We regret to hear that the Rev. D. P. Roberts, Vicar of Whiston, Lancs, is a patient in Whiston Hospital.

Of the 18 attempts, 11 peals were scored during Mr. Pat Cannon's peal tour, centred on Reading. Highlight was the first peal of Surprise Royal at High Wycombe.

Mr. Ernest Morris has written a short historical and descriptive account of the Prebendal Church of St. Margaret, Leicester. It is beautifully illustrated and written in an entertaining style. The price is 1 s .6 d ., and profits are devoted to the Church Funds.

\section*{A WEEK-END IN THREE COUNTIES}

HOLLOWING the success of last year's Bladon's Bank Holiday weekend special,' when four Surprise peals were rung in three counties, he decided to arrange a similar venture for this year. The result was again very satisfactory, and another four Surprise peals were accomplished.
There were a few heartburns early on Saturday morning when Derek Jones, who was expected at Swindon on Friday evening, phoned up to say that he was still at Derby, having had battery trouble coming from Scotland: The time was 8.25 a.m., and something had to be done urgently as we were due at Bampton at 9.45! Brian rushed round to see his friend, Tony Peake, and persuaded him to come immediately! Many thanks, Tony, for helping us out. As the main means of transport was Derek's 'Rolls,' we had to run for the bus at 8.50 !

The peal at Bampton gave particular pleasure to the writer, as it replaced a failure there during a tour in 1955, when he had to 'retire' in the last course, mainly due to lack of oil on the bells. This time he was determined to succeed, and as often happens when one is expecting a rough passage, a very comfortable peal was scored on these fine 'Old-style' bells, though Ralph Bird had plenty of work on the fifth!

Ralph Bird kindly 'ferried' us to Clanfield, where we had an excellent lunch at the Plough, and we hired a taxi to take us to Faringdon for the afternoon attempt. Mr. C. I. G. Pearce had everything ready for us, and the very apologetic Derek was mildly admonished! A good peal of Superlative was rung at a very brisk pace, and Stephen wrung out his vest after 'That's all.'
Before returning to Swindon we paid a visit to Uffington ( \(5,15 \mathrm{cwt}\).), and Mr. R. Iles, the churchwarden's son, and local captain, kindly gave permission for us to have a short ring on a 'country five,' hung in an octagonal tower. He complimented us on our ringing; and it is also worthy of mention that a lady at Faringdon came from a house by the church and said how much she had enjoyed our peal.
On return to Swindon, Ralph Edwards, the 'Taylor' specialist, was awaiting us at the Wheatsheaf, having come from Ebbw Vale, with the sad story of a broken rope! There is a fortune waiting for the firm who can design an unbreakable bell-rope!

We started off on Sunday with service ringing at Christ, Church, Swindon, one of the finest 'Taylor' tens anywhere, and then drove the 20 miles to Malmesbury ( \(8,11 \mathrm{cwt}\).). Mr. Victor Hemus was delighted to see us, and renew acquaintance with George Fearn from Solihull days. After lunch at Swindon, we were ready for the afternoon attempt at Coln St. Aldwyn, Glos ( \(8,8 \frac{1}{2}\) cwt.).

\section*{HIS OLD FRIEND: ABRAHAM} RUDHALL
The writer, ably supported by the remainder. 'kidded' Ralph Edwards that he would thoroughly enjoy these bells! Correctly guessing that Ralph had not bothered to read the ' R.W.', page 468, he was told that they were a modern ring from a well-known foundry! It was not until we raised them in peal that he realised they were by his old friend, Abraham Rudhall! The laughter that followed probably caused us to take the attempt for Rutland less seriously than usual. and after a slight trip in 20 minutes, the conductor called 'Stand.' The writer was testing the 'go' of the fifth, and the rope broke at the second pull, so we should have lost it anyway. An interesting question: "Would R. G. E. have met his first "Waterloo" on the 6 cwt. seventh if we had continued?' Incidentally, the crown staple of the fifth was so loose that the clapper could strike anywhere! After a chat with Mr. W. A. Godwin, local District secretary, we obtained permission to ring at Hatherop ( \(6,7 \mathrm{cwt}\).), and found there a merry little ring.
Mr. W. J. Dixon gave us a warm welcome at Burford ( \(8,17 \mathrm{cwt}\) ), and the musical 'Gillett and Johnston' bells were soon going to a touch of six-spliced, conducted by the Bedfordshire genius, Stephen Ivin. Mr. Dixon called us a touch of Stedman, his favourite method, and we finished with Grandsire.

After a snack at the Barn Cafe, we took the road to Kempsford ( \(6,16 \mathrm{cwt}\).), where the genial young vicar was delighted to see us, and pointed out the interesting features of his wonderful church and its associations with John of Gaunt. A course of London and Cambridge soon convinced those who had not rung there before that the peal of Caernarvon Delight rung last year, with four of our band, was a most creditable performance!
Our morning tower for Monday was Aldbourne ( 8,19 cwt.). As the draught of rope is over 80 feet, it was with some trepidation that we started for London. However, a good peal was rung, and Ralph Bird had the pleasure of calling his first peal in the method. Brian made a good job of the tenor, although he is usually found on the light end and amongst a band of tenor ringers proved that he can handle a large bell equally as well as a small one. Mr. T. A. Palmer had very kindly arranged lunch for us in the village hall, and we enjoyed a good meal.
Our last tower was the handy eight at Hungerford ( \(13 \frac{1}{2} \mathrm{cwt}\).), and we were welcomed by the Vicar and the local captain. Phil Mehew, who usually likes to ring the tenor to a 'slow and measured beat,' found that he really had to work to ring the peal of Bristol in 2 hours 36 minutes! Stephen Ivin called his first peal in the method, and showed us during the weekend what an exceptionally brilliant conductor he is, even at 19 .
Before we parted, Brian Bladon was duly thanked for arranging such an enjoyable and successful weekend. We are looking forward to meeting again, with the same band, and having another happy weekend, perhaps in another area.
A. P. C.

\section*{BATH AND WELLS DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION \\ West Buckland Visited after 47 Years}

Neither the inclement weather nor the national bus strike dampened the enthusiasm of the many ringers who attended the summer meeting of the Taunton Deanery, held at West Buckland on July 27th.
This was the Association's first meeting at West Buckland since 1909. and in his address the Vicar (Rev. J. Lloyd) expressed the hope that they would not wait a further 48 years before visiting the village again. The Vicar also reviewed the recent restorations carried out in the church, which had included the tuning and rehanging of the ring of six. Tea and the business meeting were held in the Village Hall, and the bells were put to good use until 9 p.m.
This meeting was notable for the great number of visitors present from towers as distant as Nailsea, Queen Camel and Woodbury (Devon); also for the great variety of methods rung, ranging through the standard methods to Spliced Treble Bob. Cambridge and Ipswich Surprise

\section*{MANCHESTER UNIVERSITY GUULDD'S SEMMER TOUR IN SONERSET}

\section*{(OR: \({ }^{6}\) THE UPS AND DOWNS OF THE RAVING RINGERS \({ }^{9}\) )}

Bthe evening of Sunday, July 14th, all of the Manchester contingent had arrived at Bristol Youth Hostel ; two (the two ' F's') had even set out a week earlier to get better acquainted (with the West of England-they hastened to add) and six of us had a pre-tour tower grab, dodging showers, in the morning at St. Mary Redcliffe (12), St. Stephen's (10) and the University tower of 'St. Michael's (6). After the Ringing Master had succeeded in having us thrown out of one cafe, and the ex-R.M. had poured his coffee down himself in another, the weather cleared to let us explore Bristol and 'lose' the two F's in the Clifton Caves, before returning for Evensong at Redcliffe.
Monday's ringing began, over the hill, on the mellow-toned eight at Chew Magna ( 28 cwt.), but quickly stopped at Blagdon when it was discovered that a chiming hammer was interfering with the swing of the fourth bell. The rector was informed and a protracted pienic lunch was therefore taken-with the 'braves, dancing around the two 'squaws' quietly buttering bread amidst a horde of wasps. Unfortunately, we arrived late at the fine tower and ring of ten at Wrington ( 37 cwt .), where we rang our first course of Surprise : our next course of Cambridge on the heavily-going 35 cwt . eight at Congresbury ended suddenly when the fifth's rope broke, but Superlative and Bristol turned out well on the grand cight at Yatton ( 21 cwt .).
A nine-mile ride from the too-cleverly hidden Youth Hostel at Clevedon (where our lady secretary mistook the men's dormitory for the cycle shed) brought us on Tuesday to Weston-super-Mare, to be joined by our two Southampton University companions, and guided in the pouring rain through the town (spontaneously re-christened '-sub-Mare') to the home of Mr. and Mrs. White, where we had the pleasure of seeing our last year colleague Janet looking so well and ringing handbells, and where the table was literally groaning under the weight of so much food. Several courses later we left for Banwell ( \(8,23 \mathrm{cwt}\).). Winscombe (one of the few less-than-a-ton eights) and the ton six at Axbridge, where we rang London and Spliced Kent and Oxford.

\section*{HOT WATER' HOSTEL}

After supper at the thot water' hostel at Cheddar, the local ringers were overwhelmed to find their practice night 'commandeered.' but the. they overwhelmed us with their 'Cheddar Surprise.' We returned on Wednesday morning to ring Superlative on this 23 cwt . eight, before going on to the 30 cwt . eight at Wedmore, where Yorkshire would not come round. although Cambridge did. Dampened we may have been physically, but certainly not spiritually at magnificent Wells Cathedral, whose 56 cwt . tenor inspired us to plain courses of Grandsire Caters, Bob Royal and a reasonably well struck three leads of Bristol. It was still pouring down when we went to the no-less-fine towers of Wells Parish Church, St. Cuthbert's \((8,27 \mathrm{cwt}\).)-where again Yorkshire would not come round-and Glastonbury ( \(8,26 \mathrm{cwt}\).), where we concentrated on Grandsire and Plain Bob.

After a rainy night at Street Y.H. (there was no lack of water for washing) and an unsucessful 'grab, of the 16 cwt . five at Walton, we arrived, after cycling 14 miles, at the excellent 25 cwt. ring at Bridgwater, where Superlative and Yorkshire did come round, as did London and Oswald Delight on the sixes at Wembdon and Durleigh. It was just before dropping the bells at the latter tower that one of the ladies was heard to remark: 'I keep coming adrift in the middle.' A few miles, a few hills, a few showers and a few cups of tea later, crossing the Quantock Hills, this statement was brought home to her very forcibly when her cycle chain 'came adrift in the middle' and she had to walk several miles (in torrential rain, of course) to Crowcombe Hostel.

Friday found us heading in hot sunshine (!) to Old Cleeve ( 18 cwt .) for Oswald Delight Major, Cambridge and Grandsire ; thence to the 14 cwt . six at Carhampton and the 21 cwt . eight at Dunster, where the ex-R.M. found that a puncture repair in the now familiar downpour (even next to an 'A.A.' box) is seldom permanent-a fact proved half-an-hour later when the operation had to be repeated, before proceeding to the hostel at Minehead, where we were to spend two consecutive nights. We were thus able to travel 'light' on Saturday, after ringing Bob Major, Royal and Double Norwich Caters on the grand ten here to the beautifullyroofed church at Selworthy ( 6,12 cwt.) and on westwards to Porlock's truncatedly-spired church -dedicated to St. Dubricius, who (traditionally) crowned King Arthur and married him to the ' fair lady Guinevere.'

\section*{UNUSUAL PHOTOGRAPHS}

A picnic lunch in a nearby field was interrupted by our old companion rain, but not before some rather unusual photographs of various people in various postures had been taken. Our applied mathematician, who here realised the non-academic meaning of 'the moment of a couple in a field.' pleaded that she - never feels safe when M- has his camera handy.' Retracing our tracks, we then made inland to the light six at Wootton Courtney to ring again Spliced Minor and to have tea with real strawberry jam, before returning to the hostel, where a serious discussion about the relative merits of the two Societies of Youths was interrupted in order to find (1) Tincture of Myrrh and Borax for 'Schwanda's' aching tooth, and (2) a spanner so that the Ringing Master could retune (?) the common-room piano!

It was here on the morning of Sunday, July 21st, that Cxrxl offered to Gxxffrxy her cardigan with the comment: ' It should just fit you'a statement capable (figuratively speáking) of several interpretations. We reclimbed the hill to St. Michael's Church ( 22 cwt .) to ring with the local ringers and attend morning service. After lunch, four members returned to attempt a handbell peal; but by the kindness of Mr. Pugsley and the local ringers we were able to ring a quarter of Bob Royal for Evensong. On returning to Minehead Hostel for our cycles for the 15 miles ride to Crowcombe Hostel-where the warden very kindly had hot soup waiting for us-our Ashton friend discovered another faulty inner-tube, which refused to be repaired and the cycle dealer was not in (not so surprising at 8 o'clock Sunday evening!) so that he stayed the night at Minehead and rejoined us next morning at Bishop's Lydeard, expecting to ring here and not at Taunton: but our organisers had succeeded in getting the scaffolding around the wrong tower, so that we left immediately for the stately tower of Taunton, whose 30 cwt . 12 were soon ringing rounds, Little Bob Maximus, Grandsire Cinques and Cambridge Royal.
Lunch was taken before ringing on the 22 cwt. eight at Ilminster. where Cxrxl had her cycle repaired (?)-with the result that she could only engage middle gear - and where Dxrxthy, apropos nothing in particular, said: 'I was most careful.' The 23 cwt . tenor in South Petherton's octagonal tower does not seem to be quite in key with the other seven bells; even so, an Austrian lady visitor did not appear to notice as she shuttled to and fro taking photographs of the ladies, who were trying to ring Plain Bob. There was no organised meal that evening, so we invaded the only cafe in Crewkerne open at that time. After enduring several 'renderings' on the juke box, there was a mass exodus to the tower to ring the standard methods and a not-too-well-struck course of Bristol at the local practice. A good fish and chips supper afterwards fortified us for the hill climb to Winyard's Gap Hostel-an old school, in which Gxxffixy discovered how to turn the windows between the two dormitories from merely translucent to transparent; and the warden thought that, on a photograph, Mxchxxl looked angelic!

Back down the hill and Tuesday's 'heavy, ringing began with Caters, Royal and Bristol on the two-ton ten at Yeovil, to be followed by the heaviest six and eight in the kingdom: the \(36 \frac{3}{5}\) cwt. tenor at Queen Camel turned in well to Cambridge and Bob Minor, and a course of our favourite Bristol and a touch of Stedman were struck reasonably well at massive Sherborne Abbey ( 46 cwt .). (The heaviest six, eight and ten (Wells) all in one week!) Another dark ringing room and the rough 'go' of the 28 cwt. eight at Milborne Port were not conducive to good striking, and we left a little disappointed with our performance; if only we could have made as good a show there as we did of the delicious buns and cakes so kindly provided by the 'Ringers' Friends,' Mr. and Mrs. White, we might have also rung better Minor at Marnhull ( 19 cwt .).
It was well worth cycling the 17 miles on Wednesday to Ditcheat for this lovely 24 cwt . eight and the very fine 21 cwt . ten, three miles away at Evercreech. It was en route to the latter tower, whilst we were discussing how and where we should have lunch, that a sudden hissing sound indicated that someone's tyre was letting him down, and so we adjourned to a conveniently-sited cafe for large platefuls of sausage, ham and eggs. The fine-toned Rudhall eight of 25 cwt . in the pinnacled tower at Shepton Mallet were soon sounding out. At Croscombe, the local ringers were amused to see our secretary 'drumming' behind on the treble, for a touch which, as those who know her can well imagine, soon changed hysterically from Grandsire Doubles to a double grand fire!

\section*{Even after bidding farewell next morning to} Michael and Paul, the course of Grandsire Triples could not be anything but good on the beautiful eight ( 24 cwt .) at Chewton Mendip. Here we reached the peak of a tour, and we are appreciative of being allowed to ring a good peal of Double Norwich-a token of thanks to all local ringers for an enjoyable 12 days. After the peak, the falling off: our Plain Bob and Stedman at Midsomer Norton and the Minor at Winford could have been better-or was it due to the secretary's stockinged feet? And so the prodigals returned to St. Mary Redcliffe again on practice night

On Friday, July 26th, we bade ' auf Wiedersehen' to Bristol and each other to wend our various ways, each of us with a vast store of memorics of a good tour and each wishing to thank all incumbents, tower captains and ringers for their ready hospitality; the Y.H.A. wardens for their tact and endurance; our retiring Master, Geoffrey D. Fearnehough, for (just) keeping us in control: and our secretary, Miss Carol Eustace, for doing her best.

Your chronicler : in or out of the belfry.BAT.

HEYWOOD, LANCS.-On July 7th, 1,260 Plan Bob Minor (rung on the front six with 7. 8 covering) : D. Butterworth 1, R. Maher 2. J. P. Partington 3. K. Abbott 4, J. Taylor 5, G. S. Mills (cond.) 6 T. Hurst 7, J. Mills 8. Runa on the anniversary of the Sunday School to celebrate the birth of a son (Ian Geoffrey) to the conductor and his wife, who is also a ringer at this church.

\section*{PETERBOROUGH DIOCESAN \\ Guilsborough Branch}

The Branch's annual visit to Hazelbech has always been noted for good ringing, a good attendance, a good tea and good weather. All these came up to expectations on August 10th, except the weather-heavy rain prevented visitors from seeing this lovely country church at its best.
The ringing varied from rounds and Grandsire Doubles to Cambridge and Yorkshire Surprise, a good standard of striking being maintained.
The total attendance was 58; apart from a good number of Branch members, visitors were present from Northampton. Kettering. Leicester, Coventry. Chilvers Coton, Stamford, Deddington and Great Glen.

Owing to the Vicar's absence on holiday, the usual service could not be held. but ringing was stopped at 5.15 p.m. for tea, served in the Milton Room by Miss Church and her helpers. At the short business meeting members were reminded of the evening practice meeting at Long Buckby on August 24th, and the next monthly meeting at West Haddon on September 14th.

Ringing continued during the evening until 9, when the bells were lowered in peal to end a most enjoyable meeting.

\section*{KENT COUNTY ASSOCIATION}

The quarterly meeting of the Tonbridge District was held on the first Saturday of August at St. Michael's Church. Marden. This rather scattered village has a very limited 'bus and train service. Despite this, quite a good number attended. Owing to a slider being out of order, the third bell had to be held by a series of volunteers.

The best striking was during a course of Bristol. The Ringing Master (Mr. Colin Tester) made sure the beginners had plenty of practice in rounds, call-changes and Grandsire. Ordinary ringers were catered for in Bob Major, Stedman and Double Norwich. A touch of Cambridge Major just did not go.
Some of the local ladies provided an excellent tea in the Parish Hall. The short service was conducted by the Vicar (Rev. C. G. Eagling), with the one and only Peter Bond at the organ. A very brief business meeting was presided over by Mr. B. Collison. A. F. W.

\section*{Peals of Royal at Hull}

In connection with the peal of Cambridge Surprise Royal rung at Hull on August 5th, it is interesting to note that only five peals of Royal had previously been rung on the bellsall Kent Treble Bob, and ranging over a period of some 48 years, viz. : March 14th, 1903 (conducted by the late Chas. Jackson); August 1st, 1904 (late G. Lindoff); May 12th, 1913 (late C. Glenn) ; May 24th, 1920 (late G. F. Williams) ; and May 19th, 1951 (G. E. Feirn). It was also in this tower that the late Charles Jackson called the first peal recorded 6y the Yorkshire Association on November 9th, 1875, which was J. Holt's Six-part peal of Grandsire Triples.

\section*{OBITUARY \\ THE REV. H. E. BENNETT}

Members of the S.W. Branch of the Guild of Devonshire Ringers heard with great regret that the Rev. H. E. Bennett, rector of Plympton St. Maurice, had died on August 12th, aged 65 years.

Mr. Bennett had just completed the blessing at Evensong on the Sunday when he was seen to stumble. A doctor was called, and he was taken to the Rectory where he died without regaining consciousness.
The Rector was very interested in ringers, and shortly after the war he learnt to ring and was a source of great encouragement to a young band of ringers. Although he did not take an active part in regular ringing, he frequently came into the belfry to join in the ringing. For three or four years he was chairman of the S.W. Branch of the Guild, and a great welcome was always extended to any meeting at his church.
The funeral took place at the church on August 16th, when the very large congregation was evidence of the great esteem with which the Rector had been held, many additional seats having to be brought in to seat the large gathering. About 20 clergy were present. The Requiem Mass was conducted by the Vicar of Plymstock, and the Bishop of Plymouth gave a short address.
The cortege was brought to the church on the previous evening, when touches were rung on the half-muffled bells by the ringers, under their captain, Mr. K. Farnham. Several of the ringers are also in the choir. Muffled touches were rung before and after the funeral service.
The S.W. Branch was represented by Mr, H. N. Thomas (Emmanuel, Plymouth), chairman, and Mr. T. G. Myles (St. Andrew's, Plymouth), hon. secretary and Ringing Master, and Messrs. G. Godard and W. Collier (Emmanuel). Some ten members of the local band were present. H. H T.

\section*{RINGERS' OUTING \\ COTLEIGH, DEVON}

The Cotleigh band of ringers, accompanied by some ringing friends from Honiton and Buckerell, set off at 9 a.m. on Thursday, August 1 st , on a day's outing.
The first call was at Whimple, where after an hour's ringing some members found it necessary to buy ice-creams to keep cool. Another hour's ringing was enjoyed at Clyst St. George, where the bells have been tuned and rehung since the church was bombed early in the war.
Next on to Topsham, where after a quick lunch some more ringing was enjoyed. Then having just over an hour to spare it was decided to visit Powderham, where after visiting the Rector and the captain of the ringers it was found possible to ring, and this was very much appreciated.
Tea was then taken in Exeter, and after this the party moved on to Upton Pyne. Here we were joined by another Cotleigh ringer, and the enlarged party, after ringing at the church. moved on to Brampford-Speke to enjoy ringing on this light ring of bells.

The last tower visited was Pinhoe, where Grandsire, Stedman and Bob Doubles were rung. The party left very tired but happy after an enormously successful outing.

Mr. Sparks. captain of Cotleigh band and organiser of the trip, would like to thank the incumbents and the captains of the towers visited for their co-operation. C. W.

WRSTERLEIGH, GLUS.-On Aug. 8th, \(\mathbf{1 , 2 6 0}\) Grandsire Doubles: Mrs. E. Monk 1, A. Lawrence 2. P. Delaney 3, J. Ferris 4, H. T. Ferris (cond.) 5, S. Clark 6. Rung half-muffled in memoriam Mrs. A. J. S. M. Lowers, wife of the Vicar.

\section*{HASLEMERE, SURREY}

Beginning at St. John Baptist, New Alresford, ringers from Haslemere rang in five 8 -beli towers during their outing on August Bank Holiday. At St. Martin's, Salisbury, we were made very welcome, and ringing was enlivened by the failure of the fifth to pull off for a course of Grandsire. Lunch, and a visit to the Cathedral, followed; then rowing on the river and (safer and less damp) handbell ringing on the bank. The route to Andover was then stretched to include Stonehenge, where we met Bank Holiday crowds for the first time.
St. Mary's, Andover, alarmed us by the ascent to the ringing chamber and the oscillation of its tower while the bells were rung; but in spite of this, and the girders supporting the clock mechanisms, we had a good ring, and were very ready for tea at the end of it. Our two last towers were St. Mary's, Overton, and St. Michael's, Basingstoke. In the former we found more clock mechanism, and in the latter mauve sallies and a beautiful peal book: in both, a very friendly welcome and some enjoyable ringing. We should like to thank everyone who helped to make the outing so successful.

\section*{NO NEW TIPS}

IN the course of my visits to towers I am sometimes asked: 'Have you any new tips for instructors and pupils?' Candidly, I confess that the answer is 'No,' because all the tips are contained in various text books now available, or have from time to time appeared in this paper. Books are a great help, but it is only by constant practice that the beginner gets real bell control, which is of great importance. Bell control is not just catching the sally and keeping the bell up: it means being able to put it in its place this time, next time and all the time.

Care should be taken to develop an 'ear,' also accuracy in spacing, before being rushed into half-pull ringing; and a valuable help in addition to good rounds is a spell at call-changes, so that the pupil can correctly gauge the spacing to bo allowed over big and small bells. Until the bell can be placed with precision in call-changes the learner can hardly be expected to do so at every half-pull, and by careful teaching much putting the bell 'somewhere' among the rest can be avoided. Another important factor is patience, especially when it comes to the stages between bell control and half-pull ringing. because listening to the striking of your own bell and striving to gauge correctly may make all the difference between becoming a good or bad striker.

Much more has been written on the teaching of beginners in the pages of this paper since 1911. and in this article I have confessed to 'no new tips ': therefore I do not attempt to cover everything embodied in what some people call the "drudgery' period, because practical experience, a good teaching, and the keen desire to be a worthy ringer will soon change the word drudgery to rudimentary.

There is a wide gulf between handling a bell in rounds or call-changes and the theory, coupled with ropesight, of half-pull ringing. Pencil and paper work can be started at any stage of the instruction period-the sooner the better, because of a further interest to pursue often away from the tower-but beware of cramming too much into the pupil for a start. or this may result in conveying the impression that the subject is too complicated and confusing.

Some time ago conflicting views were expressed regarding the best method to teach the pupil for starting his career in change-ringing-Grandsire or Plain Bob: some advocated the former, chiefly because the tenor covered behind to give other bells a leading point, while others for other reasons voted for Plain Bob. Being a question of opinion, it does not matter very much which is taught first so long as it is realised that both are essential if progress is to be made. Seeing the method on paper and then making a first attempt to ring it is often very confusing to the pupil; but if a quicker look out for the next bell is cultivated instead of dwelling too long on one bell a clearer insight can be obtained.

In 1701 many young change-ringers were first taught to distinguish the notes of a ring of bells, imitating them with the voice and, if necessary, getting the help of a singing master. Probably this was done to enable the pupil to ring by ear and eye, but I doubt if such a course would appeal to instructors in these days. Listen to your bell has been a leading maxim with us for centuries; and it is team work which helps to attain good striking, steady progress and sustained interest in an art where intelligence and skill enables us to perform work for the Church of a highly technical degree.

As time goes on, many changes take place in the ranks of those who manipulate the bells, and sometimes we pause and realise what difficulties must be faced. While we have tho past to reflect upon for our guidance we must look to the future. All present efforts must more or less have a bearing on the future, so let us strive that those wha follow on may have cause to rejoice and be thankful that we have left them a goodly heritage, and the example of good works and zealous striving for the retention of all that is good and true in our services for Church and country.

At some ringers' services surprise is expressed by the clergy at the number of young ringers attending the meetings, and this is a good sign. Transport is easier and more varied: meetings are held in order to give everyone a pull: and if the Ringing Master does not happen to call out something to suit your requirements just try and tell him about it, so that he may not overlook you.

Much of the ground covered by this article has appeared in various forms from time to time in this paper, and much more could be written on the subject, but I hope some portions may prove helpful even though I have no new tips.

\section*{OUTINGS}

\section*{PORTISHEAD AND WRAXALL}

We in Somerset consider ourselves fortunate in that the county abounds with lovely rings of bells; and where in the whole country could one find two grander rings of eight than in Ditcheat and Ilminster-the first and last towers visited by the Portishead and Wraxall ringers on their outing?

The first part of the route took us past the new Chew Valley Lake, over the Mendips and down to Ditcheat, where Mr. H. C. Lintern kindly met us. It did not take long to realise why Ditcheat is such a popular target for visiting ringers-for their weight the "go' is exceptional and their 'voice' is grand

We journeyed on into Dorset, but owing to traffic congestion and the coach driver having taken the wrong road, it was nigh dinner time when we arrived at Beaminster. If the ringing here was not quite up to standard we certainly couldn't blame 'Old Bilbie'; indeed the bells themselves leave little to be desired. We felt we didn't do them full justice-it may be that our stomachs were beginning to gnaw, or was it the green sallies that put us off our hest?
We halted at Bridport for lunch, but the weather was not kind and by the time we reached Lyme Regis it was raining heavily, and any hopes of 'basking on the beach were shattered. Several ringers were suddenly inspired with the idea. "Would it be possible to get the Lyme Regis bells? ' (without prior notice). We were fortunate in tracking down Mr. J. S. Morris, who very readily came to our aid and used his persuasive powers on the Vicar, with the result that we were soon in the belfry, accompanied by Mr. Morris and his friend from Leicester, and there followed some most enjoyable ringing; and we felt that if only we could join up with these two gentlemen more often our standard would soon soar. Thank you, Mr. Morris, for your great kindness.

Following a good tea at Axminster, we proceeded to IIminster, where the Vicar kindly awaited us. Compared with Lyme Regis, these bells are on the heavy side, but we felt that the extra effort needed was fully rewarded by the magnificent ' booming ' richness of tone-something to be remembered. This completed our ringing for the day, winich had been confined to Grandsire and Stedman. and we were reasonably pleased with the standard of striking attained. It was a happy and satisfied party that made its way homeward

\section*{NORTH STONEHAM}

The annual outing of St. Nicholas', North Stoncham, ringers this year took the form of a day in Oxford where six different towers were visited. the bells generally being rather difficult to manage : we did, nevertheless, get some quite creditable ringing, especially at St. Mary Magdalene and the Carfax tower. The highlight of the trip perhaps was a 'surprise extra' on the way home, when we rang at East Ilsley for about 20 minutes around 9 p.m., thanks to the kindness and hospitality of the rector and the tower captain. The experiences of the day were invaluable, but one thing is certain-we appreciated ail the more our own lovely ten the next day! I am sorry, however, that there were not more of our own band who were able to make the trip, for all who went, including some non-ringers, had a very enjoyable d.y indeed.

SMITH - SEATON
Two well-known Sunday service ringers of St. Mary s, Wistaston. Mr. J. Derek Smith, tower captain. and Miss Rosemary Seaton, were married on August 17th by the Rector (Rev. G. M. Morgan-Wynne), who made a very special effort, after his long illness, to officiate.
The best man was Mr. Kenneth Mackintosh who, before his appointment as organist of St. Giles. Oxford, was a ringer in this tower, as also was the groomsman, Mr. Michael Lindop. Mr. Alan Sharples (Swindon) was the organist

The reception was held at Churche's Mansion. a lovely Cheshire black and white, and many telegrams and letters of congratulation and good wishes were received.

The ringing was directed by Mr. Anthony (Tony) Trickett, the lower secretary. St. Mary's. Wistaston, is the rendezvous of the 'B.Y.P.'s and 'N.S.B.'s' of the Crewe Branch of the Chester Guild, and as 'Owd Bat-er is interested, he would like to be included amongst the 'B.Y.P.'s.' There was some good ringing and good " lìring.

Oiher ringers taking part were Brian Porter. Frank Moreton, Keith Collier, Tony Henshall, Edward Smith-oh, yes, and 'Owd Bat-er': and just one word to the 'B.Y.P.'s': two hands, please. for both strokes: you know the old saying-Familiarity CAUSES TROUBLE. ' OWD BAT-ER.

\section*{At Eastham, Cheshire \\ AGG - MUIRHEAD}

Two well-known ringers, Mr. A. Rex Agg and Miss C. Anne Muirhead. were married at St. Mary's Church. Eastham, Cheshire, on August 17th.

The bridegroom. a native of Wolverhampton. was a prominent member of the Cumberland and North Westmorland Association during the period when he worked at the Winscales factory. Sellafield. He is also a member of the University of London Society, and is now resident at Hitchin. The bride is a former secretary of the Manchester University Guild and a member of the Eastham band.
The bride, who was given away by her father. wore a white full-length dress of figured brocade with a headdress of orange blossom and a waist-length veil. She carried a spray of red roses.
The bridesmaids-Miss H. Muirhead, Miss C. F. Jones and Miss S. Muirhead-wore fulllength dresses of powder blue broderie-anglaise and carried bouquets of pink roses. Mr. Graham McKay was best man. Ringing before and after the ceremony was provided by the local band. The reception was held at The Mount. Eastham, the premises of the Chester and North Wales Gliding Club. The honeymoon is being spent in Wales.
A peal attempt in the evening at Eastham was unsuccessful, but a quarter peal was rung. the band including two of the bridesmaids, the best man and one of the ushers.

\section*{At Nottingham HARRISON - TOPLIS}

The wedding took place on August 10th at St. Alban's Church, Nottingham, of Miss Barbara Toplis, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Toplis, of Nottingham, and Mr. W. Rodney Harrison, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Harrison, of Ockbrook. Derbyshire.

The bride, who was given away by her father, wore a gown of white figured brocade with train. an elbow-length circular veil and a headdress of white pearl orange blossom and stephanotis, She carried a white missal with a spray of salmon pink roses and lilies-of-thevalley.

The best man was the bridegroom's brother. Mr. J. S. Harrison. The bride was attended by Miss June Soar. A reception was held at the Elite Restaurant. Nottingham, at which a short demonstration of handbell ringing was given by the bridegroom, best man and Mr. M. Bailey. The bridegroom, who recently graduated from Leeds University, is a member of the Derby District of the Derbyshire Association, for whom he has participated in numerous peals. The honeymoon is beingl spent in Scotland.

\section*{Police As Hosts}

Bolto.1 Borough Police Athletic Club have invited ringers, their wives and friends to their athletic ground for bowls and other games and a social in the evening. The function will be held in the spring of next year.
This is a revival of an annual fixture arranged by the Bolton Police Athletic Club before the war. The invitation was accepted with gratitude by the Bolton Branch ringers at their meeting on August 24th.

\section*{Meeting at Wylam}

The Western and Northern Districts held their joint meeting in most pleasant surroundings at Wylam on July 17th. The bells were kept going from 3 o'clock until 8 p.m., except for a break, when tea was taken in the hall. followed by the usual business meeting.

Tha president of the Association was present and Mr. Stephen Thompson, who would have occupied the chair, asked Mr. Ken Arthur to do so. As this was the last District meeting of the year, officers had to be nominated for the annual Association meeting in September. Mr. Thompson, who has held the vice-president's position in the Western District for 11 years, wished to be relieved of the post, and proposed Mr. Kenneth Cheeseman, of Tanfield, to fill the vacancy. Kit Lamb was renominated secretary.

For the Northern District both Messrs. A. Ainsworth and G. Deas were renominated vice-president and secretary respectively. The chairman referred to the death of Mr. J. E. R. Keen and asked those present to stand for a moment in memory of this grand example of a ringer.

Mr. Arthur then presented a gift to Mr. Steve Thompson on behalf of the members, to show their appreciation of his work. This was in the form of a book. 'Towers and Bells of Great Britain, and a pipe. Steve was taken by surprise (and showed it). Thanking all for the gift, he said he only did what any othen ringer would have done.

\section*{HERTS COUNTY ASSOCIATION}

\section*{St. Albans District}

The August meeting of the St. Albans District, held at Kimpton on August 17th, was well attended, bearing in mind that Kimpton is more off the beaten track than most churches in this district.

A service was taken by the Vicar (Rev. C. J. Hancock), after which about 25 members sat down to an excellent tea in the Vicarage. arrangements for which had been made by the local hand.

A short business meeting followed, with the Vicar in the chair. New members elected included some from the new band being formed at St. Stephen's, St. Albans, which was reported to be making good progress. It was stated that it was hoped to arrange for the September meeting to be held at Harpenden. The meeting closed with votes of thanks to the Vicar, the organist and to those responsible for tea. Ringing continued in a variety of methods for the rest of the evening. Ringers came from most of the towers in the district and from as far afield as Clifton in Bedfordshire. M. A. C.

\section*{Eastern District}

A meeting of the Eastern District was held on August 11 th at Great Munden. The 'go of the bells was reasonable, considering that they had not been rung previously for two years.

Ringing took place until 4.30, when a short service was held. The more pleasant six at Little Munden were open after tea, and some good ringing by both learners and others was enjoyed. It is hoped to hold the next District meeting at Widford in September. C. E. H.

\section*{A DAY IN MID-KENT}

On August 17th a selected (if perhap not select!) party of ringers from Newington. Hythe, Folkestone, Houghton Conquest (Beds) and Cheltenham spent a day among the 6 -bell towers near Maidstone. We arrived at Hollingbourne ( 6,16 cwt.), the first tower. 4) minutes early-an event unique in the writers experience. An enjoyable time was had on this pleasant ring, and the newcomers to Martins Maniacs. Inc.. had their bewildered introduction to the organiser's methodical system of cataloguing every detail of the ringing.

Mr. Gosling was waiting to meet us at Boxley ( \(6,12 \frac{1}{2} \mathrm{cwt}\).), and after our driver had rescued an errant member from a nearby 'telephone kiosk. the day's first course of Kent was rung, amongst other touches. A pienic lunch then on to Bearsted, with its fast-moving 11 cwt. six, where Mr, George Cantrill joined us in a touch.
After the easy-going ring here, the six (15 cwt.) at Boughton Monchelsea, which are rung from the chancel. proved something of a handful, and we finally came away with a healthy respect for the band that recently rang a peal here. The 16 cwt . six at Chart Sutton are another ground floor ring, and an hour's ringing was enjoyed here before tea.

Another ground floor ring at East Sutton ( 6 , 10 cwt .) was judged by one or two to be the nicest of the day-from inside the belfry! To make up for three ground floor rings in a row, our step-counter from Beds informed us that the 37 steps at the last tower, Utcombe (6, 16 cwt.), were the most we'd met to date-a fact all too apparent to the writer! The ringing here was not up to our best, but our 'bellgrabber" succeeded in ringing his 42 nd bell of the day, in spite of the growing lethargy (' Oh, there are enough without me!'). C. A. W.

\section*{BELFRY}

Caters for his 85th birthday, in a faultless style. He has rung at this tower since 1888 and has been captain for many years. This length of service must be nearly a record. The ringers much appreciated his kindness after the quarter.
Miss D. Margaret Hawley, of Sherburn-inElmet, is the first lady to ring 100 peals for the Yorkshire Association.

Mr. J. Allen, now 80, rang the tenor to the quarter peal at Great Hascley, Oxon, on August 16th-his first quarter for 'nigh on 40 years."
By ringing the tenor to the peal of Plain Bob Major at Knebworth Parish Church on August 17th, Mr. E. G. Buck, president of the Hertford' County Association, has now "circled the tower.'
The preacher at the summer festival of the Peterborough Diocesan Guild to be held at Green's Norton on September 7th will be the Lord Bishop of Peterborough. It has now been ascertained that repairs to the spire at Green's Norton are sufficiently advanced to permit ringing on the bells (in addition to those advertised in 'The Ringing World' on August 9th and 16th), which will be available from 2 p.m
Ringers and friends of St. Mary's, Eastbourne, enjoying an excellent outing to Isle of Wight towers on August 17th. were appreciative of the amount of organising work by the secretary, Mr. R. W. Pankhurst, and Mrs. Pankhurst. The task was doubled by the fact that the original plans were upset at the eleventh hour by the transport strike. and much midnight oil was burned and many frantic telegrams despatched to ensure the eventual success of the day.

\section*{GOSSIP}

According to "The Times,' Mr. Alan Hartley, secretary of the Society of Rambling Ringers, has during his ten years of bellringing rung in more than 200 churches and cathedrals. Having already achieved his ambition of ringing all the "tens ' and 'twelves' in the country, he is working through the 'fives' and 'sixes:

We have received a copy of the Manual (Part I) of the College of Campanology. About half of the first edition is already sold.

The oack three bells of St. Martin's, Epsom. have recently been rehung on ball-bearings. There will be a combined practice in this tower next Monday.

In connection with the Tonbridge District meeting at Cowden on September 7th, Col. Seragg has arranged transport for tea. Will those attending please note the amended notice.

Walberton, Sussex, are losing two of their lady ringers - Sylvia Streater and Jean Egerton - who are entering the nursing profession. A farewell peal was rung at Walberton on August 11th. Good luck to you both.

Mrs. D. M. Brown has given a fine oak book- and handbell-case to St. Nicholas', North Stoneham, belfry in memory of her father, the late Mr. William T. Tucker, who served St. Nicholas' for over 50 years as ringer, sidesman and member of the P.C.C. The book-case was dedicated on July 21st.

For the peal arranged for Mr. and Mrs. Sherwood's silver wedding at Ash, Surrey, it was originally intended that an "outs der' should conduct. When the band met, however, five of them insisted that Peter Sherwood should 'have a go' at conducting, and eventually he agreed to do so-successfully.

\section*{HONOUR FOR RAMBLING RINGERS}

The Society of Rambling Ringers had the honour of a mention in 'The Times ' of their visit to York Minster on Aug. 15th as follows:
'The Society's secretary', Alan Hartley, aged 21, of Leeds, a handicrafis student at Shoreditch College, led the ringers into York Minster last night, where they had an hour of sheer joy on the Minster bells. In succession they rang Cambridge Surprise Royal. Grandsire Caters, Double Norwich Major on the back eight and the Grand Cinques on 12. [Presumably Grandsire Cinques, though many wnuld say "Grand Cinques" must surely be Stedman-Ed. 1
'Mr. Harold Walker, president of the York Society of Change Ringers, who said "We only allow the Minster bells to be rung by people who know what they are doing," thought that the Rambling Ringers had done very well.

\section*{LEAVING BELLS UP}

Dear Sir,-il was not surprised that the rather strong adjectives in my letter about leaving bells down (' R.W.', page 497) evoked criticism from some 12 -bell ringers.

Mr. Barron and 'Nemo,' of Liverpool, point out some practical difficulties in dealing with heavy rings. I admit that there must be a good many places where it is impractical to leave the bells down; I no more want to pull up a 40 cwt . tenor twice on a Sunday than either Mr. Barron or 'Nemo' does.

But may I ask them to think for a moment of the vast majority of country towers with lesser numbers of bells, and tenors between 5 and 15 cwt .? Surely it is here that there is less excuse for leaving the bells up. The heavy rings in cathedral churches are often tucked away high in ly towersl where it would take an army half-an-hour to reach them; so this only adds to the case for the bells being left up.
Drawing a comparison between the accessibility of the bells in these two types of towers, however, surely it is true that anyone wishing to climb up to the bells would have far less trouble in doing so in a small country lower. The danger then is more apparent here than in such towers as Mr. Barron's.

We ringers like to be in the public eye, but not in the sense that the Okeford Fitzpaine tragedy has put us. Also on page 497 a nonringer inquires whether or not the practice of leaving bells up, when they could quite easily be down, is lazy. How many more are there thinking along the same lines? Mr. Huckle will not have us called slovenly and lazy, but we will be if any more accidents like this occur. Perhaps the ringer is not entirely at fault, however, and I should like to see some attention paid to Mr. Woolley's suggestion.

In extending my heartfelt sympathy to the Okeford Fitzpaine ringers, I can only hope that this correspondence helps to make some ringers more aware of the dangers and loopholes which exist in their own particular towers. and that the Exercise will do all in its power to reduce the chances of a similar accident occurring in the future.-Yours sincerely,

\section*{RONALD K. RUSS.}

\section*{Sonning Common. Reading.}

Dear Sir ,-Surely the thing to do is to secure bells left up so that they cannot be accidentally overthrown, as is done in my own tower. A hook is hinged on the slider board and engages with a ring fixed at the end of the stay. Engagement and disengagement are by hand and take only a few moments. Our bells are exceptionally accessible and there is no exposure to risk of danger when operating, but operation by a line from the ringing room could easily be arranged, provided care is taken that accidental engagement cannot take place while ringing.-Yours faithfully,
A. W. DAVIS.

\section*{A PEAL OF SPLICED SURPRISE EACH DAY OF TOUR}

D)
URING the last week in July a party of only eight ringers loured Surrey and Sussex in glorious weather, with the prime object in view of ringing some good peals, resulting in a total of nine peals out of 11 attempts, with a peal of Spliced Surprise Major every day. Let it be stated here that this would not have been possible without considerable help from at least nine Surrey. Sussex and Kent ringers. who reinforced the party in the peal attempts. Visits were paid to only 17 towers, which must be an all-time low for a week's ringing holiday: but after all, lower-grabbing is not everybody's idea of a holiday.

Two cars left Kent on the first Saturday to travel to Guildford, where it had been arranged to ring a peal on the ten bel of St. Nicolas' Church: and although \(3 \frac{1}{2}\) hours had been allowed for the journey, owing to a minor accident and to extremely heavy traffic, time was running short on reaching the outskirts of Guildford. The traffic here was so heavy that the cars were left at the top of the town and the remaining half-mile covered on foot. At the church the remaining members of the party were waiting with several reserves, but unfortunately there was no time to have any lunch and the peal had 10 be commenced straight away, Cambridge Surprise Royal being brought round just in time for the evening service.

The headquarters for the week were at Redhill. but the most that was seen of the town was at nights and first thing in the mornings. On Sunday no peals had been arranged and therefore could be classed as the tower-grabbing day of the week. The first tower of the day was at Dorking, and the party were honoured to be asked to ring the service touch. The welcome was most warm, and the only regret was that it was not possible to obtain these bells for a peal. The party were then entertained to elevenses by Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Cannon, and this visit resulted in more ringing during the afternoon for some members of the party, four being asked to ring for the Vicar"s induction service at Ranmore.

\section*{THE BEST SIX IN SURREY}

It was here that it was first tried to obtain a recording of the bells, but Ranmore, unfortunately, was a bad place to start on, as was borne out later in the week on the second visit to this tower when, even in the light of considerable practice, it was still found difficult to obtain a suitable recording. To crown this poor attempt at tape recording-or so it was thought-the ignition keys to one of the cars were found to have been left on the chancel steps. After this delay the "best' six in Surrey at Albury were visited, and it was agreed by everyone that they indeed are a first-class ring of bells.
For evening service the party joined the local ringers at Cranleigh, and the welcome was again very warm. Here a very successful recording of a touch of Spliced Surprise Major was made with the tape recorder in the ringing room, even though in the previous ringing the conductor of a touch of Grandsire Triples had tried to sabotage the valves with his stentorian "Bobs' and 'Singles." With eight members in the party and the additional reserves, anybody standing out of a peal was allotted the task of obtaining a good recording of the hells. During the weck this was successful in almost every case, and it is intended to edit the tapes and have a record made with ringing included from as many lowers as possible.
On Monday morning the peal ringing proper was started with a peal of Dorchester Surprise Major, in which the treble ringer succeeded in completing the peal without a mistake, and more important, on severe instructions from the rest of the band, without saying a word. The peal attempt in the evening at Guildford, Holy Trinity, was approached with determination by everyone, as several warnings had been given and indecd prophecies had been made as 10 the outcome of the attempt. However, 4 Spliced Surprise Major was brought round in 3 hours and 21 minutes. Mr. A. H. Pulling heard the start of this peal, and Mr. W. J.

\section*{Irish Tour Scored 11 Peals}

A successful peal-ringing tour in Ireland has iust concluded, writes Mr. Donald G. Clift.
Eleven peals were scored out of 12 attempts. Among the peals were the first peal of Pudsey Surprise Royal in Ireland; the first peal on the bells of the R.C. Cathedral of The Immaculate Conception, Wexford: a College Youth peal at Waterford; Cambridge Surprise Maximus at St. Patrick's Cathedral, Dublin.

Robinson, who heard the peal from start to finish-10 his satisfaction, it is hoped-stated that this was the first peal of Spliced on the bells.

The peal attempts on Tuesday and Wednesday were in Sussex, and at Lower Beeding on Tuesday morning a peal of 3 Spliced Surprise Major was rung without a hitch and the recording of these bells (tenor \(10 \frac{3}{4} \mathrm{cwt}\).) is concluded with the two spoken words, 'Lower Beeding,' in a very deep bass voice. At Horsham in the afternoon. Bristol was lost after an hour and three-quarters, and in this peal attempt Miss June Clements kindly took part. though it was certainly through no fault of hers that the peal was lost. During the evening the band were entertained by Ted Coward, of Dorking, and he was extremely interested in listening to the recordings.

Again on Wednesday the morning peal was successful and the afternoon one abortive. 5 Spliced Surprise Major being rung in fine style at Turner's Hill and 2 Spliced Surprise Major being lost after 2 hours at Rusper. This might have been due to one of the ringers taking part having walked four miles in 50 minutes immediately prior to the attempt.

Ranmora was revisited on Thursday morning although this time for a peal of Cambridge. Some good ringing was enjoyed and it was unfortunate that the treble rope broke after an hour and 20 minutes. Good use was made of the resulting spare time, however, by sitting in the shade on Ranmore Common. Apart from listening to the ringing on the tape recorder, two pcople suddenly developed artistic talent and recordings were made of monologues regarding a certain Mr. and Mrs. Ramsbottom's son, and of a poem concerning the exploits of a well-known 'stay-bender.' These were played back, to everyone's amusement, though it is doubiful whether they will be included in the final record of the week's ringing.

\section*{A SECOND ATTEMPT}

In the afternoon at Egham we were unfortunate to lose a peal of 6 Spliced Surprise Major after only 45 minutes. However, nothing daunted, the peal was restarted and was eventually brought round after a total of more than four hours' Spliced ringing on an exceedingly hot afternoon. This peal was followed by a most tedious drive across country back to Redhill, and everyone was extremely glad to get back to base and bed
On Friday, Rutland was lost after an hour at Bletchingley owing to a miscall. Again, however, as on Thursday, full use was made of the time in differing ways, from lying in the sun eating ice-cream, to someone, who will not be mentioned by name, trying to learn second's place bell in Dorchester by considering it as London, Yorkshirc and then Pudsey.
The atmosphere in Ashtead belfry in the afternoon immediately prior to the peal attempt was electric. The peal was to be 7 Spliced Surprise Major, and everybody gave of their very best, with the result that the peal was successfully brought round after 3 hours and 16 minutes. It may be an interesting comparison to note that the last peal on these bells, a peal of Cambridge on July 17th, 1957, took only 2 hours and 40 minutes.
On Saturday morning the remaining Spliced peal to complete the sequence of 2-7 Spliced Surprise Major rung within a week, was rung at Godstone, where Yorkshire and Cambridge were rung in under 3 hours: but please note: no claim has been put forward for the quickest peal on the hells. At Edenbridge, the loss earlier in the week at Horsham was rectified with a peal of Bristol. One of these peals was rung as a 25 th birthday compliment to the ireble ringer's son, Mr. Mark W. Marshall. Mark was unfortunately unable to be with the party on the tour as originally planned.

Thanks are due to all incumbents for the use of their bells, to the local ringers for their welcome, and to Messrs. Beeson, Bird. Cannon. Coward, Marshall, Munday. Rapley and Ring for kindly standing in peals and thus enabling tape recordings to be made, and rests to be given to members of the touring party.

May I conclude on a personal note. I am sure that every member of the party would like me to thank Mark Lancefield for the efficient way in which he shouldered the majority of the conducting. Mark came on the tour prepared to call anything except the 6 Spliced Surprise Major, but on the rest of the party expressing a desire to ring six spliced he looked up and called Mr. A. J. Pitman's 'all the work' peai at under 24 hours' notice. I would also like' to thank Tom Cullingworth. on behalf of the others, for the no mean task in organising the tour, and thank him for not, repeat not. arranging any tower-grabs.

\section*{CENTRAL COUNCIL MOTIONS}

Dear Sir.-I am surprised at the naiveté of Mr . Bainett's letter in your issuc of August 16th, written in his official capacity as secretary of the Central Council.
Mr. Barnett suggests that this Association should have addressed its remarks to the Society which submitted the resolutions, and made any comments before rather than after they had been debated by the Central Council.
The Society in question is only one other autonomous organisation. and as long as its activities and decisions do not interfere with other associations, it would be improper to criticise its actions. When it comes to the Central Council, however. this Association becomes directly affected, since, for better or fo: worse, all affiliated associations are required to abide by the rules and decisions of the Council. If the Council, in the opinion of any association, acts irresponsibly, then criticism must be expected. The resolutions in question certainly did not add lustre to the Council.
As to timing, the Council's agenda was only published on May 10th, and it has not been customary, nor would it have been convenient in this instance, to convene a special meating to consider the Council's agenda. It has always been assumed that, within limits, the Council was capable of regulating its business with dignity and impartiality, but there is no doubt that its present conduct has caused considerable dismay in this Association and the Exercise as a whole.
Mr. Barnett asks how a motion properly sukmitted in accordance with Rule No. 13 could be excluded from the agenda. The implication of this question is entircly misleading: Rule 13 deals solely with the procedure for the submission of resolutions hut not, more importantly, with their nature. The presumption behind this rule is that motions which reach this stage in proceedings are in order and within the competence of the Central Council. Technical qualification does not automatically convey admissibility.

This Association is of the considered opinion that the first resolution and the first half of the second, in the form in which they were submitted, were ill-conceived, ulira vires, and in conflict with the objects of the Central Council. In consequence Mr. Barnett's reference to Rule 13 is superfluous.
The aims and objects of the Council are positive but broad, and one would have expected special care to be taken to ensure that all resolutions were in accord with these aims: this is particularly important in view of the Council's responsibility to its constituent associations and of the impression given that ' personalities" rather than principles sometimes have the greater voice at its meetings. It is surely the task of the secretary-and he has the Standing Committec for advice-to interpret the aims of the Council in the conduct of its business; if the motions were examined from this point of view and accepted, then it is considered that the exceutives of the Council failed in their duty to the Exercise. The inclusion and conduct of this business was an appalling example of misjudgment and mishandling.

This Association maintains that the only part of these resolutions the Council was competent to discuss was the publication of the Manual in "The Ringing World. It is high time the critics of the College, the Manual and its publication clarified their thoughts in this matter. Any individual or organisation, ringing or nonringing, is entitled to submit as many articles as they like, as often as they like and on whatever subject they choose : the sole responsibility for selection for publication rests with the Editor and the Editorial Committee. No blame whatever can attach to those who submit the material.
For my own part, I have now had the opportunity of studying the revised Manual: while I have certain reservations on some of its detail and principle, I consider it to be a most useful and properly comprehensive document for any ringer. and far more stimulating for instructors than any of the publications already available.-Yours faithfully.

\section*{EWART H. EDGE. \\ Hon. Secretary, \\ North Staffordshire Association.}

Dear Sir.-It is the writer's considered opinion that the greatest honour the individual can receive from fellow ringers is to be elected their Central Council representative; that ringers everywhere would wish this respect to be general and not confined to their own representative. That being so, a charge of disrespect towards the Council is scrious. It would look more dignified, as this charge is still well and truly answered, if all those who made it would hang logether and withdraw it.

One hopes that all those who condemn the work of a subscriber have themselves made a literary offering for the Editor's consideration. or will do so. The writer feels a great admiration for both Mr. Ashford and Mr. Barnett for their recent letters: Mr. Ashford's contribution to the debate, as reported on page 434 . or as corrected in his letter, was distinctive. It must have induced the thought ' This is where we came in.' The vote on titles followed.
May one conclude by noting Mr. Ayre's words on page 435: - The R.A.F. have a saying about Jack heing all right ' : hy agrecing that all committee reports were masterpieces, beautifully execuled (what a pity the committees' work for the day ended with the reading of reports): hy thanking Mr. Cave for his all-too-brief account of what can happen to a "dropped clanger." May Chelmsiord be followed hy recastings, and if authority at the highest level feels that a teaching society be not formed, may it give sound reasons against such a development or a gracious influential backing for such work in harmony with authority.-Yours very faithfully,

\section*{RINGING RULES}

Diar Sir,-The 'ringing rules ' noted by Peter J. Came and published in 'The Ringing World of August 9 th, recall a similar but slightly earlier set of rutes which may be seen in the church at Middleton, Warwickshire. Here, however, it would appear that ringers were not troubled by smoking or drinking.

All you ringers,
This do ye mark.
He that throws a bell Pays a groat to the Clerk
If with hat on, or spur you
Perchance should ring,
You must pay two pence
For that very same thing.
And for every oath
You one shilling do pay,
Or be expelled from the belfry Without any delay.
J. Hall, Clerk. 1782.

Yours faithfully,
HENRY F. BARACLOUGH.

\section*{MOSCOW'S BELLS}

Dear Sir,-I was interested to see Mr. Cave's letter in 'The Ringing World,' having just returned from Moscow myself. Like a good ringer, I also made my pilgrimage to see the King of Bells in the Kremlin. and I may complete Mir. Cave's statistics by saying that the diameter of the bell is 21 feet 7 inches (the height is actually a few inches over 19 feet) and that the weight of the 'chip' which broke off when the fire caused the bell to fall is over 11 tons.
The bell tower of Ivan the Great, to which Mr. Cave also refers, is a splendid edifice nearly 266 feet high; the great bell which hangs in the centre weighs 64 tons.
1 was also interested to hear the famous chime from the Spasskaya tower of the Kremlin, which overlooks Red Square; at first it seems a discordant jangle (it is more or less a descending chromatic scale), but it grows on one after a time. It can, incidentally, be heard every night on Radio Moscow at midnight. local time ( 9 p.m.., G.M.T.). The hour bell. cast by Semyon Mozzhukhin in 1769 . weighs over two tons.
While in Red Square I did, of course, visit St. Basil's Cathedral, that extraordinary monument huilt in 1555-60 by Ivan the Terrible, to commemorate his conquest of Kazan. On the ground behind the Cathedral I found two more bells, the larger weighing probably two tons or more. The smaller was interesting, having a dedicatory inscription in Latin as well as in Russian.
Like Mr. Cave, my visit went all too quickly, and I am sure he would have been as happy as I to stay a lot longer. I can also wholeheartedly endorse his remarks about Russian hospitality, which is truly wonderful, and which I shall long remember with great pleasure-Yours sincerely.

BOYNE HILL SURPRISE BAND
Dear Sir,-In your issue of July 191h it was reported that, with the passing away of Mr . Charles Smith. Boyne Hill had lost the last of the Surprise Sunday service band of the ' 30 's.

This is not correct as another member is still very much alive and rings regularly at St. Mary's, Wimbledon. He is known to us as Bert Cox, although in his earlier days he was always Harry Cox, and peal boards at Boyne Hill bear testimony to his earlier Surprise ringing.

At 76, he no longer feels able to tackle the more complicated methods, but is always ready to stand in for a quarter.-Yours truly,
J. TOMSETT.

\section*{TREBLE BOB COMPOSITIONS}

Dear Sir.-In reference to the compositions of Treble Bob on page 533 . I have in my possession a book which gives a 5,024 of Major with exactly the same qualities. It is dated April 18th, 1901, so the old-timers knew all about this class of peal. What they did strive for was 5 and 6th the extent in 5-6, and there are not many of these peals today in 14 courses. There is a ten-cơurse peal of Royal ( 5,000 ) which has all combinations plus the 6th extent right. This is by C. Charge : also another by \(E\). Timbrell \((5,040)\) with all combinations, 4 extent \(R\) and 6 is just one lead short. These are, in my opinion, superior peals to the ninecourse peal he uses.-Yours faithfully.
E. R. MARTIN.

BOUGHTON ALUPH BELLS WERE SOLD
Dear Sir,-In reply to the letter from Mr. G. H. Head. of Hanworth, which appeared in 'The Ringing 'Vorld,' I am afraid he is mistaken as regards Boughton Aluph. This magnificent cruciform church, of almost cathedral standard in spite of its rural setting, has a massive central tower which until recent years contained a most interesting and historic ring of five; both the third and tenor were pre-Reformation, the tenor having been cast about 1530 by Oldfield, of Canterbury.

This grand church was badly damaged by a flying bomb, I believe, and subsequently, in spite of strong protests by the Kent Archzological Society, the whole ring was allowed to be sold as scrap metal. This scandalous happening occasioned much adverse comment at the time-it is interesting to note that the parish is now a combined living with Eastwell, where the church, also severely war-damaged, was allowed to fall into decay and the good ring of six also sold. Boughton Aluph Church is now being restored, and has been the subject of a radio appeal, but it seams doubtful if any bells will be provided.

As regards the most interesting letter from Mr. N. Davis, I have recently visited one or two of the 4 -bell towers which he mentions, and perhaps a little further information on these lowers may be interesting.

Bicknor. St. James.-The ring of four hangs in a modern S.W. tower. and access to the bell chamber is by an iron ladder up to a central trapdoor. All four are steel bells. cast by Naylor Vickers, of Sheffield, in 1862 , and are of most discordant and harsh tone! The tenor is 21 in . in diameter, so would be about \(2 \frac{1}{2} \mathrm{cwt}\). I am not sure whether these bells would be ringable; at present each has merely a heavy cart rope with no sally or proper rope-end at all. The ringing chamber is on the ground floor with a very long rope draught.

Newnham, SS. Peter and Paul.-The chuich has a modern N.W. tower, and the ring of four, rung from the ground fioor, which would appear to tex ringable if the ropes were properly adjusted. The bells hang in a two-tier wooden frame, iwo above two, resting on stone corbels and built up into the base of the spire. According to Stalschmidt, pits for two trebles were provided when the tower was built, but I could see no sign of these. The treble, second and tenor are old, but their exact date is uncertain. Tenor about 7 cwt .

Challock. SS. Cosmus and Damien.-This church is in process of being restored after severe war damage. and I was told that when the work is completed the bells are to be recast and possibly augmented. At present the tower is rotten with death-watch beetle!

East Langdon, St. Augustine.-This ring of four is in good condition and is quite ringable.

Isle of Grain, St. James.-This tower, which I believe has noi so far been mentioned, has a very low west tower containing a fairly modern ring of four in a wooden 6 -bell frame. lenor about 8 cwL . I have examined these bells. which seem to be of quite good tone. and are apparently perfectly ringable.-Yours sincerely,

PETER N. BOND.
Hildenborough, Kent.

\section*{THOSE I REMEMBER}

By ERNEST MORRIS
When mirth and joy are on the wing, We ring :
At the departing of the soul, We toll.
So runs the ancient rhyme, and at St. Margarel's, Leicester, when I was a lad (and long before my time) there were two staffs - a chimers' staff and a ringers' staff-attached to the church. The ringers only performed on practice nights and for certain 'paid' occasions such as Easter, Christmas and New Year's Eve, and, of course, if a wedding party could be induced to have them! It was always the custom to chime for services on Sundays, ten minutes' ' ding-dong.' i.e., \(1-2\) for a time, then 2-3, then 3-4, and so on round the whole ten. Then about 15 minutes of full chimes with (usually) the tenor three-parts up ringing behind the fromt nine: then five minutes' sermon' bell. This may not seem very exciting to pre-sent-day half-pull ringers, but I can assure everyone that we did send forth some remarkably good music, perfectly struck, in rounds and call-changes and we had moments of excitement and even fun doing this!

\section*{FALL OFF TENOR BOX}

On one occasion it chanced that the tenor was being rung by Alan Peach, and all went well for a time, when suddenly he fell off the tenor box which is fairly high. He dropped on his fect. and at back-stroke made to jump back on the box with the rope still in his hands, shouting: 'All right. I've got it!'. However, instead of landing squarely on the box. he just got there with the tip of his toes on the edge. and so, not being able to get a firm standing, overbalanced backwards with a frightful whack on the back of his head on the floor just in front of me. I was chiming the two treble bells. Notwithstanding his nasty fall, Alan still held on the rope, and next back-stroke was jerked upright. Jack Vernon, who was chiming the ninth, left it at once and took the tenor from Alan, whilst I left the trebles and took the ninth. Harry Hardy, who was on No. 3 kept the lead and so we finished the chime on the back eight, and no one outside the belfry was any the wiser! Mr. Peach was not too badly hurt, but had a nasty 'shake up.' and as he himself remarked 'got it' in more ways than one!
On another occasion. when ringing the sermon bell after the chine. we drove it rather late in finishing. My cousin, Charles Lock, a big, hefty fellow, got on the box and fell the bell in record time. He got it partly down, then -thinking to check it by hanging on the sally -did so to the no small amazement of all the rest of us looking on: we saw him go sailing right up to the ceiling just missing a nasty crack by a hair's breadth! As it was, he valiantly held on, but got a fright and never again attempted it ' in record time '!

An amusing thing happened to me on this same tenor bell. We had been ringing in full peal, and in falling the bells got down to chiming, when the treble man calls "This is all.' As is usual, we miss one stroke and catch the next for the final round. I. heing on the high box. did likewise, but on hanging on for the final stroke broke the rope at the wheel! Having no 'purchase' I disappeared out of sight hetween the box and the clock case shutting up like a jack-knife my backside wedged and feet up in the air with 60 ft . of rope around me. I could not release myself, so the others hauled me clear, luckily without injury.

At this time St. Margaret's bells went very badly, the frame and fitlings being worn out. and to ring 500 was as arduous a job as a full peal elsewhere! For a time we used to practise on the front six, and on one occasion when we were ringing there was a terrific thump above; then another one immediately over our heads; then bang, bang, bang. We set the bells and rushed for the window and door arches, wondering what had happened-except one of the chimers, who was sitting out (William Fox by name). He went as white as death and never moved an inch; he couldn't: he was simply petrified! It was the third clapper which had come out, smashed through the bell chamber floor, then fell through the clock chamber on to the wooden stairs and rolled its awkward way down them. Young Fox never ascended the tower again, although we coaxed and persuaded him 10 !
I well remember the very last attempt for a peal by the late William Hyde Inglesant. He was a fine ringer and conductor-a native of Quorn, but regularly rang at Loughborough. He took part in Willson's long peals of Kent T.B. and D.N.C.B. Major, and was one of the band at Loughborough in the 18,000 Stedman Caters in \(12 t\) hours. He became a cripple and used to push himself around in a wheelchair. I had expressed a wish to ring a peal at Quorn (having made several abortive attempts pieviousiy) and Inglesant wanted to have a last effort. How he gol up the tower was a mystery; he crawled up on his hands and knees! We started for a peal with him on the fourth, but about a quarter through his bell cast wheal and set. We could not pull it off again, and even from the top end could not release the ropeso we pushed the bell over and let that pull it out! Inglesant could not possibly ring again, so after getting him down the belfry steps, we went for Alan Peach (mentioned above) who had a shop in Quorn, and coerced him 10 come and ring the tenor to a peal of Grandsire, which was successful.
At this time there were two brothers Ballard in Leicester-Arthur, who joined the old Belgrave band, and Alfred, who came to us at St. Margaret's (no relation to the more famous Alf. Ballard, of Hinckley). 'Our 'Alf was a decent littie ringer, but had a habit of licking his right hand at every other stroke of the rope. He could ring the plain methods well, but in Stedman never could remember whether to come in quick or slow. His ambition in life was to ring a peal of it, so I specially chose to call one by Joseph W. Parker, in which all calls were in four-bob sets. I drilled it into him: 'If you dodge down at a lot of calls go in quick ; if dodging up, go slow.' Thus we got a good peal on the heavy eight of St. Margaret's. Then he wanted Caters. so I called for him Dexter's exact 5.000 , in which the third is in second's place throughout.

\section*{TWO ONE-EYED RINGERS}

He had a brother-in-law. Fred Sharman. who was a good ringer of plain methods and who rang a number of peals. nearly always on second. and I myself on third. Critics used to say, 'Two one eyed ringers together? "Fred was severely wounded in the 1914-18 war, and a bullet scored right across his forehead and the scalp skin came down over his eyes. It was feared he would never see again. Skilful surgeons got the skin back, but it left him blind in his left eye. My own right eye has been blind from birth -so there we were, two oneeyed ringers next each other!

\section*{HOW TO READ A PEAL COMPOSITION}
'TO some ringers the reading of a peal composition is as easy as reading a newspaper. On the contrary, there are many who do not know how to sort out the various qualities which are contained in a peal of 5,000 changes or over. The following notes are intended for the latter class, and no attempt will be made to use a lot of technical language. You will find a new interest in the peals you ring and a fascinating study if you do not ring peals,
There are at least three things you should understand before you take up the study of peal composition. We will go over hem briefly.
(1) The Standard calling of a 720 of Minor. In Bob Minor this is generally spoken of as 6 behind without 5 , or 6 W R W. You can also use 5 behind without 6 , which gives the same result. In sixths place methods such as Single and Double Court, you would say 6 in front without 5. Therefore, if you say 6 ex 5 . or 5 ex 6 , it covers both 6 ths and 2 nds place methods.
The 5.6 's come up regularly every 120 changes and are said to come up plain; at least two Singles are necessary. It will be better if you familiarise yourself with the 120 rows which occur when the treble is leading. for these become course-ends in Major and are the basis for all Major, Royal and Maximus peals. So write them out from any plain 720 which is given in nearly every text hook, omitting 1. and put them in five tables of 24 .
Perhaps you will say: - We don't want 120 course-ends." as only 45 are necessary for a 5,040 of Bob Major. Well, we want the best ones, especially those with 4,5 and 6 in fiths place. Finally, never despise 5 - and 6 -bell ringing, for all the knowledge which is commonplace today came from five and then from six bells. Peals like Annable's three-part of Bob Major and Taylor's six-part peal of Grandsire Triples are adaptations from the humble 720 of Bob Minor.

We now pass on to No. 2. which is the in and out of course. The briefest description 1 can give is that as all changes are produced by changing pairs of bells, then in any given row there is always a certain number of pairs away from rounds. So if this number is an odd one the row is out of course, and if an even number then it is in course.
Rounds on all numbers is regarded as the fundamental in course row. All the rows produced at the treble's lead in Bob Minor are in course until a single is called. and out of course until another single is called. Another definition is that in all extents on any number of bells, half the rows are in course and the other half out. You will find different names given in the various books which have the same meaning. Example:-

In course. Direct. Positive and
Out. Retrograde. Negative and
With practice you can lell at a glance some course-ends whether they are in or out. The advantage of this knowledge is that if the course-end is in then the coursing order must also be in. Take the course-end 32546, coursing order \(=42356\). So if you find your coursing order is out of course when it should he in then stand up for a shift has occurred.
Now we come to No. 3 which is Q sets. The simplest definition of a \(Q\) set is that it is a group of course-ends (or lead-ends in Grandsire Triples) which are closely related to each other. The 56 's in our Bob Minor are a good illustration, three in course and three out. The general law of the \(Q\) sets is that if one member is brought up bobbed then all must be hobbed. and if plain then all must be plain. But there are exceptions as in the well-known two-part of Bob Minor. where we have two plain, two bobbed and two singles. One thing you cannot do is to bring this round at 360 using only the calling given for the 720 .
We will now examine a peal of Bob Major and see these Q sets in operation. The qualities usually aimed at by composers are as follows. The 6th her extent right, or wrong and right, all combinations of 4,5,6 in 5-6. There are 36 of these combinations in Bob Major and the 6 th extent right \(=24\) courses in 6 ths place. You will come across other peals with qualities like 4,5 and 6 only in 6ths and 4 and 6 extent in 6iths. Remember there are two more calling positions in Major, viz.: Before and Middle, both of which are used to move the 6ths place bell. Here is the well-known four-part peal of Bob Major, by J. R. Pritchard.
\begin{tabular}{|c|c|c|c|c|}
\hline 23456 & & B & M & H \\
\hline 52364 & - & - & & \\
\hline 35264 & & & & \\
\hline 23564 & & & & \\
\hline 56234 & - & & & \\
\hline 25634 & & & & \\
\hline 63254 & - & & & \\
\hline 26354 & & & & \\
\hline 32654 & & & & \\
\hline 53246 & - & - & & - \\
\hline 25346 & & & & \\
\hline 32546 & & & & \\
\end{tabular}

Thrice repeated with singles half-way and end.
I strongly advise anyone interested to prick out the course-ends of the other three parts. then you will see how all Q sets are bobbed ( 12 in this peal). If you are not used to pricking out. procecd as follows:-
If W B H gives 52364 from rounds, then the same from 32546 gives 43265 , and so on. Now for the qualities in the peal. You will see that only 4,5 and 6 are in 6 ths place. All combinations are present, so this is a good simple peal and is deservedly popular. Now if you understand this properly you will soor; get the run of any composition. In Treble Bob and Surprise the courses are twice as long as plain methods, so we only need 23 in most Surprise methods and in Treble Boh we can have as low as 13. This is caused hy Treble Bob having what is called extending leads, and several Surprise methods also have them, so the courses are longer and fewer.

I hope that I have made these things plain and if not you should get hold of Snowdon's 'Treble Bob, Part I.' The book is now out of print, but you should be able to borrow one from one of the leading ringers of your association. Perhaps we had better have a look at a Surprise Major peal before we close: it is a 5,184 of Superlative, by the late E. Timbrell.

Prick out the second half and you will see the 6 th her extent in 6ths. This time our \(Q\) sets are plain and there are only four, viz.: \(2,6{ }^{\circ} \mathrm{s}, 3,6{ }^{\circ} \mathrm{s}, 4,6{ }^{\prime} \mathrm{s}\), and \(5,6{ }^{\circ} \mathrm{s}\).
Just a brief review of Caters and Royal. It is usual in Grandsire and Stedman Caters to throw the big bells in the tittums and put a musical bell. say the 5 th or 6 th, behind the 9 th. You ring a certain number of these courses according to the length of the peal and then the big bells are thrown into the handstroke home position with the 6th behind the 8th until rounds appears. In some cases it is necessary to have a turning' course to produce rounds.

In Bob Royal you select what you prefer. such as 6 th Extent Right or only 4 and 6 in 6ths.

Treble Bob Royal is capable of all combinations plus 6th Extent Right.

Now we hope you are able to follow the various compositions as they appear week by wrek in the 'R.W: If you don't, then send a letter to the Editor who will publish it in the correspondence columns. The author of the peal will almost certainly answer your letter.

\section*{OBITUARY \\ MR. EDWARD EVANS}

The Suffolk Guild, and especially the members of the St. Mary-le-Tower Society, were very sorry to read in the 'R.W' of August 16 th of the death on August 6th of Mr. Edward Evans, of 13, Tomline Road, Felixstowe.

During his stay in Ipswich he was assistant manager of the Gas Company for a number of years until he removed to Gloucester to manage a similar business there.

As a member of the Norwich Diocesan Association, before the Suffolk Guild was formed, he rang 124 peals up to 1921. On August 15th. 1908, he took part in the first peal of Cambridge Surprise Maximus ever rung: this was at St. Mary-le-Tower. Ipswich, in which there were three Pyes and Bert Prewett. Lewis W. Wiffen, of Braintree, is now the only survivor of the band.

By a curious coincidence Ted's first peal was London Surprise Major. His last peal was Cambridge Major at Grundisburgh on August 16th, 1954, being the 46th anniversary of the peal of Cambridge Maximus. His last peal was conducted by Gsorge W. Pipe, now in Australia; he also rang a few peals in the west of England.

He was an ardent advocate for good striking and a very safe ringer. especially at the heavy end.
On retiring from Gloucester he returned to his native county to pass the remainder of his days by the seaside at Felixstowe. G. E. S.

\section*{MR. DAVID WARNER}

The sympathy of West Surrey friends will be extended to Mr, and Mrs. E. R. Warner, of 7. Butts Road, Woking, in the sudden death of their only son. David, on August 20th. David, who was 27 years of age, was a bookino clerk at West Byflect Station. About 18 months ago he joined the St. Nicolas', Guildford, band.
The funeral service was at St. Mary's Church, Horsell, last Monday, and was followed by cremation at St. John's Crematorium. The Rev. A. P. A. Gaze, Vicar of Horsell, officiated at both services. As the cortege was leaving the church local ringers rang the bells half-muffled. They also sent a beautiful wreath, a thought that was much appreciated.

A quarter peal to his memory was rung at St. Nicolas Church, Guildford, on August 23 rd with the bells half-muffied.

\section*{MEMORIAL TO SPALDING RINGERS}

After the morning Eucharist service at Spalding Parish Church on August 18th, a memorial clock and brass plaque were dedicated by the Vicar (Canon M. W. R. Synge) to the memory of the late Mr. Arthur Joseph Farr, a ringer for 50 years.

Mr . Farr, who died on December 6th last year, was a bellinger before he came to Spalding in 1919 as superintendent of the Pinchbeck Road cemetery. He soon became a popular member of Spalding Parish Church ringers, and resigned as their captain in 1950. For most of his 37 years as a bellringer at Spalding, Mr. Farr was captain of the team, and many ringers who had served under him were present at the dedication service.
The memorial is an electric clock of simple design. Its face, about a foot square, is of polished dark wood with silvered hands and numerals, and it is positioned over the doorway leading to the spiral staircase of the tower. A brass plaque beneath the clock states the gift was donated by relatives and friends of Mr. Farr

\section*{DARTFORD AND DISTRICT OUTING}

For their summer outing to parts of the Ashford District on July 13th. the Dartford and District ringers were strengthened by contingents from Erith and Bexley. Arrangements had been made to ring in six towers, but owing to unforeseen incidents two towers were not visited.

Some good ringing, however, took place at Ashford (8, 23 cwt.) before lunch and after lunch Folkestone (8, 25 cwt .) was visited: here again an enjoyable ringing ssssion took place.
Reaching Hythe a few minutes late, we were misdirected and our coach became jammed in a narrow alley. After careful extraction. the tower was eventually reached, but there was no one to meet us. As time was still against us we moved on to Tenterden, thus regaining lost time. Here again we drew a blank, as when the key was obtained time was inadequate. With heavy hearts and fingers crossed we pushed on to Biddenden. first 10 an excellent tea, arranged by Mr. Walters (which helped to clear the despondency) and then on to the tower ( \(8,23 \mathrm{cwt}\) ). where, some of the best ringing of the day took place.
Our last tower was Headcorn ( \(8,23 \mathrm{cwt}\).) with its ground floor ringing room. and once again some very good ringing took place.
In spite of the disappointments (which may have been attributed to the date being 'unlucky for some') all were unanimous in voting the outing a success, and the Ringing Masters at each tower had no trouble in keeping the bells going. Ringing ranged from rounds to Cambridge (one touch being all-ladies). and at most towers members of the local bands joined in.
Thanks are due to incumbents for use of bells, to those who met us and to Mr. Waters who arranged tea and ringing in his area, in the capacity of representative of Ashford ford District.

To those lowers we were unable to visit we hope that at some future date to pay a return visit. \(\mathbf{R}, \mathbf{G} . \mathbf{R}\).

\section*{LIGHTNING WORK}

'WELL, I'm sorry, Beryl, I really feel I can't introduce you, he's not the right type for you-yes, well, that's different, I only see him at meetings and all he does is put his arm round me in a friendly way, and then only if Frederick's not around. No, not him, you've got them mixed up, no, this is Bert, yes, you know, that one, no, not the one who came over to a practice, and called old Mr. Higgins in and out three times instead of wrong three times, like he's used to-coo, the fuss! That was the commercial traveller one-wore checks but quite the gent. and kept saying to me, "Come on, sweetheart, whip your backstrokes in!"

Anyway, dear, this one's Bert, the one that asked me in that peal. Ooh, Beryl, never again! The trouble I had with Frederick, and all for what? Three hours' backache and a lot of blisters, that's all.

Frederick and me went to St. Ermyntrude's practice, you see, and Bert and I were chatting in a corner, and he was saying how nicely I was coming on, and he asked me to ring the treble in this peal, and when we were going home I just mentioned it casually to Frederick, and honestly, dear, we nearly got a Belisha beacon and three old women who were crossing. He said it ought to have been him calling my first peal (and I didn't tell him what Bert had said about his conducting) only he wasn't going to hurry me on, he said, and I think he'd have turned the car round and gone back to ask Bert what he meant by it; only Bert's such a big chap.

So when we got back he stood on the steps with a noble sort of expression and said, "Well, I thank my stars I don't spoil my bands the way Bert does, shoving them into peals when they can barely handle a sally," and Mum came out and said, "I'll thank you not to use language like that on my front steps, Frederick, and my daughter listening; come along in, dear," and shut the door.

Then I didn't see Frederick for a day or two, and when I did he was ever so chilly, just a nod, and "I hope you've looked up Kent," and off without a goodnight.

Next week was the peal, and when I got there there was the funniest crowd of little men, honestly I felt like SnowWhite and the seven dwarfs, yes, I was the only girl don't be catty, Beryl, you could have taken up ringing too if you weren't so busy with Ern and the speedway-anyway, Mum's always said ringers are a queer lot ever since we had some to tea and tried to explain ropesight to her, and if she'd seen this lot of little gnomes, she'd have been suter than ever. There was Bert, of course, and he had a friend, quite a nice-looking young chap, pink, with long fair hair; he said he was from Suffolk, Stan something or other. I thought he was about the best of the bunch, but he would keep spitting over his shoulder while he was ringing. I'm sure I don't know what he does when he's in a belfry that hasn't got a nice low window handy. Still, Frederick says every ringer has some kind of a habit.

Well, we started ringing, and we went on, and we went on. You know what it's like at the Palais, Beryl, if you haven't had time to change after work, and men are a bit short, you sit up again a potted palm wondering if the evening's ever going to be over; well, it was like that, only worse, because my hands were sore. I must have looked pretty far gone, because Bert was encouraging me, and that Stan kept saying, "Co-oop, gel, then, co-oop," at least, I think that's what it was; it sounded like calling the cattle home across the Sands of Dee.

Anyway, ducks, we finished at last, and I nearly fell flat, only that Stan put his arm round me, and said. "Art moithered, pretty one?"-yes, really, Beryl, he talks just like that, but quite good-looking. rather like that picture we went to yesterday, where Seth picks the girl up out of Deadman's Dyke, and crushes her to his leather jerkin, and carries her all the way across the moor to his mother's cottage

So then Bert said he had to dash, and Stan said he'd be back later, and then he said to me, "Happen 'ee'd like a sup? Move then, lass," and gave me a slap and sent me out of the belfry, and we went to a nice little local, and I had my first shandy ever. And that Stan said he was staying for two weeks with Bert, and then he was coming down to get a job here, and he thought I was " a proper maid" seems a funny thing to say to a girl, doesn't it?-and would I go to the flicks next Wednesday. You wouldn't think a Suffolk boy could move so quick, would you?
But the funniest thing was when I met Frederick on Sunday, and he said how did I like my peal, sort of sneering, and I told him about that Stan, just to put him in his place, and he's been bothering me to introduce him ever since because he says Stan's one of the best conductors in the Exercise.

To-morrow (Saturday) the University of London Society

\section*{RELFRY} starts its tour of Norfolk and Suffolk, travelling on the Broads in three motor cruisers. The tour has been arranged with the idea of having a holiday with some ringing, rather than the reverse. Mr. John Armstrong has been appointed 'Admiral of the Fleet.' Plans have been made to visit some 17 towers before the decommissioning ceremony and Customs inspection at 10.00 hours on the following Saturday.

We regret to learn that Mr. G. Howard Underhill, of St. Illyd's, Bridgend, band, has met with a fatal road accident.

Congratulations to Miss Elizabeth Sharpe, daughter of the president of the Central Council and Mrs. Sharpe, who celebrated her 21st birthday last Saturday.
Since the bells of Stradbroke, Suffolk, were augmented to ten, Mr. H. W. Barrett has made ten visits to the tower, and on each occasion he has rung a peal on a different bell in the tower. This he regards as a unique feat, even in the present advanced state of ringing. Will David Vincent please note!

An unofficial note regarding Cambridge University Guild week is that the party of between 20 ta 30 are enjoying themselves. At the time of writing, two of the scheduled peal attempts have been successful-Double Norwich C.B. Major and Cambridge Surprise Royal (at Bishop’s Stortford).

A tape recording was taken of the last part of the second 2,160 of the peal of Ipswich Surprise Minor rung at Eckington, Worcs. on August 23 rd, by the local Ringing Master (Mr. Ralph Perks) in his builder's office, which is two houses from the church. 'The striking was very good and we were much impressed, writes Mr. Gerald C. Hemming.

\section*{GOSSIP}
- The Co-operative Home Magazine 'features an interesting article on the leaning towers of England. Towers mentioned are the Temple Church, Bristol ; Puxton, near Weston-super-Mare ; Woolstone and Gotherington, both near Cheltenham; St. Nicholas', Gloucester ; Surfleet, Lincs.
Mr. A. P. Cannon 'turned in' his 375th tenor to a peal at High Wycombe on August 14th.
The Suffolk Guild is having a good year for peals and by the end of August had scored 86, which is more than last year.
When the Cheltenham Branch met at Swindon Village all the local band attended, although they are not yet members of the Gloucester and Bristol Diocesan Association. A wonderful three-course tea was laid on by the schoolmaster and his wife, so that a good time was had by all. Visitors included Mr. W. H. Truman, the Association's Master.

Congratulations to Mr. Brian G. Warwick, hon. general secretary of the Leicester Diocesan Guild, on ringing his 500 th peal. It was scored at the Loughborough Campanile on August 28 th. The same evening two other records in connection with the foundry bells were established-Mrs. Phyllis Poole, most peals scored on the bells by a lady (over 150): and Mr. Ernest Morris, most peals by a gentleman (190).
Reading University Society will have a useful recruit next term in Miss Mollie Tilbury, of Bridstow, Herefordshire, who is a capable Surprise ringer and has been hon. secretary of the Ross District of the Hereford Guild. Mollie is to read English-a subject in which she obtained a distinction at scholarship level in her G.C.E. from Monmouth School for Girls.

\section*{OXFORD GUILD TO HAVE TWO-DAY ANNUAL MEETING}

A \(\mathbf{N}\) important decision was reached at the Oxford Guild festival, held at Oxford on July 20th, to hold an annual business meeting in the autumn. Owing to pressure of time, the proposal is that at the annual meeting following the festival service, business should be limited to the election of officers, their reports, the passing of the balance sheet, grants from the Restoration Fund, and such matters as deemed necessary by the annual committee meeting.

In spite of the bus strike, there was a larger attendance than usual at the festival. A large choir of men, boys and girls from all parts of the diocese led the singing at the service, which was conducted by the Master (the Rev. C. E. Wigg). The Deputy Master (Mr. F. Sharpe) read the lesson and was responsible for the organisation of the choir. Dr. Watson, the cathedral organist, using a piano instead of an organ (which was being cleaned) accompanied the singing

The Archdeacon of Oxford (the Ven. C. Witton-Davies), who is a ringer, having learned to handle a bell while at Cuddesdon Theological College, gave the address. His theme was that the purpose of man's existence was for the sole purpose of worshipping God.

The Master presided at the business meeting held in the Chapter House, supported by the Deputy Master, the hon. treasurer (Mr. A. D. Barker), the hon. secretary (Miss M. R. Cross) and the hon. librarian (Mr. H. L. Roper). After opening the meeting with prayers, the Master welcomed the Archdeacon of Oxford, who is a vice-president.

\section*{THE GUILD BANNER}

Arising from the minutes the Master and Mr. Edmans reported on the Guild banner. The Master stated that the Dean of Christchurch had granted permission for the banner to be used in the Cathedral, but that it could not be displayed in the Cathedral when not in

Mr. Edmans said that the design for the banner had been revised. He had received a promise of free workmanship and that the material would be woven free of cost. It appeared, thercfore, that the banner would cost the Guild very little, and he hoped that some memben of the Guild would provide or would be able to make the pole.

The Master thanked Mr. Edmans for all he had done and expressed the hope that it would be possible to use the banner next year. It was suggested that it might be possible to house the banner in a different part of the diocese each year.

INVIT ITION TO CENTRAL COUNCIL
The secretary reported that an invitation had been sent to the Central Council to visit Oxford in 1958. This was in support of one which had been issued by tho Oxford Society, which was keeping its 225 th anniversary that year. The invitation was rejected at Chelmsford by a narrow majority in favour of Dublin.

After the adoption of the officers' reports and the balance sheet, the following officers were re-elected: Master, the Rev. C. E. Wigg: the Deputy Master, Mr. F. Sharpe (and congratulated on his election as president of the Central Council); hon. treasurer, Mr. A. D. Barker; hon. general secretary, Miss M. R. Cross; hon. librarian, Mr. H. L. Roper. The existing ten members of the committee were re-elected and it was decided to keep the two vacancies open.

\section*{GRANTS FROM RESTORATION FUND}

Upon the recommendation of the general committee the following grants from the Restoration Fund were approved:-

Church Hanborough- \(£ 20\). The Master congratulated the Hanborough ringers on raising § 420 in three years without help.

Wolvercote.-The original suggestion of \(£ 20\) was raised to \(£ 40\) after the Vicar of Wolvercote had spoken about the work which had been done.

Benson--£10 towards work costing \(£ 210\).
It was decided to change the title of the Bicester Deanery Branch to the Bicester and District Branch. Mr. C. Kinch explained that the branch covered a much wider area than the Bicester Deanery.
> 'Heavy Manual Labour'
> Presenting himself for his medical examination for the R.A.F. at St. Albans a ringer tells this story. A hoary old medico, after looking him over, started to examine the ringer's hands:-

> Worked on a farm, I see,' he remarked scornfully.

> No,' said I, somewhat disconcerted.
> 'Well,' he said, a little testily, 'you have engaged in some form of heavy manual labour?'-giving me a pompous look.

> No, 1 haven't.'
> Your hands are very heavily calloused,' he pointed out, as though to save himself.
> Light dawned, so I admitted: 'Well, actually I am a very keen bellringer!

> His expression was worth two years in the R.A.F. 10 see! I was chuckling for ages over the idea of ringing being officially considered' heavy manual labour'! I would like to have seen the resultant notes.

\section*{A BUSINESS MEETING IN OCTOBER}

The hon. secretary explained that it never seemed possible to get through the business of the Guild in July without either rushing matters through without due consideration or making the meeting too long. It had therefore been suggested that a meeting should be held in October primarily to deal with business, and that the meeting be held elsewhere than Oxford.

At the July meeting business should be limited to the election of officers, their reports, the passing of the balance sheet, grants from the Restoration Fund and such matters as the annual committee meeting regarded as essential.
After considerable discussion, the majority of speakers favoured giving the autumn meeting a trial, and this was adopted. A vote of members favoured the meeting being held at High Wycombe, and if possible it was decided to hold the meeting there, the date and arrangements being left to the officers.

\section*{REVISION OF RULES}

The committec concerned with the revision of rules had now completed its second revision. Upon the proposition of Mr. Birmingham, seconded by Mr. Butler, the meeting decided to send a copy of the draft to each tower. The Master emphasised that the Guild must treat the matter seriously

The Rev. H. Benson had offered to help in the revision of the service book. His name was accordingly added to the committee.

\section*{BOW BELLS FUND}

The general committee had recommended that the sum collected by the Guild should be made up to \(£ 35\), but the hon. treasurer reported that this sum had already been received. Mr. Butler then proposed and Mr. Birmingham seconded that the sum be made up to \(£ 50\).

The hon. secretary asked where the money was to come from as much of the money in the Restoration Fund had been subscribed by parochial church councils in the diocese for work within the diocese.

It was decided that any money voted to the Bow Bells Fund should be taken from the Gencral Fund. During a discussion, the question arose how much money had really been sent by the Guild, as it was known that some branches had sent their donation direct and not to Mr. Barker.

Mr. A. E. Lock said that he felt that more than \(£ 50\) had been subscribed by the Guild in one way or another, and proposed that no further money be added from the Guild Funds. This was seconded and carried unanimously
It was decided to hold the 1958 Guild festival in Oxford.

Suggested amendments to rules to the effect that a resident member subscribe 5 s . annually was referred to the autumn meeting where it could be discussed at greater length.

The election of 296 new members was ratified.

THE LUNCH
A company of 151 people attended the lunch in the dining hall of Christ Church, guests including the Archdeacon of Oxford and Dr. Watson, organist of Christ Church.

The Master, who presided, proposed the toast of 'The Queen,' and the Deputy Master submitted that of "The Church and State.' The Archdeacon in his reply said it was only six months ago that he joined the Church of England. Before that he had been a member of a disestablished Church, but a much older one. He was happy to respond to the toast as a clerical ringer and a member of the Clerical Guild. He took the opportunity of thank. ing the ringers on behalf of those in authority for the services they rendered to Church and State. The Archdeacon promised his sympathy and support and to do everything he could to welcome them.

Miss Cross welcomed the visitors who had come to join the Guild in its festival. She particularly welcomed the secretary of the Cumberland Youths (Mr. P. Bond), a lady visitor from Australia (Miss F. Brown) and the visitors from Guildford. She coupled with the toast the name of Mr. W. Wilson, a representative of the London County Association, the author of an excellent book on change-ringing for beginners, and a member of the committee which was preparing the new Central Council handbook for beginners.

Mr. Wilson replied and also proposed the toast of 'The Oxford Diocesan Guild.' As members knew, the Guild's Deputy Master had received the highest honour in the Exercise, when he was elected president of the Central Council. That was not only an honour for Mr. Sharpe but also for the Oxford Guild.

The Master thanked Mr. Wilson on behalf of the Guild, and said the Guild did realise the great honour that had been conferred upon Mr. Sharpe, and realised that in once again having one of its members as president of the Council an honour had been conferred on the Guild.

Tho Master then proposed a vote of thanks to the Dean and Chapter for the use of the Cathedral, the Chapter House and the dining hall : to Dr. Watson; to the clergy and ringers of Oxford for the use of the bells in and around the city, and especially to Mr. P. Walker who had helped to organise the ringing arrangements.

During the afternoon and evening ringing took place at the following towers: Merton College, St. Thomas's, Marston, St. Giles', Cowley St. James', St. Mary Magdalen, New College, Carfax, St. Ebbe's, Iffley, Wolvercote, Christ Church and Radley.

\section*{POSTSCRIPT TO COLLEGE DEBATE}

T1OR those members of the Exercise-the majority in fact-not present at the recent meeting of the Central Council, their reading of the reported debate on the College may well conjure up a picture that is hardly realistic This statement in no way reflects, of course, on the report itself, but is intended to convey that, writing from the centre of operations discussed, one is able to speak in terms of fact, instead of, as in this debate, arguments on what were almost entirely issues of supposition. For it is noteworthy that not one critic argued on what are the positive achievements of the College, still less called for any of these facts.

Quite simply, the College appears already to be likely to gain from the debate which, from some opposing aspects, might be considered as a waste of time. For the two motions for discussion had been prepared and submitted largely on conjecture, and before the proposals published about the College had been finally decided upon; with the result that the first of the motions has little or no bearing on what the College has, in fact, accepted, while the second motion was not even voted upon. For this issue two main reasons may be given:-
(a) Those critics who must share the responsibility for its inception may be shown, generally, either not to have read or not to have remembered that their various objections had, in fact, already been met, either in preliminary articles, or in subsequent correspondence in "The Ringing World. On these issues they may be challenged with references and dates.
(b) Probably because of (a) above, but certainly, in any event, they have done the Editor and his committee an injustice by maintaining a rather false position about the publication of the draft material for Part I of the Training Manual proposed. (See 8 below.)
It would be preferable, and only fair, to substantiate these 'reasons' by references "chapter and verse, but in the limited space of this article replies to a few of the more salient of the critics' points must suffice to show the other side of the picture:-

The principles embraced by the College are not the sudden ideas of one person, but have been "developing" for some years, the ideas being shared by several instructionallyminded ringers.
2. Articles on this subject, in general terms, have appeared in "The Ringing World' previously several times in post-war years.
3. The decision to publicise the proposals for a training organisation (or comprehensive 'school' of ringing) and a manual had NOT been taken at the time of the 1956 Council mecting. So there was nothing "secretly" in preparation at that time.
4. The decision so to publish. when taken, was also to include an OPEN and general invitation 10 all ringers to participate in the development. and invitations by post, both to individuals and to officers of ringing societies, began to be issued. The time and the cost involved, however, soon began to show that this was not practicable, and it was reluctahtly accepted that the invitations could only be continued to an extent that is "general ' if issued through the only medium available to ringers -their own paper - "The Ringing World. Such an invitation has been issued (i.e., to participate in developing the whole idea) at least three or four times in the paper.
5. Those who have responded are those who have built and are still building up the organisation, by the process of submitting suggestions, and/or criticisms of drafts circulated, based on experience in ringing tuition.
6. While those who have not responded cannot blame the College for their not having accepted the invitation, they may like to note that their co-operation is still welcomed.
7. From 3, 4 and 5 above it is clear that the suggestion that anything is 'being forced upon anyonc is ridiculous.
8. When all practicable ideas had been collated, they were embodied in an 'omnibus script, i.e., so that a final selective edition could be made. This script, which was therefore only a provisional draft, was then offered to - The Ringing World 'for publication, with two main objectives:-
(a) Giving ringers generally the opportunity of making what use they might of the material that had taken, in fact, considerable effort by several, to get it together, and without any thought of recompense.
(b) Inviting constructive criticism and suggestions for moulding the material into generally acceptable form.
9. So at this stage neither the organisation nor its handbook were finally determined; in deed the draft constitution was still circulating to all who had expressed interest, as late as the spring of this year, and one of its more important articles prescribes conformity with and loyalty to Central Council rules and decisions.
10. A critic in the debate said that his charge of "discourtesy" to the Council "had never been answered. Again, here is neglect to read. For, at least three times in "The Ringing World " was that point taken up, including the quoting of the article as in 9 above.
11. Of the charge that qualifications in ringing are only to show superiority, it may be said that it is uncharitable nonsense, at least in the sense proposed by the College. The simplified ones finally adopted certainly have no "academic titles,' and are primarily and solely to ensure that its work for the good of ringing does not fall below defined standards. There has been no proposall for 'titles' for ringers generallyalthough many ringing societies have qualifying standards of membership.
12. Meanwhile, commendations and thanks have been received in respect of the publication of the draft Part I of the Manual, expressing help derived, especially in towers more remote. This has encouraged the College to complete the revision of Part I and to make it available. at cost only. Its use has been successfully adapted for pupils of types ranging from village schoolchildren to undergraduates. (All work is, of course, entirely voluntary.)

Officers of the College appreciate the support given in the debate by members and other speakers. Records already indicate that the results of the first year's work will fully justify all support given to these needful efforts.

\section*{LANCASHIRE ASSOCIATION Bolton Branch's Good Meeting}

There were two feasts for ringers at the meeting of the Bolton Branch at Newchurch, near Warrington, on Saturday, August 24th, One was a splendid tea provided free by the Parish Church Council. and the other the variety of methods rung.

This church is peculiar in the fact that it has not been dedicated to a saint. There are records of a former church which stood on this site in 1502 which may have had the name of Holy Trinity, but proof was insufficient to adopt that name. The bells (tenor \(12 \frac{1}{4} \mathrm{cwt}\). in F sharp) are of very good 'go and tone. The ringing chamber is parlour-like with its carpeted floor and oak-panelled walls, and the rector is himself a ringer.

There was a large crowd of ringers from many parts of Lancashire and Cheshire, the predominant feature of the personnel being youth. There was only one 'greyhead, and the Ringing Master had a formidable task to fit in something for everybody. There were rounds, Grandsire and Stedman Triples, and for Major ringers, Plain Bob, St. Clement's, Kent and Oxford Treble Bob, Double Norwich, Cambridge, Yorkshire, Bristol, London, Spliced Plain Bob and Cambridge, and a bobbed course of Spliced Surprise in five methods, viz.: Londor. Bristol, Cambridge, Yorkshire and Superlative.

About 50 sat down to tea, and a vote of thanks was passed to thed rector for the use of the bells, the Parochial Church Council for the tea, and the ladies for their service at tea.

At the business meeting it was decided to accept an invitation from the Preston Branch to hold a joint mecting, a date to be fixed by the two secretaries.

\section*{SUSSEX COUNTY ASSOCIATION Eastern Division at Old Heathfield}

In the heart of the Sussex countryside at the little village of Old Heathfield, 40 ringers, including 'furriners' from London. Kent and Surrey, and old friends from 'Heffle' itself, gathered for a successful quarterly meeting on August 24th.

The eight bells were in continuous use during the afternoon, under the direction of the Ringing Master (Mr. L. Giles), and methods varied widely, including Cambridge Surprise Major, rounds and call-changes.
The service was conducted by the incumbent (Rev. H. Bradburn), whose predecessor in 1620 sailed as chaplain in the 'Mayflower.' The ringing, as usual, was noted for its heartiness rather than for its accuracy.

At the nearby Star Inn an excellent tea was served, and afterwards the Master of the Association (Mr. R. V. Johnson) presided at a short business meeting. At the "Any other business stage a very surprised divisional secretary (Mr. H. Reynolds) was presented with two miniature folding chairs for his 6 -month-old twin sons. They were the handiwork of Mr. George Dann, captain of the local ringers.

Ringing continued until the Ringing Master judged that the local inhabitants had had enough. when the bells were lowere \({ }^{-}\)in peal and many of the ringers revisited the Star.

\section*{LETTERS TO THE EDITOR}

\section*{LANCASTER PRIORY BELLS}

Dear Sir,-With reference to your note in Beffry Gossip about the bells of Lancaster Priary not being hung for ringing.
Having been a ringer there for ten-years and towerkeeper for five years, until 1 moved to Morecambe in 1954, 1 can assure you the bells are hung for ringing and are still in a ringable condition.
Although the bells are not rung regularly for service now, it is lack of enthusiasm on the ringers' part and not the condition of the bells as we still ring there for Branch meetings.
An electrically-operated chiming device was installed in 1936, and it was this device which was heard on the radio. It is operated by an electric motor diving a drum, on the same principle as the musical box, the drum having adjustable pegs, which by a series of levers and cranks are connected to the same hammers that were originally operated by the clock only.
The clock chimes are quite pleasant to listen to but the automatics are very monotonous, there being only 48 pegs on the drum and the speed very slow.-Yours faithfully,

> ROLAND F. ECCLES.

\section*{DOLBLE PLAIN BOB}

Dear Sir,-I was glad to see Mr. C. K. Lewis's comment on the fact that, as a result of the Council's decision at Chelmsford, wha: has hitherto been 'Double Bob must now be Double Plain Bob.
The motion, it will be recalled, declared that Bob" is a general term for a class of methods and should not be substituted for the "Plain Bob". which indicates a particular method within that class.' It follows automatically that if the basic method is Plain Boh, the Double. Reverse and Little versions must be Double Plain Bob, Reverse Plain Bob and Little Plain Bob respectively, since 'Double, -Plain" and "Little" are also "general terms for a class of method : one would not say ' Double Surprise Major.' or 'Reverse Surprise Major.' for example.
I trust no one will write to say that 'Double Bob has come down to us from the early days of ringing. This point was made at Chelmsford in legard to "Bob Major, but was evidently thought to be of no significance.
I had fully expected that one or other of the supporters of Mr. Barker's motion would have brought these matters up, and that it would not have been left to two of its few opponents to do so.-Yours faithfully.
E. A. BARNETT.

Crayford, Kent.
'ANTI-CLOCKWISE
Dear Sir,-Reference to paragraph 5 of Mr. E. Barnett's letter on page 547, may I say (quite humbly) it has been my privilege and pleasure to take part in peals of Doubles Minor, Triples. Major, Caters, Royal and Cinques on anti-clockwise rings of bells, and at Northfleet completed the circle.
My one and only peal on five was Doubles in five methods at West Wickham, Kent, on March 31st, 1937, which was before the bells were augmented and hung the right way round. It was the first of Doubles by four of the band and was, incidentally, conducted by Mr. Barnett's son, the present secretary of the Central Council.-Yours sincerely,
J. BENNETT

Grundisburgh.

\section*{ST. PETER'S DOUBLES}

Dear Sir,-With regard to St. Peter's Doubles. This is not the name of a method but the nams of an extent of Doubles consisting of either -St. Martin's with singles instead of hobs or - Spliced St. Martin's and Reverse St. Faith's.' It is generally accepted by the Exersise that a method is delined by its plain course, and that the use of different bobs give variations and not new methods. Many of these Doubles variations have been named. Personally, I think these names should be retained, but such variations could be distinguished by the word Pleasure in their title, i.e., ring a peal of Plain Bob. April Day Pleasure, St. Martin's Bob and St. Peter s Pleasure, but at the same time admit that such a peal is in only two methods and iwo variations. not four methods.
As a Doubles ringer myself 1 think that some recent peals of Doubles should be analysed as follows:-

Barrow-4 methods and 1 variation, not 5 methods.

Wolvercole- 6 methods and 4 variations. not 10 methods.

Roade- 9 methods and 2 variations, no: il methods.
Sherburn-in-Elmet- 19 methods and 2 variations, not 21 methods.

Kirby Bellars- 7 methods and 3 variations, not 10 methods.
Perhaps other Doubles ringers could express an opinion.
What constitutes a peal of spliced Doubles or Minor? It is. I think, generally accepted that every extent must be an extent of spliced in two or more methods. One conductor in recent months has claimed as Spliced Surprise Minor peals in which only one extent was spliced. If w: are to accept this as a peal of Spliced then it follows that every peal in two or more methods is a peal of Spliced. Is this acceptable to the Exercise in general?

Regarding the peal at Evesham on July 27ih. This peal is credited to the Society that ramg it and not the Society within whose territory Evesham lies. Surely this should be the case in every peal. If the Xshire ringers have a tour in Yshire and ring peals, surely such peals should be credited to the Xshire Society? Peals are surely rung by Societies and not for Societies. Let us have more of this ionest crediting oi pzals.-Yours sincerely,
F. T. BLAGROVE.

Dear Sir,-Being both the arranger of the peal of St. Peter's Doubles and the captain of the tower where it was rung. I contend it to be within my authority to answer your correspondent. Mr. J. E. G. Roast, of Danbury, Essex.
In the first place, the peal was never claimed as a new melhod, which Mr. Roast is trying to assert. It was merely stated to be the first full peal of St. Peter's Doubles. St. Peter's having been rung and recognised in peals many times in the past, ringers have a perfect right to ring it (or any others similar) again-a precedent has been created, and having recognised a thing once, no one, to be logical, can do other than recognise it again

The Central Council has shown itself inconsistent in the past: it recognised Bob Triples: later said it wouldn't. and later again said it would. Plain Bob has changed its title from Bob io Plain Bob, then Bob, three times. Grandsire Minor, Major and Royal it recognised, later said it wouldn't and later again said it would. Canterbury Pleasure in older books it changed to Reverse Canterbury-I still call it (and publish it) as Canterbury-and intend carrying on doing so! After all, it was the Central Council who said once a method has been named no one shall alter it-yet they are the first to go against their own ruling.

It was, I believe. Council members themselves who gave St. Peter's Doubles its name. and many others similar. Later they decided otherwise, and later again Mr. C. K. Lewis states: If ringers want to ring April Day, elc., there's no reason why their peals should not be recognised.-Yours sincerely,

P AMOS,
Belfry Captain
Weston Favell, Northants.
Dear Sir,-Mr. Roast and other purists, and perhaps the Peals Analysis Committee, may prefer to consider the recent peal as one of St. Martin's (St. Peter variation). He may, of course, ring and name other similar variations but, in Doubles and Minor, nearly all names have been provided for us already, and he would probably duplicate if he provided fresh ones.
That is the problem, really. Had the name 'St. Peter' been given to an individual plain course method this would have been attempted instead. There was a very special reason for ringing and naming the peal, associated with the dedication of the church, and that reason ought, I think, to outweigh technical considerations of nomenclature. There has been controversy in the past about this, but as I read the C.C. Doubles Collection, we are only advised against ringing variations under their own names at present. This collection gives eight callings for St. Martin's, by the way-Yours faithfully,
D. P. JONES.

Hitchin, Herts.
HEYWOOD'S \(\mathbf{5 , 0 2 4}\) DOUBLE NORWICH
Dear Sir,-I was very pleased to see that Mr. Brian Buswel! gave due recgnition to Sir A. P. Heywood's excellent peal of D.N.C.B., in his article on Choosing Compositions ('R.W. \(\therefore\) page 533). A well-known conductor of this musical method has used this peal with considerable success, and it appears to have the ideal combination of music and simplicity. It can be well recommended to anyone wishing to call their first peal in this ' not as easy as it looks method.-Yours truly.

BOB CALLER.

\section*{RINGERS AT CRICKET}

Dear Sir,-With reference to the cricket match at Tanfield. History repeats! I remember reading in 'The Ringing World, some time hefore the 1914 war, of a cricket match being played between the Society of Royal Cumberland Youths and the College Youths on Mitcham Common. Perhaps my old friend Frank Hains, who I believe took part, can recall the rest of the participants. (A lot of water has flowid under the bridge since those days!)-Yours sincerely,

CECIL V. EBBERSON.

\section*{CANNON-SONE TOUR IN BERKS, BUCKS AND OXON}
'THE annual 'Cannon-Sone tour, now in its eighth year, was again very enjoyable, and 11 peals were scored out of 18 attempts. Some of the failures were purely bad luck, but a lost peal is soon forgotten amongst the merriment and comradeship of a peal-ringing party.

In view of the petrol situation early in the year, it was decided to postpone our proposed visit to Lancashire and make our H.Q. nearer home. Reading seemed to be the ideal centre, and it proved to be a very good choice because there are plenty of towers within easy distance, and good rings of bells, too. Members of the Oxford Diocesan Guild co-operated in a splendid manner, and we would like to thank them for kindly allowing us the use of their beifs. and seeing that everything was ready for us

We commenced on Saturday, August 10th. with a good peal of Yorkshire on the lightweight ring at Shiplake. The paal was rung as a compliment to a recently-engaged couple, the male member saying that it was his first peal this year. Mr. A. K. Street met us at the church and joined with us for a touch of Stedman after the peal, for the benefit of other members of our party, who had arrived to hear the end of the peal. Thanks to the taxi service of Mr. K. R. Holtom, who joined us for the weekend, we were able to get to Sonning (8, \(20 \frac{1}{2}\) cwt.) without getting wet. Mr. F. Cox had everything ready, and we rang a course of London on these fine bells, with Cambridge and Stedman, to which Mr. Cox rang the tenor.

For Sunday morning we had the pleasure of joining Mr . Albert Diserens and some of his local band for service ringing at St. Mary's, Reading ( 8,25 cwt.). The high spot of the morning was a touch of 5 -spliced rung without a misblow. In the afternoon we had a grand welcome from Mr. C. Wilkinson at Hambledon \((6,11\) cwt.). Charles has a really keen sense of humour, and asked us to "fire 'the bells, as he had not heard it done at Hambledon before! He is to be congratulated on having such a beautifully-kept ringing chamber.

We were sorry to leave this charming village, but had to get to Henley \((8,22 \mathrm{cwt}\).) to meet Mr . C. J. Tigwell and enjoy a ring on his excellent bells, cast in 1812 by Thomas Mears, jun. We were delighted to have Mr. Huber Hatto join us for a nice touch of Stedman. Mr. Hatto used to ring with the old Caversham band, whose reputation for good striking was well known over 30 years ago. His handling of a bell is still an example to any young ringer.

\section*{A GOOD PEAL, AND SOME BAD LUCK}

Our first peal-tower for Monday was East Hagbourne ( \(8,21 \frac{1}{2}\) cwt.). We were met by Mr. A. H. Webb, local captain, and as his band have a reputation for good striking, we were determined to score a really good peal on these splendid bells. They are a joy to ring, and the tap-notes are just right.

Another band were left at Blewbury (8, 19 cwt.) to attempt Cambridge, but came to grief after 24 hours' ringing, for causes which only those ringing could understand!

After an excellent lunch at the Fleur-de-Lys Inn, kindly arranged by Mr. Michael Bishop, we arrived at Harwell ( \(8,16 \mathrm{cwt}\).). Some really excellent ringing followed in the attempt for Superlative, which was lost through a miscall, with only five courses to ring. This was a big disappointment to all, as the striking had been so good. Those not ringing visited East Hagbourne ( \(6,22 \mathrm{cwt}\) ), the heaviest six in Berks, and certainly one of the hardest to strike properly. One of the local band kindly showed us one of the oldest clocks in the country, made by James Seymour, of Wantage, and dated 1525. It is still in working order, though there is no face to tell people the time!

We enjoyed a ring at Chilton ( \(6,8 \mathrm{cwt}\) ) with Mr. A. Samler, and finished up the day on the light ring at East Ilsley ( \(8,8 \frac{1}{\mathrm{t}} \mathrm{cwt}\) ), where we were joined by Mr. Cyril'Hibbert, nephew of the famous "Tom" Hibbert, and his local band. The last touch of the evening was Bob Major, in which a young member of the Hibbert family rang the treble with confidence and accuracy

\section*{A DAY IN OXFORDSHIRE}

A wet day greeted us on Tuesday: in fact the weather was poor all the week, but in some ways this was an advantage, as it was not too hot for peal-ringing. Our first peal-tower was Watlington ( \(8,24 \mathrm{cwt}\) ), and we were met by Mr. A. Hine. Conflicting reports had been received about the 'go' of these bells, and someone had done a few extra handpresses to be perfectly fit! However, we were pleased to find that no particular effort was needed to finish a good peal of Yorkshire. The seventhking rang in a pair of white shorts, to make sure he did not soil his shirt! Those not ringing visited Brightwell Baldwin ( \(6,8 \mathrm{cwt}\).) and Chalgrove ( \(6,16 \mathrm{cwt}\). ). Another good lunch was eaten at the Pineappple Cafe, and we continued 10 Warborough ( \(8,11 \mathrm{cwt}\) ), where Mrs. F. Absalom met us. The first peal of Surprise was duly rung, though perhaps not as well as it might have been. Another band were attempting London at Dorchester Abbey ( \(8,16 \mathrm{cwt}\) ), but another big disappointment came when after \(2 \frac{3}{2}\) hours' excellent striking, the slow falling of the fourth indicated a brokert rope. As there had not been a misblow for \(1 \frac{1}{4}\) hours, it is worth giving the names of the unlucky ringers: S. J. Ivin 1, R. W. Rex 2, A. D. Cook 3, G. R. Parker 4, F. E. Wilshaw 5, R. G. Leale 6, P. Mehew 7, J. A. Ainsworth (cond.) 8. Those not peal-ringing visited Long Wittenham (6.9 cwt.) and Little Wittenham (5, 5 cwt.). At the latter place we congratulate the band who rang a multi-method Doubles peal in 1948. The writer thinks that the man on the fourth is a keener man than he is! Though perhaps the "go" was better nine years ago!

It was a very great pleasure for some of us to make the acquaintance of a grand old veteran ringer of the ' 90 's, Mr. Charles \(\mathbf{H}\). Exon, now aged 80 , who rang the fourth in Washbrook's famous 11,328 of London in 1896. He is amazingly fit and active, and related several interesting anecdotes about the famous pair, J. W. W. and the Rev. F. E. R.

Our last tower for the day was the very fine ring at Ewelme ( \(6,19 \mathrm{cwt}\) ), rehung by Taylors. We apologised to Mr. P. Baker for being nearly 30 minutes late, but he and the local band gave us a happy welcome.

\section*{AN EXCELLENT PEAL}

For Wednesday we were joined by Ann Cox and Joan Beesley, who were with us for the whole week last year, but could not fit in their holiday dates for this year conveniently. An attempt for Superlative on the really excellent Taylor ring at Hughenden ( \(8,14 \frac{1}{2} \mathrm{cwt}\).) was lost after 1 hour 20 minutes' ringing, mainly because we were ringing too fast to get the best out of the bells. We hope Mr. J. D. Kape, who met us, has forgiven us for what should have been one of the best attempts of the week. The other party at the unique tower of West Wycombe ( \(8,16 \mathrm{cwt}\).), where Mr. P. G. Harris had everything ready, were more successful with Yorkshire.
We were very sorry that Tom Sone had to leave us on Wednesday morning owing to a sudden family bereavement, and Brian Warwick left us after lunch, as he felt that three days. away from home was long enough!

One of the high spots of the week was undoubtedly the excellent peal of Cambridge

Royal rung at High Wycombe (12, 30\% cwt.). Although we had a band for a 12-bell peal, it was thought we would ring a better peal on the back ten. and we feel we justified the decision. Robin Leale took on the role of bob-caller with only an hour's notice, and did the job well. The peal was a fitting "In memoriam peal for the late Fred Hayes, whom we had hoped to meet on the day. Many thanks to Mr. W. H. Plumbridge for meeting us, and having everything ready.

Those not ringing were welcomed by Harry Wingrove at Beaconsfield (8, 22 cwt ), where Bristol was rung; and the last tower was Marlow (8, 15 cwt ), where Mr. E. D. Poole was pleased to renew friendship with his old county companion, Hector Bennett, of Shropshire.

\section*{ANOTHER ATTEMPT FOR LONDON}

Thursday arrived and we all hoped that the same band, who had the broken rope at Dorchester, would achieve London at Twyford (8, 12 cwt.). But it was not to be, because the attempt ended after \(2 f\) hours, and the ringing not quite as good as at Dorchester. The usual well-known peal of D.N.C.B. was scored at Wargrave ( \(8,17 \mathrm{cwt}\).). It never fails, and can be recommended to anyone who wishes to make sure of scoring! Mr. E. G. Burrows was expecting us at \(9.30 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}\)., and as we thought we had arranged for \(10 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}\). , he had to be telephoned to return with the key-the only mistake in the organisation!

In the afternoon. Mr. E. E. Gosling met us at Boync Hill (8, \(15 \frac{1}{2} \mathrm{cwt}\) ), and Brian Bladon made a good job of the tenor, ably assisted by the rest of the band, for the first peal of Yorkshire on the bells. These are a good ring, cast by Warners in 1868 , and recently rehung by Taylor's. Although comparatively light, they cannot be hurried, as the brick tower provides plenty of sway. The remainder were given a grand welcome by Mr. Tom Fowler at Cookham ( \(8,14 t \mathrm{cwt}\).), and he joined us for Cambridge and Stedman. Later in the evening, both he and Mr. Gosling met us at Bray (8, \(26 \frac{1}{2}\) cwt.) where, amongst ather methods, a very well-struck touch of 5 -spliced was rung. Even the redoubtable George Gilhert, who was listening in the churchyard, must have been satisfied! Very many thanks to Mr. J. E. Norsworthy and his local band for kindly allowing us to ring during their practice night. As it was Princess Anne's birthday, the opportunity was provided to join the local ringers at the famous Curfew Tower. Windsor (8, 26 cwt ). and was much appreciated by everyone.

\section*{A GOOD PEAL OF BRISTOL}

Arriving at Farnham Royal (8, \(12 \frac{1}{2} \mathrm{cwt}\).) on Friday morning, we were welcomed by Mr. - Bill' Henley, still looking very fit, although he does not ring so many peals these days. A strong band was chosen for Bristol, and to everyone's delight an excellent peal was scored. conducted by Stephen Ivin. This was only his second success of the week, as he had been unlucky enough to have heen in four of the early failures.

The band who went to the fine Gillett ring at Stoke Poges ( \(8,13 \frac{1}{2} \mathrm{cwt}\).) were joined by Mr . and Mrs. Arthur Barker. The attempt for Cambridge lasted 1 hour and 20 minutes, and the failure can be blamed mainly on too many late nights We were very disappointed at losing this peal, but appreciated the opportunity of making the attempt

After lunch on the Bath road, another attempt was made for Cambridge at Wooburn ( \(8,18 \frac{1}{2} \mathrm{cwt}\).), and Mr. C. A. Smith had everything ready for us. The bells have recently been rehung on ball-bearings, and now "go very well. A good peal was duly rung, and (Continued next page)

The second sitting for tea was duly arranged, but it naturally delayed the business meeting and rather spoiled the proceedings generally. However, it was over eventually, but some of its partakers looked as though they would have liked a little more.
The tables were then cleared and the business meeting began, with the Vicar in the chair. The agenda was light and as no one appeared to have any contentious questions to raise the meeting was over in a little more than twenty minutes, for which Egbert was glad. He was not interested in the proceedings but had nothing tol do until ringing began again.
Owing to the delay at lea time a number of the visitors had to leave, since Little Taterfield was somewhat isolated, and on arrival at the tower it was found not enough were left for a further attempt at Spliced Doubles, so after about three-quarters of an hour, when others had to take their leave. the bells were lowered and those remaining adjourned to the 'Ring of Beef.'

The R.M. and the secretary were among those who had not yet to depart, and they invited Egbert to go alone with them. Since he was not due back until midnight Egbert decided to go. On arrival at the hostelry, they found a small group already entrenched there. having not bothered to go back to the tower after tea. The R.M. regarded them with mild disapproval and told them there would have been enough for another go at the 'spliced' if they had been there. The refreshments having arrived. however, the matter was not pursued. and the newcomers made themselves comfortable.
Egbert found himself sitting next the rower keeper, wno opened the conversation by asking Egbert how far he had travelled, after which they chatted about various ringing matters. while the R.M., who sat opposite, was engaged in conversation with the secretary.

cheered us up after the morning failure. On both Thursday and Friday, Reg Rex nearly brought off his first ' two-in-a-day' since losing his arm. As usual, Rex's ringing is perfect and an example to all.
We finished up the day with two short touches at St. Giles', Reading (8, 15 cwt .), and were joined by Mr. Albert Diserens and two of his talented sons, Jim and Ronald. They had their bags ready to catch the train for Ireland. Albert has a family to be proud of. and to hear him and his three sons tap off a course of London on handbells, without a misblow, is something worth listening to.

\section*{THE LAST DAY}

Owing to several wishing to return home early on Saturday, it took quite a bit of organising to get a band out to Stratfield Mortimer ( \(8,11 \frac{1}{1} \mathrm{cwt}\).) and to choose seven who would not be going to Windsor in the afternoon. The result was a very fast peal of Superlative, and Alan Ainsworth certainly had to work hard on the tenor.
At Windsor an attempt for Yorkshire was stopped at the first trip, after 50 minutes reasonable ringing.
Once again, another very enjoyable week was finished for another year: and we would like to thank everyone for their excellent co-operation. not the least being the splendid driving of Mr. 'Ted' Palmer, of Messrs. Smith's Coaches. Reading. We hope to see him again next yea:, when we visit another new county in quest of peals, new towers and good scenery.
A. PATRICK CANNON.

Two others who had been standing up came and joined those at Egbert's taible, and one of them asked the R.M. for the figures of a new Surprise method which had recently been rung. The R.M. asked him to jot them down, which he did, thus: \(-38-14,58-12,38,14-14,58,16-16\). 78 , adding the instruction : 2 nd place lead-end, 4th place bob.' The secretary observed that that idea of notation was quite catching. The railways would appear to have started it with their 4-6-0, 0-6-0, etc., being wheel arrangements of locomotives. The plan was later used in giving vital statistics of film stars-37-26-36, and now ringers had seen its advanlages for their own purposes.

From this point the conversation slipped casily into a discussion of methods and then method extension. This was a subject which interested Egbert and, since he rather fancied himseif upon his theory, it was not very long before he was involved in a somewhat animated exchange of opinions with the two who had lately joineā the party. These two obviously knew what they were talking about, and Egbert found himself out of his depth very quickly. He was told he must have been looking at some of the work of the Wizard, but this did not appear to register with him, whereupon the secretary, who had been listening during the last few minutes, informed him that they were referring to the Wonderful Wizard of Cos, who was a difficult proposition to Tan, although they might Log him for his Sin.

This abominable crack drew titters from the others, adding to Egbert's discomfiture, but the R.M. came to his rescue by asking if anyone fancied a touch of anything upon the handbells, which reposed in a bag under a seat. Four of the party decided to try Bob Major and two courses were rattled off without much difficulty, after which they tried Grandsire Triples, but for some reason this would not go. and after one or two attempts the bells were replaced in their bag, and the party showed signs of beginning to break up. Egbert was not altogether sorry, things not having gone very well for him since tea. and he had not yet recovered from the mauling he had received over the question of method extension. Having secured his ancient bike, he bade his 'good nights' and. minus the first of his tail feathers, pedalled morosely away from Little Taterfield.

\section*{A YORKSHIRE PEAL WEEK}

A FTER last year's success, another week of peal attempts was arranged in Yorkshire during August. This time, however, only four peals were accomplished out of eight attempts. On Monday, 19th, a well-struck peal of Minor in five methods was rung at Batley, the last part of which was heard by Mr. W. Eric Critchley, the peal secretary of the Yorkshire Association.

Two attempts were scheduled for Tuesday, the first of which, at Chapel Allerton, was successful. Here another good peal of Minor was rung, although the band showed a tendency towards carelessness. But after a' good start to the week's programme the ill-luck that was to attend us for the next three days met us at Armley in the afternoon. We weres due to attempt Kent Major, but on arriving at the tower discovered that Alan Hartley was too ill to stand in, and went for another peal of Minor instead (Sheila kindly standing down). A broken rope at the end of the first extent gave us our first failure.

Wednesday saw us at Horbury, where after over an hour's work spent in changing the treble rope (our thanks to Irvin Slack for his efforts on our behalf), Stedman Triples went quite well until faulty front work meant that we had failed for the second time this week.

The band which met at Bramley on Thursday morning was determined to stop the rot, and although Ted Bradley at first seemed likely to join Alan on the sick list. he was fortified with Lucozade and a start was made for Minor in six methods. The first extent (Single Oxford) was rung in fine style, but during the second (Cambridge) one ringer must have heard a gremlin call 'bob,' for she came from the back regardless and by mischance rounds came up. No peal, but we rang a quarter to restore our shattered confidence.

A handbell peal had been arranged for Friday morning, and after two very small members of the Ladies' Guild had been seen off the premises, this was duty rung at 'Padmar, Alan Sheppard taking the place of Ted Bradley who was still a trifle tottery. The afternoon, however, brought us our fourth successive towerbell failure. Thorner bells are not as good now as they might be, and the band was not really in the mood for a peal here. Cambridge petered out and we then rang a good quarter of Bob Minor.

The last attempt of the week was on the new bells at Wragby. Here we found the form we had shown on Monday, and a very enjoyable peal was rung in four methods. Wragby church stands in the grounds of Nostell Priory, and as Saturday was an open day, we had a considerable audience (ground floor ringing room) until just before the peal finished: this included the inevitable small boy, who sat for a long time behind the ringer of the fifth, kicking his pew for all he was worth.
Despite our 50 per cent. failure, we had a pleasant week of good ringing, and we would like to express our thanks to all incumbents and tocal ringers who so kindly granted us the use of their bells and met us at their towers.

\section*{NEWS FROM CAPETOWN}

When Mr. R. Stickley arrived once again in Table Bay, on August 22nd, he was accorded a streamlined passage through the formalities of disembarking. Although he was in his hotel by \(8.20 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}\). ., his reputation had preceded him. and an interview with the S.A.B.C. took place later the same evening: and the recording went over the air the next evening. On Sunday, August 25 th, all the Cape Town ringers, excepting those suffering from Asiatic 'flu. gathered to meet him at tea, and afterwards proceeded to St. Mary's, where a successful quarter peal was rung.

\section*{TOWER CAPTAIN'S LOYALTY APPRECIATED}

Mr. Thomas Garley, of Isham, Northants, has recently retired from the office of tower captain, which he has held for the past 25 years. At a special mecting of the Parochial Church Council, to which friends and subscribers to his testimonial had been invited, Mr. Garley was presented with an electric clock, a fountain pen and a book, in recognition of his loyal and able service over the years. The presentation was made by the Rector (Rev. G. G. Carnell), with whom was associated the senior hellinger (Mr. R. Buswell). Mr. Garley, who is succeeded by his son. Mr. A. Garley, is continuing as an active member of the team for, it is hoped, many more years. That Isham has never lacked its own team of ringers is due entirely to Mr. Tom Garley's enthuslasm for and devotion to his art.

\section*{EIGHTY YEARS ON}

TTHERE are certain places that are hallowed in the memory of ringers and one of these is the Choir School at Durham Cathedral. . Tucked away up a steep flight of stairs, this room with its sparse furnishings the wooden benches of the decani on one side and the cantoris on the other - has been associated with music for years. And what could be more appropriate than amidst such surroundings the Durham and eventually the Durham and Newcastle Diocesan Association of Change Ringers saw its birth on August 25th, 1877. Of those who founded the Association in that room little is known of them to-day, but we are certain that it was an all male gathering, for women were not tolerated in belfries.

They were keen men with a sense of vocation; their presence in the Cathedral of the Diocese that day marked a significant change in their attitude towards ringing; it was the passing of the secular to the religious. No longer was the ringing chamber to be like the skittle alley; the whole purpose of ringing was to be based on its service to the Church to the glory of God. In return for this dedication of their skill they expected and received the recognition of the ecclesiastical authorities as servants of the Chureh. Those lofty ideals have remained stedfast and they have been blessed. The blessing has revealed itself in the unparalleled friendship that exists among ringers to-day, extending far beyond the confines of their own tower, district and guild so as to embrace all who ring changes on church bells.

Members of this Association were wise to include in the celebrations of their 80th birthday this act of commemoration and rededication. Although the Exercise has surmounted many obstacles, it is essential for its members to renew the spirit that resulted in the formation of diocesan and territorial associations throughout the country. The essential purpose of ringing is in the service of the Chureh - the call to worship on a Sunday. There was one phrase in the sermon of Canon R. T. Heselton at the evensong at the Cathedral service which should be remembered in every belfry: 'Let your ringing be pleasing to the ear and tell the code of your churchmanship.' This must be in the forefront of all our ringing for services of the Church. How can it be achieved? Not by just attending for one or two half hours on a Sunday. The keynote is assiduous practice and the capturing of that perfect rhythm that can only be brought about by participating in quarter peals and peals. The friendship of ringing develops largely from this association of being just one of a team blending all his or her faculties to one purpose-of the ringing being as near perfection as possible. With the complete mastery of the bell comes the desire for the extension of the knowledge of methods.

In some respects the Durham and Newcastle Association is an isolated body. There are no great centres of ringing on its borders, and advancement is dependent upon the initiative of officers and tower captains. Nevertheless, the art of change ringing in many towers is on a high plane and the recording of Newcastle Cathedral bells which was heard on the Northern Region when the president. Mr. Kenneth Arthur, gave his broadcast, was ringing of a high order. Fortunately a tape-recording of this performance exists.

An unfortunate circumstance in this year of rejoicing is that the bells in the great Cathedral at Durham are far from satisfactory. Hung high in the massive tower, which is a landmark for miles, their ringing is accompanied by oscillation that has alarmed the authorities. The architect to the Cathedral has taken a serious view and has limited ringing to not more than one hour in 24 hours, and touches are limited to 20 minutes followed by a considerable interval. Consultations have taken place with leading bell founders as to what improvements can be effected whereby the tower can be strengthened and the bells improved, and it would be gratifying to the Association if this magnificent Cathedral had at an early date bells equal to the grandeur of the building.

Those who attended the 80th birthday celebratioris took away with them happy memories. The first was the esteem with which the Association is held by both the Church and the University. It was indeed an honour for the dinner to be held in the Great Hall of the Castle. The second was the keenness and meticulous attention to details by the president and the hon. secretary and the admirable way members of the Association supported the three events. The strangers who were privileged to be present and enjoy the hospitality provided were not only impressed but encouraged that this distant Association was imbued with the true spirit of our craft and was worthily upholding the principles the Central Council hold most dearly. The centenary is not far distant, and to the young ringers who join this Association they have the knowledge that it is built on a solid foundation and possesses a tradition that makes full membership a privilege to be prized.

\section*{MR. H. E. ROBERTS}

The death occurred on August 24th of Mr. Herbert E. Roberis, of Dodleston. near Chester, aged 69 years.
He had been associated with St. Mary's. Dodteston, for the last 60 years, and took part in the first peal on the hells on Easter Sunday, 1930, which followed the augmentation of the bells from five to six a yean carlier.
III health had prevented his taking part in the Sunday service ringing during the last two years, but up to that time re had heen a loyal member of the local company and a member of the Chester Diocesan Guild. Despite this he mainrained his interest in the affairs of his local tower and of ringers in general.

The funeral took place at Dodleston on Tuesday. Auzust 27th, at which the local company was represented. A half-muffled quarter peal was rung as a last token of respect in the evening.

\section*{THE LADIES' GUILD}

\section*{Sussex District}

A meeting of the Sussex District was held at Southover, Lewes (10), on August 31st. The bells were rung to rounds. Triples, Major and Caters from 3 p.m. until 8 p.m. At 5 D.m. the customary break was made for tea, followed by some handbell ringing.

When the gentemen resumed ringing, at 6 p.m., the ladies held their meeting. One new member was elected. Miss Janet Elphick (aged 11). Miss D. Lester (Hastings) was unanimously elecled District secretary in succession 10 Miss K. Yeo, who is leaving Sussex in the near future for Kent.

The next meeting, subject to permission, will be held at Af Saints'. Hastings, in the afternoon, and Christ Church. Blacklands, in the evening, on November 9th

Thanks are extended to all who helped make this meeting a success.

\section*{LEEDS & DISTRICT SOCIETY}

Although the afternoon attendance was rather disappointing, probably due to the indifferent weather earlier in the day, the evening saw a considerable increase in numbers at the Society's monthly meeting held at Collingham on August 31st.
The very light ring of cight was fully occupied from being raised at 3 oclock until they were lowered just hefore 9 D.m. Even during the break at tea-time the bells were kept going by the Clitheroe ringers, who had chosen this particular day for their outing.

After a very delightful tea they adjourned to another room for the husiness meeting. Two new members were elected and then followed a reply by the Vicar to a vote of thanks he had not heard: He spoke of the recent celebrations connected with the golden jubilee of the bells, and went on to say that at Collingham they believed they had in their bells something really good-something to be shared rather than kept to themselves.

Some discussion took place concerning the 'October' meeting. It was decided to hold this at St. Chad's, Headingley, on November 2nd, as Bramley would not be available, and the customary day, October 26th, was the day of the Snowdon dinner at Rotherham.
The next meeting will he held at Rothwell on September 28th.

\section*{OUTINGS}

\section*{GAINSBOROUGH AND DISTRICT}

Blazing June-all's in tune is a fitting description of the annual outing of the Gainsborough District on June 29 th.

This year the county of Staffordshire was visited, starting off with that most famous six at Hoar Cross, where some good Minor was rung without much difficulty. Next came St. Peter's, Marchington (6), with at tenor a mere third of the weight of the previous one. Here the bells seemed to lack mellowness.
The lovely eight at Uttoxeter followed, with hastily-snatched sandwiches on the way. Are the bells as good as Gainsborough's? Some thought they were, others not, but the graceful spire which Gainsborough lacks may have been in Uttoxeter's favour.
On to Cheadle, where Mr. Hall identified us on the outskirts and guided us to a spot from whence, with a minimum of walking, we could reach both towers. First the Roman Catholic Church. with its lofty spire seemingly trying to reach a higher point in the heavens than the Parish Church from a lower position in the town. The bells are a lovely eight, and whilst some rang the final touch here an advance party went to pull up the six at the Parish Church and to be welcomed by Mr. Roberts.
After an excellent tea came the good six at Mayfield, but Spliced Minor would not go. A call was made at Baslow to refuel, or rather. replenish, our cooling systems and on the strake of midnight most of us were home again.

\section*{NORFOLK AND SUFFOLK GRAMMAR SCHOOLS' OUTING}

On August 21 st the second summer tour was held, when a collection of ringers representing the towers of Barking. Beccles, Carlton Coalville, Ixworth. Mulharton and Newmarket met at Brome. Here on the light five a 120 of Stedman Doubles heralded the arrival of Mr. F. B. Lufkin and his daughter who joined us for the tour
The party rang at Yaxley ( \(6,10 \frac{1}{2} \mathrm{cw}\). .) , Stoke Ash \(\left(5,1 \frac{1}{2} \mathrm{cwt}\right.\)., where the bells were crying out for lubricant!). Thornham Magna (6, 10 cWI., where each bell was well equipped with a box and several spares, and where we experienced the only broken rope of the tour), Thorndon ( \(6,11 \mathrm{cwt}\).) and Eye ( \(8,22 \mathrm{cwt}\).., where we were met by Mr. Claude Rush and another local ringer). At Eye some quite good ringing was experienced, and most of the party had to "try the tenor." After a reasonable lower on the back six we went our separate ways.

Methods rung were St. Simon's, St. Martin's, St. Osmund's, Grandsire. St, Peter's, Stedman and Plain Bob Doubles, Kent, Oxford, Cambridge, College. St. Clement's and Plain Bob Minor, Plain Bob Triples. Kent and Plain Bob Major.

The thanks of the team are extended to the incumbents and local ringers for the use of the hells, and apologies to K. G. Brown and A. Fitch, who waited for us at Wickham Skeith where we were unable to have the bells at the last moment, due to my own shortcomings.
L. N. M.

\section*{TUNBRIDGE YOUNG RINGERS}

Young ringers of the Tonbridge area held a cycling ringing tour on August 17 th ringing at Hadlow, East Farleigh, Barming, Wateringhury, Mereworth and East Peckham. Methods rung were Plain Bob, Oxford Bob, Grandsire and Stedman. Sincere thanks are offered to clergy and laymen who helped to make this little tour a blg success.

\section*{AN ESSEX APPEAL}

Mr. Robert C. Heazel, Master of the Essex Association, of Tye Green. Saffron Walden, Essex, is personally appcaling on behalf of Little Horkesley Church, which has been rebuilt after destruction by encmy action.
The church is to become the home of a ring of five 'Miles Graye' bells, which have been removed from the redundant Church of All Saints, Colchester.
Owing to the shortage of money, plans have been prepared to hang the hells dead and use a chiming apparatus. The Essex Association of Change Ringers is using all its power to get the bells hung for ringing. The Little Horkesley Parochial Church Council are wholeheartedly in favour and would like this to become a possibility. In a parish of a little over 200 people they have raised \(£ 5,000\) to supplement the payment by the War Damage Commission for the rebuilding of the church, and now feel that they have exhausted every avenue of possible income. The Association has promised a grant from its Bell Restoration Fund -they feel it is a worthy cause and are anxious to. sponsor an appeal for help.

Would you like to give a contribution or buy a rope? It is a unique opnortunity to help and thereby let the sound of changing bells float over the surrounding countryside to proclaim that out of dust and ashes. from the darkness of apparent despair, there has risen a new tower from which iron tongues will send, their message to the utmost parts of the earth.' concludes Mr. Heazel's appeal.

\section*{DURHAM AND NEWCASTLE}

The meetings held at Hurworth, the pretty Tees-side village, have proved a great attraction in recent years. This must be due to the keenness of the local band, whose belfry is kept in fine condition, and the excellence of the tea, provided by the ringers' wives.

The service was conducted by the Rector (the Rev. L. Piper), and Mr. J. Brown (Ripon) was the organist. Over 30 members and friends sat down to tea. The vote of thanks to the Rector and his wardens was expressed by Mr. P. Rock. and special thanks to the ladies by Mr. F. W. Cooke.

The meeting that followed was the annual one, where Mr. T. Cooke (St. Cuthbert's, Darlington) and Mr. P. Rock were unanimously re-elected vice-president and hon secretary respectively. Mr. Piper, who had taken the chair temporarily. proposed to them a vote of thanks for their services during the preceding year. It was decided to send the District's compliments to the Association on its 80th birthday.

Ringing consisted of courses of London and Cambridge Surprise. touches of Bob Minor, Double Court. St. Clement's, Kent and Grandsire Doubles.

\section*{SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD}

It can truthfully be said that the Marlborough Branch is truly rural. In a setting of this description the Branch me! at Everleigh on August 24th. Noted peal ringers were among the visitors of both sexes and came from places from as far apart as Truro, Watford. Bodenham, Salisbury, Waltham Abbey, Sherborne St. John and Damerham.

The Rector (the Rev. Mr. Macnutt), during the scrvice, welcomed everyone and requested all to sign the visitors book. Tea was provided at the Crown Hotel, the ringers being the guests of a friend who wished to remain anonymous. The Central Council's president was also present, logether with his daughter. Elizabeth, and to wind up a very pleasant lime Mr. Sharpe gave an interesting account of the Central Council activities on its literary side.

Mr. E. Barnett, of 10 , King's Close, Crayford, writes; Regarding Mr. H. W. in making ten peals to Stradbroke tower and ringing ten peals each on a different bell, may I say that more than 50 years ago Mr. John R. Sharman, now of Cogenhoe, Northants, paid 12 visits to the Waterloo tower, Quex Park, Birchington, rang 12 peals and a different bell on each occasion. How true the saying is 'There is nothing new under the sun.'

Miss Daphne R. Castell and Mr. Malcolm S. Cloke were married last Saturday at St. Michael's Church, Stanton Harcourt. Our congratulations. A peal in honour of the occasion was rung at Witney.

Mr. David Smith, of the Witney and Woodstock Branch of the Oxford Diocesan Guild, is making a set of slides to show the correct way of handling. When ready, he is prepared to take them with his projector round the Branch.

Cambridge University Guild scored eight peals during their recent successful tour. Features of the week were Cambridge Surprise Royal at Bishop's Stortford, four methods Spliced Surprise Major at Great Dunmow, Yorkshre Surprise at Rayleigh and Cambridge Surprise at Rayne and Loughton.
The late Mr . George Preston, the revered captain of Christchurch Priory ringers, has bequeathed to the Priory the sum of \(£ 500\), to be invested and the income used at the discretion of the Vicar and churchwardens for the benefit of the Priory Church, with the wish that it may if possible be used for the upkeep of the ringing chamber. The hope is expressed in the parish Newsletter that it may be possibie to provide a permanent memorial to one whom so many remember with affection and gratitude.

It is often (wrongly) said that peal ringers have not time for other church work Mr. James F. Musson, of Silk Willoughby, has the record of being a chorister for 44 years, a bellringer for 34 years and a member of the P.C.C. for 32 years. In addition he is rector's warden and a Sunday school teacher.

Miss Brenda Slark, who conducted her first quarter peal of Holt's Original Grandsire Triples on August 18th at Eltham would like to thank Mr. E. B. Crowder for all the help he has given her in learning to conduct.

Members of the Leicester Cathedral Company rang a peal of Stedman Cinques on August 31st without their Ringing Master, Mr. Herrick Bowley. Despite the fact that he had a 'night off' he could not resist listening to the peal.
An attempt to ring a quarter peal in honour of the wedding of Rex Agg and Anne Muirhead, who were married in Cheshire on August 17th, failed at Hitchin, Herts, where both bride and bridegroom are valuable members of the local team. The attempt at nearby Pirton was, however, more successful.

Mr. K. C. Fleming, of Marston Morteyne, Beds, writes thanking ringers in Worcestershire and Gloucestershire for a most enjoyable time spent ringing in their towers, and also, the young ringers of Staffordshire for inviting him to join them for two days of their fortnight's tour.

Messrs. Ralph G. Edwards and A. Pat Cannon, whilst on holiday at Bournemouth, paid a visit to Qucen Camel, Somerset, where they received a rvarm welcome from the local captain, Mr. Fred J. Reeves, and several of his band. Ralph Edwards would like it recorded that, at long last, he has heard a tenor. by an old founder, which did not need recasting! Purdue's jewel is a masterpiece!

A MEMORABLE 80th BIRTHDAY AT DURHAM

\section*{BIG GATHERING PERFORM ACT OF COMMEMORATION AND REDEDICATION}

With a true sense of vocation, ringers of the Durham and Newcastle Diocesan Association honoured the \(80 t h\) anmiversary of the jormation of their Association at Durham on August 31 st. Proceedings included Evensung at the Cathedral, an act of commemoralion and rededication in the Song School of the Cathedral, and finally a dinmer in the Great Hall of Durham Castle.

ASERVICE touch of Stedman Triples preceded Evensong. The service was sung by the choir of Stockton parish, owing to the Cathedral choir being on holiday, and included Cathedral choir being on holiday, and included the Magnificat and Nunc Dimittis, sung to settings by Stanford.

The sermon was preached by a friend of long standing of the Association-Canon \(\mathbb{R}\). T. Hesclton, formerly of Stockton Parish Church. He traced the use of bells in this country throughout the ages, and mentioned how the 18th century was the golden age of bellringing, when England was known as a land of bells and many ringing societies were formed.

They met that day, he said, to honour the 80th anniversary of the Durham and Newcastle Diocesan Association. Such a record of service was deserving of recognition of the Chureh. and he often wished that the spirit of fellowship that existed among beliringers could be brought into other sections of church work. "The spread of the comradeship which you show in your team work would help tremendously in making known the message of the Kingdom of God.

He would remind them that they were ambissadors. He remembered the captain of his first belfry team giving their motto to his ringers: Ears open, eyes open, feet steady and tongues tied.'

\section*{YOUR RINGING THE CODE OF CHURCHMANSHIP}

When ringing, remember that your audience is the townspeople. They don't know whether you are ringing Doubles, Triples, Minor or Major, but they do know when the bells sound in harmony and are pleasing to the ear, so sec that your ringing is telling the code of your churchmanship. A touch well rung is far better than a peal struggled through with bells clashing and firing. You may say that you are tinging so and so, but the private opinion of townspcople is that you are making a terrible row. Your Association aims at promoting good ringing; I feel you should bring that into the Church's work.

After the Blessing, a course of Grandsire Triples was rung by the president and three past presidents of the Association-Messrs. \(K\). Arthur, J. Armstrong. W. N. Park and R. A. Gofton.

\section*{ACT OF THANKSGIVING AND REDEDICATION}

Probably the most significant part of the day's proccedings was the act of thanksgiving and rededication, which took placo in the Song School of the Cathedral where the Association was first formed on August 25th, 1877. About 100 ringers were present at this commemoration gathering. The president (Mr. K. Arthur) led the procecdings, and said that the commemoration was firstly to give thanks to Almighty God for those who founded the Association and those who, through the years, had maintained and extended its work: and secondly, to pray for the blessing of God upon its work now and in the years to come.

Thanksgivings were led by the Rev. D. N Goldie, for the originators of bells and bellringing; for the donors of churches and bells; for those who founded the Association; for those who held office in the Association; for all ringers who have been content quietly to do their duty week by week and year by year.

Among those present was Mr. Bennett, of Winlaton, nephew of a founder member; and as an act of recognition a touch on handbells of Grandsire Triples was rung by Messrs. D. A. Bayles (present secretary), J. A. Brown (previous secretary), Mrs. Ranken and Mr. J. Brewster (peal sccretaries past and present).

Prayers were offered by the Rcv. H. P. Chappell (North Shiclds), and after the singing of the hymn 'Ringers of Christian England' the Blessing was pronounced by the Dean (the Very Rev. J. H. S. Wild).

\section*{THE DINNER}

The Association was very fortunate in having the stately setting of the Great Hall of Durham Castle for the commemoration dinner. A company of 128 was present, and supporting the president and Mrs. Arthur on the top table were the Dean of Durham, the Provost of Newcastle (the Very Rev. N. M. Kennaby), Mr. E. A. Barnett (hon. secretary of the Central Council), Mr. D. A. Bayles (hon. secretary of the Association) and Mrs. Bayles, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Park and Miss P. Park, Mr, and Mrs. J. Anderson, Mr. and Mrs. J. Brewster, Mr. F. Ainsley (hon, treasurer), Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Gofton, Mr. T. M. Cox and Mr. T. W. White. In a welcome to the company, the president said that the response to the celcbration had gone beyond all his most optimistic expectations. To the members of the committee this interest and loyalty was most gratifying, and came as a fitting reward to all their work of organisation.

Today we are celebrating our 80th birthday as a diocesan association, and it is no mere platitude to say that this is an auspicious occasion. We are proud in the knowledge that we have a record of 80 years' continuous service to the churches in this locality, and are uplifted by the fellowship of rededication and conviviality experienced at this time.

Some octogenarians attribute their advanced age to good beer, some to good wives, while others claim total abstinence as their recipe. One old gentleman, much married, used to attribute his long years to outside exerciseapparently whenever there was a flare-up between his wife and himself it was his custom \(t o\) put on his hat and take a watk round the hlock, and he claimed to have covered thousands of miles in this way! We would, of course, claim an exercise of a different sort.

\section*{THE CONTINUAL LINK}
- But I would suggest that one of the mainstays of our strength has been the continual link with the past through generations of families of ringers. I mentioned this afternoon that Mr. Bennett, of Winlaton, has a direct link through his uncle with the foundation of the Association, and in addition we are happy to welcome here tonight several other members who have links going back at least 50 yearsMr. Fred Sheraton, of Chester-le-Strect, who joined in 1893; and he has carlier associations still through an efder frother. Then again, the brothers Park, of Darlington: Mr. Gofton, of Whitley Bay: Mr. J. A. Brown, now of Ripon. and Mr. T. Cox, of Middlesbrough, all come from a long line of faithful nembers,
'In conclusion, I am wondering how many members have studied the aims of this Association recently? I was re-reading them. Briefly, the aims are to Secure . Promote. Unite . . Reform. Now, taking the initial letter of each word, we have the word "Spur," which according to a dictionary definition means to goad, to urge onwards. I like to think that this has been the watchword of the Association throughout its history, and 1 commend it to the members of today as they go forward towards our centenary. Act through the Association and "spur" on the work of service to the church bells of these two dioceses.

The toast of 'The Church' was submitted by Mr. D. A. Bayles, who reminded the gathering that their Association was only a very small part of the Church and it was axiomatic that the part could not be greater than the whole. The 80 years of the life of the Association was very insignificant in comparison with the life of the Church.

\section*{WORK AS CHURCHMEN}

In reply, the Dean of Durham said their Association reminded them that laymen were full members of the Church, and the work that ringers do week by week in calling the parishioners to worship was work they did as churchmen. The craft which they practised was an English craft and one in which they took a quiet pride. This craft was not indigenous to any other country.
He noticed from their annual report that in addition to their weekly duty they had been ringing peals on special occasions at a number of churches, and he thought it must be most encouraging to a new incumbent on coming to his parish to be welcomed by a peal on the bells. It was indeed an act of welcoming fellowship.

The Provost of Newcastle also replicd and said that they as ministers who were responsible for the life of the Church were grateful to the ringers for all they did. He hoped they would go on from strength to strength.

Mr. E. A. Barnett, in proposing the toast of -The Durham and Newcastle Diocesan Association of Change Ringers,' said it was a great honour to be with them on their 80th birthday celebration and to join with them at Evensong and in the act of commemoration of their founder members.
There were not many Associations that could go back further than theirs. There was the Yorkshire Association, and he believed that the Norwich Association and the Devon Guild were also older. They in Kent were 77, but they were lucky in having a foundation member still with them who was still an active ringer and rang a quarter peal on his 90th birthday.

FAMOUS NAMES
He thought on an occasion like that that one ought to refer to the famous names that had occurred in those years. The first that occurred to him was Joseph W. Parker, whose fame as a composer would never dic. He was a practical ringer as well as a composer, and was a pioncer in the field of Spliced Surprise Major. in which he had no equal. Towards the close of last year he was asked to be godfather to the child of a friend of his. The other godfather came from Manchester, and the subject of ringing came up. He said:. I have not seen any ringing for years.' His grandfather was Joseph W. Parker and his church was St. Ignatius, Sunderland.

Another name was William H. Barber, but he did not know whether they could clain him as he was born in Worcestershire and spent a lot of his time in Birmingham. He was an extremely skilled, practical ringer, who performed some extraordinary feats. He called Parkers Odd Bob Peal on handbells blindfolded, and on another occasion called a handbell peal down a coalmine.

He would also like to mention the Gofton brothers. In 1920 they rang a peal of London Surprise on handbells, the only time it had been done by four brothers, and was something not Jikely 10 be repuated. Tom Golton, when he died, had a tribute to his memory written in - The Ringing World by William Pye, and he thought that was the only occasion he wrote a tribute to any ringer.

MANPOWER-LOCAL ENTHUSIASM
Their president had said that the strength of an Association did not lic in its peal-ringing activities. The point was that peal-ringing. while very enjoyable, was not the main duty of a ringer. That was to turn up Sunday by Sunday and ring for the services of the Church. A suggestion had been made in. The Ringing World that a manpower committee be set up by the Central Council to see what could be done to stimulate interest in towers where there were no ringers. He thought that was a misguided conception of what the Council was for. He was certain that no pronouncement by any hody of men, however eminent, would produce one more ringer in any tower. What was wanted was the touch of the local enthusiast. Wherever there was a strong band it was due to the enthusiasm of one or more members of the band. He thought it was up to them to see that their own towers were manned by their own efforts.
- May I offer you my congratulations on reaching this 80th birthday, and may I wish you every success in the future and express the hope that whether I am the secretary of the Council "or not that I may be present at your 100th birthday.

Mr. W. Norman Park, a past president of the Association. who replied. said at the time of the inception of the Association ringing had got into a state of disrepute and was much more secular than religious. The objects of the Association were to clean up a state of affairs that existed at that time and bring ringers more into touch with their churches. The Durham and Newcastle Association was one of the earliest to adopt these rules and to bind themselves to abide by the decisions of the Central Council of Church Bell Ringers. They could look back on the past with some measure of pride on the heritage that had come down to them and was the result of the genilemen to whom Mr. Barnett had referred.

\section*{THE SPIRIT TODAY}

Their Association could pride itself on the spirit of its members when he told them that 20 ringers would visit a remote village in January and say Evensong together, it augured well and showed the solidarity of the Association as churchmen. They had 80 years to look back on, but they were not resting on the past but looking to the future, and they had a number of young men 10 whom 10 entrust the Association.

Mr. John Anderson, also a former president, gave the toast of "The Visitors.' He mentioned Mr. Tom Cox, president of the Cleveland and North Yorkshire Association, who came from a long line of ringers: Mr. Peter Semmens, the secretary of the Association; Miss Killingley, of Richmond: Mr. Bill Johnson. Mr. and Mrs. Jack Brown, now of Ripon and formerly of Chester-le-Street.
Mr. Thomas M, Cox, who replied, said he felt far from a visitor as he knew many of them, and the few peals he had rung since the war had been rung with many members of their Association present that evening He would like to congratulate the officers and members of the committee who made that function possible. He wished them many more happy years of ringing and prosperity
The toast of ' The Press, with particular reference to "The Ringing World ", was proposed by Mr. R. A. Gofion and acknowledged by the Editor. Mr. T. W. White.
The president proposed votes of thanks to the Dean and Chapter of Durham. Canon Heselton. the Provost of Newcastle; for permission to use the recording of the Cathedral bells, the Master of University College, and the hon. general secretary (Mr. Bayles) for his hard work in organising the event.

During the evening a tape-recording of the hroadcast by Mr. K. Arthur was played. Paxton Lynn entertained with his magic and Mr. H. S. Nelson told stories old and new.

\section*{HANDBELL PEAL WITHDRAWN}

Dear Si ,-I wish to withdraw the handbell peal of Grandsire Caters rung at Oxford on June 20th ('Ringing World,' p. 444), as I have since found the composition to be false. 1 must apologise to the remainder of the band for failing to notice this hefore ringing the peal.-Yours faithfully,
D. H. NIBLETT,

Chipping Campden, Glos.

\section*{RADIO BROADCAST}

The following radio broadcast in 'Week Ahead' was given by Mr. Kenneth Arthur in the Northern Region on August 29th.

In the history of ringing, 80 years is not a long time. Some of the older ringing societies, such as the Ancient Society of College Youths, of London, who ring the bells of St. Paul's Cathedral, were established before 1650, but this Association of ringers was one of the first of many kindred societies formed on a diocesan basis, and our pride is in the continuous loyal service to the belfries of the churches in this area. The inaugural meeting was held on August 25 th, 1877, in the Song School of Durham Cathedral, and the Durham Association of Ringers was organised. At the time, belfry reform was greatly needed and the Association formulated as its aims-improving the conduct of ringers and the condition of bells and belfrics, promoting the study of scientific changeringing, and uniting the various companies of ringers for fellowship and stimulation of the art.

On Saturday we shall be meeting at our hirthplace, Durhan Cathedral, where a special form of Evensong will be sung, concluding with the ringing of handbells by the president and three past presidents. The bells of the Cathedral will be rung prior to the service by a representative company of ringers, and afterwards general ringing will take place, wlen various methods such as Bob Major, Kent Treble Bob and Cambridge Surprise will be rung. At \(\mathbf{6}\) p.m. a special ceremony is to take place in the Song School to render thanks to Almighty Gnd for those who founded the Association and to rededicate ourselves to the continuation of its work.

Following this, a dinner is being held. in the Great Hall of Durham Castle, where nearly 130 ringers and friends will sit down.

Most lay people think of bell ringing as a violent exercise requiring lots of beef and muscle, but this is not necessarily so, and many of our most expert ringers are members of the weaker sex. The skill in ringing is more knack than strengith, and power of concentration with a sense of rhythm are the additional adjuncts for a good ringer.

Thus our work as an organisation of the Church goes forward towards our centenary on the sound foundation of the faith of those ringers of yesteryear and strengthened by the pride of tradition and zeal of those who follow on today.

\section*{LETTERS TO THE EDITOR}

RINGERS' ROLLS OF HONOUR
Dear Sir,-Several times I have been asked how one can get to see the Ringers* Rolls of Honour.

The two Rolls are housed in a glass-topped oak case in the long gallery immediately outside the library of St. Paut's Cathedral, London, and can be inspected without formality by anyone who goes into the long gallery.
To reach the long gallery it is necessary to go up the spiral stairway which leads to the whispering gallery and dome of the Cathedral.
Before climbing as high as the whispering gallery the visitor will find a doorway on his left. This is the entrance to the long gallery. The case containing the Rolls is to be found at the end on the left-hand side of the gallery as you enter.
The Dean's verger informs me that the normal hours of the opening of the gallery to the public are from 11 a m . to \(3.30 \mathrm{p} . \mathrm{m}\). on every day of the week except Sunday.
I sincerely hope that this information will make it easier for visitors to see the Rolls.
H. MILES,

Carbis Bay.

\section*{STEEL BELLS}

Dear Sir,-A correspondent. wriling about rings of four in Kent. expresses the hope that any that were steel bells had by now been lost. I would have thought that steel bells ware better that none at all. Those I have heard have not been good. but not so bad as some bell-metal atrocities I have rung under. The chief obiection is the excessive corrosion of the Naylor-Vickers product of the last century, which is bound to impair the tone.

However, I heard a broadcast of a new conlinental carillon, which sounded very fine, and was surprised to hear afterwards that they were steel bells. Could not the leading British founders apply their knowledge of metallurgy and tuning to producing steel bells that really were stainless and tuncful? Poor parishes would prefer this 'second quality ' line to cracked and derelict bells.-Yours faithfully,

Hitchin, Herts.

\section*{63 YEARS' SERVICE AT WOODFORD}

Dear Sir,-Recently a quarter peal of Grandsire Triples was rung at Woodford, Essex, Parish Church as an act of thanksgiving for the completion of 63 years service as a ringer by the local Ringing Master and steeplekeeper. Mr. Charles R. Morss, In addition Mr. Morss was the recipient of a substantial gift from the Rector, churchwardens and parishioners as a whole.

Even amongst ringers 63 years' service at one church is a remarkable occurrence. In this case it has covered something like a quarter of the life of the parish bells themselves, and they were put up by Richard I'helos way back in the reign of George I. It has included ringing for no less than five coronations and for great State occasions like the Diamond Jubilee of Queen Victoria and the Relief of Ladysmith, which now seem but an echo of quite long ago.

Mr. Morss chicf interest in ringing has always been the maintenance of service ringing at his own church and the instruction and encouragement of beginners. In 1935, on the occasion of the Silver Jubilee of King George V. and Queen Mary, he had the gratification of standing in a peal of Grandsire Triples at Woodford in which the other members of the band had all been taught to ring by him. It was also the first peal ever rung by an entirely local band at Woodford.

Mr. Morss has been well known for many years in the South West District of the Essex Association. His many friends there, and elsewhere, congratulate him most heartily on his achizvement and hope to see him still "at the helm for many years.-Yours sincerely, Woodford.

\section*{PORTSMOUTH CATHEDRAL AUGMENTATION}

Dear Sir,-Visitors to the resort of Southsea (and others) who have enjoyed ringing at the Cathedral Church of St. Thomas of Canterbury in Old Portsmouth, may be interested in the following news.

At the close of last year, when college courses in ringing training at the Cathedral had focused attention on the need for major attention (the first for 45 years) to the ring of eight with its fine tenor, opportunity was taken to advise conskideration of adding two new trebles : also of providing a "security" access to the ringing chamber.

The Provost of Portsmouth (the Very Rev. E. N. Porter Goff) was very sympathetic towards these proposals, and the Cathedral Council has accepted them: with the proviso that the augmentation should not be a first charge upon the Cathedral funds.

So a 'Bell Augmentation Fund' has been opened, and contributions will be gratefully accepted from all those who are interested in this historic place of worship, and who view with pleasure past and/or future ringing while in Portsmouth. Donations should be sent to "Bell "A" Fund,' Cathedral Office, St. Thomas" Street, Portsmouth.

The work is in the hands of Messrs, John Taylor and Co.. of Loughborough, and includes the rehanging of the present ring of eight in new bearings and with new fittings, and the addition of two trebles. Ringing, of course. is being interrupted, but completion is promised by Christmas next.

The customary welcome will then again be extended \(t 0\) visitors to belfry and church. Date of dedication and re-opening will be announced in due course. - Yours very truly,
A. YORK-BRAMBLE,

\section*{THE DORSET TRAGEDY}

Dear Sir,-As I read the different views concerning the Okeford Fitzpaine tragedy, I would not say it was due to laziness-far from it. I have wondered if the Rector did something to save the boy. We all know about children in the belfry and their delight, but I have not seen them in the bell loft. Perhaps the excitement of seeing the bells upside down, and those wheels, terrifying to some people, might have caused them to push forward. One man would be helpless to cope with many children in such a small space.

I remember my father telling me that when he learned to ring at Morpeth Watch Tower the bells were always left up. Then, however, the Ringing Master had the only key. Later it was decided to lower the bells. When ringing the market bell I have often thought how more effective it would be if it were set.

This sad affair in Dorset has come to the notice of many people. But one man in a belfry with children has no easy task, especially a church belfry with its winding stairs. I feel very sad about the accident.

JENNIE ARMSTRONG.
Morpeth.

\section*{LEAVING BELLS UP}

Dear Sir,-I should like to add yet one more contribution to the controversy on whether bells should be left up or not.

I can remember our tower since 1911, and it has been the practice since then to leave the bells up on Sunday mornings when they will be wanted again to be rung for Evensong.

We realise the danger of bells in the upward position and all our ringers, when they first start learning to ring, have this instilled into them.

The second point is that we securely lock the belfry and the last ringer down keeps the key until Evensong.

In case of the unlikely event of the lock being forced open (it has not happened yet) a notice is conspicuously displayed in the ringing chamber to warn intruders of the danger. - Yours sincerely,
C. V. CADE.

Scothern, Lincoln.

\section*{2,000, NOT 200 TOWERS}

Dear Sir,-The paragraph in "Belfry Gossip" in the issue of "The Ringing World of August 30th, stating that I have rung in over 200 churches in England and Wales, should read 2,000 churches, including all Cathedrals, 10 's and 12 's. The informer to "The Times: inadvertently dropped one of the ' 0 's' Yours sincerely, ALAN E. HARTLEY.

\section*{ACCIDENT INSURANCE FOR BELLRINGERS}

Many teams of bellringers are insured under the special policies issued by the Ecclesiastical Insurance Office Ltd., 11, Norfolk Street, Strand. W.C.2. Particulars will be supplied on application. Those with old policies are recommended to consider increasing the scale of benefits provided.

\section*{PEAL RINGING \\ AT WAKEFIELD}

September 2nd, 1808: On Monday morning last was rung at the parish church, in this town, a complete peal of 5088 changes, being the first peal of Treble Bob ever rung in that steeple, which was performed in three hours and nineteen minutes by the following persons, viz., 1, John Woodhead; 3, RoDert Daff; 6, Benjamin Gill; 7, William Woodhead, of St. John's, Wakefield; 2, John Hudson; 4, Joseph Tebbs, who conducted the peal; 5, Wm. Preston, of Leeds, and \(8, \mathrm{Mr}\). Grainger, one of the Society of College Youths, London.

January 6th, 1809: On Monday last was rung by the joint societies of Wakefield and Leeds ringers, at Sowerby, 5152 changes, in 21 courses, of that intricate method of new treble bob, in 3 hours and 3 minutes, conducted by Mr. Tebbs. It was rung over in a masterly stile by the following persons, viz. Messrs. Scolt, Daff, Hudson, J. Woodhead, Preston, Gill, Wm. Woodhead, and Tebbs. The society of ringers from Halifax next attempted to ring a 5000 of the same method, who rung 2 hours and 15 minutes, and lost the peal. A set of ringers from Elland next, who lost their peal in about 30 minutes ; and the last that entered the steeple were Birstal ringers, who rung a peal upon six bells. On Wednesday, was rung at St. John's Church, in this town, by the joint societies of Wakefield and Oldham, 5120 changes of Oxford treble bob, in 3 hours and 15 minules, conducted by Mr. J. Newton. It was rung in a complete manner by Messrs. Newton, Scott, Daff, John Woodhead, Rigby, Clay, Wm. Wondhead, and Whitehead. Weight of the tenor bell 24 cwt. And on Thursday, at the Parish Church, in this town, was rung by the above persons, 5040 changes of Mr. Holt's trebles, in 2 hours and 45 minutes, conducted by Mr. J. Newton. Weight of the tenor bell 24 cwt .
('The Leeds Mercury,' of January 7th and 14th. 1809, reports the above: apparently the Oldham ringers were at Sowerby, but, not being a full band, did not ring: the peal of 5152 treble bob, conducted by Tebbs, was composed by him: Birstal ringers rang 720 Ringer's Delight. The weight of St. John's tenor, 24 cwt., is incorrect.)

August 18th, 1809: On Sunday morning last was rung at St. John's Church, in this town, by the Youths of that Steeple, a complete peal called Maidstone Bob Major, consisting of five thousand seven hundred and sixty changes, in three hours and thirty-two minutes, being the utmost extent in that method, having one hundred and twenty courses. one seven eight at home. The peal was composed by J. Tebbs, of Leeds, and called by Wm. Woodhead, of this town.
('The Leeds Mercury,' of November 4th, 1809, reports a prize-ringing at Bradford in treble boh methods. Only two teams entered: Halifax-and-Keighley joint and Wakefield-andLeeds joint; each rang a half peal and the latter team took first prize.)

On February 1st. 1810, William Woodhead rang the second at Leeds in a peal of 5040 Bob Royal, conducted by Joseph Tebbs. The peal is noted in 'The Leeds Mercury,' of February 3rd that year.
The same paper. May 5th 1810: On Tuesday se'nnight the Six Bell Prize Ringings being concluded at Barnsley, the Leeds and Wakefield Unions ascended the steeple, and gave a specimen of the art of eight-bell-ringing, and completely performed and correctly brought round a peal of new treble hob, consisting of 5280 changes, which was performed by the following persons, in 3 hours and 4 minutes ; viz. S. Shirt, treble, J. Hudson. 2d; J. Scott, 3d; J. Woodhead, 4th; J. Tebbs, 5th; B. Gill, 6th; W.

Woodhead, 7th; conducted the peal; and R Daff, tenor
('The Leeds Mercury' of the previous week gives the result of the prize-ringing referred to, when ten bands competed; Wath St. Ann's College Youths, who were first, and Holmfirth, who were second, each received a silver cup given by the Barnsley ringers.)

The issue of the same paper for June 29th. 1811: Ringing.- On Monday last, an excellent musical and well-toned peal of eight bells was opened at Staveley in Derbyshire; the tenor 20 cwt . The bells were opened by the independent company of ringers from Sheffield with Oxford treble bob to 400 changes, and then jumbled out ; the Mansfield, Chesterfield, and

\section*{Practice Nights at Portsmouth}

Practice nights in Old Portsmouth seem to disturb some people. 'Campanologist' has written to the Portsmouth 'Evening News.' suggesting apparatus similar to that at St. Mary's Episcopal Cathedral being installed. His letrer concludes:-

We expect to hear the bells on Sundays, and the occasional wellstruck, long peal on Saturday afternoons does not worry us unduly. But on practice nights it is a different story.'

St. Peter's company from Sheffield, each displayed their skill and brought round touches of grandsire tripples and bob major. But the inhabitants of the town and lovers of the art, were most agreeably and satisfactorily entertained by the Leeds and Wakefield union company, performing a peal of new treble bob method, consisting of 5184 changes, which was rung in a good style in 3 hours and fifteen minutes by John Scott. Treble; John Hudson 2d. John Woodhead 3d. Benjamin Gill 4th, William Preston 5th. Joseph Tebbs 6th, who composed and conducted the peal, William Woodhead 7th, and Robert Daff, tenor.
(According to Parnell, quoted by Ernest Morris in "The History and Art of Change Ringing,' Sheffield ringers declared the peal false.)
'The Wakefield and Halifax Journal., January 10th, 1812: On Friday last, was rung a complete and true Peal of Holt's Tripples, in three hours and twenty-two minutes, at St. John's Church, Wakefield, by seven of the society of ringers at that Church, and Mr. Peirce from Bristol, who rung the tenor. . . Conducted by William Woodhead.

The same paper, December 31st, 1813: On Monday last, was rung in honour of the late Glorious Victories, at St. John's Church. Wakefield, a true and complete peal of \(J\). Holt's tripples, in 10 courses. consisting of 5040 changes. It was executed with great precision and regularity, in three hours and three minutes. The whole was conducted by Mr. Wm. Woodhead.
(The 'late Glorious Victories' were, of course, those won against the French.)

The Leeds Mercury,' September 3rd, 1814: On Monday last. a select party of ringers from Leeds and Keighley, met to pay a friendly visit at Otley, and struck off their musical peal of 8 bells into new Treble Bob, and rang a composition of Mr. Shipway's, of London, consisting of 12,320 changes, being the utmost extent of true changes hitherto composed, and the first peal of that length and in that method ever rung in the kingdom, and was correctly brought round in seven hours and 15 minutes by the following ringers, viz. John Hudson, Leeds, Treble ; Thomas Fox, and Thomas Midgley, K'eighley. 2nd; George Hattersley, Keighley, 3d: James Baldwin, and Joseph Whitaker Leeds, 4th; John Blakey, jun., Keighley, 5th; John Blakey, sen., 6 th; Wm. Woodhead, Wakefield, 7th; James Inman, Keighley, and Joseph Tebbs, Leeds, tenor. David Smith conducted the peal.

(The peal is given in Shipway's 'Campanalogia,' Pt. III. with a footnote that it was rung at Otley in 1814. Snowdon mentions the performance in his 'Treatise on Treble Bob,' Pt. I, but he did not know the names of all the ringers. Woodhead's participation in the peal is recorded on a peal board at Wakefield; but the date given there is August 27th, 1814, which was a Saturday. Wakefield ringers may have attended when three rings of eight were opened in the summer of 1815, at Liversedge, Huddersfield and Preston.)

The final quotation comes from 'The Wakefield and Halifax Journal,' of January 21st 1814 -the only reason for including it in this article, as \(4 t\) refers to an event in the previous century: A Ringing Anecdote.-On the 14th of May 1788 , there were rung at Wakefield, by the society of ringers at that church, two different peals of trebles, consisting of 10,080 changes, in seven hours and one minute. This peal was rung with the greatest exactness and distinction; a performance never equalled in this kingdom. on bells of the same weight, the tenor being upwards of 24 cwt . What adds to the singuiarity of this performance, the ringers were twe fathers, five sons, five brothers, four cousins, one uncle, and one nephew, yet no more than eight persons, and with only two sirnames.

\section*{MIDDLESEX COUNTY ASSOCIATION}

\section*{South and West District}

It was decided that for summer meetings, when many young members are away on holiday, it would be better to restrict meetings to evening ringing only. Accordingly, a meeting was held on July 20th at Stanwell, where during the evening the six bells, which are rather noisy inside the tower, were put to good use. The writer is given to understand that therc is another 'ring of bells' in this village, where members found adequate refreshment after their labours.

On August 17th another evening meeting was held at Harlington, which attracted quite a respectable gathering-respectable in numbers as well as in general deportment! This handy light ring of eight was employed in a number of methods. although none seemed to go as well as Stedman. Two learners had some useful practice in a 'Flying Dutchman' type touch of Grandsire-the sort that never comes round, however hard the conductor tries

\section*{MR. COX AND BOYNE HILL}

Dear \(\mathrm{Sir},-\mathrm{Mr}\). Tomsett quite rightly draws attention to my error in overlooking that Mr . Cox was a member of Boyne Hill service Surprise band. My sincere apologies to Mr. Cox for my oversight.
Our peal hook records that Mr. Cox rang in eight peals at Boyne Hill, one of which was in the first peal of Cambridge Surprise on the bells, in 1909, conducted by George Martin, and rung by a local band. Mr. Cox rang the fourth and Charles Smith the fifth.
We at Boyne Hill are delighted that Mr. Cox is hale and hearty and still enjoys his ringing. We sincerely hope that he will do so for many more years.-Yours sincerely,

ERNEST E. GOSLING.
Maidenhead, Berks.

\section*{LNVERSTTY OF BRISTOL SOCIETY SUMMER TOUR}

IN accordance with a unanimous decision at the A.G.M., the weather at the beginning of the U.B.S.C.R. summer tour was glorious. The majority of the 15 members on the tour cycled to the rendezvous in Bruton. Somerset, on the Friday in June, but a few, having noticed on a map a large brown patch between Bristol and Bruton, travelled luxuriously by rail. The bells here ( \(6,25 \mathrm{cwt}\).) were much admired, and a variety of Doubles and Minor methods were rung. The next tower was Wincanton ( \(8,15 \frac{1}{4}\) cwt.), where the first peal for the Society was rung ten years ago. It was recollected with some discomfort that two tenth anniversary peal attempts made earlier in the term had failed. As a tribute to the first peal a touch of Grandsire Triples was conducted jointly by the two resifent grandfathers of the Society.

After it had been discovered that tho bells of Buckhorn Weston ( \(6,10 \frac{1}{\ddagger} \mathrm{cwt}\).) were rather hard work, a great deal of interest was shown in the organ, the village shop and the test match commentary, filtering through the window of a nearby house. Despite this, Cambridge was fairly well rung. Some difficulty was experienced at Kington Magna ( \(5,16 \frac{1}{2}\) cwt.), since the bells were set at backstroke. After some rather original rounds, various Douhles methods were rung and some harsh words were used, referring to bands who did not vary speed of ringing with weight and "go" of bells. After an excellent supper at Marnhull (Dorset) youth hostel. we joined two small hoys in a lazy game of cricket. At close of play, a visit to the village saw the beginnings of two keen compatitions which were to continue ovar the weekend, namely East v. West at darts, and males v. females at table skittles. Back at the hostel, darkness fell to the sound of Bob Minor (lapped) from the men's dormitory.

Ringing on Saturday began with the two ringable rings in Shaftesbury, and we were joined for the day by two old members and an Austin 7 of the same age. At Holy Trinity ( 6 . \(11 \frac{3}{4}\) cwt.) the way into the tower was elusive and the party first filed. sheep-like, into two galleries, the organ loft and ond or two empty rooms before unearthing the staircase. At St. Peter's, Shaftesbury ( \(6,18 t \mathrm{cwt}\) ), the bells were found to go extremely well, and London was well struck.

\section*{FISH AND CHIPS 17 TIMES}

Lunch, of fish and chips 17 times, was followed by ringing on the light six at Motcombe. At Mere \(\left(8,22 \frac{3}{2}\right.\) cwt.) a big wedding was in progress when wo arrived, and the fashionablydressed guests looked askance at the disreputable group seated on the grass verge opposite the west door. Having got up the tower, the bells were much admired, and some promising Bristol unfortunately came to grief in the last lead. The next tower fulfilled a long-standing ambition for those of the party who are interested in alphabets, but on the whole we found Zeals ( \(6.11 \frac{\frac{3}{3}}{} \mathrm{cwt}\).) rather disappointing. We continued to Bourton, but were unable to ring due to a death in the parish. At Slitton ( \(5,12 \mathrm{cwt}\) ) St. Nicholas* Doubles were rung for obvious reasons.

After a highly-dangerous and law-breaking ride, with cyclists versus car, we came to Gillingham. where tea was eaten in the company of a 'dreaded box." We were glad that Gillingham bells ( \(8,23 \mathrm{cwt}\) ) were oiled immediately before we began ringing, but nevertheless, the back-enders found the ringing of the most standard methods somewhat exhausting.

\section*{BLOOD AND THUNDER}

The night was again spent at Marnhull and Sunday started with ringing for Communion at the village church ( \(6,19 \mathrm{cwt}\).), and with two members who should have known better allowing the fourth to slip wheel. At Sturminster ( \(6,17 \frac{3}{5} \mathrm{cwt}\).) we found a most pleasant ring which went well to all methods up to London. At lunchtime we were introduced to a legendary Somerset drink, which rejoices in the name of 'blood and thunder '-composition rough cider and vimto. This immediately became most popular, to the disgust of the confirmed beer-drinkers. No towers were available during the afternoon, and a hayfield provided the site for lunch, singing, hilarious country dancing and some unusual photographs. After a quick look round Sherborne Abbey, we went on to Yeovil ( \(10,40 \frac{3}{4} \mathrm{cwt}\) ) to join with the resident hand in ringing for Evensong. The bells here were much admired and our visit was all too short. The night was spent at Martock youth hostel.

On Monday morning the men of the party were asked, for their hostel duty, to pull down a tree. After great limbering-up exercises in preparation for the greal pine tree, they found that their subject was a dwarf apple tree. The pleasant ring ( \(5,12 \mathrm{cwt}\).) at Tintinhull was our first call, and here we found that the ringing room floor was an interesting inverted \(V\)-shape. Then we came to the melodious five at Hehester ( \(5,11 \frac{3}{4} \mathrm{cwt}\) ), where we rang from cards the Ilchester Ringers' Changes, which were found to have a striking resemblance to Bob Minimus. After a long lunch break we continued to Marston Magna ( \(5,1 \overline{3} \frac{2}{8} \mathrm{cwt}\) ), and then to West Camel ( \(5,13 \frac{1}{2}\) cwt.). Here a clapper, found propped up in a corner gave rise to momentary consternation, but it was later found to be a spare part.

All day we had been conserving our energy for the last tower of the tour, namely Queen Camel ( \(6,36 \mathrm{cwt}\) ), and we made our way up to the tower with some trepidation. After raising in peal, we rang Grandsire Doubles, Plain Boh and Cambridge Minor, all of which were struck fairly well. We were most impressed by the tone and 'go' of the bells, and they formed a perfect ending to an excellent tour. The last ringing which took place was some rather sad Minor "in hand' after the departure of the energetic ones, but before the Bristol-bound train arrived.
We must give our thanks to the secretary (Mr. David Heighton) for his most efficient arrangements, to the inctimbents and tower captains for being so co-operative, and to the wardens of the Marnhull and Martock youth hostels for their patience and good cooking.

PUSH BIKE.

\section*{WEDDINGS}

MR. D. R. BODEN-MISS M. PATRICK
Two well-known ringers and Sunday School teachers, Mr. David Robert Boden and Miss Maureen Patrick, were married at St. Mary and All Souls' Church. Bulwell, by the Rector, Canon G. R. Sprittles, on August 31st.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a white brocade dress, waistlength veil and carried a bouquet of gold and white roses. Attending het were Miss J. Patrick, her sister (also a ringer) and Miss P. A. Watson, a friend.

The best man was Mr. J. A. Boden, and the groomsmen Mr. G. Wilkes, Mr. R. Wilkes and Mr. J. Patrick. The bells were rung both before and after the service by local ringers and friends from the district. The reception was held at Grange Farm, Toton, and the honeymoon is being spent in South Devon

A complimentary peal was rung at St. Mary and All Souls' Church later in the day.

\section*{BELLS AT THE LIDO}

T'HAT'S what comes of going abroad on one's own and insisting on a single room. You're sure to get one as far from the front of the hotel as can be.

It happened to me, and I found that my room looked on to the equivalent of a back yard. All the married couples had smashing rooms at the front with lovely views of Venice across the lagoon. The hotel was at the Lidolagoon side.

We had arrived in Venice rather late, just in time to spruce up before dinner, and whilst I knew my room was at the back, it didn't seem worth while to make a full investigation. Perhaps as well, for I missed the night's anticipation of what happened in the morning.
' Came the dawn,' as the poets say, and then at ten past six I was suddenly brought to full life by the terrific clanging of a bell. First of all I thought it must belong to a town clock which somebody had thoughtfully disconnected for the night, but even town clocks don't chime a hundred and fifty. I jumped to the window-of course wide open for the heat-to find that I was within thirty yards of a belfry and on the same level.

As only one bell was dinning. I felt rather better, particularly as this one-legged chime ceased after about five minutes, so I turned in again with the idea of another hour or so.

Some hopes! The first ringer had. I was sure, been taking his turn as knocker-up, with the bell, for ten minutes later his pals arrived, and one after another got into their stride with four bells, big 'uns, too.

No Bob Majors, Grandsire Triples or things like that for these lads. They certainly hadn't read any good books on campanology, but gaily pulled the ropes as the spirit moved them. sometimes in procession but occasionally in unison. What a crash that was. Then suddenly they stopped and the world went quieter than I have ever known it.

This must be early Mass I felt sure, and should ease matters until after breakfast, so I settled down again. The ringers had no doubt gone to service in the church below, and all would be well.

As I said before : Some hopes!
At ten past seven we started again. I say we, because by now I felt that I had joined the team. Indeed I was near enough to give a helping hand should they want one, but I was never roped in. Perhaps they didn't know I was there and taking so much interest in their work.

By this time all thoughts of sleep had gone, so I crawled out of bed just in time for the end of the performance, and to prepare for the day ahead. I was half way through shaving when my four wide-awake Venetians set off again with one of their concerted pulls. Luckily it was a safety razor, or I should have cut my head off.

What I have told you happened on the Wednesday. so on Thursday morning I woke early waiting for the gang, or for a start, their number one. He came about two minutes late and I was thinking that I ought to nip round and give himi a ring, when he forestalled me and rang up his pals. They must have lived near, by the short time it took them to get to their job, so it would have been easier for him to have knocked on their doors instead of ringing them up from the belfry.

We had a similar concert, with variations, as once I guessed that Giuseppe, or was it Antonio, caught his foot in the rope and spoilt the rhythm they had nearly got. That was a crash!
Every morning we went through the performance, and I really dreaded Sunday morning coming as I didn't know whether they would start earlier or make a sounder job of it. So when that morning arrived I was ready, bright and early, for Giuseppe, Antonio, Enrico and Pietro.
As the time came and passed with no bells, I began to get worried and hoped that my rope-tugging pals hadn't had one over the eight the night before, and were still sleeping. Six-thitty, seven, seven-thirty came. and believe it or not, not a cheep out of that belfry.

We left for Lugano early the following morning, so what happened to G, A, E and P I don't know.

After a lapse of over a year the name of Mr. H. Langdon reappears in the peal don reappears in the peal columns. Twelve months ago

\section*{BELFRY} Mr . Langdon, for the Battle of Bri fell heavily on his shoulder. The accident prevented him from taking part in active ringing for several months. An 80th birthday peal had been arranged last October for his brother, but this had to be postponed, and so the peal at St. Lawrence Jewry had to serve as a belated but none-the-less sincere birthday peal for William S. Langdon. Although in his 81 st year, he rang his bell faultlessly.
Mr. Joseph E. Newman, of Hinton-on-theGreen, has just completed his first century of peals. Fifty of these have been rung at his home tower.
Mr. J. Lewis Cockey is leaving Winnipeg for Scotland. The state of his wife's health will not permit her to stand another winter in Canada. His new address is 6, Argyll Avenue. Stirling.
Mr. W. O. Haythorne, of Winchester, writes inquiring whether anyone has written a book on elementary change ringing, in Braille, which would assist a young and enthusiastic blind learner to study simple methods.
The Big Giant and Big Giantess-to-be have been visiting the land of the Piskies. After a successful peal attempt on the wild moorlands of West Penwith, the magical influences must have been at work, for the Senior Pisky's chariot (normally a most reliable vehicle) broke down in an isolated spot at the dead of night. However, the Little Elf managed to produce some adhesive plaster by which running repairs were effected. and the chief city of the land was reached in due course.

The nautical instincts of a member of the St. Peter's, Bexhill, band saved the company from incarceration at Benenden tower during an outing on September 7th. When the party came to leave they discovered the tower door locked, but the key was in the lock. With the aid of a spare bell rope he lowered himself through a window to the floor of the church and then calmly turned the key, thus liberating the party. Fearful visions of 'Nine Tailors vanished in an instant.

At the age of 27 years and 5 months, Mr . Brian G. Warwick, hon. secretary of the Leicester Diocesan Guild, has completed 500 peals. He believes he is the youngest person to achieve this distinction. Mr. E. A. Barnett was six months older when he rang his 500 th peal.

We regret to hear of the death at the age of 80 of Mr. Alfred Pratt, of Clifton, Beds, who was taken ill while on holiday at High Wycombe. His funeral was at High Wycombe on Sept. 10th. Of a jovial and friendly nature, he will be greatly missed at Clifton, where he was a regular Sunday ringer for many years. The first peal has been rung at Chipping Campden, Glos. Mr. Geoffrey J. Hemming, who called the peal, was in an attempt on these old bells in 1934. He has written to Mr. Patrick A. Cannon, who is taking a band there in October, informing him that a good peal was rung (and it was a good peal). Hard lines, Pat!

The band who rang the quarter peal at Beaconsfield on Sunday evening, September 1st, would like to apologise to the visiting ringer who came into the belfry while it was in progress. They did not stop to give him a pull as the quarter had been specially arranged to enable a young member of the band to score her 'first in the method inside.

\section*{THOSE I REMEMBER}

WirTHIN two years of my joining the Midland Counties Association I was elected local secretary and, soon after, general hon. secretary, a position I held till the dissolution in 1945 into Diocesan Guilds. I followed Alfred Coningsby Wright, of Darley Dale-a good ringer and an excellent secretary. Later on, Alf C. W. composed a long length of Bristol Surprise, in which the 2 nd never went above 4ths place. With the collaboration of \(\mathrm{F} . \mathrm{H}\). Dexter, he extended it into a peal of 5,024 with the 2 nd only 737 changes above 4 ths When we attempted the peal, with Harold J. Poole conducting, after the first course AIf set his bell and said: "This is not my composition. Dexter, in his colourful language, said: 'It blank well is-I have upended it' (or words to that effect). 'We can't have the 2nd sailing out behind at the last course. We rang an excellent peal after that ! Alf Wright rang exactly 100 peals, then, for some reason unaccounted for, left the art and is completely lost sight of.

\section*{FIRST PEAL ATTEMPT}

As a youngster I wanted to call a peal and looked up Holt's 10 -part. With a band of about my own age I tried this at Anstey. We got well beyond the halfway single, but in the reversed order of calling I got astray, so the peal was lost. However, the next week, at Melton Mowbray (that glorious Cathedral-like church), I tried again, and under the watchful eye of that fine old veteran, R. Henry Bartram, scored a very good peal.

The Bartram family is a well-known and respected one in the district, and at Buckminster I have seen memorials to them. In my genealogical researches I have found them in the 16th century. Old Harry would go anywhere for a peal, on any number up to 10 (there were no 12-bell towers here then), and for many years he led the Melton band with great zeal and success. His son, Ernest, is a grand ringer, too, but illness and other matters have kept him away for some time. I was delighted to meet him recently, when he came specially to Asfordby to greet me on my 1,700th peal

\section*{A MILLIONAIRE PEAL RINGER}

As general hon. secretary of the Midland Counties Association, I met many well-known ringers over a wide area. I recall one occasion of a meeting at Burton-on-Trent when the late Albert Ward, of Derby, said to me: 'Mr. W. W. Worthington particularly wants to meet you." After my secretarial work was over, he (W. W. W.) was introduced to me in St. Modwen's belfry. He-looking down on me-(he was well over six feet tall) said: "I meant the Ernest Morris who rings these badgoing tenors in outlandish places. On my pleading guilty, he remarked: You have given me an awful shock. You are nothing like I imagined you. I expected a man about 60 , broad of shoulder, with arms like the village blacksmith! Never mind, pick a good band and call me a touch of Stedman.

Mr. Worthington rang 50 peals, but in later life was too busy making moncy (he was a millionaire) to ring peals, but he always had one day every year when he gathered together all his old Burton-on-Trent friends and had a tour of the surrounding district, ringing at churches he had cither rung peals or given bells, and finishing up with a grand dinner at his lovely home-Maple Hayes, Lichfield. He died in November, 1949, and I attended his funeral service, afterwards conducting a muffled peal to his memory at Netherseal. He was president of the Midland Counties Guild and donor of over 20 bells to different churches.

\section*{I had the great pleasure of attending one} of the above-mentioned ringing re-unions (thanks to Mr. John Oldham, of Loughborough Bell Foundry, taking me) and met a distinguished company. Among them were the Swinfields (father and son) and at the dinner Maurice Swinfield 'rang' a grand touch of Stedman Triples on the piano, called by that wonderful 'young-old' man, James George.

\section*{THE WEDNESDAY BAND}

At that time the Derby and Burton ringers had a Wednesday band and rang a series of peals over a wide area, nearly always Stedman Triples, and Maurice Swinfield specialised in calling a different composition every time-he called over 100. I had the happiness to join in occasionally and called one or two with them, James George always on 7th if Triples, and the tenor if Major!!

\section*{Looking Back 50 Years}

In his recollections of the Central Council in the last 50 years contributed to . The Belfry, Mr. E. H. Lewis writes:

In the early days there were long discussions on theoretical aspects of ringing One I very well remember. The Rev. If Law James propounded the theory that Stedman really meant his method to be called what we call Erin, and that the quick sixes were bobs. He had modelled his 120 of Doubles on the old six-score of Grandsire, with every other six bobbed -jusi as every other lead in Roan's six-score of Grandsire Doubles is bobbed. The discussion was long and to most members very boring. Finally, Sam Wood, of Ashlon-under-Lyne, proposed an amendment that' Stedman be left as it was in father's time.' Sir Arthur Heywood, who was obviously anxious to ctose the subject, accepted the amendment and put it to the meeting. who passed it at once with a large majority and feeling of relief

The best strikers among the clergy whom I remember were those who learnt to ring before they were ordained. One can imagine the reason.

This "Wednesday' band had among its regulars Charles Draper, of Derby, with his rosy cheeks, shaggy heard, flat hat, umbrella and all! He was a most lovable character and rang over 400 peals. He was for many years connected with St. Andrew's and St. Alkmund's Churches in Derby, but finished his career at Duffield, where he passed away in March, 1938, aged 73.

Another "good lad of this company was James Pagett, whose antics both within and without the belfry often dismayed the company He was one of the few men who could ring two tower bells with ease and precision and, although he rang several quarters, never rang a full 5,000 this way. He once sent me what he called a new "method" of producing a sixscore of Doubles, which for a long time puzzled me, but like, all his 'leg-pulls,' turned out to be a disguised extent of Grandsire.

Joseph Bailey, of Long Eaton, was another of this company, and he could be found (when on duty) on the platform of Trent Station. James S. Hutchley was often roped in. He was of Loughborough and a good ringer of standard methods. He took part in the 13,400 Bob Major which I called there. He rang 220 peals, and passed away in March, 1937, aged 75.

\section*{TENOR SPECIALISTS}

Often in these Stedman Triples peals the tenor was rung by John Curtis, of Ashby-de-la-Zouch-he could ring 'inside' if neededand this recalls the fact that his father and he respectively rang the tenor at Staunton Harold private church to the last two peals rung on them ( 50 years apart), the last of which I had the honour to conduct.

One who we still have with us, but whose name we miss greatly, is Richard C. Belton, of Barwell. He took part in scores of these unusual compositions of Stedman- 'What do you do now on Wednesdays, Dick?' Occasionally they got that enthusiastic Joseph W. Cotton to take part, and he (Joe) can tell the tale better than I about some of the peals with this delightful cosmopolitan band. They are all sadly missed.

\section*{ARTHUR CRAVEN}

Although I never rang a peal with him, I met Arthur Craven many times at meetings in and around the Chesterfield area. He was an outstanding member of the Exercise-not so much as a peal ringer, but as a composer of great ability in both method construction and ordinary compositions. He died in 1930 at Sheffield. He and Arthur Knights were prolific in producing compositions, the latter keeping Chesterfield bells going week after week to different peals of Grandsire and Stedman Caters, Plain and Treble Bob Royal.

I recall on one occasion the late Joseph E. Sykes-'Uncle Joe' to everyone had arranged to call one of Arthur Knights' special peals of Bob Royal. He invited me to be in it and, at a late moment asked me to call it, stressing the fact that it must be that particular composition (a multi-bob and single peal). When we were ready to start, Joe Sykes told Arthur Knights I was calling it, and he (A. K.) was so concerned that it must be this composition, made a mistake in the first course, so we started again and rang a most excellent peal. Mr. Knights rang well over 600 peals and had over 1,200 of his compositions rung. He died in 1939, aged 79 years.

\section*{SIX FOOT AND WHISKERS}

Uncle' Joe Sykes, mentioned above, was also called 'Six Foot and Whiskers,' owing to his long, scraggy figure and his little ginger 'nanny-goat' beard. He was a notable character who could-and did-talk and argue on any mortal subject. He was a good linguist and on this account was sent abroad to many different countries by his firm (gas plant installation). I first got in touch with him when he was in Belgium and he asked for 'pen friends 'to write him. From that time onwards I had cards from him from all over the world as far removed as Canada and Manchuria, South Africa and the Continent. When here in England he invariably hunted out the ringers and arranged peals, his favourite method being 'Yorkshire Glory' (Kent Treble Bob) and he had an ambition to call every possible number between 5,000 and 6,000 , and all must be by Arthur Knights. I rang in several of these. For his first peal of Doubles he travelled over 80 miles to get me to call it at Escrick, near York, while I was in the Army, in 1918. I have in my possession the very last message he wrote before his death, in Copenhagen in 1929.

Next week's issue of The Ringing World, will be a special Irish Number with photograpls of towers of Southern Ireland

Descriptive and Entertaining Account of the recent Tour

\section*{ON HOLIDAY IN SCOTLAND}
1) OVE tells us of only 14 rings in Scotland and five of these are in two cities. It was not primarily a ringing tour, but bells could not be passed by.

The detached tower of All Saints', Inveraray. which owes its existence to the late Duke of Argyll, is visible for some distance although the church is hidden. The ten bells, cast by Taylors in 1920, are beautifully decorated with designs of vine and oak and a few changes on the Ellacombe chimes soon proved the beauty of tone.

The original intention was to join the tower to the church. presumably also enlarging the church, but of this there now seems little hope as the episcopalian congregation is very small and cannot support a full-time priest, and the tower itself is in need of repair. Instead of louvres the large windows of the bell chamber are filled with stone tracery so are much more open to the weather, and the floor below the bells has suffered in consequence: several of the rope bosses have fallen out of the rotten wood. Below, for one floor only, the walls are about five feet thick, and here in the narrow window apertures we found stalactite-like formations, some with corresponding stalagmites.

Inquiring for ringers, we were told that the last ringer died 'a year or two ago' but that the bells are chimed regularly. We were directed to Mr. Robert Morrison, who very kindly gave us permission to ring and chime as we liked to greet the pleasure steamer which was almost due to dock. There were no ropes; a peal band some time ago had brought their own, but a few spare chiming ropes solved the problem. With yards of stretch and a knot where the salley should have been, it was possible to raise three bells, including the tenor, which went up right side without checking.

\section*{FIVE AT OBAN}

In search of something for Sunday morning we were directed to the newly-built R.C. Cathedral at Oban. Dove does not mention these five bells, which came from Italy some five years ago. They were presented by the late Marquis of Bute, but it was only 18 months to two years ago that funds were available to hang them. They are hung dead in a frame about 12 feet above the floor of the bell chamber, which is almost dark. As far as could be seen and felt there are no inscriptions. The tenor looks to be about nine cwt. Two very small boys went up and chimed them for about ten minutes.
As we arrived at Inverness hymn tunes were being played most expertly on the Ellacombe chimes for evening service. We met Mr. Davidson at the foot of the tower and he obtained permission for us to return later to ring. Very heavy ropes were too low and several stays were missing : in attempting to set a bell, mistakenly said to have a stay, the inevitable happened. The sound of the bells brought two more visitors to the tower. A few call changes were fairly well struck, but the bells did not go well.

Mr. Davidson, who has himself begun to learn to handle a bell, would be glad of help to get a band going.

\section*{NORWICH DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION}

\section*{Western District at Dersingham}

The quarterly meeting of the Western Branch, held at Dersingham on August 31st. was supported by 40 members and visitors from London, Bedford, Cambridge. Esscx, Leicester. Lincoln and Suffolk.
The service was conducted by the Vicar (Rev. W. P. Tippin) and Mr. E. Greenacre read the lesson. Tea was prepared and served in the Church Rooms by the wives and friends of the local band.

At the business meeting the Vicar presided in the absence of the Rev. R. G. Dodson, Branch chairman, away on holiday. A letter from the local press relating to the nuisance of the bells at one of the Norfolk towers was read. This caused quite a long discussion, but it was agreed that no more action be taken and it was better for the subject to 'die a natural death.
Votes of thanks were accorded to the Vicar, the organist, and the ladies for arranging tea The Vicar suitably replied.
The ringers then enjoyed more ringing on the tower bells, under the watchful eye of Mr. C. V . Ebberson, who did much in arranging methods to suit all tastes and capabilities.
The next interim meeting is to be held at Gressenhall on October 5th, and the quarterly meeting at North Creake on November 30th.

\section*{A CHESTER GUILD TOUR}

THE Stockport Branch of the Chester Guild and the Manchester Branch of the Lancashire Association are both fortunate in having a goodly number of young ringers showing great promise, who for some time now have been attending the " Surprise "practice at Hazel Grove. A week of peal ringing was arranged to enable them to ring peals in some of the methods they have been practising.
The week turned out to be quite successful, as all the peal attempted were "scored." One member of the party remarked at the conclusion that the report would loak like the Milky Way, and that in some measure shows the progress that has been made in recent months.

Towers visited and methods rung can be seen in our peal columns, and the bells, in most cases, were not new to us. However, we were sct about by all the usual snags of peal tours, and perhaps a few unusual ones. On Monday, for example, seven of us waited patiently for the eighth, who at that time was crossing the Channel, and it is doubtful if his thoughts reached Kent, never mind Yorkshire, so we were pleased to ring Boh Major, giving Jim Blowers, of the local band, a chance for his first peal.

A knocking on the door at Eccles made us think that not everyone in the town appreciated our efforts, so for their benefit we made the time as short as we could-at least that's one of the tenor-man's tales. Bredbury treated us to our one and only broken rope: however, a replacement was available, for which we were thankful, though it wasn't 'noted for easy handling and non-stretching.'
The highlight of the week was Cambridge Royal at Stockport St. Mary's, where peal attempts are few and far between. We were pleased to have Jack Bibby with us, and he has now rung peals on all the tens in the county. The week was rounded off with Double Norwich, and for the peal we welcomed Michael? Crowder, of Barton-on-Humber, to the folds of the Chester Guild.
Despite the 'Milky Way, some people managed to get away without a star, though one of these admitted he ought to have onewell, at least a dagger! It's the first sime Ted Jenkins has rung Plain Bob and Oxford on a peal tour!

\section*{A BOB AT HALF LEAD}

Dear Sir,-After seeing the 5,152 Cambridge Surprise Major by Harry Poyner on page 584 of 'The Ringing World, 1 was tempted to see what effect this type of bob has on Plain Bob Major. This is not original, no doubt, hut it may interest someone.
The bob at the middle of the first lead (bob at \(\frac{1}{2}\) ) has the following effect:-

\section*{21436587 \\ 24163857 \\ 37182654 \\ 31728564
13275846 \\ 13728564}

The bob has the same result as a bob at the вов end of the first lead (Wrong) but one complete lead is cut out. the tenors being in the position they occupy at the end of the second lead.

Hence a bob at \(\frac{\downarrow}{2}\) has the same effect as a bob at Wrong and cuts out one lead.
A bob at \(1 \frac{1}{3}\) has the same effect as a bob at \(V\). and cuts out one lead, etc.
A bob at \(3 \frac{f}{2}\) has the same effect as a bob before but does not change the length of the course.
By using this type of bob, then, many touches may be shortened considerably \(\begin{array}{llllll}\text { W } & \text { V. IV. } & \text { M } & H \\ \frac{1}{2} & \text { V. IV. } & 5 \frac{1}{2} & H \\ \text { which colled :- }\end{array}\) changes instead of 80.
Here are some short touches reduced by this method.

Yours faithfully.
ANDREW J. SALISBURY.

\section*{CUMBERLANDS v. COLLEGE YOUTHS AT CRICKET}

Dear Sir,-The cricket match between the Cumbertands and the College Youths, which Cecil Ebberson recalls, was played on July 17th. 1914, at Mitcham Green, Surrey, when, to quote the report in 'The Ringing World, ' the weather and everything else was perfect." I was a Cumberland in those days, and we won the match by two runs- 33 to 31 -thanks largely to the Master (J. D. Matthews), who look six wickets for 18 .
The teams. beside Jack Matthews and myself, were Robert Warner (the bellfounder), Cecil Mathews, Haroid Burton, James Hunt, J. A. Trollope, D. Ellingham, J. C. Adams, A. S. Miller. W. Jakeman, Alfred W. Grimes. Herbert Langdon, Albert A. Hughes. Tom Faulkner (the Master of the College Youths). John W. Golding. Sedley J. Collins, H. J. Walton, E. Attwater, C. H. Auston (son of John Austin). R. N. Runham. A. S. Miller. H. Wagstaff (who look six Cumberland wickets for 7) and H . Gowlett. The ball was presented by Abraham G. Freeman, uncle of Tich Freeman. Edith Parker (Mrs. G. W. Fletcher) was one of the scorers and her father umpired for us.
1 myself have played one match since, but my son-in-law tells me that Bert Langdon and Bert Hughes both retired from the game after the match.-Yours. F. I. HAIRS.

\section*{No 'Impots' When Teachers Ring a Peal}

Included in the school teachers' peal of the East Berks and South Bucks Branch of the Oxford Diocesan Guild on September 7th were Miss Kathleen Fletcher, who in recent times has made a name for herself at Bournemouth, and Mr. Sydney Bailey, who came from South Wales to teach at High W ycombe

The conductor informs us that he didn't have to set anyone the imposition of writing out 100 times the plain course of Grandsire Triples!
The peal was duly rung withoul a hitch-except when the treble once tried to make thirds!

\section*{THE CHELMSFORD MEETING}

Dear Sir.-If Mr. Humphriss was present at the Chelmsford meeting he is obviously writing with his tongue in his cheek, and if he was nol present he is in no position to assess the merit or otherwise of any contribution to any debate no matter from which source.
Should he be sufficiently interested in what I have said and will let me have his address I will send him the actual details, prepared before 1 left for Chelmsford. although the salient points are contained in my previous letter to you on this subject.-Yours faithfully,

BERNARD C. ASHFORD.

MR. T. CULLINGWORTH'S PEAL TOUR Dear Sir,-I should like to congratulate Mr. Tom Cullingworth and his party, with special reference to Mark Lancefield, for the very high standard of striking they maintained during their tour of Surrey and Sussex. As they recorded much of their ringing on a tape-recorder, I was able to hear the ringing as clearly as if 1 had been outside the tower. Their striking was absolutely first-class, and an example to all. It can be equalled, but certainly not excelled. They also set a standard of method ringing which will take a lot of beating. Well done, everyone!-Yours, A. PATRICK CANNON.

MR. F. B. LUFKIN'S 400 PEALS
Mr. Frank B. Lufkin, of Bocking, has now rung 400 peals, of which he conducted 248. They have been rung in 136 towers for 20 Associations. The list includes two long-length peals-a 9,000 and a 12,740 . Details are appended :-

\section*{ESSEX ASSOCIATION}

On August 31st the Northern District arranged a meeting at Kelvedon. In this 14 th century tower hangs the heaviest ring of six bells in Essex, with the Festival of Britain bell as the tenor. These bells were made good use of during the afternoon and evening. The Rev. T. Everelt conducted the service in the absence of the Vicar. who was on holiday.
Tea was served in St. Mary's Hall by Mrs. Eady and the Mothers' Union. Afterwards the business meeting was presided over by the Rev. T. Everett, supported by Miss H. G. Snowden (District Master) and Mr. R. C. Heazel (Master of the Association). It was reported that the five bells from All Saints', Colchester, were to be rehung at Little Horkesley and further money was still required. Funds are also needed to rehang Kelvedon bells. Great Bardfield was chosen for the next meeting in November.
-Votes of thanks were passed to the Rev. T. Everett, Mr. J. Elliott and Mrs. Eady.

\section*{BOUGHTON ALUPH}

Dear \(\operatorname{Sir},-1\) must take the opportunity to thank Mr. P. N. Bond for his correction to my note on Boughton Aluph bells. They were five in number, not four, as I thought when writing, and I had also forgotten about the final disposal of the bells as scrap. Were they scrapped? Another interesting detail connected with this church is that it was one of the stopping places for pilgrims on the pilgrims' way to and from Canterbury. This track passed through Eastwell Park, not far from Eastwell Church. Charing was the next stopping place on towards Winchester.-Yours truly,

GEORGE H, HEAD.

\section*{AMONG THE FOURS IN NORTH BEDFORDSHIRE}

Spurred on by a sense of adventure and by recent correspondence in 'The Ringing World, an intrepid party of four of St. Paul's, Bedford, young ringers 'sallied forth into the wilds of North Bedfordshire on August 20th. A trusting father lent the band his car, and hence a prompt start at 9 a.m. was made for the first tower, St. Mary's, Oulton, which recently appeared in these columns with the first quarter on the bells. As the tour was strictly inpromptu we were not surprised to be unable to get the tower until the Vicar returned to give permission.
We then pushed on to our next tower-to-be St. Mary's, Poddington, right up in the topmost corner of the county, where the Vicar gave us a hearty welcome. The bells (tenor about 9 cwt .37 in . diam.) were all on one level in what appeared to be a pretty stout frame only just under the spire. After a great deal of adjustment and replacement of the ropes the beils were rung up very gingerly. All the clappers turned out to be very loose and much in need of rebushing. When J. B. L. rang the tenor up-after superhuman efforts to reach the balance-he was rewarded by the bell setting deeper and deeper and deeper. Later investigations revealed the absence of a slider. However, the bells were eventually 'beefed' into action for a few (few!) rounds and call-changes With some oil and a little attention to the bearings, these tuneful and mellow bells could become quite a ringable set. A list of jobs considered necessary to be done to the bells was presented to the Vicar, who promised to have something done. He then gave us a very interesting history of the church

At the Church of St. Lawrence, Wynnington, the bells were found to be totally derelict except for possibly the third and tenor. The bells, mostly more or less without wheels, are hung high under the spire in three tiers, although the treble is unhung and stands on the floor at the bottom of the tower in the ringing chamber-cum-brush cupboard. The treble, cast by W. Blews, of Birmingham, in 1873, appears never to have been hung. The second and third are of note as they are both pre-

Reformation bells. The tenor is in the region of \(16 \frac{1}{2}\) cwt. and very savagely chip tuned. It appeared, by the sound of things, that the five beils were definitely not in a scale!!
Lunch was next on the list-being taken at Newton Bromswold. Unfortunately the church was locked so no 'grab' was made. St Mary's, Yeldon, were known to be ringable and so the Vicar was tackled, who was no doubt a little perturbed to have a motley collection of ringers asking him for his bells when he had only been three days in the parish! However, the local tower captain saved the day, and the bells, rung from the ground floor, were raised in peal. The bells are a musical four although with rather a shallow tone. They are all pretty old, treble 1717, second 1660 , third 1617, the tenor, a very fine Williant Watts alphabet bell of 1610 , weighing \(7 \frac{1}{2}-8 \mathrm{cwt}\)., being hung in a frame installed around 1880 . On the first really ringable bells of the day, Plain, Reverse and Double Bob Minimus was brought round in fine style. The long pull and unguided ropes provided a few anxious muments but all was under control soon.
Our final visit was to Carlon, where we hoped that by now we could get' permission After a tour of the village and being directed to the Old Vicarage we finally located the Vicar and were given a warm welcome. Wo found the bells very musical and tuncful, al. though a little strident in tone. As they are rung in a steel frame put in by Gillett and Johnston about 1929 the 'go' is all that can be desired. At the same time the bells were retuned. They are a very old ring-treble 1602, second 1868, third pre-1520 and cast by Thomas Newcombe of Leicester, and the tenor cast by J. Saunders of Reading about 1540 (weight 9 cwt .2 qr .7 lb . in A flat, diam, 38in.). Altogether a really pleasing handy ring which would make a grand five or six. Again our usual Plain, Reverse and Double Bob was skilfully accomplished, and the bells lowered in peal. With many thanks to the Vicar we turned the car for Bedford to deliver everyone (surprisingly) safe and sound at the end of a highly entertaining and successful' grab.
P. J. S.

\section*{ARCHDEACONRY OF STAFFORD}

The summer meeting of the Society took place at Elford on August 31st. Those who have the idea that Staffordshire is a county made up of industrial areas would do well to visit this delightful village and the beautiful countryside surrounding it. The trec-lined approach to the fine parish church is most imposing.

Having in mind the somewhat remote situation of this village near Tamworth, the attendance at the meeting-68-was most gratifying. The Vicar (Rev. W.J. Bower) and his churchwardens gave the visitors a warm weicome. Unlimited ringing to suit all tastes during the afternoon and evening, a well-attended service with some hearty singing, followed hy a bountiful tea served in the Village Hall, and a typical country hostelry in the village in which to partake of further refreshment before leaving for home. helped to make the meeting most enjoyable and one to remember

Following tea, thanks were expressed to Rev, W. J. Bower and his wardens, organist, lady heloers and members of the local band for their efforts towards the success of the meeting The bells, a ring of six with a 7 cwt . tenor, were easy to handle but not too musical outside the tower.

The next meeting of the Society will be a joint one with the Northern Branch of the Worcestershire Association at Kinver on October 19th.

\section*{SWANSEA & BRECON GUILD \\ Southern District}

The small attendance at the quarterly meeting held at Gorseinon on August 31 st was compensated by the pleasant and satisfactory ring ing throughout the afternoon. The two ringers from St. Albans, we are sure, enjoyed their ringing before continuing their journey to Cardigan.

The service at 4 p.m. was conducted by the Vicar (Canon Sydney Morris) and afterwards about 25 sat down to an excelient lea in the Church Hall.
At the business meeting, which was presided over by the Vicar, it was agreed to hold the annual meeting of the District in December, and the other two meetings alternately at the same place as the Llandaff and St. David's Guild meetings. One new member was elected Sketty was proposed for the December meeting.
We were pleased to see Mr. Chris Hawkins, the St. David's general secretary, at the meeting. He has made a ranid recovery since his illness, and we hope he will continue to improve in health. Mr. John T. Williams proposed a vote of thanks to the Vicar and organist. Ringing continued until 7.45 p.m.

\section*{CYCLING IN ESSEX}

As a variation to the usual coach and car outings, the Walthamstow ringers, augmented by iriends from Woodford, Bedford and Waltham Abbey, enjoyed (endured?) a cycling tour round a number of village towers in deepest Essex, sampling rings from five to twelve.
Getting off to a cheating start by putting the cycles on a train to Bishops Stortford, the first tower, Great Hallingbury, was reached in comfort and provided a difficult and unrewarding five, in which the treble ringer stands enmeshed, spider-like, amid a tangle of chiming ropes. Hatfield Broad Oak brought us the only octave of the day, a most pleasant one, where Bill Dowler joined us, having valiantly cycled from Hitchin after missing his connection from Bedford, via Cambridge, to Stortford. The last tower of the morning was Matching (5), whence we repaired to a picnic lunch on the spacious and charming green.

The afternoon's first call was at Moreton, a pleasing six, where the writer had a timewasting contretemps when attempting to utilise an unstable five-barred gate as a mounting stone, and we were joined by the ebullient \(\mathrm{L}^{* } \mathrm{n}^{ 1} \mathrm{~W}^{* * *} \mathrm{~S}\), who provided a diagram of a method to be learned, the name to be announced after it was rung. The day, incidentally, provided those more used to ten bells with opportunities to try out for the first time St. Martin's. St. Simon's and other Doubles methods, which provided much enjoyment and interest.

Bobbingworth (6) bells are rung from the open porch. Another fine Essex red-brick tower at North Weald yielded a further six, then on to Epping for tea, amid a wealth of the lowest beetle-ridden beams seen on any outing.

Cutting across Epping Forest we reached Epping Upland (6) and attempted L. W's unnamed method. The first unsuccessful attempt contained so many gaps that the more facetious members of the party might have sug gested a name and would, in fact, have heen right for, following a completed course, Lionel announced the name--Cumberland Bob

A final half-hour's ring at Waltham Abbey's 12 concluded a very pleasant day, following which the party enjoyed until too late an hour the hospitality of Michael Austin's house Our thanks are due to Robert Chapman for the success of the first outing he has organised. and to incumbents and others for the use of their bells.

\section*{IN THE CHEDDAR VALLEY}

A party of ringers from Nailsea, Backwell. Long Ashton. Bristol Uphill and the R.A.F. at Locking enjoyed a half-day outing in the Cheddar Valley on August 31st

The fine eight at Wedmore were first visited, followed by the six at Wookey, where the fifth ringer hides behind the clock and where a good course of London Minor was brought round. Next came the eight at St. Cuthbert's. Wells, where both lower and bells were greatly admired, although perhaps we did not do justice to the latier

Following tea at The Olde Gate-house Hotel. overlooking the Cathedral Green (which can be recommended), the party then moved on to Dinder, also with a large clock in the ringing chamber. Two separate courses of Norwich Surprise Minor were rung here.

The final call was at Rodney Stoke, where duc to the enthusiasm of the local ringers, assisted by Mr. Wickham, of Cheddar. three of the four bells have recently been rehung on new headstocks and hall-bearings supplied by Messrs. Mears and Stainbank. We rang Plain, Double, and Erin Minimus, Grandsire Doubies without a treble. and most difficult of all, it seemed, some call-changes conducted by one of the local band.

\section*{At Trowbridge}

Mr. F. Slatford, assistant secretary, Salisbury Diocesan Guild, and Miss Doreen Turnbull, of Trowbridge, were married at Holy Trinity Church, Trowbridge, on September 7th in the presence of a large congregation, including many ringers. The choral service was conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. K. R. S. Rintoul) and Mr. J. Flay was the organist.
The bride was given in marriage by Mr. John Sitch, her brother-in-law, and was attended by Miss Shirley Stevens and Miss Elizabeth Sitch, her niece. The best man was Mr. Lawrence Hitchens.

As there are no bells at the church, North Bradley ringers, under Mr. P. Harding, rang handbells as the happy couple left the church. The reception was held at Wingfield House, after which Mr. and Mrs. Slatford left for their honeymoon.
The many presents included a cheque from the general committe of the S.D.G.R. (the Guild general secretary, Mr. W. C. West, was present to represent the Guild) and a harometcer from the bridegroom's fellow ringers at North Bradicy.
Mr. and Mrs. Slatford will reside at The Haven, 35, Westbury Road, Yarnbrook, near Trowbridge.

\section*{At Willingham}

The wedding took place on August 24th at Willingham Parish Church of Mr. Geoffrey A. Lucas, District Ringing Master of the Ely District. and Miss Margaret R.Jeeps. an honorary member of the Ely Association. The ceremony was conducted by the rector (Canon F. Bywaters). and the bridesmaids were the two young daughters of Mr, and Mrs. Mansfield Ginn. Mr. Peter Lucas, the bridegroom's brother, carried out the duties of best man and the ushers were Messis. R. E. G. Jeeds (England international scrum-half, the bride's cousin. and D. E. R. Knights (Ely District sccretary), As the bridal couple left the church the bells were rung by members of the local band and friends, and immediately after their departure for a honeymoon at Bournemouth a peal of Surprise Minor was rung by members of the Association, its success being reported to the bridegroom by telephone.

\section*{THE LADIES' GUILD}

Central District
A meeting of the Central District was held at the Church of Immanual and St. Leonard's, Streatham, on August 31st. Ringing comcommenced at Immanual at 3.45 and various methods were rung including some Surprise,

We should like to express our thanks to the Rev. Mr. Rowdon, who kindly conducted the service in the absence of the Vicar. Tea was held in the Church Hall and was followed by a business meeting. Our thanks go to Mrs. Collins, who provided an excellent tea. Nine members were present and were more than grateful to the 15 or so visitors who came along to suppori them. After tea, ringing continued at St. Leonard's.

The next meeting will be on November 30 th at Twickenham.

\section*{OUTINGS}

\section*{SOMERTON, SOMERSET}

This year's outing will be remembered especially for the beautiful drive in bright sunshine along the coast road between Weymouth and Lyme Regis.
On September 7th, ringers from Somerion and round about, joined by two friends from Bedfordshire. rang between them a total of 40 bells, which they found nicely hung in six solid little square grey towers in Dorset-no, one was pebble-dash, not grey. The morning started 'lightly ' with ringing from the ground floor at Evershot ( \(6,9+\mathrm{cwt}\).) and Preston ( \(6,12 \frac{\mathrm{c}}{\mathrm{c}} \mathrm{cwt}\).), the small church serving the large holiday caravan sitc.
After lunch at Weymouth the coach proceeded to Wyke Regis ( 8, nearly 17 cwt ), where some 6 -bell ringers enjoyed one of their rare chances to ring Triples and Major. Down in

\section*{House Rating Reduced Because Of Bells}

Mr. W. R. Honey and Mrs. E. P. Honey, of 1. Chutch Road, Gospori, had likie rating assessment reduced from \(t 70\) gross value to \(\mathbf{x 6 5}\) gross value by Gosport Vallation Courr because of the bells of Alverstoke Church
Mr. Honey told the court that the house faced the church. He said:-

We hear the chimes night and day. The bells are rung at 8 every morning and for one-and-a-half hours' practising every Friday evening.

Friends who have stayed with us all complain that they cannot sleep in. the fromt roomis because of the bells.'
The appellants also complained that the road was used as a car park by churchigoers.
In suggesting a reduced assessment, the Deputy Valuation Officer (Mr. N. H. Jones) said: 'I don't like church bells myself, bit they have been there some years-and so has Mr. Honey.
the churchyard cameras were produced, and some group photos taken round the lychgate. At Abbotsbury ( \(6,12 \frac{3}{4} \mathrm{cwt}\).) ringers can look down from the gallery into the whitewashed nave: the only regret here was that time did not allow a visit to the swannery.

Then tea at Bridport, and on to the best tower of the day, Lyme Regis (8, \(10 \frac{1}{2}\) cwt.). where the bells run round so smoothly that one is tempted to think that no effort is nceded on the part of the ringers. The day's ringing ended at Broadwindsor ( 6 , about 14 cwt ). where a short touch of Cambridge was successfully brought round.

The party would like to thank the incumbents and captains of towers.

\section*{BALDOCK AND NORTON}

Totternhoe's light eight were the first bells for the Baldock and Norton bands' half-day cuting on August 31st. Those who were not ringing could either watch the soaring gliders or examine sonte maps and archives of the parish and St. Giles \({ }^{\circ}\)

We went to Lcighton Buzzard, with its heavy ten. then on to the outskirts of Woburn, where the Birchmoor Arms provided a very satisfying meal. The 24 cwt . octave at St. Mary's was much enjoyed: Double Norwich went particularly well. Bristol was attempted at the last tower for the day. Maulden, hut unfortunately was not successful. Everyone agreed that even the dull weather had not spoilt a pleasant outing.

The Ringing World' was founded in the year 1911 by John Sparkes Goldsmith, who remained its proprietor and editor until his death in 1942.

\section*{THE CALL OF IRELAND}

THIS issue of 'The Ringing World' is very much an lrish number. Mr. Donald G. Clift has not only written an entertaining account of the 600 -mile journey covered by Mr. Wilfred Williams' peal-ringing tour in Southern Ireland, but provided an excellent series of photographs, six of which are reproduced in this issue. The story of their achievements-the warmth of hospitality received from Irish ringers and the beauty of much of the country traversed-is an encouragement to those members of the Central Council who are doubtful about making the long journey to Dublin next Whitsun. It will be recalled that the decision to visit Dublin was only carried at Chelmsford by 59 votes to 51 , and there were about 40 abstentions-probably from members who were uncertain about making the journey. For the Council meeting to be effective and its decisions to command the respect and confidence of the Exercise as a whole, it is essential that an attendance of much larger than 60 should be recorded.

The affiliation of the Irish Association with the Central Council dates back to 1902, and the contribution to the art of change-ringing by the Association's first secretary, Gabriel Lindoff, is outstanding. As a composer, there have been few his peer, and his compositions of London run into five figures! Among the new methods which he has presented are Erin. Dublin Court and Rochester. In St. Patrick's Cathedral, Dublin, where for many years he was instructor, there is a brass plato to his memory. He died on November 7th, 1941. having served the Association for 43 years as hon. secretary and as president in 1934-5.

Apart from Dublin, Bray and Arklow were centres of change-ringing in those early days, and it was at the last named tower that J. W. Washbrook was the inspirer of many noteworthy performances. The Emerald Isle has for years been a happy hunting ground for English ringers. The first peal in Ireland was rung by a band of College Youths at Waterford Cathedral on July 27th, 1872. It was Holt's Original. called by James Pettit, the band consisting of W. Cooter treble, James Pettit 2, R. Hayworth 3. G. Muskett 4, C. Lee 5, M. A. Wood 6, A. Haywood 7, W. Greenleaf tenor. The next year in the same tower another peal was rung for the Ancient Society (Grandsire Triples). In it stood a 14 -year-old Waterford boy, Richard R. Cherry, who was destined in years to come to be the champion of change-ringing in Ireland. He left Waterford to study law in Dublin, and eventually rose to the highest positions in his profession of Attorney General and Lord Chief Justice of Ireland. Richard R. Cherry, K.C., was a natural choice to be the first president of the Irish Association. Such was his affection for ringing that despite his prominent position as Lord Chief Justice he was to be found at St. Patrick's Cathedral, Dublin, on practice nights. To St. Patrick's Cathedral he presented two trebles in 1909. and on these bells he rang the eleventh to a peal of Grandsire Cinques on January 14th. 1911, which was the first 12-bell peal ever rung outside of England.

To Mr. Williams' party goes the honour of adding another 'first' in the history of the Irish Association by a peal of Pudsey Surprise Royal. The illuminated peal book of the Association is freely sprinkled with names of ringers famous in English ringing. These include the Revs. F. E. Robinson and C. W. O. Jenkyn, James George, George, William and Ernest Pye, J. H. Cheeseman. Ben Knights, William Fussell, Bertram Prewett, W. Keeble, J. Simpson, Frank Bennett, James Bennett, C. T. Coles. E. Duffield, Harold Poole and Rupert Richardson. Mrs. G. W. Fletcher, as Miss Edith Parker, had the honour to be the first lady to ring and also conduct a peal in IrelandStedman Caters at Christ Church Cathedral. Dublin, on August 1st, 1927.

No touring party has visited Eire in recent years without availing themselves of the services of Mr. F. E. Dukes. who has been secretary of the Irish Association since 1941. having previously been assistant secretary for three years. Upon Mr. Dukes' shoulders will fall the responsibility of organising the programme next Whitsun. An object of the Irish Association when it was founded read: 'That the Society shall be a bond of unity between all ringers in Ireland for the promotion and study of scientific changeringing.' Despite political differences the Irish Association embraces Northern Ireland. The Northern Branch has been functioning since 1927; it elects its own officers and carries on as an independent unit. Mr. J. T. Dunwoody will doubtless share in the welcome, and nothing would give him greater pleasure than to arrange for members of the Council to visit Northern Ireland and meet some of the keen bands of ringers in his towers. The Central Council treasures its Irish representatives, and while at times they do not always see eye to eye with each other they both impart a sparkle of wit which is refreshing to the somewhat stolid English outlonk.

\section*{PEALS OF SPLICED CAMBRIDGE AND SUPERLATIVE QUESTIONED}

Dear Sir,-I should like to draw attention to the arrangement for Spliced Superlative and Cambridge given in the Central Council Collection as follows:- \({ }^{\circ}\) Call each course CSCSCSC, true to compositions for Superlative with no bells reversed in 5-6. Unfortunately, this qualification is insufficient to ensure truth, and only peals of Cambridge with the tenors together would appear to be true to this arrangement : the Cambridge leads unfortunately running false against themselves. The arrangement required to run true to the ' no bells reversed in 5-6, qualification is SCSCSCS, and as far as I can see from peal reports, these arrangements have been rung in fairly even proportions. Perhaps conductors would care to check back and see whether they have rung the false arrangement, and the easiest guide seems to be to notice whether more Cambridge was rung than Superlative. I am sorry to be stirring up so much mud, but I have not heard of or seen any statement correcting this error in a widelyused Collection, though evidently quite a few conductors have appreciated it for some time now.

While on the subject I should like to query the superiotity of Bristol with 6th place bobs, recently averred in your columns. The mere fact that all the courses with the 6th at home. and 4,5 and 6 in 5-6 are rung full, seems of little value when considering that the wrong leads of the courses 34625 and 42635 contain as much music as the 65's at the Homes, for instance: and, apart from anything else, the tenors are on the front 22 times compared with the customary 14 or 15 in a 4 ths place bob composition. Surely the 'lengthening lead properties of Bristol are its main attraction?. Also, perhaps I have odd tastes, but to me Cambridge Royal is infinitely supcrior to Yorkshire (also the Major) by virtue of the very fact that the coursing order is broken below the treble !

\section*{FOUR-BELL TOWERS IN HERTFORDSHIRE}

Dear Sir,-There are very few fours in Herts, and this is the list and their condition as far as I can ascertain:-Brent Pelham ( 7 cwt.), probably ringable; St. Mary's, Stanstead Abbotts, St. Andrew's (new church), chiming only: Wadesmill ( 6 cwt .), unringable (treble pre-Reformation, tenor by John Deir, 1580): St. Giles', Wyddial (11 cwt.), probably ringable but obstructed by organ (second and third probably 14th century). The three ( 5 cwt .) at Lilley are ringable.-Yours faithfully,
D. P. JONES.

Hitchin.

\section*{WHEN SPLICING}

Dear Sir,-Perhaps ringers who splice their own bell-ropes would find this tip useful: After unwinding the rope ready for splicing, bind each of the three strands with cellotape for about two inches from the end. This keeps the ends from fraying and makes threading much easier.-Yours, etc.,
H. BUTLER.

Shareshill, Staffs.

\section*{"NINE TAILORS'}

Dear Sir,-While listening to the third instalment of the B.B.C. production of Dorothy Sayers' "Nine Tailors." I was interested to hear what I took to be a slip on the part of John Thomason as the Rev. Theodore Venables. Talking of the path of the tenor in Kent Treble Bob Major, he described it as moving directly from 6iths to 4ths, before dodging in 5-6 down-by no means an uncommon occurrence in actual practice! However, on checking with my own copy of the book I find the error to be the printer's. As this is a first edition copy, the misprint must have been overlooked by the proof reader and perpetuated in later editions and by the B.B.C.

Presumably Mr. Harold Pitstow's services were limited to the actual ringing involved rather than extending to these of a 'technical adviser' to the produccr.-Yours sincerely,

CYRIL A. WRATTEN.

\section*{Cheltenham.}

\section*{THE MAJOR PROBLEM}

Dear Sir,-Mr. Philip Gray's letter on the above subject goes right to the core of what should be the greatest concern of all ringers and Associations-the problem of the silent, undermanned and jangling towers, and he deserves credit for his challenging.

In estimating the number of towers which are adequately rung at half, I think he is, if anything, being over-generous.

I agree entirely with Him that the Council should now set up a committee to investigate the problem and issue a report with a view to bringing about an enthusiastic drive to build up the strength and efficiency of Sunday service bands. If these are flourishing. all other aspects of ringing will also flourish

London University Socicty made September 8 th a memorable day for Norwich, when a peal and two quarter peals were rung simultancously on the bells of the city. It is said on that particular evening no part of the city was free from the activities of the Society. One of the quarter peals was by an all-ladies band, and although it needed three attempts the length was eventually well and truly rung.
Mr. Geoffrey Harper, a former ringer at Kenwyn, Cornwall, was ordained deacon at Coventry on Seplember 15 th .

Mr. B. P. Morris, Master of the Peterborough Diocesan Guild of Church Bellringers, has been appointed postmaster of Ashbourne. Derbyshire. He expects to take up duty there early in October.

Bramley. Leeds, is Mr. W. Eric Critchley's unlucky tower. At last, at the fifth attempt, he has rung a peal on the bells. Incidentally, this was Bramley's first peal of Surprise, unusual for a Yorkshire 8 -bell tower.

Mr. Brian Austin points out that it is no longer the select hand of ringers who have rung Cambridge from Minor to Maximus, as he is now a member of it by a peal at Rushton on September 11 th.

The first peal conducted by Edward F. P. Bryant (14) at Sedlescombe, Sussex, was followed by a happy tea party, arranged by Mr. and Mrs, E. Fellows, who are thanked by the band for their hospitality.

Without advice, the Vicar of Bardwell.' Suffolk, bought a set of ropes in the market at Bury St. Edmunds. The huge sallies they had caused them to stick in the floor above. The opinion of Suffolk ringers, transported by Mr. Arthur Rolfe, who visited the tower recently, was that these bells could be rung well with good ropes.

\section*{BELFRY GOSSIP} of Leicester Cathedral September 8th as an 80th birthday compliment to Mrs. Jenney, wife of Mr. Harold G. Jenney, a highly respected member of the Cathedral band and president of the National Police Guild of Ringers.

Mr. Shirley Burton has rung peals of Kent Treble Bob from Minor to Maximus.

The ringers of the peal of Plain Bob Major at Bolton on September 8 th would like to record their sincere gratitude to Mrs. Young. mother of the second ringer, who afterwards kindly provided the hand with refreshments.

The two bells at Clantield, Hants, dating from 1448 and cast by Roger Landon, are to be quarter turned and rehung on ballbearings. Both were hung in the original 14th century church at Clanlield which was pulled down in 1878 and the present church buils on the site.

A peal attempt was made at Spalding on September 7th, which was to have been in honour of the wedding of Mr. W. A. Dobbs and Miss J. Drury, also in honour of the birth of a daughter to the Rev. and Mrs. R. W. H. Nind, assistant curate at Spaiding Parish Church, and also a birtiday compliment to the conductor. Perhaps too many celebrations are not good for peal ringers?
A get-together by friends from Sudbury. Clare and Whepstcad, Suffolk, and Sawston, Cambs, on Sepiember 7ih, resulted in a very pleasant excursion. Towers visited were Siretham (6). Wilburton (6). Haddenham (6), Willingham (6) and Cherryhinton (5). London was an excellent touch at Stretham and Haddenham, with the assistance of a Cambridge contingent en route to the Ely meeting, whose company was much enjoyed.

\section*{A PEAL TOUR OF SOUTHERN IRELAND}

600 MILES THROUGH TEN COUNTIES

The blue hills of Ireland 1 see in my dreams, The high hills of Ireland the glens and the streams; In sundight and shadow in weal and in woe. The sweet rision, haunts me wherever I go.'

IN defiance of superstilion, 13 ringers jour1 neyed to Ireland on August 17 h for the sixth annual tour, organised by Wilfred Williams. This year we were pleased to re-welcome Messis. Jim and Ronald Diserens after an interval of tive years, and Tom Southan, who seems to have adopied the habit of every other year. Making their first tour with us were Frank Darby-making our complement of bellhanging friends up to two-and John Phillips, of whom more later.
The advance guard deseended on Dublin by way of an Aer Lingus dawn fight from London. Ten braved the rigours of an all-night crossing from Holyhead, while your chronicler, as usual the last to arrive, flew from Cardiff. his late arrival being greeted by the strains of 'Happy Birthday' (obviously prearranged), making an immediate celebration necessary where the boat was duly launched.
Our headquarters for the first and last parts of our tour was the historic Four Courts Hotel, which four centuries ago was known as the 'Angel Inn.' Dean Swift lived and wrote many of his poems in this establishment.
Our first peal attempt took place at Christ Church Cathedral, where we received a warm welcome from Billy Lynch and Fred Dukes. We had been led to believe that the bells at Christ Church were a real 'handful,' but despite the fact that eight of the hand had travelled all night, a good peal of Cambridge Royal was brought round, the man from Coventry showing off his 14! stone to advantage on the \(39 \frac{1}{2} \mathrm{cwt}\). tenor. Those not ringing attended a meeting at St. John's, which had been specially arranged by Fred Dukes, and where we were all kindiy entertained to tea by the 1rish Association.
On Sunday morning the fine ring at St. Parrick's Cathedral placed at our disposal, and aiter a warm welcome from members of St. Patrick's Cathedral Society, we rang an excellent course of Cambridge Maximus, followed by two courses of Stedman Cinques. Mr. R. S. F. Murphy, P.C. (president of the Irish Association), who rang the tenor to the first peal on these bells, declaring that in all his 57 years' association with this tower he had never heard the bells rung better. Following this we were all elected honorary members of the St. Patrick's Cathedral Society, a gesture which we much appreciate.
We also rang again at St. John`s, receiving a warm welcome from the local hand. The ascent to the ringing chamber here is by means of an open spiral staircase of some 50 to 60 ft ., and proved most unnerving to one member who is averse to high places. After lunch we wended our way to the Church of St. George, a fine Wren-like structure, where an excellent peal of London was rung: F. E. D. reaching the 300 th milestone, and "Mr. Chips" his 50 th this year. After this peal we were most kindly entertained by Mr, R. S. F. Murphy.
While waiting for the church to be opened we were the object of much interest from the windows of an adjacent nurses' home, a number of the band offering to give up their places in the attempt. It was observed, however, that the windows were strangely empty after three hours' ringing. The evening was spent ringing handbells in a room specially set aside for us. Here we were joined by Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Roberts, who were holidaying in Dublin.

Early Monday morning we left Dublin in three cars on our journcy south, stopping at Christ Church, Bray, for our first attempt of the day. On this magnificent eight-surcly one of the best in the four countries-a good peal of Bristol was rung, though not without incident as alter 20 minutes the tucks suddenly flew out of the fourth rope, which left our senior bell-hanging friend ringing for two leads with his hands virtually tied together. We now understand that he is claiming to be the only ringer to perform the 'Leaf Test' during a peal. During the ringing the original 'Belfryman, holidaying nearby paid us a visit, and it was interesting to have his comments on some excellent ringing.

\section*{PEALS AT WASHBROOK'S TOWER}

During the afternoon we enjoyed a journey through lovely scenery, passing on our right the Wicklow Mountains, and arriving shortly afterwards at Arklow, with its magnificent church on the hill overlooking the sea and dominating this beautiful scene. A grand ring of bells here, and the many peal boards in the ringing chaniber testify to the prowess of the late J . W. Washbrook as a ringer of two bells. Here with Wilf Il at the helm we rang one of the best peals of the week.
While this peal was in progress the 'Governor,' in company with our two bellhangers, drove to Wexford. The bells at the Cathedral of the Immaculate Conception-a very fine ring installed by Gillett and Johnston in 1931-are seldom rung, and though permission had been granted for a peal attempt we had also been informed that the third was unringable. It was therefore entirely due to the work put in during this visit that the peal attempt next day was made possible.

Monday night was spent at Redmonds Hotel. Gorey, a sleepy country town with no street lighting, and where the name of Redmond was unusually predominant. The events which followed dinner are probably best described in the following lines :-
'Any draught? ' queried Jack, with tongue in throat,
But the answer from Madam gave little hope. So down Gorey's street that dusky night,
Jack set out on mission bright.
Up the road and over the hill
Followed at length by Border and Bill.
Others, too, joincd in the quest,
Echoing their cries with the utmost zest.
From shop to har the searchers wound,
But the familiar Red Triangle just couldn't be found,
The calling of 'Time ' caused Jack to give in, He'd missed his paragon, found Phonix the thing.

\section*{THE FIRST PEAL AT WEXFORD}

Tuesday saw us on the road early, as with two peal attempts we should cover something like 150 miles before reaching Cork that night. Back again to Arklow, a prompt start was made for Bristol, a first-class peal resulting. The sound of the bells brought many visitors to the church all full of praise for the excellence of the ringing. There is no doubt that the two best peals of the week wero rung at this tower. the striking in both being of a high standard. With sandwiches to eat in the cars, the journey to Wexford was covered in record time, and with the advance party already having the bells up. Cambridge Royal was soon rolling out fram these fine bells, the first peal on them being duly rung. An excellent meal, then the

\section*{A VISIT TO ST. FIN BARRE'S} CATHEDRAL, CORK
Despite the lateness of our arrival on the previous evening, everyone reported early on Wednesday morning, and after wishing the Governor' happy birthday, the 'top brass. set out for Bandon, where a peal in seven methods were rung on the noisy six. Those not ringing looked around Cork and paid a visit to the lovely Cathedral of St. Fin Barre. We had originally been granted permission to attempt a peal on the eight which hang in the north-west tower of this building, but the 'go' of the bells during the last six months had made it necessary to call in the services of Messrs. John Taylor and CO., and the bells are now awaiting shipment to the foundry. We were, however, able to see the bells and ring on the fine set of handbells in the ringing chamber. We were also shown around the Cathedral. which is built in French early pointed Gothic, and much admired the nave which is lined with red Cork marble, also the wonderful decoration of the floor, walls and ceiling of the chancel, which symbolises Paradise. Later that morning 'Mr. Chips' chimed Grandsire Triples on Shandon belis: but an attempt to sec the heavy eight at St. Mary's R.C. Cathedral proyed fruitless.

In the afternoon the "rabbits" drove to Doneraile, where at St. Mary's we were welcomed by Billy Evans, who in his own words described himself: "Forty-live years an Irishman, but be-Jasus born within the sound of Bow, Bells.' After Canon Osborn had wished us luck, a start was made on the pleasant six for Cambridge Minor, but after three excellent 720 's we experienced our first and only failure of the weck. This was a great disappointment as it would have enabled Jack to complete the sequence from Minor to Maximus. Our disappointment was soon forgotten when Billy Evans introduced us to Tommy O'Donnell, the landlord of the local hostelry and a famous lrish footballer of 45 years ago. His bedtime stories were many and varied, and had we chosen could have remained there indefinitely, for we certainly saw no observation of licensing hours in those country places.

Back in Cork that evening the 'Governor's' birthday was well celebrated, the final act resembling a scene from Samson and Delilah, but with the aid of a well-known phrase our Samson preserved that shaggy mop, and Delilah departed much chastened.

\section*{A VISIT TO BLARNEY CASTLE}

Ealy on Thursday morning we said goodbye to Ireland's most hospitable city and started our journey to Limerick, calling en route at Blarney for a visit to the castle and its famous stone: but none of the party could be persuaded to hang backwards over a 70 ft . drop to kiss the stone-perhaps there were too many cameras in evidence.

\section*{FIRST PEAL OF PUDSEY ROYAL IN IRELAND}

After an early lunch we assembled at the Monasiery of Mount St. Alphonsus, where we were made welcome by The Erethren; also meeting us were Mr. David Benson (president of the Mount St. Alphonsus ringers) and George Bingham (hon, secretary, Southern District, I.A.C.R.). The preliminaries completed, this glorious Tayior ten were soon going to Pudsey Royal, a good peal, the first in Ireland, being rung. At the conclusion of the peal we were entertained to a most wonderful tea by the Limerick ringers, presided over by the Lord Bishop of Limerick (the Rt. Rev. E. C. Hodges) and Mrs. Hodges ; also present were the Dean of Limerick (the Very Rev. M. J. Talbot) and Mrs. Talbot, Mr. J. A. Haydon (president of Si. Mary's Cathedral Ringers), Mr. Cyril Galbraith (chairman, Southern District. I.A.), Mr. George Bingham. Mr. G. H. Ellis (Ringing Master, Southern District, I.A.) and Mr. David Benson (president of the Mount St. Alphonsus Ringers).
The Dean, in wetcoming us to Limerick, said that he hoped we would enjoy the bells at St. Mary's Cathedral as much as we had enjoyed those at Mount St. Alphonsus. They were proud of their bells at St. Mary's, which were reputed to have been cast by the celebrated Perdue brothers.

In a very witty speech the Lord Bishop welcomed us to the loveliest part of the diocese. It was famous for many things, including a little fighting when necessary. [Much laughter.]

Mr. Cyril Galbraith welcomed us on behalf of the Southern District, I.A.C.R., and expressed the hope that some of us would return to Limerick when the Central Council meet in Dublin next year. On behalf of the tourists Wilfrid Moreton made a suitable reply, expressing our thanks for their wonderful hospitality.

After indulging in some handbell ringing, a move was made to Desmonds Hotel, where we enjoyed a social evening with the Limerick ringers, our senior bellhanging friend coming into his own for the first time on this tour.

Promptly at 8.45 a.m. on Friday we presented ourselves at the Cathedral, the Dean receiving us in the ringing chamber and remaining to see the start. These fine-toned bells, which run anti-clockwise, were soon going to London with almost faultless precision, an excellent peal being rung. After this we faced an 80 -mile drive to Waterford, and we are very grateful to Cyril Galbraith for his fine gesture in providing us with the sandwiches which we found in the cars on descending from the tower.

\section*{A COLLEGE YOUTH PEAL}

Waterford was reached in good time after a delightful run through glorious countryside, during which we passed through the town of Tipperary (singing at the top of our voices) and skirting the Galty Mountains via Cahir and Clonmel.
At the Cathedral of the Blessed Trinity we were met by the Rev. A. P. Stanley and Mr. E. Kelly, who extended a warm welcome. The tower of this Cathedral, built in the English classic style of the 18 th century, houses a fine eight originally by Mears, and has past links with the Ancient Seciety of College Youths, for it was here 85 years ago that James Pettit called Holt's Original, which was the first peal in lreland. We therefore decided to commemorate this anniversary by ringing a College Youth peal, which was duly brought round, though not without incident as we were unable to lock ourselves in due to work taking place inside the roof of the Cathedral, and had an audience on the gallery overlooking the ringing chamber almost throughout the peal, with its consequent effect on our concentration.
After the peal, Mr. and Mrs. Baldwin met us. and we much appreciated the handbooks which were presented to us by Mr. Harris. It was a tired but happy band which reached Dublin late that night after another 100 -mile drive, during which we passed through Castlecomer, the site of Ireland's only coalmine.

\section*{THE FINAL DAY}

Saturday brought us to our last day, and to the highlight of the tour-a peal attempt at Si. Patrick's. The morning was spent in shopping and buying presents, some of which were undoubtedly peace-offerings. So 12.45 saw us wending our way to St. Patrick's, there being a short wait for some who had paid a visit to the Guinness Brewery. However, promptly at 1.15 the bells were away to the tune of Cambridge Maximus, and as others had done before, the composition was Lindoff's,

Perhaps it was due to the tension created by the knowledge that we wanted to score here more than anywhere, coupled with a week of late nights, that our ringing did not have the same edge as the excellent course rung on the previous Sunday; nevertheless, a good peal was rung, Arthur Reed earning all the medals for a near-faultess performance in his first 'touch' in the method. We were pleased to hear the comments of the listeners on descending the tower, and after posing for photographs spent a convivial hour with the locals in a ' local.'
The hour for our goodbyes came all too soon, though due to a gale those departing by boat had their departure delayed for more than an hour, while those flying to London arrived in record time ahead of a following wind. Your chronicler was not so lucky. His plane, rocked about by a 50 m.p.h. gale, was unable to land at Cardiff, but after what seemed an eternity managed to get down at Bristol with everyone on board much the worse for wear. So ended our most happy and successful tour to date, the memories of which will haunt us always.

THANKS AND IMPRESSIONS
This report cannot be completed without spotlighting some of the things which impressed us most.
First. Our sincere thanks to Messrs. Fred Dukes and George Bingham for the work they put in during the last 12 months, without which this tour would not have been possible.
Second. To the Limerick ringers for their hospitality, may I be forgiven for lifting the words of another writer. Ringers' hospitality is proverbial, but Irish ringers' hospitality is hospitality 'par excellence.'
Our thanks also to the Church Authorities for their ready permission to ring, and to all the other ringers who met us, always on time and with everything in readiness.
Three. The fine state of preservation of all the churches. and the wonderful stained glass in them, and last but by no means least, the quality of the bells.
Thank you, Ireland: we shall certainly hope to return one day.
D. G. C.

\section*{BEVERLEY & DISTRICT SOCIETY}

Younger ringers had no difficulty in handling the light and easy-going bells of St. Patrick's Church, Patrington, when the Beverley and District Society held a meeting there on September 14th.
A short service was conducted by the Vicar (Rev. F. B. Crook), who welcomed the Society. An excellent tea was served in the Hildyard Arms Hotel, followed by the business meeting, with the president (Mr. A. E. Seilers) in the chair. All present joined in giving the president their best wishes for his 80th birthday, which he was to celebrate the following Tuesday.

\section*{OBITUARY \\ MR. G. DOWLING}

With the deepest regret. the Beverley and District Ringing Society record the passing of Mr. George Dowling, of Beverley, one of its oldest and most respected members.
He learned to handle a bell at St. Augustine's Church, Hedon, at the age of 12 , but afterwards moved to Hull and then Withernsza, joining the band of ringers at both places. Whilst ringing with the Hull Holy Trinity band he was a pupil of Mr. Charles Jackson.
Mr. Dowling joined the Yorkshire Association in 1908, and rang in 31 peals for the Association. It is believed he also rang several more outside the District, but of which there is no record. During the first world war he joined the Royal Artillery, and for a period was in the anti-aircraft branch defending London, where he made many friends among the city's ringers.
He moved to Beverley in 1939, and becam: a member of the Minster band, where he rang up to the time of his death. In later years he spent many of his evenings helping bands of learners in the District, and many a struggling youngster has been glad of his help and guidance, which was never sought in vain.
On the day of the funeral at Beverley a touch of Grandsire Caters was rung as a last token of respect, and at Bridlington Priory Church, where he did so much to leach the local band, a quarter peal of Grandsire Triples was rung.

\section*{MR. G. A. STEELE}

Mr . George Steele followed his father-in-law. Nicholas Stredwick, as verger and sexton of St. Leonard's, Aldrington, and served in this capacity for 42 years before retiring to Eythorne in 1954. These were the only two vergers since the restoration of the church in 1878
He held the record for the longest service of any bellringer in Aldrington belfiry, being 64 years, including many years as captain and also as secretary of the band. How many ringers he taught, no one knows; but there are many who owe to him their interest in this form of service to the Church. The standard of ringing in our own tower is the result of his efforts and enthusiasm. His personal interest in the progress of the young ringers, his youthful outlook and fine sense of humour moulded a band to be proud of.

Mr. Steele was a member of the Sussex County Association since 1895, and rang thres peals, including the first by a local band. which was of Bob Minor, fully muffled in memory of Queen Victoria on February 2nd, 1901. George rang the third bell of our six when the Aldrington band rang the first peal of London Surprise Minor ever to be rung in Sussex.
The influence of George Steele had its impact on many of us. His example of churchmanship and sincerity, of loyal service and love of St. Leonard's was such that won the admiration of all who worked with him.
The bells were rung half-muffled at his funeral on September 6th by members of Aldrington, Ditchling and Brighton towers. A half-muffled quarter peal of Grandsire Doubles had been rung in grateful memory by the local band on the previous Tuesday. S. W. B.

\section*{A Tour in the County's Winding Lanes}
\(H^{\text {ARDLY more than } 30 \text { miles from London }}\) City is the village of Pleshey, not far from Chelmsford, once a place of note, when it was dominated by the Castle of the Bohuns —but ' Where is Bohun? Where is Mowbray? Where is Plantagenet? They are intombed in the urns and sepulchres of mortality.' As for the castle, apart from some earthworks, Perierunt etiam Ruina!' Pleshey is now a peaceful village reached by a narrow winding lane that scems to lead nowhere.
Thoughts such as these, however, did not trouble members of the Cambridge University Guild when they came to Pleshey on Sunday, August 25 th , for their 41 st annual tour: and the peace of the village was shattered by the incongruous collection of vehicles that brought them there-ranging from the smooth Prefect to the 1933 London taxi that has featured in these pages before, known as 'Ichabod.' Our headquarters were at the Diocesan Retreat House, where we were extremely well looked after. A feature of the Retreat House is that every room has a name such as 'Charity, 'Faith' or 'Light '-so that one member was 'Resting in Peace,' another was in 'Love' while at third had the name of his room changed by a practical joker to 'Total Abstinence, so that he had difficulty in finding his room on the first night.

Some began the tour by ringing with the local band at Chelmsford for evening service, while others sampled the minor five at Pleshey. Later a small party set out to find a place with the unlikely name of Chignall Smealy, where there was reputed to be an inn called the Pig and Whistle. In this tour of discovery, however, they were unsuccessful, so returned ito Pleshey, where the handbells were soon produced and a course of Stedman Cinques rung.

Monday's ringing started at Great Waltham, where a touch of Spliced Surprise nearly came round. By the time we reached Little Waltham. 'Ichabod' had proved its sterling qualities by getting a puncture, as well as having to be watered every few miles. Its usefulness, however, became apparent on the way to Chelmsford for lunch, as the four passengers were able to ring handbells en route. The first peal of the tour was scored in the afternoon at Hatfield Broad Oak, where E. M. Atkins called Double Norwich. Meanwhile the rest of the party had fun finding Matching Church: one car ended up in a farmyard.

It was at this point that the admirably arranged programme was first side-tracked: as the week went on it was completely disregarded. Cambridge has a reputation for producing individualists, and when over 20 individualists all have different ideas about where to ring what. the wise organiser discreetly retires and lets them get on with it. This afternoon it was decided to include Harlow Common in the tour, and this was arranged with such speed that the party were just leaving Matching as Gilbert Thurlow arrived. After Harlow Common bells (and icccream) had been sampled, we rang on the heavy six at High Easter. As if this were not enough ringing for one day, the tower-snatchers had to invade the local practice at Braintree after supper, while four members attempted a handbell peal, which was soon lost, as some were ringing Plain Bob Major, while the more conservative were ringing Boh Major. It was during this evening that the mathematical element started wondering what the connection is between \(6,28,496\) and 8,128 .

The writer's suggestion that the answer can be found in 'Wisden' was received with contumely, and we believe this vital question is still unresolved.

\section*{GILBERT PLAYS MARBLES}

On Tuesday morning Frank Haynes called a peal of Cambridge Royal at Bishop's Stortford, while the non-pealers cursed the organiser for sending them to Manuden, where the five bells, cast by Miles Graye, are in a wildly original scale. However, the amateur bellhangers found work to do, and Gilbert Thurlow had a game of marbles with a young spectator. At the next tower, Farnham, everyone was baffled hy the third. so we soon left in high dudgeon and lunched in Stortford. The tower-snatchers were then kept happy by a visit to the roughish five at Great Hallinghury, and the peal hand joined the rest at Sawbridgeworth, where, by way of a change, the bells were rough-going, and where we were mystified by the clock-hammer.
The last official tower of the day was Waltham Abbey, where a notice said that the Guild were going to ring 'twelve peals." In spite of this, we scarcely did justice to the 12 bells. After so much rough stuff, and after a fresh contingent of tower-snatchers from London had rung at Pleshey, we had the annual mecting. (Cambridge University Guild, by the way, is onc of the few organisations known to the writer which has two annual meetings.) At this meeting we had a report on the progress made in collecting money for the Great St. Andrew's, Cambridge, bell fund, concerning which we believe more is to be written shortly. We also heard the staggering news that after ten or more years' "Great Argument About it and about," the Guild History Supplement is actually being printed.

By Wednesday the peal-grabbers were also dissatisfied with the programme, and coerced the organiser into arranging an extra peal, with the result that a band went to Stansted Mountfichet in the morning, where \(E\). M. Atkins called a peal of Little Bob. We hear that the conductor nearly stopped the peal halfway through when, looking round the ropes, he thought the coursing order was wrong-but remembered just in time that the bells are arranged anti-clockwise! Meanwhile the programme offered ringing at Boreham and Galleywood for the non-pealers: but some were dissatisfied with only two towers in one morning. and snatched Broomfield, where the six bells hang in a round tower, and Little Baddow. Such deviationism was, perhaps, only to be expected, when it is realised that some half-dozen of the more ardent Snatchers ' had been thrown together (almost literally) in Brian Price's van, where they sat on a garden seat and three chairs borrowed from the Retreat House.

In the afternoon the programme was adhered to for a short while, when Widford and Writtle were visited. The eight bells at Writtle were especially admired. After this came the highlight of the tour, an attempt for a peal of Stedman Cinques at Chelmsford Cathedral: and it is sad to have to relate that after two and a half hours' quite good ringing the treble rope broke. Before this happened, Chris. Johnson, on the 10 th , had done a strange thing: he caught the loop of his rope on the edge of the box. and somehow managed to tie a knot in it! After he had done this twice, and shortened his rope-end by nearly two feet, he showed characteristic resourcefulness in climbing on to a bench behind the box, where he was just able to reach the back-stroke by dint of ringing with one finger through the loop at the rope-end.

Altogether a most remarkable performance. While these antics were in progress, the fanatics added a triangular tower to their round tower (if you follow) by joining in the local practice at Maldon. When all had safely returned to Pleshey, some maniacs rang handbells, including what was probably the first course of Great Big Bob Minor.

\section*{MILK FOR THE 'CATS'}

It is always asserted that the Cambridge Guild's tours are not peal-ringing tours; yet the sober fact remains that on Thursday, August 29th, no fewer than three peals were rung by the Guild. In the morning Chris, Woolley called four Spliced Surprise at Great Dunmow, while the 'profanum vulgus' rang at Felsted and Stebbing: for a wonder both these towers were on the programme, and there were no divergences. In the afternoon the majority visited the beautiful villages of Thaxted (where the bells match up to the rest of the village) and Finchingfield (where they don't). Meanwhile it had been found that there were six members of St. Catharine's College on the tour; so these six resolved to show the 'Selwynites" that Selwyn isn't the only college when it comes to ringing (a select few know that it isn't either of these that really counts, but Jesus College)-anyway a peal of Cambridge Minor was quickly arranged for the 'Cat's men' at Rayne, and E. M. Atkins was again the successful conductor. The six 'Cats' were suitably rewarded for their labours: on coming out of the tower they found six saucers of milk, appropriately inscribed by Brian Price, awaiting , them. Tower-bell ringing for the day finished at Great Bardfield, but in the evening, while the saner members were being guided round the ruins of Pleshey Castle, four fools rang a handhell peal of Bob Major. To the conductor's chagrin, this came round exactly at closing time !
On Friday those travelling in Paul Williamson's car survived his 'Grand Prix' style of driving and all rang at Great Baddow, where Gilbert Thurlow was able to inspire confidence in the verger as to our bona-fides. A peal of Yorkshire was then called at Rayleigh by Henry Fielden, and those not in the peal amused themselves with the Guild's old friend 'Boatrace Delight ' (Cambridge in front, Oxford behind) at South Benfleet. The towersnatching element, game to the last, then persuaded the rest to visit Leigh-on-Sea. In the afternoon we joined saner holiday-makers and went to Southend: ringing took Dlace at Prittlewell, where a course of Double Norwich Caters staggered round, and at Thorpe Bay.
\begin{aligned}
& \text { It might be thought that, having reached } \\
& \text { he end of the official programme and worn }
\end{aligned}
\] the end of the official programme and worn themselves out in so doing, members would have gone quietly home. But no: rumour spoke of a practice that evening at Brentwood: and thither many members duly went-perhaps by this sime they felt lost without a bellrope to prop them up! After this not a few of the party were accommodated for the night by Hugh Neill, the organiser (to whom. in spite of what has been said above, we are all extremely grateful for making such excellent arrangements)-and the peace of Ilford was disturbed by the rincing of handhells to changes and tunes, Finally, on Saturday morning. a peal of Cambridge was scored at Loughton, called by Henry Fielden, and so ended a hectic but rather wonderful week.

\section*{CAMPANOLOGY AFLOAT}

\section*{Tour of Norfolk Broads}

The Norfolk Broads being a very popular holiday resort, it is not surprising that during August Bank Holiday week two five-berth cruisers should be manned by a party of bellringers.

Nine of the party from the villages of Yelvertoft and Lilbourne left Rugby station carly on the Saturday morning and reached Oulton Broad in the early afternoon. Provisions, handbells and ale aboard, the party were under way by 4 o'clock and procceded to Burgh Castle, where a 'Bellringer's Guide to the Inns of Britain' would have proved useful. The boats were moored here for the night, which proved a restless one for nearly all aboard.

Sunday morning found the boats heading for Great Yarmouth, where a further member was added to the party from Caston. There being no belts at present in Yarmouth, and little by way of amusement open on a Sunday morning, the party cast off earlier than scheduled, thus forfeiting ringing at Winterton for evensong. By tea time the low bridge at Potter Heigham was being navigated, and a suitable mooring was found on the other side for the night. Some members of the party preferred refreshment, whilst others walked to the parish church with its three bells, two of which are preReformation.

Monday was spent on Horsey Mere and Hickling Broad, and it was not until Tuesday that Cattield, the first tower, was reached, where the crew were met by the Rev. E. Lillingston (president of the Norwich Association) and Mrs. Lillingston, and Ted and Ella Chapman, from Pakefield. The five bells were soon set ringing to methods varying from Plain Bob to Stedman Doubles. The next stop was Ludham, two hours distant, where the 22 cwt tenor of the ring of five was raised at the fourth attempt, three ringers attaching themselves to the rope for the final effort, others having either fallen off the box or just given up in hewilderment. After ringing, the tower captain gave permission for the bells to be lowered in peal.

Coltishall, with its six bells, was reached that evening, ready for ringing there first thing next, morning. Although they had received bellhangers* attention in 1951, the hells seemed a jittle out of tune. Within an hour of leaving Coltishall the party invaded Wroxham, where some local ringers and one from Watford awaited them. It' was difficult to believe that the bells had not been touched by a bellhanger since last century.

\section*{SPOTLIGHTS ON MIDNIGHT RINGERS}

Malthouse Broad proved the resting place for the cruisers that afternoon and evening, and was a place of much activity hoth sileni and noisy. Silent in the way that four youths manouvred a cruiser full of young ladies into the weeds at the water's edge at the dead of night: noisy because handbells were rung joyously for some reason on deck at midnight. resulting in an array of spotlights being directed on to the performing campanclogists from neighbouring vessels.
Before ringing at Ranworth, a conducted tour of the wonderful church was given by the Vicar (Rev. Mr. Everard), who also exhibited the pricekss Ranworth Antiphoner. The six bells were rehung by Alfred Bowell, of Ipswich, in the late \(1930^{\circ}\) s, and a cracked preReformation bell was recast at the time.

A quick trip to Barton Broad and back, and Acle was reached, where the ringers were met by Mr. Lidbetter ( 84 and still ringing). Since the round tower had not been thought strong enough to house the six bells, a new steel tower was constructed inside, independent of the walls, to form a seat for the bellframe. Here a touch of Cambridge Surprise came to an untimely end after two minutes' ringing and ten minutes" hopeless struggling. After the twomile walk back to the boats, certain members of the party indulged in merriment, resulting in a loud and rather blurred solo rendering of 'Kiss me goodnight, sergeant-major,' sounding over the water in the early hours.

The cruisers passed through Yarmouth and across Breydon Water on Friday afternoon and moored at St. Olave's. After tea the party started the two-mile walk to Haddiscoc, where Mr. Bussey awaited them and assisted in ringing the light five.

One hour's run on Saturday morning and they were back on Oulton Broad, and the boats returned to base. Ted Chapman's car became a taxi, and before catching the 12.40 train to Rugby, the party enjoyed ringing on the beautiful cight at Pakefield. Here a 704 of Plain Boh Major was rung, to the satisfaction of at least one ringer, and a more satisfying or more inspiring church could not have been found with which to end the tour.

Thanks are due to those who helped make the holiday a success: Dawn Elson for hiring the cruiscrs and for organising the party generally: John Barncs for the ringing arrangements: Ted Chapman for unlimited use of his car, and Peter Westerman for spontancous entertainment.

\section*{SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD}

\section*{Devizes Branch}

Guild members from many towers in the Salisbury Diocese, together with members from Chippenham, Horshan and Worthing, and 15 members of a party from Hatfield (Herts), who were spending a holiday touring Wiltshire, ringing peals at various towers, attended the Guild meeting at Bromham on September 5th. The Rector (the Rev. J. F. Collins) conducted the service in church, with Mr. A. T. Weeks (Branch chairman) reading the lesson, and Miss H. M. Webb as organist. Tea followed at the Greyhound Inn, and the chairman welcomed all the visitors. Votes of thanks were accorded to the Rector and organist and to Mr. G. Minty, captain of Bromham tower. Ringing continued till 8.30 p.nı.

\section*{Record Length of Yorkshire}

Last Saturday, at the Loughborough Bell Foundry, a peal of 14,560 Yorkshire Surprise Major was rung in 7 hours. This is the longest length yet rung in the method and was conducted by the com* poser. Stephen lvin. The peal will be credited 10 the Bedfordshire Association. Congratulations to all concerned.

\section*{WEDDINGS}

\section*{At Stonham Aspal, Suffolk}

A well-known member of the Suffolk Guild, Miss Muriel Pipe, was married at the Church of SS. Mary and Lambert, Stonham Aspal, on August 31st, to Mr. Alan Page, of Pettaugh, who has been organist at Stonham Aspal 1or the past four years. The service was fully choral, and a former Vicar (the Rev. Mr. Greenway) officiated.

The bride, given away by her father, wore an ankle-length gown of white-figured lace over net. Miss Edna Clements and Miss Pamela Beal were bridesmaids, and Mr. K. Page, of Oxford, brather of the bridegroom, best man.

As the bride entered and left the church, Stonham Aspal bells were rung, but unfortunately a peal attempt for Yorkshire Surprise Major on the bells later in the day was unsuccessful. Wedding presents included an electric copper from the Helmingham ringers, and the bride's colleagues gave dessert spoons.

\section*{At Warmley, Glos}

On Scptember 14 th the cantain of the Warmley ringers, Mr. Paul Garnet King, was married to the tower secretary, Miss Barhara Jean Rogers, at the Church of St. Barnabas, Warmley.

The bride, who was given away hy her father, wore a nylon lace dress with a fulllength veil, and was attended by her sisters, Cynthia. Pauline and Diane, and the bridegroom's sister, Elyn.

Many ringing friends were present and the hells were rung before and after the service. Two peal attempts came to grief during the evening, a fact which many local ringers attritute to the excellence of the reception.

\section*{IERTS COUNTY ASSOCIATION}

\section*{Northern District}

London Surprise Minor was the first ringing at Barley, when the Northern District began a meeting there on September 7th. Leaving a band ringing Cambridge Surprise, three others went on to open Barkway's octave, where the meeting was to continue. Here the reverse applied; whole-pull Bob Minimus to start with until, one by onc, more ringers came and the standard methods could be rung.

After an excellent 'ringers-size' tea at the Cross Keys, a short business meeting was held. St. Ippolyts was chosen for the next mecting on October 5th, with Trinity Sunday Treble Bob as the special method.

\section*{TOUR STORIES}

0CTOBER has arrived, and outings and tours are over for another year. Many of these delightful experiences have been published in our columns; others remain to be dealt with by the Editor, and still more are in the process of composition! So popular is this form of holiday among young ringers today that unless tours are dealt with in an abbreviated form either editorial blue pencil or a brief reference is all that can be given. This is particularly unfortunate as some are admirably written, witty and entertaining.

A 2,000 -word story of a fortnight's tour in six counties, by 'S.H.', which started on July 28 th by ringers who assembled in the Black Country was, indeed, one of happiness. The narrative begins more or less in the 'Archer' country. There was the thrill of a peal attempt at Hinton-on-the-Green, the failure of which was forgiven by Mr . and Mrs. Thomas, who refreshed the participants with food and drink. Then came the steep hills of the Cotswolds; the loss of two of the party through snapped handlebars; Tredington remembered for its wooden tower and a vicar who supplied orangeade and biscuits; and a drowsy ride through South Worcestershire to Overbury with all its buildings of the same yellow sandstone.

There were other memories-of washing up 200 -odd pieces of crockery with the same water at Malvern hostel; a peal attempt at Earl's Croome abandoned after an hour's ringing. when the conductor put the observation bell in the hunt; and a dip in the Severn. Sun and hills can be fatiguing, as was experienced when on the beautiful ride through the Forest of Dean, and ringing suffered in consequence. Perhaps those who met the party at Ruardean and St. Briavels will take this into consideration. Wisely, a rest day was provided with boating and swimming in the Wye at Symond's Yat, before a heavy' day on the Sunday. 'Merciless hills' was a telling phrase in the report, but there was a reward afterwards when Bishop and Mrs. Bevan gave the 16 members tea in the Vicarage at Woolhope.
'The happy wanderers' had visitors to join in their ringing: Henry Fearn at Hereford to participate in Yorkshire Surprise: Mr. R. Warrilow, sen., of Stafford, at Kington, and the Rev. E. G. Benson to ring Cambridge Major with them at Presteign. A crooked wheel on the treble at Staunton-on-Arrow provided amusement. With Leslie Evans and Wilfrid Moreton, six of the party rang a peal of Lincolnshire Surprise Major at Eardisland, and a footnote missed from 'The Ringing World' report was that it was the first minus a skirt for three and five! Not all the travelling was under pleasant circumstances. From Church Stratton it rained and rained, but 'everyone safely dripped into Wilderhope Manor hostel, the lonely, haunted manor house situated on the wilds of Wenlock Edge., The last tower of the tour was All Saints', Broseley, and on a beautiful eight there was a good finish with Grandsire Triples and a good fall, catching queens very well.

Summarised, "there were towers where we were usually made welcome, hostels where we were usually not; Hereford cider, country which was always changing, and good, varied company.?

Another of these ringing tours on the Editor's desk is one of Devon and Cornwall, supplied by 'B. B.' and' 'F. L.', which started on August 31st when two parties left Reading and Cheltenham and found their way, complete with bicycles, by train to Hayle. The Sunday evening's ringing was at Carbis Bay, with the Rev. A. S. Roberts and the local band, and also visitors from Coventry and York. At Helston on Monday, two of the girls were sent to buy food for supper while the remainder of the party made an unsuccessful attempt for a peal of Bob Major, which was lost after two hours through a miscall. Later in the day at Landewednack, the most southerly church in England, Peter Bond joined the party. Night was spent at Mullion hostel, a disused golf club house on a cliff top, and while the ten cooks were preparing supper, one remembered that the tomatoes were still out on the golf links in the rain, having been forgotten in the scramble to the hostel.

Cornwall is a county of saints. and there is a fascination to the reader at visiting such towers as St. Anthony-inMeneage. (an excellent eight), St. Gluvias (a reasonable eight), St. Gorvan (6), St. Ewe (a really good six) and St. Martin-by-Looe (a pleasant six). There were only two fine days in this week, and one of the memories was crossing Dartmoor in rain, wind and fog, to ring at Buckland-in-the-Moor. The report tells of the almost unspoilt village of Lustleigh, where the six bells require seven ringers-one to hold the spare 3 ft . of rope of the fifth and sixth! A really mountainous lane ending in a grass track and an equally mountainous descent of 1 in \(5 \frac{1}{2}\) led to Christow, where a ringer whose identity to 99.95 per cent. of our readers is hidden under the name of 'George,' rang in his 600 th tower and his 100 th this year. This was celebrated by his calling a touch of Spliced Minor. The tour finished with ringing for Sunday morning service at St. Thomas; Exeter.

\section*{SOUTHWELL DIOCESAN GUILD}

\section*{Newark District}

North and South Collingham were chosen for the Newark District meeting on September 21st. Ringing in the afternoon was at St. John-the-Baptist's, South Collingham, and at 4.30 the bells were lowered in peal prior to a short service of prayer conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. G. L. H. Douglas-Lane).
After tea at the King's Head Hotel the Vicar presided at a short business meeting, when a joint meeting with the Lincoln Branch of the Lincoln Diocesan Guild at Brant Broughton on November 16th was confirmed, and Newark selected for the annual District meeting on January 18th. The collection for the Bell Repair Fund was 11s. \(8 \frac{1}{2}\) d.

After moving a vote of thanks to the Vicars of North and South Collingham, Mr. Midwinter asked that a proposition be forwarded to the annual meeting that copies of The Ringing World " containing the secretary's report of the meeting be purchased by the Guild and forwarded to the Vicars concerned.

The company then proceeded to North Collingham, where many Doubles and Minor methods were rung up to 8.30 p.m. Several ringers also rang the bells of St. Helen's, South Scarle, during the evening.

\section*{THE NORWICH ASSOCIATION ASSOCIATION}

Thirly-six ringers attended the South Norfolk Branch meeting at Saxlingham on Septemher 14th, when the service was conducted by the Association's president (the Rev. H. G. Lillingston) and the lesson read by Miss B. Mutimer. The next meeting will be held at Thetford on October 26th.

\section*{THE LADIES' GUHD}

\section*{West Midland District}

Inclement weather may have reduced the numbers at the meeting at Great Barr, but the small ringing room was comfortably full throughout the afternoon and evening.
The six bells were rung alternately to Doubles and Minor in a great variety of methods. Contributions by ladies' hands were 120 of Stedman and a course (almost) of
A iervice was conducted by the curate, followed by tea provided by the parish.

\section*{Western District}

A quarterly meeting of the Western District of the Ladies' Guild was held at Malmesbury on September \(14 / \mathrm{h}\), when about 50 members and friends were present. Ringing was enjoyed in a wide variety of methods, from rounds to Cambridge Major and included an all-ladies' touch of Stedman Triples. It was a real privilege and pleasure 10 attend the service in Malmesbury Abbey.

Grateful thanks are due to Mr. H. Blacker and his helpers for the very warm welcome accorded to the Ladies Guild on this occasion.

\section*{HERTS COUNTY ASSOCIATION}

\section*{St. Albans District}

Harpenden was chosen for the September meeting of the District and proved to be one of the best-attended meetings for some time.
The Rector (the Rev. Peter Bradshaw), who came to Harpenden in May, said he was pleased to have taken his 'first-ever' ringers' service. Tea, which followed, was served in the Church Hall by the local band, and we were sorry that' another engagement prevented the Rector from having a 'ringer's tea'!

A business meeting followed, the District Ringing Master (Mr. G. Dodds) carrying out the duties of the secretary, who, unfortunately, had influenza. The chair was taken by Mr. S. Hoare, of Watford. New members were elected and the meeting closed with votes of thanks to the Rector, the organist (Mrs. G. Dodds) and those who had prepared tea.

Forty ringers were present and methods rung during the afternoon and evening ranged from rounds to Spliced Surprise.

\section*{GUILD of DEVONSHIRE RINGERS}

A quarterly meeting of the East Devon Branch was held at Stockland on September 21st: the attendance was small, there being just one or two from each tower. The methods rung were Grandsire and Stedman Doubles and Bob Minor.
The service was conducted by the Rev. P. L. Camp, and at the business meeting Mr. G. C. Woodley took the chair. It was arranged to hold the next quarterly meeting at Awliscombe on January 12 th and also a practice meeting at Shute on October 8th.

Replying to a vote of thanks, which included local ringers' wives, the Rev. P. L. Camp said how pleased he was to have the Guild meeting at Stockland.

The S0th anniversary of the first peal on the bells of Bourne Abbey was marked by a peal in the same method on September 21st. The treble was rung by Mr. Albert E. Larkinson, son of the treble ringer in the first peal. The peal was an 80th birthday compliment to Mr. Arthur I. Holmes, of Edenham, who rang in the original peal.

Three generations took part in a quarter peal at Cirencester on September 15th-Mr. F. J. Lewis, sen. (76), Mr. F. J. Lewis, jun. (44) and Master Peter J. Lewis (14).

Mr. S. J. Haines, of Wigston Magna, enjoyed his four-weeks business trip in Middlesex and Surrey. Through The Ringing World' he thanks the ringers who made him so welcome, and especially Dr. and Mrs. Neal Smith.

Mr. James M. Bailey, one of the Bailey brothers of Leiston, Suffolk, rang in the first quarter peal of his granddaughter, Miss Janet M. Bailey, at Dartford, Kent, on September 15th. It was Mr. Bailey's first quarter of Grandsire Triples.

Although Mr. Jack Myhill is a Nonconformist, he has been a regular attendant for many years at All Saints' Church, Springfield, Essex, to ring for Sunday morning service. A sure ringer and good striker, the band, on the occasion of his 81st birthday, wish him the best of health and happiness in the future, as in the past.
Because of the funeral of Mr. Clement H. Taylor, at Chelford, Cheshire, that afternoon, the Macclesfield Branch meeting fixed for September 14 th at that tower, was cancelled. The hon, secretary apologises to those ringers who turned up and were disappointed. Mr. Taylor, a life member of the Chester Guild, had been a ringer at Chelford for 70 years.

The Wayland Agricultural Show, Norfolk, was held at Watton this year on September 11 th. The show included for the first time a church stand, and in the morning, at the request of the Church authorities, handbells were rung by ringers from East Harling and Caston.
Mr. C. W. Cook rang in the peal at Harston, Cambridgeshire, on September 18 th , to mark the 20th anniversary of the first peal on the bells. He and Mr. T. R. Dennis are the only survivors of the first band. This was Mr. Cook's first peal since his accident in 1951. After the peal the Vicar of Harston provided a dinner for the peal band and his local ringers, who are being trained by Mr. Cook.

Members of the Dorchester Branch at their autumn meeting at Fordington on September 14 lh received with regret an announcement from Mr. J. H. Hayne that he did not wish to continue as hon. secretary and treasurer, a post he had held for 11 years, after the annual meeting fixed for January 18th at St. Peter's, Dorchester. The chairman (the Rev. S. P. Rowcroft) and Mr. J. W. Rose both expressed regret at this decision, but thanked Mr. Hayne for giving the Branch ample time to find a successor.
Subject to confirmation, a by-meeting will be held at Charminster in November. Fornnightly practices arranged by Mr. H. J. Ford (Ringing Master) and Mr. J. W. Rose (Deputy Master) are: Upwey, October 19th; Frampton, November 2nd; Wyke Regis, November 16th; Martinstown, November 30th: St. Peter's, Dorchester, December 14th; Buckland Newton, December 28th; Abbotsbury, January 11th.
The chairman thanked the Vicar (the Rev. E. B. Brooks) for conducting the Guild service and his welcome and address. The Vicar, in reply, said he especially wished to thank the lady organist and the ladies who had worked to hard to provide an excellent tea.

ONE of the four founder members of the Coventry Diocesan Guild, which is holding its 50th anniversary dinner at Coventry on October 12th, is Mr. William Collett, who has been a ringer at St. Mary's, Warwick, for 60 years. He is photographed here with the Rector (the Rev. Joseph McCullock) and the Mayor (Ald. E. R. Bartlett) in the ringing chamber where he has given such magnificent service to the church.
Mr. Collett's long service was honoured at a gathering at the Church Hall, Warwick, on September 4th, when the Rector extended to him the thanks of the church.

Mr. F. W. Perrens, president of the Coventry Diocesan Guild, said that young ringers could have no better example than Mr. Collett. Men might have rung more changes than he, but few could match his record of faithful service. It was men like Mr. Collett who were the backbone of the ringing organisation.

Previous to the gathering in the Church Hall a delightful ceremony had taken place in the ringing chamber, at which the Mayor of Warwick had, on behalf of the parishioners, presented Mr. Collett with a cheque, and said how delighted he was to be called upon to perform such a memorable ceremony. He thought such faithful service must be almost unique, and added his own congraulations and those of the Mayoress, who was also present. The band who rang in the peal on July 1st then rang a touch of Grandsire Triples. A peal board commemorating this peal was dedicated by the Archbishop of Warwick (the Venerable Malcolm Parr) and a framed photograph of the board was presented to Mr. Collet.

Mr. Collett, who is in his 80th year, is still a very active ringer and a most regular attender at all Sunday service ringing. In his thanks to the church dignitaries and parishioners he said that he owed much to Mr. E. W. Adams (who was at the presentation) as he had first taught him to ring a bell. He did not claim to be the oldest bellringer in the district. He said it had been a labour of love, and he hoped he would be spared to carry on for many years to come.

\section*{14,560 Yorkshire Surprise Rung at Loughborough}

\section*{Overnight Decision Following Illness}

On Saturday, September 21st, by kind permission of Mr. Paul L. Taylor, a peal of 14,560 Yorkshire Surprise Major was rung at the Bell Foundry Campanile, Loughborough, which is the longest peal in the method and also believed to be the longest peal on these bells.
Unfortunately, the Decisions of the Central Council concerning notice to be given in 'The Ringing World were disregarded, the facts being as follows:-

At the time when notice should have been sent in the writer was in bed for a week with an attack of influenza, and it was then that intentions of going for a long peal were abandoned, though the band still intended to spend the day at Loughborough and ring an ordinary peal there.

However, when the band met in Leicester on Friday evening, they decided that only a doctor's certificate would be sufficient to excuse the writer from attempting the 14,000 ! Accordingly we agreed to go ahead with the original plans and hope for leniency after the event should we prove successful.

Now that the peal has been rung we can only say that we did not consider it fair to alert the whole Exercise for an event which would in all probability never take place, and hope that the peal will be accepted as, at any rate, an unofficial record.

Accordingly it was in a fairly jocular frame of mind that we started at \(10.40 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}\). Missed dodges here and there are, of course, inevitable, but these were received with, if anything, rather an excess of levity, which, however, is conducive to good feeling among the band, desirable in an ordinary peal, essential in a long one.
- Rounds" was greeted by a jubilant blast on the horn of the car, where Ronald Edwards and Vivienne Horton had been sharing our suspense during the last few courses; also Paul Taylor, who later entertained a ravenous band to supper-much appreciated.

Besides this, our thanks go out to him for the superb arrangements at the Foundry (including a complete renovation of the ropes ' just in case'); to the Leicester ringers for a very pleasant evening on Friday; and from the conductor to Richard Speed for checking the composition.

Also, we should like to associate Bryan Pattison with the attempt-he was prevented from taking part by the well-known vicissitudes of Service life, but we hope to have him with us next time, as most of our appetites have now been whetted for more.

\section*{PIPE'S PILGRIMS' TOUR No. 7}

\section*{In and Around Wessex}

THHE Half Moon Hotel, Sherborne, was headquarters for the seventh 'Pipe's Tour, from August 4th to 10th. On the journey from Grundisburgh Green many of the party were picked up at St. Paul's Cathedral, and ringing took place at Fordingbridge, Downton and St. Thomas', Salisbury. At Fordinghridge the party met the incumhent, the Rev. Mr. Verity, a former rector of Grundisburgh, and his family, which was a happy reunion.
Monday's programme consisted of ringing at Huish Episcopi, Ditcheat, Evercreech. Shepton Mallet and Milborne Port. Some of us found the name of the first tower difficult to pronounce, and this gave others a little amusement. The bells are a pleasing ring, hung in a beautiful tower so typical of Somerset. Ditcheat, of course, needs no recommendation, but I wonder how many readers know the inscriptions on these magnificent bells. They are named after the Fruits of the Spirit: Treble, Love; 2, Joy; 3, Peace: 4, Long Suffering and Gentleness: 5, Goodness: 6, Faith: 7. Meckness: tenor, Temperance. Wc had an excellent lunch at Evercreech, accompanied by Mr. Harry Sanger, and afterwards spent a full two hours ringing on these lovely hells. The last two towers for the day were both old-style rings, and Milborne Port bells were not to easy to ring. During the day Cambridge and Yorkshire Royal were rung, together with Cambridge, Superlative, Yorkshire, Rulland. Bristol, Kent, Double Norwich, Stedman and other methods and also, not forgetting two ladies' touches. Stedman Triples and Grandsire Caters.
Gillingham was the first tower on Tuesday morning, followed by Mere, Lunch was at Frome, after which we rang on this rather heavy, mellow ring of eight. We were met by Mr. G. W. Massey, who then accompanied us to Trowbridge. We all enjoyed our panied us to Trowbridge. We all enjoyed our ring here on this very musical light 12. Two ring here on this very musical Maxt 12. Two rung and also Kent, Grandsire and Stedman, as well as some touches on the back eight and ten. Here Mr. E. E. Speake met us: he had travelled down specially that day to ring on this, his last 12 in England and Wales. After one touch he left to return home! After tea we rang at St. John's, Devizes, and Westbury, the latter being magnificent bells, and the belfry is beautifully kept.

\section*{A CHRISTIAN VIKING'S COFFIN}

Wednesday's journey took us towards the coast: Blandford, Poole. Wareham, Swanage and Kingston. Cambridge and Yorkshire Royal were rung at Poole, together with a course of Antelope Doubles. This latter was suggested because our lunch here was at the Antelope Hotel. The history of Wareham Church goes back to A.D. 700: to the same Saint who founded the church at Frome. Two items of interest were. firstly, the only sixsided lead font in existence, and, secondly, a stone coffin of an early Christian Viking, made in the shape of a boat. At Swanage the 'youngsters' (all under 26) rang a touch the five-spliced. There was time for a glimpse of the sea before tea. Kingston hells were lovely, better, I thought, outside than in. Double better, Ithought, outside than in. Double etc., were rung here, and afterwards a visit was paid to Lulworth Cove.
At Bridport, on Thursday morning, we were met by Canon C. C. Cox. He rang a course of Yorkshire with us. Beaminster was the next tower, and Crewkerne followed lunch. At both these towers were enjoyable bells. In the afternoon we visited Taunton. The party divided to ring at St. Mary's and St. James'. The 12 bells in St. Mary's wonderful tower proved quite a handful, as the movement is considerable. But we managed, and we were very pleased to have an opportunity to ring here. Our return to Sherborne was by way of South Petherton. This is the tallest central octagonal tower in England, and there is a ring of eight with the tenor somewhat flat! This is not so noticeable, however, when the bells are rung to Major. We arrived at Sherborne a little late, but there was sufficient time for all to ring what we wanted. These bells always give mc a thrill, and I thought they were improved by the loss of the counterbalance on the tenor clapper.

\section*{RAIN CHANGES PLANS}

Friday was to have been our day by the sea but the dismal morning caused us to change our plans. After ringing at Dorchester we managed to arrange an extra ring at Wyke Regis. Here the oldest possible hand rang a louch in response to the challenge set by youth at Swanage. After lunch at Weymouth we proceeded by the coast road towards Lyme Regis, and succeeded in obtaining permission to ring at Whitchurch Canonicorum. Tea was taken at Lyme and then we headed towards Yeovil. The tenor here is a truly extraordinary bell for her age, and the bells were soon going to Stedman and Cambridge.

Upon our return to the hotel a presentation was made to Jim Pipe and his wife for their kindness in arranging the tour. and also to the driver, who showed such a close interest in our ringing during the week.

Saturday was the day of our return. Before reaching Amesbury we ran out of fuel! So we arrived just when we should have been leaving, and we all managed to ring in one touch of rounds by swapping ropes after the style of an "excuse me " dance! Lunch at Reading was followed by a ring at St. Mary's. Then came Slough. where the bells are a nice light 10. and finally, after tea, Stoke Poges: we finished with a touch of Spliced.
The Curfew tolls the knell of parting day. The old red coach winds slowly o'er the lea. The pilgrims homeward wend their weary way. And leave the hells and G. and A. D. B.
When the coach left London it was again only half-full. They say that the last part of the journey is very depressing. I have never experienced it, so I cannot say. ' PILGRIM.'

\section*{PETERBOROUGH DIOCESAN} GUILD

\section*{Bishop's First Meeting With His Ringers}

A long-cherisher ambition of the Towcester Branch of the Guild was reatised on September 7th when it acted as host to members of the Guild on the occasion of the summer festival.
The day assumed greater interest and importance when it became known that the Lord Bishop of the Diocese would attend and preach the sermon during the usual service. The little church at Green's Norton was full to capacity and the congregation took its part and blended its voice with that of the choir, all being beautifully led by the organist.
The Guild form of service was conducted by the Guild president (Canon G. F. Turner). The Rev. G. H. Hales (Rector of Green's Norton) read the lesson. Also present and rohed were clergy from Towcester, Potterspury and Lichborough.

The Bishop spoke of his pleasure at sceing so many of the younger generation of both sexes taking up the art of ringing and urged them to carry on so doing all their lives. He said that sometimes there might seem to be an inadequate amount of gratitude extended to ringers for the amount of work they did for the church, but in reality the clergy were always grateful to ringers.
A local committee of ladies had provided a handsome tea in the British Legion Clubroom, which, however, could not hold everyone at the same time and a second sitting for a few had to be arranged.
There was no business to dispel the highly social atmosphere which prevailed, but the occasion was one of importance inasmuch as it was the first time that either the Bishop or the president had had the opportunity to speak to the Guild as a body. A warm welcome was given to both, who thus became known to quite a few for the first time.

Mr. Marris, Guild Ringing Master, in a short speech, thanked the many who had done so much for the day's success: the Rector of Green's Norton for the use of his church and hells, the choir and organist, Mr. A. Mansfield for all the local arrangements so admirably carried out, the local branch for the ringing arrangements during the day, and the incumbents of those parishes whose bells were at the ringers' disposal, and the towerkeepers who maintain them.

Towers open for ringing were. Gayton, Pattishall, Cold Higham, Towcester, Blakesley, Braddon, Lichborough. Paulerspury, Potterspury, Cosgrove, Passenham. Alderton, Grafton Regis, Stoke Bruerne and Wicken.

With one exception these are either five- or six-bell towers, and after tea the organisers of three buses checked up on times to avoid depositing 100 people at a five-bell tower at the same time. Happily, this was achieved and several hours of ringing were enjoyed. This gathering, if not a record for numbers, must rank very high as upwards of 200 members and friends were estimated to be present.

\section*{THE IRISH NUMBER}

Dear Sir,-Congratulations on your Irish number. Many prominent peal ringers are mentioned in the list of 'tourers ' who crossed 10 Ireland over a number of years, yet 1 was sorry to note the omission of a well-known gentleman who was not only a capable peal ringer but a keen worker for the Irish Association in its early years, viz., Mr. Alexander Tailyour, who was in charge of Lord Carysfort's estate at Arklow. Messrs. Tailyour and Washbrook devoted a lot of time in maintaining a half-pull. band for service ringing at Arklow, and for six years they had regular assistance from two members of my family, who walked three miles each way for practices and services. Two other members of the family also assisted during their frequent visits to Ireland, viz., my elder brother and myself, and during the six years (1904-9) I paid over 24 visits to the Emerald Isle, took part in but seven peals, yet I shall remember with gratitude the splendid work of Alexander Tailyour, whose quiet, effective and sincere service to ringers and ringing helped the Irish Association in its early days.-Yours sincerely,

WILLIAM SHEPHERD.

\section*{IN BRAILLE}

Dear Sir,-If "The Ringers’ Handbook ` (6bell edition) would do. Mr. Haythorne's friend should be able to borrow a Braille copy of it from the Students Library at the R.N.I.B. (Great Portland Street).
As the transcription was done by a member of our tower (Steep), need I say how pleased we should all be if this blind friend could ever come over and have a ring with us, as we live not so many miles away. (We have a nice and very easy six.) The only reason the 7 - and 8 -bell portion of the book was not transcribed also was because it seemed (to the sighted reader) rather formidable, since the changes have of necessity to be written across the page instead of down it ! - Yours sincerely,

\section*{Steep. Petersfield.}

Dear Sir,-Mr. W. O. Haythorne, of Winchester, may be interested to know that about two years ago I received a request from the Royal Institute for the Blind for permission to print "The Ringers' Handbook "in Braille. This, of course, was gladly given. - Yours faithfully.

\section*{NYLON BELL ROPES?}

Dear Sir,-Are there such things as nylon bell ropes on the market?
We have nylon this, that and the other but I've yet to see an advertisement for nylon ropes.
Would it be possible, or would they be too cosily?-Yours faithfully,

\section*{PRAYER BEFORE SERVICE RINGING}

Dear Sir, -When ringing for Evensong in Kingscliffe Church, Northants, early in Scptember. I was surprised to hear the Rector (who is one of the ringers) saying a short prayer before we raised the hells.
This custom might, with advantage, be repeated in other churches, I think.-Yours,
C. M. ORLEBAR.

Mayfield, Sussex.
Note.-We know of many churches where this is observed.-Ed.

\section*{A NEW TERRITORIAL ASSOCIATION}

Dear Sir,-Over a year ago a Society of Church Bellringers was formed to help the large number of learners in our district. Since our formation the Society has expanded considerably. so it has heen decided that the Society should now heconte a territorial association and steps are now being taken to do this.
As towers in Derbyshire and Leicestershire are affected we will be named 'The South Derbyshire and North Leicestershire Associa-tion.'-Yours sincerely,

\section*{THE NEW BEAT}

Dear Sir,-If the ringing of a syncopated course of Cumberland Bob on the recent Essex cycling tour was intended as an allusion 10 the striking of the Society of Royal Cumberland Youths, then I think that both the writer and 'the ebullient \(\mathrm{L}^{* } \mathrm{n}^{} 1 \mathrm{~W}^{* * *} \mathrm{~s}^{\text {' }}\) have rather misunderstood the efforts of the younger ringers of this Socicty to introduce a new rhythm into ringing. After all. the idea of a regular beat with a gap only every handstroke lead has by now been almost played out.
Despite opposition from many of the older ringers. who get the idea that we cannot strike properly, this new beat has caught on well and has left its mark on the hit parade in the wellknown 'Cumberland Gap.-Yours sincerely.

\section*{A ROUND TABLE PEAL ATTEMPT}

Dear Sir,-1 am trying to get a band together to attempt a peal for Round Table, but so far I have met with little success, receiving only three replies to a letter published in 'Ncws and Views,' the Round Table national magazine. This suggests that either there are very few ringers in the Movement or that Tablers don't read their magazine as thoroughly as thev ought.
In the hope that they may read 'The Ringing World more thoroughly, may I ask, through the courtesy of your columns, that any Tablers-or ex-Tablers who are interested in making an attempt should get in touch with me?-Yours truly,

\section*{BARNSLEY & DISTRICT SOCIETY}

When the Barnsley District Society met at All Hallows', Kirkburton, on September 14th. lowers represented were Bradford. Batley. Cawthorne. Darlington, Ecclesfield, Friezland. Huddersfield, Lighteliffe. Ossett; Shelley, Wakefield and the local company. The afternoon's ringing was from 3.15 to 4.30, when an excellent tea was served in the Church School.

The president (Mr. Noel F. Moxon) was in the chair for the business meeting, and proceedings started with an act of remembrance for Mr. Harry Haigh, of New Mill., who had been a ringer for about 60 years. The members stood in silence.

Two new members-Mrs. Cynthia Lockwood and Rodney Pagden-were elected, and New Mill was selected for the next meeting on October 12 th . The president moved a vote of thanks to the Vicar and churchwardens for the use of the bells. and to the local ringers for making the necessary arrangements. Mrs. Cynithia Lockwood responded on behalf of the local ringers. Good use was made of the hells in the evening.

\section*{OBITUARY \\ MR. PERCY J. DYKE}

The tower of St. Mary's, Reading, has sustained a severe loss by the passing of Mr. Percy Dyke at the age of 63 years. He collapsed and died suddenly whilst at work at the Reading Signal Works of the Western Region, British Railways.

Mr. Dyke, who was Ringing Master of the Reading Branch of the Oxford Diocesan Guild. learned to ring at Abingdon at an early age and was at one time under the late Mr. Edgar Humfrey there. He had rung peals in various methods from Double Norwich and Stedman Cinques. His genial character will be sadly missed by his many friends both in the Oxford Guild and elsewhere.
The funeral service was held on September 10th at St. Mary's, conducted by the Vicar, and the Guild was represented by the Branch chairman, the deputy Branch chairman and Mr. N. J. Diserens.
A quarter peal of Grandsire Triples was rung at St. Mary's on September 8th, with the bellis half-muffled, and a neal in remembrance was attempted at Mortimer but unfortunately lost due to a shift course after an hour and a half.
A. D.

\section*{MR. CLEMENT H. TAYLOR}

The denth occurred on September 11th, after a short illness, of Mr. Clement H. Taylor, aged 80, of Chelford, Cheshire. His devoted membership of this church included 70 years as a ringer, for 30 years of which he was tower captain. Though he seldom ventured further than Grandsire Doubles, he was a shining example in other ways. During his first \(&\) years as a ringer he never missed and was never late for church or ringing, and it was only failing health wherch forced him to miss more and more frequently during the remaining years.

Mr. Taylor was also parish clerk and a life member of the Chester Guild until his death. He was a chorister for 64 years, and at various times throughout his life occupied every possible church office, including sexton.

Of tha many ringers he taught five of the six who were bearers at his funeral were his pupils. After the service, held on September 14th, two courses of Grandsire Doubles were rung over the grave by representatives of the Macclesfield Branch, and on the following Wednesday a peal of Grandsire Doubles was rung in his memory by the Sunday service band.

\section*{MR. FRFDERICK SHINGFIELD}

The death occurred on August 2nd at his home at Rocklands. Norfolk. of Mr. Fred Shingfield, captain of, the Rockland All Saints company. Fred, whose health had been failing for some years and who had recently undergone several operations, was aged 72 years.
Although he was not a keen peal ringer he rang threc for the Norwich Association, which he joined in March, 1910. Fred was regular in his attendance for service ringing, and when the Rockland company ceased to meet he became one of the Caston band.

The funcral was held at Rockland St. Peter's Church on August 6th, and was attended by ringers from Rockland and Caston.

\section*{SOME SEPTEMBER OUTINGS}

BEXHILL-ON-SEA, SUSSEX
Mention has already been made in 'Belfry Gossip' of the Bexhill ringers being locked in the tower at Benenden during their outing on September 7th into Kent. The party of 23 included the Divisional Ringing Master and other enthusiasts from local towers.
Rolvenden was the first tower visited and after the adventure at Benenden, sickness in the village prevented Biddenden bells from being rung, but the tea at the Chequers Inn was excellent. Some of the best ringing of the day took place at Smarden. A church that will be most vividly recalled as the tour becomes but a happy memory is that of Little Chart. Built to replace the ancient church destroyed during the war. it occupies a new site in the village. To the devout churctiman and ringer it stands as an oasis in the desert of modern 'silent' churches around.

Darkness was gathering as we departed for our last lower, Frittenden, and as the final touch of Stedman Triples rang out the darkness was complete. So, too, was our day of pleasant memories. Our thanks go out to those tower captains who stood at their porches to receive us, and to the incumbents for so kindly allowing us to come and ring out our message.
C. E. V.

\section*{BURES, SUFFOLK}

Bures and Distrit's tenth annual tour on September 7th was into Surrey, necessitating a 6.30 a.m. start and reaching home at 1.15 a.m. Trafalgar Square and Piccadilly Circus at \(11 \mathrm{p} . \mathrm{m}\). were a wonderful sigh.
Towers visited were Holy Trinity and S. Nicolas, Guildford, Godalming, Farnham (where the bells are similar to the visitors'), Yorktown and Bagshot. A grandstand view of the Farnborough Air Show was provided on the Hog's Back, and at Farnham the company had the pleasure of ringing for a newlywedded couple.

Methods rung during the day included Grandsire and Stedman Triples, Plain Bob, Double Norwich Court Bob, Superlative, Cambridge, Yorkshire, London and Bristol Major, Grandsire Caters and Little Bob Royal.

\section*{TEWKESBURY DISTRICT}

For many ringers in the Tewkesbury District the highlight of the year is their annual outing in September, and this year's-on the 14thcame well up to expectations. Thirty-seven ringers attended and after an early start they travelled by coach to Bibury, where an hour's stop gave everyone the chance of a ring.

The other places visited were mostly ir Wiltshire and Berkshire, in unspectacular and pleasant enough country, and an hour's ringing was enjoyed at each. They were Highworth and Lambourn before lunch, Childrey and Buckland before tea, and Bampton in the evening.
The most rewarding halt was at Buckland. where the visitors were welcomed by the minister, and looked round his large and well-kept church (having an unusual south transept decorated with mosaics) before ringing what proved to be the best-going and sweetest-sounding bells of the day.

The outing was an undoubted success and. as Mr. T. Steward, of Tirley, pointed out in a short speech of thanks over tea, this was due entirely to the efforts of the Ringing Master of the Tewkesbury Branch (Mr. E. T. Newbury, of Beckford), who had chosen the tour, made all the arrangements and ensured that everyone had a fair share of ringing at each of the towers visited.

\section*{NORTH WEALD}

Ringing was confined to one tower when St. Andrew's, North Weald, ringers had their outing on September 7th, the party of 30 consisting of only 14 ringers.
Leaving home at 7.15, Banham Church, Norfolk, was reached at 10.40 . Ringing continued for 1 hour and 20 minutes, methods rung including Cambridge, Oxford and Kent Treble Bob, Plain Bob Minor and Doubles, Grandsire Doubles and Reverse Canterbury Pleasure. The 'go' of the bells was very different from that at North Weald: the fifth was difficult to strike According to a local ringer of years ago, when the bells were rehung the matter was reported to the bellhangers, who gave instructions to change the clapper round; this was never donc.

The rest of the day was spent at Cromer, and home was reached at midnight.

\section*{PRESTBURY, GLOS}

Prestbury, Glos, bellringers and friends had a very enjoyable afternoon and evening on September 21 st on the bells of Eldersfield, Bromsberrow, Dymock, Newent, Hartpury and Corse, having half an hour at each, with tea at Newent. Methods rung included Grandsire, Plain Bob, Stedman. Kent, Oxford and Cambridge; rounds were also rung at each tower for the several learncrs. Thanks are due to the incumbents for permission to ring in these churches, which proved to be of great interest to the non-ringing friends as well as to the ringets, who found all the bells to their liking.
C. R.

\section*{SHEPTON BEAUCHAMP}

Shepton Beauchamp ringers had a very successful outing to North Somerset and Bristol. Towers selected were Shepton Mallet (8), Clutton (6), Clifton (8), St. James', Horsefair (10), Wraxall (8), Yatton (8). Wraxall's were regarded as the best eight of the day, and Grandsire Caters at St. James' the best method. Home was reached at midnight. Thanks are extended to all incumbents.

\section*{TWERTON-ON-AVON, BATH}

The Twerton-on-Avon ringers, accompanied by some friends, held their annual outing on September 14 th , being favoured with sunny weather, which showed the Gloucestershire countryside at its best.
The first ring was at Dursley (8, tenor \(19 \frac{1}{2}\) cwt.), where the party were met by Messrs. Attwood and Chamberlain. An hour's ringing was enjoyed from the ground floor ringing chamber. Another pleasant ground-floor ring followed at Longney ( 8 , tenor 11 cwt .).
A good tea was provided at the Saracen's Head Hotel, Gloucester. Ringing followed at St. Mary-de-Crypt (8, tenor 14 cwt .), where three members of the local band joined in a touch of Stedman Triples. A course of Cambridge Major came round in grand style. At the last tower, Bisley ( 8, tenor 16 cwt .), the pariy were met by members of the local band. These bells have to be heard from the outside to be appreciated as an octave. as the two trebles are hung above the others and are almost inaudible from the ground-floor ringing chamber. The journey home was enlivened by some really good singing led by friends from Bristol University.
Thanks are due to the incumbents, to the local rincers who provided the welcome, to Mr. Leslie Barry for arranging the tea and the Gloucester tower, and to Mr. Roger Fry for his usual first-class arrangements.

\section*{YOUNG RINGERS' TOUR OF GLOUCESTERSHIRE}

A party of young ringers, meeting at Buxton, had an enjoyable tour of Gloucestershire. Between Saturday, August 17th, and Tuesday, August 27 th, they cycled 470 miles, rang in seven counties and at 64 towers. Though Treble Bob, Plain Bob and Grandsire predominated, also rung were: Little Bob (Minor to Royal), Stedman (Doubles to Caters), Cambridge (Minor, Major and attempt at Royal), 30 different Minor methods, 10 Doubles including Carter's and Erin, Double Norwich Court Bob, Superlative, Bristol, Yorkshire and Gloucestershire Surprise Major.

There were three peals rung during the week. The first was a handbell peal on August 18th in the men's dormitory of the Youth Hostel at Stratford-on-Ayon. The second peal on the following day at Childswyckham was memorable: it was in 21 methods and broke the 67 -year-old record of the Gloucester and Bristol Diocesan Association. A moderate peal of Little Bob Major was rung at Sandhurst. An attempt for a peal of Gloucester Surprise Major at Longney failed after a change-over and a miscall.

Among the highlights of the week were the 12 at Evesham, where Kent Treble Bob Royal and Maximus, Grandsire Caters and rounds were rung. By turning in the tenor to three leads of Bristol here, the Ringing Master fulfilled one of his few ambitions in ringing. At St. Mary's, Cheltenham, the party rang Little Bob Royal, Plain Bob and Kent Treble Bob Royal and their stable method on higher numbers-Grandsire Caters. At Stroud Mr. E. T. Newbury joined in three leads of Oxford Treble Bob Royal, the best Royal of the tour. But the tower of the tour was Painswick (12) with its spotlessly clean belfry and excellent bells, which were rung to Oxford Treble Bob Maximus, Double Norwich Court Bob and, of course, Grandsire Caters. Painswick Surprise Major failed after three attempts.

Here is a typical day from our correspondent's report:

The red sunrise on Friday forecast bad weather, and did it rain? In the morning we rang a ccurse of Norwich on the lovely six at the Cathedral of the Forest, Newland, then visited Staunton, another six in the centre of the church. Our first course of Yorkshire was accomplished on the fast-going eight at Monmouth. Then on to Ross, whose grand octave went best to Double Norwich, and Weston-under-Penyard (6), where we had a short but good ring. The Youth Hostel for the night was Mitcheldean, and again the wardeness gave us a lively evening. Ruardean (8) was the tower after supper, and the view from here over the Wye Valley was magnificent.
The programme on Sunday included service ringing at Tewkesbury Abbey, Worcester. Claines. Wychbold, Stoke Prior, Bromsgrove (for evening service) and Chaddesley Corbett.

After ringing on the 12 at St. Peter's, Wolverhampton, on the second Monday the party were kindly entertained to refreshment at a fellow-ringer's home. Later that day they were in Derbyshire, having grabhed Shareshill (6). Cannock (8). Abbot's Bromley (a minor five). Uttoxeter (8) and finally Dovcridge (5). The night was spent at Ilam Youth Hostel after plunging down a one in three hill.

Thanks are accorded to incumbents, youth hostel wardens for their tolerance and those who met the party.

\section*{DOWN ZUMMERZET WAY}
A. B, C, D and E decide to go for a peal of Doubles at a rather 'off the beaten track' 5 bell tower. All are members of a well-known ringing society (not affiliated to the Central Council), and decide that a peal of mixed Doubles will look well alongside the Stedman Cinques and Cambridge Maximus in the Society's peal Book!
D writes to the rector who resides in an adjoining parish, and who 'hopes they get the peal, will be very pleased to have them and if not away, will make a point of meeting them.' D also circulates a broadsheet giving details of the methods to be rung. Both C and E turn up at D's practice night to get a bit of practice in.

As the projected peal is on a week-night a 'near six' start is essential. \(B\) and \(D\) both finish work at five and can arrive at the appointed time without trouble. E, popularly reputed to do no work at all, always gets Wednesday afternoon off, and will no doubt get there first. A also leaves work at five, but due to the fact that his daily journey is by a combination of car, boat and bus, does not anticipate being able to get back across the ferry before 5.30 . However, when exhorted to sneak out five minutes early and drive like a madman along the straight bits, he thinks he can arrive by 6.15 . C, who has a motor-bike, decides to be picked up by A in case it rains.
On the appointed night, \(B\) and \(D\) arrive well to time and are mildly surprised that \(E\) has not forestalled them. A and C duly arrive (C having brought his portabie radio 'just in case we don't get it.' as the first instalment of the 'Nine Tailors' is to be broadcast at 8.30 .
A deadline of "before six-thirty" is fixed for E's arrival, and meanwhile E experiments with the harmonium which is the sole means of musical accompaniment in this lovely old church. So 6.30 arrives, and still no E. A conference is called and E's qualities of punctuality and reliability are emphasised. It is felt that perhaps these same excellent qualities do not attach themselves to E's van! After discussion. B departs to telepnone her brother to come for a quarter instead. This he agrees to do and will arrive in about an hour. Having let the bells down (it being an unlockable ground floor ringing chamber) \(\mathbf{A}, \mathrm{B}, \mathrm{C}\) and D then adjourn to the nearby 'Ring of Bells' for a late tea of bread, cheese and cider. The landlord's three bells hung over the counter are duly admired. Two of these are obviously of the "made in Birmingham" variety, and the other was at one time almost certainly a sanctuary bell.

Half way through an impromptu darts match the sound of a bell being pulled up is heard, and thinking that B's brother has arrived and is getting impatient, all hurry back to the tower. Upon arrival, they find a gentleman who turns out to be the local captain giving some instruction to his latest recruit. Explanations follow and it seems that the rector has failed to notify the local band of the proposed peal, and that they have all arrived for their first practice of the autumn. The 'locals, are insistent that the quarter peal shall go on while the visitors are equally insistent that the practice should not be upset. It is discovered that one of the local ringers has learnt to ring Grandsire Doubles while away at college and that another used to be able to hunt the treble. A very enioyable mixed practice then ensues until \(C\) suddenly remembers his radio and the "Nine Tailors.' Everyone present seems keen to listen to this. so with volume suitably modified to suit the ecclesiastical surroundings. all settle down to listen. All are agreed that, despite the intense groaning which occurs every time the bells are pulled off and the fact that the record peal mysteriously starts off in changes, the broadcast is very good. The bells are then quickly lowered after a very enioyable evening, to be rounded off with a social hour in the aforementioned 'Ring of Bells.

Not a remarkable story perhaps, but one which does prove that next to our Sunday service ringing, the so-called 'freemasonry of ringing, and the welcome accorded when more isolated places are visited, is perhaps one of the most pleasant aspects of our craft. The local band. who at the moment are not change ringers, all strike their bells and handle their ropes well. They are keen to obtain some change-ringing literature. and several back copies of 'The Ringing World ' have been sent to them. May they progress as they deserve to do.

\section*{WHITHER SHALL WE GO?}

The northern edges of the Forest of Arden meant cycling anything from ten to 40 miles on Monday, August 19 th, and perhaps leaving home at \(7.30 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}\). Such was the fate of the Gnosall and Stafford representatives who spent a day with Cannock. Handsworth and Walsall ringers looking for fresh towers in Warwickshirc.

The first ' grab ' was Hampton-in-Arden-a pity the bells are not as beautiful as the village. Grandsire, Stedman, Plain Bob: and we were consulting the programme, trying to dccide how to fill in a gap caused by Barston bells heing out of action. Honiley was 'discovered, and after numerous 'phone calls we eventually contacted the Vicar, to whom we are most grateful for letting us ring his splendid little five at such short notice.

Berkswell Church has many outstanding features, but none as outstanding as the organ in the ground floor ringing room, about four-fifths of which it fills! The tenor being almost hidden from. the fifth and very near one and two can cause confusion if not chaos, even in Grandsire Doubles.

A tour of Coventry's outskirts brought us to Corley, where we abandoned a towerless building as a chapel and could not find the church anywhere. The towerless edifice did, however, turn out to be Corley Parish Church, of unknown dedication, and then someone noticed a slight bump in the roof which, it was discovered, holds bells. The necessary pews removed, we had a real 'snatch and grab '-usually someone elsc's sally. Bells down, and another dav on new ground was over. "More, more, I prithee, more. S . H.

\section*{THE FOREST OF ARDEN}

\section*{ARCHDEACONRY OF HALIFAX GUILD}

About 30 ringers attended the Archdeaconry of Halifax Guild meeting at Mirficld on September 7th. The Vicar, who conducted the scrvice, thanked the Guild for their visit, and Mr. P. Birkett thanked the local ringers, the Vicar, and the ladies who had provided a most enjoyable ica. Miss Sheard the tower secrelary, replied on their behalf. Scveral members enjoyed handbell ringing before returning to the cower. Ringing included Minor on light and heavy sixes, Cambridge and Yorkshire Major arid Little Bob Royal. A good lower in peal at 9 p.m. concluded a succercful meeting.

The peal at Edgware reported on page 620 was Mr. Alick Cutler's 250th peal for the \section*{FARNBOROUGH'S MISSION BELL DEDICATED}

In connection with the Guildford Diocesan Guild Mission in April, 1956, the Farnborough (Hants) band planned to ring a quarter peal on each day of the Mission and also on the four 'follow-up' days. At the final practice the second bell split around the crown in almost two pieces and was held by a broken stay. The five bells were, however, rung for each service.

With the help of the Church Ladies' Guild nearly \(£ 100\) was raised for recasting the bell. The work was entrusted to Messrs. Mears and Stainbank, and the bell has been inscribed: - With thanksgiving for our Mission, April, 1956, Rev. Canon F. B. Hutchinson, B.A., B.Sc., Rector. Recast, Mears, 1957.' (The Mission, conducted by Canon Bryan Green, of Birmingham, was attended by nearly 1,000 people on each of the ten nights.)

The recast bell was set up in a frame by the ringers close to the font, where it remained for a week for the congregation 10 see it, and it was dedicated on Sunday, September 22nd. The captain (Mr. G. S. Joyce) requested the rector to dedicate the bell, and rang it three times. After the dedication the bell was handed to the officers for safe-keeping (captain : vice-captain. Mr. R. H. Mills ; secretary, Miss M. Finel: tower keeper, Dr. W. W. Wrightt.

The congregation of about 400 included 20 local ringers, the Guildford Guild being represented by Mr. W. Shepherd (vice-president) and Mr. J. Brackley.

The day after the dedication the bell founders hung the bell with the assistance of ringers as labourers, and it was ready for the usual Monday night practice.
The Farnborough ringers are proud that for the last six years at least they have rung without fail for threc services each Sunday, with two additional Communion services on High Feast days. There are always two pews reserved for the ringers at one of the Sunday morning services and they are always full. The church is always so full that unless the ringers reserve their seats they are unable to find one.

\section*{Meeting at Long Clawson}

The Melton District held a meeting on September 21 st at the lovely old church of St. Remigius, Long Clawson, in the Vale of Belvoir. , The bells, a heavy ring of five (tenor \(19 \frac{3}{8}\) cwt.), hung in a central tower with a long draught of rope, are rung from the choir stalls. They are a bit of a handful and only one peal has ever been rung on them. This was conducted by Mr. Ernest Morris just after the first world war. when the treble was rung by Mr. Willian Smith, of Turramurra, N.S. Wales, who was a native of Long Clawson.

Some good ringing was heard during the afternoon until 4.30, when a short service was conducted by the Vicar (Rev. A. Wilcock), who gave a warm welcome to the ringers. An excellent tea was provided in the School Room by the Mothers" Union.

After the usual business mecting the bells were rung again to a wide variety of methods, the striking being very good. It was a great joy to Mr. Edw. Tinsley, the veteran captain. to hear his bells rung in such a way and to be able to take part.

\section*{JASPER AND WILLIAM SNOWDON}

JASPER SNOWDON, second son of the Vicar of Ilkley, was born over a hundred years ago, rang his first peal in 1871, and rang his first peal as conductor (Minor in seven methods) in 1872. He was largely responsible for the establishment of the Yorkshire Association in 1875 and was unanimously made its first president, a position which he held until his untimely death at the age of 41 in 1885.

At the tenth annual meeting of the Association in 1885, held at Sheffield and attended by over 300 members, Jasper was presented with a travelling bag and an illuminated address as a tangible acknowledgment of his great services to the Association and showing the tremendous esteem in which he was held. Members left the meeting looking forward in joyful anticipation of their next gathering under their beloved president, due to be held at Rotherham in January, 1886. But this was not to be, for six weeks after the Sheffield gathering Jasper was taken ill with Russian influenza and, despite the best medical skill, died on Monday, November 16th, 1885.

Jasper had a fine physique, unbounded energy, and a genial and generous nature. His contribution to the cause of ringing need not be detailed here. His literary talent is well known and his valuable textbooks. revised or rewritten, continue to be a valuable aid to ringers today.

Jasper's tragic death was a severe blow to the Exercise, but the Yorkshire Association were fortunate in having his brother, William, to succeed him and finish off the work he began. William, aided by the Rev. C. D. P. Davies, completed textbooks prepared by Jasper and, with the help of his wife, continued their publication.

William Snowdon served the Yorkshire Association as president for 25 years. and was noted for his regular and punctual attendance for Sunday service ringing. He was a perfect gentleman and always held that 'ringing makes all men equal.'

In this spirit the Yorkshire Association will. on October 26th, 1957, at Rotherham, gather together for the 25 th time to honour the memory of these former stalwarts and other worthy past officers of the Association. In recalling the past. those attending will be reminded of the services rendered by present officers and feel inspired to devote themselves to the even greater tasks which lie ahead, in order that the Exercise may maintain its position in these difficult times.

NORMAN CHADDOCK.

\section*{A GAME OF CHANCE}
\(r\) WHIS is a humble story compiled by a humble ringer, but it is meant to show how items, however small, and arising out of chance, can be made very enjoyable. especially when you get kind and generous co-operation from the clergy - in this particular case a Devon country parson.

On a recent Saturday morning the writer received a visit from a colleague who, with four others, were on their way to a Branch meeting in another part of the county. A query was raised as to whether a tower could be procured on the return journey in the evening, and after selecting a country 5-bell tower as a possibility, and a suitable time, things were left at that.

It was nearly an hour after the suggested time that the 'wanderers' returned, and some doubt was expressed as to whether it was too late to do anything, but it was decided to carry on with the plan, and on the writer being taken aboard, the tower in question was reached in ten minutes. The vicar was first interviewed. and he advised us to see the local captain, in fairness to ohis ringers, although it was quite in order with him. The skipper, unfortunately, was not at home; on our return to the tower the vicar had arrived in person to give us access to the belfry.

Here we had a perfect rise, and a first-rate six-score of Grandsire Doubles was rung with the bells well up. The vicar afterwards remarked that this was the best half-pull ringing he had heard on his bells, but he did not think that half-pull ringing sounded very well on five bells only. Another six-score was rung with the bells a little lower, which pleased the vicar rather more, and then we had an equally perfect fall in peal.

All this was done in the space of 25 minutes, and we expressed our great appreciation to the vicar for allowing us to ring despite the lateness of the hour. It was certainly most enjoyable, one of the visitors remarking that he had never rung in a 5 -bell tower before.

We then dispersed to our respective homes, the writer having a lovely three-mile walk home in perfect moonlight, through country by-roads, not forgetting to walk through a private drive, across two fields belonging to a farm, and finally down a rather rugged lane - this on the whole being a perfect end to a week's leave. \section*{RAILWAY GUILD'S HAPPY MEETING AT SWINDON}

The autumn meeting of the Railwaymen's Guild at Swindon on September 28th was a very pleasant and profitable one, thanks largely to Mr. Bernard Kynaston and his Western Region.

The two lovely rings of bells at St. Mark's (8) and Christ Church (10) left nothing to bc desired; a splendid tea was provided: even the clerk of the weather was especially kind in providing a perfect autumn day.

Ringers came from York, Sheffield, Swansea anl South Wales, Bath and Devon, Bedford, Crewe, London, Wadhurst, etc., and were cordially welcomed by the Master of the Guild (Mr. Harold Walker) and later by the curate of Christ Church (Rev. D. A. Biggar), deputising for Canon Thomas (vicar). There was also a welcome from Mr. C. T. Roberts, principal assistant to the chicf mechanical engineer.
The Master of the Guild was pleased to sce at tea the Ringing Masters of the Gloucester and Bristol and the Bath and Wells Diocesan Association, and cordially welcomed them.
The four regional representatives - North Eastern, Western, Southern and Midlandgave reports. All said little progress had been made with the Railway Staff Association, but that there was to be a further meeting of that Association in the near future, when they were hoping that something tangible would be done. Eight new members (seven from Western Region) were elected and two confirmed.
The usual, but never to be taken for granted, omnibus vote of thanks was moved by Mr. Rodney B. Meadows, to all who in any way had contributed to a very happy meeting.

\section*{BEDFORDSHIRE RINGERS IN PEAK DISTRICT}

The Peak District was the area chosen by the St. James' Guild, Silsoc, for their annual outing on August 24th, and a glorious sunrise was no doubt the reason for all being assembled in the coach promptly at \(6 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}\). Thurnby, Leics, was tha firse stopping place, at 9 a.m.. and here we received a cordial welcome and rang the usual selection of methods on a recently rehung ring of six (tenor 12 cwt .).
It was a long journey to Matlock, but all too short in view of the marvellous scenery: Kent and Stedman were achieved here, and all agreed with the Rev. F. E. Robinson, who pronounced these bells to be a very tuneful ring. A substantial lunch awaited us opposite the church at the Kings Arms: then on through more of this renowned countryside to Wormihill, which we had some difficulty in locating-this towercollector's gem was well worth the trouble. We all enjoyed our brief acquaintance with this, the lightest ring in any church (tenor \(1+\mathrm{cwt}\).).

Difficulty was once again encountered by the map-readers, hence we were too late 10 ring at Hathersage : hut our disappointment was soon forgotten as we sat down to a grand tea in the Village Hall, The coach now turned towards home, and we reached Foxton according to schedule: here the bells are a good six (tenor 13 cwt.), and ringing was concluded with a well-struck course of Cambridge. A social hour at the Black Horse was spent in the traditional manner.

Silsoe was reached soon after midnight. Once again we thank Peter Lawton for making the arrangements, and all the ringers and clergy who made us so welcome in their towers.

\section*{MR. F. FARRANT}

By the death of Mr. F. Farrant, captain of the Martock ringers, the Bath and Wells Diocesan Asspciation has lost its oldest active ringer. He was within three weeks of his 85th birthday, and he had planned to celebrate that occasion by attempting a quarter peal, but it was not to be.

Until three weeks before his death Mr. Farrant was active in ringing matters. He had been a member of the Bath and Wells Diocesan Association for 57 years, and was for 32 years secretary of the llchester Deanery Branch, retiring from that office three years ago. He was a member of the Ancient Society of College Youths for over 50 years. During his life he strove very hard to promote better ringing and good fellowship. He will be missed greatly by his friends, not only for his ringing but as a man of loyal principles.
To his widow, who is 84 years of age, and his son. who is also a ringer, the sympathy of all friends is extended.
The funeral service at All Saints Church, Martock, on September 27 th , was attended by many ringers. The Vicar (Rev. J. M. Carlwright) officiated, assisted by the Rev. L. E. Walsh (chairman of the Ilchester Deanery Branch). The Branch Ringing Master (Mr. W. E. Turner) and the secretary (Mr. T. E. Setter) acted as pall-bearers with the two senior ringers of Martock-Mr. F. Strickland and Mr. A. W. Dyer. After the service deceased's favourite touch of 97 Grandsire Triples was rung halfmutfled by visiting ringers and the two senior members of the Martock tower. W. G. T.

Friends of Mr. W. Ridgman, of Cambridge, are probably having doubts as to his \section*{BELFRY} physical ability, having returned from his Devon holiday with severely blistered hands after turning in the 8 cwt.' tenor at Wolborough to Little Boh. This was an ernor and should have read 16 cwt . Sorry, Bill. - M.

Tuxford, Notts, bells are now ringable again.
After two ycars of uninterrupted Sunday service ringing the bells of Rye will be silent for five or six weeks while they are being rehung.
The peal at Oxford on September 19th was the 50th together. for Mr. D. H. Niblett and Mr. F. A. Barrett.

A peal veteran is Mr. G. Wood, of Queenborough, Kent. He rang in a quarter peal for his 86th birthday on September 19th at Queenborough.

After the peal at Hernhill, Kent, rung to commemorate the Patronal Festival, the Rev. and Mrs. A. H. Davies kindly entertained the band to a splendid tea, which was much appreciated.

The fund for recasting the cracked fifth bell at Publow now amounts to \(£ 120\). Another \(£ 180\) is required, and if any ringers can help will they send donations to Mr. R. Treasure, Pensford, Bristol.

The first peal for a new Association-the South Derbyshire and North Leicestershire Association, the formation of which was announced in our last issue-was rung at Alfreton, Derbyshire, on September 18 th .

The ringers in the peal of Stedman Doubles at High Littleton would like to thank Mr. W. J. Gait, the tower captain, for the privilege of ringing the first peal on the bells since restoration. By ringing the fifth to this peal Mr. Norman Coombs has now rung Stedman from Doubles to Cinques.

\section*{GOSSIP} World is a pair fureging (syikette-lined) rubber gloves. We do not know whether their purpose is for youth hostel tourists or for peal ringing by those whose hands blister.

Mr. Duncan McNeil and Mr. Richard Hobbs are the first West Retford ringers to ring a peal in their home tower since 1916.

Ringing friends of Mr. Cyril Pooley, who arranged the peal at Northrepps on September 28 th , much regret that he was unable to take part owing to indisposition.

Mr. P. A. Cannon informs us that he hopes to ring an even better pcal at Chipping Campden on October 26th than Mr. Geoffrey Hemming's.
Mr. Kenneth. Page stood in at short notice for the peal of Cambridge Surprise Minor at Blunsdon, Wilts, and rang his first peal attempt very well.

Miss Marie R. Cross informs us that the peal at Radley (page 621) was for the 53 rd wedding anniversary of her parents (Mr. and Mrs. A. Cross) and not the 43 rd. May the diamond wedding anniversary be similarly observed.
At Aldershot on September 28th the first peal of Wellington Surprise Major was rung. 'The peal is called Wellington,' writes Mr. Alan R. Pink (the conductor), ' not after the towns in Somerset or Shropshire or the village in Herefordshire, but because Aldershot is the home of the British Army and the Duke of Wellington is one of England's most famous generals. His name is perpetuated in the town in many ways and places. We have now added one more place-the parish church tower where, I understand, the peal will shortly be recorded on a tablet.'

\section*{More About the Youngsters of To-day}

T H
HERE was another splendid response to Mr A. W. Coles' third veterans reunion, held in London on Saturday, September 28th. Proceedings started with ringing at St. Lawrence Jewry, and there were many favourable comments on these new bells. The restored church was also much admired. Later came ringing at St. Botolph's, Bishopsgate, and after photographs, tea was served in the Fan Makers' Hall.
This year there were 45 veterans present. with an average age of 72 , and seven 'apprentices' (those under 60).
When the company were seated, the Rev. H. H. Treacher (rector of Bishopsgate) extended a welcome to the company. 'I hope things are going well in your personal lives as well as bellingers.
At the conclusion of the meal, Mr. A. W. Coles said this was entirely a non-society gathering, but there were certain things they had to do, and the first was to remember those who had passed on. There were six, and with one exception they were all over 80 . They were all composers or conductors.
The company stood as the following were remembered: W. W. Wolstencroft, F. Hayes, I. Emery, G. H. Daynes, W. T. Elson and S. Wade.

Apologies were received, said the chairman, from Dr. E. L. Taylor, Messrs, A. Walker, E. C. Shepherd, F. Cullam, A. E. Audsley, A. Mason, G. W. Price, H. Langdon, A. Peck, E. Morris, L. Attwater, H. Tomlinson, W. Bowden, W. Welling, W. Henley, W. E. Judd, T. Fowler, A. Cutler, J. T. Dyke, W. Bottrill, L. Fidler, G. Gilbert, S. F. Palmer, Long, G. Marriner. W. Hibbert, H. Baalam, P. Spice, J. Bennett. E. Barnett, F. W. Perrens and E. H. Adams.
Mr. J. F. Smallwood moved an omnibus vote of thanks to those who had made it possible. He mentioned first and foremost Mr. Coles, and they all appreciated how much he had done on their behalf. He thanked the Rev. H. H . Treacher for the use of the hall and the bells of Bishopsgate, and the Rev. J. F. D. Trimingham for the use of the bells and facilities provided at St. Lawrence Jewry.
He thanked Mrs. E. E. Davis for her impeccable catering arrangements, and her helpers, Mesdames G. Goodfellow. P. Dyer, J. Hooke, R. Coles, E. Sanders, E. Deal, R. Shuker and Miss Huddle. Also Miss Moore for pastries and assistance. For transport they were grateful to Messrs. G. A. Spencer, F. W. Goodfellow and J. W. Euston.
' On the last occasion when I had the temerity to say a few words, I was severely taken to task in "The Ringing World" when I said that the youth of our day was better than. the youth of today. I withdraw nothing. I said on that occasion that I thought the youngsters of today had a long way to go-that was a fair generalisation.'

\section*{- NOT THE SAME FUN}

I think you will agree that the young ringers of today are not getting the same amount of fun out of their exploits as we did at their age. If they do they don't show it. It may be that bells are easy to get. whereas in our day they were hard to get. We had to walk. cycle or train to the towers, and if we got 12 peals in a year it was a good one.
'I think one of the biggest problems we have \(t 0\) face is the problem of recruitment. In the north country they are very short indeed, and at Hull they have only three and at Beverley it is very much the same. Who is to blame? As old-timers, let us be honest and say, "Yes, we have not looked after the youngsters as we ought to have done." And the Exercise is paying the price. Those of us who can should get down to do something about this problem of teaching youngsters. It is important and everyone must help. I do not think the youngsters are appreciative of the ringing they get; if it had not been for you, gentlemen, there would be no ringing.'

Mr. Smallwood had a special word of greeting for Mr. Simkins, now 92, and hoped he would be with them to celebrate his hundred years; to Mr. Bill Langdon, who had passed the four-score, and Mr. Jack Thomas, who looked the same as he did 40 years ago. He hoped Mr. Coles now he was retired would look up his old friends and invite them to come along another ycar.

Mrs. Davis was called upon for a speech and said she thought it was time they invited a few veteran lady ringers-and there were some veteran ladies. It had given her helpers and herself great pleasure to prepare the tea.

Handbell ringing followed.

\section*{AN OLD COMPETITION REVIVED AT NEWBURY}
'IHE old brigade in the Newbury area will remember the Aird cup contests started by Mr. Malcolm Aird, of Woolton Hill, in 1922, with an annual competition for a cup followed by a supper. With his death in 1933 the contests came to an end, and later Highclere, the last winners, handed the cup to his widow, who retained it until her death two years ago.
The cup was then handed to the Rev. S. A. Culverwell. At his suggestion a meeting of ringers from Highclere, Woolton Hill and East Woodhay was held, under his chairmanship, at East Woodhay, and it was decided not. only to revive the competition but the clergy of the three parishes generously agreed to provide a supper.

The pattern of the contests to be followed would be the same as in the olden days, and the competition would take place on the front six at Newbury Parish Church. The former judges, Mr. H. Curtis and Mr. E. Crocker, are hoth dead. To maintain tradition, Mr. E. Curtis, captain of Newbury, and Mr. H. Reed, also of that tower, consented to act as judges.
With some trepidation, the ringers from the three towers met at Newbury on September 28th, and Mr. Reed, with his usual wit, informed tha company that all the bells had stays at the moment! The umpires then withdrew to the Church Room, numbers were drawn from a hat and Highclere led the ringing, amazing themselves and those listening, followed by Woolton Hill and East Woodhay.
After a first-class supper at the Hatchet Hotel, the umpires announced Woolton Hill as the winners by a narrow margin from Highclere and East Woodhay. The cup was presented to Mr. D. Maylin, captain of the winning team, by the Rev. E. W. Omerod, the chairman for the evening. Speeches then followed, Mr. Scott, of Woolton Hill, proposing a vote of thanks to the clergy for so kindly providing the supper and all who had worked hard for such an enjoyable evening.
It was generally agreed that the ringing had been of a very high standard and equal to that of pre-war days. This was very gratifying as the majority of the ringers were youngsters with no previous experience of Newbury bells.
It is hoped that this will now become an annual event. To all those districts of various associations who are considering the idea of a ringing contest, the writer can thoroughly recommend this one, as after the preliminary nerves, ringers definitely gave of their best. which is what every band strives for.

\section*{Mr. A. E. Sellers' 80th Birthday}

The autumn meeting of the Eastern District was held at Sutton-on-Hull on September 29th, and was attended by over 30 ringers from the District. A short service was conducted by the Vical (Rev. L. Reynolds) and an excellent tea was served in the Church Hall.
The vice-president (Mr. A. E. Sellers) was in the chair for the business meeting, when proceedings were opened by the secretary (Mr. H. S. Morley) moving hearty congratulations to Mr. A. E. Sellers on attaining his 80th birthday. This was seconded by the Ringing Master (Mr. S. H. Steel) and carried with applause. Mr. Sellers suitably replied
Miss Barbara Jean Fisher, of Sutton-on-Hull. was elected a member. Goole was selected as the next meeting on December 21 st . The usual votes of thanks were passed, and a collection for the Association's Bell Repair Fund realised \(£ 1\). Good use was made of the ring of six during the afternoon and evening, ranging from rounds to Cambridge Surprise.

\section*{THOSE I REMEMBER}

ONE of the old timers I remember was Charles Clarke, of Bedford. He was a frequent visitor to Leicester before my time and rang several noteworthy peals here, calling some of them. He was often called the - iron-lung " bob caller, because he yelled out loud enough to be heard at the east end of the church and would frighten many a youngster who did not know him. He was a great pioneer of six-bell ringing in Bedfordshire and district, having rung nearly 400 Minor peals in seven methods, conducting most of them.

In later years I met him at Brighton many times and rang in company with the late Keith Hart in some 30 or more peals. Charlie Clarke' had many mannerisms and when 'telling the tale, about ringing or arguing on kindred subjects he would wave his arms about, clap his fists and turn about to stress his point. Often when walking along Brighton promenade, talking, he would suddenly get in front of one and stop and gesticulate-much to the astonishment and amusement of passersby. He was a grand ringer, especially on heavy or bad-going bells. He rang close on 800 peals in most standard and Sirrprise methods from six to twelve bells.

\section*{CHARLES HENRY HATTERSLEY}

Another frequent visitor to Leicester-mostly on business trips but who joined in whatever practice night there might be- was the late Charles Henry Hattersley, of Sheffield. He was a typical 'fine old English gentleman. with his top hat and frock coat and elegant manner. When in Leicester he invariably stayed at the George Hotel, where he would have a showroom filled with the most exclusive and brilliant display of silver ware-salvers, cups, ornaments, spoons, cutlery, etc. He often called for me and showed me these wonderful wares and then got me to fix up some practice ringing.
C. H. Hattersley had a long link with the past, and he rang a peal with Robert Daft, whose records go back to 1811. His grandfather was William Booth, a noted ringer and composer. He rang about ' 200 peals, mostly composing and conducting them himself, and he had also a wonderful collection of books and manuscripts on bells and ringing. The late Sam Thomas organised these after Hattersley's death in 1915 to form one of the finest libraries of its kind in Sheffield Cathedral. The idea is a very laudable one and might be copied elsewhere, as at Derby. Birmingham and other places. I hope to found one here, at St. Margaret's.

ARTHUR R. ALDHAM
One who took part in Willson's long peals of Kent T.B. and D N.C.B. Major was Arthur R. Aldham-a big, hefty man and a most excellent ringer. He was a native of Ipswich and rang (at an early age) many peals there-including one of the few Oxford T.B. Maximusbefore coming to Barwell, Leics. He took part in my first peal of Stedman Triples, which was also the first on Barwell bells, as well as several others-ah most excellent ones. A. R. A. would not stand for any bad striking! He joined the old M.C.A. in 1888 and rang 71 peals for that Association, and passed away in 1917. He had a son, Percival Aldham, who was also a keen ringer, who rang over 100 peals in the Hinckley District, but who was unfortunately killed in a hoist aecident at his work in 1938. aged 32. I took part in many of his peals.

\section*{FAMOUS LINCOLN RINGERS}

As is well known, Lincoln has been noted for its famous bells and ringers for centuries, even as it is today. At the close of the 19th century there was a very fine company of 'Surprise ringers, but who-like many other bands - gradually dispersed to other fields. Such men included Craven. Lindoff. Fenton and the like, all making good wherever they settled. Arthur Craven, as already noted, moved about quite a lot, principally in the Sheffield and Chesterfield districts. When St. Patrick's Cathedral,

Dublin, bells were installed, William Willson was asked to go and teach a band there (with a permanent job thrown in!), but I believe Mrs. Willson was reluctant to leave her native Leicester, so he never accepted it.
However, Gabriel Lindoff did, and I need not here give any details of his great success in Ireland, laying the foundation of the present flourishing Irish Guild. As a ringer he was magnificent, but as a composer he had few equals in any and every method. Like John Carter's Broadshect of Stedman, Lindoff evolved a system for London Surprise Major that produces thousands of compositions. He composed the 18,027 Stedman Caters rung at Loughborough on April 12th, 1909, ringing the ninth bell to it , with Wm . Pye conducting from the tenor. I personally never rang a full peal with him, but we had a valiant attempt at Ashton-under-Lyne, when he came over from Ireland specially to conduct Kent T.B. Maximus. All went well for over two hours, when his clapper (the tenor) broke, and so ended a glorious failure!

\section*{A QUART OF WATER}

I mentioned above, Joseph B. Fenton, of Lincoln. He moved to Rugby and there became the leader of a very fine company which for many years was pre-eminent. His right arm was longer than his left, but didn't he know how to use them! He could-and did -ring any bell, -big or little, with grace and precision. I had the pleasure of ringing several peals with him-one in particular I remember at Wigston Magna (Superlative) on account of the excellence of the striking.

I also had the pleasure of ringing in the last peal on Rugby bells (Cambridge) before they were silerced owing to their bad 'go' (now happily restored). On that occasion we finished after \(10 \mathrm{p} . \mathrm{m}\)., and as there was no chance of getting any refreshment, I saw a sight I shall never forget-the 'Sergeant-Major ' (F. H. D.) drank a quart of water practically at one go! Later I had the honour to conduct the first peal in the other tower at Rugby ( 5 bells) and so was the first man ever to ring two peals on two different sets of bells, in two different towers, in one church. This record still holds! Joseph B. Fenton, of Rugby, has a worthy son of a worthy father to carry on the tradition, and I have had the pleasure of taking part in many peals with Joseph A. (do you remember Croxton Kerrial, Joe?), and hope to meet again many more times!

\section*{WITH WASHBROOK}

The name of Washbrook is so well known in ringing history it would be out of place to mention it here, yet I must add my own personal recollections of the few times I was privileged to meet this great man. One was at Manchester Town Hall, when I rang the third to a grand peal of Stedman Caters-on the original ten-which he composed and called. He rang the eighth, and in the band was the late Harry Chapman, Sam Wood, of Ashton, Cclr. Trippier (on the tenor), the brothers Page, Benjamin A. Knights and Washbrook's son, J. W. (jun.), with our old friend Dick Deal on the ninth. In my History and Art of Change Ringing, p. 544, I give a brief account and a photo of Washbrook.
After King's Norton (Leics) bells had been patched up and made ringable by a Mr. Rimington, of Manchester, this gentleman got Washbrook, Chapman and Trippier to come down and try for a peal. At the first attempt in February, 1921, after a quarter peal my bell, the second, cast wheel, set and refused to come off! Another try was made in March the same year, but after two hours Washbrook (on seventh) gave up on account of the bad 'go.' I remember his calling the bobs (Stedman) at the very last possible moment, and on Willson (who was in the attempt) telling him about it, he said he purposely did this to keep everyone "on their toes" ready to make it or miss it! However, after a lapse of some years and further repairs to the bells we did get a peal. This was due to the energy and enthusiasm of Albert Coppock, of Nottingham, who resuscitated the old Society of the Sherwood Youths. and he was determined to commemorate the 150th anniversary of their first peal on these bells in 1776 . Thus on December 4 th, 1926, at King's Norton, Leics, five Nottingham and three Leicester men rang a fine peal of Stedman. Since that time a few others have been rung here

Albert Coppock came of a ringing family, being a great grandson of James Coppock, one of the band who used to ring with the famous W. Doubleday Crofts, of the Sherwood Youths. When he had revived the old Society, Mr. Coppock visited and rang peals at places where the original Society had rung. He died in March, 1937, and had rung in well over 100 peals.

\section*{BRASS BANDS BEFORE RINGING}

Dear Sir,-May I, through your columns, offer apologies to any ringers who were unable to ring at Winchcombe on September 28 th , owing to the brass band contest? The meeting at Winchcombe had been arranged some three months ago, and the Vicar himself was not aware of the contest until he returned from holiday shortly before the meeting, by which time it was too late to alter the venue.-Yours faithfully,

\section*{A FAIR SNATCH?}

Dear Sir,-A few weeks ago some towergrabbing acquaintances of mine visited a small country church to "snatch ' the tower. As they were raising the five bells one failed to sound as apparenily the clapper was lashed for a learner. The way up to the bells looked extremely unsafe owing to a rotten floor, so they carried on ringing five bells but only sounding four. I should be very interested to hear the views of the Tower-snatchers' Union as to whether this constitutes a fair snatch.-Yours sincerely.

Sir,-In reply to your correspondent, Mr. R. F. Baker. nylon is strong, hardwearing and damp-proof but, unfortunately a marked characteristic is its extreme elasticity which, of course, makes it entirely unsuitable for bell ropes.-Yours faithfuliy,

\section*{A DAY IN 'HORTON LAND"}

On August 22 nd a black Morris, complete with its 'G.B.: plate, could have been seen speeding towards the foreign wastes of South Derbyshire, the driver and the four young ringers inside looking for a change of scenery and some fresh lowers.
Ringing began at Newhall: here we were introduced to Union, a method which haunted our driver, who therefore rang and brought it round at every possible opportunity. It was also 'brought round' at Ticknall, when No. 4 eventually abandoned Double Oxford: but at Castle Donington we changed to Reverse St. Bartholomew. We are grateful to the tower captains of both Ticknall and Castle Donington for not only meeting us but also ringing with us.
We were met, too, at Shardlow, another six, and accurding to the records rang Spliced Doubles(?). Perhaps we did-we rang some somewhere, and it certainly wasn't at Alvaston. where slow and stately obscure refatives of Plain Bob came round one by one.

The hest six of the day were undoubtedly Spondon, lovely bells on which we rang umpleen Grandsire Doubles before going into the city of Derby itself. In Derby we found every tower except St. Luke's, the ohe we wanted. However, a chimney-like edifice was soon espied, and the organiser warned the carload that one notorious Duffield lady would be there. Sure enough. there was Vivienne-all 42 years of her, and soon she was bashing the seventh for us in Grandsire and Plain Bob. But time pressed and we soon had to leave, having rung in eight new towers, seven of which were in Derbyshire. Vive 'Horton land.'
S. H.

Mr. George Baker with a friend. His many friends will join the Editor in wishing him many happy returns for October 14th, when he will be 90 years of age.

Despite his advancing years Mr. Baker still attends his business daily at Brighton.

Mr. Baker's contribution to the art of change ringing comes under many headings. Ringer, conductor, composer and as a mathematician in the field of extension he has made a worthy contribution to the advancement of the Exercise.

\section*{BEDFORDSHIRE ASSOCIATION'S OLDEST MEMBER}

On September 7th, Canon A. Rust, the oldest member of the Bedfordshire Association, celebrated his 90th birthday.
The Rev. Albert Rust was educated at King's Schoot. Ely, and Sclwyn College, Cambridge He took up the living at Husborne Crawiey upon his marriage to Miss M. Phillips in 1900. The church at the time was in a very bad state of disrepair and decay. In 1910-11, largely through the Canon's efforts, the church was extensively restored, the six bells rehung in an iron frame and the tenor recast.

Although he left Crawley to take up positions elsewhere. he returned to his old church again in 1926. In 1931 two trebles were added to complete the octave, again because of his efforts. He was for some time the president. and also the general secretary of the Bedfordshire Association of Change Ringers. In the late 30 s he was made an honorary Canon of St. Albans Abbey.

Both Canon and Mrs. Rust were very keen ringers. He still boasts that though he can no longer ring (he is now very frail) he could still do a long or short splice in a bell rope.

On September 8th an attempt was made for a pzal of Grandsire Triples. Before the start the Canon was brought by car to Crawley Church to meet the band and to listen to his beloved bells once again. The attempl was unsuccessful, but the band tried again on September 19 th, and this time a very good peal was rung: incidentally, the ringer of the treble was the last person that Canon Rust taught to ring.

Mrs. Rust died about two years ago.

West Dorset Branch
A touch of London Surprise preceded the Guild Office at the quarterly meeting of the West Dorset Branch, held at South Perrott on September 21 st. The service was conducted by the Rector (the Rev. P. D. Peterkin), who in his address on the life and work of St. Matthew likened him to a ringer, who was a member of a band working together and not an individual ringer. Canon C. C. Cox read the lesson.

The business meeting followed tea at the Coach and Horses Inn. Bridport was selected for the annual meeting on December 7 th .

The chairman stated that the 75 th annivarsary of the founding of the Guild had been well remembered in West Dorset: most towers had rung and a peal had been recorded at Corscombe and a yuarter at Lyme-the latter band hoping to try for a peal in the near future.

The secretary was asked to write to Mr. E. F. Brooks, of Beaminster, expressing the regret of the Branch upon his impending departure from the district. "It is to be remembered, said: Canon Cox, "that Mr. Brooks was in the early 1930 s secretary of our Branch, and that he is an excellent ringer and a good striker. and he did much to further method ringing in the Branch in its early days. Mr. Barrett said he had been introduced to ringing by Mr. Brooks, and knew the Beaminster lower would suffer greatly by his absence.

Canon Cox concluded the meeting by thanking the Rector for the use of his church and lower, and for his address, and arrangements for tea: and for the helpful presence of the choir and organist. He also welcomed the Rector to the district, and expressed the hope that he would soon be a ringer.

Members then returned to the tower for further ringing. Methods during the day included Grandsire, Stedman. Plain Bob. Doubles and Kent. Cambridge and London Surprise.

\section*{South-East Branch}

The autumn meeting took place at Calstock on September 28 th. About 70 members were present, representing the towers of Liskeard, Landulph, Linkinhorne, St. Ive, Lezant. Menheniot. South-Petherwin, Callington and Calstock.

Ringing commenced at 2.30 with most of the bands ringing before the service, which was conducted by the Rector of Calstock (the Rev. P. S. Gagg). The lesson was read by the Rev. E. M. Thomas, of Menheniot, and Mrs. Baker was the organist. Tea was served in St. Andrew's Hall by the wives of the Calstock ringers under the direction of Mrs. P. S. Gagg. Mr. H. J. Clark, of Landulph (Assistant Ringing Master and secretary of the Branch) expressed thanks to the Calstock Church helpers.

Ringing was resumed until 7.30, and consisted of rounds, call changes and Grandsire Doubles.

A pupil of the late Mr. Harold J. Poole, Mr. Brian G. Warwick commenced ringing in 1948 and rang his first peal on November 6th, 1948. and his 500th on August 28th, 195\%, In 1953 he was appointed organist and choirmaster at South Wigston. where he also became Ringing Master, and built up a band that has attempted to ring a peal nearly every Wednesday, mostly at the Loughborough Bell Foundry. Mr. Warwick has rung 98 peals at this campanile, ineluding seven times round the circle. In his first 500 peals he has rung 199 with his wifc.
Mr, Warwick has been hon. general secretary of the Leicester Diocesan Guild since 1956. His peals have been rung in \(11 / 8\) towers for 21 guilds or associations and with 396 different ringers. His list is appended:-

\section*{THE RAVING RINGERS INAUGURATED}

Eight young ringers, with an average age of 18, selected this title for their inaugural trip into Herefordshire during the third week in August, and they assure Manchester University that the term ' raving ' was purely coincidental. The party was made up of four from Gloucester and others from the Reading area and Slough. Travelling was by means of an ancient Morris, driven by Howard Oglesby, and an old Ford van in charge of Don Cose. Two members, unable to secure places in or round either vehicle had to take cycles, their stouthearted efforts being much appreciated. Gloucester was the assembling point on Saturday, August 17th.
Ringing on the first day was confined to Hampton Bishop, where with the aid of a formen ringer of this tower on holiday, a course of Cambridge was rung. After tea y Hereford, camp was set up for the week at Shohdon, near Leominster, on a site belonging to the parents of an Eardisland ringer, some 600 yds. from the nearest road and in a wood beside a small lake.
For Sunday morning ringing at Eardisland Mr. Leslie Evans kindly gave the party the ropes. A colossal blackberry and apple stew boiled over on the primus at lunchtime but fortified the company for ringing at Eye, where the Vicar and Mr. T. G. Cook, with several local ringers, gave a cordial welcome. Sunday evening provided the first tower in WalesPresteign, and after some good Major on this superb octave, the party stayed for service. Of Monday's programme, towers included the noisy six at Clunbury; Stokesay, with the church adjoining the Castle: Stanton Lacy, whero Miss Jean Hutlon led us up an outside stairway and rang with us in a louch of Cambridge: Ludlow, with its 137 steps to the ringing chamber, where 30 minutes ringing was enjoyed on this majestic Rudhall octave.

Tuesday was spent in the Bromyard area, and thanks are extended 10 Mr. Cooper and Mr. R. L. Price for their help at Bromyard. The day's ringing ended when we joined Mr. J. F. Fox and his abie band in a practice at Kimbolton. Not included in the ringing programme was when the road near Pencombe took a sharp dislike to the Morris, resulting in bruised craniums and the smashing of eggs in a paper bag on Noel's lap.

\section*{IN WALES}

Wedncsday was Wales day. High in the Radnorshire hills the light six at Llanfihangel-Rhydeithon were set going after a welcome by the Rev. T. Jones. At New Radnor John Cobb rang his first course of Cambridge, and at Old Radnor the bells were a good unspoilt Rudhall ring cast in 1724. Here the ground floor ringing chamber appears to have no windows or lighting, and ringing is accomplished with the door open. The inside has never been rendered or decorated: it is simply rock and mortar. At Kington we ascended with Mr. Owens an outside stair to ring a lough-going six. Mrs. Chandler met us at Lyonshall. another unspoilt Rudhall six.

Some skilful driving through country lanes brought us in time to Sutton (St. Nicholas'). On Thursday the peaceful serenity was shattered when Don twice caught his rope under a form, and another one collapsed under Roger. Withington's magnificent six were a joy to ring and voted the best of the tour. Weston Beggard was difficult to find as the church is huried deep in the hop fields. Stoke Edith has a unique church with no windows in the north side and no chancel. After tea at Hereford. came Tarrington and Lugwardine, where the support of local ringers was greatly appreciated.

Torrential rain on Friday morning - the first of the week-made us glad to get on the road in dry vehicles. Dilwyn, King's Pyon, Marden, Wellington (where there is a thriving local hand), Holmer and All Saints', Hereford (for a combined practice), were visited.

The first tower on Saturday was Clifford, where our ringing on the eignt was a great improvement on previous occasions. The day and the tour's official ringing ended at Leominster, where ringers from surrounding districts had gathered for a combined practice on the ten. On returning to Shobdon, a postmortem was held in the local hostelry before we trekked to the camp in foul weather. Two members preferred to spend a dry but uncomfortable and cold night in the car. Perhaps it was as well, because their bed spaces were like rivers next morning, our drainage channels being no success.

Five of the party rang on the 12 at Cirencester on the journey home. In our thanks to incumbents and local ringers mention must be made of our host, John Coates, of Eardisland and Reading University. P. T. H. followed in Pat Cannons footsteps by turning in every tenor of the tour ; and of the 319 bells that were set swinging, we were glad to record not one broken rope. Thank you, Herefordshire. If broken rope. Thank you, Herefordshire. If did, none will ever have cause to feel anything but at home.

\section*{EAST GRINSTEAD GUILD}

Traffic congestion prevented the East Grinstead Guild's 1957 outing from going according to plan. There was trouble at Horsham. where the coach was on a restricted road, and a policeman filled two pages of his notebook before letting the coach proceed. Thus we were late at Ockley and also at Shere, where an excellent course of Superlative was rung.

Arriving at that 'superb" traffic centre, Guildford, two policemen were unable to direct the coach to a parking place, so the driver dropped the ringers at St. Mary's Church and departed we know not where. Mr. F. A. Munday conducted us by the unusual approach to the belfry where, after getting used to peeping under the clock case, some good ringing up to London Minor was enjoyed.

At Shalford we found the local band ringing for a wedding, and appreciated the good striking. On the heavy cight at Godalming a course of Yorkshire was successfully brought round After an excellent tea at the Old House Cafe a move was made towards Lower Beeding. This meant passing through Horsham, and the driver seeing a - No Entry sign turned right instead of left and gol on ta the A24 instead of the A281. However, by taking various country lanes Horsham was avoided and the last tower reached half-an-hour late. We arrived at Tunbridge Wells ai \(10 \mathrm{p} . \mathrm{m}\). One day an outing will go according to plan, but would it be quite as enjoyable?

Egbert had left Little Taterfield feeling that the day had not gone too well for him, and as he proceeded on his journey it occurred to him that the week had not been too good either. He had been involved in several arguments with some of his mates at the depot and had fallen foul of at least one N.C.O. They were a wretched lot, he thought: people who could see littic beyond the ends of their noses and given to muddled thinking. He wished he had been posted to a station with a better crowd, hut it never occurred to him that the present bunch he was with were probably a very good cross-section of the Services generally, and that he would not be any better off if he had been posted elsewhere. From which it may be inferred that egotism was not unconnected with some of his troubles. He was still feeling rather badly the effects of the drubbing he had taken at the 'Ring of Beef' at Little Taterfield, and decided that he must he more careful another time before getting irvolved in abstruse discussions with hidebound dogmatists, as he mentally labelled them. He was, of course. allogether wrong. That was the very last charge that could be made against those two men. They knew their suhject and had proved their contentions up to the hilt, but poor Egtert could not take it. They did a lot of research work themselves and were always on the alert for anything fresh that might come to light, in addition to which they were ready to impart their results and conclusions 10 anyone interested enough to ask. Esotericism found no place with them. It was yet to be borne home to Egbert that so far he did not ' know all about is.' and in that lack a lot of his troubles had their source.

There was, however, more trouble in store for him this night, due to something very different. About five miles out of Little Taterfield he collected a punctured front tyre. As the machine did not possess a repair oulfit and he seemed to be miles from anywhere, he decided he would have to walk the rest of the way. Something akin to self-pity now asserted itself, being another of his qualifications on the minus side. This would mean that he could not be back at his station before midnight, which might involve him in furtner difficultics. It did, and of course the N.C.O. concerned had to be the one with whom Egbert had had a difference of opinion earlier that same week. 'Talk about gremlins.' he growled to himself as he made his way disconsolately 10 his hut, ' now I am for it again.'
During the week which followed Egbert's mind was occupied with the possibilities of more 'tower-grabbing,' since he was expecting more tower-grabying, since he was on leave by the end of that month. He had already been in touch with two or three possible sources hut so far had drawn a hlank. He was endeavouring to steer clear of trouble as he did not want anything to prejudice his chances, but he found it very hard going. Someone always seemed to have a down on him these days, but after a week or two he hegan to feel that his effort had been worth while since things appeared definitely to be running a little more smoothly for him, and he was within measurable distance of getting out of the 'doghouse.

Thus, when he received word that there was a place for him in a peal-ringing tour, his spirits began to risc. Not that, strangely enough. he particularly wanted a peal-ringing tour. He would far rather nave gone on a " tower-grabbing ' jaunt, such as he had enjoyed last year when he had heen probably the best ringer and the party, and had had no difficulty in getting his opinions चiccepted, as well as collecting tar more towers than he could reasonably expect to do on the tour at present in prospect. However, it was the best available. and he decided to go. He would be careful not to risk a repecition of what had occurred at Little Taterfield, but this set him thinking. never a bad thing, and he decided to get busy with pencil and paper.

\section*{VILLAGE OCCASION}

THE village of Whitnash is a village no longer. The clumsy hand of progress has been laid heavily upon it, to thrust it forward ruthlessly into another age. Old roads are vanishing, new roads are appearing, enclosures are broken open and the ancient bricks of shattered walls and fallen houses are rising upon one another to build the bounds of the new footpaths and carriageways. In some measure the new is growing out of the old, and for better or worse a new landscape is swallowing up the quiet habitations of a former Warwickshire community.

And yet the old is still strong. The sturdy village church, standing firm above Norman foundations that are (so the experts say) immutable, and steadfast as they were eight hundred years ago, looks out upon the vast trunk of a magnificent elm, brought down now to noble ruin by the passing of centuries, but still living, and green with another year's virility.

The garment of the harvest festival was on the church, and the pulpit was a purple mist of Michaelmas daisies, broken here and there by the stout brilliance of the 'redhot pokers' standing erect in all their importance. We found the bell ropes in the little vestry where the neat array of the choirboys' cassocks and collars suggested a row of these lads demurely hiding their heads. On the opposite wall a framed portrait showed the ringers and their Rector, a handful of grown-ups, seven or eight girls and a similar number of young men. and in the middle a sprightly, trim, alert gentleman of ninety-two; and it was to honour his birthday that we had come from various parts of the county. For Mr. Hauley, despite his great tale of years, was tutor to these young people. He had taught them to ring. He had taught them according to his own simple faith: that their ringing was an act of worship and part of their Christian witness, and that it should be so long as they pulled a rope; and in token of this he himself still rang with them even as he still sang in the choir.

He rang with us for a short time, and his hand was steady on the sally, his striking was even and constant, and his eye was bright with the joy of his exercise. And it was borne in on all of us that ringing with him was a great pleasure and privilege. The quarter peal of Cambridge that we struck off to honour his birthday passed all too quickly in this delightful little ringing chamber, genial with its company and melodious with these sweet bells. He had told us that he looked upon this ringing as the ringing out of the old and the ringing in of the new; but if this were so it was equally clear that the old would never be lost, for in this tower, at any rate, it was not only the inspiration but also the very fundamental of the new.

Tea in the village hall is a true village institution. There is the vast teapot, swelling with its own importance, and stoutly and inexhaustibly dispensing hospitality, and perspiring in its efforts; there are the sandwiches (two kinds, cheese rather plain and prim, tomato flaunting its scarlet invitingly from verdant leaves of lettuce); curious little rolls, small jam tarts with dabs of cream, and the large round family cakes, already cut and ready to be handed round. And behind all, the brisk busy ladies coming and going so as to obscure for the most part a background figure busy at a stove and a sink. It is clearly a labour of love, and we respond nobly, the Rector falling to manfully, ably supported by all of us and assisted in no light degree by another appetite unimpaired by the weight of ninety odd years.

So, after some quiet ceremony of speeches, spoken from the heart with simplicity and sincerity we came forth from the hall to where the fine old cottages of timber and thatch mingled with the trim houses of today, and once again we could marvel at the good fortune that was ours in being allowed to assist at this birthday.

Sunset came serene and calm this day, a vast saffron sea flooding the wide spaces of the west, and spreading a glory behind the woods and hedgerows of Rowington. Here the day was moving tranquilly to its close, still full of beauty and vigour. and casting a measure of its glory across to the eastern sky where the young morrow in due course would arise.
E. C. S.

Editor: T. W. White,

Mr. F. Shorter, who was a member of the Sunday service band at St . Lawrence Jewry in pre-war days, had the privilege of calling the first Sunday service quarter on these beautiful new bells on September 29th. The occasion was the annual service of the City of London Branch (Women's Section) of the British Legion. The quarter of Grandsire Triples was rung by: M. Oaksheft 1, G. Parsons 2, A. Lewry 3, J. Cook 4, W. Wilson 5, F. Shorter 6, J. Euston 7, E. Talbot 8.

There has been a change in the officers of Reading University Socicty. Miss Lucy Allen is the new Master and Miss Mary Russell the new secretary.

Ringers of St. Peter's Society, Brighton, are warm in praise of the reserved rail accommodation provided on their outing to Loughborough. The experiment was a great success, writes the hon. secretary, Mr. A. W. Bond.

Rotherham belfry has now been redecorated and the handsome peal boards brought up to date, a gesture that will be appreciated by visitors on the occasion of the Snowdon Dinner on October 26 th.

At the antual meeting of St. Thomas' Church, Stourbridge, bellringers on September 26 th it was brought to notice by Mr. F. V. Nicholls (leader of the band) that three of its present members had been elected to Ringing Masterships during the past year. Those honoured were: Mr. F. B. Cookson (Master, Cambridge University Guild), Mr. P. W. Webb (Ringing Master, Birmingham University Society) and Mr. J. G. Pusey (Ringing Master, Winchester College Society). It must be almost unique that three ringers from one band should hold these positions simultaneously, and Mr. Nicholls felt that credit was due to the local band of ringers.

Mr. Bill Hewitt, of St.

\section*{GOSSIP.} turned to St. George's, Camberwell, where he first learned to ring a bell, to conduct the local band in a quarter peal on September 29th. Bill says the bells are not going so well these days as they did in the distant past, when they rang well-struck stoney. It is hoped that money will be found to improve the 'go' of the bells and that in future it will not be such hard work for the ringers. However, having broken the ice, the band hope to ring many more quarters with him.

Aldrington (Sussex) ringers heartily congratulate the Keymer band on their recent peal success.

There was a large gathering at the Canterbury District annual meeting on Satorday, when Mr. B. J. Luck was presented with a testimonial and a cheque in recognition of 21 years as District secretary.

The first peal has been rung at Corsham, Wilts, a melodious ring with one of the noisiest of ringing chambers. The band would like to associate with the peal Mr. Harry Prout, who until lately was fower captain and who took part in an earlier attempt and also the only quarter peal rung on the bells.

Although Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Chapman, now of Canterbury, were married last June, a peal in honour of the event has proved very elusive. They returned to Handsworth, Yorks, for a short visit and to recollect how peals should be rung!

The band who rang the silent peal of Stedman at Ewell, Surrey, on October 5th, are grateful to Mr. Albert J. Adams for umpiring the peal, which they claim as the first silent peal for the Surrey Association, in the certain knowledge that they will soon know if it was not so.

\section*{UNIVERSITY OF LONDON SOCIETY}

Summer Tour on Norfolk Broads

T
I'HE annual summer tour of the Sociely was held in Norfolk from Sept. 7th to the 15 th . It was decided that in view of the location of the area to be covered the Society should forsake its usual form of vehicular transport and take to the water. As a result three large motor cruisers were chartered for the week, and on Saturday, the 7 th, after ringing at Bungay and Beccles, members and their friends, wives and other appendages descended upon the relative calm of Oution Broad.

The vessels, named Braemar I, Merlin I and Merlin II., were taken over by their captains, John Armstrong, Denis Layton and Alan Thirst respectively. Whilst provisions were taken aboard, the owners of the vessels gave brief instructions to the crews upon the handling of the vessels. By 6 p.m. the fleet was under way bound for Somerleyton in line astern. This was virtually the only occasion when the vessels were all seen together in an orderly manner in daylight.
As the crews worked, ate, lived and slept on board their own particular vessel, a noticeable characteristic of the tour soon became apparent. On previous occasions the whole party has invariably been together throughout the week, but this year the party was necessaridy split into three groups. It is therefore difficult for any one member of the Society to give a coherent account of the whole tour. As the writer was on board Braemar this is necessarily an account of the tour as seen by a member of the crew of one vessel.
Aker dinner, the first meal served aboard (a precedent of innumerable excellent meals which followed throughout the week despite cramped conditions) all crews tentatively explored the shore, establishing the position of the local hostelry in record time. Upon returning to the boats for the night, a number of complications which were to be felt for the remainder of the week became apparent. There were those present of precise habits and varying hours of retirement. The two members allocated sleeping accommodation in the saloon were introduced to the problem of persuading recalcitrant coffee addicts to leave the saloon before \(1 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}\).
On Sunday morning those aboard Braemar emerged bright rather than early to find the crews of the Merlins returning from church. The party split for morning service ringing so that both Somerleyton and Haddiscoe were given the benefit of our presence.
The fleet proceeded to Reedham, where lunch was served, and ringing took place on the light five in the afternoon. On returning to the river we were treated to the spectacle of a collier of considerable proportions attempting to remove Reedham swing-bridge. It was a reassuring sight as the crews realised that even professional sailors make mistakes.

\section*{B.B.C., RECORDINGS}

Moorings for the night were found at Yarmouth Yacht Station, and a meal was provided in Merlin I. On Monday morning the unlimited hot water and other facilities provided by the Yacht Station were greatly appreciated -a deceptively pleasant start to a momentous day. Acle was reached before lunch, where we were greeted by a B.B.C. Recording Unit, clamouring for yet another interview with our worthy president. A respectable course of London was also recorded as a background to this talk.
Before lunch a high wind materialised, whereupon Braemar's rudder ceased to function in midstream. As a repair of this useful fitting was vital, an engineer was summoned from Oulton, whilst the majority of Braemar's crew were taken aboard Merlin II. for the journey to Ludham.

Two hours later those aboard Merlin II., hastening up the Thurne, came upon Merlin 1. neatly transfixed by the bows of a yacht. The only consolation to the crew of the unfortunate cruiser was the news that they were the intrepid yachtsmen's third victims that afternoon. Merlin I. was also provided with forced draught ventilation for the rest of the week. Eventually both Merlins reached Ludham, where the heavy five were rung rather ineffectively until the lasł touch. Before leaving Ludham the crew of Merlin I. learned that bilges were meant to be pumped, a fact which no doubt added to their comfort as the week progressed.

Braemar rejoined the Merlins at Potter Heigham. Whilst awaiting pilotage under the notorious bridge our president's recorded voice

\section*{Another Active Ringer of 92}

By invitation of the members of Whitnash (Warwickshire) Church tower, six leading ringers met at St. Margaret's Church, Whitnash, on October 5th, 10 celebrate the 92nd birthday of Mr.
Frederick Hauley, who is believed to be one of Britain's oldest active ringers.
Mr. Hauley, of Hitcham Road, Leamington, has been a ringer for 76 years mington, has been a ringer for 76 years
-first in his native Buckinghamshire, then at Leamington, and for many years at Whitnash.
He had recovered from Asian 'flu in time to be present for the quarter peal of 1.296 Cambridge Surprise Minor, rung in his honour by the following band: in his honour by the following band:
\(W\). Collett (78) (Warwick) 1,H.C. Burt (Leamington) 2, E. C. Shepherd (Solihull) 3, W. J. Vann (Rugby) 4, A. H. Beamish (Chilvers Coton) (cond.) 5, T. L. Garner-Hayward (Coventry) 6.

Mr. Hauley had the pleasure of ringing in a short touch of Grandsire before the quarter peal. He sill rings with the team each Sunday before taking his place in the choir. Before retiring recently he trained the present band of Whitnash girl ringers.
[Note-Mr. F. V. Sinkins, of St. Leonard's, Streatham, who is also 92, still rings in short touches.-Ed.]
was to be heard on the Midland Home Service. The journey to Somerton across Martham Broad was accomplished by nightfall, and after dinner the majority of the crews undertook a scemingly endless walk to Winterton (and back!).

\section*{PEAL AT NORWICH}

All craft were under way by \(6.30 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}\). on the Tuesday so as to catch low water at Potter Heigham Bridge, after which a leisurely journey to Wroxham ensucd. After a quick visit to the six at Wroxham, public transport was utilised for the journey to Norwich. Here ten members rang a peal of Stedman Caters at St. Peter Mancroft, whilst the remainder of the party further diverted the population of the city by ringing two quarter peals at St. John de Sepulchre's and St. George Colegate.

On the Wednesday the upper reaches of the Bure were explored and ringing and lunch were to he had at Coltishall. A pleasant day enticed some members to take to the water with and without sailing dinghies in Wroxham Broad. One member succeeded in capsizing Braemar's dinghy and was discouraged from further anti-social activities by being wrapped in a wet sail.

An attempt to take a cine-film of the fleet under way was sabotaged by a yacht, whose crew seemed to have a warped sense of humour. They later paid for their sins when Merlin II.'s garbage was accidentally emptied upon them. upon them.

Moorings for the night were taken on Ranworth Broad, where, after ringing and refreshment, a party was given aboard Braemar to the dismay of those destined to sleep in the saloon. As all the vessels were moored abreast, an unpleasant storm did not cause undue dismay.

The weather continued to deteriorate and on Thursday Barton Broad was reached in a rainstorm. Ringing took place at Catfield and the evening was spent at Stokesby, where Merlin II. provided hospitality for the evening.

Friday, the 13 th, heralded a half gale and Yarmouth Yacht Station was reached before breakfast. Low temperatures and high winds lowered morale, and rescue work on yachts in distress was undertaken by the Merlins on Breydon Water. A tower-snatching party met with little success. Braemar lost an argument with a bridge but later her superior weight caught the dinghy a crushing blow. Ted Chapman's timely arrival at teatime (comolete with wife) restored morale, and ringing was arranged at Pakefield and Lowestoft. Braemar's brige party was subscquently sabotaged, and the last night afloat was spent at anchor in Oulton Broad.

\section*{A LUXURIOUS EVENING}

On Saturday morning the vessels were returned to their owners and the crews hastily departed before the full measure of damage could be ascertained. The accent was placed on ringing, and the Pulhams, Redenhall, Diss and Wymondham werc visited. On Saturday evening the Society installed itself in the Beil Hotel in Norwich and spent a luxuriously lazy evening in dining room and bar.

After Sunday service ringing at St. Giles \({ }^{\wedge}\) and St. Peter Mancroft (of which the least said the better) lunch was taken at the Bell, and members began to redistribute themselves over the British Isles.

Little mention has been made of ringing so far. It is certainly true to say that it occupied a far less proportion of the time than ever before, and consequently was of a lower standard. Rarely did all crews arrive at a tower at the same time and little serious ringing was achieved.

Vicwed in retrospect, several vivid impressions remain of this remarkable tour-horribly early mornings, the swabbing of decks in cold winds, unpredictably large appetites and a state of physical exhaustion by breakfast time, which late nights did little to assuage.

In conclusion the Society's thanks must be expressed to Nolan Golden, Ted Chapman and the Master-John Armstrong-without whose arrangements the tour could not have taken place.

\section*{WEDDINGS AT KNEBWORTH}

The beils at Kncbworth have recently been rung by members of the Hertford County Association to two peals by way of compliment to members of the Sunday service band who have been married at the Parish Church.

On August 17th the wedding of Mr . Peter Wells to Miss Maureen Moore was the occasion for a peal of Plain Bob Major, and a peal of Yorkshire Surprise Major on September 14 th followed the marriage earlier that day of Miss Barbara Marks to Mr. Louis Baycock, a ringer at North Mymms.

Mr. Peter Wells is towerkeeper at Knehworth and by setting up his new home in nearby Stevenage he hopes to continue in that capacity.

Mr. and Mrs. Baycock, however, have moved from the district and will reside at 36 , Merton Mansions, West Wimbledon, S.W. 20.

\section*{KENT COUNTY ASSOCIATION}

\section*{Ashford District Has 174 Members}

The annual meeting of the Ashford District took place in their home town on October 5th. The service was conducted by the Vicar (Canon N. M. Granville Sharpe). Mr. Garner was organist and Mr. J. Willis read the lesson.
Some 50 members and friends sat down to an excellent tea served by members of the Mothers' Union. At the business meeting, under the chairmanship of Mr. Willis, Mr. J. R. Cooper and Mr. C. T. Hillis were re-elected as Ringing Master and secretary respectively, and Miss Maisie Vantom and Mr. Alan Berry were elected as District representatives. Four new members joined the Association.
The secretary reported that the ovetall membership totalled 174, with some late subscribers still to come. Towers in union with the Association to date total 23. Service ringing appears to be at least no worse than in previous years, but he pointed out that there is still plenty of room for improvement in attendances, punctuality and striking. Sixteen peals have been rung so far this year, with five 'first pealers' and seven different conductors, including one 'first as conductor. The report and balance sheet were adopted.
Mr. T. Cullingworth thanked the Vicar, Mr. Garner, the lady helpers who served teas and Miss Margaret Jones, secretary of the Ashford ringers, for making the necessary arrangements.

Ringing was to suit all degrees of proficiency up to Faur Spliced Surprise Major. C. T. H.

\section*{Tonbridge District}

The annual meeting of the Tonbridge District took place on October 5th. Ringing started at 3 p.m. in the grand old Parish Church, Tonbridge. The service was held here, conducted by the Vicar (Canon Russell White).
Tea was arranged in the Parish Hall by Mr. and Mrs. Walter Dobbie, who were assisted in waiting by some of the junior ladies of this tower. As usual, many members did not notify; this is most unfair to the caterers.
The annual meeting followed. Unfortunately the Vicar could not attend so Mr. Peter Bond was elected to the chair. Mr. George Fry took over as Ringing Master, and Messrs. B. Collison and W. Dobbie were appointed District representatives. Ringing ranged from rounds. Grandsire, Stedman, Double Norwich and Spliced Surprise.

\section*{THE LADIES' GUILD Kent Branch}

A very enjoyable meeting of the Kent Branch was held at St. Margaret's, Rainham, on September 28th.
Ringing commenced at \(3.45 \mathrm{p} . \mathrm{m}\). and was followed by a service at 4.15 p.m. conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. J. Clifford) and attended by about 25 ringers.
Tea was served at the nearby school and a short business mecting was held. The ladies then joined the gentlemen in the tower for further ringing in a variety of methods up to Cambridge Major.
Thanks are due to Miss E. M. Walker and Mr. F. Cheal for helping to make the meeting a success.

\section*{GUILD of DEVONSHIRE RINGERS}

The autumn meeting of the S.W. Branch was held at St. Maurice's, Plympton, on October 5th and was well attended. Members came from Plymouth, St. Andrew's Emmanuel, Plymouth, Lifton, Kcily and the local band, whilst visitors included Mr. Maurice Atkins (general secretary of the Guild), Mr. Aubrey Bennctt (secretary of the Mid-Devon Branch) and Mr. Shepherd, of Littlehampton, who was on holiday in the district. There was some excellent ringing during the afternoon and evening, touches of Grandsire Triples, Stedman, Bob Major and Kent Treble Bob and rounds being rung.
The service was conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. Mr. Clynick) and an excellent tea provided by ladies of the parish.
Mr. H. H. Thomas, the Branch chairman, who presided at the business meeting, had the sad duty of asking members to stand in sympathy and respect for the Rev. H. E. Bennett (late Rector) and Mr. Harry Tippett (St. Andrew's, Plymouth), whose funeral took place that morning.
The Right Rev. Dr. Norman H. Clarke, Bishop of Plymouth, was received as an honorary member, and Mr. R. Bowden, formerly of Bristol, was admitted as an unattached member. The chairman remarked that since Mr. Bowden came to Plymouth he had been of great help both to St. Andrew's and Emmanuel. Several matters were discussed. Mr. Fred Day, of Emmanuel, emphasised promptness at practice and Sunday ringing, and spoke of what he thought was apathy amongst too many ringers, who once they could ring Grandsire Triples reasonably well were quite satisfied. He urged young ringers to go all out to master the art of conducting. Mr. Atkins and Mr. T. G. Myers (Branch secretary) also spoke on this matter.

Mention was made of the great work being done by Mr. W. Harvey in the Lifton area, and it was agreed that if possible a by-meeting be held at Lamerton on November 23 rd , when it was hoped several of Mr. Harvey's pupils would qualify for their certificates. It was unanimously agreed that, provided permission could be obtained, the annual meeting be held at St. Andrew's, Plymouth, on January 25th. by which time the church would be rededicated and in reguiar use for the first time since it was very severely damaged during the war.
The chairman moved the votes of thanks to the Vicar and ladies of the parish, and Mr. Ken Farnham and the ringers of St. Maurice's for their great efforts to make the gathering the success it was.

\section*{FARINGDON, BERKS}

In perfect weather Faringdon ringers and friends visited four towers in the Towkeshury district on September 28th. Ringing took place at Tirley. Eldersfield. Kemerton and Beck ford. An excellent tea was provided at the Crown Hotel, Kemerton. The outward journey was via Burford, Northleach and Cheltenham, and the homeward journey via Stow-on-the-Wold and Burford. Thanks are expressed to all tower secretariees for their kind co-operation.

\section*{ST. DAVID'S DIOCESAN GUILD}

At the Guild's quarterly meeting on September 14th at St. Stephen's, members came from Tenby, Pembroke, Carmarthen, Llandilo, Burry Port and Llanelly, supported by the Llanstephan ringers. The Vicar (the Rev. J. T. Jenkins) officiated at the service, and Mr. T. D. Williams was organist ; the lesson was read by the Master, Mr. Ed. J. Thomas. Sixty members sat down to a nice tea in the Church Hall.
The Vicar presided at the business meeting, at which the Master extended a very hearty welcome to the visitors, who included Mr. and Mrs. Kynaston, of Swindon, and also Mr. Morris, from Kingston-on-Thames.

A collection, for the Bell Restoration Fund realiscd the sum of \(£ 115 \mathrm{~s}\). It was decided that the next quarterly meeting. in December, be held at Cardigan, if the bells are ringable: failing that, Llandovery will be the alternative place. The usual touch on the handbells was given by Mr. Kynaston, Mr. Gwyn Lewis, Mr, Scudamore and Mr. Gwyn Thomas. Two grants of \(£ 10\) each were made to Tenby and Burry Port from the Bell Restoration Fund towards the cost of new ropes. Two new members were made.
A hearty vote of thanks was proposed by Mr. Gwyn Thomas to all who had made the meeting a success.

\section*{LLANDAFF AND MONMOUTH \\ Monmouth Branch}

The Monmouth Branch quarterly meeting was held at Belwellty on September 28th. An afternoon of pleasant ringing was followed by tea and the business meeting with the service and further ringing in the evening. Mr. T. M. Roderick thanked the ladies for providing tea.
Before starting the business meeting the Rev. Mansel Griffiths, Rector of Bedwellity, mentioned the untimely death of Mr. Glyn Williams, a faithful member of the Association and of the Bedwellty band. Members then stood in silence and Mr. Ryan Price followed this with a few words in tribute of an old friend and fellow ringer. The Rev. Ivor J. Richards then spoke of the wedding, on June 8th last, of the Branch Master to the Branch secretary-now Mr. and Mrs. David J. King. These remarks were followed by the Association Master, Mr. Tim Yeoman, making a presentation to them of a canteen of cullery. Both Mr. and Mrs. King expressed their sincere thanks.

Ne'v members were elected from Ebhw Vale. Abergavenny, Chepstow and All Saints', Newport. A committee was formed to explore the possibility of a Branch dinner to be held in Newport. It was decided to hold the next meeting at Trevethin jointly with the Ladies Guild.

\section*{NYLON BELL ROPES}

Dear Sir, -In answer to the inquiry about nylon bell ropes by R. F. Baker in 'The Ringing World ' of October 4th, it may be of interest that in April this year we rang a peal at the Loughborough Bell Foundry with a terylene rone on the tenor.

This was an experiment requested by the Loughborough firm of rope makers to see if terylene would be suitable for bell ropes. The rope had been attached to the bell some days before the peal and had had a weight tied to it. The handling of the rone was smooth and almost as soft as silk, but the weight had had little effect daking the 'stretch out of it. It was like the oroverbial " piece of etastic' and was just as springy at the end of the peal as it was before we started.

We came to the conclusion that terylene ropes would definitely not be suitable for church bells, especially in towers that have a long draught.
We passed this opinion to Mr. Paul Taylor and have since heard no more about the venture.
A feature of terylene is its strong 'resilience," which is also true to a slightly lesser extent of nylon. If a thread of terylene and nylon of equal length, were suspended side by side, with an equal weight attached to each, the terylene thread would stretch much more than the nylon thread. However, when the weights are removed it will be seen that the thread of terylene will almost return to its original length, while the nylon thread still retains much of the stretch caused by the weight. The inference from this is that nylon may be better than terylene for bell rodes, but neither will ever have the 'stretch' taken out completely.

My. opinion is that it would be better, if possible, to splice ny!on or terylene into a hemp rope to strengthen it. especially at the places where the strain is greatest. An all-nylon or all-terylene rope is much too springy for practical use, but it may be a great advantage if used in an approximate \(50-50\) percentage with hemp. - Yours faithfully,

\section*{JOHN A ACRES.}

\section*{Leicester}

Dear Sir,-Some lime ago I had some correspondence with British Nylon Spinners. Ltd.. and one of their subsidiaries, on the question of the suitability of nylon ropes for ringing.
Nylon's remarkable resistance to abrasion (I was given an estimated life of 20 years without serious deterioration) held out exciting possibilities, but unfortunately there were several snags:-
(a) The relatively high elasticity, which is an inherent property of the nylon fibre.
(b) The impracticability under present production methods of working in the sally. An alternative suggested by the firm was to splice in a length of conventional rove with sally to the main nylon rope, thus obtaining the adVantage of nylon durability at the point of maximum wear.
(c) Relatively high cost. I was given an estimate of \(£ 62 \mathrm{~s}\). Gd. for a rone comprising Oft. nylon and 15 ft hemp and sally.
(d) Finally-when I tell Mr. Baker that I can hold a 6 in . specimen of nylon rope in my hand like a stick of rock he will aporeciate the practical handling problems involved.
I would be glad to show Mr. Baker the correspondence if he is sufficiently interested. - Yours sincerely, Catford, S.E.

\section*{A. FALSE PEAL IN C.C. COLLECTION}

Dear Sir,-I have carefully checked the statement made on page 623. 'The Ringing World,' September 27th, 1957, by Mr. Ivin concerning the falseness of the arrangement of Spliced Superlative and Cambridge, CSCXCSC. published in the Central Council Collection of compositions in popular Major methods. (Footnote, page 58.) I regret that his statement is quite correct; this arrangement would be false to a composition of Superlative, the false course-ends being 32546, 46253, 32465 and 43265. As Mr. Ivin stated, the arrangement is true to Middleton's composition of Cambridge and to the abbreviations thereof which have the tenors together.

I must tender the apologies of those who constituted the Peals Collections Committee at that time to any ringers who might have taken part in false peals as a result of this unfortunate error-I myself was not on the committee at the time this collection was compiled!
W. ERIC CRITCHLEY

Convener, Peals Collections Commitlec.

\section*{'THE NINE TAILORS'}

Dear Sir,-Mr. Cyril A. Wratten's presumption in his letter which appeared in your issue of September 27th is correct. I was not consulted by the B.B.C. on the script of the play, but was asked only to provide the bell effects required.

Incidentally, I have not been able to listen to the broadcasts except for part of one instalment, but in that I noticed that the B.B.C. used effects which we did not provide.-Yours sincerely,
H. N. PITSTOW

Banstead, Surrey.

\section*{THE JASPER SNOWDON DINNER}

Dear Sir.-As the above, to be held at Rotherham on October 26th, coincides with the annual Statutes Fair, and as Rotherham United are playing at home that day, parking in the usual car parks may be difficult. Arrangements have therefore been made for visitors to the Dinner to park their cars, free of charge, at Elmfield House. Moorgate Road, during the afternoon and evening.

This private car park is not far from the town centre, at the junction of Moorgate Road, Alma Road and Hollowgate. Entrance to the car park is made from Alma Road.

Any visitors who are staying overnight will be able to obtain as much ringing as they desire on Sunday, and a hearty welcome awaits all attending this function.- Yours, etc.,

\section*{MID-WEEK RINGING IN LONDON}

Dear Sir,-Further to my letter which appeared in "The Ringing World, of Auguse 16th, I have to report that lunch-hour ringing in the City is not possible at the moment. The incumbents of St. Lawrence's, Jewry,, St. Bartholomew's, Smithficld. St. Botolph-withoutBishopsgate, and St. Olave's, Hart Street, do not desire their bells rung for these services, and question their right to create such a volume of sound in the centre of so many offices.

However, the Rector of St. Dunstan-in-theEast is very interested in lunch-hour ringing, but unfortunately the stability of the tower is in doubt and has to be tested.- Yours faithfully,
H. OGLESBY.

WHAT IS THE NEW BEAT?
Dear Sir, - At the risk of seeming to lag behind-what is the 'new beat'? ("The Ringing World,' page 643).

Perhaps my friend, J. L. M., wiil furnish us with an accurate description so that we may all 'have a bash.
I hope it doesn't resemble a rough touch of Grandsire Triples with seven bells trying to dodge 4-5 up (or a peal of Bristol about to disappear down the jolly old drain)! - Yours faithfully,

\section*{Ashford, Kent.}

\section*{WILFRED W. RING}

\section*{THE NEW BEAT}

Dear Sir,-Perhaps a non-ringer's views would help. At a church where I have rung many peals there is an organist who does not know the first thing in ringing, let alone change ringing, but when he learns of a peal attempt he sits in the church throughout the peal. During a chat I had with him, he said that if the bells were rung in 16 's, i.e. with the "gap," he could concentrate in listening, but if they were rung in 'cartwheel' fashion he could not find the interest or concentrate.

Do we get so accustomed to the 'gap' that we do not realise why we have enjoyed a peal or otherwise if there have been no 'gaps'?
Occasionally I have taken part in a peal of Major where the 'gap' is made by the bell following the tenor at handstroke. Others, very rarely in this district, 'cartwheel,' and these peals I have not enjoyed. Perhaps I am not educated to the taste.-Yours, etc.,

\section*{BRIGHTON RINGERS AT LOUGHBOROUGH & LEICESTER}

In specially reserved coaches both from Brighton to London Bridge and then from St . Pancras to Loughborough, the St. Peter's, Brighton, Society, had an excellent outing to Loughborough on September 28th. Between St. Pancras and Loughborough some spade work was done on the handbells with Stedman Triples.

After Junch at the Three Nuns, Loughborough, came the tour of the bell foundry, with Mr. Colin Harrison as guide. At the campanile a feeling of awe was apparent in many, and especially noticeable was the absence of ringers near the two trebles! Confidence was not improved by the news that the 14.000 -odd changes had been rung on the belis the previous Saturday. However, some quite passable touches were accomplished as time went on.

An ample tea was served in the Three Nuns. and then away to the station, and another reserved coach took the Darty to Leicester. Mr. Sid Harrison escorted the visitors to the belfry of St. John-the-Divine, where these splendid ten were soon set going. Suitable refreshments were then taken to fortify the tourists for the 150 -mile journey back to Brighton. Again reserved rail accommodation was available, but the mystery was how six of the ringers had psychic powers to know that the train was running five minutes late! Although heading south at (r0) miles per hour, a course of Stedman Triples was accomplished on the handbells in good style.

The three changes on the Underground to Victoria resulted in half of the party being missing, but there was quite a happy reunion, and the reserved coach marked "Brighton St. Peter's Society of Change Ringers \({ }^{\text {' }}\) was a satisfying and somewhat inspiring notice to end a memorable day. Our thanks to ringing friends and the British Railways for their efficiency

WREXHAM PARISH CHURCH - ONE OF THE SEVEN WONDERS OF WALES

Pistyll Rhaiadr and Wrexham steeple, Snowdon Mountain without its people; Overton yew trees, St. Winefred's wells, Llangollen Bridge and Gresford bells.

\section*{(Old rhyme.)}

THIS year, 1957, is the centenary of the Borough of Wrexham. Celebrations were arranged continuously from May to November and published in diary form in a centenary supplement of the 'Wrexham Leader.'

The Wrexham area can claim four of the seven Wonders, including the Tower of St. Giles', Wrexham's noble Parish Church, i.e., The Steeple, doubtless the largest and most handsome of the ancient parish churches of North Wales.

Two preceding churches have occupied this site. The carliest church on the present site was erected in the 13th century, or possibly earlier, and was dedicated to St. Egidius, Egidius being the Latinised form of both Silin (a Welsh saint) and Giies. This building was wrecked by a great storm of wind upon St. Catherine's Day in the year 1330. A new church was built in the Decorated style, probably by the Abbots of 'Valle Crucis.' This was destroyed by fire (in great part) in 1463.

Valle Crucis Abbey was founded by Cistercian monks near Llangollen towards the end of the 11th century.
Rebuilding in the Perpendicular fashion began within a few years and a temporary bell tower of timber was completed in 1480. Finaily the great west tower was commenced before 1506 and completed about \(1524-5\). Much damage was done to the fabric previous to this by the Parliamentary troops under Brereton, but at the Restoration the church was thoroughly repaired during the period 1700-1850 and numerous additions were made to the furniture and fixtures, including the galleries.

A general restoration of the church was carried out in 1867 under the direction of Benjamin Ferry, F.S.A., who removed the galleries, opening out a fine east to west vista, and in 1902 and 1903 a restoration on a more elaborate scale was inaugurated by the exertions of Canon (afterwards Archdeacon) Fletcher; the then Vicar, and completed at a cost of over 99,000 , of which the Duke of Westminster contributed \(£ 2,000\).

During the first half of the 13 th century the rectory of Wrexham was appropriated in its entirely to Valle Crucis Abbey, though the right of appointing vicars was retained by the Bishop of St. Asaph. At the Dissolution the rectorial properties and tithes were granted to Sir William Pickering; later they came into possession of the owners of Wynnstay, by whom a large proportion were sold to various purchasers during the last century. Since \(1853 £ 100,000\) has been expended on churches, schools and endowments for new parishes, carved out of the original Wrexham Parish, and towards this outlay as well as towards restorations of the Mother Church, the lay impropriators have contributed generously.

The modern stained glass filing the east, south-east and north-east windows was erected to commemorate the coming of age of a former Sir Watkin Williams Wynn in 1841. This gentleman was probably the grandson of a former Master of the College Youths, Watkîh Williams, who joined in 1717. He was then a young man of 25 years and a person of some importance, M.P. for Denbighshire. Two years later. on the death of his cousin, he became the owner of a great estate in North Wales. and took the name of Wynn in addition to his own. He was at different times Mayor of Chester and Oswestry. He became a baronet in 1740 . This gentleman must certainly have done some bellringing in Salop and North Wales.

\section*{THE TOWER OF ST. GILES'}

The height of the tower is 135 feet and is ornamented with life-sized figures of 30 saints, among them St. Giles, to whom the church is dedicated.
The ring of ten bells (the only ten in North Wales) was cast by the farhous foundry of Rudhall's, Gloucester. These were hung in 1726. Here are details of the transport of the first ring from Gloucester from a framed copy in the tower.

\section*{WREXHAM BELLS}

Sir,-Hearing the belis on the Queen's birthday ring out their congratulations, reminded me of the following, which appeared in the 'Wrexham Recorder' for April, 1842.-Yours, Bellrope.

Sir,-As I was listening to the merry peal of bells which announced to the lazy world the early opening of the New Market Hall, it occurred to me that very few who now hear from time to time their melodious sounds know anything of their history: nor am I aware that there exists among the dusty archives of the church any documents which might throw light upon the subject. Few belfries in the kingdom can boast so numerous or so melodious a peal; and though the bells of Gresford are said to be among the 'Wonders of Wales, they cannot. in my humble opinion. compete with those of Wrexham in fullness and sweetness of tone.

I happen to possess an old memorandum of one of the churchwardens in olden times, which gives a statement of the expenses incurred in their casting and erection in the steeple, the foundry at which they were cast. the inscription on each bell (note 9th omitted. but added by Mr. Cathrall), the amount raised by private contributions and by a parish rate. and last, but not least, the sums expended in copious libations of nut brown ale to propitiate the Naiades of the old Severn, during the transit of the bells from Gloucester to Shrewsbury. The particulars may prove interesting to some of your readers. I therefore send them for insertion in the 'Recorder,' with the earnest prayer, Mr. Editor, for both of us, that

When the solemn booming bell
Shall echo forth our passing knell May our spirits take their flight To join the blessed saints in light.

Senex.
An account of what the ten bells in St . Giles
Tower, Wrexham, cost in framing, carriage and expense of casting, etc., at Mr. A. Rudhali's Foundry, Gloucester, in 1726, amounted to \(£ 450\) 18s. 7d.
Underneath the inscription on each bell is cast the date.
No. 1.-Year 1727. 'Glory to God on high. (Date checked by Sec., N.W.A.C.R., 1736). No. 2.-Year 1726. "And in Earth Peace.' No. 3. Year 1726. 'Abraham Rudhall cast all.'
No, 4.- Year 1726. 'Peace and good neighbourhood.
No. 5.- Year 1726. ' Fear God and Honour the King.

No. 6.-Year 1728. ' A. Rudhall:
No. 7.- Year 1726. 'Prosperity to this Parish.'
No. 8.-Year 1726. 'Robert Ellice, Esq.. John Pulford, Gent.'

No. 9.-No inscription on belfry copy.
No. 9.-Year 1726. 'Church Wardens John Price, Edward Edwards, Robert Ellis, Esq, and John Pulford. Gent.' (Particulars on 9th obtained hy William Cathrall. Sec., N.W.A.C.R.)
No. 10.-Year 1726. To the church the living call. To the grave summons all.'
Cast in the reign of King George the First, and old style. The little bell was of the old ring and cast in the year 1678 in the reign of King Charles the Second. The weight of the large bell is 25 cwt . The same number and weight are at Manchester College Church tower. Private subscriptions \(£ 160\), the retower. Private subscriptions mainder paid by the parish.

Note.-The little bell is the parson's bell and is not one of the ring of 10 . There are no records of the old ring, of which the little hell was one.
The tenor bell was rehung by John Taylor and Co. ahout 1926. The bells in this tower were tuned. quarter-turned and rehung in entirely new fittings and wrought steel frame on a new belfry floor by Messis. Mears and Stainbank, bell founders. London, A.D. 1907. The cost, amounting to \(£ 491\), was defrayed by public subscription.

In May, 1955, nine of the ten bells were removed to the Bell Foundry, Loughborough. to be fitted with new ringing fittings and other modern improvements by John Taylor and Co. The bells were tuned to the tenor and rchung in November, 1955, at a cost of over \(£ 2,000\). The bells were rededicated on December 8 th, 1955, by the Most Rcv. the Archbishop of Wales, Dr. John Morgan.
The belfry is well appointed, a very pieasing place to ring at, the ropes falling in a very good circle. The ringing of these beautifullytoned bells not only gives pleasure to near and far, but surely reminds many of their chiel purpose in calling all and sundry to worship God, and certainiy ringers from all parts of the British Isles derive great pleasure in ringo ing these bells.

\section*{AMERICAN ASSOCIATION}

The church has association with Yale University, U.S.A. The name of Elihu Yale is perpetuated in the title of Yale University, His tomb is in this churchyard and is visitco by numerous American pilgrims each year. The inscription on his tomb is as follows:Born in America, in Europe bred.
In Africa travelled and in Asia wed,
Where long he lived and thrived: in London
Whica dead.

Much good, some ill he did, so hope all's even And that his soul, thro mercy gone to Heaven.
You that survive and read this tale, take care For this most certain exist to prepare, Where, blest in peace the actions of the just Smell sweet, and blossom in the silent dust.
A piece of stone has bcen taken from the tower and conveyed to the U.S.A. The newness of the replacement can clearly be seen on the west corner of the tower.
Elihu Yale, 1648-1721 was descended from the Yales of Plas-yn-Ial, near Bryn Eglwys, and was the son of a Pilgrim Father, hence his connection with the U.S.A. He rose to high eminence in the service of the East India Company, becoming Governor of Madras. His declining years were spent at Plas Grono, near Wrexham.
The wonderful churchyard gates of wrought iron, the work of the brothers Davies, of Croesfiel, gatesmiths, were erected about 1720, probably at the expense of Elihu Yale.
The grandfather of Mr . P. Swindley. The Smithey, Handbridge, effected some repairs to these gates and fencing and was assisted by the late James Swindley when he was a youth. This would be about 70 years or so ago.
Bishop Hebet's name is also associated with the church, as; while staying in 'Wrexham, he wrote the by now famous hymn 'From Greenland's Icy Mountains '-and this was first sung in Wrexham Parish Church on Whit Sunday, 1819. Accounts of the early peals ring on these bells were published in "The Ringing World of March 13th. 1953.
A recent peal of London Surprise Royal. the first in Wales, was rung on Saturday, March 18th. 1957. conducted by C. K. Lewis.
The peal to commemorate the centenary of the borough was rung on Seotember 18 th -a peal of Grandsire Caters, 5,057 changes, rung in 3 hours and 36 minutes, conducted by J. W. Griffiths, composed by E. C. Shepherd.
Wrexham became a municipal borough by Royal Charter granted by Oueen Victoria or Royal Charter granted by Oueen Victoria ort
September 23rd, 1857. The Vicar of St. Giles is the Rev. D. E. M. Jones, who, prior to this office, was Vicar of Gresford.
I would like to associate the names of Mr . William Cathrall. secretary of the North Wales Assiciation of Change Ringers, and Mr. Glyn Griffiths, Editor of the 'Wrexham Leader.'

\section*{FIFTY YEARS AT CAYTHORPE}

On September 28th, at the Church of St. Vincent, Caythorde, Grantham. Lincs, a tablet was unveiled with the following inscrip-tion:-
' On February 11th. 1953. in 2 hours and 53 minutes. on the anniversary of a peal of Grandsire Triples rung on February 11th, 1903. a peal of Grandsire Triples. 5,040 changes, was rung by the foliowine: P. M. Bond trehle, C. L. Simcock \({ }^{2}\) G. Paul 3. L. Squires 4 H. Squires 5, J, Millhouse 6. J. Crage 7, G. W. King tenor. Conducted hy J. Millhouse. cock, churchwardens.'
J. Cragg's name appears on both tablets.

A service was held in the belfry and continued in church, conducted by the Rector (the Rev. A. J. Ison). After tea, at the Red Lion, the following rang touches of Grandsire. Sledman and Erin Triples, Bob Maior and Kent Treble Bob: J. Freeman (Master of the Lincoln Diocesan Guild). J. Walden (Lincoln). A. Mackers, H. Squires, L. Squires (Hough-on-the-Hill), G. W. King, J. Cragg, C. L. Sim cock (Caythorpe).

\section*{MR. J. H. TIPPETT}

The death occurred on October 3rd of M1. James Henry Tippett, of Plymouth. Prior to the war he was a member of Emmanuel band of ringers and after the war went to St. Andrew's. He had rung about 20 peals in several methods.
'Harry, as he was known to his many friends, was a Cornishman, and commenced his ringing at St. Mewan, near St. Austell. about 55 years ago, at the age of 13 . As an official of the Great Western Railway, and later, British Railways, his duties took him to several places in Devon and Cornwall and he was well known for his wide knowledge and work in connection with the St. John Ambulance Brigade. He retired three years ago, but owing to indifferent health had been unable to ring for the past two years.
The funeral at St. Augustine's Church. Plymouth, on October 5th, was very largely attended. Ringers present included Messrs. H. H. Thomas (chairman, S.W. Branch, Guild of Devonshire ringers), W. Lavers and Reg Woods.
H. H. T.

\section*{MR. SAMUEL WARD}

At the beginning of the present century an enthusiastic and ambitious band of young ringers at Pudsey, determined to break away from the traditional Treble Bob of the West Riding, set out to master the intricacies of Surprise ringing, and the success which they attained in that particular field played no small part in popularising the ringing of Surprise methods in the surrounding district.
One of that band was Samuel Ward. a quiet sort of chap with a retiring disnosition but with strong determination and a keen ear, two essentials for a ringer of his class, for he was a most reliable method man and an excelient striker. His main interest was Sunday service ringing: he was not a prolific peal ringer, in fact his total is a modest 48. but that includes neals of London, Bristol. Superlative, Cambridge and Pudscy Surprise Major.
UD to a few years ago he was a regular attender in the belfry, then ill-health put an end to his journeys to the tower. Now, at the age of 77. he has passed away. Thus we lose another of the 'old schnol.' one who, in his small way, heloed to further the art of change ringing at a time when there was a tendency among ringers to be content with one or two of the simpler methods rather than a desire to launch out in something new and more interesting.
The bells of Pudsey Church were rung decply muffled on the Sunday after Sam died, as a mark of respect to ? staunch and loyal member of the local hand.

MR. C. J. GARDNER
The death occurred on October 6th of Mr. Charles J. Gardner, of Swindon, aged 85. He had recently undergone an eye operation and never really recovered.
Mr. Gardner was a native of Oxfordshire and learned to ring at Beenham, near Reading, moving to Swindon in 1895, when he joined the band of Christ Church, and remained a ringer up to the time of his death, thus giving 62 years of faithful service to this tower. He was an excellent ringer and conductor, and was never more happy than when helping beginners to master change ringing. He worked on the Great Western Railway until his retirement in 1937 and was the last survivor of the band which rang the first railwaymen's peal at Swindon, in 1898.
The first peal of Surprise Major in Wiltshire by a resident band was conducted by him, and he took part in some of the long peals of Grandsire Cinques at Painswick. A complete record of his peals is not available, but they probably number over 300 and range from Grandsire Doubles to Stedman Cinques and Kent Maximus.
Mr. Gardner was a vice-president of the Gloucester and Bristol Diocesan Association and was a very regular attendant at all meetings of the Swindon Branch. He will be greatly missed and it is very difficult to visualise Christ Church tower and the Swindon Branch without Charlie Gardner.
The funeral took place at Christ Church on October \(9 t h\), and the Gloucester and Bristol Association was represented by the Master (Mr. W. H. Trueman) and members from Christ Church and St. Mark's, Swindon, Blunsdon, Rodbourne Chenev and Stratton St. Margaret. Two old friends from the Oxford Guild, Mr. T. Dike, of Shrivenham, and Mr. V. Jones, of Faringdon, were also present. Following the service a half-muffled quarter peal was rung, and a quarter peal was also rung at St. Mark's in the evening.

\section*{CANON A. RUST}

We regret to announce the death of Canon Albert Rust, a former president and the oldest member of the Bedfordshire Association, which took place on October 9th. It had been a longstanding ambition of his to live to be 90, and it is very saddening to think that he should have passed on so soon after his 90th birthday, which was on September 7th. An appreciation of Canon Rust's services to Husbornc Crawley and ringing appeared in our last issue.

\section*{JOINT MEETING AT GUILDFORD}

A new item in the ringing calendar was a joint meeting of the North-West Disirict of the Surrey Association and the Guildford District of the Guildford Guild at Guildford on September 28th. During the afternoon ringing was enjoyed at St. Mary's and Holy Trinity. The service in St. Nicolas' Church was taken by the Rev. C. Wood, a clerical ringer. and the company then adourned to St. Nicolas' Hall, where 45 ringers sat down to an excellent tea.

The Surrey District Master (Mr. G. Peters) proposed a vote of thanks to all who had contributed to such a good meeting. He stressed the Association's pleasure at being in Guildford as the guests of the Guildford Guild. In seconding the vote of thanks the Guildford District Master (Mr. F. A. Munday) repeated the welcome and hoped that it would be possible to arrange another joint meeting. The ringers then went to St. Nicolas' and Holy Trinity for further ringing.

\section*{OUTINGS}

\section*{BUSHEY HEATH'S TOUR}

The members of Bushey Heath band had another good outing on Sentember 21 st. With ringing friends from neighbouring towers and a strong contingent from Harrew-on-the-Hill they filled a large coach and, starting at 8 a.m., six eight-bell towers were visited.

There was ringing for all, including rounds for the youngest ringer in the party (aged ten). The rest rang Grandsire Triples. Bob Major and Stedman Triples and, occasionally, Kent. Stedman, for some reason, went the best and everyone agreed that it was really worth listening to.
In the morning Tring, Linsladc and Long Crendon were visited, the party being received in each case by a local ringer. At Long Crendon, where the Vicar was waiting, nobody seemed put off by an anti-clockwise ring. Bushcy Heath's Vicar ioined us for lunch at the Churchill Arms in this very pretty village.
Haddenham was the next fown and it must bo admitted that a few criticisms of the bells were heard in comparison with those already rung. But the bells of Hughenden, the next town, amply made up. As a ring they may well be described as near nerfect as possible. Finally, Burnham, where the party was met by George Gilbert and made welcome, being offered the freedom of the tower and the local club. Some of the members of the party were getting a bit tired, but the touch of Stedman Triples was the best of the lot.
And so home by \(10.15 \mathrm{n} . \mathrm{m}\). All thanks to the organiser, Fred.

\section*{WHATTON, NOTTS, RINGERS' OUTING}

Whatton ringers, with friends from Nottingham and Grantham, were fortunate to have fine weather for their outing on September 28th. At the first tower. Folkingham (6), an almost perfect course of Cambridge was rung, but justice was not done to the fine cight at Edenham. At Greetham ( \(6,10 \mathrm{cwt}\).) it was thought that the bells were not quite in the diatonic scale, but the striking was quite reasonablc.
After a sandwich lunch some good Minor was rung at Whissendine, but the best striking was not achieved in the small belfry at Langham. Mr. Harry Cook met the company at Asfordby, where appreciation of the best bells of the day was shown by the best striking. Methods rung during the day were Plain Boh. Grandsire, Stedman, Single and Double Court. Single and Double Oxford, Kent T.B., Cambridge and London Surprise.
An excellent meal was served at the Anne of Cleves Restaurant. Melton, after which the Whatton tune-ringers entertained the proprietor, his family and clients by ringing Heyken's Serenade. 'Santa Lucia,' and other tunes. A Grantham ringer also demonstrated his versatility by giving a solo on a post-horn, one of the restaurant curios.
Thanks are accorded to incumbents and ringers who met the party, and also David and Pam Clarke. who put in a great deal of hard work in organising the trip.

\section*{A SADLY NEGLECTED COMPOSITION \\ Merits of J. J. Parker's Famous One-Part}

\section*{By W. Birmingham}

TTHERE is a natural tendency for the productions of a composer to be revered by the ringers of his locality as long as his memory remains green; thus peals by J. J. Parker (of Twelve-part fame), of Farnham Royal, near Slough, are likely to appear in South Bucks for some time to come. 'Old Joe,' as he was affectionately known, is always associated with peals of Triples, as Major ringing was not the vogue in his day. He has, however, one or two first-class Major compositions which would probably be rung if conductors knew of them: but he admitted that his interest was centred on Triples.

Recently the schoolteachers' peal at Hughenden gave his famous One-part peal of Grandsire Triples an airing, with a resultant inquiry from a Midlands ringer as to its calling. The writer has long wondered why conductors invariably choose Holt's 'Original ' in preference to Parker's Onepart when they elect to call a one-part peal of Grandsire. No one would suggest there is little merit in calling Holt's peal, but one is surprised that Parker's much easier composition is virtually ignored. Probably few have studied the peal and therefore ringers have no idea of its virtues. We hope that, by acquainting ringers with some details of the peal many average Grandsire conductors will try their hand at calling it.

Undoubtedly the chief merit of Parker's One-part is its simplicity. W. H. Thompson established that there must be a minimum of 90 calls in a peal of Grandsire Triples, and that singles are inevitable. In Parker's peal this minimum was achieved, and the writer knows of no other similar success in Grandsire Triples. Having the minimum of calls there is, of course, much less to memorise than in Holt's peal. This also means that calls are far apart, giving the conductor ample time to recapitulate. The bells likewise remain coursing in a given order for whole courses, making the correction of trips much easier. Though some would disagree with this contention, the writer feels that the One-part is the ideal peal for a youngster tackling his first peal of Grandsire 'inside' as, for long spells, he rings complete courses and can fasten on to his course-bell.

In the 'Original' the last four leads are \(\mathrm{S}-\mathrm{S}\), whilst in Parker's peal the singled-in B-block sets it going, whence no further singles are encountered. One has heard of the ease with which an unscrupulous conductor could force up the Plain Course in Holt's Original which occurs about 700 changes from the end. A falsification of that nature is avoided in the One-part as the last four leads of the Plain Course occur at the end of the peal, and it would be instantly detected.

Another great virtue of the peal is that it isi impossible to go far if there is a 'shift-course.' A conductor not very adept at reading lead-ends need never worry about going on with the bells ' wrong.' If a 'shift-course ' has occurred it isn't long before the bell one wishes to call 'Before ' is found to be 'in the hunt,' and one can go no further! The peal is, of course, called by the bells 'Before.' The writer for years shrank from this method of calling until he was unexpectedly called upon at a moment's notice to take charge of a 'quarter' of Grandsire Triples. Knowing the well-known 'quarter' by Rev. E. W. Carpenter (see p. 19 of the 'Ringers' Diary, \(1957^{\prime}\) '), which is called by the bells 'Before,' he diffidently undertook the task thrust upon him. Its successful conclusion brought new heart, and the desire one day to call 'Old Joe's' peal. Let no young ringer. therefore, be deterred by the fear of gremlins wrecking his attempt to call by the bells 'Before.'

The qualities mentioned make this an excellent composition for a non-conducted peal. The writer recently participated in an attempt which lasted for \(2 \frac{1}{2}\) hours, when one word (Bob) would have saved the peal.

The peal, by the nature of its figures, can be conveniently arranged in four parts. The marked similarity of certain parts makes learning easy. Only three 'Doubles' (except in the four opening leads) occur throughout the peal, so they are memorised as such. Thus, except for three leads, there are always at least two leads in which to recapitulate, and generally five. The whole peal can be recited in 20 seconds! Each 'quarter' is read downwards, and the lead-end produced is given below (in case the conductor would like to make an occasional check). It will be noted that the Plain Lead following the lead-end at the end of the third 'quarter' is easier to memorise.

\section*{GUILD of DEVONSHIRE RINGERS}

\section*{Branch Meeting at Buckiast Abbey}

The Mid-Devon Branch held its quarterly meeting at Buckfast Abbey on Oct. 12th, but for various reasons, which included the influenza epidemic, the attendance was smaller than usual.
Ringing took place on the various combinations throughout the afternoon to suit all tastes, and a service was later held in the Violet Evelyn Institute, conducted by the Rev. J. W. Timms, Vicar of Buckfastleigh, who, in an eloquent address, recalled a similar visit 12 months ago, when there was some plain speaking at the business meeting.
An excellent tea was enjoyed at St. Mary's Parish Hall, among the guests being the Lord Abbot of Buckfast (Don Placid Hooper), Rev. Fr. Oswald Mowan, captain of the Abbey ringers, and the Vicar of Buckfastleigh. A hearty welcome was extended to the Lord Abbot, and a comprehensive vote of thanks was passed to him for allowing the use of his magnificent bells, and to Rev. Fr. Oswald for having everything in readiness.
At the business meeting, among the apologies for absence was one from the Rev. N. F. D. Coleridge, of Dartmouth, who was shortly leaving the county for Somerset.

A programme of meetings for 1958 was adopted: this is to commence with the annual meeting at Chudleigh on January 18th, subject to the recessary permission.

The question of whether the Guild annual meeting should be held on Whit Monday or a Saturday is to be discussed.
Hearty votes of thanks were accorded to the Vicar of Buckfastleigh, to Mrs. F. P. Walters (the organist) and to the ladies for the tea arrangements.

Ringing took place at Buckfastleigh Parish Church in the evening. A. L. B.

\section*{THE SUFFOLK GUILD}

\section*{Saxmundham District}

A mecting of the Saxmundham District was held at Tunstall and Blaxhall with ringers attending from many parts of Suffolk. The service at Tunstall was taken by the Rector, where the lesson was read by the churchwarden, whose wife played the organ. A collection in aid of the Guild Restoration Fund amounted to 16 s . A very nice tea was arranged by the lady ringers of Tunstall and enjoyed by all.

At the business mecting Mr. R. Clouston took the chair. Mr. Bryan Lawrence, a junior member of Leiston, was made a full ringing member, and Mr. R. Crowe, of Tunstall, an honorary member. A vote of thanks was passed for the use of the bells and to all who helped to make the meeting a success. Next meeting at Benhall and Saxmundham on November 23 rd.

\section*{SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD}

\section*{Devizes Branch}

The quarterly meeting of the Devizes Branch was held on October 5th at St. Michael's Church. Melksham, and the church was decorated for the harvest festival. Ringing commenced at 3.30 , after a wedding.

The service was conducted by the assistant priest (the Rev. A. T. Johnson) and the Vicar (the Rev. C. A. Witcomh) was the organist. Tea was served in the Church Room by the Young Wives, to which 40 ringers sat down, with visitors from Chippenham, Damerham, Ross-on-Wye and Salisbury. Three new members were elected, and the chairman welcomed the visitors. Votes of thanks were accorded to the Vicar and the Young Wives, to which Mr. Witcomb replied.

\section*{ST. MARTIN'S GUILD}

The autumn meeting of the St. Martin's Guild for the Diocese of Birmingham was held on October 5th at Solihull Parish Church.

The Guild's Form of Service was conducted by the curate, 'who gave a short address in which he welcomed the members of the Guild to Solihull.

Such is the hospitality of Solihull ringers that the members of the Guild found themselves in the unusual position of having two separate halls reserved for their meeting. However, as the members met at the Parish Hall. as, advertised in 'The Ringing World, the meeting was held there, with the Master (Mr. Frank E. Haynes) in the chair.

The life-membership of the following ringers, who were elected prior to peal attempts, were duly notified: Stephen J Ivin, of Houghton Conquest, Bedford, and J. Neville Parkin, of Halifax.

It was decided to hold the annual Henry Johnson Commemoration Dinner on March 1st next, the secretary being authorised to invite the usual guests.
The next meeting will be the annual, which, in accordance with the practice of many years. will be held in the city, on the first Saturday in the New Year. At the Master's suggestion an eight-bcll tower will be available for ringing, in addition to the 12 of St. Martin's, on the occasion of this meeting.

The Master welcomed Mr. F. E. Collins, of Croydon, and called upon the Binging Master (Mr. J. Pinfold), who proposed a vote of thanks to the Solihull ringers for making local arrangements, and to the Vicar for the use of the fine ring of ten bells.

Mr. S. Hardy, now 80, who had not rung a quarter peal for 20 years, rang one at St. Mary Cray, Kent, in honour of the golden wedding of Mr. and Mrs. H. Bevan, sen. Mr. Bevan was a ringer and towerkeeper at St. Mary Cray for 33 years until 1952, when illhealth forced his retirement.

Thirteen neals were rung during Mr. T. J. Lock's party's tour of Wiltshire.

The new secretary of the National Guild of Police Ringers is P.C. John Smith, of the Leicestershire and Rutland Constabulary. His address is 75, Leicester Road, Syston, Leicester.

After the peal of Doubles in three methods at Honington, Lincs, rung as a silver wedding compliment to Mr: and Mrs. L. E. Carter, the band were entertained to tea by them, which was much appreciated.

The peal of Plain Bob Major rung at Wellington on September \(4 t h\) and published in 'The Ringing World' of September 27th, was of 5,056 changes; The initials of the composer are 'T. B.

St. Mary Redcliffe Guild of Ringers are to be congratulated on ringing their first quarter of Caters at the first attempt. They look forward to further attempts and possible successes in the future.

The peal at Polesworth, Warks, was notable for the fact that it was the first time since 1910 that a Polesworth ringer had rung a peal. Harry and Pat Harper (father and daughter), wha scored their first peal, had only been ringing 18 months.
Mr. J. E. Lewis Cockey, who now lives at 6. Argyll Avenue, Stirling, has reason to believe that, owing to the casual attitude of the Canadian postal authorities, letters addressed to him at Winnipeg have gone astray. He apologises to anyone who has written to him and received no reply.

\section*{GOSSIP}
'News of the Diocese,' the monthly magazine of St. Edmundsbury and Ipswich for September and October, contains an interesting article by Mr. R. W. M. Clouston on the care of bells. Mr. Clouston is undertaking an engineering inspection of bells in Suffolk and has already visited 88 towers.
According to an article in 'The Times' dealing with Borstal Institutions, at one of these there is a waiting list for the bellringing class conducted at the Parish Church.

Pictures of the veterans' gathering at St. Botolph's, Bishopsgate, may be obtained from Mr. Richard A. Deal, 118, Sarsfeld Road, Balham, S.W.12. (Price 2s. 6d.)

We are happy to state that the new postal charges do nol affect us as seriously as anticipated. By taking advantage of the printed paper rate instead of the newspaper rate, the additional cost has been curtailed, but there is naturally a substantial increase in our ordinary overheads. We sincerely thank those who have sent donations.
After the Bishop of Southampton had dedicated the new ring of eight bells at the Church of the Ascension, Bitterne Park, Southampton, on October 19th, opening rounds were rung by members of the Southampton University Guild. The opening touch was rung by Ruth Carey 1 , R. Reed 2, W. Theobald 3, A. Hughes 4, R. Finch 5, D. Jackson 6, C. Kippin 7, S. Sharland 8 .
In celebration of his 65 years as a ringer, Mr. James Marsh, captain of Christ Church, Aughton, Lancs, band, has been presented with a cheque from the Parochial Church Council and a smoking outfit by his fellow ringers. He joined the Liverpool Diocesan Guild in 1894 and was one of the earliest members of the Lancashire Association.

\section*{ELY ASSOCIATION'S DIAMOND JUBILLEE DINNER}

HIS year's Ely Association Dinner was made the occasion of commemorating the Diamond Jubilee of the Association. More correctly it marked the 60th anniversary of its 'reorganisation,' since there were attempts at organising a ringing society in the Ely Diocese two or three years before 1897 , but the present constitution was drawn up and the first annual report published in that year.

Ringing took place in all the Cambridge towers during the afternoon and the more serious business began at the Brunswick School at 7 p.m., when some 60 members and friends sat down to dinner under the chairmanship of Canon A. L. Woodard, president of the Cambridge District.

After the loyal toast, Canon Woodard introduced the guests, who included Harry Sharp, a founder member of the Association, now in his 84th year, and still very active; in fact he is intending to ring another peal shortly.

The toast of 'The Ely Association' was proposed by the Rev. D. M. Maddox, Vicar of Trumpington. Mr. Maddox declared that ringers were doing a great service to the Church by regularly ringing bells and he thought that anyone who objected to the ringing of bells must have something wrong with their internal mechanism. He was pleased to note that in his parish such people were very few in number, since when collecting recently for the restoration of his bells, very few had refused to subscribe. However, his churchwardens had had an offer of \(£ 5\) towards the restoration from one parishioner on condition that the bells were never hung.

Mr. Maddox was able to announce that his bells had now returned from the foundry and were being installed. Also he extended a welcome to all ringers to attend the rededication service, which will be conducted by the Bishop of Ely on November 16 th. In the bellfounder's considered opinion Trumpington bells would be the best cight for miles around (even better than their recent effort at St. Andrew's, Cambridge).

Finally, Mr. Maddox reminded us that Christian worship was a joyful thing and should be undertaken joyfully, not with long, miserable faces; what better prelude to a happy service than the joyful ringing of bells. He, therefore, very sincerely wished the Association every success in their efforts at promoting change ringing throughout the Diocese.

\section*{ALL STRATA OF SOCIETY}

Mr. Donald Knights, the secretary of the Ely District, replied on behalf behalf of the Association. He said that in his cxperience the success of a ringing Association came because of the very sincere sense of brotherhood among ringers. There were very few organisations which embraced such a wide variety of men and women and which welded them together in such a unity. By way of example he pointed out that it he were suddenly taken ill, there was present a doctor to attend him, if hospital treatment was necessary there was an ambulance driver who could take him, a radiographer could be called on from the dinner; if drugs were necessary there was present a dispenser. If the ministrations of these failed there was present an undertaker and he could call on another who was a regular gravedigger. Needless to say there were a number of clerical gentlemen present capable of performing the last rites.

Mr. Knights expressed the Association's deep gratitude to the stalwart veteran members like Harry Sharp, whose wisdom had formed a Society and kept it going in its early years, and pointed out that younger members like himself could often still benefit from their wisdom. Onc story which was apposite to the somewhat inordinate emphasis laid on the time taken to ring peals came from one of their ancient members. After a peal at his tower the conductor was proclaiming loudly in the 'local' that it was the fastest peal on the bells by a good five minutes; the veteran gentleman quietly said: - What will you do with the time you've saved?'

Mr. Chris Johnson proposed the toast of 'The Church.' He pointed out how dependent on the Church ringers were for the facilities necessary for the art. He therefore thought that we should have a proper appreciation of what was involved. How many of them would be gratified if someone rang up and asked if he and seven of his friends might come and use their television for threc hours on Saturday cvening? And yot how much did that differ from asking the Vicar for the use of his bells? In fact, ringing was worse hecause everyone within a considerable distance of the church was forced to listen. Mr. Johnson emphasised that ringers should at all times consider ringing as a service to the church and conduct themselves accordingly. By so doing they could assist in ensuring the health of the Church.

\section*{£200 Legacies Found in Oak Settle}

An antique dealer who purchased an oak settle for 15 s . found in the panelling five packets containing legacies totalling \(£ 200\) addressed to the three sons, daughter and daughter-in-law of the late Mr. Harry Chapman, of Manchester Road, Clifton, Manchester.

Mr. Chapman, who died in 1949, was a member of the Central Council for 26 years and a celebrated heavy-bell ringer in the North of England. Among his achievements were to ring the old lenor at Manchester Town Hall to Grandsire Caters and Treble Ten single-handed in 1899, the treble to the then record peal of London, 14,112 at King's Norton in 1903 (a record which stood for over 40 years), and the 11 th to the record peal of Kent Maximus, 12,240, at Ashton-underLyne in 1911.

The Rev. Mansfield Williams, Vicar of Harston, who replied, pointed out that the Church had been going for a very long time and that although the clergy were often so prominent as to appear the main representatives of the Church there were really many more members known as laity who unfortunately tended to keep themselves in the background. To ensure the health of the Church these lay memhers must join in all the Church's activities and one of the very important ways they could join in was by becoming ringers. He did not worry overmuch when ringers asked if they could ring a peal on his bells as he considered that bells were peculiarly useless things if they were not rung, and he thought that every opportunity should be taken of ringing them. Not only should they be rung for service but it was proper to ring them at all times for the pleasure of man to the glory of God.

\section*{NATIONAL GUILD OF POLICE RINGERS}

THE annual meeting of the National Guild of Police Ringers was held at Leicester on September 21 st , when a good company of members and their friends from Manchester, London, Yorkshire, Bristol, Liverpool, Cornwall and Bedford attended.

Leicester, regarded as the birthplace of the Guild, offered its many and varied rings of bells for the use of the visitors. On this occasion ringing started at All Saints', Wigston Magna, and the Cathedral Church of St. Martin in the morning: St. Mary de Castro, St. Margaret's, All Saints' and St. John-theDivine during the afternoon; and the Cathedral bells to conclude the day's ringing.

At the business meeting, held at the City Police Headquarters, the president, ex-Sgt. H. G. Jenney, welcomed the members to Leicester and spoke of his advancing years and hoped his faculties would allow him to carry out the duties of the office and uphold the honour which had been bestowed upon him. He expressed his gratitude to the secretary, who had relieved him considerably in making the arrangements for the day.

The secretary reported that during the year one peal attempt was made at Loughborough, but was not successful. No practice meetings had been held. Four new members had joined the Guild, and two of the oldest members, exP.C. W. Robinson, of Northampton, and exP.C. F. Wilson, of Leicester, had been called to their rest.

The funds of the Guild were satisfactory, although subscriptions were slightly down. Expenses had been light and the year ended with a balance in hand of \(£ 283 \mathrm{~s} .10 \mathrm{~d}\)

The Central Council delegate, ex-Sgt. E. C. Birkett, of Liverpool, gave the meeting a vivid account of the Central Council meeting at Chelmsford, and pointed out the expense which would be incurred by many Guilds next year in holding the meeting in Ireland, and for that reason many members felt they could not commit their Guilds to the expense without previous knowledge. The company present approved his actions and thanked him for his attendance.

\section*{NEW OFFICERS}

When the election of president was considered, Mr. Jenney expressed his deep gratitude for the honour which had been done to him, but felt strongly that his advancing years prevented him from doing what he would have liked to do.

It was proposed by P.C. R. Benson that in view of ex-Sgt. C. Wilmington's enthusiastic expport of the Guild, he be elected president of the Guild. Mr. Wilmington declined and proposed ex-Sgt. Frank Hansford, of Bristol. Ex-Sgt. Hansford declined and suggested the election of president be taken after the clection of a secretary

The hon. secretary reminded the meeting of his intention to relinquish the office last year, and although he had carried on another year he felt that in view of his impending retirement a secretary who was a serving member would be more appropriate.

The president then proposed P.C. John Smith, of Leicestershire and Rutland Constabulary, be elected secretary, seconded by ex-P.C. N. Bagworth; this was carried unanimously. It was proposed by P.C. Smith that ex-Sgt. E. C. Turner be elected president for 1958 and carried.

Syt. Lawson was elected hon. auditor in the place of the late ex-P.C. F. E. Wilson.
P.C. Sydney A. Warwick was elected a member of the Guild, and now, having completed his military service, was appointed to the Metropolitan Force.

After some discussion it was decided to hold the next annual meeting at Bedford if necessary accommodation could be arranged.

The secretary spoke of a letter received from ex-Chief Insp. W. Bottrill expressing his wish to retire from the committee. The meeting paid tribute to his long association with the Guild, and this is to be conveyed to him by letter.

In view of the unfortunate circumstances which had befallen ex-Insp. A. B. Wilson in the loss of a leg and which made it impossible for him to continue his active ringing, the meeting unanimously clected him to life mem bership.

The president reminded the mecting of the loss through death of ex-P.C. Walter Robinson, of Northampton, and ex-P.C. F. E. WH1son, of Leicester, both members since the Guild was formed, and also of that most charming character, Harry G. Wayne, a very regular supporter of the Guild, who passed away shortly after the last meeting. The meeting stood in silence as a tribute to their memory.

\section*{THE DINNER}

A dinner had been arranged in the comfortable surroundings of the Lord Mayor's Rooms.

The guests of honour were the Lord Mayor (Alderman F. J. Jackson) and the Lady Mayoress (Councillor Mrs. Jackson). The Chief Constable of Leicester (Mr. Robert Mark) and Mrs. Mark and a company of over 90 guests sat down to an excellent meal. Beautiful floral decorations, provided by the City Parks department, added splendour to the occasion.
The president, in introducing the Lord Mayor, thanked him for his kindness and generosity in granting the use and facilities of these beautiful surroundings for dinner.

The Lord Mayor welcomed the Guild to Leicester and spoke of his and his wife's long association with the police as members of the Watch Committee.
The Chief Constable suitably replied on behalf of the guests and spoke of his first ideas of campanology, only to be reminded it was not the scientific art of sleeping out, but a unique reason for certain members of Manchester City at appropriate times to ascend to the lofty heights of the Town Hall.

A social evening followed with songs and items by individual members of the City Police. Mr. Arthur Berridge, the compere. was supported by Billy Wilson and Mr. Syd Harrison and his handbell ringers. There was also change ringing by members of the company present.

To conclude the evening the president thanked the artistes, the secretary and all those who had contributed in no small measure to make the day a success. C. H.F.K.

JOINT MEETING AT ROTHWELL
A very successful joint meeting of the Yorkshire Association (Western District) and the Leeds and District Society was held at Rothwell on September 28 th. The bells were available from 3 p.m. and very soon the belfry was filled to capacity, those unable to gain admittance finding accommodation in the church porch whilst awaiting their chance to ring. The 50 members present later enjoyed an excellent tea served in the Parish Hall by the local ringers' wives.

Only one business meeting was held, the officers of the Leeds and District Society having decided to forgo theirs in order to reduce formalities to a minimum and allow more time for ringing. A comprehensive vote of thanks to the Vicar, churchwardens, local company and ladies acknowledged the ready hospitality extended to the visitors, and a formal welcome by the Vicar of Rothwell was received with applause.

Mr. John Rhodes, of Calverley, was elected to membership of the Yorkshire Association. A request was made for full support for the Snowden Commemoration Dinner on October 26th, at Rotherham.
The next meeting of the Leeds and District Society is to be held at St. Chad's, Far Headingly, on November 2nd. The Western District hope to hold their next meeting at Queensbury on December 14 th.

\section*{30 YEARS IN WARKTON TOWER}

A farewell quarter peal was rung at Warkton, Northants, on October 7th, to the Ringing Master, Mr. B. P. Morris, who has been appointed postmaster at Ashbourne, Derbyshire. During his 30 years' association with the tower he has trained many young ringers and it is due to his hard work and enthusiasm that Warkton has never lacked a Sunday service band. All those taking part in the quarter peal had been his pupils.

After the ringing Mr. Morris was presented with a travelling case as a coken of appreciation from the tower. In reply, Mr. Morris wished the band, now under the leadership of Mrs. D. Porter, every success in the future.
Taking part in the quarter peal of 1,260 Grandsire Doubles were: T. J. Turner (first quarter) 1, D. Issitt 2, Mrs. D. G. Porter 3, Miss P. J. B. Lumbers 4, B. P. Morris (conductor) 5 .

\section*{OXFORD DIOCESAN GUILD}

The Witney and Woodstock Branch, at their meeting at Stanton Harcourt on October 5th, discussed the proposal to raise the Guild subscription to 5 s . After a long discussion a motion was passed that the present subscription should remain but that if the Guild needed extra money then an appeal should be made to each tower in the Guild. Canon Bale, of Witney, presided, and 27 new members were elected from Bampton. Clanfield, Northleigh, Northmoor and Witney.
Ringing took place in the afternoon at Southleigh, where some found difficulty with the long draught. The service was conducted by the Rev. H. Cutler, and 47 members and three visitors sat down to tea at the Harcourt Arms. In the evening there was ringing at Stanton Harcourt and Northmoor.

\section*{LETTERS TO THE EDITOR}

\section*{RINGERS I REMEMBER}

Dear Sir,-It is really such readings which we enjoy frum the pen of Ernest Morris that make -The Ringing World to me worth its sixpence. Perhaps it is because most of these characters he mentions are local names, many of whom have passed on, and whose names are easily forgotten.
The reference to the old pre-war Wednesday afternoon band of the old M.C.A. days and mention of my father brings back nostalgic memories of boyhood days. My father had 10 cycle to and from Stoke Golding station for his trains to the 'Seals' and Mcasham, where most of the peals were rung, and we waited anxiously for his return with 'Did you get it? Usually if there was a failure in these Stedman peals the excuse would be that it was an oddbob calling.
One could always rely on a ' tale ' after these excursions, usually involving James George, who had, or so it seemed, considerable authority over the Midland Railway in those days, and very often told a station master in no uncertain terms that the train was not to leave until he was aboard.
He often stayed it our house at Barwell after peal ringing and we used to think he missed his bus purposely to spend an evening with us. There was no doubt James George was highly respected. I remember he went to St. Mary's, Lichfield, for a peal, and one of the band, a stalwart farmer, had no success in keeping up a badly-going tenor, in spite of his strong physique. James Gcorge set his bell and went over to him and showed him how to keep it up. 'It wants a man on this, that's all ! He was over 70 in those days.
Another of the Wednesday band was Harry Stoneley, of Stoke Golding, when they had a Spliced Surprise Minor band in that village. Harry was, and still is, a familiar figure in his shorts and khaki shirt. I never saw him in long trousers. He was a scoutmaster and as fit as any man-always a pleasure to ring with him. He still lives in Stoke Golding but has not rung for several years, I'm sorry to say.
Maurice Swintield, who called all these hundred or more compositions of Stedman, came to Barwell for a ring for Sunday service very often after he left for Burion-on-Trent and was a very great friend of my grandfather. The last touch he called was at Barwell one Sunday evening. As he called 'bob' he leaned over to my father and said 'The last bob, Dick.' He died two days later!
I feel Ernest Morris is right when he says that we are poorer through the passing of these stalwarts. Is it my imagination or are we a little less particular these days as to the standard of good striking? These chans were banded together because each had confidence in each other's ability to strike well.
To-day, Wednesday afternoons are very much different. Temporary ill-health prevents father from ringing peals, hut I'm glad to say that three members of the family are carrying on (through a fourth generation) faithful service in choir and belfry.

I look for quite a few more contributions from Ernest. His storehouse is still very full. - Yours faithfully, TOM C. BELTON. Birstall, Leics.

\section*{'A FAIR SNATCH}

Dear Sir.-In reply to your correspondent. Mr. Brian Buswell, I should like to say that I feel that the case in question constitutes a fair 'snatch.' Even though one bell was silent, five bells were being rung, and surely that is the most important factor in the matter. If the band took the trouble to raise the bells and ring methods with one bell silent they deserve to have 'snatched' the tower.' Yours faithfully, J. E. WASHBOTTLE (MISS).

Grantham, Lincs.

\section*{SOUTH DERBYSHIRE AND NORTH} LEICESTERSHIRE ASSOCIATION
Dear Sir, - The announcement regarding the new territorial association, the Soutn Derbyshire and North Leicestershire Association, on page 643 of "The Ringing World, and the reports of its first peal, rung at Alfreton, Derbyshire, on September 18th, have stirred me into making a few observations.
Alfreton is some 14 miles to the north of Derby, one of the Districts of the Derbyshire Association and within ten miles of Chesterfield, another flourishing District of the Association. If the inaugural peal had been rung within the limits of the arca implied by the new Association title perhaps it would not have given cause for comment, but there! the announcement did not define the precise area of activity of the new territorial Association. If this new Association is a breakaway from the Derbyshire Association and the Leicester Diocesan Guild it is regrettable that it should have come into being at all. The objects of the Society out of which the new organisation grew (i.e., to help the darge number of learners IIt the District) is excellent, but to set up another organisation which probably weakens two existing Associations is to be deprecated, as I feel surc that the whole of the territory of the new Association comes within the confines of one or other of the territorial As= sociations into which the old Midland Counties Association was divided.

I, personally, would like to see the Derbyshire Association change its title to the Derby Diocesan Guild and incorporate, where necessary, areas of the East Derbyshire and Notts Association and the Midland Countics Guild, as, so far as 1 can tell, the whole of its territory falls within the Diocese of Derby, and I feel that the diocesan authorities would welcome a change of name, and, unlike the Lancashire Association, there are no Roman Catholic towers which make the use of an Established Church title impracticable

Could not this suggestion be debated at the next Derbyshire Association annual meeting? Perhaps others with more accurate knowledge of territories than I could comment on this idea.-Yours sincerely,

ARTHUR HIBBERT

\section*{Chapel-en-le-Frith.}

THE LATE MR. C, J. GARDNER
Dear Sir.-Mr. C. J. Gardner was my oldest ringing friend and it was with great regret I was unable, owing to illness, to pay my last respects. He came to Swindon from Beenham in 1895. I came from Devon in 1897. As there was no method ringing at Wootton Basselt I migrated to Christ Church. Swindon, and met Charlie for the first time. He was one of the quiet sort. but ever ready to help one to progress in the art, and was a stickler for good striking.

I rang most of my peals with him here at Wootton Bassett over a period of 50 years until ill-health intervened. Now I feel 1 am all alone, being the last of the old band at Christ Church. I rang with them for practice and on Sundays for 50 years and was one of the band here at Wootton Bassett for a first peal of Superlative Surprise in the county, on March 17 th, 1923, which he conducted.

I must now say goodhye to old Charlie, and may he rest in peace with the great company of his brother ringers passed before at Christ Church. He was 85. I am 82. - Yours faithfully,

The peal runs thus:-
Single, Bob, Bob, Single: 3, 3, 4:5 to 6 , 2 to 6:5 with a double, \(5: 3\) to 7,5 to 2 : etc. 5 to 6 means 'Call the 5th Before till the 6th goes into the hunt: 3 - (4) \({ }^{2}\) is translated Call the 3 rd Before till the 4 th goes into the hunt with a double "; i.e.. another Bob the lead following that in which the 4 th becomes the hunt bell.

\section*{TRYING YOUR HAND}

If anyone would like to 'try his hand' at calling by the bells "Before " and, at the same ttime, get in some practice at calling Parker's One-part, below are two quarter peals taken from it. The figures will explain the arrangement of the peal as set out above. It will be noted that in the One-part the 6th and 7 th are never called 'Before except in the B-Block at the start).
The writer acknowledges his indebtedness to Mr. Bill Welling, of Old Windsor, a friend of J. J. Parker for many years, who has called the peal a number of times, and who introduced the writer to it. He also arranged the quarter peals here given.

\section*{HOLT'S OR PARKER'S ?}

The writer is probably inviting 'brickbats' by suggesting that Parker's is a much better peal than the 'Original' for anyone wishing to call a one-part peal. There seems little point in learning something difficult when something much simpler is available. Apart from satisfying a personal ambition, or seeking kudos, there seems livte excuse for attemoting Holt's Original in preference to Parker's One-part and the writer hopes that he is not alone in holding this view.

\section*{CHESTER GUILD AT DINNER}

HE annual dinner of the Chester Diocesan Guild was held in Chester on October 12 th , when there was an attendance of 112 . The guest of honour was the Rev. J. S. Gamon (Rector of Tattenhall), who, in proposing the toast of 'The Guild,' said that he felt it a great honour to be invited to do so. He reterred to the objects of the Guild set forth in the rules and thought that they were very worthy objects indeed. In his previous parishes he had been lucky to have good bands of ringers and he was glad to see that they continued 10 flourish. His present parish only appeared in the annual report under the heading 'Towers not in union,' but they were busy training a band and he had high hopes that they would soon be in the Guild.
As a parish priest he was grateful for the work which the ringers did. Ringing was really part of the church worship. He wished the Guild all the best for its progress in the future. Bell ringing was a particular part of our British way of life and as old as our towers (Tattenhall tower dates from 1512), and we should carry on in the high tradition which was something good which we must not let go.
In his reply the Master of the Guild (Mr. J. W. Clarke) expressed thanks for the toast and the manner in which it had been proposed. Seventy years ago, in a few weeks time, the Guild was formed, and in calling the first mceting Archdeacon Barber invited both ringers and clergy. The objects referred to by the composer had in some measure been achieved. Ringers were now recognised as church officers. Change ringing had now made great strides and the Guild numbered among its members men and women who were leaders in the theoretical and practical aspects of the art.

Belfry reform, continued the Master, was now a term which was obsolete. For the \section*{SHEFFIELD AND DISTRICT}

The October meeting was held jointly with the Derbyshire Association (Chesterficld Dis(rict) and the Ladies' Guild in the very best ' meeting weather' on October 12th at Bolsover, where we were pleased to welcome friends from Leeds and Cheshire. Ringing was in a variety of methods and at five o'clock a break was made for tea, when a crowd of about 50 sat down to enjoy the famed food of Bolsover

A business meeting then took place during which four netw members were elected. After a welcoming speech by the Vicar, to which Mr. Brunt replied, the company returned to the tower for further ringing, which lasted almost to the time of the last bus back to the 'metropolis.'

The general opinion seemed to be that it had been a good meeting but that the standard of striking was not as high as usual, and in spite of various courses of Surprise the whole repertoire had not been exhausted. I. H .

\section*{OBITUARY}

MR. A. H. LINTOTT
A staunch member of the Lancashire Association, Mr. Arthur Henry Lintott, of Liverpool. died in hospital on Oct. 16th, aged 73.

Born at Horsham, Mr. Lintott spent his early days ringing in Fast Grinstead and district. He came north in 1914 and. after service with H.M. Forces, settled in Liverpool and joined the Parish Church band. With them he rang many peals, but kept no records. His last peal was in 1953 and since then, owing to health reasons, he took no further part in active ringing. A keen striker, he would not tolerate poor ringing, especially for Sunday service.
E. C. B.
benefit of their guest, he mentioned that at the time the Guild was formed the belfry was not considered to be part of the church and was, in fact, a place to which a parson did not go. Often smoking went on and they could see up and down the county various types of ringers' jugs, now, alas, empty. There was co-operation between ringers and clergy now, and ringers were found to be taking a full part in the service of the church.
He referred to the passing of Clement H . Taylor (of Chelford, the Rev. J. S. Gamon's previous parish), who had been for 70 years a ringer, for 64 years clerk and had never been absent or late for 60 years. We could have no finer example. No member was left who attended the first meeting and we were carrying on the tradition to the best of our ability. We had one black spot, the number of towers out of union and we could not rest until all were in union. He had recently visited a tower which was out of union and found the belfry in a deplorable condition and he felt sure that membership of the Guild would have prevented this.

Mr. Clarke concluded by saying he recently took a non-ringing friend to see some ringing being performed and the comment was: 'Why do they all look so glum?' He replicd that he should see them at play and he would now allow their guest to witness the spectacle of ringers at play.
Entertainment was provided by Messrs. Taylor and Boycr, of Chester, with songs at the piano, tune ringing by the Wirral Handbell Ringers and method ringing on handbells by a band drawn from three branches of the Guild. Before the close of the proccedings the Master expressed the thanks of all to the organiser, the Rev. J. Kingdon, for all the work he had put in to ensure the success of the function.

\section*{GUILD OF MEDICAL RINGERS}

The first London meeting of the Guild took place on October 12 th, the towers visited being St. Olave's, Hart Street, and the two churches of St. Botolph, at Aldgate and Bishopsgate. Led by the president, Dr. P. J. SpencerPhillips, and directed and encouraged by the Master, Dr. R. E. Price, members and their guests enjoyed some good-and some varied -ringing. Among the guests, whom we were happy to have with us, were the secretary of the Ladies' Guild and several members of the University of London Society, some of themwe hope-members to be. The ringing at Hart Street and at Bishopsgate was of a fairly normal character; Aldgate was voted an interesting experience, but perhaps not quite the tower for the Guild's next peal attempt !

After a short business meeting, when it was agreed to try to arrange a week-end visit to Dorset next summer, to see some of the Western members, if they will have us, the evening concluded with a pleasant dinner, and a resolve to meet again in town. The secretary's thanks are due to the incumbents concerned and to the London members who did so much of the arranging beforehand

\section*{OUTINGS - SOME WITH ADVENTURES}

On October 5th, despite the leading article in the previous day's issue of "The Ringing World,' the Northaw ringers, augmented by friends, set out on their second annual outing. Like last year, a fairly intensive programme had been arranged, visiting nine churches in all.
Nazeing (6, \(9+\mathrm{cwt}\) ) was reached at 9 a.m.. where we were met by several members of the local band who were busy preparing the church for harvest festival. We then moved to Epping Upland ( \(6,12 \mathrm{cwt}\).) and to Bobbingworth ( \(6,13 \mathrm{cwt}\) ), where we felt that ringing in the open porch could be uncomfortable in mid-winter. Our last call before lunch was at Moreton ( \(6,9 \frac{3}{3}\) cwt.), where we were impressed by the tone of the tenor ( 17 th century).

After lunch came Fyfield, a very pleasant six (tenor 7 cwt .) and the only : non-ground floor' ring of the day. The last six-bell tower of the outing was North Weald (tenor 11 cwt .). where we were joined by another member of the band, who had been unable to be with us earlier due to business reasons, and our Vicar (also a ringer).

After an early evening dinner at tho Chequers, Old Harlow, we had our first eight-bell ringing of the day at Harlow Common (Polter Street), where a good course of Double Norwich was rung, despite there being no stay on the sixth bell of this excellent ring (tenor 12 cwt .). Ringing at Hunsdon (8, 14 cwt.) was unfortunately rather short as, before we could start, a minor repair to the clock hammer mechanism had to be made. However, this was made up for at Much Hadham ( \(8,10 \frac{1}{3} \mathrm{cwt}\).).

Methods rung during the day included rounds and call changes. Double Norwich, Kent Treble Bob and Plain Bob Maior, Stedman, Oxford Bob, Plain Bob and Grandsire Triples: Cambridge Surprise. Kent Treble Boh. Oxford Treble Bob, Little Bob, Oxford Boh and Plain Bob Minor: Stedman, Grandsire, St. Simon's, Plain Bob and Original Doubles.

We should like to express our thanks to the various Rectors, Viears and local ringers who made it possible for us to have such an enjoyable day.

\section*{BOLSOVER RINGERS HAD A WET DAY IN DERBYSHIRE}

Bolsover Parish Church ringers, with friends from Chesterfield, Creswell. Staveley, Warsop and Worksop, had a second outing on September 28th and visited four towers in the Peak District of Derbyshire.

As the coach left Bolsover the weather was very pleasant but when the party reached Hayfield rain fell heavily and continued for most of the afternoon and evening. The light eight at Hayfield were rung for an hour to various methods up to Superlative Surprise Major. At Glossop some difficulty was experienced with the ropes. Boxes were in great demand and the learners found it difficult to strike the bells with satisfaction.
Tea was taken at Glossoo and in driving rain the journey was continued to Buxton. where Mr. Ellison was waiting to welcome the party at Fairfield. This tower is well known to several members of the band and some excellent ringing was enjoyed on the lively eight.

Following the custom established last year, the outing ended with an excellent evening meal. provided in very comfortable surroundings at the Bull \(i^{\prime}\) th' Thorn Hotel at Hurdlow. After dinner Mr. A. B. Cooper thanked all those who had made up a very happy party, and Mr. H. T. Rooke replied on hehalf of the visitors. Mr. Cooper was thanked for the arrangements made for a very satisfactory tour. A. B. C.

\section*{CHARLTON KINGS, GLOS}

A very enjoyable half-day was spent on September 28 th by ringers from St. Mary's, Charlton Kings, and friends from Cheltenham, among eight-bell towers in south-east Gloucestershire.
Towers visited were Watermoor, Tctbury, Malmesbury, Dursley and Bisley. The visit was not without adventure as an anonymous muscle-man broke a stay at Dursley, and through lowering the eight at Bisley the writer is still painfully aware of the bruise resulting from the ireble rope breaking as he called 'Hold them' at the end, and being deposited in a rather untidy heap in the corner, to the great delight of the rest of the band.
The work being over, the party adjourned to the Rose, in Stroud, where a most welcome and enjoyable meal was waiting (but not for long !). Afterwards the Rev. T. C. R. H. Deakin (Vicar of Charlton Kings) announced that it was hoped to place an order for the rehanging of St. Mary's bells in the very near future. Mr. G. Simmonds then expressed the thanks of all to those responsible for the arrangements.
C. A. W.

\section*{IXWORTH, SUFFOLK}

Ringers from Ixworth and surrounding towers had an interesting tour of the Leicester area on September 21st. The first tower was the eight at Thrapston, after some had made an unsuccessful attempt to grab Huntingdon during a stop for refreshments. Ringing at Desborough preceded lunch at Lutterworth, and then followed Bitteswell, Aylestone and, after tea, Lutterworth, where we were met by Mr. E. J. Tipler. Mention should be made of "the deserters," who left in the afternoon to ring at Leicester Cathedral, and apologies to Bitteswell for the broken rope. Thanks are due not only to incumbents and local ringers but to Kenneth G . Brown, the organiser.
L. N. M.

\section*{BARKING, SUFFOLK}

St. Mary's ringers with friends from the district visited the Sudbury area on October 5 ih, and glorious weather added to the afternoon's pleasure. Towers visited were Assington. Wormingford, Earls Colne, Colne Engaine. Pebmarsh and Gestingthorpe. Tea was taken at Earls Colne, and a fair standard of ringing was maintained in a variety of methods.

\section*{NORWICH DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION \\ Eastern Branch at Carlton Colville}

The autumn meeting of the Eastern Branch at Carlton Colville on September 28 th was the first since the tuneful ring of five was rehung, and the bells were rung for a wedding and then for the meeting proper.
The service was conducted by the Rector (the Rev. R. S. Phillips), the lesson being read by the Master of the local company (Mr. B. J. Gorrod).

Once again a huge tea was provided, a feature of Eastern Branch meetings. A cordial welcome to Mr. and Mrs. Hibbert, of Reading, was given.
Several new members were elected, including the local company en bloc and one from another five-bell tower, Aldeby. Acle was chosen for the next meeting, on December 7th, subject to satisfactory local arrangements. Votes of thanks were accorded the Rectors of Carlton Colville and Pakefield, the lady organist and Mr. Gorrod, together with the lady helpers who served tea.
There was further ringing after tea and some members went to Pakefield, where the handy eight were put through a variety of methods.

\section*{WITHIN SEVEN MILES OF WALSALL}

Within seven miles of this Midiands town with its fine 12 lie a number of 6 -and 5 -bell towers, which can easily be 'got through' in a day, as was proved on August 28th.

Blakenall Heath was the assembling point, a 5-bell tower now surrounded by dismal rows of houses. The church itself has a certain grace though, unlike its red-brick neighbour, Bloxwich. The tower here has a rather odd top to it, and contains an \(M\) and \(S\) eight on which we didn't aspire to anything great.

Then out of Walsall to the well-kept church of Shareshill, where a very active young band operates under Mr. Harry Butler. Here the long-lost 'Colonel Nutt' found us, which made a considerable difference to ringing henceforth. After the usual fluid lunchtime, Norton Canes was reached, and as when N.C. was - grabbed' by S. H.'s original victims in early 1955, our visit coincided with a local burial. The time had to be filled in and so 'Warrilow Special' was rung on handbells in the heights of the tower and produced amusing results.

Pelsall came next, a light six which, with all due respect to Warner's, are somewhat reminiscent of Santa Claus' sleigh bells. In contrast to Pelsall there is little music in Rushall bells, the forlorn ring of six whose sorry state has earned them a place in the writer's heart. Again we shot out of Walsall, this time to the east and to Little Aston. Everything is in perfect order here and consequently all went well. Finally, a crawl over Barr Beacon brought us to our last tower, Great Barr, which is miles from today's Great Barr, as was recently discovered by Ladies' Guild ringers. Nothing survived here, so it was decided that we should give up and make a dive for No. 3, where it was rumoured food and drink would await us.
Everything ended well when we squeezed into St. Matthew's belfry to attend practice. And so another day was over and another corner of the world 'finished off.'

\section*{HERTS COUNTY ASSOCIATION}

It was a perfect autumn day when the Northern District met at St. Ippolyts on October 5 th, and they were privileged to have as visitors the secretaries of the Eastern Division of the Association and the Cambridge District of the Ely Diocesan Association. Also present was Mr. M. Orme. who was just finishing his National Service, Miss K. Willers, who cycled from Trumpington, and a senior scout on his way to a camp at Hitchin.
The: new Vicar (the Rev. E. Quinn) conducted the service, and in his address made the point that although most of their time ringers were following the bell of the man in front, in life, as in change ringing, a time came for each to take the lead, and they must know how to do it properly. Miss C. Taylor acted as organist.

After an ample tea two non-resident life members and two ringing members were elected at the business meeting. They were Messrs. G. Bagley (Coalbrookdale) and M. Major (Henlow), A. Leggitt and J. Varney. Norton was selected for the next mecting, on November 2nd. The special method for the meeting was Trinity Sunday Treble Bob. J. S.

ALDRINGTON, SUSSEX.-On Oct. Sth, 1.260 Doubles ( 600 Reverse Camerbury, 660 Plain Bob): Margaret E. Perry 1. I. C. Forrest 2, Pamela R. Gough 3. H. W. Brown 4. R. D. Brown (cond.) 5. S. W. Brown 6. First in two methods for 1.2 and 5. For the harvess festival.
BRIGHTWALTON, BERKS.-()n Oct. 5th. 1.260 Grandsire Doubles: P. J. Sayers 1. G. Heपess 2. J. K. Sherman 3. J. F. Braccy 4. A. Saycrs (cond.) 5 .
W. J. Sayers 6. Runs by the local band for harvesa festival service.

\section*{COVENTRY GOLDEN JUBILEE}

F1 RIENDLINESS and enthusiasm are the undoubted characteristics of all ringers' dinners, but never more so than at the golden jubilee dinner of the Coventry Diocesan Guild. The warmth and sincerity of the welcome by the Lord Mayor, Alderman Mrs. Pearl Hyde, sent the function off to a wonderful start, and a happy spirit prevailed throughout the whole evening.

Before the dinner commenced the Lord Mayor received and entertained the officers of the Guild, the President of the Central Council and three of the four surviving founder members in the Mayor's Parlour. The Bishop of Coventry was also there and those present were much impressed by his sincerity and vigour.

The dinner was served in the restored St. Mary's Hall, the most ancient building in the city, and what a wonderful setting it was. The clever lighting showed up the remarkable beauty of the ceiling, decorated with carvings of archangels, and the tables below were lighted with the city's candelabra, and use was made of the city plate for the second time. The previous occasion was when Her Majesty the Queen dined there. The Lord Mayor, in a most inspiring speech which revealed her deep affection for 'her beloved city,' told the company that Dick Whittington, before going to London, was a member of the St. Mary's Guild which met in that hall, and of how Henry VIII. confiscated the hall and the inhabitants of Coventry had to purchase back from the Lord Mayor of London the property which had been stolen from them. She also told the company that long ago it was the duty of the Mayor to taste the wine and beer before it was sold to the inhabitants and to pronounce whether it was up to standard or not! Another duty was to test the quality of bread sold in the town. One Mayor failed in this respect, with the result that an angry crowd met in the hall and pelted the Mayor and Council with loaves of bread which were so hard that all the windows were broken!

It was gratifying to see the new President of the Central Council, Mr. Fred Sharpe, so ably proposing the toast of 'Church and State.' His performance certainly impressed all present and forebodes much success for his future in the important office he now holds. The Bishop's reply, which was remarkably vigorous, and his witty stories were much appreciated, and his closing sentence, 'There's nothing much wrong with the State which can put people like Pearl Hyde in office in Coventry,' was loudly applauded.

The destruction of Coventry by enemy action has aroused world-wide sympathy, and the work of rebuilding the city is being watched closely with great interest. Many of the beautiful half-timbered houses have, alas, gone for ever, but opportunity is being taken to rebuild on modern lines and the result so far is most pleasing. The work on the new Cathedral is proceeding rapidly and will, it is hoped, be completed within the next five years. Some who remember the great glory of St. Michael's Church would have preferred to see the church restored in all its majesty, but only the spire, which was undamaged, and the shell remain, and the decision has been made to preserve the church as it is-in ruins-and erect a modern building which will serve as a religious home for the whole community.

Naturally at such a gathering many references were made to the fact that Coventry is unique in that it possesses no ringing peal of bells, and many were the hopes expressed that some provision will be made for this omission to be rectified. The president, Mr. F. W. Perrens, gave grounds for hope that, with the kind assistance of Mr. E. H. Lewis and Mr. Fred Sharpe, the authorities might be convinced that it would be safe to install bells of suitable weight in both St. Michael's and Holy Trinity towers, and should that come about there is no shadow of doubt that ringing in Coventry and district would receive a great fillip.

It is indeed fortunate that people like the Lord Mayor and the Bishop are at the head of things, and it seems certain that if anything can be done it will be done.

One final word - the dinner was a triumph of careful organisation, and for that the credit must go to the secretary, Mr. J. L. Garner-Hayward.

JAFUS.

\section*{WARWICKSHIRE RINGERS VISIT THE PEAK}

On October 5th ringers from Coleshill, Coventry and Kingsbury, accompanied by Miss I. B. Thompson, of Nottingham, had a day tour of the Peak District of Derbyshire.
Meeting at Winster at \(9.15 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m} .\), the awkward anti-clockwise five were raised in peal and a six-score rung, but poor ropes marred any pleasure that might have been had from ringing here. The musical five at Elton were a pleasure to ring. At Great Longstone we were pleasurably surprised to find a musical six with a perfect 'go,' and despite the cramped quarters of the small ringing chamber several good touches were rung.
As the towerkeeper at Eyam, on his own admission, was not conversant with the art of rope splicing, he had knotted the rope of the tenor just where it passed through the pulley block! However, afier the surplus ends at the knife the bell became ringable, and several knife the bell became ringable, and several touches, including a good course of Cambridge Minor, were rung. Tideswell, the Cathedral of the Peak,' had a long climb to the ringing chamber and the octave in this handsome tower was rung to Bob Major and Grandsire. Wormhill has the lightest known ring of bells in a church tower and some time was taken in getting used to them in rounds before trying anything else. A memorable tower indeed for the writer's 2,300 th!

At Fairfield Brian Woodroffe had very kindly raised the bells in readiness and this musical Taylor octave was soon pouring forth Bob Major, Stedman and Grandsire. Two ringers who had only been told by their Vicar the day before of our impending. visit, kindly met us at Burbage. The six are rather loud in the ringing chamber, but Minor and Doubles went well. At Chapel-en-le-Frith we had the unusual spectacle of ringers queueing up cafeteria fashion to take their stool from a pile in the corner to reach the unusually high ropes, but some good ringing followed The drive through the clouds and down the steep, winding road to Castleton will not be easily forgotten. The striking on the indifferent cight improved as we obtained mastery over the 'elastic' ropes. The treble rope at Hope, with its tufted end, was the butt of many jokes by the wags of the party, but we enjoyed this musical octave so much that we sneaked an extra touch of Bob Major before falling in peal.

Before ringing at Hathersage some of our party visited the grave of 'Little John,' reputed tall friend of Robin Hood, of Sherwood Forest fame. The grave is now maintained by the Ancient Order of Foresters. Fifteen minutes sufficed on the rough-going six. and we set off on the 12 -mile journey to Youlgreave. Half an hour on the majestic eight brought our tour to an end. Our best thanks are due to those ringers who met us at the various towers. W. A. S.

PAKENHAM, SUFF.-On Oct. 1 lh. 1,260 Doubles ( 600 Grandsire. 660 Plain Bob): H. Ivings 1, A. W. Rolfe 2, L. Pierce 3, R. Rose 4, L. N. Melton (cond.) 5. Also on Oct. 13th. 1.260 Plain Bob Doubles: H. Ivings 1, L. Pierce 2, M. Sharpe 3. E. Bishon 4, N. Melton (cond.) 5. Buth for harvest festival.

ROTHIEY, LEICS.-On Oct. 6th, 1,260 Grandsirc Doubles: P. Wilkinson 1, S. Stone 2, N. Bishon 3. G. Brewin 4, B. S. Payne (cond.) 5. P. Plowtight 6. Also 1.320 Reverse Canterbury Pleasure: M. Bishop 1, N. Bishop 2, G. Brewin 3, R. Brewin 4, B. S. Payne (cond.) 5, P. Plowright 6. For harvest festival.

\section*{GLOUCESTER AND BRISTOL ASSOCIATION}

The autumn quarterly meeting of the Swindon Branch was held at Highworth on October 12th and visitors were welcomed from Bedford. Faringdon, Gloucester and Moreton-in-Marsh. There were a number of beginners present and it is hoped they will benefit from the instruction they received. The usual service was conducted by tho Rev. B. H. Cooper, and tea followed at a local cafe.

The Branch chairman (Dr. H. Craig) presided at the business meeting, and various tributes were paid to the late Mr. C. J. Gardner, among them a letter received from Miss M. R. Cross. secretary of the Oxford Guild. Six new members were elected and congratulations were extended to Tony Peake and band on ringing a peal of Doubles in 42 methods. Meetings for November and December were provisionally arranged for Wanborough and Christ Church. Swindon. Ringing ranged from Grandsire Triples to Cambridge Major. W. B. K.

\section*{SOUTHAMPTON UNIVERSITY GUILD}

Members of the Guild had a cycling tour of the district in and around the Meon Valley on October 12th. The weather was ideal for cycling and-some 60 miles were covered by the end of the day. Towers visited were Soberton, Catherington, Hambledon, Buriton, East Mcon and West Meon, and methods rung included Grandsire, Kent, Cambridge. London and Bristol.

The Guild was pleased to welcome ringers from St. Michael's, Southampton, who joined the party at Soberton and without whom many of the methods rung could not have been attempted.

After the farewell peal for Miss Kathleen Yco at Hellingly, one ringer was heard to remark that he would rather not have gone for the peal it it would have kept Kathleen in Sussex. The band were most hospitably entertained by Mr. and Mrs. Yeo after the peal. We hope Kathleen's duties at Tenterden, Kent, will permit of her scoring an occasional peal.
The name of the fourth ringer in the peaf at Ashby-de-la-Zouch (page 635) was J. Frederick Milner and not Frederick J. Milner.
Will the London ringer living in S.E. 15 who sent a quarter's subscription to "The Ringing World ' and did not sign his name kindly forward it to Mr. J. E. Jeater.
The band who rang the peal at Brightwalton on October 5 th extend their grateful thanks to Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Sayers for their kind hospitality afterwards.
A recent publication is ' Lord Grimthorpe,' by Peter Ferriday (John Murray, 21s. net), who lived from 1816 to 1905 , and was much occupied with bells, horology and architecture.

For the first time for 28 years, Burgate, Suffolk, bells were rung for Evensong on Sunday, October 13th, by ringers from Starston, Hardwick and Shimpling. The bells, a pleasant five, tenor 8 cwt . in A flat, were rung to Plain Bob Doubles, using ropes from Dickleburgh Church.
After 22 years Fred Bailey (late of Leiston) enters the peal list with his first peal of Grandsire Triples, at Coleshill, Warwickshire. His previous peal, in August, 1935, was a 'silent ' Cambridge Maximus at St. Martin's, Birmingham.
The peal of Doubles at Ockham, Surrey, by five first-pealers, was not without its difficulties. Due to rain clouds the light decreased rapidly in the belfry, which is without electricity, and the last four \(120^{\circ}\) s were rung with the ropes scarcely visible.

In spite of the Asian 'flu,
GOSSIP
about 90 members attended the autumn gencral meeting of the Oxford Diocesan Guild at High Wycombe on October 12 th. It was decided that the Guild subscription remain at 2 s . 6 d . as at present but that any member requiring a report should notify his Branch secretary before the end of the year and should pay for it on receipt of same.
Owing to two of the original band being victims of 'flu, a peal of Major was substituted for Royal at Duffield.
With the peal of Plain Bob Major at Ross-onWye on October 12th, Mr. Leslie Evans has now rung a peal in every 8 - and 10 -bell tower in Herefordshire.

The young ringers from St. Peter's, Derby, who were ringing their first peal of Treble Bob at Breadsall are to be congratulated, especially in view of the absence of stays from the treble and second bells. Neither has been ringing for a year, and one promptly followed this with a peal of Killamarsh Treble Bob Minor \({ }^{\text {in- }}\) side ' at Ockbrook.

Ringers in the Bristol area will be pleased to know that the floor of the ringing chamber at St. Thomas' (City) has now been repaired. The University of Bristol Society, were pleased to be invited to ring a 'quarter' there for harvest thanksgiving service. St. Thomas' is the industrial church of the city and the 'harvest' included products from local firms.
The ringers who took part in the first peal at Balderton, Notts, for 46 years would like to thank the Vicar (Rev. I. A. Johnson) for kindly granting them permission to make the attempt. The bells are not readily available owing to their proximity to many houses and a bus terminus, and are also rather noisy outside.

MEMORABLE ANNIVERSARY DINNER

THE Coventry Diocesan Guild held their 50th anniversary dinner on October 12th in a setting that really made the occasion - St. Mary's Guildhall, Coventry - that historical building in centre of the city, next to the ruins of the old Cathedral and near the new Cathedral which is to take its place.
Amongst the principal guests were the Lord Mayor and Lady Mayoress of Coventry, the Lord Bishop of Coventry, supported by Canon Noel Prentice, of Stratford-on-Avon, Canon Startin, of Wootten Wawen, Canon Carew Cox (Master of the Salisbury Diocesan Guild), the Revs. M. C. C. Melville, A. W. Dodds and D. M. Davies, Mr. F. Sharpe (president of the Central Council), Mr. J. Frank Smallwood, and all officers of the Guild with the exception of the Ringing Master who was unfortunately ill. Mr. J. Pinfold (Master of the St. Martin's Guild) and his wife were also present. The company of 175 was representative of most towers in the diocese, and it was gratifying to see so many young ringers amongst the old stagers. Three founder member were presentMessrs. W. Collett of Warwick, J. F. Smallwood and J. Pinfold. Mr. E. Adams and Mr. T. Male were unable to be present. Mr. \(\mathbf{F}\). Pervin was able to join the company in time for the speeches, and the president gave him a cordial welcome.

\section*{LORD MAYOR'S HOPES}

The Lord Mayor of Coventry (Ald. Mrs. Pearl Hyde), in welcoming the Guild to Coventry, said how delighted she was to be with them on this historic occasion, and in particular in St. Mary's Guildhall. She could not think of any setting more fitting, and it was her privilcge to be here with them. She had just heard what bellringers get up to-she was told they 'hunt, 'dodge,' and-she thought- made faces,' but she had been corrected and told they 'made places.' She was sorry to learn that so many had not been able to attend because of the limited accommodation, and suggested that perhaps next year they might use the new police slation, which had a grand hall and was very modern-but 'could anything take the place of St. Mary's Guildhall?'. Coventry was of Anglo-Saxon origin, and its churches were steeped in history, Dick Whittington was a freeman of the city before he went to London to become Lord Mayor. The present Coventry was so new, and the new Cathedral would take its place in the reconstructed city. She wished them a very happy evening and every success in their endeavours to keep the church bells ringing, and hoped that in the not-too-distant future a ringing peal of bells would be heard in the centre of the city of Coventry.
Mr. F. Sharpe said that he felt unqualified to propose the toast of 'Church and State.' This was surely one toast not two, as all that was best in the State came from the teachings of the Church. If there was no Church we should not hear the teachings of Christ, there would be no bells and no ringers, and we should not have half the blessings of this life. Ringers were loyal to the Church and to the State. Church and State should always work in close cooperation, but had not always done so, and illustrated this by a story of happenings in some village communities. He thanked God for a good Christian queen. In his travels up and down the country he had found a far greater spiritual interest in all matters connected with the Church and State, and in proposing the toast he coupled with it the name of the Lord Bishop of Coventry, Dr. Cuthbert Bardsley.

The Lord Bishop in his reply, said it was a privilege to be with them on such an historic occasion. When the Guild was founded he was about three months old. For 21 of those years he had lived under the shadow of a great and glorious tower, Lancaster Priory, one of the most lovely parish churches in the country, and they would understand what bellringing meant to him. This, he said, was a great and historic moment-50 years of service to the Church and State. It was one of the glorious things about oun country that the Church and State worked so closely together. Century after century, the Church had done its job, and was now handing over its main welfare work to those more competent to do it, leaving them to do the real job of bringing peace to the community. Bellringers called them to the true way of living, and he thanked God for their work-long might they live to do it. He assured them that he had them very much in his heart, and would do all in his power to make this Diocesan Guild a living thing. Might they go from strength to strength.

\section*{THE PRIME MOVER}

In proposing ' The Coventry Diocesan Guild,' Mr. J. F. Smallwood said it was a great honour to propose this toast on the Guild's 50th anniversary. He was the prime mover in the formation of the Guild, and was very proud of it. The first meeting was held in Warwick, although in fact the idea was born in Coventry. He mentioned A. Coleman, their first secretary, Tom Chapman, Harry Argyle, Canon Back, Joc White, Joe Fenton, James George, Abraham Wilkinson-all of whom made a great contribution to the development of the Guild. They should also remember how well the Guild had been served by Dorothy Beamish, Bob Roberts, Frank Pervin, Tom Male and many others too numerous to mention. How fortunate the Guild was in its present officers.
Mr. Smallwood went on to say: 'I have known your president for many years. He is destined for higher office than he has yet attained in ringing circles, and I hope he will be spared to guido your Guild for many years to come. Your secretary-what are we to say about him? He is here, there and everywhere in his keenness to serve the Guild. He will, without a doubt, take the Guild along to greater things-how fortunate you are in your choice!'
The new Cathedral, he learned, should be finished in about five years, and he hoped that before that time there would have been such a furore by the Lord Mayor and the Bishop that something would have been done to get the bells in the old Cathedral tower ringing again. It was a tragedy when the old bells of St. Michacl's were broken up, and he hoped that he had said something that would stir up discontent and enable them to get them ringing again. He coupled the name of their president (Mr. Frank Perrens) with the toast.
The president. in his reply, said Warwickshire was one of the last counties to form a Guild, and looking back over some of the earliest records he had found that the first Ringing Master was Mr. Ted Adams: he was sorry he was not with them that evening. The first annual general meeting was held in the same place as the foundation meeting. A founder member (Mr. J. F. Smallwood) had called the first peal for the Guild in 1908, and a few yeapt later Stedman Caters was rung and called by Canon Carew Cox, who was with them that evening. Five of that band were still alivethe four founder members and Bob Roberts, who was now 87 years young. At the second
A.G.M. the membership was 120 ; in 1915 it was 270 , so there was obviously a need for the Guild. Their membership had rarely passed that figure.
During those 50 years Mrs, Beamish had served the Guild as secretary for nearly half that time. Their District secretaries were doing a good job of work, and he paid special tribute to Harry Windsor, who was doing very good work in the Southern Branch, and appealed to those in that area to support his efforts. During the last few years no less than 14 restorations had been carried out-none in Coventry, he regretted to say-but things were moving and he hoped that in the future they would have a ringing peal in the city. He appealed to everyone to do all they could to get more young people interested in the Art. and said that only by keeping a constant supply of new members could they hope to keep the bells ringing. All towers must play their part.
The toast of 'The Visitors' was proposed by Mr. A. Beamish in the absence of the Ringing Master, and replied to by Canon Carew Cox, who said how delighted he was that he had been invited to do so; what a pleasure it was to renew old acquaintances and make new ones. What memories it brought to mind! It would take far too long to relate them all. Although it was over 40 years since he had taken an active part, he followed the doings of the Guild with tremendous interest as he felt he was still a part of it, and wished them success in the future.
Tunes were rendered on the handbells by members of the Guild from Chilvers Coton and Allesley. A touch of Stedman Cinques was ably brought round by F. W. Perrens, P. K. Williamson, Miss M. Beamish, J. F. Smallwood, P. Border and E. Sibley.
A most enjoyable evening was brought to a close by an omnibus vote of thanks, proposed by the hon. general secretary (Mr. J. L. GarnerНаушагя).

\section*{NORWICH DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION}

\section*{Western Branch at Gressenhall}

An interim meeting of the West Norfolk Branch was held at Gressenhall on October 5th. Twenty members were present at tea, and several others, including members of the North Norfolk Branch, arrived during the evening.
The service was conducted by the Rector (Rev. R. G. E. Dodson), who is chairman of the Branch, and as the church was decorated in readiness for the harvest thanksgiving services to be held the following day, harvest hymns were sung instead of the usual ringers' hymns.
The Rector, in welcoming the visitors, said that he was especially pleased that the Branch was holding this meeting at Gressenhall as it was just two years ago since two new trebles were added to the ring of six, thus completing the octave. The day following this present mecting, the Rector said, was another very special occasion for Gressenhall in that a 450-years-old carved oak roof in the south transept of the church had just been completely restored and repainted to its original style, and this was being dedicated at the harvest festival service by Bishop J. R. S. Taylor, former Bishop of Sodor and Man. All present had an opportunity of sceing this roof floodlit.

Thanks are due to the Rector, the organist. the Branch Ringing Master (Mr. C. Ebberson) and to the ladies for providing tea.

After tea ringing was resumed until \(90^{\circ}\) clock to a variety of methods.

\section*{GUILDFORD GUILD RECALL OLD STALWARTS}

\section*{At Annual Dinner}

ACOMPANY of 140 attended the annual dinner of the Guildford Diocesan Guild at the Stoke Hotel, Guildford, on October 19th. The tables were beautifully decorated with chrysanthemums, provided by the Master (Mr. A. Harman), who presided. It was a happy gathering, with Mr, F. E. Collins as toastmaster.
Proposing the toast of 'The memory of John S. Goldsmith and other officers and members of the Guildford Guild, Mr. C. W. Denyer said the toast had been extended this year to other officers and members because those who knew Mr. Goldsmith were few. He had heen going through some old reports and among the names he would like to bring to their attention was that of Mr. Walter Harrison: although not a ringer, he was their first chairman and did a lot for ringing. Then there was Major John Hesse and Admiral Walker, of Woking, a real old diehard, who did not starl ringing until the was 60 , and when he died he was in training for his first quarter peal! Charlie Burdock was first secretary of the Guildford District and was also Guild auditor. Another old stalwart was Bill Melville. From Farnham there was Dick Hasted and Fred Nye, and at Bagshot John Corbett. known as the Bishop of Bagshot ; Tom and George Upshall, and latterly Wilkins Massey, who was known to many as 'Onion.'
Recently they had lost Bob Whittington, a vice-president of the Guild, Jim Dodson, whose death at an early age was a great loss to the Chertsey District, and Reg Lashbury. They all did quite a lot for the Guild and helped to build it up.

The toast was drunk in silence.
Mr. H. N. Pitstow proposed the toast of The Church and the Ringing Exercise." He said, as they knew, in the 17 th and 18 th centurics bells were not rung for the service of the Church: in fact they were banned and ringing was a sport. Today they rang for services and relationships had improved.
To what extent was the ringing of church bells a service of the Church? They rang their bells to call people to church for Sunday service, although he knew the cynics would say that the majority of people who went would go whether the bells were rung or not: but there werd a few who were inspired by the sound of the bells. There were also those who could not attend for some reason or other, and possibly the bells stirred some thoughts in their hearts. To the sick the bells conveyed a special message.
At a meeting at Epsom a few years ago the Vicar told how he had just come from visiting a parishioner who was lying very ill and knew she was near her end. She said: 'I am glad you have come because I was very worried and had things on my mind, but I heard the bells ringing just now and my mind is at peace.

\section*{FASCINATING. FUN AND ENJOYMENT}

Bellringing is a fascinating hobby and we get our fun and enjoyment from it, but we must not forget that the primary purpose of ringing is for the service of the Church. Some of us ring quarters and peals; we realise that we can only get near-perfect striking by peals. But peal-ringing is a fascinating hobby and the fascination grows with our progress in the art, and if we are not careful we may forget that our primary purpose is to ring for service.
There was another side of the toast-the extent the Church could help the ringers. In the majority of towers today ringers were encouraged by their incumbent to ring, and he took an interest ; but there were a few towers where that was not the case, where the incumbent did not care. Then there were some towers where there were hells and no ringers. Here the incumbent could help because most churches had their youth group or fellowship, and where there were young people it should not be difficult to persuade them to take up ringing. He knew the first thing was to get instructors, but if approached the Guild would endeavour to provide instructors. An outstanding example was Stoke D'Abernon, where there were five hells. About two years ago they started from scratch with instructors from Leatherhead and Cobḥam. The previous Saturday one of the youngest members of that band was ringing in his tower Grandsire and Stedman Triples and Kent Treble Bob Major.

\section*{SIX DAYS A WEEK}

The Rev. J. B. Rowsell, of St. Mark's, Reading, who replied. said as a boy he learnt to ring at Aldershot. When he was at Cambridge there was an old gentleman who said: 'Ringing requires your attention six days a week and twice on Sundays.' Ringing required discipline and self-control - to do anything properly required discipline and self-control-and doing so mado a man or woman, hoy or girl, a complete personality, just as God made them for. In that way they were performing a service for God.
He agreed with Mr. Pitstow that they got a tremendous lot of fun and enjoyment out of ringing. Looking back, as a young hoy at Aldershot and afterwards at Cambridge, he remembered many happy and enjoyable occasions. not only at ringing practices, but tha few peals he had rung, the ringing meetings, the outings on bicycles and also quite a few ringing weeks on holidays. It was all very good fun and he was looking forward to the time when his ringing would not be inactive as it was today.
The Rev. P. Wilkins, of St. Michacl's, Aldershot, proposed the toast of 'The Ladies.' He said his task that evening was not to praise the wonderful hells that hung in their towers but the belles they look to church or who took them. and those with whom they rang and. alas, occasionally had their hearts wrung by them.

Miss W. R. Hide (Farnham) replied. and said apart from ringing they did a lot of work in the background, arranging for teas at meetings. refreshments at socials and helping in rummage sales. They enjoyed their ringing.

The toast 'The Visitors ' was proposed by Mr. C. J. Beadle, secretary of the Farnham District. He welcomed the Rev. John and Mrs. Rowsell, the Rev. and Mrs. B. Wilkins, the Rev. G. S. Cheetham, Mr. F. E. Collins. Mr., (Continued foot of next column)

\section*{A LANCASHIRE WORTHY}

\section*{Presentations to Mr. James Marsh}

Recently a presentation was made to Mr. James Marsh, captain of the Christ Church. Aughton, Lancs, ringers, to celebrate his 65 years as a ringer at the church. This church is well known to residents in the north of England, being situated on the highest point in South West Lancashire, and is the first building one observes when coming into the port of Liverpool.
Mr. Marsh was born on October 8th, 1877, and commenced ringing at Christ Church at the age of 15 . He rang his first peal in 1897. He joined the Liverpool Diocesan Guild of Bellringers in 1894 and later on the formation of the Lancashire Association became one of its carly members.
He has rung about 120 peals, of which 100 were for the Lancashire Association. His favourite method is Stedman, and he is one of the best conductors of this method in Lancashire. On the Sunday before his 80th birthday he called a quarter peal (Carter's Odd Bob) and on the Monday following a peal of Stedman was lost in the last course after ringing 2 hours and 50 minutes,
Mr. Marsh has rung the bells at Christ Church, Aughton, for all royal occasions since 1897, and is the only living ringer who had in 1897 rung the bells at Aughton, Ormskirk. the hlitzed church of St. Luke. Liverpool, St. Nicholas". Liverpool, and the Pro-Cathedral. He has also rung on the rehung bells of St. Nicholas', Liverpool, and last year conducted a touch of Stedman on the front eight of Liverpool Cathedral.

A cheque was given by the Parochial Church Council and a smoking outfit was presented by Mr. E. Ashcroft on behalf of his fellow ringers. It was pointed out that, in addition to his ringing activities, Mr. Marsh had been a sidesman for nearly 50 years. Mr. Marsh, in thanking the parishioners and ringers for their kind gifts, said he thanked God for the health and strength he had, and could not have done it but for the support given him by his wife. Mrs. Marsh was presented with a handbag given by members of the Mothers' Union.
Mr . Marsh is still a regular ringer attending all Sunday services and practices, and is one of the oldest active conductors in the country.

The Rev. G. S. Cheetham (Farnham), in reply, said when he first came to Farnham he was honoured by a quarter peal being rung as a welcome, and he supposed when his time came to leave Farnham he would get a muffled peal.

The entertainment included Grandsire Caters rung by Farnham District ringers: piano solos and songs by Julia and Diana Beeken: entertainment by Harold Cole; tune-ringing on handbells by Sidney Joyce and William Wright: trumpet solo by Brian Hale; and topical verse hy C. W. Denyer, W. Viggers and E. Bragg.

\section*{NYLON BELL-ROPES}

Dear Sir,-In answer to the inquiry regarding the use of nylon for bell-ropes, I am at present using nylon rope-ends on the 1 th and tenor at Croydon Parish Church.
It is a common occurrence for ropes of large bells to wear below the sally where they strike the floor, and when this happened to mine I decided to try nylon. I obtained two 15 ft . lengths of \(1 \frac{1}{2}^{\prime \prime}\) circ. white nylon rope at a cosi of 1 s . \(5 \frac{1}{2} \mathrm{~d}\). per foot from The Great Grimsby Tanning Co.. Harbour Road, Newlyn, Penzance. Cornwall. \(1 \frac{1}{2}\) " rope is the correct size for bells of 25 cwt . and over, \(1 \mathrm{l}^{\prime \prime}\) at 1 s . 3 td . per foot for bells of 12 to 25 cwt , and \(1 \frac{1}{4 " ~}^{\prime \prime}\) at 1 s . \(1 \frac{1}{2} d\). per foot for bells under 12 cwt .
Being optimistic enough to believe that these nylon rope-ends would outlast several ordinary ropes, I double-eye-spliced them in immediately below the sally in order that it would be possible to refit them to other ropes later on.

These two rope-ends have been in use since March, and in that time have been used for service ringing twice every Sunday, one practice night per week, one ringers' meeting and two peals, and do not so far show the least sign of wear. I personally have used each off them through a peal and have found them soft and comfortable to handle. There is a slight suspicion of 'stretch.' not enough to matter but enough to prove that a complete 60 ft . nylon bellrope would be too springy to be a practical proposition.
1 am quite happy with nylon for rope-ends and shall. no doubt. later on, when necessity arises experiment by fitting a short piece in to the rope at the position where it passes through the garter hole in the wheel.
My only grouse is that where my rope-ends started of a lovely white they have become impregnated with dust and are now a dingy grey.
Anyone sufficiently interested is welcome to come along to Croydon Parish Church any Tuesday evening practice and try these ropes themselves.-Yours. etc..
F. E. COLLINS.

\section*{APPRECIATION, 1s. \(7 \frac{1}{2} \mathrm{~d}\).}

Dear Sir,-I take rather a dim view of the activities of the ringers in 'A game of chance. If a tower is wanted, surely the right and proper thing to do is to write for the bells. There are far 100 many ringers who do the Exercise no good at all by dashing from one tower to another grabbing as many as possible in the shortest passage of time. Surely one's approach to a church should be as reverent as those who go to worship.
We have had. this summer, as my tower of All Saints', quite a large number of visitors. All were made welcome and, as far as I know, went away quite happy. We have on the table in the ringing chamber a visitors book and a box labelled 'Belfry Repair Fund. I have just opened it . after 12 months, and found in it the princely sum of 1 s . \(7 \frac{1}{1} \mathrm{~d}\). We do not expect anyone to pay for the privilege of ringing, but a penny in the box from each visitor would have made it possible for us to bring great joy to the heart of our stecplekeeper. He is in need of a new broom.Yours truly,

Mr. Allan R. Jones informs us that the peal rung at Newnham, Northants, on October Sth ('The Ringing World,' page 669) was false, as six of the extents were conducted wrongly.

\section*{THE NEW BEAT}

Dear Sir,-Change-ringing should always be practised with a slight 'hold up' of the leading bell at handstroke as opposed to this 'cartwheeling, which as Peter Crook says is not enjoyable to listen to. But now let's get down to some details and find out why there should be this 'gap.' Surely during a peal one might get the change

Now if this was rung 'cartwheel' style one could take the two changes as the last part of one change, then rounds, and then start off the method again as in \(-6587\)
2143 and the peal would appear false.-Yours, etc.,
ALAN A. J. BUSWELL.

\section*{Havant.}

Dear Sir, -In answer to Mr. W. Ring's query concerning what has, perhaps mistakenly, been termed the 'new beat,' I can assure him that only in inexperienced hands does it sound like the touch of Grandsire he describes. Naturally, ringing with an irregular or syncopated rhythm? is much more difficult than the strict tempo. usually aspired to, but it has, I gather, been perfected on handbells by two College Youths ringing Boh Minimus. This just goes to show that even in London it is difficult to find seven others of the same mind!

As for the accurate description required, I am afraid I can say nothing except that the regular beat must be broken up, but nevertheless into distinct rhythms, an infinite number of which are possible, and many of which have been tried. For an example. Tittums rung \(1 \times 52 \times 63 \times 74 \times 8\), where \(x\) represents a gap. sounds very effective on a heavy eight. I have heard this done perfectly by a band of learners. -Yours sincerely.

\section*{MARTHAM BELLS}

Dear Sir, - The two recent accounts of ringing tours on the Norfolk Broads made no mention of the finest tower in that areaMartham, which stands splendidly on the skyline south of Candle Dyke and, according to Dove, contains six bells. Local enquiries made this summer did not suggest that the bells were unringable, and 1 would be interested to know whether there is, in fact. some good reason why neither touring party rang there.

With regard 10 the London University tour, might I enquire whether the transfixation of - Merlin I' by a yacht's bows may have been at least partly due to the failure of the cruiser's helmsman to 'dodge properly' with the yacht, tacking down the narrow River Bure, a common trouble with cruiser people early in each week? - Yours faithfully.

HAMMERWOOD PARISH CHURCH
Dear Sir,-In 1879 a ring of five bells, tenor of cwt., approx., was installed in Hammerwood Parish Church, Sussex.

These bells have done good service to the hamlet, having been rung regularly from the time of instalment until about 1936 when the local band faded out. However, the termination of World War II saw a revival at this tower, and once again a local band was formed. This hamlet of about 280 souls has no shop, post office or public house. The entire school staft (two) are ringers.

About two years ago it was found necessary to launch an appeal for major repairs to the church, \(£ 2,000\) being the target. In this, \(£ 800\) was included for rehanging the bells in an iron frame with new fittings, etc., for they have had no attention (except amateur bodging) since the day they were installed.
So far, \(£ 1,200\) has been raised, and it now leaves only the bells to be restored.

I would like to appeal to the wholehearted generosity of our fellow ringers to helo in this great struggle in getting a ring of bells into first-class order that had once been thought written off for ever by ringers in this area.

So far seven peals have been rung on the bells, this being the greatest amount on any Sussex five. This total includes a peal of Stedman Doubles by the College Youths in 1954.

Now if every ringer could cut down by one packet of cigarettes or perhaps a pint of beer per year and send the equivalent to the Rev. H. R. Smart, The Vicarage, Hammerwood, East Grinstead, Sussex, these bells would soon be in order once again.-Yours sincerely,

\section*{East Grinstead.}
P.S.-For the past six months four bells only have been rung, owing to the derelict condition of the fourth stock and wheel. This is, indeed. poor encouragement to the very keen band of nine young ringers.-F. H. H.

\section*{The Last Day of Freedom}

The day before autumn term began meant escape into the country; this year into the Needwood Forest of Staffordshire.

A start was made with the light five at Newborough, hung in a tall, slender, octagonal tower. Rangemore, another light five, followed, but we found these difficult to ring until we got down on our hands and knees!

Newchurch (or Needwood) is unique! Here the five bells are \(1,2,3,4\) and 6 of a ring of six: 1,2 and 3 are old bells by Mears, but the story of 4 and 6 needs explaining. As to the tenor-Purdue's jewels and masterpieces aren't in the running.

The crowning glory of the day was Hoar Cross. No money was spared when Hoar Cross Church was built, and consequently the tower houses one of the finest rings in Staffordshire. Reinforcements, including the 'bright spark; of Aston, arrived in time for Little Bob and Kent before three miles cycling brought us to Abbot's Bromley. The heavy anti-clockwise five on plain bearings would be well described by one young eight-spliced conductor with Four hours dead, boy, four hours dead!"
Our visit coincided with the annual, wellknown Abbot's Bromley horn dance, a cusiom connected with ancient hunting rights in the forest, which we saw before ringing at Blithfield. This remote church near a large, new reservoir has a six, much improved with the addition of a new floor some 16ft. above the ground floor ringing room.

A wet ride to Colwich (via Lord Bagot's - back garden') dampened our spirits, and our ringing at this forlorn little church wasn't at all good. Spirits were, however, duly re: stored and cries of 'See you at Christmas' marked the end of activities for the time being. The true ringers cycled into Lichfield to join in the Cathedral practice; the same finished the day on a diesel.

\section*{A WILTSHIRE PEAL TOUR}

OWER GIRT ZEPTEMBER VAIR
Of ael naizes an zenes in tha country that are, Ther's nuthen ta beat ower girt Zeptember Vair; Now if ya da dout it, com an zee var yer-zelf, An be here day avore, August tha thurty-furst; When about dinner time ya zure will begin,

An agean try ta zink in slumberin bliss;
Then praps var a nower, ya may get a snooze, Ael depens, \(1 a\) wither much naize ya've been used?

HAD we been early 19 th century Wiltshire men and women on a ringing tour, the above words might well have been our thoughts as our coach rolled into the sleepy hollow of Aldbourne village. Before anyone can think that this is a mere flight of fancy I will say that our coach (motorised) did roll into Aldbourne village-well before the appointed time of 3 p.m. on Saturday, August 31st. Thus we were enabled to ring and explore the church before leaving a band to attempt the first peal of Tom Lock's tour for this year; and several of the party, who had rung London on those fine old bells a month before, were most pleased to renew acquaintance with Arthur Palmer. A name much in evidence in the church was that of Robert Wells, the bellfounder, who cast his bells in Aldbourne, and who was actively associated with the church in many ways. This was of particular interest to George, as his ringing career might be said to have had its earliest beginnings in Aldbourne-for it was there that Deritend bells were cast. We journeyed on to Bishopstone, first mecting George, Ralph and Stella at Swindon ing George, Ralph and Stella at Swindon stone, from whance Situkeley (1722) saw 'three cities and three cathedrals at once. Wilton, Old and New Sarum.' Selecting what seemed a likely road, Ralph, George and Philip (closely foilowed by Gordon) found that after a couple of miles' interesting motoring across the Downs, further progress along the by then admirable grass track was barred by a ploughed field! Despite certain urges we turned back and found our way to Aldbourne in time to hear the last few courses of the peal. We arrived in good time for dinner at the 16th century Castle and Ball Hotel at Marlborough, this being our headquarters for the week.

\section*{A PLEASANT SUNDAY}

Sunday morning breakfast was the more enjoyable for having rung for the early service at St. Mary's, and it was then but a short and pleasant walk under the famous college buildings and bridge to Preshute. where service was attended after the usual preliminaries. To prevent overcrowding. a splinter party of five drove to Purton, here being welcomed by Mr. Ralph Shailes, whose genial hospitality is well known to Wiltshire week-enders. At the invitation of the local band we journeyed to Bath, arriving there in golden sunshine which showed to advantage the warm stone of the fine Regency houses and the Abbey, which is being restored, and where we rang for an hour before the start of normal service ringing. After saying our goodbyes to Mr. Prestcott we drove through the city to Twerton-onAvon. where we reccived another warm welcome from Roger Fry and his keen young band, whose ringing is of a high standard.
Chilmark stone delighted our eyes on Monday, both in Amesbury and Salisbury, for this grand freestone is known as 'the empress among building materials.' The bells of Amesbury Abbey were rather oddstruck, and the attempt for the 'county' method was changed to Yorkshire, this proving successful. During some of the last few courses the Vicar was an interested spectator, and he later said how pleased he was to see us and to hear the ringing. Grandsire, Stedman, London and Spliced were accomplished on the fine eight at Downton, where there is an old Saxon earthwork moot - semi-circular raised grass seats round a little piece of water. Whilst Bill Rogers was listening to the peal at Britford, one of those meetings occurred which make one wonder whether coincidences are really more than notable concurrences. At the lychgate he met Mr. Penton, a neighbour from Rotherfield. Mr. and Mrs. Penton had returned to Britford to see the church in which they were married during that week, 50 years before! The other afternoon attempt, Pudsey, at St. Paul's, Salisbury, where the bells are not easy to hear, came to grief after an hour, due to a change course.

\section*{EIGHT SPLICED AT WOOTTON BASSETT}

Arriving at St. Mark's. Swindon, next morning, we found Brian waiting for us, he having already raised the bells. One band was left here for Yorkshire and the rest proceeded to Wootton Bassett, where Mr. Louis Wilson met us. Stephen was warmly congratulated at the end of the peal, he having ably called it at very short notice. On the one brief occasion when it was necessary he had no hesitation in proving his remarkable capabilities as a conductor, exhibiting near complete control of the ringing. We were somewhat too late for lunch at Cricklade, but found that the delay had in no way affected the excellent meal that awaited us. An early tea was possible in Swindon after a failure for Rutland at Stratton Si. Margaret. and this enabled us all to meet at Christ Church promptly at 7.30 to join the local practice night.

\section*{GOLDEN WEDDING PEALS}

The west of the county was visited on Wednesday, and as we were delayed at headquarters by the preparation of a packed pienic lunch, an advance party went by car to North Bradley. Here Fred Slatford, one of the 'vrends uv the Exercise,' met us and wished good fortune on the attempt. It was not long before the coach arrived and soon this lively ring, a Mears and Stainbank augmented six by Bilbie, of Yeovil fame, was sounding forth the satisfying first lead of Bristol. But on to Bradford-on-Avon, where Yorkshire was planned. Here the excellent bells, a light octave by Gilletts, inspired us to ring a very good peal, and the rich music caused almost permanent smiles and muted humming (particularly by one memher) to accompany the roll ups.
In the afternoon we left a band to ring Cambridge Minor at Hilperton, and after a pleasant ride through Steeple Ashton and Edington, where the architecture was much admired, we returned to find that the peal had finished, in two hours. Graham rejoined us here, having run from Trowbridge to arrive at the appointed tea time. And well worth it, too, for Mrs. Edwards and her daughter had prepared a most adequate and satisfying repast, for which she was heartily thanked. It was pleasing that the three neals were all completed. for that day was the golden wedding of Mrs. Lock's parents. Mr. and Mrs. George Bradford, of Twickenham, and we wish to associate the peals with that event and wish them continued happiness.

Our towers on Thursday included Marshfield and Colerne. Mr. J. Beazer and another local ringer met the band at the first tower and heard the peal of two-spliced right through. Mr. and Mrs. Beazer had just celebrated their 60th wedding anniversary and the peal is recorded as a compliment to them. Mr. Beazer has also completed 68 years as a ringer, still performing this duty each Sunday-we wish him many more. After a detour, occasioned by road closure, we eventually found our way towards the impressive tower of Coleme, where a good peal of six-spliced resulted, certain changes again producing delighted response. An attempt for Trowbridge at Chippenham was modified to Rutland, but still failure came! Similarly, London at Melksham, with its fine ring, was changed to Cambridge and lost by a miscall.
Cambridge was the method for neals on Friday-Major at the 14 th century church of Warminster on a ring which sounds lighter than its weight inside the tower: and Minor on the fine but slow-swinging six at Heytesbury, with its churchyard of unpremeditated beauty.

The afternoon was occupied by leisurely visits to Mere and Longbridge Deverill, where the usual complement of methods from Grandsire to Spliced was duly aired. In the lounge of the hotel that evening the thanks of the company werc accorded to Kath and Tom for organising the tour, and a material expression of our appreciation and regard came when Mick presented to them a fine electric clock. One member from a wellknown Midlands centre hoped that the clock would not be slow at hand
Our peal attempt at Urchfont on Saturday morning had to be cance!led due to local illness, and ringing was limited to a few short touches. A disappointment this. for the bells are a fine old ring with a mellow 21 cwt . tenor cast in the early 17th century by John Wallis, of Sarum. The third Rotherfield coincidence occurred her-for the postman, a local ringer, once lived there. Bratton Church was very elusive, causing a late arrival, and after two very short attempts for London Minor, we realised that we then had insufficient time for a peal.

\section*{FINE BELLS IN DEVIZES}

In the afternoon we had a brief ring on the tuneful six at Southbroom, the fine \(7 \frac{1}{2} \mathrm{cwt}\). tenor by James Wells, of Sarum, bearing a date of 1602. After this we saw, amongst other things, many oid flags hanging from the walls of this garrison church of the Wiltshire Regiment, whose official song is "The vly he on the turmut." Mr. A. Weeks, who was our guide, accompanied most of the party to the local meeting and tea at Bromham where the ringing on the grand six was much enjoyed. Eight of us were left at St. John's, Devizes, to attempt the final peal of the week -an 'omen' one of I.incolnshire. The very good peal on one of the most impressive rings of the week left little to he desired, and ensured that we waited for the rest of the party in a warm frame of mind.
The dissimilar memories among many that remain of this convivial week are of the exquisite carving of 'The Last Supper" at Siceple Ashton, and the numerous evening visits to the Post Office by the males in the party. The usual thanks are extended to all who contributed to the success of the tour. and helped provide a store of memories for the future.

\section*{DURHAM AND NEWCASTLE DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION}

\section*{Annual Meeting at West Hartlepool}

A few years ago the rule of this Association governing the annual meeting was given some fiexibility iu timing and location, and West Hartlepool was chosen for the third experiment on new locations in the diocese of Durham. In spite of its situation near an edge of the territory, West Hartlepool attracted quite a good attendance for the annual meeting on September 28th.

Ringing took place on the two eights-St. Aidan's and All Saints'. Stranton-before the service at All Saints', followed by tea at St. Matthew's Hall. The service was conducted by the Vicar of Stranton (the Rev. H. Hancock).

A company of 50 was present at tea. A list of some 12 apologies for absence was received, some of them victims of the influenza epidemic.

The president (Mr. K. Arthur) welcomed those present and expressed his feelings of pleasure on completion of a year as president. The year had been a happy one with the major emphasis on social functions rather than on ringing. He hoped to continue his policy of visiting all District meetings and attending practices throughout the area. He was grateful for the assistance of his fellow officers.

The general secretary 's' report, presented by Mr . D. A. Bayles, spoke of the outstanding event of the year as undoubtedly being the - 80 th birthday, celebrations in Durham. In a year that had been concerned with the heritage from the past it was sad that five very long service members had been lost through death, viz.: Canon H. S. Stephenson and Messrs. J. E. R. Keen, G. W. Peverell, F. Robson and J Smith, with a combined service of over 250 years. Such stalwart and faithful service was part of the heritage in which we could rejoice and derive inspiration for the future. Work on the restoration of the bells of St. Cuthbert's, Benfieldside, had been completed, and the reopening would take place in November. The position of the bells of Durham Cathedral, however, gave much cause for anxicty. Anxicty was also felt on the financial side for rises in printing costs, and postal charges did not make things easier.

\section*{A FINANCIAL PROBLEM}

The cash statement was presented by the treasurer (Mr. F. Ainsley). The balance in the general fund had declined from \(£ 5610\) s. 5 d . to \(£ 529 \mathrm{~s} .7 \mathrm{~d}\). The dinner at Durham had incurred a loss which more than accounted for the decline, but even so he had to issue to warning on the financial position. A current membership of 215 with some interest gave an income of \(£ 4410\) s. per annum, whereas he outlined a budget running to \(£ 475 \mathrm{~s}\). for the forthcoming year. Measures must therefore be taken to prevent a running down of the funds.

The editorial secretary (Mr. J. Brewster) pre sented the peal report: 24 peals were the lowest total since 1950. but the number included several of the higher methods. No first pealer or first as conductor appeared in the list of ringers and conductors. J. A. Ainsworth had the highest individual total with 16 , followed by D. A. Bayles and E. N. Harrison 12, and K Lawson 10. In conducting, J. A. Ainsworth led with 6, followed by D. A. Bayles with 5

The officers were re-elected en bloc, with the complete list reading: President, K. Arthur: general secretary, D. A. Bayles: treasurer, F Ainsley; editorial secretary, J. Brewster: hon. auditor, J. F. Bird. In the peal referees W. J. Davidson, R. and W. N. Park were re-elected, with the addition of D. A. Bayles in place of the late J. E. R. Keen.

District officers were confirmed, the only alteration being the retirement of Mr. S.
Thompson as vice-president for the Western District. The list, therefore. for \(1957-58\) reads: Northern District-Vice-president, J. A. Ainsworth; secretary, G. S. Deas; Southern-T. Cooke and E. P. Rock: Eastern-C. N. Lea and W. F. Sheraton; Western-K. W. Cheeseman and C. T. Lamb.

Votes of thanks were accorded to the incumbents who had allowed the use of their bells, and especially the Rev. H. Hancock for also conducting the service, to the organist (Mr. J. Brewster), to the ladies who prepared the tea and to the retiring officers.

Meetings for 1957-58 were arranged by the committee as follows: November 91h, Benfieldside (by special invitation, for the rededication of the bells); March 15th, J. W. Parker commemoration, St. Ignatius', Sunderland: half yearly, May 17th, Stockton: annual meeting, Newcastle (date to be arranged).

Eight new members were elected-Misses B. and J. Cooke, Miss P. Dowse and D. Newton (St. Cuthbert's, Darlington). Miss E. Hodgson (Hurworth), J. Vickery (Tanfield), Miss E. Heckford and W. Shewan (South Shields).

A retiring collection of \(£ 110 \mathrm{~s}, 7 \mathrm{~d}\). was placed in the Bell Restoration Fund.

St. Matthew's Hall reverted to its normal Saturday evening activity as badminton players moved in and bellringers moved out for more ringing on the ten of St. Oswald's. Perhaps some on each side thought what queer activities other people indulge in as the change-over took place!

\section*{OXFORD DIOCESAN GUILD \\ Banbury District Meeting}

The autumn meeting of the Banbury and District Branch was held at Steeple Aston, onetime home of Richard Duckworth, the famous campanologist and contemporary of Fabian Stedman, on October 19th. About 40 members and visitors from North Berks attended and took part in the ringing, which varied from rounds to Treble Bob.
The service was conducted by the Rector, and the Branch chairman presided at the tea and the business meeting: when he had to leave early his place was taken by the general secretary of the Guild (Miss M. R. Cross), who always seems to be on hand to help the Branch.
The next quarterly meeting was fixed for January 4th at Tadmarton: the next monthly practice for November 9th at Bloxham when, in addition ta standard methods, it is hoped to ring Wellington Little Court and Gainsborough Little Bob.
Among other business was the election of five new members, the rearrangement of the rota of towers for quarterly meetings, and the appointment of a small committce to plan a social evening during the coming winter.

On the way home after the meeting, some intrepid spirits 'grabbed ' Stceple Barton, where the bells had not previously been rung up for a very long time.

\section*{THE LADIES' GUILD \\ Yorkshire District}

At the quarterly meeting of the Yorkshire District, held at Bolsover on October 12th. one new mentiber was elected. making the total present at the meeting up to 12 .
During the evening the ladies rang a course of Grandsire Triples on the delightful bells in the old church, which was beautifully decorated for harvest festival.
The next meeting is being planned for November 16th at Thryhergh, near Rotherham. when all support will be welcome. E. A. W.

\section*{DEDICATION}

\section*{Bitterne Park, Southampton}

\(B^{\mathrm{E}}\)EFORE a crowded congregation, including some 60 ringers, the Bishop of Southampton dedicated the new ring of eight bells at the Church of the Ascension. Bitterne Park, Southampton, on October 18th. Ringers present included Mr. H. V. Young (Leatherhead) and Mr. Hatto (Henley-on-Thames) ; Mr. A. A. Hughes represented Messrs. Mears and Stainbank, and with him were Messrs. W. Theobald and S Sharland.
This is a modern church, and the brick tower has been added in recent years. The ringing floor is open to the church and contains the font. The bell-ropes hang in two arches along the walls and this is done in order not to obscure the view of the lovely west window. The result is a poor circle, for which the bellfounders are not responsible. Otherwise the bells are a very handy eight with a tenor of 8 cwt . in A flat.
In the procession to the lower for the dedication were the Rev. C. E. C. Brinkworth and the Rev. K. W. H. Felstead. The opening rounds were rung by members of the Southampton University Guild and the opening louch by Ruth Carey 1. R. Reed 2, W. Theobald 3, A. Hughes 4, R. Finch 5, D. Jackson 6, C. Kippin 7, S Sharland 8.
The Bishop took as his text for his address - Ye shall speak into the air, and said the ring of bells incorporated three things: (1) Town and country, as bells given by town and country parishes were cast into the new ring: Past and present, as the ring included old and new bells: (3) Love and loyalty, as bells had been given as memorials and gifts and the original bells had often been rung for victory and peace.
In a word to the ringers the Bishop said they needed three things in common with other Church workers-fitness, partnership and obedience. He mentioned the great work the ringers were doing for the Church and said that when he was working in the Fens he had on several occasions dedicated peal boards.

\section*{THE BELLS}

Treble.- 'The Hosanna Bell,' the gift of the children of Bitterne Park.
Second. -The Alleluia Bell.' cast from bells given by the Churches of Si. Lawrence and Holy Trinity, Southampton (bombed and dcmolished). and Nutley, Hants (redundant and demolished).
Third, fourth, fifth, sixth, seventh, tenor.Purchased from the Church of St. Maurice. Winchester, which is unden tho shadow of the Cathedral, found to be redundant and site sold.
The tenor has been recast and is now approximately 8 cwt. in A flat.

\section*{BARNSLEY & DISTRICT SOCIETY}

In a hearty welcome to Christ Church. New Mill. for the Society's monthly meeting on October 12 th, the Vicar (Rev. F. F. W. Frost) said this was the Society's first visit and he hoped it would not be the last. The next meeting was fixed for November 7ih at Kirkthorpe, Wakefield.

Proposing a vote of thanks, the president (Mr Noel F. Moxon) specially mentioned the vicar and churchwardens, Mr. Norman Tinker and the local company, for making the necessary arrangements, and Mrs. Ben Booth for the cups of tea.

Good use was made of the bells during the afternoon and evening in methods to suit all tastes.

\section*{OBITUARY \\ MR. FRED GILES}

The death occurred very suddenly at his home in Worcester, on October 12th, of Mr. Fred Giles, of the St. John's band. He had been present at the St. John's ringers' annual supper the previous evening and sang several songs.

Fred, who was 62 years of age, learned to handle a bell in St. John's tower over \(30^{\prime}\) years ago, and became a member of the old 6-bell band there, at that time, and remained a member until the time of his death. He was not very interested in peal ringing (he rang in one only) but preferred to ring for Sunday services, and an occasional quarter, always ringing the seventh. He was scldom absent on Sunday cyenings. He assisted in the maintenance of the church clock for some years, and rendered a very useful service in this respect. A black. smith by trade, employed by Mr. E. P. Thomas, at The Climax Works, Worcester, for many years, he was always a very hard and conscientious worker.

The funcral at St. John's on October 17th was conducted by the Rev. M. Richands (Vicar), assisted by the Rev. R. Hunter-Bailey (curate). Apart from the family mourners and representatives of The Climax Works, the congregation included many ringers, together with members of the St. John's band-Messrs. W. Lewis (Ringing Master), T. W. Lewis, J. Jefferies, W. Compton, W. Sidwell, R. Woodyatt, C. Tansell, W. Collins and F. Hyde; J. J. Stanier (Worcester Cathedral), E. Wilson (Claines), J. Ranford (Suckley), A. T. Hollis (Powick) and F. Pugh (Hallow).

In the course of an address the Vicar paid a fine tribute to deceased's memory, with particular reference to the work he had done for the church. Following the service a touch of Grandsire Triples was rung with the bells halfmuffled by the local ringers.

We at St. John's extend to the widow and family our sincere sympathy, and shall retain very happy memories of a good friend, who will be sadly missed.

\section*{POINTS FROM RECENT PEALS}

0NCE again the time has come round for our (approximately) quarterly review of the peals that have been rung. First of all, three cathedrals are in the news this time. At Newcastle, on July 27th, was rung the 100 th peal since the first appearance in 'Bell News' in 1892. But there were older ones there, and actually I have come across four, in 1808. 1809, 1842 and 1848. Guildford Cathedral has had more than 300 peals, yet the peal of Spliced Surprise Major in July was the first of 'spliced' on the bells-most unusual for these days! Portsmouth Cathedral didn't quite manage its 100 th peal on the bells before they were temporarily silenced for augmentation and rehanging-the total is 97 , including the first peal there in 1749. Seventy-three have been rung since the last war!
As usual, a few towers have passed 'landmarks ' since I last wrote. Colchester (St. Peter's), Great Bentley, Davenham, Eccleston, Upchurch and Holywell have all had their 50th peal in this time, whilst the next peals at Farnham Royal and Wombourn will be their 50 th too. All but one of those at Holywell have been rung since the war-the 'odd man out; being the first on the bells in 1925. Lavenham is approaching an even more important occasion-the next peal there will be the 150 th since 1881. But there are probably earlier ones here.
The name St. Lawrence Jewry was the most infrequent visitor to the peal columns during this period. In fact, it is the first time it has ever appeared with a peal in 'The Ringing World,' even though it is a well-known name! Of course, the church was 'blitzed' and has now been restored, but even before 1940, no peal had been rung for over 50 years-the last being in 1887. Although the first peal was rung here in 1727, I gather that, owing to its proximity to important places in the City, the four or five peals I have come across*are probably all that have ever been rung there. But a 70 -years peal silence is a long time, making the 35 years of West Pennard seem quite ordinary. There had been two previous peals here-Grandsire Doubles in 1913 and Bob Minor in 1922. Chediston and Carlton in Cleveland both appeared last in 1925. At the former, 16 peals were rung from 1908 to 1914. and 6 from 1920 to 1925; at the latter 6 peals came from exactly the same pre-first war period, but only the one in 1925 after it (this was Double Norwich like the recent peal).
The peal of Bob Major at Charlton Horethorne was only the third peal' on the bells, the previous two being Superlative in 1909 and Grandsire Triples in 1930, so we have to wait a long time for this tower to appear at that rate. I confirm the footnote to the peal at Dulverton that it was the first since 1933, when the only peal of Major on the bells was rung. There have been 7 peals in all now. Three towers last were mentioned in 1934-Dennington, which had 15 peals from 1919 to that year ( 4 in 1921) ; Newton Hall, whose 4 previous peals were rung in 1905, 1908, 1911 and 1934; and Laxfield ( 6 peals from 1914 to 1934). Then we come to Hampstead Norreys with its first peal since 1937. There have been 4 in all now, including the first peal on the bells which was never published in 'Bell News' in 1910, but which appears in the Oxford Diocesan Guild peal records. Haughton's last peal was in 1938. The first peal here was as early as 1886, but only 9 have been rung in all. Then Gawsworth appears twice within a month after being missing since 1939! The peal of Bristol was the first of Surprise on the bells. There have been 15 in all now.
Then one or two corrections to footnote claims. I fear the peal of Cambridge rung at Phillack in September was not the first of Surprise on the bells. Superlative was rung there in 1934. Similarly, the claim for the first of Cambridge Royal at Swindon cannot be substantiated. This method was rung there in 1935.
Several towers had their first peal in the past three months-some were claimed as such and some were not. Here is the list: Barrow (Suffolk), Windrush (Glos.) and Corsham (Wilts) and, of course, the R.C. Cathedral at Wexford.

Stockbury and Huntingfield, both 5-bell towers, reached double figures for their peal totals recently. This brings the total of such towers now to 21 .

I confirm that the peal at Motcombe was the first of Minor on the bells. Actually it was only the second peal there, the first being in 1945. I also confirm that High Littleton had its first peal of Stedman Doubles.
Other points of interest noticed include the first peal of Grandsire Triples at Rawmarsh since 1930. Before that, it had been 1893, although there are nearly 50 peals here. The appearance of Stansted reminded us that there had been 153 peals at this church from 1889 to 1933, and only 4 since that date, including the one in August. Dersingham had its 16 th consecutive peal of Bob Minor, starting in 1951. Bebington's 50th anniversary peal showed there had been 71 peals in all from the first on the cight in 1907. Actually, there had been 6 here when it was a 6-bell tower, from 1893 to 1904.

Mr. A. B. Peck, secretary of the Ancient Society of College Youth for the past 20 years, announced his retirement from office at the Society's annual dinner last Saturday. The name of Mr. John Chilcott was mentioned as a possible successor.

The footnote to the peal of Plain Bob Major at Backwell, Somerset (page 667), should read : - First peal of Plain Bob Major on the bells and as conductor.
The members of the band who rang the peal at Fressingficld on October 24th would like to express their appreciation to Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Etheridge for their kind hospitality.

Mr. Sidney Harrison, Master of St. John-theDivine, Leicester, is back in our peal columns after an absence of five years. The peal, Cambridge Surprise Minor, at the Loughborough Foundry, was rung after meeting short for Yorkshire Surprise Major, and was specially arranged for two visitors from Portsmouth-Messrs. F. W. Burnett and E. Keith Jordon.

Probably the quickest peal of Stedman Triples ' in hand ' ( 1 hour 51 minutes) has been rung at Leicester, conducted by Mr. Peter Staniforth. While Peter has called several peals of Stedman Caters and Cinques, this was his first 'in hand' of Stedman Triples. The peal reminded our correspondent of the perfect tapping of the Carter ringing machine.
To mark the 10 th anniversary of the recasting and rehanging of Wakeficld Cathedral bells a peal of Grandsire Caters was rung on the bells. In honour of the occasion the Provost of Wakefield and the churchwardens invited the ringers to dinner on St. Luke's Day, the actual day of dedication, and everyone had a happy and enjoyable evening. On the following Sunday courses of Grandsire Cinques, Stedman Caters and Bob Royal were rung.

It will be a ' major surprise to many ringers to hear that the Brown twins from Aldrington have pulled a 'double-dodge ' after 'hunting up and down' for several years. Having remained ' single ' for so long, they are being 'spliced ' in matrimony next spring. We hasten to remind them, however, that it will cost them a few 'bobs' to get married, but hope they will enjoy being ' roped-up'-Harry with Miss Joan Palmer, and Stan with Miss Rosemary Patching. All of us from Aldrington send our heartiest congratulations and hope there will be some litile 'minors' in the future.
We regret to learn that Mr. Frank Bennett is seriously ill and was taken to Brighton General Hospital (Ward F), Elm Grove, Brighton, on Sunday.
The band at St. Peter's, Leckhampton, Glos, has been greatly strengthened by the appointment of the Rev. J. Humphreys as additional curate. He thus returns to his home town and the church at which he first learnt to ring.
Ringers of St. Mary's, Stafford, remembered the 80th birthday of Mr. J. Warrilow by ringing a quarter peal. Mr. Warrilow keeps fairly well, but failing sight prevents him from taking an active part in ringing. He is, however, still keenly interested, and is pleased to know that his grandson is following in the Warrilow tradition.
Mrs. R. J. Wilkins, one of the lady members of the Ancient Society of College Youths, who was the first lady to ring a peal (Stedman Cinques) at St. Mary Redcliffe, died at Bristol on September 23 rd, aged 89 years. She was the wife of Mr. Raymond J. Wilkins, also a member of the Ancient Society and for many years was a member of St. Stephen's, Bristol. To her memory a half-muffed quarter peal was rung at St. Stephen's, Bristol, on September 30th.

\section*{ESSEX ASSOCIATION'S FOURTH ANNUAL DINNER}

THE fourth annual dinner of the Essex Association was held on October 12th in the Picture Room in the Shire Hall, at Chelmsford. It was a company of over 100 that gathered for the occasion under the able and dignified chairmanship of the Master of the Association, Mr. Robert Heazel.
The top table and the three long sprigs presented a wonderful sight, and at each place was an attractive menu card, a product of the able secretary of the Association. The meal itself was all that could bo expected or desired, and long before the coffee stage there was an atmosphere of real enjoyment.

The Master proposed the toast 'The Queen,' and glasses were raised to Her Majesty who had that morning left for her visit to Canada and the United States of America.

The Master then proposed the toast of 'The Church,' and referred to the honour and privilege of being asked to propose this particular toast as he had been privileged on the same day 25 years before to propose a similar toast. After referring to the absence of the three bishops and the Archdeacon, who were all engaged on diocesan duties that evening, the Master comprehensively surveyed the work of the Church, and in particular referred to the fact that the Church was the deciding factor in the world today, and that the Archbishop of Canterbury was being attacked by the popular press because he was outspoken against things which were neither right nor proper. The ringers were the voice of the Church. and should see that their contribution to its welfare was as large as possible.

The Provost of Chelmsford (the Very Rev. G. E. Gordon), in replying to the toast said he knew that the clergy did not visit the belfries very often, but that did not mean that the work of the Association was not appreciated. He assured the company that the Church was in good heart. One of the most pleasing factors was the number of candidates coming forward for ordination. These candidates were all good clergy. The problem now was the number of theological colleges.

The Provost ended his reply by telling the company of the work which was going on in the Cathedral to beautify the choir and the sanctuary.
The toast of 'The Essex Association' was proposed by Mr. E. A. Barnett, the hon. secretary of the Central Council. Mr. Barnett said that it was a great pleasure to go to ringers' dinners, which were always pleasurable. It was even more pleasurable to go to the Essex Association dinner so as to thank the Association for their hospitality to the Central Council at Whitsun, 1957.

Mr. Barnett reviewed the life of the Essex Association from its inception 75 years ago up to the present time, and referred in particular to some of the great ringers and secretaries which the Association had been fortunate to have among its members.

Mr. F. V. Gant in reply thanked Mr. Barnett for coming from Crayford to propose the toast, and read letters of apology from the Bishops of Chelmsford, Colchester and Barking.

Mr. Gant said that the members had come from far and wide to attend the dinner and, in fact, one member had travelled especially from Denmark to be present.
The toast 'The Vice-Presidents ' was proposed by the deputy Master (Mr. H. Turner), who said that the Association had been very fortunate in the vice-presidents they had had in the past and whora they had at the present. They had great calls upon their services but they were always ready to help the Association whenever called upon. It was always a matter (Continued foot next column)

PICTURED above is Miss H. Helmore, daughter of the late Canon Helmore, who was secretary of the Kent County Association for 39 years, presenting Mr. E. J. Luck, of Canterbury, with a cheque for \(£ 3210\) s. and a testimonial, subscribed to by members of the Canterbury District, in recognition of his 21 years of service as secretary of the Canterbury District of the K.C.A.
The presentation took place previous to the annual meeting of the Canterbury District on October 12th, when there was a large attendance, approximately 120 sitting down to tea. These represented 23 towers in the District.
Ringing during the afternoon was at St. Dunstan's Church, where the service was also held, this being conducted by the Vicar (Rev. A. L. Lawler), with an address by the Bishop of Dover (Rt. Rev. L. E. Meredith). Boys and of surprise to him how the bishops and senior clergy of the diocese could always remember ringers and where they had met them.

The toast was responded to by Mr. James Chalk, one of the life vice-presidents, in a gay and witty vein.
The toast of 'The Artistes and Guests ' was proposed by Miss H. G. Snowden, who recited, much to the merriment of the company, her one and only experience of the exercise of her artistic talent. Miss Joan Edwards, in a little and dainty speech, replied, in the most regretted absence of Dr. Armstrong Gibbs.
The experiment was continued of mixing speeches and entertainment. The company were regaled by courses of Bob Major and Grandsire Triples on handbelis by Miss H. G. Snowden and Messrs. F. Lufkin, L. W. Wiffen and G. Wiffen. Songs were provided by Miss Joan Edwards (soprano) and Mr. H. Dorking (baritone). Mr. David Smith, the broadeasting raconteur, enlivened the proceedings by his country storics.

The company rose at 10.25 p.m. to make their way home fully satisfied and earnestly looking forward to next year's dinner.
lady members of the choir attended the service, their numbers being augmented by ringers, the service being altogether something to remember.
Tea was taken in the Church Hall, the meal being prepared by the St. Dunstan's ringers and friends. The Bishop remained for the tea and business meeting, and also welcomed were Dr. Hatcher (general secretary) and Mr. J. Willis (vice-president).
Mr. J. A. Russell took the chair for the business meeting. The secretary reported that there had been 322 subscriptions received from praclising and honorary members in the District, an increase of 10 over last year, with still some subscriptions to come in. There were 28 fully paid up towers.

Mr. J. A. Russell (Birchington) was reclected chairman: Mr. W. S. Palin (Faversham) to serve again as Ringing Master; Mr. B. J. Luck was also re-elected as District secretary. For the offices as representatives, Mr. D. C. Chatfield (Canterbury) and Mr. E. T. Eades (Ospringe) were elected by ballot. Wingham was chosen as the place of the next quarterly meeting, and it was announced that the usual social would be held on November 16th.
Before the presentation was made, Mr. I. Willis (a vice-president) said that under Mr. Luck's guidance the Canterbury District had reached a pitch of efficiency and happiness that it had never before altained. This was largely due to Mr. Luck's efforts. In him the Association had one who accepted responsibility and made the best of the joh he undertook. They acknowledged that day his services.
Presenting the cheque, Miss Heimore also spoke of Mr. Luck's good work and observed: "As my father would have said to you, "Don"t spend it all on sweets "!'
Mr. Luck thanked the members and the Association. He said that the presentation came as a complete surprise.
Mrs. Luck received a 3lb, box of chocolates for her part in this great secretary-wife partnership. A bouquet was also presented to Miss Helmore.
Ringing took place in the evening at the Cathedral and also at St. Dunstan's.

\section*{OXFORD DIOCESAN GUULD'S AUTUMN MEETING}

THERE was much to discuss at the Oxford Diocesan Guild's new venture, an autumn general meeting, which was held at High Wycombe on October 12th. The Master (Rev. C Elliot Wigg) presided over an attendance of about 90 , and he was supported by the hon. treasurer (Mr. A. D. Barker), the hon. librarian (Mr. H. L. Roper) and the hon. general secretary (Miss M. R. Cross). The deputy Master (Mr. F. Sharpe) was absent through attending the Coventry Diocesan Guild dinner in his capacity as president of the Central Council.

Introducing a discussion on the publication of the report, the hon. secretary said if it were not for the reports the Guild would be in a sound financial position and could pay its way each year by working within its yearly income. The report was 'a luxury' in that it caused the Guild to lose money annually. During the current year it had been possible to save money by issuing the abridged report which had been duplicated for \(£ 7\). An estimate had been received from the printers for 800 reports of \(£ 115\), which would work out at 2 s. \(10 \frac{1}{2}\) d. each. During the animated discussion Mr. A. Diserens pointed out that other Guilds sold their reports for 2 s . 6 d . because they contained compositions. By this way they might boost the sales.

Mr. A. H. Cross (Old Windsor) suggested that the report could be shortened by removing the peals. The majority of peal ringers took The Ringing World' so it was not therefore necessary to print peals in the report.

Mr. W. Hunt (Twyford) advocated a peal booking fee.

Mr. W. Birmingham agreed that an interesting report was of prime importance if it werc to sell. He found the abridged report of far greater interest than the full one because reports from the Branches gave a picture of the Guild as a whole.

Mr. Barker suggested that a solution was in alternating the reports-a full printed one and the next year a duplicated one on the lines of the 1956 report. He proposed and Mr. P. Walker seconded that the report for \(1956-7\) be printed in full. This motion was carried.
Mr. J. W. Hall (Winslow) proposed a peal booking fee of Is. per rope to help pay for the printing.

Mr. Birmingham commented that this would penalise peal ringers who were the hackbone of the Guild.

Mr. E. G. Edmans strongly disagreed with this and said it was the Sunday service ringer who was the backbone of both the Guild and the Exercise.

A lively few minutes was terminated by Mr. A. E. Lock proposing that the meeting go on to the next business, which was carried.

Mr. W. Butler proposed that Rule 5, paragraph 2, be altered as follows: A resident ringing member shall subscribe 5 s . per annum. Mr. W. Birmingham seconded and said the subscription would only then be in the same relation to the cost of living as it was pre-war.
There was very strong opposition to this, and Miss Cross read the aims of the Guild as set out in the Revision of Rules, that the Guild was primarily to help the work of the Church. This, she said, could not be done if instead of increasing the membership it was decreased.

After discussion, the meeting eventually adopted an amendment sent in by the North Bucks Branch, 'That the subscription remain at 2s. 6d. but that each tower should pay for the reports it had and that any member requiring a report should notify his Branch secretary before the end of the year and should pay for it on receipt of the same.

An excellent tea was provided by Mr. and Mrs, Anthony Cox and their helpers. As it was a huffet tea, many members took advantage of the opportunity to renew old friendships with those who came from other parts of the Guild.
The Master proposed a hearty vote of thanks to the Vicar of High Wycombe for the use of the parish church and the bells: to Mr. S. Lester, succentor of Radley College, for playing the organ at the service ; to the incumbents and ringers who had placed their bells at the disposal of the Guild that day; to the secretary for the arrangements she had made: and last but not least to Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Cox and their helpers for all they had done to provide such an excellent tea.

The Guild office followed in the Parish Church, which was taken by the Master, who also gave an excellent and thoughtful address. During the address he mentioned that it was exactly 25 years earlier that he had preached his first sermon from that same pulpit after being ordained at the previous Michaelmas. The singing was of a very high standard.

After the service the following towers were available for ringing: High Wycombe, West Wycombe, Hughenden, Beaconsfield. Wooburn, Marlow, Lane End and Penn.

\section*{ARCHDEACONRY OF STAFFORD SOCIETY}

A new venture for the Society for the Archdeaconry of Stafford was a joint meeting with the Northern Branch of the Worcestershire Association. This meeting took place on October 19th at Kinver, a well-known local beauty spot situated in the south western extremity of the - Staffords ' territory on the Worcestershire border. The parish church of St. Peter occupies a prominent position on high ground overlooking the village and commands extensive views of the delightful countryside in which Kinver is located.
The pleasing ring of eight bells (tenor 12 cwt.) was put to good use during the afternoon and evening. The Vicar of Kinver (Rev. D. Watson) conducted the service and gave the address. Tea. at which 76 sat down, was partaken of in the Parish Room. After tea, Mr. F. Bennett for the 'Staffords.' and Mr. Keith Salter for the "North Worcesters expressed thanks to the Vicar, the organist (Mr. Morris) and Mr. Jones, of the local hand, for their respective efforts in making this meeting so enjoyable. An apology was received from Mr. Bernard Ashford hon secretary of the Northern Branch of the Worcestershire Association, who was prevented by pressure of husiness from attending this successful meeting.

The next meeting of the Society for the Archdeaconry of Stafford will be at Willenhall on January 18th.

\section*{RINGING IN CALGARY, CANADA}

Few ringers realise, perhaps, that there has been a ring of bells-and a group of ringersat Christ Church (Anglican). Elbow Park, Calgary, Alberta. Canada, since 1955. The ring of eight in B flat was cast by Gillett and Johnston. Croydon. The tenor ( 952 lb .) is in commemoration of the visit of the Archbishop of Canterbury in 1955, when he laid the church's foundation stone at the time of the enlargement and completion of the church. A small group of ringers was shown how to handle a bell in three short lessons following the installation of the original three hells by John Nicolls, of Croydon, the foundry's installation expert. From then on the ringers practised and rang the three bells without other help. Later they found Mr. F. C. Papworth, who had not rung bells for 50 years, and who now gives new ringers elementary lessons.

Early in 1957 the group was fortunate in finding two expert ringers; Godfrey (Jeff) White, of Victoria. B.C., moved to Edmonton. some 200 miles north of Calgary. He comes down to ring and advise every two or three weeks. He taught the group to ring rounds properly and also started them on changeringing. When Mr. White first dropped in he found the Calgary group ringing rounds so slowly on their six bells that the ringers were practically setting their bells on each stroke. Since the advent of Mr. White they have made excellent progress and are ringing rounds like experts. They are also making good progress on change-ringing.
Last spring Miss Judy Midgeley, an English nurse, who went to Lacombe last winter to follow her profession, found the Calgary group. Miss Midgeley is an expert ringer and has joined the group whenever she can get a ride the 125 miles to Calgary. Fortunately she is moving to one of the large Calgary hospitals and will join the group on a regular basis.

The last two bells were just installed last August and the full ring of eight was heard for the first time on Sunday. September 8 th . Mr. Izard, of Victoria, and his daughter, Margaret, made the trip of some 800 miles from Victoria especially for the occasion. Practices were held on Friday and Saturday and the ringing (rounds and simple changes) on Sunday was remarkable. Quite a number of Old Country parishioners thought the bells were as good as any they had ever heard. In all fairness it should be noted that the hour-and-aquarter of ringing was done by four experts along with four novices. The help of Mr. and Miss Izard was appreciated very much and everyone felt that their visit had been of the greatest help.
Ringing takes place now at Calgary every Sunday morning before the \(110^{\circ}\) clock service and practices are held once a week. Any ringer visiting Calgary can be assured of a very warm welcome in the tower.

HELLINGLY, SUSSEX.-On Oct. \(13 \mathrm{th}, 1.260\) Grandsire Doubles: S. D. A. Price 1, Judith D. Funnell 2. Kathleen M. Yeo (cond.) 3, F. H. Beeney 4. G. Beeney 5, T. J. Mathews (first quarter) 6. Rung by the local ringers as a farewell to the conductor, who is leaving the disurict.

\section*{LETTERS TO THE EDITOR}

\section*{BAT, MOUSE AND CLOCK}

Dear Sir,-In "The Ringing World" for April 12th, 1957. under "Belfry Gossip " there appeared a paragraph beginning 'It's not bats in the belfry, but mice, at Burghill, Hereford

Today-six months later-we can write, 'It's not mice in the belfry at Burghill, but bats. The explanation of this is interesting. On my way home from work recently I noticed that the churah clock had stopped for \(3 t\) hours. I thought perhaps a wire carrying one of the weights had snapped, or that the jackdaws had been nest-building near one of the clock's three faces. On investigating, however, I found a baby bat, still alive but injured, entangled in the escapement of the clock's mechanism, thus causing the giant pendulum to stop swinging.
The clock, which strikes the hours and halfhours on the tenor bell. was erected to commemorate the diamond jubilee year of Queen Victoria's reign in 1897. This year the clock 'celebrates' its own diamond jubilee, having completed 60 years of almost continuous and perfect time-keeping.-Yours truly,
F. MORRIS.

\section*{TWO FUNDAMENTALS}

Dear Sir,-May I appeal to the Exercise to clarify the naming of two fundamentals? The relationship between two rows may be regarded in two different ways, viz.:-
(a) Noting which positions interchange, irrespective of the figures concerned, and
(b) Noting which figures change places, ir respective of the positions concerned.
1 believe that ( \(a\) ) is termed a 'transposition to change-ringers and that ( \(b\) ) has no precise name. I venture to suggest the term 'transfigure ' as being analogqus.
To give examples:
48621735 (c) 12345678 (a) 48621735 (c) 17482356 (d) 56124783 (b) 23765814 (e) (a) to (b) is the same transposition as (c) to (d). and is the same transfigure as (c) to (e).

The two ideas are complementary, and the hasic property of rows is that if (a) to (b) is the same transposition as (c) to (d), then (a) to (c) and (b) to (d) are identical transfigures, and vice-versa. It is this basic property which makes methods possible, as the relations within 'leads, etc., are fixed transpositions, while those between different leads are fixed transfigures.
At the risk of reviving old and barren controversies, I believe that the term "change has no useful meaning in composition. only an historic value.
I should be grateful for suggestions about these terms, but please (!) no complicating the issue with thorny irrelevancies.-Yours faithfully.

\section*{BRISTOL SURPRISE AT BEDFORD}

Dear Sir,-I am quite certain that nothing couid be more beautiful to the ear of a sensitive ringer than Bristol on the back eight at St. Paul's, Bedford. What a pity it is, therefore, that one participant in the peal published on page 683 of The Ringing World admits the inability to recognise one change from another!
It is to his credit, however, that he refused the chance of having a star to his name for a 'first of Bristol' on the grounds that it would upset the balance of the report in the ' R.W: oeing towards the top left-hand corner!-Yours sincerely, Daventry.

\section*{SOUTH DERBYSHIRE AND NORTH}

\section*{LEICESTERSHIRE ASSOCIATION}

Dear Sir,-I much enjoyed reading a letter in - The Ringing World issue dated October 25 th, written by A. Hibbert, of Chapel-en-le-Frith, re the South Derbyshire and North Leicestershire Association

At the last meeting of the East Derbyshire and Notts Association, held at South Wingfield on October 19th, I had a lengthy discussion with one of my members, who is also a member of the newly-formed Association. He gave me a detailed account of why the new Association was formed: also on my books, and paid up members, are the names of others in this new venture-one being a member of my executive. I am sure that none of these members have any quarrel with our Association as they are most regular in attendance at mectings, 12 of which we hold per year.

When the Midland Countics Association dissolved in 1945 invitations were received by the East Derbyshire and Notts Association that they merge-the Derbyshire portion into the Derbyshire Association and the Notts portion into the Southwell Guild. This was turned down flat

After nearly 71 years we are, as we were then a non-territorial Association, with members far and near.

If Mr . Hibbert would care to be a member of the East Derbys and Notts Association he would then know why this happy band refused to be merged. If this suggestion (like the parable in the Bible) falls on stony ground, I venture to suggest that he keeps his nose out of the East Derbys and Notts Association's pie.Yours faithfully,

> B. A. SOLLIS, Hon. Secretary,
> East Derbys and Notts Associalion.

Dear Sir,-With regard to the letter by Mr. Arthur Hibbert on page 691, may I thank him for his views, with which I agree in almost every detail.

Intimation of the formation of this new Association was first given in letters to the Derby District secretary and to the general secretary of the Derbyshire Association, asking for recognition and indicating that the object was to help the large number of learners in the area. No request had been made to the Association for help in that direction.

My personal view was not to dake the matter seriously in the first instance since the prime mover appeared to be one of our members who has probably founded more bellringing associations than anyone else in the history of bellringing. In saying this, however, I do not want to belittle the gentleman in question, as he has done a good deal of work in encouraging young ringers.

Since it has become clear that the members of the new Association are scrious in continuing with the project, I would like to make a few observations.

The territory of the Derbyshire Association covers the whole Derby diocese, which is divided into four districts-llkeston. Derby, Peak and Chesterfield. The Ilkeston District collapsed through lack of support and is at present merged with the Derby District.
The D.A. is financially weak and generally speaking the meetings are poorly attended.

We have now five other organisations overlapping our territory. These are: Midland Counties Guild. East Derbyshire and Notts Association. Sheffield and District Society, South Derbyshire and North Leics Association and the Chester Diocesan Guild.

Probably half the towers in the county are served by two organisations.

Although all these organisations are on good terms with the D.A. and many of their members are also members of the D.A., I feel with Mr. Hibbert that a far more efficient system would be for all ringers in Derbyshire to form one body within the framework of the D.A. and possibly rename it the Derby Diocesan Guild. All areas could be served by dividing the Guild into more districts than there are at the present in the D.A.

The anove are my own views and not necessarity those of the D.A.

The subject of the new Association was discussed at the last general quarterly meeting of the D.A. and it was decided that the secretary should write inviting the members of the new Association to consider whether their interests could not equally well be served by the formation of a new district of the D.A.-Yours sincerely,

> D. R. CARLISLE.

\section*{THE RAVING RINGERS}

Dear Sir,-The report in a recent issue of 'The Ringing World' of the inaugural trip into Herefordshire during August of the above band made interesting reading for me-a Herefordian. Although Burghill bells were not mentioned in the report sent in by \(R\), and \(T\)., the Raving Ringers did, I feel sure, pay our tower a visit, as ringers from the areas mentioned signed our visitors' book on August 23rd. I was away on holiday during that week, and would very much have liked to have met our visitors. Before the war I was a member of the Wargrave band and later the Cookham band of ringers, and know the district where the 'Reading section of the R.R.s ring quite well.-Yours truly,
F. MORRIS.

\section*{The Major Hesse Week-end}

The annual gatnering and peal attempt at Wrington, to honour the memory of the late Major J. H. B. Hesse, was held on October 19th.

A good peal of Grandsire Caters was rung on the fine ten at Wrington (which were augmented from six in 1911, largely due to the efforts of Major Hesse), and Mrs. Hesse afterwards provided tea for the ringers.

Mr. H. Sanger thanked Mrs. Hesse for her hospitality and for her heip in keeping this annual event going.

Mr. H. Knight said that he had received apologies for absence from the Rector (Rev. B Lee) and Mrs. L. Derrick. J. T. Dyke, R. O. Fry, A. A. Hughes and M. J. Horseman: he also thanked the ringers for coming - some at very short notice.

Those preseno were Mr. and Mrs. W. Kingcott, Mr. and Mrs. H. Knight, Mr. and Mrs, E T. Newbury, Mr. and Mrs. R. Smith and Mr. and Mrs. J. Thomas; Messrs. J. Badman. J Owen, G. Prescott, H. J. Sanger and S. Smith.

\section*{Stoke-on-Trent Ringers' Outing}

Ringers of Stoke-on-Trent Parish Church had an enjoyable outing into Shropshire on October 26 th . Towers visited were two light sixes at Stoke-on-Tern and Hinstock. Cheswardine (8) and the grand eight at Market Drayton. Tea was kindly provided by the Rector of Stoke (Preb. F. A. R. Chapman) at The Boiling Kettle Cafć, Market Drayton. Stoke was reached at 9 p.m. after encountering some misty patches on the road.

\section*{EARLY DAYS OF THE LADIES' GUILD RECALLED}

THE 45th anniversary of the Ladies: Guild was celebrated on October 19th at the Fanmakers' Hall, London. During the afternoon ringing took place at St . Mary Magdalene's, Holloway Road, under the direction of Mrs. Savoury (Central District), and included a touch of Stedman Triples by a band of ladies.
The service at St. Botolph's Church, Bishopsgate, was preceded by a touch rung by an invited band, consisting of four ladies representing four different Districts of the Guild, and four of the 'Supporters' Club.'
Preb. H, H. Treacher, who had promised to take the service, was unfortunately suffering from Asian 'flu, and at short notice the Rev. Ralph Stevens (Rector of Lambourne, Essex) very kindly stepped into the breach. The organ was played by Mr. Ronald Noon and the lesson was read by the Guild president (Mrs. T. Lock). The collection taken at the service was given to the Church Heating Fund.

\section*{THE DINNER}

At the dinner which followed, the guests included Mrs. E. K. Fletcher, who was one of those mainly responsible for forming the Guild and was its secretary for 36 years and president for eight years, Miss E. Steel, also a pastpresident, and Mrs. Hairs, Mrs. Mitchell. Mrs E. Davis and Mrs. Fardon, who were all present at the early meetings.
The president (Mrs. Lock) introduced the Rev. R. Stevens, and expressed the grateful thanks of the members to him for so ably taking the place of Preb. Treacher. Mr. Stevens, proposing the toast of The Ladies Guild,' pointed out that not only had his dinner been wrecked by the thought of the speech he had to make, but it was just as he was going to have lunch on the previous day that he had been called to the telephone and asked to take the Guild's service, so two meals were spoilt for him! In spite of that, he was very glad to be at the dinner. Fortunately, he had just acquired a Dictionary of the Christian Church' and had been able to look up bells in that. After giving an account of the early history of bells, Mr. Stevens mentioned that he also had up-to-date knowledge as he was secretary of the advisory committee for the Diocese of Chelmsford, and therefore often came into contact with parochial church councils who wanted to have their bells recast.
In the time he had spent with the ringers that evening he had been impressed with the intense devation of ringers to bells, and in proposing the toast he took the opportunity of thanking not only the ladies, but all ringers in general, for the work they did.

\section*{CLERGY AT FIRST AWKWARD}

Mrs. E. K. Fletcher replied on behalf of the Guild. She thanked Mr. Stevens for his very interesting account of the early history of ringing, but pointed out that as far as the Guild was concerned ringing began in 1912! Mrs. Fletcher gave a brief survey of the Guild since its formation soon after a peal of Grandsire Triples rung by eight ladies at Christ Church, Cubitt Town. There were 30 women present at the first meeting, and all joined the Guild. At first the clergy were apt to be awkward because the ladies took off their hats before ringing, but they soon got over that and the membership of the Guild increased fairly rapidly as many women learnt to ring during the first world war.

During the period 1918 to 1938, the Guild scored 17 peals, including their only peal on ten bells-Stedman Caters. at St. Clement Danes*. Unfortunately the peal board had been lost in the blitz, but six members who took part in that peal were present at the dinner. During the last war only one District
-the Western-had managed to carry on successfully, but after the war, thanks to the efforts of the District secretaries, the various Districts soon started to function again, and now the Guild was stronger than ever.

The toast of 'Visitors and Guests' was proposed by Mrs. C. C. Marshall (Yorkshire District), who pointed out that in the reports of dinners published in 'The Ringing World. the ladies were always mentioned. The Ladies Guild did not want to lag behind in that respect, and in addition to the founder members present, the Guild extended a warm welcome to the Rev. Ralph Stevens, Mr. K. Arthur (president. Durham and Newcastle Diocesan Association), Mr. E. A. Barnett (secretary, Central Counci), Mr. T. Lock (secretary, Middiesex County Association) and Mr. J. A. Hoare (secretary, Swansea and Brecon Guild).

\section*{'A CLAPPERBANGER}

Mr. Barnett, replying on behalf of the visitors, quoted the verse written by a Leicester ringer when the Ladies' Guild was formed :

Like a breath with summer laden.
Like a cheery ray of hope,
Is the sight of gentle maiden,
Deftly handling of a rope.
Although another well-known ringer had substituted 'clapperbanger' for 'gentle maiden, he personally did not think any more ladies than gentlemen merited that description.
On behalf of the guests, Miss Steel thanked Mrs. Marshall for her remarks, and said that in her part of the country people were brought up to ' get up, speak up and shut up.' She was, therefore, only going to thank the Guild on behalf of all the guests and say how much they had enjoyed themselves.
Between the speeches a course of Plain Bob Major was rung on handbells by Mrs. Hairs. Mrs. Fletcher, Mr. Barnett and Mr. Fletcher. and a course of Grandsire Caters by Miss M. Reay, Messrs. C. Barron, D. Matkin. T. Lock and P. Corby.

During the social programme which followed. organised by the president. the company were entertained by one of the Guild members, Miss Jennifer Highley (Kent District), who played a clarinet solo, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Lock and by a member of the choir of St. Botolph's Church, Miss Iris Avard, who sang two solos.
Mrs. A. Richardson (Lincolnshire District) voiced the feclings of all the members in a hearty vote of thanks to all those who had helped in making the evening a success, mentioning especially Preb. Treacher, the Rev. R. Stevens and Mrs. E. Davis, for all the arrangements made at St. Botolph's and at the Fanmakers Hall: Mr. and Mrs. Neal, who had done so much regarding the catering and the table plan: and of course Mrs. Lock, who had been responsible for all the arrangements. She also thanked Mr. Noon for playing for the service, and the artistes for their help. D. C.

\section*{25 Years Vicar of Gulval}

Canon C. H. S. Buckley has been Vicar of Gulval, Cornwall, that delightfully situated parish on the fringe of Penzance, for 25 years, and his parishioners arranged a week of celebrations to coincide with the harvest thanksgiving.

Many visitors have rung at Gulval when on holiday, and it is a normal port of call for touring bands, so the well-kept and neatly furnished ringing chamber and the good bells are well known

Mr. W. Wood, still a very active veteran of the Exercise, is in charge, and has the full support and co-operation of his vicar. Canon Buckley, popular amongst so many, is popular too amongst ringers. He supports them and gladly lets his bells be rung.

It was a compliment to the Truro Diocesan Guild that a peal was asked for as part of the celebrations. Because of Guild autumn festivals this had to be a week late, but it was rung and proved to be the quickest on the bells: maybe the band was trying to catch up with what had gone before, or perhaps was more eager for what was to follow. Canon Buckley had welcomed the band, and had invited them to a high tea at the "Coldstreamer' afterwards, to which ha sat down with them.

When the meal was over, and stories had begun, it was realised the house was 'open,' which gave an opportunity for perhaps an even yet warmer round of congratulations, and the president of the Truro Guild (Mr. Alan Carveth) called for a further happy quarter of a century for Canon Buckley at Gulval. Time came all too soon for the party to disperse, but all went away with the certain feeling that Gulval bells hold a very real place in its incum. bent's heart, and also mean much to the parish in general.

\section*{Mid-Cornwall Branch}

The Mid-Cornwall Branch held their autumn festival at the Parish Church of St. Newlyn East on October 12th. Ringers came together from St. Mewan. St. Ewe, St. Gorran, St. Stephen-in-Brannel, Si. Columb Minor. St. Austell, Veryan and St. Newlyn East.
Tea was served in the Pheasant Inn, and the festival service conducted by the Vicar (Rev. P. B. Denney). The lesson was read by a bellringer, the organist was Mr. E. V. Bennett and the crucifer Mr. P. Tippett, also a bellringer. In the evening refreshments were served in the newly-restored Oxenham Room by the wives and other relatives of the rimgers.

Judges for the test ringing were Messrs. C. E. Lanxon and A. Locke. Mr. W. H. Southeard a vice-president of the Truro Guild, also attended. The invitation to held the next festival at Fowey was accepted.

\section*{JOINT MEETING AT BANSTEAD}

The annual joint meeting of the Surrey Association (Northern District) and the Kent County Association (Lewisham District) was held at Banstead on October 12 th . A most pleasing feature was the excellent attendance by Kent ringers, who had made tha rather difficult journey to Banslead in good numbers.

The bells were rung up at 3 p.m., and under the direction of Mr. Gordon Peters the methods rung catered for all tastes, but the quality of the ringers present enabled a higher than usual proportion of touches to be Surprise Major. A service at 4.30 , conducted by the Vicar, was followed by an excellent tea. prepared by the local young ladies in the Bowls Pavilion. The usual votes of thanks were proposed and passed with enthusiastic acclamation. The ringers then returned to the belfry for further ringing from Grandsire to Spliced Surprise.

\section*{TOWER-HUNTING IN DEVON}

Tower-hunting can be of fascinating interest not only to the change-ringer but to those who have interest in history and lore. In picturesque Devon the towers are sometimes found in pleasant vales, sometimes they dominate the uplands and their pinnacles point to the heavens like sentinels on guard. Some stand as landmarks for ships of the ocean.
On June 19th our party met at Witheridge, where the rehung octave gave every satisfaction. The revised weight of the tenor is \(23 \frac{3}{4} \mathrm{cwt}\)., and a local ringer made a good job of drumming her to Grandsire and Stedman Triples as our party was short. Then followed Chawley, with a fine six, where we were joined by the Rev. J. H. B. Andrews. At Chulmleigh, another rehung eight, the rector showed us many things of interest in the church, and we enjoyed the ringing: At Colebrook, the Vicar (Rev. G. Rogers) gave us a welcome. At North Tawton Preb. E. V. Cox had to leave the company, and we rang Sitedman and Grandsire Triples with the help of a local tenor man who did well. In the tower there is a board on which the following is recorded:-
'A peal of 2,861 call-changes was rung at North Tawton Church tower on the 17 th June, 1914. The peal took 4 hours. William Fewings rang the treble and called the changes. Tenor 18 cwt .
Mr. Fewings was an early pioneer for good striking, and this feat stands as a record for call-change ringing in Devon. We finished the day at Sampford Courtenay, on a good six.
On August 14th the party met at St. Mark's, Exeter, and Preb. E. V. Cox brought along Mr. and Mrs. Cross, Mr. H. Luxton brought Mr. C. Savage, Mr. M. Atkins, Mrs. Hood, and with the Rev. W. H. Smale were 'Will' and Freddy Jennings. Messrs. Truman came along with Mr. Betts. We much appreciated St. Mark's bells (tenor 13 cwt.). The next call was Pinhoe, a rehung and retuned six. The screen and Norman font were of interest, as also was the story of how the Vicar came to receive

\section*{A SILENT SOMERSET TOWER RINGS AGAIN}

Close to the River Tone and not far from its source deep in the Brendon Hills in Somerset lies the little church of St. Mary Magdalenc, Clatworthy. Here on the evening of October 13th. in a beautifully-decorated church lit by candles, oil lamps and incandescent lamps, a typical village harvest festival service was held. It was conducted by the Rev. P. W. P. Hancock, of the neighbouring parish of Huish Champflower, for Clatworthy, population 100 -plus and only two-dozen on the Electoral Roll, has had no rector of its own for a very long time, nor has it a band of ringers for its four bells (tenor 13 cwt., approx.).
However, Mr. C. Stevens. of West Buckland, had previously spent an evening looking over the bells, fitting ropes and trying them out. so that this small, silent tower could send forth thanks for the harvest once again. It was the first time they had been rung for service for about nine years,
About 12 ringers were present from Ashcott. Bampton, Exford, North Petherton, Rockweli Green, Wembdon. West Buckland and Yeovil. and included the Master of the Bath and Wells Association (Rev. H. F. Warren), who preached the sermon.
Ringing before and after the service was composed of Plain, Reverse and Double Bob Minimus, and some fast call-changes. An allladies band rang rounds. At the conclusion of the service a course of Grandsire Caters was rung on handbells.
R. D. S.

13s. 2d. per annum as granted by King Ethelred the Unready in 1001.
At Broadclyst we were joined by Mr. J. L. S. Glanville, and good touches of Stedman and Grandsire Triples with Bob Major came round. Whimple (6) was the next tower, and proceeding through rather puzzling and narrow byways we reached Awliscombe, where the tower was in 'splints'; nevertheless we enjoyed the heavy six (tenor 19 cwt .). The heavy six (tenor 23 cwt .) at Honiton (St. Michael's) tested the brawn and muscle; even so, all appreciated the ring. We finished at Ottery St. Mary, where the new-cast ring (tenor \(19 \frac{1}{2}\) cwt.) proved to be a delight, though the treble has its personality.
Some 20 ringers and friends, including those already mentioned, made up our company on September 11 th. Some called at Staverton on their way to Cornwood, the meeting place, situated on the verge of the moor. Here we were delighted to greet Mr. G. H. Myers, looking almost fit after his operation, and Messrs. Tom, Bill and Fred were with him, and Mr. G. H. Lavers. Some lady friends and ringers also came with them.
The next call was Modbury, a fine six (tenor 17 cwt .). The party seemed to like the handy six at Yealmpton, hence we arrived at Plympton (St. Maurice's) a little late. The fine eight (tenor 16 cwt .) were a treat to ring, and touches of Siedman and Grandsire Triples came round all right. Even so, one or two of the company did not forget that the painter Joshua Reynolds has a monument and a picture in the church.
As we listened to the fine octave at St. Mary's, Plympton, and glanced towards the site of the ruins of the richest priory and religious house in the county, there came the reflection: "Did the metal in these bells (tenor 25 cwt .) come from the ancient bells of the priory church?': and again, the churches at Pilton. Totnes, Crediton. Exeter Cathedral and St. Andrew's, Plymouth, were connected with pre-Reformation religious houses, and all these have old and finc heavy rings of hells.
Twenty-one sat at tea, and it was decided that the next trip should be on April 9th. 1958. Visits to St. Budeaux and Tamerton Foliott. where the local band showed lively interest in change-ringing, ended the day for most of the party.

\section*{CHESTER DIOCESAN GUILD}

Crewe Branch at Nantwich
There was praise for some of the oldest and the youngest in the world of campanology when Crewe Branch paid their annual visit to Nantwich Parish Church on October 19th.
A story of the devotion of an old ringer was told by a veteran member of the Guild, Mr. A. E. Richards (Farndon), speaking at the annual tea in Nantwich Church Hall. He referred to an 85 -ycar-old ringer at Christ Church who was reported to have crawled up the steps to the belfry at his church so that he could take part with the rest of the team.

Ringing is a joy and a wonderful work for the Church.' declared Mr. Richards, advising young people to 'stick to it.' They would find, he said, that it filled a gap in their lives.
Praise for the youngest ringer present came from Mr. J. W. Clarke (Master of the Diocesan Guild), who was among the guests. He referred to the skill shown by 10 -year-old Anthea Baker (Chester), and Anthea bashfully stood to acknowledge the applause of her fellow-ringers.
Mentioning that the Diocesan Guild was 70 years old this year. Mr. Clarke said he was sorry that there had not been more from the Crewe area present at the county dinner.

Along with the other speakers. Mr. W. F. Stenson (treasurer of the Crewe Branch)-who spoke in the temporary absence of the secretary (Mr. W. Kerr)-expressed appreciation of the hospitality shown at Nantwich, and thanked the Rector (Rev. E. M. B. Southwell) for the use of the bells. He welcomed the visitors from as far afield as Coalbrookdale and West Wickham, Kent.
Mr. Stenson also referred to the recent death of Miss Molly Boyer, of Nantwich, who had worked for the ringers. Her passing would be a great loss.

Mr. Derek Smith, seconding the vote of thanks, said the meeting at Nantwich was one of the most enjoyable they held.

The Rector of Nantwich thanked the ringers for their donation of \(£ 2\) 14s.. made during a collection at the tea, towards the Parish Church Restoration Fund. A lot of people secing the indicator board outside the church might think they had nearly finished the restoration work, but he could say without fear of contradiction that another \(£ 20,000\) was required.
The meeting, at which 17 towers were represented, began with two hours' ringing with methods to suit all tastes, from the experienced ringer to the novice. Before tea the ringers attended a short service, conducted by the Rector. Afterwards followed another two-hour ringing session.

The Bellringers Ties and Necksquares are now available with brown or dark green backgrounds. in addition to the popular dark blue When ordering please state colour preferred TIES \(11 / 4\) each, including postage Also NECK SQUARES, 28 - each, including postage

REV. D. P. ROBERTS
By the death of the Rev. David Paterson Roberts at an early age the Exercise has lost a well-known and much-loved figure.

The son of a clergyman. D. P. Roberts studied theology at St. John's Hall. Highbury and was ordained in the Liverpool diocese in 1932. Apart from a three-year incumbency in Staffordshire. he served the whole of his ministry in that diocese, and at the time of his death had been Vicar of Whiston since 1954.

Although he rang in only a few peals, 'D. P.' had been a keen ringer from the days of his youth, and had travelled widely in many parts of the country in pursuit of his lave for bells and ringing, and he might fairly be described as an enthusiast for ringing tours. In the course of his ringing activities he made a wide circle of friends throughout the Exercise. Perhaps he will be best remembered as a loyal and enthusiastic member of the two Associations which were very dear to his heart-the Lancashire Association and the Guild of Clerical Ringersboth of which he served to the best of his ability, always putting the good of the Association before personal considerations.

By those he served in his parochial ministry, and by his fellows in the ringing fraternity, David Paterson Roberts will be remembered with affection as a man of great kindness of heart. unfailing in his consideration for others, and of such modesty and humility that his very real abilities as a ringer were often unrealised. The sympathy of all who knew him will go out to his widow in her bereavement.

\section*{MR. ALEC RACKHAM}

With the passing of Mr. Alec Rackham, of Gilwern, on September 19th. at the age of 79 , a long family reputation of high-class ringing has come to an end. He was the last of a family of four brothers-Sid. Alec, Vic and Jack -who made their mark in the Brecon and Ahergavenny area in their younger days.

Alec became leader of the Llanelly Hill ringers in 1908, when the bells were rehung and augmented to six. Sid and Alec maintained the bells, and the 'go of the bells today is ample pioof of their skilled workmanship. Alec took part in many peals of Treble Bob Minor methods. also Stedman, on this fine ring of six. His services were much sought after to make up peal bands over a wide area, including Swansea and Brecon, Llandaff and Monmouthshire, and Hereford Guilds. He was a member of a band of Llanclly Hill ringers who took part in, and won, many shields in competition ringing between the wars.

He was an ardent church worker, and nothing was too much trouble for him to do. Of a quiet disposition, he was a pleasant friend, and extremely patient with beginners: ringing in the area is much poorer by his passing. He leaves a widow and two sons, to whom is extended decpest sympathy in their loss.

\section*{FUNERAL OF CANON A. RUST}

The funeral of Canon Albert Rust took place at St. James' Church, Husborne Crawley, on October 15 th . followed by cremation at Bedford.

The service was conducted by the Rev. R. C. Jeffries, of Aspley Guise, assisted by Bishop Wood. Suffragan Bishop of Bedford, and the Rev. T. N. Gunner, of Woburn.

Many friends and ringers were present, including Miss Evelyn Stecle (president. Beds Association of Change-ringers) and Mr. Kenneth Spavins (secretary. Luton Districl, Beds Association), who joined local ringers in a course of Grandsire Triples rung half-muffed on the bells he so loved as the cortege left the church.

MR. C. WOODCOCK
We regret to announce the sudden death on October 19 th of Mr . Charles Woodcock at his home, Pauline Street, Ipswich, aged 71 years.
Charlic was a member of St. Margaret's company for some 30 years, becoming tower keeper later. His last peal was rung on November 14 th, 1953. Until the lasr two years, when the stairs became too much for him, he was a regular service and practice ringer. The number of his peals is not known, but he rang in many counties during his duties as engine driver on the railway.

The funeral took place at the old Ipswich Cemetery on October 24th, when the Suffolk Guild was represented by Mr. Cecil W. Pipe (vicd-president). Mr. Charles J. Sedgley (St. Mary-le-Tower) and Mr. Ernest V. Blake (St. Margaret's). Handbells were rung over the grave. In the evening a well-struck quarter peal of Grandsire Triples was rung half-muffied. May he rest in peace.

\section*{A RECORD GATHERING AT ROTHERHAM}

ANYONE travelling from the north and passing through Rotherham at night, with its forest of chimneys all belching forth smoke, bright flames and fumes, might be excused for thinking that if Dante could have had a similar experience his description of 'that awful other world ' might have been even more vivid.

It must have been a great act of faith which impelled the organisers of the Yorkshire Dinner to hold that function at Rotherham, which could hardly be described as one of the country's beauty spots. And how that faith was justified, when no less less than 176 turned up for the dinner. Most of the visitors converged on the parish church in the afternoon, where they found a fine classic example of Perpendicular architecture and a beautiful ring of ten bells. The approach to the ringing room would suggest, however, that no great thought was given when the church was designed as to how the upper part of the tower was to be reached.

To get to the ringing room it was necessary to crawl through a flue-like opening on a vertical steel ladder, which is fixed flat against the wall, then wriggle through an opening by means of hauling up on two steel hand-holds and then reach some stone steps which were evidently not designed to accommodate the infirmities which come with age!
Those who braved this climb, however, were well rewarded on reaching the spacious ringing room, which had been recently redecorated and was bright and clean.

Whatever might be said about Rotherham's faults, the fact remains that this district is producing a race of brighteyed and alert youngsters who are a joy to watch when they are in action. They all have style and are in complete control of their bells. Their striking is good, and these youngsters have a keenness and enthusiasm which is most impressive.

An elaborate timetable had been prepared for the afternoon's ringing, providing opportunities for the capabilities of all present, from rounds to London Surprise, and, marvel of marvels, this programme was carried out to the letter!

At the dinner, which was a meal fully up to Yorkshire tradition (if lacking the Yorkshire pudding), the President, the Ven. C. O. Ellison, was in the chair, and controlled the proceedings in his quiet yet efficient way. It should be remembered that he is only the third president the Association has had in its long history and, as the Archdeacon is now in the prime of life, it is likely it will be many more years before a new President will be thought of. It was good to see the Secretary of the Central Council, his wife and daughter present, and how glad everyone was when the President called on him for a few words.

It had been decided to cut speeches to a bare minimum and allow more time for fraternisation-a wise thought. Scattered about the room were some of the old stalwartsSid Palmer, many years treasurer, now in his 84th year and still going strong, Leslie Morris, secretary, Percy Johnson, many years secretary, Percy Knights, son of a famous father, and many others, too numerous to mention here.

Entertainment was of a very high order and the offerings of Misses D. Saul and Susan Chaddock (on a piano which was not worthy of such artistry) and the Rotherham High School ringers were much appreciated by an attentive audience. (These Yorkshire folk know what good music is!) Items of Yorkshire dialect and stories were contributed by Messrs. J. Hancock and C. Rees, and it was a pity that time did not permit their completion of a fine collection of wit and humour.

Mr. N. Chaddock and Mr. J. J. L. Gilbert, who organised the dinner, are to be congratulated on a splendid job well done. Everyone was delighted with the results of their efforts to provide a happy evening.

JAFUS.

The visit of the Lord Mayor of London to Waltham Abbey on October 26th to present the town with its coat-of-arms was marked by much ringing. Prior to the service at the Abbey, attended by 900 people, a quarter peal of Grandsire Caters was rung and part of this was relayed to the congregation over loudspeakers. It was also tape-recorded. Afterwards the bells were rung for another hour.

\section*{BEL.FRY GOSSIP}
Who was the conductor who forgot to wind his watch before commencing a peal and found that the full complement was rung in 1 hour?
The quickest peal of Stedman Triples 'in hand ' was rung at the Royal Grammar School, Guildford, on December 16th, 1911, in 1 hour 44 minutes. Leicester friends please note.
The rest of the band in the peal at Holywell on October 26th would like to thank 'Mac' for continuing to ring when he looked, and obviously felt, very ill.
A recent issue of 'The Scout ' contained an article headed 'Campanology,' written by Mr. Anthony A. Upton, of Knowle, Warwicks. It contained photographs of the bells at Packwood and Honiley and ringers at Solihull, one of whom was Mr. Edgar C. Shepherd.
There is much young life at Bradford Cathedral, and Barry Schofield, aged 9, has rung his first quarter peal on the bells. His sister, Gillian (12), also rings. Another youngster is Miss J. Brook (12) who has scored her first 720. We shall watch the progress of Mr. H. B. Schofield's young band.
Regarding the peal of Spliced Surprise Major in six methods, rung at Harwell on November Ist, Oxford University Guild believe that this is the first peal of six spliced to be rung for any Oniversity Society with a band comprising all-resident members.

We are certain ringers from East Anglia and farther afield will join with us in congratulating Mr. Geo. E. Symonds, of Ipswich, and Mrs. Symonds on their golden wedding anniversary. The day was honoured by a peal of Royal on the bells of St. Mary-le-Tower on October 26th. Mr. Symonds has been a representative on the Central Council of the Suffolk Guild since 1948

Woburn bells will be available next Saturday from 7 to 8.30 p.m. after the Bedfordshire Association meeting at Tilsworth and Stanbridge.

We are sorry to learn that Mr. Harry Hoverd, captain of the ringers at Holy Trinity, Dartford, is in hospital at Hammersmith.

Who was the gentleman who went towergrabbing on a steam roller some 80 miles from home? Is this a new form of transport for the modern generation?

Mr. Derek P. Jones' 250th peal, rung at Stoke Prior, Worcestershire, was his 100 th as conductor. His peals have been rung in 166 towers for 24 Associations. Mr. Philip Mayhew has rung in 93 of his peals and Mr. C. Michael Orme. now back from Malaya with the R.A.F., in 37.
In connection with the peals at Spondon and Stoke Prior, great hospitality was shown to the bands. Accommodation and meals were provided by the Rev. L. and Mrs. Birch at Hanbury Vicarage, and also by Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Cooke.
In appreciation of her kindness to ringers of Penn, Staffs, over many years, an illuminated address of a peal rung in May this year was presented to Mrs. Twentyman, of Muchall Hall, Penn, at a dinner on October 18th. The address was done in Gothic style by Mr. Ernest Morris, of Leicester, and is a lovely piece of work.

\section*{320th ANNIVERSARY DINNER OF COLLEGE YOUTHS}

\section*{MR. A. B. PECK'S SWAN SONG AFTER TWENTY YEARS AS SECRETARY - ANCIENT SOCIETY'S APPEAL: ATTITUDE, SOLIDARITY, CROWN, YORE - 800 NEW MEMBERS IN TWENTY YEARS}

WHE 320th anniversary dinner of the Ancient Society of College Youths, held at the Bridge House Hotel, London, on November 2 nd, was a happy reunion of members of the Society, many coming from distant parts of the country. The Master (Wing Commander J. S. Mason) was escorted by Dr. P. A. F. Chalk (senior steward) and Mr. W. Williams (junior steward), and the Society was fortunate in its speakers, who included the Lord Bishop of Southwark and the Provost of Southwark, and they made brilliant contributions to the evening's entertainment
The evening was also memorable in that Mr. A. B. Peck, who had been hon. secretary of the Society for 20 years, announced his impending resignation from office. The name of Mr. John Chilcott was mentioned as his probable successor.

Members of the Society of over 50 and 60 years' standing were toasted, and among those of over 60 years were Mr. Albert Walker, Mr. A. A. Hughes and Mr. John R. Sharman, who rang in the first peal of Surprise rung in the City of London in 1898.

In proposing the toast of "The Church," the Master said this offered an opportunity for an expression of views on that branch of Church activity which occupied so much of their time. They obtained great enjoyment from their ringing and made many friends as a result of it, but they must never ignore the fact that ringing was a Church matter which needed Church support.
-We need bells and, if we are to follow English custom, ringers. The bells we shall find, with very few exceptions, in church towers. The ringers, I think you will agree, will be rccruited from some other branch of Church activity. But the fundamental requirement is that the Church must be in a position to allow its bells to be rung, and this is a fact which is so often overloaked or simply not given any thought. That this should happen is a natural effect of the position which the Church holds in our society, and our freedom 10 ring bells is very much bound up with this.

\section*{SUNDAY SERVICE RINGING}

I have emphasised the connection between the Church and the Exercise because although ringers are well aware of it, 1 am sure that strangers to ringing and ringers reading the publications devoted to the subject must wonder what is going on. The most important ringing activity is Sunday service ringing, but this is nol news, and consequently one reads very much about peals, physical prowess on heavy bells, ringing holidays, and so on. Not so obvious is the fact that those who indulge in these activities are usually most punctilious in attending to their Sunday service ringing-they are in fact the enthusiasts who provide an atmosphere which so often helps to bring the young ringer through the laborious early stages of learning change-ringing. They also find time to earn a living!’

Their organisation consisted of many different societies-some with titles like their own which seemed to have no connection with the Church. In the last 20 or 30 years there had been a tendency for societies to adopt titles which had diocesan connections, and this might suggest to a stranger that societies not so named were secular bodies with no Church connections. That, of course, was not true: indeed. the great belfry reforms which took place in the latter half of the last century and the advances in the art of change-ringing which were still continuing were assisted greatly by the work of the county associations, led by clerical ringers and laymen, many of whom were members of their Society, and good churchmen as well as good ringers.

\section*{'A BY-PRODUCT OF THE CHURCH}

The Lord Bishop of Southwark, who replied, mentioned that it was 26 years since he was directly connected with ringing when he was rector of Stepncy. He would remind them that they were a by-product of the Church. Looking back on the history of the Church they would find many valuable by-products-drama, education, hospitals, and all sorts of artistic things. The message of the Gospel was brought to the simple mind by dramatic presentations and also by stained glass windows. To call people to church they adopted the belt, and the number of bells in a church increased to 2,3 , \(4,8,10\) and 12 , and the art of ringing those bells became a secondhand by-product of definite practical and religious importance.

As their Master had said, their main purpose was to ring bells for church services, and for that they had developed the fascinating hobby of campanology. It was delightful to hear their bells from a long distance [laughter]. When people rang at Wimbledon he was always grateful that there was one-third of a mile between his house and the church. They got a lot of interest from ringing and it seemed to him to be a very innocent pastime, but it was not so with John Bunyan for in 'Grace Abounding' he wrote of the temptation of the devil to go to the ringing room. That was an idiosyncratic reaction.

One of the delightful things about ringing was the team business in which each one took his part. If one was ringing bell No. 3 he could not assert himself above the rest as a tenor might in a choir. He asked them to remember that that team was part of a bigger thing-the family life work of the Church. He did not think congregations realised that ringers were part of the family of the Church. I want you all to remember that great family; I am part of the family and so are you, concluded the Lord Bishop.

\section*{APPEAL OF COLLEGE YOUTHS}

The toast of "The Ancient Society of College Youths' was proposed by Mr. F. E. Haynes (Master of the St. Martin Guild for the Diocese of Birmingham). He said that 30 years ago he was proposed a member of the Ancient Society by the late Mr. Wilfred Hooton, and that nembership had given him great pleasure. Why did the College Youths make such an appeal to ringers throughout the country? There were many reasons, and, he had thought of some based on the initials of their title.

The first was "attitude " or 'approach' of College Youths to ringing. The approach to their ringing was like matrimony, which the lightly. "You can go into many towers today where young people are skipping about and treating ringing as a party game. If a stay or a rope is broken no notice is taken. The College Youths' attitude is that it is something to be undertaken seriously-a service to the Church that requires the best of our ability."
The : \(S\) : stood for solidarity. That was the Society's 320 th anniversary, and there were few other societies that could compare with it. The ' \(S\) ' also meant among other things Stedman to London.

For the ' C ' he would take the word crown. The College Youths had the privilege of ringing in not only historic buildings like St. Paul's and Westminster Abbey, but for great occasions like the Coronation, royal funerals and the Lord Mayor's show.
' Y' stood for yore, and he could picture College Youths of 500 years ago wending their way through the devious alleys of the City on their way to their church. ' \(Y\) ' also stood for Youths, and they still had some great personalities among their Youths. Among them was Mr. Alfred Peck, who had been their secretary for the last 20 years and who was shortly to selinquish that office.

Mr. A. B. Pcck, who was given a geeat reception on rising to reply, said that was probably the last time he would respond to that toast. That was a very happy gathering and the thing he lived for was the Ancient Society of College Youths.

He had received apologies for absence from the rector of St. Mary-le-Bow, Messrs. E. H. Lewis, Harry Miles, Harry Sanger, A. YorkBramble, J. T. Dyke, J. Waugh, R. Cousens, W. F. Judge, Selwyn Dearden and Sqdn. Leader George Massey (R.A.F., Malta).

Reviewing the year Mr. Peck said they were now having a practice once a week with \(S\). Lawrence Jewry bells available. The outstanding social of the year was the outing to Yeovil, where Mr. Setter gave them the time of their lives. "Everywhere we went in Somerset we were well received. You would have thought it was Khruschev' [laughter].

\section*{NEW MEMBERS}

During the year 43 new members were made, and Mr. Bailey, of Beccles, elected last week, was the 800th since he had been secretary. Those elected were: Terry Earle (Tisted, Essex), Michael J. E. Best (Bournemouth), R. James Cook (Upper Norwood), James C. Malden (Brixion), Thomas W. Sheppard (Bushey Heath). Arthur W. Gravett (Brighton), Albert W. Bond (Hove), John V. Lonsbrough (Seaford). Derek P. Jones (Hitchin), Herbert W. Pearce (West Coker, Ycovil), Brian Cracknell (Horley). H. David Holland (Sheffeld), Charles T. Bartlett (Chelsea), John H. Chance (Old Stratford, Bucks), Frederick E. Day (Plymouth), Norman V. Harding (King's Lynn), Kenneth J. Cherrill (Southwark). Dennis R. Randall (South Lambeth), Allan Smith (Rochdale), Henry W. Knauss (Stepney), Gerald E. Hemmings (Great Hampton, Worcs), Alan J. Frost (Kettering). J. A. D. Woolford (Acomb, Yorks), Michael Maskell (Acomb, Yorks). Kenneth G. Spavins (Woburn. Beds), William Marsh (Street. Somerset), Eric E. Speake (Dudley), Brian D. A. Woolley (Great Barr, Birmingham), Hugh Neill (Ilford), F. Brian Cookson (Wollaston, Stourhridge), Gordon W. Rendell (Yeovil), Michael C. Gathercole (King's Lynn), Lconard B. Scoot (Baldock), Dr. C. T. Brown (Wareham), Laurence E. Hitchins (Trowbridge), Cyril J. Gould (Chatham), Ernest E. Bray (Buckland Dinham. Som.), W. John Phippen (Buckland Dinham, Som.), Trevor N. J. Bailey (Beccles), Dennis Napper (East Hagbourne), Edward G Sawyer (East Hagbournc), Stanley G. Atwell (Pilton, Som.), H. E. G. Jeans (Somerton, Som.).

Peals rung by the Society totalled 23 and among them were four peals of Stedman Cinques on May 18th. Another notable peal was that rung at Waterford Cathedral on the 75 th anniversary of the first peal rung in Ireland. which was by a band of College Youths. He had rung with some of those who took part in that peal.

\section*{LEICESTER'S GREETING}

The Leicester Diocesan Guild wero holding their dinner that night. and Mr. Peck said he had received the following message from Mr. Brian G. Warwick (hon. general secretary of that Guild) : -

We in Leicester send to the College Youths gathered in London our very best wishes for a happy and successful evening. The Col lege Youths have held over 300 such func-tions-we are celebrating our tenth. During the years the College Youths have always been held in high esteem, and we hope that the Society will continue in the same way.

\section*{LOSSES BY DEATH}

The company stood in silence while the following who had died during the year were remembered (some were not College Youths):C. E. Borrett, I. Emery. E. Humphrey, F. J. Freestone, E.T. Allaway, Stafford Green, Rowland Fenn, F. B. Yates, W. E. Hewson, J..E Burton, E. C. S. Turner. James Napper, R Lathbury, George Large, Edward Evans, F. A Coward, F. Farrant, Joseph Keen, Rev. F. Ll Edwards, Josiah Morris, Sidncy Wade, Frank Attwater, Percy Dyke, George Daynes, W. W. Wolstencroft. Walter Prior, W. Manser, sen. G. F. Woodhouse, C. H. Page, A. Crawley, H J. Collis. P. Underwood, E. Palmer, E. G Walker, R. Coles, S. I. Jessop, Canon A. Rust and Mrs. R. J. Wilkins.

Concluding, Mr. Peck said: I think it is better to hand over white I am capable of doing so. There are not many of my age left and I think you deserve an hon. secretary who is younger. I have and am doing my best for the Society. It will not hreak my heart: I shall still take as much interest as I did in the Society.'

\section*{MASTER AS LORD MAYOR}

The toast of The Visitors and Kindred Societies' was proposed by Dr. P. A. F. Chalk (senior steward). He reminded the guests that in the 18th century Sir Henry Tulse was Lord Mayor of London when he was Master of the Society. Ringing was then a secular sport. It was a pleasure to have with them the Rector of Cripplegate (Rev. E. G. Turner), whose magnificent ring of bells had been at their disposal that afternoon.
They had with them two members of the Cumberlands-Mr. E. A. Barnett (secretary of the Central Council) and Mr. C. Cullen, who had written up the peal book of the Society.
The Provost of Southwark (the Very Rev. G. E. Reindorp) in reply said he had several things against ringers. One was their amazing camaraderic. They all shared a profound contempt for those who were not ringers. Another was that at Harlington once a year the ringers rang a long peal and afterwards sat down to supper. The rector had to be present and pay for it! His father, whe was 81 that day, was rector there for ten years.
The Provost mentioned the happy meeting he had with the ringers of Southwark after his installation, and how from his new house at Bankside he looked out on the cathedral that had stood there not 300 years but 900 years.

GOOD FEELING
Mr: E. A. Barnett also responded to the toast and said one of the features of today was the good feeling between the various ringing societies; it was not always so. Some 50 years ago the Middlescx County Association rang their first peal of Cinques-he thought it was at Cripplegate: and two of those ringers were still alive-Harry Hoskins and Thomas Groombridge, senior. The peal was successful and duly appeared in "The Bell News." The following week a member of their Society wrote that the peal was of such an inferior quality that it was impossible to tell whether it was Cinques or Maximus. The reply he got was that the writer was so drunk that he was incapable of distinguishing the peal! Whatever might be said in the past of their Society, he would say that he had been treated with every respect and consideration by their members.

It had not always been their custom to hold their annual dinner in London ; in fact, 78 years ago they honoured his native town with a visit. Why, it was hard to understand, as it was only a village in those days. A short paragraph about their 242nd annual dinner being held at Crayford appeared in 'Church Bells.

He was sure that all members of kindred societies would be just as sorry as the College Youths that Mr. Peck was about to retire from the secretaryship of their Society. He had gained the respect of the Exercise. Mr. Barnett mentioned that he had the privilege of taking part in a peal not with his predecessor, Mr. Cockerill, but the secretary before him, Mr. Richard T. Woodley. This peal was rung at Lowestoft to celebrate his 74th birthday.

Mr. Barnett concluded by wishing Mr. John Chilcott, whom he understoad wauld be Mr. Peck's successor, the best of luck.

\section*{- THE HEART OF THE EXERCISE}

Mr. R. B. Meadows proposed the toast of The Ringing World He said while "The Ringing World was not insolvent it would never be a money spinner, and the other fact was that it was said it was a dull journal. If 'The Ringing World ' with all its faults should dic, the heart would have gone out of the Exercise.

Mr. F. J. Smallwood, convener of "The Ringing World' committee, replied and said they had fought unsuccessfully against rising prices and had to succumb to the new price of 6 d . When he was told that the paper was not worth 6d., he had replied he was sorry but he could not help it. The Exercise had never realised its responsibilities towards the paper and its improvement was bound up with increased circulation. The Editorial Committee did not do the editing: they had an editor and all the Committee did was to tell the Editor the policy. What the Editorial Committee did was to keep matters financially straight and give readers as much as they could. A way they could increase the circulation was to pay the subscription ( 28 s . a year) for an old retired ringer who could not afford the 6 d . and was cut off from ringing news.

The Master proposed the concluding toast, The Fragrant Memory of the Masters of 300 , 200 and 100 years ago. He said their Master in 1657 was Mr. George Covey, and he had not been able to find out anything about him. In 1757 the practice of keeping a record of the name of the Master was not done: all they knew were the members who were elected that year. In 1857 their Master was Mr. William Cooter, and he rang in the peal at Waterford.

A number of ringers alive had rung with him and Mr. Peck had rung with four of themJames Pettit, R. Hayworth, William Cooter and Matthew Wood

During the evening a touch of Stedman Cinques was rung by Messrs. F. E. Haynes, John Chilcott, M. Chilcott, A. Walker, J. F. Smallwood and W. Williams.

\section*{PETERBOROUGH DIOCESAN GUILD}

The Asian flu reduced the numbers attending the quarterly meeting of the Wellingborough Branch at Irchester on October 19th to 40. Nevertheless it was a successful meeting. The Guild service was held in St . Katharine's Church, conducted by the president (Rev. W. C. Knight, Bozeat). in the absence of the Vicar of Irchester. Mr. R. Brudenall was the organist, and the collection for the bell restoration fund amounted to \(£ 1\) os.
The meeting followed tea. served in the schools by Mr. E. Allen and helpers. Rushden was selected for the next meeting in January. Messrs. Patrick Pailing and David Blackwell. both of Earls Barton, were elected ringing members. Good use was made of the eight bells during the afternoon and evening.

ARECORD number attended the 25 th commemoration dinner to Jasper Whitfield Snowdon and past officers of the Yorkshire Association, held for the first time at Rotherham on October 26th.

Features of the gathering, which was supported by a large number of young ringers of both sexes. were the brevity of the few speeehes and the excellent ringing facilities available,

During the morning and the early afternoon good use was made of the hells at Rawmarsh (8), Eastwood (8). Thrybergh (6) and Whiston (8), From 3.15 p.m. onwards the ten bells of Rotherham Parish Church were kept going almost continuously until nearly 6.30 p.m.. with ringing to suit all tastes up to Cambridge Royal. A planned and timed programme of ringing had been arranged and copies posted at various vantage points. It was found necessary to atter only two out of 21 touches arranged, and only one failed to come round. Before ringing commenced, the usual helfry prayers were said, and during the afternoon ihose present were welcomed 10 Rotherham Parish Church by the Rev. J. K. Pennington.

Over 170 sat down to the dinner in the Cooperative Restaurant, and guests included various local clergy and Mr. J. S. Mitchell. churchwarden and greave of Rotherham Feoffees: Visitors present were: Mr. I. F. Smallwood (representing the Ancient Society of Colleg? Youths and 'The Ringing World ') and Mrs. Smallwood. Mr. E. A. Barnett (Kent County Association and secretary, C.C. of Church Bellringers), Mrs. E. A. Barnet! and Jean Barnell. Mr. Paul L. Taylor (president, Leicester Diocesan Guild), Mr. E. B. Crowdy. Mr. J. A Ainsworth. Miss M. A. Softley and Miss M. S. Capey (Durham and Newcastle Diocesan Guild).

Mr. N. M. Newby, Mr. J. Dickinson (Lancashire Association). Mr. C. Raddon (Chester Diocesan Guild) and Mrs. C. Raddon, Mr. F. Adams, Mr. J. Saxton, Mr. C. Wright (Derby Guild) and Mrs. C. Wright. Miss J. Roper (Oxford Diocesan Guild).
The loyal toast was followed by a well-struck course of Grandsire Caters on handbells by P. J. Johnson, J. J. L. Gilberı, W. E. Critchley, W. F. Moreton and L. W. G. Morris, and during the interval following these ringers were able to hear a tape recording of their ringing.

\section*{MISS SNOWDONS MESSAGE}

In his opening remarks, the chairman (Ven. C. O. Ellison, president of the Association) said that that day's large attendance broke the previous record attendance of 160 made in 1937. He read a message from Miss M. E. Snowdon. daughter of William Snowdon. It read: "Miss Snowdon sends her hest wishes to the meeting -from the president to the newest memberwith the sincere hope that the Yorkshire Association may continue to prosper. What ensures this is. hard work for the cause with a mixture of love of the Arr that each member may be aware that he has a special job, that he studies punctuality and is conscious of the religious backing to be upheld.
Archdeacon Ellison then read a reply which had been sent to Miss Snowdon on behalf of the Association, also a message received from Mr . A. E. Sellars (vice-president, Eastern District), who recently celebrated his 80th birthday and who was unable 10 attend.

The toast. 'Jasper Whitfield Snowdon and Past Officers of the Yorkshire Association, was proposed by Mr. Norman Chaddock. He said he would confine himself to the first two presidents, Jasper Whitficld Snowdon and William Snowdon, who by their devotion to church bellringing through their local band and the Yorkshire Association, and by their earnest churchmanship, symbolised the attributes of the many past officers coming within the scope of the loast. He referred to the valuable contributions of officers' wives, whose sympathetic co-operation made possible their great efforts, and asked what better way of perpetuating the memory of those and other stalwarts was there than by ensuring that the work which they started continued fruitfully.

Ringing is something of which to be proud, and as a cultural activity which is a branch of Church work is something worthwhile to offer to the youth of today. By apply. ing ourselves wholehcartedly to the cause of ringing and by remaining ever conscious of the religious background to our work, we may indeed perpetuate the memory of Jasper Whitfiels Snowdon and other past officers.

\section*{STALLHOLDER'S APPRECIATION}

The toast of 'The Visitors " was proposed by Bishop G. V. Gerard (Vicar of Rotherham and Assistant Bishop of Sheffield). He referred to the many distinguished visiting ringers from other counties, and expressed picasure that Rotherham had been given the honour of entertaining them and other visitars on this memorable occasion, and thanked clergy and ringers from other neighbouring churches for their tremendous support. He said that there was tremendous public goodwill towards bellringing in his parish and throughout the country generally, a goodwill that we should endeavour to maintain. That very afternoon, as the first bell sounded whilst he was in the market place within a few yards of the church, a stalk owner had asked him: 'What is the bell ringing for? On telling him (rather apprehensively) that over a hundred campanologists would be gathering to ring all afternoon, the stall owner replied: Let 'em get on with their ringing, I love to hear the bells." "There,' said Bishop Gerard: you have an up-to-date, unsolicited testimonial:

Replying on behalf of the visitors. Mr. J. F. Smaliwood said that he at first wondered what it was that attracted such a large and enthusiastic gathering to an industrial town like Rotherham. He had heard that "where there's muck there's money,' but he now knew that Rotherham had other attractions for bellringers. He appealed to ringers to support The Ringing World,' and referred humorously to the loss in circulation caused by marriage between two ringers.
Supporting Mr. Smallwood's response on behalf of the visitors, Mr. E. A. Barnett sald how enjoyable it was to be present once more at the Snowdon dinner after a lapse of 21 years.
In his concluding remarks, Archdeacon Ellison expressed regret that the Ecclesiastical Authorities in their recent deliberations made so little reference to bells and bellringers. He went on to emphasise the importance of the ringer as a person in the work of the Church. Archdeacon Ellison then expressed thanks on behalf of all those present to the local organisers of the function (Mr. John J. L. Gilbert and Mr. Norman Chaddock) and to many others who had helped in various ways.

Musical items were provided by Miss Diane Saul (piano) and Rotherham High Schoof Handbell Ringers. Mr. J. Hancock and Mr. C. Rees contributed an enjoyable dialogue entitled - Yorkshire Relish.

During the informal hour or so that followed friends had an opportunity to chat together and listen to tape recordings of bellringing. Those who stayed overnight were able to join an organised party to ring at Handsworth (Sheffield) on Sunday at lunch time.

\section*{JOINT MEETING AT BURTON LATIMER}

A company of over 60 attended the Kettering Branch of the Peterborough Diocesan Guild and the Bedfordshire and Northamptonshire Branch of the Ladies Guild joint meeting at Burton Latimer on September 28th, when the eight bells were kept ringing in most of the standard methods. Grandsire Triples and Stedman Triples were the methods favoured by the ladies' hands.
The two business meetings were held consecutively after tea in the nearby school, but the usual order of "ladies first' was reversed so that the gentlemen weren't kept waiting. In spite of thinly veiled suggestions by some of the "weaker" sex, the ladies were soon back in the belfry.
Thanks were expressed to the Vicar, the caterers and to the local tower captain by the secretary of the Ladies Guild (Miss A. Amor) and seconded by the Kettering Branch secretary (Miss S. Collins).

\section*{THE SUFFOLK GUILD}

About 80 ringers with their wives and friends attended the annual supper and social of Sudbury and District on Octoher 26th. A very happy evening was spent, the programme including change- and tune-ringing on handbells, songs, dancing and community singing. Among those present were Mr. L. Brett (Guild Ringing Master), Mr. S. Twitchet! (District Master) and Miss R. Seabrook (District secretary).

\section*{LEICESTER GUILD'S ANNUAL DINNER AND SOCIAL}

THE festival dinner and social are looked upon as an important occasion during the year by members of the Leicester Diocesan Guild. This year the popular function was held in Leicester on November 2nd.

During the afternoon three rings of bells were available to members and visitors, and from 2 to 6.15 p.m. the bells of St. Mary's (8), St. John's (10) and the Cathedral (12) were made good use of to a variety of methods.
Previously, in the morning, two peals had heen atranged especially for visitors-Stedman Triples at the Loughborough Bell Foundry, which was successful at the third attempt, and Stedman Cinques at St. Margaret's, Leicester, which came to grief after the lurning course.

\section*{THE DINNER}

At the dinner, held in the Co-op Cafe, the president (Mr. P..L. Taylor) was supported by Mrs. Taylor, Archdeacon Lyon (Rector of Loughborough), Messrs. E. C. Turner and Philip A Corby (vice-presidents), Arthur E. Rowley (treasurer), Shirley Burton (peal secretary), Brian G. Warwick (general secretary). Peter J' Staniforth (C.C. representative). Mrs. E. C Turner, Mrs. A. E. Rowley, Mrs. S. Burton, Mrs. B. G. Warwick and Mrs. P. J. Staniforth, and approximately 130 members and friends.
After the loyal toast had been honoured the secretary announced that apologies had been received from the Lord Bishop of Leicester, the Archdeacon of Leicester (Ven. I. D. Edwards) and the Archdeacon of Loughborough (Ven R. B. Cole), who were unable to be present owing to the British Legion festival of remembrance being held at the same time at the De Montfort Hall. The secretary also announced that he had sent letters to the secretaries of the Ancient Society of College Youths and the Kent County Association, giving them the best wishes of the Leicester Diocesan Guild. These two Guilds were also holding their annual dinners on the same day. A greetings telegram was read from the Kent County Association, who reciprocated best wishes.
The toast of 'The Leicester Diocesan Guild was proposed by Mr. Gordon A. Halls, of Derby. He said that the Leicester Diocesan Guild was unique among ringing associations in that ever since its foundation 11 years ago it had held the respect and admiration of ringers everywhere. He had heard it said that this success was attributable to the efforts of their excellent officers and the influence of the outstanding ringing personalities of the Guild Whilst those in Derbyshire agreed with this. they believed that a large measure of success as a ringing association stemmed from the enthusiasm of the large number of ringers the Guild had, and it was they who had inspired the officers and ringing personalities to make the Guild the great association it was.

\section*{A SECRET OF SUCCESS}

In maintaining the interest of this large number of ringers the officers were to be congratulated on the skilful and cunning method they had used: perhaps those in Derhyshire were alone in realising what it was. They had noticed that the Leicester Guild had a large number of pretty young lady ringers, and they had seen that where young ladies were ringing there was never a shortage of men ostensibly keen on learning the art. The secret of this success was discovered quite by accident when a member of the Derbyshire Association made rapid progress in ringing as a result of frequent visits to Leicester. Indeed his sccond peal was of London Surprise
It was soon realised that the main attraction in Leicester was not the peals but the fair sex and that his progress in ringing was purely coincidental. His peal attempts were not always successful, as a peal of Superlative could be recalled when, included in the band was one of the lasses of the Leicester Guild who arrived for the peal wearing brief cycling shorts! Neadless to say, the gentleman in question was quite incapable of counting 5 -pull dodges with her and the ringing soon ended in chaos.

Mentioning that the Leicester Diocesan Guild had for many years been one of the leading peal ringing Guilds in the country, Mr. Halls commented that recent correspondence had led him wondering whether they were becoming a little apprehensive about retaining this position. Could it be that in forming a buffer zone by sponsoring the foundation of a new association (the North Leicestershire and South Derbyshire Association) the Guild was hoping to ward off peal grabbing expeditions by their neighbours to the north? Mr. Halls assured the Guild that they nced not fear competition from the Derbyshire Association in regard to peal ringing, though it was not for the want of trying on their part.

\section*{HOW PEALS WERE LOST}

Whereas the Leicester Guild could, boast of the variety and complexity of the peals they rang, all the Derbyshire Association could boast of was the variety of ways in which they are lost! To give a few examples, they had recently lost peals due to broken ropes, broken stays, broken hearts, bearings running dry. throats running dry, clappers falling out, ringers falling out, false compositions, false starts, false ringing, false promises and falsehoods, meeting short, taken short, fallen arches, fallen trousers, lights out and nights out.

It gave, Mr. Halls great pleasure to have had the honour of proposing the toast of "The Leicester Diocesan Guild. and in doing so he wished the Guild continued prosperity and even greater success in the future.
Mr. Peter J. Staniforth, replying on behalf of the Guild, thanked Mr. Halls very much indeed for proposing the toast.

Mr. Arthur E. Rowley proposed the toast of The Visitors. He said they should remember not only the visitors present that day but also all those people who were visitors to their monthly meetings throughout the year. They were always welcome and he hoped that they would continue to support the Guild. Visitors present included John H. Bluff (Stamford). Mr. and Mrs. James W. Haw (Peterborough). Frederick W. Burnett and E. Keith Jordan (Portsmouth), Gordon A. Halls (Derby). Mr. and Mrs. H. Taylor (Derby), Harry Gaylard and Walter H. Poole (Yeovil). Mr, and Mrs, G. Stedman Morris (Lyme Regis) and M. and Mme Dubois (France).
Mr. John H. Bluff replied on behalf of the visitors.
After the formal husiness had been disposed of, there followed the social evening for which the Leicester Guild dinner is noted. It was ably organised by Mr. Frank K. Measures (chairman of the Hinckley District).

During the course of the evening, Miss Dorothy Cox, of Stoney Stanton, was crowned as bell(e) queen hy Mrs. P. J. Staniforth. Later a course of Stedman Cinques was rung on handhells by B. G. Warwick 1-2, Mrs. P. J. Staniforth 3-4, P. J. Staniforth 5-6. A. Ballard 7-8, G. S. Morris 9-10, J. A. Acres 11-12.

TWERTON-ON-AVON, SOMERSET.-On Oct. 6th, 1.260 Grandsire Triples: P. R. Young 1. J. R. Hobb; R. O. Fry (cond.) 3. B. Davies (first quarter) 4. D. E. Cobb 5, A. F. Lee 6. W. E. Wilkinson 7. T. J. Milsom 8. For Evensong.

\section*{ATTEMPTED RECORD IN MINOR}

Dear Sir,-In accordance with the rules of the Central Council I wish to give notice to the Exercise of an attempt for record of Minor ringing.

By kind permission of the rector of All Saints' Church, Stisted, six ringing members of the Essex Association will attempt to ring 25 extents of Minor in 25 methods, commencing at 12 o'clock on Saturday, November 16th, 1957, at Stisted Church.

I have been unable to find out who holds the record. so I can only say will any Associations or Guilds interested please note.

The methods and the order of ringing them will be as follows:-

NOTE.-This letter was received in "The Ringing World office on Monday, November 4 lh . We regret that it was not published in our last issue and that the statutory seven days" notice was not given.-Ed.

\section*{OPEN OR 'CARTWHEEL'}

Dear Sir-It was interesting to sec Mr. A. H. J. Buswell dogmatising about open and closed leads ('R.W: November 1st). It is to be hoped that the Exercise will be spared another spate of letters on this subject. especially if the protagonists on either side resuscitate arguments which, as in this instance, were very old when Mr. Buswell was, presumably, very young.

As one who has had a fair amount of experience at both open and 'cartwheel' Minor, and whose predilection is still towards the latter. may I suggest there are at least scven good tcasons why many ringers choose to ring closed leads?

The seventh is because they enjoy doing it: the first six may be found hanging in the tower -Yours sincercly.
H. CHANT.

Wakefield.

\section*{WHO IS SHE?}

Dear Sir,-Grantham ringers were amazed 10 see a letter in "The Ringing World the other week from a correspondent who signs herself 'J. E. Washbottle (Miss).'
We have never heard of this lady, who very kindly defends our tower-snatching, and we would like to take this opportunity of inviting her up to St. Wulfram's belfry, if she is a ringer. -Yours faithfully, Grantham.

F. J. NERQUE.

\section*{NYLON ROPES}

Dear Sir,-I have followed the correspondence in 'The Ringing World' about nylon ropes with considerable interest, I imagine our eight at Madron, Penzance, are the only ring in the country with nylon ends, and these have been in use for nearly two years with complete success. The idea came to me after seeing nylon safety ropes fitted to the milk collection lorries from the local depot.

Several visitors, including Mr. Collins, of Croydon, have shown surprise and interest at the innovation. I was pleased to give Mr. Collins, through Mr. Harry Miles, of Carbis Bay, the benefit of my experience, and would point out that any shop which sells rope would be able to obtain nylon rope.

As regards Mr. Collins' grouse about dirty ends: wash and scrub them in hot water and a good detergent and they will show great improvement.

One final note: the ends which are tucked in may be sealed by holding them for a moment in a gas or candle flame.-Yours sincerely,
W. ARNOLD WHITE.

Landithy Farm, Madron.

\section*{Abbey Bells in Broadcast}

To mark the tenth anmiversary of the wedding of H.M. the Queen and H.R.H. Prince Philip there will be a special television broadcast on Wednesday, November \(20 \mathrm{~h} h\).

Included in the life story of the royal couple will be a short film inset, raken in the belfry of Westminster Abbey, with a recording of the bells.

\section*{PARKER'S ONE-PART PEAL}

Dear Sir,-Having called Parker's One-part a good many times I was interested in W. Bir mingham's remarks as to its good qualities. He compares it with Holt's Original, and 1 am bound to agree with him that it is less arduous to commit to memory and just as pleasing to ring. Moreover, it is a good peal to call, as he says, because of its simplicity and having so many five-lead courses a conductor is well able to keep an eye on those who are trying to ring their first peal and at the same time check the coursing of the bells. Many are the "first pealers ' who have scored because of this.

There are those who decry the peal chiefly because, I presume, of its lack of musical part and sub part ends, as in the 12 -part. But after all, there aro only 5,040 changes in any peal of Triples, and it has been a pleasing experience to have the musical changes coming up in unexpected places, especially if the ringing is really good.

Mr. Birmingham draws attention 10 the peal having the minimum of 90 calls, all bobs except for twa ordinary singles both at the commencement of the peal, and the bells running home at a plain lead. These are novel features in a peal of Grandsire Triples. Obviously the peal is called by the hells Before, and my plan is slightly different to W . Birmingham's, viz.:S.B.B.S., 3 twice, 4 once, 5 four times bringing 6 in, 2 five limes bringing 6 in, 5 with double, 5, and so on.

1 also divided the peal into four irregular parts, using as part-cnds \(342675,243657,432576\), being easy to remember and conveniently placed. -Yours, etc.,
W. J. PAICE.

Henley-on-Thames,

BREAKAWAY ASSOCIATION'S EFFECT ON PARENT BODY
Dear Sir,-In common with Mr. Hibbert I also deplore the formation of breakaway associations. As far as I can make out, there is no evidence whatsocver to suggest that the newlyformed South Derbyshire and North Leicestershire Association is anything other than a breakaway Association. The Derbyshire towers con-cerned-Derby, St. Andrew's (10), Alvaston (6), Melbourne (8), Shardlow (6), Aston-on-Trent (6)-have all been associated with the Derbyshire Association since its formation in 1946 and ringing meetings have hitherto bcen held at these towers by the Derby District of the D.A. at regular intervals in accordance with a rola system.

Whilst expressing admiration at the enthusiasm of this group of young ringers in founding a new Association, I cannot help feeling that the foundation of a new Society within Derbyshire (which is already served by four Societies) will be a weakening if not a mortal blow to the D.A.

The finances of the D.A. are at present at the lowest level ever, and though a recent increase in subscriptions may improve matters, a serious drop in membership will inevitably lead towards bankruptcy. The attendance at Derby District meeting is as a rule very small and does little to encourage the officers who have to cope with an unusually large district; further reduc. tions in attendanee will make meetings a waste of time.

If it is not too late, I would earnestly beg these young enthusiasts to reconsider their actions and ask themselves whether their interests could not equally well, if not better, be served by forming a new District within the D.A.: I am sure all loyal members of the D.A. would welcome this.

If, however, they are determined to have complete independence, in offering my good wishes for prosperity and advancement 10 the new Association I cannot help feeling appreheasive about the future of the D.A., of which I hope to remain a loyal member for a long lime to come.-Yours sincerely,
G. A. HALLS.

Alvaston. Derby.

\section*{THE NEW BEAT}

Dear Sir,-The NEW BEAT is not new- 30 years ago this beat was demonstrated to ne by the Lavenham ringers, as a novelty, on handbells in the local after a peal attempt. It was called 'The Nagging Wife.

This beat has been in vogue for many years in the Canterbury district of Kent: the Cathedral company and the bands at Walmer and Deal were particularly proficient at it. In fact. owing to my inability to fall into line 1 was once told at a Cathedral practice I might not again be allowed to ring. Having myself been taught to ring in the old beat by the Rhythm Kings of Leicester carly this century, this beat did sound to me like a prolonged and ragged version of what we used to call firing. and which we at Leicester used only at weddings when the happy couple were leaving the church. However, in Kent it must have been "the thing: hecause 1 once listened' to a peal of Doubles at Mongeham rung throughout in this 'new beat which was hailed as a most meritorious performance in the Kent County report of that year.

I do not now ring, but I do sometimes, listen, and it is apparent that the "new beat, is gaining ground northwards. Friend Peter Crook need not worry-no doubt it will eventually reach as far as Bolton.

The alarming thing is that the "new beat" used so long at so many churches on the bells before service is now being taken up inside the church itself. Although I have ceased thurch attendance, I might relent if I could see the vicar' conducting the service to "Rock' ' \(n\) ' Roll." -Yours, etc., W. BOITRILL.

THOSE I REMEMBER

\section*{By ERNEST MORRIS}

\section*{WILLIAM H. BARBER}

INN a recent issue ( p . 593) in an account of the Durham and Newcastle Association's 80Lh birthday, the name of William H . Barber was mentioned. I have happy remembrances of meeting him and of a very disappointing episode at Gateshead. He had kindly fixed up two peal attempts for me-one in Durham and one in Northumberland. This was in August, 1912, when at Gateshead we rang most perfectly over 5,000 changes of Stedman Triples, and he had just finished calling the peal. We were just waiting for 'That's all' when down came Barber's rope! thus making one of the most disappointing efforts I ever had, particularly so as it would have been my first of S.T.
The next day (Sunday) at North Shields, we rang for service \(1,057 \mathrm{~S}\). Caters, and in this was that fine veteran Joel Hern, who reminded me so much of my own grandfather both in features and speech. On the Monday at Newcastle Cathedral Mr. Barber called a most musical peal of 5,007 Stedman Caters, reversing the big bells from 'tittums' to 'home-at-hand' every four courses. During this peal the 'Major ' ( 5 tons 18 cwt .), which hangs directly over the rest of the bells, struck the hours 7, 8 , 9 o'clock, and to me it was most alarming and strange. I was told afterwards they could stop this by taking off the clock hammer but usually left it on to liven up the ringers! Thus I rang a peal in Northumberland but have not yet rung one in Durham.
1 visited Newcastle again after the bells were augmented to 12, but an attempt for a peal of Stedman Cinques ' went west.' However, the next day (Sunday) I had a delightful ring at Whitley Bay with the famous Gofton family. It was wonderful to be introduced to them as they came along. 'This is my sonthis is my nephew-this is my brother '-and so on. They were a wonderful family and rang many peals up to London Surprise; in this method four brothers-James E., Thomas T., Joseph A., R. Alder-rang the first on handbells. I met two of these brothers, Thomas \(T\). and Joseph A., who, with the brothers Pye-William and George R.-Harold Poole and myself, rang an excellent handbell peal of Stedman Cinques, this being George \(R\). Pye's 900 th peal. It was umpired by the late Charles T. Coles at his house in Walthamstow. He (T. C.) ticked off the courses of much of the first part. then went off to the Parish Church and called a quarter peal of Stedman Triples and came back and finished his job as umpire to the last part of the peal! The previous day we had rung a peal of Cambridge Surprise Maximus at Southwark.

\section*{BIRMINGHAM MEMORIES}

This sind of umpiring a handbell peal repeated itself at Birmingham when, during a peal of Stedman Cinques at the home of that cminent enthusiast, Albert Walker, the late Tom Russam was ticking off the figures, he had a sudden call, so waiting a favourable moment he slipped through the circle and out. When he came back he did not go through the circle again, to where the figures werc. but just sat by the door and wrote the courses out as they came up to the end of the peal!
I had at this time many happy visits to Birmingham and well remember my first of Cinques at the Bull Ring, when Mr. A. Paddon-Smith (later Lord Mayor) congratulated me on what he thought was my first of Stedman Cinques-but I had rung one here at St. Margaret's, Leicester, the previous Saturday! Once in a most beautifully-struck peal we had gone about two hours and reached one of those 'stagnant' periods which occur in most peals when the bells seem to be ringing auto-matically-everything was quiet except for Albert Walker's occasional 'bobs,' when all at once Mr. Paddon-Smith said out loud 'What are we doing it for?' Instantly we were all startled and it caused a bit of a flutter in the rhythm, but A. W. soon put us in order with a few well-chosen remarks!

On another occasion we lost a peal and one of the visitors was bemoaning and bewailing the fact so much that it got on one's nerves, so A. W. said: 'Look here! I've got 300 of these peals-I'll sell you as many as you like for half-a-crown eaci!!' That shut him up!

Another time we started very late owing to the Rev. Cyril Jenkins arriving from Oxford late, his train being overdue. We rang a glorious peal with the reverend gentleman on the 11th, but it wanted only a few minutes to 10 p.m. when the bells came round. Everyone rushed down the spiral stairway at breakneck speed, across the road to the hotel opposite. There we found 12 pints all in a row on the table-kindly put there by some thoughtful friend-and it was wonderful to see his reverence grab one-drink it off in one go, and say 'Fill it up again, quick!' I had the pleasure of ringing 15 peals at St. Martin's, mostly called by Albert Walker, but others called by the late Bernard Mitchell, James E. Groves and William Pye. One was a special composition of 5,070 to mark the 70th birthday of James George, whose very last tower-bell peal 1 conducted.

\section*{JOHN O. LANCASHIRE}

Before I finish this series I must not omit one fine old English gentleman, who happily we have still with us at 92 years of age-who, only a few weeks ago, I met still going to work, travelling by bus daily to and from Cropstone. He is John O. Lancashire, who in bis middle life was a wonderful ringer and composer attached to St. Martin's, Leicester (now the Cathedral). John O. (as he was always affectionately called) delved deeply into the intricacies of Stedman and produced some very 'classic' peals which only an expert could hope to call. With his companions, J. Buttery, G. Cleal, S. Cotton, A. Millis and W . Willson he made ringing history in the 'silent' handbell peals of Stedman Triples, Caters and Cinques (the latter being his composition). An architect of no mean ability, he won several awards for his designs of various churches, inns and houses. Advancing years have kept him away from the belfry of late years, but his interest in the art continues.

One of the 'good old sort' of Loughborough was the late Edward Reader, who came from Bucks, but who in later life became very deaf. He could call Stedman Triples and Caters very well indeed, but when not conducting would occasionally get lost! I remember so well ringing the tenor at Loughborough Bell Foundry tower with 'Ted on the 7h. H. I. Poole was calling Dexter's Variation with six singles in which the 7th is involved. Hc bungled the first, so Harold said to me 'Tell him, Ernest,' so when he was due for the rest 1 yelled in his ear, 'Single '; he smiled serenely and made them correctly. In this peal the late Rev. LI. Edwards rang. 'Ted' Reader joined the Midland Counties Association in 1889 and rang 179 peals for them.
Another Loughborough worthy was John Grundy, the verger, a grand man and a good ringer. When I was doing a genealogical search at his church he told me that his family were connected there for generations as vergers and officials. When discussing infant mortality of the old days, how that when a child baptised in one name died, the next would be given the same name. John Grundy was the third so named-he had two older brothers John who died in infancy. Among the many peals he rang he took part in the only vergers' peal yet rung, which I conducted at All Saints*, Leicester.

\section*{ROYAL VISIT TO BRENTWOOD}

Ringers played an important part in the visit of H.M. the Queen and H.R.H. Prince Philip to Brentwood on October 30ith. The bells of the parish church were ringing as the Queen entered the lown. stopping for a time for a fanfare as the royal car arrived outside the Council Buildings.
Ringing recommenced as the royal visitors walked to the school and again as they left Brentwond at 5 oclock. During the cvening a peal of Plain Bob Major was rung to mark this first royal visit since 1778 .

\section*{BEVERLEY & DISTRICT SOCIETY}

A successful meeting of the Society was held at All Saints' Church, Pocklington, on October 12th, and altended by 30 members.
The bells were raised and rung to rounds and standard methods until the service, which was conducted by the Vicar (Canon Richardson), who welcomed the Society.

Tea in the Sellers Hall was provided and served by the wives and mothers of the local ringers. The president (Mr. A. E. Sillers) presided at the business meeting, which was followed by further ringing.

\section*{OBITUARY}

MR. FRANK BENNETT
We regret to announce that Mr. Frank Bennett died on Sunday at Brighton General Hospital, aged 88 years. The funeral service will be held at St. Nicholas' Church, Brighton. to-day (Friday) at 3 p.m. A memoir will appear in our next issue.

\section*{MRS. R. A. CHEAL}

A great friend of many ringers who have visited Rainham, Kent, Mrs. Rose Anne Cheal died on October 20th, aged 78 . She was always happy entertaining ringers at her home, and for nearly 30 years had followed their activities through the medium of 'The Ringing World. A devoted Christian, she had worshipped at St. Margaret's Church, Rainham.
A widow since 1919, she was married at St George's Church, Halifax. Nova Scotia, in 1912 to P.O. F. J. Cheal, R.N. She is survived by one son (Mr. Francis J. Cheal), a daughter (Mrs. George A. Naylor) and a son-in-law (Mr. G. A. Naylor), all of whom are ringers and members of St. Margaret's Church.

The funeral service was at Rainham on October 25 th, and to her memory on the following Sunday evening 1,260 Grandsire Triples was rung at St. Margaret's Church with the bells half-muffled. The band was T. G. Dennis 1. Miss E. B. P. Walker 2, F. J. Cheal 3, E. C. Barton 4. G. A. Naylor (conductor) 5, W. A. J Knight 6, C. E. J. Norris 7, D. Baldock 8.

\section*{MR. HERBERT GREGORY}

Mr. Herbert Gregory was a greatly loved member of the band at St. Mary's, Launton, and his passing after a very brief illness came as a great shock to all. He was 68 , and the death of his wife only six weeks previously dealt him a severe blow, from which he never recovered

As a boy he learned to ring at Loughton, in Buckinghamshire, where most of his family were ringers. Later he moved to Bicester, and after the 1914-18 war went to Launton, where for almost 40 years he was one of the most loyal members of the band. His name never figured in the peal columns, but he was seldom absent from Sunday service ringing or from local Guild meetings, and he was ever ready to help teach others. A man of the utmost integrity, he would never let the band down: good striking he loved, and praised; bad striking he was quick to condemn. He will be greatly missed.
After the funeral at Launton the parish church bells were rung half-muffled, but unfortunately a broken rope brought a quarter peal to an untimely end after some 800 changes. A quarter peal was rung in his memory at Bicester May he rest in peace.

\section*{MR. JOHN A. TOMKINS}

The death occurred on October 15 th . after a long illness. of Mr. John Atherstone Tomkins. Penn, Staffs, aged 57. Prior to his devotion to the office of churchwarden he was a member of the St. Bartholomew's band of ringers and had taken part in several peals.
"Jack," as he was known to all the ringers and church workers, was a tower of strength and a friend to all who made his acquaintance. He was an extremely well-read man and could converse with great versatility on churches and their workings.

Although he had not rung for a number of years with the Penn band. he was still a very fair critic on change-ringing. Following the funeral service a half-muffied quarter was rung by the St. Bartholomew's band. C. F. W. E.

MR. FREDERICK W. HODGSON
The death occurred on October 28th of Mr. Frederick Wm. Hodgson, of Hurworth-on-Tees, near Darlington, aged 53, after a long illness.
Mr. Hodgson played a hig part in the life of the village. He was a building contractor, a nember of the village hall committee since its inception and a sidesman of the Church of All Saints. where he captained the belfry for many years. He played a major part in building up a band of ringers in the post-war years. Not a peal ringer, he only scored one, but he rang many quarters.
He was laid to rest very close to the tower which he loved on October 31st at a service which was largely attended. The Southern District of the Durham and Newcastle Association was represented by Mrs. R. M. Cooke, wife of the vice-president, Mr. F. W. Cooke and members of his own belfry.
A half-muffled quarter peal consisting of 720 Kent Treble Boh and 540 Plain Bob the methods he rang) was rung on Saturday, November 2 nd by R. T. Simpson treble. Mrs. R. M. Cooke 2, F. W. Cooke 3, G. F. Newton 4, L. Hodgson S. T. Cooke (conductor) 6.
F. W. C.

MR. F. W. RICHARDSON
With regret, we record the passing of Mr. F W. Richardson, of St. John's company, Deptford, in King's College Hospital. London, on Noyember 6th, after a major operation. He was 77 years of age. The funeral service took place at St. John's Church, Deplford, on November 13th, and was followed by interment at Breckley Cemetery.

\section*{SOCIETY OF ROVING}

THE 11th annual tour of the Society was 1 held from July 27th to August 5th in S.E. England, visiting Kent, Sussex, the Isle of Wight and Hampshire. The touring party of 20 met at St. Stephen's, Hackington, Canterbury, where the first ringing of the tour included Grandsire, Stedman and London before members struggled up the hill to Canterbury youth hostel.
Sunday dawned fine and clear and so it was for the rest of the tour, and 9.45 found all at the Cathedral patiently waiting. By 10.30 a.m. it was decided that the 'extra' service being held by the famous local school would prevent our ring on the looked-forward-to 12. However, after obtaining permission, we decided to return to ring for Evensong and forgo the eight at Birchington as planned.

The afternoon found us at Quex Park, where most members climbed to the top of the tower to see the splendid view. The 12 were rung to Grandsire and Stedman Cinques, Cambridge Royal and Maximus. We returned to Canterbury for Evensong ringing, where the bells and the welcome by the 'locals' made up for our morning disappointment. Two, who went swimming at Whitstable, later returned to find handbells ringing in full swing with a delighted audience of hostellers.
Orr Monday we started our journey to the south coast, stopping first at Wye to ring Bristol, Rutland and Spliced Surprise on this fine eight. After lunch at Ashford we pushed on to the anti-clockwise ring at Tenterden and then Biddenden, where Lincolnshire and four Spliced Plain Major were rung. The programme next said: Dinner-Goudhurst Y.H.\(7.30 \mathrm{p} . \mathrm{m}\). ; but six weary members finally sat down to eat at 9.30 p.m., thanks to the shortcomings of their self-styled map reader and a broken crank on his bicycle. Handbells were again enjoyed in the Green Room.

\section*{CAMERA INCIDENT}

We all enjoyed Rotherfield bells on Tuesday morning, where Erin was rung for the first time along with Spliced Surprise. Also discovered here was a magnificent set of handbells, the sound of which filled the church like an organ. Lunch had been organised locally so that one member had to carry his cheese for another 24 hours before it was opened. At Mayfield, among other things, Stedman was surely rung at a record speed for these bells, or so the seventh man would certainly declare. There was a surprise for one member on reaching Southover to discover that he had left his camera at Mayfield, some 14 miles back! London Royal, sad to say, was not to be rung here, at least not more than three leads, on this favourable ten. From Lewes the final steppingstone of the day was Brighton. No meal was booked at the hostel and members went various ways before meeting later at The Good Shepherd to join the local practice night. A birthday was celebrated later, but the local brew was found to be unworthy of the occasion.
Wednesday dawned at \(5.30 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}\). for one, and three started the day with an early morning swim at 7, but were all late back for breakfast! The morning was spent in Brighton, first at the Church of St. Nicholas of Myra and then at St. Peter's for enjoyable ringing of Stedman, Grandsire and Cambridge Royal; the London this time went to five leads. We were improving! This day the cheese was opened and eaten on the beach at Hove in scorching sunshine. A wedding delayed ringing at Shoreham, where we were joined by two nurses for the rest of the day. Led once again by the Master, on the now very familiar tandem, we sailed along at great speed to Lyminster. London and Spliced Plain Minor were achieved along with someone's Principle, but whose I'm not sure!

A CHARMING WELCOME
The next morning ringing commenced at Arundel, where cameras were soon busy on the many architectural sights of the town. Rutland, London and Spliced Surprise on the easygoing eight proved enjoyable. Chichester Cathedral with its detached campanile was next on the list. Our absent-minded member met us here, believing it to be the first tower of the day. Here there was a delay while the key was found, but who could be annoyed with the charming nurse who eventually arrived very breathless to meet us? Certainly not the Master!
At Portsmouth Cathedral that afternoon a complete copy of Holt's Original (plus a frame) caused much comment. After five days of cycling we now travelled by water on the ferry to the Isle of Wight, having a good view of the 'Queen Mary' on the short trip over to Ryde. After ringing here we again took to our bikes for the last stretch to Sandown, where we were to spend two overcrowded nights jammed in a very full hostel.
Friday began with a mist but this soon cleared for another sizzling day. Brading was our first call and we crowded into the small belfry to look as crowded as at the Y.H. Enjoyable ringing was soon in the capable hands of the Master, and Stedman, Erin, Bristol and Six Spliced Plain were rung; here we were joined for the weekend by a gentleman from Crewe. At the next tower, Godshill, our now ex-Oxfordian arrived complete with bow tie, bus timetable and mackintosh! Many holidaymakers watched attentively the varied Minor ringing and two had a pull themselves. Then on to Whitwell, where the third picnic was held, the cry being for more bread to eat up the cheese and pickles! After all had rung in methods from Plain Bob to London, we went to Niton, the first five of the tour.
Ringing was delayed for the third time this week, this time owing to a funeral. Several considered themselves lucky to get back to Sandown in the evening after being led astray again by our poor map reader as far as St. Catherine's Point. A swim was very welcome on arrival and the cycle capes were put to good use, even if not to keep the rain out l
Saturday's first tower was Newport, then on to Cowes for the ferry to Southampton. Cowes was in full regalia for the regatta, and we had a good view of the Royal Yacht, the racing and the 'Mauretania,' on a very interesting sail up Southampton Water.

\section*{ALMOST 40 STRONG}

At St. Michael's, Southampton, we met most of the weekenders, and ringing ranged from Caters to Royal. By bike or by car we made our way to Bishopstoke to ring Cambridge, Lincolnshire and Spliced Surprise, and then hastened to Winchester for dinner at the Winchester Hotel. The company was now almost 40 strong and assembled for a short business meeting before we reverted to handbells and the pleasure of meeting old friends again. Midnight was seen in by a few revellers to celebrate yet another birthday.

Sunday, the hottest day of the tour, began at the Cathedral, nearly all the bikes by this time locked up for a short rest, and cars were the order of the day. August 4 th, being a royal birthday, was celebrated by the firing of the bells, in which one or two of our members joined the Cathedral ringers. The fine 12 were then set going to Grandsire and Stedman Cinques and Cambridge Maximus. In the afternoon we once again sampled them before going to ring on the five at Sparsholt.
The weather was marvellous and enthusiasm for ringing dwindled to a pull and a 'quiet 'sit (Continued in next column)

\section*{NORWICH DIOCESAN \\ ASSOCIATION}

The North Norfolk Branch held its quarterly meeting at Buxton on October 19th, with a good attendance of ringers from a wide area of Norfolk and a few from Suffolk
The service was taken by the Rector (Rev W. B. Dryden), Miss O. E. Digby played the organ and the lesson was read by Mr. W. R Catchpole. A very nice tea was given by the local ringers and their wives.
At the business which followed, in the absence of the chairman, the Rev. H. G. Lillingston presided. New members elected : Christine and Hilary Golden, Nona Allard (Norwich), F J. Bramble (Heydon), Norman Cushion (Marsham), probationary members; Marjorie Bird, honorary member; Joy Benton (Wroxham), ringing member, with ratification of the following N.R.L.M. elected prior to ringing peals: G. R. Goodship (Ipswich), Mr. and Mrs Hudson (Rochdale), C. Wratten (Cheltenham), A. Carveth (Truro), R. Elkington (Anstey, Leics) and R. Prime (Burstall, Leics).
A vote of thanks was passed to the Rector and to all who had helped to make the meeting a success.
It was decided (subject to permission) to hold the annual Branch meeting at Wroxham on January 11th.

\section*{HERTS COUNTY ASSOCIATION}

A meeting of the Eastern District took place on October 12 th at Northaw ( \(6,13 \mathrm{cwt}\).). Ringing in the ornate tower commenced at 3 p.m. and was followed at \(4 \mathrm{p} . \mathrm{m}\). by tea at the Two Brewers.
At the business meeting it was decided to hold the next meeting at Hertingfordbury and Bengeo, subject to the availability of the bells. New members were elected from Great Amwell, Bengeo and Northaw towers. Ringing continued after the meeting in methods up to Cambridge Surprise, the Ringing Master being Mr. E. B. McKie.
Thanks are due to the Rev. J. M. Bryant, and to Mrs. Martin for supervising a most acceptable tea.
C. E. H.

in the churchyard, before we went on to Hursley to ring for Evensong. The local inn provided us with cups of tea (!) before ringing, and 'Uncle Mac' gave us modern selections on the piano, a typical Borge act. Even the waitress wondered at our sanity on discovering him under the piano. Back at Winchester for dinner we found that an attempted handbell peal had never really got going. The evening was spent in the usual fashion, and on leaving after two very comfortable nights the landlord actually said he'd be pleased to have us again.
The first stop on our last day was North Stoneham, where quite a few had difficulty in controlling the light trebles. However, Stedman and Cambridge were brought round before we actually achieved the test of the tour, a course of London Royal at last! Our last tower was St. Mary's, Southampton. This rebuilt war-blitzed church was greatly admired. Caters and Surprise Royal were rung as members glanced through the old ringing records to be found in this tower.

After ringing here the tour ended, and goodbyes were said as each departed, by train, car or bike, after a most enjoyable tour and successful weekend. As usual, there is only one thing left to say through 'The Ringing World,' and that is a 'Thanks' to the Master for keeping law and giving the orders, to the secretaries, and to incumbents and tower captains for the ready use of their bells; in fact we thank old Uncle Tom Cobley and all!

\section*{CALLING EXTENTS OF MINOR}

YOUNG conductors who for Sunday service ringing are calling extents of Kent and Oxford Minor may be interested to hear of the large variety of callings available. The standard system of 9 bobs called with any one bell in and out of the slow excepting when a certain other bell is present has 20 variations, i.e., 6 without 5 , etc., to 2 without 3.
Having worked through the above 20 extents, the next step is the 12 bob extent and the calling is similar to the standard system, but in addition a bob is called when two other bells are together in or out of the slow. For instance, if the conducting is being done from the tenor with the 5 th as sub-observation bell, the usual nine bobs will be called and three additional bobs are called when the 2 nd and 5 th are together in or out of the slow; extents can also be obtained by using 3 and 5 or 4 and 5 . If, however, 2 and 4,2 and 3 or 3 and 4 are used the bells will come round at 504 . Here are the figures for the six callings:-

It will be seen that if the sub-observation bell. the 5 th in this case, is coupled with another bell for the extra three bobs, a 720 will be the result. Thus using the 6 without 5 calling, three 720 's can be obtained, and by going through the standard callings, \(6 \mathrm{wo} 5,6 \mathrm{wo} 4,6 \mathrm{wo3}\), etc., sixty different extents can be rung.

In the Collection of Doubles and Minor Methods 3rd Edition, on page 63 there are given six 12 bob extents which are 2 wo 4 with \(5 & 4\), 4 wo3 with \(5 & 3\), 3 wo 2 with \(2 & 5\), 3 wo4 with \(4 & 6,2\) wo3 with \(3 & 6\), 4 wo2 with \(2 & 6\). So much for the 12 bob extent which is not too difficult to call if observation bells are used.

The 15 bob extent is not complicated for the standard system to which reference has been made is still used, i.e., 6 without 5 and one other bell must be watched; the calling now being 6 without 5 and 5 without 4, meaning that a bob must be called when 6 is in and out of the slow excepting when 5 is present and also when 5 is in and out of the slow unless 4 is present: this may appear rather involved, but it can be likened to calling a standard extent from two bells. There are 60 extents using this system of calling, six of which are given herewith:-

> 6wo5 and 5 wo4, 6 wo5 and \(5 w o 3\), 6 wo5 and \(5 w o 2\), \(6 w o 4\) and \(4 w o 5\), \(6 w o 4\) and \(4 w o 3\), 6 wo4 and \(4 w o 2\), etc., etc.

On page 64 of the book previously mentioned, six extents are given:-

3wo4 and 4wo2, 4wo2 and 2wo3, 2 wo3 and 3 wo4, 2wo4 and 4wo3, 3wo2 and 2wo4, 4wo3 and 3wo2.
The conductor has now 140 different extents of Oxford or Kent at his command and the systems can be applied to Duke of York, College Pleasure and Tanners Pleasure. Plain Bob can also be rung with the calling being made when the bells concerned are in 5-6 when the treble leads. On page 44 of the Collection there are two 12 bob half extents which are:- 4 wo 2 and 2 with6, 3 wo 2 and 2 with 5 , also two 15 bob half extents:- 6 wo 5 and 5wo3, 2 wo 3 and 3 wo4; these will, of course, require a single and the calling repeated to make the full extent.

The greater proportion of the extents will not have 5-6 the right way, but in the cartwheeling towers this is a minor detail. The method of conducting by using observation and sub-observation bells may be new to many ringers and can be used for calling touches in addition to extents; it may be found that a closer watch can be kept on the position of the bells.

Other methods will respond to these systems including Cambridge Surprise, but methods which bring up rounds with three successive bobs appear to work out correctly.

Since his 80th birthday in 1952. Mr. Herbert Lidbetter. of Acle, has insisted on ring-

\section*{BELFRY} ing peals on that day. On Saturday week, the eve of his 85 th birthday, he completed yet another. peal. He has long had the distinction of being the oldest ringer in Norfolk to take part in peals. A feature of every occasion has been the bountiful hospitality offered at Hollycroft to his fellow ringers and their wives.
Cambridge, of all methods. would not go at Leiston on November 9th. This was the 50th anniversary of Mr. James M. Bailey's first peal. Better luck, Jim, on your 60th!

The band who rang the peal at Barming. Kent, appreciate the way Miss Evelyn Ray stood in at short notice and gave a very good performance for her first peal.
The quality of the practices at Bethersden, Kent, is beginning to surpass the standard of practice nights at Willesborough, but the latter hand still maintain their supremacy at service ringing, a supremacy which would indeed be hard to challenge.

It was a disappointment to two young lady ringers from Guildford that they were unable to conclude their cycling tour of Kent by ringing a peal at Warehorne, but they enjoyed the supper kindly prepared in anticipation by Mesdames K. A. and J. T. Hillis, in whose honour the peal was to have been rung.
Mr. Terry M. Haines, who conducted the peal of Doubles at Ncwnham (page 669), has written denying the statement of Mr. Allan R. Jones that the peal in question is false. Any dispute about authenticity should be referred to the Peterborough Diocesan Guild, or io Mr. Walter Ayre, The Old School House, Leverstock Green, Hemel Hempstead, who is the convener of the Peals Analysis Committec.

\section*{GOSSIP} to tea by Mr. Frank Oakshott, local captain Mr. Oakshott left on November 15 th for a fourmonths' holiday in Australia to visit his relations, and the band wish him a safe return.

Anglers at Lake Burwain, a large reservoir near St. Michael and All Angels Church, Foulridge, Lancs, complain that the bells frighten the fish away. Ringers have replied: 'If you were good Christians you d be in church when the bells ring instead of fishing.'

Northern Ireland will be represented in the Christmas Day broadcast by the bells of St. Mark's, Dundela, Belfast-a new ring of ten (tenor \(12 \frac{3}{4} \mathrm{cwt}\).). The tower won this year the Cunningham cup for good striking, and the band have only been ringing just over two years.

The band which scored their first quarter of Double Norwich Court Bob Major at Blewbury on November 6th did so after many attempts at various towers in the North Berks and South Oxon area. Perhaps it was fitting that success should come at the home tower of the conductor, Bob Blond.

Will those ringers intending to fly to Dublin from London Airport carly on Whit Saturday morning please communicate with Mr. C. W Pipe, Grundisburgh, Woodbridge, Suffolk, as parties of 15 and over can travel at a cheap ratc. S.A.E.'s, please. Sec also letter re travel from Bristol (page 759).
Mrs. Steeples will be unable to carry on managing the sales section of the Central Council's library after December 31st. Miss Elizabeth Sharpe, daughter of the president of the Council, has kindly offered to do this work from January until Whitsun. Mrs. Steeples' honorary work for the library over many years is, we are sure, deeply appreciated by the Exercise.

\section*{WORCESTERSHIRE & DISTRICTS ASSOCIATION'S ANNUAL DINNER}

I'HE 20th annual dinner of the Worcestershire and Districts Association was held at the Guildhall, Worcester, on October 5th, when there was a record gathering for the function of 188. The Lord Bishop of Worcester presided. and he was supported by Mr. W. B. Cartwright (Master) and Mrs. Cartwright, the Rt. Rev. Bishop C. E. Stuart and Mrs. Stuart, the Rev. L. J. Birch (chaplain) and Mrs. Birch. the Rev. A. Webb (vice-president) and Mrs. Webb, the Rev. H. L. Davies (Cradley), Mr. J. R. Newman (vicc-president), Mr. J. D. Johnson (general secretary) and Mrs. Johnson.

After the loyal toast had been honoured, on the call of the chairman, Mr. C. Rouse (Gloucester and Bristol Association) proposed the toast of "The Worcestershire Association." They were, he said, this year celebrating the 75 th anniversary of their foundation, and in that time they had gone from strength to strength. But the necessity of looking to the future should never be forgotten. It was the duty of each member to attempt to persuade young people of today to take up bellringing. 'We must try to guide them to this following, of which we are all part,' he said, and concluding: 'May your next 75 years be as successful as have been the past 75 .
.CHIEF PUBLICITY AGENT
Replying, the Rev. A. Webb referred to the presence of the Bishop of Worcester and Bishop Stuart, and said this was greatly appreciated by the Association, as it was felt some incumbents did not show sufficient interest in the Exercise All incumbents should be interested in this very strong organisation, as after all, it was the churches' chief publicity agent. One of the Association's great assets was the tolerance it showed to learners, and a praiseworthy feature of life in the belfry was the lack of jealousy and everyone gave every encouragement to one of their number who showed promise of becoming a leader of the future.
Proposing the toast of 'Kindred Associations and Visitors,' Mr. A. D. Cook said it was always difficult to know what to say to this more than 'Welcome,' On behalf of the Association, this he most sincerely did. In that large gathering they had visitors from Cheltenham, Bristol, Reading, Oxford, Northampton, Bridgwater Claverley and Birmingham. He went on to speak of the universal friendship which existed hetween the guilds and associations.
Mr. R. D. Short (Bath and Wells Association) replied on behalf of the visitors, and thanked Worcestershire for the warmth and sincerity of its welcome and for an enjoyable afternoon and evening. Until that evening, he was afraid his own experience of such functions was rather limited to local ringers' suppers, and he could not return an invitation on hehalf of his own Association, as the Bath and Wells did not hold an annual dinner
Proposing the health of 'The Chairman.' Mr W. B. Cartwright said it was the first time they had had the Lord Bishop of the Diocese to preside. and trusted it would not he the last
The chairman replied in humorous vein.
A full and varied musical programme was provided by handbell tunes by Miss S. Jackson R. G. Morris and D. Beacham; songs by Miss J. MacLaren and Mr. P. Mills : entertainer, G Atkins, and a course of Stedman Caters in hand ' by J. D. Johnson 1-2, Mrs. J. Thomas 3-4, J. Thomas 5-6, D. J. Marshall 7-8 and Miss V. Barres 9-10. Mr. D. Beacham was M.C. and Mr. L. Bedenham accompanist.

To members of the Ladies' Guild this picture taken at the dinner to mark the 45th anniversary of the ronmation of the Guild, held on October 19th, is of special interest. The Guild has only rung one peal of Caters - Stedman - at St. Clement Danes' on Jan. 30th, 1926. Eight of the ten ringers were present at the dinner and appear in the photograph. Standing (left to right): Mrs. Mitchell, Mrs. Sanders and Mrs. Fardon. Seated: Mrs. Deal, Mrs. Fletcher (who conducted the peal), Mrs. Hairs, Miss Steel and Mrs. Davis.
[Photo: R. A. Deal, 118, Sarsfeld Road, S.W. 12.

\section*{Leicester's Poser}

After the usual handbell practice at The Wayside, Leicester, Stedman Doubles was rung on ten bells-one set on the front five and another on the back five. The ringers took identical bells in each set: treble, 6rh: 2nd, 7th; 3rd, 81h; etc.

A course or two were successfully rung, and then the question arose if a peal was rung like this, could each ringer claim two peals of Stedman Doubles? This argument is advanced because the Central Council has relaxed its ruling so that it is not necessary to ring two bells each in a handbell peal.

\section*{OPEN UNIVERSITIES' MEETING AT READING}

The open Universities' meeting, arranged by the Reading University Society, on October 26th at Reading was attended by representatives of Cambridge, Oxford and Southampton Universities, together with other visitors and friends: in all, there were about 50 people present. There was ringing at St. Mary's (8) and St. Giles' (8) in the afternoon, and at St. Peter's, Caversham (8), and St. Laurence's (12) in the evening. Fortunately. St. Laurence's bells had just been declared ringable again after tower repairs. The Rev. T. B. Randolph conducted the service at St. Mary's, which was followed by tea in the Church House.
Readirg University Society would like to thank all those who attended for their support the Rev. T. B. Randolph for officiating at the scrvice, the orgarist-himself a member of St Mary's band, the incumbents for the use of the bells, and Mr. and Mrs. A. Diserens for their help.

\section*{WINCHESTER & PORTSMOUTH GUILD DECIDE ON PEAL LEVY}

The Winchester and Portsmouth Diocesan Guild held a special general meeting at Southampton on November 2nd to discuss the publication of Guild reports, and if so how to finance them. The Master (Mr. F. W. Rogers) presided, supported by the general secretary (Mr. J. A. S. King) and the general treasurer (Mr. R. A. Reed).
The Guild executive had recommended that the subscription for ringing members be reduced to 2 s . 6 d . and that the reports be not published. To this there were four amendments: (a) that reports be published in full and a charge made for them ; (b) that subscriptions be fixed year by year to take effect from the following January ist (c) that the subscription of honorary and ringing members be increased; ( \(d\) ) that a fee of 6d. be charged every ringer who rang a peal for the Guild, and that a report be published in full every third meeting.
After a full discussion, a large majority voted for (d), the peal levy amendment, and this was carried by the meeting nem. con.
This means that from January 1st next conductors are to collect 6 d . from each ringer in a peal and forward this with the report of the peal to the Recorder of Peals (Mr. J. M. N. Lakin, 19. Bar End Road, Winchester). The Guild subscription will be unchanged and the report published every third year-the next in 1960 .
The meeting concluded with Mr. A. YorkBramble thanking the Guild for their financial support to the appeal to augment Portsmouth Cathedral bells to ten, and asking individual ringers to continue their support.
The bells of St. Michael's were available before the service in that church, conducted by the Vicar (Rev. K. W. H. Felstead). Thanks were accorded by the Master to those responsible for local arrangements.

THE PASSING OF MR. FRANK BENNETT

A DISTINGUISHED RINGING CAREER OF 70 YEARS

THE death of Mr. Frank Bennett within two months of his 89th birthday has deprived the Exercise of one of its oldest and most distinguished members. His active ringing career spread over more than 70 years, during which he took part in more than 1,600 peals, conducting no fewer than 933 of them. The first, Grandsire Triples, at St. Nicolas', Guildford, was on March 2nd, 1889, and the last, Cambridge Major, which he conducted, on June 21st, 1953. Strangely, several later attempts which he made were unsuccessful.

Born at Basingstoke, Hants, on January 28th, 1869, he first visited the belfry there on St. Nicolas' Eve, 1885, and became a pupil of the late Mr. Henry White (whose daughter, Alice, was the first lady to ring a tower-bell peal). When just able to ring Grandsire Triples, Mr. Bennett moved to Guildford. where he joined the band at St. Nicolas Church. His first peal was conducted by George Williams, with whom he was later to be associated in the famous band at St. Peter's, Brighton. Three months later he conducted his first peal, and on October 3rd, 1885, called the first local peal at St. Nicolas'

\section*{SOME NOTABLE PEALS}

In 1895 Mr . Bennett moved to Brighton and during the 12 years he spent there took part in 409 peals-good going, even to-day. The most notable were the first peal of London Surprise in the City of London, the first of Norfolk Surprise, in 1898, which was conducted by his old friend, George Baker, and on March 22 nd , 1901, the first peal of Bristol Surprise. Mr. Baker, now 90 years of age. but still managing the firm of undertakers who carried out the funeral arrangements, is now the last survivor of these bands.

At the time, the St. Peter's Society used to hold annual 'ringing weeks,' starting for a peal each evening at different towers, and in one of these Mr. Bennett took part in seven Surprise peals in seven different methods. in eight attempts, a remarkable performance in the days when Surprise ringing was in its comparative infancy.
When he went to live at New Cross, London, in 1907, he built up a Surprise band which achieved a high standard and rang many peals in a great variety of methods in London. among them the first peals of Forward, Duffield. Double Norwich and Cambridge Surprise Royal for the Kent County Association, all of which he conducted at St. Clement Danes and in April. 1913, he took part in the first peal of Cambridge Maximus by the Middlesex County Association, the first in that method by nine of the hand. of whom Mr. Reuben Sanders is, happily, still an active ringer, al though the rest of the hand. of whom no fewer than eight were to ring more than 1.001 peals. have now passed on. For some years he was a member of the band at St. Alfrege's, Greenwich, and called a number of peals, including one of London. by the local company.

\section*{SECRETARY OF THE CUMBERLANDS}

At the time of his arrival in London the Socicty of Royal Cumberland Youths. of which he had been a member since 1889, was in very low water. He was quickly elected secretary, holding the post for seven years until returning to Brighton, in 1914, and played a considerable part in reviving the Society's fortunes. He represented the Society on the Central Council from 1909 to 1914, having represented the Sussex Association from 1906 to 1908, and subsequently from 1951 to 1953. For ten years he was peals secretary of that Association.

Mr. Bennett took part in many peal-ringing tours, and as one result he rang peals in all the counties in England, seven in Wales and six in Ireland. While touring in Ireland he took part in the first peals of Treble Bob Maximus and Stedman Cinques at St. Patrick's Cathedral, Dublin, which were the first 12 -bell peals rung outside England. Another of his achievements was to have rung a peal in every tower in both Sussex and Kent having eight bells or more (at the time, five years or so ago), except one in Kent, at which no peal has been rung. Of the many other peals of which he had good reason to be, proud, it would nernaps be most fitting to mention one of Boh Major at St. John's, Deptford, by a band of octogenarians, which he conducted in April, 1952. Altogether he rang peals in some 550 different towers.
Just before the last war the then Editor of - The Ringing World, ran a series of articles on 'Lending Corductors.' Mr. Bennett was the third to be featured, and his conducting prowess, to which many ringers can bear witness, was summed up in the following words: - Over a period of nearly fifty years. Mr. Frank Bennett, of Brighton, has been in the forefront of the Exercise as a conductor: indeed, there are very few men with his all-round ability in this sphere. All methods come alike to him and he is one of those endowed with an almost uncanny capacity for correcting mistakes. Moreover, his conducting is always done from one of the working bells, for "tenor " ringing has never been one of the things he has aspired to.

\section*{THE FUNERAL.}

The funerd took place at Brighton Cemetery on November 15 th, preceded by a service in St. Nicholas Church. A beautifully-struck half-muffled touch of Stedman Triples, of which Mr. Bennett had rung getting on for 300 peals. was in progress as the cortege arrived at the church, those taking part being A. W. Bond (Brighton), A. H. Pulling (Guildford), Mrs. R. Percy (Easthourne), F. Cruttenden (Henfield), W. A. Riddington (Brighton). S. E. Armstrong (Brighton). W. Stalham (Brighton, one of the band who rang in the octogenarians' peal) and L. Stilwell (Worthing). Another touch of Grandsire Triples was rung as the funeral party left the church by H. Stalham (conductor). A. H. Pulling. Mrs R. W. R. Percy, E. R. Rapley. R. V. Johnson, S. E. Armstrong. W. A. Riddington and L. Stilwell.

Among those present at the funeral were Mr. and Mrs. F. I. Hairs (son-in-law and daughter), Mr. and Mrs. R. F. Bennett (son and daughter-in-law), Mrs. F. A. Barnett (granddaughter), Mrs. O. Hill (niece) and Mrs. L. H. Humphrey, together with Messrs. E. A Barnett (representing the Central Council and the Societv of Roval Cumberland Youths), F. Barnett, R. V. Johnson (Master), Mrs. R.

Percy (representing Mr. R. Percy, secretary). Mr. S. E. Armstrong (late Master, Sussex County Association), Mr. T. E, Sone (representing the Kent County Association) and Mrs. Sone.

Others present were: Mr. George Baker (Brighton), Mr. Len Stilwell (Worthing), Mr A. H. Pulling and Mr. A. C. Hazelden (Guildford), Mr. G. Pullinger (Winchester and Portsmouth Diocesan Guild), Mr. H. Stalham (Custodian, St. Nicholas", Brighton hells), Miss Baddeley (St. Nicholas', Brighton), Mr. A W. Gravet! (Leader. St. Peter's, Brighton), Mr. H. Brown and Mr. S. Brown (St. Leonard's, Hove), Mr. W. J. Webb and Mr. F. Lewis (The Good Shepherd. Brighton). Mr. and Mrs. G. Elphick (Southover), Mr. and Mrs. F. Cruttenden (Henfield), Miss Challen and Mr. T. Drinkwater (Shoreham-by-Sea), Miss F. Wyman (Crawley), Mr. E. R. Rapley (Horsham), Mr. G. Sturt (Burgess Hill). Mr W. C. Hart. Mr. W. A. Riddington. Mr. A W. Bond, Mr. and Mrs. F. Page and Mr. A Hohden (St. Peter's Society, Brighton).

Unable to attend owing to indisposition: Mr . A. D. Stone (one-time general secretary, Sussex County Association) and Mr. J. Dearlove (late peal secretary, Sussex County Association).

At the graveside a course of Grandsire Triples on handhells was rung by Mrs. E. A Barnett, Mrs. F. I. Hairs, F. I. Hairs and E. A. Barnett.

Among the floral tributes were wreaths from the Sussex County Association: Society of Royal Cumberland Youths: Ringers of St. Nicholas', St. Peter's and The Good Shepherd. Brighton; the Aldrington Ringers: and the Shoreham Ringers.

\section*{LETTERS T0 \\ THE EDITOR}

CHANGE-ROW RELATIONSHIP
Dear Sir,-In response to Mr. Brian Price's 'appeal ' for naming of fundamentals of rowrelationship, the following may be of some interest.

In 'Technology of Method Structure,' on which I have worked for more years than I care 10 remember and which is as yet incomplete. attention is drawn, carly on, to the need for adoption of clear-cut, single-meaning terms for use in ringing theory, as opposed to ringing practice where the time-honoured ambiguities may still suffice! And I have quoted authorities no less than Shipway and Snowdon on this very point: the latter particularly as to the use of the word 'change, which is one of the chief offenders in this respect. For some of the possible meanings of this word I have used the following distinguishing terms. (Again, the necessity for only their theoretic use is emphasised.)
(1) For the sounds of given orders of the bells as heard - the word changes.
(2) For the symbols of given orders of the bells as read or written - the word change-rows.
(3) For the exchange movement of a pair of adjacent bells, as all, in turn, make their transition from leading to lying, and vice-versa-a' ' Iransit.
(4) For the relationship of two rows which Mr. Price instances as ' \((a)\) position interchange, and which the Exercise recognises as a ' transposition '-.'T-C.
Before coming to Mr. Brian Price's second relationship noted under his * \((b)\) figures changing places, etc. \(\therefore\), I would explain that \({ }^{\text {T-C }}\) stands for "Transposition Code, and refers to a single row of letters. which can, alone, clearly indicate a transposition. These letters run, quite simply, in their row-order as transposed from the alphabetical order.

For example, take Mr. Price's first pair of exemplary rows- (c) 10 ( \(d\) ). and above row (c) write in letters in alphabetical order. Then below row (d) write in the letters which correspond to the figures in the top row, thus:- abedefgh The hottom row of letters (c) 48621735 is the transposition code, or (d) 17482356 T-C. for this particular pair. efabdghc And if Mr. Price's second pair of rows. (a) to (b), is treated similarly the same code-fahdghe-results. In other words. what Mr. Price calls ' position inter-change' and the Exercise recognises as a iransposition. may he simply and clearly expressed by a generally applicable code of just one row of letters. Thes? codes vary, of course. according to the nature of the row-comparison. They are found particularly useful in the mechanies of composition.
Coming now to Mr. Pricc's second concept-- Transfigure. In this he says, of his given examples, that as \((b)\) is to \((a)\), so \((b)\) is to \((c)\). It may not be readily apparent to some readers what this relationship is. But, putting it into other words, the two rows may be regarded as composed of pairs of figures fixed together vertically, so that in comparing such rows the two figures of any such pair always appear in the same vertical relationship. Quoting his examples:-
(b) 56124783
dhfbagcc
2376581 (c)
23765814
\(b c g f e h a d\)
(c)

Here he asks the reader to note 'which figures change places irrespective of the positions concerned. With respect. I would alter this to read: 'which figures adhere to their relative positions irrespective of their changed places.

For example, here 4, in the lower row, adheres to its position under 5 in each upper row : or again, 5 . in the lower row, adheres to its position under 1 in each upper row: and so on for all figures, considered in vertical pairs, in hoth sets of rows.
(5) This I have called ... "Transfix." Bccause, although the upper figures undergo Transition, the lower figures remain fix-ed to them, respectively. Here also a code, the Tf-C, (Transfix-code), may be derived as in the previous consideration (4).

For the Tf-C we simply write in the letters over the upper row alphabetically, according to the numerical order (as I have done above Mr. Price's row (c) above), and then write in the letters correspondingly with the figures below, as I have done below Mr. Price's row (e). The actual code-row can now be written straight down by taking in order from the lower row the letters that appear under those in alphabetical ordet in the upper row. Here, this becomes efabdghc. Translated, this code means:
- The Transfix for these rows is: 5 (or e) under 1:6 (or \(f\) ) under \(2: 1\) (or a) under 3 ; 2 (or b) under 4; etc.

Mr. Price goes on to say:. are complementary ... with identical transfigures . . . etc. An indication of this fact may be seen in the identity, for such ' complementary sets of rows. of the 'T-C and the - Tf-C. or transposition and transfix codes, that I have introduced above ("efabdghe' in these iwo cases).-Yours very truly.
A. YORK-BRAMBLE.

\section*{TRANSPOSITIONS AND TRANSFIGURES}

Dear Sir, - With regard to the letter by Mr B. D. Price on page 723. I would like to make the following observations.
I do not agree that transpositions and transfigures are both fundamentals, as there is. as Mr. Price points out, a basic relation between the two. This relation may be expresed in the following way.
Every transposition A to B is the same as some transposition C to D, where C-12345678. To define a transposition it is therefore only necessary to specify D. C heing understood to he 12345678 . Thus in the following, a letter may be used as a transposition, or a permutation. Further, the sign of ' \(x\) ' may be used to denote the operation of transposition. For example, suppose then \(\mathrm{A} \times \mathrm{B}=41367825\) and \(\mathrm{B} \times \mathrm{A}=16278453\).
\(\mathrm{A}=34187652\) and \(\mathrm{B}=23165487\)
In the former \(\mathbf{A}\) is used as a permutation, and in the latter it is used as a transposition.

Similarly, we may define a transfigure with one symbol, and use the sign " + ' to denote the operation of "transfiguration. Using the same A and B as above, we have \(A+B=16278453\) and \(B+A=41367825\).
From the above examples the basic relation may be seen. It is:-
A+B=B \times A .

This is a way (rather lengthy, I'm afraid) of showing that ' transfiguration' is the same thing as pre-transposition. The word 'transfigure, although an excellent analogy to transposition, is, I suggest. unnecessary in our vocabulary.Yours faithfully.

\section*{TWO FUNDAMENTALS}

Dear Sir,-It appears to me that Mr. B. D. Price's point with regard to transposition and what he terms (very aptly) transfiguration is mainly academic.
Composers do not carry out such operations mechanically but think of the significance of what they are doing and thus there is no confusion between the operations.
As definitions, I think his suggestions are very acceptable.
It strikes me that Mr. Price has something deeper in mind, and it would be interesting to know what it is.-Yours, etc.

CENTRAL COUNCIL, DUBLIN, 1958
Dear Sir, - It is possible to fly from Bristol to Dublin. The whole journey from city centre to city centre takes about \(3 \frac{1}{2}\) hours. The return fare is \(£ 106 \mathrm{~s} .6 \mathrm{~d}\).
If ten or more people travel together there is a 5 per cent. discount on the fare and for 14 or more a 10 per cent. discount. It occurs to me that quite a few Council members might find this route a very convenient one and would like to take advantage of the cheaper fares if possible. 1 have been advised that because Whitsun is involved, bookings should be made early in the New Year. If anyone interested in this would like to write to me, letting me know on which days they wish to travel over and back. I will undertake to make the party booking if there are enough,-Yours, etc.,

\section*{Maidstone District Annual}

Owing to the bells of All Saints', Maidstone, being at Loughborough for recasting, the annual meeting of the Maidstone District on October 12 th was held at West Malling. Mr. P. Carter, the local captain, and his band expressed appreciation of this decision by decorating the belfry with flowers and displaying a large - Welcome ' token.

Ringing for all standards preceded the service, which was attended by 35 ringers and was conducted by the Vicar. Tea was served at the Bear Hotel, where the 'Carter Touch' was again obvious.

There was an attendance of 46 for the business meeting, with Mr. A. Waddington in the chair. Mr. R. Sills, the District secretary, in his report announced a slight increase in memhership and an average attendance of 40 at meetings. Five new members were elected to West Malling and another five for St. Michael's, Maidstone.

The re-election of the standing officers, Mr. R. Sills (District secretary), Mr. A. Waddington and Mr. W. Manser (District representatives), reflected the appreciation of their work during the past year. Mr. P. Town again agreed to carry on as 'R.W.' representative.

The programme for the coming year was provisionally agreed as follows: January 11 th, Staplehurst; February 8th, Wateringbury: March 8th. Headcorn: May 17th, Yalding; July 12th, Harrietsham; July 19th, coach tour (Surrey); September 13th, Boughton Monchelsea: October 11th, A.G.M., Maidstone; November 8th, Charing.

Closing the meeting the chairman thanked Mr. Carter for his great welcome and congratulated him on his painting and decoration of the belfry.

During the evening ringing a coursc of Crayford College was successfully brought roundthe special method of the day. P. M. T.

\section*{Ashford District}

It was a raw, cold day when the 3.15 bus from Ashford deposited eight ringers outside the church of the beautiful old village of woodchurch, but the warm welcome given to the visitors more than made up for the inclemency of the weather.
The service at 4.30 was conducted by the rector (Rev. V. B. Wynburne), and his address, appropriate to Renembrance Day, was worthy of a larger congregation. Mr. Barnes was at the organ.

The small but friendly gathering enjoyed an excellent tea, generously provided and served by the local band in the Methodist Hall. No business was transacted, but Mr. T. Cullingworth voiced the sentiments of the meeting when he thanked the rector and Mr. Barnes for their kind services, and the Woodchurch band for their generous hospitality. Mrs. D. J. Russell, secretary of the Woodchurch ringers, had made all the local arrangements.
After Grandsire Triples on the well-polished handbells, a small influx from Bethersden raised the standard of ringing in the tower to Cambridge and. London Surprise Minor, under the direction of Mr. J. R. Cooper (Ringing Master). The local band, who are among the most loyal and keenest supporters of the Association. rang, sorie very good call-changes, and an all-ladies \({ }^{\circ}\) touch on this rather heavy six was particularly admired by the gentlemen.
The bleak wind was still blowing from Romney Marsh when the visitors left at 9 o'clock with happy memories of kind hosts and enjoyable ringing.

\section*{Stratton Branch}

Between 50 and 60 ringers attended the annual meeting of the Stratton Branch at Poughill on October 26th. Representatives of the Guild present were Mr. A. Carveth (president), Mr. Burnett (Ringing Master) and the Rev. W. H. R. Trewheila (hon. secretary). The service was conducted by the Vicar (Rev. S. W. Drewer) and the address given by the Rev. L. Dodd (Vicar of Stratton). The collection for Branch funds amounted to \(£ 2\). A grand tea was supplied by the ringers' wives of Poughill.

The annual meeting followed and the Rev. L. Dodd was elected chairman for 1958, and R. J. Hicks and A. Bissatt re-elected as secretary and treasurer. The treasurer reported a credit balance in Branch funds of \(£ 613 \mathrm{~s}\). 4 d . Next year's festival will be held at Stratton. Ringing included Grandsire, call-changes and rounds.

\section*{ACTIVITIES IN WESTERN CANADA}

In Victoria, B.C., the bells of Christ Church Cathedral were rung on October 12 th to announce the arrival of H.M. Queen Elizabeth and Prince Philip in Canada. At this time a quarter peal of Grandsire was rung and followed by touches of Stedman and Bob Major, including the firing of the bells. The tenor bell is named King George V and weighs 3,295 pounds.

Those taking part in the ringing were: Margaret Horne 1, Mrs. Guthric 2, Mary Emmerton 3, Margaret Izard 4. M. V. Donaldson 5, Arthur Izard 6, E. W. Izard 7, B. Guthrie 8. The ringing of the Victoria bells was also broadcast by television on the local broadcasting station.

\section*{BENEDICTINE MONASTERY BELLS}

The ring of ten bells (tenor \(2,350 \mathrm{lb}\). in E flat), supplied by Messrs. Mears and Stainbank, have now been installed in the 150 ft . tower of the new Benedictine Monastery, Westminster Abbey, which is situated on the north side of the Fraser River Valley, approximately 55 miles east of the city of Vancouver, B.C. The installation of the bells was superintended by Mr. E. W. Izard, of Victoria.

On the invitation of the Abbot (Rt. Rev. Eugene Medved) and the Father Prior, ten of the ringers from Christ Church Cathedral, Victoria, travelled by air, making the trip over the Gulf Islands to the Vancouver airport and then by car to Mission, arriving in time for lunch at the Abbey. After lunch, they rang until 4.30 p.m., attended vespers, and rang again after supper until 7 p.m., when they left to return to Victoria. On arrival at the Vancouver airport at \(9.30 \mathrm{p} . \mathrm{m}\)., they were informed that all flights to Victoria were cancelled due to fog. Fortunately the fog cleared later, and Trans Canada Airlines put on a special plane so that the ringers returned home about midnight.
The Abbey bells are a beautiful ring of ten and sound very well indeed, and owing to the height of the tower and the location can be heard for quite a long distance up the Fraser River Valley. The ringing consisted of two touches of Stedman Triples with the tenors 9. 8, 10, one touch of Grandsire 504 with the tenors in the same order, and Bob Major with tenors 9,10 . The striking was remarkably good considering the ropes were spring and visitors were moving around in the ringing chamber.
Those taking part in the ringing were: Margaret Horne, Mary Emmerton, Mrs. Guthric. Margaret Izard. M. V. Donaldson, Arthur Izard. E W. Izard, Dr. Longridge, T. Arkell and B. Guthrie.
The ringers spent a very enjoyable time at the Monastery, and much appreciated the kindness and enthusiasm of the Benedictines.

\section*{CHRIST CHURCH, CALGARY}

At the beginning of September the two trebles arrived to complete the ring of eight in Christ Church, Calgary, and all eight of these bells were rung together for the first time on Sunday, September 8th, before and after the morning service.
The local ringers were assisted by Miss Margaret Izard and E. W. Izard, who travelled by air from Victoria to Calgary and back-a distance of 1.500 miles : and also by Mr. Godfrey White, who came from Edmonton, 200 miles away, and Miss J. Midgley. who came from Lacombe, 100 miles. Miss Midgley has since arranged to be stationed in Calgary, and will be of very great assistance to the Christ Church ringers. These ringers are extremely keen and should have a useful band in the very near future. E. W. IZARD, Master Ringer.

\section*{JOINT MEETINGS}

\section*{At Hillingdon}

The annual joint meeting of the Middlesex Association and Oxford Diocesan Guild was held on October 19th. Ringing was at St. Margaret's, Uxbridge, in the afternoon and at St. John-the-Baptist, Hillingdon, in the afternoon and evening. and ranged from Surprise Royal to rounds for learners.
At the service, the Vicar (Rev. F. C. Tyler) welcomed the ringers and gave an inspiring address. Mr. J. Ferguson (organist) and the choir also attended.
To mark the meeting being held in the 60th anniversary year of the Middlesex Association, the Hillingdon ringers and their wives provided an excellent tea for all present in the Church Hall. Mr. F. W. Goodfellow welcomed visiting members of the Oxford Guild and others, and spoke of the long and happy association which had existed between the two Societies, particularly at Hillingdon meetings.
After Mr. F. Finch had proposed the usual vote of thanks, Mr. W. H. Coles asked the company to honour especially Mrs. Goodfellow and the ringers' wives and other helpers who had for some years provided and arranged the teas at this function. He then presented a bouquet to Mrs. Goodfellow who, expressing her pleasure and surprise, suitably replied, making special reference to her helpers.
A social evening was later enjoyed, and the - frea for all' balloon match ended in a draw, Oxford winning the toss to hold the cup for next year. Mr. Derek Judd arrapged many amusing entertainments, and another happy occasion concluded at about 10.30 p.m.

\section*{At Southgate}

The mostly unspoilt village of Southgate was the meeting place of ringers from the Essex and the Middlesex Associations on November 9th, and judging from the numbers who gave their support, it was most successful. Well nigh 70 ringers were in attendance during the afternoon and evening, and 99 per cent. showed their keenness to partake in the ringing on these lovely bells. But it was noticeable that all were not 10 -bell ringers, and as it happened that perhaps only once did a 10 -bell band take control, the outcome was that the striking was not up to usual standard. However, youth was quite predominant and it is hoped that the experience of this meeting will serve them a useful purpose. Ringing, under the guidance of Mr. A. Cutler, especially catered for those who were ringing on ten for the first time, and for those who preferred plain methods.
Evensong was conducted by the Rev. G. D. J. Walsh (curate), himself a learner in the ringing chamber. Mr. P. Noble was the organist.

Following the tea, Mr. H. G. Hart welcomed all the Essex friends to Middlesex territory, and wished success to further joint meetings. Mr. C. E. Willmington replicd with appreciation, and pointed out his pleasure by mentioning that his following included ringers from Brentwood. Hornchurch, Southend and Waltham Abbey. He had already made arrangements for the nexi year's meeting in his district.
Mr. Hart also thanked the Vicar and curate. the organist, Mr. S. G. Peck (local captain) and Mrs. Richards and lady helpers for an excellent tea.

A S.E. LEICESTERSHIRE TOUR
A party of ringers from towers in the Hinckley District and Harbury, Warwicks, had an outing in S.E. Leicestershire on October 19th. A halfhour was spent at the Market Harborough District meeting at Oadby. Ringing afterwards took place at Hallaton. King's Norton and Ilston-on-the-Hill. The day was concluded with joining the Syston District meeting at Billesdon.

\section*{OLDHAM RINGER'S 80th}

\section*{BIRTHDAY}

Mr. Herbert Barlow, a keen and active ringer since the age of 17 , celebrated his 80 th birthday in a true ringer's fashion on November 2 nd. Friezland ringers, who have been associated with him for many years, rang a touch of 700 Minor on the bells of Oldham Parish Church. Some 60 ringers and friends were present during the afternoon and evening to pay their compliments to this worthy veteran.
The tea in the Burnley Street Schools, given by local ringers, was arranged by Mrs. D. Sanderson, who gave a birthday cake as a personal present to Mr. Barlow, and was also responsible for the confectionery.
Tha good wishes of the company for health and happiness and many more years of ringing were voiced by the Vicar (Rev. H. Kirkman), who presented Mr. Barlow with a pipe and a few ounces of tobacco as a gift from ringing friends.
A social evening followed, with tunes by the Moorside handbell ringers and a course of Grandsire Triples, in which Mr. Barlow rang 1-2. Others participating were V. Sykes, F. Pritenard and J. T. Walmsley. Before the evening concluded, Mr. Barlow thanked his many friends for their present, and the local ringers for making it possible for him to have a chat with many old ringing acquaintances.

Finally, there was an hour's ringing at the parish church, with one or two good courses of Stedman Caters, Bob Royal and Grandsire Caters, also rounds on 12 for learners.

\section*{SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD}

The monthly meeting of the Devizes Branch was held at Bishop's Cannings on November 2nd, and the attendance included visitors from Bath, Bristol, Nailsea, Worcester, Shrivenham and Salisbury.
The Guild service was conducted by the Viear (Rev. S. L. R. Sharp), with Mr. A. T. Weeks as organist. Forty-two members sat down to tea in the Clubroom. The catering arrangements being made by Mrs. P. M. Hale, Miss E. F. Bailey and Miss Rachaei Hale.

Ringing included the following methods: Grandsire and Stedman Triples, Oxford and Kent Spliced, and Cambridge and Yorkshire Surprise. There were also rounds for the learners. Among the visitors was Mr. W. H. Trueman (Swindon). Master of the Gloucester and Bristol Association.

\section*{HERTS COUNTY ASSOCIATION}

\section*{St. Albans District}

Tewin was chosen for the October meeting of the St. Albans District. Ringing commenced at 3 p.m. and continued until the service, which was conducted by the Rev. C. J. Leeke. Mr. Dennis Bowen, of Barnet, was the organist.

Tea followed at the Rose and Crown Inn, at which 22 were present, and afterwards a short business meeting was held, Mr. B. C. Johnson, of St. Peter's, St. Albans, taking the chair. A collection taken for the Voluntary Bell Fund amounted to 11s. 9d.
Ringing continued during the evening until 8. Methods rung during the meeting were to suit all tastes and capabilities. It is hoped to arrange for the November meeting at St. Stephen's, St. Albans.
M. A. C.

\section*{Eastern District}

A meeting of the Eastern District was held on November 9th at Hertingfordbury. Ringing on the rather noisy five (tenor \(9 \frac{1}{2}\) cwt.) look place from 2.30 till 4.15 p.m. Mr. I. Peet, a local ringer for many years, surprised everyone by ringing Grandsire and Stedman for the first time for 17 years. He has also recently started a local call-change band.
Evensong, conducted by the Rev. F. H. Cleobury, was followed by tea at the White Horse Inn. Ringing took place after tea on the light ring of eight at Bengeo. The next meeting will be a joint one with the Essex Association at Saffron Walden.
C. E. H.

\section*{LEEDS & DISTRICT SOCIETY}

Past, present and future were represented among the 50 or so members present at the Society's meeting, held ati St. Chad's, Headingley, on November 2nd. There were the veterans with upwards of 50 years' ringing service, a large group of young ringers, many from St. Chad's, others from further afield, and three small children, who were being introduced to ringing at a very early age.

The bells were raised just after 3 o'clock and continued to ring in a variety of methods ranging from rounds to Surprise Major until 9 p.m. A very enjoyable 'home-made' tea had been provided in the local schools and was much appreciated by those present. This was followed by a few words of welcome from the Vicar, who joined the Society for tea.

At the business meeting two new members were elected, and a hearty vote of thanks passed to all concerned with the arrangements for the meeting. The next meeting will be held at Ossett on November 30th.

\section*{BATH AND WELLS DIOCESAN}

The quarterly meeting of the Chew Deanery Branch was held at Yatton on October 261h. Ringing preceded the Association service, which was conducted by the Vicar (Rev. G. A. Beechey). The usual 'Yatton standard' tea then followed, and the Vicar afterwards took the chair for the business mecting.
It was decided that the annual meeting should be at Long Ashton on the first Saturday in December. A recommendation is to be made to the general committee that in view of the Central Council meeting being held in Dublin next Whitsuntide, the allowances made to C.C. representatives should be reviewed in the light of the considerably extra expenditure which would be incurred.

After votes of thanks to the Vicar, the organist and those who prepared the tea, the tower was again visited for ringing in methods up to Yorkshire Major, under the direction of the Ringing Master (Mr. H. W. Knight).

\section*{CORPORATE COMMUNION}

The half-yearly Corporate Communion, unavoidably a little later than usual, was held at Chew Magna on Sunday, October 27th-the morning following the quarterly meeting. Ringing commenced soon after \(7 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}\). and continued until 8 a.m., when the ringers joined the parish. ioners in the Lady Chapel for Communion service. The celebrant was the Vicar (Rev. C. M. Luxmoore-Ball).

Breakfast, prepared by the local ringers and their wives, was afterwards enjoyed by about 18 ringers in the Church Hall, and those who were not required for duty al their own towers joined the local band for further ringing for Matins. M. J. H.

\section*{SHEFFIELD & DISTRICT SOCIETY}

The monthly meeting of the Society was held at Handsworth on November 2nd, and although the attendance was somewhat smaller than usual. several visitors were present and ringing reached quite high standards at times. The local company excelled themselves in providing an extracheap tea, and appreciation of this was expressed in due course by various members.

At the business meeting, new members were elected from Arksey. Barnby Dun. Doncaster and Thryhurgh, and in passing, Mr. G. Watson stated that the next meeting of the neighbouring Doncaster and District Society would be held al Barnby Dun. Mr. J. Slyer reminded Sheffield members of the meeting to be held at Staveley in December, and asked for a more satisfying attendance.

A return was then made to the lower, and methods ranging from Bob Minor to Yorkshire and London Surprise were rung. 1. M. H.

\section*{HALIFAX ASSOCIATION}

The 6 -bell contest and quarterly meeting was held at Brighouse on October 26th, when five teams entered to ring a three-lead practice and 504 changes in any method as a test piece.
As Shelley and Elland secretaries had notified the Association secretary that their teams would be unable to compete before tea, the committee waived Rule 12 as regards penalties. Mr. George Perrin was the judge and the result was: 1 Liversedge, 49 faults: 2 Friezland. 51 ; 3 Meltham, 69: 4 Shelley, 123 : 5 Elland, 172.
At the commencement of the quarterly meeting, at the request of the president. the company stood in silence to the memory of Mr. Harry Haig, of New Mill, who died shortly after the annual mecting in August.
Votes of thanks were passed to the Vicar. churchwardens and ladies for providing an exeellent tea, and to Mr. H. Renshaw for the splendid local arrangements.

\section*{LATE NEWS}

We are pleased to report that a new long length in Minor was established at Stisted, Essex, last Saturday. The 25 extents ( 18,000 changes) were rung in 9 hours 35 minutes. The hand cont sisted of Brian J. Howard, Joe E. G. Roast, Howard W. Egglestone, Walter Arnold, Frank B. Lufkin (conducror) and Terry Earle.

\section*{PEAL ATTEMPT}

\(I^{\top}\)T was Thursday when Alan rang up and said, 'Would you like to ring a peal on Saturday afternoon?' Playing for time and trying not to sound too alarmed, I said, 'Where?' Alan replied that it was at Betchworth and that he was asking me to stand in for Freda, who had hurt her foot and couldn't make it. 'What are you ringing?' I asked. 'Grandsire Triples,' he replied. I took my courage in both hands and said, 'Yes, I'll do it.' Alan said he was very pleased, and I too felt a certain pride in the thought that I had been asked to stand in a peal. I'd never rung one before and it would be quite an experience. Oh yes, on Thursday I felt very cocky about it.

On Friday a little shadow of doubt crept into my mind. A peal took a long time to ring-nearly three hours. Three hours of complete concentration - one mustn't let one's mind wander for an instant. Could I do it? It was Triples, too, and I was much more used to Doubles. True I had rung a quarter of Grandsire Triples-but a peal-that was a different matter. I went through all the motions and mechanics of the method in my mind. Yes, I could remember it-I should know what to do. But would it be as easy in the tower at Betchworth on Saturday? I told myself angrily that of course it would and that I was being ridiculous. All the same - rather like a drowning man grasps at a straw-I began to hope that Alan would ring again and say that someone else had dropped out and that they would have to call off the attempt, but it was a false hope and I didn't hear from him.

Saturday came. In the morning I did my usual choresthe hairdresser, arranging the flowers in the church, things in which I normally take pleasure, but to-day they were spoiled by the small black cloud that lurked on my hori-zon-that afternoon I had committed myself to ring in a peal, and I didn't want to. I tried to shake off this stupid depression and apprehension. There was absolutely no reason to feel like this - I was behaving like a child. It was a gorgeous autumn afternoon. mellow and golden, but somehow I couldn't enjoy it, and I arrived at Betchworth feeling very, very frightened. One by one the band arrived. Pat, who was conducting, said, 'It'll deserve a leading article in "The Ringing World," Nancy, if we get this peal." Everyone said of course we would get it. I wished I could have felt as confident as they.

We started. Pat said, 'There's a bob in the first lead, so don't panic.' I didn't. Perhaps it wasn't going to be so bad after all. We had been ringing for about forty minutes or so, and I discovered to my surprise that I was beginning to enjoy it. Then it happened - five or six whacking great thuds. What on earth was it? Had something happened to the bells? Was someone trying to get in? We looked round at each other, mutely asking the same questions. And then I suddenly realised I'd no idea of what place I was in or what I should be doing next. It soon became apparent to Pat that the two and five had crossed over. Sadly 'Stand' was called and our peal was no more.

But the mystery remained. What had caused the noise? The bells were all right and no one was trying to get in. What could it be? Alan did some investigating. There was a water tank in the belfry and for some reason, possibly because of an airlock in the pipe, when water was drawn from down below it caused these thumpings and bangings. The mystery was solved, but I cannot help feeling it had cost us our peal. Anyway, we rang a quarter afterwards, so the afternoon wasn't really wasted.

Later when we were talking in the churchyard I said to Pat, 'I'd like to have another try some time if you wouldn't mind putting up with me.' Pat said of course we could try again and that we must fix something up. On my way home with horror I realised what I had said-I'd like to try again. And that meant once more I would have to go through that appalling apprehension and doubt and nervousness. What a fool I was--I'd let myself in for it all over again. Oh well, never mind, I dare say I will enjoy it as much as I did this last time!

By the way, Pat said he expected an article in 'The Ringing World ' if we scored the peal. I don't know, but I think unsuccessful peal attempts as well as the successful ones deserve some publicity, don't you?
NANCY KEMPSELL.

To mark his 80th birthday Sir George Eddy has asked the Vicar of Kidderminster

\section*{BELFRY} (Canon R. B. Jolly) to accept as an offering of thanks the gift of clectric bell-ringing equipment for the church. Comments 'The Birmingham Post ': 'The Vicar, who has seldom had enough ringers for the 12 bells, has been thankful to see an old problem solved just before he retires.'

New officers at Tewkesbury Abbey are : tower captain, Michael Sprackling; tower secretary, Ernest Leach.

With the peal of Minor at New Mills on November 12 ith Mr. James Fernley, of Norbury. has now rung peals of Cambridge from Minor to Maximus.
Mr. Brian E. Jeffrey, of Edenbridge, Kent, who has just completed his National Service, wishes to thank members of the Peterborough Diocesan Guild for their hospitality and kindness to him while stationed with the Royal Army Pay Corps at Northampton.

On November 13th the ashes of Canon J. R. Collins, for 26 years the vicar of St. Mary-deCastro Church, Leicester, until his death two years ago, were laid under the floor of the church at a special service. Unfortunately, a muffled peal was lost at St. Mary's. To his memory a peal was rung at the Campanile, Loughborough. The Canon was a great friend of Mr. Paul Taylor.

Mrs. Arthur A. Shurcliff, a member of the Ancient Society of College Youths, has resigned the presidency of the American Guild of English Handbell Ringers. The Guild has shown its appreciation of her devoted service by electing her as hon. president. We are sorry to hear that Mrs. Shureliff has been in hospital for an operation and hope that by now she has made a complete recovery.

\section*{GOSSIP}

In our peal columns this weck is Mr. Henry C. Sharpe, who at the age of 83 rang a peal at Wilburton on November 18th. He rang his first peal 61 years ago, which was the first peal on Wilburton bells, and has been ringing for 68 years.
Mr. Richard W. Logie, for many years associated with Barton Parish Church, has died in Leicester Infirmary in his 94th year.
Will ' D. G. P.' kindly send his name and full address to the Editor. Without this his letter cannot be considered for publication.

The band which rang the peal of Ludlow Delight at Denby would like to associate the peal with the memory of the late Rev. D. P. Roberts, of Whiston, Lancs.

One of the young ringers of Rotherham writes thanking Jayfus for his praise [see 'R.W.', November 15 th , but adds: 'The credit should go to Mr. N. Chaddock, who has devoted many many hours to teaching us.:

Congratulations to Mr. C. M. Heathcote, of Sutton-in-Ashfield, Notts, who recently attended an investiture at Buckingham Palace to receive the M.B.E. awarded in the Queen's birthday honours list. Mr. Heathcote is hon. treasurer of the East Derbyshire and Nottinghamshire Association of Change Ringers.

Five old students and a present member of the staff rang a quarter peal at Dagenham on November 13 th in honour of the fpundation of Dagenham County High School. The performance was even more creditable since three members of the band had done little or no ringing for five years or more. All, with the exception of Mr. Anstey, the present Master, had been trained at Dagenham during the immediate post-war period, but because of jobs and further education had drifted away. The quarter became, therefore, something of a reunion.

\section*{Election of Officers}

At the' annual meeting at the Society's headquarters on November 16th, the principal business was the election of officers for the ensuing year. The treasurer (Mr. C. G. J. Watts) presented the accounts, which were approved.
A departure was made from usual custon, and the retiring Master (Wing-Commander J. S. Mason) was voted to remain in the chair after ordinary business, and to conduct the election of the officers. The following were elected: Master, Dr. P. A. F. Chalk: treasurer, Mr. C. G. J. Watts ; senior steward, Mr. W.' Williams; junior steward, Mr. B. K. Lunn; trustees, Mr. E. G. Fenn and Mr. J. F. Smallwood: secretary, Mr. J. Chilcott, 20, Crosslands Avenue, Southall, Middlesex.
Tributes were paid to the retiring Master for his splendid work during his two years in office, and to the retiring secretary (Mr. A. B. Peck) for 20 years of devoted and loyal service. Good wishes were expressed to his successor, Mr. John Chilcott, for a successful period of office, it being stressed that the usual period is not less than 20 years!

\section*{'FIRE PREVENTION AND FIRE FIGHTING IN CHURCHES'}

There were 1,132 fires in churches and other places of worship in the United Kingdom in the five years from 1951 to 1955. This is evidence enough that those who have charge of places of worship may benefit from some guidance on fire precautions. It is desirable that they should be aware of the most likely causes of fire, such as faulty, badly-installed or ageing heating and lighting systems, and should have some plan of action ready to deal with tire if it does occur
Guidance on these and other matters can be found in this new Fire Protection Association booklet, which has been prepared in collaboration with the Central Council for the Care of Churches.
Copies of the booklet are being distributed by the Central Council to every church of the Church of England and to members of diocesan advisory councils, diocesan architects and other interested persons. Churches of other denominations will also be receiving copies.
The booklet is divided into two sections, the first containing precautions which can be put into effect by the church authorities and the second consisting of more detailed notes for architects, builders and contractors. It is illusrrated by a number of photographs and interest is stimulated by the series of humorous drawings by the well-known artist 'Acanthus.
Copies of the booklet, ' Fire Prevention and Fire Fighting in Churches,' are available to the general public on payment of 2 s .6 d . per copy, from the Fire Protection Association, 15, Queen Street, London, E.C. 4.

\section*{Northern District}

For several years the Northern District meetings at Norton have not been well-attended, but the latest. on November 2nd, was very successful, with 24 members at tea, and visitors during the afternoon and evening. At the business meeting Mr. K. Fleming, of Marston (Beds), was elected a non-resident life member.
The Rev. G. G. S. Kenyon conducted the service, and during his address emphasised his wish for a fully-muffled Maundy Thursday peal. Mrs. E. Ulrich played the organ. Ringing continued until 8.30 , the bells being dropped in peal at the end of a very satisfactory meeting.

\section*{UNIVERSITY OF LONDON SOCIETY}

\section*{14 New Members Elected at Annual Meeting}

About 30 members attended the annual meeting of the University Society of London on October 26th. Ringing at St. Olave's, Hart Street, a short service, conducted by the Rev. E. G. Turner (St. Giles', Cripplegate), and tea, prepared by three lady members, preceded the business meeting, at which the president (Dr. Denis Layton) presided.
In his report the Master (John Armstrong) said success and progress had been the keynotes of the Society during the year, and in almost every field an advance had been made. Seven peals were rung, a record for one session, and four lost and one drawn! 'The last named, Stedman Caters at Rickmansworth, quietly expired after an hour's ringing, neither sideringers or bells--preparing to admit defeat.
The secretary (David Priestley) mentioned that subscriptions from 19 members were overdue and they had ccased to receive the Society's circulars. Additions to the library included Scott Parry's book on handbell ringing (from Mr. A. A. Hughes), a book on Norwich and the Broads (Mr. Nolan Golden), and 'Church Bells of Flintshire' (Mr. Ronald Clouston, the author, who is a member). Both the Master and the secretary thanked the Rev. A. Powell Miller for his help and interest during the year.
An encouraging start to the session's activities was the election of 14 new members. In accepting his re-election, the president intimated that this would be his last term of office, as he felt the position should not remain with one person for too long. Alan Thirsk was elected vice-president in recognition of his services, and Philip Gray and Geoffrey Carter re-elected. The new Master is Roger Kecley, secretary and treasurer Beverley Thompson, and committee Margaret Floyer, John Armstrong and Dennis Beresford.
The final choice for the Whitsun tour was left to the annual dinner, suggestions being Leicestershire, Haslemere or Thames Valley and Mayfield, Sussex. Four possibilities were considered for the summer tour, and finally Philip Gray's suggestion of Somerset was accepted. The tour will be in the last week of August instead of the customary week preceding the Bank Holiday. The date of the annual dinner was fixed for Saturday, February 15th, arrangements being left to the committee.
Margaret Floyer proposed an omnibus vote of thanks, which included the Rev. E. G. Turner. Dr. D. J. Neal Smith (for playing the organ) and the rector for the use of the bells and church hall. Films of scenes from two Whitsun tours and the Broadland holiday proved very popular.

\section*{LINCOLN DIOCESAN GUILD}

The quarterly meeting of the Elloe Deanery Branch was held at Pinchbeck on November 16 th, attended by about 40 members from South Lincolnshire.
There was \(1 \frac{1}{2}\) hours' ringing at St. Mary's Church tower, with Mr. J. G. Ames, of Spalding, as leader. Tea was served at the Bull Inn after a service in church. conducted hy the Vicar of Pinchbeck (Rev. J. M. Corley).
A short business meeting was held, at which Mr. Alan Richardson. of Brigg, and formerly captain of the Pinchbeck team, presided. Two new members were elected.

A further two-hour period was spent in the lower and the day concluded with a social evening at the Bull clubroom. Mr. R. C. Noon, of Spalding, being M.C. Mr. Roy Withyman, of Pinchbeck, thanked the organisers.

\section*{RECORD LENGTH OF MINOR}

\section*{25 Extents in 9 Hours 35 Minutes}

CONGRATULATIONS will be extended to the Essex Association band which established a new long-length record in Minor by ringing 25 extents in different methods at Stisted on Saturday, November 16th, in 9 hours and 35 minutes.
The peal started at 12 noon, and Mr. Edwin Jennings, who was asked to listen to the peal, reports that he heard 19 of the \(25720^{\prime} \mathrm{s}\). The first was rung in \(23 \frac{1}{2}\) minutes, and the other extents were rung around 23 minutes with \(\frac{1}{4}\) to \(\frac{1}{2}\) minute either side with monotonous regularity. The ringing was of a high order.
The only 'casualty' was Terry Earle; his hands were 'hanging in blisters' at the end. All the band seemed to be quite fresh afterwards (except for Terry's hands).
Somo amusement was caused throughout the peal by the third ringer, who had to stand very close to a wooden staircase, and he occasionally either struck his arm or head against the woodwork, especially when he wanted to help himself to some refreshment.
Walter Arnold cycled from Earl's Colne, a distance of about six miles, and rang the peal most excellently. He partook of no refreshment of any sort and cycled home afterwards.
After the peal some beer was had at the local inn and then came a meat supper, kindly given by Mrs. Earle (Terry's mother, 'who thought we were all mad '). The thanks of the band are due to her. 'And so,' writes the conductor, 'ended a successful and happy day.

\section*{THE BAND}

Treble.-Brian J. Howard, aged 22 years, has rung about 60 peals. He comes from Southend and learnt his ringing under J. B. Lufkin as a lad at Prittlewell.
Second.-Joe E. G. Roast is 21 years old and has rung about 140 peals. He comes from Danbury, Essex, and is already one of the leading conductors in Essex. Joe is now doing his National Service with the R.A.F.
Third.-Howard W. Egglestone, aged 21 years, has rung about 70 peals. He comes from Fryerning, Essex.
Fourth.-Walter Arnold, who is about 50 years old. He is verger of the Parish Church at Earl's Colne, Essex, and has rung between 300 and 400 peals.

Fifth.-Frank B. Lufkin, the conductor, is 46 years old. He has rung over 400 peals and is now attached to the Bocking band. For 25 years previously he was Master of Prittlewell band. Has rung lengths of \(9,000,11,568\) and 12,740 changes.
Tenor.-Terry Earle, of Stisted, aged 20 years, who has rung 125 peals.

\section*{ARCHDEACONRY OF STAFFORD'S SUCCESSFUL DINNER}

THEN it was suggested that the sixth annual dinner of the Society for the Archdeaconry of Stafford should be held at Tamworth, there were those who doubted whether sufficient support would be forthcoming to make the function a success. The dinner took place at the Castle Hotel, Tamworth, on November 9th, when the attendance of 107 was only one less than the number at Walsall last year-an answer to the critics.

As on previous occasions, the Archdeacon of Stafford (Ven. W. A. Parker) presided, and he was supported by Mrs. Parker, the Vicar of Tamworth and Mrs. Jones, the Vicar of St. Giles', Willenhall, and Mrs. Bond. Other visitors included the Rev. C. J. Raby (Vicar of Claveriey), the Rev. T. O. Boulton (Vicar of Penn) and Mrs. Boulton. Mr. H. Thomas (Master of the Hereford Diocesan Guild), Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Pearson, Mr. and Mrs. N. Maycock, Mr. E. Drew, Mr. and Mrs. Courtman and Mr. G. Goodson. An apology was received from the Rev. C. H. Barker (elerical secretary) and a telegram of good wishes from Mr. and Mrs. F. Colclough (Bilston).
Following an excellent meal there were the usual speeches which one always hears at a ringers dinner, and these were considered by many present to be the most amusing made at a 'Staffords' dinner to date. Proposing the toast of "Church and State,' Mr. R. L. Pearson (assistant manager. Midland Bank Lid., Eichfield Street. Wolverhampion) said that there were occasions when on opening his mail in the morning he found demands for rätes, income tax, telephone rentals, wireless licences, etc., he began to feel that he really was financing the State. Mr. Pearson went on to say that there was very often criticism when Church leaders made statements on national issues, but in his opinion there were instances when a lew bishops would probably do a lot better than many of the ministers of State.
Replying to the toast, the Rev. T. O. Boulton said that having that evening discovered that Mr. Pearson resided in his parish, the gentleman in question would now be receiving demands towards financing Penn Church. in addition to the State. It was essential, said Mr. Boulton, that the Church and the State worked in harmony together.

\section*{SUNDAY RINGING EXAMPLE}

Proposing the toast of "The Society for the Archdeaconry of Stafford: Mr. H. Thomas said ha had been impressed when he learnt that all hut seven of the 73 towers in the Archdeaconry had regular service ringing each Sunday. He felt sure that the affairs of the Society were in capable hands.

Replying, Mr. G. H. Peers, jun., of Tamworth, said that while being fully aware of the excellent efforts of the Society's officers in the past, it was the immediate present and future he was concerncd with, and in this respect he would like to pay tribute to the good work being done by the lay secretary. Mr: F. Bennett.
Mr. Harry Griffiths proposed the toast of "The Visitors. and he prefaced his remarks by saying that the lay secretary had literally scraped the harrel' in asking him to speak. Mr. Griffiths extended a hearty welcome to the visitors and hoped they had enjoyed themselves to such an extent that they would wish to attend future dinners.

In reply, Mr. G. Goodson, of Claverley, said it always gave him great satisfaction to attend ringers functions and observe the goodwill which so obviously existed in the ringing fraternity. He thanked "brother Griffiths" for the nice things he had said about the visitors.
This concluded the speeches and Mr. F. Bennett thanked the Archdeacon of Stafford for the very able manner in which he had occupied the chair.

The entertainment which followed was provided by Major B. Pearson, of Wolverhampton (conjurer), and Sergeant P. S. Weatherhill (vocalist), of Tamworth. A course of Grandsire Triples on handbells was rung by Messrs. H. Howell, H. Knight, B. G. Key and F. Brotherton.

This report would not be complete without mentioning the assistance given to the dinner committee by Mr. G. H. Peers, jun., in arranging this dinner with such success at Tamworth.
F. C. A. B.

\section*{DEDICATION}

\section*{Yaxham, Dereham, Norfolk}

The cedication of the new treble bell at Yaxham was the fulfilment of the long-cherished wish of Mr: and Mrs. B. J. Gogle to give a bell 10 St. Peter's Church, Yaxham, as a memorial to their parents. It marked the completion of the great effort made by the parishioners, who raised the money for a new bell frame and have had the original five retuned and rehung. The result is a fine ring of six, tenor weighing 12 cwt . 1 qr .14 lb . in D sharp. The new treble weighs 4 cwt. 14 lb . in D sharp, and is inscribed ' Given by Mr. and Mrs. B. J. Gogle, in memory of their parents, John and Anna Gogle and Charles and Sarah Featherstone.-B. G. and D. G.:

The dedication was performed by the Bishop of Norwich in the presence of a large congregation, which included many ringers. Immediately after the dedication, the opening touch was rung by W. H. Barrett 1, F. C. Goodman 2, A. G. Bason 3, John Barnes 4, G. Adams 5, B. Gogle 6. The hymn, Set them nobly in the steeple. Let our bells be rung on high.' was sung in procession back to the High Altar.
Opening his address, the Bishop thanked Mr. and Mrs. Gogle for their gift as a memorial. which he said was far better than a wall tablet. Towers were built for hells to be hung on high to call the people to worship. Ringers ought to think they were church workers, and by their ringing were preparing themselves for worship 100.

The bells were kept ringing after the service by the many ringers who attended.

Mr. C. Bird, of Norwich, while at the Home Office Civil Defence School at Falfield, Glos, was able to participate in a peal at St. Stephen's, Bristol. He writes thanking Mr. David Heighton and other members of the G. and B. Association for making the arrangements.

\section*{GOPHER DINNER AT NEWARK}

Despite the tradition, no fog was experienced by the many visitors attending the fifth annual Gopher Dinner of Newark Parish Church Society of Ringers, heid at the Northern Hotel. Newark, on November 15th. The president (Rev. J. H. D. Grinter) presided.

Proposing the toast of 'The Society,' Mr. M. Brewin said although the Society had been in existence for 61 years, the tradition of Gopher and of Sunday service ringing was carried on faithfully year after year. He coupled with the toast the names of Mr. E. C. Thrale and Mr. C. H. Chapman, who had been members since its foundation.
Mr. J. W. Raithby, the Master, in reply recounted the past year's activities. There were three learners this year and one who had returned to ringing from other duties. Each was making satisfactory progress. If Gopher had been alive he would not have got lost as each Sunday evening during the previous six weeks all ten bells had been rung. On the whole, ringing had improved during the year, and every service had been rung for.

The toast of 'The President' was proposed by Mr. F. W. Midwinter (secretary), who congratulated the Vicar on becoming rural dean of Newark. In reply, the Vicar said he always enjoyed coming to the annual dinner and also the annual outing, which this year had been into Norfolk where he had previously been a vicar.

Mr. W. L. Exton (deputy Master), in submitting the toast of "The Visitors," welcomed visitors from Nottingham, Ruddington, Bulwell. Baiderton, Southwell, North Muskham, Sutton-on-Trent and the surrounding district. This was acknowledged by Mr. R. A. Bartham, chairman of the Nottingham District. 'The Ladies' toast was honoured on the call of Mr. D. N. Sellars, to which Mrs. G. France replied.

\section*{SOUTHWELL DIOCESAN GUILD}

\section*{Newark District's Joint Meeting}

A very successful joint meeting of the Newark District with the Lincoln District was held at Brant Broughton on November 16th. Despite almost continuous rain, upwards of 50 ringers attended, and ringing ranged from rounds to various Surprise methods on these fine heavy bells.

A short service was conducted by the Vicar (Rev. Thoroton), who kindly explained some of the finer details of his magnificent church. Catering arrangements were made rather difficult by 41 ringers sitting down to tea which had been arranged for the 31 who kindly sent their names in.

A short business meeting was held, where it was decided to hold the annual district meeting at Balderton and Newark jointly. A comprehensive vote of thanks was passed to the Vicar. the local ringers for the arrangements, and to all the ringers who turned up to make the meeting a success.
W. L. E.

From Aberystwyth we learn that Neil Bennett and David Walklate have benefited from the articles on Minimus ringing by ringing all the methods published 'in hand.'

\section*{LETTERS TO}

\section*{CHRISTMAS MORNING BROADCAST}

Dear Sir,-l should like to refer to part of the Central Council's minutes. as published in the 'R.W.' (page 415), on the liaison between the C.C. and the B.B.C. What arrangements have been made, if any, with regard to negotiations for the Christmas ringing to be of a better standard than in past years? In the past, much criticism has been shown lowards the many different towers which have been visited each year. Last year was no exception, and the 'jangle" heard from one tower was not advantageous to ringing on the festival of Christmas.
I was fortunate enough to hear the relay of Banstead bells on television, and this was surely a fine example which could be met when the Christmas round-up is broadcast.
I sincerely hope that this year the broadeast will be of the highest order and that the ringing will not mar the Exercise. I feel sure I am not alone in this plea for better ringing and liaison between the B.B.C. and the appointed com-mittee.-Yours sincerely,

KENNETH R. DUNSTAN.

\section*{Watford.}

\section*{'THE COPPER'S BEAT}

Dear Sir,-May I, through the medium of 'The Ringing World,' comment on Mr. Bottrill's humorous letter published in Nov. 15th issue?
I will not discuss this gentleman's past, recent and unnecessary criticism of ringing in the named East Kent towers, but I presume he is hinting that he would like to introduce his own "Copper's Beat." Has anyone any suggestions for this rhythm? (Perhaps plod, plod, plod!)
I am sure that the very young members who rang ' a most remarkable performance' will feel highly honoured to hear, for the first time after eight years, that such a many 'lettered' member of the ringing fraternity should have happened to have been listening to their hurriedlyarranged first peal in the heart of the Kent countryside.

Perhaps we are not yet 'in the groove ' in our local towers. but at least we are not old 'squares.
Looking forward to many future entertaining letters from this ex-ringer.-I remain, yours sincerely.

Walmer.

\section*{TWO CORRECTIONS}

Dear Sir,-In your report of my remarks at the College Youths dinner you quote me as saying that Harry Hoskins and Thomas Groombridge, sen.. of the band who rang in the first 12-bell peal by the Middlesex County Association are still alive. I am quite certain I said nothing of the kind: it was only the knowledge that all the partics concerned in the dispute are dead which led me to refer to it at all. What I do remember mentioning was that those two gentlemen were also well-known members of the Society.
Similarly, Canon C. Carew Cox has pointed out that I am credited with having said, to the Durham and Newcastle Association, that William H. Barher called 'Parker's Odd-Bob peal blindfolded on handbells.' This should, of course, be 'Carter's Odd-Bob peal of Stedman Triples blindfolded. Here again I feel that while 'Parker's' and 'Carter's' sound very much alike, I am too conversant with the fact that he called the peal on tower-bells at Gateshead) to have said that it was a handbell peal. Canon Cox. incidentally, took part in the peal. - Yours faithfully.

Crayford, Kent.
Note.-The Editor expresses his regret at these two inaccuracies.

\section*{THE EDITOR}

\section*{SYSTEMATIC COMPOSITION}

Dear Sir,-Although I have made this point before I would like to reiterate it. There is not nearly enough published work on systematic composition, particularly with respect to Surprise Major methods.

Stedman, Grandsire and Treble Bob methods have been dealt with quite admirably in the past, and it is quite evident that some of our contemporary composers have extensive knowledge of systematic composition in the Surprise Major field. This knowledge is not being passed on and, despite what many people say to the contrary, I belicve there is a sufficient number of ringers interested to make publication in the - R.W.' worthwhile.

During the last two years we have had articles on composition which are thoroughly depressing by their 'ad hoc ' approach. For example, wc have been shown how to string enough courses together to yield a composition of Bob Major. If there is enough space to publish this sort of thing then there is enough space to publish the systems of such eminent composers as Mr. Pitman, Mr. Speed and others.

May I remind the Editorial Committee that bellringing is a technical subject and that the - R.W. is a technical journal, and that space should be allotted to all aspects of the subject as in other technical journals? I have estimated that 5 per cent. of the people who read the - R.W. would be sufficiently interested to read advanced articles on composition. Surely this warrants at least one column every other week? -Yours sincerely,
D. R. CARLISLE.

Risley, Derby

\section*{PROOF OF RECORDS}

Dear Sir,--What record is there for giving the dates of first performances of Kent Treble Bob Major and Royal as June 5th. 1774, and May 15th. 1784, respectively, as given in "History and Art '? I ask because in the same book these peals are given in James Barham's peal list as Oxford T.B. Major and Treble Bob Ten In. Are there records (peal tablets or MS.) at Leeds, Kent?
As with Grandsire and Plain Bob, I think these methods should join the list 'Date of first performance not known. - Yours sincerely, Windsor.

\section*{- FROST AT MIDNIGHT'}

Dear Sir,-During a recent play on television, - Frost at Midnight. it gradually dawned on me that the bells in the background, which were helping to create the atmosphere of midnight on Christmas Eve, were ringing Major. What sort of Major 1 couldn't tell. as the voices of the actors rather got in the way.
Nothing noteworthy in this, except that the play is set in the year 1499-over a century before method ringing of any kind began.
I sympathise with B.B.C. producers. What a life, having to watch for every small slip like that!-Yours sincerely,

Cheltenham. SHIRLEY M. PARSONS

\section*{A PEAL OF 10,080 MINOR}

Dear Sir,-In answer to Mr. Lufkin as regards a record on six bells. I had the pleasure of conducting a peal of Minor, 10,080 changes in nine methods, in 5 hours 40 minutes at St. John-the-Baptist \({ }^{\text {s, }}\), Tunstall, Kent, on August 5th. 1901
It was the record for Kent, but whether there has been one rung later anywhere I cannot say. But anyway, go ahead Mr. Lufkin, and I wish the best of luck to you and your band on the achievement.-Yours sincerely, Headington, Oxford. W. H. B. WILKINS.

LINCOLNSHIRE SURPRISE MAJOR
Dear Sir,-I would like to comment on the composition of the peal of Lincolnshire Surprise Major rung for the first time at St. John's, Devizes, on September 7th ( \(\mathbf{R} . \mathrm{W}\) :, \(1 / 11 / 57\) ). The 5,024 is a reduction of a 5,248 which itself. although produced independently, is a variation of Mr. R. F. B. Speed's 5,152 . The composiions are appended for comparison.
The 5,024 suffers, unfortunately, from losing two of the most musical courses, but it has the advantage of combining minimum length with simplicity.-Yours faithtully. D. KNOX.
Neasden, N.W.

Dear Sir,-In reply to Aidan Boyack's enquiry re the bells of Martham, I learnt from the vicar of that parish while spending holiday duty in Harwich that the bells of Martham are only chimable, but are chimed regularly each Sunday. This may be the reason for London University's failure to visit this tower during their tour of the county.-Yours sincercly,

\section*{YATTON (SOMERSET) RINGERS TRY LIVERPOOL CATHEDRAL BELLS}

The most enterprising outing yet undertaken by Yatton ringers and friends was when they visited Liverpool on November 10th. Use was made of a reserved coach on British Railways, starting the journey late on Friday night and arriving back in the early hours of Sunday.
After a rather sleepless journey, Lime Street station was reached at \(6.25 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}\)., where a welcome breakfast was had in the cafeteria. The first tower visited was Emmanuel, Everton, where good use was made of this light eight.

The attraction of the day was Liverpool Cathedral, where we were the first party, and modestly rang rounds, Queens and Grandsire Caters, and with further arrivals the first-ever all-ladies band, including six from our party, rang on the bells (on the 'light' eight). The whole layout hete is unique, as so must be the organ-like sound produced by this mighty ring. This effect in the ringing chamber, however, makes it difficult to pick out individual bells and is particularly disconcerting to the less experienced.
The fine ring at St. Nicholas' was visited after lunch and was much appreciated. It was a pity that we were overwhelmed so quickly by all the other visitors before we could really sample the bells. What must be the cheapest 35 minutes 'bus ride brought us to St. Peter's, Woolton. A West Country rise resulted in the tenor being - backstroke, with one strapping too! We must have been tired. At the conclusion of ringing here Mr. G. Prescott, on behalf of all, presented Mr. Bert Price, with a gift in appreciation of the hard work he had put in in organising this and previous outings. This was in the form of a copy of 'Towers and Bells of Britain: and was autographed by all the party.
Our Somerset party wish to thank the Dean and other incumbents, Mr. E. R. Humphriss and others who met us, for helping to make it a very pleasant day.

\section*{SURREY ASSOCIATION}

The largest gathering of members of the Surrey Association seen for many years was aturacted to Ashtead on October 26th by the striking competition and quarterly District meeting. Proceedings started with the Guildford Guild form of service, conducted by the curate (Rev. D. Cole).

At 3.30 the captains of the competing bands, all of which had to be regular Sunday service bands, met for the draw for order of ringing, which was made by the District Master. In the meantime the judge (Mr. C. H. Kippin) was installed with his marker in a porch where he could listen but not see.

Each band then went aloft to ring up to two minutes of rounds, stand, and then ring the test piece. This was about 252 changes of any Triples or Major method. All this was done in the presence of the District Master (Mr. G. T. Peters). Meanwhile, ringers and friends outside spent an afternoon listening. Mr. D. Parsons had arranged for a tape recorder to be available, and under his supervision this faithfully recorded all the touches. By 5.45 the last band had had its turn, and the large company then adjourned to the Chureh School Hall, where the local ringers, under the direction of Mr. J. T. Symonds, had found time to prepare a magnificent tea as well as take part in the competition.

This having been dealt with in the customary manner, Mr. Kippin was then introduced to the meeting and asked to give his report. He awarded first place by a very narrow margin to the team that rang third (St. Mary's, Beddington), followed by St. Mary's, Leatherhead, who rang fourth. In third place was St. Mary's, Ewell. Beddington and Ewell rang Grandsire Triples and Leatherhead rang Kent Treble Bob Major. Each band's performance was criticised in a constructive manner. Excerpts of each performance were then played back by the tape recorder.

\section*{STRIIING COMPETITION}

The usual business meeting followed, concluding with the votes of thanks and special ones to the judge (Mr. C. H. Kippin), his marker (Mrs. E. M. Parrott), Mr. D. Parsons for arranging the tape recorder, and to Mr. J. T. Symonds whose wholehearted co-operation had made the venture such a success. Last, but not the least, to the six bands who entered, with commiseration to Wimbledon who had to withdraw at the very last minute because of Asian 'flu sweeping the belfry.
It may be opportune to conclude with a résume of the reasons why the District organised the venture. It was felt that very little was being done to encourage bands and ringers in general to listen to the bells and to strive for better striking. This applied particuiarly to Sunday service ringers who are not peal ringers. It was thought that the stimulus of competition might encourage greater attention to striking, and preliminary reports suggest that it has in fact had this effect. The judge concluded his report with the statement: A competition of this sort will make people striking conscious. If a band does become striking conscious there will be some benefit gained."

Footnote.-The winning band had four ladies in it. A higher proportion tian any other hand!

\section*{Ladies' Guild Picture}

The secretary of the Ladies' Guild writes, correcting the caption to the photograph in our last issuc. Mrs. Mitchell and Miss Stecl. founder members of the Guild, did not take part in the peal of Stedman Caters. The remaining members of the band, not present but still all happily alive and ringing, are Mrs. N. Tomlinson, Mrs. Diserens, Mrs. A. D. Barker and Miss N. Shorter.

THOUGHTS AFTER CAMBRIDGE MAXIMUS

\section*{DEATH OF MR. HARRY HOVERD}

The death on November 171h of Mr. Harry Hoverd, captain of the ringers at Holy Trinity, Dartford, at the early age of 51 , will be deeply regretted by all who knew him.
A splendid ringer in every way, he was of a delightful disposition, a man who could not have had an enemy in this world, but who had endured more than his share of life's adversities. Infantile paralysis in his youth had left him with a slight limp; a serious illness seven years ago culminated in the removal of one of his lungs. after which, he confided in a friend, he was rarely free from pain. In 1953 his then only child died at the age of seven, and finally he himself succumbed shortly after undergoing a severe operation on the throat. He leaves a widow and a second daughter, little more than a year old, for whom great sympathy will be felt.
Harry (his names were Charles Henry, but among ringers he had always been just that) was a native of Churchill, Oxfordshire, where several of his relatives still ring. He taught himself to handle a bell there, and no one could have done it better. Any bell, whether heavy or light, he rang with no apparent effort. In 1927 he moved to Crayford. Kent, but, living a few doors away from a then member of the Dartford band, he joined the company at that tower, where he and one of his sisters rang their first peal-one of Grandsire Triples -on November 29th, 1928. At this time a great outburst of peal-ringing activity in the area was about to begin and, making progress rapidly, Harry quickly became a valued memher of the band. A good striker, a safe ringer and a more-than-competent conductor, though he was content to leave peal-calling very largely to others, he had rung 496 peals when illmess put an end to that part of his career. His last, Stedman Triples on March 26th, 1949, was his 150 th on Crayford bells: he rang also 89 at St. John's. Erith. Harry and Bert Audsley were great friends, ringing 368 peals together. Much of tho writer's boyhood was spent very happily in the company of these two, and altogether he rang in 171 peals in which they both took part, mostly before the war.

Apart from his peal-ringing. Harry had been captain of the Darlford ringers for 26 years. After his earlier illness he had resumed ordinary ringing, and on what must have been one of his last appearances in a belfry, he called a quarter peal of Grandsire Triples at Dartford, where a half-muffled quarter peal to his memory was rung by the local band on the eve of the funeral. An attempt for an in memoriam peal of Stedman Triples on the following day at St. John's. Erith. was unfortunately ended halfway by a rope breaking. His death leaves a hig gap which will be hard to fill, if, indeed, it can be filled at all.
Kingers present at the cremation on November 22 nd or the subsequent interment of the ashes at Crayford included Messrs. R. G. Rayfield. F. E. Walker and Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Hall' (Dartford), Messrs. F. J. Cullum (Master, Society of Royal Cumberland Youths) and N. North (St. John's. Erith), Mr. and Mrs. E. A Barnett, Messrs. E. Barnett and W. E. Bond (Grayford), Messrs. A. S. Richards (West Wickham), H. E. Audsley, A. G. Mason and Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Beer. Among the fioral tributes were wreaths from the Kent County Association (Lewisham District), the Society of Royal Cumberland Youths. ringers of Holy Trinity, Dartford: St. Paulinus', Crayford, ringers and Christ Church, Erith, ringers.

\section*{GUILD of DEVONSHIRE RINGERS}

\section*{North-West Branch}

The N.W. Branch met at Hatherleigh for its annual meeting on Nov, 16th. In the square tower, surmounted by a shingled spire, is a pleasing Mears octave with tenor near 14 cwt .
The service was conducted by the Vicar (Rev. R. H. Rowdon), who gave the members a very hearty welcome. Tea followed at Jerwood's Cafe. At the business meeting the secretary and treasurer presented his report and balance sheet, which were adopted. He reported that the last annual meeting at Clawton and the summer meeting at Holsworthy were well attended. The number of perforning members had dropped by eight and the balance in hand was \(£ 55 \mathrm{~s}\). 4 d . The chairman thanked Mr. Sangwin for his work as secretary, as well as Mr. Charles Sangwin for his work as Ringing Master.
All the officers were re-elected, viz.: Chairman, Mr. F. C. Smalc : secretary and treasurcr. Mr. J. W. Sangwin; Ringing Master, Mr. C. Sangwin, and representatives to the Guild committee, Messrs. R. G. Collacott, R. C. Pearce and W. H. R. Smale. It was decided to hold the summer meeting next year in August at Bideford and the annual at Black Torrington in November. Mr. Rowdon was thanked for his service and excellent address, and the use of the bells. Mr. Hocking, the organist, was also thanked. Rounds and the standard methods were practised during the afternoon and after lea.

\section*{Mid-Devon Branch}

On November 16th the bells of the ancient church of Coffinswell pealed out over the Devon countryside bathed in autumn sunshine, the occasion being a very successful meeting of the Mid-Devon Branch, which was attended by members from Teignmouth, Babbacombe, Coffinswell and Newton Abbot.
A feature of the meeting was the large number of young ringers present. After tea a discussion took place as to the place of the annual meeting of the Branch. The wish was expressed that it be held at a Guild tower. Teignmouth was suggested.

The chairman and Ringing Master, Mr. James E. Lilley, of Newton Abbot, thanked the archpriest (Rev. W. Dunn) for the bells and the very warm welcome they had received.

\section*{OBITUARY}

MR. FREDERICK W. RICHARDSON
With the passing of Mr. Frederick William Richardson, the Lewisham District of the Kent County Association has lost one of its oldest and most valued members.
He joined the Association at the turn of the century as a member of the band at St. John's, Deptford, and retained his connection with that tower for over 50 years until through deaths and lack of recruits ringing there unfortunately had io cease. Afterwards he rang on Sunday mornings at St. Mary's, Lewisham, and at Eltham Parish Church on Sunday evenings with unfailing regularity.

Most of his peals were in the plain methods although he could ring Surprise as well as the next. He was a safe conductor, especially with Holt's Original, which he called many times, and once took part in a non-conducted peal of this composition.
Owing to business and domestic circumstances he had been unable 10 stand in any peal attempts for 20 years until about two years ago when he called the Original once again at Eltham with all his old confidence. During the same period he had not been able to attend any ringing meetings, and in consequence he was practically unknown to most of the present generation of ringers, and for this they are all the poorer. We of the older generation have the happiest memories of him.
E. B.

\section*{MR. WILLIAM H. CURTIS}

Ringers of St. Mary's Church. Storrington, and of adjoining villages, received a sad shock early last week when news reached them of the sudden death of Mr. 'Bill' Curtis. As was usual. "Bill" had rung for Evensong, taken his regular place in the choir, and wished them all 'Cheerio' in his happy manner after the service on the Sunday, but had died from a sudden heart attack the following day while preparing tea. All who love to ring or to hear the bells in Storrington know how greatly he will be missed.

He commenced ringing there in 1920. For 36 years Mr. Fred Blunden and he worked happily together as captain and vice-captain of that tower. They retired from office logether carlier this ycar, and but for an illness affecting Mr. Blunden their great work logether would have been reported earlier in the much happier circumstances of a special dual presentation to them from all of the parishioners which had been arranged.

Bill " rang only one peal but he conducted numerous quarter peals as special occasions arose: but to many ringers he will be best remembered for having adopted his schoolboy motto of 'Never absent, never late' into his ringing, whether for Sunday service or Friday practice.

Mr. Curtis served for a number of years on the committee of the Western Division of the Sussex County Association, and among many floral tributes was one from this Division and also one from the local ringers.

The bells were rung muffied for the funeral service last Friday and in the evening a wellstruck quarter peal of Grandsire Doubles was rung by his regular associates, those taking part being: Ann Dovey 1, Miss G. Smith 2 . John Young 3, Jean Horton 4, B. W. Farhall (conductor) 5, G. March 6.

Ringers present at the dedication of the recast tenor ( 23 cwt .3 qr. 2 lb ) of Dereham bells on November 16th resard these as probably the finest eight in the Norwich Diocese. A new steel frame has been installed and the other bells retuned, the cost being approximately \(£ 2,400\). A report of the dedication service will appear in our next issue.

\section*{MR. ALBERT H. SAYER}

The death occurred recently of Mr. Albert H Sayer, who reached his 93rd birthday last June.
Born on Plum Pudding Island, in the Thanet Marshes, Mr. Sayer worked in his early days as a carpenter and joiner in Birchington. It was here that he started his connection with ringing, at the age of 16 . His first peal, Grandsire Triples, on May 23 rd, 1885 , was meritorious as it was the first peal by all local residents to be rung at Quex Park. It is believed that he was the last survivor of that band.

He was a ringer and sidesman at All Saints, Birchington, for many years, and formed the present band. A permanent memorial of his craft as a carpenter stands in the churchyard in the two seats which he gave in memory of his wife.

In 1942 he moved to Canterbury, where he joined the bands at the Cathedral and St. Dunstan's. Owing to the large number of steps at the Cathedral he was forced to give up ringing there some years ago, but continued to ring at St. Dunstan's: his last ringing was on his 90 th birthday, when he called a 120 of Grandsire Doubles.

The funeral took place at Birchington, the service being conducted by the Rev. A. P. T. Barnes, assisted by the Vicar (Rev. C. Donaldson). The bells were rung half-muffied immediately prior to the service, during which his two favourite hymns were sung. Many of his old friends in the parish, and ringers from Canterbury Cathedral and St. Dunstan's, Sturry, and the local band were present. The Dean and Chapter were also represented by their agents. Many expressions of sympathy have been received by his niece, with whom he lived during his last years. So passes one who was loved by all who knew him.

\section*{POINTS FROM RECENT SPEECHES}

TTHE dinner season is now upon us, and as is customary at these functions the toasts are usually accompanied by speeches. Let us take a brief review of some of the points made at recent gatherings. At the College Youths' dinner it was said that "The Ringing World' is reputed a dull journal. Using a famous phrase, it all depends on what you mean by dull. Nobody, for instance, could call the recent articles by Ernest Morris in any way dull, and their human story is amusing and interesting.

What do readers expect from their journal?-Peals and quarter peals, the activities of the 56 affiliated Guilds and Associations, compositions, personal items, instruction for the beginner, arguments and theories for the advanced ringer, and a first-class front page article written by the pen of the late Mr. J. A. Trollope or by the founder editor, Mr. John S. Goldsmith. The fact is that so wide are the attainments and interests of our readers that there are bound to be pages that do not appeal to them. Theory or composition is not understandable to more than 10 per cent of our readers, but such is the unusual position of 'The Ringing World ' as the only weekly medium devoted to our art that space has to be given to this and other sections. At times attempts are made to brighten the pages with a little humour-but here again there are invariably protests. Nevertheless, this article is brightened at the end by one of those stories which delight ringers of the old time school.

The second point, also from the A.S.C.Y. dinner: That the Exercise has never realised its responsibilities towards 'The R.W.' The odds against this ever happening are very great. For a modest sum anyone can have a choice of newspapers delivered to the door every day of the week, and there is no responsibility at all. These daily papers are backed by a huge staff of reporters and agencies linked up throughout the world. There is no such organisation behind 'The Ringing World,' which is dependent on the goodwill of a comparatively few ringers, a number of whom act as local correspondents. The Editor also attends a number of gatherings and reports the proceedings. So unconsciously a person compares what he gets for his money in one place and in another-it is just human nature.

At the Yorkshire Association Snowdon dinner the point which stood out was the stirring message from Miss M. Snowdon. It was a restatement of the ringers' ideal, and it came from the living representation of the two famous brothers. Jasper Snowdon had the knowledge and his brother saw to it that this knowledge was presented to the Exercise in concise terms.

Lastly, there was the Leicester Guild dinner, and the theme was success. There is no doubt that Leicester is on the top of the ringing world. I do not know if all the bells in Leicester are rung Sunday by Sunday, but one church can manage Surprise Maximus for service. The other week, at Liverpool Cathedral's open day, there were present about 50 ringers from Leicester; there's real enthusiasm for you, travelling 100 miles to ring at a new tower. Well, we hope they keep up this success story and be an inspiration to us all.

Old stagers will enjoy the story concerning the late Harry Withers, of Birmingham, told to me by Arthur Knights. Harry Withers was a clever man; he could tap any method which he knew on the piano or the dulcimer. He would sometimes invite someone to call a touch of Stedman Triples and he would tap it out. Even more remarkable, he could sit and listen to a peal and present the conductor with the figures of the composition when the band came outside. Like most clever men, he had a weakness and he occasionally went on the spree.
It so happened that Arthur Knights was in Birmingham one Saturday for a peal or meeting, and who should he meet in the street but Harry Withers, obviously inebriated. Recognition was mutual, and they stopped for a chat despite Harry's condition. It should be here explained that Grandsire Caters was at the time a popular method for peals, most of which were brought home from the course end 42563978 . However, A. K. was secretly worried about Harry, thinking that if he got any more drink he would fall foul of the police. So as he prepared to leave he said: 'And where are you going, Harry?' 'Well, Arthur,' he said, 'I have just got as far as 42563.' 'I am glad to hear it,' said A. K., 'and see that you go straight home.'
M. R. P.

\section*{A HALF DAY IN NORTH-WEST STAFFORDSHIRE}

The ringers of St. Mary's, Stafford, and friends from nearby towers had an enjoyable half day's ringing recently on bells on the Staffordshire-Shropshire border.

The tuneful, casy-going eight at Holy Trinity, Eccleshall, were very different from the former very rough six. Everyone fell in love with the light eight at St. Swithun's, Cheswardine, where a near-perfect touch of Stedman Triples was rung. Other touches rung were Treble Bob, Plain Bob and Spliced Oxford Bob and Treble Bob.

After a quick tea at Market Drayton we rushed off, full of enthusiasm, to ring on the four bells at St. Margaret's, Adbaston. Most of the band gave a sigh of relief when these bells were eventually lowered! The beautiful church of High Offley was next visited. Although the rope-ends were again knotted, the bells ran well and the ringing was quite good. The treble in this tower was given by the Barron Bell Trust in 1941.
It was dark when All Saints; Forton, was reached. Here the ringers stand on a platform in full view of the congregation. These six were the heaviest ring of the day with a tenor of \(14 \frac{1}{2}\) cwt. Methods ranged from Cambridge to Plain Bob, and everyone enjoyed the pleasant tone, though they had to work harder than in the previous towers. In every tower we were made welcome and we hope that our efforts in some cases have encouraged the local bands to have another try.
R. V. M.

The hand who rang in the peal at Chester-leStreet in honour of the birth of Penelope Eliza, beth Nicholson consisted of six local and two students from Durham University. A previous attempt was lost after two hours' ringing.

\section*{BEVERLEY & DISTRICT SOCTETY}

When the Barnsley District Society held their monthly meeting at Kirkthorpe, Wakefield, on November 9 th, Mr. David Cubitt, in seconding the vote of thanks to the Vicar and churchwardens and to Mr. Robinson and Miss P. Handscombe for making the arrangements, made some interesting observations on the east window of the church. This, he said, had survived the Reformation and Cromwell; then about 200 years later it was broken by a ringer who had a grievance against the Church. The present window was going to be replaced by one featuring the Resurrection.
Mr. Noel F. Moxon presided at the meeting, when one new member-Mr. Dyson Seargill, of Thornhill, Dewsbury-was elected. The next meeting at Monk Bretton, near Barnsley, on December 14 th , will be of special importance.

Mr. Frank Robinson gave the Society a hearty welcome to Kirkthorpe, and said it had heen decided to place a new oak altar with frontal in the lady chapel as a memorial to the late vicar (Rev. H. E. Jarman).

The ringing in the afternoon and evening was most useful.

\section*{THE LADIES GUILD}

\section*{Kent Branch}

Numerous methods were attempted at the meeting of the Kent Branch of the Ladies' Guild at SS. Peter and Paul's. Tonbridge, on November 16th. Tea in the Parish Room was served by the gentlemen members of the local band.

After votes of thanks had been offered to all concerned, the gentlemen returned to the tower while the ladies held their meeting. At 6.45 p.m. the service was held, conducted by the Vicar (Canon Russell B. White), assisted by the curate and attended by 23 ringers.

\section*{A READING VETERAN'S FAREWELL}

Farewells were said at St. Laurence's Church. Reading, on Sunday, November 17th, to Mr. - Ted Foster, who is leaving Reading to live with his son at Farnborough. 'Ted, who is the last member of the famous band of this church. vill be 80 on Boxing Day, and has an association of 70 years with the church, which he joined as a choirboy at the age of 10 .
'Ted' learnt to ring at Tilehurst and rang there before joining the St. Laurence company over 30 years ago. He was always in the tower for Sunday ringing at both services, and until his eyes began to fail a few years ago most regular at the practices.

Of the few peals he rang, he was most proud of being in the first of Grandsire Cinques rung at St. Laurence's by an entirely Sunday service band, conducted by the late R. T. Hibbert, ringing the 11th to Stedman Cinques, conducted by the late Bill Pyc, and ringing in a peal of Grandsire Triples with one of the five lady members of the Ancient Society of College Youths.

At his final appcarance he took part in callchanges on the back ten, and rang the treble to a well-struck 168 Grandsire Triples before letting the bells down. Three old friends besides the writer were in the touch-Mrs. Catterall. Mrs. Lewington and Bill Rampton-the younger friends being Ray Burton, Mrs. Morley and 'Topper.' After the service, his good health was toasted in 'The Elephant ' (well known to members of the A.S.C.Y.'s), and so 'goodbye' to one of the old brigade.
W. H.

The band who have been ringing Spliced Surprise Minor in peals recently for the Ely Association would like to express publicly to Mr. C. W. Cook, of Harston, their thanks for his assistance in splicing and proof of composition.

The bells of Lydncy, Gloucestershire, are due to be broadcasted prior to a service on the B.B.C. Overseas Service on Sunday next at 5.30 p.m. The service is to be "made live" to South Africa and the Middle East and then 'recorded ' to Canada, U.S.A. and the Caribbean at 2 o'clock the following morning.

We learn that there is a prospect of Wonersh, Surrey, bells being recast into a ring of eight.

An idea for a Christmas present-a year's subscription to 'The Ringing World,' price 28s. post free. Details on this page.

The bells will be heard prior to the service to be broadcast from St. George's Parish Church, Greenock, on Sunday, December 15th, at 9.45 a.m., in the Scottish Home Service. These bells are for chiming only and are a ten with a tenor of 18 cwt .1 qr . in F.
A tape-recording was taken of a peal attempt of Cambridge Surprise Maximus at Southwark Cathedral on Saturday week. We hope the recording of the 'fire out' which occurred after the second course had been completed will be helpful evidence if an inquest is held!

An attempt was made on November 23 rd to ring a peal of Double Norwich Court Bob Major on the middle eight at Worcester Cathedral to welcome the new dean. The attempt unfortunately broke down after threc-quarters-of-an-hour; had it been successful this would have been the first peal on the middle eight.

Mr. Louis A. Wilson, the doyen of ringing at Wootton Bassett, Wilts, took part in a quarter peal of Grandsire Triples at Wootton Bassett on November 6th to mark the 60th anniversary of his association with this tower. Now in his 83 rd year, he is still able to take an active part in ringing, despite two serious illnesses. And many more years of active ringing, Mr. Wilson!

St. Cuthbert's, Benfieldside, has had its six bells restored by Messrs. John Taylor and Co. The rededication of the bells and dedication of a book table to the memory of Mr. Thomas Westgarth took place on November 9th. A report will appear in our next issue.

Congratulations to Mr. George E. Fearn, who rang his 1,400 th peal on November 22 nd . It was a peal of London Surprise Major, rung at Caythorne, Lincs.

Will Mr. R. G. Leale kindly send details of 720 Superlative Surprise Minor and 540 Yorkshire Court rung in a quarter peal to Mr. Walter Ayre, The Old School House, Leverstock Green, Hemel Hempstead? It is generally thought that no true 720 can be obtained of either method.
Four young ringers from. West Buckland, North Petherton and Ashcott had a half day's outing on November 9th, ringing in Somerset and Dorset. With local ringers they had Stedman, Kent and Cambridge on the six at Evershot. Most of the towers visited had four bells.
Spliced Doubles on handbells is being practised at Radstock, under the conductorship of Mr. David Hoare. We are hoping to have the pleasure of recording a peal in 47 methods shortly. One in 47 methods was rung, but alas, on a recheck of the composition it was found to be false.
The December issue of 'Surrey W.I. News' contains an interesting article headed 'Bellringer Extraordinary, by N. B. M. P., on ring ing at Westminster Abbey and of the services of an Institute husband, Mr. Harold Pitstow. Apart from being secretary of Westminster Abbey ringers Mr. Pitstow has been in charge of the Banstead tower since 1926. He is also musical director of Banstead Amateur Operatic Society.

\section*{Christmas Bells On The Air}

From 9.20 to 9.30 a.m. on Christmas Day, immediately before the broadcast service from Nunton Paitsh Church, Wiltshire, a round-up of bells from seven churches will be heard in the fome Service.

The bells will be introduced and the various towers linked by Stuart Hibberd, and the churches will be St. Peter's, Colchester; St. Mary's, Brecon; Yardley Parish Church, Birmingham; the West Church of St. Nicholas, Aberdeen; St. Andrew's, Plymouth; St. George's, Doncaster, and St. Mark's, Dundela, Belfast.

\section*{PORTSMOUTH HAS NEW GUILD}

On the principle that good bells are of little use without good and sufficient ringers, the recent efforts to get Portsmouth Cathedral bells rehung and augmented to ten have been followed by efforts to reconstitute and augment the original band of ringers.

Under the presidency of the Provost of Portsmouth (Very Rev. E. N. Porter Goff), there has now come into being the Guild of Ringers of St. Thomas of Canterbury, Portsmouth, with a carefully-framed constitution and duly elected officers. These are: Tower captain and steeple keeper, F. W. Burnett; chairman of the Guild and deputy tower captain, Albert YorkBramble ; secretary-treasurer, Miss S. K. M. Knight (35, Brighton Avenue, Gosport) ; committee - Surgeon-Captain A. Lawrey (R.N., retd.); Russell Parker and F. J. Edwards. Remaining members, including learners, completc a present total of 24 ringers. There is also 'associate' membership.
The bells, now being rehung and augmented by Messis. John Taylor and Co., of Loughborough, are to be dedicated on Sunday, December 22 nd, by the Bishop of Portsmouth during the 11 a.m. matins.

The bells will be open to local and visiting ringers that day from 2 to 4.30 p.m.. and all interested in this new ring of ten will be welcome during those times. Contributions to the 'Augmentation Fund ' will be gratefuily received and should be addressed to The Cathedral Office, St. Thomas' Street, Otd Portsmouth.

\section*{BRISTOL UNIVERSITY SOCIETY}

Bristol University Society had an enjoyable outing to Gloucester on November 9th. Ringing on the six at St. Mary-de-Lode preceded the visit to the Cathedral, where Mr. Les Barry met the party. The enormous ringing room with louvres for windows surprised those who were making their first visit. Most of the space in the centre was taken up by Great Peter, the 58 cwt. Bourdon clock bell, and this struck whlle the back eight of the ten (tenor 25 cwt .) were being raised in peal. Touches of Grandsire and Stedman Triples and Caters were rung before the back eight were lowered in peal. We had been warned that no bad ringing was allowed on the bells: we hope we did not disgrace ourselves. Alter attending Evensong, the party took a bus to Barnwood, where touches of Grandsire and Stedman Triples, Plain Bob, Double Norwich C.B. and Bristol Surprise Major were rung (tenor \(10 \frac{1}{1}\) cwt.). Mr, Barry met us again afterwards at St. Mary-de-Crypt. Here an overenthusiastic member overturned her bell at the command 'Stand.' which delayed ringing about ten minutes. Cambridge Surprise Major was among the touches rung here. Thank you, all. M. E. D.

\section*{DEDICATIONS OF BELLS THAT WILL RING}

Bradley, Near Bilston, Staffs
It is almost exactly 50 years since the bells of St. Martin's Church, Bradley, were last heard, but this long silence has now been broken. For some time efforts have heen made to raise the necessary funds for the restoration of the bells, and this was finally accomplished when the Bishop of Lichfield (Dr. A. S. Reeve) dedicated the new ring of eight on November 23rd.
The. church was crowded for the service, which was conducted by the Vicar (Rev. E. A. Dentith), with the Rev. C. H. Barker, the clerical secretary of the Stafford Archdeaconry Society, acting as bishop's chaplain. The Society's lay secretary (Mr. F. Bennett) was also present, together with other officers, and the bell-founders were represented by Mr. Paul Taylor. A public address system had been installed in the ringing room in order that the actual dedication prayers spoken by the Bishop could be heard by the congregation in the nave below and also by other parishioners in the school nearby. This was followed by a few minutes' rounds by a band drawn from towers in the surrounding district.
In his address, the Bishop outlined the contribution made by the bells to both national life and Church work, and praised the efforts of ringers who were trying to maintain regular Sunday ringing. He also paid tribute to the amount of work done by the Vicar and his helpers in achieving their objective, as the whole cost of the restoration had been paid. Immediately following the service a touch of Grandsire Triples by the same band was successfully brought round in spite of the sudden reappearance in the belfry of the Bishop and the church officials. headed by the indefatigable Press. His Lordship spoke a few words of appreciation and encouragement to the ringers before leaving.
The tower was then open until 8 p.m., and a large company, which included many ringing notabilities of the Midlands, enjoyed themselves on the new bells in a variety of methods from rounds to six-spliced Surprise Major. In spite of catering for a dance later in the evening, the ladies of the parish had arranged a bountiful tea in the school, which was greatly appreciated by all the visitors.
One person for whom this was a red-letter day was Mr. William Bayliss, now aged 78, who is the sole survivor of the original band. Although he does not enjoy good health and his sight has begun to fail. he took part in some rounds during a silent practice on the previous evening, when an excellent photograph of him was taken. He could not, however, be persuaded to take a rope for the dedication ringing.
The restoration consisted of lowering the bellframe about 18 ft . in the tower and recasting the bells, their total weight being reduced by some 29 cwt . They are now a tuneful eight with a tenor of \(11 \frac{1}{2} \mathrm{cwt}\). in \(G\), and are a typical product of the Loughborough foundry, the interior acoustics being first-class. A local team is at present undergoing training, directed by Mr. D. Holden, of Coseley, and it is a source of satisfaction that one of them was able to take part unaided in rounds during the evening. Practices have been fixed for Friday evenings, at which any helpers will be gratefully welcomed.

\section*{Dereham, Norfolk}

A large congregation of parishioners and ringers filled the Parish Church of St. Nicholas, Dereham, on November 16th. for the dedication of the recast tenor by the Bishop of Norwich. The occasion was saddened by the sudden death of Major John Wormald, who was churchwarden when the Bell Fund was launched, and whose name is inscribed on the bell.
In his address, the Bishop said: 'Our natural joy at the successful conclusion of the work must be overshadowed by the death of Major Wormald, who by his uprightness and integrity was an example to all. It is fitting that Major Wormald's name is inscribed on the tenor bell, for it does mean some small but lasting memorial of his care for this church and the project which brings us here today.

Continuing, the Bishop said that, without bells, the bell tower was nothing more than a relio of the past, dead and useless. Now they had given life back to the tower, and although it might be fanciful, he thought the tower itself was glad to be able to be true to the purpose for which it was built.
The Bishop referred to a discussion at the Church Assembly on the necessity for bringing the Church into touch with present-day life, and the idea which had been suggested of a national mission to call the people back to God. - Whether that vision is practicable I am not going to discuss,' he said, 'but it does draw attention to the necessity for the voice of the Church being heard by the world outside.
- I always think of the bells of the church as to some extent fulfilling that purpose. Just as the church bells are a kind of voice, bringing a message of something higher and purer than this life, so they help us to realise that in some kind of way we have to shine forth among men, to be witnesses and, if you like, advertisements. of what our religion means.'
After his address the Bishop left the church and crossed to the bell tower, accompanied by other clergy and the churchwardens. In the tower he dedicated the new work, and his words were relayed by loudspeakers to the congregation.
The opening touch, a course of Grandsire Triples, was rung by officers of the Association. The Rev. H. G. Lillingston (president) 1, C. Bird (Branch secretary) 2, W. Love (general secretary and treasurer) 3, F. C. Goodman (Branch committee) 4, A. G. Bason (Branch chairman) 5, G. Sayer (Branch Ringing Master) 6. N. Golden (vice-president) 7. H. W. Barrett (Association Ringing Master) 8.
The service was conducted by the Vicar (Canon Noel Boston), prayers being led by Rev. A. A. Eden and Rev. A. G. G. Thurlow (Vicar of Great Yarmouth). One of the lessons was read by Mr. Frederick Sharpe, president of the Central Council. Also present were the Rev. G. G. E. Dodson (rector of Gressenhall). the Rev. A. R. Walter (rector of Scarning) and Mr. John P. Fidler, of the Loughborough Bell Foundry, who carried out the restoration.

A new steel frame has been installed and the other bells retuned. Weight of the tenor is 23 cwt .3 qr .2 lb . The cost of the work is estimated at \(£ 2,400\) and the parish has already raised over \(£ 2,000\) for it.

The bells were available to the many ringers -approximately 80 to 100 -after the service till 9 p.m. The Suffolk Association was represented by Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Pipe, Mr. Chas. Sedgley (former Ringing Master of the Suffolk Guild) and Mr. Ronald W. Clouston. Mr. Norman Harding represented the Ely Association.
Our thanks and appreciation are recorded for the hospitality extended to us by the Vicar and parishioners after the service, and for the use of the bells.

\section*{Trumpington, Cambridge}

The Church of SS. Mary and Michael, Trumpington, Cambridge, now has eight musical bells, installed by Messrs. John Taylor and CO. The dedication by the Lord Bishop of Ely was on November 16th in the presence of a large congregation of parishioners, ringers and friends.

During the singing of the hymn 'Lifted now. within the steeple, All our bells are set on high. the Bishop, clergy and churchwardens proceeded to the west end. After the dedication and prayers, rounds were rung by the local band, assisted by Mrs. F. E. Haynes (a member, until her marriage) and Mr. Peter Border (who learnt the rudiments of ringing in this tower). The signals for starting and standing were given by Mr. F. E. Haynes (who also first handled a bell rope at Trumpington) with Miss Ruth Jackson at the foot of the stairs flashing lights.
In his sermon, Dr. Noel Hudson said he brought the love and prayers and congratulations of all the churches in the diocesan family. He knew, he said, what enterprise, offerings, prayers and vision were behind the accession of the peal.
As the congregation left the church a touch of Grandsire Triples was rung, followed by Stedman. with Mr. Paul Taylor and Mr. T. R. Dennis taking part.

After tea, ringing ranged from rounds to London and Bristol Surprise, and continued until 9 p.m. Amongst the visitors were Mr. and Mrs. Heazel, Mr. F. Sharpe (president of the Central Council), Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Pipe. Mr. and Mrs. Coles, Mr. Sedgley, Mr. Clouston and Mr. Fordham.
That it would be hard to find a better ring for its weight was the general verdict, and the "go was perfect. Five of the old bells have been recast, more metal added to replace the mediæval bell, now on view in the church. The new trebles have been given as a memorial by one of the local band-the treble for her parents and the second for her four grandparents.

In 1928, a splendid oak frame was put in by Messrs. R. White, of Appleton: this has been used with the necessary additions. The eight hells just fit perfectly into the tower on one level.

Now an intensive drive is being made to find recruits and train them, in order to have all the bells ringing for morning and evening prayer on Sundays.

\section*{TWIN HUNT AND SINGLE HUNT TRIPLES METHODS}

Dear Sir.-At the Central Council meeting this year it was agreed that the new collection of Triples methods should include all symmetric twin-hunt five-lead and single-hunt three-lead pure Triples methods.

The complete list below of such methods will no douht prove of interest to the Exercise, especially the purists and those who remember the outcry against irregular methods from certain learned gentlemen.

The single-hunt regular methods can be found in 'The Ringing World,' August 17th, 1956, and their classifications April 12th, 1957.-Yours sincerely.

Windsor.
F. T. BLAGROVE.

\section*{DUTCH SCOUTS' CAMPANILE}

SCOUTS' ' CAMPANILE.'-This novelty at the Scout Jamboree at Sutton Coldfield was erected by one of the Dutch contingents. The bells were 'rung' by means of ropes attached to the clappers and leading to a small frame similar to those used for Fllacombe chimers. Mr. C. T. Blundell, who submitted the picture, regretted that he was unable to grab the tower.

\section*{DEVONSHIRE GUILD HOLD A BEGINNERS MEETING}

A most successful by-meeting, primarily for learners, was held at Lamerton on Nov. 23rd. Members came from Lifion. Kelly, Plympton St. Maurice, St. Andrew's and Emmanuel. Plymouth. The president (Preb. Cox) made the journey from Exeter and Miss Boyle brought iwo of her young ringers from Combe Martin.

The bells were going continuously from 2.45 to 8.30 , except for a break for the service, tea and short meeting, and two spells to splice broken ropes: but the Vicar was pleased to rell us new ropes were on order.
The Vicar conducted the Guild service, and the president read the lesson. An excellent tea with home-made pastries was provided by the ladies of the church.

After the Vicar had extended a very cordial welcome to the Branch, the president said that on seeing the advertisement in 'The Ringing World' of the meeting, with emphasis on "learners," he felt he must come, and he had been most impressed by what he had seen that afternoon and congratulated the Branch on such a forward movement.
The chairman (Mr. H. N. Thomas) expressed thanks to the Vicar. the organist. local ringers and ladies: carried with acclamation. The chairman added that he felt that sincere thanks and congratulations were due to Mr. W. Harvey for his work in the Lifton area in training beginners in change-ringing.

Ringing was under the direction of the Ringing Master (Mr. T. G. Myers), who is also the Branch secretary, and consisted of Grandsire Doubles with a beginner on the treble each time and two or three others who were able to ring 'inside' at each touch. The Ringing Master proclaimed that six of the "learners ' had passed the test and he would recommend them for Guild certificates. Mr. R. Lyndon, of Emmanuel, was presented with his certificate by the president, and two new members-Messrs. Wells and Fice, of Stowford-were admitted.
A touch of Stedman Doubles and Plain Bob by the experienced ringers present brought to a close a most successful meeting.

\section*{LETTERS TO THE EDITOR}

TRANSPOSITION AND TRANS-? Dear Sir,-Many thanks to the readers who answered my appeal. Mr. York-Bramble's comments agrec with my ideas, but I do not see the necessity of inventing new terms more than is necessary. My definition of 'transposition concurs with a generally accepted one; it is only the other term which is new. One cannot express either idea without comparison with an arbitrary row, be it 12345678 or atcdefgh, and the generally accepted first method need not be confused with just a row.

Mr. Marshall seems to have gone off the rails. as his stated values for \(\mathbf{A} \times \mathbf{B}, \mathbf{B} \times \mathbf{A}, \mathbf{A}+\mathbf{B}\). \(\mathbf{B}+\mathbf{A}\) all seem incorrect. \(\mathbf{B} \times \mathbf{A}\) is not equal to \(\mathrm{A}+\mathrm{B}\), and I adhere to my point, stated more correctly as Mr. Carlisle points out, that transpositions and transfigures are 'co-fundamental,' and that they are exactly complementary. A. Y.-B.'s term ' transfix ' seems to me to waive this relationship, although it has the merit of not approaching the devotional term 'Transfiguration.

The 'something deeper' that I have in mind is the theory of part-composition, which admittedly is mainly academic, but does sometimes produce new peal plans. It may be proved that a group of rows used as part-ends is sufficient to generate the extent of a method; but the converse, that a group is necessary, has not been proved to my knowledge. The first proof involves the fundamental property I stated, and I venture to suggest that 'transfiguring ' is a process which is often done by composers and conductors, e.g., in working out (I will not say transposing!) rows in a peal by the coursing order.
I do hope that a decision will somehow be reached, as a definite term will remove ambiguity from the term 'transposition.'-Yours faithfully, Brighouse, Yorks.

\section*{A LONG CLAWSON MEMORY}

Dear Sir,-I was delighted to read in "The Ringing World ' of October 4 th of the meeting of Melton Mowbray District at Long Clawson in the lovely Vale of Belvoir. When the secretary prepared his report he little thought that his paragraph would give a thrill to a former member living 12.000 miles away.
As a youngster, I learned to ring on these bells. They are very difficult for a learner owing to the long draught of rope. I fully agree with Mr. Pat Cannon in the report of his visit here about a year ago that the bells can be well struck in changes. including Stedman, but the ringers must be expert in handling and bellcontrol and ring at a steady pace.
The bells have a lovely deep tone with a tenor of 19 tcw . The fourth bell is pre-Reformation, being cast about A.D. 1400 . Mr. Harry Bartram, of Melton, used to warn visiting ringers that 'you can't ring these bells with your wrists."
The bells have a very interesting history, and it was good of your correspondent to recall the only peal to be rung on them, conducted by Mr. Ernest Morris, and in which I took part during my last visit to England in 1927.
Like Mark Twain, I have to smile when he mentions me by name and adds who was a native of Long Clawson.: I think that it would have been correct to have written who is a native of Long Clawson.
May I congratulate the captain of Long Clawson (Mr. Edward Tinsley) upon having completed 50 years of continuous service with this tower. This is the type of steadfastness and loyaliy of which the Exercise is so justly proud.

With all good wishes.-Yours sincerely,
W. SMITH (Capt., retd.).

\section*{PEAL FEES TO ASSOCIATIONS}

Dear Sir,-Many Associations which do not already charge a peal fee seem to be trying to introduce this extra source of income, and some have succecded, so I think that an appeal for a certain amount of sanity ovet the question is now out of place, after so much sense and nonsense has been said on the subject.
The usual reason put forward for a peal fe: is the high cost of annual reports. Many Associations publish peals in 'The Ringing World style, which requires a lot of space. As far as the peal ringer is concerned, this is quite unnecessary. as the peals have already appeared once in "The Ringing World. "Peals are published in 'The Ringing World as news; by the time a report is printed they have become past history. Consequently the only obvious reason for printing them again is as a record for the Association. If the Association wants to keep a record of peals, surely it, i.e.. every member. should pay for it. After all, an annual report should ideally be an account of all the activities of the Association, not just the peals, and would thus be of interest to all its members.

Much has been said about peal ringers and Sunday service ringers. Let me say now that I know many service ringers who are not peal ringers, but only two peal ringers who are not service ringers. It would seem from this that the deciding majority of ringers are biased against peal ringing, or are indifferent. It is easy to vote that somebody else pays. The essential financial difference btween the peal ringer and the Sunday service ringer is that while the former spends a considerable amount travelling and usually gives (or should give) a donation to the church he visits, the latter invariably just attends his own church, which the peal ringer does anyway.
In most cases it is up to the conductor to forward the fee to the Association. After a conductor has spent quite a lot of money and trouble arranging a peal, often for someone else's benefit. he is now asked to do even more. This is hardly an encouragement to the young conductor to arrange peals. 1 feel that the levying of a peal fee will discourage ringers to arrange peals, and that the resulting drop in peal ringing will in time cause a porportional drop in the standard of Sunday service ringing.
This letter is not intended as a criticism of any particular Association or body of ringers, so 1 feel justified in signing myself
'A SUNDAY SERVICE & PEAL RINGER.'

\section*{THOSE I REMEMBER}

Dear Sir,-I read with great interest the article • Those I Remember,' by Ernest Morris, especially the Birmingham memories, when saw my own father's name, Bernard Witchell, mentioned (the name is Witchell and not Mitchell as printed in 'The Ringing World dated November 15th); I felt very pleased.
I remember hearing my father speak of many of the names mentioned in the article, and how proud he would be if he were still with us to know that his only grandchild, my daughter, is a member of the Abbey band of ringers, Erdington.-Yours faithfully,

WINIFRED HAMPTON, née Witchell. Erdington.
A COMPOSITION OF YORK GREEN'S
Dear Sir,-I should like to point out that the composition of Yorkshire Surprise Major published on page 764 of 'The Ringing World, under the name of \(\mathbb{E}\). W. Tipler, was composed by York Green, a prominent London composer, over 50 years ago, as a peal of Superlative Surprise Major. It was rung at St. Mary's Church. Islington, on April 15th, 1902, conducted by W. Pye, and the figures appear in the Middlesex Association report for 1902, on page 82, peal No. 251.-Yours sincerely,

CHARLES W. ROBERTS.
Waltham Abbey.
DEATH OF MR. J. PILLING
At the advanced age of 93 years the death occurred on November 18th at Saddleworth Fold of Mr. Jonathan Pilling. A ringer at Si. Chad's Church. Saddleworth, he was the second oldest resident of the district.

Though not a peal ringer, his chief delight was to hear bells rung well, and he was nimself a good striker, though of recent years he had become slightly deaf. He often accompanied the ringers from Friezland to contests, and Jonathan and his contemporaries won many contests round about the latter years of the 19th century, both in Minor and Major towers. A much travelled man, he returned to Britain from America to volunteer for the Forces at the outbreak of the Boer War.
The funeral took place on November 22nd. and Mr. Joseph Burgess and Mr. George Perrin attended on behalf of the Friezland tower.
On November 24th a team consisting of Messrs. J. Smith, J. Hulme, G. Perrin, J. Burgess, A. J. Bennett and A. Farrand rang 720 Oxford T.B., fully-muffled, at the conclusion of morning service, and afterwards adjourned to the Church Inn, to obey one of Mr. Pilling's last instructions-to 'have one on me. We 've lost a grand old gentleman.

\(\mathbf{A}^{\text {F }}\)FTER my father had started me off on my ringing career when I was a schoolboy of about 12 years of age, I remember my grand-father-George Morris-telling me that in his young days he 'did a bit of bellringing.' He was a native of Cattistock, in Dorset, whose church at that time had a small west tower with three bells. This tower formed a porch entrance to the church through which the congregation passed. The ringers performed from the ground floor, their ropes coming down in a straight line near the side wall. The three ringers used to stand and face the wall, throwing their ropes down it, thus making an admirable guide, and it was well nigh impossible to miss the 'sally. The congregation meanwhile passing into church behind the ringers' backs did not disturb them.

\section*{CATTISTOCK'S CARILLON}

In later years a rector of Cattistock-the Rev. H. Keith Barnes-who came of a wealthy family, pulled the old tower down and had a new and very fine one erected (a miniature of the central bell Harry tower of Canterbury Cathedral). In this tower (1882) he had installed a carillon of 33 bells by Van Aeschodt, of Belgium, with cight hung for ringing in full swing. Every year he arranged for a carillon recital to be given by the late Mons. J. Denyn, of Malines Cathedral, and before he left, that Master of this art used to rearrange the chime barrel to play different tunes at the appointed hours by the clock.
During the second world war (1941) a fire occurred in this tower and the carillon was de-stroyed-not a war casualty-and although covered by insurance the authorities would not allow a carillon to be erected, deeming this to be a luxury! They did. however, allow the erection of the present light ring of eight bells.

\section*{AN UNBURIED CORPSE-NO RINGING}

Recently (June,1953) when on a visit to my brother. George Stedman Morris, of Lyme Regis, he arranged for a peal at Cattistock so that we both might ring at our ancestral home. After some difficulty he got a team together. some coming from long distances, and we met at the appointed time. Imagine our great disappointment, when all assembled, to be told: - You cannot ring-there is an unburied corpse in the village!' It is an age-old custom here (and in other villages) that no bells shall ring while an unburied corpse lies around, and although we appealed to the rector to allow us to ring muffled he-very sorrowfully-informed us he dare not allow it; it would be looked upon as a scandal and an unforgivabie sin! So, although I have visited the home of my paternal ancestors and been in the belfry, I have not rung there!

As a youth, and as soon as I had 'got going as a change ringer, I remarked to my father: - Anybody can ring bells-but how many of these fine gentlemen know all about the bells themselves-their founders, their inscriptions. their history, romance, legends. etc.?' There was no one in Leicester, certainly: so I set about finding out all I could from reference hooks and all other sources possible. eventually compiling-as the years progressed-a sort of library of campanology. I never regretted spending all the time and energy in this effort, fully realising that 'the more one puts into a thing, the more one gets out of it.'

Then shortly after 1 had begun to do all this came the great thrill of going to the bell-foundry and seeing the actual processes. This came at a time of a meeting of the old M.C.A., when-as today-the foundry was opened for visiting ringers to wander around and see bells in every state of manufacture, and old bells in for restoration from all parts of the globe. That inspiration I got well over 50 years ago still keeps my attention and fascination even though I have visited the foundry hundreds of times.

\section*{JOHN W. TAYLOR}

An even more-to me-wonderful and inspiring event was when I first saw the bellfounder himself-John W. Taylor, sen. I had read so much of and been told such a lot about him. I could not help but gaze with awe at this great little man with the shaggy small beard and twinkling eyes. He it was who had engineered the casting of so many noble bells and famous rings, and the great masterpiece 'Great Paul'the largest bell in the British Empire. This famous bell, cast in 1881 (before I was born!), had a most momentous journey from Loughborough to the Metropolis by road, it being too large and heavy to be transported by rail. There at St. Paul's Cathedral it was hung in the south-west tower. where - in the north-west lower-the fine ring of 12 bells was hung four years earlier.

Mr. John W. Taylor, sen., died on November 20th, 1906, in his 80th year, and at his "passing' many tributes to his great achievements were received. The Leicester ringers rang handbells over his grave and followed with a halfmuffled peal of Caters at Loughborough Parish Church. My father took part in this. In his younger days Mr. Taylor was an enthusiastic ringer and was very proud of one unique performance when he and two of his sons and seven employees rang a pzal of Caters in 1888.

\section*{JOHN W. TAYLOR, JUN.}

Mr. John W. Taylor, jun., followed his father as head of the firm, being born on May 23rd, 1853, and in his prime became one of the leading Midlands ringers, taking part in some 220 peals. ot which he conducted about half. He travelled considerably on the Continent and his knowledge of the carillons of. Holland, Belgium and France was unsurpassed by that of anyone on this side of the Channel
After serving the M.C.A. as vice-president for many years, upon the death of Sir Arthur P. Heywood he became president, and for over 25 years served on the Central Council. Four of his sons served in the great war, three of them making the supreme sacrifice while the fourth (Pryce) was wounded. Mr. Taylor (jun.) was a great figure in more ways than one: big in body and in mind and ability, his passing on June 14th. 1919, at the age of 66 , was a great blow to the Exercise at large.

\section*{E. DENISON TAYLOR}

He and his brother, E. Denison Taylor, had shared the management of the foundry, and now Mr. Denison carried on with the assistance of his nephew. Mr. Pryce Taylor. The latter unfortunately died while on a business trip to Canada in 1927, and I well remember the sad home-coming as I took part in the handbell tribute to his memory at the graveside. Mr. Pryce Taylor was a good rihger and took part in the first peal of Maximus ever to be rung in Leicester, which I conducted at Si. Margaret's in 1922. At this time I met Mr. Denison Taylor on many occasions, he invariably taking me in his car to various meetings of the M.C.A. whenever I could not get otherwisc. On one occasion he sent for me and explained that for some (Continued next column)

\section*{GUILDFORD DIOCESAN GUILD}

The Chertsey District held their nomination meeting at Chobham on November 16 th . About 40 ringers attended, with ringing ranging from rounds to an attempt for Cambridge Major, which came to grief as some of the ringers could not see their Ringer's Diary! However, some were able to ring their first course of Stedman, others Double Norwich Court Bob, and yet others Plain Bob Major, so all was not in vain.

The Vicar (Rev. O. R. Acworth) conducted the Guild office and gave an interesting address, taking his text from the first prayer of that servioc, 'So that by our service to Thee. in the art of bellringing, and in the manner of our lives, we may continually play our part." Tea followed in the Church Hall, prepared and served by the ladies of the local band.

The Vicar took the chair for the business meeting. The following were nominated to serve for 1958: Ringing Master, Mr. R. Collitis: assistant Ringing Master, Mr. J. King; hon. District secretary, Miss H. Hancock: executive committec, Mr. J. King and Mr. T. Luxford, the latter io serve for the remaining year of Mr. Goldstone's term. he wishing to retire.
The District Ringing Master gave a report on the meeting of the executive committee held the previous Saturday in Guildford. The question of restarting the Guild summer festival was also raised, and it was agreed to bring this before the Guild A.G.M. Mr. W. Horne proposed a very warm vote of thanks to the girls for such a grand tea, also to the Vicar, and Mr. P. Readings, the organist.

On view was the new tower peal record book, beautifully written by Mrs. B. Thompson. This would seem to be the answer to the high cost of peal boads, as the Delight books seem good for a hundred years.
Ringing continued till 8.45, a complaint to the Bishop being threatened the next day by a local resident! (The Vicar ignored one made to him.)

years he had been trying to write up a 'Chronology of British Bell-founders,' but time would not allow him to finish the work, and he requested me to do this. As a bell-founder Mr. Denison Taylor had a complete knowledge of the art in all its phases. His opinions on bells were sought by campanologists the world over, and during the time he directed the business many thousands of hells-large and smallwere cast and sent out to all parts of the world.

He , in his younger days. rang quite a number of peals, but a hunting accident injured his left arm and so ended that side of his many musical attainments. He was a bachelor. At his funeral in September, 1947, a large and representative gathering mourned his 'passing, and at the graveside on a large set of handbells a slow and solemn course of Grandsire Triples was rung by J. P. Fidler 1-2. Harry Withers (Birmingham) 3-4, Ernest Morris 5-6, Horace Stubbs 7-8.

Mr. John Taylor, jun., had a fifth son. Paul Lea Taylor, who now so assiduously carries on the tradition of this long line of bell-founders; and he-like his predecessors-is a ringer of no mean ability. I have had the great honour and privilege of taking part in a number of peals with him and (D.V.) hope to attain many more. (To be continued)

\section*{OBITUARY}

THE REV. C. J. STURTON
The death occurred at his home, Orston House, Farndon, Newark, on November 19th, of the Rev. Charles James Sturton, who was Vicar of Orston-with-Thoroton from 1911 to 1935. Ha was 91.

Mr. Sturton, who obtained his B.A. at St. Catherine's College. Oxford, was ordained a deacon in 1904, and held curacies in Wiltshire and Lincolnshire, before going to Orston in 1911.

In his younger days Mr. Sturton was a noted ringer, and was held in high esteem by a large circle of ringing friends. He had rung many peals in his day, and although these may not have included 'Surprise' peals or peals on the highest numbers, they were rung at a time when peals were harder to get and all the sweeter when earned. He represented the Midland Counties Association on the Central Council from 1918 to 1920.

The Rev. C. J. Sturton was one of nature's gentlemen and his kindly nature and genial disposition endeared people to him. He is survived by a widow and two married daughters, Mrs. R. W. K. Parlby and Mrs. Norman Smith, to whom much sympathy is extended.

\section*{MR. DAVID McINROY}

The tragic death of Mr. David McInroy at Glasgow last week is regretted by many friends. Aged 24 ycars, and of a yuiet and unassuming nature, David had studicd at Glasgow University and held the degrecs of M.A. and B.Sc. He was finishing his training and had decided to be a maths teacher. He had graduated from choirboy to bellringer at Dunblane Cathedral and was making steady progress in the art of change-ringing.
During his National Scrvice with the R.A.F. he was stationed at Farnborough, where he attended the local tower and spoke of the happy times he sent there. Since be came to Glasgow some months ago he regularly attended service ringing and practices at St . Mary's Cathedral, and was a welcome addition to the band.

The funeral service was held on November 23 rd ais Dunblane Cathedral. at which the various Church organisations were represented, and included Messrs. E. Boumphrey (captain), E. A. Statiord (secretary) and D. Stephenson, from St. Mary's, Glasgow. The many mourners present testified to David's popularity. Afterwards the cortege proceeded to the local cemetery, and in accordance with an old Scotlish custom was attended only by males. A suggestion that handbells be rung at the. graveside was abandoned on the grounds that they might not be appreciated locally.
With the approval of the Provost, St. Mary"s bells were rung half-muffled for service ringing.
May ho rest in peace.
E. A. S.

\section*{MR. RICHARD W. LOGIE}

One of the last links with the Burton ringers of the last century was severed with the recent death in Leicester Infirmary following an operation, of Mr. Richard William Logie.

Mr. Logie was in his 94th ycar and was for many years a ringer at Burton Parish Church, although he gave up active ringing some 40 yeurs ago.

He had taken part in a number of peals for the Midland Counties Association and his name appears on carly peal boards in. Winshill belfry.

\section*{CURIOUS PROPAGANDA}

THE daily and weekly press sometimes give us some startling news about our activities, news that often brings a broad smile after perusing the article or paragraph. I wonder how many ringers spotted this peal of 'spliced ' which was reported in a Midlands paper, a peal which must have been a difficult one to compose and conduct, especially when the number of changes is not given. After the heading 'Change Ringing,' the account says:-
' In honour of the re-election of the churchwardens, a peal of Grandsire, Single, Bob, Single, surprises, consisting of many changes, was rung yesterday upon the three bells of St. Peter's Parish Church. When round was called, the bells were clanged in peal and lowered in grand style. The peal was composed and conducted by the leader of the band, who is to be highly congratulated upon his fine performance.'
If the reader peruses the account a second time some probabilities might occur as to the source of such a paragraph, and much speculation could arise regarding the original writer. Was he a reporter who took notes from one of the three ringers after the performance? Did one of the performers send it to the paper, or was it written by somebody as a joke? This paper certainly gave a glowing account of some ringing on three bells but many interesting details were omitted, so we are left guessing as to the kind of change-ringing the conductor/composer led his band!

Another specimen on ringers and ringing comes from a well-known London daily paper, but the original writer was the vicar of a country parish who wrote in his parish magazine regarding the success of his ringers. He commends ringing to other country districts by declaring it to be a good. healthy exercise, and provides another interest for parishioners. He also says it is another means of making the most of one's environment, and another item with which to vary the monotony of country life. The vicar finished his writing on the subject with the following: - More than 40,000 changes can be produced with a peal of eight bells, and our ringers expect that in due time they will be able to ring them all faultessly.?

The four reasons advanced by this country clergyman sound quite good to those who contemplate ringing even from a local tower, but he has omitted to point out that the principal object for ringing bells is in connection with church services, and though it is possible to get pleasure, skill and friendship in various branches of the art, we cannot be true Church workers unless we regard service ringing as the most important duty. Generally speaking, our Guilds and Associations have three stated objects, such as the recognition of the true position of ringers as church officials, the due care and use of church bells and belfries, and the cultivation of change-ringing. These are worthy objects, but those who hold responsible offices are unable to do much in the way of carrying them out unless they get the support and co-operation of the clergy and ringers attached to parishes in the area.

The struggle to keep a band together is still acute, and the writer of these lines has listened to quite a number of different versions of the problem during the summer days of this year, the speakers being clergy, ringers and other church workers. Questions are being asked regarding the use of chiming the full number of bells instead of depending on the number of ringers who turn up for service ringing, sometimes not enough to ring.

And now a few words regarding the local ringers expecting to ring over 40,000 changes faultlessly and in due time. Faultlessly and due time are words that were meant to inspire a young band so that they might progress in change-ringing, but we know only too well that faultless ringing is very difficult to attain often in short lengths even in favourable conditions. A missed dodge, a wrong lead, forgetful places and other little factors are only human to ringers equally as well as people skilled in other technical callings, and many ringers feel like kicking themselves when they know it is their fault. One ringer I knew used to kick the seat behind him when he made a trip, but he caused so much damage inside a twelvemonth that he had to be shifted from the 4th to the 5th, the seat had to be repaired, and any ringers sitting out near the 5th duly warned about the kicker!

We cannot expect the public press to be correct in reporting all details of ringing news and I rather think some of the blame can be traced to those who supply the information in the first place. After all, how many editors know anything about ringing?

WILLIAM SHEPHERD.

Rung to mark the wedding of Roy Booth to Miss Patricia Sellars, which took place at St. Michael's, Macclesficld, on Saturday, November 9th. All the above ringers are Sunday service ringers at Christ Church along with the bridegroom.

\section*{A 200-MILE DAY TRIP}

A band drawn from Coleshill, Keresley, King's Bromley, Lichfield Cathedral, Little Aston and Shareshill set off in a Land Rover on November 16th for a day's ringing and covered a distance of 200 miles.
Activities started on the light set of six bells hung for ringing in a disused cottage by Mr. Arthur Jopp, of Staulton, near Pershore. They were mixed bells with a tenor of 56 lb ., and eventually we succeeded in ringing rounds and Grandsire Doubles. Mrs. Jopp kindly provided us with a welcome cup of tea.
The early English church at Aston Cantlow, at which Shakespeare's parents are supposed to have been married, now possesses an easygoing ring of six, recently rehung, and are all that could be desired. Over the Oxfordshire border to Home Farm, Balcote, where Mr. Charles Jarvis let us spend an hour on his wellknown ring of six.
With the long draught at Cropredy we had all forgotten Double Court, and even worse for "go ' were the six at Wardington, where rounds were more than sufficient. The recent restoration of the five at Stoneleigh, Warwickshire, has been well executed. The ring at St. Edith's, Monks Kırby, Warwickshire, the heaviest eight in Warwickshire (tenor 24-2-7), is indeed a peal-ringer's dream. A pleasing ground foor eight are at All Saints'. Bedworth, and the day's ringing finished on the excellent little five at Keresley. Sincere thanks are tendered to incumbents and all who met us, and also to driver Eric.
C. M. S.

BARCOMBE, SUSSEX.-On Nov, 27th, 1,260 Plain Bob Doubles: M. Gearing (first quarter) 1, Miss R. Parching 2, Miss D. M. Gough 3, S. W. Brown (cond.) 4, B. Turner 5, M. Abbott 6.

\section*{UNIVERSITY OF BRISTOL}

The University of Bristol Society chose the Bath aroa for their mid-week autumn term outing.
Leaving Bristol soon after lunch, the majority travelled by bicycle (the more lazy, in cars) and made the first stop at Corston, where the very light bells were found difficult to handle by most members and in consequence the striking was of a poor standard. The next tower was Newton St. Loe, and the six bells were kept going to Stedman, Grandsire and a course of Cambridge.
Then into Bath and to the 'well going' eight at Weston. By this time the ringing was improving and at the next tower, Bathwick, a wellstruck course of Bristol was brought round by an all-resident band. The evening was brought to a close by a visit to the 6 -bell tower of Kelston, followed by the customary refreshment 'across the road.'
Altogether, the outing proved very successful, and thanks are extended to the tower secretaries and incumbents of the towers visited. D. H.

\section*{St. Albans District}

The first meeting to be held at St. Stephen's, St. Albans, since the restoration of the bells was held on November 16th. The meeting was wel attended considering the short notice. Mr. H. C. Frost took the chair, and two members of the St. Stephen's band were elected as probationary members.
Before ringing continued in the evening the Vicar took a short service. Methods rung were the usual mixed variety with rounds for beginners.
It is hoped that the next meeting will be held at Hatfield on December 21st. M. A. C.

\section*{SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD}

\section*{Dorchester Branch at Charminster}

A sparsely-attended but none the less enjoyable meeting of the Dorchester Branch was held at the ancient Church of St. Mary, Charminster, on November 30th, where the ringers were made welcome by the Vicar (Rev. Percy Anderson), who also gave a short but inspiring talk on the responsibilities attached to the office of bellringing. The lesson was read by Mr. J. D. Grigg, of Charminster, and Mrs. Trivett was the organist.
Following the service, tea was served in the Village Hall by Miss T. Barnett and Miss W. Harewood, two young members of the Charminster band, who were congratulated on behalf of the company by the vice-chairman of the Branch (Rev. P. J. Heaton, rector of St. Peter's, Dorchester). Apology for absence was received from the Rev. S. P. Rowcroft (Abbotsbury Branch chairman).
There being no business meeting, the ringers adjourned to the tower immediately after tea, and ringing on the six bells was continued throughout the evening, under the direction of Mr. H. J. Ford (Branch Ringing Master) and his deputy, Mr. J. W. Rose.

Methods rung ranged up to Treble Bob Minor, with plenty of chances for the learners. Ringers attended from Abbotsbury, Cattistock, Charminster, St. Peter's, Dorchester, Presion Wool, Wyke Regis and Yetminster. J. H. H.

TIMBERSCIMBE SOMERSET,-On Nov. 22nd 1,260 Grandsire Triples: A. H. Reed 1, B. Jean Stevens 2, C. J. Stevens (cond.) 3, Pamela M. Stevens 4, F. A. K. Prime 5, A. G. Cook (first of Triples) 6 R. D. Short 7, R. Stone 8. First quarter on the bells since rehanging.

In addition to the Christmas bell broadcasts published in our last issue, the bells of the 15 th century church of St. Mary-the Virgin, Dedham, Essex, in the Constable country, will be heard for two minutes at \(12.1 \mathrm{a} . \mathrm{m}\). on Christmas night. This will lead into a Welcome to Christmas,' sung by members of the Dedham Choral Society, who will also take part in the first Communion of Christmas Day.
Mr. E. A. Barnett thanks the many who enquired after his welfare in connection with the Lewisham rail crash. He had an 11 -mile walk and arrived home at 11.20 p.m.
From Sherborne, Warwickshire, comes a peal that will gladden the hearts of the Exercise. It is a peal of Grandsire Doubles in which every participant was ringing his first peal, making a worthy tribute to the founding of the Coventry Diocesan Guild 50 years ago on the same day (November 23rd).

Errata.-The peal of Gainsborough Surprise Major at Brenchley, Kent, on page 650, was rung on September 18 th and not as stated. Also the composition of 12 Spliced Surprise Major, published on page 748, was first rung at Hernhill, Kent, on October 19th, 1957, conducted by Mark S. Lancefield.
To commemorate the 50th anniversary of the first peal of Superlative Surprise Major in the Rochester variation (now named Southgate) a quarter peal was rung on the bells at Christ Church, Southgate. Of the 1907 band there are three survivors-Mr. N. Tomlinson, who still rings at Christ Church; Mr. A. Glasscock, who chimes for the early morning service on Sundays, and Mr. J. Sharman, who lives in the Midands. Others in the band were Messrs. J. Armstrong, F. Tegg, H. Miller, J. Miller and S. Wade (conductor).

When it became known that GOSSIP repairs to the tower of Leyland Parish Church would shortly be required, a friend, who wishes to remain anonymous, immediately came forward with a donation of \(£ 300\). The ringers are especially appreciative of this generous gift, and wish the peal which was rung on St. Andrew's Day to be regarded as some measure of their appreciation. Five of the local band took part and it was an opportunity for two of them to score their first peal.

Mr. W. R. Marsh performed a good service when the peal attempt band arrived short at Rippingale. He stood in; the ringing in seven Minor methods was excellent throughout.
The peal of Ashtead Surprise Majori at West Hallam on November 30 th was to mark the golden wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. W. Carlisle, of Nottingham, parents of a ringing family.
The band who rang the peal of Double Norwich at Waldron, Sussex, on November 30th express their thanks to Miss Margaret Ladd who, at very short notice, so ably rang the treble and scored her first peal in the method.
The bells will be heard prior to the service ta be broadcast from St. George's Parish Church, Greenock, on Sunday, December 15th, at 9.45 a.m. in the Scottish Home Service. These bells are for chiming only and are a ten with a tenor of 18 cwt .1 qr . in F.

The band who rang the peal at Rothwell for the silver wedding of Mr. and Mrs. P. Massam was the same that rang for the 21st birthday of their daughter, Valerie, five months ago. Each man rang the same bell in both peals. The band would like to place on record their thanks and appreciation for the hospitality provided by Mr. and Mrs. Massam on both these occasions.

\section*{ROCK \({ }^{\prime}\) N' ROLL ROUND AFRICA}

Dear Sir,-Having just returned from a cruise and a month's stay in Cape Town, may I, through 'The Ringing World, be allowed to offer my very best and heartfelt thanks to the band at St. Mary's, Woodstock, for the right royal welcome my travelling companion and self received. Too much space would be required to record the many kindnesses showered on us during our stay, but I mention a few. On three Sundays Mr. John Wood (captain of the band) and his sisters took us in their car on afternoon drives of 70 or more miles each, and afterwards entertained us very hospitably at their homes. On the remaining Sunday Mr. Len Hewitt (one of the band) took us on a similar run. All were through very beautiful scenery, with one exception being back in time to ring for 7 p.m. service, the only Sunday I missed ringing for two services. From Mr. and Mrs. Vic Sheppard there was an ever-open door at the Old Town House, just round the corner from our hotel. Mr. Sheppard is steeple keeper, secretary ('scribe'), local bell-hanger and general handyman at Woodstock.

All the band turned up on the five practice nights, plus two Saturday afternoons; on the first a quarter peal of Grandsire Triples was scored and on the second an attempt was made for a peal, which was unfortunately lost after more than 1,390 changes of tolerably good ringing. Our liner left Cape Town on a Tuesday, and as this is practice night, Mr. Wood arranged for Monday instead as a farewell to me, and afterwards entertained the whole band at his house for refreshments (both solid and liquid). At this very homely gathering a few hundred changes of our peal attempt were rung back to us from the tape-recorder, which had been arranged by Mr. Sheppard. Future visiting ringers will themselves be able to judge the striking.

Our cruise had been arranged to commence last March, but owing to the Surez crisis was postponed for six months to enable me to circumnavigate the African continent. During all this time Mr. Sheppard gave much help and advice by air mail. On arrival at Cape Town Mrs. Sheppard met and conducted us to our hotel, and on leaving, in the company of Vic and Miss Wood, came aboard to bid us farewell. I cannot possibly speak too highly of one and all at Cape Town. In Africa things are not done by halves.

The bells (eight, by Barwell, tenor 11 to 12 cwt.) were installed in 1902, and considering they've had no expert attention since, go very well, due to the energy of some of the band. Recently a new wheel for the fourth and half of that of the third were made locally and both replaced quite satisfactorily.

\section*{SURREY ASSOCIATION}

An early start was made with ringing at the Northern District's nomination meeting on November 16th, Clapham Park bells proved popular from 2 to 3.30, and Holy Trinity, Wandsworth, from 3.30 to 4.30 . The Vicar conducted a ringers' service in the church, which was followed by tea in the New Church Hall adjoining.

The routine business meeting was dealt with and at nomination time all the existing officers were nominated, and in addition Mr. Colin Champion for a seat on the committee. Votes of thanks were then passed to all who had helped, with special reference to Mr. J. Euston, who had made all the arrangements for the secretary, and Mr. Ford who had organised the service and the tea.

Ringing continued afterwards at All Saints", Wandsworth, until a rope broke, and at St.
Mary's, Putney. P.

The first peal, Grandsire Triples, was rung in December, 1904; two of Grandsire Doubles have since been rung-one in 1951 and the other in 1953, both conducted by Bob Stickley, native of Hereford. These are the only tower-bell peals yet rung in Africa. The church (not the lower) will celebrate its centenary next yeara good opportunity for some enterprising band to pay a visit and collect a few firsts in the method ' (continent), etc.
The band is mixed; nearly half are Africanborn and the remainder English, and includes a lay reader, organist, choir master and two servers, the latest additions being Mr. John Crump, from Hornsey, London, and Miss Bridgette Hamilton, Ireland (late of Oxford). Both arrived during my stay.

Continuing the voyage, with two ports of call in between, our liner reached Durban on Saturday, October 19th. Mr. Cyril Chambers (ex Kidderminster) came aboard on arrival and arranged ringing at St. Paul's (8, tenor 14 cwt ) for the same evening. On Sunday we rang for morning service at St. Mary's, Greyville (10, tenor 21 cwt ), and at St. Paul's for Evensong. On Monday evening, the last complete day of our stay, a special meeting at St. Paul's was arranged for my benefit. These are two good Taylor rings and both go well, but unfortunately the ringers are well scattered-most are eight or more miles from either tower. My very best thanks are due to Mr. Chambers for arrangements, and to the rest of the company for meeting and making it possible to rung at Durban.

At Dar-es-Salaam on November 2nd, I met Mr. Davis whose photo, together with his team of handbell ringers, appeared in "The Ringing World' a few months ago. Although ashore the previous evening also, but through not knowing, I missed a performance by them at a social function. They are practising Bob Major as well as tune ringing.

It has now been my pleasure to meet and ring with our friends on four continents, viz. : Europe, America (also Canada), Australia and Africa. I should be interested to know how many there are who have rung (on tower-bells) on five.

Apart from the course of both liners, approximately 1,600 miles were added through almost indescribable scenery by various modes of travel down to and including rickshaw. - Yours, etc.,
Grundisburgh.
JAMES BENNETT.

\section*{EIGHT PEALS MARK 850th ANNIVERSARY YEAR AT WYMONDHAM}

\section*{PLYMOUTH'S MOTHER CHURCH RESTORED}

The Mother Church of Plymouth, the Parish Church of St. Andrew, suffered severe damage by incendiary and high-explosive bombs during two heavy air raids on March 20th and 21st, 1941. The tower, with its fine old ring of ten bells, escaped serious damage, but the rest of the church was just a ruined shell. Shortly after its destruction a board with one word in bold lettering was fixed above the north porch door-way-Resurgam.

Over 16 years later, St. Andrew's Day, 1957. the restored church was reconsecrated by the Lord Bishop of Excter, accompanied by the Bishops of Liverpool and Plymouth, and in the presence of H.R.H. the Princess Alice, Countess of Athlone.
Plymouth's Lord Mayor and other civic leaders, Service chiefs, visiting clergy, lay readers and representatives of the Free Churches formed a large part of the 2,000 who had accepted the invitation to attend. Extra seats were brought in for the occasion and every inch of space was occupied.
The ringers played their part on this great day. For an hour-and-a-half before the service the bells rang out to rounds on ten and touches of Grandsire and Stedman Caters. When the service had ended 395 Grandsire Caters was first rung; and then (after a break to adjust ropes, etc., and lock themselves in) 5,040 Plain Bob Royal was well and truly rung by ten members of the Guild of Devonshire ringers. The bells went off into changes at 5.4 p.m., and a fast beat set by Alan Carveth was consistently maintained, each part averaging a few seconds over 50 minutes, and they 'ran home' at 8.25 p.m.

The conclusion of the peal brought to an end the festivities of this memorable day-the first in a new chapter in the ministry of St. Andrew's Church, Plymouth. After a farewell handshake. the ringers made for their respective homesthe Rev. A. S. Roberts to Carbis Bay; Alan. David and Bob to Truro; Philip to Dover; and the rest... to within walking distance of St. Andrew's.

\section*{LANCASHIRE ASSOCIATION \\ Bells and Belles at Bolton}

The Bolton Branch is enjoying very good meetings. The one at St. Mary's, Deane, on November 30th, was outstanding, with plenty of methods to suit all tastes. Youth was again prominont-a good omen for the future. From rounds to Spliced Surprise was the order of the day, and the striking, particularly in higher methods, was very good.
What constituted the success of this meeting? In the first place the bells were new and of a good tone; then there was a good chance of ringing in a variety of methods, and after all, variety is the spice of life. But above all it was a happy gathering, and the pretty young women who attended may have been a factor in the meeting's popularity-there were plenty of them and most of them were very capable ringers.
During the afternoon a band which rang a peal at Todmorden travelled the 25 miles to attend the meeting, and they were well rewarded. The Vicar, who is learning to ring, was present, and he was thanked for the use of the bells. Thanks were also accorded the head ringer and Mrs. Crook for providing cups of tea,
The annual Branch meeting will be held at Bolton Parish Church towards the end of January. A tea will he provided free at this mecting.

\section*{ST. ANN'S, STAMFORD HILL, HAS RING OF ElGHT}

Saturday, November 30th, was indeed a very great day in the history of St. Ann's Church, being the culmination of ten years of real hard work and effort on the part of the local ringers, for on that day the dedication took place of the restored and augmented ring of eight bells.

The story of these ten years, as told by the Vicar in his address at the dedication service should be a wonderful lesson and example to all of what can be done by keenness and enthusiasm. About 1946, Mr. Ernest J. Rowe asked permission of the Vicar to inspect the then ring of six in his tower, which was in a bad state the bell chamber being in a filthy condition and the bells themselves likewise. Mr. Rowe, and the keen band of ringers which he built up, spent many hours in cleaning the bell chamber and ringing chamber and in improving the "go of the bells. The new band made rapid progress, and the bells were rung regularly for services in almost every conceivable Minor and Doubles method, often to quarter peals. The arrival of Brian Bladon helped to strengthen the band, which must now be one of the best Sunday service bands in the London area.

Right from the start the aim for the future had been the completion of the ring of eight. The old six, cast by Mears and Stainbank in 1865, were badly in need of retuning and restoration, and the opportunity arrived when a parishioner offered to present two new bells to the tower as a memorial. Before this could be done, it was necessary to move the works of the church clock from its position in the bell chamber to the floor below in order to leave room for the installation of the frame for the two new bells; the whole of this extremely difficult task was carried out by the ringers themselves, under the supervision of Mr. Rowe.
Finally, the six bells were lowered and removed to the Whitechapel Foundry for cleaning and retuning, the two new trebles were cast, and the new complete eight finally hoisted to the belfry once again-much of the work in the tower again being carried out by the local band. The final result is that St. Ann's now possesses a very fine light octave which 'go' and sound perfectly; the two new trebles being a perfect splice

The local band, with Brian Bladon as Ringing Master, having run the whole gamut of Minor and Doubles methods, are now hard at work with Triples and Major: already several of the band have progressed to courses of Londan Surprise Major, and the standard of striking deserves emulation in towers far and near!
The dedication service was conducted by the Vicar of St. Ann's (Rev. F. J. Finch) in the presence of a large congregation of visiting and local ringers and interested parishioners. The service took the form of shortened Evensong. and after the third collect the procession, led by the cross bearer and choir, proceeded to the tower, and included the Ringing Master (Brian Bladon), the secretary of the Middlesex County Association (Mr. T. J. Lock) and a representative of Messrs. Mears and Stainbank, Mr Dennis Langdon. In the ringing chamber the new trebles and restored six were dedicated to the service of God and committed to the care of the Ringing Master. As the procession returned to the chancel the new octave were rung 10 rounds by members of St. Ann's band.

In his address the Vicar, after welcoming the visiting ringers, gave a most interesting account of the efforts of the local ringers which had led up to the present happy occasion, and a summary of which has already been given. As the choir and clergy left the church a well-struck touch of Stedman Triples was rung by members of the local band.
Light refreshments were served to visiting ringers and friends in the Church School Room, and during the evening the bells were rung to a wide variety of methods, ranging from rounds to Surprise Major.

The inscriptions on the bells are as follows:
Treble.-Cantat in auredie. Frederick James Finch, M.A., Incumbent of St. Ann's. Edith Theodora Finch. By Mears and Stainbank London, 1957.

Second.-Non clamor sed amor. Albert William Wallis, James Palmer-Churchwardens. Ernest J. Rowe, Ringing Master. By Mears and Stainbank, London, 1957.

Third.-Festo decoro. Emily Robins. By Mears and Stainbank, London, 1865

Fourth.-Pestem fugo. Almeria R. Letts. By Mears and Stainbank, London, 1865
Fifth.-Defunctus ploro. I. W. Freshfield, Obiit 1864. By Mears and Stainbank, London, 1865.

Sixth.-Congrego clerum. John W: Letts, M.A., Incumbent of St. Ann's. By Mears and Stainbank, London, 1865.

Seventh.-Plebem voco. J. W. Robins, R. S. Barnes-Churchwardens. By Mears and Stainbank, London, 1865.

Tenor--Audem Deum Verum. This peal of six bells was presented to this church by Fowler Newsam and Ann, his wife, 1865. By Mears and Stainbank, London, 1865.

\section*{Saxmundham District}

Saxmundham District held a meeting at Benhall and Saxmundham on November 23rd, when ringers attended from many parts of Suffolk, including Higham, Stratford St. Mary, Lowestoft, Grundisburgh and Ipswich.
Ringing commenced at Benfait in the afternoon; a broken rope caused a hold up, but good use was made of the handbells while it was being spliced. The service at Benhall was taken by the Rector, who also gave an address. Thanks are due for all the trouble he took in finding an organist. Tea was taken at Saxmundham and in the evening the bells of Saxmundham were kept going until 9. Methods rung included Plain Bob. Oxford. Cambridge. London, Ipswich, Wells, St. Clement's and Double Court.
At the business meeting Mrs. S. Lowe, of Kelsale, was elected an honorary member and Mrs. E. Chapman, of Lowestoft, a non-resident life member. A collection for the Guild restoration fund amounted to 13 s . An invitation was given to all ringers and friends to come to the dedication of Theberton bells on December 14th at 3 p.m.

\section*{REDEDICATION}

St. Cuthbert's, Benfieldside
Consett Iron Works stand as a landmark visible for miles on the high ground of northwest Durham and could hardly fail to attract the attention of the traveller, but the small village of Benfieldside nestling lower down on the steep side of the Derwent Valley would probably not be noticed. But Benfieldside does not pass unnoticed by ringers for it has a long record of loyal support of the Durham and Newcastle Association, and it was characteristic of it to invite the Association to be present at the service of rededication of the six bells of St. CutFbert's after their recent restoration by Messrs. John Taylor and Co. on November 9th.

The service of rededication had been delayed for a few weeks and, with the bells having been used, one seemed to miss that usual eager anticipation of waiting to see and hear and feel the results of the bell-founder's work.

The service did not commence until 6 p.m. so tea was taken first. It was a parish tea and the ringers joined with many parishioners in the Church Hall. But this was not 'just another tea,' as was immediately obvious from the tables covered with beautiful tablecloths and set with delicate china tea services and a wonderful display of home-made fare. Each table was under the charge of one lady, who provided service to match.

The ringers had hoped to express publicly their congratulations and thanks to all concerned, but pressure of space in the main hall necessitated their adjournment to another room where a very informal meeting was held.
The service was conducted by the Vicar (Rev. E. H. Fenwick), and the rededication of the bells and dedication of a book table to the memory of Thomas Westgarth were performed by the Bishop of Jarrow (Rt. Rev. J. A. Ramsbotham). The lessons were read by Mr. K. Heppinstall, of the local band, and the president of the Association, Mr. K. Arthur. A course of Grandsire Triples was rung on handbells after the third collect.
The Bishop, taking as his text Rev. 21 v. 5. ' Behold I make all things new,' spoke of associations that he had had with bells. and suggested that the bells had a threefold message for their hearers. They proclaimed the good news of the Gospel of Christ; they sounded an alarm, warning of the need for repentance; they marked the passage of time and emphasised the need to prepare for the life eternal, wherein all would be made new.
The local band rang a few rounds immediately after the dedication, and a representative band rang changes as the congregation left the church. Thereafter, the bells were available for general ringing.
The tea had proved more than adequate and ringers were invited back for supper before they left for home after a memorable day.

\section*{DO OUR READERS AGREE?}

Dear Sir--The cartoon by R. J. B. in the -R.W: of November 29th is not funny: it is no joke but extremely bad taste. There is no harm done by bellringers having alcoholic refreshment after ringing the bells, as Our Lord once changed water into wine. Probably members of brass bands, orchestras, teams in various branches of sport do the same: hut do they 'put up bills' about it or shout it from the 'house tops ' in their periodicals? I doubt it. Then why should bellringers? For once in a way I am glad the 'R.W.' has not the circulation that some papers have, as a cartoon like this one could create a very bad impression.
Too many people are ever ready to get the opportunity to have a smack at ringers and bell ringing, as fewer attend church today than years ago. On the other hand, it is a happy thought that more ringers attend the service they have just rung for than in the days of long ago. Intoxicating drink is seldom seen in the ringing room today, thanks to the reforms brought about by our ringing associations.
Please. Mr. Editor, do not allow any more of this degrading stuff to appear in our paper. - Yours faithfully,
R. NEWMAN.

\section*{SURVIVOR OF THE FIRST PEAL BY QUEX PARK BAND}

Dear Sir,-In an obituary notice contained in 'The Ringing World of November 29th concerning the late Mr. A. H. Sayer, reference is made to the first peal by the Quex Park band on the Quex bells on May 23rd, 1885. In this peal the treble was rung by Mr. Charles Willshire ; the band included his two brothers. Lionel (who I believe called Holt's Ten-part) and George, who rang the seventh. A previous attempt made on May 2nd. 1885, failed when 4,500 had been rung.
Mr. C. Willshire went to Canada in 1913 and now lives in Montreal. He will be 91 years of age on January 8th, 1958, and is probably the only survivor of the band who rang the peal on May 23 rd, 1885.-Yours sincerely,
A. C. HAZELDEN.

\section*{GUILD OFFICE BOOKS}

Dear Sir.-At the last general meeting of the Oxford Diocesan Guild a sub-committee was appointed to go into the question of revising the Guild Office Book. As a member of this subcommitiec I have been given the job of collecting some preliminary information and materials. materials.
To do this I sent a circular letter to a number of Masters and Secretaries of other Guilds and Associations, and by their response have collected a number of other Office Books and various hymns. However it occurs to me that there will be other people who might like to contribute material also.
The relation between ringing and worship must be built up and developed continually if the Exercise is to fulfil its function properly, and we on this sub-committee are very keen to present only the best in the new Office Book.
I would therefore much valuc any material that could be considered for inclusion, especially ir such material is nol widely known. I already have the Offices of Durham. Norwich, Worcestershire (prayers), Devon, Salisbury, Coventry, Peterhorough, Chester, \({ }^{\text {, }}\) St. David's, Truro, Chelmsford.-Yours faithfully.

\section*{'INADVERTENT PLAGIARISM}

Dear Sir.-That a composer of Mr. E. W. Tipler's experience should put his name to compositions such as the 5.056 Yorkshire (' No. \(21{ }^{\circ}\) ) and the 5,088 Superlative ( 'No. \(31^{\prime \prime}\) ) which appeared in two recent issues is enough to make one weep. After all the years that people have heen churning out peals it is impossible to produce an original composition of their kind, and while inadvertent plagiarism is forgivable when people are first putting peals together, Mr. Tipler has no such excuse.

Take the 5,056 Yorkshire (November 22nd). Who first produced it, goodness knows; but in - The Bell News of February 1st, 1908, there is a peal of Superlative ascribed to H. Dains in which the first 13 courses are identical with Mr. Tipier's peal, thus:-
\begin{tabular}{llllll}
23456 & B & M & W & \(H\) \\
45236 & & & - & - \\
25634 & & & & 3 \\
53246 & X & & & 3 \\
52436 & & & 2 \\
43526 & & & - & \(\frac{1}{3}\) \\
53624 & & - & & 3
\end{tabular}

There must be a hundred different ways of filling in the last ten courses. Here are two of them:-

Of these, the first was used by Dains in the peal referred to above. The second was used by Arthur Knights in a composition of Superlative published in the Kent County Association report for 1913 . It is also that used by Mr. Tipler in his peal, which is therefore half by Dains and half by Knights and, like almost every 5,056 of Superlative or Yorkshire with one boh Before, is only this three-course touch
\begin{tabular}{lllll}
23456 & B & M & W \\
\hline 35264 & X & & \\
63254 & & \\
23456 & & - &
\end{tabular}
'padded out' or, if you like, with enough Q sets bobbed to produce 23 courses.

Thank goodness most composers nowadays seen to realise this.-Yours faithfully,

\section*{E. A. BARNETT.}

NOTE. - The composition was not submitted to us hy Mr. E. W. Tipler but by a member of a hand which has rung many of his peals.-Ed.

\section*{SCOUTS AND RINGING}

Dear Sir,-1 recently picked up the weekly periodical "The Scout.' In it was a full page of instructions on how to ring. It was a splendid article by F. F. Rigby. I was informed that this was a weekly contribution.
It would be interesting to know if these articles are bearing fruit in the way of swelling our ranks. To me they are very comprehensive and a splendid innovation.-Yours, etc.,

\section*{LIVERPOOL CATHEDRAL'S OPEN DAY}

Ringers from Kent in the south-east to Cornwall in the south-west, Westmorland in the north and North Wales, together with representatives from practically every midland and southern county, gathered together in Liverpool on November 9 th for the open day on the Liverpool Cathedral hells. Following fog on the two previous days, the 9th turned out to be one of the brightest days of the month, with clear nights-moonlight on a white frost.

Five parties of some hundred ringers were allotted fixed times on the bells, and certainly as many again if not twice the number were accommodated in greater or lesser degree. It is too much to hope that all our visiting friends were completely content with their, or our. effort. energy and enthusiasm, but we did our best to improvise for those who just came, including a wonderful party of youths whom I left eventually on a distant country lane still seeking towers to 'grab, even into the frosty moonlight. Meeting you all was a great pleasure. Back to the day, which was not without its misunderstandings ; the rhymster has a saying about 'too many cooks'-in this case there appears 'no broth spoiled.'

Ringing generally was better than on previous open days and at times the standard was excellent. The first few rounds caused trouble on occasions, owing to the beat of 16 to 17 changes per minute, the light bells pulled off and tumbled in ' instead of setting on the back stroke and waiting for the tenors. Where the 82 cwt . attempted to follow it found itself too far down readily to recover the position when the front-enders had restored their order. Mr. Peter Laflin's words of last year had not been too well taken to heart. It is every one of the band who make or mar the effort.
The Dean of Liverpool visited the belfry and welcomed all, thanking those who came for their interest, and meeting some of the happy personalities of the day, including Mr. Peter Bond. Mr. C. Crosthwaite was introduced to the Dean with the words that Preston and Liverpool ringers had been visiting each other's towers for more than 150 years. Youth was very much to the fore and very welcome; these young people cannot possible grow as ill-humoured and selfcentred in their middle and old age as we. Liverpool has a 15 -year-old who handles 55 cwt. with ease and assurance, but the handling of the 82 cwt . tenor by a youth of 16 from York was outstanding.
Youth generally showed a good style: there were, however, too many who bend in at the middle, damaging ropes and wasting effort. Things to remember are: a supple. bending knee: a straight back; putting the least possible effort into the longest possible distance; using the senses, cyes 10 per cent. and the ears 90 per cent., to develop a rhythm of sound, hroken only by the small open handstroke leads.
The closing touch of the day-three leads of Kent T.B. Maximus-saw our own tenor ringer (H. S. Bailey) turn the 82 cwt . in with the same ease and skill as that shown on previous oceasions by A. P. Cannon to Royal and Peter Border to Cambridge Major, while the fourth member of this group would assure aspirants that he has always found turning it in jolly hard work.

\section*{REJOICE, AND BE MERRY}

The most dismal corner of Oxford on a damp. dull October day does not give a very good send off to any ringing outing, and hearing the moans and groans of her O.U.S. escorts the 'cause ' of the whole affair felt none too happy.
Eynsham was the first tower of attack and produced quite fair ringing in the Plain Bob. Stedman. Kent regime. However, we progressed with time, and after the tenor of the recently augmented ring at Hanhorough had defeated even the combined attempt of three college youths (young variety) to pull it up the right way, it did not defeat efforts at Camhridge and Double Oxford.

Having recovered the organiser from the depths of the Vicarage garden, arranged and rearranged the good Mr. Sanders' hat, and waited a considerable time while Mr. Ivin decided how he looked most becoming, the band, by now slightly less miserable, was immortalised on celluloid. The organiser was then told that tea would fill the gap in his programme, and a somewhat primitive 'tea' of ginger beer and jam tarts made by the Oxford Walter was eaten (standing) in the gutter outside a village shop. The ginger beer seemed to produce the most odd effects and forms of amusement, which made the writer feel that the company was rather unfit for her and that she should join C. R. C. C., who was wearing a very sober expression as he consumed his daily "Kit-e-Kat.

At Yarnton, a heavy six, a permanent audience consisting of the Vicar and potential ringers watched with awed admiration as everyone left the appropriate gaps for the tenor in Plain Bob Minor; the object of 'make friends and influence people' was, however, accomplished so that we left with an invitation to return.

The more 'to be respected ' types vanished in the direction of Bladon. the 'refuse' following at a suitable distance. At Bladon, most of the band stayed for a peal attempt. Mumbling and sighing seemed to seal its fate, but after a slow and stately beat had been established by the tenor the peal was rung.
It only remains to say that the band, which was nearly driven to Eynsham, decided that everything had been most enjoyable after all. The writer's only worry at the end of the day was that her short bike excursion had worn out at least two healthy young gentlemen to the extent that, having eventually reached Oxford again, their only cry as they wandered through the streets was 'Fish and chips " !

Which, according to a wellaknown ringing friend of mine, are • a load of rubbish!'; an observation which finds my fullest support, so much so in fact that I find it hard to resist the temptation of making comparisons between these miniature monstrosities and certain methods of the irrcgular variety, during the course of which the former would certainly suffer.

However, on examination of the above 720, the following facts may be deduced:
(1) If a lead of Sibsey is changed to Bastow the corresponding lead of Kent L.C. in the portion on the opposite side of a 'single' can be changed to Normanton Alliance.
(2) If a lead of Sibsey is omitted then its opposite number can be changed to Kent T.B.
(3) If a lead of Kent L.C. is omitted the corresponding lead of Sibsey can be changed to Oxford T.B.
The transposition of the 'opposite' number from 23456 is 24356 (or 23465 -one is the lead head of the other or vice-versa).

It will be seen that by omitting the appropriate five leads of K.L.C. it has been possible to introduce a complete course of Trehle Bah. i.e. \(\operatorname{Oxford}=\) Coll. Ex.. etc.

Four leads of Sibsey have been omilted and four of Kent T.B. introduced: also two leads of Sibsey changed to Basiow and two leads of Normanton introduced.
After this rather long, hut perhaps necessary. preamble we come to the problem.
By sacrificing Gosherton and omitting the necessary five leads of K.L.C. four more Treble Bob methods could be introduced (London Scholars', etc.); in addition. hy omitting the appropriate K.L.C. lead(s), Oxford T.B. could be introduced in place of Sibscy. So theoretically, 22 methods are possible in this 720 .

So far I have been unable to pin them down in a round block (although I managed a 720) that didn't come round!), and as it is now my busy season 1 thought someone clsc may like to have a try.
I have tried to avoid a 'single' in Treble' Bob. The last time I sent a problem to The Ringing World' 1 received a solution from Mr. C. K. Lewis alnost by return of post. This was subsequently published in the - R.W.

I look forward to seeing the solution to this problem during the next few weeks. It is far more interesting than doing crosswords! And slightly more difficult.-Yours sincerely.
H. CHANT.

80 YEARS AND TO-DAY

\section*{Durham and Newcastle's Commemoration Peal}

To commemorate the 80th anniversary of the first ringing meeting of the Durham and Newcastle Diocesan Association at Christ Church, North Shields, on Saturday, November 24th, 1877, a peal of 5,079 Stedman Caters was rung in the tower on November 23rd. Of the original meeting in 1887. the following report appeared in 'Church Bells' of December 8th, 1877 :-

\section*{DURHAM DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION OF RINGERS}

This Association held its inaugural meeting at Christ Church, North Shields, on Saturday, November 24. Shortly before 10 a.m. the ringing commenced, and several touches of Grandsire and Bob Minor were rung. At one o'clock the ringers sat down to dinner, returning to the belfry at two, when the ringing was again resumed until after four. A mecting was then held in the spacious belfry, the Vicar of Tynemouth presiding. The Secretary made a statement of the origin. progress, and purpose of the Association. and it was decided to form a committee to be composed of representatives from each band of ringers in union with the Association, and as many elergymen as are willing to join. At 5.15 a special scrvice was held, and a very appropriate address delivered by the Vicar on 1 Cor. xiv. 7. After service some touches of Grandsire Triples and Kent Treble Bob Major were rung, and the bells were ceased at 9 oclock. The Association at present numbers about ninety members, including several clergy, and the Archdcacons of Durham and Lindisfarnc. On Monday morning, Nov. 26, a peal of Grandsire Minor was rung at Blaydon in 25 minutes, by Joel Hern. Hurworth, Treble: J. E. Hern, Hurworth, ?; W. Reed, Esc.. Norih Shiedds, 3; E. Wallis, Newcastle, 4; J. Gaines, Hurworth. 5; F. Lees, Newcastle. Tenor, 7 cwt . Afterwards a peal of Bob Minor was rung at Winlaton in 27 minutes. Weight of tenor, 10 cwt . This is the first time a peal of six has been rung at either of these places, and was conducted at each place by J. Gaines.
In the afternoon a 5040 of Grandsire Triples was attempted on the All Saints' bells, Newcastle, but failed at the end of an hour, owing to the bells being out of order. It was conducted as far as it went by J. Power, Newcastle.
(We congratulate Durham on this beginning, but are very sorry to hear that more consideration was not paid to the requirements and wishes of the ringers from a distance as to time of holding the service, which many were unable to attend for fear of missing their trains.-Ed.)

\section*{NOVEMBER OUTING}

On November 9th, a party from North Somerset had an outing to the southern extremity of the county. The towers they visited were Fivehead (6), Curry Mallet (6), Ashill (5), Kingstone (6), Hinton St. George (6). Arrangements had been made to eat their tea at Ashill. A chance knock at a door in the village resuited in the whole party heing invited in and given the freedom of the kitchen to brew their tea. The houscholders were holding a children's party, and their thoughts of two adjacent rooms. one with 14 ringers and the other with 15 children. all in high spirits, must be left to the reader's imagination.

\section*{THE LADIES' GUILD Central District}

The bells of two riverside churches-St. Mary's, Hampton, and St. Mary-the-Virgin, Twickenham-were rung at the meeting held by the Central District on November 30th.

About 20 pcople were present but, although gentlemen guests were very welcome, we should liked to have seen more ladies at the meeting. However, various methods, including Stedman, Grandsire, Plain Bob, Double Norwich, Cambridge and Superlative were rung both at Hampton in the afternoon and at Twickenham in the evening.

A service, conducted by the curate, was held at St. Mary's, Hampton, and a collection was made to add to the proceeds of a bazaar being held by the church that afternoon.

At a short business meeting three new members were elected and the election of one member prior to a peal attempt was ratified. Mrs. Savoury, our vice-president, proposed votes of thanks to the incumbents for the use of the bells, Dr. D. J. Neal-Smith for making the arrangements, and the curate and organist at Hampton.

The annual general meeting will be held at St. Giles-in-the-Fields on March 29 h h.
S. H. D.

\section*{COMBINED MEETING AT CAERLEON}

The combined meeting of the Monmouth Branch and the South Wales District of the Ladies' Guild, held at St. Cadoc's, Caerlcon, on November 30 th, proved most enjoyable.

Ringing on this pleasant light eight commenced early, and during the afternoon the ladies held their business meeting in the vestry. One new member was elected-Miss Mary Davies, of Builth Wells. It was decided to hold the next Ladies' Guild meeting at Llandaff Cathedral carly in January.
The service followed, and was conducted by the Rev. Ivor Davies (Vicar of Caerleon), whose son kindly acted as organist. Tea was provided in the school, given and arranged by Mr. P. H. Stafford and Miss Stafford. Mr. Arthur Hoare thanked them on behalf of some 57 present.
At the business mecting Mr. David Pike, of Caerleon, was elected a member. Progress was reported at Penhow, and it was decided to hold the annual Branch meeting there. Members agreed to the arrangement of the proposed Branch dinner at Lovells, Newport, on January 25th.

\section*{CUMBERLANDS & MIDDLESEX JOINT MEETING}

Nearly 70 members and friends of both Societies were present at various times during the afternoon and evening on the occasion of one of the most successful of these annual events. Twenty-eight names had been received for tea, and a company of 53 eventually sat down to an excellent tea in St. Martin's canteen.

During the afternoon ringing, in various methods up to Cambridge Maximus, took place at St. Martin's, and after tea the Master of the Socicty of Royal Cumberland Youths (Mr. F. J. Cullum) extended a very cordial welcome to the members of the Middlesex County Association. He said how pleased he was to see such a large company present, and expressed special pleasure at the large number of young ringers among them. All present were duly reminded of the annual gencral meeting on January 25th, and of the annual dinner on the following Saturday, February 1st.

\section*{Bur Sreeturgs 3 ssue}

We feature Christmas greetings in our issue of December 20th. Post at once to ensure insertion. Price 4s. for 36 words.
ivlessrs. T. J. Lock (hon. secretary, Middlesex County Association) and W. H. Coles suitably replied on behalf of the Association. Joint meetings of this kind, they said, were really excellent in ensuring friendship and co-operation between the members of both Associations, and they hoped that these mectings would continue to be as happy and successful as the present one.

A very cordial vole of thanks to all those who had contributed to the success of the meeting was passed with acclamation-to the Vicar and churchwardens of St. Martin's for use of the bells, and the canteen for tea: to the Vizar of St. Giles' for the use of the bells in his tower; to the ladies who had prepared and served such an excellent tea; and to Messrs. T. H. Francis and G. Parsons for having all in readiness in their towars.
After tea most of those present visited St. Giles-in-the-Fields, where ringing took place in various methods ranging from rounds to 6 Spliced Surprise. The bells were finaily lowered at \(8.45 \mathrm{p} . \mathrm{m}\). to bring to an end a most happy and successful occasion.

MR. JAMES FERNLEY
The sudden death of James Fernley at the age of 53 on November 25 th was completely unexpected, and it came as a very unpleasant surprise to his many friends. His parochial activities were varied and everything he undertook was carried out with that cheerfulness which was characteristic of him. Ringing was his chief interest, but he also had been a chorister and deputy organist; in addition he helped in some of the many social activities which Norbury Church had developed.
In the capable hands of his father, the late James Fernley, sen., young Jim made rapid progress once he had learned to master a bell, but as far as his first peal was concerned, his luck was out and he stood in many attempts ere he got it: since then he had rung over 200 peals for the Chester Guild alonc. His last peal was one of Cambridge Surprise Minor rung at New Mills on November 12th, in which his daughter Carol took part. He rang the treble in the first peal of Minor in 35 methods, rung at Norbury on Tuesday, December 4th, 1923, conducted by his father. Now iwo only of that band remain, his brother William and John P. Fidier.
On the death of John W. Hartley, young Jim took charge of Norbury tower and had gathered around him some promising young ringers. He maintained the tradition of the Norbury band in making the stranger welcome, especially on practice nights.

In addition to the tower-bells he was interested in tune ringing. The Norbury handbell band possess a large number of bells and they are frequently called upon to play at concerts and in the church. An innovation of theirs, and one that is very popular, is to tour the parish at Christmas time playing carols. It was at the handbell practice that he collapsed and died. As will be appreciated, this was a severe shock to all present, amongst whom was his wife Eva, who also is a tower-hell ringer. To her and her daughter Carol we extend our deepest sympathy.

The funeral look place at Norbury Church on November 30th. The whole-pull and stand was rung with the bells hall-muffied prior to the service, which was fully choral and conducted by the Vicar (Rev. E. Taylor), assisted by the curate (Rev. J. B. Woolridge). The large number of parishioners and ringers who attended testified in no small way to the high regard all had for him. In his short address Mr. Taylor expressed not only his own feelings but of those present.
It was an impressive moment when a perfectly rung course of Grandsire Triples was rung at the graveside by A. Potts 1-2, C. H. Lewis 3-4, J. Worth 5-6, P. Laflin 7-8. As the bells struck into rounds there was a hush: it was a silence that was pregnant with a depth of feeling which even the eulogy of the Vicar could not express. For many it was the first time they witnessed the traditional farewell to a brother ringer, and it made a deep impression on them.
The fioral tributes came from all and sundry -his family, ringers, church workers, his fellow workers and management, neighbours and others too numerous to mention.
Amongst the ringers present were Messrs. \(\mathbf{F}\) Dunkerley, J. Worth, A. Potts, J. Whittaker, C. K. Lewis, R. A. Elkins, A. Brown, D. Vincent, T. Wilde, A. Barnes, I. Jenkins. A. Frost, J. P. Fidler, P. Laflin, B. Jones and many others. When the funeral was over a half-muffied peal of Bristol Surprise Major was rung.

HUNTINGDON:-At All Saints' Church, on Dec. Ist, 1,260 Plain Bob Minor: A. T. Howes 1, J. R. G. Spicer 2. C. J. Young 3. A. J. Davey 4. F. R. Nicholls 5, H. S. Peacock (cond.) h. For morning service.

\section*{MR. CHARLES J. NORTH}

At one time a prominent ringer in London, Mr. Charles J. North died on November 24th at his home, West Street, Selsey, Sussex, aged 82 years.

A native of Winchester, where he learnt to ring, he soon mastered change-ringing and became a member of the Cathedral band. Coming to London he joined the Society of Royal Cumberland Youths and other metropolitan societies. He rang about 100 peals, many with the late Frank Bennet!. These peals included Stedman Cinques at St. Martin's, a number of Surprise Major methods at St. John's, Waterloo Road. and elsewhere. Mr. North also took part in handbell peals with William Shepherd and the late Mr. Clement Glenn. The peals were Grandsire Triples. Mr. North ringing mostly 1-2. For Sunday services he joined St. Leonard's, Streatham, band.
He finished his ringing career at the beginning of World War I as business at Croydon took his attention. It was not long before he had a breakdown in health and had to retire from work. He never lost interest in ringing and looked forward to his 'Ringing World' from the day J. S. Goldsmith started it in 1911 to his (Mr. North's) death recently
The funeral took place at Bandon Hill cemetery on November 29th. A number of friends attended as he was a Freemason. Mr. J. W. Chapman represented St. Leonard's, Streatham. He is survived by his widow. J. W. C.

\section*{THE REV. C. J. STURTON \\ AN APPRECIATION}

With the passing of the Rev. C. J. Sturton the Exercise has lost another of its oidest and respected members, who was well known in the Grantham and Newark Districts as the cycling parson who in his younger days travelled miles on push-bike. He was vicar of Orston. Notts, from 1911 to 1937, and during that period was responsible for the restoration of the church. His great ambition was achieved in 1922 when the bells were restored and increased to a ring of six. Since then quite a number of peals have been rung on them. with the late Mr. Sturton usually on the third. He was a safe ringer in most plain methods. We of the older generation will retain happy memories of a dear friend.

After the funcral service the bells he loved were rung half-muffied to a 720 Bob Minor, those taking part being A. Mackears (conductor) 1. T. Goodwin 2, A. W. Ward 3, H. Squires 4. B. Box 5, L. Squires 6. The ringers of 1,3 and 4 are long-standing friends.
A. W. W.

\section*{MR. FRANK BENNETT \\ AN APPRECIATION}

The passing of our old friend, Mr. Frank Bennett, at the advanced age of 89 years (except two days) leaves a gap in the ranks of ringers of the "old school." His presence will be missed by many old friends who have in the past been connected with him in his many performances. He was very thorough in organising his tours and left nothing undone to ensure complete arrangements.

As one who has taken a minor part in some of them I would wish to add my condolences to his family; and may I be permitted to say: Well done, thou good and faithful servant.
Peace be with you.
A. J. H.

WISTASTON, CHESHIRE.-On NOv. 29th, 1.260 Bob Doubles: T. Henshall (15) 1. J. Adams (16) 2 , K. Collier (16, first 'inside') 3. D. Holland (19) 4, F. R. Morton (17, cond.) 5. Rung as a 1 sth birthday compliment to T. Henshall.

\section*{TWO POINTS OF VIEW}

Hell's
B- y bells!
The r-y row!
Why ever does the parson allow
It? I'd hang him up there
With them-ringers, too. How dare
He tell men
They are sinners, when Crashing,
Bashing.
Clashing
Hulks of bronzo make church
Towers lurch
And, worse,
A curse
To sanity?
Inanity!
Ten ropes, ten massive,
Hollow, silent, passive
Shapes, dead, hanging, then-
Ten men!
No silence now,
For how
Can such a Message fail to mako
The stones themselves awake,
Cry out
And shout?
So tumbling,
Rumbling,
One
By one.
They ring, sing, boom and hum :
Tittúm, tittúm, tittum, tittum!"
' Tittum, tittum, tittum, tittum!'
-Soul-stirring sounds;
For Earth abounds
With Heaven's joy and must proclainn
It in His: Name,
Who came
In shame
And brought us back from self to God.
How odd
That inarticulate bells. no usc
Till men come up and loose
Their tongues, are made to be
Messengers to you and me.
Reminding us that even we
Are creatures, and could nothing be Till Christ came down, from selves to set us free!
G. C. G.

\section*{JOINT MEETING AT SAFFRON WALDEN}

The North-Western District of the Essex Association. the Eastern District of the Hertfordshire Association, the Ely Diocesan Guild and the Cambridge University Guild held a meeting at Saffron Walden on November 23rd.
A cold but bright day brought nearly 80 ringers to try the ring of 12 in the graceful tower attached to this gem of a Perpendicular churchone of the finest in Essex.

The service was conducted by the Vicar of Saffron Walden (Rev. M. R. Sinker), assisted by his two curates (Rev. D. R. Warrington and Rev. W. Uden). The organist was Mrs. D. Wood. Some 74 ringers sat down to tea in the Church Hall. After tea ringing was resumed until 8.30 p.m.
This is the first attempt by the North-Western District to hold a meeting with three other Associations. By its suceess, it should become an annual affair.

CHRISTMAS, 1957

\author{
By The Rev. C. ELLIOT WIGG

'NOW it came to pass, in those days, that there went out a decree from Cæsar Augustus that all the world should be' taxed . . . . With these words St. Luke opens his account of the Christmas story. The greatest event that the world has ever witnessed, the event which changed the whole destiny of the human race, the Birth of Christ: this stupendous event is introduced by the writer of the Third Gospel in connection with an exceedingly unpopular act of the civil government.

Politics come a good deal into the Gospel story, one way or another. It was finally on a political issue that His enemies obtained the warrant for our Lord's crucifixion. 'We found this man perverting the nation, and forbidding to pay tribute to Cæsar, saying that he himself is Christ, a King.' But Jesus never took sides on political questions or made any definite pronouncements on politics as such. When questioned on any political issue He always lifted the whole matter up to a higher, to a more fundamental and spiritual plane. 'Should we pay these taxes to the Romans? ' was the crafty question of His enemies. 'Give every man his due, but remember that your first duty is to God.' 'Art thou then a king?' is the half mocking, half serious question of the Roman governor. 'My kingdom is not of this world.' Art thou a king, then? . . . The answer comes crashing back from millions of Christian hearts, ' Yes, indeed. King of kings, and Lord of lords.' In the mighty voices of the Christmas bells that triumphant joyous cry crashes out from a thousand steeples.

> ' Yea, Lord, we greet Thee, Born this happy morning.'

This Christmas in the year of grace 1957 will be spent by-Christians in a world torn asunder by political issues
-a world in which the voices of suspicion, fear, anger and hatred are very clamorous and very ugly. Politics loom very large for us today, and it is difficult for us to keep calm and resolute in the face of the many impending dangers that threaten us. Yet the true Christian has always known that the last word does not lie with the 'Prince of this world '-with the material forces of men of evil will, or with so-called 'power politics.' No! the real, the ultimate power on earth will be that same Power which rules triumphantly in Heaven--the Almighty and Everlasting Power of God's infinite Love, expressed, for all who have eyes to see, in the picture of a tiny, helpless Child in the arms of His gentle mother in a stable.

When He first came to earth, men vainly pinned their hopes on 'power politics.' As the poem of George MacDonald puts it so aptly:-
- They all were looking for a king

To slay their foes, and lift them high:
Thou cam'st a little baby thing
That made a woman cry.
Millions today are doing the same thing, and therefore the world is still a place of spiritual darkness. But we Christians know the truth of those immortal words which form the Gospel for Christmas Day, in the Book of Common Prayer: 'The Light shineth in darkness, and the darkness cquld not overcome it.' That truth we Christian ringers must proclaim with might and main this Christmas season, through the strong, lovely voices of our church bells.

Ringers everywhere will gather together, coming through the darkness perhaps, or the half-light. very early on Christmas morning, passing through the wind-swept streets of some great city, or through the quiet lanes of the little villages, coming silently and unnoticed to the ancient cathedrals and parish churches of England. Then through the silence of the early morning, with startling, challenging suddenness, the voices of the bells will ring out their glorious message. 'Christ is born! The Light is come to the world of darkness! Peace on earth to all men of good will.'

\section*{Lewisham District Annual Meeting}

The pleasure enjoyed by the 50 members who attended the annual District meeting fully justified the selection of Dartford as its venue. Ringing during the afternoon was under the direction of Miss M. R. Andrews (District Ringing Master), and was continuous until service time.

The Vicar \({ }^{\circ}\) (Canon Elliott-Mitchell) officiated at the service, and the curate (Rev. N. Osborne) led the singing at the organ. Tea was served in the Royal Air Force Hall, organised by Mr. R. A. Jenkins and Mesdames E. Jones and S. Ball.

At the business meeting the Vicar presided; three practising members were elected to the Association and the election of four members was ratified. A report of the year's activities was read by the District secretary and adopted.

Before proceeding to the election of officers, the meeting was informed that Mr. J. Dafters (Lewisham) had reluctantly refused renomination as District representative, as his professional duties prevented him attending the necessary meetings. .Members expressed their gratitude to Mr. Dafters for his outstanding devotion to duty during the six years he had held this office. Mr. A. G. Hill was reappointed District secretary, and Mr. A. S. Richards (West Wickham) and Miss M. R. Andrews (Bexley) were elected District representatives, nem con. This was the first time the Lewisham District had appointed a woman to office on the general committee. Mr. A. S. Richards was appointed District Ringing Master in succession to Miss M. R. Andrews, who had just concluded two years' brillians service in that capacity and for which the meeting's thanks were warmly accorded her.

\section*{ASSOCIATION}

St. Mary's, Woolwich, was chosen as the place of next meeting, to be held on Saurday, January 18th. An application from the Vicar of Eynsford, for help in training a band of ringers, received a very gratifying response.
The meeting expressed a very cordial vote of thanks to the Vicar for his many contributions to a very happy meeting, to the organist for his services, and to the caterer and to Mr. R. A. Jenkins and the ladies for their benefactions.
Further ringing followed, supervised by Mr. A. S. Richards.

\section*{HERTS COUNTY ASSOCIATION}

\section*{Northern District}

December 6th being St. Nicholas' Day, it was most appropriate that the Northern District should meet at St. Nicholas' Church, Stevenage, the following day. Ringing began soon after \(30^{\circ}\) clock and continued until the service, which was conducted by the Rev. E. Cordingley. The was enjoyed at the Elite Cafe.

The annual District meeting will be at Hitchin on January 4th; the next ordinary meeting will be at Baldock on February 1st.

Ringing continued later. Unfortunately, the special method, Rutland Surprise, was still unsuccessful, but there was plenty of ringing to suit all tastes.
J. S.

Who are the ringers in the advertisement for a certain brand of margarine? We have had a number of enquiries to satisfy 'burning' curiosity.

\section*{THE LADIES' GUILD}

\section*{Midland District}

A joint meeting of the Midland District was held with the Derbyshire Association on Novembed 23 rd at St. Peter's, Derby. The bells were rung to various methods during the afternoon. After an excellent tea the ladies adjourned to the tower for their meeting.
One new member was elected, and it was decided that the annual meeting should be held at St. John-the-Divine, Leicester (the date will be announced later). It is hoped that the April meeting will be held at Ruddington on April 19th.
The Ladies' Guild would like 10 thank the Derbyshire Association for making them welcome, and Mr. A. Mould for making the arrangements.
B. A. B.

\section*{West Midland District}

Rounds and call-changes to Spliced Surprise was the order of the day at the meeting on December 7th at Yardley. That these beautiful light eight are, indeed, ladies' bells, was proved by a good touch of Stedman, brought round by an all-ladies band.
A short service was conducted by the Vicar, and followed by tea and the business meeting in the nearby. Trust School. More visitors during the evening sampled the bells to a variety of methods, aimed to include something for everyone.

SEVENOAKS, KENT.-On Dec. 8th, 1,260 Plain Bob Major: Miss D. Corke 1, P. N. Bond 2, B. Sutton (first of Major) 3, P. Turley 4. L. Turley 5. Miss D. Colgate 6, P. A. Corby 7, R. Collins (cond.) 8.

Did any of our readers while listening to the broadcast of the football match at Hunslet hear the bells of Leeds Parish Church on the air on Saturday, December 7th? The church is about a mile from the football ground and the commentator was heard to say: 'The bells are ringing, but that isn't helping Hunslet." A peal of Plain Bob Royal was accomplished in 3 hours 36 minutes.

Mr. Peter Crook, of Bolton, apologises for a slip in his letter last weck. The articles on change-ringing are appearing in .The Guide' and not 'The Scout.'

We note from the meeting of the Chew Deanery Branch that Mr. Roger O. Firy is retiring from the office of general secretary of the Bath and Wells Diocesan Association.

From a cutting of the 'Hong Kong Tiger Standard ' we note that the bellringers meet in the belfry every Monday for practice at St. John's Cathedral. Has any reader experience of these bells?

The 25th anniversary of the dedication of the Laura Spelman Rockefeller memorial carillon at the University of Chicago was marked by two carillon concerts given by Dr. Kamiel Lefevere. carillonneur of the Riverside Church, New York City. This and the Riverside Church carillon are the largest in the world. Both contain six chromatic octaves of bells.

Melton District ringers were thrilled to read Mr. W. Smuth's letter (page 792) concerning memories revived by the Long Clawson meeting. "We ought to thank your "Ringing World " for making this possible for an old ringer to read of activities in his native village 12,000 miles away,' writes our Melton correspondent.

The daughter of Mr. Arthur G. Mason, of Blackheath, S.E., was married on November 30th, and to honour the wedding a peal of ber 30th, and to honour the wedding a peal of London was arranged for December 7 th at St. Mary's, Lewisham. The band met as arranged but because of the train disaster the previous Wednesday unanimously decided not to ring. St. Mary's Church is but a few hundred yards from the scene of the accident, and many of the casualties are being cared for m Lewisham Hospital which is within sound of the bells. It is hoped to ring the peal in the New Year.

Crewkerne, Somerset, ringers would like to thank Mr. Walter H. Poole for his untiring energy and patience in bringing the present band through rounds, the pangs of Grandsire Doubles and Triples, and now into Stedman. Plain Bob is now well under way.
A recent visitor to Cape Town was David Hulton, from Baldock, Herts, who is serving on the 'Athlone Castle.' It was the first time David (16) had rung with a strange band. and he acquitted himself well, writes Mr. V. Sheppard.

Additional broadcasts announced are: Sunday, Deceniber 22nd, in Scotish Hone Service only, St. John's Parish Church, Perth, hefore morning service at 9.45 ; to be televised on Christmas Day at 10.30 a.m., St. Andrew's Parish Church, Plymouth (the rededication was featured in our last issue).
The Rev. F. C. Lawrence, Vicar of Little Horkesley, Colchester, Essex, writes on behalf of his Parochial Church Council expressing their warmest thanks to those who have given a total sum of \(£ 137 \mathrm{~s}\). towards the installation of bells in their new church. The bells were originally in All Saints' Church, Colchester.

PEAL ATTEMPTS
As the number of peals which it will be possible to attempt during the period of the Council's visit to Ireland is naturally very limited, will members who wish to be included in any peals which can be arranged please advise Mr. Fred E. Dukes, Meadow Cottage, Julianstown, Co. Meath, as soon as possible stating (a) duration of stay in Ireland, (b) where staying before and after the meeting, if other than Dublin.

This information will assist the Irish Committee in their endeavours to avoid disappointments. The next meeting of the Irish Committee will be held early in the New Year.

\section*{MELTON MOWBRAY DISTRICT'S ANNUAL DINNER}

The annual dinner, held on December 7th at the Harborough Hotel, Melton, was preceded by a peal of Stedman Triples, rung on the bells of Oakham Parish Church, to celebrate the occasion.

At 7 o'clock, 72 ringers and friends sat down to a good spread. The guests included Canon C. M. G. Clarke, the Rev. H. B. Holderness, Mr. E. C. Turner (vice-president) and Mrs. Turner, Mr. S. Burton (peal secretary) and Mrs. Burton, Mr. Brian G. Warwick (general hon. secretary), Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Williams (Great Glen), Mr. and Mrs. Eastland (Blythe) and Mr. and Mrs. F. Watson (Croft).

Proposing the toast of "The Leicester Diocesan Guild,' the Rev. H. B. Holderness expressed his delight at secing so many young ringers present. He said he had heard some of the lovely ringing earlier in the day at Oakham. and he had a special word for the youthful Roiand H. Cook who had taken part in his 42nd peal. Mr. E. C. Turner replied for the Guild and said it was always a pleasure to visit the Melton District.
The chairman (Mr. J. H. Cook) proposed 'The Visitors,' and the toast was ably acknowledged by Mr. B. G. Warwick.
The social evening which followed was a hilarious occasion. 'The Kirby Twins' saw to it that everybody had a good time, especially 'Mr. Furse.' 'Auld Lang Syne' at 11 o'clock brought to a close a very enjoyable evening.

\section*{LEEDS & DISTRICT SOCIETY}

The Society's last meeting of the year, held at Ossett on November 30th, was most enjoyable. By 3.15 p.m. the bells had been raised and the first touch of the meeting-Grandsire Caters-started. This was followed by a reasonable amount of 10 -bell ringing-Stedman, Plain Bob and Kent, as well as Double Norwich, Cambridge and Yorkshire on eight.
Tea was served in the School and the 30 members and friends present sat down to a typical 'Ossett' tea, provided by the local ringers and ladies. At the business meeting three new members were elected. An apology was received from Mr. L. Drake, the Ringing Master, who had a fractured collar-bone as the result of an accident near his home. The best wishes of the meeting were sent for his recovery.
The vote of thanks to the Vicar, churchwardens and local company included a reminiscence of the Rev.' J. H. Marshall, sometime vicar of Shelley and a pase vicar of Ossett, in whose time the present bells came into being. Members were asked to note that the next meeting will be held on January 25 th at Drighlington. Pudsey will be visited on February 15th and St. Michael's. Headingley, in March. All tbese meetings will be advertised.

\section*{EYE PARISH CHURCH}

()NE of the glories of English church architecture is the Church of SS. Peter and Paul. Eye, Suffolk, and the photograph we reproduce above was taken by Supt. Claude Rush, which has formed the theme for Christmas cards and mounted photographs in aid of the restoration fund.
No restoration has taken place within living memory. Some of the bells need quarter turning, some wheels can be repaired, but most will have to be replaced. Clappers, headstocks, hearings, all need attention and in some cases replacing. The frame also needs attention.

The approximate weights and dates of the bells are as follows:-
Treble, \(5 \mathrm{cwt} ; 1721\) (J. Stephens).
Second. 6 cwt ; 1779 (Pack and Chapman).
Third. \(6 \frac{1}{\mathrm{cwt}}\); 1721 -recast 1905 (J. Stephens Mears and Stainbank).
Fourth, \(8 \frac{3}{3} \mathrm{cwt}\); 1789 (Thos. Osborn).
Fifth, 10 cwt.; 1789 (Thos, Osborn).
Sixith, 11 cwt .; 1640 (Miles Graye).
Seventh, 15 cwt.; 1500 or perhaps carlier (Brasyer).
Tenor, 21 cwt.; 1640 (Miles Graye).
A peal of Bob Major is recorded on a wall tablet as far back as 1773, so it will be scen that even those three late-18ith century bells had predecessors.
Throughout this year Mr. Rush has been vigorously prosecuting his campaign to raise funds. He has succeeded in collecting 41 tons of paper and rags, which he has sold for \(£ 230\).
Last Christmas he started his Christmas cards sale of the above picture of Eye Church, and of these he has sold 13,000 . The proceeds from their sale, plus the salvage and donations, has brought in \(£ 678\) to date. He has 1,000 cards left which he is selling at 10s. a dozen; post free.
Mr. Rush's objective is to raise \(£ 1,000\), but apart from the urgent work mentioned above, the chimes are out of order. the clock needs overhauling and lights are wanted on the staircase ( 52 steps to the ringing chamber).

\section*{BATH AND WELLS DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION}

\section*{Chew Deanery Branch and the Yeo Family}

The annual meeting of the Chew Deanery Branch was held at Long Ashton on December 7th. Ringing in the afternoon continued until service time, then the Association form of service was conducted by the Vicar (Rev. S. H. Cooke). Mr. Cooke, in his short talk, welcomed the members to Long Ashton and also apologised for not being able to attend the tea and mecting. Mr. David Yeo was at the organ.
Following an excellent tea, the business meeting was held, under the chairmanship of Mr. H. W. Knight. The minutes of the previous annual meeting (which contained notice of the secretary's intention to retire) were read and confirmed, and the election of officers for 1958 took place. Mr. H. W. Knight was re-elected chairman and Ringing Master, and Messrs. C. Bishop and L. Derrick as deputy Ringing Masters.
The chairman spoke of the retirement of Mr. Percy Yeo as Branch secretary after 37 years of service. As far as he could remember, there had never been an unhappy mecting during Mr. Yeo's term of office. He asked Mr. Yeo to accept the gift of a wrist-watch from his friends in the Branch. This watch is inscribed ' P. G. Y., from the ringers of the Chew Deanery, November, 1957.
Mr. Yeo, in thanking members for the gift. said that 30 years ago the Branch had presented him with a clock-and it was still going! Mr. L. Pullin, former treasurer of the Association. said how dependent the efficient running of the Bath and Wells Association was on the Branch secretaries. During the difficult years of the war, Mr. Yeo had kept the Branch with the highest membership of the Association.
Mr. Knight then proposed from the chair that Mr. David Yeo should be elected as secretary, and this was carried unanimously. This election means that the affairs of the Branch will be in the hands of the same family over three generations, the retiring secretary having taken over from his father, the late Mr. George Yeo. The office of Branch secretary now automatically carries with it the job of representative on the general committee.
Two new members were then elected from Chew Magna. At this point some discussion ensued regarding the qualification for membership as passed by the annual meeting last Easter. It was decided that a resolution he sent to the general committee to the effect thatfrom experience since the amendment of the rules and in view of the number of heavy bells in the Branch-the qualification for membership ruld should have the words able to raise and lower a bell' deleted. The Branch has noted that it has been losing new members who otherwise qualify.
Meeting were arranged provisionally for Kingston Seymour (quarterly in April) and practices at Portishead. Tickenham and Chew Stoke for January to March respectively. The Corporate Communion will be held at Wrington on the fourth Sunday in April.
The retirement of the Association's general secretary was noted, and nominations were asked for-one name was put forward.
The usual votes of thanks to all who had contributed to such a pleasant meeting were then accorded and the tower was again visited.
M. J. M.

Mr. Walter E. Wilkinson desires to thank the ringers of North Somerset who made his recent stay with R.A.F., Locking, such a happy one. He is now stationed at Buickeburg, Germany.

\section*{LETTERS TO THE EDITOR}

\section*{720 SUPERLATIVE SURPRISE MINOR}

Dear Sir,-I have been wondering where the 720 Superlative Minor has come from, as we used to ring 720 s of London and Cambridge and so-called Superlative, which is simply Reverse Cambridge. We rang it as Superlative until the late Rev. H. Law James said to me: - You are one who rings Reverse Cambridge and calls it Superlative.' He gave me a lead of real Superlative Minor, and said it was not possible to get a 720 of it.

I have an early 'Standard Methods' of Jasper Snowdon, and that is where we got it from: the method in it is called Superlative (which is only Reverse Cambridge). The Yorkshire Court is also in it, and is stamped false. It is over 50 years ago that we rang the Reverse Cambridge. Would any kind friend either put in the ' R.W.' or send me the correct bobs and singles for Single and Double Court Triples, as this table of Mr. Blagrove is too far-fetched for us to understand.-Yours truly,

\section*{The Retreat, ARTHUR J. HOLMES.}

Edenham, Lincs.
P.S.-We used to ring the London and Camhridge and what we called Superlative at Morton, Lincs, as we had only five bells at Edenham at that time.-A. J. H.

\section*{YORKSHIRE COURT}

Dear Sir,-A peai of Minor in seven methods was rung on handbells at St. Albans by three brothers on June 3rd, 1891. The conductor was the late Mr. John C. Mitchell, and the peal was booked as the first of Minor on handbells for the Hertford County Association. A 720 of Yorkshire Court was included in the peal, and in view of the statement in Belfry Gossip (page 788) that it is generally thought that no true 720 can be obtained. I would welcome more definite information, preferably in these columns, regarding the authenticity of this statement.
Yorkshire Court. Superlative Surprise and many other Minor methods, now obsolete, were printed in the earlier editions of Snowdon's 'Standard Methods.' Apart from their more obvious defects, perhaps one of the members of the Methods Committee will show us exactly why they will not produce the extent, if such is the case.-Yours faithfully,
H. V. FROST. Gen. Sec.,

\section*{NOT 'OFF THE RAILS'}

Dear \(\mathrm{Sir},-\mathbf{I}\) hope, in this letter, to show that despite Mr. Price's letter on page 7921 am not ' off the rails.' In disputing my result that \(A+B=B \times A\) he is, in effect, also disputing his own basic property.

In my first letter I said that any transposition A to B is equal to some transposition C to D where \(C=12345678\), the transposition is thus uniquely defined by \(\mathrm{D}, \mathrm{C}\) being understood to be 12345678 ; e.g., in Mr. Price's notation on page \(723, \mathrm{C}\) to D is the same transposition as A to \(\mathbf{B}\). A being rounds. A similar argument applies to transfigures.
\(A \times B\) is the permutation, such that \(A\) to \(A\) \(\times \mathrm{B}\) is the same transposition as 12345678 to B . Thus in Mr. Price's notation \(\mathbf{C} \times \mathbf{B}=\mathrm{D}\), and similarly \(\mathrm{C}+\mathrm{B}=\mathrm{E}\)

Mr. Price goes on to say: 'If \(\mathbf{A}\) to \(\mathbf{B}\) is the same transposition as \(C\) to \(D\),' i.e., if \(C \times B=D\), then \(A\) to \(C\) and \(B\) to \(D\) are identical transfigures,' i.e., \(\mathrm{B}+\mathrm{C}=\mathrm{D}\).

Thus, \(\mathrm{B}+\mathrm{C}=\mathrm{C} \times \mathrm{B}\)-the basic property.Yours faithfully,
D. J. MARSHALL.

\section*{Cheltenham.}

\section*{MORE ABOUT TRANSPOSITIONS}

Dear Sir,-I wonder if Mr. B. D. Price has considered the usual dictionary definition of transfigure, i.e., 'to change the outward form or appearance so as to glorify it '?
Surely, the simple facts of the two examples given are that one is a transposition by the scale 56124783 whilst the sccond is to the scale 47638251.

It would appear that new sciences or new arts would require new names or terms to describe new facts or conclusions, but for generations the lead-ends of odd bell methods and leadheads of even bell methods have shown the peculiarity that Mr. Price has now discovered.
It would appear that the 'art of bellringing is now becoming the 'science of campanology.' and as such, new and generally more cumbersome names are required for the same facts which have been adequately described by simple terms.
If new terms are required by the campanologists new words will have to be coined, and not old words debased to suit their requirements.
As for the term 'change,' it is, of course, in my opinion the basic term. A transposition is only a change in a set order.-Yours faithfully,
F. E. CORFIELD.

Wimbledon.

\section*{A COMPOSITION BY YORK GREEN}

Dear Sir,-I would like to thank Mr. C. W. Roberts for pointing out to me the mistake that was made when I claimed the composition as my own. I was ignorant of the fact until the appearance of the letter in The Ringing World of December 6th. But, as is pointed out, I am 50 years behind, so at least there is a little excuse for what has been done.Sincercly yours, Lutterworth.

THANK YOU, COLLEGE YOUTHS
Dear Sir,-I would like to thank all my fellow members of the Ancient Society of College Youths, far and near, for their very delightful and useful present on my retiring after 38 years as treasurer. It is an honour and privilege to serve the Ancient Society, and I dop appreciate their great kindnesses all through the years.Yours sincerely,
A. A. HUGHES.

NOTE.-At a meeting of the Society on December 14th a cut-glass bowl with an inscribed silver top was presented to Mr. Hughes and also an engraved cigarette case to Mr. A B. Peck, in recognition of his 20 years as secretary of the Society.-Ed.

\section*{PEALS OF MINIMUS WANTED}

Dear Sir,-In view of the apparently growing interest in four-bell towers and Minimus ringing in general, as evidenced by Mr. P. B Knights' recent article and correspondence in 'The Ringing World,' I am wondering what the official reaction would be to peals of Minimus. The recently-published Central Council handbook makes no specific mention of Minimus in its list of the Council's Decisions, saying simply: ©n all numbers of bells a true peal shall in all cases start from and end with rounds.' (Page 19.)
If memory serves aright, a 5,040 of Minimus was rung 'in hand' in the late 1920's or early 1930's and published as a "performance, not as a peal. However. on this occasion 1 and 2 were rung single-handed (contrary to the then current Central Council ruling on handbell peals) and it may well have been this that prevented its listing as a peal.
If such peals were to be recognised there is no dearth of extents for their ringers. In addition to Mr. Peter B. Knights' methods. which were published on pages 660 and 692 . there are over 250 further hunt-dominated extents and 12 extents based on the Stedman Slow Six.-Yours sincerely,

CYRIL A WRATTEN.

MAKERS OF THE FINEST BELL ROPES FOR NEARLY 250 YEARS

\section*{ST. NICHOLAS', WARWICK, HAS NEW RING OF EIGHT}

GT, NICHOLAS: Warwick, church bells were heard again on Thursday, December 5th, after a silence of nearly 30 years. when the recast ring was dedicated by the Bishop of Coventry (Dr. Cuthbert Bardsley). The church was packed' to capacity. The service being conducted by Canon H. A. Hayden, vicar and rural dean. The service was attended by clergy from the surrounding district and representatives of many Warwick organisations.

After the dedication of a new chapel and the hells, the Bishop in his address gave a warning about the influence of television and newspapers. He said if people were stirred up 100 frequently without outgoing action, they could lose the capacity to be stirred.

In newspapers we are fed by a vast number of indigestible facts. We merely look at them and do not read them. They could not possibly move us. We look at our television sets and there pours out a positive Niagara of emotion which makes us feel and yet not feel, see and yet not see. Week after week people are stirred if only mildly, and this' can be an inoculation against the real thing. It is a great danger today.

The Bishop said the dedication of the chapel and the bells reflected the care, hard work and generosity of many people. Ever since he had arrived in the diocese, one of the things he had longed for had been a ring of bells ringing in every church. We should not rest until Sunday by Sunday they all echoed forth a call to worship. While there were not enough bells and not enough ringers, it was sad that in some churches the bells were never used. St. Nicholas' bells were the first he had dedicated since he became Bishop, and he hoped that he would be called to many more similar functions.

For the act of dedication, rounds were rung by an all St. Mary's. Warwick, band, two of the band being learners who will form part of the St. Nicholas' band. The band selected for the ringing immediately after the conclusion of the service was representative of the Coventry Diocesan Guild, and were from the following towers: Allesley, Stoke St. Michael's, Coventry. Chilvers Coton, Harbury, Leamington and Si. Mary's, Warwick.

The bells were available on Friday evening December 6th (St. Nicholas" Day), to all ringers, and good use was made of them.

On Saturday, December 7th, a peal of Plain Bob Major was rung in 2 hours 59 minutes by members of the Guild. Ringing for the morning service on Sunday was carried out by the ringers of Stoke St. Michael's, Coventry. who rang touches of Stedman, Grandsire and Plain Bob Major. For Evensong a mixed band, representing several towers rang a quarter peal of Yorkshire Surprise Major. followed by a course of Bristol Surprise and an excellent fall, which concluded the "St. Nicholas" week, and really put the new bells on the local map once again. The Vicar and churchwardens must surely be proud to have acquired by their own efforts such a delightful ring of bells. Now it only remains to build up a band of ringers, which should not be too difficult in Warwick.

The bells, a grand cight with a tenor of 15 cwt. 2 qr .20 lb . in F, are a credit to the founders, Messrs. John Taylor and Co., who broke up the old bells and added some metal to make a ring with a total weight of 61 cwt . and rehung them in a new steel frame with all new fittings. The bells have been lowered in the tower, which has in the past given some trouble. The verdict of the band who rang in the peal and all the others who were able to try them out was that they were a grand lot which handled perfectly, despite new ropes.

Canon and Mrs. Hayden entertained the peal band to tea afterwards, when they all had the pleasure of hearing a recording of a part of the peal. Canon Hayden said how delighted he was that the first peal on the new bells had been accomplished, and said it would be recorded on a. peal board to be hung in the ringing chamher. He expressed appreciation for the help he had received from officers of the Coventry Diocesan Guild, and said they would always be welcome at St. Nicholas'.

\section*{HINTS FOR INSTRUCTORS}

\section*{THE RABBITS' HUMBLE PLEA}

\(I^{\top}\)T is now several months since "The Ringing World "published an account of the founda-and confused. 'Oh! why will they show off?' he asked.
He concluded in somewhat lighter vein by suggesting that in his tower the Master might have lost fewer than 90 per cent. of his recruits if he had displayed the slogan: Don't hang on the sally-the bell's much heavier than you!
He sat down, and immediately the meeting set to work to demolish their mentors and tormentors, leaving these latter but the bare shreds of reputation to cover their shame withal.

\section*{TIGERS NOT RABBITS}

With few exceptions, and these mostly expert bands arrogantly careless of the future, there was no evidence that learners are unwanted: rather the contrary, if vague amiability counts for a welcome. Yet many a careworn witness deplored his mean estate as the result of his first reception into the Exercisc. Young Jack Rabbit is certainly weleome to the tower if he cares to turn up. If not, no matter: he is no great loss. and never will be, it seems. The impudent creatures suggest that if Ringing Masters had the common sense to realise their need for Recruits, and showea it, they could breed not Rabbits but Tigers. Are they really too stupid to see the connection between young Jack and that vacant rope on Sundays? Must he get a few minutes of casual instruction if he happens to look in and then be dismissed from mind with an air only too obviously implying 'That's enough for him '? The born ringer goes elsewhere; the Recruit compounded of the sterner stuff that makes Rabbits, defying defeat, eventually stumbles through his Doubles: and the rest. where are they? If Jack were made to feel 'on the strength, even as the humblest of probationers, and his absence rather than his presence remarked, the Guild ventures to suggest that he would come to more good in the belfry.
At the other extreme is the learner who is pushed along too fast, often because there is a vacancy in the band before it occurs to anyone that Recruits are needed. This unfortunate is put on to hunting his bell before he can even manage it properly. Many witnesses attributed their failure primarily to having suffered this treatment. One venerable Rabbit in steel-rimmed spectacles was empnatic that no learner should he allowed to attempt changes at all until he can ring good rounds with his eyes shut.
Many members who gave evidence deplored, even tearfully, the slovenly habits of bellhandling they were allowed to acquire: habits, which, they said, it caused them endless trouble to discard later, if, indeed, it were ever possible to do so. Some attributed their Rabbit status entirely to this and were sure they could have become Ringers had they been made to handle properly. Others, up-to-date, if ancient, shaking their bald heads. mumbled querulously that the young of today have those vital first steps made so casy for them, carefree College Youths. while they learned, what they did learn, the hard way. 'Damme,' said one, 'if my dad could have sent me to college. Id not be just a common Rabbit today! This was received with much applause and paw-clapping. Others again said that, though their instructors handled well themselves, they dared not demand a like standard in their pupils, lest they leave in a huff. complaining that everything they do is wrong. There was entire agreement that this is an utterly mistaken view, that kearners are lost through indifference, not reasonable discipline.

\section*{THE PERFECT ASSES' BRIDGE}

Grandsire Doubles, as the first method to he taught, has at least one virtue-it baffles out of the Exerejse, once and for ever, all who are neither born Ringers nor born and resigned to rabbitdom. In consideration of which dumb brutishness, the Guild determined on its motto, Dum in mundo tundo (While on earth I bash). Once out of the sheltered waters of the plain course, the mental gymnastics demanded by the method, in contrast to the comparative simplicity of Plain Bob, offer the perfect Asses' Bridge, and for this reason the Guild recommends it, On the other hand, it advises such as like 10 proceed the casy way, without testing the point of heartbreak, to teach Plain Bob first.

Evidence was gathered about study outside the tower, most witnesses believing in the value of expecting pupils to give some thought to the subject between practices. The absence of this they considered a general fault in training. Many of them said how they regretted that they had not been required to obtain and study some elementary work on ringing: some said a Handbook, others swore by a Manual ; except latinity, what's in a name? The Council was shocked to learn that too many Rabbits had been actively discouraged from attempting any bookwork. Onc in pasticular, the father of a large family of Rabbits, had heen told: Don't fill your head with that old rubbish. Ohediently, he had passed on the injunction to his sons, every one of whom is a member of the Guild: but he said in evidence how much he wishes that he had rebelled and nibbled the forbidden fruit.

Witnesses were practically unanimous that far more use should be made of diagrams to give pupils a clear understanding of methods they are to attempt: too often, verbal directions are rattled off beforehand and the wretched Jack, all confused, is pushed through his work, and none the wiser afterwards. There was strong support for the suggestion that to require Jack to study, say, his first touch in a method before he at tempts to ring it would be vastly more profitable than the usual custom of unexpectedly lossing in a few bohs, as it were, seeming 10 hope that some magical intuition will enable Jack to perform the obviously impossible.

\section*{A SPECIAL DISPENSATION}

Severe criticism was directed towards the practical teaching of method ringing. There was much caustic comment on the habit of many Masters of standing behind young Rabbit-to-be, telling him exactly which bell to follow, unknowing unseeing, unthinking. Several witnesses complained that they had even been credited with quarter peals rung in this way! Indeed, as the ringing of a peal disqualifies from membership of the Guild, a special dispensation was required for one excellent Rabbit, who confessed that he had rung a peal of Siedman Triples, but vowed that he is still quite unsure of the method!

Many complained of the forcible feeding of pupils who are making some progress, in spite of their protestations, thereby effectively preventing their advancing any further. Remorsekessly, instructors tell them exactly what to do. forcing on the victims the additional burden of closing their ears, as if to find their way were not struggle enough! Onc youngish Rabbit his spirit not yet entirely crushed by adversity. squeaked: "There'll be murder in our tower if that man tells me tc go in slow again before I've even got near enough to try to go in quick: In short, the Guild asks that the instructor at this stage should act as a very present help in trouble-in rouble.

Space is insufficient to allow publication of all the criticism given in evidence. There was constant emphasis on the idea that to permit a low standard of style and performance defeats the object ; that learners will respond far better to an exaccing discipline which makes considerable demands on them.

> Knocks For The Dead
> In the ringing chamber of Marsham, Norfolk. Parish Church, there is an elaborate board with two columns of lettering boldly proclaiming the custom of that churth. It reads:-

> KNOCKS FOR THE DEAD
> 3 for Girl
> 6 for Maid
> 7 for Married Woman
> 8 for Bachelor
> 9 for Married Man.
> The board is signed: Edw Delf, clerk of this Parish in the Year 1773. Tho Delf Jun in the Year 1822.
> These number of 'knocks' were not uniform in Norfolk, points out W. B. H. C. in 'The Eastern Daily Press,' The sexton's book of another parish gives the following instructions: 11 for a man, 9 for a woman, 7 for a boy, 5 for a girl.
> In another Norfolk church the sexton pulled off 3 times 3 for a man, 3, 1. 3 for a woman. Each was followed by one stroke for every year of the deceased person's life.

\section*{A ROLL OF HONOUR}

By no means all the criticisms received were adverse. Witnesses spoke with deep gratitude of instructors who took endless trouble with them, and attributed their lowly status entirely 10 their awn stupidity. Others drew sympathetic attention to Masters of struggling bands who do their best to impart to their learners what they scarccly know thenselves. The Guild wishes humbly to acknowledge the debt of the Rabbits to those instructors who have taught them intelligently, and faithfully sought to make real Ringers of them. In recognition of their gratitude it decided to institute a Roll of Honour. Admission to the Roll will normally be by nomination. The Guild, however, is prepared to receive applications from Ringing Masters and other instructors who may think their teaching sufficiently meritorious. Applications should bc accompanicd by a short statement of grounds for secking admission to the Roll. If these are considered promising, the pretensions of the applicant will then be assessed by a panel of elder Rabbits, who will attend his tower for instruction. No appeal against their decision will be considered.
Roll of Honour Diplomas will be valuable documents, not only as evidence of the Guild's approval, but also as conveying permanent exemption from all 'strike' action. They will, of course, be issued free to those clected by nomination: those admitted by examination will be required to pay a small fee. the sum of half-acrown (post frec). The Rabbits' Guild, unlike older foundations, has no endowments: it requires no subscription of its members: clearly. the Roll of Honour must pay its own way. To disarm criticism, be it said that the Council hardly expects to grow rich on the proceeds.
In such wise, the Rabbits' Guild offers its contribution to the discussion on teaching, and presents its humble petition to those who teach. If it has allowed itself a little licence in detailing the antics of petitioners, that is balanced by strict regard to fact in describing the exploits of instructors.
Now let the storm break. 'Teaching their grandmothers to suck cggs, indced!' Maybc. Maybe nol.

\section*{OBITUARY}

MR. JAMES FERNLEY
AN APPRECIATION
James Fernley, of Norbury (Hazel Grove), was laid to rest on November 30th in the shade of the tower in which he had spent so many hours, when a crowded church testified to the estecm in which he was held by the people of the village and parish and his fellow ringers. The service was conducted by the Vicar (Rev. E. Taylor), who spoke movingly of the good which the deceased had done. At the graveside a course of Grandsire Triples was rung by four members of the band with whom ho had been associated over a long period. Many ringers were present from neighbouring towers and further afield, and the Chester Guild was officially represented by its deputy Master and the chairman of the local Branch. There were representatives from tha various parish organisations with which he had been associated, for not only did he take an interest in the tower but was deputy organist, church councillor. member of the operatic socicly (in which he took a leading part) and also leader of the Norbury Handbell Ringers.
He had a distinguished ringing career and rang his first peal in 1923 (the treble to a peal in 29 methods), and later in the same year he rang the treble to the first 35 -method peal ever to be rung. He took part in the last peal on the old six at Norbury in 1925 and was in the first on the new bells in the same year. With the new ring of eight, under the leadership of his father, James Fernley, sen., the band set out to lay the foundations of Major ringing, and peals in various methods followed in which he took part. The first peal of Bristol in 1929 was the first by all the band except the conductor (Mr. T. Wilde), and this method soon becalne a favourite one at the 'Grove. London followed in early 1931, and in the same year began an association with Mr. John Worth, which continued up to the time of his death. Ir January, 1934, he took part in the first peal of Spliced Surprise for the Guild, in two methods. and in April of the same year he married Miss Eva Hulmc.
In October, 1934, his father died, and it seemed as time went on that his mantle had descended upon his son, who kept up the tradition oi hospitality and training at Norbury and added lustre to the already famous name of Fernley. Early in 1935 he took part in the first peal of Four Spliced Surprise Major for the Guild, conducted by John Worth. About this time certain members of the band were becoming very interested in Spliced Minor and had. in fact, in 1933 put the record up to 38, and again at the end of 1935 to 39 . Early in 1935 they carried it to 42, and in all of these Jim took a leading role. In the next few years they carried it even further by stages until in 1937 73 Treble Bob methods was reached, and in the following year 84 methods. These performances did not, however. prevent them from pushing on with Surprise Major ringing, and many good performances were recorded in which the name of James Fernky prominently appeared.
During the war he served in the Army Catering Corps, and was stationed for some time in Shropshire where he did much to encourage ringing in the dark days of silent bells. When peace came he returned and set about reestablishing a band at Norbury and was very successful, although to do so he had. like so many more, to make usc of girls. Soon the practices resumed their normal pattern, and the question was "What do we do next?" It was obvious that splicing was becoming increasingly popular and there was no more ardent advocate of it than Jim Fernley. He was àlways ready to press on to the next stage, and it was regretted that his work and his many other interests compelied him to miss some of the attempts. Perhaps this was one of the qualitics which made him the leader he undoubtedly was, always ready to look up anything, and yet when the time came to step down in favour of someone he felt was more capable than he was. At the time of his death the band were practising for 25 methods, and this was rung on December 7th with another member of the group in the place he would have had, and the band wish to associate this peal with his memory.
He formed some years before the war a handbell tune-ringing band which became known as the Norbury Handbell Ringers and enjoyed considerable fame in the districts around, being in great demand for concerts. A few weeks before his death they had been successful in an audition with the B.B.C. and were looking forward to an engagement in the future. The annual carol service at Norbury is an event to which come practically all the parishioners and others from far and near, and the music is mainly provided by the Handbell Ringers. At the time of his death they werc preparing for this service and it is understood that it will go on as in other years, for with his characteristic thoroughness he had ensured that the band was not solely dependent upon him.
He leaves a widow and daughter: both ringert. to mourn his loss, and to them all ringers who knew him will extend their sincerest sympathy.
C. K. L.

\section*{MR. JOHN BOOTH}

The death occurred on December 5th of Mi. John Booth, of Standish, Lancashire, For over 50 years he had been a ringer at Standish Parish Church. He had rung 187 peals for the Lancashire Association, of which he had been a member since 1913. He was also a member of the A.S.C.Y. In addition 10 being a ringer, he was for about 30 years a sidesman and a member of the P.C.C.
Being very fond of tune ringing on handbells. he and his daughter (Mrs. Chamberlain) entertained at the local hospitals and concerts held all over Lancashire, from all of which he sought no reward. The bell's were rung half-muffied before and aftef the funeral by members of the local hand, assisted hy Messrs. A. Tomlinson, W. Farrimond, W. Horner and C. Sharples, representing the Lancashire Association, So passes on one who was respected by all who knew him. May he rest in peace. J. W. G.

\section*{MR. ALBERT CHARLES HARDY}

The older generation of visitors to Barking. Essex. East London and Southern Essex ringers during the late 90s and the carly part of sitis century will remember Mr. Albert Charles Hardy. who died carlicr in the month, aged 81 Taking no active part in ringing for the past 28 years, he was interested until the last as a regular subseriber to the R.W: He was a member of the College Youths for ovcr 60 years and had rung upwards of 50 peals. Strongly made, a splendid handler, a precision striker, rarely making a mistake, from treble to tenor he would exocl, but we remember him as a very capable hcavy-end man.

A competent handbell ringer of London Sutprise standard, he was one of a limited number to ring Harrison's \(8 ; 896\) Kent T. Bob. the extent of tenors together. on both handand tower-bells. He rang Barking tenor to this faultlessly. With more than a casual knowledge of composition and method construction, he could conduct if necessary, hut preferred leaving this to others. Indifferent health limited his enthusiasm, A wreath from the present Barkin? company was a tribute to a former colleague, and Caleb Fenn, George Cottis and G. W Faulkner were present at the funeral. In spite of inclement weather about 30 memhers attended the annual meeting of the Southern District at Sketty. Swansea, on December 7 th. Ringing at St. Paul's commenced at 2.40 p.m. and continued under the direction of the Ringing Master until the service, which was conducted by the Vicar (Rev. H. C. Williams). In his addrecs, he took as his text 'Many members but one body.
Tea was provided by the ringers and friends, who were thanked by the Master (Mr. J. T. Williams) for their services rendered.
In the absence of the Vicar the chair was taken by the Master of the Guild. The District secretary reported great strides in the completion of St. Mary's but could nol give any date as to when the bells would be installed. There was still no sign of Morriston bells being rehung.
All officers were re-elected. (Someone was then heard to say that if they stayed on long enough they would get'a pension.)
It was proposed that the next meeting be a joint one with the Llandaff Branch. It was also proposed that the secretaries of the St. David's Guild of the S. and B. Guild arrange an occasional joint practice suitable to both Guilds. The District secretary was asked to order a coach for the annual festival at Brecon on June 28 th .
After the customary votes of thanks. proposed by the Master, ringing continued until 8 p.m. J. A. H.

\section*{Peals At Bradley}

Dear Sir,-Referring to the dedication of the bells of St. Martin's Church, Bradley, Staffs (page 790), there were two peals rung on the old bells, one each of Grandsire and Steâman Triples. Mr. William Bayliss took part in both these peals, also my brother, Alfred J. Wallater, who now resides at Oakland, California, U.S.A.
The Stedman Triples was rung on Wednesday. March 6th, 1907, in 2 hours and 56 minutes; a variation of Thurstans' Four-part, conducted by the late George Hughes, of Wednesbury, who was a native of Hanbury, Worcestershire. The band was Gcorge Hughes treble. Albert Blundell 2 Christopher Wallater 3, Alfred J. Wallater 4 . Horace Belcher 5, William Fisher 6, Alfred Rowley 7, William Bayliss tenor-Yours sincerely,
C. WALLATER.

Willenhall, Staffs.

\section*{SUMMERTIME IN SOMERSET}

THE cars sweep up to the lych-gate; the occupants scurry into church and up the stairs; the bells ring out for twenty minutes or maybe half-an-hour; the ringers scurry downstairs and out to their cars, looking at their watches, and away they go, off to the next grab, busily entering the tower in their little books or crossing it off in their Doves. The tower-grabbers have been, and if you asked them what the church was like, few of them could tell you more than the 'go' of the bells. And if you ask them to turn off for a look at the little church half-amile off to the right, they'll look at the map, look at Dove, and say: "No bells there," and there's an end of it.

Happy the man who can use his eyes, and take a little time to look at the towers he rings in and the bells he rings-and even at the bells that he can't. The tower-grabbers don't know Sutton Bingham or Brympton d'Evercy: the poorer they.

Somerset is the land of the big fives and sixes to the ringer, but to the bell-hunter it's also a land of twos and threes perched in little bellcotes and often undocumented and undated. Nobody since Ellacombe, who collected most of his Somerset material by correspondence, has "done' Somerset, and there are still finds to be made by people who care to fetch ladders and do a little climbing. While I was holidaying near Yeovil in 1956 two churches were marked down for further investigation: Sutton Bingham and Brympton d'Evercy; this summer good fortune brought George Elphick down to Dorset, and we went to see what we could find there.
Travellers know Sutton Bingham as a sleepy halt; fishermen know it as a new man-made lake stocked with fat trout. Not many scem to know the tiny Norman church beside the lovely manor house, and that's a pity. Very few churches have such an atmosphere of having grown up out of the soil of England for a very, very long time. The stone of the walls, the stone slabs and the hoary timbers of the roof, the ancient paintings which cover most of the walls, all scem entirely part of the life of a very simple, very old, very English community; looking about it you don't think of great building bishops or lords or wealthy merchants as you might at Winchester or Framlingham or Northleach; you think of honest countrymen with mud on their boots and their hats held humbly in big, horny hands, coming to worship their. Lord in the house their fathers built for Him. It's a good place to be.

In two little arches in the west gable-end hang two little bells, only about 12 feet from the ground. On the left is one cast over the way in Closworth by Thomas Purdue ; the other uninscribed and as different in shape as could be. A ringer who wants to know how the shape of bells developed could not find anywhere a better example: on my left the village maiden, stocky, buxom, firm in the shoulder and a good armful round the waist. On my right the aristocrat, tall and slim and slender-waisted. Yet for all her more delicate looks the aristocrat is the stronger of the two, for Purdue's bell, dated 1684, has been broken in the crown, and it is the other which still rings Sutton Bingham to church, as she has been doing for round about 700 years.

The shape alone makes one pretty sure that this is a very old bell; a closer look makes one certain. The lip inside is flat for about an inch-and-a-half, sloping upwards at about \(30^{\circ}\); the cannons were moulded by the waste-wax method, and a very critical examination of the surface of the bell convinced us that it was in fact all waste-wax moulded, and smoothed off with something very like the tool which is shown being used in the bell-founder's window at York. The bell shown in that window would be about the same size as this one, which is just over a foot in diameter. The bell once was swung, as the marks on the stonework of the niche indicate, but she has recently been rehung and is properly fitted for safe clocking.

The road to Brympton d'Evercy takes you through some of those Somerset lanes which have carved themselves almost a tunnel in the soft sandstone, roofed with hornbeam and hazel and inhabited by sand martins. The last lap is down a fine avenue of trees and through a wood, and then you come out to see one of the loveliest scenes in England. Beyond the gates the drive runs straight to the front door of the house between wonderful lawns; the house is gabled and gargoyled and pinnacled and finialled and emblazoned as the most ardent feudalist could wish, and to the left of the lawns, on a terrace, is an absurd mediaval clock-house with a bell-cote on top. On the right is tho 14 th century priest's house, almost unaltered, and next to it the little parish church, carrying on its western gable one of those little 2-bell turrets which are a local speciality-corbelled out from a short stem like a chimney-stack, with two arched openings in each side and a pyramidal roof with a finial on each corner. No words of mine can hope to tell the beauty of Brympton d'Evercy: you must go and see it for yourself.
Only the tops of the two bells are visible from the ground, but the half-wheels looked interesting, and we were inclined to look closer, although both the vicar and the lord of the manor told us that a man from nearby who knew all about bells had been up to see them and said they were of no interest-one by Purdue and one uninscribed and undated and of no account. The lord of the manor lent us an aluminium ladder, and asked us while we were at it to look at the bell on the clock-house as well, so we went there first.

It was a breezy climb, and as went up the fully extended ladder I used every trick of eloquence to prove to myself that aluminium ladders were immensely strong and that their flexibility was just another proof of it. I arrived at the top quite unconvinced and very glad to get on something that kept still, even if it was very small and very high and very full of bell.

The bell proved to be a nice one, bearing the name of the lord of the manor in 1723, when it was cast, and his arms on the waist. There was no founder's name or initials, but the decoration made us think that it was a Closworth bell, and at that date the founder would have been William Knight. The cannons were neatly cabled.

The ladder was moved to the church and had to be extended even further to reach the sill of the turret. It behaved if anything even worse, but I forgot about that when I brought my cyes level with the sill. In front was the Purdue bell, the larger of the two, and like all his work very neatly cast: but the other was plainly even older than the Sutton Bingham bell. Like it, it was very long in the waist-longer in fact-and the soundbow was less flared, and the inside of the lip was flat as at Sutton Bingham, but this time it was horizontal, so that if you'd put the bell mouth-downwards on the ground the whole of this \(2^{\prime \prime}\) flat would have touched it. The bell seemed to have been moulded in the normal mediaval manner from a clay false-bell, but the cannons were a puzzle. They showed no sign of piece-moulds, and at the sharpest part of the curve they were flattened, as a tube is flattened when you bend it. George made very careful casts of the cannons and argent, and when he got home experimented with all kinds of materials to see if he could reproduce the flattening. Wax was no good, but one thing did produce just the same effect-straw smoothed over with clay. The use of straw for moulding the cannons and argent tallied with the surface of part of the argent, where there were marks which might well have been the impression of straw imperfectly covered with the clay in a place which was difficult to smooth over. We estimate the date of this bell at about 1200 .

The bells aren't ringable, for the frame is badly rotted and infested, and the old bell is resting on the sill one side where the frame-head has collapsed. The half-wheels are not old; they seem to have been copied from old ones by someone who was a good joiner but didn't know how to curve the sole of the wheel: he'd made saw-cuts halfway through the inner face of the sole about \(2^{\prime \prime}\) apart all round.

It was a good day: two 13th century bells never previously identified so far as we know, and two lovely churches visited-for Brympton Church is outstandingly beautiful and contains some exceptionally fine mediæval tomb-figures, one of a priest who died while administering the Last Sacrament in the Black Death.

But what of the knowledgeable local ringer who pronounced the Brympton bell ' of no interest'? Could he be the man who, with his companion, immortalised his visit by chalking their names inside the bell-turret? I know that name, and its owner, and so does George, I think. But we won't tell.

Appropriately for Plough Sunday (January 12th) the B.B.C. are going into ruraI Wiltshire to broadcast the Parish Communion service at the Church of St. Sampson, Cricklade, at 9.45 . The bells will be heard before the service in the West and North Home Services. Mr. Walter Witts is captain of the ringers.
St. Margaret's, Westminster, bells will be on the air on Sunday, January 12th, in the Home Service at 9.45 a.m.

Mr. Albert G. Ensor, who has been ringing at Shustoke, Warwickshire, for 40 years, rang his first peal on November 30th.
Congratulations to the band who rang a peal of 10,000 Double Norwich Court Bob Major at Fairfield, Buxton, on December 14th, in 5 hours and 43 minutes. The peal constitutes a longlength record for the Derbyshire Association and was rung by a band whose ages range from 13 to 19 .
Unfortunately, the peal of Stedman arranged at Hawkhurst to commemorate the 40 years' service with Esso Petroleum Company of the tower captain (Mr. William Gorringe) came to grief. Congratulations were, however, paid by two quarters-Kent T.B. and Grandsire-which were rung without standing. Afterwards the band was entertained to an excellent tea by Mr. and Mrs. Gorringe.
Five of the local band took part in the peal of Plain Bob Major at St. Nicholas', N. Stoneham, to commemorate the 21st anniversary of the granting of a Charter of Incorporation to the borough of Eastleigh. Twenty-one years ago, when the charter was presented to the town, a peal of Plain Bob Royal was rung, conducted by Mr. W. T. Tucker. Messrs. Reginald A. Reed and Harold P. Reed took part in both peals.

GOSSIP
Since going to Leicester from Bedford, Miss Avril Thackray has been a regular ringer at the Cathedral for Sunday service and practice. She rang the treble to her first peal of Major on December 8th, and on December 9th rang the second to a peal of Yorkshire Maximus at Leicester Cathedral-her first peal on 12 bells and first of Surprise. A little nervous to start with, she soon settled down and rang a very good peal, to deserve the congratulations of the band.
Dr. P. Jonason, jun., enertained to supper the ringers of the peal at East Harling, which was a farewell to Miss Jill Creasy. His kindness was much appreciated.
Many who have enjoyed the hospitality of Bournemouth will regret the decision not to hold the ringers' rally and George Williams commemoration dinner in 1958 owing to the financial loss incurred with the 1957 function. We hope it is only temporarily in abeyance.
The peal of Superlative rung at St. Mary's Church, Anstey, Leicestershire, was also a compliment to Mr. and Mrs. Harold G. Jenney on the 54th anniversary of their marriage. The band wish them many more happy years. Congratulations to Avril Thackray on her first peal of Major, in which she rang the treble perfectly. It was John A. Acres' and Herrick B. Bowley's 300th peal on tower bells.
The first peal on the recast bells of Bromley is not without interest. These bells were broken when the church was destroyed by fire in the bombing, and recast by Gillett's in 1950. In the last peal on the bells in May, 1939, Mr. P. A. Corby conducted, and did so again on December 14th, ringing on both occasions the same bell. Also ringing the same bells in both peals were Mr. Arthur Richards (captain of West Wickham ringers) and Mr. Percy Spice (Bromley's captain).

\title{
THOSE I REMEMBER

By ERNEST MORRIS

\(I^{T}\)T was very nice of 'M. R. P.' (whoever he or she may be) to give me such an encouraging puff ' in your leader of December 6th, but the note on the late Harry Withers, of Birmingham, stole a bit of my 'thunder'! I remember him on one occasion at a meeting in Loughborough giving us a very fine recital on the small carillon of 40 bells which formerly hung in the tower on Mr. Taylor's lawn. A lot of visitors crowded around the clavier to see him play; then, clearing us all out, he locked himself in, and tapped off a splendid course of London Surprise Major Had there been eight experienced ringers ringing this they could not have performed it more correctly. There were 50 or 60 ringers listening to it and everyone testified to its perfect striking.
On another occasion at a meeting in Birmingham, at the time when that city was an 'out post' of the old M.C.A., I saw Harry Withers play on his dulcimer a course of that littlepractised method of John Carter's-Scientific Triples-one of the most intricate Triples methods yet produced, still to be 'conquered for a peal! Also on that occasion he sat at the piano, with William Willson sitting at the other end of the room calling a touch of Stedman Triples, which Harry tapped perfectly. Then John Carter and James E. Groves rang a course of Grandsira Triples 'four-in-hand

\section*{RECORDED RECORD-LENGTH PEALS}

The last time I met Harry Withers was at Oxford. He was the first man I saw on coming out of the tower of Christ Church Cathedral after we had rung the record peal of Stedman Cinques. I asked him what he was doing there and he gave me several sheets out of a notebook, and said: 'Here is the peal you rang' he had recorded it as we rang it.
He did a similar thing when the record long peal of London Surprise was rung at King s Norton, Worcs, on May 11th, 1903 (14,112 changes). He took down every lead as it was rung-a wonderful feat. His figures at the conclusion were exactly the same as a sealed copy held by Mr. J. S. Pritchett. Once he conducted a peal of Superlative Surprise at Selly Oak Birmingham, from outside, in the churchyard giving notice of the calls to the ringers up in the tower by pressing an electric bell-push.

\section*{KEITH HART}

On several occasions I visited Brighton for August holidays-before the time of "staggered holidays '-and invariably there would be present for Sunday service ringing some 20 to 30 visitors (almost like a meeting day). Keith Hart was then in charge and he saw to it that everyone had a ring, even though it would be only rounds. He was most strict that whatever was done for service ringing must be perfect striking; if not, he would stop immediately and fix another team in. The same applied to peal ringing. He put each man on the bell he knew he would ring best, and never allowed 'bigheads' on the tenor or wherever they wanted to go.
On my first visit he "put the wind up ' me by saying after Sunday evening service: "We are going for a peal of Stedman Caters in the morning-you are calling it.' I was unprepared for this-but spent the rest of the evening on the pebbles digesting one of F. H. Dexter's compositions; and when next morning I called it, Keith Hart admitted it to be a fine composition but was worried stiff when after three hours of 7568 's and 7698 's (and the 5 th in 2nd place) in alternate courses, he expected a rambling home-coming course. He was amazed when I dropped out a single at 15 , bob at 16 , and rounds came up.
On one occasion I called a peal of Royal at Southover, Lewes, and a peal of Superlative was arranged for a day or so after, at Steyning. One of the visitors was asked if he could treble this method, and to prove him capable he made us ring a course there and then! Just one of his ways! This is what the late editor of the 'R.W.' said of him: 'He was a graceful ringer and invariably performed at the back end. With his mastery of bellringing he found it difficult to understand how other rational beings could make errors. Indifference in ringing and striking he would not tolerate, and because of his criticisms (he had the reputation of a John Blunt) he was at times misunderstood. He died in 1947, having rung 1,164 peals.'

\section*{AT ST. PAUL'S CATHEDRAL}

On returning from one of my early visits to Brighton (on a Sunday) I broke the journey home to call at London so that I might go to St. Paul's Cathedral. I had never visited the belfry so was anxious to do so. I did not then know the London ringers very well except those who rang with me in 1922 when the late Tom Langdon called my wedding peal at Stepney. Seeing a group of men near the Cathedral and noticing one had a bell tie-pin, I made myself known. One of the party said to me: 'You won't get a ring here. I belong to London and been up many times, but they don't invite me to ring.' I replied that I did not expect to ring, just wanted to say I'd been up that tower. The fellow was taken aback when shortly afterwards the genial and stately secretary-the late William T. Cockerill-came along and shook hands with me!
On ascending the tower to the ringing chamber that dear old character, Challis Winney, came and made me welcome, asking me questions all about Leicester and Charnwood Forest. He had relatives this way and had visited the district some years before. On the little warning bell ringing for the start of the service bells, Mr. Winncy said: 'You ring my bell; I'll sit out!' This I did to the famous three-course touch of Stedman Cinques. At its conclusion Mr . Winney got behind me and said: 'When they say "Stand" you keep going and treble the middle six down.' I did this and then I was allowed to ring the tenor ( \(62 \frac{1}{2} \mathrm{cwt}\).) for the sermon bell. I never saw the 'dismal Johnnie again who said they wouldn't let me ring!
In 1938 the late editor, Mr. J. S. Goldsmith, arranged a secretaries' peal of Stedman Cinques at Southwark Cathedral, when 12 secretaries from 12 different Associations and Guilds rang with bells half-muffled a tribute to the memory of Mr. W. T. Cockerill, who passed away during the week before. I had the great honour to be invited, and rang in this peal, of which Mr. Goldsmith wrote: 'A number of experts assembled outside to listen to the ringing, and the band received their congratulations upon having rung an excellent peal, which was conducted by Mrs. E. K. Fletcher, secretary of the Ladies' Guild.' Later that year (1938) the lifesize bust of Mr. Cockerill-which had formerly been exhibited at the Royal Academy-was erected in the ringing chamber of St. Paul's Cathedral.

For several years it had been "thought of but suddenly over the pint pots in the "local' it was more or less all fixed and all the ringers present were called upon by the two pioneers of the idea to make suitable notes in their diaries under 'St. Andrew's Day.' Thereafter there was much correspondence between our two pioneers, local clergy and others, and a programme was eventually sent out giving details of ringing for St. Andrew's Day-to be followed in the evening by a skittles match.
There are four towers in the Chew Deanery of the Bath and Wells Association dedicated to St. Andrew, and permission was given for a quarter peal attempt at each (an additional tower-not dedicated to this saint-was included to accommodate an excess of ringers!). Methods for the quarters were chosen to suit the capabilities of all the ringers of all the bands, viz.: Grandsire and Plain Bob except the excess at SS. Quiricus and Julietta, who rang mixed Doubles!

The advance party assembled at Chew Magna on the morning of November 30th, but rang only half-an-hour in an attempt for Grandsire Triples. Undaunted, they afterwards rang an excellent 1,260 Plain Bob Minor at Chew Stoke: Monica Fray 1, C. Clarke 2, J. Brain (first in

After a very satisfying tea at the house of our organiser-in-chief, both bands set off in carsone to go to Clevedon for Grandsire Triples and one to Tickenham for mixed Doubles-and both were successful, viz.: 1,260 Grandsire TriplesAudrey Bailey 1. The evening's entertainment was yet to come and a further augmented party met at The Ring of Bells, Nailsea, where the Bobs challenged the Singles (or vice-versa) to a skitules match. The winners, we were assured, would receive 'valuable prizes.' Although no one beat our stickerup, who showed us how it should be done (during the interval), several ringers showed unsuspected skill, and those who didn't also had a prize! Votes of thanks, the promise of a return match at Bridgwater, and the singing of 'Ye Olde Ringers' Song' concluded a very enjoyable day.
A pleasing feature of the venture was that the ringing was of a high standard throughout. The ringers who took part represented 11 towers (including one each in Yorkshire, Norfolk and Hertfordshire). On the following day some of the party also rang at Hinton Blewett (5) for afternoon service and were joined by the local ringers.

\section*{GRANDSIRE CATERS}

\section*{Its Notation and Calling}

\section*{by EDGAR C. SHEPHERD}

\(\mathrm{T}^{\mathrm{H}}\)HE notation and calling of Grandsire Caters have always presented certain difficulties to the student. The method is blessed with an abundance of musical positions and a great variety of callings designed to produce or maintain these musical effects, and so it is not surprising to discover a multitude of ways in which courses may be called. What is not apparent at first sight is that many of these callings are the same thing expressed in different language, and that much of what is to the eye so complex may, with a little study and a grasp of some general principles, be resolved into an intelligible and comprehensible formula. To arrive at this desirable stage it may be profitable to consider briefly in what manner Grandsire Caters differs from the even-bell methods and, indeed, from other Cater methods. The two main differences are (a) the course end, and (b) the effect of calls.

Generally speaking, the even-bell methods have a fixed course end. In Major it is the backstroke row \(1 \ldots . .78\), and on the other numbers of bells it is something analagous. Apart from certain unusual compositions this is the recognised course end, and all callings and calling positions are related to it and calculated from it. But in Grandsire Caters the course end may be one of many arrangements of the heavy bells. In the Tittums it may be 978 or it may be... 7.89: in the Handstroke Home it is usually . .. . 879 and sometimes . . . . 7698 : other musical arrangements of the heavy bells may offer the following course-ends: 7968, 7896, 9876, and many more like them. In fact, the student will readily perceive that using the back bells only to provide musical course ends, and the transpositions of 789 will provide six different course ends, and the transpositions of 6789 will secure twenty-four different course ends.

The effect of calls on the course, and on the heavy bells, provides the second important difference between Grandsire Caters and the even-bell methods, and also, in some degree, distinguishes Grandsire from certain other Cater methods. In the even-bell methods the tenors will usually be found to be unaffected (or little affected) by calls. Apart from one or two interesting and useful divergencies from the normal (such as the bob Before, the bob at 5 in Double Norwich, the In and Fifths in London) the standard even-bell methods leave their heavy bells alone and do not impair the normal length of the course. The cases of certain Treble Bob methods are peculiar and bring us nearer to the construction of Grandsire, while the Cater versions of Stedman and Double Norwich show an interesting combination of fixed and fluid courses, the heavy bells heing affected by opening and turning courses and in the main undisturbed by standard callings.

In Grandsire it is in the nature of the method that most of the bells are affected by calls, and this means that the large bells cannot escape their share of bob making, although they will not lose their fixed formation. The length of the course, too, is modified by the calling of bobs and singles, the effect of calls being to advance the work of the bells and so shorten the course. The curious phenomena provided by the very early peals of Grandsire Caters. in which one bell was used as observation bell and was called Before for several courses, certainly provided courses of seven leads, a length identical with the plain course, but such comnositions are musically valueless and can have little or no bearing on our present considerations. For all practical purposes it may be taken that bobs and singles in Grandsire Caters shorten the courses, providing six-lead, five-lead, and, in one peculiar formation, four-lead courses.

It is the aim of this essay to analyse and examine some of these callings in order to make clear what their notation implies and what transpositions their operation will perform.

It will be convenient to ignore, for the time being, the opening courses, and to take up straight away the examination and analysis of what may be described as the standard callings, that is, the callings that leave the heavy bells in the musical position into which they have been thrown. The Tittum placing of the bells, being one of the most usual, will serve for the first investigation.
The normal Tittum course end is .... 978 . In most well-constructed peals and touches advantage will be taken of the musical value of the 6 th, and many course ends will be either 6.978 or 6978. Certain callings will preserve the formation of 978 and also leave the 6 th in one of these two positions, but some of these will produce a five-lead course and some will produce a six-lead course.

Let us take first of all three important callings that preserve the 6th-place bell intact, and examine each separately. This calling, which is often described as 9 in 3, will be found also designated 9 in and 2 (which is perhaps more correct), or simply \(9-3\), which is a convenient and easily understood convention. It is, of course, 9 in and out of the hunt, with an added call to fetch 7 out of the hunt, because it is clear that if 7,8 and 9 are to be kept together, none of the three must be allowed to remain in the hunt. The 7th, in this calling, as in several others, is an important guide : for the wise conductor, who does not trust to memory, knows that in calling 9-3 the third, and last, call is the one that brings 7 out of the hunt. This calling, it should be noted, also preserves the fifths place bell, and so may be used, if required, to keep 6, or any other bell, in fifths place.

Calling B is often described as 8 in 3, sometimes as 8 in and 2 , and in the shorter form \(8-3\). These calls come at the B second, third and fourth 23456978 leads of the course, and at the last call 89 dodge together behind. It is this 25394867 gether behind. It is this 89275634 double dodging of 89 and
67849325 the fact that 6 must be - 67849325 the fact that 6 must be 35426978 that provides proof that this course. The student will doubtless observe that the last call could have been omitted without destroying the Tittum position. This procedure would, nevertheless, leave 6 in the hunt, and so part it from its sixths-place position. This moving of the 6th will be referred to later. It should be noted that 8-3 retains the sixthsplace bell but changes the fifths-place bell. The fact that the new fifths-place bell is the bell-in-the-hunt of the previous course end is a most important and influential matter.

While A and B each provide a five-lead course, \(C\) runs into six leads. There is no difficulty in calling the single. for it comes at the first lead after the course end, and from then on there is no further calling and the course end is allowed to run up plain. The two most interesting observations are first, that the big bells make thirds one after the other in the order \(9,8,7,6\), and second, that once again the new fifths-place bell is the bell-in-the-hunt of the previous course end. The sixths-place bell is, of course, retained. This calling is designated 1 s .
Experience has shown that no small number of conductors of Grandsire Caters, while perfectly comfortable with the callings \(9-3\) and \(8-3\), are far 23456978 case and until the sixth lead case and until the sixth lead in the other, and some fairly precise observation is needed to replace the doubtful expedient of trusting to memory. Happily there is a safe and simple guide in this matter. It rests in an observation of the heavy bells and their successive making of thirds, and particularly in a scrupulous attention to the 7th, for the 7 th is the key to the whole matter. Study of these long courses will soon reveal that when the first of the heavy bells makes thirds the Tittum position is temporarily lost, and no call is possible until that position is restored. The making of thirds by the next bell, the 8th, indeed brings 8 and 9 together, but 7 is still away from her companions. As soon as 7 has made thirds the Tittums position is fully re-established, and the ear, as well as the eye, will record the fact. The time has come for the call at 5. This calling is usually known as ' 89 ,' because it causes 8 and 9 to double dodge together behind.

For the calling E the same observations and the same acute scrutiny of the 7 th must be carried out, but in this case the call is delayed one lead later, that is, two leads after 7 has made thirds and the Tittum position restored. This calling is known as '78,' because it causes 7 and 8 to double dodge behind and, in fact, brings up the course end.

The importance of using the 7th as an observation and a guide in these callings cannot be over-emphasised two callings \(F\) and \(G\) are two callings \(\mathbf{F}\) and \(\mathbf{G}\) are interesting examples of a combining of \(\mathrm{C}, \mathrm{D}\) and E , combining of \(C\), \(D\) and \(E\), and are by no means uncommon in certain types of composition. The first is often expressed as 1 s and 89, but may also turn up in the conveniently shortened form, 1s, 4 . The second is form, 1 s , 4 . The second is known as is and 78 , but this. too, may be expressed this, too, may be expressed as is 5 . It should be noted that the calling \(F\) changes both the fifths-place and the sixths-place bells, and so is not likely to be used in a block that seeks to preserve a fixed bell in fifths or sixths. It is, however, a very useful calling for short touches where bells often have to be moved quickly from one position to another.

\section*{LETTERS TO THE EDITOR}

\section*{THOUGHTS AFTER CAMBRIDGE MAXIMUS}

Dear Sir,-Over the first letter to you printed in 'The Ringing World' of December 13th readers are invited to register their agreement or disagreement with what has been written by R. Newman, Holloway, 7. May I for one say that I am wholly in agreement with the writer. Had an ordinary person with no previous knowledge of the publication come across that particular page with its so-called funny (what rot) cartoon, he would probably have thought he'd picked up a brewer's journal or something similar.
I have found in the two to three years that I have taken 'The Ringing World' that, to me, the most lowering feature of its contents is its attitude towards alcoholic drink. If you read the 1956 statistics this is still one of the country's greatest vices and increasingly so.
I read in another letter to you the statement that 'the "R.W." is a technical journal.' Perhaps so, but isn't it primarily the week-by-week report of the activities of a certain branch of church work, chiefly the calling of people to worship? As one who has served as a chorister for over 20 years and is now serving in the belfry, may I join with the aforementioned correspondent and respectfully ask that this matter of drink shall not be treated too lightly in what I like to feel is. I repeat. primarily a religious journal.-Yours, etc.,

\section*{N. ROBINSON}

\section*{Willingham, Cambs.}

Dear Sir,-I think that your correspondent, R. Newman, ought to go and find a quiet corner and bury himself in gloom. Why should the fact that quite a number of bellringers like a drink of beer be hidden under a cloak? In these days I think there is 100 much reluctance in general for people to come out into the open and say what they think.

In my reply to R. N., I would like to say that in my experience as a former chorister and sidesman, now as a ringer, and connected with church all my life. I have found that the majority of good workers and organisers in the Church are the people who enjoy a drink of beer. So long as it is not abused, why shield the fact?

Far from being degrading, I think that the cartoon in question was very good, and worthy of publication. My opinion of all R. J. B.'s cartoons that have appeared in 'The Ringing World ' is that they have been very good indeed and help to brighten the paper.

More power to your elbow, R. J. B., and any other artist who should aspire in this direction. Let's have a page of cartoons!-Yours faithfully,

FRANCIS R. LOWE.

\section*{ANOTHER LAUGH}

Dear Sir.-I would like to congratulate Mr. Newman in his letter on page 807 for managing to extract another laugh from the cartoon of November 29th, A sense of humour seems rare in the 'R.W.' these days.-Yours sincerely,

RICHARD SPEED.
Stretton-on-Dunsmore.

\section*{AFTER THE PEAL}

Dear Sir,-Mr. Newman's letter amused me much more than the cartoon he takes to be in bad taste. One would gather that ringers in general made post-haste to the nearest hostelry as a matter of course, which I can assure him is not the case. In my experience it is too often the case that having rung at a tower away from home the band have had to dash to catch a bus or train, thus allowing no opportunity to realise the thoughts depicted in the cartoon.

It has been my pleasure in the last ten years to share the beverages to be obtained at the Griffin in Godshill with ringers from all over the country, and it is my hope that I may do so with many more in the years to come.

Best wishes.-Yours sincerely.

OAKLEY, NEAR EYE, SUFFOLK
Dear Sir,-The six bells of St. Nicholas'. Oakley, have just been taken down for overhaul and for a steel frame to be put in. Messrs. Taylor are doing the work. One of the bells is pre-Reformation, one a Dobson, one Mears and three are by John Goldsmith, 1711. The tenor is 10-11 cwt. Cut deeply into the frame, now dismantled, is 'Geo. Day & Son, Beli.hangers, Eye, 1879. GMP BJA.
The job is costing over \(£ 1,000\) and Oakley has half of it in hand.-Yours sincerely.

\section*{MISUNDERSTOOD}

Dear Sir,-I must apologise for having misunderstood Mr. Marshall's statements in his letter: they are correct, and I should like to amplify his example as follows.

These four rows are merely switched round, and the fact that, in Mr. Marshall's terminology. \(A+B=B \times A\) serves to illustrate what I termed the 'fundamental relationship.--Yours. etc.,

\section*{THE LIGHTEST TENOR}

Dear Sir. - In 'The Ringing World of December 13th you published an account of a day trip. when the bells at Staulton, near Pershore, were visited. I note that the tenor is 56 lb. , and I would be very grateful if C. M. S. would send more details, as 1 thought that the bells at Balscote, whose tenor weighs 1 cwt . \(21 \frac{1}{2} \mathrm{lb}\)., were the lightest in the country.Yours sincerely.

ROBIN J. TREBILCOCK.
Headington, Oxford.
The band of the peal at St. Andrew's, Old Headington, are very grateful to Miss Marion Gould for ringing at short notice. She took the place of Robin Trebilcock, who was prevented from conducting the peal by an attack of influenza.

\section*{A SHAPE FOR THINGS TO COME}

PART 1.

TwWO bellringers had been discussing the advancement of the ringing art and arising from their conversation was the inescapable idea that the Exercise is seriously handicapped by the size, weight and cost of the equipment needed to carry it on.

Of the two ringers, Dan Doubtful was the more down to earth in his outlook. 'I cannot believe,' he said, 'that the English game of football would have become world-wide if it required a tower of a hundred tons or more, and a couple of thousands pounds worth of metal in order to play it.' To his companion, Ned Neway, these words seemed like a challenge. A vision of the frail little tower of St. James' swam before his eyesSt. James', the daughter church of the Parish Chureh, at which he was a ringer. An idea was beginning to take shape in his mind-- Twelve bells at St. James'-just the tower for a light set-' his thoughts were being voiced aloud as he said goodnight to his friend.

Dan Doubtful was curious a few nights later. He had just locked up after the practice and everyone else had gone home except Ned, who was waiting for him at the foot of the stairs. - What did you mean the other day when you said that St. James' would be a good tower for a light twelve? Why, the church has no tower, only that little turret with a spire.'

Ned Neway was silent for a moment. He had long since given up his once cherished aspirations to call a peal of Spliced Surprise. But Ned was none the less attached to the art, and was for ever on the look out for means of helping it that did not depend on his skill in actual ringing. It was said that he was a relative of that redoubtable Mr . Wol, whose resourcefulness once saved a peal by a remarkable feat of technical jugglery on the tenor (see ' The Ringing World, May 11th, 1956: page 299), but the inherited resourcefulness came out in Ned in quite a different way.
Ned Neway: 'Yes, that's right. It is only a turret but it is bigger than it looks. The verger let me go up and see it. There is plenty of height in the bell-cot, and it is just over four feet across inside. Now what it wants is a set of fixed bells intermediate in size and character between tower-bells and handbells threaded on to a central shaft like clock chimes, and rung by electric clappers.

Dan Doubtful: 'How do you mean threaded on to a shaft"? I don't quite see.'
N. N.: Like a stack of flower pots, or nesting chairs, but with sufficient spacing to prevent actual contact. You could have them hung in a row instead, but there is very little room in the furret at St. James', and I suggest nesting them to economise in space. Then all you need, helow is a number of "dummy handbells" with contact switches in place of clappers and connected to a switchboard with flexible wires. Each "dummy" operates the electric clapper to a hell in the turret above. To ring, just switch on the current and use the "dummies" exactly as you use ordinary handbells."
D. D.: 'Oh! but you could not call that ringing, could you? Why go to the hother of "dummy" handbells? Why not just a keyboard like a carillon?
N. N.: Yes, you could have a keyboard as well if you liked, but, as I see it, the main point is to have an installation in which a band of ringers can ring to the glory of Gud as an act of worship. There seems to me to be no fundamental reason why they could not achieve this "in hand" as effectively as they can "on the rope.
D. D.: 'But why have bells at all if you are going to have them electrically operated?

Why not use the modern electronic method of reproducing bell sounds, or use ordinary handbells with amplifiers and loudspeakers, as has been done at Sutton, Surrey?
N. N.: '1 certainly think that the system tried at Sutton is a step in the right direction, but bells have for many years been used by the church. The genuine bell has an appeal of its own, which no ecclesiastical juke-box, however good, can match.
D. D.: 'What about the electric hammers? Surely they are out of keeping with tradition?'
N. N.: 'No more so than the electric organ blower, which is accepted without question.
D. D.: 'It may seem all right to you, Ned, but count me out of it. Chiming changes on fixed gongs! Anyone who seriously contemplated it would be the laughing stock of the whole Exercise. Besides, there would be a widespread fear that if the idea of having ringing bells hung "dead" began to catch on it would mean the end of the art as we know it to-day.
N. N.: 'I don't think that there would be any real danger to established towers in the forsecable future. After all, the arrival of the motor car did not force the railways out of business, nor did the cinema oust the theatre. Paradoxically, the introduction of new methods often stimulates rather than suppresses the old. I think there is a definite place for this new type of ringing in churches where, for lack of a suitable tower, conventional ringing is not practicable. The new method would supplement the old rather than destroy it, and I am sure it would make a special appeal to handbell ringers.'
D. D.: 'Possibly a few handbell ringers if you could find enough of them.
N. N.: " The establishment of "handbell" towers would give a new lease of life to handbell ringing. All sorts of erstwhile handbell ringers would reappear, and peals "in hand" where rung in such towers would acquire a new meaning and purpose.
D. D.: You are far too much of an idealistic dreamer, Ned. You open "The Ringing World" and see only a small proportion of peals rung " in hand" and say "Ah! If only handBell peals could be rung to the glory of God, sounding forth from tower or steeple, there would be far more of them." The average peal ringer is often ant to forget this aspect of ringing in the intensity of concentration necessary to achieve the peal. There is more in tower bell ringing than in handbells, and that is the reason why there are more peals.'
N. N.: 'Oh, no. I don't think that you can say there is more in tower bell ringing except physically. Besides, ringers do regard their ringing as a service to the Church. This accounts for the prevalence of tower peals. Moreover, they would be keen to ring out the Church's call by whatever means were available and would not hesitate hecause it did not conform to their established ideas on how it ought to be done. I believe that every church has a right to the use of bells in its worship and everyone has a right to hear and. if inclined that way, to ring the bells of his own church, wherever he lives. If there is no suitable tower, or the cost of swinging bells cannot be faced. I think a cheaper substitute should be available.'
D. D.: 'I do not think that you are looking the true ringing facts of life quite fairly and squarely in the face. You must know that there are many fine old rings of hells about the country which are hardly ever heard, and often the reason is the difficulty of getting a reliable regular band. If what you say were true there would be a full ringing service, a complete band, and probably a lengthy waiting list of learners at almost every tower. If vou cannot be sure of manning the ropes of a genuine peal, what hope would you have of manning a bunch of "dummy " handbells?, N. N.: ' 1 often think that one of the causes why many of our towers are silent may well be the high degree of skill necessary to produce first-class ringing. There are many people who have been scared off ringing in the early stages by unfortunate experiences with a bell out of control. There are quite a number of people who are temperamentally unsuited to handling tower bells but who would make quite good handbell ringers, and of whom this scheme might be the only means of bringing into the Exercise.
D. D.: 'I see. Your proposal then is to offer greater ringing opportunities and scope, but can this hybrid scheme really help?
N. N.: 'All I claim is that some such scheme as 1 have outlined might help to awaken wider interest. Is the Exercise to adapt itself to the changing conditions of a changing world and survice and grow with the Church, or is it to remain hard and inflexible and, like the prehistoric monsters, gradually dic out?'
D. D.: ‘Well, yes, your argument sounds quite plausible put that way, Ned, but It think that the Exercise has survived, and will continue to survive, only by its insistence on the maintenance of the high standards set un by former masters of the art, not by makeshift substitutes. Now you want to introduce something which is alien to the accepted practice of swinging bells apparently on the grounds that it has become necessary in a changing world. What are the changing conditions that you have in mind?'
N. N.: 'First of all, Dan, don't forget that handbell ringing is an accepted practice already recognised to some extent by the Church. which owns quite a number of sets of handbells. My scheme merely proposes to extend the application of this principle. With regard to the changing conditions, 1 was thunking particularly of the need to economise in materials. Have you ever studied the construction of any of the flimsier of our new churches or compared them with the ancient parish churches? If so, you must have realised how utterly incongruous a huge buttressed tower and ring of bells would be. That is where my scheme would come in, and the established bellfounders are the people to tackle it.'
D. D.: 'I don't think you can quite say that: The idea that ringing-modern change ringing, what we now call the "Exercise " is an act of worship, part of the service of the Church. is one which has never been generally accepted. In places where there has never been any ringing tradition there would be no demand for peals in any shape or form or at any price. Knowing this, bellfounders are hardly likely to waste time and money developing new types of bells.'
N. N.: I agree that the majority of people have not had the privilege of any personal experience of the spiritual, mental, social and other blessings which ringing brings. You and I, however, have had this privilcge. We are fully aware that the rewards that ringing offers are not cheap. It often means a hard struggle and a lot of work. For many, the difficulties to be overcome are too great. They fall out by the wayside and are lost. Is it not right that we, who have won some measure of success, should be anxious to pave an easier path to extend the benefits of ringing to our less fortunate neighbours?
D. D.: ' By substituling the strap for the rope: and what would you propose to do
N. N.: 'The first steo is that of sensing the opinions of others who might be interested, especially the clergy, and the diocesan chancellors who grant or refuse faculties for installations in churches, and, of course, the bellfounders.'

D. D.: 'The bellfounders would not be at all happy about all those electrical bits and pieces. Hardly in their line, is it?'
N. N.: 'I see no real difficulty there. If the bellfounder did not wish to make these accessories he would appoint more suitable firms as sub-contractors and still retain the main contract for the whole installation. It is quite common practice.
D. D.: ' You certainly seem to have got it all worked out, but what about the Ministry? What do they really think about the potential value of bell ringing, and how would they view the prospect of a minor revolution? '
N. N.: 'Where opinions exist at all they naturally vary. There is no doubt whatever that bell ringing undertaken in the right spirit is appreciated by many of the clergy, and indeed highly cherished even by top brass. You have only to read the speeches of bishops at ringers' annual meetings to see that the Ministry is not blind to the value of the services that a loyal band of ringers can offer. If the spirit of service and worship is there I do not think they would lose much sleep over the mechanical details of its execution.'
D. D. 'Do you think the diocesan chancellors would be likely to grant faculties?
N. N.: 'I think they would be guided to a large extent by what they believed would be appropriate for the particular church concerned. I cannot say what else they might consider, but I know that they have in some cases granted faculties for recorded bells and other kinds of installations which do not offer anything like the same facilities for service and worship as my scheme does.'
D. D.: 'Good old Ned! I am sure this brainwave is going to see a revolution in ringing such as has not been seen since the introduction of the full-wheel, stay and slider.'
N. N.: 'I am afraid you will be disappointed then. I don't think the climate here in the 20th century feels right for this kind of thing, but perhaps it would be rash to rule out the possibility. In the past, many schemes have been proposed years before they were generally adopted. For example, several machines of the motor scooter type were made nrivately before the war but there was no sale for them. Then suddenly the fashion caught on and now there's no stopoing them.'
D. D.: 'Yes, but how did they get started?'
N. N.: 'Scooters? Well, presumably the Italians, who pioneered the movement. had faith in their ideas. developed them, and took a chance and went ahead with their project and reaped their reward. It seems worth inquiring of the bellfounders whether something of this kind might not be done for bell ringing.'
D. D.: 'Using your ideas? They would need an awful lot of faith in their merits, and in the ideals that the scheme hopes to bring out. All the same, go ahead with your letter, and I wish you luck.

The annual meeting of the Christchurch District was held at Christchurch on December 7th, when 42 members and visitors were present at the service held in the Christchurch Priory, which was conducted by the Rev. Canon R. P. Price (Vicar of Christchurch) and the sermon preached by the Rev. J. B. Elliott (Vicar of Hordle.
The annual meeting followed tea in the Priory Restaurant. Rear-Admiral Everett was reelected chairman, and Mr. W. T. Godfrey was elected District secretary to succeed Mr. A. V. Davis, who had retired after being secretary for 12 years. Tributes were paid to Mr. A. V. Davis for his devoted service during these years. Mr. W. E. Cheater and Mr. R. Marlow were re-elected joint Ringing Masters. Mrs. F. J. Marshallsay and Mr. D. T. Matkin were reelected executive council representatives and Mr . R. Hurst was re-elected hon, auditor.

Following a report on the 1957 ringers' rally and George Williams commemoration dinner by Mr. D. T. Matkin, it was decided, with regret, that owing to the financial loss sustained in connection with the 1957 function no rally or dinner would be held during 1958 . It was resolved that the matter should be discussed again at the next annual general meeting of the District.

\section*{BALDOCK RINGERS' DINNER}

The Baldock ringers and their friends gathered for the annual dinner at the Rose and Crown on December 14th. The parly was informally grouped; indeed, the only formal toast was that of 'The Queen,' proposed by Canon F. G. Brenchley. After an excellent meal, carols and methods were rung on the handbells.
The peal attempt in the afternoon was brought to a premature end because the striking was poor.
J. S.

We are sorry to learn that Mr. G. Billenness. secretary of the Hawkhurst and District Guild and a member of St. Lawrence's, Hawkhurst, tower, is, owing to failing health, unable to ring.

\section*{Stuffed Owls To Keep Bats Away}

At Gissing, Norfolk, where the five bells are unringable, two stuffed owls are kept in the church for the purpose of scaring bats.
From time to time one was placed on the pulpit and the other on a pew at the opposite end of the church. The birds were said to have the effect of discouraging bats from swooping low over the congregation and preacher during the services, but they did not appear to keep bats out of the church altogether.

It is argued that although bats are almost blind, they are aware of the shapes and textures of objects through echosounding, and according to a Gissing theorist there is no reason to suppose that they would fail ta notice a sluffed owl inside a church even in the midst of the congregation.

\section*{OBITUARY \\ MR. H. W. GIDDINGS}

The death occurred on Weānesday, December 11 th, after an illness of six months' duration, of Mr. Henry W. Giddings, of March, Cambridgeshire. His wife predeceased him in 1956, and two daughters are left to mourn their loss.

Mr. Giddings, who was in his 81 st year, was a bellringer at St. Wendreda's Church. He was also verger, a position he held for over 30 years until ill-health forced him to relinquish this work some months ago. A devoted churchman, 'Harry,' as his many friends knew him, was a Sunday School teacher and clock-winder, and in addition to these duties was caretaker of the churchyard and church hall.
His chief interest, however, was bellringing, and he was well-known for his many fine poems, especially those referring to bells. For several years in his younger days he was secretary of the Ely Diocesan Association, and became a popular figure in that capacity.

Reserved in nature, Mr. Giddings possessed a fine philosophical spirit which is rarely observed in these days, and through his unassuming yet confident and helpful way he endeared himself to many in all walks of life. A Sunday School scholar once said that her idea of a Christian was to be like Mr. Giddings.

He loved to be with young people, and he taught many the art of ringing bells; nothing gave him greater pleasure than to see his pupils progress in this way. His knowledge of the theory of hellringing was hardly to be surpassed. He had no peals to his credit but was, first and foremost, loyal to his church in Sunday service ringing, and on practice nights it gave him great delight to 'climb the belfry stair and meet his brother ringers there.
'Harry ' was also an accomplished flutist and enjoyed method and tune ringing on handbells.

His fellow ringers paid their final tribute on the day of the funeral by ringing the bells halfmuffled prior to the service, and following the interment a well-struck peal of Minor was rung half-muffled by Miss Freda P. Greaves. T. A. Bevis, M. Gathercole, W. Rose, F. S. Parsons and W. Harding (conductor).

Truly, Mr. Giddings' lasting memorial may be heard fiom the tower of St. Wendreda's, in which shadow he reclines-the bells, which were his pride and joy.

\section*{'HILL, METHODS AMONG THE WILTSHIRE HILLS}

Having sampled the intricacies of Chiltern T.B. Minor in an appropriate setting earlier in the year, Mr. Brian Bladon felt the challenge of ringing a peal in seven of those methods named after hills and mountains, and again chose his native county as a venue, another 'Weekend Wheatsheaf' at Swindon resulting, John Mayne and Victor Griffin joining the usual party. Once again overcrowded but reliable, if somewhat draughty, Morris Cowley transport was laid on from distant Derby.

A preliminary peal of Cheviot was first brought round in fine style on the good, heavy six at Collingbourne Kingston, to revise the unusual work involved, after which the 'Sally Lunn' restaurant at Collingbourne Ducis fortified body and mind ready for the main onslaught on Chiltern, Cheviot, Cotswold, Mendip, Pennine, Quantock and Snowdon at Upavon, a beautiful six on the edge of Salisbury Plain.

The member of the party with a Welsh name pointed out that Berwyn was also the name of a mountain range, but was overruled with the objection that it was bad enough to learn the difference between Cotswold and Mendip without learning an extra method. However, a good peal was duly brought round, Cotswold proving the main snag for some reason.

Service ringing on the fine heavy six at Purton next morning enabled us to renew acquaintance with Mr. Ralph Shailes and to ring a course of Burslem Delight, the method chosen for the afternoon peal attempt. Philip had already chosen our tower for us, but it was with some forebodings that we wended our way over 30 miles of chalk country to Edington Priory, a magnificent church beneath the Westbury Downs.

We were horrified to note the ominous rumblings and shudders from the maze of wooden framework that filled the low central tower as we raised the bells singly, a very heavy old six, upon which no peal has ever been known. We were even more horrified when the opening rounds not only revealed that the bells were in no recognisable scale, but also sounded down upon us with overpowering noise.

Conducting and conversation had to be done by signs, but things went better than expected, the bells having just been rehung (very skilfully) on ball-bearings by a local ringer. A good peal would no doubt have been rung but for three unfortunate discoveries. First, that every time the fourth got in a certain change the other bells acted upon their own initiative. Secondly, the necessary steady pace made it impossible to finish by service time. Thirdly -a dreadful shock-the light had not been switched on! John nearly caused disaster in attempting to reach for the switch.
As a result the peal was brought round, reluctantly, at the half-way mark : but this was probably the greatest kength on the bells and of Burslem Delight to date.

Ralph then left us on his long, cold, motorcycle journey, while the rest went to catch trains at Chippenham or to take the long road to the industrial north-another most satisfactory Wiltshire weekend completed. D. P. J.

\section*{BATH AND WELLS DIOCESAN ASSOCLATION}

\section*{Taunton Deanery A.G.M.}

The Parish Church of St. George's, Wilton, Taunton, was the venue for the Taunton Deanery annual meeting on December 7th. Altogether ringers from 16 towers were present for the Guild service, conducted by the Vicar (Rev. T. M. Clark), which was followed by tea in the Schoolroom, and the business meeting.
The secretary welcomed the Association's Master (Rev. Harold Warren, of Exford), this being only the second occasion a Master had been present at a Taunton meeting during his period of office.

In his report the secretary referred to the sudden death at the beginning of the year of the Branch's vice-chairman (Mr. A. W. Hayward), one of the Association's oldest members and a member of the Wilton band. The meeting stood in silence in memory of a beloved member.
During the year the Branch membership had increased by eight to a total of 109 . Ten peals were rung during the year, consisting of five of Doubles, three of Minor, one of Plain Bob Major and one of Kent Major.

Officers elected for 1958 were: Chairman, the Rev. Edwin Hirst; vice-chairman, Mr. S. G. Coles: Ringing Master, Mr. W. Gigg; secretary, Mr. A. H. Reed.
Nine new members were elected, eight of them being the complete new band at Ruishton, and one hon. life member (Mr. James Morley, of Ipswich).
Four meeting places were agreed upon for the ensuing year-the annual meeting at Milverton, quarterly meetings at West Monkton and Fitzhead, and the joint meeting with the Devon Guild at St. James', Taunton. The ringers afterwards returned to the tower to continued ringing until 9 p.m. F. W. S.

\section*{A HANDBELL DEDICATION IN DEVON}

Last year the Newton Abbot Society for the Blind, under the leadership of the blind welfare officer, Miss Wakeham, embarked on the raising of money to buy a set of handbells, and this spring the bells were obtained from Messrs John Taylor and immediately put into good use by a band of blind ringers who had previously been using a ring borrowed from one of the local churches.
Although the bells are 'secular,' it was very much the wish of the Society that they should be brought to church to be blessed, and on September 5th a service was held in St. Leonard's, Newton Abbot, when the 20 bells were blessed. The back ten were brought up to the altar by five of the ringers, the rest being already on the altar, and after the blessing they, were returned to the ringers and a few minutes rounds rung on them. The service continued with an act of thanksgiving for the bells themselves, the craftsmanship of their makers, and the generosity which had made it possible to buy them.
Under their captain (Mr. Saunders), who has for many years been a choirman at Si. Mary's, Abbotsbury, in Highweek parish, the band are making good progress at rounds and call-change ringing, and it is hoped that before long they will be able to organise a competition for blind handbell ringers from various centres in the West Country. It is intended that the competition will be for rounds, call-changes or changeringing, striking being naturally the chief criterion, but credit given to difficulty of method, so that very good rounds will be judged better than moderate changes, but good changes better than rounds of about the same standard.

\section*{SOUTHBOURNE}

Mr . and Mrs. FRED PRICE are pleased to announce the completion of ten happy years at 'St. Michael's,' Fisherman's Avenue, during which we have made many new friends. The only adverse factor has been continually rising costs. This has robbed us of our reward for the hard work necessary to give our guests the best possible holiday, and we regret having to increase our charge for 1958.

During July and August we are only accepting bookings for Bed, Breakfast and Dinner at 6 p.m. The strain of 'full board' endangers health.
Details of new charges: Till June, 24 s . per person per day; June and September. \(8 \frac{1}{2}\) gns. per person per week; July and August, 8 gns. per person per week: all (excepting July and August) to include Full Board.

Meal times: Breakfast 8.30 to 9 a.m., Dinner 1 p.m. (July and August 6 p.m.), High Tea 5.30 p.m. Pot of tea in lounge at \(10 \mathrm{p} . \mathrm{m}\).

We wish all our friends the compliments of the season.-Mr. and Mrs. Fred Price, 'St. Michael's,' 9. Fisherman's Avenue, Southbourne, Bournemouth. Tel. Southbourne 46005. 1493
