Mr. C. W. Denyer said he had booked the Stoke Hotel, Guildford, for the annual dinner on October 19th, and he had written to the Bishop of Guildford to take the chair. Last year they had an attendance of 178 and this year they hoped for 200. Messrs. R. Mills, W. Viggers and C. W. Denyer agreed to serve on the dinner committee.

Life membership was bestowed on Mr. A. H. Hutton, of Holy Trinity, Guildford, after 58 years' membership, and congratulations extended to Mr. Sam Petter on his 80th birthday. New members elected were Mr. J. Tait and Mrs. P. Tait (Holy Trinity, Guildford), Rev. E. B. and Mrs. Wood (Leatherhead) and Miss Clare Waterson (Stoke D'Abernon). Miss Pauline Sprackling, Miss Winifred Keys and Mr. Torm Sone were elected compounding members.

A letter of sympathy and wishes for a speedy recovery is to be sent to Mr. R. Lathbury (Walton-on-Thames), who had bcen in hospital forl 12 weeks.

The meeting concluded with a vote of thanks, proposed by Mr. H. V. Young, to the secretary and assistant secretary for their work, and to those who had provided the excellent tea.

WINCHESTER & PORTSMOUTH GUILD

Beginners Prominent at Basingstoke Meeting

The spring meeting of the Basingstoke District was held at Church Oakley on April 13th, when 50 ringers attended, and some good practice was put in for the beginners who turned up in force. The Guild service was conducted by Canon G. H. Jeudwine and the address given by the Rev. F. S. H. Maule, Rector of Deanc. The lesson was read by the hon. secretary of the Branch.

Tea was kindly given by Canon and Mrs. Jeudwine and the Church Oakley ringers, and was much appreciated by all present. New members were elected from Monk Sherborno and Church Oakley.

The Four Guilds Festival has been fixed for Septerriber 14th at Basingstoke. After tea, good use was made of both Church Oakiey and Deane bells.

Mr. W. Frank Stenson is hoping in connection with Odd Fellows A.M.C. at Margate that ringers living in the vicinity and any Odd Fellows attending will ring for the special Odd Fellows' Service at St. John's Church on Sunday, May 26th, at 3 p.m.

Mr. R. Lathbury, of 15. Russell Road, Wal-ton-on-Thames, has returned home after 12 weeks in hospital.
Easter Day was a happy occasion for the Jefferies family, of Mangotsfield, near Bristol, when the family rang a quarter peal. Family quarters are rare in these days.
Miss Jean Stewart, a Central Council representative of the Irish Association, was knocked down recently by a van whilst going to work and had her right leg badly cut, bruised and swollen. We hope she is now fully recovered.
Probably the most meritorious performance over Easter was the non-conducted and silent peal of Bob Maximus at High Wycombe. The peal enabled Messrs. W. F. Butler, Walter Lee and Frederick R. Scott to have rung peals of Plain Bob from Minor to Maximus.
Mr. George Gilbert sends a correction to the peal of Minor in five methods rung at Hitcham, Bucks, on March 11th (page 228). The 5,046 was composed of an extent each of Kent T.B., Reverse Canterbury Pleasure and Oxford T.B.. and two extents each of Single Oxford and Plain Bob.
'Irish Bell News' in its spring issuc gives a drawing of the Shrine of St. Mura's Bell. This bell, it states, was regarded with superstitious reverence, and any liquid from it was believed to have properties in alleviating human suffering. Peasant women of the district in Co. Donegal, where it was preserved, particularly used it in cases of childbirth. The Shrine is 12 th century work.

GOSSIP

lecturing to architects and ber veyors at the Architectural Institute on bells, bell towers and bell hanging. His lectures were illustrated by 32 bells, two models, 161 display photographs. 88 lantern slides and 15 examples from his collection of founders' marks.
The time for the peal of Grandsire Caters rung at Claines, Worcestershire, on Aprit 6th, was 2 hours 54 minutes, not as printed.

Writes a correspondent: 'Who took the wrong coat on Easter Saturday? One had a "posh" lighter and "posh" cigarettes; the other "Woodbines," but I won't say which. Neither should I tell you he took the wrong coat to Northwich, or you might guess the county.

The ringers of St. Andrew's, Old Headington, Oxford, are hoping to have their bells restored and augmented. and for the last year or so have given all their ringing fees to the bell fund, and have also paid fines to the fund for various ringing offences. The fund now stands at nearly £100.
A well-struck quarter peal was rung by six ladies of Northampton District at Cogenhoe, Northants, on April 13th. Miss Delia Miller accomplished her first quarter as conductor. This is believed to be the first quarter peal by ladies in this District.
It is interesting to note that Miss Hilda G. Snowden conducted the first peal ever to be rung at Stoke-by-Nayland in February, 1938. This was on the old six reputed to be the heaviest six in Suffolk. The honour of conducting the first peal on the octave was again Miss Snowden's. The old tenor was supposed to weigh 28 cwt .: when taken to Messrs. Taylors' Foundry it was found to only weigh 24 cwt .

GOLDEN WEDDING

North London ringers will extend their congratulations 10 Mr . and Mrs. F. Barker. 12, Crescent Way, Finchley, N.12, who celebrate their golden wedding on May 8th. Mr. F. Barker has the proud record of having been a service ringer at St. Marys, Finchley, for 52 years.

THE PEAL RINGERS' CALYPSO (With no apologies to 'The Banana Boat Song ')

Now here's the beginning of our Calypso,

 About dese eight men and dere peal ringing
Dey met at de church at a quarter to three

And what happened next you shortly will see.
Deyo, Deyo, calla da bob at Middle and Home.
Deyo, Deyo, calla da bob at Middle anci Home.
Dey climbed up de stairs all full ${ }^{\text {of }}$ hope.
But when dey goo dere dey had to slicea da
Irope
Dey pulled up de bells, the prospects were [bright.
De conductor looked round, 'Everybody all right? ${ }^{\prime}$
Deyo, Deyo, etc.
Into changes dey went, de ringing was grand, At de halfway single the conductor called [' Stand ';
Two bells were crossed the conductor said, But every other ringer shook his head.

Deyo, Deyo, etc.
He got out de calling, and to his dismay,
Found de bells had been right all of de way;

- I'm sorry my friends, we no ringa da peal,

You're all very angry with me I feel.'
Deyo, Deyo, etc.
Into the local pub they all adjourned,
Liquid refreshment they felt they'd earned
De conductor was sad, so much so
Dat he caused de drink to freely flow.
Deyo, Deyo, etc.
Closing time came round, de landlord shout:

- Your time is up-you must all get out.'

But dey'd had so much drink dey refused to go So out all eight he had to throw.

Deyo, Deyo, got thrown out so they had to go home,
Deyo, Deyo, got thrown out so they had to go home.
Now dis is de end of our Calypso,
Of dese eight men and dere peal ringing show. Dey no getta da peal, but it's a very gopd way Of spending the time on a frec Saturday.

A LINCOLNSHIRE WEDDING

One of the foremost lady ringers. Miss Gwendoline Ida Rusby, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. Rusby, of Grimsby, was married on Easter Monday to Mr. Frank Gilbert Bloomfield, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. Bloomfield, of Ardleigh, Suffolk. The ceremony, at the Church of St. James. Grimsby, was performed by the Archdeacon of Lindsay (the Ven. E. L. Marsden), president of the Northern Branch of the Lincoln Diocesan Guild. Mr. Dennis Townhill, Mus. Bac., a ringer, was the organist.

Given away by her father. the bride was attended by her two sisters. Fellow members of the St. James' ringers rang as the couple left the church.

Later a peal of Cambridge Surprise Major was rung to the honour of this happy occasion.

The bells of Christchurch Priory, Hants, wilf be heard on the West Home Service on Sunday, May 12 th, at 7.45 p.m., priar to the evening service. The preacher is Canon R. P. Price. a good friend of Bournemouth ringers.

THE STORY OF HANDBELLS,

Although the performance of handbell music on the concert platform has suffered a pronounced decline in popularity in this country since the turn of the century, there is ample evidence that its popularity in America is rapidly growing. This is shown in an excellent new book which has recently been published by Whittemore Associates Inc., Boston, Mass. The author is Mr. Scott B. Parry, and the book. 'The Story of Handbells,' traces the history and development of handbell ringing in America and elsewhere in lucid detail.
Ringers in England may not generally appreciate that in America there are no less than 140 organised companies of handbell ringers, each with equipments of up to 60 bells. The book rightly credits most of this activity to the remarkable enthusiasm of Dr. A. H. Nichols, and his no less remarkable daughter, Margaret, now Mrs. A. A. Shurcliff. The activities of these two would take a book in itself to describe, and it is to them we should be grateful for developing the interest in bells and ringing now growing so extensively in America. It is fitting that the dedication of the book is to Margaret Shurcliff.
There are many excellent illustrations and the book has chapters on the origins of handbell ringing, history of ringing bands in America. manufacture and care of handbells, changeringing, how to organise a ringing band, music for handbells, dealing with arrangements of music and methods of notation. There is a directory of ringing bands in the U.S.A., and a useful packet of musical scores is included.
Although the general idea is that ringers enjoy exclusively the right of having handbells rung at their funerals, the book shows that handbells were rung at the burial of Edward the Confessor!
The author concludes his introduction with the hope "that in some small way, the experience of ringing handbells will contribute to the enhancement of that greater art of which we all aspire to become masters-the art of living.'

GUILD of DEVONSHIRE RINGERS

East Devon Branch Annual Meeting

About 35 ringers and friends attended the annual meeting of the East Devon Branch. which was held at Sidmouth on Easter Monday.
The service in the Church of St . Giles was conducted by the Rev. Mr. King, who also gave an address.

At the business meeting Mr. G. C. Woodley was re-elected chairman, Mr. F. Parr vice-chairman. Mr. W. Webb secretary and treasurer, Mr. C. Webb vice-secretary and Mr. P. Davis Ringing Master.
Certificates were presented by the president (Prebendary E. V. Cox) to Messrs. Warren, Hooper. Wood and Glanville, of Shute, and to Misses F. Farthing, G. Smith, C. Rowe and Mr. West, of Sidmouth.

It was arranged to hold the next annual meeting at Sidbury on Easter Monday, 1958.

In his report, the secretary said that the Branch had 104 performing members and two honorary members, of which 21 came from Ottery St. Mary band.
The beils of St. Giles' Church were rung before and after the meeting by members of the Guild and others.

WHOSE RAINCOAT?

After the Kent County Association annual meeting at Sevenoaks a grey raincoat was left in the belfry of Sevenoaks Parish Church. Will the owner please apply to Miss D. Colgate, 38, Buckhurst Avenue. Sevenoaks?

THREE DEDICATIONS

SAXTHORPE, NORFOLK

Although extra seating had been provided wherever possible, it was still a case of 'standing only ' for some of the large congregation at St. Andrew's Church, Saxthorpe, on the evening of Sunday, April 7th. The occasion was the naming, blessing and dedication of a new ring of six bells by the Lord Bishop of Norwich at a service conducted by the Vicar, the Rev. W. B. Chandler.

During the singing of the second hymn a procession, composed of the verger, churchwardens, the Vicar and the Lord Bishop, moved the ringers stood ready by the ropes. As each bell in turn was named and blessed it was sounded, and at the conclusion of the blessing an extent, with tenor. covering, of Grandsire Doubles, was rung. The procession then moved back down the aisle.
The bells have been provided from a legacy under the will of the late Mr. James Pinchen, and in his address the Bishop said that bequests by will for the churches and their furnishings were not so frequent as they used to be generations ago. He expressed his pleasure that members of the benefactor's family were taking part in the service, and said that it would be good if Mr. Pinchen's example inspired others to do the same After commenting on the tone of the bells, the Bishop went on to say that it was not often nowadays that a whole new set of bells was provided in a church, and that there they had the distinction of a particular ring, a much lighter ring of all the many, many bells in the county.

After the service the bells were made available for the many ringers present, amongst whom were the president. general secretary and Ringing Master of the Association. Grateful thanks are due to the Vicar, who very kindly provided refreshments.
The new bells are a very light ring of six (tenor 3 cwt . in E) and were cast and hung by Messrs. John Taylor and Co. They were named as follows:-

Treble: St. John Baptist.
Second: Our Lady.
Third: St. Peter.
Fourth: St. Andrew.
Fifth: James Pinchen.
Tenor: The Vicar and Churchwardens for the' time being.

STANWICK, NORTHANTS

The Church of St. Lawrence, Stanwick, Northants, now has a ring of six bells, a new treble having been recently added. On the day the bell arrived from Loughborough it was solemnly washed and anointed, and given the name of St. Denys. On Palm Sunday it was dedicated by the Rector (Rev. D. A. W. Brown). After the dedication rounds were rung.
Into the making of this bell went the two bells from the disused and partially dismantled church of Faxton, near Market Harborough. and this fact is recorded in the inscription on the new bell, which reads: 'St. Denys (patron of Faxton): 1703: Henry Penn for Faxton made me two., 1957: John Taylor for Stanwick made me one.'

Also in this tower is a bell of great antiquity inscribed 'Simon de Nazfeide made me 1361." This bell is hung dead and is sounded at the Consecration at Holy Communion.

It is hoped that the bells will be available to visiting ringers on Saturday, June 1st, when the annual meeting of the Peterborough Diocesan Guild is to be held at nearby Rushden.

HALSTEAD, ESSEX

Over 100 ringers attended the dedication of the newly recast and rehung eight at Halstead on April 6th. The church was nearly filled to capacity for the very beautiful service, during which the Lord Bishop of Colchester performed the act of dedication. The Rev. A. W. Swallow conducted the service, and other robed clergy attending were the Rev. Mr. Bailey, Vicar of Holy Trinity. Halstead, and the Rev. G. M. Lister. Rector of St. Peter's, Sible Hedingham. The lesson was read by Mr. R. C. Heazel, Master of the Essex Association.
The opening rounds were rung by the local band, assisted by Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Moore, and the opening touch, 272 of Double Norwich, was rung by Hilda M. Snowden 1, F. Claydon 2, C. Snowden 3, L. W. Wiffen 4, J. Warner 5 , T. Earle 6. W. Arnold 7, Hilda G. Snowden (conductor) 8.
Amongst those attending the service and tea was the Rt. Hon. R. A. Butler, M.P.. who was president of the Fund, and Mr, Paul Taylor and Mr. A. Fidler, from the Loughborough Foundry. The 'highlight' at tea was the playing over a tape recording of the old ring followed by one of the new. This left no doubt in anyone's mind as to the great improvement that the bellfounders had achieved. Seven of the old bells have been recast. leaving only one old pre-Reformation bell, which has been tuned most successfully. The new octave is very pleasing to the ear and delightful to ring. All the old inscriptions have been reproduced on the new bells, and the treble bell bears the name of Emma Barron and the trustess, from which trust a most generous donation was given towards the cost of this restoration. Ringing was kept up all the evening until 9 o'clock, and Halstead now has a ring of bells worthy of the beautiful church and tower in which it is hung. The new tenor weighs 15 cwt . 1 qr. 6 lb . in the key of $F$

Miss Hilda G. Snowden desires to thank numerous ringers who have sent kind messages of thanks for the enjoyable time at the dedication. Miss Snowden feels that the Halstead restoration is one of personal achievement in her ringing career. and the help given by so many ringing friends will never be forgotten. The hard work entailed in raising the money has been more than compensated by the splendid result achieved. Ringers who have not yet heard the new ring are welcome at any time. Practice night is Monday' at 7.30 ; ringing Sundays, $10.15 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}$. and $5.45 \mathrm{p} . \mathrm{m}$.

ANOTHER PROTEST TO

THE B.B.C.
Following upon Mrs. Ruth Miller's protest to the B.B.C of commentaries whilst bells for service are being rung, Mr. W. Frank Stenson, of Crewe, las , on behalf of himself and many members of the Chester Diocesan Guild, made a personal complaint to the Director of Religious Broadcasting, B.B.C.

His letter of protest reads:-

- Dear Sir,-I have been requested by many members of the Chester Diocesan Guild of Church Bell Ringers to follow up the letter of protest to you from Mrs. Ruth Miller, of Kirklington, Newark, Notts.
- Mrs. Miller wrote: "I feel that I must write and complain about your everlasting commentaries whilst bells for service are being rung; an outstanding example of this took place ", on television from St. Giles', Northampton"; etc.
- This universal practice is not only not very complimentary, either to the B.B.C. or the ringing fraternity, and is very exasperating to the latter.
'I have known many cases where not more than three "whole pulls," that is. "hand and back strokes," have been rung, then the bells faded out.
- Change-ringing is a very ancient and honourable "Art and Exercise," and, moreover, a distinct part of the service itself.

It is practised by some 76 Diocesan and County Guilds and Associations in the British Isles, in some 6,000 churches, by some 45,000 ringers, and worthy of better consideration, especially by the B.B.C.

ST. MARTIN'S GUILD

A successful and well-attended quarterly meeting of thel St. Martin's Guild for the Diocese of Birmingham was held at Handsworth Parish Church on April 6th.
Since the previous meeting the Guild had sustained the loss of two members, both of whom, in different ways, had served the Guild for many years. Frank Bertram Yates, whose interest in ringing was maintained until long after failing health compelled him to cease active ringing, was the donor of the trebles of the ring of ten at King's Norton, and also of the trebles of the 12 at the Cathedral. Arthur Morris, of Shirley, in a very quiet, unassuming way, had been Ringing Master at Shirley for the greater part of his life, and many young ringers owe their introduction to ringing to Arthur's painstaking tuition.

Anthony E. Plows, of Little Aston, was elected a full ringing member of the Guild, and the tower elections of the following life members were duly ratificd: Robin G. Leale (Surbiton), Miss Vivienne M. Horton (Duffield), A. Frank Udall (Chelsea) and Kenneth W. Knowles (Wednesbury).

For the place of next mecting Erdington and Edgbaston were both proposed, but upon being put to the vote, Edgbaston obtained the majority.

The meeting closed with a vote of thanks to Miss Diana Perrins and the Handsworth ringers, for preparing tea.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

SOUTH AFRICA'S WELCOME

Dear Sir,-In 'The Ringing World' for March 29th there appears a letter from Mr. Perrens, expiessing his appreciation of the welcome he received from the ringers of South Africa. My husband and I have recently returned from a visit to Africa, and unfortunately just missed meeting Mr. Perrens, but I should like to endorse most heartily his comments on the cordial hospitality which awaits ringers visiting either Cape Town or Durban.
Separated as these two cities are by a distance of some 800 miles, and with no other ringable bells within literally thousands of miles, the task of maintaining the interest of a band and of making progress can be no easy one, and must at times bs disheartening. Yet the task is being tackled bravely, and both bands are to be congratulated on their tenacity; and it is grand to see that Cape Town ringers have succeeded in capturing the elusive quarter peal of Winchendon Place Bob Doubles. Ar example of keenness was shown by one of the Durban ringers who hitch-hiked over 50 miles to take part in the ringing there on the Sunday we should have arrived-alas, our boat was a day late, so that we did not meet this enthusiast, but we wish him good luck in his ringing.

Our personal thanks are due to all those who went out of their way to welcome us and to perform acts of kindness : in particular to Mr and Mrs. Cyril Chambers at Durban, and Mr. and Mrs. Victor Sheppard and Mr. J. Wood and his sisters at Cape Town, for their hospitality

Lastly, a message to any who may be travelling round South Africa and stopping at these ports, for however short a time. They can be sure of a warm welcome, and there is no need to be shy about inviting themselves to ring with the local bands. A visiting ringer is made a friend at once, and nothing is too much trouble, even to the changing of practice night to suit the expected date of arrival, and perhaps another change ar short notice if the boat is early or late. I feel that any such visitor would be missing a treat himself, and also denying his fellow ringers in Africa the real pleasure of entertaining him. if he did not contact them with a view to visiting the ringing chamber while in port.-Yours truly,
M. M. GODLEY.

Yetminster, Dorset.

HONEYMOON THANKS

Dear Sir.-Sincere thanks are duc to Mr. E. A. Stafford, of the Episcopal Cathedral of St. Mary, Glasgow, for arranging a handbell practice, which was surely an excellent way of soothing one's wedding eve nerves. Touches of Grandsire Triples and courses of Kent T.B. Major and Stedman Triples were attempted but proved ton difficult for the visitor: a well-struck touch of Bob Major, however, was brought round.

At Edinhurgh, 100, on the following Sunday (there were two of us by this time!) we were warmly welcomed. Bob Major and Grandsire Triples at St. Cuthbert's for morning service, and Stedman Doubles and Bob Minor for Evensong at St. Mary's added touches, of delight to a wonderful weekend in that fine city.

We would like, through the medium of 'The Ringing World ' to thank all concerned. and trust that we did not leave any conspicuous pieces of confetti on the floars.-Yours sincerely,

Mr. and Mrs. K. L. BROWN.
Blofiek, Norfolk.

LIVERPOOL TENOR

Dear Sir,-Readers who are interested in the correspondence relating to the 'turning in' of an 82 cwt . tenor, of Liverpool Cathedral, may care to know that this bell has been rung to Major on a number of occasions. On one occasion the exigence of the day required the back six being rung: no difficulty was experienced. May a word of appreciation here be offered to the two ladies who have taken part in the skilful though not laborious Major exertions on these bells?

Interest was aroused on our last 'open day ' by one who was capable of handling first the ninth (without any instruction such as 'Keep your back straight and your knees supple,' and - Put the least possible effort into the longest possible distance ') and later the tenor, in masterly fashion. The number of ringers who can handle these bells without, instruction, up to date-apart from the expert bands who showed how on the opening day-could be numbered on both hands.

Perhaps those correspondents who "tore into the College procedure and its aims will ponder these things. Knowing nothing of the College other than from 'R.W.' articles. I thought the 'gen' excellent, though the description too wordy; the closing down, a tragedy.-Yours very faithfully,
E. L. HUMPHRISS.

Woolton, Liverpool.

WALPURGIS NIGHT

> Last Tuesday was Walpurgis Night! According to James R. Lawson, carillonneur to the Laura Spelman Rockefeller Memorial Chapel, Chicago, on the eve of May? Day it was once customary for all the bells in Christendom to be rung all night for the purpose of scouring out wirches in the air witches being particularly bad on Walpurgis Night.
> An appropriate chime concert was gisen at the Mitchell Tower that evening.

A 4-BELL TOWER IN HEREFORDSHIRE

Dear Sir,-Looking through the list of 4-beli towers published in 'The Ringing World ' some time ago. I did not see the village of Clehonger, Herefordshire, included in the list.

There is a ring of four bells in this tower, which 1 was given to understand is ringable, through meeting during the war the Vicar of Clehonger (Rev. W. Gait) who was serving on No. 57 hospital ship in the Middle East, where I was a member of the ship's medical staff serving with the R.A.M.C. Mr. Gait served in both wars-as a soldier in 1914 and as a chaplain in the 1939-45 war. We had many pleasant chats about old churches and bells. He told me the ring of four at Clehonger was able to be rung in peal and that there was a band who rang there on Sundays. Perhaps some member of the Exercise in the Diocese of Hereford could confirm this.-Yours sincerely,
T. TAYLOR

WHAT IS A VARIATION?
Dear Sir,-The following peal of Mr. J. W. Parker has led to several questions in my mind whick your readers may be able to answer.

5,152 Double Norwich Court Bos Major $23456 \quad 1 \quad 4 \quad 6$

It seems to me that there is an idea used by the composer in producing this peal, namely, that he has put the 2 nd into 4ths place, so that calls at one and sirgles at four do not affect it. hence it never gets into $5-6$. Using this idea I recently put together another peal. It may have been produced before, but that does not concern this discussion.

Repeat twice.

There is some variation in the use of singles at six to make up the 15 courses necessary for one part of a 3 -part 5,040 , but nevertheless, it is based on the idea suggested by J. W. Parker's peal. Now, is this a variation? It certainly would not have occurred to me without first seeing the 5,152 .
This does lead to a much wider field of thought. Often published is a peal of Cambridge Major knoven as Johnson's Variation. Surely this is Middleton's well-known peal started with two homes before the first middle. Can I therefore write out the peal with one home before the first middle and call it Hill's Variation? This is obviously ridiculous. for it would follow that every peal would have as many variations as there are calls in it. So why Johnson's Variation?

Some months ago, both Mr. Denis Layton and Mr. Harry Poyner were reprimanded by your reacers for claiming peals as their own, which were far less obvious variations of previously produced peals than the Middleton/. Johnson case.

Why, then, have one set of rules for them and yet continue to publish peals as Johnson's Variation?

Perhaps some of your readers would comment on this question, and give some definition of variation.-Yours faithfully,

JOHN HILL.

NOT TRUE TO YORKSHIRE

Dear Sir.-Owing to a mistake in the arrangement of the peals of Superlative published in the first edition of the 'Ringers' Magazine. the footnote 'All true to Yorkshire' is incorrect.
Would all those possessing a copy of the magazine please hote that the first peal of Superlative given is not true to Yorkshire.

I am extremely sorry that this error has oc-curred--Yours sincerely,

RINGING IN ENGLAND 80 YEARS AGO

- CAMPANOLOGY

The Editor had shown a dislike for the word Campanology. This brought a letter from J. E. Hern, of Hurworth-on-Tees. He put in a plea for the word, saying that campana was Latin for bell, towers containing bells were campaniles, that from the introduction of halfpull changes such ringers were called campanists of campanologists, and that we had a number of 'Campanologias '-Clavis, Shipway's, Hubbard's and Sottanstall's. The Editor added :-
[' We object to the word Campanology because it is a mongrel word, composed of Greck and Latin. All other ologies are composed of two Greek words. We might as well say Bellology or call florists Florologists. If bell work is to be an ology it should be Kodonology, composed of two Greek words. Far better to drop it altogether and speak plain English, without modern affectation. It is possible that Mr. Ellacombe and other writers were led away by a vulgar error, not thinking about it; but now they see it is a mongrel word, and naturally prefer plain English.-Ed.']

A correspondent, J. F. T., puts in another piea for Campanology, and pointing out that - Mineralogy ' was used by Sir Thomas Browne, a classical writer, and that there was more to be said for Campanology than Mineralogy. The Editor added:-
[' Going through all the ologies from archzology to zoology, we believe campanology and mineralogy are the only two mongrels in use; so that they are in a minority; and we might as well say bellology. But we shall do no such thing, preferring the use of plain English, leaving others do do as they please.-Ed. $]$

DEADENING OF SOUND IN THE  \section*{BELFRY}

A correspondent, 'Brontauwr,' asked how one could deal with this problem where there was not room for an intermediate chamber. The Editor replied that he wondered how anyone could be found to touch a rope in such a position and suggested ringing from the pavement, ' in ecclesiæ conspectu.'

But 'W. Wigram' replied: 'It is not always possible to bring the ropes down to the ground

The noise of the bells may be subdued by covering the floor of the belfry itself with a few inches deep of sawdust, or of wellkneaded clay. Of course, all cracks between the floorboards must be effectually closed, or dust will run down, and light boards should be laid upon the sawdust and fastened down so as to keep all tidy.
The Editor added that other correspondents had offered the same advice-the only alternative to ringing from the pavement.

BELL-RINGING NUISANCE, AT  BLACKBURN, LANCASHIRE

By the Editor:

[ 0 On Monday and Tuesday, 5 th and 6th ult. (i.e., June, '76), the inhabitants of Blackburn were annoyed by a ringing contest on the parish church bells; music and faults being dinned into their ears from carly morn till night by a succession of change-ringing. we suppose the publicans had the best prize. No mention being made in the local papers of the sanction of the Vicar and the churchwardens, we trust they had no, voice in this desecration of the goods of the church intrusted to them for other purposes. We advise the respectable inhabitants who feel aggrieved by such proceedings to support the parochial authorities by memorialising them not to allow a recurrence of such a gathering in future. They will have the thanks of hundreds of ringers and some of the best in the kingdom. Such prize-ringings lower the respectability of the ringer and the noble science of change-ringing in the estimation of the public, and therefore we raise our voice against it.'-Ed.]

We are indebted to Supt. Claude Rush, of Eye, for the following exiracts from 'Church Bells,' Although this weekly periodical only devoted a part of a page to bells and ringers, much of the material is of interest even today. Contributors included Jasper W. Snowdon and C. A.W. Troyte.

[' We have been favoured with a strong protest against out article on the bell-ringing contest at Blackburn

We cannot alter our principles, holding all such contests in detestation, as useless and wasteful of money; considering, too, as we do, that the bells of our churches, being dedicated to the honour of Almighty God, were not set up for such unholy uses, which have nothing to do with the services of the, Church. If there be many who delight in such prize-ringing, let rings of bells be specially provided; and the towers of new Town Halls might be utilised for civil purposes, and then the bells in our churches will be spared from what we consider a desecration. $-E d$.']

GONG OR HANDBELL CONNEXIONS  WITH DUMB TOWER-BELLS

- Sir,-The necessity for constant practices on church beils is well known to persons engaged in teaching change-ringing; and so also is the excessive nuisance of such practices to persons living in the immediate neighbourhood of church towers, and especially those who. under any circumstances, are not fond of bells. For several years, therefore. I have, with the assistance of several practical friends, been trying to work out some plan by which tower-bells may, with their clappers lashed, be made to produce a sound in the ringing chamber which should not be heard outside the tower

I am happy to be able to say that this has now been successfully accomplished by Mr. Seage, of 17, Codrington Street, St. Sidwell's, Exeter; and I beg most strongly to recommend the adoption of his plan-a very simple one-to all persons interested in the matter. A description of the arrangement will be out of place here: but I may state that a pin is attached to the stay, so arranged as to strike an eccentric fitted to the framework of the bellcage. This eccentric is in connection with a crank, and the crank, by a wire, with a gong or handbell in the ringing chamber: and thus, with clappers lashed, any amount of rough practice may be carried on in the tower, and no annoyance occasioned in the neighbourhood, the ringers the while having the advantage of the exercise and a great part of the music of ringing with open clappers.

Mr. Scage will supply the gear complete for his arrangement for $15 /$ - a bell. An ordinary set of handbells can be used or gongs permanently fixed in the tower. Eight such gongs can be obtained for about $£ 1$ and fittings would not be likely to exceed $5 /$ - a bell. This, however, depends entirely on the tower in which the appliance is fixed.-Charles A. W. Troyte, Huntsham Court, Bampton, Devon. July 13 th, 1876.'

STRIKE OF BELLRINGERS AT DUNMOW (ESSEX)
-The bellringers at the parish church, Great Dunmow, refused to discharge their usual Dunmow, refused to discharge their usual prohibited them from ringing a foyous peal on: the previous Monday, in honouref the presentation of the "Dunmow Fhets so Mr. andMrs. Boosey, of Ventnor. The Vicar, howeyer, has succeeded in obtaining stubstitutes, Wo that the bells will not remain mute.-Standard.'

CANTERBURY BELLS AND RINGERS

- Sir,-Seeing in your issue of July 29th a: copy of the tablets in the belfry of Canterbury Cathedral, I am most happy to say that the peals recorded are well worthy of the men who performed them: but it may excite some surprise among your readers on seeing that no peal has been rung since 1827. Now the fact of the case is that the men who now have charge of the belfry are nothing but miserable bell-pullers, who scramble through set-changes only. It is a great pity that such a miserable state of things should exist in such a fine and noble cathedral, possessing so fine a ring of ten bells. May I suggest that some London ringing society would do well to make an excursion to Canterbury, as I am sure that the inhabitants would be highly gratificd by hearing some good and scientific change-ringing, the Dean's permission being first obtained.-ONE Inieresied in Chuzch Bells.

THE USE AND ABUSE OF CHURCH

 BELLS- Sir,-May I ask you to draw the attention of ringers to this subject. No doubt there is a line to be drawn, but the thing is-where? Church bells are, in my humble opinion, Church property, for the sole use of the Church's days of rejoicing or otherwise. When we see them perverted to all sorts of abuses, I think Churchmen should speak out. We have a fine ring of ten in our old church tower. I know you do not hold with Sunday ringing, but well do I remember the exquisite pleasure 1 used to feel on the Sunday morning, when our noble bells were rung for half-an-hour before the usual chiming for Divine Service (for which purpose a former vicar's wife had bequeathed some money-a real lover of church bells was she: all honour to her beloved memory!). Now we have a vicar who has done away with all this. The bells are silenced, except on practice nights or wedding days, when ringing for money is all that is thought worthy of musical insiruments dedicated by our fathers to the glory of God.

But on the 23rd was Kingston Regattaagainst which I have not a word to say-far from it. But now is the time for the flag to behoisted on the church tower, and the bells to send out their most joyous notes as though they were "lovers of pleasure more than lovers of God!". How different in a neighbouring parish (Richmond) where the Church's year and fistivals are observed in a proper manner! The bells are there used to call to a hearty service of prayer and praise, and the red-cross flag is hoisted and the people know that a real work is going on to the praise and glory of God.

- I was delighted that the Vicar of Great Dunmow used his authority in refusing to allow his church bells for a stupid ceremony lately in his parish. All honour to such ciergymen, I say. Would that there were more of them! H. E. J., Kingston-on-Thames.

A HINT TO STEEPLE-KEEPERS

Sir,-Perhaps it would not be out of the way to suggest the following to those with whom the responsibility rests for keeping the bell-frame, cage. stocks, wheels, etc., in good working order. It is essential that, after a long. dry time, when the woodwork shrinks. and consequently the screws, bolts, etc., get loose, that they should be looked to by an experienced person. as the going of new or recently-hung bells depends upon their being kept screwed up tight. If neglected, and the stock should set a little loose, the bells go bad, and are not ringable for good striking and change-ringing. Hence the reason of bells that go well for a time after the bell-hanger has finished them, but do not keep long in good ringing order. It is of great importance that they should be screwed regularly or evenly, as by screwing one side tight before you commence the other, you cannot get them level, but draw them athwart: -A. D. S. K (A Devonshire Steeple-kceper).

'Young Cumberland, in a long contribution entitled 'The New Bells for St. Paul's, and Bell-hanging,' says: ' . . Curiously tel say, that where a light ring of eight are crammed into a small tower they generally "go" well.

EBBW VALE WEDDING

The wedding took place at CErist Church. Ebbw Vale, on Easter Monday of Mr. Denzil Bruten, younger son of the late Mr. and Mrs. David Bruten, and Miss Audrey Stephens, elder daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Stephens. Both are faithful members and ringers at the church. The Rural Dean (Rev. Oliver Davies. B.A; officiated. and the organist was Mr. W. J. R. Davies. A.R.C.O.

The bride, who was given away by her father. the Master of the ringers, was attired in a dress of ivory brocade, with a shoulder veil: held in place by a coronet of lilies-of-the-valley. She carried a bouquet of pale pink carnations, lilies-of-the-valley and maidenhair fern.

She was attended by her sister Barbara and cousin Jennifer, who are both ringers. They wore turquoise brocade dresses with headdresses and mittens of the same colour. and carried posics of freesias and maidenhair fern.

The best man was Mr. Lawrence Ennis, and the ushers were Mr. Tom Williams (uncle) and Mr. Johi. Woodward (church friend and ringer). The reception was held in the Church Hall. and as the couple left the church the bells were rung by the local band.

Almost 80 guests sat down to breakfast. The company included 14 of the tower ringers. The honeymoon is being spent in the Lake District.

The numerous and lovely gifts included a barometer from the Christ Church ringers and a book rack from the ringers of $S_{i}$. Matthew's. Widcombe, Bath, where the bride had rung while in college.
The peal attenipt made on Easter Tuesday was unfortunately not successful.

NORFOLK AND SUFFOLK

 GRAMMAR SCHOOLS' OUTINGFor their second outing of the year, the grammar schools ringers chose the Diss district. The party assembled with bicycles at Diss on April 241 h , and members were present from Newmarket, Pakenham, Barking (Suffolk), Mulbarton. Walberswick, Bungay and Beccles.
The first tower was Rickinghall ( $6,10 \mathrm{cwt}$.), where various Minor and Doubles methods were rung before moving on to Hinderclay ( 6, 10 cwt .). These are a pleasant Taylor six and were thoroughly enjoyed. Hepworth bells (5, 7 cwt .) were a contrast, both tone and 'go ' being bad, and it was some time before anyone dared raisc the fourth because of its 'feel.' After a short ring. the bells were lowered.
A picnic lunch preceded ringing at Hopton ( $6,13 \mathrm{cWL}$.). The sally on the tenor rope here was found to be of fantastically large dimensions. and ringing was unfortunately curtailed owing to a broken rope.
Blo Norton bells ( 8 cwt .) were found to be a very fast going six and at pleasure to ring. and Garboldisham's ( $6,12 \mathrm{cwt}$.) are ponderoussounding bells, and after many futile attempts a touch of College Single Reverse was brought round, to the sheer delight of our Newmarket colleague.

At Thelnetham ( $5,9 \mathrm{cwt}$.) we learned that the bells had not been rung for some years and were supposedly unringable, but they proved to be a fair-going and pleasant-sounding five, although the fourth is cracked. The rector watched the ringing, which was a completely new experience for him.

After a short delay in obtaining the key, ringing commenced at Redgrave ( $6,10 \mathrm{cwt}$.), where it was agreed that here were the best bells of the day. After a hasty tea we proceeded to Palgrave ( $8,7 \mathrm{cwt}$.), where we were joined by Mr. Harry Moss. who added to the quality of the ringing. After the party dispersed, a few rang at Bungay ( $8,16 \mathrm{cwt}$.) en route for Beccles.
The day's ringing consisted of : St. Osmund, St. Martin's, St. Simon's, Plain Bob, Grandsire and Stedman Doubles, Plain Bob, Kent, Spliced Kent and Oxford, College Single Reverse, St. Clement's and Little Bob Minor, Bob Triples and Bob Major.

The thanks of the party are accorded to the organise:, Mr. Leslie Melton, for a most memorable and enjoyable day; also to the clergy for the use of the bells. Total mileage for the Becclesians was approximately 80 .

BELL DISAPPEARS FROM IPSWICH TOWER

Ipswich is concerned regarding the date the third bell disappeared from St. Mary Stoke Church, Ipswich. According to the 'Evening Star., the controversy began at the annual parochial church meeting recently, when the Vicar (Rev. C. H. B. Ridler) said that the third bellthe largest, weighing half a ton - had been lost since 1887.
B.at a local historian, writing to this newspaper, disputed it. He pointed out that in ${ }^{\text {ECounty}} \mathrm{Churches}$ of Suffolk (Vol. 2). by Mr. Hugh Bryant, published in 1912, it is mentioned that the church had three bells.

- On many occasions I have personally visited churches all over Suffolk and checked up on the number of bells as given by the author referred to, and in every single case he has been correct,' commented the historian.

THERE IN 1915?

Backing for his suggestion that the third bell disappeared later than 1887 came from a former vicar of St. Macy Stoke. Canon A. L. Woodard, who now hoids the benefice of St. Andrew-the-Great, Cambridge.
' I went to the church in 1915, and I thought the third beli was there then,' he said. '1 remember climbing up to the belfry up a long iron ladder and seaing that one of the bells was completely cracked. They told me there were three bells and that was what I always understood. I should say the third bell must have been moved after I left in 1924."

The Rev. T. B. Allworthy took over from Canon Woodard in 1924 and stayed ten years. He is now in retirement at Cambridge

- I never took much notice of the bells when I was at St. Mary Stoke. but I know that only two were ever rung,' he said.

Mr. Ridler commented: 'I put the date of the disposal of the bell at 1887 because at about that time a wall of the church was pulled down.'
It is probable that the bells were hung in the church tefore they were moved to the tower. There are traces of bell-frame in the masonry. In the tower now is the tongue of the missing bell.
The service records of the church are incomplete. It may be that other records, including thosz dealing with the disposal of the bell, are missing.

OBITUARY  MR. I. D. EVANS

The death occurred on April 15th of Mr. Isaac Dugmore Evans at the age of 83 years. ' Ike,' as he was affectionately known by his many fritnds in Willenhall and district, Staffordshire, was a member of St. Giles' band of ringers for over 40 years.

A member of the Society for the Archdeaconry of Stafford, he had rung 16 peals of Stedman Triples. His first peal was the first peal of Stedman Triples on St. Giles' bells by the local band. Ike was of a genial disposition and would often give way for someone else or would stand in when required. He would also support any scheme for the improvement of the bells or belfry. Amongst his many activities was that of sidesman and member of the Parochial Church Council.
The funeral service took place at St. Giles' Church, Willenhall, on April 18 th , conducted by the Vicar (Rev. A. G. Bond). An apology for absence was received from the Rev. C. H. Barker, clerical secretary of the Society for the Archdeaconry of Stafford. The chief mourners were Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Evans, son and daughte:-in-law. St. Giles' ringers were represented by J. T. Davies and C. Wallater. Floral tributes ircluded one from old ringing friends of St. Giles'.

MR. KENNETH PATTENDEN

Many ringers in Kent and Sussex will regret to hear of the passing of Mr. Ken Pattenden, of Northiam, Sussex, who died on April 13th at the East Sussex Hospital, Hastings, after a long and painful illness. He was 63 years of age and joined the Kent County Association in 1912 at Kilndown. Ho will be remembered by his peals in 1929 to 1933, rung with the late Charles Player, who died in April, 1933. Ken was an excellent ringer and enjoyed a heavy ring. He was awarded the Military Medal during the 1914-18 war.

The funeral was choral at Northiam on April 16 th, and the Vicar reminded us of Ken's life as a good Christian and friend. The hymns ' O God, our help in ages past' and 'Abide with me; were sung by the large congregation present. As' the coffin left the church for cremation, a course of Grandsire Triples was rung on handbells by Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Dobbie, A. Relfe and T. E. Sone. Also present were Mr. W. Button and Mr. and Mrs. F. Dallaway. T. E. S.

MR. H. BENJAMIN BULL

The All Saints', Huntingdon, band is poorer by the sudden death of Mr. H. B. Bull. 'Ben,' as, he was affectionately known by ringers, had bsen in failing health for the last three to four years. but it was only about cight weeks ago that be was forced to finish work. He had rung until last autumn, when it was suggested owing to the difficulty he had in walking that it would be better to stay in over the winter and come again in the spring. Death was caused by a fall at home on Saturday, April 20th, and it was a shock to ringers in the tower to learn the news when they assembled to ring for Easter morning.

Ben had rung in eight peals. He learnt to ring at Hartford befone the last war, but after the war he came and lived in Huntingdon, and joined the All Saints' band, where he was a most regular service ringer.

To the widow, young son and mother, sincere sympathy is extended. The funeral service took place at All Saints' on April 25th. It is hoped to attempt a peal to his memory. H. S. P.

A YOUNG WIVES TALE

TOM started it. He and I were cycling from college. He was a committee member of a youth club, and as such had to arrange a talk for one Sunday evening. 'Could you give a talk on bellringing?', he asked. 'I could,' I replied, 'if you are really short.' When we arrived at 'digs' we talked about it still further and Tom mentioned it to the landlady. 'You can give a talk to my Young Wives as well,' she said.
'Steady on,' I cautioned, 'wait until you hear what the talk is like. You may not wish to hear me.' However, the landlady must also have had some difficulty in arranging 'entertainment' for the Young Wives, of whom she was in charge, because she next asked me which of three dates was most suitable.

I chose the latest and then set to work. Some reading was first necessary. I have always felt that 'Standard Methods-Diagrams' was not the most suitable basis for a general talk. The library was well stocked, and besides being able to read 'The History and Art of ChangeRinging' I could have studied 'Legends of the Bells,' 'Church Bells of Lancashire' and carillon ringing. First I borrowed as many books as I had library tickets, and then I borrowed more library tickets. The problem of what to say had now changed to what not to say. The books were used since most contained photographs of bells being cast, hung or rung.

With all this material in front of me I sketched out a framework of the talk, and decided I would need handbells, a model bell and gramophone records. The handbells were borrowed quite easily and after some queries I was able to borrow a model bell. The records were more difficult to find. I mentioned the difficulty to the landlady. 'We have some at church,' she replied. Apparently her church was one where the congregation heard bells ringing each Sunday, but the church had neither bells nor tower.

The 'words and music' were now arranged and only the problem of 'musicians' remained to be solved. Not being over proud of my abilities or knowing many ringing friends who would willingly demonstrate to Young Wives, I asked Tom and his friend Geraldine to help. We practised call changes, Plain Hunt on six bells and a plain course of Grandsire Doubles. Tom and Geraldine played from 'music,' which may have spoilt the rhythm a little, but I think it was worthwhile since they had little time to practise and the 'music' gave them some confidence. Tom learnt the Cambridge chimes and a few hymn tunes to demonstrate the use of Ellacombe hammers. Lastly, we learnt five short songs which we thought would be easily recognisable. An important point, since the audience feels it has achieved something if it recognises a tune. In our case, as we had such little practice, I felt inclined to agree with this sentiment. After three or four Saturdays' practice we were ready.

Before the talk, my landlady said: 'I've invited some of the Mothers' Union. I hope you don't mind. And I have asked the Vicar to come. We'll use the big hall." These remarks were no doubt intended to be reassuring but merely increased my nervousness. The Tuesday evening came, and Tom, Geraldine and I went along early to get things ready and check the records. I had already used the gramophone to reduce the number of hitches.

About ten minutes before the talk the audience started coming in and chatting amongst themselves. With five minutes to go they began to take their places. "It's a bit early,' I thought, and looked up to see whether many more were to come. To my surprise I saw that most of those seated had taken out their knitting. This I found most disconcerting. Would they continue knitting right through my talk or just when they were bored, I wondered. Neither possibility appealed to me. Eight o'clock and time to start. 'Well, ladies.' the landlady said, refusing to recognise the presence of the two gentlemen in the audience. The knitting was put away as I was introduced.

I stood up to start and looked at the 'Young Wives.' It was quite frightening. They all looked at me. looked intelligent and keenly interested. 'As a mere male,' I began, 'it is with some trepidation I begin a talk to a group of Young Wives.' The talk continued and was interrupted by the landlady around nine o'clock when I had only the tunes to play. We had a break for tea and biscuits and questions, and I then chatted to those who were kind enough to still wish to speak to me. The evening was rounded off with the few easily recognisable tunes.

Whether the evening was successful is not for me to say, but I can say not one of them took out their knitting.

PACKWOOD BELLS

Now at the Loughborough foundry for retuning prior to hanging in a new frame are the bells of Packwood, Warwickshire. They are the back five of a light ring of six cast by Bagley in 1686. It is believed that the frame to be replaced is the original ; it suffered from rot and nearly 300 years of 'handymen.' In spite of this they were still ringable as a quarter peal was rung there on March 29th.
This was to have been a farewell peal attempt of Minor, but due to an accident the band met short, so hurriedly mustered the services of another local ringer and one from a neighbouring tower, who was known to be having tea in the district. Both are to be congratulated on ringing their first quarter literally at a moment's notice.

Non-conducted Bob Maximus

The peal of Bob Maximus rung nonconducted at High Wycombe on Easter Monday (see page 274) was to replage one rung with an extra lead in the last course at Reading a few months ago.

As in their non-conducted peals of Major and Royal, the band pledged themselves to absolute silence through out (not even 'Go.' 'That's all' or 'Stand' being said). The treble and eleventh ringers crossed in 11-12 in the last course at Reading and, though everyone but the miscreants knew what had happened. the band was forced ultimatelv to ring to the treble, thus inserting a lead in the final course.

Not deterred, and determined to maintain their standard of nor-conducted peal ringing, the band tried again at High W ycombe with success.

SOUTHWELL DIOCESAN GUILD

The April meeting of the Nottingham District was held at Attenborough. Although the attendance was not particularly good, members enjoyed ringing in various Triples and Major methods during the afternoon. A short service was conducted by the Vicar (Rev. R. T. Warburton) and a sumptuous tea was provided in the Church Hall.
At the business meeting the chair was taken by Canon R. F. Wilkinson. More ringing followed in the evening. We were most interested to hear that Attenborough has spent no less than $£ 27,000$ on repairs to its church during the last 12 years, and that only $£ 90$ of that still needs to be raised!

MANCHESTER RINGERS IN STAFFORD AND DERBY

On Easter Monday 33 ringers of average agc 21 years 8 months travelled by coach for the Manchester Young Ringers' third annual outing. At Newcastle-under-Lyme ( $10,16 \frac{1}{2}$ cwt.) Oxford Royal awakened the local inhabitants very early in the morning, and later ringing included a good course of Bristol on the back eight, Breakfast was completed on the way to Stafford ( $10,19 \mathrm{cwt}$.), where Stedman Caters was the most successful ringing.
The highlight of the day was Lichfield Cathedral, where we were privileged to ring for Evensong on the very fine ten (tenor $31 \frac{1}{2}$ cwt.). The bells seemed to overawe our ringers and the striking did not do full justice to them, but Grandsire Caters, Bob Royal and Double Norwich were successfully brought round.

An hour later we were at our second cathedral of the tour at Derby ( $10,19 \mathrm{cwt}$ ). Here ten of our lady ringers " manned 'the bells for a few call-changes, and as on other occasions during the day, our amateur photographers armed with flash equipment were able to record the event for posterity
After a very large dinner we arrived at our last tower, Chesterfield, another excellent ten ( $25 \frac{1}{2} \mathrm{cwt}$.). Here we finished the day's ringing under the crooked spire with Littke Bob Rayal and Stedman Caters. The homeward drive with the ladies and men surprisingly evenly distributed throughout the coach brought the enjoyable day to its close.
Our thanks are due to all the local ringers who made us welcome, to the clergy at the towers visited for permitting us to ring the bells, and finally to Joan Cardwell and Alan Ward. for once more organising a very successful tour.

Mr. Frank Sinkins, the veteran in his 93 rd year, who has been indisposed for a few weeks, is now well enough to take part in service ringing. At Streatham on April 28th, he rang for goth services, which included a 630 Grandsire Triples on the second. His many friends at Slough and elsewhere will be giad to know this.

Whittlesey is in Cambridgeshire and not Huntingdonshire, writes J. W. Chapman, of Streatham, who is a former Whittlesey ringer. He asks peal reporters to take a special note.
The peal of London Surprise Minor at Brant Broughton (see page 260) was Mr. Walter Tomlinson's first of Minor in the method. He has, of course. many peals of London Surprise Major to his credit.
The extents rung in the seven Minor methods peal at Hinxworth (see page 260) were Double Court. St. Clement's, Cambridge Surprise, Oxford T.B., Double Oxford, Plain Bob and Kent T.B., and not as printed.

Prior to a special Rogation Day service, broadcast from Macclesficld Parish Church on Sunday May 26th, at $9.30 \mathrm{a}, \mathrm{m}$., the bells will be heard. The broadcast is in the North Home Service only.
When young ringers of Llandaff Cathedral visited Llantrisant during an outing on Easter Monday they were shown by the Vicar the remains of the foundry where several of the bells were cast, which is situated under the tower.
Another Rogation broadcast on May 26th is from Stonchouse Parish Church at 9.30 a.m.. when the bells will be heard before the service. The broadcast will be in the London and the West Home Services.

BELFRY GOSSIP

Recorded this week is a peal at St. George's, Bolton (of Canon H. J. Elsee fame). The bells are set high in a brick tower which rocks considerably, but in spite of a difficult 'go,' a good peal was scored. The peal was a farewell to the Rev. Ernest Wright, who after five successful years as vicar leaves for Birkdale, Southport.

From ' Ringing Towers' we learn that Miss Enid Lloyd Roberts, of Swindon, has been tower-grabbing in Tasmania. She had some Bob Doubles at St. David's and Holy Trinity Churches, Hobart.

All the Kingswinford ringers are very pleased with the fine performance young David Downing (aged 9) gave when he rang his first quarter for Easter Sunday evening service. Much of the credit for this boy's achievement is due to the patience of Mr. C. F. Jukes.

When the London County Association, Northern District, held their quarterly meeting at St. Botolph's, Bishopsgate, on April 27th, a recommendation was submitted for the appointment of the Rev. H. Evan Hopkins, Rector of St. Mary-le-Bow, as vice-patron of the Association. Ringing, supervised by the District Master, Mr. C. A. Hughes, ranged up to Superlative Surprise.
Mr. W. B. Kynaston, of Swindon, was feeling far from well when the starting time drew near for the peal of Stedman Cinques at St. Mary Redcliffe, on Easter Monday, in honour of the 50th anniversary of Mr. Frederick G. Leaker's first peal on the bells. A 'phone call brought David Heighton to the belfry and he stood in to score his first peal of Stedman Cinques. The start and end of the peal was recorded by the B.B.C. and will be in' the 'Faith in the West' programme today (West Regional).

ALTERATION OF RULES

14. (a) To amend Rule 9 (Election of Officers) by inserting the words 'Vice-President', between the words 'President' and 'Honorary Secretary' where they occur
(b) To amend Rule 11 (Committees). Clause (ii) (a) by adding at the end the words ' and the Vice-President for the time being.'
(c) To amend Rule 14 (Procedure at Meetings) by inserting the words ' or VicePresident ' after the word 'President where it occurs.

MOTIONS

15. (a) That this Council, as the representative assembly of all change-ringing associations, deprecates the proposed introduction of academic titles for ringers, particularly by a body which is not recognised by or affiliated to the Council. Proposed by Mr. P. A. Corby, seconded by Mr. J. T. Dunwoody.
(b) That this Council, while appreciating the good intentions of the organisers. considers that the so-called College of Campanology is unlikely to prove of any service to the furtherance of the Art of Change-Ringing; and therefore that no form of official recognition whatever be accorded to the organisation. In addition, valuable space in the Council's official organ, 'The Ringing World,' should not be wasted by the publication of any further 'College Manuals'; the Exercise being already well supplied with instruction manuals. Proposed on behalf of the Society of Royal Cumberland Youths by Mr. P. N. Bond, seconded by Mr. F. E. Hawthorne.
(c) That the attention of the responsible Electrical or Ecclesiastical Authority be drawn to the dangerous practice of permitting bell chamber, ringing room and staircase lights to be controlled from the main switch box by one master switch; that in cases where such a state of affairs exists the authority be asked 10 fix cautions against switching off without due investigation.
Proposed by Mr. A. C Hazelden, seconded by Mr. A. H. Pulling.
(d) That this Council deplores the change of name of a standard method in "The Ringing World ' and declares that in its view, 'Bob' is a general term for a class of methods and should not be substituted for the 'Plain Bob' which indicates a particular method in that class.
Proposed on behalf of the Oxford Dio. cesan Guild by Mr. A. D. Barker, seconded by Mr. W. Butler
16. To fix the place of the next meeting.
17. Any other business.

GUILD of DEVONSHIRE RINGERS

Branch Meeting at Moretonhampstead

The Mid-Devon Branch held a quarterly meeting at Moretonhampstead on April 27th. when there was a good attendance of members as well as visitors from the Exeter and South West Branches.
The bells were put to good use throughout the afternoon. this being followed by a service in church, which was conducted by the Rev. A. D. Coleridge (Rector), who welcomed the members. His brother, Rev. N. F. D. Coleridge, of Dartmouth, acted as organist.
After tea at the Alexandra Cafê, the usual business mecting followed, with Mr. J. E. Lilley in the chair. Apologies for absenec were received from Mr. B. E. Bartlett, of Torquay, and Mr. and Miss Goss, of Townstal. It was announced that another meeting would be held at Townstal on May 18th, also a joint meeting with the South West Branch at Torquay, subject to the usual permission being obtained. Hearty votes of thanks were accorded to the Rector for the use of his bells and for his great welcome.

LEICESTER GUILD REJECTS INCREASED SUBSCRIPTIONS

THE annual meeting of the Leicester Diocesan Guild was held in Leicester on April 27th. During the afternoon the bells of St. Margaret's (12). Cathedral (12) St. John-the-Divine (10), All Saints' (8) and St. Mary's (8) were rung until service time. The service was held in the Cathedral at 4.15 , the address being given by the Provost.

Tea had been arranged in St. John's Schoolroom. and 130 sat down to a meal prepared by the Mothers ${ }^{\text {© }}$ Union. Following tea the president (Mr. P. L. Taylor) took the chair for the business meeting. He was supported by Messrs. P. A. Corby and E. C. Turner (vice-presidents), Mr. S. Burton (peal secretary). Mr. A. E. Rowley (treasurer) and Mr. B. G. Warwick (general secretary).

In his opening remarks. the president announced apologies from the Archdeacon of Leicester, the Archdcacon of Loughborough, the Lord Bishop of Leicester, the Provost and Canon Blackmore (Rector of Bottesford). He then referred to the sad news that he had only just heard that Mr. Josiah Morris (father of Ernest Morris) had passed away during the afternoon. "Old Joe," as he was affectionately called, was known as the "Rhythm King," for his ability to maintain a very good beat on handbells. He was an honorary life member of the Guild and was held in very high esteem amongst all members. The meeting stood in silence as a token of respect. and the secretary was asked to write a letter of sympathy to his son, Ernest.

The president then welcomed the visitors to the meeting. They included Mr. and Mrs. Marin, from Derby, Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Smith (and Stephen), from Norfolk, Mr. and Mrs F. J. Williams, from Worksop, and Miss E. Yardley, from Birmingham.

Membership certificates were presented to the following new members: Cyril Brown (Hinckley), Jack Handford and Robert Handford (Mountsorrel), Christine A. Howlett (Whitwick), Sidney Parker and Graham Stonehouse (Queniborough), D. Roger Lewin (Syston), Pamela Groocock (Sapcote) and Clive Hayward (Stoney Stanton).

Presenting his report, the treasurer stated that once again it had been necessary to withdraw from the rescrve funds to balance the budget for the year. It would be impossible 10 do this in the future as the balance in the General Fund now stood at only $£ 32$. Either the subscription would have to be raised, or they could not publish a report. During the year they had donated from the Bell Repair Fund $£ 21$ to Coleorton. $£ 2$ 2s. to Barrow-on-Soar, and $£ 21$ to Billesdon. Collections during the year amounted to $£ 30$ and there was a balance remaining of $£ 163$. The Catering Fund, which had been accumulated to meet the cost of entertaining the Central Council, had been depleted to just a small balance. which would meet any small emergency in the future.

The hon. peal secretary stated that during the past year 172 peals had been rung. compared with 168 for 1955 . Tower-bell peals included 11 of Stedman Triples, 10 of Cambridge Major and 12 of Yorkshire Major. Of the 36 handbell peals, 11 were of Plain Bob Major. Methods rung for the first time were Frolesworth Surprise Major, Glenparva Surprise Major, Hungarton Surprise Major, Ingarsby Surprise Major, John o' Gaunt Surprise Major and Knossington Surprise Major. On handbells, peals of Spliced Plain Major in three, four and five methods were rung for the irst time for the Guild, as also was a peal of Spliced Royal in three Plain methods. All these were conducted by the general secretary. Conducting had been shared by 38 people, 13 had rung their first peal, three their first as conductor, 232 their first in the method and 19 their first in the method as conductor. Personal milestones were: Mr. E. Morris, 1,600th peal: Mr. P. J. Staniforth, 500th peal: Mr. B. G. Warwick, 400th peal; Mr. J. A. Acres and Mrs. B. G. Warwick, 300th peal : J. A. Underwood, 150 th peal ; Mr. C. E. Carr, J. M. Jelley, E. F. Payne, 100 th peal: Miss D. Dutton and Mr. R. Wilmore, soth peal. An outstanding performance was that of Alan Cattell, who rang two tower-bells (3-4) to a peal of Yorkshire Surprise Major, which he also composed and conducted.
The general secretary reported that during the year 604 members paid their annual subscription. There were 128 members who had not paid their 1956 subscription. During the year 55 resident member and 38 non-resident members were elected. Three quarterly meetings had been held, at Syston, Bottesford and Market Harborough. In addition, the annual dinner was held at Shelthorpe. Loughborough. in honour of Mr. P. L. Taylor (president) Outstanding events of the year included the visit of the Central Council at Whitsuntide and the visit in August of Mr. A. P. Cannon's touring party. This tour, organised by the general secretary, rang 13 peals and visited over 60 towers in the diocese during the week. An amazing feature was that there were no refusals for requests for peals and only two refusals for a short ring One of the highlights of the week was the broadcasting by the B.B.C. of the Foundry bells and a talk by Mr. A. P. Cannon. This tour enabled the general secretary to get to know many of the rather more isolated of the Guild's towers. During the year Mr. Thomas Friar, of Earl Shilton. and Mr. H. G. Jenney. of Leicester Cathedral. had been transferred to the list of honorary life members.
The reports were adopted on the proposition of Mr. W. A. Lacey, seconded by Mr. M. B. Bowley.

AMENDMENTS TO RULES

There were several propositions concerning amendments to the rules. It was proposed by Mrs. P. A. Corby, seconded by Mr. E. C. Turner. that junior members under 18 years of age shall pay 1 s . 6 d . entrance fee and annual subscription. This was carried.
It was proposed by Mr. B. G. Warwick, seconded by Mr. R. F. Elkington. that the rules should be printed in the report, with a view to keeping them up to date. After being delayed until the end, this was carried. Mr. C. W. Hall proposed that the president should be elected to serve for three years. This was seconded by Mrs. B. G. Warwick, and after discussion the motion was lost1 by a large majority. In order to speed up the publication of the report it was proposed by Mr. B. G. Warwick, seconded by Mr. B. S. Payne, that the auditors should be elected at the annual general mecting instead of at the first quarterly meeting of the year. This was carried.

Mr. B. S. Payne proposed that the quarterly meetings should be held on the second Saturday in February, July and September, and to be held in turn in each of the six districts. This was seconded by Mr. H. L. Wykes. An amendment to substitute 'November'. for 'September' was ruled out of order. The original proposal was carried, 42 voting for and 39 against.

In order to give a more representative vote, it was proposed by Mr. E. C. Turner, seconded by Mr. S. Burton, that the delegates to the Central Council meeting should be elected at the annual general meeting and serve for three years from January 1st following their eicction. After discussion, this was carried.
A proposal by Mr. B. G. Warwick, seconded by Mrs. B. G. Warwick, to delete the rule which states that there shall be no peal ringing on the days of the General or District meetings at the place of the meeting, was defeated by a large majority

Mr. P. A. Corby proposed and Mr. J. P. Fidler seconded, that each peal acknowledged and recorded by the Guild comply with the decisions of the Central Council as printed in the 1956 edition of the Central Council Handbook. This was carried.

SUBSCRIPTION NOT INCREASED

A long and lively discussion ensued when Mr H. L. Wykes proposed that the annual subscription should be raised to 3s. 6d. This was seconded by Mr. K. A. Roe. Mr. F. K. Measures (chairman of the Hinckley District) said that it was sometimes difficult to get members in the rural areas to pay 2 s . 6 d ., and they certainly would not pay 3 s . 6 d . In that case, the Guild would be worse off. In the Hinckley District they felt very strongly against an increase. On being put to the vote, the motion was lost by a large majority. Mr. Measures then suggested that the committee explore means of raising money for the Guild so that the report could be printed as usual.
The following officers were elected: Mr. P. L. Taylor, president: Messrs. P. A. Corby and E. C. Turner, vice-presidents; Mr. S. Burton, hon. peal secretary: Mr. A. E. Rowley, hon. treasurer ; Mr. B. G. Warwick, hon. general secretary : and Messrs. W. J. Root and R. Prime. auditors.
The next quarterly meeting would be held on July 13th at Hinckley. The annual dinner would be held in Leicester on November 2nd.
Following the meeting the bells of St. John-the-Divine were available for further ringing.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

RINGING AT MICKLETON

Dear Sir,-1 must point out to Mr. Lonsbrough the circumstances in which a quarter peal of Grandsire Doubles was recently rung at Mickleton with 1-2 leading continuously and the tenor covering.
Firstly, he assumes erroneously that I am not a local ringer. In fact, although I usually ring in the Oxford district, my home is at Mickleton and I was taught to ring there.
As March 17 th was the 69 th birthday of the veteran of the local band. it was thought fitting to mark the occasion by ringing a quarter peal hefore morning service. However, no special arrangements were made, and consequently ten members of the local band arrived-fortunately a regular occurrence at this tower We could have rung Grandsire Triples, but preferred to ring Doubles with two leading bells so that none of the younger ringers need be eliminated. Although this is of course contrary to the Central Council regulations for peals, we find it a particularly useful means of giving our less experienced ringers practice while maintaining a high standard of striking for Sunday service ringing. One ringer immediately volunteered to stand down. and I agreed to conduct without ringing so that everyone else could participate. I anderstand that this was made legal even for peal ringing by an amendment to Rule 1 (c) of the rules for peal ringing passed at the Central Council meeting of 1955 (see "The Ringing World of June 24th. 1955. page 395).
Although I agree that the ringer of the bell leading continuously for 1.260 blows cannot be said to have rung a quarter peal of Grandsire Doubles. I feel that he should be given some credit for having struck his bell correctly at lead for this length, and consequently I added the words 'first quarter to his name. In any case. 'The Ringing World 'space wasted to print this is surely negligible compared to that occupied by Mr. Lonsbrough's letter and its inevitable reply.
In conclusion. may I through your columns express my thanks to Mr. F. G. Kinchin, both for introducing me to the art of ringing and for maintaining in Mickleton band of young ringers of whom the village may justly feel proud.-Yours faithfully.

DONALD H. NIBLETT.

WINCHESTER COLLEGE BELLS

Dear Sir.-I, too. was interested in the notes about Winchester College bells. It is quite possible that Mr. K. G. Hoare did ring them in 1918 as well as dream of doing so
The ban was not rigid in 1919. During that year I was stationed at Winchester in H.M. Forces, and joined the Cathedral band. On two occasions we rang at the College tower with the late Mr. W. Andrews in charge of the proceed-ings.-Yours faithfully.

Coleshill. Birmingham.

MR. W. C. LAMPARD

Dear Sir.-The captain of Winchester Cathedral. Mr. W. C. Lampard, completed f6 years as a ringer there on Easter Sunday. He took his usual part in the ringing as he has done almost without exception twice every Sunday and on practice nights ever since I have known him. (is) 66 years in one tower a record?)
He still takes a turn on the hack bells, and has been known to "bump ' the tenor ( $35 \frac{1}{2} \mathrm{cwt}$.) when he wanted the rest of us on the "inside."
Not bad for an old in!-Youts sincerely.
W. O. HAYTHORNE.

WHEN WRITING FOR TOWERS

Dear Sir,-As an organiser of many ringers outings,' I do not agree with 'Equas, who expects organisers to write direct to tower captains in the first instance when applying for permission to ring. We must all recognise that the incumbent is in complete charge of the bells of his church. and outing organisers, who cannot be expected to know of all individual relationships between tower captains and incumbents. must, of course, conform to business etiquette. and write for the permission to ring to the person in charge.
One does not write to a certain bank clerk, whom you might know will deal with your business: when you write to a bank, you write to the manager. It is usually more difficult. too. to find out names and addresses of tower captains of small villages and out-of-the-way places. despite seeking advice from area secretaries, rather than by consulting Crockford. which can usually be found in the public library, and which gives all the names and addresses of the incumbents of the British Isles.
It is, of course, courtesy for the incumbent to inform his tower captain of any request for the bells, and to seek his advice and co-operation, but surely this is a matter of good local relations between the two concerned, and if - Equus has a forgetful or casual incumbent. then he will have to jog his memory from time to time to sec what is happening.-Yours sincerely,
Northampton
S. F. EARL.

A COMPOSITION BY J. REEVES

Dear Sir,-The composition of Spliced Cambridge. Superlative and Yorkshire Surprise Major, rung at Loughborough on March 27th, 1957, and published recently in "The Ringing World , under the name of Mr. Shirley Burton. is by J . Reeves. It was rung to Radnor Surprise Major by the Cambridge University Guild at Ely on December 1st, 1956. Whether the slight variation in the omission of the two blocks of three hobs at Home is necessary to ensure the truth of the composition when rung to Spliced I do not know. but even if this is so the claim to originality can hardly be maintained. - Yours faithfully,

ALL SORTS AND CONDITIONS OF RINGERS :

Dear Sir,-Unhappily there are still a few towers where conduct is of a very low standard and the ringers are as rough as are sometimes the bells they ring. Although beer in the belfry seems to be a thing of the past, smoking still continues in some. The following is a true account of what the writer experienced recently.
Prior to my contacting the incumbent I called in on a local practice night to ask if it would be in order for a band to ring there later in the week. To the question Who is in charge? came the reply. 'We all are, and equally in unison, 'Yes, it will be all' right. You had better get the key at so-and-so's. "This complete freedom of the tower was the only point in their favour which I could find.
At the finish of the rounds (?) in progress. when I entered. cigarettes were produced and lit up, and to go with this the conversation included the obviously habitual swear words which had been used throughout the day-and all this in the church itself, the ringing being done on the ground floor.
A complaint was made about the 'go' of the third bell. Promptly one man ascended the unMi , narrow staircase to inspect it, and to do so had to climb over the bell pit of the upturned tenor. and this only by the aid of a box of matches! Any remarks, on my part, of this behaviour would not have had the slightest effect.
While I remained, two further periods of rounds were attempted by means of slap-happy brute force. Neither time was I asked to ring, although they know me well enough. The correct or even reasonably safe way of handling a rope was far from evident (there is plenty of unguided rope). You may say, perhaps, that they have never been shown otherwise. They have-and how do I know? I kearnt to ring in this tower with some of those present.
Circumstances later obliged me to offer my services to another tower, and I thank God that by this I have been able to give, as my Association rules say, 'true service to the Church,' and enjoy real comradeship in ringing.
Evidence of cobwebs, cigaretteends and ash in the base of the tower, used also as the vestry. makes one wonder what sort of people clean and use this church. What a contrast to the tower I visited only two days before, where the captain was arranging flowers in a vase on the table of a well-kept belfry.

I sincerely hope that an opportunity will come when matters can be put right without fuss. A quiet word perhaps in the right place might do the trick. Obviously the last thing one wants to do with ringers like this is to turn them out of the tower and away from the Church-futile action which has so often been taken in the past and consequently left towers without ringers for years.-Yours, etc.,

WEST OF ENGLAND RINGER

DEREYSHIRE'S 4-BELL TOWERS

Dear Sir .-The following list of 4 -bell tewers in Derbyshire might be of some use: Cubley (excellent). Marston-on-Dove (good condition. the ring contains the oldest bell in the county). Elvaston (derelict), Muggington (not too good). Draycott-hy-Breaston (wheels stored in belfry. otherwise good condition). Foremark (a good Oldfield four). Ashford-in-the-Water (good condition) and Chelmorton (hung in a 5 -bell frame).

There are also many 3 -bell towers (about 25). some of which, such as Chellaston, Egginton, Morley and Barrow-on-Trent. are rung regularly by their own bands.-Yours faithfully.

MR. C. J. SEDGLEY RETIRES FROM SUFFOLK GULLD

 MASTERSHIPTWIE annual general meeting of the Suffolk Guild was held at Ipswich on April 27th, when the bells of St. Mary-le-Tower (12), St. Margaret's (8), St. Clement's (6) and St. Matthew's (6) were put to good use during the morning and evening. Ringing ranged from rounds to Surprise Maximus. The service in St. Mary-le-Tower Church was conducted by the Rev. M. N. France.
Mr. C. W. Pipe (vice-president) presided at the business mecting in St. Stephen's Hall, which was attended by about 50 members.
The report of the Ringing Master (Mr. C. J. Sedgley) recorded that 83 peals were rung for the Guild during the year. an increase of 32 . These peals were rung in 42 towers and conducting was shared by 28 members, one peal being non-conducted-a new performance for the Guild. It was pleasing to note the continued appearance of several young members among the conductors, and it was to them that they looked to carry on the traditions of the Guild for good ringing. More especially they noted Ken Brown, who heads the list of conductors with 12, John Blythe, Peter Kindred, Donald Mills (who has now called a Surprise peal for each bell in the circle), Rod Pipe (the youngest member of a talented family) and Rosemary Seabrook, who besides calling a peal in seven methods took part in a non-conducted peal. While the accent was on youth, they could not help referring to one of the elder brethren, George Symonds. who during the year rang his 250 th peal as conductor. The East Anglian preference for 'Tenor in ringing persists, and apart from eight peals of Doubles, only two odd-bell peals appear.

The general secretary (Mr. John W. Blythe) in his repert stated that membership remained about the same, gains in new members merely compensating losses due to death and other reasons. With deep regret, they recorded the passing of Arthur Ballard (Cavendish), Harry Backler (Haverhill), George Berry (Wickham Market). Rev. F. R. Keightley (Tuddenham), Fred Munnings (Mendham), Charles Whiting (Leiston) and George Wightman (Cretingham). Men such as these were hard to replace and they must make every effort to secure and train recruits who would be worthy successors.
The accounts showed a reasonably healthy state of affairs, but must be watched with caution. The general account showed an increase of $£ 2$ ) over the year, but they were not in a position to make further transfers to the Restoration Fund. Would all District secretaries please pass the plate round during tea at all meetings of the Guild for the Restoration Fund? $G r a n t s$ had been made to Polstead, £1965.. and St. Mary-le-Tower, Ipswich, $£ 25$.

Mr. Leslie G. Brett, of Framsden, was elected Ringing Master in succession to Mr. C. J. Sedgley, who had been in office since the formation of the Guild in the early twenties. The chairman paid tribute to Mr. Sedgley's long and devoted service to the Guild, and in recognition of his work it was unanimously agreed that he become a vice-president.

Mr. J. W. Blythe was re-elected general secretary and treasurer, Mrs. Blyth minutes secretary and Mr. J. W. H. Preastner hon. auditor. An enlarged committee of 12 was elected. Mr. Ranald Clouston was appointed technical adviser to the Guild in order to give recognition to the work he already undertakes. Messrs. L. G Brett. C. W. Pipe. K. G. Brown and J. W. Blythe were elected representatives to the Central Council.
Three new members were elected. The next annual general meeting is to be held at Bury St. Edmunds on the Saturday after Easter next year.

The meeting closed with a vote of thanks to all concerned in making the meeting a success.

YORKSHIRE ASSOCIATION  Eight Ringers Complete Half Century of Service

To celebrate eight members of the Eastern District completing 50 years' membership of the Yorkshire Association. Mrs. J. J. Tyler, of Goole, made a beautiful cake for the tea at the spring meeting of the District, held at Beverley on April 27th. The cake was cut by the vicepresident (Mr. A. E. Sellers), who was one of the eight. Oihers honoured were Messrs. T. W. Robbins (Escrick), A. B. Cook (Hull). H. Rod. mell, L. Rodmell and T. Goodin (Sutton), and G. Horner and F. Atkinson (York). Mrs. Tyler was heartily thanked for making the cake.
About 30 members attended and good use was made of the two very fine rings of ten at the Minster and St. Mary's Churches in the afternoon and evening respectively. The service was held at St. Mary's Church.
At the business meeting Miss Janet Porter, of Sutton. was elected a member of the Association. and an invitation by Mr. H. Walker to hold the next meeting at York on July 6th was unanimously accepted. Votes of thanks were accorded to the vicars and local companies and also to the ladies who had prepared and served tea. The collection for the Association's Bell Repair Fund realised 19s. 6d.

Mr. Cyril Chambers, of Durban, gave a demonstration of handbell ringing on April 18th over all English transmitters of the South African Broadcasting Corporation.

GRANDSIRE TRIPLES INSIDE STORY

I learnt the art of 'hand' and 'back.' I rang in rounds with bell untied. 1 hunted treble through the pack, But $I$ shall never ring inside.

I count my places, more or less, I watch the ropes till I'm cross-eyed, But what to do I cannot guess
When called upon to ring inside.
As bell in hunt I know my job. Although my leads are rather wide. But someone always calls a bob And then 1 have to ring inside.
Hold up on back ' (or is it hand?). Dodging is simple-till it's tried. Thei rules 1 seem to understand. Till 1 attempt to ring inside.

To pass the treble 1 forget. My course bell always seems to hide. Which was the bell that last I met? Oh. I shall never ring inside!

1 read the books, and learn the schemes. But further progress is denied.
This is the end of all my dreams. And I shall never ring inside.
It was reported at the annual parochial meeting of Aylsham, Norfolk, that the bells needed rehanging. Aylsham have ten bells with a tenor of 20 cwt .

LLANDAFF AND MONMOUTH

Presentation to Mr. A. J. Pitman

TN good weather a good attendance spent an enjoyable afternoon at St. John's, Cardiff, on Easter Monday, where the 63rd annual meeting of the Association was held. The bells were kept going for two hours before the service. timed for 40 'clock. Owing to repairs to the roof at St. John's, due to the ravages of death watch beetle, this was held at St. James' (a daughter church), and was conducted by the Vicar (Canon T. M. Hughes), who extended a warm welcome to the visitors.
After the service the visitors were kindly entertained to tea, ably presided over by Mrs. Lewis, to whom, on the proposition of the Rev. Ivor J. Richards, the thanks of the members were extended.

Before the actual business commenced. Mr. A. J. Pitman was presented with a filing cabinet which had been subscribed for by members of the Association. After the Rev. Ivor Richards and Mr. T. M. Roderick had spoken of Mr. Pitman's great services to the Exercise and his outstanding genius as a composer, Mr. J. Alsop. on behalf of the Association, made the presentation. . Mr. Pitman suitably replied
The meeting learned with regret of the recent death of Mr. J. Darch. of Pontypridd.
The Rev. Ivor Richards presented the balance sheet. which showed a balance of $£ 518 \mathrm{~s}$. 7d.. but it was explained that if the various officers had claimed all the expenses they were entitled $t 0$. it would have been much less. Mr. R. Lucas suggested one or two changes in the set up of the sheet. and said he thought the bell restoration fund should be banked as a separate account. The balance sheet was accepted.

The secretary reported that 24 peals were rung during the year. He also gave a list of books and papers belonging to the Association, explaining that they were all in his keeping.

CHEPSTOW BELLS

All the officers were re-elected, except that Mr. R. Lucas was elected in place of Mr. Reg Addis as auditor. Mr. T. Yeomans was elected Master for the year. Members were pleased to hear that there is a prospect of Chepstow bells being restored at an early date. It was decided to donate flo towards the cosi.
A discussion arose on the disposal of the books and papers of the late J. W. Jones, which had generously been given to the Association by Mr. J. Alsop. It was finally decided that, as Mr. Jones had for so long been connected with All Saints', Newport, they should be housed in the ringing chamber there.

The secretary reported that he had seen the Dean of Llandaff regarding the replacing of the Association's war memorial tablet in the Cathedral. with the addition of one name for a member killed in World War II. Mr. Roderick, in whose care the tablet now is, said there was not room for the additional name without adding to the tablet.

Next item discussed was tha form of service. The secretary said the committee found difficulty in finding a suitable second hymn for the blank page at the end of the book. It was decided that as the annual meeting was always held on Easter Monday an Easter hymn would be suitable, and 135 A . and M. was chosen.
St. Woolos*, Newport, was selected as the place of the next annual meeting.

Four new members and one life member were elected. The meeting ended with thanks to the chairman (Canon T. M. Hughes).

CUMBERLAND AND NORTH WESTMORLAND ASSOCIATION

MEMBERSHIP of the Cumberland and North
Westmorland Association has risen during the past year from 53 to 77 , of whom 13 are juniors-an encouraging feature, states the Association's annual report. This continued progress is also reflected in the increased membership of all towers and the addition of two new towers-St. Stephen's, Carlisle, and St. John's, Cleator Moor.
The report says the highlight of the past year was the ringing festival at Carlisle last September, when ringers from all parts of the country met. In the most successful year since the Association was re-formed after the war, nine peals were rung and eight rung by a visiting band. The peal of Stedman at Keswick was a major achievement on the part of residents taking part.

Over in the east, Appleby, Carlisle and Keswick continue to ring for Sunday service; the bells at Brampton have been rehung and an enthusiastic band of learners continues to make progress Ringing at Great Salkeld continues and it is hoped that this tower will be brought into the Association shortly.

IRTON TOWER UNSAFE

The bells at Irton, Cockermouth and Silloth are unringable. At Irton the tower has been declared unsafe and it is improbable that the bells there will ever be rung again.
Under the leadership of the new vicar, the Association hopes that the bells at All Saints', Cockermouth, will be ringing soon, and a more hopeful report comes from Christ Church, Silloth, where further inquiries are proceeding.
In the western Branch ringing continues at other tqwers and progress is being made.
The report mentions that a panel of committec. members unsuccessfully opposed the application of St. Nicholas', Whitehaven, for a set of Constant Martin hells at a sitting of the Consistory Court at Carlisle, but notes that 'from the remarks made by the Chancellor of the Diocese it was felt we had obtained a moral victory.
Incom: exceeded $£ 70$. an increase of about $£ 20$ on 1955, but the balance was $£ 6$ lower largely because of the purchase of about 200 badges costing $£ 17$. The appeal for the Bow Bells Fund in March, 1957, had reached $£ 8$.

ANNUAL MEETING

This report was presented on Easter Monday at the Association's annual meeting at Cleator Moor, attended by more than 60 ringers from Cumberland. Westmorland and North Lancashire. and visitors from Windsor. Bedford and Rotherham. The president (Canon W. R. M. Chaplin, Appleby) presided. It was preceded by a service in St. John's Church, conducted by the Vicar (Rev. H. T. Batey).
The bells of St. John's were kept ringing during the afternoon and evening, and many methods were practised.
The meeting decided to ask the Bishop of Carlisle, who is the Association's patron, to approve a form of service to be used at ringing meetings.
Officers and committee (with eight new members) were re-elected as follows: President, Canon Chaplin; general secretary, Mr. J. W. Brownrigg (Keswick); treasurer. Mr. G. Tembey (Cleator Moor); ringing secietary. Mr. S. Richardson (Whitehaven); auditor. Mr. T. Hogarth (Keswick): committee-Messrs. B. Porter (Brampton). J. Ling and J. Butterfield (Carlisle), G. T. Hodgson (Aspatria), C. Heelis (Appleby), I. McTear (Workington), H. Wilson (St. Bees). Miss M. Simpson (St. Bees), and the two Branch secretaries, Mr. A. Forsythe (Carlisle) and Mr. G. McKay (Si. Bees).

OBITUARY

MR, JOSIAH MORRIS

Mr. Josiah Morris passed peacefully away on Saturday afternoon, April 27th, and by a coincidence his beloved bells at St. Margaret's were ringing at the time in connection with the annual meeting of the Leicester Diocesan Guild. His passing was later conveyed to the meeting and the big company stood in silent tribute to one well known and beloved by all. His 90th birthday would have been on July 1st.
He had a long and distinguished ringing career. Some will remember him as a tutor, and his insistence on correct handling so that one could tackle any bell, big or small. bad going or otherwise, with a minimum of effort. Slovenly ringers were anathema to him. If one should loll against the wall or handle badly he would say: 'Stand up, man, and ring properly.' His favourite expression was: 'There are only two kinds of ringers-graceful and disgracefulbe the former." Shining examples of his teaching are his two sons-Ernest, who has rung mord peals than any other living ringer, and is the well known author, and Gcorge Siedman, who is now a leading light in Lyme Regis.
Josiah excelled on the tenors at handbells, and his unerring beat to Triples, Caters or Cinques resulted in his being nicknamed by the late Harold roole 'The Rhythm King, If through some error of the front bells he lost his heat he would exclaim: "I've lost my rhythm," and when that occurred there was invariably a prospect of the peal being lost.
His peals totalled 396 and included all the standard and hetter known Surprise methods. His list included several long length peals 11.008 and 17,104 Double Norwich Court Bob Major at South Wigston in 1904, 10,176 and 10,912 Kent Treble Bob, 9,120 Spliced Treble Bob and 7,001 Grandsire Caters at All Saints', Loughborough. One of his best performances was to turn Melton Mowbray tenor to a perfect peal of Double Norwich, half-muffled for the late Duke of Fife
There was a large gathering of ringers and other friends at the funeral servico in St. Margaret's Church on May 1st. He served this church faithfully as verger for 30 years and was succeeded in the office by his son Ernest 20 years ago-thus father and son have completed a half century. St. Margaret's bells were rung half-muffled for the service and also on the previous Sunday, when references were made to his service to the church. The interment was in

SURREY RINGERS' EASTER DAY

Easter Sunday was a very busy day for the tingers of St. Giles` Church. Ashtead. The bells were rung for the early celebrations at 7 and 8 a.m. and again for the duplicate morning services at 9.45 and 11 a.m. These duplicate servies provide an interesting commentary on the result of the Gallup Poll on religion recently arranged by "The Daily Chronicle.
The ordinary Sunday services at both the Ashtead churches are so well attended that on the greater festivals of Christmas and Easter it has been found necessary at the Parish Church to run two morning serkices to accommodate all those desirous of attending. Even so, at the 11 o'clock service on Easter morning in addition to every seat heing occupied there were chairs in the aisles and people occupying the open ringing gallery over the porch. the organ well, vestry, etc.
Evensong presented the first opportunity for any length of ringing, and a quarter pcal of Bob Doubles with three cover bells was rung. This enabled the Ashtead ringers to record quarter peals of Bob Deubles. Minor. Triples and Major all within the space of four weeks-a feat never previously attempted. All four quarters were rung for servise. J. T. S.

Welford Road Cemetery. Among the florat tributes were those of St. Margaret's Guild, the Cathedral and Lyme Regis ringers.
Peals to his memory were rung at Leicester Cathedral and the Bellfoundry Campanile, Loughborough, and also a number of halfmuffed quarter peals at Lyme Regis, Kibworth, Great Glen and other towers.

Mr. A. H. Pulling. of Guildford, writes: Josiah Morris has' left with us a wonderful memory. It is 24 years ago that I first met him ringing the back pair to Stedman Caters, and my remark afterwards to Harold Poole was that he is the finest back pair tinger I have ever met. I still consider him the champion; he had a wonderful gift.

MR. WILLIAM PRICE

Hereford Diocesan Guild has lost one of its oldest members by the death on Easter Sunday morning of Mr. William Price, aged 80, $0^{i}$ Colwall.
A reliable ringer and a model to all, Mr. Price was always a good striker. He had rung four peals. He was ever ready to help young ringers. The sympathy of many ringing friends is extended to his family and to Mr. and Mrs. E. Price and Mr. John Price, who are members of the Colwall tower.
On April 26th he was laid to rest near the lower of Coddington Church, where he loved to ring. The many floral tributes included one from his fellow members of Ledbury and District Guild.
After the service, a quarter peal of 1,260 Doubles ( 360 April Day, 360 Bob, 240 Reverse Canterbury Pleasure and 300 Grandsire) were rung half-muffled by J. Lane 1, H. Hill 2, C. W. Nutt (conductor) 3. J. Foster 4. I. Ward 5, F. Lawrence 6. A quarter peal was also rung on April 25th by J. Lane 1. J. Ranford 2. C. Bowers 3, F. Merrick (conductor) 4, J. Ward 5. F. Lawrence 6. Also al Bosbury on April 27th, 1.260) Doubles ( 360 April Day, 360 Bob, 240 ) Reverse Canterbury Pleasure, $3(\underset{\text { G }}{ }$ Grandsire)-hy C. Davies I. G. Hill 2, J. Foster 3. H. Goodchap 4, J. Ward (conductor) 5, J. Lane 6. All with the bells half-muffled.

MR. HARRY LIONEL MARTIN

It is with deep regret we have to report the death of Mr. Harry Lionel Martin, the popular District secretary of the Ely Diocesan Association (Cambridge Branch), which took place at Addenbrookes Hospital. Cambridge, on May 3rd aftei an operation for duodenal ulcer.

HALIFAX ASSOCIATION

The quarterly meeting and 6 -bell contest were held at Liversedge on April 27th. Threc teams entered and sufficient members were present to form a mixed company.

The draw and judge's decision were as follows: No. 1 Company, Meltham. 132 faults: 2. Shelley, $138: 3$, Friezland, $50: 4$, Mixed, 156.

The judge, Mr. E. Betts, of Liversedge, remarked that there was only one outstanding performance, but he had probably judged very keenly because ho had not done the job for a number of years.
During the course of the quarterly meeting the members present approved the action takerif by the secretary in forwarding to the secretary of the Northern District of the Surrey Association information regarding the running of strik. ing competitions.
Votes of thanks were passed to the Vicar. tho local company and the caterers, for the usc of the bells, the excellent arrangements made. and the provision of a grand tea. respectively.

PERSONAL

Mr. E. BRADFIELD, of Buntingford, Herts, wishes to thank the Baldock band of ringers for their kind thoughts in ringing the peal at Hinkworth on April 6th, which was recorded in . The Ringing World : of April 26 h , as a birthday compliment to, him on reaching 81 years. He also appreciates the mention in Belfry Gossip of his climbing the 44 steps at Baldock. He was told by the captain. Mr, Buck, and also by the band: 'As long as you can climb those steps you will always be sure of a pull. That was very nice of them. "I was a stranger and they took me in. Coming to my first visit to Baldock. 1 thought there was a ring of cight. After the many years I had been out of ringing. I gm sure I saw sixteen when I went into changes first time. 221

THE ORDINARY RINGER

HE saw me looking at the tower from outside and, after completing my short walk around, he approached and asked. 'Interested in ringing?' My reply seemed to please him, for he suggested a talk and led me to a nearby seat in order to exchange views on a subject of mutual interest. He told me he was 'just an ordinary ringer' who rang for Sunday services and festivals with one evening a week for practice. "We used to ring call changes,' he said, 'but now we can ring two methods.' - Are you a member of the diocesan or county organisation?' I asked, and he replied, 'Oh yes, but I am unable to attend any meetings.' He explained that he worked in a food shop and could not get away from his business on a Saturday. 'This is my one and only tower.' he told me, ' and after service ringing I hurry to the vestry for choir duty.'
Further information revealed that his evening kept him busy, therefore the time he devoted to ringing was limited, but one pleasing answer he gave to a question was, 'Yes, I take the "R.W." every week." This was the means of opening up and getting the opinion of a ringer who styled himself 'ordinary,' one with a keen sense of duty to his particular church, but at the same time followed ringing by carefully reading a weekly paper devoted to ringers and ringing.

Questioned about peals, he commented on the recurring towers and oft-repeated ringers' names, and he held the opinion that the vast amount of space taken should very well be made the subject of a charge if required to be inserted in full original form. A fee of 3d. per name per peal would considerably help towards the heavy costs of running the paper, in his opinion. Regarding quarter peals, he expressed a great admiration for them, especially when rung for Sunday services, and he proudly recalled the three occasions when he formed one of the band.
His views on various matters reported in our paper were expressed quite clearly, and there was nothing to suggest he was liable to be dubbed old fashioned or nonprogressive. One of the points he stressed was the behaviour of some visiting ringers during their short stay at various towers, and it was up to those responsible to ensure the visits were quiet, orderly and dignified. We came to the question of filling vacancies caused by death, retirement and lapses, a situation which every organisation continually has to face, and he told me their local band generally had two or three recruits in reserve, because they constantly kept the training of new hands well to the fore. 'Mind you,' he said, 'many towers are not so lucky to get such a steady flow of recruits as we, and even if some leave us for other towers our losses often help in other districts.'

When we parted company I pondered over our conversation, for it made me wonder why he used the term 'ordinary ringer' as applied to himself. Here was a man who could be relied upon to be in his place at the three appointed times each week, carrying out voluntary work faithfully over many years, yet applying the word ordinary' to what he is able to do in his own parish. You will find many hundreds of such ringers throughout this ringing island, but they certainly cannot be regarded as 'ordinary,' seeing they perform duties for which the bells were dedicated. On the subject of peals, there is a wide range of views among ringers, and it is generally realised that some districts are more favourable for peal tinging than others. It would not do for a large percentage of ringers to go in for peals on a big scale, and when I read the figures given in the Guildford Diocesan Guild report for 1956, it is remarkable to find that only twentyfive peals were rung in eighteen out of the sixty-two towers listed in the four districts.

Coming to quarter peals, it is a pleasure to look at the progressive signs in the weekly issue of this paper, for to me it brings back happy memories of places visited over sixty years. and it often reveals the names of ringers whom I have had the pleasure of meeting in or out of the tower. Quarter peals also show us what valuable help the male ringers receive from those given under Mrs., Miss or Christian name, and most of these quarters are rung for Sunday or special services.

Fifty years ago a special enquiry took place regarding conditions in towers containing rings of eight and upwards, and it revealed that in 77 per cent. of towers there was half-pull ringing; in 58 per cent., Sunday service ringing twice; in 10 per cent., Sunday service ringing once; in 13 per cent., Sunday ringing occasionally; in 19 per cent., no Sunday ringing; in 77 per cent., a regular practice night.

These figures were compiled when most of our villages were isolated and consequently bear no comparison with conditions to-day, yet we find plenty of sustained interest in all branches of our art, and if anyone who serves in the same way as Mr. Ordinary Ringer, then I venture to suggest the word assiduous could more correctly be applied.

WILLIAM SHEPHERD.

GLOUCESTER AND BRISTOL

The 200th anniversary of the casting of the bells was celebrated by a joint meeting of the Bristol City and Bristol Rural Branches at Winterbourne on May 4th.

Mr. W. F. Scudamore, general secretary of the Association. who presided, gave a short history of the bells and peals rung on them. Miss Brenda Chalk, of Warmley, was elected a member.

The resignation of Mr. C. R. Harding as Branch chairman was received and Mr. D. M. Bennett, of St. Ambrose, was elected his successor. Taking the chair amid the congratulations of the meeting, Mr. Bennett proposed a vote of thanks to the Rev. L. Stevenson for conducting the service, the organist and ladies who had prepared tea. Methods rung included a course of Cambridge Minor.

DONCASTER AND DISTRICT

Life membership was a subject fully discussed at a well-attended meeting at Tickhill on April 27 th . This, it was suggested, should be conferred on veterans who had served the Society well and others who had left the District. A recommendation to this effect was passed for submission to the A.G.M. Conisbrough was selected for the June meeting. Mr. Blunt thanked the ladies for preparing tea, and the Vicar for the use of the bells. Mr. Jackson, under 'Any other business.' asked the secretary if he could find the Society's peal book and original minute book. The secretary promised to do his best to find them. Methods rung: Stedman, Double Norwich, London Surprise and Grandsire. A very successful meeting closed at 8.30 p.m.

JOINT MEETING AT OLNEY

A successful joint meeting of members of the Bedfordshire Association (Bedford District), the Peterborough Diocesan Guild (Northampton Branch) and the Oxford Diocesan Guild (North Bucks Branch) was held at SS. Peter and Paul, Olney, Bucks, on May 4th.

Olney is conveniently situated on the borders of the three counties, and attracted a goodly number from all Branches. Ringing on the excellent octave commenced at 2.30 p.m., and all ringers were catered for until 4.15 p.m., when a Guild form of service was conducted by the Vicar (Rev. R. Collins), who welcomed alt to Olney and gave a short address. The organist was Mr. Goddard.

An excellent tea in the Church Hall was served to 80 ringers by the local ladies. Appreciation and thanks were given on behalf of the company present by Miss E. Steele (president of the Bedfordshire Association), Mr. R. H. Howson (secretary, North Bucks Branch) and Mr. G. F. Roome (secretary, Northampton Branch). Arrangements for the meeting were made by Mr. R. H. Howson and Mr. M. Cook (local representative). The neighbouring towers of Emberton (6) and Stoke Goldington (6) were also visited in the evening.

SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD

Five-bell towers were the order of the day when the Devizes Branch met at Chirton on May 4th, 30 ringers attending. After the service (conducted by Rev. P. R. Ormsby, Vicar). tea and meeting, at which the branch chairman referred to the Vicar's impending departure for Collingbourne Ducis, visits were paid to Marden and All Cannings in the evening.

KENT COUNTY ASSOCIATION  Rochester District

Over 80 ringers and friends attended the Rochester quarterly meeting at Rainham, when seven new members were elected. Present were a number of ringers with over 50 years' membership of the Association, among whom was Mr. Macey, who was celebrating his 53 rd year that day. Good handbell ringing by friends from Canterbury was a feature.

Mr. A. Dunk proposed a vote of thanks to the Vicar (Rev. J. Clifford) for conducting the service and presiding, Rainham ringers, the ladies connected with the tea, the organist and Mr. Frank Cheal, local captain. The collection of $£ 26 \mathrm{~s}, 8 \mathrm{~d}$. was for the Association's Belfry Repair Fund.

MAIDSTONE GRAMMAR SCHOOL SOCIETY

A ringing tour in Herefordshire and parts of Worcestershire and Shropshire was announced by the secretary (Miss Pamela G. Butcher) at the Society's meeting at Barming on April 27th. Members interested were asked to contact her. The Rector (Rev. A. F. Weigall) and Mrs. Weigall made the Society most welcome. The Rector took the service and presided at the business meeting, and Mrs. Weigall acted as organist, and with the help of Barming ringers prepared tea. Evelyn Ray, of East Farleigh. was elected a member, and Mr. T. Warner, of Mereworth, and Mr. W. Manser, of Barming. honorary members. The next meeting will be held on July 27th at Biddenden. Methods rung were Grandsire, Plain Bob, Stedman, Cambridge and Erin.

Handsworth, Sheffieid, is a tower favoured by the ladies. The peal on May 4th was the third by an all-ladics band, the previous peals being by another generation of the Ladies' Guild in January, 1931, and January, 1928. No other tower has had three ladies' peals. The band included the present secretary of the Yorkshire District and two past secretaries.
The first peal has been rung on the six bells at Saxthorpe, Norfolk. which has a tenor of 2 cwt .94 lb . Mr. Nolan Golden belicves that this is the lightest ring of six in any church.
At the conclusion of the quarter peal at Great Ponton, Lincs, to mark the retirement of the Rev. P. J. F. Simpson from active parochial duties, the bells were fired eight times, one for each year he had been at Great Ponton.
Seven lady pupils of Mr. Norman Chaddock rang in a peal at Dore, Sheffield, on April 13th. Mr. Chaddock called their first 720 , first quarter and first peal. Four of the band took part in the Ladies' Guild peal at Handsworth on May 4th.
The composition of 5,040 Kent T.B. Maximus rung at Evesham bell tower (sce ' R.W. ${ }^{\text {', }}$ May 10 th) was by the late Mr. George Lewis and not by Mr. Geoffrey J. Hemming, as printed.
The peal at Hemingbrough, Yorks, on Good Friday, was rung at the expressed wish of the Vicar (Rev. F. Amcotts), who is desirous of the bells being rung half-muffied, as has been the practice for the last nine or ten years.

Mr. Norman Chaddock had the pleasure on Easter Tuesday when visiting Cartmel. Lancs, of mecting Miss Snowdon, daughter of William Snowdon, former president of the Yorkshire Association. It is to Miss Snowdon that the Exercise is indebted for the continuance of the Snowdon series of text books.

College Youths who rang the pcal of Stedman Cinques at Southwark Cathedral on GOSSIP May 1st ta mark the consecration of the Provost of Southwark as Bishop of Neweastle would like the name of Mr. Ernest G. Fenn, the senior trustee of the Society, to be associated with the peal. It was Mr. Fenn's 7fth birthday.
From Ballaarat, Victoria, we hear that a party to welcome Mrs. George Pipe to Australia was held at Melbourne on May 4th.
Mr. Dermot Roaf, of Christ Church, Oxford, is arranging a peal attempt on Winchester College bells on July 6th. Any Old Wykehamists wha would like to take part are asked to write to him. Any others who do not feel up to a peal attempt but would enjoy a ring on the bells are also asked to contact him.
Congratulations to the four Marple girls who rang their first peal on April 29th at Disley and New Mills. Also to the three Marple boys, aged 13, 13 and 14 , who rang in both the peals. The one at New Mills is believed to be the youngest band to ring a peal for the Chester Diocesan Guild-average age 15.2 years, and with a total of 106 peals between them.
On May 4th. 1897, Mr. Samuel W. Hawksford was appointed parish clerk of St. Neots, Hunts, and since May 6th of that year, when he took up his duties, he has never missed a Sunday service to this day. He has been a ringer since the age of 13 , rang his first peal in 1902, and at 83 his energy as tower-keeper is amazing. A peal of Cambridge Surprise Major was rung at St. Neots on May 4 th , and the many ringers who must know Mr. Hawksford will no doubt wish to join with the band (one of whom he taught to ring) in congratulating him on his unique achievement.

HERTS COUNTY ASSOCIATION RAISE SUBSCRIPTION

AAVOURABLE weather attended the annual meeting held on April 27th, and once again success was ensured by two Districts organising coaches, which enabled many to enjoy a day's outing and ring at Stevenage (8), St. Ippolyts (6), Knebworth (8), Watton (6) and Datchworth (6) in the morning; Baldock (8), Graveley (6) and Norton (8) in the afternoon, while Hitchin (8) was in great demand from 3 p.m. Ringing also took place at Walkern (6) and Great Wymondley (6).

At 4.30 p.m. all converged for the annual service at St. Mary's, Hitchin, one of the largest parish churches in the county. The service was conducted by the Rev. G. N. O. Walsh (Vicar), who gave a great welcome to the Association. A course of Grandsire Triples was rung on handbells by four of the officers, and the singing of the hymns and Psalm was led by a spall choir of boys, and the organist on an organ worthy of the church.

Over 125 sat down to a meat tea at St. Saviour's Hall, and afterwards adjourned to a room above for the business meeting.

The president (Mr. W. T. Holmes) welcomed the members, and paid tribute to the work of the officers. He regarded it as a very great honour to have been elected as president of the Association, and hoped the members would go on from strength to strength and make this a lively, happy and progressive Association.

The names of those members who had passed away since the last meeting were read, and the meeting stood in memory of C . Dickins (Berkhamsted), C. Nash and W. Nash (North Mymms), J. Ferris (Knebworth), S. E. Roberts (Royston), A. Spicer (Baldock), F. C. Rice (St. Albans), W. T. Prior (Stanstead), C. Gouldsmith (Broxbourne), W. W. Wolstencroft and E. C. S. Turner (non-resident life members).

After the minutes had been read and confirmed, with no matters arising, the following new members were elected: John Thwaites, St. Peter's, St. Albans (probationer); S. Cadle, Bengeo: Janet Heathfield, Royston (ringing members), and A. R. Tysoe, Chichester (nonresident).

The annual report of the committee indicated that the Association was not only holding its ground, but going forward in every aspect. Each of the five Districts had grown stronger over the last five years, but increased costs in every direction were now making further progress difficult. There were 67 towers affiliated, resident ringing members numbered 483 , probationers 8 , associate and resident life members 40 . The report was adopted.

INCREASE IN PEALS

The report of the peal secretary (Mr. B. C. Johnson) stated that 65 peals had been rung, an increase of 12 on 1955. This was entirely due to the incidence of peals 'in hand.' which numbered 16. Conducting was shared between 18 people. with Mr. J. R. Mayne calling 12 and Mr . W. Ayre eight. Fifteen rang their first peal during the year. First peals in the method rung were Dacorum Imperial Bob Major, Gadebridge Imperial Bob Major and Little Grandsire Caters. Double Norwich at Broxbourne, Stedman Triples at Harpenden, were rung by Sunday service bands, and Little Bob Maximus at St. Albans Cathedral was the first level 5,000 of Maximus ever rung. The peal book had been written up to the end of 1955 by Mrs. Dodds, and the composition register had been taken over by Mrs. Johnson.
Mr. C. F. Sayer, librarian, reported that ten members had used the library during the past year.

The financial statement of the hon. treasurer (Mr. G. W. Debenham) showed a loss on the year of $\{39 \mathrm{~s} 8 \mathrm{~d}$., and that the subscriptions of ringing members did not cover the cost of running the Association. Although the Association was not now financially poor, they did not want to slide back into the serious position of a few years ago. The only remedy was to increase the annual subscription.

The Benevolent Fund now stood at $£ 9210 \mathrm{~s} .3 \mathrm{~d}$., and the Voluntary Bell Fund, after grants of five guineas each to King's Langley, Knebworth and Kimpton, had dropped to $£ 4517 \mathrm{~s} .6 \mathrm{~d}$. The financial statements were adopted.

The Queen at Hereford

When the Queen and Prince Philip visited Hereford, Mr. Arthur V. Davis, captain of the ringers, was presented by the Dean to Her Majesty.

The royal visitors were rung into the city at All Saints', with some Grandsire Triples, and produced Queens and firing while they passed close to the church on their way to the Town Hall for tea.

A quick dash was made to the Cathedral by some of the band, and here the Queen and Prince Philip were welcomed with Grandsire Caters, Queens and firing (some of this was recorded and later broadcast by the B.B.C.). When the word was given to stop ringing the ringers rushed down to the north transept to be in their privileged positions to see the royal party.
A. quarter peal of Grandsire Caters was attempted immediately the Queen left the Cathedral, but did not quite succeed.

The committee's recommendation that the annual subscription be raised to three shillings and sixpence was discussed, and it was agreed that this be done as from January 1st, 1958: but the suggestion was made that bands should voluntarily pay this extra shilling this year-it was no more than the price of one packet of cigarettes these days.

THE NEW PRESIDENT

The election of Mr. E. G. Buck, of Baldock. as president was met with great enthusiasm, and the remaining officers were re-elected en bloc, viz.: H. V. Frost (general secretary), T. J. Southam (assistant), G. W. Debenham (treasurer), C. F. Sayer (librarian), B. C. Johnson (peal secretary), H. H. Hole, C.A. (auditor).

Central Council representatives elected were: W. Ayre, R. G. Bell, G. W. Critchley and E. Edmondson. these being the only nominations received. Mr. C. W. Woolley was thanked for his many years of service to the Association and 10 the Exercise by Mr. E. G. Buck, who expressed regret on behalf of the Association that he was no longer able to stand for re-election.
Mr. B. C. Johnson (peal secretary) drew attention to an error in the printed compositions, viz.: Peal No. 2,399 (5,008 D.N.C.B.). The third row of figures should read 25346 produced by a bob at 1 and three bobs at 6 (not two bobs at 6).

The general secretary invited the full support of the members at the forthcoming summer festival at St. Albans on June 15 th with the Bedfordshire Association, and also mentioned the dedication service at St. Stephen's, St. Albans, on May 11 th.

Votes of thanks to all concerned were voiced by Messrs. W. C. Hughes and W. Ayre. Ringing was resumed at Hitchin until 9 p.m. H. V.F.

Notice to Members of the Standing Committee

Any members of the Standing Committee who are interested in participating in a peal attempt on Monday afternoon, June 10 ch , to finish early enough to enable them to be back in time for the Standing Committee meeting, are invited to communicate with Miss H. G. Snowden, 3, Belle Vue, Hedingham Road, Halstead, Essex.
IMPORTANT NOTICE TO ASSOCIATION SECRETARIES
Will the 17 secretaries who have not yet done so please send the names and addresses of their representatives for 1957-59 immediately. See Rule 4 (iv).
E. A. BARNETT,

Hon. Secretary.

BEDFORDSHIRE ASSOCLATION

A goodly company of members and visitors from various counties helped to make the annual meeting of the Bedfordshire Association on Easter Monday at Bedford a most enjoyable day.

Ringing commenced at St. Paul's at 10.30 a.m. and continued until lunch time, which was partaken of at the Dujon Restaurant.

The president (Miss C. Steel) opened the business meeting by welcoming everyone to Beaford once again. During the past year the Association had lost two valuable members in Mr. C. H. Harding, who died suddenly during February, and Mr. D. Knox (hon, peal secretary), who has taken a post in North London.

Apologies for absence were tendered by Mr. A. King. Mr. H. D. Harris, Mr. A. C. Sharman, Mr. D. Knox, Canon A. Rust, Mr. P. Lawton, Miss J. Deveroux, Mr. T. Harris and Mr. D. Brazier.

The statement of accounts showed a balance of $£ 9215 \mathrm{~s} .8 \frac{1}{2} \mathrm{~d}$. as compared with $£ 8515 \mathrm{~s} .6 \frac{1}{2} \mathrm{~d}$. for the previous year, and were on the proposition of Mr. P. Inskip, seconded by Mr. B. Witney, adopted. All the officers of the Association were re-elected, with the exception of the hon. peal secretary, the vacancy being filled by Mr. S. J. Ivin.

In spite of some strong feeling that it might be advisable to change both the place and date of the 1958 annual meeting, it was once again decided to come to Bedford.

It was brought to the attention of members that the summer festival was to be a joint meeting with the Hertford County Association in St. Albans on Saturday, June I5th.

Owing to the strained financial position of 'The Ringing World ' it was proposed by Mr. S. Foskett that the Association send a donation of $£ 55 \mathrm{~s}$. The proposition was duly carried.

It was decided that the ruling regarding subscriptions of members serving in H.M. Forces bo continued until the end of conscription.

Mr. K. Spavins agreed to purchase on behalf of the Association 100 duplicated copies of the superior original certificate, at a cost of 30 s .
The following were clected as members: The Rev. K. G. Martin (honorary) and Mr. A. R. Mann (non-resident life member).

The meeting closed with a vote of thanks to the chair and the clergy for their continued interest in the art during the past year.
Further ringing was carried on in crowded belfries at St. Peter's (8) and St. Paul's (10) until a late hour. Methods rung during the day included Cambridge. Yorkshire. Bristol and London Surprise Major, Stedman and Grandsire Caters, Little Bob and Plain Bob Royal. Treble Ten, and numerous courses of Cambridge Surprise Royal.

The back eight at St. Paul's were lowered at approximately 9 p.m.

GUILLD OF CLERICAL RINGERS INVADE BRISTOL

THE majority of ringers who take part in tours are people able to obtain regular practice the year round and, therefore, in the report of such tours one expects to read of Surprise methods rung and peals achieved. But the members of the Clerical Guild are not quite in that category. Many are serving at churches without bells, being unable to ring on Sundays, and can rarely spare time from their duties to attend a practice. The Guild's ringing week, therefore, becomes a coveted opportunity to make up some lost ground; indeed, for many members it is the only opening in the year for attempting, say, a course in a Surprise method. So it is not surprising, perhaps, that peal attempts are not always successful, or that the striking in touches is not of the highest order. One can say, however, that improvement is definitely noticeable towards the last day of the tour.

Be that as it may, this annual ringing week is a really good holiday. A priest who has had an exhausting Lent could ask for nothing better, whether he is an advanced ringer or only a novice. To explore-as has been possible this year-such beautiful and interesting churches as Yatton. Thornbury. Berkeley. Wraxall and others, is a happy experience : also, the noting of historical features, e.g., at Brislington the tombstone of Thomas Newton, who died in 1542 at the age of 153 ; and at Wotton-underEdge, the organ given by 'His Sacred Majesty King George I' to St. Martin's-in-the-Fields and sold to. Wotton on the advice of Handel for $£ 200$ : things like these do add to the pleasure of a trip into other counties.

This year, members gathered from 12 dioceses in England and Wales, with headquarters at Bristol, and visited some 33 towers in the city and country around. All met for Corporate Communion at Christ Church, Clifton, on the Feast of SS. Philip and James, the president having the privilege of celebrating, by kind permission of the Vicar; and the same evening our Precentor, the Rev. A. G. G. Thurlow, assisted by the president. Canon C. C. Cox, with the Rev. N. F. D. Coleridge at the organ, led the Guild choral Evensong after ringing at Wraxall.

The first comers met at Stoke Bishop on Monday afternoon, April 29th, and rang also at some Bristol churches before' and after dinner. Tuesday was an interesting day among good Gloucestershire scenery, including a visit to Berkeley Castle after a brief spell on the ten bells in the defached tower, where bats' and birds' nesis shook their contents upon our heads. An attempt for a peal of Grandsire Triples at Bitton on Thursday unfortunately failed after an hour's good ringing. The Rev. H. T. Ellacombe of chiming apparatus fame, was Curate and Vicar of this parish from 1817 to 1850 .

It can truly be said that no district can rival Bristol for fine bells. To ring at St. Mary Redcliffo is an unforgettable experience, and Cambridge Royal and Grandsire Cinques on these wonderful bells were much enjoyed. But the real surprise was the civic welcome to the Guild in the tower by the High Sherift of Bristol, who is bimself a bellrope maker, and expressed his opinion that we ought to be called the Guild of Athletic Parsons. There, also at St. Stephen's and St. James', we were allowed to usurp in some measure the practice night of the local band. Outside Bristol itself many magnificent rings are to be found-Long Ashton, Chew Magna, Yatton, Wotton-under-Edge (which were half-muffled in tribute to a local ringer) and Thornbury-to mention but a few of those we enjoyed most.

But the most remarkable feature of this tour was the really superb teas provided for us; at Emmanuel, Clifton, where their own Deacon, the Rev. R. G. Bryant, took part in a course of Grandsire Caters on handbells, rung to entertain our good host and hostesses, and who was able to join us for most of Thursday; at Tortworth, where the Rector (the Rev. W. A. Peel) is a member of the Guild: and, again, on the lawns of Portishead Rectory.

One addition was made to the programme a visit by very special permission to St. Mark's, the Lord Mayor's tower, a visit so brief that it might almost be described as 'tower-grabbing ' but who would wish to miss such a rare opportunity? From these good bells we had to dash on to St. Matthew's, Kingsdown, a fine eight not duly appreciated in that residential neighbourhood. Here a member remarked (shall we say unwisely?) that the tour had gone thus far without any broken ropes, and lo! in the very next touch down came the fourth rope over the president's head.

The one criticism of Bristol and district must be that it has far more fine bells to offer than can be included in a few days' programme Courses of Bristol, Superlative and Cambridge Major were scored, but in the short time possible at each tower the ringing of advanced methods could not on the whole be expected.

At the business meeting on Wednesday evening (held with a background of television and sound broadcast!) the members stood for a moment in memory of the Revs. $F$. Llewellyn Edwards and Noel E. Hope, who had passed away during the previous year. The hon. secretary explained that Bristol had been substituted for the original plan to visit the Dorset and Somerset border owing to petrol rationing, and this decision was ratified without dissent. One new member, the Rev. R. G. Bryant, was elected, and the election of two others confirmed. All the officers were unanimously re-elected and Bridport voted for as the centre for next year's tour. Some general discussion took place upon details of organisation with a view to improving striking and allowing members fuller opportunities according to their capabilities

Our thanks were expressed to all incumbents who put their bells at our disposal: those who at nearly every tower were present to welcome us, and the local ringers who made things ready for us: to all who helped in any way in contributing to the success of the tour. And not least to the Rev. J. H. B. Andrews, our hon. secretary, for his immense labours in working out the programme, as well as to those members of the Bristol Guilds whose advice proved invaluable.
E. B. W.

THE IRISH ASSOCIATION

The annual meeting of the Northern District was held on Easter Monday at St. Nicholas Church, Carrickfergus. The day's proceedings opened with the annual meeting, presided over by the Rector (Canon J. C. Rutherford) and was attended by over 100 ringers. The District secretary reported that the membership was now well over 200 and that the ringing was flourishing.

The meeting unarimously passed a resolution to the effect that the Association should not recognise the College of Campanology nor any of its principles or teachings until such time as they were recognised by the Central Council.

The District office-bearers for 1957-58 were elected as follows: Chairman, Rev. E. G. Parke (St. Mark's, Dundela) ; District secretary, John T. Dunwoody (Holywood) ; District assistant se retary, Miss J. Stewart (St. Donard's, Belfast) ; District treasurer, Rev. John J. Fielding (Holywood); Ringing Master, H. Brown (Holywood).

After the meeting over 140 sat down to lunch in the Parochial Schools, while some others had a pienic lunch by the sea. We were very pleased to have as our guests Mr. Fred Bogan, from Cork, and Mr. George Skinner, from Exeter. Lunch was followed by a short service, conducted by Canon Rutherford, and then the Cunningham cup competition was rung off. Eleven teams (a record number) took part and as the standard of striking was high, a close result was assured. Messrs. Bryan and Skinner acted as judges, while Mr. Brown was on duty in the tower. The result was as follows: 1. St. Mark's, Dundela, $23 \frac{1}{2}$ faults; 2, St. Bronach's. Rosthern, $25 \frac{1}{2}$; 3, St. Donard's, Belfast, 30. This was a wonderful achievement for the St. Mark's team. which has only been in existence two years and only one of them, Mr. Fagg, their Ringing Master, has been ringing for longer than that time. Canon J. Barry, vice-president of the Irish Association, presented the cup to Mr. J. M. Benn. the chairman of the Society.

After tea, the bells were put to good use in ringing various methods by mixed bands. This meeting was one of the most successful ever held and had the largest attendance so far. Tributes were paid to the Carrickfergus ringers. particularly Miss Young, for their hospitality and for making the catering arrangements, and to Mr . John T . Dunwoody. for his untiring services for the District.

LETTERS TO  THE EDITOR

COLLEGE YOUTHS IN SOMERSET
Dear Sir,-Some 18 months ago I suggested 10 the officers that the Ancient Society would be welcome to hold its summer provincial meeting at Yeovil where, whilst we could not offer them 12 bells for Cinques and Maximus, we have an excellent ten, with the heaviest tenor cast by Bilbie. Also in the near vicinity are Sherborne Abbey with the heaviest eight, and Queen Camel with the heaviest six, which 1 would endeavour to make available.
The invitation was accepted and the event would have taken place last year had not the Master, who visited his native city for the Johnson Dinner received a request for the Society to make Birmingham the venue for last year's meeting, which date was also the 80th birthday anniversary of our old friend Albert Walker.
So the offer to visit Birmingham for 1956 was accepted, and I attended and renewed my offer for 1957. The attendance here on May 4th excceded my most optimistic expectations, 48 having lunch, 29 of whom were from London and others from as far distant as Bedford. Bristol, Southampton and Dartmouth, together with a sprinkling of locals.

The 48 attending lunch had been almost numerically doubled by the afternoon by those whose business requires attention on Saturday mornings, and I was glad that during the preceding week I had sensed a large gathering and made arrangements to extend the period of availability of the bells to give all an opportunity.

Some excellent ringing took place during the day, notably Stedman Caters at Yeovil, Bob Minor at Queen Camel, with the Master operating the tenor, and London Major at Sherborne Abbey, where the new clapper for the tenor. which only arrived a few days previously, gives a much improved tone to that bell.
I am most grateful to all who made the gathering such a success (it was not just a better go down to please old Tom'), to the officers of the Society, to those who so willingly transported our visitors in their cars, and to those who so readily put their bells at our disposal. I trust that to all who attended the day was a most enjoyable one-the latter being the best reward sought by yours truly,
T. J. SETTER

ST. CHAD'S CHURCH, LICHFIELD

Dear Sir.-St. Chad's Church. Lichfield. should be added to your list of 4-bell towers. The tenor here is repuled to be one of the oldest bells in the diocesc. though the date is variably given as 1033 (!). 1255 (the most probable) or 1555. The inscription is almost unreadable, but has been translated as 'Holy Mary help Chad pray. followed by the founder's initials, and the disputed date. The metal was subjected to analysis some 20 years ago, and included traces of about 20 metals: it is thought that this was due to the bell alloy being produced by smelting to
The treble is inscribed: Richard Grymley Ralphe Low C.W. 1670 ' : the second 'God save this Church and Realme and our King in War. J.C. 1664' : the third 'Domino canticum cantate novum. 1625. All four were rehung by the Whitechapel Foundry in 1935 on ball-bearings with the original oak frames: they are in good ringing condition.

The tenor weight is given locally as 14 cwt.. hut 9 cwt . would seem to be mote probable.Yours, etc.,
C. R. CHAD COUSSMAKER. Wolverhampton, Staffs.

BELL FOR SALE IN MARKET PLACE
Dear Sir,-One of our young ringers told me that he was in Mold, Flints, last Wednesday (market day), and he saw on a street stall for sale at $£ 410$ s. a bell, complete with cannons, dated 1792. The stallholaer told him it had been given him to sell.

Surely this is a most unusual way to dispose of such a bell! Our young ringer estimates the weight at approximately $\frac{1}{\frac{1}{2}} \mathrm{cwt}$. Further enquiries could be made if any ringer is interested. -Yours, etc.

Ghosties and Beasties in Cornish Peal

The peal of Bob Triples rung at Redruth, Cornwall, on April 24th, was not achieved without a certain amount of hardship. At about 8.30 p.m., just as the conductor was clearing his throat to call the first bob of the fourlh part, the paraffin lamp, which had given good service up till then. decided to play silly things. Soon, each ringer was but a shadowy form in the gathering dusk. Also, to the consternation of the ladies. a large and particularly evil-looking bat appeared out of the gloom, and after a few preliminary' circuits and bumps' of the church, decided to show his disapproval of peal ringing by flitting in and out between the ropes.

However. in spite of such happenings, the peal was well and nobly brought round at 9.15 p.m., to the relief of all concerned and (no doubt) to the disappointment of friend bat. The ladies were afterwards revived at a nearby hostelry.

BATS IN THE BELFRY

Dear Sir,-II was so interested to read 'Bater's ' letter in "The Ringing World of April 26th, and I appreciate very much his kind remarks.

Please, 'Bat-er,' I would like to make it clear to you that I do not decry peal ringing-far from it. I'm very conscious of the fact that it is the life blood of the Exercise. May I make the excuse that I'm a very 'new girl' to this method-ringing lark, and up till now I've said ' No peals for me-they re far too long' I am as convinced as you are that I will eat my words: indeed, I believe I'm already beginning to do so. Is a feverish enthusiasm for quarter peal ringing indicative of syraptoms of the malady of peal ringing? I rather suspect that it is, and already I feel a vague urge that I ought to ring a peal-perhaps even peals!

I am quite sure you are right, 'Bat-er.' when you say that ' non-batters ' really do know good and bad ringing. My remarks were prompted by the fact that charitable friends say, out of sheer kindness: 'How nice the bells sounded,' when you thousht it was the most ghastly row. I apologise sincerely to discerning ' non-batters ; for being disparaging about them. It only goes to show how dangerous it is to generalise.

Again, thank you. 'Bat-er,' for your en-couragement.-Yours faithfully,

RINGERS' WEDDINGS

At Anstey

On Easter Monday the wedding took place at St. Mary's. Anstey (Leics), of Mr. David S. Harris to Miss Jeanette M. Simpson. It was truly a ringers' occasion, as the bride, bridegroom, best man and principal bričesmaid were all local ringers. Gordon H. Arguil was best man and Judith K. Harris chief bridesmaid, the other bridesmaid being a little cousin of the bride.

Many ringers and friends were at the church for the ceremony. The bells were rung as the bride arrived and she was met at the door by the choir and clergy. The Rev. C. H. Rowe officiated, assisted by his son, the Rev. D. H. Rowe.
As the couple left the church the bells were again rung, and, following the reception in the Church Rooms, a peal was rung. The wedding cake was surmounted by a model of a church tower with a silver bell. Among the many messages of congratulation was one from the Midland section of the Ladies' Guild, of which the bride was at one time secretary.

Mr. and Mrs. D. S. Harris have gone 10 reside at Barnet, London.

At Cranford

Saturday. Aptil 27th, was a happy day at Cranford. Middlesex, when there took place the wedding of Mr. Harry Watson and Miss Barbara Thrush, one of the local band of ringers. The little church in Cranford Park was filled for the occasion, and a voluntary choir, composed mainly of members of the Livery of St. Dunstan, helped to make it a most impressive ceremony. The bride was given away by Canon Lowthen Clarke, of Chichester, and Mr. D. Fowles was best man.

The bells were rung both before and after the service by members of the local band and friends, who were kindly invited to the reception afterwards. In the evening, a quarter peal of 1,260 Bob Minor was rung by W. H. Coles 1, J. B. Sansom 2, G. W. Morris 3. P. Woodgyer 4, D. Fowles 5, F. C. Price 6.

At Newark

Miss Beryl White, captain of St. Giles' Church, Balderton. Newark, was married to a fellow ringer, Mr. Colin William Reed, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Reed, of Ringwood, Hants, on April 29th. The Vicar (Rev. J. A. Johnson) officiated.
The bride, who was given away by her eldest brother. Mr. Peter White, wore a gown of Nottingham lace with a matching headdress and short veil. Miss Janet Maltby was bridesmaid and Mr. David Reed best man to his brother. As the couple left the church. St. Giles' bells were rung by Mrs. N. Parker, W. L. Exton, G. E. Foster. D. N. Sellars, G. Ball and C. J. Copp. The honeymoon was spent in Jersey and they will live at 5 . Wellington Road. Newark

DEVONSHIRE GUILD AT LIFTON

THE quarterly meeting of the South West Branch at Lifton, near Launceston, on May 4th was the largest attended gathering of the Branch since the war, between 80 and 90 ringers and friends being present. Visitors came from almost all over the county, and included the president (Preb. E. V. Cox), who made the return journey of about 120 miles to be present. The N.W. Branch was well represented and included Mr. F. C. Smale (Okehampton), the Branch chairman: Mr. J. W. Sangwin, hon. secretary; Mr. Charles Sangwin, Ringing Master; from the Mid-Devon Branch Mr. J. E. Lilley (chairman): Messrs. Truman from the Exeter Branch; whilst Miss Boyle, the hon. secretary of the Northern Branch, came from Coombe Martin with a car load. Other visitors included a contingent from Bickleigh, near Plymouth. Branch members came in great force from St. Andrew's and Emmanuel (Plymouth), Plympton St. Maurice, Kelly, and the local band.

Ringing commenced at about 3 p.m.; the start was delayed owing to a bereavement in the village, the funeral having taken place that afternoon. At 4.30 the Guild service was conducted by the Rector (Rev. Mr. Welshman), Mr. W. Manning, who is a member of the Branch and the organist at Lifton, played for the service.

After the service a grand tea was provided by the ringers wives and daughters, led by Mrs. Welshman, the Rector's wife, in the new Church Hall. The business meeting followed, and was presided over by the chairman, Mr. H. H. Thomas (Emmanuel, Plymouth). A very hearty welcome was extended to all the visitors. Apologies were received from Rev. Mr. Bennett (Plympton St. Maurice) and Messrs. H. Myers and H. Tippett (St. Andrew's), who were all indisposed, and the hope was expressed that they and the local captain (Mr. Brimacombe), who was also ill, would soon be restored to good health.

The election of four members to the Guild in towers were confirmed, one being Mr. Philip Westwood, formerly of Emmanuel and now residing in Dove.

Hearty votes of thanks were accorded the Rector, the organist, the local ringers, and the ladies for a really excellent tea.

The last meeting held at Lifton was the annual meeting in January, 1955, and since that time several young people at Lifton had taken up the noble art of campanology and joined the Guild. The Rector, although not himself a ringer, had done much to encourage the young lads and young ladies who had commenced since he became the rector, about $2 \frac{1}{2}$ years ago.

As the evening went on, little groups who had arranged to ring at other places made their departure; the Kelly ringers were going to ring at Ashwater and Halwell; our friends from the Stratton District (N.W. Branch) were ringing at St. Mary's, Launceston, whilst the Bickleigh ringers, with several from Emmanuel, had made a day of it, and leaving in the morning had rung at Brentor (5), Stowford, Broadwood Widger and Thrushelton, all rings of six, and after leaving Lifton were going on to Lew Trenchard. Arrangements for this 'run around' were made by Mr. George Godard, who is also a member of Emmanuel band.

We were able to tell the Rector and ringers of Lifton that their new police constable is Mr. W. J. Harvey, who is well known to the members of the Mid-Devon and S.W. Branches as an exceptionally keen and efficient ringer. We know that Mr. Harvey will make his weight felt, not only as the local constable, but that he and Mrs. 'Harvey will be welcomed in the belfry and church life at Lifton. The Branch extend best wishes to them both during their stay at Lifton.

Ringing was under the direction of the Ringing Master (Mr. T. G. Myers) of St. Andrew's, Plymouth, and continued until 8.45, concluding with a really good lower.

The great success of this meeting was evidence of the popularity of Lifton as a meeting place, of the Rector, the grand ring of eight bells, the wholehearted co-operation of the local band and of the sumptuous teas provided by the ladies.

SOUTHAMPTON UNIVERSITY GUILD

The third annual meeting of the Guild was held at the University on March 18th, with the retiring Master (Mr. R. E. Finch) in the chair. He stated that Mr. D. Cecil Williams had agreed to accept the position of hon. president. Reviewing the Guild's activities, the Master said four meetings with other Universities had been held, and all had been very successful.

The highlight of the year had been the tour in Somerset at Easter.

During the year the Guild had visited 93 different towers and cycled over 900 miles. AIthough no peal had yet been rung for the Guild, eight quarter peals had been rung, including the first by a ladies' band. The Master, expressed thanks to local ringers, especially Mr . R. A. Reed, for their help, and to the hardworking retiring secretary.

The following officers were elected, and took office immediately: Master, Miss Ruth A. Carey; deputy Master, Donall C. Exell ; hon. secretary/treasurer, John L. Queen: committee member, Miss Margaret E. L. Bcamish.

WINCHESTER & PORTSMOUTH GUILD

Cambridge and London were rung at the Portsmouth District quarterly mecting at Swanmore on April 27th, attended by 38 members. The Vicar (Rev. A. E. P. McCaig), who conducted the service, was elected an honorary member at the business meeting, presided over by Mr. H. Nobes. Other elections were: Shirley Parsons and Richard Smith, compounding members; John Ralph and Albert Pollard, ringing members.

SOUTH WIGSTON RINGERS IN OXFORDSHIRE

$\mathrm{A}^{\mathrm{s}}$
S a change from previous years, St. Thomas ringers, South Wigston, Leicester, decided to arrange their annual outing on Easter Tuesday instead of on a Saturday. The change was quite justified, and in excellent weather the party of almost all South Wigston ringers, together with friends and ringers from St. John's and St. Mary's, Leicester, set off.

The first stop was at Middleton Cheney (6), where the tenor is 22 cwt .2 qr .15 lb . The bells were pulled up in peal, and after we had become used to handling this heavy, majestic ring with its long draught (and no guides!), we had some excellent ringing.
The magnificent eight at Adderbury, with its tenor of 24 cwt .14 lb . was next sampled. Here we were met by Mr. Roper, and after the bells had been raised in peal, a course of Cambridge Major was rung. The writer recalled calling a peal of Yorkshire here in 1955 in the rather slow time of 3 hours and 30 minutes (P. A. C. please note!), and there has not been another peal since as there were complaints from the inhabitants that the peal took too long. In actual fact, the bells were ringing for over four hours on that occasion, as there was some ringing for those not taking part in the peal and also a false start of ten minutes (future touring parties, please note!).

A short journey of three miles took us to Deddington with its eight bells (tenor 17 cwt. 10 lb .). Here also the writer recalled ringing in 1955 and trying to dodge with the clock pendulum which swings across the middle of the belfry. This is where the Tenor King (A. Patrick Canron) added a broken rope to his list of destruction after 2 hours of a peal attempt!
After an excellent lunch in Banbury we left for Oxford, where arrangements had been made by Mr. P. Walker to ring at St. Giles', the University Church of St. Mary, and Magdalen College. Our guide through Oxford was Mr. J. R. Chaundy, and we offer our grateful thanks to these two gentlemen for looking after us so well. At St. Giles' ( 8 , tenor 13 cwt .) we had our worst ringing. We were glad to leave them for the heavy six (tenor 27 cwt .) at the University Church. A good rise and fall and a course of Double Oxford were enjoyed here, while visitors to the tower walked through the middle of the circle. After tea the ten bells of Magdalen College (tenor 19 cwt .) provided an opportunity for a course of Grandsire Caters.
The next call was to be the tit-bit of the day. After ringing on two sixes with tenors of 22 cwt . and 27 cwt ., we were all eagerly looking forward to trying the six at Balscott Homs Farm, where the tenor is only 1 cwt .21 lb . Mr. Jervis complimented us on the ringing, which he said was some of the best he had heard. Of course, most of our party were used to the light ring at Loughborough Bell Foundry. We were told that the locals could only manage to fall five in peal, and so we obliged by a perfect fall on the six. After we had finished we were surprised to see Mr . Jervis come out of his kitchen with a bell tucked under each arm. He intends to hang these to form a ring of eight! What a grand little ring of bells, and how we should enjoy a peal on them!
The last call was at Byfield (6, tenor $13 \frac{3}{2}$ cwt.). Here we were welcomed by Mr. Kilby Holtom, and between the rise and fall some good riaging was enjoyed.

Our sincere thanks are due to all the local ringers who welcomed us, and to Miss Joan Brown, who made all the arrangements.

DERBYSHIRE ASSOCIATION

THE annual meeting of the Derbyshire Association was held in Derby on April 27th. Although the weather was very favourable the attendance was well below average, approximately 30 members being present for tea and the general meeting. Ringing during the afternoon and evening was arranged at the Cathedral and St. Peter's and a short service in St. Peter's was conducted by the Rev. J. H. Davies. A substantial tea was prepared by ladies of St. Peter's, and this was followed by the general meeting, at which the chair was taken by the Association president. Apologies for absence were reported from Mr. E. Fletcher, Mr. Herbert Taylor and Mr. D. Walklate, and reference was made to the unfortunate illness of the vicepresident, Mr. W. Lancaster. It was agreed that a letter should be sent to Mr. Lancaster.

Officers due to retire according to rules were re-elected as follows: General secretary, Mr. A. B. Cooper ; trustee, Mr. Francis Lowe; Central Council representatives, Mr. A. Mould and Mr. W. Robinson.

The annual reports of the general secretary, peal secretary and treasurer, as circulated, were approved. Reference was made to the fact that the number of peals rung for the Association in 1956-69-was the highest on record. This was due to the highly successful tour arranged by Mr. T. Lock and to the great increase in enthusiasm shown by certain members of the Peak District. The record of Mr. B. J. Woodruffe was remarkable, as he called his first peal during the year and was leading conductor.

The report of the treasurer revealed a serious financial position. There was a loss on the year of approximately $£ 8$ and the cost of the annual report, had again risen by $£ 5$. After some discussion it was decided to accept the recommendation of the committee that the subscription for adult members should be increased from 2 s .6 d . to 3 s . 6 d . per annum. The president suggested that an approach for donations should be made to Parochial Church Councils of churches where the Association was represented, and promised that support would be forthcoming from the Cathedral authorities. Certain members felt, however, that the Association should be self supporting.
The following resolutions, recommended by the committee, were approved and, where necessary, the Association's rules will be amended:
(a) That the constitution of the Association be revised to allow for the election of additional vice-presidents. The following were unanimously elected to this office: Mr. F. Adams (Chesterfield), Mr. E. Fletcher (Ilkeston). Mr. J. Bailey (Derby).
(b) That the Rules should be amended to clarify the respective duties of the general secretary and District secretaries regarding the collection of subscriptions and the arrangements for general mectings.
(c) That a sub-committee be appointed to investigate the possibility of revising the layout of the annual reports to reduce the cost. The following were appointed: Mr. M. Bailey, Mr. G. A. Halls and Mr. P. H. Whitaker.

Mr. Halls reported on the annual dinner, which again was a very successful social function. Members were urged to give earlier indication of their intention to be present in future.

The sale of Association badges was proceeding satisfactorily and it was indicated that total sales aczounted for approximately half the original number purchased.

Mr. Adams, of Chesterfield, proposed a comprehensive vote of thanks to all responsible for the organisation of the meeting and made particular reference to the work of the Association officers. Mr. Adams also complimented the young conductors in the Association on the admirable progress they had made during 1956.

OBITUARY

MR. EDWIN BISHOP, SEN.

The death occurred on May 1st of Mr. Edwin Bishop, sen., at the age of 91 years. 'Ike,' as he was affectionately known by his many friends in Rotherfield and district, Sussex, was a ringer at the Church of St. Denys for 73 years.
In 1908 when the old ring of five was augmented to eight, the late Mr. Keith Hart, of Brighton, came to Rotherfield to instruct a newly formed band in the art of change-ringing. Under his expert guidance the band made rapid progress, and in 1910 rang the first peal on the bells by a local band. Mr. Bishop only rang ten peals, but his regular attendance for Sunday service ringing and practice nights could be relied upon.
He leaves one son, Edwin, jun., who has been and still is a ringer since 1908. Mr. Bishop, sen.'s chief joy was to cover to Stedman with the 23 cwt . tenor. and up to three or four years ago could still manage to keep it going to a nice steady beat. Although old age eventually stopped him ringing, his interest was still as keen as ever, and on Saturday, May 25 th, a half-muffled peal will be attempted in his memory.

MR. WILFRED BOOTH

Death came suddenly and tragically to Mr . Wilfred Booth. of Heathfield, Sussex. While at work on the Tuesday of Holy Week he collapsed and was found lying on the roadside. He died later in hospital.
Mir. Booth was 70 years of age and for 50 of these had been a ringer at Heathfield Church where, for most of his ringing career, he had been tower captain. His own ringers and all who knew him speak with affection of his cheerful and warm greeting whenever there was ringing at his home tower. Mr. Booth rang quite a few peals but kept no record of them.

A quarter peal to his memory was rung halfmuffled at Heathfield onl May 3rd.

MR. HORACE HARRISON

It is with deep regret that we record the passing of Mr. Horace Harrison, of Long Sutton, Lincs, who died suddenly at his home on Thursday, May 2 nd. He had been confined to his bed since Easter.

Mr. Harrison was always a very keen service ringer, and learned to ring about 50 years ago. for the past 19 years being captain of the tower. He rang his first peal in 1911, but there is no record of his total number. He was very popular and respected in the town. and was a member of naany societies and committees.
The funeral service and interment on May Gth was attended by many ringers from neighbouring towers. The bells were rung halfmuffled in the evening.

MR. SIDNEY WADE

It is with regret that we announce the death on April $28 t \mathrm{th}$ of Mr. Sidney Wade, who had been a rirger at Christ Church, Southgate, since 1896. He was 76 years of age.

Before the funeral service at Christ Church on May 3rd his old ringing friends rang touches of Grandsire and Stedman Caters on the halfmuffled bells. Wreaths included tributes from the Christ Church Society and the Middlesex County Association. The interment was in the Great Northern Cemetery.
On May 4th 1,294 Stedman Caters was rung half-muffled to his memory by A. W. Coles 1 . E. G. Talbot 2. Miss M. Prockson 3, S. G. Peck 4, T. J. Lock 5, J. Waliman 6, J. Euston 7, R. Sanders 8. J. G. Nash (conductor) 9, C. Aldridge 10.

LEEDS & DISTRICT SOCIETY

Maintained on an Annual Subscription

 of SixpenceThe annual meeting of the Society was held at Leeds Parish Church on April 27th. Members representing some 20 towers were present and ringing took place during the afternoon and evening.

At the business meeting, held in the tower at 7.30 p.m., Mr. T. W. Strangeway took the chair, supported by the Precentor, the Rev. T. H. Bone.

A slight increase, both in membership and in the bank balance, was reported-the latter being achieved in spite of the fact that the annual subscription still remained at 6 d., the amount originally fixed when the Society was formed in 1889! The treasurer, however, considered it necessary to point out that if this was to continue the membership must show a substantial increase, and the number of members in arrears with their subscriptions must be drastically reduced.
As welk as the customary vote of thanks, to which the Rev. T. H. Bone replied, on this occasion the retiring officers were thanked for their services during the past year.
The following officers were declared elected for the year 1957-58: President. Mr. I. Slack: vice-presidents. Messrs. H, Lofthouse, F. Rayment and J. M. Thorley; Ringing Master, Mr. L. Drake ; secretary and treasurer, Mr. I. F Hodson: auditors, Messrs. C. F. Sutcliffe and R. Bettly-Cooke.

Some discussion took place concerning the new meeting rota. This matter was left for the secretary to arrange.

BARNSLEY & DISTRICT SOCIETY

A variety of methods were rung at the monthly meeting of the Barnsley and District Society at Hoylandswainc on April 13th. The Rev. A. Everall presided at the business meeting and gave a hearty welcome to all present. Mr Noel Moxon spoke in appreciation of Mr. Jack Fish, of Cawthorne, who had been a ringer there for 48 years and died on March 12thhis 81 st birthday. Bells were rung muffled before and after the funeral service, and a halfmuffled peal to his memory was rung on March 23 rd.
A special invitation to Holmfirth on May 18th was accepted and arrangements made for the annual shield contest.

PETERBOROUGH DIOCESAN GUILD

In order to avoid "clashing " with the crowning of the May Queen, ringing at the Kettering Branch meeting at Cranford on May 5th was suspended at 3 p.m. The Rector (Rev. P. G. Phillips) conducted the Guild office, for which Mrs. Phillips played the organ.

A short business meeting preceded tea at the Woolpack Inn, attended by 34 members and friends. Ringing was tesumed at $5.30^{\circ}$ p.m. undea the direction of the new Master (Mr. B Austin), and continued in a variety of Doubles and Minor methods until 8.30 p.m

Ten new members were elected, eight of whom were from Weekley. The Branch was very pleased to welcome this new band and also visitors from the Oundle and Thrapston Branches.

A vote of thanks was proposed at the meeting by Mr. B. Austin and seconded by Mrs. Austin. to the Rector and Mrs. Phillips and to Mr. C H. Newell, who arranged the meeting.

SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD  West Dorset Branch

The quarterly meeting of the West Dorset Branch was held at Symondsbury on April 27th, when there were visitors from Iver Heath, Bucks, and Yetminster. The Guild service was conducted by the Rev. D. D. Moore, Rector of Symondsbury. Twenty sat down to tea in the Old Rectory. Much interest was taken in this old building which has 19 bedrooms, and must be a milestone of an age that has passed

The next meeting was fixed for July 20th at Loders. Six new members were elected, two from Powerstock and four from Netherbury Canon C. C. Cox thanked the Rector, organist and choir for their cfforts, and extended a very warm welcome to Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Goodfellow, from Iver Heath.

Handbell ringing followed, with Grandsire Caters and Triples, Stedman Triples and Bob Major. Ringing on tower-bells included most metbods up to London Minor.

\section*{THE RABBITS' GUILD}

THE proposal to set up a Rabbits' Guild of Church Bellringers may occasion some surprise. Guilds devoted to sectional interests we have already, and reasons for their existence may easily be found. The clergy on their tours may be supposed to enjoy a sort of 'busman's holiday,' and so, in a sense, the railwaymen. 'He came in Slow,' we hear them saying accusingly. The doctors we may imagine exchanging medical jargon. "Cut her nerve of Bell, poor woman! Her ringing will never be the same again.' The police, too, may well enliven their meetings with professional talk. 'A real Artful Dodger, he is!' The Universities naturally continue the ancient strife, Oxford v. Cambridge. But what on earth, it may be asked, have these Rabbits to justify a Guild of their own?

The very scorn implied in the question points the answer; for, though the ringers of Surprise Maximus are certainly the brains of the Exercise, the Rabbits are as surely its backbone. There are towers, of course, having expert bands, where the disappearance of another forlorn and heartbroken Rabbit is a matter for rejoicing. Yet, without the Rabbits who scuttle along the approaches to our towers, for service ringing or practice, regular, punctual, humble, earnestly persevering in their hopeless task, without their offering hundreds, nay, thousands of towers would be silent. Their invaluable work belongs especially to the five- and six-bell towers, where they grind out so faithfully (and so badly) their Grandsire Doubles and kindred methods. Indeed, it is often only by their efforts that it is possible for the plaintive rhythm of 'Pussy's in the well' to be heard at all. Anyone who considers these facts with an unbiased mind must admit the truth of them and the justice of the claim.

Members of the Guild will pledge themselves to do all in their power to secure this recognition, and the fair treatment it implies. In everything, however, they will be sweetly reasonable. In criticising their Rabbits, ringing masters will still be allowed a certain amount of rope on their sallies. Members will resent being shouted at as little as heretofore, provided that they are indeed the culprits (as they usually are). What they will no longer do is suffer for the sins of others. How often is everything blamed on them, too innocent and too ignorant to defend themselves! In short, Rabbits will insist on remaining Rabbits, and refuse to be metamorphosed into goats, scapegoats. They will retain, too, the right to feign deafness when they are sure that their version is the correct one, and also when they receive simultaneous conflicting orders.

Good-humoured shouting will, as ever, be accepted cheerfully, and members will always do their best to obey legitimate orders, reasonably expressed. Especially will they pull in their backstrokes when so commanded, five consecutive strokes at least, or until the agonies of concentration force them to forget once more. Shouting, then, will not necessarily be prohibited, but more offensive forms of expressions will never be allowed. Rabbits must endure the snarling of ropes, but not of masters.

Strategy has already been considered. Strike action is a legitimate weapon, and will be used when a ringing master oppresses or slights a member, and does not amend and make instant reparation when the Guild's writ is served on him. Whenever the master and fellows declare a strike (first, second or third degree), all members of the Guild will be expected loyally to adjust their striking accordingly (worse than ever, horrible or hellish) and so continue, in all the towers in the land, until justice is done to the aggrieved Rabbit. By such means, and others to be devised, such as synchronised stay-breaking, it is certain that the power of the Guild will be so felt that guilty masters will quickly capitulate, and take care not to offend again. In very serious cases, indeed, it has even been proposed that Rabbits withdraw their services, but the provisional officers of the Guild are not at present unanimous on this point, some holding that such a desperate action would dishonour the Guild. It is encouraging to note that in the home towers of the master and secretary, where the foundation of the Guild has been openly discussed, there is already an amazing change for the better in the treatment they receive.

Admission to the Guild will not be lightly granted. To ensure that all members are genuine Rabbits, applications, giving qualifications and preferably supported by a recommendation from a member of the applicant's band, not the master, are invited. As a rough guide to the qualifications required, be it said that candidates are expected to have tried their utmost for years, without making perceptible progress. An exact number of years is not specified, and the qualifying period obviously depends on the standard achieved, but prospective applicants may be expected to recognise their own eligibility. Aspirants who remain a physical danger to themselves and neighbouring ringers are asked not to apply for membership, but may be considered for a supplementary roll of probationers.

The rules of the Guild are not yet agreed, and will be published later. One, however, is agreed and is absolute: any Rabbit who rings a peal, except the tenor covering, must resign his membership. There will be no subscription payable by members, but one of the reforms to be demanded is the replacement, free of charge, of all stays broken by Rabbits in every tower which enjoys the services of a member of the Guild. Thus, nearly every tower in the land will be covered for members' stay-breaking.

It is hoped to apply for a grant of arms; the device will include five bells (one cracked, to symbolise rabbithood) and a snarled rope. Other suggestions are a ringing master rampant and a broken stay couchant. Proposals for the motto include the following: Floreat avus (Grandsire for ever), Ave, ave (Hail Grandsire), Nimrod ego (I am the hunter), Semper volens (Always willing), and Dum in mundo tundo (While on earth I bash). Other suggestions, from applicants for membership or others, will be welcomed.

Until the Guild is established and has made its power felt to protect them from reprisals by the enemy, the master and other officers judge it expedient to be anonymous. It may, in fact, possibly be decided to develop the Guild in the form of a Rabbits Anonymous, the better to induce a feeling of insecurity among ringing masters inclined to bullying and other malpractices; but that is for the future.

The Guild is launched. A great surge of applicants for membership is expected. The rallying-cry is Rabbits, unite! Sursum corda!
T. B., Master.
B. M. W. D.. Secretary.

\section*{INCREASED SUBSCRIPTIONS FOR YORKSHIRE ASSOCIATION}

HE annual meeting of the Yorkshire Association was held at Huddersficld on Saturday, May 11 th, being well attended by members and friends representing each of the four Districts. Ringing took place on the Parish Church bells during the afternoon and evening, and also on the musical ring of eight at Almondbury during the afternoon. The service was held in tha Parish Church at 4.30 p.m.. followed by a really first-class high tea in the Parochial Hall.

Unanticipated incidents unfortunately intervened almost at once, it being found that by some oversight the printers had failed to deliver the usual quota of copies; of the annual report to this meeting, which meant, of course that many members must now obtain them from their respective District secretaries. It was also found that the room was booked for another function at 7 p.m.. but fortunately this was overcome by the discovery of another vacant room on the premises later on.

At the business meeting the chair was taken by Archdeacon C. O. Ellison, president of the Association, supported by the general secretary (Mr. L. W. G. Morris) and the hon. treasurer (Mr. G. Benfield). In his opening remarks, the president said he proposed to vary slightly the order of the agenda, as Canon Horan, the Vicar of Huddersfield, had a further appointment, and he would therefore ask someone to move a vote of thanks to Canon Horan and the churchwardens of Huddersfield, also the Vicar and churchwardens of Almondbury, for so kindly placing their bells at the disposal of the Association. This was ably moved by Mr. I. Slack, seconded by Mr. H. Lofthouse and carried with applause.

Replying. Canon Horan expressed his thanks. adding that he understood it was 30 years since the Association last visited Hudersfield, and hoped their next visit would not be so long delayed.

Apologies for absence were received from Messrs. S. F. Palmer. B. Sutton, J. B. Hutchinson, H. S. Morley. F. A. Stavelcy, L. M. Woodhead, W. E. Critchley and T. W. Strangeway. A vote of thanks to the local companies of Huddersfield and Almondbury was warmly accorded on the motion of Mr. N. F. Moxon, seconded by Mr. W. Barton. Mr. H. S. Armitage responded.

Presenting the report of the committee, the president drew attention to the fact that there had been a further decline in resident membership due largely to the lapsing of no fewer than 82 members for failure to pay their dues for the previous two years. Some of the lapses may be deliberate, but many are also due to inadvertence or forgetfulness. After deducting the lapsed members, and those who had died during the year, the total resident membership now stood at 615 members.

Altogether, and including out-county members, the Association has lost 16 members through death during 1956 and the early part of 1957, amongst them being Mr. George Hawksworth, of Scarborough. who joined in 1902, ind had served on the general committee: Mr. G. F. Williams, of Hull, who joined in 1907, and was one of the leading conductors in the East Riding: Mr. W. Bailey, of Skipton, a member since 1894 : and finally Mr. Geo. F. Woodhouse, of Sedbergh (1897). who was a notable ringer and trainer of ringers, and constructed a machine which was capable of ringing any method, and at the same time producing a diagram of the method being rung.
Reports from the Districts indicate that successful meetings have been beld, and a steady membership maintained, with the exception of the Northern District, where conditions give rise to some anxiety. Over half the members who were lapsed for non-payment of subscriptions for two years come from this area.

The balance sheet showed a loss of \(£ 419 \mathrm{~s}\). 3 d . on the year's working, less than the amount anticipated due to the fact that the actual cost of the reports had fallen short of the estimated cost by some \(£ 5\), and in addition the sale of badges had yielded a better return than anticipated. Taking these factors into account, plus the amount saved by two Central Council delegates waiving their allowances, now had the effect of cancelling out the loss for the year.

\section*{102 PEALS}

In the absence of the peal secretary (Mr. W. E. Critchley), who was indisposed with tonsilitis, Mr. W. Barton presented the peal secretary's report, and carned the applause of the meeting for the very able manner in which he did this at a minute's notice. The report showed that 102 tower-bell peals and 11 handbell peals had been rung during the year, a total of 113 peals, and the conducting had been shared by 33 conductors. Methods rung had shown a commendable variety, being on all numbers from Doubles to Maximus, with the exception of Cinques, and the list included the first peal of Spliced Surprise Royal by the Association, and a peal in 64 Minor methods at Adwick-le-Street was the greatest number of methods rung to a peal on tower-bells by the Association. Mr. N. Chaddock formally moved the adoption of the report. This was seconded by Mr. H. Armitage and carried.

The next business was the re-election to office as president fon the next three years of Archdeacon C . 0 . Ellison, who was due to retire this year by rota. The general secretary said that Archdeacon Ellison had rendered invaluable service in the past, sparing nothing in time or effort on their behalf and in their interests, and he had once again very kindly accepted the unanimus invitation of the committee to be their norninee. He therefore had the greatest possible pleasure in moving his re-election to office. Mr. P. J. Johnson seconded, and Archdeacon Ellison was unanimously re-elected.

Thanking the members for their support. Archdeacon Ellison said he valued most highly their resewed expression of confidence in him. and he would always endeavour to serve the Association to the best of his ability as long as it was his privilege to do so. He sometimes felt that they would be better served by a practical ringer able to devote more time to attend District mestings, and would leave this as a thought for consideration.

The general secretary then moved the re-election of Mr. W. E. Critchley as hon. peal secretary. This was seconded by Mr. S. H. Steel and again carried unanimously, coupled with thanks for his work during the past year.

\section*{5s. ANNUAL SUBSCRIPTION}

The general secretary next reported that the committee had, at its last meeting, given most earnest consideration to a report submitted by a specially appointed sub-committee, dealing with the Association's finances. The report revealed that the upward trend in the cost of printing the annual report had risen by no less than £14 in the last two years, and a further increase was anticipated this year. The cost was now more than double the pre-war figure. and all that had so far been done to offset it was a 50 per cent. increase in the annual subscription rate. When borne in mind that administration costs under other headings. such as postajes, fares and notice charges, also continued to rise, the inescapable result was a position far removed from sound economics. A pointed illustration was the fact that the accu. mulated funds amounted to \(£ 32419 \mathrm{~s} .3 \mathrm{~d}\). in 1939, and had fallen to \(£ 2497 \mathrm{~s}\). 2d. in 1955a net decrease of some \(£ 75\). Furthermore, remaining assets are still in danger of being further diminished in value by the steady pressure of inflation, even when invested on the most favourable terms, and it may not be inappropriate to comment that today, accumulated reserves would need to be in the region of some \(£ 850-£ 900\) at least, to compare in value with their worth in 1939.

Faced with these stark and unpalatable lacts, the committee was at once agreed that the situation was not only an alarming one now, but was bound to deteriorate rapidly unless immediate counter-measures were taken, and came to the conclusion that if the Association was indeed to survive, let alone return to a state of financial stability, a drastic revision of the annual subscription rate was inevitable. Accordingly, the general committee recommended for approval by the annual meeting the following proposals with effect from January 1st, 1958 :-
(a) That the annual subscription rate be increased to five shillings, with consequent amendment to Rulei 2.
(b) That the entrance fee be abolished, thereby making a uniform annual payment of five shillings.
(c) That the cost of the annual report to outcounty members be increased 102 s . 6 d .
(d) That the qualifying year for life membership of the Association be raised from 1905 to 1910
The committee appreciated that at first sight their proposed increase to five shillings did seem rather a lot, and gave careful thought to its likely impact on the membership in general. On analysis, however, the value of the pound now stands at approximately 6 s .8 d . compared with 1939 values, from which it must follow that five shillings now represents about is. 8 d . proportionately, or less in actual value than the 2 s , rate that obtained in 1939. The proposed increase, therefore, was in effect more of an adjustment made necessary by the vastly changed value of the pound than an increase as such. The secretary then formally moved adoption of the proposals on behalf of the committec, and Mr . V Bottomley seconded.

A long and lively discussion ensued, during the course of which many questions and answers were exchanged, and useful views expressed. On being put to the vote, the meeting approved acceptance of the entire proposals by an overwhelming majority. It was unanimously agreed to arrange the next meeting on September 21 st, and that an endeavour be made to arrange it at Norton, near Malton.

Mr. N. Chaddock reported that arrangements were already in hand for the Snowdon Dinner to be held at Rotherham on October 26th next. The gencral secretary said that he had received word from Mr. E. A. Barnett. intimating his hope to be present. to which he had replied on their behalf, extending a hearty welcomo to both Mr. and Mrs. Barnett, which they had kindly accepted. Dorothy Wood (Batley), Joan M. Dawson (Calverley). Mrs. W. Cannings (Tickhill), Olive M. Gray (Chapel Allerton), Sylvia Holt (Leeds), J. Newton (Huddersfield) were elected members, and Mrs. B. Holmes (Bolsover). Thomas Ogden (Oldham) and Roger Maher (Haywood) as out-county members, on the motion of Mr. V. Bottomley, seconded by Mr. W. Barton.

\section*{LEICESTER RINGERS AT WELLS}

With friends from the Cathedral, All Saints', St. John-the-Divine, Anstey, Syston. Wigston (Magna and South), the St. Margaret's, Leicester. Guild, numbering 40 .. had their annual outing on May 11 th.

Starting at 8 a.m., after the usual slight delay for the well-known late-comer, they proceeded to Wells, Somerset, which although a very long distance was duly reached at 2 p.m. A short halt en route at Stow-on-the-Wold for coffee. and a splendid ride through Cheddar Gorge. brought us first to St. Cuthbert's. Wells, whose rather ' springy-going' heavy eight were rung to rounds for learners. Stedman and Double Norwich.

At the lovely Cathedral we were privileged to ring until service time at \(5 \mathrm{p} . \mathrm{m}\). The bellsEngland's heaviest ten-were raised, and after rounds and a bob-course of Grandsire Caters were rung. Cambridge Royal, Bob Royal, Kent T.B. Royal duly came round. To satisfy the notorious John E. C., Bristol Surprise on the back eight was rung. and one wonders if his 'bobs could not have been heard in the Lady Chapel at the far end of the Cathedral!

After seeing the famous Jack Blandiver kick his bells, and the battle royal on horseback by the clock puppets, tea at the Fountain was very welcome. The long journey home via Bristol (under the suspension bridge), Gloucester, Tewkesbury, with a brief halt at Stratford-onAvon. was safely accomplished by midnight. and the company, though tired, voted it as a very fine outing. Our thanks to the Wells company for their help and welcome.

\section*{Chew Deanery Activities}

Twenty-nine ringers representing 12 different towers "signed the book "at the Chew Deanery Branch quarterly meeting at Chew Magna on April 27th. The service followed twa and the business meeting, and at 4.30 the tower was deserted for the Parish Hall for tea, very kindly prepared by the local ringers and their ladies.
The Vicar of Chew Magna (Rev. C. M. Luxmoore-Ball) presided at the meeting, when one new member from Clutton was elected, and it was decided, subject to permission, to hold the next quarterly meeting at Backwell, with practice meetings at Winford (May) and But-combe-with-Nempnett Thrubwell (June).

The Association service was conducted by the Vicar, and after this the heavy octave was again available and ringing, under the direction of the Branch Ringing Master (Mr. H. W. Knight).

CORPORATE COMMUNION
There was a good attendance at the Corporate Communion held at Yatton the next morning, a good selection of the towers in the Branch being represented, together with friends from the Bath and Axbridge Branches. Ringing commenced soon after 7 on this beautiful morning, and the ringers then attended the Parish Communion, at which the celcbrant was the Vicar (Pieb. G. A. Beechey).
On adjourning to the Parish Hall it was pleasantly obvious that Mrs. Norton, Mrs. Knight and helpers had been busy, and the Vicar joined the members for breakfast. Ringing continued for Matins, when the local band were joined by those visitors who did not have to return to their own towers. M. J. H.

\section*{SURREY ASSOCIATION}

The spring quarterly meeting of the N.W. District was held at Epsom on May 4th. The counter-attractions of the Cup Final and the opening of the cricket season no doubt accounted for the attendance being only 33 , representing 11 towers. Ringing in the afternoon. under the direction of the District Master (Mr. Gordon Peters), was interrupted for half-anhour at 3.30 for a wedding. At 4.30 Evensong was conducted by the Vicar, who afterwards joined tha company for tea in the Scout Hut. This was an excellent meal prepared by the local ringers.

At the business meeting it was decided to proceed with a striking competition on the lines suggested by the committee, which emphasises that the competition is a means, to the end of improved Sunday service striking, and was not an end in itself.
On the proposal of the chairman. a motion asking the general committee to consider reverting to the printed report in view of the revised estimate of the cost of printing it in "The Ringing World' was carried by 12 votes to five, After the votes of thanks and the collection of \(£ 1\) for the Bell Fund, the company adjourned to the belfry, where ringing up to Surprise continued until 8.25.

The attempt for a farewell peal to the Vicar (Rev. J. T. George) at Cheddar on May 1 th came to grief after \(2 \frac{3}{3}\) hours' good ringing. Those ringers who have rung at Cheddar know of the peculiarities of these bells, especially the rocking tower. Not dismayed, another attempt will be on June 29th, which we hope will be brought to a successful conclusion. The Vicar was a good friend of the ringers, and through his close interest the frame is to be strengthened and the 'go' of the bells improved.

Ladies of the Suffolk Guild rang a peal of Minor in four methods at Polstead on May 4th. The conductor was Miss Rosemary J. Seabrook.
Mr. W. A. J. Knight, of Gillingham, Kent inquires when Nynehead, Somerset, was made a ring of five.
A father and daughter, Mr. G. Rand and Margaret, rang their first quarter at Steeple Claydon, Bucks, on May 4th.
We are informed that the Christian names of the late Mr. Turner were Ernest Cecil Seymour and not Ernest Charles Seymour, as printed.
The conductor of the peal in 21 Surprise Minor methods at Apsley End on April 23 rd (see page 293) states that the third 720 should read: Beverley, Berwick, Hexham and Surfleet, and not as submitted and printed.
Visitors to East Ilsley Church, Berks, will find a new screen covering the entrance to the tower, which was dedicated on May 3rd. Ringing used to take place round the font which has now been removed.
While the wedding of two of their ringers, Mr . John Hill and Miss Marjorie Hunter, was taking place at St. James' Church, Accrington, bellringers of St. Mary's Church, Ewell, rang a complimentary peal. The bride and bridegroom first met while studying at University College, Leicester.

\section*{GOSSIP}

Mr. F. W. Lack, who has represented Ely Diocesan Association on the Central Council since 1951, has been elected an hon. vice-president of the Huntingdon Grocers' Association. While ringing is his chief hobby, Mr. Lack, who lives at Great Staughton, holds the following positions: Churchwarden, secretary of Church Council, chairman of school managers, president of cricket club, and is past chairman of the Parish Council.
The second of the experimental series of combined practices was held at Ewell on May 7th; 19 ringers from five towers were present. Methods practised included rounds, Plain Bob, Stedman, Double Norwich and Cambridge. Double Norwich was especially featured. Mr. John Hill was in charge, deputising for the District Master (Mr. Gordon Peters).
Mr. F. C. Mogford, head ringer, and the Vicar (Rev. D. V. Clatworthy) signed an appeal asking for 1,000 ringers to give 5 s . each towards the cost of recasting the fifth bell of All Saints' Church, Publow, Somerset. 'We are determined that the bells, some of the sweetest in Somerset, shall not be left silent indefinitely. Contributions should be sent to the hon. treasurer of the ringers, Mr. R. W. Treasure, Viaduct House, Pensford, near Bristol.
Peal attempts at Bexhill-on-Sea are rare, the last being on February 1st, 1947. Another attempt was made on May 11th but was lost after some 75 minutes. An appropriate note appeared in the parish magazine, explaining the purpose of the peal to proclaim the Resurrection of Our Lord. 'Let those who hear changes on church bells know that the Church of England is alive and working in their midst, for in no other Church are changes normally rung.' Two of the local band would have scored their first peal had the attempt been successful.

\section*{BATH AND WELLS}
r1YHE 67th annual general meeting of the Bath and Wells Diocesan Association was held this year at Wrington on Easter Monday. The fine ring of ten bells at the Parish Church of All Saints was pealing forth from 10.30 a.m., culminating in a good service touch of Grandsire Caters prior to the Association service at 12 noon. The service was conducted by the Rector of Wrington (Rev. B. Leigh), the lesson being read by Mr. H. A. Price, lay reader, of Yatton, and the sermon being preached by the Rector of Exford (Rev. Henry Warren). Some 110 people attended the service, the usual lusty congregational singing being led by members of the local choir.

After a very good and substantial lunch, provided by Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Knight and a willing band of helpers, the members adjourned to the Memorial Hall for the business meeting, which was attended by 140 people. Mr. Knight was voted to the chair, in the absence of the Master. Apologies for absence were received from the Lord Bishop of the Diocese, who was recovering from a serious operation, from the Bishop of Taunton and from the former Master (Rev. Michael Hurst-Bannister), who sent a telegram of greetings.

The Master's report, read for him by Mr. Knight, referred to the sad occasion of his having to leave the post of Master on accepting the living of Fugglestone-with-Bemerton in the Diocese of Salisbury. He had felt honoured to be elected Master of the Association and he would look back with many happy memories of his many friends in Somerset. He commended to the members the recommendation of the general committee regarding the alteration of the Rules; these had been arrived at after much careful consideration and thought for the future good of the Association.

The general secretary (Mr. Roger O. Fry) commenced his report by referring to the resignation of Mr. Hurst-Bannister, who during his 1 hrec years of office as Master had not spared himself in carrying out his dutics and attending meetings of ringers throughout the diocese.

The past year had again been a period of much activity in all matters connected with ringing in the diocese. The membership had increased to 1,590 resident members in 184 affiliated towers. Many rings of bells had been restored; the only 12 in the diocese, those at Taunton, were again in good ringing order, as were all the rings of ten, with the exception of Bath Abbey, where the bells were being rehung and retuned, to be ready in the autumn. The rings of eight, too, were generally in very good order, the only black spot being the eight at Christ Church, Bath, where the bells hung in a truly disgusting state in a filthy belfry, despite efforts to persuade the Church authorities to have an inspection by proper adviscrs. The rings of five and six bells in the diocese would be the subject of an investigation during the next few months, and it was hoped that a report on the state of these would be available by the next meeting.
In coacluding his report on the amount of bell-restoration work going on in the diocese, the secretary hoped that the firms at present employed in bell-hanging would take every care to ensure the highest possible standard of work, and would continue to make every effort to ensure that work done would be thoroughly finished in every detail.

\section*{CHRISTMAS DAY RINGING}

The ringing on Christmas Day deserved special mention, for two Somerset towers had taken part. Long Ashton beils had been rung during the 9.15 to 9.30 broadcast, along with several other towers. Then Timberscombe bells had rung at 11.30 for the 'Pcople's Service, and further, a carol had been rung on handbells by the local ringers during the service. In common with all the ringers with whom he had discussed the matter, he believed that the standard of ringing from both towers was quite high; one should always remember that any band would suffer a little from 'stage fright' on such an occasion, and as the ringing was done entirely by local ringers, their efforts were all the more worthy of commendation.

HAVE NOW 1,500 RESIDENT MEMBERS

Mr. Fry continued: 'However, those of us who take "The Ringing World "will have witnessed two controversies recently, and one concerns the first broadcast. A ringer who was described in "The Ringing World" as being "an eminent ringer and member of the Central Council" saw fit to send his observations concerning the quality of the ringing to the Editor under a cloak of anonymity. His observations consisted entirely of disparaging remarks, his most charitable description of any of the ringing being "fair." While nobody should resent or be afraid of being criticised by people who know what they are talking about, since it is only by listening to such criticism that we learn to correct our mistakes, I would respectfully suggest that this particular criticism was in very bad taste. In any case, it is not for Central Council members, eminent ringers, or anybody else to make these declamations, unless they are also prepared to help the people they are criticising, by ringing with them and showing them how things should be done.

> Ringer Received Royal Maundy
> Among the recipients of the Royal Maundy when the Queen visited St. Albans Abbey was Mr. John Henry Price Conquest, of 64, Stanbridge Road, Leighton. Mr. Conquest, who is 70 , has been a ringer for more than 40 years. Born at Streatham. he has lived at Leighton for 23 years. His many friends will congratulate him.

Referring to the College of Campanology, the secretary said that at a dinner recently he had been privileged to meet the founder of the College and discuss the matter with him at some length. He felt that much sincere hard work had been put into the compilation of the Manual, which had appeared in serial form during the past few months. It might well be that there was much in the Manual which would not be readily palatable, and which might need to be modified, but the point was that a start had been made, and all ringers should guard against dismissing the matter out of hand. since if they thought carefully about it and examined conditions obtaining in the majority of towers, they might feel that there was dire need of a book of instruction on ringing.
The committee had been very busy during the year, debating the proposed changes in the Rules, and the alterations which were to be put to this meeting had been carefully studied and were put forward by the committee as a whole having thought for the future good of the Association. The annual report for 1956 had been printed and distributed to the Branch secretaries and would be available to members very shortly. The secretary's report was received with acclamation and adopted.
NO INCREASE OF SUBSCRIPTIONS
The treasurer (Mr. L. W. Pullin) presented favourable report, showing a balance in hand of \(£ 135\). Two grants had been made from the Bell Fund, and the Association had also subscribed \(£ 20\) to the Bow Bells Appeal Fund. It was hoped that despite rising costs of reports and so forth, it would not be necessary yet to increase subscriptions; the way to keep the Association financially sound was to increase the

The peal secretary (Mr. H. J. Sanger) reported that 76 peals had been rung during the past year, an increase of 11 on 1955. Generally, the standard and variety of methods rung had improved, and there was much evidence of marked progress by the younger ringers. The young men from Royal Air Force, Locking, also came in for mention, for their peal ringing and for the help which they gave to local towers.

The Dioccsan Adviser on the Care of Church Bells (Mr. W. A. Osborn), in giving his 13 th annual report, stated that 1956 had been his busiest year yet, he having given advice in 17 towers. Bath Abbey bells were at the Loughborough Bell Foundry, the founders having been given a free hand to hang these bells to give the best possible results. At Stanton Drew there had been a scheme afoot to sell the existing five bells, in order to buy an electronic chime, but this scheme had been opposed, and a faculty was refused. Mr. Osborn also gave details of his findings in 15 other churches in the diocese, and paid tribute to the help which he had received from Mr. R. Gardiner, who was his deputy and whom he hoped would take on the job in the near future.

The meeting passed on to the election of officers. The Rev. H. F. Warren, Rector of Exford and chairman of the Dunster Branch, was elected Master. Mr. Warren, in thanking the members, said that he was very proud to hold the office which his father, the Rev. W. M. K. Warren, had held before him.

Mr. G. Salmon, of Wells, was elected treasurer in succession to Mr. Pullin, who had asked to be relieved of his duties on the advice of his doctor. All the other officers and Central Council representatives were re-elected.

FOUR ORDERS OF MEMBERSHIP
Under the new Rules approved by the meeting, the Association now becomes the * Bath and Wells Diocesan Association of Church Bell Ringers,' with four orders of membership, being
(1) Honorary Life Members, elected by the committee for outstanding service to the Association, or to ringing;
(2) Associate Members, who may subscribe 5s. annually
(3) Non-Resident Life Members, who may ring peals for the Association, but shall have no part in running the Association.
(4) Performing Members, who to be eligible for membership must be capable of raising and lowering a bell, and of ringing rounds accurately. This rule now allows members of call-change bands to join the Association.
Three members were elected honorary life members, in recognition of their services to the Association: The Rev. Michael Hurst-Bannister, past Master; Mr. H. C. Líntern, of Ditcheat, formerly secretary of the Cary Branch; and Mr. W. J. Prescott, of Bath Abbey, who had joined the Association in 1896 and had served in a variety of offices.
Visitors present at the meeting included ringers from Exeter, Devon, Staffordshire, Wiltshire, Gloucestershire, Middlesex, Swansea, Berkshire, Glamorgan and Dorset. Mr. W. H. Coles, now nearly fully recovered from his accident, brought greetings from the Middlesex Association.

Before the meeting adjourned, votes of thanks were accorded to the Rector of Wrington for placing his church, bells and hall at the disposal of the Association, and for conducting the service; to Mr. and Mrs. Knight and their band of helpers for the wonderful lunch: and also to Mr. Knight for all the other arrangements which he had made for the benefit of the mecting. The members then dispersed for ringing at Wrington, Nailsea, Backwell. Yatton. Wraxall, Long Ashton, Chew Magna and

\section*{A RECORD YEAR FOR NORWICH ASSOCIATION}

THE annual meeting of the Norwich Diocesan Association, held in Norwich on May 4th, had a record attendance for many, many years, there being 115 present.

Ringing at St. Peter Mancroft, St. Giles and St. Georze's preceded the annual service, held in St. Peter Mancroft Church, conducted by the Rev. C. N. Tubbs.

The Rev. A. G. G. Thurlow, in his address, took the text (Acts ii, 14) ' Peter, standing up with the eleven, lifted up his voice and spoke. When we ring we are doing exactly what Peter and his friends were doing,' he said. 'Like Peter, we have in our hands the power to spread the news of the Resurrection. What are you doing about it? It's grand to ring the bells put there for us to ring and thus apply the power in the tower. It's grander still to share the Resurrection and thus apply the unconquerable power of Christ to those around us. It is the job of everyone who believes the Christian faith to spread it. That is the power you hold in your grasp, and it must be applied. In Yarmouth we have not the mere task of manning the bells, we have the far greater task of putting them there and the greater task of recreating the life of a church, which is now a ruin. The people of Yarmouth are facing that task. A contract has been signed for restoring the church. A brand new ring of 13 bells has been ordered, and it is said that from the roping position and design of the frame it will be the best layout in England. Yarmouth needs your encouragement. The best thing you can do is to apply the power you have already, to ring the bells in your tower, and like Peter, to proclaim the everlasting Gospel in your words and lives.
The president (Rev. H. G. Lillingston) presided at the business meeting which followed tea in the Chantry Hall.
THE OTHER SIDE OF THE PICTURE
In his opening remarks, the president said he would like to give the other side of the picture to the oft-levelled charge that ringers do not take any part in the Church's work after ringing the bells for service. That was just not true. Looking round at the meeting he saw Church workers of every description, both men and women. In his view this should bo put on record. Those members-a small minority-who were letting the Exercise down in this respect, should take heed of Mr. Thurlow's words in his address that afternoon.

He congratulated Messrs. A. G. Bason and W. C. Medler on completing 50 years' membership of the Association. Mr. H. Tooke was presented with a smoker's outfit in recognition of his 19 years' service as a. Branch secretary. resigning last year.
The general secretary reported that membership now stood at a total of 461. the highest ever recorded. The 87 new members elected during the year was another record. The report drew attention to the disturbing fact that 49 old members had lapsed their membership, and appealed to tower captains to make a determined effort to regain the support of these old and valued members.

Losses by death were: Mr. Chas. E. Borrett, one of the leaders of the Association during the first 20 years of the century, general secretary of the Association 1903-1919, Central Council member 1902-1910 and 1923-1938; Mr. Fred R. Borrett, the most outstanding ringer and personality in Norfolk ringing circles, whose contribution to the Exercise and to ringing was greater than that of any other in the county during this century; Robert Freezer had 75 years' service as Sunday service ringer, and attended his church at all services after ringing; Fredk. W. Munnings; Herbert Nichols, 60 years a Sunday service ringer and chorister; H. R. Cobbin, Geo. R. Daynes, Isaac Emery. Fred R. Dexter, John W. Jones. Ben A. Knights, William J. Thyng, Chas. Whiting, Leslie C. Wightman, Francis S. Wilson and Canon R. L. Whytchead. In memory of these, members stood in silence.
The treasurer presented the balance sheet, which showed an excess of income over expenditure of \(£ 30 \quad 12 \mathrm{~s}\). 3d. The General Fund account stood at \(£ 190\) 6s. 1d. and the Belfry Repair Fund at \(£ 87\) 3s. 10 d .

\section*{HIGHEST PEAL RECORD}

The Ringing Master reported that the peal total of 117 was the highest ever recorded for the Association: 180 members took part in the peals and there were 24 conductors. Gressenhall Delight Major and Mulbarton Bob Triples were firsts in the method. A peal of Erin Caters was the first of Caters in the method. Eleven members rang their first peal. He put on record the congratulations of the Association to Mr. Nolan Golden on his achievement in completing a total of 1.000 peals. The \(1,000 \mathrm{th}\) was rung at Gressenhall on January 18th, 1956, and was a new method for the Association. named Gressenhall Delight Major, composed and conducted by Mr. Golden.
Branch reports indicated that meetings were well attended throughout the year.
Officers elected were: President, the Rev. H. G. Lillingston; vice-presidents, re-elected en bloc, with the addition of Messrs. H Tooke and A. G. Harrison: general secretary and treasurer, Mr. W. Love: Ringing Master, Mr. H. W. Barrett : hon. auditor, Mr. A. G. Bason: Central Council representatives, the Rev. A. G. G. Thurlow. Messrs. F. Nolan Golden, H. W. Barrett and N. Harding.

A motion submitted by Mr. B. Thompson at the last annual general mecting, that a non-tesident life member's subscription be 5 s . instead of 10s.. was thoroughly debated. It was pointed out that other Associations made the same stipulation as Norwich, in that non-resident life members" subscriptions should be double that of the annual residing members' subscriptions. The motion was put to the meeting and heavily defeated.
Mr. Harding made an eloquent appeal for more members to take "The Ringing World. preferably by post, and emphasised that if the paper went under for lack of support all or-

\section*{COLLEGE YOUTHS' WEST COUNTRY RALLY}

For the spring country meeting Yeovil was the venue. A very cordial invitation had been extended to the Society to visit this charming town two years ago, but it was not until May 4th that it was possible to go there. A large party of London members met at Waterloo Station, and travelling in reserved accommodation, spent a pleasant time in yarning on the journey to Somerset.

On arrival they were met by Mr. Tom Setter and members of the local company, and the glorious ring of ten was soon set going to various methods. On coming down, photographs were taken, and the company, numbering about 60 , sat down to a substantial lunch at a nearby hostelry. Promptly at 2 o'clock the Master called on all present to raise their glasses and drink the health of that Midland stalwart and most loyal College Youth, Albert Walker. who was at that time toasting the Society in Birmingham.
The business meeting was held in the School Room, and the Master (Mr. J. S. Mason) presided. Several more West Country College Youths had arrived by this time, and were able to see the expeditious way in which the Master disposed of the business. Mr. Setter formally welcomed the visitors and the Master suitably replied. Three new members were elected. It was announced that invitations had been received from Henfield. Sussex and Cambridge for the Society to visit them. The Master promised to investigate the possibility of going to both places this year.
Mr. Setter and his friends had kindly arfanged motor transport to take the members to and from Sherborne and Queen Camel. Justice was done to these noble rings and good striking showed up their fine quality to advantage. The party left with many happy memories, and the thanks of all concerned are due to Tom Setter and his colleagues for their efforts to ensure a most enjoyable meeting.

\section*{EAST DERBYSHIRE & NOTTS}

A large circle of members and friends, numbering about 100 , attended the annual meeting of the East Derbyshire and Nottingham Association held at Clay Cross on Easter Monday. Ringing commenced at 2 p.m. and this gave a good send off to Miss C. Fletcher, a former member of Clay Cross, who was married just previously.
The service at 4.15 p.m.. conducted by the Vicar (Rev. Wynford Phillips), who also gave an address, was well attended. Mr. J. W. Price, the local tower captain, read the lessons. Fuli justice was done to the well-filled tables at the tea.
At the business meeting the reports of the officers were adopted. The general statement of the accounts showed \(£ 26\) 17s. 4 d . in the Bell Fund and \(£ 123 \mathrm{~s}\). \(3 \frac{1}{2} \mathrm{~d}\). in the general account. Mr. J. W. England, of South Normanton. was re-elected president and Mr. C. M. Heathcote hon. treasurer for the 21 st year. Vice-presidents elected were Messrs. W. Dobb. J. E. Hobbs, J. Brothwell, A. Elliott, J. W. Price and T. H. Radford. Mr. B. A. Sollis was returned unopposed as hon. secretary.
Further ringing until 9 p.m. brought to a close a very happy 70th birthday. B. A. S.

\section*{LETTERS TO THE EDITOR}

\section*{WHEN WRITING FOR TOWERS}

Dear Sir,-The recent letters on this subject prompt me to quote a case which was brought to my notice recently. A well-known Midlands Association applied for the use of the bells at Tilsworth-with-Stanbridge for a Branch meeting. The reply they got from the Vicar (Rev. M. J. Shinerl was to the following effect:-
- Dear Sir,-I am afraid I cannot grant permission for you to ring at Tilsworth and Stanbridge owing to the, sad fact that during the past few weeks we have had visits from several teams of ringers, and the standard of behaviour and treatment of God's House leaves so much to be desired that I have for the moment decided to close both towers to ringers' visitations.
'I am sorry your Society is the first-to feel the weight of this decision, but when, after ringing for nearly thrfe hours, a team left the ringing chamber in a state of chaos, and 3d. in the Church Offertory box, 1 feel the time has come to say that the church bells are not a form of amusement but an aid to worship. and are to be used for the greater glory of God. My decision will remain in force for at least six months. 1 regret the necessity for this decision, but if you can through your journal make it known, then perhaps in the future it may help to make members of ringing societies approach the work they enjoy with a more Christian and careful attitude. 1 hope it will be possible to welcome you at a later date.
The letter needs no comment from me, but I trust its lesson will be learned by all who aspire to visit new towers.-Yours faithfully
J. FRANK SMALLWOOD.

\section*{SILENT PEAL OF BOB} MAXIMUS
Dear Sir,-I would like to congratulate the band that rang the peal of Bob Maximus at High Wycombe, non-conducted and silent. I admire their grit and determination. but why the explanation in .The Ringing World ' (page 295): not even 'Go. That's all," or 'Stand being said? I always took it for granted that not one of these words of command is used, or any other for that matter. Please don't tell me there have been silent peals rung with one of the ringers giving a running commentary on the weather.-Yours faithfully.

\section*{FOLR-BELL TOWERS}

Diar Sir.-Further to the correspondence concerning 4 -bell towers: I can give information concerning four such towers:-

Plumstead (St. Nicholas'). Kent. - Frame fairly sound: most of the wheels broken; one hell cracked.

Icklesham. Sussex. -These appear to be ringable, but the lower is reputed locally to be unsafe.

Addington, Kent.-I believe the tower is unsafe, but there is a plan for renovation and making the ring up to six.
Biddisham, Somerset.-I can confirm that these are perfectly ringable. with almost new fittings throughout.-Yours sincerely.
I. H. ORAM.

\section*{GONGS IN CHURCH TOWERS}

Dear Sir. - With reference to the article 'Ringing in England 80 Years Ago,' I was interested to read the late C. A. W. Troyte's description of the invention of Mr. Scage, of Exeter, whereby a gong in the ringing chamber could be operated by the swinging of a silenced tower bell.

There is in my home tower-St. Peter's, Tiverton-a set of gongs as described by Mr. Troyte, although unfortunately they became redundant when the bells were rehung in 1923. I should be interested to know if any of your readers could tell me of any tower that has, in working order, a set of gongs similaz to those of Mr. Seage.-Yours faithfully,
R. J. BOWDEN.

\section*{GUILD OF MEDICAL RINGERS}

The second annual meeting of the Guild took place at Stevenage on May 11th. Ringing began on the octave of the Parish Church of St. Nicholas soon after 3 o.clock, and continued until 4.30. The Rector (Rev. E. W. B. Cordingly) conducted Evensong.
After tea, provided by Mrs. D. L. Gullick. the party returned to the church for further ringing, until the time came for the business meeting. In the tower the Guild enjoyed the assistance of members of the local band. notably the captain (Mr. W. Lawrence) who has, for more than 50 years, set such a fine example there. Also, throughout the day, the Guild was honoured to have as its guest Mr. E. G. Buck, president of the Hertfordshire County Association.
The most notable items of business were the election of a new president. Dr. P. T. SpencerPhillips. and that of the first associate members, provided for under the recently adopted Rules. The retiring president, Dr. F. S. Poole, stating that he did not think that he should hold office indefinitely, proposed the election of his successor. which was carried with enthusiasm. together with a vote of thanks to Dr. Poole for his services to medical ringing. The meeting welcomed the names put forward for associate membership, which included those of four nurses, and hoped that others would be elected in the future. The other two officers, viz.. Drs, R. E. Price (Master) and D. L. Gullick (secretary), were re-elected.
Finally the company proceeded to the Coach and Horses Hotel for dinner. After a very enjoyable meal. a few short and informal words were said by the new and old presidents. and by Mr. Buck, who remarked how pleased he had been by this his first official engagement since assuming office. The evening ended, as it began, with a touch 'in hand to send us homeward in the right mood. D. L. G.

\section*{JOINT MEETING AT HEPTONSTALL}

A joint meeting of the Archdeaconry of Halifax Guild and the Rochdale Branch of the Lancs Association was held at Heptonstall on May 4th. The bells were put to good use during the afternoon under the direction of the Rochdale Branzh Ringing Master.
Adjourning to the Co-op Cafe at 5 p.m... an excelient tea was enjoyed hy 40 ringers and friends. While the Lancs ringers carried on ringing, the Halifax Guild held their meeting. The secretary noted that two members who had been ill were now making progress towards recovery. A vote of thanks to Mr. C. Ashworth for the splendid arrangements made for the meeting was proposed and seconded by Messrs. G. Briggs and A. Rogers. One new member was elected and this concluded the husiness.

The bells were kept going with only a few seconds between touches until 8.55 p.m. Methods rung ranged from Plain Bob to Cambridge and Yorkshirc Major. As more experienced ringers came along in the evening the standard of striking improved, and a good lower in peal at 9 p.m. concluded tower ringing. Handbell ringing to Stedman and Plain Bob finally brought this successful meeting to a close.

\section*{DEDICATIONS}

\section*{New Ring of Six for St. Albans}

An interesting event took place on May 11th at the Church of St. Stephen, St. Albans, in the dedication by the Rt. Rev. C. T. T. Wood. M.C., Assistant Bishop of St. Albans, of a new ring of six.
The bells were cast from the metal of the former ring of six. The tower originally contained four medixval bells. In 1803 they were recast by Thomas Mears into a ring of six (tenor \(9 \frac{1}{f} \mathrm{cwt}\)., total weight 40 cwt .). About 60 years aga a larger tenor was added by another founder, the metal of the old treble was incorporated and the old fourth was recast a semitone lower. The new tenor weighed about \(15 \frac{1}{2}\) cwt . and the total weight was increased to 50 cwt. The bells were rehung with completely new fittings in a cast-iron ' \(\mathbf{H}\) ' frame on oak sole plates. The tower was, however, unable satisfactorily to carry the increased weight, and ringing was very hard work.
For some time the movement of the tower has caused increased anxiety and it was finally decided to put in a lighter ring. The new tenor weighs 8 cwt .2 qr. 4 lb . The bell-frame has heen retained but altered in design to reduce the stresses on the tower, which has been strengthened with additional bracing. The result is that the movement in the tower is now negligible.
The bell work was carried out by Messrs. Mears and Stainbank, who were warmly congratulated in the excellent ' go ' and fine tone of the bells.

\section*{Churchill, Oxon}

A new ring of eight bells was dedicated by the Lord Bishop of Oxford at All Saints Church, Chuirchill. on May 9 th, in the presence of a full congregation which included 50 ringers representing many Districts of the Oxford Diocesan Guild. A Confirmation preceded the dedication. The opening rounds were rung by local ringers. In his address the Bishop commented on how proud Churchill should be to have so many friends and ringers who, with help from other sources, had raised the amount needed in such a short time.
After the service, ringing of rounds, Grandsire, Stedman and Bob Major took place, with Mr. J. P. Fidler, of Messrs. John Taylor and Co.. in attendance. Visiting ringers were enlertained to refreshments. during which a presentation was made to Mr. W. Clark, for many years tower foreman and a chorister, who had now left. The Vicar thanked Mr. J. Keyte. Branch secretary, who was in charge of the ringing. for the efficient arrangements

\section*{LINCOLN DIOCESAN GUILD}

St. Denis' Church, Silk Willoughby, with its beautiful spire rising over the green fields that surround it, proved a popular meeting place for the Southern Branch of the Guild on May 4th. Over 70 ringers representing 25 towers attended. and were welcomed by the Rector (Rev. H. Bailey), who also officiated at the choral service. An excellent tea followed, served by the everfaithful ladies, and was enjoyed by all, 'the handstroke leads being exceptionally good.
The Rector presided at the business meeting and was unanimously elected an honorary member. A pleasing feature was the number of young and enthusiastic members present. Methods ranging from Grandsire Doubles to Spliced Surprise were enjoyed until 9 p.m.

\section*{PROSPECTS OF NEW BELLS IN COVENTRY}

\section*{Promise of New Installations}

ITHE 49th annual meeting of the Guild was held at Southam on April 27th, at which only 32 members attended, travel difficulties being the reason for such a poor attendance. The bells of St. James' Church were kept going to various methods until service time at 4.30 p.m. The service was conducted by the Rector, who in his address gave a warm welcome to Southam. Tea, which had been arranged at a local hostelry, was followed by the business mecting. In the absence of the president, who was visiting East Africa, Mr. A. H. Beamish was voted to the chair.

Arising from the minutes, members' attention was drawn to two items: That the Central Council representatives be elected at the January meeting. and that the office of hon. secretary and treasurer be divided. These changes were approved by the meeting.

The balance sheet, which had been circulated. was discussed. The General Fund stood at \(£ 49\) and the Bell Repair Fund at \(£ 10\).
The hon. secretary, in giving his first report said how pleased he was with the year's working in spite of petrol rationing, which had a restraining effect of visitation, but he hoped to remedy that. The Guild membership stood at 205, which was only an increase of one, and 16 peals had been rung. The losses in membership had been made up by new members, and the peal total compared favourably with other years. The annual dinner, held in Coventry in October last, had been a most enjoyable evening, with the Assistant Bishop (the Very Rev. Newnham Davies) as the principal guest.

The Guild had the pleasure of meeting the new Bishop (the Rt. Rev. Cuthbert-Bardsley) at a special meeting and service at St. Mary's Church. Warwick. Over 250 attended the service from parishes within the diocese. It was regrettable that no peals were rung to welcome the Bishop to the diocese, as his arrival coincided with the visit of Her Majesty Queen Elizabeth to lay the foundation stone of the new Cathedral. He has shown his keen interest in bells, and had already been of considerable help. The Bishop had promised to attend the 50 th anniversary dinner of the Guild, to be held at St. Mary's Guildhall. Coventry, at the invitation of the Civic Authorities.

During the year the Guild had sustained the loss of Mr. Harry Webb, who had maintained the Guild peal book right up to his death. He had undoubtedly written his own epitaph in the loving care and pride he took in its maintenance. The passing of Ray Lydster, of Bedworth. at such an early age was a heavy loss to his church and fellow bellringers.

\section*{MANY RESTORATIONS}

Bell restorations had been completed at Long Complon. Stoneleigh. Honiley and Southam, and work was in hand at Brailes, Napton, Bedworth and St. Nicholas' Warwick, It was hoped that a ring of bells will be re-installed in Holy Trinity Church, Coventry, in the not-too-distant future. A frame for eight had been placed in the new Christ Church, Coventry, and these may be installed within the next two years. A number of towers in the diocese required attention and it was up to local ringers to give all the help they could, and arouse local interest. I am sure there is a revival of interest in church bells, so do all you can to get work started.

Instructors' classes would be started again in the autumn if there was sufficient demand. Quarterly mectings had been well attended, and the standard of ringing had been very high. young members giving a very good account of themselves. Combined practices had been tried out and their popularity was borne out by the attendances. In some cases they had more than at a monthly meeting. 'In this, our 50 ch year. I hope that great efforts will be made by all to rope in new members, as only by a large and virile membership can we hope to keep our church bells ringing for Sunday services, which is our first duty as bellringers.'

The Northern Branch secretary (Mr. D. Carpenter) in his report stressed the need for sending names for teas at meetings, as. it was difficult to arrange catering in some villages. At no meeting this year had more than two cards been received, always from the same people, several regular attenders being as guilty as the chance visitor.
Mr. H. Windsor, Branch secretary of the Southern section, in giving his report said that the year had been one of good progress, and meetings had been well attended. He was particularly pleased with the support given by young ringers, both at meetings and at their own towers.

The election of officers resulted as follows: President, Mr. F. W. Perrens; hon. secretary, Mr. J. L. Garner-Hayward; Ringing Master. Mr. C. Underwood; hon. treasurer, Mrs. D. E. Beamish; Northern Branch secretary, Mr. D. Carpenter : Southern Branch secretary, Mr. H. Windsor; hon. auditor, Mr. F. Pervin; Central Council representatives, Mrs. D. E. Beamish and Mr. F. W. Perrens.
New members elected from Allesley; Brinklow, Willowby, Nuneaton and unattached 10 talled 18-a good start to the new year

The chairman expressed on behalf of the company present his appreciation to the Rector for the use of the bells, and to Mr. Hobley for arranging such a bountiful tea. The place of the next meeting would be Stratford-on-Avon if it could be arranged.

\section*{ST. MARY'S, TWYFORD, OUTING}

The annual outing of Twyford ringers was held on Easter Monday, when they were accompanied by friends from neighbouring towers.
Ringing took place at East Ilsley, Stanford-in-the-Vale, Faringdon (where an almost perfect touch of Grandsire Triples was rung), Witney, Woodstock, Kirtlington and Radley.

Miss M. R. Cross, an ex-member of Twyford band, joined the party at Witney and kindly acted as guide until tea time. Tea was taken at Woodstock, and after a very pleasant hour at Radley the return journey was made via Abingdon and Henley.

\section*{WEDDINGS}

\section*{At Oswaldtwistle}

The wedding of Mr. John Hill. B.Sc., son of Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Hill, of Ewell, Surrey, and Miss Marjorie Hunter, daughter of Major and Mrs. W. A. Hunter, of Oswaldtwistle, Lancashire, took place at St. James' Church, Accrington, on April 27th, the service being conducted by the Ven. C. H. Lambert. M.A. (Archdeacon of Blackburn) and Canon W. E. Cunliffe, M.A
The bride, who was given away by her father, wore a gown of heavy ivory brocade embroidered with mother-of-pearl and silver. The full-length veil was held in place by a coronet of diamante and pearls. The bouquet was of deep red roses and lilies-of-the-valley. The bridesmaids were Miss J. M. Earnshaw, B.A. and Miss M. J. Hellewell.
Mr. John Chilcott efficiently fulfilled the duties of best man. The ushers were Dr. Iwan Jenkins and Mr. D. Earnshaw.

About 60 guests attended the reception, which was held at the Swan and Royal Hotel, Clitheroe. The honeymoon was spent touring the West Country.
Both the bride and bridegroom are regular ringers at St. Mary's, Ewell, where a complimentary peal of Bob Major was rung during the afternoon J. E. B.

\section*{At Swanage}

Friends from Northants and Lincolnshire were among those who rang for the wedding at St. Mary's Church, Swanage, Dorset, of two well-known ringers on April 27th-Mr. James William Haw, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. James Haw of Mablethorpe, Lincs, and Miss Ruth May Morgan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Morgan, of Swanage. The Rector (Rev. Norman Miller) officiated at the choral service, with Mr. Geoffrey Times as organist.
Given away by her father, the bride wore a dress of white brocade with a short veil. The bridesmaids were Miss Margaret Gosling, of Swanage. and Miss Jill Neal, of Peterborough, and the best man Mr. William Redhead.
The bells were fired after the ceremony, and as the bride and bridegroom left for their honeymoon in Southern Eire, well-struck Grandsire Triples sped them on their journey.

\section*{At West Wickham}

On Easter Saturday, April 20th, the wedding took place at the Church of St. John-theBaptist, West Wickham, Kent, of Mr. Richard W. Stephens, of Kempston, Bedford, and Miss Mary Fuller, of West Wickham. The bride, given away by Mr. A. S. Richards, wore a dress of ivory grosgrain and carried a bouquet of orange blossom, and was attended as bridesmaid by Miss Mary Stephens, sister of the bridegroom, in a dress of pale gold brocade.
The Rev. J. B. Shortt, M.A., Rector of West Wickham, officiated at the choral service with Mr. S. F. Edom as organist. Duties of best man were carried out by Mr. J. Michael Stephens, brother of the bridegroom, and Mr. J. E. Cannell acted as usher.

The bridegroom has for the past few years resided in Kent, and is now secretary of the band at Hayes. Thus both bride and bridegroom are equally well known and popular in Kent and Bedford, and this was testified by the gifts and telegrams of good wishes they received. Both are also members of the University of London Society
Major repairs to the church tower, begun only the previous week, unfortunately silenced the bells, but in their place handbells were rung before and after the ceremony by Miss Susan Porter and Messrs. W. A. Hughes. M. F. Oakshett and L. W. Skinner. After the reception, the couple left for a honeymoon in Kent and the Norfolk Broads.
To the gratification of Hayes and West Wickham ringers, Mr. and Mrs. Stephens are to remain in the district, their new address being 35, Woodland Way, West Wickham
A peal of Bristol Surprise Major was attempted on the following Friday at St. John's, Erith, but was lost through a miscall. Yorkshire Major was arranged for Friday, May 10th, but on that afternoon a derailment near Dartford delayed trains so that the band met short, and a peal of Cambridge Minor was rung instead, Ralph Bird conducting seven different extents, despite his protests that he needed prior notice. This enabled Arthur G. Mason to complete the quartet of peals of Cambridge from Minor to Maximus.

\section*{A SUSSEX VETERAN}

Mr. Henry Stalham, for his 85 years, is indeed a remarkably able person and an active member of our Art. This alone is confirmed by the peal of Bob Major rung at Crawley on April 27th, in which he took part.
At the conclusion of the peal his fellow ringers at once showed their respect and appreciation in offering hearty congratulations, not only for his achievement in ringing yet a further peal but also for the splendid power of concentration and physical ability he displayed.

Harry,' to his many ringing friends, maintains a very active interest in his tower- St . Nicholas', Brighton-where his duties of head ringer and tower keeper are maintained in no uncertain way. At 85 his interest in the St. Nicholas' band is still 'just part of his life.' Young ringers always find Harry giving them more than a helping hand.
Friday evenings find him in attendance at St. Peter's practice and, when ringing, invariably around the back end.
A very proud College Youth of many years' standing, Henry Stalham is also a Central Council representative for his county Association. Well done! and many happy returns.

\section*{KENT COUNTY ASSOCIATION ACTIVITIES}

\section*{Canterbury District Visit Dover}

A meeting of the Canterbury District was held at Dover on May 4th. The town is rapidly recovering from the bomb and shell damage. evidence of this being seen in the ancient church of St. Mary, with its new east window and recently restored organ. It was here that the usual serviec was held, after ringing during the afternoon. with a welcome from the Vicar (Canon A. S. Cooper), himself a ringer. During the service a prayer was said to the memory of Frederick Leonard, a ringer of many years standing at Ospringe.
Tea in the Parish Hall was an excellent meal, prepared by Mrs. George, the local sccretary, and friends from the M.U. Mr. John Willis took the chair for the business meeting. Three new practising members from the local band were elected. A letter from the recentlyappointed Bishop of Dover was read, thanking the members for their letter of welcome.
Petham was chosen for the next quarterly meeting. with Sturry for a by-meeting, on Junc 29th. A welcome was given to Dennis Chapman, of Doncaster, who had recently come to live in the area: also a welcome home from honeymoon to Mr. and Mrs. M. Steptens.
Further ringing was held during the evening. The tha.ıks of all were given to Mrs. George and her helpers for the tea, also to the former for making the local arrangements. B. J. L.

\section*{Seven Cranbrook Ringers, Including Vicar, Join}

The quaint old town of Cranbrook was the venue of a joint meeting of the Hawkhurst Guild and the Tonbridge District of the Kent Association. It is a long time since a meeting has been held in this grand old church, dedicated to the Saxon St. Dunstan.
The Vicar (Rev. R. S. G. Bradshaw) warmly welcomed the visitors when he very humorously presided over the business meeting. Seven Cranbrook ringers, including the Vicar, were elected members of the Kent Association. The Vicar promised that the Church Council would pay their subscriptions.
The lovely-toned eight ( 23 cwt .) were kept going from \(2.30 \mathrm{p.m}\). in rounds. Grandsire, Plain Bob, Stedman, Double Norwich, Superlative. etc. To hear the bells it is necessary to leave the door open. A curious mufling of the sounds occurs if a person stands in the doorway.

\section*{OBITUARY \\ MR. H. L. MARTIN}

The pussing of Mr. Harry Lionel Martin, secretary of the Cambridge District of the Ely Association, has dealt a hard blow to the Cambridge district, and it will take some time to recover from the loss sustained. He had been ill for some time with recurring abdominal trouble, and entered Addenbrookes Hospital for treatment on April 17th, necessitating two operations which so weakened his vitality that he collapsed, and died on May 3 rd from pneumonia at the early age of 47. Our deepest sympathy goes out to his widow and four young children in their bereayement.

The funeral was held at Fen Ditton, where he learnt to ring under the tuition of his father. The Rev. R. H. Harrison officiated, assisted by Canon A. L. Woodard (president of the Branch), who read the lesson. Psalm 23 and hymns 'God moves in a mysterious way' and 'Hark, my soul, were sung impressively by a large congregation of friends, colleagues from Pye's, Ltd. and members of the Association from Cambridge, Fen Ditton. Sawston. Newmarket, Huntingdon, Sutton, Meldreth, Harston, Wisbech. Chesterton. Trumpington and Cambridge University Guild. As the cortege teft the church for cremation, the bells were rung half-mufficd. During the evening quarter peals were rung at Great St. Mary's and the Church of Our Lady (where he had acted as steeple. keeper for the past ten years)
Harry joined the Association in 1932, and became District secretary in 1932. He rang his first peal in 1933, and up to the time of his death rang 34, his last being at Ely on February 2nd, on the occasion of the new Bishop's enthronement. He had also been interested in rowing, and rowed in an eight for Pye's in the C.R.A. races.

Of his 17 years of faithful service as District secretary, his interest in promoting the welfare of the Association was unflagging, and he was never happier than when rewarded with good attendances at the meetings and making arrangements fos their needs: and although to our great regret he was absent at the last A.G.M., it was largely due to his efforts, and Mrs. Martin with her helpers, that the meeting was brought to a successful issue on Easter Monday last.

An adept in the art of rope-splicing. with a good engincering knowledge, one always felt a sense of security when Harry was about, and his annual reports on the progress of his District were straightforward and well worth listening to. His loss will be keenly felt throughout the District. and his work gratefully remembered by all.

\section*{MR. W. V. D. FLOWER}

Mr. W. V. D. Flower, for whom a muffled peal was rung at Frome on May Ilth, was a ringer for 68 years. 53 of them at Frome. He learnt to ring at All Saints'. Nunney, at the age of 11 , and on moving to Frome joined the band of ringers at St. John's Parish Church, where he was vice-captain for 30 years-for 19 of these tower secretary as well. He was always the first to arrive, waiting at the door for the band to assemble, then he would take the treble to lead the bells up and afterwards the sixth (a 17 cwt . bell) for a touch of his favourite, Grandsire Triples. Never late or absent for practice or service ringing was his fine record. until the last few months when his health hegan to fail. He leaves a widow and two sons, both ringers-Mr. W. E. Flower at Paulton, and Mr. D. H. Flower, captain of the Frome ringers.

\section*{UNIVERSITY OF BRISTOL SOCIETY}

\section*{20 TOWERS (PLUS 1) IN BUCKINGHAMSHIRE}

On May 11th 20 members and friends of the Society visited the Newport, Mon, area on an outing, which for most of the party provided a brief respite from examination studies.
The Cathedral Church of St. Woolos (12, \(21 \frac{1}{2} \mathrm{cwt}\).) was first visited, and after admiring its Norman architecture we opened our day's ringing with a touch of Grandsire Cinques. Stedman Caters and Cinques were also rung, and a half course of Cambridge Royal brought round. During the ringing the Dean visited the ringing chamber and welcomed us to the tower

A good light Taylor eight (tenor \(8 \frac{1}{2} \mathrm{cwt}\).) awaited us at Caerleon, and after a due note of warning on the weight of the bells, they were got going to Bob Major. This was followed by Stedman and Grandsire Triples, Double Norwich, and finally a course of Superlative. Our return bus to Newport seemed rather fate in arriving, and it was not until two buses had departed in the opposite direction that we realised we were waiting in a one-way street to Usk!
However, we eventually arrived on time at All Saints; Newport, where a Warner eight (tenor \(14 \frac{1}{2}\) cwt.) were got going to Spliced Cambridge and Yorkshire. Stedman and Grandsire Triples were followed by courses of Superlative and Bristol, and before the bells were lowered a course of Duffield Major was rung. We were most impressed by the upkeep of the ringing chamber, and those not ringing were always entertained examining the cuttings and photos pinned to the wall, and the visitors' book dating back to 1902. Surely this is a fine example of what can be done to make a large ringing chamber most interesting.
The party returned to Bristol by train to various musical accompaniments, and the outing was voted" a "major" success. Finally the Society would like to thank all local ringers for their kind welcome, and the clergy for allowing us to ring.
At the Society's A.G.M. on May 7th a vote of thanks was expressed to the retiring Master (Miss P. M. Bourn) for her hard work during two years of office. The Sociery's very best wishes for the future were conveyed both to her and Mr. A. R. Wright (tower secretary), who is also going down.

The following officers were elected for the next session: Master, D. Heighton ; secretary, P. J. Bird: tower secretary. A. J. Smith: treasurer. B. J. Wylde. A first year representative remains to be elected, and enquiries from intending students would be welcomed by the secretary. \section*{SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD}

The spring quarterly meeting of the Salisbury Branch was held at Hindon on May 4th, when - musical honours ' were accorded to Mr. Frank Haines, the "father " of the Wilton band, whose 71 st birthday it was. Mr. Haines has been ringing for 60 years. The chairman had received with regret the resignation of Mr. Jim Maidment as Ringing Master, and was also sorry to have to report that Mr. William Chalk (vice-president) was not so well. A certificate of profi-iency had heen gained by Miss Irene Bush, of Damerham, who has recently left to start work in Bath

The new Vicar of Hindon (Rev. C. A. DukeBaker) was there with the captain to welcome the visitors, and took the Guild service. The small ringing room was packed both afternoon and evening, and a variety of methods rung, up to courses of Cambridge and Beverley.

Tower-grabbers from seven counties met in Bucks on Easter Monday for their annual dashabout tour
The first tower was Great Horwood, where Cambridge Minor was rung and consternation caused by the non-arrival of the organising secretary (who was still many miles away, having overslept). He did turn up. however, in time to ring at the next tower. Winslow, on the augmented eight. The gated roads and lanes dclayed some in reaching Aston Abbotts, but everyone rang there in the end.
Our disappointment at finding Mentmore bells (on Lord Rosebery's estate) unringable was more acute as it was to have been one of only two new towers for 'A. P. C.')! Aston Clinton was our next call, and good ringing was accomplished. How noisy Walter Lee's?bells at Wendover are! Nevertheless, we enjoyed meeting Walter again, and his bells. We found the next tower, Ellesborough, to contain six rather rough bells-partly due, perhaps, to sway of the tall brick-faced tower.
By the time we reached Great Kimble the pubs were open, and some delay to the ringing was caused by having to drag our weaker brethren from the bars! We were welcomed at Monks Risborough by the Vicar. Our poorer ringing there may have been due to the weari-ness-of the party, who had, after all, rung in nine towers since breakfast!

After lunch the pleasant six at Little Missenden were rung to Spliced Surprise Minor. Naturally, we were sorry that permission was not forthcoming to ring at Great Missenden on the \(26 \frac{3}{3} \mathrm{cw}\). six. but the six at Chesham, and its beautiful park, were most enjoyable. At Chenies, with its church close by the great house, we were met by the bell major, and were told that a peal had been lost' there that morning.
In Chalfont St. Giles, as well as ringing on the six bells we saw the Morris men performing their ancient dances in the square, and sympathised with the fiddler who was trying to play against our racket! Fulmer proved another elusive tower for some. but most of us rang on the peculiar six. with their strange whistle, caused by rubber buffers on the clapper ball.
Excellent Yorkshire was ringing across the Elegiac churchyard at Stoke Poges when the writer arrived, and indeed, these lovely eight were well rung by everyone (except those listening to the Archers in R. G. E.'s car!). Farnham Royal's, close by, were also pleasant, but our stay was too short to bring out the best of the cight bells.
George Gilbert's 'musical box ' at Burnham (Taylor's, 1949) sounded well to Bristol, and though G. G. complained at having 10 meet ringers on a Bank Holiday, he made us so welcome it was obvious he didn't really mind.
The recently rehung eight at Woburn were nice, too, but Superlative went better than Stedman. Mears' eight at Great Marlow came next, and we were pleased to meet and ring with Dennis Poole and other local ringers. Lane End, with its saddleback tower and handy six. was new for Mr. Edwards friend, who thereafter rode no more with us, but went sadly home!
What a shame we left Hughenden till last! No less than three vehicles failed to locate the church in the park, even though we rang short touches till 9.15. hoping they would hear the bells and be able to enjoy them as much as we did, helped out by Roland Biggs and Walter Lee.
We must express our grateful thanks to all who met us at the towers and prepared for our visit.

Thank you, Buckinghamshire! P. I. C.

\section*{DURHAM AND NEWCASTLE ASSOCIATION}

Ringing history was made on May 4 th when the Northern District held what is believed to be the first-ever meeting of the Association at Embleton, Northumberland. Embleton, or Emeldon as it is also known in official documents, lies near the sea coast almost in the shadow of Dunstanburgh Castle, one of the outstanding examples of the majestic Northumbrian strongholds, and described by Freeman the historian, as "surpassing all other Northumbrian castles in the grandeur of its site and abiding as a castle should abide in the majesty of a shattered ruin.

The parish church of the Holy Trinity is of ancient foundation, and the advowson is held by Merton College, Oxford. The tower contains a ring of six bells (tenor 11 cwt .), installec by Mears and Stainbank in 1894. Two peals of Minor have been recorded, in 1896 and 1935 but in recent years the bells have been going badly and little or no ringing has been done on them. Now, however, a scheme of restoration of the fabric of the tower and the rehanging of the bells has been completed, at a cost of over \(£ 1,000\), and the bells were reopened last Christmas. At the invitation of the Vicar (the Rev. P. Karney), the Association arranged this meet ing to try the bells and give a stimulus to ringing in this out-of-the-way village.

A full bus-load of ringers travelled from Newcastle. They and other members were met with a warm welcome from the Vicar and the local ringers and were accorded the freedom of the belfry. A little dificulty was experienced on first ringing owing to the maladjusted ropes, the sally of the treble being so low that the first touch was rung literally ' aux genoux.

A picnic tea was taken in the Vicarage, the study, conservatory and kitchen being overrun for the purpose. Following this, a ringers' service was held in church, conducted by the Vicar of Embleton who, in an address, expressed the appreciation and thanks of the parish for the Association's visit. Mr. J. Brewster (hon. editorial secretary) officiated at the organ, and a course of Grandsire Triples was rung on handbell in the chancel by P. Giles 1-2, C. N. Lea 3-4, K. Arthur 5-6, E. N. Harrison'7-8. A collection realised \(£ 22 \mathrm{~s} .6 \mathrm{~d}\)., of which \(£ 1\) was allocated to the Association bell restoration fund and the remainder to the local belfry maintenance fund.

Further ringing continued until 8.30 p.mm. when the order to re-embark was given and the journey back to Neweastle was made by a route of longer length when the driver missed a bob early on in the course!

Embleton now has a pleasant, easy-going six and looks like becoming the venue of many future Association meetings. It is planned to supply instruction in change-ringing to the local ringers, and it is hoped they will become members of this Association when qualified

\section*{OXFORD DIOCESAN GULLD \\ Bicester Deanery Branch}

A pleasing sign at the quarterly meeting of the Bicester Deanery Branch meeting at Piddington on May 11th was that one-third of those present were young members of school age Their keenness and good progress were commented upon.
The wives of Piddington ringers, under the supervision of Mrs. Jones, provided an excellent tea. The Rev. H. J. B. Elkerton presided at the business meeting, when arrangements for the outing on July 13 th in the Bibury area were agreed and the annual meeting fixed for September 28 th. He thanked the Vicar (Rev. A. F. Gatehouse) for conducting the service, Mrs. Bayliss (organist), Rev. H. Benson, for preaching the sermon, the ringers' wives and Mr. E. G. Jones.

\section*{RINGING \\ Extracts from 'Church Bells,' 1875-76}

A correspondent, George Gregory, M.D., of Brackley Park, Great Lever. near Bolton, writes: '. . I doubt if there be any physical exercise to equal bell-ringing for keeping the body in health In bell-ringing, the important muscles of the chest, the spinal column and the arms are brought into powerful, steady and regular motion-usually at regular intervals. The length of time which bell-ringers keep their muscles in exercise is generally sufficient to produce a wholesome effect; seldom, I presume, so long as to cause a feeling of exhaustion.
- The majority of our belfries are on elevated ground, that is, where the air is purer and lighter. .. The temperature of the ringing rooms, with their thick walls, is not influenced by alternations of heat and cold, but should the weather unduly affect them, its influence can be easily modified. The mental effort to ring in order together with the harmony of the bell-sounds, produces a beneficial effect. both on the mind and body. I certainly know of no "all-the-year-round " exercise which is as good for the health (especially of those persons who lead sedentary lives) as bell-ringing.
- The above thoughts were suggested by reading that a concert was to be given for the benefit of the bell-ringers of a neighbouring church in a town of about 100,000 inhabitants. However necessary it may be to pay working men for ringiag church bells in rural places, I am sure that in towns and crowded villages there are many men who ought to consider it a privilege to be bell-ringers, and who should expect no reward except such as springs from the consciousness of having done good, in however humble an office, especially if connceted with the service of their Maker.

To the public. especially those who have "an ear for music," the sound of bells has a cheerfully soothing effect, sometimes diverting our thoughts from needless cares and anxieties, to calm ana tender moods and pleasant remembrances; old thoughts and scenes are brought back fresh and new almost as in days long gone by

\section*{CHURCH BELLS AND HOW TO USE} THEM
This appeared to be a big item at the Sixteenth Church Congress which was held at Plymouth in October, 1876, the opening service being at St. Andrew's Church. Mr. C. A. W. Troyte's paper followed others, and it included:-

There are few of the qualities God has given to man which are not exercised and improved by the practice of this art. Patience sharpness of the eye and ear . . . strength of muscle . . skill and judgment . . . . presence of mind, endurance and memory ...concenrating the attention .... Yet, in many parishes, from the parson and most influential inhabitants down to the school children, everyone is proud of the bells and loves to hear them . . few but the ringers themselves care what goes on in the steeple or know anything about the ringing, the state of the bells or the character of those who perform them ... this state of things is altering for the better .... It is no longer allowedeas a rule that the ringers should be the roughs of the parish, and that, as such, they should be banished to a dirty loft in the tower, there to drink and smoke as they please.

There are few parishes which do not possess a sufficient number of respectable and intelligent young men to ring the bells in the proper way, and to put them to their full use by practising change-ringing upon them.
I have enjoyed and been proficient in many sports and pastimes \(\qquad\) and for the encouragement of would-be change-ringers. I may say that some of my happiest and most exciting moments have been in a church tower. The excitement lest a "crab" should be caught in a boat race; a catch sent at the end of a cricket match; a shoe thrown towards the end of "the best run of the season"; to any of these may be fairly compared the end of a peal. . A man need not necessarily be a "peal ringer " to enjoy all the greatest pleasure of change-ringing. Is he fond of music?
Is he an athlete? ... the indescribable charm in the study for the methods and compositions the greatest of its charms, it may be a great Church work ... The merry peals at Christmas, the muffled peal which should be rung on Good Friday; the silence now so often enforced during Lent . . . . How is it then that they are so often allowed for most despicable of uses? To ring for races-to ring because one's sewerage scheme is passed and another rejected; because this gentleman is returned to and that gentleman is turned out from the Town Council-and, worst of all. to be rung whole days and nights in miserable ups and downs ard rounds and rounds in contests for a few paltry money prizes got up by beerhouse kecpers!. . . We (the Devon Guild of Ringers) consider it most unfit that God's House should be made a contest at all They are invariably got up by the publicans. and lead to drunkenness, fighting and all kinds of excesses I make an earnest appeal to those who have the entire power over the bells to encourage with all their great influence the praztice (of using these beautiful instruments to do much good). and at least to use the absolute power of veto which they possess to put an end to the abuses which still so largely exist in our steeples.'

Mr. Troyte's paper was followed by an address from Rev. F. H. Fisher. M.A., of Fulham.

Regarding ringing and chiming, he said that he thought our English church tower-bells were always meant to be rung. Then he gave his opinion as to the proper uses of church bells. ' First . . chief and primary use, to summon our people to church . . . the external voice of the Church. as Catholic as the Church itself

Second. The Church's voice should be lifted up, especially on her great festivals. The higher festivals might be marked by either a short touch in the carly morning, or before one of the early celebrations; and the penitential seasons might be marked by the ringing giving place to the less joyous chiming.

Third. There arc occasions when most appropriately our bells may send forth in public our national joys and sorrows.

Fourth. It is right that on certain occasions the voice of the Church should be heard proclaiming the happiness or the losses of her faithful children .. . only it must be remembered carefully to what joys and sorrows the Church's voice may proclaim her sympathy. They must be such as connect the private life with the privileges and offices of the Church the Church as such, cannot rejoice over the return of a parishioner to represent a portion only of a constituency in Parliament, although she may very well express her gladness at the safe return from travel of someone whose position gives him influence. or the happy coming-of-age of one upon whose after-life much of the happiness of his native place maay depend. The difficult points which will arise will be most easily met by remembering that the bells speak for all and to all and that their voice is the Church's note of feeling. No one should be allowed to ring the Church's bells who is not a bona-fide member of the Church, and who does not take a pleasure in devoting whatever talent he may have to the service of the Church and the glory of God. The same attention should be bestowed upon the selection of the ringers as upon that of the choirmen

The Rev. B. L. Langdon Fulford. M.A., of Brodbrey, Devon, followed:- the ringers have been almost universally forgotte.1, because the clergy have become ignorant of the art which in former ages of the Church they practised . . . I carnestly plead, therefore, for the recognition of the ringers by the Church at large-making societies either coterminous with deaneries, archdeaconries or (far better than either) dioceses. must be found men of good social position then the hearty sympathy and co-operation of Church authorities must be sought for, and surely cannot be refused will render possible the many impressive tımes
- In another way the duty of the Church towards the ringers has been imperfectly fulfilled. The annual supervision by the rural dean of the fabrics and ornaments of our churches has rarely, until of late years. extended to the belfries or bell-chambers, and churchwardens have neglected their steeple, until the surrounding tokens of carelessness and indifference have had their effect upon the ringers, and have prevented the more respectable parishioners from entering the tower

Let the Church of England put the noble rings of her parochial steeples in order. and we shall see a like change in the character of the ringers as is discernible in the case of members of our choirs. Ere I conclude, I would venture to suggest that a recognition of the ringers as Church workers by bishops on the occasions of their visits to the different parishes would be highly esteemed.

\section*{South and West District}

Perhaps because a number of neighbouring Societies were also holding meetings on that day, the attendance was not as good as usual at the South and West District meeting at Heston on April 27th.

Ringing was confined to the standard methods in which, however, there was some good strik ing, and was somewhat curtailed by a broken rope. After this, the Association form of service was conducted by the Vicar (Preb. F. W. Ferraro) : the organ was played by Mr. F. C Price. The local band arranged an excellent tea which was fully in kecping with this band's fine tradition of entertainment.
The business meeting opened with the members standing in silence in memory of Ernest C S. Turner. A letter was read from old friends Mr. and Mrs. Webb, who apologised for their absence, but who appeared to be having a very pleasant holiday. One new member, Mrs. Gotham, of Uxbridge, was elected. The vicepresident (Mr. W. H. Coles) then referred to the wedding of Miss Barbara Thrush, of Cranford, which had taken place that afternoon, to whom the meeting extended their congratulations and best wishes. He also mentioned how pleased they were to find Mr. Ernest Gladman with them ; he has been a member of the Heston band for over 60 years. 'I have enjoyed every minute of it,' Mr. Gladman said in reply. The secretary (Mr. F. A. Finch) announced that the next meeting would be at Ealing on June 15th; and the meeting concluded with votes of thanks to all those concerned with the arrangements for the afternoon. W. T. C.

\section*{A LEADER RETIRES}

SINCE 1930, proceedings of the Central Council have been under the wise guidance and direction of Mr. Edwin H. Lewis. The Exercise has been led by one who is fully conversant with, and in many departments a master supreme of, its varied facets, with a statesmanlike dignity that has gained the confidence and admiration of thousands of ringers. Not only has Mr. Lewis held the office of president longer than any other holder, but he has succeeded in knitting the great ringing fraternity into one whole. To serve under him has been a great privilege.

Born on June 13th, 1881, the youngest son of Canon D. Lewis, then Vicar of St. Ann's, Nottingham, Mr. Lewis was educated at Charterhouse and at Trinity College, Cambridge, where he was Mechanical Science Exhibitioner in 1903. Before going to Cambridge he had learnt to ring at Trowell, Notts, in 1900, and in 1901 he joined the Cambridge University Guild, whom he represented on the Central Council from 1908 until 1936, when it was decided that as president he should become an honorary member of the Council. He was made a life member in 1951 on creation of this class of member.

Since 1912 Mr. Lewis has been a member of the Council's Towers and Belfries Committee, and as such has given advice on bell restorations on many occasions. In 1914 he presented to the Council a survey of his investigations into the nature of the horizontal and vertical forces which bells exert on a tower, disproving the previous accepted theories of Lord Grimthorpe. This work was acknowledged at the meeting by the heads of the three leading firms of bellfounders to be of the greatest value, and by the then president, Sir Arthur Heywood, himself an engineer, to have revolutionised bell-hanging. His calculations were tested in 1921 on behalf of the Society for the Protection of Ancient Buildings, as a result of which an agreement was reached between the Society and the Council, the two bodies having previously been frequently in dispute.

Mr. Lewis rang his first peal at St. Andrew's, Cambridge, on June 17th, 1902, and has taken part in 266 peals. He was one of the first to compose extents of Spliced Minor methods, and as far back as August, 1912, contributed an article to 'The Ringing World' on the Splicing of Minor Methods, setting out rules for composing extents and including an example in four plain methods. The same year saw him a member of the Methods Committee, on which he served until 1932. In March, 1923, he published a number of extents in six Delight methods. Of his peals, in December, 1930, he took part in the first and so far the only 'Edwin' peal to be rung, in which the present secretary of the Council rang his first peal of Major.
The Ancient Society of College Youths elected Mr. Lewis as Master in 1936 and again in 1937 for its tercentenary. He presided over that memorable annual dinner when the company numbered over 400 and included the Lord Mayor of London, the Bishops of London and Kensington and the Duke of Argyll. Despite a very busy and responsible professional life, Mr. Lewis took part not only in Sunday ringing, when possible, but taught new bands of ringers at Widnes and at Brasted, Kent. While at Wishaw he served as churchwarden and was a lay representative of St. Andrew's Episcopal Church to the Diocesan and Provincial Representative Church Council.

He had a long business connection with the Glasgow Iron and Steel Company Ltd., being appointed general manager in 1927, the company at the time working six collieries, an iron works, a cement works, an ammonia works, a limestone mine and an iron ore mine. Whilst with the company he introduced dry blast on the furnaces as a successful innovation. For four years he was president of the West of Scotland Iron and Steel Institute. In 1929 Mr. Lewis joined the board of directors of the Tunnel Portland Cement Co., and remained on the board until last year.

In two years' time Mr. and Mrs. Lewis will celebrate their golden wedding. Mrs. Lewis was a daughter of the Ven. J. G. Richardson, Vicar of Southwell and Archdeacon of Nottingham. They had four sons and three daughters, of whom three sons and two daughters served in the Royal Navy, one son and one daughter being lost on active service.

Although the Central Council meeting at Chelmsford will see the election of a new president, the Council has this knowledge that it will not be deprived of his advice and guidance, as his life membership carries with it a seat on the Council.

was rung by four of his friends on a set of handbells (Shaw and Bradford), tenor 19 in F, on which he was always delighted to ring.

\section*{HERTS COUNTY ASSOCIATION}

A meeting of the Eastern District was held on May 18th at Little Hadham. The minor five (tenor \(11 \frac{1}{2} \mathrm{cwt}\).) were rung during the afternoon until tea, which was served at the local inn.

At the business meeting it was decided not to hold a District meeting in June, so as to encourage members to attend the summer festival at St. Albans. The meeting in July will be held at Great Munden.
After the meeting members attended Evensong at Much Hadham, conducted by Canon L. Dewar. The light eight at Much Hadham were then rung to a variety of methods up to 9 p.m.
C. E. H.

\section*{LLANDAFF CATHEDRAL RINGERS' OUTING}

Some 13 young ringers from Llandaff Cathedral had their first outing on Easter Monday. At the first tower, Llantrisant ( 8, tenor 12 cwt .). ringing was curtailed owing to illness. The Vicar however. conducted the party round the chureh and allowed his lawn to be used for the picnic lunch. Finally, he gave, a cordial invitation to the party to visit Llantrisant on Whit Monday.

Afterwards the octave at Pontypridd was rung to plain courses of Grandsire Doubles and Triples and call-changes. An uninteresting train journey to Aberdare was enlivened by teaching two of the youngest members to ring handbells; Everybody was surprised at the splendid 'go of the bells at Aberdare ( 8 . tenor 16 cwt .). The half-hour spent on the railway station waiting for the train was beguiled by handbell ringing. to the delight of the station staff.

\section*{SHROPSHIRE ASSOCIATION}

Between 40 and 50 members and visitors from quite a wide area attended the May meeting at Hodnet, and after ringing during the afternoon the Vicar conducted a short service, in the course of which he extended a warm welcome to the Association. Tea was partaken of at Hodnet Hall, one of Shropshire's most beautiful mansions, and afterwards many of the visitors enjoyed a walk through the extensive gardens. At the business meeting Chetwynd was selected for the meeting on June 15th. Miss E. V. Jones said that as she had secured an appointment at Barrow-in-Furness, and would be leaving Shrewsbury in July, she would be obliged to relinquish the position of secretary, which she had held for the last two years. After members had expressed their regret at her impending departure, it was resolved to ask for nominations for a successor for the next meeting.
In the course of an animated discussion of the Central Council agenda, it was evident that the idea of a College of Campanology' found little favour with the members who spoke strongly in support of the two resolutions on this subject. It was felt that 'Plain Bob' is a more fitting name for that method than Bob.'

Mr. H. Edge raised the question of notifying members of the place and date of meetings. He thought that a post card should be sent to each tower in union with the Association, and Mr. E. Fox supported this. After a discussion, it was agreed to place the matter on the agenda for the next annual meeting.
Hearty thanks to all who had helped to make such a good meeting having been expressed, members returned to the tower, and the excellent light ring of eight was kept going until 8.30. Ringing ranged from rounds to London Surprise Major.

\section*{COMBINED UNIVERSITY EFFORT AT ABINGDON}

After 75 minutes of excellent ringing the attempt for a peal of Cambridge Royal by five members of the Oxford University Society and five of the Cambridge University Association came to grief. About 1,000 changes of Stedman Caters were afterwards rung exemplarily.

The ringers were Shirley Rymer 1, T. H. R. Frecborn 2, C. W. Woolley (conductor) 3, D. Painter 4, Joan Gray 5, Jean Darmon 6, D. Niblett 7, S. Darmon 8, Rev. C. Elliot Wigg 9 and W. J. Ridgman 10.

After tea at Abingdon, seven members were to be found in a punt on the Cherwell, which happens to flow at the bottom of the senior member's garden in Oxford.

Mr. Ernest Stitch, who now resides at Wolverhampton, returned to South Wales to ring his 50th peal on the same bell in his home tower, Aberavon, on which he rang his first peal on July 5th, 1919. Both peals were called by Mr. A. J. Pitman, the latter being their 149 th together. Many thanks to the ringers who had rung with them in these peals.
'Hints for Beginners' is now out of print. Money will be refunded on orders that cannot be executed.

Rye Church ringers wish to congratulate two former members of their band, Ruth Carey and Robin Hodgson, on being elected Masters of their respective University Guilds, namely, Southaimpton and Oxford.
Miss B. J. Beeson has sailed for Melbourne. She has been in England nearly two years and rang in the peal of Grandsire Caters at St. Stephen's, Bristol, for the St. Paul's Cathedral, Melbourne, Society.

King's School, Canterbury, has recently formed a bell-ringing society with 15 practising members. The regular practice night is Saturday at St. Alphege's Church. The Society also ring at this church on Sundays.
Mr. Fred Youngman, of the Leiston band, has been in hospital for a month and is improving after a serious operation. Fred has been unable to ring for a long time now and best wishes for a speedy recovery are sent to him.
Repairs to Theberton, Suffolk, tower, estimated to cost \(£ 700\), are now in hand. Yoxford Drama Group have raised \(£ 16\) by their play, 'One Wild Oat.' The fund is still open and donations may be sent to Theberton Bell Fund, c/o A. R. Bridges, Post Office, Theberton, Leiston, Suffolk.

\section*{BELFRY GOSSIP}

Mr. J. A. Freeman completed 50 years as a member of the Lincoln Diocesan Guild on April 27th. The day coincided with the annual meeting of the Guild, and he was the recipient of many congratulations and good wishes.

Will the person who dropped a small fruit knife in Aldeburgh belfry at the District meeting please communicate with A. R. Bridges, Post Office, Theberton, Leiston.

The ladies who rang in the peal at Handsworth congratulate Mr. J. G. L. Gilbert, of Handsworth, on training a very efficient lady conductor.

Michael C. May, 11-year-old son of Mr. B. W. May (hon, treasurer of the Kent County Association), made a good start to peal ringing on May 18th at Bobbing. He rang his bell well. And many more, Michael!

To our ringing parsons must be added the name of the Rev. K. G. Hoare, who rang his first peal of Double Norwich at Godstone on May 18th. After the peal he and Mrs. Hoare kindly entertained the band to tea.

The pages of "The Norwich Mercury' for 300 years have carried news of Mancroft bells ringing for Mayor's Day. This year the bells rang for the election of a member of the congregation when Mr. Tom Eaton took office. The traditional refreshments, too, were not forgotten after the peal.

Reporting on the first peal at Mayfield, Sussex, since the new tenor was installed, our correspondent writes that this bell fully maintains the reputation of her founders but dominates the ring. 'It is hoped that funds will soon be available to enable one or two of the "baleful buckets" thought to be fixed on the end of some of the ropes to be cast into the burning fiery furnace.?

Ringing Membership 1,144
Proceedings at the annual general meeting of the Lancashire Association, held at Blackburn on April 27th, started with ringing at Blackburn Cathedral (10), Holy Trinity Church (8) and the Church of St. Michael (8). The annual service was held at the Church of St. Michael, conducted by the president (Rev. R. D. St. John Smith), and the address was given by the Rev. C. E. Rogerson. Tea was enjoyed at St. Michael's Church School, and this was followed by the business meeting.

The proceedings opened with the president in the chair, but after an apology had been read from the Rev. D. P. Roberts and the minutes accepted, he vacated the chair for the election of officers. The vice-president (Mr. N. M. Newby) reported that there had been only one nomination for president-the Rev. R. D. St. John Smith-and he had great pleasure in declaring him duly elected.

The president then took the chair and announced that there had been only one nomination for ringing secretary, Mr. S. L1. Parry, and for treasurer, Mr. P. Crook, and they were accordingly elected. The re-elected officers thanked the members for their renewed confidence.

The ballot for the election of Central Council representatives, announced by Mr . C. Blakey, resulted in the election of the Rev. R. D. St. John Smith, Messrs. F. Dunkerley, J. Ridyard and P. Crook, sen.

The report of the committee referred to a letter received from Miss G. I. Howlett (Liverpool Branch secretary) drawing attention to - The Ringing World finances. It was suggested by the general secretary that Branch secretaries at their meetings should ask members to try and increase the sale of copies, and a motion be submitted to the annual meeting that a donation of three guineas be made to "The Ringing World' for 1956 only.

The following losses by death were announced: Hon. life member, Mr. R. S. Schofield (Milntow); life ringing members, Messrs. Edwin Timbrell (Chipping). John W. Holme (Silverdale). Fred Abbott (Deane), Thomas P. Brandwood (Helmshore), Charles Dearden (Newhey), Thomas K. Driver (Middleton), John W. Haslingden ; ringing members, Messrs. J. Carter (Ashton-under-Lyne), Albert Horrocks (Hindley) and Robert J. Critchley (Halsall).

The membership of the Association was made up of: Honorary life members, 63 ; nonresident members, 547 (new, 11) ; ringing memhers, 1,144 (new, 151). Congratulations were offered to Mr. Lawrence Green (Blackpool) and Mr. E. Roger Martin (Preston), who had completed 50 years' valued service.

The ringing secretary's report stated that 113 peals had been rung during 1956. Forty members rang their first peal, 191 their first in some particular method or in higher numbers or "in hand, 249 members took part in peals, one peal was non-conducted whilst 42 members shared in conducting.
Congratulations were offered to Messrs. A. Tomlinson on his 625th peal for the Association: Peter Crook, sen.. 400th; J. Ridyard, 350 th; L. J. Williams, 300th; J. W. Grounds, 250 th ; E. R. Martin and Roger Leigh, 200th; R. Kenrick. 175th; Ivan Kay and N. Heaps, 125th: E. J. Gower and J. Thornley, luoth; N. M. Newby and H. Hamer, 75th; N. Tompkins and Miss D. Dutton, 50th.
The list of "Firsts in the Method' were: 17 Plain methods on handbells. Prittlewell Surprise Royal. 18 methods T.B.. Double Bob Minor 'in hand,' Hereward Court Bob Major. Southport Surprise Major. The advancement of youth, especially in the Manchester District, was noted with great pleasure. The report, presented by the general secretary, was adopted.
The balance sheet showed an excess of receipts over payments during the year of \(£ 706 \mathrm{~s} .4 \mathrm{~d}\). The assets of the Association totalled \(£ 5896 \mathrm{~s} .10 \mathrm{~d}\). This and the auditor's report were accepted.
The following ringing members were transferred to life ringing membership: Mr. William H. Hunter, Mr. Arthur Hague, Mrs. Mary Hague and Mr. Ernest Farnworth.

The secretary briefly reported the acquisition of the Woodhouse ringing machine, and called on Mr. Roger Leigh to give a report on it, which was received by the body of the meeting.
The vice-president (Mr. N. M. Newby), on behalf of the Furness Branch, invited the Association to hold their next annual general meeting ate a date and place to be arranged by the Furness Branch. This was accepted.
A vote of thank was proposed to all those who had in any way contributed to' the success of the meeting.

\section*{Ash, Sevenoaks, Want New Frame}

SS. Peter and Paul's, Ash, near Sevenoaks, wants to raise between \(£ 1,000\) and \(£ 1,500\) to restore their ring of six. The work will include replacing doubtful timbers supporting the bell frame, which is now very badly eaten by woodworm. The village is small, and unfortunately has no funds available. Captain of the ringers is Mr. John V. Muller, School House, Ash.

\section*{A SUFFOLK GOLDEN WEDDING}

Captain of the Eye ringers and stecplekceper for many years, Mr. Fredk. Brunning and Mrs. Brunning celebrated their golden wedding on May 18 th. Mr. Brunning scored his first peal in 1906, and he was with Messrs. Geo. Day and Son, of Eye (bellhangers), for a long time, hanging bells and doing repairs to bells, towers and wells over many counties.

In the evening a peal of Spliced Surprise Major (Yorkshire, Cambridge and Suparlative) was rung at Eye. Appropriately, as Fred is a Suffolk man and Mrs. Brunning a Norfolk woman, four ringers came from each county. The band was Arthur G. Bason, Wm. Clover, Nolan Golden (conductor) and George Sayer (Norfolk); Charles W. Beecroft, Walter Miller and Frank and Walter Ruffles (Suffolk).

While they were struggling through the last hour (and struggling it is now at Eye) eight Suffolk ringers who had rung a peal at Wymondham arrived to listen to the performance. There was a happy gathering at the conclusion, but William Clover broke adrift to have a chat with Fred Brunning, his old friend, whom he had not seen for 20 years or more.
The Brunnings celebrated the day with a family party, attended by Mrs. Brunning's sister, who was her bridesmaid, and her husband, who was best man. One of the two sons, a baker at Colchester, brought a giant horseshocshaped golden iced cake, and there were dozens of greetings cards.

\section*{THE WORCESTERSHIRE AND DISTRICTS ASSOCIATION}
\({ }^{\prime}\) YHE annual meeting was held at Worcester on Easter Monday, and the large number present at the service, meeting and during the afternoon must have been something in the nature of a record. The service in All Saints' Church was conducted by the Rt. Rev. Bishop C. E. Stuart (vice-president) and the chaplain (Rev. L. J. Birch). The lesson was read by the Rev. A. Webb (vice-president) and Miss D. Hicks was organist.
The general business meeting was held in College Hall, and in the absence through illness of the president (the Very Rev. W. E. Beck, Dean of Worcester), the chair was taken by the Master (Mr. W. B. Cartwright). Among the apologies for absence was one from Mr. J. Bass. who had completed 56 years' unbroken membership.
Letters of thanks were received from Great Comberton and Redmarley for grants from the Belfry Repairs. Fund, and from the Ladies' Guild for hospitality and welcome at their annual mesting in Worcester last July.
The meeting stood in silence in memory of members who had dicd during the yearMessrs. W. A. Dowding (King's Norton). Arthur Wyre (Cradley). S. R. Duggan (Ombersley) and Frederick Sordan (Hampion). The librarian reported on 14 applications for the loan of 17 books during the year, and the secretary intimated that the Guildhall had been booked for October 5th for the annual dinner.
The general secretary and treasurer's report stated that the paid-up performing membership was 470,19 less than in 1955. Forty-nine peals were rung, five less than in 1955. Nine of the total werc handbell peals. A noticcable feature was that only one was rung by a local Sunday service band-Grandsire Doubles at Suckley. Six members rang their first peal, and two their first as conductor. A peal of Grandsire Triples at Chaddesley Corbett was rung non-conducted -always a good performance. The handbell peals included two of Stedman Caters and one each of Stedman and Grandsire Cinques.
It was unanimously decided that the Dean of Worcester be re-elected president. In view of the impending resignation, through ill health. of the Very Rev. W. E. Beck, it was felt that this cours: would leave the way open to invite the new Dean on his institution. Other officers re-elected were: Master, Mr. W. B. Cartwright; chaplain, the Rev. L. J. Birch; general secretary and treasurer, Mr. J. D. Johnson; Central Council representatives for the next three years -Messri. W. B. Cartwright, B. C. Ashford and D. Beacham (Mr. S. T. Holt not wishing to stand for re-election). Worcester was again chosen for next year's annual meeting on Easter Monday, and arrangements for the annual peal left to the Master. It was decided to make a donation of \(£ 1515 \mathrm{~s}\). to the Bow Bells Fund, this to include amounts subscribed and the service collection that morning.

The secretary reminded the meeting that this year marked the 75 th anniversary of the foundation of the Association-founded at Bromsgrove on April 10th, 1882. He gave brief statistics, showing the steady growth and progress of the Association from the issue of the first report in 1885 until 1957. Towers affiliated from 12 to 77. performing members 71 to 470 , and balance of funds from \(£ 10\) to \(£ 280\). The first report consisted of 12 pages and cost \(1 \frac{1}{1} d\). each to print; the latest report cost 2 s .10 d . and nearly the amount of the annual subscription. The first secretary remained in office only one year, but since then the Association had only had three general secretaries-J. Smith ( 22 years), J. R. Newman ( 30 years) and himself (22 years).

The meeting closed with a comprehensive vote of thanks to the Master and secretary for arrangements and work during the year: the Master, for presiding; the organist ; and Dean and Chapter, incumbents of All Saints', St. John's. Hallow and Powick, wl:ose bells were open for ringing during the day. J, D.J.

\section*{OXFORD UNIVERSITY SOCIETY'S ANNUAL TOUR}

HIS year's tour of the Society, from April 20th until the 25th, centred on Winchester, was extremely enjoyable, perhaps partly due to the reason that there was no over-emphasis on the ringing itself.

Members arriving at different times on Easter Saturday found an adequate hotel awaiting them a few steps from the station, and having installed themselves glanced a casual eye over Winchester. Dermot Roaf, a 'gen man on the atea, soon tounded up a small knot of idlers, and with promises of a short walk in idyllic surroundings, enhanced by fine views of the city, exhorted them to follow.

A somewhat jaded band ascended St. Catherine's Hill, which it had reached by an extremely devious route, watched the leader vanquish the maze at the top in 3 minutes and 42 seconds, and eventually regained the hotel \(2 \frac{1}{2}\) hours after leaving.

On Easter Sunday, ringing for Mattins took place on the five 12 at the Cathedral ( 35 cwt .). and in the fternoon the ringing for Evensong included a protracted touch of Grandsire Cinques which ebbed and flowed alarmingly.

\section*{VISIT TO STONEHENGE}

During the day the idea that a visit to Stonehenge would be a good thing was driven home with such persistence by its originator that later one car and one motorcycle departed in the direction of Salisbury, leaving Mr. Roar, with a smaller but no less enthusiastic band, to explore the glories of St. Catherine's Hill once more.
At Salisbury, the tower-grabbing instinct pervaded, and St. Thomas' (8, 27 cwt .) and St. Paul's (8, 12 cwt.) were put to good use. Grateful thanks are tendered to the local ringers who very willingly let us ring.

Stonehenge was reached in good time, and although the official ticket office was closed and the ancient monument rested behind the security of the barbed wire erected by the Ministry of Works, two senior members negotiated all hazards and added another 'grab' to their list.

Monday, the first day of the official tour. saw the party at Curdridge ( \(8,25 \mathrm{cwt}\).), where the ringing was somewhat indifferent and did not do the bells justice. Shedficld provided another good ring ( \(8,12 \mathrm{cwt}\).) and a generous break for lunch was enjoyed in the "local" with food (alas. minus a considerable quantity of eggs) provided by our organiser.

After lunch the party visited Swanmore (6. \(8 \frac{1}{2}\) cwt.). Soberton. with a very pleasant light eight, where the Vicar entertained us to a very welcome tea, and finaHy Owslebury ( 6.9 cwt ).

On Tuesday, all the 10 -bell ringing of the tour was done in the first three towers of the day-North Storeham (10, 9 cwt.). a lovely musical little ring, and St. Michael's (10, 16 cwt.) and St. Mary's ( 10,21 cwt.). Southampton. hoth excellent rings. Ringing at the latter was curtailed but at St. Michael's we were very pleased to see the Rev. K. W. H. Felstead, who rang a half (!) a course of Cambridge with us.

The ringing on the eight ( 24 cwt .) at Romsey Abbey was not good, and ambition went no further than Yorkshire, but at Hursley ( 8,13 cwt.) a touch of Spliced was brought round.

During the evening the activities of the comet produced learned discussion between Mr. Roaf and others interested, and culminated in a further ascent to view the phenomenon. Unfortunately, the lights of the city foiled the stargazing and nothing was seen of the comet. It was, however, an interesting evening, during which everyone profited by the lucid discourse given by Mr. Roaf, including the sceptical Meadows, who was almost convinced of the soundness of Newton's concept on various physical matters.
On Wednesday, the party travelled by train and car to Basingstoke, where the eight at St. Michael's ( 14 cwt.) were followed by the nine (11 cwt.) at All Saints. Here some abysmal Grandsire Caters in the handstroke started the proccedings, and everything was capped by a course of Bristol rung with the tenor covering. which. by some deficients, was acclaimed musical.

Ringing at Overton followed in the afternoon -the bells here sound but little better outside than in-and then Laverstoke ( \(6,11 \mathrm{cwt}\).). The party then returned to Overton, where it consumed a large and splendid tea, provided by the Rev. and Mrs. Sanders at the Vicarage

\section*{A PEAL OF YORKSHIRE}

The last tower of the day was Whitchurch (8, 14 cwt.), where the bells, in contradistinction, sound much pleasanter inside than out. A peal of Yorkspire had been arranged and was duly accomplished, whilst the 'grabbers' traversed much of the Hampshire countryside in search of towers. their only 'scalp being Preston Candover ( 6,4 cwt.).
The last day of the tour saw the party in the Meon valley. No one would describe the octave at West Meon ( \(12 \frac{1}{2}\) cwt.) as good, but nevertheless the bells were put to good use and under pressure from a certain quarter a touch of Duffield was rung. East Meon (8, 19 cwt.?) were a nice mellow ring but they required some handling.
Lunch in Petersfield was followed by a peal attempt for Little Eob Major on the eight ( 16 cwt.), but this went up about half way due to a premature call and the inability of the band to shake off the stupor produced by the method.
We were very pleased to have Michael Lakin with us for the first day and on one or two subsequent occasions, and the Cathedral handbells lent to us were often used and much enjoyment derived therefrom.
On Friday the main party headed back towards Oxford by car, a peal attempt at Wonston ( \(6.8 \frac{1}{2} \mathrm{cwt}\).) en route coming to grief in the sixth extent. when the tenor rope snapped.

Everyone had pleasant memories of the tour. which if not outstanding for the quality of the bells was certainly successful in all other respects, and our thanks are due to Peter Sanders who looked after the organisation. and the drivers of the very efficient stud of cars used in transporting the party.
C. J. B. T.

MARSTON, OXON.-On May 19th. 1.260 Grandsire Doubles: R. Milward (first quarter) 1. B. C. Machon 2, Miss C. M. Woodward (cond.) 3. D. C. Woodward 4, C. Holloway 5. For Evensong.

\section*{NORTH STAFFS SECRETARY'S WEDDING}

Thd wedding at St. Mary-the-Virgin. Prescot. on April 27th, of Mr. Ewart H. Edge, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Edge, of Wrexham, and Miss Julia M. Preston, daughter of Mrs. N. and the late Mr. H. R. S. Preston, of Prescot, Lancs, was a 'ringers' day.' Both bride and bridegroom learned their ringing with the \(O x-\) ford University Society, and the bride, before working for three years in Switzerland, was secretary of the Liverpool Branch of the Lancashire Association and a member of the Prescot band. The bridegroom, member of the band at St. Margaret's, Wolstanton, is secretary of the North Staffordshire Association. The principal bridesmaid was Miss Frances Martin, of Truro. and the best man Mr. Rodney B. Meadows, both members of the Oxford University Society.

Appropriately, the service was conducted by the Rev. D. P. Roberts, Vicar of Whiston. Lancs, an enthusiastic ringer belonging to the Lancashire, North Staffordshire and Universitics Associations.

The bride wore a long, full-skirted gown of white lace over taffeta, a waist-length veil secured by a coronet of orange blossom, and a double row of pearls (the gift of the bridegroom). Miss Martin's gown was of figured brocade in shades of cream and pale apricot. and two small attendants wore long frocks of pale yellow sprigged nylon over pale apricot taffeta, and small wreaths of primroses.

Among those present were Dr. J. E. Spice. former Master of the Oxford University Society and founder of the Universities Association: Mr. B. D. Threlfall, secretary of the U.A., and Mrs. Threlfall. O.U.S.: Mr. C. S. Ryles and Mr. D. R. Whalley, tower captains of Norton-le-Moors and Wolstanton, Staffs, respectively, and the members of the Prescot band, who rang before and after the wedding.

The couple spent their honeymoon in the Scilly Isles-where there are no rings of bells! A peal attempt by the O.U.S. at Cowley was unsuccessful, but a quarter was brought round.

\section*{ST. ALBANS DISTRICT RINGERS' OUTING}

On Easter Monday a small party from the St. Albans District made their way, by car and moton cycle into the pretty countryside of Bedfordshire and Buckinghamshirc. The day started with rain, but improved in time for the party to have a pienic lunch.

Stewkley in its Norman splendour. Wing with its renowned Saxon apse, and Edlesborough with a pulpit and tester of outstanding beauty, were among the churches rung at. Houghton Regis, Tilsworth. Stanbridge, Linslade and Slapton were other towers of the day, and everywhere the decorations for Easter made the day even more enjoyable.

To the incumbents for permission to ring the bells in their churches, to the local ringers who gave their time to meet our party, our sincere thanks; also to the organisers for arranging such a compact tour.

Various methods were rung during the day up to Cambridge, with rounds for those just embarking in the world of ringing. M. A. C.

\section*{A QUESTION FROM MALAYA}

Dear Sir,-Recently when on leave in Singapore I visited St. Andrew's Cathedral, and found in the belfry beneath a very fine spire a ring of eight bells. hung dead, their crowns about eight feet from the floor in a metal frame. The bells, which were dedicated on February 6th, 1889, are hung on the same level from left to right, one to four, and by their side from right to left numbers five to cight. Each bell is named after a saint, the tenor being dedicated to St. Audrey

The bells are rung or struck by ropes tied to the flight on the clapper. The ropes lead down through the floor in the middle of the west wall of the tower to a very simple Ellacombe type of apparatus, situated in the gallery below. Not having a tape measure with me. I could not measure the tenor, and I was also unable to obtain the founder's or the bellhanger's name. Can any reader enlighten me further on these bells?-Yours faithfully,
C. MICHAEL ORME.

\section*{THE LIGHTEST SIX}

Dear Sir,-1 notice in Belfry Gossip that Mr. Nolan Golden believes the ring at Saxthorpe, Norfolk, to be the lightest six an any church. This claim to fame must belong, however, to Wormhill. Derbyshire, where the tenor is 1 cwt . 1 qr. 14 lb . They are quite tingable-peals have been rung on them in the past year or twodespite their minute sallies and short ropes The majority of the bells are usually stayless, which contributes to rather than detracts from their ease of ringing. To set them at handstroke you let the bells go over and then, to recommence, heave on the tail end until they are on balance.

Lowers in peal are particularly interesting, as the slightest overpull sends the bell back up to and beyond the balance and you all start again. Wormhill is a mile or so from Millers Dale, not far from Tideswell, and the church has an unusual hip-gabled tower, reminiscent of Sompting in Essex.-Yours sincerely

\section*{GRANDSIRE MINOR}

Dear Sir,-A short while ago the ringers of St. Peter's, Newton-le-Willows. endeavoured to ring a quarter peal of Grandsire Minor. After consulting a number of composition books. however, we were unable to find a louch any longer than 192 changes.

Could any reader please be so good as to come to the assistance of this young enthusiastic band and forward a touch (extent) of 720 changes of Grandsire Minor? - Yours truly,

\section*{THF RABBITS' GUILD}

Dear Sir.-So scholarly an editor should not have failed to abserve that Rabbits use Dog Latin. Their rallying-cry is not, as you print it. Surs!mm corda (Lift up your hearts) but Sursum cauda (Up tail). The ioke is triple, if not cater. The donnish part of it requires the use of the 'old' or English pronunciation.

The pun is not original. It was used by the late W. J. Locke, but whether he coined it we do not know.-Yours faithfully,

\section*{THE COLLEGE OF CAMPANOLOGY}

Dear Sir,-The establishment of the above organisation and the publication of Part I of the "Manual" has caused the appearance in - The Ringing World of a number of letters both for and against the ideas of the College. but nono seem to have discussed or made suggestions on the actual content of the Manual. One wonders whether all correspondents have, in fact, read through all the parts of the Manual (Part I).

Although rather detailed and containing some administrative details that might with advantage be put in an appendix, Part 1 of the Manual does give a reasonably sound and complere system of tutoring in the early stages, which is better than no system at all. Some parts of the Manual are very good indeed, e.g., the analysis and drill of ringing action and stroke practice. the list of exercises, and the appendix containing a list of faults and remedies.

Ropesight and the Council's publication 'Hints for Instructors and Beginners' are good publications, but neither is so complete or detailed as the Manual on initial instruction. Quite definitely, the Manual can be most useful as a basis of instruction for new and less experienced tutors. The most urgent need of the Exercise today is more instructors, and the College is to be commended in making this its main aim.

I should like to make the following observations on Mr. P. N. Bond's confused motion on page 297 of 'The Ringing World (May 10th):
(1) Th words "unlikely to prove of any service to the furtherance of the Art ... are a prophecy which cannot be fairly made.
(2) '.. that no form of official recognition whatever be accorded. This aspect must be left until the College does ask for official recognition.
(3) '; valuable space in "The Ringing World " should not be wasted in any further College Manuals.

Firstly, this is an implied criticism, not of the College, but of the Editor and the Editorial Committec of 'The Ringing World, and is most unfair. The articles have been well worth publication and the Editor and his committee need not reproach themselves for publishing them.
Secondly, this part of the motion attempts to "tie the hands of the Editor and his committee beforehand on what may or may not be pub-lished-an intolerable situation.
(4) \(\because\). the Exercise being already well supplied with instruction manuats. This contradicts the Central Council's own decision last year that a more complete book for instructors was needed.

Quite obviously, Mr. Bond's motion is not the result of clear thinking.
If it has done nothing else, the College has at least focused further attention on the problem of providing more instructors and has given this year's Council a more worthwhile subject for discussion than some we have had in recent years.-Yours feithfully.

\section*{THEN AND NOW}

Dear Sir,-It is probable that the first controversy on Method Extension occurred in 1907. after the College Youths rang a pcal in November at St. Dunstan's, Stepney, and called it London Surprise Royal. The following week after publication a letter appeared in 'The Bell News ' from the Rev. C. D. P. Davies, saying that the method as published was very good but definitely not London. He suggested that it be called Stepney, and it came to be known by this rame, but believe it was entered in the College Youths' peal book as London.

A few years earlier there had been some discussion in the Central Council that London Major was not a Surprise method at all. So for a time it was known as London Marvel. A witty letter appeared in the correspondence columns during the extension controversy. It ran as follows:-

If Stepney Ten is marvellous.
Its eight must marvel be;
Why all this Surprising Marvellous fuss
Because they don't agree?
It seems a pity that Ernest Morris does not give details of this peal in his 'History and Art of Change Ringing. It was undoubtedly a great performance, and note that the figures of the method were published at the same time as the peal. The standard in those days was high and the College Youths had a really good pealringing band. A rival band was going strong at the same time for the Middlesex Association, under the conductorship of William Pyc.
Just one example of the standards of those far-off days: When Yorkshire S. Major was first introduced the Pye brothers would not ring it hecause of the triple dodging in 5.6, when the treble is in 7.8. This they said was a blemish. but that did not prevent other people ringing it, and today it is our most popular Surprise method. It is only fair to say that the famous brothers later relented and rang peals of Yorkshire Royal and Maximus.
Before coming to the 'now 'part of the story. all young ringers should get hold of Ernest Morris' book and read what was done by their forbears. Unfortunately the book is out of print, but most public libraries will have a copy even if not for lending out.
About two or three years ago the Leicester Cathedral band rang a peal of Bristol Surprise Maximus. This has been followed recently by Bristol Royal at Macclesficld, but no figures have yet appeared in each case. The reputation of both bands is high, so we may he sure that a good performance was made by both tcams. But if the true extensions of Bristol have been discovered, then the Exercise should know or at least the usual place notation given. This is not said in any 'sour grapes" attitude, for it takes some patience and practice to get a band up to Surprise Royal and Maximus. There are plenty of ringers interested in methods and extensions, and they should be encouraged. Quoting once again from 'H. and A. of Change Ringing, it says of Bristol: No true extension has been found (1930). So, ladies and gentlemen. which do you prefer-then, 1907 and now, 1957?.-Youts. etc. CANDIDUS.

\section*{SHROPSHIRE'S A-BELL TOWERS}

Dear Sir, -The 4-bell towers it Shropsthife are: Baschurch, Bourton, Diddlebury, Dition Priors. Hopesay. Hughley, Kemberion. Mur. slow. Onibury, Stoke St. Milborough, Stottesdóh and Wenthor -12 in all. Some of these are very ancient and are in bad order: a few are quite good.
Stottesdon's are not a 'true four as they were originally five, by Rudhall, but the second got cracked and was taken down. It stoodi on the floor of the church for many years, but I am told it was sold for scrap a few years ago. -Yours faithfully, E. V. RODENHURST.

\section*{LINCOLN GUILD MASTER COMPLETES 50 YEARS}

The 58th annual meeting was held at Lincoln on April 27 th, with the usual ringing at the Cathedral and other city churches. The attendance was not quite up to the usual standard for this meeting-it may have been that petrol rationing was the cause.
At the Cathedral Evensong the Guild president, the Dean of Lincoln, welcomed the members to Lincoln once again. For the first time for this gathering tea was served in the cloisters by ringers' wives and friends, and the excellent tea provided made one forget the very cool breeze. The ladies who had worked so hard were thanked by the president, supported by the Master.

The business meeting was held in the Consistory Court, where so much ecclesiastical history had been made over the centuries.

It was greatly regretted that an important engagement prevented the Bishop of Lincoln attending the meeting.
The Master (Mr. J. A. Freeman) in his report stated that the number of peals rung in 1956 was 110 compared with 123 the previous year. Gainsborough and Braunstone Surprise Major were rung for the first time, while peals of Sibsey and Billingborough were the first ever rung. These peals were rung by members of the Lincoln District, but he would like to sea peals in Surprise Major methods rung in other parts of the county. There were many ringers in the county capable of this.

The report congratulated Mr. J. Walden, of Lincoln, and Mr. H. Bingham, of Willingham, on attaining 50 years' membership of the Guild. The resignation of Mr. J. E. Allen as secretary of the Elloe Deaneries Branch was regretted. and thanks were accorded to him for the good work he had donc for the Branch and Guild.
'At the meetings I have attended there seems to be quite a number of promising young ringers, and I offer a warm welcome to all those who have become members during the year, and appeal to them to put Sunday service ringing at their church before anything else.'

The officers were re-elected as follows: Master. Mr. J. A. Freeman; hon. secretary and treasurer. Mr. J. Bray; hon. peal secretary, Mr. G. E. Feirn : Central Council representativesMessrs. Jack Bray, J. A. Freeman, John Freeman and G. E. Feirn.
Some comment was made on the fall in the peal total. The Master feit that this was caused by circumstances of a temporary nature and need not cause any concern for the future. The hon. librarian (Mr. R. F. Smith) spoke of additions to the library during the past year which had helped to build up the interesting collection the Guild was acquiring.

It was announced that on April 27th, 1907, in that same room, Mr. John A. Freeman was made a member of the Guild. There was applause when several members spoke of Mr Freeman's service in several offices over the 50 years.
In view of the possibility of the Central Council meeting being held in Dublin in the near future, the limitation of representatives' expenses was considered. After a lengthy discussion it was resolved that the normal expenses should be allowed, no matter where the meeting should be,

A very pleasing feature of the meeting was the number of young members attending and taking part in the ringing.

\section*{ST. STEPHEN'S, ST. ALBANS}

Mr. H. V. Frost, hon. general secretary of the Herts County Association, supplies the following notes concerning the bells of St. Stephen's, St. Albans, A report of the dedication of these bells appeared in our last issuc. The history of St. Stephen's bells and spire is of more than usual interest, owing to the fact that the belfry is entirely of wood from above the walls of the church, and the number of alterations made to the bells.

In 1803 the existing four bells, weighing 40 cwt., were recast into a ring of six by T. Mears. This in itself was unusual, as John Briant, of Hertford, was doing practically all the bellfounding necessary in the county at that time. These six bells, with a tenor of \(9 t\) cwt., were apparently hung in an 8-bell frame, as in 1892 it was decided on the advice of Lord Grimthorpe not to complete the octave but to increase the weight of the ring of six by adding a 15 cwt. tenor and recasting the old fourth. The Mears treble metal was used to cast the new Taylor tenor.

The first peal on the bells was in 1894 by the Hendon ringers, but W. H. L. Buckingham, of St. Albans, was the conductor. The peal was rung for the Middlesex Association. In 1914, after the next peal, which was by local ringers, the movement of the belfry was arrested by supporting it on girders placed horizontally across the walls of the church. About six more peals were rung on the bells, including onc in eight Surprise methods by the Apsley band, under Mr. W. Ayre.

In \(1949^{\circ}\) the church authorities called for expert advice on the tower movement as the weathercock was going round in circles when the bells were rung! It was finally decided to stop ringing altogether and to raise funds for strengthening the belfry and rehanging the bells. Many and varied were the schemes submitted, some costing \(£ 2,000\), but finally it was decided to recast the bells into a lighter ring with an 8 cwt . tenor and to rehang them all to swing north and south.

The bells are now hung and roped to swing in one direction. and there is room to get in amongst them. The circle of ropes has been improved for the ringers and there is a minimum of movement. This work has been carried out by Messrs. Mears and Stainbank, of the Whitechapel Bell Foundry, and the general consensus of opinion of those at the dedication service was that the bells 'sound well and "go" well: Recordings of the old and new bells were played.

St. Albans now has rings of 6, 8, 10 and 12 bells, and it does not appear that there will be any difficulty in keeping the new bells ringing on Sundays as there are two or three ringers of some experience in the parish, and they are being joined by some young learners who have already learned to handle a bell.

\section*{GUILD of DEVONSHIRE RINGERS}

Dartmouth was the venuc on May 18th for a meeting of the Mid-Devon Branch of the Guild, which was much enjoyed by the small number of members who attended. The preReformation bells at Townstal were rung before service and tea to a variety of methods, from Kent Minor to Doubles and rounds, and later the Church of St. Petrox, which romantically stands at the harbour entrance by the Castle, was visited.
The service was conducted by the Rev. N. F. D. Coleridge, who is in charge of the parish. and the presence of the Guilds president (Preb. E. V. Cox) was much approciated. Those who attended mainly comprised ringers from Teignmouth and the local ringers, who thus got plenty of practice. The latter were congratulated on ringing a quarter peal for service on the previous Sunday.

\section*{THE BELLS OF LADY ST. MARY, WAREHAM, DORSET}

It is difficult to say when the first bells were hung in the tower, but by 1550 there were four bells, and at some later date one more bell was added, making a ring of five.

By an Order of Vestry, September 29th, 1784, these five bells were taken down. At that time there were four bells in the tower of Holy Trinity Church. Three of these were taken down, and with the five bells from Lady St. Mary were recast into a ring of eight by William Mears, of London. These were hung in the tower of Lady St. Mary in 1785.

The total weight of metal was 75 cwt .3 qr . 9 lb ., and the tenor weighed approximately 17 cwt. The cost was \(£ 2904 \mathrm{~s}, 10 \mathrm{~d}\)., 'to which John Calcroft, Esq., contributed a donation of \(£ 50\), and the inhabitants of St. Mary's parish the residue.' The inscription on the tenor was: "Messrs. Cole and Swayne Churchwardens. William Mears of London fecit.' It is not known who carried out the hanging, as in those days the bell founders only cast the bells and made the clappers, and then contracted with professional hangers. The oak frame, now: 172 years old, is still in good condition.

There still remains one bell in the tower of Holy Trinity (which is now used as a parish hall) and the old frame with its places for three more bells. Unfortunately the bell has no inscription, but from its shape it would not appear to be of great age.
In 1864 the second bell was recast by George Mears and Co., probably because it was cracked. It was invoiced to Mr. S. Bennett, churchwarden, and cost \(£ 4915 \mathrm{~s}, 3 \mathrm{~d}\).

In 1900 it was found that the 3 rd , 5th, 6th and 7 th were cracked, but nothing was done about it.

The first and only peal of more than 5,000 changes to be rung on these bells was on Monday, August 3rd, 1903, being a peal of Stedman Triples in three hours and half a minute. The conductor was Frank Bennett.

By 1910 the tenor was also cracked. John Warner and Sons, Ltd., recast the 3rd, Sth, 6th, 7th and tenor, and rehung them in the old frame. The tenor is reputed to be 21 cwt., but is probably about 19 cwt . by its size.

The first peal on these bells was 5,024 Double Norwich Court Bob Major, on August 1st, 1910, conducted by Frank Bennett. The bells were reported to go very well.
However, for several years now, the bells have been increasingly difficult to ring. The 7th is cracked right across the head of the bell, the elm headstocks are badly affected by worm, the wheels are out of shape, and the gudgeons and bearings are badly worn. The tone of the bells, especially that of the 7 th, is not good. The church now has a keen band of ringers, and the bells are rung regularly on Sundays and practice nights, but it has become obvious that before very long they will become unringable. If this happens Warcham will have no bells ringing from its parish church for the first time in 400 years.

A fund has now been started jo raise about £900, which is the estimated cost of recasting the 7 th, luning the others and rehangling the bells in completely new fittings. Contributions to the fund, however small, would be greatly appreciated, and should be sent to: Mr. J. E.

\section*{NORWICH DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION}

A very pleasant meeting was held at Marsham on May 11th, when over 50 ringers and friends attended. The service was conducted by the Guild president (the Rev. H. G. Lillingston).
At the business meeting which followed an excellent tea (thanks to the Mothers' Union), new members elected were: Mr, L. Hindle (Mulbarton), Ray E. Cullington (Aylsham), Mr. H. T. Miller (Buxton). Miss D. C. Osborn (Blakeney) ; unattached, Leslie Melton (Ixworth), Miss B. Payne (Southwold) ; probationers, Margaret Browing, Sheila Curson, Jennifer Glister. Mary Maddison and John Stroud, all of Norwich.

It was decided to hold an interim meeting at Knapton and Paston on June 15th, and the quarterly meeting on Saturday, July 13th, at Shipdham.

The Ringing Master (Mr. G. Sayer) said names for the peal for the North Norfolk Branch, at Wymondham on October 5th, were very slow in coming in; would any ringer interested please advise him.
Thanks were expressed by the chairman (Mr. A. G. Bason) to all who had helped to make the meeting such a success.

\section*{THE SUFFOLK GUILD}

The annual meeting of the Saxmundham District took place at Aldeburgh on May 11th, with ringers attending from St. Giles-in-theFields, London. Kingston-on-Thames, and from many parts of Suffolk. Ringing commenced at 3 p.m. to suit all tastes and ended with handbell ringing. Twenty-two ringers sat down to tea at the Windmill Restaurant, and a collection for the Bell Restoration Fund raised 14s. 6 d . The Vicar (Canon R. Godfrey) took the service.

At the business meeting the hon. secretary (Mr. A. R. Bridges) gave'a warm welcome to the visitors, and expressed his regrets that Mr, J. Pilgrim, who had arranged the meeting and tea, was in bed with lumbago. A message of thanks and best wishes for a speedy recovery was sent to him from the meeting.

Mr. A. R. Bridges was re-elected hon. secretary and Mr. J. M. Bailey Ringing Master. Miss Pam Warner, who had recently moved from Mears Ashby, Northants, to near Leiston, was elected a full ringing member, and John Peck a probationer. Leiston was chosen for the next meeting to be held on July 20th.

\section*{A DAY IN FENLAND}

Easter Monday was spent in Fenland by 12 ringers from Grantham. who were joined by two more cars of ringers from Ancaster.

Some of the best ringing of the day took place on the pleasant six at Wigtoft, which was followed by Algarkirk, a slow, anti-clockwise six. The party was here augmented by two more cars from Spalding. Silk Willoughby and Stamford. Kirton (8) and Frampton were visited before a pienic lunch.
Three 6 -bell towers at Benington, Freiston (a very slow and heavy ring) and Butterwick were visited before tea at Boston. The fine ten at the famous Stump were well worth the climb of the tower, but being rather tired we were glad to find that the previous party from Macclesfield had left the bells up. The last call was Bicker, where despite blisters, some good ringing on the light eight was enjoyed.

Methods rung during the day included Grandsire from Doubles to Caters, Plain Bob from Minor to Royal, Little Bob, Single and Double Court. Kent Major, Cambridge Minor and, of course, rounds and Queens. plus several solo items after 'Stand, had heen called, which proved very popular! Thanks go to incumbents and local ringers, especially those who gave up their Bank Holiday to meet the party.

\section*{OBITUARY}

MR. GEORGE A. ANDREWS
With deep regret we record the passing on April 24 th, after a short illness, of Mr. George A. Andrews, of Thorington, Essex, aged 82 years.
' Georze,' as he was affectionately known to his many friends, learnt to ring at Thorington in the early 1890 's with the then call-change band, but soon progressed in method ringing at the neighbouring tower of Great Bentley. It was here that he rang his first peal, one of Minor in seven methods, in 1895, and he joined the Essex Association the same year, being made a life member a few years ago.

The early 1900 's were the peak years of the band, of which he was the last survivor, and he is known to have called over 100720 's of Minor in 1907.

After the bells at Great Bentley were augmented to eight he became the usual conductor for Grandsire Triples, and was very proficient at calling the bells home at either stroke from any position at will.
His peal total is uncertain, owing to sketchy records, but it was considerable, although he preferred teaching ringers to peal ringing. It was always his chdeavour to instil his own high standard of striking in his pupils, and there must be many ringers.in the district, the writer included, who owe their proficiency to the sound tuition which they received from him.

He was well known and generally liked and respected throughout N.E. Essex. and was always glad to attend meetings or help ringers at other towers. while his record of regular Sunday service ringing can have been surpassed by few:
Besides being tower captain and steeplekeeper at Thorington for a great many years, he was the last to hold the ancient office of church clerk, which post he held for 43 years, being also sexton and grave-digger, while the wellkept churchyard bears silent witness to his patience and skill.
His two soris were taugho to ring at an early age; the younger. Alan, is now tower captain at Thorington, while his daughter-in-law, son-in-law and grandson also ring there.
At the funeral on April 27 th he was laid to rest in the shadow of his beloved tower, a few yards from the gardens of Thorington Hall. where he spent many years of his working life as gardener-handyman.

Among those present were Messrs. H. J. Millatt (District Master, E.A.C.R.), J. Gould (District secretary), A. Cole, E. E. Davey, F. Erith, C. Marven, and members of the local band.
After the service a half-muffled quarter peal of Cambridge Surprise Minor was rung by J. Gould 1, E. E. Davey 2, R. Duesbury 3, G. N. Orman 4. G. Button 5, H. J. Millatt (conductor) 6. May he rest in peace.
H. J. M.

\section*{MR. JOHN E. USHER}

With regret and sorrow the band at St. Matthew's. Buckley, heard of the death of Mr. John E. Usher on May 12th, aged 73 years. He had been in falling health for the past five years, but in spite of this he made his way to the tower occasionally, and was always ready to participate in a quarter peal.
A few weeks ago his illness took a more serious turn, and he was compelled to take to his bed, but his interest in the tower and ringing was maintained to the end, always with words of encouragement and advice.

He had been a ringer at St. Matthew's since the company was formed in 1903, when he was the youngest member of the band. For many years he held the position of captain. He was also an early member of the North Wales Association.
Mr. Usher did not keep a record of the peals he rang, but his last one was Oxford Bob Triples at St. Matthew's on Easter Monday, 1952, to which he rang the tenor-the only time he rang a tenor to a peal.

The bells of St. Matthew's were rung halfmuffled when his body was brought into church on the Tuesday evening, and again after the funeral service on Wednesday. Many ringers were present and the North Wales Association was represented by the secretary and Ringing Master.
John will always be remembered for his ability as a ringer and for his ready smile. R.I.P.

\section*{CHESTER DIOCESAN GUILD}

\section*{713 Ringing Members}

THE annual meeting of the Chester Diocesan Guild was held at Hartford on May 11th, by kind permission of the Vicar (Canon F. P Cheetham, M.A.), who is himself a ringer and was Principal of Egerton Hall, Manchester, from 1924 to 1939, durjng which time he introduced many of his students to the art of ringing and thus ensured that some clergy at least had some idea of the scope of the Art.

At the festival service he preached an interesting sermon, in which he pointed out that the good gifts of life were gifts from God to be used according to His will, and that ringing was to grace the service of the church just as music did, and that they must have the best they could get. The summoning of men to worship should be an act of worship, and he felt that any other means of calling people to worship other than bells would be inadequate. On this count he made an appeal for good striking for Sunday servico ringing, and that ringers shoutd endeavour to teach the public what good ringing was.

After tea in the nearby Church Hall the annual meeting was held, under the chairmanship of the Master (Mr. J. W. Clarke), and some 80 members were present. The accounts, which showed a welcome change from past years in so far as there was now a small credit balance instead of a deficit, were adopted, and also the annual report. which embodied an attempt to state the advantages which accrued from joining the Guild. Membership was 17 honorary. 20 life ringing members and 713 ringing members drawn from 84 towers.

Among the performances recorded in the report were the first peals of Chester Imperial, and Hampton Imperial Bob Major and New Grandsire Doubles. and it was interesting to note that 115 resident members took part in the 87 peals rung together with 49 non-residents. There were 19 first peals and 61 rang peals in new methods. Of the 30 conductors, which itself was a goodly figure, there were two who rang their first peal as conductor.

An important addition to the constitution of the Guild was made by the creation of the office of Deputy-Master, and Mr. A. R. Elkins was elected to the new office.

It was decided to hold the annual dinner at Chester on October 12 th and the annual festival in the Stockport Branch on May 10th, 1958.

The officers were all re-elected with expressions of thanks for the work which they did on behalf of the Guild.
The meeting slosed with a cordial vote of thanks to Canon Cheetham for his assistance, to the churchwardens, the organist, the local ringers, ably led by Mr. R. W. Worrall, and the ladies who catered so successfully for the tea.

During the afternoon and evening ringing. was enjoyed at Hartford. Witton and Davenham, by kind permission of the 'respective incumbents.

\section*{BARNSLEY & DISTRICT SOCIETY}

By special invitation, a meeting of the Barnsley and District Association was held at Holy Trinity. Holmfirth, on May 18th. A variety of methods was rung in the afternoon and lea was served in the vestry, followed by the business meeting. At this the Rev. A. Crow, who is vicar-designate of Shelley, presided, and he not only welcomed the Association but expressed his pleasure at meeting Shelley ringers. Arrangements were made for the annual trip in July and for the shield contest to be held at Wentworth on June 29th. Eleven towers were represented.

\section*{POINTS FROM RECENT PEALS}

by THE REV. K. W. H. FELSTEAD

AS the result of my last article with the above heading on February 1st, I have been able to clear up one or two points. thanks to various correspondents. The claim for the 100th peal at Ewell was quite correct. Claines is not quite as near the century mark as I thought. Mr. Woodyatt has found that five of the peals there were false (which I did not know about or did not spot their withdrawal), so the grand total at the tower is actually 97 now. It won't be a long delay before the 100th true peal is rung there.

Since I last wrote, the 100 th peal has duly been rung on the bells of St. Giles'. Lincoln, and the 300th (probably) at Hughenden. Congratulations to both towers. I noted last time their nearness to these goals. I did not mention that Leicester Cathedral was also near a milestone (perhaps because peals are rung so frequently there that in the course of a few months such milestones are neared and passed!). However. I believe the 200 th peal on the bells was rung there in February. The first of these was in 1902, but before that peals had been rung at the church in the old tower and on the old bells-the last of them on March \(27 \mathrm{th}, 1837\). I believe there are four of the old bells in the present ring of twelve. Debenham must be about at the 300 peal mark. I have 'logged' 294 peals there since 1881, but also have found five rung before then, and there. may have been others I haven't come across yet. So it would seem there are 15 towers now with 300 or more peals. Bolton, Holy Trinity, has just had its 100 th peal since 1881, but I have ten there previous to that. Other landmarks-Bletchley's last peal was the 50th on the bells-the first was in 1894, and Ashbocking's next will also be the 50th there.

And now for infrequent names in the peal lists. There have been two towers which hadn't appeared for nearly 50 years, i.e.. before the first world war. Bloxham had had one peal before the recent one-in 1908, whilst Great Comberton had had three. in 1907, 1909 and 1912. Then we find five towers which had had no peals for about 30 years. Thus the only previous peal at Whittington, Shropshire, was one of Stedman Doubles in 1923. Wootton Wawen also has had a peal silence of the same length of time, but it has had two previous peals-both rung in 1923. West Buckland is the next on the list, also with two previous peals rung in 1920 and 1926, whilst Esher. celebrating the first peal on the eight, had peals on the six in 1924 and 1929. Walsoken has a very similar history of two peals before the recent one. in 1923 and 1929.

Then we come to the 1930 s. The only time Porlock has appeared in the peals hefore was in 1932. Todmorden, Unitarian Church, was last featured in 1933. but this tower was a much more frequent visitor to the peal columns before that date. There have been 21 peals here, the first in 1891. New Mills, Derbyshire, was an even more popular tower at the same time as Todmorden. The last peal here was also in 1933, but the grand total is over 50 . There were actually 47 peals from the first in 1900 to 1914, and then four more before the recent one, from 1921 to 1933. Only one of the total is Grandsire Triples (which is rather unusual for that total), and one of the earliest peals of Yorkshire Surprise Major was rung here in 1903-the first in the method was rung only two months before. Aston Abbots broke a silence of 20 years with the first peal ever of Stamford Surprise Minor. The two previous peals here were in 1930 and 1936. Reedham's only previous peal was in 1937. I confirm the footnote to the peal at Wandsworth that it was the first since 1937. I have 15 peals here from 1922 to 1930, and only these other two. Stoke-by-Clare seems to like its peals spread out! The three it has had have been in 1903, 1937 and 1957. Five towers had not been heard since 1938. Terrington is the first of these with a total now of five peals. Then comes Keysoe (three in all now), Huntingfield (a five-bell tower, which now joins the select few which can claim 10 peals or more-Stockbury is another addition to this list lately), Brant Broughton (only the second peal since 1914, but there have been seven in all, first in 1906), and Stoke-by-Nayland (both the two previous peals were in 1938, when it was a six-bell tower, of course).
Three more towers were last heard in a peal in 1939. None of them has had many peals. Shelfanger is the first of these-the first peal was rung there in 1930, and there have been four in all now. Then comes Pembridge. whose total is now five-first peal 1928. Lastly, St. Peter-in-Thanet. The nine peals here have been spread over the years from 1892, so they are certainly few and far between.

Finally, we come to a few points of general interest. I last wrote when the peals of 1956 had still not all been published. Now that they have, we find the Loughborough Bell Foundry claiming the most peals rung at any one tower last year- 35 . It has already had 18 in four months this year, so it looks as if the number will be well beaten this year. It won't be long before it passes the 700 peal mark! The peal at Bredbury (Cheshire) means that all the eight-bell towers in the county have now been 'conquered.' During the last few months Ashton-under-Lyne has had the first peal of Cambridge Maximus since the record long peal in that method ( 15,312 ) in 1929, which was, incidentally. the only peal of Cambridge Maximus ever to have been rung there before the recent one. Lastly, it was pleasant to welcome an old friend back to the peal columns-Framlingham. This tower reached the century mark in 1924 -long before many other popular towers of to-day, but of late it hasn't appeared very often. The last time was in 1949 .

May 18th was a great day for the Ancient Society of College Youths, when six peal attempts of Stedman Cinques were made. Peals were rung at Croydon, Evesham, Cornhill and Walsall. The attempt at Newport, Mon, failed due to a shift course after an hour and a quarter's ringing, and the other at Southwark Cathedral came to grief about the same time due to a broken rope.

The peal at Longstanton on May 9th (see page 344) was rung at the Church of All Saints and not St. Michael (which has only two bells). Sender's correction.
Mr. Albert Walker, of Birmingham, has rung his 550 th 12 -bell peal. With that optimism that never forsakes him, he writes: 'Only 450 more for the 1,000 th!'
Bells will be heard prior to the morning service to be broadcast on Whit Sunday at 9.30 a.m. from Sturry Parish Church. Kent, when the Archbishop of Canterbury will preach the sermon.
As a wedding compliment to Mr. Eric M Brett, only son of Mr. and Mrs. L. G. Brett, and Miss Sybil A. Smith, the Framsden band attempted a peal of Yorkshire Surprise. which unfortunately came to grief through a broken rope after \(2 \frac{1}{2}\) hours.
Sixteen members of Oxford University Society had a tower grab on May 18 th , ringing at Lambourn (8, tenor 23 cwt .) and Uffingham ( 5 tenor 15 cwt .). The grab involved a nine-mile walk. On the White Horse landmark on the Downs a course of Bob Major was rung on handbells. It is said that on reaching Oxford and counting the party through the railway barrier, the organiser struggled oft to the Labour Exchange to look for a vacation job as a shepherd.

The ringers of the golden wedding peal at Eye found their hostelry, Sunnyside, in Castle Strect, already taken over by a band of ringers who had been up to Wymondham, Norfolk, fori a peal of Cambridge. But there was no need for concern, for the hospitality of Superintendent and Mrs. Claude Rush is equal to any occasion. All are most grateful to them for welcome refreshment-especially the back-enders, who toiled with unusual ardour not many yards away.

The date of the peal of Grandsire Triples rung at Penn should be Saturday, May 4th, and not May 8th (see page 323).

With a peal of Doubles at Redbourn, Mr. Bertram C. Johnson has now conducted Grandsire from Doubles to Cinques

Miss Barbara A. Mitchell has returned to Bahrein. During her holiday she only scored one peal, Cambridge Surprise Major, at Hythe on May 25th.

Guildford Diocesan Guild has lost by death two veterans this past week. Mr. Robert Whittington, of Cranleigh, aged 89, a vice-president, died on Saturday, and Mr. Reginald Lathbury. aged 71, of Walton-on-Thames, in St. Peter's Hospital, Chertsey, on May 30th. Mr. Lathbury was also connected with the Surrey Association and was hon. secretary of the Northern District until recent years.

We hear that the wooden tower at Horley, Surrey, is unsafe and the bells are expected to be silent for many years. Mr. Alfred J. Bull, captain of this tower, we note, was ringing in a peal of Double Norwich Court Bob Major at Godstone to mark the beginning of his retirement. He hopes to devote his time to beekeeping, bell ringing and 'bobbying' (as a special constable).

\section*{CHELMSFORD'S GREAT WELCOME}

Mr. Robert C. Heazel, of Wimbish, Saffron Walden, the Master of the Essex Association, has sent the following letter of welcome to Mr. Edwin H. Lewis, M.A., president of the Central Council. It was in 1929 that the Council last visited the county town of Essex.

> Dear Mr. Lewis,-As Master of the Essex Association of Change Ringers 1 extend to you and all the Central Council representatives a welcome to Chelmsford. I am convinced that the Essex ringers will do all in their power to make your visit a success and will endeavour to give you all a happy time.
> I am looking forward to meeting many friends, both young and old. There will be some who owing to the passage of time I shall find it hard to remember; the light of memory will brighten when someone mentions a long-forgotten incident.

The wonderful fellowship which exists between ringers, of which you as president of the Central Council are the focal point, draws us all together, male and femate, old and young, with their own talents uniting in their efforts 10 give joy and happiness in a cause, the bounds of which it is not possible to assess by human standards.
I trust that your visit to our county town on the occasion when it is your intention to retire from your high office will prove to be a very memorable experience.-Yours sincerely,

ROBERT C. HEAZEL,
Master, The Essex Association.

ROBERT C. HEAZEL

\section*{TOWERS IN THE COUNTY, TOWN & VILLAGES THAT}

CHELMSFORD, the county town of Essex and centre of the Chelmsford Diocese, might have been described as a pleasant, quiet country market town a few years ago. The weekly cattle market is still held in the town centre, causing much confusion on market day. The precincts of the town have spread considerably in latter years and its industries increased to provide work for many from the surrounding countryside.

The Parish Church of St. Mary-the-Virgin, raised to Cathedral status in 1913 and recently renamed the Cathedral Church. St. Mary-theVirgin. St. Peter and St. Cedd, has a solidly built 15 th century west tower with set back buttresses: the battlements are of Decorated flush flintwork carrying the eight pinnacles. The tower is topped with an open lantern and leaded necdle spire. The Cathedral contains a number of interesting monuments-the American Memorial Porch is unique and worthy of careful inspection. There are plans showing a building worthy of the great diocese that the Cathedral serves. Planning approval has been granted to clear the land on the north side to form a close, which will be bordered by local and diocesan administrative buildings-this will provide an open space in the centre of the town. The bells are 13 in number (tenor 34 cwt .2 qr. 22 lb . in C sharp), including a flat sixth to form a lighter octave.

Great Baddow.- The Church of St. Mary-theVirgin has a very pleasant exterior-the many period restorations have added to its charm: there are a number of very interesting items among its treasures. The tower contains a fine ring of eight bells (tenor \(14 \frac{1}{2} \mathrm{cwt}\).). These bells have been tuned by the early Simpson Tuning Principle: being hung on ball-bearings they are a joy to ring.

Boreham, a small village on the Chelmsford to Colchester road, is a place of historical interest ; it has great houses and quaint coltages. The Church of St. Andrew, with its central Norman tower, is a building where the student of architecture can browse and contemplate on its many unusual features. The central tower contains a ring of eight bells (tenor 13 cwt . 19 lb.\()\).
Broomfield, a pretty little village on the Chelmsford to Braintree road, is being completely surrounded with new estate houses. The Church of St. Mary has a Norman nave and chancel and also a round Norman tower. The 6 -bell ring (tenor \(11 \frac{1}{4} \mathrm{cwt}\).) is the pride and care of the local band, who have done a great deal to get them in the splendid condition they are in today.
Danbury, with its famous hill, the village nestling on the top like a coronet, with the church spire seeming to look out and survey the whole of Chelmsford. The vast open common with its views of the surrounding countryside is the venue of many pienickers in the summer months. The Church of St. John-theBaptist, now fully restored after its heavy war damage, is full of interest to historians and ringers. The belfry, with its ring of six (tenor 12 cwt.), has been the nursery of some fine young ringers.
Galleywood, with its common, which in the past provided a racecourse, is a favourite place for trippers. The church, standing on the common, had the race track round it, and it must have sounded very suburban to have had a race around the church. The church, dedicated to St. Michacl and Ail Angels, has an 8 -bell ring (tenor \(14 \frac{1}{2} \mathrm{cwt}\).).

Sandon, a small growing village between Great Baddow and Danbury, has its church in a very pretty setting. Dedicated to St . Andrew. it has a Norman chancel with remains of Roman brickwork, whilst its carly 16 th century tower is of brick construction. The tower contains a 6 -bell ring (tenor 10 cwt .3 qr .16 lb .)
Springfield, with its church standing among the trees close to the green, is a most delightful spot. The church, All Saints', has a tower of varied construction and a 6 -bell ring (tenor 12 cwt .).
Great Walthan, where the road wends through the village street on its way to Donmow, has a number of interesting old houses. The greatest of these is Langleys, a large. red brick house standing in its park behind the church, with a lodge at the entrance gates styled on the lines of the mansion. The Church of St. Mary and St. Lawrence is a fairly large church with very carly foundation; traces of Roman and Norman work are to be seen. The great west tower is Norman, substantially restored and strengthened by brick buttresses; the bells, a grand ring of eight (tenor \(26 \frac{1}{2} \mathrm{cwt}\).), have a long draught, being rung from the ground floor.
The Church of St. Martin, Little Waltham, in the adjoining parish, has a number of interesting items for the historian. The Perpendicular tower contains a ring of six bells (tenor 12 cwt .).
Widford, once a quiet village, is now being absorbed completely into the borough: the main road has been diverted so as not to pass through its one narrow street. The Church of St. Mary is of no great age; the tower, surmounted by a tall stone spire. contains a ring of cight bells (tenor \(11 \frac{1}{\mathrm{c}} \mathrm{cwt}\).).

Writtle has its lovely village green surrounded by houses. many as picturesque as the church, which lies slightly back from the green.

\section*{SUSSEX COUNTY ASSOCIATION}

\section*{The Master Retires}

PPROXIMATELY 85 members were present at the 72 nd annual meeting of the Sussex County Association held in the hall of the Good Shepherd, Brighton, on May 4th. The service was taken by the Vicar (Rev. H. J. Hills), followed by tea.
At the business meeting the Master (Mr. S. E. Armstrong) presided, and announced that we had been given the use of the hall free of charge and the organist would not accept a fee for his services. Apologies were received from Mr. S. Knight and Messrs. Butcher, Laker and Weller. The meeting stood in silence as a token of respect to those who had passed on recently, viz.: Mr. W. Booth (Heathfield), Mr. E. Bishop (Rotherfield), Mr. A. Cherryman (Aldrington) and Mr. J. Netley (Lyminster).
Arising from the minutes of the last A.G.M. and special A.G.M., the charge of 6 d . per rope for peals rung for the Association was discussed. It was agreed to alter the wording to read \(6 d\). per ringer, this to include handbell peals. Conductors please note that it is their responsibility to collect these fees and pass them on to the treasurer, either direct or through a divisional secretary. Peals rung without a fee being paid must be classed as non-Association peals and will not appear in the report. The money collected will go towards the increasing cost of printing reports.
It was reported that Mr. J. Dearlove, former peal secretary, was making a good recovery from illness. The secretary was requested to send him the meeting's best wishes.

The various reports were read and passed and the auditor's suggestion that the papers relating to investments, etc., should be, deposited in the bank was carried. The peal secretary reported 81 peals rung last year; this year at the end of March more peals had been rung than last year. despite the \(6 d\). per ringer per peal.

\section*{ELECTION OF OFFICERS}

On the Master's retirement after 25 years service as general secretary and Master, Mr. R. V . Johnson, of Cuckfield, was unanimously elected Master. All the remaining officers were re-elected; Mr. J. Dearlove was elected an honorary life member and Mr. Armstrong a vice-president.
The certificates were finally approved, 100 hadges ordered and permission for a small committec to redesign the annual report carried.
The alteration to the Rules dealing with the financial side was brought before the meeting by Mr. S. E. Armstrong. Much discussion took place and it was agreed to leave this over. The suggestion that the savings certificates be sold, \(£ 50\) reinvested and \(£ 30\) put into the general fund for use by the treasurer. was carried. The financial position of the Association would be reviewed next year, when the effect of the increased affiliation fees and peal subscriptions were known.
Mr. Elphick informed the meeting that he had been approached to show handbells, etc. at the Sussex Agricultural Show at Bognor Regis on July 17 th and 18th. Anyone wishing to help please contact him direct.

\section*{BOURNEMOUTH RINGERS' RALLY}

THE Bournemouth dinner and rally, held on May 4th, was again a very happy occasion. Ringing took place at Christchurch Priory and at Bournemouth, St. Peter's and St. John's, during the afternoon; but it is suspected that the attraction of a walk through the Pleasure Gardens (looking their very best) to the sea front proved a greater attraction than a visit to the belfry. A company of 80 assembled at the Gaumont Restaprant for dinner. Admiral D. H . Everett presided, and he was supported by Canon L. S. Brasnett (representing the Vicar of Bournemouth) and Mrs. Brasnett, the Vicar of Milford (Rev. P. Marling-Roberts), Councillor and Mrs. H. P. E. Mears and Col. Spencer.
After the loyal toast, the chairman welcomed the company to Bournemouth for the eleventh rally and eighth George Williams commemoration dinner. He read apologies for absence from several members, including the Vicars of Bournemouth, of Christchurch and of St. John's, Surrey Road, all of whom were enjoying a short break after a very busy Lent, Holy Week and Eastertide.

\section*{St. Nicholas', Great Yarmouth}

The Parish Church of St. Nicholas, Great Yarmouth, is to be rebuilt at a cost of \(£ 316.750\). The contract provides for completion of the work in five years.

At the Parochial Church Council meeting the Vicar (Rev. A. G. G. Thurlow) said the Church Council proposed immediately to give the order for the bells. He had put their proposals before Mr. F. Sharpe, the leading expert in England on the subject. Mr. Sharpe had judged the plan for them-by the Whitechapel Bell Foundry, which cast the old Yarmouth bells in 1807-to be on certain technical grounds likely to produce the finest ring of 13 bells in England.

Mr. Fred Price proposed 'The County Borough of Bournemouth,' to which Councillor H. P. E. Mears responded. Councillor Mears seemed a little surprised that Mr. Price had not given him something controversial to respond to, but he and Mrs. Mears thoroughly enjoyed coming to the ringers' dinner, and at all times he was pleased to respond to the toast of the Borough which, in his opinion, was one of the most beautiful towns in England.
The chairman proposed 'The Memory of Mr. George Williams. which was honoured in silence. After a short interval, Canon L. S. Brasnetr rose to propose the ioast of 'The Bells and Bellringers, during which he paid a glowing tribute to the work of the ringers up and down the country. He outlined the different contacts he had made with the Exercise during his years as a vicar in parishes in the Midlands. and said it had been his experience to find that church bellringers were always ready, not only to ring the bells but to help on other Church work besides.
The speeches were interspersed with handbell ringing, a touch of Spliced Royal being rung by Miss K. Fletcher, Mrs. F. J. Marshallsay, Messrs, Matkin, Hurst and Best. Tune ringing was by St. Peter's Handbell Ringers. Songs and duets rendered by the incomparable Mr. and Mrs. Charles Beresford delighted the company.

To conclude, the chairman proposed the toast of 'The Visitors,' especially the outing party of 14 from Selly Oak, led by Mr. W. B. Cartwright. Mr . Cartwright suitably responded, and Mr. D. R. Reed proposed a vote of thanks to the chairman for presiding that evening.
The company also included Mr. and Mrs. R. Blackmore, Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Buchannon, Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Cartwright, Mr. and Mrs. N. Goodman, Mr. and Mrs. F. and Miss Harris. Mr. and Mrs. H. Harrison, Mr. and Mrs. F. W. C. Hemms, Mr. and Mrs. Laker, Mr. and Mrs. F. Price, Mr, and Mrs. G. Pullinger, Mr. and Mrs. D. R. Reed, Mr. and Mrs. S. White.

Messrs M. Bazeley, M. J. E. Best, E. Booth, B. Bowden. R. Buchannon, W. E. Cheater, J. Coles, A. V. Davis. J. R. French. W. Godfrey, J. Hartlett, R. C. Hurst, J. A. C. King, Long. R. H. Marlow, D. T. Matkin. H. A. Mitchell, C. Parker, R. Pike, J. Pinfold. J. R. Sharman, H. J. Turner, F. Walters, A. Westwood.

Mesdames D. T. Gardiner, Heavens, F. J. Marshallsay.
The Misses Barnes, P. Barnett, D. Battersby, N. Crofts, S. Day, D., E., E. M. and K. E. Fletcher. J. Howell, C. Jones, B. Monk, B. Powell, M. Purkess, G. Rea, M. Reay.

\section*{TRURO DIOCESAN GUILD}

The spring festival of the Mid-Cornwall Branch was held at St. Mewan on May 11th. when nearly 90 members attended, representing the towers of St. Austell, St. Mewan. St. Erme. St. Stephen-in-Brannel, St. Ewe, Newlyn East. Bodmin and SI. Gorran.
A short service was conducted by the Rector (the Rev. S. Oddie) and Mr. W. Hancock was organist.
Judges for the test ringing were Messrs. W. H. Southeard, C. E. Lanxon and A. Locke, of Truro. Certificates were awarded to almost every band that rang, the main test being 44 changes.
Tea and evening refreshments were served by the ladies of St. Mewan. Af the short business meeting it was decided to hold the next meeting at Newlyn East.
The president (Mr. A. Carveth) and some of the Kenwyn band took part in the ringing on the eight at St . Austell later in the evening. All agreed that the festival was most enjoyable.

\section*{NAME THEM}

Dear Sir.-Mr. Smallwood's letter makes unpleasant reading. The Vicar's treatment smacks somewhat of schoolmaster punishment. I hope the 3d. in the box did not offend. It did show willing. Stories of ringers' misbehaviour live long. I have been in belfries for over 50 years and when I tell them in the local I have never seen any beer in the belfry they tell me to try another optician.-Yours faithfully,
T. H. VALLANCE.

\section*{MR. T. H. TAFFENDER RANG IN RECORD PEAL}

Dear Sir, - The footnote to the peal of Yorkshire rung at South Wigston, which appears on page 323 of the issue for May 24th, is incorrect.
Referring to the record peal of 17,104 Double Norwich rung there on December 27th. 1904, it states that the late Josiah .Morris was the Jast survivor of the band.
The second bell was rung on this occasion by Mr. Thomas H. Taffender, Master of the London County Association since 1913.-Yours faithfully, Westminster.

NOTE.-We also thank Mr. John G. Nash for the same information.-Ed.

\section*{A Rapid Recovery}

On May 8th, Mr. Leonard King, Master of the East Harling Guild of Ringers, was taken suddenly ill with acute appendicitis and rushed to the Norfolk and Norwich Hospital.
He made such a good and rapid recovery that on May 13 th he was transferred convalescent 10 the Wayland Hospital nearer home. The same night he was visited by four members of the South Norfolk Branch, including his 14-year-old son and two from his tower. Touches on handbells were rung with him. to the delight of the other patients in the ward.
He returned home on Saturday: May 18th, and was back in church the following day. He even came into the ringing chamber and gave the Rector, who was ringing the third bell, quite a shock!

Our correspondent sends this story as an example of good surgery and absolute faith in God to help overcome all difficulties.

\section*{PEALS AT BEXHILL-ON-SEA}

Dear Sir,-The last peal attempt at Bexhill-onSea was not, as stated in Belfry Gossip, page 330, on February 1st, 1947.
1 called Holt's Original there on March 12th. 1949. It was the last peal rung by Fred Smeaton before going to Australia. Miss A. Eldridge and C. Grisbrook, both members of the local band, rang in it.-Yours truly.

\section*{C. ALFRED LEVETT}

\section*{Hastings.}

NOTE.-Mr. Arthur D. Cook writes, informing us of a peal of 5,120 Ashtead Surprise Major, rung on the bells on August 21 st, 1950, conducted by C. Edward Jefferies.

\section*{PEAL WITHDRAWN}

Dear Sir,-I wish to withdraw the peal of Spliced Surprise Major in three methods which was rung at the: Bell Foundry, Loughborough. on March 27th, 1957, as the composition has now proved to be false.
Will all concerned please note that the composition was published on page 256 of the R.W: (April 19th).

If this composition was the one used for the peal rung at West Bromwich on May 4th, that peal will also have to be withdrawn, and I tender my sincere apologies for having caused to be published a false composition.-Yours faithfully.

BRIAN G. WARWICK.

\section*{BEDFORDSHIRE TOUR}

On the last two days of April a party, including Mr. Ronald H. Dove, of Leeds, visited 24 towers in Beds and Hunts by car in fine weather, local ringers giving welcome assistance at many places. The advance guard, in the shape of two very youthful ringers from Derby. arrived the previous Saturday to spend a few days under canvas in N. Herts, thus adding Hitchin (fine old 8, 26 cwt .) (annual meeting), Offley (6) and King's Walden (6) (quarter peal) to their list.
The first day's visits were to Goldington (new 6), Biddenham (6), where veteran Miss Evelyn Steele joined the ringing. Bromham ( \(8,23 \mathrm{cwt}\).), where the ringing did not do justice to the fine bells, Oakley (5), Clapham ( \(6,5 \mathrm{cwt}\).), where the less experienced ringers had an anxious time owing to the immense draught of rope in this Saxon watchtower, Renhold ( 5 , unusual tune), Eaton Socon, an excellent modern eight. Eynesbury ( 6 , anti-clockwise), and culminating with the grand 'Somerset' tower at St. Neots. These fine bells with a wonderful 30 cwt . tenor inspired the best ringing of the tour. Time allowed for a 720 Bob Minor by: Clive Walklate (13) 1. Ken Ballington (13)' 3, June Gladman 4, G. C. Galley S, D. P. Jones (conductor) 6, P. Mehew 7, R. H. Dove (cover) 8.
The second day was much enlivened by the presence of Pat Cannon. Philip Mehew bringing an extra car for the increased manpower, and hearty conversation was bandied all day. The towers were Haynes (new 5), Elstow (6, dctached tower where John Bunyan rang), Bedford, St. Peter's (8), where Eddie Jeffries gave a warm reception and ringing was of good standard, Cople (6, anti-clockwise), Willington (6), Great Barford ( \(5,15 \mathrm{cwt}\)., a grand Hugh Watts ring), Roxton ( 5 , require pulling), Tempsford (6), where Mrs. Houghton and local youngsters welcomed us, and Blunham (a fine 6).
After tea came Sandy ( 6 , just rehung) met by Joan Ashton: Northill ( \(6,19 \mathrm{cwt}\)., a fine old tenor), where Mr. William Wagstaffe showed us many interesting bell items he has collected; Old Warden (6), with famous carved pews: Southill (6, a good ring), where the Vicar and several local youngsters joined the ringing: Henlow (6), where we joined Mr. Bywaters practice, and Arlesey (6).

Usually on Whit Monday there is a travelling fair to entice the young people away from the bells, and on other days cricket to cause the older ones to stop and look. What could be more pleasant than cricket on the village green to the music of a grand ring of bells floating through the air? The Church of All Saints invites its visitors to step down into the nave. then to gaze up to view the roof and other features of this finc old building. The tower. large and not very high. Was rebuilt just over 150 years ago: it has brick battlements with stone pinnacles. The tower contains a grand ring of eight bells (tenor \(18 \frac{1}{2} \mathrm{cwt}\).). The peal boards remind visitors of the ringers and of their high standards many years ago.
This church with its bells has a very special place in the affection of the Essex ringersthere on Whit Monday. June 2nd, 1879, the Essex Association was founded by the Rev. J. B. Seaman: and we trust that as the years go by the Association will ever grow towards the goal our founders had in mind on that eventful day. May Whitsuntide, 1957, be a notable landmark in its life and history.

Members of the Ancient Society of College Youths pose for a photograph outside St. John's Church, Yeovil. The visit was highly successful and included ringing at Yeovil, Sherborne and Queen Camel.

\author{
The Rev. F. Ll. Edwards' Legacy

THE 74th annual festival was held at Salisbury on May 18th. The proceedings commenced with the annual general meeting in the Assembly Rooms at 2.30 p.m., Canon C. Carew Cox (Master of the Guild) presiding, supported by Mr. W. C. West (hon. secretary and treasurer) and Mr. F. S. Slatford (assistant hon. secretary).

After prayers were said, the chairman said apologies and good wishes had been received from: The Earl of Shaftesbury (president), the Lord Bishop of the Diocese. Messrs. Martin Srewart and L. A. Wilson (vice-presidents), Mrs. E. Pannell (hon, secretary, West Dorset Branch). Mr. R. H. Duke (assistant hon secretary. Dorchester Branch), Messrs. J. S. Weeks and C. F. Andrews (hon, auditors) and Mr. Wm. Chalke.
The hon. secretary in his report stated that 25 peals had been rung, in methods ranging from Doubles to Spliced Surprise. The membership was static at 1.068 ringing members and 12 honorary members and 11 associates.
The meeting stood in silence while the following losses by death were remembered: Mr. J. Hale (Urchfont). 50 years a ringer in that tower: Mr. F. Hart (Wimborne Minster). 54 years ringing service: Mr. S. Macey, hon. L. M. (Salisbury) ; Mr. F. J. Howard (Fordington); Mr. G. Derham, one time captain of Holt: Rev. F. Ll. Edwards, vice-president, 37 years hon. sccretary and treasurer.

The treasurer's report made good reading, showing a credit balance in current account of \(£ 6718 \mathrm{~s}\). 5 d . and deposit account of \(£ 325 \mathrm{~s}\). 11 d . This was considered satisfactory, and Mr. West was thanked for his work as hon. secretary and treasurer. A grant of \(£ 55 \mathrm{~s}\). was made to the Chisledon Bell Restoration Fund.

The following officers were unanimously elected: President. the Earl of Shaftesbury: Master of the Guild. Canon C. Carew Cox: hon. secretary and treasurer. Mr. W. C. West: assistant hon. secretary, Mr. F. S. Slatford: hon. auditors, Mr. J. S. Weeks and Mr. C. F. Andrews: committee-Messrs. A. Macdonald, G. H. Harding. F. Precey and R. H. True: vice-president, Canon A. W. Markby; hon. life ringing member, Mr. A. W. Angel (Melksham).
In replying to his re-election as hon. secretary, Mr. West thanked the members for their continued confidence, remarking the work was made easier by the fact of having such an excellent assistant secretary and Branch officers. He would like to see a longer list of honorary members, as this would bring the clergy into the Guild and closer in touch with its principles.

The chairman informed the meeting that under the will of the late Rev. F. Ll. Edwards, the Guild would receive \(£ 150\), to be known as the Edwards Memorial Fund. to be used for grants to bell restorations under the conditions stated in the document. It was unanimously decided to invest' the money for the time being and expend the interest. This would keep the name of the Rev. Edwards always before them.

Votes of thanks were then passed to the Viear of St. Thomas' (Rev. P. J. Hayes), the Salisbury Branch officers for their part in the arrangements, and others who may have assisted in any way. Canon Cox then closed the meeting with grace.

The service in St. Thomas' was most inspiring. The Vicar (Rev. P. J. Hayes) delivered the address, Canon Cox led the prayers, Mr. W. C. West read the lesson, Harold Roles officiated at the organ, and H. G. Keeley 1-2, C. W. Powell 3-4, G. S. Morris 5-6, Canon Cox \(7-8\) and Mrs. C. W. Powell \(9-10\) rang ar course of Grandsire Caters on handbells. A collection was made to be divided between the Guild funds and the St. Tho.nas' Church Fund.

A meat tea was served in the Assembly Rooms, 120 sitting down.

The quiet atmosphere prevailing here was sufficient to show observers that all were enjoying themselves. This completed the activifies, and members returned their various ways hone, and so ended once again the Guild annual festival.

\section*{Gillett and Johnston Plan New Foundry}

The old Bell Foundry of Messrs. Gillett and Johnston. Lid., Whitehorsc Road. Croydon, is to be sold as it is no longer suitable for modern production. Plans for a new foundry are complete, and the company hope to start erection of the new premises in the very near future.

In the meantime, while the company are still carrying on all erection work, arrangements have been made with Messrs. John Taylor and Co., of Loughborough, to cast the bells.

\section*{ST. KEVERNE, CORNWALL, BELL JUBILEE}

A special celebration of the jubilec of St. Keverne bells was held on May 9th. It was then exactly 50 years since the Bishop of the diocese came to dedicate the new ring of eight, and the opening ceremony was performed by the then Lord Mayor of London, himself a Helstonian, Sir William Treloar.

There was a service in the fine Priory Church of St. Keverne to mark the occasion, conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. E. J. Saunders); neighbouring towers sent teams, as did also the Cathedral, and there were numbers of good touches.

In the Church Hall, the Vicar had prepared an exhibition of pholographs of the 1907 event. It included the original three ancient bells, which when recast provided four for the new ring; the new bells being received at the church garlanded with flowers: and the Lord Mayor presenting commemoration mugs to all who had raised \(£ 5\) or more for the bells and clock. Set out in large print were the full weights and inscriptions of the eight.

The 'people's warden presented to the tower a framed copy of the weights and inscriptions surmounted by a very fine etching of the west front and tower, as a lasting memento of the jubilee.

Included in the congregation was Mr. J. Williams, who is still residing at St. Keverne. and the only surviving member who rang the three bells before recasting. He was given a free supper as a token. At the supper in the Hall a special cake was displayed, and later cut by the present captain of the ringers. Mr. R. Nicholls. It was a replica of the church tower, and open on one side to display eight bells with the ropes and sallies complete. This was made by the wife of one of the members of St. Keverne team. Mrs. D. Harry.

The three ancient hells had rung for many victims of tragic wrecks which had occurred on the Manacles, the treacherous reef about a mile-and-a-half offshore, and from which the spire of the church can be plainly seen. In fact, the reef takes its name from this, being in Cornish, 'Maen Eglos,' 'The Church Rocks.' A barometer and plates salvaged from the wreck of the 'Mohegan' in 1898, accompanied many other such relics in the exhibition, 1 was held on May 4th at Southwell. The beils of the Minster were available from 2 p.m., as also were the bells of St. Michael s. Farnsfield, by kind permission of the Provost (the field, by kind parmission of the Provost (the Very Rev. H. C. L. Heywood) and the Rev. K. D. Frampton respectively.

Sixty-five members and visitors sat down to tea in the Trebeck Hall. This was followed by the business meeting, which was presided over by the vice-chairman (Mr. F. W. Midwinter).
A brief silence was observed as a token of respect fon members who had passed on since the last annual meeting, namely, Messrs. H. R. Cobbin, R. Knowles, John T. Newbert, F. S. Price, H. E. Thompson, Ralph Narborough and Mrs. Alice E. Rowsell.
All the officers were re-elected, and Messrs.
John Segar, I. D. Clarke and B. N. Buswell were elected to represent the Guild on the Central Council for the ensuing three years.
The hon. general secretary's report noted that Ordsall had won the Crawford Cup competition on September 14th, 1956. To date, the report continued, the Guild had made grants aggregating \(£ 783 \mathrm{~s}\). to 12 different churches to help in restoration schemes. and the Guild might be in restoration schemes. and the Guild might be proud of those contributions which had carned a considerable amount of goodwill.

Last year it was decided, so far as finances permitted. to make an annual grantl to the Bishop's Appeal Fund for the restoration of ancient churches, and the committee had resolved to forward a donation of \(£ 55 \mathrm{~s}\). to the Fund out of the current year's surplus. This subscription was really only a token payment but it did show that the Guild was alive to its responsibilities and had accepted the challenge in a practical manner.

The District secretaries' reports showed a year of steady progress with meetings generally well attended.
The report of the peal committee stated that 32 peals were rung in 1956. which was a considerable drop compared with recent years. For the first time since the Guild was formed no peal was rung on handbells. Also no new conductors had appeared, although one record was achieved by ringing the first non-conducted peal. There were three first-pealers and 13 conductors. Several new compositions had hean entered in the register but there were still some gaps to fill.
The hon. treasurer's statement of accounts showed a satisfactory financial position. The surplus for the year on income and expenditure account was \(£ 1515 \mathrm{~s}\). 8 d . and a further \(£ 32 \mathrm{~s}\) worth of hadges had been sold. The capital account balance stood at \(£ 1289 \mathrm{~s} .8 \mathrm{~d}\). and the balance of the Bell Repair Fund \(£ 83\) 2s. 7 d .
The business meeting ended with a comprehensive vote of thanks. proposed hy Mr. J. W. Raithby, and the day closed with further ringing at the Minster and St. Michael's, Farnsfield.

\section*{A NORTHANTS WEDDING}

Mr. John G. Shellard. Ringing Master of the Culworth Branch, and Miss Edith J. Ballard. a member of the band of St. James' Church, Paulerspury, Northants. were married at Paulerspury on May 11 th
The bride, who was given away by her brother-in-law (Mr. W. A, Yates), wore a dress of gold and white brocade, and carried a bouquet of lilies of the valley, carnations and irises. The service was choral with Mr. Eric Walker. secretary of the Culworth Branch. as organist. Members of Paulerspury tower cheerfully rang the bells as the happy couple left the church.
A quarter peal of Cambridge Surprise Minor was rung by friends during the evening at Heimdon, where Mr. and Mrs. Shellard are settling in their new home.

\section*{OBITUARY}

\section*{MR. FRANK ATTWATER}

The death is announced of Mr. Frank Attwater, aged 73. of Cuckfield. Sussex, at Lewes Hospital on May 12th. He was one of six brothers, all ringers at one time at the Parish Church. Two went abroad eventually, leaving the four, who kept up a good standard of ringing at the bezinning of the century, as the peal boards show. The brothers have now passed on except Isaac (78), who is still carrying on 'the good work ' of instructing a young band at Enfield.

Ernest was killed in the closing stages of World War I, and was a fine specimen of a man, being a physical instructor in the Army. Louis, who came to London. was instructor at St. Leonard's. Streatham, in 1920. Subsequently he went as instructor at All Saints', Wandsworth, where he took part in the first peal of Spliced Surprise Major by the College Youths in 1926; he also look part in the first peal of Cambridge Surprise Maximus at St. Paul's. Louis died at the early age of 48 in 1928 .

Isaac, as previously mentioned, was between the wars chosen as instructor to a band formed for the new ten at Kent School, U.S.A. There are still many veteran singers in Sussex and London who remember the Attwater family, including myself, who took over at Streatham after L. Attwater went to Wandsworth.

\section*{MR. ARTHUR WRIGHT}

The archæological side of bells in Wales owes much to the research and writings of Mr . Arthur Wright, B.Sc., whose death took place last month at his residence, Elmsleigh, Bargoed, Glam. In 1904 he came from Norfolk, on accepting the post of science master at Lewis School. Pengarn, and he remained there until he retired a few years ago.

Although not a ringer, he had been interested in bells since boyhood days. He found when he came to Wales that very little had been done apart from the collection of inscriptions, etc., by the late Rev. Meredith Morris, of Clydach Vale, Rhondda, and he wrote up a description of bells in sone of the deaneries in Monmouthshire and Glamorgan. which duly appeared in the Llandaff Diocesan Magazine. In August, 1920, he had the great pleasure of the company of Mr. H. B. Walters, M.A. author of Bells of Engla,d,' on a week's walking tour around Usk, and they visited 26 churches and examined 67 bells.

In 1935 the Cambria Archroological Association kindly offered him the hospitality of their pages for the results of his researches, and thus were put on record the 'Church Bells of Monmouthshire, the first Welsh county to be published.
He discovered four long-waisted early 13th century bells at Gwernesncy (2), Kemeys Commander (1) and Bettws Newydd (1), the interesting 13th century inscribed bell at St. Bride's. Netherwent, which is unique, and should be scheduled as an ancient monument. and the tenor at Caldicot, with its beautiful lettering (1450).

Mr. Wright afterwards published a limited edition of 120 copies of "The Bells of Monmouthshire ' (1942). He also wrote the History of the Lewis School, Pengarn, and when he retired he was honoured by the past and present students at a reception and many presentations were made to him. In his retirement he was busy on 'The Bells of Glamorgan.' which was at the time of his death nearly ready for going to press.

When on holidays he was always looking out for bells, and discovered an interesting Dutch bell at Penygan Farm, Broadley, Ferryside, when there on a visit. This interesting bell, dated 1760 , was used to call the farmhands to meals.

MR. JAMES S. NAPPER
James Stibbs Napper was laid to rest at his beloved village, East Hagbourne, on May 20th, and as the cortege left the church on its last journey to the new cemetery, the beautiful eight of this village commenced a quarter peal of Grandsire Triples, half-muffled, by a majority of friends who had known Jim for over 40 yearsE. Sawyer 1, K. White 2, W. F. Judge 3, W. White 4, W. Hibbert (conductor) 5, M. Bishop 6, A. Webb 7, D. Napper 8. The quarter successfully came round to striking that Jim would have been pleased to either ring or listen to.

James Stibbs was only 16 when he rang his first peal. Grandsire Triples, at his native village, and up to 1914 he rang quite a number in this method. Being an enthusiastic soldier of the Berkshire Yeomanry, he was called up in 1914 and saw service in Egypt and Gallipoli, and it was at Gallipoli he won the D.C.M ", saving the life of his life-long friend. Harold "Pryor, who was a ringer. After Gallipoli he volunteered for the Royal Flying Corps, and soon won his wings and flew many sorties over enemy territory in France.

But it was between the wars that Jim made his mar's, especially in the O.D.G. with the writer's late father. Jim was a big man in every way although perhaps a little strong with the English language,' nevertheless big in physique and big in mind and heart, and was always happy to go anywhere, take others and ring tough-going bells that many ringers would shy at; and what perseverance!

He came to Caversham Monday after Monday in 1920 to start his first peal of Stedman Triples, in fact in all 22 occasions; but he then had the satisfaction of ringing his first peal of Stedman at Hagbourne, and on the seventh, which any ringer who can remember this glorious cight before they were rehung will have to admit was a handful.

Even after moving to Coventry, where he did quite a deal of ringing, his name would more often be tound in the peal columns of the O.D.G. The beginning of the second war saw Jim firmly established at Coventry and the writer was with him, but fortunately had left for home on the night that the city was 'coventrated.'

But the sadness of the last six or seven years when he began to go downhill, and the last two years, when he was practically bedridden. will not effaze the grand fighting spirit he was always in when visited by old friends. He leaves a widow and many nephews and nicees who follow in his footsteps in our art, and who will ever remember Uncle Jim for all his kindnesses to them when they were children.

Besides the eight ringers mentioned in the quarter peal. many old friends were at the service, including Mr. and Mrs. A. Lock. several of the Nappers, Cyril J. Hibbert, E. Pryor, J. Pryor and members of local towers. And in such affection was Jim held, it was amazing the number of old friends who came from Coventry.

To know James Stibbs Napper was to love him. and although his total of peals and methods of which he was capable of ringing did not put him the 'elite' class, yet members of his generation will ever revere his name, as one of 'God's own gentlemen.' He will rest in peace.
W. H.

BOLTON, LANCS.-On May 22nd. at the Church of the Holy Trinity, 1,260 Grandsire Triples: S. Wood 1, J. Fielding 2, J. W. Kay 3, J. Kay 4, A. Sewart 5. W. Tyson 6, P. Crook, sen. (cond.) 7, W. J. Stokes 8. Rung half-muffled in memoriam Mrs, Norton, a former Vicar's widow.

\section*{THE VERY REV. W. E. BECK}

The Dean of Worcester, the Very Rev. William Ernest Beck, passed to his rest on May 22nd after a long period of ill-health and, at times, of acute suffering, which he bore with considerable fortitude.

The Dean of Worcester is always by tradition president of the Worcestershire and Districts Change-Ringing Association. Dean Beck, like his predecessors, accepted the office in 1949 when he came to the Cathedral, and was president until his death. He could have assumed office as a formality, and no one would have complained. But he gave both time and trouble to his relationship with the ringers of the Diocese, and established a bond of affection between himself and them which will long remain. His was no cold presidency but a warm and a living friendship. We felt that he really cared. Everyone looked forward to his chairmanship at the annual dinner and the Easter meeting, and we knew that although he was as he freely confessed. a 'campanological ignoramus,' he was the true friend of all ringers, and that he thought of them as fellow workers who had a real part to play and a worthwhile contribution 10 offer in building up the Church life of the Diocese.
May God grant him light and peace.

> L. J. BIRCH, Chaplain.

\section*{MR. T. R. GRIFFITHS}

Many ringers in North Wales will hear with regret of the death of Mr. T. R. Griffiths, of the Pikey, Gresford. He died after a road accident on May 20th.

Mr. Griffiths, who was 78 years old, had rung at All Saints' Parish Church for 64 years and had been leader for the past ten years. He was a member of the North Wales Association, a reader of 'The Ringing World' since its birth, and had rung many peals. mostly Grandsire Triples. He lived for ringing. was ever ready to talk about his beloved bells (one of the wonders of Wales) and did much to enthuse young ringers in the ancient art.
The funeral service, attended by many ringers and friends. took place on May 25th, and was conducted by Canon W. V. Lost, M.C. A muffied peal was rung after the funeral. Canon Lost spoke of deceased's untiring life-long devotion to the church at the memorial service on Sunday, May 26 th. He was a sidesman for over 60 years.

\section*{SOUTHWELL DIOCESAN GUILD}

A very successful Newark District meeting, attended by some 47 ringers and friends, was held at Elston on May 18 hh.
The bells were raised in peal and rung to a variety of methods ranging from rounds to Cambridge. London and Surfleet Surprise Minor, until 4.30 p.m. A short service was then conducted by the Vicar (Rev. A. V. Astin).
A splendid tea, provided by the Mothers' Union, was followed by a short business meeting, presided over by the Vicar. Sutton-onTrent and Ossington were proposed for the July meeting, and it was finally resolved to invite the North Notts District to a joint meeting with both towers open.
Four rew members were elceted. namely, Miss L. Hulford, Miss E. Rose and Miss J. Smith, of Sutton-on-Trent, and Mr. T. Brewin. of Newark.
A collection for the Bell Repair Fund realised 16s. 6d.
Mr. F. W. Midwinter proposed a comprehensive vote of thanks to the Vicar and the Mothers' Union for their help towards a happy meeting.

\section*{ON STANDING BEHIND}
'Hither, Page, and stand by me, If thou knowest it, telling.

TIHE question of whether to stand behind or not to stand behind is one that has often been hotly debated and, as with most contentious subjects, the arguments for and against seem to balance each other pretty fairly. Very few, one imagines, are completely unacquainted with an old custom quite common in many belfries years ago (and possibly still not infrequent), the practice of introducing the beginner to plain hunting by setting him to the treble, standing behind him, and reciting to him the bells he must follow; and this regardless of whether or not he understood where he was going or what he was supposed to be doing. Whatever value this process may have, even in the most subsidiary degree, it must strike the thoughtful as a singularly unimaginative procedure, presenting a dismal blind alley to the duller pupil, and to the intelligent a meaningless rigmarole that only an innate sense of politeness forces him to tolerate.

The many text books of instruction now available for the beginner contain (if one recollects aright) no mention of 'standing behind.' Stedman the pioneer, Clavis, Troyte, Snowdon, Powell, and many others, take it as part of their various plans that the learner will actually approach the treble capable, in some degree, of attempting his hunting without direct assistance, and modern systems of instruction claim, in some instances, that the beginner will indeed be competent to hunt right from the start, provided that the preliminary guidance and explanation have been sound. The means by which this enviable state of things is to be realised cannot be set down in a few words, but it is certainly true to say that by carefully graded instruction in the elements of theory and an intelligent use of handbells, it is possible to set the student to his change-ringing in a mood of eagerness and with prospects of advancement that cannot be offered by the dreary recitation previously noted.
It is not, however, by any means true to say that no form of assistance is of value and that at no time should anyone stand behind another to assist him. Occasions spring to mind when such a procedure is not only justified but is a clear saving of time or a means of consolidating work done. The beginner, hunting the treble, may know his work and what is required of him, but his instructor may feel that a kindly word now and then will maintain confidence, or that a little reminder as to his course bell will be timely in the stress of trying to remember so many things at once. To the beginner, ringing Plain Bob 'inside' for the first time, some pointer as to striking the treble after dodges, some drawing of attention to change of course bell. may be of more value at the very moment than they would be after the attempt.

In more advanced work it is possible, too, to find occasion for profitable 'standing behind.' The budding conductor, striving to call Grandsire or Plain Bob from a nonobservation bell, will benefit in the early stages by some simple direction in location of the treble, and in Stedman by the indication of certain key bells at the back. Such assistance, it is granted, may be overdone, and can be of little value unless it leads direct to further paper study; but we need not therefore assume that it is worthless or pernicious.

This brings us, of course, to the consideration of the art of 'standing behind,' for there is no doubt that there is an art in this method of assisting instruction. The two keys to success would seem to be preparation and taciturnity, by which we mean first standing by to emphasise some point previously studied, and second the restraint which shall prevent us from speaking too much. Knowing when to speak and realising instinctively how much to say are two priceless gifts, and some instructors have these qualities to perfection. By an uncanny sense they seem to know exactly where the learner will need assistance, and to appreciate the precise moment when their intervention will be most decisive.

Study of the problems of teaching practice, of the psychology of students old and young, and of the varied needs of divers degrees of comprehension, must convince the tutor that no means of instruction and no ancillary can safely be neglected, and that there is a time for everything and a place for everything. And everything includes occasional 'standing behind.'

\section*{LLANDAFF AND MONMOUTH}

The Monmouth Branch meeting held at Shirenewton on May 18th proved most enjoyable and was attended by some 35 ringers and visitors, who kept the six bells ringing merrily.
The service was conducted by the Rev. Ivor J. Richards (Vicar of Llanarth), and the Rev. Basil Williams (Rector of Shirenewton) acted us organist.

Tea was afterwards served in the Church Hall, and Mr. J. Alsop expressed the thanks of the members to Mrs. Basil Williams and Mrs. Spence-Thomas.

The business meeting was held in the Church and the Rev, Basil Williams, who acted as chairman, gave the Branch a warm welcome. Two new members were elected from Abergavenny and St. Mellons. Mr. J. Sims reported on the restoration fund for Chepstow bells.

\section*{GORLESTON'S TOWER CAUSING TROUBLE}

An announcement was made at the annual church and vestry meeting of St. Andrew's, Gorleston, that a chunk of massiry had fallen on the font. This, said the Vicar (Rev. E. L. Corbell), confirmed his suspicions that there was movement of the church away from the tower or vice-versa. Mr. Frederick Sharpe was coming to inspest the tower.
Continuing, the Vicar said no one regretted more than he that about 15 months ago he had to stop the bells being rung. The effect on the parish was dreadful, but they could not be used until something was done, for if anything went wrong, bellringers would be killed. If they could have the bells put right this side of the summer someone had agreed to pay the bill if it did not exceed \(£ 250\).

\section*{NORWICH DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION \\ Eastern Branch at Winterton}

Winterton is thought by many to have the highest tower in Norfolk. It was at this coastal village that the Eastern Branch held their meeting on May 18th. Those who climbed to the top of the tower had a spiendid view but found half a gale blowing. The wedding of the daughter of Sir Edmund Bacon, Bt., Lord Lieut. of Norfolk and an honorary member of the Branch, partly accounted for the small attendance as several members were ringing for the wedding.
In the unavoidable absence of the Rector (Rev. G. W. Harwood), the service was conducted by the incumbent from the nearby Broadland parish of Filby (Rev. H. Saunderson). After tea, the business meeting was presided over by the Branch chairman (Mr. E. R. Goate), the Association president (Rev. H. G. .Lillingston) and general secretary (Mr. W. Love) also being present.

Subject to permission, the next full meeting is to be held at Norton Subcourse on Scptember 28th, and a by-meeting at Carlton Colville on July' 6th.

Votes of thanks were accorded the Rectors of Winterton and Filby, Mr. G. Hawkes, a Branch member, for playing the organ, and Mr. R. E. Woodhouse, Master of the local company, for the tea arrangements.
The president repeated his plea made recently at the annual general meeting of the Association that all ringers should pray for each other on Saturdays, that being the day when there was ringing activity.

\section*{GUILDFORD DIOCESAN GULLD}

\section*{Chertsey District}

The Chertsey District meeting at Send and Ockham on May 25 th was blessed with the fine weather so much needed for a meeting at these very rural towers, both well away from bus routes. The number attending was most encouraging: over 60 ringers visited the two towers and 42 sat down to a large tea in the Red Cross hut.

The Guild service was conducted at Send by the Vicar (Rev. C. E. Sylvester), who welcomed the Guild to Send and gave an interesting address.

At the short business meeting two new junior members from Send were elected and one senior. The District Ringing Master reminded members of the need to find a new general secretary

After the usual votes of thanks, ringing in Doubles and Minor methods continued until \(9 \mathrm{p} . \mathrm{m}\). at both towers.
R. C.

\section*{Farnham District}

A good number of ringers were attracted to the Farnham District meeting at Hawley on May 18 h , where ringing was superintended by Mr. Rex Cork. (Ringing Master). The Vicar (Rev. S. M. Collier) conducted the service and made all welcome. Tea was served by local ladies in the Church Room, and at the business meeting Mr. S. Joyce thanked all who had made the visit a success.

HARROLD, BEDS.-On May 24th. 1,260 Bob Minor: P. Wakeman (first quarter) 1, H. Gayton 2. Iris Walker (first as cond.) 3, M Pudd (first of Minor) 4, R. Walker (first 'inside') 5. C. Payne 6. A birthday compliment to Mr. P. Wakeman.

Miss Judith M. Midgley, the Municipal Hospital, La- BELFRY combe, Alberta, Canada, writes, telling of the great thrill it was to her to ring at Victoria Cathedral, B.C. While at the practice she heard about the proposed installation of a ring of eight bells at Christ Church, Calgary, about 110 miles south of Lacombe. At present, only six bells have been hung, but there is an enthusiastic band of learners, and she is looking forward to going down there for a practice. She understands that the bells are to be dedicated in July, and the ringers from Victoria are hoping to fly to Calgary for the occasion.

Another four to be added to Mr. E. V. Rodenhurst's list of Salop bells is Cardington.

Mr. A. D. Rivers wishes to thank Mr. F. R. Scott and fricnds for arranging his ' 21 years a ringer at Slough' quarter peal, and for Mr. Scott's kind hospitality afterwards.

To the memory of Mr. A. H. Eastor, for many years a ringer and churchwarden at St. Peter's Church, Barton-on-Humber, Lincs, a peal of Kent Treble Bob Major was rung on June 4ih.
The peal of St. Clement's Bob Triples at Hanbury, Worcestershire, on May 26th was also tung as a compliment to Edward Cairns, who had just celebrated his golden wedding. He has been captain of the local ringers for 50 years.

When halfway through the quarter peal at Worcester Cathedral for the funeral of the late Dean on May 28th, a message came that one of the ringers was urgently required elsewhere. Fortunately, another of the Cathedral ringers was listening outside and was able to take his rope, and enabled the quarter to be completed.

\section*{GOSSIP} the heading 'Hopes deferred,' tells in 'St. Peter's, Bexhill-on-Sea, Church News ' the story of the failure to bring home the Easter peal on the bells. He writes an interesting column on the bells and ringing generally. The parish magazine is always a valuable source of propaganda.

An attempt to ring a quarter peal at Upper Gravenhurst, Beds, to congratulate Ven. B. T. Guy on being appointed Bishop of Bedford failed after some good ringing due to a broken rope, less than three extents from the end.

It had been the intention to ring six methods: 60 Stedman, 240 St. Simon's Bob, 24t) St. MarSin's, 240 Reverse Canterbury Pleasure, 240 Plain Bob, 240 Grandsire.

King's School, Canterbury, Bell-ringing Society inform us that owing to certain unforcseen circumstances they are not yet ringing on Sundays. The Society hope to be ringing on Sundays in the fairly near future.

The quarter peal rung for Evensong at Olveston on May 26 th was the first time these bells have been rung on Sunday for many months. Unfortunately there are too few ringers there now to form a band. The band who rang this quarter all came from Bristol, at the special invitation of the Olveston captain, Mr. P. Addis.

So successful was the first Masonic ringers' meeting at Leicester on June 1st, arranged by Bro. Peter Staniforth, that the view was held that a similar gathering should take place annually. Brethren were present from widely separated areas-Kent, Berkshire, Bristo! and Lancashire. The programme included ringing at Loughborough Parish Church and the Foundry Campanile, St. Margaret's and St. John-the-Divine, Leicester.

\section*{THE MIDDLESEX COUNTY ASSOCIATION}

\section*{Tribute to Late Secretary}

THE 60th annual meeting of the Middlesex County Association and London Diocesan Guild was held at Harrow Weald on May 18th. Ringing at Edgware, Stanmore and Harrow Weald preceded the Association's service at All Saints', which was conducted by the Vicar (Rev. R. Deasy). About 90 members and friends were present at the excellent tea, served in the Institute by the ladies of the local band.

At the meeting which followed tea, the chair was taken by the president (Rev. G. C. Taylor). The meeting stood in silence while the names of those members who had died since the last meeting were read. They were: F,R.Borrett (Pulham Market), R. Charge (Mitcham), R. Coles (High Wycombe), F. J. Dodson (Hersham), W. C. Dowding (Birmingham), I. Emery (Bromley), J. W. Jones (Newport), G. F. Margetson (Raylcigh), C. Nash (North Mimms), E. Pratchett (Hendon), F. Ringe (Brentwood), L. C. Wightman (Framlingham), W. W. Wolstencroft (Stoke Poges), S. Wade (Leigh-on-Sea) and E. C. S. Turner (Stanmore).

The loss to the Association and the Exercise by the death of the hon. general secretary (the late Ernest C. S. Turner) was referred to by Mr. W. H. Coles. Mr. Turner, he said had served the Association for many years, the last 12 as hon. general secretary. He thought that the best way to keep alive the memory of such a gifted gentleman was for everyone to apply his standards of service and integrity to their ringing activities.

The president gave a special welcome to Mr . Edwin Barnett, who has just completed 50 years as a member of the Association.

\section*{SIX NEW SURPRISE METHODS}

The report for 1956, which was distributed to members before the meeting, was taken as read. The main features were as follows: Thirty-seven peals rung, including six Surprise Major methods rung for the first time, these being all conducted by R. F. B. Speed at Willesden. Nine other Surprise Major methods were rung for the Association for the first time, and one of these, Uxbridge, rung at Harrow Weald, was the 100 th different Surprise Major method rung to a peal by the Association.
Each District held the usual number of Saturday meetings, a total of 21 towers being visited. New members elected during the year were two honorary, 37 ringing and nine non-resident life.

Quarter peals totalled 155 . The total of 125 recorded in the North and East District is the highest for over 20 years.

The treasurer (Mr. F. W. Goodfellow) presented the accounts, which showed an excess of income over outgoings of over \(£ 6\), and assets \(£ 11\) higher than the previous year.

Arrangements for the 60th anniversary celebration service and dinner at Bishopsgate on June 8th were discussed, and the president announced with regret that he would be unable to attend as he would shortly be leaving for a visit to the United States.
Officers elected were: President, the Rev G. C. Taylor; vice-presidents, Messrs. H. G. Hart and W. H. Coles; Master, Mr. T. Price ; general secretary, Mr T. J. Lock; assistant general secretary, Mr. W. N. Genna; treasurer, Mr. F. W. Goodfellow; auditor, Mr. M. Hodgson ; tristees, Messrs. T. J. Lock, F. W. Goodfellow, A. Cutler; Central Council representatives, Messrs. T. J. Lock, F. W. Goodfellow, J. R. Mayne, F. T. Blagrove.

The Rev. Roy Deasy was elected an honorary member, and seven ringing and one non-resident life member were also elected. A donation from the Bell Restoration Fund of 15 guineas was made to the Hendon Augmentation Fund.

The meeting discussed a proposed alteration to Rule 3, which had the effect of admitting honorary members without payment of subscription. The alteration was agreed to without opposition.

Before the meeting closed, votes of thanks were accorded to the incumbents for permission to ring at the various towers, to the Rev. R. Deasy for conducting the service and for the use of the Institute, to Mrs. Beadie, the organist. to Mrs. Hart and the ladies for preparing and serving tea, and to the president for his presence and able chairmanship.

Ringing was continued after the meeting at Harrow Weald and Pinner.

CHURCH BELLS OF THE FENS
Mr. Trevor Allen Bevis has written a comprehensive and handy book on 'Church Bells of the Fens' (price \(4 / 6\) from the author, 17 , North Street, March, Cambs.

The strength of the appeal of this book is not merely the archrological record of the bells, but references in many towers to first peals on the bells and also to ringers.

The area compassed by the survey (Isle of Ely and Lynn Marshland) contains some interesting towers. The illustrations are of SS. Peter and Paul's, Wisbech; St. Wendreda's, March; St. Leonard's, Leverington : St. Johr's, Terrington; St. Mary's, Sutton; St. Mary's, Whittlesey, and St. Mary's, West Walton.

Unfortunately a number of the towers in the area are unringable-Little Downham (4), Outwell (6. where a peal was rung in 1845 by the Outwell Youths to commemorate the treaty between England and China), Parson's Drove (5) and West Walton (5).

At Haddenham there was formerly a foundry under the church tower, and there is a traditional story of one occasion when short of metal at a critical stage in the operation, the bell founder rushed frantically from his foundry to the 'Rose and Crown,' and 'whipping up ' the pewter pots and measures, as well as the culinary vessels, ran back and cast them into the furnace.

A list of bell-founders who have cast bells in the area, and the bells, makes a useful appendix.

\section*{LEEDS & DISTRICT SOCIETY}

Between 30 and 40 members and friends attended the Society's monthly meeting at Batley on May 25 th. Methods rung ranged from Bob Minor to Surprise Major.

An enjoyable tea had been arranged at a nearby café, and was much appreciated by those present. The president took the chair for the business meeting, when a new meeting rota was approved and the local company. Vicar and wardens thanked for all the arrangements made for the meeting. Five new members were elected.

The next meeting will be held at East Ardsley on June 29th.

\section*{SOUTH YORKSHIRE RINGERS' WEDDING}

The wedding took place amidst glorious sunshine on Junc 1st at St. Mary's Church, Handsworth, Sheffield, of Mr. Dennis A. Chapman, of Doncaster, and Miss Elizabeth Batc. Both are well known in the area, the bride having been secretary of the Northern District of the Ladies' Guild and the brideg:oom treasurer of the Doncaster and District Society.
The bridesmaids were Misses Maureen Aitchison and Jennifer Oldfield. The best man, Mr. Ro iald J. Sanderson, is also, like the bride and bridegroom, a member of the Yorkshire Association. The groomsmen were Messrs. D. Batchford, G. Walker and W. Aitchison. The bride was given away by her uncle, Mr. J. Batchford, and the ceremony conducted by the Rev. H. Ferriby.
At the conclusion of the ceremony the bells were rung by members of the local company, of which the bride was a keen member.
The reception was held in the Endowed School, and among the many messages of congratulation received was one from the bride's brother and his wife in Vancouver, B.C., one from the Doncaster and District Society and one from ringing friends in Canterbury, where the bridegroom has been working for the past two months and where the couple are to take up residence after the honeymoon.

\section*{Rotherham Ringers in Leicestershire and Lincolnshire}

A feature of this year's outing on May 25th was that of the 24 ringers who went (including friends from Thrybergh, Handsworth and Shefficld), half were aged 16 or under, and nine were of the fair sex.
Tunc-ringing and change-ringing on handbells helped to make the journcy to Loughborough Bell Foundry pass quickly and pleasantly. Mr. Paul Taylor and Mr. Colin Harrison provided a most interesting tour of the foundry, amidst the clicking of cameras of some of the youngsters. Even they, however, were less heavily laden than 'Jumbo ' with his crate of handbells, for which no extra charge for carriage to Loughborough had been made.

After ringing at the Foundry, the party procceded to the Parish Church, where Stedman Caters, Little Boh Royal, Double Norwich, Plain Boh, and lots of rounds for the heginners, were rung.
An excellent lunch followed at the Three Nuns, and the party regretfully said goodbye to their generous hosts and encoached for St. John-the-Divine, Leicester, where another fine ten, in the care of Mr. Sid Harrison, awaited them. Mr. Harrison soon disappeared from sight for the infrequent pleasure of hearing the bells of his own tower from outside, and we trust that our Grandsire Caters, Cambridge Major, etc., and even the abundant rounds for the youngsters, met with his approval. Not even the least experienced had the slightest difficulty on these delightful bells.
On the renowned bells of St. Wulfram's, Grantham, ringing included Treble Ten, Yorkshire Surprise Major and Stedman Caters. in which we were joined by Mr. Woods.

Another excellent meal awaited us at a nearby café, after which we departed on schedule for our last tower, Bottesford, with another pleasant ring in a magnificent old church. Here we were met by Mr. Box. The party arrived safely home after a most happy day amidst kind friends, good weather and excellent bells, and due thasks are accorded to Messrs. F. Fisher and N. Chaddock, who made the arrangements, and to the incumbents and ringers who provided such wonderful hospitality
N. C.

\section*{A STAFFORDSHIRE WEDDING}

The wedding of Mr. R. Arthur Pcakman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Pcakman, of Kingswinford, and Miss Patricia Hcmming, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. Hemming, of Brierley Hill, Staffs, took place at St. Mary's Church, Kingswinford, on June 1st. Mr. Peakman is a member of the St. Mary's band. The bride's father has for many years been a member of the Brierley Hill band at St. Michael's Church.

\section*{LADIES' GUILD FORM A NEW BRANCH}

As the outcome of a meeting at St. Paul's, Bedford, on May 25th, a new Branch of the Ladies' Guild was formed for the counties of Bedfordshire and Northamptonshire

Amongst those prescat to wish the new Branch success were Mrs. K. Lock (president of the Guild). Miss E. Steel (president of the Bedfordshire Association). Mrs. P. Poole, Mrs J. Staniforth and Mrs. P. A. Corby (Midland District), and Mrs. E. Savory (Central District). A company of about 60 sat down to tea, and the business meeting which followed was well supporied by ladies from both Bedfordshire and Northamptonshire.
The object and aims of the Ladies' Guild were explained by Mrs. Lock and Mrs. Staniforth. It was then unanimously agreed by those present to form the new Branch, and the following officers were elected: Miss Shelagh Collins, vice-president; Miss Anne Amor, District Secretary; and Miss Dıana Lawless, Miss Miriam Pettitt and Mrs. K. Spavins to form the District committee. Twenty-seven new members were elected to the new Branch. The meeting closed with votes of thanks to those responsible for the arrangements, and to the ladies who prepared and served tea
The fine ring of bells at St. Paul's was put to good use during the afternoon and evening, and prior to the service, which was conducted by the Vicar. a course of Grandsire Caters was fung by an all-ladies band.
The next meeting will be held at a Northants tower on September 28th

\section*{WEDDING AT THURNBY}

At a wedding at St. Luke's, Thurnby, Leics, on May 25 th, the bride, bridegroom, one of the bridesmaids, the best man and both the ushers were ringers at the church. The bride was Miss L. Hickin, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. Hickin, of Thurnby, and the bridegroom Mr. P. Pawley, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. A. Pawley, Chapel Ash, Bushby. The best man was Mr. J. Pawley, brother of the bridegroom: the bridesmaids Miss N. Wykes and Miss G. Leavesley. The ceremony was performed by the Vicar (Rev. J. C. Meers), assisted by the Rev. P. Spink, curate.

At the reception in the Memorial Hall about 80 guests were present, including the remainder of the ringers. With so many ringers taking part in the ceremony, the assistance of two friends was obtained to ring as the bridal party left the church. A quarter peal was rung on the following day before Evensong as a compliment to the happy conple.

\section*{OXFORD DIOCESAN GUILD}

The annual meeting of the South Oxon Branch was held on the recently restored ring at Warborough. The Vicar of Warborough (Canon Barker) was elected the new chairman. with Mr. T. S. Bowls vice-chairman. Mr. H. Badger was re-elected hon. secretary and treasurer, and Mr. F. Absolom Ringing Master Twelve new members were elected, and a grant of \(£ 55 \mathrm{~s}\). made to the restoration of Benson bells. The Vicar was thanked for conducting the service, and the ladies for providing an excellent tea.

\section*{SHEFEIELD & DISTRICT SOCIETY ANNUAL CUP CONTEST}

At Wentworth on the first of June,
The ringers gathered to play their tune. Five towers competed for the Cup that day, But the Cathedral had to show there the way

Bolsover rang first, so was their fate,
Their score of faults was eighty-eight.
For only sixty-six faults the Cathedral are Greatly indebted to W. L. R
Now Handsworth's turn-that redoubtable crew
Gave an exceptionally good show, too.
Their striking was good, they were going along fine,
'Till they had a bad trip so they scored seventynine.

Warsop, the Champs, were next on the list,
They thought they'd the Cup held firm in their fist,
But were disillusioned-they didn't quite rate
For the faults they collected were seventy-eight.
Last up into the tower there went
The band from Rotherham-all intent
On putting up a faultless show
But a hundred-and-fourteen-they rang too slow.
Our thanks to the judges we must pass,
Spending all afternoon sitting on the grass
Messrs. Chant and Thorley, two splendid men, And we hope next year they will do it again.

And so the Cup went back to Town,
From Warsop (last year they won it at Clowne). And after the meeting under the trees,
The bells were rung until half-past eight.

\section*{HALF-DAY IN HEREFORDSHIRE}

A perusal of the notice columns of "The Ringing World gave a Warwickshire ringer the idea of attending , three Hereford Guild meetings on May 25 th.
At Tenbury Wells the party were joined by that 'Crusader in exile,' David W. Beard. After several touches with friends of the Ludlow District a move was made to Kingsland. where the set of new ropes had all to be taken up at the garter holes before ringing Pembridge has an unusual type of detached campanile-a wooden tower with a canopied roof of two stages, rising from the centre of an octagonal stone harn. Several extents of Grandsire were rung on the five bells (tenor 16 cwt .) After standing in for several touches on the light six at Staunton-on-Arrow with members of the Kington District. we made our way to Aymestrey, where the anti-clockwise six were promptly put at the disposal of the party for two touches-a kindly gesture that was much appreciated.

Bredenbury was reached ten minutes ahead of schedule and here we were shown the grave of Mr. A. Tompkins, who worked so hard for the cause of ringing in the Bromyard District, and with whom the writer rang in 1939. The Rector (Rev. R. K. Canning) welcomed the party and after ringing had finished on the light six showed the party round the church. Thank you, Herefordshire, for the warm welcome you gave us.

\section*{KENT COUNTY ASSOCIATION Ashford District}

The ideal weather, the peace and serenity of the countryside, and the warm welcome accorded by the local band, all combined to make the first meeting of the Ashford District at Little Chart an enjoyable and memorable gathering.

Readers may remember that the original church was blitzed during the war, and one of the derelict bells stolen. Mr. J. Batchelor, churchwarden and captain of the Little Chart ringers, in addition to pressing for the restoration of the bells was, more than anybody else. responsible for bringing the thief to justice. The present ring is a light, tuneful six, cast from the original metal, and their ease of handling was much admired by the visitors.

The priest-in-charge (Rev. D. P. Lury), Rector of Charing, welcomed the ringers to the new church, and conducted the service. He addressed to the visitors a most moving little sermon appropriate to Ascensiontide. Mr. Batchelor read the lesson, and Mr. J. R. Cooper combined the duties of organist and Ringing Master.

Some 40 visitors sat down to an ample tea, prepared and served by local lady ringers and friends. There was no formal business afterwards, but Mr. Batchelor spoke a few wellchosen words of welcome, and Mr. J. Willis responded for tho visitors

Courses of Grandsire Triples and Bob Major were rung in the Parish Hall by Messrs. T. E. Sone, A. Waddington, T. Cullingworth and J. R. Cooper, and, by special request, next door for a lozal resident.

Ringing in the tower which, as may be imagined, is beautifully clean and holds a surprisingly large number of people, continued until 9 p.m., and ranged from rounds to Cambridge Surprise Minor.

One came away with the thought that people like Joe Batchelor are the backbone of the Exercise. C. T. H.

\section*{LINCOLN DIOCESAN GUILD \\ Elloe Deaneries' Joint Meeting}

The Elloe Deaneries Branch held their quarterly meeting at Fleet on May 18th, when they were joined by members of the Ladies' Guild, which brought members from as far north as Winterton and Alford. Ringing commenced in the carly afternoon. The service was conducted by the Rector (Rev. G. A. Beckett) and Mrs. Elston was the organist.

A very nice tea was served at the Bull Inn. This was followed by the business meeting, with Mr. W. A. Richardson in the chair, the attendance numbering 49. The Rector of Fleet was elected an honorary member. and a collection for the Belfry Repairs Fund amounted to & 1 6s. 6d. Mr. J. Ames proposed a very hearty vote of thanks to all concerned in the arrangements for the meeting. Expressing the great pleasure of the company to see the older members present. Mr. Ames especially mentioned Mr. Halifax (in his 60th year as a ringer and who would be 83 years old on May 25 (h) and Miss Banks, of Gedney (first lady to ring a peal in Lincolnshire). Mr. J. Freeman also congratulated them both.
After the men had retired, the ladies held their meeting, with Mrs. J. Noon in the chair.

GRANDSIRE MINOR
Dear Sir.-With reference to Mr. Burgess's inquiry in your issue of May 31st, the Newton-le-Willows ringers will find a number of extents of Grandsire Minor in the old editions of - Grandsire ' (by C. D. P. Davies) in the Snowdon series. Most of the extents have a call at each lead, but the one I quote here will perhaps be found the most useful. The 23456 part given must be twice repeated for 360 , and for 720 a single 65243 must be substituted for the second 64532 bob of any part and the whole 23654 repeated.

Interest in this method is in these days mainly academic. but Mr. Burgess and his friends need not be put off by your footnote from seeing what Grandsire Minor has to offer and to realise its limitations. It is an ungainly old friend, and one is hardly likely to be satisfied with it for long. On handbells, rung at a brisk pace. it has certain features of interest and demands careful attention. The Central Council will recognise peals in which extents of Grandsire Minor are used, but (wisely, in my opinion) will not attempt to define what must or must not be rung. Fashions in these matters specdily change, and the only ultimate test would seem to be the universal one of survival. The letter from Candidus in the issue of May 31 st gives a reminder of some carly views on Yorkshire Surprise, and students of ringing history will recollect the open hostility of Davies to Cambridge, an antagonism based chiefly on a supposed defect very similar to the defect of Grandsire Minor.
Thus, without wishing to offer advice any more gratuitous than your own footnote, I would recommend Mr. Burgess and his friends, when they have satisfied themselves on the question of Grandsire Minor, to explore the excellent opportunities for enterprise offered by the more regular Minor methods. There is a great number of fascinating ones as casy as Grandsire Minor and of more lasting worth.Yours sincerely, EDGAR C. SHEPHERD.
Solihull.

\section*{SEAGE APPARATUS}

Dear Sir,-Mr. Bowden enquires in May 24th issue about Seage apparatus fitted in towers. There are four installations in Scotland, bging at St. Mary's and at St. Cuihbert's. Edinburgh. St. Mary's, Glasgow, and at Paisley. I think I am correct in stating that the Glasgow apparatus is the only one now in regular use, but the one at St. Cuthbert's is more or less in working order.
The Edinburgh installations were mush used between the wars: that at Glasgow has been in regular use for 30 years.

When ringing with this apparatus for the first time recently, the writer found the effect a little strange initially. After a short period one becomes accustomed to the tone of the gongs and quite a good standard of striking can be attained.

I think it would be correct to state that the apparatus was originally installed to overcome objections in the neighbourhood to the noise of the bells on practice nights. It must he remembered that rings of bells are a rarity in North Britain. and with two exceptions have all been installed since 1880 (approximately). The two exceptions are Edinhurgh. St. Andrew's (c. 1780), and Dunkeld, both now unringable.Yours faithfully,

Dundee, Angus,

\section*{THE PROOF}

Dear Sir,-It was just after we had coneluded one of the usual 'bellringing' turns that we ringers are called on to do at parish socials. I had done the 'talkie-talkie " and we'd finished up with a course of Grandsire Triples 'in hand in the introduction of which I had said (to add a bit of interest) that all the changes in the course would be different and that I would give £250 to Church funds if anyone*saw any change repeated.
Well. afterwards, a dear old lady-church councillor she is came up to me and said: ' It's all very well for you, Mr. Viggers, to tell us that all the changes are different. You ringers know, but how can you prove the point to us?
That started me thinking, and I devised the following method of proving things which might be of use to others if they are asked this kind of question. I obtained 24 small cards and on each of these I wrote one of the changes of a course of Bob Minimus. Then at the next social I counted these out singly on the stage. and then handed them round with the request that persons holding them should compare cards to make sure no two were alike. This completed, I asked that each person with a card should raise their hand when their particular change came up (while everyone else watched everyone else to see that all card holders raised their hands). Four of us then rang a 'visual' course of Minimus with cards bearing 1, 2, 3 and 4 round our respective necks and changing formation as we made each row
I must add that this is easy for us as we were members of the original J. S. Goldsmith ringing machine, which used this particular technique in the days of yore. Anyway, it's simple with a bit of practice-you pass behind as you go up and in front as you go down to lead.
I issusd the same \(£ 250\) challenge in my introduction, but added (in case of a mix-up and to mako sure 1 didn't lose the \(£ 250\)-I hadn't got it, anyway) that if I rang my bell muffin-bell fashion it was 'no go,' and we d start again.
Well, things went off in a very excited fashion with all the audience in 24 groups all watching all the other groups (in case of repeats or omissions), and I think that they afterwards went home really convinced - maybe, who knows, for the first time for any audience ever -of the authenticity of our art.-Yours, etc.,

DELIGHT:

\section*{PEALS AT LENTON, SALOP}

Dear Sir.-The footnote to the peal of Grandsire Doubles rung at Lenton. Shropshire, on May 4th. and published in 'The Ringing World of May 24 th . is incorrect. A peal of Doubles in four methods was rung at this church on July 1st. 1922. Incidentally, this was my first peal.-Yours faithfully.
Cheste-. JOHN W. GRIFFITHS.
NOTE,-Mr. Ernest Willcox also informs us of the error. \(-E d\).

\section*{PEAL WITHDRAWN}

Dear Sir--With reference to the letter from Mr . Shirley Burton on page 351 of 'The Ringing World for May 31st, it is now necessary to withdraw the peal rung at West Bromwich on May 4th last, in which the composition by Mr. Burton was used.
As the organiser of the peal. I offer my apologies to the two 'long distance' members of the band.-Yours faithfully.
E. E. SPEAKE.

\section*{4-BELL TOWERS IN WARWICKSHIRE}

Dear Sir-- The Church Bells of Warwick shire,' by Tilley and Walters, gives a complete inventory of every church bell in the county of Warwick in 1910. There are threc copics of this beautiful book in the County Library. Twenty towers are shown as having four bells, of which two have now been augmented, namely, Bulkington having eight and Shilton six.
The remaining 18 "4-bell" towers are: Anstey (St. James), Ashow (St. Mary), Church Lawford (St. Peter), Churchover (Holy Trinity), Cubbington (St. Mary), Ettington (St. Thontas-a-Becket), Frankton (St. Nicholas). Long Itchington (Holy Trinity). Lighthorne (St. Laurence), Upper Shuckburgh (St. John Baptist), Weston-under-Wetherley (St. Michael), Newbold Pacey (St. George), Offchurch (St. Gregory), Radford Semele (St. Nicholas), Seckington (All Saints), Sheldon (St. Giles), Withybrook (All Sainis), Wolston (St. Margaret).
It is believed that ali but three are ringable, the thres exceptions being Weston-underWetherley. Ashow, and Radford Semele.
Of the remaining 72 bells, possibly less than a score are under 100 years old. and nearly all the 4 -bell towers possessed three bells before the Reformation, indicating that there was an incumbent prior to that period.
There is. a wealth of interest in the study of these bells. Of the Cubbington bells, Tilley and Walters report that the first and secohd bell bear Watts' mark and ate dated 1646, although Watts died in 1643
Weston-under-Wetherley has the oldest bells. The first and fourth are by Watts, dated 1624 and 1592 respectively. The second and third are by Giles. dated 1583 and 1585. Giles' bells are both badly cracked and the bell loft is in a neglected state. Had the bells bsen drinking goblets or something similar, they would have been worth several thousand pounds!
Frankton tower has all four bells by Watts dated 1636, 1607, 1623, 1616. This appears to be the only old ring all by one founder, and would be worth listening to.
Offchurch (tenor 43 in .) and Cubbington (tenor \(38 \frac{1}{2} \mathrm{in}\).) appear to be the heaviest rings.
There was a good ring of four bells at UTSwick in North Lancs. where the state of the tower made it dangerous to do more than chime the bells. Also at Grasmere was another ting of four. I have no information of either tower since 1940 - Yours sincerely.

HENRY ALLEN.
Leamington Spa.
ST. MARY'S CATHEDRAL, GLASGOW
Dear Sir.-In reply to Mr. R. J. Bowden's query ("R.W:', page 333), we have. at St. Mary's Cathedral. Glasgow, the Seage apparatus which has been in constant use since 1930, and has proved very satisfactory. We were thus able 10 carry on our regulgr weekly plaztice throughout the war period. Pethaps the fact that we have, in Mr. H. Sargent, a first-class steeplekeeper, accounts for it being kept in perfect ordel.
Our apparatus daes not employ 'gongs hat ordinary handbells fastened to the walls of the ringing chamber. We think it was erected by Messrs. John Taylor and Co. when the bells were installed in 1901.
If Mr. Bowden wishes further information. would he write direct to: Mr. H. Sargent, 86 . Otago Street. Olasgow. W.2. who will be hagpy to oblige.-Yours faithfully.
Glasgow. ERNEST A. STAFFORD.

FAIRFORD, GLOS.-On May 26th, 1.260 Grandsire Doubles: D. Pitis 1, Joyce Morse 2, Mrs. W. A. Godwin 3, W. A. Godwin (cond.) 4. G. W. Burse 5 , J. Dowdeswell 6. Rung to mark the ensenement of Miss Joyce Morse to Mr. A, W. Tucker.

ROPE-SIGHT: AN INTRODUCTION TO CHANGE-RINGING
By Jasper Whitfield Snowdon
Mr. Snowdon has written a book that is very nuch wanted . . . not an uncommon thing to find a band of men who want to learn the mysteries of change-ringing, and yet who do not know how to set about it. A clergyman sometimes finds himsclf in charge of a ring of bells, and he naturally wants to make the best of them . . . . He finds a set of round-ringers who pull and catch the ropes with carthorse strength, and then say that ringing is harder than mowing and, of course. requires more beer. Mr. Snowdon is peculiarly fitted for the post of teacher of such a party. An accomplished ringer few can expect to equal, none to excel . . nevertheless not rung from childhood. He cannot say he rang a 5,000 before he was 15 .
Mr. Snowdon thinks, and rightly, that if a man can ring Plain Bob well, he can easily go on to other systems without much further instruction. and that he will be in a position to understand at once what is said in any book about them reading the ropes is like reading a book. When a child learns to read it spells out the letters and is confused by the words . . . . So a novice, entering a tower, sees nothing but confusion: the ropes seem all to come together, especially if the bells are rung quickly. But a good reader reads words, not letters: and yet he sees at a glance, by the look of a word, whether it is misspelt. And so a ringer sees at once who is leading, who is behind, which is dodging with which, and he can stand behind a ringer and follow his bell right through the peal. . . . Mr. Snowdon adopts the plan of commencing with three bells. It would have been better if he had followed Mr. Troyte's plan, and begun with two . . . at first there cannot be too few bells, nor can they be rung too slowly. It teaches the beginners to keep their bells up, and they can see the ropes more clearly when they go slowly: and the addition of an extra rope is a very serious addition to the family, especially when it is about the sixth.
The author's remarks about teaching another how to deal with a bell for the first time are especially valuable. The writer of this article took the book into a belfry and did exactly according to the directions. He taught three persons successively to set a bell at hand and backstroke, so that he could sit down and watch them, without danger to themselves or the machinery. This was done in \(2 \frac{1}{2}\) hours, and none of them had ever rung a bell before, or hardly touched one.

\section*{EXAMINE YOUR CLAPPERS}

Bell-clappers, like everything else in constant use, suffer from wear and tear-so much so that the bulb often strikes below the thickest part of the sound-bow, and then, sooner or later, the bell is cracked, for which there is no remedy but the melting-pot. The ringers are often to blame for not reporting at once any such cases. Last week, the fourth bell at Alfreton, Derbyshire, was so cracked while ringing, although the ringers knew that the clapper had long been striking too low. On some former occasion the clappar had been altered by some unintelligent workman, who did not shorten the shank sufficiently for the bulb to strike at the proper place. Therefore we advise all rectors, vicars, curates and churchwardens to examine the clappers of their bells, and to be careful whom they employ to repair anything they may find out of order.

DEDICATION OF AN AUGMENTED AND RESTORED RING OF TEN BELLS AT ST. MARY ABBOTS, KENSINGTON
The dedication of these bells took place on Christmas Eve (1879).

During the singing of Hymn 203 (A. and the Bishop (Rt. Rev. Lord Bishop of Lichfield-former vicar), with the vicar and other clergy, and churchwardens, proceeded to the bell-chamber (where a platform had been prepared by removing the wheels) ; the Bishop then, laying his hand on one of the bells, said the Prayers of Dedication. By a signal, the same prayers were simultancously offered up by a clergyman officiating in the church.

The following special hymn, by Rev. Wharton B. Smith and ..., were sung. . . . The bells were afterwards chimed by members of the Cumberland Society . . . two additional bells by Warner . . . fittings and cage of English oak hope to report a first peal in our next issue.

But the rext issue (January 10th, 1880) did not include a report of a peal. However, the following appeared as part of the report on the address given by the Bishop: 'It had been the Bishop's intention for a. long period, if he had remained amongst them as their vicar, when the bells were again sounded in his parish, to suggest that a bell should be sounded by a few strokes at 10 o'clock every night, to call the time for "family prayers," which he hoped would have met with response.'
The hymn, specially arranged, referred tc above, is shown as follows:-

Raised between the earth and heaven,
Now our Bells are set on high;
In the Name of Him Who giveth
Skill, and strength, and industry.
For His praise we meekly lay them
As a gift beneath His Throne ;
All their sweet and noblest music
Shall resound far Him alone.
Faithful men afar shall listen.
Mid their daily toil and rest,
While the melody shall bid them
Love the Church where all are blest
Earth's rejoicings, bright and holy,
Shall be signed with joyful peal:
And the music from the steeple
Shall our faith and love reveal.
They who languish, sick and lonely,
Shall bo minded, as they sigh
Of the Church's one communion.
God's true Home and Family.
When the spirits of the faithful
Pass away to light and peace.
Solemn tones shall then forewarn us
Soon our life and work must cease.
May these loud and well-tuned voices,
Pealing forth in grand accord,
Lift our hearts through joy and sorrow
To Thy Throne, most gracious Lord.
Glory be, from earth and heaven,
To the Blessed Trinity:
Father, Son and Holy Spirit,
Glory evermore to Thee.
(May I say, why hunt for a dedication hymn when yo' have this one?-C. R.)

\section*{YEARS AGO}

THE CLANGING, CLASHING OR FIRING OF BELLS
- Sir,-It is the practice here upon festive occasions to clang the bells, etc., such as three times three, cross-fire, alternately, and iwentyone times for royalty. Is there any danger likely to arise from the practice or not? An early answer will greatly oblige.

FREEMAN BALL.'
IV In reply to the above we most unhesitatingly and emphatically denounce the practice as being most uproarious, most unmusical, and unscientific. It can do no good to the bell-gear, and if the bells are heavy, and any parts of the steeple are in a doubtful state of soundness, it might be most damaging to the upper part of the fabric: besides, it is a great nuisance to persons living near. Throughout Christendom the law does not allow even a single bell to be a nuisance to a neighbour, and if appealed to. will issue an injunction to silence it. If a nuisance to the neighbourhood and otherwise objectionable, why does the Dean allow it to be continued? It is a prostitution of the bells of a church to be used for purposes for which they were never intended-having been originally set for ecclesiastical uses and for occasions in which the Church may rejoice with thank-fulness.-Ed.']

\section*{FALL OF A CHURCH TOWER}
- The parish church of Holy Trinity at Milton Damerel is situated in North Devon. Exactly at midnight last New Year's Eve (i.e., 31 Dec.. 1879) an ominous sound was heard in the village, together with the momentary clashing of hells. It was soon found that the church tower had suddenly fallen, and that, in its fall, two of the three bells had clashed together: and thus just on the stroke of twelve, as the old year was dying out, it rang its own funeral knell. The tower fell without any previous warning and without injuring anyone.

About 20 years ago we visited the church. The tower was then in a most dilapidated state. and might have been expected to fall at any time. The church itself had been well cared for by the Rector.'

\section*{MR. CHARLES H. PAGE AN APPRECIATION}
- Charlie ' Page, whose death occurred in March this year, came from a family of ringers. His father, Henry Page, was a founder member of the North Stafis Association, or the Stoke-on-Trent Archidiaconal Association as it was then called, and its committee chairman for many years. His brothers, 100 , are ringers. His records give no indication of when he first learned to ring, but his first peal was at St. Peter-ad-Vincula, Stoke-on-Trent, on February 11th, 1908 (Grandsire Triples), when he was some 21 years old. It was at this church that he later became tower captain, an office he held for many years, and indeed until his death.
The last of his 306 peals was Plain Boh Minor at Kidsgrove on April 14th. 1956. By then, however his health had begun to fail, and although he took part in two further peal attempts, his active ringing career came to an end in October last.

Charlie's deep love of ringing and his unwavering enjoyment of it are reflected in his peal ringing. He rang peals régularly and steadily, and for all the reasons that peals are rungnot just for personal satisfaction. hut for the team work which is the basis of all ringing, and which is exemplified in the peal, to help less expert ringers (at least half his peals contain - firsts'), for the prestige of his Association, and as a duty in celebration of many notable occasions of Church and State. Charlie was a good churchman and always regarded ringing in the first instance as work in the service of God and His Church.
Charlie Page rang peals for nine Associations - 245 for the North Staffs Association, 27 for the Chesten Diocesan Guild, 13 for the Sussex Association, 11 for the Lancashire Association, \({ }_{5}\) for the Stropshire Association. 2 for the Ancient Society of College Youths (one a joint peal) and 1 each for the Midland Counties and Yorkshire Associations, and the Society for the Archdeaconry of Stafford.

Of his 'First on the bells,' perhaps those of most note were the first peal of Maximus at Manchester Town Hall, the first peal on the ten at Newcastle (which he conducted) and the first on the eight at Audley. He was also a member of the bands which rang the first peals of Cinques and Maximus for the North Siaffs Association. Overshadowing all these, however, was his peal on the fifth at Hoar Cross in 1924; the heaviest ring of six to be turned in to a peal of Minor to that date. The peal was conducted by Joseph E. Sykes. The only other nonNorth Stafts ringer who took part was Alfred E. Bacon, who worked with Joe Sykes, and who, from the many tales told of these two by Charlie Page, was a reluctant and conscripted ringer in all the peals Joe, his boss, decided to ring while on their travels.
Charlie Page was a railwayman and proud of it, and particularly, too, of his knowledge and experience with the North Staffs Railway Co. for which he always worked in spirit despite the take-over by the L.M.S. and later incorporation in British Railways. He took part in the first peal of Royal by an all-railwaymen band. at Crewe in 1930. He "circled' the belfries of Longton and Stone, but the third at Stoke eluded him for all his 27 peals on the bells.
At the time of his death. Charlic Page was nne of the oldest members of the North Staffs Association: He was, however, of a retiring nature, and the only offices he held were Ringing Master (1920 to 1923) and auditor from 1954 until his death. In recognition of his many years' service he was elected a life member at the annual general meeting in December, 1956.

\section*{MR. ROBERT W. WHITTINGTON}

Guildford Diocesan Guild has lost its oldest ringer by the death on June 1st of Mr. Robert W. Whittington, of Cranleigh, Surrey, aged 89. His long services \(t 0\) ringing were recognised by the Guild in 1954, when he was elected a vicepresident.
Born at Ewhurst. Surrey. Mr. Whittington learnt to handle a bell at the age of eight, and on Ewhurst bells on March 18th. 1878, he rang lis first 720 of Bob Minor. On his 80th birthday he rang the same bell to a quarter peal of Grandsire Triples. In the intervening 70 years much ringing history was made. The late Mrs. Whittington, whom he taught to ring, rang with him in a peal of Grandsire Triples at Cranleigh on February 29th. 1912. which was the first tower-bell peal ever rung in which husband and wife took part.
From 1907 onward they cycled on a tandem all over the country, putting up a recorded total of 100.000 miles. ringing in 400 towers. On December 1st. 1917, at Cranleigh, they rang in a peal of Grandsire Triples to celebrate their silver wedding, and this was also a "first "-hushand and wife ringing together in a silver wedding peal. Their golden wedding was celebrated in 1942: Mrs. Whittington died in 1945.

About 1900 , together with the whole of the Ewhurst band, Mr. Whittineton joined the Winchester Diocesan Guild. Three years later he was elected to the Guild committee and continued to serve on that body until the formation of the Guildford Diocesan Guild in 1928. He served on the Guildford Guild committee from its foundation until his death, and represented the Guild on the Central Council in 1928 and 1929. At Cranleigh and Ewhurst he was in husiness as a cycle, electrical and general engineer. The business is now run by his son.
The funeral service was held at Cranleigh Parish Church on June 4th. the Rector (Rev. H. L. Johnston) officiating. Amone ringers attending were Messers. A. C Hazelden. A. H. Pulling. H Hutton (representing Guildford Diocesan Guild. who sent a wreath). E. Warner and Gilbert Charman (Cranleigh ringers)

\section*{MR. REG LATHBURY}

His many friends will be sorry to hear of the passing of Mr. Reg Lathbury, of Walton-onThames, which took place at St. Peter's Hospital, Chertsey, on May 30th. In recent months he underwent two operations, and it was gratifying to tear he was able to return home again, but his re-entry into hospital, coupled with the news of his passing, came as a shock to us all. He was 71.
Keg was a ringer in Surrey prior to his return to Cambridge in the early ' 20 s , where he became a valuable asset in town and surrounding districts. On his return to Walton-on-Thames he soon set to work in many ways, not only for the Guildford Diocesan Guild but the Surrey Association as well, for Reg undertook many tasks in order to be of service to ringers and ringing. He was not a great peal ringer, yet he was a good striker on light or heavy bells and besides being a good instructor, organiser, District secretary, regular Sunday service ringer and practice night ringer, he attended many meetings whenever his duties as verger at Walton Parish. Church permitted him.

At the memorial service, held at Walton-onThames on June 5th, many of his ringing friends attended, and a mixed band rang halfmuffled touches on the bells Reg loved so well. Surrey ringers in all parts will miss a ringar who enjoyed the company of ringers old and young: one who cultivated friendship. gave checrful and willing service to others and who won the respect of all with whom he came in contact.

\section*{ARCHDEACONRY OF STAFFORD SOCIETY}

The Society held its early summer meeting at Penn on May 25th, when the local ringers and their wives even surpassed their efforts of March, 1953. Penn ringers know how to put on a good meeting. and in this respect they receive every assistance from their Vicar (Rev. T. O. Boulton).

The highlight of this most encouraging and enjoyable meeting was undoubtedly the fully. choral service in the fine Parish Church of St. Bartholomew, and an inspiring address by the Vicar. Following the service was a bountiful 1ea and this, coupled with unlimited ringing to suit all tastes, beautiful surroundings, good fellowship and fine weather, logether with an attendance of 99. made the meeting one to rejoice the heart of any secretary.

The Socicty cannot fail to benefit from such an occasion and thanks are due from all who attended, to the Vicar of Penn, his ringers and the ladies, and the organist and members of the choir for their respective efforts. F. C. A. B.

\section*{RINGERS OUTINGS}

\section*{ASHTEAD. SURREY}

The Ashtead ringers, logether with a few more experienced ringers from neighbouring towers, spent a very successful day in Buckinghamshire on May 25th. The first tower visited was Stoke Poges, with a very lovely church, bells and garden. Next was Farnham Royal, the home of the famous composer J. J. Parker, and then Hughenden, burial place of the great Disraeli. The lovely setting of this latter church and the beautiful bells left nothing to be desired. Ringing at West Wycombe, the church on the hill with the golden ball, a landmark for miles around, was hampered by the numerous visitors.

After lunch at High Wycombe, Great Marlow brought back, to the writer, memories of Herculean efforts on the well-known regatta course. The bells here were a real joy. Wooburn provided the heaviest eight of the day, and the bells here seemed to lend themselves to Major ringing. Last of all, Burnham, where Geo. Gilbert made everyone most wetcome, so much so that there was ringing after tea as well as before Apart from numerous rounds, methods rung during the day were Grandsire. Stedman, Plain Bob, Kent, Double Norwich. Ashtead, Cambridge and London. But at Burnham, Bristol rung especially for Geo. Gilbert just would not go. Grateful thanks are tendered to the various incumbents and to the various ringers who met us.

Thank you, Bucks. J. T. S.

\section*{LEEDS PARISH CHURCH}

A round trip of 225 miles, eight out of 14 hours spent in travelling. only three towers and barely three hours' ringing time-such are the bare facts of the Leeds Parish Church ringers' outing on May 18th. Far from being the endurance test the statisties imply, the outing was acclaimed on all sides as an unqualified success.

The scenery included much of the best it is possible to find-moorland, fell country. Lakes Windermere and Coniston, the coastal route round Morecambe Bay-the bells also ircluded some of which are as good as any, and not least important, the meals were of quality and quantity to satisfy the most exacting.

The first tower was Ambleside, the heaviest eight in the north, bells which it may truthfutly be said are as good as any and better than most. especially when heard outside. Ringing here is restricted, and it was a privilege to be allowed an hour's ringing on these bells. A ppst-dated application had been made two years ago, when-repairs to the fabric and consequent cessation of ringing resulted in our being disappointed in 1955.

During the afternoon an hour-and-a-half's ringing was allowed on the tine ten at Dalton-in-Furness, after which, greatly daring in view of the result of the Rugby cup-final at Wembley the week previous, the party ventured into Barrow. At this point it was noticeable that the Leeds colours bravely displayed earlier in the day disappeared!
After enquiring whether we had brought the Cup. the local ringers made us welcome, and perhaps knowing what an outsize tea we had just had to tackle they had kindly got the bells up ready so that the fullest use could be made of the bricf time allowed for ringing before our long journey home.
Leeds was reached without mishap about 10.30 p.m. R. H. D.

\section*{BOLTON BRANCH}

Ringers and friends of the Bolton Branch, Lancashire Association, went to the north of the county for their annual outing on May 18 th . Standard methods were rung at Bilsborrow, a lovely cight (tenor \(14 \frac{1}{2}\) cwt.). After a delightful lunch at the Woodlands Hotel, Silverdale, the six at St. John's Church were tried, and proved a delightful ring.

The run to Cartmel Priory was through delightful country, and here Miss Snowdon showed non-ringers round the church. The six bells here were very noisy-four old bells with two added trebles-but they were delightful to handle. Tea was taken at Grange-over-Sands, a short distance from Flookburgh, the best six of the day, with a \(17 \neq\) cwt. tenor which runs like a top. The party are much indebted 10 Miss Mildred M. Jones, who arranged the trip, and to the incumbents and local ringers.

\section*{THE NEW PRESIDENT}

MR. FREDERICK SHARPE, who succeeds Mr. E. H. Lewis as president of the Central Council, started ringing at the age of 14 at Launton, Oxfordshire, the village in which he was born in 1905 and has made his home. His association with St. Mary's Church. Launton, has been continuous since boyhood days as chorister, server and ringer (captain since 1927). He has been churchwarden since 1932 and in 1955 became a licensed lay reader in the Diocese of Oxford.

Taught to handle a bell by Mr. Richard Castle, then and still verger of St. Mary's, Launton. Mr. Sharpe rang his first peal in 1922 (Bob Minor) at Bicester, conducted by Edwin Hims. A 30 years friendship with Richard White, bellhanger, of Appleton, Berks, started in 1925. It was from Mr. White that he acquired a vast amount of practical knowledge of bells and bellhanging, and at Appleton he learned to ring Stedman and Grandsire Caters. He has rung about 26 peals-one in Ireland and the rest in England. They range from Grandsire Doubles to Stedman Caters. He conducted his first peal at Lower Heyford. Oxfordshire, in 1925. While he has rung two tower bells to many quarters, he has never aspired to a full pull double-handed. He also rings a pair of tower bells to 'rise ' and 'fall.'

Mr. Sharpe's membership of the Oxford Diocesan Guild dates back to 1920. Two years later he became a member of the Guild Committee; later in 1928 he was hon. secretary of the Bicester Deanery Branch, a position he held for 20 years. In 1951 he succeeded Capt. Poyntz as deputy Master of the Guild, an office he still discharges.

Although his record with the Oxford Diocesan Guild was conspicuous, it was not as a representative of the Guild that the new president joined the Central Council. He was elected an honorary member in 1939 because of his wide knowledge of bells and belfries and the practical problems in bell hanging. In 1946 he was elected a member of the Towers and Belfries Committee, and since 1952 has been convener of that committee. For the Central Council he has visited hundreds of towers. Today. Mr. Sharpe is recognised as one of the leading authorities on bells. As a lecturer on all branches of the art of campanology Mr. Sharpe's services have beeh in great demand since 1939. Mention should also be made of the important office for the Central Council he has held as hon. librarian; he succeeded the late Mr. K. W. H. Hooton in 1954.

Ringing at Caversfield, a 3 -bell tower, where hangs the oldest datable inscribed bell in. England, at the age of 16, started a study of the history of bells and the art of bellfounding. In 1923, when only 18, he became acquainted with the late Mr. H. B. Walters, the well-known author of many books on bells. H. B. W. was then well advanced in years and not able to scale turrets or reach bells not readily attainable in towers. Being full of enthusiasm, Fred Sharpe inspected many bells for Mr. Walters, who in return took delight in coaching a very willing pupil. This friendship took a more practical turn in 1923 when Mr. Sharpe began his now famous collection of data on bells, their founders and details of their hanging. In that year he surveyed 24 towers, but in the peak year of his activities (1950) no less than 104 towers were surveyed.

His first publication was 'The Church Bells in the Deanery of Bicester' (1931). Other works from his pen are 'The Churches of the Rural Deanery of Bicester' (1936), 'The Church Bells of Berkshire,' Vol. I (1939), 'Church Bells of Radnorshire' (1947), 'Church Bells of Oxfordshire ' (1952). His services were recognised in 1953 when he was elected a Fellow of the Society of Antiquaries.

In 1925 Mr. Sharpe began collecting handbells, and has now a unique set of 159 bells in all (some are only museum pieces). These bells he has tuned and where necessary clappers and fittings have been made, his object being to get as many examples of different bellfounders' work as possible into a set. The earliest bells date from the last few years of the 17 th century. He is the leader of the handbell ringers of St. Mary's, Launton. In 1951 these ringers gave their first sound broadcast. and since then have given three more broadcasts. This band of handbell ringers made a first appearance on television in 1954.

Mr. Sharpe is the proprietor of Messrs. Lewis Penn and Co., an old established firm of building contractors, to which he succeeded on the retirement of his uncle, the late Mr. Lewis Penn. The firm has a general building practice and specialises in the period-type restoration of ancient buildings.

The president married in 1935 Miss E. J. M. Evans, of Trenewydd: Cardigan, at the Parish Church, Llandygywdd, Cardiganshire, in 1935. On that occasion the Rev. C. Elliot Wigg, the present Master of the Oxford Diocesan Guild, was the best man. They have one daughter, Elizabeth, who celebrates her 21st birthday this year.

\section*{KEMPSTON VISIT SUFFOLK}

Kempston, Beds, ringers spent May 11th in Suffolk, ringing at six churches. The first stop was at the American Cemetery near Cambridge, where the beautiful chapel was much admired.
St. Mary's, Newmarket, has a pleasant six, and here several methods, including London Surprise, were rung. The glorious ten at Mildenhall were found casy to handle, and some good ringing was enjoyed.
After lunch at Bury St. Edmunds, the heavy eight at St. Mary's was rung to Cambridge Major, and the angel roof of the church much admired. Justice was not done to the bells of Long Melford, and a stay was broken in the opening rounds. The view from the tall church tower over the Suffolk countryside more than compensated for the climb up the dark staircase.
Tea at Sudbury preceded ringing at St. Gregory's Church, and Stedman Triples was brought round in fine style, the 'go' of the befls leaving nothing to be desired. At Clare tha long pull and springy ropes frightened the learners, but when they got used to the bells a good course of Cambridge Surprise Major was rung. Mr. Hutchings ably arranged the outing and it is hoped it will not be too long before Ernie's bus sallies forth again.

\section*{SOUTHWELL DIOCESAN GUILD}

Cotgrave was the venue for the meeting of the Nottingham District, held on June 1st; and members of the Melton District of the Leicester Guild were welcomed when they called as part of their outing. Many Minor methods were rung, and some touches really did justice to this lovely-toned ring of six.
The Vicar welcomed the visitors and joined them at tea, provided by the local ringers.

\section*{THE LADIES' GUILD}

\section*{West Midland District}

Carnival day and brilliant sunshine welcomed the ladies of the West Midlands and their visitors to the summer meeting at Solihull.
We were very pleased to welcome Mrs. Lock to the District and to discover her talent as a pianist, when she came to the rescue during the service, which was conducted by the curate (Rev. John S. Wilkins), who afterwards showed us the many hidden points of interest in the church.
The fine ten were put to good use throughout the meeting, ringing ranging from rounds and the usual methods to Cambridge Royal-half a course by the ladies and a course by the gentlemen, whose helpful presence contributed, as always, towards the success of the meeting.

\section*{A BARKINGSIDE WEDDING}

Master of St. George's. Barkingside, Mr. John Barrance, was married to Miss Barbara Joy Osborne, at St. George's Church on June 8th, the Vicar (Canon A. C. Comer-Stone) officiating.
The bride wore a white brocaded gown and carried a bouquet of red roses and lilies-of-thevalley. She was attended by her sister, wearing a turquoise dress.
Previous to the service a quarter peal was rung, in which two local members scored their first quarter: and as the newly-married couple left the church the bells were rung by friends from Romford and Dagenham and members of the local band. Following the reception. Mr. and Mrs. John Barrance left for their honcymoon in Paris.

\section*{HILLINGDON'S OUTING}

St. John's, Hillingdon, Guild was joined by friends from Uxbridge, Slough. Old Windsor, Heston and Rickmansworth for their annual outing on May 25 th.
Upon arrival at St. Neots, the party were met by the Vicar, who, after greeting them. said: I have been told I am going to hear some good ringing today. The first touch was a well-struck course of Cambridge Major, followed by touches of Treble Bob, Stedman and Double Norwich, and rounds for learners.
After lunch came the good ring of eight at Godmanchester and the sixes at Hemingford Abbois and Hemingford Grey. Local ringers and wives provided tea at Hemingford Grey and boxes of chocolates were handed round to helpers in appreciation of a very nice meal. Finally, at Luton, good touches of Grandsire and Stedman Caters were rung, with the assistance of some local ringers.
Thanks are due to Mr. F. W. Goodfellow (captain of the Guild) for arranging the outing; local ringers are thanked for their kind welcome and clergy for allowing the Guild to ring.

\section*{HERTS COUNTY ASSOCIATION}

The joint meeting of the St. Albans and Northern Districts, held at Welwyn on May 18th. was poorly attended, and except for a touch of Major, only the back six were rung. A move was made to Knebworth. where the attendance was also poor and the ringing not up to the standard to be expected for a joint meeting. Local ladies had provided tea for 50 but only half that number sat down. A short service was conducted by the new Rector (Rev. D. Howells) and ringing followed until 8.30 .

Mr. and Mrs. P. A. Corby are leaving Melton Mowbray shortly on Mr. Corby's promotion to the headquarters of his firm in London. They are hoping to make their home at Sevenoaks. As former peal secretary of the Kent County Association, Mr. Corby is well known in Kent towers.

The name of the ringer in the peal at Tilney All Saints', Norfolk, on May 17th (see 'R.W.', June 7th) should be R. E. Price and not R. E. Paice.

Ringing has been suspended at Wonersh, Surrey, until further notice, as the third bell is cracked through the sound-bow. It is awaiting the founders' attention.

The summer festival of the Peterborough Diocesan Guild will be held at Green's Norton on September 7th, when the new Bishop of the Diocese (Rt. Rev. R. W. Stopford) will be present.

Londor University Society held their Whit tour this year in Hampshire. At West Meon they were informed that the inscription on one of the bells was 'A Waker of Ears.' The donor was an eccentric gentleman named Earwaker.

Peals have been rung in South Yorkshire for the wedding at Handsworth of Miss Elizabeth Bate, late secretary of the Yorkshire District. Ladies' Guild, and Mr. Dennis A. Chapman, a past secretary of the Doncaster District Society. Mr. Ronald J. Sanderson was best man. Their future home will be in Canterbury.

While it was not possible to have a full Odd Fellows band for the A.M.C. at Margate, there was a bit of good ringing, writes W. Frank Stenson, thanks to the assistance of Mr. Dadds and Mr. Ted Walker, from Dover. A good hour's ringing was enjoyed at the practice night on Tuesday.

\section*{BELFRY GOSSIP}

From Essex. - A certain ringer with nearly 50 years' very regular service ringing behind him and no idea of his number of peals or quarters, was listening to a chat about the Central. Council being in the area. In all scriousness he asked: "Are they ringers?

Mr. E. M. Atkins is the new general secretary of the Devonshire Guild of Ringers in succession to the late Mr. E. J. Taylor.

Mr. W. J. Paice, of Wokingham, rang his 100th peal on June 1st at Shiplake. Of these he conducted 45 . His peals have been rung in 39 towers and for eight Associations. Seventy have been for the Oxford Diocesan Guild.

A familiar figure at Oxford Diocesan Guild meetings, the Rev. R. St. George Edwards, who was for 17 years rector of Checkendon, has died, aged 84. The funeral at Finchampstead Church on Saturday was attended by Mr. E. H. Langley and Mr. W. J. Paice, representing the Guild. He maintained his interest in ringing until the last.

Ald. Joseph Hiley, the new Lord Mayor of Leeds, is a regular worshipper at Christ Church, Upper Armley, and to honour the occasion the Leeds and District Society rang a peal of Kent T.B. on the bells of this church on June 1 st. Afterwards the band were entertained by Mr . and Mrs. Harry Lofthouse. Unfortunately, Harry was not well enough to take a rope.

We regret that presidential congratulations were not extended publicly at Chelmsford on Whit Tuesday to Miss Jacqueline S. Evans. Her wedding to Mr. David J. King took place the previous Saturday. The bride has represented the Llandaff and Monmouth Diocesan Association since 1954. Has any other C.C. member spent her honeymoon at a Central Council meeting?

LONG and distinguished chapter in the history of the Central Council came to an end at the Shire Hall. Chelmsford, on Whit Tuesday, when Mr. Edwin H. Lewis, who had been president of the Council since 1930, opened the proceedings of the 23 rd session and 60th annual Council meeting.
The affection and esteem of the Council to the retiring president were expressed in the presentation to him and Mrs. Lewis of a radio set and to the retiring president of a rainfall gauge. Mr. Fredk. Sharpe, the new president, took the chair immediately after his appointment.
The proceedings were enlivened by interesting debates on the standard of broadcast ringing and on the introduction of academic titles for ringers. The motion condemning the College of Campanology and the wasting of space in -The Ringing World ' by publishing the Manual of the College was keenly debated and ended with the Council accepting a motion to "pass on to the next business.' The word 'plain' is to be reintroduced into titles of peals of Bob Maximus, Royal, Major and Minor. Dublin was selected for the next Council meeting.

\section*{THE WELCOME}

The Council proceedings opened with a welcome from the civic authorities, the Bishop and the Essex County Association. The Mayor presided at the outset. and with him were the Bishop and Provost of Chelmsford and the Master and secretary of the Essex County Association.
The Mayor (Ald. F. Woods), in a welcome to the Council on behalf of Chelmsford, hoped that the deliberations would be successful and agreeable, and that throughout the year they would sing on a very happy note.
The Bishop of Chelmsford said as president of the Essex Association of Change Ringers and Bishop of the Diocese, which was co-terminous with the county of Essex, it gave him great pleasure to welcome the Council. He understood there were 49 diocesan guilds, county associations and other affiliated bodies. They in Essex were very proud of their iong history in the ringing world and they looked back with pride to Miles Graye, of Colchester, who had been described as 'the prince of founders,' and they rejoiced in having many fine rings of bells. In Essex they had three 12's-Chelmsford, Saffron Walden and Waltham Abbey, and three 10's-Prittlewell, Walthamstow and West Ham.

\section*{WALTHAM ABBEY AND TENNYSON}

It was the bells of Waltham Abbey that inspired Tennyson in his ' In Memoriam,' 'Ring out, wild bells.' In the name of the Church he thanked them for the devoted service they rendered. It was a service that at times was unrecognised. In the olden days they had their beer as their reward, as the churchwardens' accounts showed. The Bishop referred to the \(4 \frac{1}{2}\)-gallon ringers' jug at one Essex tower, and the legacy of Thomas Turner for the Great Ringers' Day at Saffron Walden.

What was their reward today? Was it not true that there was a great satisfaction in their ringing, the same that an artist, had for painting a pictura or a musician for a beautiful piece of music? There was also the joy of knowing that they were giving their service to God and His Church. As head of the family of His Church in this area, he thanked the ringers for their devoted service rendered to His Church Sunday by Sunday.

Mr. R C. Heazel (Master of the Essex Association), on behalf of the ringers of Essex, also extended a hearty welcome to the Council. One of the rules of the Essex Association was to abide by the rules and decisions of the Council, and what happened at their meetings affected their ringers. He sincerely hoped that their deliberations and decisions that day would prove to be acceptable to all the ringers of the land and that they should have lots of good fellowship.

The president thanked the Essex Association for all they had done to make their day a pleasant one. It was also very nice to go from place to place to be received by the civic and ecclesiastical authorities. They liked to see that combination of Church and State, both of which they served.

The Provost then opened the proceedings with prayer.

\section*{A CENSURE}

The president said he had an unpleasant duty to perform. He understood that the previous night a member of the Council rang at Maldon without permission. He thought that ringing in a tower without permission deserved a severe reprimand; he hoped the culprit would consider himself severely reprimanded, and he asked the secretary to write to the Essex Association expressing regret, as their Association might otherwise get the blame for such unmannerly behaviour

Later in the proceedings the new president said a member of the Council, Mr. Peter Bond. visited Maldon and rang there. He saw the Vicar first, and he was with the ringers while they rang, and after the ringing the Vicar showed them round the church. As far as the band of ringers was concerned, the Vicar was quite agreeable to their ringing.

\section*{STRENGTH OF COUNCIL}

The secretary reported that there were 56 Associations now affiliated to the Council, with 154 members. There were also 24 honorary members and six life members. making a total of 184 . There were two vacancies among representative members and seven among honorary members. All subscriptions had been paid except from the North Wales Association.

\section*{THE NEW PRESIDENT}

The president announced that there was only one nomination for the office of president-Mr. Fredk. Sharpe-and he had much pleasure in putting his name to the meeting. [Applause.]

Mr. Sharpe then took the presidential chair and said: 'Thank you very much for the honour you have done me in electing me as your president. I feel I am quite unworthy of such a position, and I know how difficult it is going to be to follow in the steps of one who has with such dignity and statesmanship governed the affairs of this Council as Mr. Lewis has. I speak very humbly because I know that in the room there are many more better than I am. My connection with the art has been on very different lines than most of you. I am a churchwarden of a small country parish in remote rural Oxfordshirc. and about it miles away we have a second church that contains the oldest datable bell in the country. It was this old bell at Caverstield that led me to study the art. When I was 15 or 16 I formed an association and friendship with that author of a great many books, the late Mr. H. B. Walters. Af that time he was getting advanced in years and unable to climb towers. I was young and ready to risk life and limb, and did investigations for him. I am keenly interested in bells, bell hanging and bell tuning.
- In regard to the future, I don't want to have any revolutionary ideas. I would like the art of ringers to be as closely connected with the Church as possible (I speak as a churchwarden), to put the Church first.

My first duty as president is a very pleasant one. As you know, we have subscribed to make a presentation to our late president, and I am going to call on one of the senior members to make the presentation.

\section*{THE PRESENTATION}

Mr. A. A. Hughes said: 'This is one of the most pleasant experiences that I have ever undertaken. I have known Mr. and Mrs. Lewis for a great number of years, and I have certainly known Mr. Lewis for over 50 years. I want to say how deeply we appreciate all he has done for ringing and its advancement. We know of his great work in connection with bell hanging-in working out those extremely difficult problems of forces exerted, and we know of the great work he has done as president of the Council.

I am now to ask Mr. and Mrs. Lewis, on your behalf, to accept this radio set as a combined gift. There is another gift-a personal gift to Mr. Lewis. He is very keen on measuring rainfall-and his home is in the west of Scotland where he will be able to put this to extraordinarily good use. Mr. and Mrs. Lewis, with our heartfelt thanks for all you have done for us over so many years, will you kindly accept these gifts (a radio set and a rainfall gauge) with our best wishes for a long life.

Mrs. Jean Bartlett then presented Mrs. Lewis with a bouquet.
Thanking the Council, Mr. Lewis said: 'If during the past years I have been able to serve you in any way, that is my reward, and I feel very happy about it. At the same time, I cannot help thanking you most deeply for the love which is behind these gifts. Almost the greatest pleasure in ringing is the real friendship one is able to receive and the hope to give. I have always looked on Whitsun each year as onc of the shining times of the year. On behalf of my wife, who enjoys coming to Council meetings, I thank you most sincerely.'

\section*{VICE-PRESIDENT ELECTION ULTRA} VIRES
The president said that at the Standing Committec meeting the previous night it was felt that the election of vicc-president was out of order. He asked Mr. Cartwright to explain the position.
Mr. W. B. Cartwright explained that at the mecting last year the Council accepted a recommendation from the Standing Committee that they should have a vice-president. The rules giving notice of business had not been complied with. In his opinion, the nomination of a vice-president was ulira vires. They must alter their rules first and then give notice to elect a vice-president.

This ruling was accepted by the Council.
HON. SECRETARY AND TREASURER Mr. E. A. Lewis proposed the election of Mr. E. A. Barnett as hon. secretary and treasurer. 'I have had experience of working with him for five years,' he said, 'and I am confident that you cannot do better than re-elect him.'

Mr. A. A. Hughes seconded, and the resolution was carried.

\section*{HON. LIBRARIAN}

Mr. E. H. Lewis said there was no nomination. The position was not easy to fill. What was required was somebody who had a considerable amount of room to house the library and a good deal of time to devote to the work. Quite a considerable collection of material had been left to the Council which wanted looking through and examining, particularly on the side of composition. They owed a great debt of gratitude to Mrs. Steeples, who had been looking after publications. The proposition was that the president be asked for the coming 12 months to act as hon. librarian. The person he would like to see elected to the position. Mr. Frank Perrens, was in South Africa.

The president: 'I will do my best to hold the office in plurality. I hope a librarian will be found by next year.'

\section*{HONORARY MEMBERS}

The secretary said the Standing Committee recommended that the retiring honorary members be re-elected, with the exception of Mr. H. M. Howard : that Messrs. R. F. B. Speed, J. Willis and L. Stilwell be added to the list as they were all doing jobs for the Council.
Mr. R. S. Anderson proposed the re-election.
Nominations were invited, and the following were proposed and seconded: Messrs. A. H. Pulling, A. York-Bramble, T. W. White, R. M. Clouston. There was a majority vote against Mr . York-Bramble and Mr. Clouston, and the following were elected honorary members: The Earl of Shaftesbury, Messrs. J. T. Dyke. J. P. Fidler. A. A. Hughes. D. Hughes. Mrs. C. C. Marshall. Messrs. C. W. Roberts, E. C. Shepherd, P. L. Taylor, A. Walker, R. F. B. Speed, J. tVillis, L. Stilwell, A. H. Pulling and T. W. White.

HON. AUDITORS
Messrs. A. A. Hughes and F. W. Perrens were re-elected.

\section*{MINUTES OF THE LAST MEETING}

The Minutes, as published in 'The Ringing World of April 19th, 1957. were adopted on the proposition of the hon. secretary, seconded by Mr. R. S. Anderson.

\section*{REPORT OF THE HON. SECRETARY}

\section*{AND TREASURER}

I feel that I should first place on record my gratitude to Mr. Lewis for the advice and encouragenent which he has given me at all times during my five years in office, and my regret, which will be shared by all members, that he has deemed it necessary to retire from the presidency of the Council.

During the year some correspondence was exchanged with Miss M. E. Snowdon concerning the Snowdon Series, arising from a statement in 'The Ringing World ' which suggested that the future of these books was in jeopardy. Happily, this is not so, but Miss Snowdon was assured of the Council's sympathetic interest in the matter.

The Council has for the first time paid income tax, arising from the profits from the sale of publications and 'The Ringing World. during 1955. to non-members of the Council or affiliated societies, on the basis described in my report for 1954 . The amount was \(£ 45 \mathrm{~s}\).

Members will recall that, by arrangement with the Central Board of Finance of the Church of England, a request for information as to the number of ringers is being included in a form which the Board has sent to incumbents in the provinces of Canterbury and York. The results are not yet available.

At the time of writing, information shows that the following have this year ceased to be members of the Council, and our thanks are due to them for their past services: E. W. Bifin (Devon Guild), \(1948 / 56\); F. D. Boreham (Oxford Guild), 1948/56; G. W. Cecil (College Youths), \(1948 / 56\) : R. G. Corby (Chester Guild). 1954/56: E. G. Fenn (College Youths), 1939/ 56: T. H. Francis (Cumberlands), \(1948 / 49\), 1951/56; A. Harman (Guildford Guild), 1935; 56; G. L. Hewitt (Shropshire. Association), 1945/56: S. T. Holt (Worcestershire), 1936/55; S. F. Palmer (Yorkshire Association), 1930/55; H. N. Pitstow (Surrey Association), 1954/56: F. Precey (Salisbury Guild). 1948/56: A. H. Pulling (Winchester, 1914/27; Guildford Guild. 1928/56); J. W. Raithby (Southwell Guild). 1951/56: W. Rase (Peterborough Guild), 1945 i 56: C. J. Sedgley (Suffolk Guild). 1927/56: R. F. B. Speed (Middlesex County Association), 1954/56;L. Stilwell (Sussex Association), 1951/ 56: G. E. Symonds (Suffolk Guild), 1948/56: A. Tomlinson (Lancashire Association), \(1930 /\) 35, 45/50, \(54 / 56\); C. Wallater (Stafford Arch. Society), 1945/56; J. Willis (Kent County Association), \(1951 / 56\); C. W. Woolley (Hertford County), \(1936 / 56\); J. R. Worrall (Guildford Guild), 1954/56: Mrs. P. C. Wright (Oxford University Society), 1954/56.

Thanks are once again due to Mr . W. G. Wilson and Miss C. L. Groves for typing and duplicating these papers, despite many other calls on their time, and to those who kindly send me copies of reports and other publications.
E. A. BARNETT.

This report was adopted on the proposition of the hon. secretary, seconded by Mr. F. E. Dukes.

REPORT OF THE HON. LIBRARIAN During 1956 no new publications were issued by the Council, and in consequence sales have not been quite so high as in the previous year. - Village Bells, regained its position as "best seller,' with 'Hints' second and the new Doubles book third. I am glad to report a profit of \(\mathrm{E} 9 \mathrm{0s}\). 6 d .

Of a total of 1.258 publications sold. we were unfortunate to lose five in the post. This caused some inconvenience 10 subscribers which we regret. Claims for loss have been made on the G.P.O. If on some occasions a little delay has been experienced in receiving publications, I apologise to subscribers for this, and would explain that Mrs. Steeples, like myself, is very frequently away from home.
I continue to receive numerous enquiries for (1) a new edition of 'Minor Methods, (2) a new edition of 'Triples Methods' and (3) an illustrated book on how to ring a bell and acquire an elementary knowledge of the rudiments of change-ringing. I make mention of these here to emphasise how urgent is the need for these publications.

The borrowing of works of reference has again increased, and on many occasions I have had to request the return of books to meet the requirements of other borrowers. It would help me greatly if borrowers of library books who have had these for more than a year would write confirming that they still require the books.
Diring the year the library received the undermentioned gifts: From Mr. J. W. Clarke, further parts of "The Church Bells of Cheshire '; from Mr. A. C. Hazelden, a copy of the Guildford Diocesan Guild's Library Catalogue : and from Mr. F. E. Dukes, copies of 'The Irish Bell News.

Once again I must pay tribute to all the good work done by Mrs. J. G. Steeples (nèe Patricia J . Ayris) in connection with the sales section of the Library. Our thanks are also again tendered to the Rev. E. S. Tarrant, for housing the Library in Launton Rectory.

Moving the adoption of the report, the president said he had received a copy of Mr. Dove's excellent second edition of 'The Church Bells of Britain, and the previous day Mr. Lewis made the gift of three books: one printed in Italian (1802), on the bells of Rome : the second was the Danish "Pre-Reformation Bells," and the other a book on the great bell of Moscow. He moved the adoption of the report. Mr. A. B. Peck seconded, and the report was adopted.

The hon. secretary and treasurer presented the accounts, and said that a letter of appreciation had been received from the Rector of Bow for the donation of 10 gns. to Bow Bells Fund. The balance sheet showed a very satisfactory state. The accounts had been audited by Mr. Hughes. He moved. and Mr. Hughes seconded, the adoption of the accounts, and these were agreed.
JOHN CARTER RINGING MACHINE
Mr. A. A. Hughes said two open demonstrations have been given this year, and another had been arranged for Whit Saturday for members of the Middlesex County Association on the occasion of their 60th anniversary celcbrations.

At previous demonstrations, no limit has been set to the number attending, consequently the room at the Science Museum has been subject to overcrowding. Now, however, parties are limited to 24 , and arrangements made with the Museum authorities for chairs for that number, resulting in more comfortable conditions for all.
Methods rung on the machine during the past year include Cambridge Maximus. Stedman Cinques and London Surprise Major, and it continues to run very well.
One unusual event took place last autumn. when the then Lord Mayor of London. Sir Cuthbert Ackroyd, who as churchwarden launched the appeal for the restoration of the Church of St. Mary-le-Bow, asked that the hells should be cast and sounded before he went out of office.
As the tower was still not safe to carry the bells, they were stood mouth-upwards at the foundry and struck by electrically-operated hammers, and John Carter's machine was called upon to chime two courses of Stedman Cinques. This was recorded, and played back from the lower during the Lord Mayors traditional procession through the city.
One recording company offered contributions to the Fund for the right of sale of this record to the public, but the Rector, the Rev. Hugh Evan Hopkins, refused this of the grounds that the bells were not being rung in the traditional way by a band of ringers: and we feel the Council will applaud his action.

We would like to take this opportunity of expressing our appreciation of the co-operation and help at all times given by Dr. D. H. Follett. of the Science Muscum. South Kensington, who has had the machine under his care for many years. He has recently relinquished this duty on promotion 10 higher office. and the trustees have, on behalf of the Council. written a letter of thanks to him.
Mr. Hughes, in moving the adoption of the report, said some very good photographs had been taken of the machine, and it was suggested that Mr Douglas Hughes should write a description of the machine which should be published with illustrations.
Mr. H. W. Rogers seconded, and thanked Mr. Douglas Hughes for his work.
Mr, F. J. Lock said the previous Saturday's demonstration to the Middlesex Association was very worth while.

The report was adopted, and on the proposition of Mr. G. W. Fletcher, seconded by Mr. F. I. Hairs, it was decided to take advantage of Mr. Hughes' offer to write an account of the machine.

The hon. secretary said he had received an invitation from two members of Cornell University, U.S.A., to a cocktail party in celebration of Mark II, the first automatic change-ringing machine. He had replied that he was unable to accept.

THE STANDING COMMITTEE
The hon. secretary said the Standing Committee appointed a sub-committee to consider the question of compiling a history of changeringing. The committee accepted the offer of Mrs. Winifred Turner of the papers of Mr. J. A. Trollope's revision of Stedman. He proposed to write to Miss M. E. Snowdon to make certain they had her consent.
Mr. W. G. Wilson said he had received a letter from Miss Snowdon stating that the copyright belonged to Mrs. Turner.

The report was adopted.
REPORT OF THE. HANDBOOK
SUB-COMMITTEE
With the publication of the Handbook, the purpose for which the sub-committee was formed has been accomplished, and we suggest that it need not therefore formally be kept in existence. Amendments to the Handbook will, of course, be necessary from time to time, but if the committee are agreeable, both of us are prepared to collaborate as necessary in keeping it up to date.

\section*{C. KENNETH LEWIS,}

\section*{E. BARNETT}

The hon. secretary proposed, and \(\mathrm{Mr} . \mathrm{C} . \mathrm{K}\). Lewis seconded, the adoption of the report.

Mr. P. A. Corby congratulated the committee and said in his opinion it was an excellent book.

The president said the sales had been extremely good.

The secretary said they must not forget that some of the spadework was done by the previous sub-committee, mainly Dr. Hatcher. The report was adopted.

\section*{REPORT OF THE SUB-COMMITTEE ON} CLEMENT GLENN BEQUEST
The sum received as the residue of the estate of the late Clement Glenn was \(£ 80515 \mathrm{~s}\). 5 d .. of which \(£ 39\) Is. has now been paid to Mr. Glenn's executor, as agreed last year, towards the provision of a memorial stone. The amount available for disposal is. therefore, \(£ 76614 \mathrm{~s}\). Sd.

Although a very useful sum, this is not sufficient for any spectacular purpose, and accordingly we recommend that it should be used as follows:-
(a) \(£ 250\) to 'The Ringing World ' for investment. Mr. Glenn was a \({ }^{\text {a }}\) keen supporter of the paper and regularly sent donations to its funds.
(b) Provided thie Church authorities are agreeable. \(£ 100\) on trust. the income to be used for the provision and maintenance of bellropes at the tower at which he last rang. At present this would allow an average of one new rope a year.
(c) \(£ 250\) to be left on deposit against any exceptional expense which the Council may incur.
(d) The remainder, £166, to the General Fund, up to one half to be used for the purchase of storage equipment for the Library, a large part of which is at present kept in boxes, and office equipment for the Secretary's use : the rest to be regarded as available for the financing of publications, in particular so that 'Hints to Instructors and Beginners,' when published. can be sold at the lowest possible price.

EDWIN H. LEWIS. FREDERICK SHARPE, E. BARNETT.

The hon, secretary said the Standing Committee considered the report and decided to recommend that instead of the money being divided, to invest the whole of it, and that the interest from the bequest be spent and that the capital shall be applied to such use as may be decided

Mr. T. J. Lock asked who would take the responsibility of deciding where the interest would go. Would it be the Standing Committee or the Council?

The secretary: I presume that the Council as a whole would decide.

Mr. F. E. Haynes asked why the sub-committee's recommendation was not adopted.

Mr. Cartwright said he raised a legal objection to item (b). In his opinion it was dangerous to put the money on trust.

The Rev. R. D. St. J. Smith said there would be no practical difficulties to a trust.

The amended recommendation of the Standing Committee was adopted.
"THE RINGING WORLD' ACCOUNT
The Profit and Loss Account of 'The Ringing World, for 1956 showed a profit of £857 17s. 11d.

Expenses were: Woodbridge Press, printing and blocks, \(£ 3,6408 \mathrm{~s}\). 3d. ( \(£ 3,301\) ); Editorial Office Expenses, \(£ 5148 \mathrm{~s}\). ( \(£ 430\) ); Postal Sub-scribers-despatch of copies \(£ 188\) 14s. 6d., postage and wrappers \(£ 802\) 19s. 10d., total: £991 14s. 4d. ( 8862 ); Accounts Department, \(£ 194\) 14s. 2d. (E166); Sundry Expenses, \(£ 15 \mathrm{16s}\). 8d. (£10); Income Tax, \(£ 27 \mathrm{4s}\). (£12); Audit Fee, \(£ 21\) ( \(£ 21\) ).

Income.-Rolls Publishing Co., \(£ 2,227\) 15s. 4 d . ( \(£ 2,313\) ); Postal Subscribers, \(£ 2,7596 \mathrm{~s}\). 5d. ( \(£ 2,419\) ) ; Donations, \(£ 287\) 2s. 6d. ( \(£ 217\) ); Advertisements, \(£ 427\) 2s. 6d. ( \(£ 442\) ) ; Notices, \(£ 473\) 10s. 6d. ( \(£ 416\) ); Sundry Receipts, £28 0s. 3d. ( \(£ 25\) ) : Interest receivable on investments, \(£ 60\) 5s. 10 d . ( \(£ 28\) ). Total receipts: - 6,263 3s. 4 d .

The balance sheet of 'The Ringing World, showed: Goodwill, blocks, etc., \(£ 200\); debtors, £738 13s 9d.; Investments at cost, \(£ 1,600\); Amounts due, General Fund, £42 12s. 11d.: Interest accrued, £13 10s. Total: \(£ 562 \mathrm{~s}\). 11 d . Cash at bankers, \(£ 2,421 \mathrm{6s}\). 1 d .: in hand, \(£ 213 \mathrm{~s}\). 6d Total: \(£ 2,423 \mathrm{l9s}\) s. 7d. ( \(£ 1,409\) ).

Sundry Creditors, \(£ 544\) 5s. 7d.; Amounts received in advance - Postal Subscribers, :848 4s. 5d.; Notices, \(£ 1816 \mathrm{~s}\). 9 d . Total: \(£ 867 \mathrm{ls}\). 2d. Capital Account, \(£ 3,607 \mathrm{9s}\). 6 d . (The figures in parentheses are those of the previous year.)
The secretary, in dealing with the accounts, said that on the expenditure side there had been an increase in every item. The Woodbridge Press account had increased by \(£ 340\), the Editor's office by \(£ 70\) or \(£ 80\), expenses of postal subscribers by \(£ 130\) and the accounts department by \(£ 25\). These were parily due to printing wage increases and partly due to decisions to grant increases of pay to members of the staff of the 'R.W.' and to postage increases. Nevertheless, they were able to make a profit of about \(£ 850\). The income reflected an increase of \(£ 340\) from postal subscribers, an addition of \(£ 70\) from donations, and notices had increased by over £50.

Turning to the balance sheet, he said that since the end of the year the investment had been increased by \(£ 5004 \frac{1}{2}\) per cent. Defence Bonds. and it was proposed to make a further investment of \(£ 500\) that would give them their maximum holding. He moved the adoption of the accounts.

Mr, F, I, Hairs seconded.

In reply to Mr. H. Pitstow, the secretary said the decrease in revenue from advertisements was due to Messrs. Gillett and Johnston. They paid \(£ 27\) a quarter.

\section*{'THE RINGING WORLD' COMMITTEE}

Although your Committee is able to report that no disaster has overtaken the finances of - The Ringing World ' it has always in mind at its debates the possibility of increases in the costs of production. It has not been possible to transfer as much this year to the reserve as in 1955, and this is accounted for by the substantial rise in costs which took place twelve months ago. To meet this increase in part it was necessary to raise slightly the charges for advertisements, but the yield from this source has been disappointing. The loss of one halfpage advertisement has partly offset any advantages gained from the increase in charges for small advertisements.
Your Committce is reluctant to consider at this stage a further increase in the price of the paper, and would not do so until every other palliative has been tried. It knows that there is one simple solution, which is that more copies must be sold. It was stated last year in the debate on the report that the circulation was 5,400 . Later in the Council's proceedings a resolution was adopted pledging further efforts to obtain more readers. We have to report that the circulation is now 5,400 !
The paper could be made more interesting and to have a wider appeal if a resolute effort was made by subscribers to supply more suitable readable matter. Copy has varying news values, and your Editor can assess these. Your Committee has resisted the suggestion of making a charge for publication of peals on the grounds that journals do not usually charge for printing ordinary news. On the other hand, there is a savour of advertisement, and probably you may consider whether the matter should again be gone into. The Committee is grateful to those altruistic readers who recognise in a substantial way their moral obligations in this matter. Would that others would voluntarily follow their lead.

Facilities are now available for the publication in 'The Ringing World, of the annual reports of Associations-cither fully or abridged -and in these days of high printing costs it is hoped that this service will help in reducing Association expenses and also stimulate interest in the journal.

Once again your Committee places on record its deep appreciation of the work of the staff : Mr. T. W. White, the Editor, and his assistant : Mr. J. E. Jeater, for his capable handling of the accounts : and its sincere thanks to Mr. Roper for compiling the index: to the many literary contributors; to all District representatives; 10 all readers; and lastly to those who have by their generous donations helped to maintain solvency. J. FRANK SMALLWOOD.

Moving the adoption of the report, Mr. J. F. Smallwood said there was no room for complacency. It was true thiat during the past year they had made a profit of \(£ 850\), including kind donations The accounts for last year only reflected \(5 / 12\) ths of the total increase which they would have to face in the current year. He therefore begged them not to be too sanguine. 'We shall require to make a satisfactory effort to increase circulation.

\section*{Mr. R. S. Anderson seconded.}

The secretary said the Standing Committee recommended the adoption of the report and the reappointment of the committee with Mr. J. F. Smallwood as convener.

The report was adopted.

\section*{MR. REG LATHBURY}

For many years, Walton-on-Thames has been associated with happy memories of good meetings, excellent teas and Mr. and Mrs. Reg. Lathbury. These thoughts of the past added sadness to the loss all ringers in Surrey have sustained in the passing of a yery good friend in Mr. Lathbury. He learned to ring at Dunstable at the age of 17 , and altogether rang about 80 peals in methods from Grandsire to London Surprise. His main interest was in learners, to whom he devoted much time both before and after his retirement as a motor engineer. The strength and enthusiasm of the local band and their regularity of Sunday service ringing are a tribute to his efforts
Mr. Lathbury was never idle, and after his retirement he took on the work of verger at St . Mary's. He carried out this duty in his usual cheerful and efficient manner. He had a special affection for the Surrey Association, and for seven ye irs from 1947 was hon. secretary of the Northern District. His collection of ringing books has been left to the Surrey Association library.

Many ringers were present at the funeral at St. Mary's on June 5th. They included Mr. F. E. Collins (Master of the Surrey Association), representing also the College Youths. Mr. W. F. Oatway (general secretary of the Surrey Association) and Mr. W. Parrott (District secretary). Also present were Mr. H. V. Young and \(\mathrm{Mr} . \mathrm{H}\). Colcombe, representing the Guildford Guild. and Mr. F. E. Hawthorne. As the cortège left the church for Woking Crematorium the bells were rung to a touch of 336 Grandsire Triples by the following: F. E. Hawthorne 1 . W. F. Oatway 2, W. Parrott 3. H. Colcombe 4, F. Oakshott 5, S. R. Curtis 6. F. E. Collins (conductor) \(7, \mathrm{H} . \mathrm{V}\). Young \(\mathbf{8}\). Among the (conductor) \(7, \mathrm{H} . \mathrm{V}\). Young 8 . Among the many floral tributes was a wreath from the Northern District of the Surrey Association.

\section*{MR. HARRY BINGHAM}

The death occurred on May 10th of one of nature's grand old gentlemen. in the person of Harry Bingham, of Willingham, Lincs. He was 83 years of age, and had rung at Willingham since the bells were augmented from three, first to five and then to six, in 1905. A member of the Lincoln Diocesan Guild for 50 years, the Master referred to this in this year's report. A farmer by occupation, he drove his own car almost to the end, and was a familiar figure at meetings in and out of the District.

His talent wasn't in what he could ringKent on six and Plain Bob on eight were his limit, and he only rang two peals. No, it was in his absolute genuineness and determination to give of his best in whatsoever he undertook.

On the evening of the funeral. May 13 th. a quarter peal of Grandsire (720) and Plain Bob (540) was rung half-muffled on the bells of St. Helen's Church by W. Spencer 1, Mrs. E. Grey 2. G. L. A. Lunn (conductor) 3, C. H. Baker 4, N. B. Thurlby 5, A. Horton 6 .

\section*{MR. SIDNEY WADE}

\section*{AN. APPRECIATION}

With very deep regret, I heard of the passing of Sidney Wade. He was a Cumberland Youth for 60 years, a foundation member of the Middlesex Association and a member of the Kent County Association for 58 years.
Sid started ringing as a boy at Hornsey, but there was no opportunity there; all he was allowed ta do was pull a bell up occasionally. So he went to Southgate, where he was known as the "Hornsey Boy.' He made rapid progress, and became a very fine ringer and conductor, and for 60 years was a faithful member of the Christ Church, Southgate, band.
His peal book records 151 peals, of which he conducted 90 . Eighty peals were rung at Southgate and 131 for the Middlesex County Association. He was 16 years of age when he rang his first peal. which was conducted by James Parker. Sid was always keen on difficult compositions and methods. He called Holt's Original many times : in fact, he called the Oncpart five times at the age of 17 years. His first of Stedman Triples at the helm was Thurstans One-part. A good performance by the local band was 8,064 Bob Major on November 23rd. 1901. Sid was 19 at the time, and he rang the 25 cwt . tenor and called his own composition.
On November 28th, 1907, he called the first peal of Superlative in the Rochester variation. About 45 years later this was rung as a new method for the first time, but S. W. pointed out it had bcen rung long ago. It was eventually named Southgate S.M. Sid rang several peals with the famous brothers Pye, including his first of London. One peal with this band was memorable in its way-Stedman Triples at St. George-in-the-East, on March 30th, 1905. It was the first peal by the ringer of the tenor, who was destined to become one of the celcbrities of the Exercise, and was eventually to ring over 1,000 more peals-the late Charles T. Coles. Many are the stories I have heard of the escapades, on ringing ventures, by the Southgate 'boys ' in those happy days long flown. I cannot adequately express my own sense of personal loss-so many happy memories are recalled. Farewell, Sid; may you rest in pace.

\section*{Gongs at St. Cuthbert's, Edinburgh}

Dear Sir,-In reply to Mr. R. J. Bowden's letter re gongs in church towers ('R.W.', May 24th. 1957), there is a set of gongs for the octave at St. Cuthbert's Church in Edinburgh. They are, I think. in working order, though seldom used. Each gong has recently been taken down and carefully polished, in keeping with everything else in St. Cuthbert's immaculate belfry. I understand that the main objection to their use, apart from poor tone, is bad synchronisation. The gongs do not strike regularly at the precise moment their respective tower bells would, making 'good striking' virtually impossible.
I believe I am right in saying. \($ 00\), that there is a set of gongs for the ten at St. Mary's Cathedral. Glasgow, in good working order and being used regularly.
Should Mr. Bowden require further details. I feel sure that Mr. R. S. Wilson, the Scottish Association secretary, would be only too pleased to furnish them.-Yours sincetely.

\section*{RONALD K. RUSS}

Sonning Common, Oxon.

Mr. Frederick Howson, after a lapse of 35 years, has entered the peal columns again by ringing 3-4 to a peal of Bob Major 'in hand.'

\section*{MASONIC RINGERS' MEETING AT LEICESTER}

Saturday, June 1st, was a red-letter day for the 30 or more members of the Craft, who gathered at Leicester for the first Masonic Ringers' meeting to be held for many years. Arrangements were in the extremely capable hands of Bro. Peter Staniforth, and under his expert guidance the party made their way to the fine parish church at Loughborough, where the grand ring of ten (tenor \(30+\mathrm{cwt}\).) was rung to various methods. Then followed the great pleasure of a tour of Taylor's Bell Foundry, with Colin Harrison as our conductor. The ringing on the very light ten in the campanile was of varying quality, and it was generally admitted that these bells are tricky to ring and strike well!

An excellent lunch was served at the King's Head Hotel, and attempts on the part of one of the party to arrange a little tower snatching having fallen through, the party returned to Leicester. The ringing on the heavy 12 at St . Margaret's (where we had the pleasure of the company of Mr. Ernest Morris) coincided with the exit of a wedding party, who were rung on their way with rounds and attempted firing (locally known as shots!). Ringing included Grandsire and Stedman Caters and Cambridge Major on the light eight (rather to the displeasure of the heavy-bell brigade!).
The day's ringing concluded at the lower of St. John-the-Divine, where we were welcomed by Sidney Harrison. These fine ten (tenor 21 cwt.) were rung to various Major and Cater methods. The party then adjourned to the Assembly Rooms for an excellent dinner and social evening with W. Bro. Rev. H. B. Holderness as the guest of honour. During the dinner the suggestion was put forward-and received with general acclamation-that. in view of the success of this meeting, a similar gathering should be held annually. A very hearty vote of thanks to Peter Staniforth, who had made all arrangements for the meeting, and to the respective incumbents and tower captains, who had given permission for ringing and met us, was passed with acclamation. During the social evening, handbells were rung to various methods and in various weird ways, and the company entertained with songs by Bro. Jack Brown, of Liverpool.
On the following morning, those who stayed overnight were made very welcome, as all visitors are at the Cathedral belfry for ringing before the civic service on Lord Mayor's Sunday.

Many Provinces were represented at this highly successful meeting, members of the Craft attending from such widely-separated areas as Kent, Berkshire, Bristol and Lancashire, among others. In order to ensure that as many members as possible are circularised as to arrangements for any future meeting, all ringing members of the Craft are asked to forward their names and addresses, together with Masoniz ranks, etc., to Peter J. Staniforth. 150. Narborough Road South, Leicester. P. N. B

\section*{The Lightest Six}

Dear Sir,-I am indebted to Mr. Ewart Edge for his interesting letter on the bells of Wormhill, Derbyshire, and also to Mr. Alan McFall, for pointing out that Saxthorpz, Norfolk, tenor is a ponderous bell in comparison.
Wormhill tenor appears to have shrunk over the years from 9 cwt ., and therefore holds, I believe, yet another record. The greatest shrinkage I have heard of is from the proverbial 'ton' to a little over eight hundredweights.-Yours sincerely.

NOLAN GOLDEN.

\section*{RINGING IN ENGLAND 80 YEARS AGO}

\title{
Extracts from 'Church Bells,' 1879-80
Str,-Seeing a paragraph in a late issue calling attention to bell clappers, allow me to mention a few of the mishaps likely to be occasioned by neglect.

All . . . are liable to wear loose and strike too slow ...chief danger is wooden strap bawdrick-clappers . . . . These consist of a wooden strap clasping the crown-staple, with a block insetted below. and the clapper itself fitted between the flats of the strap, and secured by a couple of bolts. These straps are mostly made of ash, and through the top a rivet is inserted to prevent them from splitting. In many cases where 1 have rehung bells, I have found that the wood has been allowed to wear completely away, and the rivet working on the centre of the crown-stapie has in some cases nearly cut it in two. Another of the same kind, where an iron strap lined with leather is used. is most objectionable inasmuch as, unless the leather be frequently renewed, the iron soon comes into contact with the crown-staple : and I have seen some cr jwn-staples worn down to about half-an-inch or less on the top and bottom sides through neglect.

I believe that, after all, the clap-to sort of clapper is the best, where a couple of blocks of hard wood are made to clasp the crown-staple in two halves. and where the bolts used are so inserted as for it to be impossible for it to come in contact with it with any ordinary wear.

In cases of bells which have been quartered. it is better to insert a block of hard wood in the crown of the bell, and make the clapper to work in this with a fork end and bolt through the whole, except in cases of large bells, where this would bring the centre on which the clapper swinys too high, and consequently cause the bell to rise FALSE. In these cases a false staple must be resorted to.
J. R. JERRAM.

Bell-hanger, Sutton Bridge, Lincolnshire.
There is an answer to above by G. Eaton. beli-hanger, Titchmarsh. Thrapston, Northants. He fully endorses Mr. Jerram's remarks regarding the 'mischievous character' of the 'iron strap lined with leather.: As regards the baw-drick-clapper, he thinks the danger is the cracking of the bell rather than the wearing through of the crown-staple; bet the clapper taking to rolling inside the bell, the bell escapes cracking. He deprecates false staples, "they are false in every sense of the word;' they get loose, and cause the bell to rise false and strike false, he says. He had known more than one bell to be cracked by the false staple getting out of place.

Mr. Jerram replied, saying that he could see no object in a false crown-staple unless a bell had been quartered, and even then it is 'necessary only under certain circumstances known only, as a rule, to bell-hangers.'

\section*{NORWICH DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION OF} RINGERS
Here there is a report of a District meeting at Kenninghall, apparently a much-rung ring about this period. Clergy were in evidence'At two o'clock the members adjourned to the White Horse, where they sat down to dinner under the presidency of Rev. A. Sutton. who was supported by Rev. I. F. James (Vicar), W. W. Hutt. W. T. M. Young, N. Bolingbroke, and G. H. Harris (secretary), Capt. More. R and L. Sutton, Esqs., etc.'

\section*{NEW CHIMING APPARATUS}
'A Chimer' would like to know the difference between the new chiming apparatus lately set up at Keynsham, near Bristol, and that in daily use at St. Paul's and Worcester Cathedrals, at Kensington, etc., etc., commonly known as Ellacombe's hammers.
[A chiming apparatus of any sort is very tempting for tune-playing, but tunes are not allowed at any of the above churches, nor should they be allowed anywhere, not being in accordance with Church order.-Ed.]
F. Goodman refers to the Editor's remarks and asks: May 1, therefore, ask on what grounds tune-playing on church bells is not in accordance with Church order, and in what work do we read of its being prohibited? If the playing of sacred tunes on church bells is not a right thing to do, surely it is much more of a wrong to allow the setting up of carillons in connection with church clocks, which play all manner of peculiar tunes throughout the week, and then revert to sacred tunes on Sundays.

Then 'A Lover of both Bell and Organ Music' said that he did not know whether tuneplaying on church bells was contrary to Church order, but he thought it was contrary to common sense \(\therefore .\). If it were in the tower of a town hall it would be a different thing. But even then for a fine set of bells to be worked on by a barrel with their powers reduced for the purpose seems to me as incongruous as it would be to find a cathedral organist grinding a hurdy-gurdy. If ringers want tunes, they had better retire to the proper instrument - the organ.

\section*{ARCHITECTS' BELFRY ARRANGEMENTS}

The quarterly meeting of the South Lincolnshire Change-ringers' Association was held at Sleaford on Saturday, February 7th, 1880. and after dinner they went to Boston and ' attempted one or two touches on the bells of the parish church, but, owing to the awkward helfry arrangements, nothing could be done. The ringers have been placed in a chamber, about seven feet high, close to the bells, so that the tuftings of the heavier bells are actually through the sheaveboxes when the bells are set at hand-stroke, and the whole of the middle of the chamber is occupied by the dome of the ceiling below: the ringers on one side can only just see the face of the man on the opposite side, and with a tenor of 26 cwt . it is almost impossible to ring the bell in rounds decently. This is the architect's arrangement. The above deserves to be called attention to: as also the irreverent habit of some of the ringers in coming into the belfry with hats on and smoking whilst there

I'Such characters as are mentioned above never ought to be allowed to enter a kelfry. They are persons who have done great injury to the cause of ringing, and lower all ringers in public opinion.-Ed.']

\section*{CHURCH BELLS AND BELL THUMPING}
'Church Bells' reproduced a letter which appeared in 'Church Times." It was written by a correspondent signing himself 'Stay and Slider. It included: I would ask why a bell should be perindically tinkled or thumped for the conventional half-hour before a service commences, when ten minutes or cven five would be ample. Nearly everybody in large cities and towns in this country can find out the right time to a minute if they wish. There is a church situated in the centre of a square . . . from the tower of which . . . a fearful sound issues to call the congregation to worship. .. . I could easily imitate the sound if I stood upon the roof of my house and thumped a large frying-pan with the handle of a kitchen poker as fast as I could do so as so much has been done for our altars of late years, a little attention might be given to our belfries.

\section*{THE CHELMSFORD MEETING}

THE first session of a new Council usually provides a full day's work, and so it proved for the 138 members who were present at Chelmsford-a figure never exceeded and only once equalled.

One surprise awaited them. For reasons lucidly explained by Mr. W. B. Cartwright, they were unable to elect a vice-president this year; but at least no such difficulty had arisen when Mr. Lewis declared his successor as president duly elected, thereby ending a long chapter in the Council's history. The members were able to express in tangible form their gratitude to the retiring president for all that he has done, and they and ringers generally will extend to Mr. Sharpe their best wishes for a long and successful period in office. It is never an easy matter to take over a position which someone has held with distinction for many years.

What of the meeting generally? One noticeable feature was that the reports of several committees provoked a fair amount of discussion, which is all to the good. In recent years there seems to have been a tendency for most of these to be accepted with little or no comment, which leads one to reflect that, although speaking for the sake of speaking is much to be deplored, nevertheless far too many members fail to contribute anything to the proceedings. Over the years, one would think, some point or other must arise on which every member could usefully intervene. It must have been far worse, however, in the past. One senior member was recalling the meetings of 40 -odd years ago when, he said, if the rank and file got up to speak they were frowned upon very severely. But there were two at least who could not be suppressed, and he named the late William Willson and another member, happily still on the Council though unfortunately unable to be present; and indeed no one could imagine either of the two ever being silenced if they felt something needed to be said.

The election of 12 members of the Standing Committee, which followed the reports, took place for the first time under the amended rule whereby existing elected members no longer have the right to te nominated first. Somehow one had expected rather sweeping changes, but in fact there were only 13 names put forward. A ballot resulted in the return of nine of the previous committee and one who had been a member for many years before 1954, with the addition of two new faces to fill vacancies caused by the lamented deaths since the last election of Harold Poole and Ernest Turner.

One sensed a feeling of tension when the first of the two motions on the College of Campanology was reached. As this, in part, overlapped the second motion, so many of the speakers on either side strayed from one to the other, with the result that the debate was perhaps unnecessarily prolonged. It was, happily, not nearly as acrimonious as one had feared on either motion, doubtless because the views of the proposers and seconders were put forward in a temperate manner.

By the time the remaining motions had been disposed of, the Council had decided by a narrow majority to visit Ireland rather than Oxford next year (it is to be hoped that all who voted for Ireland intend to be present), and thanks had been accorded to all who had helped to make the meeting a success, the time had exceeded by 30 minutes the hour at which the secretary had assured the Essex Association that it would be quite safe to expect the members to a tea which they had very kindly provided. Though this might have involved him in trouble, the president or he might have been in far worse trouble from those members whose voices outside the meeting room had provoked a protest from the chairman of the Court which was sitting elsewhere in the building!

ESSEX ASSOCIATION HAVE MEMORABLE WHIT MONDAY

A YEAR OF PROGRESS REVIEWED

TrHE presence of the Central Council in Chelmsford for the annual meeting of the Essex Association on Whit Monday added a lustre to the proceedings. The Association had as its guests at the annual luncheon the president of the Council and Mrs. E. H. Lewis, the secretary of the Council and Mrs. E. A. Barnett and Mr. Frederick Sharpe.
Proccedings started with the service in Chelmsford Cathedral, conducted by the Provost (Very Rev. G. E. Gordon), and the sermon, preached by the Bishop of Barking (Rt. Rev. H. R. Gough). He said: 'You who ring bells share with the clergy and the whole Church the ministry of evangelism-calling men to worship and to God through Christ. Let us always remember the privilege of your high calling, and let us clergy remember that we cannot do without your help. Your message by the ringing of bells can reach people who never come to worship God.
- This call to worship will have a false note unless we who do the preaching and you who do the ringing are living consistently Christian lives. It is a sadness to some of us to find that when the service starts the ringers disappear 1 pray that through your Association every bellringer will realise the privilege and responsibility. Let no bell sound a false note through the insincerity of the ringers.

\section*{A PROGRESSIVE REPORT}

The annual meeting followed in the Chapter House, with the Master (Mr. R. C. Heazel) in the chair, supported by the Bishop of Barking the hon. secretary and treasurer (Mr. F. V. Gant) and the Deputy Master (Mr. H. Turner)

Arising from the minutes, Mr. K. C. S. Wood reported that the list of ringable rings in the diocese was completed. Some of the towers had been out of order. He thought that copies of the report should be supplied to the Archdeacon.

The annual report gave the membership of the Assoziation as 217 honorary and 914 ringing, against 209 honorary and 903 ringing members. The number of peals rung in 1955 was 72 as against 68 in 1955, which was considered to be quite satisfactory, especially as one of the leading conductors was now on National Service. An interesting theory had been advanced by a member that the number of peals rung during any year had no bearing at all on the prevailing enthusiasm at that time. An inquest revealed that 50 per cent, of peat attempts fired their way to a standstill, and in 25 per cent. - Stand 'was called because of wrong or missed calls. The member himself had stood in 18 attempts and recorded only seven peals.

Conducting was shared by 25 members, 175 members featured in the peals and 15 their first peal.

Personal congratulations go to F. C. Southgate, of Ardleigh, on ringing his first peal ai the age of 64, and to the Rev. J. Ransom, for ringing his first peal on his own bells. Congratulations go to L. Wiffer on his 650th pial, F. Claydon his 400th, Miss H. G. Snowden her 200 th, and to T. Earle and C. E. Willmington on their 100 h peal.
The adoption of the report was moved by the Master and seconded by the Deputy Master.
Mr. F. B. Lufkin congratulated the Association on providing such a comprehensive report and giving it to the members free of charge. They were all grateful to Mr. Gant, the editor of the report.
Mr. J. Chalk paid a tribute to the District officers for theip work. There were 111 towers in common with the Association, and he would like to see a digest of how many of those towers rang their bells on Sundays. They must see that all their bells were rung on Sundays, because he was afraid that they would sec very few rings of bells in new churches. The highlight of their ringing was the number of quarter peals- 160 were mentioned. He was glad to see Bob Major and Bob Minor well to the fore as it was the foundation of all ringing. We would like to ses in the next report more peals of Kent and Double Norwich C.B. Major.
The report was then adopted.

\section*{ACCOUNTS HEALTHY}

The adoption of the accounts was moved by Mr. Baker. This showed that the general account started with a balance of \(£ 2662 \mathrm{~s}\). 2 d . and ended with \(£ 2822 \mathrm{~s}\). 2d. The balance in the Bell Restoration Fund had increased from \(£ 184\) to \(£ 229\) and the tolal assets of the Asso-

\section*{In Queen's Birthday Honours List}

Mr. Cyril Michael Heathcote, of Sutton-in-Ashfichd, who for 21 years has been the popular hon. treasurer of the East. Derbyshire and Nottingham Association of Change Ringers, is appointed a Member of the Order of the British Empire in the Queen's Birthday Honours List. He has a record of long service at St. Mary's Church, Sutlon-in-Ashfie'd, as a ringer and sidesman. His daughter previous to her marriage was also a ringer.

For 35 years Mr. Heathcote has been chairman of the Sutton Branch of the British Legion, and has served since 1921 on the Legion's Mansfield, Retford and District War Pensions Commiltee. He is prominent in local Freemasonry:
ciation were \(£ 511\). The hon. secretary commented on the healthy state of the accounts. Expenses in the coming year would be heavier -there was a \(£ 7\) increase in printing the annual report, and they had the pleasurable expenditure of entertaining the Central Councit. They had promised from the Bell Restoration Fund a grant of \(£ 25\) to Epping.

The following officers were declared clected: Master, R. C. Heazel ; Deputy Master. H. Turner; hon. secretary and treasurer, F. V. Gant; auditors, M. Baker and D. G. Mayell; trustees, P. Eves, P. Saltmarsh and C. Smith.

Life membership was conferred on Mrs. M. M. Osborne (Romford). P. Sayer (Great Totham), W. Wheeler and F. Whitby (Harlow Common) and H. White (Bishop's Stortford). Mrs. Osborne was the first lady to be elected to life membership. Arising from the death of Mr. Harry Mansfield, there was a vacancy in the Cential Council representation. This was referred to the committee with power to act.
Mr. F. B. Lufkin (peal secretary) reported that already this year (1957) 58 peals had been rung in 40 towers: 148 ringers had taken part and eight had rung their first peal. Their peals were coming in from far and wide
Mr. Millett appealed for support for Little Hawksley bells. This church was destroyed early in the last war and the tive bells were aiso destroyed. The church was being rebuilt. This little village of 300 inhabitants was faced with the problem of whether the five bells should be hung for chiming or change-ringing. The sum of \(£ 275\) extra would have to be found if the bells were hung for change-ringing. The meeting instructed the Bell Restoration Committee 10 negotiate with the people of Little Hawksley. If the bells were hung for ringing the Association would be prepared to make a grant of \(£ 50\),

The Bishop of Barking called attention to the possibility of bells being provided for the church being built in Harlow New Town. The matter was refecred to the Bell Restoration Fund.

The Master proposed a comprehensive vote of thanks to all who had contributed to the success of the meeting, and announced that the collection at the service for the Bell Restoration Fund amounted to \(£ 413 \mathrm{~s}\). 3 d .

\section*{MR. LEWIS RECALLS}

The Association's luncheon followed in the Cathedral Hall, with the Master in the chair, who extended a cordial welcome to the many guests present. The Provost in reply, spoke in appreciation of the way the Association cooperated with the Cathedral's festival week. He was sorry the Cathedral bells were not in good shape to permit of a peal, but they would be next year

Mr. E. H. Lewis said he had been a member of the Association for 53 or 54 years, and his first peals of London and Bristol were rung for their Association. Unfortunately, he was in Copenhagen when the last Council meeting was held at Chelmsford in 1929. This year was his jubilee year on the Council, and he was elected president in 1930 without any previous notice.

During the last 26 years there had been various changes on the Council-some for the good and some for the bad. The change for the good was the great increase on the social side of their proceedings, which had enabled members to discuss around the table various matters.
The thing he deplored was that in the early days a large number of clergy took a prominent part, and they were leading ringers and good composers and knew as much about ringing as lay members. Today they had nothing like that number of clergy who were good ringers, and it was a great pity. He thought it would be a very good thing if the theological colleges would take the opportunity of teaching ringing to coming ordinands. 'I have rung with a lot of clergy and it is only those who learnt to ring before they put on a "dog collar " who became good strikers.' He thought the ordinary ringer was frightened when he had to teach a vicar or curate.

Mr. Lewis said he was now living in Scotland where the opportunities to ring were very few. They were asked to ring for the Queen's homecoming, and he asked the secretary of the Scollish Association where it would be possible to ring. He sent him to Dunblane. He made an all-round trip of 260 miles to ring for 20 minutes' call-changes.

Mr. Frank Gant also extended a welcome to members of the Central Council and thanked those responsible for the lunch. especially mentioning Mr. Sam Everett.
Ringing took place afterwards in various towers in the neighbourhood.

DIAMOND JUBILEE OF THE MIDDLESEX

\section*{PERSONALITIES OF PAST 60 YEARS RECALLED}

TYHE Middlesex Association and London Diocesan Guild celchrated its diamond jubilee in a very fitting manner on Whit Saturday. The programne was, indeed, comprehensive. with linging at St. Giles-in-the-Fields and St. Olave's, Hart Street, a demonstration of the Carter ringing nuachine and a service in St. Botolph's. Bishopsgate, which was largely attended. The Bishop of Kensington preached and the Rev. R. Deasy, Vicar of Harrow Weald, conducted the service. The singing was particularly beautiful, having been arranged by Dr. D. J. Neal-Smith.

The dimner followed in the adjoining Fan Makers" Hall, with the Bishop of Kensington in the chair. He was supported on the lop table by Mr, and Mrs. A. Hughes, Mr. and Mrs. J. S Mason, Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Cullum, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Coles, Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Hart, Mr. and Mrs. T. Price, Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Lock. Mr. and Mrs. W. N. Genna. Mr. E. R. Gladman and Mr. T. W. White. A generous anonymous donor kindly provided wine for the dinner.

The hon. secretary read apologies from the patron of the Association (the Lord Bishop of London), the president (the Rev. G. C. Taylor), the Bishops of Stepney and Willesden, the Archdeacons of London and Middlesex, the Rector of Bishopsgate, Mr. Tom Taffender (Master of the London Association), Mrs. J. H Honeysett. Mrs. E. Davis, Mrs. Turner, Mr Collins and Mr. W. Smith.

Proposing the toast of 'The Middlesex County Association and London Diocesan Guild,' the Bishop of Kensington said all of them would like to congratulate the Association on that notable anniversary. Sixty years was a very long time, and they thought of all the service to the Church in those 60 years as servants and in the continued recruitment of new members.

He noticed on reading their latest report that they had recruited 37 new ringing members: that seemed to him to be a very good access of strength. He also noticed the very long service of many of their members-Mr. Ernest Gladman, of Heston, and Mr. Arthur Harding, of St. Mary's, Ealing.

\section*{EMANCIPATION OF WOMEN}

In their first report available, for the year 1899, there was no mention of ladies. Now there were many ladies ringing, and what an enormous strength they were to ringing teams! Perhaps somebody would tell him when this emancipating of women took place, and when they were allowed to join their art and craft. To him it seemed a very admirable thing. He congratulated them and also the whole Association on behalf of the Diocese. "We clergy do enormosusly value the ringers and all they do for the Church,' he said. The ringing of bells always encouraged him when he went to any church.

Not everybody enjoyed the pealing of bells. Just before their service the telephone bell rang in the vestry, and he answered it. A voice said: 'Is that St. Botolph's? About those bells ringing: how long is it going on? He told the enquirer that the service was about to start. He could only recommend to those who had to answer the criticism of the ringing of bells the advice given by a learned lawyer to a clergyman subjected to bitter complaints about his bells. His answer was the ringing of bells before service was commanded by the Book of Common Prayer that was approved by the Act of Uniformity. 'The only doubt in my mind,' replied the clergyman. "is whether I am ringing them long enough to satisfy the statute.

Mr. F. W. Goodfellow. the hon. secretary, who replied, prefaced his remarks by thanking the Lord Bishop for his inspiring address and joining them on the even of Whit Sunday. The Bishop had mentioned ladies and ringing-well, he married one. The Ladies' Guild was formed in 1912, and they had the great pleasure of having the president of the Ladies' Guild (Mrs. Locke) with them that evening. [Applause.]

\section*{THE FORMATION}

He joined the Association in 1921 and had the pleasure of ringing with some of the great notabilities who brought distinction and honour to the Association and the Exercise. The Association was formed on Whit Monday, 1897, by the fusion of two Societies-the old South and West Middlesex, formed in 1894, which before that was the West Middlescx, and the North and East Middlesex, established in 1889 . So their Association went back longer than 60 years. Both these Socicties had the same objectsrecognition of ringers as church workers, the advancement of the art of change-ringing and the proper use of bells and belfries. In the South and West, the emphasis was on belfry reforming, so one could assume that they were a bad lot.
The architect of this plan was Arthur T. King, and there was no doubt that it was due to his enthusiasm and organising ability that the Association came into being.

In 1903 the annual mecting was held at Fulham Palace, and the Bishop of London allowed them to include the words "London Diocesan Guild in their title, and their area the Diocese of London. Their present relations with other Societies in London were excellent, and they did encourage the holding of meetings with other Societies.
They were very grateful to the Church authorities for the encouragement they gave in keeping alive the fascinating and scientific art of ringing bells in changes. When they considered the position in church today of ringers- the happy union of art and worship in ringing itself-it was hard to realise that for many years ringers and ringing were completely secular, and it was the formation of Societies like their own that started the reforms and led to the position today.

MEN WHO MAINTAINED ASSOCIATION
On an occasion like that it was only titting that they should remember some of the men who built and maintained the Association; and looking back, it was remarkable how few men there were. For instance, there had only been seven presidents-five parish priests and two diocesan lay readers. They were the Rev. H. G. Bird (1897-1913). Mr. A. T. King (1913-22), Rev. F. R. Bonsey (1922-24), Mr. F. A. Milne (1924-30). Rev. W. P. Cole-Sheane (1930-48), Rev. Percival Gough (1949-55), Rev. A. G. Taylor since 1955.

They had been very fortunate in the important post of secretary. There had been six. Mr. King held office until 1910. Then it was decided to have joint secretaries. Mr. C. T. Coles held office for the N. and E. from 19101938. and in the South and West the secretaries were: H. C. Chandler (1910-18). W. H. Hollier (1921-32). F. W. Goodfellow (1932-38) and W. H. Oram during the war years. Then in 1938 they had again a general secretary in Mr. C. T. Coles, who held that office until 1945. Then their old friend Ernest Turner took over until this year, and they all deeply deplored his death.

All their Masters had been first-class men, and one was outstanding in William Pye (19101935). His ringing feats were well-known and he was a pioneer in many directions-he rang with his son Ernest the other week, and he was ' a chip off the old block. The other Masters were John Basden (1897-1910), A. W. Coles (1935-1939), H. Kilby (1939-46), J. Thomas (1946-47). C. W. Roberts (1947-50), T. Price since 1950 .

Some 28 of their members had served on the Central Council-the Parliament of Church B:ll Ringers-and there were five who served for over 20 years. There was one who stood head and shoulders above the others and served for 50 year:-James Armiger Trollope. His brilliant work on the Methods Committee and four years as Editor of "The Ringing World were marked by selfless devation to the Exercise. The others were George Fletcher, 27 years, and secretary to the Council, C. T. Coles 25 years. A. T. King 21 years and E. C. S. Turner 21 years.

There were two foundation members aliveMr. Jamies Parker, then living at Edmonton and now resiling with his son-in-law and daughter (Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Fletcher), who was 91 the previous week. His daughter sent his best wishes. The other was Mr. Ernest Gladman. who had been ringing for over 60 years at Heston. Mr. Goodfellow concluded by saying that he thought the dinner was a magnificent response. There were 112 present, representing 23 towers.
Mr. Ernest Gladman received a great recsption when he rose to acknowledge the call of the company

\section*{THE VISITORS}

Mr. W. H. Coles proposed the toast of "The Guests and Kindred Societies.' He had a special word of welcome to the clergy present, to Mrs. Hughes, Dr. Neil Smith and his singers. He regretted the absence of Mr. T. Taffender, duz to the illness of his wife, but was pleased to have with them the Master of the Ancient Society of College Youths (Mr. Stan Mason) and Mr. F. J. Cullum, Master of the Society of Royal Cumberland Youths. They had also with them Mrs. Lock, president of the Ladies \({ }^{\circ}\) Guild, and representatives of the Kent Association, the Suffolk Guild and the Guild of D:vonshire Ringers (Mr. A. Bennett).

Mr. F. J. Cullum replied on bchalf of the Kindred Societies and also Mr. T. W. White. editor of "The Ringing World." The latter said Mr. J. Frank Smallwood because of the profit of \(£ 857\) on "The Ringing World, was going to Cheimsford as merry as Old King Colc. They all knew how the rhyme went:-

\section*{Old King Cole was a merry old soul}

And a merry old soul was he.
When faced with the facts
Of his income tax.
He called for his fiddlers threc.
The fiddlers were the other three members of the committec. Any profit accruing would be devoted to a better "Ringing World: There would be more 20 -page issues and more illustrations.

At the conclusion of an enjoyable evening Mr. A. A. Hughes proposed a comprehensiv: vote of thanks to the Bishop of Kensington. for his address at the service and for presiding at the dinner: Rev. R. Deasy, Vicar of Harrow Weald, for conducting the service: the Rector of Bishopsgate (Rev. H. H. Treacher), for allowing the function to be held at St. Botolph's; the president, for the use of St. Giles' balls ; and the Rector of St. Olave's. Hart Street, also for the use of bells: Dr. D. J. Neal Smith, for his help with the service, and to the choir: Dr. Dauglas Hughes, for demonstrating the Carter ringing machine; the artistes-Mrs. A
A. Hughes and her accompanist. Mrs. T. J. Lock; Mr. D. J. Neal and his singers, and finally the dinner committee-Messrs. E. H. Kilby, C. F. Neal, T. J. Lock, E. C. S. Turner (and after the last named's death Mr. W. N. Genna) and F. W. Goodfellow (secretary). There were also the voluntary helpers-Miss Dorey, Miss Newconibe, Messrs. C. Slade and D. Smith.

THE COMPANY
Others present were, in addition to the top table: Rev. and Mrs. H. D. Beck, Rev. R. Deasy. Rev. and Mrs. F. C. Tyler, Rev. C. E. Welch. Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Bowler, Mr. and Mrs. H. D. \section*{THE GUILD OF DEVONSHIRE RINGERS}

THE annual meeting of the Guild was held on Whit Monday at Teignmouth, the South Devon resort, for the first time in the Guild's 83 years of existence. About 80 ringers attended from all parts of Devon, and ringing at the two towers before mid-day was followed by a service at St. Michacl's, conducted by the Vicar (Rev. D. E. Hood). The lesson was read by the president (Rev. Preb. E. V. Cox) and the sermon was preached by the Rev. G. H. B. Andrews. The Rev. N. F. D. Coleridge, another members, was the organist. The preacher's subject was the purpose of bells, and he traced the change from the secular outlook of the 17th and 18th centuries to the proper purpose of today of ringing for the worship of God. Worship was inevitable to the early disciples, but how can we recapture their thrill, except by joining in the fellowship of the Christian family with the Church as our spiritual home?

The service and the subsequent luncheon were honoured by the presence of the chairman of the Teignmouth U.D.C. and Mrs. Rowe, and at the meeting which followed the annual report was presented. It contained appreciative reference to the work done by the late secretary, Mr. E. J. Taylor, who died in October as a result of an accident early in the year. Reference was made to the first peal of Surprise Major rung by a band resident in Devon.

Membership had increased by 25 to 582, and the acco ints were shown to be in a satisfactory condition, though the treasurer drew attention to the laxity in payment of subseriptions. The rules were amended, making March 31st the date by which the treasurer should receive the proportion payable by the Branches.

Holsworthy was chosen for next year's annual mecting, and some discussion took place as to whether it should include a lunch or a tea and Whether it should be on Whit Monday or on a Saturday. This subject was left for discussion by the Branches so that the committee would be in a position to make a decision when it meets early next year.

The following officers were elected: President. Rev. Preb. E. V. Cox; general secretary, E. M. Alkins; general treasurer, W. Simmonds: peal secretary, N. Mallett ; librarian, Rev. J. G. M. Scott.

The bells at St. Michael's are probably the nearest ringing ring to the open sea, and they were heard to advantage by the crowds which thronged the promenade and heach in the glorious weather which persisted all day. Ringing continued till 6 p.m.

\section*{LANCASHIRE ASSOCIATION}

It is six years since the Liverpool Branch have visited St. Luke's, Farnworth (Widnes), as for a time the bells have been unringable. They have now been recast and the tower restored. On Whit Saturday, members enjoyed ringing on the bells, and the warmth of the welcome extended by the Vicar, organist and local ringers could not have been surpassed. In his address the Vicar said five of the bells were originally cast in 1718 by R. Sanders and a treble added in 1789 .

American servicemen at Lakenheath, Suffolk, have promised to give a ncw \(£ 250\) bell to the village church of Eriswell, which has associations with North America going back to the 1700 's. This will make another 4 -bell tower in Suffolk. American personncl contributing \(£ 1\) will be able to sign an official scroll which will be retained as an historical record.

We are delighted to report that Mr. G. H. Myers, of Plymouth, who will shortly be celebrating his 86 th birthday, is making excellent progress after his emergency operation for appendicitis.

After 29 years Mrs. R. Wratten made a welcome return to peal ringing at Burmarsh on June 15 th. Better known to ringers in the ' \(20^{\prime}\) 's as Miss Rose Thomas her name appears on numerous peal boards in the Ashford district.

After losing three peal attempts during a visit to Hampshire during Whit week, six Somerset ringers thought of joining 'The Rabbits' Association. - These thoughts were dispelled by a peal of Yorkshire Surprise at Lymington (see this issue).

The peal rung at Great Bentley, Essex, was arranged as a youngsters' peal, all the band being under 18 , but circumstances prevented this and Mr. A. E. Leggett and the conductor's parents stood in at the last moment ; the youngsters being \(15,18,16,15\) and 17 years respectively.

Difficultics of getting a representative Cumbrian band to ring a peal at Brampton are emphasised by the fact that three members had to travel over 100 miles. This was the first peal by a resident band since 1954, and the ringer of the treble was the first Brampton ringer to take part in a peal for the Association.

\section*{GOSSIP} was arranged by Miss Hilda G. Snowden at Chelmsford during Whitsun The bells in every tower included in the programme were kept busy most of the time. Miss Snowden arranged for Central Council representatives and friends 14 peal attempts, and of these ten were successful. The peals lost were two London Surprise and one each of Cambridge Surprise Royal and Lincolnshire Surprise. Thank you, Hilda.

For his 80 th birthday, Mr. Walter J. Newnham rang his first peal of Major at Cheshunt (see page 391)-a fine performance.

Mr. Ray Idle, who is coming home from New Zealand to Northants, met Mr. Victor Sheppard at Cape Town. Unfortunately there was no time to assemble the band for a ring.

Bells will be heard prior to the evening service on July 7th from St. Peter Mancroft Church, Norwich, to be conducted by the Rector, the Rev. John Waddington, assisted by the Rev. Christopher Tubbs.

It has just been disclosed that while waiting for the happy event, Mr. Robin G. Turner called a peat of Cambridge Surprise Minor in hand, on the morning of his wedding day (May 4(h).

The peal of London S. Major rung at Willesden on Thursday, May 23rd, 1957, and reported in 'The Ringing World ' issue dated June 7th, should be credited to the Middlesex County Association and London Diocesan Guild.
The bells of Liverpool Cathedral will bs broadeast individually on Saturday next between 5 and 6 p.m. Mr. E. L. Humphriss will ring each bell individually hand and back. The Bourdon will be rung first, followed by 11,10 , ctc., and 12 th last.

\title{
BROADCASTING - DEBATE AND GUIDANCE TO RINGERS

\section*{BROADCASTING AND TELEVISION COMMITTEE}

Firstly, we would clear up a point regarding the broadcasting of bells in the Republic of lreland, whose territory covers the castern and southern Districts of the Irish Association. During the year, the General Secretary of the Irish Association made the point in 'The Ringing World ' that no mention was made in our report of the broadcasting of bells in Southern Ireland. In consequence of this, contact was made with Radio Eireann, and we were assured that church bells were rarely broadcast, but that in future information of any bell broadcasts would be passed to us. We regret to say this has not happened. There have, we understand, been numerous occasions during the past year when bells have been on the air in Southern Ireland, and Radio Eireann has, to quote the annual report of the Irish Association, continued to show its interest in bells and bellringing. In Northern Ireland there is a very good arrangement between the B.B.C. and the Irish Association by which the Northern District Secretary is always consulted by the B.B.C. when any bell broadcast is being contemplated.
In England, the B.B.C. have broadeast a considerable number of rings of church bells prior to Divine Service. The standard of ringing has varied from quite good to very poor. The broadeasts which seem to have caused most comment were the Christmas oncs. That from Banstead was very well received, but the Christmas round-up of bells suffered much unfavourable comment. Judged from the angle of faultless ringing, we are bounti to agree that the general standard was not good, but contrariwise, judged from the angle of what was heard generally throughout the country, and contributed by the mass of regular service ringers, it was probably fairly average. There have been more letters on this subject in "The Ringing World ' recently than on any other subject, and if it does no more, it does at least emphasise our point in previous reports that ringers should be most careful when asked to ring for broadcasting not to attempt anything they cannot do well. To quote our first report : 'The most important point concerning all broadcasting in which ringers take part is that the highest possible standard of performance should be aimed at. The ringing of good rounds is much to be preferred to poor change-ringing.' As far as the B.B.C. are concerned, we are informed that so often the selection of towers is decided. on the basis of where engineers can combine these with other duties.

Apart from ringing in connection with services and the like, there are occasions when bells form a background to plays and other productions of the B.B.C. Generally speaking they are fairly accurate technically from our point of view. There are times, however, when this is not so. Two such were the productions 'The Lark' and 'The Nom de Plume,' featuring M. Voltaire. In both these, English bells were heard in French scenes. We took the opportunity of bringing these mistakes to the notice of the producer of the programmes. The errors were admitted and the reason given for them was that although the Effects Library had several recordings of French bells, the need for them aroso in such a way that they could not be obtained in time on either occasion. We took the opportunity of bringing our Committec and its purpose to the notice of the departments concerned. and were duly thanked for our interest and offer to be of assistance in the future.

Several very interesting items were televised with reference to bells rather than ringing; these included the excellent item from the Loughborough Bell Foundry, and the casting of Bow Bells at the Whitechapel Foundry in the presence of the Lord Mayor, the Rector, churchwardens and the Masters of some of the Livery Companies. Each bell was named, the second being named Fabian by the Master of the College Youths.
Finally, it has been suggested that we might press for a television interlude dealing with ringing, the suggestion being that photographs of some fa.mous church with its bells as the background music might be suitable for Sunday evenings. We have put forward to the B.B.C. a previous suggestion regarding the Interlude, without success, but we may in time be able to achieve something on these lines.

> H. J. SANGER, Convener, J. T. DUNWOODY
G. E. FEARN,
A. A. HUGHES,
A. G G. THURLOW.

Mr. H. J. Sanger moved the adoption of the report and Mr. J. T. Dunwoody seconded.

\section*{the debate}

Mr. C. W. Roberts congratulated the committee on an excellent report. The Christmas Day broadcast, he said, was not representative of the change-ringing of the country. Twelvebell ringers were represented by a very poor band. He would like to thank the Editor for the firm way he wrote when he said that ringers on the air were just as liable to criticism as other performers. Criticism did tend to raise the standard, and that was what they wanted to do in the matter of broadcasts. He thought there should be a selection between the B.B.C. and the ringers to see that only the best was put on the air.
Mr. Cecil E. Pipe supported Mr. Roberts' point of view.
Mr. Harold Pitstow felt the committee should take up the criticism with the B.B.C. They gave the bells very little time, and while ringing took place made announcements. Their ringing should be given just as much fair treatment as the organ.
Mr. G. W. Jeffs said he was going to make the same point.
Mr. C. W. Roberts said in the early days of broadcasts on 2LO the bells were put on for ten minutes and the announcing was done by a ringer. He wondered if it would be possible to negotiate with the B.B.C. for the announcements to be made by a ringer.

Mr. F. J. Smallwood: Anybody who thinks he can influence the B.B.C. is a bit of an optimist. After the Christmas broadcast I conferred with Mr. Sanger and asked if his committee, which is supposed to have a liaison between the Council and the B.B.C., had been approached, and his reply was that they had not. I did not suppose the B.B.C. would be inclined to. I suggest the Council should send a strong condemnation to the B.B.C.

Mr. A. D. Barker: As a very near neighbour of Mr. John Snagge. I will see that whatever is decided is conveyed to him.

The Rev. R. S. St. J. Smith said he had heard it suggested that when ringing was broadcast a select band should ring and the local ringers ousted. In his opinion the ringing should be typical of the church it cama from. and he would say that any pressure from the Council otherwise would be over his dead body.

The Rev. K. W. H. Felstead: I do not think anyone has suggested ousting the local hand but what I think is contemplated is to choose a tower where the ringing is what most people would call respectable.
The Rev. R. S. St. John Smith: I have heard it suggested by a member of the Council.
A member commented that the B.B.C. selected towers where the parson could preach a good sermon.
Mr. T. J. Dunwoody said that as regards Northern Ireland the B.B.C. did consult them. Since 1946 Northern Ireland had established a liaison with the B.B.C. The decision as to whether certain bells were to be broadcast often rested with the incumbent and not the B.B.C.

Mr. R. G. Blackman thought that the real solution was to provide good ringing in all parish churches on a Sunday.
Replying to criticism, Mr. Sanger said where ringers rang Sunday by Sunday they expected to be in the band to broadcast from their tower. He thought that the answer was that ringers should look to it themselves and see that they improved the standard of ringing generally.
The report was adopted. The committee was re-elected with Mr. H. J. Sanger as convener.

\section*{PEALS ANALYSIS COMMITTEE}

The Committee are pleased to report an increase of peals rung hoth on tower- and handbells during the year 1956. There was a grand total of 2,366, with 2.192 on tower bells and 175 on handbells-an increase of 65 on tower bells and 64 on handbells.
The analysis shows as follows:-
\begin{tabular}{|c|c|c|c|}
\hline & Tower Bells & Handbells & Totals \\
\hline Maximus & \(18+1\) & & 18 \\
\hline Cinques & 37 & \(3+3\) & 40 \\
\hline Royal & \(116+35\) & \(8+2\) & 124 \\
\hline Caters & \(70+15\) & \(9+6\) & 79 \\
\hline Major & \(857+30\) & \(59+27\) & 916 \\
\hline Triples & \(217-9\) & \(9-9\) & 226 \\
\hline Minor & 640-22 & \(69+40\) & 709 \\
\hline Doubles & \(236+16\) & \(18-5\) & 254 \\
\hline & 2,191 & 175 & 2,366 \\
\hline
\end{tabular}

The Leicester Guild has maintained its position as the leading peal producer, with the Oxford Guild moving up to second place, displacing the Lincoln Guild, which has falten to eighth place. Third place has been taken jointly by the Kent C.A. and the Norwich D.A.
The first six places are as follows : Leicester Guild 172, Oxford D. 121, Kent County 117. Norwich 117. Yorkshire 114, Winchester and Portsmouth 113. (The Winchester and Portsmouth has moved up the list mainly by the efforts of the Minor handbell band.)

No peals were recorded by the Cleveland and North Yorkshire Association, the National Police Guild, the Scottish Association. Sheffield and District and the Swansea and Brecon.
There were iwo outstanding performances on tower bells-a peal of Yorkshire Surprise Major by the Leicester Guild, in which one ringer rang an inside pair of bells and conducted the peal; and a peal in 64 Minor methods by the Yorkshire Association. The same Association (Yorks) also rang a peal in 55 Minor methods on handbells.

It is very pleasing to note the increase in the number of peals rung on handbells, though more lasting results, might be obtained if the centres of industry ' could be more widespread.

\section*{W. AYRE (Convener) \\ K. W. H. FELSTEAD \\ H. MILES.}

Mr. Walter Ayre moved and Mr. H. Miles seconded the adoption of the report. which was agreed to. The committee was re-elected.

\section*{PUBLIC INTEREST IN RINGING}

THE LITERATURE COMMITTEE
A survey of the news cuttings that have come to us during 1956 indicates no lessening of the public interest in bells and no reluctance on the part of the Press to print articles and notes on ringing.
Among the smaller feature articles we have bcen given some interesting photographs of ringers' gatherings. The Guildford Diocesan Guild, the Yorkshire Association and the Kent County Association were among the Societies whose annual dinners were recorded in local papers, and 'The Herts Advertiser' photographed the handbell ringers at the Hertfordshire Association summer festival. The bells of St. Andrew's-the-Great. Cambridge, and the heavy ring at Brailes, Warwickshire, were both shown on the ground, while 'The Western Gazette' depicted the unique 'maiden 'bell at Broadwindsor. The 'Aldershot News' provided a charming little picture of Mr. Denyer's girl ringers at St. Michael's, Aldershot, and 'The Railwaymen's Guild' pictured so sturdily in the 'Crewe Chronicle' would seem to be laying and ballasting their track very successfully in preparation for their first excursion into the world of ringing. We wish them a full train and a clear road.
One striking feature of the year's publicity has been the Royal Academy picture, " The Bellringers,' by Mr. J. A. Clceland, who based his work on the ringing at Liverpool Cathedral, and spent many hours making preliminary studies in the tower.
Among other feature articles, Mr. Peter Bond's touring band attracted the attention of the 'Evening Tclegraph.' which commented on ringing at Louth: and in July, Christina Allen in 'The Sunday Mercury' discoursed at length on the Birmingham St. Martin's Guild and its ringers ancient and modern.
The full-seale articles cover much of the usual ground, hut a good varicty has appeared in both the English and the Irish Press. From America. Mr. E. A. Barnett has received an account of the change-ringing machine under construction by Dr. Walker, some notice of which has appeared in the Los Angeles papers. Chester D. Clark's article in 'The Rotarian' gave the history of the Liberty Bell in Philadelphia, and provided much interesting and little-known information concerning this historic relic. "The Ringing Isle,' by E. R. Yarham, in 'The Christian Herald,' contains references to Bow Bells and to bell inscriptions, but the article lacks distinction. The same may perhaps be said of Trevor Holloway's essay 'Bells ' in the August number of "The Musical Times." This gives a fair statement of the origin of bells and of bell-founding. but the paragraphs on changeringing seem to lack authority and contain some errors and loose statements. Similar faults may be found in Tom Ingram's 'The Praise of Bells ' in 'The Radio Times' of December 21st. a topical article accompanied by an unfortunate photograph which gave a somewhat grotesque representation of ringing posture. In contrast, 'The Bexhill Observer for December 22nd portrayed the ringers at St. Peter's in more conventional attitude, and the text of the article was thoughtfully expressed.
Some well-written and painstaking essays come from the Irish Press. An account of Dublin bells by Leo Francis was enfolded in the title 'Christmas Bells' in a December number of the 'Dublin Evening Press,' and in - Ireland's Saturday Night' a reporter described a visit to Shankill Parish Church, Lurgan, at the close of the ycar. The 'Belfast Telegraph published a short thesis by P. G. Dymond, 'The Oldest Bell Foundry in the World,' in which the author listed some of the Whitechapel bells found in Ireland: and Andrew Phelan's 'The Appeal of the Bells' in the 'Irish Independent 'gave a wide survey of bells in Ireland, with some rather meagre references to changeringing. The outstanding contribution from the Irish Press (and possibly from all sources) was 'The Art of Carillon Playing,' by Staf Gebruers, and published in the 'Cork Examiner.' It provides an excellent and informative essay on how a carillon is constructed and played.
Perhaps the most important bell-ringing publicity of the year was that accorded to synthetic bells and recordings, and in view of the growing danger of such devices it is comforting to have found portions of the responsible press ready to emphasise the undesirability of sham forms of worship. At Chesterton, in Staffordshire, and at Whitehaven. in Cumberland, faculties were granted for the installation of apparatus to simulate the sound of bells being rung, but in each case the Chancellor said that he agreed only with the utmost reluctance. In the Chesterton case, both 'The Daily Mail' and 'The Birmingham Post' gave full publicity to the expressed views of the Advisory Committee that such ringing was a sham, and in Cumberland the Chancellor expressed his firm conviction that only the personal contribution of the ringers constituted a true act of worship.

The matter was taken further at the annual dinner of the Yorkshire Association, where the Archbishop of York, in a stirring speech. called imitation ringing 'one of the most bogus frauds of Christendom.' Dr. Ramsay's remarks were widely reported, and 'The Bradford Telegraph, in an article that would seem to us to summarise public opinion on the matter, said of belt ringing: - It is in itself an act of worship-the raising of a hymn of praise. . . . The bells must ring out again, but their song must come from the hands and hearts of men, not from the mechanical lungs of an ecelesiastical juke box.'

We feel that the above comments are of too much importance to be omitted from this Report.
Works on bells and ringing published during the year have been few in number. The subsidiary ringing periodicals, 'The Irish Bell News." 'The Ringing Towers,' from Australia. and 'The Belfry,' the quarterly of the Maidstone District, all continue 10 provide admirably for intimate local needs. From America each issue of 'Overtones ' brings to us evidence of the extraordinary growth of handbell ringing in the United States and of the manifold transactions of the American Guild of Bell Ringers.
Of books, and booklets there are but three. ' Resurgam,' edited by Mr. Kenneth S. B. Croft. M.A., gives the story of St. Mary's Church, Southampton. 'Beginners' Plain Bob' is another of Mr. A. Waddington's beautifully artistic productions, providing an approach to the method as helpful and attractive as the author's 'Beginner's Grandsire.'
Mr. Ronald Dove has given us a second and excellent edition of 'Church Bells of Britain.' and one can only join with the writer of the foreword to this remarkable work and ' maryel at the amount of time that must have been involved in compiling all these methodical classifications.' We feel that the Exercise is greatly indebted to Mr. Dove for a book that should find its place on every ringer's shelves.

\section*{EDGAR C. SHEPHERD, FRED. E. DUKES.}

The report was adopted, on the proposition of Mr. Edgar Shepherd, seconded by Mr. F. E. Dukes. The committee was re-elected, with Mr. Edgar Shepherd as convener.

\section*{PEAL BOARDS COMMITTEE}

The records of ancient Peal Boards, bound in two volumes on the loose-leaf system, were presented at the meeting of the Council held in Leicester last year, and formally handed to the Librarian. They may now be borrowed in the usual way.
The Committee would like to emphasise, however, that although these records are now housed in the Council's library, they are not considered as being complete. On the contrary, there must be many more ancient boards awaiting discovery, and it is only by the co-operation of the Exercise in general that the record can be completed. Details of any Boards prior to 1825, together with the approximate size and condition, will be welcomed. We should like to make a special appeal to the 'tower-grabbers 'to be on the look-out for these interesting records.
J. W. CLARKE.

Mr. Walter Ayre moved the adoption of the report. and said the volume containing the records was open to inspection. Mr. F. I. Hairs seconded. The committee was re-elected with Mr. J. W. Clarke as convener.

\section*{METHODS COMMITTEE}

Satisfactory progress has been made on producing completely new books on Minor methods and Triples methods, but it has not been possible to complete the work in its entirety. With regard to Triples methods, unless the Council instructs us to the contrary, we are proposing to include Single Hunt Pure Triples methods and Two Hunt symmetrical methods. All of the former and the majority of the latter do not conform rigidly to the Council's decisions, but we suggest that they be included because of the limited number of methods available as compared with Major methods.

\section*{K. W. H. FELSTEAD, \\ F. NOLAN GOLDEN. CHARLES H. KIPPIN, C. KENNETH LEWIS.}

The Rev. K. W. H. Felstead, who moved the adoption of the report, said his committee had not gone as far as they hoped. There were 17 Single Hunt Pure Triples methods and 13 twohunt Symmetrical methods that they proposed to include.
Mr. C. K. Lewis seconded.
The report was adopted and the committee re-elected, with the Rev. K. W. H. Felstead as convener.

\section*{BUSY YEAR FOR BELL RESTORATIONS}

TOWERS AND BELFRIES COMMITTEE
During the year the work of the Committee increased considerably. Fifty-five enquiries were received: eleven of these were dealt with by correspondence, the remainder by personal inspections and reports. The work of each member is appended.

Mr. J. W. Clarke has dealt with three enquiries fin Cheshire. In one he was successful in opposing the sale of five bells, and these are now stored in the church for future use. His other :wo enquiries related to repairs, ned he reports that his advice has been carriid out satisfactorily.

Mr. F. E. Collins has been consulted regarding restoration work in seven towers in the counties of Cornwall, Essex. Hampshire, Surrey, Sussex and Warwick. He reports that the enquiries included repairs, augmentations, struztural safety and sound modification, and that in each instance his advice has been woll received and followed up.

Mr. J. Freeman has been asked for advice in one tower in Lincolnshire, and he reports that his recommendations have been carried out satisfactorily.

Mr. E. H. Lewis has given advice on the structural safety of one tower in Warwickshire and on the restoration of its bells. The work has not yet been taken in hand.

Mr. W. Osborn has been consulted in 18 instances in Somerset and Wiltshire. With the exception noted below his advice has been followed and work is in hand, or completed. In six towers he advised on rehanging; in nine towers on repairs: he dealt successfully with problems of sound control in two towers; in two towers he advised on recasting and in another on augmentation. The above-mentioned exception was a proposal to sell five bells and install Constant Martin equipme it, which he strongly opposed; the result is not yet known.

Mr. F. Sharpe dealt with 25 enquiries in Berks. Bucks, Derbyshire. Hants, Herts, Kent. Norfolk, Oxon, Rutland, Suffolk and Warwick; two were acute problems of lower oscillation; one has been satisfactorily overcome, the other is not yet in hand; two involved problems of sound control: he advised on recasting in five towers and on augmentation in another. In 13 towers he advised on rehanging, and the remainder of his enquiries related to repairs. He gave two series of lectures on bell towers and bell-hanging at the York Institute of Architectural Study, and many others 10 diocesan authorities.

During the year the Committee lost through death its oldest member, Mr. E. A. Young. In the past he had been a most active member of the Committee. and he was formerly in great demand when advice on the architectural problems connected with bell-hanging was needed.

FREDERICK SHARPE, F.S.A.. A.I.O.B.
(Convencr)
J. W. CLARKE.
F. E. COLLINS. M.J.Inst.E.,
J. FREEMAN.
E. H. LEWIS, M.A.,
W. OSBORN:

Moving the adoption of the report, the president said Mr. Osborn had been very busy in the West Country and had opposed a suggestion to sell five Bilbie bells, where they wanted to install one of those wretched recording things. He asked that the Rev. J. G. M. Scott be added to the committee.

Mr. E. H. Lewis, in seconding, asked how the committee was getting on with the Central Council for the Preservation of Churches, now Dr. Eeles was dead.

The president replied that since the death of Dr. Eeles they had been left very high and dry. and he thought it was a bad thing. It would be far better to work in conjunction with that hody as they had certain decided views on bell hanging, and sometimes they were not those of the Council. He suggested a joint meeting between the two bodies.

The Rev. K. W. H. Felstead said he believed a member of the Council sat on the Board of the Central Council. Could he not exert his influence?
The Rev. A. G. G. Thurlow: I am having the president of the Central Council to preach. and we shall have lunch together. He promised to do what he could.

Mr. W. Osborn said he was pleased to tell the Council that they were successful in stopping the destruction of these five old Bilbie bells. He had been there twice and met members of the Church Council. One lady said she had heard chimes on the Continent, in Belgium, and how much she liked them. He went to a lot of trouble to explain the difference and that there would be disappointment if these bells want. The Advisory Committee of the Bath and Wells Diocese, of which he was a member. refused the sale of the six Bilbie bells and ordered that the bells should be chimed until there was sufficient money for them to be rehung.

The Rev. A. H. Roberts asked how far the members who made the inspections were in touch with the Advisory Committees. He hoped those who made inspections would get in touch with Advisory Committecs, as it sometimes happened that the advice of the Towers and Belfries Committee was directly opposite to that given by the Advisory Committes.

As to Cornwall, he thought that their restorations were carried out properly: Only three weeks ago he had \(£ 500\) given to him to complet? his tower at Carbis Bay. He hoped that they would be able to build a tower which would be quite ideal.

The president said most of the reports on towers go to the Diocesan Advisory Committes. He thanked the members of the committee for their good work. The committee was re-elected.

\section*{PEALS COLLECTION COMMITTEE}

Progress has been made with the collection of peals of Stedman Caters and Cinques. In reeponse to the request for compositions a few have come in, including a very valuable contribution of peals by the late F. G. May. The senders are thanked. Still more compositions are needed, however, to make the collection truly representative. So far no peals by the following composers have been received:-
F. H. Dexter. A. Knights, N. J. Pitstow,
F. Pitstow, G. Lindoff, J. D. Mattthews.

The Committee would be grateful if anyone having compositions by any of the above would send them, to enable the work to be completed.

The president said Mr. Woolley was not now a member of the Committee.

Mr. C. W. Roberts, presenting the report. said he wanted to make the collection as representative as possible and to include peals of each type. He hoped by the next Council to have the draft prepared, and then the collection could be considered for printing.

Mr. W. L. Critchley seconded and the report was adopted.

The secretary said the Standing Committee recommended the adoption of the report and the re-election of the committee, with the exception of Mr. C. W. Woolley.

Mr. G. E. Feirn was elected to the committee in his place and Mr. W. E. Critchley appointed as convener.

Mrs. Fletcher movzd and Mrs. Marshall seconded the adoptian of the report.

The president emphasised the importance of Associations sending in methods or compositions rung.

The report was adopted and the committee re-elected.

\section*{SEARCHING FOR OLD MEMBERS}

\section*{BIOGRAPHIES COMMITTEE}

An inspection of our record books at the time of preparing this Report shows that out of the total of the elected members to the Council, 346 are now known to be deceased. This number includes the late Mr. N. E. Snow, who was the last survivor of those present at the Council's first meeting at Easter, 1891. Of this number, many of the biographies are complete and are included in the Album which is exhibited today.
Since the meeting at Leicester in 1956, deaths of the following past members have become known :
F. G. May (Gloucester and Bristol Diocesan Association). Died July 2nd, 1956. Attended 6 meetings.
E. A. Young (London County Association). Died July 23rd, 1956. Attended 31 meetings.
N. E. Snow (North Lincolnshire Association). Date of death not yet known. Attended 3 meetings.
Rev. F. Ll. Edwards (Salisbury Diocesan Guild). Died December 24th, 1956. Attended 24 meetings.
Rev. C. W. H. Griffiths (Bath and Wells Diocesan Association). Died November 6ih, 1956. Did not attend a meeting.
F. O. Moule (Norwich Diocesan Association). Died July 23rd, 1914. Did not attend a meeting.
W. Gordon (Chester Diocesan Guild). Died June 21st, 1915. Attended 3 mectings.
J. S. Rumming (Salisbury Diocesan Guild). Died in Australia, 1945. Did not attend a meeting.
Rev. N. E. Hope (Gloucester and Bristol Diocesan Association). Died January 26th, 1957. Attended 1 mecting.
C. H. Harding (Bedfordshire Association). Died February 23rd, 1957. Attended 7 meetings.
H. J. Mansfield (Essex Association). Died March 4th. 1957. Attended 6 meetings.
E. C. S. Turner (Middlesex Association). Died April 2nd, 1957. Attended 16 meetings.
T. G. Bartlett (Devon Guild). Date of death not yet known. Did not attend a meeting.
R. Narborough (Peterborough Diocesan Guild). Date of death not yet known. Attended 8 meetings.
The little band of past members of the Council who are over 90 years of age has now been joined by the Rev. C. J. Sturton, who was recently visited by Mr. J. W. Raithby. We have also heard from Mr. C. Willshire, who is well.
Following the discussion which took place at Leicester concerning our 'unknown' class, the Committee made a determined attack on this problem. First a list of these persons was compiled and then names from this were circulated to secretaries of the Associations who elected them, or in a few cases to others who might be able to help. The results, though not yet by any mea is complete, soon convinced us that the information we seek can be collected if we can contact the right people. However. we are still left with a few names of people about whom no information can yet be obtained and these are listed in the Album as was suggested at Lcicester.

It is obvious from what has been reported that we have had the assistance of many people, both of the Council and outside of it. We offer our thanks to all of them. To include them in this Report would only result in a long and perhaps monotonous list of names, so one or two are given to illustrate the whole. Mr. R. H. Dove has found an old group photograph which contains a portrait of the late Mr. T. Lockwood, a past member of the Council who died 45 years ago. It is to be restored and we are promised a copy. Mr. J. W. Raithby has not only given us the date of death of the late Rev. C. W. H. Grifliths, but also put us in the way for completion of his record. Mr. S. H. Symonds has obtained for us the date of death, of the late F. O. Moule by applying to Mr. Moule's former employers.
We end this Report with a word of welcome for new members who join the Council today. We hope they will fill in straight away as many facts as possible in the Biography Forms given to them, thus providing the necessary basis for a record which we or our successors will one day have to complete. Also, if these sentences should reach others who became members after 1935, of whom there are 76 who have not given the information we need. may we say 'Please collect a form and please fill it in.' We have no wish to bequeath to those who follow us the difficult problems which we have inherited from the past. A. C. HAZELDEN, Convener.
\(\mathrm{Mr} \mathrm{A} . \mathrm{C}\). Hazelden moved the adoption of the report and said that since the Handbook had been compiled some of the information had changed. There was now only one of the 1891 Council they knew nothing about-Mr. A. E. Nunn, of the Kent County Association.

Mr. W. H. Viggers seconded and called attention to the need of another cover to the album of the biographies; that would cost \(£ 25\).

\section*{TIME MARCHES ON:}

Our next issue is the first of a new quarter. Subscriptions due should be renewed without delay. Please remit to Mr. J. E. Jeater, Greystones, Cusgarne, near Truro, Cornwall. Rates: \(\mathbf{3}\) months \(7 / 6\); 6 months \(14 / 6 ; 12\) months \(51 / 8 /-\). New subscribers welcome.

The Standing Committee recommended the adoption of the report, subject to two small corrections-the Rev. C. W. H. Griffiths died in 1936, and the Rev. F. L1. Edwards attended 35 meetings and not 24 . The report was adopted and the committee re-elected, with Mr. A. C. Hazelden as convener.

\section*{COMMITTEE FOR THE REVISION OF HINTS TO INSTRUCTORS AND BEGINNERS}

At its meeting at Leicester last year the Council agreed that the publication : Hints to Instructors and Beginners' should be revised, and appointed us to submit a draft of a new book. In the course of the discussion mention was made of the possibility of the preparation of a film or film strips, and at the two meetings we held in London we considered this matter also. We had in mind the conflicting opinions expressed at the Council meeting as to the need for a book for instructors and/or beginners. In this connection we would point out that the existing book undoubtedly owes a proportion of its sales to the fact that it has been advertised as 'Hints to Beginners,' whereas its full title is 'Hints to Instructors and Beginners.' and indeed it starts with the statement that it is - addressed mainly to leaders of bands of ringers.'

It has seemed to us advisable to concentrate on a simple book for beginners. Whether there is a demand for a hook for instructors we do not know, but it could certainly not be great enough to ensure a large sale and therefore a moderate price. To attempt to combinc the two in one publication would increase the cost without a commensurate increase in sales, thus falling between two stools.
There is ample proof that, if written simply enough and if published at a very low price, there is a large demand for a book for beginners. If the price is right then a large proportion of the sales will be block sales of 5 or 10 , or similar numbers, to tower captains and instructors to pass on to their pupils.

We have accordingly prepared a draft of a booklet which has three parts to it:- (a) a description of a bell and how to ring it; (b) elementary change-ringing; and (c) the duties of a ringer. The possibility of having a number of full-page photographs, as in 'Hints, etc.,' is, we feel, ruled out by cost, but we have included small sketches to achieve the same end. This draft is still subject to revision and we would suggest that if, when completed, the draft is accepted, the Council should print a sufficient number ( 5,000 would not be too many) to make it possible to sell at a price certainly not above a shilling, and if practicable as low as sixpence a copy.

Ta avoid complicating what we regard as the major issuc, we make no proposals about the preparation of a book for instructors or film strips or a teaching film about change-ringing, though one of our number considers that the Council's library should possess a good teaching film for loan to those interested.

We recommend that a book for beginners on the lines of the draft submitted be printed and placed on sale at as low a price as possible. MARIE R. CROSS, J. T. DYKE,

\section*{R. F. B. SPEED,}
W. G. WILSON.

Miss M. R. Cross moved and Mr. W. G. Wilson seconded the adoption of the report.

The secretary said that the Standing Committee recommended that the report be accepted and that the committee be empowered to include such photographs and sketches as may be necessary, and that copies of the draft be made and sent to members of the Standing Committee to be returned in a specified time. They also recommended the re-election of the committee, with Miss Cross as convener.

The president: There is a crying and urgent need for it.
Mr. N. Chaddock asked if the proof could be made available to other members.
The president: I see no objection. Any comments would be welcome. The only thing is that Miss Cross wants the draft back quickly. It was suggested at the Standing Committee that the draft should be returned in three weeks.

Mr. F. J. Smallwood and Mr. Leslie Morris were both against circulating the draft to all members of the Council.
Mr. W. F. Moreton hoped that the committee in the future would be able to present some information as to a film strip on the teaching of ringing.

The report as amended by the Standing Committee was adopted.

\section*{ALTERATION OF RULES}

The Council agreed, on the proposition of the secretary, seconded by Mr. R. S. Anderson, to the following alteration of rules:-
(a) To amend Rule 9 (Election of Officers) by inserting the words 'Vice-President' between the words 'President' and 'Hon. Secretary where they occur.
(b) To amend Rule 11 (Committees), Clause (ii) (a), by adding at the end the words, and the Vice-President for the time being.
(c) To amend Rule 14 (Procedure at Meetings) by inserting the words ' or Vice-President after the word 'President' when it occurs.

\section*{STANDING COMMITTEE}

As the result of a ballot the following were elected to the Standing Committee: Messrs. W. B Cartwright, J. Freeman, C. K. Lewis. \(-\mathcal{F}\). I. Hairs, A. H. Pulling, P. A. Corby, R. A. Anderson. F. E. Dukes, Rev. A. G. G. Thurlow. Messrs. A. Walker, J. T. Dyke and T. J. Locke. The unsuccessful candidate was Mr. P. J. Johnson.

FLAMING June was an apt description of the first day of the month, when the Peterborough Diocesan Guild held its annual meeting at Rushden.

Being the first time the meeting had been held on a Saturday, it was approached with more than usual interest. It proved to be very successful, from the ringing arrangements which were carried out by Mr. A. Bigley, the Wellingborough Branch Secretary, and his committee, right on to the local details at Rushden, where the service and tea took place. Mr. L. Priestley made himself responsible for these, and the smoothness which attended each phase of the afternoon was particularly evident.

Owing to the proximity of business premises to the Church of St. Mary, ringing was allowed for only one hour before the service at 3.30 p.m., which was conducted by the Rector (Rev. I. E. Douglas-Jones). The resident organist and choir were in attendance and lent a striking dignity to the Guild office.

The Guild Master (Mr. B. P. Morris) read the lesson, and the Rector's address was based on the words "I am the Lord thy God.' He urged fingers not to be so engrossed in the art of ringing that it became more important than what it represented-service to Almighty God.

During the service a course of Grandsire Triples was rung on handbells at the entrance to the chancel by Messrs. A. Bigley, J. Skerritt, E. E. Whitmore and P. I. Chapman.

Tea was served in the Institute by St. Mary's catering committee, a body of about a dozen ladies, whose efficiency was matched by the very substantial meal. About 150 almost filled the room, among them being visitors from the Ely Diocesan Association and the Bedfordshire Association. The visitors were given the opportunity to ring at St. Mary's while the business was in progress, when the Guild Master presided.

\section*{A NEW PRESIDENT}

The president, the Ven. C. J. Grimes, D.D.. Archdeacon of Northampon. who had graced that office since 1943, had tendered his resignation, and the chairman took this opportunity 10 refer to his interest in the Guild over a long period. Two nominations had been sent inthe Rev. G. F. Hales, of Green's Norton, and the Rev. Canon G. F. Turner, of Rothwell. The result of the ballot proclaimed Canon Turner elected.

The Master (Mr. R. P. Morris) in his report Wrote: 'I need hardly remind ringers that Sunday service ringing is their first and foremost duty, and I do appeal to all ringers to be loyal to their respective bands. There have been one or two instances that have come to my notice of bells having been rehung but are either undermanned or silent. If this state of affairs persists, can it be wondered that Parochial Church Councils are loath to devote money for bell restoration schemes?

The general secretary (Mr. G. W. Jeffs) reported that the number of young members to be seen at meetings augured well for the future. The influx that year was good and went far towards balancing the loss of those who had lost interest. Membership was approximately 80 honorary and 1,060 ringing members.

The decline in the number of peals rung in 1956 might be regarded by some with despondency, but this view would not be shared by all. Out of a total of 39 , three firsts fo: the Guild were rung, and one of them the first in the method. The number of first peals meriting certificates was 17 , and three new conductors came to the fore.
A Guild committee amendment to rule, to raise the maximum amount which may be made at any one time to any tower, from the Bell Restoration Fund, from \(£ 20\) to \(£ 30\) was approved. The following grants were then also approved: \(£ 30\) each to Yelvertoft and North Luffenham, both of which are major restorations, and \(£ 20\) to Ringstead, where the ring of six is to be rehung.

Memocrs were reminded that the summer festival would take place at Green's Norton on Saturday, September 7th, when the Bishop of the Diocese would be present.

A well deserved and heartily acclaimed vote of thanks to all those concerned in the day's proceedings was moved by Mr. E. Nobles and seconded by Miss S. Collins.

Afterwards members dispersed again to ring at the 12 towers which were open until a late hour.

\section*{OBITUARY}

\section*{MR. JOHN CRAWFORD}

In the passing of Mr . John Crawford, of Epsom Common, the Surrey Association has lost a vice-president and Epsom a link with the past. The tower of Christ Church was completed in 1887 and in 189() the bells were hung by Messrs. Mears and Stainbank. A local band was formed and Mr. Crawford was the last survivor of this original hand. He rang his first peal on the bells in 1893. During his life he rang 41 peals for the Surrey Association, the last being in 1929.

During the war he lost his sight and took little active part in ringing thereafter. With the revival of ringing after the war, the Surrey Association made him a vice-nresident in acknowledgment of his services, which office he held for the 11 years to his death at the age of 86 .

Ringers from various parts of Surrey were at his funeral at Christ Church. Epsom, on June 14th. Mr. F. E. Collins. the Masicr, represented the Surrey Association. Mr. W. Parrott, the District secretary, represented the District, and Mr. F. Oakshott, the local captain, represented the Christ Church ringers. Among the wreaths were tributes from the Surrey Association and the Christ Church ringers.

After the service a louch of 504 Grandsire Triples was rung on the half-muffied bells by the following: F. Oakshott (Epsom) I. I. T. Symonds (Ashtead) 2. Mrs. H. Oatway (Croydon) 3, C. Parks (Croydon) 4. W. Parrott (Epsom) 5. A. Harman (Dorkine) 6. F. E. Collins (Croydon, conductor) 7, H. V. Young (Leatherhead) 8.

\section*{DEDICATION}

\section*{MEMORIAL TABLET TO GEORGE L. JOYCE}

On May 11 th 50 members of the SouthWestern District of the Essex Association, together with friends and family of the late George L. Joyce, gathered together at Ail Saints Church. Chigwell Row, for the dedication and unveiling of a tablet, which has been erected in the tower, commemorating the first peal ever rung of Spliced Surprise Minor in 22 methods, and as a lasting memorial to G. L. Joyce, who arranged and conducted the peal.

At the time this peal was rung, Spliced Surprise was in its infancy. George Joyce, in conjunction with A. G. Driver, was a pioneer in composition of this type of ringing. Many ringers will remember several articles on this subject which appeared in 'The Ringing World ' from the pen of 'Minor Mania,' a nom-deplume which he adopted.

The ceremony was conducted by the Vicar of All Saints (Rev. T. H. Furneaux), and the unveiling was performed by Mr. E. J. Butler, who was a member of the band which rang the peal. Mr. E. D. Smith, the only other surviving member, was also present. Members of the family of George Joyce present included Mrs. Joyce and his son, Malcolm.

After tea, tribute was paid by the Master of the Association (Mr. R. C. Heazel) to Mr. Joyce's ability as a composer and ringer, and also for his sterling work. mostly behind the scenes, on behalf of the Association. Mr. E. J. Butler, who was for 25 years secretary of the South-Western District, also paid tribute and recalled those happy days he spent with the Leytonstone band, and how George Joyce used to keep them on their mettle. His was the driving force behind all their achievements. It gave him great pleasure to be back in his old district again and meet old friends.

Mr. Malcolm Joyce, on behalf of his mother, thanked the Association and all present for their tribute to his father, and asked them not to forget other stalwarts of the Leytonstone band of that time, namely Messrs. G. Dawson, W. Miller, J. Moule, A. Prior and W. Theobald, who had now passed on.

The Vicar expressed his pleasure in being able to welcome the Association to Chigwell Row and to share in commemorating one who no doubt did a great deal for his fellow men.

peals of plain bob major
Dear Sir.-In answer to Mr. E. A. Bennett's challenge, and for the interest of other members of the Central Council. I quote the following:-

\section*{SINGAPORE CATHEDRAL}

Dear Sir.-I was very interested to read Mr. C. Michael Ormz's letter ('R.W: page 351) concerning the bells of the Cathedral Church-of St. Andrew. Singapore.
While I was in Singapore just over a year ago, I visited St. Andrew's and obtained permission to see these bells. I took measurements of the tenor, and at the time estimated its weight as 18 cwt., approximately.
The founders of this maiden octave are John Taylors (1889). I do not know if they hung them or whether focal labour was used.
I understood the dedication of the tenor to he St. Andrew, and not St. Audrey, but I may be mistaken on this point. I cannot remember all the dedications of each bell. but some of them are: St. Thomas, St. Peter, St. Luke, St. Bartholomew. St. John and St. Andrew. The remaining two escape my memory at the moment.
These bells, if hung for ringing, would make a splendid octave. Incidentally, I was told the cower was unsafe to take a swinging peal. This may be appreciated as there is an archway in each of the four walls at the base, and a tall spire surmounting the tower.
The Cathedral Church celebrated its centenary last year. Even heiofe 1856 a previous church (though smaller) stood on the same site, which was especially reserved for a church by the founder of Singapore. Sir Stampford Raffles. It had only a shori life of about 20 years, being struck by lightning twice in four years.-Yours faithfully,

\section*{FOUR-BELL TOWERS IN LINCOLNSHIRE}

Dear Sir.-Here is a complete list of 4 -bell towers in Lincolnshire up to 1935.

Asgarby (near Sleaford), Bassingthorpe-cumWestby, Baumber, Belton by Doncaster, Long Bennington, Great Cotes, Corby, Edlington (rehung 19021, Faldingworth. Glentham. Goxhill. Grasby, Hacconby, Harrington, Healing, Heighington. Hougham, Ingoldmells, North Killingholme. Kirkby-cum-Osgodby. Langton-byWragby Leasingnam (ricast 1617!), Leverton, Lincoln. St. Mary-le-Wigford. Orby, Scotter (rehung 1880), Scremby (cast 1739-40). Springthorpe. Stainby, Stallingborough, Stamford (St. John-lhe-Baptist and St. George's), Sutton-onSea, Tealby (rehung 192d), Tetney, Waddingham, Walcot. Welby, Westborough. Waplode Drove (in a small turret, rehung 1887), Wooton.
I would not like to say how many of these bells are ringable. but if anyone is searching for new names for methods, they certainly have some good ones here!
I would be very pleased if anyone could tell me about the hells at Gate Burton. Lincolnshire: there is no reference to them in Dov: but they are given by a usually reliable souree as being-six steel bells.-Yours sincerely.

JOHN E. COOK

\section*{LANCASHIRE ASSOCIATION \\ Rochdale Branch Outing}

The place chosen for this year's outing on May 25 th was Shrewsbury; and after collecting the Shaw, Oldham and Manchester contingents, we settled down for a pleasant drive through Cheshire. to the usual accompaniment of handbells. This year we had two sets of handbells, one at the front and one at the back, and the experts who sat in the middle tell us that it sounded to them like the bells of Jerusalem.

By the time we reached Crewe we were ready for the coffee which awaited us. Mr. Langford and his ringers gave us a great welcome at Christ Church, Crewe, and we thoroughly enjoyed this Gillett ten ( 20 cwt .), although we were not yet used to ringing together. So great had been our welcome that we were not surprised to find that the locals seemed loath to let us go. They put every obstacle they could in our way -milk carts, cars, vegetable wagons and play-streets-to mention just a few; but we finally got away by the clever stratagem of leaving by the same road as we entered.
At Whitchurch, where we were welcomed by a local ringer, we found that these bells were for the more experienced. The less experieneed after the initial pull to 'grah' the tower. spent their time looking round the lovely old church and trying to extract the name of the restaurant from the organisers.
After a good lunch. we felt well equipped to tackle the reputedly difficult ten at St. Mary's, Shrewsbury. Our hopes proved too optimistic and we did not do ourselves justice on these bells. However, our spirits rose as we neared St. Chad's, to hear our 'youngsters ' ringing come good call-changes on the lovely 12 . We found these bells more to our liking and had a very enioyable time on them. Mr. Bennett asked if we would overstay our time a little so that the curate and his bride would hear the bells as they relurned from their honeymoon. To this we readily agreed, and a good touch of Stedman Triples on the back eight closed ringing here.

After a substantial tea we found ourselves a little behind schedule for the first time in the day. However the drive to Market Drayton was accomplished in good time. to the accompaniment of tunes on the handte.ls bv two of nur visitors. Our driver, who throughout the day had become more and more convinced of our madness, succumbed to 'the complaint, and supplemented the tunes with a horn obbligato. After stoming at the wrong Drayton we arrived at St. John's. Marker Dravton. where the ringing was mixed. We left Market Dravton in the accommaniment of a enod tnuch of Yorkshire by the local band and friends.

The drive home was uneventful by ringind ctandards. We left our Rolton friends twin-and-a-half minutes to catch the last train and werm iust relaxing in the knowledge that all was well when the coach inok a dive to the nearside and rlouds of amoke billowed from the seized brake drum. However after various telenhonings a renlacement cnach was obtained and we were all driven safely home.

Methods rung during the day ranged from Camhridge through most ctandard methods to rounds a persistent cry of 'Duffield heing isnored by our Ringine Master, in whom we extend nur very hest thanks for his organisation and dinlomacy throuphout the day. We would alon likn to thank all the clerev. rinoors and others whon made this dav nossible and eniovahle. int least of these our driver. whom we sn affected with our madness that he offeren to take us again next year!

\section*{At Chepstow}

On June 8th the wedding took place at St. Mary's Church, Chepstow, of Mr. David J. King, elder son of Mr. and Mrs. J. King, and Miss Jacqueline S. Evans, only daughter of Mr. C. Evans.

Both are very faithful members and ringers at this church. The bride holds the office of secretary to the Monmouth Branch of the Llandaff and Monmouth Association and of the South Wales Branch of the Ladies' Guild. Mr. King is the present Ringing Master of the Monmouth Branch.
Canon Ernest Evans (Vicar) officiated, assisted by the Rev. Ivor J. Richards, Vicar of Llanarth and treasurer of the Llandaff and Monmouth Association.
The bride, who was given away by her father, was attired in a dress of ivory brocade with a shoulder-length veil, held in place by a coronet of pearls and orange blossom. Ske carried a posy of pink roses. She was attended by Miss L. Brookes and Miss P. Jones, who wore blue nylon over stiffened taffeta, with headdresses to match, and carried posies of cream roses.
The best man was Mr. Mervyn King, brother of the bridegroom, and the duties of usher were carried out by Mr. John Morgan.

The reception was held at the Beaufort Hotel. Chepstow, attended hy 50 guests. Included among these were ringers from a very wide area.
Afterwards Mr . and Mrs. King left for Chelmsford to attend the annual meeting of the Central Council. Mrs. King is one of the two representatives for the Llandaff and Monmouth Association. Following this, their honeymoon was spent in London.

\section*{At Haslemere}

The wedding was solemnised by the Rt. Rev. B. M. Dale at the Church of St. Bartholomew, Haslemere, on June 15th, between Miss Margaret L. Bowden and Mr. Brian L. T. Toms. The bride was given away by her father, who is secretary of the tower.
After the servic: 1.260 Grandsire Triples was rung by Janet Miles 1. A. Qucen 2. John McDermott 3, Eve Pearson 4, Mary Cox 5, C. Pound 6. H. Gauntlett (conductor) 7, I. B. Sidebotham 8
The many friends of the happy pair. together with the local ringers, were entertained at the wedding reception at St. Quentin's, the home of the bride's parents.

Dr. Isobel C. Mitchell, of Woking, who became a member of the Horsell band a little more than a year ago, rang the treble to a quarter peal of Grandsire Doubles for evening service on Whitsunday, at the first attempt. Dr. Mitchell would like to thank the singers of Worplesdon, Guildford. Stoke and Horsell for the 1 ind help they have so willingly given her, also to individual ringers who have helped her at meetings.

\section*{RINGING IN ENGLAND 80 YEARS AGO}

\section*{Extracts from 'Church Bells, 1879-80}
THE BISHOP OF MANCHESTER ON BELL-RINGING
Preaching at a service at an annual meeting of the Lancashire Association of Change-ringers, the Bishop is reported to have said that some strange ideas sometimes possessed the popular mind. Sometimes churchwardens thought that they had absolute control of church bells, sometimes the minister thought that he alone possessed the control over them, and sometimes the ringers themselves thought they had a right to ring the bells just when they pleased. It happened that four of the Canons on the Church distinctly laid down the law. . . . These were the 15 th. 67 th, 88 th and 111 th, and they showed that the minister and the churchwardens together were the persons who should determine whether on any particular occasion church bells should be rung.

SONNING DEANERY SOCIETY OF CHANGE-RINGERS
Herbeit C. Sturges, of Wargrave Vicarage. one of the committee, writes expounding changeringing and includes: 'All that the round-ringer does is simply to perform a full monotonous manual exercise, which makes no demand upon his brain, and as often as not drives him to the public house to drown his weariness, while the listener looks forward to the time when the bells will cease from troubling him.

\section*{THE WORLD'S BIRTHDAY PEAL. RUNG AT CHRIST CHURCH. LIVERSEDGE, YORKSHIRE}

On Saturday, February 28th (1880), eight members of the Bradford St. Peter's contingent of the Ancient Society of College Youths, London, rans at the above church in 3 hours 27 minutes, and in honour of the composer's 80th birthday, an extraordinary Date Peal, consisting of 5,884 changes in the Kent Treble Bob method. This peal was especially composed for the occasion by Mr. W. Sottanstall, of Sowerby, Halifax. The changes represent the number of year that have elapsed since man's creation

\section*{RINGING AT ELECTIONS}

We have received several letters from Conservatives and Liberals justly complaining of the prostitution of the bells of the Church on such occasions. We can only raise our voice against it, and trust that on any future occasion the authorities will be on the alert not to allow a repetition of such unseemly practice.

THE "FIFTEEN" PUZZLE
A few months ago I saw a puzzle which, under the above name, after becoming a fashionable craze in America, is now rapidly being introduced into England. My excuse for mentioning this matter in your pages is that it is the only form in which I have ever met with the in- and out-of-course changes outside the science of change-ringing. The following brief explanation may be of interest to your readers. This puzzle consists of a box which contains 16 small wooden cubes, which are numbered on the top sides from 1 to 16 . When the one numbered 16 is removed from the box, and the others placed in any indiscriminate order, the solution consists in shifting them about, without removing any one of them from the box, so that the cubes are at last arranged as here shown, the blank space being left in the bottom line.

As the order in which the cubes are originally placed happens to be in- or out-of-course, so the solution is possible or impossible. In the latter case the nearest approach is \(13,15,14\).

The amusing part of the matter is the amount of perseverance that has been displayed in America in endeavouring to overcome this latter difficulty, and I dare say the same amount of ingenuity will now be spent on it in England. For the first time, mathematicians-at least those in America-have become aware of the existence of this quality in the arrangement of figures which has for so long only been known to change-ringers. I may add that a simple form of the puzzle may be produced by cutting the necessary squares out of stout cardboard.

Netta ' wrote saying it was always possible to do the puzzle by shifting the box so the bottom and top become the sides.

Snowdon replies saying this will not do-it is contrary to an unwritten law of the game.
J. Drinkwater, of Sandhurst, Glos, points out that the number of positions that the 15 squares can be placed in are \(1,307,674,368,000\).

Jasper W. Snowdon has a letter published showing that he had received a large number of applications for 'Rope-Sight,' ' now (May 29th, 1880) out of print.' and asking ringers for criticisms so that he could consider them when preparing the second edition. He particularly asks beginners to let him know if passages in the first edition are not clear to them.

\section*{AT DEBENHAM, SUFFOLK}
- The 8 bells of the above church (tenor 20 cwt.) having been reh.ung by Messrs. Day and Son, were re-opened on Whit Monday (1880)

\section*{BELFRY-REFORM MEETING AT CANTERBURY}
-A meeting of gentlemen interested in the art of change-ringing was held in the chapter-house of the Cathedral on Tuesday, 18th ult. (i.e., 18th May, 1880) ... to take preliminary steps to form an association of change ringers, the object of which would be to promote belfry reform. and encourage the revival of the ancient and noble art of change-ringing

The company included the Dean, the Mayor, the Bishop of Dover, Bishop Oxenden, Archdeacon Harrison, four other clergy and Col. Knight
- A few ladies also were present.

\section*{ESSEX ASSOCIATION OF CHANGERINGERS}
- The first Anniversary Meeting of this Association was held at Writtle on Whitsun Monday.

Received also-_J. R. Jerram (we cannot enter into local jealousies):
- Messrs. Llewellyn and James, of Bristol, wish it to be known that they have an order for a ring of six bells for a parish near Merthyr Tydvil, South Wales, but that the public subscriptions run short. Surely there is nothing uncommon in that! When the bells are set up we shall be pleased to report their opening. especially if done with a sacred service of dedi-cation.-Ed.'

\section*{AT LAVENHAM, SUFFOLK}
- The 68th anniversary of these famous bells was held on Mon., 21 st inst. (i.e., 21st July. 1880). . . Ringing commenced early in the morning and the bells were rung by the different companies in good style until ten o'clock at night . . . . Seventy-eight sat down to dinner The tower is 145 feet high and 42 feet square.

On Tues. evening, 6th inst. (i.e., 6th July. 1880), in commemoration of the thirteenth anniversary of the opening of the bells at St. Mary-le-Tower

\section*{LIGHT BELLS v. HEAVY BELLS}

Sir,-The new system adopted by some bellfounders of putting an unusual quantity of metal into a bell of a given note has now been in vogue long enough to enable a comparison to be made between the old-fashioned and the new-fashioned bells. Those of your readers who have not paid attention to the point will be surprised to know that a firm which adopts the new style can put upwards of 30 cwt . of a bell which will give a note almost identical in pitch with that of a bell of the old fashion weighing less than 15 cwt . I have heard five or six of the new-fashioned rings, and I cannot find in them that decided superiority which they should show to make up for the vastly-increased expenditure of money, gear and tissue which their adoption entails.. Of course when a ring of twelve is required heavy bells are necessary; but those who have been at King's Lynn know that even a good C has been obtained from 30 cwt . of metal. On the other hand, for a village tower, nothing could be more satisfactory that the eight at Drayton, Berks. with a tenor less than 10 cwt . The conclusion seems to be that those who have adopted the new fashion are on the wrong tack, and the sooner they go about the better. Why give more?

\section*{A SUGGESTION ABOUT TENORS}
' Sir,-The present way of reporting the weight of tenors is most inaccurate and unsatisfactory. To take one example only: in "Church Bells" of 20 July, 1878, I was put down at 19 cwt.: four weeks later I was put down at 24 cwt .: and now, in the last number, at 26 cwt. At page 50 of that most useful book, the Change-Ringer's Guide, I am given as weighing 25 cwt ., and at p. \(84,19 \mathrm{cwt}\). When the weight of a tenor is, accurately known the report should take this form: "Ascertained weight of tenor cwt." When the weight is not known, the diameter of the bell should be taken and the report should run: "Reputed weight of tenor cwt. : diameter -inches." The last-mentioned particular would draw attention to any wild statement as to the weight. The weight of all bells in a tower ought to be neatly recorded on a board in the belfry. When new work is done in the tower, the opportunity should not be lost.

The Tenor of New College, Oxford.'

\section*{FOOLISH THOUGHTS OF A FOOLISH RINGER}

\section*{A Duologue Between Self and Reason}

‘TTHIS really is the end! I'm going to give up ringing for good.'
'You're going to what?' (That's the voice of Reason.)
'I'm going to give up ringing.'
'But for heaven's sakes, why?
' I think it's nearly time. Three times I've tried to ring a quarter peal of Grandsire Triples, and three times it's failed because of my stupidity. And to crown it all, tonight I completely botched up a quarter peal of Grandsire Doubles. Grandsire Doubles, mind you, and I can really ring that standing on my head. It was in the last five minutes, too-I completely forgot what I was supposed to be doing and wrecked the whole thing.'
'And because of that you'ro giving up ringing?'
'Well, one can't go on for ever mucking up quarter peals. Besides, it's wasting people's time. In any case, I spend far too much time ringing as it is, and getting precisely nowhere. There's no doubt about it, I'm not cut out to be a ringer.'
' You've learned a lot about the elementary methods. At least you've got a theoretical knowledge, which is important, and it hasn't worked out too badly in practice most of the time.'
' But I just can't seem to get on any further, and I do the silliest things. The other day I was trying to ring Stedman. I thought I knew the slow work off by heartcouldn't go wrong, but I made a complete mess of it. It just isn't any good going on.'
'So, because you failed to ring a quarter peal . . . .'
'Quarter peals!'
'All right-quarter peals-you're going to give in. Just like that.'
'Well, I'm becoming frustrated. That's what it is. And frustration is a bad thing. You get all mixed up and bitter -any psychologist will tell you that.'
' It doesn't sound like frustration to me, but much more like a deflated ego. L believe it really amounts to the fact that you're not as good as you thought you were. You want to be one of those people who never make mistakes. who are always right-no matter what. They cannot put a foot (or should it be rope?) wrong. They become very tedious you know, and are often as not the most shocking bores. Do you really want to get like that because you've temporarily lost your sense of humour? Supposing every ringer, when he'd had a bad patch, took the attitude that he was going to give up-it would be a pretty poor lookout wouldn't it? Plenty of silent towers up and down the country.'
'Well . . . '
'And another thing. What about all the friends you've made? Goodness knows, you've always flogged the idea of friendship in ringing. Are you going to give all that up because you haven't been able to ring a few quarter peals recently? What about all the kind people you met when you visited those towers in Lancashire the other week? Weren't you thrilled about the friendliness and welcome you found there? You said you were looking forward to going again next year. And didn't you tell one of the ringers that you would be ringing Kent Treble Bob by then?'
'Well, yes.
'If you're supposed to be giving up ringing you won't be able to fulfil that promise, will you?'
' Well, no. . . .'
'And then there is a little matter of your duty to God and the Church.'
' I'm beginning to think I've been talking out of the back of my head.'
' I'm sure you have. If you start to lose your sense of humour over things, you won't be a good ringer, and you certainly won't be a great deal of use to the ringing fraternity.'
'All right, Reason, stop it. I give in.'
'And you are going to carry on ringing.'
'Yes, gladly.'
'You're going for that quarter again ?'
'Yes, I'll even call the blooming thing!'
'Good-I didn't think you were really serious about giving up.'
' I'm quite sure I wasn't. I enjoy ringing and ringing company too much to really want to give it up. They were just the foolish thoughts of a foolish ringer.'

NANCY E. KEMPSELL.

\section*{AN OLD RINGERS DAY}
' I cannot help fecling,' writes E. A., 'that the outing arranged by Mr. E. Buck, president of the Herts County Association, on June 1st, was partly for my benefit. At the first tower. Soham, a lovely ten to ring, I rang the fifth to my first Grandsire Caters since 1908.
- In my home town. Bury St. Edmunds, we were met by many old friends. After ringing at St. Mary's came lunch, and sitting by my side at table was A. E. Moore, my old tutor, whom 1 had not seen for 48 years. The other was Mr. A. Rolfe, a pupil of mine in the early 1900's.

Many memories of old friends were brought back when we rang on the heayy ten at the Norman tower, as it was here that the greater part of my ringing was done 50 or more years ago.
'At Lavenham there were Mr. Stedman Symonds and Mr. W. F. Ayers to meet ws. The last time I saw Stedman was 48 years ago, when we three were in a peal together at Lavenham on March 6th. 1909 : today we are the only survivors. Halfway through this peal the gas went out. Stedman appealed to us to carry on : the moon shining through the windows helped to show the shirt-sleeves going up and down. The peal was rung but the second half took several minutes longer. Tea followed some good ringing, and then Stedman entertained us with tune ringing on his tiny handbells.
- Two good eights, Long Melford and Clare. followed, with some good touches of Stedman, Cambridge, and other Surprise methods. Grandsire and Plain Bob. A well-arranged supper a few miles away brought our very pleasant outing to an end.'

\section*{THE LADIES' GUILD Yorkshire District}

On June 8th a quarterly mecting of the Yorkshire District was held at Whiston, near Rotherham. During the afternoon and evening the delightfully pleasant ring of eight bells was kept going in methods ranging from Bob Doubles to Surprise Major. A course of Siedman Triples was rung entirely by ladies, this being the first course in the method in the District, by ladies, for very many years.

After a delicious tea. the business meeting was held, at which four new members were elected. Other business included a discussion on the change of the rules of the Guild. The large altendance of ladies was very heartwarming, and it is hoped that it will be repeated at the next meeting to be held at Bolsover in October.

\section*{Western District}

A quarterly meeting of the Western District was held at Lyme Regis on Whit Saturday where, in spite of thunderstorms inland, we were bathed in brilliant sunshine. For the benefit of those travelling from remote parts of this somewhat scattered district, ringing was arranged at Whitchurch Canonicorum and Broadwindsor.
The business meeting at Lyme Regis was preceded by a short service, conducted by the Vicar, and at the conclusion of tea a vote of thanks was passed to Canon C. C. Cox, who had rendered valuable assistance in making arrangements for the day's ringing.

At the meeting one new member was elected - Mrs. Davis, of Lyme Regis. It was agreed that the next June meeting should be held in the Yeovil district. and it is hoped to hold the next quarterly meeting on September 14ih at Malmeshury.

\section*{DEDICATION OF MEMORIAL TO FORMER CHESTER GUILD MASTER}

At Evensong in the Parish Church of St. Mary, Liscard, Wallasey, on June 1st, a tablet was dedicated to the memory of Mr. John W. Milner, a great friend and servant of ringers in Cheshire. The choral service was conducted by the Vicar (Rev. F. W. Stephens), assisted by Rev. Austin Edwards, Vicar of St. Columba's Wallasey. The dedication was performed by Rev. A. Edwards, who spoke in appreciation of Mr. Milner's life and work.
The stone tablet is plain with gilt-inseribed lettering, and the inscription reads:-
- John William Milner 1864-1952
Sometime Warden of this Church A' Member of the Church Assembly
A keen Secretary of the Church of England Men's Society and Master of the Chester Diocesan Guild of Church Bell Ringers
An active friend 10 all Christian endeavour A beloved husband and father.'
To mark the occasion a pcal was rung at the Parish Church he served so well, and Branch members also rang the bells again for the service.
The peal band would like to express thanks to Miss R. Milner for her generous hospitality on this occasion.

LEATHERHEAD. SURREY.-On Whit Sunday, 1.260 Grandsire Triples: T. Cross 1. Patricia Smee 2. A. H. Winch (cond.) 3, C. Smart 4, G. Marriner 5. B. Hawkins 6, A. H. Smith 7, H. V. Young 8. For Evensong.

Golden wedding congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. William Henry Humberstone, of Wigston Magna, Leicester, the happy anniversary taking place on June 20th. The event was honoured by a peal on June 15 th, which was also a welcome to the new Vicar, the Rev. Basil I. Davies. Afterwards there were liquid refreshments, at the Vicarage. For over 50 years ' Bill' has rung for Matins and Evensong at Wigston Magna with consistent regularity. Alas, his respiratory organs will no longer permit him to climb the long wooded spiral staircase to the belfry.
After a ban lasting several months, the bells of Sweffling, Suffolk, are now available for ringing, writes Mr. Alan R. Bridges.
We regret to hear of the passing of Mr. Charles Smith, of All Saints', Boyne Hill, on June 22 nd, aged 71 years.

The bells of St. Paulinus', Crayford, will be out of action for several months while extensive war damage repairs to the tower are carried out.
Sheffield and District Society are mecting at Harthill on July 6th, where the new band rang their first course of Plain Bob Doubles on the back six on June 3rd.
The band who rang the peal of Surflect Surprise Minor at Willingham, Cambs, on June 22nd, had not struck a blow in the method previously
The Vicar of Gorleston, in his June magazine, denies any danger of collapse of the church. He writes: 'I have not yet received the estimate from the bell founders, but it certainly looks as though we shall have the bells ringing again in a few weeks. We have yet to have the architect's advice about necessary strengthening of the tower.'

\section*{BEI.FRY GOSSIP}

A correspondent writes: Mr. Barker may be perfectly right about the peal of Plain Bob Major at Dartford in 1921, but he is a long way out in adding that this was the late Thos. Groombridge's (jun.) first peal as conductor, who was calling peals before the \(1914-\) 18 war. The writer's memories of 'young Tom's' first peals as conductor were Grandsire Triples and Double Norwich at Eynsford, Kent, around 1910.
We apologise to Miss Jean Barnett for a changed surname when she presented the bouquet to Mrs. Lewis at Chelmsford (see p. 398).
Pressure on our news space has prevented us from publishing at once all the ringers' outings received. We hope to catch up with arrears at an early date.
Mr. F. W. Goodfellow was the hon. secretary of the dinner committee that arranged the diamond jubilee dinner of the Middlesex Association. The general secretary of the Association is Mr. T. J. Lock.
The second number of 'The Ringers' Magazine' is now published. Life stories of Charles \(F\). Winney and Henry W. Haley are among the varied contributions.

In the quarter peal at Whitchurch, Oxon, on June 17th,. the treble was rung without a stay. The band thank Mr. John F. Carter for his perseverance.
The meeting of the Southern District of Durham and Newcastle Association at Gainford started with visitors having to splice the rope of No. 3 which broke during the first touch, and finished at 7.45 p.m. due to the rope of No. 4 breaking. However, between these times a successful meeting was had by the 24 ringers and friends who attended.

\title{
} ACADEMIC TITLES NOT WANTED BY COUNCIL OVERWHELMING VOTE

The first motion to be considered was: "That this Council as the representative assenbly of all change-ringing associations deprecates the proposed introduction of academic titles for ringers, particularly by a body which is not recognised or affiliated to the Council.'

Mr. P. A. Corby, in moving the motion, said the 14 -day rule did not provide for the proceedings of the Council because one observed that one or two people had tried to get their shot in first. The other point on procedure might well be that persons who were active with the Institution that was coming under consideration were interested parties, and as such should not take part in debate on the subject. Of course, they would not wish to deny them that right.

\section*{DEMOCRATIC PRINCIPLES}

It was said that they lived in a democratic age, and of all institutions the ringing Exercise had been able to claim to be more democratic than most. In a democratic state there must be a considerable amount of freedom, but that must not be interpreted as freedom to do what they liked, Anarchy would only result from that.

He would seriously put before the Council that over 69 years thcy had established a place in the ringing Exercise where their principles were accepted not because they tricd to force things on people but because they came there and debated them and passed resolutions that were accepted by ringers at large.

It was therefore disconcerting that at the instance, in the first place of one man (he would not be certain of that), but in some way or another various members of their Council, although present at last year's Council meeting went away with an idea in their minds, which for good or ill must have an effect on the future of the ringing Exercise. This scheme they dished up in the ringers' own journal.

The purpose of the motion was not to condemn the College of Campanology-rather they wished to assert that the Council should be the body to decide whether or not a College should be established. He did not think it could ever he a good thing for people to start on individual lines of action on such a large and ambitious scale as has been attempted. He hoped in the debate they should hiear from those members of the Council whose names had figured so prominently in the Press but who hitherto had maintained a very tactical silence.

\section*{DISCOURTESY TO COUNCIL}

It would be remembered that when the correspondence started the point he claborated upon. discourtesy to the Council had never been answered. If all those members of the Council heartily supported the thing, where was the answer when they were challenged on discourtesy? It might be said, to the best of his knowledge and belief, no official approach had been made to the Guilds and Associations. Certainly nothing had been 'made to the Association he represented.

Pointing out that there were no distinctions of rank among ringers, Mr. Corby said pcers of the realm. bishops, archdeacons. priests and representatives of many walks of life all rubbed shoulders together. He often wished that his boss was a ringer because he felt it would be an opportunity to take it out of him in the belfry That was the state of affairs they wished to continue. Let them judge pcople on the merits of their performances and not on degrees.

He felt to a certain extent that the College was bascd on misconception. In ringing it was not the prowess of the individual but the team work. 'You can have seven professors of campanology, but if you have one rabbit with them you will not ring a good peal . . .v. We don't want a number of exalted individuals but a band that will ring together, capable of producing the best.'

\section*{MANUAL AND 'R.W.'}

Mr. J. T. Dunwoody, seconding, said he did not wish to be construed as condemning the College, but the way it was brought into being. Last year they discussed a handbook for beginners, and some of those people who discussed it were connected with the College, and yet not one word came out about it. He felt in that way they had donc them a dishonour. He felt that if the College wanted a manual they should have published it at their own expense. [Hear, hear.]

Mr. J. F. Smallwood supported the motion. The award of diplomas and certificates, he said, was made so that these people could swank their powers before their fellows.

Mr. Bernard Ashford said the motion was discussed at considerable length by members in his area and while little was expressed of the value of the College, a great deal was expressed that the Central Council's own journal was used to publicise the College. 'Village Bells' and other publications, he pointed out, were financed by their authors. He gave his full support to the motion.

Mr. N. Chaddock felt that the College of Campanology made a big mistake in bringing in these titles.

The Rev. A. G. G. Thurlow said he had let his name go forward as chaplain to the College, but when the invitation came to him it stated that his services would not be needed just yet. They lived in an age when the running down of titles was popular. But the title of M.D. was one of value in cases of illness. If there was something worth while in the idea behind titles then it was for a deeper brain than his. It seemed to him that the best policy was not to take sides but to try and find what good there was behind it.

\section*{'NO NEED OF AN EXAMINATION}

Mr. C. W. Roberts said in the past they had always managed to get along without any distinctions, qualifications, or call them what they would. The art of ringing was democratic. Possibly 12 or 13 join under a good instructor. Out of those 13 one emerges who is head and shoulders above the rest: he needs no qualifications. As soon as those who organise peals or quarter peals hear of him his place is assured. There was no need of an examination. His point was it was not necessary to bring out the qualifications this outside body wishes to impose. If qualifications were necessary, there was only one body to decide, and that was the Council, which was the voice of the representatives of the various associations. He wished to protest most strongly against the imposition of any qualifications. When one took hold of a rope for Stedman Cinques one did not have to look for qualifications.
Mr. Philip Gray pointed out that there were a tremendous number of towers with no ringers and a tremendous number indifferently staffed. Any body which tried to do something for these towers should not be frowned upon. He did not want the Council to discourage anybody who did anything outside the Council.

The Rev. J. G. M. Scott thought the motion was unnecessary. If these titles were empty then nobody would take any notice of them. There were numbers of people up and down the country who took up high-sounding titles but they did not pass an Act of Parliament to forbid them to do so

Dr. E. S. J. Hatcher said in opposing the motion he was not doing so as a representative of his Association. There was no way the College of Campanology could be represented there, and as it was not represented it was not legal. It would be more sensible if the Council were to do its best to enable those who were thinking along these lines to have some sort of encouragement. That morning the name of Mr. York-Bramble was put forward for honorary membership. They knew the result. He thought what Mr. York-Bramble had done was to focus very effectively their attention on the problem of teaching ringing in the early stages. He had not suddenly started this; he had been working on it for a very long time.
Dr. Hatcher said he had known Mr. YorkBramble for ten years, and one of his ideas was that the method of teaching ringers could be put on a standardised basis so that they could compare the results of instruction with various places and various times. Two years ago in a series of articles in 'Topics of the Month' one was on the question of a manual for ringing and a college of campanology. At the end of the article he suggested a possibility that this idea might be sponsored by the Council.

COUNCIL 'SHIED' OFF THE PROBLEM
Last year the Council considered the question of teaching and instructing and set up a small committee to produce a book for beginners and instructors. It was interesting to see the result -the draft of a book for beginners; but the idea of something for instructors was put in a subsidiary role. The point was that the Council had 'shied' off the problem of producing instructors. The idea of these titles was not, as had been interpreted, as giving an air of snobbery. The value of the College was not in the award but the discipline in the training system. The Exercise would not go from strength to strength unless it faced up to the problem of instructors. It was suggested that the Council should be the pioneer authority on ringing matters. The College of Campanology proposed to work towards its recognition by the Council and applied in its instructions the rules and decisions of the Council. By accepting the motion the Council would be doing a disservice to itself.

Mr. F. B. Lufkin said he was unhappy about voting for the motion. He knew nothing about the College except what they published. which he was pleased they put in. He did not know Mr. York-Bramble or the people who supported him. If there was any good in the College it would survive. Personally, judging from the matter in 'The Ringing World,' it would be a total flop. He thought the matter ought to be ignored: it would then find its own level.

\section*{'A SNOB VALUE}

The Rev. K. W. H. Felstead said the last speaker had said he did not know Mr. Bramble. Some in the front of the hall did. Knowing him quite seriously from experience of what had happened in the past (he might be wrong). if they give Mr. Bramble an inch he took a yard. They found that out in the Methods Committee, and when they were in difficulties the person in the background causing their troubles was Mr. Bramble. The speaker said he was quite willing and ready to see the Council support some scheme for instructors-no letters after their names. In spite of what Mr. Thurlow had said, knowing Mr. Bramble, such things as letters did loom rather large in his mind, as one had only to see 20 or so after his name. There was in this a snob value which they did not want. He had pleasure in supporting the motion.

Mr. R. G. Blackman commented that there was a possibility that there might be things in the manual that might prove of value in bringing along young ringers, While he agreed with the speakers in deploring those with letters after their names, they must remember that all teachers had got to have the confidence of their pupils, and in some cases letters might help.

Mr. Bernard Ashford: We must not lose sight of the fact that this Council has been treated with contumacy.

Mr. George W. Fletcher: As I read this, resolution, do we believe in titles or don't we?

The motion was then put to the meeting and carried, only eight votes being cast against.
A voice: You have passed this resolution. After all this talking you cannot enforce it.

\section*{IS THE COLLEGE NEEDED? \\ Council Reach No Conclusion}

The second notice of motion relating to the College read:: "That this Council, while appreciating the good intentions of the organisers. considers that the so-called College of Campanology is unlikely to prove of any service to the furtherance of the art of change ringing: and therefore that no form of official recognition whatever be accorded to the organisation. In addition, valuable space in the Council's official organ, "The Ringing World," should not be wasted by the publication of any further "College Manuals." the Exercise being already well supplied with instruction manuals.'
The president suggested that the notion dealt with two separate subjects and should be treated accordingly.

Mr. Peter N. Bond said he was submitting the motion on behalf of the Society of Royal Cumberland Youths, and he denicd a suggestion that they were indicting the Editor or "The Ringing World Committee. They felt that the College was not the best way of gaining recruits and that it sounded too much of the college lecture room or university. When these hoys saw a blackhoard and tutor they were likely to be turned away.

\section*{‘ROPESIGHT` ADEQUATE}
- Is such an organisation needed? I have read this manual and 1 can only understand a quarter. If this type of organisation is allowed I can see in the future that if a ringer goes into a tower he will be asked if he has a diploma. and if he has not he will not be allowed to ring. I maintain that the requirements to produce a good ringer are not to be found in an academic college. I agree there is some need for a training manual for instructors. I maintain that a book like "Ropesight" would give all that is required.
'We feel that an organisation like this is not likely to benetit the Sunday service ringers. They ars the people we represent. The average Sunday service ringer is not interested in eertificates or diplomas. The St. John's School at Bristol has done a wonderful work without a manual. We think that the people who have organised the College have little understanding of the difficulties of the average village tower. If the possession of a College diploma is the qualification of a trained ringer then I would say there are very few trained ringers. I think one of the greatest charms of the Exercise is the informality of the belfry, and we do not think it would be right to turn the belfry into the common room for evening classes.'

Mr. F. E. Hawthorne, in seconding, said his Society asked that the Council would not give its official recognition; this was entirely different from saying that they deprecated it. Many of his Society's members took exception to the Manual being published in "The Ringing World.

\section*{A BIBLICAL EXAMPLE}

The Rev. J. G. M. Scott said he agreed with all the last clause. About 2,000 years ago a motion of this sort was passed by the Sanhedrin. This was a motion which was quite untrue and brought ridicule on the body which passed it. He did not believe that the College of Campanology had acted rightly. It should have applied for affiliation or recognition by the Council. For them to look into the future and say that they did not consider the College was to prove of any further service was a silly thing to do because if they were right there was no need to pass such a resolution, and if they were wrong they would be fools.
He would like to move as an amendment that the Council deprecated the use of invaluable space in "The Ringing World by the College of Campanology, that body not having applied for recognition by the Central Council. The Rev. K. W. H. Felsread seconded the amendment.

Mr. R. S. Anderson said that so far as the motion was concerned he felt that the Council should reject it out of hand. A lot had been said about what was to be put in "The Ringing World.: He acknowledged that "The Ringing World, was the property of the Council and was its official journal. but it was also the only paper of its kind in this country. If the Manual had not been printed they would have had nothing to talk about. He was not going to apologise. He thought the Council should reject the motion.

The Rev. J. G. M. Scott: In view of what has been said about 'The Ringing World,' I ask to withdraw my motion.
The Rev. K. W. H. Felstead: I would like the second part to go on. I do not think the College of Campanology should have published its Manual in 'The Ringing World.' He therefore moved the amendment.

Mr. W. Wilson seconded the amendment.
Mr. P. A. Corby asked in what way could the College of Campanology be affiliated to the Central Council.

\section*{NEED OF INSTRUCTORS}

Mr. Norman Chaddock said he had had his name connected in a minor way with the College and had been asked to act as an examiner and had agreed to. He personally thought that the greatest need today was for more competent instructors, and any effort that might achieve some success in that direction was worth a trial. They had a Boy Scout and Girl Guide ringer's badge and he had never heard anyone deprecating that badge. He thought the best thing would be to disregard it. He thought the Manual was well worth publishing.
Mr . C. K . Lewis deprecated the use of space in 'The. Ringing World ' by the publication of the Manual. It was a waste of space. His main objection to the College was that "it flies in the face of educational thought-that you learn by doing and not by being taught. The average child is not academic, and the best way is to put his hand in the end of the rope and let him try.

The Rev. A. G. G. Thurlow thought there was some good in the general idea behind it, if they started by calling it a school of ringing instead of a College of Campanology. About 'The Ringing World,' what a pity they did not think of inserting the Manual as an advertisement: what a lot of trouble they would have saved.

Mr. G. Pullinger suggested the motion be adjourned to next year. The College might fill a want. They should leave it to the good sense of ringers. After all, when the Council was first formed it was said it would not last two years.

Mr. J, R. Mayne said a good many did not believe it represented a good method of teaching. Because the Manual was published in 'The Ringing World ' there was a danger that people might think it had the stamp of authority.

Mr. E. A. Barnett proposed and Mr. F. E. Dukes seconded that the Council pass on to the next business. This was carried with four dissentients.

\section*{DANGER OF LIGHTS BEING SWITCHED OFF}

The motion was proposed by Mr. A. C. Hazelden and seconded by Mr. F. I. Hairs: -That the attention of the responsible Electrical or Ecclesiastical Authority be drawn to the dangerous practice of permitting bell chamber, ringing room and staircase lights to be controlled from the main swich box by one master switch; that in cases where such a state of affairs' exists the authority be asked to fix cautions against switching off without due investigation.
The secretary said the Standing Committee discussed the matter and felt that the Electrical Authorities would not be happy about more than one main switch. The committee thought that a small card should be printed giving warning about switching off the main switch while pcople were in the belfry.

Mr. W. A. Osborn said according to the Institute of Electrical Contractors every circuit had to be controlled by a main switch and fuse. He advised towers to have a stand-by oil lamp.

The Rev. J. G. M. Scott moved and Mr. R. G. Blackman seconded that the Council accept the recommendation of the Standing Committee. This was agreed to, and the Council decided to have warning notices printed

\section*{PLAIN' REINTRODUCED}

On behalf of the Oxford Diocesan Guild. Mr. A. D Barker moved the following:-

That this Council deplores the change of name of a standard method in "The Ringing World" and declares that in its view, "Bob is a general term for a class of methods and should not be substituted for the "Plain Bob" which indicates a particular method in that class.'
He said that Plain Bob was one of the carliest if not the earliest system of change-ringing. He did not remember this having been discussed by the Council at any meeting. In asking the Council to put back the word 'plain' to the method. he would say it was necessary to have it from the conductor's point of view. Bob did not constitute a method.
'POULARD' (Regd.) BELL ROPES

Mr. W. Butler, seconding, said he had been through all the old books and they all said - Plain' Bob. Bob was just an indication of calls.

Mr. E. K. Lewis called attention to a decision of the Council that no alteration should be made in the names of old and historical methods except where urgently necessary." The original 'Campanologia' of 1702 mentioned Bob Doubles and it also mentioned Plain Boh, but when it came to Major it was always Bob Major. In 1735 they had Plain Bob Triples. In the Clavis it was Plain Bob Minor and Single Bob Minor. Troyte mentions Plain Bob Minor, usually called Bob Minor, and the same thing for Major. 'Plain Bob Major was introduced into "The Ringing World 'in 1948: previous to that it was Bob Major. He thought the proper thing if they desired the word 'Plain ' in was to rescind the decision.

The hon. secretary said no charge was made until the middle of March, 1948. A letter from the Editor of "The Ringing World : explained that it was decided at a meoting which Mr. A. D. Barker attended that for the convenience of the Peals Analysis Committee the word 'Plain' be introduced, and that was the only authority. Bob Major was used at the beginning of Bell News ' and in Ernest Morris' "History and Art of Change Ringing, 10,000 Bob Major was rung in 1735. He asked the Council to reject the motion.

Mr. Edgar C. Shepherd: I sce no difficulty whatever in using ' Plain.'

Mr. Wilfred G. Witson: If this is the Council's official attitude, why did it issue in 1956 on page 25: Bob Major, this method Plain Bob Place. That must refer to a method and not as a method.

Mr. Walter Ayre: I don't mind what the Council pass this afternoon, it still will be published in the analysis as Plain Bob.

The motion was carried, only two members voting against.

\section*{Next Meeting in Dublin}

The secretary reported that members would recall they had an invitation to visit Dublin, and that still stood. They had also an invitation from the Oxford Diocesan Guild to hold their next meeting in Oxford.

Mr. F. E. Dukes proposed and Mr. F. E. Hawthorne seconded that the next meeting be held in Ireland-in Dublin.

Miss Marie Cross said next year would be the 225 th anniversary of the Oxford Society, and they would like the Central Council there. She moved that the next meeting be held in Oxford and Mr. Peter Bond seconded.

Mr. F. W. Goodfellow suggested that if the Council went to Ireland the meeting be held on Whit Monday.

Asked as to price. Mr. Dukes said by train and boat the cost would be \(£ 8\) or \(£ 9\) and the journey would take 12 or 14 hours.

Upon being put to the vote, 59 members voted for Dublin and 51 for Oxford

The Council decided to hold its next meeting at Dublin.

\section*{RECORD OF ATTENDANCE}

The secretary reported: 32 Associations fully represented, 86 members: 17 Associations partly represented. 37 present. 23 absent: 7 Associations not represented. 8 absent ; 5 . life members present, 1 absent: 10 honorary members present, 7 absent. Total attendance 138 , absent 39.

This tied with a record attendance of the Council in London in 1948.

\section*{VOTES OF THANKS}

Mr. F. E. Dukes proposed a vote of thanks to Mr. E. H. Lewis, Mr. F. Sharpe, Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Barnett and Mr. T. W. White, for all their work in connection with the meeting. :As a secretary. I know only too well what is involved,' he said.

Mr. P. A. Corby seconded and the vote was carried with acclamation.

The president proposed an omnibus vote of thanks to the many people who had been to a great deal of trouble in connection with the meeting. He thanked the Mayor. the Lord Bishop. the Provost, the Master of the Essex Association (Mr. Heazel), Mr. Gant and Mr. Everett, for their excellent arrangements, Miss Hilda Snowden, for peal and tour arrangements, and the local incumbents and others. We appreciate very much all you have done for us.

Afterwards the members of the Council were the guests of the Essex Association to tea.

\section*{UNIVERSITY RINGERS IN NORTHAMPTON}

Members of the Oxford University Socicty and the Cambridge University Guild met in Northampton on June 8th and enjoyed a most "successful day's ringing together. A variety of method; ranging from Grandsire to Spliced Surprise was rung at the five towers visitedSt. Edmund's, St. Giles', Holy Sepulchre. St. Peter's and All Saints'. It is hoped that a joint outing will become an annual feature in the programmes of the two Societies. R. N. P.

\section*{BEVERLEY & DISTRICT SOCIETY}

Thirty members attended the monthly meeting of the Beverley and District Ringing Society held at Rise on June 8 th.

During the afternoon the bells were rung to rounds, Plain Bob. Grandsire and Stedman. The service in church was conducted by the Vicar (Rev. G. Hewson), who welcomed the Society. A very inspiring address was given by Rev. T. Shaw, Vicar of North Frodingham, and though it was the first meeting of bellringers he has attended, members hope he will attend many more.

Tea was served by wives of the local ringers in the Memorial Hut and was followed by the business meeting, with the president (Mr. A. E. Sellers) in the chair. Further ringing brought another successful meeting to a close.

\section*{LAVENHAM RINGING DAY}

The 146 th ringing anniversary on June 22 nd was attended by ringers from Norfolk. Essex and Suffolk. During the aftetnoon and evening touches in methods ranging from Plain Bob to Superlative Surprise, with rounds for the learncrs, kept the bells going till 8.30 p.m.

A distinguished and interested (non-ringing) visitor who came to the tower during the afternoon was Mr. Randolph Churchill, son of Sir Winston.

\section*{OBITUARY}

\section*{MR. JOHN WILLIAM HOVEY}

Coleshill tower has sustained a great loss by the death of \(J\). William Hovey, following an accident at his place of employment. Mr. Hovey was 24 years of age and an able ringer and conductor for standard methods.

Commencing to ring as a schoolboy, his keenness soon became apparent to his fellow ringers, and they elected him tower captain on completion of service in the R.A.F., a position he relinquished on taking over the duties of tower keeper. Although he rang several peals, his main interest was service ringing and practices.

He was a member of St. Martin's Guild and of the Ceventry Diocesan Guild.

After the funeral muffled touches were rung at Coleshill, while his friends at Kingsbury, a tower he often visited. rang a quarter peal of Doubles in memoriam.

\section*{YORKSHIRE ASSOCIATION}

The annual meeting of the Western District was held on June 15th at All Saints', Otley. The welcome extended to upwards of 40 mem bers attending the meeting was warm in more ways than one, and on this fine. sunny afternoon the banks of the river Wharfe were almost as popular as the belfry itself.

Ringing in a variety of methods took place during the afternoon, followed by an excellent tea. arranged and served by members of the local branch of the Mothers' Union.

At the business meeting the usual formalities were observed and the annual election of officers was held. Officers due to retire this year were the vice-president, Mr. P. J. Johnson, and committee members Miss S. Schofield and Messrs. H. Armitage and W. Dixon. Each of these officers was re-elected for a further term of three years, and expressions of appreciation for past services were accorded to Mr. Johnson in particular, who has now held the office of vicepresident for over 23 years.

New members elected were Messrs. G. Dean. L. Lawson and C. Lawson, of Skipton, and D. North. of Birstall.

It is hoped to hold the next meeting at Pudsey on September 21 st.

\section*{MIDDLESEX COUNTY ASSOCIATION \\ \section*{Jubilee Meeting at Ealing}}

It is a matter of great regret that once again the attendance at the monthly meeting was disappointing, the more so in view of the excellent arrangements and careful preparation that had bee. \(n\) made by the St. Mary's. Ealing. ringers for the meeting held there on Junc 15 th. It had been hoped that there would be a large gathering as it was at Ealing 60 years ago that the Association had been formed.

Reference was made to this fact by the District secretary (Mr. F. A. Finch) at the commencement of the business meeting which followed a first-class tea at the Parish Hall. A photograph of those prescnt on that occasion. which had been taken on the Vicarage lawn. was on view, having been refurbished after hanging for many years in St. Mary's tower.

At the meeting. eight new members were elecicd, and Mr. F. Blagrove was elected assistant District secretary, this office having been vacant since the heginning of the year. The question of lack of support for mectings was aired, and it was decided that it might help if a post-card was sent to each tower secretary reminding him to make the date and place of each meeting known.
The mecting passed a vote of thanks to those responsible for the tea, and to the Vicar for the use of the bells. and to the Curate for taking the service. Enough people had turned up after this to make it possible to ring methods up to London Surprise in the evening.

\section*{WOLVERCOTE'S THANKSGIVING}

Dear Sir,-During the past five years at our ringers annual Evensong we have sung the hymn 'Set them nobly in the steeple." This hymn of prayer and praise is being fulfilled during the next few days when our bells, recast by Messrs. Taylor and Co., will be rehung and dedicated (see notices). May I take this opportunity of thanking all ringers and friends who have supported us in the past, and invite then and any others to join with us on July 6th in praising and thanking God for the privilege and joy of serving Him in His temple here below. -Yours sincerely,

\section*{HELPING HANI) WANTEI)}

Dear Sir.-l wonder how many ringers will take "Church Bells and Hell Thumpingo" in the issuc of June '21st, to heart?

Reading baok in earlier issues we have the forming of the Rabbits' Club, and saveral years carlier an excellent article on Team Spirit.

How often do the newer and younger ringers have to do the best they can for service ringing? How oftan do we hear of ringers who consider themselves too good to ring at their own towers, fail 10 realise the encouragement their presence gives to ringers who are not so good and the bitter disappointment their absence gives to those valiant ones who strive to bring on new ringers, often. perhaps having five or more learners, and all trying to keep their bells up?

I wonder if in these light summer evenings the army of peal experts could venture forth in iwos or threes to visit these country towers and encourage and ofien instruct the local ringers so that the standard of ringing might improve! -Yours truly,

JOHN V. MULLER.
Ash-by-Wrotham, Kent.

\section*{RINGER SAILED WITH MAYFLOWER 11.}

Dear Sir,-Readers of 'The Ringing World" might be interested to know that the Mayflower 11 included a ringer amongst its crew.

He is 16 -ycar-old Graham Nunn, of Corby, Northamptonshire, a member of the Kettering Branch of the Peterborough Diocesan Guild and the Kettering Grammar School Society.
Graham was chosen to represent the boys' clubs of this country, to sail as cabin boy, and has. of course, been well to the fore in the publicity given to the adventurous crew and their ship.-Yours, etc.,
Daventry.

\section*{MRS. MARTIN'S THANKS}

Dear Sir,-May I, through the medium of your paper, thank the members of the following Associations-Ely Diocesan. Cambridge College Youths, Cambridge University Guild-for their most generous gift to myself and my children in our sad bereavement.

I have been very touched by all the kindness shown to me since the loss of my husband. and I do appreciate all that people have done to help me over a very difficult period.
I take this opportunity of wishing continued success to all bellringers and their Associations. -Yours sincerely,
A. R. MARTIN (Mrs.)

Cambridge.

\section*{Gillett and Johnston}

With reference to the announcement that appeared on page 368 of 'The Ringing World of Jung 7th. Messrs. John Taylor and Co. ask us to state: ‘ It is true that from October, 1955. we have cast a few bells for Gillett and Johnston. but in no instance were these bells of our design or were any of them tuned by us. The last Gillett and Johnston hell casting we supplied was ahout six months ago, and apart from casting three bells to be added to a Gillett and Johnston carillon in the States. we do not expect to have any further bells to cast for them.

The Witney and Woodstock Branch of the Oxford Diocesan Guild now produce an attractive Branch newsletter. There are hopes of starting a Method Ringing Class in Witney soon. Mr. David J. Smith has certainly the right idea for maintaining a live Branch.

\section*{RAILWAYMEN GUILD OF RINGERS}

DESPIIE a change in the weather, the first annual general meeting of the Guild of Railwaymen Church Bell Ringers, held at Crewe on June 26th, was a very happy gathering and was attended by some 40 ringers from all branches of the British Transport Commission. including railways, waterways. hotel and catering staff. Ringing commenced at Christ Church soon afier 11 a.m. and continued until lunch time at 1 p.m.
Mr. Rodney E. Meadows, who had acted as chairman during the founding stages, was voted 10 the chair and, welcomed the ringers. Another cordial welcome came from Mr. I. C. Forsyth works manager, Crewe, who said he knew of the tremendous amount of work which had gone into bringing the Guild into being, and wished the Guild a long and happy life. Ald. J. A. Madeley. area welfare officer. a former 'Christ Church hoy,' also spoke in welcome. Those present were very pleased to have with them Mr. McIntosh, of the London Midland Region Staff Association.
The main business was the confirmation of the Constitution and Rules. These were accepted with the exception of Section 4, Membership. and it was decided that the four regional representatives should contact their respective Regional Staff Associations to see if they now conform to the requirements of the Staff Association
A further Section. 8 was adopted: That this Guild abides by and conforms to the aims and rules of the Central Council of Church Bell Ringers.
For the office of Master of the Guild. Mr. Rodncy B. Meadows gracefully declined the invitation, suggesting that according to age. there was (D.V.) plenty of time yet for him. To this office, Mr. Harold Walker, president of the York Minster Society of Ringers, was elected. It was decided that the Ringing Master should be the Regional Ringing Master of the Region in which the meeting was held. Mr. W. Frank Stenson, who was co-founder with Mr. Sydney Foskett, of Bedford, was elected hon. secretary and treasurer and the Rev. F. G. Gentry, vicar of Christ Church, Crewe, hon. chaplain.
The following dates and venues were confirmed: Autumn meating. Septembar 28th. at Swindon. Western Region (Mr. Bertram W. Kynaston undertook to make the necessary arrangements); annual gencral meeling. May 3rd, 1958, at York, and, provisionally, the autumn meeting in September, 1958, at Norwich.

After the business meeting the 'hallowing of the Guild, which was incorporated in "the Guild Office." took place : also the dedication of a peal board recording the first peal rung for the Guild, to commemorate its founding. by the Vicar of Christ Church. For the service. Mr. C. S. Kelson acted as organist.

Votes of thanks were accorded the Vicar of Christ Church and the organist; Mrs. Lang ford and her lady helpers who served tea all day, lunch, and a running buffet: Mr. Bert Sutton (Scarborough). for preparing and presenting the peal hoard: Mr. Rodncy B. Meadows, as acting chairman during the founding of the Guild: and last. hut by no means least, Mr. Frank Stenson, for the tremendous amount of work he has accomplished to bring the Guild into being.

Ringing was enjoyed at Christ Church Crewc: St. Mary's, Nantwich, and St. Mary's. Sandbach. Several ringers went over to Chester overnight to ring at the Cathedral on Sunday morning. Thanks were also expressed to all who made this possible.

\section*{ARCHDEACONRY OF STAFFORD SOCIETY}

At the Eastern District meeting of the Yorkshire Association held at Beverley in April, Mrs. J. J. Taylor, of Goole, made an iced cake to celebrate over 50 years' membership of the Y.A. of several ringers, and an outcome of this was a suggestion of a gathering of old ringers at Escrick. made by Mr. T. W. Robbins (83), a member for 63 years. This was arranged by Mrs. Taylor, who kindly provided tea, and was held on June 1st. Ringing on the eight in the tower took place during the afternoon, the methods rung being Grandsire Triples, Treble and Plain Boh Major
After tea in the Village Institute, the evening was spent on the lawn of Mr. Robbins' house. when handbells were brought into use and Grandsire and Plain Bob rung. A most enjoyable time was spent. Messrs. G. Horna, of York, and A. B. Cook of Hull, were unable to be present owing to illness

Mrs. Taylor was thanked for her kindness in making all arrangements and providing, tea.

\section*{WHIT MONDAY IN MID-KENT}

Whit Monday was spent by a party of ringers from N. London, Essex and Kent in exploring a variety of towers in Mid-Kent. The six at Barming, where the party were met by Mr. Manser, proved a little tricky to handle, but a course of London was rung. St. Michael's, Maidstone, are 234567 of a ring of eight and were unringable for years. but now go guite well. Mr. Town made the visitors very welcome at Linton. These bells (tenor 15 cwt .) are rather odd-struck and the third is very loud in the ringing room: a respectable course of Cambridge was rendered.
A pleasant journey through the hap fields led to Boughton Monchelsea. with its heavy-going six: here it is necessary to remove the choirstalls to ring. During the lunch break some of the partv 'grabbed' Staplehurst, which resulted in a late start Cor Cranbrook (a difficult 23 cwt . eight). At Biddenden, where Geoff, Waters joined in some Yorkshire, are another heavy eight, Chelsea Delight was rung on the good-toned hells of Smarden, and Durham Surprise on the delightful ring at Little Chart.
Ringing after tea was at Hollingbourne, Bearsted (a course of Cunecastre) and Boxley, where despite opoosition from the tenor ringer. Oswald Delight came round. Thanks are extended to incumbents. ringers who met us, and not least to the organiser.

THE annual meeting of the Society took place at Lichfield on June 15th. The weather was ideal and this pleasant cathedral city was looking its best in the bright sunshine. Ringing during the afternoon and evening took place at the Cathedral and St. Mary's and St. Michacl's Churches. The well-attended service at St. Mary's was conducted by the Vicar, Preb. H. S. Cresswell, and the special preacher was the Rev. M. Tron, of the Lichfield Diocesan Relief Staff. Tea was partaken of in the Central Schools.

At the meeting following tea, Mr. F. Brotherton (hon. (reasurer) presented the accounts, which showed a balance in hand of \(£ 639 \mathrm{~s} .7 \mathrm{~d}\)., this being a decreasc of \(£ 5\) on the previous year. An increase in the cost of printing the annual report and a donation of \(£ 1010\) s. towards Lichfield Cathedral Restoration Fund were given as reasons for this deficit
Giving the committee's report, Mr. F. Bonnett (lay secretary) made special reference to the attendance of the Bishop of Lichficld at the annual dinner last November, and also to the instruction given to a young band of beginners which enabled Patshull bells to be rung again for Sunday services after a silence of some years.
Mr. G. Hughes Ringing Master, stated that 75 per cent. of the towers in the Archdeaconry rang their bells regularly for Sunday services. Only seven towers were completely silent. Pvals rung during the year were 46 compared with 51 the previous year
Mr. B. G. Key, Central Council representative, gave a most interesting report of the recent meeting of the Central Council at Chelmsford
The chairman, Ven. W. A. Parker. Archdeacon of Stafford, thanked all the officers of the Society for their good work during the past year. He hoped something could be done to get the bells ringing again in the seven silent towers referred to by Mr. Hughes.
The officials elected for the year were: Ringing Master, Mr. G. Hughes : hon. treasurer, Mr. F. Brotherion; hon. clerical secretary, Rev. C. H. Barker: hon. lay secretary. Mr. F Bennett ; peal secretary and auditor, Mr. E. E. Spcake.
Meetings for the next 12 months were provisionally arranged as follows: August. Elford, near Lichfield: October. Kinver or Enville: January, Willenhall: March. Tamworth: May, West Bromwich: June, Lichficld (annual).
A sub-committee was formed to go into the question of revision of the Society's rules

A discussion took place on the advisability of increasing the annual subscription, and it was decided to bring the matter up again at a subsequent meeting.
Thanks to the Archdeacon of Stafford for taking the chair, Preb. Cresswell for arranging the service and securing the use of the Central Schools. Rev. M. Tron for his address, and the Rector of St. Michacl's and the Cathedral authorities for use of the respective bells hrought the meeting, attended by 72 members and friends, to a close.

\section*{KENT COUNTY ASSOCIATION Tonbridge District}

The June meeting of the Tonbridge District was held at East Peckham, which is not a very easy tower to reach by public transport. In spite of this there was a good attendance, and ringing continued in a variety of Doubles and Minor methods until the service, taken by the Vicar (Rev. J. C. Starkey).
Tea was very kindly provided by the captain of the local ringers, Mr. T. Saunders. The vote of thanks was no mere formality but a very heartfelt expression of grateful thanks for a magnificent meal.

The Vicar presided at the business meeting. and in thanking his own ringers for their loyal service he mentioned that Mr. Saunders had been ringing at East Peckham for 57 years. He therefore thought it would be a good idea if a meeting could be held there in June, 1960. to celebrate his 60 years at the tower. The secretary was instructed to make a note of this, and among tributes paid to Mr. Saunders it was pointed out that it was he who had kept the Tonbridge District going during the war so that everything was in order to start ringing again as soon as the ban was lifted.

Ringing continued until 8.30 p.m.. giving some of the younger members their first experience of ringing by the light of an oil lamp. there being no electricity in the belfry.

\section*{THE BELLS OF ST. PETER'S CHURCH, NORTH HAYLING, HANTS \\ By GEORGE P. ELPHICK}

THERE is a ring of three bells, the treble and second uninscribed, the tenor bears SANCTA AKIA ORA PRO NOBIS F. The letters are Lombardic in style, ninesixteenths of an inch in height except the I, which is fiveeighths and belongs to a different set. They are flat and the original patterns were not brush formed, therefore are not earlier than the fifteenth century. The form of especially the N and P are very much like the large set of letters made up and used by William Culverden, a London founder between 1506 and 1522. His trade implements were bought by Thomas Lawrence in the following year and may have been dispersed at that time. I can find no tendency to disproportionately enlarge the bow of the letter P before this date. I read the inscription on the tenor as being originally intended for SANCTA MARIA ORA PRO NOBIS F. On the bell the letter F is upside down, it probably indicating the founder's name. A genuine mistake appears to have been made in substituting \(K\) for \(R\) in MARIA. for \(R\) is correctly used in the word ORA.
I consider that all three bells were cast by the same man, but the treble at a different date, probably a few years earlier. for the top set of moulding wires above where the inscription normally is contains the flat fillet favoured by the London and Reading medixval founders. The letters for moulding the inscription were formed of wax and were stuck on the loam model, but the founder was inexperienced in his use of a separator between model and cope. When the model was extracted it pulled up in places the first layer of the cope. This is especially noticeable in the first part of the word SANCTA. Where one would expect to find the letter M of MARIA there is a vertical bulge which has almost obliterated the moulding wires and was without doubt rubbed into the cope when it was decided to remove the \(M\) after the model was extracted. In doing this the cone was marked in two other places on the opposite side. The question arises why was this letter rubbed out making the inscription nonsensical?

From my experience of other bells, this was undoubtedly done during the troubled period of the Reformation. There are many bells, especially from the Reading and district foundries, that show how nervous the founders were of using medieval inscriptions and the various artful dodges they used to mask the real meaning of such inscriptions. The only period after the first quarter of the sixteenth century when such an inscription could safely have been used would be during Mary's reign 1553-58. So these bells may have been cast during the first years of Elizabeth's reign or much more likely from about 1530 to the end of Edward the Sixth's reign.
Other bells reported to be inscribed in the same lettering are Gillingham sanctus, Finmere treble and the old treble at Midgham. The Gillingham sanctus has a different type of A, so it does not belong to the North Hayling group. The Midgham bell has been recast, but a drawing of its inscription has been preserved at the Whitechapel foundry. Mr. A. A. Hughes has kindly compared the letters and reports that they are practically the same. In his 'Church Bells of Oxfordshire,' F. Sharpe reports that the Finmere inscription is similar to the Whitechapel drawing of Midgham old treble. Neither of these bells is dated, but each bears inscriptions placing them in the troubled period of the Reformation.
If we accept \(\mathbf{F}\) as denoting the founder's name, which he reversed to mask its true meaning, after the manner of the Wokingham and Reading founders, we are forced to admit that no founder having either Christian or surname beginning with F is known to us either by his works or by documentary evidence during the first half of the sixteenth century. There was, however, a founder whose name occurs right at the end of the fifteenth century who may be the man we are looking for. He is Faulk Michell, successor to John Michell of Wokingham. Faulk appears to have taken over the foundry about 1495, but for how long we know not. It is not beyond the realms of possibility that he was a young man and that he lived up to the critical years of the Reformation casting the North Hayling bells soon after 1530, Finmere and Midgham being later castings by him in his old age or by a successor, if there was one. We know that at the beginning of his tenancy of the Wokingham foundry business was very quiet.

\section*{Never Too Old}

A ringer who rings 100 peals is invariably congratulated upon the achievement. bul Joseph E. Grensted, of Borden, Kent, deserves a little more. He has shown to ringers, young and old, that it is never too late to get back into harness. Joe started ringing in 1899. and rang his first peal at Bearsted, Kent, in August, 1899, and by April, 1907, he had rung over 80 peals. which was no mean achievement in those days.

He then decided to try his luck in Canada, which meant an end to peal ringing. But after nearly two years away he returned for a three months' stay in this country, and increased his total peals this co to 90 .

May, 1954, saw him back in England. this time to stay. The following month he rang his 91 st peal, Grandsire Triples, at Sittingbourne, Kent. The first for 46 years! After three years he has completed vears! After three years he has completed his goal-100 peals-by ringing the treble on Jume 91h. 1957. to a peal of Stedman Triples at Sittingbourne, at the age of 75. An achievement that made all who rang smile wirh great satisfaction.

\section*{RINGING IN ENGLAND 80 YEARS AGO}

\author{
Extracts from 'Church Bells,' 1879-80

\section*{THE PASSING BELL}

Sir,-I do not think the Passing Bell is now anywhere rung according to ancient practice The " one short peal" directed by the Canon to be rung " after the party's death " is now represented by the knell-generally called the Passing Bell-rung on one bell only with the distinctive loll at its close to intimate the sex, and sometimes the age, of the deceased. The ancient custom of chiming all the bells as the funeral procession approaches the church is still observed in a very few parishes known to me: generally the simple tolling of the tenor bell has superseded the more soothing and beautiful sound of the whole ring. "G, V." refers to . . . tolling daily for an hour or more. of a bell from the day of a death to the day of a funeral \(\qquad\) it should immediately be stopped. At Stamford the colling of the so-called Passing Bell or knell was abolished in 1872. and now the only notification of deaih is given by sounding what were formerly the distinctive tolls at the end of the knell according to sex, namely, \(3 \times 3\) for a male, \(3 \times 2\) for a female, repeated: and that on the tenor bell for adults, and on the treble for children.

If the bell be rung (not tolled) for a period of, say, ten minutes, with a pause of about 30 seconds between each stroke, the effect is very solemn, and calculated to arrest the attention. and even in the midst of business and the pressing daily avocations of life. to solemnise the thoughts and call to mind the transitory nature of merely earthly occupations . . . And now the churchyard is thrown open to all it is a fitting time to restore. the "one other" short peal "befcre the hurial, and one other after the burial " ( 67 th Canon), in cases where part of the office is said within the church without recommending its use at all (imes, the difficulty and expense of the attendance of the ringers can be avoided at funerals by the erection of an inexpensive chiming apparatus, which can as easily be worked by the clerk or sexton as the dismal ringing of a single bell.'

THOMAS NORTH. F.S.A.
Another correspondent shows that at Bishops Cannings. Wilts, no bell is tolled on the day of the death because houses are dislant from the church, but on the morning of the day of burial, cach bell (of a ring of cight) is struck three times for a man and twice for a woman. The tenor is tolled two or thres times during the day, and half-an-hour before the burial. and is again struck somewhat quickly for five minutes after the funeral is over:

\section*{ANOTHER BIG BEN}

The following correspondence has appeared in The Times in reference to the letter of Canon Gregory's which appeared in our last issue:-

Sir,-Though 1 helped to get the great and fine ring of bells for St. Paul's, and made the specification for it. I am sorry I cannot go the whole lenglh with Canon Gregory of wishing to have a new great hell twice-and-a-half as heavy as the present very had one. cast by Phelps, of Whitechapel," in 1716. which the "Provincial Incumbent," and I daresay many other people, imagine to be the old one of Westminster. It would be quite right to have that recast a little thicker and heavier and the subscriptions promised are quite enough for that purpose : but another Big Ben within two miles of the Westminster one seerns to me a very unnecessary comperition of noises.
- But as this nation, alone in the world I should think, cannot nationally afford \(£ 1,000\) or so to recast the late Mr. Mears's "porous, unhomoge.leous. unsound" and cracked Big Ben of Westminster (sce Dr. Percy's report), why should not some energetic person, younger than I am, get up a subscription to present the poor Board of Works with a recasting of it. under proper conditions, to prevent the referces from being taken in again by concealed defects, as we were in 1859? Indeed. after the consequences of that feat. I do not think any bellfounder would try it again.

EDM. BECKETT.
Sir,-Before the public respond to Canon Gregory's appeal for a great hell, the pertinent question of your leader of 16th (i.e.. 16th Nov.: 1880) should certainly be answered-"Cui hono?". What use will be made of it? I was staying in the suburbs one Sunday last month, and walked in to attend the morning service at St. Paul's. I am a lover of bells, and went early in order to stroll about the churchyard and hear the new ring: but I was disappointed. No sound was heard till I had to take my seat in the Cathedral, when, about fifteen minutes before service time. I heard the faint sounds of what I believe to have been the chiming of a single bell. Now, there are many people to whom the ringing of a three-hours' peal, or ringing at intervals throughout the whole of a Royal birthday, or Lord Mayor's Day, is an almost intolerable interruption and annoyance : hut there are very few who do not like to hear hells rung for church on Sunday. They think that this is the proper time for it. Again, how is the proposed great bell to be sounded? I believe that the largest hell really "rung ", in England is that at the Leeds Town Hall. weighing four tons. It is probably merely intended to strike this new bell with a hammer. If so, the effect. hoth for power and sweetness of tone, wili not compare with what might be got out of the present "big bell." Let the Dean and Chapter have this bell of five tons (which is, I believe, an ancient one, formerly belonging to Westminster, and probably far superior to any bell which could be cast now) rehung in the stronger of the towers, so that it can be "raised and set." when the wonderfully thrilling and powerful tones emitted, increasing in volume as the hell swings in a larger and larger are, will. I think, render them less desirous of obtaining a new and hoarse instrument too unwieldy for real use. The "Bourdon" of Notre Dame, and. I think, all the other great bells mentioned by Canon Gregory, are runt " half-way-up," and it is then that the finest note is sent out.

I am the vicar of a provincial minster church which possesses a fine old ring of bells in one tower, and a great bell in the other. The whole peal is zung for morning and evening service, and six bells in the afternoon. When the peal ceases, the great bell is "raised " by five men, and rung for five minutes immediately hefore the service commences. It is heard for three miles. though under three tons in weight; and the effect inside the minster, subdued bv the heavy stone vaulting of the roof, is very beautiful. I venture to suggest that this would be the best use to make of the bells of St. Paul's. A PROVINCIAL INCUMBENT.

End of Volume. Advent, 1879-80.

\section*{EAST DERBYSHIRE & NOTTS ASSOCIATION}

The June quarterly mesting of the East Derbyshire and Notts Association at Selston coincided with the 82 nd birthday of Mr. W. Dobb (Wilson to all), vice-president. one-time president and a life-long resident in the village. It was a great occasion for him at the meeting when the president (Mr. J. W. England) asked the company of nearly 50 to stand and sing 'Happy birthday to you.' Mr. Dobb looked well and fit in spite of an old and aggravating injury, and suitably replied. He was presented with a bouquet of roses. and these were afterwards placed on the grave of his wife. It was afterwards Mr. Dobh's pleasure to listen from the churchyard to well-struck touches of Cambridge and Stedman-he is now unable to climb the stairs to the ringing chamber. of the other business. there were warm congratulations to Mr. C. M. Heathcote, the hon. treasurer, for the award of the M.B.E. in the Qucen's Birthday Honours, and a gift of \(£ 22 \mathrm{~s}\). from the Association's Bell Fund to Selston P.C.C.. tewards the cost of new bell ropes.

The service in the afternoon was conducted by Capt. Dunford, C.A., and tea. well prepared, was served by the ladies of the church, in the Council offices. It was a happy and memorable meeting.

\section*{GUILD of DEVONSHIRE RINGERS Meeting at Torquay}

Under the auspices of the Mid-Devon and South-West Branches, a joint meeting was held at Upton, Torquay, on June 15th. The attendance was regrettably small but a vety enjoyable time was spent by those present, who included two or three visitors from Oxford. Ringing consisted of Grandsire Doubles and Triples, Stedman Triples and Plain Bob Major, and was followed by a short service in church. conducted by the Rector (Rev. P. Sands), who gave the visitors a very hearty welcome. The lesson was read by Mr. B. E. Bartett, a local ringer
After a splendid tea, a comprehensive vote of thanks was proposed by Mr. J. E. Lilley (Branch chairman) to the Church awhorities for the excellent arrangements made. Some of the more enthusiastic members then spent a short time with handbetls before going to Torre Parish Church for further ringing.

\section*{SOMERSET RINGERS' WEEK-END IN HAMPSHIRE}

A very enjoyable Whit weekend was spent by six Somerset ringers in Hampshire. A peal attempt of Cambridge Surprise Major was lost at St. John's, Bournemouth, after two hours' good ringing.

On Saturday there were two unsuccessful peal attempts. at Milford and Ringwood, and visits to Hordle and St. Nicholas', Brockenhurst.

After attending early service in Wimborne, a quarter peal of Stedman Triples was rung at St. Peter's. Bournemouth, for Matins. and afterwards at St. John's. Surrey Road. We relaxed on the sea front hefore laking part in two courses of Grandsire Cinques at Christchurch. The service in a packed church was enioyed.
Monday's programme was an hour's ringing at Wimborne Minster and also at Lyndhurst, and a peal of Yorkshire Surprise Major at Lymington. Recordings were taken of the ringing at most of the towers, so the peal bands were able to hear their ringing as it sounded outside the churches.

For this wonderful weekend. heightened by the beauty of travelling through the New Forest, we have to thank our organiser. Gwilym Salmon. and also our new-found friends in Hampshire for their warm welcome, and incumbents for allowing us to ring. H. M. M.

\section*{SAFFRON WALDEN GREAT RINGING DAY}

On Saturday. June 29th, the 334th anniversary of Great Ringing Day was held at Saffron Walden. The weather was sunny and very hot. Just after \(11.30 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}\). a party of over 30 arrived from Prittlewell, and the bells were soon going to Stedman Cinques.
About noon another party of over 30 memhers of the South Western District of the Essex Association arrived. Their District Master (Mr. John Crampion), who had organised the party, was with them. During the day many old friends came, including Dr. E. L. Taylor, from Charmouth, Dorset, who commenced his ringing career at Saffron Walden in 1902.
After iunch at the Abbey Hotel. the bells rang out for a wedding, a well-struck touch of Siedman Cinques being brought round. The bells were kept going till 4 p.m., when the usual service was held. This was conducted by the Vicar (Rev. M. R. Sinker), the sermon being preached by the curate (Rev, D. Willcox).

After tea ringing continued, and about 6.30 p.m. we welcomed a party of over 30 from Beddington. Surrey. Stedman Cinques and a course of Bristol were brought round. The bells were lowered at about 8.30 p.m., all agrecing it had been a very enjoyable and successful day.
We would like to express our grateful thanks to Mr. J. Crampion for all his efforts in bringing a party from his district to make this festival day so successful. L. E. P.

\section*{CHELMSFORD MEMORIES \\ With Apologies to 'The Great Pretender'}

Oh! yes. Im the Great Conductor,
But this Royal's a! going awry.
The ninth made that "Bob,
And the tenor ran in.
But I'm having a jolly good try.
Oh! yes, I'm the Great Tenor Ringer.
We're cracking along in "Threc-Nine."
' It's condition that tells,"
And the 'First on the Bells,'
This 'Superlative's all very fine.
Oh! yes. Im the Great Two-Bell Ringer.
Litile Baddow is all I desire;
We were tapping along.
Now the whole shoot's gone wrong.
All the bells in a blooming great 'Fire.'
Oh! yes, I'm the Great Slider Walloper, Bouncing tenors is my cup of tea;
But it's all a good laugh,
Till it's time to depart.
Look out, Ireland, you're going to see ME !

\section*{NORWICH DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION}

An interim meeting was held at St. Margaret's, Paston. and SS. Peter and Paul's. Knapton, on June 15th, when between 25 and 30 nembers were present from a wide area.
The service was conducled by the Rural Dean (Rev. W. F. Sommerfeld), and the lesson was read by Mrs. D. Moore. Ringing was enjoyed from Plain to Cambridge Surprise.

\section*{SCOTTISH ASSOCIATION}

The 25th annual meeting of the Scoltish Association was held on May 25th at St. Mary's Cathedral, Glasgow. During the afternoon methods were rung up to Stedman Caters and Treble Ten, and the Seage apparatus was in use during the evening.
The Provost of the Cathedral (the Very Rev. F. F.. Laming) conducted the Association service in the Chapel of St. Anne, and took the chair at tha business meeting which was held in the Synod Hall. The officials were reeclected as follows: President. Mr. Ernest Boumphrey (Glasgow): Ringing Master, Mr. Charles R. Raine (Edinburgh): and secretary, |reasurer and Central Council representative. Mr. Rognvald Wilson (15. Durham Road, Portobello, Midlothian). Six new ringing members from three of the towers in the Association were also elected.
It is expected that the next meetings will be at Dunblane (October), St. James', Paisley (February), and in Edinburgh (April), when the four towers there will be available.
The local ringers very kindly supplied tea for everyone, and the catering arrangements were in the capable hands of Mrs. and the Misses Stafford.

In the Church Tent at the Sussex County Agricultural Show, Bognor, July 17th-18th, there will be an exhibit on bells. The centrepiece will be a model of a medirval bell foundry. In addition to a display of Sussex founders' work there will be on show a handbell over 1,000 years old, and the tuning forks used by Canon Simpson in his researches on bell tuning.

Call it a day! Helmingham ringers started on their annual outing at \(5 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}\). and some reached home at 3.30 a.m.
The peal published on page 407 of "The Ringing World' and rung at Shirley on Junc 5th should read Yorkshire Surprise Major.

A letter such as we like to receive came recently from Cheadle, Cheshire, where Mr. J. Fuller, ringing the treble, shepherded five of the band through their first quarter.

Mr. Denis A. Bayles celebrated his coming of age as a peal ringer with a peal at Embleton, Northumberland, the most northerly ring of six bells in England. This was the first peal on the bells since recent rehanging.

The members of the University of London Society who rang a peal of Yorkshire Surprisc at St. Olave's, Hart Strect, on June 29th join with other members of the Society in offering their congratulations to the President (Dr. Denis Layton) and Miss Margaret Floyer on their engagement.

The peal of Minor at Blaydon on Tyne proved to be a very pleasant ringing farewell to Mr. Peter M. Giles, who has now completed a technical course on Tyneside. It is to be hoped that his other farewells were as pleasant! He will be missed by the Newcastle Cathedral company, with whom he has been a very regular Sunday service ringer during the past ten months.

\section*{BELFRY GOSSIP}

Ringing friends of Mr. H . D. Harris of Woburn, will be very pleased to learn that he has now started ringing again. Last December he was knocked down by a car, dislocating his left shoulder, and for a man of 82 he made a remarkable recovery. On April 5th next, Mr. and Mrs. Harris will celebrate their diamond wedding.

Mr. G. H. Myers, of Plymouth, is now out of hospital. Having regard to is agc his progress is quite satisfactory. Slow and steady improvement daily, has been the medical report.
The peal at Stratton St. Margaret, Wilts, was rung as a 17 th wedding anniversary compliment to Mr. and Mrs. H. Austin, of Strattor. Mr. Austin is a member of the band at the tower.
Southampton University members rang a graduation peal at North Stoncham. Congratulations and best wishes for the future to the hand. Four of the band learnt to ring at North Stoneham when the Guild was formed nearly four years ago.

Sunday, July 21st, is being obseried as a special day at Weston Favell, Norlhants, to commemorate the 250th anniversary of the bells becoming a ring of five. The \(8 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}\). Eucharist will have a special intention for ringers and ringers' hymns will be sung at Matins and Evensong. All ringers will be welcome at these services.

The completion of 50 years' membership of the Lincoln Diocesan Guild by its Master, Mr. John A. Freeman, was celebrated by a peal of Stedman Cinques on the Cathedral bells. Mr. Freeman is the veteran Master of the Cathedral company. His many friends in the Exercise, in congratulating him on his half-century of conspicuous service, wish him and Mrs. Freeman many more happy years.

\section*{THREE SUMMER RINGING FESTIVALS}

\section*{Two associations at ST. ALBANS}

THE joint summer festival of the Herts and Bedfordshire Association on June 15th, the Saturday nearest to St. Alban's Day, at St. Albans, was so successful that it is likely to be the forerunner of many joint meetings between the two ringing Associations in the Diocese of St. Albans.

Ringing commenced at \(9.30 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}\). at Hemel Hempstead, where a coach party from Bedford District arrived on time and were met by members of the Herts Association. The towers of Apsley End. King's Langley, Langleybury and Aldenhan, were visited in turn until \(1.30 \mathrm{p} . \mathrm{m}\). A joint peal was rung at Redhourn during the morning. At 2 p.m. the four towers at St. Albans were opened, hut ringing did not get going well until nearly 3 p.m., except at St. Stephen's, where the new six were in great demand.

All converged on the Cathedral at 4 p.m. for Evensong, which was conducted by the Dean. At the conclusion of the service a handbell voluntary of three leads of Kent Treble Bob Royal was rung by G. Penney, G. Dodds, W. Ayre, H. V. Frost and B. C. Johnson.

At the tea, presided over by the Dean, Mr. E. G. Buck (Herts president) welcomed the visitors, and Miss E. Steel (Beds president) replied, inviting the Herts Association to Bedfordshire for the next festival, and thanking those who organised the event.

Mr. H. V. Frost (Herts secretary) thanked the Dean for his co-operation, and all who had given permission for ringing at the other churches, and said he looked forward to a good day's outing in Bedfordshire next year. The Dean also promised to attend.

Ringers attended from all parts of the diocese, also from further afield, and nearly 100 were present at the tea party. H. V.F.

\section*{FRIENDS OF THE EXERCISE}

The Society of Friends of the Excrcise held an outing in South Somerset on Whit Monday. The party was drawn from the Bristol District and from Wiltshire, and travelled by car and motor-cycle. Eleven towers were visited.

The first tower visited was Pylle, where some good ringing was enjoyed on the six bells. A short ring was had on the anti-clockwise six at Charlton Mackrell before moving on to the heavy six at Montacute. Here the tower sway made ringing somewhat tricky, but the fine tonc of the bells compensated for this. Merriot was the last tower before lunch, and the most was made of a delightful light six.

Lunch was taken at Crewkerne. The ' moneyed' members of the party dined at the White Lion Hotel, while most of the others found a 'homely little pub.'

A visit was then paid to Winsham, the first eight of the day, where the bells are rung from the chancel. The party moved on to Combe St. Nicholas, where a six-score of St. Nicholas' was brought round, and then to Staple Fitzpaine where an excellent tea was provided at West Hatch by Mrs. Crabham. a friend of one of the leaders of the party.

The evening session included West Hatch (5). North Curry (a fine cight in an octagonal tower), Moorlinch (a heavy six) and Ashcott (the home of All Saints' Doubles). A visit was paid to 'The Ring of Bells,' where a toast was drunk to absent friends, especially the doyen of the Society, Mr. Cyril Savage. Thanks were conveyed to the organisers--Mr. John Gilbert and Mr. Frank Mack.

\section*{SWANSEA & BRECON GUILD AT NEW RADNOR}

The little rain which fell during the day did not mar the attendance on the occasion of the annual festival, held at New Radnor on June 22nd. Over 80 members and friends attended the service and afterwards sat down to an excellent tea laid out in the Church Hall.
The Southern District, as is customary when the meeting is held in the northern part of the diocese, travelled by coach, and this year went via Hay, where the Rev. and Mrs. Ivor Richards joined the party and followed by car to Eardisland. Mr. Leslic Evans, with his 'E.S.T.8.' was waiting at the tower. After the bells had heen rung to standard methods, everyone made their way to a first-class lunch at the Swan Hotel, and were joined by the Vicar of Eardisland (Rev. H. F. Harmer). The southern contingent arrived at New Radnor in good time for over an hour's good ringing before the service.
The Rector of New Radnor (the Rev. T. E. Griffiths) conducted the service. and the preacher was the Rev. Ivor Richards, of Llanarth, who gave as his text: 'Holding fast to faith, and to the profession of our faith.' This text in relationship to bellringing made the address very interesting.

After tea the girls of New Radnor G.F.S. entertained the company to handbell ringing. Thesc girls had brought back the shield from London a few days previously for the best handbell ringing there.

At the business meeting, the Lord Bishop took the chair. and in opening the meeting asked all to stand in silent tribute to the memory of Mr. Albert Edwards and Mr. C. Powell. who had passed on since the last annual mecting.
The general secretary stated that the memhership was being maintained at the same level. The financial statement was explained by the treasurer (Mr. D. Stokes) and showed an excess of expenditure over receipts of 7 s . 4 d . The restoration fund amounted to \(£ 29\).

A motion was submitted suggesting doing away with the Southern District, which had outlasted its usefulness. A long discussion failed to reach, a decision. The chairman said there did not seem any possible way of solving this problem and suggested, as there were so many difficulties. that the matter should be dropped, and could be discussed at the 1958 festival. This was agreed to.

Mr. John T. Williams (Sketty) was elected Master, and all the officers were re-electedMessrs. J. A. Hoare (hon. general secretary), D. Stokes (hon. treasurer) and T. M. Roderick (hon, auditor). Instead of electing one member from each tower, five committee members were elected equally from the South and North Districts. The ringing competition was again dropped for lack of interest.

Brecon was proposed for the 1958 festival : the date to be left to the president and general secretary.

A hearty vote of thanks was proposed by Mr. D. J. Lewis, and the Lord Bishop responded by thanking everyone. Ringing continued at New Radnor and at Presteigne, and this concluded a very happy social reunion.

\section*{CALL CHANGERS IN SOUTH DEVON}

The bells of St. Petroc, South Brent, ringing on Saturday, June 22 nd, signified help from 20 call-change teams drawn from all parts of South Devon for the restoration of Widecombe-in-the-Moor's ancient church, damaged by the ubiquitous death-watch beetlc. Its ravages have presented that well-known Dartmoor village with a bill for some \(£ 7,000\).
As at Abbotskerswell, for Ashburton's benefit in 1956, the South Devon Ringers' Association on this occasion organised an invitation 6 -bell festival at South Brent, to which 19 teams came (at the last minute Totnes was unable to raise a tcam) Ashburton's entry opened the ringing at 1.15, hut owing to difficulties in transport no more than six tcams had rung by service time at 4 o'clock. Halwell had the misfortune to have the third rope break just as the rise was getting under way.
A good congregation of ringers attended the service, conducted by the Association's president, the Rector of Upton. Torquay. Tea was tlaid on ' by the ladies of the home team, and the usual substantial and generous country tea was provided. Ringing continued immediately after the service. The last team to ring, Bovey Trecey, "came down' just short of 9 o'clock, when the church porch became the focal point for ringers waiting for the results.
Mrs. A. Middleton, widow of the Association's late chairman, Mr. H. G. Middleton, of Dartmouth, presented the certificates as the judges gave their verdict. Special mention was made by their spokesman, Mr. Arthur Tapper, of Ycalmpton, of the very high standard of ringing-as evidenced by the close marking of the first six teams. West Alvington (No. 1 team) was placed first with no more than 81 faults, followed by Kenn with \(12 \frac{3}{3}\). The team from Widecombe was third with 13 j , then came West Alvington (No, 2) 19. Upton. Torquay, 191, and Kingskerswell, sixih, with \(19 \frac{3}{3}\) faults. Diptford's teams boasted two 13 -year-olds who 'put up' very creditable ringing. The teams from 8 -bell towers were noticeable in the manner in which they let the bells 'go up. during the peal. which consisted of the usual ' 60 -on3rds.' It was a pleasure to have Mr. A. L. Bennett, the well-known West Country changeringer from Buckfastleigh, at the festival. It is hoped that Widecombe-in-the-Moor will benefit by about \(£ 11\) from the effort.
The Historic Churches Preservation Trust has asked the Association to consider organising another similar festival for their benefit as previously held at Dean Prior in 1955, and this may well form the event of next summer

\section*{GUILDFORD DIOCESAN GULD Farnham District}

Iced drinks were in great demand during the tea break, at the Farnham District meeting held at St. Mary's, Frensham, on June 29th. In spite of the 'heat wave,' many ringers and friends turned up during the afternoon and evening to enjoy a ring in such a pleasant, peaceful place.

The ringing was of a good standard under the guidance of Mr. Rex Corke and Mr. Tom Page: a variety of methods being rung from rounds to London.

A friendly ringers' service was conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. L. Coulshaw). District ringers formed the choir and Miss Heath was the organist.

After a sumptuous tet a short business meeting was held, during which two new ringing members were elected. Plans were discussed for a District outing at the end of August.

\section*{University of London Society Annual Whit Tour}

POETERSFIELD (Hants) was chosen as the centre for the 1957 Whit tour of the University of London Socicty, whose title was later adapted to 'Armstrong's Alcoholics Incorporated. Transport consisted this year of two cars. two motor-cycles and a Dormobile, which, on three cylinders and without a workable dynamo, conveyed the bulk of the party for most of the time, proving in no small degree the skill of the Society's Master, who acted as pilot. He, on the other hand, would not dare to spurn the efforts of those who by brute force accomplished what is normatly done by a starting button.
Members began to arrive on Friday evening (June 7 th) in time for an early supper and a ring at the parish church. Soon after 9 a.m. on Saturday the party was on its way to the first tower of the day, All Saints", East Mcon. The peculiar ascent to the belfry baffled some members for' a start, as did also the somewhat noisy bells. However, some quite respectable touches were brought round. Next to be visited was its neighbour. West Meon, where we were informed of a humorous inscription on one of the bells which read: 'A Waker o' Ears ': its donor was an eccentric gentleman surnamed Earwaker. A ladder in the ringing chamber proved too strong a temptation for one member, who aspires to loftier heights than mere belfries! St. Mary. Twyford, was the other stop before lunch and some good ringing was enjoyed on the light but pleasantly musical bells. A visit to Winchester for lunch passed all too quickly, and unfortunately time did not allow us to make an adequate tour of this historic city.
Two 10 -bell towers were scheduled for the afternoon. At North Stoncham we were joined by friends from the Southampton University Society who. despite the imminence of finals. had cycled up to meet us: then the glorious ten at St. Mary's. Southampton, which more than justified expectations of them and the long ascent to the belfry. Here also tea had been arranged; then, after almost losing two members, the company set out for St . Peter's, Curdridge. Later in the evening an attempt for a touch of Spliced at Soberton came to an untimely end: but here the ladies of the Society excelfed themselves in a well-struck touch of Grandsire Triples.
On Whit Sunday our first privitege was to join with the congregation at Petersficld in the Celebration of the Holy Communion. Breakfast over, the party set out for Portsmouth. All arrived safely except those in the Dormobile, which ran out of fuel even though the meter gave indications to the contrary. By now its occupants had grown accustomed to pushing it, so one furlong more to a petrol pump was no great feat. Fortunately we arrived just in time for a ring at the Cathedral, and we thank the local band for their hospitality. A trip around the harbour gave us a healthy appetite for lunch, and many had their first glimpse of the 'Britannia' and 'Vanguard.' While four enthusiasts attempted a peal of Bob Major on handbells. the remainder of the party spent the afternoon on the beach at Eastney. What happened to the peal attempt has to remain a secret if not a total mystery. For Evensong we rang at St. Mary's, Portsca, with the local ringers. A course of London proved to be the highlight of the day's ringing.
The programme for Monday indicated seven towers, so an carly start had to be made for St. Mary's, Liss, where three more members joined the party. At Hawkley, an attempt for a touch of six Spliced was successfully brought round. On the way to New Alresford confusion struck the occupiers of the Dormobile when one of the motor-cycles was seen approaching it head on. Heavy suspicion was cast on the navigator, but with grim determination and ignoring most of the signs concerning the condition of roads, we reached our destination in time for lunch. Ringing on the pleasant eight was much enjoyed, but apparently interfered with the 'Barmy Ales Band' providing music (?) for some local festivity.
At Preston Candover, the Vicar (Rev. C. Brinkworth) weleomed us and rang with us on the light six. Both churches in Basingstoke were visited-All Saints' before tea and St. Michacl's after. The bells of Yateley, the final tower of the day. proved rather a handful, and through a misadventure we left the belfry having just raised the bells!
A magnificent supper awaited us in the Parish Room, which had been kindly prepared by Mr. and Mrs. Wooldridge. Dr. D. N. Layton thanked them in suitable words, and memhers responded by singing for them some popular student songs, by special request.
Unfortunately, we were not to leave Yateley at the time anticipated. The battery in the Dormobile failed at a most crucial moment, and we were glad for the A.A. to assist us. London was, however, safely reached in the early hours of Tuesday morning. None the less, all agreed that it had been an excellent tour: some called it enjoyable: others more accurately described it as adventurous. Our thanks are due to all incumbents, and to the local ringers who made us so welcome. The Society is also gratefut to Eileen Wooldridge who so capably made the arrangements.

\section*{NORWICH DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION}

\section*{South Norfolk Branch}

The South Norfolk Branch held a very successful meeting at Long Stratton on June 8th. with 44 ringers attending. The service was conducted by the Recter (Rev. F. Slaughter), with an address by the Rev. F. P. Law
Mr. W. L. Duffield (vice-president) kindly provided tea, and the business meeting was presided over hy the Branch Chairman (Dr. P. H A. Jonason). The Association president (Rev II. G. Lillingson) and general secretary (Mr. W. Love) were also present. Nine new members were elected. The president again asked that all ringers should pray for each other on Saturdays. After the usual votes of thanks, ringing in various methods, under the Branch Ringing Master (Mr. W. Flatt), continued till 9 p.m.
It was decided to hold the next meeting at Saxlingham on September 14th.

\section*{ST. DAVID'S DIOCESAN GUILD Testimonial Fund Proposed for Mr. C. H. Hawkins}

THE Lord Bishop of St. David's, who is president. preached at the annual mpeting of St. David's Diocesan Guild, held at St. Peter's Church. Carmarthen, on Junc 22nd. The Vicar (Canon Ungoed Jacob) conducted the service and Mr. Ed. J. Thomas (Master of the Guild) read the lesson. Sixiy-five members and friends attended from Pembroke, Burry Port, Llanstephen, Llandilo, Tenby, Llanbadarn Fawr, Llanelly and Carmarthen.
Tea was kindly provided by St. Peter's Mothers' Union. At the business meeting the Bishop presided, and he was welcomed by the Master of the Guild. who thanked him for accepting the presidency of the Guild. Mr. Thomas also welcomed Canon Jacob, who was attending a Guild meeting for the first time. The Bishop responded and opened the meeting.
The usual touch on the handbells was given by Messrs J. Turvey, R. Scudamore and W. Williams.

The Bishop then apologised for the absence of the secretary (Mr. C. H. Hawkins), who was ill and a patient at Llanelly Hospital, and proposed that the Guild's good wishes for a full and speedy recovery be sent to him officially. The existing officers were re-elected with the exception of the Ringing Master-Mr. Gwyn Thomas, of Tenby, succeeding Mr. A. Reynolds, of Llandilo. Mr. E. Thomas (Llanelly) was elected assistant sceretary until Mr. C. H. Hawkins (secretary) is well enough to carry on his duties. There were two changes in the committee members-the new members being Mr. L. Hurren (Llanclly) and Mr. A. Davies (Burty Port).

The next annual competition will be held at Llandilo in May, 1958.

The collection for the Bell Restoration Fund realised the sum of \(£ 2\). One new ringing member and nine new. probationary members were elected.
It was proposed by the president that the committed should meet to clarify the Constitution of the Guild, particularly the functions of Master and Ringing Master. It was also proposed that a testimonial fund be set up for Mr. C. H. Hawkins, to show the Guild's appreciation of his good work in founding the Guild and making it a success. The treasurer was instructed to contact all towers and honorary members.
The president proposed a vote of thanks to Canon Jacob and his churchwardens for having the Guild at Carmarthen, and to the Mothers Union for supplying the tea. He then closed the meeting with prayer.
The members then returned to the tower.

\section*{LETTERS TO THE EDITOR}

\section*{A POINT ABOUT COMPOSITIONS}

Dear Sir.-I was interested and a little puzzled to read the footnote to the composition of Bristol by Mr. N. Golden ('R.W.', p. 404).

If a peal has 6 the extent in 6ths place, dees it not also follow that it will have the extent of 6 in 8ths place when the tenors are at Wrong?

I think it would be both instructive and interesting if one of our leading composers-or anyone else who understands these matterswould write an article on the qualities of compositions and the implications of the various footnotes that often accompany them.

For instance, if a composition claims to have 6 the extent in 6ths place, doss it mean merely at course-ends or is it the extent of the 6th coursing after the tenor?

Or again, if the claim be ' 5 and 6 their extent in 5-6.' does it mean
- (a) at coursc-ends only?
or (b) the extent of coursing 6-8-7-5? ;
or (c) all the rows ending 5678 ?
I feel sure I am not alone in my doubts, and if an enlightening article is forthcoming, it will add meaning to the footnotes for many of your readers. and help young conductors in their choice of musical compositions.-Yours, ctc.,
- INTERESTED.

Mr. Nolan Golden replies:- There always has been a certain looseness about composition qualities-and my footnote happens to be a rigid one! '6th the extent in 6ths (or Home). does not mean and cannot mean in Treble Bob (or Bristol) the extent in all positions, for it is impossible to compose a peal in the method consisting of 12 plain courses with the 12 lead heads necessary for this. So we have numerous 'examples of 'the 6th the extent in 6ths,' which has meant all the \(12^{\prime} 678^{\prime}\) lead-ends. If the 12 ' \(7 \times 86^{\text {' lead-ends are also present, this is }}\) generally reported as all the 86s." This is inaccurate, for no composition of 5,000 changes could contain all of them. To be specific one ought to say that the tenors are at Wrong or. as I put it. "in 8ths with the tenors at Wrong." I heartily agree with the writer that an article dealing with composition qualities would be interesting and instructive, and as for myself. I believe I could have one ready by the time his letter appears in print. My difficulty is not unwillingness to write but to find time to do it, having a continuous flow of correspondence and arrangements to organise. What I need is a retreat in some isolated area to operate from: do you know of any small C. of E. School in remotest (?) Surrey in need of an enthusiastic headmaster??

\section*{THE MANUAL REWRITTEN}

Dear Sir,-The College Administrative Committee would like to thank, through your columns, the many who have rendered ringing a service by coming forward, in your paper and by post, with consiructive criticism and help in reshaping the provisional draft of Part I of the Manual of Training, which was published herein, through your courtesy, for that very purpose. Now rearranged and entirely rewritlen' it emerges as something that should prove worthy of the efforts of all those who have brought it into being. To the many others also, who have expressed interest, we would say that arrangements are being made to publish it, without profit. for the advancement of ringing training generally, and advertisement to this effeet will shortly be announced.--Yours faithfully.
R. BALDWIN, Registrar.

Dear Sir,-During recent weeks, correspondence in 'The Ringing World ' has focused attention on the many 4-bell towers in England and Wales. One, however, which has so far escaped notice is that of Dixton, Monmouthshire.
Dixton Church is situated about a mile from Monmouth on a bank of the River Wye, a little off the Ross-Monmouth road, just insida the Monmouthshire-Herefordshire border. can also be approached by a footpath from Monmouth along the river bank. which brings one to the ferry steps in the churchyard, from which. until recent years, the incumbent used to row to and from his rectory on the opposite bank, and also to the churchyard lawn which. according to a recent writer in the local papzr. -outrivailed the much-vaunted lawns at Oxford.
Dixton is a lovely little white church dedicated to St. Pcter, full of historical interest, and well worth a visit by any one spending a holiday in the Wye Valley.

Of the four bells in the tower, one is dated 1876. two are of the 17th century, while the fourth bell has the head of Edward III and his queen, and is said to have been cast at Worcester about 1420 . They were rehung by the late Geo. Day, of Eye, many years ago, so it is more than probable the 1876 bell was added at the same time.

Consecrated in 1068. Dixton was. until 1104. in the diocese of Llandaff, when it was transferred to the diocese of Hereford. It remained in the Hereford diocese until 1844 when it returned to Llandaff. In 1914 many border parishes voted on the question of inclusion in the Church of Wales, and Dixton by a large majority decided to again return to Hereford.
Situated as it is on the river bank the church is liable to flooding at any time, but in 1929 and again in 1947 these were very severc. Tablets in the church show the depth of water in 1929 as 5 ft . \(2 \frac{1}{2} \mathrm{in}\). and in 1947 as \(5 \mathrm{ft} .11 \frac{\mathrm{in}}{}\).
It is in this little church and parish that the writer's family has its roots. In the registers are recorded the baptisms of his grandfather in 1820. his great-grandfather in 1785, and his great-great-grandfather in 1765. as well as their subsequent marriages.-Yours sincercly.

\section*{FIRST PEAL AT EASTCHURCH}

Dear Sir.-The claim in a recent issue of 'The Ringing World' as the first peal at Eastchurch. brings back to my memory Friday, July 26th. 1912, when a stained glass window was unveiled and dedicated by the Archbishop of Canterbury, to the Hon. H. S. Rolls and Graze, who lost their lives when attempting to fly the channel. We then rang a half-muffied pzal in seven methods to their memory in 2 hours 55 minutes, which was the first peal on the bells.
Two years later-on January 3rd, 1914 in 2 hours 48 minutes, we rang another pal on the bells, in seven methods, in honour of the wedding of Mr. E. A. Dennis, one of the local ringers, and Miss Cissie Ellum, organist at the church and daughter of Mr. Ellum, the schoolmaster, which was solemnised on New Year's Day. By these two events I am entitted to claim to have rung the first peals on the bells.
My congratulations to you, Mr. Naylor. Carry on and score some more peals.-Yours sincerely,
W. H. B. WILKINS.

Headington, Oxford.

\section*{PEALS COLLECTION COMMITTEE}

Dear Sir,-In the report of the Peals Collection Committee to the Central Council, as quoted in page 417 of "The Ringing World, it is stated that no peals of Siedman Caters and Cinques composed by F. H. Dexter. A. Knights, N. J. Pitstow, F. Pitstow, G. Lindoff and J. D. Mathews havz been received. That, I cannot understand.

Immediately after the request had appeared in 'The Ringing World ' last year, asking for peals of Stedman Caters and Cinques, I sent to Mr. Roberts my collection of all the compositions of Stedman rung by the Yorkshire Association during the years 1875-1951. In that collection are several compositions by Arthur Knights and a few by Gabriel Lindoff and N . 3. Pitstow. Mr. Roberts had the book in his possession for more than six months.

Pudsey.
WILLIAM BARTON.

\section*{RINGING LEGEND IN CARNIVAL}

Dear Sir.-On June 29ih. the hillside village of Danbury held its annual carnival, and among the many entries for the procession was the ringers' 'float' depicting an old Danbury legend. This legend states that at an uncertain period of the Middle Ages the Devil visited Danbury and stole the tenor bell. In his haste to depart he dropped the bell in one of the many woods surrounding the hill, and to this day the last resting place of the tenor is known as Bell Hill Wood. This unusual idea must have charmed the cye of the judges, who awarded it first prize and an invitation to cnter for the Maldon carnival in August.
As a temporary outsider serving with the R.A.F.. I am not blowing my own trumpet when I congratulate the ringers on a very fine effort. In the past this band has done mush entertainnent at local and surrounding village charities with handbell ringing and singing, Danbury.

\section*{FOUR-BELL TOWERS IN LINCOLNSHIRE}

Dear Sir,-With regard to Mr. Cooke's inquiry on page 420 about Gate Burton. Lines, bells, reference is made to them in Dove's Guide on page 26 of the first edition and on page 50 of the second.

Actually there are 3 steel bells hung for ringing and in excellent order and 3 small brass bells hung dead. An Ellacombe apparatus is used.

The Church was erected in 1866 at a cost of \(£ 2,000\) including organ and bells. It seems a pity that Mr. W. Hutton, Lord of the Manor. who bore the cost, wasn "t advised as to a more suitable ring as the tower is big enough for a ringing six.

The list of fours is not quite accurate as of course Goxhill has now six.

Springthorpe were rehung by Taylors in 1930. The tenor is 9 cwt . and a few pounds lighter than the third. Scotter had attention from the local carpenter a few years ago and are ringing regularly. Glentham and Waddingham are ringable.

Belton, Isle of Oxholme, were rehung by Taylors in 1955. On hearing they had gone to the foundry I appealed to the Rector and Church Council to do more than just rehang the four. Unfortunately the Rector was very ill and my letter may not have been taken too seriously. 'They did, I believe, make the frame with an extra pit.

There are many towers with less than five that could casily carry 5,6 or even 8 . Most of them now are useless.

Our Guilds and Associations should go all out to encourage (and here Belfry Repair Funds would be serving their best purpose) these places to start rell schemes. In a lot of cases why not recast the existing bells into light \(6^{\circ}\) s or \(5{ }^{\circ}\) s? Better a light 6 ringing out than a heavy 3 that the villagers don't even know exist !

Gainsborough. GEO. L. A. LUNN.

\section*{A MISCELLANY OF RINGERS' OUTINGS}

AN EAST SURREY WHIT MONDAY
Ringers from Redhill. Nutfield, Bletchingley and Godstone in Surrey went on their annual outing on Whit Monday. The rainy morning seemed to have no dampening effect on the spirits of the party as it set out. The first stop was at.Maresfield, where everytody enjoyed themselves from rounds through to Grandsire Triples, Stedman Triples and Bob Major
At Battle Miss Kathleen Stisted rang with us and we were most impressed by her masterly handling of the heavy seventh in a course of Bog Major.

After lunch at Hastings we made our way to ring at Christ Church, Blacklands. Not all of the party made the grade, the call of the sea being too great, and four people must have lunched so well that they missed the coach to Blacklands and eventually arrived there in a taxi. The ringing here was greatly enjoyed, and we had a touch of Stedman Triples with some of the local ringers taking part.
At Hawkhurst the usual pattern of Grandsire Triples, Stedman Triples and Bob Major was followed. Again we enjoyed having some of the local people to ring with us.
On arriving at Ticehurst we found a splendid tea arranged for us by the organisers of the local fete. This was greatly appreciated and about sixty hungry and thirsty people did justice to the wonderful spread. Perhaps it was because they had caten too much tea that most people found the bells at Ticehurst difficult to handle. However, despite several hair-raising adventures with the tenor and the fourth, Grandsire Doubles, Stedman Doubles, Bob Minor and Cambridge were attempted.
St. Peter's, Tunbridge Wells, was the last tower visited, and here we had the best touch of the day in some beautifully struck Stedman Triples with the help of Mr. B. Collison and Mr. E. Ladd. The tenor ringer in this touch refused to ring again for fear of spoiling his memory of \(i t\).
The party arrived home at about 11 p.m. rather more subdued and tired than when they had started out.
We would like to say thank you to all the ringers who made us so welcome, to the incumbents for allowing \(u_{s}\) to ring and a special 'thank you' to the pcople who gave us such a splendid tea at Ticehurst. Thank you, too, Mr. Arthur Clarke (Nobby), for arranging everyihing so well.

\section*{SUTTON - ON - TRENT}

Towers in Leicestershire and Staffordshire were visited by Sutton-on-Trent ringers for their annual outing on June 1st. Despite the ringing room being in almost complete darkness, the bells at St. Andrew's, Prestwold ( 8, tenor 10 cwt. 3 qr. 18 lb .), were raised in peal and good ringing followed. There seems to be an absence of any form of artificial light in the ringing room.
A detour caused by hump-backed bridges meant a late arrival at Barton-under-Needwood ( \(8,14 \mathrm{cwt}\). 1' qr. 26 lb. ), but a good ring was had by all. The bells in the beautiful church of Holy Angels, Hoar Cross (6, 28 cwt 1 qr . 27 lb .), sound very well inside but are rather disappointing outside, being better to Minor than Doubles.
A dash across Staffordshire to Penkridge (8, 16 cwt : 1 qr .21 lb .), with its 75 feet of rope and only two sets of guides. Very little difficulty was experienced with the draught except by learners. After tea at Lichfield, the Cathedral was visited. and then came the best bells of the day at Market Boswouth ( \(8,14 \mathrm{cwt} .2 \mathrm{qr} .5 \mathrm{lb}\).) which go and sound extremely well. The last tower was Enderby (8, 11 cwt. 2 qr. 15 lb .). Thanks are accorded incumbents and Sutton ringers who arranged a most enjoyable day.
W. L. E.

\section*{ST. MARY'S, WALTHAMSTOW}

St. Mary's, Walthamstow, ringers were favoured with ideal weather for their annual outing on June 1st.
Reigate was reached at \(9.35 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}\). and the ten bells of St. Mary Magdalene were soon put to good use and the hour spint there went all too quickly. It was discovered that the last visit paid to Reigate by Walthamstow ringers was on June 8th, 1897.
The next stop was for lunch at Brighton. The party then divided, the non-ringers spending a pleasant afternoon by the seaside, while the ringers went to St. Nicholas \({ }^{\circ}\), where ringing was somewhat curtailed owing to a couple of weddings. However two happy couples were rung in and out. A very pleasant hour was also spent at St. Peter's where the high spot was a well-struck course of Cambridge Major.

Both parties met for a satisfying tea and an hour: ringing was enjoyed at Leatherhead on the homeward journey. Ringing during the day consisted of Triples. Major, Caters and Royal. Thanks are due to incumbents for permission to ring and to the local ringers for their welcome.

CANNOCK, STAFFS
June 1st was a memorable day for the ringers of St. Luke's Church, Cannock, when, joined by friends from Shareshill and Norton Canes, they held their first outing. The first tower, Gnosall, brought back happy memories for Mr . T. Fowell, as he learnt to ring here 65 years ago. One of his old pals, Mr. G. Lowe, came along to wish him a happy afternnon.

An hour's ringing at Stoke-on-Trent preseded tea which was hospitably provided by Preb. E. A. R. Chapman, who joined the party. A short drive brought them to Kingsley where they were met by the rector and some of the ringers. The last call was at Marchington and here ringing finished off a very happy day for the local people as one of their ringers was married earlier in the day. Thanks are extended to incumbents for permission to ring the bells.

\section*{HITCHIN AND DISTRICT}

Ringers and friends from seven towers around Hitchin spent Whit Monday touring North Bucks and Northants. By 8.30 a.m. they were approaching Stewkley, where the church is a gem of Norman architecture. Ringing here was not of the best, but like the weather it improved during the day. Wilmslow, recently augmented to eight so as to "dofeat "Mr. Dove. has a ringing chamber just right for six, but a squeeze for eight. The visitors enjoyed the fine go ' of the bells.
The Surprise Minor school from Great Wymondley came into its own at Padbury, and then came the "high spot" of the day, the heavy octave at Buckingham. After a pip:opener ' of Kent, and some rounds, a line course of Superlative was achieved, and finally a good touch of Stedman, truly a joy both to listen to and to ring.
After nobly feeding a: Buckingham's White Hart the party went on to two sixes, Brackley and the heavier ring at Towsester, where the ringers are surrounded by the records of long past benefactions. A bob course of London and a plain one of London went very well indeed.

After tea the two last calls were at Stony Stratford and Bletchley (where the tourists were fortunate 10 have the assistance of some of the local band).

Gratefut thanks are due to incumbents, local ringers and Kenneth Timbury, who organised the day with such charm and efficiency.
D. L. G.

\section*{STRATTON, BUDE}

Accompanied by the Vicar (Rev. L. Dodd). St. Andrew's, Stratton, Bude, ringers had an enjoyable annual outing on May 25th, favoured with glorious weather.

After ringing at Egloshayle and Redruth, the party had lunch at Camborne and rang on the lovely bells. An old Stratton ringer, Charli: Wilson, and Peter Hockridge here joined the company. St. Columb Minor arrived just before the Stratton bus at Helston where the ringing was enjoyed. At St. Keverne, the bells are first class. and the party arrived iust before the St. Gluvias', Penryn, ringers. After spending a short time in Falmouth, the last ring was on the fine bells of Probus.
Thanks are expressed to incumbents for permission to ring, tower captains and to Mr. Sangwin and his helpers for the excellent arrangements.

\section*{WELL-PLANNED DAYS IN DIFFERENT COUNTIES}

\section*{SUTTON, ISLE OF ELY}

Sution ringers and friends from Chatteris, Willingham, Longstanton, Over, Histon and Huntingdon, held their annual outing on June 5th. Bedfordshire was the area to be explored. Potton (6), the first tower of the day was reached only two minutes late and the bells were soon ringing. Blunham (6) were nex: and this grand ring was enjoyed, but a rope broke and temporary repairs had to be carried out and with much regret shortened the time of ringing. On to Willington and onc well known member was disgusted to throw the rope off the wheel twice in a short space of time.
Lunch in Bedford and the refreshments prior to this were enjoyed by all, BAA ! none. At Northill (6) we had the pleasure of making a recording of a course of Bob Minor to be sent to Canada to Mr. Wagstaffe's sister, for the occasion of Mr. and Mrs. Wagstaffe's golden wedding. Congratulations. Next Southill (6) another enjoyable ring in pleasant surroundings. Then Herlow (6) and on to tea in Biggleswade, after which we tried the grand 8 and then to Sandy 6) for the last tower of the day where some good ringing took place to conclude a successful tour. To all the incumbents (many of whom we met) and to all the ringers in the towers who met us we say. "thank you.

After a grand supper at the 'local' on sandwiches, rolls and onions, etc., we departed and arrived home about midnight.
H. S. P.

\section*{MAULDEN, BEDFORDSHIRE}

The area chosen for the Maulden ringers' tour this year was the Weald of Sussex. with some beautiful scenery in Ashdown Forest, extensive views from the chalk and sandstone edges, and glimpses of oast houses, orchards and timbered dwellings nestling among the thick woods. Joined by friends from various towers in the Biggleswade District. from Luton, Totternhoe and Derby, an carly start was made. only to suffer a mishap in the shape of a front tyre explosion on the coach. fortunately while almost stationary at a junction. Thanks to a skilful wheel change by the driver, we were not very late at the first tower, Bromley, Kent where the Gillett eight ( \(16 \frac{1}{2}\) cwt.), in a church fast being rebuilt after bombing, was appreciated.

A hilly journey over the Downs past Biggin Hill Aerodrome brought us to Withyham, but a funeral prevented ringing at the last minute. Having been welcomed by Mr. E. Ladd, some good ringing was enjoved on an older Gillet: cight ( 14 cwt .) at St. Peter's Tunbridge Wells, including a course of London Major. Mr. Rogers met us at Rotherfield, where the heavy eight ( \(23 \ddagger\) cwt.) and long draught required more care, but those who ventured out into the sudden storm heard them at their mellow best. The third Gillett cight of the day ( \(11+\mathrm{cwt}\) ) followed and proved a lovely little musical hox. These were at Coleman's Hatch.

An excellent salad and trifle tea at East Grinstead in a timbered upper room preceded a visit to the fine tower. the most imposing we had visited that day, containing a good heavy cight bv T. Mears ( \(23+\mathrm{cwt}\).). which however, reguired skilful handling owing to the long draught. The youngest member of the party, age 13. acquitted himself well for all that, and a good standard of ringing was again attained. The final tower was Reigate, with a nice old 1 cn (191 \(\frac{1}{2} \mathrm{cwt}\) ). Here good touches of Caters and Royal were rung before starting for home. Thank you. Ron Sharp, for organising yet another most satisfying tour.
D. P. J.

\section*{ST. MARY'S, CHELTENHAM}

In spite of the last minute efforts of a wellknown friend from Glouccster to catch a bus going in the opposite direction, and the subsequent slight delay until he had found the error of his ways a coachload of Cheltenham ringers and friends arrived well to time at Dorchester Abbey, the first tower of an outing to the Thames Valley on June 15 th. An abundance of short ropes and shorter ringers wasn't conducive to ringing worthy of this handy eight, but we acquitted ourselves better at the next tower, Hughenden, where Grandsire, Stedman and Little Bob were tapped off. but, due to the inability of a certain ringer to read his Ringers' Diary straight, London came to grief.

After lunch in High Wycombe, Wargrave and Twyford, Berks, were yisited. Although there were by now signs of wilting in the heat, a touch of "Beard Delight --spliced Plain, Little and Treble Bob Major-was among the touches brought round at Twyford.

Tea followed in Caversham, before the last tower of the day. Wantage proved to have a ring of bells that, to be rung well, needed a little more work than seemed to be forthcoming. However, after the culprit of the Hughenden attempt had been reminded of the difference between the work of a fifth's place bell in the Minor and that of a seventh's place bell in Major, a course of London was accomplished.

After the usual halts on the way home, Cheltenham was reached at 11.30 p.m. Sincere thanks are accorded to the incumbents for the use of their bells, to members of local bands who welcomed us, and by no means least, to David Beard, who was in charge of all arrangements for the day.
C. A. W.

\section*{NORTH-EAST DERBYSHIRE VISITED}

Some villages in the Chesterfield area of Derbyshire were visited on June 22nd last, by a band of ringers drawn from the towers of Aldridge, Coleshill. Lichfield Cathedral, Little Aston and St. Luke's, Wolverhampion.

Features of the outing were the 13 th tower crowned with a broach spire and containing a good ring of six at Old Brampton, the casy-to ring light six at Old Whittington (spoilt by being too noisy in the ringing room), a pleasant five at Ault Hucknall, and the well-toned five at St. Michacl's, Pleasley (this church contains a richly carved chancel arch). A disappointment was at Si. Mary's Beighton, where the Vicar informed the party that the second could not be rung owing to the clock hammers.

Methods rung ranged from Grandsire Doubles to Cambridge Surprise Minor. Sincere thanks are tendered to incumbents and officials for permission to ring.

\section*{ELLAND, YORKS}

Thirty-five ringers and friends from Elland. Yorks, had an enjoyable outing to Chester on Whit Monday. The route was via the famour; television aerial at Holme Moss and by a chain of reservoirs at Woodhead to the first halt. the ancient church of Mottram-in-Longdendale, an excellent eight in every way. The journey was resumed through Stockport and Northwich.
Chester proved of exceptional interest with its Cathedral. ancient walls and quaint streets. At St. Mary-within-the-Walls the visitors rang with the Rector (Rev. J. Kingdon). A call was made at Frodsham a very good eight, on the return journey. Ringing during the day included Bob Major. Grandsire. Kent. Stedman and Cambridge Minor. After passing through Warrington. Pendleton and Oldham, home was reached at \(10.45 \mathrm{p} . \mathrm{m}\).

\section*{BLUNSDON VISIT MID-WILTS}

Blunsden ringers with friends from other local towers and visitors from Derby spent Whit Monday in mid-Wiltshire.

A pleasant ride through the grand avenue of Savernake Forest brought the visitors to Savernake church (5) and later came another five at Burbage, with an unusual tonc. At Collingbourne Kingston, a good heavy six, ringing was up to standard and a touch of London was rung.

Lunch was taken in the neighbouring village of Collingbourne Ducis; at the parish church ringing started with a good rise in peal, which together with the untucked ropes reminded some people of Devon. After a long climb, the party reached Everleigh, where the church, a 19 th century building, looked out of place in the downland. The bells, however, are pleasant and a good course of Elston Delight was rung. It was an easy ride down the Avon valley to Upavon which provided the best bells of the day; a course of York was notable.

After tea, Pewsey and Milton Libbourne, both with pleasant rings, were visited. Thanks are due to Anne Pettiford for excellent arrangements and incumbents and local ringers.

\section*{CLEWER, BERKS}

With the object of ringing the sixes and fives on the Isle of Wight (the major rings having previously been visited) Clewer (Windsor) ringers spent June 15 th in blazing sunshine

The Saxon church of Arreton, with its easy ground floor ring, was first visited, the Vicar proudly showing the visitors the ancient chestnut tithe barn. Passing that lovely little six at Godshill in its idyllic setting, the party went across the Island to Whitwell, another easy ground floor ring.

The mellow five at Niton, two miles away, were appreciated, and the visitors found Chale bells (six) well worth a visit. Unfortunately the Vicar declared Brighstone bells (5) unsafe to ring, but the six at Freshwater went well. Due to missing the boat the party arrived too late at Portsmouth Cathedral to ring. Apologies to Messirs. Roger Baldwin and YorkeBramble and Miss Kathleen Knight, who had turned out \(t 0\) ring. Thanks are accorded to Bill Butler, the able organiser.

\section*{LEAMINGTON SPA}

Organised by Messrs. Oram and Farmer, All Saints". Leamington Spa, ringers had a 15 hours outing in a 40 -seater coach in Somerset on June 1st.

Ringing was at Bibury, Bath, Radstock, Chewton Mendip and Minchinhampton; A high standard for the day was set by 'rise; and 120 Stedman at Bibury: St. Paul's, Bath, sounded well from the street: the six at Radstock were rung from a sort of fiddlers' gallery (a real picture for the Christmas 'Radio Times'): the best ringing of the day (also the best bells) was on the glorious eight at Chewton Mendip : Minchinhampton hells go well, hut the 13 cwt . tenor is too noisy.
It was a journey of 211 miles through delightful scenery in grand company on a perfeetly fine day.

\section*{OBITUARY}
mr. CYRil sydney west
All who knew Mr. Cyril West well will be sorry to hear of his passing at the age of 45 years, on May 14th at the Royal Marsden Hospital, London. He had suffered more or less for the last 18 months.
Cyril West was a native of Petersfield, and learned to ring at St. Peter's Church under the tuition of Mr. W. J. Read, a local tailor. He was then only 14 years of age and showed great keenness and was one of the young band who toured the countryside on bicycles teaching ringers and ringing peals, chicfly of Doubles. He subsequently rang peals in the Standard Methods of Minor and Triples.
Some 20) years ago Cyril West moved to Midhurst. Sussex, where he worked for a local firm of solicitors. Up to the time of his illness he rang regularly at Easchourne Church. During World War II he served six years in the R.A.F. and was awarded the B.E.M. for meritorious service. He was secretary of the Midhurst Chamber of Trade, clerk to Easebourne Parish Council and secretary of Midhurst Club.
On the evening of the funeral his ringing colleagues rang the bells at Easebourne muffled to his memory.

\section*{MR. ALBERT CRAWLEY}

On June 22nd. one of the most prominent ringers in-Cheshire, Mr. Albert Crawley, passed quielly to his rest at the home of his daughter ai Welford. Rughy. He was 78 . Incidentally, June 22nd was the day of the newly formed Railwaymen's Guild's first annual meeting ; Mr. Crawley had been a railwayman ringer for over 6i) years.
He commenced his ringing at Christ Church, Crewe, under Richard T. Holding about 1897: his ringing was, however, interrupted by the South African War. where he went with the then Crewe Railway Engineers. On his return in 190)2. he rang his first peal. Grandsire Triples. on 'the old cight." and eventually rang 272 peals in almost every method on five to 12 bells.
Albert was a very capable ringer and was in great denand. He had rung on some of the finest ings in the country. among them being Gresford (one of the seven wonders of Wales). St. Clement Danes (of Oranges and Lemons fame), St. Nicholas', Great Yarmouth, and Si. Nicholas', Liverpool. The last three were destroyed by enemy action. ©ranges and Lemons' are being restored : Liverpool's are ringing again, one of the most modern rings of 12 in the country. and prohatly the finest.

For 25 years he rang at Christ Church, Crewe. leaving to become tower Captain at Wistaston in 1924, where he rang in all of the 77 peals rung at St. Mary's. He gave up ringing when he lost the use of his right arm : he rang his last peal in 1955. hut attended services and practices.

He was a member of the Ancient Society of College Youths, the Chester Guild and nine other ringing associations. He taught many youngsters in his time.

Practically all Branches of the Chester Guild. also towers in the Crewe Branch were represented at the funeral.
'This is all' : 'Stand.--God grant him rest. F. S.

\section*{THE COLLEGE OF CAMPANOLOGY}

MAYBE there are some readers who, on once more seeing this title, will feel that this organisation has already had sufficient space in the columns of this paper, but, following the debate of the Central Council, the time seems opportune to attempt an unbiased assessment of the College and its activities.

That there is a need for text books of instruction in our Art is evident from the requests to the Librarian for such publications. Indeed, the Council, conscious of its duty in this respect, set up at Leicester in 1956 a Committee whose terms of reference were the compilation of a book for beginners. Opinion in the Council was that the greater need existed in this direction and it is hoped that the manuscript will shortly be ready for the printers. A companion publication for instructors has not, we feel sure, been forgotten and possibly the same committee will be asked to continue their work along these lines.

However, great imagination is not required to appreciate that the present publication can serve a dual purpose in that it can be used by instructors as a most helpful addition to practical instruction.

The College of Campanology has produced a manual of which Part 1 has appeared in 'The Ringing World.' The principal of the College stated, that he would welcome suggestions for improvements to the marlual from any source, but it is to be regretted that his reactions to criticism leaves much to be desired.

Some criticism may have been flippant, but J. P. F. in his article headed 'A good idea - but' put forward some sound advice only to be severely taken to task under the title ' Fair enough.' This last by A. Y.-B. was far removed from its title in several instances, although one is reluctant at this stage to take up space in recriminations which invariably lead nowhere.

Two motions dealing with the College of Campanology were included in the Chelmsford agenda, for whilst the College was not named in the first there was no doubt that it was towards the College that the motion was directed. The mover of the first motion suggested that the Council should be the body to decide whether or not a College of Campanology be established. Since when has the Council had authority to dictate such a course? As will be seen from the report of one Association meeting where the Council's deliberations were discussed, the opinion was forcibly expressed that with the exception of that part of the second motion dealing with 'The Ringing World,' both motions were outside the province of the Council. We feel that the Council certainly has no power to prevent the formation of any organisation in the ringing field, although it can, if it so desires, withhold its recognition of the body.

In opposing the first motion, a speaker suggested that the principal of the College had focused attention on the problem of teaching ringing in the early stages. Is this not rather an exaggerated claim when one considers the books which have been available over the years, one by a member of the Council which, we believe, sold out two editions.

So far as the second motion is concerned, who can say at this stage what success or failure will attach to the College or say that it is unlikely to prove of any service to change ringing?

It is not necessary to be an advocate of the College of Campanology or any other similar organisation to say that efforts directed towards the advancement of change ringing should not be rejected out of hand as has been done by some ringers.
The concept of the College from the instructional aspect is worthy of the serious consideration of all ringers. Few will deny the problems besetting anyone in-compiling a text book on ringing, and if the manual produced by the College of Campanology is good, then support will not be lacking. All material finds its proper level, and certainly this will also be the case so far as concerns the College Manual.

In conclusion, it seems appropriate at this point to inquire when the publication of the Manual can be expected. Part 1 has been seen in our columns, but Part 2 has apparently yet to see the light of day.

Might we also suggest to the authorities of the College that few have seen the College constitution, know its terms of membership; or can say what benefits are available to members.
R. S. A.

\section*{SHEFFIELD & DISTRICT SOCIETY}

A somewhat disappointing number of members attended the monthly meeting of the Society, at Harthill on July 7th-the first there for several years. The young and enthusiastic local company had obviously made careful preparations for the occasion, as a result of which Harthill now possesses one of the cleanest and best decorated belfries in the district.

The bells were rung to various methods during the afternoon, before tea was taken in the Rectory grounds. Prior to the business meeting, the Rector of Harthill, the Rev. J. Bishop, welcomed the Society, and expressed his appreciation to Mr. N. Chaddock, who has spent much time and energy in training the new local band.

New members from Harthill and Rotherham were elected, and ringing was recommenced, Yorkshire Surprise Major and Stedman Triples being "tape recorded.

\section*{LEEDS & DISTRICT SOCIETY}

Quite a successful meeting was held at East Ardsley on June 29th in spite of a smaller attendance than usual. The bells were raised in peal shortly after \(3 o^{\circ}\) clock and ringing continued until 9 p.m., the following methods being rung, Grandsire and Stedman Triples, Bob Major. Double Norwich, Cambridge and Superlative Surprise

The afternoon was very sultry and a great deal of sweat was expended during the ringing of the various touches.

Departing from the usual custom, the business meeting, at which two new members were elected and thanks accorded to the Vicar, churchwardens and local company, was held in the churchyard and was followed by a pleasant half hour's handbell ringing.

\section*{HERTS COUNTY ASSOCIATION}

With holidays and the sultry weather discouraging efforts to get to Ardeley, the meeting of the Northern District of the Herts Association was not well attended. Those who came enjoyed themselves, with tea at the Fete held in Ardeley Bury gardens, followed by a short service and business meeting. Mr. B. Thompson (Walkern), Miss J. Croft (Wymondley) and Mr. and Mrs. Harris (Barnet) were elected menibers.
The General Sccretary had suggested that this District's moetings be changed to the first Saturday in the month, to leave one Saturday free for peal ringing. This was agreed, and the next meeting will be on September 7 th, at Barley it is hoped.

The bells were rung down about \(8 o^{\circ}\) clock, after ringing many methods. including the special method, Killamarsh Treble Bob. J. S.

\section*{BARNSLEY & DISTRICT SOCIETY}

The shield contest, held at Wentworth, near Rotherham, on June 29 th was won by Meltham with 39 faults. Other placings by the judge. Mr. Harold Chant, were Friezland 43, Cawthorne 82 and Shelley 104.

The presentation took place after the business meeting, with the President. Mr. N. Moxon, in the chair. The shield was received by Mr. Fred Hodgson on behall of the Meltham team, who said this was his sixth time as a conductor.
The next meeting of the Society is a joint one with the Yorkshire Association at Rawmarsh on August 10th. A vote of thanks was moved by Mr. A. Goldtherpe to the Vicar and churehwardens for the use of the bells, to Mr. George West and the local company for making the arrangements and to the judge and marker.

\section*{KENT COUNTY ASSOCIATION}

Twelve towers were represented by the 40 members attending the Lewisham District meeting at Erith, when ringing was supervised by Miss Andrews, ringing master. The Vicar (Rev. K. H. Jocelyn) conducted the service, with Mr. G. Phillips as organist and Mr. E. Barnett reading the lesson.
The Vicar also presided at the business meeting which followed tea, prepared and served by wives and mothers of local ringers. Two new members were elected and there were three ratifications. Mr. A. S. Richards kindly reported on the committee meeting at Sevenoaks.
The summer meeting was fixed for Shoreham on July 27th and the invitation of the Surrey Association for a joint meeting at Banstead on October 12th accepted. (Application for party transport should be made to the Hon. Sec.)

\section*{BELFRY GOSSIP \\ OLS}

Another excellent number of the 'Irish Bell News' has reached us. We congratulate the editor, Mr. Fred Dukes, for giving us yet more examples of Irish humour.

Age and youth were represented in the quarter peal at Tunbridge Wells on July 7th. A. F. Wellington, who rang the fourth, is aged 80 , and S. Jenner, who Jang the seventh, aged 16 . Both scored their first in the method.

Whilst the Allesley (Coventry) band will be missing their leader, Mr. F. W. Perrens, now on holiday in S. Africa. we are glad to see they are producing new conductors, and we congratulate David Carpenter on calling his first of Cambridge.

The whole Exercisc will be pleased to learn that the King's Cup Air Race was won again by Fred Dunkerley. His enthusiasm for flying seems to be as great as for ringing. This time he was flying a Sparrow Hawk. the first jet plane to win this race.

A special service is to be held at St. Nicholas' Church. North Stoneham, Hants, on July 21st at 11 a.m., when the book and handbell case in memory of the late W. T. Tucker will be dedicated. The case has been presented by his daughter, Mrs. D. M. Brown.
A correspondent writes: "A very big "thank you" to the North Eastern District of the Ladies' Guild members for the grand reception given to all members of the Ladies' Guildand others-on the occasion of their annual general meeting at Newcastle on July 6th, especially to Mr. and Mrs. McGuiness for their wonderful hospitality, which was very much appreciated.'

The age of Mr. C. Smith, of Boyne Hill, is 91 years, not 71 , as recently stated in this column.
Overheard in London recently:-
'I say it's in Aldgate.'
"And I say it is not in Aldgate.'
Subject: Aldgate Pump. Which is right?
We have received a card from Moscow, sent by \(\mathbf{P}\). W. Cave. He is attending an international conference on cables, and sends greetings to all ringing friends.
The salvage campaign, conducted by Mr . Claude Rush, is bringing in many interesting items-woollens, hessian, and even a feather bed! It has realised f 68 and the fund totals £377. Unfortunately the wastepaper market is low.

West Country ringers are very proud of some of their rings of eight, particularly those in the region of \(24 \frac{1}{2}\) cwt. in \(E\) flat. They will be interested to learn that London now possesses eight, at St. Lawrence Jewry, which compare more than favourably with their best.

Miss Ann Miles stood in the peal rung at Crawley on June 29th. She rang her bell in fine style in very hot weather, and the conductor, B. A. Cracknell, is particularly grateful to her for enabling tim to score his first of Major as conductor.
The band who rang the three peals in the Gordano churches on July 6th would like to thank the local ringers for the hospitality they received, especially Mr. and Mrs. Rockett, of Easton, and Mr. and Mrs. Symes, of Weston. The cups of tea, etc., were most welcome after ringing. as the temperature was in the 80 's for most of the day.

\section*{THE WHITECHAPEL BELL FOUNDRY}

ESTABLISHED

\section*{A DERBYSHIRE SIX-BELL TOWER}

\section*{Longford's Disused Bells}

In the south of the county, not far from the Staffordshire border, about ten miles from Derby and the same from Burton, lies the ancient village of Longford.
It is a village of considerable beauty and of great antiquity, with Norman work in its church, which is set in a spacious park with great beech and yew and magnificent lime trees. The fifteenth-century tower of the Church of St. Chad rises above the imposing brick pile of Lonzford Hall, once the seat of the first Earl of Lecester and now the residence of a baron of Burton's staple industry.
The church abounds with treasures, including mediæval carvings and sculpture, the bowl of a Norman font rescued in recent times from use as a cattle trough, and, not least, a ring of six bells.
Hung in a massive oak frame set diagonally in the tower, the two tenors are by Hedderley of Nottingham, 1750, the third was recast by of Nottingham, 1750 , the third was recast by Taylor's in 1914 and the remainder are the work of Hedderiey's foreman, J. M. Hation, 1721.

Reports vary as to why ringing stopped in 1924. One version is that it was abandoned when the second bell was overturned and thrown out of its bearings as a result of too long and too strong a stay. Whether this is correct or not, it is true that until within the past threc years this bell was out of its bearings and must have been so for about thirty years. The bells were being 'clocked' in 1927, when, as Burton District Secretary of the old Midiand Counties Association I approached the Vicar-unsuccess-fully-with a view to holding a meeting there. Even this system of chiming could not have lasted long, since many years ago a ceiling, entirely devoid of rope holes, was inserted below the belfry floor.
As frequently happens when a ring of bells falls into disuse, it acquires a legendary reputation for tone. The ring of eight at All Saints', Nottingham, silent now for many years, enjoys a reputation which quite possibly it never deserved, and I can recall hearing similar opinions expressed by old Derby ringers concerning the now demolished ring at St. Werburgh's, Derby.
I often heard my old ringing master at Burton extol the merits of tho Longford bells, and those of us who recently had an opportunity of hearing them agree that the old stories were not exaggerated.

On Wednesday, May 15th, ringers from the Derby and Burton district, with the writer and a few ringers from neighbouring towers who had been warned by the ringers' "bush telegraph that something was afoot, held an unofficial try-out of the bells. This must have been the first time they had been rung for thirty-three years. Before they could be rung a considerable amount of hard work (including the cutting of rope holes) had to be done by a volunteer fatigue party which went over in advance, armed with carpentering tools, lifting blocks (fortunately not required, as some kind friend had put the second back in its bearings), and ropes.

As the former ringers' gallery was removed when ringing stopped, the ringing on May 15 th was carried out from the chamber directly under the bells, and as there was insufficient time to put it back much of the flooring taken up when rope holes were cut, the bells were inclined to be noisy inside. Outside, however, despite their being on a level with the louvres, the sound is truty beautiful. One had often heard or read of 'bells across the meadows," 'the sound of bells in the English countryside.' and similar phrases, and one is inclined some-

\section*{THE IRISH ASSOCIATION}

The annual meeting of the Executive Council of the Irish Association of Change Ringers was held in St. Patrick's Cathedral Choir Robing Room, Dublin, on May 25th, and was attended by representatives from all districts. Mr. W. Pratt, president, was in the chair.

The following were elected to fill the various offices for the ensuing year: President, Mr. William Pratt. Holywood; Master and Librarian, Roberi S. F. Murphy, Dublin; General Secretary, Fred. E. Dukes, Meadow Cottage, Julianstown. Co. Neath; Badge Secretary, J T. Dunwoody: Editorial Committee, 'Irish Bell News, ' F. E. Dukes, Editor,, Miss Jean Stewart, Mrs. F. E. Dukes and G. Bingham. Two life members were elected: R. Tait, St. Patrick's Cathedral, Dublin, for 45 years' service to ringing, and J. E. Harris, Waterford, also for long service.
The annual report and statements of accounts were received and adopted, as also was the report from the 'Irish Bell News.' In the case of the latter, a decrease in circulation was reported, but a surplus of funds enabled a small sum of \(£ 110\) s. to be set aside for depreciation purposes.
The discussion on the revision of rules which had been adjourned from last year was brought to conclusion with complete agreement on all outstanding points of difference. Virtually no change was made in existing rules other than to regularise them. A new class of membership was formed, viz., associate member, which caters for all classes of church bell, ringers other than those who ring at churches containing rings of bells. In future, too, the executive officers will not have any voting powers at mectings unless they are District representatives. A resolution from the Northern District re non recognition of the College of Campanology Was before the meeting, but no action was taken. Similar decisions had already been reached by both the Southern and Eastern Districts. It was decided that the meeting in 1958 be held on May 3rd.
A break was made during the meeting to enable the Murphy Cup to be competed for. The contest was held on the bells of St. Patrick's Cathedral. The three District finalists were: St. Mark's, Dundela (North), Mount St. Alphonsus, Limerick (South), and 'St. Peter's, Drogheda (East), holders. The judges, Messrs. C. W. Galbraith. J. MacManus and Miss Jean Stewart. were unanimous in declaring the Limerick team the best striking tean in Ireland. They had 60 faults. Drogheda were a close second and St. Mark's, Dundela, not very far behind. The cup was presented to Mr. Benson for Limerick : he proposed a vote of thanks to the judges. This was seconded by Mr. F. E. Dukes, who congratulated the winners on their well-deserved win. Both complimented the Dundela team on their very fine effort, especially as they had been in existence for only two years. Mr. Robert Tait acted as Ringing Master in the unavoidable absence of Mr. Murphy.
times to dismiss them with a patronising shrug, but on that lovely cyening they came irrectisbut on that lovely evening they came irresistibly to mind.
The proceedings were brought to a premature conclusion by the tenor clapper falling out and the pin becoming lost in the morass of twigs accumulated by jackdaws when they had the tower to themselves, but the ringing Was sufficiently long to disperse any suggestion that the bells are unringable, and it was sufficiently good to carn a letter of appreciation from a parishioner. I think I am not alone in agreceing with the writer when he refers to 'those most lovely bells of St. Chad's Church, Longford.
It is pleasant to learn that a movement is on foot to get these bells ringing again.
R. H. DOVE.

\section*{THE NEW BELLS OF ST. LAWRENCE JEWRY}
- Hear the loud alarum bells

In the clamorous appealing to the mercy of the fire.
In the mad expostulation with the deaf and frantic fire.) (Edgar Allan Poe)
If ever these lines had real significance, surely it must have been on the evening of December 29th, 1940, when the Church of St. Lawrence Jewry-with the exception of the four wallsand the bells were completely destroyed by the 'great fire' of the City of London.
Many ringers will still remember and, I hope, have rung on that glorious ring of eight bells (tenor 31 cwt., approx., in D flat). They were hung in an anti-clockwise direction, and the whole ring was completely rehung by Mears and Stainbank in 1930. Mr. Albert Hughes trained a band to ring them, composed of choristers and one sidesman connected with the church.
And now a new church has arisen, designed by Mr. Cecil Brown, R.A. It was officially opened on Monday, July 15 th.
On Thursday, July 11th, a small band met in the ringing chamber to 'try out' the new bells. They are a ring of eight (tenor \(24 \frac{3}{\frac{3}{3}} \mathrm{cwt}\). in E flat) cast by Mears and Stainbank. The bells are hung the 'right way round,' and a great improvement has been effected in the ringing chamber by the removal of the lantern, which many ringers will doubtless remember.
Edgar Allan Poe uses the words 'silver,' 'mellow, 'golden' in his poem. Would that I could coin a special word to describe the new bells. They are a perfect blend. The sound comes out from the roof of the tower and there is, therefore, not that overpowering volume of sound that was heard in the street from the old bells.

There is a quotation about the East not meeting the West, but this is not true in the case of the new St. Lawrence Jewry church. The bells match the beauty of the East End of the church and Mears and Stainbank are to be heartily congratulated on a fine achievement. It is to be hoped that the bells will be rung as frequently as circumstances will allow. That is their due reward.
F. C. S.

\section*{PETERBOROUGH DIOCESAN GUILD}

The July meeting of the Kettering Branch was held in delightful surroundings at Stoke Albany, by kind permission of the Rev. R. Nazer. The six bells were kept ringing until the meeting, which was held in the Rectory garden. Cold drinks were warmly received at this stage.
Three members having gained first peal certificates. Canon G. F. Turner, Guild President. made the presentations and congratulated the recipients Two new members were elected.
The cost of teas at meetings was discussed. and it was decided that 2 s . was a reasonable maximum ; any amount over that charge to be mado up out of Branch funds. It was stressed that names must be sent to the tea organiser if tea was required.
The Guild form of service was read in church, and then tea was served (free !) on the Rectory lawn. Thanks were expressed to the ladies who provided it and also to the Rector.
After tea, ringing continued for an hour at Sloke Albany, then the party adjourned, via the Rectory for more cold drinks, to Wilbarston where further ringing took place. The threatened storm broke at this stage : the belfry was plunged into darkness as the lights failed : the bells were hastily lowered. The lights came on again, but nobedy had the inclination or energy to raise the bells.

\section*{THE LADIES' GULLD}

\section*{South Wales District}

On June 29th the South Wales District held a very enjoyable meeting at All Saints' Church. Newport. the tower of the Vice-President, Mrs. Dorothy James.
Some forty-five ringers attended, including visitors from Worcestershire, Gloucestershire and Somerset. Various methods were rung from 'rounds to Yorkshire Surprise Major
The service was conducted by the Vicar. the Rev. Sproule Jones, who warmly welcomed the Guild to All Saizts'. Then followed tea in the church hall and the ladies who prepared this were thanked by Mr. R. E. Coles. Mrs. Audrey Bruton thanked the Vicar for his welcome.

At the business meeting Mrs. Dorothy James mentioned the recent wedding of the secretary, Mrs. Jacqueline King and on behalf of the members of the South Wales District presented her with a heautiful silver cake stand, suitably engraved Mr. King expreceed her incere thanks to the ladies for the loveiy present and their good wishes. and said that the presentation had been a complete surprise. Two new members were elected from Bedwellty, Miss Wendy Pearce and Miss Mary Rogers. It was decided to hold the next meeting at Whitchurch with Pentre as an alternative.

\section*{London District}

The London district of the Ladies Guild met at Woodford on June 29th, and athough the meeting was disappointing regarding numbers it was most enjoyable.
The bells were kept going to the standard methods and Cambridge Surprise during the afternoon and evening. An interesting address was given by the Rev. G. Kemp. Vicar of Barkingside, who conducted the service.
The party then sat down to a sumptuous tea provided by the committee members and it was immediately followed by the business meeting which was presided over by VicePresident Mrs. Savory. Mrs. Lock. the President of the Guild, was also present.
It was decided to hold the next meeting at Streatham on August 31st.

\section*{NORWICH DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION}

The North Norfolk Branch held a quarterly meeting at Hingham on July 13th, when the attendance was disappointing. 19 nembers attending.
The service was conducted by the Rector (Rev. J.S. Barrass, A.K.C.). who also gave the address.
In the absence of the president and Branch chairman. Mr. H. Tooke (vice-president) was elected as chairman for the meeting. Mary Maddison (Norwich) was transferred from probationer to ringing member status,
Mr. G. Sayer (Ringing Master) appealed for names of members of the Branch who wished to take part in the North Norfolk peal attempt at Wymondham on October 5th. It was decided that the Branch committee select a band from the names submitted.
It was decided to hold the next meeting at Buxton on Saturday. October 19th.
After the uswal votes of thanks, ringing was continued from rounds to Bristol.

\section*{RINGING RECEIVES PUBLICITY}

Ringing and ringers, bells and ringers' jugs have. figured prominently in articles in three magazines and a newspaper recently. The most important of these articles was an inquiry into the status of ringing in Yorkshire, conducted by 'The Dalesman. and published in the January and February issues of that magazine and followed by several letters in March issue.
This was followed by an article entitled - Hospitality in the Church Belfry.' and published in the issue of the 'Church Times,' dated April 18th. Written by K. B., a Quaker journalist, who received from a magazine editor a request for information on ringing in her area. the article dealt with the wonderful welcome

We are assured by the arlist, Mr. R. J. Bowden, that the incident depicted actually happened to a well-known West Country ringer, not a hundred miles from Bristol.
she received from ringers and vergers in her investigations. Quite obviously the writer was impressed and affected by ringers* hospitality.
In the November. 1956. issue of "The Shell Magazine ' there appeared an article on Big Ben. written by Mr. B. H. G. Malet. This dealt with the clock tower of the Palace of Westminster, so often wrongly called Big Ben. with the clock and with the four yuarter bells, besides giving an interesting account of Big Ben itself. There were five illustrations.
The article on 'Bellringers' Beer Jugs ' was contributed by Mr. H. B. Newman to the June issue of the 'East Anglian Magazine,' which is published at Ipswich. Mr. Newman commented on the use to which the mugs were put and on conditions which existed in the belfry in the 18 th and 19th centuries. Photographs were reproduced of the jugs at Hinderclay, Suffolk, and Garboldisham. Norfolk, and mention made of those at Diss. Clare. Hadleigh and Beccles. It is interesting to note that on his visits to East Anglian churches Mr. Newman was accompanied and driven by Mr. Nunn, one of the Garboldisham ringers.

\section*{YORKSHIRE ASSOCIATION}

The annual meeting of the Eastern District of the Yorkshire Association was held at York on Saturday, July 6th. when the bells of Acomb (6) and the York Institute of Architectural Study (6) (formerly St. John's Church) were rung during the afternoon, and those of the Minster (12) after Evensong; in the evening the Institute bells were rung until 8.30.

At the close of Evensong a procession was formed behind the choir to the Bellfounders' Window in the nave of the Minster, where prayers were said by the Dean of York (the Very Rev. Milner White), followed by a course of Grandsire Triples by York Minster ringers (Miss M. E. Wilkinson 1-2, J. A. D. Woolford 3-4, S. H Steel 5-6, H. Walker 7-8), and the singing of the Doxology. This was attended by a large congregation and hundreds of visitors to the Minster
The business meeting took place in the Institute, presided over by the vice-president (Mr. A. E. Sellers). He was re-elected as vice-president. and Messrs. L. Rodmell. FI. W. Dale and E. M. Bradley were elected to serve on the committee for a further three years, Mr. Maurice Grundy, of Selby, was elected a member. Bridlington was selected as the next place of meeting, with Hessle as an alternative.
Mr. H. Walker was congratulated by the chairman on his appointment as Master of the newly-formed Railwaymen's Guild. Mr. L. W. G. Morris, the general secretary answered questions and explained the reason for the increased subscription. the continuing rise in printing costs being the main reason.

\section*{SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD}

The quarterly meeting of the Devizes Branch was held at Christ Church, Bradford-on-Avon, on Saturday. July 6th, attended by 40 ringers. and visitors from Bodenham. Chippenham. Clutton, Frome, Nailsea. Ross-on-Wye, Corsham and Swindon. Ringing commenced at 3 p.m. on the fine ring of eight bells (tenor 12 cw(.). The ringers had tea on the Vicarage lawn, which was provided by the Young Wives of the parish.
The meeting which followed was presided over by the chairman (Mr. A. T. Wceks), who spoke of the loss by death of Mr. A. J. West (father of Mr. W. C. West. secretary of the Guild). and the members stood in silence to his memory. Mr. Weeks gave a warm welcome to all the visitors. At the conclusion of the meeting he thanked the Vicar for the privilege he gave them for tea in his garden, and the ladies who provided it. Ringing continued till 8 p.m.

\section*{LAST OF A GENERATION}

On Sunday, May 26th. the bells of St. Mary's. Ewell. Surrey, were muffled as a mark of respeet for Miss Annie Sarah Beams, the last member of her generation of a very old Ewell family. She died at Epsom District Hospital the week before and was buried in the churchyard on Friday, May 24ih. Her nephew, Mr. Joinn Beams, is head bellringer.

\section*{MORE 4-BELL TOWERS}

Dear Sir,-To your already long list of 4 -bell towers. I can add the following towers in Kent, which I know of.

Addington. - The tower has been deemed unsafe. but I believe the bells are chimed fairly regularly. Also, as Mr. I. H. Oram states. there are plans for augmentation and renovation. The tenor ( 32 in . in diameter) weighs about 7 cwt .

Adisham.-The bells here have not been rung for a good many years, and the frame is in a poor state of preservation. They are chimed by an Ellacombe apparatus, and I believe there is an upstairs ringing chamber. The tenor. cast c 1440, weighs about 9 cwt.

Bicknor.-This is a very light ring: the tenor weighs no more than 2 cwt. The ienor and treble are steel bells. I have no information as 10 whether they are ringable.

Alkham.-These are quite ringable. The tenor weighs about. \(8 \frac{1}{2} \mathrm{cwt}\).
Bishopsbourne.-This church has a towar large enough to hold a ring of eight with a 12 cwt. tenor. but the present four are in a bad state. The frame is in the last stages of decay, and the wheels are mainly broken. At the moment all four are being clocked, and it is a wonder they are not cracked already. Treble by Christopher Hodson, 1685 . Back three by Joseph Hatch. Tenor weighs about 8 cwt .

Challock. - This church, situated on the edge of Eastwell Park, has a fine tower with a beacon turret. The bells. rung from an upstairs ringing chamber, are not at present rung because the church is being restored. Three of the bells werc made by Henry Wilner, John Wilner and Stephan Swan, and I believe the fourth was made by one of the Palmers. Tenor ( 41 lin .) about 13 cwt .

Harbledown (St. Nicholas).-This is a very cramped tower at the north-west angle of the church. which is now not used, but preserved as an historical monument. The bells, which have not been rung for a long time, have great 'cart ropes, with enormous grotesque sallies, Three of them are by Joseph Hatch: the third is by Henry Jordan, c. 1450. Tenor weighs about \(6 \frac{1}{2} \mathrm{cwt}\).

Fondwich. - The belfry is in a disgusting state of filth and dirt, and I am sure the bells aren't even safe to chime. let alone ring. They are all by Joseph Hatch, and are rung from a curious gallery. Tenor weighs \(8 \frac{1}{4} \mathrm{cwt}\).

NEwnHam.-Tenor weighs about \(7 \frac{1}{2} \mathrm{cwt}\). I have no other information about this tower.

Plumstead.-Belfry very dirty. The frame seems sound enough, but that is just about all that does. Three bells by Christopher Hodson, 1686: one from Whitechapel, 1790; one bell cracked. Tenor weighs 9 cwt .

Westwell.-This is a heavy four (tenor about 15 cwt.). Only three of the bells have ropes. I believe that with a little attention these bells could be rung. Tenor a fine mediaval bell by Wm. Oldfield, of Canterbury. Other bells by Joseph Hatch

ICKHAM.-Again only three of the hells have ropes. The belfry is regarded as a place for leaving all the rubbish. There is a rope-draught of about 30 ft . One bell is cracked. All bells cast by John Palmer, 1642. Tenor weighs 9 cwt.

East Langdon.-Tenor 7 cwt . I have no other information about this tower.

Waltham.-A low central tower but only two of the bells have ropes. The third is the earliest known bell by Joseph Hatch. dated 1602. with Thomas Hatch's trade stamp on it.Yours sincerely,

\section*{Ashford, Kent.}

\section*{THE CHANGING SCENE}

Dear Sir,-Times change, and we with thent. Recently there has appeared in the *R.W: articles which had they been published between the two world wars would have caused endless controversy. Not a single comment has appeared to date, so we can assume the truth of the opening statement.
The article on the Rabbits' Guild was ex. tremely well done and gave us all a good laugh. Still, there is an underlying motive behind the witty and caustic points made. we may be sure. The author must have had an original, and has been carcfully noting the different styles 0 * tower captains and ringing masters. Many years ago there was some correspondence on this very subject, and it was pointed out that strict discipline did produce good ringers.

The writer well remembers going to ring at a famous tower where the local conductor had a reputation. He had the habit of stamping his feet if the striking was not good. My warning was this: 'If he is only lifting one foot things are not too bad, but if he lifts both feet then look out, somebody will be for it. Still, on the whole, there is a better spirit of camaraderic in the beifry today than ever before. Civility has 10 be shown in these days of depleted bands, whereas in the old days you were a lucky person to get in the band at ail. So Rabbits' Guild or not, it is the duty of tower leaders and conductors to teach a love of good striking. A slovenly bang-them-about-anyhow is the negation of ringing, and will produce countless enemies in the vicinity of the church.

The second article is in the form of a letter by Candidus, but only the latter part is controversial, viz.: Bristol Surprise Extension. Speakers at the Chelmsford meeting condemned the College of Campanology for starting something without the approval of the C.C. Yet we have two good bands who have produced their own extensions of Bristol and rung them. It does not make sense. for the Methods Committee should have some say in this matter, or so one would expect. It is not a casc of naming a method being rung for the first time. Bristol is one of the methods which has really caught on: it is fairly easy and is musical, so it is natural ringers would like to sce it extended to the higher numbers. Some people have described Bristol as stagnation, but these are in a minority. It is nearly 60 years since it was introduced and is still popular. A long and technical correspondence appeared in the 'R.W." in the 1930 's, but no finality was reached about the proper extension. There is no desire to carse friction or run down in any way the bands who have rung these peals. On the contrary, one applauds their enterprise. In these democratic days the C.C. or ils Methods Committee should have been consulted. Perhaps you may not agree, buk that is how it appears to
M. R. P.

\section*{A CORRECTION}

Dear Sir.-I would like to point out that the footnote (greatest number of Doubles methods (14) rung for the Salisbury Guild) to the peal rung on Sunday, June 9th, 1957, at St. George's, Ogbourne. Wiltshire is incorrect.

A peal in 21 Doubles methods was rung for this Guild on November 12th. 1938, at Evershot, Dorset, conducted by ine.-Yours truly.

KENT COUNTY ASSOCIATION Canterbury District
A temperature nearing the \(90{ }^{\circ} \mathrm{s}\), and a small belfry packed with ringers, proved almost too much for some of the members of the Canterbury District at their recent meeting at Siurry. More than one ringer was discovered enjoying the shade of the trees in the churchyard. In spite of the heat much ringing took place during the aftermoon, previous 10 the service, which was conducted by the Vicar (Rev. W. O. Langridge) with Mr. A. E. Armitage at the organ.

Probably the most welcome item was the tea which followed in the Social Centre, this being prepared by the ladies. At a short business meeting, the election of one new member, proposed before a peal. was ratified. The election of the new band at Herne. together with Mirs. D. A. Chapman, formerly of Sheffield, and one new honorary member. was also agreed. Mrs. W. Dobbic, the recently appointed secretary of the Kent Branch of the Ladies Guild. was present; and the suggestion. coming from

\section*{ST. MARTIN'S GUILD}

A quarterly meeting of the St. Martin's Guild for the Diocese of Birmingham was held at Shirley on July 6th.

Welcome visitors included Miss V. M. Horton, of Duffield. Mr. F. E. Collins, of Croydon. and ringers from Cheitenham and Worcester.

The light ring of cight was rung to most standard and Surprise methods in common use exceilent practice being obtained by a number of young lady ringers, who no doubt found the easy running of Shrrley bells to their liking.

The business meeting, at which the Master (Mr. F. E. Haynes) presided, was over in record time. there being very little business on the agenda, and none which evoked discussion.
With great regret the members received the news of the tragic death, at the early age of 24. of John William Hovey, a member of the hand at Coleshill Church, who was electrocuted during the course of his employment.

The tower election, as a life member. of Mr. Bryan Pattison, of Bedford, was duly ratified.

Solihul! was the place chosen for the next meeting. which will be held on October Sth.

\section*{RINGING LISTED AS PUBLIC NUISANCE}

Dear Sir.-Regarding the Cape Town regulations suppressing nuisances, as cited on page 430 of 'The Ringing World. I would like to say to friends in the Union: To avoid being a nuisance to the public. all new methods should be taught on handbells. Also, in training for handling church bells, the clappers should be tied until the learners are able to ring changes. - Yours truly,

EDWARD EARNSHAW

FURTHER REPORTS OF RINGERS’ OUTINGS

WITNEY AND WOODSTOCK, OXON
The Witney and Woodstock ringers chose for their annual outing a scorching hot day.
After calling at Hanborough, Eynsham, Northmoor, Standlake, Langford, Clanfield and Witney, we set off on time (!) for Northleach. Although we got off to a good start the buses soon revealed that they were frightfully slow and we arrived at our first tower a little late. The bells were soon up and were found to be excellent except for the third. This gave two experienced ringers a nasty shock by seeming to set without doing so, giving the ringer in each case a disconcerting jerk. However, we got over this and rang some passable Grandsire and a course of Stedman.

After a wholesale buying of iced lollies we set off for Chedworth, in the company of Rev. H. P. Hudson, of Ducklington, who had joined us. The buses only just managed the hills so we were late at Chedworth. A short time for a hymn and prayers in the church and then the bells were rung up. We found that if rung up in the order 234561 they sound odd. The bells went quite well but the striking was poor. Some of the party, seeing 'Roman Villa, 10 minutes walk' on their programme decided to go and have a look. Unfortunately it should have read ' 10 minute sprint' so they had to be fetched by Mr. Hudson in his car. After an excellent tea in Cirencester we moved on to Coln St. Aldwyn. Although the bells here are only \(8 \frac{1}{2} \mathrm{cwt}\). they go like Hanborough bells used to and the sweat fairly poured off us. Here we had some really well struck rounds and then some more Grandsire. By this time everyone was very hot so the cool of Bibury church was very welcome. The bells go very well heie but as they are light and the draught of rope long they are a little tricky to handle until you get used to them. More Grandsire, and then a good touch of Plain Bob Minor finished the day's ringing. We stopped in Burford for a well earned time of refreshment on the way home. However 1 have learned that I must see to it in future that the ringing is better organised. I found that I should have seen to it that all the Triples ringers were present at one time, then the Doubles ringers, then the Rounders and so on. We live and learn and next year we will do better. We would like to thank all those who went for their good-natured co-operation. D. J. S.

\section*{PENN, STAFFS}

The St. Bartholomew's, Penn, ringers in glorious sunshine iourneyed on their annual outing, making Messrs. John Taylor's bell foundry the highlight of their tour. Leaving Penn at about 8 a.m. for the bell foundry, their first stop, they were met at 10.15 by Mr. Taylor who gave an interesting conducted tour- after which ringing on the Foundry campanile took place. Stedman Caters and Triples, Grandsire Triples, Plain Bob Major. and Kent T.B. Minor were thoroughly enjoyed.

After lunch in Loughborough the party journeyed cross country to Melbourne in Derbyshire, where some touches of Grandsire and Stedman Triples were rung. The striking here was not the ringers' best: the long rope draught, to which the Penn ringers are not accustomed, seemed to be the handicap.
After tea in Derby, Barton-under-Needwood, Stalfs, was the next port of call. where the bells were much more to liking of the ringers who rang several methods. Penn was reached at 10.15 p.m., after a very enjoyable day. Thanks are accorded Messrs. John Taylor & Co. and the incumbents of Melbourne and Barton Churches for making the outing so enjoyable
C. F, W, E.

\section*{SOUTHWELL GUILD OUTING}

On Saturday, June 29th, some 30 ringers and friends, mostly from the Nottingham District, enjoyed an outing into the neighbouping county of Derby.
The coach left Nottingham at the early hour of \(7.45 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}\)., which involved unusual rising for most of the party. However, it was a lovely summer morning and the ancient church of St. Peter, Crich, was reached at \(9 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}\). The bells here are rung from the ground floor and an hour's ringing was enjoyed on these well balanced and easy going eight (tenor 12 cwt . 1 qг. 19 lb.).
On to Matlock for coffec, and thence to Fairfield on the outskirts of Buxton, where we found the eight already raised for us. This is a delightful ring both in tone and go, and a pleasant hour was spent with these bells.
From Fairfield we retraced our path to the Waterloo Hotel, Taddington, where an excellent lunch was served with the best of sauce, for our early breakfast had produced a good appetite. Back to Bakewell, past Haddon Hall with its romantic memories of Dorothy Vernon, and up the hills to Youlgreave, where a wedding had just taken place. The massive tower of Youlgreave houses a particularly fine and heavy ring of eight (tenor \(26 \frac{1}{4}\) cwt.) with a roomy, well appointed ringing chamber containing records of several peals, some by the Coventry Diocesan Guild.
I was informed that these bells were rehung by Mears & Stainbank about 1922, when the second, which had been cracked, was recast, and proved to be a ' maiden bell.' being hung as it came from the foundry without the need of tuning.

After Youlgreave the comparatively light eight at Old Matlock ( 14 cwt .) were a pleasant change, and formed a fitting prelude to the excellent tea which we found awaiting us at Matlock Bath.
After a wash and brush up, back to the coach and up the hills to Wirksworth where we found the bells ringing, and a party from West Bromwich in possession; however they soon finished and we took over and thoroughly enjoyed this lovely ring-in the writer's opinion the finest of the day. An almost perfect touch of St. Clement's was struck here at the last tower of the day.
Methods rung were from rounds to Double Norwich and the whole programme was delightfully informal.

Everyone enjoyed the outing and our best thanks are accorded to the organisers, Mr. and Mrs. Allen Simpson.
R. A. B.

\section*{FARINGDON, BERKS}

An enjoyable outing was held on June 22nd by ringers from Faringdon. Shrivenham, Stanford-in-the-Vale. Buckland, Hinton, Waldrist and Marcham, Ringing took place at Banbury, Northampton. Buckingham and Witney, the last named tower providing the best ringing. Lunch was at Northampton and tea at Buckingham. The party were pleased to have with them the Rev. and Mrs. C. H. Davey, of Faringdon. The outing was arranged by Messrs. F. H. Wright and D. Vincent, who are thanked with all others for providing such a happy day.

\section*{BRAINTREE, ESSEX}

The Braintree St. Michael's ringers had their annual outing on June 22nd, visiting Hatfield, Harpenden, Luton, Leighton Buzzard ind the lovely eight at Woburn. A very enjoyable day resulted. Methods rung were Bob Major to London Surprise Major. Bob Royal and Grandsire Caters. Thanks are due to all the tower secs. and everyone who helped to make this outing so successful. G. W.

\section*{SOUTH-WEST ESSEX}

In blazing sunshine, and with the thermometer hovering near ninety degrees, a coach load of ringers from the South-Western Division of the Essex Association visited Saffron Walden for Great Ringing Day. Starting from Dagenham, only six strong, we picked up ringers from Leytonstone, Walthamstow, Woodford, Wanstead, Waltham Abbey and Epping (not to mention Tonbridge) and arrived at Bishop's Stortford with thirty-five on board. We were joined by the Loughton contingent, travelling by car and, after paying our respects to Miss Hill, enjoyed an hour's ringing on this pleasant ten. We arrived at Saffron Walden in time for a short ring before proceeding to lunch at the Angel Hotel. After lunch, a picked band rang a good touch of Stedman Cinques for a bride who had kindly advanced her wedding so that it should not break into the afternoon's programme.

Ringing in the afternoon ranged from rounds to Stedman Cinques, and after tea we bađe a reluctant farewell to Saffron Walden and set out for Dunmow. Mr. Smith was waiting to welcome us to this grand ring of eight, and here we had some of the best ringing of the day. On to Sawbridgeworth, where Mr. Brooks kindly had the bells up for us. I'm afraid we did not acquit ourselves so well here, probably because we had then been out and about for twelve hours on a very hot day. Half an hour's briskly organised ringing, and then on to the Good Intent where we finished the day with singing, sausage rolls and cider-especially the latter!
Home again, the last survivors reaching Dagenham at eleven o'clock. Our thanks are due to Lionel Woods, who put in a lot of hard work to ensure that we had a most enjoyable day.
J. E. M. H.

\section*{WESTON FAVELL, NORTHANTS}

This year's outing to the Banbury district was made in a fleet of private cars. The first stop was at Hanwell (5) where the tower is open to the church on three sides. Here Mr. Sturge and his 80 year old father, who has rung at midnight for 60 Christmas Eves and 60 New Year Eves, greeted the visitors.

The visitors suggest sound-resisting material under the bells for Bodicote (5). After one of the famous Banbury teas a visit was made to Croughton. renowned for having one of, if not the best, rings of five in the Peterborough Diocese. The final tonal qualities of the bells resulted in overstaying time and Sulgrave, with its musical six, was reached 35 minutes late. To all who helped to make the day successful, thanks are extended

\section*{WISTASTON, CHESHIRE}

On Saturday, May 25th, the Wistaston. Cheshire, ringers held their annual half-day outing. together with ringers and friends from neighbouring towers. The route this year led us to Cheshire's coastline, three out of the four towers visited being in the Wirral Peninsula. Ringing was enjoyed at Handley, Heswall, West Kirby and Bidston and ranged from rounds to a course of Cambridge Minor, while the tea at the Heatherlands Cafe, Thurstaston which was equally well enjoyed, rivalled the high standard set by last year's tea.
We would like to thank the local ringers who met us at cach of the towers and also the incumbents who so readily gave us permission to ring. Last, but by no means least. a special 'thank you' to George, our bell ringing bus driver, who so skilfully negotiated the rathe rambling route.
J. D. S.

\section*{UP AND DOWN THE COUNTRY}

WEST VISITS EAST

The nucleus of a party of West Country ringers left Bridgwater, Somerset, on Whit Saturday morning making Wing, Bucks, a convenient stopping place for a 'tower on the way.' Arriving late due to snail's pace progress through Oxford we found the Worcester party waiting. The bells were started off in something of a jangle before we found this was an anti-clockwise six-Mr. Dove please noteafter which ringing settled down to various touches on this heavy ring.
Our journey conţinued on through Cambridgeshire, past the Newmarket racecourse, to our first Suffolk tower, Elvedon. By-passing the old tower with its tubular bells, we found a good ring in the semi-detached Memorial Tower. Before completing the last lap to headquarters at Great Yarmouth we found time to call in on a meeting at Long Stratton, this being the first round tower for most of the party, and the first Norfolk one.
Most of Sunday was spent boating and exploring. One member went to Beccles and here rang Plain and Kent Royal, with the locals and visitors from Isleworth, for morning service. A fine morning led to a violent thunderstorm trapping the writer in Beccles in flooded roads. Luckily those boating had just got ashore and were able to shelter. In the evening we visited the very high tower of Winterton and rang for service which was afterwards attended.
Wet Monday - sorry, Whit Monday - it rained continuously till we finished ringing at 9 p.m. First came Acle with its unique tower inside a tower. Here we were joined for the day by Alan Carveth, Truro, and Cyril Wratten, Cheltenham, they having already travelled 90 miles that morning. Spliced Kent and Oxford proved difficult to bring round! Next Ranwortn, where we were not generally impressed by its description 'Cathedral of the Broads,' and Wroxham, where a local ringer joined in Cambridge. After lunching appropriately at the 'Bell' in Norwich, we had a little difficulty in locating St. Miles' little used church among the many towers. Here we were met by Mr. C. Bird. Norwich branch secretary, and his friends, who were to be very helpful to us during the week. Pigeons were disturbed at St. John de Sepulchre and traps were raised to improve the audibility for the benefit of one whose hearing aid had failed. Some rang here their first course of Double Norwich. On invitation a very enjoyable tea was provided by Mr. Bird and friends and handbells were used for ' lapping,' changes, and tunes.
The evening's ringing continued at Ketteringham. Hethersett, a well-known and idcally situated peal tower but where Cambridge did not go, and Wymondham Abbey. with its fine west tower and ring of eight. After some good ringing here all touches were entered in a beautifully illuminated record book.

\section*{WEATHER IMPROVES}

Tuesday brought better weather which continued the rest of the week. For the first time with us was Trevor Bailey, of Beccles, who had made some of the arrangements and acted as guide for this day and the next. Our hardhearing member was left benind for the first tower. Halvergate, while he had repairs done to his aid. Nevertheless a dash by the writer back and forth along the Acle 'straight' enabled him to get one pull there, after coffee. etc.., was kindly supplied at the Rectory. Next came Reedham, an easy going five, and the crossing of the ferry to Loddon where a local joined us on the eight.
Raveningham was found in its park and here a course of Raveningham Doubles was rung with the help of Clive Smith, of Lichfield, who had now joined us for the rest of the week. Haddiscoe Doubles were well struck in Haddiscoe's ancient tower, despite the fact that there were various ideas about the method. Norfolk Doubles were also rung.
Extra to the programme came a return to Norwich where at short notice we rang at St. Giles' and St. George's and then on for a real 'grab,' led by Mr. Bird, to Saxlingham Nethergate, to intrude on the local practice for a touch of Kent Major, Tasburgh and Mulbarton.

Wcdnesday found us at Ludham, Norfolk's heaviest five, with its unusual and ancient high tenor box, and then to Catfield, the writer's 800 th tower. Although we were told to ring, this was restricted owing to a coffin being in the church. On then to Coltishall (nothing unusual to report), Buxton (a local lady joined us in Double Court), Lammas, in a lovely setting, but with five bells not six as shown in the 'Guide,' Northrepps, where the method of that name was rung, and Cromer, with its fine conspicuous tower and grand ring for their weight. Lastly to Marsham-our half-hour limit being extended to the whole evening, to help the locals in their practice, led by Rev. H. G. Lillingston, President of the Norwich Association.

Thursday, and to Somerleyton with sallies so low that the writer easily rang the tenor, kneeling, to a touch of Double Court, St. Margaret's, Lowestoft, was passed once by all three drivers before we realised it was the church we were looking for. A fete was being held that day at Cartion Colville for the bells, recently rehung, so a collection was made among those present. Some of us arrived very early at Wrentham and a quarter of Cambridge was attempted. The Vicar here was surprised to see 'we ringers from Zummerzet' so tidily dressed and asked if we had brought any 'Zider.' A local 'method' Bramfield Surprise Doubles was tried at Bramfield's detached round tower.

\section*{A CHECK}

Our only mishap was at the next tower, Wenhaston. An obviously badly cracked stay was finished off. Two hefty members turned the bell back over to save awkward rethreading. A surprise was that the incumbent was previously at an adjoining parish to our Worcester friends. At Halesworth we met Mr. John Blyth. general secretary of the Suffolk Guild, who joined us on another 'extra to programme' effort, an invitation to Wissett. Here our Somerset lady ringer met a ringer previously from her own parish. Finally a mile walk got permission for a short ring at Chediston.
For the last official day of the tour we had three towers only, Aldeby, the only central one encountered, and which was struck by lightning on the Sunday previous - only minor damage caused however-Ditchingham, where the Rector showed \(u_{s}\) the fine War Memorial in the church and also some interesting brasses, and Bungay.

Goodbyes were said to our Lichfield friend who was returning to his annual meeting and to those from Worcester, returning to ring for a wedding. The Somerset party left on the Saturday for the Beds. and Herts. Festival, arriving at Aldenham after some very clever map reading-a 400th tower scored here. After a wedding we rang Bob Minor on the back six at St. Peter's, St. Albans, and following the service and tea rang at the Cathedral and St. Michael's.

Gireat help was given by Mr. Bert Johnson and Mr. Walter Ayre in finding accommodation for us for the night. Next morning a rush to Pinner and Harrow Weald for service ringing and then the journey home.

We offer grateful thanks to all incumbents and local ringers of the two counties who gave us such wonderful co-operation. R.D.S.

\section*{FAIRFIELD, BUXTON}

About a dozen friends, including a "wee lassic' from Edinburgh and later 'the mob' form Marple, accompanied the Fairfield ringers on their outing to Loughborough and Leicester on June 22 nd .

The bell foundry was reached dead on time and Mr. J. P. Fider conducted the party on a very interesting lour. A great delight was 'grabbing' Bath Abbey bells with rounds and Queens. At the Campanile Kent T.B. Royal, Plain Bob Major and rounds were rung. An excellent lunch at the Three Nuns preceded a visit to All Saints' Parish Church where Kent T.B. Royal was rung with three teenagers on the back end. rounds and call changes.

An hour was spent at Rothley (6) where some of the best ringing of the day and some of the worst took place. Methods ranged from Plain Bob to the London Group and London Surprise.
St. Mary de Castro (8) was reached 25 minutes late, due to the way having been lost in Leicester, and there was nobody to meet the party. A call on Mr. Ernest Morris resulted in permission to ring on the light cight at St. Margaret's for 40 minutes and the visitors felt privileged when Mr. Morris rang with them in a course of Bristol.

Owing to a late departure, Belper (8), the last tower, was left out. The journey back to the Peak District was enlivened by handbell ringing and singing (?). Thanks for an enjoyable day are expressed to all who arranged the ringing.

\section*{HELMINGHAM AND DISTRICT}

The Sussex coast was the objective of the Suffolk ringers of Helningham for their outing on June 29th. Despite an early start at 5 a.m.. traffic was so heavy that Rotherfield had to be missed, and Eastbourne was reached at 12.50 p.m. only 10 minutes late. Slow service of the mid-day meal caused the ringers of the party to be late at All Saints' Church, and no ringing was possible owing to a fetz in the vicarage grounds. They were however, able to ring for a wedding at St. Mary's Church.

Unfortunately half a dozen non-ringers were missing when it was time to move for Seaford. Four who knew the next call were left hehind, but later caught up with the party. After a magnificent tea at the King's Head. Southover, good use was made of the bells of the Parish Church ( 10 ). Later ringing was enjoyed at Uckfield. Home was reached by some of the party at \(3.30 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}\).

\section*{NEWARK-ON-TRENT, NOTTS}

By tradition the Saturday nearest the longest day is chosen by ringers and friends of Newark Parish Church for their annual outing On Junz 22nd the party left Newark at 8 a.m. and reached Sutterton (8) in good time. They did not do fair justice to these bells, which both go and sound well. The next tower Holbeach (8) with a rather. long draught of rope, was voted to contain the best bells of the day.

The journey along the coast of Norfolk past Sandringham and Hunstanton was spoilt by incessant rain, but this had stopped on arrival at Holkham ( 6,19 cwt.) where the spacious belfry is approached by a straight broad staircase and the bells "go' extremely well. The bells of Wells-next-the-Sca (8), which are rung from the gallery, also go very well bu! are difficult to hear. After a pleasant hour by the sea. some good ringing at Fakenham (8) ended an enjoyable day. Thanks are expressed to incumbents and local ringers and not least to the hardworking secretary, Bill Medwinter.

\section*{OBITUARY}

\section*{CANON H. S. STEPHENSON}

Canon H. S. Stephenson, who died on June 4th, had never been a practical ringer but he had been very interested in ringing and a very good friend of ringers for very many years. He had been a member of the Durham and Newcastle Diocesan Association from 1907 and his election as its president from 1950-1953 was an expression of the high estecm in which he was held by ringers.

Canon Stephenson was born in Bombay on November 4th, 1871, and educated at Sherborne School and Trinity College. Cambridge. He went north on his ordination in 1895 and never left the diocese of Durham and Newcastle, serving in Willington, Allendale and Gateshead until his retirement in September, 1955. In 1922 he was made an honorary Canon of Durham Cathedral and he became a King's Chaplain in 1938. Gateshead recognised his great service as Rector from 1914 by making him a Freeman of Gateshead in 1946.

While at Allendale Canon Stephenson was instrumental in the installation of the original six in a frame for eight, his foresight being justified by the subsequent filling of the two extra pits. The bells of St. Mary's, Gateshead, were twice rehung during his rectorship.
The funcral service on June 7th took place at St. Mary's Gateshead. conducted by the Rector, Canon T. H. Corden. The Bishop of Jarrow, read the lesson and the very large congregation included the Archdeacon of Northumberland as the representative of the Queen, many clergy, including several former curates, and the President of the Durham and Newcasile Diocesan Association. Mr. K. Ar:hur. The committal ceremony in Saltwell Cemetery was taken by Archdeacon Harvey Clark. The tenor was tolled for the funeral and subsequently a halfmufficd peal of Grandsire Triples was rung at St. Mary's, Gateshead.

\section*{MR. GEORGE LARGE}

We regret to announce the death of Mr. George Large, who was laid to rest in Llandaff Churchyard on July 10th. Mr. Large came to Cardiff ahout 1923 and joined the St. John's band. He was a safe ringer in the standard methods and rang many pcals for the Association. Owing to failing health, he had done very little ringing during recent years,

As clerk of works Mr. Large was in charge of many important buildings in and around Cardiff. Later he went to Newport in charge of the building of the new Civic Centre. He was 72 years of age.

\section*{MR. WILLIAM A. BRECKON}

It is with regret that we announce the death on June 24th of Mr. William A. Breckon, of Whitby, Yorks. He was 76 years of age.

Mr . Breckon was a very keen ringer and his attendance at Sunday service ringing and practice nights could always be relied upon. He learned to ring about 50 years ago, his first peal being in 1910, and during the years up to 1954 he rang 71 peals (conducted 31) in various methods. For many years he was captain of the tower of St. Mary's Church, and held the respect of his own ringers and the very many friends from other districts. Although he was unable to ring during the past three years, his keen interest in bellringing never changed up to the time of his death.
During the funeral service four of deceased's old ringers rang a course of Grandsire Triples on handbells. and also a half-muffled quarter peal of Grandsire Triples was rung by the local band. band.
S. R. E.

MR. CHARLES SMITH
In the passing of Mr. Charles Smith at Windsor Hospital on June 22nd in his 91st year, All Sainis', Boyne Hill, has lost the last of its Surprise Sunday service band of the 1930s.
Mr. Smith was born at Marlow, where he learnt to ring at the age of 15 . He loved to tell the story that he was so small that he had to stand on a champagne box to reach the sally. He had to give up ringing ten years ago as he was unable to climb the steps.
His membership of the Oxford Diocesan Guild dates back to 1885 ; he was also a member of the Society of Royal Cumberland Youths. He kept no record of his peals, but it is known that he rang many in the district, walking many miles to take part. His proudest achievement was ringing in the peal of London at Boyne Hill in 1930, rung by a Sunday Service band.

The funeral service was at Maidenhead Cemetery on June 26th and among the floral tributes was a wreath from All Saints' ringers.

In the evening the bells on which he rang for more than 50 years were rung half muffied to touches of Grandsire by local ringers.

\section*{MR. HARRISON SMITH}

Older members of the Canterbury District will learn with regret of the passing of Mr. Harrison Smith. of Wickhambreaux, Kent. Mr. Smith, who was within a few weeks of his goth birihday, had been ill for several years, and had done no active ringing for a long period. He had lived in the parish all his life and had been a ringer at the church for ahout 60 years. He was elected a member of the Kent County Association in 1902 and had remained a member ever since. In 1926 he was appointed a representative for the district and held this office for a period of ten years. only resigning so that his place could be taken by a younger man. He was a regular attendant at all meetings, until advancing age overtook him and he had to remain indoors, much to his regret.

The funeral took place in the village churchyard, close to where deceased formerly lived, and in addition to the family mourners several of his old ringing friends were present. The bells were rung half-muffied before the service, during the course of which the 23rd Psalm and the ringers' hymn were sung. Among the floral tributes was one from his fellow ringers at Wickhambreaux and one from the Canterbury District.
Much sympathy has been expressed to his daughter. Mrs. Knight, who had looked after him during the whole of his illness. Mr. Smith also leaves another daughter. who has been resident in the United States for a number of years.

\section*{MR. FREDERICK J. MYNARD}

The death occurred at his home. Near Tower Emberton, Bucks, of Mr. Frederick J. Mynard, aged 74 years. A founder member of the North Bucks Branch of the Oxford Diocesan Guild. he had rung quite a number of peals for the Oxford Guild and the Bedfordshire Association. He was a chorister and ringer at his native church for about 57 years.
A quiet. unassuming man. Mr. Mynard was a very safe ringer and an able conductor in various Minor methods. He leaves a widow and one son, also a ringer.
On Sunday, June 30th, a quarter peal of Boh Minor was rung half-muflied hefore evening service by C. Wilson 1, A. Freeman 2. A. Stapleton 3, R. Perkins 4, F. W. Mynard 5, M. Cook (cond.) 6.

\section*{STANWICK RINGERS' DAY OUT}

Stanwick (Northants) ringers journeyed by coach on Junc 22nd to Thrapston, Huntingdon (St. Mary's (8)), and Hemingford Abbots but could not ring here on account of the absence of the towerkeeper. They called at Histon where they found a good ring of six (tenor 7 cwt .) and everyone enjoyed some excellent ringing. Then on to Cambridge where they rang on the recast eight at St. Andrew the Great. Forward again to Eaton Socon to ring on another fine eight, and then returning home via St. Neots. They are grateful to all incumbents and towerkeepers for helping with the arrangements.

\section*{LISTENING OUTSIDE}

IsS it not a fact that many ringers are apt to underrate the appreciation of their work on the part of those for whom they ring? It has been said that no one cares what is rung on the bells even though it has meant much careful study and practice, for outside listeners are few and don't know anything about it. To the general public our art is a sealed book, but when all is said and done they do know the difference between good and bad ringing, be it call changes or half-pull style. A small section of the public will sometimes express strong views on ringing and ringers just as much as I could to nearby neighbours who create various noises and do not realise it.
'I don't like church bells,' declared a well-known broadcaster on several occasions over the radio, yet I heard him singing lustily over the air a few months ago, 'I listened with joy, as I did when a boy, to the sound of the old village bells.'

Last year I was compelled to give up ascending belfry steps and taking a rope even for a short touch, a decision I had to make after 63 years of combined duty and enjoyment in most parts of the British Isles. Retirement would have been easy, but all the time there was work to be done such an idea was out of the question, so I became, among other things, a listener in order to still retain contact with ringers and ringing. To the active ringer, listening or looking on for very long is not very appealing because it clearly shows inactivity, but to me it means added interest, especially if the striking happens to be good. Sometimes you meet another keen outside listener who greets you with the information that Grandsire is in progress, yet you know the method is Stedman and openly say so, but he is not convinced and to prove he knows the difference between the two methods he avers that he has rung the tenor to both of them for many years!

Old Fred was a keen listener to his local band for many years and he had great faith in their ability to put up a good performance, although he had never been in the tower. Fred did not know the band had left call-changes to learn half-pull and their longest touch was 504 Grandside Triples, so to stimulate his interest I told him the County Association ringers would shortly be performing various methods including some Surprise ringing. After he has ascertained the date and times he merely said, 'I shall listen carefully,' and the writer thought no more about it until he happened to meet Fred again one evening. I knew what to expect for there happened to be some rough ringing before and after tea, but I did not anticipate such a strong outburst against bad striking and failure to ring various methods without blundering. Nothing would convince Fred regarding the difficulties which occur at a ringers' meeting and he firmly stuck to his opinion that the locals could beat the county ringers easily!

Listening outside sometimes means switching over to a change of programme and you can get many opinions of bells and bellringers, some complimentary, others quite the reverse, the latter portion coming mostly from those who reside near the church. Some critics are under the impression that ringers can ring anywhere or any time, but this is, of course, quite wrong, seeing the clergyman in charge of the parish is the one who has authority in such matters.

During the time devoted to listening you will certainly hear a few trips, missed dodges, or uneven striking, due to a variety of causes. This is a problem which has baffled the ringing Exercise for generation after generation, and from time to time we are reminded of the necessity for good striking. Forty-nine years ago the Central Council debated " whether the present fashion of ringing a large variety of methods is responsible for decreased attention to accurate striking and, if -so, whether any steps can be taken to encourage greater pride in this respect.' After a lengthy debate the following resolution was adopted: ' This Council desires to call the attention of Associations generally, and of conductors in particular, to the desirability of encouraging the greatest possible accuracy in striking.' In those days a certain number of points were awarded for peals based on the method rung, but what good did ringing peals for points ever do to improve ringing generally many ringers could not see, and the whole idea was at length abandoned.

Later on came an idea of awarding diplomas to ringers who could ring a few hundred changes, and this found little favour, for, after all, the best and simplest qualification that can be applied is 'a good ringer.'

\section*{THE SALISBURY}

The summer meeting of the Dorchester Branch of the Salisbury Diocesan Guild oi Ringers was held at Wool on July 131h, when the Guild service was conducted by the Vicar (Rev. F. C. Whitter), who welcomed the ringers to his church and gave a most interesting address.

Tea was generously provided by the Vicar and the ringers of Wool, and served by Mrs. L. Williams and her lady helpers, a gesture greally appreciated by the Branch members.

The business meeting was presided over by the Branch chairman (Rev. S. P. Roweroft. Vicar of Abbotsbury), and apologies for absence werc received from the Rev. P. J. Heaton. vice-chairman of St. Peter's, Dorchester, the Rev. Canon A. W. Markby, Mr. F. Precey, and the Charminster ringers.

Two new members were elected-Mcssrs. J. Fuller and T. Worthington, both of St. Peter"s. Dorchester.
It was proposed to hold the next meeting at St. George's Church. Fordington, in September, the date to be confirmed later by the Vicar.

Branch practices were provisionally arranged as follows, subject, of course, to the dates being ratified by the incumbents: July 27 ih . Preston: August 10th, Litton Chency: August \(24 \mathrm{th}_{2}\) Piddlehinton: September 7ih, Bere Regis; September 21 st. Wool.

The last date was suggested by the Rev. F. C. Whitter as being particularly appropriate, this date being the 50th anniversary of the augmentation of Wool bells from four to the present six.

The Vicar suggested a short commemoration service at 6 p.m., and he and Mrs. Whitter most kindly offered to supply refreshments at the close of the practice. A proposal by Mr. F. Virgin (Upwey), seconded by Mr. A. J. Slade (Preston), that practice nights and other ringing arrangements should be inserted in the guide books of Weymouth and Dorchester as a help to visiting ringers, was carricd.

The chairman expressed the thanks of the meeting to the Rev. F. C. and Mrs. Whitter, the choir and organist, and to Mr. L. G. Witliams for making the arrangements for the meeting. and also to the ladies for their invaluable help.

Ringing continued until about 9 p.m.. under the direction of Mr. H. J. Ford, Ringing Master. and Messrs. J. W. Rose and A. J. Slade. deputy Ringing Masters: methods rung including Grandsire and Stedman Doubles, Plain Bob. Kent Treble Bob and Cambridge Surprise Minor.
Just over 30 members and friends attended. representing towers from Abbotsbury, Dorchester (St. Peter's), East Lulworth, Preston. Upwey. Wyke Regis and Yetminster, with welcome visitors from Canford Magna. Kimpton (Herts). Chelsea and Westminster, together with nine members of the Wool band of ringers
J. H. H.

WALTHAMSTOW, ESSEX.-At St. Mary's Church. on July 7th, 1.316 Grandsire Triples: B, Patmore 1, F. C. Maynard 2, F. W. Sykes 3. A. J. Boyack 4, B. Downes 5, C. T. W. Coles 6, R. J. Chapman (cond.) 7. For Evensong and as a 14 th birthday compliment to the treble ringer.

\section*{BARNSLEY & DISTRICT SOCIETY}

An carly start was made on July 6th collecting ringers and friends throughout the district for the outing to Lincoln. The first call was at Vickhill, where we were met by Mr. Hulley, and some good Minor was rung on the fine ring at St. Mary's. As we left the tower Mr. Hulley set in motion the chiming machine. which played us out with 'Home Sweet Home."

After journcying through tine wooded country we reached Saxilby, to be greeted by Pamela Cox and Shirley Guymer, who joined us in a touch of Bob Minor. We were impressed by a small collection of ringing handbooks which were available in the ringing chamber. Whilst ringing was in progress. the Vicar conducted lady visitors around the church.
After lunch at the Eastgate Court Hotel, Lincoln, we made our way to St. Peter-at-Gowts, where we were welcomed by Mr. J. Freeman and Mr. Hurst. Owing to our late arrival our stay was short, but we found the bells very much to our liking.

A few members attended Evensong at the Minster, and two ringers were mistaken by the Dean for B.B.C. engineers! We left the city after an excellent tea at the Eastgate Hotel, and reached Lea at 7 p.m., finding a first-class ring of Minor, to which we did justice. Mr. Lunn joined us in a touch of "Cartwheel' Cambridge and his daughter. Pat, the youngest member of the Lincoln Diocesan Guild, rang the treble in rounds.
We were greatly impressed by the hospitality of the people we met during our outing, who did so much to make our day one to remember,
N. F. M.

Editor: T. W. White,

The band who rang the peal of Stedman Caters at The Wayside, Leicester, on July 14th, to the memory of Harold J. Poole, would like to associate it with the name of Alfred Ballard, who due to indisposition was unable to take part at the last minute. The band wish Alf a speedy recovery.
Readers whose subscriptions are due are warned that their 'Ringing World, will be stopped after this issue.
Accrington ringers encountered a heavy thunderstorm while on their visit to Yorkshire. They deny that this had anything to do with their previous ringing.

Those who took part in the peal at Leyton recently had first-hand experience of the point discussed at the Central Council meeting, when on an overcast evening the main switch was turned off by the organist, who had already provided some opposition to the ringing by playing the organ. The peal was concluded in almost total darkness.
The Vicar of Willenhall, Staffs (Rev. A. G. Bond), and his son. George, are very interested in ringing. They can ring call-changes creditably and are now practising plain hunting. There are also two altar servers whom they have persuaded to come along. and they have made equal progress. Owing to this, Sunday service ringing is now regular.
The Rev. Ronald E. Sibthorp, who has been Priest, Vicar and Succentor of Truro Cathedral. is leaving in August to take up an appointment as Sub-Chanter of Lichfield Cathedral. Although Mr. Sibthorp's duties at Truro have been very numerous, and have prevented him from taking part in much ringing, he has been a great friend of all the ringers at the Cathedral, and one whose name is held in very high esteem throughout Cornwall.

\section*{BELFRY GOSSIP} Mr. Stephen Ivin writes, Surprise Major at Maulden, Mis, July 15 th, that the ringer of the 2 nd, Miss Jennifer Davies, is to be congratulated for the skilful way she rang in her first peal of Majon 'inside.'
Liverpool Cathedral have arranged for an open day on November 9th, when bands complete or in part will be welcomc.
The hells of St. Woolos' Cathedral were rung half-mufled on Sunday, July 14th, as a tribute to the memory of Mr. Gcorge Large, whose death was reported in our last issue.
The Editor has been on holiday in Norway for the past fortnight. He will endcavour to answer the many letters awaiting his attention in the course of the next week.
Will the lady who left a brooch behind at St. Ebbe's, Oxford, last Saturday, communicate with the undersigned, giving description, and it will be returned by post-W. H. B. Wilkinson, 66, London Road. Headington. Oxford.

Regarding the peal of Spliced Surprise Major at Lydd on June 261 h (see •Ringing World. page 442), our correspondent desires to make the following correction: Methods rung: 2,880 Yorkshire and 2,176 Cambridge and not as stated.
Frank C. Shorter recently celebrated his birthday in gratifying style. The church where he learned to ring and at which he is a chorister (St. Lawrence Jewry) was rededicated on this day, and he afterwards took part in a touch of Stedman Triples on the new bells.
The band who rang a peal at Twickenham on July 13th began to wonder whether there was not something in the superstition about the number 13, when a rope broke after only two courses had been rung. The rope was, however. mended (during a thunderstorm), and the peal was scored without further mishap.

\section*{RINGING AT WAKEFIELD - 1817 to 1826}

\section*{By DAVID CUBITT}

DURING this decade the Society of Ringers at All Saints', Wakefield, became one of the foremost in England, and its members formed the most advanced band there has ever been at Wakefield.
On Monday, January 20th, 1817, a new ring of ten bells was opened at the church. At a public meeting held there on April 25th the previous year it had heen agreed 10 recast one of the eight bells installed in 1779 and add two more; but two months later at another meeting it was resolved that the eight be recast and two added. The work was entrusted to Thomas Mears, of Whitechapel, who also supplied 12 handbells-which have disappeared.
The opening was attended hy ringers from Halifax, Shefficld. Leeds, Oldham, Liversedgo and Huddersficld, the three last--8-bell ringersheing joined by others. It was settled that each company should ring a half-peal in a method of their own choice. The Wakefield and Halifax Journal of January 24th, 1817, says: 'We understand it is the general opinion that the performance of the first two companies. throughout, was in the best style of excellence, and in the opinion of the judges, a. difficult point to say who had the superiority, where both were so truly excellent: but in raising and settling the bells. the Leeds ringers certainly shewed their superiority, and themselves perfect masters of their profession. The Sheffield executed their peal in a most masterly style indeed, and are justly allowed. by the judges, to be ringers of the very first class. Those from Oldham, through some unfortunate circumstance were early out, and gave in ; but on the following day, they went through a poal of 2.500 in a manner highly creditable to them: as 8 -bell ringers. we helieve, they have few superior. Those from Liversedge and Huddersficld, considering they have not had the advantage of practising upon ten bells, rang yery well, and gave a proof they were not jeficient in their knowledge of permutations.' The newspaper points out that the Liversedge band had only learned learing within the previous 15 months, Dobson's bells at Liversedge having been opened in July, 1815. The paper also says that though no prizes were offered, a liberal subscription was divided between the visiting bands according to merit, and that, 'on no former similar occasion. did ever so numerous a body go home better satistied, or ever conduct themselves in better order." Those who rang pronounced. With other ringers present. the bells 'to be the finest ring of bulls, for the same weight of metal, of any in the kingdom." The tenor weighed 31 cwt 9 lb .
Parnell, quoted by Mr. Morris in his 'History and Art of Change Ringing, wrote that the first peal on these bells was 5,000 Oxford New Treble Rob Royal, rung by a joinı band composed of members of the Shefficld Independent and Wakefield Societies on Easter Monday, April 6th, 1817, in 3 hours 35 minutes. April 6 th that year was a Sunday: the following year it was a Monday. In neither year is the peal reporled in The Wakefield and Halifax Journal.' Perhaps a Sheffield reader can supply the correct day and date.

The funeral of Princess Charlotte Augusta (wife of Prince Leopold George Frederick, of Saxe-Coburg, and only child of the future George IV), whose death on November 6th, 1817 , in labour giving birth to a dead son, 1817, in labour giving birth to a dead son.
caused universal sorrow and great anxiety as to the sucsession to the crown. was marked in Wakefield by ' every possible demonstration of sorrow' (local paper), mufled bells being rung throughout the day at both churches in the town. Another royal funeral. of Charlotte. wife of George III. carly in December. 1818 . caused the tenor bell to be rung for a long period both morning and evening, while mufled bells were rung at the time of the interment.
Three Wakefield ringers were in a mixed band which rang 5,076 Grandsire Caters, conducted hy Joseph Tehbs, of Leeds, on July 14th, 1819, at St. Michael's, Ashton-under-Lyne, where a new ten had been opened two days earlier. The following month a combined Wakefield and Leeds band, conducted by Tebbs, rang on the opening of the bells at Birstall, where five-excluding the tenor cast by Pack and Chapman in 1771 -of the old six had been recast and two others added by Dobson, of Downham. The combined company won the first prize - a silver tankard, valued at 12 guineas-ringing against six other bands. Competitors had the choice of ringing 2.496 or 2.528 changes of Kent or Oxford Treble Bob Major. The second prizea silver pint pot, valued at five guineas-was awarded to the Bradford ringers.

George III died on January 291h, 1820, and when the news reached Wakefield the tenor bell at All Saints' was tolled for several hours and continued the whole of the following day. On the day of his funcral there was mutfed ringing at All Saints' and St. John's.
On Whit Monday that year, a ring of ten by Mears was opened at Chesterfield, Bands of ringers from Oldham, Sheflicld, Ashton-underLyne, Nottingham and Mottram rang peals of Grandsire Caters. The Wakefield and Leeds Company, being desirous of ringing all the 10 bells, struck them off, and rang a complete peal in good style of New Treble Bob Royal, consisting of 5,190 [a misprint for 5,120 ] changes which was correctly brought round in three hours and twenty-five minutes.' ('The Wakefield and Halifax Journal.' June 2nd, 1820.) The peal was conducted by Joseph Tebbs.
At Wakefield on October 16th the same year the local society rang 6.030 changes of Grandsire Caters (with two men on the tenor), in 3 hours 44 minutes, composed and econducted by William Woodhead. This was possibly the longest length of Grandsire Caters in Yorkshire at the time. Tebbs left his public house in Leeds and came to Wakefield for the occasion, offering his congratulations to the ringers at the end of the peal.
The bells of the Wakefield churches rang in November, when Lord Liverpool dropped his Bill of Pains and Penalties, an attempt to deprive Queen Caroline of her title and dissolve her marriage. She did not retain her general popularity, however:-

Gracious Quect. we thee implore,
Go away and sin no more
If that effort be too great,
Go away at any ratc.
The Wakefield and Halifax Journal of Friday. April 27th. 1821. notes that 'On Monday a fine new peal of ten bells. the tenor in the key of D. was opened at Rotherham, by the society of ringers belonging to that town. Several sets attended, as is usual on such occasions, from Wakefield. Halifax. Leeds, Huddersfield. Mottram and Chesterfield. Every separate set completed their peal (i.e., touch), excepting that from Mottram. The superiority was awarded to the Wakefield Youths for best striking, 10 the Leeds for intricacy of method.' The 'Leeds Mercury' of April 28 ih identifies the methods rung: Chesterfield. Mottram, Sheffield (not mentioned in the Wakefield paper) and Wakefield-Grandsire Caters: HuddersfieldKent Treble Bob Royal: Halifax and LeedsStedman Caters.
About this lime the Wakefield ringers began to practise Stedman. On the evening of October 10 th. 5,079 Stedman Caters. composed and conducted by William Woodhead, were rung by the local society in 3 hours il minutes, and out that the ringers had had little more than five months' practice at the method.
Having disposed of Stedman, the ringers applied themselves to Cambridge, and with little help from ringing manuals had within a year attempted a peal of Royal in the method, the first company to do so. Joseph Tebbs and John Hudson, of Leeds, and James Hudson, of Halilax, were present at the attempt on September 3rd, 1822, which unfortunately failed after 4,700 changes had been rung. The ringers were: Mark Blackburn. treble; Joseph Sugden. second; Joseph Priestlcy, third; George Pickering, fourth: John Hall, fifth; James Gill, sixth: Joseph Gill, seventh; Thomas Netherwood, eighth; William Woodhead (conductor), ninth: Robert Collett, tenor. The following month. on the 26th, a successful attempt at the peal was made. Joseph Tebbs coming in on the third for Joseph Pricstley, who was presumably blamed for the September failure, and 5,400 changes, composed and conducted by Woodhead. were rung in 3 hours 35 minutes. A number of ringers came to listen, including David Robinson, of Leeds, John Pearson (Liversedge), Samuel Barraclough (Birstall) and Jonathan Womersley (Huddersfield).
Woodhead and Tehbs took a joint WakefieldLeeds company to York the following year. On Monday. August 18 th, they altempted to ring several favourite peals, at the Cathedral, but owing to the dilapidated state of the machinery, in the hanging of the bells, they were utterly incapable of succeeding to any extent. We understand that they pronounced this finest and most powerful peal of bells in the kingdom to be no longer in a ringing condition.' ("The Wakefield and Halifax Journal,' August 29th. 1823.) These were the ten hung in 1765.

Two prizes of ten and five guineas were offered at the opening of Pudsey's eight bells on Monday. May 10th, 1824, and 11 companies competed, including those of the Wakefield towers-who failed to distinguish themselvesSt. John's being placed ninth and All Saints' tenth. The test was 1.728 changes of Oxford or Kent Treble Bob Major in 62 minutes-for every minute over or under ten points were forfeit. The last company finished ringing after 3 oclock on the Tuesday morning, when the first prize was awarded to Halifax, the second to Huddersfield.
Wakeffeld, All Saints*, ringers next turned their attention to Superlative Surprise Royal as devised by Shipway, a treble lead of which is printed in his 'Campanalogia.' According to a quotation in Morris' 'History and Art.' a peal in the method, later proved false, was rung at All Saints', Wakefield, on Monday, January 16th, 1825, in 3 hours 28 minutes, conducted by William Woodhead. It happens, however, that January 16 h that year was a Sunday, and January 16th. 1826, a Monday. The All Saints Socicty rang a true 5,400 of Shipway's Superlative Surprise Royal, conducted by Woodhead. on Monday, March 27 th. 1826. in 3 hours 26 minutes, the ringers being: William Fawcett. treble; Joseph Sugden. second; Mark Blackhurn, third: George Pickering, fourth: John Hall, fifth: James Gill, sixth; Joseph Gill. seventh; Thomas Netherwood, eighth: William Woodhead, ninth; Rohert Collet, tenor. The composition was by Joseph Tebbs, who gave it to the Society. I have been unable to trace local newspapers for 1825 and 1826 to check the date of the false peal.

James Hewitt, who proved the first Superlative peal false, was a ringer at St. John's, Wakefield, a lower where ringing also advanced considerably during the years 1817-26. The foundation stone of this church had been laid on November 3rd, 1791, and the first peal5,040 Triples-on its eight bells rung on Decem-

\section*{TWO PAGES OF REPORTS OF RINGERS' OUTINGS}

\section*{WILLENHALL, STAFFS}

St. Giles' ringers and friends, accompanied by the Vicar (Rev. A. G. Bond) and Mrs. Bond and their son George, held their annual outing on Saturday, July 6th. Shropshire was the county selected. At \(1 o^{\circ}\) clock we were off. The route was via Tettenhall. Albrighton. Shifnal, Madeley and Ironbridge, where the driver slowed down to enable the party to have a good view of the first iron bridge to be built.

Arriving at Coalbrookdale, we were welcomed by Mr. Alfred Bayley. After inspecting the unique tombstone of the late William Saunders and his wife, we soon had the musical ten hells going to call-changes. With the help of A . Bayley we attempted Grandsire and Stedman Triples. Reluctantly leaving the dale, we proceeded to Church Stretton. Arriving at the Church of St. Lawrence, we were met by a member of the local band, who informed us that everything was in order for us to ring. It was decided to have tea first, and then we returned to the church and raised the bells, which were kept going to call-changes, also Grandsire and Stedman Triples. The bells were then lowered in petal.

There had been rumblings of thunder whilst we were ringing and a storm developed as we were travelling towards Ludlow. It was raining when we arrived there but stopped soon afterwards. Half-an-hour was allowed here, as several members wished to storm the Castle, but on entering the courtyard they were turned back by the keeper, it heing time to close the gates.

The homeward journcy was by way of Bridgnorth. Whitwick and Compton, arriving at Willenhall soon after 10 öclock, everyone having had a inost enjoyable outing.

Thanks are expressed to incumbents for permission to ring, and to local ringers who made us welcome.
C. W.

\section*{PETERBOROUGH GUILD OUTING}

Forty members and friends of the Cuilsborough Branch enjoyed a half-day outing in Huntingdonshire on Saturday. July 6th.

The bells of Hemingford Abhots (6) and Hemingford Grey (6) were available during the afternoon. These two towers heing only a mile apart allowed the party to be divided and ringing to take place in both towers at the same time.

Tea at Godmanchester was somewhat delayed. However. this did not prevent visitors from making full use of the fine cight at Godmanchester immediately afterwards. Plenty of rounds were rung, and Grandsire, Stedman and Bob Major preceded a good fall.

The last tower of the day was Great Staughton (6), where the combination of weight and long rope draught presented some difficulties to the younger memhers, but all performed creditably. The ringing here included a course of Cambridge.

And so home, with a stop on the way for refreshment, and a lesson in the art of playing skittles, for all who wished to take advantage of the opportunity.

Thanks are extended to clergy and local ringers and to the Guilsborough Branch secretary for making the arrangements.

\section*{SHEFFIELD CATHEDRAL}

July 13 th was the chosen date, and a 7 a.m. start was made from the Cathedral gates. The party included a number of non-ringers, so ii had been decided that the whole of the afternoon could be spent at the Lincolnshire coastal resort of Mablethorpe. The route was quite a country one, the Lincolnshire wolds heing parklike in character. The day was quite warm, the few showers encountered being very light.
Louth was reached by \(10 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}\). and an hour's ringing on the heavy eight enjoyed. The tower with spire ( 30 (0)ft., the tallest in the county) is very substantial : nevertheless, a peculiar oscillation appears to take place when ringing, which affects some of the bells. It was good to see that considerable work was in hand to restore this beautiful church.
Lunch was enjoyed on arriving at Mablethorpe, after which the party split up. Some went by coach, to ring on the excellent six ai Alford: others spent their time on the beach. One party walked two miles along the newlyconstructed sea wall to Sutton-on-Sea. Tea brought the party together again, followed by the run to Gainsborough. The ringing here was quite good, as it should be on this delightful octave (tenor 19 cwt .).

Sheffield was reached by 10.20, and all were agreed that the weather, bells, coach. meals and refreshments had been first-class. Our thanks are externded to the towers concerned, and our secretary, for making such good arrangements.

\section*{SPALDING, LINCS}

A most enjoyable day's outing was arranged by Mr. J. Newington for the Spalding ringers. who were joined by friends from neighbouring towers on July 13th. Starting at 6.45 a.m.. the party headed for Hertfordshire and Essex. The first tower, Barkway, was reached punctually and no time was lost in getting the bells into changes. At the next tower. Braughing, the Rev. G. N. Heath joined the ringers for a brief spell: he had come over specially from Stevenage. Handbells were used here.
Sawbridgeworth was the next place visited. After a ring here and thirsts quenched, the tourists journeyed on to Bishop's Stortford, where the first call was for lunch. With a few minutes to spare before visiting the tower, the handbells were again brought out for a few minutes. The next tower, Dunmow, was not easy to find, but the party were in time to provide a bride and her groom with some wedding bells. All agreed the bells are a good eight. After this tea was enjoyed.

At Thaxted, where some of the best ringing of the day took place, the large number oi visitors to the church showed great interest in the ringing, which is done from the ground floor. The last call of the day for ringing was at Saffron Walden. where the ringers excelled in ringing Caters. Royal and Cinques. Thanks to Messrs. Pitstow and Pyc for their welcome.
On then hack towards Spalding, but not without a stop at Huntingdon for the usual refreshments. Home was reached about midnight. all agreeing it had been an excellent day's outing.

\section*{BOLSOVER, DERBYSHIRE}

As the outing season comes round each year it becomes increasingly difficult to decide on the district to visit for a full day of ringing, but there was general agreement that the Bolsover ringers outing to South Lincolnshire on June 291 h was one of the best ever underaken, in spite of the great heat. The local band was augmented by old friends from Chesterfield. Staveley, Warsop and Worksop, and the first tower. Heckington. was reached at least half-anhour early. The whole party was accommodated at a local hotel for morning coffec until Mr. Dixon arrived to open the ringing chamber. The weather was already very hot indeed, but the fine octave was kept going in various methods for an hour. At Sulterton. Mr. Rhoades was waiting to welcome us at exactly the time arranged for the visit. The unusual entrance to the tower was strange to the youngsters who are accustomed to ground floor ringing. Mr. Clarke, of Boston also very kindly met the party at Sutterton, and was good enough to guide the coach round the back streets to avoid the heavy Saturday market traffic. Lunch was taken in Boston and then we hegan the long ascent to the ringing chamber of St. Botolph's. Although we had to finish carly for a wedding. the whole party had an opportunity to have a ring on the famous bells at Boston.

At the next church. Surfleet. Mrs. Richardson was waiting to meet the coach, and we were all impressed by the unusual angle of the tower, which appeared likely to fall over at any time. We were assured by Mrs. Richardson that there was no danger, and most of the party had their first opportunity to ring on 12 bells. The younger members had some difficulty in handling the light bells on the front end. but a reasonable course of Bob Maximus was brought round.

A very substantial tea was soon disposed of at the Bull Hotel, Pinchbeck. Mr. Richardson looked after us very well indeed, and we very much enjoyed ringing the very fine octave at St. Marys.

At the final tower. Spalding, we had some of the hest ringing of the day, although the numbers dwindled as many people felt a great des sire to do something to neutralise the effects of the heat they had endured during the day

Our very best thanks are tendered to all who assisted with the arrangements for a very successful day, and we now look forward to the next time. It was very gratifying that the three National Servicemen of the local hand were able to obtain leave for the outing, and we very much appreciated the assistance of our friends from neighbouring towers. Methods rung during the day included Plain Bob, Little Bob. Kent Treble Bob. St. Clement's. Double Norwich. Cambridge Surprise. Superlative Surprise. .Stedman Triples and Grandsire Caters.

\section*{ST. NICHOLAS', N. STONEHAM}

This year the outing took the form of a coach trip to Oxford. 18 people in all going, including four non-ringing friends. The coach left Southambton at 8 a.m. and, with one stop for refreshment en route, arrived in Oxford at 11 a.m.

Ringing commenced at St. Thomas Church. a ring of six (tenor 8 cwt .) a rough-going, oddstruck lot, where we managed passable rounds but little else worihy of note.

St. Ebbe's came next, with is \(4 \frac{3}{3} \mathrm{cwt}\). tenor. The bells were more difficult to strike than we had imagined. Yorkshire wouldn't go. but Cambridge eventually did, with some fair striking. Lilian's rope broke whilst ringing rounds: all credit to her that the bell set itself. Grateful thanks to Peter Sanders for immediately fixing a new rope.
After a break for lunch (the rain having stopped). We met again at St. Giles" (8, tenor 13 cwt ). These are a very odd-struck ring, and were a real testing-piece. However, we managed, amongst other things, a fair touch of Grandsire Triples, a good course of P.B. Major and a good louch of Stedman Triples.

The best ringing of the day was achieved at St. Mary Magdalen ( 6 , tenor 8 cwt ), being a course of Cambridge Minor very well struck. Kate fell through a loose foorboard and badly grazed her shin: much gratitude to Mr. Haythorne for his promptness in getting the nezessary dressing and applying it.
Had a look in at the quadrangle of Exeter College, whilst on the way 10 St . Martin and All Saints' ( 8 , tenor 7 f cwl.). Ilere is a spacious, clean, well-kept belfry, with walls covered with peal hoards. Ropes were very springy. and the bells somewhat difficult to handle: (though not so difficult as our own trebles!). No very good ringing here, excent one lot of rounds and the final touch of Kent Major.

The party divided into two groups for tea, the Southampton University ringers joining Sephen Ivin and company at one cafe, white the remainder went on 10 an excellent meal at Crawford's.
After tea we visited Carfax tower, and had a tine view of Oxford from the lop befora raising the six in peal. Needless to say. the tenor ( 15 cwt.) went up the wrong way. The ropes were found to be very springy, being new. I gather, thanks to some American visitors but we enjoyed some good ringing nevertheless. Two good courses of Cambridge Minor were rung: one a "single course" (as opposed to "Bob ditto \({ }^{\circ}\) ) by the University types, and the other an ordinary humble plain course, the slower one producing the better striking.

The coach left for home at 7.45 p.m., leaving behind Michael and the Weston guests, and our old friend Derek. The first halt was at Abing don. where some Morris dancers were performing in the street, and three of the party weri temporarily left behind when the coach set off without them. However. they only had a quarter of a mile to eatch up! Next halt was at East Ilsley, where Double Diamonds, Babychams, etc.. were imbibed in moderation. and into the bargain the local incumbents gave permission for us to ring on the eight bells there (tenor 8 cwt .). We managed some rounds and a course of Cambridge Major, and voted this to be the most enjoyable ringing of the day the surprise element, of course?), and wished we could have stayed longer. Rang handbells here, 100, P.B. Minor and Grandsire Triples.
Thanks are due to Peter Sanders, of the Oxford University Guild, who made all arrangements at his end and acted as guide to the party throughout the day, and to all the incumbents for gllowing us the use of their bells.

\section*{RAINHAM, KENT}

On June 29th. a very hot day, the Rainham bellringers, and ringers from the neighbouring towers of Chatham. Newinglon. Bobbing, Stockbury and Sittinghourne, besides two memhers front Queenhorough, held their annual outing, touring Kent and Sussex. After a short delay, owing to two members from Chatham catching the wrong coach, a start was made from Rainham about 8.30. After picking up other members of the party along the road to Sititinghourne. we soon made tracks for Wingham. Passing through Canterbury, w: reached St. Mary's, Wingham, a ring of eight (tenor \(19 \frac{1}{2}\) cwt.). Here we enjoyed 1 -hour's ringing. We contipued 10 Walmer and wers welcomed by Mr. F. Ryc, and soon had the hells of St. Mary's-another ring of eight (tenor 19 cwt .)going to Grandsire. A good touch of Kent Treble Bob ended ihrough a rope breaking.
lunch was at Deal. after which we toured the coast, passing Dover and Folkestone, and on to Burmarsh in the Romney Marsh district, only to take the wrong route before reaching All Saints', a ring of six (tenor 9\(\}\) ewt.) half-anhour late. No one was there to meet us, but eventually Mrs. Watts came along to welcom: us. While the ringers enjoyed ringing toushe, of Minor and Doubles, other members looked around the church.

Kye was the next objective, but the driver made for Tenterden. However, thanks to Mr. Gcorge Kenward, we were able to reach Rye in time for tea. We visited Rye Church: but. like last year. were unable to ohtain the use of their hells. At lden ( 6 ) we were again greeted by the Vicar. Here Minor and Doubles were rung. Our last tower of the day was that grand ring of eight (tenor 30 cw .) it St. Mildred's. Tenterden. where we were welcomed by Miss Relfs. and soon had these fine hells going for the next hour. Our ringing ended with a course of Kent Treble Boh Major. Afterwards the two backenders had a "quick one 'in a nearby local. as' did others.
On our way home a stop was made at Hollinghourne for drinks and a friendly chat with the locals.

The nembers of the party are grateful to those who helped to make the outing so pleasant, especially the incumbents and the persons who met them at the various towers. F. J. C.

LANCASHIRE RINGERS IN YORKSHIRE
The annual outing of the Accrington ringers this year was held on July 6th. It had been decided that after lasi year's events, we shoulä traval by British Railways.

Accompanied by friends from Rossendale and Penwortham we arrived in Skipion onty a few minutes late, and spent over an hour ringing the fine eight bells. The ringing, however, did not settle down as it should have done, possibly berause we were not yet accustomed to the Yorkshire tails, which were also encountered at most of the other towers on our route.

Our next stop was at Keighley where, after ringing most of the party were fortunate enough to have lunch in a cafe. Nine-tenths of the party then went to Haworth, but the Ringing Master, making some excuse about getting a key to the tower at Bingley, deserted us (probably to go "train-spotting').

Having recovered from the steep climb up to the church at Haworth, about an hour was spent at Bingley, where we were joincd by a friend from Burnley, where apparently it is the custom to sleep until lunchtime on Saturdays.

Headingley was our next tower, where we enjoyed ringing the well-going bells which, however, refused to ring Oxford Treble Bob. (It must have heen the bells, because all the ringers claimed to be able to ring Oxford !)
A packed tea was consumed in the train before arriving at Ilkley, the home of the late Jasper Snowdon. After a very enjoyable ring. we made the return journcy home, where we were welcomed by a heavy thunderstorm. We do not think this had any connection with our ringing carlier in the day, but who knows?
We wish to thank all incumbents for their permission to use the bells, and also the ringers who so kindly welcomed us to the towers. British Railways, too, deserve a compliment for the almost perfect way in which our trains kept 10 schedule.
Methods rung during the dav included Plain Bob. Oxford Treble Bob. Double Norwich Major, Grandsire Triples, Plain Bob, Oxford Treble Bob and London Surprise Minor. J. P.

\section*{Annual Meeting at Bournemouth}

The 78th annual general meeting of the above Guild was held at Bournemouth on Saturday, July 6th. The bellis of Christchurch Priory and St. Peter's and St. John's Churches at Bournemouth were available at various times during the day, and full use was made of them
The service was held in St. Peter's Church, conducted by the Rev. Canon Brasnett (in the absence of the Vicar), assisted by the Rev. K. W. H. Felstead, Vicar of St. Michael's, Southampton. The address was given by Canon Brasnett, who chose as his text ' He sent forth his servants at supper time to say to them that were bidden, Come, for all things are now ready.' He likened bellringers to these servants, saying that they also invited people to enter God's house. He added that the invitation included ringers themselves.
An cnjoyable tea was taken in St. Peter's Hall, which was followed by the business meeting, with the Master (Mr. F. W. Rogers) in the chair, supported by the general secretary (Mr, J. A. C. King) and the general treasurer (Mr. R. A. Reed).

The Master calied upon the meeting to stand in remembrance of two members who had passed on-Messrs. W. Tucker and W. Reed, both of whom had been members of the old Winchester Guild before it split up, and both had done great good in their own Districts.
The Master welcomed all present, especially the visitors from Peterborough, Nuncaton and Salisbury.
The statement of accounts was presented by the treasurer. This showed a balance in hand of \(£ 1538 \mathrm{~s}\). Old.. compared with \(£ 15418 \mathrm{~s}\). \(5 \frac{1}{2} \mathrm{~d}\). at the end of the previous year.
Mr. C. H. Kippin gave an account of the Central Council procecdings. Following this. a suggestion that the C.C. representatives should be instructed to vote in favour of any organisation designed to further the interests of bellringing was defcated. it being held that the representatives should vote as they thought fit after hearing the debate.
All the officers were re-elected en bloc and thanked for their past work.
A resolution from the Christchurch District urging that the subscription be raised so that a free and full report might he issued every year caused some discussion. It was found that there were quite a few points involved and, if the resolution was carried. two other rules would have to be altered as well. Furthermore, to provide such a report it might be necessary to raise the subscription to 10 s . each. It was decided. therefore, to give the members as much opportunity as possible for discussing the matter, and a special general meeting will be hele in Southampton on Saturday, November 2nd for this purpose. In the meantime, the District secretaries would he asked to introduce the subject at their own meetings.
It was decided to donate five guineas towards the cost of the new ring of eight at Bitterne Park, Southampton. I! was also agreed that five guineas should be given towards the cost of the new ring of ten at Portsmouth Cathedral. shoud an official application be made.
The next annual general meeting will be held at Southampton on Saturday, July 5th, 1958.
Miss Ruth Carey, on behalf of the Southampton University Society of Bellringers. presented the Guild with a copy of Ernest Morris' book 'Towers and Bells of Britain.' This was. she said, in appreciation of the help they had received from the Guild.
After the meeting members adjourned to enjoy further ringing on Bournemouth's two fine rines of eight.
Thanks are duc to Mr . A. V. Davis, for all the local arrangements, and to the clergy who made their bells available.

\section*{THE LADIES' GUILD}

Annual General Meeting
The annual general meeting of the Ladies Guild was held at Neweastle upon Tyne on Saturday, July 6th, and the members had a most successful and enjoyable weekend. All the arrangements were made by Mrs. N. Lea, secretary of the North-Eastern District, and her committee, and their hospitality started on Friday evening, when members arriving soon found themselves invited out to a meal.
On Saturday morning the bells of All Saints', Gosforth (10), SS. James and Basil's, Fenham (8), and St. Stephen's, Scotswood Road (8), were available, and good use made of them until lunch time. In the afternoon members visited St. John's, Grainger Street (8), and the Cathedral (12), whilst after the meeting the Cathedral bells were again available, together with those at St. Mary's, Gateshead (8). For those staying overnight there were still further possibilities for 'tower snatehing,' with five towers available on Sunday morning.
The Guild service was held on Saturday afternoon in the Cathedral, conducted by Colonel the Rev. Richard Atkinson, and was attended by some 70 members and friends.
Tea was served in the Cathedral Library, and was provided by the North-Eastern District. In order to do this the District members got to work some weeks ago to organise a jumble sale and raffles, and the result was a wonderful (ribute to their efforts. The grateful thanks of the assembled company were expressed by the president (Mrs. K. Lock), not only to Mrs. Lea, the Misses Softley and all those members who had helped, but also to the member of the 'Supporters' Club 'who firmly maintains that he had to have his car fumigated after transporting so much jumble!
The Guild was welcomed to Newcastle by Mr. K. Arthur, president of the Durham and Newcastle Diecesan Association. He was warmly thanked by Mrs. Lock, and after votes of thanks had been passed to all those who had helped with the arrangements for the meeting. and to the various incumbents, the gentlemen left the meeting.
The business meeting then followed, the president taking the chair. Some members travelled long distances in order to attend this meeting. but perhaps the most Spartan were the representatives of the Midland District. who rose at 4 o'clock on Saturday morning in order to he present, and who arrived home some 24 hours later.
The otlieers of the Guild were re-elected, with thanks for their services during the past year. Several alterations to the rules were passed. including, after some discussion, the proposed increase in subscription. It was eventually agreed that as from January Ist. 1958. the subscription should be raised to 2 s . for those over 16 years of age. but should remain at Is. for those of 16 years and under.
Last year a sub-committee was appointed to discuss the question of suitahle venues for the annual meetings, as it was felt that the somewhat haphazard way of proposing at one annual meeting the place for the next did not give all members an equal chance of attending. Mrs. Richardson submitted their suggested rota to the members, and all agreed this provided a most satisfactory scheme. According to this rota, the south-castern part of the country was the next to be visited. and Canterbury was proposed and agreed for 1958, to be held on the first Saturday in July if possible.
The Guild peal book was available for inspection and a hearty vole of thanks was passed to Miss Muriel Reay for having entered up since the last annual general meeting all the peals rung by the Guild since its formation.
After the meeting members returned to the Cathedral for further ringing.

\section*{THE IRISH ASSOCIATION Eastern District}

The annual meeting of the Eastern District (Irish Association) was held in St. George's Parochial Hall. Dublin, on Easter Monday, and was attended by members from Arklow, Drogheda and Dublin (St. John's, St. Gcorge's and St. Patrick's Cathedrals). Also present were English visitors, and members from Southern and Northern Districts.
Both SS. Augustine and John's and St. George's made arrangements for lunch, and entertained the meeting to tea, which was well appreciated.
The election of officers resulted as follows: Chairman, Mr. J. MacManus (Dublin); vicepresident, executive council, Mr. R. Shaw (Arklow) ; treasurer, Mr. W. D. Graham (Drogheda) ; secretary, Mrs. F. E. Dukes, Meadow Cottage. Julianstown, Co. Meath; assistant secretary, Mr. R. Huber (Drogheda); Ringing Master, Mr. J. Huber (Drogheda) ; representatives on executive council - Mrs. Dukes, Messrs. V. Crawford and J. MacManus.
The summer meeting was decided for Dublin in August, in order to give members an opportunity of hearing and meeting the visiting peal tourists, led by Mr. Wilfred Williams, of London.
After the meeting the Lindoff Cup contest was held at St. George's Church. The judges. Messrs. G. Bingham, M. Ellis and A. Foster, unanimously declared Drogheda the winners with 47 faults. Arklow was second and SS. Augustine anl John's, Dublin, third. Mr. V. Crawford acted as Ringing Master in the tower.
The cup was presented to Miss Sandra Dukes (aged 12), first substitute for the winners, by Mr. George Lindoff, of Bradford. The attendance shield was also presented to Mr. J. Huber. deputy Ringing Master for Drogheda, by Mr. F. E. Dukes, representing the president.

\section*{LONGFORD BELLS}

Dear Sir,-I was extremely interested and pleased to read Mr. Dove's account of a visit to St. Chad's, Longford. Derbyshire, by a band of ringers on May 15th last. However, I fear it is not 33 years since this excellent ring of bells was last heard.

Twelve months ago (all but four days) our usual party from South Staffordshire visited the lower. and with the aid of carpentry tools. cte.. supplied. by Mr. Archer. one of the churchwardens. we made small holes in the new floor to enable the ropes to be threaded through. Two of our party were the 'some kind friend who had put the second back in its bearings.' but the tenor ( 15 cwt . in F sharp) proved too much for us and we were unable to make a rope hole large enough to enable us to ring it. We were able to sample the 'minor' five to changes. however. and chimed the six with one of us upstairs 'clocking the tenor by hand. I agree with Mr. Dove that these are a fine six well worth any band taking an interest in. Let us try and see how ma,sy more 'unringables ' just are not.-Yours sincerely.

CLIVE M. SMITH.
Lichfield, Staffs.

\section*{A BELL MUSIC QUERY}

Dear Sir,-Being interested in music, I have from my youth been perplexed by the practice of the bellfounders in casting rings of 12 bells so that a thirteenth is needed to enable two eights to be obtained. With a tenor in C, a ring of 12 in the conventional manner but with the second sharpened to \(F\) sharp will give two rings of eight-one in \(C\), the other in \(G\) : mon. over, the effect when these 12 are rung will be far more pleasing because of the change in key rather than the descending run in the same key of the conventional 12. From the point of view of symmetry, too. there is a dreadful sense of unbalance about 12 bells which would be nicely corrected by this sharpening of the second, so dividing the 12 into three similar fours (tetrachords).

Considering the financial aspect, it is plain that 12 bells would be cheaper than 13-a factor surely of primary importance when a new ring is being installed, and only offset by the douhtful advantage of having the choice of three sixes!
The founders need not, however, he apprehensive, as this arrangement of 12 is so pleasing that ringers would probably be tempted to augment their bells by the same principie to 16 . and perhaps even 20, without the rings acquiring any of the ungainliness that seems to attach itself to present rings of 12.-Yours sincercly.
P. H. WHITAKER.

Spondon. Derby.

\section*{EMBLEM FOR PROCESSIONS?}

Dear Sir ,-On our patronal festival it is customary for representatives of Church organisations to join in a procession round the church. carrying an emblem of their organisation. The vicar is anxious for the ringers to be represented in this procession.
Can any of your readers let us know if this is a custom in any other church. and if so, what is the form of the emblem that is carried.Yours faithfully.
A. W. HOLDEN.

\section*{THANKS}

Dear Sir,-May I. through 'The Ringing World. thank the ringers of North Somerset for their hospitality and kindness, which helped to make my nine months' stay at R.A.F.. Locking, a very pleasant one.-Yours sincerely. Shrewsbury. GEOFFREY M. BREWIN.

\section*{BAT-ING: RABBIT-ING; IDIPLOMA;} PROFESSORSHIP?
Dear Sir-May I give a few words of advice to Nancy Kempsall?

Hello! Nancy. 'There you are,' I told you so ': but then, I should not say 'I told you so."
Which is it to be? You stick to bat-ing, you will enjoy it more.
You seem to have found out pretty carly, which is a good thing, that reason, at least some people's reason, can be very unreasonable at times.
I was for writing recently, after casting up your "quarters' in last week's "Ringing World," but again, pressure of 'work.
Three quarter peals, one Triples., 'first in-. side," and one Doubles, 'conducted,' and two front-page articles in "The Ringing World "; hurry up, you will soon be having two peals in each of two 'Ringing Worlds'; that's the time, happy day
Now just you read your 'thoughts' again. aloud-I won't say foolish thoughts: try and read them as you would wish others to read them, you will find it is not frustration, neither do I think it 'deflated ego ': it is. I think, just the natural outcome of perhaps wanting to progress too quickly.

A little later on in 'your thoughts in writing ' you come to the focal point, right down to it, your duty to God and your Church: you don't need a professorship, diploma. or even a certificate for Sunday service ringing.

Don't let your 'Bats in the Belfry' down. unless you are joining 'the Rabbits' Guild, stick to your Doubles of Grandsire and Stedman : Surprise will naturally follow.

Next year I hope that you will extend your tower-grabbing beyond Lancashire, into Cheshire, and have a look at the Cheshire Cats: we will help you to see reason.-Yours, ctc.,

OWD BAT-ER.'

\section*{OXFORD DIOCESAN GUILD}

The annual meeting of the Banbury and District Branch was held at Banbury on Saturday, July 13th, when, owing to holidays and other distractions, the attendance was not so good as might have heen expected. About 50 members were present at the service and at the tea and tusiness mecting, and there were visitors from Coventry. Peterborough and Bedford Guilds.
Miss M. R. Cross look the chair in the ahence of the Branch chairman, and congratulated the Branch on ringing its first peal on cight hells by resident members: she challeneed them to ring peals on five, six and ten hells during the coming year.
All the officers were re-elected except that Mr. G. Burton replaces Mr. H. Alexander as representative on the Guild committec.
The next quarterly meeting was fixed for Steeple Aston on October 19th, and monthly practices at Duns Tew. Sandford St. Martin and Great Tew.

\section*{TRAGEDY IN DORSET VILLAGE}

Tragedy occurred in the belfry of the parish church in the little Dorset village of Okeford Fitzpaine on Monday, when a bell. weighing 10 cwt .. swung down. crushing the 68 -year-old rector (Rev. Wm. Mortimer) and killing him almost instantly. A nine-ycar-old hoy was slightly hurt in the mishap.
According to a local ringer, the hells were left up ready for the evening service. With the bells in this position it would be very dangerous for anybody to go into the bell chamber. for the slightest jolt might set them swinging.
The rector was fulfilling a promise he had made to the children of his Sunday School that he would show them the six bells in his church.

\section*{A DOUBTFUL PRIVILEGE?}

We ringers have often been told that it is an advantage to have a ringer or ringers on the Church Council. I venture to suggest that this can sometimes be a doubtful privilege.

I must first set the scene by saying that we are blessed with a ground floor ringing chamber and that our Friday evening practices are so well attended by locals and visitors in summer months that there is usually a spare hand or two waiting its turn to ring. We also have a fairly large churchyard in need of mowing.

It happened this way:-
One Friday evening one of our churchwardens (who wouldn't have done it if we hadn't been on the ground floor) looked in on us, looked round, said 'Good evening' with a peculiar glint in his cye, and departed.

At the next P.C.C. mecting (and without any warning) this churchwarden rose and enquired whether, in vicw of the fact that at ringing prac. tices there were apparently a number of "spares,' couldn't these 'spares' mow the churchyard and lawns while waiting to ring. Faced with 'jolly good idea' murmurs from all other Council members, our representatives agreed to try their powers of persuasion on their brother and sister ringers, and promised that provided they received the right kind of answer, we'd "have a go." (Of course, since our P.C.C. members were also those with the most persuasive tongues this proved easy.)

Any fine Friday evening from then on it was a case of Charlie, go and find Jack and Bill, we want some Cambridge : or, "I'll have a go with the billhook now, John: you are wanted for rounds.' In fact, some people got so interested in dodging tombstones and hunting weeds that it was a job to get them into the belfry to ring at all.

At the next P.C.C. meeting our ringers reported 'progress,' and got their own back by adding that obviously both mowing machines had reached their present owners-us-via the parish jumble sale, and that they wouldn't cut butter. let alone grass. They wound up by saying that there was a wonderful electric one on the market that was a marvel at navigating tombstones. It only cost umpteen pounds, and what about it? This matter, needless to say, is still 'sub judice, with distinct accent on the sub. So it looks as though we're landed with the old ones again this year.

Therefore if you ring from the ground floor and if you have well attended practices and have a churchyard that needs mowing, should a churchwarden look in and say 'Good evening with a peculiar glint in his eye. don't say you haven't been warned. 'DELIGHT.
P.S.-AlI the facts in the above may not he strictly true-but that's my story and l'm sticking to it.- D.

\section*{LINCOLN DIOCESAN GUILD}

The Elloe Deaneries Branch of the Lincoln Diocesan Guild found it necessary, at short notice, to rearrange the meeting place for June 22nd, when Crowland was visited. Ringing commenced in the carly afternoon on the six bells. The service at 4 p.m. was conducted by the Vicar (Rev. C. I Lec), the organist being Mr. W. E. Turner. The 28 members present then enjoyed an excellint tea. given and arranged by local ladies. A charge of 2 s . per head was made and the procecds given to charity.

At the business meeting. Mr. W. A. Richardsor was in the chair: three new ringing members were elected, and a collection for the belfry repair fund amounted to &1 is. Mr. S. Bennett said it was proposed from the Guild committec to raise the subscription for honorary members. It was decided to leave this for discussion at the next mecting. A hearty vote of thanks was expressed by Mr. J. G. Ames to all who had made this meeting such a happy one. Further ringing continued on both tower- and handbclls.

FESTIVAL AT CHELMSFORD
The fourth annual festival held at the Cathedral Church of St. Mary-the-Virgin, St. Peter and St. Cedd, Chelmsford, from June 14 th to 23 rd , added another great success to those of previous years, and again the Essex Association were invited to play a part.
The festival commenced with the Cathedral band ringing a quarter peal of Plain Bob Royal ( 1,260 changes): Margaret Patent 1, Arthur Hume 2. Ernest J. Runter 3, Ronald Groves 4, Howard W. Eggleston 5. John Crawley 6, Harry Bradley 7, Leslie J. Clark (conductor) 8, Dennis H. S. Symonds 9, Peter J. Eaves 10.

At the opening ceremony held in the Shire Hall, the Bishop of Chelmsford presided. iMrs. Nancy Price, C.B.E., gave a lecture with the title 'As I Pass By.'
On Saturday eight members representing the North Western District rang touches of Stedman Triples preceding the Friends of the Cathedral service. In the evening, an organ recital was given by Francis Jackson, B.Mus., F.R.C.O. organist and master of the choristers, York Minster.
The Cathedral ringers were again at work on Trinity Sunday. At the Trinity ordination servico 12 deacons and 11 priests were ordained.

On Tuesday members from the Northern District rang a quarter peal ( 1.259 changes) of Grandsire Caters. The ringers were: H. G. Felton 1. Lewis W. Wiffen 2, Ernest W. Furbank 3, Frank Clayden 4, Alan R. Syder 5, Ronald' Suckling 6. Frank B. Lufkin (conductor), 7. Ernest W. Bright 8, Walter Arnoid 9, Terry Earle 10. The quarter peal preceded the presentation in the Cathedral by the St. Cross Players of the Dorothy Sayers play Zeal of Thy House.
On Wednesday, before the second performance of the play, ten members from the South Western District rang a quarter peal (1,440 changes) of Cambridge Surprise Royal, as follows: Charles R. Smith 1. Brian J. Howard 2, Frank V. Gant 3, Lionel S. Woods 4. Harry Turner 5, John Armstrong 6, Andrew J. Salisbury 7, Charles E. Willmington 8. Alfred J. House 9, John H. Crampion (conductor) 10.

On Thursday the ringers werc drawn from the South Eastern District and a quarter peal of Grandsire Caters was rung before a piano recital given in the Cathedral by Dennis Matthews. The ringers stood as follows: Michael Edwards 1. Miss Mary Dowsett 2. Peter Came 3, Edward W. Roast 4. Howard W. Eggleston 5. Ivan Saunders 6, Patrick Salmarsh 7. Arthur H. Everett (conductor) 8, David Hodgson 9. Charles Smith 10.
Saturday, Junc 22 nd, saw the gathering together in the Cathedral of families for the diocesan family services, when a representative family from every parish in the diocese was invited to attend. This great gathering filled the Cathedral twice. At the first service the Bishop of Barking was the preacher, and at the second the Bishop of Colchester.
Members from the North Eastern District rang the bells prior to the two services and before the musical recital given by Pamela Bowden (contralto) and Derrick Cantrell, B.Mus.. F.R.C.O.. organist and master of the choristers (organ). Unfortunately, owing to a shift course. the ringers were not able to record a quarter peal of Little Bob Royal.
There were many things of interest exhibited on show in the Cathedral, and the flower decorations by ladies throughout the diocese were magnificent and a real joy to behold. May we have the pleasure to assist again in a great diocesan effort.
R. C. H.

HURST, BERKS.-On July 17th. 1.260 St. Clement's Triples: I, Froome 1. B. C. Castle (cond.) 2. R. Rivers 3. Mrs. B. C. Castle 4. W. Hum 5. H. Smith 6. A. J. Rance 7, F. Hicks 8. First in the method by all the band.

\section*{TEN COUNTIES AND BELLS AS WELL!}

It was going to be a leisurcly holiday, cycling down country lanes, dozing in the afternoons and no ringing! However, the idea of passing by so many towers was too much temptation. and Saturday, June 8th, saw us, both loaded with luggage, cycling up through Windsor to Tring, our first tower. A good heavy eight, and a variety of methods was worth the 50 miles! Then on to lvinghoe that night for our first taste of youth hostels.

As you will remember, on Whit Sunday it rained-and it certainly rained on us! Nothing daunted, a touch of Grandsire Triples at Hemel Hempstead for morning service recovered our flagging spirits, and Mrs. Plummer, wife of a Hemel ringer, kindly dried us out. We waited at Ware, just outside Hertford, that night, but no ringers appeared.
Whit Monday, Chelmsford, and more rain! Unfortunately, we missed the Great Cannon but gathered much from the explosions around us! We rang at Writtle and the rather shaky eight at Widford, but found the Cathedral bells the best and the most enjoyabic.
On Tuesday morning we cycled to Cambridge in bright sunshine and a strong wind, arriving in the late afternoon. That evening we joined the local band at Cherry Hinton, a fair-going five a few miles from the city. Stedman and Grandsire were brought round with some success.
The heatwave began in earnest the next morning. So far we had been disappointed in Cambridge, hut in King's College Chapel we saw some of the finest examples of architecture we had seen. while the 'backs' of the Colleges were wonderful. Rolling lawns sweeping down to the river bathed in brilliant sunshine gave us our most vivid impression of Cambridge.

Cycling through the heat to Bedford was quite an endurance test, hut we arrived there just after lunch, perhaps a little burnt but otherwise intact.
We met Eddie Jeffries, a great Bedford ringer, and his wife here, and had tea with Mrs. Ivin, Stephen's mother. That evening we went for a quarter peal of Bob Minor at Willesden with an all-girl hand-which we lost! All apologies to the rest of the hand.
The next day we cycled through wonderful country to Badby, and attended a practice at Daventry that night, arranged for us by Pa! Chapman. The left-hand ring went well but the heat proved too much for tip-top ringing. Afterwards we spent a pleasant half-hour with Mr. and Mrs. Jeffries, who had come over from Bedford. at Pat's house listening to ringing records. Unfortunately, we had to dash back to Badby before the Youth Hostel closed its doors.

Our aim on Friday was Stratford-if the heat would let us! Am afraid that 1 cycled into Stratford wearing a pyjama jacket-the bast protection against the stm that 1 could find!
The flags were out in Stratford, and the children were country dancing on the green. The Queen was at the Memorial Theatre and we had the good luck to see Her Majesty and Prince Philip leave Stratford about \(5 \mathrm{p} . \mathrm{m}\). We saw 'As You Like It' at the Theatre that evening and watched the swans on the river during the interval.
By now our own mothers would not have recognised us-our previous fried state was beginning to look more hecoming.
We arrived at Worcester in the heat of the day and even our spirits were daunted. Plans of attending another meeting were ruled out and we spent the afternoon by the river-the coolest part of the town!
Worcester Cathedral on Sunday morning and All Saints ten whetted our ringing appetites once again. The Worcester ringers invited us to ring with them that afternoon. and we saw for the first time the marvellous view from the

Malvern Hills. We visited three towers, where Cambridge. London and other methods were rung with much energy-ihough the temperature was over \(80^{\circ}\)

That night we stayed at the home of George Morris in Malvern, and would like to say many thanks to Mrs. Morris and the Worcester ringers for a wonderful day.

The end of the tour came quickly. We arrived at Stow-in-the-Wold just as the bells were rung down at the end of the practice. The sweeping hills of the Cotswolds impressed us but I vowed 1 would never go there again-on a bike!

Tuesday we went through Bourton-on-theWater, where we were intrigued to find a village within a village within a village. We explored several lovely villages that day on the way to Inglesham. A practice at Christ Church, Swindon, was the end to a perfect day.

Our tour finished at Oxford the next day, and we actually went by train to Banbury that evening to join the Oxford ringers. a course of Pudsey Royal by my more experienced friend being the crowning glory:

Thursday evening we had a party at Daphne's, where we feasted on wood-pigeons and white wine, and Bill Jackson entertained us with his guitar.

Friday morning we cycled past the pinnacles and spires of Oxford for the last time on our journey back to Guildford.

We would like to thank all the ringers who made our holiday such a success and given us so many happy memories.
JOAN BEAZLEY, aided by ANN M. COX.

\section*{RYE RINGERS' OUTING}

On June 22nd, 23 ringers set out from Rye for their annual outing, among them five exiles and a visitor from Oxford. For five members this was the first outing.
Four Kentish towers were visited during the afternoon and evening. The eight at Frittenden proved popular and the treble going through the clock case quite a novelty. At Linton the steep ladder was negotiated with great care but it was worth the climb. The ten at Leeds were a little more difficult as for many it was the first ring on this number of bells. Plain hunting on nine was managed, however.
Ham and salad tea was enjoyed at Maidstone and after a wander round the town the six at Chart Sutton were rung to Grandsire Doubles. Plain Boh Minor and Triples, and Kent and Oxford Trehle Boh Minor.
After a short break at Tenterden the coach returned to Ryc at 9.45 p.m. Grateful thanks to all incumbents and to local ringers who met the tourists.

\section*{OBITUARY}

\section*{MR. GEORGE BASON}

On July 5th the above-named ringer was laid to rest in the churchyard at the Cheshire village of Rostherne, when members of the local band. together with representatives of the local branch of the Chester Diocesan Guild, paid their last respects to an old and valued friend.
George had been associated with the church from boyhood, when he sang in the choir, and for many years had served as ringer and in other capacities. Of a quiet nature, and obviously a true countryman, he had travelled widely on the Continent in connection with his employment, visiting different horse shows. Although not a peal ringer, he was always ready to welcome all to the tower, and his staunch support of the Chester Guild was much appreciated by the local officials. He will be greatly missed not only in his own tower but by his friends throughout the Bowdon, Stockport and Mottram Branch of the Chester Guild.

\section*{HUNTINGDON DISTRICT'S 'ANNUAL'}

The annual outing of the Huntingdon District of the Ely Association was held on July 6 th, when towers in West Norfolk were visited.
Hilgay (8) was the first tower, where we found the bells already raised, but the ringing was not of a particularly high standard, and a course of Cambridge Major came to grief through one ringer changing to the Minor variation. The light six at Denver were then visited and the ringing here was a great improvement, the party by then being fully awake.
After lunch at Downham Market, the delightful six at Wiggenhall (St. Mary Magdalen) was next on the programme, and here the best ringing of the day was enjoyed. This was followed by Tilncy (All Saints*. 6). where Mr. Rose met us and had most of the bells raised, after which we had tea at West Lynn.

After tea we joined forces with the Wisbech District of the Association at Terrington St. Clement (8), where six members of the party nearly missed the "bus and travelled on to the last lower, Terrington St. John (6), where we were met by the Messrs. Cousins and where a garden fete was in progress in the grounds of the Vicarage next to the tower. Children's dancing was watched by some of the party whilst others patronised the stalls, purchasing fruit to pacify wives who had been left at home.
Two stops were necessary on the journey back: onc for a frantic telephone call to be made to locate a forgotten blazer, and the other following a loud report from a hack tyre, this mishap unfortunately taking place beyond walking range of a hostelry!
Before the party broke up. Mr. F. Lack proposed a hearty vote of thanks to the District secretary (Mr. H. S. Peacock) for the work which he had done in organising such a splendid day, and this was carried with acclamation.

\section*{ST. ALBANS RINGERS' OUTING}

Several members of the St. Albans Cathedral Society of Change Ringers were surprised to learn from the Dean of Lichfield, who welcomed them to ring at Lichfield Cathedral on July 13th, that St. AIbans Cathedral is the highest above sea level in this country, and that Lichfield is the next highest, with a difference of 54 fect

The St. Albans ringers were on their annual outing, which took them first to Chilvers Coton (All Saints') and then to St. Mary's, Lichfield, before lunch in the city. They proceeded to Walsall (St. Matthew's), and after tea to Bromsgrove (St. John Baptist), returning to St. Albans via. Stratford-on-Avon and Banbury

Good food and good ringing were the features of the day, the Lichfield Cathedral ten and St. Matthew's 12 giving special pleasure. Stedman. Grandsire, Plain Bob, Little Grandsire and Cambridge were among the touches rung during the day: the Stedman Cinques at Waisall, where the bells are closely akin in weight to St. Albans Abbey bells, were particularly well ' tapped out.'
Several wives accompanied the ringers on the trip, and learners were given the opportunity to strike some rounds at each tower visited.
Everywhere, the visitors were welcomed in the best traditions of ringing, and arrived to find. in some cases, the bells up and all ready to go. The outing was arranged and led by Mr. W. J. Arnoid, deputy tower captain at St. Albans Cathedral. Ringing at the various towers was led by Mr. B. Johnston (St. Peter's, St. Albans), Mr. Walter Ayre (Apsley), Mr. G. Dodds (District Ringing Master) and others.

STANDLAKE, OXON.-On July 17th, 1,260 Grandsire Doubles: Bernard Coggins 1, B. J. Coggins 2 , Margaret M. Wynn (first 'inside ') 3, E. Hill 4, A. H. Gearing (cond) 5, B. E. Costar 6.

\section*{TWO AMERICANS ON HOLIDAY}

WE hear much to-day about the need for instruction in ringing and about the difficulties experienced by those desirous of learning to ring. Perhaps the following true story of two people who surmounted more difficulties than most of us contemplate will hearten other learners and show how individual enterprise can win through.

David and Alice Dickinson are both lecturers in the Faculty of Mathematics in the University of Massachusetts, U.S.A. One day in 1954, when browsing round a secondhand book shop, they found and bought for the' equivalent of sixpence a much worn copy of Woolmore Wigram's 'Change Ringing Disentangled' (London, 1888). The mathematical problems implied interested them greatly, but to appreciate the theory they thought it necessary to delve into the practice also.
The first step was a visit to Mrs. Shurcliff, of Boston, who is believed, in the U.S.A. at least, to be the sole surviving female member of the College Youths and learnt to ring in England at the turn of the century. Mrs. Shurcliff showed David and Alice how to ring handbells and pushed them through two plain courses of Grandsire Doubles. The next week they ordered a set of eight handbells from a famous firm in this country and these arrived just one year later. In a way this delay was a good thing as three or fours days before the bells arrived they lost their house and all their belongings, including their collection of 'Ringing Worlds' and various ringing books, by fire. The books and 'Ringing Worlds' were, however, soon replaced by the generous response of readers to an advertisement in this journal, and so with more books David soon prepared a modernisation of Thompson's proof of the impossibility of a peal of Grandsire Triples without singles ('American Mathematical Monthly,' June, 1957), whilst together they became competent at Bob Minimus on the surviving handbells.

During this period of some 18 months they were continually in and out of law courts endeavouring to get satisfaction from the company responsible for the fire, so when, early this year, the claim was paid, they decided to take six months' sabbatical leave in order to learn bellringing in this country.

Whether they were aware of the College of Campanology is uncertain, but they decided to come to the University in Great Britain and so arrived at Cambridge on March 7th this year, where they got in touch with the University Guild. Members of the Guild started them off with lashed bell practice, an hour a day each for six days, backstrokes only at first, then handstrokes only and eventually both rogether, going back to single strokes whenever there was any signs of bad handling. One member very generously demonstrated the sort of handling that breaks stays and broke the stay in the process.

By the end of the Lent term they were ringing respectable rounds at the Guild's learners' practice at St. Bene't's, so were allowed to take a fortnight's holiday in France. On April 1st they were back and given a programme of four evening practices a week at Ely Diocesan Association towers dealing almost exclusively with learners, together with Sunday ringing at one of them. In addition they attended the Association's meetings within cycling distance.

In this programme good striking in rounds and plain hunting on five or six was taught, and by the beginning of July they were capable of starting on Plain Bob and Grandsire 'inside.'

During the first three months of their stay, handbells were not taught very intensively-just occasional attempts at plain courses of Bob Minor to get some idea of the three positions. Serious practice started on July 8th with a threehour session (10 p.m.-1 a.m.), David and Alice ringing 1-2 and 3-4, respectively, with a member of the C.U.G.C.R. on 5-6, finging continuous plain courses and finishing with some instruction of bob making. A second three-hour session started with short touches and finished with a 720. Then followed two more three-hour sessions, each ending ;vith a quarter peal, and another in which two Guild members took the learners one at a time in order to improve the beat.

Their stay in this country is now drawing to a close, and we are pleased to be able to publish a tower-bell and a handbell peal for each of them and wish them every success in their avowed intention of promoting change ringing in the U.S.A.

\section*{ST. LAWRENCE JEWRY-NEXT-GUILDHALL}

I was well pleased with the church, it being a very fine one.
So wrote Samuel Pepys in his Diary in 1664, nut little is known of the church which was destroyed in the Great Fire of London in 1666.
We do know, however, that the new chureh. designud by Sir Christopher Wren, was very beautiful, and was the costliest of Wren's buildings of the "hall' type, the vicar's vestry being reputed to be one of the finest small rooms in Europ:.

It is soid that St. Lawrence, to whom the church is dedicated, when he was told to bring out the church's treasure produced all the sick and poor people he could find, dispersing the valuables secretly. This was in A.D. 258, during the Valerian persecutions, and led to his martyrdom. He was flayed and then roasted on a gridiron. This emblem recurs throughout the chutch, and the weathervane takes this form.

On December 29th, 1940, the church was destroyed by enemy action, only the walls and tower remaining. Rehuilding was commenced in 1954 and completed in 1957, to the design of Mr. Cecil Brown. Under the reorganisation scheme for the City churches. St. Lawrence's ceased to be a parish church and became a guild church, with a ministry to the weekday working population, and it was designated the official church of the Corporation of London.

Many famous figures in the church have been connected with St. Lawrence's, including William Grocyn, the great Greek scholar: Edward Reynolds, later Bishop of Norwich: Seth Ward, later Bishop of Exeter: John Wilkins, later Bishop of Chester: Sir Thomas More, who lectured there; and John Tillotson. Archbishop of Canterbury, 1691-94, who was baptised, married and buried there.

The new church was reconsecrated on July 15 th by the Rt. Rev. the Lord Bishop of London. and in the presence of a most distinguished congregation, which included the High Commissioners of Ceylon. Australia. New Zealand and S. Africa: representatives for the High Commissioners of Canada and India: the Master of Balliol: the Masters and Wardens of the Worshipful Companies of Mercers, Haberdashers, Girdlers. Cooks, Weavers. Turners and Loriners: the Keeper of the Guildhall: members of the Court of Common Council, City Marshal the High Officers, the Sheriffs, and Court of Aldermen : churchwardens, architeet, the Vicai of St. Lawrence Jewry. Rt. Hon, the Lord Mayor of London and Diocesan Registrar.
Amongst the clergy present were the Archbishop of Canterbury, the Bishop of London, the Dean of St. Paul's, Rural Dean of City. Archbishop of Capetown and the Archdeazon of London.

At the west door. the Lord Mayor, addressing the Bishop, said: 'Right Reverend Father in God. we pray you to reconsecrate this our church : and the Bishop replied: 'I am ready to proceed to the reconsecration.' Prayers were then offered, and the Bishop ordered the Registrar to read the Sentence of Consecration, which he then signed, and ordered that the instrument should be enrolled and preserved in the muniments of the Diocesan Registry. The sermon was preached by the Bishop of London, and the blessing pronounced by the Archbishop of Canterbury.

Then the new ring of bells rang out, and a well-struck quarter peal of Stedman Triples was rung by a company of College Youths, which included five past Masters.

The bells, a beautiful ring of eight (tenor \(24 \frac{3}{3}\) cwt. in E flat) were cast and installed by Messrs. Mears and Stainbank, and are a worthy product of this old established and historic foundry. Very flattering comments were made by all who heard them.

JAYFUS.

\section*{City Bells a Tonic to Workers}

The following letter in appreciation of City bells appeared in 'The Daily Tele-graph:-
Sir-Leaving my office within the parish of St. Lawrence Jewry Next Guildhall, in the City of London, on the occasion of the recent rededication of the beautifully reconstrucled church, I was met on my homeward journey with the uplifting of music of bells broadcast from the belfry.
I am sure that many would like to express appreciation for the happy thought that prompted the arrangement. The delighiful melody of the bells seemed to create a joyous and exhilarating effect on the erstwhile worshippers of Mammon and Moloch. Nothing better could be imagined to thrill and react as a tonic to Cuty workers.
For too tong have the bells of our City churches been silent. One recalls the prewar jubilant Ascension Day ringing of the bells from the steeple of St. Mary-leBow, Cheapside.
Bells have been apily described as the Church's artillery, and I should like our ecclesiastical fathers 10 make it possible for City workers to hear more music of the bells during weekdays and not confine this delightul ministry to Sundays.
Would it be possible for the majestic bells of St. Paul's Cathedral to be' rung mid-week, perhaps by a volunteer group of City workers-in fact a junior group of College Youths or Society of Cheapside Scholars? - Yours faithfully.

London, N. 10.

\section*{EMMANUEL, PLYMOUTH}

The ringers of Emmanuel Church, Plymouth. with wives and families, visited Cornwall on the occasion of their annual outing on Saturday. July 13th, and rang at six churches, the distance covered being 206 miles, this being the longest journey undertaken by the post-war band. A stop was made at Lanivet for welcome coffee. the majority of the party having had a very carly breakfast.
First place to ring was at Redruth. where there is a ring of eight, then on via Wendronthe view from the high ground of St. Ives and Carbis Bay on the one side of the Land's End peninsula and the top of St. Michael's Mount on the other was seen at its best in the beautiful weather that favoured the party-to lunch and to ring at Helston. Next a visit was made to St . Anthony-in-Mencage, with its lively eight. the church being right down by the River Helford. Then on through the narrow roads, which just fitted the 33 -seater coach. to the grand ring of eight at St. Keverne.

Tea was partaken at the Lizard Hotel, The Lizard, followed by ringing at two 6 -bell towers -Landewednack, the most southerly church in England with a ring of bells, and Cury.
After a short stop at Bodmin on the homeward run, which was made via Truro, Plymouth was reached with everyone quite pleased with a good day's ringing, all the towers being new to all the ringers, with the exception of four. A hearty welcome was extended at each church. and the ready permission of the various incumbents to ring was greatly appreciated. The fact that in no less than three towers the bells were up made us think the art of raising and lowering in peal was dying in south-west Cornwall. Touches of Grandsire. Stedman, Plain Bob and Kent were rung during the day. Friends from St. Andrew's and Plympton St. Maurice, as usual, joined the party. Ringing was under the direction of Mr. J. P. Sims, captain, and arrangements were made by Mr. H. H. Thomas, hon. secretary.

\section*{TOWERS IN FOUR COUNTIES AT WHITSUN}

On Friday. June 7th, two widely-separated parties began a journey to Swindon for another 'Weekend Wheatsheaf,' the Derby contingent winning in a well-known Morris tourer. The two members from Bedfordshire arrived three hours behind at 2 a.m., one of them having willingly accepted a race handicap-a peal attempt for Bristol at Erith, which proved successful. After meeting at breakfast, we set out for the start of a fully planned day. At Castle Eaton ( \(6,7 \frac{1}{2}\) cwt.) one of us became unfortunately afficted by the dis-ease dreaded of ringers-blisters!-and our peal attempt was stopped in the 6th extent. During the afternoon and evening we visited Meysey-Hampton ( 6, 4) cwt.), Ampney Crucis (5,8 cwt.-an entertaining musical oddity- 13345 !) and Cricklade ( \(5,12 \mathrm{cwt}\) ), finishing with a visit to the District meeting at Bishopstone ( \(8,19 \frac{1}{2}\) cwt.).

On Sunday we were warmly welcomed for ringing at the two Swindon churches, and in the afternoon rang a very good peal in 14 methods on the bells of Ogbourne Si. George ( \(18 \frac{1}{2} \mathrm{cwt}\) ), surely one of the finest fives in England. After returning the bells to the "inverted handstroke,' Derek was seen cooling off in almost the same position over an ideally situated water trough! We were thanked by the vicar of the twin churches during the service at Ogbourne St. Andrew ( \(5,10 \mathrm{cwt}\) ), and afterwards rang the congregation out with various touches.

A tour passing through the Savernake Forest and the Vale of Pewsey had been arranged for Whit Monday. At Tottenham Park (St. Anne"s?) in the depths of the forest we found a good Mears peal (5, 11 cwt.). Noticing that the second rope frequently wished to leave its wheel, and also the nearby Warren, we thought - This must be the H.Q. of the Rabbits' Guild!' At Burbage ( \(5,14 \mathrm{cwt}\).) one of our younger members clearly demonstrated the axiom: "To stand on the floor, one's feet ought to be in contact with it ' ; this to his discomfiture and our amusement! An excellent lunch with Sally Lunn came between the ringing of the fine sixes at Collingbourne Kingston (193 cwt .) and Ducis ( \(11 \frac{3}{3} \mathrm{cwt}\) ), an unusual feature being the long, untucked tail-ends at the latter. Everleigh ( \(6,14 \frac{3}{4}\) cwt.) was followed by the magnificent six at Upavon ( 14 cwt .), many methods up to Surprise bringing out to advantage the musical qualities of this grand ring. Floral decorations were much admired througliout the day. those at Pewsey ( \(6,11 \mathrm{cwt}\) ) being particularly beautiful. Milton-Lilbourne ( \(6,10 \mathrm{cwt}\) ) was our last tower, and on the way back to Swindon we were delighted to see a signpost to the village of Oare-for this has a special significance to many Bedfordshire (and other initiated) ringers !

By \(5.30 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}\). the Morris was ambling along into the sunrise on the way to Cambs and Suffolk, now carrying six people and laden with camping gear. Whilst the equipment was being unloaded at Hitchin. Philip bounded before by bus to Baldock, there to join the other car. The first tower of Tuesday was Great Wilbraham (5, 9 cwt .), where we all re-met at \(10 \mathrm{z} . \mathrm{m}\). Here the bells are chimed, and we were astonished by weird noises from 1 and 5 -soon found to be hanging on iron bars. the soundbows touching the supporting metal trestles. Adjustments were made and the improved tone removed our first suspicion that the bells had been scrapped for metal tubes! Ringing followed at Bottisham (5, 11 (wt.), Swaftham Prior ( \(6,11 \mathrm{cwt}\) ) and Burwell ( \(8,13 \mathrm{cwt}\) ), where we were met by \(R\). J. Housden, and admired the augmented ring. The fine bells at Newmarket ( 6,21 cwt.) and Exning ( 5,14 cwt.) inspired good ringing, and when chiming the musical bells of Cheveley ( 5 , 14 cwt .) we thought how nice they would sound if restored to ringing condition. Chippenham ( \(6,10 \mathrm{cwt}\) ) and Freckenham ( \(5,10 \mathrm{cwt}\) ) preceded our last tower at Isleham ( \(5,25 \mathrm{cwt}\) ), where (after prodigious and titanic efforts) we were well rewarded by very good rounds and a fine lower in peal.

Our appreciation is due to all incumbents for granting permission, and to Ann, Brian and Richard for their organisation. In addition, we extend our sincere thanks to the Rev. and Mrs. G. F. Williams, of Cheveley, whose munificent hospitality in providing tea for the party was without parallel, and will always be remembered.

\section*{NEWS FROM AUSTRALIA}

On Saturday, May 3rd, Geoffrey Logan, of St. Mary's Cathedral, Sydney, was married to Dianne Foster. Geoff's ringing is now very limited as he is senior resident doctor at Royal Newcastle Hospital, which is some distance from Sydney.

Harold Jeeves, of St. Paul's, Maryborough. paid a visit to St. Mary"s Cathedral in May. but unfortunately arrived too late to ring. However, he met 'Chook ' Fowell, Laurie Curran and John Cummins, all of whom went on the Maryborough trip from Sydney in 1953.

Another visitor in May was Mr. Gibson, from Dublin, on a visit to his daughter in Queensland. Mr. Gibson rang Stedman Doubles and Plain Bob Minor at St. Mary's, and will be returning to Sydney later in the year.

Mr. Pat Cannon's peal tour this year starts on August 10th in the Reading area.

The bells of Bath Abbey will be reopened on August 3rd.

The peal at Winshill. Burton-upon-Trent, on July 15th provided Mr. Ronald H. Dove with an opportunity to fulfil an ambition of many years standing. It was at this church that his father was organist and he sang as a choirboy.

Mr. Brian Anston, Ringing Master of the Kettering Branch. Peterborough Diocesan Guild, addressed the Corby Interim Rotary Club on July 16th on 'Bells and bell ringing. The talk was illustrated by handbells, a model bell and sketches.
The band who rang the peal at Rothwell for Miss Valerie M. Massam's 21 st birthday would like to thank her parents. Mr. and Mrs, Percy Massam, for their kind arrangements for tea after the peal. They were sorry that Percy was not able to participate in the peal.

Visiting Cheshire for the first time are Mr. and Mrs. W. Gorringe, of Hawkhurst, Kent. who have been staying near Astbury. On Sunday evening, July 21 st, they rang at Christ Church, Crewe, and on Monday they joined in a 'tower grab' with Mr. R. H. Dove. Others taking part were Messrs. R. D. Langford, G. A. Packer, W. F. Stenson. J. Brough. E. Boffey, F. Ollier, A. Jaques, H. and S. Sutton, Derek Smith, Tony Trickett, Brian Porter and F Moreton.

\section*{BELFRY GOSSIP}

Mr. Ronald H. Dove, Ringing Master of Leeds Parish Church, has been combining business with pleasure at Crewe. Travelling in Mr. Bernard Ongley's bus there was a bit of 'tower grabbing' on July 22nd: Wistaston 6.30 p.m., Acton 7.10, Nantwich 7.45, and his train back to Leeds at 8.58 p.m. The ringing was much enjoyed.

The 50th anniversary of the granting of a charter to the Borough of Nuneaton was celebrated by a peal at All Saints' Church, Chilvers Coton, on July 23rd.

During a peal attempt of Yorkshire Surprise Maximus at Leicester Cathedral last week, \(P\) A. C. broke the stay of the third bell about half way through the peal, and now joins forces with his old colleague A. P. C., who did a similar thing at the C.C. meeting last year.

The rather heavy ring of six bells at Wellington (Hereford) Parish Church were being rung to rounds on a recent Saturday afternoon by a bard of young novices, previous to the annual service of the combined choir festival. It had been a very hot and sultry afternoon, and at 'Stand ' the young lad on the fifth remarked: 'Gee, this is a winter sport!'
Miss Audrey Bailey is back in England after her experiences in Canada. She writes: 'I had a very wonderful trip across Canada and through the Rockies, and felt it was a fitting climax to the holiday to be given the opportunity of ringing on the beautiful eight at Victoria Cathedral. Mr. Izard and the band gave me a great welcome, and I have thoroughly enjoyed the Tuesday practice night. I only wish J could have stayed a little longer in Canada to accompany the ringers when they go to ring on the new eight at Calgary.

DORSET RECTOR KILLED BY ONE OF HIS OWN BELLS \\ RINGERS' CAPTAIN AND PRECAUTIONS

VERDICT of 'Accidental death was returned by the North Dorset Coroner (Mr. W. H. Creech) at the inquest held on July 23 rd on the Rev. William Russell Ware Mortimer (68), rector of Okeford Fitzpaine, who was killed by a bell the previous Sunday afternoon when he was showing a party of school children round the ringing chamber of his church.

The Coroner commented: 'A clergyman being killed in this manner in his own church. after taking a service there, is quite beyond the understanding of the human mind.'

The Coroner said it seemed conclusive that some action by the rector, which was quite involuntary, set the bell off. His outstretched hand might possibly have touched a part of the bell or a stay.

Dr. H. F. Wison, of Child Okeford, said death, which was instantancous, was due to a fractured skull. The rector's right shoulder was completely smashed.

One of the ehildren who went into the belfry said Mr. Mortimer went into the bell chamber and two of the children stayed in the doorway.

Threc of us were on the steps, she said, "when I heard someone call out: "Something has hit my head." My brother, Sonny, who was in the doorway, was hit on the head. We all came down the steps. When we got down Mrs. Ricketts asked where Mr. Mortimer was, and we said we did not know.

\section*{CHILDREN FRIGHTENED}

Mrs. Florence Ricketts, the Sunday School superintendent, said when the children came down the steps they were frightened and Mrs. Mortimer asked her to go up and see if she could find the rector. 'I went up to the belfry and could not hear or see anything, so I came back and told Mrs. Mortimer I would fetch help." she said.
Leo Kingsley Underhill, a retired schoolmaster, of Okeford Fitzpaine, said he was called by Mrs. Ricketts and he went up to the belfry. On going to the entrance of the bell chamber he saw a bell half up facing him just inside the door. Then he saw one of Mr. Mortimer's feet through the other side. His head was very near the rim of the bell. and his body was caught between the rest of the bell and the frame.

He did not reply when I spoke to him, and after I was quite sure I could not get him out, went downstairs and got the ringers, the said.
Replying to the Coroner, he said anybody standing in the doorway of the bell chamber would be only just out of reach of the hells.

\section*{HALF-AN-HOUR TO MOVE BELL}

Dr. Wilson said when he was called to the church he went uo into the bell chamber and saw the rector pinned by his legs and hody 10 the bell. His head was against the wall and there was a gash in the scalp. It was quite obvious he was dead.
Afterwards, he said, it took the ringers over half-an-hour to move the bell. He noticed that all the other bells were in the upright position.

The doctor said that to get through the doorway one would have 10 bend. He would imagine that when the big hell swung over it would come within a few inches of the doorway.

I think if he were leaning forward and that hell suddenly came over, if would probably hit his head and sweep the body underneath and pin it there." he said. "I don't think it would be necessary for him to have to be right inside.

\section*{WARNING NOTICE DISPLAYED}

Mr. Benjamin Ridout, captain of the bellringers. said that when they finished ringing for the morning service on Sundays the bells were left in the up position. After ringing the last five-minule bell he put up the warning notice that the bells were up.

The Coroner asked if anybody walking across the bell chamber could cause a bell to come down, and Mr . Ridout replied that it was impossible to walk across the chamber. The bells were in an iron frame, and it would be impossible to get in unless that particular bell was down. He said he did not think the accident could have occurred through some fault in the mechanism.

Replying to the Coroner, he said: "I don't think he could have stumbled because he would have to crawl under the bell. I think, perhaps, he caught hold of something to pult himself out and pulled the bell over.
HAD TO CRAWL INTO BELL CHAMBER
The Coroner: Do you mean to say that when the rector went into the bell chamber he must have crawled?

Witness: He could not walk in, sir. He would have to go on his hands and knees.

The Coroner: It seems to me if he had to crawl in he might very easily have touched something. If he was crawling along it would have been quite possible for his hand or some portion of him to have just knocked the bell? - Yes, he was hound to knock something. either a part of the bell or the stay. It would not take very much force to set the bell off.

Inspector T. Battson: Assuming the only position in the bell chamber where a man could stand up was immediately inside the doorway, which way would he turn before he descended the ladder out of the chamber?

Witness: The ringers go down hackwards.
Further questioned, he said the rector had been to the bell chamber before, but not many times. As far as he could gather, the children told him the warning notice was displayed when they went up.

\section*{BELL STRAIGHT IN FRONT OF DOOR}

Another bellringer, Frank Hilliar. of Roschill Farm, Okeford Filzpaine, said there were six bells in the belfry, and number five bell. the

\section*{LEAVE THE BELLS DOWN}

Dear Sir,-Since the announcement in the papers of the most unfortunate accident at Okeford Fitzpaine on Sunday week, I have found myself trying to explain the technical details of what happened to several inquisitive non-ringing friends.

Each one has asked me why bells are left up. and having been at a loss to suggest a sound reason. I am forced to admit that I don't think there is one. The practice can only be described as slovenly, lazy and indeed dangerous.
No doubt adequate precautions are taken by most tower kecpers to prevent accidents, but we have recently seen two occasions where people, unaware of serious danger, have lost their lives by climbing through the pits of the hells: the tragedy at Westhury-on-Trym a short time ago being the other example.

Every ringer should become conscious of the danger of leaving bells up and unattended. and the Exercise in general should thoroughly deprecate it. I think those amongst us who make a regular habit of leaving our bells up wnuld do well to follow the example of the call change ringers of Devon, and take a little more pride in our rises and falls.

Safety precautions are all very well. but surely the best way to prevent any future accidents of this kind is to remove the cause of the trouble by leaving the bells down.-Yours sincerely, \(\quad\) RONAID \(K\). RUSS.

Sonning Common, Reading.
one that killed the rector, was the heaviest but one.

What did Mr. Ridout mean by crawling?. the Coroner asked him. He replied: "When you go into the bell chamber you cannot walk straight in because the fifth bell is straight in front of the door. When it is up you can go in as far as the headstock:

The Coroner: Do you think the rector was crawling or upright?

Witness: He could not have been upright. You could not touch the bell, but you could touch the stay or the slider that would set the bell off.

\section*{BELLS NEVER LEFT UP AT NIGHT}

Replying to further questions, witness said the bells were never left up at night, because the ringers did not think it was sife to do so. as anyone might go into the church and wander about. It was dangerous to go into the bell chamber, and that was why they had a notice, The bell weighed between 9 and 10 cwt .. and had \(t 0\) be manhandled up after the accident.

He added: "No ringer would go to our bell chamber unless we had let down the fifth bell, because it is straight in front of the door.

The Coroner said one would have thought that the rector knew it was a source of danger to go into the bell chamber. 'It is a most tragic affair,' he added, expressing sympathy with the members of the family.

\section*{THE FUNERAL}

At the funeral service on July 24th, four of the bellringers acted as bearers-Messrs. Benjamin. Ridout (captain), Bert Ridout, Frank Hilliar and Robert Ridout. The service was conducted by the Rev. C. F. Wetlestey Witkintson and the commital sentences said by the Archdeacon of Dorset (the Ven. E. L. Seager).
Among those altending were Mr. W. C. West (hon. searetary of the Salisbury Diocesan Guild. also representing Canon Cox. Master of the Guild) and Mrs. West. and Mr. W. Shute (Ringing Master of the North Dorset Branch).

\section*{GUILD SECRETARY'S THEORY}

Dear Sir,-I visited the scene of the accident and it seems possible the Rev. W. R. Ware Mortimer did not understand the bells were dangerous when in the tup position, and that the notice in the ringing chamber-Danger. bells up -mwant that the ropes should not be touched. It is very difficult to negotiate the steps to the ringing chamber and more so to reach the bell chamber.
The fifth hell is just inside the opening, and when in the "up pasition the bell pit is wide open. The rector evidently crawled into this and somehow moved the slider which caused the hell to swing and strike the rector, taking him first one way and on its return pinned him against the frame, killing him instantly. This is my suggestion. It shows that these places should be securely locked up and the key kept by the ringing captain. This event caused a gloom over the whole diocese.-Yours sincerely,
W. C. WEST, Hon. Sccretary,

Salisbury Diocesan Guild.

\section*{A NON-RINGER'S QUESTION}

Dear Sir,-May a non-ringer 'stick his neck out "far enough to inquire for a straight answer to this question: Is there any real reason other than plain laziness for the practice of leaving bells up in readiness for use later in the day or week or month? - Yours. etc..

INQUIRER.

\section*{LADIES' GUILD}

A very encouraging report was presented for 1956 at the annual meeting of the Ladies' Guild held at Newcastle-upon-Tyne. (See last week's 'Ringing World.')

Membership. Most of the District secretaries report an increase, not only in membership but also in enthusiasm, and most of the meetings held duriog 1956 have been well attended. Subscriptions are up by \(£ 717 \mathrm{~s}\). 6d.. a very satisfactory position, as the greater part of the increase is spread over eight of the Distriets in existence in 1955 and this increase more than offsets the decrease last year. Of the new Districts formed in 1955 the Sussex District has gone ahead well and has doubled its imembership. Although not strictly to be included in this report, we welcome the formation of another District in 1957 and assure Miss Amor, the secretary of the new Bedford District, of our support.
Finance.-Although we ended the year on the right side, the balance was still not large enough to permit the publication of a report. In view of the steady rise in expenditure, in spite of the fact that every effort is made 10 keep the expenses as low as possible without impairing the efficient running of the Guild, and bearing in mind the possibility of a further increase in the cost of postage, it does seem that the time has come to increase the subscription.

Peals.-During the year two peals were rung, both in the Central District and both conducted by Miss H. G. Snowden-Cambridge Surprise Major at St. Albans and Yorkshire Surprise Major at Harrow Weald. One District, the North-Eastern, made three attempts for a peal which, unfortunately. were not successtul, and we hope that 1957 will see their ambition realised. Quarter peals were reported from the Sussex District (Grandsirc Triples) and the Western District (two of Grandsire Doubles), and we shall hope to see these Districts featuring in our peal hook next year. We should like to express our grateful thanks to Miss Muriel Reay for all the work she has done on the peal book, especially as since the last annual general meeting it has not been a question of writing in a few peals but of completing the records since the Guild was formed.

President.-Although it may not be customary to pay tribute to an officer of the Guild until she retires, I should like to say a word of appreciation of the work Mrs. Lock has done during her year as president. She has visited a number of District meetings, which has entailed travelling a good many miles, and she has written to those she has been unable to visit. Several of the District secretaries have written to say how much they have appreciated this, as it does give a greater feeling of unity when the various Districts have an opportunity of meeting memhers from other parts of the country. The lormation of the new Bedford District is also largely due to her efforts and it is to Mrs. Lock that credit must be given for the preliminary arrangements for the dinner to he held in October, 1957.

District Secretaries.-At the beginning of 1956 we had eight unmarried District secretaries, but since our last annual general meeting no less than four of them have married, though whether future District secretaries will regard this as an inducement to take office, or demand 'danger money' for it, remains to be seen. In any case we extend our good wishes to Miss Lawrence of the Central District, Miss Haffenden of Kent. Miss Bate of Yorkshire, and Miss Evans of South Wales. My own personal thanks are given to all the District secretaries, who have worked so hard during the year and for their co-operation in supplying information when required.

Auditor.-I should also like to express our very grateful thanks to Mr. F. J. Bailey, father of Miss Audrey Bailey, who so kindly agreed to audit our accounts in Audrey's absence abroad.

\section*{GLOUCESTER GUILD OF UNITED CHURCH BELLRINGERS}

On Saturday, July 6th. the annual outing of the Gloucester Guild of United Church Bellringers was held, the venue this year being in the Buckingham and Oxford areas.

We left Gloucester by coach at \(7.45 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}\). and procecded over the Cotswold Hills, which were as beautiful as ever, in spite of the dry season. Passing close to the village of Upper and Lower Swell, then through Stow-on-Wold, we made our way to Deddington, where we had our first ring of the day at the Church of SS. Peter and Paul.

At 10.30 we moved on to Buckingham, where we had a break for coffee and any refreshment required. This proved to be a short stay as our next port of call was Bedford. where lunch had been arranged for 12.15 .

During lunch we were joined by one of our old members, Gordon Corby, and his fiancee. After lunch at 1.30 we had our next ring at the Church of St. Peter, Bedford. By now it was getting a little too warm for ringing-in fact it was considered to be the hottest day of the year -so before leaving Bedford at 2.45 the order of the day was ice-creams and ice-lollies.

Our next destination was Linslade. Arriving on time we had a splendid ring at St. Barnabas' after which there was a welcome opportunity 10 have a wash and clean up, before taking tea at the Hunt Hotel. After tea we were in for a surprise item: two members of the farrer sex in our party gave us a session of rock ' \(n\) ' roll, which was really quite an effort in view of the temperature.

En route for our next ring at St. Mary's, at Thame, it started to rain, and much to everyone's relief it continued for the remainder of the evening. Our stay at Thame was most enjoyable and we started in a homeward direction at 8 o.clock, travelling via Oxford. where we said our farewells to one of our old members. Ron Russ, and his fiancee.

One more stop was made on the way home. this time for refreshments only.

We eventually arrived in Gloucester at 11 p.m., as arranged, all of us by now feeling very tired. very satisfied, and having gained a lot of experience during the day.

Thanks are extended to our organiser. Michael Ling, who was responsible for all the arrangements.

\section*{RINGERS' EXHIBIT AT SUSSEX COUNTY SHOW}

For some years now the Church in Sussex has held an exhibition at the County Agricultural Show illustrating different aspects of Church work in the county. This year's show was held at Bognor Regis on July 17th and 184.

Of special interest to ringers was a working model of a mediæval bell foundry to a scale of 2 in . to 1 ft . It was the centrepiece of an exhibit designed to illustrate how most of the church bells in the county were cast. To build the core foundations, drying kilns, furnace and casting pit, 1,300 bricks were made and fired in a kitchen fireplace. (Whose wife had to put up with that lot?) The foundry was operated by six puppet workmen performing the different tasks from the construction of the core and cope to tuning the finished casting. To explain its design more clearly the casting pit was shown in section.
Sloping panels round the three sides of the foundry showed the ores and metals from which bell-metal is made and the materials which are used in the construction of the moulds. Also seen were moulds used for wax inscriptions and the methods by which these are applied, together with examples of letters and ornaments of 16 of the Sussex founders.
The set of tuning forks used by Canon Simpson, of Fittleworth, in his researches into tuning on the five-tone principle, and the type of hammer used for chip tuning were displayed. The backcloth traced the development of the bell shape up to the present day and included in this part of the exhibit were two old handbells, one over a thousand years old. Finally, at either end of the panels were photographs showing present-day work in the foundries at Whitechapel and Loughborough.
Three members of the Sussex County As-sociation-Mr. and Mrs. George Elphick of Southover, and Mr. Len Stilwell, of Worthing -were kept busy during the two days conducting people round the stand. Altogether the exhibit was explained to over 600 visitors.

The Church Tent was opened by the Bishop of Chichester (Dr. G. K. A. Bell), who is also president of the Sussex Association, and he was shown round the stand by Mr. Elphick. The people responsible are to be congratulated on a fine exhibit and it is to be hoped that it may be possible to have similar stands at future shows dealing with other aspects of ringing.

\section*{THE CENTRAI. COLNCIL AND IRELAND}

Dear Sir.-The announcement of the Central Council's decision to hold the meeting next year in Ireland seems to have had a somewhat apathetic reception. The vote in favour of going to Ireland could hardly be regarded as a representative one, 59 voting for 11 and 51 against, whilst about 40 members did not vote at all.
Many of those who undertook to attend may find difficulties when the uuestion of expense is considered. It is pretty certain that Associations who are experiencing difficulty in balancing their budgets will have to think hard before authorising their representatives to make the trip, and many representatives who pay their own expenses will he inclined to hesitate before making a final decision.
It seems, therefore, that next year's meeting is likely to be a small onc, and it may be speculated as to how far any imnortant decisions taken could be conceived authoritative. To those not fully conversant with the way the Council works-through its committeesthis trip would lend colour 10 a somewhat general idea that Council members are only for a good time. That is far from the Most representatives regard the Council's work in a very serious manner.
No one doubts the warmth or sincerity of this generous invitation, now outstanding for many years, to visit a beautiful country, but one is inclined to question how far the Exercise ss whole will benefit from what is now projected.
Certainly an official visit of Central Council members to Ireland by those who can afford (ii is a good idea, but to have the one and only imeeting during the year there will result in disfranchising a good proportion of-the Associabions affiliated to the Council-Yours sin-

\section*{CANADA AND RINGING}

Dear Sir,-Readers will recall that just bere Christmas six of the bells of St. Mathew's Church. Quehec, rang out for the first time fier nearly 25 years. Sunday. May 19th, was Efirst occasion when all eight bells were rung n call changes for morning service. This was made nossible by Professor Tavlor, originally an Oxford ringer. who drove 150 miles from sishod's University, Lennoxville. Quehec. to odip the band. It is. perhans, not every enthusiast who will leave home before six clock in the morning and come such a disliance \(t 0\) ring for a mere hati an hour! Howfver, with six St. Matthew's ringers and one Mitoi from Montreal. it was a mosi enjoyable Bathering.
Reoular practices are maintained at Ouebec.
and the local band, with Mrs. Pickles' guidance.
fe making very good progress.
it is marvellous to be home again. hut any reat going over to Canada will have a reception in Quebec and Victoria! I We anany will at least spend a holiday there.
- Ver) sincerely yours, -Very sincerely yours.

\section*{AN FIDINBLRGH APOLOGY}

Dear Sir,-The ringers taking part in the huatter peal at St. Marv's Cathedral. EdinPirgh, would be grateful if you would exress our anologies to two visitors who came Po the helfry whilst we were ringing and It again without getting a chance to ring and Core we were able to explain why we did hore we were able to explain why we did Our ten bells.-Yours truly,

KATE BRANSON.

Dear Sir.-Since the use of titles has been so condemned by the Ceniral Council (Vol. 1.111.. No. 2414. page 434, col.1). some guidance will surely follow. What of captains and ringing masters up and down the country due for election to office and to carry the title with the office? Would, for example, the man who calls the bohs and keens everyone else in order be content to he known as No. I Special? This would at least avoid him and others not knowing whether dr nol he was shouting at the treble or himself. And the tower could still be within the "Society for the promotion of the art and the science " category, in sum academic.
Or is the motion intended hy the Central Council for use only in the \(\mathcal{C}\). of C.? If so, it is, one feels sure, very good of them. No doubt the next Council meeting will be ahle to clear the muddle and meeting, as it will. in Ireland, make history.

Reading the reports of the Chelmsford meeting one finds no small difficulty in refraining from doing what so many speakers did, and "llying off the rope end." On numcrous occasions it has given the writer no small pleasure to listen to, and read of the wisdom in council of such as C. W. Roberts, J. F. Smallwood, the Rev. K. W. H. Felstead and C. K. Lewis, hut your issue of July 5 th comes as a "shocker.

The B.B.C. make changes in their broadcasts even at the last minute, as is well known, but criticism to he of value must be well informed, and criticism of the average nice homely hellringer, broadcasting not, as many do, for gain, but for the love of the thing. will not improve the technical standard of the performance or subsequent broadcasts. We would not criticise the technical standard of the people in a Wilfred Pickles programme. Much can be done with the B.B.C. hut uselevs criticism is not the way.

Of certificates. Well does the writer remember his effort to secure a certificate from the Lancashire Association-not for swank, may one assure the speaker on this matter, in fact the writer valued his certificate so much that he now cannot find the thing so safcly is it kucked away-while to-day, without any effort. a badge may be hought and worn, while the wearer remains-hand and hack-a menace to everybody ringing and listening..

Of 'The Ringing World. Either this is our paper, or it belongs to a few. Must a poll he held hefore sanity is restored. That so many subscribers within and without the Council express approval of the printing. College of Campanology Manual, that printing and space was justified. It could never be expeeted that many who for years have made Surprise a little tin god would understand it all. If the columns of The Ringing World are to be reserved for the few. then the daily or weekly nationaal or local Press must be our outlet. Study would be, not so much the truth. hut editors' and readers' foibles, likes and dislikes. There would it is true be the risk of heing paid for pocketing one's conscience.
That young people taking up bellringing should become students of a College of Campanology and be taught and examined, is a measure long overdue. The Central Council has over the years neglected the training of instructors and the need is urgent-not a committec appointed in 12 months to report in another 12 months. Do not blame people who get on with a joh the Council appear not to know how even to start. That the new hooklet for beginners is not to he published after wide reading. hut before. is wrong. The old book (official publication). excellent though it is, contains two errors, these have led to the wriler's certain knowledge to accidents,

May one thank the Rev. A. G. G. Thurlow for his plea for a fuir hearing, and the Rev. J. G. M. Scott for his appreciation of The Ringing World, and Mr. Philip Gray for sound common sense?

May one deplore that speakers should. with. out offering evidence of support, state that the Council had been treated disrespectully, contumacy one speaker called it. it matter disposed of by Dr. Hatcher but not withdrawn by the speakers. It must be a very hard-up effort, when, in support of his view. a speatker has to refer to others' who think as the thinks: a good trick to induce votes but should not be allowed to stand without evidence in support. Volumes of signatures would do. (Muke sure each is a subscriber to The Ringing World.')
In view of the published criticism of many nice homely Sunday service bellringers by an unknown hut prominent member of the Central Council. may you also find room. perhaps without the black surround, for this criticism of the Council (chichens come home to roost), and may we hope for a higher standard of debate. please, in 1958.-Yours very faithfully.

\section*{A LEICESTERSHIRE, FOLR-BELL TOWER}

Dear Sir.--I have waited with interest to see how many Leicestershire towers are published, particularly as there are so many eminent and knowledgeable ringers in the county, as well as the foundry at Loughborough. which in its archives surely has most of the answers.
The lower appermost in my mind though. the first in which I rang a hell with others, is Barkestone, in the Vale of Belvorr. My father was Vicar here for nine years, and the bells were rung regularly every Sunday. usually in rounds. but the six changes were rung on the first threc with covering tenor for festivals.
If my memory is correct, the treble. third and tenor are by Hedderly, tenor about 12 cwl. (although reputed to be a con). The sccond was recast by Taylors in. I think, 1887. It is a lovely church with tower and spire. and there is room with modern hanging for at least six on the one level.

It was a noisv ringing chamber as there was only a plank flooring stparating the ringers from the bells, but their tore was good and the !ecal ringers" speciality was the "rise and fall in peal, for which they allowed a full five or six minutes each way. In my humble opinion, four bells-in tune-frame high. sounding over the fields. makes very attractive music on a summer's evening.
Apropos of Mr. Dove's excellent book, I suspect that Harby, givin as Notts, should be Leics. The posital address of most of the vale was Nottingham. although our villages were actually in Leicestershire hut I am open in correction in this. Another four--bell tower in the area was Granhy, and so was. I believe, Redmile. Stathern was a four-bell tower 100 . Long Clawson has five. so have those at Harby. The nearest eight-bell tower was Hattesford, surely with one of the most glorious spires in England.

Many of these county churches are well worth a visit. and maybe one of the experts at the foundry can enlarge on what I have written. -Yours faithfully.
E. F. M. SAMSON.

\section*{LETTERS-Continued}

THE COLLEGE AND 'THE RINGING WORLD'
Dear Sir,-To those of us who have been following with some interest the progress of the College of Campanology, a recent issue of 'The Ringing World' makes interesting reading.
One notes with pleasure that the organisers have at last seen fit to do what very many readers consider should have been done in the first place-that is, to publish their manual at their own expense instead of inflicting upon us over a period of weeks a seemingly endless series of articles. which it now appears was the 'draft' of their publication. One notes also in the College's advertisement, the fact that their manual is unique in having been offered to the Exercise hefore publication: \(\mathbf{I}\), for one, hope most sincerely that it will remain unique in this respect, as I do not consider it to be one of the functions of our journal for its columns to be used to try out the effect of a private publication on ringers before it is printed at the expense of the compilers. I note also that the 'draft' was 'offered for vetting,' but knowing a certain gentleman's reaction to adverse criticism of any kind, I may be forgiven for wondering just how much notice was taken of the large amount of criticism offered!
However, we should be thankful that the publication of this manual should now mean the final cessation of the spate of weekly instalments in our journal. Those who arc able to comprehend, and who wish to use the College's weird and wonderful method of training by 'ordeal by blackboard and chalk' will now be able to buy their own copy of the manual, while the average service ringer can once again enjoy to the full the many interesting items which have always made "The Ringing World 'a truly fascinating publication-and continue to instruct his beginners by older, well tried and easily understood methods of instruction.
Just one more point-the long list of College office bearers which appeared some weeks ago above the name of Dr. Hatcher genuinely makes one wonder (particularly in view of various remarks and statements heard at Chelmsford) just how many of these eminent and well-known ringers actively support the organisation and how many were gently persuaded to allow their names to be used to give the College a semblance of backing from Higher Authority! Just a point, as I say, but one which the ordinary Sunday service ringer might ponder when considering whether he or she really ought, in order to be considered a Trained Ringer. to take a course and qualify as Ringer I., Tutor I., Examiner I., etc., etc. It would also be most interesting for this same average Sunday service ringer to know how many people to date have qualified for these meaningless titles and have been awarded the equally meaningless diplomas (on payment of the fee of 2 s . \(6 \mathrm{~d} .\). I understand . . . !).

Tailpiece-for light relicf-a little tale told by a certain very well-known ringer at a function some while ago. It scems that a friend of the 'Well-Known-Ringer' was asking him the exact meaning of a particularly involved and complex section of one instalment of the manual. 'Ah,' replied the W.K.R., 'that's just their way of saying, in 719 words or thereabouts, "Just get your bloomin' backstrokes in. Verb sap!-Yours sincerely. PETER N. BOND.

\section*{NORTH STAFFORDSHIRE ASSOCIATION}

\section*{COMMENTS ON CENTRAL COUNCIL MEETING}

\(A^{T}\)T a meeting of the executive committee of the North Staffs Association on July 6th consideration was given to the proceedings of the Central Council meeting, 1957, and among certain of its findings received with approval were the printing of warning cards to try to prevent the accidental switching off of belfry lights from the body of the church and the reintroduction of the term 'Plain before 'Bob' in standard method names.
As with the Central Council, however, discussion centred on the two resolutions reported on pages 433 and 434 of 'The Ringing World, and very considerable concern was expressed at the attitude adopted by the Central Council.
In conrection with the first resolution (namely, that the Council, as the representative assembly of all change-ringing associations, deprecates the proposed introduction of academic titles for ringers, particularly by a body which is not recognised or affiliated to the Council), it was feft that such a recommendation was outside the powers of the Central Council-the vote was in fact taken on the question: 'Do we believe in titles or don't we?' It was noted that academic or quasi-academic titles already exist-the 'Master ' of the Ancient Society of College Youths, for instance; many associations have Instructors and there is little distinction between an official Instructor and a tutor. Likewise many associations require a qualification for membership -the ability to ring a certain number of changes-and many in addition award certificates or diplomas on qualification. For a ringer to say he is a member of a particular association is the equivalent of saying he has ringing qualifications. Other associations award certificates to members ringing their first peal. The Central Council, moreover, condones the annual publishing of lists of leading peal ringers which becomes a championship for those with sufficient leisure and energy, if nothing else.
Titles are merely the acknowledgment of office or qualification, and already exist in fact and by implication.
If an association or body of individuals wishes to establish its own standards or to employ titles for its own use, then that is purely a domestic matter and no concern of the Central Council.

This resolution dealt with 'academic' titles in general, and not merely those awarded by the College of Campanology. In the rider to the resolution, however, indirect reference is made to the College, which was admitted to be a 'body which is not recognised or affiliated to the Council. The Council exceeds its powers in passing resolutions on bodies not connected with it.
As far as can be judged, and the Council could judge no further, the College does not set out to compete with the Council or to carry out any of the functions of the Council, and in the circumstances the Council has no valid grounds for making recommendations of this nature or such oblique references to the College.
The greater part of the debate on this motion was, moreover, completely out of order and irrelevant, as indeed was that on the second motion which, fortunately, was not put. It was considered a sad reflection on the executives of the Council that such a motion should have been permitted to appear on the agenda. It would be an unjustifiable presumption to prophesy 'that the so-called College of Campanology is unlikely to prove of any service to the furtherance of the art of change-ringing ' (although such a resolution would go a long way to ensure that it did not). The College would survive or die on its merits, and this only time and experience would prove. It would also be presumptuous to deny it recognition before it had applied for it. The whole motion was considered ultra vires.
It was patently clear from the attack in the motions and in the speeches in support of them that a matter of what, in the future, might be of considerable importance to the Exercise, had been used as a vehicle for and as an expression of personal animosities.
The only question the Council was competent to debate at this particular juncture was the publication of the Manual in "The Ringing World.' If the Council wished to debate the College of Campanology, the proper coursi would have been to have asked for and examined the constitution, objects and rules and regulations of the College, and to havz reached considered conclusions solely on the merits and demerits of the College, irrespective of its founder or its officials, and to have dealt with the question or recognition as a consequence of its findings or on the request of the College
There is a crying need for competent instructors, and the Council, with so many books and articles available for beginners, would have done well to give genuine and impartial consideration to any organised attempt to deal with this need, and to have given higher priority in its own business to the production of a manual for the training of instructors. The Council exists only ihrough associations affiliated to it, and should operate for the benefit of those associations and their members. It would have done a greater service for the Exercise if it had devoted its thought and effort at Chelmsford to a construclive assessment of the College, rather than to have tried to condemn it out of hand through two ill-conceived and prejudiced motions.
After a lengthy discussion, during which the reasons for the Council's action were noted, it was finally agreed unanimously that this Association deplores the manner in which the Central Council has dealt with the Coliege of Campanology as a question of principle, and that the Council should bring itself into disrepute by discussing matters which were ultra vires, by failing to give reasonable consideration to a matter of importance to the Exercise, and by permitting its debates to become irrelevant and of a personal nature.

\section*{RINGING IN LONDON & BIRMINGHAM 60 YEARS AGO}

Mr. Albert J. Hughes, of I4, Robert Street. Bangor, has provided us with the following notes of his ringing experiences in Birmingham and London at the furn of the celltury.

The first ring of bells I ever heard was at Welshpool in 1887 . I was then at school at Buttington, and had about four miles to walk from my grandparents' farm at Wen House, Thorpe Leighton. Welshpool. The sound of those bells from the Long Mountain five miles away has remained in my memory. My grandfather, father and uncles were ringers, and years afterwards when I had made some progress in the art. I longed to ring on those bells.

In 1897 it was decided to have a ring of bells at Smethwick old church: a public subscription was made and a ring of eight obtained from Messrs. Carr. These were not satisfactory and Carrs provided another ring which were an improvement but were rather harsh.

I remember my first visit to the belfry and seeing the ropes going up and down, the sallies being of various colours-yellow, red, dark blue, pink-in fact all the colours of the rainbow. A band was recruited of old ringers, and their limit was three courses of Grandsire Triples.

My father, who was the tenorman, asked if I would like to learn to ring, and I replied 'Yes,' as I had always wanted to ring. I started with the five-minutes bell, a half pull at a time, so it took me a long time to learn to ring rounds. In the meantime I had introduced Tom Piggot and later on three brothers and a sister.

\section*{FIRST PEAL IN 1900}

Then Tom and I went to Oldbury practices, and I was allowed to ring the treble to a touch of 500 Grandsire Triples. The veteran ringer, Sam Reeves, was there, and promised to arrange a peal for me the next week at Smethwick. which he did, so I rang my first peal in 1900.

The Piggots and I visited all the local towers on their practice nights, often walking the five miles to Dudley and Halesowen: later on wa commenced visiting the Bull Ring and helped to raise the back bells, and gradually we made good at Stedman Caters and then Cinques. No other method but Stedman was rung, but the striking was superb. Afterwards an adjournment would be made to the Tamworth Arms, Moor Street, and the handbells would be brought out.

Frequently on Sundays we visited Harborne, the method being Grandsire Triples. Old John Day at that time was a regular ringer, a very old man wearing a skull cap. At this tower we always had a good welcome. About this time John Jagger came to live at Oldbury and started a band of us lads on London Surprise. We learnt the method but rang no peals of it. There were four or five of us who visited all the local meetings, and we took part in a few peals in the standard methods, including a peal of Forward Major at Selly Oak.

\section*{FORWARD MAXIMUS}

I was working at the new Central Hall, Birmingham, and an attempt was being made for Forward, Maximus at the Bull Ring, so I went along to help Bill Barker 10 oil the bells and raise them. As the starting time got nearer there were only 11 men and myself. I went down the stairs with Bill Barker to meet the other man and lock up, but Ernest Allaway didn't turn up, so Bill Barker said: 'Back upstairs.' I thought they would go for Stedman Cinques, but 'Go, Forward Maximus,' was the order. I thus rang my first peal of Maximus in 3 hours and 42 minutes. A marble tablet, given by John Carter, records this performance in the tower; Arthur 'E. Pegler rang the tenor.

At that time there wasn't a regular Sunday service band, and service ringing took place once a month. The incumbent couldn't understand this and arranged for the bells to be rung every Sunday, and I was one of the original Sunday service band. I believe only A. Paddon Smith and Albert Walker are left of that band.

When the brothers Pye and the Birmingham men went for the longest length of London at Hatesowen, we were among the crowd listening. and we left with the bells going well. As we got to the top of the hill, who should we meet but Tom Millar, wearing a hard hat, with coat tails flying and riding a bicycle. However, the altempt was not successful. When the next attempt was made it was at King's Norton, and I was there all the time attending to Harry Withers, who took down every lead-end, my job being to fetch Harry an occasional bottle of Guinness, which he also took down!

\section*{A SURPRISE FOR GABRIEL LINDOFF}

The peal was an excellent one, and by the time the band came out Harry had written out the composition in peal form and handed it 10 Gabriel Lindoff (the composer). Gabriel looked at the figures and said in astonishment: "Where did you get these figures from? There's only one copy-that's sealed and deposited with "The Bell News". Harry replied: "That's what you've rung today.' I had the job of taking the two borrowed ropes back to Birmingham, which I left at the Tamworth Arms. Bill Pye paid my fare, which was 8 d . The next time I saw him (Bill) was at St. Bride's, Fleet Street, in 1903, after they had rung a peal of Stedman Cinques. I had been among the listening crowd and hearing the criticisms: no names, no pack drill.

At this time I was working on a church at Muswell Hill, and I used to attend practices at Southgate and always received a cordial welcome from the conductor, Mr. Sydney Wade, the brothers Miller and little Johnny Armstrong, who was a very small, lively man and an excellent ringer. I have recently been in communication with Sydney Wade, but the Millers and Johnny Armstrong are no longer with us.

One of the Millers was a tenant farmer in Colney Hatch, and he was getting hand-worked engravings of peal records worked by an inmate artist. He asked me if I would like one done as I had 'The Bell News' cutting of the Forward Maximus (mentioned earlier). I let Mr. Miller have it and in due course I had the engraving given me. This I still have framed in my house, and many ringers from all over the country have admired it-a work of art. and just as good as when it was done 54 years ago.

I often went down to the City and always called for Arthur Jacobs, who lived at Hornsey. 1 had met Arthur on his bell-hanging jobs in the Midlands, and I always got a cordial welcome from Mrs. Jacobs, who used to wear a silver brooch with small gold bells hanging in the shape of a bell.

We would sometimes ring at St. Michael's, Cornhill, with Mr. Challis F. Winney conducting. What a wizard of Stedman he was! Among the towers we rang at were St. Martin's-in-the-Fields, St. Margaret's, Westminster, and St. Magnus", Lower Thames Streer.

\section*{AT ST. PAUL'S}

I was not invited to ring at St. Paul's on my first visit, but had the satisfaction of going to the south tower and stood alongside Great Paul when she was swung about frame high. I was amazed at the W.I. headstock which was bent well down the bell to give a shorter swing. I heard there were eight men pulling her that day. The late James E. Groves was with me on that occasion and it was only by perseverance that we got through to see Great Paul. An ancient, short gentleman. an old ringer, did his best to stop us. (I think it was Mr. James Petitt.) The second occasion 1 visited St. Paul's I was invited to ring in the service touch by Mr . W. Cockerill, and I took the rope of Mr. Herbert Langdon.

I rang Grandsire Caters at St, Clement Danes' and met Mr. Alex Young, whom I had met several times in the Midlands. I also made the acquaintance of Mr. A. T. King, the secretary of the Middlesex Assocjation, which I joined. I attended meetings of the College Youths at the Coffee Pot, and also the Cumberlands, but I forget where. Arthur Jacobs and Henry Dains were great friends and. although I never rang with Mr. Dains, the three of us used to go around the city in a hansom cab. What a jolly time it was-none of us being abstainers!

I was invited to High Barnet, and there I saw for the first time the Ellacombe practice bells. A course of Grandsire Triples was rung that evening. James E. Groves was rehanging a ring of six at Edgware taking the canons off, drilling the crowns and bolting on to new headstocks. I was at the opening, a meeting of the Middlesex Association, and remember ringing the tenor to a 720 of Kent Treble Bob. I was always assured of a warm welcome by Mr . Herbert Langdon. Mr. Alfred Peck and Mr. Challis Winney, whom I met years afterwards at a Henry Johnson dinner.

Later that year (1903) I got a job at Bangor. North Wales, and my ringing career gradually developed. There was the making of a good band at Bangor, but a little jealousy prevented progress beyond Cambridge, but we could ring that for service.

\section*{FOUR-BELL TOWERS IN KENT}

Dear Sir,-Further to the list in "The Ringing World' of July 19th, of 'Towers in Kent, from N. Davis, of Ashford, another tower in his district is Boughton Alup, which I have always understood contains four bells. I am sorry that I cannot give any positive details.

The fours at Challock and Westwell are very interesting to me as an uncle of mine was a ringer at the latter tower some years ago and I was haptised there on February Ist, 1874. My parents were also married there.

There should be some interesting detail forthcoming when lists of towers with twos and threes with details are unearthed. I have in mind two churches on the other side of the Stour Valley, viz., Hinxhill and Brook, which I believe contain two and three respectively.Yours faithfully,
Hanworth, Mddx.

\section*{TRURO DIOCESAN GUILD}

The diamond jubilee festival of the Guild was held at Truro Cathedral on July 20hh. Over 150 members were present. representing over 20 towers. The bells of the Cathedral were kept going in the afternoon and carly evening. under the direction of Mr. D. Burnett, the Ringing Master of the Guild. and the bells of many neighbouring towers were available, including Si: Clement's, a 4 -hell ring, where Boh Minimus sounded out over the S:. Clement Creek of the Truro River

Many ringers climbed the Cathedral's central tower, under the guidance of Mr. Tall, the Cathedral steeple-kceper, and also a ringer: and the Cathedral plate and vestments were on view in the crypt.

The service took place in the choir of the Cathedral and was conducled by Canon Fison, the sub-dean, assisted by Canon Pceke, a viezpresident of the Guild. Canon Fison apologised for the absence of the Bishop. who was at Falmouth dedicating a new church. and who sent his greetings. In his address the Canon told us that in the place of hells the Jews used trumpets. and that the Hebrew word used at their jubilee for the trumpet was Yobel. Let them retain the Bible spelling, proclaiming rest for the land and release from slavery and debl. The church bells proclaimed a weekly day of rest and release from work bringing refreshment to soul and body

The president of the Guild. Mr. A. Carveth. presided at tea and spoke of the flourishing state of the Gtild whiẹh, although it could not claim so many peals as other guilds. included ringers of all kinds from round and call-change ringers to those who rang Surprise merhods. In the diocese, which had 142 rings of hells. 84 were affiliated to the Geild.
Mr. W H. Southeard, the Master of the Cathedral company. welcomed the gathering to the Cathedral, and said he was sorry that the choir and organist were unable to he at the service, but they would be interested to know that the orgar. had tween played by the Suesentor, the Rev. R. E. Sibihorp, also a ringer.

\section*{250th ANNIVERSARY OF WESTON FAVELL BELLS}

Thanksgiving services for the 250 years in which the five bells of St. Peter's Church. Weston Favell. Northants, have sounded over the parish and surrounding countryside were held in the church on Sunday, luly 21 st. conducted hy the Rector (Rev. Douglass Hopkins). The 8 a.m. Eucharist was corporate for ringers. In addition to the local keam, who turned out in full, visiting ringers attended this service from as far away as Weedon Bec. \(10_{2}\) miles distant.

Evensong took a special form. The belfry captain assisted the Rector in the blessing ot each of the bells for the 250 years. together with a blessing on the future of the ringers work under their leader. Mr. P. Amos, who has been responsible during the last seven years for training the team from scratch to the state of heing able to ring a number of Doubles methods regularly every Sunday, and more important still. in rcalising a sense of duty by staying to the services for which they have called others. The ream have also made themselves responsible for care and ringing of the bells (5) in the neighbouring parish of Whiston.
The hymns, 'Unchanging God who livest. - Ring out the old, ring in the new.' Rejoica today with one accord; and Now thank we ali our God were the climax 10 a successful thanksgiving week-end. The sermon labout hells and ringers) on Sunday evening was preached from the text Their sound is gone out into all lands.
On the Saturday previous the ambition of the tower captain (Mr. P. Amos) to ring the first full peal of Doubles named after the patron saint was achieved. This was ably condualed hy Mr. Derek P. Jones. who came from his home at Hitchin, Herls. It was rung in 2 hours 36 minutes.
The full history of the hells, logether with th: tower (which before 1725 had a spirc). has been put into booklet form and can be hought (price 6d., excluding postage) from the tower captain. Mr. P. Amos, 30. Inkerman Terrace, Norihampton. The next page in the church's history is the replacing of the main heams-infected with death-wateh heete-by steel girders. P. A.

\section*{PRESTBURY, GIOS}

A half-day trip was held on July 20th, when ringing was enjoyed on the bells at Ashton-under-Hill, Hinton-on-the-Green and Offenham hefore an excellent tea in Evesham. This was followed by three more lowers-Badsey. Pebworth and Broadway. No reaily good ringing. but a very good time was enjoyed by all, including the non-ringing friends who like to see these fine old churches.

The Mid-Devon Branch held a quarterly meeting at Brixham on July 20th, when there was a good attendance. Ringing took place throughout the afternoon and evening. methods rung heing Grandsire and Stedman Triples. Plain Boh. Little Bob and St. Clement's Bob Major, the two latter being the first ever rung at a meeting of the Branch.

The service was held in church, conducted by the Rev. H. T. Ycomans (Vicar), and was followed by an excellent tea in the School Room. Mr. J. E. Lilley (Branch chairman) presided over the subsequent business meeting, when one new member from Townstal and one from Paignton were elected. It was resolved to send a letter of good wishes to Mr. G. H. Myers, of Plymouth, on his recovery from a serious illness, and a letter of congratulation to Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Harvey, of Lifion, former members of the Branch, on the birth of a daughter

Subject to permission, the next quarterly meeting is to be held at Buckfast Abbey on October 12th. The usual votes of thanks, proposed from the chair, concluded the business.

\section*{POINTS FROM RECENT PEALS}

FIRST, let me correct a mistake in my last article on this subject. Terrington should have read Tarrington. It was my mistake and not a printer's error. The Terringtons (St. John and St. Clement) have had many peals rung at them, of course. I am grateful to Mr. J Wilson, of Terrington St. Clement, for pointing the mistake out.

One of the most interesting happenings of the past few months is the changing of the 'lead' as far as most peals in any church is concerned. Erith, St. John Baptist, has once again become the church where most peals have been rung, displacing Crayford. It may be of interest to compare the towers throughout their history. Crayford appeared first in the peal lists (of church bells) in 1877, and 8 peals had been rung there by the time we have the first at Erith (in 1882). Erith first passed Crayford in 1892 with its 48 th peal, and then quickly forged ahead, passing its first century in 1896, Crayford's score being then 67. The 200 peals came in 1906, before Crayford had reached 100 , being then 85 . Thus it can be seen how much more prolific the former was at that time. It was at the end of 1909 that Erith was the farthest ahead it has ever been, its score being 218 when Crayford's was \(92-126\) peals more.

Crayford reached its first 100 in July, 1911, and then up to the first world war, it very slightly narrowed the gap to 122 peals, thus Erith was 241 at the end of 1914 and Crayford 119. After the war it was fairly even 'pegging' in the 1920's. Thus Erith reached the 300 mark in 1928, having had 59 peals since the end of the war. In this time Crayford had had 73 peals and was still 108 behind. It was then that Crayford really got cracking. Its 200th came in March, 1929, when its rival was at 304 peals. Crayford's next 100 only took five years, and so 300 was reached in August, 1934, and the deficit had been reduced to 70 (Erith was still doing about 10 a year!). Twenty-five peals were rung at Crayford that year and there were 24 in both the years 1937 and 1938! Thus when Erith passed the 400 mark in July, 1938, Crayford was then 374 and only 26 behind. Then came the Munich crisis and fewer peals all over the country, and only three more were rung at Erith before the war came, making its pre-war total 403. Crayford had not been quite so severely 'hit' and was only four behind when ringing ceased-its last pre-ban peal being its 399 th!

After the ban was lifted, it was Crayford which got away to the better start, and in 1945 it took the lead again after being behind for over 50 years. As most readers will know, it was the first church tower to have 500 peals, and this was in 1952 (these last 100 peals came in 10 years). Erith was then \(472-28\) behind, and this is, I think. the most it has had to make up. The latter's 500 came early in 1955, its rival then having 512 peals. There have not been many peals at Crayford this last year or two, and so Erith has once again managed to go into the lead in May last, when the former's total of 519 was passed. Se congratulations to Erith on again leading the way. I wonder which tower will reach 600 first!

Whilst talking of large numbers of peals, I confirm the 350th at Willesden. At the present rate, this tower might have to be watched as far as the 600th peal is concerned! Over 160 peals have been rung here in the last 10 years.

Then we come to landmarks. Hadlow, Kent, has just had its 50th peal, the first being as long ago as 1884 (unless there were some before ringing journals were in existence). Ringing has been fairly consistent here- 20 peals up to 1914, 21 between the wars and 9 since 1949. Ashbocking also has reached 50 peals on June 4th. 29 of them coming since 1949. The next peal at the following towers will be the 50 th they have had: Upchurch, Colchester (St. Peter), Great Bentley. Two towers will reach the century with their next peal. Thus the peal at Whitwick on May 24th was the 99th, as was that at Milton-nextGravesend on June 1st. Forty-eight peals at the latter tower were rung when it had six bells from 1891 to 1930.

Now for rare visitors to the peal lists. The claim for the first peal on the bells at Eastchurch (Kent) I fear cannot be substantiated (unless they have been recast). Five peals were rung there from 1911 to 1914, but there haven't been any since, so here we have the tower with the longest silence in the period under review. Bradford-on-Tone has not appeared for 37 years. The two previous peals (both Grandsire Doubles) were in 1913 and 1920. There was a slight exaggeration about the claim at Leaton-first peal for 50 years! The only previous peal (Doubles in four methods) was on July 1st, 1922. Sonth Cerney's last appearance was also in 1922-on September 6th. There have been four peals in all here. The only previous peal (also of Bob Minor) at Millom (Cumberland) was on November 28th, 1925.

The three 'in Gordanos '-Clapton, Easton and Weston-remind us that these do not often appear in these columns. It is 30 years since Clapton was there, although there have been 12 peals in all (seven from 1904 to 1912). The other two have each appeared once since the last war-Easton in 1953 and Weston in 1951. Otherwise the former last had a peal in 1928 and the latter in 1910. All three towers have had most of their peals from 1904 to 1913-there have been 12 at Clapton, 16 at Easton and 5 at Weston. Shaftesbury Holy Trinity's only previous peal (of Grandsire Doubles) was in 1928, whilst the four previous ones at Blo-Norton were in 1911, 1912, 1923 and 1930. Aston (Herts) has not been heard in a peal for 25 years. The recent one was the fourth, the others being in 1907, 1920 and 1932. Whepstead's only other peal was in 1933, and two towers have had a peal silence since 1934 -St. Nicholas-at-Wade (only other peal in that year) and Embleton (three in all now-1892, 1934 and 1957). Woolhope and Shepton Mallet had their last peals in 1936 (seven in all at the former and 11 at the latter). I can confirm that the peal at Broomfield was the first since 1938.
For an 8-bell tower, peals have been few at Cheddar. The recent one was only the third ; the other two (all three have been Grandsire Triples. by the way) were in 1914 and 1954. Although there have been 15 peals at Morpeth (the first in 1892), the one rung on June 5th was the first of Grandsire there. That is most unusual. Other points noticed: Wrexham has had its first since 1946-London Royal, too! It was the 50th peal on the bells (since 1883). Twenty-five peals were rung up to 1913, then 23 from 1920 to 1938 and two in 1946. The only previous Surprise peal was of Cambridge Royal in 1927. The last peal of Treble Ten at Derby Cathedral was in 1885. The peal at Cuddington. Bucks, was the first on the bells as well as the first in the method (Edinburgh Delight). The peals at Newland and Pinhoe were the first of Minor on the bells.
Finally, two 5 -bell towers worthy of mention again. Marston now has 24 peals and is third on the list of 5 -bell towers for number of peals, only Warkton and Barton Segrave beating it. Then Kirby Bellars is now numbered amongst the select few 5-bell towers which have reached double figures.

PEAL RINGING AT WAKEFIELD 1801-1815

\section*{By David Cubitt}

The following notes are in the form of newspaper extracts, with some parenthetical comments, and are not claimed to be a complete list of peals rung in these 15 years at Wakefield (or by Wakefield ringers elsewhere). During this period the newspapers quoted were published weekly, the Wakefield ones on Fridays, 'The Leeds Mercury' on Saturdays.

There were two rings of eight in Wakefield at the time: All Saints' bells (tenor 24 cwt .) were by Pack and Chapman and had been opened in July, 1779 ; St. John's were cast by Thomas Mears in 1794 and had a 23 cwt . tenor.

The first three extracts are from 'The Leeds Mercury.'

April 11th, 1801: On Friday the 3rd inst. was rung at the Church of St. John's, Wakefield, by the Society of Ringers, an abstract of 5040 changes, of Bob Major, in three hours and twenty-three minutes, being the first peal, eight in, rung upon those bells, which was executed with the greatest exactness, and to the pleasure of all who heard them.

July 11th, 1801 : On Sunday evening last, the inhabitants of Wakefield were agreeably entertained by eight of the company from St. Peter's Church, in this town, ringing a true and compleat peal, consisting of 5280 changes, on the bells of St. John's, being the first five thousand of treble bob ever rung in that town, and which was performed in three hours and forty-one minutes, by

T. Normington tenor

June 4th, 1803: On the morning of Sunday last, was rung at St. John's Church, Wakefield, by the society of ringers at that church, an abstract of Bob Major, consisting of 5040 changes, in three hours and 25 minutes, in a very masterly stile.

The next seven extracts are from 'The Wakefield Star.

September 25th, 1805: On Saturday was rung at our Parish Church, a new peal of tripples, consisting of 2575 changes, on the occasion of Dr. Munkhouse being inducted into the vicarage by the Rev. Mr. Herron, of Pontefract; and on Sunday morning, in honour of his Majesty's Coronation, a complete peal, called The Coronation, in 3 hours and 16 minutes, with the greatest exactitude and distinctness, by 1 st, Richard Wilkinson; 2nd Jos. Penny; 3rd, James Robshaw ; 4th, Geo. Priestley; 5th, Rich. Collet: 6th, Wm. Day; 7th, Wm. Hewitt; and 8 th, Thos. Herrinton.-Conducted by W. H.
(The Rev. Richard Munkhouse, D.D., was the first minister of St. John's, Wakefield, before his promotion.)
November 8th. 1805: Last Sunday morning was rung at St. John's Church, in this town, by the society of ringers at that place. a complete peal of 5040 changes. in three hours and one minute, called St. John's Pleasure, or Bob Major Tripples, being the first time it was ever rung in Wakefield, by the following persons, J. Scott, W. Carter, J. Gill, R. Daff. J. Woodhead, J. Gill, W. Woodhead and B. Gill.-W. Woodhead conductor.
December 6th, 1805: Yesterday
After divine service a mourning (or dumb) peal was rung at both churches in commemoration of our fallen Hero.

January 10th, 1806: Yesterday being the funeral of the ever-to-be-lamented hero of Trafalgar, a solemn peal, with muffled bells, was rung at both churches in this town, as a mournful tribute to the memory of the departed Earl.
(These last two may well not have been full 5,000's.)
June 13th, 1806: On Wednesday, was rung at St. John's Church, in this town, by the Society of St. John's Youths, in three hours and thirty minutes, a peal of old Tripple Bobs, consisting of 5088 changes, in a complete stile, being the first peal ever rung in that method in Wakefield.

November 14th, 1806: On Tuesday last was rung at the Old Church in this town, by the Society of Wakefield youths, a complete peal of grandsire tripples, consisting of 5040 changes, in three hours and sixteen minutes; with great exactness, performed by Benjamin Gill, Richard Wilkinson, James Gill, Robert Daff, Thomas Rinnington, Joseph Gill, John Woodhead and Wm. Woodhead.

January 30th, 1807: On Sunday evening was rung at St. John's Church, by a select company of St. John's ringers and St. Peter's, of Leeds, a true and compleat peal, consisting of 5280 changes of Union Treble Bobs, eight in, which was performed in 3 hours and 35 minutes with the greatest exactness, by Robert Daff, Jas. Gill, Joseph Gill, Wm. Woodhead and Benjamin Gill, of Wakefield; and William Preston, Joseph Tebbs and John Hudson, of Leeds, conducted by W. Woodhead.
(' The Leeds Mercury,' of January 31st, 1807, repo:ting the peal, places the ringers: Daff, trebie; Hudson, 2nd; James Gill, 3rd; Tebbs, 4th; Preston, 5th; Joseph Gill, 6th; Woodhead, 7th; Benjamin Gill, tenor.)

The Leeds Mercury,' April 4th, 1807: Monday last was opened at Keighley, a Peal of Bells, augmented from six to eight, by Mr. Mears, of London, universally allowed to be as fine toned as any in Yorkshire. The bells were opened by six ringers from Leeds and two of Keighley, who completed 5088 changes of New Treble Bob, in 3 hours and 7 minutes, conducted by Mr. Jos. Tebbs. The Youths from St. John's, Wakefield, next took the ropes, and rung a peal of Oxford Treble Bob, consisting of 5280 changes, in 3 hours and 19 minutes, conducted by Mr. W. Woodhead. The company from Halifax concluded the day by ringing 5120 changes of New Treble Bob, in 3 hours and 21 minutes, conducted by Mr. James Hudson. Tuesday the company of ringers from Sowerby performed one of Mr. Holt's peals, Grandsire Trebles, consisting of 5040 changes, in 2 hours and 53 minutes, conducted by Mr. Nicholas Wild. The Bradford company concluded the parformance, with a peal of Grandsire Trebles, and rung well upwards of 4000 changes, but by a mistake of one of the performers the peal was lost.
(On May 3rd following the Keighley Society rang their first peal on this eight.)
The six following passages come from 'The Wakefield Star.'
September IIth, 1807: On Wednesday was rung at Pontefract, by a select company of St. John's Youths, Wakefield, a complete peal of New Treble Bob, consisting of 5088 changes, in three hours and six minutes, with the greatest exactness, being the first peal ever rung in that method at Pontefract.
October 2nd, 1807: On Sunday last was rung at St. John's Church. in this town, by the desire of a great many of the Society's friends, a complete peal of new Treble Bob. consisting of 5088 changes, in 3 hours and 23 minutes, by T. Rafton. J. Scott, J. Woodhead. R. Daff, Jas. and Jos. Gill, W. Woodhead and B. Gill; conducted by W. Woodhead.

\section*{LEEDS AND DISTRICT SOCIETY VISIT CHAPEL ALLERTON}

The Society were fortunate in having the July meeting planned in such pleasant surroundings as Chapel Allerton. Although one can see the tower from a great distance, the actual approach to the church is a different matter, as building has taken place on all sides. The bells, a memorial placed in the church some three years ago, are light, and with the construction of the tower do not cause any disturbance outside.

The business meeting was held in the Parish Rooms; the president (Mr, I. Slack) was chairman. Members were present from Armley, Bramley, Calverley, Headingley, St. Chad and St. Michael, Leeds Parish Church, Rothwell, Sherburn and Thorner. Visitors touring Yorkshire helped to swell the numbers, somewhat depleted owing to the bus strike. (We in Leeds have been very fortunate in not being affected by the strike.) Apologies were received from Mr. T. W. Strangeway and Mr. J. Hodson.

Three new members were elected - Messrs. Frank Waterfield, of Bramley, Robert Appleby and John Rhodes, of Calverley.

The vote of thanks to the Vicar, churchwardens and local company was ably proposed by Mr. Thorley, who specially thanked the ladies for the splendid tea and the small charge made. Mr. L. Drake seconded.

The next meeting is due to be held at Collingham on August 31st. Members are asked to watch the columns of 'The Ringing World.'

Ringing was continued until 8.30 p.m.
5,120 YORKSHIRE SURPRISE MAJOR
By ERNEST W. TIPLER (No. 30)

First rung at the Bell Foundry, Loughborough, on July 3rd, 1957, conducted by Brian G. Warwick.

February 26th, 1808: On Monday last was rung at our Parish Church, a true and complete peal of Grandsire Tripples, consisting of 5040 changes, in a style that did credit to the performers in three hours and twenty minutes, by T. Rafton, J. Scott, J. Woodhead. R. Daff. W. Woodhead, B. Gill, T. Herrington and B. Whitehead; conducted by W. Woodhead.
May 6th, 1808: On Sunday morning last, was rung at St. John's Church, in this town, by five of St. John's Company and three Independent Ringers from Leeds, a new peal called New Treble Bob Major, consisting of 5144 changes. The peal was composed and conducted by Mr. Joseph Tebbs, of Leeds; and was performed and completely brought round in three hours and twenty-one minutes, being the first peal in that method, ever rung in England.
(A curious claim; perhaps the first time the composition was rung.)

\section*{NORWICH DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION}

\section*{By-Meeting at Norton Subcourse}

After an interval of four years, the Eastern Branch held a by-meeting at Norton Subcourse on July 6th, where the ring of six bells was kept busy by ringers of all tastes and talents.

The Association's order of service was conducted by the Rector (Rev. F. Tattersall), the lesson being read by the Association Ringing Master (Mr. H. W. Barrett).

Such an excellent and huge tea had been prepared by the willing ladies. recruited by Mr. G. G. Walpole, the local Ringing Master, that a scoond sitting was arranged after further ringing had worked up another appetite.

Votes of thanks were accorded the Rector, the organist, Mr. Walpole and the ladies, for their help in making this interim meeting such a success.

The next full meeting is at Carlton Colville on September 28th, with Pakefield bells available in the evening.

\section*{LONDON COUNTY ASSOCIATION}

The usual standard methods were rung until 5 p.m. at St. Mary Magdalene, Holloway, when the Northern Branch held their July quarterly m eeting.

Tea and a short business meeting followed, with the Master (Mr. C. A. Hughes) in the chair. Mr. Peter J. Shipton, of Bedford, was elected a member, and a vote of thanks accorded to the Vicar (the Rev. R. E. Simpson) and Miss Doreen A. Deverell for the use of the bells. Ringing followed until 8 p.m., and included a touch of London Surprise Major.

\section*{SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD}

The quarterly meeting of the West Dorset Branch was held on July 20th at Loders. Members present from Beaminster, Broadwindsor, Charmouth. Loders, Lyme Regis, Powerstock, Netherbury and Evershot were joined by visitors from Stalbridge, Yetminster and Swindon.

The service was conducted by Rev. O. L. Willmott (Vicar of Loders) and Canon C. G. Cox read the lesson. The collection amounted to 17 s . 6d. Tea was served in the Vicarage, 30 members partaking.

At the business meeting the next quarterly meeting was fixed for September 21st at South Perrott.

Canon Cox drew the attention of the meeting to the fact that September 14th was the 75 th anniversary of the foundation of the Salisbury Guild, and he hoped all towers would have some special ringing on that day.

It was agreed that Mr. Barrett be paid the £1 2s. 6d. deficit on the festival 'bus trip to Salisbury in May, and appreciation was expressed for his arrangements for the day.

In conclusion, Canon Cox expressed a warm vote of thanks to the Vicar and his wife and family for their warm hospitality and for the 'sumptuous repast which was on the house.
He thanked the Rev. Mr. Willmott for taking the service and for his helpful address, and hoped the meeting would take to heart much of what was said. Mr. Elsworth was also thanked for playing the organ.

Handbells were rung in the Vicarage before members returned to the tower for further ringing. Methods during the afternoon and evening included Grandsire and Stedman Doubles, Cambridge and London Surprise Minor, and most other standard methods. E. G. P.

\section*{HERTS COUNTY ASSOCIATION \\ St. Albans District}

North Mymms, set in its beautiful surroundings. was chosen for the July meeting of the St. Albans District on July 20th. Ringing commenced soon after \(3 \mathrm{p} . \mathrm{m}\). and continued to a large number of methods until 8 p.m.

Seventeen members sat down to an excellent tea, which was held in the school, arrangements for which had been made by Mrs. T. J. Lock. At the business meeting which followed, the chair was taken by Mr. S. Hoare, of Watford. A collection for the Voluntary Bell Fund amounted to 11 s .6 d . Votes of thanks to those who had made possible such a pleasant meeting were duly proposed, and it was hoped that arrangements could be made to hold the August meeting at Kimpton.
M. A. C.

\section*{SURREY ASSOCIATION}

The sound of the bells from Christ Church Esher, heralded the start of the Northern District quarterly meeting on July 13th, held under the guidance of the Ringing Master (Mr. G Peters). A short service at St. Nicholas', Thames Ditton, was conducted by a lay reader, Mr. Young.

In the Church Hall the ladies provided the tea, which members and visitors enjoyed ; after which the business meeting commenced. Silence was observed for the death of two members -Mr. John Crawford and Mr. Reg Lathbury. The collection during the meeting amounted to 21 s . for the Bell Fund. The next District meeting will be held in Guildford on September 28th.

In the memorial peal to \(\mathbf{M r}\) J. E. R. Keen at Newcastle Cathedral on July 27th, the \section*{BELFRY} band wish to associate the names of Mr. Edmund P. Crowdy, who was away on Naval Reserve duties, and Mr. John Anderson, who is unable to ring peals for health reasons.

Mr. John H. Hunt is leaving for the Persian Gulf. A farewell peal was rung at Portsmouth Cathedral on July 27th.
Because of the bus strike, Ringwood ringers had their outing cancelled. In lieu a peal was arranged at 17 hours' notice, which is reported in our peal columns.
A peal of Spliced Surprise a day was achieved during Mr. Tom Cullingworth's tour centred on Redhill. Nine peals were scored and four attempts failed during the week, one of which was due to a broken rope.
Theberton, Suffolk, bells will be rededicated on December 14th by Canon J. R. Chapman, who started the restoration fund when he was rector, and is now rector of Great and Little Whelnetham. An invitation is extended to all ringers to be present.

Was the peal of Cambridge Surprise Minor at Chapel-en-le-Frith the first 'barefooted peal'? All the ringers in it cycled there in pouring rain, with the result that all footwear was removed At one point the conductor thought he "smelt the ringers of 4 and 5 cross over!

As a silver wedding compliment to Mr . and Mrs. T. Boreham, a peal was rung at Leckhampton. The band would like to express their gratitude to Mr. Albert Newman, of Leckhampton, who very kindly made up the band at five minutes' notice when it met short. Mr. Boreham is a member of the band of St. Mary's, Cheltenham.

\section*{GOSSIP}

Mr. Percival W. Cave is back in this country after extensive overseas travel. He was in India and Pakistan in February, Italy in May and Russia in July. Last week he called a peal at St. Stephen's, Bristol, and writes: ' It seems difficult to believe that less than three weeks ago I was standing inside the Kremlin, gazing at the King of Bells-Tsar Kolokol-all 197 tons of him, with the broken piece still lying at the foot of the pedestal on which the bell stands.'

Mr. J. Michael Stephens expresses regret that in the report submitted of the peal of Plain Bob Minor at Husborne Crawley on July 22nd an inaccuracy occurred. It was Robert Churchill who rang his first peal and not Arthur Kershaw as published.

Among West Country young conductors is Roger H. Abbott, aged 15, of Frome. He called his first peal of Surprise at Radstock in what some might regard as the ideal method. The bells were raised, the peal rung and the bells lowered again without a break.
As a result of a visit to Morpeth belfry on February 1st a number of boys of Greystoke Preparatory School evinced an interest in ringing. At the School's open day, senior boys played handbells creditably. Perhaps we shall hear of their progress on tower-bells.
The American W.A.F. have a band of handbell ringers who have performed in 28 states, from Alaska to Puerto Rico. They have four chromatic octaves of bells and their repertoire includes hymns, Christmas carols, folk tunes and instrumental numbers, writes Capt. Mary Belle J. Nissly (director of the U.S.W.A.F Handbell Ringers) in 'Overtones.'

THE WHITECHAPEL BELL FOUNDRY

ESTABLISHED

\section*{THOSE I REMEMBER}

\author{
By ERNEST MORRIS

A the request of many readers as far removed as Australia, South Africa, America. as well as here in England, I am asked to give some account of the various ringers I met and rang with over 50 years ago. Many of these 'old-timers' were picturesque characters, and their memory lingers on; but as tempus fugit, they will be forgotten and lost ' in the sands of time.' Thus it is with grateful happiness I record some of these bygone ringers who, in their day, did so much to foster the art and carry on the traditions of their forbears.
As already I have told. I was introduced into the belfry by my late beloved father, Josiah Morris (whose obituary may be found on page 301), in the early part of 1900 . This was at St. Mark's, Leicester, where my father was for eight years steeple-keeper. I was taught at first to chime, and used to go regularly to do so for both Sunday services. After chiming I was given lessons on how to ring in full-swing on the tenor or 'sermon' bell. Father taught me in the true 'Cathedral' style, hands together, well up at both strokes, and a clean, regular pull. No sloppy or dilatory handling did for him!
Then followed my initiation into the art of change-ringing. This was at St. Gcorge's, Leicester, which then possessed a ring of six and where learners had a better chance than in the 8 - and 10 -bell towers. About this time, Father asked me to bring along my school friend, Fred Staniforth (now leader at Kibworth), and we went regularly to St. Mark's every Friday evening. We were allowed to assist in pulling the bells up, then sent downstairs to open and close the doors, seeing that only ringers came in, as at that time there dwelt around St. Mark's many undesirable characters-so much so that they had their own police station nearby! If we were lucky we were allowed to ring in a few rounds and call-changes.

\section*{CAUGHT UP BY A ROPE}

On one occasion I went up to help in a 'rise ' and all went well till the bells were about threeparts up, and I was congratulating myself on a splendid ring when. by some mischance, my rope got under my foot. and on ascending at back-stroke (I still holding the tail end) it naturally became taut between my legs, and taking me up some five or six feet, turned me completely over and dropped me 'bump' on my back on the floor, right across the belfry! For some moments pandemonium reigned, some pulling their bells up, others down! My father rushed across to me, and finding I was not seriously hurt, although shaken badly, said: 'Now you will make a ringer!'.
I remember in St. George's ringing my first 120 on tower-bells, and there was present that vencrable figure of a man, with long-flowing white beard-Stephen Cooper, at that time president of the Leicester ringers. and at one time on the Central Council. My father proudly introduced me to him. and he, gravely stroking his beard (a habit he had when conversing). said: "May he make a better man than his father!'. Dad did not quite know how to take this ambiguous remark, but took it in the right spirit.
Mr. Stephen Cooper was a publican, and for a time kept the Craven Arms nearby St. Margaret's, but later the King and Crown in Town Hall Lane (now Guildhall Lane) by the. Cathedral. Needless to say these 'pubs' were the headquarters of the Leicester ringers, and in the clubroom there many handbell peals were rung, including the notable silent peals of Stedman Triples, Caters and Cinques. Mr. Cooper held every office in the Ancient Order of Foresters up to that of High Chief Ranger for many years. He rang in a number of peals and died on February 18th, 1905.

TAKEN FOR THE VICAR!
He had a brother, William Porter Cooper, who also was a tall, upright-standing man of the old school, with 'whiskers round the rim' and face deeply marked with smallpox scars. He was the verger of St. Leonard's Church for many years, and used to wear the parson's leftoff clothes-flat, round hat and all! and often was taken for the vicar! He was an inveterate snuff-taker and a grand ringer who took part in many peals, his first being in 1868 and his last (the first on Anstey bells) in 1906. He nearly always took the treble at St. Margaret's when falling the bells, and it was not a rushed affair either! often taking ten minutes or more, but done most beautifully. Woe betide anyone who mis-struck his bell in the most perfect rounds. In his later years he became an inmate

\section*{Not Fumigated!}

The quarter peal at Chester-le-Sireet, rung on July 26 th for the silver wedding of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Robson, was the second part of the normal, practice night. As the bells were about to be pulled up a message was received that it would be dangerous to remain in the ringing chamber for long because of fumes from treatment of the timber against woodworm.

However,' writes our correspondent, 'two leatners had sat up there before the message was received, and survived, and as silver weddings of ringers did not occur every week, we decided to chance it, opening the windows and ringing with a minor gale blowing through the place.
'All survived to report for ringing on Sunday.
of Wyggeston Hospital, and often organised concerts for the aged inmates, in which handbells were always a prominent feature. I often helped in this. 'Wm. P,' as he was called, died on May 30th, 1924, aged 86.
Another of the 'old-timers' was James Jar-vis-my uncle 'Bob Jarvis's' father. He was only a slightly-built man and usually found at the light end in both practice and peals. He had a store of anecdotes on ringing and never tired of telling how once at St. Martin's he was calling a 'date' touch, and he took his sonmy uncle-then a boy, with him. This date touch took a long time, and Bob fell asleep. After a time he was roused by his father calling 'Bob,' and jumping up said, 'Here I am, Dad!' which so upset the ringing that the touch was lost in confusion. He used to tell also of a peal rung by Leicester ringers at Coventry (now the Cathedral). One of the ringers-not one of the strongest physically-insisted on ringing the tenor ( 32 cwt .) to the peal. Grandsire Caters. He stuck to it for 3 hours when he exclaimed: 'I've had enough.' and set his bell. The others carried on without him and finished the peal!

\section*{NESTING BOXES FOR PIGEONS IN BELL FRAME}

Another 'character' of the old type was Joseph Sarson Needham, who at one time was attached to St. Martin's Society, but in his later years became steeple-keeper of St. Saviour's. He had an ambition to call Holt's 10 -part, and tried scores of times, always failing! I was in many of these attempts; then he got together a team of experts, each of whom had called peals, and succeeded in his effort. 'Old Joe ' collected coins and had a valuable collection. At St. Saviour's he used to like to see the pigeons flying around, and even made nesting boxes round the bell frame, and up there among the bells it was a dreadful mess-it was a wonder the bells went round at all!

I remember, too, old Tom Holmes. In the 'eighties' and early ' nineties' few names were more familiar to readers of 'The Bell News than that of this well-known ringer. He was a ' woolly back' (native of Leicestershire) who mixed with the company of that time at St. Margaret's, under the leadership of Edward Biggs and Stephen Cooper ; but chiefly was he connected with the famous band at Burton-onTrent, where between 1882 and 1896 he rang 150 peals, no fewer than 60 being Surprise Major : 20 Double Norwich and about 40 Stedman. He had a ready wit and an apt quotation for every occasion. He died on September 3rd, 1905, at Loughborough.
Perhans the most 'picturesque ' of all the old Leicester characters was John Buttery (of whom I have before written, but it will be worth repeating). He was a well-educated man, and in his early career was a tea-taster. Alas! after a domestic tragedy he was driven to tasting other beverages! He married a cousin, ' Fanny,' who after the loss of her first-born became mentally unbalanced, and 'Jack' had an awful time. In spite of all this he always kept his gentlemanly appearance up, and always 'wore 'his walking stick. He was a fine ringer and conductor, both on tower- and handbells. Among his exploits he conducted the first peal of Stedman Triples and Caters, also Grandsire Caters for the Midland Counties Association, and turned in St. Margaret's tenor to the first T.B. Royal in Leicester. He was one of the famous company who rang in the silent handbell peals of Stedman Triples, Caters and Cinques-still an unbeaten record.
When I rang in my first touch of Caters I asked him how many changes it was. He said he did not know, just made it up as he went along. Next week he brought the figures pencilled on the back of an old voting paper. He then called another touch, and the following week brought it pencilled on an old sugar bag! Once, after a practice, the ringers coming out of the belfry door (which at that time came outside into Church Gate) held 'Jack ' back-1h police were taking 'Fanny' to jail, blind drunk on a hand-cart! Another time, after 'celebration ringing,' the band had adjourned to Queen Victoria Inn opposite, where it was found that Jack was missing. An intensive search was made and eventually he was found fast asleep in the well of the spiral staircase. He had missed the outer door exit and gone down to the bottom, but the church exit door was locked so he just slumped down to sleep it off!

\section*{PEAL TABLET COLLECTION}

John Buttery was a real lovable character. nevertheless, and had an ingratiating way with him and could wheedle money out of anybody. When he had called the first peal of Stedman Caters in Leicester he went round all the factories, offices and shops-not only in the parish but all over the city-collecting for a tablet to record this 'unique performance.' The ringers of other churches found out, and threatened to expose him unless he disclosed what amount he had got. Eventually he not only had the most elaborate peal board we have in St. Margaret's erected, but he treated all the Leicester ringers to a tripe-and-onion supper!

On the occasion of the King's Coronation, ringing was going on all day (by rota) at each church. We at St. Margaret's started off at 8 a.m. for an hour, then others in turn. Our next spasm was from 1 to 2 p.m., but old Jack, instead of going home, spent the time in the nearby 'Queen'; then St. Martin's rang a full peal, and Jack went to the 'King and Crown' to listen to it! We finished the day at St. Margaret's, and I shall never forget seeing him (from the belfry window) coming down Church Gate rolling all over the pavement with his walking stick held straight out before him as though it was pointing the way! How they got him up the belfry stairs I do not know, but on entering he dropped down in the window-seat, and while we rang Stedman Caters he went to sleep. He was aroused and made to ring in the last touch of the day. It was amusing to see him trying to find the rope-end, which he failed to do. It was put in his hand, and then he evidently could see several sallies, for he could not get the right one. When he did (on the 2nd) we set off, and he rang a perfect touch, never missing a dodge or making a mis-blowit was simply amazing! With all this, notwithstanding, he was a grand man, and one could not help admiring his wonderful gifts. Under better circumstances in home life there is no doubt whatsoever he would have been an outstanding character. He died on December 19th, 1913, aged 62.

An amusing episode that stands out in my mind is that, when ringing at Aylestone on the old six, which at that time went very heavy and had a long draught of rope, Mr. Bell, of Knighton, came there, and he, being used to a short pull on five bells, was soon in difficulties. He was an awkward handler at best, but here -well it can be imagined. I rang next on 2 nd and called a six-score and was scared stiff at his flying rope. He wore one of the oldfashioned starched collars with front attached (called a dicky), and there he was with his ' dicky , sticking out straight in front and flaying his rope in an alarming manner. He got 'ragged' over this more than once!

\section*{SONGS AT SOCIALS}

In those days (early 1900) we had two 'Ted Smiths' at St. Margaret's-one we called 'Big Ted,' on account of his great stature, the other "Belgrave Ted * because he lived here. The latter was a big, hefty man also and entirely bald-as my late father used to say, bald as a bladder of lard!: He was a plasterer by trade. Big Ted (Edward Elijah Smith) was an engineer and brass fitter; yet despite his size used to always sing "Baby, close your pretty blue eyes' at all ringers' socials.

All the old boys had their own particular songs. For instance, my father's was 'Johnnie used to grind the coffee mill. and mix the sugar with the sand.' Alfred Martin, many years tower keeper of St. Martin's, with his deep bass voice always obliged with 'The Holy Friar.' My uncle's father, James Jarvis, had 'Keep up your pecker, boys - never be downhearted., Alfred B. Moss (who later migrated to Notts) sang 'In the smoke, while William Willson recited a racing ballad, 'Kissing Cup.' They had great fun did those old boys!

\section*{COMPOSITION QUALITIES}

\section*{By Nolan Golden}

From the earliest days of change-ringing: when Stedman claimed in his "Tintinnalogia (1668) that *Grandsire and Tendring Sixscore on eight Bells makes good Musick. 748 lying behind every change,' it has been traditional for composers to point out the properties of their figures. The celebrated authors of 'A Key to the Art of Ringing' (1788) make a number of observations. such as 'In the above peal the sixth is at home twelve times right and is the greatest number of changes that can be so obtained in fourteen courses' and 'the following is the first part of 8448 (being the full extent of changes that can be obtained in this method with the tenors together), claims which were sometimes neither clear nor accurate. Ninety years later Jasper Snowdon was classifying alt the peals of Treble Bob he could find, with particular reference to their musical qualities, declaring in the introduction to Part Two of his -Treatise ' that he was 'always desirous, should I have anything to do with the selection of a peal. that it should present some distinctly musical feature.

In my experience there are few ringers who are as selective as Jasper Snowdon in their choice of composition or in the appreciation oí its qualities, the deciding factor often being the ease of committing the necessary courses to memory rather than the music they produce.

The difficulty arises as to what constitutes bell-music, and a wide divergence of opinion exists. Some will tremble at the presence of 82 's in a composition of Major, while others will tolerate them. provided the sixth is coursing the seventh. Some demand, where possible, ' all combinations of 4-5-6 in 5-6,' while others would rather listen to the " 6 th the extent in 5-6'; some find pleasure in the introduction of \(7468^{\prime}\) 's and \(7568^{\prime} \mathrm{s}\), others consider this an impertinence; a present day composer of great practical skill and experience-and a number of excellent composers could claim neitherintroduces 6578's with reluctance, whereas I would not, unless their inclusion was an impossibility, begin a peal without them. Then there are those who subscribe to the opinion of the late Rev. C. D. P. Davies, who roundly declared that "real "music" is conspicuous by its absence in even bell ringing.'

Some methods, particularly the Surprise group and Stedman's principle, present problems associated with their construction. Once the heavy bells are split up in Royal or Maximus ringing, it requires a good deal of imagination and a tremendous amount of sentiment to suggest, however excellent the striking may be, that methods such as Cambridge are musical. The plain Royal and Maximus methods are usually not difficult enough, and so music must be sacrificed for intricacy. With regard to Stedman ringing, controversy has always raged as to the placing of the sixth and the treble in Caters, but everyone is agreed with the "Clavis * that the harmonious tittums 'most likely ever will remain: In Stedman and Grandsire Triples composers have made claims about the number of 74's and 67's at backstroke. In Minor compositions the 65's at backstroke is the only feature to which one's attention is drawn, while on five bells points of distinction concern questions of construction only.

Most plain Major methods give excellent music, but the qualities of Treble Bob methods, especially of the Surprise group, are less apparent. This is due to the fact that the internal places dictated by the term often destroys the regular coursing order of the bells. Consequently the familiar claim 'the 6th the extent in 5-6, by which is meant all the course-ends ending in 678 and \(6 \times 78\) are included, can be applied to comparatively few Surprise Major methods unless the phrase 'within the limits of the method' is added. This refers to the prevalence in many methods of false courses which reduces the possibility of obtaining compositions with the qualities looked for in Plain Major methods. The present vogue of producing peals of the Cambridge group ( 15738264 lead-end) with multi-bobs "before' sacrifices a great deal of internal music, notably at the 'middle' and 'wrong' positions. A composition with, say; 'the 6th the extent home in natural courses, would be one in which the 12 possible courses ending in 678 would be complete. This is a feature not always considered by composers; The phrase 'all combinations of 4-5-6 in 5-6; -in which the course-ends ending in 56-, 65 -, 46-, 64-, 45- and 5478 are present-is a familiar one. When a composition, in addition, claims to include the " 6 th the extent in 5-6," the music content is beyond doubt. As this means 60 course-ends in Plain Major, it is inevitable that "short courses," i.e., courses which by bobbing cuts out certain leads of the plain course, must be introduced. But such qualities are a commonplace in compositions of 'lengthening lead methods (i.e., methods with 14263857 as the lead-end and a 4ths place bob), and this undoubtedly contributed to the past popularity of Oxford and Kent Treble Bob and the growing interest in Bristol Surprise. The freedom of the latter method from falseness with the tenors together has prompted the use of 6ths place bobs, which enables the composer to produce peals with the 6th the extent in 6ths in natural courses, an impossibility with the 4ths place bob. A quality occasionally met with in Treble Bob, and by no means an easy one to produce, is 'the 6th the extent in all positions, a phrase which means that all the 867 's, \(7 \times 86\) 's and 678's are present.

Peals of Major are occasionally noted as containing the Queens (13572468), Whittingtons (12753468) and Tittums (15263748). Standing alone this is a dubious quality, for the evolutions necessary in composition in some methods result in a filling in of poor music.

\section*{LETTERS TO \\ THE EDITOR}

BOURTON-ON-THE-WATER, GLOS
Dear Sir,-Whilst looking through an old notebook of mine recently I came across the following record of a 'peal' which I copied from a board on the belfry wall of Bourton-on-the-Water Church, Gloucestershire. The board is really only noteworthy from the point of view of the spelling of certain words contained thereon:-
- Grandsier Bob was rang in Bourton Tower February 10th, 1849, by:
\begin{tabular}{lcll}
J. Berry & 1 st & T. Mosen & 4th \\
D. Day & 2nd & D. Hall & 5th \\
J. Palmer & 3rd & G. Hall 6 th
\end{tabular}

The peal consist of 16 Bobs, 42 Doges, and 2 Singels.
The Peal was conducted by T. Mosen.'
Also in the same notebook I came across some 'ringing rules' which I must have obviously copied down on my one and only visit to Bourton-on-the-Water: I cannot think where etse I could have possibly copied them from: Whosoever will practice to play on these [strings,
Must these orders observe amongst other things;
He that rings with his hat, boots, spurs or likewise,
To the Sexton shall pay two pence excise; For smoking tobacco and drinking of drink To the Sexton shall pay sixpence in chink;
He that is heard to curse or to swear,
Shall twelve pence among the company share; He also that does a bell overthrow,
A groat to 'the Sexton' shall pay ere he go; And he that will not to these orders attain,
Let him never come hither to practice again. 1793.'

Yours sincerely,
PETER J. CAME.
Danbury, Essex.

\section*{ANTI-CLOCKWISE}

Dear Sir,-On page 465, July 19 th issue of The Ringing World,' there appears an interesting report of the new bells of St. Lawrence Jewry. The old bells, we learn, were hung in an anti-clockwise direction. There are many other rings of bells hung in an anti-clockwise direction, e.g., Lavenham, Southwell Cathedral, Richmond (Surrey), Chepstow, Langley (Bucks), Stone (Staffs) and in my home town, St. Nicholas'

Sir, is there some scientific or technical explanation to account for these anti-clockwise hangings? Or were the bells so hung to gratify a whim of an incumbent, the eccentricity of an 18th century bellhanger, or possibly the 'antieverything' of a left-handed pre-Victorian tower captain?

If anti-clockwise hanging is better for ringers and ringing, why hang bells the right way round? Conversely, if clockwise hanging is . . . ?-Yours truly,
F. MORRIS.

Burghill, Hereford.

\section*{GULLD NOT RECOGNISING PEAL}

Dear Sir,-The peal of 5,040 Cambridge Surprise Minor rung at Swanmore. Hampshire, on Saturday. June 22nd, 1957, and reported on page 443 of 'The Ringing World,' cannot, I'm afraid, be recognised as having been rung for this Guild.

One member of the team had allowed his membership to lapse. and his belfry election was an infringement of the rules.-Yours faithfully.
J. A. C. KING, General Secretary,

Winchester and Portsmouth Diocesan Guild.

LICHFIELD CATHEDRAL APPEAL
Dear Sir,-As many of your readers must know, the Dean and Chapter of Lichfield Cathedral recently inaugurated an appeal for \(£ 200,000\). Of this sum \(£ 150,000\) is required for very urgent work to the fabric of the Cathedral during the next few years; the remaining \(£ 50,000\) would be set aside as a capital sum for future maintenance. The ravages of the death-watch bectle were so serious that work was commenced at the time the appeal was launched. The roof of the north transept has been completed and work is continuing over the choir and lady chapel. The Appeal Fund stands at the moment at about \(£ 86,000\).
On Saturday, September 14th, a 'Cathedral Autumn Fair' is being held in the Close; this is the first big effort that the various Cathedral bodies have arranged. In connection with this fair I have been asked to run a 'Men's Stall" as the Cathedral ringers' part in the effort. I should therefore be grateful for any gifts to help. There must be many ringers in all parts of the country who have rung on our bells who might like to contribute. Would they please send their contribution to me, when each gift will be acknowledged: F. A. Sedgwick, 10 , Dam Strect, Lichfield, Staffs.

\section*{' LISTENING OUTSIDE'}

Dear Sir,-No doubt your front page always appeals to some of our fraternity as a real inspiration and the reason for my note is that this article does appeal to me and my sort very much. A good number of our fraternity may think us (yes, I will use the word) 'cocky, but I do appeal to those who do think so to forget it.
It may be because I was lucky enough to be born near a tower, and joined as a lad a tower company who used to pride itself on being heard outside. I trust that those whom I have taught, and any of our fraternity to whom our striking has appealed, will try to accept it, for the simple reason that you have stated.
I have mentioned previously in your paper and have asked those who do ring 1,2 and 3 to Minor, Major, Royal, etc., to hold a little more over what I may term tenors \(10,11,12,6,7,8\) or 5 and 6 , and keep them distinct from each other. Your own tenor ringers would greatly appreciate this. I mention this not as a cartwheeler' but for everyone's sake, which includes the Greenfield, Lancs.

\section*{RINGERS' EMBLEM}

Dear Sir,-May I suggest a handbell as the obvious choice for ringers to carry as their emblem in procession, in answer to Mr. A. W. Holden's inquiry? A proper ringers' handbell, however-not 'bells, school and A.R.P., for the use of,' as was once inflicted on me at a retreat house.-Yours faithfully.

PHILIP I. ADDISON.
Newcastle upon Tyne.
P.S.-I shall look forward to reading other suggestions. A personal opinion is that a Guild of ringers should have its own banner. This should be quite small-many banners in use today are far too large.-P. I. A.

\section*{QUOTATION WANTED}

Dear Sir,-Can any reader of 'R.W.' complete these lines given me by a visitor a few years ago:-

With arms upstretched to clutch
The rattling ropes, that race
Into the darkness above,
And the mad romping din.'
Yours sincerely,
Cape Town

\section*{MANCROFT RINGERS' OUTING, JULY 27th}

From under ' Mancroft' mighty tower, We left as 8 struck; 'twas the hour, Work and cares were all forgotten As on our way we went to Cotion.

Through Norfolk's fields, by pastures green,
Thatch cottages with eaves that lean,
To Suffolk; Cotton's tower of eight,
The tenor just ten hundredweight.
Bristol, Cambridge, Stedman, rounds,
For young and old the art abounds.
'All hold,' the treble starts again,
The ringers here can feel the rain.
No room enclosed where they can stand,
Is there another in the land?
The church inside we viewed as well
Then left to ring Stowmarket bells.
With spire above and bells below St. Mary and St. Peter.
A lovely ring of eight struck well.
Can anything sound sweeter?
Through Needham Market, Monks Eleigh, In sunshine to Long Melford.
To where the church of 'Trinity,'
For centuries has stood.
High in the tower the bells are eight,
Their history is long and great.
We stayed, rang out the bells of old,
Stoke-by-Nayland next we're told.
A landmark here, a church of fame,
The tower of warm red bricks;
Now houses a new steel frame
And eight bells; where once were six.
From Nayland's bells so clear and loud,
Through Higham, Stratford, and Capel.
To where 12 bells, a tower proud
Stands; where once there stood a steeple.
The only 12 in Suffolk found-
St. Mary-le-Tower.
Where ringing histories abound,
We spent a happy hour.
Then on to Ufford, our last call,
Eight bells, a village small;
With history and treasures rare
Amongst the others she can share.
Before we finish, day is done,
Our grateful thanks to everyone.
Then back to Mancroft's tower grey-
We all had shared a happy day.

\section*{LINCOLNSHIRE BELLS}

Dear Sir, - At Mumby, Lincolnshire, is another four-bell tower. In 'Dove' this is given as a five, but the fifth bell is, in fact, a small 'Priest's' bell. Details are as follows:Treble, Harrison, 1820; 2 and 3, undated; tenor, Hedderley, 1737 (approx. 17 cwt .).

For the information of anyone who may be thinking of organising tours in this area, the following bells are unringable:-Fives: South Ormsby and Saltfleetby All Saints'. The five at Saltfleetby St. Clement's are just ringable! Sixes: Coningsby, Addlethorpe, Hogsthorpe, Heddlethorpe All Saints'.
At Croft the treble is cracked but the back five are ringable.-Yours sincerely,

JOHN R. KETTERINGHAM.
Lincoln.

\title{
A SELECTION OF RINGERS' OUTINGS

\section*{BECCLES, SUFFOLK}

The Beccles company, together with ringers from Norton Subcourse. Pakefield and Lowestoft, had their annual outing on July 20th. Leaving Beccles at 8 a.m., the first call was at Ufford ( \(8,13 \mathrm{cwt}\).), where we were met by Mr. C. E. Fisher, a friend of some of the party. Ringing here included Grandsire Triples, Plain Bob and Kent Treble Bob Major. The pretty coastal visit of Hollesley, with a fine ring of eight (tenor \(17 \frac{1}{2} \mathrm{cwt}\).), was next visited, and touches in various methods brought round.
( \(8,25 \mathrm{cwt}\).). The high tower here swayed slightly, but this proved no disadvantage to the 'go' of the bells, which constitute a really excellent ring in every way. Lunch was taken in Woodbridge, after which came the novelty of the day, Grundisburgh ( \(10,8 \mathrm{cwt}\).) Contrary to expectations, the light bells here proved easy to handle, and Kent Treble Bob Royal was accomplished without difficulty. Mrs. C. Pipe met us and rang in a touch of Cambridge Minor on the musical front six. One member was so delighted with the bells that he expressed a desire to remain there for the rest of the afternoon.

We drove through the rain to Ipswich. St. Margaret's ( \(8,15 \mathrm{cwt}\).), where we were met by several Ipswich ringers, including Mr. G. E. Symonds. These bells are in poor condition now, and have to be rung fast to be appreciated. They are shortly to be rehung. After tea at Ipswich the party assembled at the Church of St. Mary-le-Tower ( \(12,32 \frac{1}{2} \mathrm{cwt}\).), where some had their first ring on 12, a course of Plain Bob Maximus being brought round. Other methods rung here were Grandsire Caters, Plain Bob and Kent Treble Bob Royal. The ringing chamber was literally walled with peal boards recording feats of the past, when Ipswich possessed the country's leading 12 -bell band. After parched throats had been moistened. the coach left for home, which was reached at about 11.15 p.m.
The thanks of the party are due to Mr. E. R. Goate for arranging such an enjoyable day, and to the clergy for the use of the bells.

\section*{HORNCHURCH, ESSEX}

The county regimental march commends - Sussex by the Sea,' and the writer has memories of parading to these strains along the front at Brighton from H.M.S. King Alfred during a wartime savings drive; but Sussex has more than its coastline to offer-and more than Brighton. There's some wonderful scenery away from the coast, and some fine bells.
St. Andrew's, Hornchurch. sampled some of these delights on July 6th, and indeed some grand Sussex hospitality. East Grinstead, Balcombe, Cuckfield, Bolrey, Slaugham and Crawley were all visited in turn and on time. Incidentally, if other bands would care to note, an excellent lunch is obtainable at Cuckfield. Of course, we preferred some bells to others, but where the striking was not quite up to standard one is tempted to ask how much was due to faulty handling.

Outings usually follow a set pattern, but this was different in the fact that the Master, owing to domestic reasons, was unable to be present, thereby upsetting our intended tea-time presentation. However, time was found before the party set off to lure him into the coach and present a 'Parker 51' to mark the tenth postwar outing.

Thank you, Sussex, for a good day: we'll be out your way again one of these days.
L. V. G.

\section*{GAMSTON, NOTTS}

Just over 40 ringers and friends from Gamston (Notts) and district toured the churches of N . Lincolnshire on July 20th.

Owing to the 'bus strike, our coach had to do a tour of the surrounding villages to pick up ringers and their friends, and after a slightly delayed start we were on our way and arrived at Messingham almost on time. Here we had a good ring until the oldest member of the party accidentally broke the stay of the second bell-his first in 62 years of ringing!
Our next tower was that at St . John-theEvangelist. Scunthorpe, and here the ladies in the party were delighted to see the arrival of two brides for their double wedding just after we had finished ringing. Then to Burton-on-Stather-a very nice eight-and to Winterton, where those ringers who prefer six bells were in their element.
The two churches at Barton-on-Humber were next on our list. We rang at St. Peter's first, and although the two iron ladders up to the ringing room prevented some of our members from ringing there, we still had enough for an hour's good mixed ringing.

A dash through torrential rain was necessary to St. Mary's, and these bells were voted the best eight of the day by some of our ringers, although others preferred those of Barrow-onHumber, which we visited after tea. Here we were able to have a ladies band for rounds and queens, and the menfolk were forced to admit that they were the best of the day!

The local ringers then joined us for some Stedman Triples and we all finished up at the home of one of them for a cup of tea, which was very much appreciated by all. Our last call was at Goxhill, where we rang until 8 o'clock.
We should like to express our thanks to all the local ringers who were there to greet us at each of the eight towers we visited, and to say that this was one of the best outings we have had for some time.
M. R.

\section*{GRIMSBY}

Meeting at 1 o"clock. we proceeded by coach to Caistor to pick up a local ringer. By now we were ten minutes behind schedule, but due to some miraculous feat by the driver we arrived at Horncastle 30 minutes early! After looking at the interior of this old and beautiful church we had some 45 minutes' good ringing. This, we were told, was the first time for quite a while that all the six bells had been rung together, ringers there being very scarce.
It was a hot afternoon, and after purchasing ice-creams and ice lollies we carried on to Sleaford, stopping on the way for the pleasure of climbing the 264 steps to the top of Yattersall Castle! A violent rainstorm occurred on the outskirts of Sleaford, but luckily we soon found the hotel for tea, and when we had satisfied our hunger the sun actually began to shine! The fine eight at St. Denys' Church were all ready for our use. We rang here for about an hour and then quenched our thirst before returning to the bus.
At Harmston we had just accustomed ourselves to the fact that here the bells do not need the hefty pull that ours do when the rope on the sixth broke. This put an end to our ringing, so we went to see if we could spot any Vulcans at Waddington Aerodrome ; we were, however. unlucky Nearby Bracebridge village possesses a good fried fish and chip shop. to which we did justice. Finally we headed for home. narrowly missing running over several rabbits.
Our thanks go to Mr. Frank Kennington, who made such good work of the organisation, and to those at the towers we visited for meeting us.
M. H.

\section*{BICESTER AND DISTRICT}

The Bicester and District Branch of the Oxford Diocesan Guild held their annual outing on July 13th. In spite of the date, we had a fine day touring the beautiful Glouccstershire countryside. Leaving Brill at 12.15 p.m., the coach picked up members and friends en route, and after passing through Witney and Burford we pulled up in the 'gem' of Gloucestershire, the village of Bibury.

Owing to the number of visitors who visit Bibury our time was limited, but good use was made of the bells although some of the ringers found the long draught and light bells tricky. The church and churchyard were much admired, the latter being an example of how a churchyard should be kept. In view of the time limit, some members regretted that they were not able to 'tickle' a trout or two.

We arrived late at Hatherop due to a signpost arm at a cross-road, which is so placed that it can be seen only from one direction. Mr. Shephard met us and we enjoyed good ringing. Time passed quickly, and we had to move on to the White Hart at Fairford, where an excellent tea was served in the 'Olde Barn.' Our thanks are due for a 'ringers ' tea.

The younger members of the tour enjoyed the delights of a fair being held at Fairford, whilst the more serious members were shown the beautiful stained-glass windows of the parish church and given a most interesting lecture on these by Professor O. L. Richmond, to whom we are most grateful. The windows were made in about 1490 , and have survived the Civil War and the 1939-45 war. Some were damaged during the great storm of 1703 . They are arranged to illustrate the main events of the Christian Faith, from Adam and Eve to the Last Judgment.

From Fairford we retraced our steps to Meysey Hampton, where we found the key under the tower door. On this good-going six we had an hour's ringing with good striking. The last tower of the day proved to be a good six but left much to be desired in the "go." It took the 'experts' all they knew to strike these bells in any sort of rhythm. We left Lechlade at 9 p.m., with a request that a stop be made for 'solid' refreshment somewhere on the way home. The request was duly honoured.

Our thanks are due to the tower captains and incumbents for the use of the bells, to Professor Richmond and to the organiser. C.H.K.

\section*{REDENHALL AND DISS}

Redechall and Diss ringers had a very full day for their outing on July 20th, when towers in Huntingdonshire and Bedfordshire were visited.

Leaving Diss at 7 a.m., Eaton Socon was reached at 10 a.m., and after ringing for one hour the party moved on to Bromham and then to Bedford for lunch. During the afternoon Woburn. Maulden and Dunstable were visited, and various methods were rung. Tea was served on arriving at Luton at 6.15 p.m., and this was followed by a visit to the parish church, and touches were rung on the fine ring of ten bells (tenor \(25 \frac{1}{2}\) cwt.). The seventh and last church for the day, Barton-le-Clay, was reached at 8.30 p.m. Here the bells, with a tenor of 10 cwt., were rung until 9.15 p.m., when the party set off for 'home,' reaching Diss at 12.45 a.m.

To the incumbents, who so readily granted permission to ring, and to the ringers who met us, we weuld say: Thank you' for your warm welcome. Also our grateful thanks to the South Norfolk Ringing Master (Mr. Wm. Flatt). who again made all the arrangements for such a successful outing.

\section*{'PER ARDUA' - THE ADVENTURES OF EGBERT}

Egbert was doing his National Service, and had bee. 1 posted to a large R.A.F. station situate somewhere in the south-east Midlands. Being a keen 'tower-grabber' he utilised such leisure as came his way by adding to his 'bag ' where possible, and thus, one Saturday afternoon, he might have been seen steadily pedalling a borrowed cycle of somewhat antiquated design along a rather monotonous series of lanes such as this part of the country seems to abound in Towers, however, were his objective, and so far as he was concerned the scenery just happened. He appreciated good scenery where he saw it and put up with its lack where he did not.

His objective on this particular Saturday afternoon was Little Taterfield where, his ' Ring ing World 'informed him, a branch meeting of the area Association was to be held; also that the tower contained five bells, and that tea would be provided for those who advised the secretary of their intention to be present, all being welcome. It did not. however, seem really necessary for Egbert to advise the secretary of his intended visit. After all, one more or less would not make any difference to that gentleman's plans for the meeting, and anyway, thought Egbert, he might not get there on this old 'bone-shaker.'

Egbert was reasonably proud of his prowess although he was not necessarily a 'big-head.' He had not learned his ringing via recently well-publicised methods, and although he had browsed through them he did not think they could teach him very much. His tuition had been given him by a well-known 'old timer ' in his native north of England; he knew he was a safe method ringer (he had already added several Surprise peals to a fairly respectable total) and it was generally conceded, where he was known, that he handled a pretty rope.

While he thus mused. Egbert came within the sound of the bells he was after, faint as yet but steadily increasing, until at length he was able to form some opinion of their quality. It left him cold. He could only hope they went better than they sounded. Thank goodness they were being well struck or, he thought, the effect would have been dreadful.

After listening a little longer, he decided that they were a minor five with a very slightly flat treble and a very slightly sharp tenor, and of really wretched quality; but at least one could tell that they were meant to be a five. After all, had he not heard the contents of a certain 12bell tower, reputed to consist of six trebles, some of them flat and some of them sharp, and six tenors with somewhat similar shortcomings? However, he was now nearing the tower and he put these thoughts away. In any case, he would not stick his neck out by voicing any opinion of the bells, if only for the fact that somewhere in this part of the country there dwelt an Oracle who would most certainly but here he was at the church, the bells had just run into rounds, and any thought of what the Oracle might have said, written to "The Ringing World,' or done, blew away with the last 'rounds' before the bells stopped, and he dismounted.
He set his ancient steed against the churchyard wall. One or two small groups of people stood around chatting (obviously ringers, thought Egbert, for who else would come to this dump?) but did not appear to notice Egbert's arrival. Egbert looked around as he went up the three steps to the churchyard gate, but could see no sign of a village. On the right was an enormous barrack of a house, obviously the burden of the unfortunate incumbent, and over to the left was a small farmhouse with its outbuildings. Two rather ugly red brick cottages a little way along the lane completed the signs of human habitation in the vicinity of the church, while in the distance, apparently in the middle of the sandy, hedgeless fields, a few more stood out stark and bare. The terrain looked strangely treeless and uninviting. So this, thought Egbert, is Little Taterfield.

\section*{Saxmundham District}

The meeting of the Saxmundham District. held at Leiston on July 20th, was well attendeâ, with ringers coming from many parts of Suffolk, including Halesworth, Framsden, Bury St. Edmunds and Stratford St. Mary.

Ringing was from 3.30 until 8.30 p.m., with a break for tea at 5 p.m. Many methods were rung, including Plain Bob, Kent T.B., Double Norwich, Cambridge and Superlative.
Tea was taken at a local café, where a juke box was playing hot music most of the time, much to the displeasure of most of the ringers. who took a 'live and let live' attitude.

At the business meeting in the ringing chamber (to get away from the juke box) Mr. T. G. Page was made a full ringing member, and Mr. R. T. Tovell a non-resident life member. Alan R. Bridges announced that as the result of a gift day in aid of the Theberton bell fund. £1,174 had been received; this included a cheque for 11,000 . He explained that the work to the tower of taking down and replacing the battlements, putting on a new concrete roof and other minor repairs, had been completed. and the bells were due back from the foundry by December. A collection, taken in aid of the Guild bell restoration fund, raised 12s. 6 d . After a vote of thanks for the use of the bells. Tunstall and Blaxhall were chosen for the next meetıng on September 28th.

\section*{WHY REPORTS ARE CUT}

Certain readers have taken exception to their reports, especially of outings, having been cut and a greater freedom of space allowed to similar activities in recent weeks.

The answer is that from Easter, when the majority of Guild annual meetings are held, to be followed at Whitsun by the Central Council meeting, the pressure on our space is very heavy. In consequence tower activities regarding outings have 10 be curtailed during this period. The situation in August and September is easier.

\section*{Twineham, Sussex, Ringers' Outing}

Accompanied by friends, the ringers of St. Peter's, Twineham, had a very enjoyable outing on June 29th. Some very good ringing took place at Hascombe, a very light 5-bell tower: rounds, to get used to the light bells; Grandsire, Plain Bob and Stedman. At Grayshott (8) there was only time for Grandsire Triples.

At Farnham (8), a rather heavy ring of bells to what we are used to. several Triples methods were rung before departing for St. Mary's. Guildford, a very good ring of six bells. Here Grandsire, Stedman. Kent Treble Bob and Oxford Bob were rung. Thanks are due to incumbents for permission to ring, and local ringers for their welcome. G. W. M

\section*{THE NORWICH ASSOCIATION IN ESSEX}

Almost 12 years ago somebody in the Norwich Association suggested that an annual outing might be arranged open to any member, and it was decided to give the idea a trial. It was feared that, with characteristic East Anglian courage, the round-ringers from the 5 - and 6 bell towers would catch hold in their octaves for demonstrations of Double Norwich and Bristol, and proceed to ban the party from the area for ever, so its members were divided up into groups with the ominous prefix A, B, C \(\mathbf{D}\) and \(\mathbf{E}\) (rounds)! In spite of this regimentation. the outing became a popular one-as many as 15 towers on occasion having been represented.

The 1957 outing of the series, in spite of taking place on what appeared to be the hottest day of the century, was voted as successful as any of them. The coach left Norwich on time and arrived early at the first stop, where David Heighton was already waiting, having left Bristol in the small hours of the morning for the rendezvous at Harlow Common. This delightful ring was soon pleasing the party, after the cricketing enthusiast of the local band had performed the usual ritual. Rounds to Bristol Surprise were enjoyed by all, and this procedure took place at all towers except Waltham Abbey. where the 12 bells were heard only in rounds. We could have rung the top six and the back six to Plain Bob Minor, but this outrage was not contemplated.

Pride in punctuality was severely shaken by the late arrival of the party at Brentwood, an unusual occurrence for us, but a bore for Mr. Frank Gant, who had gallantly offered to meet us and later acted as pilot to Hornchurch, to tea and then to Barking, saving us considerable time en route, so that the schedule became normal again.
The last tower to be visited was Loughton. Here the noise of the bells in the ringing chamber is greater than normal, but the tone is fine and together with the warm welcome of Mr and Mrs. Eric Smith, no persuasion was needed to stay longer than was originally intended. In addition, the members of the Youth Club in the hall opposite kept down the temperature of the ringers by brewing large quantities of tea. Here David and Helen left the party to return to their respective domiciles. The coach reached Norwich at \(12.45 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}\)., and the unofficial taxi, helonging to the well-known Loddon proprietor, helped in dispersing those who had ventured from the more remote parts of the Commonwealth.

Tower captains, steeple-keepers, incumbents and others have been thanked either personally or by letter : but we should like to say once again "Thank you so much for the warmth of your welcome. You gave us a most enjoyable day.'

\section*{WALTON-ON-THAMES, SURREY}

The 'Sussex Fields' was the title of the Walton-on-Thames bellringers' Whit Monday outing. After an early start by coach, we made our way to the first field in Sussex, which was Holy Trinity, Cuckfield, where an hour's ringing was enjoyed, then on to All Saints', Lindfield, for further ringing. and to our last tower before lunch-Holy Cross, Uckfield.
An enjoyable time was spent after lunch at All Saints', Heathfield. St. Dunstan's, Mayfield. was also visited before tea. The last tower of the day was at Rotherfield (8), where a young lady, hearing the bells, came along and joined us for a ring. On the way home we had a short break at Forest Row. arriving back at 10.30 p.m after an enjoyable day.

Many thanks are due to Mr. Peter Alderton for making the arrangements, also to those who met us at the various towers, and to the incumbents.

\section*{OBITUARY}

\section*{MR. JOSEPH E. R. KEEN}

The Durham and Newcastle Diocesan Association has lost an outstanding personality by the death on July 17th of Mr. Joseph E. R. Keen. His funeral service was held, prior to cremation, in Newcastle Cathedral on the Saturday following.

The service was conducted by the Archdeacon of Northumberland (the Ven. I. R. WhiteThomson), and the family mourners were joined by a good company of officers and members of the Durham and Newcastle Diocesan Association, led by Mr. K. Arthur (president) and Mr. D. A. Bayles (secretary).

Joseph Ernest Reid Keen was trained as a ringer at North Shields, and after a sojourn in Pontefract in early manhood, he returned to Newcastle, where he commenced his business as a master plumber. His business he carried on until a few weeks ago, and he had a very high reputation for the quality of his work.

He then joined the St. John's company, that brilliant group which ran such a rivalry with the famous Gofton family. So intense indeed was the fight for the first peal of London in the north, that both bands rang their first peal in the method on the same day.

His skill in ringing, his immaculate handling of a bell, particularly at the heavy end, and his ability as an outstanding conductor, soon stamped him as a man of note in the D. and N Association, and his warm companionship won him a niche in the hearts of all.

He always was willing to forgo conductorship to his old friend, that genius of ringing, the late W. H. Barber, but his competence can be gathered from his performance of Carter's Odd-bob One-part Stedman Triples, and in the next few days, of calling Holt's Original to the first single, when a rope broke.

He took part in the first peals of Little Bob Maximus, Kent Treble Bob Granta Maximus, Spliced Caters (Stedman and Erin), Real Double Superlative Surprise Major, Erin Caters, Erin Triples. and all short-course Stedman Cinques. He had rung over 300 peals.

He became a member of the Durham and Newcastle Association in 1892, and was an original member of the Newcastle Cathedral company, formed in 1912. For many years he was deputy Ringing Master at the Cathedral, and he became Master on the death of C. L. Routledge.

Mr. and Mrs. Keen celebrated their golden wedding in 1950, but Mrs. Keen died some months after that. Joe was never the same after her death. He leaves a son, who though not a ringer, is well known to many ringers as an organist and accompanist at ringing functions.
His favourite method, Stedman, was rung for the service, and as the cortege left the church for the last time, through the great west door. the ringers bade him a farewell on the handbells, while the 'Major' tolled its mournful strokes. It is hard to realise that no more will he be seen placing his bell with calm and masterly accuracy, nor no more hear his stern injunction, 'Listen to them.

To those who knew him he gave a happy friendship: a great ringer, a great conductor. and a man we all loved well.
A peal of Stedman Caters was rung to his memory on the bells of Newcastle Cathedral on the Saturday following the funcral.

ALLESLEY. COVENTRY.-On July 28th. 1,260 Plain Bob Minor: R. Harris (first quarter) 1, J. W. T. Taylor 2. D. A. Carpenter (cond.) 3. G. Gardner 4. P. Stone 5, J. L. GarnerHayward 6. For Evensong.

MR. FRED HAYES
The Oxford Guild has lost one of its stalwarts in the death on July 24th of Mr. Fred Hayes, of High Wycombe. Mr. Hayes was not only a specialist on the conducting of Stedman, but had various compositions, mainly Stedman and Grandsire, to his credit.
The day following his funeral ten members of the East Berks and South Bucks Branch, representing a number of towers, rang at Slough a beautifully-struck quarter peal of Stedman Caters, arranged by Mr. Hayes from his peal of 5,019 . It was conducted by the Guild's general treasurer (Mr. A. D. Barker), and in the band were Mr. W. F. Butler (Branch secretary) and Mr. J. C. Birt (Branch Ringing Master). Details appear in our quarter peal columns.

\section*{MR. WILFRED OVERTON}

The death occurred on July 23rd of Mr. Witfred Overton, of Bridgnorth, after a brief illness. Aged 76, he had been a ringer at St . Leonard's for 60 years, and for the past 18 years he followed in his late father's footsteps as foreman of the tower.

Well known as a conductor (especially of Stedman Triples), he conducted his first peal of Stedman at the age of 18 . This was also the first peal of Stedman by the whole band. Always an enthusiast for good striking, ringing by his Sunday service band was always a pleasure to listen to.

For a number of years he was Ringing Master of the Bridgnorth District of the Hereford Diocesan Guild, and was made a Freeman of the Guild on last Whit Monday. A very keen church worker, he raised a considerable sum of money for the restoration of St. Leonard's tower by conducting visitors to the town to the top of the tower to see the view.

He was laid to rest on July 25th, and in the evening a quarter peal of Grandsire Triples was rung with the bells half-muffled by the following band: T. Broome 1. B. H. Head 2, A. Jones 3, J. Newsome 4, W. D. Fowkes 5, W. G. Head 6. H. G. Thomas (cond.) 7, R. Winwood 8

\section*{St. Mary's, Portsea, Ringers' Outing}

On July 13th, the ringers of St. Mary's, Portsea, with friends from Portsmouth Cathedral, Chichester. Shedfield and Wickham, left headquarters at 7 a.m. A pleasant run through the Meon Valley and Ascot brought us to Windsor where, after difficulty in parking the coach reasonably near the church, the bells of St John-the-Baptist were going well for rounds, Grandsire. Stedman. Yorkshire and Cambridge.
From Windsor on to Luton, where we had an exceilent lunch. after which we proceeded to Totternhoe. This light ring of eight proved difficult for some, but some good rounds, Bob Major, London, Grandsire and Stedman were rung.

Now misfortune befell us. We lost our way between here and Marlow, where we were due at 4.30 for ringing at All Saints' before tea. However, due to the kindness of the local ringer who met us, we were able to ring after tea instead. We would like to place on record our sincere thanks for this act of kinđness. Methods rung here were Stedman, Grandsire, Superlative and some rounds. Naturally our arrival at St. Mary's. Reading. was also delayed: but the bells were soon raised. ringing for rounds, Bristol, Double Norwich, Grandsire and Stedman. Here we were met by Mrs. Discrens, owing to the incapacity of Mr. Diserens. After a stop for refreshment, we arrived home later than anticipated, but having had an enjoyable day.
Our sincere thanks go out to all incumbents for allowing us the use of their bells, and the ringers who met us.

\section*{PRIVILEGE}

TTHAT accomplished musician, the late Dr. Richard Wassell, was fond of reminding his choristers of one unique privilege they each severally enjoyed. He would frequently remark that every singer in a choir should constantly reflect what a wonderful thing it was that twenty, or thirty, or more fellow men were willing to come and sing with him, and that such reflection could hardly fail to awake in the individual a strong sense of his own duty in the communal effort. Moreover, this appreciation of his good fortune should lead him both to the presentation of his very best in his work and to an understanding and humble enjoyment of the many pleasures and experiences incidental to his service.

What is true of singers is true, in the main, of ringers. Both enjoy the privilege of joining in communal effort, where team work is of the greatest importance, and where the skill or lack of skill, the care or absence of care, of any one participant, may make or mar the performance. In work of this kind there can be no room for highmindedness; the call is rather for modesty, toleration, and an earnest seeking after that perfect co-operation that arises from thought for others and a desire to subordinate one's own wishes to the common aim and the common good. Both the choir and the belfry offer unrivalled opportunities for this kind of self-training; and here a thought or two come to mind of the opportunities and experiences presented to ringers perhaps even more than to choristers.

We ringers go about a great deal, visit many towers, and in those towers we indulge in divers diversions; and it is probably true to say that rarely do we pause and give ourselves time to reflect with gratefulness upon the high privilege that has been ours in being permitted to ascend that tower, to ring on those famous bells, to join with notable ringers in touch or peal; to go, in many cases, where the general public can have no right of admission, and to be present at ceremonies where an intimate view is reserved for very few spectators. To ascend to the bell room of St. Paul's; to join in sounding forth the twelve at the noble cathedral of Southwark; to gaze from the platform of Liverpool's mighty tower, high above the Mersey; to stand on Worcester's pile, swaying to the swinging of the great twelve, and watch the line of the Malvern Hills, rising from Ledbury in graceful undulations, like the surges of Elgar's strings, to the climax of the Worcester Beacon: these are experiences that stir the pulse, thrill the heart, and entirely refute the common belief that the world is growing grey and old.

And not only in these vast and lofty realms lie pleasures that are real and experiences that touch hidden chords. In the village belfry of the West, where the rounds are so perfect as to make us ring with trepidation, where through the little square window there appears a shin-headland above blue sea and a white sail; in the lonely Warwickshire church, where a circle of country lads and men around the font swing up their six bells with a perfection unknown in the cities, while the Sunday School children near the altar forget their mentor and gaze slily over their shoulders to watch the flying ropes; far away, in the mountains of Wales, where the humble Grandsire Doubles stream out from the tall tower, drifting in fitful waves of sound up through the narrowing pass to Moel Hebog and Snowdon, and all the mighty bulwark of peaks seems to stand silent to listen to that tiny voice; in these things are emotions too subtle for words to be expressed perhaps only in the music of Mozart, with accompanying thoughts that lie (as Wordsworth knew and well said) too deep for tears.

The privileges are truly ours, but, as Dr. Wassell reminded us, at a price and with responsibilities. We must ring our Stedman Cinques at Southwark in accordance with the standard required at that place; in the village church we must move circumspectly and with humbleness lest our ringing up in peal be not a credit to our vaunted experience. For from us, to whom much is given, much is required.
E. C. S.

\section*{OUTINGS}

LYME REGIS
Lyme Regis ringers and some friends toured into North Somerset on July 27th. After a a short break at Wells, the first ringing of the day was enjoyed on the lovely eight at Chewton Mendip. A pleasant run along the Chew valley, skirting the lake reservoir, brought the party to Chew Magna, where the heavy eight handled on the whole quite respectably.
Herbert Knight joined up here for the rest of the afternoon, and his piloting over the crosscountry route was most helpful.
Time was allowed there for a pienic lunch; then, moving on to the pieturesque church of Wraxall. some good ringing resulted on its splendid eight. A brief visit to Clevedon followed but, as St. Andrew's bells were not available, a little shopping was sought, involving a battle against the stiff, invigorating sea breczes. Yatton came next, where the local ringers have every reason to be proud of their rehung bells, and these were well struck in a variety of touches.

Before ringing at Wrington, a welcome tea was taken at a cafe in Burrington Combe, fortifying all for tackling the weighty ten which, however, seemed to offer no real difficulty. Here some ringers from Birkenhead on their way to Kingsbridge joined in a touch of Caters. From Wrington the homeward route was not a little fascinating over the Mendips through Burrington Combe, passing the rock under which \(A\). Toplady in the 18 th century wrote the hymn 'Rock of Ages' while sheltering from a storm; then down the Cheddar Gorge to Wells again and Glastonbury, reaching Lyme Regis at length via Yeovil and Beaminster.
It was a big but very satisfying day in showery weather and all who took part are grateful to the organisers; also for the permission to ring, and not least to Mr. H. Knight for the kindly anrangements his local knowledge enabled him to make. It was nice, too, to be met at Chewton Mendip, Wraxall and Yatton by their respective incumbents. Methods rung during the day were Grandsire and Stedman Triples and Caters, Cambridge, Superlative, Yorkshire, LonCaters, Cambrige, Superiative, Yorkshajo, and don and Bristol Major, Plain Bob Major and Royal.

\section*{SEND, SURREY}

The Send ringers, accompanied by representatives from surrounding towers and non-ringing friends, held their annual outing on July 20 th, when the programme listed two 8 -bell towers before tea and two 6 -bell towers in the evening. Chiddingfold was reached in rainy weather and the ringing was much enjoyed. At Grayshott (Hants), where full use was made of the light octave, the ringing ranged from rounds to Triples and Major. A meat tea proved a very popular feature to all and full justice was done to the good fare provided. At 6 p.m. the party proceeded to Frensham, and the ron-ringers were able to watch their ringing friends perform on the ground floor. Proceeding through. Farnham and along the Hog's Back, the village of Seale was reached, where the last spell of ringing took place. Prior to leaving Seale, a combined vote of thanks was expressed to all who helped towards the success of the outing, which included the clergy, the local ringers, and Messrs. S. Strudwick and W. A. Goldstone, who made the arrangements.

GRANTHAM, LINCS.-On July 26th, 1,260 Plain Bob Minor: J. M. Simpson 1-2, D. A. Frith (cond.) 3-4, w. R. Read 5-6. First quarter on handbells by all.

\section*{BATH ABBEY BELLS RESTORED}

Bath Abbey, one of the finest churches in England, is now in process of restoration, and work is proceeding apace. An appeal in 1949 on a national scale for \(£ 80,000\) has resulted in \(£ 83,000\) being subscribed, but rising costs and the discovery of further ravages have made it necessary to increase the amount appealed for by another \(£ 20,000\). The decayed stonework is being replaced, and the Abbey is gradually recovering its former glory. The great east window has been restored and the Abbey shows everywhere the signs of loving care and devotion by the Friends of Bath Abbey.

The bells have for nearly half a century been very difficult to ring, and sadly needed attention. It is gratifying that the present Archdeacon (Ven. Edwin Cook) saw the necessity of including the bells in the general restoration scheme, and thanks to his hard work and interest, the bells have been taken down, cleaned and retuned, and rehung in the old frame with completely new headstocks and fittings. The cannons on the back eight have been removed, and Bath Abbey now possesses once again a ring of ten which goes perfectly.

On August 3rd the Friends of Bath Abbey, the Mayor, Abbey ringers and a few friends, met in the ringing chamber, and the tower Master (Mr. W. J. Prescott) handing the tenor rope to the Archdeacon, requested him to rededicate the bells. Prayers were said by the Archdeacon for a blessing on the bells, those who ring them and those who hear them.

Mr. Prescott then asked the Archdeacon to accept on behalf of the ringers the gift of a set of handbells, eight of which had been presented by Mr. A. Reed and five by Mr. Paul Taylor.
The bells were then rung to a course of Grandsire Caters by the Abbey ringers, to the great delight of the assembled company. Afterwards many visitors took part in ringing in various methods from rounds to Cambridge Royal.
The work of restoration has been carried out by Messrs. John Taylor and Co., of Loughborough, in their usual efficient manner, and Bath now has a serviceable and ringable ring of ten which will, no doubt, considerably stimulate progress in ringing in Somerset.

JAYFUS.

\section*{VISITORS TO MIRFIELD}

Mirfield Parish Church, Yorks, which has not been visited by touring parties for several years. has had the pleasure of welcoming visitors this year.

On July 29th, the Society of Rambling Ringers, touring Yorkshire and Lancashire, rang here from 1.30 to \(2.30 \mathrm{p} . \mathrm{m}\).
The Universities Association, whose headquarters for their 1957 tour are Bingley College, near Bradford, rang from 8.30 to \(9.30 \mathrm{p} . \mathrm{m}\). on July 31st
The Archdeaconry of Halifax Guild have arranged to hold their September meeting at this tower.
Miss M. Sheard, 84, Wellhouse Lane, Mirfield. secretary of Mirfield Parish Church Bellringers, will be very pleased to hear from other ringers who wish to visit the tower.

\section*{ROCHDALE YOUNG RINGERS}

On July 20th a half-day ringing tour was held as a farewell gesture to Mr. Geoffrey Cheetham on his call-up into H.M. Forces, and a very pleasant time was had by one and all. We started ringing at Gisburn, the rendezvous, on the rather heavy-going six, but without much success from the point of view of striking. The next tower was Downham (5), where we enjoyed the view as much as the ringing. What a lovely village this is, with bells to match. Then on to Mitton, where permission to ring had to be sought as we had not received a reply by letter. This forthcoming, we proceeded to ring two courses of Bob Minor to accommodate all the party on this lovely-toned but rough-going six with the home-made ropes.
Tea was eaten en route to Hoghton, the first eight of the day, where our capabilities to ring Triples and Major were explored. Hoddlesdon was the next stopping point where, after a rapid touch of Kent T.B., we found the ropes still in the habit of leaving the wheels at the most inopportune times. The last tower proved to be the best of the day, both for bells and ringing. This was Adlington, where we had Mr. Blackburn to help us out with T.B. Major.
We would like to thank Miss Mildred Jones for the lovely supper provided, and Mr. Peter Scholfield for all the other arrangements, and, of course, the various incumbents for the use of their bells.
Methods rung.-Doubles: Grandsire, Stedman and St. Simon's; Minor: Plain Bob, Kent T.B. and Little Bob; Triples: Grandsire and Stedman; Major: Plain Bob, Kent T.B. and Oxford T.B.

Mr. Horace M. Day, the well-known Market Deeping ringer, claims to be the oldest conductor to call a peal of Spliced Surprise in as many as 16 methods. This peal he called at Rippingale on August 3rd in very fine style. Although he will not be 76 until September 4th. the peal was intended as a birthday compliment as some of the band will be busy with the harvest at the time of his birthday.

Heard during a touch of Stedman in an East Anglian belfry: 'You're not dodging with me, Tom; I'm dodging with you!'.
The peal of Belgrave Surprise Major rung at Manchester on July 22nd (see page 509) was the first time this peal was rung 'in hand,' according to the records of the Central Council.

Mr. James H. Musson sends a congratulatory note regarding Edgar A. Cole who rang his bell faultlessly to his first peal, at Silk Willoughby on August 3rd.
The peal at Drighlington on July 31st is believed to be the first peal for the Universities' Association with eight different universities represented.

Mr. C. Kenneth Lewis informs us that in accordance with the Council's decision at Chelmsford, the handbell peal at Surbiton (page 492) should read: 'Double Plain Bob Minor.'

During the Universities' Association tour of Yorkshire a peal of Pudsey was scored at Drighlington, but peals were lost at Pontefract through a broken rope and at Sowerby through a shift course.
In the quarter peal of Oxford Bob Triples rung at Crawley, Sussex, on June 30th, the ringer of the fifth was Robin Elliott and not S. Arnold as stated. Apologies to both, writes Mr. A. Miles.

Bells will be heard prior to the broadcast of R.C. Vespers from Prinknash Abbey, near GOSSIP Gloucester, on Wednesday, August 21st, at 4 p.m. in the Home Service. The service will be introduced by the Prior, Dom Dyfrig Rushton. O.S.B.

John and Susan Chaddock, of Rotherham, have rung their first peal of Surprise.
Mr. Alfred Parr rang his second peal after a gap of nearly 30 years at Killamarsh, Derbyshire, to mark the 80th birthday of his father, Mr. Fred Parr.

Because of being on special duty, Mr. Alan Jacques was unable to accompany Leicester Guild ringers to ring a peal of Yorkshire Surprise Maximus in the bell tower at Evesham in honour of the birth of his daughter.
The Durham and Newcastle Diocesan Association recently revived an old custom of a cricket match between Tanfield and Newcastle ringers. The last recorded match between these two teams was in 1896. For full story see next week's 'R.W.'
Mr. David Hoare is anxious that no offence is created by crediting the peal at Knighton, Radnorshire, to the Swansea and Brecon Diocesan Guild. The church is in the diocese of Swansea and Brecon, and upon the representation of the Guild secretary he decided to take the action he did.
Bellringing fathers with eligible daughters should cut out the toast of 'The bride and bridegroom,' a composition of Mr. Edward C. Crewe, Ringing Master at Hoole, Chester, found elsewhere in this issue. It is given to the Exercise in the hope that it will provide an inspiration on a difficult but important occasion. We hope that none of our readers will claim it as a " variation.

\section*{WEST COUNTRYMEN'S RINGING TOUR \\ IN HEREFORDSHIRE AND WALES}

IN four cars, the main party left Radstock promptly at 9.30 a.m. on Saturday, July 27th, with the City Arms Hotel, Heteford, as the ultimate destination. It was regretted that Mr. J. T. Dyke could not join us, through illness, and the best wishes of the tourists were conveyed to him for a speedy recovery. An apology was received, second-hand, from Les Weller, who could not come because of other 'engagements,' not least his duty to the R.A.F.

A stop was made at Painswick and the bells raised in peal, followed by a course of Stedman Cinques. At Ledbury in the afternoon a peal of Yorkshire was scored. A shortage of ringers prevented an attempt for Cambridge at Lugwardine, but some useful practice was put in.

\section*{REMOVED STAY TO RING}

Sunday morning found us ringing at All Saints'. Hereford, for High Mass. In the afternoon great excrtion was called for at Holme Lacey, where the bells proved manageable only after the removal of the stay and slider of the fifth! For Evensong we rang at the Cathedral, by the kind invitation of Mr. A. Davis.
A good beginning was made on Monday when the party invaded Radnorshire. At Presteigne a well-struck peal of Cambridge was accomplished, and at Knighton, Plain Bob Major. At the former tower the Rev. E. G. Benson made us most welcome, and we were glad to have him take part. A word of thanks is due also to Miss Jean Hutton, who stood in at the eleventh hour to ring the treble at Knighton. Two towers in Shropshire were scheduled 'for the afternoon-Clun and Ludlow. Ringing here was much enjoyed. One member commenting on the bells at Ludlow was heard to say: 'They ud fit purty well down in Zummerzet'a very high compliment indeed. After muchneeded refreshment, the return journey to Hereford was begun, despite the reluctance of one person who had found local beauty spots more than attractive.
Wye Surprise at Clifford on Tuesday was the fourth success of the tour and another morning peal. Meanwhile, the non-starters set off on a 6-bell grab to Bredwardine and Eardisley. Forces united in the afternoon for ringing at three more 6 -bell towers; Peterchurch and Clodock were only found after a careful search. and lastly Grosmont (Mon), where we were told the bells were only rung on rare occasions -and small wonder! Their 'go' is not easy, and with the treble rope falling between the fifth and sixth, confusion is great. The bells, however, are very musical, and a course of London on them was no mean achievement.

\section*{SMART ORGANISATION}

Wednesday gave much scope for our organiser's ability if nothing else. Arriving at Leominster at \(9.30 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}\)., we found the bells were not available until the afternoon. Yet within 15 minutes of leaving a peal of Rutland was in progress at Eardisland. Thanks for this are due chiefly to Leslie Evans, who with Austin Wingate assisted so much in arranging the first half of the tour. Kimbolton and Kingsland were visited by the afternoon peal band. Unfortunately an attempt for Grandsire Caters only lasted an hour at Leominster, so both bands joined to ring on the noisy five at Pembridge. where we met our friends Mr. and Mrs. J. Thomas, and the six at Staunton-on-Arrow. Our stay in Hereford ended happily with an hour's ringing at the Cathedral, followed by a social evening. The most remarkable feature of this was that Ron managed, this year, not to break a glass.

A peal attempt at Ross necessitated an early departure from Hereford on Thursday morning. A bid for Cambridge, alas, broke down after two hours' good ringing, though we wish to thank Mr. J. J. Webb for his arrangements. Ruardean was available for the non-pealers. Here the village folk some 20 years ago used to rise earty on Easter Sunday to climb their church tower and sing festival hymns at 6 a.m. ; something which the present Vicar intends to revive, we hear! The grand ring of ten at Abergavenny awaited us in the afternoon and a good peal of Cambridge Royal was successfully brought round. Both Ralph Edwards and Frank Harris joined us here for the second half of the tour.

\section*{BRECON CHEERED}

Good peals of Stedman and Cambridge were rung on Friday morning at Llanfeigan and Brecon. The former peal enabled L. E. H. to achieve his annual ambition of ringing the tenor to a peal. One member became so enamoured with these bells that a notion formed in his mind of going there for Double Norwich at 6 a.m. on Sunday. Fortunately it remained only a notion. The peal at Brecon was not without incident. As the bells stood a cheer arose from the street, quite audible in the belfry. We record our thanks to Arthur Hoare and the Dean of Brecon for their assistance, and to the G.P.O. for their tolerance.
The hospitality of the Welsh was even more evident later. At Llanfaes the Rev. D. Wilkinson entertained us to a delicious tea. After stopping at Bronllys for a ring, we made for Talgarth and were met by Mr. D. H. Bennett, who had kindly arranged most of Friday's ringing. Supper was provided by the local ringers, and the evening closed with some touches and tunes on the handbells.

Misfortune attended both of the peal attempts on Saturday. New Cambridge in the morning at Blaenavon was lost when only three courses from home. At Ebbw Vale, Mr. Alsopp and Miss Evans had kindly made everything ready. but a broken rope ended an attempt for Double Norwich rather abruptly after two hours' firstclass ringing. During this. Mr. Alsopp took the rest of the party on a tour of the steelworks.

\section*{PRESENTATIONS}

In the evening Mr. H. J. Sanger presented David Hoare with a trio of presents, subscribed to by the band, for his efforts in arranging the tour. The first was a leather writing case with which to make later arrangements; then a tape to record the next tour's ringing, and finally a ' flannel bound with blue ribbon,' whose significance will only be known to his close circle of friends.

On Sunday morning ringing took place at Abergavenny before goodbye was said to our friends there. Later we were granted the privilege of ringing on the restored ten at Bath Abbey before the final dispersal.
So ended a most enjoyable tour. Thanks are extended to the various incumbents for the generous use of their bells, and to the local ringers at the towers visited for making us feel so welcome.

\section*{THE DORSET TRAGEDY}

INSTRUCT ALL CLERGY
Dear Sir,-Ringers will deplore the recent tragedy in Dorset. Many clergy seem woefully ignorant about all matters pertaining to ringing. and I think the Central Council might use its influence to do something about this by advocating a course of instruction during their training period. I do not suggest that all ordinands should be taught to ring, but only that a few short talks by competent people should be included in their course of training. Quite apart from considerations of safety, very great good might result.-Yours, etc.
C. W. WOOLLEY.

Bushey Heath, Herts.

\section*{RINGERS NOT TO BLAME}

Dear Sir ,-It is to be hoped that no one will try to hold the ringers of Okeford Fitzpaine in any way responsible for their rector's death. The plain and simple fact is that the rector should have known better than to go crawling amongst the bells when they were up, especially when it meant exposing children to the dangers involved. A clergyman who does not know better can have little interest in his bells and ringers.
Why did not Ronald K. Russ write before to point out the dangers of leaving bells up between services on Sunday? The practice has been almost universal for many years. He is the sort of person that should be attached to some 12 -bell tower where he could raise a 40 cwt. tenor twice every Sunday.-Yours faithfully,
C. A. BARRON.

King's Heath, Birmingham.

\section*{LEAVE THE BELLS DOWN}

Dear Sir,-To describe the practice of leaving the bells up as slovenly and lazy, as stated by Mr. Russ, is surely very inaccurate and casts a reflection upon ringers generally. In most cases, I believe, the bells which are raised for the first service are then left up so that ringing can start right into rounds for the next service. For special occasions it is very often the practice to raise the bells some time before the actual time for ringing for the same reason.
That the situation is dangerous is recognised by the warning notices that are displayed, but to describe the same as due to the laziness of ringers is. I venture to say, very wrong indeed. and should be corrected in all directions that may be under such an impression.- Yours truly,

FRANK HUCKLE.

\section*{Barham, Kent.}

\section*{HEAVY BELLS}

Dear Sir,-Since the unfortunate occurrence at Okeford Fitzpaine there have been quite a few letters published in 'The Ringing World declaring that in no case should church bells be left up between services, and those who indulge in such a practice are guilty of laziness.

Have these correspondents ever tried to raise very heavy bells, ring a touch of a decent length and drop them in half an hour? Heavy bells cannot be raised in peal, and it is very hard and sometimes impossible to raise a large bell so that it goes up 'right,' and time has to be spent in turning them.

I know that Okeford's are not heavy and that they need not be left up: I am not concerned with that, but am writing in defence of the ringers who leave bells up because it would take \(t\)-hour to raise them and \(f\)-hour to lower them. I would. however, like to say that in such a tower every precaution should be taken to stop accidents like that to Mr. Mortimer.-Yours sincerely.

Egbert entered the church. There were several people inside but he did not appear to notice them, making his way over to the tower door and up into the belfry, where he found another two-dozen or more, from among whom the gentleman in charge of the proceedings (for convenience let us refer to him as the R.M., for after all, someone has to be in charge) was endeavouring to coax a band for Spliced Doubles. He glanced at Egbert and nodded pleasantiy, inviting him to take a rope, which Egbert proceeded to do, during which time two or three others had been persuaded to get up and take ropes also. The band being made up, they started off. Egbert had not had much experience of this sort of thing, but he went along well enough, his belfrymanship standing him in very good stead, when he 'fluffed his start upon St. Simon's being called. He was a fifth's place bell, yet for some unknown reason attempted to go down but, in the resulting mix-up, was very adroitly able to switch the responsibility to his neighbour, his confident assurance carrying the day for him against the other man's slight uncertainty.
The R.M. gave Egbert a keen glance, but at that moment the door opened and the Vicar came smiling into the belfry, which put the finishing touch to the spliced attempt. He expressed his pleasure at having the ringers at Little Taterfield, it being the first time he had ever had an Association meeting at his church. By this time the service was due to start and when all were assembled at the rear of the church the Vicar gave them a few words of welcome, after which the service began. In his address the Vicar told the gathering all about bells, after which he went on to talk about ringers in general, and those in particular who, having rung for service did not stay to church. He was sure that did not apply to the Association members gathered there that day.

The service at last being over, the ringers slowly filed out of the church and made a move down the lane in the wake of an elderly man who, Egbert later found, was the tower-keeper. The progress of the party was very slow and Egbert wondered why it was that ringers always dawdled so on the way to tea. He observed how the line straggled away down the lane and the thought then came to him that it was quite a good muster and that as he had not advised the secretary of his intention to be present it might be as well if he got up near the front, which he gently proceeded to do.
The tea was in the school hall, some little distance from the church, and upon arrival there Egbert found that they were at the beginning of the village proper, it being hidden from the church by reason of the fact that it lay in a slight hollow. The school hall was at the beginning of the village street, after which came a row of cottages, a hostelry known as the 'Ring of Beef,' with more cottages beyond. and a post office and general store opposite. These, with some more cottages and a chapel appeared to be all there was. but Egbert paid little attention to the layout of the place, being more concerned in making sure of his tea.

As the party filed into the hall it became obvious that more had turned up than the secretary had expected, despite the fact, as Egbert later discovered, that he had allowed for about 20 per cent. in excess of his notifications: but it was a reasonably fine day. Had it been wet he would probably have been regretting his optimism by now. None of this, however, concerned Egbert, who was congratulating himself upon his foresight in arriving at the hall with the vanguard. Meanwhile, the secretary was having an anxious discussion of ways and means with the local tower-keeper and one of the ladies, who appeared to be in charge of the catering arrangements. It was decided that the food a vailable could be made to go round (there was no chance of obtaining any more) but that those who could not get in would have to wait for a second sitting.
(To be continucd)

\section*{HYTHE RINGER'S 90th BIRTHDAY}

On Tuesday, July 30th, at St. Leonard's Church. Hythe, Kent, a party of ringers met to do honour to an old member of the local band, Mr. W. J. Prebble, who had reached the ripe old age of 90 years.
Learning to ring at the age of 14 . Mr. Prebble has been a ringer ever since, and has set an example to younger ringers for regularity.
A representative band were invited to attend and ring a quarter peal. This was rung in very good style, the striking was good, and the time 48 minutes.
Miss Vantom, from Lydd, conducted, the other ringers coming from Burmarsh, Folkestone, Newington, Chalfont St. Giles (Bucks) and the local band. After the quarter peal several touches were rung, the venerable gentleman himself standing in for 168 of Grandsire Triples.

After the ringing, all the ringers, with wives and friends, numbering around 30 , adjourned to the Vicarage. Here, with the co-operation of the Vicar and his family, and other willing helpers, light refreshments were laid on in the way of birthday celebrations. A few touches on handbells were rung during the proceedings. and Mr. Prebble had a really happy birthday.

\section*{ROTHERHAM GIRLS RING FOR ANNUAL SERVICE}

On July 23rd girls from Rotherham High School, for the third successive year, rang for their annual service. Altogether. cight girls took part in the ringing on the front six at Rotherham Parish Church.

Although this year it was not possible to do any method ringing, some good rounds and call-changes were rung, and several compliments were received from listeners.
All the girls except one (Betty Marchant, of Thrybergh) have been trained to ring at Rotherham Parish Church by Mr. N. Chaddock. Those taking part were: Elizabeth A. Wandill. Susan Chaddock, Christine Rodgers, Mary Atkinson, Dianne Saul, Patricia Walker, Jenny Squires and Betty Marchant.

\section*{KENT COUNTY ASSOCIATION}

\section*{Lewisham District}

Despite the very unkind weather, the 35 members who attended the quarterly meeting at Shoreham on July 27th found themselves richly rewarded.
Ringing preceded the service, which was taken by the Vicar (Rev. V. S. Edwards). The old, familiar lesson, taken from Romans xii., gained new significance, finely read as it was by the Vicar from a modern translation. His address, a really absorbing account of the raison d'êre of some of the outstanding features of the fine old church, and of the ancient village it adorns, earned the rapt attention of his audience. Altogether a service of simple sincerity which will be long remembered by its privileged participants
After tea, the business meeting was held in the church, Mr. E. A. Barnett (vice-president of the Association) presiding. Three ringers of St. Mary's, Woolwich. were elected members of the Association. The elections of three nonresident life members were ratified.
Apologies were expressed to members (including any who read this who were prevented from attending by its occurrence) for the change of both date and meeting place, by the District secretary, who also explained why the changes were unavoidable.
Dartford was chosen as the place of the annual District meeting, to be held on October 26th. Members were reminded of the forthcoming meeting with the Surrey Association (Northern District) at Banstead on October 12 th , and urged to do everything they could to ensure a successful gathering.
Mr. E. Barnett referred to the passing of the late Mr. G. Large, remembering the good service he had rendered to the District whilst he was resident here for a few years. Tribute to Mr. Large was paid in the traditional manner.
Votes of thanks to the Vicar and the local ringers brought the closure of the business meeting
Further ringing followed, directed by Miss M. R. Andrews, Ringing Master.

\section*{OXFORD DIOCESAN GUILD}

\section*{South Oxon Branch}

A meeting of the South Oxon Branch was held at Litule Milton, near Oxford, on July 27 th . Owing to the prevailing 'bus strike, holidays, and showery weather, attendance was below the average, but eight towers of the Branch were represented.
The Vicar of Little Milton conducted the service and also gave an interesting address; the Vicar of Warborough, chairman of the Branch. read the lesson.
Four new members were elected at the meeting, which was presided over by the chairman, supported by the secretary (Mr. H. Badger) and the Ringing Master (Mr. F. Absalom). Altogether 22 new members have been elected this year.
During the evening ringing took place at the towers of Little Milton and Great Milton, and the numbers were increased by visitors from places as far apart as Croydon, Hitchin, Luton. St. Albans, Shiplake, Swindon and Wimbledon.

CENTRAL COUNCIL MOTIONS
Dear Sir,-In the comments reported by E. H. E. on the Central Council meeting, under the heading 'North Staffordshire Association' in your issue of August 2nd, appears the following statement :-
- It was considered a sad reflection on the executives of the Council that such a motion should have been permitted to appear on the agenda.
The initials E. H. E. are, I presume, those of the secretary of the Association. If so. since the matter is my responsibility, I should be grateful if he would refer to the copy of the Council's Handbook sent to him earlier this year, and inform me under what rule of the Council a motion, properly submitted in accordance with Rule 13, can be excluded from the agenda.
If the executive committee of the North Staffordshire Association wished to criticise the motion in question, may I suggest that they would have been more fruitfully occupied firstly in addressing their, remarks to the Society on whose behalf it was submitted, and secondly, in doing so before, rather than after, the meeting at which it was discussed. They had ample time to do both of these, since the terms of the motion were reported in the account of the annual meeting of that Society which was published in 'The Ringing World' of February 8th.-Yours faithfully,
E. A. BARNETT, Hon. Secretary,

Central Council of Church Bell Ringers.

\section*{ELECTED REPRESENTATIVES' RESPONSIBILITIES}

Dear Sir,-Your correspondent, Ernest L. Humphriss, on p. 499 of 'The Ringing World; states that the treatment of the Central Council by the College of Campanology was referred to as 'contumacy' by one speaker.

I was the speaker concerned, but the word I used was 'contumely,' which is something quite different.

For your correspondent's information, the people I represented had, at their own meetings. debated the question of the College, and the consensus of opinion was in no way condemnatory. What came in for criticism was the method they adopted in putting it across and getting valuable space in :The Ringing World ' free of charge. It was pointed out that the finances of the paper, according to the information available, were still a cause of some concern, and further. that others who felt they had something of value to introduce to the Exercise had done so at their own expense.
I was questioned as to whether the matter had beea brought up at Leicester last year, and naturally had to inform my questioners that it had not. I was then asked how it got into 'The Ringing World ' without the authority of the Council, a question I was unable to answer at that time, and what I said at Chelmsford was the direct outcome of this discussion.

I hope this will clear your correspondent's mind of any wrong ideas and I would further add (although some may think I am incorrect) that in my opinion an elected representative goes to a Central Council meeting to represent the people who send him there, and to speak for them when occasion arises.

The remaining column-and-a-quarter of your correspondent's effort does not concern me. He is entitled to his opinions and it is up to any persons who feel they are involved to reply to him on their own account.-Yours faithfully. BERNARD C. ASHFORD.
Stourbridge, Worcs.

THE CENTRAL COUNCIL AND IRELAND
Dear Sir,-The letter from Mr. Smallwood was quite unexpected.
Two invitations were before the Council at Chelmsford, and in consequence it would have been surprising if the voting had not been keen. That more voted for Dublin than Oxford I regard as good support. True, some members of the Council (including myself) did not vote, not, however, because they lacked sympathy (for they could have simply voted for Oxford) but because they felt that they would be unable to make the journey themselves.
No, the Council decided, by a majority vote, that it will meet next year in Ireland, and it would be discourteous to say the least were an attempt now made to revoke that decision.

Certainly the 1958 Dublin meeting is likely to be smaller than in recent years, but that is no reason why its deliberations should lack either quality or authority. It would be wise, though, if each affiliated association or guild gave special consideration to how best to help its representatives attend, and also if special motions, where possible, be withheld until 1959. As fors the 'bread and butter' work of the Council, by its various committees, this can go forward in the ordinary manner.
With great regularity, even under difficulty during a recent railway strike, the Irish representatives have come to England to take active part in the deliberations of the Council. By such loyalty to the Council, and especially by its great efforts for ringing, the Irish Association merits the privilege of entertaining the Council 'at home.' To exercise such privilege is regarded as a great honour by every affiliated guild, and it is one of the joys of Council membership to feel the warmth of welcome wherever the Council goes.

In Dublin it will be a grand welcome, and the whole Exercise will most certainly benefit. -Yours sincerely,

\section*{THE GREAT BELL AT MOSCOW}

Dear Sir,-Apropos the Belfry Gossip note re the King of Bells, Tsar Kolokol, weighing 197 tons. there is an account of the disaster which befell this bell given in a Russian guide book to Moscow published in 1955.

It states that "This bell had a "father " and a "grandfather," both of which were destroyed during fires. The new bell weighed 197 tons: its walls were two feet thick and it was 19 feet high.

It was placed on wooden scaffolding in a large construction pit in the ground. There was a great fire in Moscow in 1737 and the scaffolding surrounding the bell caught fire.

When it burned through the bell fell into the pit which by then was full of water. poured into it by the people of Moscow in their attempts to save the bell. It couldn't withstand the sharp change in temperature and one of its sides cracked and broke off. The bell lay in the hole until 1836 when it was finally raised and put on a stone pedestal.

This was not the only bell I saw-there are a considerable number, large and small, to be seen in the nearby bell tower. The guide book says there are 22 large bells and over 30 small ones in this tower.
Well. I could write reams about my visit-it was most interesting from start to finish. and the fortnight went like lightning.

I think we were all tremendously impressed by what we saw. both in Moscow and Leningrad, and the hospitality of our Russian hosts was something to marvel at.-Yours sincerely,
P. W. CAVE.

\section*{AN 80th BIRTHDAY}

Dear Sir,-Ringers in the dioceses of Durham and Newcastle have derived much pleasure from the visits that have been made to our area with the Central Council meeting in 1954 and the Ladies' Guild annual meeting this year, both in Newcastle. On August 31st we shall be holding a celebration of our own in our other cathedral city, viz., Durham. We extend a hearty invitation to ringers outside our area to visit us on the occasion of our ' 80 th birthday,' as advertised.
This occasion will provide one of the few opportunities of ringing at Durham Cathedral that are likely to occur under the limitations imposed by the architects. In addition to that ringing. I shall be happy to arrange for ringing in the morning at towers which were not visited by the Central Council (probably in Sunderland and district), or for peal attempts, if anyone so desires and lets me know.
I may point out that Durham is a suitable point at which to break a journey to or from Scotland for anyone living in the south of England, and I can assure any visitors of a very warm welcome, despite our proximity to the North Pole.-Yours, etc.,

DENIS A. BAYLES.
Chester-le-Street, Co. Durham.

\section*{MID-WEEK RINGING IN LONDON}

Dear Sir ,-With reference to the letter which appeared in 'The Ringing World' of August 2 nd from Mr. G. Waldren, I should like to express my interest in mid-week ringing in the City. I have thought of this before, mainly with regard to ringing for the lunch-hour services. Unfortunately I travel around a good deal in my job, but for the most part I am in easy re.ach of the City.
If we could discover whether there is a band available, the attitude of the clergy might then be ascertained. Perhaps I could be presumptuous enough to ask anyone interested to write to me?
I would like to make a suggestion on entirely another matter. It is that the height of 'sallies' could be standardised. I often encounter considerable discomfort through the efforts of our well-meaning but shorter brethren. A minimum height for the top of the sally of 8 ft . would, I think, be about right.-Yours faithfully.

\section*{A FILM LESSON}

Dear Sir--Might I suggest that those budding enthusiasts who are keen to make a name for themselves should spend an hour and a half in their local cinema viewing How to Murder a Rich Uncle. This is an education in ropehandling and a 'don't miss' lesson for instructors. It surely ought to find a place of honour in the Manual.- Yours sincerely.

\section*{'BE CHARITABLE,}

Dear Sir,-May I say how shocked I was on reading this week's "Ringing World to read the letter from Mr. Peter Bond.
I don't agree with the formation of the College of Campanology myself-I don't think there is any need for me to go into all that as we are all getting rather tired of the subject, but surely there is no need to use the columns of 'The Ringing World' to vent our spite?

We are often told that 'sarcasm is the lowest form of wit.' Surely as church workers and Christians it is up to us to be charitable, even if we do not always agree on some matters?
You used to be an easy-going. good-tempered sort of chap. Peter. Don't turn vicious in your old age, please!-Yours faithfully,

STELLA M. KNIGHT

\section*{HALIFAX ASSOCIATION}

The annual meeting and prize contest took place at New Mill, near Huddersfield, on August 3rd.
Up to the time of the draw the secretary had only received entrance fees for two teams, but four teams entered, and enough spare members were present to make up a mixed band.
Owing to the secretary being unable to purchase prizes for the competition, a committee meeting before the draw took place decided to buy books about campanology with the prize money, and the residue of the money to go to the Association funds.
The draw and result (judged by Mr. H. Tinker, of New Mill) was as follows: Friezland, 40; Meltham, 82; Shelley, 109; Cawthorne, 39; mixed band, 167. Cawthorne were therefore declared the winners.
During the course of the annual meeting, held after the competition, the officers were reelected en bloc. The balance , sheet, which showed a loss for the year of 3s. 71d., was approved.
A resolution by Mr. J. Burgess, seconded by the president (Mr. E. Earnshaw), that the secretary write Mr. Harry Roberts a letter of good wishes and hopes for his speedy recovery from a serious operation, was fully approved

Mr. L. Dawson, the secretary of the Friezland team, gave notice that this was the last contest he would be attending, as he had successfully applied for a post in the London area. Mr. G. Crompton, of Cawthorne, wished him every success on behalf of the Association. The finding of a tower for the October contest and quarterly meeting was left in the hands of the secretary.

\section*{SYSTON, LEICESTERSHIRE}

The annual outing took place on July 6th, and this year we travelled into Derbyshire. Leaving Syston late, as usual, we arrived at Creswell too early as we had to wait for a wedding service. However, we were soon ringing the bride out of the church on this delightful eight.

Our next call was the light six at Clowne, where several touches came to grief, but generally speaking we left a good impression.

At Bolsover lunch awaited us in the Church Hall, having been arranged by Mr. A. B. Cooper, secretary of the Derbyshire Association. Mr . Cooper, in fact, helped considerably in the organisation of the outing, and his arrange-ments-like the lunch-were most excellent. After this repast, across the road to the church where we were met by a number of the local band and where we had some of the best ringing of the day.

So to Chesterfield, and after the fixing of an odd slider and waiting for a choir festival rehearsal down below we had our only 10 -bell ringing of the day, whilst Mr. Scattergood tried to discover at precisely which café in the town we had booked tea. Perhaps it was the anxiety about food which made Grandsire Caters rather a struggle! And perhaps the 25 cwt . tenor turned in to Royal made one member too strong-wristed when it came to the salad cream! The lettuce looked charming floating in the middle of it!
The last call of the day was at Mansfield, where we enjoyed an hour's good ringing on this very pleasant eight.
A slight delay, as Jack was waiting with the bus a few streets away from where the ringers were, and we were away to ride home via Nottingham through the grandfather of all thunderstorms! One visitor was certain he had seen his sweet peas floating downstream!

Home at last after a day which will be a very pleasant memory - largely due to the local ringers who took so much trouble over our visits. Thank you, Derbyshire-may we have the pleasure of returning the compliment. \(\mathbf{P}\).

\section*{ALL SAINTS', HAMER}

On July 13th, All Saints', Rochdale, ringers and friends held their annual outing. It was perhaps rather unfortunate that we picked the start of the monsoon season. but we were lucky in that most of the rain fell while we were in the coach.
During the day four 6-bell towers were visited, the first, Gisburn (tenor 9 cwt .), being reached at the arranged time of \(9.15 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}\). These are a pleasant ring but rather difficult to handle owing to the long draught of the ropes. The fifth bell caused most concern, and a member of the party, after smiling somewhat at the efforts of another ringer to keep it up, was asked (?) to ring it to a touch of Oxford Treble Bob. He proved that it could be rung successfully, but was afterwards heard to remark that next time he would rise in time to have some breakfast!
From Gisburn we travelled north-westwards. through Settle and Kirkby Lonsdale, around Morecambe Bay, and arrived in Grange-overSands for a 12.15 p.m. lunch. This was partaken of at the Hazlemere Cafe and was an excellent meal.
In the afternoon we visited two nearby churches. The first was the Priory Church of St. Mary-the-Virgin, Cartmel. These are a very nice six (tenor \(15 \mathrm{cwt}\). ) and well worth a visit. The other tower was Flookburgh, another lovely six ( 17 cwt .). Here the bells are usually rung muffled, owing to the presence of houses immediately next to the church. but we had the pleasure of ringing them in their full glory as the muffles were removed in readiness for the Sunday.
Tea was had at the same café as lunch, and three members of the party delighted the staff of the café with a coarse of Grandsire Doubles on handbells. After tea an hour was spent exploring Grange, and fortunately the rain kept off.

The journey home was started at 7 p.m., and the last tower of the day, Milnthorpe ( 11 cwt .), was visited on the way. Here we finished the day's ringing with a perfect touch of Kent Treble Bob.

Our thanks go to Mr. James Taylor and any others who helped in the organisation, to the incumbents and to local ringers who made us welcome.

\section*{GLOUCESTER AND BRISTOL ASSOCIATION}

The North Forest Branch of the Gloucester and Bristol Diocesan Association enjoyed a very pleasant annual outing on July 13th. The party was composed of 40 ringers and friends. Towers of the Branch represented were: Redmarley, Staunton, Bromesberrow and Dymock, and visitors from Ledbury, Ross, Much Marcle, Much Dewchurch. Woolaston, Kingstone and Hasfield.

After collecting en route the coach left Gloucester at \(8.30 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}\). and proceeded to Chedworth, a very nice ring of six; then on to Coln St. Aldwyn. where the party enjoyed a light eight. Fairford was next visited, and here everyone admired the beautiful windows and the church.

Members here made their own arrangements for lunch. Feeling refreshed, they moved on to Mersey Hampton and Kemble, both good sixes, and then went back to Cirencester for tea.

On the way home North Cerney was visited, with its very beautiful little church with six easy-going bells.

During the tour short touches of the following methods were rung: Grandsire, Stedman Triples. Grandsire Doubles, Bob Doubles, Plain Bob Minor. Little Bob, Oxford, Kent and Reverse St. Bartholomew.

Grateful thanks are due to all incumbents and tower captains for their wilting co-operation.

\section*{A CHESTER WEDDING}

\section*{Mr. R. Gordon Corby-Miss M. Roselyn Crewe}

An unusual number of churches and ringers were closely linked with the wedding on August 5 th at All Saints' Church, Hoole, Chester, of Mr. R. Gordon Corby and Miss M. Roselyn Crewe.
The bridegroom, at present a member of the Bedfordshire Association, will be remembered by the Gloucester and the Chester Diocesan Guilds for his enthusiasm and support. The bride also joined the ranks via the Chester Branch and continued her activities during her three years at Westfield College, London, where she made many new friends and was a regular member of the Hampstead band. The service was conducted by the Rev. J. H. Backhous (Vicar of Marbury), who will be remembered for his ministry at Capenhurst by the members of the Wirral (Cheshire) Branch.
Ringing for the ceremony was provided by the local band, all trainees of the bride's father. who is the local captain and also hon. secretary of the Chester Branch. They were considerably strengthened in the early stages by the addition of Miss Janet Watts and Mr. Austin Wixey. who made the long journey from Gloucester to number among the guests. Unfortunately, owing to an unforeseen and last-minute hitch in travel arrangements, at least three other Gloucester ringers were prevented from attending. Other ringers playing a prominent part were the chief bridesmaid, Miss J. Heath, of Edinburgh, and Master Stephen W. R. Crewe, chief usher and member of the local band.
The reception was held at the Blossoms Hotel. Chester, and, with such a background. it was probably quite natural that the proposal of the traditional toast of 'The bride and bridegroom should be made in ringing jargon. This was a completely unrehearsed effort on the part of the bride's father, but it was received with such enthusiasm that he was finally persuaded to commit it to writing and, with the substitution of titles for individual names, a copy is appended herewith :-
Toast : 'THE BRIDE AND BRIDEGROOM Composed and conducted by E. C. Crewe on August 5th, 1957
In rising to give you the toast of "The bride and bridegroom," I must warn you that my method may not be quite plain to you all. It will, however, come as no surprise to the newly-spliced couple, nor to our two Gloucester friends, to whom I ap-peal to act as my interpreters. Many of us here remember the bride as a very tiny girl, so small that she may truly. be described as "Minimus." Now she has deserted the state of single bliss and joined in double harness. so she can no longer be treated as a minor. In undertaking the triple task of home, work, and home-work, the newly-weds are facing a major problem, which will, no doubt, be difficult to cater for. If they are to avoid any right royal rows, the bridegroom must put a turn in at the (cinque) sink and will. I am quite sure, soon learn a new meaning to "ringer." We trust, however, that the joy-bells will continue to ring for the max-imum of happiness in the years which lie ahead and the new life before them. Lest you think it has been missed, before I bob down I would like you all to dodge up. and I call upon you all to stand and drink the health of the bride and bridegroom.'
P.S.-The composer regrets the omission of the preliminary rounds in the original, but no doubt the bride will soon teach the bridegroom that he has finished the plain course and been called out of the hunt.

To complete the circle. the honeymoon was spent in 'Erin's Isle.

\section*{CHOOSING COMPOSITIONS-WHAT EVERY YOUNG CONDUCTOR SHOULD KNOW}

\section*{By BRIAN BUSWELL}

When selecting compositions to ring for a peal, care should be taken to ensure that the best musical qualities are included. Peals containing the best music are usually, though not always, more difficult to call, but they are well worth the extra effort involved.

In Plain Major methods, about 45 courses are required to produce a peal, and there are 36 courses available with 4,5 and 6 in 5-6 at the course ends. These are the most musical bells to have there, and to obtain the remaining nine courses it is best to have the 3rd in 5ths (not 6ths). Such a peal is the following one of 5,024 Plain Bob Major, by George Lewis.

Full combination of 4.5 and 6 in 5-6. 3rd never in 6ths. 2nd never in 5-6.
A well-known peal of Plain Bob Major with the full combination of 4,5 and 6 in 5-6 is the 5,056 by J. R. Pritchard, but this has the slight disadvantage of having the 2nd in 5ths for four courses. Similar qualities should be sought in all Plain Major methods, and the following 5,024 is an excellent peal of Double Norwich by Sir A. P. Heywood.

3rd never in 6ths. 2nd never in 5-6.
In Royal methods 28 courses are necessary for a peal. The most musical ones are those which have the 6th on the front for the first four courses and at Home for the extent ( 24 courses) to complete the peal as in the following composition of Plain Bob Royal by A. Knights.

In Treble Bob Major methods it is not always possible to obtain qualities similar to Plain methods because of its liability to internal falseness, and because of this the best music is produced in different ways. In Kent, for instance, it is possible to call bobs at consecutive leads with the tenors in the same position, and the best music is produced when all the course-ends are brought up with double bobs (or ' no teeth missing ' as the old-timers used to say). A good example is this 5,024 Kent T.B. Major, by E. C. Gobey:
\begin{tabular}{|c|c|c|c|c|}
\hline 23456 & M & B & W & H \\
\hline 32654 & & - & 1 & 2 \\
\hline 24653 & 2 & - & 1 & 2 \\
\hline 32546 & & - & 2 & 2 \\
\hline 23645 & 2 & & & 2 \\
\hline 26435 & 1 & - & 2 & 2 \\
\hline 24365 & 1 & - & 2 & 2 \\
\hline 63425 & 1 & - & & 2 \\
\hline 45236 & 1 & & 1 & 2 \\
\hline 36524 & 1 & & 2 & 2 \\
\hline 35264 & & & 1 & 2 \\
\hline 62534 & 1 & - & & 2 \\
\hline 54326 & 2 & - & 2 & 2 \\
\hline 65243 & 2 & & 1 & 2 \\
\hline 23456 & 1 & & 1 & 2 \\
\hline
\end{tabular}

All peals of Kent Major with the tenors together are true to Bristol but the converse does not necessarily apply.
Similar qualities are desirable in Treble Bob Royal. A good example is the following 5,000 by C. H. Hattersley.
\begin{tabular}{lllll}
23456 & M & W & H \\
\cline { 1 - 3 } 54326 & & 2 & 2 \\
26435 & 1 & 2 & 2 \\
52364 & 2 & 1 & 2 \\
24365 & 1 & & 2 \\
52643 & 2 & 1 & 2 \\
45236 & 2 & 2 & 2 \\
36524 & 1 & \(\frac{2}{2}\) & 2 \\
23645 & 2 & \(\frac{2}{2}\) & \(\frac{1}{2}\) \\
23456 & 2 & 2 & 1
\end{tabular}

With Grandsire Triples there is no choice as all the rows are required for peals, but compositions such as Parker's 12 -part and Holt's Original and 10 -part are infinitely preferable to the 6 -part peals produced on the three lead course plan which are easy to memorise but very monotonous to ring.
In Grandsire Caters there is very much more choice and by putting the big bells into the best positions we can produce the finest music church bells have to offer: There are various musical positions, but the two favourites are the tittums and the handstroke home. These positions sound their best when the 6th is in 5 ths at the course ends and the extent is 24 courses each. As short courses are more musical than long ones, another eight courses are required to make up the peal and this 'padding ' is best put at the beginning of the peal as in this excellent 5,057 by C. Glenn:

In Stedman Cators the big bells are best in the same positions as Grandsire Caters, but it may be found better to have the 6th in 2nds in the tittums and in 5ths in the handstroke home. A good example is this composition by C . Charge:

\section*{STOWMARKET, SUFFOLK}

The Stowmarket company of ringers, together with others, and non-ringing friends from the district, visited Cambridgeshire and Huntingdonshire on the occasion of their annual outing on July 13th. Towers visited were Bourn, Godmanchester, Huntingdon (St. Mary), Swavesey, Over, Cambridge (St. Mary. St. Andrew, St. Bene't and the Catholic Church).

Various methods were attempted with varying success and the not-so-advanced were well catered for, with rounds and Plain Bob. An excellent lunch was served in Godmanchester, while tea was taken at the Dorothy Cafe, Cambridge. Worthy of note was the fact that two ringing churchwardens were in the party.

To the incumbents and all who met us and assisted in any way, we tender our sincere thanks; and finally to our organiser, Mr. O. G. Barnard, for his painstaking efforts on our behalf. a very sincere 'Thank you' for a most enjoyable day.

\section*{OBITUARY}

MR. FRED HAYES
Weđ̈nesday, July 24th, marked the passing of Fred Hayes, of High Wycombe, after a short illness.
Fred, who was 81 years of age, came to High Wycombe from Henley some 60 years ago. He then knew little, if anything, of change-ringing. This handicap was speedily attended to, and a peal tablet at All Saints', High Wycombe, records that he composed and conducted a peal of Grandsire Triples in 1903.

The peal book at All Saints' shows that he took part in well over 100 peals for the Guild or the Society of Royal Cumberland Youths. Stedman and Grandsire Caters and Cinques figure prominently among his peals, most of which he composed and conducted. Although he took part in a peal or two oì Maximus. Fred had little time for 'Major' methods. which he considered unmusical.
At High Wycombe Fred will be remembered mainly for his deep interest in composition and proof. He willingly gave his services to anyone needing sound assurance that his (or her) compositions were to ring true.
The Oxford Diocesan Guild was well represented at the funeral service on Monday, July 29th, and half-muffled Grandsire and Stedman Caters were rung during the evening.
S. M. B.

\section*{AN APPRECIATION}

The passing of an old friend in Fred Hayes must have reminded a good many old ringers of a visit to High Wycome during the last 50 years, where one was always welcomed by him and Ralph Coles. Now both are gone and their places will be difficult to fill.
Fred was in his element when calling Stedman and seldom did he lose either of his own compositions of 5,019 Caters or 5,007 Cinques, and many ringers owe their first peal on ten and 12 bells to him.
I remember he was particularly pleased when. in 1932, he called his 5,007 Stedman Cinques at Oxford. Reading and High Wycombe on the three 12 -bell rings in the diocese. Also, in 1933, when he called the same peal at Wycombe with the service band, all being resident in the borough. Fred composed one or two peals of Grandsire Triples which he called a few times. but apart from an odd peal or two of Treble Bob, Double Norwich and Cambridge, his great love was Stedman. His last peal which he conducted was Stedman Caters on July 17th, 1954.

No finer tribute could be given him than that by the Vicar of High Wycombe at his funeral. He said he would be greatly missed as ringer. sincere churchman and regular worshipper and sidesman: he always had dignity, a dignity in his gait and in his character. This was the impression that everyone formed of him and for which he will always be remembered. He has gone from us, unquestionably into the presence of the saints. but has left us a wonderful example of faithful service and dignified bearing which we might well emulate.

MR. J. S. TOONE
Mr. John Stacey Toone, of Birstall, Lcicester, passed away at the age of 37 after a short but painful illness.

He had been a member of the Birstall Parish Church belfry for many years until business prevented him from attending regularly. After the formation of the Leicester Guild. John was chairman of the Syston District for several years.
The sympathy of all Leicester Guild ringers is extended to his wife and three young children. T. C. B.

\section*{MR. WILLIAM LANCASTER}

Members of the Derbyshire Association will hear with deep regret of the passing of their friend. Mr. William Lancaster, of 83 . Albert Road, Chaddesden, Derby. He died near the place of his youth, at Clayton-leWoods, near Chorley, Lancashire, on August 3rd, aged 63.
The funeral took place at Whittle on August 7 th, and in addition to family mourners, ringers were present from Chorley, Leyland and Preston. and the local band. Touches of Bob Major and Grandsire were rung half-muffled before and after the service, which was choral. The Rev. C. R. Povey. M.A., formerly Rector of Brindle, officiated.

\section*{APPRECIATIONS}

In my appreciation, I cannot give full details as over 30 years is a long time. Bill Lancaster was a ringer of the best type, absolutely dependable in everything he did. He was chief ringer at St. Peter's, Derby, and was Branch secretary before the M.C.A. was broken up. He rang a considerable number of peals in this area. and if he was coming on a visit a peal had to be arranged. A quiet, unassuming man. it seems fitting that he should be laid to rest near the tower where he learned to ring and the bells he loved so well.

\section*{May he rest in peace. \\ E. R. M.}

Mr . Lancaster learned his ringing at St. John's, Whittle-le-Woods, and came to Derby in 1926 as a competent ringer. He joined the band at St. Peter's. Derby, and was later the Derby District secretary of the Midland Counties Association. Since coming to Derby he had been a very regular service ringer at St. Peter's until his illness just over a year ago. Although he was greatly opposed to the dissolution of the Midland Counties Association, he worked hard to form the Derbyshire Association in 1946. He was general secretary until 1951, when he was elected vice-president, an office he held until his death.
His total of peals was in the region of 180 . of which 61 were rung for the Derbyshire Association. His early peals were rung for the Lancashire Association, with a few for the M.C.A., the East Derbyshire and Notts, and the Midland Counties Guild. He was delighted to have been one of the band who rang the first peal of Cambridge Surprise Major for the Derbyshire Association. This had proved elusive and was a milestone in the area.

Our sympathy is extended to Mrs. Lancaster and his daughter in their sad bereavement.

\section*{MISS PAMELA HILL}

It is with very real regret that we record the tragic death at the age of 15 years of Pamela Hill, of St. Saviour's, Oxton, Birkenhead, who was drowned on July 16 th whilst holidaymaking at Barmouth.
Just after Easter last year Pam, hearing the bells ringing one Saturday afternoon. came to investigate, decided she wished to learn. and proved a very apt pupil. She became a regular communicant, worshipper and bellringer at St. Saviour's.
During the time she was there she endeared herself to all, being punctual, reliable and most helpful. Nothing was too much trouble for Pam, be it cleaning the belfry or cycling to Woodchurch in all weathers to help restart ringing there. For one so young she had realised early the great happiness to be gained from serving others faithfully.

The cremation service at Landican Cemetery was held in private and a memorial service followed at Si. Saviour's on July 20th. The service was choral and the bells were rung (Continued foot of next column)

\section*{CRICKET AT TANFIELD}

There's a breathless hush in the Close tonight, Ten to make and the match to win,
A bumping pitch and a blinding light,
An hour to play and the last man in.
Play up, play up and play the game.'
' Vitai Lampada '-Sir Henry Newbolt.

SUCH were the thoughts which sprang to mind on July 20th, when members of the Durham and Newcastle Association met at Tanfield, Co. Durham, to revive an old custom of a cricket match-cum-ringing meeting. The last recorded occasion was in 1896, when the 'Bell News' gave a full report of the proceedings and showed the Newcastle side to be the winners over the Tanfield ringers by 57 runs to 41 .

Now, after an interval of 61 years, with a new generation of Tanfield ringers seeking to avenge the earlier defeat, a challenge match was arranged between two teams, selected by the Vicar of Tanfield, the Rev. R. Race, and the president of the Association, Mr. K. Arthur. Arrangements for the day were in the capable hands of Mr. K. W. Cheeseman, the local impresario, who provided us with a wicket on the same field as used by the ringers of last century, so we felt we would be playing on hallowed ground. With the march of time, a special feature of today's game was the inclusion in each team of three lady ringers, who added extra spice and colour to the contest.

At the match of 1896 transport from Newcastle was by horse-drawn wagonette, but in these enlightened days of 1957 such means appeared to be a luxury, for of all days July 20th was the start of the national bus strike, and it was only through the generosity of a few car owners that the two teams could be brought together. However, in spite of the strike and other setbacks, which delayed the start, it was agreed to take an early tea, and the umpires (Messrs. W. N. Park and J. Armstrong) went out to the wicket at 4.30 p.m. in ideal weather. The scorers (Miss M. Wilson and Mr. J. A. Brown) took up their stand, while spectators began to gather from far and near, including one from Canada, a gentleman from Saskatchewan visiting his native village after 51 years' absence-we dare hope that it was the match which enticed him home! A party of nomad ringers also arrived and pitched their tent in the members' enclosure.

Winning the toss and batting first, the president's team did not achieve much success against the Tanfield pace attack or the 'spinners' of the local fair sex, and the side was all out for 29 runs in just over half-an-hour. Under these circumstances, the Tanfield ringers seemed certain to retrieve the honour and could be excused for feeling confident, but they did not bargain for a keen visiting attacking field, and their bats fared disastrously with the whole side being out for 14 runs. Thus the visitors were the victors again and retained their 61 -year-old record. At the close of play the scoreboard read as follows:

President's XI.-S. Hewitt (N. Shields) 0, E. N. Harrison (Fenham) 0, G. Cairns (Fenham) 9, K. Arthur (Fenham) 7, G. S. Deas (N/C Cath.) 0, D. A. Bayles (Chester-le-St.) 1, Mrs. K. Arthur (Fenham) 1, D. Robson (N/C St. George) 6, Miss E. Scott (N. Shields) 1, Miss M. Softley (S. Shields) 0, F. W. Cokke (Darlington) 4. Total 29.

Vicar of Tanfield's XI.-K. W. Cheeseman (Tanfield) 1, Miss A. Holmes (Tanfield) 0, Rev. R. Race (Tanfield) 0, Miss E. Brabban (Tanfield) 0, J. Race (Tanfield) 0, C. T. Lamb (Benfieldside) 3, Miss R. Brabban (Tanfield) 5, E. Oliver (Consett) 0, R. Oliver (Consett) 0, N. Errington (Consett) 3, J. Robinson (Tanfield) 2. Total 14.
After congratulations all round, warm thanks were accorded the Vicar, Mr. Cheeseman and all the helpers who had contributed to the success of the venture. The umpires and the scorers proved worthy officials, and we were grateful to the supporter from the 'members' enclosure' who distributed sliced oranges to the teams on the field during the intervals.

The remainder of the evening was taken up with ringing on the eight bells of the Parish Church of St. Margaret, and in a convivial get-together at the Peacock Inn, where the ghosts of the ringing cricketers of yester-year are wont to walk.

A challenge for a return match next year has already been made to the victors, so all aspiring exponents of rope and willow are advised to get in some intensive training in readiness, and follow the epic command: Play up, play up and play the game.

\section*{AN AUSTRALIAN WEEK-END}

T
THE affectionate term for England, used by Australians and English alike, is' the old country, and this was used many times during our adventure to Sydney over the weekend, July 12th to 15 th.
Most of us in Melbourne remember the annual general meetings we attended in either native or neighbouring counties. These memories are now brought back to us by "The Ringing World,' which we eagerly await each week. Now Australia can boast of an 'occasion'-a journey and a meeting of considerable dimension! Indeed, an experience that will never be forgotten.
Fourteen ringers from Victoria, one each from Ballaarat and Bendigo, and the remainder from St. Paul's Cathedral, Melbourne, spent an eventful weekend in Australia's largest city. Representing the three ringable towers in the State, we made the \(1,100-\) mile train trip in acceptance of an invitation by the N.S.W. Association to attend their annual dinner and competition. The party was Jack and Gwen Roper, Brenda Sheppard, Kenneth Minchinton, Warne Wilson (Bendigo), Graeme Hayes (Ballaarat), Alan and Tom Bennett, Arthur Fisher, Clyde Simpson, Ernest Hughes, Diana and George Pipe.
'The Spirit of Progress,' a luxurious diesel express, left Melbourne on the stroke of 6.30 on the Friday evening. We were given a hearty send-off and soon settled down to a comfortable beat. Having told the ticket-collector that we were a church party, that man was unable to hide his consternation when one of the ringers produced two bottles of sherry, a somewhat generous 'aperitif' to the later dinner, as a rejoinder to 'Tickets, please!'. Many were convinced that sleep would come easily during the 15-hour ride-we have since realised the enormity of the joke.

However, with much good fun, feasting and talking, we eventually crossed the New South Wales border and arrived in Sydney at 9.30 a.m. As the late John S. Goldsmith related in 'Great Adventure,' it isn't until one has slept and travelled in the same small compartment as another man that one learns his real character. Thus it was that with flavourings of the Cheshire and Oxon accent, dressed with the Aussie drawl, that we were able to have a laugh at ourselves and our companions.
Our hosts, the Sydney ringers, had obviously spared nothing to ensure a memorable weekend. Booking in at the Great Southern Hotel, which the English visitors will remember is in George Street, we were able to wash and brush up, although ender pressure! The cars were waiting, and making our way to the first tower (Christ Church, St. Lawrence, 6) we were introduced to everybody. In some cases it was a matter of meeting old friends again, but for many the privilege of seeing many of those who have done so much for the N.S.W. Association.
Other towers during the day were St. Benedict's (6) and St. Mark's, Darling Point (8). At the latter the annual competition was held, and by a kind donation by Mr. Ralph Joyner of an inter-state cup, Victoria were able to sense the atmosphere, so electric at times. The local shields were well contested, and everyone benefited from these tests. The press and television men were at times all too prominent, but as one wag pointed out, at least it was a start to stardom. After the service an excellent dinner was served with well over 100 in attendance. Even this wasn't the final item for Saturday, for leisurely entertainment was provided until 10.30 p.m., and we did enjoy the ale, too !

Sunday as usual with ringers' outings, when everybody vows he or she will have a 'lay-in,' knowing full well it just isn't done, saw us up at 7 a.m. The four towers for the day were all much enjoyed. The two delightful sixes of Turramurra and Parramatta soon rang out over the glorious Sydney Harbour, and in the afternoon the very fine eight at St. Mary's R.C. Cathedral really won our affection. Three of the party considered these a very close parallel to the renowned eight at Lymm, Cheshire.

Thus Sunday was drawing to a close with still a novelty in store-the eight steel bells of St. Jude's, Randwick. Unfortunately these bells are in poor condition; nevertheless for many of us it was an opportunity to hear such a ring.
So with much regret we waved them 'goodbye ' on Sydney station on Sunday evening, for the long journey back home. The way we were received and the generous hospitality offered by the N.S.W. ringers will never be forgotten. This must be an annual event; thank you very much, Sydney.

Returning from a holiday at Eastbourne recently, Major and Mrs. Hawkins, of Windsor, had the pleasure of meeting Mr. Geo. Baker at Brighton. Despite the fact that he will be 90 next October, Mr. Baker was busy in his office, and to the delight of the visitors had papers and cuttings in his pocket, some of which related to the Jate Mr. W. W. Wolstencroft.
After ringing only about six plain courses of Grandsire Caters over a period of two months, Vernon Pratt (aged 14) has rung his first peal (the fourth to Grandsire Caters) at St. John-the-Divine, Leicester, on August 3rd. He commenced ringing 15 months ago. Mr. S. Harrison, Ringing Master of St. John's, would like to thank the South Wigston ringers, under the leadership of Mr. B. G. Warwick, for their valued relp, and particularly Mr. Ernest and Mr. John Jelley, who have been attending St. John's practices regularly over the last five years.

Amongst many visitors who watched the ringing of a peal of Treble Bob at St. Anthony-inMeneage, Cornwall, on August 10th, was the retired Bishop of Reading, who stayed to the finish and congratulated the band on the splendid striking. He showed great interest, and said it was the ringing that brought him to the church, being on holiday in the area. The waters of the Gillan Creek on the Helford river almost reach the church gates, and some who had come with the peal band had the excitement of seeing a small sailing craft turned over by the gale, and its three occupants thrown into the water. Fortunately, they were able to swim ashore to the sound of ringing bells, Maybe yet another Cornish legend will grow up, that St. Anthony's bells drew to shore these unfortunate shipwrecked holidaymakers!

\section*{BELFRY GOSSIP}

The peal on August 13th in memory of the late Edwin Barnett, sen., could not be attempted at Crayford, with which he was associated for most of his ringing career, owing to war damage repairs. The band are grateful to the Vicar of Erith for permitting them to ring it there on a night when services are held. The composition, Haley's variation of Thurstans', is rarely rung nowadays, but it was one which Mr. Barnett frequently called. It is thought that Mr. H. E. Audsley, whose 200th on the bells it was, is the first ringer to accomplish this total on two different rings of bells, having done so at Crayford some years previously.
The bells of Lancaster Priory will be heard before the service to be broadcast from there on Sunday, August 25 th, at \(9.30 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}\). in the North Home Service only. We understand that these bells are not hung for ringing. The organist has composed a chime for the occasion.
Members of the Peterborough Diocesan Guild who visited Edenbridge, Kent, on August 10th, wish to thank Mr. and Mrs. Jeffries and Brian for the kind reception given to them after a peal attempt for Bob Major, which came to grief after 1 hour and 20 minutes. However, a quarter peal was successful, and the opportunity of ringing at Limpsfield Chart, Surrey, was much appreciated.

Northampton and District ringers enjoyed a good ringing programme on August Bank Holiday, when the towers of Litchborough, Chacombe, Banbury, Adderbury, Deddington, Bloxham and Tadmarton were visited. As Swalcliffe bells were not available, due to illness, a very enjoyable visit to Home Farm, Balscote, was substituted. Many thanks, Mr. Jarvis, and to all who made this a successful day.

\section*{U.A. TOUR OF THE WEST RIDING}

W
E had been told that the West Riding was industrial ; that all we should see would be factory chimneys and smoke; and that if that was where we really wanted to spend our holidays, well

What they had not told us was that there is a great deal of lovely country also, and that Yorkshire people know how to make guests welcome: we discovered the first of these facts on our arrival at our headquarters, at Bingley Training College, and the second became steadily more evident throughout the week.

For the writer the week began somewhat inauspiciously: he ran out of petrol three miles from Bingley at 11.45 p.m. on Friday and had to be fetched-not a very popular procedure. For those who arrived in better time there was ringing at Bingley during the evening.

However, on Saturday morning everyone's spirits were high, and we set off on what proved the most 'industrial' day of the tour, to Birstall, Cleckheaton, Ossett, Batley and Wakefield. It was decided on leaving Ossett that we would eat our lunch in the Sunday School at Batley; however, such a spirit was unlikely to be maintained, and sure enough we had it in the 'local' as usual. At Wakefield we sampled the new amplifier system, still under trial: one member complained he could hear two distinct rings of 12 and was not at all clear which one to strike in!
Sunday ringing was enjoyed in three more-or-less nearby towers - Bradford Cathedral, Bingley and Haworth-both morning and evening, together with a splinter group of late arrivals who visited Ossett in the evening.
At lunch we entertained a few visitors-the Vicar of Bingley, Miss Maxwell (the college principal) and Vernon Bottomley; representing the Yorkshire Association. Leslie Morris was unfortunately prevented from joining us at the last minute for business reasons.

\section*{CAR REPAIRS}

A casual visitor to the college during the day might well have wondered what sort of a tour this was: there were pieces of car engine strewn all over the drive, two or three men actively working away, and the usual crowd of onlookers offering 'helpful' advice. The process wasn't speeded up by the expert who, having taken the engine to pieces in the morning, vanished after lunch, leaving the not-so-experts to put it together again.

That evening it was discovered that another member proposed to arrive in the small hours. having left the south of England at 5 p.m. to drive to Bingley; and the writer 'volunteered' to sit up for him. Fortunately, he wasn't very late.

After the weekend we lost those of our party who thought work more important than ringing ; however, several more joined us at Ripon after our visit to Beckwithshaw, the first Monday tower. It proved somewhat difficult, not to say impossible, to get everyone to the same place at the same time for lunch; but judging by the ringing at Sharow afterwards, all appeared to have had the same sort of meal. We enjoyed a pleasant run over the moors to Otley, ringing there and at Birstwith on the way, before arriving back at the College.

\section*{EIGHT NEW MEMBERS}

The business meeting on Monday evening produced the part-audited-and-found-more-or-lesscorrect accounts for 1955-56 (!), and the suggestion that the borders of Sussex and Kent be visited next summer. provided that the usual bogey of accommodation could be overcome. Eight new members were elected.

Tuesday produced some lovely scenery, some excellent bells and probably the best ringing of the week. We visited Silsden, Kildwick and Skipton before lunch, then spent an hour or so sightseeing round Bolton Abbey, in Wharfedale, before going on to Ilkley and Guiseley. After supper, the local practice at Pudsey and its very hospitable ringers were visited-an outing which one member was heard to say was his sole reason for coming on the tour.

After Corporate Communion at the parish church. conducted by the Vicar, we had another more-or-less industrial day on Wednesday, visiting Almondbury and Marsden before lunch at a small pub high on the moors. A band of experts left us to ring a peal of Pudsey at Drighlington, while the remainder continued to Brighouse and Elland. The latter tower was noteworthy for the sight of six of the ringers sucking \(1 \frac{1}{2}\)-in. diam. gobstoppers, thoughtfully purchased at a local grocer's-but the smell of aniseed zroved too strong for the more tender plants! We were reunited at Bradford Cathedral, where some of the local band joined us. Later that evening an expedition to Mirfield was undertaken, a most interesting ten-but quite a good eight.

\section*{A DAY OF BROKEN ROPES}

The longest day took us to the extreme east of the Riding, at Selby Abbey on Thursday, by way of Far Headingley and Tadcaster. A band who (after a quick ring at Far Headingley) had gone to attempt a peal of Plain Bob at Pontefract All Saints' rejoined us at Selby with news of a broken rope. We were rushed through our afternoon's ringing at Kippax in order to arrive at Leeds Parish Church in time to ring before Evensong-only to find no Evensong because no curate to say it. This gave us almost too long on these fine bells for the temperature, but half a course of Cambridge Maximus was achieved and even an enthusiastic tenor-grabber's three leads of Bristol. After supper, one of our leading bellfounders distinguished himself at Denholme by breaking his rope in the middle of the sally while calling Stedman. The bell set, the rope-end was reversed and knotted on, and he continued to ring it with half a sally and a pseudo-Yorkshire tail.

The last day, Friday, saw the loss of another peal attempt, for Eastcote at Sowerby, through a shift course. The non-pealers spent the morning at Haworth (also quickly visited by the peal band), Oxenhope and Heptonstall, where the whole party reassembled. One carload had a somewhat hair-raising journey through their navigator's theories about straight lines and short distances. The afternoon was spent in and around Halifax: at the parish church, where we were told that our ringing prevented the making-up of wages in an adjacent factory; at Haley Hill and at Northowram.

\section*{THE SOCIAL}

As usual, a most successful social evening was organised by York, in which almost everyone was persuaded to make fools of themselves in one way or another, aided and abetted by the secretary's lurid taste in clothing (we never did decide whether those socks really were luminous) and by Leslie Morris's genial efforts as a judge of handbell ringing.

And so another enjoyable week ended: Wilf Moreton's organisation was first-class and the weather was kind; though our pleasure was somewhat tempered by our sympathy for Mr. Lewis, who had come all the way from Scotland to join us and was then prevented from ringing by doctor's orders. Our very grateful thanks are due to the incumbents and tower captains for so cheerfully putting up with us-we hope it was worth it for them! B. D. T

\section*{THE BELLS OF HOLSWORTHY}
"There is no music like that of the bells,' said the Rector of Holsworthy (Rev. A. Warne) to an assembly of some 50 ringers and friends on August 14th; and be it said, the harmony in the meeting was no less harmonious than the nowfamous octave.
In the area-the N.W. Branch of the Devon Guild and the N.E. pocket of Cornwallmainly due to the efforts of the Sangwin brothers, John, Charles and Fred, over the years there is a spirit of enthusiasm for changeringing. Not only were members from most of the towers in the Branch present, but also visitors from Combe Martin, Kelvedon (Essex), Launceston, Lifton, Leicester, Plymouth (Emmanuel), Stafford, Stratton, Teignmouth and Wiveliscombe. The meeting could be described as a holiday-makers' practice, and good use was made of the bells from 2.30 p.m. to late in the evening. The striking was good and all the standard methods were rung.

After tea, in Sanders's Cafe, six certificates were presented to young ringers, making some 14 within the year, by the Rev. Preb. E. V. Cox (president of the Guild). He expressed his pleasure at meeting so many friends and congratulated the young recipients.

Members of the Branch were asked by their chairman to consider proposals concerning the annual general meeting of the Guild, its venue and general arrangements. The members were asked to think over the proposals and to come to a decision at the annual meeting of the Branch at Hatherleigh in November.

The thanks of the meeting were accorded the Rector, who acted as organist, for his excellent address and the use of the bells; to Mr. Baker (reader), who read the Guild prayers; and all who helped in what may be described as a splendid meeting.
F. C. S.

\section*{ST. PETER'S DOUBLES}

Dear Sir,-I wonder if any ringers could enlighten me with regard to the method published in the 'R.W.' of August 9th under the title 'St. Peter's Doubles.' This method is, of course, St. Martin's with a different bob and more extents available.

If this is considered a new method there is no reason why we shouldn't ring St. Simon's and St. Osmond's with St. Peter's bobs, and call them for argument's sake 'Danbury' and 'Purleigh ' Doubles.' I have reason to believe that the Central Council came to some decision on methods with the same course and different bobs. April Day being the most common one rung. Could someone 'in the know' please clarify this? - Yours sincerely,
J. E. G. ROAST.

Danbury, Essex.

\title{
THOSE I REMEMBER

One who helped me a lot in my early carcer was Charles H. Fowler. He was a grand ringer long before he came to Leicester (as a printer), having rung many notable peals in and around Oxford with the famous James W. Washbrook, Charles Hounslow, Rev. F. E. Robinson and company. He took part in the record long peal of London Surprise, and later was one of the band in the Rev. F. E. Robinson's 1,000th peal. Of slight build, be could-and did-turn a heavy bell in to a peal with grace and skill. He conducted almost all our early peals of Double Norwich and Superlative. He died in December, 1914, at the early age of 39 , having rung 171 peals. He took part in the long peals of 10,176 Kent and 11,008 and 17,104 Double Norwich at South Wigston.

\section*{WILLIAM WILESON}

A close friend of Chas. H. Fowler was William Willson, who was for many years the leading light in Leicester ringing affairs, and was a conductor of great ability. He conducted the long peals just referred to as well as taking part in the record Stedman Caters at Loughborough Parish Church in \(12 t\) hours. He was steeple-keeper of St. George's, Leicester, until St. John-the-Divine's bells were installed, when he took command there, in later years adding two trebles to make one of the best rings of ten in England. Mr. Willson had a dominating way with him, and woe betide any who did not go his way or do what he was told at once! He had four daughters, two of whom made good ringers: Lilian (who took part in the first ladies' peal at Cubit Town, London) and Hilda, who married Wm. Jacques, of Mansfield, Notts, also a good ringer. Lilian was married to T. Henry Hardy (my pal, and for whom I acted as 'best man') and my own daughter was named after her! 'Harry' Hardy, besides being a ringer of ability, was also a chorister at St. Margaret's with a remarkable range of voice. He could sing an oratorio or a comic song with equal ease, and was the first (and only) man to gain 100 per cent. and a gold medal for singing at the local festival of music.

When St. Margaret's bells were augmented to 12 it was agreed that the first peal should be by our Sunday service ringers, and Harry rang the fifth bell to this, which I called. He was to have been in the first peal on the \(12-\mathrm{Kent}\) Maximus-but died suddenly just before it was fixed. Therefore his father-in-law, Wm. Willson, took his place, and the peal-which I con-ducted-was rung muffled. Strange to say, I took the fifth bell-the one Harry rang in his last peal, and shortly after the start the muffle came off and I rang it open! William Willson was a trenchant writer on bell topics, and will be well remembered by older ringers for his columns in 'The Bell News' under the nom-deplume of Jingle. He was co-editor of the fine but short-lived journal 'The Bellringer.' He was one of the band who rang in the silent handbell peals of Stedman Triples, Caters and Cinques, and after the first war organised the memorable pilgrimage to the Menin Gate, Ypres, in 1931, when in the presence of many reverent strangers a short and impressive service was conducted by the late Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn, handbells rung and a wreath deposited. It was during this visit that the first peals (on handbells) were rung in Belgium and one in France. Mr. Willson died on November 6th, 1941, aged 73. He had rung about 350 peals. He had a nephew of the same name, also a fine ringer, who took part in a number of peals but who, unfortunately, died young.
Two other fine ringers I must mention were George Cleal and Samuel Cotton, who came from Tewkesbury and Worcester respectively. They were close friends and both exceptionally good botin on tower- and handbells. I class Samuel Cotton as one of the finest men I ever knew, either in or out of a belfry. I never knew him to get hot and bothered, or to argue or disagree with anyone on any occasion. If a failure occurred either on handbells or towerbells, he would let the others argue and fight it out, and would simply say: 'It's all over and done with; let's ring it again, and sce where it went wrong.' When telling anyone who had gene adrift. he would not yell or shout as some did (say Willson or Dexter) but would quietly say 'over,' 'under,' 'lead now,' or whatever was right, and generally helped one much better than either flustering or frightening a youngster

Mr. Cotton had a beard and was the living image of King George \(V\). He was in the shoe trade, as was George Cleal, who had a 'nannyboat' beard. Mr. Cleal was a little man, but had a dynamic character. He could call Grandsire and Stedman like very few ever could hope to attain. He called some of John O. Lancashire's Odd and Even Bob and Single peals.

\section*{FREDERICK H. DEXTER}

Of my generation but a little earlier was Frederick H. Dexter, who was an apt pupil of the two last named. He was a very clever ringer and composer. In the latter sphere he excelled in Stedman Caters, producing many compositions of original character, well off the beaten track, calling them equally well, but preferring to allow others to do this. He turned out many compositions of Triples and Cinques, as well as Surprise methods. He was tall and of slender build, very near-sighted, but could turn in a heavy bell with ease and precision. He had a flow of language equal to nonenever particular in his choice of words-yet, withal, a grand fellow and warm-hearted friend. In the tower he was a real martinet and wellearned the title of the 'Sergeant Major' for his brusque manner in 'chasing around' anyone who did the wrong thing, struck his bell badly, or wandered from the straight and narrow path. He would point to his ears and say: 'God gave you these-use the blanks!'
On the occasion of one of my early attempts for Stedman Triples at St. Mark's, Leicester. we got into the last block when out went the light -then it came on-to our consternation. Then it kept coming on and off and made it impossible for us to continue. F. H. D. set his bell and rushed pell-mell down the spiral stairway, and we spid, ' Woe betide whoever he catches!', but when he got to the bottom he could not get out, the door being wedged. Eventually we found it was the curate who wanted to start a service! By that time. however, F. H. D. had cooled off somewhat. We were given permission to go again within a week or so and got the peal (my No. 80). F. H. D. suffered with asthma, and sometimes in peals made most weird noises and pulled hideous faces.

On the occasion they attempted the first peal of Bristol at St. Martin's I was the 'spare part' or stand-by. They had a full team and I heard some beautifully struck courses and quite expected to hear they had rung the full peal. Imagine my surprise when told they lost it in the last course. F. H. D. made one of his funny noises at the back of his throat and they made a 'bob' of it. This caused chaos as there was no bob and the peal was lost! I heard him once explaining ringing to a young curate at St. Martin's, and was 'all ears' expecting him to drop out one of his favourite expressions. However, after telling him the worst ringers were parsons! he said he had one once whom he chased up and down till the poor devil didn't know what he was doing, and was just ready to 'lay an egg!'. F. H. D. was in partnership in the hosiery trade with Len E. Allen, a cathedral ringer, and with whom I rang several peals. His son, Harold Dexter, is an accomplished organist with many degrees, and now organist of Southwark Cathedral.

\section*{NORFOLK AND SUFFOLK GRAMMAR SCHOOLS}

There are some very promising ringers in Norfolk and Suffolk Grammar Schools. The repertoire for their summer outing in Norfolk included the following methods: Plain Bob, St. Simon's, St. Martin's, St. Osmund's and Stedman Doubles: Plain Bob, Kent. Cambridge, Reverse Canterbury Pleasure, St. Clement's, and Little Bob Minor; Bob Triples, Bob Major and Grandsire Triples (on handbells).

Meeting at Diss, the party came from the following towers: Mulbarton, Barking (Suffolk), Pakenham, Newmarket, Blo-Norton, East Marling and Beccles.

Towers visited were: Kenninghall, East Harling, Quidenham, New Buckingham, Banham, Winfarthing, Shelfanger and Diss (where Mr. Nolan Golden permitted the party to ring before his company started their attempt for a peal of Bristol). The thanks of the party are due to the clergy and organiser for a very enjoyable day.

\section*{BRENCHLEY AND HORSMONDEN}

The annual outing of the Brenchley and Horsmonden ringers, with visitors and non-ringing friends, was a trip into Hertfordshire on July 20th.

Leaving at 7.30 a.m., the journey was via London to Broxbourne for an hour's ringing. St. Andrew's. Hertford. was visited before lunch. The afternoon tower was Braughing, and after tea at Bishop's Stortford, the towers of Sawbridgeworth and Harlow.

Our thanks are due to incumbents for the use of the bells, and to local ringers who kindly met us and made the day so enjoyable.

\section*{LETTERS TO THE EDITOR}

\section*{THE MAJOR PROBLEM}

Dear Sir,-If the discussions at this year's Central Council meeting achieve nothing more than to provoke forthright comments like those of Mr. Humphriss and the North Staffordshire Association (' R.W.', August 2nd), they will have been worth while.
Both, in my view, were right in pointing out that the wording of the two motions concerned with the College of Campanology were such that any vote on them would be at best an expression of opinion rather than a decision. However, in fairness to Council members there, I think it should be said that most of them did realise this, if not before the discussion, they did an hour-and-a-half later when we decided to pass to the next business. Council, after all, has as much right to express an opinion as its critics !
Fascinating though these subjects are, I think we can safely leave matters of procedure in the Central Council to its Standing Committee, and the destiny of the College of Campanology in its own hands. At the back of these discussions there is a matter which should be of great concern to us all.

There are all over Britain hundreds of towers in which the bells are not rung at all on Sundays, and many, many more where they are rung most inadequately. I doubt whether much more than half can be rung adequately every Sunday. This concerns us all, for the Associations to which we all belong were formed, and still exist, to promote Sunday service ringing. They all say so in their constitutions in one way or another. Although things might be better, I am certain they would be very much worse if it were not for the tremendous amount of hard work put in by these Associations since the latter part of the 19th century.

We have, nevertheless, reached rather a static condition and must think about how we should organise our effort more effectively. The effort must be to train bands of ringers, rather than individuals, to be as much part of their own church as of the ringing Associations. The magnitude of the task needs no emphasis, but I am sure it is not beyond us.
As a start, I believe, with Mr. Humphriss, that the Central Council could help a great deal by asking a few of its members to put their heads together in committee to think about this problem and report back some practical advice for the Associations. I hope they would have the courage to be bold and, if necessary, revolutionary in their recommendations. Backed by the weight of the Council's discussion and approval, such ideas could be valuable all over the country

At present the Council are prepared to give advice about bell-hanging and preservation, method construction, peal boards and other things, but not on the most important problem of all-the silent and jangling towers. This is a pity.-Yours, etc.,

PHILIP GRAY.
Bristol.

\section*{THE TWO HARBYS}

Dear Sir,-Replying to Major E. F. M. Samson's letter (p. 499, August 2nd), the 5 -bell tower of Harby, Notts, is Harby near Lincoln. It lies about nine miles due west of Lincoln, but about half-a-mile over the Nottinghamshire border. Harby, Leicestershire, also a 5 -bell tower, lies about the same distance from the Nottinghamshire border, some nine miles due north from Melton Mowbray.

Granby, Notts, has five bells, not four.Yours, etc.,
R. H. DOVE.

\section*{CHRISTMAS EVE, 1918}

Dear Sir,-In answer to your enquirer of lines of poem, here is the complete verse, written by Robort Bridges in 1918. To me it is very beautiful ; he had, I think, been in early days a ringer himself. I have often wondered why it is not more widely known, especially amongst ringers.

\section*{Christmas Eve, 1918}

A frosty Christmas Eve. When the stars were shining, Fared I forth alone
Where westward falls the hill
And from many a Village
In the watered valley
Distant music reached me-
Peals of bells aringing.
The constellated sounds
Rang sprinkling on earth's floor,
As the dark vault above
With stars was spangled o'er.
Now blessed be the Towers
That crown England so fair
That stand up strong in prayer
Unto God for our Souls.
Blessed be their founders
An' our Country folk.
Who are ringing for Christ
In the belfreys tonight,
With arms lifted to clutch
The rattling ropes that race
Into the dark above
And the mad romping din.

But to me heard afar
It was starry music-
Angels' song comforting
As the comfort of Christ,
When He spake tenderly
To His sorrowing flock.
Note this was written just at the ending of the First World War.

Yours sincerely,
W. A. OSBORN.

Galhampton, Yeovil.
Note.-We thank Norman Pearson, Miss Jenny Armstrong and other ringers for their replies.-Ed.

\section*{ANTI-CLOCKWISE}

Dear Sir,-Mr. Morris' letter is interesting. Why bells were hung anti-clockwise is a question which I do not think has ever been satisfactorily answered.

My first experience of an anti-clockwise ring was at Gravesend as a boy, and for the next 50 years I enquired the reason for left-handed rings from ringers in all walks of life, including bellfounders and ringing architects, without success.

It was Mr. John Wheadon (now of Wilmslow, Cheshire), prior to the war after either a peal or meeting at Northfleet (an anti-clockwise ring), who gave me the most convincing reply.

His theory was that in olden times bellfounders would cast the bells and hang them, but would not make the frames. This would be done by the local carpenter or wheelwright who, in the absence of any plans or designs, fixed them upside down.

There are not many ringers now who, like myself, have rung peals on anti-clockwise rings of eight, ten and 12. Now that Cambridge bells have been rehung it can never happen again.-Yours sincerely,
E. BARNETT.

Crayford.

Dear Sir,-Mr. Nolan Golden's remarks on his interesting article on compositions. on the musical qualities which can be obtained by the use of 6ths place bobs in Bristol Surprise Major prompts me to send the following peal, which I put together about eight years ago after a discussion with Mr. Maurice Hodgson. It will be seen that apart from one 'blot,' the peal consists entirely of the 12 courses with the 6th at Home almost complete) and the other 12 combinations of 4-5-6 in 5-6 (slightly less complete) in the minimum number of changes. Yours faithfully,
E. A. BARNETT.

\section*{JACKDAWS IN THE BELFRY}

Dear Sir,-I could not help thinking of all the previous articles titled 'Bats in the Belfry' when I read this extract from our local 'Evening News ':-

It is not bats in the belfry that workmen will have to contend with at Iping Church, but jackdaws.
- Before repairs can be started to the church countless jackdaws' nests from the belfry will have to be removed.
- It is estimated that there are two cartloads of sticks and other nesting materials to be cleared. The heap almost reaches the one old bell, dated 1616, now hanging.
- To prevent the nuisance in future (the birds' chattering also often interferes with services) the louvres in the tower will be covered with wire netting.
'Among other work to be done to the church is the replacing of broken tiles and repairs to the guttering and to the lead roof of the tower.'

Yours, etc..
ALAN A. J. BUSWELL.
Havant.

\section*{A BELL MUSIC QUERY}

Dear Sir,-The letter of P. M. Whitaker (' Ringing World,' July 26th, 1957) raises an interesting point.

It is. however. incorrect to say that the only disadvantage of his system over the conventional 13 bells would be the loss of a ring of six. In addition to this ring of six in the major key, the four rings in the minor key would also be lost (one of ten, one of eight and two of six).

I believe that at Buckfast Abbey the bells are rung in the minor key during Lent.

1 agree that the ring of 12 he suggests would probably sound better with a sharpened second. Perhaps the Buckfast Abbey ringers with the 14 bells at their disposal would like to try it out by leaving out the third and eighth instead of the usual second and eighth.-Yours faithfully,

ROY W. STICKLING.

\section*{FOUR-BELL TOWERS IN KENT}

Dear Sir,-Replying to Mr. Head's letter in - The Ringing World ' of August 2nd, Boughton Aluph had a ring of five. To the eternal shame of the diocesan authorities these pre-Reformation bells were sold as scrap. This fact is mentioned in the current edition of Mr. Dove's Ringer's Guide.
To Mr. Davis' letter, on the same subject, in the issue dated July 19th, I give the following information. According to Stahlschmidt's 'Church Bells of Kent' the Bicknor ring were, or are, all steel bells. Mr. Dove does not include them in his current list of steel rings but Mr. Davis mentions them as existing. The bells are given as having diameters of \(15,18 \frac{1}{2}, 20\) and 21 inches respectively, and were hung in 1862.

On the same authority (Stahlschmidt, 1887) Newnham had treble and second unmarked while the third is marked 'Pack and Chapman, 1772.' The tenor is given as having a diameter of \(33 \frac{1}{2} \mathrm{in}\)., probably about 8 cwt . in A sharp, and is attributed to Stephen Norton, 1363-1381.
In 1887 there were two other 4-bell towersStaple and Wormshill. Neither of these is listed by Mr. Dove so cannot have been augmented but may have been partially scrapped. Staple's bells included a third, considered to have been cast by Richard Hille, circa 1420, and a 41 in . tenor by Joseph Hatch, 1623, probably \(12 / 13 \mathrm{cwt}\). in F sharp. Treble and second were by John Hodson, 1680. This church has an early 13th century tower.
Wormshill is credited with a treble and a tenor of steel by Naylor Vickers and Co., 1863. The second and third were by R. Phelps, 1718. It is possible that Mr. Davis is confusing this ring with Bicknor which, he says, has treble and tenor of steel.
I am hoping someone will come forward and tell me that all these 'oil drums' have been scrapped. The church at Wormshill was heavily restored in 1879 and 1901, so that it may now have only two real bells. Any information will be appreciated.-Yours very truly,
G. H. DOWSETT.

\section*{A VISIT TO NORTHERN IRELAND}

Dear Sir.-I would like, through 'The Ringing World,' to thank members of the Irish Association of the towers of St. Thomas', Belfast; St. Comgall's. Bangor; St. Mark's, Dundela, and Holywood for the warm welcome I received in their belfries on Sundays and practice nights during my two weeks' holiday in \(\mathbf{N}\). Ireland.

The English visitor to Ireland. be he ringer or layman, always receives kind hospitality and friendship
The newly-formed band at Dundela are to be congratulated on the progress they are making in change-ringing under the leadership of Mr. Frank Fagg; this tower had a new ring of ten installed about 18 months ago.
Thank you, Ulster.-Yours, etc.,
Gravesend, Kent.
T. E. G. TAYLOR.
