, especially the ringers of the Salisbury Diocesan Guild, with whom I spent several months, and where I learned most of what I do know.

I should like to add that a hearty welcome is extended to any ringers who may happen to pass through South African ports, to come and haye a pull!-Yours faithfully,

PATRICK F. CAHILL,

PEAL RINGING IN CUMBERUAND
Dear Sir,-We read with interest the article entitled 'Peals in Cumberland and Westmorland' in your issue of January 4th. It ig evident that your contributor, who styles himself 'A Local Ringer,' has spent some considerable time over his research, but in view of the many errors in his summary of peal ringing in Cumberland we conclude that he must be a Westmorland ringer and not a Cumbrian.

We would refer him to the short article by the Rev. K. W. H. Felstead in the issue of August 20th, 1954, which gives a concise picture of peal ringing in this district up to that date.

We would like, however, to correct a few of the errors so far as the county of Cumberland is concerned.

The peal book of the old Cumberland Association is credited with 36 peals rung between 1890 and 1946, when the Association ceased to exist. Two of these peals were rung in towers outside the territorial area of the Association and 23 were rung by resident ringers. In addition, seven peals were rung in the county during this period which were credited to other Associations. This makes a total for the period of 41 peals rung in the county.

The Cumberland and North Westmorland Association, founded in 1947, has 21 peals to its credit, two of which are handbell peals. Of the 19 tower bell peals, 16 have been rung if the county of Cumberland and 11 by resident ringers. In addition, one peal has been rung in the county since 1947 for another Association.

Thus a grand total of 58 peals rung in Cumberland to date, of which 34 have been rung by resident ringers, can be deduced.

A number of the Cumberland towers have higher individual totals than those indicated, and the following peals have been omitted from the article:-

Crosthwaite: Grandsire Triples, 1931; Kent Major, 1931 and 1948.

Cleater Moor: Grandsire Triples, 1935.
Egremont : Grandsire Triples, 1927 and 1928; Cambridge Minor, 1929; Grandsire Triples, 1936; Bob Major, 1953; Grandsire Triples, 1954.

Workington: Kent Major, 1928.
Hensingham: Bob Minor, 1931; Doubles, 1932; Two of Bob Minor, 1947; Bob Major, 1951: Grandsire Triples, 1951. (The peal of Major called by W. T. Holmes was rung in 1922 and not 1932 as stated.)

Arlecdon: Doubles, 1951.
Cockermouth: Bob Major, 1927; Kent Major, 1930; Treble Bob Minor, 1932.

St. Bees: Bob Minor, 1950 ; Double, 1950: Minor, 1951; Bob Major, 1951; Bob Minor, 1953.

The peal of Superlative called at Crosthwaite by W. Keeble was rung in 1925 and not 1952.

Your contributor is correct in assuming that no peals have as yet been rung at Irton, Silloth or Aspatria. The bells at the first two of these towers are now unringable. We would add that it appears that no peals have as yet beed rung at Brampton, Great Salkeld or Thursby.
We should also point out that a number of individual ringers have rung more than ten peals in Cumberland.

Your contributor seems to have overlooked most of the peals rung in Cumberland by local ringers, particularly those recorded in recent years, which seems strange and surprising in view of his nom de plume.
We are fully aware that our corrections to this list of peals may not be complete, and would welcome any information regarding this matter from other ringers.-Yours faithfully,

STANLEY RICHARDSON,
GRAHAM MCKAY
Whitehaven, Cumberland.

OBITUARY

GEORGE H. DAYNES AND ISAAC EMERY

By the death of these two ringers in recent weeks, two stalwarts of the Exercise have passed on. Each had a ringing career extending more than 65 years, and both were members of the band of octogenarians who rang a peal of Bob Major at St. John's, Deptford, getting on for five years ago, five of whom still survive.

George Daynes, then nearly 82, rang the tenor to this peal; a month or two later, just after his birthday, he called Holt's Original at Eltham, a remarkable feat for one of his age and one which he is the oldest ringer to have accomplished. His name first appeared in a Kent County Association peal in June, 1893, and his last peal was in November, 1954. His grandfather, Thomas Daynes, called the Association's first peal in October, 1881, having taken part in a peal at Goudhurst in 1854.

Mr. Daynes was at different times a member of the bands of Lewisham, St. Nicholas' and St. John's, Deptford, and Eltham. For quite a number of years he was both captain of the ringers and churchwarden at St. Nicholas', and the destruction of this church during the war was a great blow to him. He was a good ringer and striker and took part in some 200 peals, including 11,008 of Double Norwich at Erith in 1927.

As A. S. R. wrote in 'The Ringing World' of December 28th, 1956, Isaac Emery was a native of St. Mary Cray, and he would relate how he and a friend tied two bells there and rang them for three hours to satisfy themselves that such a thing, of which they had heard, was physically possible. For some years he forsook ringing for football, but he was a College Youth for 64 years, and after he returned to ringing, a loyal member of the Bromley band and the Kent County Association. Altogether he rang 368 peals, the first at Erith in August, 1890, and the last on Boxing Day, 1952. The list is as follows:-

Minor: 5.

Triples: Grandsire 66 (conducted 16), Stedman 64 (I1), Union 1, Oxford Bob 2.

Major: Bob Major 29 (6), Double Norwich 51 (2), Double Oxford 3, Little Bob 1, Kent Treble Bob 26 (2), Oxford 1, Cambridge Surprise 42. New Cambridge 2, Superlative 35 London 10, Bristol 4, New Cumberland 4, Norfolk 3.

Caters: Grandsire 1, Stedman 10.

Royal: Bob Royal 1, Forward 1, Kent Treble Bob 5, Cambridge Surprise 1.
Total: 368 (37).

MR. RALPH COLES

The death took place at the Memorial Hospital. High Wycombe, on December 27th, after a short illness, of Mr. Ralph Coles, at the age of 83 .
The many visitors to High Wycombe during the past half-century will remember him, as for 62 years he had been parish clerk, and his ringing connection with All Saints' Church went back to the 90 's. In 1915 he was appointed foreman, a post he held for 33 years, and from which he retired in 1933.
His outstanding ringing achievement was a peal of Stedman Cinques by 12 residents of the parish of All Saints. While his record of peals is unknown, it is recorded that he rang 92 peals on All Saints' bells, the last being in celebration of the completion of 60 vears as parish clerk and rung on July 17th, 1954
The funeral service, which was fully choral, was at All Saints' Church on January 2nd.
F. H.

MR. MARK FENSOM

The death occurred on December 29th, at Whittington Hospital, Archway Wing, of Mr. Mark Fensom, aged 80 years.

A ringer at Hornsea for many years, and later at Southgate, he was a very lovable character.
The funeral took place at Enfield Crematorium on January 4th; among those present were Messrs. S. G. Peck (Southgate), A. W. Coles and J. G. Nash.

MR. ALFRED C. CHERRYMAN

The news of Mr. A. C. Cherryman's death was received with yery great regret, particularly as he died on December 21st, only four days before the Cbristmas festival.

Although he was not fit enough to ring during recent years, Alf had a wonderful record of over 56 years' service in Aldrington tower. He died in his 82 nd year and was one of the last three surviving members of the old Aldrington band that rang the first peal of London Surprise Minor in Sussex in their home tower during 1928.

A wreath from the local ringers lay with the family wreath as the coffin was carried to the church. As a last token of respect the Aldrington band rang a half-muffled quarter peal of Grandsire Doubles, as it is believed this was his favourite method. At the service the Sussex County Association was represented by the Master, Mr. S. E. Armstrong, and all three neighbouring Brighton towers were also represented. The bells were rung half-muffled during the interment, which took place near the tower.

The heartfelt sympathy of all friends is extended to the widow and family. May his soul rest in peace.
H. W. B.

STOKE-BY-NAYLAND BELLS

A Peep Into Their History

Apropos the report of the dedication of Stoke-by -Nayland bells, Claude Rush sends us the following interesting commentary on their dedication. (See 'Ringing World' December 21st.)
Reader, do you remember seeing an article is 'The Ringing World' of January 6th, 1956 (page 9), on the rededication of the bells at Polstead, Suffolk, on December 18th, 1955, and mention therein of the imposing tower of Stoke-by-Nayland standing high on the other side of the valley a couple of miles away?
Now, on Saturday, December 8th, we had a dedication at Stoke-by-Nayland. Ah! Tbat tower stands in a wonderful position. Brookes' Gazetteer of 1827 says of Stoke-by-Nayland: , A village two miles $\mathbf{E}$. of Nayland. It has a church on a hill, whose tower is a seamark to ships that pass the mouth of the harbour of Harwich, at 13 miles distance.' James' 'Suffolk and Norfolk,' 1930, says: 'The church commands the countryside ; the tower is visible from Harwich.' Arthur Mee's 'Suffolk' says: 'A mediæval church which Constable put into his famous rainbow picture. The church stands on a hill among the trees, lifting up a tower 120 feet high as a landmark for Suffolk, a proud landmark, for it is one of the grandest in the county, with pinnacles on its beautiful parapet owes its tower and most of its grandeur to early 15 th century builders moulded tower arch exceptionally tall and nar row.' Clarke's 'Norfolk and Suffolk,' 1921 says: '. ... famous views-that from Stoke by-Nayland - which crowns a ridge of hills rising from the valley of the Stour (the boundary of Suffolk and Essex) being one of the best known,' and also churches were built in strong defensive positions, frequently difficult of access from the village and probably erected on a site utilised by prehistoric man Suffolk contains many examples I would not how however, say that this church is 'difficult of access' from the village, for it is in the middle of it.
So these two towers, Polstead and Stokc, seem to nod at each other on opposite sides of the valley of the River Box-Polstead seems to say, 'Hello! Great Stoke,' and Stoke replies, - Hello, Little Polstead.

Getting to the bells, Dr. J. J. Raven (1890) records the old six in the same terms as appear on the dedication service pamphlet. He also adds 'Great bells V Return of 1553. Davy Sept. 29 and 30,1828 . " 12 bells which I omitted to visit." This is remarkable. J. J. R.'

The pamphlet includes a note by the Vicar of Stoke-by-Nayland, Canon C. V. Clibbon, M.A. This shows :-

Treble (new).-5 cwt. 1 qr. 2 lb .1956. - I ring for Edith Octavia Simpson. Selfless in Love; Steadfast in Service.
Second (new).-5 cwt. 1 qr. $21 \mathrm{lb} .1956 .{ }^{\prime}$ ring for Cortland Herbert Simpson. He served weli; he rang true.'
Third (recast). $6 \mathrm{cwt} .1 \mathrm{qr} .15 \mathrm{lb}, 1725$. - Thomas Gardiner fecit.

Fourth. -7 cwt .23 lb .1725 . 'John Hollon, Samuel Bigsbe, C.W.'s'
Fifth. -9 cwt. 3 qr. 18 lb . 1440-1485. 'In multis annis resonet campana Johannis.'

ST. DAVID'S DIOCESAN GUILD

On December 8 th a quarterly meeting of the Guild was held at St. Mary's Church, Burry Port. The bells were available from 2 p.m. and although the day was very dismal it did not prevent members coming from Tenby, Llandilo. Carmarthen, Llanstephan, Llanelly, supported by the Burry Port ringers and the old faithfuls, the unattached members.
The Vicar (the Rev. T. J. Thomas) officiated at the service, with Mr. Richards as organist, and the lesson was read by the Master of the Guild, Mr. Ed. J. Thomas. A very nice tea at the Church Hall was enjoyed by 45 members.
The Vicar kindly presided at the business meeting, the agenda of which was disposed of very quickly. Members were told that the next quarterly meeting would be at Llanelly on March 9th. The collection for the Bell Restoration Fund realised the sum of $£ 110$ s. The usual touch on the handbells was given by Mr. A. Hoare, Mr. R. Scudamore and Mr E. Thomas.

A hearty vote of thanks was proposed by Mr. H. Jenkins, of Tenby, to the Vicar for having the Guild at Burry Port, to the organist, and ladies who gave and waited at tea. The Vicar then closed the meeting with prayer. A demonstration of handbell ringing was given by members, both 'in hand and lapping and the playing of hymns. Members then returned to the tower to finish off the evening.

REFLECTIONS ON THE NEW FOUND DELIGHTS

' YO. Grandsire Doubles.' What a magic the words have now. No longer a meaningless jumble of ropes and confusion of mind, but an orderly pattern, each rope coming to you singly and clearly. 'Bob'-ah, yes, double dodge out of the hunt, treble back stroke, hunt bell, one more bell and lead. 'Single '-make long thirds, that's it. No panic, just remember what you are doing. And so it goes on for another forty minutes or so. And then, 'That's all,' and you've done it - you've really done it. You've rung your first quarter peal 'inside.' George, who has been calling it, and who has initiated you into the mysteries of change ringing, is coming across to you smiling and saying, 'Well done.' You feel you could cry with sheer happiness.

That was at the end of last year. A lot of things happened last year. It really was the turning point. At the beginning of the year you really began to think you never would know anything about change ringing. And then, slowly, the mysteries began to unfold. You rang the treble to a quarter peal of Grandsire Triples - that was something. As you began to learn more, you became more and more interested. You started to write out some methods. Long columns of figures on foolscap paper, and you traced strange green and red lines through them. Your friends asked what on earth were you doing and you told them with an air of superiority that you were writing out bellringing methods. They asked you to explain it and you did, and they were vastly impressed by your apparent knowledge of the subject.

Then you got more venturesome and tried a course of Stedman Triples. It was in a new tower too - and in another county. Of course, someone stood behind you and perhaps you didn't know much about what you were doing, but at least it was a step forward. You tried Bob Major there too, and Grandsire Triples, and you came away feeling you had learned something.

Calling was the next thing. One night George said, ' Would you like to call a hundred and twenty?' Would you like to? - Well you could try. 'Look to, treble's going.' We're off. Now here it comes, this time, the first call 'Bob.' Goodness, how strange your voice sounds. Wait a bit, what are you doing? You forgot to take the treble there-who's in the hunt? Is it a bob or a single next time? Oh dear, what a mess. 'Single, no-I mean bob-Oh, Lord! Bring them round. Stand.' Oh dear, that wasn't very good, was it? Never mind, perhaps it'll be better next time.

Came New Year's Eve, and Nobby said, 'We'll ring the Old Year out with some rounds, and ring the New Year in with a nice touch of Grandsire.' George said, 'I think it would be nice if we asked our lady conductor to call the first touch of the year,' and Nobby agreed. To call the first touch of the year! What joy! What bliss! Nobby sounded the twelve sonorous strokes of midnight on the tenor and then out pealed the bells to welcome the New Year. You heard your voice say 'Go, Grandsire Doubles' . . . Bob . . . Single . . . Bob . . . There's one hundred and twenty - now for another . . . Single

Bob .. Bob . . and then wonder of wonders - they come back to rounds again. 'That's all. Stand.' And feeling rather wobbly round the knees you realise you've done it - you've called the first touch of the year. You look at George and he looks at you, pleased and proud. And you are proud too.

Soon after New Year, Nobby said, 'Are you going to combined practice at St. John's?' And you said you thought you would. You asked George, 'Do you think there'll be a chance of some Stedman?' and George said he thought there would. And so it was you rang your first touch of Stedman Doubles. True, it was only a hundred and twenty and the calls did not affect you. True, George stood behind you, but he only had to tell you once when you nearly missed a four-five up dodge. But you had seen it - it made sense. And again that feeling of elation at being part of a team which wove wonderful and intricate patterns with the bells. The next night at your own tower Nobby suggested trying Little Bob. You'd rung the treble to it, but now you were 'inside.' And so you added Little Bob to your list. The striking wasn't much to write home about, but it did come round in a shaky sort of way. You rang some fairish touches of Bob Minor that night too, and afterwards you said to George, 'I think I could ring Plain Bob now,' and George said confidently, 'I'm sure you could.' And you felt confident too.
So many things are in store for 1957. Perhaps you will be able to call your first quarter. Yes, I know it will only be Grandsire Doubles, but it'll be wonderful just the same.

What about a peal, did you say? Well - I don't know. To ring for over two hours without a break seems an awfully long time. But I suppose I will do it . . . one day.

ARCHDEACONRY OF STAFFORD SOCIETY

The winter meeting of the Society took place at Sedgley on January 5th. The weather was springlike compared with the arctic conditions prevailing on the occasion of the Society's previous meeting at Sedgley in January, 1950. The meeting attracted an attendance of 65 , and the pleasing ring of eight bells was put to good use during the afternoon and evening to a variety of methods. The visitors were welcomed by that grand old veteran Mr. Ben Fullwood, who has been ringing at Sedgley for over 63 years, and it is indeed remarkable that at the age of 87 he had been up among the bells to grease them in readiness for the meeting.
The service was conducted by the Rev. W. Sargeant, Vicar of Sedgley, who is shortly leaving the parish for another living.
Tea was served in the new Parish Hall. At the business meeting it was proposed by Mr. $\mathrm{H} . \mathrm{Knight}$, and seconded by Mr . George Hughes, and carried, that a donation of $£ 10$ 10 s . be sent from the Society's funds to the Lichfield Cathedral Restoration Fund.
The next meeting of the Society will be at Penkridge in March. F. C. A. B.

GULLD of DEVONSHIRE RINGERS

Sixteen new ringers were elected at the quarterly meeting of the East Devon Branch, which was held at Payhembury on January 12th.
Prebendary E. V. Cox, president of the Devon Guild, was present, and Mr. G. C. Woodley was in the chair. About 20 ringers attended and touches were rung on the bells before and after the service, which was conducted by the Vicar of Payhembury.

OXFORD DIOCESAN GUILD

The winter meeting of the Banbury and District Branch was held at Bloxham on January 12th and, in spite of petrol rationing, there was a very good attendance, about 70 members and friends from as far afield as Aylesbury, Oxford and Stratford being present. No doubt the newly rehung bells were the great attraction, and certainly the company much enjoyed the ringing on them of methods up to Cambridge.
The service was conducted by the Vicar, the Rev. C. O. Moreton, who, as Branch chairman, subsequently presided at the business meeting, supported by Mr. F. Sharpe, Deputy Master of the Guild.
The next quarterly meeting was fixed for April 27th, at Somerbon, and the monthly practice for February 23rd, at Adderbury.
An excellent tea was provided by the ladies, and some of the younger members of the Branch entertained with change ringing on the handbells.

THE LADIES' GUILD

The national president of the Ladies' Guild (Mrs. Locke) attended the annual meeting of the Sussex Division at St. Nicholas', Brighton (10), on January 12 th, when between 30 and 35 ringers were present. Ringing included rounds, Grandsire Triples and Caters, Bob Royal, Stedman Triples (an all-ladies' touch), Double Norwich Court Bob Major and Cambridge Surprise Major.

At the business meeting, with Miss Locke in the chair, the following officers were elected :-Vice-president, Mrs. B. Percy; hon. secretary, Miss K. Yeo; committee (increased to four because of growth of District), Mrs. Levett, Miss Apps, Miss Everest and Miss Eldridge. A proposal to hold a dinner was discussed and it was felt that London would be the best venue.
Thanks were extended to those responsible for arrangements and also to the Vicar for the use of the bells and conducting the service.

BEVERLEY & DISTRICT SOCIETY

The January mecting on the 12th at Holy Trinity Church, Hull, started 1957 well with an attendance of 45 members. During the afternoon the bells of St. Mary's, Lowgate, were rung whilst the committee held their annual meeting in Holy Trinity Church, in the very room where the Society was formed almost 11 years ago.
The service in Holy Trinity Church was conducted by the Vicar, the Rev. R. Illiff, who welcomed the Society to Hull. Tea was taken in the Young Peoples Institute and was followed by the business meeting.

After tea, ringers returned to Holy Trinity Church, where the fine ring of ten was raised and rung for the remainder of the evening,

Mr. and Mrs. Frank W. Perrens left for South Africa on Wednesday. Unfortunately a Iarewell peal attempt by the Allesley Sunday service band of Cambridge Surprise Major came to grief after 2 hours and 15 minutes. A quarter peal of Cambridge for Evensong came round after some almost perfect striking.
Mr. Harry Poyner has accepted an appointment at Ormskirk Grammar School.
Owing to extensive repairs to the tower, Birmingham Cathedral bells are likely to be silent for two years.
The peal at Marston, Oxon (see page 820, December 28th, 1956) was conducted by Mr. Alec Gammon.
With a peal of Yorkshire Surprise at Framsden on January 5th, Mr. Leslie G. Brett has completed 34 years of peal ringing.
The kind hospitality of Mrs. Pipe to the band that rang the peal of Kent Treble Ten at Stonham Aspal on January 7th was much appreciated by the band.
Will readers submitting quarter peals give the name of place and county first? Omission of name caused a quarter peal rung at Hughenden, Bucks, and printed in our issue of December 28 th, appearing under High Wycombe.

Mr. A. Q. Barton, to whose memory a quarter peal was rung at Staunton, Glos, on January 10th, was a churchwarden. He learned to ring after reaching 60 years of age and had rung in one quarter peal.
It was not until 9 p.m. on December 31st that Bethersden ringers decided to attempt a quarter peal to mark the passing of 1956. Two ringers short, Bill Marshall drove into Smarden, six miles away, and recruited one ringer from the 'local' and another removing his whiskers prior to retiring to bed. The quarter peal was successful.

Mr. Walter Ayre, convener of the Peals Analysis Compeal of Kent and Oxford Treble Bob (Hudson's 'New Light,' see 'Ringing World,' December 28th, page 821), will not be accepted by his committee.
Mr. Edwin Barnett, of Crayford, Kent, completed 60 years' membership of the Kent County Association on January 16th.
To participate in peals of Kent Treble Bob Royal at Stonham Aspal and Cambridge Surprise Major at Helmingham, Mr. Kenneth G. Brown cycled some 80 miles. It is refreshing to read of such energy and enthusiasm in this age.
Through an oversight, Mr. Frederick G. Robinson allowed his membership to the Peterborough Diocesan Guild to lapse. In consequence the peal at Weedon Bec with seven Daventry Branch members was a non-Association peal.
Personal congratulations were given by the Hon. E. R. Palmer and Miss J. C. Bacon to the band who rang the peal at Raveningham Church in honour of their engagement on December 27th. Sir Edmund Bacon is Lord Lieutenant of Norfolk and an honorary member of the Norwich Diocesan Association, and the little church situated in a lovely setting in the park is quite close to Raveningham Hall.
Great Glenn, Leicestershire, handbell ringers had a record collection last Christmas as the result of their activities. They have sent $£ 21$ to Dr. Barnardo's Homes and £6 10s. each to Imperial Cancer Research, St. Dunstan's, National Spastics Society and Wireless for the Blind. Expenses came to $£ 116 \mathrm{~s}$. 3 d. , and $£ 14 \mathrm{~s}$. 5 d ., has been devoted to their Bell Repair Fund. Weil done!

CONTRIBUTION OF YOUTH - OUTSTANDING EXAMPLES

MARPLE'S ACHIEVEMENTS

Dear Sir, - Congratulations to the young ringers of Stoney Stanton, and may they continue to progress in the art.

We at Marple cannot dispute your claim due to the fact that we have only six bells. We do, however, claim to have a very young band which rings up to Treble Bob Minor for Sunday ringing. The 13 ringers' (eight male and five female) ages are two 13 years old, two 14, four 16 two 18 , plus the father of one of the 18 -year-olds and the writer.

It is usual to have 12 ringers for each service, and during the past year a record of over 90 per cent. of possible attendances was achieved.

The New Year was rung in with 120 Grandsire Doubles by a band (three boys and three girls) whose average age was 14 years two months. Some quarter peals have been rung during the past 14 months ranging from Bob Doubles to Kent and Oxford Treble Bob Minor, in which ten of the band have taken part. Eight of the band have scored a total of 32 peals during the last three months on six and eight bells, including Kent and Oxford Treble Bob Major and Treble Bob Minor in six methods.

Recently, whilst four of the band, aged 13, 14,18 and 18 , were ringing a peal of St. Clement's Bob Major, three others aged 12, 13 and 16, were taking their places in touches including Bob Royal, Grandsire Caters and Cinques at a 12 -bell meeting. Three of the band are now practising Spliced Surprise Major at the nearby tower of Norbury. Church functions have been supported by means of Grandsire Triples rung 'in hand" by four of the band. Branch meetings of the Chester Guild are always well supported by the tower.

We also hope that Stoney Stanton can equal the fact that ten copies of "The Ringing World' are purchased by the band cach week.

The whole of this band have been taught to ring by the writer since May, 1954, and thanks are extended to the local towers, who have always made these youngsters so welcome on their practice evenings.

In closing I would like to endorse the opening remarks of your leading article of January 4 th, and express my own gratification that many of this band have overtaken the writer in ability and performance, and may the remainder soon follow suit. Can any other six-bell tower claim similar progress? Yours faithfully,
M. J. PRIOR

Marple, Stockport.
STAMFORD HILL'S RECORD IN 1956
Dear Sir, - Apropos paragraph in "Belfry Gossip' in which a query is raised respecting progress made during the past year by the Rye, Sussex, band.

During the year at St. Ann's, Stamford Hill, the bells were rung for every service: 44 quarter peals were attempted, of which 34 wre successful, and these were rung by 17 ringers in over 30 different methods. ringers rang their first quarter and every attempt had a "first " of some sort.

Several of our youngsters rang a 'first of Grandsire Doubles and a "first " of London Surprise within 12 months. These same youngsters are now ringing Spliced Surprise in four methods: altogether 49 different methods were rung at practice in the course of the year.

In closing I would like to add that this is due to the marvellous work of instruction given by Mr. Brian Bladen, who has achieved this without any reference to the College of Cam-panology.-Sincerely yours,
'ONE OF THE LOCALS.'

FIFTEEN-YEAR-OLD BOY GETS THE BELLS A'RINGING

Dear Sir,-Reading about the bellringers of Stoney Stanton has prompted me to write about the young bellringers of Holy Trinity Church, Barsham, Suffolk.
Barsham bells are a pleasantly-toned ring of five, of which all but the fourth were cast by Mears in 1893. The tenor weighs 6 cwt . 2 qr. 7 lb . and the bells are in the key of B flat major. At one time there was a company here but it faded out long before the second world war, and since the war the bells had not been rung more than about a dozen times. Only two peals have been rung on the bells, one in October, 1912, and one in August, 1956.

Before I learned to handle a bell I used to help chime the bells, but when I learned, at Beceles, I decided that I would like to ring at Barsham on a Sunday. So with the help of a friend, Trevor Bailey (aged 15), a Beccles ringer, and two ringers from Worlingham, we rang the bells for Sunday service one day. This created an amount of interest and so we decided to teach a company; But before we could do this the terrible 'go' of the bells had to be attended to. The bearings were scraped and oil liberally applied, the ropes were raised, the pulleys greased, nuts tightened and the sliders freed from miscellaneous debris. After this had been done the 'go' of the bells became very much easier.
My friend and I next lashed the clappers one Saturday and gave three boys their first lesson in handling a bell. After this more joined and our company now comprises members who come regularly to our Sunday ringing and on our practice night. They are John Carter (16), Terence Page (16), Norman Baker (11), Christine Sayer (16), Valerie Sayer (15) and myself (15). We have only been ringing for about eight months and ring mainly call changes and Grandsire leads.

To a large extent the goodwill of the village has been secured by the publicity given to us by the local Press. Thus, for the first time for many years, the bells ring for services at Barsham (Suffolk) Church every Sunday: Yours sincerely PAUL CATTERMOLE.

Beccles, Suffolk.

YOUNG BAND AT ODIHAM

Dear Sir,-With reference to Mr. John Smith's letter in "The Ringing World' I am proud to say that All Saints' Church, Odiham, has a team of seven ringers for the six bells, their ages being $14,13,14,14,14,16,14$. We have been ringing for nine months and ring at services, weddings and New Year's Eve. We are also members of the church choir. Our belfry has three senior menabers who take us for practice each Wednesday evening. From these three ringers we get all the encouragement necessary.-Yours faithfully, P. KERSLEY.

Odiham, Hants.

EVERCREECH'S EXAMPLE

Dear Sir, - For the information of J. A. Smith, whose letter appeared in a recent issue, I had the great pleasure one Sunday morning last year of sitting in our belfry whilst ten of our young ringers rang a wellstruck course of Grandsire Caters, the average age of the band being 15 years. Some of these young people are now ringing in the Surprise Major field regularly.

Strange as it may seem, no college manual is used in our tower. We prefer a rather more simple and direct approach in our teaching and find it quite successful in producing Sunday service ringers.-Yours faithfully,
H. J. SANGER.

Evercheech, Som.
NOTE.-We are always pleased to hear of other outstanding examples of youth.-Ed.

HANDBELL RINGING IN TANGANYIKA. - When Mr. Dennis J. Davies, of Dar-esSalaam, Tanganyika, was on leave in his home town, Gloucester, in 1952, he purchased an old set of handbells by Mears (tenor size 18 in G).

Back in Dar-es-Salaam, he formed a team of African ringers. To date their activities have been restricted to ringing tunes - by numbers and then by heart - but hopes are entertained to introduce change ringing. All instruction is given in K iswahili.

In the phptograph are four brothers from Nyasaland who constitute the band - Boddington. Kipson, Manwell and Jackson Msuko. 'We are having endless enjoyment in a country where, to my knowlodge, no peal has ever been rung, writes Mr. Davics.

AN ANSWER TO THE RECORD PROBLEM

How a Sutton Band Succeeded

IT is most unusual for any band of ringers to take their bells with them when preparing to ring for Sunday services. But this is just what happens at St. Barnabas', Sutton. Surrey. Fortunately there is no need to carry ropes or wheels as well, although a blanket is found to be useful. All this perhaps sounds strange to the more conventional ringer who is used to finding his circle of ropes ready for him whenever he chooses to ascend his tower. But where there is a church without a tower, and where no provision, architectural or financial, has been made for one, some other system has to be found. That, briefly, is the story behind the announcement in :The Ringing World dated January 11th, 1957, entitled 'Enterprise at Sutton, Surrey,'

There may be other ringers who have themselves come up against the problem which faced St. Barnabas'. A few details of the way in which we have faced the problem will perhaps be of interest to them. Although some rccordings of bells sound passably good when played in a small room. when amplified through a loud speaker must is lost. Apart from the fact that the music is artificial, at least to the church using the records, the distortion caused makes the noise far from satisfactory. It is just such a condition that we set out to alter.

Several problems confronted the two ringers who first mooted the idea of using handbells. Not least of these was the lack of any handbells of our own. Fortunately a close liaison exists between a neighbouring tower, All Saints'. Benhilton, and St. Barnabas', and a set of handbells was readily lent to us. Although rumour had it that several members of the St. Barnabas' congregation had had some experience of ringing, it was decided to approach a ready-made group of young people with a view to their forming a nucleus of a change ringing band. Little persuasion was necessary to get this group, none of whom had rung before, to begin practices, and progress was apparent from the earliest days. Perhaps a dangerous position may have been created by trying to teach the group the elements of Plain Bob in the first practice. Fortunately steadier influences prevailed and it was decided to concentrate on learning to ring rounds and set changes two in hand before change ringing was taught.

THREE MONTHS PRACTICE

This period of practising continued steadily for three months, progress not being achieved at every session. Occasionally the group became disheartened, perhaps feeling that litte was being achieved. Some measure of the group's progress, however, may be seen from the following details: All the original members were able to ring rounds and set changes (queens and cittums) after two weeks; six members were able to plain hunt on six bells, one in hand, after four weeks; and four members were able to plain hunt, two in hand, on six bells. after seven weeks. Progress in plain hunting was achieved by spending almost as much time at practices, pricking changes on paper, as was spent in actual ringing practice. Perhaps the classic example of 'homework' was achieved when one of the band produced a sheet containing hundreds of changes, laboriously written out whilst trying unsuccessfully to bring Bob Doubles round.

As Christmas approached and arrangements were being made to broadcast the ringing, the group showed a renewed interest in the practices. By this time most felt reasonably proficient, but all had the feeling that they were far from ready to appear in public. Now other difficulties began to be discovered. Would it be possible to amplify the handbells sufficiently so that they could be heard over the parish? And where would be the most convenient place for the ringing to take place? The amplifying equipment is situated in the upper vestry, where much coming and going would have caused great interference. The schoolrooms are too far from the vestry, and would have required a length of cable which we did not possess. Various places were considered without satisfaction, until the north porch. conveniently close to the vestry, wais suggested and accepted.

PRACTICAL PROBLEMS

Advice was taken as to the best way to connect the microphones to the amplifier. Eventually it was decided to connect them to the deaf aid system and so to the amplifier. This was achieved by taking the cable through the keyhole of the porch door. This proved to be simple enough but has led to another difficulty. The length of cable through which the sound has now to travel tends to diminish the volume of the broadcast. Fortunately there has been no interference from the cable, although this was a point about which we were warned. Before this point had been reached it had been hoped that our troubles were at an end. Unfortunately this was not so. During one of the practices a clapper stay in the tenor of the light eight broke, and arrangements had to be made to have this repaired. Although this was quickly achieved yet another blow was to fall; a few days before Christmas a clapper stay on the eleventh also broke. Though we had only been ringing on six and eight bells, this was serious as the light eight were inclined to sound too fairy-like, even for our small turret. However, the light eight had to be used for our first broadcast on Christmas morning.
It has frequently been remarked how serious most ringers appear when ringing even the most simple method. But the concentration required by those ringing at SI. Barnabas has to be seen to be believed. The slightest noise from feet or chairs, from throat or voice, is instantly picked up by the microphone and relayed to those within hearing. Obviously some methof has to be devised for caliing changes and, eventually, bobs and singles. This has not yet been fully considered, but it is intended to expertment with two differently coloured lights worked by the conductor from switehes from his feet. For our ringing on Christmas morning no such refinements were necessary though. It was agreed beforehand that we should ring three whole pulls followed by three whole pulls of queens alternately. Although most of us can count up to three. in order to avoid too many gaps between one change and the next the troble ringer gave his neighbour a very piercing look or even kick, which was returned with interest or with thanks. The striking left nothing to be desired, unless perhaps one felt that it was too perfect. Open hand stroke leads, almost mechanically equal to one stroke, were the order of the day. The first remark heard from a member of the congregation was certainly encouraging: " What do you think of the ringing?' 'I suppose that is another of those awful new records?' 'No, that is live handbell ringing.' 'In that case it is very good, and is certainly an improvement on those records.'

WANT OWN BELLS

Does this mean that our experiment has proved a success? We would like to think so, but there is still some opposition to be overcome. Still some complain that the bells are not loud enough. This is true, but it is mercly a technical matter which we hope to overcome. Qthers may complain that rounds and queens, with occasional excursions into plain hunting, make for monotonous ringing. This also is being remedied and it is hoped that the first touch of Bob Minor will be heard from St. Barnabas' in the near future. Another important matter to be settled is that of our own set of handbells. It was fortunate that we were able to borrow a set from Benhilton, but this can obviously only be a temporary measure. Perhaps this will prove to All Saints to have been a case of "casting your bread upon the waters' as already two of the St. Barnabas ${ }^{7}$ band have started learning to handle tower bells. This in itself creates difficulties, especially when services are held at the same time in both churches. But not one of these difficulties is insurmountable. Given perseverance. keenness and support we consider that at St. Barnabas' we have found one answer to the problem of the church built without any provision for bells.

GUILD of DEVONSHIRE RINGERS

A number of members of the Mid-Devon Branch finished the year with a social gathering on December 29th when. despite adverse weather conditions, an enjoyable time was spent.

Ringing took place during the afternoon at Totnes Parish Church, where Grandsire and Plain Bob Triples and a course of Plain Bob Major was rung. From here the next call was at Dartington Parish Church, where some good touches of Stedman Doubles and Kent and Oxford Treble Boh Minor were rung, thus providing a good opportunity for the less experienced ringers.

After an excellent tea at a Buckfastleigh café hearty votes of thanks were accorded to Mr. A. L. Bennett. of Buckfastleigh, for organising the event and for acting as host. Some of the members then returned to their respective homes whilst the remainder spent the rest of the evening with 'handbells.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

IMPORTANCE OF CHRISTMAS DAY BROADCAST

Dear Sir,-Following the comments of the anonymous Central Council member (perhaps a trifle harsh) on the Christmas Day ringing broadcast, I would like to make the following observations and comments:-

This annual programme of ringing on Christmas morning must be heard not only by the non-ringing public, but also by thousands of ringers. They are listening not only to the bells of the next village, where they have often rung themselves, but to bells they have most probably never heard before. It is also quite feasible that many are hearing 12 bells rung for the first time.
Surely it would do the Exercise as a whole far greater credit if, on these occasions, it could be arranged that such ringing could be above the type of criticism recently incurred.
I would like to suggest that a motion be placed before the Central Council to ask the Broadcast and Television Committee to approach the B.B.C. and ask them to consider a list of selected towers submitted by the committee from which to broadcast on this important occasion. Each. Association in turn could be asked to nominate a tower to represent them, and in this way a good standard of ringing would be assured. The towers taking part in the broadcast could be published in 'The Ringing World' prior to Christmas, and listeners 'in the know' would then be better able to enjoy and appreciate the ringing.
What better start could such a programme have than Stedman Cinques from Birmingham Cathedral, with, of, course, such competent ringers as Albert Walker and George Fearn, etc., performing?-Yours sincerely,

JOHN R. COOPER.
Ashford, Kent.

ANY SUGGESTIONS?

Dear Sir,-I write to you in the hope that you may be able to solve a knotty problem.
Recently, at the annual dinner of the Worcester Cathedral Guild of Ringers, and also at the dinner last year, I raised this question :-
Some years ago (I think about ten) I listened on the radio one night to a talk on ringing, during which the speaker demonstrated various peals with records. One demonstration I remember in particular, because the speaker emphasised that this particular peal could always be recognised from the fact that the last bell-I presume the tenor-was always a little after the others, or late. In my ignorance of ringing I can only put it to you this way, and hope you will see what I mean. There was certainly a name to this peal, but I cannot now remember what it was. Here is the demonstration :-

\begin{array}{llllllll}
1 & 2 & 3 & 4 & 5 & 7 & 8 \\
1 & 3 & 2 & 4 & 6 & 5 & 8 & 7 \\
\hline
\end{array}

Always the last bell was just that trifle late.
Have you any knowledge of such a peal? All the ringers stoutly deny there is such a peal. The Master maintains that the only explanation is that the tenor ringer was late with his bell. But I cannot accept this, as I remember the demonstration very clearly, and the explanation of the speaker.
I should be very interested to hear an ex-planation.-Yours faithfully,

VICTOR DOWSE,

Registrár of Worcester Cathedral.

IN DEFENCE OF TOM INGRAM

Dear Sir,-I hope there aren't too many ringers who agree with Mr. Newman's tirade against the article by Tom Ingram in the Christmas 'Radio Times.' Not that the article was written for ringers, anyway. It was written for laymen by a layman who is interested enough in bells and ringing to have written a book about them-a book whose wit, vividness and whimsicality would probably give Mr. Newman apoplexy, so he'd better not read it. There are among us those who will overlook small inaccuracies (in the books we read) in the interests of qualities like those.
I cannot understand many of Mr. Newman's complaints. Mr. Ingram is describing what I am sure he witnessed, and I know him well enough to be certain that his description is as accurate as it is graphic. How dull it would have been if he had broken off his story halfway through to explain how bells are raised and rung! Of course, he finished his story first, and then, when the readers were interested, gave them the explanation which he had induced them to want and prepared them to receive. And don't the sallies disappear through holes in the ceiling? Ours do. And aren't the sallies checked in their upward movement, as the article says, " by the ringers pulling on the tails of the ropes '? It isn't the accepted practice to bounce the bell off the stay.
The photography may not represent the wellappointed ringing room of a city church, nor the occupants of such a place, but then Mr. Ingram is describing a country tower and country ringers. In fact this old-fashioned cowshed ' is the ground floor of a church, as you can see from the pews in the foreground. It appears to have a timber steeple, to judge by the scissor-beams. Many country ringers, more's the pity, ring in an unorthodox style, and as Mr. Ingram is describing what he saw and not what the College of Campanology would like it to be, the photograph, which is beautifully composed and lighted, accords well with his article-better anyway than a portrait of the College Youths in St. Paul's. Ass to the drawing, I can only say that Miss Barbara Jones, who drew it, has no claim to fame in engineering draughtsmanship but has been considered good enough to illustrate several excellent books.
When he came to 'The Whirligige and Blunderbus ' as good names for methods, Mr. Newman burst out with What rubbish! That's his opinion. For myself, I regret the timidity which has paralysed the names of methods during the last hundred years and more, and which has given us lists of methods which read like random selections from the A.A. handbook, with only here and there an old method whose composer adorned it with a name like 'Morning Star' or 'Trinity Sunday.' Mr. Newman is welcome to the geographical tedium of 'Morpeth Surprise' and 'Bacup' Some of us would love to call 'Go Blunderbus.'
However much it may afflict Mr. Newman's conscience, the methods which we ring are based on permutations, and so are football pool perms. Most of the readers of this article would not understand what the writer means if he put in mathematical terms, but many of them. for good or ill, are familiar with the pools, and his simile, even if it might worry the opponents of games of chance, is accurate and informative. He might, perhaps, have iqserted a footnote denying any other connection between ringing and gambling, but he probably thought it unnecessary. So do I.

As to the whole article's being an inducement te recruits, I can see no reason why it should not be. The fact that fatal accidents have happened in belfries might deter some, but I should be ashamed of the name of an Englishman if $\mathbf{1}$ thought a remote possibility of danger was going to make our young pcople frightened to go into a belfry. The article presented ringing as an ancient excrcise, full of fascination and holding a challenge to body and brain ; it showed it as it is followed by ordinary, simple people, in ordinary placesSuch a presentation is more likely to attract youngsters to it than a spirit of unimaginative criticism.-Yours sincerely,
(Rev.) JOHN G. M. SCOTT.
Newton Abbot.

REDUNDANT BELLS WANTED

Dear Sir ,-We are anxious to install in our parish church a ring of bells; yet, what a cost they are! At the most all we can hope to do is to provide a very light ring of six, unless some act of fortune enables us to find a redundant ring of beils (five, six or eight) which we could acquire and have rehung in our tower.
Up and down this country, as I know, there are many bells, now neglected and often despised by the churches which possess them, which could be put to good use here. I wonder if any of your readers could give me any information about the likelihood of finding a ring of bells, so that from being disused, they can be restored to their full purpose of the calling the people of God to worship?-Yours faithfully.

GEORGE RAYNER,
Vicar
Holy Trinity Vicarage, Taunton, Som.

A QUESTION FOR EXPERTS

Dear Sir,-With reference to Mr. H. Chant's letter in the edition of January 4th, may I be allowed to ask 'After all what?'
Mr. C. K. Lewis has been able to insert Belvedere Little Bob, Mendlesham and Wakefield Alliance in his original 22-method 720 in a different way from Mr. Chant, thus giving a 720 of 25 methods. It can be adapted in the same way as Mr. Chant's 720 , to include 26 methods, with a plain lead of each method included.
It would be interesting to know the opinions of others about the validity in a record peal of a 720 which included only a bobbed or singled lead of any one of the methods. The problem seems to be confined to Minor, though the ringers of Spliced Doubles may correct me if I am wrong.
There was some discussion a few years ago as to whether, in a composition of Spliced Sur prise Major, New Gloucester should be rung as Cray, because it was rung with a 4ths place bob, and the problem was cunningly solved or by-passed in Cheshire by reversing the coinposition. What would happen if both New Gloucester and Cray were included, one with a 6ths place, the other with a 4ths place bob?
Have Mr. G. Feirn and Mr. N. Golden come up against this problem in compositions of Spliced Plain Major methods? - Yours faithfully,

Hereford.

Monken Hadley bells, which have been silent for over a year, have been recast and rehung by Messrs. Mears and Stainbank. They were rung for the first time last Sunday. The oldest of these bells was cast in 1702, and two more in 1706 and 1710

SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD

Devizes Branch Has a New Secretary

Some 50 members, including visitors from Chippenham and Swindon, attended the annual meeting of the Devizes Branch held at Devizes on January 5th. The Guild service was held at St. John's Church, conducted by the Rector and assisted by Canon Blair of Southbroom. The company were the guests of Mr. A. Weeks for tea served in St. John's Parish Room, and he was accorded a special vote of thanks.

At the business meeting Mr. Slatford tendered his resignation as hon. secretary owing to pressure of work. He was heartily thanked by the chairman on behalf of the Branch for his work.

Officers elected were: Chairman, Mr. A. Weeks; vice-chairman, Mr. S. Grant; hon. secretary, Mr. S. Cockell. The next three meetings will be held at Hilperton, Rowde and Trowbridge.

Mr. Weeks told the meeting that he had just completed 40 years' service as a ringer, and the Rector voiced the congratulations of the meeting.

After the meeting the towers of St. John's, St. Mary's and St. James' were open for ringing.

HEREFORD DIOCESAN GUILD

The annual meeting of the Kington District was held at Presteigne on January 5th. The Guild form of service was conducted by the Rector (the Rev. E. G. Benson, R.D.) and tea was kindly provided by the wives and friends of the local ringers.

At the business meeting, with the Rector presiding, members stood in silence in memory of two honorary members of the District-the Rev. C. Dencer, of Lyonshall, and the Rev. L. Perry, of Staunton-On-Arrow-who had died recently.

The secretary seported that three meetings and five practices had been held in the past year and fairly well attended. Four methods of Doubles and five of Minor had been rung. Four peals-two of Major, one of Triples and one of Doubles-had been rung during the year.

Mr. B. Ellsmore was elected Ringing Master, and Mr. J. Preece re-elected District secretary. The spring meeting was fixed for May at King's Pyon, and a combined practice at Lyonshall in April. The usual votes of thanks were passed to all who had helped to make the meeting so successful.

LONDON COUNTY ASSOCIATION

Higher Income for Districts

A well-attended meeting of the London County Association was held on January 5th at the historical and popular towers of St. Luke's, Chelsea, and St. Mary's, Battersea.

The business meeting at Battersea included the nomination of officers for election at the annual meeting at Southwark Cathedral on February 2nd. These were:- Master, Mr. T. H. Taffender; secretaries, Mr. H. W. Rogers, Mrs. O. L. Rogers and Miss Jean Scrutton; treasurer, Mr. W. G. Wilson; steards, Mr. C. Meyer and Miss Betty Nolder; trustees, Mr. J. A. Hales and Mr. C. W. Ottley.
Three of the items on the busy agenda were as follows:-
(1). The income from the Northern and Southern Districts to be raised from 1 s .6 d . to 2 s . 6d. in respect of each member elected by them. Money would only be paid from Districts to general body when the amount held by them exceeded $£ 5$.

Whose Subscription?

Will the reader who purchased 21/and $7 /$ - postal orders at High Road, Harrow. Middlesex, and sent them to Mr. J. E. Jeater for his subscription, please forward his name.

There are still a large number who have neglected to renew. Delay involves extra clerical work and expense.
(2). It was announced that the Northern District secretary, Mr. L. W. Bullock, had collected $£ 65$. towards Bow Bells Appeal. A request was made to all Association members who had not yet subscribed to send a subscription to one of the secretaries, so that the total sum could be paid over.
(3). A good entry for the 'Dawe' handbell cup contest at the annual meeting on February 2nd was requested. This contest is open to all towers in the area of the Association and the requirement is for four members of the Association from any one company to ring at least a full course of not less than 70 changes of any method on eight bells. Full rules for the contest are contained in the 'History and Rules, 24-page publication, issued free to all new members, or otherwise a vailable from the secretaries at a cost of 1 s .6 d . H. W. R.

BATH AND WELLS DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION

A Reminder on Lent Ringing

At the Frome and Midsomer Norton Branch meeting held at Shepton Mallet on January 12th the chairman, Mr. J. T. Dyke, took the opportunity of reminding members of the 1954 report of the Association in which the Master wrote uncompromisingly: 'It is an unwritten rule of this Association that no peals shall be rung during Lent, and I do hope that all members of this Association abide by this unwritten rule, despite their personal feelings in the matter. Self-denial is never popular, but it is, none the less, a good discipline for all of us.' Mr. Dyke continued: 'These were the words of the Master of the Association at the time, and I, too, hope that they will never be forgotten by any of our members. Those who formed this unwritten rule took all circumstances into account, and it would become ill of us if we failed to appreciate their wisdom.

- Always should we see to it that the bells are rung for their proper purposes, and we should not cling to some custom which has no foundation in religion.'
Referring to the Branch being the first in the Association to inaugurate an annual corporate communion, he said: ' It was a bold thing to do in the first place, in view of the facts that some of our towers are 20 miles apart, and that few of us have any means of mechanical transport, and there is always the problem of getting back to our own towers to ring for morning service. In June we visited Kilmersdon, where the local ringers entertained us to breakfast before we dispersed to our own towers. This sort of thing demands sacrifice, and I trust that we shall never fail to make it.'

All were exhorted to take (not merely to read) 'The Ringing World,' and tower captains were reminded to make sure that the younger generation knows the literal meaning of the opening word of the Beltry Office, now restored to its original form as it was probably written by Archbishop Cranmer: 'Prevent, us, O Lord . . , i.e., ' Go before us.'

Mr. E. J. Chivers, the secretary, reported a good year with healthy signs of activity among the young ringers. A number of peals have been conducted, including one each by D. Robertson and R. Abbott, of Frome, both at that time still at school.

A record number of new members were proposed, from Leigh-on-Mendip (five), Hinton Blewitt and Paulton (four each), Radstock, Shepton Mallet and Chewton Mendip (two each). Whatley. Kilmersdon and Binegar (one each), 22 in all. Twenty-one towers are affiliated to the Branch; Whatley and Beckington have joined during the year and Buckland Dinham (in need of a new frame) and Compton Dando have left.
The retiring officers were re-elected unanimously with the addition of Mr. D. Hoare, of Radstock, as Assistant Ringing Master.

It was arranged that the Corporate Communion should be held at Radstock on June 23 rd , and that the quarterly meeting should be: 'May 4th, Nunney; July 13th, Beckington; October 12th, High Littleton; and the next annual mecting on January 11th. 1958, at Frome, all subject to permission.

Before the meeting members stood in silence in memory of Franklyn D. Rickards, who died recently. The meeting closed with votes of thanks to the Rector, the Rev E. W. Eyden, for conducting the service and for the use of the bells, also to the organist and choir, Mr. Lanc (tower captain) and Mrs. Lane and helpers for the tea. Some 50 to 60 members were present, representing 25 towers. E.D.O.

OBITUARY

MR. ALFRED TALBOT
For many years a keen ringer, Mr. A. Talbor died at the Gardeners' Benevolent Home, Horton, Bucks, on January 8th, aged 79, and was buried in the churchyard at Thursley, Surrey, on the following Friday. He learned to ring at Waltham St. Lawrence, Berks, and rang his first peal there in 8898 , in which the late Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn also rang his first peal. In 1902 he went to Benington, Herts, where he assisted in forming a new band after the departure of Squire Proctor. Later some of the old ringers returned to the belfry. While there he joined the Society of Royal Cumberland Youths when they met one short for a peal of Double Norwich on July 20th, 1912.
In 1919 he was at Staunton-on-Arrow, Herefordshire, and was elected secretary and Ringing Master of the Lcominster and Presteigne Districts. In 1924 he went to Nottage, in the Bridgend area, where he rang several peals. He went to Thursley, Surrey, in 1927, but as there were no bells near he did very little ringing apart from occasional visits to Guildford and Farnham. He rang about 35 peals, some of which he conducted.

GUILDFORD DIOCESAN GUILD

A welcome visitor to the annual meeting of the Guildford District, held at Guildford on January 12 th, was Mr. I. Slack, from Leeds. Other visitors came from Portsmouth, Leicester, Bedford and Oxford. Ringing took place at Holy Trinity, S. Nicolas' and St. Mary's Churches. The Rev. H. Puntis conducted the Guild's form of service at S. Nicolas' Church, which was followed by an excellent tea prepared by Mrs. Collins and helpers.

Mr. G. L. Grover presided at the business meeting, and Miss M. E. Collins, joint hon. secretary, reported an increased membership, which now stood at 99 full members and three junior members. She deplored the small number of towers which supported District meetings. Of the 14 towers in the District only four were represented at the nomination meeting. There was no ringing at Albury or Hascombe. Mr. Malcolm S. Cloke commented that the Rector of Albury stated that morning that there were people at Albury willing to learn but no one to teach them. A promise was given that the officers would see what could be arranged.

Officers elected were: Ringing Master, Mr. F. A. Munday; joint hon. secretaries, Misses M. E. Collins and Ann Cox; hon, auditor, Mr. J. Horsman: representative on the Guild Executive, Mr. T. Mark White.

The programme of meetings was left to the District officers, but the hope was expressed that towers visited would accept responsibility for local arrangements. Two new members were elected. Nominations were received for Guild appointments and votes of thanks were moved by Mr. T. Mark White to the officers, and by Mr. A. C. Hazelden to those responsible for the arrangements for the meeting.

Among the apologies was one from Mr. A. H. Pulling. The meeting instructed the secretaries to send him a letter expressing the hope of a speedy recovery. A social evening followed, with Mr. H. J. Collins as M.C.

Big Ben Sounds Different

The B.B.C. State that now the Ministry of Works have sealed all the openings surrounding the tower of Big Ben with wire mesh to prevent birds nesting, this may account for some listeners' views that the sound of Big Ben has altered since its relurn to the air!

The official reason is that with the removal of the brickwork on the south side of the tower there is now a closer contact between the hammer and the bell; the precautionary platform in case of disaster is now 18 inches instead of 8 inches below Big Ben, and all the bells and chamber have been thoroughly cleaned and painted.

Norfolk and Suffolk Grammar Schools' Outing

On January 4th, which proved, luckHy, to be exceptionally warm, a party of young ringers from Pakenham, Barking, Barsham, Mulbarton and Beccles assembled at Beccles Railway Station for a day's ringing in South Norfolk and North Suffolk. The journey was made by cycle, and the first tower to be visited was Aldeby ( $5,7 \mathrm{cwt}$.). These bells hang in a central tower and are a pleasant minor five. We began with a good 120 of Bob Doubles and followed it with Spliced St. Simon's and St. Martin's, Reverse Canterbury Pleasure, and call changes for the less experienced.

At Haddiscoe (5, 7 cwt.) we had a good rise in peal, which preceeded Spliced St. Osmund, St. Simon's and St. Martin's and call changes. A touch of 60 Bob Doubles was brought round in 90 seconds, followed by lowering the bells in peal.

After a picnic lunch we visited Norton Subcourse ( $6,11 \mathrm{cwt}$.), where more call changes, Spliced Doubles and Bob Minor were successfully rung, although the bells are rather hard going. Inspired by this fact, a number of the party proceeded to diminish rapidly the local shop's supply of ginger beer.

The ride to Raveningham ( $5,8 \mathrm{cwt}$ ) involved crossing deep mud and a kale field through what is known as Sycamore Farm. When the tower was reached, after trekking through darkest Raveningham Park, the merry five were set going to call changes and Spliced Plain Bob, St. Simon's, St. Martin's and St. Osmund's.

A further five miles brought us to Barsham (5, 7 cwt.), where a quarter peal of Spliced Doubles failed and some good call changes were rung, after which the party went their ways. They wish to thank all the incumbents for the use of the bells. T. N. J. B.

First rung at Waltham Abbey, Essex, on October 27th, 1956.

POINTS FROM RECENT PEALS

MOST weeks, in filing the peals published in "The Ringing World,' I notice points of interest which, I hope, will also interest those taking part in the peals and other readers also. Here are the results of the past few months' ringing.

Firstly. first peals on the bells. I confirm the claims made for several towers during this period and add to the list Stoke Canon and Fornham, All Saints', where the peals rung were not so claimed; but are the first as far as I am aware.

Then we come to "milestones." Ewell has reached its century, as will have been noticed, although my list seems to be one short. When the claim was made I had 99 peals and make the peal on December 1st the 100th. I should be pleased to compare notes with those concerned if they would kindly drop me a line. Lewes (Southover) would appear to have passed the 250 mark last year. Actually, the peal on December 8 th was the 250 th since 1881 , but I have come across two earlier peals, in 1778 and 1869 , and there may be others. We can more definitely say that the first peal on the restored North Stoneham bells was the 250 th in the tower, as claimed, since the bells only date from about 60 years ago. I believe the next peal at Hughenden will be the 300th on the bells. I have 299 at the moment, and Mr. Ernest Morris states that the first of these (in 1883) was the first on the bells. That will make the 14 th tower in the country with 300 or more peals. Claines is also approaching the century milestone - the next peal will see it reach three figures. It would have attained it at the last peal in November except that a peal of Kent Treble Bob Major in 1936 was found to be . false. The first peal was only rung in 1927, so it has done well. Although over 50 peals have been rung on the ten, including Spliced Surprise Royal in two methods and Yorkshire Royal (2), the last two peals (October and November) were the first of Cambridge Royal. Whilst on that sort of subject, it was very surprising to find that previous to the peal in November at Fulham, only one peal of Surprise had been rung there out of the large total of 176 ! This was Cambridge Royal in 1920.

Now for 'first in methods,' etc. Wells Cathedral has had its first of Bob Royal. Here, out of the total of 23 peals. only four have been of Royal, three of them since the war. But perhaps that is not surprising considering the weight of the tenor! Eastbourne, All Saints', has had its first of Major (as claimed). It was only the sixth peal on the bells, the first being in 1901. Although there have been 14 peals since 1892 at Morpeth, the recent one was the first of Plain Bob Major (various Surprise methods have been rung). Ticehurst and Polstead have both had their first peals in seven Minor methods and the latter has also had its first of Surprise (as claimed). In the period, we have had the first of Surprise at Wimborne St. Giles', Sherburn-in-Elmet and Norton-le-Moors. Sedgley has had peals in several Surprise methods, commencing with Superlative in 1908 , but the last peal was the first of Yorkshire on the bells.

Then we come to towers which rarely appeal in the peal columns. I think pride of place must go to Swanmore, Hants, which last appeared in 1893! The November peal was the fourth on the bells, for two had been rung before 1893, in 1889 and 1890 . The only peal rung at Waddesdon, Bucks, previously was on August 9th, 1902, so here again we have a silence' of more than 50 years as far as peals are concerned.

It was of Bob Doubles. Brixworth, Northants, last appeared over 40 years ago, in 1913 when both its previous peals were rung. Lichborough has had its first since 1919. There had been one before that year in 1913. The only previous peal at North Cerney, Gloucestershire, was on February 16th, 1922.

Rumburgh, Suffolk, has been 'silent' nearly as long, for 1923 heard its last peal. This five-bell tower must have been in the lead for a long time for a number of peals in that category, for it reached double figures in 1912, commencing in 1896. There are still only 17 five-bell towers with more than 10 peals. Marston is still going ahead amongst these, and its 19 peals makes it fifth on the list now. Gamlingay seems to go in for peals about 30 years apart! Its three, peals were rung in 1897, 1929 and 1956. Staunton-in-the-Vale, Notts, has also had three peals now, the two previous ones in 1920 and 1928. Several towers last appeared in the middle 1930's. They include Walton-on-the-Hill (1935), Shorne (1935), Broadwindsor (1936) and Wrentham (1936). Fifteen peals were rung between 1891 and 1935 at Walton, whilst Shorne has logged 12 from 1901. Broadwindsor's was its 'one and only,' but Wrentham's was its 70th! There were 23 peals from the first in 1908 up to 1916 and then 46 from 1919 to 1936 -only one or two during the last few years of that period. It was certainly one of the most popular towers 30 years ago. Ulverston (Lancs) also had its last peal in 1935, and Rothbury in 1936.

Other towers which have registered their first since before the last war are Clyst St. George, King's Norton (Leics) and Whitchurch (Salop). Other 'rare, visitors to the peal lists are Oundle (seventh peal since 1901) and Stanton-by-Dale (fourth peal since 1913). Stansted's was only the second peal since 1936 , but here there were 154 peals rung from 1889 to 1936 ! Here is a case of a tower with its glories in the past with a vengeance!

One or two final points. It is 51 years since Stedman swas rung at Hampton (Middlesex) and there have only been 10 peals since then. At Sheffield, All Saints', we have just had the first peal on the eight since 1934, but there have been four of Minor from 1951 to 1955. The last peal of Bob Royal at Birmingham Cathedral was in 1897. The last peal of Superlative at Rock was on November 2nd, 1913. It was the second of two peals rung on that day - the day after the opening of the bells when Stedman was rung. Four peals were rung that week and then only four more up to 1939. A final titbit. The next peal at St. Giles', Lincoln, will be the 100 th on the bells, but only the 47 th in the tower! The other 53 were rung at St. Peter-at-rirches, where the bells were previously.

As a result of my last article, I would like to thank Mr. E. M. Atkins and others for their information about the 'set up. of the bells at Newton Abbot.
K. W. H. FELSTEAD.

Ruddington, Notts

The fourth annual bellringers' supper took place in the Church House, Ruddington, on January 10th, when 27 ringers and their wives, including several visitors, sat down to an excellent meal.

When thanking the ringers for their services during the past year, the Vicar said that once again there was an unbroken record of ringing for every service throughout the year. Few churches couid show such devotion.

Mr. Adams (tower captain) on behalf of the ringers thanked the Vicar for his kind remarks, and the Parochial Church Council for the excellent meal which was so much enjoyed. Ringing had been well maintained during the year and several apprentices were showing talent and making good ringers. The absence of Mr. and Mrs. Horspool, who so kindly inaugurated these happy occasions, was much regretted, and it was to be hoped that Mr. Horspool's health would improve.

In welcoming the visitors, Mr. Bartlam said they had much to thank their visitors for; their assistance and encouragement had materially advanced the quality and extent of their method ringing, and he sincerely hoped that the present practice of visiting between beifries would long continue.

Mr. W. Nicholls (captain, St. Mary's, Nottingham), in reply, related one or two amusing incidents concerning traditional New Year ringing, and said that Ruddington ringers would always be welcome at St. Mary's, and that he was confident that this was also the case in other beltries.

During the evening an amusing sketch was given by two of the younger ringers, and a social with games and competitions and some touches on thie handbells. R. A. B.

RINGERS AT SUPPER

Mancroft Ringers' Guild

Members of Mancroft Ringers' Guild and their families were joined at dinner on Old Year's Night at White's Restaurant by the chairman, Canon J. H. Waddington, the Rev. G. Lillingston, president of the Norwich Diocesan Association, and other friends.

Mr. N. Golden said the dinner had been held at Narwich since 1740, but not unbrokenly.

The first feast cost $£ 119 \mathrm{~s}$.; in 176240 guests sat down at a total cost of $£ 78 \mathrm{~s}$. 2 d ., and in 1827 they drank 108 quarts of ale and porter costing $£ 2$ 14s. An appeal was made by Mr. A. G. Bason, Master of Mancroft Ringers, for better support on practice nights.

The entertainment included tunes on handbells by Mr. C. Goodman and family and at 11.30 p.m. the ringers went to St. Peter Mancroft, St. George's and St. Giles' towers to ring the Old Year out and the New Year in.

Hoby, Leicestershire

After ringing on the ring of five at Hoby on January 7th, the local ringers and their guests adjourned to the Rectory, where, by kind permission of the Rev. T. Howell Evans and Mrs. Evans, the Hoby ringers' annual supper took place. The Rector presided at the table, supported by Mrs. Evans and Mr. J. Burnham (captain). The guests included Mr. P. L. Taylor (president of the Leicester Diocesan Guild), Mr. P. A. Corby (vice-president), Mr. H. Cook (chairman of the Melton District) and Mrs. P.
A. Corby (District secretary) and ringers from Asfordby, Great Dalby, Gaddesby, Kirby Bellars, Loughborough and Melton Mowbray.

A sumptuous meal had been prepared by the ringers' ladies and, at great peril to their respective waistlines, was greatly enjoyed by the ringers.

The annual business meeting of the Hoby ringers followed and was quickly disposed of on jocular and informal lines by the Rector. A happy hour with the handbells followed, and if skill in the art was conspicuous by its absence there was no lack of jollity and good fellowship.

Brampton Bierlow, Yorks

The Christ Church Society of Ringers, Brampton Bierlow, held their third annual dinner on January 14th, when members were welcomed by the president (the Rev. W. Hudson).

Reports were presented on the highly successful handbell ringing tour at Christmas, and of performances in the wards of Montague Hospital, Mexborough, on December 30th. Provisional arrangements were made for the annual outing to York in August.

An excellent social evening followed, the entertainment consisting of old-time dancing (music by Miss A. Smith) and handbell ringing of both tunes and changes. The evening's entertainment was brought to a close with taperecordings, taken by Mr. A. Smith, of the Society's recent handbell ringing.

Mr. J. M. Tesh (tower captain) thanked everyone who had helped in any way to make the dinner so successful.

St. Clement Danes' bells, which have been recast by Messrs. Mears and Stainbank were dedicated by Canon A. S. Giles, Chaplain in-Chief of the R.A.F., on January 24th. Mr. E. A. Barnett has been asked to act as Belfry Master for the time being, and he had the privilcge of naming one of the bells. The rebuilding of this church, which will be the official church of the R.A.F., is not yet complete, and it will be a long time before the bells are available for ringing.The next Snowdon dinner will be held at Rotherham on October 26th.

It has taken Mr. Philip M. J. Gray just 12 years to complete his first 100 peals. Of these, 19 were rung in Australia. No less than 35 are of Plain Bob and 27 of these Major.
Now 74, Mr. S. G. Butt, of Raylcigh, Essex, enters our quarter peal column. Good luck and also to Mr. D. Hockley, who is leaving for New Zealand.

We are pleased to note that Mr. W. A. J. Knight, of Gillingham, has recovered from his illness and has started peal ringing again. On January 12th he rang in a peal at Rochester Cathedral.

Before the bells of St. Peter's, Wolvercote, Oxford, were taken to Loughborough, a peal was rung on them on January 5th. This is believed to be the only peal on the bells. The conducting was shared by three members of the band.
Because of petrol rationing Mr. Paul L. Taylor had to make the journey to Avonmouth by train when he addressed members of the Imperial Smelting Corporation on Bellfounding and Hanging.' The lecture was most fascinating and witty, comments our correspondent.

GOSSIP
Mr. J. S. Lewis Cockey from 29, Inkster Avenue, Winnipeg, Canada, seads through 'The Ringing World ' New Year greetings to all his friends. He writes: 'On Christmas Day we had a programme on the wireless of bells across Canada, which included the chiming rings at New Westminster and St Luke's, Winnipeg, but Christ Church, Victoria was not included

Everyone is very nice, but I miss the ringing as much as ever.'
To the list of one-arm ringers must be added the name of Mr. Paul Swarles, of Felmersham, Beds. He began lo ring as recently as last summer and has now rung a very good quarter of Grandsire Doubles at Fletton.

The weight of the tenor at Hemel Hempstead is 19 cwt . 1 qr. 4 lb ., and not as printed on page 36. Tnis peal was the first of London Major for the ringers of 3,5 and 6 and the first of Surprise for the 7th.

Although his left arm was amputated less than two years ago, Mr. Reginald W. Rex, of Thatcham, has since rung 28 peals. While not scoring 25 peals last year, he has great hopes for 1957.

Coming Events,' circulated by the British Travel and Holiday Association overseas for the months of November and December, record, under the heading 'Old Customs,' toll ing the Devil's Knell at Dewsbury on December 24th.

The peal in the detached tower at Pembridge (illustrated in Morris' "History and Art ') and reported in our last issue, was the first there since 1938. The structure, completely of wood, and the bells have just been restored, but the noise in the "ringing chamber" is probably louder than before. The bells can be seen from it, and so the conducting was, of necessity, shared.

PEAL RINGERS OF 1956

Mr. George E. Fearn Again Leader
Mr. George E. Fearn, of Birmingham, secretary of the St. Martin's Guild for the Diocese of Birmingham, regains the honour he last held in 1952 of being the leading peal ringer of the year. In the last nine years he has rung 938 peals, giving an annual average of 104.2. In 1956, however, his total was 85.

Second place is held by Mr. Brian G. Warwick, secretary of the Leicester Diocesan Guild, with a total of 79 peals-his best ycar to date. In the last five years he has rung 335 peals.
This year the South of England has, for the first time since 1950, produced a ringer in the first three-Mr. A. Patrick Cannon, of Dorking. A feature of his 76 peals is that they were rung in 71 different towers.
Of our living peal ringers, Mr. Ernest Morris, of Leicester, holds the record with 1,650 . He has had a very good year, with 72 peals, and while his activities are restricted to the light end he still enjoys a good peal.
The privilege of being the leading lady of 1956 is held by Miss Kathleen M. Knight, of Portsmouth. Of her total of 53,28 were rung 'in hand.' She rang more handbell peals than any other ringer. Miss A. Muriel Reay, of Birmingham, however, rang most tower-bell peals with 42.
The leading conductor is Mr. Brian G. Warwick with 63 peals, followed by Mr. Nolan Golden 52 and Mr. Peter Border with 37.
The youngest ringer to be included in this year's list is Robert C. Kippin, of Southampton, who has not yet reached his 14 th birthday. He rang 26 peals.

We thank those ringers who co-operated with us in producing this annual feature and regret that it is not completc. Peals conducted are in brackets.

ST. MARTIN'S GUILD

The annual meeting of the St. Martin's Guild was held at St. Martin's Hotel on January 5 th under the chairmanship of the Master, Mr. Frank E. Haynes, who had the pleasure of welcoming an old member, Mr. J. Frank Smallwood.
The sad news of the passing of Mr. Ernest F. Allaway, a member for over 50 years, was received with great regret. Mr. Allaway, who was an excellent striker, had taken part in many peals, and had served the Guild as a trustee for more than 20 years. The members stood in silence for a moment as a token of respect to his memory.
The secretary reported a considerable loss on the last Henry Johnson Dinner, but several members expressed the view that the dinner should be held despite this, owing to the important position it held amongst ringing functions.

Mrs. B. M. W. Dobbie and Mr. D. H. Paine, both of Edgbaston, were elected members, and the tower elections of the following life members were duly ratified:-J. Alan Ainsworth and Eric N. Harrison (Newcastle-onTyne), John R. Joyner (Rugeley) and Edmund Malin (Penkridge). The officers were re-elected with the exception that Mr. E. C. Shepherd was elected trustee in place of Mr. E. T. Allaway. They are:-Master, Mr. Frank E. Haynes; Ringing Master, Mr. John Pinfold; trustees, Alderman A. Paddon Smith and Mr. Edgar C. Shepherd; auditors. Messrs. Henry H. Fearn and Sidney O'C. Holloway; Central Council representatives, Messrs. Frank E. Haynes and George E. Fearn; librarian, Mr. Edgar C. Shepherd: hon. secretary and treasurer, Mr. George E. Fearn.
It was unanimously decided to invite Mr. John S. Mason, Master of the Ancient Society of College Youths, to take the chair at the Henry Johnson Dinner, which will be held on March 2nd. Handsworth was chosen for the next meeting.
The secretary regretted to have to inform the meeting that, owing to extensive repairs to the tower, the Cathedral bells would be silent for about two years. This is particularly unfortunate for ringing in the city centre, as Bishoo Ryder's Church is now closed for Sunday services for a period of at least five years.

MIDLAND COUNTIES GUILD

The annual meeting of the Midland Counties Guild was held at the Church of St. Paul, Burton, on January 12th. This church was noted throughout the Exercise during the latter part of the last century for its pioneer band of Surprise ringers, who included the Rev. J. H. Fish (Vicar), Messrs. J. Jagger, J. Austin, J. Griffin, A. Wakeley and W. C. Wakeley. One of their many achievements was to ring a 'silent' peal of Stedman Triples on November 20th, 1880.

The fine ring of ten was available during the afternoon and evening with a break for Evensong, tea and the business meeting. The Rev. W. Willis-Price (Vicar), an honorary member of the Guild, conducted shortened Evensong, the lesson being read by Mr. B. G. Key.

Tea, kindly prepared by ladies from the church, was followed by the annual business meeting. In the unavoidable absence of the president (the Ven. H. E. Fitzherbert) and the chairman (Mr. W. H. Curson) Mr. B. G. Kcy was voted to the chair.

One resident and one non-resident member were elected members of the Guild. The Income and Expenditure Account of the General Fund, presented by Mr. J. H. Brittan, showed a credit balance for the year of $£ 35 \mathrm{~s}, 3 \mathrm{~d}$., and the Bell Repair Fund had a balance of $£ 18$ 10 s .11 d . after a grant of $£ 55 \mathrm{~s}$. to Cole Orton.

The secretary (Mr. J. W. Cotton), in his report, said 25 ringers joined the Guild as non-resident members, four lapsed membership, leaving a total membership of 26 honorary and 99 ringing members. Eight meetings had been held with a slightly increased average attendance. During the year 26 peals had been rung in eleven towers in three counties with the following 14 conductors: Messrs. R. Beniston (five), B. G. Key (four), D. P. Jones (three), P. J. Staniforth (two), A. V. Pearson (two), W. Thornley (two), J. E. Cawser, J. R. Mayne, A. P. Cannon, A. E. Rowley, H. Poyner, T. E. Sone and J. W. Cotton (one each). The hon. secretary was the Guild's leading peal ringer with 22 peals.

ELECTION OF OFFICERS

Pryce; committee, Messrs. B. G. Key, S. H. Jones, W. J. Leach, W. F. Woodward and W. G. Soar; Central Council representative, Mr. J. W. Cotton.

An omnibus vote of thanks was proposed by Mr. J. W. Cotton to the Vicar, the local ladies for preparing tea, and to Mr. B. G. Key.

ELY DIOCESAN ASSOCLATION

A very good attendance of ringers from a wide area was noted at the annual mecting of the Hunts District held on January 19th at Huntingdon. Ringing commenced at St. Mary's at 2.30 p.m., Godmanchester not being available at the last moment owing to a death. All Saints' were also available at 3.45 p.m., and ringing took place at both towers until the service at St. Mary s, conducted by the Vicar (Canon A. Morris). Tea followed at All Saints' Hall, being prepared by the ladies of All Saints'.
At the business meeting the Rector of All Saints' (the Rev. J. M. E. Bagley) presided. All the District officers were re-elected and it was deided to explore Essex for the annual tour.
Ringing continued until 9 p.m. at both the Huntingdon towers.

Membership Increases

The annual meeting of the South-Western District was held at Leytonstone on January 12 th . In spite of petrol rationing the meeting was well attended and about 70 members and visitors sat down to tea. Owing to a previous engagement the Rector was unable to take the chair at the business meeting which followed tea but, before leaving the hall, said how pleased he was to welcome the Association to Leytonstone.
Mr. John Crampion, who presided, after thanking the Rector and the organist, extended a welcome to Mr. John MacDougal, a veteran ringer of St. Andrew's, Hornchurch, and also to Mr. Housden, of the Middlesex Association. He suggested that the meeting should send a letter to Mr. Dick Stannard, of Barking, who had undergone an operation the previous Thursday, and to Mr. Reeve, who was recovering from the effects of his motor-cycle accident last year. Unfortunatcly, on the advice of his doctor, Mr. Stannard had had to give up active ringing.
Silent tribute was paid to the memory of Mr. F. J. Freestone, formerly stecple keeper of St. Andrew's, Hornchurch. He had long association with Dagenham and Hornchurch, and although no great peal ringer was always regular and punctual in his attendance for service ringing. The secretary, Mr. C. Willmington, in his annual report, commented on increased membership, the substantially increased attendance at meetings, and the fact that $£ 1211 \mathrm{~s}$. 10 d . had been given to the Bell Restoration Fund. He was pleased to note the high proportion of young members at the District's meetings. Walthamstow were to be congratulated on ringing 23 quarter peals for services during the year, 19 of them conducted by Bob Chapman. Epping were back in union with the Association, and their bells were shorlly to be overhauled. Mr. Harry King, of North Weald, had just completed 50 years as a ringer. There had been an increase in the number of peals rung, with many new names appearing. He paid tribute to the memory of Messrs. Goodwin, Theobald, Chinnery and Freestone, who had been 'called home' during 1956.
The statement of accounts showed that $£ 61$ had been handed to the Central Fund, and Mr. Gant thought that the District had done very well. Election of officers followed, and all those at present holding office were returned for another year. Among the new members elected a notable name was Dennis Blows, of Dagenham, who had at one time been an active and enthusiastic member and had now returned to the fold after a lapse of some years.
The programme for next year's meetings was adopted, and nominations were received for the officers of the Association to go forward for the annual general meeting at Whitsun. Mr. F. V. Gant proposed that Mrs. Osborne, of Romford, be nominated as a life member. She started her ringing career at Loughton and had since been a regular and devoted member of the Romford band. Mr. Chalk, of Wanstead, was also proposed by Mr. J. Crampion.
Three items of interest came up under the nery reported that Mr. Hughes, of Mears and Stainbank, was very shortly coming down to Orsett with a view to putting the necessary repairs in hand there.

CANNING TOWN BELLS

Mr. Lionel Woods, a member of the General Committee, told a gruesome tale regarding the ring of six recently taken from the derelict church at Canning Town. The Church Authorities had turned down an estimate from the bell foundry of under $£ 60$ for removing the bells and fittings from the tower in favour of one of $£ 10$ from the demolition contractors. As a consequence of this cheeseparing, the bells, which have been promised to a new church at Harlow New Town, were almost dropped haphazardly from the tower. Fortunately the foreman in charge was himself a ringer (from Dagenham) and was in time to prevent this. He could not stop the frame and fittings being wantonly smashed beyond repair. The result of this saving of $£ 50$ by the diocesan authorities is that the recipients of the bells will have to pay over $£ 800$ for a new frame and headstocks, etc. The bells, instead of going to the founders, as had been promised, are now reposing in the demolition contractor's yard, but have fortunately been fully insured.
The third item concerned Saffron Walden Great Ringing Day. To helo arouse interest in this annual institution the question of an organised party from the South-Western Divislon was raised. Sufficient members showed enthusiasm to make the question of a coach practicable, and this was left in the hands of Lioncl Woods.
The collection for the Bell Restoration Fund amounted to $£ 217 \mathrm{~s}$. 10 d .

MISS MARY LAWRENCE'S WEDDING

Two well-known local personalities, Mr . John Burling Andrews and Miss Mary Lawrence, were marricd at North Mymms Church, Middlesex, on January 19th. Both are members of the Brookmans Park Tennis Club, and the bride has been a member of the North Mymms company of ringers for the past six years and is also secretary of the Central District of the Ladies' Guild.
Given away by her father, the bride wore a full-length gown of white rose-patterned lace over pink net, and a pink feathered headdress studded with pearls. Her bouquet was of pink carnations and freesias. There were no bridesmaids, and the duties of best man were carried out by the bridegroom's brother, Mr. Tony Andrews.

Members of the local band rang the bells both before and after the ceremony, which was conducted by the Vicar of North Mymms, the Rev. L. F. Hamel-Smith, assisted hy the Rev. R. Birchnall, Vicar of St. Anne's, Chingford, a friend of the bride's family. Mr. H. Cobbe was the organist.
At the reception which followed at the Cranborne Rooms, Hatfield, handbells were rung while the bride cut the wedding cake, which was surmounted by an ornament depicting Cupid ringing a bell, loaned by Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Lock.

Subsequently Mr. and Mrs. Andrews left for Hitchin, where they will make their home.

During the evening a peal of Bob Maior was rung at North Mymms, and on the following Tuesday a peal of Gainsborough Surprise Major was brought round at Willesden, where the bride has rung a number of Surprise peals.

DORSET RINGERS' GIFTS TO CANON A. W. MARKBY

The Dorchester Branch, at their annual meeting at St. Peter'st Church. Dorchester, on January 19th. showed their appreciation of the services of Canon A. Wilkinson Markby as Branch chairman for 21 years by two presentations.

Mr. F. B. Stedman, captain of Wyke Regis, a veteran member, presented him with a framed record of a quarter peal rung at St. Peter's when the Canon retired, and Mr. R. H. Duke, assistant hon. secretary, announced that the delivery had been arranged to him of a garden seat with a suitably carved inscription.
Thanking the members for their kind thought, Canon Markby said the garden át his new home would provide plenty of work, and the seat would be welcome.

The Rev. S. P. Rowcroft (Abbotsbury) was elected as the new chairman, with the Rev. P. J. Heaton vice-chairman, Mr. J. H. Hayne hon. secretary and treasurer, and Mr. R. H. Duke assistant hon. secretary. Mr. F. Precey, Ringing Master, having signified his intention of resigning because of ill-health. Mr. H. J. Ford, of Abbotsbury, was elected Ringing Master, Mr. J. W. Rose, Wyke Regis, was re-elected Deputy Ringing Master, and Mr. A. J. Slade, of Preston, was also elected a Deputy Ringing Master.

New members elccted were the Misses D. Walbrin, W. Barnett, J. Damen, W. Harewood (Charminster), the Misses J. Runyeard, D. Gray, J. Davis and M. Flynn (Wool), Miss B. Jones (Abbotsbury), Miss W. Reed (Upwey) and Mr. B. Coleman (Milton Abbey), all ringing members, and the Rev. P. J. Heaton, honorary member.
Meetings for 1957 were provisionally suggested for Maiden Newton, Wool and Fordington.
It was decided that the Ringing Masters should prepare a rotz of fortnightly practices which the secretary should then circulate to the towers.
The secretary was asked to write to certain towers whose membership had lapsed in order to ascertain if they would consider re-affiliation.

Ringing continued at St. Peter's and St. George's, Fordington, until 9 p.m., under the direction of the Ringing Master and his deputies, methods rung ranging from Grandsire and Stedman Doubles to Bob Triples and Kent Treble Bob Major.

In the afternoon the Guild service was held at St. Peter's Church, at which the Rev. P. J. Heaton (Rector) officiated and Canon Markby gave the address.

DIVERS VIEWS ON CHRISTMAS BROADCAST

HONEST CRITICISM

Dear Sir,-Your anonymous critic of the Christmas Day broadcast seems to be very unpopular, judging by the letters in "The Ringing World.' Maybe he should have added his name (even at the risk of being hung, drawn and quartered !).

However, he gave an honest opinion, and most ringers who heard the broadcast will no doubt agree that the ringing as a whole was not good.

In my opinion no broadcast should be made by any tower unless a good band is available; it would also be as well to bear in mind that good call changes or rounds sound very much better than rough change ringing.

The Editor points out in his note that there are good Sunday service bands in the country and they should be given their chance, and it's up to the B.B.C. to find out where these bands are to be located, and not just grab the first half-dozen they think of !

They wouldn't dream of putting a corny dance band on the air (at least, I don't think they would), and the same should apply to corny ringing.

I don't think the ringers coacerned will take offence at their critics' remarks; most ringers know whether or not their ringing is bad and will usually admit that the touch was only fair or bad, as the case may be.

I hope Major Samson has calmed down enough by now to realise that it would be very silly to 'drop' 'The Ringing World' over a piece of honest criticism, even though it was anonymous.

In the long run an honest opinion is better than a complimentary remark which is passed just to keep the peace.-Yours sincerely,
W. W. RING.

Bethersden, Kent.

B.B.C. SHOULD BE GUIDED

Dear Sir, - How anyone could get any pleasure at all from listening to the ringing broadcast to us on Christmas Day is simply beyond me. I and many of my ringing friends fully shared "Eminent Ringer's' concise criticisms of these performances, and it can only be hoped that, by pointing out to the various bands concerned, how lamentable their ringing sounded, can we ever anticipate an improvement in future broadcasts.

The television broadcast by' the Banstead ringers was quite another story, for here we heard quite the finest striking that could be obtained and it was indeed an object lesson to us all, but from a ringer's point of view the actual change ringing heard was all too short.

I agree it is just bad luck if a band strikes a bad patch just at the time they go on the air, but all too often do we hear some very indifferent striking, even in rounds, as we had from Newport on Christmas Day.

No doubt "Eminent Ringer' will reveal his identity and we will probably find that he belongs to a tower where bad striking is simply not tolerated.

It always seems to be a great pity that the B.B.C. can't be guided as to their choice of towers for this occasion, for all too often we have to listen to not only poor ringing but miserable bells, too.

Thank goodness we are still able to tune in to those excellent recordings from Evercreech each Sunday morning. To me they are more than a tonic--Yours faithfully,

> R. G. EDWARDS.

Erdington, Birmingham.

ONE WHO RANG

Dear Sir,-As one of the members of a broadcasting band on Christmas Day I suppose it is not up to me to comment on the remarks made by our 'Eminent Ringer,' and although I am in no way making excuses, I think that a few words from one of us may not come amiss.
(1) The conductor of the Lambeth band could undoubtedly have got together a firstclass band for this special occasion, but he chose to call on the people who often ring with him at the tower for some Sunday services (this tower has no permanent band). I think the conductor's attitude was the right one.
(2) The tenor ringer (myself) purposely set a slow pace because it was (and is) his opinion that changes rung at speed would be confusing to the lay public, and that slower ringing well struck would make more easy listening to millions of listeners as opposed to the initiated few.
(3) I do not know the identity of the anonymous Central Council member, but would hazard a guess that he rings at a well-known London Cathedral. Surely he does not expect the same standard from bands of smaller calibre ! I trained and still ring with the band at St. George's, Camberwell, every Sunday, and although the ringing may be a little 'rough,' we do our best, and the band which rings in this way is doing as much in God's service as the 'crack' band with near to perfect striking. The teachings of the Church are surely based on charity, so let us all, even in ringing, exercise this blessing.
(4) If any bells have to be broadcast let them be taken from the country at random so that a true cross-section of ringing is gained by the listening public, and let us, the initiated, listen to them with charity in our hearts. If we are going to have the Central Council recommending "suitable" bands, then many a worthy trier is going to be disappointed. Yours faithfully,
F. R. L. BLEWER.

London, S.E.

CHRISTMAS DAY BROADCASTING

Dear Sir,-Well! Well!! The comments of the 'prominent member of the Central Council. on the above broadcast have certainly raised interest! This is exactly what it was intended to do and brings home what should be well known already-good ringing is not as easy as some people think.
The comments made were, I thought, quite fair ones. None of the ringing was good, though it was probably the best that these particular bands could produce.

The obvious solution is for the B.B.C. to consult the Central Council Broadcasting Committee and ask them to provide them with the names of towers which have a good local company. No doubt each Association and Guild could give this information to the Central Council. It would then be an honour for the local company if their tower was chosen for the Christmas Day broadcast.

One of the best broadcasts I ever heard was on Christmas Day, 1951, when the call change band at North Tawton, Devon, gave a wonderful performance of accurate bell-placing. I rang with them a fortnight afterwards and they were delighted that complimentary remarks had been published in "The Ringing World' about them.-Yours faithfully,

Dorking.
A. PATRICK CANNON.

GOODWILL, THE KEYNOTE

Dear Sir,-I am concerned about the way in which the report by an "eminent ringer and member of the Central Council, upon the Christmas broadcast has upset some of your correspondents, and also the way that their attack upon this report is tending to spread from the issue in question to other matters.

If any lesson is to be drawn from this it must surely be that the utmost discretion is necessary where any form of public criticism of a negative or destructive character is made.
I am particularly concerned about the letter from Major E. F. M. Samson, who seems to have been very much upset. I am sure he is right in his suggestion that in all matters connected with Christmas ringing there shouid be a spirit of 'goodwill to all men,' and I do hope that if he is ever a visitor to Bexhill he will come up to St. Peter's to join in our ringing, and bring his wife with him.-Yours faithfully,

COLIN E. VERDON.
Bexhill-on-Sea.

PEALS AT HOAR CROSS

Dear Sir, -1 note with interest the correspondence concerning time-clipping at Hoar Cross, and am inclined to agree with the warning note struck by Mr. Edmund Malin, although I believe the faster peal he refers to in 1953 was one of Stedman Doubles with the tenor covering, when, of course, the lighter fifth bell dictated the pace of the ringing to a much greater degree.

Having rung this lovely $28 \frac{1}{4}$ cwt. bell to a peal in 1955, which I look back upon as one of my most memorable ringing experiences, I venture to express the opinion that it is out of the question to ring a really first-rate peal of Minor on these bells, as they are now, in a time less than $3 \frac{1}{2}$ hours. On the occasion of our peal, my own powers at grips with such a heavy six were an unknown quantity, so I felt it wise to nurse the ringing, taking 32 minutes for each of the first six 720 's. Finding there was still plenty in reserve we got down to it with vigour in the last 720 (of a method similar to Cambridge) and it was rung in 30 minutes -only two minutes saved, despite the hurry. To achieve this I tried every device I knew to hold the bell down on the cut-dodges; not pulling the previous stroke, taking in two feet of tall on the up-dodges, and being carried off the floor in the process. I do not believe a heavier person could have made an appreciably greater cut-and-lift effect in view of the great weight of metal involved in comparison with the weight of the ringer.

I ought to qualify my phrase 'really first-rate peal.' A 720 could no doubt be rung at Hoar Cross in under 30 minutes that was "good" by most standards, but it would sacrifice two things-attention to detail, particularly in the control of the dodges, and, secondly, the real enjoyment of the ringers and listeners. How can the former profess real pleasure when they are taking heavy and unnecessary punishment diverting them from the beauty of tone of the bells? Surely this pleasure is one of the main motives for attempting a peal on such a lovely ring as that at Hoar Cross.

As to attention to detall, I believe that a tenor ringer must regard himself as only one of a team, and must not be content with placing his bell only approximately in position, being accommodated by the other ringers, for the sake of achieving some fantastic time. Are we to believe that this may have happened when we see the footnote 'Quickest peal on the bells'? It certainly does happen sometimes, and it would be wiser to avoid using this footnote. Yours faithfully,
D. P. JONES

OBITUARY

MR. E. T. ALLAWAY
As briefly recorded in 'The Ringing World ' of January 11 th, Mr. Ernest Thomas Allaway died at his home, Yardley Wood Road, Birmingham, on January 4th in his 78th year.

Mr. Allaway was an honoured member of St. Martin's Guild for very many years, he having rung his first peal, Grandsire Triples, at St. John's Church, Deritend, on March 1st, 1901, followed by his first on 10 , Stedman Caters, at Aston on September 19th, 1901, and his first on 12, Stedman Cinques, at St. Martin's on January 7th, 1902.

Unfortunately, Ernest kept no record of his many peals, but the St. Martin's Guild peal books record peals in which he took part of Doubles, Minor in several methods, Triples, Major, Royal, Cinques and Maximus. He took part in the first peal of Cambridge Surprise Maximus rung by the Guild at St. Martin's on May 17th. 1921, which was the first peal of Surprise Maximus on the bells and by all the band. He was also a member of St. Martin's Sunday service band for many years, subsequently joining the Edgbaston Old Church service band.

A member of several ringing societies, including the Ancient Society of College Youths, he had done very little ringing these last few years as the result of his experiences in the 1914-18 world war, in which he served in the Garrison Artillery. He had been confined to his home for some years, receiving the loving care of his wife and doctor son. John.

Mr. Allaway, a Freemason, rang in several Masonic peals on eight and ten bells. He was an excellent ringer, a perfect striker and one to whom it was a delight to be with.

The funeral took place at Quinton Cemetery on January 9th. The writer represented the St. Martin's Guild and the Ancient Society of College Youths. College Youths.

MR. H. E. THOMPSON

By the passing of Mr. Harry Edward Thompson on January 13th, aged 68, ringing in general and the Newark District in particular have lost a devoted friend. His last early thought was of the bells he loved. He rose and went to the door to listen to Newark Parish Church bells ringing for Evensong and then expired.

A wheelwright by trade, Harry Thompson was a craftsman of the old school. Painstaking and methodical, there was nothing slipshod in and methodical, there was nothing slipshod in his work or character.

In 1921 he joined the band of Newark Parish Church and was soon a proficient change ringer, becoming the regular conductor of the band until ill-health forced him to give up ringing a few years ago.

Judged by peal-ringing standards Harry was of no account-he never rang one. Judged by his standard of service at his own tower he was a peer among ringers. Punctual, regular, conscientious, patient, good-humoured and loyal, he was a shining example of integrity and sterling character.

Not a prolific method ringer he confined himself to Grandsire and Stedman. He delighted in experimenting with figures and spent hours composing touches and investigating the mysteries of Stedman.

The bells of Newark Parish Church were rung half-muffled in his memory on the day of the funeral and two of his favourite touches of Stedman were rung.

THE REV. N. E. HOPE
We regret to record the passing on January 26th of the Rev. Noel E. Hope, Master of the Gloucester and Bristol Diocesan Association from 1938 to 1947.

MR. G. W. PEVERELL
A very respected member of the Southern District of the Durham and Newcastle Association, Mr. G. W. Peverell, of Bishop Auckland, died on January 3rd, aged 78 years. He was one of the District's keenest supporters for many years and attended his last meeting at Heighington in November.

His membership of the Association dated back to 1897, and he was a lifelong ringer at St. Andrew's, South Church, Bishop Auckland, where his brother, H. Peverell, also rang until the 1914-18 war, when he lost his life in action.

Mr. Peverell rang in 52 peals, conducting 11 , and this figure would, no doubt, have been much greater had there been better facilities in his locality. His favourite methods were Stedman and Kent Treble Bob.
The Association was represented at the funeral by the vice-president, Mr. T. Cooke. F.W.C.

MR. JOHN FERRIS

With the death of Mr. John Ferris, at the age of 91, on December 27th last, another veteran of the Exercise and one of the oldest members of the Hertford County Association has passed to higher service.

A native of Devonshire, he was at one time a member of the Exeter Cathedral band, where he and Mr. C. Glass, of Heavitree, who survives him, regularly rang the tenor.

He moved to Knebworth about 38 years ago and had been a ringer there until quite recently, and remained captain of the band until his death.
The interment was on December 31st near the lower where he loved to be, and the bells were rung half-mufiled before and after the service.

MR. WILLIAM WIGHTMAN

After some 12 months of failing health, the death occurred somewhat suddenly at his home at Cretingham, Suffolk, on January 19th, of Mr. William Wightman, at the age of 76.

The younger brother of Alfred, David, George, Edgar and Stephen, he rang his first peal at the age of 15 , conducted by his brother George. His last, Yorkshire, also at Framsden. was on January 7th. 1951, conducted by Pat Cannon.

Throughout the years he took part-making the journeys mainly on foot-in 252 peals. A safe ringer, a perfect striker, and a composer of several peals, he never had any desire for conducting, only one going to his credit-Kent T.B. Major 'in hand,' ringing 5-6. Of extraordinary memory, he could recall any peal he took part in, the band and the bells they rang; likewise any ringing news since boyhood days.

Now. only a few are left to recall the kind hospitality that was always given at the shoemaker's shop. The Pye brothers, W. Kecble, the Rev. F. E. Robinson were among those who have shared this hospitality. For some 130 -odd years this house was the home of a famous ringing family: now all are gone, and that door is closed for ever.

At the funcral at Cretingham on January 23rd the Suffolk Guild was represented by Messis. C. W. Pipe, W. E. Maulden, G. Bennett, G. A. Fleming, C. W. Beecroft, W. and F. Ruffies and L. G. Brett.

MR. STAFFORD H. GREEN

With deep regret we announce the death of Mr. Stafford Hugh Green. of Crown Hill, Tiverton, on January 18th. Cremation took place at Torquay on January 22 nd.

We are sure there are many friends who would like to contribute a memoir to this delightful personality, who did so much in helping forward our art.

LEICESTER DIOCESAN GUILD  Melton District

The District annual meeting took place at Melton Mowbray on January 12th, and thanks to the splendid support of Guild members from other Districts was a most successful occasion.
Ringing to suit all tastes commenced at 3 p.m. and a satisfactory course of Cambridge Royal was a very suitable touch for the service. The hearty singing was accompanied by Mr. H. L. Barnes on the splendid new organ, which was opened last May, and was being heard by many of the visitors for the first time. The Vicar of Melton, Canon C. M. S. Clarke, spoke very movingly in his address of the vocation of laymen.
Tea followed in the Colles Hall, where Mr. H. E. Clark, the Vicar's warden, was waiting to welcome the visitors. An excellint meal had been prepared by the Mothers' Union, who were only prepared to make a nominal charge to cover their costs; accordingly a more realistic price was charged and a useful balance of $£ 1$ 10s. was donated to Melton Organ Fund.
The District chairman, Mr. J. H. Cook, presided at the business mecting, and was supported by the District secretary, Mrs. P. A. Corby, the president of the Guild. Mr. P. L. Taylor. Canon C. M. S. Clarke and Mr. P. A. Corby (vice-president).
Mr. Taylor, in taking the chair for the election of officers, expressed his pleasure at being present and then conducted the unanimous reelection of the District chairman and secretary and the appointment of Mr. A. E. Hinman, of Kirby Bcllars, and Mr. M. D. Staniforth, of Melton Mowbray, as the two members of the District Committee.
Mr. Cook was welcomed back to the chair, and arrangements for future meetings were discussed. It was decided that to assist the secretary in making arrangements, two meetings should be fixed provisionally-at Hoby on March 9th and Wymondham on May 11th. The present general officers of the Guild were all nominated for re-election at the annual general meeting of the Guild at Leicester on the Saturday after Easter, with the additional nomination of Mr. B. G. Warwick as a Central Council representative. (The Central Council representatives have to be elected at the quarterly general meeting at Sileby on February 9th. and not at the annual general meeting.)
Four new members of the Guild were elected -Rita Hazlewood, of Eaton, Mr. Cooper, the new verger at Melton Mowbray, and Mr. Raymond Smith and Miss Ruth Main, also of Melton.
Under ' Any Other Business.' Mr. P. A. Corby referred to the fact that Mr. Harry Clayton had resigned from the post of captain at Melton although he was still carrying out the duties of steeple keeper. The church and tower owed a great deal to him for his many years of loyal and faithful service. He also mentioned that Mr. Joseph Gilson, now 80, was still one of the most loyal members of the local band, both as regards ringing and attendance at church. He also thanked the Vicar for his help.
Mr. Clayton, Mr. Gilson and Canon Clarke all replied briefly, the Vicar saying he was only too pleased to do all he could provided it did not involve going any higher than the pulpit!
Part. of the Leicester contingent retumed by a late train and there is no doubt that the 'regulars' in the 'local ' near the station are now well informed as to the merits and demerits of the College of Campanology and all its works, and should have more than a passing acquaintance with the great figures of the Exercise who stride like giants across the pages of 'The Ringing World.' many of whom were referred to with affection if not always with the respect that their greatness should command.

KENWYN RINGERS IN LONDON

Seven Kenwyn (Cornwall) ringers, joined by a friend at Exeter, spent four enjoyable days ringing in the suburbs of London. On route to London ringing took place at St. David's Church and St. Mark's Church, Exeter.

The next morning the party were met at Richmond by Dr. Neill-Smith and his daughter, Jill, who had provided two cars. The first stop was at Barnes, where the bells were tricky to handle, and then to the rumbling old eight at Chiswick and a ringing room surrounded by gruesome monuments to generations long dead. At Richmond the president discovered that one of the local ringers was 'one 0 ' wee,' and he was invited to take part in some rounds and call changes.

After an excellent lunch of cold turkey and Christmas pudding we proceeded to what turned out to be the best ring of the day, at All Hallows', Twickenham. Later came St. Mary's, Twickenham, and the useful little eight at Feltham.

The next day the programme started on the eight at Hampton, followed by the seldom-heard bells of Hounslow, Cranford, the only six-bell tower of the tour, and the light eight at Harlington. After lunch came the best ringing of the tour at Hillingdon, where, after an initial two courses of Grandsire Caters, we succeeded in ringing (much to our surprise) courses in Stedman Caters and Bob Royal. Then came the lovely bells of Pinner and our ringing did not do any injustice to them. Finally we joined some of Dr. Neill-Smith's pupils at St. John's, Waterloo Road, and a certain well-known character from the Ealing district later directed us to one of London's interesting taverns, where we drank to a day well spent.
There was no definite programme for the Saturday, but in the morning we were able to 'grab' Dalston-the roughest eight visitedand on Sunday morning, at the invitation of Bill Cook, we visited St. Olave's, Hart Street, to ring for morning service. We took the afternoon train to Exeter and in the evening the party divided to ring at Alphington and St. Thomas'. A perfect tour had its ending on the road home to Truro with a quick ring on the lovely six at Bridestowe.

A sincere 'thank you' to Dr. Neill-Smith for arranging the towers, and to his good wife for entertaining us to tea on two occasions. Also to local ringers and clergy and last, but not least, our president, Mr. Alan Carveth.

COLLEGE OF CAMPANOLOGY

The New Year has opened encouragingly for the College of Campanology. Ringers successfully trained in the initial course are now proving helpful for service ringing, and a letter of thanks from the Provost of Portsmouth Cathedral has been received by the Principal. Those trained as tutors are taking on new courses, of which some six or seven are either planned or under way in different parts of the country. Letters of appreciation of the Manual indicate its practical use, and advice is being given by post. The president has commended the work and sent a generous donation to its funds, as a help towards meeting costs.

BEDFORDSHIRE ASSOCIATION

Luton District

Over 50 ringers attended the annual meeting of the Luton District held at Wohurn on January 19th. The bells were rung from 2.45 p.m., and Evensong, conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. T. N. Gunner), was sung by a choir of ringers. The company then adjourned to the Town Hall, where an excellent tea was served by the ladies.

The Rev. T. N. Gunner presided at the business meeting. The secretary (Mr. K. G. Spavins) in his report said that ringing in the District continued to improve and that two more towers, Husborne Crawley and Flitton, now rang regularly for Sunday service.

Mr. Spavins was re-elected secretary and thanked for his work of last year. It was decided to elect four committee members for this year. Mr. H. B. Whitney and Mr. P. Newing were re-elected, and Miss June Gladman and Mr. E. J. Munday elected as the two new members. Mr. Munday was also elected chairman, in succession to Mr. J. Sinfield. After presenting the Belfry Repair Fund balance sheet, Mr. B. Grainger was re-clected treasurer of the fund.
ill those present wiere very sorr; to hear that M. H. D. Harris, a vice-president of the Association, of which he has been a member for over 60 years, and tower captain of the local tower had been involved in a road accident recently. He sustained a dislocated shoulder and facial injuries but has returned home after being detained in hospital. The meeting unanimously expressed the hope that Mr. Harris would make a complete and rapid recovery.

After the business meeting ringing continued and the bells were kept going to methods ranging from rounds to Superlative and Bristol Surprise Major.

CENTRAL COUNCIL HANDBOOK

$I^{s}$S the new Handbook, issued under the authority of the Central Council, value for money? If you are interested in the work of the Central Council; or in the technicalities of method construction, composifon, etc.; or take an active part in the affairs of your own Association; or are merely interested in the vital statistics (not the pin-up ones) of past and present leaders of the Exercise, then I can recommend the book as wonderful value, for 2 s . 6 d . post free.

Most of our Associations and Guilds have in the past few years adopted a rule to abide loyally by the rules and decisions of the Central Council. But what were those rules and decisions? Not even the most knowledgeable members of the Council could have answered that question with confidence.

The last edition of 'Rules and Decisions' was issued in 1927 - I never remember seeing a copy. The present handbook, the detailed work of the Council's secretary, Mr. E. A. Barnett, and of Mr. C. K. Lewis, takes the place of and goes much farther than the 1927 publication. Before reaching its present stage, much of the material was circulated to and considered by each member of the Council and then discussed at a full Council meeting. I believe that those members will readily agree that their time has not been wasted.

After a preface by a former secretary of the Council, Mr. E. Alex. Young - it must have been almost the last thing he wrote before his lamented death last summer - a short history is given of the Council from its conception by Sir Arthur Heywood in 1890, with a note of the procedure at its meetings. This is followed by the rules of the Council - essential for all members and for Association secretaries. Then perhaps the most important section, certainly the most difficult to prepare, containing an up-to-date list of the Council's decisions as they now stand, taking into account afl the various rescissions and amendments.

Now that this book is in existence ringers need have no doubt whether or not the peal they ring will be 'accepted' by the Council for inclusion in its records. Many hours of discussion and argument have gone into the vexed question of what is or is not a peal, and there will doubtless be many more. But a code is now available in quite surprisingly simple language setting out what is accepted at present. Conditions are defined for 'regular methods' and definitions given of the various classes of methods. I cannot find any definite statement that 'Plain Bob Minor, Major,' etc., shall henceforth be called 'Bob Minor, Major,' etc., though no doubt it follows from a section headed 'Plain methods,' which we are told consist of (a) Bob methods and (b), (c) and (d) other named types. After (a) Bob methods 'come the words, 'These methods have the Plain Bob place., This shakes me a little I must confess, but I am content that the word 'Plain' shall be omitted from my peal reports, so long as I may continue to use it in the tower when ringing spliced, as does at least one of the compilers.

Next come brief accounts of the work of the various Committees of the Council - work which, of course, goes on continually throughout the year and without which the Council meeting could easily become just the glorified outing which some people still think it is. Details are given of the Council's publications, largely the work of the Committees referred to and in themselves a justification if such were needed of the existence of the Council. The out of print pamphlet setting out the law as it affects church bells has been brought up to date by Mr. W. B. Cartwright and printed in full. A most useful part this to show to incumbents who may be doubtful of their position $v i s-\bar{a}$-vis their ringers, their church officers or complainants of nuisance caused by the bells. The desirability of the church authorities taking out an insurance policy for their ringers is wisely stressed.

Lists are printed of the existing members of the Council and fascinating to those interested in people - a biographical list of all members of the Council from 1891. Dates of membership and names of the Association represented are given and, when known, the dates of birth and death. A disappointing feature is the number of blanks under the date of birth, which shows how many members have failed to supply the Biographies Committee with the easiest but most important date of all. We all hope one day to merit an obituary notice, and who better than ourselves can ensure its accuracy! I would hope that those blanks will be filled in before the next edition and I must repress the desire I have for hearing the details obtained by means of direct questions from the 'Chair.'

The Handbook completes its 70 pages with lists of the various meeting places and numbers in attendance (from which it will be seen that the 1956 attendance was a record) and of the affiliated societies.

In return for his trouble a reviewer is entitled to criticise - that is often the easiest part of his task. We are told on page 35 that one of the collections of peal compositions contained a Bob Maximus composition of $479,100,600$ by the late J. A. Trollope. That is precisely 99,000 changes longer than any true composition of Maximus could possibly be and I don't believe the composer did it. This is, I think, the only actual misprint in the book. A paragraph about muffled ringing on occasions of public mourning appears twice, once under ' Recommendations to Associations ' and later under 'Peal ringing general.' Perhaps deliberate, but hardly necessary. A feeling of nostalgia was engendered by the reference in the historical section to the Committee set up in 1893 to deal with the question of 'Reduced Rail Fares for Ringers.' One can imagine London Transport's way of dealing with that question in 1957!

I think that the example set Ђy the Ringers' Diary in printing the addresses of the secretaries of the affiliated bodies would have been worth following. Council members ought not to have to rely on a private publication for useful information of that nature. The publisher's name, on an otherwise completely blank page, might have been followed by the words, "Printers of "The Ringing World"' - not every one who should yet takes the paper. But these last matters are details which merely serve, by their triviality, to emphasise the merits of the Handbook. May it sell out as speedily as it and its compilers deserve.
W. G. WILSON.

OXFORD DIOCESAN GUILD

Bicester Deanery Branch

The first meeting of the Branch to be held at Islip since two new trebles were added to make a ring of eight took place on January 19th and attracted 33 members. Ringing included Grandsire and Stedman Triples and Bob Major.

In his address at the service, the Rector (the Rev. A. W. Blanchett) gave a talk on St. Nicholas' Church, Islip, and mentioned that the Dean of Westmanster was patron of the living, and there had been a relationship between Westminster Abbey and Islip since the days of Edward the Confessor.

Mr. F. Sharpe presided at the business meeting, supported by the hon. secretary (Mr. C. H. Kinch). Seven new members were elected and it was decided to hold an outing, provided the fuel situation permitted. All who contributed to the success of the mecting were thanked.

South Oxon Branch

A meeting of the South Oxon Branch of the Oxford Diocesan Guild was held at Wheatley on January 26th. The Vicar conducted the service and also gave a helpful and inspiring address. Mr. H. Badger was the organist

Mr. F. Sharpe, Deputy Master of the Guild, presided over the business meeting in the absence of the Branch chairman, when it was decided to hold a combined meeting with the Oxford City Branch on February 16th, and the annual Branch meeting at Warborough on May 21 st.
About 30 members and visitors were present, including the secretary of the Oxford City Branch and secretary of the Bicester Branch.

CHESTER DIOCESAN GUILD

Crewe District Annual Meeting

With one exception there were now enough ringers to man every church in the Crewe area, reported Mr. W. Kerr, secretary, at the annual meeting of the Crewe Branch on January 19th. The black spot was Church Lawton, where, since the death of Mr . Walter Longman, there were no ringers. A very poor way in which Walter's memory should be honoured, commented Mr. Kerr.

The Branch had a membership of 125 against 121 a year ago, but one tower had been transferred to the Macclesfield Branch.

The officers were re-elected with the exception of the Master of six-bell towers, who is succeeded by Mr. Derek Smith, of Wistaston.

The chairman, the Rev. F. G. Gentry (Vicar of Christ Church, Crewe) presided, and also conducted the short service in the church, which preceded the tea and meeting. In his address he said that during his first year at Crewe he had had striking proof that the bells really did call people to church. The bells were ringing in a New Year, and after attending a party in the Parish Hall, he went into the church for something. To his surprise he found that, although no service had been arranged, people were sitting in the church. They told him that because they heard the bells ringing they thought there must be a service.

Thanking the Vicar and Parochial Church Council for the use of the Parish Hall and the church bells, Mr. R. D. Langford, captain of the Christ Church tower, said it was very encouraging to see so many young members. It was just 50 years ago that he started bell ringing, and even in those days the ringers' meeting was held in the same Parish Hall.

EAST GRINSTEAD GUILD DINNER

The annual dinner of the Guild, held at the Culverden Arms at Tunbridge Wells on January 12th, was preceded by ringing at St. Peter's. During the meal the company was entertained by tape recordings of Barming, East Farleigh and Mereworth bells, and a touch of Double Court on the back six at Frittenden was particularly well struck and musical.
Afterwards, while waiting for the ontertainer to arrive, several members rang Grandsire Triples, Bob Major and tunes on the handbells, and then had the pleasure of having it all played back to them.

An enjoyable hour then passed while Mr. Clarkson mystified and amused everyone with his tricks and patter.

The evening closed with votes of thanks to Mr. Wellington and Mr. Ladd for making the arrangements, and to Mr. W. Manser for the use of his tape recorder.

BARNSLEY & DISTRICT SOCIETY

Ringing to suit all tastes took place at the annual meeting of the Barnsley District Society at St. Mary's, Barnsley, on January 12 th. The hon. president, Canon Morley, conducted the service and gave an interesting address, and Mr. N. F. Moxon was the organist.
Canon Morley presided at the business meeting, when the officers were elected, viz: President, Mr. N. F. Moxon; hon. secretary, Mr. Dan Smith ; hon. treasurer, Mr. Harold Chant. Mr. J. W. Buxton was appointed acting secretary during the illness of Mr. Smith.
The vote of thanks included appreciation of the services of the ladies for serving such an excellent tea in the Rectory Rooms. Further ringing followed.

The Ancient Society of College Youths have elected the following as their Central Council representatives: Squadron Leader J. S. Mason (Master), Messrs. A. B. Peck (secretary), J. F. Smallwood (trustee) and W. Williams (junior steward).

Leading peal ringers.-The figures for Mr . Roger Baldwin should read tower bells 27 (7), handbells 29 (8).

Mr. R. D. Langford. captain of Christ Church, Crewe, has completed 50 years as a ringer.

Local ringers rang a quarter peal at Pershore, Worcs, on January 20th-the first time in living memory, states our correspondent.

Mr. W. A. Theobald, who unfortunately is in Hampshire Ward, Odstock Hospital, Salisbury, would be pleased to hear from ringing friends.

The peal rung at Bromfield, Salop, on Sunday, November 4th, 1956 ('R.W.', December 7 th), was rung for the Hereford Diocesan Guild. The conductor omitted to state this in his report.

To our list of ringing schools must be added the King's School, Ottery St. Mary, Devon, which figures in our quarter peal column in this issue.

Owing to clash of dates on May 11th with Chester Diocesan Guild and the Yorkshire Association, the annual meeting of the Railwaymen's Guild has been provisionally fixed for June 22nd at Crewe.

Mr. Charles Hone, who came from Thakeham, Sussex, to Stafford in 1951, has developed into an enthusiastic and regular ringer at St. Mary's Church. A farewell quarter with the best wishes of the company was rung at St. Mary's on January 27th. Charles is leaving to do his National Service with the R.A.F.

There is encouraging news for Birmingham ringers. The old bells from Deritend are to GOSSIP be recast and hung in Bishop Latimer's tower shortly.

The bells of St. Lawrence, Pudsey, are now at the foundry and are being recast at a cost of about $£ 1,000$.

Mr. A. J. Adams, of Cheam, Surrey, is ill in hospital. Good wishes for his speedy recovery were forthcoming from the Northern District meeting of the Surrey Association at Wimbledon on January 26th.

The first peal of Chiltern Treble Bob Minor (C.C.C. TB21) was rung at Offiey, Herts. The name was selected because the village of Offley crowns the escarpment of the easternmost Chiltern Hills.

After a lapse of 30 years, the brothers $\mathbf{W}$. and F. Ruffles have scored another peal of Superlative at Framsden. 'Is this, once called "Queen of all methods," losing its popularity in Suffolk? ', enquires L. G. Brett.

Mr. George Seth, who rang a peal at Keysoe, Beds, on January 20th, last rang a peal over 18 years ago. Mr. Fred Stapleton, churchwarden; who was ringing his first peal, afterwards entertained the band to supper after evening service.

With the quarter on January 13th the ringers of All Saints', Sherburn-in-Elmet, have rung quarters for Evensong on nine of the last 11 Sundays, varying from Doubles in three to ten methods to Minor in one to four methods, with different conductors.

The Rev. G. W. Ruming (' Gone With Rope ') has been given a permanent reminder of his early attempts to ring in the shape of a table lamp made from one of the broken stays. He is now making good progress with the Prestbury, Glos, band, and is determined to master the job.

ROYAL CUMBERLAND YOUTHS

Mr. F. J. Cullum the New Master
THE annual meeting of the Society was held on January 26th at the Society's headquarters church, St. Martin-in-the Fields. During the afternoon ringing took place at St. Martin's and St. Giles-in-the-Fields. Members and friends numbering about 60 enjoyed an excellent tea in St. Martin's canteen, and the businass meeting was held in the Fellowship Hall, with the Master, Mr. H. E. Audsley, in the chair.

The Master welcomed those present to the mecting, and arising from the minutes, Mr. G H. Cross apologised for the fact that the peai book was not quite up to date, but he hoped to complete the work shortly. Mr. F. E. Hawthorne undertook to try to make arrangements for the new bookcase for St. Martin's belfry.

The secretary, Mr. P. N. Bond, in his report, stated that 36 new members had been elected during the past year, and particularly thanked members in the Chichester-Portsmouth area who had done so much to further the progress of the Society in their area. During the year 10 peals had been rung, in methods ranging from Bob Doubles to Bristol Major and Erin and Stedman Cinques Quarterly meetings had been held in Westerham, a joint meeting with the Tonbridge District of the Kent County Association, Great Waltham and Chelmsford and Harrow-on-the-Hill. In addition a very successful joint meeting with the Middlesex County Association had been held at Shoreditch and Bishopsgate. The dinner was a great success and members were asked to make early application for tickets next year. Members were also asked to give all possible support to the Sunday ringing and practices at St. Martin's.

ACCOUNTS HEALTHY

The accounts were presented by the treasurer, Mr. F. E. Hawthorne. He said that the past year had been very successful and the balance in hand at the end of the year was $£ 122$ 14s. 4 d . The deficit on the dinner had been settled by a generous anonymous gift from a member.

The following new members were elected:Messrs. E. V. Williams (Truro) and G. Pearson (Chatham). Ratifications of belfry elections prior to peal attempts: Messrs. D. J. F. James (Newport), B. Cornell (St. Albans) and G. Cartwright (Croydon), the Misses V. K. Hester - (Leytonstone) P. Doorn (St. Albans), M. Skinner (Pinner), A. Weller, H. Talbot (Croydon) and Mrs. O. L. Rogers (Isleworth).

Before vacating the chair, the Master thanked all those who had supported him loyally during his year of office, and intimated that he did not wish to stand for re-election. On the proposition of Mr. B. Baker, Mr. F. J. Cullum was unanimously elected Master for the ensuing year, and the new Master took the chair amid applause. He thanked members for electing him, promised to do his best for the Society during the coming year and asked for members' support.

Other officers elected were as follows: Hon. secretary, Mr. P. N. Bond; assistant secretary (to deal with dinner arrangements), Mr. J. L. Morris; hon. treasurer, Mr. F. E. Hawthorne; senior steward, Mr. A. R. Ling: junior steward, Mr. D. Beresford: trustees, Messrs. A. Butler and T. H. Francis: auditors. Mrs. Deal and Mrs. Francis: Central Council representatives, Messrs. G. H. Cross, F. E. Hawthorne, J. L. Morris and P. N. Bond.

COLLEGE OF CAMPANOLOGY

A considerable amount of discussion over the College of Campanology ensued. Members were asked to advise their representatives how they should vote if this matter is discussed at the forthcoming Council meeting. It was finally decided by a very large majority that representatives should not only oppose Council recognition of the organisation, but should place a motion to that effect on the Council's agenda, the reason being that members felt that the College was most unlikely to prove of general benefit to the Exercise as a whole. It was also suggested that members might support any proposal to restrict the space made available in 'The Ringing World' for the publications of the College.

On the proposition of Mr. T. H. Francis the meeting decided to send a contribution of $£ 55 \mathrm{~s}$. to the Bow Bells Fund.

An alteration in the date of the annual dinner was proposed by the secretary, and it was finally decided that the dinner secretary be asked to make arrangements for the function to be held on the first or sccond Saturday in 1958.

Under the heading of 'Any Other Business,' Mr. H. Rogers thanked the members for the cordial reception afforded to the visitors, and brought fraternal greetings from the London County Association. Mr. E. V. Williams thanked members for welcoming him to the Society, and said a licarty welcome awaited all ringers in his home county, Cornwall.

A very hearty comprehensive vote of thanks was proposed by Mr. G. H. Cross to the following: the Vicars of St. Giles' and St. Martin's for the use of their bells; the Vicar and churchwardens of St. Martin's for the use of the cantcen for tea and the hall for the meeting; the ladies who prepared the tea, and all who helped to make the meeting a success. Finally Mr. A. G. Mason proposed a very hearty vote of thanks to the retiring Master for all his work during the past year.

Good Support at Plymouth

The annual meeting of the S.W. Branch was held at Emmanuel Church, Plymouth, on January 26 th and was well supported. Branch members, who came from as far away as Launceston, extended a warm welcome to a large contingent from the N.W. Branch, which included their chairman (Mr. F. C. Smale, of Okehampton) and Ringing Master (Mr. Charles Sangwin. of Bude), whilst members of the MidDevon Branch had with them their chairman and Ringing Master (Mr. J. E. Lilley, of Newton Abbot).
Ringing commenced at 2.30 and went on until 8.30, after the service, tea and meeting. Touches of Grandsire Triples, Stedman Triples, Kent Treble Bob Major, Bob Major, and rounds for the less advanced, were rung under the direction of the Ringing Master, Mr. T. G. Myers.

The Guild service was conducted by the Rev. R. K. Ledge, with Mr. Grant Arnold as organist.

The meeting followed an excellent tea provided by the Emmanuel ringers' wives led by Mrs. Jack Sims, the captain's wife. The hon. secretary and treasurer, Mr. T. G. Myers, gave his report for the past year, and the financial statement showed a most satisfactory position.

Election of officers resulted in Mr. H. H. Thomas being re-elected chairman, Mr. T. G. Myers re-elected hon. secretary and treasurer and Ringing Master, Mr. H. H. Thomas Press correspondent, Mr. O. Thomas re-elected auditor, and Messrs. F. Day, H. Milford and K. Farnham representatives on the General Committee. Mr. J. Sims, a previous member, withdrew his nomination in favour of a representative from the young and enthusiastic band at Plympton. Mr. W. Townsend (Emmanucl) was

DEDICATION OF THE BELLS OF  ST. CLEMENT DANES'

As most readers will be aware, the recast bells of the historic Church of St. Clement Danes, Strand, were dedicated by the Chaplain-in-Chief of the Royal Air Force, Canon A. S. Giles, on January 24th. The church, after rebuilding, will be the official church of the R.A.F., and much of the money needed for its restoration is being subscribed by past and present members of that Service in memory of more than 125,000 men and women who gave their lives in two world wars as members of the R.A.F. or one of its forerunners, the R.F.C. and the R.N.A.S. and associated women's Services.
The bells were named by representatives of various bodies, and Mr. E. A. Barnett, who, as a member of the staff of the Air Ministry, has been asked by the Chaplain-in-Chief to be responsible for ringing arrangements at the church, had the privilege of participating in this ceremony, as did Mr. A. A. Hughes on behalf of the Whitechapel Foundry. A new bell has been added to the ring so that 'Oranges and Lemons, can be played on them more accurately than was previously possible, and after the dedication and naming this tune was played on the bells, which were arranged in a circle, mouths uppermost, in the forecourt outside the west door, by Mr. Douglas Hughes, who gave what 'The Times ' quite rightly described as 'a most finished performance,' ending in ' a triumphant burst of two-part harmony, produced by Mr. Hughes and 'an assistant,' who was, in fact, his brother, Mr. W. A. Hughes.

The restoration of the church is still far from complete and the dedication is not expected to take place until mid-1958.

presented with his certificate. New members elected were: Lifton (two), Plympton (one) and Emmanuel (one). Emmanucl ringers were complimented on their ringing at the broadcast service on January 6th.
Dates for meetings selected were: May 4th, June 1 Sth (joint meeting with Mid-Devon Branch), October 5 th and January 25th (annual).

Votes of thanks were moved by Mr. D. Wheeler to the clergy, and ladies for the tea, and also Mr. J. Sims (captain, Emmanuel) for making the arrangements. A special welcome was extended to Mr. Philip Westwood, who commenced his ringing at Emmanuel and made the journey from Dover to be present. He is now a member of Canterbury Cathedral band.

A MID-DEVON PEAL ATTEMPT

Peal attempts at St. Michael's Church, East Teignmouth, are very few and far between as the church is situated on the sea front and right amongst hotels and boarding houses. The bells were installed during the late Queen Victoria's Diamond Jubilee and as far as it is known, only two peals have been rung on the bells, one of Superlative Major in 1912 by the Cambridge University Guild, and one of Yorkshire Surprise Major in 1934 by a band of tourists under the auspices of the Devon Guild. On January 12th a Mid-Devon band met there and attempted Parker's Twelve-part peal of Grandsire Triples, but 'Stand ' was called after 1 hour and 31 minutes" ringing owing to a shift course. The pingers were: A. L. Bennett 1. Mrs. D. E. Hooq 2, E. M. Atkins (conductor) 3. A. Newman 4. M. Hood S. A. S. Watt 6. W. Simmonds 7, D. J. Cross tenor. A. L. B.

THE YORKSHIRE ASSOCIATION

Snowdon Dinner at Rotherham

 THE winter general meeting of the Association was held at Wakefield on January 19th, and was well supported by members and friends from each of the four Districts. Good use was made of the well-known ring of six at St. Helen's. Sandal Magna, during the afternoon, and following the meeting, the fine 12 bells at the Cathedral were at the disposal of members.An excellent tea was served in the Cathedral School, and at the business meeting the chair was taken by the president, Archdeacon C. O. Ellison, supported by the Provost of Wakefield, the Very Rev. Noel T. Hopkins, the Suffragan Bishop of Pontefract, the general secretary and the hon. treasurer. Apologies for absence were received from Messrs. A. E. Sellers, F. W. Dale, P. J. Johnson, J. Ambler and D. Smith.

A vote of thanks to the Provost of Wakefield and Cathedral authorities, also the Vicar and churchwardens of Sandal for the use of the bells, was moved by Mr. N. Chaddock, seconded by Mr. V. Bottomley and carried with applause. The Provost of Wakeficld, in reply, said it gave him very great pleasure to welcome the Association and he regretted he had not given earlier thought to being their host and entertaining the members to tea. A similar vote of thanks to the local companies of Sandal and Wakefield Cathedral was moved by Mr. E. Hudson, seconded by Mr. W. Barton and also carried with applause. Mr. J. E. Kirby responded on behalf of the Cathedral ringers, and Mr. J. W. Moxon on behalf of the Sandal company.
It was agreed to hold the annual general meeting on Saturday, May 11th. but as no specific invitation had so far been received the venue was left in abeyance for the time being. Mr . H . Walker gave a brief report on the Snowdon Dinner, which took place at York on October 20th, patronised by the Lord Archbishop of York. The dinner had proved an outstanding social success, and financially had just about balanced. One of the highlights had been the Archbishop's outspoken criticism of mechanical devices installed in some of their towers as a substitute for bells, and which he had described as the most bogus fraud in Christendom. That speech had been widely quoted by the Press, and in one instance an editor had devoted a leading article to it. This was excellent propaganda which would be widely appreciated by ringers everywhere.
The secretary announced that he had received an invitation from Rotherham in respect of the dinner for this year. Mr. Chaddock said that Rotherham was a good accessible centre well served by main line trains. He had made inquiries and found suitable accommodation where a dinner up to the usual standard could be put on at a reasonable price. Several rings of bells, including the ten at Rotherham Parish Church, would be available, and arrangements could be made for peal attempts at towers in the vicinity. It was unanimously agreed to accept the invitation, and that the dinner be arranged on October 26th.
The general secretary announced that the committee had unanimousty agreed that Archdeacon Ellison, who retires this year by rota, be their nominee for re-election as president at the annual meeting, and he had very great pleasure in moving this resolution on behalf of the committee. Mr. J. E. Kirby seconded, and this was carried with acclamation. Archdeacon Ellison, in acknowledgment, said how much he valued the confidence reposed in him, but asked the members seriously to consider looking round for a successor, as he found himself unable to attend as many District meetings as he would wish. He would, however, do all in his power to further their interests and justify the confidence so freely manifested and the support so readily given.

The president next reported that the cummittee had that afternoon considered the report of a sub-committee appointed to examine the finances of the Association with particular regard to the cost of printing the annual report. This had revealed a most disturbing state of affairs, and in view of the continuing upward trend in the cost of printing, the committee were unanimously agreed that an increase in the subscription rate was inevitable. In accordance with rule, he therefore gave formal notice that this matter would come up for debate and settlement at the annual general meeting on May 11 th next.
Philip Walker, of Rotherham, Rodney Stephenson, of Ossett, and Gerald Dale, of Wakefield, were elected members on the motion of Mr. J. E. Kirby, seconded by Mr. W. E. Critchley. This concluded the business and an adjournment was then made to the Cathedral, where the Ringing Master, Mr. H. Chant, very ably accommodated the needs of all.

Chippenham Peal Board Dedicated

A peal board commemorating a peal of Stedman Triples rung two years ago, the first peal on the bells of St. Andrew's, Chippenham, since they were rehung in 1950, was dedicated by the Rev. W. Windsor Grace at the annual meeting of the Chippenham Branch on January 19th. The bells at St. Andrew's were cast in 1734 by Abraham Rudhall and are one of his few remaining eights in the country.

About 60 members were present, including Mr. C. R. Harding (Master of the Association) and Mr. W. F. Scudamore (Association secretary). In his remarks from the chair, Mr. Harding wished the Branch success during the coming year and hoped members would continue to support the secretary in order that bell ringing could be kept alive.
Branch officers appointed were: Chairman, Mr. C. Lovelock ; secretary=treasurer, Mr. H. Heath: Ringing Master, Mr. P. Wecks; management committee representative, Mr. R. Tigwell. Sutton Benger will be the venue for the February meeting, followed by Lacock in March.

Cheltenham Branch

A successful monthly meeting of the Cheltenham Branch was held at St. Mark's, Cheltenham. The total attendance, though higher than usual for a five-bell tower, could have been better, but those who did attend were able to enjoy an excellent tea, hear an inspiring address by the Vicar in the service, and to ring no less than 11 methods, besides rounds for the local band learners. There were visitors from Reading and Gloucester.

SALISBURY DISTRICT HAS INCREASED MEVBERSHIP

The annual meeting on January 19 th was held at Sarum St. Martin, the ancient church with its graceful spire, which is thought to have been a prototype for the famous Cathedral spire. Some 50 or 60 attended, including visitors from Devizes, Gillingham, Southampton and Bridgwater, and many had a ring on the eight at St. Martin's before the service. The Rev. F. Smith (assistant curate) officiated, assisted by the Rev. A. Phillips, Vicar of Damerham. The Rector (Canon McKenzie) preached, and the blind organist of St. Martin's, Mr. Chapman, kindly came to play, and also was our guest at tea. Tea in the Parish Hall was prepared by some of the lady ringers and others.
At the meeting the company stood in silent remembrance of Mr. Sidney Macey (hon. life member) and the Rev. F. L1. Edwards (former general secretary of the Guild). The chairman mentioned that Sarum St. Francis hoped to be able to install their bells when they had built their parish hall. He reported a membership of 143 from 18 towers, with six unattached, the increase being mainly due to the bands at Enford and Woodford having joined, and, later in the meeting, the band at Great Durnford were also elected. This- is a tower with five bells (tenor 15 cwt ), where call changes are rung by a keen and regular Sunday service band.
A cordial welcome was extended to the Rev.
M. Hurst-Bannister, formerly Master of the Bath and Wells Diocesan Association, who is now Rector of Bemerton, where unfortunately he only has an octave of tubular bells, and the Rev. W. Uphill, formerly secretary of the North Dorset Branch, who lives in retirement at Harnham.

Most of the officers were re-elected: Chairman, Mr. H. A. Roles; vice-chairman, Mr. W. Chalk; Ringing Masters, Messrs. H. H. Abrahams, A. Haines and J. Maidment ; additional members of committee, Mr. J. Lewis and Miss A. Bacon; secretary and treasurer, Miss Y. L. Eloie; auditor, Miss M. Page; 28 new ringing members were elected.

The provisional dates and towers for 1957 meetings proposed by the committee were adopted, as follows:-March 9th, practice, Martin and Coombe Bissett ; April 27th, quarterly, Hindon (and Tisbury in evening); June Ist, practice, Codford St. Peter (and Boyton); July 20th, quarterly, Shrewton (and Durrington): September 14th, practice, Britford (and Sarum St. Thomas) ; October 19th, quarterly, Wilton (and Dinton); November 30th, East Knoyle: January 18th, 1958, annual, at Salisbury, St. Thomas'. The suggestion was also approved that the incumbent should be asked if convenient to take the Guild service at practice meetings as well as at the quarterly business meetings.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

DERELICT RINGS OF BELLS

Dear Sir,-When reading the Rev. George Rayner's letter appealing for redundant bells for his church, I was immediately struck by the name and address at the foot of the preceding letter. For therc, at Ncwton Abbot, almost outside the doors of the Rev. G. M. Scott's church, stands a tower, its church long ago demolished, containing a ring of eight bells (tenor 8 cwt .) and derelict.
While not in a position to help with any concrete information, the following all come to my mind and could be followed up with the aid of 'Crockford's' for the addresses of clergy concerned :-
Newton Abbot, as above; St. Peter-in-theEast, Oxford (8, 91 cwt.) ; Lundy Island (8, $15 \ddagger$ cwt.); Droitwich, Worcs (back 6 of 8,18 ewt.): Temple Church, Bristol (8, 21 cwt.); St. Michacl's, Gloucester ( $10,20 \mathrm{cwt}$.). Mr Rowe, of London, I believe, recently published a list of all derelict rings. Dove's 'Church Bells of Britain' lists dozens more as derelict, unringable, etc.
Good luck to you, Mr. Rayner. I sincerely hope you find your bells; their tongues, like ours, were never intended to hang silent.Yours, etc.,
W. SIMMONDS.

SERVICE RINGING AT WILLESBOROUGH

Dear Sir,-In the current number of 'The Ringing World, you published some very worthy service ringing efforts during 1956. May the band of St. Mary's, Willesborough, put forward its claim? The bells have been rung for every service, and a total of 129,092 changes has been rung for services during 1956 in touches of 720 and over. Five Doubles and 12 Minor methods have been used and two different pairs of Minor methods have been spliced. Sixty quarter peals have been scored, during which 21 'firsts' have been registercd by individuals. All the band are resident within the parish.
Two first peals have been scored, one by a septuagenarian. Eighty-nine-year-old Mr. E. S. Luck still rings each Sunday with us, of course, although he has not taken part in any peals.

Previous to 1956 the band had scored peals in one, two, three, four, five, six, seven and eight methods. With the aid of Mr. John R. Cooper. the band has now extended this to nine, ten, eleven and twelve methods. A total of six peals has been rung.-Yours faithfully,

R. J. CARLTON,

Secretary.
Willesborough, Kent.

THF. NEW ARCHDEACON OF OXFORD

Dear Sir,-We at Buckley were very pleased to note the appointment of the Very Rev. C. Witton Davies as Archdeacon of Oxford and Canon of Christ Church and to know that his interest in ringing is still maintained.

Early in his ministry he came to us as a young curate with. I believe, a little experience of ringing. When asked if he would like to learn Stedman Triples he said, 'I'll have a pot at it. The study of the plain course at home soon brought good results.
Just hefore he left us he stood in a quarter peal attempt which was, to our regret, unsuccessful.

If the Archdeacon can spare the time, Oxford ringers will find him very willing to learn.

All our best wishes to him and Oxford. Carry on, Oxford!-Yours fraternally, Buckley, near Chester.

TWO FEN CHURCHES

Dear Sir,-As 1 was reading your very interesting collection of letters in 'The Ringing World' which have been sent in by young ringers, it occurred to me that it would be an excollent idea to write jointly about the two beautiful churches of Whittlesey-St Andrew's and St. Mary's.
Both have a ring of eight bells (very unusual for such a small town), which send joyous sounds over the neighbouring Fenland country. The ringers of both churches are very young. Their ages range from 12 to 18 years (male and female). Each church has the good fortune of being taught by experienced Ringing Masters at St. Mary's Mr. Harry Naylor, and at St. Andrew's Mr. Frank Newman.
The attendances at services and practices are very good, and although St. Andrew's ringers are just beginning to conquer method ringing, St. Mary's have already done so.
I think that campanology is steadily declining and feel it is up to the ringing captains to uphold the good tradition of ringing which has been established in the English Church.
The following is a list of the young ringers at the churches:-
St. Mary's.-H. Naylor (captain), W. Smith (vice-captain), M. Springett, J. Palmer, M. Coles, G. Gilbey, K. Ingram, T. Robinson, M. Mills, A. Sewell, J. Edwards, P. Fuller and F. Fidler.
St. Andrew's.-F. Newman (captain), C. Allsebrook, R. Barker, E. Garner, B. Harding, A. Woodcock, A. Wheatley, P. Wheatley, and R. Brown.-Yours sincerely,

M. J. MOSSENDEW.

CHRISTMAS DAY BROADCASTS

Dear Sir,-In reply to Mr. Cooper's letter on Christmas Day broadcasting, I should like to make my observations and comments.
It is clear that Mr. Cooper, of Ashford, is one of those town church ringers who thinks only in terms of heavy 12 -bell peals and perfect striking. May I suggest that he has overlooked the real meaning of Christmas, and that-the small country tower wants to ring out the glad tidings just as much as the big city cathedrals and churches. It is a time of good will to all men,' not just to cathedral ringers who are good strikers !
To suggest that each Association should nominate a representative tower only shows complete lack of thought or taste on his part; for every Association would, not unnaturally, choose their finest ring of bells (usually found in the county town) and would not even think of giving a country village band a chance.
Admittedly, 1 like to hear a glorious ring of heavy bells being well struck, just as much as Mr. Cooper, but if I thought that in the imperfect striking of a country band there was whole-hearted sincerity, I would much rather hear this than a first-class cathedral band who were ringing for the sake of ringing with no thought of what the act symbolised.
No ! Let the B.B.C. choose whichever towers they wish and give the Central Council a rest for a change; then all sorts and conditions of men would be given a chance to proclaim the joyful message.

CONRAD SUMSION.

Leicester.

Note-Mr. Cooper rarely rings on 12 bells. His idea was that towers selected should be representative of good Sunday ringing on all numbers of bells.-Ed.

A STEDMAN REQUEST

Dear Sir,-In our part of the world Stedman is enjoying quite a wave of popularity, and with the idea of getting a band accustomed, to the Thurstans peal-calling I have tried to get out a touch of one-twentieth part of this peal.
I found that by substituting a single for a bob in the third course of a part, that is, by calling the part SL, SHQ, H (with a final single) they would come home after 250 changes, excepting for 4 and 5 .
I mentioned my attempt to a friend, and he replied, quite brilliantly I thought, 'Well, swap these two at the start and then they will come home.'
At a meeting recently the opportunity came to try it out, and 9 and 4 were accordingly warned to lie still at a change at the start, after which 5 would go in slow and 4 go up behind a bit 'quick' when getting down to the front afterwards. I found I was wrong in not warning the others, as there were protests as soon as it was discovered that 5 and 4 were crossed.
Well, we proceeded with the touch and got all the calls in, but it was lost about 24 changes from satisfaction; something went wrong.
Now then, all Stedman lovers and devotees generally throughout the ringing universe, what about it? Will you search your repertoires for similar touches? Touches that give practice for the larger effort. Have you any on these lines that you could give for publication (always providing, of course, that our Editor is agreeable) ?
It is well known, at least it is often said, that one can do almost anything with Stedman. in which any six can be bobbed or plained at will.

I commend this question to any of our Stedman conductors whose names appear in the peal columns of 'The Ringing World' and also to men like Mr. Goodenough, of St. Albans, and others.-Yours faithfully,

HERTS COUNTY ASSOCIATION Northern District Annual Meeting
As has been the custom for some years past, the North Herts. District held their annual meeting at Hitchin, on January 26th. After photographs had been taken the service was conducted by the curate (the Rev. M. Clarke), with Mr. P. Wells at the organ.

More than 40 members attended the business meeting, at which the president of the Assoctation (Mr. W. Holmes) was chairman. The secretary's report was not as 'encouraging as that of the previous year, little progress having been made. Only six peals were rung, the fewest since 1947, and there was a big drop in the number of quarter peals, 37 as against 55 . However, membership now exceeds 100 .

Mr. E. Buck was re-elected hon. secretary and treasurer. The General Committee representatives are Messrs. B. Marks and J. Dear; the District Committee consists of Messrs. M. Chalkley, W. Critchley, H. Werrett, K. Timbury and A. Harris. Two new members were elected, Mr. W. Smith and Miss A. Muirhead (both of Hitchin).
Baldock is the place of the next meeting, on February 23 rd. The April meeting is cancelled in view of the annual general meeting. In spite of the fuel shortage it is hoped that the spite of the fuel shortage it is hoped that the District as originally planned, and that our nomination for the presidency will be accepted.

St. Albans Report Progress

The annual meeting of the St. Albans District was held at Hatfield on January 19th. Ringing commenced at 3 p.m. and continued until 5.30 , when tea was served in St. Audrey's Home for the Blind by kind permission of the matron. Afterwards the business meeting was held, with the president (Mr. W. Holmes) in the chair.
The secretary presented his report for 1956 in which he said satisfactory progress had been made in the District during the year, and Sunday service ringing maintained.
Mr. S. Huckle (Hatfield) was re-elected secretary, and Mr. G. Dodds (St. Albans) Ringing
Master. Other matters were discussed at length Master. Other matters were discussed at length to the Rector for the use of the bells.
Ringing continued during the evening, methods rung including Grandsire and Stedman Caters and Kent Royal.

THE LADIES' GUILD

The annual meeting of the North-Western District was held at Manchester Town Hall on January 19th jointly with the annual meeting of the Manchester Branch of the Lancashire Association.

Twenty-five members attended keep the bells ringing in different and helped to keep the bells ringing in different methods from 3 p.m. until just after 9 p.m., with intervals for the husiness meeting and tea.
Rounds on the 12 bells (tenor 42 cwt. 2 qr. Rounds on the 12 bells (tenor $42 \mathrm{cwt}$.2 qr .
25 lb .) were rung by an all-ladies band, as well as Grandsire Triples on the light eight.

At the business meeting the following District officers for 1957 were elected:-Vicepresident, Mrs. E. M. Boumphrey; secretary, Miss S. P. Wain: Central Committee representatives, Miss D. Edwards and Mrs. M. Lewis: District Committee representatives, Mrs. M. Lawton and Miss M. Llewellyn. Two new members were also elected.

Votes of thanks were accorded to all responsible for arrangements in connection with the meeting, mentioning particularly the secreta-y of the Manchester Branch. Lancashire Association, for allowing the ladies to hold a joint meeting on this occasion.

It was agreed to hold the next meeting of the District at Southport on April 6th jointly with the Wigan Branch of the Lancashire Association.

ON THE NINTH DAY OF CHRISTMAS

Though the second day of 1957 was dismal and overcast the eight ringers from Coleshill, Great Barr, Handsworth, Little Aston, Pelsall, Trysull and Walsall, who collected at Castle Bromwich, made the most of it. After a quick look at Castle Bromwich Church a start was made for the country east of Birningham, which the writer always imagined to be permanently half-flooded, with mist hanging low over the fields. Her imaginations turned out to be similar to actual fact. Consequently villages in this area tend to be situated on higher ground and the churches are usually rather imposing.
The first ringing of the day was at St. Cuthbert's, Shustoke, where the minor six (tenor 12 cwt.) was rung to rounds and touches of Grandsire Doubles. The ringing room here is reached from a ladder which leads from the vestry. Two female members of the company were dismayed on seeing the ladder and were quite sure that even if they got up they would never reach 'terra firma' again.
However, all was well, and after a round of brandy snaps we went on to St. Wilfrid's, Arley. Here we found a ligbt six (tenor 7 cwt . 12 lb . in A flat) minus one stay. The stayless bell was pulled into a ringable position and the usual doubles and rounds rung. The organ at Arley is almost inside the ground floor ringing room, making ringing at weddings rather difficult.
On leaving Arley, Stella and Andrew found that their maps bore little similarity, but we managed to find the road to Kingsbury. Here we had lunch, which consisted of tomato and vegetable soup cooked on a spirit stove.
The ringing room of SS. Peter and Paul's Church, Kingsbury, must be one of the most pleasant in the county. We found the five bells (tenor 16 cwt . 16 lb . in E) rather difficult to handle, mainly because we were becoming rather tired. Having restrained our destructive powers until now, we broke one rope in the most: 'unspliceable ' place possible before leaving.

With Kingsbury behind us, we crossed the swollen River Tame and one by one ringers began to leave the main party. Even though two ringers did not reach home without minor accidents and A. E. P. rode all day with a flat front tyre, no brakes and a disintegrating wheel, the eight people who took part can look back on a very happy day.

PETERBOROUGH DIOCESAN

The annual meeting of the Wellingborough Branch was held at Finedon on January 19th, when representatives were present from Irthlingborough, Wellingborough, Higham Ferrers, Rushden, Bozeat, Ecton, Easton Maudit, Yardley-Hastings, Earls Barton, Stanwick, Weston Favell, Northampton, Brafield, Raunds, together with the local band.

The Vicar (Bishop Gerald Vernon) gave an inspiring address at the Guild service; the organist was Mr. Hurst Cuttell, and the collection for the Guild Bell Restoration Fund amounted to fl 13 s . 9 d .
The tea and business proceedings were held in the Town Hall, where 75 were present. A short silence was observed in memory of Mr. J. J. Partridge, of Bozeat, who died on November 1 st. The annual report and balance sheet for 1956 were presented, and revealed a very satisfactory financial position.
Officers for 1957 were elected as follows:President, Rev. W. C Knight; secretary-treasurer, Mr. A. Bigley ; Central Committee, Messrs. J. Skerritt and L. Priestley ; Branch Committee, Miss C. Wood, Mr. A. Wilson and Mr. E. Chapman; Branch Ringing Master, Mr. A. Wilson ; auditor, Mr. W. E. Hargreaves. A. B.

NORWICH DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION

Northern Branch at Wymondham

By kind invitation of the Vicar (the Rev. J. G. Tansley Thomas) the annual meeting of the Northcrn Branch was held at the Abbey Church of SS. Mary and Thomas a Becket, Wymondham, on Jan. 12th. The Vicar, in his address, welcomed the ringers to his church on the occasion of its 850 th anniversary. The Branch chairman (Mr. A. G. Bason) read the lesson.
Despite the petrol situation 52 sat down to tea, and at the business meeting all officers were re-elected with the exception of Mr. C. Curson, member of the Branch Committee, who, through business commitments, resigned. Mr. C. Goodman was elected in his place. Thanks were expressed by the meeting to all officers for the past year.
The election of Messss. R. Suckling, B. J. Howard and T. Earl, previous to a peal at St. Peter Mancroft, was ratified. Miss M. Lambert (Dereham) and Mr. E. Stevenson (Wroxham) were re-elected ringing members. New ringing members elected were the Misses E. Leonard (Norwich), S. Hill, J. Pooley, B. Jones and M. Grix (Marsham), A. Mosby, J. Annison and Juliet Annison (Mulbarton), Messrs. M. Brothers, J. Moore and G. Sayer (Norwich), P. Adcock and R, Tungate (Mulbarton).
The next meeting will be at Marsham on May 11th. Thanks were expressed to the Vicar and organist, and Mr. H. Tooke for arranging the meeting. Ringing was enjoyed from rounds to Bristol Surprise Major.

KENT COUNTY ASSOCIATION  Canterbury District

The younger element was very much in evidence at the first meeting of the year held by the Canterbury District at Faversham on January 19th. Some 50 members attended, representing 14 towers in the District. The service was conducted by the Rev. A. K. Batt, who gave an address on the family of the church. Tea followed in the district schools, where an excellent meal had been prepared and was served by local ringers.
Mr. J. A. Russell presided at the meeting, when ten junior and eight senior members were elected. Some of these were from St. Peter's, Thanet, and they made the long journey from there to be present at the meeting. The chairman congratulated Mrs. Bridges, of St. Peter's, on her efforts at that tower, where a strong band was being taught on the right lines.
A full report of the Association's committee meeting was given by Mr. D. Chatfield, who was thanked by the members.
The next quarterly meeting will be at Dover on May 4th, and a by-meeting at Littlebourne on March 30th. Those concerned with the meeting were appropriately thanked. B. J. L.

Mr. J. Leatherbarrow Retires After 48 Years

Owing to ill-health Mr. J. Leatherbarrow, of Newchurch. Warrington, a past vice-president of the Lancashire Association, has had to give up his ringing career, and on January 19th, at the request of the Rector of Newchurch, a peal was rung in appreciation of his services as tower keeper and tower captain for 48 years. After the peal, the Rector and church officials invited the ringers to tea in the Parish Hall, during which Mr. Leatherbarrow was officially thanked for his services to the church, and a cheque for $£ 40$, a gift from the parishioners, was handed to him by the Rector.
Included in Mr. Leatherbarrow's list of just over 100 peals is the record length of 17,824 Oxford Treble Bob at Heptonstall. April 18th, 1927.

OBITUARY

MR. FRANCIS C. HART
Mr. Francis C. Hart, of the Wimborne Minster Society, passed peacefully away on January 19 th at the age of 76 years.
He had been a ringer in Wimborne Minster for 52 years, having been elected to the Society in 1902 and resigning as an active ringer in 1954. He was appointed captain of the ringers in 1922, a position he held until his resignation. He was verger at the Minster from 1912 to 1954.

Half-muffled touches were rung before and after the funeral service, and four of the ringers acted as bearers.

During the late afternoon a half-muffled quarter peal of Grandsire Triples was rung as a token of respect by W. C. Shute 1, R. Groves 2, C. E. Bishop 3, A. G. Rose 4, E. C. Burt 5, E. A. Bishop 6, P. N. Tubbs (conductor) 7, A. Waterman 8.

THE REV. NOEL E. HOPE

An example of a life's keenness in ringing and a love of ringers had the Rev. Noel E. Hope, M.A. (Oxon), whose death on January 26th at March Baldon, Oxford, at the age of 76, was reported in our last issue.

His keenness as a ringer was first manifest at East Grinstead, Sussex. Before World War II. he became Vicar of Chadworth, Glos, and from 1938 until 1947 he was Master of the Gloucester and Bristol Diocesan Association. For three years, from 1945 to 1947, he was a member of the Central Council.

In 1948 he accepted the living of March Baldon, Oxford, and in about three years raised enough money to add another bell in the small tower, making five. He formed and trained a keen band of ringers, who happily still continue regular practice. He retired in 1954. Mr. Hope was a member of long standing of the Clerical Guild.

MR. G. F. JAMES

The death occurred on January 23 rd of Mr . George Frederick (Fred) James, of Blewbury, Berks, at the age of 73. Suddenly laid on one side just before Christmas, 1955, he partially recovered but was never again able to assist in the ringing of the bells he loved.

He had been a Guild member and Sunday service ringer at Blewbury for 53 years and very rarely was he missing from the belfry on Sundays, and for many years it was recognised that the ringing of the fifth bell was his prerogative.

A full list of his peals is not available but it is known that he rang 34, of which the first recorded was Grandsire Doubles in 1904. The remainder were: Grandsire Triples 28 (some of which he conducted), Stedman Triples 3, Bob Triples 1 and Bob Major 1 (his only peal of Major, at the age of 72). He took part in three peals of Grandsire Triples in one day in 1921 and tried to equal this achievement on Easter Monday, 1955, but only one of the three came home.

He was laid to rest on January 26th. After the service, conducted by the Rev. R. J. Siderfin (Vicar) a quarter peal (half-muffled) attempt unfortunately failed, but a well-struck half-muffled peal of Grandsire Triples was brought home in the evening.

MR. J. SMITH

St. Andrew's belfry, of South Church, Bishop Auckland, has suffered its second loss by death within a month. Mr. J. Smith, aged 79 years, passed away on January 20th.

He was a regular Sunday service ringer and his membership of the Durham and Newcastle Association dates back to 1902 . F. W. C.

MR. WILLIAM MANSER

William Manser migrated from Yalding, the village of his birth, to Barming, some four miles off, when he was a lad of eight. In this Kentish spot he spent the remaining 72 years of his long life, all of them singing in the choir of the little Church of St. Margaret. Here he learned bis blacksmith's trade; here he became a bellringer. By 1904 he was vice-captain of the tower, and subsequently he was to see his four sons and his grandson acquire the ringer's art as he practised in a simple village form.

I did not know Mr. Manser until after the second world war, when he was already full three score years and ten. This was a time of quite a vigorous revival in ringing in the Maidstone District with a number of youngsters in their teens displaying talents of quite high order; before very long peals were quite frequent events. One of the regular participants was young Bill Manser, a sprightly 40 -year-old, and the enthusiasm spread to his father, who at 75 rang his first peal, Grandsire Doubles. This feat he repeated several times, always with his son.
Since their inception in 1949, the senior Manser had been a familiar figure on the summer coach tours of the Maidstone District. Perhaps by some standards his achievements as a ringer would not be highly rated. But how are we, who did not know him in his earlier years, to judge, unless it is by the fruits of his labours: the business now so ably managed by young Bill; his blacksmith's trade in which his grandson is proving so successful an exponent ; in particular the ringing progress of young Bill once the opportunity came, who is now one of the District representatives on the committee of the Kent County Association, and whose Friday practices at Barming earned such a name for themselves.

During the final weeks a new Rector of Barming came daily to see the old stalwart. As he said, it was the very least he could do for one who had done so much for church and village for so long. Two days before Christmas the old man slipped silently away, doubtless happy that his work will go on. And so it will.

MR. A. J. GREEN

Wicken, Northants, has lost an esteemed churchman by the death on January 21 st of Mr. Albert John Green, captain of the local ringers, at the age of 66 years.

Jack, as he was known, started ringing under the late Joseph Read and became one of the foremost ringers in the Peterborough Guild, and, previously, the old Towcester Association. He rang 108 peals.

His help to towers around was always gladly given. A Maids Moreton ringer said: As far back as 1908 he taught me to ring my first peal of Minor.'

His great joy was in 1931, when the new steel frame was put in Wicken tower and three bells recast. This made Wicken one of the finest eights in the district. Under his leadership method ringing reached a very high standard, and many fine peals were rung. He had hoped to ring a peal of London Surprise Major with his service band, but failing health prevented this. Jack gave his best to his bells and his church, and was a fine captain.

The funeral took place on January 24th, and at his special request the bells of Wicken were rung open to Stedman Triples by his fellow ringers.

Congregationalists Have Pancake Bell

From 11 a.m. until noon on Shrove Tuesday the pancake bell at St. Mary's-in-the-Wood Congregational Church, Morley, Yorks, is rung. The bell is said to have been brought from Kirkstall Abbey after the Dissolution of the Monasteries. It bears the date 1689, which is suggested is the date it was re-cast-From 'The Dalesman.'

YOUR PARISH CHURCH

Under the above heading the 12th report of the Central Council for the Care of Churches has just been published (Church Information Board; 4 s . 6 d . or by post 5 s .). This covers the last five years of the Council's work, and though it contains too few references to bells, it is right that we should, as church workers, take a wider interest in the affairs of our parish churches than is afforded by a sole speciality such as change ringing.
The aim of the Central Council and, through it, the Diocesan Advisory Committees, is to make our churches and cathedrals a worthy, visible and direct witness to God, and in doing so to ensure that they are places of beauty. The report contains some 19 photographs of transformations made to 19th century fabrics to convert them to 20 th century needs, and these all illustrate most effectively the aims of the Central Council.
Another article deals with the technical problem of dampness in churches; a trouble which has caused untold damage to wooden fittings inside the buildings and one which is also connected with trying to keep the church warm in winter.

The work of the Central Council for the last five years is reviewed. The vexed problem of the preservation or otherwise of churches no longer required for ecclesiastical purposes is explained, and the Inspection of Churches Measure is commented upon. It is this Act of Parliament which requires each church to be inspected by a qualified architect every five years, and is one which in the writer's opinion should have been introduced years ago.

From the ringing point of view this Measure will bring to the attention of the church authorities unsafe bell frames, but the bells themselves, being fittings, are excluded. It is unfortunate from our point of view that bells can be unringable in a full circle for ages before they are unsafe to swing chime or clock. Still we can but hope that the written report submitted to the Parochial Church Council will draw attention to unsatisfactory bell frames and awaken an interest in the bells themselves.

In this connection is it not highly desirable that with a church with a ring of bells and a band of ringers there should be at least one ringer on the Parochial Church Council? So often the writer has met difficulties between the ringers and the church authorities because the former had no spokesman present to put their case when discussions were taking place on church and bell restoration work. As a result bell work often appears to be shelved and other schemes take preference.

At the end of the report is a review of recent books, and the section on bells notes two by Ernest Morris, and surveys of Oxfordshire by Frederick Sharpe, and the first three parts of Cheshire by J. W. Clarke. Mr. Clarke appears to be the only chairman of a Diocesan Advisory Committee who rings, and there seem to be only seven other ringing members. This total for 42 committees seems to be rather on the low side.

There can be no doubt that a purchaser gets excellent value for his money. R.W. M. C.

NEW YEAR CELEBRATIONS AT DORKING

On New Year's Eve the Dorking (St. Martin's) ringers held their annual supper. Ringing took place from 8 to 9 p.m. while the ladies prepared the meal-soup, cold ham and beef, with potato and green salads and hot mashed potato, followed by a choice of sweet, cheese and biscuits and coffee. About 40 members, wives and Church officers sat down to supper, which was followed by a short business meeting, at which five probationers were elected to full membership and six recruits as probationers, bringing the strength of the band up to 20 members and six probationers.
The rest of the evening was filled with games, and a little before midnight ringers and friends crowded up into the belfry and every member of the band, including the newest recruit, had a hand in ringing in the New Year.

'FAIR ENOUGH?'

DURING recent weeks front page articles and letters, and indeed some speeches, have raised questions and offered speculative comment on the work of the College of Campanology. The general impression created by all this seems to be so far removed from actuality that 'fair enough ' can only be said of the discussion if factual response be given, and offered in the Christian-like hope that better understanding may ensue.

In October last it was said to be (a) 'nonsense' ; yet at the same time (b) 'comprising what Snowdon had said already'; and yet again (c) 'requiring the prior consideration of the Central Council.' A moment's consideration shows the absurdity of this three-cornered contradiction, since no two, even, of the three are compatible.

In early December ' $R$. S. A.' referred to the College in two succeeding front page articles. He queried the connection of the identifying name given to the system of training in bell-handling and control (with elements of method ringing), i.e., the name 'Cathedral'; and on Jan. 11th 'J. P. F.' said, 'Cut out the Cathedral System - because it means absolutely nothing. . . . Clearly, the latter writer had not studied it. The system, though introducing only what has been proved in practice at various times and places over the years, is so named for twa reasons - first, because of two distinctive features: the use of principles of teaching (Sections I. and II.), adapted also with the modern 'synthetic practice' or drill action to reduce fault-proneness; and second, becausc the first courses employing the system, as such, were rung in a Cathedral tower - Portsmouth. (Their success has received both spoken and written commendation of the Provost.)
R.S.A.' also says, apropos the Central Council Committee for revision of the booklet, 'Hints, etc.,' that the College 'conflicts' with it. How? Not only is the policy of the College one of entire co-operation in and loyal adherence to the Council's Rules and Decisions; but also the terms of reference of that Committee cover only part of only one of the seven main phases of College activity. Moreover, as a letter from that Committee ('The Ringing World,' No. 2,388, page 11) indicates, some are members of the College. Indeed the booklet itself (and its revised version when out) is 'adopted' for use by the College, among other publications.
'R.S. A.' also queries the relationship of training and testing under one authority. He is under a misapprehension. Most colleges and schools set the tests for their own examinations; but not the 'externals,' of coursc. Most training work of this College is without any examination, and some even without certificates of course-completion, which are also provided for. 'R.S. A.'s' ensuing remark, about producing a diploma before being allowed to vote at meetings, should illustrate the futility of sarcasm, as applied to the serious work that College personnel are doing and being commended for. Finally, he implies that the College will remove informality from ringing. A visit to a training course will show what a degree of friendliness is maintained, with keenness. What he should have said is not "informality" but 'nonconformity.' 'Over 90 per cent. successes' would be unattainable otherwise. But while ringing remains voluntary, so also must be any tests in it.

Of things said in public, two examples may be considered. In a speech by a guest at the Universities' Association recent reunion dinner ('The Ringing World,' Jan. 4th, page 9) reference was made to one of its members and the College as 'much ado about nothing.' The speaker could hardly have been aware of the affront thus offered to all those who have been and are engaged in the work; for example, in putting in countless hours in collating, sifting and setting out tested ways and means of training and applying such means; in organising courses; in putting aside personal affairs for days at a time to deal with correspondence in helping others; in getting down night after night to training in the towers. In the light of expressed gratitude is it nothing'? Again, in reference to 'The Ringing World' and the support it needs, the speaker said, "If learners are not satisfied with what (has been published) in the last three or four months, well, they have had it.' But is it not well to remember that the majority of ringers in the land are the not-so-advanced and the learners? And that "The Ringing World' can look for INCREASED support, mainly, only to them? The serialisation of Part I. of what is designed as a standard of reference for instructors, to be used selectively, can hardly be set up as a sort of 'take-it-or-leave-it' criterion of satisfaction for those much-needed supporters. They should be 'wooed,' not rebuffed.

In the front page article for Jan. 4 th 'C. C. C.' sketches the links in ringing between Past, Present and Future, and rightly refers to the debt owed to the Past. But, to him, Part I. of the Manual appears to be involved and unnecessary. Well, ringers, like other human beings, must move with the times. Admitted that for 300 years the art of ringing has been handed down without any manual of training, and that the slandard of advanced ringing has never been higher. BUT - this standard is reached by a comparative minority, in favourable circumstances; AND - the rate of trainee-wastage has never been so great as now. WHY?

The causes may be found in the increasingly sophisticated outlook of youth; in their greater preoccupation with study and training for a living; in the increasing distractions of present-day leisure, and in the faster tempo of everything undertaken. Remedy? One, at any rate, lies in a planned system of training, based on proved principles, adaptable, interesting and thorough. On this basis was the Cathedral system designed, and, hitherto, it has not been found wanting.

But this is not all. On front page 17 (Jan. 11th) 'J.P.F. implies that the College lacks what is, in fact, one of its main objectives, namely, the training of instructors; and offers what may be described as 'partial' advice. His opening critical sentences are unfounded, for experts in several fields have contributed, directly or indirectly, in shaping the work; and with contacts in those types of tower where help is most needed.

Nothing is perfect, or universally acceptable. To some the text of Part I. is 'long-winded" and 'too elaborate.' To others - people actually working from it - it needs further amplification. In its compilation the aim was a compromise. In the last analysis, it works. But already it is under improvement. Its publication in "The Ringing World ' was an invitation to constructive criticlsm; and this, coming by post, has been invaluable in its contribution. The present indications are that, given a fair chance, this labour of love will achieve something worth while. And all those engaged are grateful. A. Y-B.

 remarked that during the previous term one of their members had gone a long way to becoming the best one-armed ringer in the district (having fractured an arm while playing rugby). Accordingly she presented Mr. Alan Smith with a suitably inscribed plaster-of-Paris arm casting and congratulated him on his return to a full peal-ringing state.Mr. A. Patrick Cannon rang his 550 th peal on February 2nd. These have been rung in 453 different towers.

Mr. G. L. A. Lunn suggests that the illustration with Tom Ingram's article in the Christmas issue of 'The Radio Times' was of the ground-floor ringing room of Newdigate, Surrey. If this is correct, it has a timber steeple.
Until 1930 Mr. Arthur Stewart was a regular ringer at Holy Trinity, Bolton, and, because of his acceptance of the position of organist in another church, resigned. He has now relinquished his duties as organist and is back in the belfry and in our peal columns, too!
On a recent visit to Melton Mowbray the Lord Bishop of Leicester was handed a peal card recording a peal of Stedman Caters rung at Melton on November 6th, 1956, to commemorate the 30 th anniversary of the restoration of the Diocese of Leicester. The Bishop said he was delighted to have the card and insisted that the conductor of the peal, Mr. P. A. Corby, should sign it for him.

The band who rang the peal of Stedman Triples at Thurcaston wish to thank the local captain, Mr. Fred Bindley, for kindly standing in at the last minute. The method should have been London, but one of the band failed to arrive in time.

Watford District Have Same Team of Officers

Watford was again the venue for the annual District meeting held on February 2nd. At the business meeting which followed, all the officers were re-elected. These were:secretary and treasurer, Mr. K. R. Dunstan; Ringing Master, Mr. S. H. Hoare; representatives on General Committee Messrs. G. W. Seaman and S. H. Hoare; Ringing World ${ }^{\prime}$ representative, Mr. K. R. Dunstan.
The secretary's annual report showed satisfactory progress and that peal ringing was being pell maintained. The accounts showed a, balance of $£ 18$ 7s. 6 d . Further ringing continued

QUIZ ON CAMPANOLOGY

No competitor succeeded in answering all the 20 questions correctly. The greatest stumbling block was the Artichoke Inn. ## A JOINT MEETING AT STOCKTON-ON-TEES

Ringing ranged from rounds to Cambridge Royal at a joint meeting at the Parish Church of Stockton-on-Tees arranged by the Southern District of the Durham and Newcastle Association and the Cleveland and North Yorkshire Association. Thirty-five ringers from Tees-side attended. The service was conducted by the curate (the Rev. E. V. Davey) and Canon Heselton preached the sermon. Mr. Gordon Mackie, A.R.C.O., accompanied on the organ.

Tea and meeting followed in the vestry, where the members stood in silence as a mark of respect to Mr. G. W. Peverell and Mr. H. Smith, both of Bishop Auckland.

Mr. N. W. Park thanked the Vicar for the use of the bells and the brilliant young organist for his part in the service, and Mr. G Robinson, of Skellon, proposed a vole of thanks so the ladies for an execthat tea.

OTHER NEWS

We thank the readers who have replied to our query as to the Ringers' Ten Commandments. They appear in the ringing chamber of SS. Peter and Paul's, Checkendon, near Reading.

The Homewood Secondary Modern School at Tenterden, Kent, have formed their own Ringing Society. Kent ringers will be interested to learn that the grandson of Robert Edwards, of Tenterden, has joined the Society and is learning to ring at Biddenden.

February 1st was the 79th birthday of Mr. George H. Simpson, for many years ringer, chorister and verger at Anstey, Leics. Peal honours were done to him that day, and the peal was also a welcome home, on demobilis $a$ tion from the R.A.E to Devild S. Harris, and engagement congqatulations to N. G. (Gerry)

University of Bristol Society's Annual Ringing Day

'WHE University of Bristol Society's annual ringing day opened at $9.15 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}$. on January 26th at St. John-on-the-Wall, where a large gathering of visitors, guests and members met to enjoy various Doubles and Minor methods. Meanwhile, 200 yards away at Christ Church, an attempt for a peal of Grand. sire Caters by a band of resident and nonresident members of the Society had commenced. By the time the bells of St. John's had been lowered the attempt had been going some three-quarters of an hour and the company was told by a competent listener that the striking was quite good.

The party then trekked up the hill to St . Matthew's, Kingsdown, where the eight were raised and go going to Stedman and Grandsire Triples and Bab Major. The arrival of two of the band indicated that the peal attempt at Christ Church bad come to grief. It was later discovered that these two were the culprits in a change of course and that the rest of the band had disappeared to drown their sorrows !

A rapidly increasing party arrived at the Lord Mayor's Chapel, where the six were rung to Plain and Surprise Minor methods and various Doubles methods, including Chase. At one period ringers queued down the spiral stairs in their efforts to get at least one touch on the bells.
During the afternoon ringing continued in the more spacious ringing chambers of St . James' (10) and St. Mary Redcliffe (12). Grandsire and Stedman Caters and Cinques were amongst methods rung here. Finally an hour's ringing took place on the six at St. Michael's before the service, which was conducted by the Rector (the Rev. Vyyyan Jones), the lesson being read by Mr. Brian J. Wylde.

THE DINNER

The dinner was beld in the senior common room of the University Refectory, by kind invitation of the president of the Society, Prof R. J. Brocklehurst. The president proposed toasts to 'The Queen' and 'The Church' before expressing his pleasure at seeing so many old faces. He then called the secretary (Mr. David Heighton) to propose the toast of 'The Visitors.
The secretary first read apologies for absence from the Rev. K. W. H. Felstead, Mr. Paul Taylor, Mr. Cyril Harding, Dr. Hudson and Mr. Jack Worrall. He also regretted the absence of Prof. Piper, a vice-president, due to indisposition. Turning to the guests, Mr. Heighton welcomed the Rector of St. Michael's, Mr. John Chilcott, the well-known composer and conductor from London, Mr. Roger Fry, secretary of the Bath and Wells Diocesan Association, a great friend of the Society, the Masters of the University of London Society (Mr. J. M. Armstrong), the Oxford University Society (Mr. P. Sanders) and the Cambridge University Guild (Mr. J. D. Painter) and also many City ringers and visitors from Northampton and Surrey.

Mr. Jobn Chilcott, replying on behalf of the visitors, said the atmosphere of Bristol was always so friendly, especially in that certain hostelry where the City ringers always took him! On the more serious side, be said he had read of a plea to technologist ringers to invent a self-lubricating bell. In these days of ball bearings, however, he considered this plea to be out of date, especially when the cost of bells was prohibitive. It was far better, he said, that ringers should employ their energies in the field of public relations. It was their duty to go out and meet, especially, the younger generation, and gencrally to smooth things over with the public. In this case the Exercise would receive more favourable publicity than that in an article by 'Cassandra ' in the "Daily Mirror,' concerning the record length attempt at Loughborough.
In proposing the health of the Society, Mr. J. D. Painter (Master of the Cambridge University Guild) opened with the quotation 'All men are born equal.' He felt however, that men had inequalities and that although these inequalities provided incentive to competition, they should be viewed in their proper perspective. To say that a person had rung more and bigger bells and peals did not make that person better than someone who had done his best in ringing, perhaps one good peal. Hence he asked the guests and visitors to drink to the Society, not because it was a better Society, but because it was a good Society.
Replying on behalf of the Society, the Master (Miss Patricia M. Bourn) first congratulated certain members on their engagement, and also Mr. Frank Mack on his appointment to the Ringing Mastership of the City Branch of the Gloucester and Bristol Association.

FAILURES PHENOMENAL
Summing up the activities of the Society over the past year, she said in numbers the Society increased and ringing had been held regularly at St. Michael's during term time. Ringers were also sent to certain City towers, and their "help' was received with tolerance. The termly quarter peal attempts at St. Thomas had literally 'fallen through, because of unsafe floors, but regular eight-bell practices were initiated and had been a great success.

Sad was the tale in the field of ringing; there had been a phenomenal number of failures. Three peals had been rung, one of Grandsire Triples by an all-resident band, and two of Minor, one being Plain Bob and the other Bob Minor (laughter). The Plain Bob had been rung for the Rector's 21 years at St. Michael's, and the Master hoped he would be at the church for many more years. In all, 45 towers in three different counties bad been visited by the Society, on bus, cycle and foot, on which occasions the standard of map reading was shown to be extremely poor! The summer ringing tour, however, had been the highlight of the year. An annual Society Corporate Communion had been inaugurated at St. Michael's, thus binding the Society even closer to the Church. Finally the Master thanked the Rector for having the Society at St. Michael's, and also friends in and around Bristol for helping to acquire towers.
Flowers were presented to the Master on behalf of the Society by Mr. Michael Sprackling. He said that they had a good Master in all respects, which made for a good Society. It was due to Miss Bourn's hard work during her two years of office as Master that the Society had remained among the leading University Societies.

GLOUCESTER AND BRISTOL ASSOCLATION

The Bristol Rural Branch held a most suc cessful annual meeting at the Church of St. Ambrose, Bristol. Visitors from the City Branch, Malmesbury, Clutton and elsewhere helped to make the numbers up to well over the 60 mark. The service was conducted by the Rev. H. W. Hocking, assisted by the Rev. R. H. Easton and Mr. H. Pentreath, and afterwards came an excellent tea prepared by the ladies of the parish.
Mr. T. T. Walters presided at the business meeting, and the company stood in silence to note the passing of three members. The secretary (Mr. W. F. Scudamore) presented his report, together with the balance sheet. Commenting on the healthy state of the Branch's finances, the secretary said that the year had been one of steady progress, almost all the towers in the Branch being affiliated to the Association. In view of the work involved in his new post as hon. secretary to the Association he would not seek re-election as Branch secretary.
The chairman also made his report, in which he thanked the members for their loyal support during the past year. He invited the Master (Mr C. R. Harding) to take the chair for the election of new officers. Mr. Scudamore was thanked for his five years of service as Branch secretary, and was persuaded to take the office of chairman. The former chairman, Mr. T. T. Walters, was elected secretary, Mr, R. G. Hooper was unanimously re-elected Ringing Master, and Mr. H. Taysom was elected representative on the Management Committee.

TRURO DIOCESAN GUILD

On January 26th ringers of the Truro Diocesan Guild were invited to spend the afternoon and evening at Perranzabuloe, when a bazaar was also held to raise funds towards expenses incurred in connection with recent work on the tower, which has included a new roof and the partial blocking of the louvres.
Ringing started at 2 p.m. The bazaar was opened at 3 p.m. by Mrs. Treve Holman. At 4 p.m. the Vicar (the Rev. J. W. Harvey) conducted a short service at which he was able to welcome about 50 ringers, including Mr . A. Carveth (president), Mr. D. Burnett (Master), the Rev. A. S. Roberts, R.D. (secretary, Penzance Branch) and the Rev. J. Vincent, who has just returned to his native Cornwall from Shrewsbury to be curate of Camborne.
During the service the Vicar processed with the choir to the west end ringing chamber to dedicate an electric clock in memory of the late William Jervis Hodge, who, in 1928, gavethe tenor bell in memory of his parents. Mr. Hodge died last year and for a long period had been captain of the tower.
A splendid tea was served in the Church Hall nearby where the bazaar was in progress, and this was patronised by many present.
Ringing on the pleasant six (tenor 98 cwt .) was of a particularly high standard and included rounds and call changes and methods up to Cambridge Minor. This happy afternoon, at the invitation of the Perranzabuloe ringers, was much appreciated.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

HUDSON'S NEW LIGHT

Dear Sir,-I feel I must disagree with the convener of the Analysis Committee regarding this peal of Oxford and Kent Treble Bob (see 'Ringing World,' page 821) and point out that the decision of the Council at Bristol in 1955 was "This Council resolves to recognise all true peals rung in conformity with the conditions required for peals.' The conditions for peals incorporate no restrictions as to method or composition except in regard to record peals. (See Handbook, pages 19 and 20.)
Therefore the peal must be incorporated in the Analysis as there is apparently no objection to the standard of ringing, etc.
I have inquired what was actually rung and find that it is what is usually termed the "Ilkeston Variation,' but that no indication of change of method was given. The bobs were normal fourth's place bobs.

I have searched through the ringing books which I possess but cannot trace 'Hudson's New Light, although I well remember looking at it many years ago, and from memory I feel sure it was only a variation of Treble Bob, similar to Ilkeston. The conductor of the peal tells me he found it in the 'Bell News' many years ago.-Yours faithfully,
C. KENNETH LEWIS.

FAST RINGING

Dear Sir,-How heartily I agree with Derek Jones in his Ietter re Hoar Cross and that vile footnote "Quickest peal on the bells." Should they not add in 90 per cent. of the peals 'and the worst '?
$I$, like D. P. J., remember ringing Bray, Berks, tenor ( $26 \frac{3}{2} \mathrm{cwt}$.) to four Treble Bobs and three plain extents exactly 30 minutes per 720, and many good things were said about that peal on August 3rd, 1929. No one can dodge on the lead at a faster pace.
On another occasion, with A. H. P., we took 3 hours and 25 minutes for half-muffled Stedman (tenor $8 \frac{1}{2} \mathrm{cwt}$.). Could our fast peal ringers strike out to that time? How we all enjoyed the solemn measured beat in that peal. On these same bells with our local band, Charlie Denyer (then Aldershot) rang his first peal, New Year's Eve, 1924, half-muffled, in 3 hours and 13 minutes (age 13), sister Nancy (14) on 2nd. Again, at Sonning (tenor 204 cwt .), Bob Major, 3 hours and 32 minutes, and I was proud to put a footnote 'Believed to be the slowest peal on the bells.'

During the middle 1920's nothing could be better than the wonderful musical effect of ringing steady peals with old Alf Pulling and his band. I have always tried to train mine likewise.-Yours, etc.,

GEORGE GILBERT.

FALSE BUT MUSICAL

Dear Sir,-An interesting fact was brought to my notice recently concerning the calling round of Stedman Triples, which may be of use to some of your readers.
The general plan used is that recommended by Mr. J. T. Dyke in J. A. Trollope's 'Stedman.' but whereas Mr. Dyke suggests avoid having 2-1 dodging behind at the bobs at 7, 8, I advise instead keeping that pair behind. The reason is that, although the touch will be false, if $2-1$ are dodging behind at 7.8 , when the seventh comes in a quick bell a few sixes later, Queens will come up at backstroke. What is lost in falseness (and the touch may have been false, anyway, if it had to be called round) is amply regained in the improved music.-Yours sincerely,
Woodthorpe, Nottinghan BUSWELL.
Woodthorpe, Nottingham.

HOW THEY DO THINGS IN IRELAND
Dear Sir,-I have read with interest some of the recent letters in your paper on the subject of the Christmas Bells Broadcast. A suggestion has been put forward that the Associations should nominate various bands to the B.B.C. for ringing in these programmes, but I feel that I should point out that such an arrangement is already in force between the Northern District of the Irish Association and the Northern Region of the B.B.C. since 1945.
Before selecting a tower to ring, the B.B.C. agreed to consult the District secretary and ask for his recommendations. Sometimes, due to calls on the services of the B.B.C. technical staff, it has not been practicable to broadcast the most suitable ring but the second choice has always been taken as the alternative. This arrangement has worked well with mutual cooperation on both sides and to their advantage. The only complaint I have about the criticisms of the broadcast on Christmas Day is that I feel that 'the eminent ringer' should have had the courage to sign his name.

Some years ago the Central Council discussed this vexed question of anonymous letters being published and I understood that it was agreed that anonymity was not to be allowed to be used when criticism was published. The reason given for its retention was that it was claimed that some of our leading exponents would not be prepared to publish articles, etc., under their own names for private reasons.

I must say, however, that to be fair to our ' eminent member of the Central Council,' his criticism was realistic and agreed with the notes I made myself while listening to the broadcast. -Yours sincerely,

JOHN T. DUNWOODY.
Holywood, N. Ireland.

CHRISTMAS BROADCAST

Dear Sir,-I am sorry to see the letters of Mr. R. G. Edwards and Pat Cannon on the above subject. I agree wth W. W. Ring-the ringing was not good. But the criticism of my ringing was not good. But the criticism of my the Exercise any good, either.
I fully agree with Mr. F. R. L. Blewer that if any bells are broadcast they should be taken from the country at random. Bells are in the church to be rung for services, not for the likes and whims of brass hats! The ringers who man them Sunday by Sunday are the ones to ring them for broadcasts, and it's up to the B.B.C. to pick where they like. That is their concern and no one else's.
I and a couple of others are struggling to teach a band at Twineham. They all read 'The Ringing World' and are not pleased to read such comments. And if any ringer is in the neighbourhood of Twineham Church any Friday evening about 7.30 he or she will receive a hearty welcome from
C. H. WICKENS.

Twineham, Sussex.

LIST OF FOUR-BELL TOWERS

Dear Sir,-Would it be possible for Mr. R. Dove to add a supplement, one day, to his excellent 'Guide,' giving a list of churches with four bells, if hung for ringing? The number of towers may not be great, and the interest to change ringing slight, but there is often much antiquarian interest among the smaller numbers. Once placed "on the map ' in this manner, who knows what local enthusiasm towards augmentation or the study of method ringing in its simplest form may follow from the increased interest shown by visiting parties made thus aware of the existence of these towers.-Yours faitbfully, Hftchin.

MANUAL AS TEXT BOOK

Dear Sir,-May I add a few lines to what has been written to you in answer to the critics of the Manual of the College of Campanology?

First, What is a 'Manual '? Surely a text book of instruction, and in all types of educa. tion and teaching it is necessary to have a book of authentic instruction. Does everyone cally out their job in the textbook manner? Of course, it is not always practicable, but the letter of the law must be laid down somewhere, even if everyone does not keep strictly to $1 t$.

The compilers of the 'Ringing Manual' have done something that ought to have been done many years ago. By that I am not suggesting that the old "stalwarts" of the Exercise did not know how to teach ringers. All who begin to learn ringing should aspire to be good ringers, and by this I mean those who ring what they can ring, and not those who try to ring something beyond them (for the time being) before they have realised that a good ringer is one who does not earn a reputation as a bad or indifferent striker. Theoretical knowledge allied to a bad standard of striking is no use to anyone, and a good instructor is one who teaches good striking and handling, and insists on these before technical progress.

The Manual was surely compiled as an explanation of the correct technique, and I should like to see any attempts made by some of its critics to put down on paper the correct way to learn and teach ringing. It is often easier to show how anything is done than give written directions on the method of teaching.

Anyone who considers that Snowdon's 'Ropesight' went far enough is entitled to their opinion, but 'Rooesight' is not so meticulous as the Manual, but this does not detract from the important place in ringing literature that the Manual and 'Ropesight" occupy.-Yours faithfully,

NORMAN S. BAGWORTH.
Wimbledon, S.W.19.
THE RAVEN PEAL AT EYE, 1906, AND GEORGE E. DAY
Dear Sir,-May I please refer to the issues of October 19th and December 21st, 1956, pages 667 and 810 respectively, concerning George E. Day in particular.

I am obliged to Mr. George H. Cross for putting me right. I had been under a misapprehension and had got the two George Days mixed up.

I have had a talk with Miss Ella K. Day, who, appropriately, lives at Bell Cottage, Eye, and is a grand-daughter of George Day, sen., and I now confirm that in the Day bell-hanging firm there was:-First, Joseph Day. His son, George William, died May 1st, 1905, and George William's son, Fred, carried on the business. He died in (I think) 1922. Fred had' two sons, George E. and Hubert J. George E. never returned from the 1914-18 war, and Hubert J. died at Eye August 9th, 1952, aged 63. Fred was a College Youth.-Yours truly Eye, Suffolk.

Leading Peal Ringers

Among those near the head of the list for 1956, four founder members of the College of Campanology figure prominently. They include the president, who is also the record living peal-ringer; the registrar, who is fourth among the conductors; and the bursar, who is the leading lady peal-ringer and the highest in peals 'in hand.' The two latter-Mr. Roger Baldwin and Miss Kathleen Knight- recently trained and qualified as 'Tutors I:, and are nov giving valuable service in training others.

CHESTER DIOCESAN GUILD  Bowdon, Stockport and Mottram Branch

The annual meeting of the Bowdon, Stockport and Mottram Branch was held at Stockport St. Mary on January 26th, when some 50 members and friends were present at the service conducted by the Rector (Canon R. Simpson). Before the service the bells were in full use from early in the afternoon, to the great consternation of the market people, whose stalls are under the shadow of the tower.

After the service an excellent tea was served in the Day Schools by the wives of local ringers, and proceedings were delayed because several members had been inspecting some of the church's treasures, among them the register which contains the record of the christening of John Bradshaw, of Marple Hall, who signed King Charles' death warrant. Against this some Royalist supporter at some time wrote 'Traitor.' Some old Communion vessels were examined, also the latest find - a pair of beautiful oak doors, which for years had been hidden beneath a thick coating of brown paint and varnish.
The secretary reported that the meetings fot 1957 had been confirmed with the exception of the June meeting at Chapel-en-le-Frith, where some alteration of date might be necessary. It was decided that a Branch social be held, if possible on March 2nd, and the arrangements left to a small committee.
The statement of accounts and report for 1956 showed a healthy state of affairs; 37 peals had been rung in which 44 Branch members and 25 from outside took part. There were 15 conductors. The report contained an appeal for constant vigilance with regard to striking, and expressed satisfaction at the continued presence of young ringers, who are making good progress. Appreciation of the work of the officers was shown by their re-clection. It was also unanimously decided to appoint Mr. James Milner, of Disley, a valued member who had done much for the Branch, a vice-president. The following new members were elected:Sheila Norris and Derek Lawton (Stockport St. Mary), Dorothy Stafford, Valerie Pennington, Margaret Mackay, Merita V. Braddock (Marple), Ian Hodgson, John Beaumont (Staley), Derek Ogden, N. Bennett (Ashton) and Kenneth Hall (Cheadle).
Mention was made of the note in 'The Ringing World ' regarding the peal of Treble Bob (Hudson's New Light variation) to which exception had been taken by the Analysis Committee of the Central Council, and the secretary undertook to write, putting the matter in order.

North District Annual Meeting

Seventy members met at the Church of St. Peter-ad-Vincula, Coggeshall, for the annual meeting of the Northern District. This church was recently rehallowed after being rebuilt due to being bombed in 1943. As there is still a lot of money to be raised to complete the rebuilding, the collection taken at the service and proceeds from the tea, which was nearly $£ 15$, was for the Church Restoration Fund:
The service was conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. F. N. Brown), and Mrs. E. M. Everett played the organ. Tea was served in the Lecture Hall by members of St. Peter's Guild.
The Vicar presided at the business meeting, and the Master and secretary presented their reports, which stated that more peals were rung last year than the year before, and some were the first in the method for the Association. Restoration work on Halstead bells was going ahead and they will be rededicated in April. The secretary stressed that subscrlptions must be paid more regularly, and that last year there was a considerable number of members in arrears. Tributes were paid to George Schlueter and Albert Catterwell, who had recently died.

Miss H. G. Snowden was re-elected Master, Mr. H. A. Pratt secretary, and Messrs. J'. Elliott and J. Warner committee representativesTen new members were elected, four being from Coggeshall. The next meeting will be at Stebbing on March 16 th. Votes of thanks were accorded to all who had made the meeting most successful.

LEEDS & DISTRICT SOCIETY

The Society"s first meeting of 1957 was held at Bradford Cathcdral on January 26th. Throughout the afternoon the large tower was well filled, and good use was made of the bells until five o'clock, when a break was made for tea.
Afterwards the Provost (the Very Rev. John G. Tiarks) welcomed the Society to Bradford and looked forward to further meetings being held there. He lightheartedly suggested that Bradford rather than Leeds should appear in the title of the Society, as it was hardly likely that Bradfordians would consider themselves included by 'and District' as far as Lceds was concerned !
The chair at the business meeting was taken by Mr. I. Slack in the absence of the president (Mr. H. Lofthouse), who considered it inadvisable to make the climb up to the Cathedral. Mr . J. Gibson proposed the vote of thanks to all concerned with the arrangements.

The next meeting will be held at Birstall on February 23 rd.

OBITUARY

MR. STAFFORD H. GREEN
Mr. Stafford Green was an Essex man who came to Tunbridge Wells from Woodford some time about 1920. He was a member of the banking profession, and in company with the late Frederick White (also a banker), who came there from Hertfordshire at the same time, raised ringing to Surprise standard in the Tonbridge district.
He quickly became an officer of the Kent County Association and remained so until he left the county. During almost the whole of this period he acted (anonymously) as peal secretary.
As a Freemason he took part in the first Masonic peals of Stedman Cinques at Chelmsford in 1926, Cambridge Major at Crayford in 1927, Kent Maximus at Shoreditch in 1931, and Grandsire Cinques at St. Mary-le-Bow in 1939. This was one of the last-if not actually the last-peal on Bow Bells. He also took part in a bankers pcal, which was organised by the late Mr. F. S. Wilson, of Wincanton, Somerset.
During the war he evacuated with his office to the Guildford district and rendered valuable assistance in that area when the ban on ringing was removed.
Retiring a few years ago, first to Lyme Regis and afterwards to Sampford Peverell, Devon, he continued as a Sunday service ringer and taking part in occasional peals. One of these, Grandsire Triples, at Exeter Cathedral, did not conform to the Central Council rules and was never published. When, some time later, the peal was rung, Mr. Green again took part, ringing the treble.
He had a son and a daughter. His son met a tragic end at Tunbridge Wells, being killed by a car while on his way to school. His daughter married a clergyman and some years later they emigrated to Australia. About three years ago Mr. and Mrs. Green visited them for six months, and Mr. Green's account of his visits to various Australian towers made interestng reading in 'The Ringing World.'
I could not agree more with the Editor's description of Stafford Green as a 'delightful personality." I personally have the happiest memories of him. E. B.

MR. RAYMOND LYDSTER

With the death of Mr. Raymond Lydster on January 24 th, in his 52 nd year, Bedworth has lost one of its staunchest workers at the Parish Church of All Saints. He served in the choir until he was 16, and from then on his interest was mainly centred on having the bells rung for Sunday services. He gave his time freely to this and eventually became captain of the ringers in 1935.
For the last five years he was verger of All Saints', a duty which he performed unselfishly.
Ray was not a prolific peal ringer and rang about nine in all, one of which was the only peal to be rung by a Sunday service band.
On January 28th, at his interment, the bells were rung half-muffled before the service by members of the Coventry Diocsan Guild. The service was conducted by the Rector (the Rev. Will Maggs), and was fully choral. In his address he spoke very highly of Ray's service to the church he loved, and said he would be missed by all.
In the evening a quarter peal was rung by Guild members.

MR. ALBERT CATTERWELL

We regret to record the passing on January 14th of Mr. Albert Catterwell, captain of Sible Hedingham, Essex, ringers, aged 70 years. A memoir will appear in our next issue.

BISHOP B. C. ROBERTS

Bishop Basil C. Roberts, secretary of the Society for the Propagation of the Gospel, whose death was recently announced, was, during his undergraduate days at Pembroke College, an enthusiastic ringer. The records of the Cambridge University Guild show that he took part in two handbell peals of Bob Major. The band on each occasion was Basil C. Roberts 1-2, Rev. A. H. F. Boughey 3-4, E. Maurice Atkins 5-6, Reginald O. Street (now living at Bournemouth) 7-8. Both peals were compositions of Mr. Atkins, of Teignmouth, whose name still appears in our peal columns.

Before becoming secretary to the S.P.G. Bishop Roberts was Bishop of Singapore and previous to that a Suffragan Bishop in the diocese of Canterbury.

MR. WILLIAM SHIMMANS

The death occurred recently at Sidcup, Kent, of Mr. William Shimmans at a very advanted age.

A native of Bedford, where he learned to ring, he came to London as a steam crane driver at the Surrey Commercial Docks at the beginning of the present century and joined the band at Greenwich, which at that time enjoyed the distinction of being one of the very few towers capable of ringing London Surprise with their own band..

A lifelong Cumberland Youth, he did much to keep the Society together during those lean years in the Cumberlands' history which followed the death of George Newson in 1895. He remained on the active list, particularly with the Cumberlands, until between the wars, when he retired to Sidcup, since when little had been heard of him.

MR. W. WIGHTMAN

An Appreciation

It was with sorrow that I read of the death of Will Wightman, of Cretingham. I can fully endorse all that L. G. B. says of his hospitality, and that of his brothers, to any ringers who happened to visit the locality and took the trouble to call at the shoe shop, and one must not omit their sister, who was the power behind the scene at meal times.
I knew them all and rang with them from 1903 onwards, when I started to learn to handle a bell. They often came to Debenham-tall, pale-faced men, kindly with learners, rough with erring 'experts, seldom at fault themselves. The father, Stephen Wightman, senior, had just given up tower bell ringing in those days.

Will was exactly the same age to the day as the late Alfred W. Grimes, and these two had a special liking for each other and were often together. Only last August, when I paid a visit to the shoe shop to see Will, he mentioned Alf and his feat of ringing 250 peals in two years. 'As many,' said Will, 'as I have rung in my life." Will himself was still repairing boots in the shop, and produced for my inspection photographs of many famous ringers as published in the 'Bell News' of 60 years ago, still lying handy in the shop. As L. G. B. says, his memory of things past was almost uncanny, reminding one of things one had forgotten.

However, one must look upon the bright side of things, and remember William Wightman and his brothers, and not to forget the nephews, Leslie and George A., as a family of ringers who did an enormous amount of good work in their part of Suffolk in their day, leaving many ringers still about somewhere who can say that they owe a lot to the ringing skill of this remarkable family. and that includes

PETER LAFLIN.

GUILDFORD DIOCESAN GUILD Chertsey District's Progress

In a welcome to Hersham at the annual meeting of Chertsey District on February 2nd the Vicar (the Rev. L. St. C. Gower Williams) at the service expressed his pleasure and surprise at the large number of young members present. Ringing preceded the service under the direction of Mr. J. King.
After a bumper tea, provided by local ladies, Mr. W. Shepherd presided for the business meeting. The secretary, in his report, stated that the membership, at 87, was the highest ever, most notable increases being at Chobham and Weybridge. Most of the other towers were holding their own.
The six District mectings had been well supported, an average of 34 being at each. Of 204 attendances, 130 were by District members. With the large number of learners, lower methods had been the rule, and it had been encouraging to see some famous ringers lending a hand. It was hoped the more experienced would continue to turn up and assist the learners.
The secretary reminded members of the need to pull together and to build up a strong District. They owed this to the memory of their late Ringing Master, Mr. J. F. Dodson.

The balance sheet, presented by Mr. W. Shepherd, showed an increase at the bank of £111s. 5d.

After a ballot, Mr. R. Collins was elected District Ringing Master, and Mr. J. King assistant, Miss Hazel Hancock District secretary, and Mr. G. Talbot representative on the Executive Committee.
The question of junior members being allowed to vote was raised by Mr. W. Goldstone. After Mr. W. Shepherd and Mr. and Mrs. Lathbury had all spoken in favour it was decided to raise this matter again at the Guild Executive and at the annual general meeting. The secretary reminded members that the rule would not have been altered if those who sup. ported the junior members' vote turned up at the annual general meeting.
New members were proposed from Walton (1), Weybridge (3), Send (3), Chobham (3) and Horsell (2). Ringing in methods up to Cambridge took place till 9 p.m. under the new Ringing Master. Ringing Master.

WINCHESTER & PORTSMOUTH  Christchurch District

A practice meeting was held at Ringwood 01 February 2nd, when 25 ringers attended from all parts of the Christchurch District.
It was a successful afternoon and evening with striking of a variable quality but, on the whole, quite good. Beginners were encouraged to take part in many touches, whilst the more advanced members interspersed courses of Surprise Major and some Spliced Surprise in three methods. At a short business meeting it was decided to postpone the quarterly meeting arranged to take place at Brockenhurst from March 2nd to March 9th.

Northem District Want a Competition

The committee of the Northern District at -their annual meeting at St. Mary's, Wimbledon, on January 26 th, advocated a competition based on four main points to advance Rule 1 (b), the cultivation of the art of change ringing. The points were : Attendance for Sunday service ringing, quarter peals scored, full peals scored, and a striking competition for Sunday service bands. There could be a leading tower for each section and a combined best tower. There would, of course, be no question of ringing for prizes.

The committee's report recorded a membership decrease from 277 to 245 . There were 12 resignations and the majority were from towers in the Chertsey District of the Guildford Diocesan Guild. It seemed that unless rapid progress was made with repairs there would be lapses from Mortlake and MitchamParish Church.

During the year 63 quarters were rung in 17 towers, and 12 ringers rang their first quarter and 45 their first in the method. The peal total, at 17, was well up, entirely due to the demobilisation of John Hill and David Parsons. Opportunities for Surprise practice were offered any Tuesday at Leatherhead, and Wednesday at Banstead and any Thursday at Beddington.
With regard to the competition the secretary was willing to do all the necessary work associated with organising.

The treasurer reported that there is a balance of $£ 2710 \mathrm{~s}$. 6 d ., an increase from last year.

The officers and committee for 1957 were elected as follows:-Master. Mr. G. Peters; hon. secretary, Mr. W. Parrott: hon, treasurer, Mr. H. N. Pitstow: auditor, Mr. R. F. Layton; committee members, Messrs. N. Bagworth, J. Hill and H. V. Young; 'Ringing World' representative, Mr. A. J. Weise.

Mr. Roy Davis thanked the retiring Ringing Master, Mr. F. T. Collins, who has held the position for 11 years.

It was passed that the programme for 1957 shall be:-April 27th, Epsom; July 13th, Thames Ditton and Esher: August 5th, Leatherhead. with Guildford Guild; September 28th, Guildford; October 12th, Banstead, with Kent County Association; November 16th, Streatham and Clapham Park; and the annual District meeting on January 25th at St. Peter's, Croydon, and Old Addington. The collection amounted to $£ 2$ for the Bell Fund.

The meeting, attended by 53 members and three visitors, was preceded by a short service with an address by the Rev. D. Rogers. Ringing was under the zuidance of Mr. F. E. Collins.

Southern District

The annual District meeting was held at Bletchingley on January 19th. There was an attendance of 35 ringers, of whom 25 were District members. Shortened Evensong was conducted by the Rev. L. S. Hawkes, and tea served at the King Charles Tea Rooms.
The ringers then adjourned to the Church Room for the business meeting, presided over by the Rev. K. G. Hoare, a member. The secretary presented the committec's report, which stated that the ringing and attendance at meetings during 1956 had slightly improved.
Ten new members were elected, eight of whom came from Betchworth, where ringing has recently been resumed. Mr. A. P. Cannon was re-elected as District Master, Mr. A. Streeter secretary, Mr A. Gear treasurer, Mr. M. A. Northover auditor, and Messrs. T. H. Bird, G. Olliver and B. A. Cracknell committee. Votes of thanks included one to Mr. F. W. Bird for arranging the tea. After the meeting ringing continued until 9 p.m. with methods ranging from rounds to Cambridge -Surprise Major.

As It Should Be

The ringers of St. Mary's, Kingswinford, write expressing their appreciation of the help which has been given to them by their ringing friends of St. Michael's. Brierley Hill. Their helpful criticism, and patience on practice nights, is having most fruitful results.

The quarter peal rung on February 1st, also the peal on the following Saturday afternoon, in which six of St. Mary's band took part, only proves what a little help can do. All are most grateful to Clifford Skidmore and his band, and would like to say 'Thank you!'

Death of Mr. W. W. Wolstencroft

PROGRESS BY THE LADIES

'ISHOULD be very ungallant were I not to compliment Mrs. Williams on the accomplishment of her first 720 of Bob Minor with a pair of handbells. That lady is undoubtedly making good progress in the art, and really I begin to have a lurking suspicion that one of these days we shall find a report of tower ringing by some of our energetic lady friends in the columns of this paper. That would make some of our "old stagers" rub their eyes and wonder! The gentler sex are now appearing as municipal voters, as members of Boards of Guardians, School Boards, the medical profession and various other roles in which the sterner sex were hitherto supposed to have a monopoly; and if they come out as ringers in the tower well, we shall have to look out; that's all.'

These words were written by a well-known ringing scribe 69 years ago, and the lurking suspicion he had soon resolved itself into actual fact, not only for touches and quarter peals, but for peals on handbells and in the tower. The earliest lady ringers I can think of were Miss Sharland and the Misses Kelly, who rang handbells in Devonshire, followed by Mrs. George Williams, of Midhurst, who startled the Exercise by being the first lady to score a peal on handbells. George Williams was a fine ringer and a splendid teacher, so was his friend, Henry White, of Basingstoke, who taught his two daughters, Alice and Dora, to ring tower bells at St. Michael's. Basingstoke, and it was here that these two ladies proved to the Exercise that they were capable of striking their bells well, not only in touches but in peals, the first ever performed by ladies.

The Rev. F. E. Robinson mentions this well-known family in his book, 'Among the Bells,' and the two sisters certainly broke down many strange notions that tower-bell ringing was not the right kind of church work for the fair sex to take up. It was uphill work for these two young pioneers and slowly but surely their perseverance was rewarded when they found a few others taking up ringing in various towers up and down the country. In 1911 it was found that sufficient ladies could be formed to attempt a peal of Grandsire Triples and the meeting place was Cubitt Town, London. Although unsuccessful, the attempt proved that good striking could be obtained, and a year later the writer again visited Cubitt Town, this time to hear the peal successfully brought round.

In the meantime much instruction work took place at Portishead, Somerset, and a band of eight local ladies rang a peal there. These two peals and the formation of the Ladies' Guild were helpful factors in gaining recruits for tower and handbell ringing, and during the 1914-1918 war a large number undertook the work of maintaining service ringing when ropes became vacant in most of the towers throughout the country. Since those days we have seen wonderful progress by the ladies not only in numbers, not only in quality of peals and methods performed, but also in quarter peals, regular ringing for services, and the part they play in helping to make meetings, etc., a success.

It would take many pages to record the names and performances of those ladies who have given loyal and faithful service to ringing for many years and I sometimes wonder what the two sisters, who set the great example, think of the growth in numbers. Recently I had a surprise from Kitchener in Canada which expressed in writing appreciation of 'The Ringing World' front page articles, and it was pleasing to hear from the first president of the Ladies' Guild, then Miss Alice White, now Mrs. Sullivan. Many ladies who now ring in our towers may be interested in what she tells me, which is as follows: 'From one old timer to another. I see your articles in "The Ringing World " by using a magnifying glass, and I do manage to read some. The B.B.C. broadcasts always interest me and occasionally I hear bells ringing, not enough to distinguish what method; nevertheless, I still like to hear them. Three years ago I had a fall which resulted in a double fracture of the pelvis near the hip juint and, being an autumn bird, did not get over it as well as a spring chicken.'

The younger sister, Miss Dora White, became Mrs. Mack and still resides in Basingstoke, the town where two sisters, apt pupils of a painstaking father, certainly did make some of the old stagers rub their eyes and wonder.

Mr. and Mrs. Williams are not forgotten for their pioneer work in connection with the art of ringing, and the Winchester Diocesan Guild certainly found in Henry White and his two daughters a trio of ringers who set a shining example by extending to the fairer sex the many advantages of our art. WILLIAM SHEPHERD.

BEVERLEY & DISTRICT SOCIETY

The annual meeting of the Beverley and District Ringing Society was held at Beverley Minster, the home of the Society, on February 9th. There was a record attendance of 70 members.
During the afternoon the bells at the Minster were rung to various methods, under the supervision of Mr. L. Rodmell, the Ringing Master. The service was held in the Minster Choir, conducted by the Vicar, Rev. Collwyn Hargreaves, who welcomed the Society to Beverley. He was assisted by Rev. George Storer, of Hutton Cranswick, Chaplain to the Society.
'Tea was served by the Minster Ladies’ Guild in the Parish Room, and afterwards the company were entertained by the Drifficld Parish Church Ringers, who gave another excellent display of handbell tune ringing.
The annual business meeting followed, at which the following officers were re-elected: Mr. A. E. Scllers (Beverley), president; Mr. G. Braithwaite (Beverley), vice-president; Mr. L. ## UNIVERSITY OF BRISTOL SOCIETY OUTING

Sixteen members of the Society left Bristol by bus on February 9th for the first 'grab' of the spring term. After having successfully confused the conductor as to our destination, we eventually arrived at Wells.
St. Cuthbert's Church impressed us with its solid tower, and although the eight bells were raised by ten of the party, the tenor still went up wrong The Master having previously announced that the emphasis would be on good striking, rather than the number of methods rung, we proceeded to do our best with Grandsire and Stedman Triples and Bob Major, but never really scttled down.
After admiring the architecture of the Cathedral, we raised the heavy ten bells, on which Grandsire and Stedman Caters were rung. A fairly good touch of Grandsire Caters was successfully brought round as a service touch for Evensong; most of the party attended the service and were greatly impressed by the singing of the choir.
Everyone having obtained various forms of ' tea,' we caught the bus to Chewton Mendip, where this beautifully-toned eight were got going to Grandsire and Stedman Triples. A wellstruck touch of 448 Bob Major, with the tenors parted, was successfully brought round after 17 minutes. An enjoyable day was rounded off in the 'local.' playing shove ha'penny and table skittles, which ended hilariously when a wellaimed (?) shot by the Master found its way into the pint pot of our Welsh member!

Finally, the Society would like to thank all those concerned with the arrangements for the outing, and the clergy, for allowing us to ring.

A peal of Cambridge Major was rung at All Saints', Worcester, after meeting short for Grandsire Caters. There has been a ring of ten in this tower since 1752, and this is believed to be first eight-bell peal on the bells for many years.

NEWS FROM CANADA

Christ Church Cathedral, Victoria, B.C.

On January 6th Canon Ralph Stanley Dean was consecrated Bishop of Cariboo. There were nine bishops present, including the Most Rev. Archbishop Harold Sexton, of British Columbia.

The two towers at the west end of the Cathedral are now completed. The ring of eight bells (tenor $29 \frac{1}{2}$ cwt.) in the scale of $D$ flat, which is hung in the north-west tower, now sounds much louder and very clear, and can be heard a distance of five miles from the Cathedral.

The consecration service was a very impressive one, and was witnessed by a congregation of approximately 1,000 . Prior to the commencement of the service, touches of Bob Major, Stedman and Grandsire Triples were rung by the Christ Church Cathedral ringers, and immediately after the finish of the recessional hymn Stedman and Grandsire Triples were rung and broadcast into the Cathedral.

The Right Rev. Stanley Dean is only 43 years of age and is the youngest bishop in Canada. His is an arduous appointment, as the diocese covers a very large area, is sparsely populated, and in wintertime much of the travel is by sled and $\operatorname{dog}$ team.

On Christmas Day the Cathedral bellringing was on television on CBUT, and again on New Year's Day. Both broadcasts were well done and showed the bells in motion and the ringers in action in the ringing chamber.

The ringers of Christ Church Cathedral wish to thank those of your readers who so kindly sent Christmas greetings. and to say how much they hope to have the pleasure of further visits from them in the near future.
E. W. I.

SUSSEX COUNTY ASSOCIATION

Northern Division

Forty-five members gathered together at Balcombe on February 2nd for the annual general meeting of the Northern Division of the Association.

Ringing during the afternoon preceded a service, conducted by the Rector of Balcombe, of which a noteworthy feature was a robed choir, composed entirely of ringers, and representative of the Northern, Southern and Eastern Divisions. This was indeed something all too seldom seen at our meetings.

The business meeting, which followed tea, was presided over by the Master, Mr. S. Armstrong, supported by the general secretary. Mr. R. Percy.

The report, presented by the divisional secretary, was noted as being favourable, as was the balance sheet for the past year's working. Particularly encouraging was the number of new members elected during the year, and the affiliation of another tower-Ardingly.

Divisional officers elected for 1957 were Ringing Master, Mr. E. Knapp; secretary, Mr. I. Butcher; committee-Mr. R. Johnson and Mr. E. Knapp, with Mr. B. Cracknell co-opted: auditor, Mr. G. Apps; Central Council delegate, Mr. R. Overy.

Towers for forthcoming meetings were chosen as follows: Ardingly (April 6th), Cowfold (May 11th), Withyham (June 1st), West Hoathly (July 6 th). It was also agreed to recommence practices in advanced methods, starting at Crawley on June 15 th.

The meeting closed with votes of thanks to all concerned for their efforts during the past year, and to the Rector for the use of the bells and for conducting the service

Members returned to the tower, where the pleasant ring of eight was put to good use in a variety of methods. under the leadership of the new Ringing Master.

RAILWAYMENS GUILD

Guild crest of the Guild of Railwaymen Church Bell Ringers, which incorporates Mr. W. Frank Stenson's former job of locomotive inspector. A pair of engine tender wheels replaces the wooden wheel of the bell.

Because of clash of dates, the annual meeting of the Guild will be held at Christ Church, Crewe, on June $22 n d$.

A draft constitution will be submitted to the meeting.

Any active railwayman ringer of British Railways, British Transport Commission and Northern Ireland Railways, and also retired railwaymen, are suggested for membership.

It is also proposed to have associate members, consisting of railway ringers' wives and any railwaymen ringers of continental and overseas railways.

The proposed subscription is $2 / 6$ (Juniors 1/-).

A SUSSEX STALWART 64 Years a Ringer

Particulars have reached us of the interesting and varied career of Mr. Albert E. Edwards, of Robertsbridge, Sussex-a career which extends over a period of 64 years. At one time he was instructor at Salchurst, and he rang many peals in various methods up to Double Norwich Major.

He was a member of the Society of Royal Cumberland Youths, and rang peals under the conductorship of several famous 'Cumberlands,' including Keith Hart. Thomas Card, W. H. Card and George A. Card. He also conducted 150 peals himself out of a total of 225 rung in 82 towers. In those days there was no motor transport and to get to the various places it was necessary to walk.

Mr. Edwards was one of a company of 16 or 17 very eager ringers, and on more than one occasion they worked on the land all day ploughing, walked five or six miles to ring a peal, then walked home, and were up again at 5 a.m. the next day to do another day's hard work on the land.
The advice given to Mr. Edwards by his teacher is well worth quoting. It was 'Let's strike the bells or go home; handstrokes open, backstrokes in; eyes and ears open and mouth closed.'

He is now in his 83rd year and has been partially disabled since 1940, but is still fully interested in all that is happening in the Exercise.

ST. MARY'S, HENDON

The St. Mary's Guild of Ringers, Hendon, have issued an appeal to augment the six bells in this church to the complete octave.

The Ringing Master and Treasurer, Miss Ruth Foreman, of 2, Temple Fortune Mansions, Bridge Lane, N.W.11, informs us that so far they have collected just over $£ 100$ from various sources, such as carols on handbells before Christmas, fees from weddings and gifts following an appeal in the parish and to towers in the Middlesex Association.

St. Mary's Guild consists mainly of new young ringers, and they are making slow but steady progress. The clergy and churchwardens take an immense interest in the ringers.

A feature article with illustrations appeared recently in "The Hendon Times and Guardian." concerning the Guild, and from this we learn that the Guild consists of 11 ringers and five learners, including the curate, the Rev. Alan J. Tanner.

The steeplekeeper is Mr. H. Arnold, who began ringing in 1904, and only gave up recently on doctor's orders. Miss Ruth Foreman has been ringing since the age of 13 , and was formerly a member of the Reigate band.

LONDON AND SOUTHAMPTON UNIVERSITY GUILDS

Ringers from London and Southampton Universities held a successful joint meeting at Guildford on February 9th.

The party from Southampton rang at Old Woking (8. 173 cwt.) before mecting the London University Guild members for ringing at Shalford. The pleasant eight ( $13 \frac{1}{2}$ cwt.) were kept going to the standard methods up to London Surprise, with rounds being rung for the less experienced. An hour and a half was spent at Holy Trinity Cathedral Church, during which the heavy eight ( 24 cwt .) were rung in rounds and methods up to Bristol Surprise. After a well-deserved tea, we proceeded to the last tower of the day-St. Nicolas', with a ring of ten ( 22 cwt.). Methods rung here were Grandsirc and Stedman Caters. Bob, Little Bob, Kent and Cambridge Surprise Royal.

The meeting was the first joint meeting between the two Guilds, and it was voted an enjoyable and successful one. It is hoped to arrange a further meeting later in the year.
We must thank all those who made it possible, all authorities for the use of their bells, the local ringers who met us, and the seccretary of the Southampton University Guild, for arranging the ringing.

LINCOLN DIOCESAN GUILD

Gainsborough District

About 50 ringers attended the annual meeting of the Gainsborough District and enjoyed ringing on the very fine eight of All Saints', Gainsborough. The service was conducted by the Rev. Michael Freeman, senior curate, and he also deputised for the president, Canon J E. Roberts (Vicar), who was unavoidably absent, by taking the chair for the business meeting.
The president was re-elected, as was also the Master (Mr. G. E. Feirn) and the secretary (Mr. George L. A. Lunn). The representative on the Branch Committee was Mr. J. M. Blackie in place of Mr. C. H. Baker, who wished to be relieved. Nine performing members were elected.

The following places and dates were decided on for the year's meetings, subject to arrangements being possible:-Brigg, February 16th; Lea, May 18th: Owston, July 20th; Saxilby, September 21st; Kirton, November 16 th.

SOCIETY OF ROVING RINGERS' 10th REUNION

F
ORTY-SIX members and friends travelled to London on February 2nd for the tenth annual reunion of the Society, and enjoyed a very happy weekend together.

At Shoreditch, our first tower, we enjoyed both meeting old friends and ringing several touches of Cinques and Caters. One member vowed he could see the spire of the church shaking from Old Street, but perhaps he had started his celebrations rather early!

A scramble on and off buses and a walk down Stepney High Strect brought us within sight of the Parish Church, where we were grected by the sound of Stedman Triples, rung by the latecomers. We were very pleased to meet Mr. Fox here, and were sorry to have to leave these excellent bells after concluding with a half-course of Cambridge Royal.

Out in the gloom of a London evening, we made our way to the station. To the great amusement of the ticket collector at Tower Hill. who seemed to think all Stepney had come to inis station. we all filed out of the underground on our way to St. Olave's, Hart Street.
A well-struck course of London set St. Olave's bells ringing, and we enjoyed a number of touches here before making our way to the Bedford Hotel for dinner.
Mark White, president, took the chair at the meeting which followed, and apologies for absence were read, including nine from honorary members, one of whom had very kindly presented us with a cheque for $£ 1$ 1s. A telegram had also been received from a member now in Canada, Miss Audrey Bailey, and we would like to send our thanks to her, through ' The Ringing World,' for her best wishes for a happy reunion.

FOUR PEALS

It was reported by the secretaries that during the year four peals had been rung by the Society: Stedman Cinques at Lincoln, Cambridge Maximus at Southwark, Cambridge Royal at Wrington and Cambridge Major at Ewell, leaving only Cambridge Minor to enable the Society to join the "elite.'
The 1956 tour, held in Yorkshire, had been very successful, except for the excessive quantities of rain. Tuenty-three members had enjoyed the week, and 38 , representing 12 counties, attended the weekend held in Lincoln, where we were very pleased to have as our guests Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Freeman and John Freeman.
There had been three more weddings in the Society during the past year (quite a marriage bureau!): Norman and Mariella Mallett, David and Joyce Parsons. Terry and Sheila Thornber. who received a mirror, Lloyd Loom chair and tea trolley respectively, as gifts from the members. There was also one engagement to announce between Michael Horseman and Monica Fray, and two forthcoming weddings betwecn Cyril Deem and Daphne, and John Hill and Marjorie Hunter. One member wished to ask the meeting what chances members thought he had of remaining a bachelor!
A short report from the treasurer re the expense account followed, in which was stated, to everyone's delight, that. as we had a balance in hand of approximately $£ 8$, no collection towards expenses would be made on this occasion.

The recorder thanked all his helpers and said the record book was now almost up-to-date, due to all their help, and was available for anyone who wished to look at it during the evening.
Mr. Ivor Goulter, of Cheltenham, was then proposed and elected as an honorary member, and Mr. Malcolm Hammond, of Richmond, Yorkshire, was ratified as an ordinary member.

THE NEW MASTER

The election of officers for 1957 then took place, and Mr. David Parsons was elected Master for this year, Mr. Michael V. Chilcott and Miss Kathleen E. Weller as secretaries, Mr. John Sansom as recorder, and Mr. Raymond I. Parsons retained his post of treasurer by popular vote.

Proposals for the 1957 tour were made, and after discussion, South East England received the most votes.

The mecting ended with a vote of thanks to the retiring officers for all their hard work during the year, particularly the Master, Mr. George Evenden, and retiring. joint secretary, Miss Jeanette M. Winchester.
The party divided for Sunday morning ringing, some to St. Michael's. Cornhill, and the rest to St. Martin's-in-the-Fields, where we were given a very warm welcome by Mr. T. Francis. After junch, those who did not start their journey homeward walked to the city to umpire the ringing at St. Paul's Cathedral, and a few were energetic enough to climb up to see the bells. Then tea in 'Joe's,' and over the bridge to Southwark, where we rang Cinques and Caters for evening service. After concluding the ringing with a course of Cambridge Royal, we said 'Goodbye' until July, and went our various ways home.
We would like to express our thanks to all the people who helped to make the weekend so enjoyable, especially Mr. T. Francis and Mr. John Chilcott, who helped so much with the finging arrangements, and Mr. T. Mark White, for being such an excellent chairman at our meeting.

THE LADIES' GULLD  South Wales District

With an attendance of over 40 , the annual meeting of the South Wales District at Penarth on January 26th proved most enjoyable.
The Rector of Penarth, the Rev. G. Stephens, took the service and welcomed the Guild. Thanks were extended to the ladies who prepared the excellent tea, to the Rector for his warm welcome and to Mr. John Garvett, who did so much to ensure the success of the meeting.
The secretary reported another successful year with maintained interest in the Guild. The following officers were elected:-Vice-president, Mrs. D. James: secretary, Miss Jacqueline Evans : committee, Mrs. P. E. Coles, Miss Dilys Hulbert, Miss Audrey Stephens and Miss Ann Scorrer. Two new members, Miss Hazel Way and Miss Mary Keen, both of Sketty, Swansea, were elected.
The Ladies' Guild dinner was discussed and members felt that London was the best venue. All Saints', Newport, was chosen as the place of the next meeting.

SHROPSHIRE ASSOCIATION

The annual meeting of the Shropshire Association was held at Shrewsbury on January 26th. when altogether about 80 pcople attended the meeting, amongst whom were Mr. W. A. Farmer, of Cheltenham, Mr. G. L. Hewitt, of Gloucester, and Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Barron, of Birmingham, being old friends and former officers of the Association.

As usual, the bells of the Churches of St. Chad and St. Mary were available, and throughout the afternoon and after the business meeting, until 8.30 p.m., touches in many methods were ringing out over Shrewsbury.

At 4.30 p.m. the Rev. W. Johnston, M.A. (Vicar), conducted a bellringers' service at St. Chad's, and the address was given by the Association's president, the Ven. H. J. Carpenter, M.A., Archdeacon of Salop, who reminded the ringers that although they were hidden away in their belfries, they were important people still, who could, like a famous surgeon, dedicate their hands and their skill to the glory of God.
The service was followed by a tea, provided by members of the local band and their wives, and afterwards came the business meeting, during which, in the course of his report, the Ringing Master stated that seven meetings had been held in the previous year, with an average attendance of 36 , and the ringing itself was of quite a good standard. He also reported that 13 peals had been rung for the Association, but regretted that this total was not larger.

The hon. treasurer presented the accounts for the year, which were considered very satisfactory and passed unanimously.

The officers were re-elected, and $\mathrm{Mr} . \mathrm{H}$. Douglas, of Dawley, appointed to the office of deputy Ringing Master. A provisional programme for 1957 was drawn up as follows: March 9th, Malins Lee; May 11 th, Hodnet; June 15th. Chetwynd; July 13th, Clive; September 14th, Coalbrookdale; November 9th, Wellington.
The meeting closed with votes of thanks to the Association's president, the Vicar of St. Chad's, the ladies responsible for the tea. and all who had in any way worked to ensure the day's success.

KENT COUNTY ASSOCIATION

Folkestone was the venue of the Ashford District's first quarterly meeting of the year on January 26 th. The fine-toned but slightly odd-struck ring was raised by three o'clock, and ringing was under the supervision of Mr. John Cooper, the Ringing Master.

The service was conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. J. F. Hough). In his address of welcome he likened ringers to the Ministry of Information because they let people know about the Church. Miss Boyle was at the organ, and Mr. J. Willis read the lesson.

Mr. F. J. Whittaker had made all the arrangements, and the local lady ringers and friends prepared and served the tea.

About 40 ringers and friends were present, most of whom were young people from the Folkestone band itself and towers in the neighbouring vicinity. Fourteen were elected to the Association at the meeting held under the chairmanship of Mr. Willis.
Ringing continued until nine o'clock, when the bells were lowered in peal, and ranged from rounds to Double Norwich.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

PEALS IN CUMBERLAND AND WESTMORLAND

Dear Sir ,-I have now had the opportunity to examine the article on Peals in Cumberland and Westmorland and the letters from Messrs. Richardson and McKay. I endorse all the corrections made by the latter with their comments and also add the following :-
Kendal.-Grandsire Triples was rung in 1909 not 1910. Peals of Bob Minor in 1926 and Grandsire Triples and Stedman Triples in 1927 appear to have been overlooked.

Ambleside.-The peal of Bristol took place in 1931 not 1933. Cambridge Major in 1946 is missing.

Bowness.-The first peal by the local band was on Boxing Day, 1932, not 1931, and the peal of Bristol was in 1950 not 1947.
Beetham's one and only peal was in 1926 not 1927.

Cumberland.-Carlisle, St. Stephen's: The first peal was rung in 1865 not 1861. The peal of Oxford Treble Bob Major rung in 1892 has heen missed.
Crosthwaite. 1 also add Double Norwich Major to the additions of Messrs. Richardson and McKay. This was rung in 1946. The London was in 1950 not 1946.

Millom.-The first peal was in 1925 not 1926.
I hope these further corrections to the original article will not cause the writer any regrets. Even though inaccuracies may have to be pointed out, it is a pleasure to have such articles and I congratulate 'Local Ringer' on going to so much trouble. I hope others will follow his example. I am always very ready to help if I can.
Whilst writing, may I take this opportunity of thanking Mr. Hill, of Ewell, for comparing notes about the 100th peal at his tower which I queried? The original claim was quite correct and I was one out, which has now been put right.-Yours faithfully,

CHRISTMAS BROADCAST

Dear Sir--I was most interested to read Mr. F. R. L. Blewer's letter, and I must say that I am with him all the way.
I do not know how certain churches are chosen for broadcasting, but I rather suspect that it depends on how well the vicar can preach, as I have never heard a poor sermon broadcast.
Having then fixed this, the B.B.C. would next have to see about the choir, which is heard for a much longer period than the bells. Would they get a specially trained choir to take the place of the church's own choir? Then they might, if some suggestions were carried through, call upon a special band of ringers selected by the C.C. broadcasting committee. Why not have a service from gramophone records and not worry the Church at all?
We as ringers all appreciate good ringing; the general public do not know good from bad unless the bells are actually being 'banged about.' This being the case, and in defence of my own country district. where under the most difficult circumstances the ringers give of their best, I must say I am in favour of hearing what is already at the church, and let God decide whether the ringers' offering was worthy,-Yours faithfully,

MANPOWER CENSUS
Dear Sir,-Some time ago, at the suggestion of Mr. Alan R. Pink, I wrote to the Central Board of Finance of the Church of England to ask that a form which was being devised to be sent annually to all parishes, with the object of obtaining information about the manpower position, should include a question on the number of ringers.
The assistant secretary of the Board has now informed me the forms will be sent out this Eastertide to all incumbents in the provinces of Canterbury and York. Some months will, of course, elapse before the results are known. but if incumbents co-operate we should have a much more accurate idea of our numbers (in England) than ever before. Tower captains can help by ensuring that the incumbent is given this information if he asks for it, or, for that matter, if he doesn't.--Yours faithfully.

EXPERIMENTS IN SPLICED MINOR

Deal Sir, - I was interested in Mr. H. Chant's letter in your issue of January 4th, and his comments on the introduction of bob leads of a method into spliced extents and their counting as a separate method if no plain lead of either of a pair is included.

The practice has been to incorporate at least one plain lead of each method and thus avoid this awkward decision which, as Mr. Chant shows, is more a matter of good taste than technical decision. I am of Mr. Chant's persuasion, I don't like it and neither did that great Minor expert, A. G. Driver.
To return to his problems, the 25 and 24 method extents and the one given in your issue in question. Both these have been rearranged by me to incorporate at least one plain lead of each method and in fact the 25 became 26 and the 24 became 25 at the same time. Therefore, his poser is anothet that wasn't but only appeared to be.-Yours faithfully,
C. KENNETH LEWIS.

A STEDMAN REQUEST

Dear Sir,-There are many quarter peals of Stedman Truples in five parts where the first part end produces 1253467 , and if 6-7 are kept bohind by a bob rounds follow in the next six, thus producing three courses for a practice touch. Two useful quarters are HL-SH-SQ and HO-H-SQ. Each has 6-7 at home every second and third course-end in each part, and it will be noticed that the second quarter consists of twin bobs only. As 1253467 are the first part ends the bob with 6-7 at home should help Mr. Burles with his problem. A 252 which might be handy is SL-S-SQ.-Yours, etc.,

WILLIAM SHEPHERD.

Dear Sir,-Whether it is possible to produce a touch of 252 changes by the use of Thurstans standard calling I haven't the slightest idea, but if Mr. Burles transfers the calls at 7-8 from the first course to the third course (Haley's variation) and calls a hob on 6-7 at the part end, the bells run round in 254 changes.-Yours truly,
E. BARNETT.

315 STEDMAN TRIPLES

Dear Sir,-The touch below was given to me by the late A. P. Wakley in 1910. It was the last tou:h he ever heard, for on one Sunday in February, 1919, he was waiting outside the tower, having just been demobilised, and obviously very ill. We took him to his home, where he went to bed and died there some nine days later, a victim to 'Spanish 'flu.'-Yours, etc.,

OBITUARY

MR. WALTER WALLACE WOLSTENCROFT

It was with deep regret that the ringing friends of W. W. W. received the news of his passing after a long and interesting ringing life, in which the traising of new ringers played a large part. He served the Church of St. Peter, Ashton-under-Ljne, for the whole of his life until, in 1946, on account of his wife's infirmity due to an accident, he removed to Stoke Poges to live with his son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. T. G. Hawkins. His service to his church was of a varied nature-Sunday School superintendent, teacher, ringer; in fact in any way he could. It was largely due to his enthusiasm and energy that the bells of the church were rehung in 1937.
On April 17th, 1911, he took part in the record length of Kent Treble Bob Maximus at Ashton-under-Lyne, conducted by Samuel Wood. In 1921 he joined the Chester Guild, and began to take an active interest in Spliced Minor ringing, an interest which was to last him for the rest of his life. In 1923 he was one of the band which under the conductorship of James Fernley and the guidance of Rev. A. T. Beeston rang the first 35 -method peal. In 1934, when John Worth got a band together to progress further in the field of multi-method ringing, he was again among the enthusiasts, and along with James Fernley, junior, the link between the old and the new bands. The fact that he was thirty years senior to the rest of the band never affected either them or him. He took his orders from the conductor, and his application to the learning of unfamiliar methods had to be seen to be believed. The writer has had tho time on many a train journey to a peal attempt whiled away while W. W. W. explained his method of cutting down the material to be memorised to the minimum. He was delighted when the band reached the peak of Spliced Treble Bob Minor with a peal in 73 methods nearly 20 years ago. How many miles he jour-1 neyed in search of peals we cannot know, but he was most assiduous in his attendance at practice, and although it was a great rush for him to get to Norbury from Ashton, he was rarely absent from the weekly practice.
He was a keen student of method construction and corresponded regularly with Mr. George Baker. Much of his spare time was devoted to the production of methods, some of which were rung at Norbury, e.g., Manchester Surprise Major and Stockport Surprise Major. He continued this work up to the time of his death and his interest in the problems involved never waned.
His home at 103, Victoria Street, Ashton, was well known to ringers, and many have spent happy hours there being instructed and entertained, for be could tell a good tale. No matter how busy he was, he could always find time to help a learner or a struggling band, and he was always sympathetic towards youth.
For many years he guided the destinies of the Stockport Branch of the Chester Guild as its chairman, and his gift for saying the right word at the right time, allied to his quiet, unassuming yet dignified manner endeared him to all with whom he came into contact.

The Exercise has lost a good member whose Christian life should be a model to us all. May he rest in peace
C. K. L.

AN APPRECIATION

To the average reader, the announcement in the 'Daily Telegraph' of the death of Walter W. Wolstencroft would not be of interest, but to those of us who knew him it was news indecd. To mo it brought back memories of many happy times, and particularly the night of Tuesday, December 4th, 1923, when we had rung the first peal of Minor in 35 methods at Norbury; then the fun we had over the peal board to record it, telling him that his name was awkward and expensive, so whilst everyone else had their full name, Walter had to be content with W. W. Wolstencroft.

For many years Mr. Wolstencroft was in charge of the eight bells at St. Peter's Church, Ashton-under-Lyne, and he was one of the band that rang the 12,240 Kent Treble Bob Maximus at Ashton-under-Lyne Parish Church on April 11th, 1911. Prior to 1921 he had shown, little or no interest in Minor ringing, but an introduction to the Norbury company altered that, and from then onwards his attendance at the Norbury practices was very regular. On January 2nd, 1922, he rang his first peal of Minor, at Norbury, and it was in seven methods. Incidentally, this peal was the last rung by the late Rev. A. T. Beeston, for soon afterwards an ill ness overtook him which necessitated his giving up active ringing.
It had always been Mr. Beeston's ambition to ring a peal in 28 methods, a goal unfortunately he was not to achieve, but he encouraged others to try. Mr. Wolstencroft now was a 'spliced Minor ' enthusiast and took over the rope dropped by Mr. Beeston-the result we know, and no one was more delighted over the successful attempt at 35 methods than the Rev. A. T. B.
It had been Mr. Beeston's custom to organise Saturday afternoon practices at different 6-bell towers in the Stockport District, ending up with a tea party at a local ringer's home. These outings proved very successful and helpful, and when W. W. W. joined the 'spliced ' maniacs, 103, Victoria Street, Ashton-under-Lyne was added to the list where we could have a party, and what parties we had!
Those whose good fortune it was to know Mr. and Mrs. Wolstencroft can have nothing but happy memories of their company and hospitality. Mrs. Wolstencroft took a great interest in ringing and in 1914 was one of the ladies who formed the ladies' band at St. Peter's, Ashion. Just prior to the last war she had an accident that incapacitated her, and in course of time they retired to Stoke Poges and lived with their daughter Ida (Mrs. Hawkins). Mrs. Wolstencroft died a short while ago, and now Walter has joined her.
J. P. F.

MR. WILLIAM H. ASHBY

The death took place on January 21st at his home of Mr. William H. Ashby, aged 82, who was a member of the Church of the Holy Sepulchre, Northampton, bellringer for over 60 years, and a life member of the Northampton Branch of the Peterborough Diocesan Guild.
He was associated with many of the activities in his parish in the past, and to the present generation he had been known for some years as churchwarden. a bellringer, a sidesman and a member of the Parochial Church Council. He was well versed in the history of the Church and had a deep-rooted affection for its traditions.
He loved to visit historical places and churches and his chief delight was to conduct his friends around the Church of the Holy Sepulchre, which he loved with all his heart. His Christian principles were carried into his daily work, impressing all those who came into contact with him.
The funeral service took place at the Church of the Holy Sepulchre, Northampton, on January 25 th, conducted by the Vicar, the Rev. G. P. H Rowson, and was attended by representatives of the local company and the Peterborough Diocesan Guild.
During the evening, the bells which he had rung so often were rung half-muffled by his fellow members, and a quarter peal of 126 Grandsire Triples to his memory was rung before morning service on the following Sunday by Miss D. M. Miller 1, R. Finch 2, Mrs. G. F. Roome 3, Miss J. A. Downing 4, B. Linnell 5, T. Jennings 6, G. F. Roome (conductor) 7. A. G. Burton 8 .

CANON THOMAS BACKHOUSE

Ringers in Lancashire, and particularly his own parish of St. Mary the Blessed Virgin, Radcliffe, have lost a sincere friend by the death on January 22nd of Canon Thomas Backhouse, aged 70 years. He had been ill since early in November.

Canon Backhouse never refused the bells to anyone, whether for a peal attempt or a meeting.

The interment was at Radcliffe on January 26th, the committal being performed by the Suffragan Bishop of Hulme. For the service the bells were rung half-muffled by the local band. May the souls of the faithful departed through the mercy of God rest in peace. T.

OBITUARY-Continued

MR. ALBERT CATTERWELL

The Northern District of the Essex Association, and Sible Hedingham tower in particular (of which he had been captain for about 25 years), lost a devoted friend with the passing of Mr. Albert Catterwell at Walnuttree Hospital, Sudbury, on January 14th, when nearing his 71st birthday.
Albert learned to ring on the now ringable eight at Belchamp Walter when he was 12 years of age. We believe his first peal followed ten years later-conducted by Stedman H. Symonds.
Most of his ringing had been done in Essex, though he was well known in Suffolk, which county be frequently visited.

There is no complete record of the peals Albert rang, though they were on six and eight mainly, and quite varied, including Surprise; Outstanding would be the number 'in hand,' at which there can have been few safer ringers, with any pair, when ringing Kent or Bob Major.
Perhaps, most of all, Mr. Catterwell excelled with his example of regularly attending for service ringing and on practice nights, for bells and ringing were his life. As a captain and conductor we shall have difficulty in ever replacing him or finding one with his enthusiasm and optimism.

The funeral, on January 19th, was attended by many ringers, and half-muffled touches were rung before and after the interment. Among those present were Mr. S. J. Twitchett (Master, Sudbury and Lavenham District) and Mr. F. Bensley, of the Suffolk Guild; whilst included from Essex were Mr. L. W. Wiffen (a life vicepresident), the Master (Mr. R. Heazel), Master of the Northern District (Miss H. G. Snowden), hon. secretary (Mr. H. A. Pratt), along with many other local ringers and friends.

A quarter peal of 1,264 Bob Major, halfmuffied, was rung to Mr. Catterwell's memory on the Tuesday following the funeral by D. Tupper (first quarter) 1, J. H. Brett 2, V. S.
Connell 3. B. W. Pettitt 4, S. Dace 5, E. W. Connell 3. B. W. Pettitt 4, S. Dace 5, E. W. Brown 6, R. Rippingale 7 and T. Bird (conduc-

THE REV. NOEL E. HOPE AN APPRECIATION

The news of the passing of the Rev. N. E. Hope was received with deep regret by members of the East Grinstead and District Guild at their meeting at Frant. Sussex, on February 9th.

It was on June 4th, 1927, that Mr. Hope (as he then was) called a meeting at his home at Place Sands. East Grinstead. Ringers from the surr, sunding districts of Sussex, Kent and Surrey were invited to attend, with the object of forming a Guild of Bellringers, to further the art of change ringing in this area. It was the result of this meeting that the East Grinstead and District Guild of Bellringers was formed. Mr. Hope became the first treasurer of the Guild. and continued in office until he left the -district in 1931 to join the Ministry.
He was then elected a vice-president of the Guild and continued in that capacity until his - death on January 26th. While at East Grinstead. Mr. Hope did much to encourage the younger ringer, and the writer has cause to remember him as one who made it possible for him to ring his first quarter peal. E. J. L.

LATE NEWS

We regret to record the death of Preb. A. J. Hook, former Master of the Bath and Wells - Diocesan Association, which occurred on Feb. 12th. Preb. Hook formerly lived at Stogursey, where the funeral took place on February 14th. He was chaplain to the Quantock Chest Hospital.

MR. WILLIAM BALDRY
One of the most regular Sunday ringers at St. Margaret's Parish Church of Lowestoft until a few years ago, when his doctor advised him to give up ringing, Mr. William Baldry passed away on February 6th at the age of 77 years. He had only rung five peals for the Norwich Diocesa 1 Association, but he was always willing to have a go, and must have lost a large number due to the lack of experience of many of the younger ones of his day.
On February 7th eight members of the Norwich Diocesan Association met at St. Margaret's to attempt a peal as a last tribute to him, but again we failed him after just over an hour's ringing. It was too late to make a fresh start, so as a final tribute to this well-loved old ringer 1.280 Oxford Treble Bob Major was rung by H. W. Easey 1, E. T. Chapman 2, A. Wigmore 3. J. W. G. Kindred 4, R. W. Coates 5, A. W. Bird 6, A. E. Coleman 7, P. Kindred (conductor) 8.

A COURSE OF TRUE LOVE

'HONESTLY, ducks, I never thought it'd go that far. I was just going over the road, and I felt one of my nylons go, so I just bent down to put a dab of varnish on it, you know, to stop it running any further. and I happened to look round, and there was this nobby little car at the side of the road, and him in it, looking as if his eyes would fall out any minute.
'So I just said, " Pardon me, I'm sure. I hope you'll recognise me next time," and he said, "Gosh, what a blue line! I mean, excuse me, miss, but could I give you a lift part of the way?'"
' Well, I wasn't going anywhere particular, but it was a bit damp, and he had lovely wavy hair and ever such nice eyes, sort of big and expressive, like a spaniel or something, and I thought, "Well, it can't do any harm," so he opened the door, and I got in, and I said. "If you're going as far as the Ritz Cinema, I'd be obliged if you'd drop me." He drove on quite quiet for a bit, and then he said, "I say, miss, if you're not mad keen on the flicks, would you care to come along with me for the evening? I think you'd quite enjoy it. I'm just going along for a practice with the boys." Well, I didn't like the sound of it, and I was going to say so, only he explained, "I'm a bellringer. We're always on the lookout for new material. and the moment I saw you I thought to myself I'd like to get you on the end of a rope." So I asked him to stop the car and let me get out, and he came over all confused. and looked at me with those big eyes, and said he hoped he hadn't said anything to offend. Well, of course, after that I just sort of gave in and went.

He stopped outside a church, and we went through a little door. and up an iron ladder. Well, you know that new-line dress I got from Marks, honestly, he made me go first, and I've never been so embarrassed. I didn't know where to look, and when we got up there, all I could see was a lot of fluffy things with stripes hanging from the ceiling and some little old men sitting in a corner and muttering. So I sat down in a corner, too, and presently they all got messing about with ropes, up and down. up and down; you never heard such a clatter. By and by they stopped again, and the dirtiest little man came over to me and said, "You a ringer, Miss? Like a bit o' Stedman?", and I said, "Oh, no, thanks, I only drink Coca-Cola," and my gentleman friend came and said, "She doesn't ring yet. Joe, but she's going to learn," which was news to me.
'So Joe said, "Ah, I'll go up and tie a bell for 'er," which I thought was ever so sweet of him, because after all I don't suppose it's every girl that has a bell tied for her. Well, after that, ducks, you honestly wouldn't believe all the things that happened to me. My friend said, "Catch hold of Sally," and shoved one of the fluffy things into my hand. Then he said. "Go on, pull off, gently, no, a bit harder, no, go on, pull!", but he didn't tell me what it was going to do after that, and I nearly had my arms dragged off. Surprised! Well, it sort of left me and went up through a little hole and came back again with a terrible bang. My friend (his name's Frederick, he won't let me call him Fred for short, says it's not refined) said, "Mind the stay, mind the stay," and, after all, I'd only just met him, I thought that was a bit much. It was awful after that. I didn't know what to do. Every time I tried to let go and walk away he pushed me back and shouted, "Shorten your rope" (he'd given me another bit to hold as well by that time), and he kept grabbing Sally and shoving her back up again till I was nearly dead. Then he stops and says, "That's not the Cathedral method, but it'll do you," and I said, "You're right, it'll do me. I don't want any Cathedral methods after that lot," and he seemed pleased and patted me on the shoulder and said, "Good gir!!" So after that he said he'd take me for a drink, and I said I didn't really, couldn't we go to a milkbar. I knew ever such a nice one with a juke-box, and he rather rushed me down that awful iron ladder then, because he said he didn't think old Joe would ever let me up if the belfry again if he heard me talking like that. He didn't think mach of women anyway, and when could he see me again? -no, not Joe, silly, Frederick, of course!

So I said, "Well, I'm free same time next week. if that suits you; where shall we go?", and he looked quite surprised and said, "Practice again, of course, where else?" and oh, Beryl. I don't know what I'm going to say to Mum, but I'm afraid, like it or not, I'm one of those lady ringers now!'

GUILDFORD DIOCESAN GUILD

Farmham Review Successiul Year
The Farnham District should be in for a very successful year if their annual meeting on February 16th has set a pattern. The meeting, held at Farnham on Saturday, February 16th, was extremely well attended, only one tower in the District being not represented, and there were many visitors from other areas. There was ringing during the afternoon, under the dircetion of the Ringing Master, Mr. Rex Corke.

The Rector, the Rev. H. R. Wilds, conducted the service, during which he welcomed alt visitors. Mr. F. Anthony was the organist, and local ringers formed the choir.

Tea was served in the Owen Hall before the business meeting, when Mr. C. W. Denver, a vice-president of the Guild, presided. Reports were read by the Ringing Master and the secretary, Mr. C. J. Beadle. Both told of a year's good work, with Sunday service ringing being maintained in most towers, and meeting and combined practices well attended. Membership was up, and five peals had been rung for the District-many ringers scoring their 'first.' The treasurer, Mr. R. Mills, submitted the financial report, which showed a: substantial balance.

After balloting, Mr. Rex Corke was reelected Ringing Master and Mr. Tom Page elected as assistant Ringing Master. Other officers were re-elscted.

Seven new members were elected-Farnborough (4), Farnham (2) and Bagshot (1): and two compounding members were elected from Binstead.
An excellent social evening followed, with Mr. R. Whitford, of Aldershot, acting as M.C. During this time it was apparent that the - friendly spirit' fostered in the Farnham District is still very much alive.

A BULWELL COMING-OF-AGE

A speeial 21st birthday peal for Miss Maureen Patrick, who is both a ringer and a Sunday School teacher at St. Mary and All Souls' Parish Church, Bulwell, unfortunately came to grief on January 26th, after only about an hour's ringing. The ringers decided that such an occasion should not go unmarked, and attempted a quarter peal in the same method, Grandsire Triples. This was successfully brought round by David Boden 1, Margaret E. Hill 2, Mrs. A. Simpson 3, Maureen Patrick 4, William L. Exton 5, F. Willian Midwinter 6, Allan Simpson (conductor) 7 and Sydney Adams 8.

The ringers would like to take this opportunity of thanking Mr. and Mrs. Patrick for their kind hospitality following this quarter peal, and congratulate Maureen on her 21st birthday.

HERTS COUNTY ASSOCIATION

The St. Albans District held a meeting at Barnet and Hadley on February 16th. The winter sunshine brought out ringers from Hertfordshire and Middlesex, and both towers were well filled.
Ringing at Barnet took place in the afternoon from 3 until 5 p.m.. when a short business meeting was held in the tower. Members made their various ways for tea and arrived at Hadley at $6 \mathrm{p} . \mathrm{m}$. for more ringing. The Rector welcomed the party and said that this was the first meeting to be held at Hadley since the bells had heen recast and rehung. He also took prayers. Ringing continued until 8 p.m. During the meeting various methods were rung, with rounds for those less proficient.

EAST HARLING RINGERS MARDLE

The East Harling and District Befiringers' Mardle was held on February 16th at the Crown Inn, Kenninghall, Norfolk. Prpceedings were opened at roughly 6 p.m., when eight ringers forgathered at St. Mary's Church, Renninghall, and rang a touch or two to warm up for supper.
Forty-four members and guests sat down to an excellent three-course dinner. The Rev. 0. A. E. Comely, Vicar of Kenninghall, welcomed all and thanked the St. Mary's company for their untiring efforts during the year to form a Sunday service band. He welcomed the chairman (Dr. Paul Jonason) to Kenninghall.
The chairman expressed the thaniss of the assembled company to the Vicar and the Kenninghall members for use of the belis. and hoped that their efforts would be rewarded. Ine Rev. H. G. Lillingston, president of the Norwich Association, was present as guest of honour. The peal board, dated March 23rd, 1783, in St. Mary's Church was mentioned, as it is probably the oldest record of a peal in Norfolk outside Norwich city. Appreciation was again expressed of the excellent 20 years' work put in by Mr. Albert G. Harrison, the retiring secretary of the Southern Branch, and the new secretary, Mr. C. W. F. Phillippo, of Bunwell, was welcomed.

After dinner, touches were rung on handbells, and some excellent stories beautifully recounted by Mr. C. E. Last. Well refreshed and in good spirits, the party finished at 11 p.m. P.J.

ROTHLEY, LEIC. -On Feb. 6th, 1.260 Grandsire Doubles: P. J. Wilkinson (first cuarter) 1. S. M. Stone (first 'inside') 2, N. Bishon 3, R. M. Brewin 4. B. S. Paync (cond.) 5. P. Plowright 6. A bitthday compliment to the 3rd ringer.

Christ Church, Southgate. N.14, band ring their quarter peals chiefly for church services and special occasions connected with the church. At the annual meeting of ringers the Vicar (the Rev. C. H. The number of changes in the peal of Stedman Caters rung at Norwich on January 29 th (see 'R.W.', page 98) was 5.079 .
The Cathedral bells of St. Saviour's, Southwark. will be on the air next Sunday during Children's Hour at about 5.5 p.m.
The peal of St. Clement's C.B. Major rung at New Mills, Derbyshire, on January 12 th was 5,056 changes and not 5,040 as printed.

Miss F. E. Wyman regrets she will be unable to arrange a Sussex ringing tour this year. She would like to take this opportunity of thanking all those who have helped her to make them so enjoyable for the last eight years.

The quarter peal at Shirley, Worcs. on February 3rd marked the completion of 55 years ${ }^{\circ}$ ringing service to the church for A. Morris. 45 years for G. Bailey and 25 years for Mrs. Watts. The total service of the band of six to Shirley Church was 155 years.
The recent meeting of the Beverley and District Society received a very full report in the 'Beverley Guardian.' No doubt the fact that there are two very fine rings of ten in Beverley provides a great attraction, and under the able leadership of their president, Mr. A. E. Scllars, the ringers of the Beverley District will continue to make good progress.

KENT COUNTY ASSOCIATION

Lewisham District

The ancient Church of St. Nicholas, Chislehurst, was visited for the first quarterly meeting of the year, and 50 members enjoyed a good afternoon and evening's use of the bells, under the direction of Miss M. R. Andrews, Ringing Master.
Owing to the absence of the Rector on Diocesan business, no service was held, so the order of the day was ringing, tea, business meeting and further ringing. All degrees of talent were catered for, rounds and Bristol Surprise equally attracting ready hands.

Mr. E. Barnett (Crayford) presided at the business meeting, exhibiting that quality of being a genial martinet, so apt-though difficult to attain-for the purpose. Eleven ringers were elected members of the Association, and the elections of three members were ratified.
Mr. A. S. Richards read a report of proceedings at the committee meeting held at Maidstone on November 24th. which was adopted with a vote of thanks.
West Wickham was chosen as the place of next meeting, to be held on April 27th. It was also agreed tentatively, to hold the summer meeting at Crayford, and the annual meeting at Dartford.
The passing of two aged and long-serving members of the District-Mr. G. H. Daynes, of Deptford, and Mr. I. Emery, of Bromleywas maried in the traditional manner. after tributes to their memory had been paid by Mr. E. A. Barnett. Mr. J. Dafters and Mr. P. Spice.

Members were unanimous in congratulating Mr. F. J. Cullum on his appointment as Master of the Royal Cumberland Youths-the second successive Master of that august body to be recruited from the Lewisham District. Mr. Cullum suitably responded, and informed the meeting that another of its number, Mr. J. L. Morris (Bexley). had been appointed assistant secretary to the Cumberlands.

Another pleasant duty, eagerly discharged. was to congratulate the chairman on the completion of 60 years' membership of the Association. Acknowledging this esteem for him, Mr. Barnett spoke modestly without self-denigration. pointed with pertinent reminiscences, adequately without tautology.

Votes of thanks to the Rector and to Mr. Draper, of the local band, ended the business.

WETERAN Albert Walker surrounded by pupils who rang on February 7th at the annual foundation service for schools of the foundation of King Edward VI in Birmingham. The service was at St. Martin's Church, and Mr. Albert, Walker, Mr. John Pinfold and one or two other St. Martinis ringers were there to assist.
Ringing was first on the middle eight, in which seven of the ringers were from the schools, and there was one 'regular.' The back eight were then rung by four St. Martin's and four schools ringers. The ringing was rounds and ended with a few plain courses of Grandsire Doubles, which included four of King Edward's ringers.

Of the seven schools attending the service four were represented in the ringing, but they had never rung together before as a band. However, five of them are regular ringers at Handsworth, the other two coming from Harborne and Great Barr respectively.

This may not seem a very great achievement (writes A. N. S.), but considering that four out of seven of the King Edward ringers had never rung at St. Martin's before, the bells of which are not the easiest for beginners, and of the remaining three, onc had broken a stay there the previous Sunday (see 'Belfry Gossip,' February 22nd), perhaps it was not too unworthy an effort.

A Record Attendance At Wirral Branch Dinner

The ninth annual dinner and dance of the Wirral Branch of the Chester Diocesan Guild, held on February 2nd at the Coach and Horses Inn, Moreton, attracted a record gathering of 160 ringers and friends.

The company began to forgather in, the private lounge bar at 5.15 p.m., and prominent amongst the early arrivals was 'Old Joe, from Southport, who was soon decrying absurd licensing laws which kept him thirsty for approximately two minutes after his arrival.

Guests of honour were Rev. C. R. and Mrs. Whereat. of Oxon (who recently returned after a lengthy sojourn in Australia). The president, Mr. J. Cooke, was supported by Mr. W. R Stanley (chairman). Mr. T. Rogers (Ringing Master). Mr. A. J. Martin (hon. secretary), Mr. C. B. Pemberton (assistant Ringing Master) and Mr. and Mrs. G. Pemberton (vice-presidents). Mr. A. Houston, of West Kirby, officiated as toastmaster. Ringers were present from Birkenhead St. Mary's, Bidston, Bromborough, Bebington. Moreton, Neston. Oxton, West Kirby. Wallasey St. Hilary. Wallasey St. Nicholas. Upton, Woodchurch, Liverpool and Southport.

After the loyal toast the Rev. C. R. Whercat proposed the toast of the evening. 'The Wirral Branch.' He spoke of the great service rendered by ringers and of the very unostentatious way in which they went about their business. Speaking from his own experience, he had found that ringers carried out their duties conscientiously and with the minimum of fuss, and if other Church organisations ran as smoothly a parson's life would be much less onerous. The toast of 'The Ladies ' was proposed by the hon. secretary, and Mrs. S. D. Sutton made an admirable response.
Speeches were interspersed with entertainment provided by Wirral Handbell Ringers, Mr. C. Hallwood (bass) and Mr. J. Irvinc (comedian), whilst Mrs. N. Brown acted as accompanist.

After a short interval, whilst the ballroom was cleared, dancing continued until midnight with but a short break for light refreshment.

The committee would like to thank Mr. and Mrs. G. Pemberton for floral decorations, the generous Wirral ringers for raffe prizes and other gifts. ticket sellers and all who supported this function to make it such an outstanding success.

A PEAL IN EVERY RINGING TOWER IN LEICESTERSHIRE

MR. ERNEST MORRIS TELLS HIS EXPERIENCES

$I^{N}$N 1906 a youth rang his first peal and his father was mightily pleased. Calling the boy into the church one day he (the father) requested him to make their name respected and revered in the church they both served, and in the ringing circies they both loved. That youth was Ernest Morris, and how he reacted is shown by his achievements both in the church and in the belfry.
In the former-in due time-not only did he follow his father as verger and tower keeper but served as sidesman, on Parochial Church Council, on Diocesan Advisory Committee, and Clerk of the Select Vestry. In ringing circles he has excelled by taking part in more peals than any other living ringer (and these include many record long peals), and now has achieved his life's ambition by ringing a full 5,000 in every possible tower in his native Leicestershire, and -laus Deo-his father has lived to see him do it! At nearly 90 years of age. Josiah Morristhe rhythm king, as he was affectionately called, because of the wonderful way he handled the tenors in many handbell peals-still retains an active interest in all bell matters, although now confined to bed in hospital.
In achieving this remarkable record in going around the Leicestershire towers. Ernest Morris has met with many adventures both grave and gay, and here in his own words is a very bricf account of some of these.

SHOCKING CONDITIONS

In my quest to ring thesc peals I have had some very difficult and strenuous tasks, for we found in some of the outlying towers with five and six bells much neglect and shocking conditions in both bell-chambers and ringing rooms. In some cases almost unringable bells through the bearings remaining unoiled for years; whecls and fittings loose: ropes in shocking condition, and the dust and dirt of years with bird droppings everywhere. However, in most cases. after much hard work in clearing debris, mending wheels, ropes, etc.. then the shedding of many tears and much sweat, blistered hands and wet shirts. we have successfully rung full peals. In this connection $I$ remember with gratitude my old Ratby and Groby friends, my Billesdon friends, for helping and taking me around as well as many others too numerous to mention. We had some happy times, many adventures, and lots of fun!

My first peal (in 1906) was rung 100 miles from home-at St. Andrew's, Grimsby, and my first in Leicestershire appropriately began with ' $A$ ' at Anstcy. Here was an octave recently augmented from five which had three awful bells, 6.7.8, hopelessly out of tune. In later years these three were recast. the tenor now being the only one in England with the name King Edward VIII. I took part in many subsequent peals here the most outstanding being one described by the late Samuel Cotton as the best ever rung, viz.: Double Norwich, with my dad on tenor, and I called it from sixth. It was his 100th and my 68th peal, the composition 5,168.

MY FIRST DRINK OF BEER!

Like that of its sister church of King's Norion some half-mile distant. a contemplated peal at Galby (6) was fraught with difficulties. The church was rebuilt in 1741 by Squire Fortrey, who gave five bells, to which he added a sixth in 1746 . These hang in the original frame, and -like all old bells-take a full swing from the canons, necessitating huge wheels and long ropes. No peal was ever rung on these bells till old Joe Norton, of Billesdon, and his 'boys ' determined to get one for me. They went over several times to tighten up bolts. wedge the frame, mend wheels, take ropes, etc.. and an attempt made. Minor was not suggested owing to the cupboard between treble and tenor, who never see each other while ringing. On April 2nd, 1927, a peal of Grandsire Doubles was successfully rung in 3 hours 2 minutes. All had to strip for the job: the second man (Joe) stood among the coal slack and rubbish heap: the rest simply had a 'do or die 'look, and with two Geary brothers on 3-4 and two Ernests on 5-6 the peal was rung. The lighting accommodation consists on an upright bar fixed in a huge stone with a couple of candles on top! The belfry is on the ground floor of bare bricks littered with odds and ends not wanted in church.
However, having rung Doubles, the band were not satisfied but must try Minor, so the following January they again went. and after 3 hours 12 minutes' real tough going, accomplished the second peal-these being still the only two rung there. During this peal a roadman insisted on sitting in the belfry, promising not to disturb us. He remained about two hours or more, then got up and to my great consternation went up the belfry steps. I was ringing the tenor and saw his feet, which did not disappear out of sight but turned round and remained about six steps up. They never shifted till the end of the peal, when the man came down. Asked what he had been doing, he said he had a bottle of beer in his pocket and was dying for a drink. He dare not get it out in front of us, so went and sat on the steps to finish it off. He had another bottle which he handed round, but I refused at first-never tasted alcohol in my life! I was pretty well cxhausted after the peal, and there being no possible means of getting refreshment nearer than Billesdon, I was pressed to have a 'swig' like medicinc-it was grand! I wonder if anyone else ever had their first drink of beer in a church?

LOCAL REHANGING OF BELLS

In my peal book, regarding the first peal at Barkby (then 5) in 1927, I add: 'A most arduous task, but "labor omnia vincit" and state: 'A notice in the belfry inaptly says, ", rehung on the latest pattern roller bearings," by a local firm of engineers-the band only rang the peal through grim determination and long suffering, the "go" being dreadful and the bells most difficult to handle. This is a case of the proverbial watch going to the blacksmith."
Other cases where a local firm of clock makers were employed to rehang bells are at Church Langton (8). Swithland (6) and Appleby Magna (6). The first named are unpealable, and the only octave in the diocese I have never rung a peal. Swithland is the only place where my father had to give up a peal-after two hours, but where I later rang the tenor (hung unevenly) to Minor after a very great effort. These bells are now on hall-bearings. Appleby Magna bells have never been rung to a Minor peal, but after shedding much sweat and many tears I have rung peals of Doubles on them. This shows the foolishness of employing firms who do not understand the work.

Arneshy (5) we found in a dilapidated state, and much oiling, tightening up of bolts, etc., had to be done before a peal attempt could be made. One bell had no stay so I rang this to the first peal. Later on, Dr. Stedman Poole desired a peal here, so we obliged, and did he have any medals? -hands full!

Aylestone old six were a tough proposition. with long draught of rope and no guides, and heavy going. However, after several abortive attempts I rang the tenor, and called the only peal ever rung on them. Of recent years these have been rehung with new fittings and two trebles added, also rope guides added, and form a nice octave.

Asfordby ( 6 ) are rung from the ground floor, open on three sides to the church, with a very Jong draught of rope.
The first peal on them was no easy matter, but Alban Disney did a good job on the tenor, and the local blacksmith and carrier-a hefty fellow-put the fourth (an awfully false-struck bell) through and we rang a good peal. Since then these bells have been rehung and on ballbearings. with rope guides below, and are a real grand ring.

To accomplish the first peal on Willoughby Waterleys (5) some preliminary work had to be put in by the late Harry Webb (who beautifully carved many slate peal tablets), who spliced ropes and cleared the place gencrally, and H . Bird, who partially cleared the refuse and dirt deposited on the bells and wheels by his feathered namesakes-the birds! While this peal was in progress-a very strenuous jobthe Rector was given a copy of Standard Methods to digest. and although he knew nothing of change-ringing, the following lines he composed on the spot shows his ready grasp of the technical terms:-

- Treble to Tenor a Snapping

Up ' and 'down' and ' in" and 'out, Do not ' course' if you have gout. Hunting, 'leading,' 'changes,' 'strokes,' Do not think that these are jokes. Dodge the middle, "behind," before," Be a 'Bob" but not a bore: Else climb down from up the dome.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

UNRINGABLE TOWERS

Dear Sir,-Sorting through the mass of evidence that I have uncovered during the past two years, I have come to the following conclusions regarding the towers which are usually marked 'UR.'

There are now no unringable rings of 12 , but there are:-

\begin{array}{rl}
5 & \text { rings of } 10 \\
73 \text { rings of } 8 & 216 \text { rings of } 6 \\
216 \text { rings of } 5
\end{array}

making a grand total of 465 , including 21 in Wales and two in Scotland.

The greatest concentration is in East Anglia, there being 43 in Suffolk and 54 in Norfolk. This is amazing, as no other county approaches anything like these two; the next highest on the list are Gloucestershire and Wiltshire, both with 24.

It should be borne in mind that this list is comprehensive, as it includes many towers in which a 'Parsons Gay' applies. Many readers would be surprised at the many towers which have 'UR' Parsons. At the other end of the scale are towers such as Layston, Herts, and Swineshead, Beds, where the fittings are in an advanced state of decay. There is also a ring in which the bells were hung with all ringing fittings, but owing to the frame's construction it is impossible to pull the bells up. (Yes, this is true!)

I hope that this may be of use to those who keep statistics.-Yours, etc.,

ERNEST J. ROWE.

THE HOAR CROSS PEAL

Dear Sir,-The peal rung at Hoar Cross on November 24th, 1956, seems to have caused quite a number of people to rush into print because the footnote 'Quickest peal on the bells' was added.

As conductor of this peal I was responsible for submitting this particular footnote based on information which was supplied locally-information which has since proved to be untrue. I should like to apologise for making the claim although the only way to find out is to make the claim and then sec if anyone has a prior claim-as in this case.

There was absolutely no intention on the part of the band to ring a quick peal, as we had all the afternoon and evening in which to ring it. Mr. D. P. Jones stated that he had to employ every device he knew to ring a 720 in 30 minutes. Why, I do not know, as there were no gymnastic efforts on the part of our tenor ringer in achieving a time of a little under Mr. Jones' 30 minutes per 720 . The majority of the band, 1 must admit, are not used to ringing slowly, but that did not detract from the quality of the ringing. The peal was in eight methods and included were an extent each of Double Oxford and St. Clement's, both of which call for hard work when working on the front.
A person like Mr. Jones ringing the tenor in $3 \frac{3}{2}$ hours obviously is not ringing the bellthe bell is ringing him. Mr. Jones' remark that he was nursing the ringing is only an excuse. Mr. A. P. Cannen has reminded us that a peal was rung in 3 hours and 17 minutes and (he tells us) was a well-struck peal. Was Mr. Jones' peal? If so, the front bells must have found it extremely hard work to hold them up for $3 t$ hours. It also meant that Mr. Jones was free-wheeling along without any effort while his colleagues did all the work.-Yours faithfully,
South Wigston.

FOUR-BELL TOWERS

Dear Sir,-I should like to support the surggestion by D. P. Jones that rings of four bells, if hung for ringing, might at some future time be included in "The Bellringer's Guide to the Church Bells of Britain.' There may be quite a number of such rings in the country, though perhaps widely separated.

One exists in this district, about three miles from where I live, viz., Barkham, Berks, where there used to be regular band of ringers, all members of the Oxford Diocesan Guild. I believe I am right in saying that the bells are the product of Warner's old Cripplegate foundry.

Years ago we used to hold Guild practices there to encourage the local band, and much enjoyed our humble extents of Bob Minimus. As Mr. Jones points out. one never knows if, given an interested incumbent in the parish. the bells may one day be augmented to a ring of five or even six.
One hopes that Mr. Dove may feel disposed to take an interested view of this suggestion.
w. J. PAICE.

Wokingham.

Dear $\operatorname{Sir},-1$ was very interested in the letter from Mr. Derek Jones concerning four-bell towers, and agree that a list of such towers where the bells are in a ringable condition would be both interesting and worth while, if only from the point of view of raising local interest and enthusiasm towards augmentation, etc. I anpend, for the information of Mr. Jones and others who may he interested, a list of ten four-bell towers in which I have had the pleasure of ringing, and no doubt others can add considerably to this short list:-
Burrough-on-the-Hill, Leics.-Tenor about 8 cwt. An excellent ring by Taylors, in good ringing order.
Margaretting, Essex.-A pre-Reformation ring, tenor about 8 cwt ., hung on ball bearings in a five-bell frame. Going order very good. Newtown, Hants.-Tenor about 7 cwt. Cast about 1880. Going order fair.
Over Compton, Somerset.-Tenor about 15 cwt. Hung on ball bearings in wooden frame. In quite good going order, although tower movement is considerable.
movement is considerabie.
Slindon, Sussex.-Tenor about 8 cwt . Going order fair.

Trotton, Sussex.-Tenor about 9 cwt . An excellent ring by Taylors, in H frame. Going order good.
Tealby, Lincs.-Tenor about 14 cwt. Hung in six-bell frame on ball bearings. Going order excellent.

West Chinnock, Somerset.-Tenor only about 4 cwt., but a beautiful little ring of excellent tone.
Welby, Lincs.-Tenor about 10 cwt . Hung in extremely small tower, but going order excellent.

Yapton, Sussex.-Tenor about 7 cwt. Cast by Gilletts in 1909 after a fire in the tower. Hung in H frame with pits for six bells. Going order good.
I hope very much that Mr. R. H. Dove may one day be able to add a supplement to his excellent 'Ringer's Guide, to include all towers containing 'fours', which are in ringable con-dition.-Yours sincerely,

PETER N. BOND.

WHERE RUNG ?

Dear Sir,-I was interested to read Mr. A. W. Rolfe's comment that the peal at Fornham All Saints in November, 1956, was not the first on the bells, as my article suggested. I have looked at my records again (and checked whether 1 had inadvertently entered the peal under Fornham St. Martin) and find no trace of one. I wonder, therefore, if it was ever published. However, I should be most grateful if Mr. Rolfe would kindly send me particulars of this peal of 1927 or 1928.

Whilst writing, I would also be most grateful if readers would kindly help me with the following peals. The details given when published were not sufficient for me to pin-point the towers even by secondary information (dedication of church, weight of tenor, etc.) :-

February 4th, 1890. Grandsire Triples; tenor $14 \frac{3}{4}$ cwt.; Lancashire Association; 'Bell News," page 532.

April 10th, 1948. Doubles (three methods) : Sandhurst, Kcnt, St. Gilcs' (this is probably St. Nicholas': but I would like confirmation): tenor 7 cwt.; Hawkhurst and District; page 181.

October 11 th, 1952. Bob Maior; Blackpool, All Hallows': tenor $10 \frac{1}{2}$ cwt.; Lancashire Association, page 626.

COLLEGE OF CAMPANOLOGY

Dear Sir,-Writing as a student of the College of Campanology, I should like to express both mine and my colleagues' views upon its merits.

Previously, we were a band of self-taught ringers, literally going round in circles getting nowhere. There was obviously a necessity for expert tuition to enable us to progress. The College of Campanology has met that need by some of its tutors conducting practices in our tower. There was no doubt in our minds after their first visit that the course would be a success for it brought new light and enthusiasm to us all. Needless to say, there were many technical faults in our ringing action to be corrected, but this was tackled in a good spirit and we soon realised that economy of effort was necessary to become a good ringer.
The Manual of Instruction may seem elementary and unnecessary to those concerned with peal ringing, yet I wonder how many of those people have ever considered all the points that it lays down, and practised them in their ringing. To us it is a foundation of basic factsa necessity in any field of learning. Our good wishes to all who are following this course of instruction.-Yours faithfully,

MIDDLESEX COUNTY ASSOCIATION

North and East District

The annual meeting was held at St. James', Clerkenwell, on February 9th, when over 50 were present. Ringing also took place at St. Mary Magdalene, Holloway, in the evening. A service in church was conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. C. T. M. Browne), with Mr. W. Prockson as organist. The usual high quality tea was prepared by ladies, including Mrs. and Miss M. Prockson and Mrs. R. Deal.
Mr. H. G. Hart, vice-president, took the chair at the business meeting. In his report, the District secretary said that 11 meetings had been held, with an average attendance of 30 ringers representing nine affiliated towers. Five members had been lost through death. Twenty-six new members had been elected. Recognition of long service was recorded when congratulations were offered to three members of the Southgate band. Messrs. Wade, Glasscock and Tomlinson, upon the completion of 60,57 and 52 years' service as ringers respectively. Appreciation was shown of the cfforts of Messrs. E. Kilby and A. Warren and the Misses S. Clayton and G. Newcombe as 'Ringing World representatives.
A total of 118 quarter pcals was rung, mostly for services, and this figure is the highest for the last nine years. Restoration work had been completed at Monken Hadley, where the ring of eight was recast and rehung on ball-bearings in the old frame. The statement of accounts showed a healthy position, with a balance of $\ddagger 358 \mathrm{~s}$. 6d. carried to the Assoziation's central fund. In addition, a total of $£ 73 \mathrm{~s}$. 9d. was collected for the Bells Restoration Fund.
Officers for the cnsuing year are Mr. A. Cutler, Master; Mrs. H. G. Hart. assistant; Mr. T. J. Lock. secretary; Mr. C. F. Neal, assistant. Mr. J. R. Mayne was elected auditor in place of Mr. R. F. B. Speed, to whom thanks were accorded and who has now left London.

The provisional election of Mr. S. E. Darmon (Northwood) was ratified, and the following new members were elected: The Misses P. C. Clark and M. J. Reed (Kingsbury), Miss J. M. Morrison (Wood Green), Miss A. Aldridge and M. Stanyon. J. Wallman (Southgate). D. Gray (Upper Clapton). T. Carless, J, Jobber, L. J. North (Stanmore) and J. Coles (St. Mary, Walthamstow). A full list of proposed meetings on the second. Saturday in each month was arranged. which includes the Association's 60th anniversary, service and dinner on June 8th.
Thanks were accorded to all incumbents and members for providing facilities for this and other mectings, and for all ringing oscasions.

ST. JOHN'S, HILLINGDON

The St. John's, Hillingdon, Guild of Ringers held its annual dinner at the Chequers Hotel, Uxbridge. on February 1st. Especially welcome amone the 52 members and friends present were the Vicar. the Rev. F. C. Tyler, who had just returned from convalescence. Mr. W. H. Coles, now happily back in the belfry after his accident in September, and Mr. and Mrs. Davies, who were visitors from America.
In proposing the health of the Guild, the Vicar said that while in hospital he could hear the bells of St. John's. and they had been a source of inspiration and comfort to him during his long illness. Mr. Davies replied to the toasi of 'The Visitors.' He said that. as an American, he felt honoured to be invited to a function connected with so English an art as changeringing. The technicalities of ringing. he said, had remained a closed book to him. but the art seemed to make its adherents such amiable people that it was a pity that ringing was not made a "compulsory subject" for would-be heads of State of all nationalitics!

The evening finished with a course of Grantsire Caters on handbells. song. a violin solo and a piano duet.

CISTERCIAN BELL AT MARKET DRAYTON

From Los Angeles, Mr. Ernest Weatherby sends us this interesting photograph of the old Grammar School bell of Market Drayton, Salop, his home town.
This bell was cast by the Brothers of the Cistercian Abbey of Combermere at the same time as the tower was built by them, in 1325, and its weight is stated to be 20 cwt . After the Reformation the bell was taken out, and in 1555 was placed in the Grammar School, which had recently been built and endowed by Sir Rowland Hill, who was at that time Lord of the Manor and Lord Niayor of London.

In 1931 new schools were built and the Grammar School was closed and converted into flats. The bell was taken out and stored in St. Mary's Church tower, Market Drayton, and when the bells were taken out to be recast it was rung for all services. It is still chimed from the bottom of the tower for daily services and for the last five minutes before Sunday services. So the old bell is still doing duty.

HELSTON'S RESTORED BELLS

By REV. A. S. ROBERTS
We read recently of the restoration of the bells of St. Michacl's, Helston. and it is rather remarkable that this church should have had four rings of bells in 189 years. The very firse mention of bells at Helston is found in the inventory of church goods ordered by Edward VI when John Rekynner. John Godolphin and John Killigrew were appointed Commissioners for the King for this purpose. It is recorded thus: 'Chapell of St. Michael in the borough towne of Helston in the parisse off Saint Wendron, Item three bellys hanging in the towte. Item ij sacring bellis.' No details of thesc bells are known.

The town Parish Church of St. Michacl, Helston, with its 96 ft .-high tower, was rebuilt by ilie last Earl of Godolphin in 1763. It is no longer connected with Wendron, a large rural parish on the outskirts, which has a ring of six. Four years after the church was rebuilt the Earl gave a ring of six. These werc cast by Mears. The tenor weighed 17 cwt . and was inscribed: "These six bells were the gift of the Right Honourable Francis Lord Godolphin, Anno 1767. Hugh Rogers, Esq.. Mayor.'

In 1825 the six were completely recast, and in Cornwall at the Copperhouse Foundry, Hayle. From 1825 to 1832 this foundry cast about 17 bells for Cornwall, and the Helston bells seem to have been their only complete ring. These bells were all dated, as was the custom of the foundry, with the day of the month and year. Treble to tenor they were dated June 30th, 1825. Treble, second and tenor were inscribed with the churchwardens' names (T. W. James and R. Bennets), with the addition on the tenor of that of the Mayor, John Borlse, Esq. The second and tenor also had a lion's head within a circular cable border. The diameter of the tenor was $40 \frac{3}{8}$ inches, which means the tenor was three or four hundredweight lighter than the previous one.

In 1905 there was another complete restoration. Messrs. Taylor and Co. provided a new ring of eight, tenor 12 cwt . 1 qr .23 lb . These bells, hung on one level, were always considered a splendid ring. Two or three years ago it was found that rust had got inio the foundation steel girders, and it was decided to rehang the bells, and to put in foundation beams of teak. It was also decided to provide a new tenor. This means that the old treble has been broken up and the metal used in the new tenor, which weighs a few pounds short of 16 cwt . in $F$. The second and sixth bells of the former peal have been tuned a half-note flatter. The cast-iron framework has been reconstructed to carry this larger ring. Ball bearings have been provided throughout. Because of the larger tenor two bells have been hung above six.

When the old steel foundation girders were to be taken out it was found they were so firmly grouted into the tower walls that there would be great difficulty in doing so, and they were left in position, which meant that the whole bell framo had to go higher in the tower, and the whole ring is now high up in the rather large number of louvres. It is open to question whether this is ideal for the sound of the ring outside. It seems a pity now that the ring was not lowered in the tower, and the ringing chamber made on the floor below the present one.

Helston now has a fine ring, but there seems something a little different in ringing there. No doubt it is that this heavier ring is higher up in an unbuttressed tower. The work has been well done by Messrs. J. Taylor and Co.

PREBENDARY A. J. HOOK

On February 11th, at the age of 79 years, the Rev. Preb. Arthur James Hook, M.A., a great friend of ringers, passed to his rest. With the exception of a period during World War I., when he was honorary chaplain to the Forces, he spent his clerical life as curate, priest-incharge and rector in Somerset, his last living being that of Wrington, and his last active work as chaplain to the Quantock Hospital. He was, until his retirement from Wrington in 1945, a Prebendary in Wells Cathedral.
He did not start ringing until fairly late in life, but he was always interested in ringers and ringing and was the Master of the Bath and Wells Diocesan Association for cight years. One instance of his devotion was the fact that at an advanced age he drove some 90 miles to Marksbury, where the ringers wished to have their banner dedicated. Always he was an unfailing source of inspiration and spiritual strength.

So, under the shadow of Quantock hills, he was buried at Stogursey. The service was conducted by his son-in-law, the Rev. E. R. Sholl, Vicar of Stogursey. The Bath and Wells Diocesan Association was represented at the funeral by Mr. F. Sweet (Ringing Master of the Bridgwater Branch) in the unavoidable absence of the Master and general secretary, and the Branch by Mr. G. Duckham, of Stockland. No doubt more would have been present if longer notice had been possible.

A half-muffled quarter peal was rung at Stogursey Priory on the day of the funeral. The bells in other towers in the Diocese were also rung half-muffled.

MR. WALTER PRIOR

With regret we announce the death of Mr. Walter Prior. of Stansted. Essex, at the age of 88 , which took place in the Herts and Essex General Hospital, Bishop's Stortford, on February 9th. He had one of his legs amputated about four years ago, which ended a long ringing career.

Walter was an excellent ringer and striker in all methods. He was always ready to give a helping hand and was good company with all his ringing friends. He had rung approximately 150 peals in the following methods: Bob Major, Treble Bob, Double Norwich, Superlative, New Cumberland, New Cambridge, Old Cambridge, Bristol and London.

He was elected a member of the Ancient Society of Collcge Youths on December 26th, 1898, and was also a member of the Ely Diocesan Guild, the Essex Association and Hertfordshire Association. Walter rang most of his peals together with his brother, William, at St. Mary's, Stansted, and St. Michael's, Bishop's Stortford.

On February 12th the coffin was resting in St. John's Church, where he was a chorister for many years. Here the ringers of Stansted and Bishop's Stortford paid their last tribute. At St. Mary's Church the bells were rung halfmuffled to Kent Treble Bob Minor (tenor covering) by J. Foreman 1, R. Hayden 2, F. Bird (conductor) 3, H. Watt 4, F. Tharby $5, \mathrm{H}$. Bird 6, H. M. White 7.

The funeral took place at St. Mary's Church on February 13 th , and on Thursday evening ringers from Potter Street. Harlow, Stansted, and St. Michael's. Bishop's Stortford, rang, with bells half-muffled, a quarter peal of his favourite method, Stedman Triples. The ringers were: R. Hayden 1, H. Bird 2, H. Watts 3. F. Bird 4, F. Tharby 5, W. Wheeler 16. S.
Clarks (conductor) 7, T. Camps 8. Ringers present at the funeral were F. Tharby, H. Watt: and P. A. F. Chalk.

MR. W. W. WOLSTENCROFT

The funeral service for Mr. Walter W. Wolstencroft, for 50 years captain and towerkeeper of St. Peter's, Ashton-under-Lyne, took place at Stoke Poges on February 15th. He was buried in the same grave as his wife, who had shared his love of bells.

The tower bells were rung muffled for the service, which was attended by many ringers. These included the Rev. E. S. C. Lowman (chairman of the E. Berks and S. Bucks Branch, Oxford Diocesan Guild), Mr. A. Cox (Branch Ringing Master) and Mr. A. D. Barker (Guild treasurer, also representing the Ancient Society of College Youths). At the graveside a touch on handbells was rung by A. D. Barker 1-2, Mrs. A. D. Barker 3-4, W. Welling 5-6, W. Kenley 7-8.

Floral tributes were received from Windsor Parish Church and Curfew Tower: friends at Slough, Old Windsor and Stoke Poges; Miss Gudgin and the Fulmer ringers: Ringing friends in Lancashire and Cheshire; the Bowdon and Stockport Branch of the Chester. Diocesan Guild: Mr. and Mrs. C. K. Lewis and Mr. and Mrs. R. Elkins (Altrincham); his two great friends-Mr. Frank Sinkins and Mr. H. Worsfold.

APPRECIATION

I first met Walter W. Wolstencroft in 1937, when I left home to work in Lancashire. was given an introduction to him from the Loughborough Bell Foundry, where I had just learned to handle a bell.

Walter Wolstencroft taught me the beginnings of change ringing, and I was a member of his band until war broke out. He was a perfect gentleman, and many were the hours I spent in his company and that of his wife, both at meetings at church and in his home. He was a most devout churchman and devoted to St. Peter's, Ashton. The bells were rung twice every Sunday-by a band of boys and girlsand many were the times when he kept us all 'right.' He proposed me as a member of my first Guild-the Chester Diocesan. It was not until after the war that I was able to ring my first peal with him though, and that through the kindness of a later instructor of mine at Wimborne (St. Giles'), Dorset.

It was W. W. W. who introduced me to many of my present friends, and I have a memorable vision of him turning in Manchester Town Hall tenor to Kent Maximus whilst I rang the 2 nd with someone behind me.

He was a man of extremely high principles, a teetotaller and a non-smoker, a man of the highest integrity as well as being a member of the choir, Sunday School and other organisations.

B.A.O.R.

E. F. M. SAMSON (Maj.).

As secretary of the Watford District of the Hertford County Association, I should like to express on behalf of the District its sympathy on the death of Mr. W. W. Wolstencroft, of Stoke Poges.

He was a most frequent and well-loved visitor to many of the District's meetings, and it was obvious to all who knew him that he enjoyed every minute of the ringing and also the topical conversation at tea time. Invariably he used to travel by a Green-Rover bus ticket and he often recommended this method for travelling to and from meetings; he was so aptly given the name of 'Pet-Rover' by one of the District's members.

I feel quite sure that his presence and ringing ability at meetings was an inspiration to all who saw him, and certainly to the younger ringers. He will be sadlv missed.

KENNETH R. DUNSTAN.

Mr. J. Burgess, of Friezland, writes: "Please let me add my note to the many references I am sure you will receive. Walter was ever faithful and an inspiration to us all. He was never happier than when he had a tower full of learners. Yes, Minor and Treble Boh methods. I shall always remember him.

MR. WALTER ROBINSON

The death occurred on January 12 th of Mr. Walter Robinson, a member of All Saints, Northampton.

Mr. Robinson, a native of Barton Seagrave, near Kettering, in his younger days was a ringer for some years at Bolsover, Derbyshire, and rang in several peals there. He returned to his native county to ioin the Northamptonshire Constabulary: on retirement he came to live in Northampton.
He gave loyal service to the All Saints' company. Walter, as he was always affectionately known, loved his ringing, and was a keen. gardener. He will be sadly missed by his. fellow ringers. He was a member of the National Guild of Police Ringers and, I think, a founder member.

On January 15 th, the day of his funeral, as a mark of respect, : half-muffled touches of Stedman Triples were rung in the evening at All Saints' by members of All Saints' and St. Peter's: W. J. Allen, W. H. Austin, T. Bass, F. Brown, W. J. Dove, F. Farey, W.' G. Farey, E. Foster and W. R. Parker.
W. J. D.

MR. C. HENRY HARDING

The Bedfordshire Association has lost a faithful friend and ringer in the person of Mr. C. Henry Harding, of 2, Grange Road, Blunham, who has passed away at the early age of 42 .

Mr. Harding was at. work as usual on February 22 nd, but was taken ill about 9 oclock in the evening and removed to Bedford Hospital. where he died early the next morning from cercbral hæmorrhage.

Mr. Harding was unmarried, but great sympathy will be felt for his fiancee, Miss Joan Arkinstall, of Enfield, Middlesex. K. M. L.

MR. ARTHUR H. HAYWARD
The death, on February 2Ist, is announccd with regret of Mr. Arthur H. Hayward, of Wilton, Taunton, one of the grand "old men" of the Taunton Deanery and a member of the Wilton band of Surprise ringers which was so prominent 20 years ago. His funcral service was held at Staplegrove Church; Taunton, last Monday.

WINCHESTER & PORTSMOUTR Winchester District

About 40 members. including visitors from Bishopstoke, North Stoncham and Sherborne Si. John, attended the annual meeting of the Winchester District at Winchester on February 2nd.
Six now ringing and honorary members were elected, bringing the total now to 121 and 30 respectively. All the officers were re-elected en bloc-shairman, Rev. C. E. C. Brinkworth : secretary, R. F. Brewer: assistant secretary, P. Nash: treasurer, F. C. Moreland; Ringing Master. R. Smith.

The chairman, in thanking the Ringing Master for his helpful assistance, stressed the need for closer co-operation bctween peal ringers and learners. He asked peal ringers to relate their engagements to praztices and quarterly meetings of the Guild.

Tea was followed by Evensong at the Cathedral. and afterwards the bells were pu: to good use in a variety of methods.

South Norfolk Branch Secretary Retires

Members of the South Norfolk Branch heard, with regret, at their 23 rd annual meeting on February 9th that their Branch secretary, Mr. A. G. Harrison, is retiring this year for business reasons. The president, the Rev. H. G. Lillingston, said he would like ta say how much they appreciated the faithful work Mr. Harrison had given over the past 20 years.

Bcfore handing over his duties, Mr. Harrison thanked the members for their loyal and faithful support during the 20 years he had been their secretary, and hoped they would support their new secretary as they had done him in the past. He also welcomed Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Last to their Branch.

Dr. P. H. A. Jonason conducted the meeting in his own inimitable manner, and was re-elected as chairman. Mr. C. F. W. Phillippo was elected the new secretary, Mr. W. Flatt Ringing Master, Mr. A. G. Harrison and Mr. F. Arnold to the standing committee, Miss B. Syrett, Messrs. E. Whiting, H. Moss, F. Roper and W. G. Saunders Branch committee.

Seventy-two members and friends from 39 parishes in Norfolk and Suffolk attended the meeting. Mr. Leonard E. Last was elected a member, and Mr. Anthony R. Mann, of Newmarket, a life member.

The Rev. L. O. Kenyon. Rector of Diss, conducted the service in Diss Parish Church, assisted by Rev. H. G. Lillingston. Canon T, A. Nock, R.D.. and Mr. H. J. Watts, lay readerIn an address the Rector said the art of bellringing was comparable, in the broad sense, to the Christian life. 'Although you have enjoyed ringing the bells this afternoon, not everyone will have enjoyed listening to them.' He went on to say: "The bells were a reminder of the true character of the Gospel; a good bell is true, has a good tone, must be in tune and keep in :ime so that it rings in harmony. The bells were intended to help, people to remain conscious of these things.

'The Ringing World' was founded in the year 1911 by John Sparkes Goldsmith, who remained its proprietor and editor until his death in 1942.

CANDID CRITICISM

THE convener of the Editorial Committee made some very candid criticism of this journal in the issue of January 4th. Speaking at the Universities Association dinner, he said, " "The Ringing World " is a headache.' The indications are that this is a financial headache, and no improvement is in sight. We may be sure that the Editorial Committee has gone into this very thoroughly and is against any increase in price. A big drop in circulation would be the result, for 'The Ringing World' has to give value for money in common with other technical journals. So the only remedy here is increased circulation, but the efforts in this direction have not been as successful as expected.

The Editorial Committee has admitted that " The Ringing World ' needs improving and, though there are many good friends who contribute, the fact remains that the committee is tied down for lack of funds.

Naw for the second statement: 'The Exercise owns a paper and as owner it is responsible for supplying the copy.' This is a theoretical statement with which the average ringer would not agree, but it is here that improvement can be made. At present the liaison between owners and the Editor is very loose - in fact, almost haphazard. There must be a lot of ringing news which never reaches the pages of 'The Ringing World ' because Iit is nobody's business to send it up.

Let me give an example. A certain young man turned in the 82 cwt . tenor at Liverpool Cathedral last November to a course of Cambridge Major. That would have been news, but though there was a good attendance the item never appeared in 'The Ringing World.' Let the big diocesan and territorial associations appoint on their committees one or two *Ringing World 'correspondents. Their job would be to see that all topical news of their association reached 'The Ringing World' and also to write an occasional article. In other words, a voluntary reporting staff spread out all over Great Britain, but give them the same privileges as other committeemen. By that is meant not to take any interest in what the correspondent does, but help him and see that the work is done. Those associations who already have qualified persons on their committees do not need any rule alterations, but for those who have not, then think it over and act as soon as possible.

There are, of course, 'Ringing World' representatives, ${ }_{\text {w }}$ but they are concerned chiefly with circulation and have no official backing. Some people will say that all associations have not got suitable men or women, but taking the columns of 'The Ringing World' for 1956 as a guide, it appears that they have. Also the Central Council, if it thinks this is its job all right, but local committees rule their associations and they know all the local news. No slight is implied on the Editorial Committee, which deserves our warmest thanks. The idea is to get topical news into the editorial bag. Nobody has been attacked, so I will sign myself-
M. R. P.

RINGING THE CHANGES

IN the church tower six or eight people are hard at work. To the onlooker it seems that at every other moment someone is about to be hung by the neck from a vicious-looking rope that coils down from a hole in the ceiling. This rope, however, is caught with apparent ease by the ringer, who gives it another pull, releases it, and lets it soar upwards again.

Let the onlooker, however, decide to learn this art. She presents herself to the leader of the band, who says doubtfully that perhaps she might be started on one of the lighter bells. The intricate details of how to handle a bell are explained, and the pupil is then allowed 10 pull a rope; after which she goes home wondering where her mother keeps the liniment. When, eventually, she has learnt to manage the bell, she begins on ringing the changes, those complicated patterns obtained by deviations from the simple round, when each beh rings after the bell in front.

After some disheartening lessons, the pupil is about to give up when the whole matter suddenly becomes clear. Now things grow easier. The pupil is duly enrolled as a member of the Association, obtains an elaborate certificate, usually provides herself with a badge, and of course pays her subscription. She can now attend mectings, where the complexity of the organsation behind the association is revealed to berThe hobby which began by taking up a few odd evenings now becomea almost a full-time occupation. There are practices, ringing on Surdays, mestings, visits to towers, excursions to various parts of the country.

In future, when you hear the bells, please do not pass them off as an unholy din: consider what an extraordinary and absorbing hobby they represent to those who 'ring the changes."

GUILDFORD DIOCESAN GUILD

Leatherhead District

The annual District meeting at Leatherhead on February 9th was attended by nearly 60 ringers. Besides members and friend from Surrey, visitors came from Bushey, Chenies, Harpenden, Rainham, Sheffield. Stanmore and Watford, as well as three who could not stay to the meeting, Mr. Alan Pink, the Rev. M. Melville and Mr. W. W. Wolstencroft, news of whose death on the way home was received at Leatherhead the next morning.
Though suffering from a threatened cold, Canon Page took the Guild's form of service, extending a welcome to Leatherhead and giving an interesting address. The tea and business meeting followed in St. Nicholas' Hall, the tea being prepared and served by ringers' wives and friends.
Mr. H. N. Pitstow presided at the meeting. The balance in hand showed an increase of over £5 and the redort was also mainly satisfactory. Mr. H. N. Pitstow relinquished the post of Ringing Master, which he had held for ten years, and Mr. H. V. Young was elected in his place, thanks being accorded Mr. Pitstow for his services during those ten years. The rest of the District officers were re-elected, except that Mr. Derek Astridge took over from Mr. Young as assistant secretary. Ten new members from West Clandon, Ashtead and Stoke D'Abernon were elected and two belfry elections ratified.

The meeting heard with regret of the illness of Mr. Bert Adams, and the secretary was asked to convey to him the best wishes of the meeting.
The year's programme of meetings was agreed apon. The general officers of the Guild were renominated with the addition of Mr. H. V. Young as Central Council representative, and tsual votes of thanks concluded the business.

DURHAM AND NEWCASTLE Southern District

The meeting held on Feb. 23rd at Holy Trinity Church, Darlington, did not attract many ringers probably as a result of the petrol shortage.
The Vicar, the Rev. Donald Goldie, preached an excellent sermon, based upon a bell, which he likened to Christianity because of its robustness, swing, end its need for proper care and attention. Mr. Minto officiated at the organ.
Tea was provided by the ladies, and the ringers welcomed the new Rural Dean, the Rev. P. Wansey. A vote of thanks to the Vicar and wardens for the use of the bells was proposed by Mr. P. Rock, and Miss Killingley thanked the ladies for an excellent tea.
Ringing was to the following methods: Kent, Oxford, London and Cambridge, and was interspersed with 120 's of Grandsire Doubles, which was of great benefit to the learner present.
The next meeting is to be held in conjunction with the Yorkshire Association at Richmond on Aprii 27th.

ST. MARY'S, WALTHAMSTOW

For inany years the bells of St. Mary's bave been regularly rung for the usual Sunday services, and until the outbreak of the last war Stedman Caters was the favourite method. The band was capable of ringing Treble Ten, both Kent and Oxford being rung on practice nightsMany peals of Caters have been rung during the years, some of them being by entirely local ringers. A peal in three Caters methods was rung, the majority of the ringers belonging ta the St. Mary's Society. The methods on this occasion were Erin, Stedman and Grandsire.
Soon after the war the band dwindled to six members, when it was found impossible to muster enough to ring for the evening service on Sundays. This state of affairs continued for a year or so, and it looked as though ringing would cease altogether. However, a local schoolmaster, a ringing enthusiast, was contacted, with the result that several recruits were forthcoming and soon the company had sufficient me nbers to ring for both Sunday services. Much progress has been made and a local quarter peal of Grandsire Caters has been rung.
During 1956 a total of 23 quarter peals was scored, and no less than 25 firsts in the method, and also several firsts as conductor. The methods have been Grandsire Triples, Major and Caters, Stedman Triples, Bob Major and Royal.
This short account cannot be closed without a tribute to Mr. A. J. N. Boyack, whose energy and enthusiasm have been mainly responsible for the revival of ringing in the tower of St. Mary's Church. Walthamstow.

The bells of St. Andrew-the-Great, Cambridge, are now ringing again after recasting and rehanging. The Vicar has short dedication and the bells are rung for Sunday service. They will be made available for general ringing when the Bishop of Ely conducts a full service of dedication. It is hoped that this will be possible fairly soon.

Five of the ringers who took part in the quarter peal of the Yorkshire District of the Ladies' Guild at Handsworth were taught by Mr. N. Chaddock, of Rotherham.

An example of singing ringers comes from Corston, Somerset, where members of the choir rang a quarter peal to the memory of their former organist and choirmaster.

Four members of Southampton University Guild took part in the peal at North Stoneham on February 23rd. A word of congratulation to the tenor ringer, Cedric Murphy, whose rope became untucked.

A good friend of ringers is the Vicar of Soberton, Hants. He not only lent his bells for a peal attempt on February 23rd but afterwards kindly entertained the band to tea at the White Lion Hotel.

Throughout a peal rung at Sellinge, Kent, the young lady ringing the treble had to endure a continuous gentle fall of sawdust. There was quite a thick layer on her head when the peal finished.

A bronze plaque is to be placed in the Mitchell Tower at Chicago University to the memory of Mr. Roy B. Nelson, the University's first bellringer. A memorial fund to be used for the promotion of bell music at the University was initiated through a magnificent gift of 1,000 dollars by Mr. Samuel N. Pickard.

BELFRY GOSSIP

 Fabruary 24th, insisted on ringing in a peal on the following Tuesday at Bradford Cathedral. He rang one-handed with his left hand sometimes behind his back, occasionally in his pocket, but never on the rope. His pluck was admired by the rest of the band.The average age of the band ringing at St . Paul's Cathedral on Sunday is now only 36 years.
The Middlesex County Association and London Diocesan Guild celebrate their 60th anniversary at Whitsun. A dinner will be held at the Fan Makers' Hall, Bishopsgate, on Whit Saturday.

In paying a visit to his home at Usk, Mon., on February 23rd, Mr. D. G. Clift was able to call his favourite composition (Holt's Original) and thus complete the calling of a peal from each bell in the tower, and also "circle' the tower for the second time.

A peal of Triples called 'Five Shillings to Drink ' was rung at Wakeficld in 1789 in 3 hours and 24 minutes. The peal was composed by one of the local ringers in honour of the town being that night first lighted with lamps.

An unsuccessful attempt for a peal of London Surprise Royal was made at Hillingdon on February 23rd to celebrate the birth of a daughter to Pamela and Robert Thomas, and of a son to Evelyn and Tony Turley. Pamela elder daughter of Mr. and Mrs., F. W. Goodfellow, used to ring at St. John's, where both Evelyn and Tony are members of the local band, Tony being steeplekeeper. Congratulations to them all, not forgetting the new grandparents !

THE HENRY JOHNSON COMM MORE SUNDAY RINGING THAN EVER BEFORE IN BIRMINGHAM DIOCESE

THE fact that the Coventry Diocesan Guild were holding their annual dinner on the same day, and also the petrol rationing, affected the attendance at the 69th annual Henry Johnson commemoration dinner, held at the Imperial Hotel, Birmingham, on March 2nd. Squadron Leader John S. Mason, the Master of the Ancient Society of College Youths, presided, and an excellent evening was spent with short speeches, good singing and happy fellowship. The arrangements were competently carried out by the Guild secretary, Mr. George E. Fearn.

After the loyal toast had been honoured apologies were announced by the secretary from the Lord Mayor, the Bishop of Birmingham, Canon Bryan Green (who is abroad) and Sir Theodore Pritchett. Four Bedfordshire ringers also intended to be present. but Mr. C. H. Harding had since died, and Messrs. Sinfield, Ronald Sharpe and Bryan Sims felt that in such circumstances they could not be present.
The toast of 'The memory of the late Henry Johnson' was proposed by the chairman, who said they had nobody in that room that evening who knew Henry Johnson. Their Guild had reached its present position not only by the work and example of Henry Johnson, but by many other members who were no longer with them. In honouring the memory of Henry Johnson they were also remembering those associated with him who had passed over.

The toast was honoured in silence.
The toast of 'Continued Prosperity to St. Martin's Guild ' was submitted by Mr. A. Patrick Cannon, who said he felt like a new boy as this was only the sixth successive dinner he had attended. His first visit to Birmingham was in 1939 on a football excursion, when he managed to ' grab 'St. Martin's and St. Philip's. He remembered the occasion well, as when he was ringing a course of Cambridge at St. Philip's the tenor slipped wheel.
There was no doubt of the respect in which their Guild was held by the attendance at these dinners. They came to keep alive a long tradition and to meet old friends. This Guild was founded in 1755 and it was the third oldest ringing society, the older ones being the Ancient Society of College Youths and the Society of the Royal Cumberland Youths.

OFFICERS-ACTIVE AND PRACTICAL RINGERS

He thought the St. Martin's Guild had always enjoyed its prosperity in the past because it had officers who were active and practical ringers.
If they wanted a good guild they must have good officers who were able ringers. In St Martin's Guild four of their officers. plus Mr. Walker, had each rung over 600 peals.
St. Martin's was a happy and friendly guild. They had only to write to Mr. George Fearn and he would fix one up with a good peal and no 'stay benders.' Every guild must teach be-ginners-there was an example in that week's 'Ringing World' of Mr. Walker with young ringers, and he knew Mr. Fearn rode his bicycle many miles to teach young ringers. He hoped that the voung ringers of today would come forward and maintain the traditions of the Guild.

Mr. Frank E. Haynes, the Master, in reply said there was a tendency in this age to indulge in the process of whitewashing or gilding the lily and he wondered if their Guild was as prosperous as it was and whether they did hold the same position in the Exercise as they did.
hava come to the conclusion." said Mr. Havnes with emphasis, 'that St. Martin's is still a prosperous guild, but with this difference -we are prosperous by modern standards. Bell ringing standards have changed quite considerably during the past 10 or 15 years. Thirty, 40 or 50 years ago the prosperity of St. Martin's rested on one thing-its ability to ring Stedman Cinques perfectly.

To-day we can still ring Stedman Cinques -on occasions we ring Stedman very well-but it is true to say that we do not ring Stedman Cinques consistently as we used to. Why is that? It is because we have far more young people taking part in ringing in this diocese St. Martin's is no longer a closed shop. In the old days you could not ring at St. Martin's unless you could ring Stedman Cinques properly. Now the tower is open to all, and people are welcome as they are to all towers in the diocese, and it has resulted in a certain lowering of the standard of striking.

SUNDAY RINGING MORE PROMINENT

'The ringing Exercise has extended its sphere of influence to include not only the ladies in growing numbers, but is encouraged as a social activity of young people. We have to do something to attract young people and keep them in ringing and that has resulted in a certain drop in standards. Nevertheless. it has resulted in other things that redound to the credit of the Exercise. Sunday service ringing is given more prominence than it ever had. and although we know that much of the Sunday service ringing carried on in this country is by no means of a high standard, it is true to say that Sunday service ringing takes place in this diocese in a larger number of towers than ever before.

The modern tendency, as indicated by Mr. Cannon, is to place a grotesque importance on peal ringing activities. If we judge the prosperity of a guild with the number of peals rung then St. Martin's Guild is very prosperous. In those peals there were many young ringers who were able to ring their first of Surprise in Cambridge, Yorkshire, Bristol or London, and they had in consequence vastly improved as ringers.
At the moment their Guild stood at the crossroads. Their secretary, Mr. Geo. Fearn, was always ready to arrange peals for visitors, which increased the fraternity of the Exercise, but the question they should ask themselves was whether they were not going to get back Stedman Cinques to the standard it was or to encourage young ringers to continue to ring peals on six or eight bells.
Mr. Haynes mentioned the great service to the Guild of Mr. Pinfold, the Ringing Master, and the faithful and devoted service of Mr. Geo. Fearn as hon. secretary, who had held office for ten years and had now only another ten to serve as the last three secretaries (Mr. W. H. Godden, Ald. Paddon Smith and the late Mr. Thomas Reeves) each served for 20 years; and finally a minor correction to the proposer of the toast, in that St. Martin's Guild was the fourth oldest guild in the country-St. Stephen's, Bristol, was older than they were.
In a very happy speech, Mr. Edgar Shepherd proposed 'The Visitors.' Many of the company including himself had tasted the hospitality of Lancashire. Yorkshire, Newcastle-upon-Tyne, Bristol and other parts of the country, and it was pleasant to let the mind run over the many kindnesses received. 'Forty years ago as a young soldier I was turned adrift in the welter of the first world war, and I have recollections of the many kindnesses show'n to me-in the Isle of Wight by Mr. Upton, of Newport. and later, when I was wounded and crippled, in Lancashire and Newcastle-upon-Tyne.
Of their guests that evening there was Mr Norman Park, from Darlington, Mr. A. W. T. Cleaver, from Bristol, and many old friends from London. including Mr. and Mrs. Albert from London. including Mr. and Mrs. Albert Hughes, Mr. Smallwood (and they thanked him Hughes, Mr. Smallwood (and they thanked him for his work on behalf of 'The Ringing World ') and the Editor. To Mr. Paul Taylor he gave a special welcome; they were all grateful to him for the hospitality he provided when the Central Council visited Leicester last year
Mr . Taylor, who is president of the Leicester Diocesan Guild, in acknowledging the toast said he wished to say a very big ‘Thank you on behalf of all the guests, not only to the 'old. faithfuls' but to the young boys of the St. Martin's Guild who made them so welcome. They all enjoyed coming to Birmingham.

A BISHOP'S QUOTATION

Mr. T. W. White, Editor of 'The Ringing World,' also replied. He said:-

- Last Sunday, in the most distinguished of our Sunday newspapers, the Bishop of Birmingham provided a saying of the week. He said:

I do not contend that one can speak the whole truth and nothing but the truth; sometimes you should withhold it and bear the burden yourself."

- This quotation seemed to me to be particularly appropriate in regard to the two controversies that have appeared in "The Ringing World." In regard to the College of Campanology and the publication of the Manual of Instruction, individual members of the Editorial Committec have been blamed for what appeared. I want to say publicly and emphatically that they neither saw the articles nor were they consulted before publication. What induced me to publish them-and it was not financial-I will not say. It is one of the burdens, as the Bishop said. that one must bear oneself.

But there was an cminent ringer and a member of the Central Council who decided not to bear the burden himseif but to tell the whole truth and nothing but the truth regarding the Christmas Day broadcast. Those who have pilloried him have forgotten that once anything appears on the air it ceases to be local and is automatically open to public criticism. There is good Sunday service ringing in this land, even outside of Birmingham, Leicester, or the scroof of St. Paul's. We all know of small towns and villages with good bands and good bells which should have their chance on the air. A proder liaison with the B.B.C. in this matter is essential, and I hope that from publication good results will come.

There have been times when the B.B.C. have profited by co-operation. The excellent Christmas Eve television broadcast was the outcome of a 'phone call I received from the director of "Panorama." The request was for a tower in London or the suburbs with a ground floor ring and a short tower, where it would be possible from the outside to televise the bells revolving. Among the people I consulted was your chairman this evening. Three towers were suggested and All Saints', Banstead, accepted.

SCOUTS' JAMBOREE

' Next August, from the 3 rd to the 17 th, you will be receiving into the area of the St. Martin's Guild many visitors in connection with the Scouts' World Jamboree at Sutton Coldfield. Already I have had an inquiry as to ringing facilities and the possibilities of a ringing tour in the immediate locality. I feel certain that the St. Martin's Guild will be able to make some arrangements.
Proposing the toast of 'The Chairman,' Mr. Albert Walker said their choice of Squadron Leader Mason was indeed a hapoy one. Last November he made a splendid job in the chair of the College Youths. and that Society had honoured him by asking him to continue as Master for a second year. Unfortunately his wife could not be with him as she was on a visit to her home in New Zealand, but they were very pleased to have with them his mother. Squadron Leader Mason did much of his early ringing in Birmingham. Thev missed him very much, but what had been Birmingham's loss had been London's gain. The toast was accorded musical honours.

TAUNTON Harold church, standing in the private grounds of the Ri. Hon. Earl Ferrers, was the only church erected during the Commonwealth. Over the entrance is a tablet recording:-
' In the yeare 1653
when all things sacred were throughout the nation either demolisht or profaned
Sir Robert Shirley Baronet founded this church whose singular praise it is to have done the best of things in the worst of limes and hoped them in the most calamitous. "The Righteous shall be had in everlasting remembrance "
In 1656 five bells were erected, to which a sixth was added in 1717 and two trebles in 1831.
North, the historian, gives their inscriptions incorrectly and incomplete, saying they are too difficult of access. However, in 1926. with Earl Ferrers, I ascended the tower, and while I went into the pits the Earl stood on the frame and took down the inscriptions as I dictated them -mostly deciphering by sense of touch where too dark to see. The Earl graciously gave consent for a peal to be attempted, and we were fully conscious of the superscription over the tablet recording the first peal here in 1832, saying: 'Nothing so difficult but diligence will overcome.' Only one other peal had been rung (in 1889), and in spite of those critics who declared an ambulance would be required to carry oft those who collapsed, and a load of stimulants to revive the remainder, we met on October 23 rd. 1926, determined to 'do or dic.'
There is no means of lighting except by candles, but one of the band brought a smail lamp, and we set up eight candles on the quaint ancient wooden octagonal desk which evidently was placed there for the ringers' music! All went well for over two hours. when one of the candles spluttered and eventually snuffed out. Then one after another till all disappeared save one, which lasted till about five minutes before the peal ended, leaving only the little lamp to cast a feeble glow in the Stygian darkness. The ringers looked like so many ghosts moving their arms up and down, but all stuck to it and finished a very good peal in just over thres hours. The Earl kindly entertained us afterwards and gave me a copy of the bell inscriptions. The church has recently been restored at a cost of over $£ 8,000$ by the Office of Works, and it is hoped that the bells-now unringable -will be restored when funds allow.

A CANDLE FIRE

Speaking of candles reminds me of our peal at Wymeswold where-at the time I went-the only illumination was by candles standing on a wood partition. Towards the end of the peal one of these burnt low and set fire to the woodwork. Happily it was extinguished by the late Walter White without disturbing the peal, he manipulating his bell carefully with one hand while dousing the conflagration!
Quite recently at Copt Oak we had a similar experience while ringing a peal of Double $\mathrm{Bo}^{\circ}$ Minor. On arrival we found the electricity cut off. so we started with two or three church candles balanced on a chair back in the centre of the belfry. While the peal was in progress one of these fell off, leaving us in semi-darkness. Arthur Rowley, of Ibstock, then did a neat bit of work by ringing one hand, stooping down quickly, picked up the candle end. Then after a few strokes manœuvred to set it alight from another lit one. Almost immediate it fell off again! He repeated his one-hand trick but, after lighting the candle, placed it on a window sill immediately behind him. This seems easy (on paper), but to manipulate a bell and keep it going to Double Bob whilst doing these gymnastics was a real work of art. It took much longer to do than it does to tell. but we got a good peal to the great satisfaction of all concerned.

OLD JOE TAKES THE CAKE

At Wymondham, after a peal of Minor on the heavy six. we were entertained to tea by the Rector and local ladies, and as the date coincided with the silver wedding of old Joe Norton (1929), they gave him a cake to take home! On the floor of the tower ringing chamber is a singular and curious record on a slate slab, diamond-shaped, thus:-

OXFORD  Treble Bob

was rung Feb. 11th, 1810

| :---: |
|  |  |
|  |  |
|  |  |
|  |  |

At Peckleton (6) I rang two or three peals, but one was marked as unusual by the Rector insisting on my putting down in the service book (it was Sunday) the methods to be rung and conductor's name, etc. I told him we had not yet rung it, but he was sure we should! In this peal the Rev. A. S. Roberts (now of Carbis Bay, Cornwall) and the Rev. Malcolm Melville rang.
In the Hinckley District many of the ringing chambers are situated halfway up the tower arch, and open to the church on the east side, viz.: Hinckley, Earl Shilton. Thurlaston, Burbage, etc. At Hinckley (8) I called my 150th peal on the old octave. which were not too good either musically or in their 'go." Since that time, however, they have been recast and rehung, and now form a grand ring.
Earl Shilton has a lovely little octave in the best-kept belfry of the District. On these bells I rang many excellent pcals, including calling ten different plain methods. Thurlaston has a lovely six, and Burbage a fine octave. At the latter place I called the first peal on the original five bells rung from the ground floor with an extra long draught of rope. It was a strenuous effort and caused many blisters! but a determined band rang a good peal on a quaint set -the top five of an octave, and not in lune at that! Now these have been recast and made eight, and here I called a peal of Bob Major with 50 singles, and took part in others.
At the nearby Fenny Drayton the ringing room is a gallery halfway up the tower arch, and is somewhat curious. The ground floor is used as a choir vestry and the tower arch entirely matchboarded over with a small door inserted for the choir to enter the church. Consequently the ringers' gallery is sealed off on this side, and the only means of gaining access is by a ladder taken out of the west door and set up in the churchyard, the top going through the small gap at the head of the said west doorway, from whence one literally crawls into the ringing room.

BELL INSCRIPTIONS IN WELSH

When we rang the first (and only) peal here in 1921 it was a very hot afternoon, so we left this door open as there is no ventilation, and to prevent disturbance pulled the ladder up into the room. During the ringing someone-we found out later it was the Rector-from below threw up two half-crowns for us to have refreshment after, he being called away before the peal ended. Here the bell inscriptions are the only ones in Welsh in this diocese-the Rector was a Welshman!

A somewhat similar ' gift 'took place at Newtown Linford (5). which church is situated at the entrance to Bradgate Park, one of Leicestershire's beauty spots. Consequently hundreds of visitors call in this church, and as the bells are rung from the ground floor, we were given permission to lock the church up during our peal. Imagine our surprise when about halfway through the peal we saw someone coming down the aisle towards us. However, it proved to be the Vicar (who was a ringer), and he very carefully placed five big apples on top of a hymn book cabinet near the belfry screen. then quietly left the church. As soon as I called 'This is all,' 'Stand,' there was a concerted rush for the apples, which were gratefully eaten after our strenuous efforts. as the bells did not go very easily.
Another bad-going five were at Birstall, where it was a gruelling task to complete a full peal. During the ringing I shed my waistcoat, collar and tie!. This peal was arranged for me by Alban Disney (whose father was Vicar of Bel-grave-cum-Birstall) and who is so named after the daughter church of St. Alban. which name also appears on one of Belgrave bells. At the latter church 1 rang several peals on the eight when they hung anti-clockwise, but now they have been rehung in the usual way.

BARNSLEY DISTRICT SOCIETY

Ringing to suit all tastes was enjoyed on the light eight (tenor about 8 cwt .) at Hemsworth on February 9th, when the Barnsley District Society held a successful meeting. Two new members were elected-Mr. Frank Chatterton, of Monk Bretton. and Miss Margot Green, of Sandal. An apology was received from the Rector (the Rev. A. E. Duckett), who was attending the induction of his curate to the living of Holy Trinity, Huddersfield. A vote of thanks was passed to him and all who had helped with a successful meeting by Mr. Noel Moxon.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

CHANGE RINGING IN AMERICA
Dear Sir,-The Kent School Bellringers ${ }^{\circ}$ Guild ( 10 , tenor 27 cwt .) was honoured by a visit from Mr. M. A. Turner, of Philadelphia, on February 9th and 10th. His visit was the result of a correspondence with a member of the Guild, started by an article in "The Ringing World.' During his stay he gave us many hints on how we could improve our ringing and bring it closer to the English standard.
At this point it might be wise to say something about the Kent Guild. The bells were cast and hung by Mears and Stainbank in 1931. For the first five years we had an instructor, Isaac Attwater, who taught the boys the art of change-ringing. Since then it has been passed on from class to class by the boys. Naturally, bad habits accumulated and remained uncorrected.
Not the least of these was our slow rate, about 20 changes per minute. Mr. Turner showed us how to cut down on the swing and boost our specd. While he was here, we were clocked at 28 . Since then we have been clocked at 30 in practice. Our ultimate goal is a wellstruck 32, though it will be some time before we are used to it.
With Mr. Turner's help we were able to depart from memorised courses in Grandsire Doubles. Stedman's at the new pace proved to be a little too much. Then Mr. Turner conducted some call-changes on the back eight, which went rather well by our standards. Our try at all ten was not so successful. Mr. Turner then taught us how to lower the bells in peal. It will fake us a little while to get used to this.
It is felt by the entire band that the visit was a complete success. We learned a great deal by this first visit, which we hope will be the first of a long series of visits. Our present ambition is to ring a quarter peal this spring with Mr . Turner's help.-Yours sincerely,

CHRIS. WHITMAN.

ELIZABETH 1. APPROVED OF THE EXERCISE

Dear Sir,-Though not a bellringer yet I love to hear the bells. and I am glad that the art of bellringing is still practised. I came across this very interesting item in a book I am reading, namely 'Strange Island. by Francesca M. Wilson. (' Britain through Foreign Eyes,' 13951940.$)$

Comments by Gerschow, 1602. on bellringers:

- The young lads do this voluntarily for exercise and amusement, and often wager large sums as to who can ring a peal the longest or the most cunningly. The parishes spend a lot of money over their bells and there is much rivalry as to which are the most melodious. The old Queen is said to approve of this exercise, because she holds it to be a sign of the people's health.
- They da not toll for the dead, but when a person is lying "in extremis" the bells of the parish are touched with the clappers until he either dies or recovers. As soon as this sign is given everyone in the streets-as in the housesfalls on his knees and offers a prayer for the sick person.'

Gerschow (Friedrich) was tutor to the Duke of Stettin. Pomerania (German princeling, then 18). who accompanied the Duke on a threeweeks' tour of England in 1602.I would also like to mention another item. Whilst on a tour of the churches in Essex I saw. in Great Bromley church belfry, high up on the wall. a row of very tall black hats, which I understood were always worn by the bellringers of that parish long ago.-Yours truly, EUNICE WATSHAM (Mrs.).

Dear Sir,-An alarming incident, which occurred at Lyonshall last weekend has prompted me to write this letter.
How important it is for instructors to impress upon beginners the danger of attempting to ring in a strange tower, unless they are completely in control of the bell at home.
Recently a school friend of one of our young ringers visited the church, and we were told that she was a ringer, and had received her instruction at a well-known Herefordshire tower

On this her second visit she was invited to ring but, as she was not known to me, and her name did not appear in our Guild report, I suggested that she tried the bell first.
Fortunately, I stood beside her! She handled the tail correctly, pulled off at handstroke, but hung on to the sally and was on her way to the roof when I shouted 'Loose it.
After grabbing the rope and bringing the belf under control (and recovering from the shock) I said: 'You have never rung a bell before, have you?" Only then did we learn that she had not touched a rope for over two years, had never handled the sally, and her only knowledge of ringing had been a lesson or two on the tail with a tied clapper
I dread to think what might have happened if, instead of that single bell. we had started to ring rounds; and I was thankful that only two of our nine teenage girl learners were in the tower at the time-an incident such as that might well discourage promising youngsters.Yours faithfully,

ELSIE C. CHANDLER.

MR. W. W. WOLSTENCROFT

Dear $\mathrm{Sir},-\mathrm{I}$ was interested in the two splendid appreciations of the late W. W. Wolstencroft, but rather surprised that no mention was made of the Lancashire Association. There must be many of the older Lancashire members like myself who remember the good work Walter did before he went over to the Chester Guild. He was fully entitled to do this if he so wished, but he rang 166 peals for the Lancashire Association and was at one time secretary of the Manchester Branch. If my memory serves me right, he was also on the committee for a few years. However, as C. K. L. says, he was one of the best types of ringers: enthusiastic, knowledgeable, and a good churchman. -Yours faithfully,
E. R. MARTIN.

Preston.

INSCRIPTIONS ON BELLS

Dear Sir.-Is it not the general custom to have the name of the vicar and churchwardens put on a bell after it has been recast and rehung? The bell which 1 refer to has only the name of the captain of the ringers. Is it not usual to have the bell blessed after it has been recast?-Yours faithfully.
Mayfield, Sussex.

STEDMAN TRIPLES

Dear Sir,-I was very interested in the replies to Mr. Burles' request for three-course touches of Stedman Triples. The 252, SL-S-SQ, is false, the portion from $L$ to $Q$ in the last course repeating with the same part of the first course. This is clearly an oversight. Might I suggest as an alternative SHL-L-HLQ, which is another extension of the course SLQ? - Yours faithfully,
H. TURNER.

Shenfield, Essex.

HINCKLEY DISTRICT ANNUAL DINNER

Despite the snow which traditionally falls on these occasions, there was an attendance of over 120 ringers and friends at the tenth annual dinner of the Hinckley District of the Leicester Diocesan Guild, held in the Village Hall, Sapcote, on February 16th. Ringing took place during the afternoon.
An excellent meal was served, and those present included the Rector (Rev. Mr. Powell), the Rural Dean (Rev. E. L. Fisher, who is also a keen ringer) and two vice-presidents of the Leicester Guild, Mr. P. A. Corby and Mr. E. C. Turner. Visitors were present from Monks Kirby, Leicester. Lincoln and Leeds.

Mr. Frank Measures, the District chairman, reviewed the past year's activities in the District with satisfaction. He remarked upon the maintained popularity of the dinners, saying that during the ten years they had been held attendance had never been less than 100 .
The Rector welcomed the ringers to Sapcote, and spoke of the excellent support he always received from his own band. Despite many attempts by the local captain (Mr. Michael Brown) to persuade him to take up ringing, his only experience to date had been to chime in the New Year on the three bells in his last parish in Devon.
The two vice-presidents both spoke of the support given by the Hinckley District to the Guild. Mr. Turner also entertained the company with his usual stock of funny stories.

Before rising. Mr. Frank Measures proposed a vote of thanks to Mr. Michacl Brown for the excellent arrangements he had made.
At the social evening and entertainment which followed, one of the highlights was a very amusing play performed by members of the local band. A competition to find the local belfry queen was won by Miss Enid Wayne, of Leicester. It was pointed out that one of her duties would be to sit between the District chairman and secretary at all business meetings during the coming year.

Stoney Stanton handbell ringers gave selections, and a near-perfect course of Stedman Caters was , rung by J. Bramley $1-2$, Mrs. P. Staniforth 3-4, P. Staniforth 5-6, A. Ballard 7-8 and P. A. Corby 9-10.
The remarkable gentleman from Lincolnshire once more conducted his choir of 'Kollege Ewes' through variations of many well-known ringers' songs. Dancing and party games concluded what was once again a most enioyable occasion.

PHOTOGRAPHS WANTED

Dear Sir,-I have been checking up recently on the list of towers of which I need photographs to complete my record of illustrations of churches where I have scored peals, and it occurred to me that other readers might have copies of postcards, small prints, illustrations in parish magazines, etc., of which they might wish to dispose. If any reader could help in this matter by forwarding any photographs of the undermentioned towers I would be most grateful. I would willingly forward cost of photograph and refund postage. The list is as follows:-

ST. MARTIN'S, CAMBORNE

By The REV. A. S. ROBERTS

CAMBORNE, the industrial town of Cornwall, has a ring of bells which is worthy of comment in view of the peal rung on February 9th in the fiftieth year of the first peal on the bells. It was only the fourth in the tower, but there seems little reason why peals should have been so few except it may be a tower that has just been passed by. These bells grow on one, the kind of ring that should not be set aside as not as good as many others. A good peal on them can be a real pleasure.
Originally there was a ring of six. cast in 1767 by Rudhall, of Gloucester. In 1882 a complete restoration took place, when Messrs. J. Taylor and Co. put in an iron frame, sometimes said to be their first, and added a treble and tenor of 17 t cwt ., and at the same time recasting the old fourth (now the fifth of the eight) a semitone lower, and which is. incidentally, $\frac{1}{2}$-cwt. heavier than the present sixth. The dedication took place on Easter Tuesday of that year. The opening touch was one of 672 Grandsire Triples by what was called the Guild of Diocesan Ringers, then affiliated to the Devon Guild. The Truro Diocesan Guild was not founded until 15 years later in 1897, although the Truro Diocese was created in 1876. This band was made up of mostly ringers from St. Mary, Penzance, with Mr. Wm. Banister, of Devonport, viz.: Thos. Corin 1, Chas. Boase 2 , W. Banister (conductor) 3, J.' Richards 4, J. Baxter 5, Thos. Hicks 6, Dr. J. Symons 7, A. B. Berry 8 .

Seventy-five years ago one finds friends from just across the Tamar lending a hand in Cornwall, and from that time to the present day Cornwall should ever be thankful. Since then there have been men like William and Ernest Marsh. Joe Woodley and Charles R. Lilley, and more recently, still happily with us, Messrs. Harry and Tom Myers. Wm. Banister (note the one ' $n$ ' for that is how he signs his name, and not with two as is usually found) worked in Devonport dockyard, and in 1866 cast two trebles for the Dockyard Chapel, now unhappily destroyed. He was always ready to help $\mathrm{Dr}_{\text {r }}$. Symons, and was frequently in correspondence with him.

A few of his letters have been kept. On October 4th, 1882, he wrote to Dr. Symons: - It has just occurred to me that I promised you a touch of Grandsire Triples. I'm afraid you must think me very long-winded in not having sent before this, but I must ask you to excuse me for my brother having been staying with me I've had to give much time to him. and the remainder has been taken up in putting my new residence in order, but when the long nights come upon us again I will look up some of my old ringing affairs and send. In the meantime should you require any information on the subject please write and I would attend to it at once. With best wishes. I remain, yours very obediently. W. Banister.' There then follow two touches of Grandsire Triples, one of 840 and one of 420 , with figures.
Another letter dated November 1st, 1882, and again written from 3. Florence Terrace, Ford. Devonport, says: ' Dear Sir. Just a line to say that yesterday being a ringing day at Plymouth I mustered my band there for a touch or two in the evening before they lowered the bells. They appeared to me to go much better than when you were there. We rang a very good 840 at Charles Church and two 336 's at St. Andrew's. capital striking which we much enjoyed but the number at St. Andrew's was about the extent we could ring well singlehanded. At Charles. however, we could have managed them to a full peal. I think the wet weather must have braced up the frame. This morning I heard from Mr. Ellacombe, the first time for a long while. He has sent me a copy of his "Bells of Gloucester"; there is much in it that is interesting to ringers, but not instructive in ringing changes. I shall be glad to know, now that the ringing season has fairly set in, that you are pushing your party on in the Exercise. I, however, made it a rule when training a young party to run them on to the attainment of a full peal in the methods successively before we attempted another, which I found a great inducement to them to persevere, but I'm afraid you are too much tied up for time allowed for ringing to admit of it or I should have advised you to do so. Nothing further to say at present, but with best wishes I remain, yours very obediently, Wm. Banister.,

It will be noted that these two letters were written in the same year that Camborne bells were dedicated. There are others. The first peal was not rung at Camborne until 25 years later, on October 9th, 1907, being one of Stedman Triples, conducted by the late Rev. F. E. Robinson. Mr. A. H. Pulling rang the treble, and is the only survivor of the band. It was the second peal for the Truro Diocesan Guild in Cornwall, the first (Superlative) having been rung at Kenwyn in the morning. By coincidence, and not by design, the second peal on the bells was rung just 25 years after the first-Bob Major in 1932. The third, Grandsire Triples in 1948, and now the fourth, Bob Triples, in the 75 th year after the hanging of the bells, and in the 50 th year after the first peal. In these last three peals the writer finds himself going backwards, having rung the tenor, seventh and sixth respectively.

Camborne bells are rung regularly two or three times every Sunday by a keen band, which should now be further inspired by the return as curate of one of their former ringers, the Rev. James Vincent. Until recently he has been curate of St. Julian's, Shrewsbury. Nothing much has been done to the bells except rehanging on ball-bearings in 1934, and the pleasing effect of this rather unusual ring amongst so many modern Cornish rings can be appreciated. They have a certain softness outside the tower which is no doubt due to the fact that perforated slate takes the place of the usual slanting louvres.

HERTS COUNTY ASSOCIATION

A.G.M. to be at Hitchin

Hitchin Surprise, the special method, began the meeting at St. Mary's, Baldock, on February 23 rd . After tea, at the business meeting, Mr. A. E. Pound and Miss J. Moss were elected members, and two non-resident memberships were confirmed.
Hitchin has been approved as the place for the annual general meeting, at which stringent economy measures will be discussed.

Chiltern Treble Bob is the special method for the next meeting, most appropriately to be held at Offley. which is on one of the spurs of the Chiltern Hills.

Canon $\mathrm{F}_{\mathrm{P}}$. C. Brenchley conducted a service and Mr. R. Poulter played the organ, then ringing continued until the end-of a very successful meeting.

Eastern District

On February 16th the Eastern District held a meeting at Braughing. The eight bells (tenor 20 cwt .) were rung up to $4.30 \mathrm{p} . \mathrm{m}$., when tea was held.

Mr. A. Coles presided at the business meeting which followed tea. Subject to the usual applications, the next meeting of the District will be at Broxbourne on March 9th.

The Rector of Braughing met the ringers before they ascended the tower, welcomed them to his parish, and then led some short orayers. Finging was then resumed and the bells were kept going until 8 p.m.

ST. MARYS, EAEITG

St. Mary's, Ealing, where the first recorded. peal was rung in 1798, is one of those towers. which are often described as the backbone of the Exercise. A Sunday rarely passes without the bells being rung for both morning and evening services, and practices on Thursday evenings are generally well attended.

Largely responsible for this happy state of affairs is the tower captain, Mr. Arthur Harding, who rang his first peal on these bells in 1909, and has put in well over 50 years' service at thetower. Unfortunately, he had a stroke shortly before Christmas, and has not been able to get up to the tower since, but we understand he is making good progress.

Sunday, February 10 th, was his 80th birthday, and to mark this a well-struck quarter of Grandsire Triples was rung in the morning by J. P. Kent 1, H. J. Eldred 2, A. M. Stacey (conductor) 3, T. E. Davies 4, S. Croft 5, D. Thedom 6. W. T. Cook 7, F. Ranson 8.

At the same time, it was discovered that there would be two 75 th birthdays the following week -Mr. J. P. Kent and Mr. H. J. Eldred. This was felt to be too good an opportunity to miss, so two quarters were arranged for February 17 th . Another near-perfect quarter of Grandsire Triples was rung in the morning by J. P. Kent 1, H. J. Eldred 2, A. H. Fulwell (conductor) 3, W. G. Wilson 4, S. Croft 5, D. Thedom: 6, W. T. Cook 7. F. Ranson 8. A quarter of Stedman Triples was attempted in the evening but was unfortunately lost owing to one of those all-too-well-known differences of opinion as to whether a particular six was quick or slow. However, it is hoped that by the time these lines appear, this will have been remedied.

The best wishes of all the band were extended to these "old-stagers,' and particularly to Mr. Harding for a speedy recovery. The writer only hopes that if he reaches such an age, he will beable to enjoy as good ringing as was heard in these two quarter peals.

NORWICH DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION

Eastern Branch at Loddon

The Eqstern Branch, having again elected to visit Loddon for their annual meeting, met in good numbers, and the members very soon had the octave going to suit all tastes. The service was conducted by the Vicar. Rev. C. R. N. Ninham, and the lesson read by Mr. H. W. Barrett, Association Ringing Master and Master of the local company.

After an excellent tea the Branch chairman, Mr. E. R. Goate, dealt smoothly and quickly with the somewhat lengthy agenda. New members elected were Miss Barbara Smedley, late of Manchester and now residing in Gorleston, and Messis. Michael Stokes, of Beccles, and Norman Baker, of Barsham.

All the Branch officials and members of the committee were re-elected to their previous position. Subject to the usual conditions, Winterton was voted as the venue for the next meeting on May 21st.
It was decided to call a meeting of the Branch committee immediately after the main meeting to discuss the arrangements for the Branch peal attempt at Wymondham in March. in connection with the 850th anniversary of the founding of the Abbey Church.
The members deplored the fact that no information was available in respect of Blofield or Gorleston bells, which are unringable at the present time for reasons which are not at all clear in the case of the latter tower.

Votes of thanks were accorded to the Vicar, Mr. Bond, the organist, and Mr. and Mrs. H: W. Barrett who. together with other ringers* wives, had prepared and served the splendid tea.

OXFORD UNIVERSITY SOCIETY

Annual Dinner and Ringing Day

FOR the first time for many years the Oxford University Society conformed with the perennial riotice which appears in "The Ringer's Diary ' for the first Saturday in February, and held their annual dinner and ringing day. That the former was the cause of much arrangement and rearrangement is, of course, another story, and should be left for the pen of one more able. That it was an improvement on the lunches of previous years is undoubted (the treasurer confrming a profit!).
The ringing programme was intensive and the dreaming spires (not to mention a few (owers) of the city were once more awakened by the clamorous tumult of the motley assortment of bells they house. Ringing commenced at the Cathedral at 2 p.m., and by 3 p.m. Stedman Cinques and Cambridge Maximus had been variously attempled and rung-a variation of the former with the tenor in 11ths place for long periods excited some comment.

From 3 until 4 p.m. New College and Merton continued their long and somewhat disharmonious rivalry across the city, some London being rung at the last-mentioned tower. Ringing followed at Carfax ( 4.45 to 5.15 p.m.), Magdalen ( 5 to 5.45 p.m.) and the University Church for the service. The service ringing included a short-lived touch of Bob Minor, in which the tenor ringer, under the impression that the bell weighed 16 cwt .. went for a 'long walk on a short pier so to speak, when he reached the fron.

The service was held in the University Church and this was followed by the dinner at the Cadena Café, where an excellent mcal was enjoyed by over 60 people, including the president of the Society (the Rev. C. Elliot Wigg), the guest of honour (Mr. Paul Taylor), the Master (Mr. W. F. Judge) and secretary (Mr. Phil. Waliker) of the Oxford Society. the Master and secretary of the Cambridge University Guild (Mr. J. D. Painter and Mr. F. B. Cookson), the Masters of the Bristol University Society (Miss Pat Bourn) and the Reading University Society (Miss Jean Dawson), members of the Reading and Southampton Societies, and manv present and past members of the Oxford University Society and the Cambridge University Guild.

The speeches followed and were recorded on tape. the machine being placed in a strategic position behind its owner!

Proposing the toast of 'The Exercise,' Mr. S. J. Ivin assured the company that he would not discourse of the subject of Mr. S. J. Irin, as was his custom. This left him somewhat bereft of subject matter, but he gave a mmorous dissertation on what he had learnt from older and more experienced ringers and how this influenced his outlook on ringing. He hoped that a more tolerant attitude towards one another's efforts would prevail amongst peal ringers and manifest itself in a decrease in written criticism. Amongst other anecdotes he recited a graphic description, in verse, of a somewhat rough peal, which because of its rather obvious association with a well-known ringer tended to defeat the object of the speech.

Mr. W. H. Jackson. welcoming the guests. referred to Mr. Paul Taylor and commented on the fact that his visit was welcomed, not only from the Society's but also from his own point of view. A warm welcome was also extended to the guests. especially the Master and secretary of the Oxford Society, with whom the University Society had much contact.

Replying to the toast of 'The Guests, the Master of the Cambridge University Guild (Mr. J. D. Painter) expressed pleasure at being in Oxford, a city with which, he revealed, he probably had more connection than Cambridge. He regretted the absence of the Master of the London University Society (Mr. J. Armstrong), who was prevented from being present by a previous engagement.

The guest of honour. Mr. Paul Taylor, opened by mentioning his family connection with Oxford, which extended over a period of 150 years from a great-great uncle who manufactured clocks to the present day. He had a soft spot for the city because it was here that a Taylor family motto, a quotation concerning a dubious preoccupation on wet Saturday afternoons, was born.
Two bodies, both having caused inconvenience to the speaker, came in for a certain amount of abuse-British Railways and the Press. Two representatives of eminent national bapers tecame inebriated, during the Loughborough long peal, to an extent which not only rendered them incapable of efficiently reporting the event but also of finding their way to bed! Mr. Taylor added, however, that he thought much of the misunderstanding which arose amongst ringers and the public was often the fault of the former.
He concluded by entertaining the company with various tales about bellhanging and founding, and more especially with the eccentric characters amongst the workmen encountered behind the scenes.
The Master (Mr. P. R. Sanders), presenting his report, spoke with brevity and feeling on the subject of arranging the first dinner for some years, and quickly passed on to a survey of the ringing during the year. Ten peals (including one 'in hand ') had been rung. Those of note were London Surprise Major at Kidlington, Cambridge Surprise Major at Dorchester (the Society's 250th peal) and Little Bob Royal at Newcastle-under-Lyme during the taur (the Societyls 100th tower-bell peal). Seventeen quarter peals had been rung by the Society during the year, and the Master emphasised their value in improving striking. Joint meetings had been held with Reading and Southampeon University Societies, and an all-day outing to Bristol, arranged in conjunction with the Bristol University Society. had been much enjoyed, although not as well supported as it might have been.
The speeches finished, many of the company retired to Robin Pittman's room in Pembroke. where the tape recorder and liquid refreshment awaited them.

CHRISTCHURCH, N.Z.,

 CELEBRATE 75th ANNIVERSARYThe Master and members of the Christchurch Cathedral Bellringers' Society (N.Z.) express their thanks and appreciation to the members of the band who rang a peal of Grandsire Caters at the Church of St. Margaret, King's Lynn, to celebrate the 75th anniversary of the opening of the bells at Christchurch, New Zealand. We are most grateful to Mr, Norman Hardinge, who arranged the peal, and Mr. Frank Lufkin. the conductor.

Our Society has the distinction of being the most southern in the world, and though miles separate us, a gesture of this nature brings us very close together and encourages those 'down under' to greater efforts.

The 75th anniversary celebrations were the most ambitious the Society had ever attempted, and were a great success. On October 31st a thanksgiving service was held in the Chapel of St. George in the Cathedral at $10 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}$. There was an attendance of about 60 . The service was conducted by the Dean (the Very Rev. Martin Sullivan), while the Bishop (the Rt. Rev. A. K. Warren) preached the sermon. Among those in the congregation were relatives of Mr. R. H. Rhodes, donor of eight of the bells. The other two were given by Mr. E. P. Miles. Mr. A. C. Caldwell was present, representing the St. Peter's Cathedral Society, Hamilton, and Mr. W. Garton, a past Master, from Dunedin.

At $11 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}$. rounds and changes were rung on the full ten bells, as was done 75 years ago. In charge was the Master, Mr. R. G. D. Bennett. One of the veteran ringers was Mr. Gco. Claydon, who came from Birmingham in 1911 and taught many of the ringers taking part. On November 1st, the festival of the Cathedral, the bells were rung for Evensong. In the evening a reunion social was held, about 70 attending. Dean Sullivan presided and Bishop Warren gave a short address. Former members from many parts of New Zealand, their wives and other guests heard presegt members ring changes on handbells; several tunes specially arranged by Mr. Geo. Claydon were heard.

Among messages received from former members was one from Mr. J. B. Norris, who first rang in 1888 and remembered the earthquake which damaged the Cathedral, and another from Mr. Ben Shaw, a former English ringer, living at Wanganui, a former Master, who is now 87. Speakers were Mr. A. C. A. Caldwell. Mr. Geo. Claydon, who spoke on the activities of the Society over the years, and Mr. R. G. Bennett, the present Master.

A special anniversary cake, donated by Mrs. G. N. Sloan, was cut by Mr. Geo. Claydon.

OBITUARY

MR. ROWLAND J. FENN
With deep regret we record the passing on to higher service of Rowland John Fenn, of Barking, Essex, on February 16th. Rowland, the eldest of the three brothers Fenn, was born at Barking on March 15th, 1876, and learned to ring at St. Margaret's in 1895. At that time Barking was a hard school and a very high standard of ringing was insisted upon. Thus left its mark on Rowland, and his ringing and striking were a first-class example to all who had the privilege of ringing with him. He also insisted on strict punctuality. He was equally safe on tower- or handbells, and took part in the first performance of Harrison's 8,896 on handbells. He rang 3-4 to the first course of London Surprise ever rung on handbells, a feat which Nathan Pitstow described as next to impossible.
He was prevented by his work from ringing a large number of peals, but during his lifetime rang well over 100 , amongst them being the first peals of Double Norwich and Cambridge Surprise Major ever rung in the City of London. He joined the Ancient Society of College Youths in 1896, and always took a keen interest in its alfairs.

His passing breaks up a trio of brothers who have been prominent in ringing in London and Essex for over half a century, and Barking in particular will feel his loss very keenly. He was of quiet disposition, and of a friendly, courtcous nature.

A memorial service was held at St. Margaret's, Barking, on February 21 st, and amongst those present were Messrs. S. Aldgate, G. Cottis, G. Faulkner, F. Russell and A. Carter.

He leaves a widow and one son (nuw in $S$. Africa) to mourn his loss. and he will be sadly missed by his brothers Caleb and Ernest. Rowland was a great ringer and friend, and was loved and respected by all.

MR. C. H. HARDING

The news of the sudden death of Charles Henry Harding at the age of 42 came as a shock to all who knew him.

Henry spent the whole of his life in his beloved village of Blunham, Bedfordshire-a true son of the soil.

He left school at the age of 14, and shortly afterwards his father passed away, so Henry, being the eldest son, shouldered the responsibility of running the farm with only occasional belp. In spite of continual hard work, often seven days a week. he found time to worship and to learn to ring. He was taught along with athers by Mr. C. Ball, of Sandy, in 1933. In Jenuary, 1936. he rang his first peal, one of Flain Bob Minor, which he conducted.

It was in the pre-war days that his enthusiasm for peals was at its greatest, but he was ever ready and willing 10 teach others, always emphasising that service ringing came first. In 1955, mainly through his efforts, the bells of his own church were rehung and augmented, he himself giving the new bell.
His last peal was one of Doubles rung on February 2nd at Leighton Bromswold : he did not keen records, so it may be some time before Lh peal total is known.
fee was of a quiet and retiring nature, short in stuture, but with a large heart: his car was ured by all, often overloaded, but always well driven by the man with the big smile.

His church loses a loyal sidesman and ringer ; we who knew him so well will miss our true and sincere friend. Our hearts go out to his sorrowing mother. sister and brothers, not forsorrowing his fiance. Mary. whose marriage to him had been arranged to take place next Aueust.

Work has now ceased on the partly-buile house that would have been his home. in the country district where he lived and where his work was in the open air, very near to the

PRERENDARY A. J. HOOK

 AN APPRECIATIONMany who know and love the West Country will have read of the passing of Preb. A. J. Hook with deep regret. He was a kindly, modest and affectionate Master of the Bath and Wells Association for many years, and when he retired many of us missed the lovable character who had endeared himself to all.

When he presided over the annual meetings on Easter Mondays and preached at the services, it was always an inspiration; he seemed to leave thoughts in our minds, to make us feel better men and women for having listened to his words. As he lived, so he preached-love and charity to all men.
May his life and work be an example to us all, and as we remember him we may also remember the words which seem to apply: "They shall be mine, saith the Lord, in the day that 1 , make up my jewels.

The chairman, in acknowledging the compliment, said he considered Birmingham was his finishing school as regarded ringing. While there he learnt the pleasure of ringing on 12 bells, and now in London he did his best to make Stedman Cinques popular with young ringers. In London today they had a strong young element and they would always be attracted by good ringing. In recent months the average age of the ringers at St. Paul's had been 36, which showed the way things were going.

- I do not pretend to have done anything revolutionary in London. The Society of which I am Master was founded in 1647 and is sufficiently attractive to attract young men against all the outside attractions.'

He thanked them for the honour in letting him take the chair at a Henry Johnson dinner, and he would also like to thank the artistesMr. Albert E. Barley and Mr. Douglas Norgrove and the accompanist, Miss Dorothy Owen -for the excellent quality of the musical entertainment.

THE SPEED OF A PEAL

SURELY it is as absurd to suggest that a fast peal is a good one as to suggest that a slow peal is a bad one-or vice versa. The perfect peal, which has neven yet been rung, will be the one in which every blow throughout is struck clear, no dodges missed and a smooth rhythm maintained from beginning to end.

I do deprecate, however, the increasing frequency with which we read the footnote, "The quickest peal on the bells,' as if theme were some particular virtue in ringing a peal in record time, rather like running a mile in under four minutes. Surely the time-honoured custom of recording the time taken to ring a peal was in the first case very incidental-what mattered was that the peal had been rung.

It is somewhat unusual for the same speed of ringing to be maintained throughout a peal, and if you start slowly and speed up during the peal it depends at what point the faster ringing develops as to the time ultimately taken. The sort of thing I have noticed in say a threepart peal is that the first two parts have taken say one hour each and the last part has taken 57 minutes, with a resulting time of $2-57$. The peal could equally well have speeded up in the second part with a resulting time of 2-54.

I am prepared to accept that an experienced band, used to ringing together, is capable of ringing a reasonably fast peal and making a good job of it, but very fast ringing must be completely free of trips and all the band must be of the same mind. There is, however, reason in all things, and I frequently heave a huge sigh of relief when reading peal reports in 'The Ringing World' that I was not in the peal, although the bands concerned may have enjoyed the ringing and for all I know it may have been of an acceptable standard (I only know I would not have liked it). For instance, I have read recently of peals in two towers I know well-Cambridge Royal at St. Peter's, Brighton, in 3 hours and 7 minutes (what would dear old Keith Hart have said?), and Cambridge Major at Ely in 3 hours. I once rang Royal at Brighton in 3 hours and 14 minutes, and thought it too fast (peals taking 3-27 or so were much better), and there is so much hum at Ely that I would loathe anything under 3-10 (and another ten minutes beyond that would do no harm).

I well remember two peals at Barnet, Hertfordshire, to which I rang the 24 cwt .tenor. One was London in 2-58 and the other 'spliced ' in 3-12. The stower peal was infinitely better than the other one because you could hear the bells properly and they did not seem to be falling over one another all the time. On the other hand, I am not enamoured of aggressively slow ringing of the kind that was apparently attempted during a peal ringing week a few years ago, when peals of Major on $24 / 25 \mathrm{cw}$. rings of bells were taking as long as 3-45 or even in one case, if I remember, 3-50. Or this however, it must be said that the reputation of the ringers concerned is far too high for one to criticise lightly, and here again they may hâve liked it and no doubt were happy with the result-I only know it would not have appealed to me.
For my part, I have never yet come across a higher standard than some of the peals I was privileged to ring in North Essex immediately before the war. Their best ringers certainly wanted some beating. Missed dodges and bad blows had to be very much the exception or they were very soon visited with the wrath of my old friend Lewis $W$.

Wiffen who was, and happily still is, one of the finest ringers who ever stepped into a belfry. Their policy was to start a peal very slowly and gradually work up the pace, and if you have ringers who can strike their bells and a fairly heavy ring of bells this, as a way of spending a very pleasant Saturday afternoon, can be thoroughly recommended.

In short, let us abandon our current obsessions about speed, whether fast or slow, and strive to emulate the great exponents of the past in the matter of clear and accurate striking and complete freedom from trips and bad blows. There was a time when a trip meant the end of the attempt, and it would be much better for many of us if this were so still. There is nothing so salutary as losing a peal two or three courses from home-it makes you more careful next time! P. A. C.

KNOWLE'S 555 YEARS OF RINGING

SPECIAL services were held in the Collegiate Church of Knowle, Warwickshire, on February 24th, for it was on that very date in 1402 - 555 years ago - that the church was consecrated.
Although the history of Knowle Church can be traced back as far as 1217, the present church was erected at the cost of a Knowle man, Walter Cooke, between the years 1396 and 1402. Records of bells at Knowle go back to 1396. Originally there were two, "one large bell and one small.' Cooke, who died in 1423 , left 6 d . to two ringers tolling the bells at his funeral. By 1672, when the Chapelwardens ${ }^{2}$ Accounts begin, there were three bells. After frequent overhauls, the bells were all melted down and three new ones cast by Matthew Bagly in 1687. Whether these bells were cast at Chacomb, in Northants, or at Evesham, in Worcestershire, is not certain, for Bagly moved from Chacomb in that year and went to Evesham. According to the Chapelwardens' Accounts, which give every detail of the casting of the bells down to the writing of the contract, the bells were only brought from Warwick, ten miles away.
However, the Bagly bells lasted until 1897, Queen Victoria's Jubilee year, when to honour that occasion it was decided to increase the number of bells to six. At first it was intended that the old bells should ring side by side with the new ones, but this did not work out. The difference in tone was so noticeable that the old ones had to be recast rather than spoil the new 'six.' The ring was opened on Saturday, August 7th, 1897 - and our old friend Albert Walker was there! The first change ringing in Knowle was 720 changes of Bob Minor conducted by Mr. T. Miller. This was followed by 720 Kent Treble Bob conducted by Mr. W. Short. Other touches followed, and after a hearty meal given to the ringers, they rang a course of Grandsire Caters on handbells, conduzted by W. Short.

The war years 1914-1918 passed, and in 1981 two new bells were given to bring the ring up to the full octave. The treble was given in faemory of the Knowle men who fell in the World War I. The bells are a light ring, the tenor weighing only 10 cwt .7 lb .
Now, Knowle has passed another milestone in her history. What the next decade or so will bring cannot be said; of course. What is certain is that the ancient traditions and customs accumulated over five and a half centuries of ringing will be discharged, as always, in His servioe.

SUSSEX COUNTY ASSOCIATION

Eastern Division

The annual meeting of the Eastern Division was held at its usual venue, St. Mary's, Eastbourne, on February 23rd, when 50 members attended. The Master. Mr. S. E. Armstrong, was present and took the chair at the business meeting.
The secretary in his annual report stated that attendance at meetings during the past year had slightly increased with an average of 30 , and he thought that the standard of ringing had been maintained. By the beginning of 195726 new members and four life members had joined the Association, and he extended a special welcome to the Ewhurst band, who had recently become affiliated and were making good progress with help from Mr. W. Button, of Northiam tower.
The bells of the Division were generally in good order; improvements were in progress at Mavfield, including the recasting of the tenor, while repairs to the tenor clapper at St. Saviour's. Eastbourne, had been approved by the P.C.C
The report was adopted, and after electing several new members the meeting proceeded to elect its officers as follows : Secretary, Mr. H. G. F. Reynolds: Ringing Master, Mr. L. W. Giles: auditor. Mr. T. A. Hunnisett; committee, Mr. C. Verdon and Mrs. B. Percy; Central Council delegate. Mr. F. H. Dalloway.
The meeting closed with a vote of thanks for the use of the bells, and soon afterwards the handy eight were again in use in a variety of methods.

UNIVERSITY OF BRISTOL

The U.B.S.C.R. held its annual rag week outing on Wednesday, February 27th, and for a change was favoured with a fine day. The 17 members of the party, most of whom travelled on bicycles, set off independently and met at Chew Stoke (6) at 2 o'clock for the start of the day's ringing. A variety of methods was rung to cater for everyone's requirements.
During the course of the afternoon Nempnett Thrubwell (6), Compton Martin (6), Hinton Blewett (5) and Litton (6), where a belated tea was taken, were visited.
The day's ringing was brought to a close at Blagdon (8), where the Rector very kindly pointed out the interesting features of the church and showed us a priceless set of vestments. Meanwhile, some members, followed in due course by the remainder of the party, had retired to the local for further 'refreshment.' The tour ended in the very early hours of the morning after a long and tiring ride (or walk?) back to Bristol.
However, the outing was thoroughly enjoyed and voted a great success.

LEEDS & DISTRICT SOCIETY

An unexpected fall of snow somewhat reduced the attendance at the Society's meeting on February 23 rd at Birstall. However, by tea time 20 members had assembled and were able to enjoy the very good meal which had been provided by the local company.
At a short business meeting afterwards one new member was elected, and the Vicar, churchwardens and local company thanked for all they had done to make the meeting such a pleasant one.
The next meeting will be held at Hunslet on March 30th.

SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUH,  West Dorset Branch

The quarterly meeting of the West Dorset Branch was held at Bradpole on February 23 rd. Members present from Beaminster, Evershot, Loders, Lyme Regis, Netherbury and Whitechurch Canonicorum were joined in the evening by visitors from Yeovil and Stalbridge.
The bells were rung to Grandsire Doubles and Triples, and Kent T.B. and Cambridge Sarprise Major, prior to the service touch of Stedman Triples. The Guild service was conducted by the Rev. J. T. Davies (Vicar), the lesson read by Canon C. C. Cox, and the Rev. O. L. Willmott gave a most fitting address. The collection amounted to $14 /-$. Tea was served in the school by the Vicar's wife and several helpers.
At the business meeting Canon Cox said that February 20th was the 40th anniversary of the death of the Rev. Mr. Langford, a former vicar of Bradpole, who had done so much to further the art of change-ringing in West Dorset.
The date of the April meeting was fixed for the 27th at Symondsbury. It was agreed that a coach should run from Lyme Regis to Salisbury on May 18th for the Guild festival. Two new members were elected from Broadwindsor -Mr. L. Studley and Master E. Case.

In conclusion, the chairman thanked Rev. J. T. Davies, Rev. O. L. Willmott for his address. Miss Sutton for playing the harmonium, and Mrs. Davies and her lady helpers for their very adequate spread.

Who was the Ladies' Guild member who dropped a clanger at the Godalming meeting of the Southern District by in enquiring of the Guild president if her husband was a ringer?
Mr. Philip Mehew rang his 100th peal on January 13th at Keysoe. It was Mr. B. Bladon's 150th.
In honour of the wedding of Miss Juliette Garner-Hayward to Mr. Michael J. Brown, the bride's father, Mr. J. L. Garner-Hayward, corducted a peal of Bob Major at St. Michael's, Stoke-in-Coventry, on March 9th.

Addington. Surrey, bells were dedicated on February 24th by the Bishop of Croydon. A quarter peal of Cambridge Surprise Major was rung on them the same day, conducted by Mr. R. Bird.

Ringing in a quarter peal at Frome in honour of the centenary of the birth of Lord BadenPowell were three members of the movementa member of the Trefoil Guild, a Guider and an ex-Scout ; also Mr. W. Mills, who rang for the relief of Mafeking.
Mr. D. J. Pitstow, who has been secretary of St. Andrew's, Rugby, for the past tee years, is leaving for Newcastle-under-Lyme. Following a farewell quarter of Stedman Triples which he conducted, he was presented by the Ringing Master (Mr. W. J. Vann) with a fountain pen as an appreciation of his services to the band.

Mr. Albert H. Kemp, Master and peal secretary to the Hawkhurst and District Guild, informs us that the peal of Doubles in three methods rung on April 10th, 1948, was rung at St. Giles', Bodiam. Sussex, and not at St. Nicholas', Sandhurst. Kent. as the Rev. K. W. H . Felstead states. We have forwarded to Mr . Felstead the list of peals rung at Bodiam and Sandhurst as supplied to us by Mr. Kemp.

GOSSIP

In our report of the Henry Johnson dinner we were misinformed that the Coventry Guild were holding their annual dinner. The function was a rally of all bellringers of the diocese. Mr. Garner-Hayward writes: The date was given by the Bishop of the diocese, who wished to meet all his church bellringers, so unfortunately I could not do anything about it. I was very sorry that the dates clashed as I look forward to the Henry Johnson dinner as I am sure do many members of our Guild. Sorry, George.

While a difficult signature to read might be admirable as a safeguard for cheques, it is a - holy terror' for editors. Will those who indulge in such signatures kindly print their names in block capitals?

The band who rang the long peal of 7,200 Treble Bob Minor at Gamston, Notts, were afterwards congratulated by the Rev. S. M. I. Salt and Mrs. Salt on the striking. It was a very good peal with a few slight trips, reports the conductor.

The peal rung at Wormingford on March 8th was arranged for St. David's Day, but owing to a death in the village the Vicar kindly asked the band to postpone it to the following Friday. Just prior to the start news was received of the passing of Mr. Horace J. Mansfield, a valued member of the Essex Association. It was therefore decided to attempt to ring a first-class peal as a tribute to this grand English gentleman.

Veterans with Crayford connections and younger ringers in the Tiverton-Wiveliscombe area will unite in wishing Mr. Ernest H. Oxenham, Bampton, Devon, a speedy return to good health. He entered the Royal Devon and Exeter Hospital last week for a major operation. Up to a month ago he never missed a service or a practice. He has been a constant supporter of 'R.W.' since publication No. 1.

RINGERS RALLY AT WARWICK COVENTRY GUILD'S GREAT GATHERING

HE Coventry Diocesan Guild held on March 2nd at St. Mary's Church, Warwick, what is believed to be the first time ever in its 50 years' history a rally of all church bellringers in the diocese. The invitation was extended to all members of the Guild and also to non-members, the object of the rally being to enable the new Bishop of Coventry, Dr. Cuthbert Bardsley, to meet them.

Ringing commenced at 1 p.m. with the St. Mary's band raising the bells, who opened the afternoon's ringing with a touch of Grandsire Caters. From then until 4 p.m. the ringing was taken over at ten-minute intervals by nominated bands, and varied from rounds on six, callchanges and Grandsire Doubles on six, Grandsire and Stedman Triples, and Bob Major on eight, Grandsire and Stedman Caters with Bob Royal on ten. All bands rang the same number of bells as their home tower, all sixes using the front six.

The standard of striking was commendably high by all the bands taking part, and has certainly provided food for thought on other meetings. The timetable worked out perfectly, with the one exception that Stoke-in-Coventry were unable to take up the time given to them, which caused other bands to be called upon to ring ten minutes before the time allotted to them. All were able to fit into the new timetable and the programme went through without another hitch. When the Stoke band did arrive they were at once fitted in.

One hundred and sixteen ringers participated in this part of the programme. A special band was selected from as many towers as possible to ring a service touch from 4 to 4.15 p.m. This was indeed ringing near to perfect, and who would expect it to be otherwise with such an audience of listeners?

RINGING CHAMBERS A DISGRACE

The service in St. Mary's Church, which was attended by about 250 ringers and friends, was conducted by the Rev. Joseph McCulloch and was fully choral. The Guild service was used and the address was given by the Lord Bishop, who is the Guild patron. In his address he referred to some ringing chambers as a disgrace to their church. and reminded ringers they could do much for themselves in this respect. He said how much he appreciated the work they were doing in keeping the very English art of bellringing alive, and hoped they would ensure its continuance by training young people to follow on, and keep the bells of our churches ringing for future generations.
Tea was afterwards served in St. Mary's Church Hall to a gathering packed so tightly that it was almost impossible to eat without poking your elbow in someone else's cup of tea. Fortunately, it was served buffet style, and this enabled the Bishop to move round the room and have a chat with many of them.

Dr. Bardsley eventually went on the platform with the hon. secretary and addressed the gathering. He said how delighted he was at being given such a wonderful opporturfity to meet so many of them, and hoped that such a gathering would be held at least once in every two or three years as he felt that much good would come from it. He said how pleased he was to see so many young boys and girls present. and also referred to the octogenarians, many of whom he had met during tea.

The hon. secretary (Mr. J. L. Garner-Hayward) thanked tho Bishop for his inspiring address and assured him of the support of the Guild in his diocese, and he thanked also the Rector and churchwardens of St. Mary's Church for co-operating so readily with the suggestion that the meeting be held at Warwick, and for the use of the Church Hall.

After tea the ringers returned to the tower, where under the Ringing Master, Mr. R. J. Edden, many were catered for, from rounds to Cambridge Royal. The bells were lowered at about 9 p.m. to close what had certainly been a memorable occasion for many ringers.
Visitors were present from as far afield as Nottingham and as near as Coleshill. Had St. Mary's ringing chamber ever been packed with so many ringers before, 1 wonder? The following towers were represented: Alderminster, Allesley, Alveston, Berkswell, Burton Dassett, Bilton, Bidford-on-Avon, Bulkington. Dunchurch, Farnborough, Chilvers Coton, Cubbington, Harbury, Honiley, Kenilworth. Keresley, Fenny Compton, Ladbrooke, Leamington Spa, Leek Wootton, Lillington. Newbold-on-Avon, Preston-on-Stour, Rugby, Stratford-on-A yon, Stoke-in-Coventry, Warwick, Wellesbourne. Whitnash. Wolvey, Southam, and several unattached ringers.

REDEDICATION

BRANTON BROUGHTON, LINCS ${ }^{-}$

This well-known ring of six bells has recently been rehung on ball-bearings by Messrs. Tay!or, of Loughborough, and a good deal of other necessary work has been done at a total cost of over $£ 300$. The work was dedicated by the Archdeacon of Lincoln on February 22nd.

After the service ringers from Newark and from Lincoln Cathedral joined the local team, and ringing went on for an hour-and-a-half. The visitors expressed themselves delighted with the improvement in the handling of the bells. This is one of the heaviest rings of six in the country, the tenor being $23 \frac{3}{4} \mathrm{cwt}$.
At the dedication Evensong was sung by tho Rector with the choir in attendance, Mr. $\mathbf{O}$. Lintern, F.R.C.O., being at the organ. The ringers were Messrs. E. Brown (tower Master), C. Pitchford. T. Rogers, J. Marshall, C. Jackson, F. Derry and D. Briggs.

DOWN SOMERSET WAY. - A happy picture of the 70 ringers and their wives who accepted the invitation of Wellington Parish Church for a social evening on February 9th. An hour's ringing preceded the event for the benefit of the young ringers who wished to score the tower.

During the refreshment interval the Vicar (the Rev. J. W. Lloyd) welcomed everyone present and hoped the social woukd becone an annual event. He was pleased to say that two of the three rings of bells in his charge. ware being rung regularly, and that he had received an estimate for reconditioning the bells at Nynehead, although the work was not contemplated in the near future. Mr. A. H. Reed, secretary of the Taunton Dcanery Branch, responded on behalf of the visitors.. Mr. F. W. Slocambe was an efficient M.C.

FOUR-BELL TOWERS CREATE GREAT INTEREST

MR. DOVE REQUIRES INFORMATION
Dear Sir,-Replying to Messrs. W. J. Paice and Peter Bond, following the suggestion by Mr. D. P. Jones that four-bell towers might be included in a future cdition of the 'Guide,' I have started to collect the information, but I think it may prove no small task.

Mr. Jones seems to imply that rings of four are not numerous, which is not my impression. In Yorkshire, for example, they are more numerous than rings of five. Admittedly the percentage of five in this part of the country is exceptionally small and the same preponderence of fours over fives may not obtain in other parts of the country.

Rings of four are seldom hung nowadays and their number is declining steadily-some 16 were- increased to five or six bells since the first edition of the 'Guide,' in 1950, and one has already joined the list of six-bell towess since the second cdition, a few months ago.

Doubtless the cost will be an important factor in deciding whether or not these towers can be included, and the cost in turn will depend upon the number of such towers.

In the meantime $I$ shall be pleased to receive any information concerning four-bell towers where the bells are ringable, but I make no promise that the list may be complete or that, in these days of steadily rising costs, it will appear at all.
R. H. DOVE.

VOLUNTEER SYSTEM SUGGESTED

Dear Sir.-The recent correspondence on the subject of four-bell towers is a healthy sign that bellringing intercst is heing awakened in churches beyond the limits of the ringable 5,000 . I belicve that anything which serves to draw attention to the vast scope for expansion of the ringing service to the Church is a good thing, and it seems that such a suoplement to the "Guide,' as suggestcd, might help in this. In my own Rural Deanery there are only four ringable rings in 18 churches.

1 do not know what method Mr. Dove used in compiling his original work, but it seems that if a volunteer could be found from each Deanery to investigate and report, complete and accurate information could he readily obtained, not only of ringable four-bell towers hut others as well, if desired. Their representative on the Ruri-decanal Council would give a list of churches in the Deanery, and the figures for the diocesan auota would indicate what chanzes theic might be for restorations or augmentations from the financial point of view. Daughter churches are not shown in these lists, but the parish magazines would reveal them.

If Mr. Dove is interested in pressing forward any idea of this kind I should be pleased to volunteer to supply information for the Rural Deanery of Battle and Bexhill.-Yours faithfully,
C. E. VERDON.

A COMPREHENSIVE LIST

Dear Sir,-I see in 'The Ringing World' for March 1st there are two letters about four-bell towers in reply to the original letter on the subject by Mr. Derek Jones.
This has prompted me to write, for 1 feel that some readers might be interested in knowing of a few more 'ringable' four-bell towers. The following is a list that I have so far gathered together during the past few months, and although I have visited very few of these, I understand that the bells are 'ringable.'

I hope that these lists might be of some use to those who are interested in four-bell towers, and I heartily agree with those who have already written, that a supplement to Mr. Dove's excellent book would be very much ap-preciated.-Yours sincerely,

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

CHAPERONE FOR EARLY LADY RINGER
Dear Sir,-Your front page article about the early days of lady ringers made me recall the first decade of this century, when 1 had the privilege and pleasure of ringing regularly for several years with Miss Eva N. Belcher, whose home was in Fleet, Hampshire.

She used to ring with our band, at Shipton-under-Wychwood, Oxfordshire, on Fridays for practice and on Sundays for services. Always the aged, retired village schoolmaster (who was also a ringer) met her and brought her to the ringing chamber, stayed during the ringing and escorted her off the premises at its conclusion. How many lady ringers in 1957 have a chaperone of this kind?
In 1910 Miss Belcher rang a peal of Stedman Triples which I conducted, and in 1912 she rang in the first ladies' peal at Cubitt Town.Yours sincerely,

UNRINGABLE BELLS IN SUFFOLK

Dear Sir,-Mr. E. J. Rowe, in last week's issue of 'The Ringing World' states that there are 43 rings in Suffolk which are out of order. I have not Mr. Rowe's address, but I could give him a list of towers which total between 60 and 70 with bells either derelict, UR or atleged UR.

The above total is more than likely to become greater. Those who have visited the county for tours, etc., know of churches standing in the middle of fields, or having only half a dozen houses around them. When the bells and other parts of the church require attention there seems little hope of much being done in these isolated localities.
Mr. Rush once mentioned Gislingham as likely to become a ruin; the conditions in the church and tower there are really deplorable: hundreds of pounds would be needed for tower and bells only. This is only one instance. These bells and Bildeston, incidentally two of the heaviest sixes in the county, are both derelict.-Yours, etc.,
U. W. WILDNEY.

LONG PEALS OF DOUBLES

Dear Sir,-Can any reader supply particulars of any peal of Doubles which excceds the one of 10,080 rung at Whaplode, Lincs, on Fcbruary 27th, 1775 , in 7 hours and 26 minutes.-Yours sincerely, Marston, Oxford.

BAN WOMEN

Dear Sir.-If female ringers are now to be recruited from the ranks of street pick-ups perhaps, after all, we should have been right, years ago, to persist in our efforts to ban women from our belfries.-Yours, etc.,

THE MAN FROM PHILADELPHIA

Dear Sir,-Now that I am back again in Philadelphia I am writing (rather belatedly) to thank 'The Ringing World' for all the articles and flattering comment published in your unique paper. When I landed on May 7th, 1956, in green and lovely Old England (and what a thrill that was after nearly 50 years!) I had no idea that I was in for such a grand time. I fully intended to take up where I left off in 1909. At first I was rather discouraged, as it was a little difficult to get the 'feel' of a bell after such a long rest; there also seemed to be a terrific number of ropes (more ropes than bells), but brother Bob gave me a little tuition with a lashed bell, and it all came back to me with a rush. Everybody was extremely kind and it was fine meeting old friends and new of Kettering, Rothwell, Barton Seagrave, Burton Latimer and many other places. I particularly remember the ringers at Barton, who always greeted us warmly and gave me every encouragement, as did all the ringers everywhere. My two weeks at Bournemouth I remember with pleasure, ringing at St. Peter's and St. John's several times, and at Christchurch Abbey, a great ring of 12 .

My visit to Devon particularly stands out, thanks to Mr. Ernest Rowe, of Sidmouth, although he must have added considerably to my grey hairs, tearing around in his little 1935 Austin. I was always apprehensive of what was waiting for us around the corner of those narrow, steep and winding Devon roads. If I didn't press holes in his floorboards, pressing on imaginary brakes, it was no fault of mine, but I needn't have worried, as he was a very cfficient driver, and we came through all right.

We sure did 'go places'-two, three and four towers every night and also on Sunday, including the noble bells of Exeter Cathedral. I also rang my first peal after 48 years at Brampton Speke (Bob Minor). Thanks, Mr. Rowe, and all who co-operated, for such a wonderful time! Thanks, also, to the Northampton ringers, with whom my brother Bob and I rasg a peal of Bob Major at St. Edmund's Church, Northampton, on September 27th.

I owe many thanks to Patrick E. Chapman for his two articles in "The Ringing World,' which helped me on my way. I spent my last Friday night at Thorpe-le-Soken, where the ringers made me so welcome and insisted that I rang every bell in the tower. Thanks, Thorpe. Thanks again everybody for such a marvellous six months, especially the Kettering ringers and brather Bob.-Sincerely yours,

M. A. TURNER.  (The man from Philadelphia.)

P.S.- While in England I received an invitation from Kent School, Conn., U.S.A., and recently I availed myself of the opportunity of visiting that fine school for boys, one of the very few places in the U.S.A. where bellringing is practised. There is a very good ring of ten bells (tenor 27 cwt .), also a band of fine young men to ring them. They have made a good start in the art but need lots of practice and some advice. I hope I was able to help them to some extent. I enioyed the wrestling and basketball matches, to say nothing of the movies and the food, but above all, of course, the bellringing. Thanks to Mr. William E. Howard, faculty adviser to the Ringers' Guild, Mr. Chris Whitman and to all the boys who did so much to make my visit such an enjoyable one. I hope to visit them again in the not too far distant future. They would like to get a set of handbells. Are there any to be had

RE PEALS AT HOAR CROSS
Dear Sir,-My letter on this subject was intended as a warning against this 'Quickest peal on the bells' footnote. I have rung several peals in which this claim could legitimately have been made, but have refrained from doing so because even on light bells it seems pointless and rather foolish, inviting the comment 'So what?' and, on a ring of bells of great weight and beauty like those at Hoar Cross it shows remarkable lack of good taste.

This lack of good taste is further illustrated in Mr. B. G. Warwick's letter, in which he makes personal criticisms of my ringing, of which he has little first-hand knowledge, nor is he in a position to make presumptions upon the quality of our peal at Hoar Cross in 1955 , in which I can assure him that the allegations he makes are not borne out by facts. I am given to understand that the majority of extents in the peal he conducted there recently took 30 minutes, which is, after all, what I tried to demonstrate from personal experience.

I am not afraid of hard work on bells but am of the opinion that this should be devoted to the achievement of polish and not to the foolish and undignified beating of other people's times.-Yours faithfully,

Derby.
, D. P. JONES.

FACTS WRONG

Dear Sir,-I hope that anyone reading Mr. B. G. Warwick's letter re the peal at Hoar Cross will take it with the proverbial 'pinch of salt.'

When I rang the tenor to a peal I took 32 minutes for the first 720 and 30 minutes for each succeeding one, and 1 had to work.

I think that Mr. Warwick has his facts wrong when he states that to ring a slow peal the bell is ringing the tenor man. It is utter and absolute nonsense and if $\mathbf{M r}$. Warwick knew anything about" applied mathematics he would realise this! The moment of inertia of a 28 cwt. tenor is considerable; it is not a bell that can be thrown about to the whim of its ringer, unless that person be a superman. By ringing such a tenor high (slowly) it enables the tenor man to cut under in his dodges with a reasonable certainty of having full control of the bell at the succeeding stroke. (Mr. Warwick can apply the simple equation of force times distance here, if he likes.)
Thus if a heavy tenor is being rung at speed it means that the front end will have to work like mad to keep out of his way. For unless the tenor ringer be another incarnate Samson, he can only but pause where he should dodge, and the rest of the bells would have to work round him.
May I close this letter by hoping that Mr. Warwick's definition of a well-struek peal does not differ from that of the rest of the Exercise? - Yours sincerely,

JOHN E. COOK.
Branston, near Lincoln.

BEWDLEY RINGERS' DINNER

With the Rector (the Rev. R. A. Jones) in the chair, St. Ann's Voluntary Bellringers' Association, Bewdley, held their second annual dinner on February 15th, when about 20 members and friends sat down to an excellent meal. Guests were Ald. W. E. James (who deputised for the Mayor and Mayoress), Mr. Bernard Ashford (hon. secretary of the Northern Branch, Worcestershire and Districts Association), Messrs. A. Glazzard. Hicks and Boxley.

In proposing the toast of "The St. Ann's Association, Mr. Ashford congratulated the members on their excellent progress and also upon the reconditioning of the bells and fittings. The Rector, in reply, said he was very oleased to hear the bells ringing again for church services. The visitors were toasted on the call of the Master (Mr. R. Sayers), who spoke in aopreciafion of the helo so readily piven by Mr. Ashford and friends. A fine performance on handbells was given by Mr. Ashford and his party.

A PEAL IN EVERY RINGING TOWER IN LEICESTERSHIRE

1 mentioned the Ratby ringers who went around with me in their District-well, before they would join the M.C.A. they wanted to ring a peal; so with my friend, the late T. Henry Hardy, we rang the first there as a non-Association peal. Following this we went regularly to weekly practices and gradually worked up to seven methods, ringing peals here and there meanwhile. These included 7,200 at Desford and 10,080 at Ratby, which is still the longest Minor peal in the Midlands. a tablet for this and said: 'If I put it in the belfry only ringers can see it-but in the church porch everyone can see it!' So there it is, and has been for over 40 years! The present churchwarden is Harold Spencer, one of the ringers, as was his late father and brother John W. Spencer. Of the latter we read in "The Great Adventure,' p. 42 :
before migrating to Australia in August, 1912, he was a ringer at Groby, where he rang a few peals of Minor. Two days before he left England he rang a farewell peal of seven methods, which was conducted by Ernest Morris.
Mr. Spencer rang in peals of Bob Royal and the first peal of Cinques ever rung outside the British Isles, during the English ringers' tour at Melbourne Cathedral
Leicestershire has three 5 -bell towers which are central (two now increased to six bells), and each entirely different in style and architecture, viz.: Long Clawson, Somerby and Thurnby.
At Long Clawson the five bells are difficult to ring owing to the long draught of rope. Ringing is done from the ground floor in the centre of the church between chancel, nave and transepts, open on all sides, and without guides to the roof 40 ft . above. Only one full peal of 5,040 Doubles has yet been rung here (November, 1927), which 1 had the pleasure of conducting, and to make more safe ringing I asked the local Framland Socicty to make the band. In it were two William Smiths. one on treble, the other on the tenor-the treble one being on holiday from Australia (Sydney) and a native of this village. Before starting for this peal I reluctantly climbed the thin iron ladder, let down from the roof to the floor, nowhere near a wall, to take off inscriptions of the bells. The ascent was bad enough, but the descent! What an ordeal-happily performed without mishap.

SOMERBY'S NOVEL TOWER

At Somerby is a tower and spire placed between nave and chancel without transepts. Its style is peculiar, as the tower base is narrower than either the chancel or nave, and so forms a sort of corridor between the two. The ringers are on ground floor and thus stand betwcen the congregation and the choir. Several peals of Doubles were ning here. and onc of Grandsire I conducted is worthy of notice as we took each bell as the plain hunt. starting with 5th then 4th. and so on to the treble, and each 120 started and ended with rounds. Only one or two other peals have been rung in this way, which is most interesting and very tricky, especially when changing hunt bells at end of one and beginning of another 120 . I would recommend this system to those tower bands who have difficulty in getting beyond the Grandsire stage. In 1949 Somerby bells were augmented to six.
Thurnby central tower ringing chamber is reached via a spiral stairway in the transept, from whence a short walk over the leads takes one into the tower. I called the first peal here in 1921. and the bells being in the next storcy above were very loud. Since that time (1926) the bells were rehung on ball-bearings and in 1952 increased to six. The noise has abated.

AWKWARD CIRCLES

Blaby, bells were made five by Wamer's in 1887, but only one peal of Doubles rung on them in 1920, the bells going most difficult, and today are unringable. Here the 'circle' is awkward. having 5123 close together and 4 a distance away. The old five of Bowden Magna were also unusual by having the treble in the middle, and the other four in each corner of the tower. In 1926 they were rehung. and the first peal scored on July 17th of that year. As a result of the Editor putting a footnote to some correspondence. I was invited again, and called another peal here in 1953. In 1954 a treble was added, making six.
Hougiton-on-the-Hill (5) were augmented from four by the gift of a treble by Squire Fortrey, of Norton-by-Galby (already mentioned), in 1771 . When I visited the place in 1922 they were in a shocking condition. and an attempt to ring a peal had to be abandoned owing to the rough "go." The treble hangs high above the others, and a brick chimney goes up through the bottom frame. My Billesdon friends did the same here as at Galby, patching up wheels, tightening frame. etc., and in 1930 the first and only peal here was accomplished. A footnote adds: The tenor man (Norman Geary) is to be congratulated on his ringing so well such a bad-going, false-struck bell.' This bell-rope comes down a few inches from the back panel of the organ, making ringing even more uncomfortable. At the present time the bells are unringable.

EXHAUSTED AND BLISTERED

The first peal at Humberstone ( 6 , tenor 20 cWt.) was a memorial one to King Edward VII in 1910. When I asked permission, the Vicar said I could go providing I took my own muffles. This I did by taking the top six from St. Margaret's. We found the bells in a shocking state, bearings devoid of any lubrication whatever. We found some oil but it was too thin, so i sent H. Hardy for some lard from the village while I put muffles on. We eventually started the peal, and I shall ever remember this tenor! When well on in the peal 1 told the band 1 did not think I could 'stick it' but would go to the end of that 720 . It seemed a bit better then and so we went through to the bitter end. I dropped on a form nearby thoroughly exhausted and with handfuls of blisters. Considering the state of affairs the peal was well struck, as attested by the late Mr. Pettitt. a Northants ringer. who, unknown to us. heard the last half and congratulated us afterwards.

When finished, and before I had donned my coat, the Vicar called from below. and one of the locals who had come up said: 'Now you are for it-he's a tartar!' I descended this awful ladder, straight down the wall some 40 feet, and the Vicar, a tall, athletic University 'blue,' said: 'Well, what have you done?' I explained about the peal and the great task it had been, showed him my blistered hands, and he remarked: 'I expect you are thirsty now. Do you drink beer? I replied that I did not but the older ones did. Putting his hand in his pocket he gave me 3/\%, saying: 'Spend it how you like!, Needless to say, we repaired to the 'Windmill ' nearhy to spend our reward (and a bit more) on the refreshment we needed so badly.
I said I would never po there again, but I did. and called a peal of Bob Minor and Grandsire Doubles spliced in 720's by Mr. Alhert J. Pitman. Now the organ has heen moved from the east to the west of the church. blocking up the tower arch and occupying half the belfry. One still climbs that awful ladder, but some distance up you go through a chimney-like partition through the organ fixtures. In 1947 the bells were put on hall-bearings. but with this rgan arrangement the "circle" of ropes is awkward and ringine uncomfortable. I have since called a Minor peal here.

Although 'warned off' this place-Market Bosworth-if anyone had ambitions for a peal on the ancient and hefty-going ring of five, a band was found willing to try after asking for volunteers, who must be 'heroes' who would not mind some pain. Although the more ambitious wanted to try 'umpteen' methods. after a preliminary half six-score as a "feeler," it was decided to stick to Grandsire. In spite of the weight and slow turning of the bells, a good peal was rung, as was testified by the locals afterwards. A nice lot of medals-in the form of blisters-was on show at the conclusion, and the conductor ( mc ) had one, not on view, about six inches long near the place where medals are usually worn. In 1950 these old five bells were taken down and auginented to eight by addition of three lighter bells, all rehung in a new iron and steel frame, on ball-bearings, and now form a grand octave.

- THE IMPOSSIBLES

Skeffington (5) and Shawell (5) are both impossible owing to the dilapidated state of the frames and fittings. Many years ago we did try at Shawell, near Lutterworth. to get a peal but conditions proved too much against it. Finding the bells in such awful conditions we cleared up what we could, oiled bearings, spliced up ropes, etc. We noticed there were two stays missing, so when we pulled the bells up the ringers of these two were prepared to hold them on the balance, which they did when 'Stand' was called. Imagine our amazement when two of the other ropes went sailing up out of sight. the ringers having the sense to let go. Falling the other three we investigated and found these two had stays but no slides! Unravelling the ropes we tried again, and after several abortive attempts did manage a 120 ! but under these conditions decided a full peal was impossible. However, we had a good time, the Rector entertained us to tea and a tour of his extensive gardens and grounds.
Another 'impossible' is at Stapleford. where the church-like that of Staunton Harold-is in private grounds. The seating in the church is like a Guild chapel, the pews facing the centre aisle and not east. In the tower is a huge chime barrel that has never been used for over a century, rusted up and covered in dust and dirt. The six bells likewise, and they hang dead, so cannot be rung, and the chime hammers, wires and fittings are in a deplorable state.
After waiting 20 years from my first attempt for a peal at Croxton Kerrial (6). when the tenor rope cast whecl. I went again in 1947. I was duly 'warned off ' as the 'go' of the bells was shocking, but a first-class band who promised to 'stick to it' made the attempt. The second casts wheel frequently and plays tricks! but Ernest Bartram handled it perfectly. The third and fourth ringers are divided by a clock case which is provided with glass panels to they can see each other-and didn't they make faces through it! The tenor is 94 cwt . and goes ten times its weight. It was rung by Joseph A. Fenton to his first (and only) deal of Minor! But the fifth! Its wheel was all askew and not only tended to throw the rope off but groaned every time it went round making fearful noises and I was scared it might collapse any minute. 1 stood as near the wall as possible in case it did! However. despite these difficulties, we got a good and well-struck peal.

During a peal I called at Misterton an amusing incident occurred in wheh an elderly local lady church cleaner took part. During the first 720 the belify door was opened. to the surprise of the band, to admit the aforesaid lady, who at once commenced her duties in the helfry, weaving her way between ringers. colleztints buckets, brushes. soap and various other items. and then eniered the church by ihe only other door in the dividing screen to the much louder

MR. C. HENRY HARDING

The Church of St. James, Blunham, Beds, was full on February 28ith for the funeral service of Mr. C. Henry Harding.
Among the 50 or so ringers present were representatives from the Ely Diocesan Guild. the Peterborough Diocesan Guild, the Hertford County Association, and from nearly every tower in the county where change-ringing is practised. Floral tributes numbered 62.

During the evening half-muffled quarter peals were rung at Blunham and Tempsford.
Unfortunately the peal attempts failed Grandsire Triples at Maulden on February 28th after $2 \frac{3}{4}$ hours, and Treble Bob Minor at Blunham on March 2nd after $2 \ddagger$ hours.

APPRECIATIONS

It came as a great shock to me, as to all his ringing friends, to hear of the sudden death at an early age of Henry Harding. of Blunham. Only three weeks previously, although happily 1 was unaware of it at the time, 1 conducted what proved to be his last peal, the first ever rung on the heavy five at Leighton Bromswold, which he very much enjoyed. In that peal he rang as we shall always remember him, placing a difficult light bell exactly in the right position for hour after hour. I shall never forget his immaculate performance on the treble at St Neots a little while previously.

After the Leighton peal, he showed me another admirable side of his character, by driving many miles out of his way to put me on a bus route home. It was that same generosity which contributed vary largely to the provision of a fine rehung six at his own tower, Blunham.

Yes, Henry is going to be sadly missed in Bedfordshire and his passing is a loss to the Exercise of one of its best. D. P. J.

The news of the sudden passing of Henry Harding was received with a tremendous shock by ringers in the Kettering area. Henry was a familiar figure at meetings and also at the Kettering tower, where he will be sadly missed. A competent ringer and good striker, he was always willing to impart his knowledge to learners. The Bedfordshire Association has lost a valued member at a comparatively early age.
He was laid to rest at Blunham on February 28 th, and the large number of ringers and friends who gathered to pay their last respects was an outstanding symbol of the high esterm in which he was held. Besides the ringers of the Bedfordshire Association representatives of the Peterborough Diocesan Guild and the Ely Diocesan Association werc present. Sympathy is extended to members of Henry's family and also to his fiance. Miss Mary Arkinstall, in their sad bereavement.
May God rest his soul.

MR. SIDNEY JAMES JESSOP

Boston Parish Church has lost a faithful servant and ringer by the passing of Sidney James Jessop on February 7th. He was taken ill while at work and died in a few minutes. His death came as a great shock to a! who knew him.
His record for Sundav service ringing was wonderful: except for holidays, he was present twice every Sunday at the famous Stump. where he had been a ringer for about 36 years. He rang 22 peals and his favourite method was Grandsire.

MR. GEORGE F. WOODHOUSE
We regret to announce the death on March 9 th of Mr. George $F$. Woodhouse. of High field. Scdbergh, Yorks, aged 82 years. He was a member of the Cambridge University Guild at the time of Mr. E. H. Lewis. The ringing machine he constructed has been admired bo hundreds of ringers.

MR. HORACE J. MANSFIELD

It is with very deep regret that the ringing friends of Mr. H. J. Mansfield received the news of his sudden passing on March 4th at the age of 72 years. A life-long member of the Essex Association, he was respected by all for his outstanding qualities, not only as a ringer but in many other walks of life. He was elected a member of the Central Council in 1945 and had held office continuously until his death.
On Friday, March 8th, many of his friends assembled at All Saints', Maldon, to pay their last respect to this great veteran, who had endeared himself to all. Before the cortege arrived at the church. members of the Essex Association rang a short touch of Grandsire with the bells open, as was his wish. There was present a congregation of some 500 people-all his friends. The Rector (Rev. Mr. Irons) paid tribute to those great qualities which made him such a natural leader of men.

Then in the overcast afternoon we saw his mortal remains laid to rest in the cemetery on the hillside. Four members of the Association took up the bells he had rung on so many occasions, and we bade goodbye with the sound of Grandsire in our ears.
'Well done, thou good and faithful servant.'

MR. W. E. G. HEWSON

It is with much regret we have to announce the death of Mr. William Everard Gardiner Hewson. of Castle Hewson, Askeaton, County Limerick, aged 82 . From his boyhood Mr. Hewson evinced a keen interost in bells-their casting, hanging and ringing. He learned to ring in Cheshire when he was a very young man, and later visited many English towers.
He was a familiar figure in the leading bell foundries, watching the process of bells in the making. But his greatest and most practical interest lay in the bells of St. Mary's Cathedral, Limerick. In the year 1907 he presented a new fourth bell, replacing one which was defective. About the year 1930, when it was deemed unsafe to continue the ringing of the Cathedral bells. owing to their dilapidated condition, he threw all his energy into effecting a thorough and complete renovation of the bells, which constituted a "patchwork" ring.
He commenced by having the tenor recastit was originally one of Purdue's bells, cast and set up in the year 1673-and subsequently had five of the remaining bells recast, viz., the treble. 2nd, 5 th. 6 th and 7 th, and all rehung in the most modern method. It was due to his untiring energy and 'drive, coupled with his very generous financial help. that this work was carried out. All the recasting and rehanging was most efficiently carried out by Messrs. John Taylor and Co. When the work was completed, about 1938, the ring was-and still is-one of the most satisfying in Ireland.
Mir. Hewson became a ringing member of the Irish Association in 1906, and he was elected to life membership in 1951. As a great personal friend of the late Gabriel Lindoff he rang at many of the lrish towars with him.
As his remains were borne into the Cathedral on the evening of February 12th, the Cathedral ringers rang a half-mufffed touch as a token of respect to his memory.
J. A. H.

MR, JOHN SMITH

Mr. John Smith. who died on January 20th, aged 79 years, was a ringer at St. John's. Shildon. in his youth and later at St. Andrew's, Bishop Auckland, for over 40 years, although in later years his health would not allow him to carry on with ringing. He was a regular worshipper at St. Andrew's.

Sympathy is felt for his only son. Mr. F. Smith, a former ringer at Bishop Auckland, but who hind to give up ringing owing to a physical disability.

MR. G. P. SCHLUETER
On January 11th Mr. George Peter Schlueter passed to his rest, aged 66.
For many years he was a regular ringer at St. Mary's, Great Dunmow, Essex, and had taken part in a number of peals for the Essex Association. He was also a member of the Police Guild, and retired from the Metropolitan Police in 1930 with the rank of sergeant. George had suffered a number of illnesses.
He will be greatly misscd by his fellow ringers at St. Mary's, where he was always ready to give a helping hand.

THE LADIES' GUILD

What the Ladies' Guild (Southern District) lacked in numbers it made up for in good spirits at its meeting at Godalming on March 2nd.
The bells were raised at 3 p.m. prompt by two of the ladies of the local band. Sustained and encouraged by the helpful presence of a couple of men, these two slim young things, looking almost too fragile to tackle several hundredweights of metal, competently rang up all the bells, finishing only slightly breathless. After all, it was to be a ladies' meeting!
The direction of the initial ringing was undertaken, at the invitation of the District secretary, by Mr. G. L. Grover, secretary of the Guildfori Guild. The fortunate arrival of Mrs. Lock, the Guild's president, enabled Mr. Grover to retire in his usual graceful manner, apparently less embarrassed than he might well have been by the reference of one Guild member to the absence of a skirt. It is not always the bells overhead that are responsible for the clangour!
After a short service 25 members and friends took tea in a nearby cafe. The Southern District's funds met the cost. The visitors included Mr. A. C. Hazelden, Mr. S. Russell (Ash) and the Rev. K. C. Davies.
The business meeting was presided over by Mrs. Lock, who remarked that her ability to be present was partly due to the fact that she had a very co-operative husband. After order had been restored the meeting proceeded to business. District fund accounts were passed, existing officers were re-elected and the Misses Eunice Hiley and Monica Collins were elected committee members. Five new members were elected.
Tentative arrangements were made for the next mecting to be held on June 1st, if possible at Epsom. Votes of thanks were duly passed to the Rector of Godalming, the organist, the local ringers, and Miss B. Meyers, who was responsible for the tea arrangements. Mrs. Lock also was accorded a vote of thanks for taking the chair, the meeting being particularly appreciative of the fact that in order to be present she had had to turn down another very attractive engagement.

melody of buckets, pans. etc. When later on she had finished her duties we had a repeat (in reverse order) and finally she left by the west door with a bang!
Note.-These are but a few of the "incidents " that have marked my career-I could tell of many more but space will not allow. But what of the ringers? I could ' tell a tale ' about some of them-but dare I? If you think they would be interesting write and tell the Editor, and should he think fit, I will do this.

SWANSEA AND BRECON GUILD

The first quarterly meeting of the year of the Southern Section was held at St. Thomas' Church. Neath, in excellent weather on March 2nd, and members attended from Porthcawl. Aberavon, Baglan, Neath, Cadoxton, Dyffryn and Sketty.
After a service in the church. a very nice tea was served in the Church Hall, and it was a great pity that more didn't attend to enjoy the free tea provided. Mr. John T. Williams very ably thanked all those responsible, including the organist for her cervices in church
The Rector (Rev. Wilfred 1. Evans) took the chair at the business meeting. The District secretary presented the statement of accounts, which showed a healthy position with an increased bank balance. The membership remained about the same. After a lengthy discussion it was agreed to hold the next quarterly meeting at Gorseinon, subiect to the final result of the annual meeting at New Radnor in June.
Two new ringing members, and one honorary member from Sketty, were duly elected. At the close of the meeting Mr. K. J. Lewis moved a vote of thanks to the Vicar for presiding at the meeting and for the use of the bells.

A wide variety of methods was rung during the period before the service and again after the meeting, which ranged from Grandsire to London Surprise Minor.

THE COLLEGE OF CAMPANOLOGY

$I^{T}$T is a fine idea to establish measurable standards of achievement in ringing, but measurement means examinations and examiners, so that two questions arise:

1. Is the training of ringers adaptable to a system of measurement? 2. Who should do the measuring or examining?

To the first, the majority of ringers would answer in the affirmative, and therefore the College of Campanology is not embarking on the impossible in developing a training plan. But in any training scheme there must be flexibility, for no two pupils are alike; certainly no two instructors are. Furthermore, training needs vary greatly with particular circumstances, and a very important factor is the age of the pupils, ranging from ten to twenty years old, even younger or older. The quality of flexibility must be forged on the anvil of practice, and the resulting scheme of training will be continually improved upon, and its manual subject to periodic revision. Such a manual must be capable rof being used with individual pupils as well as with a training class.

In reply to the second question, examiners must work to the same syllabus as the examinees and be subject to the same disciplines. This implies that the total system, training and examination, must develop as a single whole, which is the approach being made by the College.

To the critics, may it be suggested that to condemn without trial is the illogicality of prejudice. The way to tackle a job is to "have a go," discover the 'snags' and remedy them. In one sense the number of attempts to develop a training system for ringers is a multiple of the number of instructors, but how few have committed their teaching to writing. The College, on the other hand, is in the favoured position of having done this, so that its teachings can be put to the test by others.

Consider now the assertion that in some way the College has trespassed on the authority of the Central Council. Such authority springs from the confidence the Council enjoys, not only from the great mass of individual ringers, and from its affiliated guilds and associations. but also from various other bodies outside the Exercise. Yet no guild would tolerate for a moment a directive from the Council to modify its manner of subscription or on any other domestic matter of its activities. Likewise, the Central Council must not. cannot. enforce rules of training, and so to pass judgment on a particular experiment in training would be manifoldly unwise. However, in the course of time, when some body has won its spurs and earned the respect of the Exercise, it might then be incumbent upon the Council to give appropriate recognition.
The experiment initiated by the College of Campanology must be considered by all thinking ringers in the spirit which inspired its founder. Its creation, rough-hewn though it still is, marks a real advance in the approach to the training of ringers; in its vision it is quiie without emulation. Last summer, when on holiday, a letter reached me describing the aims and work of the College and inviting my support. The challenge had to be accepted or rejected. it could not be ignored. In welcoming the experiment my choice was the same as others, whose ringing achievements, and loyal services to the Exercise are familiar to all. Their imagination, too, must have been fired by the idea of establishing consistent standards of training, thereby eliminating those bad influences, and spreading those good influences, which now are scattered abroad indiscriminately.

May I now pose a final question and endeavour to provide ant answer. Given that the idea of the College is a desirable one, is there reason to think that it is more desirable now than say a generation or so ago? Assuredly there is, indeed the idea has been born of presentday needs just as the territorial associations were born of the needs of the last century. Perhaps Mr. Frank Haynes, at the recent Henry Johnson Dinner, was acknowledging this need when he said that today we have to do something to attract young people and to keep them in ringing, and that has resulted in a certain drop in standards. Certainly considerable effort has to be given not only to attract but to keep our young belfry recruits, which inevitably must dilute our concentration on instructional standards. Consequently there is a danger of doing these young people, and the whole Exercise, a great disservice if we are over-kind. Something of the same tendency is the soft-pedalling of technical qualification in electing new members into our associations -though part of the reason for that is difficulty of assessing standards and preference for the alternative procedure of election on recommendation.

So the aim of the College of Campanology is exceedingly important in the safeguard it will offer to general ringing standards. That the time is ripe for this new development can be seen from the spread of the recruiting movement into the schools themselves, where there is rich potentiality for developing the formal activities of the College.

In conclusion may I express my conviction that the idea embodied in the College will grow into a significant contribution of the present century to the Exercise of ringing; and in this confidence I commend the courageous efforts being made to establish effective standards of ringing training which will ultimately raise the standard of service ringing throughout all the guilds and associations.

E. S. JOHN HATCHER.

GUILD REPORTS AND "THE RINGING WORLD"

THE high cost of printing reports of guilds and associations has prompied an inquiry to be addressed to 'The Ringing World ' as to their inclusion in the journal. It is the practice of business concerns to publish their annual reports or abridged reports in the commercial columns of newspapers, and the Editorial Committee can see no reason why such reports should not be published in our journal.
The Editorial Committee have no desire to make a big profit out of such transactions but to cover costs. They therefore suggest the modest charge of $55 /$ - per column or $£ 8$ for a complete page.

If advantage is taken of this offer additional pages will be added to 'The Ringing World,' so that the ordinary amount of reading matter would not be diminished.
To give a guide to guild secretaries, approximately 550 words would be contained in a column with a reasonable amount of display. A supply of copies of 'The Ringing World ' containing the report would also be available to guild secretaries, at special terms.

The Editor would be pleased to assist secretaries in abbreviating reports to fit them into the space they are prepared to purchase.

Congratulations to Mrs. J. Bray, of Burton-on-Stather, Lincs, who rang her 300th peal on March 9th. We are informed that she is the only lady who has rung peals in more than 100 methods. Three famous peals she participated in were 125 methods of Minor on tower bells, 106 Minor methods 'in hand 'and 50 Spliced Surprise Major methods 'in hand.'

The peal of Cambridge Surprise Maximus at Canterbury Cathedral on February 9th was Mr. Roger O. Fry's 200th peal.
Mr. F. E. Collins is the new Master of the Surrey Association. He succeeds Mr. R. Davies, who had to retire in accordance with the threeyear rule.

- The Manchester Guardian,' of March 13th, described the late Mr. G. F. Woodhouse's machine as one that can play 500 tunes! Who said there was no music of the bells?

Mr. G. Walford, of Wellington, Somerset, informs us in regard to Mr. M. V. White's list of 4 -bell towers (page 170) that Nynehead has had a ring of six since 1907. Bathealton's are in good ringing order.

After holding the office of Bristol Rural Branch chairman for less than one month, the hon. secretary of the Gloucester and Bristol Association, P.C. W. F. Scudamore, was obliged to resign, as he had been appointed to a post in the South Forest branch.

Eye Church Bell Restoration. Fund now stands at $£ 255$. Preliminary enquiries are now in hand as to the restoration. Mr. Leonard Last, who recently moved from Essex to Hoxne, Suffolk, is teaching half-a-dozen boys and girls of Eye to ring. His recent lecture at the Grammar School, with a film on bells and handbell ringing, proved so popular that it is to be repeated publicly. He was thanked by Mr. Claude Rush.

GOSSIP

Yaxham bells are being rehung in the very near future by Taylor's, of Lougbborough. A treble bell is being given by Mr. B. Gogle, of Norwich, to make them into a handy ring of six. The Vicar writes thanking him for his splendid generosity.

Quedgeley, Glos, bells are being rehung in a new frame. The last peal and quarter peal before the much-needed improvement have been rung.
In honour of Mr. Albert E. Sellers, president of the Beverley and District Society, completing 50 years as a member of the Yorkshire Association, a peal was rung at Sutton Cranswick by his friends.

It was fitting that the first peal on the newly restored Coggeshall bells should be a composition by the late William Keeble, who lived very near there. Several of his peals were rung at Coggeshall.

Another ringer to complete his 50 years in the belfry is Mr. H. Sprague, who is captain of Shute tower, Devon. In the quarter peal in honour of the occasion, the president of the Guild (Preb. E. V. Cox) conducted.

By taking part in a successful peal attempt at Erdington Abbey, Mr. A. P. Cannon equalled the late Rev. F. E. Robinson's total of towers in which he has rung a peal. Not only have these two famous ringers this record in common but they were both born on the same date and they were both fond of chewing raisins!

Mr. A. Crawley, now of Barrow-in-Furness, a reader from our first issue, is now in his 59th year as a ringer. For 30 years Mr. Crawley was a ringer at Wistaston, where he rang 77 peals. Now 78 years of age, his health is not too good and if he cannot ring he stands behind youngsters. May he enjoy 'The Ringing World ' and ringing for many years to come.

UNIVERSITY OF LONDON SOCIETY

Record Attendance at Annual Dinner

THE University of London Society of Change Ringers held its annual dinner on February 23 rd at the Old Bell Restaurant, Holborn, and 49 people, a record number, attended. The dinner was preceded during the afternoon by ringing at St. Luke's, Chelsea, St. Gabriel's, Pimlico, and St. Giles-in-the-Fields. Despite the dense crowd in the belfries, ringing was of a high standard, and ranged from rounds to "six spliced.

At the dinner the loyal toast was proposed by the Society's president, Dr. Denis N. Layton, who then called upon his brother, Mr. Peter R. Layton, to propose the health of the Church. Mr. Layton gently chided the Society for the regularity with which it asked him to speak at its annual dinners, and then apologised for his repeated acceptance of the invitations. He pointed out the difficulty of toasting an organisation such as the Church without being guilty of impertinence, and therefore made it clear that he referred to the Church only in its role as the patron of the art of change-ringing.

The Rev. A. Powell Miller, Rector of St. Olave's. Hart Street, in his reply thanked the Society for its service to St. Olave's in the past year, and congratulated the two married couples in the Society who had won the Dawes Cup for handbell ringing.
The health of the Society was proposed by Mr. J. S. Mason. Master of the Ancient Society of College Youths, and Mr. John Armstrong, Master of the London University Society, replied. Mr. Armstrong reported that the Society had had a most successful year: a peal of Bristol had been rung, a cup had been won for handbell ringing (there had only been one other competing team-but what did that matter?) and, ab ove all, the year had produced three engagements and a wedding. The wedding, between Alan Thirst and Meriel Hawksley, took place in November at St. Olave's, and was followed in the evening by what must have been the best-dressed A.G.M. in the Society's history!

The health of the visitors was ably, though obscurely, proposed by Mr. Geoffrey F. Carter. Mr. Peter R. Sanders. Master of the Oxford University Society. replied, thanking London for its hospitality and for the excellent ringing he had enjoyed during the day.

The evening concluded with the showing of two films, one being a publicity film on the Norfolk Broads, where it is hoped to hold this year's summer tour, and the other a film taken on the 1956 Whitsun tour. This film was short. so it was run backwards as well, just for good measure! Failing light finally stopped play at about 11 o'clock.

READING UNIVERSITY SOCIETY

The Society has held three meetings this term -January 19th. All Saints', Wokingham: February 16 th, Shiplake; March 2nd, Englefield.

These meetings have all been well attended, and thanks are expressed to the incumbents concerned and to those ringers who have rung with the Society at these meetings. The ringing at meetings has ranged from rounds to Cambridge.

Friday night practices at St. Giles' have been well attended, and ringing there has improved throughout the term. Sunday ringing now regularly includes Stedman Triples. Seven learners have progressed to round ringing.
Two other events have been the Oxford University Society dinner, which was very much enjoyed by five members, and the Reading Branch of the Oxford Diocesan Guild annual meeting, at which the Master was elected to the general committee of the Guild. The vicechancellor of the University has consented to become president.

MONDAY EVENING

Grandsire Triples, Stedman Caters, How the music rolls and swells.
Listen to the echoing gladness.
The controlled, melodious madness
Of the changes on the bells.
Treble going-are you ready?
Each in turn her story tells;
Soberly in rounds proceeding,
Tenor last and treble leading,
Handstroke, backstroke, on the bells.
Then the changes, dancing, dodging, Weaving, interweaving spells,
Patterned tumult, soaring, singing,
Till the very tower is swinging,
Rocking, swaying, with the bells.
Stedman Triples, Grandsire Caters,
How the music calls, compels.
Loud they speak to all on Sunday,
But for us they sing on one day-
Monday, when we ring the bells.
Yeovil.

RAILWAYMEN AS RINGERS

The March issue of the British Railways Magazine for the North East Region contains an interesting article on Bells and Bellringers in the North Eastern Region.' The article states:

Perhaps the most famous of the 'great' bells in the Region is 'Great Peter,' of York. When first cast in 1845 it was the heaviest bell ever to have been cast in this country. It weighed $10 \pm$ tons, was 8 ft .4 in . in diameter, and came to York from London by rail-a very ' special' load in those early days. One imagines a wagon had to be specially built to carry such a load. The North Eastern Railway Co. built a bell wagon in 1900 to carry 7 tons, but such wagons are unknown today. 'Great Peter' was recast in 1927 at Loughborough, but on this occasion the traffic was lost to the roads.
It is not surprising that ringers are well represented in the railway service. Half the ringers in York are railwaymen of various grades, and the same applies at other large railway centres. There may be grade distinctions on the railway but in the belfry a man's worth is measured by his ability as a ringer and all must work together as a team, otherwise the quality of the ringing suffers. The team spirit is as important in the belfry as it is on the railway. It is natural that railwaymen with a common outside interest should wish to meet together occasionally, and so has come into being the Guild of Railwaymen Church Bell Ringers. The objects of the Guild are to encourage the art of changeringing as applied to Sunday service ringing, and to bring into closer fellowship all railwaymen ringers, both very worthwhile objects.

ESSEX ASSOCIATION

Meeting at Harlow Common

A successful meeting of the N.W. District was held on the light eight of St. Mary Magdalene, Harlow Common, on March 2nd

The service was conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. D. Wainwright) and was followed by tea in the Church Hall, served by the ladies of the local band. The Master of the Association (Mr. R. C. Heazel) took the chair at the business meeting, and the whole company observed a minute's silence in memory of two District ringers-Mr. W. Prior, of Stansted, and Mr. J. Nottage, of Maiching-who had recently passed away.

Members then returned to the tower for furMembers ther ringing.

LINCOLN DIOCESAN GUILD

Presentation to Mr. J. Allen
The annual meeting of the Elloe Deaneries Branch took place as is usual at Spalding on the Saturday prior to Ash Wednesday. Ringing commenced at about 3 p.m., delayed a little by a wedding. The service was conducted by the Vicar (Canon M. H. R. Synge) and the address given by the Rev. W. R. H. Nind, a curate at Spalding.
About 60 members and friends had tea at the Greyhound Hotel, and the meeting followed immediately after with Canon M. H. R. Synge as chairman. After the approval of the accounts the election of officers took place, at which the retiring secretary, Mr. J. Allen, said that after ten years in office he felt it time someone else took over. Mr. M. E. Bennett was elected to this office.
A presentation was then made to Mr . Allen of a fountain pen with the branch's thanks and appreciation for all he had done and with the fervent hope that his wife would soon be back in good health. The meeting agreed to elect a chairman to officiate at meetings during the year, and Mr. W. A. Richardson was unanimously elected. All other officers were reelected. The sum of $£ 1$ 13s. was collected for the Beifry Repairs Fund.
Meetings for the year were arranged to take place at Fleet, May 18th, Whaplode, June 22nd, Crowland, September 28th, and Pinchbeck, November 16th, $\mathbf{M r}$. J. Ames expressed a vote of thanks to all who had helped to make the meeting so successful. The meeting then closed and ringing continued till $9 \mathrm{p} . \mathrm{m}$.

LLANDAFF AND MONMOUTH ASSOCLATION  Llandaff Branch

The Llandaff Branch held its annual meeting at Nowton-Nottage on February 23rd. The meeting was well attended, despite the very wet weather which prevailed, some members coming from far away Ebbw Vale, Bedwellty and Swansea.
The Rector of Newton (Rev. W. Roash) conducted the service. Following this, visitors were invited to the nearby church hall for tea. The vote of thanks for this welcome refreshment, prepared and provided by the Newton ladies, was given by Mr. J. Morris.
The business meeting, with the Rev. W. Roach in the chair, followed. Mr. R. E. Coles was reelected as secretary-treasurer of the Branch. One life member and seven resident members were elected. Coity was chosen for the next place of meeting.

Mr. L. Yeomans, Branch Master, was in charge of the bells, and all visitors were well catered for, from rounds for the beginners to London Minor for the more advansed.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

THE OLDEST RINGING SOCIETIES

Dear Sir,-At the Henry Johnson commemoration dinner. reported reeently, Mr. A. P. Camnon was duly called to order by the Master for claiming St. Martin's Guild, founded in 1755 , to be the third oldest ringing society in existence.

Although the Society of Royal Cumberland Youths and the Ancient Society of College Youths were both formed carlier than St. Martin's Guild, there are three societies which are earlier even than 1637, the year in which the Society of College Youths was founded.

Saffron Walden Society dates from 1623 ; St. Stephen's, Bristal, from 1620 ; while the oldest of all ringing societies proper, the Lincoln Cathedral Company of Ringers, was in existence as carly as 1612 .

As this was not mentioned at the Birmingham dinner, it is perhaps only fair that a correction should be published.-Yours faithfully,

Lincoln.
M. L. MANN.

'PLAIN' BOB

Dear Sir,-On looking through peal and quarter peal reports I find that the method formerly known as 'Plain Bob' is now called simply 'Bob,' which I believe has recently become the correct name. However, when listed with other methods it is still referred to as ${ }^{6}$ Plain Bob.

Regardless of whether it is called 'Bob' or ' Plain Bob, we are still left with a nameless method to join 'Reverse Bob,' 'Double Bob,' -Single Court ' and 'Double Court ' (assuming, of course, that the word 'plain' merely indicates that the treble has a plain hunting course). Now, is anyone entitled to give these methods a name? If not, why not? Perhaps someone can sort this little problem out for me as well, provided, here also, that there is a solution.Yours faithfully,

JIM SPRIGGS.

CARTER RINGING MACHINE

Dear Sir,-May we express, through the medium of your paper, our appreciation of the way in which the Carter Ringing Machine was demonstrated at the Science Museum.

We should like to thank those responsible for the organisation, and especially Mr. Hughes for the time and trouble taken before and during the lecture.

Any ringer who has opportunity to see this ingenious piece of mechanism in action will find it well worth his while.-Yours sincerely.

FOUR-BELL TOWERS

Dear Sir.-Ampton and Timworth, villages near Bury St. Edmunds, have both 4-bell towers. I have rung at Ampton but not at Timworth. As to 5 -bell towers. I can supply a list of those villages in my neighbourhood where there are bells that are not being rung owing to their condition or through lack of ringers.-Yours sincerely,

HOAR CROSS PEALS

Dear Sir,-May I comment on some of the recent letters, concerning peals at Hoar Cross?

Mr. Jones' letter expresses an opinion and also offers information which includes constructive and helpful written advice for the achievement of perfect ringing. Referring to the sacrifice of attention to detail, he ends with an implication which I think is a general one'Are we to believe that this may have happened when(ever) we see the footnote "Quickest peal on the bells "?

I think I am correct in saying that I have rung more peals with Mr. Jones than has any other ringer. Thus I have the experience to be able to state that his ringing ability is of a very high general standard, a standard that makes Mr. Warwick's attack as ludicrous as it is lamentable. I say general standard for the following reason. The audible result of any one ringer's efforts towards perfect striking depends upon two things-his ability and the average ability of the rest of the band. Given that these abilities are identical and of a high order, the result must approach perfection. Mr. Warwick remarks that previous fast peals at Hoar Cross were well struck, and also says that although his band are not used to ringing slowly, this did not detract from the quality of the peal. He does not say, however, what this quality was, and I would point out that 'well struck' can still be far removed from perfectly struck. Other sentences say: "Mr. Jones ringing the tenor in $3 \frac{3}{4}$ hours obviously is not ringing the bell-the bell is ringing him.' and 'nursing the ringing is only an excuse,' thus implying aversion to hard work.

I think that apart from the contradiction in terms here, the phrase 'the bell is ringing him" is usually reserved to indicate a bell out of control. I rang the second bell in our peal in March, 1955, and can state categorically:
(a) Mr. Jones was in complete control of the bell, a control which requires more skill in slow ringing.
(b) He was not' freewheeling with no effort.'
(c) I did not'find it at all 'hard work to hold up for $3 \frac{3}{4}$ hours.'
(d) The peal was well struck (but to be honest, did not reach perfection!).
Finally, I would like to offer an observation on two similar statements. One, in Mr. Gilbert's letter: ' No one can dodge on the lead at a faster pace, and two, in Mr. Warwick's letter: "Double Oxford calls for hard work when dodging on the front.'

I strongly disagree on this point, for if the ringing is even and all bells are ringing at the correct interval, the change from one place to another is identical at any point in the changerow.

If the tenors are dodging on the front with the little bells at the back, and the tenor seems slow at backstroke although rhythmically it is in its correct place, the reason is solely that the little bells have 'closed up' the handstroke change before.

Whenever this effect occurs, it merely marks a lack of attention to detail, detail which is requisite for the attainment of perfect striking. - Yours sincerely, PHILIP MEHEW. Stotfold Beds

MALAYA JOINS IN HOAR CROSS DISPUTE

Dear Sir -As a member of the band in question I feel I am qualified to point out one or two things regarding Mr. D. P. Jones' peal at Hoar Cross, mentioned a few weeks ago by Mr. Warwick:

Firstly, from one of the other ringers' point of view it certainly did not seem as if Mr. Jones was free-wheeling. If after $3 \frac{3}{4}$ hours one is still capable of letting a bell of that weight ring him as some suggest, then he is a much better man than others I would not care to mention.

Secondly, the front, or middle bells for that matter, I am sure did not find it hard work in ringing at the speed mentioned. The peal was thoroughly enjoyed by all; the journey we had before commencing the peal was not to be sneezed at and it gave us the incentive to do our best when we arrived.

After the peal was over I can recall no one in the band commenting on the time taken. Surely if the ringers are satisfied they did a good job there is no need to question the time taken or the striking. Perhaps it would be better if forthcoming. peals were advertised so that people could criticise with a first-hand account and not with what. 'Joe Soap' told them.Yours faithfully, ©. MICHAEL ORME.

NEWS FROM SOUTH AFRICA

Dear Sir,-I was interested in Mr. Burles' efforts to obtain a 250 of Stedman Triples. It really isn't difficult to make up a touch of any number of changes between say 200 and 300 in this method, provided you are not worried whether it is true or false. For 250 only sligh. variations are required from the calling given in the quarter peal (the first three courses of it) on page 91 of 'The Ringing World' of February 8th. These are:-

1st course: Omit B at 3 .
Substitute S for B at 7.
3rd course :
A 252 can be Put in S at 3.

1st course: obtained as follows:-
Omit B at 3.
Substitute $S$ for $B$ at 7 .
2nd course: Omit B at 3.
Substitute S for $\mathbf{B}$ at 4.
Talking about bats. I have never seen one in cither of the two belfries in Durban, but they come into the house very often at night, and the customary litter of moths' wings on the carpets in the mornings is a source of annoyance to my wife.

It has been a great pleasure recently to welcome as visitors the Rev. A. F. and Mrs. Godley, of Yetminster, Dorset, and Mr. F. W. Perrens, of Coventry, who rang with us when their ships were in port. Unfortunately, two attempts for quarter peals of Grandsire Doubles with their respective assistance were unsuccess-ful.-Yours sincerely,

SEVEN FOUR-BELL TOWERS IN CORNWALL

Dear Sir,-There are seven towers in Cornwall with four bells.
St. Buryan, near Land's End, where two of the old three were recast by Warner in 1901; the treble is a 17th century bell. Also a new tenor ( 21 cwt .) was added to commemorate the coronation of Edward VII.; it was given by Mr. Hawke Dennis, who also gave the central tower of Truro Cathedral. These bells have never been rung and are now derelict. If four smaller ones wore added they should be a lovely ring in a grand tower.

St. Clement, near Truro, had its three increased to four in the 19th century, the first three by Warner. The tenor, a 17th century bell, was recast in 1939 and a new frame for six supplied (tenor now 9 cwt.). I had the honour of ringing rounds during the dedication service. There is a band of ringers affiliated to the Diocesan Guild, but unfortunately no move is being made to fill the two empty pits.

St. Michael's, Penkevil, has a ring of four, being 1,3,5 and 7 of a ring of eight. There is a massive wooden frame for eight inserted about 1912. These bells used to be rung regularly and I have rung there several times. They can be heard at a great distance. The largest is about 10 cwt .

Gerrans, near St. Mawes, has four bells with a chiming apparatus.
Treneglos, near Camelford, has four, but only one is chimed for service.
St. Gennys, near Bude, has four, which used to be rung, but when an upper storey was added to the tower, about 1913, they were hung in this, dead with a chiming apparatus.

St. Pinnock, near Liskeard, has four bells, which are rung.-Yours faithfully
W. H. R. TREWHELLA.

MAYFIELD'S TENOR BELL

Dear Sir.-Without wishing to enter into controversy with Miss Orlibar concerning our tenor bell of the ring of eight at St. Dunstan's Church, Mayfield, Sussex (which has been recently, recast and rehung by John Taylor and Co.), and to the question of whether the vicar's and churchwardens names should be added. also whether the bell should have been blessed before ringing again-surely this is a matter for the Vicar to decide. Not being an active member of the band. I fail to see that is any concern of Miss Orlibar--Yours faithfully,
W. A. KITCHENSIDE,

Captain of St . Dunstan's Church Bellringers. Mayfield, Sussex.

THE SUFFOLK GUILD

Badges Ordered

A general meeting of the Suffolk Guild was held at Stowmarket on March 9th, attended by ringers as far distant as Witham, Newmarket, Norwich and Halesworth.

Ringing took place during the afternoon and evening ranging from Grandsire Triples and Bob Major to various Surprise methods. Ringing also included firing and Queens for a wedding. The service was conducted by the Vicar (Rev. E. St. Leger Blakeney), who gave the members a warm welcome and expressed the gratitude of the Church to the ringers for the service they gave and reminded the ringers of their special calling. He was proud to have been associated during his ministry with various parish churches which were noted for their bells.
Following tea, Mr. O. G. Barnard was elected chairman for the business meeting. Apologies for absence were received from the Ringing Master and Messrs. C. E. Fisher and H. C. Rush (vice-presidents).
A grant of $£ 20$ was voted to Stoke-by-Nayland bell fund from the Restoration Account.
It was agreed that the secretary should place an order for 300 badges of the design submitted, to be sold at 3s. each.
Certain recommendations made by the committee concerning the Restoration Fund and the enlargement of the committee were approved bv the meeting to go forward to the annual general meeting for ratification. Five new members and one non-resident life member were elected.
Votes of thanks were passed to the Vicar, the chairman. Mr. Chilvers and Miss Newby for their assistance in making the meeting a success.

SUSSEX COUNTY ASSOCIATION

Western Division

The annual meeting of the Western Division was held at Arundel on February 9th. A large number of members were present for the ringing, which commenced at 2.30 p.m.
At the business meeting. which followed the service and tea, the secretary's report and balance sheet were both accepted, the latter showing the Division to still be in a sound financial position.
The following officers were elected: Ringing Master, Mr. R. P. Wood; hon. secretary. Mr. W. L. Weller ; hon. auditor, Miss S. A. Richardson ; committee-Mr. R. P. Wood. Mr. E. Treagus. Mr. G. Francis; Central Council delegate, Mr. R. G. Blackman.
It was announced that the next Surprise practice would be held at Arundel on March 23rd. After a short discussion on the newly-amended affiliation fee, the meeting closed.
Further ringing took place at the tower until 8 p.m.

GLOUCESTER AND BRISTOL

Despite the heavy and continuous rain, the quarterly meeting of the Swindon Branch held at Stratton St. Margaret on March 9th was a success-over 40 present and three Surprise Major methods rung in addition to other methods. The usual service was conducted by the Vicar (Rev. R. G. Wolsey), the lesson being read by Dr. C. G. Roworth, a member of the local band.
Tea was aranged by Mr. Moulden in the Church Room and the Branch chairman (DrH. Craig) presided at the business meeting. The Branch secretary gave a report of the Association management committee meeting held at Gloucester, and. it was proposed that meetings be held during the quarter ensuing at Blunsdon, Wroughton and Bishopstone. Visitors from outside the Branch attended from Bath, Bedford, Buckland, Faringdon, Humberstone, Petersfield, Reading, Retford and Watford.

EAST GRINSTEAD GUILD

Arrears of Subscriptions

The annual meeting was held at East Grinstead on March 9th and although the attendance was lower than usual it was a far more satisfactory meeting than last year. After a good hour's ringing the company gathered in the church for the service, conducted by the curate (Rev. P. Bennett), with Mr. Pattern as organist.
Tea was followed by the business meeting, ably conducted by Mr. B. Collison, who is now a vice-president and was acting in place of the president who was away in Switzerland.
In presenting the balance sheet the treasurer pointed out that expenditure had exceeded income by over $£ 4$, and this was mainly due to the fact that 25 per cent. of the members were in arrears with their subscriptions and that vicepresidents' subscriptions were also down. He said that the Guild did not want to increase the subscription from 1s. 6d. to 2 s ., but unless members paid up regularly at the beginning of each year this would have to be done. In the report tribute had been paid to the late Rev N. E. Hope, who founded the Guild, but it was pointed out that no mention had been made of the late Mr. Joe Wren, who was captain of East Grinstead tower for many years.
In the election of officers the following changes were made: Mr. S. Ponting vice-chairman in place of Mr. A. Relfe, who was elected to the committee, with Mr. E. Jenner, in place of Mr. A. Laker. The secretary was instructed to write and thank Mr. Relfe for his services to the Guild. Meetings were arranged at Withyham on April 13th, with Limpsfield and Limpsfield Chart on May 10th.
The summer outing was fixed for September 14th with a route into Surrey, while the decision to hold another dinner was left in abeyance for three months. The meeting then closed with the usual votes of thanks to all concerned.

SIDCUP, KENT

Mr. C. E. Palmer's 21 Years as Leader

In January, 1936, Mr. Cyril E. Palmer as sumed the captaincy of the band at St. John-the-Evangelist, Sidcup, and to celebrate this 21 years' service a peal of Minor in six methods was rung on March 2nd. The treble was rung very well by 13 -year-old Susan Nicholson, of Bexley. taking the opportunity to make her first peal attempt.
After the peal the band joined other ringers and friends at a social, arranged by Mr. Palmer in a nearby hall, where an enjoyable and entertaining evening was spent. Visitors included Miss Beverley Thompson and Mr. Peter Brown, from Bexley, Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Hill and Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Barnett.
An attractive supper, prepared by Mrs. Palmer and her daughter Sheila, having been despatched. Mr. Palmer spoke of his 21 years' leadership. Many readers are aware of the difficulties besetting the conscientious tower captain in trying to maintain regular service ringing, and Cyril acknowledged the loyalty he had received from the Sidcup hand, and particularly from Mr. G. Green, who had assisted him in getting the bells restored. He recalled the great pleasure he had experienced one Sunday morning in 1951 after dedication of the restored ring.
Mr. J. L. Ashford the secretary, expressed the esteem in which Mr. Palmer is held both locally and in the Lewisham District, and on behalf of the band presented him with a goldplated 'Eversharp' pencil as a tangible token of their appreciation of his work.
The visitors added their congratulations to Mr. Palmer, thanking him also for the invitation to what had proved a most enjoyable evening. Following this. the diversions continued until the company dispersed at about 10.30 p.m.

RINGING AT WAKEFIELD IN THE 18th CENTURY

By David Cubitt

Throughout the century the Wakefield churchwardens' accounts reveal payments for ringing at the Parish Church-since 1888 the Cathedral Church - of All Saints, in commemoration of local or national events and anniversaries. A few instances are:-
1736-7 January 8. Pd ye Ringers by ye request of several neighbours. Dr. Potter being made Archbishop of Canterbury (John Potter, the son of a draper, left Wakefield Grammar School in 1688 for University College, Oxford; he became Regius Professor of Divinity at Oxford in 1708, Bishop of Oxford in 1715 and Archbishop of Canterbury.)
$1736-7$ March 1. Pd for ringing for Queen's birthday © (Caroline, wife of George Ii.) Nov. 6. Pd for ringing o'th Duke of Leeds birthday (Thomas, 4th Duke of Leeds, was Lord of the Manor of Wakefield, acquired by the first Duke in 1700.
Nov. 10. Ringers at ye faire (King John granted a fair at Wakefield to last for three days, the eve, day of and day after All Saints'.)
Payments for ringing on November 5th and May 29th regularly occur.
In 1740 the six bells were increased to eight, - A few Days ago two Trebles cast by Mr. Sellar Bel-Founder of York, were rung at Wakefield, which with the Six they had before make as complete Peal of Eight Bells as most in this County.'- 'Leeds Mercury,' Tuesday, May 20th, 1740. This ring was hung in an oak frame made by James Harrison, of Barrow in Lincolnshire, in 1739. In October, 1740, Harrison completed a new set of chimes which played seven tunes, one for each day of the week. Harrison's chimes, for which the was paid $£ 20$, replaced others provided in 1703, and lasted until 1795, when George Goodall, a Tadcaster clockmaker, agreed to make 'a compleat sett of New Chimes for Wakefield Church for the sum of $£ 55$, the old chimes included. Goodall's chimes played at four, nine and twelve o'clock, day and night. the following tunes: Sunday, psalm tune (Sheldon); Monday, Gramachree': Tuesday, 'Sandie o'er the Lea'; Wednesday, 'See the Conquering Hero Comes'; Thursday, a march; Friday, 'The Miller of Mansfield'; Saturday, 'God Save the King.'
The first report of a peal at Wakefield it have found is in the 'Leeds Mercury' of July 20th. 1742 . 'The Society of Ringers call'd the Leeds Youths, having had an invitation from some Gentlemen of Wakefield, to ring their new Peal of eight Bells lately hung by Mr. Harrison of Barrow in Lincolnshire, went over accordingly last Sunday, where they so dextrously performed the Peal of Grandsire Tripples in 3 hours and 15 minutes, as surpriz'd all that were Judges in that Art.'

JOHN WESLEY'S VISIT

John Wesley, who had been ordained deacon and priest by Dr. Potter when Bishop of Oxford, preached at Wakefield Church on April 12th, 1752, at the invitation of the Vicar, the Rev. Benjamin Wilson. He wrote in his diary: I came to Wakefield as the bells were ringing in and went directly to Mr. W(ilson) in the vestry; the behaviour of the congregation surprised me. I saw none light, none careless or unaffected. Quite a change from an earlier opinion he had of the townsfolk, for on Saturday, August 20th, 1748, ' at the request of the little society (i.e., of Methodists) I went to Wakefield. I knew the madness of the people there, but I knew also they were in God's hand.'

So far as I am aware the following report is of the earliest peal by Wakefield ringers: -Wakefield. Yesterday in the Evening was rang at our Church a compleat peal of Tripples, call'd Union Tripples. consisting of 5040 changes in two Hours and 40 Minutes-being the first Time that ever it was perform'd by the ringers of Wakefield.'- Leeds Intelligencer,' Tuesday, January 6th, 1756. This was followed by a second peal the following month. Wakefield. Feb. 16. Yesterday in the Evening was rung, with great Applause, by the Wakefield Youths, a second Peal of Tripples call'd Wakefield Pleasure, containing 5040 compleat Changes in two Hours and 36 Minutes and a Half, being the first Time it hath been rung in the Northern Parts of England.'-'Leeds In telligencer,' Tuesday, February 17th, 1756.

The following extracts also come from the Leeds Intelligencer' :-
Tuesday, March 1st, 1757: 'Tuesday last being Shrove-Tuesday was rung at St. Peter's Church in this Town, by Wakefield Ringers, Grandsire Tripples, in ten courses complete, consisting of 5040 Changes, in two Hours and fifty-five Minutes.

Tuesday, September 29th, 1761: 'Wakefield. Sept. 23. Yesterday was rung at our Church a Peal of Tripples called Vaux-Hall-Tripples consisting of 5040 Changes in two Hours and fifty Minutes.
Tuesday, December 28 th, 1762 : ${ }^{\circ}$ On Saturday Morning last was rung at Wakefield, a new Peal of Tripples, called Merry Wakefield's Delight consisting of 5040 Ghanges, in two Hours and fifty-two Minutes; being the seventh Peal of Tripples that has been rung by Wakefield Ringers.' (I have not been able to find the other two.)
Tuesday, May 17th, 1763: 'On Saturday last was rung at Wakefield with universal applause, a new Peal of Tripples, composed by J. Wood of that Place, call'd Wakefield Royal Bob Tripples containing 5040 compleat Changes in two Hours and 49 Minutes. The Person who rung the Treble is 75 years of Age and has followed the Diversion upwards of 60 years.
Tuesday, May 15th, 1764: 'Wakefield, May 14. Yesterday was rung here a new Peal of Tripples in ten complete Courses, called Wakefield Evening's Delight.'

NEW RINGS AT BARNSLEY AND PONTEFRACT

A ring of six at Barnsley had two trebles added in 1773 and the augmented ring was opened on Shrove Tuesday, February 23rd, that year. 'On Tuesday morning the new Peal of eight bells at Barnsley church was opened by the Wakefield ringers, who also in the afternoon rang on them a complete peal of Tripples (called Barnsley Evening Pleasure) consisting of 5040 changes, in two hours and 47 minutes. They are allowed, by all that understand bells, to be a very musical peal, and the performance of the ringers gave satisfaction to every body that heard them.'- Leeds Mercury,' March 2nd, 1773.
Wakefield ringers also attended the opening of a new ring of eight at Pontefract: 'On Wednesday last a peal of eight new bells was opened at Pontefract by the ringers from Wakefield and York who rung alternately several short peals of Tripples during the day; in the evening the York ringers rung upwards of 3000 changes of Grandsire Tripples with great propriety. Next morning the Leeds ringers rung the half-peal of Grandsire Tripples, consisting of 2520 changes in one hour and twenty-eight minutes.- ' Leeds Mercury,' Tuesday, February 17th, 1778.

At a vestry meeting of town and parish held in Wakefield Church on November 26th, 1778 , it was agreed that a new ring of eight bells be contracted for in exchange for the old eight and on December 17th the churchwardens wereauthorised to "contract for a new tuneable peal of eight bells' with Pack and Chapman, of Whitechapel. These bells (tenor 24 cwt .), for which the founders were paid $£ 1246 \mathrm{~s}$. 9d., were opened on July 7th, 1779.
The 'Leeds Mercury' of Tuesday, July 13th, 1779, reported the opening: 'On Wednesday last was opened at Wakefield, by the ringers of that town, a peal of eight fine new musical bells; after which was rung alternately several short peals during the whole day by the ringers from Sheffield, Bradferd, Halifax, Pontefract and the ringers from Leeds, who rung at the first trial a peal of tripples, containing 5040 changes, in three hours and five minutes, and what is something remarkable, the ringers from Leeds first rung a peal of 5040 changes at Wakefield 'on the old bells, July 8, 1742. (N.B.-July 18th, 1742, was the date, not July 8 th, which is a misprint.) This report provoked the following lines, which the sent to the other Leeds newspaper, the 'Intelligencer': 一

THE LYING RINGERS

When coxcombs by a heap of Lies attempt to take folks by surprise they should before they blab the fiction be certain of no contradiction or that no witnesses are by to tell the world how gross they Lie for when such fools do brag and vapour and publish falsehoods in the paper consid'ring multitudes did hear 'em no wonder all the world should jeer 'em Leeds ringers thus in Wakef'd steeple had almost frighted all the people for all the people in the town were 'fraid they'd throw the steeple down such blunders in the peal were shown And could not well their fears recover untill the jingling fools gave over which when they did and were come down they boasted all about the town that there was not another set could such a peal ring so complete or that could their performance beat when these bob tripples get to Leeds resolv'd the world sho'd know their deeds they like a pack of Lying jews inserted an account $i$ ' th' news that they the very same did doo in seventeen hundred forty-two they rang five thousand forty tripples on the old bels in Wakeficld steple but who the devill will regard 'em since it is known to all who heard "em that after three hours toil or more the changes rung were not eight scoreWhat can these bragadocies say to such home truths as these I say for all they bluster'd and paraded others performed better than they did for the whole peal they bungled rarely and Shefield ringers beat them fairly therefore I wish they for the future would let their boasting tongues stand neuter for after all their noise and chatter they know nothing of the matter.
The 'Intelligencer' did not publish the verse. but it came nevertheless to the ears of the Leeds ringers, one of whom, under the pscudonym 'A Lover of Truth.' wrote to Mr. Penny, a member of the Wakefield ringers, on August 6th, 1779, enclosing a letter that had been written by a Sheffield ringer on the occasion of the Barnsley opening in 1773. He had written that at Barnslev Wakefield ringers rang a short time, were followed by Sheffield ringers who rang $1,260^{\circ}$

Sheffield Triples, made a mistake and started again, only to be stopped by the sexton who was friendly with the Wakefield ringers 'and wanted them to have the Honour of Jumpling the bells a long time and then call it a whole Peal.' Wakefield then rang for two hours and forty-seven minutes, 'the worst ringing' the writer of the letter had ever heard, and 'then had the vanity to ride home in a Post Chaise and put ribbons on the hats of the two Post Chaise lads.' 'Lover of Truth ' asked Penny to get his friend to compose a poem from the particulars in the Sheffield ringer's letter and appended a postscript: 'As I have never yet had the pleasure of seeing any of your friends performance, I shall be more anxious of seeing the above as soon as possible.

BAN ON DONCASTER RACES

-The Society of Ringers at Wakefield replied on September 26th: 'Wee received a letter about 6 weeks agoe from Leeds. .. . Wee did not think it worth our while troubling our heads about it. However. 'they offercd to ring against Leeds at Doncaster, 'Doncaster rases being next week.' The Leeds ringers refused to go to Doncaster- - we are not at all disposed for going to horse races --but on Wakeficld giving a month's notice, Leeds would ring against them at Pontefract, Bradford or Knaresborough : and a reply was asked for from ' Mr . Poet.'

Wakefield ringers ignored this letter and no verse appeared. 'Lover of Truth,' on November 8th. wrote a long, ill-spelt, vitriolic letter saying, among other things, that Wakefield had all their instruction from Leeds. and although they had eight bells several years before Leeds they could not ring 350 changes. Wakefield ringers were, as we have seen, capable of ringing many times 350 changes, and it would seem from the following extract that Leeds had eight bells in 1742, only two years after the Wakefield bells were increased to eight. -On Wednesday last (being our latter Fair Day) the Peal of Grandsire Tripples was rung thro' at St. Peter's Church. by the Society of Ringers calld the Leeds Youths: which they performed with the utmost Accuracy and universal Applause in three Hours and eight Minutes. after two Months Practice since the bells were new hung, by that great Artist, Mr. James Harrison of Burrow-in-Lincolnshire.' 'Leeds Mercury,' Tuesday, July 6th, 1742 .

There the matter seems to have ended, except that 'On Friday night last, being the ending of the Old Year. was rung at Wakefield, by the Society of Ringers of that place, a pzal of Double Grandsire Bob Tripplcs. consisting of 5040 changes, in eight Courses, complete in 3 hours and 31 minutes, with the greatest exactness, to the universal satisfaction of all who had the pleasure of hearing them, being the first TRUE peal rung on these new bells.' 'Leeds Mercury,' Tuesday. January 4th. 1780.

OTLEY BELLS

In 1782 and 1787 the Wakefield ringers attended the opening of new rings. The carlier one was at Otley, where a new eight, cast by Chapman and Co.. of Whitechapel. and hung by Samuel Turner, were opened on April 15th. Ringers from Leeds. Wakefield, Knaresborough and Bradford were there; those from Leeds and Wakefield each rang a peal of 5,040 changes. the former in three hours ten minutes, the latter in three hours twenty-six minutes. In October, 1787, a new cight were opened at Halifax. The College Youths rang a peal of Union Trable Bob on the bells-and had the arrocance to cali this peal the first in Yorkshire. Ringers from Leeds. Ashion. Bradford, Sowerby and Wakefield were also present and took part.

Mr. Morris, in his 'History and Art of Change Ringing,' quotes a report of two Deals rung on the same day in May. 1788. bv Wakefield ringers in their home lower, but does not give his source.

OBITUARY

MR. GEDRGE FRASER WOODHOUSE
The death took place on March 9th at his home in Sedbergh, Yorks, of Mr. G. F. Woodhouse. M.A., after a short illness. He was science master at Sedbergh School from 1897 to 1930, and trained the school rifle team which twice won the Ashburton Shield at Bisley.
To ringers he was known as the maker of a ringing machine, but he was a first-class ringer and conductor on hand- and tower bells. Most of his peal ringing was done before he took his appointment at Sedbergh, but he kept his interest to the end.
The funeral was in two parts. First a service at Sedbergh Parish Church, which was attended by school representatives and many local friends. This was followed by cremation at Carleton, Blackpool, and only attended by Mr. C. McCracken, nephew, of Princes Risborough, also Mr . Hague. of Sedbergh, joint executor, and Mr. E. R. Martin (Preston) and Mr. C. Sharples (Blackpool), representing the Lancashire Association. Mr. Woodhouse was a bachelor and was 82 last month.

AN APPRECIATION

It is difficult to write of a man with so many talents. for tatented he was. He was a noted rock climber in the Lake District and in Skye, a fell walker; a fine musician, he could play several instruments including the organ. If this is not enough, he was a great knitter during World War II and made hundreds of comforts for the troops. Also during this war his 'den' at Highfield was making spare parts for submarines, but he had the help of one man for this.
He gave years of service to Sedbergh Church and trained a band up to Surprise Major standard at one period, then down to learners again but he never gave up.
When he retired from the school he started to make his first ringing machine. He made at least three but it took years, for each one was an improvement till he got perfection. It seems a pity that his workshop will now have to be dispersed and all the clocks and gadgets find new owners. Finally, he was a modest, unassuming man completely unspoiled by süccess. May he rest in peace.

MR. TOM G. BARTLETT

It is with regret that the passing of Mr. Tom G. Bartlett, of Exeter, is reported, at the age of 77 years, after a short but severe illness.
Tom was one of the 'old faithfuls' in the Exeter District. He started his ringing career at Heavitree around the turn of the century and later transferred his affections to St. Sidwell's when the ten bells were the attraction, then rmg by the leading band of the Guild.
On the re-formation of the Cathedral band in 1915. he applied and was accepted as a member and remained up to the time of his death-tlic last of the active founder members. For most of the 40-odd years' connection he was their hon. treasurer
Tom was never an outstanding ringer but could manage the 'four standards' with the best, and rang about 40 peals.
Among the offices he held during his ringing career were general treasurer, the Guild of Devonshire Ringers, chairman of the Exeter Branch, and was honoured later by being a vice-president of the Guild. He was an example to many in being always regular in attendance and aiways punctual.
The funeral was held privately on March 4th. His beloved 12 bells at Exeter Cathedral were rung half-muffled on the evening of the funeral as a token of respect to his memory and in grateful thanks for 42 years' devoted service. F. W.

MR. FRANK B. YATES

With deep regret we record the passing on March 4th of Mr. Frank Bertram Yates at his home. The Clock House, Barnt Green, near Birmingham. Until his retirement, in 1928, he was managing director of John Yates and Co, edge tool manufacturers, of Aston. He was 80 .

Mr . Yates in his younger days was a noted sportsman and ringer and a valued member and vice-president of St. Martin's Guild, Birmingham, with whom he rang the treble in several peals. From 1894 to 1899 he was a famous amateur cyclist and won many prizes in races throughout England and the Isle of Man. He was also an extremely successful tobogganist, and in 1899 won the novices' handicap for the Cresta run at St. Moritz. A member of Birmingham Conservative Club for about 50 years, he was chairman of the management committee for several years. He was also the first president of King's Norton Rugby Football Club.
At the turn of the century he went to live at King's Norton and took great interest in the Parish Church, where from 1924 to 1929 he was churchwarden and Ringing Master, and it was here where he commenced his great interest in bells and bellringing. He was also responsible for raising $£ 2,000$ for the restoration of King's Norton Church and the recasting by Taylors of the old eight bells to which later he gave two treble bells, making the present grand ring of ten.
Unfortunately Mr. Yates had a breakdown in health some years ago which prevented him taking part in ringing, though to the end he loved to hear bells well rung, and during the lighter aights Mrs. Yates would motor him to the city to hear the Sunday evening service ringing at Birmingham Cathedral, where in 1948 he gave the two treble bells, making the present ring of 12 , also a set of 12 new bellropes. His generosity knew no bounds and many will remember the anmual dinners he gave at King's Norton, also the visits to his lovely house, with its many ancient and modern clocks, and the walks round the lovely lawns and gardens to which he would invite his ringers and those from the city towers. Ah, happy days !
The impressive funcral service took place in the King's Norton Parish Church cn March 8 th, conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. B. A. Ashford) assisted by the Rector of Alvechurch. The St. Martin's Guild was represented by Messrs. F. E. Haynes, J. Pinfold, A. Walker and G. E. Fcarn, who rang a course of Triples on the handbells over the grave, and on the following day a half-muffled peal of Stedman Caters at King's Norton.

So ends the life of one of England's finest gentlemen, whose loss is so deeply mourned. The deepest sympathy is extended to his widow. to whom he had been wedded for 42 years, and to his family.

HERTS COUNTY ASSOCIATION

A meeting was held on March 9th at Broxhourne in the Eastern Di-trint. and a good number of members attended. It is worthy of note that two promising young ringers walked from Little Munden-a distance of some eight to ten miles-to this meeting.
Ringing on the eight bells (tenor 20 cwt .) in the afternoon ranged from rounds to Druble Norwich, up to 4.30 when a service was held.
After a business meeting ringing was resumed and was continued un till 8 p.m. Methods rung were Grandsire. Bob Major, Stedman, Kent, Cambridge and Little Bob.

It is hoped to hold the next District mecting at Little and Much Hadham in May.

OBITUARY  MR. ARTHUR MORRIS

On March 13th, the death occurred of Mr. Arthur Morris, of Shirley, Warwickshire, one of the oldest serving ringers of the District. His connection with St. James's Church dates from the beginning of the century, and in 1902 he joined the band that rang on the old five bells, in the days when the little church, the old Plume of Feathers and a small cluster of cottages marked the centre of Shirley village.

Mr. Morris saw active service in the first World War and was gassed in one of the German attacks of 1918. On his discharge from the Army he resumed his church work, and had been constant in his duties as sidesman, churchwarden and ringer. He was associated with the British Legion and was a prominent official of the Ancient Order of Foresters, and was quietly and efficiently active in all parish events.

As Ringing Master at Shirley belfry he gave generously of his time to teaching, and there was a period when he never seemed to be without a pupil or two. No disappointments seemed to discourage him and no difficulties hindered his unending search for recruits. Many wellknown ringers began their instruction under him at Shirley, and many more have benefited by contact with his simple, unassuming and generous nature. Peal ringing was not his aim or chief delight, but he rang a considerable number of peals on six and eight bells, and among them were the first peal on the new six and the first peal on the new eight.

A large concourse of people attended the funcral at Shirlcy Church on March 16th. the British Legion and the Ancient Order of Foresters being prominently represented. The St. Martin's Guild, of which Mr. Morris had been a member for many years, was represented by Mr. George E. Fearn. seeretary, and Mr. Albert Walker, late Master, and the bells were rung half-muffled before the service.

In the passing of Mr. Morris the Guild has lost a much respected member, and the parish of Shirley has lost a patient and devoted servant. His steadfastness, his courage, his meekness and his good will made up a strong personality, one that commanded respect and offered an example to be striven after.

MR. WILLIAM J. READ

'Bill ' Read, of Blackmoor, Hants, passed on early on February 20th after being in bed only one day. He was in his 86th year and had been in failing health for about a year, although this did not prevent him from attending the Alton and Petersfield District meetings in that time. His death took place at the Beauclerk Arms. Winchfield, the home of his son-in-law and daughter.

A native of Privett, he worked as a carpenter for a Greatham building firm for nearly 50 years. He married Miss Agnes Mary Mitchell, of Selborne, at Blackmoor Parish Church on June 1st, 1904, and they lived for many years at Blackmoor. Both he and his wife were ringers at the Parish Church, and Mr. Read ${ }^{\circ}$ s ringing career there was something over 50 years: he was captain of the ringers for 40 years until he lost his left leg in an accident in 1950. Mr. and Mrs. Read went to live at Winchfield about five years ago.

Bill Read had served as a District representative on the executive committee of the Winchester and Portsmouth Guild for many years until his retirement from Blackmoor tower. He had ringing at heart always and was a great friend to the young ringer.

He rang about six peals, all of Doubles, which he stood in to give someone their 'first.' One of these peals rung at Blackmoor was a birthday compliment to himself at the age of 75 .

APPLETON'S RINGING DAY

Ringers go to the annual dinner of the A.S.C.Y, to the Henry Johnson dinner, to functions' connected 'with annual ringing days, but it is remarkable that year after year in a village populated perhaps by less than a thousand souls, ringers from many parts of the country attend and enjoy the Fourth of March at Appleton.

This year, owing to petrol restrictions, visitors from afar were fewer, but many "hardy annuals' from local villages were present, and the number for tea was nearly up to pre-crisis standards.

The day started off on a very happy noteyoung Frank White calling his first peal of Grandsire Caters on the famous ten; and it is to Frank that the success of the day, for many years we hope, will depend.

During the afternoon the bells were kept going from rounds to Stedman Caters, and at 4.30 p.m. upwards of 60 sat down to a good tea at the Thatched Tavern.

During the evening we were delighted to hear the handbells, and it is grand to know that yet another White has come forward to take the place of Dick (of happy memory) in the person of Dick's grandson Brian, who incidentally rang his first peal at Appleton in the morning.

Then came the old songs by the White brothers, and it is always a pleasure to see the dignified figure of Mr. Fred Sharpe kecping the company in good order and himself rendering the old ringing song composed by the village schoolmaster of over 100 years ago.

The ladies also did their part of entertaining. solos being rendered by a "Ringing World; correspondent, and one visitor with just on 40 years' contact with the village even remembered three verses of his annulal song.

Perhaps it passed unnoticed, but the darts championship is now in the hands of two ringers bearing a famous ringing name-Walter Judge and Fred Wilkinson; George and Michael Bishop and several other locals having been climinated.

But the crowning glory of Appleton in the writer's humble opinion is the last hour, which is devoted to grand harmony of well-known and loved hymns, and when the landlord has shouted those famous words: "Time gents, please,' the whole company join in the Nunc Dimittis and so bring to a close a day of happiness' and good fellowship.

This year, at 9 p.m., the health of the Bristol ringers was drunk, a letter from Frank Hansford having been read apologising for the absence of many ringers from Bristol who came last year, for the first time, and so enjoyed thernselves that but for the petrol woutd, I'm sure, have started an annual visit.
Long may the Whites and Holifields and the village of Appleton prosper.

BARM HEAD

EVER since change-ringing began there always have been men who love to dabble with the figures. The ladies have not yet invaded this male preserve, but we can expect it any time now. Peal Composition, Method Construction and Extension are subjects on which a good deal of time has been spent and much paper used. After World War I we got used to seeing in the 'R.W.' columns such names as The Mad Hatter, Minormania, Irenáus Pistor, with their long and technical digressions. Later on we had the Extension controversy, with G. Baker, J. A. Trollope, W. Taylor and A. Y. Bramble and many others joining in. These discussions were not understood by many ringers, but it showed how deeply these men had gone into a difficult subject. It was interesting to read last December that a well-known member of the C.C. was to give a talk on Method Construction at a branch meeting. He is to be congratulated on his enterprise, for it is important that those who take up this subject should start on the right track.

What follows is a true story of one who did not, with unforeseen results. It should be now explained that 'Barm ' was the name given to the yeast which housewives used in the baking of bread throughout the north of England. Thus 'Barm head' was a term of opprobium equivalent to the present day 'big head.' which we hear so much in the cinemas. Names have been withheld because two of this band are still ringing, but if they read these lines I am sure they will see the funny side.

Just over 50 years ago a certain 6-bell tower in Lancashire had a really good band. They regularly rang T.B. methods, such as Arnold's Victory, Imperial, and other methods now considered obsolete. Also they were in the happy position of having several more ringers than ropes. One of these number had started dabbling with the figures and had produced a new method which he called Victoria T.B. We will call this man Y; and the local band had elderly gentleman whose knowledge of method construction did not exist. We call him Z. A meeting was being held at this tower and a composer who was also interested in method construction attended. Call him X. Everything was going well at the meeting; a good attendance, and the local band had just rung a touch of Victoria.

Most people were impressed, but not so X; he asked if anyone had the figures of the method. These were duly supplied by Y , and for a few moments X was busy with his pencil in one corner of the room. Then he calmly announced that the method was no good as it was false. Strong murmurs of disapproval were made by the locals who suggested that $\mathbf{X}$ was mistaken. Finally, $\mathbf{Z}$ determined to crush him by ridicule. Fixing $\mathbf{X}$ with a fierce glare, ho said in his broadest Lancashire: 'Are tha' false, you big barm head?' 'All right,' said X, 'we shall see who is the barm head.' He then left the meeting, deeply conscious of having dropped a brick, and returned to his own village.

During the following week X received a bulky envelope through the post from Y: it contained a full 720 of Victoria pricked out lead by lead. Without any comment $\mathbf{X}$ underlined in red ink the repetitions at the treble leads and sent it back to Y. And so died Victoria T.B. before it ever got in the text books. Fortunately no harm was done; the band respected X for his superior knowledge, and they progressed into the Surprise class. Finally, X, Y and Z have passed on.

LANCASTRIAN.

A MEMORY

Hey diddle diddle, the bells in a muddle, The firing's not really in tune;
We've just rung a middle,
I think it's a fiddle.
We've come round, but two courses too soon!
We pull on with dismay, for we've come a long And the journey it really was vile. [way, But ringers take heart, our conductor is smart, It'll be 'under control ' in a while!

Our joy knows no bounds as we crash into rounds,
But our ears are still throbbing with pain.
Our conductor is happy, the spadeworking chappy,
Seven 'firsts in the method' again!

HERTS COUNTY ASSOCIATION

St. Albans District

The March meeting of the St. Albans District was held at the 800 -year-old Church of St. Leonard's, Sandridge, on March 16th. About 20 members were present and the light six were raised at 3 p.m. and were soon ringing to a variety of methods.

The Vicar (the Rev. P. G. Handford) conducted the service and gave a short address on - Lenten Discipline.' This was the first meeting to be held at Sandridge since his indaction, and in welcoming members the Vicar said that most of those present probably knew the church better than he.

At the business meeting, which followed tea, the chair was taken by Mr. S. Hoare. The meeting discussed, among other things, the annual general meeting, which is to be held at Hitchin on April 27th. It was hoped to rum a coach from the District and that the District secretary (Mr. S. Huckle) would be pleased to have names as soon as possible. In view of the annual general meeting no meeting would be held in this District during April, and the next meeting will be held jointly with the Northern District at Knebworth in May. The Summer Festival with the Bedfordshire Association will be held in June at St. Albans.

A proposition was made by Mr. H. V. Frost that news and items of interest concerning towers in the District should be given at meetings and included in the report sent to "The Ringing World.'

The meeting closed with a vote of thanks to the Vicar; the secretary also received a vote of thanks for his arrangements, and it was felt that he deserved better support at meetings.

To commemorate the 2,000th anniversary of the death of Julius Cæsar, a quarter peal ' in hand 'was rung by members of Cambridge University Guild. 'I am sorry to report,' states our correspondent, "that only one member of the band had sufficient sense of the occasion to wear a black tie.'
Mr. H. F. Carter, Ringing Master of All Saints', Marsham, Norfolk, requires details of any peals rung in this church prior to 1877.
Mr. George Green has completed 70 years as a ringer at Great Baddow, Essex. A commemorative quarter peal was rung on March 17th.

Mr. E. G. Buck, of Baldock, the popular secretary of the Northern District, has been nominated as president of the Hertford County Association
The Bedfordshire Association has accepted the invitation of the Hertford County Association to hold a summer festival at St. Albans on June 15th.
Mr. H. B. Whitney (Leighton Buzzard) achieved a long standing ambition in ringing a quarter peal at Wing, Bucks (tenor $29+\mathrm{cwt}$.). It was rung in 47 minutes, Mr. K. G. Spavins (Woburn) admirably ringing the tenar.

The retirement of the Rev. T. I. Davies from the living of Silk Willoughby. Lincs, thtough ill-health will be regretted by a wide circle of ringing friends. His co-operation with ringers in furthering the Exercise during the $9 \frac{1}{2}$ years he has been rector is much appreciated.
Although he cannot climb steps and is thus precluded from ringing, Mr. Albert J. Hughes, late of Birmingham, Bangor, Rhyl and Bradford, and now back home at Bangor; sends us a cheery letter of his continued interest in the Exercise.

Regarding Nynchead, Somerset, Mr. W. A. J. Knight is of the opinion that it has GOSSIP never been a 4 -bell tower. He recalls that about 1906 or 1907 a treble was added to the five bells, and the following Thursday after they were opened he was with the Milverton ringers, who were the first to ring method changes on the bells The first peal on the bells was Grandsire Doubles on August 5th, 1939, which was conducted by Edgar Quick, of Chipstable.

The bells of St. Stephen's, St. Albans, have been recast and are about to be rehung in the strengthened tower. The date for the opening is at present uncertain, but it will be in the near future.
G. Penny, one of the enthusiastic Abbey Junior Band, arranged and conducted a quarter pegal of Bob Major.
To the memory of Mr. C. Tribe, who died recently in London at the age of 99, an in memoriam quarter peal was rung at Smarden, Kent, on March 17 th . Mr. Tribe's name appears on many peal boards in Kent.

Although his church at Little Chart was blitzed during the war, Mr. J. Batchelor had the satisfaction of ringing his first peal of Minor on the recast bells in the beautiful little new church on March 9th. He was mainly responsible for getting the bells salvaged and rehung.
Ticehurst, with its bells cast and hung by Thomas Jannaway in 1771, would appear never to have had its own change-ringing band. No peal was rung until 1921 and since then the tower has not been popular. In recent years the 'dropping' tendency of the bells has caused many ringers to be thankful to hear rounds at the end of a peal. On March 12th C. A. Bassett and W. A. Kitchenside had the distinction of being the first to 'circle the tower.'

THE SURREY ASSOCIATION

Mr. F. E. Collins New Master

FOLLOWING a service in the Parish Church, Croydon, conducted by one of the assistant clergy, the Rev. A. W. J. Burton, tea and the annual gencral meeting were held in the Church Hall, attended by over 70 members and friends. Despite a rather long agenda, the meeting proved very enjoyable.

In presenting the committee's report on the work of 1956, attention was drawn to the fact that through death and migration a few towers were without ringers, and emphasis was laid on the duty of all ringers to provide against such happenings by recruiting, encouraging and teaching a continuous infux of learners. Sunday service and practice ringing had been well maintained and attendances at meetings had shown a slight improvement.

13 PEAL CONDUCTORS

During the year 20 peals had been recorded, ranging from Cambridge Surprise Maximus to Bob Minor, the conducting being shared by 13 ringers, all but one being resident members. The committee were pleased to note that an entirely local band had rung Holt's Original as the 100th peal on the bells at Ewell last October. In concluding its report the committee drew attention to the Northern District's proposals to further the art of change-ringing by striking competitions, etc., and asked that all members should support the effort wholeheartedly.

Miss K. E. Weller presented the treasurer's statements of accounts, where were adopted, and reported that a donation from the Belfry Repair Fund had been made to St. Mary's, Beddington.

During the apologies for absence the meeting was sorry to hear that Mr. R. Lathbury (a former District secretary) was in hospital, and that Mr. A. J. Adams, now out of hospital, appeared to be making only slow progress. Congratulations were expressed to Mr. and Mrs. R. Parsons on the birth of a son.
Under the rules Mr. R. Davies, Ringing Master since 1954, had to retire, and having been warmly tharked for his services, handed over his office to Mr. F. E. Collins. On the proposition of Mr. H. V. Young, it was unanimously agreed that the retiring Master should become a vice-president. The remaining officers were all re-elected, with thanks for their previous services.
As the result of a ballot the Central Council representatives for the ensuing period are Messrs. A. P. Cannon, F. E. Collins and W. F. Oatway.

The committee put forward nine minor amendments to the rules, and these were all accepted.

REPORTS IN 'R.W.'

After a large number of views had been expressed by members, it was decided that the annual reports for future years should be printed in 'The Ringing World,' and every five years a synopsis of these reports, together with up-todate information regarding towers, should be published in booklet form.

In response to desires expressed by our keen young members, a discussion took place on the question of an Association badge, but due to short notice and short time in which to obtain information, it was decided to hold over this matter until next year.
A collection for the Belfry Repair Fund realised $£ 2$.
The next annual general meeting will be at Reigate on March 15th, 1958.
Another successful meeting closed after two hours of discussions, with very warm votes of thanks to the lady members of the tower and their helpers for a very sumptuous tea, to the Curate and organist for the service, and to the Vicar for the use of the bells, and ringing, ranging from rounds on eight to Cambridge Maximus, continued until 9 oclock.

LLANDAFF AND MONMOUTH ASSOCIATION

Monmouth Branch

The Monmouth Branch annual meeting was held at Monmouth on March 2nd, and some 50 ringers attended, including visitors from Gloucestershire, Hercfordshire and Middlesex. The service was conducted by Canon E. P. Knight, who warmly welcomed the Branch.
A bountiful tea was served in the Rolls Hall at tables charmingly decorated with spring flowers and trailing ivy. Mr. Ronald Lucas expressed the appreciation of the company to Mrs. L. H. Jones and hert helpers.

Canon Knight kindly took the chair at the business meeting, and mentioned the sad loss of Mrs. Hulbert, of Rumney, and Mr. Barton, of Staunton. A favourable report of the past year was given by the secretary. Twenty-seven new members had been elected. Sunday service ringing was assured in most Branch towers. Mr. David King was elected Branch Master and the secretary (Miss Jacqueline Evans) re-elected. Congratulations were offered to Mr. Donald Clift, who recently had called Holt's Original from Usk tenor. Progress was reported from Ebbw Vale and Rumney. New members elected were: D. Maggs (Caldicot) and R. C. Horsington (Abergavenny). Thanks were extended to Mr. L. H. Jones for his help in ensuring such a successful meeting.
Shirenewton was chosen as the place of the next meeting and mention was made that the bells were certainly in good ringing condition.

MEETINGS IN ANOTHER TERRITORY

Dear Sir,-II see that a 'territorial' ringing organisation (Middlesex Association) has obtained permission for the use of a ring of bells on the occasion of one of their meetings outside their own area in the next county (Surrey). As far as is known, no contact was made with the Surrey Association.

Is this 'poaching,' 'dog in the manger,' ' discourteous' or 'infra dig'?
I refer to the South and West District of the Middlesex Association going to St. Mary's, Barnes. I have no axe to grind, I am a member of both Associations, but I have my own views. -Yours sincerely,

NORMAN S. BAGWORTH.

AN ESSEX TOWER

A happy picture of the St. Peter's, South Weald, Essex, Guild of Ringers at their annual dinner on February 13th, when they were joined by their Vicar (the Rev. J. F. McAlister). At the annual meeting which followed, the statement of accounts showed a healthy balance of $£ 37$. The ringers pride themselves on meeting expenses for ropes and belfry attention from their own fund, which is raised exclusively by their own efforts.

THE CAMBRIDGE UNIVERSITY GUILD

78th Anniversary Dinner

SATURDAY, March 9th, was the day of the Cambridge University Guild's 78 th anniversary dinner, which was once again held at the 'Dorothy Cafe,' and was as successful as any the writer can recall. Unofficial celebrations started on the Friday evening, but the official part of the programme started at about 9.30 a.m. on the Saturday, when ten members of the Guild assembled at Saffron Walden to attempt a peal of Grandsire Caters. We will spare the conductor's fuelings and not relate how it came about that the peal was lost after nearly three hours; we will merely hint darkly that it was not miscalled. However, six other members were more successful with a peal of Bob Minor at Harston.
After lunch, ringing took place at all four towers in Cambridge; for many of those present, this was the first opportunity of sampling the recast and rehung bells at Great St. Andrew's (it is not too late, you who read this. to send your contribution, however small, to the restoration fund). Whatever these bells may have lost in interest value, they are certainly a real pleasure to ring now. A fair standard of ringing was maintained at all the towers
By about 7.30 p.m. some 40 members and guests had found their devious ways to the Dorothy Café, and an excellent dinner was consumed. (This is where 'we come to the awkward bit' of the report, as the writer was not press-ganged into agreeing to report the proceedings until the next morning; consequently, any of those "summi oratores hominesque nobilissimi" who were hoping to see their rhetorical gems in all the glory of print will be disappointed, as these were not taken down at the time, still less-as at some universities-tape-recorded.)
In the regrettable absence of the president (the Rev. A. C. Blyth), who was unable to come through illness, and was very much missed, the dinner was presided over by Mr. W. J. Ridgman, who proposed the loyal toast and conveyed the president's apologies and best wishes to the company. The toast of 'The Guild was proposed by Mr. P. R. Sanders, the Master of the Oxford University Society, who. your scribe recollects, made some good points in an excellent speech-but what these points were escapes the memory at present. The toast was replied to by the Master of the Guild (Mr. J. D. Painter), who had no funny stories to tell but had a successful year to report. He no doubt mentioned that since the last dinner the Guild had rung 20 peals, toured Worcestershire and had a number of outings, including a 5 and 6 -bell 'tower-snatch,' an outing to the borders of Lincolnshire, and a visit to the bellfoundry at Loughborough. He also mentioned that members of the Guild had broadcast on Radio Eireann, but I think he forgot to mention that members had also been televised while ringing handbells on the tower of St. John's College Chapel last Ascension Day.

The secretary (Mr. F. B. Cookson) proposed the toast of 'The Visitors.' and did it very well. too. The guests included members of the Oxford and Bristol University Societies. the Master of the London University Society (Mr. J. Armstrong), fresh from leading his band to victory at Hart Street, four members of the Cambridge Youths, and Canon Woodard, of St. Andrew's, and the Rev. M. Stockwood, of Great St. Mary's, whose co-operation in allowing the Guild to ring their respective bells is so greatly appreciated. This toast was replied to by Miss P. Bourn, the Master of the Bristol University Society; during this speech it became apparent that there is no dearth of "shaggy dogs" in Bristol at the moment.

Mr. P. A. F. Chalk, an esteemed former Master of the Guild and the present senior steward of the Ancient Socisty of College Youths, conveyed the greetings of that Society to the Guild, a gesture which was very much appreciated. That concluded the formal business of the evening, but handbells and liquid refreshment were awaiting us in Mr. M. Peterson's rooms in Trinity College, and the majority of the company adjourned thither to sample one or both of these attractions. Most of those present were, however, exhausted before the beer was, and probably a record number of ringers were accommodated for the night on various sofas, although at least one person found considerable hazards placed between him and his couch-his coat still bears the marks of an encounter with some iron railings.
Enough people got up on the Sunday morning in time to ring a good touch of Stedman Cinques at Great St. Mary's for the 9.45 service, and after reviving themselves with coffee, four members attempted a peal of Bob Major on handbells, which came to grief in the last course; while the more sensible element rang at St. Andrew's. and finished the job at Trinity College. After a brief pause for refreshment, the writer then returned to a saner city, and takes no responsibility for anything that may have occurred thereafter.

LANCASHIRE ASSOCIATION

Furness and Lake District Branch
A highly successful annual meeting of the Furness and Lake District Branch was held at St. Mary Magdalene, Broughton-in-Furness, on March 16 th. Ringing commenced at 2 p.m. and continued until 4 p.m. The service was conducted by the Rev. R. Lindsay, Vicar of Hawkshead, in the absence of the Vicar of Broughton, who is ill. Tea was arranged in the Old King's Head Hotel, to which 45 sat down. At the business meeting which followed, 11 new members were elected. Ringing then continued until about 7.30 p.m. N. M. N.

ST. DAVID'S DIOCESAN GUILD
The quarterly meeting of the Guild was held at the Church of St. Elli, Llanelly, on March 9 th, and despite the terrible weather members attended from Tenby, Carmarthen, Llandilo, Burry Port and Llanstephan, supported by the Llanelly members and our good friends the honorary and unattached members.
The Rev. J. Aubrey officiated at the service, with the Rev. H. G. Jenkins as organist. The lesson was read by the Master of the Guild, Mr. Ed. J. Thomas. A very nice tea was enjoyed by the 49 members present.
The Rev. H. G. Jenkins presided at the business mecting and welcomed the Guild to Llanelly, and then called on the Master, who apologised for the absence of the secretary (Mr. C. H. Hawkins) through illness. On the proposition of Mr. W. Williams, seconded by Mr. R. Scudamore, the Guild's good wishes are to be conveyed to Mr. Hawkins for a speedy recovery.

The usual touch on handbells was given by Messrs. A. Hoare, R. Scudamore, J. Turvey and E. Morris.

A letter was read from the Lord Bishop of St. David's, accepting the presidency of the Guild, and offering June 22nd as the only date open to him to attend the annual meeting at Carmarthen.
The competition will be held at Llanelly, due to the unsuitability of the Carmarthen bells. The secretary is to contact the captains of the various towers to find out how many bands will enter.
The next quarterly meeting in September is to be held at Llanstephan. Six new probationary members. were elected.
A hearty vote of thanks was extended by Mr. Ed. J. Thomas to the Rev. H. G. Jenkins for having the Guild at Llanelly, and also to the ladies who gave the tea and waited at the tables. This was seconded by Mr. Ben Rees.

The Rev. H. G. Jenkins closed the meeting with a prayer, and the members returned to the tower to finish of the evening.

NORWICH DIOCESAN

The annual meeting of the Western Branch was held at Fakenham on February 23rd, when 45 members, representing 16 towers, attended, amongst whom were the president of the Association, the general secretary and Association Ringing Master.

The bells were available throughout the afternoon and evening, and were rung to methods to suit all tastes and capabilities.

The service was conducted by the Rector of Fakenham (Rev. J. F. Keith), who also gave the address. Tea was prepared and served in the Church Rooms by relatives of the local band.

It was with very deep regret that at the start of the business meeting the chairman (Rev. Mr. Dodson) announced the passing of one of the oldest honorary members-Mrs. Hall, widow of the late Rev. P. E. Hall, for many years Rector of Sculthorpe. The retiring officers were all thanked for their past services and were then all re-elected for a further term of office.

The next annual will be held at Kings Lynn on November 23rd, and the next quarterly meeting will be at Watton on May 25th. An interim meeting is being arranged at North Elmham on Saturday, April 27th.

LETTERS T0 THE EDITOR

THE PERFECT PEAL

Dear Sir,-It would not be fair to the bands concerned to let your correspondent's (P. A. C.) remarks about the perfect peal never being rung go unchallenged.

I had the pleasure of heaing a peal of Minor in three methods when the first 720 took 23 minutes and the rest $22 \frac{1}{2}$ minutes each (within seconds). If there was a missed dodge it was very cleverly covered up. and I can only recall three places where there was a very slight difference in the handstroke leads. I also had the same pleasure with a peal of Bob Major, but this was marred when a little bell made a slight hesitation when turning the treble. In both these cases rounds were rung until the beat was obtained.

Having rung in a large number of towers I am convinced that every ring has a certain pace, and if this is not found one cannot really judge the quality of the bells, so my tributes go to those who find and maintain the right number of changes per minute. These bands ring for their own satisfaction, but I am willing to supply details to anyone interested as to the date, time and place.
P. A. C. mentions one ringer by name, but I can recall several other ringers who have rung quite a number of peals without making a false blow.

The Exercise is producing a number of keen young conductors who should be set a high standard to aim at. but to read his remarks will only give these youngsters cause for compla-cency.-Yours sincerely.

SOUTH AFRICA'S WELCOME

Dear Sir,-I have just received my 'R.W. for January 18 th , in which I was delighted to read a letter from Patrick F. Cahill, of Durban, expressing his appreciation and thanks for the welcome and help he had received from ringers during his several months touring in England. However sincere and enthusiastic was the welcome he received in England, I am certain it could not surpass the welcome that my wife and I received from the ringers in Cape Town and Durban, where we had the pleasure of calling on our way out here. To all of them we extend a most sincere and hearty 'thank you,' especially to Mr. and Mrs. Victor Sheppard and Mr. Cyril Chambers, who attended most willingly to our every need and arranged for me to have a ring at both places.-Yours faithfully,

HUMOUR IN 'THE LOOK ROUND"

Dear Sir,-I feel I'd like to share a laugh with you.

Have you ever seen a waterworks employee trying to "listen to a water leak just outside a church where the bells were ringing their loudest? I did on a recent Saturday at Helmshore; the expression on his face was most interesting as he turned his face towards the church. scemingly in cespair-I would have loved to have read his thoughts.

As a 'ringing widow: I was left by my husband to "have a look round while I have a ring, and I'm sure I was the only person in that street who could see the funny side of the poor man's efferi.-Yours, etc.,

Oldham.
'RINGING WIDOW:

THE WORD OF ENCOURAGEMENT
Dear Sir,-Occasionally letters appear in "The Ringing World ' deriding the ambitions of certain of our better-known ringers. The fact that they aim to ring more peals in mote towers than any other ringer, or to collect more annual reports is held against them. And yet on better acquaintance another side is often noticed to their characters. Such another side was shown by A. P. Cannon the other day.

On only the second occasion he had met two young lady recruits to the Exercise, he remarked: 'Ah, two of the St. Barnabas', Sutton, handbell ringers, I see.' In response to the information that these two handbell ringers had just performed, albeit rather badly, in rounds on 12 tower bells, he expressed his pleasure at their interest and ability. Such remarks, although likely to be thought lightly of by more experienced ringers, have nothing but good effect on newcomers to the Exercise, especially those attending their first Association meeting. Thank you, Pat.

Whilst writing, I would like to ask for the name of the ringer, mentioned in the leading article a few weeks ago, who turned in the tenor at Liverpool Cathedral to Cambridge Majof. Surely such an achievement is not going to be allowed to pass with only an anonymous com-ment?-Yours faithfully,

WHERE RUNG?

Dear Sir,-In answer to where on October 11th, 1952, the peal of Bob Major was rung under the title of All Hallows, Blackpool, it should have been All Hallows, Bispham, Blackpool. The latter is really the mother church of Blackpool. The Rector of All Hallows, Bispham, has a vote in the appointment of a new Vicar of St. John's, Blackpool, when necessary. - Yours, etc.

RINGING ON PALM SUNDAY

Dear Sir,-We are now in the solemn season of Lent, and surely a correct time to think about half-muffled ringing.

In my humble opinion I think it would be a fitting start to the most solemn week of the Christian year (Holy Week) if all the church bells throughout Britain were rung half-muffled on Palm Sunday; also for the B.B.C. to be approached with the view to having this very beautiful form of ringing broadcast.-Yours truly,

PETER J. ROBERTS.

FOUR-BELL TOWERS IN WILTSHIRE
Dear Sir,-Twenty-five years ago there were the follewing 4-bell rings in Wiltshire-some may now have been augmented: Little Bedwyn. Berwick St. James, Box, Boynton, Donhead St. Andrew, Ham, Hankerton, Idmiston, West Kington, Langley Burrell, Luckington, North Newnton, Newton Tony, Orcheston St. Gearge, Somerford. Stockton, Trowbridge St. Thomas, Westwood, Winterbourne Monkton, Winterbourne Stoke, Yatton Keynell.

The four in Orcheston St. George and the three in the adjoining parish of St. Mary hang in steel frames and go like tops. There is also a well-hung three at Baverstock (St. Edith of Wilton). The picture-postcard village of Teffont Evias has three ringable bells and (for the benefit of any organist-ringer) a genuine 'Scudamore organ.-Yours faithfully.

THE COURSE OF TRUE LOVE
Dear Sir,-I for one should like strongly to support the letter of my old friend Charles Melford about that type of woman in ringing.

What a contrast to the usual happy, healthy type of girl we find at the Ladies' Guild meetings. It wil! be a sad day when we are so short of members we have to stoop to that sort of person.

At the same time though I must point out to Charlie that surely as a lifelong teetotaller he should support her refusing strong drink, a view not very often met with nowadays. And perhaps the wholesome contact with ringers may bring some improvement. I must say I have had some very happy times ringing, and I am glad when I look back to those early days that Charlie did not altogether succeed in his attempts to keep us women out of belfrics! Yours truly,

ALMA K. HACOCK (Mrs.).

Oxford.

Dear Sir-A word of protest about the two letters ('R.W: $15 / 3 / 57$ ) referring to the leading article, "The Course of True Love. Although introduced to ringing myself by the good old boy-mcets-girl system. I do not in fact practise the profession mentioned by Mr. Melford, and I think he will find that it is true of the big majority of female ringers.

As for Miss Oliver, even if she does want to make distinctions between ringers of the fair sex, the Ladies' Guild does not.-Yours, etc., MARY ANDREWS.

A WESTMORLAND TOWER

Dear Sir,-At the Church of St. Bartholomew, Barbon, near Kirkby Lonsdale, Westmorland, there is a 4 -bell tower. My mother, sisters and I were evacuated to Barbon village during the war. and have since returned several times for holidays. I last rang there in 1948 and at that time the bells were in very good condition and easy to ring. I've no doubt they are still good as I believe they are still rung regularly. I was told that the tenor was 17 cwt ., but no one knows whether or not this information is correct.-Yours faithfully,
J. BRENDA SOFTLEY.

THE WELDING OF CRACKED BELLS

By R. W. M. CLOUSTON

THE aim of this article is to collect and comment upon the results to date and the problems connected with the repairing of cracked bells by welding.

INTRODUCTION

To be able to appreciate the problems involved it is necessary first to give a review of bells generally and of the various methods of sounding them.

Bells have been used from very early times, and even to-day we have some still in use which were cast as long ago as the year 1200 . In that period they were shaped much like flower pots with straight sides and with near uniform thickness throughout. By about 1300 the shape had evolved almost to that used to-day, the one which gives the best musical effect.

A bell of normal shape is in fact a large thick ring (or soundbow) with a diameter about equal to the mouth diameter of the bell, with the rest of the bell forming an open-ended box. The diameter and thickness of the ring or soundbow, which is struck by the clapper or tongue, are the dimensions which fix the fundamental note of the bell, and the dimensions of the open-ended box determine the pitch of the harmonics produced.

A normal bell gives out more than nine different notes, of which five are considered important from the tuning point of view. The frequencies of these can within limits be altered by turning the bell in a lathe and removing metal from various zones inside the bell or at the lip.
With a bell weighing a ton the mouth diameter would be about 49 in . and the soundbow thickness about $3+\mathrm{in}$. In the crown of the bell the thickness would be at its minimum of about 1 in.
Bells have been cast in bronze from time immemorial, and the alloy used through the ages, with little variation, has contained 22 per cent. tin and 78 per cent. copper. In the past the founder has had to work under great difficulties, often in the open air, frequently having to use what metal was available rather than what he wanted, and as a result impurities are found in old bells which can have a very considerable effect on welding, such as lead and zinc, etc. This is quite apart from moulding sand inclusions, porous metal and other similar defects.

This alloy of copper and tin is extremely brittle and has the highest tin content of any commercisl bronze. This is necessary, though very expensive, to obtain the brilliance in tone. Bronze, with a lower percentage of tin, gives a bell a far duller tone, and though the alloy is less brittle, is false economy.

METHODS OF RINGING

Bells can be sounded in a number of different ways, and each will impart different stresses in the bell material.

Fig 1.-A fine Flemish bell cast by Peter van den Ghein I. of Mechlin in 1540 and now in Iona Cathedral Cloisters. The crack in the soundbow is clearly visible and was repaired by welding.

A bell may be hung stationary and struck by an internal or external hammer, as in the case of clock chimes.

The bell may be swung through a small arc and checked at the end of each stroke so that the clapper hits the inside of the soundbow. This is termed swing chiming.

A further method is adopted in the case of rings of bells on which changes are rung. Here the bell rotates through a full circle and balances mouth uppermost at the end of each revolution. This is the severest test of the quality of the material in a bell, both in the force of the blow and the number of blows, which can be over 5,000 in three hours in the course of a peal.

Bells to be rung in this manner are very common in the British Isles, less common in the English-speaking world gcnerally, and virtually unknown on the continent of Europe.

Fatigue is a phenomenon before the public eye in view of the recent Comet disasters, and it applies just as much to bells as to any other metal object. If the welding temperature मीचर.
stresses cannot be relieved sufficiently, or if there are small cracks remaining after welding, the continual vibration of the bell will sooner or later cause failure; sooner rather than later in the case of the soundbow zone, as the vibration is so much more intense there than in the crown of the bell.

HOW A BELL BECOMES CRACKED

There are two main places where cracks originate, (i) in the crown or head of the bell, (ii) in the soundbow.
(i) Up till about 1850 the wrought iron staple from which the clapper hangs was fixed in the mould before the metal was run in. The bronze held it in position in use, but due to its nature the iron rusts and in doing so expands, which sets up stresses in the bronze where that metal is comparatively thin, and as a result a crack develops. This then has a habit of working its way down the side of the bell to the mouth. Unfortunately, though the crack is plainly visible over most of its length it is not generally possible to stop its spreading by drilling a hole across its path, as one cannot accurately determine its end.

A crack in the crown does not seriously impair the tone initially, but it is usually possible to know, whether there is one of any magnitude by the speed at which the sound decays. As the crack works its way down through the waist to the soundbow, the tone is progressively lost until it reaches the lip, when the tone is. so poor that the bell is general disused.
Old cast-io staples of this type should be drilled out from the crowns of old bells to prevent this, and new clapper support shafts fitted right through the crowns to finish with an external nut and split pin on the headstock.
(ii) A crack direct in the soundbow without first working down from the crown is more often than not due to downright carelessness and misuse. Any bell struck violently with a sledge-hammer will crack, but often the cause is not so blatant. On being struck the soundbow vibrates, and if it is restrained in any way, then due to the brittle material a crack will sooner or later develop at the point of restraint. Thus a clock hammer with a defective spring which allows the hammer to rest on the bell after it has struck, or the slovenly sexton who ties the rope to the clapper instead of the rope wheel, and pulls the clapper on to the bell and does not release it at once, are both potential causes of failure of a bell.
A cracked soundbow can result from wear, as the clapper tends to indent its way into the bell in time, so thinning and weakening it at the points of impact. In this connection the maladjustment of many clappers of ringing bells, especially large ones, freouently results in false clappering, i.e., the clapper falls back on to the rising lower side of the bell instead of striking by overtaking the rising top side. (Continued foot next column)

THE LADIES' GULLD

Western District

The annual meeting of the Western District was held at Bitton, Glos, on March 9th when, in spite of the drenching rain which now seems to be a regular feature of these meetings, a good attendance was recorded. The service was conducted by the Rector of Corston (the Rev. J. W. Tunwell) who gave an amusing and very apt address. Tea was taken in the Church Hall, and whilst the ladies' meeting was in progress three of the 'Ladies' Guild husbands and fathers' not only washed all the dishes but also undertook the more arduous task of looking after no less than seven youthful offsprings of members-there is no doubt that the Ladies Guild in this part of the world is very much a - family affair.'

At the business mecting the following officers were clected: Vice-president, Mrs. Parfrey; secretary, Mrs. de Jong; committee-Mrs. Bennett, Miss Johnson and Miss Williams; representatives to Ladies' Guild committee, Mrs. Bennett and Miss Johnson. Two new members were elected-Miss J.... and Miss P. Stevens, from West Buckland.

It is hoped to hold the June meeting at Lyme Regis and the September meeting at Malmesbury, subject to the necessary permission being obtained. The usual coach will be run from the Bath/Bristol district to Lyme Regis.

At the conclusion of the meeting members returned to the tower for further ringing, ranging from rounds to Surprise Major methods.
M. de J.

West Midlands District

The pleasantly situated Church of St. Leonard, Clent, welcomed members and friends to the annual meeting of the West Midlands District on March 9th through steady rain; but once in the ringing room the weather was soon forgotten and attention was given to the ringing of rounds and Queens, and touches in various methods. Ladies' bands rang touches of Grandsire and Stedman and a course of Cambridge, while the help of the gentlemen was appreciated for Double Norwich and an attempted course of Yorkshire.

The service was conducted by the Vicar. the Rev. G. John, who welcomed us to the church and gave some interesting details of the history of Clent and the dedication and craftsmanship of the church. He also joined us at tea, held in a conveniently situated cafe (the weather continuing unkind).

The business meeting was held in the north aisle of the church, and the following officers were elected for the coming year: Vice-president, Evelyn Fletcher ; secretary and treasurer, Diana Perrins; central committec-Maureen Fellows, Mrs. Anne Speed: District committee -Stella Hughes, Elizabeth Yardley, Mrs. Anne Speed. Mrs. C. A. Barron.

The next meeting of the District will be held in Warwickshirc on the first Saturday in June.

WELDING-Continued

The severe blow thus given is especially dangerous, particularly for an already thin and worn old bell. The remedy for this is quarter or eighth turning, and a clapper suspended from an independent crown staple which can be properly adjusted. This of course, as mentioned before, involves the removal of a cast-iron crown staple, if there is one. Rubber buffers is the clapper bells also assist the resonance of weak and thin bells and afford further protection.

OXFORD DIOCESAN GUILD

Central Bucks Branch

A very successful meeting was held at the Church of St. Mary, Padbury, near Buckingham, on March 9th. There were touches of various Minor methods from 2.45 p.m. until the service at 4 p.m.

The Vicar of Padbury (the Rev. W. F. Garrod), who is new to the parish, showed his versatility by conducting the service, giving the address and playing the organ. About 45 members attended the service and afterwards had tea in the schoolroom, ably arranged by the local tower foreman, Mr. C. Gough.
The Rev. Canon G. Dixon presided at the quarterly meeting and was supported by the secretary, Mr. F. Gibbard. Several visitors were present, including the Guild librarian, Mr. L. Roper. Mr. V. Phillips proposed three new members. Some vicws were put forward regarding the annual festival at Oxford.

Afterwards quite a number of methods were rung, including London and Cambridge, with the help of enthusiastic visiting ringers.
One feature of this successful meeting was the large number of young ringers present, and this augurs well for the Central Bucks Branch, which is not by any means now the smallest Branch in the Oxford Diocesan Guild.

THE GLOUCESTER GUILD OF RINGERS

On March 9th, the Gloucester Guild held its first annual dinner, which was attended by 45 ringers and friends. After an excellent meal, the chief guest. Rev. Mr. Lanham, of Quedgeley, proposed the toast of 'The Guild,' and spoke of the tremendous revival of ringing in the Gloucester area as a result of the formation of the Guild. Other toasts were to 'The Visitors' and to 'The Entertainers,' and these were interspersed with entertainment from various sources. The cvening concluded with dancing.

OBITUARY  MR. J. E. BURTON

Norwich has lost one of its oldest ringers by the death on March 12 th of Mr. John Edward Burton, aged 80 . He started his ringing career with J. Armiger Trollope, Charles E. Borrett and his brother, George P. Burton, all now passed on. These four were first-class handbell ringers and rang many peals ' in hand' in the later 1890 's.

When the old band (Norwich Scholars) at St. Peter Mancroft broke up in 1907, John and George Burton with Charles Borrett formed the nucleus of a new band and remained together until 1923. With Mr. Burlon's wholehearted support, the Mancroft Guild added a flat sixth, the 'Gabriel' bell, in 1910. During the first World War the Guild enlisted the services of five lady ringers, and later taught Miss G. M. A. George a niece of the famous Rev. F. E. Robinson. Miss George became Mrs. Burton in 1922.

By profession John E. Burton was an architect and acquired quite a reputation for church restoration work, and his advice was much sought in connection with towers, bell frames, etc.

His active ringing ended after the first world war, brought about by ill-health and the demands of his practice, and in 1923 he became closely concerned with a large business concern. In spite of this his interest in ringing continued and when I last saw him he recalled a great many of his ringing experiences.

Like his brother, he was a first-class ringer and a splendid striker from treble to tenor, both of them being meticulous in everything they undertook. 1 rang in several peals with him (one of which he conducted) and do not remember him making a bad blow.

He could be depended on in any method. Although not a prolific peal ringer his knowledge of theory and method construction was very considerable; one of his peals of Bob Major is still rung.

When first mecting him he would give an impression of aloofness, but on knowing him better one would appreciate his quiet humour and a direct and searching mind. His interests outside his business and professional life were his church, ringing and sailing, more particularly on the Norfolk Broads.

John Edward Burton was a type of churchman and ringer whose example many of us would do well to follow.

MR. W. E. G. HEWSON

The ringers of St. Leonard's, Streatham, much regret to hear of the death of Mr. W. E. G. Hewson, the Irish gentieman, who died at his home at Askeaton, County Limerick.

He lived at Brixton Hill, London, for about 12 years, and joined the London County Association, the Surrey Association, and is believed to have been a College Youth. He took part in a few paals in London. ringing the tenor covering; for this he was good and kept an even beat. At St. Leonard's he got on well between the years 1927-37, and took part in quite a number of quarter peals by ringing a working bell to Stedman Triples,

He told me he was apprenticed as an engineer with the late Major J. H. B. Hesse, and that accounts for his knowledge of bell-hanging and casting. Mr. Hewson lost his wife by death in London in 1938, and since that year we here in London have heard no more from him, and concluded he had gone back to Ireland.

He was a devout churchman and always attended service Sunday mornings after ringing at Streatham, and we are very pleased to know the bells of Limerick Cathedral were rung halfmuffied to his memory.

May God rest his soul.
J. W. C.

MR. SIDNEY J. JESSOP
The ringers of St. Leonard's, Streatham, were greatly shocked to hear of the death of Mr. Sidney J. Jessop, of Boston, Lincs. We got the sad news from his brother at Streatham before it appeared in 'The Ringing World.'

Mr. Jessop often visited his brother at weekends, and always liked to ring at St. Leonard's for the Sunday services. He rang Grandsire well and liked to try a touch of Stedman. He was proud to talk about his Boston 'Stump' (St. Botolph's), where he rang for so many years. Every Christmas, these last 12 years or more, he sent the Streatham ringers a belfry calendar, accompanied by a large photograph of Boston Stump, each year taken at a different angle. He rang many quarter peals of Grandsire Triples at Streatham and we shall miss his visits. R.I.P.
J. W. C.

MR. C. H. PAGE

It is with great regret that we record the death on March 13 th. after a short illness, of Mr. Charles Herbert Page, aged 70, tower captain of the Parish Church of St. Peter-adVincula, Stoke-on-Trent, officer and life member of the North Staffordshire Association.
In a short address at the funeral the Rector. Rev. F. A. R. Chapman, paid tribute to ' Charlie ' Page, who would be remembered as a friend communicant. and perhaps above all, as a bellringer. The Ringers' Hymn was sung during the service.

The bells of St. Peter's were rung half-muffled both before and after the service by officers and members of the North Staffs Association.

BATS IN THE BELFRY

ARE bell ringers 'bats' in the belfry? When I tell people I ring bells, they look at me agape. I do really believe they think I'm dotty, but of course they are much too polite to say so.

Perhaps bell ringers are crazy, but I find it a pleasant kind of craziness. I suppose to the layman, going out ringing church bells sounds a pretty curious business. And then, of course, they must think people are pretty mad to go out peal ringing for hours at a time. I have not yet aspired to that particular brand of eccentricity, neither have I any intention of doing so at present, but my more experienced colleagues tell me I will, sooner or later.

You know, I sometimes think that the layman is more "bats," in the belfry than we ringers are. Someone told me the other day that the sound of the bells always made her want to cry. Mind you, I've heard bell ringing in my time that's made me want to cry, but that was only because the striking was a bit rough. Of course, she didn't mean that - like most of the uninitiated she doesn't appreciate the difference between good and bad ringing - doesn't know there is any good and bad really. I cannot help feeling that the best cure for this odd melancholia would be for her to go into a tower and learn to ring. She would then find bells and bell ringing a happy affair. Of course, she might feel like shedding a tear or two when she was first learning, but she'd soon get over that. like the rest of us. I must suggest it to her one day - we could do with some néw recruits in our tower.

I don't really believe we are as daft as people might think and, even if we are, we seem to achieve a happiness and companionship that appears to be peculiar to the belfry. There you meet people, who are all sorts and conditions of men, brought together by one common denominator - a love of bell ringing. There is a wonderful satisfaction in being part of a team of ringers, whether you ring rounds, Grandsire or Surprise methods, and you cannot quite achieve the same spirit anywhere else.

Are we mad because at week-ends we go off to ringing meetings up and down the country? I for one don't really care if we are, because I have spent some very happy hours at these functions. There's not only the ringing, you know, but meeting and talking to people at tea time. Tea at a ringing meeting always seems to me to be an awfully important affair. You can talk about so many things. The iniquities of the Parochial Church Council who are loth to add two new trebles to a local ring of four bells . . . the way the so-and-so band have improved lately . . . reminiscunces about old times . . . and the exciting discovery that your neighbour at the tea table, who has been ringing energetically all the afternoon, is eighty-four years old and rang his first peal in 1890. And then after tea back to the tower to spend another pleasant hour or so. And if that's being mad - I'm glad I am.

Is it crazy to have a hobby which allows you to have a friend in practically every part of the country? It is with a deep sense of gratitude that I realise, however far away from home I might be, I need never be lonely and without friends. All I have to do is find the nearest belfry, where there will be people who are ready to welcome me and make me feel at home. And that isn't so crazy, you know.

But when all is said and done, how can bell ringers be bats in the belfry when Sunday by Sunday it is their joyful duty and privilege to ring the bells to the praise and glory of God? And because they do this, how can they help but be happy, friendly people? All I can say is that I'm jolly glad I'm a bell ringer, and I only hope I shall be able to go on being one for a long time to come, bats in the belfry or not.

NANCY E. KEMPSELL.

ARCHIDEACONRY OF STAFFORD SOCIETY

The March meeting of the Socicty was held at Penkridge on the 23 rd. The weather was ideal for a country meeting, and the fresh green in the hedgerows and early spring flowers made an attractive setting for the fine parish church. A feature of the meeting was the large proportion of young ringers included in the attendance of 66. The service was conducted by the Vicar (Rev. F. Wright), who also gave a most interesting address.
A bountiful tea was served in the Parish Hall. and Mr. E. Malin and his lady helpers deserve special thanks for their efforts in this connection. Ringing during the afternoon and evening was under the direction of Mr. George Hughes (Ringing Master), who in his usual manner saw that all ringers present were catered for according to their respective abilities.
The next meeting of the Society will be at Penn on May 25th.

THE SUFFOLK GUILD

The annual meeting of the Sudbury District was held at Clare on March 9 th , when there was an attendance of just over 30 . The bells were kept going on various methods until 5 p.m., when a service was conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. F. S. Swithinbank).

At the business meeting Mr. S. J. Twitchett and Miss R. J. Seabrook were re-elected Master and secretary respectively.
It was decided to hold another supper and social this year, if possible at Lavenham.
The next meeting was provisionally arranged for Great Thurlow on June 1st. This is a ring of five recently restored by Messrs. Mears and Stainbank.

THE LADIES GUILD

Kent Branch

A meeting of the Kent District held at St. Alfege's, Greenwich, on March 9th, provided the few members and friends who attended with the unusual opportunity of ringing on either the front or middle eight of a ring of ten, the clapper of the tenor having been broken (not by the ladies!). After the service, which was conducted by the Curate (the Rev. R. S. Gibson), an excellent tea was served by members of the local band, whose efforts were greatly appreciated. Despite the strenuous efforts of Mr. Jack Dafters, the 22 members and friends present found it impossible to dispose of all the food provided.

At the business meeting, presided over by Mrs. Mitchell, the secretary (Mrs. Jill Waters) tendered her resignation on account of the heavy amount of work imposed on her as a farmer's wife and the difficulty in getting to the more distant meetings. This was received with great regret, and the very sincere thanks of the Branch are due to Mrs. Waters for her work during her years as secretary. Because of the unrepresentative character of the gathering it was decided to defer the election of a new secretary until the next meeting, which it is hoped to hold in Maidstone on May 5th; but Mrs. E. A. Barnett agreed to act as secretary until then. Mrs. Mitchell was re-elected vicepresident and Miss O . Couchman was elected to take the place of Mrs. Carter on the committee.
A feature of the occasion was the fact that the gentlemen (being few in number) were prevailed upon to do the washing up so that the local ladies could attend the business meeting.

MIDDLESEX COUNTY ASSOCIATION

A successful meeting of the South and West District was held on March 16 th . In the afternoon Chiswick was visited, and after a spate of weddings had cleared itself away the eight bells were set, going to a variety of methods, from 'Stoney' to Surprise. Our own members were rather thin on the ground, but there were plenty of visitors to make up the deficiency.
Ringing finished here at 6 o'clock, and the majority of the company then went to Barnes, where we were welcomed by Mr. Hollingsworth, and where the ringing again ranged from rounds to Surprise Bristol was unsuccessful, but we finished with a good course of Superlative.
Thanks are due to the respective incumbents, and to Mr. Turley at Chiswick and Mr. Hol lingsworth at Barnes, for allowing us the use of their bells. Both these gentlemen are endeavouring to train bands of learners at their respective towers with very little assistance, and any help that could be given in that direction would be appreciated.

RINGWOULD, KENT, HAS SIX BELLS

On the first Sunday in March, the day he preached his farewell sermon, the Rev. Walter Sellers, Rector of Ringwould, Kent, dedicated a new tenor bell in his parish church.
Since 1638 Ringwould has had five bells, and it had always been the intention to have a sixth bell. The new bell, weighing $7 \frac{1}{2}$ cwt., was cast by the Whitechapel Foundry and is the gift of Mrs. A. O'Callaghan, of Walmer, in memory of her husband, Major O'Callaghan.
The service was largely attended, and ringers from other churches in the locality were present.

Miss Jennie Armstrong, of Morpeth, adds to our list of 4-bell towers with Newbiggin-by-theSea.
A lament appeared in the 'Leicester Mercury' of March 22nd that ringers could not be found to ring for a wedding at North Kilworth Parish Church.
Mr. E. Weatherby, of Los Angeles, in a letter by this week's mail informs us that he has heard from Mr. Izard, of Victoria, B.C., that a ring of eight is to be cast for a tower in Calgary.
Ruardean ringers showed their appreciation of their vicar (Rev. R. C. Stebbing) not only-by ringing a farewell quarter peal, but by presenting him with a walking stick, suitably inscribed. The tower leader, Mr. W. Beard, made the presentation.
Crewe is to have a bell tower with a $21 \frac{1}{2} \mathrm{cwt}$. hour bell and four quarter bells. The bells have been provided by Messrs. Mears and Stainbank and the clock by Mesrs. Thwaites and Reed, of London. It is expected that the clock will be in service by Easter. The bells are being hung dead.

Going overseas to South Turk, of Evesham. She rang her first peal on eight bells in her farewell peal on March 16th.

The seven lady ringers who took part in the quarter peal at Handsworth, Yorks, on March 15 th are grateful for the one gentleman standing in at the last minute.
Miss Gwen I. Rusby and Mr. A. W. Crowder have "circled" to peals in Holy Trinity Church tower, Barrow-on-Humber. The cvent took place on March 16th.
Silver wedding congratulations to Mr . and Mrs. John Worth were rung at Macclesfield with a peal of 22 Spliced Surprise Major methods on March 23rd.
March 24th was a day Felmersham, Beds, ringers will remember. It was the first occasion a local band had rung a quarter peal, The bells were rung as a farewell to Mr. David Cook, who is leaving for Canada.

Mr. W. A. J. Knight is wrong in his conclusion that Nynehead, Somerset, was never a 4 bell tower: when Ellacombe visited the church on May 27th, 1872, that was the number he recorded. They consisted of a pre-Reformation tenor and three others by the Purducs.
A set of three new peal tablets will be dedicated in the Church of St. John-the-Divine, Leicester, during Evensong next Sunday, before being placed in the ringing chamber. Peals recorded are Kent T.B. Major for the 50th anniversary of the dedication of the ocfave, Grandsire Caters (half-muffled) in memory of the donors of the bellis, and Stedman Caters for the centenary of the church. A special invitation is extended to those who took part in these peals to come and ring after the service.

LEICESTER DIOCESAN GUILD

Adventures at Hoby

$I^{T}$T has teen said that if you wish to be safely directed you should place yourself in the hands of an older and more experienced person. Thus, two young members of the Leicester District should, in accepting the guidance of a vicepresident of the Guild, have been in very safe hands. It could hardly be their fault if all three alighted from the bus a stopping-place too late. Indeed, they are to be admired for their enterprise in the face of adversity: rather than walk back along the main road they insisted that a walk across the fields and the railway line to Hoby church, which was well in sight, would be the best means of overcoming the vicepresident's lapse in not recognising the proper bus stop.

It remains true that the shortest distance between two points is a straight line but, alas, if you walk across fields in a rainy season you must be prepared for well-concealed boggy patches of ground, the sort when, if you are unlucky, you may leave your shoe behind and go over your ankles in water. Readers will by now have guessed that such a tragedy did in fact occur on March 9th. However, gone are the days when belfries were like draughty barns, and Hoby, like all the more progressive belfries, is equipped with an electric fire, which is obviously intended solely for drying out the shoes of bogengulfed ringers; and if the prospect of a young man wearing a pair of red carpet slippers several sizes too large for him is a little unusual in a belfry, at least he had the consolation and comfort of the brand new pair of socks that he had bcen able to buy from the village shop-they had the special merit of being dry.

The meeting was the usual happy and friendly occasion; and indeed if you knew the Rector of Hoby (Rev. T. Howell Evans) and the captain of the ringers (Mr. Jim Burnham) you would realise that no meeting at Hoby could be otherwise. The pleasant ring of five was put to good use to a variety of methods. both in the afternoon and evening. The Rector conducted an informal service, in which the hymns had to be specially selected to suit the limited repertoire of the volunteer organist. Mr. John E. Cook, whose reluctant efforts were much appreciated. (He is a bit of a dark horse really, when it comes to playing the organ.)

There was a tea such as only the Melton District can provide. (Hungry town-dwellers please note that the next meeting is at Wymondham on May 11th.) At the business meeting, presided over by the genial District chairman (Mr. Harry Cook), it was arranged that the District should hire a bus to enable members to attend a joint meeting with the Nottingham District of the Southwell Guild on June 1st at Cotgrave : arrangements would also be made to ring at other towers en route. There is to be a District meeting at Somerby, subject to permission, on July 6 th. and a social function of some sort, possibly a dinner or possibly a social when you eat ordinarily, in Milton on December 7th. Members were also reminded of the annual meeting of the Guild in Leicester on the Saturday after Easter.

CAPE TOWN NEWS LETTER

The year began when the tenor, freed from her 1956 muffe, proclaimed midnight, and we broke into open rounds. Afterwards, toasting each other, we wondered what was in the ringing to know.
store for us, and within three weeks we began
First came Pat Cahill, of Durban, home from a year of ringing in England, with tales to whet our appetites.
The last practice of January saw Nancy Butler, of Guildford, ringing here again as she passed through en route to Australia and New Zealand. The following practice was held on Monday for the visit of Frank Perrens. Everyone had a pull with him. and it was an illuminating lesson to watch Coventry's president in action; his words of advice and encouragement were much appreciated. We are only sorry that in his 36 hours here Table Mountain sulked under a steady downpour.
Ten days later, the Rev. Brother Alan Butler, S.S.M., an enthusiastic ringer, of Bournemouth, passed through to his ncw mission station up country. Although we did not manage to set eyes on him in the few hours between ship and shore, we managed to exchange letters, and entertain hopes for his vacation.

Practice of February 19th was the occasion of the Rev. Mr. Healy joining the band; formerly of Bishop's College and St. Mary's Church. Cheshunt, he has now become a regular member, and will be a most useful asset to us. (Mr. Newnham please note.)
We had all been looking forward to the return of the Rev. and Mrs. Godley, of Yetminster, and when the ship arrived on March 10th even the weather showed off. Ringing was to start at 5.45 p.m.. and a couple of anxious ringers waited impatiently for the tugs, Customs, port health and stevedores to finish, whilst the gap was just too much to shout across. When the gangway went down it was $5.10 \mathrm{p} . \mathrm{m}$.

The Salisbury Diocesan Guild badge identified Mrs. Godley; and from then on a whirlwind rush to tea. Leaving the broken remains of speed limits behind us, we arrived safely at the tower. The bells were up as we galloped into the belfry, and it was not yet 6 p.m. when the bells went into changes. In the haste, no one had thought to open a window, and Bill left his tic on, so there were some pretty limp persons when 'This is all' signified the first quarter pzal in Africa by a lady ringer. We offered our congratulations, and promptly decided to hold practice the following evening when Mrs. Godley astonished us by ringing a method new to her at the first attempt, bobs an' method new to her at the first attempt, bobs an all, as she went along. This exhibition of basic reasoning, when explained, humbled us with its logic and simplicity.
Winchendon Place Bob, which had been our bete noire for some months, was brought to bay on March 19th. It was the first in the method by all, and in Africa, whilst the ringer of the fifth scored his first quarter on an inside bell. The prospect for the future is promising, for recent intelligence from Chile (of all places) warns us to expect two visitors next monthsailors from H.M.S. 'Protector.'

We still feel that not many ringers know of the bells at Cape Town and Durban. Pat Cahill has some choice storics of belfries where

AMERICAN IDEAS FOR HANDBELL RINGING

In the current issue of 'Overtones,' the quarterly magazine of the American Guild of English handbell ringers, the following ideas are given by Edward Johe, director of First Congregational Church. Columbus, Ohio, for improving technique of handbell ringing Bell teaching, like writing music for bells, is a new frontier, and all directors are probably always searching for ways and means to teach their ringers how to improve their techniques. Here is something that occurred in one of our rehearsals which we now use constantly. In piano teaching it is called 'keyboard harmony"; in bell teaching it is called ' limbering up harmony.' Here is the gist of it 'and it's fun.

To limber up we improvise, using scales and chords as our mental materials. We will play up and down scales, varying the Thythm, the tempo and the nuance; ; we call for various accents, crescendos and decrescendos, etc. Also, we devise elemental rhythmic figures (as in vocalising) to co-ordinate the tonal line of the bell ringers. Young people particularly like the challenge this sort of rehearsing brings and it helps develop real ensemble-the most difficult thing in any musical endeavour.

Another warming-up device is ' bell harmony," which means calling out chord numbers (tonicdominant, etc.), and with or without direction, have the ringers ring these chords in arpeggio and/or solid form. Since anyone participating in a musical organisation will profit by some knowledge of simple, elemental fundamentals of harmony, this pre-rchearsal technique is good mental arithmetic. Of course, an explanation on the blackboard of what all of this means is necessary before attempting to carry it on verbally.
Youns people really like the challenge this limbering up offers, and it is one way that the bells can be used to teach music fundamentals. Some directors may say: "This takes all the fun out of it for the kids.' The reaction here has been just the opposite. This is fun!

A USEFUL BOOK

Many requests reach 'The Ringing World' for more and yet more instructional articles for beginners in our Art. The Central Council has authorised a further book of instruction. and the committee which has been appointed will no doubt report progress at Whitsuntide. Efforts have also been made in other quarters to provide instruction for instructors. A very useful little book is 'Elementary Change-Ringing,' which is not generally known. The author is the Rev. F. F. Rigby. M.A., B.Sc., former president of the Lancashire Association. In this book. Mr. Rigby explains in simple language the various terms which puzzle beginners. and he gives instructions which can be easily understood, how to ring Plain Bob, Grandsire, Stedman and Treble Bob. At the end of each chapter there are exercises which the learner is called on to do: and it is stressed again and again that until these are mastered it is useless going on to the next step. The learner is told that he has to study at home, and be quite sure of what he is expected to do in the tower.
The author quite correctly condemns the practice of someone standing behind the learner and telling him blow by blow what to do. He advises rather that the learner should stand behind the more practised ringer and learn by observation. We commend his final advice: - Remember, no method, either simple or advanced. sounds pleasing to the ear unless the striking is good.

This book has been recently reprinted (2nd edition), is published by the S.P.C.K.. and costs 3/6. Learners woukd do weil to obtain a copy and will find it to be very halpful. J. F. S

HELPFUL LISTS OF FOUR-BELL TOWERS

23 IN NOTTINGHAMSHIRE

Dear Sir,-With reference to previous correspondence on the above subject, there are, as far as I can ascertain, 23 towers in Nottinghamshire with four bells. I have very little information about the state of the bells, but I enclose the following list for what it is worth.
Arnold, St. Mary; Calverton, St. Wilfrid (dated 1623, 1667, 1879, the third being a gift from the vicar and the parishioners, intended to replace the bell taken from the church in the reign of King Edward VI. The fourth was added to commemorate the jubilec of Queen Victoria): Car Colston, St. Mary (one dated 1623): Epperstone, Holy Cross (1585): Farndon. St. Peter (ringable): Flintham, St. Augustine: Gedling, All Hallows; Gonalston. St. Lawrence (dated 1684 and 1853); Gringley-on-the-Hill, SS. Peter and Paul; Grove, St. Helen: Hawton. All Saints' (unringable due to unsafe floor): Laneham, St. Peter (dating. from 1312): East Leake, St. Mary-the-Virgin (three recast and rehung in 1902); Normanton-on-Soar, St. James (recast 1897); Norwell, St. Lawrence (recently rehung in as steel frame for six): Osberton. St. John; Oxton, SS. Peter and Paul; Rolleston. Holy Trinity (three are inscribed. ono dated 1697 and two others 1628 and 1778 . rehung 1892 but now almost unringable); Saundby. St. Martin : Sibthorpe, St. Peter; East Stoke, St. Oswald (dated 1591); Upton. St. Peter (one recast in 1887, the others 1611, 1589 and 1589): Woodborough, St. Swithin (from 1612 to 1680 ).

There are also 56 3-bell towers. including some very old bells. The three at Thurgarton were rehung two years ago.-Yours faithfully.

SOMERSET FOUR-BELL TOWERS

Dear Sir,-I have rung in 15 of the Somerset 4-bell towers and found most of these little rings in very good order, and some with regular bands. One or two are not so little though, as Withycombe, recently rehung I think, has a tenor of about 20 cwt .
To my knowledge, Aisholt (two bells, probably to be sold). Kilton, Thurlbere and Ilton (three bells on floor) are unringable: also, I believe, are Walton, Ile Brewers, Brompton Ralph and Becrerocombe.
As far as I know East Quantoxhead bells are not now rung owing to the state of the towerYours faithfully,
R. SHORT.

There are two 4-bell towers near Dover, writes Mr. E. J. Walker-Alkham and East Langdon.

BEDFORDSHIRE ASSOCIATION

A most successful meeting of the Luton District was held at Barton-le-Cley on March 23rd. Ringing commenced at $3.15 \mathrm{p} . \mathrm{m}$. and continued until 4.30 p.m., when a short service was conducted by the Vicar (Rev. A. H. W. Cleaver), who extended a very warm welcome to everyone present. He said that a ringing meeting had not been held there for at least five years.

A very nice tea, which had been arranged by the Rev. and Mrs. Cleaver, was served in the Church Hall. There being no business meeting the secretary (Mr. K. G. Spavins) proposed a vote of thanks to the Vicar and all those who had heloed with the tea, also to the organist (Mr. Maurice Lockey. of Maulden), who so often-and so ably-fills the gap when a local organist is not available.
The bells were once more set in motion about $5.45 \mathrm{p} . \mathrm{m}$., when all tastes were catered for. During the evening it was quite amusing to see groups of people either coming or going at frequent intervals, as a meeting of the Hertfordshire Association was also taking place at Offley, only a few miles away, and ringers at both towers were obviously taking the opportunity of 'grabbing' two towers in one day.

Attendance was very good, there being about 45 visitors, including Mr. Pat Cannon, who said that this was his 2,058 th tower.

If the ringer who left a pair of gloves at Worle. Somerset. on March 23 rd will write to Mr. G. Prescoti. Oakdene, 1. High Street, Worle. Weston-super-Mare, they will be forwarded to him.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

TURNED IN TENOR OF LIVERPOOL CATHEDRAL

Dear Sir,-In reference to the last paragraph of the letter by Mr. C. T. Blundell on page 203 I did not have the permission of the ringer in question to give his name, as the matter was not mentioned to him. However, as there were about 50 ringers present I am sure the name will reach Mr. Blundell in due course. The whole point of the article was to stress the need for someone to be responsible for sending these news items to the Editor. Incidentally, the coursc of Cambridge Major may not have been rung, for one ringer broke a stay on the fourth or fifth. This only stresses what the chief ringer rightly demands, viz.: that all who desire to ring must be capable of handling.Yours faithfully,
Preston.

ASSOCIATION'S 70th BIRTHDAY

Dear Sir,-The East Derbyshire and Notts Association is now on the eve of its 70th birthday, and its official birthday is Easter Monday. The meeting this year will be at its birthplace, Clay Cross, by kind invitation of the vicar, the wardens and ringers.
We have still with us several stalwarts of the early days of the Association who attend meetings when health and weather permit. To mention just a few: Mr. W. Dobb. past president, now vice-president, of Selston: Mr. H. G. Fretwell, now at Castle Donington, many years hon. secretary; vice-president Mr. A. Elliott, who rang in peals for the Association over 50 years ago. These I know are well on their way to celebrating their diamond jubilee as members. There is one life member of many years standing of whom we have no trace-Mr. Joseph Lord, one time of Derby. His many friends would appreciate news of him. May I close with saying how pleased we, as an Association. will be to see anv old friends at our 70th jubilee. -Yours faithfully,
B. A. SOLLIS, Hon. Secretary.

PLAIN BOB

Dear Sir,-In reply to Mr. Spriggs ${ }^{\text {a }}$ letter, I would like to point out that it is the word ${ }^{*}$ Bob, in P Plain Bob which indicates that the treble has a plain-hunting path. while the word 'Plain' refers to the method itself.
I agree that :Reverse Bob' and 'Double Bob, are wrongly named. It would be more correct to refer to them as 'Reverse Plain Bob and 'Double Plain Bob.'

Assuming that 'Double Norwich Court Bob Major' and 'Double Court Bob Minor' are different stages of the same method. 'Single Court' and 'Double Court' should be called 'Single Norwich Court' and 'Double Norwich Court.- Yours sincercly,

TRUMPINGTON TO HAVE A RING OF EIGHT

Dear Sir ,-I think some of your readers may be interested to know that Messrs. John Taylor and Co. are completely restoring the bells at Trumpington, Cambridge. The fifth. dated 1450 , is now on view in the church: she developed a crack in August, 1955. The other five bells have gone to Loughborough: more metal will be added to make a ring of eight. There is an excellent oak frame, put in the tower by Mr. White. of Appleton, in 1928: this, of course, is being used with the necessary additions for the two new bells. The five bells which are to be recast are a mixed lot and very unmusical:-Youts truly, CATHERINE E. WILLERS.

COMMENTS ON FOLR-BELL TOWERS

Dear Sir,-I am very pleased to see the interest that has been aroused by the letters from Mr. Paice and others over the matter of the very large number of 4 -bell towers in this country; as may have been gathered already, I am one of those who are very interested in these towers, and I was pleased to see from Mr. Dove's letter that he is already beginning to accumulate information for what must be a very difficult task. I hope very much that he will one day be able to publish the list as an addition to his invaluable 'Guide.'
Mr. M. V. White's letter made very interest ing reading. and it has prompted me to write again to make what is. I think, one correction to his list, and make a few additions and amplifications. I think that Mr. White will find that St. James', Devizes (Southbroom), is a 6 -bell tower. tenor about 7 cwt . With regard to his second list, I can vouch for the 'ringability' or otherwise of some of the towers he mentions, as follows:-
Breamore, Hants.-Ringable and a good little ring, hung in a wooden belfry surmounting a Saxon central tower, and rung from the choir stalls.
Bury, Sussex-Definitely unringable, in fact at least one bell has been taken down and lies on the floor of the tower.
Droxford, Hants.-Ringable, and quite a heavy ring. I believe that the late Mr. George Williams learnt to ring at this tower.
Fotheringhay, Northants.-Derelict at present.
Kirkwall, Orkney.-Quite unringable, and only clocked.
Oving. Sussex.-Unringable, owing to decay of fittings. The frame forms part of the spire timbers.
Peasmarsh, Sussex.-Barely ringable.
Wartling, Sussex.-Unringable; in fact here again at least one bell has been taken down.
I can also make a few additions to Mr. White's list of ringable fours, again as follows: Barby, Northants, tenor 15 cwt . 3 lb .: Fritwell, Oxon, tenor 7 cwt .2 qr. ; Kilsby, Northants, tenor 10 cwt .1 qr .3 lb. : and Randwick, Glos, tenor 7 cwt . Also I believe that the fours at Braunston, Rutland, tenor 10 cwt .2 qr. 25 lb. , and Cold Ashby, Northants, tenor 7 cwt., are ringable.
May I, in conclusion, add a few observations about a 4 -bell tower in this district. which Mr. Holloway's letter conccrning Stanford Dingley brings to mind. The tower in question is Danehill, Sussex. This is a case where, through the keenness of Mr. I. Butcher and his brother, local interest has been aroused, and a scheme is under way for the ring of four, tenor $7 \frac{7}{6} \mathrm{cwt}$., by Taylor and Co., to be augmented to six. There is a very keen local band which rings at least twice every Sunday and holds a weekly practice night; in addition, boys from a local boarding school are being taught to ring in the tower, and they will. it is hoped, continue their interest in ringing when they move away. All congratulations are due to those who have been keen and interested enough to open up an excellent but long-unrung four-doubtless the local authorities would be pleased to receive contributions to the fund from anyone interested!Yours sincerely,

PETER N. BOND.
P.S.-As I conclude this letter, two more towers come to mind, this time in my own county of Kent, namely Alkham (ringable, I beleye) and Adisham (unringable and chimed by Ellacombe apparatus).-P. N. B.

STEDMAN TRIPLES

Dear Sir,-A very long time ago Mr. G. E Symonds, of Framlingham, produced touches of the above method in every number of changes from 100 to something in excess of 200 changes, with the exception of 108.
Is it still as he found it-impossible to compose a true toush of 108 of Stedman Triples? -Yours faithfully,
T. C. RYDER.

SOUTHWELL DIOCESAN GUILD

Thirty-seven ringers and friends attended a meeting of the Newark District, held at All Saints' and St. Mary's Church, Bingham. on March 16th. The bells were raised in peal at 3 p.m. The 'go ' was rather rough, the second causing considerable difficulty, but this improved with ringing.
A short service was conducted by the Rector (Bishop A. M. Gelsthorpe), who welcomed the ringers to Bingham. He also explained to the ringers all the interesting details of his fine church.
The business mecting followed tea, presided over by the District chairman, Mr. F. W. Midwinter. Elston was confirmed as the place for the meeting in May. The collection for the Bell Repair Fund realised 12 s .6 fd . The meeting closed with a vote of thanks to all concerned. Ringing was continued until $8.30 \mathrm{p} . \mathrm{m}$.

A VISIT TO SOUTH GLOUCESTERSHIRE

The twin drawbacks of petrol rationing and pouring rain did not deter a party of ringers from Nailsea and district from spending a very enjoyable Saturday afternoon in South Gloucestershire on March 9th. The handicap of one Austin 7 between the party added to difficulties, but some careful research into the mysteries of the local bus services revealed that to a certain degree, by skilful planning, the journeys from tower to tower could be arranged to coincide with the running of the buses.
The first tower was Iron Acton ( $6,13 \mathrm{cwt}$.) where, although a good rise took place, it became increasingly apparent. from the position of the sallies at backstroke, that the local ringers must be a race of giants. A few hassocks were hastily obtained for those who needed them. After ringing various Doubles methods, and a course of Double Oxford, we set off for Yate. What a magnificent tower this church has, and what a pleasure to find such a clean, well-kept and spacious belfry. The ring of six (tenor 20 cwt .) is very musical, although the 'go' of the bells is not quite up to the mark, and the record of a peal of Minor rung in 1950, which was given a casual glance on arrival, was regarded with a new respect when we left.
It was still raining when the bus took us across the bleak expanse of Wapley Common to Westerleigh, where the tower captain, Mr. Ferris, and his wife gave us a very warm welcome and a much-needed cup of tea. After a rest when 'ringing shop' monopolised the conversation, we walked across to the church of St . James-the-Great, with its long-draughted six (tenor 20 cwt .), for what proved to be the best ringing of the day. These lovely-toned bells were rung to a variety of methods, ranging from Cambridge to Stedman, although London proved to be a failure. Both the ringing and the rain ceased shortly after $8 \mathrm{p} . \mathrm{m}$., and after a pause for some well-zamed refreshment, the party split up to journey home by bus and car respectively.

THE WELDING OF CRACKED BELLS

By R. W. M. CLOUSTON
THE METALLURGICAL PROBLEMS ELLS

TWELDING BELLS HE casting of tin bronzes is a delicate operation and it is, therefore, not surprising that welding is tricky too. Most tin bronzes have a wide melting range and tend to be hot-short, a trouble accentuated by the presence of lead. This phenomenon is brittleness en cooling through certain elevated temperature ranges, so that stresses of any magnitude in the material as it passes through these temperature ranges can cause the metal to crack. Conseguently tin bronzes are not easy to weld, and this is true in particular of gas welding. Moderate pre-heating to 200 degrees-300 degrees Centigrade is desirable before welding, and a low temperature heat treatment is required after welding to relieve the shrinkage stresscs.

Two methods of welding tin bronzes apply to bells, namely, arc welding and gas welding. Tre former is recommended, as the latter can cause porosity if done with a neutral or reducing flame, and can lead to the formation of oxides which reduce the strength and corrosion resistance of the joint, if performed in an oxidising atmosphere.

In the case of are welding, if zinc is present volatilisation will occur, whereas if lead is present, hot-shortness will result. The purity of oarent metal in the bell is thus of considerabie importance.

THE PRESERVATION OF OLD

 BELLSBefore dealing with the bells which have been welded, it will be convenient here to consider any alternatives to welding to produce a sound bell from a cracked one. In the past the only remedy was recasting; the old bell would be broken up with a sledge-hammer and the old metal used to cast a new bell. The old inscription could be reproduced in facsimile on the new bell, but borders, plaques, etc., are bound to lose detail in recasting. In addition, the loops on the crown of the bell are not used now, and new bells are cast with flat crowns. Thus any ornamentation on these loops in the way of heads, mouldings, etc., would be lost unless the founder casts the bell in the old manner at increased cost.

Considering the fine Flemish bell at lona, it would be a very great antiquarian loss to have a bell of modern design with a flat crown instead of the original bell of 1540. A new bell may have a finer tone than the bell of 1540 , but the genuine Flemish product would have been lost for ever.

Frequently the old cracked bell is disused and put on show in the church, museum or similar place, and a new bell cast to take on the duty in the belfry. This is to be encouraged, but welding in certain cases can enable such a cracked bell to be repaired and used as before, thus saving the considerable extra expense of providing a new bell.

BRITISH EXPERIENCE IN WELDING BELLS

One Britsh firm has had considerable experience in welding bells, ranging over more than 20 years. A recent catalogue lists 32 bells which have been renaired: of these the writer has personal knowledge of nine, five of which were hung for change ringing. Four bells, the fourth, sixth, seventh and tenor in a ring of cracked and welded. Some years later the bell was again cracked and was recast.

Fig. 2.-Welding repair of bell from Wingfield Parish Church, Suffolk. This $9+$ cwt. bell. cast in 1602 , was found to have five severe cracks in the crown, all emanating from the contre hole. The cracks were cut out and a hole $3 ; 16 \mathrm{in}$. dameter drilled through the end of each crack. The first two inches of each crack was then filled up by arc welding, using 10-S.W.G. tin-bronze electrodes and the remainder of the grooves with 8-S.W.G. electrodes. After welding the bell was planished and tuned. bells.
The single bell formerly in Blythburgh Church, Suffolk, was welded by this firm and remained quite satisfactory until being recast to form one of the bells in the new ring of six

Another bell repaired before the recent war was the $9 t \mathrm{cwt}$. second bell in Metfield Church, Suffolk. This bell was cast in 1568 and was cracked from the mouth to half way up the waist. After some 20 years in use the weld is undamaged, but there are two horizontal cracks, onc slightly above the end of the weld in the waist and the other in the thickest part of the soundbow. Both cracks are visible for about seven inches. However, neither seems to affect the tone unduly. This bell is swingchimed.
The treble bell in Kettlebaston Church, Suffolk, was welded by this firm in 1934. This bell was cast by John Darbie, of Ipswich, in 1663, and was cracked in the crowa and to half way down the waist. The repair remains entirely satisfactory. This bell is not swung, and is chimed with a hammer.
Since the recent war the interesting Flemish bell of 1540 , noted earlier, which was cracked in the soundbow, has been welded by this firm. The writer is informed by the Rev. Dr. George McLeod, of the Iona Community, that the bell is not quite so resonant as formerly but is by no means 'dead,' and after two years' use has certainly not cracked again.
One of the 17 th century bells in the ring of bells in Wingfield Church, Sutolk, was found to be cracked in the crown, and another firm repaired this bell by welding in 1948. Recent examination has snown that one of the five cracks was not entirely cut out. and has continucd to spread.

DUTCH EXPERIENCE

During the recent war there was considerable pillaging of church and other bells in Holland, many were melted down, others were recovered just in time but had been cracked or damaged in being transported. Two firms have been engaged in repairing these bells by welding, one in Amsterdam and the other in Rotterdam. The former had pre-war experience and handled a!! the bells up to 20 cwl., the remainder being reoaired at Rotterdam. All the bells treated were only cracked. and it was deemed not worth while repairing bells in separate pieces.
Dr. E. W. von Heuven, who has kindly communicated the above information to the writer, in his thesis - Acoustical Measurements on Church Bells and Carillons," page 111, gives eight (tenor 25 cwt .), in St. Mary's Church, Woodbridge, Suffolk, cast in 1799, were found 10 have cracks in the crowns, and they were welded by this IIrm before the recent war. Subsequently two of these bells, the fourth and seventh, became cracked again and they were recast.
The seventh bell in the ring of twelve in St. Mary-le-Tower Church, Ipswich, Suffolk, an historic bell by the celebrated Colchester founder, Miles Graye I., cast in i1607, was also

Of course, even the unsuccessfully welded bells may have been quite usable, though perhaps not as musical as they ought to be. Unfortunately, in all cases it was not known what the bells sounded like before being cracked : the reverberatory time used as a comparison was an average time associated with an average bell of that size and weight.

CONCLUSIONS

In considering the above evidence it seems that :

1. Cracks in the crowns of bells can be repaired by welding with a fairly good chance of success.
2. Crazks in the soundbow can be welded, but the chances are that the reverberatory time will be reduced, and if. the bell is in a ring of bells and swung in a full circle, that cracks will again develop after only a few, years.
With the present rate of technological advancement gencrally, it is to be hoped that this subject will receive its due share and that the above unfavourable limitations will soon disappear.

GULLDFORD DIOCESAN GUILD

Farnham District

Another very successful Farnham District meeting was held at St. Michael's, Yorktown, on March 23rd. During the afternoon a variaty of methods were rung, under the leadership of the Ringing Master, Mr. Rex Corke.

The ringers' service was conducted by the Vicar (Rev. H. E. Paterson), with Mr. S. F. Medland as organist. Ringers formed the choir. A sumptuous tea, arranged by Mr. Farr and the local ladies. was served in the Church Hall, and this was followed by a short business meeting. Then it was either handbell ringing or back to the tower, where the bells were rung until 9 o'clock.

Chertsey District Progress

A welcome visitor to the Chertsey District meeting on March 23rd at Chertsey was Mr. J. F. Smallwood, who said how pleased he was to see so many of the same young prople as he met on his last visit to the District a year ago. He told the mecting that unlike marriage, where the first 50 years were the worst. in ringing it was the first 18 months. He advised them to stick to it. The 40 ringers present included visitors from Leathorhead, Sutton, Reading, Kettering and Merrow.

The service was conducted by the Vicar (Rev. G. S. Archibald), who in welcoming the Guild to Cherisey said there was a hope that Chertsey bells would scon be rung onse again by Chertsey ringers.

At the business meeting Mr. W. Shepherd was in the chair. Two rew members from Ottershaw were elected. Members were reminded of the forthcoming A.G.M. at Guildford on April 27th, and urged to attend.

Methods during the day ranged from rounds to Cambridge Major, several ringers scoring (surprisingly) their first course of Oxford T.B. Major.

OBITUARY

MR. J. W. FISH
A well-known ringer, Mr. Jack Fish, passed away at Cawthornc. South Yorks, on March 12 th at the age of 81 . He rang his first extent of Minor in 1903 and continued as a member of the local band until 1951, when he rang his last extent which was Violet, his favourite method. In 1954, when the bells of All Saints wera rehung, he came up the tower for a short touch on the tenor which he had rung for so many years.

Jack rang but one peal, in seven methods, and although he could ring a good number of methods he always aimed at parfect striking. He took part in many contests and rang the tenor when Cawthorne won the Hoylandswaine Cup in 1925. 1926 and 1928. A man noted for his plain speaking, in his retirement he spared no feclings when he commented on our rough ringing.

Local ringers rang a hali-muffled extent at the funeral at Cawthorne, and a peal in seven methods was rung by local and Shelley ringers the following Saiurday.

MR. W. A. HUDSON  AN APPRECIATION

The ncws of the passing of Mr. William Arthur Hudson was received with regret by members of the Selby and District Society at their mesting at Eastrington on March 23rd.
Mr. Hudson commenced ringing at the age of 15 and in 1912 joined the Yorkshire Association. He had rung a total of 42 peals (conducted 17) for the Yorkshire Association, and in his carlier days was a very enthusiastic and helpful person. Unfortunately, during the last ten years. he had been afflicted with a heart complaint which prohibited him from ringing. He was. however, still interested in the art of change-ringing, and it was not unusual for him to sit in the vicinity of a church and listen to a whole peal of 5.040 changes being rung. He was a genial personality and one who would go out of his way to give advice and help to all ringers.

He passed away on February 23rd last, and he rests in the censetery close to Hemingbrough Church, where he spent many yzars as an eminent and enthusiastic member of that band.

MR. ARTHUR WYRE

With the death of Mr. Arthur Wyre on March 19th, in his 69th year. Cradiev has lost one of its staunchest workers at the Parish Chureh of St. Peter. He was a keen church worker the whole of his lif: and last year te completed 50 vears as bellringer. during many of which he held the office of leader. He was also closcly associated with the Sunday School. and served a long period as a member of the Pa-ochial Church Council. He loved the bells and was proud of the fine record of Sunday service ringing which his band enjoyed. No saerifice was 100 great for Arthur, and despite his indifferent bealth of late b.e continued with the work so near to his heart, to keep the bells ringing. His last visit to the belfry was on New Year's Eve, when he rang the 12 strckes of midnight, a jcb he carried out for over 40 years.
He was laid to rest on March 23 rd, four of his band of ringers acting as bearers. The service was conducted by the Vicar (Rev. H. L. Davies). assisted by the Rev. R. W. Yaxley, B.Sc.; a former vicar of Cradley.

Mr. B. C. Ashford represented the Worsestershire Association and Mr. Arthur Peakman represented the Dudley and Districts Guild.
A half-muffled quarter peal of Grandsire Triples was rung on the evening of the funeral by members of the local band. H. J. S.

MR. JOHN E. BURTON AN APPRECIATION
Mr. John Burton, of Norwich, was the last of a quartet of unusually gifted ringers who, learning to ring at an early age, went on to make a great contribution to the Exercise both locally and nationally. They were his brother George Pestell Burton, Charles Edward Borrett and Jabez Armiger Trollope. As boys in their teens they met together frequently to master the art of handbell ringing, and their enthusiasm occasionally disturbed the serene atmosphere of the Norwich Scholars, as an entry in their minute book for 1894 testifies. Later on, in 1907, following the unfortunate dispute between the Vicar and the Scholars, and with Armiger Trollope residing at Ealing, they formed the nucleus of the new band and remained together until 1923. With Mr. Burton's wholehearted support the Mancroft Guild added a flat sixth, the 'Gabriel' bell, in 1910.

Elected a member of the Diocesan Association in 1892, John Burton rang his first peal on January 19th, 1893. It was a peal of Bob Minor 'in hand,' conducted by J. A. Trollope. That year four more handbell peal attempts were successful and two on tower bells. The first was at Framlingham, Suffolk, in August, and the second, his first as conductor, a sevenmethod peal of Doubles, the only peal ever rung on the five at St. Peter Parmentergate in the city of Norwich. The next year saw the ringing and publication of J. E. Burton's popular fourpart peal of Bob Major. There followed a period of some years when Mr. Burton was comparatively inaclive in the belfry.

Educated at the King Edward VI Commercial School in Norwich, he was articled to a wellknown local architect. In the carly years of the century John Burton designed several Norfolk schools, but he is best known as a specialist in church restoration which brought him often in contact with rings of bells. Two of his recent works in this connection were the Saham Toney tower previous to the rehanging of the bells, and the repairs, completed only a few weeks ago to Tacolneston tower. which with its derelict ring of five was in imminent danger of collapse.

Besides his interest in ringing Mr. Burton was enthusiastic about sailing, and he was a familiar figure on the nearby Broads.

Altogether, Mr. Burton took part in 65 peals for the Norwich Association, 19 of which were on handtells. His. last was Stedman Triples in 1923, and it was fitting that the present members of the Mancroft Guild, whose Master once he was, should pay tribute to his memory with a half-mumfted peal on the back eight of the bells which he loved so much.

CHARLIE TRIES SCIENTIFIC

BACK in Edwardian days Charlie was reserve tenor ringer in a call-change band with little hope of attaining promotion to the rank of regular ringer which entitled him to payment for Sunday ringing. He could handle a bell well, and when he managed to get the chance of taking hold of a rope he certainly proved himself reliable in maintaming a steady even beat. But Charlie became a bit tired of turning up twice every Sunday to find the regular eight ready for duty which meant his services were not required, therefore he could either sit in the ringing chamber and watch or stay outside and listen until service time.

At the weekly practice he was given a short turn on the tenor or a few call-changes on the 6th or 7th in order to keep fit when needed to take a rope on Sundays if one of the band failed through illness. After a while Charlie grew restless and wanted to get out of the rut, so it was a surprise to the writer when he received a visit from Charlie one evening, the purport of which was to tell of his experiences in trying to progress with ringing. Another surprise came when he asked if he could accompany me on my visits to neighbouring towers during the week in order to get experience with half-pull ringing on the tenor.

Our first trip, like many others, involved a lot of walking and I soon found that Charlie could walk and talk quite rapidly at the same time, especially when the roads were dark and lonely. His walk suffered somewhat on account of his bubbling exuberance, for he would press his shoulder to you and gradually work across the path from one side to the other, so if you happened to be walking inside you soon found yourself against a holly hedge, some fencing or a wall of some kind! If I happened to be the outside walker I became liable to be pushed off the kerb into the roadway.

On our arrival at the tower Charlie greeted each ringer profusely with a clap on the shoulder and a hearty handshake, after which he started to tell of his frustration at home, but he was cut short when Grandsire Triples was announced. Most of us expected he would need some help, but to the surprise of everyone he rang the tenor perfectly, using eyes and ears for ropesight and good striking. This was the first of many outings we had together and Charlie enjoyed his touches of Triples on various tenors until he was persuaded to try the treble for the plain course of Grandsire Triples. All went well during the time Charlie was enjoying his lead in rounds, but after the call of 'Go' he seemed to panic and go all hot and bothered, quite unlike the happy, smiling Charlie who rang the cover bell. It was quite clear he could not get away from lead and when instructions were given to him he held at backstroke for quite a time, then tried to get back to lead by missing his rope which, of course, ended the attempt. It was also the end of Charlie's enterprise on the treble, and he went back to his old favourite, the tenor for Triples, where he was in his element.

Soon afterwards he told me that our outings together would have to cease, because he had been appointed a regular ringer in his home tower and was therefore debarred from visiting other towers! Although we did not ring together, Charlie often sought me out for a chat on ringing, and he sometimes confessed what a joy it was when he was able to accompany me for a bit of scientific even though it meant walking several miles, yet it can be truthfully said Charlie was delighted and proud to say he was a fully qualified ringer in his own parish.

As the years passed by I saw very little of Charlie, but he remained a true member of his local call-change band for many years until the band broke up because recruits were lacking, so Charlie went into retirement and devoted much of his time to walking a certain distance every day in all kinds of weather.
For many years it was the custom in some places for half-pull ringers to refer to call-change ringing as 'Stoney," 'Tombstone Surprise' or 'Churchyard Bob,' probably with the idea of causing laughter, but such names uttered within hearing of those who prefer the older style of ringing are apt to cause offence and annoyance to quite a large section of church workers who are keen to do their job well, even though they do not aspire to half-pull methods. After all, I have heard method ringing called many uncomplimentary names, such as 'Grand Slam,' which probably means a mix up or breakdown in a touch or peal.
How many years Charlie served as a ringer in his local tower cannot now be ascertained, for the attendance book seems to have been lost, but it was his proud boast that he was always on time twice every Sunday and at the weekly practice, a shining example of regular, punctual attendance.

WILLIAM SHEPHERD.

Central District Have New Officers

The annual meeting of the Central District was held at Willesden on March 30th, and was attended by a large number of members and friends. During the afternoon and evening the bells were kept going in rounds, the standard methods and various Surprise methods. The ringing included a touch of Bob Major and a course of Cambridge Surprise Major by bands of ladies.
The service was conducted by the Vicar, who gave the ringers a warm welcome, and the lesson was read by the president of the Guild (Mrs. T. J. Lock), After the service came tea. The ringers were most fortunate, as the Vicar and his wife had kindly allowed the local ringers and their ladies to prepare tea in the Vicarage, and one of the ladies had made a splendid iced cake decorated with silver bells.

At the business meeting the secretary's report gave an interesting account of the District during 1956, with special reference to two peals rung for the Guild. The financial report showed a balance in hand. In the election of officers a number of changes were made. Mrs. E. Savory is now vice-president of the District in place of Mrs. T. J. Lock: Mrs. L. W. Bullock has replaced Mrs. M. Andrews as secretary and Mrs. F. E. Collins, Mrs. N. O. L. Manchip, Mrs. G. Hart and Mrs. M. Hodgson form the committee. Four new ringing members and one honorary life member were elected. Votes of thanks were passed to the Vicar and his wife. Mr. A. Cutler for the use of the bells, and to the ladies and gentlemen who prepared and served tea.

GLOUCESTER AND BRISTOL ASSOCIATION  Meeting at Leckhampton

The March quarterly meeting of the Cheltenham Branch was held at Leckhampton on March 23rd, when some 30 ringers enjoyed ringing on the light eight. Divine service was conducted by the Rev. E. J. White, assisted by Canon G. F. Helm. Mr. White spoke of the great work which ringers did for the church, and expressed his pleasure at being able to welcome ringers to his church.
At the business meeting which followed tea (a generous gift to the ringers), the Rev. White was elected an honorary member, and new members were also elected from Leckhampton and Bishop's Cleve.
Eighty-two years old Mr. F. Pratt, of Leckhampton, the oldest performing member of the Branch. was unable to attend owing to illness, and the secretary was asked to write to him wishing him a speedy recovery.
It was agreed to hold the June quarterly meeting at Winchcombe and the May meeting at Badgeworth. There would be no meeting on April 27th, that being the date of the Association anncal general mecting at Newent.

CUMBERLAND AND NORTH WESTMORLAND ASSOCIATION

The annual meeting of the Eastern Branch of the Cumberland and North Westmorland Association ringers was held at Penrith on March 23rd. Mr. A. Forsyth (Carlisle) was elected secretary, Mr. J. Brownrigg (Keswick) Ringing Master, and Mr. J. B. V. Porter (Brampton) as press secretary. A decision was taken to hold monthly ringing meetings at various towns and villages in East Cumberland.

A KENT WEDDING

Mr. D. J. Part-Miss A. E. Boulde:

The wedding took place at All Saints' Cburch, Lydd, Kent, on March 30th, of David John, only son of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Parr, of Sanderstead, Surrey, and Anne Elizabeth, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Boulden, of Lydd. The bridegroom was at one time captain of the Coulsdon band of ringers and secretary for the Surrey Association (Southern District) during 1956. The bride was Lydd Club Day Queen (1954), the third young lady to be chosen from the Lydd belfry. The Rev. G. A. Finch officiated at the choral service, with Mrs. K. Mannering at the organ.

Given away by her father, the bride was attired in a white heavy figured brocade dress, a long, embroidered veil, held with a coronet of pearls and net leaves, and carried a shower bouquet of deep red roses. She was attended by the bridegroom's sister, Ruth, who wore a dress of pale blue net over taffeta with a matching headdress and carried a posy of mixed anemones.
Mr. D. G. Foster, school friend of the bridegroom, was best man; John and Eric, brothers of the bride, were ushers.
As the couple left the church the bride was presented with a silver horseshoe by Jane Anne Prior, bride's cousin, and the local ringers pealed the bells.
Among the many gifts were a clock from the Lydd ringers and a set of trays from the Coulsdon ringers. Sixty guests attended the reception held at the George Hotel. A delayed honeymoon will be spent touring Scotland.
A peal attempt of Grandsire Triples on the following Wednesday was, unfortunately, unsuccessful.

A reunion of some of Tom Lock's touring party took place recently in Sussex. The gathering was really arranged to recover a debt incurred during the Derbyshire tour last year, when an attempt for a peal of Derby Surprise Major failed at Darley Dale. The meeting place was Crawley, where a well-struck peal was accomplished. The thanks of the band are extended to the Rev. C. H. Butler (Vicar) and to Mr. George Jennings (local captain) for permission to ring the peal at their tower.

Mr. F. W. Wicks, farmer member of the Wimbledon band, is in the Sheppard Ward of St. Luke's Hospital. He has had one operation, which has proved successful, and has hopes for equal success in his second.

The baby's father, grandfather and Auntie Kathleen all took part in the quarter peal at Saxilby on March 25th. And since Mummy is also a ringer, we fully expect to see Margarel's name in our peal columns before long.

The Rev. G. W. Ruming, curate of Prestbury, is to be congratulated on his first quarter, at short notice, through the indisposition of Carol Lewis (14), whose first it was to have been. Bad luck, Carol. Your turn will come soon.

With reference to the meeting of the Middlesex Association at Barnes, Surrey, Mr. F. A. Finch, secretary of the South and West District, has received a most friendly letter from the secretary of the Surrey Association, asking him to ignore the complaint.

Collyer's Grammar School started ringing in 1949. On March 23 rd the School company rang their first quarter peal, at Billingshurst, as a farewe! I to their headmaster (Mr. P. A. Tharp) and a welcome to his successor. (Mr. D. J. Coulson).

 scampering along the floor on Sunday led to the band seeing, when they arrived for prac-tice the following. Tuesday, a large cocoa tin containing a bluish 'Quaker-oat-like-' substance on the table. On the lid was 'Mouse Baitharmless to bellringers - and other domestic animals.'

Bradford Cathedral band honoured Mr. E. H. Simpson's 50 years' membership of the Yorkshire Association with a quarter peal on March 24th. Comments our correspondent, 'And no star yet.' Apparently this veteran has not had ' owt for nowt.'

After the peal at Hitcham a surprise awaited the conductor and his band when they were met by other friends, and a fine iced birthday cake had to be cut to the tune of 'Happy Birthday to You.' Our grateful thanks to Mrs. Oglesby (mother of the 3rd ringer) for her very kind thought and good wishes.

Mr. C. Tovell, hon. sceretary of the Western Branch of the Norwich Diocesan Association, asks us to make two corrections in the report of the Branch's annual meeting (page 202). The next annual meeting will be held on February 22nd, and the late Rev. P. E. Hall was for many years Rector of Gressenhal!, and not Sculthorpe.
Mr. Derek P. Jones, of Derby, made sure of his 200th peal by ringing three peals of Surprise for the Midland Counties Guild on March 23 rd , conducting two of them, the other being conducted by Mr. B. G. Warwick. The peals were arranged by the Guild secretary, Mr. J. W. Cotton, and Mr. Ernest Jelley and Mr. John Jelley also took part in all three, the latter ringing his 25 th peal so far this year.

FUNERAL OF MR. ERNEST C. S. TURNER

A GREAT LOSS TO THE EXERCISE

$\mathbf{A}^{\mathrm{s}}$
5 briefly announced in our last issue, the death of Mr. Ernest C. S. Turner, general secretary of the Middlesex County Association and London Diocesan Guild, occurred on Tuesday, April 2nd, at Edgware Hospital, at the age of 46 .

Over the last three or four years ill health has been his constant companion. After enduring lung tuberculosis for over 18 months, he looked as though he would be restored to reasonable health, and in the spring of 1955 he resumed business. His heart was not up to the strain however, and many weary weeks in hospital followed, alternated by periods of convalescence at home. But the full recovery we all waited for was not to be, and he collapsed and was taken back to hospital two days before he died.

We took a final farewell of his mortal remains last Friday, a lovely spring day on which the warm sunshine gave promise of summer days to come. Over 30 of his ringing friends. many business colleagues and associates and other friends gathered at Stanmore Parish Church shortly before 11 a.m. The bells were rung half-mufled under the direction of the Association Ringing Master (Mr. T. Price), concluding with an excellent course of London Surprise Major, which ended as the cortege entered the church, and was rung by W. G. Wilson 1, Mrs. T. J. Lock 2, C. W. Woolley 3, M. Hodgson 4, E. A. Barnett 5, A. W. Coles 6, T. J Lock 7, T. Price 8.
The simple service was conducted by the Curate (Rev. A. Vickers) in the unavoidable absence of the Vicar (Rev. H. Loasby). The family mourners included his widow, his father mother, sister and brother. As the funeral party left the chancel steps a beautifully-struck course of Bob Major was rung at an impressively slow beat by T. J. Lock 1-2. E. A. Barnett 3-4, W. G. Wilson 5-6, C. W. Woolley 7-8.

SELFLESS AND DEVOTED SERVICE,

Many of the congregation went on to the cremation at Golders Green Crematorium, where the president of the Middlesex Association (Rev. G. C. Taylor), Rector of St. Giles-in-the-Fields. Landon, recited the final committal and spoke a few appreciative words of Ernest's life and work, and words of hope and comfort about his future life with his Maker. The service finished, we went out into the beautiful gardens, ablaze with daffodils and drenched with wa:m sunshine. The breathtaking beauty of it assuaged our sorrow for the moment and gave us a little time to admire the numerous floral tokens of the affection and esteem held for Ernest. The Middlesex County Association and London Diocesan Guild ' remembered with gratitude Ernest's selfless and devoted service,' whilst the bands at Stanmore and St. John's Hillingdon, together with many individual ringers, also sent therr tributes. The Exercise at large paid tribute through the flowers from the Central Council. Altogether, over 40 such tributes were on view.
Among those present were Mr. K. B. Hutton and Mr. J. P. Thompson, Ernest's partners in the firm of Maurice Thompson and Co., Incorporated Accountants, and members of the staff.
The Middlesex Association was represented by the president, the two vice-presidents (Messrs. W. H. Coles and H. G. Hart), Master (Mr. T. Price), treasurer (Mr. F. W. Goodfellow), assistant secretary (Mr. W. N. Genna), N. and E. District Master (Mr. A. Cutler), and secretary (Mr. T. J. Lock) and many members. The Central Council was represented by its secretary (Mr. E. A. Barnett), 'The Ringing World by Mr. J. F. Smallwood, and the Surrey Association by Mrs. W. Oatway.

Other ringers present included A. W. Coles, Mrs. H. G. Hart, Mrs. P. M. Mayne, Mrs. T. J. Lock (president of the Ladies' Guild), W. G. Wilson, E. J. Leversuch, M. Hodgson and Mrs Hodgson, E. H. Kilby, Mrs. E. A. Barnettt, C W. and Mrs. Woolley, W. Wenban, T. Collins, C. E. Lankester, H. J. Eldred and J. H. Crampion. Mrs. Genna was also present.

Several peals in memory of Ernest have been attempted, and it is known that four were successful, viz.: at Chislehurst, Willesden, Feltham and Stanmore.
F. W. G.

HIS EARLY DAYS

Mr. Wilfrid G. Wilson writes:-

- We were at Ealing County School together from 1922 to 1928. In the summer of 1927, soon after I had rung my first peals, 1 introduced Ernest, then 16-17, to Grandsire Doubles -on paper-during a rest on a cycling trip. Briefly 1 showed him a plain course and how to obtain the standard 120 changes. The next day he brought me the six complete 120 's on that plan, all accurately written out. At that time he had never seen a bell rung and had no idea how it was done.

This immediate understanding of the fundamentals of change ringing was fully exemplified during the next few years-no method was too difficult for him to learn or ring or conduct or compose. If a good composition was not readily available he produced one, and not even the earliest were like the amateur first efforts of we more ordinary ringers.

One great advantage he had. I was then a pupil of the late J. Armiger Trollope and was able to introduce my school friend to perhaps the finest instructor he could have had. Not only had J. A. T. a fine understanding of the technicalities of change ringing, but he had also the wide range of knowledge and interests of a well-educated man. All this was of the greatest possible benefit to two young schoolboys.

FIRST PEAL WITHIN THREE MONTHS

In October, 1927, within three months of that first lesson on paper, and when he could just about handle a tower bell, Ernest rang his first peal. Even that was no ordinary one. He rang $1-2$ to seven different 720's of Bob Minor 'in hand,' with J. A. T. ringing 3-4 and me on 5-6. We conducted two 720's each in turn round the circle and ended with a nonconducted one. A week later we were joined by Mr. E. M. Atkins, then of Kilburn, for a peal of Bob Major, in which Ernest rang 1-2 and conducted an arrangement of his own! In December he rang his first tower bell pealBob Major at Willesden.

If at that time we had had a regular fourth for our handbell band, we might have gone some way towards achieving what Ernest was able to do many years later as one of the Bushey handbell band. As it was, in 1928 a handbell peal in seven d:fferent Minor methods was rung, and in 1930 Grandsire Doubles, cơnducted by Ernest on 3-4 and containing no separate $120^{\circ}$ s. About this time, too, the first 720 's in some of the Spliced Alliance and Little methods were rung, all condueted by Ernest, and the Alliance methods given local Middlesex names.
In 1932 he rang his 50th peal-double my score, though 1 had started a year before him. This peal was Oxford Treble Bob Minor, "in hand,' a one-part composition of 5,040 , which he called from 3-4. A few months later he rang an inside bell to Spliced Surprise Major in five methods. At this time he was studying hard for his professional qualifications, but his ringing feats continued to expand until the outbreak of the war. I can only pick out a few examples from my own peal book, such as St. Clement's Bob Triples in 1930, Double Court Triples in 1933, Isleworth Bob Royal in 1938, and Double Coslany Court Major in 1939. All conducted by Ernest, the last two being the first peals in the methods.

HIS LITERARY WORK

He was of tremendous help to J. A. T. in his literary work for the Exercise, being associated with the second edition of the Central Council's "Collection of Doubles and Minor Methods" (1931) and a member of the Methods Committee which issued the third edition (1939). His help with "Stedman" (1938) and "Standard Methods" (1940) in the Snowdon series is acknowledged in the prefaces to those books, while in 1948 he and 1 completed and prepared for publication the current Snowdon work on Grandsire.'
During his youth he was shy and diffident in manner, except in the ringing chamber, where he was completely confident of his abilities. To a large extent he grew out of this diffidence, but from the start he was always completely reliable. In all the years we were members of the same band at Ealing I never knew him to be absent or late without warning from service ringing, practices or meetings.

1 must leave it to others, more qualified, to write about his later work for the Exercise and especially for the Middlesex Association as its general secretary and for the Central Council since 1935, but I have always considered that whatever else I may have been able to do for ringing and ringers, the most useful was to introduce that shy mathematical genius, Ernest Turner, to change ringing.'

Further details of Mr. Turner's career, together with the impressive analysis of his 490 peals, will be published in a subsequent issue.

A 1915 MEMORY

Dear Sir,-In 1915, whilst stationed at Sutton Veny (Wilts), 1, together with Bert Prewett, a young ringer named Sone and another whose name I cannot now remember other than it was 'Bill,' and that he came from my native county (Northamptonshire), used to practise on haadbells which were loaned to us from the Minster Church at Warminster.
We, together with four others from Bert Prewett's regiment (whom he had trained) also used to ring the tower bells at the same church before the Division went overseas, and we became separated.
I have never seen any of these fellows since (I am aware, of course, of what happened ta Bert Prewett, and what a great loss his early death was to the Exercise), but I now have reason to believe that the Thomas E. Sone, who is still ringing peals, is the one and the same as mentioned above and I am hoping that this will catch his eye or otherwise be brought to his notice.
Then. Mr. Sone, if you would care to drop me a line to 36 , St. James' Crescent, Bexhill-on-Sea (where I am now living in retirement), 1 shall be very pleased to hear from you and shall look forward to meeting you again in the very near future.-Yours faithfully,
J. G. DOWNING.

DURHAM AND NEWCASTLE

Memorial Peal Tablet to J. W. Parker
Joseph Watson Parker died in 1945, and for some years the Durham and Newcastle Diocesan Association has met on a date near his birthday at his own tower, St. Ignatius', Sunderland. When that meeting was held this year on March 16th. the Vicar of St. Ignatias' (Rev. G. H. Marshall) dedicated a peal borrd which records the half-muffied peal of Double Norwich C.B. Major that followed the funeral of J. W. Parker. The board itself was given by the son of the late R. L. Patterson, and records. 100 , his association in ringing over, many years with J. W. Parker at St. lgnatius', Sunderland. The lettering will be charged to the J. W. Parker Memorial Fund, and a balance will remain, which as yet has not been allocated.
The peal of Double Norwich was " composed by J. W. Parker and conducted by W. H. Barber." and thus makes yet another memorial in recording a fruitful association of a great composer with a great conductor. which had produced such outstanding performances as the first peal of Erin Triples at Gateshead, to quote but one example.

Thus, future visitors to St. Ignatius*. Sunderland. will see a definite memorial in addition to the ordinary peal boards recording the loyal service as ringers and churchmen over many years of Joseph Watson Parker and Robert Leonard Patterson, for J. W. Parker was that as well as an outstanding composer, whose fame extended far beyond St. Ignatius, Sunderland.

The attendance at the meeting was rather less than usual, but those present made good use of the bells.

At the meeting, which followed tea, the president (Mr. K. Arthur) paid tribute to the memory of J. W. Parker. He asked those present who knew and had rung with Mr. Parker to stand, and said that the increasing proportion of the younger generation in the short space since his death showed the need for some permanent memorial, which he was pleased to see had now been achieved.

It was announced that a special meeting had been arranged for Saturday. August 31 st. to be held in Durham Cathedral, to commemorate the founding there on August 25th. 1877, of the Association. On advice from the architects, the Dean and Chapter have greatly curtailed ringing at Durham Cathedral, and this will provide one of the few opportunities for a visitor to ring there. Arrangements for a dinner to be held in the evening are not completed yet but full details will be announced soon. D. A. B.

A NEW QUARTERLY

Mr. W. Butler's new quarterly, 'The Ringers' Magazine, will, we are sure, be favourably received by the Exercise. Its appeal is wide and the writers to it are all well-known personalities in ringing spheres, such as Leonard Stilwell. Wilfrid G. Wilson, Nolan Golden. William Butler. Ernest Morris. Frank T. Blagrove, C. Kenneth Lewis and William Shepherd.

Nolan Golden gives the first of a series of famous composers, with 12 peals of Charles Henry Hattersley; C. Kenneth Lewis writes on composing Minor exients, and a series of articles for begingers is heing contributed ho Wilfrid $G$. Wilson. It fulfils its tifle 'The Ringers' Magazinc.

A Visit to the Master's Tower

One of the most successful quarterly meetings of the Society since the war was held at Erith on March 30th. Ringing took place during the afternoon on the good octave at the Old Church in methods up to Bristol; this was followed by handbell ringing in the churchyard, in methods up to Double Norwich and Stedman Caters, during a wedding. A most enjoyable service was conducted by the Vicar of St. John's (Rev. Philip Lea), with singing led by the organist and choir boys.

Over 40 sat down to an excellent tea, and the business meeting was held in the Church Guild Room, with the Master (Mr. F. J. Cullum) in the chair. Before leaving to carry out another engagement, the Vicar extended a hearty welcome to the Society and said how pleased he was to see his tower captain (Mr. Cullum) in the proud position of Master of the Society. This was received with applause.

Arising from the minutes, the secretary gave details of the dinner; the misgivings as to attendance expressed at the Harrow meeting had failed to materialise, and the function had been a great success: a small deficit had been settled anonymously.

SUBSCRIPTION REMINDER

This week is the second issue of the new quarter and is an opportune time for new postal subscribers to enrol. Will readers whose subscriptions are due kindly remit without delay to Mr. J. E. Jeater, Greystones, Cusgarne, Truro, Cornwall. Rates: ${ }^{3}$ Months $7 / 6$, 6 months 14/6, 12 months $£ 18 \mathrm{~s}$.

The following new members were elected: Messrs. A. S. Harris (Leatherhead), D. K. and S. Waiklate (Derby) and H. W. Rogers (Isleworth).
The secretary explained that it had been thought that it would be a very nice gesture to the Master to accept his invitation to visit Erith for this meeting: the secretary and all present were very pleased that so many had come along to support Mr. Cullum at a meeting at his own tower. The next quarterly meeting would be held at Loughton on July 13 th, but members were asked to note that they were specially invited to a joint meeting with the London County Association at Twickenham and Isleworth on Saturday. June 22nd. The Ancient Society of College Youths had been invited to share in this joint meeting, and their decision was awaited.
The assistant secretary (Mr. J. L. Morris) announced that the annual dinner would be held at the Old Bell. Holborn, on Saturday, Feb. 1st, 1958, and members were asked to book the date.
Finally. a very hearty vote of thanks was passed with acclamation to all those who had helped so materially to make the meeting such a success, especially the Master, who had undertaken most of the organisation. The Master said that he hoped everyone had enjoyed the afternoon. and it was a very real pleasure to him to welcome the Society to Erith.
During the evening ringing continued at St. John's and also at Christ Church in various plain and Surprise methods.

QUARTER PEAL AT WINCHESTER COLLEGE

A quarter peal, at Winchester College on March 23rd, is almost certainly the first on the bells, which were last rung for any length of time-when King Charles II visited Winchester. They were unringable throughout the 18 th century. and although the tower was rebuilt in the 1860 's the bells were seldom rung, and in 1915 a total ban was placed on them.
In 1952 Mears and Stainbank rehung five bells and replaced the cracked 14th century third, but the tower was feared to be unsafe. Since then the outside of the tower has been cleaned and the cracks examined, and the College architect. was present during the ringing to observe the motion of the tower, which is considerable as the bells are about 80 ft . from the ground (with a draught of 50 ft .). The architect was fortunately not alarmed, and it is hoped that a band of Old Wykehamists may soon ring the first peal on the bells.
The quarter peal was the first by a school band on their own bells, although Canford have rung at their parish church of Canford Magna. The band, which included the captain of the College ringers, Mr. J. G. Pusey, was led by Mr. B. D. Threlfall.

HERTS COUNTY ASSOCIATION

High upon one of the westernmost spurs of the Chilterns stands Offley, where Offa, who was King of Mercia about 790, had his palace. Those who came to ring the six bells on March 23rd were warmly welcomed. After ringing with us the Vicar (Rev. H. Sinar) conducted a short service before tea.

Four new members were elected-the Vicar of Offley, R. Haynes (Baldock), W. Munson and D. Taplin (Stevenage). Arrangements for the A.G.M. in April, when seven towers will be open. were announced. An important item on the agenda will be whether subscriptions should be raised.
Chiltern Treble Bob the special method, was not a great success, but many other methods were rung to suit everyone.
J. S.

MIDDLESEX COUNTY ASSOCIATION

The February meeting of the South and West District took place at St. Margaret's. Uxbridge, resulting in one of the best-attended monthly meetings for some time. The bells, under the supervision of the Master (Mr. W. T. Cook), assisted by the Deputy Master (Mr. D. Fowles), were rung to a variety of methods, to suit all tastes.
A beautiful service. fully choral. was conducted by the Vicar, and enjoyed by some 60 members and friends. The collection was put to the Church Restoration Fund.
A sumptuous tea was provided by the ladies, the Vicar. church officers, organist and choir joining the ringers. Nine new members were elected. Votes of thanks by Mr. W. H. Coles were accorded the Vicar and all those who helped with this very successful meeting. with a special word for Mr. H. Impey, tower captain of St. Margaret's, who with his wife had organised everything.
Further ringing was carried on until 8.30.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

MIDDLESEX ASSOCIATION AT BARNES
Dear Sir,-As captain of Barnes Parish Church band I would like to make some comment in reply to Mr. Bagworth's letter questioning the visit of the Middlesex Association to a tower in Surrey.

I do not know for a fact if the Surrey Association were asked for their views on the proposal, but they certainly had no right to be. Apart from holding a District meeting at Barnes some two years ago, the Surrey Association have not since the reopening of the bells in 1953 made any effort to recognise the existence of the tower. They would have been welcomed, as all Associations are welcomed at Barnes. None of the local band is a member of the Surrey Association; they are all, with the exception of two or three recent recruits, members of the London County Association.

The London County Association was not approached either. Application was made to the Rector, who gave consent to the meeting subject tor my agreement, which in my opinion is the proper way of arranging a meeting. May I point out that the tower and bells of St. Mary's, Barnes, do not 'belong ' to any Association of bellringers. They belong to the church, which allows us ringers to use them.

If the Surrey Association wish to come for a meeting to Barnes they will, while I have any influence there, be welcomed. subject, of course, to local arrangements permitting, and provided the request is made to the proper person and not through the correspondence columns of - The Ringing World.'-Yours faithfully,

NEVIL G. HOLLINGWORTH.

DERBYSHIRE FOUR-BELL TOWERS

Dear Sir, -I wish to thank all those who have responded, with information and constructive suggestions, to my proposal for a 4-bell supplement to Mr. Dove's 'Guide.' If I know Mr. Dove. the supplement may be in our hands at a much earlier date than he humbly leads us to believe. In the meantime I am keeping a list, with many others, of the details which have appeared.

I am searching for such towers in Derbyshire, and so far can name Marston-on-Dove (ringable) and Elvaston (derelict). In Herts there is Wyddial ( 8 cwt., need a little attention) and possibly Stanstead Abbots. In Beds there is Steppingley (ringable). and Mr. T. R. Dennis has confirmed my suspicions of a four in Cam-bridge-St. Botolph's ( 9 cwt .. ringable shortly before the war).-Yours faithfully.

Derby.
D. P. JONES.

FOUR BELL TOWERS IN WARWICKSHIRE

Dear Sir,-Towers in Warwickshire containing rings of four bells are as follows: Anstey (tower too small to hold more). Ashow, Churchover, Cubbington, Ettingion, Long Itchington, Lighthorne, Offchurch (front four of five), Seckington, Upper Shuckburgh. Weston-underWeatherley (second and third badly cracked), Withybrook, Radford Semcle, Sheldon (Birmingham).

Alveston, near Stratford-on-Avon, was once casually mentioncd to me, as having four bells, but I have no proof that the tower contains more than threc!-Yours, etc.

WILLIAM A. STOTE.

Coventry.

There was an errer in the footnote of the peal rung at Norton (page 179). The new curate is the Rev. Gerald Ruiter, not Butler, as was sent in due to a misunderstanding.

TRIPLES METHODS

Dear Sir,-With regard to two recent first performances of Triples methods, the correct titles should be Mulbarton Imperial Bob and St. Stephen's Imperial College Bob.

The complete classification of the methods published in "The Ringing World,' August 17th, 1956, is as follows :-
(1). Bob methods are 1 to $6,9,11$ to 16,20 , 22,26 to $32,35,37$ to 40.
(2) College methods are $2,3,4,11,12,15,16$, $30,31,39$ and 40.
(3) Imperial methods are $1,3,4,5,8,10,12$, 15 to 19,21 to $26,28,29,31,34,37,39,41$ to $44,46,48$ to 52.
(4) Court methods are $7,33,36,45$ and 47 (i.e., methods not falling into the other groups). I have also received inquiries about compositions in groups $C$ and $D$, the no-place L.E. methods. The following are examples having only two singles each. There are many compositions possible with call at 7th in and out in each course, but these need at least about 20 singles per peal.

AUNSBY'S THREE BELLS

Dear Sir,-After cleaning out the bell chamber of St. Thomas-of-Canterbury Church, Aunsby, Lincs, I noted the following inscriptions on the three bells:-

Treble.-Tobias Norris cast me 1684. Dobs.
Secand.- Sweetly tolling men do call to taste on meats that feed the fools. 1612.

Tenor.- God Save the King. 1669.,
By its sound the treble appears to be cracked. The oak frame is in good condition but the wheels are in a bad way.

It would take quite a lot of attention to make them ringable.-Yours faithfully, HENRY P. COLLIN.

THE SPEED OF A PEAL
Dear Sir,-In his recent leading article on the above subject, P. A. C. makes several statements which call for comment.

Whilst I personally prefer moderately fast ringing to very fast ringing, I cannot agree that it is absurd to suggest a fast peal is a good one. The fact that a peal is fast must indicate a good cne, as bad ringing would obviously slow up the peal.

Ringing (especially peal ringing) can be compared with eight-oared rowing. In the case of rowing, the crew must work perfectly together to produce the rhythm and speed necessary for smooth running of the boat, the rate of striking being set by the stroke.

Similarly, in the case of ringing, the band must work perfectly together to produce the rhythm necessary for a good peal, and in this case the rate of striking is set by the tenor man.

He then goes on to criticise two recent peals which he did not hear and therefore is in no position to criticise. I can only write of one of these, namely, the Ely peal, in which I took part. No attempt was being made to ring a fast peal or any claim to such. It so happened that the rhythm and generally good ringing produced that result. Neither can I agree with P. A. C. about the hum of these bells, and I think I know them as well as he does. Every bell could be distinctly heard in the ringing chamber during the whole of the peal.

It is interesting to note that in the same copy of "The Ringing World" is published a peal of Lincolnshire Surprise Major at St. Mary-deCastro. Leicester. The tenor is $2 \frac{1}{2}$ cwt. lighter than Ely tenor, the number of changes rung is the same and the time taken is eight minutes less, and the man who turned the tenor in is none other than P. A. C. The respective rates of striking were:-

Ely. -28.088 changes per minute.
Leicester. -29.395 changes per minute.
Finally, to quote P. A. C.: For my part. I have never yet come across a higher standard than some of the peals I was privileged to ring in North Essex immediately before the war.

It is quite possible and highly probable there have been peals rung in other parts of the country which have been of as high a standard as any P. A. C. has rung, and probably higher. -Yours sincerely, H. L. MARTIN.

PEAL OF 5,000 STEDMAN CATERS
Dear Sir.-Re the peal of 5,000 Stedman Caters printed on page 205: you did not state from rounds your course-end 213547698 was produced from hand strokes or back strokes. This isn't new: the record handbell peal was started from backstroke.

Mr. Roberts, of Barry. Glam, should know that all Sundays are red-letter days in all churches of the world-no muffled bells.-Yours faithfully,

HOLIDAY IN DEVON POINTS TO REMEMBER WHEN RINGING WITH CALL CHANGE BANDS

(This article has been written at the request of several change ringers who want to make the most of their visits to West Country call change towers.)

I
DoNT LRaow what is the proper colleciice noun for an invasion of touring ringersa "buspealing' perhaps, or maybe a charagrab.' Whatever it may be, Devonshire is well acquainted with the phenomenon, as each ringing tour season comes round. The bright coaches from distant places parked outside the churchyard to the tune of unfamiliar ringing are quite an accepted part of the summer scene for the natives. But in addition to those who come in 'charagrabs' or 'buspealings,' there are a good many ringers who come to Devon just for the holiday, with their families, and hope for a bit of ringing by the way in the county most blessed in England with bells. It is for these, rather than the touring parties, that this article is intended; as far as the latter are concerned, my only plea is that they don't unsplice the ropes and that they ring as musically as they are able.

Many holidaying ringers who call in to Devon towers find that there is call change ringing in progress, and for some of them call change ringing is a mystery. So much so that they may hesitate to take a rope when it is offered, or, if they do, make a mess of the ringing because the words of command and style are wholly unfamiliar. Although one does hear storics of visiting ringers who have been refused a rope-or not offered one-when the locals discovered them to be 'scientific,' this very seldom happens, and when it does there may be some reason behind it. Certainly it's never likely to happen at a practice, for Devonshire ringers are as hospitable as any, but Sundays are different. I think it's true to say that in a Devon village the local people, non-ringers, are far more critical of ringing than they are elsewhere. Like the ringers, they have a great love of bell music and a keen ear for good striking, and you can be pretty sure that if the Sunday ringing in a good tower, St. Giles-in-the-Wood or Down St. Mary or West Alvington, or almost half the villages in Devon, is marred by bad striking or a jangled rise or lower, the fact will not go unnoticed down the street, and the captain will hear about it, if only from Mrs. Captain. If the local ringers seem to be diffident about offering the visitor from "up the line" a rove on a Sunday, it may very well be that the last visitor who took a rope accepted it casually or sven patronjsingly, and then revealed the fact that he had no notion of the local style of rising and falling in peal, and did not understand the meaning of the calls. The resulting nasty noise would be remembered for a long time in a small community, and the locals would be careful before they risked its happening again.

I've said before that as far as Devon is concerned call change ringing is not the sign of a backward or lazy band. In other parts ringers may ring call changes because they haven't the skill or the initiative to learn methods; in Devon they ring call changes because they like them, and it has to be learnt. Still more does this apply to rising and falling in peal. In my experience it is only the visitor with superior air of a 'finished ringer, who is treated with restraint; the wise man tells the local band that he has never rung Devon-style call changes before, and asks the locals to teach him. This may come hard to a ringer with a long list of good peals to his credit, but it is the only sure way to enjoyaple ringing for hinself and the local band. If he is humble enough to do it, he can assure himself of an educative and entertaining evening. It's the lesson all over again of Our Lord's parable about the man invited to the wedding; take the lowest place, and when people see your value they'll soon move you up. Assume you know it all and that no bell and no kind of ringing can defeat you, and you'll find yourself ringing with the most critical band you ever met. Ask them to teach you how they ring, and they will overlook your mistakes and admire your successes. Humility always transforms all human relationships.

Well, let's assume you're in the tower and have been offered a rope. Very likely the bells will be down-if they're light they will not often be set, as Devon ringers enjoy the music of a good fall and rise-so if you're not sure of your rising and the locals aren't shorthanded, it's a good idea to sit and watch the first 'peal,' and make note of the words of command, because many of them will be unfamiliar. When you do take a rope, it's best to take one which is obviously vacant-Devon ringers like to stick to their own bell-or take one near the light end of the middle. It's best not to take the treble, because leading up and down needs great skill and experience, and the treble man usually does the calling. Nor, until you know the band well, is it wise to grab the tenor, because you may set a pace which the band aren't used to. If you're offered either of thesc, as may happen, be quite sure you know what you're doing, because on either bell you are strategically placed to ruin the ringing.

THE RISE

Before the rise begins, you'll probably notice the other ringers being most meticulously careful about taking their coils; you'll be well advised to follow suit, for when the bells go up they will probably go up fast-very fast if they're light-and a coil slipped on the wrong way can become a half-hitch and put you badly out. The ropes may be long, and when the bells are in rounds many Devon ringers are left with a coil in hand-bad practice normally, but with the bells well down there's not much danger from broken stays. For rising and falling in peal Devon ringers usually face round the circle, every faculty concentrated on the matter in hana.

It's a good thing to ask, before the bells go up, on which sway the bells are to speak. On a light ring they will be pulled once silently and chimed straight in on the second sway; every bell must speak in this first chiming round. On heavier bells there will be two or sometimes three silent pulls before the bells are chimed in, and the captain will say, if anyone asks, or if there's any doubt, "Second sway" or "Third sway' as the ringers stand-to for the rise. If he says "Third sway, each ringer pulls his bell, lets her swing once with only a slight pull unless she's at the back and no check at all, and then checks her to make her speak as this swing ends. This is known as 'pitching' the bells, and if they are pitched properly they will all, as they chime the first round, be swinging at the same period. A bad pitch will very rarely straighten out into a decent rise, so that a great deal of care and experience is put into perfecting the pitch, which varies a great deal for every ring of bells.
Words of command for the rise vary from tower to tower, but the most usual ones are Ready... Treble's gone' and 'Go... here they go.' On the executive order all the bells are pulled away almost simultancously, so that when they are chimed in they all speak in a very rapid round which is beautiful to hear when well done. Once pitched, they go straight up ; there is no time spent th chiming or sortingout. They still keep very close together, the treble keeping wide of the tenor so that when she finds her tongue at handstroke she's right in her place and the other bells can fit their handstroke blows in behind her as they get them. There is no jumbled transition between chiming and ringing, such as is bound to happen when the bells are chimed in even rounds without any gap at the treble's lead. Strangers to this style of rising almost invariahly get left behind, and even if you're pretty used to it you are often surprised at the speed at which a light six can go up: so be warned, and if the captain tells you to be quicker, do so even if it doesn't seem right and even if, as often happens with one captain 1 know, he tells you before any bell has spoken!

Once the pitch is dope, the rest of your rise is mainly a matter of leeping your ears very keenly open for your own bell and the rest, and keeping your bell very well under control. watching your next ahead-and his next ahead as well; even Devon ringers get under sometimes. Most Devon ringers slide the rope through their fingers after the handstroke all the time, which is a doubtful custom. but it certainly helps some ringers to keep their bell under the very tight control necessary during a rise and lower.

ROUNDS AND CALL CHANGES

In many towers the bells are not often set. as we've seen, so once the bells are un and in rounds (going pretty fast, with the tenor about 45 degrees above frame height) you'll probably go straight off into call changes when the captain is satisfied that the rounds have settled to a good pace and rhythm. You'll already have: noticed the absence of any handstroke gap, the treble leading tight over the tenor exactly the same at both hand and back. This may impart a slightly unfamiliar 'feel' to the ringing as well as an unfamiliar sound; you'll find the sally going up a little less at hand, and your bell may need more work at hand than you're accustomed to giving it. This shorter rise of the sally at hand with the bells well off the balance is another reason for the custom of sliding the rope through the fingers; in a small, crowded tower, an orthodox handstroke can allow the rope to fly dangerously on "a light bell, for the length of the handstroke pull is barely enough for the ringer to throw' the sally.

The warning command which prefaces going into the call changes is usually "Look out." So if you hear the captain shout this, don't look wildly round or run for the stairs-iust turn and face the middle of the tower and remind yourself which bell you're ringing. When a change is called only the two bells which actually change places are called, so that you must always notice not only which bell you are ringing after but also which he is ringing after. The call is made at the handstroke and takes effect on the next handstroke; from rounds, a call of 'Four to Five' will bring up the change 123546, at the next handstroke. (N.B.-The word 'to' in a call means ' after.') 'Two to Three ' brings 132546; the man on the 5th must keep awake at this change, because he's affected although his bell is not called. Although he must not change his stroke, he is now ringing after the 2 nd instead of the 3 rd . "Two to Five ' brings the bells into 'Thirds.' 135246. On eight the equivalent is naturally called Queen's.'
When the bell at the front is called away and another takes the lead, the command is usually followed by the word 'Lead' as a reminder. If we're ringing ' Sixty on Thirds,' the next call. after 135246 will be 'Treble to Three - Lead.' When your turn comes, you'll have to keep very much on your toes if you're used to an. open lead at handstroke; it's surprisingly easy to forget, and to the ears of the locals a gap at handstroke is the same as any other gap-a fault.

Don't think you can relax and go to sleep ringing call changes; many change ringers find it requires more concentration than ringing a well-known method.

SETTING THE BELLS

If the bells are to be set, the operation is not quite so simple as it is with the bells rung at a usual change-ringing pace. So the first word of command is 'Upwards, on which the bells are gradually rung up a little more 'stiff' until after three or four whole puHs they're up at the balance. The captain then calls 'Set,' or 'Stand next handstroke,' or 'Next Sally,' and the bells set in in the usual manner. You aren't likely, in these days of progress and standardisation, to hear the celebrated command 'Stand at forestroke not the next forestroke nor the forestroke arter but the forestroke arter 'e.' (I hope A. A. H. will pardon my use of this, one of his-and my-favourite stories.)

THE LOWER

The universal word of command for lowering the bells is, charmingly enough, 'Downward," and on it the ringers lace round the circle as they did for the rise. Except for the ending, the lower follows normal practice, except thit, of course, there is no handstroke gap-and here let it be said that the best method-ringers I've ever known for leading down in peal always close the handstroke gap, for it's much easie:to get a good lower that way. However, because of this, it isn't wise to do what many change ringers do and let the sally look after itselt on the way down. The sally should be handled until it ceases altogether to bob, and some Devon experts maintain that even after that it should be given a slight pull-it needs nice timing but it can be done-as it helps to keep the bell double-clappering until the very last moment. Unless you're very badly behind. you should not do any violent or sudden checking until you pull in for the last chiming rounds, as this may make the bell 'lose her tongue, at the very moment when a good lower is at the height of its excitement and beautythe tenor almost down and the bells racing round in tremendously rapid rounds just audible above the single hum of the whole ring.

When the tenor is down the other bells are pulled in pretty rapidly but not too rapidly for every beil to be brought accurately and at once into her place in the final chiming rounds. There are not many of these: as soon as the bells are chiming properly the captain will call 'One ...two ...three ' on successive rounds, the third being the last, or else he calls 'Next Time, or in a light-belled tower he may merely stamp his foot-quite a common practice in South Devon. Some bands 1 have rung with stop their bells by telepathy, I think, but it's very efficient. Devon ringers never finish a lower in a way much admired by change ringers -letting the bel!s swing silent for one round and then stopping them in the final round. As either a blow missed or a blow extra is a whole fault, this in a competition would count as six (or cight) faults, though whether for six blows too few or six blows too many would be a knotty point for the judges to decide!

IN GENERAL

Most of this probably applies to Cornwall. but most Cornish bands ring only rounds and nothing else-why?-because they like rounds! Perfectly struck rounds on good bells can be a real thrill. (One of the most enioyable and exciting pieces of ringing I ever had was about eight minutes' filling-in between the end of a touch and service time on the back eight of St. Albans Cathedral-eight minutes faultless rounds.) Cornish ringers also set their bells even less often than Devon ringers, and there may still be a few towers in Cornwall where they have never had stays; I know there were some before the war.
It may be that the band you're visiting on practice night-and practice night is by far the best time at least for your first visit-is practising for a competition. Whether you agree with competitions in principle or not, don't expect more than one ring; they may be nice enough to give you more, but they are about a serious business, especially if they're a County Shicld-class band.

You can get a pretty good idea of the quality of the band you're visiting by the certificates on the walls of the belfry. If you see a great number of recent ones, you are among men who are, in their own chosen field, experts, and remember that you are to a great extent a stranger in that field and must be duly humble They aren't a bit interested in that peal of Yorkshire Royal you rang last week up the line,' and they don't expect your first attempt at their style of ringing to be brilliantly suc-cessful-unless by taking a patronising attitude you give them to believe that you've nothing to learn from them. If you show them that you think you're a first-class ringer, they'll expect you to be one-in their style-and that means that they'll expect you to raise, ring and lower your bell without the smallest perceptible irregularity from 'Here they go' to 'Next time," and that at a pace you're unused to, in a strange rhythm, and on unknown bells. If you really can do that-well, the College of Campanology would be glad of you as an exhibit!

The only way in which you can enjoy yourself in a call change tower, if you aren't $\AA$ call change ringer, is to admit to the locals, and to yourself, that they can teach you something. If you do that, you will have a good evening in any band, you will have a welcome ever after, and the local ringers will enjoy your visit as much as you do.

A PERSONAL NOTE

I am well aware that some change ringers fully believe that 1 have been converted entirely to the cause of call change ringing. I may say here that this is not true in the slightest degree. I shall always be by preference and inclination a change ringer, but there are, 1 believe, two causes greater than the cause of change ringing for all of us. They are the regular ringing of all church bells as well as they can be rung, and the cause of Christian charity and goodwill among those who ring. In pursuit of these aims I am honoured to have many call cinange ringers among my friends. Nobody, least of all myself, would say that there is nothing in call change ringing open to criticism from cither a ringing or a Christian standpoint. But then-which of our leading Surprise towers is going to be bold enough to cast the first stone in a southwesterly direction?

OBITUARY  MR. C. TRIBE

As briefly announced in 'The Ringing World,' Mr. C. Tribe passed away recently, aged 99 years.
Charles Tribe came to Kent in the closing years of the 19th century. He came from East Hampshire or West Sussex and lived in the village of Wittersham for some time and would travel from there to Rye irequently, where he gave valuable assistance to the local band.

A change ringing band had already started when Mr. Tribe moved to Tenterden, about 1900, and he found a good company there and threw in his weight with such splendid strikers as Bob Edwards, F. Edwards. A. Hinds, G. Cramp, H. Holdstock, F. Burden and, later on, Charlie Player. Mr. and Mrs. Harry Baker, A. Allen and Harry Parkes. If you rang a peai with the old Tenterden band you were certain you'd taken part in a meritorious performance for immediately a hitch occurred 'Stand!' was called. It had to be a good peal or no peal at all!!

Charles Tribe taught numerous pupils to handle a bell and coached many in the art of change ringing besides ringing many peals.
He was the first secretary of the old Romney Marsh and District Guild (now disbanded) and was a founder member of that Guild; later he became Master of the Guild.
He was Ashford District representative on the Kent County General Committee and also at one time District Secretary.

For many years Mr. Tribe was afflicted by cataracts and was nearly blind, but in spite of this he was of a genial disposition and used to organise outings by cycle. One of these is recalled by Harry parkes, when six 6 -bell towers were visited and a 720 rung in each with one exception.

He rang about 300 ocals, mainly of Grandsire. Stedman. Bob Major and Kent Treble Bob. In 1930, at the age of 72, he took part in six peals-a feat of no little merit as he was by then practically blind.
Besides being a ringer, Mr. Tribe was also a bailift for Tenterden Police Court for some years, also he had been a chorister and would delight his friends by singing a ditty "Who's Your Hatter? or "The Old Tile.
Charlie Tribe will be remembered with affection by those who knew him. and it is to be hoped that he spent his latter days in peace and within earshot of some bells. May his soul rest in peace.

LEEDS & DISTRICT SOCIETY

Many members and friends attended the Society's meeting held at Hunslet on March 30th. This was a joint mecting with the Yorkshire District of the Ladies' Guitd and the first meeting of the Socicty to be held at St. Mary's since 1952.
The bells were not raised until well after 4 oclock owing to the large number of weddings taking place that day. However, for the whole of the time available for ringing the tower was more than comfortably full. A break was made at five oclock for tea, and again at $6.30 \mathrm{p} . \mathrm{m}$. for the business mecting, both of which were held in the nearby schools.
The vote of thanks to the Vicar, churchwardens and local company included special mention for the very young members of the Hunslet band, who had looked after the visitors at tea. The following nominations were received for the officers for 1957-58:-President, Mr. I. S.ack: vice-presidents. Messrs. H. Lofthouse, F. Rayment and J. M. Thorley: Ringing Master, Mr. L. Drake : secretary and treasurer, Mr. J. F. Hodson: auditors, Messrs. C. F. Sutcliffe and R. Bettly-Cooke.
The business concluded, ringing followed for the remainder of the evening, the bells being lowered in peal at 9 p.m.

THE 'GRAB' THAT NEARLY

 WASNTThe green depth of Warwickshire was the venue for the 'half-term grab,' and it was indeed a pity that everything did not go as planned. The first misfortune that the Birmingham people had was that the train left Birmingham late and, owing to a derailment, came to a halt at Hatton. At Gaydon we made the fatal mistake-one group stopping to do repairs while the others went on.
Nevertheless, at Cropredy, Oxon ( $6,16 \mathrm{cwt}$. in E) the advance party met the Oxford people as arranged, even if a little late! Having finished ringing at Cropredy, and giving up hope of ever seeing the missing three again, we crossed the Cherwell Valley in weather which was fantastically warm for February.

At Chipping Warden, Northamptonshire, we found a "crash-helmet' five with a tenor of 14 cwt . However, the Rector (the Rev. J. N Robertson-Glasgow) assured us that all was safe, and we carried on towards Farnborough none the warse for experience.

To save time we took a 'short cut 'to Farnborough, on the advice of C. R. C. C., which involved wading through mud, inches deep, across the Cherwell meadows. Having de-mudded the bicycles we rang at St. Botolph's, Farnborough, Warwickshire, where the rest of the party were waiting for us. Here the:e is a pleasant five (tenor 7 cwt .), but owing to shortage of time our stay had to be short. The Vicar (the Rev. A. J. Partridge). himself a ringer, warned us of the hills between Farnborough and Burton Dasset, which we were to encounter. However, it was well worth the climb over the Dassett Hills to see the lowland appearing on all sides as one climbed higher. To the right lay Northamptonshire and the model village of Fenny Compton; to the noth, Warwickshire, which looked extremely flat: while to the west lay Edge Hill and the scene of Cromwell's famous battle.

The Rev. H. Hill and a local ringer met us at the lonely Church of All Saints, Burton Dassett, which is, perhaps, unique in the way which the 11000 of tine church climbs from west to east in a series of steps owing to the slope of the land. We had been told how picturesque the loca! ringers here looked from the church, ringing in candlelight on the other side of the balcony. Since it was ravidly becoming dark we lit the candles and had the unusual experience of rirging by candlelight ourselves.
The three of us who climbed to the tower roof were well rewarded with a wonderful view. Even though the sun was setting and the sky was not too clear the Malverns, 40 miles distant, and the Black Mountains, even further away, could clearly be seen. However, we were nes the first people to stand on Burton Dassett tower. Ia 1642 Oliver Cromwell watched Kirg Charles' armies assembling from this point, and was, apparently, in such a hurry to ioin his own troops that he slid down a bell-rope!
The Oxford party leit us at Burton Dassett for Fenny Compton, while the rest of us started on the twelve miles journey back to Warwick, and thence four more miles to our train at Hatton.
On the whole it was an enjoyable day, but if the saving that one learns by mistakes is true, the next 'grab' should not be surpassable

THE TRIUMPH AND JOY OF EASTER

By The Rev. A. S. ROBERTS

THE last verse of one of our Easter hymns begins 'Easter triumph, Easter joy,' and how truly do they express the very substance of our faith at this season. Lent has gone by, but it is linked to Easter by that unforgettable day - Good Friday. During the past few weeks some may have curtailed their ringing, but Sunday ringing, practices, meetings and peals have gone on in greater or lesser degree, and with a general increase of weddings in Lent there have probably been plenty of wedding bells too. To the outside public or the passer-by there has been no difference - the bells have just been ringing. In fact, many a peal attempt brings someone asking, 'Has there been a wedding?' and many a practice, 'What are the bells ringing for?' There seems little or no reason why ringing should not go on normally into Lent with a gradual lessening after Mid-Lent Sunday (except on Sundays) until the great silence of Holy Week, and then the solemn tolling of one bell each day has a special significance. This should be the only sound on Good Friday also. That great authority on all matters liturgical, the late Bishop Frere, when Bishop of Truro, expressed a wish for one bell to be tolled on Good Friday in place of half-muffled ringing, and this has become the custom there. It would seem correct. Christ is not dead. We are remembering the challenge of Calvary and the events of the first Good Friday, and drawing men's minds to them. Half-muffled ringing might well be made more use of at the time of death. It has a remarkable effect.on people generally, and should not be neglected as the last token of respect.

The significance and solemnity of Holy Week brought to the ears of parishioners by the slow ringing of the biggest bell once or twice daily where a ring of bells is the custom at least once during the week can be very real. The week is made a memorable one. It is something unusual in the Church's Year. It is the warning, too, of a great outburst. Easter Eve is our day of preparation. On Easter morning very early the great stone was rolled away, not as a means of exit for our Lord, but as a way of entry for those who came. It was a moment of mystery, but very soon the triumph was known, and joy filled many hearts. If there had been bells then surely they would have burst forth unaided to proclaim the power of God for 'God raised Him from the dead.'

What a tremendous privilege ours is. The yearly proclamation of the fact of the Resurrection is in our hands. The Church has committed to us who are ringers the high duty of making known with iron tongues what the Apostles proclaimed with human voices, ' The Lord is Risen indeed.' We do it early, some perhaps when it is yet dark, but all of us as the rest of the faithful are hurrying to church to meet their Lord at the altar. As they kneel in preparation we go quietly from tower to nave, or sanctuary or chancel, whatever our further duties may be, to join in one great act of worship. Let none of us fail in this.

Easter sets the bells ringing together again in rhythmic beauty, after a week at least of sombre silence. As this great Festival is one of new life we should be inspired for all that lies ahead. With Easter, in a very real sense, begins a new season of ringing - annual meetings, outings, tours of all kinds, holiday visits to other towers, fresh planning of peal attempts to inspire progress and to raise one's own standard of ringing, and within a matter of weeks the importance of the Central Council gathering for a new session. The supreme responsibility in all these things lies with those who will be ringing on Easter morning and throughout the day (one remembers four quarter peals at St. Albans Cathedral one Easter Day some years ago). With few exceptions now the parish provides the local band, local bands form the guilds and associations, and these in turn form the Central Council. It is the parish then that provides for each and every ringing occasion or excursion, and the bells that send out at Easter a triumphant and joyous message are the same bells we shall be called and trusted to ring on every occasion we take rope in hand in company with those whose intention is the same. We have laid upon ourselves a duty which we are to perform to the Glory of God. He accepts our offering. The more perfect the offering the greater the joy in each human soul. Sometimes we call it pleasure, and this surely God does not deny to us. If we are loyal servants of the Church what better can we do than take our pleasure upon the very instruments that proclaim the Resurrection, but first we must see to it that we offer ourselves to the full in the life of the Church. Easter could never have been without Good Friday. Our Lord's offering of Himself was the greatest for all time. His Resurrection saw the Victory complete. We proclaim it, and we must go on to increase and to share the fullness of life as it can only be found in the Risen Christ.

LANCASHIRE ASSOCIATION

The March monthly meeting of the Fylde Branch was arranged to coincide with the halfyearly meeting of the committee of the Association. The combined meetings had the pleasure of ringing together at St. Anne's Church, St. Anne's-on-Sea, an 8 -bell tower with a fine ring of bells and a commodious and wellappointed ringing chamber. The bells were kept going in various methods from 2.30 to 7.30 p.m. with an interval for tea.

Amongst ringers present were the president of the Association (the Rev. R. D. St. John Smith), the Hon. Secretary of the Association (Mr. F. Dunkerley) and the Fylde Branch Ringing Master (Mr. John Nevin). Thanks are due to the incumbent for the use of the bells and to the local ringers and some of their wives, namely: Mesdames W. H. ## A CYCLING HALF-DAY IN WORCESTERSHIRE

A band drawn from Aston and Handsworth (Birmingham), Little Aston, Shareshill, St. Luke's, Wolverhampton, and Lichfield Cathedral had a half-day's cycling tour of Worcestershire on March 30th.

The party met at St. Peter's Church, Cookley, where they found the bells somewhat noisy and the fifth and tenor 'odd struck.' The bells were cast by Mears and Stainbank in 1849 , but rehung by Charles Carr and Co. in 1895.

The six in the neighbouring village of Wolverley were also rehung by the same firm. They are a reasonable six to handle, and the ringing room somewhat reminiscent of a farm building with its whitewashed walls and large oak beams spanning the roof. The Italian-styled church is perched on a large sandstone rock.

After a meal at Bewdley, we ascended the Georgian tower of St. Anne's Church. A novelty was that instead of the common type of boxes, large sections of tree trunks have been adapted for the seventh and tenor. The bells, a good eight (tenor $16 \frac{1}{2} \mathrm{cwt}$.), are somewhat spoilt by a rocking tower.

The last tower of the day, St. Peter's, Upper Arley, are a good six originally cast by A. Rudhall in 1753, but rehung by Charles Carr and Co. in 1896. The Vicar made the party more than welcome and showed them features of the 800 -year-old church. Thanks are expressed to incumbents and local ringers who made us so welcome.

RIPLEY, DERBYS.-On Mar. 10th, 1,260 Grandsire Doubles: A. Marshall 1, F. Hill 2, P. Sewry 3. R. Stretto: (cond.) 4, J. Faulkner 5. For morning service.

SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD  Devizes Branch

Some 50 ringers, including visitors from Chippenham, Frome, Salisbury, Watford, Swindon, Nailsea, Clutton, Radstock, Leicester, Bournemouth and Milford-on-Sea, were attracted to the quarterly meeting of the Devizes Branch at Trowbridge. The Guild service was conducted by the Rector, who gave an inspiring address, and tea was served in the Co-op Hall.
The next three meetings were fixed for Chirton, West Lavington and Bradford (Christ Church). Ten new members were elected and also seven life ringing members. Votes of thanks were passed to the Rector for the use of the bells and for taking the service. Methods rung ranged from rounds on the 12 for the many young ringers there, to Stedman Cinques.

MORETON-IN-MARSH

Familiar to many ringers are the bells of Moreton-in-Marsh, Glos. The Parochial Church Council have entrusted the work of recasting the eight bells and rehanging them in a steel frame to Messrs. John Taylor, of Loughborough. The cost, including some necessary work to be done locally, will come to about $£ 1,700$.
This is a large sum for the parish to find, especially as it comes so soon after efforts with regard to the restoration and redecoration of the church. The generous help of all who love church bells is invited, and donations may be sent to the Rector or churchwardens or paid direct to the Manager of Lloyds Bank, Moreton-in-Marsh. Cheques should be made payable to ' Moreton Church Bells Fund.'

By a peal at Handsworth, Yorkshire. on March 30th, Mr. Norman Chaddock joined the very select band of resident members who have conducted 100 peals for the Yorkshire Association. Other members are Messrs. W Barton, P. Johnson, L. W. G. Morris, D. Smith and W. E. Critchley. This was Mrs. Chaddock's first peal of Stedman, and she rang it without making a single mistake.
The length of the peal of Bedfordshire rung at Warfield on March 16th was 5,024 , and not 5,040 as published.

Mr. A. H. Hutton, after 58 years of loyal service to Holy Trinity Cathedral tower, Guildford, has retired from active ringing and has accepted honorary membership of the tower.
The Editor thanks 'Joshua Entwhistle C.I.E.,' for his letter. It cannot be considered for publication without his correct name and address. He feels certain that 'Mr. Charles Melford ' and 'Mrs. Alma Haycock' will be disappointed.

Church bells were rung at Moreton Hampstead in the early hours of April 2nd when news reached the Dartmoor town that 15 -yearold David Wills had won the international schoolboy boxing championships in London the previous day.

Canon R. de C. Murley, Rector of Ludgvan, near Penzance, writes in this month's Penwith Deanery Magazine: 'The great news this month is that we have been promised the whole of the money estimated by Messrs. Taylor, of Loughborough.' This gift is from the two daughters of the late Andrew Lawrey, at one time churchwarden. The front five bells are to be recast, the tenor having been recast by the same firm in 1929. The bells are also to be generally rehung, and are at present being dismantled.

The peal rung at Christ Church, Macclesfield, on March 25 th was rung to celebrate various happenings amongst belfry members, all of which took place within a few days of each other. They were : the engagements of Pat Sellars to Roy Booth and Pamela Crowder to Donald Pearson; the 21 st birthdays of May Lomas, Edward Potts, John Greenwood and Barbara Booth; the silver wedding of Mr. and Mrs. John Worth.
Boxley was Mr. A. P. Cannon's 100th tower in Kent for a peal, and he informs us that he is the first ringer to reach this total in Kent. The peal was rung on April 6th.
The Guild of Clerical Ringers are holding their ringing week from April 29th to May 3 rd, with headquarters at the Kinbourn Hotel, Bristol. Twenty members have signified their desire to be present.
The ten bells of Bath Abbey have been taken down and are now at the Loughborough foundry to be retuned and rehung with all new fittings throughout. The work is estimated to be completed in the autumn

Mr. Peter Shipton, of St. Paul's, Bedford. who is doing his National Service in the R.A.F. (Medical Branch), would like to thank most sincerely all his ringing acquaintainces in Lancashire in the Manchester area, while 'square bashing' at Padgate, and in the Preston area while on medical training at Warton. He would like to record especially his gratitude for much advancement with his ringing to the Preston Parish Church band, led by Mr. Cyril Crosthwaite and Mr. E. Roger Martin. Finally, to all ringers in the Swindon, Wilts, District, particularly Mr. Eric Sutton and Christ Church, Swindon, band for their friendly welcome on his posting to R.A.F., Wroughton Hospital.

ERNEST C. S. TURNER: HIS LIFE AND PEALS

A Master in All Branches of Change Ringing

$\mathrm{B}^{\mathrm{r}}$Y the death of Ernest Charles Seymour Turner, the Exercise has lost one of its most able members. A brilliant composer and an excellent practical ringer and conductor, he was nevertheless a most modest man who could be made to talk of his prowess only with much persuasion. He was a truly Christian gentleman, as revealed during these last few years of ill health, when his patience and forbearance and his thought for others in spite of his own sufferings were most remarkable.

He was born on May 23rd, 1910, and lived most of his life in Ealing. He was educated at Ealing County School, and when he was 18 or so entered the firm of Maurice Thompson and Co., Incorporated Accountants. He remained with them for the rest of his life and became one of the partners. He was much respected and liked by his employees and clients alike. He was for some years treasurer of Ealing Chess Club and a keen player.

He married on August 1st, 1946, and continued to live at Ealing until some four years later, when he took up residence at Stanmore.

The carly days of his ringing career, his assocation with J. Armiger Trollope and its fruits, have already been dealt with by Wilfrid Wilson. Ernest was always interested in the Middlesex County Association and London Diocesan Guild, as was his mentor, and served it well. He was very delighted and proud when after his first peal as conductor-Bob Major on handbells-the District secretary, W. H. Hollier, presented him with a framed certificate of membership!

WORK FOR THE MIDDLESEX

Over the years, he occupied several offices in the Association. commencing as Master of the South and West District in 1932, and held this office again in 1936. He was a trustee since 1938, in which year he became assistant general secretary, when the new rules abolished the offices of joint general secretaries then held by C. T. Coles and F. W. Goodfellow. The former became the new general secretary. Upon Mr. Coles' retirement in 1945. Ernest was elected as general secretary, and he was happy to know that in spite of his health, the members wanted him to keep in office, which he did until death. After serving as an honorary member of the Central Council, he became an elected representative of the Association from 1948.

He was of the opinion that a knowledge of the theoretical side was essential if the maximum amount of enjoyment was to be derived from ringing, and he suggested that the Association should arrange a mid-wcek evening meeting from time to time for a discussion of theoretical matters. He put this into practice and gave several talks himself.
He was always most willing to help others to advance in the art, and he had a long list of the names of those ringers whom he had helped through their first peal.

His business and ringing took him about the country, and he made many friends in the various towers he visited. He became a member of many ringing associations and guilds, including St. Martin's Guild. Birmingham. Ely Diocesan Association, the Lincoln, Chester, Oxford Guildford and Truro Diocesan Guilds, the Hertford County, Surrey, Sussex. Essex. North Wales, Irish and North Staffordshire Associations, and the Ancient Society of College Youths.
Reference has already been made to some of Ernest's agtivities on the Central Council, to which her was elected an honorary member in 1934, hecoming a member of the Methods Committee immediately! He was also elected to the Standing Committee in 1939. He ceased to be a member of the Council in 1948 and the following year returned as an elected representative of the Middlesex County Association. He was re-elected to the Standing Committee in 1954.

AS A PEAL RINGER

The record of the peals rung on tower-bells and handbells by Ernest Turner are given below. They total 491 in all, of which 157 were rung on handbells, and altogether form a most impressive and unique collection. He was the first conductor to call his own composition of Spliced Surprise Major and to call Spliced Surprise Major in five methods from a non-observation bell. His performances on handbells were outstanding. Hear what his old friend Christopher Woolley has to say about this side of his ringing career:-
-I had the pleasure of ringing in well over 50 peals with him, nearly all of these being on handbells. Ernest was a really remarkable handbell ringer; he was most versatile and seemed equally at home in any method and on any pair, in spite of a rather excitable temperament. He handled his bells in a manner which was entitely his own, and could set an excellent beat. Although a first-class conductor, he was always happy to leave this to others.
' In December, 1945, he rang 5-6 to peals of Superlative and Cambridge in the course of an afternoon and evening; in the first of these the tenorman scored his first peal of Surprise Major " in hand." A fortnight later, with the same band, Ernest called a peal of Spliced Surprise in the four standard methods. Having called a similar peal in the tower the day before, he set out to call the same composition ; but when this would not go, there being too much Bristol, he decided to change the composition and, after a very few minutes' study, he called the peal. "Ernest had rung peals of spliced "in hand "prior to this, but I do not think he had ever conducted. The band had not practised it together before; the tenorman had rung little or no London Major and no Bristol. Apart from Harold Cashmore, no one else has yet called a peal of Spliced Surprise Major in hand.

- When he camo to live at Stanmore, Ernest quickly filled a vacancy in our Spliced Surprise band, which had then rung up to eight methods. It scemed a waste to put a man of his ability on any but an inside pair, so he was given $3-4$, on which he rang in peals in 9,12 , 14 and 16 methods. Through a slight error the first peal in 12 turned out to be false and had to be rung again. He also took part in silent peals of London and Cambridge.
'As a conductor he called peals in a variety of methods. He called Holt's Original a number of times; also the record peal of 13,664 Double Norwich. In May, 1939, he called Carter's Odd-bob peal of Stedman Triples from $5-6$, which was rung in the very quick time of 2 hours 9 minutes. It would be hard to imagine a carcer of more brilliant and outstanding achievement.'

Ernest's tower-bell peals were rung in 25 counties of England. Wales and Ireland in 120 towers. He rang peals at 34 Middlesex towers. His best years were those immediately preceding the last war, when he rang 119 peals between 1936 and 1939. He rang 40 of these in 1938, his biggest annual total. His last tower-beli peal was London Surprise Major, at Feltham on September 26th. 1953, and his last peal was Oxford Treble Bob Major on handbells, at Bushey Heath on September 11th, 1955.
He rang four peals, the compositions of which were later proved to be false. They were threc of Kent Treble Bob Major and one of Stedman Cinques.

PROTEST TO B.B.C.

Mrs. Ruth Miller, of Kirklington, Newark, Notts, has sent the following letter of protest to the B.B.C.:-

- Dear Sir,-I feel that I must write and complain about your everlasting commentaries whilst bells for service are being rung; an outstanding example of this took place on television from St. Giles', Northampton.
- Not only is it quite unnecessary-it could very easily be done before the commencement of the service-but it is extremely rude and in the worst possible taste to let the announcer go on iabbering away, so that neither he nor the bells can be heard properly.
'As the wife of a very talented ringer-and I say this in all sincerity-your present attitude towards bell ringing is deplorable and most infuriating.

Do you not realise that the art of ringing is one of our ancient customs, and I for one hate to hear it desecrated in this manner. It happens every time there is a service which is introduced by bells.
"Please, I implore you, have all announcements given out prior to the bells in future, so that we can relax and listen to the very beautiful music made by them
Could you imatine details being given out during an organ recitali or during the singing of an anthem?'

10th ANNIVERSARY OF FIRST HANDBELL PEAL OF ROYAL  Successful Repeat Performances

Ten years ago, on Sunday, March 30th, 1947, the first peal of Cambridge Surprise Royal on handbells was successfully rung at The Wayside, 150, Narborough Road South, Leicester, conducted by that eminent ringer, the late Harold J. Poole. It seemed very fitting that this great achievement should be celebrated in a like manner again this year.

Three of the original band (Jill Poole-now Mrs. P. J. Staniforth-Walter P. Whitehead and Alfred Ballard), together with Peter J. Staniforth and Terrence A. Thornber, began practising three weeks ago, and very quickly became in 'peal ringing form.' It was arranged that a start for the peal would be made at 1.45 p.m. on March 31st. Punctually to time, four of the band were waiting at The Wayside with crossed fingers, hoping that the fifth member was on his way. At 2 p.m. a telephone call informed us that he was still waiting some 12 miles away to be picked up! Luckily he had enough petrol to enable him to proceed 'under his own steam,' and eventually arrived at 2.25 p.m. No time was lost in procceding to the bedroom (where the first peal was rung), and all settled down to make a start.
'Go, Cambridge Royal' was called at 2,31 p.m. A very steady first course was rung in $11 \frac{1}{2}$ minutes, then a gradual speed-up to an average of 11 minutes per course. This beat was held throughout the peal and the striking was above reproach. Needless to say, there were no major trips and only very occasionally a slight misblow. To listen to Cambridge Royal being tapped like this was an cducation and a real pleasure. Every lead-end was religiously checked off by me and a check kept on the coursing order throughout. I also made a graph of the time taken for each course, which varied barely 30 seconds after the first 'warming up course.

After the last bob at 'Wrong,' a sigh of relief was heard as the bells came into the plain course, and the peal came back into rounds at exactly $5.5 \mathrm{p} . \mathrm{m}$. Congratulations were accorded to all on a first-class' peal, a worthy tribute to H. J. P., without whose groundwork and tuition it may not have been possible.

A total of nine peals of Cambridge Royal 'in hand' has now been rung, and to their credit all by the Leicester band, who have the added distinction of also ringing the only peal of Yorkshire Royal 'in hand.' Three of the company are the only ones who have completed Cambridge Surprise from Minor to Maximus, on both tower- and handbells. The tenth anniversary of the first (and only) peal of Cambridge Surprise Maximus 'in hand ' occurs on September 28 th this year. I wonder if there is a possibility of 'completing the double '?

Gratefal thanks are expressed to Mrs. Poole for entertaining us after the peal, a most enjoyable evening being spent (guess what) handbell ringing! A course of Cambridge Royal was rung for the benefit of the umpire to have a go, and a nice touch of Stedman Cinques. An attempt at tune-ringing 'four in hand' brought a most pleasant day to a close, reminiscent of the many happy days spent at The Wayside in years gone by.

JOHN A ACRES, Umpire.

OBITUARY

MR. H. E. FLEWELLING
The passing of Mr. Harold Ewart Flewelling, of Wootton Bassett, Wilts, on March 29th was a great shock to the local ringers. He had been in hospital for treatment, and to all appeared to be good for many years of service. He was 74 years of age.

His first connection with ringing was in 1911. Harry heard a peal of Grandsire Triples rung for the Coronation of George V. He approached me saying he would make an oak peal board to put on record this special peal if I would undertake to teach him the art of ringing. I took him on, and in 1914 he and his brother rang in the first local peal on the bells. conducted by myself.
He was a very keen ringer and also very good in theory, but being of a rather nervy temperament could not make full use of his knowledge; anyway, he rang six peals-Grandsire (3), Stedman, Plain Bob and Treble Bob. He was very proud of the Treble Bob peal, and it is recorded on a handsome board in the tower; also there is a board of the first peal of Superlative in the county of Wilts by a local band.
Altogethen he was with us off and on for 46 years. His only son, also a ringer, was killed in Italy in the last war, and he was anxious to do something for the Church in memory of his son. In 1950 the opportunity came, when he was responsible for the planning of the new ringing chamber. He was able to do the oak work from the old seats which had been removed from the church. From these he also made a chest for the Communion clothes, a chest of drawers and cupboards for the Vicar's vestments in the vestry, and several other jobs in the church. Thus he left ample evidence of his interest in the church, all without anything to show by whom it was done, leaving it all, as he used to tell me, in the hands of his Maker
I myself and fellow ringers have lost a good friend. Muffied peals were rung before and after the funeral service by his ringing friends from his own tower and Swindon. The service was conducted by the Vicar (Rev. John Goodman), assisted by Canon H. V. White, chairman of the Calne Branch of Ringers. May he rest in peace.

MR. J. G. POWELL

Hawkhurst, Kent, has lost an esteemed ringer of 37 years' service by the death recently in St. Mary Abbot's Hospital, Kensington, of Mr. James Geoffrey Powell, aged 52. A fencing contractor, he was taken ill while carrying out a contract in London, and died in hospital.
Mr. Powell started ringing in 1920 as a pupil of Mr. G. Billenness, of Hawkhurst, who always regarded him as the best pupil he ever had. His control of the bell was perfect, and he became a successful conductor. His peal book records 74 peals, but it is known that he rang over 80 . The last entry is a peal of Double Norwich Court Bob Major at Rotherfield, when he rang the tenor.

Most of his relatives are ringers. His wife, who died in 1955, was a ringer; his daughter, Anne, aged 19, has rung one peal. His son-in-law, Mr. D. Cocking, rings at Hawkhurst, and his two brothers-in-law. Messrs. T. Field and J. Field, at Pevensey, Sussex.
The bells of Hawkhurst Parish Church were rung half-muffled on Sunday, April 7th, and the funeral took place at All Saints' Church, Hawkhurst, the following day. The Vicar (Rev. A. S. M. Leese) to the large congregation referred to 'Jim s' activities in the church and parish. He was a parochial church councillor, a sidesman and cadet superintendent for the area of the St. John Ambulance Brigade (and members and cadets of St. John formed a guard of honour on either side of the church path). There were 32 floral tributes.
In the evening the beils of the Parish Church were rung half-muffled to Stedman Triples by R. E. and R. T. Lambert (Horsmonden), J Brown (Benenden), C. Tester (Brenchley), W Gorringe (conductor), L. W. Jarvis, A. H Kemp and E. Baker (Hawkhurst).

THE LATE MR. FREDERICK E. WILSON

The bells of St. John-the-Divine, Leicester, were rung half-muffled before and after Evensong on Sunday. April 7th, as a tribute of respect to Mr. F. E. Wilson, whose name appears on one of the peal tablets dedicated at the service.
This provided an opportunity for many to pay their tribute to one who was greatly loved and respected. A large number of ringers were present for the after-service ringing. S. H.

SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD  Dorchester Branch

Some 30 members attended the spring meeting of the Dorchester Branch at Maiden Newton, whare they were welcomed by the Rector (Canon D. F. Slemeck), who conducted the service and gave an impressive address. The Branch chairman (Rev. S. P. Rowcroft) read the lesson.

Tea was served in the School by Mrs. Bishop and her lady helpers. At the business meeting a letter of thanks was read from Canon Markby for the presentation of a garden seat. Master Gerald Cornick, of Preston, was elected a member.

It was regretted that following the annual meeting no experienced ringer was present at Fordington St. George, and no tuition for learners was possible. Mr. A. J. Slade, deputy Ringing Master, explained that there was no surplus of ringers at St. Peter's on that occasion, but promised some improvement, if possible, at future meetings.

Branch practices arranged were Abbotsbury, April 20th; St. Peter's, Dorchester, May 4th; Upwey, May 25 th; Milton Abbey, June 1st; and Bradford Peverell, June 15th. The next Branch meeting will be held early in June at Wool, and the Guild annual festival at Salisbury on May 18th. A warm welcome was accorded the Rev. A. F. and Mrs. Godley on their return from Kenya.
Cattistock and Frampton bells, as well as those of Maiden Newton, were available in the evening. Methods up to Kent and Oxford T.B Minor were rung, under the direction of Messrs. J. W. Rose and A. J. Slade.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

A FOUR-BELL TOWER EXPERIENCE

Dear Sir,-The present correspondence in The Ringing World' with regard to 4-bell towers prompts me to record my only visit to such a tower, and the telling, I am afraid, does not throw a lot of credit on some members of the Exercise.

Some two or threc years ago one of our ringers was married at a somewhat remote village church in the south of England, and my son and I were guests at the ceremony.

We found on arrival at the church that there were four bells in the tower rung from the ground floor, and on inspection we noticed that the rope of the third was broken off just under the sally, and the bell apparently set at back stroke with the sally up in the rope guide. As we were then awaiting the arrival of the bride we could do nothing about the set up bell but, through his verger who was present, we asked the Rector if we might chime the three bells which were left.
The Rector was extremely dubious about letting us touch the bells for he said a party of ringers had borrowed his bells a week or two before and that not only were they unable to handle them properly but, what was worse. the third rope broke and they all went away leaving the bell set up at back stroke. Those visiting ringers excused their bad ringing by saying the draught was too long and the bells were too light for them. They do not seem to have offered any excuse for going away and leaving the bell with the broken rope still set up.

The verger was an old man and incapable, he said, of climbing the somewhat fearsomelooking perpendicular iron ladder in the corner of the tower which gave access to the bell chamber. We told the Rector, of course, that if he had a ladder long enough to reach the rope guides we would get the bell down without the necessity of climbing to the chamber.

We also managed to convince him that we wero quite capable of ringing his bells and, accepting our assurances, and in spite of his previous experience of visiting ringers, he very kindly allowed us to chime the $1,2,4$ as the bride and bridegroom left the church.

After the wedding and while the photographer was busy in the churchyard, we got a ladder from the adjoining Rectory garden, tied a fresh tail-end to the broken rope and lowered the bell. Incidentally, we rang the 1-2-4 up and to us all the bells went perfectly. My son, if I remember correctly, set the tenor after ringing it up, but we did not try to set either the treble or the second fearing that they might be minus their stays and. as a coach was waiting to take us to the wedding reception some miles away, we should have had no time to disentangle ropes or rethread them through the guides had one of the bells gone over.
Thus were we able, we hope, to erase the bad impression left by the previous tyros and leave the Rector and his verger with happier memories of visiting ringers than they previously had had. I might add that the 4-bell tower referred to is not among those which so far have been mentioned in 'The Ringing World.'-Yours, etc.

IN EAST ANGLIA

Dear Sir,-Little Bromley, Essex. and Stowlangtoft. Suffolk, both have four bells in ringing order, tenors probably about 7 to 8 cwt . I have heard that there is a ringable four at Iken, Suffolk, but have no personal knowledge.Yours, etc.,
U. W. WILDNEY.

We are also told that 'Double Norwich Court Bob Major' is produced by adding 'Shipway's Court' and 'Lavenham Court' (the reverse of 'Shipway's Court '), and not, therefore, by extending 'Double Court Minor' to Major.-Yours faithfully,
S. CEDRIC MURPHY.

Eastleigh, Hants.

THE PLOT THICKENS

Dear Sir, I think your readers would have been told who rang Liverpool Cathedral tenor to the course of Cambridge long ago if anyone could have remembered who the rest of the band were, which would be only fair. Out of many ringers present, eight came forward, and nothing much was thought of it at the time. The stay breaking had nothing to do with it, having occurred previously in what was to have been a course of Caters.

The course of Cambridge Major was rung, and the tenor man got his backstrokes in the right place. If anyone will name the ringers of the front threc bells, I can name the back five.-Yours, ete.,
P. LAFLIN.

Stockport.

PALM SUNDAY

Dear Sir,-Regarding the letter by Mr. Roberts, I am sorry to read his suggestion that ringing on Palm Sunday should be muffled. Firstly, of course, Palm Sunday is not in Lent as there are 40 days in Lent, apart from the Sundays in that season, which are set apart for rejoicing and praising God.

Palm Sunday is no exception, indeed it was the day that our Lord was welcomed in Jerusalem with palms and great rejoicing.

If we were to muffle the bells would we not be like the Pharisees who, rebuking the multitude, were themselves rebuked by our Lord, saying: "If these should hold their peace, the stones would immediately cry out'?-Yours faithfully,

DEREK G. ASTRIDGE.

Ashtead, Surrey.

ALL GAUL

Dear Sir,-Having somewhat fading memoies of 'De Bello Gallico.' I trust the composition of the quarter peal in commemoration of Julius Cæsar's death, recently rung at Cambridge, was 'divided into three parts.'-Yours faithfully,
E. A. B.

Crayford, Kent.

NOT ACCORDING TO SNOWDON

Dear Sir, -I do not know what authority Mr. William Hall has for his statement that the word 'Bob' in "Plain Bob' indicates that the treble has a plain hunting path, but this does not seem logical to me, and certainly does not agree with Snowdon's 'Standard Methods,' in which all the methods where the treble has such a path are given under the headings of Plain Methods (on six, seven or eight bells), while those in which the treble dodges continuously are shown under the heading of Treble Bob Methods.

The dropping of the word 'Plain' leads to difficulty when one wishes to refer to the method generally, regardless of the number of bells.-Yours faithfully,
G. A. PECK.

SOMERSET FOUR-BELL TOWERS

Dear Sir,-Apparently still the best way to find out the true facts is to write to "The Ringing World' and wait to be corrected! Since writing, I have been corrected on the true state of the bells at Brompton Ralph and East Quantoxhead. Happily, it seems, both of these rings are able to be rung.

With regard to the latter. I had a ketter only 24 hours after the 'R.W. was delivered! The bells have been rung all the winter and the tower now has four learners.- Yours sincerely,
R. SHORT.

The ring of eight bells of Holy Trinity, Street, are under repair by Mears and Stainbank, of London. The headstocks and fittings have been sent to the foundry. The bells will be overhauled and rehung on ball-bearings and a rope guide will also be fitted to overcome the long draught.

A FEW ROUNDS FOR BEGINNERS

'WVEL, anyway, Beryl, you know what men are like when they've made their minds up, though there was a smashing film about Death and Romance in Mexico on at the Ritz. So when Frederick wanted me to go to this meeting I wasn't too keen, but I thought "Anything for a quiet life," only I was a bit scared, you know, because it's not as if I've done anything much, only ring rounds a bit and bump the tenor for them sometimes, and I have hunted the treble to Grandsire (that's some of our technical terms, dear; you wouldn't understand if I explained).
'So Saturday lunchtime Frederick came for me in the car-and where he gets the petrol from I'm sure I don't know; he's very cagey about it-and Mum was a bit stiff with him at the door; and he said as we were driving down the road: "I wish your mother wouldn't stand at the door and shout to you to be sure and get back early-all the neighbours will think she doesn't trust me to look after you." So I said: "Please don't pass remarks about my mother," and he sulked for a bit: but I will say for Frederick, he doesn't bear malice long, and he was quite all right again when we got to where the meeting was.
' It was quite different from our belfry; it had nice broad stone steps, and the ringing chamber was much bigger, and the bells sounded different, too, but I expect that was because there were eight, not six like ours. There were more people there, too, and a man telling everyone what to do: I suppose he was the foreman there, rather nicelooking, but older and fatter than Frederick. Well, I got stuck in a corner, and I couldn't see Frederick anywhere, and then the man said: "Let's have some rounds first," and I thought, " Well, I can do that, anyway "; and when I looked there was only one bell left, and it had a box behind it, so I got on the box and caught hold of the rope, and the man said: "That's the tenor, my dear. Are you sure you can manage her-she sets rather deep? "; and I said: "Oh, yes, I've often rung the tenor at home."

There was a little boy on the treble, and he shouted: "Treble's going, she's gone!", and I pulled, and Beryl, dear, I could have died-I couldn't move the silly thing! I tugged away at it, and the other bells went round without me several times; and then I saw Frederick sitting down with his head in his hands, and I was going to call him to come and help but the man in charge took my rope from me and told me to go and sit down. So I went and sat by Frederick, and all he would say was "There's a bit of difference between 4 cwt . and 24 cwt .", and put his head back in his hands again. So I went into the churchyard and walked about for a bit.
'After ringing, they had tea, and the man who took the rope from me came and sat by me, while Frederick had gone to get me another cup of tea, and he said: "Don't let it worry you, my dear, but mind and ask the weight of a tenor in a strange tower before you ring it "; and he asked me how long I'd been ringing and said I ought to get on well, and patted my hand and started eating Frederick's sandwiches. We were having quite a nice chat, when Frederick came back looking as black as thunder, and he said: "I didn't say anything when you left me out of that peal of Royal, Bert, but swiping my sandwiches and holding my young lady's hand is quite another thing!" And the room got as quiet as quiet; honestly, it reminded me of that poem I learnt for prize day about the Burial of Sir John Moore, and I thought they were going to take their coats off to one another, but a fat man came up and patted them both on the back, and said: "Now, lads, we can't have the two best ringers in the county at odds like this. Think of the Exercise!" So then they shook hands, and Bert asked Frederick to stand in a peal of something next Saturday, and Frederick offered him a sandwich, and they were quite friendly for a bit; in fact, when Frederick found that the back lights had gone on the car, Bert offered to run us both home, and he dropped Frederick first, and Mum was at the door, looking out for me; and what with one thing and another, Beryl, I'm afraid she's getting wrong ideas about ringing altogether.' ## THE IRISH ASSOCIATION

Over 80 ringers attended the annual meeting of the Southern District of the Irish Association at Limerick on March 18th. Officers elected were: District chairman, Mr. C. W. Galbraith; District Ringing Master, Mr. G. H. Ellis; District sec.etary and treasurer, Mr. G. Bingham; assistant secretary, Mr. P. Hanly. Doneraile was selected for the 1958 meeting and Cherry Cup competition.

Seven teams competed in the Cherry Cup contest for best striking, the judges being Mrs. McCormack, Messrs. D. Benson and F. E. Dukes. Winners were Mount St. Alphonsus 'A' with 20 faults, the perfect open handstroke lead and the excellent rhythm being a delight to listen to. Second were St. Mary's, Limerick, with 47 faults. Other teams competing were Mount St. Alphonsus ' B,' Doneraile, Ballymodan, Cork and Kilkenny. The Mayoress of Limerick (Mrs. Russell) presented the Cherry Cup to Mr. L. Benson for the winners and the attendance shield to Mount St. Alphonsus, Ballymodan and Drogheda each having received 100 per cent. attendance (a full turn out for each Sunday and Christmas Day throughout the year. Eighteen new members were elected and presented with membership certificates.

Unfortunately, a gloom overcame the proceedings due to an accident on the previous day to the Spiritual Director of the Confraternity (Rev. Father Russell), who succumbed later in the day, but by special wishes the proceedings were continued. At the funeral service and at all services during the week the bells were rung half-muffled by the ringers of Mount St. Alphonsus as a token of respect to a much-loved friend

SWANSEA AND BRECON GUILD

The meeting of the Northern section at St. David's. Brecon, on April 6th was very successful, with some 50 ringers attending. The Rev. C. E. Jones conducted the service, and the address was given by the Vicar (Rev. D. Wilkinson).

At the business meeting, which followed a very fine tea provided by the ladies of the parish, the Vicar presided.

It was with regret that the company heard that through ill health Mr. Ralph Evans Sparkes, now 69, of Builth Wells; had to give up ringing after 52 years as a ringer and as captain of St. Mary's, Builth Wells. Mr. Sparkes started ringing in 1904 when the bells of St. Mary's were recast and rehung. His father, two brothers and a sister were ringers and he learnt the art of change-ringing from the late Mr. T. J. Dickson, at St. Gwendoline's Church, Talgarth. Mr. Sparkes had rung in nine peals, including the longest peal in Wales rung at St. Peter's, Glasbury. He is a life member of the Hereford Guild, apart from a long association with the Swansea and Brecon Guild. The secretary was instructed to send a letter thanking him for his past services to the Guild.

The vote of thanks to the Vicar and ladies who prepared tea was moved by Mr. A. House and seconded by Mr. O. King, and a collection for the iestoration fund amounted to $£ 110 \mathrm{~s} .6 \mathrm{~d}$. Ringing afterwards took place at St. David's and St. Mary's Churches.

STAGSDEN, BEDS.-On Mar. 30th, 1,380 Minor (720 Kent Treble Bob, 660 Bob): P. Newing 1, Angela Grainger 2, Phyllis M. Gray 3, Ann Fundrey 4, J. B. Long 5, R. G. Corby (cond.) 6.

A SOUTH OXFORDSHIRE WEDDING

The wedding of Mr. George J. Hearns and Miss Lucy L. Slade took place in the Chapel at Stoke Row, near Henley-on-Thames, on April 6th.

Mr. Hearn is foreman of the tower at Checkendon, and his bride also rings. There were over 50 guests, including all the local ringers. Before and after the ceremony handbells were rung at the Chapel door by E. L. Baughan 1-2, M. L. Baughan 3-4, P. Dyke 5-6.
The bride, who was given away by her brother, Mr. John Slade, wore white with a full-length veil, and her two bridesmaids, Miss Julie Brown and Miss Ann Winfield, were in pale blue The best man was Mr. William Slade, also a brother of the bride.
The happy couple are quite well known in the district, and among the telegrams received was one from an absent local ringer, Mr. Roger Green, now serving in the Navy.
Further handbell ringing then took place, in which the bridegroom participated, and later a quarter peal of Grandsire Doubles (reported elsewhere) was rung at Checkendon by the local band to mark the occasion.

KIRBY BELLARS, LEICS.-On Mar. 30th, 1,260 Doubles ( 240 each St. Simon's and Bob, 780 Grandsire) : Miss C. Wheeler 1, D. Morris 2. J. H. Cook (cond.) 3, E. J. Jelley 4, J. M. Jelley 5. Rung as a wedding compliment to Mr . Peter John Rippin and Miss Maisle Burton.

In April, 1945, Mr. Cheney, of South Wigston, Leicester, had the pleasure of tolling the bells of Bethlehem. It has come to light that Mr. H. Gorton, of the Lancashire Association, had a similar pleasure in February, 1918, whilst he was stationed near there with the 3rd Battalion Light Armoured Car Brigade. Mr. Gorton has bcen a ringer for 53 years, and his father before him was a ringer for 66 years. No doubt Mr. Cheney could contact Mr. Gorton, who lives at 152, Deane Road, Bolton, when probably each would be able to pass interesting news.

The peal of Cambridge Surprise at Helmingham was L. G. Brett's 100 th on the bells. He has also completed his century at Framsden. Congratulations to Ernest L. Bailey for the superb way he rang throughout, being 76 years young. The Leiston rhythm is still maintained.

With a view to stimulating local interest in ringing and with the object of getting recruits for the belfry of St. Mary Magdalene, Holloway, Mr. Richard Newman writes in the parish magazine an interesting article on bells and ringing. The new Vicar (Rev. R. E. Simpson) takes an interest in his bells and the few survivors of the Sunday service band of recent years.

The first of an experimental series of combined practices was held at St. Martin's, Epsom, on April 8th. The local captain (Mr. E. J. Lindley) was in charge, and 20 ringers from six towers attended. Touches were arranged in groups of three-rounds, Grandsire and a more advanced method. These included Stedman Caters, Double Norwich and Kent. The bells were kept going steadily and an enjoyable evening was spent.

GOSSIP

 From Northampton we have received a quarter peal card of a 'performance' in the following ' methods ': Graveside Symphony, Clockwinders' Jingles, Churchyard Bob, Queen's Variations and Wayside Charm, supposed to have been rung on April 7th for evening service at St. Edmund's Church. The so-called methods tell their own story.Definition.-A campanologist is a camper who sleeps in a bell tent!

The ringer of the fourth in the peal rung at Gressenhall on March 15th (page 212) was Samuel H. Waterfield, and not as published.
Philip Walker, aged 14, is the youngest to ring Rotherham tenor ( $34 \frac{3}{4} \mathrm{cwt}$.) to a quarter peal. This was accomplished on April 14th.

The quarter peal at Finchley is forwarded to remind Mr. "Bill" Norton that the band are still going strong. -Best wishes, Bill-from the old 'uns.'

Two Norfolk ringers, Mrs. Joyce Callaby, of Scarning, formerly of Gressenhall, and Mr. Frederick Shingfield, captuin of the Rockland, All Saints'; band, are recovering from prolonged illnesses. To both we offer our best wishes for a speedy recovery.

Mr. E. Bradfield. of Sandon, Herts, climbs the 44 steps at Baldock for practice every Wednesday night at the age of 81 . At the beginning of the century he was ringing at Bury St. Edmunds, and did not do any ringing for a long time after coming to Hertfordshire. A District meeting was held at Sandon five years ago and revived his interest. On June 1st an outing will take him, all being well, back to his old home town.

KENT ANNUAL MEETING AT SEVENOAKS

MAIDSTONE BELLS TO BE RECAST

SEVENOAKS proved to be a popular meeting place for the annual meeting of the Kent County Association on Easter Monday, and upwards of 200 members were present. The last visit of the Association to Sevenoaks was in 1924.
The service was conducted by the Rector (the Rev. E. M. T. McLellan) and the lesson read by Mr. B. Collison, of Tunbridge Wells. The importance of a controlled life in Christ was stressed by the Rector in his address, and he took as a simile a bell under perfect control being rung. The collection was devoted to the roof repair fund of Sevenoaks Parish Church and amounted to $£ 78 \mathrm{~s}$. 3 d .

Mr. John Willis (vice-president) presided at the luncheon held at Bligh's Hotel. Guests included Miss Parrott, vice-chairman of Sevenoaks Urban Council, the Archdeacon of Tonbridge (the Ven. E. E. Maples Earle) and the Rector of Sevenoaks. At the request of the chairman they all extended their greetings to the Association.
Mr. John Willis was also in the chair for the business meeting, and he was supported by Dr. E. S. J. Hatcher (hon. general secretary), Mr. B. W. May (hon. treasurer), Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Barnett and Mr. G. H. Spice.

Apologies were received froni Mr, F. M. Mitchell, Mr. E. H. Lewis (who was in Scotland), Mr. Bert Luck and Mr. Mark Lancefield (peal secretary)

THE ANNUAL REPORT

The annual report stated two events characterised 1956-the retirement of Mr. F. M. Mitchell and having their president in person at the Association dinner. The work of Mr. Mitchell as hon. secretary and treasurer for 17 years, and later as treasurer, was recalled, and the presence of Dr. Fisher at the annual dinner, which was only the second time that the presidential duties had been discharged by the Archbishop himself, the other being at the golden jubilee meeting in 1930. Dr. Fisher did so with an eager friendliness and with an obvious love for bells and ringers.
Membership. - In 1956, 1,051 practising members paid their subscriptions, a net loss of four. As 183 new members were elected this represented a real loss of 187 , being a broad measure of 'wastage.' New members were elected as follows: Ashford District, 26 adults and 5 juniors; Canterbury 20 and 17, Lewisham 28 and 7. Maidstone 19 and 17, Rochester 17 and 4, Tonbridge 9 and 14. During the year Burmarsh, Little Chart, Cudham and Stoneham were added to the list of affiliated towers, and Great Chart, Ruckinge, Herne, Penge, Hollingbourne and Hunton deleted.
Deatis.-Since the last report the following members had died: F. Crook (Folkestone). A. C. Philpott (Canterbury), J. Walker (Whitstable, formerly Wickhambreaux), I. Emery and E. Horton (Bromley), G. D. Daynes (Deptford), H. Brasher (Lee), J. R. Homewood (Aylesford), W. Manser (Barming), D. T. Hill and S. Shellock (Chatham), W. Leigh (Edenbridge) and G. Edwards (Penshurst). A former committee member until he left the county, Mr. Stafford H. Green died at Tiverton; another old member, W. Shimmans, recently died at Sidcup. He was one of the distinguished Greenwich band at the turn of the century.

Non-resident members who died in 1956 were Benjamin A. Knights (Chesterfield). C. C. Mayne (Harrow), L. C. Wightman (Framsden). J. C. Mitchell (St. Albans) and J. W. Jones (Newport).
Members stood in silence to their memory.
Presenting the report. Dr. Hatcher mentioned that Mr. Waddington had collected for publication in the printed report details of long touches rung for Sunday services. The qualifying length was 720 changes. They had no longer any membership certificates left and he suggested and the general committee approved that members be invited to submit a new design. They welcomed Mr. B. W. May as hon. treasurer and Mr. Mitchell had been made a vice-president.

The report was adopted on the proposition of Mr. Collison, seconded by Mr. Walter Dobbie.

HEALTHY FINANCES

The income and expenditure account showed a balance of $£ 14318 \mathrm{~s}$. 9d. (against $£ 1403 \mathrm{~s}$.); the Belfry Repair Fund $£ 199$ against $£ 172$ $6 s$. 9d., the only grant during the year being $£ 5$ to St. Mary's, Bexley) ; the Tenterden Bellrope Fund $£ 75 \mathrm{~s} .9 \mathrm{~d}$. ( $£ 5$ 19s. 3d.); the Benevolent Fund $£ 189$ 19s. 8d. ( $£ 167$ 9s. 7d.). Total assets of the Association at purchase price were $£ 1,3275 \mathrm{~s} .2 \mathrm{~d}$. Mr. Arthur Richards proposed and Mr. R. Sells seconded the adoption of the report.

The hon. auditor (Mr. W. L. Rayner) called attention to the cost of the printed reports in the annual accounts. Last year the reports cost $£ 90$ and they received back only $£ 17$, he said.
The chairman said each copy of the report cost 3 s . 6 d , to produce and was sold for 2 s .
The report of the peal secretary (Mr. Mark S. Lancefield) stated that 116 peals were recorded during 1956, seven more than the previous year. Thirty members rang their first peal, 14 more than the previous year. There were 39 conductors, six more than in 1955, including two 'first as conductor.'

The peals included the first for the Association in Doubles in 13 methods, Dorchester Surprise Major, Fordcombe Surprise Major and Spliced Surprise Major in nine methods. In addition to the peals rung for the Association the following were rung in the county by other Associations: Society of Royal Cumberland Youths, two ; Universities Association and East Grinstead and District Guild, one each. The report was adopted on the proposition of Mr. J. R. Cooper, seconded by Mr. Macey.

ELECTION OF OFFICERS

After the president and vice-presidents had been re-clected, the chairman moved that Mr. E. A. Barnett, secretary of the Central Council, be invited to become a vice-president. Dr. Hatcher seconded and the motion was carried with acclamation. Accepting the honour, Mr . Barnett said he felt very proud to be elected to the office.
Other officers re-elected and thanked for their past services were: Hon. secretary, Dr. E. S. J. Hatcher: hon. treasurer. Mr. B. W. May; trustecs-Messrs. F. S. Macey, G. H. Spice and trustecs-Messrs. F. S. Macey, G. H. Spice and
J. Willis; hon. auditor. Mr. W. L. Rayner. Mr. Tom Cullingworth was elected peal secretary in place of Mr. Mark Lancefield. In thanking Mr. Lancefield for his services, Dr. Hatcher said: 'A more conscientious peal secretary one could never have.'

Messrs. E. Barnett, G. J. Butcher, W. L. Rayner and J. A. Russell were elected to the general committee.
There were five nominations for four vacancies on the Central Council-Messrs. J. R. Cooper. T. Cullingworth, Dr. Hatcher, T. E. Sone and J. Willis. Mr. Willis withdrew his nomination because of the illness of Mrs. Willis and the difficulty of attending meetings. He promised, however, to complete the work he was doing for the Biographies Committec. The members expressed regret at hearing of Mr. S. Willis' indisposition, and expressed their hopes for a speedy recovery. The other four nominees were then elected.

PEAL BOOKING FEE ADJOURNED
A keen debate followed a motion of the general committee that a peal booking fee of 6 d . bo payable by each ringer taking part in a peal, the responsibility for collection being with the conductor.

The chairman said the necessity for the motion was largely brought about by the fact that for years the printing of peals in their annual report in the form dating from the early 1700 's was a very costly business. A charge of 6 d . a ringer for peals would bring in $£ 20$ to £25.
Opposition was particularly strong from the Tonbridge District, who had not supported the motion. Mr. Peter Bond said he could see no reason for the fee as they were one of the richest Associations in the country.
The hon. treasurer replied that the balance on the general account did not present a true picture, as he had since the account was drawn up paid $£ 17$ to 'The Ringing World for notices. Without a surplus on the general account they would not be able to help the Benevolent Fund or the Belfry Fund.
A mernber declared that if the motion was passed there would be no peals rung at Northfleet for the K.B.A.

Mr. Collison asked what would happen if only two who rang in a peal paid the booking fee. Would the other six bells have blank names against them in the annual report?

Mr. Knight commented that sixpence for an afternoon's pleasure was not much; it would not be dear at 1 s . with another 6d. for 'The Ringing World.
Eventually, on the proposition of Mr. Bond, seconded by Mr. Ladd, the matter was referred to the general committee.
Mr. G. H. Spice, former hon. general secretary, congratulated Dr. Hatcher on having the printed report available for the annual meeting and on its attractiveness.

A NEW CERTIFICATE

Dr. Hatcher, reporting on the decision to have a new membership certificate, invited members to submit designs in time for the November committee meeting.

The chairman said there were three dioceses in the area of the Association, and he suggested that the three cathedrals should be incorporated in the design. When he received his certificate the general secretary dated it 1996 instead of 1896.

MAIDSTONE BELLS

The general secretary reported that the bells of All Saints', Maidstone. were to be recast and a stecl frame provided. The Mayor had launched an appeal and $£ 3.500$ had been raised. The contract had been placed with Messrs. John Taylor and Co., and it was hoped to have the job completed by All Saints' Day. The general committee had voted $£ 20$ towards the cost.

AN ANNUAL DINNER

Mr. B. Collison questioned the recommendadation of the general committee not to hold an Association dinner in 1957.

Dr. Hatcher replied that it was felt by the general committee to be a bad thing to get into the routine of holding annual dinners. If an annual dinner was wanted it should be arranged by the District in which it was held.
Mr. Collison thought it was rather a dictatorial attitude on the part of the general committec to say that a dinner be not held. He moved that a dinner be held, and this was carried by the meeting.
The principle was afterwards accepted that the dinner should be held annually in the district where the annual meeting was held. The arrangements for the 1957 dinner were left to Miss Colgate, of the Tonbridge District.

The thanks of the gathering to all who had contributed to the success of the meeting, with a special vote of thanks to Miss Colgate, concluded the function.

THE BELLS OF CASTON, NORFOLK

TIWO hundred years ago, on March 10th, 11757, six bells rang out for the first time from Caston tower. We learn of this from a notice in the 'Norwich Mercury ' dated March 5th, 1757, and inserted by Roger Tallbot, the landlord of the Red Lion (see 'R.W.', Nov. 23rd, 1956, p. 747), to the effect that he was providing a dinner for the occasion. There was undoubtedly great excitement in the village that day with visiting ringers in the tower, Mr. Tallbot serving dinner in the Red Lion, and, on the green separating church from public house, the village folk gossiping as they listencd to their new bells.

The tower had housed bells prior to 1757, but all that is known is that in 1553 there were three and that from 1706 to 1756 there were five.

For the back five of the new ring Caston was a second home. Prior to 1553 and until 1726 there had been a ring of three at West Harling, but in 1726 Joshua Draper, a parishioner, 'had them new runned' (recast) and added two new ones. It is not known who did this work for there is nothing on the bells and at Caston no churchwardens' accounts exist. The old third had borne the inscription 'Virgo coronata due nos ad regna beata, an inscription used by 15 th century Norwich founders, and thus suggesting that some of the metal now at Caston came from Norwich.

By 1756 West Harling tower had proved itself unable to support the weight of its new ring, and the parishioners obtained a faculty to dismantle the tower and spire and sell four of the five bells. However, all five were purchased by Joseph Mallos, an East Dereham founder, who added a treble and hung them at Caston.

By 1907 the second had become cracked and was recast by Warners, and together with the other five, which were also quarter-turned, was rehung by Day, of Eye. Minor repairs, which included through bolting the treble and strengthening the frame, were carried out by Bowell, of Ipswich, in 1932.
Weight and inscriptions of the present ring are as follows:-

Treble.-Joseph Mallos of East Dereham, Fecit 1756; 3 cwt. 2 qr.
Second.-Cast by John Warner & Sons, London. In Longum Aevum Resonemus Laudes. Joshuae Draper Qui Dono Dedit Ann Dom 1726. Day Eye Hung Us. Recast 1907, Walter H. Partridge, Rector: 3 cwt 3 qr. 18 lb .
Third-In Longum Aevum Resonemus Laudes. Joshuae Draper Qui Dono DEDit AnN Dom 1726; 4 cwt 1 qr .17 lb.
Fourth.-Ditto; 5 cwt. 1 qr. 26 lb .
Fifth-Ditto; 6 cwt. 3 qr .14 lb .
Tenor.-Ditto; 8 cwt. 3 qr. 21 lb .
Several attempts have been made to form a change-ringing band. The carliest of these were described by the late Mr. E. J. Banham, father of the present tower captain, in an account written in 1909. Referring to the purchase of a new set of handbells in 1867-68, he wrote that although the old set did not belong to the church ' those who formed the company for one have also manipulated the other. The primary purpose ... of the handbells was as the ringers were in the habit of ringing the church bells periodically and receiving no remuneration, it was thought if a set of handbells were obtained, and the residences of some of the influential persons visited they would perhaps contribute something for their services rendered in the church tower. Secondly they might become more efficient before trying their work on the church bells for the public to hear.'

Mr. Banham named those who owned shares in 1867-68 and gave complete details of the way in which the shares changed hands. (During the last war the bells were placed in a sale to help the war effort and were bought eventually by the Church for about $£ 3$. They number 15 and are in a poor condition and repairs, including some recasting, would now cost $£ 30$.)
There follows a description of the band's achievements:-

Previous to 1875 they rang 5-bell work with the tenor behind; from 1875 to 1899 they rang a course . . from that time to the present they have only rung rounds with slight changes, but they are desirous of improving their work and have restarted the old course of 6 -bell work.' Describing the band's method of learning as useless, the account concludes: 'It would be a great advantage if we could secure a competent man to give a proper system under which to work. The great drawback is, as frequently happens, as soon as a company gets in working order some of it removes from the parish. This disadvantage would be reduced to a minimum if they were educated, as they would then be able to take their place among the company to where they removed, and by other parishes doing the same we might from time to time benefit.

Betwcen 1909 and 1945 several unsuccessful attempts were made to form a band, but in 1946 when Mr. C. E. G. Banham returned from the war. he set to work and to date has taught 18 people to handle. Of these, six are still ringers.

Fourteen peals have been recorded on the bells. The first, of Bob Minor, was rung by a visiting band in 1912, and the remainder, all of Minor, have been rung since 1946 in from one to eight methods. Unfortunately, an attempt made on the 200th anniversary of the opening came to grief after 70 minutes' ringing because of a shift. The important thing was that the day had not passed unnoticed.

JOHN S. BARNES.

BISHOP DEDICATES PEAL BOARDS

After a Confirmation service at St. Margaret's Church. Dunham Massey, on April 5th, the Bishop of Chester proceeded to the ringing room and there dedicated two peal boards on which are recorded the two peals which have been rung on these bells. The first was in 1875 and the second 80 years later, and was rung for the enthronement of the Lord Bishop.

After the dedication ceremony, which was attended by the local band and friends from the neighbouring tower of Bowdon, the Bishop said he was very pleased to be able to carry out the dedication since it was exactly two years that day that he became Bishop of Chester at a service of Confirmation in York Minster

Before leaving the tower the Bishop took part in rounds on the ten bells, and thus added a further tower to the list of those in his diocese in which he has rung.

KENT COUNTY ASSOCHATON
Members of the Ashford District met at Wye on March 30th. The service was conducted by the Vicar (Rev. A. E. Pearce), who welcomed the congregation to his beautiful old church with its fine ring of eight bells. Mr. W. P. Garner was at the organ, a position he has so often and so ably filled, and the lesson was read by Mr. Alan Berry.

About 40 people sat down to a generous tea, provided by the Wye ringers and friends. The Vicar was in the chair at the short business meeting which followed when two new members were elected. Tribute was paid in the traditional manner to the memory of Mr . Charles Tribe, one-time secretary of the District. On behalf of the meeting, Mr. T. Cullingworth thanked all those who had helped to make the gathering such a happy one.

Courses of Bob Major and Grandsire Caters were rung on handbells. Ringing in the spacious and well-kept tower was under the supervision of the Ringing Master (Mr. John R. Cooper) and ranged from rounds to three Spliced Surprise.

Tonbridge District

The quarterly meeting of the Tonbridge District at Edenbridge on April 6th was well attended, including a large number of young recruits. As usual, these were well catered for by the Ringing Master (Mr. Colin Tester). What a contrast to the old days when learners were kept in the background!
The service was conducted by the Vicar (Rev A. E. Graham), who also presided over the meeting at Church House. The local ringers and their wives provided a very substantial tea.

The standard of ringing was quite good, especially the striking in a course each of Superlative and Bristol. Rounds. Grandsire, Plain Bob, Stedman and Double Norwich provided a choice for all.

CHESTER DIOCESAN GUILD

A meeting of the Stockport, Bowdon and Mottran) Branch was held at Norbury (Hazel Grove) on March 30 th, when some 50 members and friends were present. The eight bells were in good use from carly in the afternoon until service in church, conducted by the Vicar (Rev. Ernest Taylor), who also gave a very interesting address.
Tea was served in the schools, and when full justice had been done to the excellent meal, the business meeting was held. The chair was taken by the Vicar, who repeated the warm welcome he had extended in church. Reference was made to the death of an old and respected member of the Branch, Mr. W. W. Wolstencroft, who was for many years its chairman. and the meeting stood for a moment in silent tribute to the memory of one who had done much for the Guild. The following new members were elected: Miss Eileen Fern. Michael Martin, Samuel Bradbury, Bernard Burgoyne and James Blowers.

Details of the arrangements for the annual festival of the Guild at Hartford on May 11th were given and the meeting decided to write to Mr. S. Hough, senior. who was in hospital but progressing favourably. The thanks of the meeting were accorded to the Vicar and wardens, the local ringers, and the ladies who prepared and served tea.

LETTERS TO

A NOTE TO OUTING ORGANISERS

Dear Sir,-We are approaching the season of outings. I happen to be tower leader at an 8 -bell tower, which being on a main highway and easy of access is fairly frequently chosen by organisers of outings. Some write to me in the first place, but quite a few have written direct to the Rector, ignoring the fact that there are such people as local ringers.

Now we have a noisy tower, the subject of vehement complaints from neighbouring residents if there is any ringing outside the usual practice night and service ringing, and the Rector grants permission to ring outside these times very sparingly indced. In addition, he is inclined to be a trifle absent-minded and forgetful, and sometimes does not answer very promptly.

Last year, after he had forgotten all about a party who had written to him and asked me at very short notice to meet them, I told him that unless he left the correspondence with visitors to me I would not turn up to open the tower, and he has decided that unless I do or vouch personally for the capabilitics of visitors he will not permit strangers to ring.

However, the same thing happened again a few weeks ago. A party of ringers from a town relatively near to us applied direct to the Rector, and he forgot all about them until a few days before they were due. Then he told me when I complained of the short notice that he had asked the organiser to get into touch with me. This that gentleman certainly did. On the day preceding their intended visit I had a letter warning me of the hour of arrival!

My heart melted, of course, and in spite of my resolution I turned up to meet the party, at some little inconvenience to myself and my family, I might add, to say nothing of postponing my mid-day meal until nearly tea time. Very mildly I remonstrated with the party, and the excuse was that they did not know my address, an excuse, of course, that courtesy forced me to accept but with the mental reservation that I am not unknown to ringers south of London at any rate; there are such things as Guild reports and, to upset any real attempt at excuse, one of the party was an old friend of mine.

I mention this matter not in any spirit of resentfulness but merely to point out to intending visitors that it is a little inconsiderate to say the least to do such things, and I will say no more as in the world of ringers it is my fervent desire to live in peace and charity with all.

For the benefit of all who contemplate outings this year, may I conclude by calling to mind one great truth that I heard when on a ringing tour some years ago. The band in whose company I was were all competent ringers capable of ringing well even though conditions were not idcal, and they always chose their towers and their company carefully. We were walking down the approaches to a church when one of our party addressed himself to an aged local inhabitant who was seated at his cottage door, and said: "What sort of a ring of bells have you got here, guv'nor?' 'Ah,' said the aged local inhabitant. 'that all depends on who rings 'em.'-Yours, etc.
EQUUS.

FOUR-BELL TOWERS IN WALES
Dear Sir.-There are three 4-bell towers in the Swansea and Brecon Guild's area: Llangyfelach, Llangasty, Llanfihangel-Talyllyn. The bells at these towers are being rung for Sunday service.-Yours sincerely. J. A. HOARE.

LET IT BE A WARNING:

Dear Sir,-Even if there are times when there are not enough ringers for all the bells in our deanery, there are always plenty of willing helpers when it comes to doing a job of work about the tower or on the bells themselves.

So it was that when the stay of the third bell got cracked Bill Longood volunteered to fit another if the tower would pay for the wood. That was agreed to, and after ringing on Sunday evening he went up into the bell-loft and took the cracked stay for a pattern. Apart from dropping a spanner on to the tenor during the sermon and waking up the whole congregation, all went well.

Early on Monday Bill went round to the timber yard to get a new stay cut out. That was an easy job, but as the wood was a wee bit green he had it cut two inches too long so as to allow for shrinking. He had noted that the old stay just reached the slider and no more. By 4 o'clock Bill had everything finished-the new stay fitted, the bells oiled and the ringing chamber brushed, dusted and all set for practice.

Promptly at 7.30 p.m, a goodly band of ringers had assembled in the churchyard and within moments the door was unlocked, jackets hung on the pegs and ropes neatly coiled ready for a good "raise. The first few rounds went well until suddenly there was a loud thud and the third bell dropped out. Quickly all the bells were lowered and, as it turned out, it was as well that they were.

What Bill had not noticed, and what almost every other ringen would have failed to notice, was that there was no more clearance between the axle boxes and the crossbea.n than between the axle and the slider. The stay on the third must just reach the slider and no more, otherwise it will catch the crossbeam. That is what had happened. But to make matters worse the cap of the axle box had not been properly fastened, so that when the beam stopped the stay the bell just bounced out of its bearing. Fortunately no damage was done, though if ringing had continued the fourth bell would not have had clearance of the third and both might have been damaged.

Although we got no practice we all had a useful lesson, which I pass on.-Yours faithfully.

HENRY ALLEN.

WINCHESTER COLLEGE BELLS

Dear Sir,-I was very interested to read in my 'Ringing World' the notes on the Winchester College bells.
I was a small boy at the College in 1918. I used sometimes to ring at the Cathedral, and on Armistice Day it has always been my impression that after ringing at the Cathedral we also rang at the College Chapel. Is this entirely a boyhood dream? - Yours faithfully,
Godstone Rectory, Surrey. K. G. HOARE.

5,000 STEDMAN CATERS

Dear Sir,-If my friend Bill Knight, of Gillingham, Kent, will once again read the composition 5.000 Stedman Caters by D. E. Parsons ('R.W.' No. 2400, 29/3/57, page 205), he will find that no claim whatsoever was made that to start a peal in this manner is in any way novel or new. What he will read is that this composition was rung for the first time at Beddington on March 9th, 1957.

With regard to the Middlesex Association meeting at Barnes, Surrey, perhaps Mr. Nevil G. Hollingworth will take some comfort in the fact that Mr. Bagworth's views in this matter are nod necessarily those of anany of us - Surreyites.' Yours faithfully. 1) Chyydan.

FRANK E. DARBY.

FIRST QUARTER PEAL

Dear Sir,-May I comment on a quarter peal report appearing on the back page ( $p .240$ ) of the issue of April 12th?

According to the report 1,260 Grandsire Doubles was rung on the middle five of a ring of eight, with 1,2 leading all the time and the tenor covering.

It was apparently the first occasion on which the ringer of 1 had rung for this length of time, but can he be justifiably described as having rung his first quarter when what he actually did was strike 1,260 blows at lead following the same bell (ienor) each time? I have always understood that the claim of the ringer of a single or first covering bell is allowed solely because he follows changing bells, and to do this properly some knowledge is required of the method involved.

It also appears that the performance was conducted by a non-performer. Is this allowable? In my ringing training the essential characteristic of any conductor has been that he must ring at the same time as calling.

I realise that in this case (as the conductor was not. I believe, a local man) the arrangement was almost certainly made so that the greatest number of locals could ring in a special performance for a special occasion; but can it really be called a quarter peal?-Yours faithfully,
J. V. LONSBROUGH.

Seaford, Sussex.

"BATS IN THE BELFRY'

Dear Sir,-Sheer pressure of work has been the real reason for not replying sooner to Nancy Kempsell's front page article, 'Bats in the Belfry.' Well done, Nancy, for your worthy literary effort; a very valuable contribution to - The Ringing World ' in its widest and fullest sense.

I tried to say something similar at a Branch meeting a fortnight ago, but did not make such a good job of it as you. I know quite a lot of ladies who go ' bats ' on darts and some even on fishing 150,000 football 'bats' go to Hampden Park; 75,000 rugger 'bats' go to Twickenham; and 45,000 cricket 'bats '-not those wooden ones-go to Lords. And they don't have to ask we Bats from the Belfry.
I have indulged in most sports and pastimes: football of both codes, cricket, athletics, fishing, rowing, following hounds and beagles, walking Conce in the Northern Counties Athletic Association 7 -mile championship) ; but at close on 70 there is nothing to compare with 'batting in the belfry, and the friendships are simply wonderful.

Your summing up, Nancy, was masterly : - If we do our pleasure and pastime to the glory of God, etc.' It is, or should be, the be all and end all; with all the pleasures and friendships, old and new, given in.

Just two very particular observations, Nancy. (1) Non-' Batters' do know when the ringing is good-and when it is not so good (a bit of firing). (2) Don't say too much against a bit of peal-grabbing; you may have to eat your words; I know one who did. Peal ringing. after all is the height of ringing achievement. and, if I mistake not, you will want a few to get you there; but carry on with your literary efforts.

RINGING IN ENGLAND 80 YEARS AGO

Extracts from 'Church Bells,' 1875-76  REPARATION OF THE RING OF EIGHT AT BISHOPS LYDEARD, SOMERSET

Sermon by Rev. Prebendary Clark, spcaking of good ringing: 'It involves strength, skill and discipline, perseverance, patience and enthusiasm ; and men who excel in these qualities can make their mark in any direction. 1868 at St. Matthew's, Bethnal Green 15,840 changes in 9 hours 12 minutes. . St. Peter's, Earlsheaton. Yorkshire, 1872, 16,608 changes in 9 hours 50 minutes . . serving God just as truly as those who sing His praises in the choir are as m..go even further and say that they the ministers of part of the Church ministry as duct the service pulpit. $\qquad$ In ancient times the bells were baptised and consecrated-first washing, second touching with salt, third anointed with oil and lastly fumigated with incense; these operations signifying the putting away of evil, the salt showing purity, the oil emblematic of the Holy Ghost and finally, the incense of prayer.'

FIRING BELLS

A note, apparently ,, by the Editor: 'In answer to "F. G. B.," there is no rule nor custom about it: it is a bad custom confined to some localities. There is no music nor science in it, and it should be discouraged as an uproarious use of church bells. It is an annoyance to the neighbours and damaging to the bell-gear. On the opening of a new ring a peal is sometimes finished with a few volleysquite enough. and more than enough, for true lovers of bell music. By all means stop it.'
BELLS FOR ST. PAUL'S CATHEDRAL
The Dean and Chapter of St. Paul's are now making an urgent appeal to the various Livery Companies of the City of London for assistance in supplying the Cathedral with a ring of bells and a set of chimes. Dr. Stainer, the organist, estimates that a ring of bells cast in Englard would cost about $£ 3,500$, the necessary machinery for hanging and ringing them about $£ 500$ a smaller set of bells for chimes cast in Belgium, $£ 1,000$, and two large Bourdon bells $£ 1,800$. Towards the amount of $£ 6,800$ thus required the Dean and Chapter have contributed $£ 250$, the Dean $£ 100$ is the only cathedral in England, and nearly the only cathedral on this side of the Alps, which does not possess a ring of bells. Placed as it is in the centre of the Metropolis where it is especially called upon to give expression to the Nation's joys or sorrows, it greatly needs such a ring to assist it in the work. Sir Christopher Wren provided a tower to hold a large ring of bells, but for 200 years that provision has not been utilised.

The Editor then adds a note:-
[' We reproduce the above from the "Mail," February 11 th, altering peal to ring: and this we do in the hope of being able to induce a more correct way of speaking of a set of bells, which used to be called a "Ring of Bells." We might produce many proofs if required The following may be enough for the present. On a bell at Temple Guiting, Gloucestershire, we find: "Richard Keene made this Ring, 1662 ": at Betton, Gloucestershire: "I was added to this Ring 1693." "A Ring of Bells" is the sign of many public houses.

In the last century no bells were recast or augmented without a faculty or licence from the Bishop. We have seen many such documents and thercin "Ring of bells" is the invariable term. In Brown Willis' MSS in the Bodleian Library is a list of bells cast by Henry

We are indebted to Supt. Claude Rush, of Eye, for the following extracts from 'Church Bells.' Although this weekly periodical only devoted a part of a page to bells and ringers, much of the material is of interest even today. Contributors included Jasper W. Snowdon and C. A, W. Troyte.

Bagley, of Chacombe, date 1732 , wherein it is thus recorded: "The said H. B. will cast any ring or rings of bells, etc. He has already cast one ring of ten bells, five rings of eight, twentyseven rings of six bells, thirty rings of five, etc., etc.'

We might quote more, but we hope these are enough to help on the disuse of the word peal, which should be confined to the work done or music produced by a ring of bells. Ed.]

RINGERS AND THE CLERGY
Sir,-I think with the Rev. H. T. Ellacombe that the clergy ought to take more interest in their ringers than they generally do, instead of looking on them (as some do) as low, worthless drinking fellows, whose company is rather to be shunned than courted. I must allow that there are some (too many) ringers who are not what they ought to be; but it is the roundringers or BELL-HaULERS that do so much harm. They only think of ringing when paid for it, or treated with beer, etc. They never attempt to master the art of change-ringing, but jumble and jangle the bells about anyhow, their belfries teing generally in a most disgraceful state. To remedy this abuse, the clergy must join the ringers, and learn the interesting and beautiful art of change-ringing. They will soon find great pleasure in studying its intricacies, and it will bind them and their ringers in strong bonds of affection. Great reforms have been made where the clergy or the squire have taken the matter up, but much remains to be done. M. A. S. C. Y.'

THE QUEEN INTERVENING TO STOP   RINGING

   RINGING}As in other things, so has the Queen set an example to ringers, never to think of ringing, even on the most joyous occasions, when persons are lying on a bed of sickness within the sound of the bells. The day before the opening of Parliament, her Majesty desired that neither the bells of Westminster Abbey nor St. Margaret's might be rung as usual, on account of the severe illness of Lady Augusta Stanley, the Dean's wife.

'A NEW USE FOR CHURCH BELLS

Sir,-As an example of Church principles, as understood in Southport, permit me to inform your readers that merry peals were rung during Ash Wednesday at Christ Church, the alleged object being to celebrate the signing in London of the contract for a new sewer!-Discusted. Southport, March 6ih.'

RINGING IN THE SEWAGE!

From the 'Liverpool Mail,' March 11th.

- Wednesday, the 1st inst., marked the completion of arrangements regarding the acceptancy and signing of the sewage contracts. In honour of the event the bells of Christ Church rang merry peals throughout the day. Being Ash Wednesday, this "highly indecorous act " arouses the attention of those who were disposed to pass the day in prayer and fasting, and called forth a letter to a local priest. couched in anything but terms of Christian love and forbearance.:

The above occurrence was a most disgraceful proceeding; enough to disgust every right-minded Christian. We consider the parish authorities most blameable, and they will be doing no more than their duty if they exclude from the belfry in future every man who pulled a rope in those peals.-Ed.']

- OUR RINGS OF TWELVE AND THEIR CONDITION, 1876, by Jasper W. Snowdon, Ilkley, near Leeds.
This is an interesting schedule of 24 rings, giving the church, the town, weight and note of tenor, date of opening, first and last peals rung (date, method and number of changes and the condition of the ring in 1876). I note that tenor weights are between 15 cwt . (Quex Park) and 54 cwt . (York Minster), and notes range from $F$ downwards to $B$. The greatest number of changes shown is 7,126 (St. Peter's, Norwich), Stedman Cinques; and it looks as if St. Bride's, London. was the earliest-1719-first peal January 19th, 1724, Grandsire Cinques. But in a footnote Mr. Snowdon showed that the first ring of 12 ever completed was the York Minster ring, augmented to 12 in 1681 and recast to ten in 1765-those ten destroyed by fire in 1829. Thers used to be 12 at Christ Church, Spitalfields, but fire destroyed them in 1836. Then Mr. Snowdon goes on to say that with his friend, Mr. R. Tuke, he proposed to compile a publication full of information of 12 -bell towers, with illustrations of all the churches, and he asked readers for information.

A correspondent, signing himself ' Truth,' takes Mr. Snowdon to task over the schedule, saying he is 'sorry to believe it is a very incorrect account,' and goes on to give notes of tenors different from Snowdon's account.

As one might expect, Snowdon soon replies, saying that he did not wish to argue, but notes given were not expressions of his own opinion : they were taken from the works of Shipway, Hubbard, etc., and from societies' peal returns. He says: 'I know that there are no more indefinite quarrels than those of musical people, and he ends: 'As regards the Halifax tenor ( 25 cwt., D sharp) I had its note given to me by the ringers when 1 was ringing there lately, and consider that if the bell is nearer D than $E$, it is preferable to call it $D$ sharp rather than E flat."
Now comes Jno. Harris with a contribution -argument for Snowdon and for 'Truth, adding that he intends to publish a history of 28 rings of 12 , with tenors between 15 cwt . (Quex Park) and 87 cwt. (Bradford Town Hall) and giving their notes in one column and concert pitch notes in another. which show that concert pitch is usually a semitone flatter than the note given in the other column but sometimes a whole note flatter. The Bradford Town Hall ring was shown as 'not pealable' and the tenor note as A (concert pitch, A flat), diameter 6 ft . $5 \frac{1}{\mathrm{t}} \mathrm{in}$.

OBITUARY

MR. R. NARBOROUGH

The death took place recently at West Bridgford of Mr. Ralph Narborough, who for a number of years rendered conspicuous service to ringing in Nottingham. He was born in 1892.

Mr. Narborough began his ringing career at Wisbech and this was followed by experience gained at St. Peter Mancroft, Norwich. On arriving at Nottingham he joined the company of St. Mary's and became a member of the Midland Counties Association and of the Society of Sherwood Youths in 1930. On the death of Mr. Albert Coppock in 1938 he was elected Master of the Sherwood Youths, and held this office until forced to retire through ill health in 1948. He was Ringing Master of St. Mary's, Nottingham, from 1938 until the bells were dismantled for safety during the war.

His peals numbered approximately 175, of which he conducted 39. Of these, 37 were on handbells. His last tower-bell peal was of Triples, which he conducted, and was rung to mark the installation of Lord Trent as first Chancellor of Nottingham University. He also rang in the first peals of Erin Triples (at Sutton-on-Trent) and Caters (at St. Mary's, Nottingham).

Mr. Narborough in his younger days served on the Central Council from 1913 to 1923 as representative of the Peterborough and District Association.

MR. FREDERICK E. WILSON

The Leicester Diocesan Guild is the poorer by the death of Mr. Fred Wilson, at the early age of 54 , following a cerebral thrombosis.

He retired from the Leicester City Police Force on completing 25 years' service and had since been in civil employment. He was a member of the Leicester Cathedral band for about 25 years, and six or seven years ago he was induced to take charge at Aylestone Church in the city on the installation of a newly-augmented ring of eight. He had virtually to train a band of raw recruits, which he did with infinite patience and much credit. He was a founder member of the National Police Guild and for many years had acted as auditor.

A competent handbell ringer, Mr. Wilson had also organised, trained and brought to outstanding merit a team of tune ringers who were in great demand for social functions and were auditioned by Carrol Levis. The funeral service was held at the Leicester Crematorium on April 3 rd , and many ringers were present. On April 11th a mufficd peal of Stedman Cinques was rung at the Cathedral in his honour, using the same composition as that for the first peal on the new ring of 12 on the day they were first rung for the Coronation of King George V in 1937, and in which he took part.

He had rung close upon 90 peals, including a police peal of Stedman Cinques. He was a kindly, quiet and unassuming man, and leaves a widow (who also rang with him) and a daughter to mourn their loss. He will be greatly missed by them and by a wide circle of friends, who extend their sympathy to his bereaved family.
H. G. J.

ERNEST C. S. TURNER  AN APPRECIATION

The passing of Ernest Turner has left a gap in ringing circles which will be difficult, if not impossible, to fill. He was in almost every sense of the word one of the greatest ringers the Exercise has known, and if his achievements are studied he equalled and sometimes surpassed anything we have seen.
In every field of ringing, whether it was composing, conducting, serving his Association, teaching and encouraging less proficient ringers, or as a companion helping to make a social occasion a success, he was a wonderful man. His humour was infectious, and even after months of scrious illness, which it was sad to see, it was a pleasure to talk to him. It scemed almost ironical that on Friday, April 5th, when he was taken for the last time to his parish church, it should be such a beautiful day when such a dark cloud hung over so many ringers who knew and loved him as a friend.

Like all really great characters, he was extremely modest, never seeking or expecting praise or publicity for any achievement, however outstanding this might be. Fortunately, when serious illness overtook him, and the weeks turned to months and months to years, his devoted wife Winifred was at his side every moment it was possible. Fortified by this, he was to become, in addition to a most lovable character, one of the bravest. Anyi sadness we feel at knowing that we may never see his like again will be tempered by remembering with thankfulness the example he set by his life and work.

Yorkshire District at Hunslet

The annual meeting of the Yorkshire District took place at Hunslet, Leeds, on March 30th. Ringing commenced at 4.15 p.m. due to the unusually large number of weddings that day. The belfry was crowded until tea time, and the cight bells were rung to a variety of methods during the afternoon and evening. Cups of tea were kindly provided in the nearby school by some young folk
At the business meeting the following officers were elected: Vice-president, Mrs. P. M. Thorley; hon. secretary, Miss E. A. Wardill ; com-mittee-Miss M. Rhodes, Mrs. O. Whitehouse, Miss S. M. ## North-West District

Members of the District paid an early visit to the seaside this year when a joint meeting with the Wigan Branch of the Lancashire Assocation was held at Christ Church, Southport, on April 6th. Full use was made of this very pleasant ring of eight bells, and some of the ladies also found time to take advantage of the excellent shopping facilities nearby, as well as the sunshine and sea breezes.

A short service was conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. F. H. Pickering, M.A.) who, in his address, stressed the importance of rhythm in bellringing. After an excellent tea, served in the Church Schools, the ladies held their business meeting, at which one new member was clected. The next meeting of the District was fixed for August 31st, when it was hoped to visit either Chester or Macclesfield. Votes of thanks were accorded to the Vicar, organist, local ringers, those who helped to prepare and serve tea. and last but not least, to the secretary of the Wigan Branch, Lancashire Association, Miss M. Ridyard, for all she had done to make the meeting so enjoyable.

The many-coloured fairy lights twinkling in the trees bordering the main shopping street made a very pretty sight as members wended their way homewards after a very pleasant day

CRITICISM AND THE CRITIC

ANATOLE FRANCE once wrote that the good critic was he who related the adventures of his soul among masterpieces. It is an interesting definition, and one provocative of much profitable thought, but it is clearly not a comprehensive one; for the critic must, on many occasions, harrow his soul by adventuring among many works that are not masterpieces. And this, indeed, must needs be so, for without it there could be no standards of comparison either in a work of art itself or ir its presentation to the public.

This may well lead to some thoughts on the function of the critic in the field of the arts, and among the arts we may place the pursuit of change-ringing and its presentation to the listener. In the world of music, books, pictorial art and sport of various kinds, two forms of assessment are possible. The one deals with the work itself and its inherent qualities, and the other notices the manner in which the work is presented to the public. In some, as with books and pictures, the emphasis is on the work itself, and apart from some reference to binding or framing, little attention is paid to the form in which the work appears. In others, such as football or cricket, the attention of the critic is directed to the actual performance rather than to the stereotyped form of the construction of the game. In music and drama both the work itself and its presentation call for important criticism: but here, it may be noted, the emphasis may be more on the work if that work be a new composition, but more on the performers if the work is a well established classic.

It may not be unprofitable to trace some parallels and to attempt to apply the above generalisations to the art of bell ringing, and wo may well consider first which of the two forms of criticism is the more common in the world of ringing, the method and its composition or the quality of the performance. Throughout the history of changeringing both have always been of importance, but there would appear to have been periods when the one or the other has occupied a larger place. In the very beginning of change-ringing there was doubtless criticism (even if only self-criticism) of the Plain Changes and their limitations, and an accompanying dissatisfaction that led to a striving for something better. By the time of Annable the standard methods may have been beyond criticism, but it is clear from the documents of the period that serious notice was taken of the quality of the ringing. The diaries of Hearne, the verses of William Laughton, and the remarks of Annable himself, all point to a searching scrutiny of the standard of the performance and, indeed, of the conduct of the performers themselves.

In the 19th century, we are told, standards of ringing and ringing conduct fell to a low level. How far this is true of the general conditions is not easily defined, but it is clear from the unceasing struggles of certain composers that there was much criticism of compositions and a desire to produce better works of art. In the great renaissance of the '90s and of the first decade of this century, amid that tremendous outburst of theoretical enthusiasm and that overwhelming effluence of methods and compositions, criticism of the finished product of the composer was fierce and uncompromising, and the scrutiny of anything new was intense enough. in many instances. to arouse as much bitterness as ever divided even the ranks of scientists. The application of Double Norwich to nine bells shook the composure of Davies and Carter; James's new Treble Bob hunt for Surfleet Caters shocked the method experts; and even such an apparently small matter as starting a peal of Treble Bob with two Homes (although nobody seemed to give any reason for the baseness of the device!) was sufficiently contentious to force the Central Council to pronounce upon it in print.

In these days we seem, perhaps, to take the works themselves very much as they come, and without much comment. The great classics, both in method construction and composition, like Shakespeare, have ceased to abide our question; compositions appear and we accept them; in some respects, it may be argued, we tend to accept a somewhat lower standard than that of years gone by: but if that is so, the fact is balanced by the high quality and intricacy of so much of the best work of today.

Criticism of the performance and the performers remains strict, and this is as it should be. One recollection may (and should) temper and modify our zeal. The professional critic makes careful distinction between the professional performer, from whom a meticulous performance is required, and the enthusiastic amateur, often a performer of less skill and less polish, but one whose work is a genuine labour of love, and who is offering, in his humbleness and devotion, all his availab!e talent.

This Northamptonshire church has recently had a new treble bell added as the result of nine years of effort on the part of the ringers and friends, and has now a ring of six. St. Lawrence Church has a spire 156 feet, high, of an unusual design, being based on an octagonal tower which dates from the early part of the reign of Henry HI.
Stanwick has in the past produced two distingaished men, both being sons of rectors. John Dolben, born 1623, became Archbishop of York and gave the present pulpit. Richard Cumberlant, born 1732, was a diplomat and playwright, and is buried in the Poets' Corner in Westminster Abbey.

GUILDFORD GUILD HAVE RECORD MEMBERSHIP

DANGER OF SWITCHED OFF LIGHTS

THE annual meeting of the Guildford Diocesan Guild, held at Guildford last Saturday, attracted a large attendance of ringers. After ringing at Holy Trinity and St. Mary's Church the Guild service was held in St. Nicolas' Church, conducted by the Rev. J. P. Denham, rector of Dunsfold, and singing led by a choir of ringers.

The Rev. T. H. Dart, of Aldershot, said in his sermon that one of the most joyous ways of advertising the Gospel was through the ancient art of bellringing. When they rang their bells they were calling people to church and proclaiming the joy of Christian life. The only people who did not like bells and found them abhorrent were those who could not accept the challenge to come to church and worship. The art of ringing was a corporate one that required considerable personal discipline, restraint and effort; the Christian life also required those same qualities and the life of a servant of God was a life of discipline, restraint and corporate worship.

A tremendous number of Christians never went out of their way to proclaim their faith in the home and business. They must be proud of the message that had been entrusted to them to proclaim-not only with the bells but in their lives.

The Master (Mr. A. Harman) presided at the business meeting. which followed tea in the Congregational Hall.

551 RINGING MEMBERS

The report of the executive committec gave the membership of the Guild as 551 ringing and 101 honorary. So far as can be ascertained, this was an all-time record. The figures showed a very welcome increase from last year, when some serious falling off was apparent, and in view of the competition in their area, it was particularly gratifying to record that the biggest increase in ringing members was in the Leatherhead district. A new band had been formed at Ockley and at Stoke D'Abernon, where a new ring of five was installed last year: there was no lack of recruits. Weybridge and Chobham. which were practically closed shops so far as the Guild was concerned, were now among the strongest supporters of the Guild.

Report for towers and districts showed that the diocesan ringers played their part in the Diocesan Mission Week last April, and in addition to a peal of Doubles at Stoke D'Abernon to mark the week, a number of quarter peals were rung, and ringing took place several times, if not every night in the week, at most of the towers.

Losses by death were Mr. Jim Dodson, Ringing Master of Chertsey District, Mr. Percy Underwood, a loyal member of the Ottershaw band, and Mr. Harry Collis, a ringer at Chobham for over 50 years. Mr. J. Dixey. of Stoke D'Abernon, an honorary member, had also died.

In their memory the meeting stood in silence.
The report recorded thanks to Mr. Harold Pitstow and his Banstead ringers for their excellent performance on the television screen, not the least impressive of which was the wonderfully accurate striking of Stedman Triples which marked their fading out.

GENERAL SECRETARYSHIP

Changes in Guild officers were foreshadowed, as the general secretary. who had served as Guild District secretary from 1929 until 1938 and had since served as Guild secretary, had given the committee notice that. this would be his last year of office, and during the year the committee hoped to find a successor.

Presenting the report. Mr. Grover called attention to his retirement, and said he hoped that whocver was proposed would be prepared to serve for a number of years.
The balance sheet, presented by Mr. L. C. W. Hunter. showed a balance in hand of $£ 56$ 1s. 10d. There was a balance of f 118 14s. 10d, on the Guild Benevolent Fund and $£ 105$ is. 7 d , on the New Cathedral Bells Fund.

Mr. A. C. Hazelden submitted the librarian's report, and said they had in their possession the negatives of Mr. E. H. Lewis' technical book on the swinging of bells in towers. They proposed to hand these over to the librarian of the Central Council.
Major E.J. Bragg, the peal recorder, reported that 25 peals had to be rung in 1956. These peals were rung in 16 different towers by 83 different ringers. There were nine first peals. Two outstanding peals were rung-Cobham Surprise Royal at Leatherhead, and Doubles in 24 methods at Stoke D'Abernon. Mr. E. J. Wells headed the list of conductors with nine peals to his credit.

Mr. G. S. Joyce, the badge secretary, said they made a profit of $£ 36 \mathrm{~s}$. 6 d . on the sale of badges last year. A small size badge was introduced last year and 135 were sold. Stocks were in the hands of District secretaries.
Officers elected were president, the Bishop of Guildford: vice-presidents, Rev. O. R. Ackworth. Messrs. G. Marriner and A. H. Winch, additional: Master, Mr. A. Marman; hon. secretary and treasurer, Mr. G. L. Grover; assistant hon. secretary, Miss W. Oliver; hon. auditor. Mr. L. C. W. Hunter; peal recorder, Major E. J. Bragg: liaison officer to Surrey Association, Mr. F. Oakshott.

CENTRAL COUNCIL ELECTION

There were nine nominations for the four representatives on the Central Council. Messrs. A. Harman and H. V. Young withdrew. A ballot resulted in the election of Messis. H. N. Pitstow. W. H. Viggers. G. S. Joyce and A. C. Hazelden. Unsuccessful were Messrs. A. H. Pulling (a member of the Council since 1914), T. Mark White and T. W. White.

Mr. Roy Collins moved on behalf of the Chertsey District that junior members be allowed to vote at District mestings but not allowed to nominate any Guild or District officers. He thought that it would create more interest for them at meetings.

Mr. C. W. Denyer said if the resolution was carried he would propose at the next annual mecting that there be only one subscription for the whole Guild, 2 s . 6 d ., and the junior subscription of 2 s . be abolished.

Mr. T. W. White opposed the motion but it was carried by 28 votes to 6 , the majority of those present abstaining from voting.

ELECTRICITY IN TOWERS

A motion was submitted from the executive committee calling attention to the control of the electricity supply to ringing rooms and bell chambers by a main switch in the church to the detriment of anyone among the bells or ringing. The motion asked for the matter to be submitted to the Church authoritics and the Central Council.

Mr. T. Mark White said the Guildford Diocesan Year Book recommended that all the electrical installation in a church should be controlled by a main switch, and that was the recognised practice, as an installation could not be put in without a main switch. He suggested a notice on the main switch if anyone was in the belfry.

Mr. C. W. Denyer said at Farnham they had met the difficulty by raiding the verger's store of candles. They had two candles burning in the ringing chamber during practices.

Mr. S. Russell (Ash) said recently they werei just going to pull off with learners and ropes when the lights were switched off. He dared not think what would have happened if they were ringing. It would be most difficult if someone was oiling the bells and was left in the dark.

The resolution which was carried read: "That the responsible electrical or ecciesiastical authority be requested to remedy the dangerous practice of permitting bell chamber, ringing room and staircase lights to be controlled from the main swich. That in cases where such a state of affairs exists the authorities bo asked to fix cautions against switching off without due investigation.'

FAULTY CHIMING HAMMERS

Another motion was to warn the Church authorities of the danger to bells occasioned by faulty conditions of chiming hammers.
The Master, who introduced the motion. said he had known of bells being cracked by faulty chiming apparatus. It was decided to call the attention of the Church authorities to the danger.
