BELFRY

On July 14th, 1956, Mr. Wilfrid F. Moreton brought his peal total to 600 by turning in Wakefield Cathedral tenor to Cambridge Surprise Maximus. By a coincidence, an identical performance there on April 18th produced his 700th peal. Only three repeats needed for the 1,000, Wilfrid!

Hoxne, Suffolk, has opened a bell restoration fund estimated to cost £1,100. The fund has been started with a legacy of £100.

Playford Hall, Suffolk, an historic moated Elizabethan manor, which is in the auction market, has a house bell cast in 1595 by Richard Bowden.

Miss Susan J. Reed (14½), of Newbury, has made a good start in peal ringing with a peal of Plain Bob Royal in her own tower. Many more peals, Susan!

Another all-ladies peal has been scored, at Balderton, Notts. It was rung for the Southwell Diocesan Guild, and is the first by a ladies' band for the Guild.

Before the peal of Plain Bob Royal at Newbury the band observed a moment's silence to the memory of Ralph W. Atkins (79), of Marlow, and Edward Markham (81), of High Wycombe.

Worthy of note was the quarter peal at Wentworth, Sheffield, on April 15th, in which five of the band were ringing their first quarter peal. It was also Mr. T. Senior's first as conductor.

Saturday, April 18th, was a great day for Stockbury, Kent, when the new village hall was opened by the Bishop of Dover. Chairman of the Parish Council is the well-known Rochester District ringer Mr. Albert Dunk, and at his invitation a peal of Doubles was rung at the Parish Church. Wonderful hospitality followed the ringing.

GOSSIP

The Masonic Ringing Festival will be held at Manchester on June 6th. Local arrangements are in the hands of Bro. Richard Benson, 43, Highbank Drive, East Didsbury, Manchester, 20. Ringing will be at Worsley (10), Manchester Town Hall (12) and Manchester Cathedral (10). There will be a dinner and social evening at the Nag's Head Hotel, Jackson's Row, Albert Square, Manchester, 2.

The Hertford County Association are holding their 75th anniversary dinner on October 24th at St. Albans.

Wymondham Abbey Ringing Day has been postponed until July 11th. Owners of Ringers' Notebook and Diary please note!

Having been rung at Sutton on April 1st, we looked with suspicion on the footnote to a peal of Yorkshire Surprise: 'In memoriam Marmalade Cannon.'

The footnote for the peal of Coldstream Surprise Minor rung at Langleybury on April 1st, 1959 (see page 248) is partly incorrect. A peal of Coldstream was rung at Offley, Herts, on February 18th, 1958, and credited to the Hertford County Association.

Down Evercreech way there was a happy event on April 19th when a quarter of Caters was rung in honour of the diamond wedding of Mr. Fred Reakes. At 84 he is regular in his Sunday morning ringing and has been a staunch service ringer here for more than half a century.

Rev. A. H. Davies was waiting at Hernhill Church to greet the visiting peal band on April 18th. After the peal he and Mrs. Davies had a cup of tea waiting for the band, and this kindness and the friendly welcome were much appreciated by the visitors. Incidentally, Mr. Davies has a parishioner whose hens are allegedly put off laying by the bells!

GUILD OF CLERICAL RINGERS' RINGING WEEK

IT appears to the writer that this event has three main objects. First and foremost to ring—some of our members minister at churches with only one bell! Secondly to enjoy a good 'natter'—ringers talk about towers and bells, clerics talk about their parishes; clerical ringers do both. Thirdly, to make or renew acquaintance with churches and scenery in this England which is so rich in both.

The 1959 week in Kent fulfilled all three of these objects admirably. Among the 27 towers visited there were many that possessed fine bells and many that were interesting for their setting or associations. The writer will risk disavowal by selecting in the former class St. Mary's, Chatham (8), Sittingbourne (8), All Saints', Maidstone (10), Canterbury Cathedral (12), Rainham (8), Bobbing (6) and Rochester Cathedral (10). There were so many interesting and historic churches that it is hard to make any selection, particularly as the discipline of a tour makes one go 'in quick' and 'out quick.' Amid a welter of memories one remembers the dignity of the setting of All Saints', Maidstone, hard by the Elizabethan bishop's palace and standing above the river, the interest of Faversham which boasts an unusual spire and a memorial to King Stephen, the charm of Chilham in church and village, and the dominating sense of age and tradition associated with Canterbury and Rochester Cathedrals.

Life was not without its lighter moments. Our Guild has lady associates, members of what are now called 'clergy wives' (a horrid term). Two of these are enthusiastic ringers, and their presence in the belfry gave our reverend president cause for apprehension. One male member who shall be nameless seemed to be in grave danger of causing embarrassment because his nether garments lacked visible means of support. However, in view of THE EVENT (of which more later), a pair of braces was bought and all was well.

Our communal journeys were by coach, and despite an order for a 20-seater we were sent a colossus of a coach with 40 seats. This gave comfort and isolation to those who wished to relax after the labour of climbing stairs, raising bells and ringing them. At Chilham our driver took his enormous vehicle into the narrow street and turned too near to a house, omitting to observe a large stone set in the road to prevent precisely this. There was an alarming bump, the sleepers awoke and the course of Bob Major 'in hand' at the back of the coach came to an abrupt halt. Three of the ringers claimed to have suffered slight injuries, one of them even having an abrasion of his handsome chin. With the calm that is characteristic of their kind, one of the clergy wives (see above), who was a trained nurse, was at once busy with first aid and all was well.

THE THREE CLASSES

The reader may well wonder when anything will be said about the ringing. Our members fall into three classes: (1) experts who are in practice, (2) experts who are out of practice, and (3) the others. Some of our class (1) members were unavoidably absent this year, but despite this there was some good ringing. Cinques and Royal were felt to be beyond our powers, but Grandsire Caters was rung at Maidstone (where we failed to do justice to a fine ring), Canterbury, Leeds and Rochester. Some pleasant Stedman Caters was rung at Leeds, where the enormous size of the belfry was a revelation to those of us who ring in more restricted quarters. We were fascinated in this tower by a hand-drawn inscription on the plaster wall commemorating the end of the 'Great Boer War.' Another huge ringing chamber at Milton Regis was the scene of a successful course of College Bob IV. Delight inspired by a current copy of the Maidstone and District's admirable quarterly magazine. It gave rise to the observation that some seemed to ring the methods they did not know better than those they did. Apart from this our methods on six and eight bells were what might well be termed orthodox and respectable—as might be expected from a Guild of parsons. Plain Bob, Grandsire, Stedman, Kent, Double Norwich and Cambridge were all successful; not so London and Superlative. The peal attempt at Rainham was for Cambridge but this broke down. A good quarter peal was then rung in the method. The standard of this and the presence of several younger ringers in the band was a good augury for the future.

We were given a wonderful welcome wherever we went. In some of the towers local ringers had raised the bells for us. In all we were met by the incumbents or their representatives. It was delightful to see vases of flowers in a number of towers—evidence of care for them by their ringers. At Milton Regis and Rochester Cathedral we were to be the last visitors for some time. In the former workmen were to begin the next day on tower repairs, while at the latter the bell-hangers were beginning work the next week. We achieved a record by breaking ropes at two successive towers, Linton and Waterbury. At the former C. C. Cox called 'Catch' at the end of a good fall. S. E. Evans, our newest recruit, 'caught' with such firmness that he broke the rope and subsided suddenly on the seat behind him.

Material hospitality was given in the form of tea arranged at Tunstall by Mrs. P. T. Robbins (better known to the Exercise as Betty Spice) and her mother. We were delighted to meet representatives of one of the great ringing families of this area and to enjoy a splendid tea. Our technicians had to eat theirs in haste as they were due to replace a rope broken during the previous Sunday's ringing. This proved difficult as the ceiling holes were rather small. After much fishing with a long pole, passing ropes up and down through the hole while instructions were shouted by all and sundry, it was done, and a pleasant ring followed. Morning coffee was most kindly given at Minster-in-Sheppey by the mother of S. E. Evans and by the Vicar of Newington-on-the-Street (in absentia). At this tower a local electrician was in evidence with a tape-recorder. The play-back of our efforts convinced us that we had set no new high standard of ringing. Our faults were in glaring evidence, and it seems that such an instrument might well help any band to improve their striking.

WIDESPREAD PUBLICITY

What made this year's tour noteworthy was publicity in a big way, not in any way of our own choosing. We were photographed by the Press four times in all and local papers carried news of our coming to Kent, one paper even giving a list of those present. THE EVENT was, however, that the B.B.C. took notice of us. We were televised in the belfry at Canterbury, with recordings made of our ringing and of interviews with our president and E. G. Benson. The result of all this was a radio report in the B.B.C.'s South Eastern News and a short note in 'Town and Around' on T.V. By kindness of the proprietor of the Bull Hotel, Rochester (of Pickwickian fame), we had the exciting experience of seeing ourselves ringing the bells of the Mother Church of the Anglican Communion. E. G. Benson and E. V. Cox were teased on their T.V. stardom, both being the subjects of close-ups. Although the reporters would refer to the 'handles' of the bells and although their chief interest seemed to be why we were prepared to travel so far at our own expense to ring them, we hope that this publicity will be of service to the Church and to ringing in general.

Our usual annual meeting was held on the Wednesday evening, presided over by C. C.

Cox, who has been associated with the Guild since its formation. Before it was formed he was one of a party of clerical ringers who visited Canterbury in 1911! It is good to report that he will be president for yet another year. The other officers were re-elected, including J. H. B. Andrews (Chittlehampton Vicarage, Umlerleigh, N. Devon), our secretary and treasurer, who will be delighted to hear of prospective new members.

So ended our 1959 week. The only thing lacking in a thoroughly enjoyable tour was that we were a week or so too early for beauty of cherry blossom. We are grateful to the deans and incumbents who allowed us the use of their bells, to all who made us so very welcome, and to J. H. B. Andrews who, with the help of P. T. Robbins, arranged the tour. SURREY ASSOCIATION

ON a very wet afternoon, nearly 80 members were present at the annual meeting of the Surrey Association held at Christ Church, Epsom, on April 11th. Following a service, conducted by the Vicar (Canon A. E. Robins), and tea, organised by Mr. F. Oakshott, the business meeting was held.

The committee's report showed an improvement in membership to 379 and indicated that only a small percentage were in arrears with subscriptions. The treasurer was able to report an increase in the general fund balance but a slight decrease in the Belfry Repair Fund account.

All the retiring officers, except the secretary, were re-elected. Mr. W. F. Oatway decided to resign, partly because of other commitments and partly from a belief that offices should not be monopolised by one person indefinitely when that of Master is limited. Mr. R. I. F. Parsons (4, Brookside, Carshalton) was elected general secretary. The retiring secretary was warmly thanked for his services, and in reply Mr. Oatway said it was not his intention to lose interest in the Association and its welfare because he was no longer an officer.

Due to difficulties in fixing the meeting (which was originally arranged for March 21st) a proposal was submitted to alter rule 3 to read '... meeting shall be held on second Saturday after Easter Day.' Many speakers voiced opinions, but on a vote being taken the proposed amendment was passed. The annual meeting in 1960 will therefore be on April 30th at Croydon, St. John-the-Baptist's.

Votes of thanks to the Vicar, Mr. Oakshott and his helpers, and Mr. C. J. Champion for acting as organist were passed with acclamation.

Unfortunately, due to tea having to be served in two sittings and the meeting being fairly long, it was not possible to return to the tower in the evening, but good use was made of the bells during the afternoon and during the tea periods, ringing ranging from rounds to Surprise.

HERTFORD COUNTY ASSOCIATION

FOR their 75th annual meeting, held on April 4th, the Hertford County Association returned to St. Albans, where the Association was formed on October 29th, 1884. There was a large gathering of ringers from all parts of the county, the Northern District providing a coach party which rang also at Kimpton, Wheathampstead and Harpenden. Hatfield's fine ten were also available in the morning.

Before the service at St. Peter's there was ringing on the new six at St. Stephen's and also at St. Michael's and St. Peter's. The Vicar (Rev. A. M. Ferguson) conducted the service, and the address was given by the Rev. C. G. Woodhead. A local band rang a course of Grandsire Triples during the singing of Psalms 149 and 150, and the collection for the Bell Restoration Fund amounted to £3 17s. 4d.

The wives of local ringers served tea in St. Peter's Institute, and from the proceeds Mrs. R. Darvill handed over £5 towards the cost of the Association's 75th anniversary. In his welcome the Vicar hoped it would not be another 60-odd years before the Association visited St. Peter's for its A.G.M.

The president (Mr. John Welch, of Benington) opened the business meeting with a reference to the loss by death of Messrs. Bernard H. Swinson (St. Albans), F. W. Leach (Berkhamsted) and Geo. N. Price (conductor of the famous Oxhey band).

A recommendation regarding the winding up of the Benevolent Fund from the sub-committee for a postal ballot was lost. Mr. C. W. Woolley then proposed that the fund be wound up at the next annual meeting after proper advertisement, and this was carried.

The sub-committee's report on the Voluntary Bell Fund, recommending its division equally between the five Districts was carried. New members elected were: Ringing members, Mrs. Norton (Cathedral), Miss C. Bond and P. Atkinson (St. Peter's); non-resident members, M. J. Palmer (Hillingdon), Miss Freda Clayton (Harrow Weald) and A. G. Spreadbury (Wood Green).

THE SURVEY

The committee's report stated that the Survey of Sunday Service Ringing showed that in the county the Association had a long way to go. While the Association might have fulfilled its objects in belfry reform and social intercourse between members, the promotion of change-ringing was sadly neglected in many towers. In some parts of the county there were towers with a full complement of ringers but only one or two members of the Association. Many bands reported lack of recruits and difficulty in keeping them. Several would welcome instructors but could not get them. 'It would seem that District meetings alone cannot solve these difficulties and that unless we really get down to the problems they will remain with us. . . . We are pleased to find that several of the clergy take part in ringing, and if this leads to better understanding and co-operation on both sides then it will be better for our work, our Association and our church.'

Mr. B. C. Johnson presented the peal secretary's report which showed that 86 peals were rung last year against 71. Leading peal ringers were: J. R. Castledine 33, J. S. Dear and K. R. Dunstan 26, D. P. Jones 23, G. W. Critchley, Mrs. G. W. Critchley and P. Mehew 20. Leading conductors: D. P. Jones 20, J. R. Mayne 12 and G. W. Critchley 10.

TREASURER RETIRES

The accounts, which were presented by Mr. G. W. Debenham (hon. treasurer), showed the following balances on accounts: Benevolent Fund—£32 7s. 10d. current, £74 16s. 10d. deposit; Voluntary Bell Fund, £71 14s. 7d. (no applications for grants received); General Fund balance of £9 0s. 9d. on the year. Total assets of Association, £358 7s. 7d. Mr. Debenham was thanked for his work as treasurer during the past nine years.

Officers elected were: President, Mr. G. W. Debenham; hon. general secretary, Mr. H. V. Frost; hon. treasurer, Mr. F. J. Plummer; assistant secretary, Mr. T. J. Southam; peal secretary, Mr. B. C. Johnson; librarian, Mr. C. F. Sayer; auditors, Messrs. Mercer and Hole.

The meeting rejected a resolution from the Northern District that the amount of money to be spent on printing the annual report should not be more than two-thirds of the previous year's total annual subscriptions.

The hon. secretary reported that the Bedfordshire Association had accepted the invitation to hold a joint summer festival at Hertford on June 13th, and that tickets were now available for the Association's 75th anniversary dinner to be held at St. Albans on October 24th. A vote of thanks from the chairman to all concerned in helping towards the success of the meeting concluded the business. The Cathedral bells were available after the meeting.

were paid to the young members in the Buxton District led by Brian Woodruffe, whose performances, particularly in peals of Doubles, were really fantastic. Two members of the Association, Mr. D. P. Jones and Mr. B. Woodruffe, were the leading peal ringers in the country during 1958, and Miss P. A. M. Forster was the leading lady ringer. Mr. Gordon Halls mentioned the valuable assistance given by non-resident life members in many of the peals rung during 1958.

FINANCES SATISFACTORY

For the first time for many years the hon. treasurer was in a position to report the financial position as reasonably satisfactory. The increased subscriptions in 1958 had resulted in a marked improvement, and unless there were unforeseen items of heavy expenditure the future income was likely to be sufficient to meet requirements.

Mr. Gordon Halls reported on the very successful annual dinner held in Derby on February 7th, and a profit would be handed to the treasurer for Association funds. A large number of people were unable to obtain tickets for the dinner, and members were urged to make early applications in future.

There was some discussion about the Association handbells, and it was decided that they should remain in the custody of the Derby District secretary. It was also agreed that the handbells should be appropriately insured.

Three young lady ringers from Etwell—Rosamund Bull, Noreen Whickham and Deborah Wilson—were elected members.

A comprehensive vote of thanks was proposed by Mr. G. Scattergood to all who had contributed in any way to the success of the meeting and tea. Mr. W. Robinson was thanked for making the long journey to Ireland to represent the Association at the Central Council meeting, and for insisting on accepting only the normal amount of expenses.

Derbyshire Association's Record Year For Peals

NEW SECRETARY

THE weather was favourable for the annual meeting of the Derbyshire Association held in Derby on April 4th. Ringing during the afternoon and evening took place at the Cathedral and St. Peter's, and an informal service at St. Peter's was conducted by the Vicar (Rev. C. A. Shaw), who is an honorary member of the Association. Tea was provided in St. Peter's Parochial Hall by Miss Wickman, parish worker, and wives of the ringers at St. Peter's.

The president (Very Rev. R. A. Beddoes, Provost of Derby) was present at tea and took the chair at the business meeting. Approximately 45 members were present, and it was encouraging to note the percentage of younger ringers, particularly from the Derby District.

In his opening remarks the president appealed to members to give consideration to methods by which the activities of ringers could be brought more forcibly to the notice of the general public. He suggested that more use should be made of handbells in public places, as in modern times people are more likely to be influenced by things that can be seen as well as heard. In dealing with comments about difficulties in obtaining permission to ring at certain towers, the Provost assured members that he would not easily be persuaded to withhold permission to ring at churches under his control.

After a period of eight years as general secretary, Mr. A. B. Cooper had indicated that in his opinion the time was opportune for a change, and reported that notice had been received from the Derby District nominating Mr. B. P. Morris, of Ashbourne. The president and other Association officers paid tribute to the excellent work performed by Mr. Cooper during his period of office as general secretary, and Mr. Morris was unanimously elected to the position. Mr. Cooper acknowledged the comments and promised to assist the new secretary in every possible way.

Mr. Francis Lowe (trustee) and the three vice-presidents, Mr. F. Adams (Chesterfield), Mr. E. Fletcher (Ilkeston) and Mr. J. Bailey (Derby), were re-elected for a further period of two years. It was also unanimously agreed that Mr. A. B. Cooper should be elected as an additional vice-president.

The Association printed reports were available for distribution, and the hon. secretary was complimented on the completion of the copy for the printers. The annual reports of the general secretary, peal secretary and hon. treasurer were formally presented and approved. The number of peals rung in 1958—90—was a record for the Association. Reference was made to the large variety of methods rung for the first time for the Association, and tributes

RECORDS AND REASON

Dear Sir,—It was a good thing the Chester Diocesan Guild publicised their motion regarding record peal attempts in order that those who will have to vote upon it may have time to reflect upon its proposals.

It is the most stupid and unrealistic motion put before the Exercise for a long time, and seems to have a 'dog-in-the-manger' attitude about it. This attitude seems to emanate—at least I have found it so—from the old hands whose 'long-length' days are over. Because they didn't have to take any form of nourishment when record lengths were shorter they wish to ban refreshment for all time. As records become progressively longer and more exacting, complete abstinence becomes absurd. The band attempting to ring 40,320 changes are trying to make a change-ringing record, not participating in a 24-hour hunger strike!

Why should not they take nourishment, when it is clearly sensible to do so? I have seen ringers take food in a standard peal. Who hasn't heard of certain well-known ringers eating raisins! No one in his senses would question the propriety of a Channel swimmer receiving nourishment, or one of those fanatics who attempt to play the piano for over 100 hours to surpass someone else's record, or a marathon runner.

If the 40,000 is rung there is little doubt that ultimately some band will try to ring, say, 45,000 Caters or Royal. Now that one has to persevere for over 12 hours to capture any worthwhile record, surely it is time that such unrealistic and narrow-minded notions as complete abstinence from food were revised, and commonsense and humanity allowed to prevail.

Long lengths are not bell-ringing as we know it, but stunts, as so many other so-called records are these days, and should not be regarded as normal feats. Nobody would suggest that a long peal attempt should sink to the level of a protracted tea party but, as with most other marathon performances, rationality should permit the taking of a reasonable amount of nourishment—as to how much, the performers would very soon find out!

Away with these selfish, outdated, inhuman ideas. Human beings are only trying to ring bells in a certain manner longer than anyone else has done. There is no suggestion in a record length that it is a hunger strike.

As to the second part of the motion, commonsense decrees that people near the tower should not have to suffer such inflictions. We have enough trouble over the standard 3-hour peal, without trying to make things eight times worse! And why should not records be created within soundproof walls? If this resolution were carried, no one could attempt a record handbell peal—except in the middle of a field or street! In this matter what is acceptable in handbell peals should not be forbidden to tower bell peals. They produce the same result. —Yours sincerely,

W. BIRMINGHAM.

Slough.

P.S.—It's had enough having imbecile zanies disturbing sleeping villagers in the middle of the night without asking a national Church body to decree that folk must be obliged to endure torment day and night continuously. A better resolution would be one insisting that the bells be not heard outside.—W. B.

DILLINGTON COURSE

Deir Sir,—As one who finds change-ringing difficult, even in the early stages, may I say how grateful I am to those who went to so much trouble to bring about the weekend course at Dillington House? I was particularly impressed by the way Mr. York-Bramble has disentangled the technical jargon, which is a distasteful but necessary thing to do in any science which has grown up haphazardly over many years.

Although I am only a beginner myself, I have had to teach bell handling to quite a few people, and I have followed the principles set out in 'Ropesight' and those used by Mr. H. J. Sanger. In addition, I have found many valuable points in the Manual of Ringing Training, the applications of which are now much clearer to me since the course.

Mr. Sharpe's lecture and exhibition made me even more anxious than before to learn more of the history of bells and their founders.

I admire particularly the enthusiasm of Mrs. Grabham and those who did all the work behind the scenes, broke down all the obstacles, and brought the course into being.—Yours faithfully,

HUGH B. MAKINS.

Nazeing, Essex.

AMENDMENTS TO 'DOVE'S'

Dear Sir,—Those members of the Exercise who keep their copy of 'Dove' amended may care to note the following points of interest, which came to light on a tour of Essex last year.

Firstly, just over the border in Cambridgeshire, the five bells at West Wickham are derelict. One is not confronted with the usual collection of twigs and rubbish, as there is no floor directly under the bells, but most of the wheels and stays are missing. Two of the bells are clocked, a third being chimed by means of a rope attached to a wheel spoke. The tenor is by John Thornton, of Sudbury, dated 1720.

Back in Essex we found the five bells at Navestock unringable, though after an inspection we did succeed in raising three of the bells. Local reports say they have not been rung for 25 years.

The Church of St. Mary-the-Virgin, Moreton, has six bells, not five, the treble being added by Gillett and Johnston in 1934. They are quite a melodious ring, but we experienced the utmost difficulty in getting the back three to go upright, much to the Vicar's surprise.

Several comments have appeared in the 'R.W.' about the ring at Manuden, but may I point out there are six, not five, bells here. The tenor is about half a tone sharp and casts an air of abject gloom over an already sleepy village.

Finally, turning for a moment to my native county of Berkshire, the sixes at Shinfield and Purley have both been unringable for some years. In neither case though is it beyond hope that restorations might one day take place.—Yours sincerely,

RONALD K. RUSS.

Reading, Berks.

THE TRAGEDY OF BELFRY DISPUTES

Dear Sir,—The story of disputes between clergy and ringers, of strikes and dismissals, makes very sad reading. To hear the reported facts concerning the dismissal of the band at Shareshill leads one to think that there has been an avoidable and chronic failure on both sides which has now come to a head.

The ringers were, of course, wrong never to attend services and to refuse ever to do so: few right-thinking people—and they must be in that category if they form a church ringing team—would be so oblivious to God as to refuse to attend a service ever again: I assume, therefore, they said this because the Vicar had got their backs up by issuing an ultimatum, thus ignoring the services they had rendered to his cause by ringing the bells hitherto.

I note they were young people. A high proportion of young people today have no religious background whatever, and while they might enthuse over ringing as a hobby, it is a work of the Holy Spirit to interest them in the true purpose of their ringing, and to create an allegiance to God's House that cannot be forced upon them by regimental methods. The Vicar, in banning them from the tower, can now hardly expect to exert any further good influence over them, and so has failed in one of his paramount duties, that of evangelisation. How many young people in his parish are under his godly influence? Most ministers long to reach the youth of today, but this one has decided that as far as he is concerned God can dispense with this group, which was already under his influence. 'Judge not . . . !' One can only hope that they will go to ring at another church and fall under godly influences again there.

What if the ringers were wrong and setting a bad example in church attendance? To attend worship is a sign of healthy Christianity, but to neglect it is not a mortal sin. Christ told Peter to forgive his brother who wronged him 'seventy times seven'—490 times!—and it was such forgiveness—and prayer—that we needed here. On balance the situation was on the whole for the good: the bells were sounding their message and the young ringers were in a healthier place than some they might have resorted to. Now both are lost: it may be years before the tower recovers from this slur, and a loyal team rings the bells again regularly and well. Training a team from scratch is a formidable task at the best of times, let alone when an unhappy history is attached to the tower.—Yours sincerely,

D. P. JONES.

Linton, Burton-on-Trent.

SIGNATURE TUNES

Dear Sir,—A suggestion was made recently for the adoption of 'signature tunes' in ringing. I would suggest that in many cases this already is in operation where the bells are lowered in peal before the evening service. It is our custom at Chester-le-Street to lower the back six in peal, and I know that many parishioners have observed that 'last bit where you ring very fast,' although probably not knowing exactly what is happening.—Yours sincerely,

DENIS A. BAYLES.

Chester-le-Street, Co. Durham.

SOUTHWELL DIOCESAN GUILD

New Membership Rule

THE 13th annual meeting of the Southwell Diocesan Guild was held at Southwell on April 4th. The bells of Southwell Minster were available for ringing from 2.30 until 8 o'clock, with a break for Evensong and tea.

Approximately 120 ringers rang at the Minster during the afternoon and evening, one enthusiast coming from Birmingham. Seventy-two ringers attended Evensong in the choir, slightly more sat down to tea at the Trebeck Hall, and 90 were present at the business meeting.

The meeting was one of the most successful annual meetings held at the Minster and fully justifies the action of the Guild in holding it at the Minster in alternate years.

At the business meeting the Rev. Canon R. F. Wilkinson presided. A brief silence was observed in memory of twelve deceased members.

THE SURVEY

In his report, the hon. general secretary, Mr. J. W. Raithby, stated that membership totalled 349 which, judged in isolation, appeared a satisfactory figure. However, when this was set against the 559 Sunday service ringers revealed by the Central Council Survey in the diocese it would be seen that there was much to be accomplished before they could indulge in self-complacency.

The returns completed for the Survey revealed that help was needed on a generous scale throughout the diocese. Towers without ringers, towers with ringers and no instructor, towers in urgent need of funds, towers where apathy was rife. This was a field where much useful service could be performed by the stronger bands and to a very great extent by competent instructors.

Ringing throughout the diocese was generally at a low level. Towers where the standard of ringing was high were all too few and could immediately be called to mind, but what of the struggling bands and the bands who had given up the struggle?

Mr. Raithby continued: Here was a challenge for 1959, to bring all ringers into the ambit of the Guild and to help their weaker brethren and to try and get silent and near silent towers ringing again. They could not stand still: they dared not go back: they must go forward.

During the year under review a fourth district had been created centred on Mansfield. This was principally carved out of the North Notts District, with towers from the Nottingham and Newark Districts. The new district had shown itself vigorous and enthusiastic, and the membership had already reached 53.

Warsop were the winners of the Crawford Cup Competition.

The Guild had lost many staunch members by death, continued the secretary. They must remember the part they had played in building up the Guild and in establishing the art throughout the Diocese. Might their example and zeal be remembered with gratitude.

Parochial Church Councils were respectfully advised to see that their ringers were insured against accident, and also that the bells and other valuable equipment were adequately insured.

The hon. treasurer, Mr. W. Nichols, presented his statement of accounts and balance sheet showing a very satisfactory financial position. The excess of income over expenditure amounted to £28 17s. 7d. After making grants of £15 each to North Wheatley and Hucknall Torkard, the balance of the Bell Repair Fund stood at £95 13s. 6d. A sum of £5 5s. had again been donated to the Bishop's Appeal Fund for the Restoration of Ancient Churches. The balance of capital account was £156 17s. 4d.

The report and accounts were unanimously adopted.

In the absence of the hon. peal secretary, Mr. Brian Buswell, the report of the Peal Committee was read. This showed that 74 peals were rung during 1958, which was a record for the Guild. New methods rung for the first time were Double Oxford Bob Major, Little Albion Treble Bob Major, Ipswich Surprise Minor, Oswald Delight Minor, Wath Delight Minor, and Plain Bob Triples. The conducting was shared by 14 members, W. L. Exton, of Newark, heading the list with 23 peals. First peals were rung by 24 members. The only black spot was that for the third successive year no peals were rung 'in hand.'

All the officers were re-elected en bloc.

MEMBERSHIP CONDITIONS

The meeting then considered the most controversial item on the agenda submitted by the Newark District:

'That in view of the large number of ringers in the Newark District who were capable of ringing with some regularity for Sunday services but who were not eligible for membership of the Guild, some consideration should be given with regard to the amending of Rule 2 (b) to either permit ringers who could only ring rounds, or to the starting of a junior section to include those ringers.'

Rule 2 (b) in question stipulated that ringing members must be able to ring either the treble or the covering bell in 120 changes on tower bells or two handbells, retained in hand, through the plain course of any method on five or more bells.

As was to be expected opinion was divided into two main groups. First, those who thought the proposal was a retrograde step which would lower the standard of the Guild and do nothing to enhance its prestige, and secondly, those who maintained that the majority of towers only functioned for Sunday service with the assistance of round ringers and call changers and saw no good reason for barring them full membership of the Guild. It was also stated that if admitted as members of the Guild fresh interest would be stimulated and round ringers would probably aspire more readily to becoming change ringers.

The chairman allowed a considerable discussion on the subject, and members on both sides expressed themselves with commendable directness. Those speaking in favour of the proposal included Mr. B. A. Sollis, Mr. J. P. Wright, Mr. H. Denman, Mr. H. T. Rooke, Mr. F. W. Midwinter, Mr. C. W. Reed, who advocated probationary members, and Mr. J. W. Raithby and the chairman. Those against included Mr. A. J. Brown, Mr. F. A. Salter, Mr. F. C. Hooper and Mr. S. W. Fossey.

On the chairman putting formal resolutions to the meeting to amend Rule 2 (b) by deleting the first sentence and substituting the following: 'Ringing members must be able to ring a bell in rounds,' and to change the title of the Guild to 'The Southwell Diocesan Guild of Church Bell Ringers,' they were carried by 59 votes to 7.

The question of quarterly meetings, which the committee recommended should be abandoned, was then considered, and this too evoked a lively discussion, but was carried by a large majority on a show of hands.

Under the heading of 'Any Other Business' the hon. general secretary stated that Mansfield District considered very strongly that a new badge was needed in place of the existing one which was thought to be too large. The question of obtaining a fresh badge of a new design was left to the committee with power to act. A collection for the Bell Repair Funds realised £1 19s.

A comprehensive vote of thanks was moved by Mr. F. W. Midwinter, and the chairman then declared the meeting closed.

THE SUFFOLK GUILD

Open Handstroke Leads

A beautiful day gave the annual meeting of the Suffolk Guild, held at Ipswich on April 4th, a good start and turned out to be one of the best-attended meetings for some years.

The bells of St. Mary-le-Tower, St. Margaret's, St. Matthew's and St. Clement's were all available and were put to good use by the members and visitors. Ringing ranged from rounds to Cambridge Surprise Maximus. Visitors came from Nottingham, Canterbury, Oxfordshire and Bedfordshire, as well as many old friends from Essex and Norfolk.

The Guild service was held at St. Margaret's and was conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. A. H. Marks), who extended a warm welcome to the Guild and made reference to his joy in having a newly-restored ring of bells in his church. Mr. E. H. Bugg acted as organist.

Tea was served at the Ipswich Co-op, followed by the business meeting at Diocesan House with Mr. C. W. Pipe (vice-president) in the chair. After extending a welcome to the visitors the chairman urged new conductors to call a first 720 or peal. On the subject of striking he said that there appeared to be a national tendency to ignore the open handstroke lead. He hoped that all the members would strive to maintain the old tradition and ensure first-class striking. The 1958 report, he felt, was a first-rate production and he congratulated the general secretary on his achievement.

The reports of the Ringing Master and the general secretary revealed a satisfactory year. Membership had been maintained and meetings held throughout the Diocese. Eighty-two peals were recorded including some good performances. The finances were sound. The sales of badges had continued and the outlay had been justified.

The committee had drawn up a plan for the reorganisation of the Districts, which had now been circulated to District secretaries and should have been studied by all the members. Restorations had taken place at Eriswell, Oakley and St. Margaret's, Ipswich, and further restoration work was coming along this year.

The technical adviser (Mr. R. W. M. Clouston) was unfortunately unable to attend, but besides his detailed report he had prepared a new tower directory, which had been printed in the annual report. This is the first time a tower directory has been printed since 1939 and was a most valuable piece of work. A vote of thanks was passed to Mr. Clouston and his helpers. Everyone appreciated the many hours of travel and research involved in this project.

Mr. G. E. Symonds presented the report of the Pearson handbell trustees and revealed that four sets were out on loan and being put to good use.

The principal officers were all re-elected:—Mr. L. G. Brett, Ringing Master; Mr. J. W. Blythe, general secretary and treasurer; Mr. J. W. H. Prestner, auditor; Mr. R. W. M. Clouston, technical adviser. The existing committee was re-elected with the one exception that Mr. L. Wright replaced Mr. K. G. Brown.

The general secretary reported that the committee had promised £5 5s. to Marlesford Bell Fund, and as the work had now been carried out he proposed that a further £5 5s. be added. This was carried unanimously.

Mr. L. Wright proposed that the question of the new Districts be put to the vote at this meeting rather than call a meeting for this purpose, as had been the plan. After some discussion and minor adjustments they were unanimously approved to go forward for ratification at a general meeting to be held at Stowmarket on July 25th. The meeting closed with the usual votes of thanks to all concerned in the arrangements, the chairman being thanked by Mr. S. G. Twitchett.

CHENIES (BUCKS) RINGERS' OUTING

On Easter Monday the ringers and their friends from St. Michael's, Chenies, together with ringing friends from Little Missenden, Chalfont St. Peter and King's Langley, spent an enjoyable day at six-bell towers in the four counties of Bedfordshire, Huntingdonshire, Cambridgeshire and Suffolk.

The first stop was at Elstow, where we were greeted by Mr. Huckle, whom we would like to thank for so speedily replacing a rope that broke. Unfortunately, we did not do justice to these bells, the draught being somewhat longer than most of us are used to.

At All Saints', Huntingdon, young Aubrey Powell was waiting for us and we enjoyed ringing on these light bells. Our next stop was at St. Benet's, Cambridge, where Fabian Stedman was parish clerk in 1670. A good touch of Stedman Doubles was rung before leaving.

After lunching in the city we were delayed by losing one ringer and this caused us to be late at St. Peter's, Fordham.

On, then, to St. Mary's, Newmarket, where two of the local ringers met us. These fine, heavy bells were enjoyed very much and after our ringing we had a good tea. Our last stop was at St. Peter's, Duxford, where we were met by the Vicar (the Rev. V. Fletcher) and Mr. Halls. We had a good hour's ringing on these odd-weighted but pleasant bells.

Ringling during the day ranged from rounds to Cambridge Surprise.

Our thanks go out to all who helped to make our day so enjoyable. D. R. B.

A TOUR OF FOUR COUNTIES

On Thursday, April 9th, a gathering of ten ringers left Packwood, Warwickshire, in glorious sunshine for a most enjoyable day's ringing, which took us into the counties of Warwickshire, Oxfordshire, Gloucestershire and Worcestershire.

Our route took us to the six-bell tower of St. Mary and Holy Cross, Alderminster, followed by another six-bell tower, St. Edmund, Shipston-on-Stow. Both of these lie within the Warwickshire boundary.

We then moved on into Oxfordshire to ring on the eight bells at St. Mary-the-Virgin at Chipping Norton. On into Gloucestershire, to the recently restored eight at St. David's, Moreton-in-Marsh. Then to the left-handed ring of six at St. Lawrence's, Bourton-on-the-Hill, also in Gloucestershire.

In Worcestershire we visited the six-bell tower St. Eadburgha, Broadway. On the return journey we rounded off the tour with a visit to St. Peter's, Wootton Wawen, Warwickshire (6).

A wide variety of methods were covered. Double methods included Plain Bob, Grand-sire, Stedman, April Day, Reverse Canterbury Pleasure Bob and Reverse St. Bartholomew. Minor methods ranged from Plain Bob and Little Bob, through Double Count to Kent Treble Bob. In the eight-bell towers touches of Grandsire Triples and Plain Bob Minor were rung.

OXFORD DIOCESAN GUILD

In recognition of his services as Branch secretary, Mr. H. Badger was presented with a cheque at the annual meeting of the South Oxon and Mid Bucks Branch, held at Benson on April 18th. As Mr. Badger has left the District, Mr. Godman was elected secretary. Other officers elected were Mr. Wells, of Benson, chairman; Mr. Bowles (Great Milton), vice-chairman, and Mr. Absolom, Ringing Master. The Vicar (Rev. G. Palmer) conducted the service, and ringing included Cambridge Surprise Major.

DEDICATION

Bishop Latimer, Birmingham

The eight bells from the demolished Church of St. John, Deritend, have been recast by Messrs. John Taylor and Co., of Loughborough, into seven new ones, and the existing bell in the tower of Bishop Latimer's Church has been retuned to form a very pleasant octave, with a tenor of a little over 14 cwt. in F sharp.

The bells hang in a massive square tower rising to a height of 100 feet, and the ringing room is light and spacious. The installation of the bells was a memorial to those of the parish who died during the last war, and the dedication took place on April 20th by the Bishop of Aston before a crowded congregation.

From a ringer's view the Bishop's address was not very helpful, displaying a lack of understanding of present day ringing practice, and of the difficulties of maintaining a band of ringers, his opinion being that bells should not be rung at all during Advent or Lent. Let us hope that no such restraining notions are allowed to hold sway at Bishop Latimer's! The bells are good, and if rung well and regularly will give pleasure to many of the parishioners. If they are too noisy for those living near, the annoyance should be minimised by blocking the louvres, not by the curtailment of ringing: in fact, a little less noise outside the tower and a little more clarity inside would be an improvement in quite a number of towers.

Immediately after the prayer of dedication, the bells were rung in rounds by the following members of the St. Martin's Guild: H. H. Fearn 1, E. C. Shepherd 2, J. Pinfold 3, B. D. A. Woolley 4, A. Ager 5, J. A. Anderson 6, N. J. Goodman 7, G. E. Fearn 8.

Owing to the lateness of the hour, and to give the opportunity of ringing to all visiting ringers, the 'opening touch' after the service was restricted to a course of London Surprise Major by the same ringers, after which several touches in various methods were rung by other bands.

The bellfounders were represented by Messrs. P. L. Taylor, J. Oldham and J. P. Fidler.

TRURO DIOCESAN GUILD

Landewednack, the parish church of The Lizard, possessing the most southerly ring of bells in the British Isles, was the scene of the spring festival of the Penzance Branch on April 11th. It was a festival in every sense of the word. An afternoon of beautiful sunshine to enthuse the more than one hundred ringers from the Branch who attended, including several clerical ringers—the Revs. A. S. Roberts (Carbis Bray, Branch secretary), W. E. Minors (S. Mawgan in Meneage), W. G. Revell (Gwinear), W. J. K. Harris (Vicar of Mullion), E. J. Saunders (Vicar of St. Keverne), and A. J. Vincent (Vicar-designate of Kenwyn). Also present were Mr. D. Burnett (Diocesan Ringing Master) and Mr. W. H. Southard (vice-president). Ringing on the six bells began early in the afternoon, and continued throughout the evening. Some present also visited Mullion and Cury to ring at those towers also.

The Rector (Rev. E. H. Hodges) conducted the new Guild Office, which was used for the first time, and also gave an address of welcome to all present, mentioning his special joy in doing so, as he understood it was the first time that such a festival had been held there for 21 years. He also mentioned that he had recently taken up ringing. The lesson was read by the Rev. A. S. Roberts.

A splendid tea was served in the Church Room. A hearty vote of thanks was accorded the Rector for his welcome, and Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Nicholls, who organised the local ringing, were specially thanked.

OBITUARY

MR. RALPH W. ATKINS

All Saints', Marlow, and the Oxford Diocesan Guild lost one of their older and highly-respected members in the death on April 14th of Mr. R. W. Atkins, at the age of 79.

He started ringing at High Wycombe at the age of 12 and came to Marlow in 1900, since when he had been a regular and faithful member of the band. Until his recent illness he was belfry secretary, and many visitors to Marlow will remember his friendly welcome and willing assistance in their outing arrangements. He was a very keen church worker, being a reliable sidesman and church councillor.

On the evening of April 17th his body was received into All Saints' Church by the Vicar (Rev. J. C. Vaughan Wilkes), who took the funeral service on the following morning. The bells were rung half-muffled before the service by the local band, and afterwards a quarter peal of Grandsire Triples was rung, in which Hughenden and High Wycombe towers were represented. E. D. P.

MR. JOHN E. EATON

Mr. 'Jack' Eaton, of Selly Oak, Birmingham, died on April 16th, aged 75. Although Jack was not a renowned ringer, he was a very familiar and well-known personality in South Birmingham and Worcestershire, where he had moved about and rung regularly since a young man. For some time previous to his death he had been unattached to any particular tower, though taking an active interest to the last, but had been a member of several bands from time to time in former years.

Jack was a character in every sense of the word, and many ringers have been entertained by his colourful reminiscences of such great men as, for instance, Bill Short, Bill Barber and George Hayward. Of equal fascination were his (no doubt deliberate) malapropisms and slightly exaggerated accounts of certain of his experiences—both in and out of ringing.

Without a doubt, Jack Eaton will indeed be missed by those who really knew him.

PETERBOROUGH DIOCESAN GUILD

Guildsborough Branch At Kelmarsh

The Guildsborough Branch meeting, held at Kelmarsh on April 4th, was attended by members representing 13 Branch towers, together with visitors from Desborough, Rothwell, Kingsthorpe, Roade, Kilsingbury, Heyford and Daventry, making a total company exceeding 60.

Before the First World War, the Church of St. Denys, Kelmarsh, was a favourite tower for peals of Minor by members of the Central Northants Association. According to a local story, it was during this period that ringing in this tower disturbed the local foxhounds, or vice-versa (does anyone know the correct story?), and ringing was discouraged. Since that time the bells, which are a fine-sounding light six, have been little used, and have received even less attention, until the past 12 months, and their present condition is the result of many hours of hard work 'upstairs' by John Kinchin, to whom all are most grateful, especially those who have suffered at Kelmarsh in the past.

The Guild Office was conducted by the Rector (Rev. G. J. Hepworth) and was followed by an excellent tea in the Village Hall, served by Mrs. Storey and her helpers.

At the business meeting, arrangements were made to attend the Guild A.G.M. on May 9th. Ringing was continued during the evening until 9 o'clock, rounds and a variety of methods up to London Surprise being rung. E. G. O.

MORE BELFRY GOSSIP

Three local ringers at Capel, Surrey, scored their first peal on April 11th, with the former Master of the Guildford Diocesan Guild (Mr. Albert E. Harman) conducting. Congratulations!

Another veteran in the news is Mr. H. Gayton. Fifty-one years ago he called his first peal at Sharnbrook, Beds, and on March 14th he was back again in this tower to call a quarter of Bob Minor.

'The "Elementary Handbook for Beginners" should be in the possession of every beginner, even those who have been learning 30, 40 or 50 years.'—Irish Bell News. The Irish Association have sent an example: they have sent a copy of the Handbook to each of their towers.

The peal of Surprise rung at Bray was an excellent one and much enjoyed by everyone. The conductor has now called peals of Surprise at both Brays, the other being Bray, Co. Wicklow, Eire. The band much appreciated the tea, kindly provided by Miss D. Hague and Mr. J. D. Norsworthy.

Broadway, Worcestershire (page 265), has had the following previous peals, writes a correspondent: Grandsire and St. Dunstan's Doubles, January 28th, 1936, by local Sunday service band (conducted by Frank Sadler); seven methods Minor, April 11th, 1953 (conducted by the late John Thomas).

THE LADIES' GUILD

The Southern District annual meeting at Ottershaw, Surrey, on April 18th decided that a new secretary should be found to try and reawaken interest in the District. Mrs. Christine Harbutt, of Ashted, was elected, and the Misses Monica Collins, Hazel Pugh and Pauline Drury appointed to the committee. The service touch was rung by a band of ladies and the Vicar officiated.

STRATTON ST. MARGARET, WILTS.—On Mar. 29th, 1,260 Grandsire Doubles: H. Aukin 1, Christine Lansley 2, Mavis Wright 3, C. Jones 4, Dr. C. G. Roworth (first as cond.) 5, A. Hatherall (first quarter) 6. For Matins.

THE RINGING WORLD

OFFICIAL JOURNAL OF THE CENTRAL COUNCIL OF CHURCH BELL RINGERS

'The Ringing World' was founded in the year 1911 by John Sparkes Goldsmith, who remained its proprietor and editor until his death in 1942.

No. 2510 Vol. LV

FRIDAY, MAY 8, 1959

'A TRIUMPH OF YOUTH'

THIS was the title of the leading article in 'The Ringing World' of April 27th, 1934. It related to a peal of Bob Major rung at St. Paulinus', Crayford, the previous Saturday by a band drawn from various parts of the country whose average age, including all the odd weeks and months, was 15 years and 2 weeks. This was well below the previous record, having knocked between three and four years off the average age of those who had rung a peal of Kent arranged by Jim Prior the previous December, which incidentally was Pat Cannon's first peal as conductor.

The 1934 peal was one on which all could, and I think do, look back on with some pride for, to quote from Mr. Goldsmith's article, 'Not only did they ring the peal but they rang it supremely well.' To many ringers, I have found over the years, every peal and every attempt is a good one; but the words were not used lightly on this occasion, and it was nice to have received what might be considered an independent testimony of this years later from a ringer who had heard much of the peal while watching a hockey match in a nearby field.

To commemorate the 25th anniversary it seemed appropriate to try to arrange a reunion of as many of the band as possible, and of course a peal attempt. Arthur Jones, of Croydon, unhappily, was killed while a sergeant pilot early in the 1939-45 war, while Margaret Pack, now Mrs. Munton, whose idea the original peal was, is living in California, but her sister Gladys, better known these days as Mrs. Manchip, took her place, and brother Joe came out of retirement for the occasion. Phyllis Tillet (Mrs. Marriott), whose name was so often in the headlines in the days when the band at Ipswich was a power in the land—she rang peals in all manner of Surprise Maximus methods when hardly in her teens—is unable to stand for lengthy periods these days, but we were delighted that she (and her husband) came along for the day and had a ring before the peal began, for it meant that all six "possibles" were there, John Gilbert and Percy Stone having come down from Sheffield and Coventry respectively, and Walter Dobbie up from Tonbridge.

To keep it in the family, as it were, the band was made up by Walter's wife Sheila and Mr. Edwin Barnett, for whom the peal might be regarded as an unofficial 74th birthday compliment, this event having taken place four days before. There was one alarm on Friday evening. Walter Dobbie got a piece of metal embedded in his eye the previous day, which entailed two visits to hospital and gave rise to considerable doubt as to whether he would be fit to ring. However, he gamely did so, though obviously in considerable discomfort, but we were very grateful to Sidney Woodcock, of Bexley, for coming along in case of need, which is one stage worse than being called on at the last minute to fill a definite gap.

After a welcome from the Rector (Rev. R. A. Agg) and a short session with the local Press ('What, at your age?' the reporter had said earlier, when told we hoped to ring for about three hours), the peal was duly accomplished, the same method being chosen—though we must now use its up-to-date title of 'Plain Bob Major'—and indeed the same composition and conductor. Tea followed, though from the amount left it seemed as if appetites were not so keen as was perhaps the case when we were in our teens. An account of the peal was signed by all and sent to Margaret, and thoughts turned at times to the other missing member of the band and to Mr. F. E. Dawe, a former prominent London ringer and College Youth, whose generosity in the days before the Welfare State had made the original peal, and a previous unsuccessful attempt, possible.

Doubts were cast on the wisdom of another reunion in 1984, not because of George Orwell, but because some thought that though we were all more or less recognisable now compared with our younger selves, another quarter of a century might not deal so kindly with us. But 1959 was certainly a great success.

Bells will be heard prior to the evening service to be broadcast on Trinity Sunday, May 24th, at 7.48 p.m., from Bradford-on-Avon Parish Church, Wilts. It will be conducted by the Vicar, the Rev. A. F. Osborne.

To those confused over the peal recorded on April 24th at St. Werburgh's, Derby, we are informed that it was rung at Spondon.

Did anyone see the letter in the 'Radio Times' of April 24th, from Mr. H. J. Hazell, of Enfield, who, after stating he was an experienced ringer, referred to Triples as an odd-bell method rung on 5, 7, 9 or 11 bells?

As the peal at Llanfagan neared its end the cord supporting the oil lamp was seen to be slowly scorching through, and the band would like to feel that the footnote, 'Fastest peal on the bells,' was fully justified.

The quickest peal on 10 tower bells was rung on April 13th at the Bell Foundry in 2 hours and 24 minutes. It was 5,120 Little Bob Royal. The previous record was 5,040 Cambridge Surprise Royal in 2 hours and 25 minutes on December 17th, 1949, conducted by Harold J. Poole.

Mr. E. Billings would like to thank Major Bragg and the ringers of Aldershot and Mr. C. W. Denyer and the ringers of Farnham for the wonderful welcome he received at their practices and friendship extended to him during his stay in Aldershot, while completing his National Service with the Royal Army Service Corps.

The quarter peal credited to Newmarket on page 280 was rung at Exning. It would save the Editor's time if copy of quarter peals for publication were written in the form they appear, viz.: Place, including county, date, method, and ringers' names. The same comment applies equally to peals. Some copy staggers imagination!

BELFRY GOSSIP

Mr. A. R. Pink, who conducted the first peal at Carbis Bay on the new bells in 1946, was happily on holiday in the parish and was able to conduct the last peal on the bells in the tower in its present state. Although surrounded by scaffolding, ready for building operations to begin to complete the tower, ringing was still possible. It is hoped that the next peal will be on the augmented ring of ten.

'Marmalade Cannon,' whose passing was recorded last week, was the cat of Mr. A. P. Cannon.

The Northampton Branch of the Peterborough Diocesan Guild will hold their next meeting on May 30th at St. Edmund's, Northampton, to commemorate the 75th anniversary of the bells.

The quarter peal at Hoole, Cheshire, on March 30th (see page 234) was rung for the 27th wedding anniversary of Mr. E. C. Crewe and not as printed.

Miss Elizabeth Jackson, who rang in a quarter peal at Blewbury, is a member of Bristol University Society and not as stated on page 268.

When the Rev. A. J. Vincent, a well-known change ringer in the Truro Diocesan Guild, was instituted on April 24th to the parish of Kenwyn, Truro, he rang the tenor bell (which had been left up after the ringing previous to the service) sixteen times, to signify that he had taken possession of the living.

In connection with the Manchester Unity Odd Fellows' A.M.C., at Scarborough, May 23rd to 30th, there will be a special service on Sunday afternoon, the 24th, at 3 p.m., at St. Mary's Church. Odd Fellows and Railwaymen ringers will be sure of a very cordial welcome from Mr. Bert Sutton, leader at St. Mary's, to ring for the service. He will give details of practice night and other ringing.

L'ISLE VERTE

GUERNSEY—l'île verte—was the destination of the newly-formed International Ringing Association for the weekend April 3rd-5th, during which Alderney was also visited.

At 4.15 on the Friday afternoon the writer met Bill Deason, Ernest Munday and John Rock at Victoria, and it was not long before we picked out Mr. and Mrs. Pat Cannon's smiling faces in the large hall at Gatwick Airport. After luggage weighing and ticket checking we were ready to enter our plane when, ominously—'B.E.A. The Guernsey flight will be delayed for technical reasons.' These reasons later resolved into 'congestion in the London Control Area,' and we were in the aircraft by 6.20, though take-off was further delayed until 6.54.

Although three of the party had flown before, none had done so to take part in ringing, and this first flight provided much to delight the romantic side of our natures, particularly the view of Bournemouth below us—a delicate white spider's half web speckled with coloured dew, the centre being a veritable blaze of colours. Our landing at Guernsey Airport was uneventful.

NO TIME FOR BREAKFAST

The Yacht Inn faced east across St. Peter Port harbour towards Castle Cornet, and the writer woke before 6 a.m. with the sun warm on his face, which indicated that flying conditions should be ideal, as indeed they proved. There was no time for breakfast as the airport bus left the town church at 8 a.m., and at 9.5 we were sitting in the Rapide 'Alares' at the end of the runway.

Alderney presented memorable details which emphasised its isolation as we came in to land 14 minutes later—seagulls floating on the sea and massed on the southern rocks like snow, and some disused gun emplacements on the cliffs—to mention but a few. Robin met us at the airfield, and we were enjoying sandwiches and coffee in the Rose and Crown when the Rev. H. Le Page called to see us, accompanied by his charming wife and daughter Bridget. Conversation ranged over many things—the great 56 cwt. bell of St. Helier, the presence of an iron smelting works on the island, Mr. Le Page's recognition of John (the and John's father administered neighbouring Herefordshire parishes), and the Church of St. Anne with its palm trees in the churchyard.

The church was gutted during the occupation and used as a store—indeed, the rim marks left by cans are still visible on the chancel steps. There is a 100-years-old flag in the north aisle, used during Queen Victoria's visit in 1854, but all windows are new for the old ones were shattered by gunfire.

The bells are a new ring by Taylors, installed in 1953, and of course we were anxious to hear them. They hang in a new wooden frame in a fine-tower roomy enough for 12, and the only adjustments needed were to the tail-ends. 'A junior Inveraray' was one comment, and these magnificent bells inspired us to ring an excellent peal of Cambridge Surprise—a most rewarding experience.

Lunch at the Rose and Crown was most satisfying, again in the company of our new friends, and soon after our goodbyes had been said we were sunbathing on the airfield, awaiting 'Alares' return. Our climbing plane passed over the churchyard, and we could see a coffin being laid to rest as we banked towards Guernsey, which we reached at a quarter-to-four. A quick visit to our hotel to tell Mrs. Cannon of our success (limited accommodation had prevented her from coming with us to Alderney), a brief souvenir hunt, and we were off to the north of the island, the Clos du Valle.

THE SECOND PEAL

The Church of St. Michel du Valle, usually known as the Vale Church, was once only accessible at low tide, as the Clos du Valle was cut off from the rest of the island by a channel, the Braye du Valle. Of the original church only the chancel remains, where a row of sedilia may be seen, but ruins of an early priory may still be noted. We ascended the tower by the curious (nautical?) staircase on the outside to find that the bells were installed by J. Warners, Bell Founders to Her Majesty, in 1891.

We had expected to find a 15 cwt. ring requiring not a little physical effort to ring, but we discovered that the frame and fittings needed no attention although all ropes were adjusted and one replaced. Eventually the tenor was raised and measured, Pat finding to his disappointment that the maximum diameter was 34 inches—indicating a weight of 7½ cwt. only! However, the bells were soon tapping round merrily and another very good peal was scored in seven methods. The bells encourage fast ringing but, due to the absence of a quarter of the wheel rim, the tenor cannot be rung much faster without the rope slipping off. After descending the tower we were congratulated by Mrs. Cannon and the local ringers, and following a late evening meal (enlivened by the expulsion of a drunken sailor—'What shall we do with . . .') were soon away to bed. The ropes were re-adjusted after morning service on Sunday and we then met the Rev. L. Streetley, the priest in charge, and admired the Easter tableau.

THE LAST COURSE

After a celebration lunch Pat and Mrs. Cannon (who were staying on to visit Jersey) were taken on a tour of the island by Mr. Streetley, whilst we made ready for our departure at 4 p.m. Mr. Marquis and his wife were at the airport to wave goodbye, and our sincere thanks are accorded to him for his help at St. Michel du Valle, for his assistance with the arrangements, and for his generosity in acting as our chauffeur on several occasions.

Fittingly, we flew over St. Michel's and St. Anne's at the commencement of our return flight, and before landing at Gatwick in 61 minutes picked out Ryde, Bognor Regis and Chichester, Selsey Bill Airport and the sharply-defined northern slopes of the South Downs. The writer's bag received a cursory inspection at the customs desk, and the presence of a 'strange rope' aroused suspicion until it was explained that we were English members of an annual Indian rope-trick convention—the colours of the sally seemed to add confirmation to the quite plausible explanation!

In conclusion, I would like to express the thanks of the party to the incumbents and ringers, and also to Robin, who unobtrusively and effortlessly planned such a successful and enjoyable weekend. CALLIGRAPH.

RECORD ATTEMPT FAILS

The attempt for the extent of Plain Bob Major at the Bell Foundry last Saturday failed after ringing for eight hours and accomplishing 16,000 odd changes.

KENT COUNTY ASSOCIATION

Rochester District

On April 11th more than 60 ringers and friends from different towers in the Rochester and District east and west of the River Medway attended a District meeting held at St. Helen's, parish church of Cliffe-at-Hoo. This tower is within sight of the South Bank of the Thames and contains a very good-going ring of eight bells. Good use of these bells was made, under the guidance of Mr. W. A. J. Knight, until the Ringing Master (Mr. C. S. Jarrett) arrived. A short ringers' service was conducted by the newly-appointed Rector (Rev. J. W. Henderson), who in his address welcomed the Rochester and District ringers. The singing was ably led by Mrs. J. W. Henderson, the Rector's wife, as organist.

Tea was served in the Co-op Hall by local ladies, and the short business meeting was presided over by the Rector. The only business raised was by Mr. G. Butcher, Mr. A. Dunk and Mr. W. A. J. Knight, with regard to peal booking fees. Upon a vote, the District was in favour of a fee in aid of the Belfry Repair Fund. A comprehensive vote of thanks was proposed by Mr. T. Beaumont. Before leaving the hall, handbells were rung by C. S. Jarrett, H. S. Audsley, G. J. Butcher and P. F. Borer.

COVENTRY DIOCESAN GUILD RINGERS' RALLY

HOLY Trinity Church, Stratford-on-Avon, was the mecca of over 238 ringers and friends on April 11th, when the second Ringers' Rally of the Coventry Diocesan Guild was held. By the number of bands entered it proved to be as successful as the first in 1957.

Ringling commenced at 1.30 p.m., and the first band in was Stratford-on-Avon, who opened with Grandsire Caters. Perhaps it was stage fright, but their striking was not up to their Sunday service standard. They were followed by the young band from St. Nicholas', Warwick, who rang Grandsire Triples, and showed what could be done in twelve months: it was indeed a good effort. Whitnash, a six-bell band, rang call changes on ten—rather ambitious, but a very good effort and a credit to their conductor. Studley came in next with some good Grandsire Doubles with 768 covering. This again is a new band, and their handling of much heavier bells than their own was very good.

They were followed by some good Grandsire Doubles by the Kenilworth band, and Grandsire Triples by the Leamington Spa band was as you would expect it with Mr. Burt in charge. Call changes by the Hatton band was followed by more Grandsire Triples by Rugby. They could have rung Stedman or Double Norwich as confidently. Why not?

St. Mary's, Warwick, were due to follow, but as the ten ringers took over the ropes, most of them seemed to belong to the local band. Much had been expected of St. Mary's band, so this effort (or lack of it) was disappointing. Newbold-on-Avon rang Bob Minor on the back six very well; the difference in weight did not seem to worry them. Brilles, a new band to the Guild since their bells have been rehung, rang call changes on the back six, making it obvious that they were enjoying what they were doing, and making light of it.

Dunchurch, with the aid of Richard Speed, did justice to the back six with more Grandsire, and appeared to enjoy the ringing. Stoke St. Michael's, Coventry, changed the tune to Bob Major, and very well they rang it. Harbury were next and trotted out the old favourite, Grandsire Doubles, but why not Bob Minor or Cambridge, which they could have rung quite easily?

Bulkington were ambitious enough to try Stedman Triples and made a good job of it. Allesley were next, and much to my SURPRISE opened up with Bob Major, and with a slight change of the band followed this with a course of Bristol Surprise. This was without doubt the best ringing of the day. However, they blotted their copy book near the end, but quickly recovered to make a good ending. Then came Chilvers Coton, one of the three ten-bell bands in the Guild, who rang Stedman Caters as you would expect them to. This finished the afternoon's programme, and served as the service touch.

The Guild service was taken by the Vicar, Canon T. Noel Prentice. The Lesson was read by Canon H. A. Hayden, Vicar of St. Nicholas', Warwick, and the address was given by the Lord Bishop, the Right Rev. C. K. N. Bardsley, who said how delighted he was to be given the opportunity once again to meet the bellringers of the diocese, and what a pleasure it was to see so many of them there.

Referring to the large number of lady ringers present, he said it was a sign of the times to see so many ladies taking up what was at one time looked upon as a male occupation. He was pleased to see it as they brought grace and charm to the ringing chamber, and he hoped they would continue to do it.

At the reception in the Town Hall, the Mayoress, in her welcome, explained that the Mayor had been ill and was unable to be there to welcome them, but sent his best wishes. The Mayoress and the Bishop were introduced to many of the ringers present, and to the leaders of the bands taking part.

After tea, ringing was resumed under very difficult conditions. Stratford ringing chamber has never had so many ringers in at the same time before. The Ringing Master did his best to cater for all tastes in methods as well as rounds for the learners. Ringing continued until about 9 p.m., when a halt had to be called at St. Nicholas'. Warwick, to try out the new ring. During the afternoon Clifford Chambers bells were put to good use.

I would like to quote from a letter just received: 'We cannot let this opportunity pass without expressing the feelings of our Rally band for the excellent arrangements at the tower of Holy Trinity, Stratford, last Saturday. We enjoyed every minute of it, and greatly appreciated the controlled flow of ringers to and from the ringing chamber. The timing was perfect. It was a great thrill not only to handle that beautiful ring, but to watch the expert Caters and Royal bands in action. The service, the Bishop's address, the reception, everything made up a magnificent experience which we shall never forget.—J. L. Garner Hayward.'

RAILWAYMEN'S GUILD IN LONDON

A FULL programme was arranged for the third annual meeting of the Railwaymen's Guild held in London on April 25th. Proceedings started with a visit to the Whitechapel Bell Foundry, and a cordial welcome from Mr. A. A. Hughes. Many rings of bells were seen in preparation, including three twelves—for Salisbury Cathedral, Southern Rhodesia, St. Mary-le-Bow and Great Yarmouth.

Ringling commenced at 12 noon at St. Dunstan's, Stepney, whilst 'the heavy men' went to Southwark Cathedral. All met again at St. Botolph's, Bishopsgate, with its peculiarity—it is said—of ringing the tower also, or the tower ringing you.

Mrs. N. Davies and her helpers served tea in the Fan Makers' Hall for a company of 65, whilst another 20 were taking part in ringing.

The Master, Mr. Harold Walker, presided at the business meeting, and among those present were the Rector of St. Botolph's (the Rev. Hubert H. Treacher), Mr. O. J. F. Whitaker (secretary, joint committee); Mr. J. E. Topless; Mr. and Mrs. C. S. McLeod and Mr. J. A. McIntosh (Staffs Association); Mr. J. A. Madeley (area welfare officer, Crewe); Mr. T. H. Taffender (Master, London County Assn.), and members from York, Leeds, Goole, Darlington, Newport, Mon., Swansea, Swindon, Stoke-on-Trent, Leicester, Kent, Somerset, Crewe, and the Home Counties.

Welcomes were extended to the company by the Master and the Rector of St. Botolph's.

The financial statement and auditor's report, submitted by Mr. J. Brough (Nantwich) showed for the first time a balance. Three new members were elected, including an associate member, Miss Nancy Kempell, of Nutfield.

There were changes when it came to the election of officers. The Master (Mr. Harold Walker) felt that the honour should go round, and Mr. W. Bernard Kynaston, of Swindon, was elected his successor. Mr. W. Frank Stenson reminded the meeting that he took on the job of hon. secretary and treasurer in 1956 on the understanding that he would be released on reaching 70, the retiring age. The meeting very reluctantly did so, and Mr. J. Arthur Hoare, of Swansea, was elected to the office.

The Regional Ringing Masters and/or representatives were re-elected, with the addition of Mr. Michael N. Bland, for the Eastern Region. The Rev. F. S. Gentry was re-elected chaplain, and also the hon. auditors, Messrs. J. Brough and R. D. Langford. Mr. O. J. F. Whitaker, secretary, joint committee, British Railways Staff Association completed the committee.

The 1960 annual meeting will be held at Birmingham on May 14th, and the autumn meeting at Bristol on September 24th.

Mr. Stenson gave notice of motion 'to restore the words of the Guild's original constitution, the Guild shall be open to railwaymen church bellringers everywhere.'

The retiring Master and hon. secretary were thanked for their services during the founding and establishing of the Guild; and an omnibus vote of thanks to all who had contributed to the success of the meeting was carried with acclamation. The hon. secretary said he would like to place on record the valuable assistance he had received from the London Associations.

The grand finale and tit-bit of the day was an hour's ringing on the famous St. Clement Danes' new and magnificent ring of ten.

'UNADULTERATED BALDERDASH'

Dear Sir,—For sheer unadulterated balderdash, the resolution to be submitted to the Central Council, requiring all record attempts to be clearly audible outside the tower, and forbidding the ringers to partake of any refreshment whatever, would be hard to beat.

Can anyone tell us of an incumbent of a church or trustee of a secular tower in his right mind who would knowingly condemn the residents within earshot of the tower to 24 hours or more of continuous ringing? I say 24 hours or more because 50,000 or more changes of Caters or Royal is probably quite possible to our present-day composers. The fact must also be considered that the organiser and ringers of a peal longer than the present record run a risk of prosecution for committing a public nuisance, if such attempt was made on bells 'clearly audible outside the tower.'

With regard to refreshments, personally I see very little sense in the present rule that no ringer in a record attempt shall have food handed to him, and less in the proposal that he shall not partake of any food or drink. It makes it possible for an umpire to stop an attempt because a ringer sucks a sweet. It only needs a Central Council resolution that Pat Cannon must eat no raisins during a 5,000 to make the whole thing ridiculous. To my simple mind a peal, whether of 5,000 or 50,000 thousand changes, is purely a test of the ringing ability of the ringers taking part, not a test of physical stamina.

In conclusion, I wish success to those taking part in the attempt at the extent of Bob Major, and hope the catering officer lays on a good feed. It's austerity with a capital 'A' from Whitsun onwards if Scrooge, Marley and Co. get their way, etc.

WEST RETFORD BELLS

Dear Sir,—Whilst greasing the bells of West Retford recently, I copied the inscriptions and was very surprised when I came to the tenor to find it had only the following and no names of benefactor or founder, etc.:

IESVS BE OUR SPEED. 1619.

Could anyone provide me with any information regarding the likely founder of this bell?

It occurs to me that the fifth is also by the same founder. The bell was recast in 1884 by J. Taylor and Co., and bears the inscription:

FILI DEI MISERERE MEI. 1620. RECAST 1884.

Incidentally the fourth is also quite a remarkable bell, it being one of the few recast by T. Hilton, of Wath, and was cast in 1810.—Yours sincerely,

R. HOBBS.

Retford.

EVERCREECH BELLS

Dear Sir,—In answer to your correspondent Mr. Wm. Sheppard, may I say that of course the line should read 'for a period of over 400 years,' as it did in the original writing. I regret that this error occurred in the transcript published in 'The Ringing World.' I must confess I did not spot the mistake myself. The 500-year period, is, of course, concerning the tower.—Yours faithfully,

H. J. SANGER.

Evercreech.

THEOLOGICAL COLLEGES AND RINGING

Dear Sir,—May I please be permitted to comment on some of the points which have been made in letters to your columns, following the publication of my letter on April 3rd.

First, in reply to the Rev. Gilbert Thurlow's encouraging letter on page 239, I would emphasise that in my view lectures should be given even in colleges where ringing is at present flourishing. 'Here we have no continuing city'—when the students at present engaged in instruction leave college there may or may not be others with sufficient experience and knowledge to take their places. Regular annual lectures given by capable persons, appointed by the Diocesan Guilds or the Central Council, would ensure continuity. Here may I say how much I agree with Mr. Paul Birkett's comments. This matter must be approached on a nation-wide scale, with authoritative backing. Has the Central Council approached the Central Council for Training for the Ministry? If not, I urge those responsible for the report on Sunday service ringing to do so.

I am grateful, too, for Mr. Chaddock's letter. From my personal knowledge of Mr. Chaddock and what he does for ringing, I am thankful that he is so deeply involved in this matter, and I shall await his committee's report with interest and confidence.

I am sorry if one point in my previous letter was not quite clear. Mr. Graham is, of course, quite right; one cannot generalise in the matter of how often ringers might reasonably be expected to attend church. In some country districts it involves great hardship and rush for farmers and farm workers to get time off to ring on a Sunday morning, let alone attend service as well, and one must not under-estimate the value of their service as ringers. Again, in several of the large cities I know of many ringers who give generously and willingly of their time and money to ring at two and sometimes three different churches on a Sunday, thereby ensuring that bells that would otherwise hang silent do proclaim a living and vigorous faith.

But ringing can never be a substitute for worship at a church service, and one might reasonably expect officers of the church to put in an appearance from time to time. My deepest concern is for those ringers who hardly ever set foot inside a church for corporate worship; and one does meet such people, Mr. Graham.

In my own parish church at Twerton-on-Avon, Bath, there has never been (and I hope there never will be) a hard and fast rule that ringers shall attend every service for which they ring. But one may attend any service there on a Sunday and be sure of the company of a great proportion of the band. Come to think of it, quite a number of the ringers spend more time in church on a Sunday than do the parish clergy, without any apparent ill effect!—Yours sincerely,

ROGER O. FRY.

Salisbury.

ELY DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION

The annual meeting of the Association was held in the Hunts District on Easter Monday. The day dawned fair, and just before 10 o'clock at Eynesbury, the first ring of the day, about 60 ringers were gathered, and the little belfry was packed, with others waiting up the stairs and outside. Half an hour later the St. Neots fine ring was available and was put to good use. Great Paxton (5) and Buckden (5) followed, and then five miles away the sixes at Great Staughton and Spaldwick and the heavy five at Leighton Bromswold. These were followed by the light five at Winwick, Alconbury (6), Brampton (5), and the delightful eight at Godmanchester. At St. Mary's, Huntingdon, a slight delay was incurred over a wedding.

Finally came the service at All Saints' (6). The Hunts District president, Rev. J. M. E. Bagley, officiated, with Mr. M. J. Dyer at the organ. About 200 people attended the service, and the singing was a joy to listen to. Tea at the All Saints' Hall was served by local ladies, and whilst we were crowded out with many standing, a good tea was provided.

Before the business meeting visitors were told that the three local towers were open, and many availed themselves of this. At the meeting, with the Rev. J. M. Bagley in the chair, Mr. W. J. Ridgman resigned as general secretary, and Mr. T. S. Peacock was elected to succeed him. The Central Council members for the 24th session were elected as follows: Messrs. J. G. Gipson, D. E. R. Knights, E. H. Mastin, H. S. Peacock. Mr. F. N. Lack did not seek re-election.

A hearty vote of thanks was accorded by Mr. F. W. Lack to all who helped to make the day a success.

JOINT MEETING AT HACKNEY

A joint meeting of the Society of Royal Cumberland Youths and the London County Association was held on April 11th at St. John's, Hackney, and despite the inclement weather a goodly number attended. It was remarked by those who remembered the old eight that the present ring was a great improvement. A wedding curtailed ringing, but the happy pair had the unexpected pleasure of being rung in and out.

Ringling in the evening took place at St. Leonard's, Shoreditch, and enabled some younger ringers to perform on 12 bells for the first time. Ringling was of quite a good order in a variety of methods, and included Plain Bob and rounds for the learners.

Mr. P. N. Bond, Master of the Society of Royal Cumberland Youths, and Mr. T. H. Taffender, Master of the London County Association, who were joint Ringing Masters, expressed their pleasure at having an enjoyable meeting.

BATH AND WELLS DIOCESAN

At the Chew Deanery quarterly meeting at Wrington on April 18th, with Mr. H. W. Knight in the chair, two members from St. Andrew's, Clevedon, were welcomed back into the Association. Four new members from Yatton and one each from All Saints', Clevedon and Wrington, were elected. The service was conducted by the Rector (the Rev. Bernard Lee), the tea fully maintained Wrington's reputation and the ringing was in methods up to Cambridge Royal.

NEW LEADERS FOR LEICESTER GUILD

FOR some few weeks it had been obvious that the 1959 annual meeting would prove to be an interesting and exciting event. The reasons were that two general officers were retiring after many years of service; that there was to be an election for several vacancies in the officers; and that controversial alterations to rules were to be discussed. All these factors resulted in a larger attendance than usual, both at the tea and afterwards.

PRESENTATIONS

After tea came what was probably the most pleasant part of the proceedings. Mr. Arthur Rowley, who had been treasurer of the Guild since it was formed in 1946 (and in office in the former Loughborough and Hinckley Districts of the original Midland Counties Guild for many years previous) was not seeking re-election this year. To mark his retirement the president (Mr. Paul L. Taylor) presented him with a picnic set. Mr. E. Charles Turner, a vice-president of the Guild since 1948, chairman of the Hinckley District and a Central Council representative, was also not seeking re-election. To mark his retirement, the president presented him with a propelling pencil. Both Mrs. Rowley and Mrs. Turner were presented with bouquets by Rosemary, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. P. J. Staniforth.

The secretary's report recorded with pleasure another increase in membership. On December 31st the membership figure stood at 689. (In addition there were 79 who failed to pay the 1958 subscription.)

20 TOWERS NEED ASSISTANCE

The Leicester Diocesan Guild is regarded throughout the country as being the leading Guild in peal ringing and in social activity, but there is one part of our work—that of improving the quality of our Sunday service ringing—where we are not as good as we ought to be. In response to a request from the Central Council we went to not a little trouble and expense to carry out a survey of the Sunday service ringing. This survey showed that out of a total of 136 towers the ringing is only regarded as completely satisfactory in 54 of them and 20 towers are in need of assistance.

The treasurer reported that the general fund had a credit balance of £15 17s. 2d. during the year, which increased the balance in hand to £93 16s. 1d. Other balances were: Bell Repair Fund £150 14s. 3d., Catering Reserve Fund £7 2s. 5d.

The total of 181 peals were rung during the year—150 on tower bells and 31 on handbells. This was 10 less than 1957. Methods rung for the first time were Childwall College Bob Major, Kibworth Surprise Major, Uplyme Surprise Royal, and Wye Surprise Maximus. Thirty people rang their first peal and three their first as conductor. The leading conductor was the general secretary, who called 50 peals, followed by Mr. B. S. Payne and Mr. P. J. Staniforth, who each called 12. There were 44 different conductors. Personal milestones included Mr. E. Morris' 1,800th peal, Mr. B. G. Warwick's 550th peal, Mr. J. A. Acres' 500th peal, Mr. B. S. Paine's 150th peal, Mr. A. Disney's and Doreen Dutton's 100th peal, Mr. R. H. Cook's 50th peal. The report ended with a warning that, as there had been three false peals rung during the year, it was advisable for conductors to have more than one competent opinion on the truth of any new composition or variation of the use of an existing one.

NEW OFFICERS

Special voting papers had been printed for the elections. Miss Claire Dillamore and Miss Linda Richardson, of Lincoln, acted as tellers—a most thankless task which was appreciated very much. The result of the voting showed that Mr. Paul L. Taylor, who had been president since the death of the first president, Mr. Harold J. Poole, in 1955, was displaced by Mr. Peter J. Staniforth, the voting being 53 to 70.

There were three candidates for the two vice-presidents—Messrs. P. L. Taylor (107 votes) and F. K. Measures (85 votes) were elected. The unsuccessful candidate was Mr. H. B. Bowley, who had 39 votes.

The general secretary (Mr. B. G. Warwick) was re-elected (without a ballot). Both Mr. Ernest Morris and Mr. John A. Smith were found willing to tackle the vacant office of treasurer. 'Uncle' Ernest received 65 votes and John Smith 58 votes. It is interesting to recall that Mr. Morris was general secretary and treasurer of the original Midland Counties Association until it was disbanded in 1946. Mr. Shirley Burton was re-elected peal secretary, and Messrs. J. P. Fidler and C. Harrison trustees. This year we were also to elect four Central Council representatives to serve for three years from January 1st, 1960. There were six candidates, and the voting was as follows: Peter J. Staniforth 109, S. Burton 105, B. G. Warwick 97, Ernest Morris 71 votes. Unsuccessful were John A. Acres 59, and H. B. Bowley 45 votes.

VOTING POWERS FOR YOUTH

The discussion on the proposed alterations to rules proved long and interesting. The proposal by the general secretary, seconded by Mr. F. K. Measures, that nominations for general officers and for Central Council representatives (when applicable) should be received by the quarterly meeting held on the second Saturday in February instead of one month before the annual, was carried unanimously. Greater interest came in the second proposal that senior members only should be allowed to vote at any meeting (i.e., those who pay the full subscription). This was proposed by Mr. E. C. Turner and seconded by Mr. W. A. Lacey, of Anstey.

The proposer had stated that he was 'only firing the bullets for someone else.' The main argument for the motion was that youngsters should not be allowed to sway the voting at any meeting through the influence of their Ringing Masters, who (it was alleged) instructed them how to vote. It was pointed out that at most meetings, if this was carried, matters would be decided by a handful of members and would be a discouragement to the youth. Eventually the question was put, the voting being 10 for and 114 against.

The third proposal, that peals rung on the afternoon or evening of quarterly or annual meeting days should not be recognised unless sanctioned by the general committee, was proposed by Mr. H. B. Bowley, seconded by Mr. H. Poyner. This led to a lively discussion and was eventually defeated (after two recounts) by 33 votes to 34.

In conclusion Mr. E. C. Turner gave details of the annual dinner, which would be held at the Co-op Safe, High Street, Leicester, on November 7th. The Lord Bishop of Leicester would be the chief guest. Tickets would be available shortly from the general secretary (price 11s. each).

The president moved a vote of thanks to the local Leicester District secretary, Mr. J. P. Kesterton, for making the arrangements.

WINCHESTER & PORTSMOUTH

On a wet, miserable Saturday afternoon about 20 people attended the first Andover quarterly meeting at Ampot to sample the unusual six with the rope circle hanging in the centre of the church. Mr. A. W. Alliston presided at the business meeting and presented a report on the executive committee meeting. The next meeting, a joint one with the Basingstoke District, was fixed for June 20th at Kingsclere, Sydmonton and Burghclere.

A DAY OF QUARTERS AND TOWERS IN SOMERSET

A day's ringing tour in Southern Somerset, expertly arranged by 'J. B.' took place on April 11th when the party, representing towers in Bristol and the Bridgwater and Chew Deaneries in Somerset, met at Shepton Mallet and rang a quarter peal of 1,312 Double Norwich Major: B. A. Shackleton (first of Double Norwich) 1, Monica Horseman (first 'inside') 2, R. D. Short 3, D. E. Cobb 4, M. J. Horseman 5, J. Brain 6, D. J. Hunt 7, R. G. Hooper (first as conductor) 8.

Various Minor methods were rung at Bruton, and after a sandwich lunch we were joined by Gwylm Salmon and Mr. Sanger and Tony at Evercreech, where 1,299 Stedman Caters were brought round in 49 minutes: D. J. Hunt 1, B. A. Shackleton (first of Stedman Caters) 2, Monica Horseman 3, R. G. Hooper (conductor) 4, A. J. Sanger 5, G. Salmon 6, M. J. Horseman 7, J. Brain 8, D. Cobb 9, H. J. Sanger 10.

The party were met by Mr. W. Osborne at North Cadbury, with its well-kept belfry and churchyard, and a course of Surfleet was successfully rung. After tea at the Catash Inn (kindly arranged by Mr. Osborne) the light eight at Castle Cary were visited, again in a beautifully-kept belfry, and Mr. Creed, who welcomed and rang with us, said modestly it was all due to having 16 lady ringers in his band.

The final quarter peal was on the famous octave at Ditchat, where 1,280 Yorkshire Surprise Major was rung: B. A. Shackleton 1, R. G. Hooper 2, Monica Horseman 3, D. J. Hunt 4, M. J. Horseman 5, D. Cobb (conductor) 6, J. Brain 7, G. Salmon 8.

Finally, a short visit to the six at Pilton, where ringing was not up to standard, although Spliced Plain and Little Bob and Oswald Delight Minor were on the menu here. A call for refreshments concluded a most enjoyable day.

EYE TENOR'S LAST NOTES

The Miles Graye tenor at Eye Parish Church finished its 319 years on April 19th, when 832 Cambridge Surprise Major was rung for Even-song. The ringers were Arthur Hume, Frank Ruffles, Muriel Page, William J. Button, Charles W. Beecroft, Walter Miller, Walter Ruffles and Leslie G. Brett (conductor). A recording of some of the ringing was taken by Dr. J. Shackleton Bailey, of Eye.

The following day the bells were dismantled by Messrs. Mears and Stainbank. Although the tenor had quite a good note and hum to the end, writes Claude Rush, the crown had a long crack in it and it was felt to be the wrong policy to rehang it as it was. It is sad to think that we have to smash up and boil this old servant who sounded out over the countryside in the reign of Charles I. Nevertheless, we look forward to the result of the bell-founders' skill and the christening of another (?) 300-years-to-be.

SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD

The quarterly meeting of the Devizes Branch was held at North Bradley on April 4th. Despite the very wet day 30 ringers attended, with visitors from Bristol. The Guild service was conducted by the Vicar (Rev. Mr. Shaw) and the choir was in attendance. Mr. P. Harding read the lesson.

The business meeting was presided over by the chairman (Mr. A. Weeks). All present stood as a token of respect to the memory of Mr. G. Oram, of Bishops Cannings, and Mr. A. Angel, of Melksham, who had passed away. Two new ringing members were elected from North Bradley and St. James', Devizes. Votes of thanks were passed to the Vicar and the ladies for providing the tea. All present were the guests for tea of the North Bradley ringers.

GLOUCESTER AND BRISTOL ASSOCIATION

WHEN the Bishop of Gloucester, Dr. W. M. Askwith, joined the members of the Gloucester and Bristol Association at their A.G.M. at Cheltenham he was making his first acquaintance with the Association, of which he is joint president with the Bishop of Bristol. Everyone was impressed with his friendliness and lack of formality.

At tea he spoke of his great pleasure in being able to meet so many ringers (there were 200 present), and stressed the importance of ringing in the life of the Church. He said that it distressed him to discover that there were still many towers in the county which had either bells which were unringable or no ringers to ring them.

In the address at Evensong the Bishop related the story of the rehanging of Sherborne Abbey (Dorset) bells during the time of his incumbency there in the early 1930's. He related with gusto the story of how the tenor bell was pulled from the station to the church by some 300 schoolboys. All the ringers present felt that here was a Bishop who had a sincere interest in ringers and their work, and many welcomed the opportunity of hearing him preach for the first time.

The service was conducted by the Rev. Hugh Evan Hopkins, who has recently come to Cheltenham from St. Mary-le-Bow. He also was making his first appearance at a ringing meeting in this area. His help and co-operation in making arrangements for the meeting was greatly appreciated.

The Mayor of Cheltenham was unable to attend the service owing to the indisposition of the Deputy Mayor, but after tea he gave the ringers a hearty welcome to the town, remarking that even the weather had been specially ordered, for indeed it was a day of brilliant sunshine.

The ringers found the facilities of the Town Hall ideal for such an occasion. It is rare that ringing meetings are held in such spacious surroundings. The daffodils which had graced the tables at tea were afterwards sent to the local hospital for elderly people.

The Master, Mr. W. H. Truman, in his annual report, congratulated members of the Stow-on-the-Wold Branch, which had been reformed. With the rehanging of the Moreton-on-Marsh and Bourton bells there were three good eights in the district.

Mr. W. F. Scudamore, general hon. secretary, reported that, although there had been a drop in numbers of some branches, membership still stood over 1,000. There had been 111 meetings within the branches during the year.

Mr. S. G. Riches, the hon. treasurer, reported that expenditure had exceeded income by £17; senior membership had increased from 855 to 870; junior membership had dropped from 185 to 172. The total worth of Association funds had risen from £405 to £416.

Mr. F. Skidmore was elected the new Master and Mr. Charles Rouse the hon. general secretary. Mr. S. G. Riches was re-elected hon. treasurer. Elected to the Central Council were Messrs. W. Kynaston, L. Barry, Cyril Wratten and R. G. Hooper.

Notice was given that it was intended to put forward a motion at the next A.G.M. that the desirability of dividing the Association as it now stands in two separate societies should be discussed. This suggestion provoked an indignant outburst from many members, but the Master reminded members that this was only notice of intention to put forward a motion. So great was the indignation of some that they wanted to make a proposition there and then that the motion be not accepted, but this was ruled as out of order by the Master.

OBITUARY

CANON C. R. APPLETON

On the last night that Canon Appleton spent in the Rectory at Chester-le-Street last October, the bells rang out in a farewell peal of thanksgiving for his ministry in Chester-le-Street from 1940-1958. The hope that he might enjoy a well-earned retirement was unhappily not fulfilled, and early this year he returned to the parish as a patient in its general hospital. There his health continued to decline, and he died in hospital on April 21st.

The funeral service on April 24th was conducted by the Lord Bishop of Durham, the Archdeacon of Durham and the Rev. G. Scott. The congregation, including many clergy and representatives of various organisations, filled the church to capacity, and loud speakers relayed the service to those outside.

Canon Appleton had always been very proud of his bells and his ringers at Chester-le-Street, and those bells and those ringers paid their last tributes with half-muffled ringing for the funeral and a half-muffled peal of Grandsire Triples during the evening. D. A. B.

MISS C. E. SPARSHOTT

The death took place on April 24th at Christchurch, Hants, of Miss Caroline E. Sparshott, aged 79 years.

Miss Sparshott was for over fifty years a regular ringer at the Christchurch Priory Church, and had taken part in several peals. She was one of the first women in the country to take up ringing. She was well known to the many visitors to the tower.

NORWICH DIOCESAN

Northern Branch

The quarterly meeting was held at Wymondham on April 18th. The Vicar (Rev. J. G. Tansley Thomas) conducted the service, and in his address spoke of the spirit of fellowship amongst bell-ringers, and thought the world would be a better place if more of that spirit existed. He thanked the local band for their staunch support of the church, and congratulated Messrs. W. Clover and H. Tooke on ringing their 200th peal together. Mrs. Tansley Thomas was the organist and the lesson was read by the president (Mr. F. N. Golden).

The attendance of Branch members was disappointing: including visiting ringers, 29 sat down to tea. At the business meeting the chairman (Mr. A. G. Bason) proposed a vote of thanks to the Rev. and Mrs. Tansley Thomas, and to Mr. H. Tooke for arrangements made. Gordon K. Drew, of Wymondham, Miss Susan Cowell and Roy Wiles, of Hethersett, and Edward Walker, of Marham, were elected ringing members.

It was decided to hold a joint Northern and Western interim meeting at Dereham on Saturday, June 27th.

A DEVON TOUR

In the wee sma' hours of April 11th a green and grey Bedford, named 'Ezekiel,' was to be seen speeding eastwards from Truro. Members of Kenwyn band of ringers, having brought their passports up to date and changed their currency, were venturing once more into England for a day's ringing.

The first stop was at Coryton, a tiny village with an equally tiny church containing a ring of five bells, tenor about 6 cwt. It was our intention to attempt a peal here, and we were delighted to welcome into the band the Rev. John G. M. Scott. It was all due to the conductor calling a bob at a plain lead that the attempt came to grief after about forty minutes' ringing. After suitable remarks had been said concerning the capabilities of this particular gentleman, we proceeded to amuse ourselves until midday, when we were joined by Mr. Paul Field from Langport, Somerset, and 'Perce.'

After allowing Paul to grab this tower—his 1,493rd—we proceeded to Marystowe (6, tenor 10 cwt.), with its rather peculiarly timed bells, where we received a welcome from the Vicar and enjoyed well-struck touches of Grandsire and Plain Bob. Then on to Lamerton (6, tenor 11 cwt.), where, after refreshment, we enjoyed ringing on the pleasant bells. On then to Lydford (6, tenor 9 cwt.), famous for its castle and gorge. Here we were welcomed by the Vicar and some of the local ringers, and succeeded in ringing a course of Cambridge Minor. Lew Trenchard (6, tenor 8 cwt.) has a rather curious ring with a fourth that goes 'klunk' at hand. Here we indulged in Paul Field's method of fast tower grabbing, consisting of raising in peal, straight into a six-score of Grandsire, down again in peal and on to the next tower. Here was a lovely little six, tenor 9 cwt., at Stowford, followed by a visit to ring on the bells of the neighbouring parish of Thruselton (6, tenor 9 cwt.).

Dusk was drawing in as we reached the next tower, Broadwood-Widger (6, tenor 10 cwt.), and the bells were about the best six visited. We could not let the day finish without a visit to a tower where the bells are locally reputed to be unringable—the five (tenor 5 cwt.) at Germansweek. It was obvious, on entering the tower, that these bells had not been rung for a considerable time, as the rope on the fourth was an absolute mess. The sally was where the end should have been, and no tail end below it. A large knot prevented passage of the rope through the guides. This was remedied by pulling the rope up and dropping it down again outside the guide. As we started to rise in peal we were all astonished at the wealth of music and harmony poured out by these five little bells. The 'go' was perfect, and we all considered it would be difficult to find a better ring of the same weight, the only fault being the condition of the ropes. We hope soon to take a set of ropes and attempt a peal at this tower.

We would like to express our thanks to the incumbents, and hope that Paul will very soon 'grab' his fifteen hundredth tower.

LEICESTER DIOCESAN GUILD

The isolated Church of St. James, Oaks-in-Charnwood, which was dedicated on the same day as the Battle of Waterloo, and is situated in the centre of Charnwood Forest, was visited by between 40 and 50 members for the Loughborough District meeting on April 18th. A shortened evensong was conducted by the District chairman, the Rev. F. R. S. Byfield, and a sumptuous tea, prepared by local ladies, was served in the Church Hall.

Various Doubles and Minor methods were rung, including Lightfoot Surprise, Sandal and Kingston Spliced. A good fall in peal concluded a happy day.

THE LADIES' GUILD

North-Eastern District

The sixth annual meeting of the North-Eastern District of the Ladies' Guild was held at St. George's, Jesmond, on April 4th. The service was conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. H. G. Piercy), and an excellent tea, prepared by the local ringers, was enjoyed by 20 members and friends.

At the business meeting Miss D. M. Kilingley was re-elected vice-president and Mrs. C. N. Lea hon. secretary. The vice-president, from the chair, proposed re-election of Mrs. K. Arthur and Mrs. K. Lawson to the Central Committee: Mrs. M. A. Ainsworth, Mrs. D. A. Bayles, Miss M. Jennings and Miss J. Robson were elected members of the District Committee.

After the business meeting members adjourned to the tower, where ringing was resumed until 8.30 p.m.

Midland District

Upwards of 30 members were present when the Midland District held its annual meeting at Hucknall on April 11th. Ringing included Bob Major, Grandsire, Kent, Stedman, Double Norwich and Cambridge. The Vicar (the Rev. K. M. Thompson) conducted the service, the ladies of the church provided an excellent tea, and at the business meeting the officers and committee were re-elected, with Mrs. Paling, of Nottingham, filling the place of Mrs. Poole. Five new members were elected. At the invitation, of Mr. and Mrs. A. Rowley, the next meeting will be at Ibstock on June 6th.

ESSEX ASSOCIATION

Between 40 and 50 ringers attended the meeting of the South Western Division at Dagenham on April 11th, but there were absentees. Mr. Crampion was otherwise engaged at Exeter Cathedral, and Prutlewell ringers were seeing Peter Kerry and Mary Jeffrey getting married. Best wishes to all and also to David Beard, who is being married this month.

The Vicar (the Rev. Mr. Patterson) joined the company at tea, and Mr. Willmington thanked him for his welcome and for conducting the service. There was also a welcome for the oldest and youngest members present—ten-year-old Tony from Orsett and 85-year-old Mr. Reeve from Fobbing. Mr. Gant presided, and Mr. Chalk announced that he had invited Mr. Ernest Morris to be their guest at the Essex Association annual dinner.

ESSEX TOWER ARRANGED A WEEK-END TOUR

Enterprise has been shown by the ringers of St. Mary Magdalene, Harlow Common, Essex, by holding their first week-end tour. Southampton was reached at 10.30 a.m. and 90 minutes' ringing enjoyed at the newly-built Church of St. Mary. Lunch was at Sheffield English, where the light eight were rung, and also at Downton and Fordingbridge. After tea, Wimborne Minster and Ringwood were visited, and the day ended with a perfectly struck course of Superlative.

The Avon Hotel, Ringwood, provided good accommodation for the night. Sunday morning was spent at Bournemouth—ringing at St. Peter's and St. John's—and the afternoon at the six-bell towers of South Damerham and Martin. The tour concluded with service ringing at St. Thomas's, Salisbury. For the varied and careful programme the company express their sincere thanks to Mr. Bill Chester, of Ringwood.

A BISHOP'S WELCOME

MOST appropriately the 'Liverpool Diocesan Leaflet' for May has on its front page a picture of ringing in Liverpool Cathedral, and the Bishop, the Right Rev. Clifford A. Martin, devotes his letter 'In praise of bell-ringers.' The Bishop writes:—

'Three years ago I wrote in these notes about the place and value of the church bell in calling people to worship. At that time I referred to the ringers and said that at some future time I might write more in praise of the service they render to the Church.

'This month we shall welcome to Southport the Central Council of Church Bellringers, and it seems a fitting opportunity for me, in referring to this event, to write more about the great fellowship which exists between ringers everywhere.

'A ringer is welcome in any belfry he likes to visit and in most cases he will be offered a rope—one of the old hands standing down, not grudgingly but with an easy grace which quickly puts the visitor at ease. It is well to be sure you can ring a bell before accepting an invitation to take a rope. The art is not as easy as it appears to be. To become proficient in the art of bellringing requires a great deal of patience and perseverance. But given a willing learner there are many good ringers who will readily give time and care to teach the novice. I am glad to see an increasing number of young men and women taking up bellringing. We have some very fine rings of bells in the diocese of Liverpool and a very good band of ringers.

'Ringers in the church tower, although in most cases out of sight of the assembling congregation, perform a very valuable service in preparation for worship. In most belfries the bells are not rung before a prayer has been offered. When the ringing is over and the service commences the ringers (with a few lamentable exceptions) join the congregation at worship, seats usually being reserved for them.

'There is always a ready response by the ringers to a request to come along for a wedding or for some other festive occasion, even though this often means working extra time.

'It is time we raised our voices in praise of the bell-ringers and occasionally they should be given a word of thanks when the whole congregation is assembled.

'To ringers and others I commend a most interesting book about bells. It is called "Bells of the Nations" and is written by Ernest Morris, Ringing Master of St. Margaret's, Leicester. This book is full of interest both in the reading matter and in the many illustrations and provides any amount of information about the history of bells. The largest bell in this country is in St. Paul's Cathedral: "Great Paul" weighs 16 tons 15 cwt. Second to "Great Paul" comes "Great George" in our own Cathedral—14 tons 10 cwt. These are enormous bells, but are quite small in comparison with the heaviest bell in the world, which is reputed to be in Moscow "Kolokol." This bell weighs 193 tons.

'Churches which possess a good ring of bells should take great care of them and use them regularly. Where a ring of bells is not possible, a really good deep-toned tenor bell is the next best thing. Let the church bell be heard every day, so that it may be known that the people of God are called to worship daily.'

Miss Pamela M. Jervis, of Slough, sends us a cutting from 'The Ocean Press,' published on board the S.S. 'America' telling of an unusual idea to place thousands of bells on Burke Mountain, Vermont, in a series of peace shrines. The bells would be ringing in a constant petition for peace. Says Louis Lamoureux, who is undertaking the project, 'The bells will ring equally on the strength of the summer breezes and winter winds.' He expresses the hope that someone will donate a carillon for the summit of the mountain.

BELFRY

Cookham ringers have elected a new tower committee consisting of Mr. Ernest Eldridge, Ringing Master; Mr. Bertram Lake, Deputy Master; Miss Janet Taylor, secretary; Mrs. E. Eldridge, treasurer. For some time Cookham had been without a steeplekeeper and grateful thanks are given to Mr. James Muller, who is undertaking this work.

In the current issue of the Malmesbury Abbey magazine, the Vicar (the Rev. Arthur Beagham) has suggested that some of the young people might like to learn the art of bellringing and continues: 'There has never been wanting a succession of the noble order of companions of the tower, whose happy function it is to call God's people to worship.' A noble tribute, indeed, to the Exercise.

Quite a pleasant afternoon was spent at Heptonstall on May 2nd, when four friends from Darlington made the journey into Yorkshire to meet old acquaintances and new ones at Heptonstall to ring a peal on these wonderful bells. The other four ringers were from the Manchester Diocese. The peal was to celebrate the centenary of the Church Union, and a High Mass was sung at 12 noon in Manchester Cathedral on that day also to celebrate the occasion.

GOSSIP

Two soccer fans from near Burton-on-Trent combined their visit to the Wembley Cup Final with a peal of Xenia Surprise at St. Albans. They scored one, too, which was what Luton Town would like to have done in the closing minutes! Their dismay at the result was amply consoled by the lavish hospitality after the match at the Stanmore home of Mr. and Mrs. H. George Hart.

Truro Diocesan Festival will be held on July 18th.

Regarding the peal at Whittlesey, Cambridgeshire (see page 279) we are now informed that it was rung at the Church of St. Andrew, and the weight of the tenor is 19 cwt. 13 lb. in E.

In response to 'Cheshire Cat's' advertisement, 'F. S.' writes: 'Regret bath chairs are in very short supply at the moment. Having a shrewd idea as to whom they are required for, may I offer you a very nice line in "brain scrapers"? I can assure you they are very effective.'

Mr. George Watson, Doncaster District Society's secretary, has been for three weeks convalescing at the Transport General Workers Union's Convalescent Home at Buxton. He was able to participate in Sunday service and practice ringing at Fairfield and Burbage, and for the pleasure gained from these facilities he expresses his sincere thanks through 'The Ringing World.'

The peal at Chatham on May 2nd was arranged so that Mr. Cyril J. Gould and Mr. Alan Wrigley could ring a peal together again. Their last was on February 28th, 1948. The band wish to thank Mr. and Mrs. Wrigley for their hospitality after the peal.

PRESIDENT'S CORDIAL

WELCOME

We have received the following message from the president of the Lancashire Association (Rev. R. D. St. John Smith):—

Dear Sir,—May I through the medium of 'The Ringing World' express, on behalf of the committee and members of the Lancashire Association, a very cordial welcome to the members of the Central Council, their families, and other visiting ringers, on the occasion of the Council meeting at Southport?

It is 27 years since the Central Council last met in Lancashire, and we of the Lancashire Association count it an honour to extend hospitality to the Council this year.

There were many possible centres in Lancashire for us to consider, in every one of which I know the Council would have received a warm welcome. Finally we selected Southport as being a convenient centre and also a pleasant resort for those who are able to combine a short holiday with the Council meeting. The general secretary, Mr. Dunkerley, and I have received every possible assistance from both the civil and ecclesiastical authorities while making the arrangements at Southport, and we look forward with pleasant anticipation to what will, we trust, be a happy and memorable occasion in the history of Lancashire ringing.

To one and all we extend a very sincere welcome to the county of the Red Rose.—Yours truly,

R. D. St. JOHN SMITH,
President, The Lancashire Association.

WALTHAM ABBEY RINGERS 'AT HOME'

A function of an unusual nature took place at Waltham Abbey on April 25th. The ringers held an 'At Home' in the church tower, to which were invited parents, wives and friends of the ringers. The proceedings commenced with tea which was served to the 45 people present. The Vicar (Canon Cleall) welcomed the guests and expressed his pleasure at seeing so many interested parents who had come to learn something of the intricacies of the science of bell-ringing.

Later in the proceedings the Vicar, who is leaving the parish to become Archdeacon of Colchester, was presented with a farewell token which took the form of a silver monogrammed serviette ring. The presentation was made on the ringers' behalf by Mrs. C. W. Roberts, who thanked the Vicar for his co-operation during past years and extended to him good wishes for the future.

The evening continued with demonstrations of bell control and method construction. Many of the people present climbed to the top of the tower to see the bells.

The function was declared a great success and did much to illustrate the fascination of the art of campanology.

LONG LENGTH NOTICE

Dear Sir,—We give notice that a band will attempt to ring 9,568 Spliced Surprise Major at Over, Cheshire, on Saturday, May 23rd, commencing at 1 p.m.

The composition, by Mr. A. J. Pitman, is given below.—Yours faithfully,

C. KENNETH LEWIS.

PETERBOROUGH DIOCESAN

Methods practised ranged from rounds to Spliced Surprise when 40 members of the Towcester Branch met at Green's Norton on April 25th. The Archdeacon of Auckland (Ven. A. E. Prebble), who is acting Rector, conducted the service and gave an inspiring address. The Rev. J. T. Lewis proposed a hearty vote of thanks to the Archdeacon and the ladies for the excellent tea provided.

The Northampton Branch meeting at Cogenhoe on April 25th was attended by 75 ringers, and special welcomes were accorded Miss Steele (president of the Bedfordshire Association) and Mr. Gayton, of Harrod, by the president (Mr. S. F. Earl). Miss Steele was called upon to present a 'first peal certificate' to Miss Jennifer Saunders, The Rector (Rev. Mark Meynell) conducted the service, and methods rung included Cambridge and London Surprise, Kent and Oxford Treble Bob, Double Oxford and St. Clement's Minor.

IRISH ASSOCIATION

The annual meeting of the Executive Council of the Irish Association was held in St. George's Parochial Hall, Dublin, on April 25th. Mr. W. Pratt presided and addressed the meeting on their responsibilities as bell-ringers and as officers of the Association.

The annual report and statement of accounts both recorded healthy conditions, the latter due to the visit of the Central Council as a result of increased membership.

The report stated that it was most fitting that the first time the Central Council ever met outside England was in the Jubilee Year of the Association at Dublin. It was a year of great activity in ringing circles and of much appreciated co-operation by all towers, affiliated and unaffiliated, to make the Jubilee Year of the Association a memorable one. The report records the presentation to the president of the Central Council with a shillelagh, suitably inscribed to commemorate the Council's first visit to Ireland.

The report of the 'Irish Bell News' showed increased circulation amongst readers outside its jurisdiction with an indication of further increases later. The accounts were balanced.

It was decided to hold the 1960 meeting on May 14th, on which date the Murphy Cup competition has been arranged.

NEW LIFE MEMBERS

Four life members were elected, viz: Frederick J. Scott, of Christ Church Cathedral, Dublin; Thomas Livingston, Lurgan, for services to ringing for over 50 years; Samuel R. McClelland, St. Thomas', Belfast, founder member of the Northern Branch in 1927; and Fred E. Dukes, Drogheda, for services to ringing.

The election of officers resulted as follows: President, Mr. William Pratt, Holywood; Master and librarian, Mr. Robert F. Murphy, Dublin; general secretary, Mr. Fred E. Dukes, Meadow Cottage, Julianstown, Co. Meath; representatives on Central Council, Mr. F. E. Dukes, Mr. J. T. Dunwoody and Miss Jean Stewart; badge secretary, Mr. John T. Dunwoody; auditors, Mr. R. W. Smyth and Mr. W. E. Bovenger; 'Irish Bell News' Editorial Committee, Mr. F. E. Dukes (editor), Mr. G. Bingham, Miss Jean Stewart and Mrs. F. E. Dukes.

It had come to the notice of the Council that recordings of cup contest ringing had been made at some competitions and played back after the results had been announced. The Council unanimously passed a resolution that permission will not be given for recordings to be made in the future. Any party doing so would infringe the Copyright Act.

The annual contest for the Murphy Cup was held on the bells of St. George's Church, Dublin, on the same day. The finalists were St. Donard's Church, Belfast, St. Peter's, Bandon, and St. Peter's, Drogheda. All teams struck well, but none so well as St. Donard's, who have now won the cup for the first time; they had 11 faults. Bandon came second with 36 faults; Drogheda had 46 faults. St. Donard's and Bandon both rang six bells, whilst Drogheda rang the octave. The judges were Fred Bogan, James McManus and Harry Brown. In the absence of Mr. Murphy, Mr. Harry Ellis acted as Ringing Master.

BRADBOURNE BELLS RING AGAIN

The six bells at the village church of Bradbourne, near Ashbourne, Derbyshire, have been silent over a number of years. It is understood that the late rector stopped ringing because he considered that it endangered the fabric, although he did allow some visitors to try the bells about two years ago. Bradbourne benefice has now been joined with Brassington, where the Vicar (Rev. J. D. Lytle) has formed a band (including himself), and the six bells there are now being rung regularly on Sundays.

When Mr. Lytle took over Bradbourne, Mr. B. P. Morris, general secretary of the Derbyshire Association, approached him for permission to inspect the bells at Bradbourne with a view to getting them rung. With Mr. F. W. Haycock, the Ashbourne steeplekeeper, the inspection was duly carried out. There was evidence that in the past the bells had been looked after. The wire netting was sound and the ropes were properly fixed and in good condition. As for the bells, they hang in a massive iron frame, and there is room for a light 12 on one level. The walls to the Norman tower are about six feet thick. We were convinced that with the aid of spanner, grease and castor oil the bells could be rung.

On April 21st ringers from Ashbourne, Derby, Overseal and Church Gresley visited the tower and good ringing was enjoyed ranging from rounds to Cambridge Surprise. The bells went exceptionally well, and some villagers came along and expressed appreciation of hearing the bells rung again.

The bells are pealable, and Mr. Lytle will be pleased to welcome visitors to ring on the bells at either Bradbourne or Brassington. His address is Brassington Vicarage, Derby.

A BERKSHIRE OUTING

Favoured by fine weather, a party of 20 ringers visited South East Berkshire on April 4th.

Ringing started at Winkfield, a good Mears six, followed by Warfield (8); Binfield, a merry six; Easthampstead, where the bells are a great improvement; Sandhurst, a popular tower with all the band; and Yateley, with its well-known timbered tower containing an eight of rather mixed tone.

A course of Beverley was rung at Finchampstead. The opinion of Arborfield bells was that they needed attention. At Wokingham only one tower, St. Paul's, was available. All Saints' tower is under repair, and the architect did not think ringing advisable. Some of the local band at Hurst, who were ringing for a wedding, joined with the visitors afterwards. Two good towers were Shiplake (Oxon) and Waltham St. Lawrence, as well as at Shottesbrooke. A course of Bristol was managed on the heavy eight at Bray. Ringing concluded at the disused church at Braywood, in the middle of a wood, and approached by a rough track. An oil lamp was found to enable the pleasant five to be rung.

GUILDFORD DIOCESAN GUILD

Brigadier Hill, a ringer who is staying in the district from Lagos, Nigeria, was welcomed by Major E. J. Bragg at the very friendly Farnham District meeting at Ash on April 25th. The Rector (Rev. H. M. Insley) conducted the service with Mrs. Beadle as organist. The ladies of Ash provided the tea.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

THEOLOGICAL COLLEGES AND RINGING

Dear Sir,—In reply to Mr. Fry's welcome letter on the above subject I would like to assure him that the Central Council for training for the Ministry and all theological colleges which have not yet been asked to arrange for lectures, etc., will be approached on behalf of the Sunday Service Ringing Committee through the appropriate Guilds in the very near future.

I agree with him on the importance of this work and several Guild officers have already written to me of progress they have made in response to this committee's request. Perhaps at a later stage Mr. Fry may be able to help in setting up some permanent organisation relating to theological colleges and ringing activities. The ready response by several Guild officers to help is a very encouraging start.—Yours sincerely,

NORMAN CHADDOCK.
Convener,
Central Council Committee on Sunday Service Ringing.

BROADCAST BELLS

Dear Sir,—I was interested to read the history of the Evercreech bells by Mr. Sanger, and would like to say that, like many other ringers of my acquaintance, I make a point of listening to '8.55 on the Light' on Sunday mornings. In my opinion the ringing recorded in these broadcasts is a credit to all concerned, and I would like to know more about the towers and ringers involved.

We know that the 10-bell ringing comes from Evercreech, but what were the eight bell recorded today (May 3rd)—were they Chewton Mendip's? How many records have the B.B.C. at their disposal for this purpose, and are they, generally speaking, the same ringers who made the 6-, 8- and 10-bell recordings?

If Mr. Sanger can help us to identify the bells which are being relayed, I think it will make the recordings all the more interesting to listen to. Whoever the ringers are, I would like to congratulate them on really first-rate striking which is a model to us all.—Yours truly,

A. J. GOULD.

Portishead.

MANUDEN HAS FIVE BELLS

Dear Sir,—The letter from my friend Ron Russ makes interesting reading, but I am afraid his information is incorrect in one particular.

Unless the ring at Manuden, Essex, has been augmented very recently and with great secrecy, it consists of five bells only! The tenor is certainly about a semitone sharp, a peculiarity shared with, among others, the five in the unusual wooden detached tower at Brookland, Kent.—Yours sincerely,

PETER N. BOND.

Fordcombe, Kent.

We are sorry to hear that Eric Edginton, of King's Bromley, has been in hospital for a number of weeks. Friends who rang in a peal at Mavesyn Ridware express through it a 'get well soon' message.

'TIN CANS' REFUTED

Dear Sir,—There is a saying about three churches in the Isle of Axholme: 'Haxey for ringing, Epworth for singing, and Belton for old tin cans.' How and when it originated, or how widely known it is I cannot say, but so far as Belton is concerned it does not ring true. For soon the bells of All Saints' Parish Church will ring out in stronger protest to what its parishioners consider is an unkind and unjust jibe.

The four bells, one bearing the date 1643, and the tenor weighing just over 11 cwt., are soon to be augmented to a Minor ring by Taylors, of Loughborough.

The villagers contend that the bells of Belton are as sweet and harmonious as those of other churches of similar size in the district.

Several years ago an appeal was launched, and from parishioners and owners of land in the parish £1,700 was raised to put the bells and tower in a good condition.

The Loughborough founders installed a new steel frame, making provision for two new bells, and also tuned the four bells and hung them on ball-bearings. At the same time a Doncaster firm attended to the stonework and strengthened the tower.

Since 1955, when the bells were rededicated, the local ringers have raised approximately £250 by running dances and other social events in the village hall towards the cost of installing two new bells. Another £200 is needed to cover the cost of these bells, which will be in their place in the new frame by July or August.

At the time the bells were being rehung the ringers were busy building a new floor immediately under the bells. In February of this year the ringers were employed in a job of a similar nature in their spare time. They built a new floor in the belfry from which they now ring. The new ringing floor is nine feet above the old one, which is now used as a choir vestry.

When the local ringers first started to ring they were instructed by the Haxey band, and when they get their new bells they will require instruction in method ringing.

Any donations to the cost of the bells will be greatly appreciated, however small, sent to the following address: M. Rose, High Street, Belton, near Doncaster.

SUB-EDITORIAL INJUSTICE?

Dear Sir,—It is not like you to be thoughtless or unkind. On the contrary.

I therefore cannot understand your note in 'Belfry Gossip' about Mr. Hazell's letter to the 'Radio Times'. I have had the pleasure of ringing with Mr. Hazell for a long time, and I can assure you that he is an experienced ringer and he would certainly not write such a misstatement. I assumed, and now know, that your opposite number on the 'Radio Times' so abbreviated his letter as to make nonsense of it.—Yours faithfully,

T. N. HAWKINS.

Windsor.

THEOLOGY AND 'THE RINGING WORLD'

Dear Sir,—I am wondering whether you ought to change the title of 'The Ringing World,' as there seems to be a tendency for people to dogmatise on subjects other than bell-ringing. Some weeks ago we found a churchwarden telling the clergy how to do their work, and now on May 1st another layman seeks to instruct us in evangelism and at the same time teach us theology. 'The Ringing World' hardly seems to be the place to debate these topics, but I hope you will excuse my further misuse of your columns, for I cannot let Mr. Jones' statements go unchallenged.

In his exposition of Christ's teaching on forgiveness, Mr. Jones quotes scripture with the words: 'Judge not . . .', when he has just done that very thing in condemning the action of the Vicar of Shareskill. 'The Vicar . . . has failed in one of his paramount duties.' 'This one has decided that as far as he is concerned God can dispense with this group.' Christ taught us always to forgive—yes, but that did not prevent Him from soundly condemning people like the Pharisees for their hypocrisy and just sham of religion.

These ringers each stated categorically that they had no intention of attending church. That they should be allowed to continue to call the faithful to worship, and to handle the very instruments that ring out to the glory of God, would surely be hypocrisy, if not indeed bordering on blasphemy.

Mr. Jones goes on further to fall into the prevalent heresy of suggesting that church attendance is merely 'a sign of healthy Christianity,' but that a person can be just as good a Christian without it. The popularity of this view in no way makes it right. The Church, with all its weight of scholarship, has said for the last 1,900 years that the Bible clearly teaches us that churchgoing is an essential part of Christianity. Of course, the Church may have been wrong all this time, and Mr. Jones right—but I hardly think so.

If Mr. Jones wishes to continue the argument, perhaps he would do so in the 'Church Times,' or some such paper, because I buy 'The Ringing World' to read about bell-ringing, not pastoralia and homespun theology.—Yours sincerely,

REV. D. G. BRUNNING.
Curate of Usk.

SIMULTANEOUS PEALS WITHDRAWN

Dear Sir,—At the annual meeting of the Cambridge University Guild of Change Ringers on April 30th a motion was passed withdrawing from the records of the Guild the two simultaneous handbell peals rung by members of the Guild on November 30th, 1958.—Yours faithfully,

JAMES R. TAYLOR.
Hon. Secretary.

BELL RESTORATION IN HEXTON'S RUINED TOWER

The chalk tower of St. Faith's Church, Hexton, near Hitchin, Herts, partly collapsed during severe weather in 1947 and, as reported in these columns, the three bells (one nearly 600 years old) clung to a precarious perch amid rotting timbers until they were lowered to safety and stored in the church.

In the last few years the church has undergone a major restoration: a new west window has been installed and the tower made into a safe ruin, with only two walls standing, though this is not apparent from the road, whence it appears to be a normal tower.

Finally, through the generosity of Mr. Francis de Lautour, descendant of the Lords of the Manor of Hexton, in memory of his father, the bells have been rehung by Messrs. Mears and Stainbank in a ground-floor wooden frame, installed, under a cedarwood roof, in the open base of the tower. They are chimed by an Ellacombe apparatus inside the church—an unusual but necessary arrangement.

The canons and original clappers have been retained but new crown-staples have been fitted. The first and third bells (tenor about 9 cwt.) came from the Chandler foundry at Drayton Parslow, Bucks, and are dated 1697 and 1688 respectively. The second bears the inscription 'Ave Maria' and a cross which is attributed to William Rufford, the London founder of the mid-14th century.

TRURO DIOCESAN GUILD

The spring festival of the Truro Branch was held at Crantock on April 25th. About 65 ringers were present, including the president (Mr. A. Carveth), the Ringing Master (Mr. D. Burnett), the Rev. A. S. Roberts and Mr. W. H. Southard, vice-presidents. Mr. Alan Pink, an Oxford ringer, who was a frequent visitor to Cornwall before the war, was also made most welcome.

The service was taken by the Rev. A. S. Roberts and the Vicar of Crantock preached. Ringers formed the choir with Mr. Gouk, of Crantock, at the organ. The new Guild Office was used, and the collection for Branch funds came to £2 5s. 3d.

A lovely tea, given by people of Crantock and served by the wives of local ringers and others, was held in the Church Hall. A small charge was made for the tea, which produced £2 10s. 6d. for general Guild funds.

The methods rung ranged from rounds to Bob Minor, and after tea the eight bells of St. Columb Minor and the six at Newlyn were available, and many went to these towers.

Gratefully Acknowledged

The Editorial Committee acknowledge with gratitude the following donations towards the cost of producing 'The Ringing World':—

Personal.—Belton Ringers 10s., East Kent Outing 4s.

Peals.—Chilvers Coton 4s., Cardiff 5s., Chatham (Kent) 4s., Broughton 3s. 6d., Swynerton 3s. 6d., Kemble 2s. 6d., Meysey Hampton 5s., Staunton 2s. 6d., Newton-le-Willows 3s.

Quarter Peals.—Burstow 2s. 6d., Greenwich 2s., Roydon 2s. 6d., Swindon 5s., East Grinstead 1s., Great Ponton 2s., Ruislip 2s. 6d., North Weald 3s., Henbury (Bristol) 4s., Hertham 3s., Kilburn (London) 2s. 6d., Whitstable (Kent) 3s., Axbridge 2s. 6d., Exning 2s. 6d., Egham 3s., Friskney 2s., Langdon Hills 3s., Sutton-on-Hull 1s. 6d., Warminster 4s., Cranford (Middlesex) 2s. 6d., Stratton (Cornwall) 2s.

Mr. T. Strangeway has succeeded Mr. Irvin Slack as president of the Leeds and District Amalgamated Society.

SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD West Dorset Branch

Twenty-five ringers were present at the quarterly meeting of the West Dorset Branch held at Symondsbury on April 11th. Seven towers in the Branch were represented, with visitors from Yetminster, and Dr. Paul Jonason, from East Harling.

The Guild service was conducted by the Rector (Rev. D. D. Moore) and Mrs. Lewis was organist. Tea was served in the former drawing room of the old Rectory, a building of great proportions, with over 20 bedrooms, telling of an age that is past.

Although having only just returned from the Clerical Guild's tour of Kent, Canon Cox presided at the business meeting. Only two items of interest arose—the dedication of the peal board in memory of the late Rev. F. L. Edwards, at Kington Magna on May 9th, and the next quarterly meeting at Evershot on July 4th. Ringing during the day included London Surprise Minor.

Dorchester Branch

When the Dorchester Branch held their spring quarterly meeting at Piddlehinton, two new members from the local tower and four from the new band, at Piddletrenthide were welcomed by the chairman (Rev. P. J. Heaton). The next meeting will be at Cattistock, and Branch practices are arranged for St. Peter's, Dorchester, on May 23rd, Little Cheney on June 6th, Leigh on June 20th.

The Rector (Rev. E. W. Davies) conducted the service and based his address on fellowship of membership of the Guild, and being joined together in one common purpose of calling others to worship and then joining them in the service. Tea was served at the New Inn to 33 members.

SILENT PEAL OF SPLICED SURPRISE ATTEMPT

On Whit Monday, at St. Saviour's Church, Oxton, Wirral, Cheshire, an attempt will be made by members of the Central Council to ring (silent) a peal of Spliced Surprise Major in four methods. Start, 10 a.m. Composition: 5,152 SPLICED SURPRISE MAJOR in four methods

GUILD of DEVONSHIRE RINGERS

Despite pouring rain from early morning to 6 p.m., 48 ringers sat down to tea at the quarterly meeting of the S.W. Branch at Lifton on April 25th. Many came from a distance, including the president (Preb. E. V. Cox), who made the journey of 64 miles. Another welcome visitor was Mr. W. J. Harvey, after his illness. A bright service, conducted by the Rector, was followed by an excellent tea provided by the ladies.

At the business meeting it was announced that Mr. Fice (Stowford) and Miss Doreen Smith (Emmanuel, Plymouth) had qualified for Guild certificates. Miss Virginia Drake (Emmanuel), Mr. Hodge (Plymouth St. Maurice) and Mr. Williams (Lifton) were elected performing members, and the Rector and the Rev. R. J. Hearne honorary members.

Ringings were supervised by Mr. T. G. Myers, and afterwards several members visited St. Stephen's, Launceston, and were entertained by Mr. and Mrs. Hillman. While the Branch can claim few honours in ringing peals or even quarter peals, a very happy spirit prevails.

HALIFAX AND DISTRICT ASSOCIATION

Owing to the second rope breaking as the first team were ringing their test piece, there was an hour's delay in the 6-bell contest at Earlsheaton on April 18th, and ringing was restricted to six-score practice and 360 changes. The judge (Mr. George Perrin) gave his results as follows: Frieze 33 faults, Shelley 65, Meltham 73, Thornhill 99, Batley 169, Kirkheaton 199.

Receiving the silver cup, Mr. Joseph Burgess said it had taken Frieze many years of hard endeavour to reach the top. He advised all bands to keep on trying. This was endorsed by the chairman (Mr. E. Earnshaw), who said the main aim of the Association's contests was to improve Sunday service ringing by the way of striking.

Wishes for a speedy recovery from illness are to be sent to Mr. Hemingway (Dransfield), and the secretary was instructed to make enquiries as to the cost of an Association badge.

UNIVERSITY OF SHEFFIELD GUILD

The University of Sheffield Guild held a day tour in North Derbyshire on April 25th. After a week of sunny weather, two cars set out in pouring rain, which was to last all day. A good start was made at Bakewell (8), and a reasonable standard of ringing was maintained at the other towers visited. These were Great Longstone (6), Eyam (6), Tideswell (8), Fairfield (8) and Burbage (6), all of which proved to have easily-handled rings. A variety of methods was rung, and a touch of Stedman Triples at Fairfield was probably the best of the day.

UNIVERSITY OF LONDON SOCIETY

The Society's 14th annual general meeting was held in the Parish Hall of St. Olave's, Hart Street, London, on May 2nd, preceded by ringing at St. Lawrence Jewry.

Considerable time was occupied by amendments to the constitution of the Society. Reports by the Master, secretary and treasurer having been read and adopted, officers for 1959-60 were elected. Philip Gray was re-elected as president. Other officers elected include: Master, Mr. J. M. Lakin; treasurer, Mr. M. R. Rose; secretary, Mr. M. P. Barton. City and Guilds College, Exhibition Road, S.W.7. Denis Layton was re-elected as Central Council representative.

After discussion of the Whitsun and summer tours the meeting closed with a vote of thanks to all who had helped with the arrangements.

OXFORD UNIVERSITY SOCIETY'S EASTER TOUR

THIS year the tour was centred on Cambridge and lasted from March 30th until April 3rd. What the attraction was never made itself apparent, but the fact remains that the organised organiser, Dermot Roaf, had managed to persuade upwards of 30 members of the Society, past and present, to come, by inordinate efficiency and a quite indecent amount of circularisation.

After a dinner on Saturday, ominously indicative of what was to come, Dermot reprinted his programme which, although timed in detail gave rise to doubts in the minds of some when they saw the word 'peal' no less than nine times, turning to genuine dismay when it was realised that lunch was given between half and one hour. However, we trusted.

Easter Sunday arrived, and according to our programme one ringer was required at Trumpington (8) to make up the band for a quarter peal at 6.10 a.m. One was duly sent, and returned later to announce that the programme was absolutely correct—only six locals appeared.

A breakfast maintaining the trend noted (this eventually caused the formation of a splinter group who breakfasted at 'The Waffle') was followed by ringing at Trumpington, where we were pleased to find Ralph Edwards, who helped prevent the tenor falling into unskilled hands. Other Cambridge towers were in use during the day and a peal attempt at Harston for London Minor ceased abruptly with the Master acting on humanitarian principles and calling 'Stand' when the 'Wealdman' on the third complained of physical disability. Longstanton's pleasant light eight, although somewhat odd-struck, in the afternoon helped make Sunday a busy day.

On Monday morning a coach awaited the party outside Great St. Mary's, a peal band was deposited at Trumpington (where Rutland appears to have been successfully rung) and the remainder proceeded to Ickleton—a good eight, albeit rather hard to hear inside. Saffron Walden gave the party its only opportunity to prove its inability on 12, a failing which had repercussions later in the day.

Dermot had allowed a full 35 minutes for lunch, and quite unreasonably the party arrived late at Long Melford (a ring of eight of indifferent quality which is not in keeping with the magnificence of the structure). At Lavenham the octave was rung to many pleasant touches of Grandsire, Stedman and Double Norwich until the others arrived in time to ring London et alia. Everyone seemed to arrive within a quarter of an hour of each other at Clare (8, 28 cwt.), where some difficulty was encountered with bells which do not quite live up to their weight.

We arrived in Cambridge to hear of the events that followed the somewhat anguished moments when our itinerant conductor and composer learnt that the peal of Cambridge Maximus at Great St. Mary's this day had been reduced to Stedman Cinques. The Master, though calm and collected, was sorely tried whilst endeavouring to restore order. The peal was scored in an unusually short time, the tenor always on the watch for the chance to score a few changes of Maximus. In the evening some went to Chesterton, whilst others 'youngerred' and then unearthed a fair.

Tuesday.—The peal band departed for Whittlesey, raising St. Ives bells (8) for the back ringers on the way, and duly scored four-spliced which was probably recognisable as such. Meanwhile the others rang on the eight and six bells at Huntingdon—no windows in the belfry at the former meant candlelight, which showed up some members to best effect! After lunch with the Rumps, in their café, everyone met at Whittlesey (St. Andrew's), an eight of dubious origin. A Minor band (U.A. owing to lack of volunteers) went to Wisbech (St. Mary's) and rang a peal, whilst the remainder visited March (an excellent ring of six and a church with a fine angel roof) and Wisbech (SS. Peter and Paul's, a good ten), where we were met by the Ven. J. P. Pelloc, an old member of the Society. An excellent high tea followed, provided by the Archdeacon, and was much appreciated (in spite of the Master's speech). Hilgay (8 bells) saw the party in Norfolk for the first time, and an uncondemned touch of Stedman was notable for the fact that many of the onlookers developed coughing fits or cold feet.

Wednesday produced a peal of London on the fine octave at Ely, whilst the rabble gave Strettham (6) and Littleport (8) 'the works.' Lunch was again highly organised and advance bands were sent out according to plan to Soham (10) whilst another party plunged into Suffolk to ring a peal of Stedman Caters at Mildenhall (10), called by the Master (successfully).

The opening of the flat season at Newmarket was manifest in the form of a loud report from the rear, but the coach reached the church with little delay and no loss in mobility. The six here are heavy and pleasant.

At Burwell a pleasant hour passed on the light eight, which sound 'different' (in no derogatory sense).

St. Benet's (6) and—yes—Trumpington (8) were available in the evening for those who had not had enough; and as there are some who don't know where to stop, they didn't.

Thursday—the last day of the tour—was memorable. A considerable furore occurred over the planned attempt for Glasgow at Eaton Socon, and Superlative was substituted but lost by a U.A. band after about three-quarters of an hour. The others, spared the necessity of peal ringing, enjoyed St. Neots' bells to the full, a really fine eight in a magnificent tower, and then Eynesbury bells, an anti-clockwise six.

Biggleswade's proved to be an excellent light eight, and the interesting spectacle of the second saying 'Treble's going—she's gone,' and the Master and organiser having a heated exchange in spiced, whetted our appetites for lunch. The afternoon saw us at Baldock, with a heavy, rolling, tub-thumping eight, and Royston, where the theoretical Glasgow band managed a course. Barkway has a good ring and a beautifully-decorated church amidst pleasant surroundings. In the evening the R.C. church at Cambridge, with a truly splendid ring, produced some good touches. This night something most unusual happened. The Master, without his consent, was given a bath in a cold liquid abhorrent to the perpetrators, whilst clad in his two-tone nightwear. A few minutes later his reappearance in his 'twills' so enraged the few that a further incident took place, not at all becoming to the victim's official position.

And so to the 'mystery tour' on Friday, arranged by Mrs. Woolley for anyone heading in the direction of London. Ringing took place at Long Stanton, Over, Benington (of Squire Proctor fame—a beautiful spot) and Ware—a good, if odd-struck, ring here: a pleasant conclusion to an excellent tour, for which we all owe Dermot our grateful thanks. The handbell ringers (who scored twice), the bridge school (imps under my bed), the layabouts and the juveniles—all had their fill, which is good going.

To conclude, grateful thanks must be tendered to the incumbents and local ringers, whose co-operation is essential for any tour; also to the drivers (and Donald) who suffered much tolerantly.

OBITUARY

MR. WILFRED W. BAILEY

After an illness lasting three years, Mr. Wilfred W. Bailey, one of the 11 bellringing brothers of St. Margaret's Church, Leiston, Suffolk, died in London on March 4th, aged 60 years. He was cremated at Putney Vale on March 11th and his remains were laid to rest in The Garden of Remembrance at Leiston during Easter. Mr. Bailey was for many years associated with the tower of St. Mary Abbot's, London.

MR. WILLIAM STIFF

Mr. William Stiff, who for upwards of 30 years was a ringer at St. Mary's, Mistley, Essex, died on April 23rd.

A native of Suffolk, he learned to ring at Monks Eleigh, in the early 1890's, and was an able ringer and conductor of Minor methods. He was something of a character and would tell many a tale of the Suffolk ringers of his early days, such as Arthur Symonds, of Lavenham, and the Slaters, of Glemsford. Although his peal total was not great he was very punctual in attendance at Sunday ringing and at practice. Such men as he are hard to replace. The funeral took place on April 30th.

Peals recorded: Treble Boh Royal 1. Stedman Caters 1. Grandsire Caters 2. Superlative Surprise Major 1. Treble Boh Major 5. Boh Major 2. Stedman Triples 2. Grandsire Triples 4. Minor 3. Doubles 2: total 27. Hand peals: Grandsire Caters 2. Grandsire Triples 2.

It is reported that: 'On Thursday, April 29th, Southwell Cathedral was the scene of the wedding of Mr. E. H. Lewis, of Frodsham, to the daughter of Archdeacon Richardson, of Southwell.'

This year it is reported that a larger number than usual of Societies have not as yet paid their affiliation fee.

THE NORWICH ASSOCIATION

Eastern Branch

Winterton, on the Norfolk Coast, was the venue for the meeting of the Eastern Branch on April 25th. The weather, as seems usual whenever a meeting is held at this village, was gusty and wet, but the spirits of the members and friends were certainly not dampened.

The stiff climb up Norfolk's highest tower was tackled by two octogenarians, Messrs. Lidbetter and Harwood, who then proceeded to ring as if they had just had their normal daily constitutional.

The service was conducted by the new incumbent, the Rev. M. P. Bird, who, in welcoming the members, said it was a joy to him to hear his six bells ringing, as at present there are only five ringers.

The meeting was presided over by the Branch chairman, Mr. E. R. Goate, and was attended by the Association president, Mr. F. Nolan Golden. Members stood in silent tribute to the memory of Mr. J. White, of Pakefield, who died recently.

After hearing how, at Happisburgh, another coastal parish, a band of youngsters are teaching themselves ringing with the aid of 'Ropesight' only, the members unanimously voted to hold the next meeting there on July 4th. Mr. E. T. Chapman, Branch Ringing Master, announced that the method for special study at the meeting at Happisburgh would be Stedman Slow Course Minor.

The meeting closed with votes of thanks to the Rector and Mrs. Bird, Mrs. Howard, the organist, and Mr. and Mrs. R. Woodhouse, who, with local ladies, organised the excellent tea.

LINCOLN DIOCESAN GUILD

The 60th annual meeting was held at Lincoln on April Fair Saturday, as it had been over the years of the Guild's existence. There was the usual ringing to suit all tastes at the Cathedral (12), St. Giles' (8), St. Peter at Gowts' (6) and St. Botolph's (6). At the Cathedral Evensong the Lord Bishop of Lincoln welcomed the Guild to Lincoln and later joined the members at tea in the Chapter House. This was the second time that this ancient building had been used for the ringers' tea, and the expressions of satisfaction made one feel that this would be a very pleasant feature of Guild meetings in the future.

The business meeting was held in the Consistory Court, the Guild president (the Dean of Lincoln) presiding.

THE MASTER'S REPORT

The Master (Mr. J. A. Freeman) in his report stated that there was a marked decrease in 1958 in the peal total—101 as compared with 129 in 1957. There were no outstanding peals but the methods rung were up to the standard that had been set by members during recent years.

The year 1958 saw the end of the Northern Branch: it had been replaced by the North and West Lindsey Branches and the Central Branch. He expressed thanks to the two retiring officers—Mr. F. Lord, for ten years hon. secretary of the Northern Branch, and Mr. J. Walden, for 30 years Ringing Master of the Lincoln District.

Another milestone was the diamond jubilee of the Guild. Members should again remember with gratitude not only the men who founded the Guild but also those who over the years have given their services to improve the standard of the ringing, and those who have so efficiently carried on the administrative work.

There was a lengthy discussion on the contents of the 1958 Guild report; some felt that too much stress was placed on peal ringing and not enough on service ringing: this was disputed by others.

There was also criticism of the method of carrying out the recent survey of service ringing in the diocese. The hon. secretary explained that forms were sent to each Branch and District secretary, and from the returns a reasonably accurate summary had been prepared. It had been very difficult in areas where there were no members or in some no ringers: it was gratifying to know that these cases were few. These discussions showed that members were interested in the standard of service ringing—a very healthy sign.

Further details were given of the arrangements for the diamond jubilee dinner to be held at the Saracen's Head Hotel, Lincoln, on October 17th.

All the officers were re-elected with the exception of the auditors. Mr. C. Brown, now being a member of the Guild committee resigned, and Mr. J. L. Millhouse was elected to serve with Mr. W. Tomlinson.

There were many young members present, some ringing on 12 bells for the first time, and the enthusiasm showed made one feel the Guild could go forward into the years that lie ahead with every confidence.

HERTS COUNTY ASSOCIATION

Nine Eastern District towers were represented at the meeting at Little Munden on April 11th. The service was conducted by the Vicar, and Miss Lawrence and her helpers provided a very acceptable tea. Various methods were rung with varying degrees of success, notably Cambridge, Woodbine T.B. and Double Oxford. A resume of the Association's A.G.M. was passed on by the District secretary, who was asked to apply for Bishop's Stortford bells for the May meeting.

FIRST PRESIDENT OF LADIES' GUILD

Members of the Ladies' Guild will be interested to learn that Mrs. Rosetta Alice Sullivan (née Alice White), now 78, is living at Eventide Home, Galt, Ontario, Canada. She has a collection of 150 bells made of china, brass, bronze, silver and gold from all parts of the world.

Mrs. Sullivan began bellringing at the age of 12 at St. Michael's, Basingstoke, and was the first woman to ring a peal. She was the first president of the Ladies' Guild, and at Eventide Home she still has the bell mounted on a wooden frame, which was presented to her by the Ladies' Guild.

She first went to Canada in 1920 and remained there until 1931, when she and her husband returned to England. They built a bungalow on the South Coast, near Worthing.

The Sullivans were in England when World War II broke out; her home was wrecked by blast from a bomb and about half of her collection of 300 souvenir bells was lost. They then returned to Canada and for ten years lived at Kitchener. In 1954 she met with serious injuries in an accident suffering a double fracture of the pelvis and was laid up for a long time. Her husband died in 1955. For the past 18 months she has been living at Eventide, 255, St. Andrew's Street, Galt, Ontario.

OXFORD DIOCESAN GUILD

When the Bicester and District Branch held their meeting at Launton on May 2nd, Mr. Frederick Sharpe had his exhibition of photographs of bells, frames and founders' marks on view as well as a selection of his handbells. A short recital was given by the Launton Handbell Ringers at the conclusion of the meeting.

Visitors included Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Barnett and Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Collins. At the business meeting, Capt. A. D. and Mrs. Sayer, Mr. Graham Penn and Mr. W. Townsend were elected members.

The Rev. J. H. B. Elkerton conducted the service, the Rev. C. P. Sherwood preached and the Master of the Guild (Rev. C. Elliot Wigg) gave the Blessing. An excellent tea was provided by Mrs. Sherwood and helpers. The entrance to the ringing chamber is via an iron ladder holled to the wall, and the fine afternoon reduced the hazards of the climb.

SLOUGH, BUCKS.—On April 30th, 1,260 Grand-sire Triples: K. Ward (first quarter) 1. Pamela Jervis 2. Valerie Hoby (first of Triples and in the method 'inside') 3. Janet Adamson 4. Linda Kew 5. J. R. A. Muller (first of Grandsire Triples 'inside') 6. W. Birmingham (cond.) 7. D. Livingston 8. A 14th birthday compliment to Valerie Hoby.

AN HONORARY RAILWAYMAN RINGER AND 'THE RINGING WORLD'

YOU can't say that there isn't an element of surprise in being a bell-ringer. If anyone had told me when I started that I would eventually become a member of the Railwaymen Ringers' Guild, I would have considered them slightly lacking!

But that is what has happened, and I am not even a railwayman (or should I say railwaywoman?).

How did it happen? Well, I blame 'The Ringing World.' All I did was to scribble a few thoughts on ringing, rather unoriginally entitle them 'Bats in the Belfry,' and submit them to the Editor. Much to my astonishment they were published, and much to my delight they evoked a charming correspondence with a gentleman who chose 'Owd Bat-er' for his nom de guerre. Time revealed that 'Owd Bat-er' was none other than Mr. Frank Stenson, who was then instrumental in founding the Guild of Railwaymen Church Bell Ringers. Our friendship through correspondence flourished; but we never met, because he lived in Cheshire and I in Surrey.

Then, a short time ago, as you will probably realise if you read your 'Ringing World' as well as you should, the Railwaymen Ringers' Guild held their Annual General Meeting in London. Of course, this was the opportunity for me to see 'Owd Bat-er' in the flesh. And so I did, and what a success and pleasure that meeting was only Mr. and Mrs. Stenson and myself really know. The outcome of this happy Saturday was that I became an honorary member of the Guild of Railwaymen Church Bell Ringers.

I've risked boring you with this story I suppose mainly because I'm quite inordinately proud of being a member of the Guild, but I think the real reason is to reiterate that it was 'The Ringing World' which was responsible for it. I cannot help feeling that it could be the instrument of forging many more ringing friendships, whether the participants had met or not.

It always intrigues me (and my family—non-ringing, by the way) to read of the exploits and feats of other ringers; and what a pleasure it is to meet them in the flesh after having read of them. You are already more than half way to knowing them because you have seen their names in 'The Ringing World' and you are aware of their doings. You picture what they look like and how they might behave, and what fun it is to compare your images with the real thing. I must admit that sometimes you are sadly disillusioned, but on the whole the person concerned usually surpasses your expectations. And all these delightful speculations can be yours for the purchase of a copy of 'The Ringing World.'

Sometimes I've wondered whether it would not be better for some of whom I call 'the angry young men' of ringing to use the columns of 'The Ringing World' for making friendships and interesting us lesser ringers in their activities and ambitions, rather than using them for showering abuse on their fellows and claiming their superiority above all others.

I daresay that statement will spark off more correspondence and, who knows, I may yet become an honorary member of another Guild. Is it possible to start a Guild of Angry Young Men Ringers? It's a fearsome thought!

Seriously though, there is a great deal of pleasure and interest to be found in our journal, and it is surprising the number of ringers one meets who do not subscribe to it. It is a pity, because 'The Ringing World' does keep us in touch with one another, whether we be great ringers or small.

There you are you see, my becoming a railwayman ringer (albeit honorary) has produced this diatribe against angry young men and non-subscribers to 'The Ringing World.' But more important, it has produced friendships that I will treasure for many years. I recommend you to try it sometime.

NANCY KEMPESELL.

WHITSTABLE RINGERS' DEVON TOUR

Based on Paignton, a band of ringers from All Saints', Whitstable, had an enjoyable week's tour in South Devon, starting on April 6th. The only mishap of the week occurred at Dean Prior, when on the last blow of the fall the rope of the second broke. Two unsuccessful attempts were made for a peal of Plain Bob Minor at Churston on the Saturday. Neither lasted very long: the general opinion was that it was the wrong end of the week for three hours' concentration and that a cream tea would be more inviting.

The help of the three gentlemen from Babba-combe who accompanied the party each day was much appreciated; had it not been for them the party would have been utterly exhausted by the end of the week. Special thanks are due to Alf, from Dartington, who arranged the programme.

GUILDFORD DIOCESAN GUILD Chertsey District

Although it could have received better support, an enjoyable meeting was held at Old Woking on May 9th, attended by about 24 ringers.

The Vicar (Rev. K. C. Phillips) conducted the service.

Owing to unforeseen circumstances, the original arrangements for tea had to be cancelled at the last moment. Mr. Belcher, of a local shop, kindly stepped in at two days' notice, and provided an excellent tea, set out in his garden, for which we were most grateful.

Following the business meeting, held in the churchyard for want of better accommodation, ringing continued in the standard methods until 9 o'clock.

LEEDS & DISTRICT SOCIETY

Over 50 ringers attended the annual meeting of the Leeds and District Society on May 2nd at Leeds Parish Church, and some very good ringing was enjoyed, ranging from rounds to Cambridge Surprise Maximus.

The retiring president (Mr. Irvin Slack) presided at the opening of the business meeting, and he and the Precentor (Rev. T. Bone, Precentor of Leeds Parish Church) welcomed the visitors.

New members elected were: Ringing members, Mr. I. Lumley and Mr. P. Lumley (Calverley), and non-resident members, Miss L. Wilkinson, Mr. I. Woolford and Mr. C. Reeves (York Minster).

The secretary (Mr. D. Thorp) gave a satisfactory report and the financial statement indicated that the Society was in a very good position indeed.

The secretary commended the young ringers at the Calverley and Batley parish churches for the excellent progress they had made, and mentioned that Mr. J. M. Thorley, who had retired from the position of secretary owing to leaving the district to take up another appointment, was always interested in giving a helping hand to young ringers, and we wish him luck in his new venture.

The retiring president then vacated the chair and Mr. Thos. Strangeway took office. Mr. David Atkins thanked the Precentor for allowing the Association the use of the bells, and Mr. Irvin Slack replied on behalf of the local company. The next meeting will be at Batley on May 30th, subject to confirmation. D. T.

GLOUCESTER AND BRISTOL

Adverse weather conditions reduced the attendance at the April meeting of the Cheltenham Branch at Childswyckham, when it was possible to have methods not normally rung at Branch meetings. The Vicar (Rev. T. P. Hearn), who conducted the service, expressed appreciation of the visit. Tea was taken in Broadway. Several ringers who were not present will be interested to learn that it reached the usual 'Broadway standards'—the more you eat the less you pay!

UNIVERSITY OF BRISTOL

At the A.G.M. of the U.B.S.C.R. on May 7th the following officers were elected for the session 1959-60: Master, Mr. Royston Blackler; secretary, Miss Jane K. A. Cook; treasurer, Mr. John C. Baldwin; tower secretary, Miss Angela Grainger. A first year representative remains to be elected, and inquiries from intending students would be welcomed, c/o The Secretary, Society of Change Ringers, The Victoria Rooms, Bristol, 8.

KENT COUNTY ASSOCIATION

In the part Saxon and part Norman tower of St. Mary's, Hadlow, the Tonbridge District held an enjoyable meeting on May 2nd. Ringing included Grandsire, Plain Bob, London and Double Norwich. All were impressed to see a blind clergyman ringing his first touch of Double Norwich. The final touch of Superlative ended abruptly with a broken rope.

The Vicar (Rev. C. Underhill) conducted a bright service, a liberal tea was provided at the Red House, and Mr. Collison was in the chair for the brief business meeting.

Starting to ring in the early 1900's, when Mr. Wm. Short, of Worcester, was instructor to the Hereford Guild, Mr. Edward (Ted) Pugh, of Glasbury-on-Wye, celebrated his 71st birthday, and also on becoming a great grandfather, by ringing in a quarter peal at Talgarth, Breconshire, as Glasbury bells are nearly unringable. There was a pleasant surprise for him at the end of the quarter when the ringers presented him with a ringer's tie. Despite a couple of bad operations in recent years, he handled the tenor in a masterly manner.

Mr. William A. Stote, of Coventry, has now rung in 2,500 different towers, each having a ring of five or more bells.

The number of changes rung in the peal of Yorkshire Surprise Major at Beaconsfield on May 2nd was 5,024.

Calling attention that May 18th was the birthday of Mr. Benjamin S. Thompson, of Lowestoft, Mr. George H. Cross mentions that on May 18th, 1913, a peal was rung at Salle, Norfolk, as a birthday compliment to him. Of that peal of 46 years ago there are only two survivors—Mr. Cross and Mr. Thompson. Others who participated were Frederick W. Middleton, Geo. S. Soame, Geo. Howchin, John May, Frank J. Howchin and George May.

A band of 18 boys from Bristol Cathedral School are being trained to ring the recently-installed ring of eight at Bristol Cathedral. On Ascension Day, a complete band representing the school rang for the first time together. Watched by the headmaster of the school, seven schoolboys and a member of the teaching staff rang a service touch of call-changes for the school's Ascension Day service. Practices are held on Friday nights from 7.45 till 9 o'clock, and all look forward to the first quarter peal by an all-Cathedral band.

BELFRY GOSSIP

Mr. Welling is not the first ringer to receive the royal Maundy money. Mr. W. J. Arnold informs us that Mr. Frank L. Whitman, of the St. Albans Cathedral band, received it in 1957, when Her Majesty distributed it here. Unfortunately, he was ill in hospital at the time, so a special presentation was made to him in the ward. This was about the last thrill he had, as he passed away about a month later.

The band who rang the peal at Dunkerton would like to thank Mr. and Mrs. A. Butt for their hospitality afterwards. The peal was rung as a wedding anniversary compliment to them, but could not be rung on the proper date (February) and so had to be postponed until now.

Bells will be heard prior to the evening service to be broadcast on Sunday, June 7th, at 7.45 p.m. in the West and Midland Home Services, from the Church of St. Mary-the-Virgin, Bathwick, Somerset. The service will be conducted by the Rector (Preb. J. du B. Lance); the captain of the ringers is Mr. P. R. Stubbs.

Miss Rita M. Webb's 21st birthday party at Warmley, Glos, was an occasion attended by many ringers, including the band who rang in a peal in honour of the day. Our correspondent writes: 'A few of us do "remember" enjoying ourselves very much.'

Mr. W. Dyer, who has been the Ringing Master at St. Mary's, Cheltenham, since the resignation of Mr. W. T. Pates in 1936, has resigned from that position because of a forthcoming move to a less accessible part of the town. However, it is hoped that he will still be a regular member of the band. The new Ringing Master is Mr. Cyril A. Wratten, formerly of Saltwood, Kent.

SALISBURY GUILD FESTIVAL AT DEVIZES

The festival and 76th annual meeting was held at Devizes on April 25th. The members were welcomed in the Town Hall by the Mayor (Cclr. W. F. Alexander), who said: 'We are proud of our ancient borough and its towers, and of those who use them,' and mentioned especially those members who had journeyed from the far reaches of the diocese, the coastline of Dorset, Lyme Regis and Poole.

The A.G.M. followed. The Master of the Guild (Canon C. C. Cox) presided, supported by Mr. L. A. Wilson (vice-president), Mr. W. C. West (hon. secretary and treasurer) and Mr. F. S. Slatford, assistant hon. secretary. After prayers, the business commenced, with apologies from the Rev. R. A. Wells, Canon A. W. Markby (vice-president), Messrs. T. A. Palmer, P. Harding, L. Hitchins, G. H. Harding, J. S. Weeks and C. F. Andrews (hon. auditors), Mrs. Hibberd (hon. life member), Messrs. Alan Macdonald, J. I. P. Davis and H. Prout (now moved to Mansfield).

The Master in his remarks reminded the meeting that the last time the festival was held in Devizes was in May, 1912, when lunch was taken at the cost of 2s., with 1s. paid by the Guild, and reduced fares by railway journey for members.

Arising from the minutes, the hon. secretary reported the peal board recording a peal ring in honour of the Rev. F. L. Edwards would be dedicated at Kington Magna on May 9th.

LOSSES BY DEATH

The hon. secretary then gave a report of the work of the Guild for the past year, recording the passing of the following members: Rev. A. S. Bryant, Rev. S. P. Rowcroft (chairman, Dorchester Branch), Messrs. F. Crudge and W. Light (Dorchester Branch), S. Francis, J. Francis, T. Merrett and H. G. Giddings (Devizes Branch), V. G. Stock and M. Light (Wimborne Branch), Joe Parsons (N. Dorset), A. W. Angel, H. L. M. Melksham. The secretary gave a report of the work carried out by these members, and reminded those present to take up the work so ably carried out by them. The meeting stood in silence as a token of respect and honour.

Continuing, the secretary stated that ringing members numbered 1,069, honorary members 16, associates 12 and life ringing members elected during the year 20. Altogether this meant a drop of 35; he suggested this could be improved upon. Nineteen peals were rung, including Stedman Cinques 1, Belgrave Surprise M. 1 and Aldenham Surprise M. 1 (both firsts for the Guild), Cambridge S.M. 2, Yorkshire S.M. 1, London S.M. 2, Lincolnshire S.M. 1, Stedman T. 2, Grandsire T. 1, Plain Bob M. 1, Minor three methods 1, Cambridge Minor 1, Plain Bob Minor 2, Doubles two methods 1, Grandsire D. 1. All peal booking fees had been received.

The statement of accounts, which had been circulated, showed a balance in hand, being current account £89 2s. 9d., deposit account £34 10s. 10d., total £123 13s. 7d. The 'Edwards Memorial Fund' showed a balance in hand of £161 17s. 5d. This was deemed satisfactory, and together with the report was unanimously adopted, with thanks to the hon. secretary and treasurer.

The Mayor of Devizes then took the chair for the election of the Master, the officers being as follows: President, the Earl of Shaftesbury; Master, Canon C. Carew Cox; hon. secretary and treasurer, W. C. West; assistant hon. secretary, F. S. Slatford; hon. auditors, C. F. Andrews and J. S. Weeks. One vacancy on the committee was filled by Mr. H. Abrahams. Members for the Central Council were Messrs. W. C. West, G. H. Harding, G. S. Morris and J. T. Barrett.

BRANCHES TO ACT ON SURVEY

The secretary then gave a brief report on the Central Council Survey, which proved there was a shortage of instructors and that members of ability could not always hand their knowledge on to those willing to learn. A considerable time was spent on this matter, and it was assented to that copies of the forms should be returned to the Branches to act upon in due course.

It was carried unanimously 'That this Guild views with concern the practice of publishing expressions of personal grievances in the correspondence columns of "The Ringing World," and requests the Editor to exercise more care to preserve a Christian spirit between personalities in the Exercise.' This was in support of the Guild of Clerical Ringers. It was decided the general committee should deal with the revision of the Guild Office, and to pass on such to the Branches for approval. Grants of money were made to Salisbury (St. Martin's) £5 5s., Askerswell £4 4s., Chilton £3 3s., Mildenhall £3 3s.

The Guild festival service was held in St. John's Church, conducted by the Rector (Rev. E. S. Dabbs). The address was given by Canon C. A. Plaxton (the Ven. the Archdeacon of Wilts), the full choir being in attendance. Canon Blair (Vicar of Southbroom) read the lessons. A course of Grandsire Caters was rung on handbells by the Lyme Regis ringers. Tea was later served in the Town Hall after which thanks were expressed to all concerned, especially to Mr. A. T. Weeks (chairman of the Devizes Branch), who had arranged the details of the meeting. The number attending the tea and meeting, although it was an extremely wet day, was 120.

CROMHALL'S NEW BELL DEDICATED

The dedication of the new fourth bell at Cromhall on May 9th was almost unique in ringing history. As the Ven. the Archdeacon of Gloucester said several times in the address which followed the act of dedication: 'This is Alec Allan's day.' How many living clergy have worked not only to get a ring of bells for their church, but also to teach a band of ringers to handle them on other bells so that they could be rung by a local band at the dedication in 1948? And then there was the bitter sadness of hearing soon after his retirement of the cracking of the pre-Reformation fourth.

But on May 9th a new bell was dedicated, cast by Taylors, with the inscription 'To the Glory of God. A. D. H. Allan (Rector, 1929-1951) who inspired this Peal. R.P.M./J.G. Ch.W. W.F.B., Rector. 1958.'

The church was full, and the choir and the six clergy participating were led into it by Frank Skidmore, the Association Master. There were also present no less than six of the vice-presidents of the Gloucester and Bristol Association.

After an excellent tea, a meeting of the Wotton-under-Edge Branch was held, with the Master presiding. Eight new members were elected, and it was decided to have an outing on July 4th.

Very good use was made of five bells before the service and of the six after dedication, and it was generally agreed by the visitors and the local band that Taylors have made a good job. The ringing room also has been redecorated by the builders in blue and cream. May all who ring the new bell, or hear it, pause to remember him after whom it is named, and say as he did: 'Again, O Lord, we bless Thy Name.' C. R.

ACTIVITIES IN KENT

Lewisham District

The magnificently-restored Parish Church of SS. Peter and Paul, Bromley, and its ancient tower, which alone survived the holocaust of 1940, was the scene of the Lewisham District's quarterly meeting. Representatives from 15 towers, numbering just over 50 in all, enjoyed everything but the weather!

The Vicar (Canon W. Murray-Wilton), though incommode by a leg injury, paid a brief visit during tea and welcomed the company to Bromley. Mr. E. A. Barnett (vice-president) replied, thanking the Vicar for his genial remarks and wishing him an early and complete recovery.

The Curate (Rev. L. Hoyle) officiated at the service, with the Rev. R. Torrens as organist. The collection was allocated to the church rebuilding fund.

Mr. E. A. Barnett presided at the business meeting, when one practising member was elected and the election of three non-resident members ratified.

Mr. A. S. Richards (West Wickham) submitted a report of proceedings at the committee meeting held at Margate on Easter Monday, and moved its adoption. Miss M. R. Andrews (Bexley) seconded.

Crayford was selected for the next meeting on July 25th. The invitation of the Northern District of the Surrey Association to hold the annual combined meeting at Beddington on October 10th was warmly accepted. Members' attention was called to the proposed special meeting at Willesborough on June 20th. News of organisation of combined practices, of revived activity at St. Luke's, Bromley Common, and reorganisation at Beckenham was very welcome.

Joint Meeting At Ospringe

Blessed with a fine, warm day, the combined meeting of the Canterbury District and the Kent Branch of the Ladies' Guild was a very happy occasion at the Church of SS. Peter and Paul, Ospringe. With hop gardens on three sides of the churchyard, and approached along the winding Water Lane, the church is in an ideal setting. Some 110 ringers and friends were present, and after ringing during the afternoon, all attended service in the somewhat cooler church, which was conducted by the Vicar (Rev. M. G. Gilbert), assisted by the Vicar of Lynsted (Rev. V. C. Puplett), a ringer. Mr. F. A. Poulteney was the efficient organist.

A proper ringers' tea had been prepared in the Church Room by Mrs. E. T. Eades and Mrs. F. C. Farnworth, and in spite of the fact that several turned up who had not notified, there was enough for all. At the Canterbury District meeting, Mr. J. A. Russell welcomed the Ladies' Guild, and Mrs. F. M. Mitchell in her reply said they appreciated being allowed to join in with the District. For the Canterbury District, four new practising members were elected and one honorary member. St. Laurence's, Thanet, was nominated as the place of the next quarterly meeting. For a by-meeting previous, Whitstable just got the edge of the vote over Teynham. The collection of £2 12s. was given to the church to be used at the Vicar's discretion.

COVENTRY DIOCESAN GUILD

THE A.G.M. of the Coventry Diocesan Guild was held at St. Nicholas' Church, Nuneaton, on April 18th. Ringing commenced at 3 p.m. and continued until 4.30 p.m. The Guild service followed and was taken by the Vicar (Canon F. S. Herbert). Tea followed, and about 55 enjoyed a very good repast, prepared by ringers' wives and friends, which was much appreciated.

The business meeting followed, and the president (Mr. F. W. Perrens) opened the proceeding by calling for apologies. The election of officers followed, and were: President, Mr. F. W. Perrens; vice-presidents, Canon H. A. Hayden and the Rev. J. H. Dingley (additional); hon. secretary, Mr. J. L. Garner-Hayward; hon. treasurer, Mrs. D. E. Beamish; Ringing Master, Mr. D. A. Carpenter; Northern Branch secretary, Mr. L. M. Callow; Southern Branch secretary, Mr. P. A. Oram; Hon. Auditor, Mr. R. F. B. Speed.

The hon. secretary in his report said he had visited quite a number of incumbents, but many more visits were necessary, particularly in the outlying districts, to make them aware of the Guild and its purpose. Branch meetings seemed to follow the same pattern and to visit the same towers—principally because teas were a difficulty. He hoped Branch secretaries would look into this and see if a better coverage could be arranged. He reported that Brailles, Rowington, Napton-on-the-Hill and Exhall had all been rehung in the past year. There was quite a number of silent towers, due to neglect in some cases, and in others the bells wanted rehanging. No progress could be made in this respect because of the Bishop's appeal for funds. He said the time had come either to split the Southern Branch in two or divide the work. He gave notice that the Guild subscription should be made 2s. 6d. for all, and not the three grades, as at present. He hoped that this would be discussed with a view to putting it into effect next year.

The treasurer, commenting on the financial side, said that funds were better than previous years, and membership was rising. After the new handbook had been paid for and a new supply of badges obtained, the funds would be appreciably lowered, but they would still be financially sound.

The Northern Branch secretary reported that attendance had been better than the previous year. The Dunchurch meeting had to be cancelled at short notice owing to the death of the Vicar. He said that teas provided by the local ringers were always popular and helped to improve attendances. Five-bell towers were not very popular.

The Southern Branch secretary reported that 12 meetings had been held, only two of which had been poorly attended. These were Alderminster and Ilmington. Whitnash had rung their first peal with their own band and conductor. Studley were doing very well, and Napton-on-the-Hill were looking for help. Brailles were ringing call-changes very well. He reported that Mr. Oram and Mr. Perkins would be sharing the Southern Branch work, and thought this would be very successful.

Twenty new members and three ratifications were duly elected and confirmed. Mr. W. Collett, of Warwick, the Rev. J. H. Dingley (Vicar of Bulkington) and Mrs. Hinde, of Bulkington, were made life members of the Guild.

It was proposed that the annual dinner be proceeded with, and that it be left to the secretary to arrange.

Rugby was selected for the next meeting, and it was proposed that an approach be made to the Peterborough Guild to make it a joint affair. Another proposal was that meetings should be fixed for a year ahead. This is to be tried out.

It was reported that the Vicar of Lillington had made many recordings of bells in the diocese, and the secretary was asked to find out what use was being made of the recordings, to which he agreed. Guild badges were to be reduced to 2s. each.

The president, before closing the meeting, thanked the Vicar and churchwardens for the use of the bells, and the organist for accompanying the service, and the ladies for such a plentiful tea.

WEDDING

MR. D. W. BEARD—MISS S. M. BARKER

On May 9th, Mr. David W. Beard, well known in ringing circles in Essex and Gloucestershire, was married to Miss Sally M. Barker at St. Peter's Church, Leckhampton, Glos, by the Rev. T. C. Deakin.

The bride, who is a ringer at Leckhampton, wore a full-length dress of ivory brocade and carried a bouquet of red and cream roses and lilies-of-the-valley. The bridesmaid was Miss Pat Eldridge and the best man Mr. Cyril A. Whratten.

During the reception, held at the Lansdown Hotel, Cheltenham, congratulatory telegrams were read from several ringing Societies with which the groom had been associated in the past. In the evening an excellent peal of Kent T.B. Major, conducted by the best man, was rung at Leckhampton by friends of the bride and bridegroom.

After a honeymoon in the West Country, Mr. and Mrs. Beard will make their home in Northampton.

MONMOUTHSHIRE NOTES

The peal of Superlative Surprise Major rung at Usk on May 3rd, is believed to be the first College Youth peal in the county; it was therefore a fitting climax to a successful meeting at Worcester that this should have been arranged by this year's Master (Wilfred Williams), since he did much of his early ringing in this county.

Peter Border made no bones about calling the peal at Usk on May 3rd, in spite of 7½ hours' calling the abortive attempt on the record at Loughborough the previous day. He rode his motor-cycle in the pouring rain from Coventry to complete a hectic 24 hours.

Rodney Meadows came from London to fulfil a nine-year ambition and Ralph Edwards drove from Birmingham to complete a trio of peals on Monmouthshire's best bells, namely Abergavenny, Ebbw Vale and Usk.

UNIVERSITIES' JOINT MEETING IN WILTSHIRE

Friendly relations between the University Societies of Bristol, Oxford and Reading were enhanced by a joint meeting in North Wiltshire on May 2nd. Over 30 ringers converged on Christ Church, Swindon, and ringing began promptly at 2 p.m. and ranged from rounds on ten to half a course of Cambridge Royal.

The Societies then moved on by a somewhat devious route to Rodbourne Cheney (6 bells), those without transport of their own getting a lift in the Bristol coach. It is to be regretted that the striking at this tower never aspired to any great heights, although various bands attempted most of the well-known Doubles and Minor methods, London being the most ambitious.

At Wootton Bassett (8 bells) some very enjoyable music was heard, doing justice to the bells. A course of London and, more appropriately, a course of Bristol Surprise Major were rung. Other ringing included Stedman and also another principle not often heard, Duffield.

Having spent an hour at each tower, little time was left for tea. This was rapidly consumed in Swindon.

The tour ended at Stratton St. Margaret, another 8-bell tower, but this time a ground floor ring. It is not possible to say with certainty what methods were rung here, since each band retired behind the wooden screen. The methods announced, however, included Double Norwich, Superlative, Oxford Bob Triples and Plain Bob Triples, the latter deserving a mention on account of its undeserved unpopularity.

The Master of the Bristol Society (Mr. Patrick Bird) concluded the proceedings by thanking everyone, especially the organiser, Mr. Brian Wyld, for making the meeting such a success.

SURREY ASSOCIATION

The 32 ringers who braved the downpour and went to Putney on April 25th for the Northern District quarterly meeting received a warm welcome from the local ringers. Their newly rehanging ring of eight was put to good use during the afternoon. Shortened Evensong with an address by the Vicar was followed by tea in the Church Hall. The meal, which had been prepared by the local ringers, proved to be a present from them. At the routine business meeting four new members were elected.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

SOUND CONTROL

Dear Sir,—There has been much correspondence recently on the noise nuisance of bells, both in 'The Ringing World' and the national press, besides the complaints one always hears about. Many ringers will at heart sympathise with the neighbouring public which suffers perhaps some three hours' ringing per week, with the occasional peal and meeting thrown in as an extra. The noise of bells at close quarters penetrating even the walls of one's home is intolerable, and to say that the church was there before the people were (while possibly true) is an indefensible attitude.

I should like to suggest, therefore, that much more serious attention be given to this problem. Bell-founding and hanging have been improved over the years with the application of scientific methods, yet very little advance has been made in the way the sound is allowed to emerge from the tower, and rings are still installed in belfries with crude louvres unchanged for centuries.

The aims should be—

(a) To arrange that the sound is carried up and out, away from the tower, instead of beating down into the churchyard or neighbouring houses as is usual. Also, to reduce the basic volume of sound to an agreeable level (depending, of course, on the locality).

(b) To install some really efficient sound insulation which can be turned 'on' and 'off' as desired. This may involve lining the belfry and sound-exit with sound-absorbing material, and a mechanical Venetian blind arrangement (say) operated from the ringing chamber. It would provide a challenge to some enterprising concern, experienced in acoustics, to design something suitable.

Of course, this would be expensive, but not compared with the value of the bells themselves, and is, I think, a reform long overdue.

The ringers would then be able to practise for as long as they please, and ring peals, etc., to their fill, without worry. And on Sundays the bells would ring out their message to a public the better disposed to listen to it.—Yours sincerely,

F. E. ROBERTS.

Reigate.

Dear Sir,—At Todmorden Parish Church there is a ring of eight bells (tenor 23 cwt. in E). Since they were hung in 1897 it has been recorded in the local minute book and by visiting ringers several times that the sound in the ringing room is too great for comfort. There is only a double thickness floor between the bells and the ringing room, which is 24ft. high, and this is lead-covered.

A few weeks ago we covered this floor with a layer of polyurethane foam of between 1½ and 1½ inches in thickness. The result is that now the sound has been reduced by a considerable degree. The foam is very light, easy to handle, and can be cut with a sharp knife.

This may be of interest to other towers whose bells are very noisy.—Yours faithfully,

PETER SCHOLFIELD.

Todmorden, Lancs.

CONGRATULATIONS TO STANWELL'S CONDUCTOR

Dear Sir,—I noticed with admiration the peal of Doubles in 98 methods rung at Stanwell, printed in your journal of May 8th. Surely this must be unique for a ringer to ring two bells and call a peal in such a great number of methods. Their average age being only 17 years, I feel I must congratulate the whole band—especially the conductor. To remember the names of the various methods would beat me, let alone to ring them double-handed on tower- or handbells. I might know eight of the methods, the other 90 I would have to learn.—Yours sincerely,

L. TURNER.
Kempston, Beds.

TROUBLE AT SLOUGH

There is friction in the Slough area concerning a letter Mr. George Gilbert wrote to the 'Slough Observer' concerning the peal attempt at Langley which was halted by the Vicar, in which he upholds the newspaper report.

The Editor has received letters on this subject from Mr. Gilbert and Mr. F. T. Blagrove, the conductor when the peal attempt was halted. These are not being published, in view of the condemnation of 'The Ringing World's' letter page by the Guild of Clerical Ringers which received endorsement at the annual meetings of the Salisbury Diocesan Guild and the Lancashire Association.

The Editor hopes that the breach of friendship in this area will be soon healed.

WEST RETFORD BELLS

Dear Sir,—In reply to Mr. R. Hobbs, regarding the inscription on the tenor—IESVS BE OVR SPEED 1619, probably this bell was cast by a travelling founder, for the same inscription can be found on the third at Carlisle Cathedral with the following addition: GEOR LEES, EDMUND WRIGHT, BELLFOUNDERS. WILL ORBEL. L.M. 1608. Presumably the L.M. stands for 'leading man.'

West Retford's fifth, dated 1620 and recast in 1884, appears to have been founded by Hugh Watts, of Leicester.

The fourth, by Thomas Hilton, of Wath, Yorks, in 1810, was by a founder who had a small foundry for about 33 years and who cast the tenor at Norton Cuckney, Notts, in the same year; but this bell was recast in 1914.—Yours sincerely,

WILLIAM SHEPHERD.

Addlestone, Surrey.

IN WINCHESTER DIOCESE

Dear Sir,—Whilst congratulating the band who rang the first peals in the Channel Islands, I wonder if they realise that the Islands are in the Diocese of Winchester? Wouldn't it have been fitting, therefore, to have rung these peals for the Winchester and Portsmouth Diocesan Guild, rather than invent some new high-faluting Society?—Yours faithfully,

K. W. H. FELSTEAD.

THE EYE TENOR

Dear Sir,—It was interesting to read that the tenor bell at Eye, Suffolk, is to be recast; it is hardly surprising to me. Before the 1914 war I rang there on a number of occasions, including two or three peals. The late W. C. Rumsey used to say that this bell had a nice note but was 'short of breath,' and that Fred Day, the bell-hanger, had always thought that there was a crack in the crown. This would account for it no doubt, and for the necessary recasting.

This brings me to my point. How many are left of Miles Graye's bells? Apart from such bells as the tenors of Lavenham and Stowmarket and the 11th at Ipswich, which we all know of, there must be quite a few of Graye's bells scattered about still. There are five at Bramford, one at Earl Soham and two in the tiny ring of five at Winston (the tenor here, 5 cwt., is a beauty). There must be many of these about, but no complete ring, perhaps.—Yours sincerely,

PETER LAFLIN.

Stockport.

A lot of hard work is being out in at Friskney, near Boston, to master change-ringing, and now five of the band, who are instructed by Mr. G. D. Burroughs, have secured their first quarter. Among the 'firsts' was Mr. B. Stockdale, the local captain, who is approaching 70 and has acquired new methods without a trace of apparent difficulty. A peal is the next objective.

LETTERS—ContinuedLITTLE HADHAM BELLS TO BE RESTORED

Dear Sir,—It is with much pleasure that I am able to release the news that the bells of Little Hadham Parish Church are to be completely restored by John Taylor and Co., of Loughborough.

Pending the removal of the bells by the founders, all ringing has been stopped, as stated in the Herts County Association report, due to the tower being unsafe and the bells being very deeply clapper-worn, not having been quarter turned, which means that the clappers have been striking in the same places for periods varying from 100 to 500 years.

Extensive repairs are to be carried out on the tower, and it is hoped to have the bells replaced and ringing again late in 1960. There are five bells in the tower of St. Cecilia's Church, the tenor weighing approximately 11½ cwt. The oldest bell in the tower is undoubtedly the third, which is thought to have been cast in the late 1400's. The second was cast by John Dyer in 1595. The fourth is dated 1623 and bears the mark of Robert Oldfield, the itinerant bell-founder who was probably casting in Hertford at that time. The tenor is dated 1693 and was cast by Philip Whightman. The treble, the latest addition, was cast in 1855 by C. and G. Mears, of London, and has an approximate weight of 5 cwt.

The bells are, at present, a mediocre ring, never having been tuned, and have, unfortunately, been the victims of a great deal of poor workmanship or 'bodging.' The local blacksmith has made his mark and is believed to have been responsible for the enormous wooden headstocks, which are clumsy, to say the least. Alfred Bowell was responsible for a great deal of cheap, unsatisfactory work carried out on the bells in 1939, at which time they were rehung in the old patched-up frame, but with new plain bearings.

Taylor (J. P. Fidler) inspected the bells prior to Bowell's work and stated that a new frame was required and that the bells definitely required quarter-turning. However, this excellent advice was ignored by the then rector, and the bells remained as before, with the result that there is now acute danger of cracking if the bells are rung any more without quarter-turning. The frame is also capable of a great deal of movement in all directions and is unsafe.

The bells will be lowered some 12 feet in the tower, which will reduce the length of rope used (now 70 feet) and also the amount of oscillation of the tower. As stated, the bells will have all new fittings, canon-retaining headstocks being fitted on the back four. The frame will be of cast iron with a steel foundation grillage, and the bells will run on ball-bearings.

The approximate cost of all work on the tower and bells will be in the region of £3,000 or more, which is a great deal of money for a small village to raise. The Church Council would be very grateful for any donations, which should be sent to the secretary at 1, Church End.

In concluding, I should like to thank all ringers, especially the lads from the School, who have helped me to maintain a band for service and practice ringing for nearly four years. Especially I should like to thank Alf Kent, to whom I will always be indebted for my introduction to the noble art.

The bells are all yours, Paul—look after them.—Yours faithfully,

ADRIAN C. WEDGWOOD.

AN OUTING IN EAST KENT

East Kent was the venue for a small party of ringers on tour on May 2nd.

The Vicar (Rev. A. H. Davies) made us welcome at the first tower, Hernhill; but our ringing was poor on the light eight, probably due to the early hour. At Boughton-under-Blean our stay was severely curtailed because of a local misunderstanding about meeting us. Chartham's six are of good tone and are heard best from the village green. The Gillett five at Thanington are a little odd-struck, in addition to their unusual tone, but go well. Mr. Unwin and the Rector were awaiting us at Hackington, and a course of London was managed on this difficult ring.

After the lunch break we rang at the sixes of Sturry and Littlebourne, and then the pleasant 19½ cwt. eight at Wingham. Our next call was Minster-in-Thanet, to ring for a double wedding on the heavy minor five at a new tower for most of the party. The wedding delayed our arrival at Ash-next-Sandwich, where a good eight hangs in the central tower.

Some of the party preferred tea to a pull at Bekesbourne, but all reunited at Goodnestone, and Wells Surprise was rung—Canon Raven and some of the local ringers met us here. Travelling on into the Kent coalfields, we visited Eythorne's five, which are rung from the porch. The ascent to Northbourne's central tower by iron ladder is somewhat unnerving for those who do not like heights. This six, by Bowell, hang diagonally in the tower, which was the 1,000th for Brian Bladon. Great Mongeham bells have been restored since the writer's last visit and are now rung from the ground floor. The last tower was Ringwould, and Mr. Harrison met us.

Our thanks to all those who helped towards the day's success; especially to Peter Bond, who drove some of the party round in his car.

I. H. O.

BARNSELY & DISTRICT SOCIETY

Fourteen towers were represented at the meeting on May 9th at Bolsterstone, near Sheffield, and the afternoon's ringing was followed by an excellent tea. The Rev. F. Lenton presided at the business meeting, and it was announced that the shield contest would be at Wortley on June 13th. Jubilee cards giving the names of towers in the Barnsley District are on sale from the secretary. Mr. Frank Brunt, in his vote of thanks specially mentioned Mr. John R. Brearley and the local company. The chairman in reply said he hoped to see the Society again at his tower.

SHEFFIELD AND DISTRICT

Visitors from as far afield as Leicester attended the monthly meeting of the Sheffield and District Society at Dronfield on May 2nd. A touch of Double Oxford Court Bob Major was rung which enabled many to realise the inferiority of the method to the popular Double Norwich Court Bob Major. A good standard of ringing was maintained throughout the day, some of the highlights being a touch of Bristol, an excellent course of London and a very musical touch of Stedman Triples.

The next meeting will be at Old Whittington on June 6th, when towers will compete for the Society's silver cup.

SUNNINGWELL, BERKS.—On Mar. 29th, 1,260 Plain Bob Minor: Miss D. Honey 1, M. Jones 2, Miss J. Jones 3, J. Honey 4, W. G. Cudd 5, A. R. Pink (cond.) 6. For Evensong.

OBITUARYMR. J. PALMER POWLS

By the death in hospital on April 16th of Mr. J. Palmer Powls, after a long period of illness, Eastington, Yorks, lost an old ringer.

Although he only rang two peals he was, until failing health prevented him, a regular Sunday service ringer for many years. He had been a member of the Yorkshire Association since 1922, and a member of the Selby and District Society since its formation. He had held the position of churchwarden for eight years, and was a sidesman until the time of his death.

During the last war he lost two sons, and along with his wife erected a stained-glass window in Eastington Church in their memory.

A quarter peal of Plain Bob Minor (half-muffled) was rung by members of the Selby and District Society after the funeral.

BELL-RINGERS' HYMN

(Tune A. & M. 47)

Words arranged by GEORGE F. ROOME

1. Hark! the bells are sweetly ringing,
Hung on high, they seem to say:
Come and worship Christ in heaven,
O ye children of the day.
2. As the bells convey their message
To God's children here below,
Let us haste and fall before Him,
On our knees before His throne.
3. When the bells are sweetly ringing
To the Saviour's name be praised,
Hearts and minds and hands and voices
In rejoicing let us raise.
4. Those who on the sick bed languish,
Hear the bells so sweet and clear;
That they too may join and worship
Jesus Christ their Saviour dear.
5. When the bells are deeply tolling
For a loved one passed away,
To God's presence, in His keeping,
And to rise that glorious day.
6. Joyful, solemn, is the pealing
Of the bells we join to ring,
At the sound of changing music,
Praising God our heavenly king.
7. Honour, glory, might and blessing,
To the Father and the Son;
With the everlasting Spirit,
While eternal ages run. Amen.

BELL FEVER

I must go down to the tower again, to see what I can find,
And all I ask that the rest shall be in a similar state of mind,
And two peals in harmony, and birds of a feather,
And Dermott Roafe and Langton, too, screaming bobs together.

I must go down to the tower again, to see if there's a side,
For the call of the bells is a clear call, which may not be denied;
And all I ask is a false peal, and a call to order,
And to be accused of rigmarole by Peter Border.

THE SUFFOLK GUILD

A meeting of Saxmundham District was held at Benhall and Saxmundham on May 2nd. The attendance at Benhall for ringing in the afternoon was very poor, and it was thanks to visitors that ringing was possible. Tea was taken at Saxmundham for the few, and a lady member of the Essex Association took charge of the teapot. There was an improved attendance at the service, when the Rector (Rev. Mr. Moyle) gave an interesting address.

MORE ABOUT WOOL

(With more apologies to the Wool Secretariat.)

'Twas down to three, our ringing band,
We held the ropes with shaking hand,
Our noses red our hands were blue,
Another gone, we're down to two.
Then up came he who could but boast:
'To wool I changed, I'm warm as toast!'
And now the belfry's extra full—
There is no substitute for WOOL. G. T.

SOUTHPORT

BREATH-TAKING seems to be the only word to express the cordiality accompanied by generous hospitality that made the 62nd meeting of the Central Council at Southport so memorable. Twenty-seven years have elapsed since the Council last visited Lancashire, when the meeting was held at Liverpool. There was complete co-operation by all who have an interest in those who ring bells to give them a really happy week-end. The representatives of the Guilds and Associations left Southport with a tremendous sense of uplift. The progress of ringing has been along a long and stony path. For the humblest of Church workers to receive the recognition accorded them at Southport was an inspiration.

There are so many facets that come to mind. The gathering had a sense of feeling that the Bishop of Liverpool, who played such a big part in the welcome, was just one of us. He knew through trials and tribulations while at Plymouth what most of our readers have passed through in learning the elementary principles of handling a bell. He spoke to us, giving that sense of vocation. During the week-end there were four occasions where Dr. Clifford Martin made personal contact with members of the Council. He preached at Christ Church on Whit Sunday and made a special reference to our visit; he was guest of honour at the dinner given by the Lancashire Association to members of the Council and told of his pupilage at Plymouth under Mr. Tom Myers; he celebrated at the Communion Service on Whit Tuesday, attended by over 100 members of the Council; finally he joined with the crippled Mayor of Southport in the official welcome that preceded the meeting.

When Mr. F. Dunkerley rose at the end of the Council meeting at Dublin and extended an invitation to visit Lancashire for the next meeting, few of the members realised what was in store. To many the immediate picture was the teeming populations of Liverpool and Manchester. It is doubtful if any member present visualised Southport, or the programme that was to follow. True, the magnificence of Liverpool Cathedral and its masterpiece of bell mechanism was included in one of the sights, and there was also ringing at Manchester; but tours were arranged away from industrialism and in country towers there was many a joyous ring.

The Rev. R. D. St. J. Smith, president of the Lancashire Association, and Mr. Fred Dunkerley, the hon. secretary, were the most genial of hosts. At the headquarters, Mr. Dunkerley's private secretary, Miss P. Grimm, and Mr. S. L. Parry were installed to attend to the visitors. Never before have the members of the Council and their ladies been entertained to dinner by an Association; it seemed as if the very generous impulses of Dublin were more than being repeated. The speeches were witty; the vice-president of the Council was at his brightest. Really, after the challenging comparisons between Great Yarmouth and Southport there must be a visit of the Council to the Queen of the East!

As to the business of the Council, it involved three sessions—an evening assembly being necessary after the members had been hospitably entertained to tea by the Corporation of Southport. 'The Ringing World' was the main theme of the morning session. Briefly, the turmoil in the printing industry might possibly add £1,000 a year to the cost of production of the journal. It was suggested that this could substantially be met by two means—a levy of sixpence a rope on peals rung, which was not accepted by the Council although the voting was very close, and a successful circulation drive. The latter would be defeated by an increase in the selling price. A ringing journal is not an economic proposition. It can only be run, as Mr. A. H. Pulling told the Council, as a hobby by everyone concerned with its production—committee, editor and accountant. The onus for increasing sales has been placed on the Guilds and Associations.

A very comprehensive report was submitted on the survey of Sunday ringing, involving a tremendous amount of detailed work. Particulars were furnished of 2,719 towers, and of these 14 per cent. are unringable. Bells are rung regularly in 40 per cent. of the towers, with 28 per cent. of these ringing call-changes only. Much attention is to be given to a closer contact between ringers and clergy—a booklet or leaflet is to be written on belfry organisation, recruitment, and the best methods of establishing a band where none at present is in existence. The main avenue for work must be the Associations. To this energetic committee there was later in the meeting given another responsibility—the work on courses in ringing. Much has been learnt from the Essex Association and Dillington House. One left Southport with the firm conviction that the drive for an improvement of Sunday ringing, the main purpose of our art, is not mere lip service; and the various affiliated bodies, by the personal example of their leaders, will ensure that the ringer is a faithful officer of the Church.

New president of the Ladies' Guild is Mrs. P. J. Staniforth, who was elected to the office at Southport at Whitsun. With Mrs. Staniforth as president of the Ladies' Guild, and Peter, her husband, president of the Leicester Guild, old heads are being scratched to remember when husband and wife were respective presidents of their separate organisations.

Bath has been suggested for the next annual meeting of the Ladies' Guild.

The attempt by members of the Central Council to ring a peal of Spliced Surprise Major (silent) on Whit Monday broke down after 30 minutes.

Who was the young wife who told her husband that the bells would not be opened until he had finished the house decorations? Will there not be feverish activity to get the work completed by July 17th?

Extracts from the Oxford Diocesan Guild's comprehensive survey of Sunday ringing have been reproduced in the Oxford Diocesan magazine. The survey was a sermon theme at a recent meeting.

Miss Hilda Snowden and Mr. A. P. Cannon have both visited Liverpool Cathedral during Whitsun. Hilda rang the tenor (with a strapper) but thinks she could have managed it herself, while Pat was on the 11th, which was, on this occasion, a slow starter.

Scout Christopher Rogers, son of Mr. and Mrs. Rogers, of Isleworth, has been chosen to represent West London in the Scout World Jamboree to be held in the Philippines in July and August this year. Christopher is a Sunday service ringer at Isleworth and was a member of the team that won the handbell cup of the London County Association.

BELFRY

GOSSIP

The sympathy of all Oxford ringers is extended to the relatives of Mr. Frank Barratt. His tragic death in a motor-cycling accident has removed from Christ Church Cathedral, Oxford, a most promising ringer who had started conducting. The funeral was last Wednesday.

Emmanuel, Southport, on Whit Sunday provided Mr. E. H. Lewis with his 800th tower. His first was 60 years ago, at the end of 1900.

St. John's, Hanley, practice night is to be changed from Tuesday to Thursday, starting the first week in June.

In connection with the meeting of Masonic ringers on June 6th at Manchester, any brethren desirous of participating in a peal attempt in the morning are asked to communicate with Mr. P. Crook, 203, Devonshire Road, Bolton.

Mr. Peter Bond is shortly to be admitted as a lay reader in the Diocese of Rochester. We shall be having another lay readers' peal shortly.

The College Youths' band who rang the peal of Stedman Caters at Southwark Cathedral on May 9th would like to associate with it the names of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin H. Lewis, whose golden wedding anniversary fell on April 29th. Mr. Lewis was Master of the Ancient Society in 1936 and 1937 and thus enjoyed the honour of presiding over the Society's tercentenary year.

Recordings of the bells of Painswick, Stinchcombe, Marshfield and Cirencester will be heard in 'The Faith in the South Cotswolds,' a magazine programme, on Sunday, June 7th, at 9.45 a.m. in the West Home Service, about the part played by the Christian Church in this area of the West Country. The programme is edited and presented by Martin Willson.

BISHOP'S TRIBUTE TO RINGERS—MR. E. H. LEWIS' GIFT TO COUNCIL—DEDICATION SERVICES FORM — 'BEGINNERS' HANDBOOK': BIG INITIAL SALE — CRITICISM OF CHRISTMAS DAY BROADCAST RESENTED — COMMITTEE AND CO-OPTION POWERS DEFINED

THE 62nd annual meeting of the Council, held in the Palace Hotel, Southport, opened in the customary manner, with greetings from the host Association, the civic authorities and the Church. The Mayor of Southport (Cclr. R. Wood) arrived, accompanied by the Bishop of Liverpool, and was received by the president of the Lancashire Association (the Rev. R. D. St. J. Smith).

The Lancashire Association president said it was a pleasure to them to welcome the Central Council to Lancashire after an interval of 27 years, the last meeting being at Liverpool. 'We are proud to welcome the Central Council here and to make the necessary arrangements.'

In welcoming the Mayor of Southport, the Rev. R. D. St. J. Smith thanked the civic authorities at Southport for their great help.

The Mayor, in reply, said he had read with interest the reports of the various committees of the Council and tried to memorise some of the terms used in bellringing. He spent his early life in the country, where they looked forward to Sunday morning beginning with the ringing of church bells.

'SERMONS IN SOUND'

'I am glad to think that in these days, when music of the type you present is not generally popular, the call you give by the sermons in sound reminds us in these days, when the claim of the material seems to be drowning it, of our higher nature. I hope that your art and profession will succeed in this day and generation.'

The Bishop said that it was fitting that a welcome should be given by the Mayor and the Bishop, because bellringers served both Church and State and did it very well indeed. In the past the church bells in some towers had been under the control of the town and not the Church.

During the war church towers were put under the State and ringers were forbidden to ring, being held in readiness to ring in the event of invasion or other emergency. When the war was over it was appropriate that the ringers should send out a glad some peal giving thanks to God for deliverance and victory.

Bellringers, the Bishop went on, served to give expression of their deepest emotions of joy and sorrow. People returning from abroad appreciated above all the village church with its bells reminding them of the great events of the Church year.

Ringers were a band of good Church men and women who loved their Church and served it. Often the good service they were giving went unregarded, possibly because they were out of sight when they did their work. The wonderful service in Christ Church, when over 100 assembled to start the day with the service of Holy Communion, emphasised what he said, that they were good churchpeople rendering their service unto the Lord.

Mr. Frederick Sharpe, the president of the Council, thanked the Lancashire Association and the Mayor of Southport for 'a most wonderful welcome.' In thanking the Bishop for conducting the service that morning, the president said it was one of the most beautiful services of Holy Communion that the Council had been to.

GOLDEN WEDDING & PRESENTATION

The proceedings of the Council started with the president reading a letter from Mr. E. H. Lewis conveying to the members of the Central Council his appreciation and thanks for their congratulations and good wishes on the occasion of his wife's and his golden wedding.

Mr. Lewis, advancing to the platform, expressed his personal thanks for the kind message sent by Mr. Barnett on behalf of the Council on the day of happiness, April 29th. Their president had with him a weapon of some service in the shillelagh, presented to the Council last year. It was his wish, however, to present a weapon more suitable for their meetings and he had much pleasure in presenting to the president a gavel.

Receiving the gift, Mr. Sharpe thanked Mr. Lewis on behalf of the Council for his gift. The head was a delightful representation of a bell with a Doncaster head and other embellishments. It was inscribed 'E. H. L. 1930-57.'

REPORT AS TO MEMBERSHIP

The hon. secretary reported that 55 Associations were affiliated to the Council, entitled to 153 members. The rules provided for 24 honorary members and there were seven life members, making a total membership of 184. There were two vacancies among representative members and three among honorary members. All subscriptions had been paid.

APPLICATIONS FOR AFFILIATION

The hon. secretary said that two applications had been received. The first was from the Cumberland and North Westmorland Association and the second was for the re-affiliation of the North Wales Association. The Standing Committee recommended that these two applications be granted.—Agreed on the proposition of Mr. L. W. G. Morris, seconded by Mr. J. P. Fidler.

APOLOGIES FOR ABSENCE

Apologies were received from Miss M. E. Snowdon, Messrs. J. T. Dyke, A. A. Hughes, C. W. Roberts, L. Stillwell, A. Walker, J. Willis, Mrs. J. G. Steeples, Messrs. S. G. Coles, F. Ainsley, W. N. Overy, T. G. Myers and the Rev. A. S. Roberts.

PRESENTATION OF NEW MEMBERS TO THE PRESIDENT

New members presented to the president were Messrs. D. Hoare, H. Windsor, J. L. S. Glanvill, L. S. Woods, C. H. Hawkins, J. W. Blythe, G. McKay and D. H. B. Millward.

ELECTION OF HONORARY MEMBERS

The Standing Committee recommended that Mrs. Barnett, Messrs. F. I. Hairs, C. K. Lewis, W. A. Osborn and A. J. Pitman be re-elected honorary members, and Mr. H. L. Roper be added to the list of honorary members.

The president said Mr. Roper had done invaluable work in compiling the index of 'The Ringing World' and other statistical work for the Council.

This was adopted on the propositions of Mr. A. D. Barker and Mr. E. A. Barnett respectively.

LOSSES OF MEMBERS THROUGH DEATH

The Council stood in remembrance of the following members and former members of the Council, whose deaths had been reported:

Messrs. L. J. Butler (Essex Association), John L. Morris (Society of Royal Cumberland Youths), Henry Dew (Chester Diocesan Guild), Percy J. Johnson (Yorkshire Association), Herbert Knight (Society for the Archdeaconry of Stafford), who had died since the last meeting. Also the following, whose deaths had not been previously reported to the Council: Messrs. William Bedwell (Kent County Association), Samuel James Hughes (Dudley and District Guild), H. H. Palaiet (Salisbury Diocesan Guild), Richard Stredwick (Sussex County Association), Arthur Smith (Salisbury Diocesan Guild) and the Rev. J. B. Frith (North Staffs Association).

TRIBUTES

Mr. J. H. Crampion, in a tribute to Mr. L. J. Butler, of the Essex Association, said he was one of the most lovable of men whom he had met, and held active offices in the Essex Association for many years.

Mr. Peter W. Bond of Mr. John L. Morris: 'One of our younger ringers and composers of outstanding ability.'

Mr. J. P. Fidler of Mr. Henry Dew: 'He did a lot of teaching and will be missed at Bishop's Stortford.'

Mr. E. H. Lewis of Mr. Dew: 'When I first came to Lancashire I rang with him. He had great zeal in teaching beginners.'

Mr. D. Millward of Mr. Dew: 'He trained the first band at St. Matthew's, Borthwick.'

Mr. L. W. G. Morris of Mr. Percy J. Johnson: 'He joined the Yorkshire Association in 1901 and was a member of the Council for 46 years. He was most forthright. If members did not agree with his views they respected them.'

Mr. F. J. Smallwood of Mr. P. J. Johnson: 'We all knew of his obsession of these gatherings of discovering red herrings. We shall miss his stentorian tones and his great sincerity. He was a Cockney, born at Bethnal Green, and I always referred to him as the Cockney Yorkshireman.'

Mr. B. G. Key of Mr. Herbert Knight: 'A fine ringer and a Christian who was always in his place on Sunday mornings for 42 years.'

Mr. R. S. Anderson of the Rev. J. B. Frith: 'Most devoted to ringing in North Staffordshire.'

Mr. E. H. Lewis of the Rev. J. B. Frith: 'A personal loss. At Charterhouse he succeeded me as head monitor of my House. He did not take up ringing early in life.'

MINUTES OF THE LAST MEETING

The hon. secretary reported that the minutes had been printed in 'The Ringing World' and circulated to all members. He proposed their adoption; Mr. W. Ayre seconded.—Agreed.

REPORT OF THE HON. SECRETARY

Mr. E. A. Barnett reported:—

The past year has been a particularly busy one, and among the non-routine matters which have arisen the following seem worthy of mention:—

Form of Dedication Service.—Fairly frequent inquiries are made as to whether the Council publishes a form of service suitable for use at the opening of new or recast rings of bells. I have asked the Rev. A. G. G. Thurlow if, in consultation with other clerical members of the Council, he would draw up something suitable of which copies could be run off and issued gratis. I understand he has this in hand.

Barron Bell Trust.—A copy of the Trust Deed was obtained from the Charity Commission for information purposes.

Duke of Edinburgh's Award.—At the suggestion of Mr. A. Rigby, of Chorley, and with the support of the secretary of the Training Committee of the Army Cadet Force Association, correspondence was initiated with the secretary of the Award on the possibility of including ringing in the 'Pursuits' Section. In consultation with M. W. G. Wilson, suggested standards for the first, second and third series of tests were compiled and forwarded. The outcome is not at present known.

Boy Scouts' Badge.—Mr. R. I. Shepherd, of Staines, asked if the Boy Scouts' Association could be persuaded to introduce a ringers' badge corresponding to that of the Girl Guides. The Association informed us that such a badge is being incorporated in a list of new badges to be introduced this year and that details will be sent when published.

Gramophone Record of Five Spliced Surprise Major Methods on Handbells.—Discussions were begun and are proceeding, through Mr. C. W. Woolley, one of the band at Bushey, who made this historic record over 20 years ago, on the possibility of a re-issue. The matrix has, miraculously, been preserved by the Decca Company, according to information received from the original recording engineer.

Composition of Extent of Grandsire Caters.—Mr. W. H. Hewett kindly lent a leaflet containing this curious composition by James Hewett (no relation). Some photostat copies were made and one handed over to the library, which does not possess an original.

Mr. Woolley reports that the work of revising the 'Stedman' book has continued, but that he would welcome some help and advice at the present stage. If any member (or other ringer) would like to assist I should be pleased to put him in touch with Mr. Woolley.

During the year I was able to meet enthusiasts from South Africa and America, and have continued an occasional correspondence with ringers in Australia. These contacts are very pleasurable and are, I think, welcomed by those concerned.

Thanks are due yet again to Mr. W. G. Wilson and Miss C. L. Groves for typing and duplicating these papers; also to Mr. W. N. Park for preparing the accounts of 'The Ringing World.'

Finally, my gratitude to all who sent copies of reports and other publications.

The hon. secretary said that since the report was written he had received notification from the secretary of the Duke of Edinburgh's Award that a church bellringers' test would be included.

Mr. C. W. Pipe expressed his views against a set form of dedication service, 'I like to hear something different,' he said.

Mr. J. P. Fidler: 'As one who has attended a few thousand dedication services, I must agree with Mr. Pipe. . . . I do not think it is necessary for the Council to go to the expense of a special form. Each parish has its own form.'

The President: 'Many years ago the Council did draw up a specimen form of service. There are still a few of these in the library.'

The Rev. A. G. G. Thurlow thought it was probably worth while. The idea, he said, was not to produce a stereotyped form which everybody used, but to produce an indication. The form would have elasticity as one of its main features.

Mr. A. E. Lock asked if the secretary had acquired any knowledge of the Barron Bell Trust that he could pass on.

The hon. secretary said if any member desired to know the terms they could get in touch with him. He knew the name of the present trustee.

The report was adopted.

CARTER'S RINGING MACHINE

The report of the trustees stated that during the year the machine had been demonstrated three times. In July to Mr. Gordon Thwaites, who had undertaken the repair of the Woodhouse machine; in November, 1958, to Southampton University Guild; in February, 1959, to Mr. and Mrs. Jack Keifer, of Ithica, New York, U.S.A.. Mr. Keifer with Dr. Robert Walker had produced an electronic change ringer at Cornell University, about which an article appeared in 'The Ringing World.'

On the last occasion an electrical fault was causing two bells to strike together when ringing 12. The demonstrator does not anticipate much difficulty in putting this right. Thanks were expressed to Mr. Douglas Hughes for demonstrating the machine.

Mrs. Staniforth said that arrangements were made the previous night for a demonstration in September.

The report was adopted.

CENTRAL COUNCIL—Cont.REPORT OF THE HON. LIBRARIAN

Mr. F. W. Perrens reported:—

First and foremost I must record the deep debt of gratitude the Exercise owes to Mr. Frederick Sharpe for his work as our librarian since 1953. Our thanks are also due to Miss Elizabeth Sharpe for managing the sales section of the library during the first half of this year.

Taking into consideration the fact that no new publications were issued by the Council this year, sales have been about normal, with 'Village Bells' easily the 'best seller,' 'Change Ringing on Handbells' second and 'Doubles Methods' third.

By far the greatest demand for what we have not got is for a collection of Minor methods and we have also had a number of requests for a book on tune ringing on handbells. Towards the end of the year 'Change Ringing on Handbells' was reprinted and 1,000 copies added to our stock.

In July I was able to collect the books presented to the library by Mrs. W. D. Turner. These included ten volumes of 'London Ringers and Ringing' and two volumes on 'Surprise Major Methods,' all of which are beautifully written and illustrated by J. A. Trollope. We tender our sincere thanks to Mrs. Turner for these valuable books.

We tender a most hearty 'thank you' also to the following: Mr. E. C. Shepherd for a copy for the library and 150 copies for sale of 'A Handbook of Grandsire Caters.' Mr. F. T. Blagrove for a copy each of 'Campanalogia—Little and Alliance Doubles Methods,' 'Campanalogia—Surprise Methods, 1821-1850,' 'Campanalogia—Triples Methods,' and also for having a dilapidated copy of W. Sottan-stall's 'Elements of Campanalogia' rebound. Mr. F. E. Dukes for copies of 'The Irish Bell News.' Mr. J. Segar for copies of 'Blue Line System.'

Where there are more than two copies of any book in the library printed since 1850 I recommend that they be offered for sale. Previously authority was given to dispose of copies in excess of three.

Quite a large number of orders have already been received for the 'Beginners' Handbook,' which we hope will be on sale early in 1959.

Finally, I most heartily thank Mr. R. F. B. Speed for his willing co-operation and for managing the sales section of the library during the latter half of the year in such an efficient manner. We are indeed grateful to him and his wife for housing such a large stock of publications.

During the year the library sold 1,158 books. Best sellers were 'Village Bells' 243; 'Handbell Ringing' 137; 'Doubles Methods' 123; 'Preservation of Bells' 114.

Mr. F. W. Perrens, in moving the adoption of the report, called attention to the request to dispose of more than two copies of any book in the library. Mr. Speed had already sold 3,250 copies of the 'Beginners' Handbook.

The Standing Committee recommended that the report be adopted and the librarian be given power to dispose of copies in excess of two. Also that the Council record their thanks to Mr. Perrens and Mr. and Mrs. Speed for their work during the year.

The report was adopted.

BROADCASTING AND TV FEATURES

The report of the Broadcasting and Television Committee, of which Mr. H. J. Sanger is convenor, stated:—

Our report this year must begin with mention of the excellent coverage given the visit of the Central Council to Ireland by Radio Eireann. Among other things, the President of the Council (Mr. Frederick Sharpe) gave a short talk on the visit of the Council and answered questions put by Mr. John Ross, of Radio Eireann. Mr. Barnett gave a review of his visit and commented on the bells of Ireland, the standard of ringing, and the terrific enthusiasm of the Irish ringers. There were other mentions of the visit during the weekend programmes, including an interview with Mr. J. Atkinson in 'City Feature.'

CONSIDERABLE PROGRESS

We are very pleased to be able to include news of considerable progress in the North Region with the B.B.C. We have had a very friendly exchange of letters with the Religious Director in which the subject of bell broadcasts has been well ventilated, and at his request we have submitted a list of towers in the area suitable for broadcasting.

In the Midlands, a programme based on the Bull Ring and changing Birmingham included a chat on St. Martin's bells between John Pinfold and Frank E. Haynes. There are also signs of a revival of interest in ringing in this area by the B.B.C.

In the East, the casting of three of the bells for Great Yarmouth Parish Church was the subject of a broadcast item from the White-chapel Bell Foundry. This was of additional interest in that it was within a week of being the centenary of the casting of Big Ben there. In response to their request, the B.B.C. were supplied with a short list of East Anglian towers suitable for broadcasting.

REGRETTED DENIAL

From the London area the most notable event was the rededication of St. Clement Danes', Strand. After the considerable publicity given this event, it was a very great disappointment to all ringers to be denied the pre-service ringing, which was of a very high standard.

In the West we have co-operated very fully with the Religious Director in selecting towers for the winter series of The Faith in the West. Whilst the period of ringing heard from each tower was short, it was well presented and gave many rural ringers the opportunity to show what they are capable of.

From Northern Ireland we are happy to report continued excellent co-operation with the B.B.C.

We hear from Mr. Fred Dukes of a number of broadcasts of bells by Radio Eireann during the year in addition to those mentioned above. These included the bells of Christ Church and St. Patrick's Cathedrals, Dublin, and St. George's, Dublin.

RINGING QUITE FAIR

The standard of Sunday service ringing heard in broadcasts has as usual varied considerably, but in the main has been quite fair. A general improvement would, however, be very welcome. The Christmas broadcast has again been the subject of comment in 'The Ringing World' by an anonymous critic. We consider this to be in poor taste; the whole spirit of the broadcast is the presentation of the bells, giving forth the Christmas message of goodwill. The thing we do regret is the very short period on the air given each tower. We hope to discuss this point with the B.B.C. and suggest some ways of making improvements. After some correspondence, we have been able to arrange the issue of advance information of programmes from A.B.C. Television to the Editor of 'The Ringing World.'

'THE ARCHERS'

A listener to the B.B.C. programme 'The Archers' has written to tell us that he noticed a technical error in the New Year broadcast of Ambridge bells, and had pointed this out in a letter to the B.B.C. We feel that if more ringers were as observant as this and took the trouble to point out similar mistakes to the producers concerned, only good would result.

Finally, and perhaps not precisely within our sphere, a delightful film, 'Bachelor of Hearts,' a skit on life in Cambridge, has as a background for a considerable part of its run the bells of St. Andrew's. Quite a number of other bells also are heard in it, some probably faked with tubular bells.

Moving the adoption, Mr. H. Sanger called attention to the excellent leading article by Preb. Martin Wilson.

The Rev. A. G. G. Thurlow seconded.

Mr. J. W. Blythe asked how the list of East Anglia towers supplied to the B.B.C. was selected.

Mr. Sanger: A list of towers has been submitted and they are extremely brief. It has not been our policy to publish it.

CRITICISM OF CHRISTMAS DAY BROADCAST

Mr. G. W. Pipe disagreed that the criticism of the Christmas broadcast was poor taste. He thought it was a good thing. It was there was any poor ringing, people should know.

Mr. Sanger: The paragraph refers to the Christmas message of goodwill. The towers were a general selection and the ringers did their best. We thought it was poor taste for an anonymous critic to offer his criticism in the way it was offered.

Mr. F. E. Dukes said a few years ago they had up before them the question of anonymous letters, and now they had anonymous criticism of the ringing on Christmas Day. What he would like to know was who was the critic and who appointed him? The criticism reminded him of a little boy who stood behind a tree and threw mud at people dressed in their Sunday best. He thought the Council should deplore this criticism. Criticism should be published openly and by someone who knew what he was talking about.

A member: I say that any criticism which is anonymous is no criticism.

The report was adopted.

ELECTION OF AUDITORS

The hon. secretary said that under their constitution they should have two auditors. They were Mr. A. A. Hughes and Mr. F. W. Perrens. Mr. Perrens was now an officer of the Council. The Standing Committee recommended that Mr. Harold Pitstow be asked to become the second auditor. He moved this and Mr. Perrens seconded. This was agreed to.

POWERS OF CO-OPTION REPORT

Mr. E. A. Barnett and Mr. W. B. Cartwright reported:—

At the Dublin meeting we were instructed to consider the question of co-option powers and to report on the necessity or otherwise for altering the Council's rules. It will be recalled that the legality of co-opting a member to 'The Ringing World' Committee in pursuance of powers purporting to have been given in 1951 was challenged on the grounds that the rules as amended in 1955 made reference to co-option to the Standing Committee only, and Mr. W. B. Cartwright expressed the view that the action taken in 1951 was, in fact, ultra vires.

had been taken on one or two previous occasions. Thus the Peals Collection Committee in 1945 was granted power to co-opt additional members, and the committee reported in 1946 that they had co-opted Mr. C. W. Woolley, and in 1947 Mr. E. A. Barnett. Therefore, if the action of 'The Ringing World' Committee was ultra vires, then these appointments were also wrong.

The point to be considered, therefore, is as to whether or not the rules should be altered to give committees (apart from the Standing Committee) power to co-opt.

One objection to the practice is that a committee can maintain its strength or add to its numbers by this means without the matter coming before the Council in the normal way. As the rules do not lay down the number of members of any committee except the Standing Committee, it is open to the Council at any meeting to appoint additional members to committees. It would appear that there is nothing to stop a committee from going outside its ranks to obtain advice or information on a particular point. If a committee desires to avail itself of the services of a member of the Council who is not on that committee there is no reason why it should not do so, and should it subsequently wish to add that member to its ranks, permission could be sought at the next Council meeting. This procedure has been followed on a number of occasions in recent years.

Our view is, therefore, that no real need exists for committees generally to be given co-option powers, and our recommendation is that, apart from the Standing Committee, who have the power to co-opt under Rule 11 (ii), committees should not be given co-option powers. If this is agreed no amendment to the Rules is required.

The hon. secretary said, in short, they felt that no change in the rules was necessary. In other words, the Standing Committee would retain its powers to co-opt up to two members but other members would not have power to co-opt. There was nothing to stop a committee going outside its ranks to obtain information and advice. He moved the adoption of the report. Mr. Cartwright seconded.

Mr. W. G. Wilson congratulated Messrs. Barnett and Cartwright in writing a report and saying what he said last year at Dublin. He was very pleased that they had come round to the right way of dealing with it.

Mr. Cartwright: 'I don't think we have come round in any way.'

The report was adopted.

RECORD LENGTH FAILURE

We are informed that the attempt for a peal of 9,568 Spliced Surprise Major at Over, Cheshire, on May 23rd, failed after 5,920 changes had been rung because of a broken rope. A further attempt will be made in the near future.

LANCASHIRE ASSOCIATION'S HOSPITALITY

Council Entertained To Dinner

THE eve of the Central Council meeting was made memorable by the dinner given by the Lancashire Association at the Palace Hotel, Southport. The president of the Association (the Rev. R. D. St. J. Smith) and the secretary (Mr. Fred Dunkerley) welcomed the company of 220 members and lady friends. Included in the guests were the Bishop of Liverpool (the Rt. Rev. Clifford Martin), the president of the Council and Mrs. Sharpe, the vice-president, the Rev. A. G. G. Thurlow, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin J. Lewis and the hon. secretary (Mr. E. H. Barnett) and Mrs. Barnett. The gathering and hospitality were amongst the happiest in the annals of the Exercise. The president, who presided, gave the toast of 'The Queen.'

The president of the Council in proposing 'The Church and the Exercise' said the toast was most appropriate for such a happy occasion. The Church existed solely as a means of spreading the Gospel of Christ and as a means of obtaining salvation of souls. They all had their duty to do, not only in the belfry but to bring the knowledge of God to those with whom they came in contact.

THE SATURDAY MEETINGS

The Exercise came in in bringing the knowledge of God to their fellow men. Every Saturday afternoon up and down the length and breadth of the country there were some 20 or 30 gatherings of ringers—first to ring, then to attend a church service and afterwards to sit down to the fellowship of a meal. It combined everything they needed in exercise, fellowship and service to God, and they proclaimed the Gospel of Christ in a way that at times must make people think.

The best results in their belfries was when the clergy took an active interest in the ringers, and this applied to their Diocese, where the Bishop was a ringer. This was a great asset to any Diocese. They also had another clergyman as the president of their Association, and he always thought it was better to have a clergyman at the head of their Diocesan Guild than a layman.

As he travelled around the countryside he saw many different churches. He had examined the bells in 2,000 churches and seen 2,000 incumbents and heard their story and also the stories of 2,000 captains of ringers. Sometimes one was able to pour oil on troubled waters. To-day they saw a far greater interest in the Church than in his early days, because he had lived through the period of the Church going into decay and was witnessing its revival because greater interest was being taken in spiritual things now than 10 or 15 years ago. Their secretary was a example of a fine layman and a member of the Exercise and they appreciated what he had done for their Association, the Exercise and the Central Council. (Applause.)

The Bishop of Liverpool, in his reply, said he did not want them to put much emphasis on his ringing. 'I can just about ring in rounds. I know all the trials and troubles and the humiliation of getting your bell to stand. I know what happens when your bell comes down on you, and I have been rescued once or twice.'

THE BISHOP'S BELL

The Bishop recounted that he learned to handle a bell at St. Andrew's, Plymouth, under Mr. Tom Myers. When the news came through that he was leaving they pushed him through and he received his certificate of the Guild of Devonshire Ringers. At one tower he rang at they asked him which bell he would take. He replied 'No. 5.' After he had rung they put up a little tablet inscribed 'The Bishop's Bell.'

The Church was not like the building at the corner of the street but consisted of all of them who were admitted by baptism. They were all the great family of God and if people would only get that idea into their minds the Church would be stronger than it was to-day.

The job of the Church was not just to keep the machinery of it going or the Exercise going; the job was to make its message known far and wide. 'You ringers have to see that the message is known widely; let the bells be heard. Our task is to help people to understand what it is all about. It is because people did not know that they got the wrong end of the scale about their religion and look at it from the popular Press.'

RINGING PROGRESSING

Proposing the toast of 'Our Guests,' Mr. Fred Dunkerley said they would all have recognised by now what a human bishop they had. He was loved by all in Lancashire.

It was a great pleasure to the Lancashire Association to have the visit of the Central Council; their last visit was 27 years ago and they were all deeply conscious of the honour, and they were doing their best to make the visitors happy while they were there.

'Make no mistake, the art of campanology is rising to a greater height than ever before. This is evident in Spliced Surprise. In that direction I would like to mention the name of Pitman. He is a very unassuming man but it is due to his skill that we have progressed.'

Mr. Dunkerley concluded by expressing the hope that the Council would return to Lancashire in the not too distant future.

ARCHBISHOP'S INTEREST

The Rev. Gilbert Thurlow, who replied, said he would like to give the Bishop full marks for his extremely fine article in 'The Ringing World.' He recalled the interest of the two Archbishops in ringing, how the Archbishop of York said that gramophone bells were the invention of the devil, and how the Archbishop of Canterbury insisted on visiting the ringers in the belfry and saying 'Thank you' to them.

Among the stories told by the Vicar of Great Yarmouth was of a certain public house in the West Country known as 'The Cock.' A certain diocesan bishop stayed there a night and they were so thrilled by his visit that they asked the Bishop if they could change the name of the inn and call it after him.

The Bishop agreed, and when he next passed the inn he noticed the newly-painted sign 'The Bishop of So-and-So' and then underneath 'This is the old Cock.' He thanked the Lancashire Association for a memorable week-end with its unsurpassed hospitality.

On the Tuesday morning the Bishop of Liverpool was the celebrant at Holy Communion in Christ Church, which was attended by about 100 members of the Council. Assisting in the service were the Revs. R. D. St. J. Smith and A. G. G. Thurlow.

Gratefully Acknowledged

The Editorial Committee acknowledge with gratitude the following donations towards the cost of producing 'The Ringing World':—

Personal.—Kirk Ella and Sutton-on-Hull outing 5s.

Peals.—Coleshill 4s., Caerphilly 4s.

Quarter Peals.—North Bradley 2s., Suckley 3s., Merriott 1s. 6d., Sidbury 2s., Limsfield 2s. 6d., Stroud, Glos 2s., Dunholme, Lincs, 6s., Cattistock 2s., Benefield 2s. 6d.

Yorkshire Association's Healthier Financial Position

THE annual meeting of the Yorkshire Association took place in glorious weather at Selby Abbey on May 9th, and attracted a large attendance representative of each of the four Districts. The fine ring of bells was at the disposal of members during the afternoon and evening, and methods rung ranged from Grandsire Caters to Cambridge and Yorkshire Surprise Royal.

A brief service was held in the Abbey at 4.15 p.m., conducted by the Vicar, who welcomed the Association to Selby and spoke in appreciative terms of the services rendered by the ringers to the Church.

Following tea at the Hawdon Institute the business meeting was held, when the chair was taken by Archdeacon C. O. Ellison, president of the Association, supported by Mr. L. W. G. Morris, hon. general secretary, Mr. G. Benfield, hon. treasurer, and Mr. W. E. Critchley, hon. peal secretary. Apologies for absence were received from Messrs. G. S. Lee, B. Sutton, P. Birkett and H. Chant.

A vote of thanks to the Vicar and churchwardens for the use of the bells, arranging the service and providing facilities for the meeting was moved by the general secretary, who spoke of the warm welcome the Association always received at Selby, and the arrangements made for their convenience and comfort merited their greatest thanks. Mr. J. Gibson seconded, and the motion was carried with applause. A similar vote of thanks to the local company for the excellent arrangements made and to the ladies who had so kindly officiated at the tea tables was accorded on the motion of Mr. L. M. Woodhead, seconded by Mr. E. Hudson.

128 NEW MEMBERS

In presenting the 83rd annual report, the president drew attention to a welcome increase in membership—128 new members having been admitted during the year which included 89 resident members. The increased subscription rate had had the desired effect, and had been loyally accepted by the great majority of members, resulting in the hon. treasurer's accounts being the best he has been able to report for many years. A word of warning was given, however, that although the accounts showed a bigger balance, there were certain heavy printing expenses looming ahead.

The past year has been unfortunately marked by the death of old and valued members in the persons of Mr. P. J. Johnson, Mr. J. Hardcastle, Mr. J. Stott and Mr. W. Allwood. Mr. Johnson joined the Association in 1901, and had throughout his ringing career been a staunch and loyal supporter of it, having held the offices of general secretary (16 years) and vice-president (25 years) with distinction. He had also represented Yorkshire ringers on the Central Council for no less than 46 years, being one of the longest serving members of that body. The death of Mr. J. Hardcastle, of Bradford, severed the last link in a ringing family which commenced in the 18th century, for both his father and grandfather were prominent ringers, the former being for many years the conductor at Bradford Parish Church—now the Cathedral. He was in his 88th year and had been a member of the Bradford Cathedral company for 60 years and secretary of the company for 40 years. He would perhaps be best remembered for his great work in connection with the restoration of the Cathedral bells in 1921—acknowledged by common consent to be one of the finest rings of ten in existence.

Mr. Hardcastle was one of the party which toured Australia in 1934 under the organisation of the late Mr. W. H. Fussell, and took part in the one and only 12-bell peal ever rung on the Australian Continent, this being Grandsire Cinques at St. Paul's Cathedral, Melbourne, Victoria, conducted by the late Mr. J. S. Goldsmith.

The death of Mr. J. Stott, of Thirsk, removed a stalwart who had rung at his parish church for over 60 years. He was a great churchman and his example to and encouragement of young ringers ensured a band was maintained at Thirsk during his long connection with the belfry. Although not resident in the county, Mr. W. Allwood was an active member in the Southern District, and had taken part in many peals in that area.

The peal secretary's report showed that 140 peals had been rung during the year—124 on tower bells and 16 on handbells, and the conducting was shared by 39 conductors. Thirty-eight members had rung their first peal and three members their first handbell peal. Glasgow Surprise Major, Gainsborough Surprise Major and Dorchester Surprise Major figured in the lists for the first time. Mr. W. Barton had passed his 300th peal and Mr. R. H. Dove had reached his 100th peal for the Association during the year.

The balance sheet recorded a gain for the year of £52 6s. 10d. The report concludes by expressing thanks to the principal officers, District officers and all who have given liberally of their time to the welfare of the Association during the past year. The report was unanimously adopted on the motion of Mr. J. Seager, seconded by Miss M. E. Wilkinson.

GENERAL SECRETARY FOR 21 YEARS

The president announced that the general secretary had now completed 21 years' tenure of office, and he felt conscious, as he was sure they all did, of the very great debt of gratitude the Association owed to Mr. Morris for the very faithful and able service he had rendered over such a long period. Mr. Morris had often expressed his desire to relinquish the office, but appreciating that the Association had not yet completely emerged from a difficult phase through which it was passing, had indicated his willingness to once again accept nomination, as he felt that at the moment it would be an unfair burden to place on the shoulders of a new and inexperienced successor.

The committee had been pleased to accept the offer and had unanimously decided that Mr. Morris should be their nominee. On the motion of Mr. S. H. Steel, seconded by Mr. Wilfrid F. Moreton, Mr. Morris was unanimously re-elected to serve for the next triennial period. Mr. W. E. Critchley was also unanimously re-elected peal secretary coupled with thanks for the exacting work the office demanded, requiring not only skill but close attention to detail.

For the next meeting, due on September 19th, Mr. W. Barton extended a kind invitation to visit Pudsey, where the bells had been recast and rehung since the Association's last visit. This was seconded by Mr. N. Chaddock and unanimously accepted. The president reminded members that the Snowdon dinner this year would be held at York on October 24th by kind invitation of the York Minster Society, when the committee hoped to once more rely on the loyal support of the general membership and so ensure its success.

On the motion of Mr. W. E. Critchley, seconded by Mr. V. Bottomley, the following out-county members were elected: Mrs. R. M. Cook, Mrs. E. Silcock, Messrs. N. Tompkins, M. Phipps and M. S. Birdsall. This concluded the business, following which further ringing was enjoyed on the Abbey bells.

LETTERS

LAYMAN'S APPRECIATION

Dear Sir,—During a recent (unsuccessful) peal attempt by the local band at Folkestone, a visitor unexpectedly called at the Vicarage and presented the following poem which he had written while listening to the bells. The second line is as originally written.

'Ringing from those mighty bells
Praises which forever tells Peace of mind for all within
Casting off the cloak of sin;
House of beauty unsurpassed
Built by men of craft to last
Through the centuries of time
Ravaged but by Nature's clime:
Let the bells ring loud and clear,
Thank the Lord that you are here,
Enter in His house divine;
Peace be unto thee and thine.'

In view of the recent correspondence about bells it is pleasant to know that there are still a few 'laymen' who appreciate our efforts.—
Yours faithfully,
Folkestone.

J. R. HOUGH.

RINGERS RECEIVING MAUNDY MONEY

Dear Sir,—Mr. John H. Conquest, a ringer at Leighton Buzzard Parish Church, and Mr. Tom Scott, an old Hertfordshire ringer, both received the Royal Maundy money from Queen Elizabeth II in St. Albans Abbey in 1957.—
Yours sincerely,
H. B. WHITNEY.

PUTNEY RINGERS' OUTING

On May 9th Putney ringers and their friends set out for their annual outing, blessed by their usual fine weather.

The first stop was at the pleasant six at Bearstead, near Maidstone, a fine ring for its great age. At Charing (6) the bells, unfortunately, were not in keeping with the splendid church. In the fine Norman tower at New Romney (8) the bells go well, but the tenor seems to be very flat. This anti-clockwise ring especially delighted our Kingston friends! We then struck across Romney Marsh to Lydd (8), where the bells, the welcome and the church were all of the highest order. At Rye (8), after tea, we enjoyed the rehanging ring at this magnificent church. Then came the pleasant six at the small church at Beckley. The last stop was made at Rolvenden (8), a good octave but one which, unfortunately, seems to be rarely used.

Ringing, to suit all abilities, ranged from rounds to Surprise.

FIFTY YEARS AGO FROM 'THE BELL NEWS'

May 29th, 1909

Peals recorded: Grandsire Caters 1, London Surprise Major 1, Superlative Surprise Major 1, Cambridge Surprise Major 2, Double Norwich 2, Treble Bob Major 5, Bob Major 2, Stedman Triples 5, Grandsire Triples 5, Minor 4, Doubles 1. Total 27.

In course peals of Double Norwich Major by Joseph W. Parker occupies two and a half pages.

In a letter, R. A. Daniel has this to say: "Campanology" is a Double Bastard. Originally it was "Campanalogy," which Mr. Hall will probably admit to be a trifle less barbarous. But in neither form has it ever, among sensible people, been used to express the exercise of ringing. It has been observed that it would be as reasonable to call dung "Stercology" or to describe a butcher as a "Carnologist." As for "Bellology" I thank heaven I have never heard of this term before, and I hope never to hear of it again.

In these days of fancy names, 'anyone any bright ideas?'

OBITUARY

MR. FRANK BARRETT

With deep regret we report the tragic death of Mr. Frank Barrett, a well-known ringer of St. Aldate's, Oxford. He was killed in a motorcycle accident on May 15th.

Frank had been a ringer at St. Aldate's since his father, the late Albert Barrett, first started to teach him to ring some six or seven years ago. He learnt quickly and soon became a most able and skilled ringer. At the time of his death he had rung 97 peals and had been trying in the last few weeks to bring this up to the round 100 before his 18th birthday—an event which was celebrated by the ringing of a peal by some of his friends at Garsington on April 18th.

'His death is all the more tragic to us,' writes Mr. J. Venn (tower captain), 'as he had been helping to decorate the ringing chamber of our tower after the rehangings of the bells and before the rededication of the bells, and was looking forward to calling the first peal on them—the first to be rung at St. Aldate's for very many years. Our deepest sympathy is extended to his mother and brother in their sad bereavement.'

MR. GEORGE BAKER

We regret to learn that Mr. George Baker, formerly of Brighton, and recently living with his daughter in New Zealand, passed away in his sleep on May 14th in his 92nd year.

While at Christchurch he was visited twice by Mr. Sloan, the secretary of the Christchurch Cathedral ringers. He also had the pleasure of taking tea with Mr. and Mrs. Sloan, and was thrilled to be able to see and handle the late Mr. Jas. S. Wilde's beautiful set of handbells, which he bequeathed to Christchurch Cathedral.

Mr. and Mrs. Sloan are now on their way to England to attend the Oxford ringing festival.

MRS. L. A. WHITE

With deep regret we record the passing of Mrs. Lilian Ada White (nee Willson), which occurred on May 11th after a long illness. She was the eldest of four daughters of the late William Willson, of Leicester.

In her younger days she was not only a brilliant pianist (A.R.C.M.) but a talented ringer, having rung some 30 or 40 peals for the old Midland Counties Association, one of which—Kent T.B. Major—she conducted. The methods she rang included all the standard methods and the better-known Surprise, but the outstanding performance was to be included in the first ladies' peal ever rung. This was on July 20th, 1912, when she rang the third at Christ Church, Cubitt Town. She was also in the first peal of Surprise by an entire Leicester band—Superlative, at St. John-the-Divine's, where in later years her father gave the two treble bells to make them one of the finest rings of ten in the Midlands.

At the end of 1915 she married the late T. Henry Hardy, also a very fine ringer and singer, and the present writer was 'best man' for that occasion. Harry was badly knocked about in the first Great War, and died suddenly in 1922, just before the first peal on the newly-augmented 12 at St. Margaret's, Leicester, was due to be rung. He was to have taken part in this, but instead it was rung half-muffled to his memory, his father-in-law, William Willson, taking his place. They had one son, Ronald Willson Hardy, who is now a school teacher in Leicester. Many years later Lilian married Mr. Bert White, but owing to failing health was not able to take an active part in ringing, although her interest in the art remained.

OFFICIAL JOURNAL OF THE CENTRAL COUNCIL OF CHURCH BELL RINGERS

'The Ringing World' was founded in the year 1911 by John Sparkes Goldsmith, who remained its proprietor and editor until his death in 1942.

No. 2514 Vol. LV

FRIDAY, JUNE 5, 1959

Registered at the G.P.O. for transmission as a newspaper. 6d.

'THE RINGING WORLD'

THIS week we publish in extenso the debate at the Central Council meeting concerning 'The Ringing World.' Last year the journal succeeded in keeping its 'head above water' with a profit of £436, of which £275 was represented by donations. It is known that this year the costs will increase—it might mean a rise of £1,000—and the question before the Council was how this additional money was to be raised. Some might say the easiest procedure is an increase in the price of the journal, but this is contrary to the wishes of the Committee. When the selling price of the journal was increased from 4d. to 6d. in 1955 there was an eventual loss of circulation of 8 per cent. Since then we have been steadily climbing and are about 350 copies short of the highest sale.

Is there room for expansion of sales? The Committee and the Council confidently think that there is. The Sunday Service Survey gives the number of bell-ringers in the United Kingdom as 41,700, and of these 5,620 now purchase the journal. It must be remembered that a very large number of ringers are only interested in their own church ringing for Sunday services and their own practices. They are outside the fellowship of the Guilds and Associations; they know nothing of the great family of ringers. There are also the call-change ringers of the West Country, and while an occasional article of their festivals is published, and some read the journal, the majority are not readers. Nevertheless, it should be possible to increase the sales substantially, and this the elected representatives of the Guilds and Associations have promised to do.

We would, however, give this warning: if production costs rise by £1,000, this in itself is no solution. With high costs of distribution, the maximum benefit from each new subscriber will not exceed 10s. a year. Alternative means of raising revenue will be necessary. It will be recalled that at the Bournemouth Council meeting an appeal was made to those who rang peals or quarter peals to make a voluntary donation. This has been observed by many who ring quarter peals but few who ring peals. Revenue from these two sources is not increasing, although there are far more peals and quarter peals rung today than in recent years. Many Associations are only able to publish their reports by imposing a levy on peals, and it was thought by 51 members of the Council that this was the most practical method of raising funds. From peals alone it was stated that this would raise £400, although on last year's peal return it would be over £600. We would put this proposition to peal ringers—pay 6d. a peal or make everybody pay 8s. 6d. a year extra for their journal (a 2d. increase is the minimum if costs rise by £1,000). The choice is with you—and there are relatively few peal ringers who ring more than 17 peals a year. To quarter peal ringers we would say please send a contribution. There is no obligation to publish as records of quarters are not kept by the Council. We make a point of giving priority in publicity to those who send a contribution.

Guilds and Associations will note that a per capita levy of 6d. per member was defeated. Many organisations support their journals in this way, but we are not advocating this. We would call the attention of Guild and Branch secretaries to the fact that income from notices of meetings, etc., dropped last year from £556 to £537. We do not want to increase our charges, as notices are definitely news to many ringers; this can be met by a more liberal support. We also feel that we should have many more personal announcements, viz.: births, engagements, marriages and deaths. These could be very substantially increased.

May we reiterate that no one should ring his first peal or quarter peal without receiving a personal copy of the journal. Some towers follow this—the majority ignore the request. This is a means of circulation building which is very valuable. We should like to think that every ringer who rings a peal is a subscriber to the journal. Repeatedly we get cases of well-known ringers failing to renew their subscription and then apologetically writing after a period of two or three months with the current subscription.

Ringing, apart from its service to the Church, is a hobby. We have officials, members of the Council and Guild officers who devote hours of their time to promoting the affairs of the Exercise. Their reward is the wonderful fellowship engendered. The same remark applies to those associated with the official side of the journal. They do not value their service in pounds, shillings and pence. Not all the work is pleasant; at times it is very tedious to ensure a smooth production week by week. Every reader can help by following one or other of the suggestions made. In 1945 'The Ringing World' cost £1,306 to produce; now it is about £6,000. True, it is a larger and better paper, but it has not gone on the Editor's salary. Why is all this work done? Because we feel that the journal is essential if ringers are to form a large corporate family in the service of the Church.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

HADLEIGH BELLS

Dear Sir,—Mr. Peter Laffin enquires about Miles Graye bells. The grand old ring at Hadleigh (Suffolk) owes much to this local founder, who cast the treble, 2nd, 3rd and tenor.

In these days, when so many old bells are being subjected to retuning by modern methods, it is a treat to hear these 'old-fashioned' rings now and again. It is rather wonderful, I feel, that such rings, which have been built up over the years and added to by various founders, should be (to all except a very few highly-specialised ears) so well in tune, even though they lack—and is this a disadvantage?—the carefully-contrived hum of harmonies and over-tones which is a feature of modern tuning.

To get back to Hadleigh: these bells suffer by their position (Hadleigh-in-the-hole), but because of their Miles Graye trebles they are probably better, as a complete ring, than Lavenham's. I personally have my own opinion as to the merits of these two tenors, but I'm not starting any arguments!

There must be scores of other Miles Graye bells about in these parts: I believe the first removed from All Saints', Colchester, to Little Horkeley, Essex, are all by him.—Yours faithfully,

EDWIN C. HYNARD.

Bures, Suffolk.

FIRST WOMAN PEAL RINGER

Dear Sir,—With reference to the article on page 323 of your issue dated May 15th: for the purposes of official records I would like to point out that Miss A. White was the first woman to ring a peal on tower bells, Mrs. G. Williams being the first woman to ring a peal, this being on handbells.

Also, some few weeks ago a letter was sent by my old friend 'H. H. Atto.' Again for the purposes of official records, this good old 8-bell Caversham ringer's name is H. Hatto.—Yours sincerely,

W. HIBBERT.

Basingstoke, Hants.

UNIVERSITIES ASSOCIATION PEAL

Dear Sir,—On page 310 of 'The Ringing World' I noticed that a report is given of a peal by the Universities Association at the Church of St. Mary, Wisbech, Cambs. Wisbech is at least three miles from this church and has no 6-bell tower. The Church of St. Mary is at Wisbech St. Mary, a village of about one thousand population. I think that this report should be corrected before being recorded, and any later ringing at this tower should be also recorded as at Wisbech St. Mary.—Yours faithfully, GRAHAM J. MANN.

Elm, Wisbech.

P.S.—I think the tenor at Great St. Mary's, Cambridge, weighs 27 cwt, 13 lb, and not 27 cwt, 113 lb, as stated.—G. J. M.

REASON FOR INTERNATIONAL RINGING ASSOCIATION

Mr. Felstead will be pleased to hear that the members of the Channel Islands expedition were well aware of the fact that the Islands form part of the Diocese of Winchester, and thus enjoy the protection of the Winchester and Portsmouth Diocesan Guild.

It is reported, however, that by the time the adventurers had all purchased their full quota of duty-free wines, spirits and tobacco, their financial circumstances were such as to prohibit the payment of two peal booking fees.—Yours sincerely,

ROBIN G. LEALE.

Surbiton.

BROOKLAND—A MINOR FIVE

Dear Sir,—Mr. Peter Bond's letter re unusual 5-bell towers ('R.W.' May 15th) gives us interesting information, but I fear his reference to Brookland is incorrect (unless the bells have been retuned since he or myself were last there).

When I visited the tower last September and tested the bells with a tuning fork I found that it was not the tenor that was a semitone sharp, but the third was a semitone flat. Thus it can be seen that the bells are tuned to a minor key; the notes are approximately D, C, B flat, A and G. I must admit that none of the bells are completely in tune with each other, and hence possibly Mr. Bond's misconception that the tenor is a semitone sharp, which is quite understandable. I can hastily assure him that the only bell as much as a semitone out of tune is the third.

The tenor at Brookland is locally reputed to be 19 cwt. Its size would indicate it to weigh no more than about 11 cwt., although Dove puts it at 12½ cwt. However, it took the wind out of two of us to pull it up with the clapper on the right side, and setting it was a fine art (no pun intended!).

The only other tower that I can think of off hand in Kent which has five bells tuned in a minor key is that of Minster-in-Thanes (tenor 17 cwt.). St. Michael's, Maidstone, has a minor ring of six (middle six of a ring of eight), whilst Thannington (near Canterbury) has a semi-minor ring (notes G, F, E flat, D flat and C)—an old ring of three, augmented to five by the addition of two trebles, where two tenors were required—a real mix-up!—Yours faithfully,

NICHOLAS J. DAVIES.

Kennington, Ashford.

ANNUAL REPORTS AND THE SURVEY

Dear Sir,—One or two Associations have passed on to me a copy of their 1958 annual report in which they devote several pages to the Survey of Sunday service bands and ringing in their areas.

I shall be pleased to receive copies of other Association reports which devote considerable space to this work. Will secretaries who respond to this request please forward a copy of their annual report to me, and I will either return the report or remit the cost in due course.—Yours, etc.,

NORMAN CHADDOCK,

Convener,

Sunday Service Ringing Committee.

J. R. PRITCHARD'S 5,056 BOR MAJOR

Dear Sir,—It is pleasing to see the above peal still a popular composition since its publication in 1887, but I wonder how many present day conductors know of Mr. Pritchard's 5,056 which came out the following year and provides a wider scope both for calling and musical variety? In these days, when there is a desire to have the tenors parted for some of the peal, perhaps Mr. Pritchard's 1888 composition might appeal to some conductors who wish to try their luck in calling:—W In 3 H. W 2 H. W 3 H. W In 3 H. Three times repeated. S for B halfway and end.

They will find Queens, Tittums, Whittingtons and most of the 4-6-8 and 5-6-8 music.—Yours, etc.,

WILLIAM SHEPHERD.

Addlestone, Surrey.

REDEDICATION

St. Mary's, Sellindge

The six bells of Sellindge, near Ashford, Kent (clearly seen from the A20 trunk road to the coast), were removed in February and were taken to the Whitechapel Foundry. There they were retuned, the fittings repaired and all put in good order. Meanwhile the bell frame, a rather unsatisfactory wooden structure, which had been strengthened with angle irons some time ago, was thoroughly tightened up. On their return the bells were rehung on ball-bearings and fitted with improved pulleys to give a straight rope fall.

On May 9th a large congregation of village people and some ringers came together for the rededication service, conducted by the Vicar. The Archdeacon of Maidstone performed the ceremony of rededication and gave an address.

After the service the bells were rung to rounds and changes, and it was agreed that there was a vast improvement in the sound and 'go' of this little ring (tenor 8 cwt. 2 qr. 17 lb.).

Mr. Hughes and Mr. Parks, of Messrs. Mears and Stainbank, were present and able to test their handiwork and to receive the congratulations.

Unfortunately, lack of funds prevented any work being done upon anchoring the frame to the tower or the provision of a rope guide, but perhaps these can be tackled in the not-too-distant future. P. S.

Wallingford Bells Restored

The bells of Wallingford, Berks, are once again in good going order and are now one of the best eighties in Berkshire and Oxfordshire. The frame (some of the timbers of Spanish chestnut are believed to be from the ancient castle) has been strengthened and tied, and all the bells rehung on ball-bearings, stainless crown staples and new fittings, and the circle greatly improved. The work has been carried out by Messrs. White, of Appleton.

MORE BELFRY GOSSIP

Mr. K. G. Spavins would like to know the name of the party visiting Woburn on June 13th from 6.30 to 7 p.m. He has unfortunately lost their letter.

The St. John's, Hillingdon, band rang a quarter peal of Grandire Caters at St. Clement Danes' on April 24th. They are probably the first local band to ring a quarter on the bells.

Five of the clappers of the bells of St. Michael and All Angels', Edenham, Lincs, have been rebushed by Messrs. John Taylor and Co. The removal, replacement and transport to and from Loughborough was undertaken by the tower captain, Mr. W. A. Holmes.

The Ringing Master at the Tewkesbury Branch meeting at Twynning was upset to find that a party of six had dashed off to ring a quarter at another tower. 'Never mind,' comments our correspondent, 'youth must have its ring.'

An unexpected visitor to Cape Town was Mr. Gerry Cartwright, of Croydon, who has been on transfer to Johannesburg for three months. Passing through Durban, he was given a ring at St. Paul's and taken to see the ten at St. Mary's, Greyville, by Mr. Cyril Chambers. A few days later at Cape Town he came along to a practice, at which a quarter peal was rung.

An unpleasant experience had the band who rang the first quarter peal on Bishop Latimer's Church bells since recasting. Coming down from the ringing chamber they found the door at the foot of the stairs locked from the outside. After 30 minutes, assistance was finally summoned by the chiming of a bell. The experience was somewhat peculiar and noisy because the stairway runs at the back of the organ.

MR. FRANK M. BRESSEY

With sorrow, the Vancouver Society of Change Ringers report the recent loss of one of its founder members in Mr. Frank M. Bressey, aged 79 years, who passed away on April 27th.

Mr. Bressey had proved himself to be a great friend to the Society. He emigrated from England in the early part of the century to the prairie provinces, and in 1908 moved further west to Vancouver. He had for some years prior to this rung at the parish church at Wanstead, Essex.

On arriving at Vancouver he very soon heard of the new ring of bells at the Holy Rosary Cathedral, and joined the band of 'The Old Country' ringers that were forming themselves around the late Mr. A. C. Limpus, who had persuaded the Church authorities to have an 'English' style ring of bells hung.

In 1911, on July 1st, Dominion Day, the first peal ever to be rung in Canada was accomplished, and at the personal authorisation of the late King George V this was designated a Coronation peal; a peal board in the ringing chamber bears testimony to this fact. The peal was Holt's Original of Grandsire.

The Society was proud to have as one of its members Mr. Bressey, who was the last surviving member of the first peal band, and that it was able to give him the great pleasure of ringing again for a short while although he had not been ringing for over ten years, the bells having hung silently for a considerable time.

At Mr. Bressey's suggestion, the Society last year had a plaque made and hung in the tower to commemorate the work of A. C. Limpus; and it is proposed to erect a tablet to the memory of Mr. Bressey later this year near this plaque.

OBITUARYMR. ALFRED PEARCE

We regret to record the death of Mr. Alfred Pearce, at Bristol, at the age of 89, on May 8th. He had been ringing regularly until about three years ago.

Alf started to ring at St. James', Bristol, at the age of 16, under the late Henry Porch, at that time a well-known conductor. His work took him from Bristol in his early twenties, and for some years he rang in different parts of the country, notably in London and Salisbury. He returned to Bristol, however, before the First World War, and for the past 45 years was a regular member of the band at St. James'.

A good striker, Alf was a safe and prolific peal ringer, especially on ten and 12; and though no record of the number of his peals exists they must be reckoned in hundreds, and he seldom missed Sunday ringing. Alf had a quiet and cheerful disposition with a fine sense of humour and was splendid company on any outing or social function. He leaves a son (the present tower captain at St. James') and two daughters.

The funeral service took place at St. James', where many of the local ringers were present, including Mr. Frank Skidmore, the Master of the Gloucester and Bristol Association, and officers of the Bristol City Branch, and the bells were rung open at the request of his family.

Interment followed at Canford Cemetery, where a course of Grandsire Caters was rung on handbells at the graveside by Mr. F. G. Leaker, Mrs. Joan Gray, the Rev. Roy Bryant, Mr. E. J. Brown and Mr. A. M. Tyler, providing a fitting end to a fine ringing career.

FRANK A. BARRETT
AN APPRECIATION

The death of 'young Frank,' as he was called, in a road accident on May 15th, shortly after his 18th birthday, came as a great shock to those who knew him. A native of Oxford and the son of a ringer, he became a proficient ringer himself at a very early age, ringing a peal of Stedman Cinques at the age of 14 and London Surprise Major when he was 15. He did not belie his early promise, and soon became one of those of whom it may be said that they can ring anything. He would undoubtedly have made a lasting name for himself had he lived, and it is true to say that ringing circles in Oxford have lost one who was certain in due course to become their leader.

His appearance of shy diffidence concealed from many a real strength of character, and it comes as a further tragedy that he should be taken from us just as he was on the threshold of the best years of his life. He was a quiet boy, never ruffled and always reliable; socially the best of companions. It is impossible to say in a brief notice exactly how much we shall all miss him personally, and our sympathy goes out to his mother and younger brother in their sad bereavement.

The funeral took place at St. Aldate's, the church he attended as a chorister and ringer. We shall not forget the way no blandishments could persuade him to neglect his duty to St. Aldate's as a Sunday service ringer, and it is strangely moving that the recently-restored bells were first heard at his funeral.

A muffled peal at Kidlington was lost after two hours' good ringing, but one was subsequently rung at Dorchester to his memory.

What should have been Alan Carveth's last peal as a bachelor when he was ringing the tenor to Bob Royal on Whit Saturday at Truro Cathedral came to an unfortunate end, after more than two-and-a-half hours' good ringing, through the bearings of the eighth running dry. It was nice to think, too, that at Evensong preceding the attempt we were asked to think, according to the Diocesan Prayer Cycle of the parish of Crantock and the incumbent, the Rev. W. H. R. Trehwella, who is secretary of the Diocesan Guild.

Mr. W. A. J. Knight informs us that Mr. Alan Wrigby rang his first peal at Bathampton in 1948 and not with Mr. C. J. Gould at Chatham.

We are asked to state that the late Mr. Henry Dew trained the first band at St. Matthew's, Buckley, and not Borthwick as appeared on page 350.

Mr. Arthur Dixon, the tower captain at Heckington, Lincolnshire, has recently completed 50 years as a service ringer at St. Andrew's Church. His enthusiastic band hope he will be able to equal the 60 years achieved by his former colleague, Mr. John H. Clark.

The tune, 'God Bless the Prince of Wales,' which was withdrawn from the Hove Town Hall carillon upon the accession of King Edward VIII, has been reinstated. The carillon operates on two drums and plays one tune at 9 a.m. and another at 1 p.m. each day.

Mr. Ranald Clouston, whose engagement is announced this week, has just returned from Greece and Turkey, visiting Ephesus, Troy, Santa Sophia (Istanbul) and Athens. At Venice he saw the five bells in St. Mark's (tenor c. 1480), but the other bells are modern; they are rung electrically.

BELFRY GOSSIP

Brian Hill (14), who had his first lesson 14 months ago, and is the grandson of Mr. A. P. Knights, of Sheffield, rang his first peal—Kent Treble Bob Major—on May 23rd at Ecclesfield. The composition was the same as Mr. A. P. Knights' father conducted for his first peal 39 years ago. A social evening followed. There were congratulations to Brian and also birthday greetings to Mr. T. W. Senior and Mr. A. P. Knights. Guests included Mr. and Mrs. F. Udall, of Chelsea.

After a period of two years of 'chiming only,' a young band is being trained for service ringing at Whitchurch, Salop.

Included in the ringing for Mayoring Day at Rye were rounds by an 'all-ladies' band from Rye Grammar School.

Overheard in the hotel lounge at Southport after the Central Council meeting: 'If the bell-ringers can ring as well as they can talk they must be good.'

Bells will be heard prior to the morning service to be broadcast on Sunday, June 14th, at 9.45 a.m. in the Home Service, from Margate Parish Church. The service will be conducted by the Curate (Rev. Howard Whyntie) and the preacher will be the Vicar (Canon S. A. Odom).

In connection with the peal at Grimsby, two 21st birthdays of members of the local band were honoured—Mr. D. J. Kennington's and Mrs. F. Kennington's. The company were pleased to note that Mr. George Dobbs had come out of retirement.

The Rev. Alan Butler, S.S.M., after two years in Bloemfontein, is returning to England. He joined Cape Town ringers for a practice on May 19th. Alan's ability to ring Kent after such a long time out of the belfry was unimpaired.

‘RINGING WORLD’ NEEDS MORE REVENUE

PEAL LEVY NARROWLY DEFEATED — GUILDS AND ASSOCIATIONS TO PARTICIPATE IN CIRCULATION DRIVE — PER CAPITA LEVY ON ALL RINGERS HEAVILY DEFEATED

The report of ‘The Ringing World’ Committee, presented by Mr. J. F. Smallwood, stated:—

Your Committee are pleased to be able once more to report that your publication has again been able to pay its way, but only through the generosity of a small proportion of the large number of ringers.

The report of the Committee for 1956 drew the attention of the Council to the fact that the circulation for 1955 was 5,400, and although a resolution was adopted pledging further efforts to obtain more subscribers, the figure shows little improvement.

As compared with 1939, the cost of a morning newspaper has increased from one penny to 2½d. (150%), and circulation has not declined but improved. ‘The Ringing World’ now costs sixpence against threepence (100%), but 600 readers ceased taking the paper after the last change of price from 4d. to 6d., and whilst circulation has not fallen further, these readers have not resumed nor have they been replaced.

Your Committee has never relaxed its efforts to attract new subscribers, subject always to the available income.

Costs are kept to an absolute minimum, and it is doubtful if any other weekly publication is produced at less than ‘The Ringing World.’ Few, if any, quarter peals are submitted without a voluntary donation, but it is significant that peal ringers still lag a long way behind.

Some years ago each Association was invited to appoint one or more persons who would undertake the gathering and submission of news of local interest and further the sales of the paper. No reporters are employed and the Editor depends on every ringer for his copy. Several Association representatives are still doing excellent work in keeping ‘The Ringing World’ before members, but there are some areas of the country from which little or no news is ever received.

The Editor can make and has made available copies of the paper on sale or return for special Association occasions, and your Committee draw your attention to this facility.

It is only by the diligent and enthusiastic work of all ringers that the circulation and size of ‘The Ringing World’ can be increased, and we urgently appeal for the generous support and co-operation of all members of the Council and ask that they continue to keep before their Association the advantages of subscribing to the paper.

Your Committee again thank the Editor (Mr. T. W. White) and his staff for their work throughout the year, Mr. J. L. Jeater for looking after the accounts, Mr. Roper for compiling the index, Mr. C. K. Lewis for vetting and guidance in the matter of compositions, Mr. E. A. Barnett for close attention and help over many queries, and all who have in any way contributed to ‘The Ringing World’ either by literary or monetary contributions.

HIGHER PRODUCTION COSTS

Presenting the report, Mr. F. W. Smallwood said he regretted to tell them that there was trouble in the offing. The printers were seeking a shorter week and a substantial increase in wages. If what they were applying for was granted, they could look forward to an increase in the production costs of the paper of 25 per cent. They did not know how they were going to meet the situation. If they had a circulation in the region of 10,000, which ‘The Ringing World’ ought to have, they would be quite happy.

Members of the Council would recall that they passed a resolution pledging support of the Committee. If they were satisfied that saturation point had been reached and it was hopeless to expect any increase above 5,400, one thing was inevitable—the cost of the paper would go up. He urged the Council to get down to business and get more people interested in the paper and secure more readers. One way was for every Association to encourage what they had advocated for some years, to appoint representatives to act as liaison officers with ‘The Ringing World,’ create interest in sales and send news to the paper.

Reference had been made to the enterprise and benefits of taking the paper as postal subscribers. It was from postal subscribers that they made more profit. They would have noticed that the number of postal subscribers went down last year and he hoped that figure would be substantially altered by this time next year. He moved the adoption of the report.

Mr. G. W. Fletcher seconded.

Mr. A. H. Pulling said he wondered if the Council really knew how ‘The Ringing World’ was produced. He remembered how the late Mr. Goldsmith talked to a friend and told him he was thinking about providing a paper for ringers. His friend told him that if he started a ringer paper he was bound to lose money. ‘The Bell News’ was supported by certain rich people. His friend told Mr. Goldsmith: ‘If you start the paper it must be purely and simply as a hobby. It was run as a hobby, and ‘The Ringing World’ was still being run as a hobby. Take the Committee—they did their work for nothing. Mr. Jeater, who sent out the receipts, did it practically for nothing, and Mr. White would not do the work he did if he was not doing it for a hobby. If people paid for ‘The Ringing World’ what it really cost its circulation would go down. The only thing they could hope for was that Mr. White would have good health for many years to come and the Committee continue to do their work for nothing, because if they attempted to put ‘The Ringing World’ on a business footing they would have trouble. It was only by getting people to work for nothing that it would go on.

PEALS AT 2s. A ROPE

Mr. C. W. Pipe said in his opinion the financial position could be easily put right. Guilds and Associations had had financial difficulties, and these had been partially met by levies. He thought they had all enjoyed too much for practically nothing. He advocated that they pay a recording fee of 6d. per rope in each peal submitted—not 6d. per head, as they had people ringing two bells these days. Many of them paid 6d. per rope to the Association, and that should be continued. Then they should also pay 1s. per rope to the Church. In others in each peal pay 2s.: sixpence per rope to the Association, another 6d. to ‘The Ringing World’ and one shilling to the local church.

Mr. A. D. Barker thought ‘The Ringing World’ Committee were making a rod for their own backs by selling the second copy at less than the advertised price.

Mr. F. E. Haynes considered it was unnecessary for multi-method peals of Doubles to occupy such a large space.

Mr. R. S. Anderson said they would be very happy if peal ringers would follow Mr. Pipe’s suggestion and would follow the example of quarter peal ringers, who made a very substantial contribution. Some years ago it was suggested a definite levy on the publication of peals, which comprised a fair proportion of each issue. It was then stated it was never known for a newspaper to pay for news. If peals were news quarter peals were equally news. They would very much welcome contributions from the ringers of peals rather than having to consider seriously making a charge for the publication of peals.

With reference to Mr. Haynes’ suggestion about dealing with peals of Doubles that took half a column to accommodate them, Mr. Anderson said the Committee would like some guidance from the Council as to whether they should insert a peal of Doubles in so many methods and leave it at that. If it conflicted with the Analysis Committee the conductor could send them full details.

Mr. John Freeman strongly opposed the suggestion of not printing the details. He was not interested in Spliced Doubles or Minor but he would certainly disparage any suggestion that Spliced Major should be so treated. He wanted to know the methods rung.

Mr. H. Miles said in 1953 or 1954 he proposed that with all peals there should be a definite publication fee. He said if ringers were prepared to pay for the publication of their peals in their local reports they should be prepared to pay for insertion in ‘The Ringing World,’ which had a very much wider circulation. He strongly supported Mr. Pipe’s suggestion.

Mr. Miles asked ‘The Ringing World’ Committee how the paper could interest ringers in the Truro Diocese where 95 per cent. of the ringers did not ring changes.

MORE GENERAL NEWS WANTED

Mr. Philip Gray emphasised the importance of circulation. The fact was that there were not 10,000 people interested in peals and quarter peals. Unless they had more news to interest non-peal ringers they would not increase circulation.

Mr. G. S. Joyce asked if a charge was made for peal reports how far would it go towards meeting the additional costs.

Mr. Peter Border thought the sum would be about £400.

Mr. Norman Chaddock thought one of the difficulties about postal subscribers was that people had to buy postal orders. Would it be possible for one person to collect 20 or 30 subscriptions each year and send them in?

Dr. D. Layton maintained that peals were news and that multi-method peals were also news.

Mr. D. Burnett said ‘The Ringing World’ always published the articles he submitted about the Truro Diocesan Guild.

Mr. Harry Sanger thought the answer was for the Council to vote sufficient funds to expand ‘The Ringing World’ so that it could publish all the news.

Mr. J. H. Crampin criticised a whole page being used to duplicate what appeared in the peal columns.

Mr. C. K. Lewis said the danger of putting a levy on peals would be that some would disappear and their records would be destroyed. In regard to Doubles peals, some years ago the Council made a very great drive to encourage

Doubles and Minor ringers to ring more methods. Now they were condemning them for doing it. The logical result would be knocking out the names of methods; the next would be the omission of the names of the ringers, and after that one line in 'The Ringing World' would be sufficient for recording the peal. If any levy was made it should be made per capita on the Associations.

COPIES PASSED ROUND

Mr. Bernard Ashford commented that they would only deceive themselves if they thought the ringers were prepared to pay for something. 'The Ringing World' got into far more hands than the 5,500 who subscribed. In the north of Worcestershire they had an instruction tower and the practices were on a Friday. After the practice it was quite a common thing to see someone bring out a 'Ringing World,' and that particular paper would be read by about half-a-dozen people.

Mr. A. P. Cannon: As one who rings a few peals I am against a peal levy; I regard it as a tax on progress. If they wanted more money they should make the cost of the paper 1s. or 1s. 6d. I can't understand why nobody has suggested that.

Mr. A. J. Martin replied to Mr. Cannon that the only concrete suggestion was a levy on peals.

Mr. Joyce: What is the use of the paper if it is full up with peals? Peals will not increase circulation.

Mr. H. N. Pitstow said it seemed to him that the Council was not being positive enough. 'The Ringing World' was the responsibility of the Council and not the Committee. There was an implication that 'The Ringing World' Committee was not doing enough. They had got to take action and solve the problem, and it was the Associations that had to move and get things going. He proposed that the Council approach the Guilds and Associations, pointing out that 'The Ringing World' was of considerable concern to the Council, and asked them to take steps in every District to promote the sales of 'The Ringing World,' and to submit other suggestions to help the finances.

Mr. Pipe asked if a levy could be considered by the Associations.

Mr. Pitstow said it could come up.

Mr. P. A. Corby seconded Mr. Pitstow's amendment.

The Rev. John Scott felt many Associations would support a 6d. peal levy.

Mr. Pipe then moved and the Rev. John Scott seconded a further amendment approving of a 6d.-a-rope levy.

LEVY ON GUILDS SUGGESTED

The Rev. K. W. H. Felstead moved and Mr. A. D. Barker seconded another amendment that a levy of 6d. a head be imposed on the Guilds and Associations. With 40,000 ringers in the country, said Mr. Felstead, that would produce £1,000.

This was strongly criticised. 'It would be a big mistake,' declared Mr. R. G. Blackman.

Mr. F. E. Dukes said in Ireland ringers were not interested in 'The Ringing World' although a few took the journal. If they put a levy on peals they would not send them to 'The Ringing World' but to the Peals Analysis Committee. If the Council imposed a levy of 6d.

a member, some Associations would withdraw from the Council.

Mr. W. Ayre: On behalf of the Peals Analysis Committee I would say we only deal with peals published in 'The Ringing World.'

Mr. G. W. Fletcher: I think some small Associations have difficulties in making ends meet. If you impose a 6d. levy they will turn round and say: 'Why, your "Ringing World" balance sheet shows net assets £4,522.'

The amendments were then put.

The Rev. K. W. H. Felstead's of 6d. per capita levy had only 11 supporters and was heavily defeated.

Mr. C. W. Pipe's of a 6d. per rope levy for peals published was defeated by 68 votes to 51.

Mr. Pitstow's amendment, asking the Guilds and Associations to take action to promote sales, was carried without dissent. The report was then adopted.

PEAL BOARDS

Mr. J. W. Clarke (convener) said last year he reported that no record of an ancient peal board had been received for two years. The previous evening he received the record and photographs of two boards. They were February 28th, 1729 (Kettering), and March 10th, 1736 (Sibsey, Lines).

The Standing Committee recommended that the terms of reference of the activities of the Committee be increased to 1881, which marked the beginning of 'Bell News.'

The Rev. K. W. H. Felstead said in the 1870 publication of 'Church Bells' there appeared week by week copies of peal boards. Did the Committee know of these?

Mr. Clarke replied in the negative. He appealed for the co-operation of all ringers in regard to the extension of time.

The report was adopted, with the recommendation of the Standing Committee.

The hon. secretary stated that 'The Ringing World' Account had been audited, but he regretted that owing to the illness of Mr. A. A. Hughes, the audit of the General Account had not been completed and that was subject to audit.

The accounts of 'The Ringing World' were very much the same as last year. Expenses had gone up by £700 largely due to the extra number of 20-page issues. On the income side there had been a slight drop from postal subscribers—a regrettable trend which he hoped would be reversed next year. Their policy of investing funds in Defence Bonds had provided a profit of £106.

His only comment on the balance sheet of 'The Ringing World' was that they did make a further investment of £1,000 in five per cent. Defence Bonds. Their profit was a matter of £436, which took into account £275 received in donations and £60 interest. It meant that only about £100 was surplus on the year's working. He moved the adoption of the accounts subject to audit of the General Fund.

Mr. J. F. Smallwood seconded.—Agreed.

GOOD AND BAD PUBLICITY OF RINGING

LITERATURE AND PRESS COMMITTEE

The report, signed by Mr. Edgar C. Shepherd (convener) and Mr. F. E. Dukes, stated:—

The year 1958 showed no lack of news items and reports concerning bell-ringing, and two notable events attracted the attention of newspapers to a more than ordinary degree.

The greatest publicity given to ringing in England was associated with the two attempts to ring the extent of Bob Major at Loughborough. An examination of press cuttings relating to the first of these attempts forces us to the conclusion that much of the notoriety attaching to the occasion was undesirable. The more responsible papers, and these included the Loughborough press, were guarded in their reports of this somewhat extraordinary affair, but the less delicate organs of the news world treated the matter with facetiousness and a certain vulgarity. The lesson of this was not lost on the ringers, and the second attempt and its unfortunate failure were treated with fitting restraint in all papers.

IRELAND'S GOOD TREATMENT

This year the Irish papers were greatly influenced by the Central Council meeting in Dublin and the carillon festival at Cobh, Co. Cork, both events occurring in the same week. The general secretary of the Irish Association, at the request of the Bord Fáilte Éireann, produced a beautifully-illustrated article on Irish Church Bells, and on May 4th the 'Irish Independent' in a half-page article, covered the arrival of the Council members. Reporters were clearly intrigued by the presence of the lady ringers, and one of the most delightful snapshots of the year showed Miss Greaves, Miss Yeo, Mrs. Olive Barnett, Miss Beamish and Mrs. Rogers as a very cheerful quintet.

The Cork papers fully covered the carillon festival. The Irish national papers were also interested, and the 'Irish Times' published a photograph of the brother of Dr. Staf Gebreurs playing on the carillon with Mr. Paul Taylor standing by. 'The Cork Diocesan Year Book' published a well-constructed article by A. F. Bogan, entitled 'Come at my Call,' the Armagh ringers and their 18th Century Society were noted in 'Armagh Guardian,' and the 'Evening Press' gave further information concerning Byrne's Foundry in Dublin.

In general, the Press throughout the whole of Ireland focused a great deal of attention on the Council's activities, including the tours in Northern and Southern Ireland. There seems little doubt as to the impact of this publicity for we are informed that there have already been inquiries from some quarters about the possibility of procuring change-ringing bells for a number of Irish churches.

Other news items and photographs have been numerous in 1958. Early in the year the Rotherham ringers were pictured ringing carols on handbells, and among other photographs were the Roving Ringers in East Anglia, the rededication of the bells of Bristol Cathedral, the annual meeting of the Kent County Association and the Railwaymen's Guild celebrating the 70th birthday of Mr. Frank Stenson. In the 'Birmingham Post and Gazette' the retirement into private life of Ald. A. Paddon Smith received considerable notice, and the accompanying photograph was excellent. The death of Mr. John Thomas was given prominence in the Birmingham and Worcestershire papers. A considerable stir was caused when the 'Leicester Evening Mail' announced the 'decease' of Mr. Ernest Morris, and those who know our genial historian will appreciate the glee with which he was able to point out that the report of his demise was greatly exaggerated!

CONTROVERSIES

Two topics of a controversial nature are worth recording for the light they shed on the attitude of both Press and public to ringing affairs.

The first concerns an attack on the practice ringing at Knowle, Warwickshire, launched in the 'Solihull News' during December. The subsequent correspondence was overwhelmingly in favour of the bells and the ringers, and provided once again proof of public support for ringing wherever the ringing is conducted with moderation and restraint.

The second gives another warning of an even more insidious form of attack on the traditional art of bell-ringing. In November considerable publicity was given to the installation in the parishes of Ashley and Bagnall, Staffordshire, of electrical bell-ringing apparatus, and newspapers quoted the Chancellor of the Lichfield Diocese who much regretted the innovation. The Rector of Ashley's attempt to justify the installation on the grounds, first, that he had no ringers, and second, that bell-ringing was a dying art, was replied to in the 'Birmingham Post' by the secretary of the Society of Change Ringers for the Archdeaconry of Stafford and by the convener of this Committee. In addition, Mr. E. H. Edge, in a careful letter to the 'Sentinel,' gave statistical proof of the flourishing state of ringing in the North Staffordshire area. There has been no reply to these arguments.

This is the second manifestation this year of the strange 'dying art' illusion. In an interview with the 'Evening News' in January last, Mr. George Chappell, aged 93, regretted the passing of ringers and ringing activities as he had known them in Hampshire, and the nostalgia accompanying the reminiscences was in all probability construed into pessimism by the reporter. The general tone of this interview is in sharp contrast to the vigorous optimism of another veteran, Mr. Hauley, of Whitnash, also 93, who sees a bright future for ringing, and is still interested in the teaching of beginners in the art.

A thoughtful and authoritative reply to Mr. Chappell's views was offered in the 'Evening News' of January 22nd by the founder of the College of Campanology. Mr. York-Bramble summarised the difficulties attending the recruiting of beginners in certain areas, but made it clear that this was no symptom of a decline in the art of ringing. The letter emphasised the importance of planned training.

Apart from the essays from Ireland, the full-scale articles to reach us this year have been less in number. A carefully-constructed survey of the history of Rotherham Parish Church Bells, by Norman Chaddock, appeared in the 'Phoenix Gazette' for November, and the article was illustrated with photographs of the bells and the ringers. An appreciation of change-ringing, by Philip A. Stables, appeared in the 'Weekly Scotsman.' On the other side of the Atlantic the 'New York Times' drew attention to the growth of handbell ringing in the States, and from Kent, U.S.A., came an account of the Kent Bell Ringers' Guild and of progress in change-ringing on handbells. 'Overtones' continues to record maintained interest in handbell ringing, and this year makes significant mention of handbells rung 'within the framework of the conventional order of morning worship.'

The following ringing publications have come our way during 1958:—

Bell Handling and Control, The College of Campanology.
Campanologia, F. T. Blagrove.
False Course Heads, Segar.
The Cambridge University Guild History, Vol. II, 1929-1954, C. M. P. Johnson.
Ringing a Bell, Bath and Wells Diocesan Association.
Handbook of Grandsire Caters, Edgar C. Shepherd.
Bellringers' Diary, W. Viggers and M. Hodgson.
Irish Bell News, edited by F. E. Dukes.
The Ringers' Magazine, edited by William Butler.
The Belfry, Maidstone District of Kent.
The Ringing Towers, New South Wales Association.

Moving the adoption of the report, Mr. Shepherd asked members not to hesitate to send anything that reflected on ringing.

Mr. F. E. Dukes seconded and the report was adopted.

THE BEGINNERS' HANDBOOK

The report, signed by Miss M. R. Cross and other members, stated:—

As members of the Council are well aware, the work of this Committee is now completed with the publication of 'The Elementary Handbook for Beginners in the Art of Change Ringing.' We therefore ask the Council to disband the Committee.

Before we close this report we wish to express our gratitude to all those members of the Council and others who helped us in the production of the book; especially to the President, Mr. F. Sharpe, for providing the photographs, the secretary, Mr. E. A. Barnett, for much help and advice, Mr. A. A. Hughes for the loan of blocks, and to Mr. T. W. White, Editor of 'The Ringing World,' for help in the actual production.

Miss Cross moved and Mr. W. G. Wilson seconded the adoption of the report.

The secretary said: The Standing Committee recommended that instead of disbanding the committee remain in being to revise in the light of any comment.

Mr. W. G. Wilson said 3,250 of the stock had gone in two months but they had not gone into the hands of 2,500 beginners by a long way. They must not revise until those people who purchased had got rid of their stock. The sale of 3,250 was phenomenal, and he was as pleased as the rest, but it would not continue at that rate for long. It might be that the remainder might last for six months. He did not think they ought to revise this year or next year. If they had a reprint they did not want a committee. They might wish to get second thoughts. The Council had too many moribund committees.

The report was adopted and the disbanding of the committee was agreed to.

1958 A GOOD YEAR FOR PEALS

PEALS ANALYSIS COMMITTEE

Mr. W. Ayre, as convener, presented the report, which stated:—

In submitting their report for 1958, the Committee have pleasure again in reporting an increase on the previous year, though the number rung on handbells has again decreased. The grand total of peals accepted is 2,512 (2,488) with 2,372 on tower bells (2,336) and 140 (152) on handbells.

The analysis breaks down as follows:—

	Tower	Hand
Maximus	24 (30)	1 —
Cinques	31 (21)	1 (3)
Royal	133 (99)	6 (14)
Caters	81 (83)	5 (8)
Major	894 (884)	32 (59)
Triples	218 (251)	11 (9)
Minor	689 (732)	40 (38)
Doubles	302 (236)	44 (21)
	2,372	140

No one has dislodged the Leicester Guild from the premier position, for they are once again head of the list with 181 peals. After that we have a general shuffle round—the Oxford Guild moving from 5th to 2nd place with 137; the Yorkshire Association has jumped into 3rd place, having scored 132. (Was it the Bath and Wells tour which did it?)

The first six places are as follows:—

Leicester G.	181
Oxford G.	137
Yorkshire A.	132
Lancashire A.	129
Norwich	114
Kent County	110

Several Associations only just managed to produce a peal.

OUTSTANDING PERFORMANCES

12,600 Doubles by the Oxford Guild, also multi-method peals of Minor and Doubles by the same Guild and the Derbyshire Association. Scientific Triples by the Middlesex Association.

There has been a greater variety of methods in Royal and Caters—20 of Royal and 5 of Caters, against 9 and 2 respectively in 1957.

We automatically remove from the Analysis any 'peal' which is later proved FALSE, irrespective of personal opinions expressed in print or otherwise.

'Peals' which have not been included in the Analysis are:—

- Double Grandsire Doubles—in whole pulls—by the Llandaff and Monmouth.
- 'Freak' handbell peal?—by the Cambridge University Guild—counted as one peal, not two.
- Minor in nine methods—Yorkshire Association—not acceptable, as ringer of 2nd was changed half-way.
- Saturn T.B. Doubles—non-Association—not acceptable.

There appears to be some difficulty regarding the correct publication of peals of Doubles, especially the multi-method ones (what an immense space some of them occupy—can we condense them?). The Committee simply count the names and call them methods, but we would call the attention of the ringers of such peals to the fact that really they are sometimes only variations, and suggest that they call them such (e.g.: say, seven six-scores Plain Bob/April Day, Old ———/variations).

Again recording our thanks to Mr. H. L. Roper for his valuable assistance.

Moving the adoption, Mr. Ayre said the peals of Major would have to be increased by one, as a peal rung on December 31st was not published until April. For the same reason peals of Minor would be increased by one. The handbell peals of Major would be decreased by one, because a freak handbell peal had been withdrawn. He apologised for excluding the peal of Double Grandsire Doubles. He was under the impression that it was rung in whole pull. It was not. He would like guidance on the peal rung at Histon, where the clappers were tied and the sound came from electrically-operated handbells. He would also like to add the name of Mr. H. L. Roper to the Committee.

Mr. H. Miles seconded.

The hon. secretary: The Standing Committee recommend the adoption of the report with the addition of Mr. Roper to the Committee. With regard to the peal of Double Grandsire Doubles, the reference to it be deleted. The Committee recommend that the peal at Histon be not accepted as it contravened the rules, viz.: 'That every bell must sound during the peal at every change.'

Mr. A. P. Cannon considered that the peal of Scientific Triples did not get the recognition it deserved.

A member questioned the ruling of the Committee regarding the peal at Histon. He would vote against it.

Mr. A. D. Barker: Has the Committee included a certain peal of Plain Bob Major which was rung at Egham? There has been some correspondence about it.

Mr. W. Ayre: That is included.

Mr. Brian Threlfall said the Cambridge University handbell peal had been deleted from the Guild records.

Mr. Ayre: It is not included. It counts as one.

Mr. Barker pressed for the deletion of the Egham peal and asked Mr. Ayre if he was satisfied.

Mr. Ayre: Personally I am not satisfied, but the peal has not been withdrawn by the conductor.

Mr. F. I. Hairs said a conductor had not withdrawn a false peal of Surprise. Was that counted?

Mr. Ayre: The Surprise peal is out.

Mr. Peter Border urged that the peal at Histon be included. The bells heard outside the church would be a nuisance. His amendment was defeated.

The report, with the recommendation of the Standing Committee, was then adopted.

METHODS COMMITTEE

The report by the Committee (Rev. K. W. H. Felstead as convener) stated:—

We regret that we have to inform the Council that our high hopes of quickly completing the Minor methods book did not materialise. The main 'stone of stumbling' has been in the completely new section on Spliced extents which, members will appreciate, is not an easy subject either to explain or write about so that it can be readily understood. We are grateful for the help of several ringers in response to our request in 'The Ringing World' for names of Alliance methods. These have proved most helpful in naming many of them and correcting others.

We have considered a request to include 'irregular' Minor methods in the book but, unless the Council instructs us otherwise, we have decided not to do so.

We have nothing further to report about the Triples methods book.

The Rev. K. W. H. Felstead moved and Mr. C. H. Kippin seconded the adoption of the report.

Mr. R. F. B. Speed said he had quite a number of applications for this Minor book. Most people were hoping that the old book would be reprinted. He had also had requests for a Surprise Major book.

The Rev. K. W. H. Felstead said it would be very easy to have the Minor book reprinted and it would serve 75 per cent. of the ringers. When a book was being revised it did seem a pity not to make it as comprehensive as possible.

Mr. J. P. Fidler urged that a paragraph should be incorporated dealing with Spliced Surprise Minor. All that was required was the names of methods that would splice lead for lead.

Mr. G. E. Feirn supported the Committee that there was a demand not only for simple but other methods.

Mr. C. K. Lewis remarked that he was the culprit. Mr. Fidler had said he just wanted lead for lead of Spliced Surprise. He wanted to go further, and wanted to put in certain Doubles and Spliced methods. He hoped to deal with it by the end of the summer holidays. Spliced Minor was growing and was not the prerogative of Cheshire and Lincolnshire.

Mr. W. F. Moreton asked if irregular methods would be included. Their inclusion would make the book comprehensive.

Mr. Felstead: It would delay the book.

Mr. C. K. Lewis: It would extend publication another 12 months. Except for a small area, there was not a demand for irregular methods.

The report was adopted.

CENTRAL COUNCIL—Cont.BIOGRAPHIES COMMITTEE

The report, which was signed by Mr. A. C. Hazelden, stated:—

Of the total of those who, in the years of this Council's existence have been elected members, some 360, or 50 per cent., are now known to be deceased. Of this number, 280 have their records completed to the Council's requirements except where, in a few cases, we have reluctantly given up hope of obtaining a photograph. Among these latter are names of men very well known to a former generation, such as B. T. Copley, R. A. Daniell, J. C. Daubuz, John Aspinwall, Alfred Palmer, Rev. C. C. Parker, Harvey Reeves, W. H. Thompson and F. W. Quantok-Shuldharn.

Added to these we have 32 deceased past members (with records otherwise complete) whose photographs are known—or believed—to exist, but which we have not yet succeeded in collecting. In this group are pioneer characters also well known to a rapidly-passing generation—the late F. E. Dawe, the Rev. H. C. Courtney, the Rev. C. W. H. Griffiths, the Rev. N. E. Hope, George Longden, William Walmsley, etc.

We have also a small group, 16 in number, who are known to be deceased but who are otherwise unknown to us. Some of this group were members of the 1891 Council, and it includes such names as the late Rev. T. S. Curteis, C. E. Malim, J. Griffen, Rev. C. Barton, J. G. Buchanan, Freeman Ball and R. B. Blanchard. The last named in his time represented the Surrey Association, of which he was also the hon. secretary.

The remainder of about 100 persons (both past and present members) of whom we have no knowledge, excepting their names, creates a feeling of frustration in the minds of your Committee. Many of these were elected for short periods many years before our Committee was first set up, so probably long deceased before the end of the 1939 war, when our research was begun. Many happily are still with us; a few perhaps here, today, with our report in their hands.

The Biographies Committee again wish to offer thanks to many friends both in the Council and outside it who have cheerfully replied to their enquiries, which they know can usually only be answered by tedious and often un-rewarding research. Without this ready co-operation the measure of success which has attended the efforts of the Committee could not be achieved.

The report was moved by Mr. Hazelden and seconded by Mr. W. Viggers, who said a second cover for the Biographies was needed which would cost about £15. He paid tribute to the work of Mr. John Willis, who had written up 75 biographies.

The report was adopted and the expenditure of £15 on a cover approved.

THE PEAL COLLECTIONS COMMITTEE

Mr. W. E. Critchley (convener) reported:—No communication has been received from Mr. C. W. Roberts, who was entrusted by the previous committee with the task of collecting the information for the projected collection of Stedman Caters and Cinques. The Committee is, therefore, unable to report any progress.

Mr. Critchley moved the adoption and said it was a negative report.

The Standing Committee recommended that the report be adopted; that Mr. Critchley be instructed to proceed with the collection of peals of Stedman Caters and Cinques; that the secretary write to Mr. C. W. Roberts and ask him to forward any peals of this collection to Mr. Critchley. Agreed.

TOWERS AND BELFRIES COMMITTEE

The report was presented by Mr. E. H. Lewis and stated: During 1958 the members of the Committee advised on bell restoration in 52 towers—a slight decrease on last year's number. The 52 towers were situated in 18 different counties.

Mr. J. W. Clarke dealt with 10 in Cheshire; Mr. F. E. Collins 7 in Hampshire, Kent and Surrey; Mr. J. Freeman 3 in Lincolnshire; Mr. E. H. Lewis 3 in Northants, Oxon and Scotland; Mr. W. Osborn 6 in the West Country; the Rev. J. G. M. Scott 1 in Devonshire; Mr. F. Sharpe 22 in Oxon, Northants, Bucks, Breconshire, Cardiganshire, Herts, Lancs, Norfolk and Staffs.

In 8 instances advice was given on recasting, 32 on rehanging, 20 on repairs, 2 on tower oscillation, 3 on sound control. In about 50 per cent. of the towers work had already been either put in hand or the order for the work placed.

As instructed at Dublin, the convener met the Dean of Gloucester, president of the Central Council for the Care of Churches. The meeting was most satisfactory, and a further meeting between the Dean, the bell-founders and the convener was arranged; but so far it has not been possible for them to meet. Meanwhile the secretary of the C.C.C.C. has suggested increasing the size of the proposed number to attend this meeting to include two more C.C.C.C. members and two more nominated by the Council. The members of the Towers and Belfries Committee would prefer the Dean's original proposal to stand, in view of the difficulties of arranging a suitable date and time and the long distances the members would have to travel—but should the occasion demand they seek authority to send two of their members as delegates.

Mr. F. E. Collins seconded the adoption of the report.

The hon. secretary read a letter from the incumbent of a Hampshire parish expressing appreciation of the services of Mr. Collins.

The President said they would like Mr. Lewis to be the other representative at the meeting with the C.C.C.C. There was a proviso in the rules that expenses be paid for travelling.

The report was adopted.

ALTERATION TO RULES

Notice was given of an alteration to Rule II that reports of committees must be in the secretary's hands by March 31st. Previously it was 28 days before the meeting.

The hon. secretary moved and Mr. A. D. Barker seconded.

Mr. W. Ayres: Will those who ring peals on December 31st please send them to 'The Ringing World' as soon as possible after that date.

The alteration was agreed to.

THE NEXT MEETING

The hon. secretary reported that two invitations had been received for the 1960 Council meeting—from the North Staffordshire Association at Stoke-on-Trent and from the Kent County Association.

Dr. Hatcher, in extending the invitation to Kent, said Whitsun, 1960, would be the 80th birthday of the foundation of the Kent County Association.

Mr. R. S. Anderson reminded the Council that they had never visited the North Staffordshire Association.

The voting was 75 for Kent and 49 for North Staffordshire.

THE MOTIONSDOUBLE GRANDSIRE DOUBLES

The first motion considered was that of Mr. A. J. Pitman, seconded by Mr. G. I. Lewis:—
'That although true six-scores of Double Grandsire Doubles cannot be obtained without calls when the treble is behind as well as when it is on the front, in view of the fact that twelve-scores on the same principle as Pitman's twelve-scores of Grandsire Doubles have been obtained, Double Grandsire Doubles consisting of such twelve-scores shall be recognised by the Council.'

Mr. A. J. Pitman said he had put forward this 240 of Doubles Grandsire in the hope of encouraging young ringers to break away from ringing Grandsire Doubles. There was not a great deal of difference. He was afraid Double Grandsire had not been taken up because to get 120 they had to do bobs and singles with the treble behind. He had worked out 240 Double Grandsire so that they would not have to be troubled with the call of the treble behind. He hoped ringers would find it interesting and a break away from Grandsire Doubles.

Mr. C. K. Lewis: If you look at the conditions of peals of Doubles in 3 (a) we have 12 scores known as Morris' and Pitman's. I submit it is superfluous as we are bound by a previous decision.

This opinion was accepted by the Council, and Mr. Pitman was thanked by the President for bringing his motion forward.

AUDIBLE BELLS ESSENTIAL

The second motion, on behalf of the Chester Diocesan Guild, read:—

'That in any record attempt the bells shall be clearly audible outside the tower or other building in which they are contained and that during such an attempt neither food nor drink shall be partaken of by any member of the band.'

Mr. J. W. Clarke said the motion was framed at the annual meeting of the Chester Diocesan Guild after the abortive attempt to ring the extent on eight bells. He assured the Council that there was no suggestion of sour grapes behind it. The Cheshire ringers had some knowledge and reputation for ringing long lengths, but never had it been felt that nobody else should attempt it.

Ringling began in the 17th century, and in the 18th century it was the sport of gentry—they went cock fighting one night and ringing the next. They had it recorded in a Chester tower that the gentry rang for practice but never for service. Ringling was entirely divorced from the services of the Church.

In the next century, when more ordinary people took to ringing, the tower was considered to be apart from the Church. Ringers were in no way connected with the Church or thought of as officers of the Church. It was not until the end of the last century, by the formation of diocesan guilds and associations, that a change was made. It proceeded very slowly, and one of the objects was the recognition of ringers as officers of the Church. For three-quarters of a century Guilds and Associations had been fighting for that recognition to make belfries a part of the Church, and today the ringer was universally accepted as an officer of the Church.

If a ringer rang in a tower which was not consecrated, surely in the minds of everybody he was still a church bell-ringer. They could not separate the Church and ringing. Therefore they accepted the standard of behaviour now observed to be followed wherever the ringer might be.

They might have noticed in the report of the Literature and Press Committee that much of the notoriety was undesirable. They had tried to persuade the B.B.C. that ringing was something serious and something of an art. The occasion to which he referred, the B.B.C. showed them as Church bell-ringers: this was how they behaved! Could they accept people as Church officers if at times they forgot how to behave? The television people had been trying that very day to persuade his seconder to give an account on television of this motion. He had been strong enough to refuse. 'Whenever we ring we must remember we are officers of the Church, and as such have a code of conduct to observe.'

Seconding the motion, Mr. A. J. Martin said he would like to stress that it was not a private members Bill but had been put forward by the Chester Diocesan Guild. They had a private interest; most of them knew they held certain record lengths. The motion was not put forward by people who participate in these lengths. The Chester's role was not like being a dog in the manger.

INTERESTED PARTIES SHOULD HEAR

Why should the peal be heard? That was why the Central Council laid down that every change must sound in a peal. Only that afternoon they had thrown out a peal where the bells were not heard. Why did their elders insist on this? They wanted interested parties to hear the performance and assess it, because if a peal could not be heard, who was to contradict it? If not, they would need an umpire for every peal. The motion did not ask the bells to be heard a quarter of a mile away but outside the tower.

On the food question, many years ago the Central Council decreed that the ringers were not to be fed while ringing. Why? One might suggest that they were thinking about the public outside, and the inner man would cause them to give up the peal. He thought they had in mind when they passed the resolution that it would interfere with the standard of the performance. 'If you are eating you cannot concentrate on the ringing. You are marring the performance.'

Mr. E. W. Critchley said he was an interested party, and in the first part the motion had been very loosely worded. What did they mean by clearly audible? One had said he did not expect to hear the bells a quarter of a mile away. Going back four or five years, when he organised a peal at Loughborough, he remembered listening outside the tower. He believed that the Press mentioned people putting their ears to the tower to hear the bells.

Secondly, referring to food, Mr. Clark mentioned behaviour. 'I must say that to partake of food does not mean bad behaviour. . . . Personally I can see no objection to eating food. As it was said in "The Ringing World," it is not a test of something that requires long abstinence.'

Mr. J. P. Fidler said he was a member of the Chester Guild and it was a pity he was not at the meeting when the resolution was passed. He would have said: 'Don't believe the things you read in the Press,' because what they said after the first and second attempts was not the responsibility of the ringers. They all knew that prior to an attempt for a long length there must be a notice in 'The Ringing World.' In less than 12 hours of it being in 'The Ringing World,' their telephone was swamped by the Press, and they should not give them any encouragement. The result was if they did not encourage the Press they came in all the more. They knew that the average Press report dealing with ringers contained many 'clangours,' and the reports contained many funny statements. At 4 o'clock in the first attempt it was like being in a film studio. But nevertheless, don't blame the ringers.

On the question of audibility, they all knew the situation of the bell foundry tower. One could sit in his garden and listen to the bells.

On the question of eating, he thought it was a thing that would solve itself. He could not see anybody towards the end of a peal grabbing a sandwich; they were all too keen on the peal.

Mr. A. P. Cannon said he also was an interested party, and he agreed with Mr. Critchley. Regarding the first part, the bells were clearly audible. As they knew, they had a very competent member of the Exercise as umpire. That ruled out the bells being inaudible.

'As regards eating, I have had a certain amount of experience of eating in peals [laughter] and I have had my lesson, but I shall maintain there is no objection to taking some small subsistence quite suitable. If you cannot ring a bell with one hand you might just as well not start a peal. In any performance which demands physical fitness, which undoubtedly would be required for a 40,000 during which one was standing on one's feet, it would be very unfair not to expect a band to eat something.'

Regarding drink, he was against that. Of the publicity of the two peal attempts one could not believe a word in the papers. The last attempt, a fortnight ago, it was mentioned the oldest member was A. P. Cannon, aged 45. They copied it from last year's report.

Mr. Fred Dunkerley: Having been a member of a long-length band and having no axes to grind I think it is absolutely essential that the bells should be heard outside. As to the second part, the more they eat and the more they drink the less chance they have of getting the peal. I move that the Council accept the second part.

Mr. N. Harding: If we accept the first part, what about handbell peals?

Mr. N. Chaddock remarked that the first part was covered by Central Council rules. Dr. Layton: I think the point about handbell peals should be clearly stated.

The proposer and seconder agreed to the motion being amended to apply only to tower bells.

Mr. Frank Hawthorne, commenting on the Press, said not long ago a peal was said to have been rung at Thames Ditton which was not rung at all.

MENTAL APPROACH

Mr. C. K. Lewis said he had a vested interest in the motion which was framed in 1958 after the two attempts. He felt that a lot of the trouble could have been avoided if the approach to the peal had been properly made. In an attempt for a long length very careful mental preparation was necessary. It needed a psychological approach and it needed eight men making the same psychological approach. He felt that they were not making the right approach. The trouble was putting in the food and drink. If they got eight men with the right approach they would not think about food and drink. It was the mental approach that was needed: there was too much emphasis on the physical.

Mr. P. J. Staniforth: As the umpire of these attempts . . .

A member: Are we holding an inquest or considering the motion?

Mr. Staniforth said it had been suggested that they were not conducting themselves properly and it was a reflection on the whole of the Exercise. There was nothing in the motion to suggest that the ringers were not conducting themselves properly. These matters should be left entirely to the ringers themselves and to their good faith.

A member: The Lord Bishop of Liverpool said last night: 'Let the bells ring out.' Today we are trying to close them up.

Mr. H. Sanger then seconded the motion moved by Mr. Dunkerley, 'That in tower bell peal record attempts the bells should be clearly audible outside the building in which they are contained, and the second part be deleted.'

This was carried, there being only three votes against.

TIVERTON RINGERS' ACTIVITIES

The silver wedding of two popular members of St. Peter's, Tiverton, Mr. and Mrs. L. H. May, was celebrated on May 23rd. On the eve of that day, 1,260 Grandfire Triples was rung by V. N. Burrow 1, G. H. Hollis 2, W. Richards 3, G. Court 4, J. Kelland 5, J. Upton 6, W. H. Ware (conductor) 7, J. Rowsell 8.

On May 23rd the Society, with friends from Silverton and Mr. R. J. Bowden, of Bristol, rang for about one hour at each of the following towers: Sandford, St. Mary Down (where the walls of the tower will no longer hold the certificates won in the last four years), Lapford, Spreyton, Bow and Colebrooke. All these towers are well worth a visit.

The Society rang throughout the afternoon and evening of May 25th, under their captain (Mr. J. Upton) for Mayor Choosing Day.

OUTINGS

ELLAND, YORKS

Elland ringers and their friends had a most enjoyable trip into Derbyshire on Whit Monday. It was a journey of wonderful scenery, the route being over Snake Pass to Ladybower Reservoir, where a stop was made for coffee.

Ringings and lunch took place at the plague village of Eyam. Afterwards there was ringing at Tideswell, where the coach was the cause of a traffic jam. Tea was partaken of at Matlock and was followed by ringing at the parish church and also at Dore.

KIRK ELLA AND SUTTON

Kirk Ella and Sutton-on-Hull ringers again united to hold their annual outing on Whit Monday. The first tower visited was Middleton-on-the-Wolds, with a pleasant ring of six, followed by Whitwell-on-the-Hill. Here the second of the six bells had a damaged wheel, and the general condition was poor, so a few Doubles on the five ringable bells was the only ringing possible. Lunch was a picnic in the grounds of ruined Kirkham Abbey. At Wetherby, the striking on this light ring of eight was disappointing.

After tea, the ringing on Tadcaster's heavier octave was much better, a touch of Stedman Triples being the best. The last tower was Hemingbrough, the best six bells of the day, which were rung to a variety of methods, including Double Court, Oswald Delight and London and Cambridge Surprise.

Splendid weather and the beautiful countryside helped to make an extremely enjoyable day: and those taking part would like to thank Mr. Kirk, who made all the arrangements.

ESSEX ASSOCIATION NEAR 1,000 MEMBERS

THE annual meeting of the Essex Association was held at Chelmsford on Whit Monday. As the bells of the Cathedral were not available, owing to tower repairs, it was with some anxiety that the officers of the Association decided to carry on as usual. This decision was more than justified, for approximately 90 people enjoyed an excellent lunch and about 50 an equally excellent buffet tea. Once again, catering arrangements were in the hands of members of the South Eastern District, led by Messrs. Everest and Roast. Coffee and light refreshments were available from 10.15 a.m.

The service was conducted by the Provost of Chelmsford and the address was by the Ven. J. E. Elvin, Archdeacon of West Ham. As the service touch, two well-struck courses of Grand-sire Triples were rung at the south door of the Cathedral. Choosing as his text Exodus 28, verses 33-34, '... and bells of gold in between them round about,' the Archdeacon preached a most inspiring sermon, developing most ably the theme that worship has for centuries past been associated with bells and must for ever be so.

The annual meeting followed immediately after the service, in the Chapter House. In the chair was the Master (Mr. R. C. Heazel). He extended a very cordial invitation to the many visitors present.

LARGE MEETINGS

All the Districts reported continued interest and large meetings, although superficially the Association appeared to have had a rather depressing year, with a drop in the balance and peal-ringing showing a marked decline. Membership was most encouraging, and 1959 should see the thousand ringing members total reached.

The Association recorded the passing of the following members: E. J. Butler, G. Carter, T. Davis, F. Dench, T. Evans, A. Fuller, Miss P. Goff, W. Little, J. Morris, J. G. Macdougall, G. W. Moss, W. Pennick, H. T. Pye, Mrs. Tudor Price, Mrs. C. Ruggles-Brise, W. Sear, B. H. Swinson, J. Thomas and W. Vale.

Many additions had been made to the library and the Association was grateful to the donors of various books and bindings. Sixty-four peals had been recorded, as compared with 122 in 1957; the leading conductor was J. E. G. Roast with a total of 15. Quarter peal ringing had again increased. The report was approved.

In presenting the accounts the treasurer drew attention to the drop in the balance of the General Account, which now stood at £133 10s. 5d.—a drop of £90 approximately. He said that 1958 had been an exceptionally heavy year financially, with many items of non-recurring expenditure. The committee were fully conscious of the situation, and 1959 must be regarded as a crisis year. With a balance of £226 17s. 4d. in the Bell Restoration Fund he considered that the finances of the Association were in a very satisfactory condition and that there was no real cause for alarm. The accounts were adopted.

MANCHESTER UNIVERSITY GUILD

The Guild's first dinner was held at Wythenshawe on May 8th, followed by the annual meeting. The chairman (Mr. G. Hopkinson) welcomed members and their ringing friends, and expressed the hope that the dinner would become an annual event.

The following officers were elected for 1959-60: President, Mr. D. F. Ferguson; Ringing Master, Mr. D. W. James; secretary/treasurer, Miss P. I. Walker; hon. auditor, Mr. D. Taylor.

A vote of thanks was expressed to the retiring officers, and for arranging the dinner.

All the honorary officers were re-elected, and in the ballot for four C.C. representatives from five nominations the following were elected: Miss H. S. Snowden, Messrs. Crampion, Eves and Lufkin.

MISS SNOWDEN A LIFE VICE-PRESIDENT

The Essex Association is always conscious of the debt it owes to its older members, and as a mark of appreciation life membership was awarded Messrs. M. Baker (Hutton), S. Dace (Sible Hedingham), H. Jones (Harlow), C. Mann (Goldhanger), C. Rogers (Ingatstone), H. W. Smith (Dunmow), H. Warr (Great Waltham) and L. Wiseman (Sible Hedingham).

For many years Miss Hilda Snowden has been a well-known personality of the Essex Association. She represents the Association on the Central Council and for many years has been Master of the Northern District, the latter office which she has had to relinquish recently. Amid great applause the meeting supported the committee's recommendation that she should be elected a life vice-president of the Association.

At the conclusion of the meeting a comprehensive vote of thanks was proposed by the Master.

Lunch was served in the Cathedral Hall and the guests of the Association were the Provost and Archdeacon. There were the usual short speeches and anecdotes, the Archdeacon proving to be in grand form.

After lunch the members made their way to the various towers available, and what started off in a cloud of doubt and anxiety proved to be just another annual of the Essex Association—a grand day, some grand company and good bells.

COLLEGE YOUTHS' COUNTRY MEETING AT WORCESTER

This year's country meeting of the Ancient Society of College Youths was held at Worcester on May 2nd. The London members departed from their custom of travelling by train to such meetings, the journey being undertaken by car in view of the unsuitability of train times. Not all travelled without incident, but at least everyone got there eventually.

Ringing in the morning was at Evesham, where the fine 12 in the well-known bell tower were put to good use. Lunch had been arranged at the Hop Market Hotel, in Worcester, where a company of over 60 sat down to an excellent meal. At the business meeting immediately following the lunch, the thanks of the Society were expressed to all who had made the arrangements for a successful and enjoyable meeting, especially the various tower captains, those who had organised the lunch, and the secretary. A suggestion was received that the Society should hold its country meeting at Chesterfield next year.

After lunch, the well-known bells of Worcester Cathedral were rung, also the ten at All Saints', Worcester. The obvious reluctance with which members prepared to start on their various journeys homewards in the evening was sufficient proof, if proof was needed, of the pleasures of the day and of how much members had enjoyed Worcester's hospitality.

COLCHESTER, ESSEX.—On May 16th, at St. Peter's Church, 1,312 Double Norwich Court Bob Major: A. Dale 1, H. Webb 2, K. Smith 3, B. Webb 4, A. Beckwith 5, E. Piper 6, B. W. Fairhead 7, H. J. Millatt (cond.) 8. A birthday compliment to E. Piper.

Chester Diocesan Guild Annual Festival

ABOUT 150 members and friends were present at the Chester Guild's annual festival, held at Oxtou on May 9th.

At the service the Vicar (Rev. C. R. Whereat) preached, whilst the Master (Mr. J. W. Clarke) read the lesson. After the lesson a course of Grand-sire Triples was rung by J. W. Griffiths (Chester) 1-2, C. K. Lewis (Stockport) 3-4, J. Worth (Macclesfield) 5-6 and P. Laffin (Stockport) 7-8. Later the Wirral Handbell Ringers, under the leadership of Mr. A. J. Martin, rendered 'Jesu, Joy of Man's Desiring' (Bach).

Tea was served in the Parish Hall by the local ringers, assisted by other members from the Wirral Branch, and a very good tea was enjoyed by all.

The annual meeting followed tea, under the chairmanship of the Master (Mr. J. W. Clare). Apologies were received from the Lord Bishop, Rev. A. L. Minns, Mr. Sam Jones, Mr. W. Kerr, Mr. and Mrs. L. Boumphrey, Mr. J. E. Bibby and Mrs. B. Harris.

The report recorded the death of the following members: Rev. Thomas Lever (Macclesfield), Arthur Allman (Barthomley), Alfred Barnes, William Cartwright (Alsager), John Cooke (Wirral), John H. Davenport (Stretton), Henry Dew (Chester), William Gayes (Macclesfield), Harold Jackson (Stockport), James A. Milner (Disley), Eric A. Webster (Wallasey), Joseph Westwood (Macclesfield), Charles Wood (Staley) and Ralph W. Wright (Tarvin).

The membership was 731 ringing, 17 life ringing and 9 honorary members, from 89 towers.

The financial affairs of the Guild were in a satisfactory state. A total of 101 peals was rung for the Guild in 1958. There were 20 first pealers and 27 conductors, two of whom called a peal for the first time. Mr. John Worth rang his 500th peal as conductor: he is the first member to do so.

Next year's festival was arranged for May 14th in the area of the Chester Branch.

The officers of the Guild were elected as follows: Master, Mr. J. W. Clarke; deputy Master, Mr. John Worth; hon. secretary and treasurer, Mr. H. O. Baker; hon. report secretary, Mr. C. K. Lewis; hon. peal recorder, Mrs. C. K. Lewis; hon. librarian, Mr. P. Laffin; hon. auditor, Mr. Sam Jones; representatives of the Central Council, Mr. W. Allman and Mr. A. J. Martin.

In recognition of his work as hon. secretary and treasurer to the Guild, the Rev. J. Kingdon was unanimously elected an hon. life member.

Votes of thanks were accorded to the Rev. C. R. Whereat for the use of his bells and Parish Hall and for conducting the service, the incumbents of the towers where ringing had taken place, the churchwardens, the organist and the Wirral Branch, who under the direction of Mr. A. J. Martin had catered so well.

Ringing was enjoyed at Oxtou, Bromborough, Port Sunlight and Bidston, and every Branch of the Guild was represented. H. O. B.

LINCOLN DIOCESAN GUILD

There was a good attendance at the meeting of the West Lindsey Branch held on May 9th at Haxey, whose fine-toned bells form one of the heaviest rings of six in the county.

The Vicar (Rev. T. E. Rogers) conducted the Guild service and gave the address. An excellent tea was served by local ladies in the Church Hall.

At the meeting which followed, the chair was taken by the vice-president (Mr. C. H. Baker). Several new members were elected and final details were discussed of the proposed outing to Cambridge on June 27th.

Ringing in the evening took place on the bells of nearby Owston Ferry.

THE CHALLENGE OF DECAY

THOSE who have conducted the Survey of Sunday Service Ringing entered into their task with all the enthusiasm of an ardent peal ringer. They induced 28 Associations to complete the questionnaire; and although the Survey does not include certain well-known Guilds, the fact that 71 per cent. of the towers in the British Isles have been covered enables a good general picture to be presented. The information is valuable; there is a basis to work on, and if the data is used aright there should be fewer silent towers.

Is ringing the decaying art that certain writers in the popular press make out? The Survey reveals that 46 per cent. of the towers are either not normally rung or are well undermanned. But when it is considered that 50 per cent. of the towers ring for at least 30 to 45 minutes before service, one is definitely heartened. Of course, there is a long way to go before there are no silent towers in the land, but there is a sufficient hard core of keen ringers, most of whom are churchpeople, to arrest the decay.

An article in a Liverpool paper, published after the Central Council meeting, states: 'Fine peals heard regularly by many earlier generations no longer respond to the tug of brawny arms on the bell ropes, for bell-ringing is not the popular practice it once was. Campanologists (as expert bell-ringers call themselves) fear that it will decline further unless more interest can be aroused. . . . "The old-fashioned bell-ringer, who could be relied upon to turn up week by week and who was an expert in the art, is vanishing and is extremely difficult to replace," said one parson.'

We certainly do not subscribe to that view. It cannot be said that with 2,512 peals rung last year—an increase on the previous year—ringing as an art is decaying. This is also supported by the large number of quarter peals, most of which are rung in the service of the Church. While it is true that in nearly half the towers in the country ringing for Sunday service is not what is desired, the fact that 39 per cent. of the towers have more than 1.5 members per rope indicates that many have a satisfactory number. Another thing is that more than half the bands have some school-age ringers.

While we admit we have a long way to go, let us have no more talk about this decaying art. Go to any meeting on a Saturday afternoon and you will find that the accent is on youth. Ringing appeals to youth where it is properly taught and where the necessary stimulus is provided by interest from the Church and with a wise and understanding leader in the tower. These two are essential for success, and despite the counter-attractions of this age the calling of our forefathers can still get its recruits.

Having said that, it does not mean that we as an Exercise are satisfied with the state of Sunday ringing. The Survey, which we publish this week, subjects the whole position to a microscopic examination. There are two immediate avenues for spade work: to get the parish priests of the land interested in ringing and rouse their desire to hear their bells giving the message of the Church; to see that every tower has a competent leader. The Central Council propose, with regard to the clergy, to publish a booklet setting out the position; and its wise distribution is a matter in which the help of the territorial Associations is necessary. We also need a better press in the Church newspapers—this spreading abroad of a 'decaying art' must be stopped. The finding of good instructors for every tower is not easy. Here it is necessary to go from Association to District level. The Survey forms should be studied in each District and individual action taken to solve the problems of the bad towers. It is impossible for those at the top level to deal with individual localities. If the enthusiasm of those who conducted and organised the Survey can be implanted in the Districts, then something can be done. Without it, their hours of labour will be in vain.

The position behoves that everyone who rings peals for enjoyment must be prepared to take his share in the big business of training. The proficiency achieved is a trust: it has to be passed on. One essential is the regular Sunday service ringing in his or her own tower—not spasmodic ringing in any tower or spending Sunday in an orgy of tower-grabbing. Seeking the co-operation of the clergy in recruitment is of little avail unless this example is given. Then there will be no question of ringers being accepted as true servants of the Church.

GUILDFORD DIOCESAN GUILD

At the Guildford District meeting at Shere on May 16th, during a break in the ringing, the company stood in silence as a tribute to Mr. Thomas Ansell, who had recently passed away, aged 85 years. He had been captain of the Albury ringers.

Ringling was supervised by Mr. E. John Wells (District Master), the Rector (Rev. E. R. Hougham) conducted the service, and local ladies served tea.

New members elected were Miss Carol Piper (Cranleigh), John Askew, Richard Bywaters and Richard Ford (Shere). Evening ringing was at Albury.

UNIVERSITY OF READING SOCIETY

At the annual meeting of the University of Reading Society of Change Ringers the following elections were made: Master, Miss Mollie Tilbury; secretary, Miss Janet Secker; treasurer, Mr. Peter Wilkinson; lay members, Miss Jennifer Davies and Mr. David Semple.

TRURO GUILD PRESIDENT MARRIED

Mr. Alan Carveth, president of the Truro Diocesan Guild, and Miss Mary Cork were married on Whit Monday at Kenwyn Parish Church, Truro. The service, which was fully choral, was conducted by the Rev. A. S. Roberts, assisted by the Rev. A. J. Vincent. A ceremonial archway of handbells held aloft by fellow chorister ringers greeted the bridal party as they left the church. There were over 200 guests at the reception, and later in the day a peal of Plain Bob Major was rung on Kenwyn bells.

FROM READING TO SOUTH WALES

A party from Reading, travelling by Minibus, spent the Whitsun week-end in Wales, being joined en route by Dennis Bowen, of Northampton.

The first peal attempt—Pudsey—was scored on the magnificent octave at Ebbw Vale, but not without a crop of blisters. The excellent tea, provided by the local ladies, was more than acceptable.

Abergavenny was the headquarters for the next two nights and it was here that the party rang for morning service. Another peal attempt was made in the afternoon at Machen, but after about an hour of 4-spliced in a furnace-like ringing room the attempt came to grief. Visits were afterwards paid to Caerphilly and Pentre, and the hospitality at Tudor Edwards' house caused more than one dietary resolution to go to the winds. The journey up the Rhondda Valley, during which 1,500 feet were climbed in about 2½ miles, was memorable.

On Monday morning the last peal attempt was made at Blaenavon, but it was not to be, and London came to an untimely halt after an hour's ringing. On the homeward journey there was a short ring at Ruardean and also at Cricklade. Reading was reached about 10.15 p.m.

Thanks are specially accorded to Ron Diserens for his excellent arrangements and to Jack Munday, the amateur driver, who must have had not a few hair-raising moments over the week-end.

WESTON FAVELL, NORTHANTS.—On May 21st, 1,260 Doubles (Reverse St. Bartholomew, Plain Bob, Old Bob, Canterbury and Grandsire): E. Rudkin 1, G. F. Roome 2, Miss G. Ashby 3, R. S. Roberts (cond.) 4, P. Amos 5. For Confirmation service.

GLOUCESTER AND BRISTOL

The quarterly meeting of the Tewkesbury Branch took place at Twynning on May 9th. It might have been the beautiful summerlike weather that attracted the visitors, or perhaps they had some foreknowledge of the excellent tea which the Twynning members and their good ladies always provide—or it might even have been just a new tower; but whatever it was, the Ringing Master (Mr. Trevor Newbury) was very pleased to welcome visitors from many 'foreign' parts — Birmingham, Smethwick, Wychbold, King's Lynn, Hereford and Welland.

The service was conducted by the Vicar of Twynning.

At the business meeting, under the chairmanship of the Ringing Master, the main business was to fix the annual outing to Somerset on August 29th. Five new junior members were welcomed into the Branch. The Ringing Master referred to the progress which had been made in the Branch in method ringing by a few keen members, and expressed the hope that more members would attend the bi-monthly practices at Tewkesbury Abbey.

NORWICH DIOCESAN

A warm welcome was accorded the Southern District, who held their second meeting of the year at Brooke. The Rector (Rev. Mr. Ives) and five members of the local company joined the Association. The Rector conducted a short service, during which he spoke on the recently restored church. The lesson was read by Mr. H. W. Barrett, Association Ringing Master, who has done much to form a band at Brooke. The next meeting will be held at Dickleburgh on September 5th. All who had helped towards the success of the meeting were thanked.

Inspector Thomas Butler has retired from the Liverpool City Police after over 32 years' service. For the past three years he has been cashier to the Force. He has accepted an appointment in a solicitor's office—his previous employment before entering the Police. With retirement, it is probable that he will have more time for ringing.

Dr. J. E. Spice is shortly to leave Liverpool for Winchester College.

Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Hughes are visiting America at the end of August and hope to attend the handbell festival at Ipswich, Mass. They were there two years ago.

Owing to Corpus Christi service, Slough ringers went to the call-change tower of Iver for their practice on May 28th and rang a quarter. Iver ringers' co-operation was much appreciated.

The peal at Crayford on May 23rd for the 60th anniversary of Mr. Edwin Barnett's first peal was his 264th on the bells and 175th with his son, Mr. E. A. Barnett. He has been a ringer at Crayford since 1895.

Mr. J. J. Webb, of the Hereford Diocesan Guild, sent an apology for his non-attendance at the Central Council meeting. Unfortunately his letter took about four days to arrive, and the hon. secretary had already left for Southport.

An order has been placed with Messrs. Mears and Stainbank for a new bell to replace the seventh of the ten at Preston. About nine months ago this bell developed a small crack on the lip, due to the clapper falling out and jamming between the bell and the frame. Its effect on the tone of the bells was most marked, and the bell has not been rung since. Ringing has been confined to various other combinations on the other nine bells.

BELFRY GOSSIP

The Boy Scout Movement is to have two badges for ringers—'Bell Ringer' for Scouts, and 'Senior Bell Ringer' for Senior Scouts. The new badges will not come into force until September 1st, and details of tests are expected to be published in August.

The ringer of the fifth in the quarter peal of Grandsire Triples at Pontypridd on May 5th was W. Harford and not W. Davies. Our correspondent sends his apologies to all concerned.

The band who rang the peal at Putney on May 30th would like to thank Mr. A. Clayton for having everything ready, and also for his kind hospitality afterwards.

Mr. G. N. Sloan, captain of Christchurch Cathedral band, New Zealand, and Mrs. Sloan are on their way to England and hope to be present at the Oxford Guild Festival.

At Capel Church fete on May 23rd, much-appreciated handbell ringing was given by Messrs. A. Harman, A. A. Winch, G. Marriner and A. E. Cheesman.

A feature article by Arthur Turner in the 'Liverpool Echo,' entitled 'Who will ring those bats out of the belfries?' states that the difficulty of finding ringers is likely to grow rather than decrease . . . Many fine rings of bells have not been rung in earnest for several years.

For the first time in the history of Orme School, Newcastle, Staffs, senior pupils rang for the annual commemoration of the school's founders and benefactors at St. Giles' Church on May 28th. The ringers were Dorothy White, Gillian Mason, Erica Rish, Clare Bickell and Shirley Price (all of St. Giles' band), Patricia Robinson (Wolstanton) and Christine Adkins (Alsager). The Dean of Lichfield, who preached, said school children of the diocese were paying for the restoration of the two western towers of Lichfield Cathedral.

THE SURVEY OF SUNDAY RINGING

NEED FOR CLOSER CO-OPERATION AND BETTER TEACHING—DETAILS FROM 2,719 TOWERS—32 PER CENT. TOWERS SILENT INCLUDING THOSE UNRINGABLE—POSSIBLE LINES OF ACTION

Report Of The Committee

SECTION I. GENERAL

The Survey of Sunday Service Ringing initiated by the Council last year has been carried out, thanks to the industry of many individuals, Associations, and the Editor of 'The Ringing World.' Details of all the facts accumulated are set out in a later section of this report, and it is hoped that Council members will bring its contents to the notice of as many ringers, clergy and responsible churchpeople as possible.

One of the most rewarding aspects of the work of this committee has been the tremendous goodwill shown by Guilds and responsible ringers. There is a good correlation between the enthusiasm of Association activities and the condition of Sunday Service Ringing. This is a great encouragement for it implies that the Association is an effective channel for our efforts.

We feel justified in saying that much good has already been done by the Survey by the interest it has stimulated and the further opportunities it has given Association officials to obtain additional knowledge about ringing in their areas. As a direct result of the Survey, three large Associations are already taking active steps to bring about an improvement.

Replies indicate the tremendous value of the bells and their message to the Church, so at least we know that our efforts are worth while. But there is need for a positive and definite affirmation of why the bells are hung in towers, why they are rung for service and what part they play in the Church's life and witness. It does really matter that some bells are not rung on Sunday. Unless ringers, clergy and congregation all equally hold this conviction the driving force is lacking. The people who have most responsibility in demonstrating this are members of the Central Council, other leading members of the Exercise (especially Association officers) and leading clergy and laymen in each diocese. There is need for closer consultation and understanding between them. This is related to publicity through church newspapers, diocesan magazines and especially parish magazines, which is invaluable. Names of local Association officers should also be known to local newspapers so that the former may be contacted when ringing matters crop up.

We feel that an important purpose of an Association is the teaching of ringing. Ringing needs personal instruction of the best sort available. Few Associations are organised to do this beyond the rough and tumble of a Saturday afternoon meeting. There is need to get down to this problem in earnest. The scheme organised by the Bath and Wells Diocesan Guild is commended. It is asking its leading members to form a panel of instructors and affiliated towers (via the P.C.C.) to give financial help so that definite courses of instruction can be given (12 weeks in the first instance) in the tower.

Many feel that one of the most potent factors for success is leadership and adequate instruction. There is no doubt that absence of leadership of the right qualities is a major factor where Sunday service ringing is not what it should be. If established ringing organisations can somehow increase the output of leaders and tutors of the right qualities in the near future a great step towards progress will have been made.

Also very high on the list are those factors which summed up emphasise the need for closer relations with the family of the Church and a greater and more obvious interest by the clergy. We must all do our part (more than hitherto) in fostering this interest. Efforts at closer relationship and better understanding with the clergy and church officials will nearly always bring a welcome response.

The question of recruitment has an important place in the main body of this report, and whilst there is overwhelming support for recruiting from within branches of church activity it must be remembered that many may be brought into the family of the church by way of the belfry. Whilst the advantages of obtaining recruits of quality (mental and physical) are apparent, the need to secure 'a balanced band' should not be overlooked. There are many advantages in having a good spread in age, occupation and social position, etc. Careful recruiting over a long period of time may do much to reduce the difficulties in regard to shift work, homework, seasonal work and military service, which at present figure so prominently in replies to this Survey. We must, so to speak, avoid having all our eggs in one basket, plan well ahead and above all, recruit whilst things are thriving, not wait for a collapse. Greater effort should be made personally to hand on a migrant ringer from one band to another.

Some emphasis has been placed on the value of social relationships between ringers outside the belfry, and we feel that these are important. Important, too, is the organisation and distribution of tasks connected with the belfry amongst the ringers—especially young ringers. The making of such contributions causes them to feel that they have 'a stake in the place,' and if more were done on these lines we should perhaps have less towers where bad-going bells and bad conditions hinder progress. It is also important that all are given the feeling that they are wanted.

There is also an obligation upon us as church members to see that our bells do ring out as part of the EVANGELICAL WITNESS OF OUR CHURCH. As one Diocesan Guild has pointed out:—

'The bells of any parish church are some of its best missionaries and publicity agents. The parish priest can be shut out or unwelcome, so can his parish visitors, but it is almost impossible to shut out the bells with their message and invitation to worship from any house within their sound.'

The committee believed from the outset that no matter as important as this should be discussed out of context of facts, as accurately as we could get them. This is indeed a golden rule of all investigation and discussion. Furthermore, we felt that we should hear the opinions of as many ringers all over the country as possible. We therefore devised a questionnaire form which was sent to territorial Associations, asking for certain basic facts about the bells, towers and ringers in their areas, and also inviting comment and opinions. It was not envisaged that the statistics collected from this Survey would cover every bell, tower and ringer in the British Isles—that would have been wishful thinking—but that facts could be collected from a sufficiently high proportion of towers in an area so that we could feel confident that in saying, for example, 22 per cent. of towers ring for more than 45 minutes on Sunday, we could not be far out in that statement. Greater accuracy seemed quite unnecessary and, in any case, unobtainable.

A. RESPONSE TO QUESTIONNAIRE

The area of the British Isles is covered, for ringing purposes, by 42 territorial Associations. The 28 Associations who completed the questionnaire cover 71% of the towers in the British Isles, but the towers surveyed by the Associations comprised only another 71% of all in their areas (50.4% of all the towers in the British Isles). When one remembers that detailed public opinion forecasts are nowadays made from samples, information from 50% of the towers gives a very sound basis for discussion.

The response to our questionnaire was really excellent and, frankly, far exceeded expectations. We are tremendously grateful to all the many Associations, general secretaries, Branch secretaries, tower captains and, in quite a few cases, incumbents, who went to so much trouble to fill in yet another form in their lives. Indeed so much more was done in some Associations than we asked for that we are able to include a great deal more information and, especially, a wider range of opinions than we ever expected to have. This is particularly due to those ten Associations who sent into us the individual returns from towers in their areas. The individual tower returns came from 913 towers though, unfortunately, those from one Association arrived so late that they could not be included in the statistics; only the opinions are included.

Every word and every figure sent has been read and sorted, and we hope that our report fairly represents this vast amount of data. We have, too, received views in private correspondence, via letters to 'The Ringing World' and by word of mouth. For these we are most grateful and have also tried to give them due attention. To sum up the data and opinions from 2,719 towers in even a fairly short report is not easy.

B. STATISTICS

1. Towers in British Isles (Dove, 1956)	5,422
2. Towers in areas surveyed (Dove, 1956)	3,853
3. Towers surveyed in category 2	2,719
4. Towers unringable	14%
5. Towers ringable, but not normally rung	18%
6. Towers which are rung but well undermanned	28%
7. Towers which ring all their bells regularly	40%
8. Towers which ring for at least 45 minutes before service	22%
9. Towers which ring for at least 30 to 45 minutes before service	50%
10. Towers which ring for less than 30 minutes before service	15%
11. Towers with paid bands	12%
12. Towers ringing call-changes only	28%
13. Towers ringing call-changes and method	51%
14. Towers holding regular practices	56%
15. Bands having school-age members	54%
16. Bands with at least half the members belonging to the local Association	56%
17. Difficulty in recruiting	46%
18. Would welcome help	34%
19. With 1.5 or more members per rope	39%
20. With 1.0 to 1.5 members per rope	34%
21. With less than 1.0 members per rope	27%

CENTRAL COUNCIL—Cont.

22. Average number of tower members per rope 1.228
 23. Estimated number of ringers in British Isles 41,700

4. Proportion of towers unringable.—This is probably an underestimate. Unringable towers tend to be 'under-surveyed' by Associations. In so far that this is an under-estimate, 6 and 7 will tend to be over-estimated. The proportion of unringable towers varies widely between Associations, reaching apparently the alarming figure of 47.8% in one Association.

5. Proportion of towers ringable but not normally rung.—This figure may also be slightly under-estimated since such towers tend to be left out. Taking 4 and 5 together, it appears that at least 32% of all towers are not rung regularly at all.

6. Towers well undermanned.—This is a hard category to define, and in practice means all those towers which are clearly not in categories 4, 5 or 7.

7. Towers which ring all their bells regularly.—A band that is capable of ringing all the bells in its tower regularly is really the least definition that one might accept of 'satisfactory service ringing' without specifying anything about quality.

8, 9 and 10. Duration of ringing.—These three together should add up to 6 and 7. In fact, most of the towers in category 5 also stated how long they ring, if they ring at all. The number of towers who state that they ring for as little as 10 or even 5 minutes before a service was a revelation.

11. Paid bands.—'Paid' was taken literally. It is quite obvious that in very few cases are ringers paid an amount that can be termed 'payment.' In most cases funds seemed to be used collectively for the band or tower. There was a noticeable tendency for paid bands to be more numerous in the North and least frequent amongst call-change ringers.

12. Call-changes.—As would be expected, call-change bands predominate in the South-west of England; about 75% of all towers in Devon and Cornwall ring call-changes only. From 25 to 30% seems to be a typical percentage in the 'change-ringing' areas.

14. Practices.—Regular practice' includes towers which only practise during the winter (mostly rural) and towers which combine for practice. Since apparently only 68% of all towers ring at all, 56% with a regular practice is a high proportion.

17. Difficulty in recruiting.—The validity of this figure is questionable since people's estimates of what constitutes difficulty in recruiting vary so much.

18. Would welcome help.—This is exactly half the towers who do ring at all.

22. Tower members per rope.—The number of ringers per rope in various towers varied between 0 and over 4 (several cases). The record was an 8-bell tower which claimed 38 members (this was vouched for by the Association secretary). In many cases the number of tower members included all beginners, and undoubtedly at times the figure was rather an optimistic one—a tower, for example, with eight bells and, allegedly, 16 members should be able to ring more than six bells on Sundays.

This sort of instance was not uncommon, and it is probable that the number of ringers tends to be over, rather than under, estimated.

23. Estimated number of ringers in British Isles.—This figure is calculated by multiplying the figure of 5,422 (see question 1) by 1.228 (see question 22).

For reasons stated under 22, and also because the Survey tended to be unrepresentative of unringable and unringed towers, the figure is probably an over-estimate. The figure may be contrasted with the 46,848 given in the Official Year Book of the Church of England for 1959 for the Provinces of York and Canterbury only (5,208 towers). Exactly what the Year Book figures mean is doubtful when one considers, for example, that the diocese of Sodor and Man, with no ringable rings, is credited with 23 ringers!

An account was taken of the number of towers which regularly ring all their bells at least once on Sunday, ring for 45 minutes or more before service, have a regular practice and have at least one school-age ringer in the band (as evidence of attitude towards recruiting). Only 16.6% of all change-ringing bands and 6.1% of all call-change only bands satisfied all these requirements together. The second requirement seemed to be the hardest to fulfil.

C. THE COMMENTS AND SUGGESTIONS

The replies from 913 towers and 18 Association secretaries produced 110 factors favourable to the maintenance of Sunday service ringing and 78 unfavourable factors. To be sure, many of these, though distinct, had a common basis, and some in the first category were merely the opposite of those in the latter, but the enormous variety here was undreamt of. This does stress the fact that the whole matter is by no means simple and the views of any one person, or even a committee of five, can easily be much too narrow and their experience too limited.

Before summarising these views, one or two general observations might be made. In the first place, from these comments one can immediately feel the tremendous difference in atmosphere between the tower where ringing is poor or non-existent and that where there is a healthy band. In the former case nothing but the difficulties are mentioned—the whole world seems to be against ringing—whereas in the latter case, though many similar circumstances must exist, the difficulties are hardly ever mentioned. A tower that is 'down' rarely has even any suggestions to offer of what might be done. This feeling of oppression and depression is obviously itself a very real bar to improvement.

The second point is that, overwhelmingly, the factors most often mentioned which are both favourable and unfavourable to Sunday service ringing are not concerned with either the technique of ringing or with Associations. The Central Council was only mentioned twice (once favourably and once not!) and 'The Ringing World' once. The general impression obtained of the ringing Exercise from these forms is vastly and wholly different from reading 'The Ringing World' or, indeed, of listening to the proceedings of the Central Council. Undoubtedly the greatest problem is how to get together and keep together a band of people to ring at all, and not what or how they ring. The problems are parochial and social rather than ringing ones.

The third general observation is that a very large number of the factors quoted are very general ones: patience, perseverance, lack of interest, and so forth. Whilst no one would deny that such qualities are desirable or undesirable, as the case may be, we would agree with the Association secretary who said: 'It was obvious from some of the replies that the problems confronting ringing were not clearly understood or analysed.' It was notable again that vague replies of this sort rarely came from flourishing towers.

In the following summary of opinions, the figures in parentheses after each opinion, comment or suggestion indicate the number of times it was mentioned.

Dealing first with the unfavourable factors and difficulties:—

There are the incontestable snags such as bells heavy-going and bad belfry conditions (42), a church devoid of parochial life (7), or only a small population or congregation to draw on (62). One Guild believes that no parish with a population of more than 1,000 should be incapable of raising a local band, but with fewer one's resources are limited.

The two most commonly mentioned of all difficulties were National Service (94) and moving from the district (103). Against this only (7) towers acknowledge the assistance of ringers moving into their districts. It does seem that moving from one district to another all too often ends a person's ringing career. This is specially so for country districts and young people. As one tower said: 'Young ringers have to leave the village to get jobs—especially the brighter ones.' In (24) instances, leaving a district to attend University was mentioned, though the (8) mentions of help from University Societies to some extent compensates.

Another very common difficulty is Sunday work and shift work (63) and, in country or seaside districts, seasonal work (8). Home work (40) and night school (38) certainly do prevent young ringers getting the training they need. The many other activities that vie with ringing were mentioned: in general (73), Sunday motor-ing (7), Sunday sports (15), cinemas (14), television (28) and radio (2). An interesting point about television is that it was scarcely mentioned at all in some areas, but these seem to be the ones where it has been longest available.

Personality factors loom large. Hardly any of the form fillers pointed out defects in their own personalities, but there seemed to be room for improvement in many of those with whom they came into contact. Lack of interest in bells and church kept coming up (86). More specific mentions were unco-operativeness of older ringers (27); lack of persistence (29); the incumbent (23): 'The young people of today are not what we were' (34); the dimness of learners (8); lack of consideration of church authorities towards ringing (5); objections from parishioners to bells (8); aggressive and shouting ringing captains (6); peal grabbers (5) (the smallness of this figure is, perhaps, out of proportion to the frequency with which this is mentioned in, for example, 'The Ringing World' correspondence); disinterest of congregation or parish in bells (15); resentment of ringers against being helped (6) and, to balance this, the disinclination of ringers from nearby towers to help when asked (4); and feuds and bickering between ringers (6).

The church-going habits of our times also got their mention. Absence of young people in church congregations (35). Incumbents insisting that ringers attend church (5). (One rector himself wrote: 'I have made it a rule "no ringing on Sundays if ringers don't stay to service afterwards"—this has not been well received.') In four cases, however, the tendency of ringers not to go to service was considered a bad factor.

To come now to the ringing factors: Lack of leadership or adequate instruction (59) was most often mentioned.

There were unfavourable factors, too, in the organisation of the hand in some towers. Awkward times of ringing (23) was frankly admitted in some cases to equate with reluctance to get out of bed on Sunday morning, though distance to be travelled home to tower (23) is certainly a problem for many urban ringers. (6) blamed not teaching youngsters, though (16) said they could not get recruits at all.

Turning now to the more cheerful side of this summary, it is pleasant to begin by recording that five towers simply gave 'love of ringing' as their favourable factor.

Whatever views former generations of ringers held about the connection between their art and church worship, there is no doubt that the present generation considers the intimate relationship between Church and ringers absolutely vital. It is a pity that this feeling that ringing before a service is a vital part of that service is not shared so strongly by all priests and congregations. This feeling was explicitly put by those who said: 'Emphasise the reason for ringing on Sunday' (24), ringers must have a sense of duty and service (36), and it must be emphasised that ringers are part of the body of church workers (13). Most commonly, however, the necessary link between ringers and church was expressed as 'Interest the clergy and church authorities' (wardens and P.C.C.) (144), and having ringers who are church-people (92), and encouraging ringers to hold other posts in the church (19).

Many of the favourable factors given were concerned with the conduct of the team of ringers, rather than individuals, and especially referred to recruiting. The recruiting of young people, rather than middle-aged, was almost universally advocated, though whereas (1) specifically recommended the under-20's (6) suggested the 20-30 (i.e., post-National Service) age group as more suitable; (53) believed that youth organisations (fellowships, choirs, Scouts, Guides, etc.) connected with the Church provided the best field for recruiting, whilst six believed that ringing should be taught in schools (the fourth 'R?'). Recruiting talks and demonstrations were thought to be required in (26) cases whilst publicity through television, radio and the Press (the parish magazine was mentioned twice) was suggested (14) times. Simply 'regular recruiting' was mentioned (45) times. Undoubtedly as important as recruiting to the character of a band is the leadership it has (83), though opinions differ somewhat as to whether it is necessary for the leader to be also the chief instructor and conductor. The value of a friendly atmosphere and social contact between the ringers outside the belfry was frequently (60) mentioned, as was that great British quality, team spirit (54).

The faithful service and encouragement of older ringers must keep many more bands together than those mentioning it (29), and so, too, the help given by neighbouring towers to each other (60) must be a sustaining factor. In six cases, combined practices between towers were advocated, and the mention of ringers with cars (7) certainly assists such arrangements.

SECTION II. THEOLOGICAL COLLEGES

As some information regarding the enquiry carried out by the Rev. G. Thurlow covering all the English Theological Colleges has already appeared in 'The Ringing World,' this part of the report is being kept as short as possible.

From the replies received we have grouped the Colleges into three groups:—

- (a) Colleges which at present feel unable to include any kind of ringing instruction or talks on ringing in their curriculum because already it is overcrowded.
- (b) Colleges where ringing flourishes.
- (c) Colleges where it appears that progress can be made.

We decided to deal first with group (c), as being the one where our efforts would be most productive. We have approached Association officers of areas in which nine of the Colleges are situated, informing them what each of these Colleges need by way of instruction, lectures, or guidance, and have asked them to co-operate and let us know, in due course, what progress they are able to make. Several favourable replies have already been received, and it is hoped to continue and extend this work during the coming year.

Section I was moved by Mr. N. Chaddock and seconded by Mr. R. S. Anderson and adopted without discussion.

Section II, dealing with Theological Colleges, was moved by Mr. Chaddock and seconded by Mr. Gray.

The Rev. R. D. St. J. Smith, speaking as one who learnt to ring before he entered a theological college, emphasised the importance of this method of introducing ringing to clergy. One of the objects of the Guild of Clerical Ringers was to forward their art among theological students, and members of the Guild were willing to give lectures and instruction.

The Rev. J. G. M. Scott concurred: 'If you go into a place where the bells are in a bad or unsafe condition you often find that the parson is not interested. I have often been told: "You had better go up yourself—I have never been to see the bells."'

Mr. Philip Gray said he did not think it was intended to teach theological students to ring, but to give them a knowledge of bells and ringing.

This section was approved.

SECTION III. SUGGESTIONS FOR POSSIBLE LINES OF ACTION

It was suggested that the Sunday Service Ringing Committee be reconstituted to work on the following lines:—

(1) Organise the preparation and distribution of a memorandum or leaflet containing selected material from the Survey which ought to be brought to the notice of clergy and ecclesiastical authorities.

This was moved by Mr. N. Chaddock and provoked a long discussion.

Mr. I. P. Fidler urged that particulars should be published in Diocesan Kalendars.

Mr. Osborn wanted more publicity in Church newspapers.

Mr. C. K. Lewis and Mr. W. F. Moreton wanted each diocesan bishop to put the subject on the agenda of a diocesan conference. It was pointed out that these agendas were invariably overloaded.

The meeting favoured a report being printed and circulated to all Diocesan Associations for distribution.

The Rev. A. G. G. Thurlow thought the best way of dissemination was by converted people. He suggested three levels—diocesan, to the diocesan clergy school and to the parishes.

Mr. F. B. Lufkin thought the best work could be done at local level. He suggested that 1,000 copies be printed and distributed as and when necessary.

Miss Cross seconded.

Later, Mr. J. Glanville proposed and Mr. J. T. Dunwoody seconded that an edited report be printed and circulated. This was passed.

Mr. F. W. Perrins urged that the report should be as brief as possible, because if there was too much people would not study it.—Agreed.

(2) Prepare a booklet or leaflet on belfry organisation, recruitment, relations with parishes, etc., embodying important information and ideas included in the Survey. Such a booklet might give advice on the best methods of establishing a band where none at present is in existence.

Mr. Chaddock said it was proposed to prepare a draft this year and report in 12 months' time.—Agreed.

(3) Ensure that continuous contact is maintained with Theological Colleges through various Associations and Guilds.—Carried.

(4) Consider and make further suggestions in 1960 on what might be done in addition to what individual Associations are doing to bring about an improvement. It is emphasised here that the Council can only advise on those matters which rest largely in the hands of Associations and parochial organisations.—Agreed.

(5) Act in an advisory capacity to any individual or organisation which asks for guidance regarding Sunday service ringing.

Mr. Chaddock said if the Editor of 'The Ringing World' received any letter on the subject he could pass it on to the Committee.—Agreed.

(6) Investigate means of getting more propaganda into Church publications.

Mr. P. Gray said he went through 43 Diocesan Year Books, and only six had any details concerning ringing in the diocese.—Agreed.

(7) Facilitate the carrying out of any suggestions which may come from Associations as a result of their study of the report at general or Branch meetings. A copy of the report to be submitted to each Association.—Agreed.

(8) Consider means and advisability of obtaining the co-operation of educational authorities regarding the provision of courses in bell-ringing.

Mr. Chaddock said this was prepared before they knew about the motion which was coming before the Council. Some central organisation should exist for passing on information. If the Council or diocesan organisations did not take action the College of Campanology would.

The President: This might be incorporated in Motion 10 (c).

Dr. Layton: One thing very important in the Survey is leadership. I think this Committee should consider courses to train leaders of parochial bands.

Mr. F. I. Hairs commented that the fat would be in the fire if they jumped over local Associations.

It was decided to discuss the matter under motion 10 (c).

On the proposition of Mr. R. G. Blackman the Committee were reappointed en bloc and Mr. W. F. Moreton and Dr. D. N. Layton added.

A vote of thanks to the Committee for their work was proposed by Mr. H. W. Rogers and seconded by Dr. E. S. J. Hatcher.

Mr. H. Miles asked if the reports would be returned to the Associations.

Mr. P. Gray said he proposed to return them to the Guilds.

ESTABLISHMENT OF COURSES

The third motion before the Council read—
'That this Council considers the organisation of courses which would cater, possibly by means of simultaneous lectures, for the needs both of more experienced and less experienced ringers, and, if in favour of such courses, begins to hold them as soon as possible.'

Mr. W. F. Moreton, who moved the motion, said one of the motions submitted to the Council in 1890 was that the Council was to encourage the development of the art in its scientific, mathematical and historical branches. Since 1890 the Council had interested itself in many different branches of their art and had assisted by its publications. The advantages of courses were that they made possible practical demonstrations. There were lots of ringers who wanted to learn. Some Guilds and Associations tried to teach them; in others there was no organised teaching except that which went on on practice night. He felt the Council should do something.

There were educational authorities in most parts of the country that ran courses in different subjects. They were open to suggestions, and if they agreed to take over ringing they would meet the expenses. It was clear to him that it was more practical to undertake the instruction in this manner than by local Associations. A course would cover an area larger than an Association's and cater for two standards of ringers.

He proposed that the Council express its opinion on the usefulness of courses, and secondly, if in favour it organises some. This can be done either by an existing committee or one specifically appointed.

Mr. H. Miles seconded.

Mr. W. G. Wilson suggested that the motion gave the organisers a free hand to spend what they like. Could the Council be told what the liabilities would be? He did not think they ought to give anybody a blank cheque.

Mr. Moreton: If the Council expressed itself in favour the cost would be met by the ringers and the local authorities.

Mr. C. K. Lewis: Whilst the Council might approve of any such courses on ringing, the initiative of starting in any educational place should come from the local Associations. They are the people on the spot and should take the initiative. The Ministry of Education finds it necessary to administer through the local authorities, and we should take the same line. While we approve of them we should not undertake them on a national scale but on a local scale.

Mr. J. H. Crampion: We in Essex have had two courses and they have proved a success. I cannot say we got many new recruits. The people who attended could just handle a bell and knew little of change-ringing. I think it is tied up with Sunday service ringing. We have already a committee on that. May I suggest that this committee gets together in the next 12 months and comes to the next meeting with suggestions.

Mr. F. W. Perrens pointed out that the Council would not be responsible for any expense incurred if the courses were run by the local authorities. It meant that anyone who could influence a local authority should do so.

Dr. Hatcher: Surely that is eating your cake and having it at the same time!

Mr. Perrens: In this case we stand to gain.

Mr. G. McKay (Cumberland and North Westmorland) said in his county they made an approach through their educational authority and they replied that they did not feel they were a big enough body to organise these courses. If an application was made by a more august body—like the Lancashire Association or the Central Council—it would be better.

Mr. W. G. Wilson said he would accept Mr. Perrens' assurance that there would be no cost.

Mr. P. Gray said if they organised a course with the local authority there was no reason why the Council should pay. They had a course organised at Liddington House. The people paid a course fee of two guineas and the educational authority provided the fees.

Mr. Crampion: The Essex Association did not incur any expense at all.

Mr. Harry Sanger asked that in any course the local Association should be informed and their co-operation invited.

Mr. Moreton: I quite agree with Mr. Sanger and I should think it was elementary good manners. If I had the duty of organising in anybody's territory I should approach the secretary in that District.

Mr. Perrens: The position is that these courses be organised as soon as possible provided the Council is not responsible for any expense incurred.

The motion was then carried and it was agreed that the matter be left with the Sunday Service Committee.

The President said that last week he was in York giving lectures in the Institute for Advancing Educational Studies. The director told him that if they wanted to hold a course in the Institute it could be held there. The Institute had its own ring of bells.

The hon. secretary: This exceeds the previous best attendance in 1948 and 1957 of 138. It is very satisfactory.

VOTES OF THANKS

The President said they had a tremendous number of people to thank. First and foremost the Mayor of Southport (Cdr. R. Wood) and the Bishop of Liverpool, the president of the Lancashire Association (Rev. R. D. St. J. Smith), for their hearty and kind welcome that day. Additionally they had to thank the Bishop for officiating at the Holy Communion, and the Rev. F. H. Pickering for the use of the church; also the president of the Lancashire Association and the secretary (Mr. F. Dunkerley) for their great work in arranging the dinner, not forgetting Miss Grimm for her great attention to details. They also thanked the Branch secretaries of the Lancashire Association and all local tower-keepers. Altogether it had been a most memorable occasion.

The president of the Lancashire Association: We do appreciate your kind words. What we have tried to do has been a pleasure, and if you have enjoyed yourselves and it has been a successful meeting, we are happy.

Mr. F. Dunkerley said he was pleased the Central Council visit had gone so well. It could not have gone so well if it had not been for his assistants Miss Grimm and Mr. Stephen L. Parry. It was not just the captain of the ship but the people behind the scenes—the very willing helpers who had done all things possible for the success of the gathering.

The meeting was followed by a winding-up social at the Palace Hotel, which was enjoyed by a large company.

SUB-EDITORIAL RE-WRITING

Dear Sir,—Must the writer be ridiculed for what he does not write?

I have great respect for 'The Ringing World' and have found that in almost every instance the printed matter is printed precisely and faithfully as the writer intended.

I need not emphasise the fact that some editors condense and cut copy, and in so doing take out, as in the case in question, the very words which should be left in.

That, sir, is why my last paragraph has been jumped on.

As soon as the article appeared, I promptly wrote telling the Editor that I stated that Triples in an odd-bell method, and that five is Doubles, seven is Triples, nine is Caters and eleven is Cinques. Could I be more explicit?

I also told him that unless this was corrected I should have the whole of the ringing fraternity up against me, and he would be inundated with thousands of letters.

Perhaps the critic who jumped on me would like to take the lead in this and be one of the thousands. I tender my sincere thanks to Mr. Hawkins for his support, also for drawing my attention to the accusation in the first place.—Yours faithfully,

H. J. HAZELL.

DROITWICH AND DISTRICT

By covering just over 100 miles, a most happy day was spent on May 16th in glorious surroundings with perfect weather. Crowle (8) bells were eventually in changes after much trouble with the intricate chiming gear—the tenor was found to be a real 'sit down' job, owing to a very low sally and excessive length of rope-end. Church Honeybourne (5) bells were real 'benders'—luckily, we rang these early in the day and were not too weary to contend with the rough 'go.' Broadway bells (6) were a pleasing contrast.

The light ring of six at Toddington was the next target, followed by Beckford's (6)—the finest ring of the day. Kemerton (6) was visited, before tea near the river at Eckington, where the pleasant six bells were soon put to good use. To end the day, the two sixes at Little and Great Comberton were set going. A tired party were thankful to take advantage of the kind offer of refreshments supplied by Mr. and Mrs. Wight in their pretty cottage at Great Comberton. Our thanks are due to them and to Messrs. Peter Warren and Dudley Wilson for joining us for the day. A.D.C.

TODMORDEN'S WHITSUN TOUR

Three carloads of ringers from Todmorden, joined later by two more carloads, including the tallest Cumberland Youth, toured the counties of Hunts, Cambridgeshire and Lincolnshire during the Whitsun week-end, a start being made at 6 a.m. from Todmorden.

Assisted by two of the Cambridge University Guild, a course of Grandsire Cinques was rung at Great St. Mary's, Cambridge, on Whit Sunday, and Kent Royal and Grandsire Caters for Evensong at St. Mary's, Wisbech.

The party wearily climbed Boston Stump at 9.30 a.m. on Whit Monday to ring Grandsire Caters. Some teddy boys passing the ringing room were heard to say: 'They must get big muscles that way.'

Methods rung during the tour totalled 23, from Doubles to Cinques.

HERSHAM, SURREY

A party of 40 ringers from Hershamb and district spent Whit Monday touring the Petersfield area. Ringing took place at Privett (8), Froxfield (6), Soberton (8), St. Peter's, Petersfield (8), Steep (6) and Hawkey (8). Six adventurous young ringers left the coach at Liss in the hope of getting one or other of the towers for a quarter peal, but unfortunately permission was not granted, and they found themselves walking two miles to the last church. Mr. John King is especially thanked for his arrangements.

ORSETT, ESSEX

On April 25th, Orsett ringers went on their first annual outing. The party consisted mainly of young people who had been ringing for about a year, with a nucleus of older and more experienced people. Our destination was the Essex/Suffolk border, and despite the cold, wet day we had a very enjoyable time. We rang at Pentlow (5), Cavendish (6), Long Melford (8), Lavenham (8), Preston (6), Bures (8) and Stoke-by-Nayland (8). Undoubtedly the best ringing of the day was heard at Cavendish, where the bells are about the weight and 'go' of our own. Our young people found Lavenham bells rather heavy, but Mr. Symonds smiled to see so many learners from one tower. Having had a sandwich lunch we did justice to high tea at Sudbury, and finished the day with renewed strength at Bures and Stoke. We are all grateful to Mr. and Mrs. Blatch for arranging the day. J.H.

LANCASHIRE ASSOCIATION

The annual meeting of the Lancashire Association was held at Christ Church, Todmorden, on April 25th. Ringing commenced at 10.30 a.m., and the towers available were Christ Church, Todmorden (8), St. Paul's, Cross Stone (8), St. Peter's, Walsden (8), and the Todmorden Unitarian Church (8).

The annual service was held in Christ Church at 3.45 p.m., the preacher being the Vicar (Rev. H. W. Hodgson). The president (Rev. R. D. St. John Smith) read the lesson.

Over 120 ringers and friends enjoyed tea in the National School, Christ Church, after which the annual meeting commenced.

The president opened the proceedings. The minutes of the last A.G.M. were confirmed. The election of office bearers followed, i.e., president, the Rev. R. D. St. John Smith; ringing secretary, Mr. S. L. Parry; and treasurer, Mr. P. Crook. The general secretary read the report of the committee and the consolidation of the Sunday Service Ringing Survey. He also urged members to give their support to the forthcoming Central Council meeting at Southport.

The ringing secretary reported that a total of 130 peals had been recorded for the year 1958, which was an increase on the previous year.

In the absence of the treasurer, the general secretary (Mr. F. Dunkerley) formally moved the adoption of the balance sheet and read out the auditors' report, which was approved.

The Association endorsed the resolution of the Guild of Clerical Ringers regarding letters in 'The Ringing World.'

Mr. H. Byrom, of East Crompton, was transferred to life membership. Mr. Gordon Thwaites was co-opted as a trustee of the Woodhouse Ringing Machine, and was thanked for the work he is doing to perfect the machine, a unit of which was on view.

The president, on behalf of the Association, thanked all who had in any way contributed to the success of the day which, in spite of adverse weather conditions, all had enjoyed. F.D.

GUILD OF MEDICAL RINGERS

The annual meeting and dinner of the Guild of Medical Ringers took place on May 30th at Great Baddow, Essex. Ringing began on the bells of the Parish Church of St. Mary-the-Virgin at 3 o'clock and continued until 4.30, when the Vicar (Rev. J. A. Kingham) conducted Evensong.

Members and guests were then entertained to tea by Mrs. P. T. Spencer-Phillips, the weather being so good that both tea and the following business meeting were held in the garden. In the course of this meeting Dr. P. T. Spencer-Phillips, the retiring president, proposed that his successor should be Mr. W. R. Winterton: this was carried by unanimous vote. The other two officers—R. E. Price (Master) and D. L. Gullick (secretary)—were re-elected. It was decided that the next annual meeting should take place in Buckinghamshire.

After a further hour in the belfry the party adjourned for dinner. This, as usual, was a most enjoyable occasion, and brought to an end a very successful day. The thanks of the Guild are due to all who made it so; in particular to Dr. and Mrs. P. T. Spencer-Phillips, and to the Vicar of Great Baddow and its ringers. D.L.G.

To the list of ringers who have rung a peal without a stay must now be added Mr. Roy H. Jones. His performance was on the fourth bell at Marston, Oxon, on May 30th.

SUSSEX COUNTY ASSOCIATION

Presentation to Mr. S. E. Armstrong

The 74th annual general meeting of the Sussex County Association was held on May 9th at St. Nicholas' Church, Brighton. Over 90 members and friends were present, including two vice-presidents.

The service was conducted by the Rev. F. E. Walker (Vicar of St. Nicholas'); tea was held in the Union Church Hall, followed by the business meeting.

A presentation was made at the commencement of the meeting to Mr. S. E. Armstrong of a chiming clock, in recognition of 25 years' loyal and faithful service to the Association as general secretary and Master.

The meeting stood in silence for those who had passed on during the year—Geo. King (Salehurst), W. J. Webb (Brighton) and F. Welland (Washington). The various reports from the officers were accepted, special note being made of the suggestions made by the general secretary regarding the 75th birthday.

The president, vice-presidents and all officers for the previous year were re-elected and thanked for their unflinching services.

The suggested alterations to the rules, prepared by the special committee, were accepted after some discussion.

The forthcoming 75th birthday, next year, showed that members were not in favour of incurring expenses that might be used for better purposes. On a vote it was decided not to hold a special day but make the normal annual meeting more fitting for the occasion.

The suggested formation of a library in one of the Brighton towers was carried, and part of the legacy left to the Association by Mr. Bishop, of Seaford, is to be used for this purpose. Several books have already been promised or given. Mrs. Hairs promised to donate the records of her father's (Mr. Frank Bennett) peals to the library when completed. We were all very pleased to know that Mr. and Mrs. F. I. Hairs are now resident again in the county.

The meeting closed with a vote of thanks to the Vicar and organist for their services to the church. R.W.R.P.

OBITUARY

MR. ARTHUR W. GRAVETT

The Brighton, St. Peter's, Society of Change Ringers has lost yet another link with the famous band under the leadership of the late Keith Hart. Born in 1881, Arthur W. Gravett commenced his ringing career at Burgess Hill when the new bells were installed at the beginning of the century. Coming to Brighton, he joined the St. Peter's band, ringing his first peal with them in 1907. He rang in the last peal on the old eight in January, 1914, and first on the new ten in May of that year. Of his total of 205 peals, over 80 were rung at St. Peter's, Brighton. His last peal was of Bob Minor at Angmering in August, 1958. As leader and deputy leader for over ten years until his passing, at the age of 77 years, on May 26th, he set a fine example by his regularity and punctuality at Sunday service ringings.

He was a member of the College Youths and, during the first world war, the Sussex County Association's peals secretary.

On May 30th, at Brighton Crematorium, the last respects were paid to him. The service was attended by Mr. W. Arthur Riddington, leader of the local band, as representative of the College Youths, and Mr. Albert W. Bond, representing the Sussex County Association, in the unavoidable absence of the Master (Mr. Reg. V. Johnson).

MR. MAURICE BAKER

With the passing of Mr. Maurice Baker on June 1st, Hutton Parish Church, Essex, has lost a devoted servant and the Essex Association a loved and respected member.

A master at the William Elliot Whittingham School in Walthamstow, Maurice came to Hutton some 20 years ago. He soon joined the church choir and became a church councillor and a server. When the local band of ringers was re-formed after the last war, Maurice learned to handle a bell and became a member. Within a few years he was called upon to become the Master, and so well did he lead his team that within a short time he had a band of over 20 ringers at this 5-bell tower, and was running a rota system for the Sunday service ringing. Often he had arranged assistance for neighbouring towers suffering a temporary shortage of ringers.

At his school he maintained a team of hand-bell tune ringers, and he instilled into them his love of bells so that he was able to pass on a number of new recruits to the belfries in and around Walthamstow.

He was elected an auditor of the Association in 1954, and he brought to the committee the meticulous care which characterised all his work. Only last Whit Monday he was elected a life member of the Association.

About 18 months ago he suffered a stroke, which compelled him to give up his work both at school and at the church.

The funeral service at Hutton Parish Church was conducted by the Rector (Rev. H. G. Tindall), who in a short address read Psalm xv, as the most fitting epitaph for one who served his church humbly, quietly and wholeheartedly as Maurice had done. His example and his work will live on to guide us to serve God in like manner.

HUMANUM EST ERRARE

IN the memoirs of James Agate, the music critic, there is an anecdote that tells of a gathering of famous pianists at a private dinner party. The select company of experts, having eaten and drunk, grouped themselves round the wireless set and listened to their fellow artist, Rubenstein, playing in Beethoven's 'Emperor' Concerto at a London concert hall. To this great work, which each one present knew so intimately, they devoted themselves purely for the whimsical amusement of trying to detect any mistake their friend might make in that massive score. And it was during this diversion that Mark Hambourg, one of the distinguished company, was constrained to remark that Rubenstein could not play a wrong note if he tried.

It was magnificent hyperbole, for Mark Hambourg knew quite well that Rubenstein was a great enough executant to be able to play even wrong notes if so he desired; but it was also a spontaneous and generous tribute from one superb artist to another, while the incident as a whole may serve to remind us both of the humanity and the infallibility of even the most immaculate performer.

Reflections upon one art frequently develop into parallel thoughts in a sister art, and, although there would appear to be little in common between the solo pianist and the change ringer, yet thoughts not unprofitable may arise in the consideration of the astonishing heights of perfection to which the competent technician may ascend and the human fallibility that leads even him into occasional error.

The vague records of early change ringing activity leave us perhaps with an over-enhanced respect for the brilliant successes of the ancient leaders and an insufficient knowledge of their failures; and so it may fall out that Annable or Gross may loom as giant figures in an era of unbroken success. It is, of course, in the doggerel of Lawton that we find evidence to suggest otherwise. The pages of our ringing journals have provided for most of us a more sober judgment of even the greatest of our leaders, and so, while we see in their remarkable deeds the brilliance of Cox, the uncanny ability of Haley, the genius of Washbrook, we are made fully conscious of their errors, their human failings, and their lapses from high estate. Yet the occasional fall from grace, the manifestation of frailty, even the plunge into gross error, cannot deny these men their place among the ringing immortals.

Most of us who have moved reasonably freely in change ringing circles have been privileged to know (and sometimes intimately) many really great ringers, conductors and composers, and it must often have been our pleasure to marvel both at the heights to which they could rise and the consistency with which they maintained themselves at a high standard. To think of Maurice Swinfield missing a bob in Stedman Triples, or to think of Harold Poole failing to pick up a trip, would be to consider a remote contingency; and among our modern geniuses there are men who continue to astonish us by the unvarying accuracy of their ringing and conducting. So we may be led to cry, in the words of Mark Hambourg, 'Old So-and-So couldn't make a mistake if he tried!'

But these men, like the men of old, can indeed err, for they are human, and to err is human, and particularly so in a very exact and exacting pursuit like change ringing. Doubtless Maurice Swinfield occasionally missed his call; doubtless Clement Glenn discovered that a mistake had got past his guard; possibly more than one peal directed by Harold Poole came to grief.

These are perhaps commonplace thoughts, and the only virtue in them would seem to lie in any lesson they may teach. It has rightly been argued that there are instruction and edification in the observation of a good ringer in action. To this may be added what is not so readily perceived, that it is worth travelling some distance to see a first-class ringer make a mistake. For in this simple, if unusual, phenomenon the beginner will find a world of comfort for himself and considerable profit in the observation of the great man's reaction to his own lapse. And since to err is human, so to forgive is charitable, and therein lies the reason for the patience and forbearance of the really first-class ringer. As for the erring expert he, like Rubenstein, will not be troubled by the criticism, good-humoured or otherwise, of his fellow artists, for he, like them, is conscious of many mistakes in the past and undisturbed by the possibility of occasional error in the future.

The band who rang the peal of Stedman Cinques at Lincoln Cathedral in honour of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Freeman's golden wedding also wish to congratulate Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Bennett, of Spalding, on the birth of a daughter. The new grandfather (Mr. Stanley E. Bennett) rang the sixth in the peal.

The quarter peal at St. Mary-the-Virgin's on May 10th (see page 363) was rung with a non-ringing conductor.

On June 6th a peal of Yorkshire was specially arranged at Horsham for the wedding of that popular Sussex ringer Leslie Weller; but alas, the only female member of the band after nearly two hours' magnificent ringing lost her 'tongue.' We hope she won't make a habit of this!

By a sad coincidence, the first half-muffled peal on the bells at St. Nicholas', Liverpool, was for the former Rector (Rt. Rev. Robert Nelson), who was responsible for the installation of the bells. He died in tragic circumstances, and was loved and respected by his parishioners.

In connection with the peal at Hitcham, Bucks, on May 23rd, the conductor would like the name of Mr. W. H. B. Wilkins mentioned as he conducted George Gilbert's first peal at Bobbing, Kent, on May 23rd, 1903. W. H. B. is still going strong at St. Ebbe's, Oxford. Does he remember that he rang Superlative Minor in that peal, i.e., Cambridge Reverse?

This year is the 25th anniversary of 'The Great Adventure,' and Mr. G. W. Pipe hopes to arrange something in Melbourne to mark the occasion. At St. Paul's Cathedral the company are practising Double Norwich. At the Roman Catholic Cathedral a St. Patrick's Society has been formed after a lapse of many years.

BELFRY

GOSSIP

Bells will be heard prior to the service to be broadcast from Bromley Parish Church, Kent, on Sunday, June 28th, at 9.45 a.m. in the Home Service. The Vicar (Canon W. H. Murray Walton) will conduct the service.

Twice during their Whit Monday outing into Cornwall, Stratton ringers had to pass the hat round for broken stays. Some of the party could not forget their own 21 cwt. tenor.

'At least two of the party know each other a good deal better than they did when they came' is our correspondent's concluding comments on the University of London Society's Whitsun tour. Hitchin was the headquarters.

Despite many previous attempts, the peal of Grandsire Caters at Surfleet on June 6th was the first tower bell peal by the Cambridge University Guild. However, 17 handbell peals have been rung there by the Guild since 1920.

The first peal on the recently-rehung bells at Brewood, Staffs, was rung on June 6th. Mr. and Mrs. R. Hawksworth kindly provided refreshments for the band after the peal. In the evening the parish held a barbecue to raise money for the cost of the work (£300).

In connection with the peal rung at Tamworth in honour of the christening of the Vicar's first grandchild, it is interesting to note that the child's mother, formerly Miss Molly Smith, was, before her marriage, an active and esteemed member of the Tamworth band.

The peal of Double Norwich C.B. Major at Leiston was rung on the anniversary of the 11,040 rung there in 1909, in which Sid and Jim Bailey took part. They are the only surviving members of the original band. Incidentally, Jim has 'circled the tower' 14 times. After the peal the band were hospitably entertained by Mr. and Mrs. Bridges.

PETERBOROUGH DIOCESAN GUILD

Annual Meeting at Rothwell

THE even tenor of life at Rothwell in Northamptonshire was stirred on May 9th, when ringers to the number of some 200 converged on the town for the Peterborough Guild's annual meeting. Early arrivals set the bells going and provided a welcome.

On this occasion the Guild president (Canon G. F. Turner) was 'at home' and obviously enjoying himself pointing out the interesting details of his beautiful church. Later he conducted the new form of service in the spacious nave. The Diocesan (Dr. Stopford) had promised to preach, but was unable to do so because of an engagement requiring him to preach at a service in East Berlin the next day. His place was taken by the Rt. Rev. W. H. Stewart, assistant bishop, who held the close attention of his hearers.

After taking tea with members the Bishop said that the size of the congregation had exceeded his expectations, and remarked on the number of young people present. He also commented on the singing during the service and said that if they could ring as well as they could sing then they must be pretty good.

The largest hall in the town was almost filled to capacity, where a band of ladies, led by Mrs. York, provided an ample meal. The business came afterwards, with the president in the chair, supported by the Master (Mr. P. I. Chapman) and the Rev. C. J. W. Faulkner, Rector of Harlestone. Also present were Mr. R. G. Black, former general secretary, and Messrs. E. E. Whitmore and B. P. Morris, former Guild Masters.

The officers were re-elected for the coming year, with thanks for all that they had done. An election for the Central Council representatives returned Messrs. P. I. Chapman, G. W. Jeffs, E. G. Orland and B. Austin.

From the Bell Restoration Fund the meeting voted £140 to five parishes where restoration or augmentation work was to be carried out. These were Desborough, Woodford, Marston Russell, Collingtree and Creaton.

NEW FIRST PEAL CERTIFICATES

Some months ago the material used in the first peal certificates became unobtainable and alternatives were not thought to be suitable. The matter had been under discussion by the committee, which eventually decided to ask one of its members, Mr. B. Austin, to design a new certificate entirely. This was shown to the meeting and adopted, with thanks to Mr. Austin.

For the next annual meeting it was decided to visit Pottersbury, when the Towcester Branch will be hosts to the Guild. Members were reminded that the next Guild function, the summer festival, will be at Daventry on September 5th, the Daventry Branch in this case offering a welcome to everyone.

The vote of thanks was proposed by Mrs. P. E. Clarke, of Oundle, who recalled the many people to whom they were indebted for the success of the day. Mr. A. Mansfield, of Green's Norton, seconded, and this was carried with resounding applause. Another chapter was thus added to the fame of Rothwell, for this was the first time that the Guild annual meeting had been held there.

The town and its church are becoming widely known by reason of the orchestral concerts which have been given in the church for several years past. On June 5th the London Philharmonic Orchestra was conducted by Sir Adrian Boult in a concert of music by Beethoven, Mozart and Vaughan Williams.

RECORD ATTEMPT AT QUEX PARK

Dear Sir,—Notice is given that an attempt will be made to ring 13,280 Cambridge Surprise Major at the Waterloo Tower, Quex Park, Birchington, Kent, on Sunday, June 28th, commencing at 10 a.m. The composition is appended.—Yours sincerely,

ROBIN G. LEALE.

NORWICH DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION

Encouraging Prospects

The annual meeting of the Norwich Diocesan Association was held at Norwich on May 23rd, being again well supported by members and friends. The bells of Mancroft (12), St. Giles' (8) and St. George's, Colegate (6), were available during the afternoon and evening.

The service was held in St. Peter Mancroft Church, when the Vicar (Rev. K. Wilkinson Riddle) welcomed the Association to Norwich and thanked them for their service to the church, which they could be assured was greatly appreciated by the clergy and the congregations.

Following tea at the Chantry Hall, the business meeting was opened with prayer, and the company stood for a moment's silence in memory of those who had departed to higher service since the last annual meeting. The president (Mr. Nolan Golden) took the chair, supported by the Rev. H. G. Lillingston, Mr. H. Tooke and Mr. A. G. Harrison (vice-presidents), Mr. H. W. Barrett (Ringing Master) and Mr. W. Love (general secretary and treasurer). Apologies for absence were received from the Rev. R. G. E. Dodson, the Rev. A. G. G. Thurlow, Messrs. E. Goate, N. Harding, W. G. Heyhoe, L. Last and J. R. Smith; also Mr. J. G. W. Harwood, who was in hospital.

Votes of thanks were accorded to the Revs. K. W. Riddle, D. E. Rae and A. Paget for the use of their bells; the organist, the verger of St. Peter Mancroft, and the ladies for supplying and serving the teas.

The president said how sorry they were to hear of Mr. Harwood's illness, and proposed that a letter be sent to him conveying their good wishes for an early recovery. In his review of 1958, Mr. Golden congratulated the members on the steady progress that is being made in the activities of the Association, and thanked all for their support during his first year as president.

EDUCATION COMMITTEE'S SCHEME

The general secretary and treasurer (Mr. W. Love) reported that despite a slight fall in membership, due to various causes, the strength of the Association had been well maintained. It was pleasing to note that recruitment of young people was steadily going on. Attention was drawn to the Norfolk Education Committee's scheme of providing instructors in centres where it is possible to have at least 12 learners. Forty-seven new members were elected, made up of 26 resident ringing members, 3 honorary and 18 non-resident life members. Unfortunately, 50 members were lost: 43 lapsed through non-payment of subscriptions and 7 died. He was pleased to say that this loss had been made good by elections during 1959.

Restorations had been completed at Wiveton and Dickleburgh. At the former tower a new band had joined the Association. Dickleburgh bells had been augmented to six by the addition of a new treble. The new ring of 12 at St. Nicholas', Great Yarmouth, had been cast, and would be opened during October, 1959. Other restorations in the future were planned at Aylsham (10), Attleborough (6), Norton Sub-course (6) and Kessingland (5).

A summary of the recent Sunday Service Ringing Survey of the diocese had been included in the report, which required serious thought of all responsible ringers.

Presenting the balance sheet the treasurer, reporting an excess of expenditure over income of £47, said that this had to a great extent been foreseen by the standing committee, by the extra travelling expenses of the Central Council representatives of the Dublin meeting, rising printing costs, and the decision to donate towards the cost of the president's travelling expenses. Grants of 5 guineas had been made from the Belfry Repair Fund to Aylsham, Dickleburgh, St. Michael-at-Coslany, Norwich, Saxthorpe, Wiveton and Great Yarmouth. The General Fund account stood at £148 78s. 3d., with the addition of the value of 51 handbells at £100.

114 PEALS

The Ringing Master (Mr. H. W. Barrett) reported that no records had been produced during the year, but from his own observations, and the reports from the Branches, it had been very satisfactory. The peals total again exceeded three figures, reaching the grand total of 114, 160 members taking part. The leading conductor of the year was the president, with a total of 31. The peals were rung in 50 different towers. Branch meetings continued to be well supported and a good standard of methods and striking maintained. This was, in his opinion, a very healthy sign for the Association, when it was noted the number of young people who were taking part with great enthusiasm. He made a strong appeal for proficient ringers owning cars to make the effort to visit outlying towers, where there were struggling bands not in union with the Association but who continued to ring their bells for Sunday services, and who needed instruction in change-ringing. He was sure that membership could be greatly increased if this was done.

The reports were unanimously adopted, and a vote of thanks given to the officers for their work during the year.

All the officers were re-elected, with the addition of the Rev. K. Wilkinson Riddle as a vice-president.

Mr. Barrett gave a report on the Central Council discussions, and it was noted with some concern that 'The Ringing World' would be in serious difficulties in the near future if the anticipated rise in the cost of printing came about. A proposition that each affiliated Association to the Central Council should make a yearly donation from their general fund to 'The Ringing World,' and that this Association should take a lead with a donation of £5, was put to the meeting for a vote. This proposition was defeated. It was felt by some that the Central Council should take the lead in this matter and not an individual Association. An earnest appeal was made for increased circulation, preferably postal subscribers.

Mr. Nolan Golden (hon. librarian) appealed for gifts to the library and information from members about books that were for sale which would be of value to build up a worth while library.

THE LADIES' GUILD

The annual general meeting of the Ladies' Guild was held this year at Southport, and members shared in the warm welcome extended by the Lancashire Association to the Central Council. Although the change of date had been approved by most Districts, there were some who thought it an unwise move, but in spite of their forebodings a most successful meeting was held.

The Vicar of Christ Church (Rev. F. Pickering) took a shortened form of Evensong for the Guild at 3.30 p.m. Tea followed in Christ Church Schoolroom—a wonderful meal prepared by Miss Margaret Ridyard and her helpers—when the members were joined by the Vicar and Mrs. Pickering, and also the secretary of the Lancashire Association, Mr. F. Dunkerley.

Before the men left, the president (Mrs. K. Lock) expressed grateful thanks to all those who had helped to make it such a successful day: to the Rev. F. Pickering for taking the service and for permission to ring at Christ Church, and to the organist and verger; to the Rev. Bryan Crane for permission to ring at Emmanuel Church, to the tower-keepers at these two churches, and also to Miss Ridyard who had made all the arrangements.

In welcoming the Guild to Southport, the Vicar said how pleased he was to see the lady ringers, and hoped they would enjoy the sunshine, the sands, the shrimps and the sea, a remark greeted with some laughter, as most members never did undertake the long trek across the sands which was necessary if one wished to see the sea.

After the usual preliminaries of an annual meeting—the minutes of the last meeting, the apologies for absence and the election of new members—there came the important item of the election of the president. Mrs. Lock, the retiring president, had been in office for three years—the maximum term allowed under the Guild rules—and therefore was not eligible for re-election. During those three years Mrs. Lock has visited many of the District meetings and has travelled many miles in order to meet as many of the members as possible. She was warmly thanked for all she had done.

Three nominations had been received, but one member stated she did not wish to stand. On being put to the vote, Mrs. J. Staniforth was elected president and took the chair for the rest of the meeting. The other officers were re-elected.

The treasurer's announcement that last year income exceeded expenditure was greeted with enthusiasm, and plans were promptly made to spend the excess! It was agreed that a report should be published next year giving the names and addresses of members and other relevant information for each District, to be available at the next annual general meeting.

As the Guild covers the whole country, the annual meeting is held in a different area each year, working on a definite rota. For 1960 the Districts concerned proposed that the annual meeting should be held in Bath, and this was agreed.

After the meeting members dispersed to ring at the various towers also open for Central Council members. Ten of the Guild's 13 Districts were represented at this meeting which, in view of the distances to be travelled, was considered very satisfactory.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

EVERCREECH AND B.B.C.

Dear Sir,—In reply to a recent correspondent and a number of inquiries, may I say that all the bell recordings heard on Sunday mornings opening the B.B.C. Light Programme are of St. Peter's, Evercreech, bells.

For those who save their 'Ringing Worlds,' all the details regarding the making of these records appeared in a letter of mine on February 27th, 1953, page 139.

For those who cannot turn up this letter I would say briefly that the records comprise Grandsire and Stedman Caters, Double Norwich, Grandsire and Stedman Triples, Double Court Minor on the front six and Grandsire Doubles on the back six. Obviously a very young local band, as mine was then, could not be expected to cover this wide range. The following were therefore invited to take part: Mr. J. T. Dyke, who conducted all the ringing, Mr. and Mrs. T. Kimber, Messrs. R. G. Beck, V. Savage, J. Topp, G. W. Massey, E. Chivers and P. Hull, with A. White and myself, of the local band.

As a point of interest, the bells are now on at 8.52 a.m. immediately before the weather forecast.—Yours faithfully,

H. J. SANGER.

PEALS OF BRISTOL

Dear Sir,—The peal of Bristol Surprise Major published in 'The Ringing World' of June 5th, 1959, as the composition of Mr. W. Eric Critchley was first rung at Brentwood on July 29th, 1911, as the composition of Arthur Knights. It appears in the Middlesex County Association's report for 1910-11.

Some of your readers may recall an article which appeared in your paper early last year in which I criticised certain peals of Bristol, among others, which had appeared under various people's names about that time, on the grounds that they could not possibly be original. True, I could not quote chapter and verse: in the present instance I am able to do so. I hate to cross swords with my good friend Mr. Critchley on this issue, but I am quite convinced that no original two- or three-part peals of Bristol, with orthodox calling, can possibly be obtained, and that those who are publishing them so freely at the present time are merely plagiarising the work of others—inadvertently, of course, but the correction never catches up with the error. I have not the least doubt that the peal in question will be rung many more times as the composition of Mr. Critchley.—Yours sincerely,

E. A. BARNETT.

Crayford, Kent.

[Mr. C. W. Roberts also writes confirming that the composition was rung at Brentwood. He also adds that the composition was rung twice by the Kent County Association in 1931, the figures appearing in their 1932 report, page 102, peals Nos. 3,693 and 3,725.—Ed.]

A REVERSE

Dear Sir,—May I point out that the composition on page 356 (No. 3a, 5,056 Treble Bob) is the reverse of a peal by Henry Johnson (see Treble Bob Part II, page 35).—Yours faithfully,

C. KENNETH LEWIS.

PREVIOUS HANDBELL PEAL FOR BIRMINGHAM U.G.

Dear Sir,—Mr. Brian Woodruffe may be interested to know that his handbell peal with Messrs. Simpson and Webb on May 7th was not the first to be rung by members of Birmingham University in the Guild of Undergraduates Union.

In the year 1951-52 a group used to practise handbell ringing in the Union quite regularly, but never formed an official Society, there being only three or four of us. Nevertheless, John Mayne, Harry Poyner and myself rang a peal of P.B. Minor for the Universities' Association ('R.W.', February 15th, 1952).

Wishing all success to the new Society.—Yours faithfully,

P. C. RIDGWAY.

'THE RINGING WORLD'

Dear Sir,—Our 'Ringing World,' mine and yours. Is it? Or do you borrow one, or just get a look at one? Or does your tower have one, between 6, 8, 10 or 12: if so, how do you expect our highly specialised paper to pay?

What is your 'real' interest in ringing? Merely ringing peals, or meetings, or just ringing? Do you do anything to keep alive and stimulate the Exercise and keep its paper going?

Although having reached my three-score years and ten, I have only been ringing these last 30 years—but what very happy years. I have always taken 'The Ringing World' which, like ladies' fashions, has not changed much—similar articles and opinions, bob and singles, perhaps a few new compositions: I have several times received a good caning.

'The Ringing World' has just managed to keep its head above water. We have had an increase in price, but even we pensioners have had to have increases in almost all our sources of income, so we cannot say we cannot afford the modest 6d., ridiculously cheap for what it contains—other than ringing matter—the making of friendships.

I would not like the Editorial Committee's job. When a week or two ago I spoke to my printer's foreman about soaring prices, he replied: 'What do you expect, I have just received an increase in wages of 37s. 6d. a week.' The Editorial Committee have given us the remedy to increasing the price—greater circulation; but we shall not achieve that if so many continue to borrow, or 'just have a look at someone else's'.

If your real and/or only interest is just ringing, you have missed one of the greatest pleasures—and blessings—of life, friendship.

We ringers do not like living hand to mouth, neither should our 'Ringing World' have to do—even worse than that, live dangerously.

We know what it was like during the war, without the bells: it would be much worse without our 'Ringing World'.—Yours, etc.,

Crewe.

FRANK STENSON.

FOUR-SPICED RUNG SILENT

A peal of Spliced Surprise Major in four methods was rung strictly silent and non-conducted at Dore, Derbyshire, on June 6th.

'RINGING WORLD' CIRCULATION

Dear Sir,—The report of 'The Ringing World' Committee for last year, as published in last week's paper, makes most interesting reading.

There are, in my view, two conclusions to be drawn from it:—

- (1) The circulation of the paper has hardly risen at all in the last few years, but the cost of production has risen alarmingly.
- (2) Unless more funds are made available to the paper, we ringers may find ourselves without a weekly journal.

This would be quite catastrophic as the paper plays an immensely important part in the binding together of our ringing fellowship. One disadvantage which immediately springs to mind is that Associations would have reduced attendances at their meetings, as many ringers would not receive notification of meetings.

Various methods of raising money were suggested at the Council meeting, and none seem to have met with much success.

Personally, I am not interested in the numerous peals that Mr. A. P. Cannon has rung, and therefore strongly support the motion that a peal levy be imposed and not, as Mr. Cannon suggested, that the cost of our paper be raised from 6d. to 1s. or 1s. 6d., which is quite ridiculous.

If there was a drop in the circulation of 8 per cent. when the cost of the paper rose from 4d. to 6d., I dare not think what the drop in circulation would be if the paper became twice or three times as expensive as it is now. And if the paper was still 25 per cent. peals, as it is now (whether mine or not) I, for one, would not buy it at such a price.

I agree with Mr. Joyce that a paper is useless if full of peals, and suggest that a restriction be placed on the space occupied by peals in the journal. Why not print them in the same style as the quarter peals? More space should be given to general news, not only of non-peal ringers but also of peal ringers' activities.

I do not think that a levy of 6d. per member should be imposed on Associations: many send contributions towards the cost of producing the journal, and those that do not cannot afford to, and doubtless could not afford the proposed levy, unless members' subscriptions were raised by 6d. to include the levy.

Mr. Chaddock is quite right about postal subscribers—some are too lazy or busy to buy a postal order once or four times a year. May I suggest that some make out bankers' orders?

The Editor and Committee are doing sterling work for little or no return: let each and every ringer make a concerted effort to increase the circulation of our paper and bring in more money so that we are able to retain the weekly publication and also give the Editor and Committee more financial assistance.—Yours faithfully,

ADRIAN C. WEDGWOOD.

LETTERS—ContinuedMR. FREEMAN BALL

Dear Sir,—In its list of virtually unknown past members of the Central Council the Biographies Committee mentions the name of Freeman Ball.

A gentleman bearing this appellation conducted the first peal—Grandsire Triples—on the old bells of St. Chad's Cathedral, Birmingham, on February 20th, 1878. The peal is commemorated by a tablet on the west wall of the ringing chamber, although, strangely enough, the name of the conductor is not actually stated thereon.

I recall the late 'Tom' Miller saying, in about 1938, that Freeman Ball was the conductor and that he originated from Chester, also that he was a bearer at the funeral of Anthony Druce, tenor man in the same peal, who died in, I think, 1879.

Sorry this information is so scrappy, but it may give a lead in tracing more facts of the ringing career of Freeman Ball.

Incidentally, could one of your more erudite readers settle a question over which many words have been said and even more beer drunk—is our belfry at St. Chad's Cathedral unique in that one ascends the south-west tower to ring in the north-west tower?—Yours sincerely,

W. E. BOX.

Harborne, Birmingham.

MILES GRAYE'S BELLS

Dear Sir,—According to 'The Church Bells of Suffolk' (Canon J. J. Raven), there are still a great many of Miles Graye's bells in this part of the country. He gives a complete list of about 80 bells in Suffolk, including those mentioned by Mr. Lafin in his letter, also 16 in various towers in Ipswich.

There would not appear to be any complete Miles Graye rings in Suffolk.

Canon Raven states: 'There are a few Miles Graye bells in Norfolk, 17 in Cambridgeshire, one in Sussex (Chiddingfold treble), a good sprinkling in Hertfordshire and Bedfordshire, and of course very many in Essex. His most distant work is the tenor at Newcastle-upon-Tyne, which he cast at Colchester in 1615.' I should think that this list still holds fairly true.

Just over the border from us in Essex is the ring of five at Pentlow, mentioned in correspondence in 'The Ringing World' last year. There was here a complete ring of Miles Graye bells, but the treble was recast by John Thornton in 1711. The other four still remain.

If Mr. Lafin would care to have it, I should be pleased to provide him with a complete list of the Miles Graye bells in Suffolk, as given by Canon Raven.—Yours faithfully,

ROSEMARY J. SEABROOK.

Clare, Suffolk.

GREAT LEIGHS' A MILES GRAYE RING

Dear Sir,—In his letter of May 22nd, Mr. Peter Lafin wonders if there are any complete rings of Miles Graye bells left. The five bells at Great Leighs, Essex, are, I believe, all by this founder. Hung in a beautiful round tower, they form an anti-clockwise ring of most pleasant tone and 'go.'

While casting my thoughts into Essex, may I take this opportunity of apologising for my mistake over Manuden, which Mr. Peter Bond so kindly pointed out. Two of my fellow tourists have since confirmed that there are only five bells there, but my records were inexplicably altered to read six.—Yours sincerely,

RONALD K. RUSS.

P.S.—If Mr. Lafin would like a photograph of Great Leighs tower, I should be most pleased to provide it.—R. K. R.

NORTH WALES ASSOCIATIONAnnual Meeting

The annual meeting of the North Wales Association was held at St. Matthew's Church, Buckley, Flintshire, on May 30th. A very nice day brought together what seemed to be a record number of members and friends.

The service was conducted by the Vicar (Rev. J. T. James), assisted by the Curate (Rev. P. J. Blake). The theme of the Vicar's address was 'Urgency,' and he said it was urgent that the people should realise their duty and obligations to Almighty God, and when the bells rang out on Sunday it was to remind them and call them to His worship and that they had half-an-hour in which to do this. When the five-minute bell rang they had to hurry or they would be late for their appointment with God.

Over 70 members and friends sat down to a salad tea with cakes made by the wives of St. Matthew's ringers and served in the school dining room.

The Vicar presided at the business meeting. Officers re-elected were Mr. W. Cathrall, secretary and Mr. Fred R. Evans, Ringing Master; the president and vice-presidents were re-elected; Mr. Dennis H. B. Millward, Wrexham area secretary; Mrs. Lewis S. Griffiths, Llandudno and Rhyl area secretary; area instructors—Wrexham, Mr. F. R. Evans; Llandudno and Rhyl, Mr. L. S. Griffiths.

Mr. Dennis H. B. Millward (C.C. representative) gave a summary report of the C.C. meeting at Southport and informed members that a full report was printed in 'The Ringing World.'

Before the meeting concluded, the ladies were asked to come in, and Mr. Albert J. Hughes, of Bangor, proposed a hearty vote of thanks to them for the splendid way they had attended to the company's needs; to St. Matthew's Church company for providing tea, to the Vicar for the service, and to all who had helped in any way to make the meeting such an outstanding success.

The peal book was on show, and the work of bringing the entries up-to-date is being beautifully and skilfully done by Dr. Woodcock, a Hope lady ringer.

Towers represented were Bangor, Llandudno, Rhyl, Wrexham, Hope, Buckley, Gresford, Chester, Dodleston, with visitors from Hodnet, Bebbington and Liverpool, and a lady from Southampton.

Members were delighted to have with them Mr. Albert J. Hughes, of Bangor, who has been poorly for a number of years.

SPALDING RINGERS VISIT ST. ALBANS

The programme said 'Spalding Corn Exchange, 6.30 a.m. depart.' Well, we were only three minutes late in leaving through waiting for the organiser. Sorry, Jack! And with the coach driver—our regular, of course—in good form, we were off to a good start and in fact arrived at our first tower, Stevenage, with ten minutes to spare, so we enjoyed these bells for longer than we had expected.

Off in good time and on to St. Albans, where we enjoyed ringing in three towers—St. Peter's, the Abbey and St. Michael's, with an excellent lunch timed between the last two. A pleasant hour was spent at Hatfield, and then on to Hertford—first at St. Andrew's, more refreshment, and finally to All Saints'. Journeying on again to Hoddesdon completed our ringing activities.

Back towards home and the usual stop at Huntingdon for supper and liquid refreshment. Still an hour or so to home, and so the handbells were made good use of. The Corn Exchange was reached just before midnight, and goodbyes were sounding in all directions, along with many thanks to Jack for a very well-organised day.

STRIKING CONTEST IN NORTH HAMPSHIRE

In order to give an incentive to towers in the Andover and Basingstoke Districts of the Winchester and Portsmouth Guild to improve their striking, a handsome cup has been presented by Mr. A. W. Alliston, of the Andover District. The first competition for it took place at Overton, Hants, on May 30th, the judge being Mr. C. H. Kippin.

Teams from Andover, Basingstoke, Highclere and Overton took part, being required to ring 240 Grandsire Doubles. For most of the competitors this was a new experience. Overton bells are not the easiest to strike well, and this, coupled with competition nerves and the keen ear of the judge, gave large totals of faults in the score! This was, Overton 124, Andover 160, Highclere 178, Basingstoke (St. Michael's) 186.

The result was announced before the tea, which was provided by the local band and served by wives and friends. Mr. Kippin spared the feelings of individual ringers by maintaining a firm silence on their performance.

The cup was presented to Mr. P. Holmes, deputising as captain of the Overton band for Mr. B. Garrett, who was prevented by illness from ringing. Mrs. Sanders, wife of the local Rector, was asked to present the cup. Since her husband and daughter were members of the team the whole proceedings had a suggestion of being a family affair.

Suitable speeches were made, thanking Mr. Alliston for presenting the cup and Mr. Kippin for judging the contest.

SOUTHWELL DIOCESAN GUILD

Most of the party, consisting of about 22 ringers from the Nottingham District and their friends, piled into the chartered bus at St. Peter's Gate, Nottingham, on May 30th at 8.15 a.m., and the rest of the party were collected on the way to our first tower of the day at Earl Shilton in Leicestershire. We found the delightful eight bells here already raised, and a very enjoyable half-hour was spent in short touches of standard methods before going over the border into Warwickshire.

Chilvers Coton, Nuneaton, was the next tower, where Mrs. Beamish welcomed us, and here not only the ten bells but the church itself claimed our attention. It was heavily damaged during the war and is being beautifully rebuilt and restored.

After all-too-short a stay at Chilvers Coton, we returned to Nuneaton, where we enjoyed an excellent lunch at the Newdigate Arms Hotel. The six with a 12 cwt. tenor at Wolvey was then visited.

A pleasant run through the lanes brought us to Newbold-on-Avon, where about an hour was spent in many different touches before going on to the ancient town of Lutterworth, with its associations with Wyclif, the translator of the Bible, who later suffered martyrdom in this town. Here we enjoyed a grand tea at the Central Café before raising the heavy eight at the parish church. Some good striking was achieved here before proceeding to the last tower of the day at Claybrooke St. Peter. This ring was thought by some to be the best of the day and was much enjoyed before the bells were run down at 7.50 p.m.

The ringing during the day was under the care of Mr. A. S. Colton, and all tastes and ringing abilities were catered for. Thanks are due to Mr. S. Adams who made all the arrangements.

WORTLEY, YORKS.—On May 30th, 1.296 Oxford Treble Bob Minor: T. Tarbutt 1. H. Rusby 2. F. Cowling 3. D. N. Stables 4. N. F. Moxon (cond.) 5. H. Mann 6. To mark the 50th year of the Barasley and District Society.

RINGERS' OUTINGS

REDDISH RINGERS AT LOUGHBOROUGH

Reddish ringers, with friends from Gorton and Marple, visited the Loughborough Foundry for their outing on Friday, May 22nd. Mr. J. P. Fidler was an entertaining guide. The unusual lightness of the bells attracted the younger ringers, but the visitors felt they did not do justice to them.

On the way to Loughborough there were stops for ringing at Leek (10) and Ashbourne (8). The best bells of the day were encountered at Duffield (10), where the Surprise ringers showed their prowess. Oxford T.B. went well at Matlock (8), and Darley Dale's 8 proved a nice ring of bells. Here Spliced Minor ringers showed how easy it is, and even Grandsire Doubles ringers had an enjoyable time.

CHISELDON, WILTS

For the second successive year, Chiseldon (Wilts) ringers chose South West Wiltshire for their Whit Monday outing, when eight members travelling in two cars visited seven towers.

Two ground floor rings came first—Dinton and Chilmark. After lunch, local ringers and a friend from Somerset joined in the pleasant ringing at Hindon. A steep, 'slippery ladder' had to be negotiated at East Knoyle, having an excellent anti-clockwise ring. Donhead St. Mary's bells were approached by an unusual wooden spiral. Coombe Bissett and Broadchalke concluded the programme. Methods rung were Grandsire, Plain Bob and All Saints' Doubles, and Plain Bob Minor. Thanks are specially accorded the two drivers, George and Tony.

A DAY IN EAST HANTS

A party of ringers and friends from Guildford, St. Albans and Ashted had an enjoyable day in East Hampshire on May 23rd. They rang at St. Peter's, Farnborough, and on the anti-clockwise six at Crondall—in this village the Morris dancers offered the company cake 'baked in the Devil's kitchen,' to keep all cares and worries away.

Thus a care-free party rang on the little-used six at Froye, and at Old Alesford joined the Winchester and Portsmouth Guild's practice meeting, with a course of Cambridge. Bishop's Sutton (5), Ropley (5), Tidbourne (6), Blackmoor and Bramshott were visited before having a short ring at the Guildford Diocesan Guild's practice meeting at Bentley.

ST. MARY'S, READING

The Cotswold country was visited by St. Mary's, Reading, band for their annual outing on May 30th. Before reaching Cheltenham there was ringing at Stratton St. Margaret, near Swindon, and Coln St. Aldwyn. An excellent lunch preceded ringing at St. Mary's, Cheltenham, where Cambridge Maximus and several good courses of Stedman Cinques were brought round. Mr. Dyer met the party, and others there were Mr. and Mrs. David Beacham, David Marshall, Ivor Goulter and Peter Warren.

At the late John Thomas' tower, Hinton-on-the-Green, the band had time to admire a beautifully-inscribed Bible given in his memory. It was nice to see flowers in the belfry, and at Cheltenham, too. A course of Glasgow was rung on this well-kept ring of eight.

The route to the last tower, Hook Norton, was past an ancient monument known as Rollick Stones, near Great Rollright. Like a miniature Stonehenge, the stones form a large circle and are of Bronze Age origin, circa 1500 B.C. Pagan rites were observed with a course of Grandsire Triples on Jenny Davies' 'door bells' in the centre of the ring before an audience of sightseers. At Hook Norton ringing concluded with a touch of eight-spliced. R. K. R.

LITTLE MISSENDEN, BUCKS

On Whit Monday a party of ringers and friends from Little Missenden and neighbouring towers had their annual outing to the Cotswolds.

The towers visited—all rings of six—were Charlbury, Bledington, Great Rissington—a heavy-going anti-clockwise ring, Bibury, Lechlade—the best ring of the day, where a course of Norwich Surprise was rung, Stamford-in-the-Vale (here, despite local predictions, Bob Minor was achieved), and East Hendred, a tower to be remembered for some time, with its 22 cwt. tenor, and long draught with no guides. The standard of ringing gradually improved, and in the coach the handbell enthusiasts found ample opportunity to test their ability.

Thanks are due to the indefatigable organisers, and to all incumbents and tower captains.

ROTHERHAM RINGERS VISIT LONDON

For their annual outing this year Rotherham ringers came by train to London on May 23rd. At St. Clement Danes', touches of Grandsire Caters, Little Bob Royal, Double Norwich and Plain Bob Major were rung, and the bells were lowered in peal just in time for the 'oranges and lemons' chimes to be heard at noon.

After an enjoyable lunch, arranged by Mr. A. A. Hughes, the party spent an enjoyable hour with the bells of St. Lawrence Jewry, which seemed to bring the best out of the ringers. Good use was also made of the little eight at St. Olave's, Hart Street. An hour-and-a-half was available for sight-seeing before boarding the appointed train for home. Thanks are accorded to all who made this happy visit possible.

HILLINGDON

St. John's, Hillingdon, Society for their annual outing on May 30th went into Essex. A start was made at 7.30 a.m. for Barkway, where the eight bells were enjoyed. On the fine 12 at Saffron Walden the ringing consisted of rounds for beginners, and touches of Treble Bob Maximus and Stedman Cinques. Visits were also paid to Thaxted and Dunmow, and on the latter bells a touch of Spliced Surprise Major in five methods was achieved. Good striking was maintained throughout the day, and all the touches rung came round. Hillingdon was reached at 10.30 p.m. after a very enjoyable day. T. G. B.

STRATTON, DEVON

Stratton ringers had their share of travel adventures on the narrow roads of Cornwall on Whit Monday. At St. Mawgan's, St. Mawgan-in-Menceage, the first tower visited, a 335-degree corner had to be negotiated.

The worst experience was after Penzance. A quarter of an hour was spent without luck in trying to negotiate a corner, with two other cars waiting. We were then directed into a field and told we could join the road through a gate at the other end. Alas, there was a steel spike sticking out of the stone gatepost which stopped progress. Up the steep slope of the field we went again with the back wheels spinning on the grass. Reversing out, we tackled the corner again. After nearly having to lift the back end of the coach round we succeeded with only a few scratches to the paintwork. Great praise is due to Sid Marden, the driver.

As to the towers visited, there was St. Mawgan's, Truro Cathedral, Penzance, Gulval, Melton, Phillack and Bodmin. Methods were kept as simple as possible. Thanks are due to Henry Trewin, the organiser, and Sid Marden, the driver. A. A. J. B.

BALDOCK, HERTS

A coachload of ringers and friends set off for Surrey on May 30th. Having passed Wembley Stadium and Hampton Court we arrived at Chertsey, where one of the bells, was the subject for 'Curfew shall not ring tonight.' The admonition is hardly necessary inside the church, though the bells are audible outside.

At Old Woking, the octave is quite noisy in contrast to the previous ring. On to Guildford for lunch, and ringing at the (old) Cathedral and St. Nicolas'.

A true ringers' tea was provided at the Prince of Wales, Leatherhead, then there was more Caters and Royal ringing at SS. Mary and Nicholas'. For the first time that day, we kept to time and enjoyed the octave at Ashted. Some Dutch visitors were most interested in the ringing, and asked many questions.

An additional pleasure was that of meeting and ringing with old friends. The enjoyable outing was marred only by anxiety about one member who was unwell. J. S.

BANSTEAD, SURREY.—On May 31st, 1,260 Grandsire Triples: Ann Buchan (first quarter) 1. H. N. Pistow (cond.) 2. G. R. Smerdon 3. A. F. Spooner 4. N. Hobden 5. T. Norman 6. A. E. Cheesman 7. M. F. Layton 8. A 70th birthday compliment to T. Norman.

OBITUARY

MR. ALFRED BARRATT

We regret to record the death of Mr. J. Alfred Barratt, of Daybrook, Notts, on May 21st, after a long and painful illness, at the age of 72 years.

The funeral service took place at St. Paul's, Daybrook, on May 25th, previous to interment at Redhill Cemetery. The bells of St. Paul's were rung before and after the service. There were many ringers present, and the many floral tributes included wreaths from St. Peter's, Nottingham, and St. Paul's, Daybrook, bands.

Alf was a safe ringer and a good striker. He had rung a good number of peals and conducted quite a number of them, mostly Grandsire and Stedman, Triples and Caters. A lovable character, he will be remembered for his genial company and willingness to stand in to help the younger members. F. A. S.

MR. WALTER A. GAMMAGE

The sudden death of Mr. Walter A. Gammage on June 2nd came as a great shock to the many friends who knew and loved him.

The last function that he attended on May 30th was that of the 75th anniversary of the ring of eight bells at the Church of St. Edmund, Northampton, where he was a ringer for over 50 years, and held the position of secretary and tower-keeper for a good many years.

A very young 72 years, he was able to mix with young and old alike, not feeling out of place, and kept pace with the younger generation. He always had an amusing story to tell, and his advice on matters of importance, when required, was always at hand.

W. A. G. had held various offices in the Northampton Branch of the Peterborough Guild since its formation, and his loyalty, service and personality will be very much missed.

His work for St. Edmund's Church, where he was a member of the P.C.C. and sidesman, was outstanding, and his outside activities numerous. He was indeed a gentleman who was held in respect by all.

The funeral service took place at St. Edmund's on June 5th, where a large congregation was present to pay its last respects. Cremation followed at Milton. Northants.

Following the service, short touches of Grandsire Triples on the half-muffled bells of St. Edmund's Church were rung by members of the Peterborough Guild, and in the evening a quarter peal was rung in tribute. G. F. R.

MR. H. NEWNHAM

A former captain of Alresford ringers, who had been a bell-ringer for close on 60 years, Mr. Harry Newnham died last month, aged 85. Born at Leatherhead, he was stationmaster at Alresford, retiring 25 years ago. Closely connected with the church, he had held appointments as churchwarden and secretary of the Parochial Church Council.

To his memory, 1,260 Grandsire Doubles (with three cover bells) was rung half-muffled on May 31st by Miss K. Tremear, I. H. Shaw, 2, C. Dando, 3, J. E. L. Cockey, 4, L. A. Tremear (conductor), 5, P. Shipwith, 6, G. Allen, 7, W. Smith, 8.

Ladies' Guild At Feltham

For most of the members attending the Central District meeting at Feltham on May 30th it was their first experience of this light musical ring of ten. About 24 members and friends had tea, but numbers were increased in the evening. A course of Grandsire Caters was rung by members, and other methods up to Cambridge Surprise Royal by those present. An interesting report on the Guild's annual meeting at Southport was given.

KENT COUNTY ASSOCIATION

The ancient brick tower of Warehorne is well known to the peal ringers of the Ashford District, but it is 12 years since the Association last held a meeting at this tiny, secluded village on the edge of Romney Marsh.

The new Rector-designate (Rev. J. E. V. Davies) welcomed the ringers, and at the service he read the poem 'To Ringers' from G. K. Chesterton's 'Hymns to the Five Guilds'. An excellent tea was served by Mrs. R. Spicer.

Eleven towers were represented at the meeting. Visitors included Mr. Leonard Stilwell, from Worthing, Mr. G. Huckstep, from Crayford, and Mr. T. Cullingworth, who called the first peal on the bells and who has not missed a District meeting since the war. Ringing reached Cambridge Surprise Minor.

SOUTHWELL DIOCESAN GUILD

About 40 ringers from 12 towers attended the Mansfield District meeting at Warsop on May 23rd. The Rector (Rev. J. G. P. Hapgood) conducted a short service and presided at a brief business meeting as the District chairman, Mr. S. W. Fossey, sent an apology for absence owing to shift work.

Hopes are being entertained of a joint meeting with the East Derbyshire and Notts Association and the Chesterfield District of the Derbyshire Association on July 25th at Clay Cross, with Eastwood as an alternative tower. The Bell Fund collection amounted to 15s. Mr. D. H. Rooke was elected the local correspondent for 'The Ringing World'. The customary votes of thanks included a special one to the ladies for providing tea. D. H. R.

LOUGHBOROUGH

The LEADING BELL FOUNDERS

THE DEVONSHIRE GUILD

'Ringing World' Peal Fees Agreed to

THE 80th annual festival, held in Exeter on June 6th, was a great success. The experiment of holding it on a Saturday instead of Whit Monday produced the best meeting for several years, more than 100 attending. The thrill of ringing in the Cathedral with Grandison, the 72-cwt. tenor, was experienced by many, and five other rings were made use of. The Guild service was conducted at St. Mark's by the Vicar, the Rev. C. G. Poulton, and the attendance of the surpliced choir was much appreciated.

The address was given by the Rev. J. G. M. Scott, one of the Guild representatives on the Central Council, on the Sunday service ringing survey. He said that from the answers received four requirements stood out:—

1. Leadership. A leader must start with humility, be quite certain of his aim and be dedicated to it.

2. A sense of duty. This is more lacking to-day than ever. Duty is essential to every member of the Church and to every ringer.

3. Good relations between ringers and church people. The survey shows that where a band flourishes, the members also take an active part in general parish work.

4. Healthy church life in the parish. He said that he and many others experienced a feeling at Southport that this part of the meeting was what the members had come for. The Guild rules set out that one of its objects is 'to encourage ringing for divine service,' and we should act accordingly.

DEATH OF MR. A. W. SEARLE

After tea in the Parish Hall the president took the chair for the annual meeting. He first referred to the absence of the Bishop, due to his accident earlier in the week. The general secretary was instructed to write to the Bishop expressing the deep sympathy of the members and their wishes for a complete and speedy recovery. The secretary referred to the death, in his 90th year, of Mr. A. W. Searle, a vice-president of the Guild and former member of the Exeter Branch and Ringing Master at the Cathedral. He was also a Central Council representative for 28 years, a member of St. David's band for 70 years and had rung in all the Devon towers.

A discussion took place about the finances of 'The Ringing World' and it was agreed that the Guild representatives should submit a resolution to next year's Central Council meeting that all peals published in 'The Ringing World' should be paid for at 6d. a rope. Another resolution passed was 'That we set an example to other Associations and make a charge of 1s. per rope for all peals, 6d. to go to "The Ringing World" and 6d. to our own funds.' The feeling of the meeting was strongly in favour of both these resolutions.

An amendment of the rules was agreed to, making it obligatory that the general fund should be balanced up to December 31st each year and members were asked to pay their subscriptions early in the year so that the branch secretaries could transmit to the general treasurer in good time.

It was agreed to hold the annual festival next year in Exeter, and since the meeting the Bishop's secretary has booked Saturday, June 18th, when it is hoped that His Lordship will be able to address the Guild. A grant of £25 to the Woodbury Bell Restoration Fund was agreed to.

All the officers were re-elected, viz.: President, Preb. E. V. Cox; general secretary, Mr. E. M. Atkins; general treasurer, Mr. W. Simmonds; auditor, Mr. W. Milford; librarian, the Rev. J. G. M. Scott. The general treasurer agreed to act as peal secretary, so peal reports should be sent to him with the fee of 1s. per rope. The representatives of the next session of the Central Council elected were Mr. T. G. Myers, the Rev. J. G. M. Scott, Mr. J. L. S. Glanville and Miss B. M. Boyle. Resolutions of thanks concluded one of the most successful meetings of recent times, apart from further ringing at the Cathedral and other towers.

SPECIAL NOTICE

This curtailed edition of 'The Ringing World,' due to the national printers' strike has been produced under great difficulties. We cannot guarantee the date of the next publication but we will do our best to produce another edition as soon as possible.

STRIKING COMPETITION AT LEICESTER

The Leicester District of the Leicester Diocesan Guild held their first striking competition at the Church of St. Mary-de-Castro, Leicester, on May 30th.

Eight teams took part. Unfortunately, Blaby had to withdraw at the last minute, being one short. This was rather disappointing as their entry was especially sporting in view of the fact that they have only been ringing a few months.

The three judges—Messrs. R. F. B. Speed (Rugby), R. Edwards (Birmingham) and A. Ballard (Hinckley)—were installed in The Castle, which overlooks the church. After tea in a nearby café the results were announced by Mr. Speed.

St. John-the-Divine's, Leicester, with some near-perfect striking, were the winners, with no more than 22 faults, followed by Leicester Cathedral and Aylestone, with 26 faults. The remaining teams in order of merit were South Wigston, Leicester (All Saints'), Belgrave, Markfield and Gilmorton.

Mr. Speed said that on the whole the judges were very impressed by the standard of striking. He then presented an engraved tankard, kindly given by Mr. S. A. Jesson, and a certificate to Mr. S. Harrison, captain of the winning team. They were heartily congratulated, being the youngest band taking part.

The District would like to thank the Vicar of St. Mary's for the use of the bells, and the three judges for doing an excellent job. Further general ringing at the church, followed by handbell ringing in The Castle, brought an enjoyable half day to a close.

BIRMINGHAM CATHEDRAL

Repairs to the tower of Birmingham Cathedral, which cost over £30,000, are now nearing completion and, after a silence of two-and-a-half years, the bells will soon be heard again.

In view of the large quantities of brick dust which had fallen inside the tower, it was deemed inadvisable to resume ringing before the bearings were examined by a bell-founder.

Messrs. Taylor and Co. were consulted, and as a result have removed the clappers for re-bushing, and are to repaint the bell-frame and replace any worn fittings.

SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD

Memorial to the late Rev. F. L. Edwards

A gathering of ringers from various parts of the diocese attended the Church of St. Mary, Kingston Magna, on May 9th, for the dedication of a tablet recording a peal of Plain Bob Major, rung at Melksham, as a thanksgiving for the life and work of the Rev. F. L. Edwards, Rector of Kingston Magna for 48 years, member of the Central Council of Church Bellringers for 45 years and hon. general secretary and treasurer of the Salisbury Guild for 37 years.

The service, combined Evensong and dedication, was conducted by the Rector of Kingston, the Rev Harold Snalgrave. The dedication was by the Archdeacon of Dorset, the Ven. E. L. Seagar, who also preached: the lesson was read by Canon C. Carew Cox, Master of the Guild, other robed clergy being the Rev. R. N. Longridge, hon. secretary of the North Dorset Branch.

In his address the Archdeacon paid a great tribute to Mr. Edwards—as a parish priest, as a musician, mason, farmer, but above all as a ringer, being a tower of strength to the Salisbury Guild and well known throughout the land: he had travelled far and was a very learned man.

The ringers of Kingston Magna and Buckhorn Weston (which is now combined into one parish) rang before the service and those who attended rang at the close. A course of Grandsire Triples was rung on handbells at the graveside by Canon Cox, Mr. H. Keeley, Mr. C. W. Powell and Mr. L. Hitchens.

The congregation, together with the choir, were the guests of the parishioners to tea later in the afternoon. Mr. Edwards' family joined in the proceedings throughout.

TWO 61st ANNIVERSARIES

By calling John Holt's Original peal of Grandsire Triples exactly one month before his 84th birthday, at St. Margaret's, Ipswich, on June 13th, Mr. George E. Symonds commemorates two of his 61st anniversaries. He first conducted this at St. Margaret's, Barking, Essex, on February 5th, 1898, in which all bachelors took part, viz.: Albert Mason, William S. Langdon, William H. Webber, William H. Pasmore, Caleb Fenn, Rowland Fenn, G. E. Symonds (conductor), Thomas Faulkner.

The other performance was a silent peal of the same composition at St. John's, Waterloo Road, London, S.E., on June 4th, 1898, by: Arthur R. Davis, George W. Wild, Harry Barton, G. E. Symonds, Harold N. Davis, James E. Davis, Thomas Langdon, William S. Langdon: Umpire Frederick Perrin. The band's average age was 25 years.

It is believed that the brothers Fenn and Langdon are still with us and it would be interesting to know if the others are living.

G. E. S. has rung the Original 27 times on tower bells and five on handbells, calling 26 of them.

BARNSELY SOCIETY'S SHIELD CONTEST

From seven competitors, Friezland won the Barnsley Society's Shield Contest at Wortley on June 13th. Results: Friezland 45, Shelley 46, Silkstone 59, Sandal 62, Cawthorne 127, Thornhill 181, Ecclesfield 230.

The test was 600 changes with 120 changes practice. The judge was Mr. Harold Chant and the marker Mr. Daniel Smith.

Mr. Frank White, who received the shield on behalf of Friezland, said this was his last contest as he was leaving Friezland. Each member of the winning team received a jam dish: there were prizes for the runners-up, Shelley.

BELFRY

A past vice-president of the Lancashire Association Mr. Joseph Leatherbarrow, died at Newchurch on June 9th, aged 71 years. He was captain and tower-keeper at Newchurch Parish Church for 48 years.

Mr. V. Jones, of Coleshill, Berks, died on June 13th, aged 84 years. He was a keen ringer up to the 1939-45 war.

Will the sender of the Peal rung at Huntley on May 30th, please forward his name and address.

The quarter peal rung at St. Clement Danes by the Hillingdon band was on May 24th and not as printed in 'Belfry Gossip.'

The striking competition of the Northern District of the Surrey Association, held at Esher, was won by St. John's, Croydon. St. Mary's, Beddington were second.

Fortune was with the band who rang Little Bob Royal at Ewerby, Lincs, on June 13th. The composition had an alternative calling, reducing from 5,040 to 5,000 changes. This was called and in the first pull of lowering the second, the rope broke! This proves Mr. Henry Fearn, of Birmingham, is correct in denouncing extra leads over the 5,000.

From Over Cheshire comes the news of a long length in Spliced Surprise Major rung on June 13th in six hours and in ten methods. At the conclusion of the peal the composer, Mr. A. J. Pitman, came into the belfry and congratulated the band. The co-operation of the local band in providing refreshments in the belfry after the peal was much appreciated.

Kimpton, Herts. bells are to be retuned, rehung with ball bearings and a new ringing floor installed at about 12 feet from the ground. Rededication is planned for October 31st, to be followed by a ringing competition for a silver cup. Kimpton hope to make this an annual event as an incentive to good striking.

GOSSIP

While giving Gnosall, Staffs, belfry a 'new look,' Miss June Kay and Mr. David Friend found in a hidden recess an old envelope discoloured with age, dated 1851. The only address discernible was 'High Street, Gnosall.' Trembling with excitement at the hope of finding gold or precious jewels, they opened the envelope and found—17 human teeth.

Recently the Vicar of Dean Prior, near Buckfastleigh, Devon, resigned the living and moved to Oxfordshire to live in retirement. It is understood that proposals have been adopted whereby the Vicarage will be sold and the parish amalgamated with Buckfastleigh. With the consent of the Vicar of Buckfastleigh the tower and bells are kept going for Sunday morning services by ringers from the neighbouring parish of Rattery.

After ringing six entents of Kent Treble Bob Minor at Churcham, Glos, on June 13th, the bells were set up as they were then going very badly. If the peal had been obtained it would have been the first since 1909. There have only been three peals on these bells since they were recast and rehung in 1877.

A fine performance was put up by the Rev. John Shepherd Wdylm, who is blind, in scoring his first peal of Stedman Triples at Norfleet on June 13th. We hope to read Mr. Wayln's name in our peal columns more frequently.

When the Rev. C. Walters, a ringer, was inducted to the living of Frinstead, Kent, he found that the bells, which had been silent for 11 years, had no ropes. These were provided by Mr. R. L. Pemperton, practices instituted on Thursdays with Mr. Ernest Gage as captain. On June 6th the second peal on the bells was rung, the first on June 11th, 1927, being conducted by Mr. George Gilbert. Mr. George Kenward rang in both peals.

OUTINGS

BARKBY, LEICS

A coachload of Barkby ringers enjoyed an outing into Northamptonshire on May 23rd, which had been planned by Mr. M. R. A. Kirk with the assistance of Mr. L. Witten. Ringing took place at Woodford, Thraps-ton, Islip, Lowick (where the bells had not been rung for over a year but only chimed on Sundays) and Sudborough. At the last-named tower the sexton stated that the bells were rarely rung. He had a tape-recording of them and when needed for a wedding the recording was amplified.

BEACONSFIELD

Beaconsfield ringers spent an enjoyable day on June 6th, when they rang at St. Peter's, Bexhill, Christ Church, St. Leonards, Christ Church, Blacklands, and All Saints', Hastings.

One of the objects of our journey was to meet Mr. Alf Levett and his wife once again; they met us at Bexhill and spent the day with us, and many amusing reminiscences were exchanged.

We would like to thank Alf for his great kindness in arranging the ringing programme and the excellent tea. D. R. F.

DONCASTER

St. George's, Doncaster, ringers, for their annual outing on Whit Monday, visited attractive towers, although the light eight and long draught at Ashbourne took some getting used to. Touches of Double Norwich, Stedman, Cambridge and Little Bob were rung at Burton-on-Trent and at Lichfield Cathedral the Society was privileged to ring for one hour for Evensong.

After tea at Derby the Cathedral was visited, where some good ringing was again heard. An hour's ringing at Mansfield concluded the programme and included spliced methods.

IN ROMNEY MARSH

The churches in and around Romney Marsh were visited by a small party on June 6th. The list included the short tower at Brabourne, Stowting where the bells are anticlockwise, Lyminge (8), Newington, Lympe, Burmarsh, Aldington (the best six of the day), Warehorne, New Romney, Lydd (where the elusive course of Cambridge was successfully rung), Brookland (with its famous detached tower), Appledore, Stone-in-Oxney and Woodchurch, where ringing was curtailed through misreading the map. The disappointment was Fairfield, where the key could not be located.

TWERTON-ON-AVON, BATH

The Twerton-on-Avon ringers held their annual outing on June 6th, and were accompanied by friends from Corston, Bristol, Warmley and Newton Park College.

Mr. Woods, a local ringer, made the party welcome at Mere, Wilts, where we enjoyed ringing the pleasant, heavy octave (tenor 23 cwt.). At Longbridge Deverill, Mr. Jones was waiting to greet us. Here we found a merry octave (tenor 12½ cwt.) with a very short draught of rope.

On to Warminster, where members had their tea before ringing at the Minster Church of St. Denys. The Vicar and three members of the local band met us. The bells are a heavy octave (tenor 28 cwt. in D), hung in a central tower, that go very well.

The last tower was Westbury, where we had the pleasure of ringing the heaviest octave in Wiltshire. The bells, again hung in a central tower, are a superb ring with a tenor of 35 cwt. Ringing ended with a few excellent call-changes. A. F. L.

SHEFFIELD AND DISTRICT SOCIETY

The annual 6-bell striking contest for the Sheffield and District Society's silver cup was held on the very light ring of six at Old Whittington (tenor 6 cwt.), near Chesterfield, on June 6th. The judges (Mr. H. Chant and Mr. J. Thorley) in their commentary remarked upon the exceedingly high standard of ringing maintained throughout the contest. Six teams entered, producing 360 changes in five different methods. Handsworth, with 37 faults, was again judged the winning team, and the local company second with 46 faults, closely followed by Bolsover (55 faults) and Rotherham (56 faults).

On behalf of Handsworth company, Mrs. D. E. Kelly, the only lady member of the team, received the silver cup from Mr. F. Adams, of Staveley, who congratulated the team on an excellent performance.

Mr. N. Chaddock (Central Council representative) gave a brief report on the meeting at Southport, making a special appeal for all members to take 'The Ringing World' and to take it through the post. During the meeting a show of hands revealed that most members were subscribers to 'The Ringing World.' Mr. Chaddock also referred to the debate on the Survey of Sunday Service Ringing, and answered questions put to him about this, indicating measures to be taken during 1959/60.

In his vote of thanks Mr. B. Cooper expressed the Society's appreciation of the excellent arrangements for the meeting made by the local company. Eight new members were elected. It is hoped that the next meeting will be held at Eckington on July 4th. S. C.

CHRISTCHURCH RINGER'S GALLANTRY

Mr. Ken Derham (51), a cafe proprietor at Mudeford, Christchurch, and a member of the Christchurch Priory band for many years, has been awarded the Royal National Lifeboat Institution's silver medal for gallantry in rescuing a young man and a girl on Easter Monday.

Mr. Derham made the rescue at considerable risk in his 11ft. rowing boat in a heavy sea.

The man and girl were clinging to wreckage. The girl was exhausted and had to be dragged on board by Mr. Derham.

At different times Mr. Derham has rescued many people from the treacherous Mudeford waters.

LLANDAFF AND MONMOUTH ASSOCIATION

Fifty-four members and friends attended the Llandaff Branch meeting at Radyr on May 23rd, where, in the absence of Mr. G. I. Lewis, duties of Ringing Master were capably performed by Mr. T. Yeoman. The Rector (the Rev. W. S. Pontin) conducted the service and the Rev. Percival Jones gave the address. The enjoyable tea was provided by the ladies of Radyr.

LEEDS AND DISTRICT SOCIETY

An excellent meeting was enjoyed at Batley on May 30th, with about 35 ringers present. Various methods were rung, ranging from the plain to Surprise.

The Society welcomed four ringers from Lancashire who were on a visit to Yorkshire.

At the business meeting, Mr. J. Gibson thanked the Vicar and churchwardens for the use of the bells, and particularly Mr. David Atkins for his excellent arrangements. Mr. Harry Lofthouse seconded the vote of thanks. Mr. David Atkins replied on behalf of the local company.

BELFRY GOSSIP

The first peal of London Surprise at the Watch Tower, Morpeth, was rung on June 11th, conductor, Mr. Bryan Pattison.

A peal of Aldenham Surprise Major was rung at Crawley, Sussex, on June 20th, as a wedding compliment to Mr. and Mrs. Leslie W. Weller.

Mr. Frank B. Lufkin, shepherded six ringers through their first peal of Cambridge Surprise Major at Goldhanger, Essex, on June 18th.

To the Cleatham House Farm repertoire, has been added a peal of Little Bob Maximus in hand. It was their first in the method in hand by all the band. Has Little Bob Maximus been rung in hand before?

Almost 50 ringers, including nine from St. Peter's Cathedral, Adelaide, and St. Andrew's, Walkerville, took part in the Queen's Birthday week-end ringing festival in Victoria.

At an evening meeting at the Church of St. Mary, Staunton-in-the-Vale, 35 ringers of the Newark district Southwell Diocesan Guild kept the bells ringing from 6.30 p.m. to 9.30 p.m.

Somerset ringers, with Mr. Michael Horseman as Master, had a ringing tour in the Thames Valley from May 9th-19th. Most of the party stayed the week in a railway camping coach at Wargrave, which for cheapness, spaciousness and cleanliness, has no equal as a ringers' H.Q.

The first quarter peal on the bells of Church Gresley, Derbyshire, augmented to five this year, was rung on June 27th. The first of the young band being trained by Mr. Derek P. Jones, 14-year-old David Eames, scored his first quarter.

In honour of the 80th birthday of Miss Evelyn Steel, president of the Bedfordshire Association, a peal of Minor in seven methods was rung at Aspley Guise on June 10th.

Dr. D. J. Neal Smith has rung his first peal of Surprise. It was a College Youths' peal of Cambridge at Acton, conducted by Mr. A. P. Cannon.

The University of Bristol Society had a very successful summer tour in Wiltshire, which started on June 12th. The secretary, Mr. Brian Wylde did a wonderful job in making the arrangements. 'We shall be sorry to lose him and wish him every success in his future career,' writes the Society's correspondent.

Waddington, Lincoln, has now a ring of six. In May, 1941, a land mine crashed through the roof of the church, but the ring of five survived. A new church of contemporary design has been built and the bells with a new treble have been raised in their new home. Dedication of the new bell was on Whit Sunday.

The Durham University Society came into being on June 19th, linking together the Durham Colleges Society and the King's College Society. This is regarded as the first official knowledge of a university society, although a peal was rung under this title at West Hartlepool in 1955. Officers elected for the ensuing year were:—President, Mr. Bryan Pattison (St. Bede's College, Durham); vice-president, Mr. Nicholas Webb (King's College, Newcastle); hon. sec., Mr. Tom Piercy (King's College); hon. treasurer, Mr. Chris Herbert (St. John's, Durham).

SOCIETY OF FRIENDS OF THE EXERCISE

THE annual Whit week-end of the S.F.E. was once again quite a success. Most of the party assembled at East Budleigh on Friday evening, and again most were safely tucked in bed by 11 p.m. Funny we always get the odd one or two who either wait until that time to start courting, or else think that beer consumed after hours seems to taste better! However, we managed to get away fairly well on time next morning, and proceeded to continue our exploration of Devon when we left off last September. Explore is the word. Even the writer, Devonshire born and bred, never ceases to be amazed at the tortuous routes we pick. Cadbury first stop, and then off the 'beaten track' to Cheriton Fitzpaine, Poughill and Washford Pyne, by which time we had already found the usual grass growing in the middle of the 'road.'

After this we spent a pleasant hour-and-a-quarter at the Thelbridge Cross Inn, where our sandwiches went down well with a couple of pints of bitter. Of course, lunchtime music was provided by the S.F.E. choir, with Reg. Hooper at the piano. Toasts to 'absent Friends' was, in some instances, just an excuse to consume an extra pint. The ears of our famous Welsh member from Pentre must have burned badly at this stage, but at least he would have been proud of our rendering of Cym Rhondda.

Off then to East and West Worlington, where we were joined by the Swindon-Aldbourn contingent. It was nice to see T. A. Palmer looking so well after his recent accident. From here it was really a test of driving skill, and we do not hesitate to recommend the route to any motor club for a trial. Romansleigh next (origin of St. Rumon, please, someone), and then across the main road to Marionsleigh and on to Rose Ash, Knowstone, Rackenford, Stoodleigh and Washfield. Supper in Tiverton ended the first day.

The usual quarter peal attempt for early service at East Budleigh on Sunday failed, and for Matins the usual band were dispatched to Withycombe (no ringers) and Littleham. An easy day this, with an afternoon visit to Branscombe, where the driver (?) of a famous M.G. discovered that the lovely green foliage on the Devon hedges can conceal some nasty rocks. This particular rock unfortunately scored a k.o. in the first round of a duel with his wing. A visit to Shute completed the day.

Monday, and Whimble first stop. Too early to try the cider, but one car was able to make a brief halt at Talaton to sample 'a drap o' Varmer Skinners.' Clyst Hydon, Burlescombe and a spell of driving on the A38 which made quite a change. Then up and over the Blackdowns to Clayhydon, and a lucky escape for a district nurse in an encounter with the Rover on a sharp, narrow bend. A long run down into Taunton for lunch and a visit to St. James'. Our last visit here brought some caustic comments over the radio from John Arlot. He was trying to commentate on a nearby cricket match. Almost due north from here brought us to Coombe Florey (she was not as nice as we expected). West Bagborough and round to Nether Stowey, Storgursey, and finally Cannington, to end up with our A.G.M. at the 'local.' Oh lor'. I nearly forgot, this was a ringing tour. You will notice that with three exceptions all towers were sixes. Weights ranged from 7 cwt. to the fine six (tenor 24 cwt.) at Storgursey with its really lovely church and tower. Methods? I quote the printed programme, 'As per Ringers' Diary plus broadsheet to be issued on arrival.' The 'broadsheet' covered a very wide range of methods.

Dispersal followed with Frank, Mary and Shirley returning to East Budleigh to do some house-hunting in preparation for their move to the Aylesbeare Deanery in September. It was on the following Wednesday that the writer received a pleasant and totally-unexpected surprise when Frank rolled up at Brookside with a large parcel which contained a lovely Poole Pottery tea service and an electric-ring saucepan—a wedding present to the wife and myself from the Friends. May we here and now record our deep gratitude, until we see you all again or I can get round to writing to you all.

Will all Friends who could not attend please note that we assemble at East Budleigh for our autumn tour on Friday, September 25th. A request has been made that a band attempt a peal at Littleham on the evening of Saturday, 26th. Please notify early for accommodation.

SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD

North Dorset Branch

The quarterly meeting of the North Dorset Branch was held at Yetminster on June 6th. Ringing commenced at 3 p.m., and the Guild service at 4.30 p.m. was conducted by the Rev. R. N. Longridge, hon. secretary of the Branch, and the address given by the Rev. A. F. Godley.

Twenty-nine ringers from various towers were present, including visitors from Lancashire. Tea in the Church Hall afterwards was provided by Mrs. Tye and her helpers.

At the business meeting there was some discussion on the importance of good striking in the towers affiliated to the Guild, it being finally arranged that the Ringing Masters of the Branch should meet to consider ways of promoting this basic requirement of good ringing, though it was realised that the matter really rested with captains of bands in their own towers.

After the meeting ringing was resumed at Yetminster, Lillington and Thornford.

HERTS COUNTY ASSOCIATION

The Northern District held an evening meeting at St. Paul's, Walden, on June 6th, when Mr. G. W. Critchley gave a report on the Central Council meeting at Southport and the finances of 'The Ringing World.' The meeting was of opinion that the problem of getting new readers was one thing, but keeping them was another. Most thought that circulation was at saturation point.

A Post Office Savings Bank account for the Bell Fund, with Messrs. J. S. Dear and A. Harris as trustees, is to be opened. Of the 39 replies to the questionnaire on starting the 10-bell fund 19 were in favour, 17 against and two either way. Mr. M. Hopkins, of Baldock, was elected a ringing member.

Another evening meeting will be held on July 4th at three 5-bell towers—Pirton, Gravenhurst and Meppershall. The Vicar (Rev. H. G. Wright) commenced the meeting with prayer and welcomed everyone to the parish.

THE LADIES' GUILD

Western District

A quarterly meeting was held at Clevedon on June 13th, when a variety of methods was rung. Owing to unavoidable difficulties it was not possible to hold a service. Tea was taken in a nearby cafe, when 24 members and friends were present.

At the business meeting the following new members were elected: The Misses Myra Wilkins (Warmley), Diane Williams (Wrington), Bevan (Bristol). Mrs. Haskins (Keynsham) and Mrs. M. Price (Bridgewater).

Details were announced regarding the outing to be held on September 12th, visiting Cullompton, Topsham and Tiverton. Members interested are asked to contact the secretary, Miss B. Johnson, 10, Lancashire Road, Bristol 7.

LETTERS

BROOKLAND BELLS

Dear Sir,—I was interested to read Mr. Nicholas Davies' comments on the five bells at Brookland, Kent, in your edition of June 5th. On June 6th I rang there myself, and although I do not wish to start a 'back and forth' of letters in your paper. I made a point of testing the notes of each bell, as they were raised singly. Using a Honner's 'Trutone' pitch pipe (which is fully chromatic—there being one reed per note), the tones appeared to be C sharp, C, B flat, A flat and G, although, as Mr. Davies says, none is in perfect tune. By trying these notes on a piano, one discovers that these bells do not form a minor or major five, or even the front five of an 'eight.' The easiest way to determine the errors would surely be to record the bells, and then use a set of tuning forks, rather than relying on one alone.

I must support Mr. Peter N. Bond's recent correspondence on Manuden, Essex. I rang there on February 28th this year and we only had five bells upon which to ring, and the tenor is sadly sharp. I would be interested to see the faces of six ringers who might turn up there for a peal of Minor.—Yours sincerely,

CLIVE M. SMITH.

Lichfield, Staffs.

INTERNATIONAL RINGING ASSOCIATION

Dear Sir,—While reading through 'The Ringing World' of June 5th, I was struck by Mr. Robin Leale's reply (page 364) re the Rev. K. W. H. Felstead's inquiry as to the reasons why the International Ringing Association was formed. No doubt some part of Mr. Leale's duty-free purchases were paid for with peal fees owed to the Winchester and Portsmouth Diocesan Guild. — Yours faithfully,

R. ROGER SAVORY.

Southampton.

ESSEX ASSOCIATION

Following Miss Snowden's report on the Central Council meeting, presented to the Northern District at Felstead, much interest was shown in the future of 'The Ringing World' and a long discussion followed. The service was conducted by the Rev. A. C. Telfer, Mr. H. Pratt (District Ringing Master) read the lesson, and Miss Snowden was the organist.

'What a silly place to put a ditch,' remarked one of the party touring East Anglia, when pulling up by the side of the road at Felsham on to the grass the nearside wheels dropped 2ft. into a grass-covered ditch, tilting the car to an angle of 60 degrees. A major band was required to lift the car on to the road so that the driver was able to reverse and park safely.

RINGERS' OUTINGS

ST. PETER'S, BRIGHTON

June 13th dawned fine and warm, a happy augury of equally fine bells and warm welcome at all six towers visited during the day. Our first halt was at Cross-in-Hand to pick up Mr. and Mrs. F. I. Hairs, especially welcome back to Sussex after so long a sojourn in 'foreign parts.'

At Horsmonden, Bob Lambert, justly proud of his ring of eight, opened up for us. It was here that the ladies proved that skill is at least equal to brawn, by rigging Grandsire Triples after several abortive attempts by the men, to bring round various methods. On to Lynton's eight, where Percy Town had everything ready. All Saints', Maidstone, was reached on time, Len Mannering with the keys a short head in front of Ruth How, arriving by train from Town so as to be with us for the remaining three towers. Full justice was not done to this fine Taylor-made 10, but all were grateful for the privilege of a pull.

The historic tower of St. Nicholas', Leeds, was reached, just as the Vicar arrived to welcome us. Ringing here under fluorescent lighting was a new experience. At Headcorn, where we were greeted by Jean Vidler, George Grant and others, we were privileged to be the first to ring from the new raised belfry floor. We then headed for Tenterden and tea, at which Violet Relf joined us. An impromptu piano entertainment by Mrs. Page was followed by a course of Stedman Triples on handbells. So to the belfry and the glorious eight with its splendid tenor of 30 cwt. Sadly, we did not do full justice, but again the ladies put us to shame. A. W. B.

TOTTERNHOE. BEDS.

The ninth annual outing of the St. Giles', Totternhoe, bell-ringers took place on May 30th, when an early start was necessary by the two coachloads of ringers and friends.

The first stop (at 8.45!), 61 miles later, was St. James', Chipping Campden, where rumours as to the bells having been rehung were dispelled by their sluggish behaviour on raising. None the less, a creditable course of Yorkshire was rung, followed by Grandsire and Stedman Triples.

At St. Leonard's, Bretforton, a good rise in peal on the musical light eight was followed immediately by a sparkling course of Bob Major, but an attempt at London refused to go and was abandoned. The 16th century public house near the church was a striking counter-attraction!

Lunch at Ludlow was followed by the long, laborious climb (perhaps too steep a lunch?) to the belfry of the magnificent Church of St. Lawrence. A glazed opening in the floor invited a quicker way down, nobly resisted by ringers perched high upon the tenor box. Here Cambridge, Double Norwich and Grandsire were rung at a stately pace.

Hopes of ringing on the ten bells of SS. Peter and Paul's, Leominster, were dashed by the lack of a rope on the second, which lack of time prevented replacing. The back eight sounded well, however, to Bristol, Grandsire and Bob Major.

A real bell-ringers' tea at Ledbury was a high spot of the day. And at the Church of St. Michael and All Angels, Ledbury, Little Bob, Stedman and that course of London were rung.

The journey home was enlivened by distribution of cigarettes, sweets and a pipe from the back seat. Thanks to Jack Scott for arranging a wonderful day.

ST. MARY'S WALTHAMSTOW

What could be more pleasant than travelling in a comfortable modern coach through the highways and byways of the counties of Berks, Bucks and Oxfordshire, on a glorious, sunny day in May? This was the good fortune of St. Mary's, Walthamstow, ringers and friends on May 30th.

The first stop was at Henley-on-Thames, where the non-ringers had a good view of the river activities whilst the ringers rang several touches on the splendid ring of bells before proceeding to Oxford, where ringing had been arranged at St. Giles'. Unfortunately, the traffic was so heavy in and around Oxford that the church was reached an hour later than the timetable, at which hour the party was due for lunch. Ringing therefore had to be abandoned, with much regret.

An excellent lunch was enjoyed, and although an hour's idleness would have been very welcome, the coach had to proceed to Faringdon for more ringing on grand bells. Several of the local ringers were met, and an interesting chat was had regarding a former Walthamstow ringer who had spent several years in the town.

The next belfry was Appleton, with its light ring of ten. It was an interesting experience to ring on these bells, which have been rung to record peals of Grandsire and Stedman Caters, and to read the peal boards containing the names of such well-known ringers. Other names coming to mind are the Rev. F. E. Robinson, with his many peals of Stedman Triples, and R. G. Rice, the latter at one time being attached to St. Mary's, Walthamstow. The afternoon's ringing was completed at St. Helen's (10), Abingdon. The well-known church was greatly admired, an interesting relic being an old bell, now resting in the nave, having the original half-wheel attached. These bells were kept going until it was time to return to Oxford for tea and more ringing at All Saints' and St. Ebbe's.

At High Wycombe (12) in the evening several well-struck touches were rung, principally upon the back ten. Local ringers made the visitors welcome.

Home was reached about 11.15, with both ringers and friends having had a very enjoyable day. Thanks are especially due to Mr. Chas. Coles, of Oxford, who was of great assistance to the organiser in arranging the details of the tour. H. R.

LEAMINGTON

A coachload of forty, composed of ringers, their wives and friends, from Leamington, Whitnash and neighbouring towers, had a most enjoyable outing on May 30th. Ringing of good quality was had on the lovely bells at Burford, Faringdon and St. Giles', Oxford, each with eight bells, and on the grand sixes at Cassington and Cropredy. These excursions do make one realise what a wealth of bells we have in this country of ours, and we are particularly grateful to the Vicar of St. Peter's, Cassington (Rev. P. Wilkins), who not only welcomed us himself at the church but also spent some time relating the history and pointing out particular items of interest.

Everywhere there was evidence of the care the ringers, and particularly the tower-keepers, bestow on their bells. Even at St. Giles', where we all needed a good brush down after our ringing efforts, we learned that the dust was due to the labours of the few who are renovating the ringing chamber. The walls, at present being scraped free of a hundred years of grime and whitewash, are to be panelled. When it is finished it will be a swell place. H. A.

WALKING AND RINGING

Oxford University had a walking outing in Gloucestershire and Worcestershire on May 23rd, during which four towers were visited.

The party travelled by train to Moreton-in-the-Marsh, where the light eight proved a joy to ring. Guided by the confident map-reading of 'Wealdman' Elliott, everyone enjoyed the walk through fields to Bourton-on-the-Hill where the bells fall 1-5-4-3-2-6.

After lunch at the Horse and Groom another field route was taken to Blockley, where the Cheltenham Branch were holding a meeting. The map-reading had declined in accuracy on the fieldpath route to Stow-on-the-Wold and led to many adventures, including the interruption of a tennis party and the spectacle of the Master cavorting in a bog. Satisfying touches of Stedman, Plain Bob and Bristol were rung at St. Edward's Church, but Double Norwich again proved elusive. The train was then taken back to Oxford.

A DAY IN HEREFORDSHIRE

Meeting at Dilwyn, near Leominster, ringers from Allesley, Stoke (Coventry), Langport (Somerset), Handsworth, Little Aston and Lichfield Cathedral spent May 30th on a day's tour of Herefordshire.

At Dilwyn the Vicar welcomed the party and said the bells were rarely rung. Other towers visited were Bredwardine, Tyberton, Peterchurch and Michaelchurch (a beautiful village nestling in the valley below the Black Mountains).

After a picnic lunch by the waterfall at Clodock, the village bells proved to be the best six of the day. St. Weonard's and Much Dewchurch followed before a cooked meal in Hereford by kind co-operation of the Hereford Branch of the Ladies' Guild who were holding a meeting that day. St. Nicholas' and All Saints' bells, Hereford, were rung while the ladies were having tea. Two pleasant sixes—at Suckley and Mathon Rural—finished the day's ringing programme. Thanks are accorded to Miss Jarrett, who was most helpful at Hereford. KLEEWAY.

LATE NOTICES

EMERGENCY ISSUE

Most of the big wholesalers' staffs in London, some with a national distribution, refused to handle the emergency issue of 'the Ringing World.' It was regarded as a 'black' publication, as it was produced by the editor and apprentices. We, and our publishers, Rolls House Publishing Company, regret this breakdown in our service to readers. We thank the many readers who have sent letters of appreciation of our efforts.

BRIEF ENCOUNTER

IT was odd; Holsworthy Square is generally full of familiar faces, but to-day it seemed full of faces which were familiar with a difference, not Holsworthy faces, but faces from the past. I'd just said, 'Good morning' to Mrs. Harris when I found one of them in front of me, and I said, 'Hello, I know you. Who are you?' 'Well, John,' came the reply, 'we was just wandering if you'd found your bottle of beer yet.'

Now this bottle of beer was one which I took to drink with my lunch on a Home Guard 'battle' on Peek Hill in 1943. Somewhere on the way up Peek Hill it disappeared . . . and the rest of the Buckland platoon had no idea how it could have fallen out of my haversack, but, of course, that's what must have happened. But ever since then, if I meet a Buckland man, he is almost certain to ask fondly after that bottle of beer. The fact that it vanished 16 years ago makes no odds. At Buckland they believe, very sensibly, that a good joke's a good joke always, and I have no doubt that if I don't see Roy again till I'm eighty and he's ninety-odd he will still ask whether I've found my bottle of beer.

'What are you doing here, then?' 'Ringers' outing.' 'What, Buckland?' I asked. 'Yes, they'm all in the cafe over across.' 'Well, what are we standing about for?' I said, and over across we went.

And there they all were—the Buckland ringers whose kind and patient teaching in call-change ringing had results which made my Oxford instructress' hair stand on end when I came back for my second term of ringing. Jim, the carpenter, whose shop I can remember since I could hardly see over the top of the bench, and Dick, who was once told by a Ministry of Agriculture inspector that his bull's head was too big, and replied, 'He's not the only one about here with the same complaint.' Will Northmore, of Torr, with his straight back and his smiling, shining face, and Jim Northam, who keeps Buckland churchyard the best in Devon, and Cecil and Horace; and Treble-man Bray, who made Buckland ringing what it is more than any other man, and taught me so much about striking.

Most of the clientele of the 'Manor' had come along as well for the ride, and quite a few from the 'Who'd Have Thought It.' Indeed, how many men were left in Buckland and Milton Combe that Saturday is quite a problem; not many, anyway.

Before long it was time to move to the tower; the bells are just Buckland's weight, except that the tenor's a little slower to get away, and apart from the tenor's getting under for a few pulls there was a nice rise in peal, Mr. Bray, as always, turning to the wall to listen to the bells without distraction. And then they asked me to take a rope, and we had a peal of changes with the bells running 'suantly' and the striking beautifully even but with that liveliness that is better than clockwork, and Mr. Bray listening, listening always to every blow, never letting a clip or a hesitation go unnoticed or, if not corrected next round, unmentioned. Mr. Bray is a perfectionist; with an ear trained by years of seeking for perfect striking he is unsparing in criticising his own work and the band's; he speaks his criticism without fear or favour, and those who ring with him accept it gladly because they know that he is as unfailingly critical of himself as he is of his fellows. If the most exalted 'top ringer' in the Exercise should have the honour of a ring with Mr. Bray, he'd get some good advice at the end of it, and he'd be wise to accept it.

While they had another peal of changes, I had to go shopping, with an ear cocked all the time for the changes tapping out over the rooftops of the Square, and then as the bells began to come down and I knew Mr. Bray was turning to the wall again in almost ecstatic concentration, I came back to the tower and listened to the lower. Like many Croydon bells, Holsworthy's give their best half-way down in a good lower, and the Buckland men made them sing.

The lower brought the non-ringers strolling in from the town, the ringers came out, hitching on their jackets, into the June sunshine, and the coach filled up with its load of good friends. And I set off home, thinking what a tolerant crowd they are, these Buckland ringers; there aren't many who would suffer as gladly as they did the airy superiority of a very novice 'scientific' ringer, and greet that same ringer ten years later as warmly as did they. Long live Buckland! Long live the memory of John's bottle of beer!

RINGERS' OUTINGS

NEWARK

The first stop on the Newark Parish Church Society's outing on June 20th was at Huntingdon, where St. Mary's Church bells were rung to Standard methods with rounds and call changes for the many learners. At Cambridge the beautiful bells of the R. C. Church of Our Lady and English Martyrs were soon rolling out to Stedman and Grandsire Triples. Another fine ring was at St. Andrew's, Old Chesterton, and the final visit was to St. Mary's Eaton Socon.

W. L. E.

ST. MARY'S PORTSEA

Because of the long draught the bells of St. Swithins, East Grinstead, proved difficult for some members of St. Mary's Portsea tower on their outing on June 13th. Methods rung were Grandsire, Stedman, Cambridge, Plain Bob, with some Rounds for the less experienced. Then on to St. Peter's, Tunbridge Wells for Rounds, Grandsire, Stedman, London and Supplative.

The journey continued with stops at All Saints, Maidstone, and S.S. Peter and Paul, Headcorn.

L. D. D.

TAMWORTH

A Cotswold tour formed the outing of the bellringers of St. Edith's Church, Tamworth. The journey took in Bourton-on-the-Water, where the party lunched and enjoyed some good ringing; Northleach; Cirencester, where younger members took part in Stedman, Grandsire and Bob Royal; and Tewkesbury Abbey, where a pleasant hour was spent on the 12 bells.

HURST, BERKS

When the ringers of St. Nicholas Church, Hurst, set out on their outing on June 13th they made firstly for Baldock, Herts; on to St. Neots for lunch, but unfortunately no ringing at the parish church. However, a walk brought the party to St. Mary's Eynsbury to enjoy some Doubles and Minor on the anti-clockwise six. At St. Mary's Huntingdon, the bells were not found in the best of condition.

The next stop was at Wellingborough, where, after tea, ringing took place on the grand eight of All Hallows' Church. The final tower visited was that of Woburn, Beds., where the Rev. C. E. Wigg, Master of the Oxford Guild, was amongst those to join the party in Stedman Triples. B.C.C.

MAIDSTONE GRAMMAR SCHOOLS

Twenty-six members and friends of the Maidstone Grammar Schools' Society had a coach tour in East Kent on June 13th. Towers visited were Smarden, Brookland (where calls were made by signalling with a handkerchief), Lydinge, Chilham and Little Chart.

BARNSELY SOCIETY

Two coaches took Barnsley District members to Loughborough Bell Foundry for the annual outing on July 4th. Mr. J. Fidler and Mr. Marcon conducted the party round the foundry and to the bell chamber.

After lunch at Loughborough, Copt Oak, Grantham and Tuxford were visited. Thanks are due to Mr. Noel F. Moxon who organised the outing.

ASHSTEAD, SURREY

Ashstead ringers and a few more experienced ringers from neighbouring towers spent a successful day in Berkshire and Oxfordshire on June 6th.

Ringling on the anti-clockwise eight at Benson-on-Thames played havoc with at least one ringer's idea of Stedman Triples. The bells at East Hagbourne were also enjoyed before lunch at Harwell. After ringling there the party proceeded to Blewbury, another fine eight, and Goring-on-Thames a light eight.

The last stop, and probably the best ringling, was at Sonning-on-Thames.

GUILDFORD

Towers in East Surrey, East and West Sussex were chosen for the outing of Holy Trinity (Guildford) Society on June 27th. A party of 28 ringers, wives and children set out for Godstone; Maresfield, where a ground floor ring was sampled; Southover, for a pleasant ring of ten bells including some excellent courses of Stedman Caters; Ditchling, where there are two or three inside bells lighter than the treble, the sixth being lightest of all; Henfield for tea and Mr. Frank Cruttenden's hand bells; Arundel; Petworth; and so home.

After the first tower, the coach driver accompanied the party at each stop.—A recruit?

NORTH WEALD, ESSEX

Four car loads from North Weald, Essex, had an enjoyable outing on June 27th. First stop was the heavy-going six at Watton-at-Stone followed by the very light ring at Tewen. After tea at Hertingfordbury the five at St. Mary's Church were sampled. Here the noise was terrific. Essendon were voted the best bells of the day. Ringling finished at Widford.

BELFRY GOSSIP

The collection at the communion service at the central council meeting amounted to £7 18s. This sum the vicar of Christ Church, Southport, has given to the Rev. R. D. St. John Smith, president of the Lancashire Association, for some bell or tower restoration in Lancashire. The president has given this to the Tower Restoration Fund of the Church of All Souls', Bolton and has received a grateful letter and receipt from the Church Treasurer.

Mr. E. F. Gibbard of Winslow, has retired after 29 years as honorary secretary and treasurer of the Central Bucks Branch of the Oxford Diocesan Guild. Ringing members have increased from 35 to 150 during that period. In appreciation of his services, he was elected first vice-president of the branch. Mr. D. G. Wheeler is the new honorary secretary and treasurer.

Almost equal numbers of Hertfordshire and Bedfordshire ringers attended a northern district meeting of the Herts County Association at Pilton on July 4th. Gravenhurst and Meppershall towers were visited in the evening.

Work is in hand to provide two new trebles for St. Mary's, Hendon, to complete the octave. The band, under the leadership of Miss Ruth Foreman, have in the past two years collected something like £450 for the work.

Mr. E. T. Chapman has resigned his appointment as Eastern Branch Ringing Master of the Norwich Diocesan Association on leaving the district. Miss Doris Lidbetter is the new master.

Thirty ringers attended the Chertsey District meeting at Thames Ditton on June 27th, when three new members for the Guildford Diocesan Guild were elected.

Todmorden ringers who recently visited Mossley, Roughtown, published as an unringable six, found that the only trouble was that the tenor ran dry every 200 changes. On being stood for five minutes another 200 changes were possible. The steel six at Stainland, also visited, were in a poor condition, but rounds were rung. A new wooden staircase impeded the ringing of the treble and fifth. The tenor wheel was very insecure. One bell was completely corroded through at one point, but the fittings on the headstock and bearings appeared to be in good order.

The original ring of five at St. Peter's Church, Alton, Staffs, have been recast and augmented to eight by Messrs. John Taylor and Co. at a cost of £4,000. Of this sum, Alton ringers have raised £2,700. An open day will be held here on August 22nd.

A visitor from Groton, U.S.A. attended the Oxford Guild Festival on July 4th. On the top table were a couple of "youngsters"—Mr. W. H. B. Wilkins (88) and Mr. T. Trollope (98) both vice-presidents of the Guild. It was an excellent day.

Mr. Roger Savory of 32 Thornbury Avenue, Southampton, is the new General Secretary of the Winchester and Portsmouth Diocesan Guild. Central Council representatives are Miss M. Beamish, the Rev. K.W.H. Felstead, Messrs F. W. Rogers and R. A. Reed.

The annual dinner of the Society of Royal Cumberland Youths has been fixed for Feb. 6th, 1960.

Mr. Caleb Fenn inquires which bells were first used to broadcast a service and what was the time allowed for the ringing.

DEATH OF MR. ALFRED H. PULLING

With deep regret we record the passing on July 6th. of Mr. Alfred Henry Pulling, of 144, Woodside Road, Guildford, aged 78 years. Mr. Pulling was taken ill the previous Friday and was attended to by Mrs. Pulling until his peaceful passing. They were married on Sept. 26th. 1904, at Warboys, Huntingdonshire, and had a happy married life of nearly 55 years. Mr. Pulling conducted his last touch, of Stedman Triples at Holy Trinity Cathedral Church on Sunday, June 28th, a tower he had served with great faithfulness for 67 years.

Alfred Pulling will go down in history as one of the great ringers of this age. Not only did he amass a large total of 1492 peals, but by his ability as a leader and conductor will be remembered by ringers in all parts of the country. He had rung handbells in the Market Square at Dunkirk, at Menin Gate, and was one of the pair of handbell ringers at the Tomb of the Unknown Warrior at Westminster Abbey in the early 1920's.

FIRM DISCIPLINARIAN

Born at Petworth, Sussex, Mr. Pulling came to Guildford when he was very young and treasured in his home was a gold medal awarded to him for having attended Holy Trinity School for ten consecutive years during which time he was neither absent nor late. This character-forming habit influenced him in after life, for Alfred throughout life was a firm disciplinarian, both personally and among those he had in charge. This was, in particular, exemplified at the Royal Grammar School, Guildford, where he was caretaker for 41 years, in the belfry of Holy Trinity Church and when he was conducting a peal. When ringing either in practice or in a peal only one voice was allowed in the belfry—that of the conductor. But afterwards there was extreme friendliness and sharp words were forgotten. Memories of the writer go back to the hour spent between Sunday service ringing at the Grammar School, either on the lawn or in the common room.

When Alfred Pulling started to ring at 13, Holy Trinity was a stoney tower. Change ringing was not introduced until 1899 with Mr. Ben. Chorley, as the conductor of the band. Ringing with Mr. Pulling as a boy was Mr. A. Henry Hutton and these two have had a life-long connection with the church and in peal ringing activities. Mr. Hutton rang in the peals for his wedding and for his silver wedding and also in a quarter for his golden wedding. Infirmary to his arms prevents him now from ringing.

SOME OF HIS PEALS

Perhaps of his peals the most conspicuous was 19,738 Stedman Caters in hand rung on August 31st., 1912, at Guildford, in 9 hours 32 minutes which he conducted and was his 300th. peal. This record length was the culmination of a series of long peals in hand of Stedman Caters of 7028, 7777 and 14031. Later in 1948 he rang 9999 changes in the same method.

Of his long lengths on tower bells there were 10,025 Stedman Caters at Haslemere in 6 hours 32 minutes on February 28th., 1931; 10,432 Treble Bob Major at Warnham, on April 29th., 1933; 7392 Double Norwich Court Bob Major at Chiddingfold on February 2nd., 1907 and 9600 Double Dublin at Guildford on April 6th., 1931. Perhaps the peal he treasured most was that of Cambridge Surprise Major at St. Olave's Hart Street on February 15th., 1936, in which each member of the band had rung 1000 peals. In that band were James George 1, George R. Pye 2, W. H. Fussell 3, John H. Cheesman 4, Frank Bennett 5, James E. Davis 6, George Williams (conductor) 7, A. H. Pulling 8. His first peal was rung on October 14th., 1899, at Hawley, Hants; his first as conductor on Oct. 1st., 1902 at Guildford; his 1000th. at Warnham on June 7th., 1930; and his last Lyme Surprise, at Guildford, on November 22nd., 1954.

Mr. Pulling's first Guild was the Winchester, when Surrey was one of the Districts, and he represented this Guild, on the Central Council from 1914—27. With the formation of the Guildford Diocesan Guild, of which he was a vice-president, he was elected to the Central Council in 1928 and was one of their representatives until 1956. He was then elected an honorary member of the Council. Mr. Pulling took his work for the Council very seriously and was a member of the Standing Committee. His last public speech was at the Southport Council meeting when he pointed out that "The Ringing World" could only be produced as a hobby.

Mr. Pulling was a member of many ringing associations and was a staunch member of the Society of Royal Cumberland Youths.

THE FUNERAL

The funeral service at Holy Trinity Cathedral Church on July 10th. was conducted by the Precentor (the Rev. Paul Fauch). Touches of Stedman Triples were rung with the bells half-muffled previous to the service and afterwards the whole pull and stand for 78 times. Cremation was at Woking and after the service a plain course of Grandsire Triples was rung by Mrs. F. I. Hairs 1—2, Mrs. P. J. Staniforth 3—4, Mr. Walter Ayre 5—6, Mr. F. I. Hairs 7—8.

There was a large attendance of ringers at the service. These included Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Barnett (representing the Central Council), Mr. and Mrs. F. I. Hairs, Mr. W. Ayre, Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Hawthorne and A. W. J. Butler (representing the Society of Royal Cumberland Youths), Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Kippin and Mr. R. L. Kippin (Southampton), Mr. and Mrs. A. Harman, Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Hutton, Mr. and Mrs. F. Bowden (Haslemere).

Messrs C. Denyer (Master Guildford Diocesan Guild), S. E. Russell (Secretary Guildford Diocesan Guild), F. E. Collins (Master, Surrey Association) E. Bragg, (Master Farnham District Ringers), G. Pullinger (Winchester and Portsmouth Guild of Ringers), H. N. Pitstow, G. Gilbert (Burnham), L. Stilwell (Worthing), J. Brackley (Old Woking), S. Petter (Worplesdon), F. Cherryman (Pirbright), R. Overy (Haywards Heath), H. V. Young, A. H. Winch, G. Marriner (Leatherhead), F. Oakshott (Epsom), E. G. L. Coward (Dorking), J. Cooper (Ashford, Kent), J. Calder, G. L. Grover, F. Ledger.

Mesdames Russell, Newbrook, Rosevear, Hazelden, (representing Mr. A. C. Hazelden), Hurst, Robinson, Staniforth (Leicester), and Collins (representing S. Nicolas, Guildford Ringers).

The Misses Avenell (Worplesdon), B. Jupp. The Holy Trinity Society, Guildford was represented by Messrs. C. A. Hopper, T. Mark White, T. W. White, E. R. Warner and Supt. R. J. C. Hagley.

There were also present representatives of the Grammar School and Old Boys.

Wreaths were sent from the Central Council of Church Bell-ringers, the Guildford Diocesan Guild, the Winchester and Portsmouth Diocesan Guild, the Society of Royal Cumberland Youths, Holy Trinity Cathedral, Guildford Society of Change Ringers and the Old Guildfordians Association. There were also a number of personal tributes.

BARNSELY DISTRICT SOCIETY

Seven towers were represented when the Society held its first meeting at Bradfield, Nr. Sheffield on July 11th. Anthony Stables (Cawthorne), Dianna Staniffe and Catherine Robinson (Tankersley) were elected as members.

The next meeting will be held at Ackworth, Nr. Pontefract. Early reminiscences of Bradfield were given by Mr. John Bearley. Canon A. King, who presided, was elected a life member of the Society.

OBITUARY

MR. D. GARDINER

We regret to announce the death on June 15th of Mr. Douglas Gardiner, aged 41. 'Doug' as he was known to all, was once a very popular figure in the Margotsfield Branch. He started ringing in 1934 and was elected Secretary of the Bristol Rural Branch in 1945, a position he held for two years. He gave up ringing in 1950. The funeral service was at Margotsfield Church, conducted by the vicar, the Rev. W.F. Beard, and followed by cremation. A Quarter Peal of Grandsire Triples was rung half muffled, conducted by F. Skidmore, Master of Gloucester and Bristol Diocesan Association.

MR. V. JONES

The death occurred suddenly on June 13th, at the age of 84, Mr. V. Jones, of Coleshill, Berkshire. He was a keen ringer until the 1939—45 war, often ringing at Faringdon. Mr. F.H. Whipp represented the Oxford Diocesan Guild at the funeral.

On July 3rd the bells of Coleshill were rung in his memory. That day the Church was reopened after being closed for five years for major repairs.

MR. J. LEATHERBARROW

The death of Mr. Joseph Leatherbarrow, a past vice-president of the Lancashire Association occurred on June 9th at his home in the village where he was born.

Aged 71, he had been captain and tower keeper at Newchurch Parish Church for 48 years and was instrumental in the introduction of change ringing at Newchurch when a new band was formed after the building of a new church on the site of one burnt down in 1904. Previously only call changes had been rung.

Mr. Leatherbarrow was appointed captain, and, after three-months' hard work with lashed bells, he had them ringing 720 on open bells. The band, which included his father, brother and son, became well known in the district for their method ringing and perfect striking.

He took a great pride in the tower and it was a well known fact that any visiting band would never find a broken rope, and would always find the tufts at the correct height. He rang over 100 peals, many of which he conducted, and took part in the record peal of Oxford T. B. at Heptonstall. Ill-health brought about his retirement from ringing four years ago.

A memorial peal was rung in tribute. S.L.

MR. JOHN LEWIN

A former captain of Cranford, Northants, ringers, Mr. John Lewin (Jack) died on June 20th after a painful illness. He was aged 78. Except for a break during the 1914-18 war, he served with the choir as well as being a regular service ringer on Sundays for many years. He was a member of the Parochial Church Council, and a free life member of Peterborough Diocesan Guild of Ringers.

As a tribute to his memory, on the evening of June 25th, 720 Plain Bob half muffled was rung by the Sunday Service band. C.H.N.

SOCIETY OF ROYAL CUMBERLAND YOUTHS

At their quarterly meeting at Chipping Barnet the Society of Royal Cumberland Youths elected the following new members:- Miss Elizabeth Yardley, Birmingham; Miss Ivy Roe, Farnsfield, Notts; Messrs. C. A. Pound, Liss; C. M. Smith and A. J. Strathee, Sutton Coldfield; J. H. Allen, Wolverhampton; C. R. S. Coussmaker, Milford-on-Sea; B. J. Willis, Finchley. The next quarterly meeting will be held on Sept. 12th.

GREAT YARMOUTH BELLS BLESSED

The largest congregation seen in Great Yarmouth for some time, estimated at 3000, assembled on June 21st when the Dean of Norwich blessed and named the new ring of 13, prior to them being taken up into the tower. This was also the civic thanksgiving for the granting of Yarmouth's first charter, 750 years ago.

Handbells were rung to Grandsire Caters as the B.B.C. commentator described the scene. The procession of Magistrates, Mayor, Corporation and Clergy, with colours carried by various units and the Mother's Union, entered the Church, and the opening hymn was sung unaccompanied.

After prayers and lesson, the Dean approached the bells, which had been hung on a low scaffolding beneath the tower, and named them. The treble is named Herbert after the first Bishop of Norwich who first built Yarmouth Church; the 2nd is Walter, after a Bishop who enlarged it; the 3rd, Felix, after the first Christian missionary to East Anglia; the flat 6th, Gabriel, after him who announced the Saviour's coming. The others are named after the nine churches in Yarmouth parish—Luke, John, James, Peter, Paul, George, Andrew, Thomas and Nicholas.

The bells were sounded during the service by a specially trained group of musicians, and the remaining hymns were accompanied by them. As the processions left the Church the 'orchestra' played the Bach quarter chimes.

WINCHESTER AND PORTSMOUTH DIOCESAN GUILD

Members from all parts of the Guild's area were welcomed by the master (Mr. F.W. Rogers) who presided at the annual meeting held in Cathedral House, Portsmouth on July 4th. Silent tributes were paid to three members who had died—Miss Sparshott, Christchurch; Mr. H. Newham, New Alresford; Mr. S. J. Sanders, Twyford.

The reports and accounts had been previously circulated but verbal reports were given by the Rev. K. W. H. Felstead (library) and Mr. C.H. Kippen (Central Council). The new rules to come into force next January were adopted, an amendment to increase members' subscriptions to 5/- being defeated.

Officers elected were: Master, Mr. F. W. Rogers, general secretary Mr. R. Savory, 32 Thornbury Avenue, Southampton; treasurer, Miss M. Beamish; Central Council Representatives, Miss Beamish, Rev. K. W. H. Felstead; Messrs F. W. Rogers and R. A. Reed.

Whitchurch was selected for the next annual meeting to be held on the first Saturday in July.

A short service in the Cathedral, conducted by the Rev. E. Lowman followed. Afterwards at the buffet tea in the Cathedral House, the Master presented Mr. George Pullinger with a portable radio set and a cheque in appreciation of his services to the Guild which he joined in 1908. He is shortly leaving. Offices Mr. Pullinger has held have been peal recorder, assistant general secretary, general secretary (six years), master (six years), vice-president (since 1955), Central Council representative (since 1932), Southampton District Secretary (16 years). Taken by surprise Mr. Pullinger thanked the members for their gift and mentioned his early ringing days with Mr. George Williams who 'either pushed you on or pushed you out'.

ST. DAVID'S DIOCESAN GUILD ANNUAL FESTIVAL

The 13th Annual Festival of the St. David's Diocesan Guild was held at St. David's, on Saturday June 13th. The Bishop (the Rt. Rev. R. Richards) and the Dean called in at the Bell Tower and spent half an hour with the ringers before attending the service at the Cathedral. The Dean (the Very Rev. T. J. Jenkins) officiated and the address was given by the Bishop. After the service the members were entertained to tea, given by the ringers' wives and ladies of the Cathedral. This was very much enjoyed by 84 people, and a hearty vote of thanks was extended to them by the Master, Mr. Gwyn Thomas of Tenby.

The usual business meeting followed, at which the Bishop, who is president of the Guild, presided.

The meeting was opened by the Master, and a token of respect was paid to two honorary members who had died since the last meeting, Mr. David Francis of Llanelly and Mr. Williams of Llanstephan.

The following officers were elected:

Master of the Guild, Mr. Gwyn Thomas, Tenby; secretary, Mr. C.H. Hawkins, Llanelly; treasurer, Mr. W. P. E. Sage, Burry Port; ringing master, Mr. R. Scudamore, Llandilo; auditor, Mr. B. H. Rees, Burry Port; Central Council Representative, Mr. C. H. Hawkins, Llanelly.

Mr. Chris Hawkins, C.C. Representative for St. David's Guild, made a strong appeal to members to buy 'The Ringing World', to increase its circulation, which would help to keep it at its present price.

Sunday Service ringing in the Diocese was fairly good, but there was still that old stigma of ringers ringing for service and not staying to service, it was said.

The Secretary stated that he was not happy about the future of the bells in the Diocese, unless some servicing or re-hanging was done soon. After a very long discussion, the Bishop advised efforts to get the matter discussed with the Standing Committee of the Diocese, but reminded the meeting that the incumbent of the parish concerned was the right person to approach on the matter.

The treasurer presented a cheque for £10 to the Dean towards the Sound Proving Project which will be carried out in the future, and a Grant of £5 was agreed upon towards the Bishop Havard Memorial Fund.

When told that the Dr. Prosser Shield, which is used for competition in the Guild needed a new set of lapels, the Bishop readily defrayed the cost. For this kind gesture he was thanked by the Master of the Guild. The Bishop also invited the Guild to the Palace for their annual meeting in 1960, which was readily accepted.

A very hearty vote of thanks was extended to the Bishop and to the Dean of St. David's for having the Guild at St. David's.

BEVERLEY AND DISTRICT SOCIETY

Two new members were elected at the Beverley and District Society meeting at Rise on June 13th, which was attended by 25 members. Wives of local ringers served an excellent tea. A wide variety of Doubles methods was rung.

HERTFORD COUNTY ASSOCIATION

Many ringers and friends attended the St. Albans District meeting at Wheathampstead. The meeting wished Mr. George W. Debenham a speedy recovery from his accident and hoped he would be back ringing again. The Rector was thanked for taking the service and the ladies for a splendid tea.

MORE BELFRY GOSSIP

Peal withdrawn.—Mr. Alan R. Pink withdraws the peal of Spliced Cambridge and Superalive rung at Olney on Jan 26th., 1952.

The peal of Cambridge Surprise Royal at Wakefield Cathedral on June 20th. is the first in the tower since the first ever in 1822.

The parents of Miss Hilda Snowden celebrated their diamond wedding on June 27th. Hilda conducted a peal of Yorkshire in honour of the event on Halstead bells on June 27th.

The composer of the peal of Bristol Surprise Major rung at Longley was Arthur Knights and not W. E. Critchley. see page 417.

The first peal of Double Norwich Court Bob Caters for the Norwich Diocesan Association was rung at St. Peter Mancroft, Norwich on June 23rd.

Mr. William Beard has completed 50 years as a ringer at Ruardean, Gloucester. A peal of Grandsire Triples was rung in honour of the occasion on June 20th.

The 80th. birthday of Mr. W. J. Prescott, tower master of Bath Abbey was honoured by a quarter of Gandsire Caters on the Abbey bells on June 21st.

Mr. P. Minchin was elected "Ringing World" representative for the Swindon branch at a meeting at Bishopstoke on June 13th. Miss L. J. Hawes of Stamford Hill was elected a life member of the Gloucester and Bristol Association.

The University of Bristol Society rang a peal of Grandsire Cinques at St. Laurence Church, Reading on June 27th. A peal of Stedman Cinques, conducted by Frank B. Lufkin was rung at High Wycombe on July 4th.

An Ashstead all ladies band, five of whom are still at school, rang a course of Grandsire Triples on June 18th.—and this in a tower where the probability of work on bells and frame has restricted ringing to Thursday practice and Sunday Service.

The Northern District of the Surrey Association held their striking competition in summer instead of autumn this year. For the second successive year St. John's Croydon had least faults for their touch of 252 Grandsire Triples and second were St. Mary's, Beddington, who rang Stedman Triples. Mr. C. H. Kippin was the judge, with Mrs. Parrott acting as marker.

Cambridge University Guild had an outing on June 9th. in the Bedford area: six cars and two motor-cycles conveyed the party. A gremlin was busy attacking the secretary's motor-cycle, the president's car and also the aged Austin seven. Ringing took place at Goldington, Willington, Felmersham and Kempston. Jim Taylor is to be congratulated on his faultless organisation.

BEDFORDSHIRE RINGERS' WHIT MONDAY

Parts of Leicestershire and Staffordshire were visited on Whit Monday by a party of Bedfordshire ringers, the outing being arranged by Keith Flemming.

After ringing at Lutterworth and Burbage, lunch was taken in Tamworth, followed by ringing at St. Editha's. When Rugely was reached, 30 minutes late, due to Whit Monday celebrations at Lichfield, the Vicar's wife said she knew nothing about the belfry key, so this tower was missed. The good eight at St. Modwen's, Burton-on-Trent, was a compensation. Wigston Magna and Bosworth tower were visited after tea. Ringing during the day was of a good standard and a variety of methods was rung.

WINTERBOURNE, GLOS.—On June 8th, 1,260 Grandsire Doubles: E. Anstey 1, J. Ferris 2, D. Elliott 3, T. J. Jefferies 4, H. T. Ferris (cond.) 5, F. Lewis 6. Rung half-muffled in memoriam Susan Walters, baby daughter of Mr. T. T. Walters (tower captain) and Mrs. Walters.

BURGHILL, HEREFORDSHIRE

An enjoyable day in the Cotswolds was spent by Burghill ringers and a few friends on June 27th. Ringing took place on the recently rehung bells at Quedgeley, Wolton-under-Edge, Dursley, Tetbury, where the bells have frequently been broadcast, Stroud and St. Mary de Crypt, Gloucester. Special thanks are due to Mr. Leslie Barry for arranging the tour.

SCHIZOPHRENIA

(Dementia Campanalogia)

WHILST going through my list of ailments in the Medical Dictionary section of Pear's Cyclopædia the other day I came across schizophrenia. It gave the following:—

'Typically the schizophrenic has been a sensitive retiring child and may have been above average intelligence, but in the early twenties peculiar behaviour starts to develop. There may be hallucinations (i.e., hearing imaginary voices) or delusions (e.g., that he or she is being persecuted) and the patient tends to become more solitary, sitting alone and smiling to himself. On other occasions there may be violent outbursts.'

On studying this list of symptoms it appeared obvious to me that a large number of ringers that I knew were suffering from this disorder, which, as it does not appear to have been classified before, I have called dementia campanalogia.

To elaborate on the symptoms, how many ringers were shy and retiring when children? I was, and so were most of the ringers I have seen grow up. Obviously we were all above average intelligence, otherwise we should never have become ringers!

Dementia campanalogia is different from normal schizophrenia in that the peculiar behaviour in the former develops at an earlier age, about 16–19, notably when the subject takes up tower snatching, peal grabbing, handbell ringing and, of course, courting. When one of your ringers approaches you in a hesitant and shy manner on a Sunday morning after ringing, and bashfully asks if he need attend evening ringing (when normally he is there half an hour before everyone else, pulls all the bells up, gets out all the ringing mats and is sitting waiting for you to arrive), then that, obviously, is peculiar behaviour.

We are all familiar with the ringers who have hallucinations. The hearing of voices is quite common—many of us ring with our head on one side in a listening attitude—others of us nod our heads in reply. Some of us even talk to these voices—how many ringers do you know who carry on a silent conversation whilst ringing?

The feeling of persecution is common to all except conductors, who are, in the main, the persecutors. Even though you might be an adept belfryman, there are times when you feel hounded by an irascible conductor.

Persecution is not confined to conductors, though. Many a ringer has written a simple and maybe appealing letter to 'The Ringing World' for assistance in a technical matter—perhaps he wants to know if the extent of Grand-sire Doubles that he has composed is one that everybody else has missed—only to be verbally torn to shreds by sarcastic composers, indignant 'Churchyard Bob' advocates and Plain Bob enthusiasts.

There is no doubt, though, that the most persecuted ringer is he that innocently adds the footnote to a peal, 'My 3,000th tower, 222nd peal in 189 towers for 15 Associations in 19 counties with 891 ringers.' He, poor fellow, is pilloried from Pentland Firth to Penzance, and probably has to do most of his ringing abroad afterwards.

The next symptom in dementia campanalogia takes several forms. First, there is the ringer who slinks off on his own to have a 'quick one' on the outing. When you catch up with him later he is sitting alone in a strange pub, smiling to himself.

Secondly, there is the ringer already mentioned who arrives early at the tower, pulls up all the bells—except one—and then sits down smiling to himself till the rest of the band arrive. He tells you, of course, that all the bells are up, but takes care not to ring in the first touch.

Thirdly, we have the case where the ringer sits in the tower when a touch is in progress, smiling to himself with eyes half closed, and follows two of the bells with non-existent handbells. This is also known as dementia tintinnabula.

Fourthly, we have the old roué, who sits on his own smiling to himself, no doubt recalling outings of twenty years ago.

Our last symptom deals with violent outbursts. These are not so common now as they were at the turn of the century, when the ringing journals of that period carried records of violent effusions of a bitter nature. Happily nowadays this is decreasing, and one only occasionally meets with a violent outburst after a peal or touch has broken down. (This ties up with the persecution complex, and leads to the patient sitting alone.)

Before you all go off to see your psychiatrist, psychologist or whoever deals with these disorders, you must read the next article, which will be entitled, 'Is my subconscious a better ringer than I am?' WILLIAM BUTLER.

BELFRY GOSSIP

Conducted by Brian J. Woodruffe, a peal of Spliced Treble Bob Minor in 35 methods was rung at Disley, Cheshire, on July 15th.

The Rambling Ringers three-weeks' tour started on July 25th. The route covers several counties in the Cotswolds area with Bristol and Oxford forming the approximate boundaries.

King's High School, Warwick, have their own band of ringers, about 11 in number, who ring for the school's services at St. Mary's and St. Nicholas, Warwick. For the school's 80th birthday past and present girls of the school rang a quarter peal of Grandsire Doubles at Sherborne on July 22nd.

The Eastern District of the Yorkshire Association, held at Beverley, on July 18th, sent their congratulations to Mr. T. H. Huddleston, of Sheffield on his recent award of the George Cross in recognition of his bravery in arresting a dangerous criminal.

Mr. Russell S. Young, M.A., from Groton School, Mass., U.S.A., is in this country visiting various towers in order to gain knowledge regarding traditions and methods of English change ringing. The Ringing Exercise generally extend a hearty welcome to Mr. Young, he has already been well received in London by the College Youths and other Guilds. He was also chosen to reply to the Toast of Visitors at the 'Ringing Festival of the Oxford Guild, in the Great Hall at Christ Church. Mr. Young will be pleased to hear from any English ringers and he can be contacted at the address of William H. Coles, 92, Harlington Road, Hillingdon, Middlesex.

The first peal of Swindon Surprise Royal was rung at Christ Church, Swindon, on July 18th, conducted by Mr. John R. Mayne.

Mr. G. Nelson Sloan of Christchurch, New Zealand, rang his first peal of Major at Church, Lancashire, on July 21st. It was Mr. Arthur Tomlinson's 700th peal.

The main objective of Sheffield Cathedral Company's outing on July 27th, was Lincoln Cathedral where during 75 minutes on the Cathedral bells touches of Kent, T. B. Maximus, Grandsire Cinques, Stedman Caters and Double Norwich on the back eight were rung.

The occasion of the first peal of Cinques by the University of Bristol Society at Reading was somewhat of a reunion since the band was representative of the last 10 years of the Society's life. Tudor Edwards conducted his first peal of Cinques and for Jack Worrall it was his first peal since 1955 and the first time he'd touched a bell-rope since last August! The composition was a new one by Albert Tyler, an honorary member, making a truly all-Society effort.

There have been some interesting peals during July at the Cathedral Church of St. Philip, Birmingham. Peals have been July 11th Cambridge Surprise Maximus (conductor Robin G. Leale); July 18th Yorkshire Surprise Royal (conductor Peter Border); July 23rd Yorkshire Surprise Royal (conductor Peter Border); July 25th Stedman Cinques (conductor Albert Walker). This was Mr. Walker's first peal since February 1958, and his friends will note with pleasure that he is back in peal ringing form.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

SIX SECONDS BROADCAST

The following letter of protest has been sent to the Programme Director, B.B.C. from Mr. Fred Price, of Bournemouth, concerning the broadcast of St. Peter's, Bournemouth, on July 19th:—

Sir,

The broadcast of the bells of St. Peter's, Bournemouth, this evening, will have given offence to all lovers of these beautiful bells.

Six seconds only were the bells allowed to send their message and their music, before being 'faded out' to allow music from an instrument which was to be heard for much of the service.

It was insulting to the ringers, who must have practised for that occasion, and on their behalf, and that of all bell lovers I strongly protest.

NO CLAIM

Dear Sir,—In reply to Mr. P. C. Ridgway's letter re the Birmingham University Society's handbell peal, I would like to remind him that the footnote to the peal read "first on handbells for the Society". There was no claim whatsoever that this peal was the first rung by members of Birmingham University or the first rung in the Guild of Undergraduates Union, therefore the footnote was completely correct.

We were well aware at the time of the previous handbell peal, which was rung for the Universities Association, and which is also included in our records, simply because it was rung by members of Birmingham University in the Union.

As a conclusion, I should like to add that at present the Society is progressing slowly and now has upwards of 20 resident members.

—Yours faithfully,

BRIAN J. WOODRUFFE.
Secretary

Kings Norton, Birmingham.

NOT UNIQUE

Dear Sir,—In reply to Mr. W. E. Box, St. Chad's Cathedral is not unique. One ascends the South West tower and crosses over to ring in the North West tower at the Priory Church of S.S. Mary and Cuthbert, Worksop, Notts.

—Yours sincerely,

W. L. EXTON.

Newark, Notts.

LLANDAFF CATHEDRAL ALSO

Dear Sir,—In reply to Mr. W.E. Box's query—St. Chad's Cathedral, Birmingham is not unique in that one has to ascend the south west tower to get to the north west tower.

There is the same arrangement at Llandaff Cathedral—one enters a spiral staircase in the south west tower—proceeds along a narrow balcony over the west door to the north west tower to the ringing chamber.—Yours sincerely,

F. J. HANNINGTON.

Cardiff.

SILENT PEAL AT DORE

Dear Sir,—We were unable to obtain an umpire for the silent peal of Spiced Surprised at Dore on June 6th. I rang the treble and was appointed as a kind of umpire. I was in a position to check that no word or sign was made in what was a good peal.—Yours faithfully,

HOWARD SCOTT

Doncaster.

MEMORIES WANTED

Dear Sir,—Is it possible to read of Ringing events in and around the City of London at about the turn of the century and up to the last war? I am sure such stalwarts as Thomas Taffender, Rueben Saunders, Joseph Hawkins, and Alfred Statham could write some very interesting articles, such as ringing at St. Magnus Tower Thames St. and what the 10 bells there were like.

Come now, you old worthies, pass on some of this sort of information and thrill us young ones with your reminiscences.

I can assure you they will be well received.

—Yours truly,

JOE THORNLEY

Bolton, Lancs.

OBITUARY

MR. R. T. SIMPSON

It is with deep regret that we record the death of Mr. Robert T. Simpson of Holy Trinity, Darlington, which took place on July 7th, after a short illness.

Bert, as he was popularly known, learned his ringing in the adjoining village of Heighington, and spent all his working life in the service of British Railways at their locomotive works, Darlington and wagon works, Shildon.

He joined Holy Trinity, Darlington in 1931, and quickly progressed to Surprise Minor, being a steady and accomplished ringer. He rang in all 47 peals.

Of a quiet and unassuming disposition, he had a keen sense of humour and wide interests. His passing in middle life came as a shock to his many ringing friends.

The funeral service on July 9th, was conducted by the Vicar, the Rev. D. N. Goldie, who made reference to his service to the belfry and Church.

THE GUILD OF MEDICAL RINGERS

A week-end meeting of the Guild took place on July 4th-5th, in the vicinity of Wareham, Dorset. As last year, the arrangements had been made by Dr. C. T. Brown, and were even better than before, in that the weather was really summery—if not indeed tropical. On Saturday the party visited Lytchett Minster (6), Wareham (8), Milton Abbey (8) and Puddletown (6). Of these there was no doubt that the Wareham octave, recently rehung by Messrs. Taylor, was the 'highlight.' At Puddletown, on the other hand, much hard and hot work had to be done to achieve a not always euphonious result. Saturday concluded with a most enjoyable dinner party at Wareham, followed by some touches in hand at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Brown, for whose hospitality then, and earlier at lunch, the Guild was most grateful.

Before going our various ways home on Sunday it had been hoped to achieve a 'quarter' at Wareham, but unfortunately, the time between services did not quite allow of this; Dr. Neal Smith had to call round the bells in Bob Major after some 1150 changes only. All the same, it was a renewed pleasure to visit the belfry again.

It was enthusiastically agreed to accept Dr. Brown's offer to do it all again in 1960, so will members please note now the first weekend in July, 1960, for what is becoming one of the most happy of the Guild's annual fixtures.—D.L.G.

ARCHDEACONRY OF STAFFORD SOCIETY

Presentations to Mr. and Mrs. Fred Bennett

June 20th saw the Society for the Archdeaconry of Stafford in Lichfield once more for its annual meeting. A fine warm afternoon resulted in a very well attended meeting. During the afternoon and evening the bells of the Cathedral (10), St. Mary's (8), and St. Michael's (6), were put to a very good use. The service was held in St. Michael's Church, being conducted by the vicar, the Rev. V. S. Allen. An address was given by the Rev. Vernon Nicholls, vicar of St. Matthew's Walsall.

After the service an excellent tea was provided by the Lichfield ringers. This was followed by the business meeting, the Rev. C. H. Barker, clerical secretary, presiding. Before the meeting began the assembly stood in silence in remembrance of the late Herbert Knight, a stalwart of the Society for many years.

The committee report was presented by Fred Bennett who said the feature of the year was the increased attendance at meetings, 554 as against 467 in 1957-8. The fact that a large number of young people were attending held out a promising outlook for the future. During the year 63 peals had been rung, an increase of 21 over last year. Mr. Frank Brotherton, the Hon. Treasurer, presented his report which reflected a healthy financial position. Central Council representatives, B. G. Key and G. W. Hughes reported on the meeting at Southport mentioning the discussion on the financial standing of the 'Ringing World,' and on the survey of Sunday service ringing. It was pleasing to note that this Society compared very favourably with other associations as far as Sunday service ringing was concerned.

The following elections were made:—Ringing Master, Mr. E. Malin; Deputy Ringing Master, Mr. J. Dinenage; Hon. Treasurer, Mr. F. Brotherton; Clerical Secretary, Rev. C. H. Barker; Lay Secretary, Mr. D. J. Tranter; Assistant Secretary, Mr. C. M. Smith; Peal Secretary and Auditor, Mr. E. E. Speake; Central Council Representatives, Mr. B. G. Key and Mr. G. W. Hughes.

A proposition was put forward that an approach be made to the North Staffordshire and Shropshire Associations with a view to the establishment of a 'Lichfield Diocesan Ringing Festival.'

At the close of the meeting, the Rev. C. H. Barker gave an appreciation of Mr. Fred Bennett's (retiring lay secretary) services to the Society in the past. He presented to Mr. Bennett a silver tankard suitably inscribed, and to Mrs. Joan Bennett a stainless steel salver. Five year old Miss Lesley Holden presented Mrs. Bennett with a bouquet of flowers. In his reply, Mr. Bennett thanked the Society on behalf of his wife and himself and said how touched they were by this gesture. They would have many memories of their association with the Society to treasure for many years to come.

The attendance at the meeting was 140 ringers and friends.—D.J.T.

PITSFORD, NORTHANTS.—On June 6th, 1.320 Plain Bob Doubles; Miss J. I. Frost (first quarter) 1, F. Benfield 2, R. Old 3, P. M. Giles 4, B. E. Frost (cond.) 5. Rung for the induction of the Rev. Canon H. J. Boyd as Rector.

HENDON'S MILLENNIUM

A little under three years ago, the young band at St. Mary's, Hendon, put forward to their Parochial Church Council the suggestion that the ring of six bells should be augmented to eight. The P.C.C., because of repairs to the organ and the extension of the vestry, did not feel that it could launch another appeal for sometime. If the ringers would launch their own appeal, the Church would give them its blessing.

This was all the ringers required, and a fund was started with the 'model fee' which came from the advertisers of a certain well-known margarine. Leading organisations in the Borough, and every house and flat in the Parish received an appeal. Fees from weddings helped the amount to swell, and as Christmas, 1956, drew near the handbells came out, and for nine or ten evenings the ringers rang carols round the streets. This raised about £50, and it was repeated at Christmas, 1957 and 1958.

The fund grew faster than they had dared to hope, and when, two years later, in 1958, they heard about Hendon's Millennium, they began to see their dream come true. In 959 St. Dunstan assigned the estate of Hendon to the Abbey of Westminster, and we may be sure that if there was not already a Church or Chapel in Hendon, that year could be taken as the starting date of the history of Hendon's Church and Parish. Plans were made for the 1,000 years to be celebrated during 1959. The Dean of Westminster was invited to preach at a service on July 2nd, the day of the Patronal Festival, and the Bishop of London to preach at Evensong the following Sunday.

The ringers asked if the two new bells could be installed by then and dedicated by the Bishop of London. The P.C.C. was delighted with the idea, and things began to move. They nearly didn't move fast enough, however. There was a little delay over the faculty and then the founders Messrs. Mears and Stainbank, had a lot of other work already in hand. On June 4th, a party from the Church, including the Vicar and a Churchwarden, as well as ringers, went to Whitechapel to see the bells cast. Other ringers prophesied that the bells would never be ready by July 5th. The ringers thanks are due to Mr. Theobald and Mr. Rowe and their helpers for their hard work.

July 5th dawned, boiling hot, and having rung the old six for morning service, the ringers went to the belfry again in the afternoon to try the eight for the first time. Highly satisfied after their short practice, they went to pull the ropes up to the Clock-Room for safety until the evening and found that the old rope put on the new treble, to make ringing it easier, was nearly frayed through. Another rope was hurriedly put on—they aren't risk it breaking in the middle of the service.

At 5.30 that evening, the ringers turned up at the Church again, and this time they were reinforced by visitors. Among these were Mr. T. Price (Master, Middlesex Association) and Mrs. Price, and Mr. T. J. Lock (Secretary, Middlesex Association) and Mrs. Lock, Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Hart, Mr. A. Cutler and Mr. D. Smith. There were also representatives from the neighbouring towers of Finchley and Kingsbury, together with Mr. W. Theobald, of Mears and Stainbank.

Receiving the rope from the Steeple-keeper, Mr. H. Arnold, the Bishop of London dedicated the new treble 'in memory of Ernest Edward Pratchett, for 66 years a ringer at St. St. Mary's.' This bell was then rung by his grandson, Gerald Pratchett. The new 2nd bell was dedicated 'in memory of all past ringers of this church,' and this bell was then rung by the Mayor of Hendon (handstroke only—he is a non-ringer) and the Ringing Master, Miss Ruth Foreman. Immediately after the dedication, the new eight was rung by the local band, and after the service, the visiting ringers were able to try them out. They all agreed that Mears had done a very good job, and the locals had the pleasure of hearing a perfect course of London rung on them.

Hendon has only eight Sunday Service ringers, but they have also four-learners with two more starting shortly and they hope in time to have a good eight-bell band which will do credit to the eight bells they now possess.

OUTINGS WOODFORD

A very enjoyable day was spent on July 11th, by ringers from Woodford and neighbouring towers visiting Marlow, Nettlebed, Caversham and Pangbourne.

St. Mary's Church is thanked for their contribution towards the cost of this annual event.

ST. CUTHBERT'S, DARLINGTON

For their annual outing on July 11th, ringers of St. Cuthbert's, Darlington, reinforced by members from St. John's, took the road south, and made their first stop at Sharow, near Ripon.

Here, for about an hour, there was enjoyable ringing on a pleasant light eight, with Plain Bob, Stedman and a nice touch of Superlative to finish up with. The tower at Sharow has been redecorated recently, and presents a most pleasing appearance. Of interest was the stained glass window commemorating a peal of Kent Treble Bob Major, rung for Queen Victoria's jubilee.

An hour or two was spent among the varied attractions of Harrogate, and an excellent tea, enjoyed before the coach set off for Birstwith. The heavier ring of eight there was a most agreeable surprise to visitors previously unacquainted with the tower. The tone is splendid, and the bells go very well, so that the ringers regretted the shortness of their stay. A touch of Grandsire Triples ended the day's ringing, and the homeward journey by Harrogate, Ripon, Thirsk, Northallerton and Richmond, ended, as the day had begun, in rain.

NORWICH DIOCESAN ASSOCIATION

After an interval of almost 21 years, an Eastern Branch meeting was held in the remote Norfolk coastal village of Happisburgh (6) where 43 members and friends gathered on July 4th. The very long draught of rope for this ground floor ring did not deter anybody.

At the business meeting all seven members of the youthful local company were elected to membership of the association and in welcoming them the President, Mr. Nolan Golden, congratulated the boys and girls on their wonderful initiative in getting together and forming a ringing company after the bells had been silent for so many years, largely because the tower required attention.

With the leader Mr. G. Larter, all the youngsters started from scratch and are teaching themselves from "Ropesight". They can now nearly all ring Plain Bob Minor. Mr. Golden commented that these keen novices had given the Diocese a splendid example of what could be done if there was a will.

SWANSEA AND BRECON GUILD SCOTTISH ASSOCIATION

The 31st Annual Festival of the Swansea and Brecon Guild was held at Brecon on June 20th. Approximately 80 members and friends were present, including Dr. J. J. A. Thomas, the Bishop of the Diocese.

The service which was held in the Cathedral was conducted by the resident Canons. The Voluntary before the service was a plain course of Grandsire Triples on Handbells rung by members of the Guild and the sermon was preached by the Rev. I. J. Richards, Vicar of Leanorth, Mon.

The business meeting which followed tea, was opened by the Bishop who presided. He extended a welcome to Brecon. A letter of good wishes for the meeting from Mr. Ernie Stith was read by the secretary. The meeting then stood in silence for the late Mr. Ted Phillips, and all those who had passed on since the last annual meeting.

Arising out of the minutes an explanation was given why the shield was not returned to the Cathedral. The Bishop thought it would be very nice to have the shield in the Cathedral, but the meeting decided otherwise. A motion that Cadoxton Band retain the shield and house it in Cadoxton was carried.

All the various officer's reports were accepted including the report of the Central Council meeting at Southport. The officers were all thanked by the President. The high light of the reports was the re-consecration of St. Mary's Church, Swansea.

The statement of accounts was presented by the treasurer, Mr. D. Stokes. It was noted that the Northern district were not carrying out the Guild's Rules in respect of the two-thirds balance to the central fund, and were asked to abide by them.

After all the officers had been re-elected, the peal records officer was asked to write in the book the name of the person who gave the peal records book to the Guild, Mr. G. I. Lewis was again elected the peal records officer.

Mr. John T. Williams moved that the secretary proceed with the arrangements for badges and get a supply as soon as possible.

Mr. M. O. King proposed St. Mary's, Swansea, for the 1960 Annual Festival. This was carried unanimously. It was decided that the revision of the rules governing the Ringing Competition be left to the Committee members, with a view to a competition in the near future.

A proposal to give £10 each to St. Mary's Church, Swansea and Llangorse towards the restoration of the bells was carried. Mr. Barry Gladwin was proposed a member of the Guild.

A warm welcome was extended to the visitors especially the visitors from Bridgewater, Somerset.

The meeting closed with a vote of thanks to the Bishop and the Dean. The collection for the Bell Restoration fund realised £2 3s.

MORE BELFRY GOSSIP

Mr. Ernest Morris rang his 1,845th peal on July 18th at Clifton. Northants.

Morpeth Town Council has been hot and bothered over the continuity of the eight o'clock curfew rung from the 12th century clock tower. Attempts have been made to reverse a decision of the Council that on the ringers' practice night the curfew need not be rung. A motion by Ald. W. S. Sanderson that the curfew should always be rung was defeated by eight votes to four. When it was suggested that the curfew could be rung during the practice Ald. Sanderson commented 'We don't want the curfew made into a 'rock-n-roll.'

YORKSHIRE ASSOCIATION

St. Andrew's Kildwick, an ideal tower for a summer meeting with large doors for the ground floor ringing room was the venue for the annual meeting of the Western District on June 20th. The attendance of 40 included visitors from Oxfordshire and Lancashire. Some measure of improvement in the striking was noted.

At the business meeting news of the passing of Mr. A. J. Coldrick of Armley was given, and members stood in silence as a mark of respect.

Five nominations were received for the three members of the district committee. A ballot resulted in the election of Messrs. P. Birkett, H. Lofthouse and I. Slack. Mr. Birkett was also elected to the general committee of the Association. New members elected were Barrie Dove and Robin Brown, Leeds Parish Church and John Reynolds, Guiseley.

In view of a general meeting of the Association at Pudsey on Sept. 19th., it was decided to forego the District meeting usually held that month. The next meeting will be on Dec. 19th. possibly at Almondbury.

THE LADIES' GUILD

Congratulations were extended to Mrs. P. J. Stanforth on becoming president of the Ladies Guild at the meeting of the Midland District of the Guild at Ibstock on June 6th. The memory of Mrs. White, a founder member was honoured in silence. Mrs. Lewis and Mrs. Goadby were elected honorary members. The next meeting will be a joint one with the Lincolnshire Branch at Grantham.

INDEPENDENCE DAY REFLECTIONS

By RUSSELL S. YOUNG, M.A.

BELLS have figured more than once in Anglo-American history. One hundred and eighty-three years ago, on July 4th, a Whitechapel bell proclaimed American Independence. Later on, a lantern was hung in the tower of Christ Church, Boston, a few feet from the earliest English peal in America, and Paul Revere rode off to Lexington announcing the arrival of the Redcoats to the Minute Men.

But the severance of political ties was obviously unable for long to weaken the deeper bonds between the two countries. In many other areas—cultural, literary, ecclesiastical—the seeds of Anglo-American friendship were destined to flourish, and bells continued to play their role.

It was England which furnished all the rings now existing in America. It was Englishmen who have instructed the few American ringers in the art of change ringing. It is England who continues to furnish the ever-growing number of handbell devotees with their instruments of fine music.

I am sure your readers will all be interested in what is going on at present on the big bells in the United States. If expert ringing of the more complex methods is beyond us, good handling can be seen and good striking heard on a grand family of Whitechapel bells. The time is every Sunday morning for a solid hour, and the place is Groton School, in Massachusetts. Our chapel tower and that of Kent School, Connecticut, contain the only two rings (out of the ten originally hung for change ringing) where the art is actually practised.

We have at Groton School a band of ringers and a band of learners. The latter are boys' about to be third-formers (age 14), who began their instruction only this past spring. The former are upper school boys, most of whom have been ringing for only a year. In view of the little time available for extra curricula activities in a tightly-packed daily schedule, their accomplishments have been commendable. With one hour a week available, in addition to the Sunday ringing on open bells, with a minimum of instruction possible because of the fact that their ringing master knew little more than they, they have managed to ring call changes, plain hunting and Grandsire Doubles with ease. Their enthusiasm is boundless; they are determined to do quarter peals this coming year, and a full peal before they graduate three years hence.

To further this end, they hope to come to England in July of 1960 to see at close hand the source of this great tradition. Serious coaching from experienced ringers and a tour of the English towers is the purpose of the journey, for the opportunity to watch and ring with experts simply does not exist at home.

Bellringing, some have said, tends to be a clique. It does indeed have its inner mysteries, musical and mathematical, which seem incomprehensible to many. If the bells reveal their secrets reluctantly the ringers are full of charity. There is a bond between them which I have seen in few places elsewhere. If I can judge from my rich experiences in English towers this summer, the welcome to the stranger, to the guest, to the amateur ringer from America, is comparable to that of the mediæval monasteries whose hospitality was a rule by which they lived.

For our part, we wish that there could be a flood of English ringers pouring constantly into Groton tower. We will feed you and we will put you up, but we will make you work on one of eight ropes!

Mr. Frank Claydon, of Earls Colne, who celebrated his 78th birthday on June 6th, is well known in North Essex for his powers of concentration, especially when peal ringing. Frank rang the third at Halstead to 5,088 Yorkshire Surprise Major on June 27th and did not make a false blow throughout. The peal was rung to commemorate the diamond wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. A. Snowden, of Halstead, who received many messages of congratulation, including one from H.M. the Queen.

What is claimed to be the first peal on Hucknall bells, Nottinghamshire, was rung on July 22nd, conducted by Mr. James H. Pailing.

The peal rung at Hingham on May 6th was one of St. Stephen's Bob Triples and not a new method as was at first believed!

A peal of Cambridge Surprise Maximus was rung at Lincoln Cathedral on July 23rd in 3 hours and 42 minutes.

Conducted by Mr. Leslie W. G. Morris, a peal of 5,280 Cambridge Surprise Maximus was rung on August Bank Holiday on the bells of St. Mary-the-Great, Cambridge.

With the peal at Wootton-Wawen, Warwickshire, on June 23rd, Mr. H. James Turner and Mr. Norman J. Goodman have rung Grandsire from Doubles to Cinques.

Six quarter peals were rung by the New South Wales Association for the Queen's birthday. Of these, three 'in hand' were rung for St. Jude's, and two on tower and one 'in hand' for St. Mary's R.C. Basilica.

Miss Cherie Payne, late of Epsom, is believed to be the first lady to ring a quarter peal on the bells of St. Peter's, Brighton. To the regret of the company she is leaving shortly for a teaching appointment in Birmingham.

RELFRY GOSSIP

St. Mary's, Woodstock, Cape Town, have lost a very useful member in Mr. W. Abrahams, who is returning from South Africa to Bristol. A farewell quarter peal was rung on July 5th, and on July 4th Mrs. Ratcliffe and Mrs. Hewitt gave a dinner party to all the band and amidst abounding hospitality leave was taken of Mr. and Mrs. Abrahams. 'His ever bright and smiling countenance will long be remembered at Woodstock,' writes Victor Sheppard.

At Barkston, Lincs, on June 27th, a peal of Doubles was rung by officers of the G.P.O.

Oxford University Society have entered the Doubles field with a peal in 60 methods.

When the morning service at Liverpool Cathedral is televised by A.B.C. on September 13th the bells will be on the air for three minutes—from 11.15 to 11.18 a.m.

Mr. E. A. Palmer, who despite his 76 years of age rings twice every Sunday at Carlisle Cathedral, walking about 12 miles to do so, is leaving for U.S.A. shortly. He rang in a farewell quarter peal at Great Salkeld on July 25th.

The bicentenary of George Frederick Handel (1685-1759) was marked by a peal of Grandsire Minor at Cogenhoe, Northamptonshire, on June 20th. Some might regard Grandsire Minor as a poor compliment to one who did so much to enrich English music.

The activities of the Central Council at Southport loom large in the latest issue of 'The Ringing Towers,' the monthly journal of the New South Wales Association. Mr. Philip J. Gray contributes a witty and admirable summary of the proceedings and Mr. G. W. Pipe has written an appealing editorial dealing with 'The Ringing World' and the need for more subscribers.

ADELAIDE RINGERS CROSS BORDER

If enthusiasm were proportional to something tangible with peals then the Adelaide ringers would all be thousand peelers!

Almost 50 ringers, including nine from St. Peter's Cathedral, Adelaide, and St. Andrew's, Walkerville, with members from Ballarat, Bendigo and the Melbourne towers, took part in the Queen's birthday week-end ringing festival in Victoria. The visit was in one sense a return of the Melbourne expedition of January, 1958, in another get-together of our scattered towers.

Activities commenced in the morning at St. Peter's, Ballarat, when methods up to Stedman Doubles were enjoyed. (The treble is at present being recast in England.) After an early lunch and the arrival of the Melbourne coach, the whole company assembled at the City Hall to be met by the locals under Alex Herrman and the Bendigo men under Warne Wilson. The fine 'Alfred Memorial' octave (tenor 22½ cwt. in E flat) were rung almost incessantly for three hours, for the Adelaide chaps meant business, and they were determined to use every minute to advantage! Ringing included call changes and plain hunting on six or eight, Bob Triples and Major, Stedman and Grandsire Triples and Kent Treble Bob Major. Very often in small corners one could see Bob Minor being 'rung' (very seriously, too!) on 'thumbs' during the ringing. The ringing was of good standard, and what a treat it was to see Enid Roberts' superb handling of the tenor. A highlight was the ladies' touch with Miss Richards on the seventh.

PEAL BOARD UNVEILED

After an official welcome by Councillor Roff on behalf of the Mayor, the Bob Major peal board was unveiled by Mr. Jack Roper, and a substantial tea served in the City Hall. The time to depart for Melbourne came all too quickly! Ken Minchinlar's house is the 'Glyn Garth' of Melbourne, and on Saturday evening a goodly company spent a fine time there. Tunes and methods on handbells, songs and an abundance of good wine and food were the keynotes of an enjoyable evening. A course of Grandsire Caters on handbells was rung by Barbara Beeson 1-2, Graeme Heyes 3-4, Enid Roberts 5-6, George Pipe 7-8, Jack Roper 9-10.

Very pleasing was the response to Corporate Communion at St. Paul's Cathedral next morning when the Precentor celebrated. Then, for morning ringing, the company was split up between St. Patrick's R.C. and St. Paul's, and, following lunch, a pleasant afternoon was spent at the two towers (8, 13cwt. and 12, 31½ cwt.). The newly-formed St. Patrick's Society, under John Davis, made us very welcome, and together with ringing was a tour of the Central tower. A near-faultless course of Double Norwich and some Whittington's, etc., on the 12 brought the evening's ringing to a close.

A BUSY MONDAY

Sunday evening was free—most judicious! But, unfortunately, we had to say goodbye to Enid, who was travelling back to South Australia that night, and very sorry we were to see her go. And so to Monday, when for the morning Graeme Heyes had arranged a mystery tour. Visits were made to St. James' Old Cathedral (8, 13 cwt.), Toorak (13, 11 cwt.), both from Whitechapel. Burnley (8, tenor approximately 3 cwt.), cast by John Danks and Hawksborne (eight tubes). The latter three are, of course, hung for chiming only, and although we only chimed at St. James', determined efforts are being made (against stiff opposition) to get these bells rehung. A stunt to round off, was some good handbell ringing in the Myer Music Bowl in King's Domain, the arena-like construction which has recently won such fame.

Thirty-six sat down to a traditional lunch in the Chapter House of St. Paul's, when Hervey Bagot thanked the ladies for their contribution to the week-end. Extensive ringing to Bob Royal, with everyone getting their fill, took place in the afternoon and again after tea until 7.15 p.m. And so, goodbye to the visitors—with 'come again soon'—and a final course on the platform as the Overlander left with the Adelaide band.

ST. PETER'S, BOURNEMOUTH, BROADCAST

Mr. Fred Price, of Southbourne, has received the following reply regarding his protest over the time allowed for the broadcast of the bells of St. Peter's, Bournemouth, from the Rev. Martin Willson, director of Religious Broadcasting, West Region:—

Dear Mr. Price.—Thank you very much for your letter, which has been sent down to us from London.

Our good intentions to give the bells of St. Peter's the customary full minute on the air were defeated by a misunderstanding. We are very sorry about it. Every care was taken to ensure that they were properly treated, but once the mistake was made there was nothing we could do to rectify it. We did, however, record the bells for five minutes after the service and sent a copy of the recording to the ringers!—Yours sincerely,

MARTIN WILLSON.

HALIFAX ASSOCIATION

Sad to relate, only three teams entered for the Halifax and District 6-bell contest at Denholm, near Bradford. The draw and results were: Shelley 173 faults, Friesland 151 faults, Thornhill 105 faults and rung out.

The judge, Mr. Edward Earnshaw, president of the Association, in his remarks said the ringing had been far below the usual standard of the Association, and Thornhill would definitely have won if they had not had the misfortune to break down. At that time they were well over half way through their test piece and had only 70 faults.

At the annual meeting that followed the contest, all the officers were re-elected and the balance sheet showed a gain of £2 on the year. It was resolved that in future only two contests be held yearly—the annual meeting being the prize contest, with another contest in October and a ringing meeting in April. In view of the cost, it was decided to leave the matter of badges in abeyance for the time being.

At the conclusion of the meeting the members and friends returned to the tower for further ringing in both major and minor methods.

NOTES ABOUT THIS WEEK'S PEALS

The peal of Cambridge Surprise Royal at Wakefield Cathedral was the first in the tower since the first ever in 1822.

Oxford University Society state regarding their peal of Spliced Surprise Major in six methods at St. Ebbe's, Oxford, that it was the first true peal of Spliced Surprise in which all the working bells were rung by undergraduates.

Reading University Society rang their first peal of Triples at Aldermaston on June 17th. It was a congratulatory peal to Mrs. Jean Ireland (née Dawson), a former Master, on the birth of a son.

The peal at Brenchley on June 20th was rung on the occasion of the admission of Mr. Peter N. Bond, Master of the Society of Royal Cumberland Youths, as a lay reader in the Diocese of Rochester.

Mr. Brian G. Warwick conducted his 300th peal for the Leicester Diocesan Guild at Loughborough Bell Foundry Campanile on June 22nd.

The peal at Benhall, Suffolk, on June 12th, was a silver wedding compliment to Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Woollard.

At Astbury, Cheshire, the crowning of the village May Queen was marked by a peal of Minor on June 13th. Better late than never!

The wedding of Miss Cynthia Cole and Mr. R. Yeo on June 6th was honoured by a complimentary peal at Crophorne, Worcs, on June 13th.

Another peal in honour of the 80th birthday of Miss E. Steel, president of the Bedfordshire Association, was rung at Tempsford on June 19th. It was also a 21st birthday compliment to Mr. Peter G. Smith.

The confirmation of three members of the Danehill, Sussex, band, was commemorated by a peal of Plain Bob Doubles on June 20th. It was also a farewell to the Vicar, the Rev. P. G. P. Cornish, R.D., and a birthday compliment to the wife and daughter of Mr. Ivan A. C. Butcher.

CARILLON BELLS GREET QUEEN AT CHICAGO

The Queen's visit to Chicago was marked by special ringing as the royal party passed the Rockefeller Memorial Chapel. A 'Swinging Peal Extraordinaire' was the music provided by Mr. James A. Lawson, the carillonneur. The main fuse is apt to blow if the 72 electrically-operated bells are rung for more than 10 minutes. To keep within this time limit Mr. Lawson had two look-outs with binoculars to alert him at the appropriate time.

LONG PEAL OF CAMBRIDGE SURPRISE RUNG

The long peal of 13,280 Cambridge Surprise Major was successfully rung at Quex Park on June 28th, but not without incident. With eight courses to go, one strand of the tenor rope parted below the sally and subsequently unravelled until, as the end approached, several feet of loose rope and one third of the sally were flapping around the ringing chamber.

The 'tenor king' is to be congratulated on his masterly handling of two ropes. His comment that the stupendous thunderstorm which accompanied the last few courses was 'just a shower,' was belied when it culminated in a flash of lightning which scored a direct hit on a tree only a few yards from the bell-tower.

LOCAL HISTORY IN THE MAKING

'All men that heare my mournful sound
Repent ye before you lye in ground.'

Thus reads the 1658 inscription on the tenor bell at St. Michael's, Waddington (Lincoln). On the morning of Whitsunday last, however, the voice of the tenor seemed to the ringers present in quite a different mood. The occasion was a landmark in the history of the bells in that the special ringing of the day also greeted a new addition to the old family of five, namely one treble, dedicated this day and bearing the proud lettering—

'S. Michael + 1959 + Give glory to God
And live in harmony with one another.'

The ceremony took place at the close of the Family Communion service after the Rector (Rev. John Woollan), preceded by the choir and churchwardens, moved in procession to the foot of the tower.

No doubt many bands limited to 5-bell ringing would like to see their own rings augmented in this fashion, but not all might display the keenness of the local band at Waddington. Since the consecration of the present church in 1954 the sixth-bell fund has been in action and the local ringers themselves have contributed about a quarter of the total cost.

It was indeed fortunate that the ring of five with its 15th century fourth bell ('Ste Johns Baptiste') were there at all. In May, 1941, a land-mine, parachuting deadly and inescapably, crashed through the roof of the ancient parish church and came face to face, metal to stone, with the might of the mediæval mason. The old stone walls which had withstood the weather of the Lincoln Heath for so many years could not survive this devilry of mankind. The holy place was flattened, and only the bells, firing the once on their swift descent, survived unharmed. The church had gone, but its presence had saved the village, for the annihilating blast scarcely reached the surrounding buildings. No doubt in thankfulness the village never forgot their old church and that modern miracle of survival: much effort, sacrifice and prayer eventually made a dream into a reality. A new building, of contemporary design, has been created and the bells have been raised in their new home.

To share in the pleasure of achievement on June 6th came the newly-formed Lincoln Branch of the Lincoln Diocesan Guild—the first meeting since the constitution was approved in January last. The Branch Ringing Master (Mr. Jack Millhouse) found little difficulty in 'filling-up' from the 50-odd members who attended. In parenthesis, it might even be whispered that despite the meeting of a non-territorial Association not many miles away, a ladies' band was called for and not found wanting in either eagerness or accomplishment.

A further contribution to the sixth-bell fund, now very near its target, came with the charge levied on those who sat down for tea. Whilst the general opinion seemed to be that the chicken salad was good value for money, the fund benefited by the handsome amount of £5 10s.

The service was taken by the Rev. Kenneth Richardson, who was renewing an old association with the Guild, and who at the business meeting spoke freely from the chair of his pleasure at being invited for such an occasion.

The Guild Ringing Master (Mr. John A. Freeman), replying to a question from Mr. Sidney Chambers, spoke feelingly on the circulation of 'The Ringing World,' so much so that the chairman indicated that he himself would seriously consider renewing a long-expired subscription!

The question of local news and its paucity in the pages of 'The Ringing World' was also raised, and the Branch Ringing Master agreed to forward all items of interest which came to his attention.

R. F. S.

LINCOLN DIOCESAN GUILD

Most towers were represented at a well-attended meeting of the West Lindsey Branch held at Willingham-by-Stow on July 18th, and members were also present from the Central Branch, together with visitors from Yorkshire and Coventry.

The Guild service was conducted by the Rector (Rev. W. Nicholson) and the lesson was read by Mr. G. Bingham, lay reader, whose father was a well-known ringer at Willingham for over 50 years. An excellent tea, generously provided at Mr. Bingham's expense, was served in the Schoolroom by Mrs. Bingham and helpers.

At the business meeting, presided over by the Rector, five new members were elected, and the secretary (Mr. G. L. A. Lunn) reported with some satisfaction that all the towers in the Branch were now represented. He also gave the news that it was hoped to install a ring of six in the newly-rebuilt tower at Hibaldstow.

Reporting on the Central Council meeting, the Ringing Master (Mr. G. E. Feirn) said that he hoped members would study the Survey of Sunday Service Ringing so that they could discuss it at a future meeting. He also stressed the need to improve the financial position of 'The Ringing World' and urged that more members should become postal subscribers.

Further ringing followed in the evening, when Stow bells were also available.

YORKSHIRE ASSOCIATION

Eastern District Annual Meeting

About 35 members, representing 16 towers, attended the annual meeting of the Eastern District at Beverley on July 18th. Good use was made of the two exceptionally fine rings of ten at the Minster and St. Mary's Church. The service in St. Mary's Church was conducted by the Vicar.

The business meeting followed an excellent tea in St. Mary's Hall and was presided over by the vice-president (Mr. A. E. Sellers). Mr. H. S. Morley was re-elected District secretary, a position he has held for over 27 years, and the three committee members were re-elected. Cottingham was chosen for the September meeting. The secretary was asked to write to Mr. T. H. Huddleston, of Sheffield, congratulating him on his recent award of the George Cross in recognition of his bravery in arresting an armed and dangerous criminal whilst on duty as a police sergeant, and wishing him a speedy recovery from his recent illness.

ERIN TRIPLES

50th Anniversary of First Peal

This week we publish the peal rung at Gateshead on June 17th to commemorate the first peal of Erin Triples, which was performed on the same bells using the same composition.

Mr. K. Arthur writes that it was at the beginning of the present century that the late Gabriel Lindoff produced the methods as a development of Stedman, with the employment of slow sixes only in its construction. He was then living in Dublin and he named the method after the land of his adoption—the Isle of Erin.

The method proved a stumbling block for composers, however, and no one was able to produce a true peal of Triples until 1909, when the late J. W. Parker, of Sunderland, became acquainted with it. Up to this time the late William H. Barber had been keen to ring a peal of Erin but old Bill was ever a purist and declined to make an attempt even at Caters or Cinques until the method 'proved' itself by producing a true peal of Triples.

About the end of May, 1909, Barber and Parker were present at a meeting of the Durham and Newcastle Association and during a discussion over the tea table J. W. P. was introduced to Erin and all its apparent complexities of composition. This was a challenge to the skill of Parker the composer and so it was that on Tuesday, June 1st, 1909, Barber received a letter from Parker and with it was enclosed the 'Original' of Erin Triples. W. H. B. was seemingly overjoyed at this and straightway arranged a band for an attempt for the peal at St. Mary's, Gateshead, on the following Saturday.

The composition of the 'Original' is far from an easy one, with 360 bobs and 98 singles, but to the genius of Barber, who had just then called Carter's Odd Bob Stedman Triples blindfolded, this proved no obstacle and the peal was rung in 2 hours and 54 minutes by a band stationed as follows:—

A. F. Hillier treble, W. T. Robson 2, J. W. Parker 3, R. W. Falconar 4, J. E. R. Keen 5, W. Story 6, W. H. Barber (conductor) 7, J. Stuart tenor.

None of these ringers is alive to-day, so we are unable to get a first-hand report of the peal but the names of them are sufficient, I think, to give credit to the performance.

Following this success Barber called the first-ever peal of Erin Caters at Christ Church, North Shields, on Monday, July 12th, 1909. The first peal of Erin Cinques was rung by a Birmingham company.

It was resolved by present members of the Durham and Newcastle Association that the 50th anniversary of this double achievement in composing and conducting should be appropriately celebrated and after a successful 'dummy run' last February, an attempt for the 'Original' was made on Thursday, June 4th last, but after 2 hours and 5 minutes the attempt fired out. Determined for success, however, another attempt was made on June 17th and a peal, as recorded elsewhere in this paper, was the happy result.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

HIGH ERCALL PEALS

Dear Sir,—The peal at High Erccall on June 6th is believed on good authority to be only the fourth on the bells in 147 years. The trebles were added by Briant, of Hertford, in 1812, at which time Richard Wilding was the village schoolmaster. He was a prominent member of the Union Society of Shrewsbury and took part in a number of their peals, including the 10,097 Grandsire Caters at St. Chad's in 1808. Wilding composed the quaint verses cast on the trebles. On the treble is—

'Twin sisters we unite our tuneful powers
With this sweet band to charm the vacant hours.
In mazy changes cheer the landscape wide
And court coy echo from yon mountain's side.'

On the second is—

'To where meand'ring Roden gently glides,
Or Tern's proud current fills its ample sides,
Thence meditation views our calm abode,
Heals the sick mind and yields it pure to God.'

In that year (1812) two peals of Major (Oxford Treble Bob and Plain Bob) were rung by the Union Society.

Some time during the latter half of last century the ringing floor was pulled down and the bells rung from the ground floor. This made it a very long draught, and as there were no guides and it is an 'anti-clockwise' circle with the ringing chamber wide open to the church, this was always considered a formidable tower. Many attempts were made for peals through the years but without success: the draught of rope beat them.

Then in October, 1910, Mr. Ernest Weatherby (now of Los Angeles) erected temporary guides made of wire and curtain rings, and a peal of Grandsire Triples was rung by an all-Shropshire band, conducted by William Short, who was working at Church Stretton at the time.

Not long afterwards they had a new vicar who did not like bells and said so in no uncertain terms. He had Weatherby's guides pulled down because, he said, they 'rattled,' and he banned all visiting bands during the years of his incumbency. In this he had the support of the local call-change men, who were bigoted against change-ringing. I asked for the bells for a peal in 1914 and again about 1922, but had a flat refusal both times.

In recent years they have had a new vicar with a different outlook. The bells have been put on ball-bearings by Mears and Stainbank, and Mr. Reg. Austin, the blacksmith and head ringer, has made an excellent set of guides.

So there is no trouble now except for the left-handed circle and the fact that people walk about the church while you are ringing, and it's rather unnerving when someone asks: 'How much longer are you going to ring? You've been on two hours now'; and 'Has the Vicar given you permission to ring?'

On June 6th a very good peal in a new Plain Major method was scored, and we are indebted to Mr. Bennett, of Shrewsbury, for consulting the Vicar and Mr. Austin and 'breaking the ice' after all these years.

Personally, I have waited 45 years for a peal at High Erccall, which is more or less on my 'native heath.'

My grandfather and his brother walked five miles from the old homestead every day to attend school there, and some of the family are buried there. I had given up hope of ever ringing a peal there but it has come at last.—

Yours sincerely,

E. V. RODENHURST.

NON-ASSOCIATION PEALS

Dear Sir,—In view of recent correspondence in 'The Ringing World,' I wonder if Mr. D. Matkin would be kind enough to print a final list of those peals not paid for which will not be included in the Winchester and Portsmouth Guild records.

I expect there are a number of ringers like myself who have rung in these peals now classed as non-Association peals who will be glad to put their records straight.

Like Mr. Felstead, I agree that it is a great pity that the first peals on the bells of the Channel Islands should have to be rung for a new Association comprising six members because our own Guild decides to impose a six-penny peal fee to enable us to print our annual report every three years, and because we have a committee strong enough to enforce its peal fee rule—the only Guild so far to take this action.

But perhaps our own members are to blame for this in not being enterprising enough to go out and snatch these two peals themselves; after all, nothing ventured nothing gained.

I only hope that our sixpenny peal fee will not be a deterrent to any other keen young band of ringers who wish to come into Hampshire to ring their peals.—Yours faithfully,

GEOFFREY K. DODD.

Woolton Hill.

THE SUFFOLK GUILD

Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Swift and their son, Michael, were among the visitors to the Suffolk Guild meeting at St. Mary's, Ixworth, on August 1st. Methods rung included Plain Bob, St. Clement's, Little Bob, Double Court, Double Oxford, Cambridge Surprise, Grandsire and Stedman Doubles.

The Vicar (Rev. L. Baker) conducted the service and presided at the business meeting, which followed an excellent tea provided by the ladies. At the next meeting at Mildenhall on October 1st, the new officers for the amalgamated District which takes effect from January 1st, 1960, will be elected.

Ode to Modern Bells

Wool is going, nylon's come,
Ring the bells and bang the drum.
When ringing peals what can one do
When jumpers rise a foot or two?
This really puts wool in the past,
Now it can retire at last.
Its shape it really does not keep,
Better leave it on the sheep.
With Acrilan and Tricel gay—
Go and put that wool away.

'FRAT.'

A DAY IN THE COTSWOLDS

On July 11th a party of ringers from St. Mary's, Handsworth, had a minor trial of strength and endurance in the Cotswolds, beginning at Shipston-on-Stour. Shipston has a clear-sounding six, but the heavier bells were found to have a tendency to drop swiftly unless pulled hard, so we contented ourselves with Plain Bob and moved on to Stow-on-the-Wold.

Stow has a magnificent eight, and we were sorry to leave. The heavy tenor was turned in to Bob Major, and Stedman and Grandsire Triples were rung, heavily interspersed with rounds.

Bourton-on-the-Hill (6) provided interesting exercise before lunch, as the bells are hung in quasi-anti-clockwise fashion with the treble between and in a line with the tenor and third. At least one noble soul courted dislocation of the neck by trebling to Treble Bob. Kent and Cambridge were brought round—though not without a few interesting sidelights on some well-known bell music, as the third and fourth both strike the same note and the other bells are not perfectly in tune with each other.

Longborough bells, another six, also required plenty of collar-work on the heavy end; but those who felt it to be their vocation in life ever to ring heavy bells by way of penance or stern duty—or merely to keep the Ringing Master off the heavy bells at any price—bore up passively, and the result was plenty of Kent, with short pauses for Cambridge, Plain Bob and rounds.

The above-mentioned stoicism had worn rather thin by the time we reached Chipping Campden, where the bells have such dignity that it seems presumptuous to ring them at all. The majestic tenor was clearly affronted at the indignity of being 'thumped behind' to Triples, so she was allowed to supervise rounds instead. Finally she was rung down with due honours, and we crept silently from her presence to a tea in the town.

The final ring was at Mickleton, whose beautiful church has a very pleasant medium-weight eight. After ringing here pretty solidly for an hour, the band mysteriously melted away, and not even an optimistic call for London would fetch them back. There was just nothing for it but to ring down and go home. M. F. H.

SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD

The first meeting for a number of years of the Devizes Branch at Corsley on August 1st attracted about 25 ringers with visitors from Frome, Chippenham, Bridgwater, Bath and Mells. Ringing ranged from rounds to Cambridge and the Guild service was conducted by the Rector, who gave a hearty welcome to all present.

Joint Meeting of North Wingfield

Between 30 and 40 ringers attended the joint meeting of the Chesterfield District of the East Derbys and Notts Association and the Manfield District of the Southwell Diocesan Guild held at North Wingfield and Clay Cross on July 25th. There was two hours' ringing at North Wingfield in the afternoon and after tea at Clay Cross for three hours. At both towers a variety of methods was rung. The next Manfield District meeting will be held at Eastwood on September 26th.

OBITUARY

MR. REGINALD BROWN

We regret to record the passing on July 25th of Mr. Reginald Brown, at the home of his daughter at Twickenham, Middlesex, after a long illness. He was in his 80th year.

Reg Brown was a native of Swanage, Dorset, where he was taught to ring. He was apprenticed as a plumber and early in life moved to Southampton, where he was employed on ship repairs by Messrs. Harland and Wolff. He rose to be head of his department and retired about 12 years ago.

For many years Mr. Brown was a member of the St. Mary's band, Southampton, and a regular attender at the practices at North Stoneham, in the time of the late George Williams. He rang 99 peals, and several attempts were made to ring the one to make the century, but it was not to be. Most of the peals were rung for the Winchester and Portsmouth Diocesan Guild, with a few for the Cumberlands and several for the Salisbury Guild.

Because of illness he was unable to take an active part in ringing for some years. His genial personality and unfailing good temper will be sadly missed in the Southampton District. G. P.

MR. H. CRABB

The bells of St. Peter's, Pentre, Rhondda, were rung half-muffled during the week-end of July 18th-19th to mourn the passing of Mr. H. Crabb.

A devoted service ringer for 51 years, Mr. Crabb was well known throughout South Wales for his activities in the Church. He was secretary to the governing body for the Church of Wales and also secretary of the Bible Society.

Cremation took place on July 18th, his fellow ringers at St. Peter's acting as bearers.

MR. ALFRED H. PULLING

AN APPRECIATION

It was with deep regret that I learned at a late date of the passing of one of our greatest ringers. The sad news of his passing did not reach me until the day he was laid to rest, and it was, therefore, impossible for me to be present at that time to bid a final farewell to my dear friend, Alfred Henry Pulling. I am, however, grateful to the Editor for allowing me, through 'The Ringing World,' to pay tribute to the memory of this great and well-known ringer.

He was an excellent teacher, and insisted in strict discipline in the belfry at all times. He loved every minute of his ringing and was a regular Sunday service ringer for a great number of years at his beloved tower, Holy Trinity, Guildford. It was at this tower that he did so much for me in my early ringing days some 35 years ago. The example he set in the belfry as teacher and leader was one to be admired.

He was undoubtedly one of the greatest conductors of his time, and his peal ringing was of the highest standard. He would not tolerate bad striking, and when the ringing was spoiled by a trip he would show his disapproval by stamping his foot on the floor and shouting out 'Bust it!'

His great number of peals included many outstanding records and performances both on tower bells and handbells. I think it is reasonably true to say that Stedman was his favourite method.

His passing is the termination of some 67 years' faithful service to the Church; and so, too, ends another great chapter in the history of our art.

May he rest in peace.

FOUR RINGERS' OUTING

ST. PAUL'S BEDFORD

This year's outing of the St. Paul's, Bedford, ringers took place on July 18th, when a visit was made to the Lincoln area.

With characteristic thoroughness, Bryan Pattison had planned a pretty full day, and an early start enabled us to reach Surfleet in comfortable time. The leaning tower, with its light ring of 12, was of interest to ringers and non-ringers alike, and we were delighted to renew our acquaintance with Mrs. Richardson.

At Boston we had rather a setback, the church authorities apparently having overlooked our visit; but smart work by Bryan produced the key to the belfry in time to allow us to try this excellent ring of ten. The famous 'stump' caused us to stand back and marvel at the building skill of our forefathers.

The next call was Lincoln, with its glorious Cathedral and its splendid ring of 12—surely one of the best rings of 12 of moderate weight to be found anywhere—and here we were met by Mr. J. A. Freeman and other local ringers.

At Newark we took tea in relays, whilst the bells were kept going, and our last tower was that of the magnificent parish church at Grantham, with its equally grand ring of ten.

At Bedford we dispersed with hearts full of thanks to the organiser and those by whose kind permission we had been allowed to practice our art in some interesting places and on some excellent bells. A. E. R.

MAULDEN, BEDS

Memories are still fresh of the excellent outing of Maulden ringers on June 20th, so admirably planned by Colin Mann. The party, which numbered about 50, reached Leicester in time to ring on the splendid ten at St. John-the-Divine.

The next stop was at Shepsted, and then a short run brought us to Cole-Orton, where the church stands in the grounds of a mansion now used as offices for the National Coal Board.

After lunch, a pleasant 45 minutes was spent in the beautifully-kept belfry of St. Paul's, Burton-on-Trent. Then came a journey to the most distant tower, Hoar Cross, with its majestic ring of six (tenor 284 cwt.) and the dignified splendour of its church. Heading south, Over-seale and Market Bosworth—both pleasant octaves—were visited. Lusty singing of the Maulden 'signature tune,' 'Sailing the Ocean,' enlivened the homeward journey. A. E. R.

SHEFFIELD CATHEDRAL

Sheffield Cathedral company made an 8 a.m. start for their outing on June 27th. The old ring of eight at East Markham was a very good appetiser for the hour and a quarter's ringing at Lincoln Cathedral, where methods rung included Kent Treble Bob Maximus, Grandsire Cinques, Stedman Caters and Double Norwich on the back eight.

Following lunch, St. Giles' was visited. Enjoyment here was curtailed when our Ringing Master lost the clapper of his bell during a touch of Spliced Plain and Little Bob. An anxious five minutes was spent while 'experts' investigated. Happily, no harm was done.

Despite the long draught, there was some very good ringing at Sleaford, and Cambridge Major was attempted with excellent results. After tea came Newark, where the 32 cwt. tenor proved quite a handful. After one member had revealed its difficulties by sweating profusely to Kent Treble Bob Royal it was decided to ring the tenor behind to Grandsire and Stedman Caters. The last tower was Tuxford, and here the high standard of ringing throughout the day was maintained in a variety of methods. G. K. C.

HORNCHURCH

In a recent issue, St. Mary's, Walthamstow, posed the question as to what could be more pleasant than travelling through the highways and byways of Berkshire on a glorious day in May, and we at St. Andrew's, Hornchurch, would proffer the same question, for we indeed found the same counties equally delightful on July 4th, when our route was along the Thames Valley.

Unfortunately we were unable to ring at Windsor owing to an accident during a peal attempt the previous week, but Mr. Welling fixed us in at Old Windsor at very short notice. Hurst, Reading (St. Laurence's), Caversham, Wargrave and Burnham followed in succession. At all these towers we were met by local ringers and enjoyed making their acquaintance and ringing their bells.

For a band without a tower we think we acquitted ourselves well. We shall never forget the tea in perfect surroundings at Wargrave and, of course, the ebullient George Gilbert provided a perfect ending to a delightful day.

ST. MARTIN'S GUILD

It would be difficult to find a more delightful place for a summer meeting than Packwood, the venue of the St. Martin's Guild for the Diocese of Birmingham, on July 4th. The beauty of the surroundings, and the lovely summer weather, attracted over 60 members.

Situated in the centre of the Forest of Arden, the ancient Church of St. Giles has many historical associations. In this church the parents of Dr. Samuel Johnson, the lexicographer, were married in 1707. Near the church is Packwood Hall, completely surrounded by a water-filled moat, and Packwood House, with its neat topiary gardens.

The bells are a useful ring of six, recently rehung in a new iron frame for eight. The enthusiasm of Packwood ringers is such that the trebles' pits are not likely to remain empty for long!

The Guild's form of service was conducted by the Vicar (Rev. D. Campbell Miller) who gave an interesting account of the history of the church and its bells. Tea was most kindly provided by Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Tallis and Mr. and Mrs. Hawkes in the grounds of their home, Bentley Manor.

The following new members were elected: Mr. and Mrs. C. T. Blundell and Mr. and Mrs. D. N. Layton, of Edgbaston, Mr. M. C. Hughes, Mr. R. E. Tallis, Miss H. M. Thacker and Miss P. M. Turner, of Packwood, Mr. J. Clarke, Mr. P. Robinson and Mr. A. Smith, of Knowle.

The tower elections, as life members, of Mr. J. G. Pusey, of Stourbridge, Mr. N. Bennett, of Ashton-under-Lyne, and Mr. E. T. Chapman, of Lowestoft, were duly ratified.

The next meeting of the Guild will be held at Coleshill on September 19th.

NORTH STAFFS ASSOCIATION

The annual meeting of the North Staffs Association was held in December, 1958, with the president (Ven. George Youell, Archdeacon of Stoke-on-Trent) in the chair. The following officers were elected: Chairman, G. W. Biddulph; vice-chairman, A. W. Hall; secretary, E. H. Edge; treasurer, N. Sergeant; Ringing Masters—10- and 8-bell towers, G. Wilkinson; 6-bell towers, W. Hazeldine; auditor, J. G. Burton.

Prior to the business meeting, Mr. Biddulph paid high tribute to the services Mr. R. S. Anderson had rendered to the Association during the 13 years he had held the office of chairman, and expressed the Association's extreme regret at his decision to retire. To mark the occasion the president, on behalf of the Association, presented Mr. Anderson with a wristlet watch in recognition of the work he had done for ringing and the Association in North Staffordshire.

The secretary reported that 11 peals had been rung during the year, including the first on the bells at Standon. Eleven meetings had been held, at which average attendances had shown a considerable increase over previous years. The Association had agreed to take part in the Central Council Survey of Sunday Service Bands and Ringing, and some 90 per cent. of the towers in North Staffordshire, affiliated and non-affiliated, had contributed their returns. The Association would consider in due course what positive action was required as a result of the information furnished by the Survey.

Considerable discussion took place on the decision to permit the installation of recorded bells at Ashley and Bagnall, and regret was expressed at this development. It was agreed that the authorities should be approached regarding possible future applications of this nature.

A THOUSAND PEOPLE VISIT BELFRY

When reporting the Snowdon Dinner in 1957, Jayfus wrote of the approach to Rotherham Parish Church ringing room: 'To get to the ringing room it is necessary to crawl through a flue-like opening by means of hauling on steel hand-holds up a vertical steel ladder, to reach some steps not designed for the infirmities of old age.'

Although this rather exaggerates the difficulties, almost 1,000 inhabitants of Rotherham visited the belfry of All Saints' Parish Church on July 18th, when a general church 'Open Day' was held in aid of the Mayor's appeal for £15,000 for repairs to the fabric.

The interest shown by men, women and children in the tower, bells, clock and handbell ringing was really overwhelming, many queuing for half an hour for an opportunity to ascend. Watching the bells being rung fascinated many and difficulty was experienced in getting some visitors 'off the premises.' One or two were obviously reversing direction on the stairs and rejoining the upstream.

Rotherham High School handbell team entertained thousands of passers-by during the morning and afternoon in the churchyard.

The public responded to the efforts of the ringers by contributing well over £50 to the Appeal Fund, and the Lady Mayoress and the Mayor personally attended and thanked the ringers for their efforts.

GIRLS RING FOR ANNUAL SERVICE

Rotherham High School girls excelled themselves with a remarkably high standard of ringing for their annual service at the Parish Church on July 21st. They rang Stedman Doubles and Bob Minor on the front six, and, with two of the local company to ring the tenors, rang Grandsire Triples. Little Bob Major and 240 changes of Plain Bob Major (conducted by Miss Susan Chaddock). The ringing concluded with call changes on the 10 bells. Three towers—Whiston, Thrybergh and Rotherham—were represented. S. C.

'The Ringing World' was founded in the year 1911 by John Sparkes Goldsmith, who remained its proprietor and editor until his death in 1942.

No. 2522 Vol. LV

FRIDAY, AUGUST 21, 1959

Registered at the G.P.O. for transmission as a newspaper. 6d.

AN EDITOR'S TRIBULATIONS

LAST week we returned to a normal 16-page issue; our last full issue was dated June 16th, the day the printers terminated their employment. During the interval we have produced four emergency issues under the greatest of difficulties. The staff of our printers was reduced to apprentices. The emergency issues had to be printed four pages at a time; in the latter issues peals and notices were set on movable type, and the whole of these in the last issue were set by the Editor, who some 47 years ago left the composing room for the reporters' room. Such is the circle of life.

As soon as the strike was declared the Editor received letters from readers demanding that he should produce some sort of an issue—a roneo publication was suggested—to keep the Exercise informed of the weekly happenings. At that time his mind was fully occupied with production problems of three other emergency weeklies. Out of chaos emerged a sense of order, and the second week saw the production of the first eight-page issue. But it was produced by "black labour." A new difficulty then arose. The staff of the big wholesale newsagents in London refused to handle the paper, with the result that the only readers who were absolutely sure of their copies were the postal subscribers. These copies have since been distributed to newsagents and, although late, we trust that readers will take them. Newsagents have been heavily hit by the strike; their normal return is one-third of the selling price of a publication, and with the stoppage of a very large number of weekly and monthly journals they have had a very poor return.

The six weeks' break from normal production has meant a six weeks' accumulation of peals and quarter-peals. Our method of condensing will have been observed in our last issue. Footnotes are being severely dealt with, and except those actually relating to the performance are mentioned in a separate news column or Belfry Gossip. We do not want to depart from the traditional style. Because of staff difficulties in our printing works, it will not be possible to introduce 20-page issues until the issue of September 4th. (It must be remembered that the greater part of 'The Ringing World' is set up a week in advance.) Then we propose to issue larger numbers until the arrears are substantially reduced.

We thank the many of our readers who have sent appreciative little notes of our efforts 'to keep the flag flying.' There is one real way of showing appreciation—by the prompt payment of subscriptions and by inducing your ringing friends to take the journal. Another quarter's subscriptions became due in July, and it was felt to be a poor reward for the hours spent in emergency productions when other people were normally indulging in their hours of recreation and leisure for the Editor to have to send out 180 postcards to readers reminding them that their subscription was now due and payment was necessary if they wished to receive the journal.

A temporary stoppage of publication is always a serious matter for any newspaper or journal. Some publications have gone so far as to anticipate a loss of 25 per cent. of their readers. We do not expect that the Exercise will desert us to that extent; but this thing has to be remembered: newspaper reading is a matter of habit, and once broken is not resumed by all. It behoves everybody who appreciates the place of 'The Ringing World' in the Exercise to make certain that their friends have not allowed their support of the paper to lapse. We are encouraged by the fact that each week lately we have been getting new subscribers, and we do not want losses to cancel out these gains. Another encouraging factor was that for the April quarter our losses were among the lowest on record, and some of these are inevitable with deaths and marriages.

At the present time we are not in a position to deal with the financial implications of the strike. This we do know, that labour costs will be up at least $4\frac{1}{2}$ per cent. by the terms of the agreement, which has yet to be ratified. An onus of responsibility rests on every reader as to how about £12 a week extra is to be found. Methods were suggested at the Central Council meeting at Southport. One was a contribution with peals and quarter peals. Another is by an extended use of our Notices page. For 48 years 'The Ringing World' has surmounted trials and tribulations. It has, we know, hosts of friends and well-wishers, and with their goodwill the Editor is confident ringers throughout the world will see that its continuity of publication is maintained and that its finances are kept at an even keel. It can be done; it will be done. One reader in a congratulatory message summed up the situation as follows: 'It makes one realise what a disastrous vacuum would be caused by the complete disappearance of "The Ringing World."'

The sexes are evenly balanced for the University of London Society's ringing week in Northumberland and Durham which starts tomorrow (Saturday). There are 23 adult males and 23 adult females and two children. In the party are seven married couples. The headquarters will be at Lumley Castle, Chester-le-Street. Mr. Denis A. Bayles has planned an attractive week as the tour covers practically all the ringable bells of the Durham and Newcastle Diocesan Association.

On tour this week in Southern Ireland is Mr. A. P. Cannon's party.

Coming-of-age greetings were extended by this week's peals to Mrs. Douglas H. Rooke (at Chesterfield) and Mr. John H. Jelley (Bell Foundry Campanile, Loughborough).

'Ex-Pealer' writes suggesting that at all dinners and similar functions a collection be taken for 'The Ringing World,' and the length of the report would depend upon the amount collected.

By one of those strange happenings that occur in print offices, the line 'Scottish Association' appeared after 'Swansea and Brecon Guild' on page 438. The Editor is entirely to blame and offers his apologies.

The annual tour of the Cambridge University Guild starts tomorrow in Yorkshire. Twenty-nine members are expected. One young member, writing at the last moment to ask if there was room for him in the party, offered to sleep under a hedge!

Yesterday was the silver wedding anniversary of our esteemed contributor, Mr. Edgar C. Shepherd, and Mrs. Shepherd. The wedding in 1934 was marked by a peal of Stedman Caters at Solihull, called by Mr. Albert Walker. In the band were also Mr. James George and Mr. John Neal.

BELFRY

GOSSIP

The Sunday service band at the Church of All Souls, Halifax, rang Mr. A. J. Pitman's 5,152 Spliced Surprise Major in four methods on June 27th. We should be pleased to hear if any other Sunday Service band has put up such a performance. The peal was a farewell tribute to the Rev. E. C. Henderson.

Mr. Brian G. Warwick passed another century of peals (his sixth) at South Wigston on July 1st. Mr. Peter N. Bond rang in his 2,000th tower while touring with the St. Christopher Society. It was at Hope, Flintshire, and was accomplished with hopes for his 3,000th!

Mr. George A. Fearn, of Birmingham, rang his 1,500th peal on July 1st at Shirley. It was a birthday compliment to two of his ringing friends—John Pinfold and John A. Anderson.

The band who rang the quarter peal at Sutton-on-Hull on July 19th for the christening of the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. P. Ducker was composed of parents and godparents.

The Norwich Diocesan Association rang a farewell peal of 5,075 Grandsire Caters at St. Peter Mancroft's on July 28th to their patron, the Rt. Rev. P. M. Herbert, who has resigned the Bishopric of Norwich.

English ringers, especially those who attended the Central Council meeting at Dublin, will congratulate Miss Jean Stewart on her engagement. In honour of the announcement a peal of Plain Bob Royal was rung at St. Mark's Church, Dundela, on August 8th.

'Noye's Fludde,' the Chester miracle play, which is set to music by Benjamin Britten, was recently performed in Godmanchester Church, the two performances attracting full houses. The handbell part which comes in towards the end of the play was played by a team organised by Mr. H. S. Peacock, the Ely Diocesan Association's general secretary.

WHAT SORT OF RINGER ARE YOU?

A Questionnaire By Professor Dodge (Foreword By Harold Chant)

The following questionnaire was presented to me by Mr. Dodge, together with permission for its publication. I first tried it out on myself with the surprising result that I discovered that I am not half so good as I thought I was. Ringers should answer the questions truthfully and conscientiously and afterwards consult the answers (or a psychiatrist).

- When 'rounds for learners' is suggested at a meeting, do you
 - Sit down with patient resignation?
 - Be prepared to help either by taking a rope or standing behind a learner?
 - Go outside for a 'smoke'?
- At a meeting when one or two learners stand in for a 'touch' of plain bob, do you
 - Immediately offer to ring one of the bells in 'touch'?
 - Offer to stand behind one of the learners?
 - Sit down quietly and wait for the next 'touch'?
- If, whilst sitting down in the above 'touch,' one of the learners gets lost, do you
 - Shout instructions to him across the belfry?
 - Jump up, stand behind him, and tell him what to do?
 - Leave it to the conductor who was telling him anyway?
- When meeting for service ringing with only five ringers for 6, 8, 10 or 12 bells, do you
 - Wait outside to see if more ringers turn up?
 - Wait in the belfry to see if more ringers turn up?
 - Suggest that John pops round to Willie's to see if he has got out of bed. If not, 'call it a day'?
- When asked to stand in a peal, which do you first consult—
 - Your diary?
 - Your wife (or sweetheart)?
 - Your memory?
- Having decided to stand in, what is the first thing you enquire about—
 - The method(s)?
 - The bells?
 - The team?
- If you are conducting a peal and miss a 'bob,' do you
 - Wait until the next trip, sail into it and make a proper mess?
 - Call 'Stand' and confess your crime?
 - Call 'Stand' and say there has been a shift course?
 - Panic?
- When conducting a peal or 'touch,' do you
 - Call the bobs and hope for the best?
 - Transpose the coursing order at each call?
 - Call the bobs and have a 'spot check' at intervals throughout the composition?
- When asked to ring a method that you don't know, do you
 - Refuse to ring, saying that you have not rung the method for 10, 20, 30 years?
 - Refuse to take part, admitting that you don't know the method?
 - Glance at the method and have a go, willy-nilly?
- When you get lost, do you
 - Shout, 'What am I doing'?
 - Start shouting at someone else?

- Think quickly and try to put yourself right?
 - Panic?
- If the conductor instructs you to do something that you are certain you should not do, do you
 - Start to argue and refuse to do it?
 - Do it and say nothing?
 - Do it and shake your head?
 - Nod your head and carry on what you were doing?
 - What is your opinion of lady ringers? Are they
 - Decorative material for otherwise drab surroundings?
 - Useful stop-gaps for Sunday service ringing?
 - Equal in all respects, apart from brute force, to their male counterparts?
 - When discussing or arranging a ringers' outing, do you
 - Accept it as a heaven-sent opportunity for tower snatching?
 - Consider and make arrangements for wives, children and other sundry embellishments?
 - Regard it purely as a ringers' outing?
 - In a discussion, open leads v. closed leads, do you say that
 - You have no time for open leads?
 - You hold no brief for closed leads?
 - You don't mind which so long as the striking is good?
 - What is your opinion of the C.C. (Central Council)?
 - They are a sincere body of people doing a good job of work.
 - They are a meddlesome collection of busybodies, each anxious to obtain the limelight.
 - You are surprised to learn that C.C. stands for Central Council. You had always been under the impression that C.C. was a typographical error which should be preceded by an 'M.'
 - When a service is held at a ringers' meeting, do you
 - Complain that these take up too much ringing time and stay outside?
 - Complain, as above, but attend nevertheless?
 - Take part in, and enjoy, the service?
 - When the conductor says to the team in general: 'Listen to the striking, please,' do you - Feel a little surprised?
 - Listen to hear which fool is 'mucking things up'?
 - Listen to hear if your striking is all that it should be?
 - When the conductor tells you to 'Hold the fourth off at backstroke,' do you
 - Hold the fourth off at backstroke?
 - Set your bell and leave in disgust?
 - Ignore him, knowing that your hearing is as good as his?
 - Tell him to push the tenor on at hand-stroke?
 - When names are required for tea at the next meeting, do you
 - Send your name in good time?
 - Go to the meeting and hope for the best?
 - Wait until someone else offers to write and ask him to include your name?
 - At tea time, not having sent your name, do you
 - Sit down quickly at the tea-table?
 - Make your own arrangements about tea?
 - See the person in charge and ask him if there is a place to spare?

- When 'The Ringing World' is mentioned, do you
 - Complain that it doesn't cater for learners/advanced ringers, etc., etc.?
 - Encourage people who are not regular subscribers to start taking it?
 - Say that many articles are a waste of space and that you could write better ones yourself?
- When you read of 'the quickest peal on the bells,' do you
 - Resolve, if possible, to ring a quicker one at some future period?
 - Wonder what virtue there is in such a performance?
 - Glance at the weight of, and the ringer of, the tenor, and offer mental congratulations?
- When 6-5s at backstroke are mentioned, do you
 - Shrug your shoulders in indifference?
 - Resolve to try them out to test their interest and musical qualities?
 - Condemn them out of hand?
- On the question of irregular methods, do you
 - Shrug your shoulders in indifference?
 - Resolve to try them out to test their interest and musical qualities?
 - Condemn them out of hand?
- If, after wading through the questionnaire, you find that your total marks are low, will you
 - Dismiss the whole thing as a stupid joke?
 - Criticise the marking scheme?
 - Mark well your faults and try to amend your ways?

GRADING

85–100. You are an adornment to the Exercise, a pattern for all learners, or an extremely good liar.

60–84. A quite good-to-average type of ringer.

40–59. Beginning to come apart at the seams. Below 40. You would be better employed, as 'Old' Jack Brothwell used to say, 'Ringing a pikelet bell.'

BARNSELEY & DISTRICT SOCIETY

It is many years since the Barnsley and District Society visited Ackworth, near Pontefract. The meeting on August 8th will be remembered by the excellent tea provided in the Vicarage by the ladies of the village free of charge, and the splendid arrangements made by the Vicar (Rev. A. F. Armstrong). At the business meeting the Vicar presided, and Mr. Lamprey, of Ackworth, who has been a ringer from 1887, is now 84, was made a life member. Mr. Donald Gleason, of Darfield, was elected a ringing member and the Vicar an honorary member.

The next meeting will be the cup contest at Hoylandswaine on September 12th. The votes of thanks were proposed by Mr. James Thorley.

NOTES ABOUT THIS WEEK'S PEALS

The first peal of Yorkshire Royal on the bells of All Saints', Maidstone, was rung on June 27th.

For the annual procession of witness at Chorley on June 27th, which was attended by the Bishop of Lancaster, a peal was rung on the bells of St. Lawrence's Church.

The in memoriam peal to Mr. Alfred H. Pulling at Rotherham on July 8th was rung by the Sunday service band. Mr. Pulling joined the Yorkshire Association in 1930. Other in memoriam peals were rung at Erith, Whitwick and Guildford.

The peal at Handsworth, Yorks, on June 27th, was a wedding compliment to the Rev. T. N. Evans, who has been curate here for three years and is leaving for his own parish at Mexborough. He married on June 20th, at Handsworth, Miss P. M. Sparkes.

With the peal at Market Bosworth, Leics, on June 27th, which was a silver wedding compliment to him and his wife, Mr. John W. Rawson 'completed the circle' of these bells to peals.

The peal of 5,120 Kent T.B. Major at St. John-the-Baptist's, Worcester, was rung to mark the ordination of the Rev. Anthony Riley Williams, cousin of the conductor (Mr. Gerald C. Hemming) and nephew of Mr. Geoffrey J. Hemming, who was ordained at Bangor Cathedral on May 23rd, when a peal attempt failed.

Mr. Kenneth J. Minchinton, who rang in the first peal of Kent Treble Bob Major by a resident Australian band at St. Paul's Cathedral, Melbourne, on June 28th, had only previously rung three leads as a touch in the method.

The peal of Yorkshire Surprise Major at Rotherfield on June 28th was rung specially for the visit of the Bishop of Chichester for Confirmation. It was also a birthday compliment to Mr. W. A. Riddington.

Fourth-place bobs were used in the composition of 5,120 Norfolk Surprise Major rung at Hingham on July 1st. This composition of Mr. Nolan Golden's contains at course-ends 6th extent home and all combinations of 4-5-6 in 5-6.

The peal of Double Norwich Court Bob Major at Bristol Cathedral on July 4th was for the wedding of Miss Hilary Monica Harrison, daughter of the Very Rev. Douglas Harrison (Dean of Bristol), and Mr. David William Hide.

Mr. Hanbury F. Carter called the peal of Plain Bob Major at Marsham, Norfolk, on July 4th in honour of the 30th anniversary of his wedding. His wife shared in the rejoicings by ringing the treble.

The bicentenary of the bells at St. Thomas' Church, Stourbridge, was commemorated by the Sunday service band ringing a peal on the bells. It was also for St. Thomas' Boy Scouts' jubilee.

Local congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Derek Ogden on the birth of a son (Philip Mark) were extended by a peal of Yorkshire at St. Paul's, Walkden, on July 4th. It was also a birthday compliment to Mr. William H. Dowse.

At Broadclyst, Devon, a peal of Double Norwich Court Bob Major was rung as a wedding compliment to Mr. John L. S. Glanville and Miss Muriel C. Medler, both of Woodbury.

The peal rung at Cowbridge on July 4th was a 21st birthday compliment to Miss Patricia Jones, who was ringing her first peal 'inside,' and a farewell to Frank Taylor and Robin Lee, who left Cowbridge Grammar School at the end of the term.

The peal at Great Glen, Leics, on June 27th, was a compliment to Mr. and Mrs. J. Harry Cook on the birthday of a grand-daughter, and for the 17th birthday of the conductor (Mr. Roland H. Cook).

Mr. Walter Arnold, of Essex, has rung peals of Grandsire from Doubles to Cinques. The Doubles peal was rung at Black Notley on June 29th.

The bells of Rattlesden, Suffolk, rang on July 3rd for three wedding anniversaries—the Rector and Mrs. Evans', Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Mitson's and Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Girt's (silver). It was also a birthday compliment to Sandra Goodship.

CHISELDON'S BANK HOLIDAY

Along with a carload of friends from Aldbourne and Swindon, eight Chiseldon ringers set off on August Monday for a tour around the Andover district.

At Thruxton (6, 8 cwt.), the first tower, the sound of the bells was muffled by that of the motor-cycles. Before lunch we also rang at Abbot's Ann (5, 9 cwt.), and afterwards on the excellent six at Goodworth Clatford (8 cwt.), the five at Leckford (8 cwt.), hung in a curiously low-gabled tower, and Barton Stacey (6, 7 cwt.). Finally, to end the day, came Longparish (6, 7 cwt.) and St. Mary's Bourne (6, 12 cwt.).

Methods rung were Grandsire, Plain Bob, Stedman, All Saints, St. Nicholas' and St. Simon's Doubles and Plain Bob, and Kent T.B. Minor.

Our thanks are due to all those who helped to make this such an enjoyable day. R. J. J.

AN OUTING IN THE LINCOLNSHIRE WOLDS

Seventy years ago, a youngster named Joe Cheetham was learning to handle a bell. On July 11th that same youngster journeyed with members of the Dunholme and Saxilby bands on a tour of towers in the Lincolnshire Wolds. In the intervening period Joe had for more than 40 years been a popular and respected tower captain at Dunholme.

The party set out just after 9.15 on a trail blazed by the Vicar of Dunholme (Rev. G. Tyson) and the present captain, Stan Smith. It was not then known that before the day had run its course the variety of transport in use would add spice to the proceedings.

Horncastle proved a good jumping-off place, not only because of the good bells there but also because of the really warm welcome received from the Vicar and two members of the local band.

The storm which had been threatening caught up with us at Old Bolingbroke, but your scribe graciously declined to borrow someone else's jacket and made a dash from church to car through pouring rain in a rapidly-moistening shirt. His own jacket? Still hanging in the tower! He remembered it when we got to West Keal, and good old Jack Godfrey had to take him back to recover it.

The bells at West Keal have characteristics not often met with, and we made hard work of them, so that the really excellent coffee the ladies produced with the aid of Stan's primus was doubly welcome.

East Keal, with its anti-clockwise ring, and Stickney, have good bells; but at Stickney we had to terminate ringing 20 minutes earlier than planned as some young lady thought her affairs to be more important than ours. But we tried to produce some good ringing for her special benefit, and she made a charming bride.

Paul Coddington and David Fox had spent the morning at school trying to keep thoughts of bells out of their minds. They managed to escape detention and caught up with us at Stickney, where Paul rang for the first time in a tower other than his own. Rosemary now decided she'd like a ride in Martin's sidecar, and that was the only time during the day that the bike refused to start. We found the pair of them standing disconsolately outside a garage on our return from Sibsey, but repairs were almost complete.

At Sibsey the Saxilby contingent were pleased to see William Wilkinson, whose name has a definite place in the records of their tower—he was a member of the band which rang the first peal on their bells.

Holton Holgate, Spilsby for tea, Raithby (where Mr. Tyson was able to ring in the church of which he was once the incumbent), and finally the lovely church with a really grand ring of bells at Alford. We had visited eight 6-bell towers and one 8-bell tower. There was only one bad ring among them; and if any outing organisers have not tried this part of the country we can recommend it, as we know that there are plenty of other grand old churches with good bells in the area.

Eighty-one-year-old Joe Cheetham rang in all towers except the last. Maybe he was anxious to get off to the Windmill Inn where dinner was awaiting us.

It was 10 o'clockish when our vehicles finally turned their backs on the bright lights of Alford and nosed their way out into the darkness of the surrounding countryside. And now it was that Harry's 1936 Wolsley showed us the stuff of which she was made. Like an advancing army in the face of great odds, she fought for every mile of the way. When her headlights refused to work she used her spotlight, and when top gear was too much for her she rattled along in third. When someone in Horncastle stopped and stared she exploded her silencer at him with a crack like rifle-fire. We finally limped to a halt in Dunholme early on Sunday morning, breathing exhaust fumes and many a silent prayer, and Stan ran us over to Saxilby in his Dormobile.

Thanks go to the Vicar of Dunholme, Stan, Jack, Harry, Peter and John—who—as a member of the Saxilby band and instructor at Dunholme—is the link between the two towers.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

STEDMAN TRIPLES COMPOSITION

Dear Sir,—We must all thank Mr. Shirley Burton for bringing to light some once-rung but now forgotten peals of Stedman Triples by the late John O. Lancashire ('Ringing World,' February 27th, 1959).

I was especially interested in the odd and even bob and single composition with the 4th as observation. With the experience of having called it recently I can earnestly recommend it to any band who wish to ring Stedman Triples, apart from the usual twin bob compositions on Thurstans' plan. It is rather fearsome to look at but relatively easy to memorise and call and, according to the remainder of the band, interesting and easy to ring, with the great number of phrases bringing up the music in unexpected places and in interesting ways.

Whilst on the subject of forgotten compositions, I enclose the figures of an excellent composition in five equal parts by John Carter which, in my opinion, is well worth ringing.—Yours sincerely,

J. ALAN AINSWORTH.

Repeat four times.

Courses A contain 16 sixes, C and E 12 sixes.

The first peal composed with only seven calls in each course.

First rung November 27th, 1905, at St. Mary's, Gateshead-on-Tyne, conducted by William H. Barber.

MORPETH WATCH TOWER

Dear Sir,—With reference to the paragraph on page 438, the exception is taken to the peal ringers and not the practice night. On the practice night, Monday, the bells are so 'shuttered' that they can only be heard a few yards away. They stop for the Curfew, and after that the bells are again 'shuttered' and the practice continues. The ringers have practised for years, and still practise. People wonder what it is all for as there are no 'church bells,' only myself at the Ellacombe.

I do hope the president of the Durham and Newcastle Association will respect the Curfew when arranging peals.—Yours sincerely,

JENNIE ARMSTRONG.

Morpeth.

Note.—At the last meeting of the Morpeth Town Council the Mayor was emphatic that it was not the intention of the Council to do away with the Curfew. There was strong resentment at the view expressed by the B.B.C. in an interview with Miss Armstrong.—Ed.

THANKS TO EAST HERTS

Dear Sir,—Through the columns of your paper, I should like to thank my many friends in East Hertfordshire who have been so kind to me, and with whom I have spent so many happy hours, during my five years' sojourn in that district.

I have at last realised my greatest hopes for Little Hadham—a complete restoration, which, it is hoped, will be completed by Easter, 1960.

I have left the village with the satisfaction of knowing that my efforts were not in vain.

Also, as I am making a double move, and leaving Wavendon, where my first introduction to change-ringing took place, I should also like to thank all my friends in North Bucks and Bedfordshire for their kind help, especially at Woburn and Husborne Crawley.

My address from the end of this month will be 105, Tutbury Road, Burton-on-Trent, Staffs.

I hope that we will meet again some time in the future, and I feel certain that I will be very happy ringing for the Midland Counties Guild, but none the less, I shall miss you all.—Yours, etc.,

ADRIAN C. WEDGWOOD.

THE FIRST BROADCAST

Dear Sir,—Regarding Mr. Caleb Fenn's inquiry, the first broadcasting of church bells for a service was some time in 1923, from Crowland Abbey, and the time allowed was five minutes. Just before the service the wires and cables were cut so that it should not be broadcast, and later on another attempt was tried. In the meantime the bells of St. Martin-in-the-Fields went on the air, and carried on once a month afterwards for five minutes with tune playing and call-changes. Once at Bow Church, during a children's broadcast of the bells, a bell had a stay broken, and we heard it run down. I believe Mr. Willie Roughton was in charge at the time.—Yours, etc.,

Kempston, Beds.

PEARL INSKIP.

CRACKED CHURCH TOWERS

Dear Sir,—A crack has developed in the north wall of the tower of St. Peter's, Bolton, Lancs. It is a large tower, about 150 feet high, buttressed and built of dressed stone. It has always been understood that the foundations are as much below the ground level as it rises above. This was done to get on to rock. The tower contains a ring of eight bells (tenor 15½ cwt.). To my own knowledge the 'go' has been excellent during the past 54 years.

My interest now is to try to ascertain the cause. I have a theory that the cause may be ringing call-changes. For many years, much longer than my first contact there, there was a good change-ringing band: 840 for matins and evensong was the regular order of ringing, and a large number of peals have been rung there. The war altered the order of ringing from change to call-changes.

The bells are hung so that four swing east and west and four north and south, the heaviest weight of metal being east and west. When there is change-ringing there is a definite shake felt in the tower walls, but is only of seconds duration, obviously being countered by the ever changing swing of the bells. If when ringing call-changes the four bells swinging east and west were left in that rotation for a considerable time, the shake in the fabric would develop into a swing and be accelerated instead of countered.

Perhaps some other ringers have had experience of cracked tower walls, and if so, had there been much call-change ringing done there? I would welcome observations because, if it was thought that this may be the cause, then perhaps the best advice would be to change the order of ringing very frequently. This is no reflection on call-change ringers, but it may be, perhaps, a prevention of another cracked church tower.—Yours, etc.,

PETER CROOK.

Bolton, Lancs.

WINCHESTER & PORTSMOUTH DIOCESAN GUILD

Dear Sir,—With reference to my previous letter respecting the non-payment of booking fees for a number of peals published in the columns of 'The Ringing World' under the heading of the above Guild, it was unanimously agreed by the executive committee at the Guild's annual meeting at Portsmouth the following peals be deleted from the Guild records, as the booking fees for them had not been paid.

12/7/58: Seven methods Minor at Upton Grey (conductor, R. G. Leale); 28/9/58: Bristol Surprise Major at Hawkley (R. G. Leale); 2/10/58: Two methods of Doubles at Heckfield (F. R. Scott); 8/10/58: Winchendon Place Bob Doubles at Abbot's Ann (R. G. Leale); 8/10/58: Four methods Minor at Lockerley (R. G. Leale); 15/10/58: New Doubles at Silchester (R. G. Leale); 20/10/58: Yorkshire Surprise Major at Liss (R. G. Leale); 27/12/58: Six methods Minor at Speen, Berks (R. G. Leale).

Will the Central Council Peals Committee please note these peals should not be credited to the Winchester and Portsmouth Guild.—Yours faithfully,

D. T. MATKIN, Peal Recorder.

Bournemouth, Hants.

OBITUARY

MR. FREDERICK SHEPHARD

With regret we announce that Mr. Frederick Shephard, lately of Hersham, Surrey, died on August 1st, aged 78, after a short illness. He had been a regular Sunday service ringer at St. Mary's, Sunbury-on-Thames, for 57 years, commencing in 1901 when the present octave was cast and hung. He also served on the P.C.C. and was a sidesman for many years.

His ringing career was almost entirely devoted to service ringing, but he enjoyed District meetings, if only to sit outside and listen. He rang several quarter peals and two peals—Grandsire Triples in 1913 and Grandsire Doubles in 1951, the latter to mark his 50 years as a ringer at Sunbury. In the days before the 1914-18 war he frequented the Middlesex Association meetings by organising parties to travel to them in a horse-drawn cab. In October last year he moved home to Hersham, where he immediately joined the band at St. Peter's, and served with them until the time of his illness.

The funeral was at Sunbury-on-Thames on August 7th, when ringers from Hampton, Hersham, Staines and Sunbury rang the bells half-muffled before and after the service. On the previous evening a quarter peal of Grandsire Triples was rung half-muffled at Hersham.

MR. A. B. WIFFEN

We regret to announce the death suddenly of Arthur B. Wiffen, aged 73, at the home of his daughter, 23, Burdeshott Avenue, Richmond, Surrey, on July 7th. He was cremated at Mortlake Crematorium on July 10th.

Mr. Wiffen rang his first peal at Braintree in 1902, and had rung about 50 peals, including London. He was a regular Sunday service ringer at St. Mary Abbots', Kensington, for many years, but retired from ringing about five years ago owing to ill-health.

He joined the Essex Association in 1901, and was also a member of the Middlesex County Association, the Sussex County Association, London County Association, Ancient Society of College Youths, the National Police Guild, the Hertford County Association and St. Mary Abbots' Guild.

THE PEALS OF THE LATE MR. A. H. PULLING

The late Mr. A. H. Pulling, of Guildford, rang 1,492 peals, of which he conducted 1,289. Of these, 502 were rung 'in hand' (conducted 455). Details:—

FIVE RINGERS' OUTINGS

SOUTH BUCKS RINGERS IN LOUGHBOROUGH

Twelve young ringers from South Bucks hired a minibus to visit the north of Leicestershire on July 18th. Apart from a slight argument with a cow, the outward journey was uneventful, and we arrived at Rothley with half-an-hour to spare. Fortunately, Geoffrey Brewin, who was meeting us, arrived early too, and we had an hour on this very pleasant six. Alan Hartley, who had been in our part of the world until about a year ago, also joined us here.

After a sandwich lunch we toured Taylor's foundry, where we tapped out courses of Plain Bob Minor and Grandsire Doubles on some new bells. We were all a little apprehensive about ringing on the Foundry bells, but soon became accustomed to them. Methods rung included Plain Bob Minor on the front six (with the ladies turning in the tenors), Cambridge, Grandsire Caters, with the treble handled admirably by 14-year-old Valerie Hoby, and enough rounds to allow the youngest member of the party to ring every bell in the tower.

After the foundry, we went to Quorn (8, 14 cwt.), which we found to be odd-struck; we didn't put up our best performance here. On to Barrow-on-Soar, a very noisy six. After tea in Barrow, we left for Sileby. The bells here are a very nice 22 cwt. eight. We rang them much too slowly at first, but a fast touch of Stedman proved that they are better when they are running fast.

At Sileby the official programme ended, but we went on to a meeting at King's Norton, where the Leicester ringers very kindly let most of us ring in the first touch. We found it wasn't quite so kind after all—we had the utmost difficulty in ringing rounds on them. Apparently no work has been done on these bells for nearly 300 years. Some of the well-known Leicester ringers rang half a course of Cambridge on them, but by this time one bell was minus a stay. So ended a most enjoyable day.

'LEVIS.'

DARTFORD AND DISTRICT

On June 6th, Dartford and District Ringers spent a very enjoyable day in parts of Berks and Bucks, and it is largely due to the ready help and advice from the District and local secretaries that this was possible. Towers visited were Windsor, Marlow, Bray, Burnham, Stoke Poges and Slough. At all towers some of the resident ringers were there to greet us, and a very full programme of ringing was put on to suit all tastes. Courses of Grandsire and Stedman Caters were rung at Slough.

At two or three towers the non-ringers were conducted around the churches by clergy or vergers, and this innovation was very much appreciated. R.G.R.

GUILSBOROUGH BRANCH

Over 60 members and friends of the Guildsborough Branch of the Peterborough Guild on June 27th enjoyed a day's outing in Essex and Suffolk.

At Saffron Walden they added to those already attending the 'Great Ringing Day' and produced an overcrowded belfry, until lunch called the hungry (and thirsty). Despite a broken rope, all had a pull, many ringing on 12 for the first time.

The other towers visited during afternoon and evening were Stoke-by-Clare (6), Lavenham (8) and St. Mary's, Newmarket (6), all of which were much appreciated, as was the willing co-operation of the incumbents and tower keepers. The considered opinion of the younger generation was that the long journey home was not long enough.

HUNTINGDON RINGERS VISIT HERTFORDSHIRE

This England is a very fair place to explore during the early summer months, and surely one of the fairest parts is the chalky Chilterns of East Hertfordshire. It was so when the Hunts Branch made their annual tour on July 4th. Careering down the leafy, narrow lanes in a comfortable coach with a pleasant company, searching for those flint towers with a little spire on top, is a pleasant occupation for any respectable bell-ringer. An interesting innovation this year was the little guide leaflet, compiled by our efficient secretary, and we were particularly pleased with the notes on 'vernacular,' thus being able to converse freely with 'Aarthur of Haar'r'sheer' when we met him.

In the morning we rang at Barley, first passing under the archway of the Fox and Hounds, and then at the picturesque village of Braughing. Sharing the hotel at lunch with a wedding feast is fast becoming our custom, and we were much amused by the strains of 'The Merry Widow' played by the orchestra.

During the afternoon the thermometer went up to the 80's, when we rang at Hertford (St. Andrew's) and Little Munden. In spite of this we enjoyed both. After a refreshing tea, kindly served to us by ladies at Little Munden, we climbed into the coach, and then the geography changed completely. The quiet countryside gave way to the hustle and bustle of the new town of Stevenage and the Great North Road. However, we turned off and rang on the nice little six at Graveley. Our final ring was at Baldock, where there is a majestic eight. It would probably be true to say that we did not do justice to the lovely tenor and her fellows, but with some assistance managed a course of Cambridge Major.

The many young people in the party gained much experience by this trip, and even if the ringing was not of top grade Surprise we feel that the outing was again a complete success. The arrangements were made again by Mr. H. Peacock, assisted by Mr. M. Dyer, and our thanks are due to them. I cannot conclude without reporting that one face was missed—a face from Hampstead, with flowing locks and a bent pipe, who had been with us for a number of years. He was, indeed, missed very much. R.F.B.

S.W. ESSEX AT THE 'GREAT RINGING DAY'

The success of Saffron Walden's Great Ringing Day this year was assured by the arrival of more than one coachload of ringers to keep the 12 bells going throughout the day.

A party from the South Western Division of the Essex Association called at Thaxted en route and enjoyed some good ringing at this splendid church: the celebrated horn-dancers who seemed to resent our hunting-horn greeting last year were not in action this time.

Little ringing was possible for the Essex party at Saffron Walden before lunch owing to the arrival of a coach outing of ringers from the Midlands, but full use of the bells was made throughout the afternoon, rounds on 12 and Grandsire and Stedman Cinques providing opportunities for people who rarely get a chance of 12-bell ringing in Essex to obtain experience.

On the return journey a stop was made at Bishop's Stortford for some 10-bell ringing to suit all capabilities up to Cambridge Royal, and thence to the Good Intent at Sawbridge-worth, where the rest of the evening was spent in dealing with a huge buffet supper and in singing curious songs, accompanied at the piano by L. (Lionel, definitely not Liberace) Woods.

Our thanks are once again due to the same Lionel for organising this happy trip. A.B.

University Of Bristol Society's Summer Tour, 1959

AFTER the ups and downs of Exmoor on our summer tour, 1958, we decided this year to visit Wiltshire because it is flatter. Also this meant lots of new towers for everyone except the Society's 'grandfather,' who assured us that bad weather was in store for us. However, the tour coincided with the hottest week so far this year, and we certainly couldn't have asked for better weather.

The tour began in Gloucestershire on Friday, June 12th, at Chalford, near Stroud. The more energetic members of the party cycled out from Bristol while the lazy ones took the train as far as Stonehouse. Twelve members assembled at Chalford, where the six bells (tenor 10 cwt.) are of steel. We found them quite difficult to ring: College Bob was among the successful touches here. Thence we went up the hill to Bisley (8, 17 cwt.). The two trebles were inaudible in the ringing chamber, and this made ringing more difficult than it was already owing to the long pull. They sounded very pleasant outside, however, and the village was delightful—a typical Cotswold scene. The first puncture of the tour occurred here: we don't usually expect punctures on the first day!

The next stop was Brockworth, and the main body of the party reached it by way of Birdlip, where the magnificent view was admired. The six bells at Brockworth are very nice indeed, and we really enjoyed ringing them. Some good striking was heard for the first time and a course of York Surprise was rung, amongst other methods. From Brockworth we cycled through Cheltenham to Prestbury, where the second puncture was discovered and repaired in the record time of five minutes. We were met by the Curate, who is a ringer, and he and the tower captain joined us to ring on the pleasant eight. A course of Double Norwich brought the day's ringing to an end. Then we set out for Cleeve Hill Youth Hostel which was, of course, right at the top of the hill. It was reached eventually and proved an excellent place.

Saturday dawned bright and sunny, and the cycle ride down the hill and through the outskirts of Cheltenham to Charlton Kings was most enjoyable. The bells (8, 20 cwt.) were some of the best we rang on, and a course of Cambridge Major was well struck. The schedule allowed us half-an-hour to reach Rendcomb, about nine miles away. The day had become very hot by now and the road was quite hilly. The 'boys' managed to average 24 m.p.h. by cycling behind a lorry, and the others arrived at intervals of up to 40 minutes after them. We found these bells very nice but the ringing on them was not of a high standard.

The party then split up for lunch before ringing at Siddington, a suburb of Cirencester. The bells here are a noisy six but easy to handle.

PEAL FAILURE

After ringing up, five of the party left for South Cerney, where they were joined by the Society's grandfather, who had that morning finished his finals, to attempt a peal in honour of the 21st birthday of our Master-elect. Unfortunately, this failed in the sixth extent. The other seven members went on to Kemble, which we found to be a very good six, and then, after tea, to Ashton Keynes (a heavy five), which didn't go very well. We were joined here by the peal band, and after celebrating Roy's birthday in the Horse and Jockey, we spent the night at Ashton Keynes Youth Hostel.

On Sunday morning we cycled into Cirencester to ring for sung Eucharist at Holy Trinity, Watermoor. After a trip round the town we cycled slowly to Thames Head Bridge and ate packed lunches by the roadside. We then went in search of the source of the Thames, and after a cycle trip across a field and along a narrow track through woods, which ended in someone's back garden, we managed to obtain directions and walked across fields to the source. We were rather disappointed at what we saw, but we had photographs taken grouped around the statue of Father Thames, and then a game of cricket was enjoyed before travelling back to Cirencester for tea and ringing for Evensong at St. John's. We were not able to do justice to the 12, but some Caters on the back ten was reasonable. After Evensong we returned to Ashton Keynes for the night.

On Monday the first tower was Minety, an excellent six (tenor 13 cwt.). A new treble was added to the old five and they were rehung during last year. We found them noisy in the belfry, but the ringing was of a high standard. A broken chain delayed two members of the party, but this proved to be the last major catastrophe of the tour. Then on to Long Newton where, after mending a rope, we raised the bells. These had not been rung for some years and they were in a very bad state. During the ringing one of the ladies managed to break the wheel of the fourth. After lunch in Tetbury we went on to Shipton Mayne. Before ringing, some of the party added The Cat and Custard Pot to their list of names of inns. We were only able to ring five here because the fourth was cracked.

We then proceeded to Malmesbury. We arrived early and were able to admire the beautiful Abbey church. The bells do not really belong to the Abbey, which originally had a western tower and a central spire of its own, but are in a detached tower some distance away. We found these an easy eight to ring, and the ringing was good on the whole. The cycle ride to Brinkworth was not very pleasant as there was a strong head wind, and when we arrived the six bells were found to be rather noisy. Here the tenor man had an excellent view of the ringer of the fifth but could see nothing else. From Brinkworth we returned to Ashton Keynes for our last night there. The ladies were treated to a mannequin parade of men in pyjamas, and were not very impressed.

A GREAT EXPERIENCE

Tuesday was bright and sunny again in spite of the adverse weather forecasts, and the day grew gradually hotter as time went on. Cricklade was the first tower. To ring here is a great experience. The five bells are rung from the choir stalls, and there is thus an immense length of rope: they are also anti-clockwise. We found them much easier to ring than we had anticipated and the ringing was of a high standard. From Cricklade we cycled to Purton, where we were met by five members of Reading University Society travelling by car, who joined us for the rest of the day. Purton Church is most interesting in that it has a western tower containing the heavy six, and also a central spire. The ringing included a course of Nether-seale Surprise.

Lunch was the next item on the programme, and the party split up for this, although the ways of two of the groups crossed at one point. The next tower was Broad Blunsden. Walter True-man's tower, and he left us a message of welcome. The bells are a very light six (tenor 5½ cwt.) and the trebles in particular were found difficult to handle. London and Lightfoot were among the methods rung. Then on to Highworth, a very pleasant eight. We then journeyed over the Wilts/Berks border to Shrivenham, and on the way the car party managed to have a puncture. The eight at Shrivenham are also very nice, and although by now the hands of the Bristol party at least were beginning to show signs of wear and tear, the ringing was very good. From Shrivenham we went to Great Coxwell, a noisy five which hadn't been rung for four years. We found these extremely difficult to manage and the ropes were much too long. The tenor was rung more successfully by kneeling down to it. The electronic organ in the church aroused the interest of the 'organ grabbers' in the party, and this, together with the orange squash which the Rector kindly provided, made up for what the bells lacked. We said goodbye to the Reading party and then cycled into Faringdon for fish and chips and liquid refreshment before going to the hostel at Inglesham.

TIT FOR TAT

After arrival at the hostel the men cycled to the nearest village, which proved to be Highworth, for the usual refreshment. That night some of them found difficulty in getting into their pyjamas: but the score was equalised because of the mysterious disappearance of the girls' bikes the following morning. After they had turned up again we cycled into Swindon and, having circumnavigated the town, we eventually arrived at St. Mark's Church. No reply to requests to ring here had been received, but the necessary permission was obtained from the curate who happened to be in the church at the time, and we found the bells a very pleasing eight. Bristol was at last successful, although at least one member of the band didn't really know what she was doing.

We lunched in a café with a juke-box before going to Wroughton, where the bells have recently been augmented to six. As they were heavy, the ringing was necessarily slow, and some good striking was achieved. Double Stedman Minor was rung and also Double Court. The temperature was by this time approaching 80° and we felt rather less inclined to ring because of it. Then we went on to Chiseldon, where we were just in time to satisfy raging thirsts before going to the church.

There is always a sad note about the last tower of the summer tour, as it is the last opportunity we have of ringing together until the beginning of the next session, and some of the party are leaving us. It was appropriate that we should finish here because the bells were very nice indeed. Some of the ringing was very good and it included a course of Wells. We ended with a touch of Chase Doubles because we were all about to chase off in various directions.

I must not finish this account before expressing grateful thanks on behalf of all the Society to Brian Wyld, our secretary, particularly for the arrangement of this year's tour which ran so smoothly. A.G.

GEORGE BAKER

THE brief obituary in May told us of the passing of an old timer, and also of one who made his mark in the Exercise. The name of George Baker may mean nothing to many of the present generation of ringers, as his peal ringing days were in the 1890's, but some of his work lives on. He was a member of the Brighton Parish Church band, and also a member of the famous peal band who used to organise peal-ringing weeks and attempt a peal every night.

After ringing peals in most of the Surprise methods, including the first ever of Bristol, George turned his attention to composition and produced a number of peals, some of which are still rung. Then he began the study of method construction and extension. He evolved a system of his own and worked more by figures than by diagram. It seemed almost certain that this system would die with him as very few ringers understood his 'Round Blocks and Transpositions.'

The late John Goldsmith once satirised him in an article which he called 'The Brains Bust.' 'Round blocks and transpositions,' said Mr. Goldsmith, 'can be made to prove anything.' But G. B. took it in good grace and kept silence. In the 1920's G. B. wrote dozens of letters to the 'R.W.' and carried on a voluminous correspondence with Messrs. J. A. Trollope, Wm. Taylor, York-Bramble, and sometimes G. Lindoff and H. Law James joined in. G. B. once told the Rev. H. Law James that there was nobody so blind as those who would not see. John Goldsmith was never short of copy when these gentlemen were on with their highly technical arguments. Mr. A. York-Bramble is the only one left, and he is very quiet nowadays.

There were several extensions of London put forward, starting with the one by the College Youths in 1907. No. 2 was by A. York-Bramble, No. 3 by G. Baker, and No. 4 by W. Taylor. Time has shown that the only one which appeals to ringers is No. 3, and it is the only one now rung. It would be a nice gesture to call it Baker's Extension instead of No. 3 Version. (Incidentally, if any extensions have been missed, it is not intentional.)

Very few people would think of emigrating at the age of 90, but G. Baker did, and lived to be 92. He went to New Zealand with his daughter and, sure enough, he found some of the New Zealand ringers. Of course, his active ringing days were over, but he was interested in theoretical matters to the end. He had a fine collection of ringing books (so I am informed), and we hope that these will find a 'safe' home and not be lost. So we say farewell to one who by his energy and originality made the Exercise sit up and take notice. He often used the pen name of 'Owen Kay,' but this did not hide his identity.

THOUGHTS ON SURVEY OF SUNDAY RINGING

THE survey is now complete and has been published.

It has presented many facts about ringing generally, but the two words Sunday and Christianity have been kept hidden. If it is true to say that . . . 'the bells of any parish church are some of its best missionaries and publicity agents . . .,' then surely it should be of the utmost importance that every ringer should be first and foremost an active member of the Church. If this is so, then it follows that the connection between the tower and the body of the Church will be strong.

All of us who have tried to strengthen our bonds will know that it is not the size of the population that controls the number of eligible recruits but it is the life within the Church itself that is the controlling factor. I think that every Ringing Guild or Association could assist here by stipulating that every learner, and in fact every member, could only join by passing a proficiency test and by attending church regularly.

I notice also that it is considered cheerful to record that 'love of ringing' is a favourable factor, and yet would it not be more joyful to record 'for the love of God'? I wonder if anyone did?

I do not suggest that if one collected together the most intense members of one's congregation and instilled into them concentrated bellmanship they would be able eventually to ring Spliced Surprise Major for service ringing—they wouldn't, but they would bring into the belfry generally a feeling of Christianity which I feel is sadly missing in most towers to-day. Go to any Guild practice and see just how many ringers stay to the service, and of those that stay how many take an active part in the service.

To sum up, I would say that it is high time we ringers strengthened our ties with the Church before we pat ourselves on the back and say, Yes, but there are 41,700 ringers in the British Isles.' How many of these stay to church every Sunday? How many of them are regular communicants—700? No, I am being pessimistic. But WHY has the survey been so quiet about this all-important matter.

Mr. Frederick Sharpe is back in harness after a holiday in Wales. He has now ten towers to complete for his book 'The Bells of Cardiganshire.' Awaiting a publisher is his book on 'The Church Bells of Guernsey.' There are 18 towers on the island and many are by French bell-founders.

Yatton's claim to have rung the first quarter of Erin Triples in the Chew Deanery comes as a surprise to the band who rang one at Long Ashton a year ago on August 29th, 1958 ('R.W.' No. 2,476, September 12th, 1959).

The missing ringer in the quarter peal of 11 Doubles methods at Nailsea, Som ('R.W.', August 14th), was J. Brain, who rang the fifth. The conductor (M. Horseman) rang the fourth, not the fifth, as stated.

Supt. Claude Rush, of Eye, has retired from the Suffolk Constabulary and is now living at Felixstowe. Towards the bell restoration at Eye he raised £1,500, of which £877 was from the sale of 160 tons of salvage.

The Master (Mr. Wilfred Williams) conducted a peal of Yorkshire Surprise Maximus for the Ancient Society of College Youths at St. Saviour's Cathedral, Southwark, on August 15th. Mr. Cecil W. Pipe was on the tenor, the peal being completed in, one minute under four hours.

On a recent West Country tour, Sherborne Abbey tenor was rung to a peal of Bob Major by a 20-year-old ringer. Is this a record for that weight? Also the same ringer was ringing Wells Cathedral tenor single-handed when the peal was lost after 3 hours 25 minutes! Other peals scored on the tour were 4-Spliced S. Major at Chewton Mendip by a 17-year-old band, 3-Spliced at Broadclyst, Yorkshire at Heavitree, Exeter, and peals of Cambridge and Southwell S. Major.

BELFRY GOSSIP

For the first time in some 30 years, Canon Cox missed the annual outing of St. Michael's Guild, Lyme Regis, to the Isle of Wight. In mid-Solent a touch of Grandshire Caters was rung on handbells, to the interest of fellow passengers. The band was quite shaken, however, when one lady was heard to remark: 'They must be foreigners!'

Oakley, Suffolk, bells are to be rehung. A total of £300 has still to be raised.

The quarter peal on page 452 credited to Burwell was rung at Exning and was conducted by Mr. J. Gentleman.

The week's tour of West Countrymen in North Wales and Cheshire was in no sense a tower grab—only 15 towers were visited. This must approach an all-time low record.

An attempt for a peal of Stedman Cinques at Winchester Cathedral on August 15th to welcome the Dean, the Very Rev. N. Sykes, was lost after 1 hour and 50 minutes due to a broken rope.

On one of the hottest afternoons of the year (July 4th) the fourth bell at Little Waltham, Essex, started to run dry. The ringer, 16-year-old Ian R. Panton, was nearly finished. As the last 720 was being entered Mr. Joe E. H. Roast, with a neat side-stepping action, exchanged ropes with Ian, and the peal was finished in good style.

Good work is being done by Mr. Stephen Thompson (69) at St. Mary's Church, Wickham, Co. Durham. The last of the church's regular band, he could not bear the thought after 54 years of ringing in this Norman tower, for the bells to be silent. He has now recruited four girls, and with the help of Miss Dorothy Best, by plenty of practice, has hopes of something useful in three months' time.

RAVING RINGERS TOUR SOUTH WALES

The increased number of Raving Ringers present on the 1959 tour enabled a much more ambitious programme to be attempted than had been possible on previous tours.

Twelve ringers, average age 21, and representing eight counties, assembled at Chepstow on July 20th at the beginning of an eight-day ringing tour, including 62 towers in Glamorgan, Brecknockshire, Herefordshire, Monmouthshire and Carmarthenshire.

The headquarters was at Bedwas, where the Ravers, true to tradition, camped 500 feet up the side of a mountain. Slight difficulty was found in transporting the Ravers and equipment to the camp site, but all eventually arrived, even if on foot and not by car as initially intended. Two of the more enthusiastic Ravers cycled from Gloucester, and grabbed an extra tower en route.

Sunday, the first full day of the tour, dawned grey, and it eventually decided to rain continuously all day. Only four towers were visited, however, including Llandaff Cathedral, where we enjoyed being conducted around the Cathedral, reconstructed after war damage, as much as ringing on the ten. We later joined the local band for service ringing at Penarth, where we rang some well-struck Grandsire and Double Norwich.

Monday saw the party ring their way across Monmouthshire and into Herefordshire.

Nine towers in all were visited, including Usk (8), Monmouth, and several difficult-going 5's and 6's in Monmouthshire and Herefordshire. The day's ringing finished at Abergavenny, where we were pleased to join the local ringers at practice on the lovely ten.

12-BELL RINGING

Tuesday was another full day and eight towers were visited, including the only 12 in Wales and Monmouthshire at St. Woolos', Newport, where with the local ringers we were able to ring Grandsire Cinques and Plain Bob Maximus. Earlier in the day we were pleasantly surprised by the unexpectedly good tone and handling of the steel bells at Bassaleg.

Wednesday's programme included ten towers, mostly in Brecknockshire, calling at Ebbw Vale en route. Before ringing could commence at Llangasty Tal-y-Uyn (a four), we had to do some carpentry with a saw to six inches of extra stay on two of the bells. We also rang at Bronllys, one of the only two detached towers in Wales. The party posed outside Bronllys for a photograph.

Thursday dawned a bit brighter than it had been all the week, and we spent a pleasant day touring Glamorgan, ringing at nine towers, including Pendoylan (6). (N.B.—The dedication is St. Cadoc, not St. Teilo.) We joined the Cardiff ringers at St. John's (10) for their practice night.

The highlight of Friday's ringing was St. Mary's, Swansea, where the lovely eight went well to Stedman and Plain Bob Major. We also rang at Burry Port, the furthest point west that we visited. On the way back we had an excellent practice at Neath, Cadoxton, where we rang Reading and St. Albans Doubles, having representatives from both towns on tour.

Saturday's programme included eight towers in Monmouth and Glamorgan, starting at Llanbradach (8), where we were pleased to see that the sallies had been removed from their mothballs. Just before Rumney, however, we ran into transport difficulties when one car developed chronic clutch trouble; but thanks to local ringers we were able to finish the day.

Sunday dawned again bright, and we were joined by two more Ravers from Gloucester. Nine Ravers piled into the 'Heavy Austin,' 1929 vintage, and six into the Morris Minor, and we set off. Despite these rather cramped conditions we arrived safely at Pontypridd, and after ringing for morning service we reloaded and moved on to Pentre, the heaviest eight in Wales. The ringing was much enjoyed by all the Ravers, and we were sorry to have to move on, over the mountains to Llangynwyd (6). The last call of the day was at Cowbridge (a lovely eight), where we enjoyed the ringing and service.

Owing to further clutch complications, the gear box of the afflicted car was quickly removed to Pontypridd in the early hours of Monday morning, and despite frantic efforts by the tour's mechanics we arrived at the last tower of the 1959 tour seven hours late (we hadn't been more than ten minutes out all week). Even then things wouldn't go right, and the fifth insisted on jamming as soon as 'Go, Cambridge' was uttered. Eventually we gave up, rang some rounds and departed.

Five miles out of Monmouth the ailing car finally gave up the ghost, and we spent our last evening ringing handbells on the side of the road. We were eventually rescued by the Morris, and we abandoned the car and spent Monday night on the floor of one of our nobler member's sitting room in Gloucester. Degraded, we caught the 12.18 to Paddington, with hopes of next year's tour the only things to lighten our pain. The Raving Ringers would like to thank the incumbents and tower foremen for helping such a successful tour, and also Mr. and Mrs. K. Lewis, of Bedwas, for their wonderful hospitality.

VICAR AS BELLHANGERS' LABOURER

Rededication At Offton, Suffolk

Roughly eight miles north west of Ipswich lies the small parish of Offton, with barely 300 inhabitants. There is quite a lot of history here, and this shows that every now and then a big sum of money has been spent on renovations and adornments to the Parish Church of St. Mary, but never so much as £1,150 at one go, which is the bill for the overhaul of its five bells and adding a new treble to make a ring of six. The parish has set itself this task, and has had the job done by Messrs. John Taylor & Co.

On July 31st Dr. Harold Morris, Lord Bishop of St. Edmundsbury and Ipswich, performed the dedication ceremony and preached the sermon to a church so full that some stood at the foot of the tower and in the porch.

Ringers were there from all over the area: some came from Buckinghamshire, and that stalwart Urban Wildney, from Essex, was there. Veteran Charles J. Sedgley, and the leader of Pipe's Pilgrims (Cecil W. Pipe) were there, too, the latter having rung his first peal, called by Geo. A. Symonds (now 84 years old) 39 years before on that same date in 1920.

The Vicar (Rev. P. L. Strickland) read the first lesson, and the Rural Dean (Canon S. H. de la Bere) the second.

The Bishop expressed his appreciation of what was being done with the bells, and that a new floor had been put in the tower. Over £300 had been raised towards the cost and the diocese would grant about £100. Although much work had been done, he knew that the parish would not be any happier than the rector until all the money had been raised. He said: 'Don't worry too much about this large debt—the money will come in time. It is that which you work for that really gives pleasure. May your bells give you very great joy and happiness.'

He was not infrequently dedicating and rededicating bells and other church fittings in the diocese, and that showed that there was loving care of the church. Loving care of the church meant loving care of the people and concern about the deeper things of the spirit.

ARCHBISHOP IN SUFFOLK

The Archbishop of Canterbury had spent a holiday in Suffolk this year—five days at Lavenham and five at Aldeburgh. In that time he had visited 30 churches in Suffolk and had expressed his appreciation of how well cared for all but two were. He found hymn books carefully stacked and women of the parish cleaning. He had found the people friendly. Often he was not wearing a clerical collar so it was likely that many that he spoke to did not know who he was. Offton might well be one of the churches he visited.

But, the Bishop continued, churches should not only be kept beautifully but well used for the purpose for which they existed. He believed that there was now a coming back to church in town and country.

'When you hear church bells, you may ask yourself: "Why am I not on my way to church instead of the garden or the allotment?" To sick people who cannot attend church, the

REMINISCENCES OF OLD LONDON RINGERS

MR. GEORGE E. SYMONDS, of Ipswich, is the first to respond to the request of Mr. Joe Thornley for reminiscences of London ringers. His period covers the years from 1895 to 1900. In those days Mr. Symonds often travelled to Ipswich by a train on a Sunday morning called "The Sunday League." For the extraordinarily low fare of 2s. 6d., he writes, he not only travelled 140 miles but had the privilege of ringing with Bill Catchpole and Jimmy Motts, who were the first two to call peals of Double Norwich Court Bob Maximus. The only two living ringers to do this, he adds, are Charlie Sedgley and himself.

"I left the Suffolk village of Thornham, near Eye (6 bells), in 1895 for "The Smoke," as London was often called. I was living near St. John's, Waterloo Road, and was soon ringing with W. Barron, nicknamed "Tubby," who was renowned for calling Holt's Original. There were also brothers Harold and Arthur, and cousin Jimmy Davis. Harold was a noted composer.

"Others at that time were the brothers Tom, Bill and Bert Langdon, with their father, "Topsy," as he always wore a high silk hat; brothers Bill and Harry Pasmore, the latter being an expert at double handbell ringing of Surprise methods. Another was William Weatherstone, who always remarked, after losing a peal: "We went as far as we knew." There was also Bill Fussell, commemorated at Slough, who later went on the Australian tour, and designed the heading of "The Ringing World."

"A good conductor was Harry Barton, especially in Stedman Caters, at St. Margaret's, Westminster. George Wilde was steeple keeper at St. John's, Vassal Road, Brixton, which was bombed."

AT ST. PAUL'S

"Ezra Carter was then a member of St. Paul's Cathedral band, and as his duties kept him at work on some Sunday afternoons, I deputised for him, thereby meeting the College Youths' genial secretary, W. T. Cockerill. Madgewick used to say he trembled to think what would happen to the A.C.Y. if Mr. Cockerill died. The conductor at St. Paul's then was James Pettitt, and it was said of him that he called 52 different three-courses of Stedman Cinques in one year. With them were Bob Haworth, a printer and philanthropist, Billy Cooter, Fred Newman and many others.

"I also knew Francis Dawe (Frank, to friends), who was a rent collector for very expensive flats. It was said he sat down to lunch under Great Paul (17 tons) when it was a few feet above the ground prior to being hoisted into the south west tower of St. Paul's Cathedral. When peal ringing, Dawe always had a damp sponge at his waist to moisten his hands.

"At St. Martin-in-the-Fields was jovial Jack Mansfield, who sat on a stool and "clocked" hymn tunes on eight bells. John Nebus was the conductor here. He was "passing" the bell for the late W. E. Gladstone when he had a seizure, was taken to hospital, and died."

'BACK SLANG'

"There were jokes about Fred Perrin, who lived at Walworth and was the umpire for the silent peal of Holt's Original at St. John's, Waterloo Road, in 1898. His usual expression was "Don't forget Walworth, Sunday morning." After ringing a peal, a wag put a footnote something like this: "Rung as a farewell to Derf Nirrep, Esq., [back slang], who is leaving the country for Walworth, near Johannesburg." This was published in the now defunct "Bell News."

"Ted Horrex, well over four-score, should have been chairman at a College Youths' dinner, but just before the event he was taken ill and never recovered.

"I also rang at St. Magnus' and St. James', Bermondsey, both having very nice-sounding ten bells.

"Another worthy was Matt Wood, of Bethnal Green, whose previous surname was the French word Bois, which he changed to the English, Wood. He was very particular about punctuality. One ringer arrived a little late, whereupon he exclaimed: "If you cannot come on time, stay away."

"Several ringers from East Anglia migrated to London about the end of the last century. These included George Newson, J. A. Trollope, Alf Brighton, Harry Dains, John Oxborrow, with whom, at St. Stephen's, Rochester Row, they practised some Surprise methods.

"Others I call to mind are Ted Gibbs, the brothers Sam and Murray Hayes, and Challis Winney (a piano tuner, who rang on the same bells as William Corder, hanged for the murder of Maria Marten in the red barn). Corder's ringing book is now in the library of Cambridge University, bequeathed there by the late Rev. W. C. Pearson, of Henley, Suffolk. Finally, I must not forget Tich Symonds (no relation), of Lavenham, who lived at Islington."

G. E. SYMONDS.

JOINT MEETING AT GILLINGHAM

Some 86 ringers attended the joint meeting of the Rochester District (K.C.A.) and the Ladies' Guild at the Church of St. Mary Magdalene, Gillingham, on July 11th. The Vicar of Gillingham (Rev. J. R. Johns) conducted the service and presided over a short business meeting which followed tea in the Vicarage Hall. Four new members were elected.

A discussion on finances of 'The Ringing World' again resulted in no decision on making a charge of 6d. a rope on all members ringing a peal. The secretary was asked to convey the meeting's good wishes to two old members—Mr. Fred M. Mitchell, of Milton-next-Gravesend, and Mr. Dick Constant, of Gravesend. Thanks were expressed to Mr. and Mrs. L. Harmer and helpers for arranging the meeting and tea, and also to the Vicar.

Regret was expressed that peal boards recording some of the first peals rung for the Kent County Association were now nearly out of sight in the tower, having been moved higher up to the next floor. A fine summer's day was enjoyed by all at this once-famous tower for peal ringing some 50 years ago.

The bells of All Saints', Stradbroke, Suffolk, will be silent for some time as the tower, built in the 15th century, is being repaired. The clock is also being regilded and repaired. The total cost is estimated at £1,000.

NOTES ON THIS WEEK'S PEALS

In Mr. Ernest Morris' composition of 5,040 Plain Bob Royal, rung at the Loughborough Bell Foundry Campanile on July 13th, every call was a single.

The peal of 5,040 London Surprise Royal rung by Mr. C. Kenneth Lewis' party at St. Mary's Cathedral, Glasgow, on July 18th, was the first peal in the method in Scotland and the first of Royal on the bells.

To mark the 125th anniversary of the consecration of St. Thomas' Church, Norbury, Cheshire, the local band rang a peal of Kent Treble Bob Major.

A farewell peal to Roy Stephenson was rung at Heydour, Lincs, on July 11th. It was also a birthday compliment to Mr. John H. Bluff.

The in memoriam peal to Mr. Alfred H. Pulling, rung at Southover on July 11th, was intended to be Albanian Surprise Royal. Unfortunately the band met short, and Yorkshire Surprise Major was rung.

The new Vicar of Spalding (the Rev. D. G. Jakeman), who was inducted on July 2nd, was welcomed by a peal on his bells on July 11th.

Two ringers from Rochdale—Michael D. Fishwick and Roland H. Cook—stood in the peal at Hethersett, Norfolk, on July 15th.

Mr. G. Nelson Sloan, of Christchurch, New Zealand, figures in our peal columns this week. The peal of Bob Major at Church, Lanes, was specially arranged for him.

Members of the Oxford Society rang at Handsworth, on July 18th, a peal of Superlative to welcome Peter David Niblett. It was also a 21st birthday compliment to Miss Jean M. Addicott, who was ringing her first peal in the method.

The 70th anniversary of the installation of the bells at St. George's, Jesmond, Newcastle upon Tyne, was commemorated by a peal on July 22nd.

A farewell peal to David and John Couperthwaite, who are going to live at Hutton, near Preston, was rung on the bells of St. Mary's, Burwell, on June 6th.

Mr. Henry Taysom rang in the peal at Abson, Glos, on July 13th, in honour of his engagement to Miss Janice N. Organ, of Purton, Berkeley. The peal was also a birthday compliment to Mr. John Ferris, of Westerleigh.

Another engagement peal recorded this week was at Gamston, Notts, on July 14th. The betrothed are Mr. Richard Hobbs and Miss Valerie Waterfield.

The peal at Cawthorne, Yorks, on July 18th, was to mark the 50th year of the founding of the Barnsley and District Society.

The peal at Clipston on July 18th was to mark the bicentenary of the birth of George Frederic Handel. A similar tribute at Cogenhoe was recorded in our previous week's issue.

LEWKNOR, OXON. — On June 14th, 1,260 Doubles (Grandsire and Plain Bob): W. Fulker 1, F. Smith 2, F. Godden 3, R. Tuckwell 4, F. Absalom (cond.) 5, W. Collins 6. For morning service and as a welcome to the Bishop of Dorchester.

LETTERS TO

LONDON ASSOCIATION'S RINGING PRACTICES

Dear Sir,—The London County Association is fully conscious of and has stressed from time to time the need for collaboration between the principal ringing Associations holding regular meetings in central London. By this means ringers in the area would have an opportunity of joining in the activities of all the Associations of which they are members and also of meeting, as visitors, the Associations of which they may not be members.

Last year the writer offered, through the columns of your journal, to provide a meeting room and to convene a meeting of the secretaries of all Associations and Societies interested in such collaboration.

As no response was received to this suggestion, the London County Association discussed at its recent meetings the unfortunate situation which has arisen as a result of the monthly practices of three Associations all falling within the first week of each month, and two of these actually being held on the same day and the same time.

The result of these discussions is that in order to 'practise that which it preaches' the London County Association has moved its general body monthly practice from the first Monday to the third Monday in each month. The venue will still be St. Mary's, Lambeth, and the time 7.30 p.m.

Although the London County Association practice has, for very many years, been held on the first Monday in the month, the transfer has been made entirely in the interests of London ringers generally.

Can we not plan 1960 Saturday and practice meetings so that a minimum of clashing occurs?—Yours very truly,

H. W. ROGERS, Hon. Gen. Secretary,
London County Association.

FURTHER EDUCATION COURSES

Dear Sir,—In response to a request from one local education authority, I have had to prepare, at rather short notice, a list of material from which a syllabus for a further education course in campanology can be drawn up.

Copies of this outline syllabus may be obtained from me on receipt of a stamped addressed envelope. They may be useful (a) to any Association official or evening institute contemplating such a course, or (b) to any responsible person who would like to offer brief suggested additions or ideas for this committee to include in future reprints or issues of the suggested syllabus.

The outline syllabus consists of main headings and is designed to stimulate the interest of local education officials and to make the subject matter appear as varied and interesting as possible.—Yours, etc.,

NORMAN CHADDOCK,
Convener, Central Council Committee on Sunday Service Ringing,
17, Herringthorpe Grove,
Broom, Rotherham.

THE EDITOR

GREAT YARMOUTH ON TELEVISION

Dear Sir,—Matins is to be televised from St. Nicholas' Parish Church, Great Yarmouth, on Sunday, August 30th, from 11 to 11.45. The bells will not be heard, although they are completely hung and in perfect order, because (a) the tower restoration is not yet complete and it is therefore not yet safe to ring them, and (b) they are not yet opened for ringing—this will be on October 31st—but they will receive honourable mention!—Yours sincerely,

GILBERT THURLOW.

Great Yarmouth.

OFFER OF A 'BELL NEWS' INDEX

Dear Sir,—There must be a number of ringers who have occasion to consult 'The Bell News' and early issues of 'The Ringing World' in search of information, and to whom an Index would be of the greatest value. The early 'Bell News' did have one of sorts but, for instance, quite a few items were listed under 'The.'

A ringer has offered to start on the enormous task of compiling a comprehensive Index, but before he begins he would naturally like to be sure that no one else is engaged on a similar project and that no other Index exists. He would also be glad to know what sort of information people would wish to have included. For example, should it be on the same lines as the one which Mr. H. L. Roper has produced for 'The Ringing World' in recent years, or a more condensed version?

I should be grateful if those interested would write to me on these points.—Yours faithfully,

E. A. BARNETT.

26, Iron Mill Lane,
Crayford.

PEALS AT HUNTLEY

Dear Sir,—With reference to the peal rung at Huntley on May 30th and published on page 434, I should like to point out that on September 24th, 1922, a peal of Bob Minor was rung in this tower for the Hereford Diocesan Guild, conducted by W. Poston, former Ringing Master of Ross District.—Yours, etc.,

J. J. WEBB.

Ross-on-Wye.

MORE BELFRY GOSSIP

Mrs. Patricia A. M. Halls and Mr. Gordon A. Halls rang their 100th peal together on July 20th at Loughborough.

To avoid disappointment in an attempt of Rotherham Parish Church band for Yorkshire Surprise at Eastwood, Mr. H. O. Chaddock, a former member, stood in at the last minute for an absentee. The peal was successful.

A young ringer who was taught at Redhill some 18 months ago, Mr. David Munday, rang his first peal very creditably at Nutfield on July 11th. On the previous Tuesday he rang a quarter peal at Redhill.

As a compliment to the work of Messrs. S. G. Faire and A. O. J. Edge, as churchwardens of Bidford-on-Avon for over 20 years, a peal was rung on the parish church bells on July 18th. They have now relinquished their wardenships.

VICAR AS BELLHANGERS' LABOURER

sound of bells tells them that the parish priest is there to pray for them as well as others.'

Of bell-ringers, the Bishop said: 'God bless them—they are doing a valuable work, as are other church officers. More women are taking up ringing than ever before. It is a mental as well as a physical exercise and it gives pleasure to so many. As I go through different parts of the diocese on Sunday—perhaps 100 to 150 miles—and I hear the bells ringing as I pass the churches, it does me good: I know the faithful are there, even if there are not many of them.'

After referring to the different purposes for which bells are rung, the Bishop touched upon the amplifying of recorded bells in some towers. He has decried this in previous bell dedication sermons, calling the system 'phoney' and taking away 'the human touch in this mechanical age.'

Before the service ended the Vicar said that they were particularly grateful to the Barking ringers for the help they had given. As the choir left their places, the bells were rung to rounds by the Offton ringers—two men and four girls—all new to the job except one girl, grand-daughter of Mr. Gilbert R. Goodship, who has been training this new band. There have been no ringers at Offton for many years—the five bells have not been ringable for ages and the frame was so rotten that all that could be done with it, when it reached the ground, was to burn it. After their rounds, the Barking ringers rang a course or two, and they were followed by members of the Suffolk Guild.

Very delightful refreshments were served at the nearby Village Hall. With the sound of the bells as a background, the Vicar here voiced further thanks to those who had worked so hard. One of these was Mr. Meason, who lives near the church. He has acted as secretary and correspondent for the fund. (He will be pleased to hear from anyone who has a contribution to make!)

The Vicar was able to announce that the collection at the service came to over £40. This brought the total to £404.

THE BELLS

Messrs. Taylor give these particulars of the bells:—

- Treble.—3 cwt. 18 lb. (Taylor), 1958.
- Second.—3 cwt. 2 qr. 3 lb. (Gardiner), 1733.
- Third.—3 cwt. 3 qr. 23 lb. (Pleasant), 1700.
- Fourth.—4 cwt. 2 qr. 16 lb. (Bury Foundry), c. 1500.
- Fifth.—4 cwt. 2 qr. 20 lb. (Darbie), 1667.
- Tenor, in A.—8 cwt. 1 qr. 18 lb. (Pleasant), 1700.

Dove shows the tenor as 9 cwt. Raven gives the date of the second as 1735, and states the inscription on the pre-Reformation bell is Sancta Maria Ora Pro Nobis.

The Vicar had quite a lot to do with the actual taking down of the bells for overhaul and, when they were rehung, the job was done entirely by two people—Joe Smith (hanger for Messrs. Taylor) and his labourer—the Vicar. Bravo!

CLAUDE RUSH.

OBITUARY

YOUNG RINGERS' DEATH IN AIR CRASH

We regret to announce the deaths in the Barcelona air crash of a young Newcastle couple who went to Spain to celebrate the first anniversary of their wedding.

They were Mr. Colin Hammond (25) and his wife Valerie, of St. George's Terrace, Jesmond. Mr. Hammond had just qualified as a mechanical engineer with a Newcastle firm. His wife was a domestic science and needlework teacher at Cramlington Secondary Modern School. They went to Newcastle from Nottingham about 18 months ago.

MR. A. SANDERSON

The sudden death at the age of 61 of Mr. A. Sanderson, of St. Peter's Church, Bentley, South Yorks, is deeply regretted by a wide circle of friends, especially members of the Doncaster and District Society.

The funeral service was held on Sunday 14th at the church he served so well as ringer, sidesman and member of the Parochial Church Council. The Doncaster Society was represented by the Ringing Master, Mr. F. A. Staveley.

He will be remembered for his work as a Sunday service ringer and the encouragement and help he gave to learners at the practices. In this he was assisted by his only son, Ronald, who is treasurer of the Doncaster and District Society, and his cousin, Dennis Chapman, late secretary of St. George's Parish Church.

The Doncaster Society always received a cordial welcome from him when they visited Bentley, and on the last occasion he showed the visitors the new heating system in the church and gave members a brief history of the church. To his widow and family the Society extend their deepest sympathy. G. W.

WATFORD GRAMMAR SCHOOL

After an unsuccessful attempt to obtain Watford Parish Church bells for the school's Founders' Day services in May, 1958, about a dozen young ringers from the Watford Grammar Schools decided to form a Change Ringing Society for the schools. Our aim was to practise regularly together and to get a good band so that we would be able to ring for the Founders' Day services in 1959.

Officers were elected at a business meeting, and our first ringing meeting was held at King's Langley in July, 1958. This was very successful, and since then we have held six more equally successful meetings. One of our highlights was when Mr. Russell S. Young, from Groton School, America, came to our Berkhamstead meeting to see the activities of an English school bell-ringing society.

This year we were able to ring for both the girls' and boys' school Founders' Day services, and the ringing was good. We are grateful to some visitors who helped with the heavier bells, and to Mr. R. G. Bell and Mr. Durrant who gave up their time to be with us for safety's sake.

All our members are members of the Hertford County Association. At the beginning of this year our secretary wrote to the secretary of the Hertford County Association, who replied that as long as we arranged our meetings so as not to clash with the local District meetings, we are welcome in the county.

This month is the end of our first year. We have scored our first quarter peal and are hoping for many more. Our meetings will now be announced in 'The Ringing World,' and any visitors are welcome to join us. G. G.

REDEDICATION

MARSTON TRUSSELL, NORTHANTS

For much of its course, the river Welland forms the boundary between the county of Northamptonshire and its northern neighbours Leicester, Rutland and Lincoln. A thousand years ago this river was navigable for much of its length. The invading Vikings and Danes used it to penetrate into the heart of England and formed settlements upon its banks: this may well have been the beginning of such villages as Marston Trussell, near Market Harborough.

In this quiet spot our forefathers built a lovely little church dedicated to St. Nicholas, using—so the legend has it—the bow timbers of a Viking ship to form the arch of the main doorway.

Between the years 1612 and 1623 Hugh Watts, of Leicester, cast five bells for this church which were hung in a wooden frame. Age, and perhaps neglect, made this structure so unsafe that in 1953 the bells were lowered from the tower and removed to Messrs. Taylors' bell foundry.

The task of raising £1,000 to provide for their restoration has been successfully completed through the generosity of Mrs. Barwell-Ewins. The tenor has been recast and is now 10 cwt. 14 lb. in A flat, and the whole ring hung in a new 'H' frame with canon-retaining headstocks for the front four bells.

The service of dedication on August 15th was conducted by the Rector (Rev. H. Whiteman) in the presence of a large congregation, which included Mrs. Barwell-Ewins, Miss Barwell-Ewins and Mr. K. Knightley-Law, the patron of the living. Messrs. Taylors were represented by Mr. P. Taylor and Mr. J. Fidler. The bells were dedicated by the Archdeacon of Northampton, the Ven. J. Grimes, and were rung immediately after the dedication and again after the service by members of the Guildborough Branch of the Peterborough Diocesan Guild.

After tea and refreshments at the Rectory, several ringers from neighbouring towers joined in to keep the bells in action until 7.45 p.m.

OUTING

St. Michael's Guild, Lyme Regis, visited the Isle of Wight for their annual outing on July 18th. Leaving Lyme at 7 a.m. for the Lymington Ferry, we were particularly pleased that Dr. Taylor and Canon Cox turned out so early to wish us an enjoyable day.

Landing at Yarmouth, we were soon on our way to Carisbrooke and our picnic lunch, which was thoroughly enjoyed on Mr. Tunncliffe's lawn overlooking the Castle. With reluctance, we dragged ourselves away to St. Mary's tower where, despite poorish ropes and some odd-struck bells, the tone and 'go' were pleasing and some good ringing from Grandsire Triples to Yorkshire Major enjoyed.

Nearby St. Thomas', Newport, saw us quickly in action again, and here the inaudibility of this otherwise pleasant octave made even our 'experts' hope for the best with regard to striking. Next came All Saints', Ryde, with eight bells audible enough for anyone, so some first-class ringing was expected. However, the afternoon heat and the attraction of the fine views from the parapet caused some ringing to be patchy. Bristol Surprise and an excellent 'fall' made some amends.

Climbing out of Ryde we were soon high on the chalk hills, with extensive views to the south and west, before descending to Arreton and its lovely old Church of St. George. Here the Rector told us that he had 'A', 'B' and 'C' teams. Six of our 'experts' then performed like a 'Z' team by making very heavy weather of Cambridge Minor. They redeemed this later with some excellent London. By this time, throats having become parched, tea at Shanklin was welcome.

Our last tower was All Saints', Godshill, standing high above the pretty village. The very nice ring of six was put to good use in the time available, with everyone wishing our stay could have been longer.

On the mainland again, we took leave of our friends from Yeovil, Yetminster, Evershot and Powerstock, and so brought to a close one of our best outings yet. Our thanks are again expressed to the various incumbents and tower keepers for their welcome to us.

Ringling during the day included rounds, Grandsire and Stedman Doubles and Triples: Plain Bob, Cambridge and London Minor and Major, and Yorkshire and Bristol S. Major.

MISCELLANEOUS

EDMONTON BELL FUND.—The bells of All Saints' Church, Edmonton, are being recast and retuned and will soon be hanging on new fittings in a new frame. Members of the local band are working hard to raise some necessary money, and it is felt that there are many ringers who, having most probably rung in this North London tower with famous ringers, would be pleased to be associated with this work. Please send contributions, all of which will be gratefully acknowledged, marked 'Bell Fund,' to Rev. S. W. Knight, The Vicarage, Edmonton, London, N.9. 4763

ASHTHEAD bells and frame are now to have attention by the bell-hangers and bell-founders. Will visiting ringers and secretaries please note that restricted ringing is possible on the front six bells only.—J. T. Symonds. 4797

IT'S RATHER EARLY to mention this, but I shall shortly be publishing a series of 12 CHRISTMAS CARDS specially produced for ringers. They will feature pencil sketch reproductions of well-known towers, with notes on the bells, etc., and conventional greetings. Also, if time permits, a month-at-a-view CALENDAR will be marketed. Full details and prices later.—W. Viggers. 4764

UNIVERSITY OF BRISTOL SOCIETY.—All ringers coming as freshers to Bristol University in October please contact the secretary, Jane Cook, Dockmaster's House, Royal Dock, Grimsby, Lincs. 4757

PEAL CARDS & QUARTER PEAL CARDS can now be ordered at 5s. a set of 12, post free (minimum charge). Order and remittances must be sent with peal report. For quarter peals write separate copy in same style as peals.

TANFIELD, 1959

THEY (the English) are powerful in the field, successful against their enemies, impatient against anything like slavery; vastly fond of Great Noises that fill the ear, such as the firing of Cannon, drums and the ringing of bells, so that in London it is common for a number of them to go up into some belfry and ring the bells for hours together, for the sake of exercise. . . . So wrote Paul Hentzner in his 'Travels in England,' 1598, and today, almost 400 years later, we can still see those characteristics vividly portrayed in the Englishman, especially those of power in the field (of cricket!) and the ringing of bells.

On first reflection there would not appear to be any close relationship between the ringing of bells and the game of cricket, but in actual fact they have many common features. A cricketer needs to play with a straight bat while a bellringer must keep a straight rope, and in each case the participant must have a keen eye and an alert mind. Again, both the game of cricket and the exercise of ringing require the element of team spirit for their success and, above all else, both are peculiarly English. Thus the annual cricket match-cum-ringing meeting held in the village of Tanfield, Co. Durham, over the past three years (an event resumed after a lapse of 60 years) presents an occasion as typically English as any scene from Merrie England could be.

This year the event took place on Saturday, July 18th, when teams selected by the Vicar of Tanfield (the Rev. R. Race) and the President of the Durham and Newcastle Diocesan Association of Change Ringers (Mr. K. Arthur) met on the vicarage lawn for the cricket encounter. The wicket itself proved one of the best ever, although the boundaries were on the short side and some local rules had to be agreed upon before the start—no fast bowling, no big hitting and no faculty required to remove any ball hit into the churchyard! Both teams played lady ringers, so, as in previous years, ladies would bowl to ladies. It was agreed to play 20 overs each side.

The uncertain weather of the morning had cleared by 2.30 p.m., when the two captains came out to spin the coin, and with a successful call the Vicar elected to bat first. Messrs. R. W. Leighton (Blaydon) and G. S. Deas (Newcastle Cathedral), the umpires, then took up their positions, and Tanfield opened with the Rev. O. Dickinson (Vicar of Stanley) and Miss P. Brabban (Tanfield), who provided a solid first wicket stand until the 12th over, and took the score to 15 runs. Wickets then fell more regularly, and the side were all out for 49 in the 20th over.

Following a short break for tea in the Vicarage, the President's team went in to bat, but they were soon in trouble when the first wicket fell with the score at 1. Another quick wicket fell, and the position looked grim, but Billy Shewen (S. Shields) and Alan Patterson (Cramlington) came together and put on a stand which produced 30 runs before another wicket fell. The score was now 39 and the Tanfield attack became intensified with the scent of victory in the air. A determined President then came to the crease and with the help of first one and then the other of his lady players managed to weather the storm and produced the winning hit with a four into the churchyard. The remaining wickets fell rapidly and the side was all out for 57 runs, and the 'ashes' returned once again to their niche in Newcastle. Details:—

Players and spectators then gathered round the Vicarage porch and the President conveyed the thanks of all to the Vicar of Tanfield and his helpers for the splendid arrangements. In reply the Vicar expressed a hope that the event would be continued and become even more popular with the succeeding years.

Following said Evensong in the Church of St. Margaret, the ringing programme of the occasion began, and the pleasant ring of eight bells (tenor 13 cwt.) was kept fully manned until nearly 9 p.m. Ringers of all stages were provided for, and ringing ranged from rounds for beginners to London Surprise Major for the more experienced members. Thus was concluded another 'Tanfield.' K. A.

Miss Frances Secker, who conducted a peal off 5,088 Southwell Surprise Major at St. Andrew-the-Great, Cambridge, on August 13th, has unfortunately had to withdraw the peal as the composition by N. J. Pitstow is false. Had it been a true peal, we believe Miss Secker would have been the first woman to call a peal in the city of Cambridge.

Walthamstow ringers rang a farewell quarter on August 16th to Mr. J. Hales, who is leaving for a three years' stay in Texas.

It is more than 60 years since Mr. J. Jeynes, of Ebbw Vale, left his native village of Linton, Herefordshire, and the quarter peal recently rung there was specially arranged for him to return and ring on the newly-augmented ring of six.

Miss Snowdon, of Cartmel, who recently underwent a rather serious operation in the North Lonsdale Hospital, Barrow-in-Furness, is now on the way to complete recovery. She is going round the village dispensing cheerfulness, as is her wont.

Slough ringers, with some help to complete the band, were highly delighted with the quarter peal of Grandsire Cinques they rang at Reading on July 27th. It was the first of Cinques for seven of the band. They had previously rung Caters and were anxious to take the next step forward.

On August 15th a peal attempt was made at Newington-next-Sittingbourne, Kent, on the occasion of the wedding of Miss Joan Wraight (a local ringer) to Mr. Anthony Baldock. Owing to the tenor rope breaking in the fifth extent the attempt was lost. However, a half peal was claimed. The conductor wishes to thank the band for their loyal support in this, his first attempt at conducting a peal.

BELFRY GOSSIP

The wedding of Mr. Harry Poyner and Miss Mary C. Payne at Syston on August 15th was a happy occasion. Both are members of the scholastic profession, the bridegroom having secured a teaching appointment at Shrewsbury. With Mary's recent experience at Lincoln and Harry's association with Leicester Cathedral from 1948, 12-bell ringing at St. Chad's should be strengthened.

Mr. H. A. Price writes withdrawing his claim to having rung the first quarter of Erin in the Chew Deanery after reading about the Long Ashton performance last year. He offers his apologies to all concerned.

The following advertisement appeared in the Irish Press of August 18th: ASTOR.—Italy's Actor-Director Vittorio de Sica in 'Cannon Serenade.' 'Apparently,' writes our correspondent, 'Dublin is ready for the next ringing tour invasion.'

The bells of Great Hale, near Sleaford, have been swinging again since last summer. Two youngsters who have trained from scratch have now rung their first quarter peal, which was the first on the bells by the local band for almost 30 years.

Pity the poor editor and reader! For originality a District meeting report starts: 'Occasionally an old and well-tried recipe produces a result of transcendent excellence. Such a catalysis occurred at the District meeting.' We can only assume that it was a meeting of high standard which resulted in a changed experience for those attending except the catalyst. Perhaps other readers can give a better interpretation. 'The old and well-tried recipe' might possibly mean the advertisement in 'The Ringing World,' the masterliness of the Ringing Master or the splendid tea.

KENT HONOURS VETERAN RINGER

OVER 80 ringers and friends attended a meeting specially arranged at Willesborough on June 20th, to honour Mr. Edward S. Ruck, sole surviving founder member of the Kent County Association, in his home tower on his 92nd birthday.

The service, at which the choir kindly volunteered their services, was conducted by the Rev. R. W. Poil (curate), assisted by the Rev. J. Watts, who read the lesson. Mr. E. Solly, organist and choirmaster, was at the organ. The hymns 'Christ is our corner-stone' and 'Pleasant are Thy courts above' were specially chosen by Mr. Ruck. In his thoughtful address the Rev. Mr. Poil, who has considerable knowledge of the technicalities of ringing, made special reference to Mr. Ruck's long and devoted services to Willesborough, and also to his example in church worship.

An enjoyable tea, which included a splendid birthday cake, was generously given by the Willesborough ringers and friends, and was served by the Mothers Union in the Old School.

After the ordinary business of the meeting had been concluded, Mr. Poil said a few words about the special nature of the occasion, which was to honour the grand old man of Kent ringing, who had been a continuous member of the Association since its inception in 1880, and who still rings regularly every Sunday.

Mr. John Willis, chairman, and—like Mr. Ruck—a vice-president of the Association, said he had known 'Old Ted' for 60 years, and it was Mr. Ruck's teaching and example that had made Sunday service ringing at Willesborough a byword throughout the county, and second to none in the country. Although he rang his first peal as long ago as 1886, and although his name appears, along with many famous peal ringers, in towers all round the district, Mr. Ruck's main aim has always been the improvement of Sunday service ringing. From his tower have come pupils who have rendered official service to the Association or achieved distinction in the Exercise. In presenting him with a cheque for £10 from the Association,

Mr. Willis said it was the earnest and affectionate wish of all that Mr. Ruck would long be spared to continue his good work.

In his reply, Mr. Ruck thanked Mr. Willis and the Association for their kindness. He said that he had always only tried to do his duty, and added, characteristically, that if he had done any good then the credit should be given, not to him but to 'the Giver of every good and perfect gift, which cometh from above.'

Messages of congratulations and good wishes were then read from the Rector, the Rev. T. G. Williams (in hospital recovering from illness), Dr. E. S. J. Hatcher (general secretary, K.C.A.), Mr. B. W. May (hon. treasurer), Mr. B. J. Luck (secretary of the Canterbury District), Mr. E. Barnett, Mr. J. Batchelor, and the St. Mary's, Willesborough, Boys' Club and Youth Fellowship.

Among the distinguished visitors was Mr. G. Nelson Sloan, who conveyed fraternal greetings from the ringers of Christchurch, New Zealand. He said it was his 53rd birthday, and he felt honoured and happy to have 'stood in' a quarter peal of Bob Minor with Mr. Ruck prior to the meeting. The other ringers were Messrs. R. J. Carlton, L. C. Smith, W. J. Lancefield and M. S. Lancefield (conductor). Mr. A. G. Hill conveyed the good wishes of the Lewisham District, of which he is secretary.

Afterwards thanks were accorded to the Rev. R. W. Poil for taking the service, to Mr. Solly and the choir, the Mothers' Union and the Willesborough ringers and their friends for catering to the inner man, and to Mr. Mark S. Lancefield, popular tower captain and Mr. Ruck's most distinguished pupil, for making the local arrangements.

C. T. H.

The peal of Little Bob Royal at Chesterfield (see page 458) was intended to fulfil a dual purpose, writes Mr. Sam Scattergood, 'to mark 25 years' ministry as Vicar of the Ven. T. Dilworth-Harrison and to welcome the new Bishop of Derby, who paid a visit to Chesterfield on the previous Sunday evening.

NOTES ON THIS WEEK'S PEALS

The peal at Fairfield, Buxton, on July 18th, is claimed to be the first of Surprise Minor on the bells.

With the peal at Theberton on July 18th, Mr. James M. Bailey and Mr. Alan R. Bridges 'completed the circle of the tower.' Mr. Bridges did his by taking the bells in rotation. The peal was rung as a birthday compliment to Mr. Bailey's grand-daughter, Christine.

The peal at Cross Stone, Tadmorden, on July 23rd, was a wedding compliment to Mr. Roy Bettley-Cooke, and a birthday compliment to Mrs. D. Ogden.

The new incumbent of Much Wenlock (Rev. E. W. R. David) was welcomed to the parish by a peal on his bells on July 25th. His induction was on July 22nd. Visiting members of the band appreciated the generous hospitality of the Vicar, the wardens and the local ringers after the peal.

The peal at Silverdale, Staffordshire, was rung at the Vicar's request for the Feast of St. James.

The peal at Hawkley, Hants, which was rung for the Guildford Diocesan Guild, was rung to mark the 94th anniversary of the completion of the rebuilding of the church. Evensong was attended by the Bishop of Portsmouth.

With an average age of 19½ years, the band who rang the peal of New Cambridge Surprise at Debenham on July 27th believe they are the youngest team to ring a peal for the Suffolk Guild.

In honour of the wedding of Miss Joan Tubbs, niece of the captain of St. Martin's ringers, Caerphilly, to Mr. Howell Evans, a peal was rung on August 1st, the day of her wedding, at St. Martin's Church. It was also a farewell to Mr. John D. Woodman, who is being transferred to West Hartlepool.

An all-Eastham band rang in the three methods Minor peal at St. Mary's Church on July 25th. It was to mark the first anniversary of the wedding of Carol and Robert Ferris (who rang in the peal), and also a farewell to Robert Winstanley, who is taking up a post at Nottingham. Gillian Scarth, who rang the treble to her first peal, was celebrating her 18th birthday.

Another vicar to be welcomed to his parish with a peal is the Rev. R. F. Canerish, the new incumbent of Laxton, Notts.

Mr. and Mrs. Trevor A. Cross are leaving Mersham, Surrey, for Maidstone. The peal at Mersham on July 30th was a farewell.

Mr. Horace Palethorpe, who for 50 years was a ringer at Fulbeck Parish Church and now resides at Leadenham, Lincs, celebrated his 90th birthday on August 1st. A peal in five Minor methods was rung that day on Leadenham bells. It also marked the birth of a grandson to Mr. George Scott (82), who rang the third.

Mr. Clement R. Robinson rang in the peal in honour of his silver wedding at Sutton-on-Hull on August 1st. It was also a wedding compliment to Miss Barbara Clarkson, a ringer at this church.

Mr. J. E. G. Roast and Miss Mary Dowsett, both ringers at Danbury, Essex, had a peal rung in honour of their wedding at Danbury on August 5th. The peal, one of Minor in seven methods, was also a 30th wedding anniversary compliment to Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Roberts.

With reference to 'Cracked Towers' (page 407), Mr. Peter Crook writes pointing out that in Bolton there are two churches dedicated to St. Peter. It is the Bolton Parish Church of St. Peter to which the article refers, not St. Peter's, Smithills.

COLLEGE OF CAMPANOLOGY CONVENTION

PROCEEDINGS at the College of Campanology convention, held at Portsmouth on July 25th, opened with ringing at Portsmouth Cathedral, followed by the conference in the Cathedral House. The representatives received a cordial welcome from the vice-president (Mr. Harry Miles), who presided in the absence of the president (Mr. Ernest Morris).

Mr. Morris' presidential address, read by the registrar (Miss S. K. M. Knight), was directed mainly towards younger members, with excellent advice on the right attitude to ringing as a service of the church, and the first importance of good striking.

The Principal (Mr. A. York-Bramble) submitted a report of the work and progress of the College since its foundation in early 1956. During the past year, the revised edition of Part I of the Ringers' Manual of Reference (Planned Elementary Training) had been sold out, also the College had recorded its first peal (with pupils), and had participated in its first residential course in ringing. The report concluded with a comparative summary of results over the three years, showing an encouraging position and one in which the widely-found need is being met.

Facts and figures included membership registrations (initial) 86, county and overseas areas represented 31, ringing schools affiliated 2, tutors 32, examiners 16, correspondents 13, talks on ringing given—over 70, courses of training by College members 22, centres of instruction (annual average) 27, beginners helped by College members in their training 244, pupils instructed by members following College lines 438. The report noted that only about 40 per cent. returns were available for compiling statistics so that the cumulative effect of the three-years' work was not calculable. The report was adopted with acclamation.

The bursar, Surg./Capt. A. Lawrey, R.N. (ret'd.), gave a three-year report on College finances. This showed the liquidation of balance of loan account by donation of lecture fees derived from the Somerset Education Authority's Dillington House course, and a credit balance in the general account. The report was adopted.

The registrar reported on administration (at times a full-time job), centred in a small independent office on the premises at 40, Parkstone Avenue, Southsea. The report included a list of books of record and account and of files maintained. An appeal was made for prompt response to College circulars and notices as sent out, to save time and extra postage. The future of the College would rest largely with the Convention.

FUTURE DEVELOPMENTS

The Principal indicated two possibilities for the future: either to wind up the organisation, with modest satisfaction in the three-years' sowing of good seed, and hopes of natural growth; or to redouble efforts towards expanding and developing College activity. To this latter the Convention gave unanimous assent, and discussed future arrangements under four heads:

(1) General Policy. This to include (a) Enlarging the panels of tutors and examiners to provide countrywide coverage. (b) Continuing with the issue of Parts of the Ringers' Manual of Reference (and the possibility of aiding the maintenance of 'The Ringing World' through such publication, as later envisaged). For inclusion in Part V.—Composition and Proof, Mr. A. J. Pitman handed in a paper on the proof of spliced Surprise, which was much appreciated. (c) Extending the scheme of courses, as noted later.

(2) Finance. Plans for increasing revenue and for building up reserves to assist in publications.

(3) Administration. Plans for closer co-operation by College officers and members, and for fuller discharge of offices.

(4) Affiliation to Central Council. Article 2 of the College constitution enjoins loyal observance of and adherence to rules and decisions of the Central Council, and affiliation qualification by the College has now apparently been reached; but application was to be deferred, while further working experience is gained, since already there is indirect representation by several College governors and officers who are members of the Council.

The Conference adjourned for tea, kindly organised by Mrs. Knight. This was followed by a service in the Cathedral, when a chaplain (Rev. E. Jameson) gave an inspiring address, mentioning the place of the College in the service of ringing as a means of worship. The vice-president was at the organ.

Conference was resumed with elections to office. But first came the unanimous election to fellowship of Mr. Harry Miles, not only for his lifelong service to ringing, especially in tuition, but also for his magnificent work in compiling and establishing in St. Paul's Cathedral, London, the Ringers' Memorial Roll. Other elections are: President, Ernest Morris; vice-president, Harry Miles; hon. chaplains, Revs. G. Thurlow and M. Melville; hon. consultant (belfries), Frederick Sharpe; principal, A. York-Bramble; vice-principal, R. Speed; registrar, Miss S. K. Knight; bursar, Surg./Capt. A. Lawrey; Press and P.R.O., R. Baldwin; governors, Miss M. Cross and Messrs. A. L. Bennett, N. Chaddock, F. Dukes, J. Dyke, C. McGuinness, H. Miles, W. F. Moreton, C. W. Pipe, A. J. Pitman, F. Sharpe, R. I. Shepherd.

As to courses, the unexpected invitation to participate in the Somerset Education Authority's residential course in ringing at Dillington House resulted in justification of the policy of the College in this respect, and of the resolve to develop it; also much useful experience was derived. Other local authorities are to be approached as to similar courses, also half-day instructors' courses are envisaged. College meetings with demonstrations are being planned, as proposed by Mr. R. Speed.

The next Convention was agreed as for the London area, probably either at Staines or at St. Lawrence Jewry in the City. Date, last Saturday in August, 1960. Title to be 'Annual Meeting of the College of Campanology.'

Conference closed with votes of thanks to the Provost for permitting the Convention to be held at the Cathedral and Cathedral House, and to all others concerned. Ringing was resumed on the Cathedral bells that evening, and by some members staying overnight for next morning service.

WEDDINGS

TWYFORD RINGER MARRIED ON HER 21st BIRTHDAY

Miss Sonia Spencer, a ringer and chorister at Twyford, Leics, was married on her 21st birthday, August 15th, to Mr. Bernard Maurice Little, of Melton Mowbray.

St. Andrew's Church, Twyford, was beautifully decorated for the occasion for the service performed by the Vicar (the Rev. R. Leader) and a former Vicar (the Rev. C. N. Daybell). The bride, who was given away by her father, wore a beautiful classical style gown of heavy cream brocade embossed with lilies of the valley, the full folds of the long skirt forming a train. Her headdress was composed of a bow of brocade studded with lilies of the valley and mother-of-pearl sequins, with a circular finger-tip veil. She carried cream rosebuds, lilies of the valley and gardenias. She was attended by seven bridesmaids and two pages.

In honour of the occasion a quarter peal of Plain Bob Minor was rung. At the reception to mark her 21st birthday a silver 'key of the door' was suspended over the wedding cake and the key was later autographed by the 126 guests.

HAPPINESS AT HURSTPIERPOINT

Hurstpierpoint was the scene of ringers' rejoicing on Saturday, August 22nd. Miss Mary Carnochan, who learned to ring in this tower under the guidance of the former Ringing Master, Mr. Jack Dearlove, was married to Donald Bartholomew, a ringer from St. Mary's, Watford. The ceremony, followed by Holy Communion, was performed by the Rev. Guy Saunders, former curate of this parish and now the Vicar of Aldingbourne.

The local band rang the tower bells and fixed bellropes over the church porch as a welcome. After the service they and their wives held handbells over the bride and bridegroom as a guard of honour, whilst ringing friends from Hurstpierpoint, Burgess Hill, Bolney and Cuckfield rang a quarter peal of Grandfire Triples in honour of the occasion.

Expressions of happiness and good wishes were shown to the happy couple at the previous practice meeting by the presentation of six glass goblets in various colours. This was made by the 'grandfather' of the band, Mr. Harry Richardson, in the presence of several visitors including Mr. Reg Johnson, Master of the Sussex County Association.

ESSEX ASSOCIATION

The Northern District held a meeting at the Church of St. John, Great Easton, on August 22nd.

Thirty-five members were present and representatives came from 18 different parishes. The Rev. E. S. Spray conducted the choral service. Tea was arranged by the local ringers.

At the meeting which followed, with Mr. Pratt in the chair, four new members were elected. The next meeting will be at Great Bardfield on October 17th.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

BROADCASTING EXPERIENCES AT BARKING

Dear Sir,—In answer to my inquiry about the broadcasting of church bells for services, I should like to thank Mr. Barnett for his post card and letter informing me that he thought that St. Martin-in-the-Fields was the first, but did not know when it was or how long they were allowed to ring. He told me that the last time we met was on Whit Monday, 1918, at Saffron Walden. He and his father cycled from Crayford to Saffron Walden to an Essex Association meeting. What a good ride!

I would also like to thank Mr. Price for sending his letter to the B.B.C. about the time allowed for broadcasting the bells for services, and Mr. Pearl Inskip for answering my inquiry.

Why I asked is that at Barking we have twice had disappointments over broadcasts. The Rev. H. S. Pelham, who was Vicar and afterwards Bishop of Barrow-in-Furness, came to the ringers and said he was going to broadcast a service and an appeal for the restoration of the parish church. Would the ringers kindly ring for the services? Of course we were delighted to do so. Just before the date I met the late Fred Dench and spoke to him about the broadcast. He said he had just the touch for our bells and he sent it on to me. On the date (February 27th, 1927) we met and rang the touch—144 of Stedman—and we were allowed seven minutes. A ringer who styled himself 'well known to many from the wilds of Somerset' heard the touch on the air and took it down on paper with the calling, and sent it on to me with a letter praising the striking.

The next time we broadcasted was when the Rev. L. Hunter, who is now the Bishop of Sheffield, was Vicar. The late Mr. J. Carter sent me some touches of Stedman, and I called his 120 changes and we were on the air for four minutes.

The third broadcast was an appeal by Canon H. Robins, later Dean of Salisbury. I then called a bob course 34-78-12-13, and was allowed four minutes. A photograph was taken of the Vicar and the band before ringing started.

The Rev. T. Bloomer (now Bishop of Carlisle) was next to broadcast. He said he was preaching five Sunday services to Australia and New Zealand—could we broadcast the bells for the services? We were delighted to help. We had a practice, and the first Sunday we rang the calling was these courses, 34-7-12-13. When we came down to the church they told us we had been on the air one whole pull. That was enough for the ringers so they did not turn up for the other four services. I had a letter from New Zealand saying the next time we broadcast, let them have more bells and not so much organ, as they had plenty of that.

The next time was when the Rev. H. Chadwick (now Bishop of Barking) was Vicar. We started to ring. All the radios were tuned in for the bells and service. I was calling the same touch, 34-7-12-13, and when we were put on the air the Vicar was saying the opening prayers and the number of the first hymn—so we were not on the air at all. The Vicar was very sorry but the B.B.C. kept the previous programme on too long.

The same Vicar (Rev. H. Chadwick) asked us to ring again for his next broadcast. I went and saw the B.B.C. engineers in the vestry and told them how we were treated the last time. They were very sorry, and told us to start at once and they would put us on the air as soon as possible. I called 34-7-12-13 and they put us on the air for the last course. I had a letter from some ringers in Kent, asking me if it was a record or did we ring. I wrote and told them what we rang.

Since then I have had a serious operation and a bad stroke on my right side. I am not now able to climb the belfry stairs so my ringing is done for the time being. Again thanking my friends for the information.—Yours truly,

CALEB FENN.

Barking.

THANK YOU, SUSSEX

Dear Sir,—At the quarterly meeting of the Eastern Division of the Sussex County Association, at Salehurst on August 22nd, it was resolved to congratulate all responsible for producing 'The Ringing World' during the difficult times of the printers' stoppage.

Mr. F. I. Hairs, who was present, told members that it was most important to increase the circulation of 'The Ringing World' if it was to survive.—Yours faithfully,

FRANK H. BEENEY,

Hon. Secretary, Eastern Division,
Sussex Association.

Note.—The Editor also thanks the many individual ringers who sent letters of appreciation and congratulation.

PEAL FEES

Dear Sir,—The deletion from its records by the Winchester and Portsmouth Diocesan Guild executive committee of the peals conducted by Messrs. R. G. Leale and F. R. Scott for non-payment of peal fees as per rule does not seem to me to conclude the affair.

It is distasteful for any Society to have to take action to enforce its rules and one wonders why, in this case, these young ringers have chosen to cause all the trouble. It could not be because they cannot afford the sixpence, neither can they plead a principle involved—the Guild is merely trying to raise extra money to meet its liabilities in the midst of continually rising costs.

Then, of course, there is the nonsensical business of the peals rung in the Channel Islands recently. May I say, in parentheses, that I am most surprised that our old friend Mr. A. P. Cannon lent himself to the caper of forming a new Society in order to dodge the peal fee.

I hope I shall not be charged with taking these things too seriously when I say that such doings bring the standard of the Exercise down and lay its members open to ridicule. In other sports and pastimes misbehaviour or 'ungentlemanly conduct' can bring to the offender universal suspension from participation in that sport or pastime for a period.

As most of the ringing Guilds are affiliated to the Central Council, would it be considered too drastic for the member Guilds to support each other in the matter of rule enforcement by similar action?—Yours faithfully,

ARTHUR V. DAVIS.

Southbourne, Bournemouth.

KING'S NORTON CHURCH

Dear Sir,—Your contributor, 'Levis' (page 469), has his dates slightly muddled when he states that no work has been done on King's Norton, Leics, bells for nearly 300 years. The present fine church and tower were built between 1757 and 1775 at the expense of William Fortrey, lord of the manor, and the bells date from that time.

No doubt it depends upon what Levis means by 'work,' but it is quite possible that certain attention was given to the bells following the damage to the spire by lightning in 1843 and its destruction in 1850. At any rate, a considerable amount of voluntary 'work' was done to the fittings in 1952 and 1953 by a visiting band to enable the bells to be rung. Nevertheless, the writer's first attempt to turn in a tenor to a course of Major came to grief there on one of those occasions through the rope casting wheel!

With the help of grants, the church has recently been well restored, and it is to be hoped that the bells will receive attention in due course, though the prospects do appear to be rather gloomy.—Yours faithfully,

'ARCH. HIST.'

Leciester.

MR. E. STITCH'S 500th TOWER

Dear Sir,—The ringers at All Saints', Leamington Spa (captain, Mr. C. C. Burt) were honoured on Sunday evening, August 23rd, by a visit from Mr. E. Stitch, of Penn, near Wolverhampton, who was ringing in his 500th tower.

The reason why Mr. Stitch chose All Saints' was because that is where Mr. A. J. Pitman rings nowadays. There is a very close bond between Mr. Stitch and Mr. Pitman. For over 36 years they rang together for Sunday service on the eight at St. Mary's, Aberavon. They have rung more than 150 peals together, and it was Mr. Pitman who conducted Mr. Stitch's first and 500th peals.

It was a great joy for the Leamington ringers to have Mr. Stitch with them, and some very good ringing was achieved. Courses of Stedman and interesting touches of Grandsire Triples, called by Mr. Pitman, came round to a good rhythm.—Yours faithfully,

HENRY ALLEN.

Leamington Spa.

AN ENCOURAGEMENT TO LATE ENTRANTS

Dear Sir,—In 1928 Mr. Thomas Trasler was invited to become a member of Stony Stratford St. Giles' ringing band. He could handle a bell but knew nothing of change-ringing. His age then was 55 years. With this band he gradually became proficient in Grandsire Triples, Bob Major and Stedman Triples. As he grew older his greatest desire was to ring a quarter peal of Stedman Triples. After many abortive attempts he achieved his ambition, when on August 21st he rang the sixth at St. Giles' in an extremely creditable way to an excellent quarter peal of Stedman Triples. He was 86 years old on Sunday, August 23rd.

As conductor of this quarter peal, nothing gives me greater pleasure than recording this tribute to my always cheerful old friend, who will no doubt be well remembered by those bands visiting St. Giles', Stony Stratford, during the last few years.

The ringers in the quarter peal stood as follows: A. W. Dillow 1, F. C. Case 2, H. C. Edwards 3, G. E. Green (conductor) 4, T. E. Roberts 5, T. Trasler (first of Stedman Triples) 6, G. W. Holland 7, S. Miller 8.—Yours faithfully,

G. E. GREEN.

Stony Stratford.

RUSTY FRAMES

Dear Sir,—I wonder if any readers can help us with our problem at Whatley? The bells were augmented to six and rehung in 1937 and then given very little attention till recently when a volunteer band, led by the Rector (not himself a ringer), started to scrape off the rust and repaint. The job proved longer than the time available, and a local firm was called in to finish it. The snag is that the frame fits so tightly to the walls that in places it is impossible to get even fingers between, so that there are inaccessible rusty patches in the corners of the I-sectioned members and also between the uprights and the beams, these latter crossed by a bolt.

Does anyone know of a way of treating these places which could be used by the available talent? Whatley still has no local ringers but is used as a learners' tower from Frome, and the local firm says nothing can be done without dismantling.

Alternatively, if there is no practicable way, is there any point in painting the visible parts of the frame?

Perhaps some tower which has had an iron frame far longer can tell us either what to do or how much it matters if we don't.—Yours sincerely,

EUNICE D. OVEREND (Miss).
Frome, Somerset.

March, Cambs, Ringers' Outing

A party of 24 bell-ringers and friends from St. Wendreda's Church, March, enjoyed their outing on August 8th, when they visited four counties, ringing at Fordham, Chippenham, Lavenham, Castle Hedingham, Haverhill, Willingham and Somersham.

While at Lavenham the ringers gave a demonstration on handbells in the renowned Swan Inn to the obvious delight of the residents. The inn possesses 13 handbells of fine tonal quality, and these are the property of Trust Houses Ltd. The tourists afterwards visited St. Paul's Church—a magnificent edifice—and rang the eight bells: the 'matchless' tenor evoked much admiration.

The Rector of Haverhill very kindly arranged a sumptuous tea for the party, and thanks to him and to all clergy and ringers of the churches visited are due for enabling all to experience a delightful day.

West Countrymen's Tour of North Wales and Cheshire

ON July 25th, a band of 11 ringers assembled for the fourth annual tour of the West Countrymen, under the direction and guidance of David Hoare.

The first call was at Oswestry, where eight of the company duly completed a peal of Yorkshire before departing for Ffestiniog, our first glimpse of the really magnificent scenery to which we were to be treated in the ensuing week.

Ffestiniog was safely reached, whereupon the ability of our organiser was immediately put to the test. Ringing on Sunday morning had been arranged on the pleasant eight at Portmadoc, but the Welsh hoteliers were apparently unaccustomed to the Somerset habit of rising early, and breakfast had to be consumed at an alarming rate. Our morning ring was all too brief, so we returned to pay another visit in the evening. Meanwhile, the party suffered from the archaic licensing laws operating in Wales. Even Dick, renowned for acquiring ale in unusual circumstances, met his match!

Monday saw us bound for Bangor, where a peal of Cambridge was rung. At the end of the peal biscuits and tea were kindly supplied by the local ringers and were much appreciated. The rest of the day was devoted to sightseeing. A visit was paid to Anglesey, where a ring at Beaumaris had originally been planned, but where the bells had been recently deemed unringable. Our route passed near Snowdon, and the more energetic were purported to have climbed the summit. The remainder preferred to view the beautiful scenery from the comfort of a car!

A peal of Aldenham at Llandudno started Tuesday on the right note. Our headquarters for the remainder of the tour were to be in Chester, and ringing was enjoyed at Abergelle en route. Sightseeing took us to the Marble Church at Bodewyddan and to St. Asaph Cathedral. Chester contained the most important necessity of the tour—a Chinese restaurant, and good use was made of this establishment for the remainder of the week.

ONE OF SEVEN WONDERS

After receiving a catching Devonian well-wishing, the band rang a peal of Double Norwich on the glorious bells of Gresford. We were left in no doubt as to the reason why these are one of the seven wonders of Wales. More beautiful scenery enthralled us on our journey, on which we rang on the fine eight at Llangollen and the handy six at Overton-on-Dee.

Our successful run of peals came to an abrupt end on Thursday, when Bristol and Spiced were lost at Buckley and Northop respectively. At Buckley we were entertained to lunch by Dennis Millward, whom we met later at the weekly practice at Wrexham. The tower here was very impressive, and the bells, especially the back eight, well befitted it.

Failure on Friday on the first-class bells of Eccleston was greeted by the appearance of Ralph Edwards. Ringing on these bells was a real pleasure, and it was a great pity that a shift after 2½ hours had to terminate proceedings. After free time for shopping and sightseeing, a peal attempt was started on the ten at Chester Cathedral. Ringing on these bells is always somewhat slow, and 'Stand' was called after two hours for fear of our being trapped in the Cathedral after 'locking-up time.' It transpired that all would have been well, but our regrets were soon extinguished with good Chinese food.

IN LIVERPOOL

Saturday saw us bound for Liverpool, where we were pleased to meet Frank Harris and Laurie Hitchins. The size of the completed portion of the Cathedral amazed us, and our amazement continued when we travelled via two lifts to the ringing room and bells. Good use was made of Ralph by allowing him to pull most of the bells up, and we then attempted Stedman Cinques, Kent Royal and Cambridge Major on the back eight. The proverbial tape-recorder was put to good use as it was for most of the week, except when technical details were overlooked and the operator's efforts rendered fruitless.

The last peal attempt was at 'St. Nicholas', Liverpool, where Stedman Cinques came to a finish after 1½ hours because of a shift. With no more ringing arranged for the day, the party made for Chester, where refreshment and tales went round until a final visit was made to the restaurant of the Orient. The day ended with the tape-recorder doing overtime and book tokens being presented to David Hoare and to Tony Sanger, the latter having arranged accommodation, cleverly procuring for himself a personal bathroom at the Chester hotel!

Sunday dawned and, after packing our bags and ringing for morning service at St. Mary's-Without-the-Walls, we departed, homeward bound. Another week's tour had passed all too quickly, and we left with our memories of the magnificent countryside and of a week well spent.

A LEARNERS' TOUR

A week's tour was run this year for the second time to cater for ringers in the early stages of method ringing who wish to increase their capabilities. Many thanks are due to those who came to help us with the ringing, the Branch secretaries and others who gave advice on the choice of towers, and all the clergy and tower captains who so kindly gave permission for the use of their bells in this rather unusual venture.

The towers were chosen as far as possible to avoid towns and places where there were likely to be complaints about the noise. This plan had the additional advantage of keeping us off main roads and in some very picturesque parts of Somerset, Dorset and Wilts.

Nineteen ringers took part, the majority travelling by cycle and staying in youth hostels at Winyards Gao, Biddoort, Milton Abbas and Marnhull. Milton Abbas Hostel is in a very rural situation and we were introduced to the joys of 'real hostelling.'

The party was divided for some of the time and, in all, 29 towers were visited. Methods attempted were Grandsire Doubles and Triples, Bob Minor and Stedman Doubles.

Anyone interested in joining a similar venture next year, either as a learner or as an 'assistant,' should write to Hugh B. Makins, Fairview, Harold's Park Farm, Nazeing, Essex.

QUARTER PEALS

BREDBURY, CHESHIRE.—On July 11th, 1,260 Grandsire Triples: C. E. Tomkinson 1, Maureen Barker 2, J. S. Webb 3, P. Laffin 4, J. Barker 5, B. Harris 6, C. Bell 7, J. Bell 8. First quarter 2 and 8.

BRIGHTON, SUSSEX.—On July 26th, 1,260 Stedman Triples: Betty Stephenson 1, G. North 2, R. G. Hooper 3, L. Baiting 4, Cherie Paine 5, F. Rowsell 6, W. A. Riddington (cond.) 7, H. W. Woolven 8. A farewell compliment to Miss Cherie Paine, who is taking a teaching post in Birmingham.

BROCKENHURST, HANTS.—On July 13th, 1,260 Grandsire Doubles: A. W. Fry 1, Miss A. J. Knight 2, M. D. G. Northway (cond.) 3, Miss M. P. Coffin 4, R. Buchanan 5, M. L. Northway 6.

CONDUCTING A PEAL OF STEDMAN CATERS

By NORMAN CHADDOCK

Most people are agreed that Cater music is some of the best bell music obtainable, but with the popularity of Surprise Major peal ringing the number of efficient Stedman conductors seems to have shrunk considerably. Whilst some of the old expert Stedman peal conductors might smile at this article by a non-expert, it is hoped that some of the less experienced might find it a help in having a go at calling a peal in this attractive method.

In order to check all the instructions given below it is advisable to write out in full a plain course of Stedman Caters. There are 18 sixes (108 changes) in a plain course.

The figures given in touches of Stedman are usually the six ends, and since rounds are normally in the middle of a quick six the first six-end given in most touches and peals is 231456789. It will thus be seen that in the plain course treble is in 3rds place, 3 is in 2nds place and 2 is in firsts place.

MAKING CALLS

Study the following, which is part of a course with 6 in 2nds place, and 978 course-ends. Though calling positions are shown the figures are the changes produced by plain sixes (NO calls actually made).

Bob at 1	261453978	Course-end
X	624135798	First six of next course
	264317589
	246135798
	426317589
Bob at 2	462135798	Six-end
	642317589
X ²	463271859	First change of second six

A Bob at 1 would be called at the change preceded by the dash, made by 9, and 78 would triple dodge in 8-9. The cross shows the change at which the bob would actually be made if called and the figures actually written down to show the effect of such a call are those that would appear at the last row of the six instead of 642317589. A bob at 1 would produce (from 261453978) the six-end 642319578.

A Bob at 2 would be called at = and made at X², etc.; i.e., in Stedman a bob is called two changes before the six to which the figures refer and is made at the first change of the six.

It is recognised that the best music in Stedman Caters is produced with the 6th in 2nds place and 978 course-ends and with the 6th in 5ths place and 879 course-ends. Further improvement is obtained if the 5th is in 5ths in 978 course-ends, and the 3rd in 2nds place with 879 course-ends. In other words, the best music is found in courses ending 060050978 or 030060879, and a peal with these qualities is set out in full below. The opening course is set out in full by six ends and so is the turning course. The last three changes of the peal are written in full after the last course-end (134265879). At the first single 3 makes 7ths, treble makes 8ths and 4 makes 9ths, and at the second single treble makes 7ths, 5 makes 8ths and 2 makes 9ths. In case the conductor wishes to ring the 7th, which is fixed throughout, the position of the 7th, WHEN THE CALLS ARE ACTUALLY MADE, is given.

In this peal a bob at 5 is called when the seventh is making 3rds to first half turn, and a bob at 16 is called when 7 is 4-5 up after quick before course-end. She will do this 4-5 up dodge with 9 in first half of the peal and the 8th in the second half. At the course-end the seventh is 8-9 down after quick.

Bobs should be called immediately after tenor strikes on the 4th change of the six.

In order to maintain control of the bells during the peal, the conductor should at least memorise and check the going off and turning courses, the quarter peal course-ends and the course-ends with singles in. The trebles (first place) place bells should also be checked. The order of trebles place bells is 34214—43213—1—5412—5421. The trebles place (first place) bells are changed by the bobs at 5.

Whilst each conductor selects his own guides so that he is not just a bob caller, the following notes will be useful, especially if the conductor is ringing the 7th:—

NOTES

A bob at 16 is made by the 6ths place bell, putting her in 3rds place. The 7th dodges 6-7 up with this new 3rds place bell just after the bob.

A bob at 5 is also made by the 6ths place bell. The 3rds place bell is 8-9 down becoming the new trebles place bell.

How to check when to call a bob at 5 (apart from counting the bobs at 16).

Watch for the bell due to be the next trebles place bell dodging in 6-7 with the 7th the next six after the bob at 16. This bell is now in 3rds place. Call a bob at the next 5 position to put this bell into trebles place. Immediately after the course-end before this bob at 5 the 7th will meet this bell in 6-5 down.

Treble (First) Place Bell. The 7th passes this bell in 3-4 up always.

OUTINGS

GRAPPENHALL, CHESHIRE

The Grappenhall Branch outing, on July 18th, received the support of 80 ringers and friends. A start was made at 7.30 a.m. from Runcorn and Frodsham. The first tower was the nice Taylor eight at Ripley, Derbyshire, which was followed by a rather mixed but delightful bag of 10 at St. Peter's, Nottingham.

After lunch the quaint old Church of St. Giles, Sandiacre, with its good ring of six, was visited. At St. Michael's, Breaston, the strong smell of disinfectant told of the havoc of the death watch beetle.

We were surprised, after seeing the neat and tidy ringing room at St. Andrew's, Derby (10), to learn that there was no regular Sunday service band for this quite good ring. A substantial tea followed and the last call was at Duffield, where the bells are in keeping with the beauty of the surroundings.

Methods rung and attempted were Cambridge Minor, Major and Royal, London Minor and Major, Stedman Triples and Caters, Plain Bob and Kent Treble Bob Minor, Major and Royal. For over 20 years Mr. C. Raddon has organised this annual outing and thanks are due to him, incumbents and ringers who met the party. On the homeward journey the Runcorn contingent made a presentation to Mrs. Winstanley, whose birthday was that day. W. A.

HITCHIN, HERTS

Hitchin ringers had a full and enjoyable day in the Cotswolds on July 11th, the coach starting to pick up its complement at 6.30 a.m.

Brailes, the first stop, was reached 25 minutes before time, but not too early to sample Cotswold beer. Unfortunately, justice was not done to these bells although London and Cambridge came round. Moreton-in-Marsh proved a pleasant and easy-going eight. Following lunch at the Cotswold Restaurant, Moreton, came the most unusual ring of the day at Bourton-on-the-Hill. Here the two trebles are hung in a maze of timbers above the other bells.

Slow-in-the-Wold bells were up and ready and some of the best ringing of the day took place on these bells. Full justice was done to the tea of cold ham and tongue at the White Hart Hotel, Chipping Norton. After the speechmaking the journey was resumed to Hook Norton. Bristol went well on this beautiful eight.

Rain had set in by the time Adderbury was reached. These were the best bells of the day, but by 8.45 p.m. everyone was just a little bit sore and thirsty, so with thanks to Mr. Roper the journey for home was continued. A word of praise is due to the driver who not only stuck rigidly to the timetable but visited every ringing chamber.

CHELFORD, CHESHIRE

For their outing this year on August 8th, Chelford ringers selected the North Derbyshire and Nottingham district. At the first stop, Chapel-en-le-Frith, some moderate touches were rung on a varied six. With the sun smiling on us we made our way to Eyam, a grand six in a most picturesque part of Derbyshire. Great Longstone, the next tower, has so small a belfry that some of the ringers had some difficulty in handling the ropes.

After an excellent lunch at Bakewell, a good 30 minutes' ringing was enjoyed at Barlborough. The route was by way of Worksop to the Dukeries, to ring at Edwinstowe, followed by Sutton-in-Ashfield (a very good eight). Here Mr. and Mrs. Sollis and lady bell-ringers had organised a very enjoyable tea.

The evening ringing was at Brassington, reached via Alfreton and Matlock. F. G. F.

her off slow." At the course-end this bell is going to first $\frac{1}{2}$ turn.

5ths Place Bell. (5 in 1st half, 6 in 2nd half.) 7th turns this bell from lead as she (7th) does LWT, courses her up behind and down to lead.

In the first half 7th always cuts 9th in 8-7 down and dodges her in 4-5 up after quick. The 8th courses 7th up behind to course-end and then down to lead. The work with 9th and 8th is 'exchanged' in second half of the peal.

If the 'weaker' ringers are put on the 8th, 9th, 2nds or 5ths place bells the ringer of the 7th can look after them better.

COURSING ORDER

The coursing order is almost clear going to course-end. After the course-end the 7th meets the bells in the natural coursing order. If the conductor can retain the coursing order in his mind he can check every course. If not, he can at least check selected courses.

OUTINGS

CHILVERS COTON, WARWICKS

The annual outing on July 11th was much enjoyed by ringers and friends from Bulkington and Coventry, as well as by our own band. We rang at Gloucester Cathedral, where we were pleased to meet Mr. W. T. Cox, late of Coventry. We did not show to the best advantage here as the bells were much heavier than those to which we are accustomed.

Tea in the hall of St. Mary-de-Crypt's was prepared by ladies of the parish and, although we arrived in twos and threes, some being half-an-hour late due to a misunderstanding about the location of the hall, we all did full justice to a very nice meal. Votes of thanks were accorded the ladies who had provided it, and to Mr. Leslie Barry who had made the local arrangements.

We rang next on the eight bells of St. Mary-de-Crypt's, and felt that we did ourselves justice there. On to Evesham, where we were welcomed by Mr. Roger Savory in the absence of Mr. Geoff. Hemming. The clapper of the treble bell being tied, and no key being found for the belfry door to gain access to the bells, we contented ourselves by ringing ten bells. Half a course of Cambridge Royal went well, as did Kent Treble Bob Royal. Grandsire and Stedman Caters came round in fine style but not so the London Surprise Major on the back eight.

Dinner at the Northwyck Arms Hotel followed the ringing, and a social hour of impromptu entertainment proved most hilarious. Geoff. Hemming and son Gerald had by this time put in an appearance and gave us tunes on handbells, as well as yarns which convulsed the listeners.

We reached Coton after midnight, having enjoyed a very full and memorable 12 hours.

WATFORD, HERTS

Watford ringers and friends started their annual outing on August 15th with ringing at Little Munden, where they were met by Arthur Phillips. It was also pleasing to see Canon Thorpe again, one-time rector of St. Mary's, Watford. Good use was made of the pleasant six, and methods rung ranged from Grandsire Doubles to Cambridge Surprise.

Owing to poor navigation, the visitors were late arriving at Finchfield (Essex), and ringing was curtailed to plain courses, including one of Cambridge Surprise Major. They then continued to Saffron Walden for an excellent lunch at the Abbey Hotel, but were unable to sample the ring of 12 because of a wedding.

At Trumpington (Cams) Miss Kitty Willers welcomed the party, and the eight by Taylor proved the highlight of the day. Although a touch of Spiced refused to come round, a course of London—among other things—somewhat made up for it. After a satisfying repast at the Chaise and Pair, Barkway, the ringers proceeded to the tower, and touches rung included Spiced, Bristol and Bob Major. Mr. Bysouth also joined in the ringing. They continued to Norton and were greeted by Miss Sanderson. The light eight were put to good use, and two touches of Stedman and a course of Yorkshire were rung. Thanks are due to incumbents for the use of their bells, and also to Steve Hoare for arranging a most enjoyable day.

PREPARATION, CONCENTRATION AND CO-OPERATION

THE RT. REV. D. G. LOVEDAY, Bishop of Dorchester, gave the address at the Oxford Diocesan Guild festival, and based his observations on Romans xv, 18: 'But I say, have they not heard: yes, verily, their sound went unto all the earth.'

In the course of his address the Bishop referred to the Oxford Diocesan Guild annual report, and said:—

'I want to draw attention to the splendid length of loyal service recorded in the report: 68 members have 50 or more years to their credit. Sometimes in a small country village I find one bell-ringer or one choirman who never misses, whose quiet example has inspired successive generations, whose loyal, sometimes lonely service has been a perpetual witness to his faith and devotion. Such men are true servants of God.'

'My text is taken from this morning's second lesson, one of the more difficult chapters in an obscure epistle. But on it may hinge the three words I want to set before you this morning—Preparation, Concentration, Co-operation.'

'Preparation. If anyone were to ask what is the purpose of bell-ringing, you could scarcely give a better answer than this, to prepare the worshipper to receive the word of God. The bells are rung before morning and evening prayer to remind the worshippers that they must come to church prepared, made ready beforehand, unhurried, undistracted, that they may offer and receive the full blessing of Divine worship. A former bishop of this diocese used to go straight to the altar and begin the service of Holy Communion without preamble. How right he was! though flippant criticism is sometimes heard of him now. The preparation of priest, or priest and server, or priest and people should be before the advertised hour of service. So the bells are rung before Sunday service to remind us to prepare our hearts; the passing bell is rung to remind us to pray for the departed and for ourselves that we may not be surprised by unprepared death. "Be ye also ready, for in such an hour as ye think not the Son of Man cometh."

'Secondly, Concentration. No one can go into a belfry when ringing is taking place without realising that each member of the team is concentrating on his art. Ringing is a wonderful mental and spiritual discipline; and in these days of lack of discipline ringers have a real contribution to make to the well-being of society. Today I received a book which stated that the number of indictable offences known to the police amounted in 1957 to 545,562, an increase of 13 per cent. on 1956—to such a degree has ill-discipline invaded our people. Discipline and concentration go hand in hand. Bell-ringing with its essential concentration is a pleasant way of inducing young people to lead a disciplined life, a consecrated life, the life of service and personal religion which alone can restore sanity and health to our country.'

'This concentration, with preparation, is an essential in the prayer life to which the bells summon us. I am sure you will agree that we have learnt more from observing and trying to emulate the concentrated devotion of another worshipper than from all the exhortation in the world.'

'Lastly, Co-operation. Your report very properly emphasises the importance of team work, of how an idle or unsympathetic incumbent, an unappreciative churchwarden, a depressing or ultra-critical captain who makes the young ringer disheartened, may mar a team and make a tower come into the far-too-large class of silent or partially-manned towers. It is very grievous to me that in Oxfordshire—for I asked for this county's figures—there are 12 unringable, 33 silent and 43 unsatisfactory towers out of 130. Sometimes a ringer is tempted by very loneliness to leave his own tower, where he should be trying to gather recruits, and go to a stronger parish where there is a proper team. Of course, I do not mean that ringers should not on occasion visit other towers: this is part of the wider fellowship. I confess that I had not realised till lately the wonderful freemasonry there is among ringers, so that a man going on holiday can visit church after church and join with complete strangers and make new friends. Where a tower is properly manned it can be a wonderful centre of keenness and happy fellowship both within and without the tower, and can influence and inspire a whole parish and even neighbourhood.'

'Perhaps I may end by telling you a story of an old pupil of mine, now a young doctor. He was christened as a child and confirmed at school, but had no very vital or energetic connection with the Church until a friend introduced him to bell-ringing. So enthusiastic a churchman did he become that he is now a churchwarden—moreover, he organises once a quarter a men's service, when two- or three-hundred men fill a country church, now here, now there, in order to listen to a well-known preacher or speaker, and so are brought into closer touch with our beloved Church. That is a present-day example of co-operation induced by a bell-ringer's enthusiasm.'

'May God bless you all in your great art and in your dedicated service, and may all who are brought by the sound of the bells to worship the Most High God come to His House prepared for His message, concentrated in their devotions and co-operating as workers together with Him for His glory, to their salvation and to the edification of His Church.'

It happened at the Queen's Hotel, Exeter. Howard, who was to conduct the next morning's peal attempt, retired early, and was heard muttering Heywood's Double Norwich at intervals throughout the night. One of his two room-mates, waking early next morning, asked the other the time, the reply being 'Six.' They were very surprised to hear Howard continue with 'Single at 1, 1 and three 6's,' the rest fading away beneath the sheets.—From 'Westward with Wratten.'

Messrs. T. McMorran and J. Atkinson, of Dublin, have been visiting this country. A quarter peal of Stedman Triples was arranged for them at Overseale on August 11th.

Owing to the defects of the roof of Lancaster (R.C.) Cathedral the bells, which had been silent since January, were rung for the first time on August 30th, when a quarter peal was successfully brought round.

Mr. F. Vickers, of 64, Bourtonville, Buckingham, is the new hon. secretary of the North Bucks Branch of the Oxford Diocesan Guild, in succession to Mr. P. Howson, who has resigned through health reasons.

There is a special interest concerning the peal on August 4th at Llangattock-juxta-Crickhowell, Brecon. It was only the second peal on the bells. The other was of Grand-sire Doubles on December 10th, 1922, which was the first peal of Mr. Wilfred Williams, the Master of the College Youths.

A 720 of Cambridge Surprise Minor was rung at St. Mary's, Amersham, on August 30th in thanks for the recovery of Mr. Geoffrey Orchard, who has recently had a leg amputated. The band hope to see him back in the tower soon. The ringers were A. Fortin 1, Mrs. E. G. Swift 2, C. Shepherd 3, E. G. Swift 4, M. G. Swift 5, J. E. Camp (conductor) 6.

BELFRY GOSSIP

Lady visitors to the Roman Catholic Cathedral at Lancaster are asked to observe the ruling that they should not go into the belfry and church with uncovered heads or scantily attired. The privilege of ringing should not cause exception in matters of dress and conduct to be taken by the church authorities and other members of the church. Oxford Diocesan Guild has 68 members who have given 50 or more years' service to the Guild.

The quarter peal at Long Ashton on July 17th (see page 484) was rung as a welcome to Peter John Mack, a brother for Shirley Mack. The error is regretted.

Mr. George W. Pipe used the same composition of Plain Bob Major as his first peal at Ufford, Suffolk, in 1947 for the peal he conducted at St. Paul's Cathedral, Melbourne, on August 9th.

The peals at Clipston and Cogenhoe on July 15th were to mark the bicentenary of the death of George Frederic Handel and not his birth, as erroneously stated on page 482. We thank those who have called attention to this unfortunate mistake.

Mr. Ernest Morris has had his latest book, 'Tintinnabula,' published this week by Robert Hale, price 21s. A review will appear in our next issue. He has also completely rewritten 'The Church Bells of Leicestershire,' which the Archaeological Society describe as a 'monumental work.'

Two members of the Rochester Cathedral band, Mr. C. E. J. Norris and Mr. W. A. J. Knight, rang their 100th peal together at Barming on August 29th. Their first was at Chatham on April 24th, 1937. In that band, which rang Stedman Triples, the only other two survivors are Mr. Fred Southgate and Mr. George Naylor.

OXFORD DIOCESAN GUILD FESTIVAL

SUBSCRIPTION FOR 1960 AND 'THE RINGING WORLD'

OXFORD Diocesan Guild Festival, held on July 4th. at Oxford, was again a popular event. Ringing at Christ Church preceded the service in the Cathedral, which was conducted by the Master (the Rev. C. E. Wigg) and the Deputy Master (Mr. Frederick Sharpe) read the lesson. The choir was formed by members of the Guild and the Guild's banner was carried in procession. The sermon was preached by the Bishop of Dorchester (the Right Rev. D. G. Loveday): his address is given on the front page of this issue.

The Bishop also attended the annual meeting in the Chapter House, where the Master presided and opened the meeting with prayers. He also welcomed the Bishop, who is a vice-president of the Guild.

Arising from the minutes the hon. general secretary (Miss M. R. Cross) reported that books had been purchased for Miss Irving as a token of appreciation of her work in connection with the Guild's banner. The Sunday service survey report would be discussed at the autumn meeting.

Miss Cross reported that as a result of the meeting concerning the revision of branch boundaries, there was a move to form a new branch in the Aylesbury area. Nothing definite had been done but it was proposed to hold a meeting of the towers concerned in September. The general committee approved the formation of the branch.

Mr. W. Birmingham wrote pointing out the dreadful state of the grave of the Rev. C. W. O. Jenkyn and asking if the Guild could take action in the matter. Mr. A. E. Lock said he would be responsible for tidying it.

The officers' reports and the balance sheet and auditors' accounts were accepted.

ELECTION OF OFFICERS

The following officers were elected: Master, the Rev. C. E. Wigg; Deputy Master, Mr. F. Sharpe; hon. general treasurer, Mr. A. D. Barker; hon. general secretary, Miss M. R. Cross; hon. librarian, Mr. H. L. Roper; committee members, Miss D. Fletcher, Messrs. P. Walker, F. A. White and A. Diserens (other two vacancies to be filled at autumn annual meeting); auditors, Messrs. E. Francis and Sons. Reading: trustees, Messrs. C. H. Kinch, A. R. Pink and F. Sharpe; editor of the report, Mr. P. Walker.

A ballot for the election of four representatives of the Central Council resulted in the election of Messrs. A. D. Barker (87 votes), A. E. Lock (74), P. Walker (60), D. Smith (69). Not elected: Mrs. A. D. Barker (57) and Mr. R. Diserens (16).

GRANTS TO TOWERS

St. Aldate's, Oxford.—This application had been supported by a grant of £10 from the Oxford City Branch. The General Committee recommended £25 and this was agreed to.

St. Mary-le-More, Wallingford.—This application towards work costing £500, carried out by Mr. F. White, of Appleton, was supported by the North Berks Branch, which had voted £20, and personally by Mr. A. E. Eversden, churchwarden, who said there was now a young band there and a close liaison between the ringers and the Parochial Church Council. A grant of £40 was voted.

Enstone, Oxon.—Towards the cost of £663 10s., the Rev. A. W. Holmes, Branch chairman, said the ringers had raised £429. The Chipping Norton Branch supported the application and had voted £10. The application was deferred until the autumn meeting, when Mr. Hucken was asked to produce the specifications.

The autumn meeting was fixed for October 3rd at Banbury and the election of 217 new members was confirmed.

The subscription for 1960 was deferred until the autumn meeting. Mr. A. D. Barker pointing out that it was impossible to settle this until the cost of the reports for 1958-59 had been settled and the financial position of 'The Ringing World' had been discussed. He held the view that there must be financial support from the Guilds and Associations for the journal.

The Deputy Master pointed out that the Guild could not go on without 'The Ringing World' as without it they would lose touch. If the cost of printing went up, as expected, the additional cost would be £1,000. Everyone must be encouraged to buy the paper as only thus could the cost per paper be kept down.

A grant of £5 was made from the General Fund towards the Sear Memorial.

The Deputy Master reported that Braywood Church was to be demolished. He had contacted the church authorities and the bells were to be sold to a church in the Oxford Diocese.

Mr. W. Birmingham gave notice that he intended to move at the autumn meeting that the general committee meeting be held after the agenda for the Central Council meeting had been issued. This would enable guidance to be given to Central Council representatives.

THE LUNCH

As is customary, the lunch was held in the Dining Hall of Christ Church. The Master presided, supported by the Bishop of Dorchester, Messrs. T. Trollope and W. H. B. Wilkins (vice-presidents) and the Guild officers. The guest of honour was the Dean of Christ Church (the Very Rev. J. Lowe).

In reply to the toast of 'Church and State,' proposed by Mr. H. Lawrenson, the Dean of Christ Church said this was his farewell after 20 years. During that time he had enjoyed his contacts with the ringers in the Cathedral Society and in the town. He urged ringers not to make ringing a hobby in itself but to harness it to the service of God. When giving permission for ringing, the Dean and Chapter had to take into account that the College was a place where people had to work. In the vacations he was glad to welcome the ringers and glad to hear their efforts.

AMERICAN VISITOR

The toast of 'The Visitors' was proposed by Mr. W. Birmingham and accorded a special welcome to Mr. Young, from Groton School, Massachusetts, U.S.A., where there was a ring of eight bells which, he understood, were rung regularly. They hoped Mr. Young would have learned much during his stay in this country about ringing and the fellowship of English ringers. Mr. Birmingham also welcomed Mr. Wilfrid Wilson, Mr. Peett, a former member, now living in London, and Mr. Coles, from Hillingdon.

Mr. R. S. Young, who replied, thanked Mr. Birmingham on behalf of the visitors for the warm welcome they had received. That day, said Mr. Young, was doubly important to him for he was celebrating American Independence Day and lunching in the Dining Room of Christ Church with the Oxford Diocesan Guild. He had much pleasure in proposing the toast of 'The Oxford Diocesan Guild.'

The Master, in a brief reply, said he felt he must say, from the bottom of his heart, how much they appreciated the privileges given to the Guild by the College and Cathedral authorities and particularly by the Dean. He thanked the Bishops in the Diocese for encouraging ringers in their work and hoped that this happy relationship would long continue.

Proposing a comprehensive vote of thanks, the Deputy Master said during the Dean's period of office great things had happened. The record of Stedman Cinques had been rung at Christ Church, Tom Tower had been rehung (this was largely sponsored by the Dean) and members of the Guild had been given the privilege of having their own choir to sing at the Guild Festival. After thanking the Bishop of Dorchester, the clergy, the deputy organist and the ringers of Oxford, the Deputy Master had a special word of thanks for Mr. Wilfrid Wilson on his work of duplicating the Guild report. The collection taken for the Restoration Fund amounted to £7 12s. 6d.

KENT COUNTY ASSOCIATION

Lewisham District

Some 60 ringers and friends enjoyed the quarterly meeting of the Lewisham District at Crayford. The Rector (the Rev. A. R. Agg) officiated at the service, Mr. Palmer was organist and Mr. E. Barnett read the lesson. Tea was taken in the Church Hall, where Mrs. E. A. Barnett and her assistants had functioned admirably as caterers.

The Rector presided at the business meeting. Four new members were elected. Erith was chosen for the annual District meeting on October 24th, and support was asked for the combined meeting with the Surrey Association on October 10th and the Association's dinner at Rochester.

It was decided to arrange a series of Surprised practices at Crayford at regular intervals. The Rector and all who had helped in the arrangements for the meeting were cordially thanked. Ringing in the afternoon and in the evening was under the leadership of Mr. I. H. Oram, Ringing Master.

DURHAM AND NEWCASTLE ASSOCIATION

The August meeting of the Southern District at Staindrop, Co. Durham, on August 29th, began badly, with a wait of half-an-hour while a search was made for the belfry key. Just when a note had been put on the belfry door to say that the ringers had gone to Gainford, four or five miles away, to try their luck there, and would be back for tea, the key was located. Local members were joined by members from Newcastle, Consett and West Hartlepool, and spent a very happy afternoon on this attractive site. Methods rung included Plain Bob Minor and Major, Stedman and Grandsire Triples, St. Clement's, College Bob Major, Kent Treble Bob, Cambridge Surprise and Superlative Surprise.

This was the annual meeting, and Mr. E. P. Rock was re-elected secretary. Vice-presidents of the District next year will be either Mr. T. Cooke or Mr. F. W. Cooke. The next District meeting will be at Gainford, Co. Durham, on October 31st.

LEEDS & DISTRICT SOCIETY

Once again the weather proved favourable for the meeting held at the Church of St. Oswald, Collingham (8), on August 29th. The tower, being of small structure, limited the number of persons in the ringing chamber and those not actually ringing strolled in the churchyard enjoying the lovely scenery.

During the business meeting two new members were elected—Mr. Brian Sissons and Mr. Allan Sheppard, of Sherburn-in-Elmet. Methods rung during the day ranged from Bob Major to Cambridge Surprise, and rounds for the beginners. Thanks to the Vicar and churchwardens were expressed by Mr. Irvin Slack and Mr. David Atkins.

The next meeting is to be held at Rothwell, D. T.

AND ALL THEIR BRIDES WERE RINGERS

HARRY POYNER AND MARY C. PAYNE

Two well-known Leicester ringers were married at the Church of SS. Peter and Paul, Syston, on August 15th. The bride, Mary C. Payne, is the daughter of Ernest F. Payne, verger and captain of the ringers at Syston. She comes from a ringing family; her elder brother, Bernard Stedman Payne, is secretary of the Syston District, and her younger brother, Harry, is also a ringer. The bridegroom, Harry Poyner, has been a ringer at Leicester Cathedral since 1948, when both he and the writer were taught to ring by the late Harold J. Poole as recruits from the choir. During recent years both have made many friends in different parts of the country, notably Lincoln, where Mary has been teaching.

The service was conducted by the Vicar of Syston (the Rev. D. J. M. Niblett) and the bride was given away by her father. Her brother, Bernard, was best man and the writer was the organist.

After the reception, held in the Red Cross Hall, long famous as the venue for ringers' teas, a peal of Cambridge Surprise Major was rung at Syston conducted by the writer. Included in the band were John Walden, from Lincoln, and representatives from the Syston and Leicester Districts.

Among the congratulatory telegrams was one signed 'The Presidents,' obviously from Mr. and Mrs. P. J. Staniforth, who were on holiday at Teignmouth. Peter is the president of the Leicester Diocesan Guild and his wife, Jill, the president of 'he Ladies' Guild.

After the honeymoon Mr. and Mrs. Poyner are living in Shrewsbury, where Harry has secured a teaching appointment.

MR. CHARLES ROUSE— MISS MARY DREW

Mr. Charles Rouse, of Cheltenham, general secretary of the Gloucester and Bristol Association, and Miss Dorothea Mary Drew, of Cromhall, Glos, secretary of the Wotton-under-Edge Branch, were married at St. Andrew's Church, Cromhall, on August 29th. Ringing friends filled the little church to capacity.

The Rector (the Rev. R. F. Burlton) officiated, assisted by the Rev. W. A. Peel (chairman of the Wotton-under-Edge Branch) and the service was fully choral and included the ringers' hymn 'Again, O Lord, we bless Thy name,' written by the Rev. A. D. H. Allen (late Rector of Cromhall).

The bride, who was given away by her father, wore an embroidered coffee dress with matching veil, pearl headdress and carried a sheaf of mauve orchids. Her bridesmaids were in turquoise nylon. Mr. R. F. Dowdeswell, chairman of the Cheltenham Branch, was best man. As the bride and bridegroom left the church they passed under an arch of handbells. The bells were rung before and after the service.

The reception was held at the Parish Hall and the guests included the Master of the Gloucester and Bristol Association and Mrs. Frank Skidmore, the Rev. W. A. Peel (chairman) and Mr. Harold Hobbs (Ringing Master) of the Wotton-under-Edge Branch. Many congratulatory telegrams were received.

TWO DANBURY RINGERS MARRIED

The wedding took place at St. John-the-Baptist Church, Danbury, on August 5th, of Joe E. G. Roast and Mary Dowsett, both well-known ringers in the district and members of the Danbury band. Prior to the service a peal of Minor in seven methods was rung on the bells, conducted by Ivan Saunders, also of the local band. Tom Roast, the bridegroom's brother, was kept busy ringing in the peal and then playing the organ for the service. The best man was Peter Came, another local ringer.

THE HAPPY COUPLE

Following the service the bride and bridegroom left the church under an archway of handbells formed by ringing colleagues. A short honeymoon in Norfolk concluded with a peal of Minor at Saxthorpe, in which both took part. Mary and Joe both learned their ringing at Danbury under the supervision of the bridegroom's father, Mr. E. W. Roast, and since 1953, when Joe called Mary's first peal, they have rung about 80 peals together.

A GNOSALL WEDDING

Gnosall, Staffs, has had its first ringers' wedding—Mr. Terrence Marriott and Miss Barbara Middleton, who were married at St. Lawrence's Church, Gnosall, on August 1st. Both are regular Sunday service ringers and the good wishes of the band were expressed with the presentation of a set of fruit spoons.

The service was followed by the ringing of several extents of Grandsire Doubles—the first time that anything other than call changes have been rung at the tower for a wedding.

Mr. and Mrs. Marriott are to make their new home at Stafford and it is sincerely hoped that Gnosall's loss will be Stafford's gain.

MR. F. R. LOWE'S 300 PEALS

Mr. Francis R. Lowe, who began ringing in 1932 at St. Luke's, Derby, rang his 300th peal at Overseale on July 4th. These have been rung in 80 different towers in eight counties and for eight Associations. His peal failures total 247 and two false peals have been rung. He has 'circled' nine towers to peals and rung three peals of London Surprise in one day in three different counties. Details:—

Gratefully Acknowledged

The Editorial Committee acknowledge with gratitude the following donations towards the cost of producing 'The Ringing World':—

Personal.—Miss Evelyn Steel 10s.; St. Lawrence Society, Long Buckby, 10s.

Peals.—Darley Dale 3s.; Kirk Ella 3s.; Barming 3s.; Yorkshire Peal Week £1; Hardington 3s.; Hatherop 3s.; Cannock 3s.; Cottesmore 2s. 6d.; Peal Failure, Crich, 2s. 6d.; Sapcote 4s. 6d.

Quarter Peals.—Windsor Castle 2s. 6d.; Radley 2s. 6d.; Handsworth 3s.; St. Bride's 2s. 6d.; Marlow 2s.; St. Peter-in-Thames 4s.; Bushey Heath 4s.; Keresley 2s. 6d.; Peterborough 3s.; Wiveliscombe 4s.; Lancaster 4s.; Arlesey 3s.; Bury St. Edmunds 2s. 6d.; Wells 5s.; Radyr 2s.; Leighton Buzzard 2s.; Handsworth 4s.; Grantham 5s.; Darley Dale 4s.

S.A. Rector Rings A Quarter

The quarter peal at Ranmore, Surrey, on July 8th, was specially arranged for the Rev. G. Harvey, Rector of St. Mark's, Humansdorp, Cape Province, South Africa. He has been on leave for eight months and used to ring at Dorking 30 years ago. His only previous quarter peal was at Watermoor, Glos, in 1939, and he has hardly touched a bellrope for 20 years.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

GEORGE BAKER AND 'LONDON'

Dear Sir.—To your recent front-page article by 'M. R.' on the late George Baker (which mentions my name), may I add a word of tribute and of correction in a point or two of general interest?

Although the correspondence between George and myself over the years became, at times, a trifle incisive, yet I am happy to say that our last communications, just before he left for New Zealand, were entirely cordial.

He will be remembered, no doubt, for his earlier ringing, his compositions and his method designing. There is little doubt that he made some discoveries in the relationships of change-rows, as between course and course, and as between methods of the same category. I made attempts to understand his 'Round Blocks and Transpositions,' which I believe to have been intended to express these relationships, but I have never succeeded in this. I should be glad to hear from anyone who has.

As some of your readers know, my two main interests in ringing have lain in instructing and in the study of theory, the former culminating in the College of Campanology, and the latter developing through Grid Analysis to 'Theory of Method Structure in Change Ringing'—with particular reference to stage-variation ('Extension'). When George reached his 90th birthday I made one more effort to solve my problem, with the intention of including a reference to his theories, in written matter relating to each of the interests above-mentioned. His reply to my letter was interesting—declining attempted explanations on the score of failing eyesight, he said that he had passed on his papers to Mr. Brian Price. So they are not 'lost.'

Turning to what 'M. R.' says of method extension—George Baker's way of approach was (as 'M. R.' suggests) through the figures themselves rather than through the pattern or design of the method. Because my work in this field was introduced (early 1920's) by analysis of the design (the Bristol method was in fact the first subjected to grid analysis), George at once joined issue. The argument spread to the London method, of which by 1920 seven Royal versions had been published, and other people joined in. But it was not until 1921 that Baker's first version appeared, and in 1926 came his second version—often called the 'Brighton' version. It was 12 years later when his third version was published, now known as 'No. 3.' The important point to realise is that this means—'Baker's No. 3,' and NOT 'The third version of London Royal': for by that time at least 13 other versions had been published! So 'M. R.' is not correct in attributing 'No. 2' to me, nor, indeed, 'No. 4' to William Taylor, whose first published London Royal method was coincident with Baker's first, seven others having preceded them.

But we have advanced considerably in our study of method structure since those days, and nearly 20 versions of London Royal have been published. The curious and interesting fact is that 'No. 3,' which is mostly rung, does not conform to the requirements of the Central Council's 'Report on Extension' in some respects, in which respects some other versions do conform. Although my working notes indicate over 50 versions of London

Royal, 'the first 'pealed' version of these ('U.A.') was not published until 1949. The Royal version which I claim as the 'proximate' to the London design, i.e., 'Metropolitan,' together with its Maximus counterpart, 'Metropolis,' were published later and rung to peals, conducted by the late Harold Poole, with the famous Leicester band.

Why, then, is 'No. 3' the version mostly rung? Those who have rung other versions and those who care to look into the history of the matter may agree that there are four probable contributory factors:—

- (1). London Royal ringing calls for a really good band, so its performance is somewhat restricted.
- (2). Baker's 'No. 3' version appeared after a gap of 12 years and was regarded then as something of a novelty and as a 'high level' ringing target.
- (3). In the somewhat limited field of capable bands this version of the method was accordingly the one taken up.
- (4). So the general idea of 'London Royal' became identified with this version, fostered in quarters where London Royal is within capability.

It seems a pity that 'No. 3' version should have obscured the virtues of other versions not so much before the public eye, but lest it should be thought that one is prejudiced, may I add that I have had the privilege of standing in with a peal of 'London Royal No. 3.'—Yours very truly,

A. YORK-BRAMBLE.

Dear Sir,—Kindly allow me space to follow your contributor 'M. R.' in his appreciation of the life of the late Mr. George Baker.

It was through the correspondence columns of the 'R.W.' in the late 1920's and early 1930's that Mr. Baker and my father (the late W. W. Wolstencroft) became friends.

It was a very happy and rewarding friendship, which only terminated with my father's sudden death in February, 1957.

Between them, they carried on a most voluminous correspondence, much of which is in my possession.

Mr. Baker's enthusiasm for his theories, and my father's keenness to learn them, caused 'Round blocks and transpositions' to become almost household words at 103, Victoria Street, A.U.L.

The following quotation from one of his letters illustrates how convinced he was of the rightness of his arguments.

'Round blocks and transpositions do exist in peal compositions as well as in methods, principles and systems. They do exist, and the three symmetrically arranged peal compositions which follow, together with their round blocks and transpositions, prove the fact indisputably.—G.B.'

Although 'M. R.' says that Mr. Baker kept silent when J. S. G. once satirised him, Mr. Baker, in a letter to my father in February, 1942, once expressed himself thus:—

'I can't understand J. S. G.'s attitude to myself. We were good pals many years ago, and as a matter of fact I rang in his first peal with a bob bell in 1894—a peal of Grandsire

Triples, at Southover, Lewes, not Brighton, which was where J. S. G. learned later to ring Surprise methods.'

After my father's death, he wrote to me several times, and the last occasion on which I saw him was on a visit to Windsor, with his sister-in-law, in September, 1957, when, at the age of 90, he almost literally walked me off my feet!

Several names mentioned in his correspondence with my father indicate that there are ringers still living who understood his 'round blocks and transpositions.'

It was a great sorrow to him that, within three months of his arrival in New Zealand his son-in-law, whom he had not seen for so long, died suddenly.

Our sympathy goes out to his daughter, Olive, who in so short a time lost her husband and her father.—Yours faithfully,

Windsor.

IDA HAWKINS.

ALL THREE HIS METHODS

Dear Sir,—With reference to George Baker, on the front page of 'The Ringing World,' of August 28th, there is an article by 'M. R.' I do not know who 'M. R.' is: he mentions A. York-Bramble and No. 2; he can leave out A. York-Bramble or anyone else. The 1, 2 and 3 are George Baker's London Royal, and the 1, 2 and 3 are all his methods. No. 2 was rung at Brighton on February 11th, 1926; at that time no numbers were mentioned, so it was called Brighton version.—Yours faithfully,

A. D. STONE

FIRST BROADCAST

Dear Sir,—Further to the correspondence on the first broadcasting of church bells. St. Martin-in-the-Fields were on the air for the Watch-night Service on December 31st, 1923.

Stedman Cinques was rung, and Mr. A. A. Hughes rang the 11th in an endeavour to solve the problem of the 'go' of that bell following the restoration of the 12 in that year.

The bells were on the air for a few minutes only.—Yours, etc., C. J. MATTHEWS.
London, S.W.

ACTON'S OLD CLAPPER

Dear Sir,—We possess the clapper of the old saunce bell cast in 1553, the bell itself having had more metal added to it when the church tower was rebuilt in 1876 and is now used as the tenor.

The old clapper had been painted with black stove enamel and I have got all that off. Fortunately the stuff used affected nothing, for unexpectedly the clapper appears to have been painted, the hook and stem showing red paint, and the business end traces of yellow paint and less traces of a deep blue. Where there is no paint the metal appears to be a brown and white mottle.

That sets us wondering of what metal the clapper would be made, and whether it was usual for clappers at that period to be painted.—Yours sincerely,

DORIS INGOLD.

20, Rosemont Road, London, W.3.

Note.—The clapper will be on view at an open day and exhibition Acton Parish Church is holding on Saturday, September 19th, from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m.

REMINISCENCES OF OLD LONDON RINGERS

Dear Sir,—Mr. G. E. Symonds, in his account ranging from 1895 to 1900, brings back memories of the few years I spent in London, commencing in 1900.

When I first met Bob Haworth he was 80, and he gave me my first introduction to fish and chips! Bill Cooter was also a keen time-keeper even though his eyesight was failing. At one time he was on the staff of the 'Bell News.' Ted Horrex took a fatherly interest in me and I lived with him for some time in the Lavender Hill district.

Probably Mr. Symonds will remember Walter Prime and Dick French at St. Paul's, John Rogers, Arthur Jacob and Arthur Hardy, of the Cumberlands, also the brothers H. S. and A. G. Ellis and J. W. Golding, from Rochester Row, where Charlie Brice used to ring. Others I recall are Ted O'Meara, Bob Newton, E. Barnett senior, T. Faulkner, F. W. Thornton, G. N. Price, H. P. Harman and many other well-known names too numerous to mention here. All kinds of occupations were represented in the towers and meeting places, and during practice a steward would collect a steeple fee, usually 2d. or 3d., so if you attended four or five a week you could get plenty of ringing to keep you in trim.

Most of the ringers I had the pleasure of ringing with in those days have now passed to higher service, but I am pleased we still have with us three great stars who maintained the high traditions of London ringing for well over half a century: yes, I rang a peal with my old friends Herbert Langdon and T. H. Taffender over 58 years ago. The following year Challis Winney introduced me to a young man of my own age (19) at St Magnus', London Bridge, who rang the tenor to a round 5,000 Stedman Caters, his first peal on ten bells—his name, Alfred B. Peck.—Yours faithfully,

WILLIAM SHEPHERD.

Addlestone, Surrey.

TAPE-RECORDING LIBRARY

Dear Sir,—Once more I am inquiring if there are any readers of 'The Ringing World' who are also owners of tape-recorders. I am keen to correspond by means of tape, with any ringers in England, or any other part of the world, who may be likewise interested. At present I am building a library of ringing tapes, which no doubt would be of interest to others. There are quite a few ringers-cum-recordists about now, but I had a poor response to my last inquiry. However, one outcome is that I am now participating in an interesting exchange with our ringing friends in South Africa.

My machine will accept up to 7in. reels and play at 7½, 3½ or 1½ Ips., and ringers who may care to send either tapes or letters to the address printed below are invited to do so, stating their various ringing interests together with other pastimes. This is also extended to sympathetic non-ringers. — Yours sincerely,

CLIVE M. SMITH.

SPICED SURPRISE MAJOR—FIVE OR SIX METHODS

Dear Sir,—I send the following figures of a composition of Spiced Surprise Major for five or six methods, in which more Yorkshire can be rung than is usual in compositions of London, Bristol, Yorkshire, Cambridge. Superlative and Rutland.—Yours faithfully,

N.B.—Of course, the above method is hopelessly false, but any ringer who is prepared to accept 'single' changes as an integral part of the construction of a Minor method is unlikely to quibble at such comparatively insignificant defects. The important thing is to realise that the above has 'regular' lead-ends and heads. —Prof. Dodge.

Holiday Ringing

Thanks to the good services of Mr. Nolan Golden and Mr. John Smith, a number of ringers on holiday at Cromer had a good day's ringing visiting 11 Norfolk towers. The party included Mr. Ronald Dove and his son, Mr. and Mrs. L. Wright and daughter (Bury St. Edmunds), Mr. B. A. Franks and his two sons (Radlett, Herts), Mr. and Mrs. G. R. G. Butler and Peter (Long Sutton) Messrs. Robert Strickland (Crowland Abbey), A. T. Weeks (Devizes) and A. E. Boon (Long Sutton). Evening ringing trips were also arranged. The holiday-makers express their thanks to all who made them so welcome.

OBITUARY

THE REV. J. B. FRITH

We have just received information concerning the death of the Rev. J. B. Frith, who was clerical secretary and treasurer of the North Staffordshire Association from 1928 to 1933, and died last December, aged 76.

He succeeded his father as Rector of Swynnerton in 1920 and held the living until 1942. He was the first representative of the North Staffordshire Association on the Central Council and served from 1932 to 1935.

In accordance with his wishes, interment of his ashes in Swynnerton Churchyard on April 23rd was delayed 'until daffodils which as a boy he planted in the churchyard should be in full bloom.' The bells were rung half-muffled later in the day by the local band.

The widow, who lives at Newport, Salop, is a descendant of Lord Brereton, one-time Master of the College Youths.

MR. J. H. P. CONQUEST

The death took place at his home suddenly on June 22nd of Mr. John Henry Price Conquest, a member of the 'All Saints' band, Leighton Buzzard.

John Conquest was taught to handle a bell at Hughenden, Bucks, at the late age of 30. After a stay at Stevenage and King's Walden he came to Leighton Buzzard and joined the band in 1934. He was 72.

The funeral service, on June 25th, was attended by Miss E. Steel and Mr. H. B. Whitney, a simple service being conducted by the Rev. R. G. Foster.

On the Sunday a great tribute was paid to him by the Rev. J. J. F. Scammell (Vicar). In 1957, together with Mrs. Rose Conquest, he received the Maundy money in St. Albans Abbey from Queen Elizabeth II.

He was a loyal churchman, a regular ringer for service and practice, a great help in the belfry and churchyard and a devoted husband to his wife, who is blind. R.I.P. H. B. W.

OUTINGS

BARKING, SUFFOLK

On May 30th ringers from Barking, with friends, enjoyed a day's ringing in Bedfordshire. A coachload of about 35 ringers, together with a few non-ringing friends, made an early start from Ipswich on a hot summer's day. The towers visited were Ashwell, Clifton, Maulden, Flitton, Silsoe, Flitwick, Westoning and Barton-in-the-Clay. The majority of Minor methods were rung during the day: good ringing was enjoyed by all.

The thanks of the ringers are extended to Mr. Robert E. Lester for his good work in organising the outing and to all clergy and local ringers who made them so very welcome. L. N. M.

SOUTH WALES NOMADS

Starting from Weston-super-Mare on the morning of August 4th, South Wales Nomads had an enjoyable five-day tour mainly in Somerset. The party was conveyed in two Austin Sevens and two motor-cycles and visited some 37 towers, including a number of four-bell towers.

Thanks are accorded to Ron Short, Cecil Clarke, 'Mike' Stone and other friends and also all ringing captains and incumbents. Fine sunny weather and good companionship made this first tour a memorable occasion.

LEEDS UNIVERSITY CAMPANOLOGICAL SOCIETY ON TOUR

*The shades of night were falling fast,
As through a Rutland village passed
A youth, who bore upon his bike
A banner: never was there like . . .
Campania!*

So all week long the sound of bells was flung
Across the Leicester wolds and Cambridge fens;
Until friend Martin's ringers, one by one,
Had conquered Childwall or his wrath incurred;
And many methods mastered by the road.
But not that master-touch of minor spliced.
At Grantham met, we rode to Harlaxton
And started well with Kent and Plain Bob pure.
Fair stood the wind for Ponton: lovely lot!
Two brass 'uns, three leather 'uns, knick knack pluff.

Light day to train us, and at night we turned
Our steps to Grantham hostel and the pubs.

Next morn, with aid. St. Wulfram's ten we [swung
To Grandsire's music, Little Royal, and then
Catered with Stedman for a service touch.
To Colsterworth, where Josie—strapping lass—
Turned in the tenor to Plain Bob on six.
A touch of Cambridge, dinner, then once more
Beclagged, becyceled, tackled we the slopes.
At Skillington our Stedman we brushed up
And then St. Martin's for our leader tried.
Our strength was taxed at Wymondham, and so
We kept the methods simple, with success.
Next Whissendine defied us, but we struck
A range of decent blows in Cambridge there.
Dreary the ride to Somerby in rain.
But good the ringing there to cheer us up.
So, weary, hostelward we hunted down
And camped at Loddington to find new strength.

Monday dawned bright, and Belton's pretty six
Were swung to Cambridge and to Double Bob.
Uppingham's curious scholars gazed awhile
As Mr. Pres. Sir called our first on eight.
At Hambleton the vanguard raised the five.
But neighbouring turkeys caused us to withdraw.
When frightened by the unfamiliar sound.
Arrangements made, we dined in Oakham quick,
And grabbed the dev'lish five which would not rise.

Now came the rains apace, but, dauntless, we Rode on to Edith Weston's lovely six.
To Barrowden next journeyed we, and there
Old Stedman's Orpheus from the dead recalled.
A mighty storm we weathered, struggled on,
And ended up on King's Cliffe's noisy ring.
Where budding officers their voices tried,
And Mr. Sec. Sir boomed as Pres. Sir howled.
Who bothered what the weather? We were gay
While ringing made a good excuse for beer.

Next day our longest trek, and fifty miles
Of fenland passed beneath our rolling steeds.
Barsham and others Elton's five rang out,
Then Peterbro' St. Mary's six were rolled
And Cambridge, Kent and Oxford well enjoyed.
Through wind and rain to March we bravely
foraged
But tiring riding made the ringing poor.
However, Chatteris amended that With Double Court well struck, St. Clement's too;

And on to Sutton's heavy six we pressed
Where all were disappointed in the tone.
A noisy night the hostel had to stand
While we rang Minor in the dark in hand.

Stretham we handled first next day, and rung
Some Single Oxford, Cambridge and Plain Bob.
St. Andrew smiled on us at Chesterton,
Voted by all the best so far: indeed.
Two ancient natives praised our efforts there.
In Stedman's church his masterpiece we rang
And once more shook old Orpheus' hoary beard.
At Great St. Andrew's and at Fulbourn too

Leeds University Campanological Society on tour. Left to right: F. Keith Williamson, Grace M. Beardon, Clive Rudkin, J. Martin Thorley, John S. Rank, Josephine R. Hutchings, Keith Goldthorpe and R. Brown.

We struggled bravely 'gainst o'erwhelming odds,
And fled to Trumpington with worse than oaths.
Ah God! to hear the very music sing
Across the fields when Trumpington do ring.
Another noisy night, and, in the morn,
Whence came the socks upon the hostel lawn?

Rain played the infidel next day once more.
And Cherry Hinton scarcely knew we'd been.
Off to Long Stanton, and a decent eight
Changed into Grandsire Triples rather well.
Drenched by the storm we fed us by the way
And cancelled Holywell: for heaven's spring
Too freely flowed upon us as it was.
Swavesey we liked and had two decent pulls,
But Over disappointed, and we dashed
To Willingham. A lovely six we found
And rang some decent Single Court and Plain.
Long trek to Houghton and the hostel then,
And what a five to finish up the day!
Still, Barsham and some Little Bob we bashed.

That night a ringers' service Houghton saw,
With Mr. Pres. at organ, while poor Sec.
Pumped hard: and each a lesson read forthwith.
Friend Martin led the prayers, and then a course
Of Plain Bob Minor rang in hand in church.
Together with Keith Goldthorpe and John Rank.

There followed still a wilder night of mirth,
With warden's sax: and ringers' songs rang loud
Till past the 'witching hour when tenors boom.
At half-past twelve Vice-Pres. was called on guard

When Pres. was found with ex-Vice-Pres.'s [card.!*

Next morning, travelling light, we crossed the fields

And at both Hemingsfords enjoyed the ring.
Then our best eight for handling and for tone
At Godmanchester: verdict: 'Splendid, yes!'
But nought seemed right at Huntingdon All [Saints',

Nor at the café! Glad we were to leave

And find a five where Erin went with swing
And Stedman rustled through the Brampton [trees.

Sad story now, for we got out of course:
The tenors parted and the trebles strayed:
Four of us one way, four the other went.
We missed out Leighton, for we had no choice
And travelled separate ways to early tea
At Alconbury in the vicarage grand.
Another night of revelry and song,
And all the naughty verses are preserved
Within the archives for our future use.

So to our final day, and Spaldwick's six
Were handled competently in short time.
To Leighton Bromswold dashed we on, and [there

The mighty tenor in to Grandsire turned:
At Thrapston still a further octave found
That pleased our ears and proved delight to ring.

Key trouble held us up at Lowick: ha!
Oh, for the keys, for the keys of a Dove.
A fair two touches on this noisy six,
Then on to Sudborough and ye ancient clocke.
Moving more smoothly than our Erin would,
Though other Doubles methods went apace.
More trouble from St. Peter when no key
And messages misguided lost us Benefield.
So on our pedals pressed and Deene was [reached:

The final tower of this our first grand tour,
Excellent good, i'faith: though Single Court
Was doomed to peter out in dismal clangs.
And yet we conquered, for a decent course
Of Cambridge Minor made a fitting close.

That night we camped once more in King's Cliffe town.

Next morn our fond farewells in Stamford said;
Though three dared sample Thorley in his [home.‡

And rang at Gosberton on Sunday night.

SOME ODD TOUCHES FOR CONDUCTORS

BY EDGAR C. SHEPHERD

IT was once remarked that of the making of books there is no end; and it certainly might be added that there is no end to the making of material for ringing. Methods and compositions are in constant demand, and the supply of both seems inexhaustible. But while the peal conductor ranges over a wide field of composition, observation would seem to show that the caller of short touches, at meetings and in the Sunday belfry, is confined within a very limited field, so that upon the demand for reasonably brief touches of Grandsire, Plain Bob or Stedman, it is in most cases easy to predict what will be called.

There are, however, signs of expansion in this field, and more enterprise is bringing some welcome freshness to the repertoire. The modern text book has given more attention to short touches than was considered necessary by the older treatises, and the excellent and very extensive collection provided by 'The Ringers' Note Book and Diary' has brought to light much material that has long been used but rarely published.

It is with some diffidence, therefore, that I offer these notes on some unusual touches. I venture, nevertheless, to embark on this short essay, knowing, first, that no collection of touches can ever be too large, and, second, that there is much simple delight for the caller in presenting some novelty or uncommon construction. I should like to feel that these inadequate notes will lead the curious to further experimental pricking, particularly in Stedman Triples, where the chance of novelty in the short touch may still be within reach.

The notes are confined to Grandsire, Plain Bob and Stedman, for it is in these methods that the need (and the scope) for short touches may be more clearly perceived.

GRANDSIRE TRIPLES

The flexibility of the Triples method gives scope for the construction of a vast number of short touches, and all the text books are well supplied with material. Yet when one experiments with figures one finds that it is still possible to drop upon touches that for some reason have escaped the compilers. The little touch of 154 given here has its uses.

It was constructed and used for some of the early practices of a handbell band struggling with Grandsire Triples and it will be found to have (for this specific purpose) the advantages of keeping 3-4 and 5-6 coursing for a period long enough to give the beginners some small confidence, while 1-2 are kept out of mischief at the same time! The success of this small piece led to the discovery of the next touch, a more ambitious effort, but based on the same principle—the strengthening of confidence by ensuring a run of changes with the bells in a fairly easy position. Here, again, in Parts 1 and 2, the pairs 3-4 and 5-6 are kept coursing and once again 1-2 are free from trouble. Part 3, of course, ends with four full leads of the plain course.

Both this touch and the one above can be used in the tower to great advantage with the beginner, and by a manipulation of the back three bells the 336 can become 672 and still restrict 3-4 and 1-2 to a limited amount of work.

Touches that provide some small element of surprise are always attractive, and the little 167, which has not to my knowledge appeared in any book or published collection, sometimes causes mild amusement and a chance for some gentle chaffing of the ringer of the 3rd ancient the advisability of further practice in plain hunting.

The value of the terminations 67, 74 and 46 in Triples is fully appreciated, and there is an abundance of touches exploiting these qualities. A position less noted, but of musical importance, is the termination 654. In this placing, not only does 6548 provide a pleasing effect, but the position of necessity produces 46 behind. The short touch shown here exhibits the general plan, and a little experimenting with figures will speedily show how the touch can be extended to include more 654's. The most attractive manifestation of this position is, of course, 76548, but this can come only twice: 2376548 and 3276548. From each of these lead ends, however, a speedy return to 000567 can be made by calling the two singles as at the beginning of the 252. A good plan, then, on which to construct touches in the 654 position is to delay the arrival of 007654 until it is required to bring the bells round.

Five times repeated.

Of quarter peals of Grandsire Triples there is an abundance, and some analogy may perhaps be due for introducing further specimens into an already well-stocked garden. Indeed, there is not much to commend the 1,260 given here except its rather unusual plan and the fact that it has only 24 calls. The 5th is the best observation, and is called very simply: 'S Wrong, Wrong, In and Out at 4.'

When bells are rung with the clappers muffled at backstroke it is clearly important that as much music as possible should come on the handstroke blows. In Caters and Cinques there are numerous compositions, both peal and quarter peal, that provide for this need. In peals of Triples it would not appear easy to secure the greater musical effects at handstroke throughout the whole

5,040, but it is not too difficult to secure a 1,260 in which a satisfying quantity of 74, 46 and 67 music may be heard on the open blows.

Now, walking as delicately as King Agag and risking being hewn in pieces by some zealous Samuel, we will at this point venture the opinion that no violation is done to Grandsire if it goes off into changes at backstroke. And if we can still proceed unharmed we would draw attention to the quarter peal shown here. If the reader will take the trouble to pick the figures out in full he will perceive more clearly both the properties and the plan. The plan is simple. It is an easy 12-lead block with a bob block inserted in each part, and the six part ends are 352647, 325764, 352476, 325647, 352764 and 325476. Thus, we have a complete 1,260 coming round at handstroke. At the lead end there are twelve 67's, twelve 74's and twelve 46's, all at handstroke. This means, of course, that a great deal more of this music occurs inside the leads.

PL 352647 2

This is really a most accommodating quarter peal, for if you start from rounds in the normal way you will get a not uninteresting 1,260 with part ends 243756, 234675, 243567, etc., and if you transpose this slightly so as to call the first single at the second lead instead of the first you will get a very pleasing composition with part ends 257346, 236574, 254367, etc.

Here we must leave Grandsire Triples and I would remark, in passing, that the student should make a point of pricking out these touches in full, for in the doing of this small task he will perceive items of interest that are not always clear in the shortened form of presentation.

'TINTINNABULA'

MR. ERNEST MORRIS has added to his list of books another this month 'Tintinnabula,' published by Robert Hale, 21s. It is the story of small bells from the earliest days to the modern electric bells. For years Mr. Morris has been a collector of small bells of various descriptions and his collection has now a permanent place in the City of Leicester Museum.

Perhaps those whose interests are confined to church bell ringing, and change ringing in particular, might have expected Mr. Morris, with his 1,860 peals to his credit and the author of 'The History and Art of Change Ringing,' to have devoted his literary energies to their immediate interest. Ernest, however, is versatile with no one-track mind. This we say for 'Tintinnabula': anyone who has dabbled in the history and development of church bells will find this book, which is profusely illustrated, very companionable. It is the contribution of the small bell to the life of the community, both in religious, domestic, secular and other forms, from the earliest days that gives this book its peculiar niche.

All ringers are familiar with the bells on Aaron's robe and the High Priest Ephod's, but it is not appreciated that they were also attached to the garments of Hebrew women and also in the royal costumes of Persians and other races. Little bells were prominent in ecclesiastical vestments of mediæval days; thus Conrad, Archbishop of Canterbury, had a cope fringed with 140 little silver bells, and Lanfranc 51 of silver-gilt around his cope.

Many of the ringers who attended the Central Council meeting last year in Dublin saw in the National Museum of Dublin the collection of bells and crotals. On these and early British bells Mr. Morris writes an interesting chapter. Small bells were in common usage at the celebration of the Mass and were not confined to a 'sacring' bell carried in the sexton's hands at the consecration of the Sacrament, but there were more elaborate affairs of bells on a wheel. Mr. Morris quotes from Britton's 'Wiltshire' the case of Brokenborough, Wilts, where 18 bells were hung in the middle of the church, which were rung by the pulling of a wheel at the Elevation of the Host.

A chapter is devoted to American Tintinnabula. Pre-Columbian bells exist, and the genealogy of the bells in this continent has been traced from a nutshell or gourd, then a clay model and finally in metal form. It seems somewhat inexplicable that bronze and copper bells found in the Calchaqui region of Argentina should have a characteristic form somewhat resembling Chinese bells. The bell was very much in evidence in this early era of history: the Aztecs used large numbers of golden bells as ornaments and for use in dances and religious sacrifices, while a kind of bell was attached to domestic llamas by Indians.

In our country the prize of a silver or gold bell was frequently awarded for a horse race and attached to the headgear of the winning horse. Records of such awards in the 17th century came from York, Paisley, Dumfries, Carlisle and Huntingdon. An epitaph quoted from Camden's 'Remains' commences:

'Here lies the man whose horse did gaine The Bell in race on Salisbury Plain.'

Small silver bells were also given as prizes at school cock fights, particularly in the North of England. These were days of crude pleasures. In vogue a century ago was a sport known as 'thrashing the hen.' A man carried a hen upon his back and had horse bells fastened to him, by the sound of which his fellows, who were blindfolded, endeavoured to follow him and strike the hen with sticks.

Perhaps closer akin to matters dealt with in this journal is the chapter devoted to handbells. Mr. Morris has nearly 300 handbell peals to his credit, and while he resists giving readers some of the handbell feats of change ringing he does outline the principle of changes. Mention is also made of Mr. William Wagstaffe's collection of old bicycle bells, upon which a handbell peal was rung. In regard to tune ringing on handbells, Mr. Sidney Harrison, of Leicester, with the brothers Hebborn, is photographed giving a demonstration.

Of railway bells quoted, the one most interesting is the 'Lady Gordon, 1785,' at Lossiemouth Station. It weighs over 50 lbs. and is secured in a strong wooden standard erected on the platform. The bell was tolled five minutes before the departure of trains and also when the Greenwich time signal was received. It was originally at Lossiemouth House, which Lady Gordon built. At her death the house was bought by a sea captain who was harbour-master. Until the advent of the railway the bell heralded the arrival and departure of vessels from the port. The sailing ship service ended with the coming of the railway and the bell was transferred to the railway station.

We regret to learn that Mr. Jim Bennett, of Grundisburgh, was rushed to hospital on September 6th and operated upon almost immediately. He is in Felix Ward, Anglesea Road Wing, of the Ipswich and East Suffolk Hospital, Ipswich.

The Bedfordshire Association have a new sub-section—'The Remorseful Society of Slider Bashers and Stay Benders'!

St. Mary's, Bexley, Kent, has some talented lady ringers. Conducted by Mr. Sidney J. Woodcock, five of them rang two quarter peals in August of Plain Bob, Cambridge Surprise and St. Clement's Minor.

Miss Joan Beazley and Miss Ann Cox wish through 'The Ringing World' to thank Worcester ringers for making their six months' in the city most enjoyable. They are really sorry to leave.

The struggling band at SS. Peter and Paul's, Ash, near Sevenoaks, desire to express their thanks to Mr. G. J. Butcher for his help and encouragement. The new Rector (Rev. S. W. Baker) is learning to ring, and apart from Sunday ringing the band hope to report regular quarter peals.

A Stowmarket, Suffolk, reader inquires of 'Woman' if any bell is named after one of the fair sex. She writes: 'Ships, aeroplanes and railway engines are always referred to as "she," but bells always seem to be given masculine names, such as Big Ben and Great Tom.'

Handsworth ringers were pleased to welcome Mr. John A. Acres and Miss Diana Perrins to share in the ringing of a quarter peal of Plain Bob Major on August 30th as a farewell compliment to the Rev. K. H. Hills, who is leaving St. Mary's, Handsworth, for an incumbency at Wanganui, New Zealand. Miss Perrins was a ringer at St. Mary's for several years before leaving the district.

BELFRY GOSSIP

After a gap of nearly 55 years, Mr. George Scott (81) and Mr. Harry Barnes (72) have rung another peal together. The occasion was at Fulbeck, Lincs, on August 29th, and it was for the first peal on these bells on December 31st, 1904, that they last stood in a peal together. Mr. Barnes now lives at Stainton, Yorks, and he travelled 50 miles for the peal. Mr. Scott carries his years lightly. It was an excellent peal.

The fine ring of ten at Aylsham, Norfolk, is shortly to be turned, tuned, rehung and generally overhauled.

On Sunday, September 27th, the bells of Mark Parish Church, Somerset, will be heard prior to the harvest thanksgiving service to be broadcast from there at 9.45 a.m. in the Home Service. The service will be conducted by the Vicar (Rev. W. T. E. Morris); the captain of the ringers is Jack Burrough.

Recordings recently made of the bells of a number of West Sussex churches will be heard on Sunday, November 1st, at 9.45 a.m., in a West Home Service programme entitled 'Pilot's Eye View.' Towers included will be those of Chichester Cathedral and of the parish churches of Arundel, Bosham, Brighton, Findon, Harting, Petersfield, Pulborough, Shoreham and Worthing.

According to 'The Cornish and Devon Weekly News,' of August 29th, the ringers of Padstow rang a muffled peal known as Watts' Knell, as has been done for 327 years, on the anniversary of the death of Nicholas Watts, a midshipman, who died in a foreign port in August, 1632. Under his will, date August 2nd, 1632, he left a sum of money to certain of the poor of Padstow and to the ringers of the parish, that 'every year upon the date of my decease they ring a peal in memory of my git.'

MIDLAND RINGERS' SOUTHERN IRELAND TOUR

THE well-known Overseale, Derbyshire, ringer, Mr. Joseph W. Cotton, popular secretary of the Midland Counties Guild, organised an Irish peal tour this year which may well become an annual event. A dozen ringers and members of his own family with friends participated. Towers represented were Overseale, Church Gresley, Lichfield Cathedral, Kingsbury, Davenport, Baldock, Packington, Harrow Weald, Liverpool (St. Nicholas') and Langleybury. Mr. Frederick Dukes kindly organised the ringing arrangements.

By air liner and by sea the party converged upon Dublin, where proceedings opened with an interesting tour of the Guinness Brewery.

The peal was on the majestic bells (Taylor, 1897) of St. Patrick's Cathedral, in honour of Mr. William H. Wilson's 70th birthday; and pleased he was for such a compliment in the tower which he has served since 1907. These are very much 'men's bells,' and in view of the inexperience of some members on such weight of metal a safe choice was Kent Royal, and a fair peal resulted, the 'roll-ups' coming up grandly throughout, in the quite fast time of 3½ hours. The locals entertained the party afterwards.

SUNDAY'S PROGRAMME

On the Sunday morning the band deployed for service ringing at the city towers. Stedman Caters was rung on the heavy ten (by Murphy's, of Dublin) at Christ Church Cathedral and Bob Major on the back eight at St. Patrick's, and also at the R.C. Augustinian Church of St. John, but only for those who braved the famous iron mid-air spiral stairway, from which the congregation is viewed from a dizzy height.

In the afternoon, the fine Classical design Church of St. George, with a beautiful 'wedding cake' steeple, was visited, and a very fair peal of New Cambridge Major (surprisingly, a 'first' for Ireland) was rung on the excellent old eight, by Thomas Mears.

In the meantime the transport had been assembled and consisted of two hired Consuls (beige twins) and Derek Jones' venerable Morris Cowley which, fresh from a major overhaul and resplendent in gleaming violet livery, had been imported into Ireland and had already done 1,200 miles there before the tour commenced. It was destined to do a further 800 and to be wildly acclaimed wherever we went.

That Sunday night, two parties went to the Wicklow Mountains at Blessington, where there is a large lake, the Pollaphouca Reservoir, but permission was not granted to ring the six bells owing to their very poor condition.

Bank Holiday Monday was our busiest day, as peals were fixed for Bray and Arklow. An excellent musical peal of Double Norwich, the best of the week, was rung at a sedate pace on the majestic bells of Bray. Arklow bells are lighter and tuned differently, and a fast peal of Braunstone Surprise Major, another 'first' for Ireland, was rung in rather stifling conditions; and one of the light bells dried up and gave difficulty, which we take it that it did not do when J. W. Washbrook rang it as one of two bells to a peal.

The weather was now becoming brilliant and the Tuesday journey took us through a blaze of coloured countryside in this fertile south east corner of Ireland. At Wexford we rang touches on the highly-musical heavy ten at the R.C. Church of the Immaculate Conception, with its tall broach spire and beautiful interior. There is a twin church, the Assumption, a short distance away, but no ring of bells: what a chance for another foundry to stage a direct demonstration of comparison!

ANOTHER 'FIRST IN IRELAND'

Waterford Cathedral, on the other hand, has an old style ring by Mears, and hard work is needed on the big bells. They are good music, however, and a very fast peal, the first of Overseale Surprise in Ireland (we could not bring Joe to Ireland without attempting this), was rung. We then proceeded to Dungarvan, under the dusky Comeragh Mountains.

Wednesday dawned another glorious day, and we sped the 50 miles to Cork, passing the quaint town of Youghal, with its gateway tower straddling the narrow street. St. Finbarre's Cathedral, with three spires like Truro, and beautiful mosaics, contains a heavy Rudhall eight, which we thought were the finest bells we had heard, full of rich beauty. Mr. Bogan welcomed the party, and somebody had thoughtfully left out a 'R.W.' open at the page with 'Peal Ringers of 1958.' Unfortunately, we were not scheduled for a peal here, nor was there time to inspect the eights at Shandon Church (chiming) and St. Mary's R.C. Cathedral (tenor 34 cwt., but unringable for many years despite efforts by local ringers to awaken interest). These are both fine towers. We hastened on to Bandon for lunch and a peal at St. Peter's, Ballymodan (one end of Bandon). The pinnacled tower is approached by a long flight of steps and the chamber gained by iron ladders up a rather alarming chimney. The bells are a very fair six that go reasonably well but are very noisy for the ringers: more than 'beb' is practically unintelligible. A good, steady peal of Waterford Treble Bob Minor was rung, which was the first ever.

Our H.Q. that night was Glengarriff, 50 miles away, between sandstone mountains becoming increasingly wild and lofty—the remotest point of our tour. The Eccles Hotel had already welcomed the advance guard, who were enjoying the open-air swimming pool and the delightful land-locked, tree-girt harbours of this end of Bantry Bay.

WONDERFUL SCENERY

Thursday was another brilliant day, and our programme was 'sightseeing via Killarney,' then 'peal at Doneraile,' and 'bed at Rathkeale': 40 miles, 50 miles, 25 miles. The first aim was amply fulfilled; in fact, due to the large number of photos taken the Cowley was so late into Killarney that it had to leave immediately, piled high with peal band, the driver having to be content with a loaf and a bottle of milk purchased at Kanturk en route.

The high passes were crossed: firstly Glengarriff to Kenmare across the wild Caha Mountains, the top being via tunnels, after circumventing two great glacial hollows, where patchwork quilt leads up to heathery bog, then to jagged, folded rocks and peaks. After Kenmare on another bay, the ridge-pole of Ireland towers grandly ahead—the MacGillycuddy's Reeks, whose great cliffs culminate in the peak of Carrantushill (3,414 feet). Below the mountains, pierced by the ice-cut Gap of Dunloe, lie the series of beautiful lakes of Killarney. No wonder we were late in such magnificence!

The long ride east to Doneraile took the Mallow road across open, wild country beneath the Boggeragh Mountains, and we arrived to meet the awaiting local captain, whose fears for the ropes on this old, light Taylor six (9 cwt.) were amply justified, for splicing was essential before the peal could commence in very stuffy conditions. Killarney Minor was the method in view of our visit there that day; but it did not settle well in the circumstances, and when the fifth sally began to disintegrate the peal came to a halt half way through, in time for the tardy sightseers to have a pull. On the way through Charleville to Rathkeale all three cars took the same wrong road, inquired of the same locals, and took the same terribly rough road as a result over a large hill! Rathkeale proved to be a one-horse town.

There were also signs of local enthusiasm for a united Ireland so we were not sorry when we took the road to Limerick on the showery Friday morning. The peal was on the pleasant anti-clockwise octave in the massive tower of St. Mary's Cathedral, where the modern Taylor tenor weighs 24 cwt. but has the surprisingly high note of F which makes it sound lighter. After a welcome from the Dean, we rang a peal of Pudsey, the first in that method in the tower. John Jelley was at the helm for a change.

After lunch, the R.C. Redemptorist Church attached to the Monastery of Mount St. Alphonsus, with its beautiful new Taylor ten (tenor 21 cwt.), was open for ringing. Several locals welcomed us, and one of them made a good job of covering to Grandsire Caters at his first attempt. These bells must be one of the nicest tens anywhere.

As the tour was now nearing its end, the opportunity was taken for group photographs and presentations: Joe Cotton received a musical jug and Joan Cotton glassware of Waterford glass for their great efforts in organising the tour so well, and Derek Jones received a prize cup, inscribed 'Jones for Peals,' as a thank-offering for shepherding the attempts to a safe conclusion!

The 120 miles back to Dublin now lay ahead, and with long stretches of straight, good, level, empty road (one of the joys of motoring in Ireland), past pleasant countryside, mostly pasture but some bog, with occasional isolated mountains.

The next morning, Saturday, was the last of our tour; and for the peal an ambitious note was struck upon Mr. Dukes' fine old ring at St. Peter's, Drogheda, County Louth, with the first peal of Louth Surprise Major. Mr. Dukes gave us an enthusiastic welcome and heard the opening changes before leaving for his peal at Belfast. The non-pealers visited the Vale of Glendalough.

So back to Dublin and to farewells as the grand tour came to its regretted end. Fourteen towers had been visited and eight peals scored out of nine attempts, including three 'firsts' for Ireland and two 'first ever.' About 700 miles had been covered in 14 counties in Eire. Hopes for 1960 join happy memories of 1959.

MATRIMONIAL DOUBLES AT ALDRINGTON

Wednesday, August 26th, saw a most happy occasion at St. Leonard's, Aldington, when Miss Gwynneth Brown was married to Mr. Derek Paine at the Sussex church where they both learned to ring.

The happy couple are the secretary and vice-captain of the band respectively. Two of the five bridesmaids, Diana and Pamela Gough, cousins of the bride, are members of the band. The ushers, too, Roy Brown, brother of the bride, and Harry Brown, are captain and honorary captain of the band respectively.

The ring of six was rung to welcome Derek and Gwynneth to the church, and after the wedding to send them happily on their new life together.

It was a lovely wedding and a great joy to all Aldington ringers, especially as the newlyweds, after their honeymoon, are to live in the parish of St. Leonard's to continue their happy associations and service in the belfry.

During the previous practice meeting, the captain, in expressing the good wishes of the band, presented the future Mr. and Mrs. Paine with a kettle.

CHESHIRE RINGERS' PEAL TOUR IN SOUTH WALES

THE long journey to Newport was started early on a Saturday morning and proved to be less eventful than the one at the beginning of last year's tour. We met Fred Wilshaw in Newcastle, and later encountered Fred Dunkerley, purely by chance, enabling us to lighten the burden laid on the other two vehicles. Pat Chapman was waiting for us by the time we arrived at St. Woolos. Here a peal of Cambridge Maximus was achieved on this fine light 12, and our peal tour had begun. We bade farewell to Pat Chapman and made for our headquarters, Llansantffraed Court Hotel, near Abergavenny.

Sunday morning found us on our way to Hereford, where we rang for morning service at the Cathedral. Lunch was taken near Worcester, and we spent a leisurely afternoon letting our meal digest. Unfortunately, we couldn't ring on the 12 at Worcester Cathedral as the clapper was missing from the tenor, but we rang the 'Minor ten' to Cambridge Royal. Stedman Triples and Spliced Surprise were enjoyed with the local ringers before Evensong.

TWO PEALS IN THE HEAT

Leslie obliged us on Monday morning by calling one of his own compositions to a peal of Yorkshire Royal at Abergavenny. The bells were found to be a good mellow ring, which have to be rung slowly to get the best out of them. It was hardly the weather for peal ringing, and the heat in the cars was almost unbearable. By the time we had finished lunch at the Angel, everybody felt more like sunbathing than taking part in a peal attempt. Despite the heat, a peal of Bristol was brought round at Ebbw Vale in 3 hours and 35 minutes. The bells are an excellent heavy eight similar to those at Eccleston, Cheshire. Excellent refreshments were provided and served to the weary ringers by some most attractive young ladies. Pentre bells were going along very nicely to Cambridge until a rope slipped off one of the wheels, bringing the attempt to an abrupt end, after about 40 minutes' ringing. They weren't the 'handful' we had been led to believe, and they certainly sounded very mellow. And so over the hills to Bridgend, where a peal of Lincolnshire was to be attempted. We dined first, and as Billy had rejoined the party, three of us were able to relax while Brian brought round the peal on this easy-going eight. Back at the hotel in the evening a course of Bob Royal was rung on handbells at the request of several guests who knew that we were ringers.

A 'QUICKIE' IN CAMBRIDGE

On Wednesday morning we had only a short journey to Usk. John conducted a peal of London on these very pleasant bells. Messrs. Jones and Harris had been swimming in the nearby river while we had been ringing the peal. Apparently they only needed a violin each, and we could have had to Noel Coward plays. After lunch we said goodbye to Fred Dunkerley, so only two were out of the attempt at Llangibby in the afternoon. We had a 'quickie' in the strains of Cambridge. Individually the bells here sound rather a poor lot, but they sound quite pleasant when they are being rung in changes.

At Caerphilly we rang a peal of Yorkshire, which was probably the best peal of the week.

Bernard officiated this time, despite frequent interruptions from the clock mechanism which would have drowned anybody else's voice. Llandaff Cathedral proved to be a most interesting place. Epstein's work here arousing both favourable and adverse comments. A peal of Cambridge Royal was rung here in 3 hours and 8 minutes.

It looked as though the fine weather had come to an end when we found it raining on Friday morning, but later on in the day the sun was shining once more. When we arrived at Blaenavon to attempt a peal of 6-Spliced 'all the work,' we were welcomed by the Vicar. It was soon apparent that 'Spliced wouldn't go,' so we rang a peal of Superlative instead. Ted called us a 3-part peal by F. Dench, which we found to be John Worth's 900th peal. Blaenavon bells are such a superb light eight that one would find it difficult to strike them badly. Difficulty was experienced in finding a parking place in Brecon before a peal of Bristol was rung at St. Mary's Church.

TWO ATTEMPTS 'FIRED OUT'

We started the long drive northwards early on Saturday morning, as we had a peal attempt at Eardisland, Herefordshire, which was due to start at 10 a.m. After arriving at this picturesque little village in good time, we had two attempts to ring a peal of London, both of which 'fired out.' John said he still couldn't trust us with a peal of London, a statement we couldn't dispute. After a short stop for sandwiches and ale at a small inn we made for Alton, Staffs, where an open meeting was being held. Here we rang a course of Bristol before we went further north into Cheshire. After 'handshakes all round,' everybody retreated to their respective abode, to store up energy for next year's heatwave.

Our thanks are due to Mr. Basil Jones for his excellent arrangements, and to Messrs. Dunkerley, Worth and Jones for the use of their cars. We would also extend thanks to all incumbents, tower captains and ringers who have helped to make this tour such a happy one, and 'kept a welcome in the hillside.' R. B. S.

OBITUARY

MR. T. ARROWSMITH

We regret to announce the death of Mr. 'Tom' Arrowsmith, aged 53, in the North Staffordshire Royal Infirmary on August 10th. Until his health began to fail two years ago, Mr. Arrowsmith was a very keen ringer and a most loyal churchman at All Saints' Church Lawton, Cheshire. He set a fine example as a regular and punctual service ringer, and it was a great disappointment to him to be unable to assist in the training of the youthful band of ringers which Church Lawton now possesses.

A quarter peal of Stedman Triples was rung on August 22nd as a tribute to his memory.

New Bells At Winchester

At St. Paul's, Bournemouth, on Sunday, August 9th, the Rt. Rev. J. R. S. Taylor, formerly Bishop of Sodor and Man, dedicated a new ring of ten bells as a memorial to the late Mrs. Louisa Norris, who was particularly well known for her work in the St. John Ambulance Nursing Division.

SOUTHAMPTON UNIVERSITY GUILD

Review Of 1958-59 Session

The year started off promisingly for the Guild with the influx of quite a number of ringers of all standards, and since few members went down last year, we have enjoyed a larger active membership. We were glad to have our numbers increased by past members of the University on many occasions.

The Guild was fortunate enough to gain the use of the ten at St. Nicholas', North Stoneham, for a weekly practice, for which we should like to thank the Rector and captain, and also for their hospitality on many other occasions. Two handbell practices a week have been held at the University and, in addition, a joint practice with Taunton's School. Considerable improvement has been apparent at all standards in both tower and handbell ringing. The standard methods on eight bells have been rung regularly, and ringing up to Cinques has been indulged in on handbells, whilst in the tower Cambridge, Yorkshire, Superlative and Bristol Major have been rung, in addition to the standard methods on eight and ten. Members also enjoy much ringing with the local bands in the Southampton district, for which we are grateful.

The Guild has also organised several outings. In the first term there was a coach trip to London, with ringing at five towers, a demonstration of Carter's Ringing Machine and a tour of the Whitechapel Bell Foundry. We were glad to be joined on this occasion by members of the London University Association. There was also a cycling tour of six churches in the south of Hampshire.

The main feature of the Guild activities during the Lent Term was the week-end spent in the Bedford area, and in the final term there was a day trip to Gloucestershire, where six towers were visited. At the beginning of the summer vacation the Reading University Guild joined us in East Anglia on a week's cycling tour.

At the annual general meeting officers were elected as follows: Master, Mr. D. J. Forder; Deputy Master, Miss Helen Nevin; secretary and treasurer, Mr. A. K. G. Jones; committee member, Mr. D. D'A. R. Blackwall.

The Guild extends a cordial welcome to all Freshers next session to contact the secretary, c/o the University, for information.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

DODGING THE PEAL TAX

Dear Sir,—The peals tax (or fee) of the Winchester and Portsmouth Diocesan Guild (about which Mr. Davis writes) and the suggestion that other affiliated Guilds support the enforcing of the rules of member Associations, need considerable thought and discussion before being generally accepted. The points arising, as I see them, are:—

(1) How many affiliated Associations have a similar tax (or fee)?

(2) Did the Winchester Guild anticipate difficulty in collecting the tax when making the rule and, because of the tax, the probability of peals rung in their territory being credited to other Associations?

(3) Will the amount collected from peals add very much to the funds, and are the funds so low as to need this amount?

(4) As an average of 5 per cent. of an Association's total membership ring peals, is it fair that this percentage be taxed to help finance the other 95 per cent.?

(5) Peal ringing generally is (or should be) for the honour of the Association for which it is rung, and is to be encouraged. Does it not have the reverse effect to make a charge for peal ringing?

(6) Members pay a subscription to belong to an Association and to enjoy the privileges of that Association, one of which is to ring peals for that body. Should they be forced to pay an additional amount, however small, after having paid the subscription?

(7) If non-resident members, who only pay one life subscription, are the persons who should be 'made to pay,' would it not be a better policy to increase that life subscription?

It will have been noticed that a peal in the Winchester Guild's territory, recorded this week, was rung for the Guildford Guild. This immediately brings forward the point in Mr. Davis's letter: should the Guildford Guild refuse to accept the peal so that the ringers taking part obey the rules of the Winchester Guild? It is courtesy to ring a peal for the Association to which the tower is affiliated, but if the ringers, for any reason, record the peal for another Association, I cannot see how or why that other Association, whose rules have not been broken, can refuse to accept it.

The Guildford Guild members will have an opportunity to discuss the idea of a peal tax (or fee) during the next few months, but until it adopts the idea it cannot enforce its members to obey other Associations' rules. That is for that Association concerned to do.—Yours, etc.,

CHARLES DENYER.

Farnham, Surrey.

MEETING AT BROADWELL

Dear Sir,—I am very pleased to see that a meeting is to be held at Broadwell, this being the tower where I was taught by my brother 'Bill' to ring a bell.

I have no knowledge of a meeting ever being held here before. The notice on page 505 in 'The Ringing World' is rather misleading. There are only five bells in this tower hung for ringing: the sixth is a small bell known locally as the 'ting-tang,' and is rung for five minutes before each service.—Yours sincerely,

Ross-on-Wye.

J. J. WEBB.

CLOSED SHOP RINGING RIDICULOUS

Dear Sir,—I have of late been wondering whether it will soon be possible to read a 'Ringing World' without mention of Robin Leale and his missing peal fees for the Winchester and Portsmouth Diocesan Guild.

The matter was raised at the last Guild executive meeting: a proposal that the hon. peal recorder should delete the offending peals from the records was passed. This has been carried out and legislation stops there.

Surely it is obvious to all concerned that Robin Leale is not going to pay; surely it is obvious that if he comes into the diocese again he will do one of three things: pay the fee, ring a non-Association peal or ring it for another Society.

Talk of 'ungentlemanly conduct,' 'universal suspension' and calling for member Guilds of the Central Council to form a closed shop against one man is ridiculous! Inter-Guild and individual bickering is deplorable; it makes one wonder whether the time has come to adopt the proposal of Mr. Chas. H. Kippin, which he has been advocating for years past, that is to form a National Guild.—Yours faithfully,

TOM CHAPMAN.

Bishopstoke, Southampton.

CAMBRIDGE SURPRISE MAXIMUS

Dear Sir,—The composition of Cambridge Maximus by Mr. L. W. G. Morris, on page 508 of your issue of September 4th, is a slight variation of one by John Carter published in 'The Bell News' of December 3rd, 1910. Eight of the courses are called alike, the difference being that Mr. Morris has two courses H, W. H. against Carter's 2 W. In the latter peal, incidentally, the 4th is at home at all ten course-ends.

I hope Mr. Morris will not mind my saying that Cambridge Maximus is another method in which true originality (as I understand the word) is, in my opinion, not possible if the normal calling only is used.—Yours sincerely,

E. A. BARNETT.

ASTBURY'S MAY QUEEN FESTIVAL

Dear Sir,—In the issue of August 14th, in the notes about the week's peals, the comment on a peal at Astbury, Cheshire is a little misleading. It was the May Queen festival which was late and not the peal. Being aware of the incongruity of the dates, I worded the peal footnote 'Rung on the day of the crowning...' in the hope that this would make the situation clear. However, I was mistaken! — Yours faithfully,

B. CORBISHLEY.

Macclesfield, Cheshire.

ADVERTISEMENT IDEA

Dear Sir,—We hear a good deal about the need of funds for 'The Ringing World.' What about extending the advertising to include, for instance, the motor trade. One can envisage something like this: 'The Morris Mini-Minor will make your tower-grabbing cheaper,' or, as tape-recorders seem to be popular in towers these days: 'Record your Grandsire on Grundig.' Might one even suggest 'Whitbread's for long draughts'?—Yours sincerely, Leatherhead, Surrey.

ERIC WOOD.

A BACHELOR PEAL OF LAST CENTURY

Dear Sir,—Looking through 'The Ringing World' recently I saw that it was on February 5th, 1898, that eight bachelors rang Holt's Original at St. Margaret's, Barking, and it was Mr. George E. Symonds' first peal as conductor and I recollect it quite well; and no one was more pleased to read than I was of George calling the same peal just before his 84th birthday, calling it 32 times in all—a grand performance. Of the remainder there is only one of the Barking band with us, as the other three—Messrs. Mason, Fenn and Faulkner—have passed on, also Messrs. Weller and Passmore, as far as I know. There were three brothers Fenn in the Barking company: the youngest, Ernest, was Master of the College Youths during the war, and is still with us. Also with us is G. W. Faulkner, a brother of Thomas. At that time the Barking company had a good handbell band and could ring any method on handbells that they could ring on tower bells.—Yours sincerely,

CALEB FENN.

Barking, Essex.

BELL FRAMES

Dear Sir,—Apropos the letter in the 'R.W.' of September 4th, page 502, concerning rusty bell frames and their cure, might I point out to Miss Overend that there are two firms who regularly advertise in this paper each week whose business it is to advise on and attend to bell frames. This would seem the logical solution; after all, you do not go to an undertaker for a haircut.—Yours sincerely,

ERNEST J. ROWE.

Tottenham.

LONG LENGTH OF PLAIN BOB ROYAL ATTEMPT

Dear Sir,—Notice is given that an attempt will be made to ring 16,200 Plain Bob Royal at the Waterloo Tower, Quex Park, Birchington, Kent, on Sunday, September 27th, 1959, commencing at 9.30 a.m. The composition is appended.—Yours sincerely, Surbiton, Surrey. ROBIN G. LEALE.

WESTWARD WITH WRATTEN

A VERY enjoyable tour of the West Country, arranged by Cyril A. Wratten, commenced on Saturday, May 30th, when Messrs. Egglestone, Roast, Saltmarsh and Symonds, from the Chelmsford area, joined forces with Frank Oakshott, of Epsom, and Shirley Parsons and Cyril from Cheltenham, to ring a peal of New Cambridge at Quedgley, Glos. Although this was the first official tower of the week, the Chelmsford contingent had already 'snatched' Northchurch, Herts, in the morning.

After the peal we were met by Mr. and Mrs. Dick Roast and Tom, who were on their way to Monmouth, but who first joined us in ringing on the fine 12 at Painswick after tea. The night was spent at the Old Bell in Dursley, where midnight was heralded by three courses of St. Oswald's on the Parish Church chimes. The next morning we joined the local band in ringing for Matins. Further ringing followed at Wotton-under-Edge, and we lunched in fine style at the White Hart in Wells. With the help of the local ringers we were able to ring the ten at the Cathedral to Stedman and Grandsire Caters.

Later the fine (though rather noisy) six at Ruishton were tapping out Cambridge and 6 spliced, while Stedman and Superlative went very well at Wellington before Evensong. Heavytree, with its fine ring of eight, was the last tower of the day, before we made our way to the Queen's Hotel in Exeter.

Unfortunately, the peal attempt at Bovey Tracey would not settle and was set up after half-an-hour because of indifferent striking. After lunching well at the Rising Sun, Sticklepath, we continued westward, ringing at Okehampton, Bridestowe and Lifton, before crossing the border into Cornwall for tea in Launceston. A ring at St. Mary's, then we were up on Bodmin Moor, stopping briefly at the Jamaica Inn, on our way to Bodmin. Here we rang a touch of Grandsire Triples at the special request of the local band, who are learning 'scientific.'

CORNISH EXPERIENCES

Our abode for the next four nights was the Brookdale Hotel, Truro, where we were met by our old friends Bob and Jill Southwood. Tuesday we started at Perran-ar-worhal—a nice little six. Helston bells went very well to a bobbed course of Stedman, and at St. Mawgan-in-Meneage we rang Double Court and 5-spliced T.B. After a sandwich lunch, a peal of Grandsire Triples was scored on the grand eight at St. Keverne, Howard adding his name to those who have rung a bell without a stay to a peal. After a cream tea at Coverack we were rather late arriving at Landewednack. A couple of quick touches on the new six at Constantine, and then we were on our way back to Truro to join the Cathedral ringers in their practice.

We had some difficulty in ringing at Penzance on Wednesday morning due to the stays of the third and fifth sticking, and a splice had to be made in the rope of the seventh before we left. At Sennen, the most westerly tower, we rang Oxford T.B. The afternoon peal attempt at Gulval, a well-kept eight, was unsuccessful: after 45 minutes of Oxford Bob Triples, a shift course necessitated the call 'Stand.' The Rev. Arthur Roberts, who had been listening outside the church, invited us to go on to Carbis Bay. A touch of Cambridge here, and then we were away to tea, followed by ringing at Towednack and Tuckingmill.

Thursday's programme started with some good Yorkshire at Probus before going on to Fowey. After ringing here, the 15th century Toll Bar Restaurant was found to provide a good lunch. A 6-bell peal attempt in the afternoon at St. Winnow enabled two lucky tourists to have an afternoon off, while the rest rang 40 Minor methods. The bells are not easy to handle and have rather a long draught of rope, but with Joe 'in the chair' and Quasimodo performing on the tenor there was little fear of losing it. Lostwithiel and St. Stephen-in-Brannel completed the day's official programme.

We were joined by Bob Southwood on Friday morning before heading for St. Columb Major, where we were hoping to ring a peal of Yorkshire. However, the Vicar asked us not to attempt a full peal in view of a recent tragic death in the town, and a quarter peal of Stedman Triples was accordingly rung before we dashed away to 'snatch' St. Mawgan-in-Pydar. After lunch in Camelford, Tintagel was visited, with its nice six in a church right on the edge of Glebe Cliff. Our last Cornish tower, Stratton, is reputed to contain the finest eight in the county, and none of us would quarrel with that description. We rang a quarter peal of Stedman here.

On into Devon, and to Clovelly, where we were welcomed with an outstretched hand—that of the attendant at the car park on the cliff top! We walked down the quaint street to the harbour before climbing back to ring on the handy little six.

Bideford was the first tower on Saturday morning, followed by Tawstock and Bideford. After lunch, Frank rejoined us at Combe Martin, where we found the local ringers preparing the ropes for our peal attempt. There was some talk of losing the peal so that we could go to listen to some competition ringing at South Molton, but Kent and Oxford in the Ilkeston variation presented no difficulties, and the peal was completed at a fast pace. A run through some magnificent scenery at Martinhoe, Lee Bay, Lynmouth and Countisbury brought us to Porlock for a late tea, and later ringing at Dunster. Our hotel in Bridgwater was calling, but Pat decided that a run over the Quantocks could not be missed, and at the top of Lydeard Hill we agreed with him—the view extending across right into Wales is 'wholly wunnerful.'

Sunday morning dawned bright and clear, and we left the Royal Clarence to join the band at St. Mary's in ringing for the morning service. Rather poor ringing followed at Long Ashton before lunch in Bristol. The Cathedral belfry was well filled when we arrived, and we are grateful to John Hunt for allowing us to have a last touch as a band. Then came the parting of the ways, and goodbyes were said to the music of Stedman Triples rolling across Bristol. Many thanks, Cyril, for your splendid organisation, to our drivers, Pat and Frank, and to the many incumbents and ringers who met us on our journey and made us so welcome. P. J. E.

'TINTINNABULA'

Another interesting chapter relates to clock jacks. There are still a number of these jacks in existence in this country and these are quoted. The old clock of St. Paul's Cathedral which was destroyed in the Great Fire of 1666 had jacks, and those of St. Dunstan's, Fleet Street, date from 1671. Matthew the Miller's clock at Exeter is well known. Here there are three figures, the centre one of which bends forward at every stroke of the hour, hence the local saying:—

'Every hour on Westgate Tower, Matthew the Miller nods his head.'

The javelin men on either side strike the quarters on hemispherical bells beneath them.

We cannot refrain from quoting the author's tailpiece: 'The most unusual bell ever manufactured by the Gong Bell Company of East Hampton, U.S.A., was called "the chestnut bell." The tiny bell was worn on the lapel of a man's coat, and whenever the wearer heard a tall story or obvious old joke he would tinkle his bell, indicating that he knew the tale to be an old chestnut.'

A secondary purpose of the book is to give the collector of small bells an idea of kinds worth seeking in contrast to the modern 'fakes.' As a help the 51 illustrations in the book are well chosen. The jacket of the book is a very good drawing of the Bells of Bethlehem by W. Cecil Dunford. Copies can be obtained from the author, 38, Strenshall Road, Eyres Monsell, Leicester.

SWANSEA AND BRECON GUILD

The first meeting in the reconstructed Church of St. Mary, Swansea, was a red letter day for the Swansea and Brecon Guild. General opinion of the new ring by Taylor's was that the tone and 'go' could not be better.

The service, conducted by Canon Harry Williams, followed an hour's ringing. In his address and welcome the Canon mentioned that a church had been on that site for over 1,000 years. Tea followed in the vestry, the Vicar thanking the ladies who waited at table.

The Rev. D. M. White, from Sketty, presided at the business meeting and expressed the pleasure of the company at having Mr. and Mrs. Pitman with them. Ringing until 8 p.m. brought a good day to an end.

SURREY ASSOCIATION

Northern District

Weddings at all the local churches during the afternoon made it impossible for the Association to arrange afternoon ringing at its meeting on September 5th. The service was held at 4 p.m. at St. Mary's, Ewell, being taken by a ringing lay reader, Mr. J. H. Pycraft, of Ewell. This was followed by an excellent tea arranged by the local ringers in the Schoolroom, under the supervision of Mrs. C. W. Munday.

The routine business meeting included the election of three new members. The members and friends present concluded the meeting by instructing the secretary to convey to the Editor of 'The Ringing World' their sincere appreciation and unanimous approval of his efforts during the recent strike.

Ringling in a variety of methods to suit all tastes and standards continued until 8.30, under the direction of the Ringing Master, Mr. G. Peters.

SOME ODD TOUCHES FOR CONDUCTORS

By EDGAR C. SHEPPARD

STEDMAN TRIPLES

The Birmingham men were always famous for their manipulation of Stedman, and among them very few were more full of tricks and quaint devices in calling than Tom Miller. Tom had a magical touch in his handling of Stedman Triples, and when he called, one could never be sure in what manner he would bring the bells round. One little touch which may well have descended from this fine old ringer is the 180 shown here. It is handy for filling up a few odd minutes, and is easy to remember. All that one has to do is to prevent 1 and 2 from going behind, calling bobs necessary to ensure this, but calling no more than are needed. It will thus be found that 1 and 2 are ringing Stedman Doubles, while the 3rd and 4th always go in slow.

Twice repeated.

The best music of Stedman Triples (as in Grandsire Triples) is made by the manipulation of 67, 74 and 46, and most ringers can scarce fail to notice when one of these pairs is behind. Many touches, indeed, can be called entirely, or almost entirely, by bobbing 67, 74 and 46 behind. The well-known 72 given here (a course that appears in most of the text books) can best be called by the following lesson: 'One on 67, One on 74, Two on 46.' The procedure is simplified by the fact that the bells to be bobbed behind actually come into position for a six before the bob is called, and so give warning, as it were, by proclaiming the excellence of their music.

There is a well-known, and justly famed, 408 Stedman Triples which is in the repertoire of most conductors. It will be found in Davies' 'Stedman' and in Powell, but Trollope rather unaccountably omits it from his work of 1938. I remember, many years ago, the late George Swann introducing me to this touch and its 'lesson,' which he described as: 'Two on 67, Two on 74, Two on 46: Call the 4th to make the Bob: Two on 74, Two on 46: Repeated.' The first part of this touch: Two on 67, Two on 74, Two on 46, if repeated, will provide a very musical 216. The latter part of the touch: Call 4th to make the bob: Two on 74, Two on 46, repeated, will give a musical 192.

Both these touches are, of course, well known, but they are inserted with a view to emphasising the practice of calling by the bells behind as distinct from learning the work of a fixed bell.

It is a well-known fact that two bobs called in two consecutive sixes will produce a course end that will repeat once and so give a touch of two courses, 168 changes. Thus, one course becomes two. What applies to the plain course applies equally to any other course. By the use of this knowledge some interesting and unusual touches can be obtained.

The two short touches, A and B, appear in one or two books. The first one, A, is called simply by the lesson: 'Call Treble 67 up with a bob, 67 up with a single.' The second one, B, is easily called: Single at 1, call 7th 67 up with a bob.' Both are worth memorising, not only because they will fill up two or three minutes in a very intriguing manner, but also because they are capable of easy extension on the principle alluded to above. Two examples will, perhaps, serve to demonstrate.

The first one, 159 changes, is merely the course A with a course inserted by calling the 4th into the Slow with two bobs. When the 4th is called into the Slow the second time the touch returns to the Plain Course, and the next six one must call according to touch A. If the student will take the trouble to prick out all the sixes of the touch the plan, or dodge, or trick (whichever you like to call it) will be revealed quite clearly. The second touch is on the same plan, and consists of Course B with a course inserted by calling the 3rd. In and Out Quick twice. Once again, a full pricking of the sixes will make the whole thing clear, and will probably lead to the realisation that there are several other ways in which Course A and Course B can be extended in simple fashion. Here we must leave Stedman Triples, not, I fear, having introduced anything very new, but possibly having indicated one or two fresh lines of approach.

The ringers of the quarter peal of Stedman Caters at Christ Church, Bristol, for the Feast of St. Bartholomew, desire to thank the Rector (Rev. S. Calverwell) and Mr. and Mrs. Hannay for their warm hospitality.

Among the many motoring designs of today the Bellringer's Car Badge will attract attention and enable the many touring parties to be identified. We would like to think that the many ringers' cars on the road today were as smart as the new badge that the versatile Mr. William H. Viggers, of 37, Highfield Gardens, Aldershot, has now put on the road.

OUTINGS

TEWKESBURY, GLOS

The Tewkesbury Branch of the Gloucester and Bristol Association had a most successful and happy outing on August 29th, in visiting five towers in Somerset.

We set off by coach at 6.45 a.m., and our first tower was All Saints', Long Ashton (8. tenor 30 cwt.). Here we were very pleased to meet Mr. Herbert Knight, of Wrington, who had been kind enough to obtain the towers and to arrange meals. Ringing on this excellent eight was followed by a visit to Holy Trinity, Nailsea (6. 11 cwt.), and here we were welcomed by Mr. Len Derek. After enjoying our stay here, we went to Burrington for lunch. We were very interested to see the 'Rock of Ages,' which inspired the Rev. A. M. Toplady to write the famous hymn in 1762. Our next tower was St. Andrew's, Banwell (8. 23 cwt.). Here again we had a most enjoyable ring. Weston-super-Mare was our next call, and here we rang on the light eight (tenor 12 cwt.) at St. John-the-Baptist's, and were welcomed by another old friend, Mr. George Prescott. After tea, and after sampling the sea breezes, we went to St. Andrew's, Backwell (8. 18 cwt.), where we were welcomed by Mr. John Brown.

Our thanks are due to the Ringing Master (Mr. Trevor Newbury) for the general organisation, to Mr. H. Knight and to all others who assisted us and made us so welcome.

WORCESTER RINGERS HIT TRAIL

Saturday, July 19th, saw members of the Wychbold, Hanbury and St. Peter-de-Witton companies hitting the trail in search of new towers in Southern Worcestershire.

In spite of the efforts of the map reader and navigator, Bushley was reached safely, and the pretty little six (tenor 7 cwt.) was soon ringing out well-struck rounds and Queen's.

At Longdon, the belfry stairs were eventually found in the gloomy recesses of a broom cupboard. The ponderous-sounding six here were much enjoyed, some good rounds, call-changes and Grandsire being rung. Castle Morton bells proved to be rather a handful, but the common was an excellent place for a picnic lunch.

As we were by now somewhat tired we did not do justice to the well-kept six at Welland. At Hanley-Swan the six bells are of doubtful quality and were almost inaudible above the organist's practice. The last tower was Madresfield, where the heavy-going six caused the large 'Bath' chair to be much appreciated. The Vicar's dog shook hands with some of the party in a friendly manner.

Our thanks are accorded to the incumbents and the local ringers who met us, and to the inhabitants of the various villages for not shooting us. We are also grateful to our tower captain for tolerating us, and eating all the left-over sandwiches!

PAUL.

SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD

North Dorset Branch

The quarterly meeting was held at Motcombe on September 5th: 20 ringers were present from 12 towers, including visitors from Wareham and Charminster. Ringing started at 3 p.m., followed by the Guild service at 4.30 p.m., conducted by the hon. secretary, the Rev. R. N. Longridge, and at which the Vicar, the Rev. H. Ll. Davies, gave the address.

After tea in the Memorial Hall, the business meeting included details of the Dorset Ringing Festival, to be held at Blandford on October 31st.

Corrections

Mr. Brian G. Warwick desires to make the following corrections to peals.

Billesdon, Leics, page 512.—The method rung in this peal was Yorkshire Surprise Major and not Cambridge Surprise Major.

Syston, Leics, page 513.—The asterisks were omitted against ringers of 4 and 5, and also against the method, Cambridge Surprise Major.

Netherseale, Derbyshire, page 513.—This peal was rung as a wedding compliment to Anne N. Woodward, younger daughter of W. F. Woodward, and Colin C. Daniels, who were married on August 15th, and to Mary C. Payne and Harry Poyner (both non-resident members of the Guild), who were married at Syston on August 15th.

Lubenham, Leics, page 516.—The (9) and (10) extents were April Day.

THE STEWARDSHIP OF RINGING

IN A SENSE, life itself and all that it implies is a stewardship—a stewardship granted by Providence; and the closer we approach to acceptance of this idea, the more religious in character should our lives become it seems. So the more dedicated should be our ringing as part of our service and worship.

But do we think this is really so? And, if so, do we try to help others with whom we ring to view ringing in this light?

Because here, surely, is one of the secrets of the maintenance of reliable, regular attendances in the belfry—even in the face of reduced numbers.

In towers without it the only 'adhesive' holding a band together seems to be the fortuitous ability to ring such methods, or such immaculately-struck call-changes, as give communal pleasure to all the band.

But, in such towers, let illness, or departure from the district or any other cause remove one or more from among the band, rendering it less than the complement and so wiping out the ability to derive such self-sought pleasure, and what inevitably happens? Some at least of the others begin to stay away, complaining unashamedly that 'it hardly seems worth it' for rounds, call-changes, Grandsire Doubles—or whatever elementary ringing it is that they are reduced to.

Can they be blamed?

From the viewpoint of stewardship there can be only one answer. And it isn't 'No'!

The act of taking a bell-rope in hand is itself a symbol of acknowledged stewardship; of the privilege and responsibility arising from acquired (or being-acquired) skill in operating an instrument of God's service. The responsibility extends beyond the immediate ringing—reaching ahead into the future, when the bells are to be rung again and again as part of each service. Even if the band be down to, say, only three, the obligation is still there.

Let us not forget that although many people do listen to the bells they do not hear them analytically. 'The Times' recently recalled that to a B.B.C. quiz question as to how many bells there are in the Bow Bells interval signal, most replies gave 'five.' Though this may be incredible to us, it nevertheless indicates that the general public hear only the sound of bells. So, again, even if only three ringers attend, let the bells be rung.

But this is not to say—'Rest content with three,' or even to ring the back three only. In a former article we indicated various combinations of selected bells as acceptable, and as providing varying music, when full-strength bands are not in attendance.

At the same time, in normal conditions a band should never be reduced to these meagre limits, save by illness or removal from the district. Maintenance of interest is a powerful antidote; but the realisation of responsibility as a steward of ringing in the Lord's service is a greater one.

Most of us will realise this when we recall towers where, though they know not of Spliced Surprise, yet their service ringing is regular and, of its kind, good indeed.

Can we put it as positively as this? 'Only those with a real sense of stewardship can be rated as the truly good ringers.'

Former tower captains of Holy Trinity Cathedral Church, Guildford, in the past year (Mr. F. A. Munday and Mr. T. M. White) will have noted with satisfaction the progress of two of their pupils. June E. Cleeve scored her first peal and David J. Tubbs his first on eight bells. The Master of the Guild, who participated, expressed his pleasure at their performance.

Aldershot bells are to be rehung.

The ringers at Farnham Church, Surrey, hope to have their bells back from Loughborough by St. Andrew's Day.

The peal at Great Addington, Northants, on July 4th, was rung in honour of the birth of a son, Jonathan Robert ('Little Bob') to Mr. and Mrs. Brian Austin, of Kettering.

Mr. Donald G. Clift informs us that seven peals have been rung at Llangatock-juxta-Crickhowell, Brecon, and not two as was erroneously stated on page 518. The first was in 1901.

From Holme Pierrepont, Notts, our correspondent there writes that the last quarter peal rung on these bells was submitted as July 31st but should read July 24th. It was rung for the treble ringer's 14th birthday.

The excellent ringing of the tenor ringer (Mr. Antony Jackson) in the peal at Warbleton on August 29th is favourably commented upon by the conductor. His previous effort in the peal line was covering in a peal of Triples.

We are pleased to hear that Mr. J. Bennett's operation was successful. Mr. Charles J. Sedgley, who visited him, found that he was making a good recovery, sitting up and cheerful. He expects to be in the East Suffolk Hospital, Ipswich, about three weeks.

BELFRY GOSSIP

The peal at Drighlington was intended to be rung by old age pensioners, but Mr. G. Steel could not take part owing to Mrs. Steel's illness. Thanks are due to Mr. J. Pearson for taking part at the last moment. The average age of the seven O.A.P.s was 70 years 2 months. Is this a record?

A raincoat with a black beret in the pocket was left in the belfry at Abergavenny by an outing party, and so far has not been claimed. The owner can have the same by contacting Mr. G. Ward, 69, Park Crescent, Abergavenny, Mon, and defraying the postage.

Sunday morning ringing at All Saints', Leamington, is now at 10 a.m.

We are asked to state that the Rev. C. I. Pettit was, until recently, Vicar of St. John-the-Baptist's, Newcastle upon Tyne. (See peal, page 516.)

If 'I know' would forward his name and address the Editor might consider his contribution. We must impress upon all correspondents to send their name and address with contributions for publication. This also applies to peals and quarter peals.

Mr. Frederick Sheraton, of Chester-le-Street, whose 80th birthday fell on September 3rd, is the longest serving member of the Durham and Newcastle Diocesan Association, having joined in 1892. He is still hale and hearty, turning up with unfailing regularity for practice and Sunday ringing. He was present in the belfry before the peal in celebration started at Chester-le-Street, and he stayed to listen to it all. He gave up peal ringing a few years ago. Chester-le-Street bells have celebrated his 70th, 75th and 80th birthdays with peals, and his fellow ringers hope that they will be able to do the same for the 85th!

STORIES OF OLD LONDON RINGERS

BY MR. E. BARNETT

MR. SYMONDS' reminiscences have revived for me happy memories of my ringing life, which, like Mr. Symonds', also began in 1895. Most, if not all, of those he mentioned I knew and have rung with them at various times. Some of these old ringers were aptly described by Mr. A. A. Hughes as 'odd, colourful characters' to a special correspondent of 'The Times' in an article on 'Bellingring as a Popular Art,' published on August 22nd.

Harold N. Davis and his cousin, Jim, came from Camberwell. Harold was in business as a pewterer and beer-engine maker and has been dead many years. Jim (James E.) was a man with a sense of humour and a first-class ringer and conductor. For many years he was steeplekeeper at St. Margaret's, Westminster, and St. John's, Waterloo Road. Later he was in charge of St. Botolph's, Bishopsgate. Everybody loved him and he died suddenly about 10 years ago. Jim rang over 1,000 peals.

William Barron was a Cumberland Youth and, as Mr. Symonds said, a prolific conductor of Holt's Original. It was he who called what might have been the first peal on the bells of the Curfew Tower, Windsor Castle, in the early 1890's.

NEVER RANG ON SUNDAYS

William Weatherstone was a staunch Non-conformist, who never rang on Sundays or worked on Mondays. He always wore a frock coat, no collar or tie, but a small black and white check scarf instead. He was a furniture maker by trade and a safe ringer in plain methods on eight and ten bells. I first met him at Woolwich in 1897 when he took me to see the ornate tombstone in the churchyard to a noted prizelighter.

Harry Barton was one of the band who rang Holt's Original, non-conducted, with Mr. Symonds at Waterloo at the turn of the century. He left London about this time for East Kent and did good work in raising the standard in the Canterbury District. Afterwards Barton lived at Southwold, Suffolk, and at the time of his death, some 15 years ago, was town clerk of Ventnor, Isle of Wight.

LIT CANDLES AND CONTINUED THE PEAL

About 1907 Barton was calling a short-course peal of Henry Johnson's at Quex Park and omitted to light the candles before starting. Darkness came quicker than expected, so the tenor man set his bell, lit the candles, returned to his bell and finished the peal. To avoid criticism in 'The Bell News' Harry, when sending the peal, enclosed half-a-crown and asked Harry Reeves, the editor, to do his best for him. In his leading article, Reeves stated: 'We ourselves have been placed in a similar position,' and referred to the printers' peal he called at St. Saviour's, Walthamstow, some years before, when the tenor man left off to light the gas.

It would be impertinent of me to add to any of the many tributes paid to Mr. Cockerill at the College Youths' tercentenary. He was a schoolmaster. Mr. Pettitt, the conductor at St. Paul's I knew only by sight. A gentlemanly man, he was a silk hat maker.

Frederick G. Newman came from Mere-worth, Kent, and at one time was very well off. He had inherited a fruit farm, a traction engine and a threshing machine from his father. A first-class ringer and conductor of Stedman on all numbers, he called Tebbs' peal of Triples several times (600 calls) and Thurstans' and Lates' one-parts were common to him. He was most uncouth and a heavy drinker. A few years before I began ringing he 'bottled' up what would then have been the record peal of Stedman Cinques at Cornhill in the homing course. He applied on one occasion for the vacant post of public executioner.

'A MAN OF MANY PARTS'

Francis E. Dawe was a man of many parts. Besides being a rent collector for some luxury flats in Victoria, he held a high position in the London Fire Brigade and also owned a wine and spirit business at Woking. He was also a photographer of no mean ability. Frank Dawe was a very generous man although much of his generosity was to further his own ambition. He was the first man to call a peal of Stedman Cinques from the tenor (St. Bride's, Fleet Street, about 1890) and he almost succeeded in ringing a peal at every cathedral in England and Wales. He also conducted the first peal in Scotland. When John S. Goldsmith was founding this journal in 1911, Dawe suggested to him the title of 'The Ringing World.'

Fred Perrin was a good ringer in plain methods on eight and ten bells and I rang a number of peals with him. He was a carpenter and at the time I rang my first peal with him at Eynsford, Kent, in 1905, he was unemployed and walked all the way there from Walworth—about 15 miles.

A PRAYER AFTER A PEAL

The last ringer Mr. Symonds describes briefly is Challis Winney. It can truthfully be said of him that no single person in the history of ringing ever commanded more respect. As a conductor of Stedman on all numbers, whether on tower bells or 'in hand,' he had no peers. He was a good-living man and it is said of him that after the 21,000 of Stedman Caters at Appleton, when one of the band was hurrying out of the tower at the end of the peal, Mr. Winney called him back and said, 'Just a minute, young man, before we go let us have a prayer and thank God for giving us strength to ring this peal.' What a pattern for imitation!

Of those not mentioned by Mr. Symonds whom he must have known were J. W. Rowbottham, William E. Garrard, Isaac Shade, Ben Foskett, Harry Flanders, Harry Springhall and Walter Prime.

J. W. Rowbottham originated from Sheffield and was connected with an old family of cutlers, whose name is often seen on table cutlery to this day. Mr. Garrard came from Suffolk. He was another excellent ringer and conductor and was in charge of St. Mary Abbots', Kensington.

OVER 1,400 PEALS

Isaac Shade was a Greenwich man to whom ringing was his life. He rang over 1,400 peals, many of which he conducted. He once rang four Surprise peals in a day—Bristol, London, Cambridge and Superlative—in four different counties, with the late W. Pye. He also took part in the 15,072 of Double Norwich at Erith in 1899 and the 18,027 Stedman Caters at Loughborough in 1909. A gas fitter with the South Metropolitan Gas Company, he met a tragic end, being knocked down by a car almost on his doorstep after returning from a practice at Bishopsgate.

A highly-respected member of the Cumberlands was Mr. Foskett and, like Mr. Winney, was another good-living man. He was a fruiterer at Cricklewood and I rang several peals with him at Shoreditch. I don't think I have ever heard anyone strike a little bell in 12 with such accuracy as he did. In 1894, at Romford, he rang the treble to 13,440 of Double Norwich, the first time in the method that the extent with the tenors together had been rung.

BRISTOL UNIVERSITY ON TOUR

After Cornwall last year, members of the U.B.S.C.R. decided they would like somewhere flat. After all, a cycling tour is cycling and not half walking. Accordingly the suggestion of Hampshire and the Isle of Wight met with approval, and the party met at Winchester on August 2nd. This year the six had been augmented to ten, with one exception all members of the U.B.S.C.R. The party included Pauline, Michael and Noel Sprackling, Brenda Riches, Alan Smith, Mike Rothwell, Pat Bird, Jane Cook, Roy Blackler and Bob Sillin.

Grandsire Caters was rung at the Cathedral and Crawley (5) visited for evening service. The tour really started on Monday. Before lunch, Tichborne and Old and New Alresford were visited. The tower that had the party worried was Bishop's Sutton, where the frame is held aloft on mediæval beams at the west end of the church. The bells were found fit to be rung after a highly dangerous inspection by means of a ladder propped between the organ and the wall. Here was rung the shortest complete touch so far—six changes of Original Doubles!

Towers in the Southampton area were visited on Tuesday. Memories of the day included a welcome cup of tea made by the Rector of Shedfield after his delightful eight had been sampled, and the eight at Curdridge (26 cwt.) proving a little too much because of the state of fatigue.

Wednesday was 'embarkation' day, and the ringing programme included Carisbrooke and Newport, where the party was in a better state to enjoy heavier bells. Thursday was a day of sixes and a five at Niton, with the six at Godshill being the best encountered. The long ride to Freshwater was worth while on Friday. There was time, however, for a last swim and lunch on the beach before embarking on the ferry. Milford-on-Sea and Lymington were both fine eight, and in the evening at Hordle (6) the tour's 50th new method was scored with a course of Tewkesbury.

Lyndhurst (8) on Saturday was the last tower of the tour. Thanks are due to Michael for his wonderful organisation, and to incumbents and local ringers. Next year we hope to do it all again elsewhere, writes P. J. B., who thoroughly recommends the tour to any other U.B.S. member or friend who wants a holiday in the style of the old days at Bristol.

NEWS FROM DURBAN

Mr. Cyril Chambers, of Durban, S.A., writes: Mr. R. H. Stickley and Mr. J. Riley, two ringers from Woodstock, were in Durban from August 25th to 27th. Special practices were arranged at St. Mary's and St. Paul's while they were there, and the first touches of Grandsire Triples for 20 years were rung in Durban.

An attempt for a quarter peal came to grief after about 500 changes, but as three of the band had never before been out of the plain course it was satisfying that the ringing went on so long before the breakdown came.

Mr. Stickley sailed on the 'Pretoria Castle,' which arrived at Southampton on September 17th.

SOUTH WALES NOMADS

The first practice meeting of the South Wales Nomads was held on August 29th, the ringing being at Marshfield in the afternoon and Caerleon in the evening. Sixteen ringers were present and several succeeded in reaching a new objective.

At the business meeting it was stressed that the object of future meetings would be to help beginners and to ring in churches where normally bells are seldom heard. A report on the Somerset tour was read. The date of the next meeting was suggested as October 24th.

BLACK COUNTRY RINGING FESTIVAL

Bicentenary Celebrations At Stourbridge

ST. THOMAS' Church was built between the years 1728-1736 by the townspeople of Stourbridge, a small industrial town, noted for its glass and woollen trades. At that time there was no church in the town, and worshippers had to walk the mile or so to the Parish Church of St. Mary at Oldswinford, which was not large enough, in any case, to hold all the inhabitants of the parish.

In 1759 the tower was completed and the ring of bells, cast by Lester and Pack, was installed. The weight of the tenor was 19 cwt. in the key of E flat, and the bells bore the following inscriptions:—

All.—LESTER AND PACK OF LONDON FECIT. 1759.

6th.—TO HONOUR BOTH OF GOD AND KING OUR VOICES SHALL IN CONSORT RING.

7th.—'YE RINGERS ALL THAT PRIZE YOUR HEALTH AND HAPPINESS

BE SOBER, MERRY, WISE AND YOU'LL THE SAME POSSESS.'

Tenor.—'IN WEDLOCK BANDS, ALL YE WHO JOIN WITH HANDS, YOUR HEARTS UNITE SO SHALL OUR TUNEFULL TONGUES COMBINE TO LAUD THE NUPTIAL RITE.'

THE REVD. CHAS HARRIS RECTOR
IOS^a. HEMUS CH. WARDEN. 1759.

The first peal on the bells was rung in October, 1771. 'Berrow's Worcester Journal' reports: 'On Thursday last were rung at the New Chapel, Stourbridge, a true and compleat Peal of 5040 Grandsire Triples in 3 hours and 26 minutes, being the only true peal ever rung in that Steeple.'

'A COMPLEATE QUARTER PEAL'

An old peal board in the belfry records: 'On Monday, November the 8th, 1773, was rung in this Tower a Compleate Quarter Peal of Bob Majors, containing 10,080 changes in 6 houres and 20 minuets'!—spelling which conjures up some rather fanciful ideas as to what went on during the ringing of that peal. Again, 'Berrow's Worcester Journal,' of November 25th, 1773: 'On Monday the 8th inst. was rung at Stourbridge in this County in 6 hours and 20 minutes a compleat quarter peal of Bob Majors being 10,080 changes, by eight young men of that Town, upon eight of the most musical and best hung bells within a hundred mile of the place; and being by some thousands, more than ever were rung within the same distance. So great was the Pleasure and Astonishment, that many were induced to express their approbation, who before had a Dislike to Musick of that Kind.'

The church was finally consecrated in 1866, after over a century of bickering. Four of the bells were recast and the whole ring retuned and rehung in 1935 by John Taylor, of Loughborough.

At the annual meeting of St. Thomas' band in September, 1958, it was decided to celebrate the bicentenary of the bells by holding a ringing festival. Supported and encouraged by the Vicar (Rev. R. Guy Pusey), the band was divided into sub-committees to make the necessary arrangements—ringing, publicity and printing, catering, festival service. Local incumbents and tower secretaries were contacted and offers of support were received from all sides. The plan was to have the bells of eight local towers available for ringing during the day and to follow with a tea and festival service. The festival was first announced at the annual meeting of the Worcestershire Association on Easter Monday. An article in the parish magazine was copied in the local weekly 'County Express' and in a Birmingham newspaper, and an advance notice was published in 'The Ringing World.' An attractive programme was printed and its distribution begun. The belfry ringing chamber was redecorated and cleaned by members of the band, the order of service was decided and catering arrangements set in motion.

At last the festival week arrived, on Saturday, July 4th, the hottest day of the year; and to the accompaniment of loudspeaker noises from a Scouts' garden party, a peal of Bob Major was rung by members of the local band.

It had been decided to open the belfry to members of the public on the following practice night, but publicity for this and articles for the local press were silenced by the printing strike, and only a small number of people visited the tower.

CROWDED RINGING CHAMBER

After a week of fine, hot weather, the festival day started rainy and dull. However, a goodly company met at Stourbridge, and with the tower leader (Mr. F. V. Nicholls) in charge, St. Thomas' bells were ringing merrily before 11 a.m. The Press having been dealt with, a party was despatched to Cradley and Halesowen, and these towers were soon crowded with visitors. After a hasty lunch, a phone call to Dudley elicited the information that the ten bells there had been going well since 1 p.m. In the afternoon it was the turn of Lye, Brierley Hill and Wollaston. Oldswinford tower was unfortunately not available, but visitors certainly made the most of the other towers, and crowded ringing chambers were the order of the day. At 4 p.m., with Stourbridge bells ringing again—half-an-hour before schedule—there must have been well over a hundred visitors in these four towers.

At 4.30 p.m. all ringing ceased, except at St. Thomas', and visitors adjourned to the Church Hall for tea. Here the catering committee worked like slaves, and in an hour-and-a-half provided a buffet tea for over a hundred visitors and guests.

Then at 6 p.m. the festival service. Conducted by the Vicar and led by a most enthusiastic choir and organist, the theme of the service was praise and thanksgiving; the psalm, No. 19. 'The heavens declare the glory of God': the hymns—'All people that on Earth do dwell,' 'Angel voices ever singing,' 'Praise to the Lord, the Almighty,' and 'Now thank we all our God.'

The sermon was preached by the Rev. T. Keith Murray, Vicar of Dudley. He contrasted the call of the Muezzin to the worship of a cynical Allah and the beating of gongs to the worship of a smiling Buddha with the loving work of the ringers calling the people to the worship of an all-loving God.

The service closed with the stirring notes of Purcell's 'Trumpet Tune and Air,' and there was a general drift back to the belfry for more ringing until 9 p.m.

D. H. W.

TWO DAYS OUT IN CHESHIRE

A day out ringing in Cheshire was arranged for August 1st. Our very appropriate meeting point was Belle Vue Zoo, Manchester, and our transport was bicycles. The first tower was the 22½ cwt. six at Rostherne, where Alan Ward was elected as Ringing Master for the day. On then down the Cheshire country lanes to Knutsford, where we rang on the anti-clockwise six. The next tower was Mobberley, and as we had received no reply from the Vicar, and on arriving at the Vicarage could not find him, we decided to have dinner and then make a detour to Nether Alderley, which was not on the programme. The Vicar was soon found and he had no objection to us ringing. After our slight detour we rang on the little six at Chelford, and then past Jodrell Bank to Goostrey. After Goostrey we went via Holmes Chapel to Brereton, where we rang on the anti-clockwise five. These bells were cast at the one-time local foundry in Congleton by Paul Hutton.

After tea we made our way to ring at the last two towers of the day, which were both eights. The first was Gawsworth in very picturesque surroundings, and then the old church of Prestbury. Our last call was for a course of fish and chip supper outside Norbury Church, Hazel Grove, where we exchanged views on the striking. The day had been a great success, but it was decided that 75 miles by push-bike and eight towers with only eight ringers was a bit too much for one day; but on the strength of it all it was decided to hold another day out with less mileage and more ringers on August 29th.

On this occasion, 11 cycles were placed in the guard's van on the 7.17 a.m. train from Manchester to Northwich. The first tower was Witton, followed by the sixes at Weaverham, Hartford and Davenham. At Hartford, the Ringing Master was about to say 'Go' when the tenor rope broke. Davenham bells produced some of the best ringing of the day. The next tower was Church Minshall, our only five. First we had dinner, and rang afterwards. The Vicar invited us to have a glass of squash on the Vicarage lawn before we left. Before we parted company, the Vicar and his aunt played for us Handel's overture, the Entrance of the Queen of Sheebah, on two grand pianos. After this delightful entertainment, we went to sample what must be, for its weight, the finest eight in Cheshire—St. Chad's, Over. On then to ring on the eight at Middlewich and the six at Holmes Chapel. The last tower on the programme was Lower Peover, opposite the famous pub, The Bells of Peover. As we had made an early finish to our programme, and we could not ring at Mobberley on the last outing, it was decided to have another try, which was successful, in obtaining permission.

Methods rung.—Doubles: Plain Bob, Grandsire and Stedman; Minor: Plain and Little Bob, St. Clement's, Kent and Oxford T.B. and Cambridge Surprise; Triples: Grandsire and Stedman; Major: Plain Bob, Kent T.B. and Double Norwich Court Bob.

Thanks are accorded to the vicars and Ringing Masters for the use of the bells, and to John Remington and Derek Yates for arranging these outings.

PEAL BOOKING FEES

Dear Sir.—The arguments presented by Mr. A. V. Davis in favour of the peal booking fee charged by the Winchester and Portsmouth Guild are, to say the least, not impressive; but then we must sympathise with him in his unenviable task of trying to justify the imposition of this dishonest levy.

There is only one justifiable excuse for the imposition of a peal booking fee by any Association, and that is to pay for, or to assist in paying for, the recording of the Association's peals in some permanent form. Ideally, the peals should be properly written up in a volume reserved for that purpose, and I understand that the Winchester Guild peal recorder favours this idea in that, each Friday, he extracts from his extra copy of 'The Ringing World' the reports of any peals which have been rung for the Guild and pastes them into a book. This practice is to be commended for its favourable effect on the sales of 'The Ringing World,' but I doubt if, even in these hard times, the cost of the paste necessitates the imposition of extra taxes.

The accepted fact is, of course, that the purpose of the fee in question is to assist in financing the publication of the Guild's triennial report, which will appear for the first time in 1960, and in which all peals rung for the Guild in the past three years will be reported in full. This report will contain many other items of interest to all resident members of the Guild, the vast majority of whom are not regular peal ringers.

To all resident members of the Guild the cost of this report will be precisely nothing; non-resident members must, however, pay for their copy if they want one. The annual subscription payable by each resident member is 3s. and has stood at this figure for many years, despite the efforts of some members to have it increased to a more realistic amount.

So there is the crux of the matter: the resident members of the Guild are not prepared to meet the cost of producing their own report by voting for an increase in their extremely low annual subscription; what they are prepared to do, however, is to try to force non-resident members to subsidise the free presentation of the report to resident members only.

This state of affairs strikes me as being nothing less than shocking. I may not exactly qualify as a philanthropist, but I don't think anyone can accuse me of being miserly; I would, for example, enthusiastically support the payment of peal publication fees to 'The Ringing World,' and am always keen to contribute towards the rope fund after a peal; my readiness to purchase flagons of ale for people who arrange peals of Spliced Surprise is almost a byword, but I most emphatically decline to finance the charitable distribution of ringing literature to the penurious residents of Hampshire.

I would suggest, as a solution, that the Winchester Guild rules be amended to as to make the peal booking fee payable by resident members only.—Yours sincerely,

ROBIN G. LEALE.

RINGERS AND CHURCHGOING

Dear Sir.—Mr. M. Hatchett's thoughts in print (August 28th, 1959) about the recent Central Council Survey of Sunday Ringing do indeed go to the roots of the matter.

Unfortunately it looks as if in my summary of the enormous number of returns we had I have not expressed it clearly enough that overwhelmingly the point made most often by tower captains was just the point made by Mr. Hatchett. No other point, suggestion, complaint, carp or grumble was mentioned anywhere near as often as 'Unless a band of ringers is part of the family and communion of its church, the chance of success is very slender indeed.' Naturally this was expressed in a very great variety of ways, but I think I am being fair in saying that this is what it always amounted to. A cynic might say 'They only said what they were expected to say.' I do not think this was so, nor I think would anyone else who read through well over a thousand returns with me. Reading these forms made me realise that there is a very great deal of fine material in our Exercise.

We did not ask any specific questions about the churchgoing habits of ringers but we did receive quite a deal of free and gratis information on this subject. My own impression from these returns is that Mr. Hatchett is taking a very pessimistic view indeed in his intimations about service attendance. The old fable that ringers always leave the church after ringing is just not true today. That many ringers ring for two services on Sunday and attend one probably is true, but this is a very different thing.

There are certainly nowhere nearly enough ringers in the country, and we have nothing whatever to be complacent about. But please to let us thank God for what we have got and work to find the way to build on it.—Yours, etc.,

PHILIP GRAY.

PEAL AT MARDEN, KENT

Dear Sir.—With reference to the method rung at Marden on August 22nd, assuming that the figures given in 'The Ringing World' are correct, it will be observed that the path of the treble is dodging in 1-2 and 3-4, and plain hunting in 5-6. This combination of dodging and hunting means that the method is an Alliance type and should be classified as 'Little Alliance,' not 'Little Surprise.'

However, I should like to point out that a peal of 5,060 changes in this method was rung at Marsham on March 11th, 1939, by the Norwich Diocesan Association, under the title 'Northrepps Major.' I have included it in the list of First Peal Performances as Northrepps Little Alliance Major (page 67).

A formal statement from the Methods Committee as to the correct classification of this method would be appreciated.—Yours sincerely,

F. T. BLAGROVE.

THE LATE MR. JOSEPH GRIFFIN

Dear Sir,—I am surprised that the Biography Committee has no knowledge of J. Griffin, who was a member of the 1891 Council, beyond the fact that he is no longer alive.

Far from being an obscure ringer, Joseph Griffin was a prominent member of what was acknowledged to be the foremost band in the country in the 'eighties—St. Paul's, Burton-on-Trent—a band whose many noteworthy performances included the first peal of London to be rung in London.

J. G. was the last of the original Burton band still ringing when I learned to ring at St. Paul's in 1925—the only other survivor, E. I. Stone, had retired about two years earlier as he could not manage the 90-odd steps to the ringing room, and I believe Mr. Griffin followed his former captain into retirement about 1927.

Cast while the bad influence of Lord Grimthorpe still prevailed, the old eight bells at Burton (tenor 26 cwt. in F) must have sounded rather horrible—indeed, when recasting was proposed in 1912, the local paper gave the reason as their 'harsh and unwelcome sound.' Ringing conditions were even worse: Sir Arthur Heywood considered them to be the worst he had encountered.

Despite the conditions, the Burton men rang a prolific number of peals on the old bells, as the boards in the belfry testify. In their early days they made 13 attempts on consecutive Saturdays before securing their first of Stedman, and their first peal of London in their own tower was the first in the method by the entire band and, incidentally, only the fourth ever rung. St. Paul's was not then, as now, in a built-up area, and when built in 1874 was surrounded by green fields.

A founder member of the Midland Counties Association in 1882, Joe Griffin had rung 276 peals for this Association, no small achievement in those days. His name appears on most of the numerous peal boards in St. Paul's belfry.

More details of the exploits of this famous band are described in Ernest Morris' 'History and Art of Change Ringing,' which also contains a photograph of the 1925 Central Council at Chester. In this group, J. Griffin is prominently seated next to Mr. Alex Young and immediately behind the Rev. A. T. Beeston. Possibly this may have been his last attendance.

By trade I understood him to have been a railway signalman, somewhat of a misplaced occupation, for even in his declining years he possessed—and sometimes used—a bark which would do credit to a regimental sergeant major. What he was like in his prime I could only imagine from reports of older ringers and feel thankful I never encountered him in his heyday.—Yours, etc.,

R. H. DOVE.

SOUTHERN IRELAND PEAL TOUR

A Grand Week Amongst Splendid Bells

FOLLOWING the very successful tour of Northern Ireland at Whitson, 1958, the writer immediately asked Mr. Fred Dukes if he would arrange a tour in Southern Ireland for August, 1959. Fred gladly agreed; so accordingly a good band of ten was got together, and left Euston at 11.25 p.m. on Friday, August 14th, picking up Ralph Edwards and Bill Deason at Crewe. After a fairly mild crossing we reached Dublin at 10.30 a.m. on Saturday. Hector Bennett met us at Westland Row Station, and we booked in at the Grosvenor Hotel just outside. We all had a splendid lunch at the Gresham, O'Connell Street—Dublin's leading hotel—and arrived at St. Patrick's, Dublin (12, 45 cwt.), for the big job of the week—Cambridge Royal. Mr. R. Tait was waiting to welcome us, and with Ralph on the tenor we started at 2.45 p.m. Unfortunately the treble rope broke after seven courses had been rung in 1 hour and 50 minutes, and we were all very disappointed at this unlucky beginning. Mr. R. Tait and Mr. T. McMorran commiserated with us, and we returned for dinner at the Grosvenor.

Here we were joined by Fred Dukes, who lent us two ropes in case of need, and gave us the good news that he had heard that a peal might be possible at Wexford.

SUNDAY IN DUBLIN AND BRAY

After a night's refreshing sleep, we reported at Christ Church, Dublin (10, 39 cwt.), where we were welcomed by Mr. W. E. Lynch. This is one of the oldest cathedrals in Ireland. The bells are not the easiest to strike; we rang Treble Bob Royal and Cambridge Major. Afterwards Mr. Lynch conducted us to the Augustinian R.C. Church of St. John (10, 25 cwt.). The ringing room is rectangular in shape, and the access is by a narrow iron staircase fully exposed to the church! We were welcomed by the local company, and rang Stedman Triples and rounds on the ten.

We travelled out to Bray (8, 28 cwt.) in two Hillman Minxes, and after a good lunch at the Royal went up to the church to be welcomed by Mr. T. Mason. There was no difficulty in deciding which two would stand out here, as both Ralph and the writer had rung the tenor to peals here before. A very good peal of New Cambridge was scored in 3 hours 31 minutes; the bells are amongst the finest in the British Isles. The night was spent at Arklow.

ARKLOW AND WEXFORD

Arklow bells (8, 22½ cwt.) were cast by Taylor's in 1899, and the first peal on them, Double Norwich, was scored in August, 1899, by a band from Loughborough and Leicester. Soon after this, the famous James W. Washbrook came to live here, and became the first person to ring two bells to a peal. This he did to Grandsire, Stedman and Plain Bob. The bells are a fine ring, better outside than inside, and are hung on plain bearings. Unfortunately a peal rung by a rival touring party a fortnight before had used up all the grease, with the result that the seventh ran dry and became impossible to manage. This was our last disappointment of the week, but the Vicar (Rev. J. Poyntz) kindly gave permission for us to make another attempt on Saturday, if time allowed.

After lunch we drove to Wexford and booked in at the County Hotel. First call was on Mr. Leo Willis, captain of the tower of the Immaculate Conception (10, 31 cwt.). However, he had gone to Cork on business, so the writer and Ralph Edwards went to see the Administrator (Rev. M. O'Neill), who kindly gave permission for an attempt to be made on Thursday. The bells, a fine job by Gillett and Johnston (1930), are very noisy outside the tower.

On entering the ringing room it was found that much work on the ropes would be necessary before a peal could be attempted, and the sixth stay was broken. It was here that Fred Dukes' ropes were used, but they were found to be very springy! However, they were tied tightly to the chiming apparatus in the hope that they would be ready by Thursday. A note was left with Mr. Willis, asking him to mend the stay if possible, and we retired to bed with high hopes of a peal on Thursday.

KILKENNY AND WATERFORD

Tuesday, August 17th, saw us travelling through New Ross and Thomastown to Kilkenny (8, 22 cwt.). The Cathedral of St. Canice is a very fine 13th century building with a low central tower. Originally there were six bells here by Perdue and Covey. Two others were added by Murphy, of Dublin, and they were rehung in ball-bearings by Mears in 1925. Two young ringers, Messrs. J. Heaslip and S. Strong, were in the ringing room to welcome us, and we were impressed by the very large and well-lighted room. The bells are housed on top of the tower, enclosed by a wooden cage.

As we had only scored one out of three attempts, the writer decided it was time for a Cannon 'cert,' so a well-struck peal of Double Norwich was duly scored in 3 hours 8 minutes.

Following lunch, a run of 30 miles brought us to Waterford (8, 20 cwt.), where we were welcomed by Mr. R. J. Baldwin. The tower of the Cathedral of the Blessed Trinity, built in the English Classic style of the 18th century, contains a ring of eight, cast by Mears in 1872 and rehung by Gillett and Johnston in 1939. The ringing room has a balcony fairly high above, and it was during the ringing of our peal of Yorkshire that an amusing (though dangerous) incident occurred! Access to this balcony can be gained from the street without entering the ringing room. After about two hours the writer suddenly felt what he thought was a slip-wheel. The same thing happened again twice within 20 minutes! A face could be seen peering over the balcony, and immediately the writer suspected someone was holding on to his rope! After the peal had finished, Mr. Baldwin hurried up to apologise for the intruder, as it turned out to be someone the worse for drink! He had told Mr. Baldwin that he would love to help the slim man on the tenor, but he had pulled the wrong rope!

After a nice dinner, and a pleasant evening with Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Baldwin at the Adelphi Hotel, we retired to bed.

ST. FINBARRE'S, CORK

We left Waterford at 10 a.m. to cover the 79 miles to Cork. At Dungarven it was market day, and we ran into a real bit of Old Ireland. The cattle are not penned in, as is usual here, but just stand in bunches on the road or footpath in front of the shops. It is amazing how they eventually get sorted out! We arrived in Cork at 12 noon, and after lunch at our hotel. Corrigan, we made our way to the very fine triple-spined Cathedral of St. Finbarre (8, 27 cwt.). Mr. Fred Bogan gave us a very friendly welcome. The original bells, cast by Abraham Rudhall, hung in the earlier church, built in 1735. The treble, second and third were recast in 1903 by Taylors, and the bells were rehung by the same firm in 1957. The whole ring is magnificent, and the tenor is an unrecast masterpiece by Rudhall. If these bells were in England they would be the venue of every touring party! On such a fine ring of bells it was decided to make the method worthy of the bells, so a really superlative peal of Superlative was majestically performed.

The seventh had a habit of slipping-wheel, so Ralph took extra care to control it by sliding the rope through his hand! Regrettably we had to say goodbye to Fred Bogan, as we had a date at Bandon (6, 14 cwt.) for which we were already late. A local ringer met us (we had, our only rain here), and we enjoyed touches on a pleasant though noisy ring. The entrance to the ringing chamber is probably unique, as after ascending a spiral staircase one climbs up two nearly vertical ladders, still within the spiral staircase! We arrived back in Cork at 10 p.m., and after another meal went to bed, feeling thoroughly pleased with ourselves!

WEXFORD—235 MILES FOR A PEAL

On Thursday we had to do some long journeys. Cork to Wexford is 120 miles, and retracing our steps to Waterford and New Ross we did the journey in exactly three hours, without seeming to be hurrying.

After a good lunch at the Talbot Hotel, we met Mr. Willis, who had very kindly mended the broken stay. We were also pleased to find that the stretch had been taken out of Fred Dukes' rope, so everything was set for a good peal. At 3.50 p.m. we went into changes, and with Ralph setting a good beat on the tenor a very good peal was completed in 3 hours 24 minutes. Plenty of perspiration was evident because there are no windows which will open, and the sun was streaming right into the ringing room.

We left Wexford at 7.50 p.m., stopping for a drink at New Ross, and duly arrived at the National Hotel, Limerick (115 miles), at 11.10 p.m., having completed 235 miles that day, nearly a record for one peal but well worth every mile.

Mr. George Bingham, secretary of the Western Branch, was waiting to greet us in the hotel lounge, and we enjoyed a drink and a chat until 12.30 a.m.

THE TWO TOWERS OF LIMERICK

Limerick is Ireland's oldest city, and the two fine rings of bells are the most westerly peals in the British Isles. Unfortunately, Barrie Hendry had a touch of gastric trouble and had to spend the day and night in St. John's, Hospital, so we were only able to ring the back eight at the Redemptorist Church of Mount St. Alphonsus (10, 21 cwt.). Mr. Dave Benson (president of the Mount St. Alphonsus ringers) was waiting to greet us in the ringing chamber, which is reached after a steep climb up two staircases, rather similar to the approach at Andover, Hants. Originally there was a ring of eight here, with the ropes hanging four on each side. They were all recast, and two trebles added in 1947 by Taylor's, and are now a magnificent ring. The peal of Lincolnshire that we rang, the first in Ireland, was nearly perfect, and Ralph found the tenor as easy to ring as at Solihull, Birmingham!

After lunch Ralph said farewell, and the remaining eight of us went over to St. Mary's Cathedral (8, 24 cwt.) to score a good peal of Cambridge. The original six bells were cast in 1670 by William and Roger Perdue, of Salisbury, and one of the brothers is buried in the Cathedral. Two trebles were added in 1703, the tenor was recast by Taylor's in 1930, and three more bells were recast by the same firm in 1938, when a new frame and ball-bearings were added. They are hung anti-clockwise, the ringing room is well cared for, and the bells go like tops.

The Dean of Limerick (Very Rev. M. J. Talbot) was waiting in the Cathedral to welcome and congratulate us, and Mr. George Bingham conducted us to the sports club room, where we were entertained to a wonderful tea, presided over by the Dean and supported by Messrs. G. Bingham, C. W. Galbraith, G. H. Ellis, T. Marsden and Dave Benson, of Mount St. Alphonsus, and other Limerick ringers. A most enjoyable time was spent and was followed by a social evening with the above-mentioned ringers until 12.30 a.m., a fitting finish to a grand week. Incidentally, this is the first time that peals have been rung in both the Limerick towers on the same day.

Thank you, Fred Dukes and Southern Ireland, for another wonderful week and a fine welcome.

P. A. C.

CLERICAL PEAL

There have now been nine clerical peals since the formation of the Guild of Clerical Ringers in 1938 (and 11 by clergy before that date). This does not sound an impressive total, but obviously there is considerable difficulty in bringing peal-ringing clergy together, and there are but few who have the opportunity of becoming experienced conductors. The Guild's annual 'week' after Easter includes a peal attempt, but peal ringing is not the 'week's' primary purpose.

Last year, by the enterprise of the Rev. A. Webb, a peal was rung for the first time outside the 'week', and it occurred to the secretary that there might be enough members on holiday in Devonshire this year to make up a peal band in his own tower. Unhappily, Mr. Webb could not rearrange his holiday to include September 7th, the only day which seemed possible for all the rest, and in the event Mr. Homfray was the only one on holiday at the time.

Mr. Wood and Mr. Marshall took a long day off from Leatherhead, Mr. Richards started at 7.30 a.m. from his parish in Monmouthshire. Mr. Roberts drove 120 miles from the far west of Cornwall, bringing Mr. Vincent with him, and Mr. Scott's shorter journey of 25 miles included the most bone-shaking road in Devon.

The peal, timed for 3 o'clock, started at 3.10. Having come so far, the band needed to feel as certain as could be that the attempt would succeed, and there was never any doubt of the Grandsire Triples under Mr. Roberts' guidance. It was the first of Triples for the Guild.

In the evening the local call-change ringers met in honour of the visitors, ringing an excellently-struck peal of call-changes, and after supper the peal band joined them. It was a happy ending to a long day, and much enjoyed by both parties. It says much for the early-rising habits of the clergy that the following morning all the five who stayed the night were in church at 7.30.

WINCHESTER & PORTSMOUTH

Andover and Basingstoke Districts

A most enjoyable meeting for members of the Andover and Basingstoke Districts, as well as many visitors, was held on September 12th. Proceedings started on the heavy six at Kingsclere at 2 p.m., when plenty of muscle work was needed to ring the bells, the tenor here being a speciality. Sydmonton bells were to have been next on the programme, but owing to a children's gymkhana, ringing here had to be postponed until 8 p.m., and a move was made to Burghclere, where ringing continued from 3.30 until service time. The service was conducted by the Rector (Rev. P. Ince), during which an anthem was sung by four Andover ringers, led by Mr. B. Granger. Tea in the Parish Room was served by ringers' wives and their helpers, and over 50 sat down.

Mr. G. Dodd (secretary of the Andover District) welcomed the Basingstoke District, and hoped that this combined meeting would be the start of many more of its kind. Mr. J. Chesterman suitably replied, endorsing this hope.

An invitation had been extended from the Woolton Hill ringers to join them in ringing after a choral service, and many members took advantage of this invitation. Favourable reports were received of help given to the local band by the less keen tower-grabbers. Some, after a hurried ring at Woolton Hill, were also able to grab East Woodhay, whilst the majority of the ringers enjoyed an hour's ringing on the eight at Highclere.

All joined once again for the highlight of the day, the previous unringable six at Sydmonton; and it was a continuous flow of ringers in and out of the church that kept the bells going until 9 o'clock.

SALISBURY DIOCESAN GUILD

A new feature in the West Dorset Branch quarterly meeting, held at Powerstock on September 12th, was that of having a special method, and although the attendance wasn't so good as at some meetings, a band was available for Carter's Doubles.

A touch of Stedman Doubles preceded the Guild Office, which was conducted by the Rev. G. Hooper (Vicar), the lesson being read by Canon Cox. An interesting address was given by the Vicar based upon a rhyme which was written on the wall of the belfry of the place where he lived as a boy. The collection amounted to 21s.

Tea was served at the Village Hall, 23 members partaking of a meal generously given by the Powerstock ringers and their wives and helpers. A collection was made to defray the hall hire expenses.

The annual meeting was fixed for Beaminster on November 28th. The Vicar of Powerstock (Rev. G. Hooper) was made an honorary member.

In concluding the meeting, Canon Cox thanked the Vicar for his service and for the use of the church and bells, his ringers and their wives for the ample tea, and Mr. Elsworth for playing the organ.

Members then returned to the tower to send the music of these fine five bells out over the dells and knolls of the beautiful Dorset countryside. E. G. P.

OBITUARY

MR. GEORGE BILLENNESS

Another old ringer has been 'called home' in the person of Mr. George Billenness, of Hawkhurst, Kent, at the age of 75. He migrated to Hawkhurst from Rye, Sussex, about 1913, and found a band that had just taken up change-ringing. Under his care this band made good progress, and in February, 1914, the first peal by a local band was rung under his conductorship. The writer believes he also conducted the first local peal at Rye. He was for several years secretary of the Hawkhurst and District Guild.

Owing to failing health he had to give up active ringing about four years ago, but he stood in for a short touch at the rededication of the parish church two years ago. He lays at rest within sight of the belfry window. May he rest in peace. A. H. K.

MR. HARRY BALDWIN

We regret to record the death of Mr. Harry Baldwin, who passed away at King Edward VII Hospital, Windsor, on September 6th, in his 85th year. For the past 40 years he had been a regular Sunday service ringer at All Saints', Boyne Hill, Maidenhead.

He was born at Bray where, as a boy, he sang in St. Michael's choir. At the age of 14 he learned to ring at Bray, where he rang for 30 years. On moving to Maidenhead he joined the Boyne Hill band, and there rang up to within four months of his death.

Known to one and all as Archie, he was a lovable old character and was greatly respected by all. He had a wonderful memory for dates and details of his early ringing experiences, and there was nothing he enjoyed more than to relate his stories to the younger members of the band. He was an excellent tenor man and rang the tenor behind to several peals.

Mr. Baldwin was one of the old school, and always attended Sunday service ringing and practices, punctually and regularly—a shining example to us all. He had been a loyal member of the Oxford Guild for almost 60 years.

The funeral took place at Maidenhead cemetery on September 9th. Ringers from his own tower were among the many mourners. In the evening the bells he rang for so many years were rung half-muffled to his memory. This lovable old gentleman will be greatly missed by his younger friends at All Saints', Boyne Hill. May he rest in peace. E. E. G.

A CONVERT IN PRAISE OF RINGERS

MOST ringers are more of a menace than an asset.' That is what he used to think. It was the opinion of a few jaundiced parsons, and he did not bother to question it. They (and he) seemed to think that for the most part ringers rang for their own pleasure, or satisfaction, or when there was a fee to be picked up. He was quite unconcerned with the thousands of hours put in each week for practice and Sunday service ringing. Then he took the trouble to get to know ringers and what they do, and very rapidly he was converted.

His conversion began seven years ago when, as the new Vicar, he asked if he could learn bellringing, having seen it at close quarters for the first time. The local band were mercifully tolerant, and endured rather more from him than they might have done from others, no doubt because of 'the cloth.' At the cost of two stays, a sheered clapper pin and a parted bell rope, he learned to manage Grand-side Doubles, and eventually a peal in the method. Emboldened, and encouraged by others, chiefly the Ringing Master of Evesham's famous bell tower, he 'sallied' forth into new and fearfully complicated methods on 6, 8, 10 and 12 bells (the higher the fewer). His experience grew, and he began to visit new towers and new bands, and discovered that if ringers are welcome on every 'foreign' territory, there seemed to be an especially warm welcome for clerical ringers. With this growth in experience his appreciation of those delightfully odd characters called 'ringers' increased, likewise his amazement at their forbearance with his errors, stupidity and not infrequent confusion. By now he had realised that he would never be an advanced ringer, nor a good one, only an enthusiastic one, ever dependent upon the superior competence of others. That was good for his soul's health.

Came the day when he moved to another parish at the far end of the diocese at the Bishop's request. There he lacked a ring of bells, and there was a total absence of ringing in that sizable town. Opportunities for ringing were rare, and contacts with old ringing friends few, but not altogether impossible. For some years he had both heard and shared in Sunday service ringing, and the mornings and evenings of the Lord's Day seemed strangely quiet. What he had come to regard as an essential preparation for worship was absent, and nothing could replace that particular expression of it. The shrill voice of the solitary bell only emphasised the missing 5, 7, 9 or 11, and with no sound of a weekday practice for miles around, ringers and ringing were far removed. But 'sorrow may endure for a night, but joy cometh in the morning,' and when the post brought an invitation to officiate at a wedding and stand in the peal afterwards, his campanalogical joy returned.

The wedding day of the only daughter of Evesham's Ringing Master fulfilled all anticipated expectations and was a memorable sequence of reverence, joy, feasting and the ringing of a peal of Yorkshire Surprise 'on the back eight.' What could be better than to celebrate the wedding in church first, at the festive board next, and in the tower afterwards? If he had been able to conduct the peal as well as the wedding . . . ! But that ability is so remote from him as to be a virtual impossibility. Into that peal and that day went much of his appreciation of ringers and the debt he owes to them, and his appreciation of the work they do for the Church. Not least it was a nostalgic thanksgiving for the friends and teachers, and the opportunities they have given him in the Exercise. If he returned home tired, blistered and late, there was none of it that he would have changed.

A GRATEFUL CONVERT.
